A Pontiac Motor Division worker, laid off due to the steel strike, walked out of the Michigan Employment Security Commission office yesterday nearly $10,000 richer—or at least it looked like it on paper.

LaVern D. Morris, a differential inspector, had in his pocket an unemployment compensation check for $9,992.59—about $9,906 more than he was supposed to draw.

Morris, 2379 Archdale St., Union Lake, gets $86 compensation every two weeks for himself, his wife and their two children.

Morris said he didn't notice the amount listed on the check when he received it. Apparently the state clerk who issued the payment didn't check it either.

It was later yesterday, while standing in the supplementary unemployment compensation line at work, that Morris first saw the amount on the check.

He had to return to the MESC's Oakland avenue office, draw a new check—for $86 this time—and return to Pontiac Motor to file for his sub-benefits.

Paul Kimball, branch manager for the MESC, was puzzled over the error briefly. Then it was recalled that the account number assigned to Pontiac Motor by the state is 999259.

This numeral is inserted in the upper right hand corner of checks issued to Pontiac Motor employees. In Morris' case, however, the account number and the amount of his compensation—$86—were reversed.

"We write about 1,000 checks a day on our check-writing machines," said Kimball. "We're bound to make an error now and then, but rarely one like this."

GM Calls Back 25,500 Men for Chevrolet

Will Bring Nine Plants to Near Full Strength; Chrysler Laying Off

DETROIT (UPI)—General Motors will recall 25,500 more workers Monday and Tuesday to Chevrolet plants, the company said yesterday.

Chevrolet already called back 5,000 of 63,000 workers in 33 plants idled by steel shortages.

Chrysler with 23,430 laid off as of yesterday, will shut down its seven assembly plants by Dec. 2, idling 15,000 more.

But Chrysler will start recalling some workers later and hopes to resume assembly operations around Dec. 9.

The GM recall will bring nine manufacturing plants back to almost full employment.

These were the Flint engine and manufacturing plants, Saginaw transmission and foundry plants, Bay City small parts, Toledo and Cleveland transmission, Indianapolis stamping and Muncie, Ind. transmission and forging.

U. S. Embassy in India Sends Strong Protest

Sergeant Pulled From Taxicab and Mauled; Finally Freed by Police

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States asked India today to make a full investigation of the Chinese Communist kidnapping yesterday of a U.S. Marine sergeant and to "take appropriate action."

NEW DELHI, India (UPI)—The U.S. Embassy charged tonight that Chinese Communists dragged U.S. Marine Sgt. Robert Armstrong from a taxicab on a public street in Bombay and bound him by the neck and arms to a pillar in the garage of their consulate yesterday.

The Embassy lodged a protest with the Indian government today charging it was a "high-handed violation of the personal rights of a United States citizen in a friendly country."

Even as the Embassy released its report on Armstrong, reliable sources reported that Chinese thugs attempted to seize coded American diplomatic telegrams in Bombay this morning.

The messenger carrying them escaped but said he could identify his assailants.

The Embassy statement on the Armstrong incident said at least CALCUTTA, India (UPI)—Several hundred anti-Communist Indian students demonstrated in front of the Communist Chinese Consulate and the local office of the Indian Communist Party today.

The students signed in their own blood pledges to protect India against aggression by Communist China.

Six Chinese surrounded the Marine in his taxicab in front of the Chinese Communist consulate and dragged him into the compound.

The Embassy statement said the Chinese pulled Armstrong, pushed him and "were striking him in the ribs with their fists."

Shorr Fired by WXYZ Over Payola; DJ Toll 4

DETROIT (AP)—The jobless among Detroit's disc jockey fraternity climbed to four in a week yesterday with the firing of Mickey Shorr of radio station WXYZ.

A favorite of teen-agers, Shorr said he was given the option of quitting or being fired.

"I refused to resign," said the 33-year-old record spinner. "I didn't feel I had done anything wrong."

Shorr said he did not receive payola money or gifts to plug certain songs on his show.

The station issued a 13-word statement and declined further comment.

"WXYZ today (Thursday) exercised its right to terminate the employment of Mickey Shorr," said the statement issued by Hal (Continued on Page 2, Col. 8)

Freed made the admission after a wildly sentimental final performance of his teen-age "Big Beat" television show.

It was the final personal performance because his TV contract was terminated "by mutual agreement" this week shortly after he was fired from his radio job.

The show was put on tape and will be repeated today.

While Freed was bowing out yesterday the district attorney's office issued a subpoena for Freed's books and records at WNEV-TV.

More than 100 teen-agers, some carrying signs reading "Alan Is Tops" and "King Alan," gathered outside the television station an hour before Freed appeared.

"I LOVE ALAN"

One girl, wearing a hat inscribed, "I Love Alan," broke down and wept hysterically during the show. Freed embraced her and wiped away the tears.

At one point Freed, who is 38 years old, told his audience: "I'll be back on the air soon. I've done nothing wrong. The people I dig the most are you. We know we are more adult than adults."

In another development, Don Anthony, singer and record manufacturer, says he gave Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan two canceled checks as evidence he distributed payola to disc jockeys.

Anthony, 31, questioned Friday at Hogan's office, said later he paid about $5,000 to out-of-town disc jockeys to plug his records four years ago.

He said he had not made any payoffs in New York.

Also questioned was Scott Muni, a disc jockey for radio station WMCA and first vice president of the Disc Jockey Assn., Inc., which claims 200 members.

Upon leaving Hogan's office, Muni told newsmen he never had taken payments to plug records over WMCA. "In New York I've never been offered money," Muni said.

Captain Terms Lakes Trip Worst in 40 Years

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (AP)—A weather beaten Great Lakes captain steamed his ice-covered tanker into port yesterday and said his voyage through Lake Huron was one of the worst in 40 years.

Capt. Sid Williamson said his vessel battled 50 mile per hour winds on her final trip of the year.

So covered with ice were the decks of the Eastern Shell that crews had to hose them with steam before they could discharge cargo. The entire superstructure also was ice shrouded.

Coast Guard officials at the Michigan Soo said shipping will continue through the St. Marys river until weather forces a halt.

Tecumseh GI Held in Shooting

John Barton Grieves Over Accidental Death of Sentry Companion

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Marine Pvt. John C. Barton, of Tecumseh, Mich., was held in custody over the weekend while his officers investigate the fatal shooting Friday of a companion sentry in a 3:30 a.m. fast-draw contest.

The inquiry was opened soon after Pvt. Niels Hagerman, 20, Danville, Ill., died before he could be taken by ambulance to the Hunters Point Naval Shipyard Hospital.

Barton, 19, telephoned immediately for an ambulance after his 45 automatic discharged only 2½ feet from Hagerman in the sentry box where both were on duty.

"It can't be how it happened," said Maj. Milton Cooper, commander of the Marine detachment.

"The boys were bored with nothing to do that time of morning. It was stupid, but that's hindsight, and I don't want to emphasize that, I don't want to see Barton broken down any more. He's taking it very hard."

"There seems to be no question that this was accidental," as Barton said, Cooper continued.

Roberts Thinks It's 'Probable' Solution

Payroll Levy in Spotlight

Attention was focused on the payroll tax today as lawmakers nursed new hopes of getting Michigan's tax squabble settled.

Earlier endorsed by Republican Paul D. Bagwell and pronounced acceptable by Gov. Williams, it got another boost yesterday from House tax compromisers.

Reps. Farrell E. Roberts (R-West Bloomfield) and John T. Bowman (D-Roseville), cochairmen, like one of two possible solutions. They are the latest legislators to get starting roles under the platoon system being deployed in the struggle to break Michigan's tax deadlock.

The other solution, they agreed, was the Republican Senate 73½ million dollar nuisance tax package now in disfavor with many senators who pledged their support before finding out in detail what it involved.

Bowman called the 1 per cent payroll levy "less objectionable" and Roberts a "more probable" solution. They said the income tax and corporation profits levies were not discussed.

Revenue Department experts were instructed to perfect an existing draft of the payroll bill and have it ready for possible introduction Tuesday.

'AN INCOME TAX'

Roberts said he and a majority of the GOP House caucus opposed the tax "because it, in effect, is an income tax."

Besides wage earners, the tax would hit farmers, doctors, lawyers, unincorporated business, and other self-employed persons. Some strong opposition was certain to develop from this quarter.

To produce the estimated revenue yield of 108 million dollars a year it would have to fall on better than 2,500,000 taxpayers, assuming the rate of 1 per cent and exemption of the first $35 a week of earned income.

A newsman recalled Sen. Frank D. Beadle of St. Clair, Senate majority leader, said last Tuesday night the GOP caucus had turned thumbs down on the payroll tax.

'DOOR OPEN'

"The door is open, I don't think the Senate leadership has closed the door. I certainly hope not."

At the same time, he admitted "the Senate caucus has been the stumbling block to all solutions right along, and the key probably lies in the Senate."

They displayed a rare—at least for the Legislature of late—compromising spirit when they met to plan for a Monday session of an eight-member bipartisan negotiating committee.

"There's not a hardhead on the committee," said Bowman, who (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

LABOR DAY BLASTS

Besides the school board, the business office of Mayor Werner Knopp and a station wagon at the home of Fire Chief Gann Nalley were dynamited.

The blasts occurred within minutes of each other shortly before midnight on Labor Day.

Judge William J. Kirby allowed Lauderale's attorneys 30 days in which to seek a new trial, and the defendant remained free in $50,000 bond.

The attorneys did not say immediately whether they would ask for another trial.

Lauderdale was the third man convicted in the bombings. Two others, Jesse Raymond, 24, a truck driver, and John Taylor Coggins, 39, a car salesman, drew three-year sentences. Another man, J. D. Sims, a truck driver, pleaded guilty to the school board bombing and got five years.

Board Bomber Given 3 Years

Also Assessed $500 on His Conviction in Little Rock Incident

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—A segregationist leader charged with bombing the Little Rock School Board office was convicted early today and his punishment set at three years in prison and a $500 fine.

E. A. Lauderdale, a stocky, 48-year-old lumber dealer—named by others charged in the case as ring leader of a bomb plot—stood grim faced as the verdict was read.

Then he sat down and nonchalantly leaned back in his chair as the courtroom crowd of about 200 remained silent.

In the crowd were several prominent segregationists who earlier had heard Lauderdale's attorney picture him as "the symbol and representative of those who believe in segregation."

The Circuit Court jury of nine men and three women deliberated an hour and a half.

Accident to Eye Brings $7,500 Cash Settlement

DETROIT (UPI)—A toy manufacturer and a variety store have paid $7,500 to the family of a boy whose eye was injured by a rubber-tipped dart.

The settlement of $5,000 to the boy, Gerald Richards, 13, and 2,500 to his father, Harold Richards, was reported in federal court.

The father had filed a damage suit totaling $300,000 against the Knickerbocker Plastic Co. of Los Angeles and the F. W. Woolworth Co. after the dart bounced off a target and struck Gerald in the eye four years ago.

"One Chinese stood by holding a heavy club and was quoted as telling Armstrong that 'if he yelled, 'you will get this.'"

The statement said Armstrong was searched twice and later moved to an open area where he was photographed.

The U. S. Embassy said Armstrong was dragged into the consulate about 7:40 a. m. and Indian police arrived on the scene within 23 minutes.

FREED BY POLICE

Two high-ranking Indian police officers arrived at the Chinese consulate about 9:30 a. m. and insisted that Armstrong be released but the Chinese Communists refused, saying they must "complete their investigations," the statement said.

At 12:30 p. m. the Chinese agreed to let Armstrong go but his actual release did not take place until 1:50 p. m.

Armstrong had rope burns on his neck and back but an examination at a hospital showed he suffered only "superficial injuries."

The messenger attacked in Bombay today was identified as Anand Andrew, an Indian.

Reliable sources said two Chinese agents just after he left the Bombay telegraph office and demanded coded telegrams meant for American diplomats.

Head-On Collision Takes Third Victim

Charles Allard, 66, of Flint, died today in a Flint hospital of injuries suffered in a head-on automobile collision last Sunday. The crash also claimed the life of his wife, Reba, and 14-year-old George Matteson, 4136 Lakeside Dr., Orion Township.

The Matteson girl was a passenger in a car driven by her father, Frank, who was injured. The accident occurred on U. S. 23 three miles south of Fenton.

Auto Seriously Injures Walker

Breaks Legs of Novi Man, 65; Hudson Driver Faces Drunk Charge

A Novi Township pedestrian was seriously injured last night when struck by a car.

Homer Boyer, 65, of 25650 Taft Rd., was reported in fair condition today at Pontiac General Hospital. Both legs were broken.

Arrested and booked at the Oakland County Jail on a drunk driving charge was John Dowell, 45, of 54990 Grand River Ave., New Hudson.

Township Police Chief Lee Be-Gole said Boyer walking west along the south shoulder of Grand River in Novi Village, facing eastbound traffic.

Dowell, also going west, lost control of his car. It swerved across the highway, came up behind Boyer and struck him, police said.

Dowell's car traveled another 105 feet before he applied the brakes, and then skidded 42 feet into a ditch.

Dowell was to make a statement to the Oakland County Prosecutor's Office today.

Police said Dowell has had eight moving violations since 1952.

Roberts, chairman of the committee, promised the eight members would try to "trigger an answer even if we have our heads bloodied."

Roberts, who represents Oakland's third district, and Bowman see their immediate need as one of paving the way for quick House action on whatever the Senate passes.

They also see a need to set a compromising tone to muffle vituperation from both parties in the latest impasse.

The big question was in the Senate, where Republicans are bound by caucus order to try for passage of a 75-million-dollar package of "nuisance" taxes. But the caucus has changed directions before.

Williams said he would be available for tax discussions next week. He called off a three-day annual staff meeting at Haven Hill in Highland Township recreation area in order to be available.

Detective Says: Mass Poisoning

Find Arsenic Mixed in Civic Workers' Coffee at Seattle

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI)—Chief detective Vic Kramer said today that arsenic found mixed in coffee in an employees' lunchroom at the county-city building was a "cold-blooded attempt at mass poisoning."

The arsenic was found after eight staff members of the City Planning Commission became ill last Monday. The results of police laboratory tests revealed they had drunk coffee laced with the poison.

A search of the lunchroom on the eighth floor of the building disclosed arsenic in a two-pound tin of drip-grind coffee and more arsenic in a jar of instant coffee.

"This was no accident," Kramer said. "It was deliberate."

The room is used by employees for coffee breaks and during the noon hour for those who pack lunches. Planning commission and engineering department staff members are the chief users, but other employees also have access to the room.

Says Sessions Should Be Wide Open so Public Can Know Issues

CHICAGO (UPI)—Steel negotiating sessions should be wide open "so the press and public may learn what the strike is all about," a United Steel Workers Union official said.

"We have nothing to hide," Joseph Romano, head of the Union's District 31 in the Chicago-Gary area, said. "We have no desire to negotiate behind closed doors."

Germano said the negotiations deadlock stemmed partially from public ignorance of the issues. "Much has been written but little has been understood either by those writing about it or the readers of the many newspapers and magazines," he said.

The current stalemate threatens a resumption of the strike when the 80-day Taft-Hartley injunction expires, he said.

When foreign ships are trapped by ice within the Seaway system, ship owners must transport crews back to home ports by other means. They also lose the services of the ice-bound vessel which otherwise could continue to operate in the open seas.

Last year, 13 foreign freighters were caught in the ice at Montreal. Hees said these ships were freed and escorted to open water after two months of hard and expensive effort.

He declared Canada would not be "caught in that trap again."

Heavier road traffic and iced highways in wide areas from the Appalachian Mountains to the Rockies were possible causes of the increased rate of highway slaughter.

BIRMINGHAM — The Great Lakes Transit Corp. has officially informed the city that 18 new buses will be put into operation within the next few days.

Built by General Motors Truck and Coach Division, they are valued at $500,000.

The new coaches feature bright aluminum siding, wide use of window space, new heating and ventilating systems and new decorator styled interiors.

The vehicles are powered by the V-6 diesel type engine, according to Glen G. Crawford, a supervisor for Great Lakes, they are more efficient and quieter than those now in use, he said.

DETROIT (UPI)—Employees at the Federal Reserve Bank here broke into tears yesterday, but it wasn't because they were sad. A guard brushed against a tear gas gun resting in a rack and it exploded a pellet.

Springfield, Mo., Rev. Ellsworth Smith of the Western Unitarian Conference, and the Rev. Alan Jenkins, minister of First Congregational Church in Royal Oak, will assist.

Ministers of the Unitarian and Universalist churches in the area will be present.

The church has grown from 19 charter members in 1940 to 400 active members.

Mrs. Clara H. Locy
Service for Mrs. Clara H. Locy, 78, 272 Oakland Ave., will be held at 11 a. m. Monday at the Manley Bailey Funeral Home. Burial will be at Grand Lawn Cemetery, Detroit.

