JFK's Budget Requests Skyrocket to $92.5 Billion

A $2,000 Hunk of Ice

AP Photofax

BIG CHIPPING JOB — Insurance adjustor E. S. Peterson inspects a one-foot-thick column of ice extending from the chandelier to the floor of a vacant Omaha house. It is part of about a ton of ice which coated stairways and floors to a depth of 2 to 8 inches after a third floor water pipe burst during the subzero cold. The realty firm which manages the property estimated the damage at about $2,000. Workmen plan to chip out the ice rather than thaw it.

Governor Urges Aid for Schools

LANSING (AP)—Gov. Swainson urged the legislature today to increase state aid to public schools and establish a state building authority to finance a vast construction program at state colleges and universities.

The twp proposals are key sections of a far-reaching educational program the governor spelled out in a special message to the legislature.

Swainson also called for a $10-million boost in operating revenues for higher educational institutions and a $5.4-million appropriation from the state's general fund to complete construction already started and draw up plans for new buildings.

The school aid increase would cost about $22 million. The increase for college operating costs would raise the total to approximately $113 million.

Said the governor:

CONDITIONS SHAMEFUL

"An inventory of Michigan's educational needs of the 1960's makes it obvious there are vast areas in our total educational scene that can merit nothing but shame.

★ ★ ★

"The time has come to re-emphasize a goal of educational excellence for Michigan."

Last year, the governor proposed a uniform increase of three per cent in state aid to schools, currently based on a $205 per pupil formula. This year, he said, professional and lay education organizations agree an eight per cent increase is "the bare minimum necessary to maintain the primary and secondary education programs."

The governor noted that the state's share of local education costs has dropped from 52 per cent of the total to 41 per cent since 1932. Local tax sources "are already strained to the breaking point," he said.

Building needs at the nine state colleges and universities currently total $32.9 million, Swainson said. His building authority blueprint was turned down by the legislature last year.

This year, there is a strong move in the Senate to start a big construction program at colleges and universities. Sen. Carlton H. Morris, R-Kalamazoo, said he would offer legislation for a $150-million construction program to be financed by re-enactment of some of the "nuisance" taxes on cigarettes.

Hospital Report in Black for '61

Pontiac General Ends Best Year, Second One With Surplus

Euler said today that the hospital ended 1961 in the black for the second straight year. As of Jan. 1 the hospital had cleared $39,549 over expenses for the year.

Euler indicated that 1961 was the best year in the hospital's history, since the budget had been a tight one last year.

The 1961 budget had been based on an anticipated occupancy of 88 per cent. The board will get a detailed report at its 7:30 p. m. meeting.

Dominican Junta Clamping Down on Opposition

U.S. Reportedly Plans Sanctions Against the New Government

By The Associated Press

The Dominican Republic's new junta clamped tight restrictions on the country today with a series of sweeping decrees designed to stifle opposition to the apparent takeover by the military. But unrest seethed in Santo Domingo.

And in Washington the United States reportedly planned political sanctions and probably an economic crackdown against the Dominican Republic if the new government there proves to be a military dictatorship.

Huberto Bogaert, a civilian official of the Trujillo era, was named to head the junta of four civilians and three military men that deposed the 16-day-old all-civilian council of state Tuesday night.

But authoritative reports filtering through the strict Dominican censorship said the real strongman is the armed forces chief, Gen. Pedro Rodriguez Echavarria.

State Department officials in Washington said the junta appeared to be completely under the power of Rodriguez Echavarria. ★ ★ ★

They said the Kennedy administration, which has been promoting democracy in South America, is determined to oppose revival of strongman rule in Santo Domingo.

The major step under consideration is denial of recognition to the junta formed Tuesday upon the ouster of President Joaquin Balaguer.

Other steps may include economic sanctions, among them denial to the Dominican Republic of U.S. sugar purchases in the first six months of this year amounting to $45 million.

The junta decreed a modified form of martial law, suspending civil guaranteed, and imposed a dusk to dawn curfew.

Heavily armed troops patrolled the capital streets. But tanks and more troops had to be called out Wednesday to break up a student demonstration protesting the swift government change the night before.

Small Surplus Seen in Record Figure

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy, in the first federal budget of his own making, called today for record peacetime spending of $92.5 billion and a wobbly surplus of $463 million — a margin possible only if revenues rocket and the price of mailing a letter is increased.

The 1,500-page spending blueprint, which covers the 1963 fiscal year starting July 1, foresees a spending rise of nearly $3.5 billion over the current level. More than 75 per cent of the increase would involve military and space programs.

Kennedy told Congress he expects outlays to total slightly more than $92.5 billion — an amount exceeded only twice before, during World War II. Revenues were estimated at $93 billion, an unprecedented level $11 billion higher than this year's income.

Highlighting the 7,400-word budget message which Kennedy sent to Capitol Hill were these recommendations:

A defense program of $52.7 billion, up nearly $3.5 billion. Allocation of $2.4 billion for space research, an increase of $1.3 billion.

A foreign aid program boosted by $200 million to $3.9 billion. But along with that spending figure, which includes $2.5 billion in economic aid and $1.4 billion in military aid, Kennedy asked nearly

Closer Look at Budget, Page 13

$5 billion of new funds. The new money would include $3.39 billion for various economic and programs and $1.6 billion for military aid.

★ ★ ★

Repeal of the 10 per cent tax on rail, bus and boat fares, with labor adjustments in aviation taxes.

Enactment of a new farm bill designed to cut farm program spending from $6.4 billion to $5.8 billion.

Increase the "temporary" $298 billion national debt limit to a new high of $308 billion. Increase postal rates by about $600 million a year.

The new budget assumes that the Berlin crisis will cool off enough to permit the return home by June 30 of military reservists mobilized last fall. Any heightening of cold war tensions could prompt new hikes in defense spending and wipe out the indicated surplus.

ASSUMES EXPANDING ECONOMY

Kennedy also based his projections on an assumption that the economy will continue to expand briskly into 1963, though perhaps at a lesser rate as time passes. The President said major economic records will be broken month after month while the unemployment rate will drop from 6.1 per cent to 4 per cent by mid-1963.

The fate of the postal rate request, which has been shelved three years running, also will have a major impact on the budget. Without higher rates including a 5-cent letter charge to add to the anticipated big increase in tax collections, Kennedy's envisioned surplus would evaporate—barring major economy moves in other areas.

Many congressional Republicans and some Democrats — were ready to demand greater economy and a bigger surplus in order to whittle down the record national debt now nudging the $298 billion ceiling.

Anticipating this, Kennedy said a $463 million surplus would re-

'63 Military Tab to Extend Might

Requests $48.3 Billion to Provide Alternative to N-Holocaust, Retreat

WASHINGTON (AP) — Military spending of $48.3 billion next year was recommended today by President Kennedy to increase the nation's armed strength and "obtain for ourselves a choice other than nuclear holocaust or retreat."

With related programs, the defense tab comes to $52.7 billion — up nearly $3.5 billion over this year.

Kennedy said in his budget message that the military spending for fiscal 1963 would provide "further significant increases" in the ability to fight a nuclear war or a conventional one.

And he said the lesser war was the greater possibility.

What will the money buy? Kennedy said it would provide for these items, for instance:

—A start on 12 more Polaris submarines — six in 1963 and six in 1964.

—More Atlas and Titan intercontinental ballistics missiles.

—Eight more atomic-powered attack submarines.

—More tanks, battlefield missiles and automatic rifles.

—Two additional regular Army divisions.

$15,336,000,000 for procurement (buying weapons and equipment).

$13,415,000,000 for pay and maintenance of 2,564,000 men under arms.

$10,531,000,000 for maintenance and operation of 16 Army divisions, 862 Navy ships, more than 27,000 aircraft of all the services and growing numbers of long-range missiles.

WEAPON RESEARCH

$6,650,000,000 for research, development and testing of new weapons and equipment.

$350 million for civil defense.

Would Be Continent-Buster

Explains Asteroid Bomb

By FRANK CAREY

WASHINGTON (AP) — The grim concept of an asteroid bomb —a continent-shattering weapon produced by diverting a tiny planet from its orbit so it would strike the earth—was introduced today by a space scientist.

Dandridge M. Cole of General Electric's missile and space vehicle department said such a cataclysmic weapon might be developed sometime after 1970.

The theory involves using a Nova-class rocket to carry a crew of men or remotely controlled devices to one of the "close-approach" asteroids whose orbits sometimes carry them between the earth and the planet Mars.

AWSOME FORCE

The idea would be to explode a number of hydrogen bombs on the surface of the asteroid in such a way that the tiny planet would be kicked out of its orbit and pushed toward the earth—striking with the force of several million megaton-type H-bombs.

In a report prepared for the eighth annual meeting of the American Astronautical Society, Cole said: "The energy release at impact on the earth would be on the order of 1,000 times as great as the energy of a multi-megaton bomb which could be carried by the same Nova-class vehicle on an ICBM trajectory to the same target.

"This unusual weapon system shares with the biological weapon the possibility for masquerading as a natural catastrophe. The attacker could hope to escape blame and retribution from surviving retaliation forces."

He said that "while such an irreverent meddling with cosmic forces may seem highly implausible or even impossible on superficial examination," such a system should be feasible with rockets expected to be available in the post-1970 era.

★ ★ ★

Cole said: "If it is assumed that the Russians would like to obliterate the United States and run little risk of retaliation, then they would reasonably consider the use of a close-approach asteroid for this purpose."

SANDER M. LEVIN

Oakland Dems Pick Chairman

Sander Levin Succeeds James Ginn in Quiet Party Meeting

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

Far from the turmoil that marred the last election, Oakland County Democrats last night elected Sander M. Levin new county chairman in one minute flat.

Levin, a 30-year-old Detroit attorney living in Berkley, succeeds James M. Ginn who officially resigned last night to take a new job as Southfield city attorney.

Intergarty bickering broke out all over the Roosevelt Hotel in August 1960 when Ginn, also an attorney, was chosen chairman after a four-hour session.

There wasn't a murmur of dissent anywhere in the Pontiac Central High School auditorium as Harold Julian, UAW Chrysler official from Berkley, nominated Levin. There were no other nominations. Levin was chosen by acclamation.

The one other likely candidate for the nonpaying post, William A. O'Brien Jr., a Clawson attorney and city councilman, wired Ginn to say he was tied up in Tawas City on a trial.

Local party workers smilingly welcomed the strange serenity of the meeting as a good omen as they plow into a big election year against the ever-entrenched county Republicans.

Ginn indicated in his brief swan song that "significant forward strides" taken during his 18-month regime would produce equally gratifying results in the future.

He promised he would work for the organization "in any way I can" and seek re-election as precinct delegate next month in Southfield.

The new chairman, whose political star seemed to be lit as he chaired the most successful congressional dinner in county history last November, promised a unified "programatic not pragmatic" 1962 campaign.

Broke Speed Record at 60 M.P.H.

A KING IN ITS DAY — The purple and red Welch cars produced in Pontiac from 1904 until 1911 were rated among the best on the road in the early days of the automotive industry. The Welch Motor Car Co. was located across South Saginaw Street from the General Motors Truck & Coach Division. The pioneer firm was sold to GM.

Welch Hottest Auto on Road (in 1907)

The Welch automobile—built in Pontiac—was the hottest rod on the road in its heyday.

All Welch cars were purple with red running gear. Some of the early auto manufacturers offered wide color ranges by today's standards.

Glossy new Welch cars rolled out of a three-story factory on South Saginaw St. from 1904 until 1911, under the exacting scrutiny of the owners, the Welch brothers. They advertised their product as "The Best Car in the Entire World."

Three to four cars a week was considered good production by the Welch Motor Car Co. of Pontiac. The business required more than 200 employes at its peak in 1906-07.

At that time the Welch car had a pressed steel frame, wood body and weighed 3,200 pounds. Standard models cost from $4,000 to $7,000, but a top and windshield cost an additional $125 for the "particular" customer.

Founders of the firm, Fred and A. R. Welch sold out to General Motors company of New Jersey in 1911 for $25,000.

Officer Gets Help From Two Trusties

A state policeman whose patrol car was stuck in an icy rut in front of the Oakland County Jail received road service from an unexpected source this morning.

When the officer tried in vain to maneuver out of his parking place on Wayne Street and three whined, two husky inmate trusties came out and pushed the patrol car off the ice.

Soviet Gives U.S. Terms on Berlin

LONDON (UPI) — Russia has handed the United States a memorandum on Soviet demands for a Berlin settlement, it was learned authoritatively today.

The Soviet document was understood to follow closely the tough terms for a Berlin settlement which were set out by Premier Nikita Khrushchev in his special memorandum to President Kennedy at their meeting in Vienna last June 4.

Khrushchev then proposed to Kennedy that Berlin be turned into a neutralized, demilitarized free city, the termination of Allied occupation rights, the stationing of token forces of the U.S., Britain, France and the Soviet Union as guarantors of the city, and (or) stationing of forces from neutral states under U.N. authority.

Another condition was the "necessity of respecting and strictly observing the sovereign rights" of East Germany, implying Western de facto recognition of the Communist regime.

There was no indication of any substantial change of the Soviet position since then.

The United States has informed its major Allies of the contents of the Soviet document, which presently is under study both through diplomatic channels and in the ambassadorial study group in Washington.

liquor and other items that expired last June 30.

The governor recalled that he asked last year for an $8.1-million increase in operating funds for higher education but the legislature settled for a $417,000 increase.

Qualified students are being turned away at state-supported institutions for lack of operating revenues, the governor told the lawmakers.

Specifically, the governor recommended:

A $529,000 increase in the budget of the Institute of Science and Technology at the University of Michigan.

—Expenditure of $100,000 for establishment of an Institute for water research at Michigan State University.

—A $100,000 allocation to reactivate the Traffic Safety Center at Michigan State University, with emphasis on research aimed at reducing highway accidents.

—A $125,000 appropriation for special research at Michigan College of Mining and Technology.

Additionally, the governor called for a $1.5 million boost in operating funds for community colleges, plus $281,000 for capital outlay.

Every fully-qualified teacher in Michigan should be assured of a $4,800 starting salary and at least $9,600 after 10 years on the job, he said.

Jaycees Seek Top Young Man

Group Now Receiving Nominations for '61 Service Award

The searchlights are being switched on throughout the Pontiac area to spot candidates for the "Outstanding Young Man of the Year Award," made annually by the Pontiac Area Jaycees.

By 7 p.m., Jan. 31, at the annual Bosses' Night dinner at Devon Gables, the lights will have locked on the young man "with the maturity and wisdom of age and driving energy of youth, who has helped most to make Pontiac a better place to live."

Speaker at Bosses' Night will be Chancellor D. B. Varner of Michigan State University Oakland.

Nominations for Young Man of the Year may be made by anyone.

DEADLINE JAN. 26

Entries must be filed by Jan. 26 with Richard M. Fitzgerald, The Pontiac Press, Box 9, Pontiac.

Basic requirements for nominations are these:

The award (the Distinguished Service Award) is designed to honor that young man who has performed services beyond his normal profession.

The candidate need not be a member of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

He may be any young man, 21 through 35 years old. If he has reached his 36th birthday before Dec. 31, 1961, he becomes eligible if the activities for which he is judged were performed when he was 35 or younger.

The candidate need not be a resident of Pontiac, but his services should have been performed in this area.

NORTHSIDE BOYS' CLUB IS BORN—Members of the Northside Boys' Club, represented by Cressy Larson (right), director of the Boys' Club of Pontiac, Inc., has received many gifts, among them their first real home from the UAW-CIO Fisher Local 596, headed by Jerry Kehoe, president (left) and $1,000 check from the Optimist Club, directed by Wayne Gabert, president (second from right). Winford Bottom, city commissioner of District 4 in which the 4½-acre site is located at West Columbia and Ypsilanti avenues has urged development of the new club branch, since his first meeting on the community project with Larson two years ago.

Community Helps Its Young Citizens

Boys' Club Gets a 'White House'

"The White House, that's what we'll call her," a group of Northside Boys' Club members shouted as their first real home was placed by movers onto cradled footings yesterday afternoon.

Located on West Columbia and Ypsilanti avenues "The White House" is the former home of Fisher Local 596 of the UAW. The building, once located at 821 Baldwin Ave. was moved yesterday.

"The program really started in May, 1960," Cressy Larson, director of the Boys' Club of Pontiac Inc., recalled, "but the land was purchased some five years ago by the club's board of directors." Since his first meeting with Larson on the community project, City Commissioner Winford Bottom of District 4 has strongly urged development of the Northside Branch."

The 4½ acres, were cleared through the aid of Pontiac Motor Division employees and equipment, explained a Boys' Club director, Joe Davis of the Oakland County Road Commission.

The home was donated by the union.

Bob Costello, John Talbot, Frank Bryant and their crews, besides the firms of M. A. Benson and Boice's have donated time, equipment, and labor to the task. So has Marion & Young, house movers.

The Pontiac Optimist Club contributed a $1,000 check toward moving of the building. The Pontiac Firefighters' Association has donated $100 to the cause, and some 26 men from the Bricklayers' Union have volunteered their services.

"The list is long, but we can't omit the teacher groups' support and personal donations of help and funds," Larson said.

The staff of the Boys' Club and other youngsters in the neighborhood dug the basement, he added.

PARENTS HELPED

During the past two years the teens have been meeting at the Metropolitan Club on West Yale Street and in individual homes.

During this period, Austin Adler, who runs Adler Service Station near the club site, couldn't wait for the club, so he started a movement to take teens via bus to various activities.

Parts from three retired buses were salvaged to outfit one bus bought by the Civitan Club. The staff now uses the bus for club outings to league games and hunting trips.

MSUO Students Raise Tempest Over Teapot

The Student Senate at Michigan State University Oakland boiled yesterday over a 10-cent charge for an extra pot of hot water to pour over used tea-bags.

An investigation was asked by Sen. Paul F. Allen of 481 S. Bellevue Road, Lake Orion, who said constituents also had complained about a five-cent charge on an extra cup of hot water made by the Campus Grille.

MSUO has two cafeterias and the Campus Grille. The complaints, backed up by other senators, were about the Grille.

Student Center Manager George E. Fritz, throwing cold water on the issue today, explained:

"Some students are taking advantage of the food service by bringing their own teabags and by picking up packets of hot chocolate mix in the cafeterias (without paying) and then bringing them to the Grille to pour hot water on."

He traveled in India and other Asian countries after the conference.

He succeeded now Circuit Judge William J. Beer as precinct delegate in Berkley and was elected to the policy making executive committee of the county party to fill a vacancy in 1960.

He lives with his wife Vicky and their two children, Jennifer, 3, and Andrew, 16 months, at 1922 Edgewood Drive. The Levins are expecting a third child next month.

County School Board Tells College Plans

Representatives of the Oakland County Board of Education last night outlined their plans for a countywide, tax-based community college to Pontiac school board members and administrators.

However there was no indication at this time that the Pontiac board would abandon plans for its own local community college in favor of the countywide plan.

The "information-only" meeting did give the Pontiac board some help, said Dr. Walter L. Godsell, local board president, "to help us make up our mind."

Congo Gets Told to Curb Troops

U.N. Says It Is Up to the Central Government to Halt Outrages

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—The United Nations says it is up to the Congo central government to bring under control rampaging Congolese troops who massacred 18 or 19 white Roman Catholic missionaries in the North Katanga town of Kongolo.

★ ★ ★

A spokesman said the U.N. has no troops anywhere near the area being terrorized by troops who reportedly were sent there by pro-Communist Antoine Gizenga in his recent bid for power.

★ ★ ★

The U.N. said the spokesman is relying on Premier Cyrille Adoula's government to "investigate the reports (of the massacre) and restore its authority." In New York, the U.N. said Acting Secretary-General U Thant "feels certain that responsible Congolese authorities will exert every effort to ensure that those who are guilty of such an outrage will be quickly found and severely punished."

★ ★ ★

However the Congo government appeared incapable of establishing control in Kongolo or the rest of North Katanga. The central government also has no troops in the area. Kongolo was garrisoned by troops of Katanga President Moise Tshombe, but these withdrew when the Gizengist troops invaded from neighboring Kivu Province.

Fears rose for the safety of an estimated 20 missionaries still at their posts around Kongolo, which is the seat of the Catholic vicariate apostolic in North Katanga, 160 miles northwest of Albertville.

With Gizengs under virtual house arrest in Stanleyville, the troops appeared completely out of control and taking orders from no one.

flect "the best national policy." He said deficit spending might promote inflation while a larger surplus "would risk choking off economic recovery and contributing to a premature downturn."

A surplus as small as the one forecast by Kennedy would represent a big change from the indicated budget results for the current fiscal year which ends June 30. Kennedy said the current-year outlook is for spending of $88.1 billion, revenues of $82.1 billion and a deficit of $7 billion.

Defending in advance his proposed spending increases, Kennedy said all new ideas for additional outlays were reviewed in accord with "strict standards of urgency." He said that, in the name of economy, "many desirable new projects and activities are being deferred."

NATIONAL WEATHER—Snow and snow flurries are forecast for tonight for the Appalachians, Lakes region, Ohio Valley and the central Plains. Rain is expected in the southern Plains and central and western Gulf states, with snow in the north and central Rockies and snow flurries on the north Pacific coast. It will be quite cold in the northern tier of states and slightly warmer in the lower Mississippi Valley and Tennessee Valley.

The Day in Birmingham

Long-Time City Workers to Be Honored

BIRMINGHAM — Fifty-nine municipal employes will be honored for length of service of five to 30 years at the city's fourth biennial recognition banquet Feb. 1.

More than 300 persons are expected to attend the 6:45 p.m. banquet to be held at the 300 Lounge in Waterford Township.

Awards will be presented to 33 employes for five years' service; 13 employes for 10 years; eight for 15 years; one for 20 years; four for 25 years; and one for 30 years.

To be cited for 30-years of service will be City Clerk Irene Hanley. She will be presented a green emerald chip pin.

Those with 25 years' service will receive engraved watches. They are George Scott and Hark Smith of the fire department, Robert Pepperal of the police department, and Russell T. Berger of the finance department.

Calvin Suell of the department of public works will be honored for 20 years of service.

The awards will be presented by city commissioners.

General chairman of the program is Milford Fuller, and toastmaster will be Richard Nunnelley, both of the fire department.

The banquets have been held every other year since 1956.

The City Commission has reappointed two members to the South Oakland Hospital Authority and one to the appeal board of the fire prevention bureau.

City Commissioner William E. Roberts and John E. Marts of 734 Lakeview St. were renamed to the hospital board.

Reappointed to fire prevention bureau board was Carl B. Marr of 455 Fairfax St.

Birmingham Chapter 220, Order of the Eastern Star, will sponsor a card party Jan. 27 to raise money for the new Masonic Temple building fund.

The card party will be held 7:30 p.m. in the community room at the Federal Department Store, 1075 W. 14 Mile Road, Clawson.

Mrs. Winifred Shields, a member of the Christian Education Committee of the Michigan Congregational Conference, will be the guest speaker at the Jan. 25 luncheon-meeting of the Child Study Club of the Congregational Church.

Mrs. Shields, who is also chairman of the Christian Higher Education Fund, will speak on "Church Related Colleges."

The program will be held 12:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Saunders, 4040 Orchard Hill Drive.

Mrs. William Kolbe

Service for Mrs. William (Emma H.) Kolbe, 88, of West Maple Road, will be 11 a.m. Saturday at the Manley Bailey Funeral Home. Burial will be in Evergreen Cemetery, Detroit.

Mrs. Kolbe died yesterday in Ann Arbor following an illness of about eight months. She was a member of the First Methodist Church of Birmingham.

She leaves no immediate survivors.

Anson A. Woodruff

Service for Anson A. Woodruff, 84, of 815 Puritan St., will be at 11 a.m. tomorrow at the Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co. Burial will be in Delhi, N. Y.

Mr. Woodruff, a retired automobile dealer, died Tuesday following a long illness.

He had been sales manager for the Locomobile Co. in Bridgeport, Conn. He also was an expediter for the Remington Arms Co. and sales manager for the Fairchild Aviation Co.

Surviving are two sons, Robert N. of Birmingham and A. Atwood of Clearwater, Fla., three grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Two Re-Elected to Board Posts

Shareholders Approve Waddell, Clarkson in 1st Federal Posts

John Q. Waddell and James Clarkson were re-elected to three-year terms on the board of directors of First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Oakland at the association's 27th annual shareholders' meeting Wednesday.

Clarkson, association president, reported 1961 was a high spot in the association's 27-year history, with record activity in almost all departments.

He said that the association paid out $881,204.61 to shareholders last year as compared to $741,875.85 in 1960—an increase of $139,328.76.

"We currently anticipate paying some $1.25 million to shareholders in 1962," Clarkson said.

He also reported an increase of $4,666,000, or 16.04 per cent, in assets during 1961. Current assets total $33,742,976. This is an all-time high for the association.

Also at a record level are savings accounts now totaling $29,122,877. This represented an increase of $4,325,670 during 1961, Clarkson said.

Following the shareholders' meeting, the board reappointed all association officers at a special meeting.

Echo Due After Dinner

Like to try some satellite gazing after dinner. There'll be a chance to do so at 7:45 tonight when the Echo satellite floats over from the south, 9-15 degrees above the horizon, moving northeast.

City to Register Voters Till 8 on February 5

Unregistered voters in Pontiac will have until 8 p.m., Monday, Feb. 5 to register at the city clerk's office for the March 6 primary election.

The clerk's office, located on the main floor of City Hall, will stay open late that day to accept registrations.

All those who have recently become of voting age, or are new residents of the city, or city residents who have not registered or voted in four years, must register to be eligible to vote in the spring elections.

SAC Crew Launches Atlas Successfully

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—The 14th Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile launched by a SAC missile combat crew here was successfully fired Wednesday from a "coffin" pad.

The distance covered by the missile and the target area for the Strategic Air Command training and testing exercise were not disclosed.

The roof of a protective concrete-and-earth structure slid back and the horizontally stored Atlas was raised to a vertical position for firing.

A chemical that can be sprayed from a truck "glues" sand in place and prevents it from blowing.

African Summit Planned for Nigeria Jan. 25

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP)—The heads of most of Africa's 28 independent states will attend an African summit conference starting here Jan. 25, a government spokesman said today.

The foreign ministers of all 28 states will attend a preliminary meeting Jan. 22 to settle the agenda for the summit session, he said.

Churches Join in Unity Prayer

Protestants, Catholics and Othodox Set Aside Next Eight Days

NEW YORK (AP)—Protestants, Roman Catholics and Orthodox Christians joined today in a mutual prayer—for the unity of all believers.

An eight-day period, Jan. 18 to 25, was set for the concentrated devotions on the matter, in homes, meetings and special church services.

All three branches of the faith are participating, both in this country and abroad.

"The observance is more extensive than ever before," said The Rev. Titus Cranny, of the Graymoor Friars, Garrison, N.Y., assistant director of a church unity apostolate.

Faith and order departments both of the National Council of Churches in the United States and the World Council of Churches also are sponsoring the week.

They reported that churches in about 50 countries—Methodist, Lutheran, Anglican, Presbyterian, Eastern Orthodox, Congregationalist, Old Catholic and others—are taking part.

Among Roman Catholics, the week is sponsored worldwide by the Association Unite Chretienne, of Lyons, France. In this country, the Graymoors also are promoting their annual "Chair of Unity Octave."

Special emphasis is being put on participation by the laity.

The Rev. William A. Norgren, director of the National Council's department of faith and order studies, said the observance takes on particular significance because of "historic events which are about to take place or which have taken place."

He cited the World Council's recent assembly in New Delhi, India, the Pan-Orthodox Conference in Rhodes last fall, and the forthcoming Vatican council later this year, all concerned with unity.

The Murderers — 4

Top Gangland Killer Financed Dope Ring

By HARRY J. ANSLINGER
U. S. Commissioner of Narcotics and WILL OURSLER

The narcotics role of slovenly Louis (Lepke) Buchalter, boss of Murder, Inc. was unique. This mass murderer headed a worldwide dope ring from which he took a better than 50 per cent cut from every incoming dollar. The profits ran into many millions, but for Lepke it was only a side line.

* * *

The full truth behind Lepke's role in crime has been kept from the public. For his power reached to the highest pedestals of authority.

My personal role in the Lepke story began on June 14, 1937, as I was coming down the gangplank of the S.S. Washington in New York. A blonde handed me an envelope and lost herself in the crowd. The note said:

"I can furnish you with valuable information about the smuggling of large quantities of heroin by a certain gang. I must deal with you directly, otherwise a leak might upset everything. Please answer in the New York Times personal column, saying, 'X-2 telephone me.' "

CAN'T REVEAL NAME

No one in law enforcement could afford to ignore this kind of tip. I inserted the advertisement as requested. The following morning she phoned and agreed to come to Washington and meet me at the Mayflower Hotel. I cannot reveal any more of her identity even now.

"My story," she told me, "concerns a gang of murderers operating in New York City. Someone doublecrossed me. This is the biggest name in the hoods right now. He's got them all scared. The mobs cut him in on anything he wants. And he's taking big in dope. They need his hankroll."

The name she gave me was Lepke.

Some of his early background was already known by the FBI and other agencies. A native New Yorker, he had grown up in the sidewalk gangs at a time when juvenile lawlessness paralled that of the post World War II era half a century later.

* * *

By the 1920's his ruthlessness was known throughout America's underworld. The number of killings he personally carried out, the beatings and sluggings he inflicted, no one knows. He had begun to move into the green pastures of extortion.

Manhattan's fur trade companies had formed The Protective Fur Dressers Corp. and the Fur Dressers Factor Corp. Lepke and an associate, Jack "Gurrah" Shapiro, managed by bribery and fear and beatings to take over control of these two operations.

So many complaints began to pour in that the U.S. District Attorney in New York started an investigation which resulted in Lepke's being indicted for violation of the Sherman Anti-Trust laws.

TURNED TO DOPE

This part of the Lepke story the public did not know. The woman who called herself X-2 began to unfold some of the details to me for the first time. As an associate of Jack (Legs) Diamond and Sam Bernstein, Lepke was No. 3 on our confidential list of major drug suspects. But we had not been able previously to uncover a shred of actual evidence.

The drug deal in which Lepke was involved had been started in January 1935, by three men who lived in the Bronx. Their names were Yasha Katzenberg, Jake Lvovsky and Samuel Green. Lepke agreed—for better than half the profits—to use his influence to help them obtain heroin from China.

A smuggling operation was developed, with world-wide connections. The primary source was Shanghai. At the rate of $1,000 a trip, two customs men sold to the gang "clearance stamps" used by customs to indicate that a piece of luggage had been inspected and cleared.

* * *

As a rich world-traveler, the dope courier would take a leisurely voyage to the Orient, stopping off at Shanghai, where he would fill several trunks full of heroin and morphine. The couriers used only the finest ships: the Majestic, the Aquitania, the Berengaria, the Queen Mary.

FIRST STEP TO CHAIR—Louis Lepke, boss of Murder, Inc., takes a walk between two guards to court and, eventually, to the electric chair. Lepke, besides other activities, was financing the importation of dope into the United States from China. He took 50 per cent of the profits of the multimillion dollar business.

On the pier in New York, when the luggage was brought ashore, the carrier would find the trunk with his "goods" in it, casually perch on it for a moment or two—and leave the proper sticker in place. The porter would carry the piece through the gates to a waiting car. The heroin was home.

Each trip brought in a minimum of $100,000 worth of pure heroin or morphine, which on the retail market might run as high as $5,000,000.

MOST CONFESSED

We gathered evidence, witnesses and testimony. Madame X-2 was protected but other insiders talked to the Grand Jury to save themselves. We obtained secret indictments against all 30 in the mob.

Two-thirds of them were seized immediately; half of these confessed, assuring conviction of all. Lepke was named in ten indictments.

Lepke, already a fugitive, now became a fugitive also under the narcotics indictments. A world-wide hunt began.

* * *

We received word that Lepke had given orders for extermination of all witnesses against him. Day after day men would disappear—or the child of an individual who had information would be found dead.

The situation had become so serious that Thomas E. Dewey, at that time New York district attorney, called an unprecedented secret meeting of four high enforcement officials—FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, New York Police Commissioner Lewis J. Valentine, District Attorney Dewey himself, and I representing the Bureau of Narcotics.

"If the killing off of witnesses continues," Dewey told us, "there will soon be no one left to testify when we finally catch up with Lepke."

$30,000 REWARD

The four of us reached a unique accord: We would pool not only information but financial resources. The FBI offered a reward of $5,000. Dewey increased this to $30,000—for whoever brought in Lepke, dead or alive.

"If the four of us together can't land Lepke," Dewey said, "we might as well turn the job over to the mobs."

We made it so hot in fact that the syndicate bosses decided they wanted no more of shielding Lepke. The word spread over underworld channels: "Tell Lepke to give up or we'll kill him ourselves and dump his body on the steps of the courthouse in Foley Square."

* * *

Tough as he was, Lepke realized he was no match for the entire syndicate. In a dramatic phone call exchange with Walter Winchell, he surrendered to the columnist, who turned him over to the FBI.

Lepke was convicted on one narcotics count, pleaded guilty to the others as the best way out, and got sentences totalling close to 15 years. All this time New York State continued its probe into Murder, Inc.

At this critical point, Lepke's family decided to make a major effort to obtain lenient treatment for him by sending an attorney to Washington with one of the most extraordinary stories in the history of modern crime.

INVOLVED LABOR LEADER

It involved a highly placed labor leader. The attorney wished to talk with me about it but I refused on the grounds that murder was a matter for the district attorney.

I already knew something of the situation. Two of our witnesses against Lepke had also mentioned to our agent the name of the labor leader, since deceased. The information ran as follows:

This world-renowned labor leader paid Lepke $350 a week from 1932 to 1937. Fifty dollars of each payment went to one of Luciano's men. Lepke was given $25,000 for his role in winning a strike and paid other sums for labor activities.

"Once he (the labor leader) gave me $20,000 to give to Lepke," the witness revealed. "So that Lepke would fix a murder charge that involved his industry."

The informant also told us that Lepke owned 90 per cent interest in a clothing business in Baltimore that earned a profit of $250,000 a year.

All this, of course, we reported to Dewey and to J. Edgar Hoover in our "pooled information plan," but this phase of the case was entirely out of my hands, as our role was limited to enforcement of narcotics laws.

The truth is that politics with an oversized "P" won that round and prevented what might have been the most explosive murder trial of our age from taking place. The charges of all informants were placed quietly on a shelf.

POLITICAL ERROR

This was at the time when William O'Dwyer, later mayor of New York, was running for mayor against Fiorello La Guardia. Democratic backers knew their candidate needed the labor vote. Neither party dared take a stand. I feel both made an error.

Dewey's investigation of Lepke had uncovered so much violence and murder that a member of his staff called Lepke "A one man reign of terror." In the garment industry, the fur industry, and the baking industry hundreds of small owners had been forced to pay tribute under threat of death, beatings, wrecked trucks, strikes and fires.

Seven men scheduled to tell Dewey about Lepke's activities in the baking industry were killed; others were beaten and crippled for life.

On counts of extortion and conspiracy to terrorize these businessmen, Lepke was sentenced to from 30 years to life—after he completed the 13-14 years he owed the Federal Government for his narcotics operations.

In the spring of 1941, Lepke, Emanuel Weiss, and Louis Capone went on trial for murder. The case against Lepke was built around the murder of a candy store operator, Joseph Rosen.

* * *

Because of the evidence piled up in the narcotics investigations of these men, we were able to contribute important evidence in the trials of the Murder, Inc. bosses. They were convicted late in 1941 and all three died in the electric chair on March 4, 1944 at Sing Sing.

Comb Mine for Boys Lost Since Sunday

CLEARFIELD, Pa. (AP)—Rescue workers probed a maze of tunnels today in hopes that one of them might lead to two boys believed trapped by a rock fall in an abandoned clay mine 15 miles south of Clearfield.

Sheriff James B. Reese of Clearfield County and State Mine Inspector Perry B. Baddis led rescuers in searching the underground labyrinth opened Wednesday by a bulldozer.

* * *

The boys, Larry Husted, 10, of West Decatur and Wesley Lowe, 13, of Morgan Run have been missing since they entered the mine last Sunday.

As many as one million earthquakes take place in a single year.

Date for Man in Space Changeable as Weather

The exact day for our first man in orbit changes like the weather and at the moment Jan. 24 is the time set for our first American astronaut to orbit about the earth.