Mrs. Locy died Thursday at her home after a long illness. She is survived by three children, Mrs. Charles Cherry of Birmingham and Frank W. and John L., both of Royal Oak.

The United Church Women have been invited to attend the 10 a. m. meeting on Dec. 4 at the First Presbyterian Chapel.

Mrs. Earl Triplett, president, will preside. A devotional talk will be given by Mrs. James Moore of the Congregational Church.

WXYZ Fires Shorr Over Payola Issue

Neal Jr., vice president in charge of radio.

Three DJs departed radio station WJBK and WJBK-TV since last Saturday night. They were Tom Clay, Dale Young and Don McCleod. Clay said he had taken about $6,000 in payola.

SHORR TALKS
Shorr said he told WXYZ last week he was part-owner of Aussie Records, Inc. But he said this was his only connection outside of his disc jockey job in the music field.

"It's payola in reverse," said Shorr. "We pay record companies for the Australian rights of their records."

Shorr said WXYZ official made no comment to him about an offer to dispose of his holdings in the record company.

"I'm not going to attempt to stay in this business," said Shorr. "I think it's lost all opportunities to create personalities."

The payola controversy also caused the discharge of Jac LeGoff by WJBK-TV, where he had been a newscaster. The station said LeGoff was fired for making editorial comments on payola.

Pope to Missionaries: 'Help New Nations'

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Pope John XXIII today urged Roman Catholic missionaries to help solve the social problems of newly independent countries so they will not fall prey to "doctrines . . . contradicting the religious interests of individuals and peoples."

The Pope, in the fourth encyclical of his 13-month reign, said the task of missionaries was to give the church many Christians, but above all good Christians.

The Pontiff also warned native priests to stay aloof from "unfortunate excesses" which often accompany the independence of new nations.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Chairman Dennis Chavez (D-NM) of the Senate defense appropriations subcommittee has called for tighter safeguards over military purchasing to eliminate poor administration and prevent possible overcharges.

Steals Show at Hearing

Mickey Cohen Dislikes Bums

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Even violinist George Liberace had to play second fiddle to Mickey Cohen Friday.

The peppery ex-gambler stole the show at a police commission hearing on an application for an entertainment license for the Rondelli Cafe in suburban Sherman Oaks. The Mick:

Vented his forensic fury on policemen. Invoked the Fifth Amendment more than 50 times.

Interrupted the hearing several times to charge it was a farce.

Asked if he was a part owner of the cafe, Cohen replied:

"I got no piece of that restaurant. I wouldn't take a piece of it on a silver platter."

KEEPS NAME CLEAR
When another witness was asked about Cohen's police record, Cohen shouted:

"I object. I don't want my name mentioned in a derogatory manner."

After an angry exchange with Lt. Mark Smith, chief investigator for the commission, Cohen was escorted out of the hearing room.

In the hallway, another officer told him to be quiet.

"Don't get near me," Cohen warned. "You look like a bum to me."

After a noon recess, Cohen took the witness stand and refused to answer dozens of questions.

"I want a jury trial," he declared. "I'll bet anyone in the room 10-1 that the decision in this thing is already in."

He told Roger Francis, commission attorney, "The decision is as phony as you are and you know you're a phony."

When finally excused, he hustled from the room, muttering to two friends: "Let's get out of here, this is a frame."

Violinist Liberace was a character witness for the cafe's proprietors, James and Hazel Rondelli. The brother of Pianist Liberace drew laughs when he said: "I think they are fine people and ought to be given a piano license. I'm in favor of piano players getting work whenever they can."

The commission is studying the application.

Practiced It 100 Times, Then Did It Wrong

'Goofed Up' His Parachute Jump

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Capt. Joe Kittinger said Friday he "goofed up" when he stepped out of a balloon gondola 14 miles above the earth to make his record-breaking parachute jump over the White Sands Proving Grounds in New Mexico Nov. 16.

"I had some trouble getting out of the gondola—I put the cart before the horse," the ruddy-complexioned redhead said here Friday.

"The gondola has an extremely small door, and suddenly I found my body outside with my arms still inside. I had to go back in to bring my arm out, and that threw the timing off."

As a result, the drag chute—a device to keep the jumper from spinning through space—opened too soon.

"It should have opened 11 seconds after I bailed out," Capt. Kittinger said. "Instead, it opened after only 2½ seconds and my velocity at that point wasn't enough to keep it from fouling."

With the drag-chute useless, Capt. Kittinger found himself whirling violently through space. He isn't sure yet how fast but it is estimated at 80 revolutions per minute.

DIDN'T GRAY OUT

He said that on no occasion during the 76,400 foot descent did he lose consciousness or even "gray out"—that is, come close to unconsciousness.

He was able to bring his descent under control by positioning his feet in various ways familiar to veteran jumpers like himself. (The record-breaker was Capt. Kittinger's 41st jump).

How did he feel when the first step in the carefully-planned descent failed?

"I can say I was apprehensive," the soft-spoken 31-year-old jet pilot said.

"I felt dismayed that I had goofed up. We knew the drag chute wouldn't work if my velocity was great enough, and I practiced the bail-out procedure 100 times actually and 1,000 times in my mind. At that moment, I knew it was going to be a long way down, but I still thought I could make it."

State Hospital Citizens Group Meets Tuesday

Morris Bruck, chief psychologist of Pontiac State Hospital, will be the key speaker at 8:15 p.m. Tuesday before a meeting of the Oakland County Citizens' Committee for Pontiac State Hospital.

His topic will be "What Is a Psychologist—What Does He Do?" Proposed changes will be considered in a revision to the bylaws during the business meeting.

The committee is donating $50 in cash prizes to be given to winners at a patients' bingo session 7:30 p.m. Thursday.

Volunteers are needed to help patients play the game and to give out the money prizes. Workers should meet in the lobby.

Talks on Aging at MSU

DETROIT (AP)—A three-day conference on problems of the aging will be held at Wayne State University Dec. 9-11. The conference will be conducted by Sen. Patrick McNamara (D-Mich.), chairman of the Senate subcommittee on problems of the aged and aging.

Goals Commission Chairmen Selected

WASHINGTON (AP)—Administration sources said Friday two men have been selected to head President Eisenhower's proposed National Goals Commission, but official announcement is being withheld pending adequate pledges for private financing.

Arthur F. Burns, former chairman of Eisenhower's Council of Economic Advisers (1953-56) and of Economic Research in New York, is said to have been tabbed as commission chairman.

Frank Pace Jr., former budget director and secretary of the Army in the Truman administration and now president of General Dynamics Corp. of New York, is reported willing to take the vice chairmanship.

Eisenhower announced plans for the commission in a message to Congress last January. He said he would name experts in many walks of life to chart long term goals for the nation.

Army Reports Machine That Sees in Dark

FORT DEVENS, Mass. (AP)—The Army Friday reported successful testing this week of equipment that can see in the dark.

In the demonstration the Army parked a three-quarter ton G1 truck on the range area of this post about 600 yards from the electronic equipment.

The Army reported that although total darkness prevailed, the equipment was able to "see" the truck, as well as other terrain features.

The instrument is described as using highly sensitive electronic vision equipment, somewhat similar to television transmitting and receiving equipment.

Scientist-Priest Talks on God

Says There Is a Creator in Speech Noting 100th Darwin Year

CHICAGO (AP) — A priest-scientist told scholars today that God is the creator of man — and the creator of the elements of evolution as well.

The Rev. J. Franklin Ewing, anthropologist from Fordham University took for granted the scientific validity of the theory of evolution.

"God is the creator of man, body and soul. Whether he used the method of evolution for preparation of the human body or created it from unorganized matter is not of primary importance. In either case, he is the Creator," he added.

The Jesuit priest said that, even if God used a body that already had been formed, he raised that body to the human level and gave it a soul.

"God is continually creating his creatures," he said. "If he were to withdraw his creative power for a second from you and me and the worm and the elephant, all would disappear into nothingness. This means that God created not only all beings but also all potentialities for evolution."

Father Ewing spoke at the five-day meeting of scientists and scholars observing the 100th anniversary of the publication of Charles Darwin's "Origin of the Species" — a theory of the gradual development or evolution of plants and creatures.

Deer Hunting Fatal in State Now Seven

By The Associated Press
Thomas Kettunen, 35, of Trout Creek, was wounded fatally Friday, bringing to seven the number of Michigan deer hunters shot to death since the season opened Nov. 15.

State Police said Kettunen was struck in the back by a bullet fired by his brother William, 42, who told officers he had aimed at a deer. The accident occurred in Iron County about eight miles away from Trout Creek in the Upper Peninsula's Ontonagon County.

A 14-year-old Ann Arbor boy also was a victim of a fatal hunting accident Friday. Ori Curtis was shot while small-game hunting about two miles north of Ann Arbor.

Washtenaw County sheriff's deputies said Curtis was struck in the head when his cousin, Harold A. Haas, 12, of Ann Arbor, accidentally fired a double-barrel shotgun while loading it.

First Time in Four Years State Traffic Toll Will Rise

LANSING (AP) — Michigan has lost the battle to cut its traffic fatality toll for a fourth straight year in 1959, a state police statistician indicated today.

The state's road death toll was 2,004 in 1959. An all-out traffic safety campaign pushed the figure down to 1,747 in 1956. The count dropped to 1,537 in 1957 and to 1,375 last year.

But, with five weeks of dangerous driving conditions remaining, the provisional death toll for 1959 is 1,274.

This means 101 more deaths will tie the 1958 count. And, the average death toll for December alone in the past five years is 170.

"There's no question in my mind that we will go over the 1958 total," said O. M. Lucas, state police traffic safety statistician. "We've still got December ahead of us and that is normally one of the worst months for traffic accidents."

"To stay even with last year,

Christmas Tree Business Rolling Into High Gear

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's five-million-dollar Christmas tree business is rolling into high gear, the State Agriculture Department said today.

Early shipments are moving to market, the department said, putting state and county law enforcement men on the lookout for violators.

To discourage theft of trees from public lands, bills of sale must accompany trees being moved in quantities of more than six. The department's Plant Industries Division supervises enforcement, with help from the State Conservation Department, state police and sheriff's departments.

A special bill of sale given by the original owner must contain legal description of the property where trees were cut. Forms are obtainable at department offices, the Conservation Department, county agricultural agents, state police posts and sheriff's offices.

President to Broadcast Yule Greetings Dec. 23

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower will broadcast Christmas greetings to the nation and the world on Dec. 23.

He will read his greetings at 4:30 p. m. Eastern Standard Time after throwing a switch to light the White House tree and open the annual Christmas Pageant of Peace.

This year's White House tree, a 70-foot silver spruce, is a gift from the State of Maine.

Hearst's Wales Castle To Be a Plush Resort

CARDIFF, Wales (UPI) — Cardiff financier Julian Hodge has announced plans to turn an 11th Century castle once owned by the late American publisher William Randolph Hearst into a plush vacation resort.

Hodge bought the fabulous St. Donat's Castle, near the town of Llantwit Major, for $840,000. Hearst spent nearly $800,000 to restore it several years ago.

Reflections

RISK IT!

The ancient who squeezed a red berry, stained his fingers, risked his life to give pretty red lips to his sister, mother and grandma. A sailor risked his life to find India by sailing West; he gave us Los Angeles, oil wells and smog. A dreamer thought he could sail under polar ice; he risked his life to vindicate his contention. Boys look into the eyes of pretty girls and ask, "Will you marry me?" Those girls risk poverty and heartache, balance love and happiness against that risk, slip a ring on their fingers.

Risk is inherent to progress. Someone risked capital to build the house next door; commercial air lines risk bankruptcy to save us time, railroads crossed rivers, plains and mountains, that risk built America. We risk investment capital to build industry, cities with schools and churches; risk and America are synonymous.

See Dem Tiff in High Court Over Vote on Constitution

LANSING (UPI) — A high-ranking Democrat and a Republican chief justice denied today there was any particular rift among Democrats on the State Supreme Court.

And they frowned on speculation that Republican-turned-Democrat Justice Eugene F. Black might join Democratic Justice John D. Voelker on the retired list.

But other observers said anything could happen when the two robed rebels confer at Voelker's law office home this weekend.

Signs of a split among Democrats were directed yesterday when Voelker said "swift and total constitutional overhaul" of the Legislature is needed. Black earlier went on record for calling of a constitutional convention.

The court was considering a case. Their public remarks came as that would force calling of a convention, something party regulars want postponed until the method for selecting delegates is changed.

Sidney H. Woolner, Gov. C. McMenen Williams' executive secretary, said he knew of no open split on the court on this or any other question.

"Of course," said Woolner. "There are real differences of opinion on basic questions — this is as it should be because they were nominated and elected as individuals."

Chief Justice John R. Dethmers said differences of opinion were to be expected on the court.

"That's why we don't have just one man," Dethmers, former GOP state chairman, said.

Woolner said he had "no knowledge of any such intention" that Black might resign.

Voelker leveled a blast yesterday against Sen. Charles R. Feenstra (R-Grand Rapids), who in a Senate speech Tuesday had questioned Voelker's motives in resigning.

Voelker emphasized he spoke as a "concerned private citizen and not a judge" in answering Feenstra's "challenge (to) my honesty."

"Unless he (Feenstra) has added clairvoyance to his many talents," the judge said, "presumably I am at a somewhat better position to define my motives than he."

He repeated an earlier statement, made when his resignation was announced, saying, "When I ran for re-election last spring I meant if I won to continue to serve or I would not have run."

"As I tried to make clear in my earlier statement," he said, "a writer cannot always predict or control his literary impulses." "It also seems not amiss," the judge added, "to add that in view of the mess in the state's finances the senator might better devote his prime interest" to settling the trouble than "in trying to read my mind."

New Effort to Extend Gas Pipelines Into UP

LANSING (AP) — A new effort will be made to extend natural gas pipelines into the Upper Peninsula, George Hill of Marquette, chairman of the State Public Service Commission, said today.

Hill said the Commission is asking to give careful consideration to a Michigan Gas & Electric Co. request for a rehearing on an order permitting the Michigan-Wisconsin Pipeline Co. to bring Canadian gas to Menominee.

Michigan Gas & Electric contends the pipeline company should be required to extend the gas from Menominee farther into the Upper Peninsula.

K Tries Out New 'Copter—and Likes It

By PRESTON GROVER

MOSCOW (AP) — Nikita Khrushchev followed President Eisenhower's example Friday and flew from the airport to his office in a helicopter. He liked it.

He finished his return trip from a vacation in Gagra on the Black Sea, where he has spent the last 10 days, by hopping from Vnukova Airport right into the Kremlin yard. All the Presidium members were lined up to meet him there.

A group of selected Soviet newsmen met him later in the Kremlin. Tass and Moscow Radio said they asked him how he liked the flight and whether the craft was as good as the one in which he flew with Eisenhower.

"The flight was very good," he said. "I hardly noticed how I got into Moscow. Everything is a matter of habit. But I have the impression that our cabin was larger and more comfortable. There was no more noise, perhaps less. In a word, it is a good and comfortable thing."

The helicopter is an eight-seater job and it landed in the Kremlin early this month just to show it could be done.

Man Gets Life — to Die of Cancer

Doctors Give Robber Who Looted Drugstore About Year to Live

MOUNT CLEMENS (AP) — Charles Retallic was sentenced yesterday to life in Southern Michigan Prison for armed robbery. It was virtually a death sentence.

Retallic, whose criminal record dates back to 1923, has lung cancer. Doctors at the Detroit House of Correction, where he had been held, gave him one year to live.

Retallic was serving a 30-day sentence for drunkenness when the cancer was discovered last June.

Police said that when he was released from jail Retallic began robbing drug stores. He was arrested following the armed robbery of a drug store in suburban Center Line Oct. 19.

"I needed the money to buy drugs to deaden the pain," Retallic told officers. He had little to say when Circuit Judge Howard R. Carroll passed sentence.

He Can't Cash His Tax Check — a Trifle Large

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — "Are you kidding?" bartender Joseph Correia said as he looked at the check the customer gave him to pay for a beer.

Ralph A. Dykens, 65, blotted his lips and took a closer look. The check, just handed him Friday in the Cambridge city treasurer's office to cover a tax rebate, read $1,000,010.83 — a million dollars too much.

It was the second time in a week a Massachusetts check writing machine had indulged in its own playful brand of inflation.

Last Friday a bank in Holyoke issued a check for $1,000,022.75 — overwise by four million. The bank promptly fired the girl teller responsible.

In Cambridge, City Treasurer Frederick J. Reardon rectified the error and chuckled.

"Why should anyone be fired?" he said. "Everybody makes mistakes."

Admits Fatally Beating Ex-Wife

Says He Didn't Know That She Was Dead — 'Used Only Fists'

BISMARCK, N. D. (AP) — A husky construction worker Friday admitted the fatal beating of his former wife, a nurse at the Glasgow, Mont., Air Force Base early on Thanksgiving Day.