★ ★ ★

The most recent flight, with the chimp Enos, took place Nov. 29. The National Aeronautics and Space Administration termed this flight a success. However, it was cut in duration due to a mechanical failure, but they feel this difficulty has been corrected. Actually, all they did was eliminate one orbit around the earth to save the chimp and to save the capsule.

★ ★ ★

GLENN

It is exceptionally interesting for us to note that a relatively old codger like Marine Lt. Col. JOHN H. GLENN JR., 40, was named by the NASA to be the first human occupant of the Mercury capsule in an orbiting attempt.

So much of the jet age heretofore has been associated with younger men that it is reassuring to know that some of us in our middle years are not completely out of it—like perhaps our children would have us believe.

Prospects for the future according to NASA are an orbital flight of more than one man, perhaps three in two or three years. Following that should come a scheduled flight around the moon and by 1970, it is hoped a landing on the moon will be achieved.

Where Is Conscience of Hit, Run Drivers?

Hit and run drivers along with leaving the scene of an accident strike us as being just about as low as anyone can get.

Just how a person can run into another and hurl the body a hundred feet or so and then drive off is hard to understand. Yet, this was a recent case on Woodward Avenue in Detroit. The victim was a pensioner.

Such utter disregard for other humans is beyond our comprehension. If the driver of a car involved is proceeding within the limits of the law, he should not be frightened away. In many cases he may aid the victim. In fact, he might be responsible for saving a life.

The laws are not written to punish someone involved in an accident if they are not guilty.

The same thing applies to leaving the scene where damage to another vehicle or personal property occurs.

A recent example happened last week when a car ran into the plate glass window of a store on the corner of Cass and Huron streets and left without reporting the mishap.

Witnesses saw the car leave without making any attempt to report the damage. This type of carelessness appears on the upswing in our society today.

"To heck with the other guy" is the general attitude of many.

How nice it would be if this were reversed to "Do unto others as you would have others do unto you."

Our Safety Patrol Boys Do Splendid Job

If there were ever a group deserving a pat on the back we would have to go along with Mrs. PEGGY SMITH and her letter to the Voice of the People column praising the excellent work the Safety Patrol boys are doing.

★ ★ ★

They really comprise a group of unsung heroes. Day after day, rain or snow they are on the job protecting other youngsters at busy street crossings. Only occasionally does someone come to the fore with a kind word for the daily assistance they are offering.

★ ★ ★

To start off the new year, we would like to personally thank all the Safety Patrol boys in this area for their outstanding work last year. The lives that they protect are our most precious possessions.

The Man About Town

Good Old Days

A Letter Expresses Some Doubt in Regard to Them

Bridge party: Where they let the chat out of the bag.

While we've had some slippery footing in Pontiac the past several days, our skaters did not take advantage of it as did our residents around the turn of the century.

This is brought out in a letter from

now living in Port Huron, and submitted for him by his daughter-in-law,

Mrs. Carl A. Anderson

of 3102 Elizabeth Lake Road.

He tells of being with a party of young men who skated from Saginaw Street out Orchard Lake Ave. to Cass Lake, then around the island in Orchard Lake, skirting the military academy, and then back by the same route, all in a Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Anderson's first arrival in Pontiac was when he took a trolley car out of Detroit, only to learn that it came no further than Birmingham. But it was a beautiful moonlight night, so he finished the trip on foot, carrying two suitcases. And there were no sidewalks or paved roads.

He later invited his best girl, (who has been his wife for over 50 years), to take a drive around our lakes and through the Bloomfield Hills. That was OK on the back roads, but became somewhat frustrating when the horses got frightened at the trolley cars.

The letter concludes with: "These were the good old days—or were they?"

Now somewhat under the weather, we're all hoping that enjoys a quick recovery to good health.

Ralph T. Keeling

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Stennis

David Lawrence Comments:

U.N. Failing to Enforce Principles

WASHINGTON — The massacre of at least 18 missionaries and many other civilians in the Congo points up the failure of the United Nations expedition to restore order and to impress the native troops that the lives and property of foreign citizens must be respected.

LAWRENCE

So much emphasis has been placed on "self-determination" and "independence" for the African countries that relatively little attention has been paid to the utter indifference of many local groups to the need for protecting foreign residents.

The U.N. has admitted many countries as members which are incapable of self-government at this time. They will certainly not be educated or trained for this role unless the U.N. is willing to take steps to punish the murderers and enforce principles of international law.

Unfortunately, massacres have occurred in recent months without any action having been taken by the U.N., and it may be that the native groups now feel free to do as they please in the belief that no disciplinary action will ever be taken from the outside.

It wasn't so many years ago when powerful nations were quick to take punitive steps if any of their own citizens or their property were molested.

★ ★ ★

In recent years the propaganda against "colonialism"—stimulated by Communist sources—has caused the major powers to hesitate to use force to protect their nationals. They are reaping the consequences of their policy of neglect.

LIKE PEACE CORPS

Some of the big mining interests which have invested huge sums in the Congo have built hospitals and schools. They have performed many services similar to those which the "Peace Corps" of the United States is being widely publicized as planning to do in Africa.

But the big foreign interests now find their properties imperiled and their employes threatened so that continuity of mining operations has been made very difficult.

Sooner or later the U.N. will have to go back to first principles in international law—acts that assure the protection of the lives and property of foreign residents.

To read that 18 priests—16 Belgian and 2 Dutch citizens—were "whipped, mowed down by gunfire, and their bodies horribly mutilated," with the same kind of treatment accorded other civilians, brings to mind similar instances of savagery which have occurred in Africa since "independence" was granted to various colonies there.

★ ★ ★

The fact that each one of the African countries, even if it has only a population of 500,000, now has a vote equal to that of the United States in the U.N. General Assembly will make Americans wonder if some revamping of the whole charter is not in order.

★ ★ ★

The recent massacres in the Congo, for instance, are being attributed to troops under the leadership of Antoine Gizenga, a Communist stooge who was then deputy premier of the Central Congo government.

There will be little chance of seeing a U.N. resolution passed which would authorize collective military action against the perpetrators of the atrocities just reported from Leopoldville.

The soldiers who committed the crime were in the forces of the Central Congolese government, which is fully recognized by the U.N. Unless steps are taken to hold the central government accountable for what has happened and a show of military force is made, the incidents are likely to be repeated.

The time for forceful action to protect foreign lives and property in the Congo would seem to be at hand.

Whenever a country shows itself totally incapable of self-government, the establishment of an international trusteeship would appear to be a logical formula to apply.

★ ★ ★

The Congo is desperately in need of such a setup. It can be continuously supervised by the U.N. Complete self-government could be granted when the capacity to live up to international obligations was assured.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Drink Milk Each Day to Stave Off Old Age

At least a hundred readers sent me clippings telling of the opinion expressed by a "researcher in arthritis and related diseases" that alcohol is better than milk in the diet of oldsters. Some readers seemed as pleased as Punch—they dislike and resent my teetotalism. Most readers asked me to compare the nutritional value of alcohol with that of milk.

DR. BRADY

That would be like comparing the food value of grade A pasteurized homogenized mahogany finish birch sawdust with that of wheat, rice, oats or corn.

The striking feature of all these reports of the researcher's opinion of alcohol was that he was called a "medical scientist," a "specialist in bone disease," a "specialist in arthritis," and "assistant director of the metabolic unit for research in arthritis and allied diseases."

It appears that the researcher decided that milk, the best food source of calcium, is not good food for adults, despite the advice of medical and nutrition authorities, and arbitrarily asserted that liquor would be better than milk for oldsters.

The "medical scientist" gave no reason or explanation for his view. But then, who am I to question the pronouncement of a "medical scientist"?

IT'LL BE 'SCIENTIFIC'

The pronouncement by the "bone specialist" will probably get into the weekly and monthly magazines presently and that will make it "scientific." Thereafter alcohol addicts can cite it to justify indulgence.

When I was a doctor in Penn Yan I learned how funny medical science was. I bought the latest edition of Hare's "Practical Therapeutics" and found that the eminent author declared that "Alcohol never acts as a true stimulant . . . on the contrary its dominant influence is depressant."

But on the next page, the author stated that "The chief uses of alcohol are as a rapidly stimulant in cardiac failure . . . fainting, snake bite, surgical shock . . ."

So I asked the professor how he reconciled the opposing statements. He explained that "Scientifically alcohol does act as a depressant. Practically, physicians universally find that it exercises an immediate influence which, according to our present" (1906) "method of description, is called 'stimulation.'"

So I concluded that when a doctor goes scientific he means to imply that anyone who doesn't agree with him isn't in the know.

My advice to oldsters is: Take three glasses of milk or skim milk or the equivalent in other items of a high calcium diet every day, to stave off senility and decrepitude.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Today is Thursday, Jan. 18, the 18th day of the year with 347 to follow in 1962.

The moon is approaching its full phase.

On this day in history:

In 1788, the first English settlement is Australia was made at Botany Bay.

In 1912, Capt. Robert F. Scott, an English explorer, reached the South Pole with his companions only to find that Norwegian explorer Roald Amundsen had preceded him by five weeks.

In 1943, Moscow announced the lifting of the German seige of Leningrad, which had lasted since the autumn of 1941.

In 1950, the U.S. Senate repealed the federal tax on oleomargarine despite pressure from American dairy interests.

A thought for the day: Greek philosopher, Aristotle, once said: "Democracies are most commonly corrupted by the insolence of demagogues."

Reds Using Double Talk

WASHINGTON (AP)—"Like the zebra which has a day and night bark, the Communists are using different languages to suit their audiences," a Senate study said today.

The study, entitled "Wordsmanship, Semantics as a Communist Weapon," was published by the Senate Internal Security subcommittee. It was prepared by Dr. Stefan T. Possony, director of international studies of the Hoover Institution, Stanford, Calif.

'SUBTLE WEAPON'

"The weapon of words is more subtle and less immediately destructive than nuclear bombs," Possony says, "but, just like the winds and the seas which can hollow out the hardest rock, it has the power of eroding society."

In condensed form, here are examples Possony listed of how he thinks different meanings are attached to the same words by Americans and Communists:

★ ★ ★

Capitalism—To Americans, the free enterprise system. To Communists, a system in which a few property holders have absolute rights, make the laws to please themselves and maximize their profits, and exploit the toiling masses.

'DIFFERENT TERMS'

Democracy — To Americans, lawful government of the people, by the people, and for the people. To Communists, a one-party system is consistent with the "higher type" Communist democracy and American democracy really is capitalist dictatorship.

★ ★ ★

Imperialism—In Western usage, empire building. To Communists, military occupation, denial of democracy, and economic exploitation by the Soviet Union of Eastern European nations is "liberation" and imperialism is exploitation of colored people.

Purchasing Paperbacks Won't Help

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy came out of his office with a group of foreign visitors, all bearing hardcover, autographed copies of his book, "The Enemy Within."

Said a friend waiting in the outer office:

"I'd like one of those myself. All I've got is the paperback edition I bought."

"A paperback!" exclaimed Kennedy. "How can I make anything from the book if people go around buying paperbacks?"

the governor appeared before the National Press Club.

"Mr. Brown grew up as 'Edmund Gerald,'" Cosgrove explained, "but during the war, at a rally sponsored by Liberty Bonds, he cried 'Give me liberty or give me death!' And it's been 'Patrick Henry Brown' ever since!"

Brown got a few laughs himself when he remarked that in keeping with President Kennedy's wishes for a fitter America, he had joined Chief Justice Earl Warren on a recent duck hunt.

"You may have heard that he shot his limit of five ducks while I got only four," said Brown. "It probably was the first time in history a Chief Justice took the fifth."

When the laughs died down, Brown added: "But there was some precedent for my performance. I gave the fifth duck a commutation."

When asked if Richard Nixon—Brown's probable opponent for California's governorship this fall—was also keeping in shape for the campaign, Brown answered that Nixon had to delay training until he finished his book, "My Six Crises."

"Most of us thought there were only four crises," Brown cracked, "and they all took place on television in the season of 1960."

A southern senator, chatting with a Washington cab driver, told him he might be debating Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota on radio or TV.

"You'll be a fool if you do," advised the cabbie. "He rode in my cab a few days ago, and you can't get a word in edgewise."

★ ★ ★

Now that Averell Harriman is back in Washington full time as assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs, a story is being revived about his campaign tactics in the New York governorship race against Nelson Rockefeller.

★ ★ ★

After waiters, bellhops, cab drivers and the like received one of the Democratic millionaire's "John D. Rockefeller dimes," and registered the natural facial disgust, the story goes that Harriman would always say, "Now remember. Be sure to vote Republican."

Latest crack on the Peace Corps is that the young men and women it sends overseas to teach will learn a great deal, if nobody else does.

Newest gobbledygook word you have to toss around or drop casually to show that you're really sophisticated is EURAM. It stands for European-American. Any time you're showing off what you know about NATO, the Common Market or Atlantic Community you say, "But the EURAM concept is . . ."

Heading the list, quite naturally,

Greece Uneasily Watching Red Neighbors

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

When Nikita Khrushchev remarked that war would not spare the famed Acropolis of Greece, he did not endear himself to the Greeks nor did he frighten them.

* * *

Nor did the Greeks tremble in the first few days of this year when the Soviets demanded a blueprint of the Greek military structure on the grounds that it could pose a threat to Soviet borders.

The answer was a firm suggestion to the Russians that they mind their own business.

As a nation firmly aligned with the West through NATO, and more lately through association with the European Common Market, Greece tries to remain as aloof as possible from its Communist neighbors.

NOT ALWAYS EASY

But, since nearly 25 per cent of Greek export goes to the Soviet Union and other members of the Communist bloc, and she has common borders with three Communist countries, such an attitude is not always easy.

Lately, this geographic proximity has been the cause of more than common interest.

The Soviet Union, occupied in Berlin, in Laos and with internal and party problems, still has found time to probe the Eastern Mediterranean end of the NATO defense line.

* * *

As a Balkan nation, Greece also must watch for changes which may occur as result of the break between the Soviet Union and Albania.

Greece still is in a state of war with Albania and still is pressing its claim to a strip of southern Albania which the Greeks call Northern Epirus.

Since its break with the Soviets, Albania has been seeking improved relations with the West, including an offer to resume diplomatic relations with Greece.

SUSPECTS CHANGE

Since its own civil war and Yugoslavia's break with Stalin, Greece has maintained consistently friendly relations with Yugoslavia.

But now Greece suspects a change may be in the making in Soviet-Yugoslav relations, especially since the Soviet-Albanian break.

The alarm bell for Greece was an official Yugoslav suggestion that Greece recognize the existence of a Macedonian minority. Since Yugoslavia has set up Yugoslav Macedonia as a republic of the Yugoslav Federation with a language of its own, the suggestion seemed more than a coincidence.

* * *

More than 70,000 Slavic-speaking Macedonians reside in northern Greece.

Between Greece and Bulgaria there is a traditional coolness. Still unsettled are Greek claims for war reparations from Bulgaria and there is a latent question of Bulgarian claims on Thrace.

In addition there have been recent Bulgarian attacks on Greek foreign and domestic policies, to all of which the Greeks have replied, 'Blackmail in the best Bulgarian tradition."

Contributing to any Greek consideration of the Balkan situation is the knowledge that Communist bloc nations still harbor some 70,000 Greek Communist guerillas who fled after the 1946-49 civil war and now are awaiting another chance.

Swainson Off to Washington

To Meet With Leaders of Democratic Party, Government Officials

LANSING (AP) — Gov. Swainson leaves for Washington, D.C., today for a series of conferences with top government officials and Democratic party leaders.

He and Mrs. Swainson will be housegusts of former Gov. G. Mennen Williams, now an assistant secretary of state, and Mrs. Williams.

Swainson will meet Friday with William L. Batt Jr., administrator of the Area Redevelopment Administration, to discuss proposals involving Michigan. He also will testify on equal employment opportunities before a special labor subcommittee of the House Committee on Education and Labor.

Later, the governor will talk over federal aid to education, aid to dependent children of unemployed workers and other matters with Michigan senators Philip A. Hart and Patrick V. McNamara and Abraham Ribicoff, secretary of health, education and welfare.

After a luncheon with Michigan men heading various federal departments, the governor will meet with Labor Secretary Arthur Goldberg to discuss unemployment and job retaining.

Burmese Greet Titov

RANGOON, Burma (AP)—Soviet space man Gherman Titov arrived today for a three-day visit. He flew in from Indonesia, where he was the personal guest of President Sukarno. More than 2,000 people welcomed him at the airport.

Fears Results of Loss of Laws OKing Searches

EAST LANSING (AP) — Donald S. Leonard, former state police commissioner and 1954 Republican gubernatorial candidate, has urged Michigan police officials to support retention of the search and seizure provisions in the state constitution.

* * *

Leonard, speaking at the mid-winter meeting of the Michigan Association of Chiefs of Police at Michigan State University, said failure to keep such provisions for search and seizure of guns and narcotics would result in many hoodlums and gangsters going free.

* * *

"I would hate to see the day," Leonard said, "when officers would have to close their eyes and be restricted to issuing traffic tickets because they thought the people were not behind them in their duties of protecting the public."

JFK Message Goes to Solons 'Saturday'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy will send his economic message to Congress Saturday to comply with legal requirements, the White House said Wednesday. However, it will not be read in House or Senate or be made public until Monday, Jan. 22.

* * *

The law says the message must be delivered to Congress by Jan. 20.

* * *

Since this falls on a Saturday, Congress will not be in session, the White House said, so the document will be handed in sealed envelopes to the clerk of the House and secretary of the Senate to be read when the two branches are in session Monday.

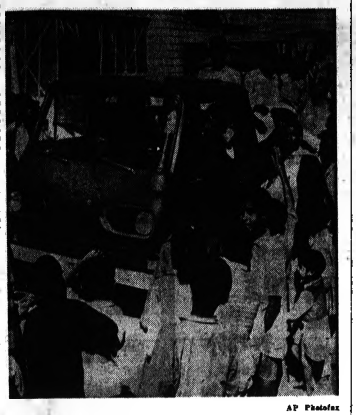
'We Know Better Than to Beat Men'

Calls Player's Views on Golfing Women Off Base

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK — In this critical (and hypocritical) era wherein women are expected to be proficient in all things without losing their health, sweet dispositions or utter femininity, a new voice of authority has been added.

It belongs to Gary Player, money-winningest golf pro for 1961. He says that women will be "better mates and mothers" if they take up golf and play a fighting game of it—with the urge to win.



AP Photofax

BASHIR GETS TRUCK — Villagers crowd around Pakistan camel driver Bashir Ahmad who waves from his pickup truck after driving it to his colony in Karachi. The truck earlier had been presented to Bashir who visited the United States last year at the invitation of Vice President Johnson. The vehicle, a gift of the Ford Motor Co., also came with two cases of spare parts and a complete tool box.

Stop fiddle-faddling around the course trying to be "ladylike," he urges.

Stop thinking it is "unfeminine" to care about beating the knickers off the opposition. .

. Stop considering yourself the belle of the ball, and start thinking yourself the master of it.

And why will you be a better woman for a'that, little links lady? Because "golf teaches you how to accept victory and defeat, how to be patient and control your emotions." Besides:

"Few things delight men more," Player contends, "than to see a woman, deadly serious about her game, stand on the tee and bang away at a drive with everything she's got."

Well, until that last statement, we went along with Gary Player. Golf does, indeed, teach one to accept defeat and to control the more murderous emotions.

But the idea of men standing off the tee and tingling with pleasure at the sight of a lady belting the ball 225 yards down the middle—come on now, Mr. Player.

It has been our experience that most men not only find little delight in such a sight, they feel a certain admiring hatred at the spectacle.

"She's good," one man will growl.

"I'll bet she beats her husband," says a second.

"And her kids," from the third.

DON'T LIKE TO FOLLOW

Let us face it, Mr. Player, man do not like to follow women around the golf course—and I think this sweeping statement applies to all women. Even chic, slim things in short shorts who take their game earnestly.

And show me the man who finds genuine "delight" in waiting on a tee watching a girl bash a nifty drive and I will show you either her father or some kind of health nut.

Of course, husbands often make exceptions and claim that their wives are good competition and companionship on the course. They honestly believe it, too.

But I have noticed, in playing with other couples, that a decided coolness sets in when the wives are "on their game," as we say in the 29-handicap set.

A wife who outdrives her husband more than once in an 18-hole round is in for a surly ride home.

It is bad enough that the average woman can putt more precisely than the average man, but if she has power too . . .

Well, haven't you noticed the love and devotion between gentle little ladies who regularly pop out 120 yards straight down the middle and their great big lover-dubber husbands?

HAPPIEST COUPLES

The happiest (and most frequently observed) couples are those in which the husband slices 280 yards while the wife dribbles straight forward toward the green. They wind up with approximately the same scores, and the man feels muscular and the wife feels dainty.

Still, Gary Player (in the February "Golf Digest") continues his protestations of affection for women golfers.

He claims his honesty and integrity in this matter can be proven by the fact that his wife was a two-handicap player when they married (though she gave it all up, he admits, to raise a family).

* * *

I think Player is living in a golfer's paradise. He is good enough never to be out-played by a woman, he visits clubs where women dragging golf carts never cross his path, he is possessed of a wife who was smart enough to stop competing with him.

But the average man would sooner face a 20-foot bunker than an ambitious woman golfer.

And the average woman, who could quite possibly outscore her man with plenty of practice, doesn't allow herself to try.

She realizes, with the innate intuition of the female, that it's better to be a golf widow than a grass widow.

Insurance Plan for Aged Slated

AMA, Blue Shield Set Program of Benefits for All Over 65

CHICAGO (AP)—A new low-cost medical and surgical insurance plan for the aged has been announced by Blue Shield, a nationwide insurance program, and the American Medical Association.

★ ★ ★

The plan, announced Wednesday, would provide benefits for all persons over 65 for as low as $3 a month. It must be approved and worked out by the 69 Blue Shield affiliates and local and county medical groups.

URGES COOPERATION

The AMA said it is recommending that all state medical societies cooperate fully with their local Blue Shield affiliates to put the plan into operation as soon as possible.

First reaction from a few officials of medical groups was generally in favor of the program. Most officials withheld comment pending a study of the details.

★ ★ ★

The proposal, with one agreed upon less than two weeks ago by the American Hospital Association and the Blue Cross Association, completes organized medicine's answer to President Kennedy's plan to place health care for the aged under Social Security.

PREVIOUS AGREEMENT

The AHA and Blue Cross agreed on a private hospitalization plan for retired persons over 65—to cost $10 to $12 per person a month—under which the federal government would be asked to pay the premiums for all those unable to do so.

The principle of ability to pay, with the most assistance to the needy, is involved in both plans.

Egypt Gets Red Plans?

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP)—The Soviet Union is providing Egypt with a number of TU16 medium bombers, the newspaper Maariv reported today.

Veto State Fund for Private Economic Use

LANSING (AP) — Debate over a proposal to allow use of public funds for private economic development in Michigan tied up the constitutional convention for two hours Wednesday.

★ ★ ★

The motion was defeated 93-40 in a showdown vote which followed mainly along party lines, with Republicans generally opposed to the idea.

In effect, the outcome was a repudiation of recommendations made by both Democratic Gov. Swainson and Republican Congressman Robert Griffin of Traverse City.

The convention action was on an amendment to a finance and taxation committee report.

It would have granted authority to the legislature to pledge the state's "full faith and credit" to loans for nonprofit benefit corporations to finance industrial, or municipal development projects.

Both Swainson and Griffin had urged the delegates to take such a step to help solve Michigan's unemployment problems by encouraging new industry to come into the state.

★ ★ ★

But the move was denounced on the floor as a "gimmick" and "socialistic" by GOP delegates.

DEFENDS AMENDMENT

Defending the proposed amendment, William Marshall, D-Detroit, criticized what he termed the "facetious remarks and asinine statements" made on the issue.

★ ★ ★

But the convention, in voting down the amendment, supported the stand taken by the finance and taxation committee, which said in its report:

"The committee did not overlook the several proposals referred to it, which asked that we make an exception of the use of credit in order to facilitate economic development within the state.

★ ★ ★

"Those proposals were turned down because of the belief on the part of the committee that they do not represent sound procedure."

In another vote, the convention followed generally along party lines in rejecting 85-48 a move urging the refunding of bonds for the Mackinac Bridge.

Defeated was a move to authorize the legislature to allow the issuance of general obligation bonds to refund revenue bonds issued by the Mackinac Bridge Authority.

Upper Peninsula delegates generally argued in favor of the motion, pointing out that it would lower interest rates and allow for a reduction in toll rates for the bridge.

More fireworks are expected in today's session, when two other controversial proposals are scheduled to come up.

One proposal relates to the "search and seizure" provision of the constitution under which narcotics and dangerous weapons seized illegally can be submitted as evidence in court. Previous tentative votes on the matter have resulted in almost a 50-50 split among the delegates.

The other proposal covers civil service operations and appears certain to touch off lively floor debate between supporters of a strong merit system and those who feel the Civil Service Commission has become too bureaucratic.

HENRY FORD II—The chairman of the Ford Motor Co. addresses the 20th anniversary dinner of the Advertising Council at the Hotel Waldorf-Astoria in New York Wednesday night. He hailed President Kennedy's drive to get congressional approval for "freedom to wheel and deal" in foreign trade negotiations.

Kennedy Wants Increases in Postal Rates

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's budget message today called for postal rate increases of $592 million.

His planned surplus is only $463 million so if the mail rates don't go up the budget will be in the red.

★ ★ ★

The message didn't specify which rates should be boosted. But like former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, Kennedy is known to want an increase in first class postage from 4 cents to 5 cents an ounce, along with other rate changes.

Report More Copters Going to S. Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—About 20 more U.S. Army helicopters will arrive in South Viet Nam soon, a reliable source said today.

The source said the new helicopters and their complement of about 200 U.S. Army pilots and ground crewmen would complete a battalion of helicopters to be used to fly support missions against Communist rebels.

The first two companies arrived in Viet Nam last month. Their complement of about 40 helicopters and 400 men already are flying missions.

Detroit Student Sent to Boys Vocational School

DETROIT (AP) — Claude Sweeney, 14, a Central High School student, has been ordered committed to the boys vocational school at Lansing until he is 19 years old.

The youth admitted inflicting fatal chest wounds in Reuben Trice, 16, Dec. 14 in a school hallway. The stabbing followed an argument over a school book, police said.

HERE ARE REAL BARGAINS!

It's Quality as well as Low Price That Makes a Good Value!

It is well to consider just what comprises a good value and a bargain. We believe a bargain to be an unusual offering caused by an unusual event or condition that actually forces a reduction in price, but not a reduction in quality.

Because we are forced to dispose of our Winter merchandise stock during the next 15 days, you can buy quality at a sacrifice. If you are looking for money-saving bargains you will be here Friday morning at 9:30 when the doors open.

THE REASON FOR THIS BIG SALE!

Our Policy is not to carry goods over from one year to the next.

Like all businessmen we are optimistic. We must buy goods in anticipation of all your needs. This fall, Christmas and winter we bought the finest nationally advertised goods for you . . . But, unforseen record warm weather in September, October and November did not allow us to move sufficient amounts of warm, Winter clothing. This created an overloading of seasonable merchandise . . . And then the freezing rain, snow and record bitter cold weather in January actually kept buyers away from our store. Since our policy is not to carry goods over from one season to the next, we must clear out our heavy inventory in the next 15 days.

ONCE-A-YEAR BIG $100,000.00 STOCK DISPOSAL SALE!

NO DOWN PAYMENT JUST SAY "CHARGE IT"

JUST THINK what this sale means to your family, despite today's high prices. You can save in every department on nationally advertised Ladies', Men's, Boys', Girls', Infant's Clothing and Domestics, Linens, Jewelry, Toys, Shoes, Millinery.

JFK Requests $5 Billion in Fresh Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nearly $5 billion of new foreign aid funds were asked by President Kennedy today as he called for expanded long-range aid to help underdeveloped countries build up their economy.

His budget message to Congress proposed spending $3.9 billion for various types of foreign aid in the year starting next July 1 — a $200 million increase over the current year.

But his request for new funds to carry the program into its 16th year was $4,897,000,000, of which $1.5 billion would go for military aid the remainder for various kinds of economic assistance.

This is a $1 billion increase over appropriations for this year. All the extra money would be for economic aid, mainly for long term development loans and gifts. It includes $600 million of a $3 billion authorization Kennedy is seeking to support the Alliance for Progress program for Latin America over the next four years.

Spending for economic aid will rise higher in later years as loan commitments for development projects are drawn upon, Kennedy predicted.

"To make our assistance more effective," he said, "increasing emphasis is being placed on self-help measures and necessary reforms in these countries. . .

★ ★ ★

"Efforts will also be made to foster more effectively the contribution of private enterprise to development through such means as investment guarantees and assistance for surveys of investment opportunities."

The presidential budget gave no country-by-country or regional breakdown on how next year's aid funds would be spent.

★ ★ ★

Major items included $650 million for development loans, $285 million for development grants, $225 million for the Alliance for Progress program and $560 million for supporting assistance to impoverished military allies.

ARMS AID REQUEST DOWN

The $1.5 billion arms aid request is $100 million below this year's appropriation. The military aid spending rate would remain steady at $1.4 billion a year for the time being because of a backlog of past appropriations.

★ ★ ★

The president also requested $100 million to buy U. N. bonds to help lift the United Nations out of a financial hole, $64 million for the Peace Corps of overseas American volunteers — more than double this year's $30 million appropriation — and $300 million for the Food for Peace program of shipping U. S. farm surpluses abroad, $9 million above this year's appropriation.

COMING AND GOING—These two "dollars" show where the budget dollar will come from and how it will be spent in the 1963 fiscal year beginning next July 1. The President's budget calls for a $92,537,000,000 spending program.

$2.6 Billion Asked for Space Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Kennedy Administration today asked Congress to approve $2.6 billion spending by civilian agencies in the next fiscal year to finance a stepped-up effort to achieve "mastery of space."

The lion's share would go to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration which estimates expenditures of $2.4 billion during fiscal 1963 — $1.1 billion more than in 1962 and more than three times the amount spent in 1961. The major portion is earmarked for manned space flight projects aimed at reaching the moon before 1970.

A total of $173,268,000 was sought in the Administration's budget for space expenditures of the Atomic Energy Commission —primarily to spur development of nuclear-powered rockets and extend the "SNAP" program for providing auxiliary electrical power for spacecraft.

This would mean an increase of nearly $91 million over AEC's estimated expenditures for space projects this year.

Finally, the budget calls for $25 million spending by the Weather Bureau to finance purchase of four "Nimbus" weather-eye spacecraft —the nucleus of a proposed world-wide meteorological satellite program intended to begin operating in fiscal 1964. This represents an increase of $18 million over this year's spending for the program.

The budget actually seeks appropriations of $3.8 billion in new obligation authority for NASA in 1963, compared with $1.8 billion estimated for 1962.

In his budget message Kennedy said that during his first year in office, there has been a major stepup in NASA programs "in such fields as communications and meteorology and, in the most dramatic effort of all, mastery of space symbolized by an attempt to send a man to the moon and back safely to earth."

LIST MAJOR PROJECTS

The detailed NASA budget submitted to Congress, together with information from sources close to the space program, disclosed this picture of major projects for which the increased funds are sought:

1. In late 1962 or early 1963, the first attempt will be made to put a Mercury astronaut in an 18-orbit flight around the earth — as compared with the three-orbit type planned later this month.

2. Late in 1963 or early in 1964 "Project Gemini" — the orbiting of two men in a space capsule — is to have its first actual flight.

3. In fiscal 1963, "expanded effort" will be devoted to developing two alternative approaches to a manned lunar landing — a non-stop direct ascent from the earth to the moon, and the much-discussed "rendezvous" in space of two vehicles which would then be combined for the moon trip.

★ ★ ★

4. In the field of unmanned exploration of space, a "Mariner" spacecraft will be launched toward Venus next July or August to send back scientific data.

★ ★ ★

Also, several unmanned "Ranger" spacecraft will be launched to make "hard" landings on the moon.

Pledges to Cut Farm Programs

New Proposals Slated to Shave $468 Million From Current Outlays

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy today promised a cut in the cost of farm programs next year—provided Congress approves his new agricultural proposals to be submitted later this month.

He also provided for a 150 per cent expansion of the food stamp plan for needy persons and called for elimination of the special bonus this country pays foreign producers for imported sugar.

Kennedy earmarked $6.7 billion for the Agriculture Department in the new fiscal year starting July 1. This is $468 million less than estimated outlays of $7.2 billion in the current fiscal year.

The President's new proposals will be designed to shave $434 million from the cost of feed grains, wheat, and dairy products programs.

CUTS REA BUDGET

They also would revise the financial formula of the Rural Electrification Administration to effect a paper savings of about $136 million.

If Congress should refuse to go along, the department's budget would rise to a record $7.33 billion. This is $71 million more than it expects to spend this fiscal year.

★ ★ ★

The paper savings for REA would be obtained by permitting use of repayments on outstanding loans to finance new loans.

U.S. Planning Fisheries Lab at Ann Arbor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Bureau of Commercial Fisheries plans to build a $1,448,000 laboratory at Ann Arbor, Mich., where it will plan the continuing battle against the sea lamprey.

★ ★ ★

The predatory eel has destroyed valuable Great Lakes trout fisheries.

President Kennedy's budget, submitted to Congress today, included the funds for a new fireproof headquarters for research on Great Lakes fisheries.

JFK Asks More Funds for Embassy Abroad

★ ★ ★

His federal budget for fiscal 1963 would increase the State Department's "representation allowances" by $180,000 to a total of $1,095,000 million.

2 Federal Buildings for State on Budget

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The General Services Administration (GSA) has budgeted $1 million for two federal buildings in Michigan, according to the budget which President Kennedy sent to Congress today.

★ ★ ★

The GSA proposed an appropriation of $737,000 for construction and alteration work on the Grand Rapids post office and courthouse, and $270,000 for a border station at Sault Ste. Marie.

Provides for Ships

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy outlined today in his budget a $3-billion Navy shipbuilding program including six new Polaris submarines, eight nuclear-powered attack submarines and a new attack aircraft carrier to be ordered during the next fiscal year.

Sees Record Business, 4 Pct. Jobless

Kennedy Has Great Expectations

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy said today that record-smashing business gains will send income and profits to new heights, cut joblessness to 4 per cent and balance his fiscal 1963 budget.

★ ★ ★

The "modest" surplus" of $463 million forecast by Kennedy in his budget message to Congress was based on an assumed jump of nearly $11 billion, or 13 per cent, from this year's tax revenues.

Such a one-year rise has no precedent except in World War II. Tax collections were doubled in 1943, by dint of wartime production pressures and steep tax increases.

The President told Congress he expects "the brisk recovery from last year's recession will continue through the coming year and beyond." It will carry national output in calendar 1962 to $570 billion, he said, an increase of nearly $50 billion from 1961.

This will send corporation profits to a peak level of $36.5 billion, Kennedy predicted, and Uncle Sam will pocket about half of that.

The incomes of individuals will climb $30 billion in the year to a historic high of $448 billion.

Kennedy said. Then, he added, income tax collections will rise $4.3 billion as a result and excise tax revenues will increase as these earnings are spent.

The administration has based these judgments on a production rise of 2 per cent each quarter, less than the 2.5 per cent quarterly gain actually recorded since last spring.

"This pace of advance would reduct the rate of unemployment to approximately 4 per cent of the civilian labor force by the end of fiscal 1963," Kennedy said.

'INTERIM GOAL'

Four per cent is what the administration has called its "interim goal" on the road to full employment. Its attainment would mean a one-third decrease in joblessness in 18 months. The rate is now 6.1 per cent, and was around 6.8 per cent most of last year.

The President acknowledged "uncertainties" in such forecasting. If the growth estimates are exceeded, he said, the surplus will be bigger; this would help restrain inflation.

"If, on the other hand, the economic recovery unexpectedly halts or is reversed, revenues would fall below the current estimates and a deficit would inevitably result, moderating the economic slow down," the message said.

AEC Asks More Money for Nuclear Weapons

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission asked today for more money for nuclear weapons, but gave no hint whether it was preparing to resume nuclear tests in the atmosphere.

The request for $742,010,000 for nuclear weapons was part of a $2,700,788,000 total budget request for all AEC activities — military and peaceful — during the year starting July 1.