Police Capt. Frank Wenzel said Harold Brown, 33, claimed he used only his fists in the attack on Verma Gae Brown, 31, in her apartment about 2 a.m. Thursday. He said he did not know the wife who divorced him a month ago was dead.

Montana officers said Brown was charged with first-degree murder.

Mrs. Brown's body was discovered Friday morning by fellow workers who called to take her to her job.

Wenzel said Brown was found in downtown Bismarck and surrendered without resistance. He said Brown signed a statement and waived extradition.

Other officers elected were Dr. Edward G. Voss of Ann Arbor, general secretary; Collins Lader of Piquette, Ohio, treasurer; Don Vogel of Adrian, sports editor of the Adrian Telegram, national editor; Richard Wiley of Ann Arbor, national advisor; and James Masten of Athens, Ohio, extension secretary.

The American Assn. of Commons Clubs, a national college fraternity with chapters on six midwestern campuses, is holding its 34th annual convention at Adrian College this weekend.

The Fraternity elected Albert H. Breckel of LaGrange, Ill., president Friday.

It Seems to Me

Philip Monaghan Will Take Great Skill to Technical Center

Pontiac is deeply interested in the current shifts of top management General Motors executives.

MONAGHAN

We're losing PHILIP J. MONAGHAN, General Manager of the GMC Truck and Coach Division next week when he assumes direction of the Process Development Staff at the Technical Center. Mr. MONAGHAN will still be an active resident of the area as he will continue to occupy his beautiful home on Cranbrook Road and his new office is still close by.

Six years ago he assumed the direction of this important cog in GM activities here, and he has been a valuable citizen during his stay on South Boulevard. This division is generally recognized as one of the most difficult operations in the corporation. Youth, determination and great ability were rolled into one package and turned loose.

And these same qualities will now be devoted to the activities at the Technical Center.

A few years ago, MONAGHAN evolved an entirely new conception of trucks and truck production. It required millions of dollars to finance, but the idea was so sound the corporation went along and today the local industry is profiting from this progressive development. As he assumes his new duties, he has the satisfaction of seeing his project completed and in full blown operation.

Phil Monaghan sensed his obligation to humanity and community affairs here. He always had a sympathetic ear for civic problems and lent advice and counsel whenever he was asked. In fact, when he headed the United Fund Drive he did more research on past practices than anyone ever had, and this led him to propose many new and helpful procedures and practices.

Few men have thrown themselves into their avowed vocations any more completely. I'm sure PHIL would have been one of the fine amateur golfers in Michigan if he had played any appreciable amount. But he practically said goodbye to a game he enjoyed.

In his new capacity, he faces the problem of saving money for automobile buyers through better design and operation.

He follows another Pontiac man, ROBERT M. CRITCHFIELD, who vacates the post Phil is taking. Mr. CRITCHFIELD is retiring. He headed the Pontiac Motor Division for several years and he continues to be a familiar figure around this area. Young from every angle except that of the inexorable calendar, he has been with General Motors 38 years and he held several posts of importance in other cities. His retirement will find him continuing at Lake Angelus. This is "home"—for good.

Bob was General Manager of Pontiac during the year the division set its all-time record, manufacturing more than half a million units.

Somehow, I can't quite grow accustomed to this compulsory retirement of healthy, vigorous men at the age of sixty-five. BOB CRITCHFIELD is in the prime of life and it seems like an economic loss to wrest this tremendous engineering knowledge from a world of widening activities.

I always feel the same when I see Harry J. Klingler, O. E. Hunt and a host of others. Many of these men are strong, active and assertive. At 75, O. E. Hunt could walk any vice president or director of GM right into the ground and not bat an eye.

However, along with many other large and very successful corporations, this is a firm policy and there are powerful arguments in support of the theory.

I buy that.

But it bothers me.

You see I'm one of the "old school" myself and the calendar is beginning to nudge me faintly and to glance in my direction.

Time marches on.

One of the grandest citizens we've ever had in a long list of desirable and capable men transfers his activities from South Boulevard to the Technical Center. He's still in the immediate vicinity, but he isn't inside the city limits. Another distinguished citizen steps aside at the Technical Center and will hereafter pursue his activities at Lake Angelus. He ought to be available for a little community service when we need him.

And now a new face appears on South Boulevard. I haven't met CALVIN J. WERNER, but THE PRESS will give you a more detailed report at the earliest possible moment.

And in Conclusion

Jottings from the well thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter:

A gas station attendant is wondering how a hunter explained his deer trip. En route home, he phoned his wife. "I never found my slippers. Did I leave them or have I lost them?" There was a short silence and an icy voice replied: "They're in your gun case." H. C. DIEFENBACH says the three most difficult words are: "I was mistaken." It's good to see HAROLD HOWLETT around the old familiar spots. A great citizen, he APRIL tells me LAWRENCE HARTMAN is one of the most ardent — and best — fishermen and hunters in Oakland County. He goes for everything from field mice to sperm whales. I understand Major JOHN EISENHOWER will become a lieutenant colonel shortly.

Ben Hur is the most costly movie ever made and runs three and a half hours. This little want ad has been listed first among The World's Greatest Advertisements: "MEN WANTED FOR HAZARDOUS JOURNEY. Small wages. Bitter cold. Long months of complete darkness. Safe return doubtful. Honor and recognition in case of success. See Sir Ernest Shackleton." (It was his polar expedition.) I've been offered tickets for a ball at $100. Two come for $150. I'm spite of this great bargain, I'm tied up that evening. A Frisco restaurant owner asked a friend about a certain performer.

The POWER of FAITH

by Howard Brodie

Christmas Carols voice faith in warm, happy song. The first Nativity hymn, "Jesus Light of All the Nations," was composed in the Fourth Century.

Later under the influence of St. Francis, solemn religious hymns were transformed into simple, popular, joyous and fervent carols. Martin Luther is credited with composing "Away in a Manger." In 18th Century England, strolling musicians warmed the spirits of their fellow townsmen as they sang from door to door. Father Joseph Mohr in the Austrian Tyrol manifested his faith in the 19th Century when he wrote "Silent Night." It is said that he wrote verses on Christmas Eve because the church organ was broken and he did not wish his parishioners disappointed. He rushed to his friend, the organist, who composed the melody in a few hours, and it was sung at midnight.

Today carolers of all ages, representing churches, organizations and neighborhood groups, lift spirits as they softly sing down hospital halls, to the aged in homes, to gatherings in communities and to their neighbors.

"God rest you merry gentlemen, Let nothing you dismay, Remember Christ our Savior was born on Christmas Day . . ."

Christian Advent Begins Sunday

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

Tomorrow the Christian calendar opens a new year with the season of Advent, a period of four weeks leading up to Christmas. The word advent means coming. This season is in three ways a preparation for the coming of Christ.

First, with all its busyness of cooking, decorating and gift-buying, it is preparing for the observance of the Lord's birthday. Second, it is a period of preparation for His Second Coming in glory to judge the world. And third, the season is a time of self-examination and penitence to make ready for his daily coming in every human heart.

The principle figure of Advent is, of course, John the Baptist, whose voice cried "in the wilderness, Prepare ye the way of the Lord." (Matthew, Chapter 3, Verse 3).

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Funeral Flowers Great Comfort

Like most mothers, Mrs. Crane loves flowers. So when we lost our eldest son in a jet crash three years ago, she was buoyed up by the flowers at his funeral. They are a tonic to the soul and especially to all mothers. So don't let "economy" arguments destroy sentiment and thus produce erosion of the soul.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE D - 412: Mrs. Crane has been a wonderful mother to our five children.

And when our eldest son crashed in his jet plane three years ago, she accompanied me to Sunday School the next morning, with our CHILDREN. During the first few hours after the sudden announcement, we were all jolted and numb inside, as if we had been struck on the solar plexus.

Then the flowers and cards of sympathy and visits from friends and clergymen of various faiths, buoyed us up. All of you who have gone through the funeral of a close relative can attest to the unique uplifting sensation you receive from flowers and messages of sympathy. It's as if an invisible force were undergirding you.

Since I had personally seen how flowers exert such a beautiful expression of sentiment at such a crisis in human experience, I wrote a Case Record on this subject a year later.

Earlier this year of 1959, that Case Record was reprinted in

'We Must Prepare Our Spiritual Body'

As we contemplate the present chaotic condition of the world and affairs of the people, it makes us shudder. It, therefore, behooves each of us to try and prepare ourselves for anything that may happen.

We have a physical and a spiritual body. Our physical body returns to dust when it dies and the spiritual body returns to God. We should have our spiritual body ready at all times so it's ready to return to God at any instant.

This requires constant living according to the Golden Rule, Ten Commandments and brotherhood of man as taught by Christ. Do this and you needn't worry about what's going to happen to the world, for you will be ready to meet God and at the same time will surely help to better conditions on earth while you're here. God will help if you do your part.

Government Turns Down Plea to Stockpile Steel

WASHINGTON — The Commerce Department has turned down a Steelworkers Union suggestion that the government had better stockpile steel for defense needs in case the steel strike resumes early next year.

The union's counsel, Arthur J. Goldberg, had written Secretary of Commerce Frederick H. Mueller a week ago. He said he made the stockpiling suggestion so that if the strike resumes "any peril to the national safety will not be chargeable to the United Steelworkers of America."

Acting Secretary Philip A. Ray rejected Goldberg's proposal Friday. And he said the union and management cannot escape responsibility if the contract dispute is not settled.

"Only continued production of steel in all its phases can supply the real needs of defense," Ray wrote Goldberg. "The public interest requires the parties to the negotiation to settle their differences at the collective bargaining table, and this responsibility can not be shifted."

At the same time, the Federal Mediation Service announced that the industry and union have agreed to resume peace talks here next Tuesday.

The 116-day strike shut down most of the steel industry until it was halted by an 80-day Taft-Hartley injunction. After the 80-day cooling off period the union is free to strike again if no settlement has been reached.

Goldberg had said in his letter, "While I have not abandoned hope that a settlement in steel will be reached before the 80-day injunction expires on Jan. 26 I must advise you in all candor that at the present writing no settlement is in prospect."

Goldberg said stockpiling of vital defense steel would "guard against the possibility that a peril to the safety of the nation will be created."

Ray said the Commerce Department already has imposed priorities designed to assure steel for present defense needs. But he said "no such orders can in fact supply the grave deficiencies in steel that would result from a resumption of the strike."

Goldberg had called these priority orders completely inadequate.

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY
Then Jesus went with them to a place called Gethsemane, and he said to his disciples, sit here, while I go yonder and pray.—Matthew 26:36.

Dear Lord, who sought at dawn of day,
In solitary woods to pray,
In quietness we come to ask
Thy presence for our daily task.

— Harry W. Farrington.

readers may do so, if you wish, but few people contribute to the Cancer Fund in lieu of funeral flowers.

In Tennessee, when one prominent family asked that flowers be omitted, a total of only $15 went to the Cancer Fund and $10 of that came from the deceased's husband. In a similar case in Toledo, the Cancer Fund got only $36.

Meanwhile, the relatives and friends sadly missed the spiritual value of the flowers and felt depressed, much as if flowers were omitted from the church on Easter.

It's a terrible letdown to mothers! But we men also need them. So beware of letting sentiment die out by this penny-wise emphasis on "economy."

Sir Winnie Reaches 85 Years; Was Called Weakling as Child

NEW YORK (UPI)—Sir Winston Churchill, thanks in part, perhaps, to his American ancestry and modern medicine, reaches the age of 85 next Monday—an age that very few of the great "makers of history" have attained.

George Washington was a comparatively young 67 when he died. Alexander the Great was only 33. William Pitt, the younger, 46. Simon Bolivar, 47. Napoleon, 53. Lenin, 54. Oliver Cromwell, 59, and Christopher Columbus, 60.

But British prime ministers are a notably long-lived group of men, averaging in the 70s at the time of their deaths. William Gladstone lived to be 89, David Lloyd George, 82, and Arthur Balfour and Lord Palmerston, 81.

Still, the list of the octogenarian great is small: Georges Clemenceau, 88, the Duke of Talleyrand, 84, Otto von Bismarck, Voltaire, and the Duke of Wellington, 83, and a few others less well known such as Jan Christian Smuts, 80, and Paul von Hindenburg, 87.

Sir Winston did not inherit a tendency to longevity from his paternal ancestors. His dashing father, Lord Randolph Churchill, a onetime chancellor of the British exchequer and leader of the House of Commons, died at 46, and the seven dukes of Marlborough who were his forebears reached an average age of 64.

HAS INDIAN BLOOD

"He has interesting breeding—racing through the sire and stamina through the dam," said a family friend at the time of Sir Winston's birth.

His "dam" was, of course, the beautiful Jennie Jerome of New York who bequeathed to her son the hardness of French Huguenot pioneers and a few drops of American Indian blood, too. Several of Sir Winston's American cousins nearly can match him in age and still live very active lives.

"All of us Jeromes live to be in our eighties," said Miss Jessie Jerome Fanshawe, who runs New York's leading Theater Benefit Bureau. "But Winnie was very delicate when he was a child and we didn't think he'd come to much."

Sir Winston was a premature baby and grew up a weakling referred to by members of the Churchill household as "the little horror" and "that urchin." He grew more robust with age, but abused his health with a plentitude of Scotch and Havana cigars.

He had pneumonia at nine, an "invader" which he had to "repulse" again several times in the past 46 years with the aid of modern wonder drugs. His greatest victory was a comeback from a stroke and partial paralysis in 1953.

"The power of recuperation was God's special gift to Sir Winston," one of his physicians remarked.

Churchill has outlived all the worldshakers of his time, with the exception of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, who is 71. Hitler committed suicide at 56, Mussolini was slain at 61, Franklin D. Roosevelt died at 63, and Stalin at 73.

At 60, Sir Winston still had two terms as prime minister in his future and decisions to make that changed the course of history.

"Who would stand today in England or elsewhere in the free world had Churchill fallen or faltered?" asked a historian recently. Who indeed?

'59 Car Output at 5,530,500?

Ward's Reports Sees
Over Past Year

DETROIT (UPI)—Ward's Automotive Reports Friday estimated total 1959 car production at 5,530,500 units, an increase of 30 per cent over last year.

Ward's said the total would have exceeded 6,200,000 cars if steel had been available.

The one millionth car of the 1960 model run was built this week although overall production for the week dropped to 45,554 cars, compared with 68,476 last week and 123,088 in the comparable week of 1958.

Truck production this week was estimated at 8,091 against 11,863 last week and 20,619 a year ago.

Ward's said 25 per cent of the 1960 model run has been compact cars — Corvair, Valiant, Falcon, Lark and Rambler. Ward's said General Motors accounted for 37.5 per cent of the 1960 model production to date; Ford 33.4 per cent; Chrysler 16 per cent; American Motors 8.7 per cent and Studebaker-Packard 4 per cent.

His Father-in-Law (to Be) Likes Jimmy Durante

SCOTCH PLAINS, N. J. (UPI)—There'll be no in-law trouble for one of the world's most celebrated bridegrooms-to-be — James "Schnozzola" Durante.

His prospective father-in-law, a policeman, thinks Durante is "one of the finest men I've ever known."

Durante announced his engagement Wednesday to Margie Little, a one-time "Miss New Jersey State Fair."

Margie's father, Samuel Little, obviously approves of his intended son-in-law. "He's a different man when he's offstage," Little said yesterday.

"He's a nice, quiet, sociable person — not at all brassy," said Little, who at 59 is seven years younger than the famed comedian.

A survey among United States executives reveals that nearly 30 per cent of them would like to retire between the ages of 58 and 62. Only 2 per cent want to retire under 48, while nearly 6 per cent set the age at 73 or over.

Church Council Board Plans Detroit Meeting

DETROIT (UPI)—The general assembly of the National Council of Churches will meet here next Wednesday and Thursday with some 400 church leaders in attendance.

The council, which was established in 1950, will consider the world mission of the church, ethical issues in labor-management relations, and the church amid changing racial patterns.

It will mark the first time the board has met in Detroit.

The council includes 33 denominations and is headed by the Rev. Dr. Edwin T. Dahlberg, pastor of the Delmar Baptist Church of Saint Louis.

Chairmen of the following PTA committees have been urged to participate:

Character and spiritual education, citizenship, exceptional child, health, juvenile protection, legislation, mental health, preschool, reading and library services, safety, program, magazine and parent and family life education.

Don't Worry!

Stop worrying if your teeth aren't pure white. There really aren't any pure white teeth. Women with dark complexions may seem to have them, but it's just the contrast. The goal you should aim for is to keep them glistening and free from stains.

Auxiliary Will Meet

A cooperative dinner will be served when members of the Women's Auxiliary to the Oakland County Medical Society meet at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday at the home of Mrs. F. M. Sheridan.