The total request, sent to Congress in President Kennedy's budget today, compared with $2,351,895,000 for all AEC purposes for the current fiscal year.

The $742,010,000 weapons request is about $112 million more than was provided for the current year. But the AEC asked also for another $100 million for this year and proposed to transfer $39.2 million more from other funds to weapons development this year. That would raise this year's weapons total to $769 million.

★ ★ ★

The money would go, among other things, for "the design, development and testing of new weapon types; and development of test detection methods," the budget request said.

But it did not say whether the funds would cover new tests in the atmosphere if Kennedy authorizes them.

Forecasting its operating expenses for the new fiscal year, the AEC said "There will be substantial increases for the production and development of nuclear weapons, for the application of atomic energy to outer space propulsion and power supply," and for basic research in the physical and life sciences."

But it added:

"These increases will be partly offset by a reduction in the procurement of raw uranium concentrates."

Says Con-Con Must Clean Up After Adjourning

LANSING (AP) — Legislative leaders were asked today to give the constitutional convention authority to complete its business and carry out its obligations after the convention adjourns.

★ ★ ★

Stephen S. Nisbet, R-Fremont, convention president, made the request at a meeting with House Speaker Don R. Pears, R-Pinconning, and other key members of the legislature.

★ ★ ★

The convention, Nisbet said, is obligated to provide for printing and distribution of its documents, journals and proceedings and to inform voters of its decisions in an address to the people." It also must "restore Constitution Hall in Lansing's Civic Center to its original condition and provide for preservation of its records, documents and papers."

★ ★ ★

Staff members should be retained after the convention adjourns to carry out these tasks, Nisbet said.

Proposes Plan to Share Cost of Fallout Shelters

WASHINGTON (AP) — A major broadening of civil defense, including sharing costs of constructing fallout shelters in schools, hospitals and other community buildings, was proposed today at a cost of about $350 million in the year starting July 1.

★ ★ ★

President Kennedy's budget, sent to Congress today, asked a total of $695 million for civil defense purposes, with the balance to cover authority to obligate funds that would be spent later.

Average Cost Up $11.53

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The cost of the federal government will rise an average of $11.53 for every man, woman and child in the United States under President Kennedy's budget for the 1963 fiscal year.

Votes For Annexation

GRAND HAVEN (AP) — The Ross Mound School District voted 82-57 in a special election Tuesday night to be annexed to the Grand Haven School District. The adjacent district had 172 pupils.

To Accept Bids on Storm Drain

Feb. 19 Is Deadline Date for $897,000 Southfield Area Project

The Oakland County Drain Commission is taking construction bids on the $897,000 Southfield Storm Drain project from now until Feb. 19, Commissioner Daniel W. Barry announced yesterday.

The 6,753-foot relief drain will connect into the Eight Mile Road Drain presently under construction, and extend north on the west side of Southfield Road in Southfield as far as Bonstelle Street.

The commission hopes to complete both drains at about the same time in January 1963.

★ ★ ★

Construction work on the South field drain will be held firm for 90 days after being let, while the ensuing bond issue is sent to the Municipal Finance Commission for approval, Barry said.

★ ★ ★

A total 5,385 feet of the drain will be tunneled. It will pass under Northwestern Highway. Cost per foot of the total project averages out at $132.

★ ★ ★

The City of Southfield is to pay 56.66 per cent of the over-all cost. The state will pay 37.62 per cent and the county 5.72 per cent.

Increase Requested for National Parks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Appropriations of $123,998,000 for national parks were asked today by President Kennedy for the year starting July 1. This would be $15,365,657 more than Congress voted for use in the current year.

★ ★ ★

The President asked for $206,100 for Michigan's Isle Royale National Park to include $92,300 for an apartment building on Mott Island.

In addition the appropriation request included $15,000 for road and trail work on Isle Royale.

Budgets Compared

WASHINGTON (AP)—The following official summary compares President Kennedy's budget proposals with estimates for the 1962 fiscal year, ending next June 30, and actual totals for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1961 (in millions):

Disabled Vets Get JFK Nod

President Asks Hike in VA Cost-of-Living Compensation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy today renewed a request to Congress for cost-of-living increases in compensation rates for military veterans who were disabled while in service.

To finance this, he included $64 million in his fiscal 1963 spending budget for the Veterans Administration. But over-all, he estimated, a $276 million reduction in VA expenditures in the 12 months beginning next July 1.

Kennedy forecast expenditures of nearly $5.3 billion in the next fiscal year for veterans benefits and services, including disability compensation, pensions, hospitals, medical care, and other functions.

He emphasized to Congress that "our first concern in veterans programs is that adequate benefits be provided for those disabled in the service of their country."

Kennedy Budgets $1.4 Billion for Improving Health

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy's new federal budget earmarks $1.4 billion for "improving the nation's health."

★ ★ ★

Slightly more than half of the proposed outlay for fiscal 1963 — $711 million — will go to the National Institutes of Health for a stepped-up research attack on cancer, heart disease, mental illness and other major health hazards. This is an increase of $113 million over NIH spending for this year.

Proposes Expansion of Food Stamp Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy said today that results of an experimental food stamp plan have been so encouraging that it will be expanded to reach more needy persons.

★ ★ ★

His budget submitted to Congress proposed increasing by 150 per cent next fiscal year the $20 million being spent on the pilot project in eight test areas.

AP Photofax

TALK OVER BUDGET — Budget Director David Bell, left, and Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon chat next to charts illustrating the administration's budget plans for the fiscal year beginning July 1 as outlined in President Kennedy's budget message today.

JFK Urges End to Train-Bus Tax

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy today urged an end to the passenger tax on trains and buses, a halving of the airline travel tax, and an 8 per cent deduction for firms investing in new plant equipment.

★ ★ ★

But every cut proposed in his budget message to Congress was balanced by a tax increase someplace else or the plugging of tax loopholes.

In fact, there would be a boost of about $1 billion a year in the payroll tax which supports Unemployment Compensation, and a $42 million jump in fiscal 1963 in the Social Security tax.

These would pay for permanently extended jobless pay benefits and the start of the proposed program of health care for the aged under Social Security. Neither program shows in the budget totals, however; they are trust funds, treated separately.

REPEATS APPEAL

In addition, Kennedy repeated his appeal of last week for standby power, subject to veto by Congress, to reduce income taxes temporarily if a recession was expected.

The present 52 per cent corporation rate and excise taxes on liquor, cars, cigarettes and telephone service must be extended another year, Kennedy said, to "prevent a revenue loss of $2.8 billion."

The President laid down an eight-part program of tax reforms, already before the House Ways and Means Committee as its first order of business. "I hope they will be enacted early in this session," Kennedy said.

The 8 per cent credit for investment is "particularly urgent," he said, to encourage plant modernization, speed economic growth, and "enhance the ability of our producers to compete with those abroad."

The credit would cost $1.5 billion in revenues, officials have estimated. But other measures in the tax program would raise offsetting revenues.

★ ★ ★

About half the loss, it has been estimated, would be recouped by Kennedy's proposal for a system of tax withholding on income from dividends and interest. Much of this now is not reported to Uncle Sam.

★ ★ ★

He also wants to repeal the $50 exclusion and 4 per cent credit on dividend income, curb entertainment and other expense account deductions; tighten the taxation of income earned abroad; eliminate what he called unwarranted tax preferences enjoyed by cooperatives and some mutual savings and insurance institutions; and limit use of the capital gains tax.

★ ★ ★

Kennedy's proposals for dealing with the 10 per cent transportation tax were complicated. If nothing were done, the rate would drop to 5 per cent on July 1.

Instead, Kennedy told Congress, the tax on buses and trains — carriers "which must compete with private automobiles not subject to the tax"—should be dropped entirely on that date.

For airlines, he said, the 10 per cent rate should be extended until Dec. 31, then be replaced by a 5 per cent tax on passenger tickets and freight waybills.

★ ★ ★

The rest of the revenue loss would be made up by "user charges" on aviation and inland waterways transportation. These would include a 2 cents a gallon tax on all commercial aviation fuels, including jet fuel, which is not now taxed; and a 3 cent tax on all fuel used in general aviation.

Set Date for Nations to Talk Disarmament

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) committee established by the United Nations has set March 14 for resumption of negotiations in Geneva.

The United States and the Soviet Union, as leaders of the committee, formally notified U.N. Acting Secretary-General U Thant Wednesday of the meeting date and asked him to set up the facilities.

Gov. Swainson Writes Pupil, Backs Teacher

LANSING (AP) — Don't change seats in the middle of a class, Gov. Swainson has advised a Roseville sixth grader.

Eleven-year-old Arthur Sarmaga wrote the governor to report that his teacher in the Dart School said he wouldn't allow pupils in the class to change seats as they wanted unless they got a letter from the governor.

"He even made a bargain that if we got a letter saying it was all right, he would let us sit where we wanted," the youngster write.

Swainson wrote back suggesting perhaps the teacher doesn't want pupils to sit in certain seats because they might talk to their friends.

"Do as your teacher suggests," advised the governor, reminding Arthur of the bargain to abide by his decision.

'Serenaders' Plan to Sing at Style Show

The Curbstone Serenaders, Oakland County male barbershop quartet, will sing at the Jane Addams Parent-Teacher Association's fashion show and program at the school Jan. 30 in Royal Oak.

★ ★ ★

The quartet placed second in the Michigan district competition of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America, Inc.

The Goodwill Industries "Fashion Fads and Fancies," a picture album musical show of fashion's changing moods over more than a century, will be presented. Oakland County models include Mrs. J. H. Wyatt of Birmingham and Mrs. Fritz Sovel of Franklin.

Will Present Movie for 'Travel Series'

The next presentation in the "World Travel Adventure Series," sponsored by the Waterford-Drayton Rotary Club, will take place 8 p.m. Thursday at the Waterford Kettering High School.

"Around the World by Sea-Going Jeep," will be presented by Ben Carlin.

TRUCK SPLIT IN TWO—Driver Gene Wilson walks away from his truck trailer after it was sliced into two sections by a Missouri Pacific passenger train Tuesday. No one was injured. Wilson, 29, of Sterling, Colo., said he did not see the train as he crossed the tracks. The front section of the truck is on the other side of the train. It was loaded with wheat.

Tax Exemption Advice Given

Veterans Affairs Chief Discusses Homestead Application

With income tax time rolling around again, Oakland County Veterans Affairs Director Floyd Cremer reports his office is being flooded with applications for homestead tax exemptions.

Many of those applying do not meet Michigan residency requirements and therefore are ineligible for the exemptions, he said.

The law specifies that war veterans drawing disability compensation or pensions and all war veterans' widows are eligible for homestead tax exemption up to $2,000 if the assessed valuation of their property does not exceed $7,500.

However, to qualify the veteran must have been a Michigan resident for at least six months prior to entering military service and/or five year prior to application for the exemption, Cremer pointed out.

Also, the veteran or widow must be living on the property for which the exemption is being sought, he added.

Application must be made each year at the tax assessor's office in the township or city where the applicant resides. The application is then forwarded to the veterans affairs office.

★ ★ ★

Most tax assessors require the veteran to show his current pension check upon application, said Cremer.

Many Vacancies Filled on Senate Committees

LANSING (AP) — Sen. Frederic Hilbert, R-Wayland, has been named chairman of the Senate Conservation Committee to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the late Sen. Charles T. Prescott, R-Prescott.

★ ★ ★

Sen. Harold B. Hughes, R-Clare, who succeeded Prescott, was named to the committees on state affairs, municipalities and agriculture.

★ ★ ★

Sen. Charles R. Feenstra, R-Grand Rapids, was named to fill a vacancy on the business committee and Sen. Thomas F. Schweigert, R-Petoskey, to fill a vacancy on the conservation committee.

Troubled Country Plagued by Political Crisis

Democracy Still Deserts Dominicans

By BEN F. MEYER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The well-laid plans of many conscientious people to bring peace and democracy to the Dominican Republic have fallen apart once again.

A new and extremely grave political crisis has developed in the troubled little country, struggling to get on the road to democracy which it has never known.

If the situation gets out of hand, it could degenerate into a bloody civil war and open wide the opportunity for the pro-Communist forces of Cuba's Fidel Castro to move in. Their strategy would be to multiply the chaos and seek to take over.

That would be a situation the other American republics could not tolerate, even if they had to use force of arms to stop the chaos.

With the high hopes of the Dominican people, and of the members of the Organization of American States (OAS), a seven-man civilian council of state took office Jan. 1 with plans for a democratic government.

Now a new junta, composed of four civilians and three military men, but obviously dominated by the military, has taken over.

★ ★ ★

At a distance it appears the whole trouble arose because Joaquin Balaguer, a man hand-picked as a puppet president by the late dictator Rafael Trujillo, appeared reluctant to step out of power. It is reasonable to assume that Balaguer was under extreme pressure from military people and others fearful of their personal safety, of the fate of their financial holdings, or of losing power under a new regime.

NOT EASY FOR PEOPLE

It is not easy for a country to go through a revolution without painful experiences for many people.

The military people in the Dominican Republic may have felt things were moving too rapidly for their comfort.

★ ★ ★

But the developments in the Dominican Republic could convince some balky nations in the hemisphere also that neighbors cannot sit by and do nothing while the fellow next door puts the torch to his own house, especially on a windy night.

Asks U.N. Observers Go to W. New Guinea

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) The Netherlands government today asked Acting Secretary-General U Thant to send U. N. observers to West New Guinea.

The request was announced at The Hague as Thant pushed a peacemaking effort to bring the Dutch and Indonesians together for negotiations.

Thant asked Indonesian President Sukarno and Dutch Premier Jan De Quay to hold off any action as a result of Monday's naval clash off the West New Guinea coast and to accept his services as a go-between.

The Dutch message to Thant asked him to send "one or more observers or one or more personal representatives" to West New Guinea.

Replying to Thant's appeal, De Quay said he was accepting the acting secretary-general's offer and had ordered the Dutch representative here "to put himself at once at your disposal in order to have further discussions with you regarding the possibilities for a peaceful settlement."

DUTCH FORCES QUIET

De Quay said Dutch forces had "studiously refrained" from any aggravating action in the area and would continue to do so, "even in face of continued threats of violence by Indonesian leaders and of military preparations aimed against New Guinea which have been publicly announced."

The request for observers, De Quay said, was in conformity with the U.N. charter, and was a repetition of an earlier request made to the late Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold.

Reports from Jakarta said the Indonesian chiefs also were pinning their last hopes for a peaceful solution on Thant but have not abandoned their insistence that the disputed territory be turned over to them for administration.

Indonesian Foreign Minister Subandrio told newsmen in Jakarta there has been no substantial progress in the diplomatic field.

He conferred with Soviet Ambassador N. A. Mikhailov for an hour and told newsmen they discussed the dispatch of supplies under the agreements with the Soviet Union, particularly for armed forces.

Indonesia has been reported to have a $400-million arms agreement with the Soviet Union, signed in Moscow last year by Gen. Abdul Haris Nasution, the armed forces chief. Under it the Soviet Union already has supplied Indonesia with long-range jet bombers, MIG fighters and naval craft.

New England Hit by Its Coldest Winter Weather

By The Associated Press

Upstate New York was chilled by -29 in Boonville in the Adirondack foothills, -25 in Saranac Lake, -8 in Massena and -5 in Watertown.

The 24-below reading at 3 a. m. in Minneapolis-St. Paul set a new record low for the date there.

The mercury shrank to -27 in International Falls, Minn., -23 in Bismarck, N. D., -26 in Park Falls, Wis., and Havre, Mont., -19 in Le Mars, Iowa, -9 in Denver, -11 in Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., -3 in Spokane, Wash., and -2 in Chicago.

Says Strange Lights Reflection From Sun

Many area residents were curious about a strange sight in the sky early this morning. Several called police to inquire about the apparition. Some thought it was a rainbow.

Dr. Helen Prince, an astronomer at the McMath-Hulbert Observatory in Lake Angelus, reported the glistening lights in the sky were caused by reflection of the sun on ice crystals in the atmosphere.

Cuba's Red Ties Are Denounced

Inter-American Peace Unit Attacks 'Political Aggressions' of Regime

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Inter-American Peace Committee today denounced the Fidel Castro regime's ties with communism, subversive activities, and violations of human rights.

★ ★ ★

The report said these factors are the principal cause of international tension in the Americas and constitute "political aggressions."

★ ★ ★

"Such acts represent attacks upon inter-American peace and security as well as on the sovereignty and political independence of the American states, and therefore constitute a serious violation of fundamental principles of the inter-American system," it declared.

INVESTIGATES CHARGES

The peace committee is an autonomous body which functions through the Organization of American States. It had been given the task of investigating charges by the Peruvian government that Cuba was engaged in an effort to promote subversive activities in the Americas and that it had systematically violated the rights of its own citizens.

★ ★ ★

The report was approved unanimously by the five members of the committee—El Salvador, Uruguay, Colombia, Venezuela and the United States. It will be submitted to the Jan. 22 foreign ministers conference at Punta del Este, Uruguay.

'63 Budget Would Spend $253,424,650 Every Day

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The $92.5 billion which President Kennedy would spend during the next fiscal year would average out to $253,424,650 for every day of the year, Saturdays, Sundays and holidays included.

★ ★ ★

Each hour of each day of the year, $10,559,360 of the taxpayers' money would be spent, even while he slept.

Says Congo Future Hinges on Tshombe

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk told senators today that if Katanga's Moise Tshombe keeps his agreements Congo's political crisis "may be moving toward an end."

If the political settlement to which secessionist Tshombe agreed with Premier Cyrille Adoula of the Congo central government is carried out, Rusk said, the United Nations can turn from military efforts "to the peaceful task of restoring the economy of one of the wealthiest countries in Africa."

★ ★ ★

Rusk was the first witness at hearings by the Senate African affairs subcommittee on U.S. Congo policy. He testified behind closed doors but a copy of his prepared statement to the subcommittee was made available to newsmen later by Chairman Albert Gore, D-Tenn.

Blaze Destroys Vacant House

Owner Believes Fire Started by Arsonists; Other Homes Damaged

A vacant home at 407 S. Jessie St. was destroyed early today in one of three fires which occurred in the area during the past 24 hours.

The owner of the Jessie Street home, James Overton of 345 Prospect St., said he believed arsonists were responsible for the blaze.

Overton said there was no electricity or heating unit operating in the house. Overton, who said the two-story frame house was being redecorated for new tenants, estimated his loss at $8,000.

Pontiac firemen reported the house was beyond saving when they reached the scene of the fire at 4 a.m. The blaze is being investigated by Pontiac fire marshals.

CAUSED BY FURNACE

Another blaze, apparently touched off by an overheated furnace, did an estimated $3,500 damage to a single-story frame home at 120 W. New York St., according to firemen.

The fire was reported at 11:17 p.m. Firemen said flames burned through the kitchen floor and ceiling of the home, which was occupied by the Abston Simmons family.

Approximately $1,000 in damages resulted from a fire at a home under construction at 3311 Wormer St., Waterford Township, according to township firemen.

The blaze was touched off when sparks from a workman's blowtorch ignited a straw pile outside the house, firemen said.

Efforts Net Increase in Highway Revenues

LANSING (AP) — The secretary of state's office collected more than $484,000 in additional revenues last year through a stepped-up enforcement of state regulations on commercial and other vehicles, Secretary of State James M. Hare said today.

Most of the collections — an increase of $73,773 over 1960 — are deposited in the motor vehicle highway fund, Hare said.

HELPED TO SAFETY—Saint Julian Pulley Jr., is helped to safety from his precariously perched car after it crashed through a Washington freeway guard rail Wednesday. Note the right front wheel, balanced on a narrow steel girder, which held the car from plunging some 30 feet to the street level. Pulley, who resides in Arlington, Va., was forced to stay in the car for half an hour before members of a rescue squad, steadying the car with ropes, brought him to safety.

Rep. Broomfield Writes Letter

Seeks to Halt Cuban Imports

An end to all imports from Cuba to the United States—except for refugees from the Castro regime—was sought today by Rep. William S. Broomfield (R-Oakland County).

In a letter to Commerce Secretary Luther Hodges to be mailed today, Broomfield said he would stress that "about 32 million dollars of goods were imported to this country last year, while the United States exported some 15 million dollars in medicine, medical supplies and subsidized foods to Cuba."

"It simply doesn't make sense to me," Broomfield told the Pontiac Press. "We are asking our neighbor nations in the Organization of American States to take strong economic action against Cuba, while at the same time we have left loopholes in our own trade with this admittedly Communist country."

A member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, Broomfield yesterday met with Secretary of State Dean Rusk "for a briefing on practically the entire world problem."

Broomfield immediately afterward said he would demand an explanation from Hodges "of our trade policies with Cuba."

TO WRITE A BILL

"If effective action isn't forthcoming from the administration soon," he said, "then I'm going to introduce legislation to close this trade loophole with an admitted enemy."

★ ★ ★

He said that the $17-million trade deficit suffered by the United States last year in trade with Cuba was principally to aid one segment of one industry: cigarmaking.

About 90 per cent of our imports from Cuba, he said, were tobacco and tobacco products for making cigars. The trade deficit, he added, was contributing to the outflow of gold from U.S. shores.

★ ★ ★

"It is a relatively small amount compared to the amount of gold outflow we are now experiencing," Broomfield stated. "But the fact remains that we are experiencing an unfavorable balance of trade with a nation whose leader had admitted that he is a Communist, that he has deliberately duped the Cuban people by hiding this fact and who is now receiving substantial amounts of aid from the U.S.S.R. and Red China."

Such Red bloc aid was mostly in economic and military form, he added.

"If Castro wants to sell his tobacco," he said, "let him sell it to the Communists."

Broomfield said the federal government now has no import restrictions on goods from Cuba except for the ban on imported sugar approved last year by Congress.

★ ★ ★

"If we mean what we say about the need for economic sanctions against Cuba, then let us practice what we preach," the Congressman concluded.

$40,000 Is Set for River Check

JFK's Budget Includes Sum to Examine Affect of 12-Town on Clinton

President Kennedy's proposed budget for flood control and navigation projects in Michigan includes $40,000 for investigation of the Clinton River as affected by the 12-Towns storm drain in South Oakland County.

The fiscal-year budget which President Kennedy sent to Congress today included a total of $20,708,900 to finance the Army Corps of Engineers work on projects in Michigan as well as some shared with neighboring Great Lakes states.

The budget recommends $3,987,000 for the engineers to operate and maintain existing works, $430,000 for general investigations and $85,000 for advance engineering and design.

Money budgeted for the Clinton River would be used to continue flood control studies initiated in 1960 to determine adequacy of the tributary Red Run River Drain to carry the added flow of 12-Towns Drain now under construction.

★ ★ ★

Completion of the studies is expected to coincide with the completion of the drain in 1963.

Booster of Year Award Given George F. Taylor

The St. Joseph Mercy Hospital Booster Club named Oakland County Prosecutor George F. Taylor "Booster of the Year" at its luncheon meeting yesterday.

It was the first such award ever handed out by the club. Taylor was recipient because he was responsible for putting together a brochure for the group and for "outstanding service to the hospital throughout 1961."

A plaque was presented him by Dr. Raymond Gagliardi. He and Dr. Eugene Nalepa were last year's club cochairmen.

Roberts Rips Governor's Mental Health Program

Underlying Gov. Swainson's mental health message to the legislature yesterday "is the same old cry to just spend more money," declared Oakland County's Sen. Farrell E. Roberts.

Roberts, a Republican, found fault with Swainson's plea for an immediate $601,500 mental health appropriation, saying it didn't correct what is ailing the department—failure to get more for each mental health dollar.

He said he would introduce a bill in the Senate to create county mental health boards of 12 persons from a wide range of interests to administer local adult day and child guidance clinics.

The blame for the state being third in the nation in mental health costs, but 26th in output efficiency, rests squarely on Charles F. Wagg, director of the State Mental Health Commission, and the governor, Roberts said.

"There's been no spark of leadership in this state (in the mental health field)," the senator remarked.

A second bill, one to require the director to be a doctor, which Roberts said Wagg isn't, waits in the legislature wings, but probably won't be introduced, Roberts said.

Referring to the governor's charge that it was the legislature which has dragged its feet in mental health, Roberts said, "The legislature can't increase the efficiency. It's up to the governor and the director."

EXPLAINS BILL

Roberts said his bill would provide more rapid treatment for the mentally ill at the local level, with the hope being that symptoms could be diagnosed early, thus cutting down on the number of persons who must be committed to state hospitals.

The measure would be financed through a half-mill tax increase in each county, Roberts suggests.

He said his plan has the backing of the legislative committee of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors, the American Psychiatric Association, the Interstate Governors Conference, and the American and Michigan Mental Health Associations.

Claims Papers Pushing Romney

Cavanagh Says Media Plugging AMC Chief as Political Personality

DETROIT (AP)—Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh Wednesday night said the nation's news media is "attempting to foist" American Motors Corp. President George Romney on the public as a political personality.

Cavanagh's attack, aimed principally at newspapers, came in a speech on citizenship at a Police Department youth award dinner.

The mayor didn't mention Romney by name. But he told a newsman "you ask me if I am referring to Romney and my answer is how could my answer be anyone but Mr. Romney."

Cavanagh, a Democrat, elected to a nonpartisan office, denied, however, that his speech was an attack on Romney.

★ ★ ★

He has been drawing national attention recently as a possible GOP candidate for the 1964 presidential nomination.

Romney is expected to announce by Feb. 10 whether or not he will seek the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

★ ★ ★

"It has probably occurred to you that it is indeed remarkable that the popular vehicles of communication have suddenly together discovered a personality whose activities in politics have been so limited that his party affiliation has been until recently in doubt," the 33-year-old mayor said.

2 People Die in Fires Caused by Cigarettes

SANTA ROSA, Calif. (AP)—Two elderly cigarette smokers were found dead Tuesday in their smoke-filled homes.

Authorities said both fires presumably were started by cigarettes smoked in bed and that the victims were suffocated.

Ex-Pontiac Doctor Succumbs in Laos

Word has been received that a former Pontiac doctor, Col. Donald J. Francis, died of a heart attack while serving with the U.S. Army Military Mission in Laos.

Dr. Francis, 49, was a staff member at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital prior to entering the service 22 years ago.

He was sent to Laos as the first military doctor there to organize the Royal Laotian Army Medical Service. He has been credited with stopping the spread of beri-beri among the loyalist troops.

During World War II, he saw duty in England, Germany, and Okinawa and established the present military hospital in Verdun, France.

Vacationland Makes a Comeback for Canadian Firm

DEARBORN (AP) — The Vacationland, once queen of the Mackinac Straits fleet and the first and only ferry able to break her own winter ice, still is making history.

★ ★ ★

Now the "Pere Nouvel," the Vacationland is plowing between Father Point near Rimouski and Baie Comeau, the new iron, paper and aluminum port at the mouth of the St. Lawrence River, and providing the first year-around bridge for vehicular traffic there.

The Vacationland lost her Michigan job with the completion of the $100 million Mackinac Bridge in 1957. The bridge, in effect, made a derelict of the queen.

She was tied up at St. Ignace to rust. But soon after she became the "Jack Dalton," and was moved to Detroit by a company that envisioned her use in transportation of tractor-trailers between Detroit and Cleveland. The buying company failed and the state reclaimed its queen.

Then, along came Nord-Sud Ltd. of Quebec, a company organized to pioneer a new year-around service between shores at the mouth of the St. Lawrence. The firm bought the Vacationland in 1961.

The queen, with 9,600 horsepower behind her ice-crunching bow, cost the Michigan Highway Department $4.6 million. Nord-Sud, which translates from French into North-South, paid only $1.5 million for her.

But, as any other queen, she requires costly maintenance and Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie was glad to get her off his hands at any price after four years of upkeep.

PLOWS THROUGH ICE

The Vacationland was put through a test run between Father Point and Baie Comeau in November. That 50-mile transit took three hours. The other day she made a run over the same course, but broke ice for a four-mile stretch. That required only an extra 20 minutes for her St. Lawrence transit some 175 miles east of Quebec City.

F. B. Latchmore, director of shipping services for Canada's Maritime Commission, is surprised by the traffic the Pere Nouvel is attracting. It's been running 60 per cent above what he estimated would be the average, since tolls run something like $5 per person and $10 per auto.

Latchmore explains, however, that the attraction of the queen on the holidays may have been responsible for pumping initial traffic far above his original estimate of average loads. In French Canada the Christmas holidays cover 12 days, and the Vacationland made her initial St. Lawrence run Dec. 30.

★ ★ ★

"I think the initial operations are promising," Latchmore told a reporter at the joint conference of the U.S. Lake Carriers' Association and the Canadian Marine Association here.

He added: "We may be in for more traffic than anticipated, but let's wait and see what the average is."

Raps Anti-Semitism, Violence in Argentina

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) —An official of the American Jewish Committee has charged that a widespread campaign of anti-Semitic vandalism and armed violence against democratic groups is being carried out in Argentina.

★ ★ ★

Furthermore, said Jacob Blaustein, the terrorist organizations carrying out this violence appear to have immunity from police.

Blaustein, a Baltimore industrialist and honorary president of the American Jewish Committee, spoke Wednesday before the national executive board of the AJC.

The American Battle Monuments Commission maintains a cemetery in Mexico City where 750 Americans who gave their lives in the Mexican War are buried.

Phone Book No Longer Secret

Pentagon Loosens Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new blow for freedom of information has been struck: the Pentagon telephone directory is being declassified.

This will come as a surprise to most people who didn't know it was a classified document. Few noticed and even fewer heeded the printed notation on the cover, "for official use."

The military considers this a form of classification, although there is nothing in security regulations listing such a classification. It now develops that the major reason for the quasi-classification was not to conceal military secrets which might creep into public view through use of the telephone book.

It was to protect Pentagon personnel against being put on "junk mail" listings.

A spokesman said today that since 1947 Pentagon telephone books "have not been available outside the Department of Defense."

A House government information subcommittee included the phone book situation in its complaints about unnecessary secrecy by the Pentagon.

Lauds Success of Peace Corps

ANN ARBOR (AP) — How successful is the Peace Corps—the United States government's experiment in building international relations on a personal level?

"It's like the old adage—Ask the man who owns one," says R. Sargent Shriver—director of the Peace Corps.

"Ask the countries which have Peace Corps volunteers at work. Every one of them has asked for more."

Shriver's comment was made at a send-off banquet here Wednesday for the latest addition to the growing Peace Corps brigade—a 45-member contingent, trained at the University of Michigan, which was to depart today for two years of duty in Thailand.

Also a guest of honor at the farewell dinner was Visute Arthayukti, Thailand's ambassador to the United States. He extended his country's best wishes to the volunteers and promised them a warm welcome when they arrive in Bangkok on Jan. 21.

Shriver told the group he hoped that the Thai government will be sufficiently impressed with the Peace Corps that it will, like 12 countries before it, ask that more volunteers be sent.

"Sometimes we can hardly believe the response the Peace Corps has gotten in its first 10 months of existence," Shriver said.

NIGERIA ASKS MORE

He noted that Nigeria, where occurred the now famous "post-card incident," has requested 100 more Peace Corps volunteers to supplement the original 38.

★ ★ ★

He said the addition of the Thailand group will swell the number of Peace Corps volunteers in foreign countries to 804, representing every state in the Union.

★ ★ ★

The top 10 states, in order, are New York 98, California 91, Illinois 61, Pennsylvania 36, New Jersey 38, Massachusetts 36, Michigan 34, Ohio 30, Texas 24 and Iowa 22.

France to Get Tough; Bombs Still Go Off

PARIS (AP)—The French government announced Wednesday night that it planned new measures to crack down on right-wing French extremists fighting President De Gaulle's Algerian policy. The terrorists replied with more bombs.

★ ★ ★

Eighteen plastic bombs went off in Paris and its suburbs during the night after the French cabinet met to deal with the violent outbreaks sweeping Algeria and metropolitan France. A 62-year-old woman was injured and property damage was heavy.

A cabinet spokesman said that the government would take the offensive against the right-wing secret army organization — particularly in Algeria — but he gave no details.

The government already has assumed special powers under a state of urgency proclaimed after last April's abortive uprising in Algiers, but it has been unable to check the attacks.

MPSC Will Investigate Franklin Road Crossing

The Grand Trunk Western Railroad crossing on Franklin Road where two people were killed last month is going to be investigated by the Michigan Public Service Commission.

City Manager Robert A. Stierer said he had talked with state officials and was told the commission would investigate.

"Following their investigation, which is mandatory when a fatal accident is involved, they will consult with us concerning any additional safety factors needed at the crossing," Stierer said.

Taylor had asked that gates be installed.

There were gates there at one time, but they were removed in favor of the present bells and flasher lights.

City records show there were manually operated gates at the crossing from 1912 to 1928. They were operated by a watchman in a nearby tower.

Railroad and city officials in 1928 felt automatic bells and flashers provided a better warning system.

Cricket May Score KO

Rock 'n' Roll Weakening the Russians

By HARRY FERGUSON

LONDON (UPI) — The news today is that we have the Russians on the run with a secret weapon that comes over the radio. The British Commonwealth has another scheme which, if it works, might mean that Soviet resistance would collapse in 1964.

★ ★ ★

Rock 'n' roll and crooning are undermining the will of Russian youth to resist. Also an attempt is being made to introduce cricket into the Soviet Union, but the Russians — realizing that anybody who plays cricket won't have time to wage a cold war — are being cagey.

They know that cricket is a game you play all day and argue about all night.

Nobody knows the name of the Western powers' genius who corrupted Russia with crooning and rock 'n' roll, but he is the man of the hour.

TRIUMPH REVEALED

His triumph came to light in a front page article in the Soviet magazine, The Kultura, official publication of Ministry of Culture.

The author is Anatoly Nivikov, a member of the Soviet organization that dictates musical policy. Let him have the floor:

"Singers are whispering and talking instead of singing. Their subject matter: The gray sadness of the melancholy, complaining endlessly about the petty nuisances of life, a rendezvous that did not take place, an unsuccessful declaration of love and a secret and misunderstood love."

He writes that dance music was "turning into loud and aggressive shouts and groans" and added:

"It is said that young people like this music. What kind of young people? Amongst our youth are parasites, idlers and flappers. Do we have to adjust ourselves to their needs?"

The answer to that question is yes.

Comrade Nivikov, like your correspondent, is a square who sees no virtue in rock 'n' roll and crooning. Squares cannot win a hipster world.

Your correspondent was a host at a party for teen-agers some years ago and attempted to divert guests from rock 'n' roll.

He was forced to flee in confusion from a concerted attack launched by a group of American parasites, idlers and flappers.

★ ★ ★

Man Confesses in Gang Killing

Detroit-Held Suspect Claims Uncle Gunman in Chicago Slaying

CHICAGO (UPI) — A crime syndicate triggerman's confession in the slaying of a labor reformer has provided what is perhaps the first solution to a Chicago gang killing in 20 years.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation reported Wednesday on the slaying of John A. Kilpatrick, 55, president of the independent United Industrial Workers of America (UIWA), who was taken for an underworld "ride" last Oct. 20 and slain with a bullet fired behind the left ear.

The report delivered to Chicago Police and the Cook County State's Attorney's Office included a confession from William Triplett, 27, jailed at Detroit while awaiting trial for armed robbery.

The confession named Triplett's uncle, Dana Nash, 41, a Detroit parole violator imprisoned at Jackson, Mich., as the man who fired the death bullet.

'ORDERED BY ORGANIZER'

Triplett said in his confession that Kilpatrick's slaying was ordered by an organizer for labor racketeer Angelo Inciso, onetime boss of Local 298 in Kilpatrick's 4,000-member union.

Kilpatrick, a foe of Inciso, was a prosecution witness in the trial at which Inciso was convicted of accepting $120,000 in illegal insurance payments. Inciso is serving a 10-year prison term.

Detroit Police, the Detroit FBI office and the Chicago FBI office declined comment on the report.

However, a Detroit police spokesman said Triplett would be tried in Michigan for armed robbery before being sent to Chicago for possible trial.

Wife Goes Out to Sea With Sailor

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Lt. (j.g.) Jack Vivian, unlike other sailors, didn't leave his wife home when he went to sea this week. She went with him.

★ ★ ★

Lt. (j.g.) Marcia Vivian, a WAVE nurse, was transferred to his ship, the submarine tender USS Nereus, from her regular duty station at the naval hospital in San Diego for a cruise to Pearl Harbor.