Mrs. Donald Albert and Mrs. James Pearce will be hostesses.

After the dinner the group will wrap Christmas gifts for children at foster homes.

Open House for DePauws

In honor of their 25th wedding anniversary Mr. and Mrs. John August DePauw of Argyle avenue will be honored at an open house from 8 to 10 this evening given by their children John and Dolores. Friends and relatives are invited.

A chuckle is the reward for Dick Szeremet's story from tablemates Barbara Strang of Tilden avenue; Diane Pickford of Argyle street; and Fred Staley of Glendale avenue. These Pontiac young people paused for refreshment and conversation at one of the many tables that edged the vibrant blue dance floor.

In Festive Pine Lake Setting

Country Club Youth Hold Dance

New Decor Scores Hit for Party

Youth of Pine Lake Country Club were hosts to young people of four other country clubs last night for their first dance in the new clubhouse.

The group, which calls itself BOPOF from the first letters in the name of its participating clubs, has 10 dances a year. During the remodeling at Pine Lake, however, the young people from this club had to defer their obligation as hosts.

WORTH THE WAIT

Like all good things, it was worth waiting for, judging from the response of the early arrivals.

High school and college age people and their guests from Birmingham, Orchard Lake, Pine Lake, Oakland Hills and Forest Lake Country Clubs comprise BOPOF.

Friday evening over 200 of them danced to the music of Dave Farley and his orchestra.

Sponsors for the dance were Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Bergesen and Mr. and Mrs. Sherman LaMeasure of Birmingham; Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Moore, Bloomfield Farms; and Dr. and Mrs. Ferdinand Gaensbauer, Illinois avenue.

Sad Sacks Find Few Open Ears

Discontent can rob even the prettiest face of its attractions. It carves drooping lines from nose to mouth and leaves them there. It turns a mouth petulant and puts wrinkles in the forehead.

The discontented face is turned inward, forbidding and unpleasant to see. It seems to warn people off and usually succeeds. Somehow, once its owner starts talking, it's mostly about personal problems. The girl with a discontented face is looking for a listening ear into which she can pour her woes.

Unfortunately for her, most people are not much inclined to provide the ear. Either they have problems of their own or they don't want a pleasant mood ruined.

Oxford Society Finally to Let Women Talk

OXFORD, England (AP)—After talks lasting about a century the Oxford University Union has reached a tentative decision.

It may allow women students to take part in its discussions. The Union is a debating society, founded in 1823. Whether it should let women get into its arguments has been weighed many times over the decades and always the women lost.

But now the Union has voted 383-294 to let women join in its debates. It isn't final, however, because an issue of such importance must be referred to the Union's full membership of about 2,000.

A few silent women students, gagged by the rules, listened in the public gallery while men got eloquent and emotional on the view held by some that women have a right to talk.

Pleased at the turnout for the festive dance, first of the year at the Pine Lake Country Club, are committee members from left, Nancy Bogan, Birmingham; Howard Schuneman, Bloomfield Hills; Todd Bush, Royal Oak; and Holly Freda, Bloomfield Hills. They paused from ticket-taking and host duties before the huge contemporary planter in the lounge.

Husband's Reactions Give Clue to Wife

By RUTH MILLETT

You can be sure that you are doing your part to help your husband get ahead if:

He much prefers to have you go on a business trip with him than to go without you.

He frequently tries out ideas or talks out problems while you sit quietly and listen, asking an occasional question or making an occasional suggestion.

He wants you to know his business associates and their wives.

He tells you things about business matters he wouldn't dare tell you if he weren't absolutely sure that you have the good judgment to refrain from repeating them to even your closest friend.

He consults you before making important decisions that will affect you both.

He would rather bring an important client or associate or prospective customer home to dinner than to take him out to lunch in a restaurant.

He doesn't act impatient when you ask questions about his work so that you can better understand his problems and be more keenly aware of his successes.

He is obviously proud to introduce you as his wife.

He doesn't consider you extravagant or childish when it comes to money matters and has never doled out money or put you on an allowance, like a parent handing out money to a child.

He has complete confidence in your ability to entertain nicely, to put guests at ease and to get along with other women.

JUDITH LEVINE

Party Reveals Anniversary, Engagement

On their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary Wednesday Mr. and Mrs. Julian Levine of Ottawa drive announced the engagement of their daughter, Judith, to Richard Rassler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack N. Rassler of Elyria, Ohio, at an open house.

Handbills headlining the news were distributed to guests as they approached the Levine home. The refreshment table featured two interlocking heart-shaped cakes, one decorated in honor of the betrothed, the other in recognition of the Levine's anniversary.

Miss Levine, a former Stephens College student, is now a junior at Michigan State University. Mr. Rassler, an MSU senior, is a member of Zeta Beta Tau fraternity. No date has been set for the wedding.

MRS. JAMES C. FERGUSON

James C. Ferguson Wed to Norma Helen Feiler

Wearing a gown of Italian taffeta, Norma Helen Louise Feiler of Brightwood court, became the bride of James Clayton Ferguson of Gallogly road this morning at Christ Lutheran Church. The Rev. Arvid Anderson officiated before an altar bedecked with candles, pompons and white chrysanthemums. Some 60 guests were present.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. O. Feiler of Montgomery, Pa. The parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. James R. Ferguson of Pittsburg, Kan.

An accented v-neckline and fitted basque waist enhanced the bride's ballerina length gown. The skirt featured a center drawn pleat caught with a medallion of Alencon lace. At the back the hemline was in harem styling. She held a cascading bouquet of feathered chrysanthemums with pompons and camellia foliage.

Louise R. Feiler, the bride's sister, was maid of honor, and Betty Ferguson, the bridegroom's sister, of Pittsburg, was bridesmaid. The attendants were gowned alike in cotton blue taffeta dresses with boat necklines and short sleeves. The princess lines of their ballerina length dresses were highlighted by center front waist and bodice pleats. Miss Feiler had a semi-cascading bouquet of pompons and Miss Ferguson, a talisman pompon arrangement.

Army 1st Lt. William Lawson was best man. Ushers were William Chase and Gerald H. Oakes of Drayton Plains.

Mrs. Feiler selected a blue print sheath for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Ferguson was dressed in a blue lace ensemble. Both mothers wore white feathered chrysanthemums and pompon bouquets.

Contrast Hair With Fur Hat

When you buy a fur hat, be sure to pick a fur which is in direct contrast to your own hair. Ranch mink on dark brown hair, for instance, can be confusing. Fur and hair tend to mingle and produce not pleasant drama but a messy look.

Chinchilla, whether real or fake is beautiful on dark brown hair. So is white mink. The point is, hair and fur should never blend.

Norma Helen Louise Feiler of Brightwood court, daughter of the Walter H. O. Feilers of Montgomery, Pa., married James C. Ferguson of Gallogly road, son of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Ferguson of Pittsburg, Kan., this morning at Christ Lutheran Church.

Executive Rude and Thoughtless

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: I am a switchboard operator in a rather large office and have a pet peeve that I wish you would discuss in your column. Several of the men in the office have a habit of asking me to get them a certain party, and then instead of waiting on the line while I put the call through, they either start talking on another telephone or leave the office."

"As a result I have to ask the person called on to hold on while I try to locate him. This is very embarrassing to me and I think the height of bad manners on the part of these men. Will you please give me your opinion?"

Answer: I have often written against this rudeness, and am glad to do so again. If a man putting in a call to another gave a thought to the matter, I am sure he would be polite enough to stay by his telephone until the call is completed or he is told that the man he has called is not available.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me the correct clothes for my thirteen-year-old son to wear to his brother's wedding which will take place at an evening hour. Is he too young for a tuxedo?"

Answer: Unless he is very tall and looks older than his age, he should not wear a tuxedo, but a dark blue suit instead.

Millions Read Same Passages

Bible Society Program Urges Scripture List for Everyone

From now until Christmas, millions of people in some 50 countries will pick up their Bibles daily and read the same Scripture passages. (Bible references listed on page 7, Nov. 21 in Pontiac Press).

The program is a project of the American Bible Society. President Eisenhower serves as honorary chairman of the committee of sponsors and former presidents Truman and Hoover serve with him.

People will read passages guided by a list prepared by the society. Any version or translation of the Bible may be used.

Worldwide Bible reading, now in its sixteenth year, is the extension of a program begun during World War II when a U.S. Marine on Guadalcanal wrote his family in Philadelphia to suggest they maintain close spiritual ties by reading identical Bible passages each day.

The society provided the first list to the family and the idea for the program grew from that list.

Area Church Plans Special Services

The Sunday service will start at 7 p.m. with those Monday through Friday beginning at 7:30.

Stan Morse will direct the music.

Confident Living

Sebastian Kresge, 90 Benefits by Serving God

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

I spent an evening not too long ago with a successful young man of 90, Sebastian S. Kresge, who founded the S.S. Kresge chain of stores. He asked me my opinion of a certain political issue that had just hit the headlines.

I hadn't yet read about it and so I replied, "Why, I'm sorry Mr. Kresge, I don't know anything about it."

"What's the matter with you?" he asked smilingly. "Don't you keep up with current events?"

It was obvious that, even at 90, Mr. Kresge is up-to-date and attuned to the issues of the day. He's alive. What's 90 years to a man like that?

I asked him how he kept his zest for life and he told me simply that he gets it from "waiting on the Lord." His reference was to the Bible passage, "They that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings as eagles; they shall run, and not be weary; and they shall walk and not faint."

I thought about that when a man wrote to me recently and asked if I could recommend any books corresponding to the Horatio Alger books on which he grew up. This series of books for boys was dedicated to helping boys amount to something.

I recommend Conrad Hilton's book "Be My Guest." This is a kind of modern Horatio Alger story. Mr. Hilton writes that he owes his victories over great adversities and his successes in the hotel business to two people, his mother and his father.

Whenever any trouble came, his mother would say to him, "Connie, pray your way through it and never give up."

At one point, when he was broke and hundreds of thousands of dollars in debt, his mother told him, "I've saved two thousand dollars I want to invest in your business." He advised her not to endanger her savings in this way. But she insisted, "Don't you ever give up," she told him. "I believe in you. Keep on praying."

His father, who was equally hardheaded, added another important word of advice. "Work. Just keep on working; don't stop trying," was his advice.

Two vital things: pray and work. Tie them together and never give them up. That is what real American mothers and fathers have been teaching American boys and girls through the years—to pray and to work and to stand up to things.

Have you instilled these principles of successful living in your own life? Have you discovered that when you wait upon the Lord, you can run and not grow weary; walk and not faint? Have you learned to count on the guidance that prayer can bring you? Have you learned how to keep on working until what you work for comes to you? And, most important, have you learned to stand up to your problems and not be defeated by them?

If you can do these things, you will have learned the principles of success.

Sunday Marks Beginning of 4-Week Advent Season

Sunday marks the beginning of lists, the churches will say, the Advent, the four-week season of the ancient church calendar in which Christians are supposed to prepare spiritually for the Feast of the Nativity Dec. 25.

Advent used to be a time of prayer and penance, much like Lent.

The idea was that people needed to reflect for a while on their need for a Savior in order to appreciate the "glad tidings of great joy" that are perennially heralded to mankind on the birthday of Christ.

Today the penitential aspects of Advent are little emphasized. The season has become a last-ditch rallying ground for the churches' effort to maintain some semblance of religious meaning in America's heavily commercialized Christmas observance.

This Sunday and throughout Advent, churches will be telling their members that it's simply not possible to "keep Christ in Christmas" with a few last-minute gestures like reading the 2nd chapter of St. Luke's Gospel to the children on Christmas Eve.

Unless professing Christians start thinking about Christ and the awesome significance which they attach to his birth as early as they start planning menus and gift lists.

Masons from Lake Orion-Oxford area will worship at a special Thanksgiving service at 5 p.m. The Rev. Wilbur R. Schutze is pastor.

Another wing to house the auditorium, additional classrooms and a pastor's study will be built later.

Members of the church are sponsoring a turkey dinner at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday evening in Madison Junior High School cafeteria to benefit the building fund.

Raymond Hibbs is chairman of the committee. Mrs. Roy Warner, Mrs. Wilbur Young, Robert Tenniswood and James Lyons are the other members.

Mrs. Jack Storm and Mrs. Stait Lloyd are in charge of the dining room. Paul Brown and William Nicholas are planning the program. Young people of the church will serve. The Rev. G. W. Gibson is pastor.

U. S. Arab Relief Aid May Reach Untimely End

The uncertain fate of the United Nations Relief and Works Administration (UNRWA) is a matter of concern to all churches, members of the Near East Committee of the National Council of Churches were told last week. The mandate of UNRWA, which is 70 per cent supported by the U.S., to provide food, housing and other services for Arab refugees, expires June 30, 1960.

The committee, a unit of the Division of Foreign Missions, voted to express its concern over this and urged that it be brought before member churches.

It also cited a recent letter to U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld from the Commission of the Churches on International Affairs and recommended that it be brought to the attention of the nation's church people. Dr. Emil W. Malinzel is executive secretary of the Near East committee.

Praising UNRWA's magnificent work, the CCIA letter declared: "We are convinced that a continuing relief program on a long-term, though possibly diminishing basis, is essential and inevitable."

Whatever governments may do, says the letter, the churches will not abandon the Arab refugees. However, in urging UNRWA's continuation or the formation of a successor agency, it points out that "what the churches can do will not be enough."

The Near East committee also heard a report just received from Dr. A. Russell Stevenson covering his two-week survey of the heartland of the Middle East—Lebanon, Syria, Jordan and Egypt. Director of Overseas Program of Church World Service, he is surveying the churches' refugee programs in the Near East and Asia.

With an increase in births over deaths in the past year alone totalling 26,233, the Arab refugee population now stands at 1,087,628, Dr. Stevenson reported. "A few have migrated to countries of the West or to Iraq, Saudi Arabia, Kuwait and elsewhere, but they are the fortunate ones," he declared.

The American churches, through

Church World Service, have given $350,000 to aid Arab refugees, he added, "but this is work where we cannot become weary in well-doing." Reporting some small signs of progress including improved housing, Dr. Stevenson concluded his report.

"The churches cannot do other than continue in patience the work they have begun and sustained through the past eleven years."

Writers' Workshop Held in Mexico City

The first Christian Writers' Workshop in Latin America brought some 60 pastors, professors and teachers to Mexico City recently from eight Caribbean countries. Reporting on "one of the most successful seminars we've ever had," Miss Marion Van Horne said on her return that an important result of the two-week workshop was the organization of a Christian Writers Fellowship of the Caribbean.

She added that this, too, is a first for Latin America. Miss Van Horne is secretary for literature of the Committee on World Literacy and Christian Literature (Lit-Lit) of the National Council of Churches, which sponsors similar writing workshops in different world areas.

Dr. G. Baez-Camargo, noted Mexican author, poet and journalist, was director of the workshop, which offered courses in children's literature, poetry, religious drama, the fundamentals of journalism, the novel and short story in addition to devotional writing.

Sessions were led by Miss Van Horne; Dr. Benjamin Browne, executive director of the American Baptist Convention's board of education and publication; Professor Francisco Montverde, professor at National University of Mexico; and Mrs. Dorothy Clarke Wilson, author and drama teacher. The new writers' fellowship, said Miss Van Horne, has already elected officers and plans to join a larger fellowship of Latin American Protestant authors as other regional groups are formed.

At the 8:45 and 11 a.m. services, the pastor will speak on the theme, "A Tragic Marriage." Assisting him at the morning services will

NCC's General Board to Meet in Detroit

When the 250-member policy-making General Board of the National Council of Churches meets in Detroit Dec. 23, it will take up a wide range of issues affecting the churches and the nation's welfare in addition to its regular business. This will be the first time the board has convened since last June.

Ethical issues in industrial relations are scheduled to be a topic of discussion and members are now considering statements on it prepared by the council's Department of the Church and Economic Life. The world refugee situation, special ministries to persons in hospitals and prisons and a consideration of Christian youth and the impact on them of today's culture will be additional items on a crowded agenda.

British Actors Are Given Hard Technical Training

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — America has always been a happy hunting ground for English performers, but never has there been such a wholesale invasion as this year. Laurence Olivier and Alec Guinness have brightened what has been a fairly dismal TV season.

Among the others imported for American movies, TV and stage plays are Dirk Bogarde, Laurence Harvey, Richard Burton, Margaret Leighton, John Gielgud, Robert Morley, Trevor Howard, John Mills, Hayley Mills, not to mention the more permanent visitors: David Niven, Deborah Kerr, Jean Simmons, James Mason, etc.

How come? I asked one of the latest and loveliest of the invaders — Ann Todd. She is here to do a Playhouse 90 tonight and makes the trip at least annually.

'KNOW CRAFT'

"Perhaps it is because we know our craft," she explained. "Any young performer who shows some promise in England goes through a rigorous training in the classics. That background is invaluable."

Hollywood stars have trouble understanding why performers like Olivier, Harvey and Miss Todd will devote a half-year playing at the Old Vic at something like $90 a week.

"It's hard work," Miss Todd admitted. "At the Old Vic, you rehearse all day for your next play, then do another one at night. You can be performing in three different plays in one week."

"You work hard for ridiculous pay, but it's worth it. The artistic rewards are enormous."

MONEY NO OBJECT?

"I know this doesn't sound right, but I'm really not interested in making a lot of money. I think a lot of the English stars feel the same way. We live comfortably, and we enjoy our comfort. But I don't believe we're so determined to amass riches as actors are in Hollywood."

Miss Todd sees some hope in the American acting field, especially with the rise of schools like the Actor's Studio. But our actors have a long distance to go in catching up with the British. As the blonde actress pointed out: "In England, competition is so great that the character performers are as proficient as the stars."

Islanders Celebrate With Color

HONOLULU (UPI)—The state of Hawaii — America's melting pot of nationalities — will celebrate its acceptance into the United States tonight with one of the most colorful admission day programs ever presented.

The giant pageant will be followed by the most elaborate fireworks display ever staged in Hawaii.

It will feature thousands of sky rockets and intricate ground pieces, including a flaming tribute to Madame Pele, goddess of volcanoes, and her recently staged natural fireworks at Kilauea Iki volcano.

For those who prefer more pomp in their celebration, a state dinner will be held at the Royal Hawaiian Hotel. Main speaker is scheduled to be Korean ambassador to the United States, Dr. You Chan Yang, a one-time resident of Honolulu.

The glittering head table at the dinner will include practically every visiting dignitary, plus key islanders who led the fight for Hawaii's statehood.

Chicago Is Blamed for Peril to Homes

CHICAGO (UPI)—City officials were asked today why they permitted new housing in the airport area where a plane crash killed 11 persons.

A blue ribbon coroner's jury investigating the crash last Tuesday said the city apparently had passed few new zoning laws as the size and speed of airplanes increased rapidly.

The jury recessed yesterday until Dec. 11 without pinpointing the cause of the crash of the Trans World Airlines Super-H Constellation cargo plane.

The three-man crew and eight persons trapped in their burning homes died. Thirteen other persons were injured.

3-Million-Bushel Crop Puts Jonathans in Lead

LANSING (UPI)—The Jonathan variety of apples was the 1959 harvest leader with a record crop of 3,150,000 bushels, the Federal-State Crop Reporting Service said Friday.

McIntosh was second with 2,300,000 and Northern Spies third at 1,600,000 bushels.

Total apple production in Michigan was 12 million bushels in the 46 commercial counties, the service said.

The service said earlier Michigan's 1959 production of the seven major fruits totaled a record 556,300 tons this year.

German Sailor Jumps Ship, Swims River

WATERTOWN, N. Y. (AP)—A young German sailor was back aboard his ship today, headed for home after a swim in the icy St. Lawrence river during a snowstorm.

The U. S. Border Patrol said Bolle Klaus Reimer, 16, literally jumped ship. He plunged from the Elise Schultz in narrow waters near the Thousand Island Bridge, which connects the United States and Canada, and swam to Wellesley Island. The temperature was 39 degrees.

Patrolman Herbert Leach followed footprints in the snow and caught Reimer seven hours later. Leach said the youth had broken into a summer home and obtained dry clothing.

Jolly Old St. Nicholas Can't Read Girl's Letter

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—Three-year-old Ruth Waters, on her way to see Santa Claus, took no chances that she might get so excited she'd forget what she wanted to say. She brought it in writing.

Ruth came up to the jolly gentleman and handed him a slip of paper with his name on it. St. Nick frowned slightly and beckoned to Ruth's mother.

"What does this say?" he whispered. "I left my glasses at home."

Michigan's Fatals for Weekend at 11

By The Associated Press
Michigan's Thanksgiving weekend and traffic deaths now stand at 11.

The latest reported victim was 6-month-old Vickie Trapp of Jackson, killed Friday night when the car in which she was riding collided with another on U.S. 127 just west of Mason.

The child's mother, Mrs. Wilma Trapp, 39, suffered back injuries and four other persons were treated for minor injuries.

The baby and her mother were passengers in a car driven by Lloyd Kimbrell, 38, of Leslie. Sheriff's deputies said Kimbrell's car rammed the rear of another.

Travel Total Covered by Ike 255,000 Miles

WASHINGTON (UPI)—White House aides estimate that President Eisenhower will have traveled just over one-quarter of a million miles in office when he completes his mission to Europe and Asia.

From 1953 to 1958, he has covered at least 30,000 miles a year outside Washington (both at home and abroad).

This year will be the busiest year—34,930 miles in the first 11 months and 22,370 miles on his December mission abroad.

Grand total: 255,000 miles.

AF Deactivates 116 Early Jets

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Air Force has ordered deactivation next year of its four squadrons equipped with early models of the speedy F104 "Starfighter" interceptors.

The move, announced yesterday, involves 116 planes built by Lockheed at a total cost of $174,000,000 and 1,600 men stationed at bases in Ohio, California, Washington and Massachusetts.

The planes may be turned over to the Air National Guard or the Tactical Air Command. The men will be given new assignments.

The early-model F104 holds the world speed record at 1,404 miles per hour, and the world's altitude record at 91,249 feet. But the Air Force said it lacks the complicated electronic gear of later jets.

Cranberry Testing Slows After Holiday

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Federal Food and Drug Administration (FDA) has stopped testing cranberries on an emergency, round-the-clock schedule now that Thanksgiving is past.

Safe cranberry supplies are plentiful now and should continue to be for the Christmas holidays. J. K. Kirk, assistant to the commissioner of FDA, said the testing program still has "high priority," but that inspectors have been put back on normal work shifts. He said they were "wearing out" under the emergency schedule.

But $70 Million Scheme May Doll It Up

London Tower Isn't 'Falling Down'

LONDON (AP)—A 70-million-dollar scheme to provide a more stately setting for the Tower of London, one of this capital's most spectacular attractions, was announced today.

Actually the historic landmark overlooking the Thames River is a cluster of about a dozen towers—and one of the proposals is to build still another tower 16 stories high.

The plan was announced by designers of two municipal bodies, the corporation of the old city of London, in which the tower is situated, and the London County Council.

The idea is to make the tower, where the crown jewels are housed and scarlet-robed befeater perform their ceremonial duties, more accessible to tourists.

About a million visitors stroll through the 50 acres of its grounds every year, but the planners believe it could become an even greater tourist attraction.

The scheme is designed to make it easier for pedestrians to reach the tower by closing several busy streets in the vicinity and barring automobiles from them.

Wide ramps would prove an easy approach to Tower Hill. Terraces and gardens would give new backgrounds for the tower itself as well as for the monuments of Trinity Square, the Customs House and All Hallows Church. There is extensive provision for playgrounds, high quality office buildings and shops.

Sir Isaac Hayward, leader of the London County Council, estimated the cost for acquiring the necessary property will, alone, be about five million pounds ($14 million dollars). The whole scheme, including private investment, would be in the neighborhood of 25 million pounds (70 million dollars), he said.

B. G. Arthur, chairman of a city planning committee, said construction could start in two or three years.

Detroit Firm to Entertain Science Group

Some 40 members of the Oakland County Science Teachers Assn. Wednesday will be feted by the Carboly Co. of Detroit, a metallurgy division of the General Electric Co.

The event is the association's third anniversary.

The teachers, representing science departments in school systems throughout the county, will watch the company's powder metallurgy process, use of equipment and facilities.

The hosts will provide dinner for the visiting teachers.

"The purpose of our organization," said Walter Ainsworth, president of the association and teacher at Pontiac Central High School, "is to keep abreast of progress in science in industry and research."

"Teachers understand their subjects better and can augment text books with lectures from their own experiences."

Legislation for Migrants?

Senator Says Officials Feel Federal Action Is the Answer

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Harrison A. Williams (D-NJ) said Friday there is a strong feeling among state and local officials that federal legislation is needed to solve problems posed by the nation's legions of migrant workers.

Williams is chairman of the Senate subcommittee on migratory labor which plans to visit New Jersey Monday, and New York and Pennsylvania the following week.

In those states already toured by the subcommittee, he said, state and local officials were "very much concerned" but unable to cope with some of the migrant labor problems.

"Because the migratory workers are continually moving from state to state, it is difficult for county and state officials to do very much in certain areas," Williams said.

HEARINGS, INSPECTIONS

Texas and California lead the states in employment of migrant labor, but New Jersey, New York and Michigan also are described as "heavy users."

The subcommittee's past schedule has included both public hearings and inspections of migrant labor facilities.

The subcommittee estimates that about one million persons are on the move in 23 states helping to tend and harvest crops.

The existence of such a large mobile army of workers has posed problems of housing and education which have baffled states and local communities for many years.

The group has held hearings and conducted inspections in Washington, D.C.; Wisconsin, Michigan and Minnesota.

HOLD STILL — It took some doing to get these three youngsters all still at the same time! At the left is 18-months-old Dave. Three-year-old Dick is in the center; while four-year-old Lori rocks her doll at the right. This picture was taken in the basement recreation room. That fireplace is red brick. The wall is Philippine mahogany plywood. The floor is corktone tile.

ARCHITECT'S DRAWING — This is the Ben F. Evans home in Ridgewood Hills subdivision as the architect drew it. The exterior is red brick with redwood siding on the end walls. A two-car garage is in the basement under the right end.

The Evans have over half an acre of land. Smitha and Lilly of Rochester were architects and builders.

Your Neighbor's House

All-Electric Home Houses Eight

By JANET ODELL/
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Electric home heat is scarce enough in the Pontiac area to make news. Most of us get along with automatic furnaces using other types of fuel; many still shovel coal. But the Benjamin Evans of Ridgewood Hills just turn on the electricity. Their all-electric home has received the Edison Gold Medallion award for adequate lighting and wiring.

With six youngsters, ten years of age and under, Mrs. Evans needs all the automatic help she can get. Cooking and laundry equipment is standard. However, each plug in the kitchen is on a separate circuit which can never be overloaded.

All the bedrooms have electric baseboard heat with individual thermostats in each room. Bathroom heat comes from radiant glass panels — no, they won't burn the children. In the kitchen and vestibule there is radiant cable heat in the ceiling.

The Evans family is evenly divided between boys and girls: Bruce is 10; Dick is 3; and Dave is 18 months. Linda, the eldest daughter is 8; Lori is 4; and Kathy is 7 months. In June they all moved from Tubbs road in Waterford Township into their new home.

Smitha and Lilly of Rochester built the red brick home. Robert Smitha was the architect. All are from Rochester.

You see the open kitchen at the left as you enter the front door. A vestibule at the right goes to the living room which is at the rear of the house. Stairs to the basement go directly down from the entry way. Brass poles extend from floor to ceiling as part of the wall.

White double louvered doors hide a coat closet. The floor is slate. Between the door and the kitchen there are ribbed glass windows. Pierced brass lamps give light here. This vestibule is one step lower than the kitchen and the living room.

Side walls in the living room are creamy white. One end wall is gold. The other one at the dining room end has a mural wallpaper featuring a gray tree. WINDOW WALL.

background for LIVING

There are windows all across one side of the room. These are draped with white material, printed in a coral and gray floral design. Above the windows there is valance lighting.

The sectional sofa is green plastic. A pair of sturdy Naugahyde chairs can take the beating six active children are apt to give them. A black Naugahyde chair belongs to Mr. Evans and is his each evening for reading. Above on the wall there is a reading lamp. Near his chair is a maple rocker used for child cuddling.

The kitchen floor is beige with blue and brown spatters. Cabinets are birch with invisible latches. All appliances are copper-tone. Counter tops are aqua with a gold fleck. Above the sink there are two brass spot lights. On the back of the breakfast bar next to the stairs a strip of electrical plugs provide outlets for any small appliances the family might want to use.

Bruce and the baby share a room; Dick and Dave are together; and Lori and Linda are roommates. The girls have a pink room. Bruce's room has beige walls and wild west curtains.

The master bedroom has three walls painted white and one papered white with pink and purple milkweed "feathers." The floor is polished oak. Furniture is walnut.

Of course there is lots of light in the beige bathroom. A linen closet has been built on top of one end of the vanity. Paper above the tile is white with a gold design.

Down in the basement there is a recreation room, a utility room and a garage.

In the recreation room two walls are cement block, the other two Philippine mahogany plywood. A cozy red brick fireplace is the center of family gatherings. The very low hearth is slate.

Down here there is comfortable old furniture, Dave's hobby horse and a piano.

The Evans' have five-eighths of an acre. They have done nothing yet to landscape their scenic back yard; but they have a splendid natural view. They have, however, achieved a large enough house in which to raise their family comfortably—and early enough in life for everyone to enjoy it.

THE BEN EVANS — Mr. and Mrs. Evans sit for their portrait with their youngest child, Kathy. They chose sturdy furniture for their living room. The green sectional sofa and the upholstered lounge chairs are plastic. The end wall is gold. Carpeting is brown and green tweed. Draperies are white with a coral and gray design. The Evans' moved into their new home in June.

BREAKFAST BAR — This breakfast bar backs up to the basement stairs. Notice the strip of electrical plugs for small appliances.

On the other side of the stairs there are brass poles extending from floor to ceiling. At the right is the front door.

Pontiac Press Photos by Vanderwerf

WALL MURAL — The mural wallpaper on the dining room wall shows a tree in varying shades of gray. The camera has picked up the shading in detail. This end of the living room has a bare oak floor. The Evans' have a pleasing view out their back windows whenever they sit down to eat. Heat in this room is in the baseboards.

Self-Adhesive Paper New Useful Decorating Aid

Quick first-aid remedies for shabby or problem areas in the home can be a boon to the home-maker-in-a-hurry.

The solid success of self-adhesive, plastic-coated papers has encouraged new developments in the field which promise to prove just as popular. The narrow, lightweight, adhesive papers were intended primarily for shelves and walls, but women soon found many other flat surfaces which could be decorated quickly in gay colors and patterns. Patterns in these now number into the hundreds.

The latest member of the stick-it-yourself family is a heavier, wider plastic paper. This is 36 inches wide, and will cover many types of surfaces without a seam line. The waterproof paper is heavy enough to be used on floors in light traffic areas.

Women who have experimented with the lighter-weight papers on floors have told me they proved quite satisfactory as an inexpensive way of camouflaging an old floor. The heavier weight should be even more satisfactory and longer wearing.

The patterns in this weight include cork, marbled, light and dark wood grains, pearl, linen and spatter designs. The protective paper backing is in three strips, ready to be peeled off so the paper can be finger-pressed into place.

COVER TABLE

Old card tables, for example, can be covered in 10 minutes with the new paper.

Measure the top and side surfaces. Cut self-adhesive paper to those measurements, allowing enough to completely cover the side rails. Pull off the backing and press the paper down, cutting in slightly at corners so that paper can be pulled smooth around the corners, as though you were wrapping a box.

The weight and waterproof qualities of new, self-adhesive papers also suggest their usefulness in covering kitchen counters, laundry sorting tables, or bathroom walls.

Flocks of self-adhesive plastic embossed in three-dimensional patterns, such as simulated brick and woven bamboo, are stuck to wall or ceiling individually. They can be scrubbed and are said to be remarkably durable.

They're especially useful in problem areas where walls are scarred or cracked, or in kitchens where soot and grease are a problem. The blocks are easily pressed into place, and can be cut to fit odd corners.

They make a more-or-less permanent wall covering and can be painted with special paints. The blocks are more expensive to use than the smooth-surfaced papers.

Wastebaskets Good Moving Containers

When packing for a move to another house or apartment, make every effort to consolidate your shipment. Pack the various items from the same room in the same containers. It'll make unpacking that much easier.

Packing experts suggest you even make use of your wastebaskets to accomplish this. For instance, the wastebasket alongside your desk can be used as a container to transport your desk calendar, pencil holders, address index pads, staplers, cellophane tape dispensers and other items which decorate the top of your desk.

Your bathroom wastebasket, too, can be used as a carrying case for some of the unbreakable items in the medicine cabinet, while odds and ends on your dresser and chest of drawers can be transported in the bedroom wastebaskets.

Ceramic Tile Scraps Have Attractive Use

Keeping a close watch on the ceramic tile contractor who remodels the floor, walls and counters of your kitchen will pay off twice. Obviously your attentiveness will be noticed, and the contractor, in turn, will supervise his mechanics more closely.

The second dividend is the leftovers. If picked up promptly before the mechanics dispose of them, these scraps can be used to fashion a mosaic of ceramic tile. Glued to a sheet of plywood, the mosaic will make a colorful embellishment for a drab wall.