★ ★ ★

"I'm having a delightful time and enjoying the trip thoroughly," the Navy quoted her as saying.

Said he: "My shipmates will never let me off the hook about not being able to go to sea without my wife."

Britons Ignore Knocks at Twist and Shimmy On

LONDON (UPI)—Twist clubs are springing up all over Britain today despite warnings that the twist can cause spinal defects and is too "sexy" and "uncivilized" for Englishmen.

With everyone from the Duke of Windsor to singer Frankie Vaughan getting in on the American shimmy act, the twist is invading dance halls, fashionable West End London parties and English mansions.

"Let's get it straight," said The Daily Mirror, "all Britain is on the twist . . . "The way to wiggle out of your worries is being danced everywhere." The Mirror last week published pictures of the Duke of Windsor doing the twist in Paris.

Britons ignored London Dance Institute impresario Bernard Stetson who said it was "too sexy to be performed in Britain — it belongs in the African bush."

Coast Police Think Big Busting Pinball Machines

SAN JOSE, Calif. (UPI) — San Jose police, weary of wielding axes and sledge hammers, have hit upon a more modern method of destroying pinball machines illegally used for gambling.

Workers lined up 13 machines in the city dump Wednesday and drove a public works department bulldozer over them.

Short Day, Pay Hike Won by Electricians

NEW YORK (AP)—Union electricians have won a five-hour work day and a pay raise from 125 of the 600 electrical contractors they struck against a week ago.

There was no immediate indication of what effect the partial settlement would have on the decision of the city's building contractors to shut 80 per cent of the $1¼-billion annual industry because of the strike.

The shutdown—announced Monday by the Building Trades Employers Association which represents 1,000 contractors—technically went into effect at the end of work Wednesday.

Spacecraft to Shoot Close-Ups of Moon

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —The United States will try next week to send a Ranger 3 spacecraft on a 66-hour trip to the moon to take close-up pictures and land an instrument package to record moonquakes.

The launching, set for Monday, may kick off this nation's greatest week in the space age. The attempt to launch Astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. into orbit about the earth is scheduled for Wednesday, and on Wednesday or Thursday the Navy will try to boost aloft five satellites with a single rocket.

The Glenn and quintuple satellite firings have not been announced officially. But the National Aeronautics and Space Administration released details today on the Ranger moon shot.

Monday is the first day of a five-day period in which the moon —about 235,000 miles away—is in a favorable position for the launching. If the Atlas-Agena B booster rocket is not fired in this time, the shot will be postponed until the next optimum period, which occurs every 28 days.

'COMPLEX ASSIGNMENT'

Commenting on the odds for success, NASA said "the assignment is so complex" that it has "assigned three identical spacecraft to the task in the hope that one of the three will be successful." Rangers 4 and 5 are slated for launching later this year.

Rangers 1 and 2 were fired last fall to test techniques for the moon landing vehicles. Neither was aimed at the moon and each was only partially successful.

The 727-pound Ranger 3 is the first of a long series of vehicles the space agency plans to send toward the moon in the next few years to probe lunar mysteries in preparation for landing a man on the moon, hopefully by 1967.

If Ranger 3 is successful, it will produce the clearest — but still crude—pictures ever made of the moon and will mark the first landing of a "live" instrument package on the surface.

The Soviet Union successfully launched two lunar vehicles in 1959. On Sept. 13, Soviet scientists crashed Lunik II on the moon, but it relayed no data after striking. And on Oct. 4 they whirled Lunik III into a gigantic orbit around earth and moon and took the first pictures of the moon's farside.

TO RELAY PHOTOS

The Soviet moon pictures were taken from a distance of 37,284 miles. The television camera in Ranger 3 is to operate when the spacecraft reaches within 2,400 miles of the moon and continue photographing down to an altitude of 15 miles. The pictures will be relayed to NASA's jet propulsion laboratory facility at Goldstone, Calif.

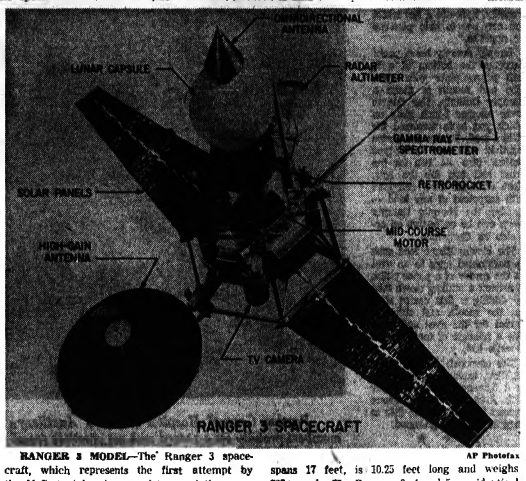
At 15 miles, Ranger 3 is to detach a 36-inch sphere. A small reverse rocket will fire to slow the speed of the ball from 6,080 miles per hour to about 80 m.p.h. before it hits the moon.

The main body of the spacecraft carrying the television equipment and a gamma ray detector will crash on the surface at 6,000 miles an hour and be destroyed.

The ball intended to land on the moon contains a 56.7-pound instrument capsule wrapped in a thick layer of balsa wood to absorb the shock of landing.

Inside the capsule is a seismometer and a radio transmitter designed to relay data to earth for 30 to 60 days. The highly sensitive seismometer will measure moonquakes and meteorite hits on the moon.



RANGER 3 MODEL—The Ranger 3 spacecraft, which represents the first attempt by the U. S. to take close-up pictures of the moon and to make measurements of the lunar surface, is shown in scale model. The spacecraft spans 17 feet, is 10.25 feet long and weighs 727 pounds. The Rangers 3, 4 and 5 are identical spacecraft which the National Aeronautics and Space Administration will launch during 1962. AP Photofax

March of Dimes Airlift Slated This Weekend

The New March of Dimes airlift, postponed earlier because of bad weather, will be held this Saturday and Sunday at the Pontiac Municipal Airport, Homer D. Hoskins, airport manager, announced.

Meanwhile, January has been proclaimed New March of Dimes Month by Mayor Philip E. Rowston.

All Tanks Leave Berlin Positions

Russian Vehicles Pull Out During Night, Same as American Ones

BERLIN (AP) — The U.S. Army started pulling its tanks back from the Berlin Wall Wednesday, and during the night the Russians removed theirs.

★ ★ ★

The breakup of the rival tank camps about a mile apart at the Friedrichstrasse crossing point was taken as a symptom of lessening tension in this divided city.

The Americans rushed up tanks to the wall last October during a dispute over Communist insistence that U.S. civilian officials show their credentials to East German guards when entering East Berlin.

The Russians matched the move and for more than three months the tanks and their crews were bivouacked within shooting distance of each other. No shots were fired, however.

★ ★ ★

The Americans said they were pulling back their armor to Tempelhof Airport—about a mile and a half from the Berlin Wall—to improve disposition of forces in the U.S. sector.

LOCATION UNKNOWN

The Soviet tanks quietly slipped out of their bivouac in the ruins of a former royal palace near the Unter Den Linden during the night, reliable sources said. It was not known whether they left East Berlin entirely or merely had taken up new positions farther inside the city.

In a new demonstration of Allied rights to the lifeline autobahn, a company of American troops today set out over the express highway for training in West Germany.

West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's office announced he will visit West Berlin in the near future. He is expected to stay only one day on a trip intended to reassert West Germany's political ties with West Berlin.

Salvation Army Gave Yule Aid to 1,721 Families

Of the 1,721 families who applied for Christmas aid through the Pontiac Area Christmas Clearing House, The Salvation Army was able to care for 1,027 groups this year, according to Capt. J. William Heaver.

★ ★ ★

Out of necessity the Salvation Army at 29 W. Lawrence St. had to send the remaining 696 families to various agencies and groups for aid. Some 737 toys were distributed to children, plus groceries to needy families.

★ ★ ★

Income from the Christmas Kettles provided the largest share of funds, totaling $6,368.36, with the sales from Pontiac Exchange Club amounting to $1,708.60, and private donations, $1,561.47, to aid a record number of families, Captain Heaver said.

Winter Sickroom Helps

What to Do After Doctor Comes

Winter is the time of year when colds, flu and other virus infections mean extra work for most mothers. Caring for a child who is sick, fretful and unhappy about having to stay in bed is trying at best. Keeping him amused is a problem that even mothers who are seasoned veterans at coping with sick children find difficult to solve.

★ ★ ★

Here are some suggestions to help lighten your workload in the sickroom and make the business of recuperation more pleasant for everybody.

Since one of the main problems in dealing with a sick child is getting him to eat properly, here are a few tricks you can use to help perk up his appetite.

Humpty dumpty lunch pack: Decorate the bottom of a 9-inch paper plate with eyes, nose and mouth to make a Humpty Dumpty. Use this to cover another 9-inch plate on which you have arranged the child's food. Fasten the plates together with four spring-type clothes pins — two for the arms and two for the legs. Most children are delighted with surprises of any kind — opening the Humpty Dumpty lunch can be as festive an occasion as Christmas.

The clown: Shape food such as scrambled eggs in an oval on the center of a paper plate. Construct a smiling clown face by adding a thin carrot strip for the mouth and chips of carrot for the eyes and nose. Use a triangle of toast for the clown's hat.

The carousel: Serve dessert pudding, tapioca or ice cream in a 5-ounce disposable paper dish. Arrange animal crackers around the edge of the dish to suggest a merry-go-round.

Making use of such common household items as paper cups, plates and clothespins, here are some easy-to-make toys that will keep your sick youngster occupied and happy for hours. Let him make them himself. Part of the fascination comes from using his own hands to build something that can't be bought in the store. All it takes is a little instruction and guidance from you, and the results will make the time you spend more than worthwhile.

Get-well doll: Push a clothespin through the bottom of a pleated paper water cup leaving just the top of the pin showing. Loop a pipe cleaner around the top indentation of the pin to make arms. Glue a small paper cloth bow on to the top of the pin. Draw eyes, nose and mouth on the head of the clothespin with ink.

Long distance telephones: Use two waxed paper cold drink cups and a long piece of string. Insert string through the bottom of each cup and knot the ends. Stretched taut the string will act as a conductor of sound to transmit conversations.

Cheer-up pictures: While or solid color paper plates, crayons and ribbon are the materials you need for this sickroom pastime. Have your patient draw and color pictures on the bottom of a paper plate, using the edges as a decorative frame. Fasten each completed "work of art" with ribbon and use it to decorate the walls of the sickroom. Youngsters will spend hours contemplating and admiring their own handiwork.

Medicine man necklace: Show your child how to string four or five paper nut cups on a length of colored ribbon, using knots to secure the cups in place. Making paper "jewelry" is another way to keep your patient occupied and happy during the critical and restless period of recuperation.

By keeping a sick youngster amused the business of recuperation can be more pleasant for all concerned. Challenge his imagination, showing him how to construct simple toys, as above, from such common household items as paper plates, cups and clothespins.

Highest amount ever earned from the project $4,479.99 was presented by check Wednesday afternoon to Harold B. Euler, hospital administrator, by Follies chairmen, Dr. and Mrs. Lynn D. Allen Jr. of Wenonah Drive. Funds will help purchase equipment at Pontiac General.

He'll Be Sorry, Says Abby

His Name: Mr. Milquetoast!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: How do you pick a "best man" for a wedding? I always thought the best man should be the groom's best friend. My son grew up with a certain young man in this town, and those boys were like brothers. That fellow was in my home as much as he was in his own.

ABBY

He is getting married and I know my son felt hurt when he wasn't asked to be best man. The "bride" asked her fiance to ask her brother (whom he doesn't even KNOW) to be best man because he is 6 feet 2 and will look better in the bridal party than my son, who is 5 feet 6. Can you beat that? I'd like your comments.

ABBY VERY HURT

DEAR ABBY: A man who has [illegible] has been [illegible] on the wrong foot. Look for a [illegible] one [illegible] for HER finger, the other for HIS nose.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: The other night my husband and I went to a party. The daughter of a very respected couple in town consented to baby sit for us. We paid her the standard sitter's wages.

Imagine my annoyance when I returned home and found that this teen-ager had spent the evening looking through my drawers, closets, correspondence, bank statements and other personal items.

The children were well taken care of, Abby, and nothing was missing. But I would like to know what makes a child from a good home behave like a sneak and Peeping Tom the minute she is left alone in another person's home.

UTTERLY FLABBERGASTED

DEAR UTTERLY: A combination of curiosity and immaturity causes people to snoop. This weakness is not limited to teen-agers. Many adults are similarly afflicted.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I snore very loudly. My husband has become used to it and he wakes me up only when it is so bad it shakes the bed. That hasn't happened very often.

My daughter, who lives in another city, is going to have a baby real soon, so I am going down to be with her. She has never been able to stand my snoring. Her house is small, and even sleeping in the next room doesn't help, as I am told the people next door have heard me snore.

What shall I do? I can't stay awake all night. And I don't want to keep my daughter up. If I get a room somewhere my daughter's feelings will be hurt.

HEAVY SNORER

DEAR SNORER: See an eye, ear, nose and throat doctor. Perhaps you have an obstruction that can be corrected. If not, I recommend beeswax ear plugs for those within hearing distance of your trumpeting.

★ ★ ★

How is the world treating you? Unload your problems on Abby, care of The Pontiac Press.

Town Hall Enjoys Humorist

Armour Delights Throng

By BETTY ANDERSON
Women's Editor
The Pontiac Press

Humorist-scholar Richard Armour delighted a full-house Pontiac-Oakland Town Hall audience Wednesday morning with his sparkling observations on a series of universal subjects that ran the gamut from witticisms on reading in bed to a punchy discourse on how women may hold the longevity record, but men keep their teeth longer.

Father of a teen-age boy and girl, this Scripps College dean and author of more than 500 pieces of light verse and prose commented wryly that his two teens provide him with a home laboratory for the study of adolescence, "that long-lasting disease that's never fatal."

After a recitation of the trials of tooth straightening endured for benefit of the Armour daughter, he said, "I could talk about my teen-age son, but this is to be a jolly morning, so we'll skip him."

In a tone of resignation, this author, who has works translated into French, German, Spanish, Dutch and Japanese, revealed his favorite TV fare to be boxing. However, he explained he's only permitted to watch this sport event during commercials within the program chosen for viewing by the rest of the family.

'TEXTBOOKS BETTER'

In a reference to book banning, he pointed out that George Elliot's "Silas Marner" was too moral to be banned. He added, "Of course, she wrote it while living in sin."

Armour closed the Huron Theater program with ironic verses suggesting a frozen locker as the "safest" kind of bomb shelter.

Dr. Dana P. Whitmer, superintendent of Pontiac Public schools introduced Armour.

During the informal afternoon discussion, Armour, who teaches a Chaucer course at Scripps College in California, divulged his dedication to that English author by revealing that he named his own son, Geoffrey. The name is borne much to that young man's dismay, he reported.

Author of many books, two new volumes, "Golf Is a Four Letter Word" and a self-styled almanac using little - known historical facts will soon be in print.

Area Folks' Last Stand to Feature Hot Dogs

By MARY ELLEN MEAD

BIRMINGHAM — For a number of years, the heavily wooded vacant lot next to the James E. Montgomery house on Westchester Way has been used as a pastoral annex to their own carefully manicured back yard. Last week a "For Sale" sign went up on the property threatening, among other things, elimination of cook out nights for the Montgomerys.

A valiant last stand will be taken Sunday afternoon, when guests have been invited to rally 'round a huge bonfire, roast hot dogs and partake of bubbling chili.

Among those to be on hand, preceding the advent of bulldozers and steam shovels, will be Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Boyd, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Riley, Mr. and Mrs. John Henry, Mr. and Mrs. James Moore, the Louis Kemps, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Nickel, the William Bonds and Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Fuller.

The Fullers, also of Westchester Way, are looking ahead to more festivity when they leave Feb. 18 for Point Nipigon, summer resort on the Straits of Mackinac.

Former Detroiters Mr. and Mrs. Jack Keeby, who now make Nipigon their year-round home, will be hosts over the long weekend to the Fullers, Mr. and Mrs. George Kirchner and the David Greenes. Mrs. Keeby's birthday is the incentive for what has become an annual trek.

Capsule comment:

Mrs. Newman Guthrie, of Bardstown, Ky., will arrive the end of this month to spend several days with her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Bethel B. Kelley, of Henley Drive. She will be joined here by her son Newman who is a law student in Ann Arbor . . .

Catching up on their darning and mending Monday were members of Mrs. Frank O. Riley's sewing club. Group has been meeting for luncheon once a month for the past four years. Included are Mrs. Robert Cudwell, Mrs. Clem Ludden, Mrs. Samuel Richards and Mrs. Robert G. Peters, Jr. . . .

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Brown, of Ardmore Road, will be hosts Saturday at a cocktail party in their home . . . .

★ ★ ★

Heard at assembly last Saturday night, when it was announced the next dance (for eighth and ninth graders) was to be a beatnik costume party: "Gee," from one member of the stag line to another, "do you think my hair will grow long enough by Feb. 24?"

Take Up Slack

If your youngster's snow boots are just a bit too long right now, you can add to their life by tucking tissues in the toes to take up the excess room. This will lessen scuff damage.

★ ★ ★

Mr. and Mrs. John Collins of Northwood Drive, Orchard Lake, are parents of a son, Matthew Scott, born Dec. 31 in Pontiac General Hospital.

The Pat Bellows of Beachland Boulevard and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Collins of Keego Harbor are the baby's grandparents. Mrs. Lawrence Haire of South Marshall Street is maternal great-grandmother.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter G. Jensen (Juliamae Brown) of Oliver Street announce the recent birth of a daughter, Jeri Lynn at Pontiac General Hospital.

The infant's grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Merle Brown of Oliver Street and Walter S. Jensen of Maceday Lake Road.

University Group Has Anniversary

Pontiac Branch, American Association of University Women, observed its 25th anniversary Monday evening in the Community Services Building.

An account of the organizational meeting of the local branch in the home of Mrs. Frank J. DuFrain 25 years ago, was read.

State President, Mrs. Conrad Johnson, spoke concerning "The Role of the AAUW Women in the Community."

Mrs. Tom Reese, president, introduced Mrs. E. J. Wilczak who is organizing a new branch in Rochester.