Submarine cable weighs about 19 tons to the mile.

PERMANENT FIREPLACE — Through clever architectural design this outdoor fireplace was built to utilize the same chimney as an inside fireplace. Very little additional material or space was required. The convenient height and extra space provided by the ledge are features the cook in the family will appreciate. For the fireplace, as well as the walls of the house, 4- and 8-in. high concrete masonry units were used in combination.

Building Materials All Change a Bit

Marble expands twice as much as wood and aluminum may expand or contract four times as much as wood and temperature changes, according to the authoritative Research News.

The magazine points out that there is a mistaken assumption that materials other than wood are dimensionally stable and free from swelling and shrinking due to temperature changes.

While wood does have a tendency to change slightly with increase in moisture content and drying out, it is quite resistant to temperature changes.

Dust Light Bulbs, Too

When dusting, don't overlook light bulbs in lamps, especially those lamps with bulbs pointing upward. Dust can cut down appreciably on light output.

Paneled Walls Appear Often in New Homes

Wood paneled walls, which only a generation ago were identified primarily with ultra-expensive homes, now are being found on an increasing scale in house of all price ranges, home stylists report. The trend, they say, can be credited to two major factors. First, wood production and finishing advances have made wood paneling relatively inexpensive. Second, home owners intent on "gracious living" are turning more and more to the beauty of wood as an expression of individuality.

In many homes, the wood trend is evidenced in one or more "accent" walls, which serve as showplaces for fireplace, book shelves and a variety of built-ins. In kitchens particularly, wood paneled walls are a perfect setting for built-in appliances.

One of the most popular woods for paneled walls is American walnut, decorators point out. Walnut, they say, has a quality of being right for almost every home. Depending upon application and architecture, it can express modern casualness or traditional dignity. It harmonizes with all styles of furnishings.

Walnut for room paneling may be obtained in solid planks or in plywood.

State Will Share Building Boom

The "gold rush" of the sixties will be toward housing and will be touched off next year by the construction of 243,000 homes in the five East-North-Central states alone, predicts a leading authority in the building materials industry.

H. Dorn Stewart, president of the Barrett Division of Allied Chemical Corp., says his forecast is based on the area's share of the 1,300,000 new U.S. homes he projects for 1960.

Stewart, who also heads the Producers Council, comments, "This is only the start of the rising housing curve; its greatest climb probably won't be reached until the second half of the decade."

State by state, this is how Stewart pictures the construction of homes in the East - North - Central States for 1960:

Ohio	68,000
Indiana	25,000
Illinois	89,500
Michigan	55,500
Wisconsin	25,000

"Added to the usual first-time homebuyer, who will be growing in number all through the sixties, will be a greater proportion of second-time buyers," reports Stewart. "Families whose breadwinners are between 40 and 54 will increase by 1 1/2 million during the next 10 years," explains the Barrett president.

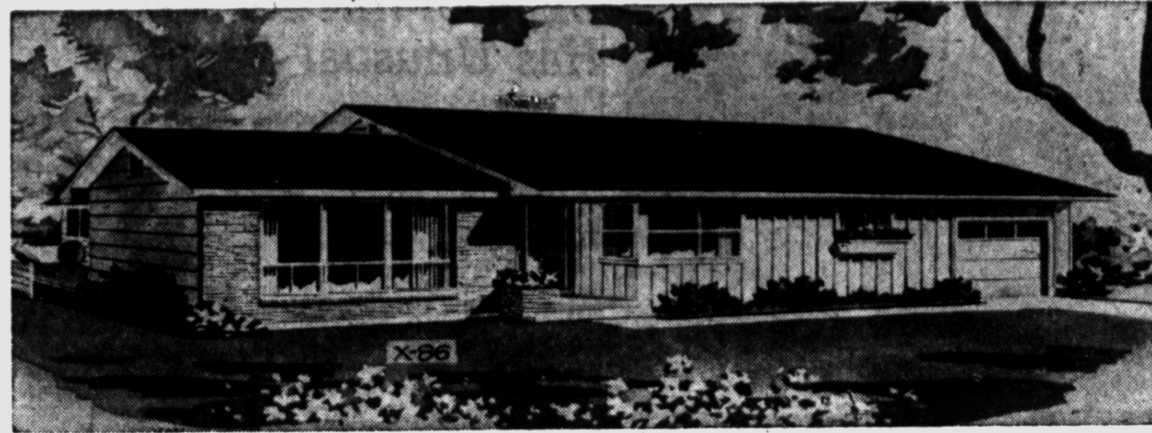

"The combination of the first-time buyer and the buyer who has owned a home previously will offer a greater challenge to those of us in the building materials industry. The second-time buyer will offer a particularly challenging problem since he is in a position to be more discriminating. He already has a roof over his head, and he is willing to wait four to five years before committing himself."

Stewart concludes with good news for the homebuyer of the future:

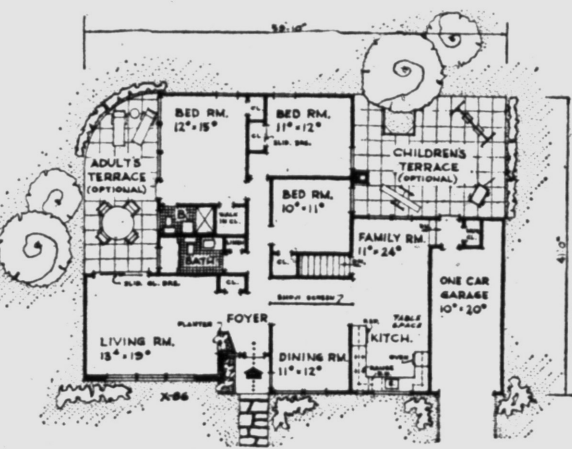

"The upward curve of construction costs will be held in check by improved manufacturing techniques, improved methods of distribution, and greater use of durable but economical materials.

"This will enable the manufacturer to pass on savings to the builder who in turn will pass them on to the homebuyer."

UNPRETENTIOUS CHARM — This clean-looking ranch has seven rooms covering 1,509 square feet of habitable space. There are three bedrooms, well-isolated living room and dining room, and a big family room and kitchen.

FLOOR PLAN — Center hall splits the T-shape of this departure from usual ranch design. Note excellent isolation of living room.

Split-T Ranch Packs Powerful Appeal to All

By DAVID L. BOWEN

If you ladies would like to interest your husband in this house, use a little deception and tell him it's a fine example of split-T design.

Before he finds out you're talking about houses and not football, you'll be through the line and into the secondary.

You can throw a few blocks before he gets organized by pointing out that the master bedroom has a private bath and opens on a terrace, that he can preside like a king in the separate dining room, and that he'll never get rained on stepping from the breakfast table to the car.

And you might bowl over his final attempt at resistance and reach your goal by emphasizing that this compact seven-room ranch has a habitable area of only 1,509 square feet and will fit on a 75-foot lot.

The plan this strategy applies to is X-86 in the House of the Week series. The architect is Herman H. York.

TRUE CENTER HALL

It's a split-T because of the T-shaped outline of its floor plan, split down the middle by a true center hall. In the traditional pattern, the living room lies on one side of the entrance foyer, the dining room on the other.

Beyond the dining room is the combined kitchen and family room. The bedrooms are arrayed on either side of the hall which runs straight back from the entrance foyer.

This arrangement insures isolation of the living room from idle traffic. A decorative shoji screen serves to keep routine traffic out of the dining room.

WIDE OPEN KITCHEN

Combined length of the family room and kitchen is 24 feet. Wide windows in the rear extend the housewife's visual supervision to the children's terrace. A vestibule off the family room provides access to terrace and garage. The vestibule also has a handy mud closet.

Stairs to the basement storage area are located at this same end of the family room so that movement from the cellar to the outdoors is uncomplicated.

A one-car garage is shown in the plans, but the right wing of the house easily could be extended to provide room for two cars.

A combination of brick veneer and boards and battens are suggested for the front facade by the architect. Combination fixed and

Tricks Make Space Bigger

Today's inflated living costs hit the homemaker's budget in many ways but probably her thorniest problem is that of making limited space accommodate her family and still serve her own aesthetic sense.

Most young families lack the necessary funds to build, buy or rent a home that gives them as much elbow room as they would like, yet the clever homemaker can "make do" with a minimum of rooms and small, cut up units if she has a will to.

Roy C. Koepfel, general sales manager for The Seng Company, Chicago and Los Angeles manufacturers of metal devices for furniture, passes along to young families a number of observations he has made during his years in the furniture business. Among them are:

— Wise color selection goes a long way towards making small rooms look spacious. Light colors like beige, grey and yellow give the impression that walls are farther away and hence the room is bigger. Darker colors such as blue, green and brown can also be used but woodwork and moldings should match if you want the spacious effect.

— Wall-to-wall carpeting, usually in light, neutral tones, or large size rugs give the eye a long sweep through the room and heighten the illusion of spaciousness.

— Furniture used in a small room should be properly scaled. A chair with a tall back or overly high legs may seem out of place in today's low-ceiling rooms.

— Dual-purpose furniture like sofa-beds, sofa-sleepers, glide-seat sofas and press-back lounges is playing an increasingly important part in modern homes. A room can look attractive by day and fulfill all its functions for daytime living, yet it can almost miraculously be converted into a comfortable sleeping space.

DIVIDER BAR — Entertaining is always easier if bar supplies are kept in one place, and where no other room is available, a lovely divider unit like this, made of lovely golden west coast hemlock, serves the purpose admirably. The divider acts as a perfect separator between dining and living areas.

Completion Bond Means Your Work Will Be Done

Ever heard of a completion bond? If you're planning to do anything substantial in the way of improving your home — and these days that includes any step beyond driving a few nails — don't fail to get the contractor to arrange a completion bond.

This pays another contractor to complete the job in case the original man fails, for example, to use the grade of ceramic tile specified or in any way fails to complete the work according to terms of the original agreement.

Plants for Winter

The Viburnums are considered among true gardeners and plantmen as aristocrats of the garden according to the Michigan Association of Nurserymen. Their showy splendor during our seasons, with their changing patterns from spring to winter make them very desirable. Since they are not too particular as to sell, they easily solve the question of what to plant and where.

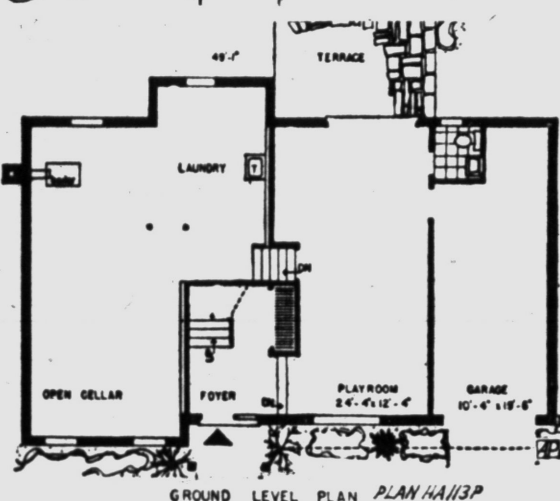

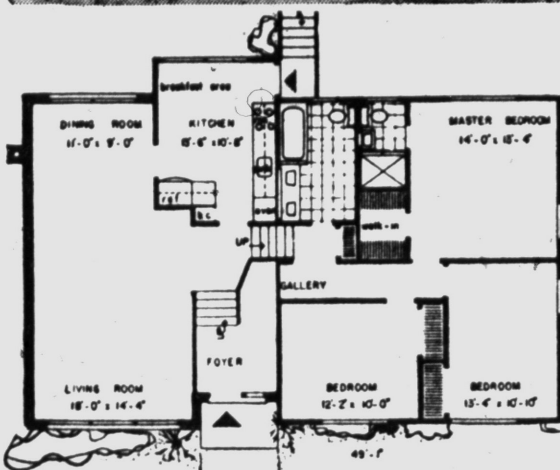

You may use them as specimens in foundation plantings, singly, in groups among the evergreens or in masses for enclosures. Their foliage is glossy green in most cases, with white flowers, and some very fragrant. With the fall coloration of scarlet and red which persists through the winter, you have a plant attractive even to the birds.

When Buying a House
Snoop Up and Down

When shopping for a home, don't be afraid to take a peek up in the attic or in the basement. Look at the floor joists and see that they are made of sturdy, long-lasting Douglas fir. Look at the rafters and get a look at the wall framing if possible.

A good house is well framed in it the proper grade of fir or other suitable framing lumber such as west coast hemlock.

New Bench Grinders
Keep Tools Sharp

A home craftsman is only as efficient as the tools he uses. This is particularly true in the case of cutting tools.

Equipment such as wood chisels, plane blades, star drills, draw knives, drill bits, putty and roofing knives, should be kept in perfect cutting condition for maximum efficiency in home workshop projects.

In the past, such sharpening chores often were tedious and difficult but that's no longer the case, specialists of Thor Power Tool Company's Speedway Division, LaGrange Park, Ill. The reason: Small portable electric bench grinders now are available for the home shop in a variety of sizes and at a minimum of expense and they're the perfect answer to the problem of keeping cutting tools ready for use.

Today's portable electric bench grinders range from 10 to 16 inches in length, so they take little space on the workbench. They can be mounted on the bench or kept on one of the shelves and moved to the bench-top only when there is sharpening to be done.

Such grinders have twin grinding wheels, one coarse, the other fine, and are available in wheel sizes from 4½ to 12 inches in diameter. They have rubber feet which prevent slipping even when the grinder is not mounted on the bench.

Speedway home craftsmen point out that some portable electric bench grinders on the market today retail for less than $20, yet possess features of large industrial grinders—adjustable tool rests, built-in front water cooling tray, cast-in top parts tray, rear dust exhaust, eye shields, and so on.

In addition to sharpening hand tools and hand tool accessories, such bench grinders are ideal for keeping your portable electric tool cutting accessories in sharp condition, too. And they're mighty handy for sharpening axes, grass and hedge clippers, mower blades, knives, and ice skate blades. Because of its portability, you can hook up the bench grinder in the garage for some of these tasks.

Extra Doorway Can Become Cupboard

Entrance halls in older homes often contain "extra" doorways that can easily be converted into bookcases or storage shelves by the home handyman.

The job requires very little time and can be done with simple hand tools. To seal the doorway, mount a full-length plate glass mirror on the entrance hall side. It will make the hall seem larger and brighter, and will help with last minute personal appearance checks before going out.

If the doorway was an alternate entrance to the living room, dining room or den, designers suggest using plate glass shelves on the recessed side of the door frame to make a built-in bookcase or fine china cupboard. These shelves can be mounted on narrow wooden strips attached at the same height on both sides of the frame.

Exterior-Interior Paint
Has Unusual Features

A new exterior-interior paint that can be applied on practically any surface, and that will last five years, has been introduced by Rox Products Co., Detroit and Toronto.

The new paint, called the "Rox 5-Year, All-Surface, Paint," is recommended by the manufacturer for use on wood, brick, block, plaster, asbestos siding, stucco, tin, steel, iron, aluminum and other metals or asphalt shingles. Its water and weather resistance make it particularly suited for use on boats.

Available in 10 decorator colors, it may be applied by any conventional method and will dry to a smooth satin finish in about 20 minutes. In most applications, a single coat will cover but when a second coat is necessary it may be applied after the original coat has dried for one hour.

The paint repels water but "breathes" to permit air to pass through, preventing blistering and peeling. That quality also permits interior humidity to escape through the painted walls and makes it possible to paint on damp surfaces without danger of trapping the moisture, to the future detriment of the paint.

Three important factors recommend the paint to the do-it-yourself painter, the company said. It is non-flammable, an important safety factor, leaves no lap marks and plain water cleans the brushes easily, an important labor saving factor.

Its chemical and physical stability, and resistance to weathering, the company said, make the paint particularly well suited to exterior application. Exposure to salt air, one of the toughest tests of any paint, has no effect. It will not turn yellow or otherwise discolor, run or chalk.

In addition, Rox is practically odorless. That quality, coupled with rapid drying, eliminates the need for long waiting periods before areas may be reoccupied. It comes ready to use, with no thinning necessary, and one coat is sufficient on most applications.

Match Walls and China

Consider the pattern of your China ware before painting your dining room. If the design is of green and ivory, for example, perhaps you would want to complement the table setting with green walls and ivory ceiling. If you want contrast in color, your preference may be for walls in a rose tone.

All areas should be clean and smooth, loose dirt removed, and rust on metal surfaces eliminated. Cracks and holes should be filled with putty, caulking compound or wood filler, as the surface requires.

Keep Tips Handy

Spare tips for a soldering iron can be kept handy in the hollow core of a soldering spool. Apply tape over one end of the spool and plug the other with a cork.

NATO, Big 4 Talks Pose Tests

Ike's Toughest Task Waits in Paris

By K. C. THALER
PARIS (UPI)—President Eisenhower will run into the most difficult job of his 11-nation tour when he reaches Paris, Western diplomats predicted today.

The dramatic aspects of his trip have tended to overshadow the serious policy differences in the non-Communist Allied camp, and it is these with which he will have to struggle in Paris in late December.

Eisenhower will, of course, be confronted with many potentially explosive problems in some of the most hotly-controversial areas of the world in his journey from India to Morocco.

But in Paris, at the scheduled meetings with the NATO leaders and at the Western Big Four summit talks, he is expected to face his greatest challenge.

MUST WELD ALLIES

This involves welding the Allies into a solid front of agreement for the later crucial summit meeting.

Teamsters Sue Hoffa's Enemies

Says Companies Gave to a Dissident Faction Seeking His Ouster

NEW YORK (AP)—The Teamsters Union has charged in a federal court suit that companies have made financial contributions to an insurgent group trying to oust James R. Hoffa as president.

The suit filed Friday said this amounts to an unfair labor practice and asks that a suit filed last week in Washington by the insurgents be declared void.

The union action said the Washington suit, filed for the insurgents by Atty. Godfrey P. Schmidt, a court-appointed former monitor of the union's affairs, seeks to render the Teamsters Union ineffective.

Named in the suit are among those giving financial aid were the Brasserie restaurants, Howard Johnson restaurants, the New York Restaurant Assn., Schrafft food chain, the General Electric Co., the Dairymen's League, members of the National Assn. of Manufacturers and the Bickford food chain.

Schmidt resigned as a monitor last June over a possible conflict of interests. Besides representing the 12 Teamsters insurgents he also represents employers who deal with the union.

The suit filed in Washington last week seeks to remove Hoffa pending a trial before a board of special examiners. Hoffa is accused of denying Teamsters their legal rights and of refusing to cooperate with the three monitors appointed in 1957.

The union's suit also seeks to enjoin the monitors from continuing in their capacity.

Would Save Treasures Along Nile

PARIS (AP)—Massive financial aid was proposed today to save the treasures of ancient temples along the Nile from submersion by backed-up waters of the Aswan Dam.

Vittorio Veronese, director general of the U.N. Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO), appealed to governments, private institutions and anyone interested to aid the project.

Speaking to the executive council of UNESCO he said many treasures would be lost forever unless action is taken within three years.

Veronese gave no figures on the amount needed. Unofficial estimates say as much as 100 million dollars is needed to save part of the treasures in the Nubian Desert. Some plans have called for moving whole temples or building dikes around them.

"Assistance on an unparalleled scale should be forthcoming for this unprecedented venture," Veronese said, "It is a matter of vital importance to enlist international cooperation in order to save part of the cultural heritage of mankind."

the Soviet Union, and moves to keep the NATO alliance itself from falling apart.

European diplomacy, full of praise for Eisenhower's trip, hopes it may do something to loosen the dangerous Afro-Asian groupings against the West.

The President will be confronted with first hand evidence of Red Chinese aggression in India and Pakistan, of alternating Soviet pressure and enticement in Turkey and Iran, and of problems of American military bases in Spain and Morocco.

These are grave problems which must merit his consideration.

Nevertheless, diplomats feel Paris will be his most important diplomatic stop, for it will be here that limited time and Allied differences call for firm and fast decisions on the future of the North Atlantic alliance.

The Western Allies, with an East-West summit in the offing next spring, differ in their policy toward the Soviet Union and their assessment of Soviet designs.

French President Charles de Gaulle, backed by West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, is in no hurry to negotiate with the Soviet Union across the conference table.

Britain's Prime Minister Harold Macmillan on the other hand feels the time has come to test Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's protestations of good will. Eisenhower has fallen in line with Macmillan's view.

Out of all this, Eisenhower's tasks will include attempts to have the Western Allies reach a common policy on Berlin, disarmament and nuclear weapons test bans.

In addition, Allied differences are tending to undermine the NATO defense front.

The smaller NATO member nations, uneasy over big power moves, have been calling for a bigger say in framing Western policy and strategy.

De Gaulle has cooled off altogether to NATO in its present form and wants a French-American-British partnership to lay down policy and defense strategy on a global basis, including Europe's southern flank in the Middle East and Africa.

Furthermore, Khrushchev's smiles and blandishments have tended to ease off the frigidities of the cold war.

This, in turn, has tended to undermine the readiness with which NATO members are willing to continue with the burden of big defense contributions of men, money and material.

U.S. TIGHTENS BUDGET

A growing tendency by the United States to tighten up its own budget outlay also foreshadows a demand for greater contributions by the European members of NATO.

All of these are among the differences which await reconciliation and possible solution during the President's Paris stopover.

Winter Sport Prep Teams Set to Lift Lid

New Area Swim League Is Formed

A new league, the North Suburban Swim League, organized for the betterment of the water sport, will go into its first year of operation with six schools in the membership.

Pontiac Northern and Southfield, the two schools from the Inter-Lakes Conference with pools, along with Utica, Fitzgerald, Madison Heights and Detroit Thurston comprise the league.

Who will be the kingpin of the first year of the league's operation? Everything points to Fitzgerald and Thurston, with Southfield, and Pontiac Northern, the closest contenders followed by Utica and Madison.

Pontiac Central has a lot of big "ifs" to be considered too strongly in the Saginaw Valley, where the championship runs synonymously with Arthur Hill every year.

Birmingham, looks like the top team in the Eastern Michigan League and in the county with 14 returning lettermen. The Maples finished second behind Kimball in the EML meet last year.

Here's a rundown of the prospects for the county area swim teams who get into action next week:

PONTIAC CENTRAL

1958-59 Dual Record: 9-4

Swim Coach: Gene Norris

The Chiefs will have two of the top individual performers in prep ranks in Bruce Norvell and Ted Gaensbauer. Depth is a big problem for PCH among the seven returning lettermen. Norvell holds the strength in the 100 yard orthodox breast stroke, while Gaensbauer could turn out to be one of the best 200 and 400 yard freestylers in the state. Divers Bruce Lewis and Bill Main are a couple along points, with Ben Donaldson and Greg Uligian handling the 100 yard backstroke and short distance freestyle respectively. Other lettermen include Doug Roeser and John Blamy. Leading prospects are Phil Cashin, Dick Doerr, Tony Osler and Helmut Gainsbauer, an exchange student from Austria.

PONTIAC NORTHERN

1958-59 Dual Record: 2-10

Coach: Ed Daww

Coach Ed Daww has a nucleus of eight lettermen, headed by top flight diver Bill Ratliff, to start the first season in the new North Suburban Swim League. The Huskies won only twice in 12 meets in the first season of operation last year. Seniors Bill Tuttle Lee Barrie and Wally Johnson along with juniors Dick Gould, Don Maxim, Phil Wells and Tom Eley make up the returnees. Leading newcomers are Rick Stewart, Fred Kern, Bill Mathison, Chuck Gress and Chuck Lambert.

BIRMINGHAM

1958-59 Dual Record: 11-3-1

Coach: J. Jay Myers

Pete Sintz, Birmingham's fine All-American prep swimmer is gone, but Bob Sintz is ready to take his place. The Maples will have good depth with Bill Driver, the 5th fastest breast stroker in the country last year and captain Dennis Collins, in the distance events, heading the talented list. Fred Anderson in the butterfly, Jim Elliott in the sprints are others who received All-America mention last year. Wayne Andree, Jim Bird, Ron Cousineau, Mike McCarthy, Bob Nadal and Larry Severy are other lettermen in the speed events. Divers include John Horner, Dick Lowe and Don Morris.

SOUTHFIELD

1958-59 Dual Record: 12-4-1

Coach: Milton Hurd

The Blue Jays have a very good chance of walking off with the honors in the first year of competition in the Suburban Swim League. Coach Milt Hurd has seven lettermen back from the team which won 12 of 17 meets last season.

Top point man Tom Spear returns for the 200 yard freestyle and individual medley with Jim McIntosh, one of the top area backstrokers leading the returnees. Jerry Curley, Bob Nelden, Fred Jardon and Mel Humphrey, the veteran diver, are other lettermen.

UTICA

1958-59 Dual Record: 2-5

Coach: Doug Stringer

This is the second season for swimming at Utica and coach Doug Stringer faces 18 dual meets with 11 lettermen, including a promising transfer from California. Lettermen include Bernie Johnson (transfer), John Deshazo, Bruce Cyle, Bill Warehall, Gary Zimmerman, Al Skolnik, Bob Sugimoto, Dick Kidd, Carter Corey and diver Bob Waggoner.

ROYAL OAK DONDERO

1958-59 Dual Record: 7-7

Coach: Ron Gora

The top flight 200 yard medley relay team, selected 8th nationally, has been graduated. The Acorns still have seven returnees from the team of 7-7 a year ago. Co-captains Paul Ferguson and Ted Busch are key figures in the sprints and individual medley. Others include Jerry Miller, Bill Walters, Leon Kaatz and Stu Barnett.

OTHER NORTH SUBURBAN LEAGUE TEAMS

FITZGERALD

1958-59 Dual Record: 7-6

Coach: John Wick

Twelve of 14 lettermen are back this year led by Bill Gatonski in the distance events and Larry LeFever a strong breast stroker.

MADISON HEIGHTS

First Season

Coach: Correy Van Fleet

The new Madison pool will be ready for the first meet after the first of the year. Meanwhile, 16 dual meets are scheduled with Bill Vittori a transfer from Highland Park as the top prospect in the individual medley.

NEW OUTLOOK — Coach Ed Daww welcomes eight lettermen back this season on the Pontiac Northern swim team, which will enter competition this year in the newly formed North Suburban Swim League. Kneeling left to right are Don Maxim, Lee Barrie

Improved PCH, Waterford Tangle Dec. 3

Wrestlers Eye Big Year

Wrestling joins basketball and swimming in the high school winter sports spotlight Dec. 3 when Pontiac Central and Waterford collide in the opening local match of the new season.

This promises to be the best year yet for the mat sport with several area schools expected to be considerably improved following two rugged "break-in" seasons.

The keeping of league standings in the Inter-Lakes will be among the interesting factors with all six members having the rough-and-tumble sport.

Pontiac schools will host two of the biggest events of the year. The Saginaw Valley Tournament is set for Central Feb. 27 while the I-L meet will be held at Northern a week earlier. The Eastern Michigan contest will be a state regional site March 4-5. State finals are March 11-12 at the University of Michigan.

Area grapplers will also have some holiday tournament honors to shoot at in a few weeks.

PCH, the Huskies and Waterford will be among the contestants in the annual Southeastern Michigan Amateur Wrestling Association meet Dec. 18-19 at Allen Park. Cranbrook will go to the Lansing Invitational Dec. 11-12 and Farmington will be in a Christmas meet at Bentley Dec. 26, 28, 29 and 30.

Sam Wiscombe, a 154-pounder, heads the group. He had a 9-4 record in the 1958-59 season. Bob Kaiser at 95 was 7-5 last year and should be improved along with Glenn Sherman, Ermino Trevino and Joe Collins. Del Sanborn and Henry Smith are among the other probable starters.

PONTIAC NORTHERN

Heading the Huskie delegation is 145-pound Winfred Miracle. He was 4th in the regionals and competed in the state finals last year.

WALLED LAKE

Carl Bills and Stan Hertel, two 127-pounders, rugged Don Davis, 154, and Ralph Clauson at 133 are other lettermen. Jan Lawrence, 165, and 120-pounder Mal Oswalt are top candidates. PNH could better its 6-5 mark of a year ago if coach Bill Wilson can come up with a 180 man.

WATERFORD

The Skippers could have their best season yet if several untested boys can come through.

FARMINGTON

Finding some big boys has been Gene Freed's major problem. Five lettermen return from last year's team which was 4th in the regional and I-L runnerup. They include Don Hendryx, Dick Lam, Randy Jordan, Jack Callahan and Jerry Castle. Falcons open at home Dec. 3 against Edsel Ford.

SOUTHFIELD

Four of the 12 starting berths are settled at Southfield. Heading the quartet is 95-pound league champion Dave Butler. Al Herr, Larry Underwood and Wendall Harvey were others on a 7-4 team which placed 3rd in the conference meet. The charges of Joe Pagan are Northville's initial opponent Dec. 3.

CRANBROOK

Former assistant Jim Young has moved up to the head coaching job. Captain Ted Seyfarth is his key man back. The Cranes debut Dec. 8 with Northville.

NORTHVILLE

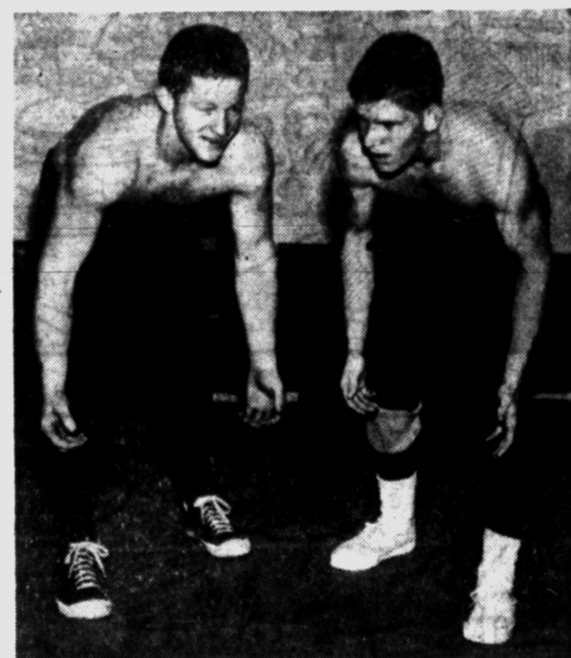

The Mustangs have a well-balanced schedule in their debut in the mat sport. Don Garner is the coach.

RO DONDERO

Bob Puchalla had the makings of a good squad until the sport was dropped for varsity play. George Blackwood, unbeaten as a 127-pounder, is among the boys he hopes to keep in shape for state action. Ron Metcalf, 133, also was unbeaten in a 3-8 season.

OTHERS

Berkley should be strong in the Inter-Lakes while Hazel Park could be the EML power. Port Huron has only one December match before getting busy. Ferndale hopes to start building in wrestling as it has in other sports. Fitzgerald and Oak Park should be improved. Farmington Our Lady of Sorrows will be starting from scratch.

VIKING VETS — Heavyweight Jim Teddy, left, and Bob Christian, members of The Press All-County football team, now are turning their thoughts to wrestling as Walled Lake prepares for its season opener against Dearborn. They are among seven lettermen.

Brown, Rush Win All-Valley Spots

Guard Charley Brown and tackle Jerry Rush, Pontiac Central's bulwarks of the line during the 1959 football season, were landslide first team choices on the All-Saginaw Valley Conference team announced today.

Brown, who stands 5-10 and scales 200, and Rush, a 6-foot 3-inch, 220-pounder, were instrumental in helping the Chiefs compile a 6-3 record this year for their finest won-lost performance since 1949. Both are seniors.

The All-Valley squad was selected by SVC coaches and sports writers. Fred Staley, senior quarterback for PCH, was named to the second team and five other Chiefs received honorable mention.

Three Pontiac Northern gridders, tackle Don Davis, end Larry Bland and quarterback Bruce Norton, were named to the first honor team of the Inter-Lakes Conference.

Champion Fitzgerald and runnerup Avondale each landed six players on the 24-man Oakland B squad with Avon's fiery quarterback, Dick Smith, being voted the league's outstanding individual performer.

Rochester, Tri-County champ, gained five positions on the TCL all-star 11 while Anchor Bay and Almont each earned three berths on the Southern Thumb team.

ALL-COUNTY GATHERING — University of Detroit's freshman basketball squad made a haul of Oakland County talent this year. Titan coach Brendan McNamara has three players who were once members of The Press All-County team. Harrison Munson (left) of Pontiac Central and George McDaniel (right) of Holly were two of the stars on the 1958-59 team. Bruce Gentile (26) made the All-County team couple years ago. He has spent the interim period before going to U. of D. in the service. The Titan frosh play their games prior to the varsity contests.

Board Confab to Air Lions' Squabble

Plan Meeting Dec. 16th for Team Hearing

Edwin Anderson Blamed for Poor Handling of Rote's Contract

DETROIT (U.P.)—Owners of the Detroit Lions' professional football team apparently will wait until a Dec. 16 board meeting to thresh out their internal problems.

Most of the club's directors issued a terse "no comment" when asked about one director's flat statement that president-general manager Edwin J. Anderson and head coach George Wilson may get the axe.

There are 13 directors and most maintained an official silence about the matter. One said "we're having our difficulties and we'll settle them, but in a businesslike manner."

Meanwhile, the source who told the Associated Press Thursday night that club owners might overthrow the Anderson regime said today the air should be cleared at the regular board meeting Dec. 16.

The director said the main complaint against Wilson is his "indecisive handling of the quarterback situation." Wilson has used Tobin Rote, Earl Morrall and Jerry Reichow as the once-proud Lions have stumbled to a 2-7-1 record.

Anderson, he said, "does things and then comes and tells us (the other directors)."

Several owners are displeased over Anderson's handling of the club's 1960 television contract negotiations, and his handling of the Rote squabble.

The veteran quarterback balked during contract discussions with Wilson, who signed all other players.

Anderson took over, but the club never signed Rote because of his demand for a locked-in contract.

Instead, Rote exercised the option on his 1958 contract and played this season under the terms of last year's contract.

But now the Lions are not protected against losing Rote. Since his option will expire at the end of the season he is free to negotiate with another team, or league.

"When he didn't sign, Anderson gave him an extra $2,500 just for reporting to training camp," said the director, "and he did it without consulting anyone."

"When we asked why we gave Rote the money, he said he was afraid Rote wouldn't report and the club would get bad publicity."

Tittle's Understudy Leads 49ers Against Browns

John Brodie Is in Spotlight

By The Associated Press

Slim John Brodie was just 13 years old when a couple of quarterbacks named Otto Graham and Frankie Albert played in the final game of the old All-America Conference.

Both have 6-3 records with three games to play, but the Colts have a very healthy Johnny Unitas to run their attack while Y.A. Tittle, San Francisco's No. 1 signal-caller, is out with an injured right knee, possibly for the rest of the season.

The Browns, who finished ahead of runner-up San Francisco in all four years of the All-America's existence, need the victory to keep within range of the New York Giants in the Eastern Conference.

The Browns have won seven of nine Eastern titles since joining the NFL. The Giants won in '56 and last year and their current 7-2 record is a game better than the Browns.

The Giants are favored to keep the lead by 10 points over the Washington Redskins (3-6) at New York Sunday. The Colts rate the same edge over the Los Angeles Rams (2-7) at Baltimore.

Longshot Eastern contender Philadelphia runs into the late-starting Steelers at Pittsburgh, and the Eagles are 4-point underdogs. Although the Eagles are tied with the Browns at 6-3 in the East, their title chances are rated slim because they get no more cracks at front-running New York.

The Eagles beat Pittsburgh 28-24 at Philadelphia last month, but the Steelers are fresh from consecutive upsets of New York and Cleveland.

The Chicago Bears (5-4) are only a game off the Western lead but they play neither the Colts nor the 49ers the rest of the way.

The Bears meet the Chicago Cardinals (2-7) at Soldier Field Sunday and are likely 7-point winners.

Green Bay (5-5) beat Detroit (2-7) on Thanksgiving 24-17 and both are idle until next week end.

Brodie, now three years out of Stanford, had a 59.9 per cent passing completion mark to lead the NFL as a pro soph in '58, but he has spent most of this year on the bench. He got a chance three weeks ago when Tittle was benched early against the Bears but could do nothing to prevent a 14-3 49er defeat, the first of two on the road. Tittle was injured last week when the Colts wrecked the 49ers 45-14.

Coach Red Hickey says he has confidence in Brodie to move the 49er attack which features J. D. Smith, the league's second leading ground gainer, and Joe Perry, fifth in the department. Cleveland has the No. 1 rusher in Jimmy Brown and a strong outside threat in Bobby Mitchell. Milt Plum does the passing.

The 49ers run into the Colts and Unitas again next week at San Francisco and would face elimination then if the Colts won tomorrow while the 49ers were losing. The Giants and Browns also meet next and two straight Cleveland losses coupled with two Giant victories would eliminate Cleveland.

It's Charlie Conerly Day at Yankee Stadium Sunday and the veteran quarterback says his ailing ankle will be ready. The Giants lost when Conerly sat out the Steeler game and didn't shine against the Cards last week until Charlie took over in the second quarter.

Unitas needs one TD pass against the Rams to run his record consecutive game string to 35. He has thrown for 2,274 yards and 24 scores to lead the NFL in both departments. Five more TDs by passing and he breaks Sid Luckman's record of 28 set in 1943 with the Bears.

Wings Invade Montreal Tonight

MONTREAL (U.P.) — The Detroit Red Wings and Montreal Canadiens meet in a National Hockey League game tonight, each team handicapped with the loss of one of their stars.

Wing ace goalie Terry Sawchuk remained in a Detroit hospital with a form of neuritis which affected the lower part of both his legs. He was hospitalized Thursday and missed the Thanksgiving night game which Montreal won, 4-2.

Montreal's Maurice (Rocket) Richard suffered a broken cheekbone in that game. The injury was expected to keep him out of action for nearly a month.

Detroit was also minus the services of Jerry Melnyk, who twisted his leg in the Thanksgiving game. He previously had been out of several games because of a knee injury.

The Wings called up Brian Smith from Hershey for tonight's contest.

Detroit will be trying to stop Montreal's winning streak. The Canadiens haven't been beaten since Oct. 17 and are eight points ahead of Detroit in the NHL standings.

Gilles Bisvert, who was flown in for Thursday's game from the Cleveland Barons, was to be in the nets for Detroit.

Montreal made the announcement Friday on Richard shortly before the 38-year-old right winger underwent surgery to correct a depressed fracture of the left cheekbone.

He was injured when a puck fired by Detroit rookie Murray Oliver struck him in the face.

It was at first feared that Richard might be sidelined for considerably longer than a month because of the problem of conditioning for an athlete his age.

Jean Beliveau, Montreal's brilliant center, was also injured Thursday night, suffering severe contusions of the left wrist. The team spokesman said Beliveau probably will play tonight.

Curiosity Kills Bear

Curiosity killed an Upper Peninsula black bear, and provided a Pontiac area hunter with his first bruin and a fine trophy.

LaVerne Huston, 4132 Meyers Rd., Drayton Plains, just back from a hunting trip in the vicinity of Singleton, in Schoolcraft county says he tracked the bear to its den. While Huston was looking over the situation, Mr. Bruin stuck his head out of the den entrance, a fatal mistake.

Huston, who has been hunting deer for some 30 years, didn't get his buck this time, but says the 160-pound, fat and beautifully-furred bear was fine compensation.

SAN FRANCISCO (U.P.) — Ross Giudice, one of the University of San Francisco's great come-through men, took over today for basketball coach Phil Woolpert who will start a one year's leave of absence due to a bad case of nerves.

Woolpert, who coached USF to a pair of NCAA titles and was hailed as a genius, announced yesterday that he would take a year off on doctor's orders.

"I feel tense and nervous but 90 per cent of it is self-imposed," Woolpert said. "Coaching is too much of a strain in my present situation he might make it permanent."

Typewriters Could Tell Many Tales
HARTFORD, Conn. — If the typewriter could write of its own experience, oh what a tale it could tell.

Pete Martello, who heads the state office repair service, says he has found beetles, earrings, peanuts, cheese tidbits, cake crumbs and scraps of salami inside typewriters.

The state police, Martello said, rarely drop anything into a typewriter. More often, they drop the typewriter.

Martello's favorite typewriter story concerns an electric typewriter. A man got his tie caught inside the typewriter.

The tie was ripped from his body. So was his shirt. And after the battle was over the man found a parking ticket on his car.

Fastest Workers on Assembly Line Need First Aid
COLUMBUS, Ohio — The most productive workers on a factory assembly line also take the most chances with their safety, an Ohio State University professor says.

After a 23-day study at a Columbus plant, during which he observed workers from a catwalk overhead, Dr. Thomas H. Rockwell concluded that a certain amount of risk may be necessary for maximum productivity.

Rockwell says the top 35 percent of the workers accounted for 60 percent of the firm's assembly line first aid cases, where unsafe behavior was the cause.

Violations he mentioned include failure to use goggles when necessary, running, tools underfoot and working beneath suspended loads.

'Angry Young Woman' Rebels in Hollywood

By EARL WILSON
NEW YORK — "The day I heard that I was supposed to give Pat Boone his first screen kiss," Diane Baker said, with a rebel's flame again burning in her eyes, "I thought, 'No! I'll go on suspension first.'"

"I ran across the lot in tears. I said, 'No, no, I won't do it. They can get any girl to do that, but not me!'"

The bosses persuaded Diane that they weren't trying to cheapen her acting reputation — and so she kissed the All-American boy — but she didn't take much of the rebel out of the gal.

"The Angry Young Woman," some of them call Diane — who's as blunt and honest as her friend Diane Varsi was about Hollywood.

Diane, who's only 21, stated candidly, for example, that another movie she's in is a big noisy bore.

"It's the kind of a picture I wouldn't even go see if I weren't involved in it," Diane mentioned the other day. Diane is a part of the new generation that puts honesty above the cash register. Ingrid Bergman is one of their goddesses.

"Bergman for example wouldn't go backstage and lie to somebody, saying she liked a play if she didn't. She would say she didn't like it and say why..."

That's the kind of honesty Diane Baker would like to burn with. She does pretty well at it, too.

All the Hollywood people sort of wag their heads about this rebellious one.

"Why is it," Diane asked me suddenly, "that the TV directors are so much better than the motion picture directors?"

One director — a well known one now in New York — did, however, win Diane's respect — just the other day when she went to see him about a part.

"Listen," he told her brutally, "you're terrible. You're letting the lights and the flattering remarks confuse you. You're sitting there behind a mask. Get rid of all that!"

Diane hadn't been talked to like this before. "I felt I didn't deserve it. I was filled up with tears, and I almost hit him," Diane blazed, telling about it.

"I stared at him and he stared back at me. It shocked me. I wonder now if he was just trying to get a reaction from me."

Like Diane Varsi, Diane Baker resents the prying into her personal life. "But some day you'll be as big as Elizabeth Taylor and everything you do will be a headline," I suggested.

"Not me," Diane said. "Before that I'll quit and go on the stage."

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Henny Youngman heard a woman sigh in a supermarket: "I'm tired of planning meals. Just kick the shelf and I'll take whatever falls off."

Shelley Berman says that children shouldn't be punished for lying: "I know several liars who are making a good living — making out airline schedules." That's earl, brother.

Missilemen Fighting a Battle for Homes
VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. — Missilemen who would defend the nation in time of war are already fighting — for homes.

Many aren't doing so well. Hundreds of men at the only American base ready to fire intercontinental ballistic missiles in combat are lonely and unhappy, officials say.

Why? There's no place to put their wives and children.

They'd buy or rent if they could find housing they could afford. It's scarce; many live in barracks many miles from their families.

Airmen have complained for months about high rents, high-priced new houses, lack of trailer space — and lack of prospects for the near future.

PROBLEM IS CRISIS
The problem has become a crisis, Maj. Gen. David Wade, commanding officer, has called a public meeting for next Monday to see what can be done.

Prices of new houses near the base are out of sight for the average airman, ranging up from $18,000.

Thousands Pour Into Canal Zone

Panama Plans March; Americans Told to Stay Out of Crowd
PANAMA — Panamanians pointed up their grievances over the U.S.-controlled Canal Zone today with a "march of sovereignty" on the capital.

The day marked the 138th anniversary of Panama's independence from Spain but thousands poured into the capital to attend rallies supporting the little republic's claims of sovereignty over the canal.

U. S. troops and Panamanian National Guardsmen were held in readiness to meet a possible new outbreak of anti-American violence. Americans were urged to stay away from the center of the capital during the demonstrations.

University students and civic organizations sponsored the principal rally in front of the Foreign Office. They said it would be a peaceful demonstration designed "to show the United States a country united in the defense of its sovereign powers" over the Canal Zone.

President Ernesto de la Guardia Jr. endorsed the rally but urged the participants to refrain from violence such as occurred Nov. 3 when nationalist crowds tried to plant the Panamanian flag in the zone. About 80 demonstrators were hurt in clashes with Canal-zone police and U. S. troops.

An elderly Pontiac couple was injured Friday afternoon in a two-car collision at Elizabeth Lake and Telegraph roads, Waterford Township, according to Pontiac State Police.

They were passengers in a car driven by Mary M. Mansfield, 34, of 2966 Kenford St. The other driver was Marvin R. Hillman, 51, of 396 W. Huron St.

Niles Mayor Petitions for 3rd 2-Year Term
HARROW, England (UPI) — Bernard Leslie Davies, 23, was arrested yesterday on a charge of stealing two pints of milk. The milk, although recovered, gave authorities a problem.

The police constable asked the judge if he could dispose of it before it went sour. Davies suggested he "drink it." No immediate decision was reached.

Quotes Kennedy: Birth Control Not Our Affair

NEW YORK — Two New York newspapers reported today Sep. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) said he thinks it would be a mistake for the United States to advocate birth control in other countries.

In Washington dispatches, the Herald Tribune and the Times reported that Kennedy said birth control is a matter to be considered by the countries without U.S. intervention. Such intervention, he was quoted as saying, would be considered objectionable.

The newspapers interviewed Kennedy, a Roman Catholic who is considered a top contender for the Democratic presidential nomination, by telephone in Massachusetts.

Two Local Merchants Feted by Edison Co.
Don Frayer of the Frayer Refrigerator Co. and Tom Horwitz of Fluorescent Lighting Sales, both of Pontiac, have been feted at a dinner and theater party by the Detroit Edison Co.

They were among 100 appliance dealers in southeastern Michigan to enter an Edison sponsored contest of electric appliance sales. Eleven winners were selected.

Frayer and Horwitz, accompanied by their wives, were treated to dinner, the opening performance of "Pink Jungle" starring Ginger Rogers at the Schubert Theater, an after-theater dance and an over-night stay at the Whittier Hotel.

Waterford Crash Hurts Pontiac Pair
An elderly Pontiac couple was injured Friday afternoon in a two-car collision at Elizabeth Lake and Telegraph roads, Waterford Township, according to Pontiac State Police.

Harry H. Stearns, 77, of 115 State St., and his wife, Ruby, 65, were treated for cuts and bruises at Pontiac General Hospital and released.

They were passengers in a car driven by Mary M. Mansfield, 34, of 2966 Kenford St. The other driver was Marvin R. Hillman, 51, of 396 W. Huron St.

Neither driver was injured, troops said. The accident happened at 4:25.

Niles Mayor Petitions for 3rd 2-Year Term
NILES (UPI) — Circulation of nominating petitions confirmed Friday that Mayor Mowitt Drew will seek a third successive two-year term as Niles' chief executive in next spring's election.

FINDLAY, Ohio — A tank car loaded with liquid phosphorus, which explodes when it comes in contact with air, was among 31 cars derailed last night at Forest, 15 miles southeast of here.

The tank car was buried under several other cars, but apparently developed no leaks, said Fire Chief Morris Burk.

FORGOTTEN MAN — Sitting alone amid reminders of past glories, actor Jay Robinson told police that he has not been offered any roles since a recent conviction on a narcotics charge. The pictures in the background are about all that is left of the furnishings of his Bel-Air mansion. Robinson, who once earned as much as $3,000 a week, has sold all the furniture for living expenses. He was once called a genius by Hollywood and had featured roles in "The Robe" and "Dimitrios and the Gladiators."

Unit Powerful, Tiny, Cheap Firm Is Making Energy by Waves from Noise

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI) — The head of an electronics firm here, said today his company has developed a "revolutionary" method of producing electrical energy from noise.

Russell said production of the units is cheap, and they are light and small. He said they would be valuable in replacing solar batteries in missiles.

"You can buy the materials for manufacturing them," Russell said, "at any corner drugstore." Russell refused to divulge the materials used.

Russell and one of his engineers, Andrew Duncan, demonstrated the "power amplifier" at a called press conference. The unit weighs about five pounds and Russell said it produced 350 watts of current.

The system, Russell said, "could be used to light up a whole city. You could put a noise-maker in a soundproof room and bank these elements around it, and you could produce enough power to light up an entire city."

Russell said he came upon the principle 10 months ago while developing a stereophonic sound phonograph built into a single unit.

He said his firm has applied for 17 patents and will apply for 100 more in the next 12 months.

Electronics Development, he said, is also negotiating with the Air Force in an effort to obtain financial aid in carrying on more research for the government.

Russell said his device uses "electrochemical units" instead of common vacuum tubes and produces power by processing elec-

State Police Budget Plans for Expansion

LANSING (UPI) — A State Police budget proposal for the 1960-61 fiscal year Friday showed plans for rental of posts in five new locations.

The budget proposal listed five "tentative locations" for posts — the Tekonsha area between Mac-shall and Coldwater; Portage Township, south of Kalamazoo; Hart or Shelby, Sault Ste. Marie, and Iron County.

A State Police spokesman said the department normally rents in an area before it decides to establish a permanent post.

The State Police budget request totaled $14,800,000, compared with the current budget of $12,700,000.

The Legislature will be asked to provide funds for 80 additional troopers. The force's authorized strength now is 1,155.

The dragon is the national symbol of the Himalayan kingdom of Bhutan.