Club members will attend a performance of the play "Miracle Worker" Feb. 8 at the Shubert Theater in Detroit. Proceeds will aid the group's Marie Jones fellowship fund. Tickets may be obtained from Mrs. John Bills, Mrs. Thomas Hollis or Mrs. Donald McMillen.

Special guests were past presidents, Doris Haynes and Beth Horner McVean, who are charter members. Mrs. Clarence Huemiller, Mrs. Olive Burgess, Mrs. E. J. Peterson, Mrs. Olin Thomas and Mrs. Bills. Mrs. Jessie Snyder and Margaret Steward also were among charter members present.

From the Birmingham branch were Mary Laurimore, Doris Mosher, Augusta Weir, Mary Germanson, Bonnye Howell, Elizabeth Sneed, Harriette Hunter and Billee Keeler. The Fenton and Flint branches sent congratulations.

Assisting Mrs. McVean, social chairman for the occasion, were Mrs. Arthur Lake, Mary Heitsch, Martha Horton, Ada Kirke, Mrs. Ada McDonald, Mrs. Wayne McMeans, Mrs. William Parker, Mrs. Leslie Purstow and Lulu McGregor.

Church Women Hear Talks on Rescue Mission

Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Herrand, who work at the Pontiac Rescue Mission on South Saginaw Street, spoke to Joslyn Avenue United Presbyterian Church Women's Association Wednesday evening. Members gathered in MacAllister Hall for 1962's first bimonthly meeting.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Robert Dunham, program chairman, introduced the Herrands who told of their experiences at the mission since its organization in 1943 when it was located on Patterson Street.

★ ★ ★

Slides were shown by Mr. Herrand who added that 26 churches are now helping to support the men's center which soon will seek new headquarters because of Pontiac's urban renewal project.

Mrs. Fred Bohlman, association president, poured coffee during the social hour which concluded the program.

Youth of the Nation Agree on Greatest

Top President? Lincoln--in South, Too

BY EUGENE GILBERT
President,
Gilbert Youth Research, Inc.

With malice toward none, teenagers in the South and North alike hold Abraham Lincoln in highest regard among all of America's Presidents.

As to which of our past Presidents did the most to further democratic ideals, however, southern young people favor Thomas Jefferson slightly while northerners remain with Lincoln.

Second place choices are interesting also.

In the North, 13 per cent of the teen-agers hold Dwight Eisenhower next in regard to Lincoln (who is the favorite of 45 per cent). President Kennedy is third with 12 per cent. In the South, President Kennedy is second with 29 per cent (to 32 per cent for Lincoln) and Eisenhower third with 13 per cent.

We learned these and other facts about the political and historic thinking of America's young people in a cross country survey of more than 1,000 young people.

They are eager to vote at an earlier age than 21, but they see little difference between the Republican and Democratic parties.

Three-quarters of the boys and two-thirds of the girls do not think a woman ever should be President. Two-thirds of the boys and nearly half of the girls think we would be worse off right now if a woman were in the White House.

"It would be bad for our prestige," said 14-year-old Alan Gould of Portland, Wash.

Shirley Merrill, 17, of Sioux Falls, S.D., took a similar view. "In other countries women are inferior," she reasoned, "and we would be laughed at."

However, 37 per cent of both boys and girls felt a woman some day would be President, and of this group 48 per cent thought they would live to see the day. Some of their reasons, however, were slightly cynical.

"It will happen just before World War III," said B. Sunde, 16, of Faribault, Minn.

Of all forms of government other than democracy, America's teenagers say they are most familiar with communism (32 per cent), dictatorships (20 per cent) and socialism (14 per cent).

They are well aware of what democratic government means, and some of the descriptions were particularly cogent.

"Democracy," said 16-year-old Marsha Leavitt of Fort Smith, Ark., "means a place where people rule, support and decide things themselves, under laws they have made."

GIRLS LIKE ROYALTY

Eighty-nine per cent of the girls were in favor of it, and 84 per cent of the boys were just as strongly opposed.

Those opposed to such a setup generally did so for the reason expressed by 16-year-old Colleen M. Allister of Crossett, Ark. "It makes two people seem better than anyone else in the country," she said.

★ ★ ★

Fifty-five per cent of the teenagers said they felt there were no great differences betwen the Republican and Democratic parties. In fact, 17-year-old Gary Scott of Sioux Falls felt the differences weren't enough to justify two parties.

★ ★ ★

Apparently anxious to take a more active part in democratic government, 68 per cent of the teen-agers felt the voting age should be lowered in their states. Most (80 per cent) suggested 18 as the proper age, though 15 per cent of the boys felt it should be as low as 16.

Exchange Student Addresses Xi Pi

Fourteen members of Xi Pi Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority met at the Hammond Lake home of Mrs. Enar West Tuesday evening. Mrs. Harold Cousins assisted the hostess.

Speaker was Peter Garels, a German exchange student under American Field Service, who is now attending Pontiac Northern High School. He gave his impression of and experiences with the American way of life and contrasted them to those of his native country.

Mrs. William B. Thomas, Peter's Foster mother here, was a guest of the sorority for the evening.

Pillar Club Has Dinner Meeting

The Pillar Club met Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Earl Treadwell on Lakeward Lane. Assisting in the dinner and program arrangements were Mrs. Arthur W. Selden, Mrs. Phillip Vieriech and Mrs. Fred Voelker.

Mrs. Vieriech presented devotions based on Dr. Norman Vincent Peale's message "A New Life to Start a New Year."

To a backround of Mexican music, Mrs. C. A. Addison presented colored slides of "A Trip to Mexico" with taped comments by her husband.

Officers for the coming year are Mrs. Voelker, president; Mrs. Selden, vice president; Mrs. Frederick Holmes, recording secretary; Mrs. Vieriech, treasurer and Beulah Phillips, corresponding secretary.

Serving on committees will be Mrs. E. C. Russell, publicity; Mrs. Treadwell, Mrs. William H. Knudsen, Mrs. Ray Meiser and Mrs. Voelker, hospitality.

Mrs. Claude Shoup, Mrs. B. G. Campbell, Mrs. Fred Conners, Mrs. John Morrison, Mrs. Frank Kirby and Mrs. Floyd Smith comprise the telephone committee.

To Celebrate Anniversary

The Ray Slaughters' home in Colonial Hills will be the scene of an open house Sunday celebrating their 25th wedding anniversary.

Hosts will be Mr. and Mrs. Leland Castor and the Roy Castors.

Frank Slaughter will join his parents for the occasion, with friends and relatives from Flint, Dearborn, Utica, Rochester, Bloomfield Hills, Pontiac and Dayton, Ohio.

GOP Women to Hear Talks

Charles L. Lyle, Oakland County Republican chairman, and Mrs. Elly Peterson, state Republican vice chairman, will be guest speakers for the second annual meeting and luncheon of the Oakland County Council of Republican Women's Clubs Thursday, Jan. 25.

New council officers will be installed by Mrs. Peterson at the, 12:15 affair in Devon Gables. Officers of individual women's clubs which comprise the council also will be installed.

Over 800 invitations have been sent to club members, Republican legislators and their wives, along with special guests and Oakland County con-con delegates and their wives.

Reservations can be made through Monday by calling Republican Headquarters.

Eastern Star Chapter Initiates 2 to Order

Areme Chapter, No. 503, Order of the Eastern Star, initiated Mrs. Kathleen Fisher and Nancy Newcomb into the order at a special meeting in Roosevelt Masonic Temple.

Past matrons and past patrons introduced were Mrs. Theron Taylor, Mrs. Sidney Fellows, Mrs. Victor Bodamer, the William C. Pfahlerts, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Oles, Christian Hornbeck, Norton R. Graham, Royal Clark and Harry Eaton.

Serving on hospitality were Mr. and Mrs. Oles, Mrs. Edward Moden, Mrs. Gladys Holliman, Mrs. Earmon Howard and Mrs. Bodamer.

TO BE GUESTS

Special guests at the various county chapters' Friends Night will be Mrs. George Eldred at Hazel Park and Commerce, Mrs. Daniel Peterson at Royal Oak and Mrs. Harry Eaton, South Lyon and Farmington.

Melvin Patterson, worthy patron, announced a new proficiency class at 7:30 p.m. Monday in his home.

Refreshments were served to the members by Mrs. Loring Downs, Mrs. Albert Kugler, Mrs. Herbert Blom and Mrs. George Brash.

Among members busy with plans for the annual card party Jan. 31 in Roosevelt Temple are Mrs. Bodamer, general chairman; Mrs. Harry Vernon, cochairman; Mrs. Harry Eaton, Mrs. Howard and Mrs. Melvin Patterson, tickets.

Foursquare Club Holds Game Night

The hostess served refreshments during the social hour which followed an evening of games and a business meeting.

Marathon 'First Aids'

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Here I am with a few more first aids for those of you who want to lose weight, especially those of you who are following my 8-Week Self-Improvement Marathon.

1. Once you decide to lose those extra pounds, do not give in at all. Let the chips fall where they may, with friends and foes alike. Don't tell them what you are doing. Just say that you have a tummy ache, or have a blood cholesterol level which frightens both you and your doctor.

If you give in here and there on a short term reducing diet, you are sunk. For instance, on my 9-Day Reducing Diet you cannot take any liberties if you wish the diet to do what it can for you.

If you are following my 8-Week Self-Improvement Marathon for a loss of 15 to 20 pounds in eight weeks, you cannot take MANY liberties. If you take ANY you probably will take TOO many!

2. You may experience a few hunger pangs during the first 10 days of your diet. Remember that if you are overweight, you have been eating more than you need, and that those layers of fat must supply some of your energy requirements if you are to lose weight. When you eat more than you need, your stomach becomes stretched and it takes a little time for it to return to normal size.

3. If you crave sweets, eat fresh fruit, especially some of the sweeter variety. You also can have one or two small pieces of hard candy after dinner. SMALL!

4. You can have celery and carrot sticks in between meals. These are filling and their calorie count is negligible.

EXERCISE

5. You should exercise while dieting. It will redistribute your weight more attractively.

6. Look up the calorie count in cocktails. While the calories from alcohol are not stored as fat but are burned up rapidly, these provide energy which otherwise would have come from those fatty deposits you wish to lose.

If you missed my 8-Week Self-Improvement Marathon and would like to lose from 15 to 20 pounds in the next eight weeks, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for the Marathon booklet to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Not the twist, but almost as much fun. It's a good idea to do this exercise while dieting. Keep knees straight and shoulders still as you move hips to the left as far as possible. Tighten seat, abdomen, thigh muscles. Now, shift to the right. This will trim the thighs.

No Working Wives Not Jobless Answer

By RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Labor Secretary Goldberg's mail bag is heavy these days with letters suggesting ways to cure unemployment. The idea that crops up most often is that in families where the husband has a full time job his wife shouldn't be allowed to work.

The only thing working wives would need to do to prove what a lame-brain idea this is would be to stage a week's appreciation strike.

If all the married women in the country whose husband's have full time jobs ever decided to take a week's vacation" — all at the same time — the country would be in a real mess.

For while the majority of working wives aren't holding down executive positions, an awful lot of them are making it possible for the nation's executives to look good.

Being settled in her home life, the working wife is usually settled in her job, too. And so she stays with one boss or one firm long long enough to make herself — if not indispensable— at least mighty important, to the running of the office she works in.

★ ★ ★

Everybody knows what happens in a home when the woman of the house has to be away for awhile. All the thousand and one little things that a housewife does routinely just don't get done, and living becomes pretty makeshift.

Let the married working women of the country all step out of the jobs for a week — and office routine wouldn't fare much better.

And that's just part of the story. Think what a recession we would have if all the two-income families suddenly became one-income families. The working wife in most families isn't tucking her pay check away in a savings account. It's going to buy all the things that give work to men — homes, automobiles, furniture, appliances and all sorts of things the family couldn't have on one pay check.

Men—there is good advice for the years in Ruth Millett's booklet, "Happier Wives (hints for husbands)." Just send 25 cents to Ruth Millett Reader Service, in care of The Pontiac Press, P. O. Box 489, Dept. A, Radio City Station, New York 19, N.Y.

Attentions Should Be Divided

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: My parents are divorced and both are contributing toward my wedding. I know you have said that it is not proper for the divorced parents' names to appear together on the invitations. However, I am sure my father, who has been very good to me, will be deeply hurt if he is not mentioned.

Would it be proper to have two sets of invitations made up — one in my mother's name and one in my father's name, each sending them to their own list of friends and relatives?

A: It would be very improper for your divorced parents to send out joint wedding invitations and your idea of two sets of invitations would be less improper but would be very confusing if some friends of your parents received invitations to your wedding in your mother's name and others in your father's name.

Properly your invitations should be in your mother's name alone and of course your father would give you away.

Q: When presenting a new member of our sewing group to as many as a dozen others, is it sufficient just to give her name and not give the names of all the others?

A: Such an introduction as this usually is made by first attracting the attention of the group by saying, "I'd like all of you to meet Mrs. Jones." Then you merely tell her their names in the order each one happens to be in.

Q: When going to visit a friend in the afternoon and you find that she has other guests, is it proper for the unexpected visitor to stay, or should she take her leave as soon as possible?

A: If they are playing bridge, or seem to have been having a conversation that you are interrupting, you should make some excuse and leave. But if the conversation is general and you are made welcome, you may stay.

Dee Purcello, bowling champion, is the personification of grace and beauty. She believes that rhythm, timing and coordination are bowling's three most important elements.

For Fun and Figure

Bowling's a Real Ball

By SHARON KAY RITCHIE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Grace gives women an edge over men in bowling.

In the words of the ancient poet, women have "a sweet attractive kind of assurance."

Strength is less important than rhythm, which is the very foundation of physical grace. This is one of the reasons women have taken to the lanes in such numbers.

"I feel that rhythm, timing and coordination are the three most important elements in bowling," says Dee. "Timing and coordination can be sharpened and developed through practice. Rhythm, which makes a bowler's style smooth, can be improved by practice."

Once a ball begins in the pendulum arc—down, back, forward—it is doing most of the work. You are guiding it.

The delivery, as you have been taught, is uncomplicated — ball out on the first step, down on the second, back on the third and forward to the release and follow through on the fourth step.

This is the essence of simplicity, and as Plato pointed out, "Beauty of style and harmony and grace and good rhythm depend on simplicity."

Cherry-Wine Gelatine Is Simple, Elegant Mold

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Cherry gelatine gets an added zing when red wine is used as part of the liquid. This may be a glamorous salad or a light dessert. If you serve it as the latter, you may want to add a garnish of whipped cream.

* * *

Mrs. Elsmer Kreeger is today's cook. Sewing and antiques are her hobbies.

CHERRY WINE GELATINE
By Mrs. Elsmer Kreeger

2 packages cherry gelatine
1 can Bing cherries, drained
1 cup boiling water
¾ cup red wine

There are only 3½ cups of liquid in this recipe.

Pour boiling water over gelatine and add wine. Add cherry juice and enough cold water to make 1¾ cups of cold liquid. Chill to the thickness of egg white. Fold in drained cherries. Pour into 8 individual molds and chill until set.

Parents to Hear Psychology Talk

Mark Twain Elementary School's Parent-Teacher Association will meet 7:30 this evening to hear Dr. Andrew Yang, practicing psychologist and director of Oakland County Juvenile Court's clinic, discuss "Emotional Problems of Normal Children."

Interested area parents will be welcome at the meeting in the school's multipurpose room.

New Sorority Unit Meets at Evans Home

A new Beta Theta Phi Sorority unit, Delta Chapter, was organized Tuesday evening when Alpha Chapter met at the Dover Road home of Mrs. Hubert E. Evans.

* * *

Members of the new chapter initiated were Pamela Terry, Cynthia Terry, Judy Hamilton, Janice Logie, JoAnn Crawford, Cynthia Hanse and Karen Buchmann. Officers elected were Miss Hamilton, president; Pamela Terry, vice president; Miss Crawford, secretary; Miss Buchmann, treasurer; and Cynthia Terry, conductress.

* * *

Mrs. Frank Coad, general chairman for Alpha Chapter's annual banquet, slated for Feb. 14 at Hotel Waldron, announced committee chairmen. They are Mrs. Glenn Grim, place; Mrs. Homer Tinney, program; and Mrs. U. L. Meeker, decorations, assisted by Mrs. Charles H. Kreher, Mrs. Leon Reene and Mrs. R. J. Stanton. New chapter members will be guests at the affair.

RICE BAVARIAN — Toasted pecans put this rice Bavarian cream in the glamor class. Rice "pudding" will be a favorite dessert in your household, once you have treated the family to this smooth, creamy molded dessert.

Swiss Cheese Flavors Stuffed Potatoes

Stuffed Baked Potatoes

4 medium-sized mealy baking potatoes (1¾ pounds)
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
1/3 cup hot milk
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon white pepper
¼ cup grated Swiss cheese (packed down)
1 egg (beaten until thick and pale colored)
paprika

Bake potatoes in moderate or hot oven until soft through; cut in half lengthwise. Scoop out potato pulp and put through a ricer; mix in butter, hot milk, salt, pepper and cheese. Beat in egg.

Spoon back into 4 to 6 of the half shells. Run tines of fork lengthwise over potatoes to groove; dust with paprika. Reheat in hot (450 degrees) oven until tops are lightly browned — 15 to 20 minutes. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Low Calorie Line Goes From Soup to Nuts

NEW YORK (UPI) — A new line of low-calorie foods includes 58 items — everything from chicken a la king and tuna newburg to welsh rarebit and chocolate topping. Other products are fruit drinks and soups, meat dishes, dressings, gravies, sauces, fruits, desserts, jellies, preserves and sweeteners.

* * *

High protein main dishes are prepared with specially chosen low-fat meats processed to remove all possible remaining fat.

Plentiful Pecans Toasted Before Use in Dessert

Bring on your handsomest china when Toasted Pecan Rice Bavarian is the dessert feature. This elegant dessert is a molded creamy rice and toasted-pecan combination which is prepared in advance for splendid party service.

* * *

Rice which is the satisfying basis for this wonderful deep flavored dessert is an around-the-clock favorite. It is a hearty breakfast cereal, a luncheon entree combination or a dinner accompaniment for meat or poultry. Or, it is the basis for a glamorous dessert such as this Toasted Pecan Rice Bavarian.

Extra joy of serving this festive dessert is the fact that it can be prepared in advance for easy unmolding on the day of the party. Because rice holds in the refrigerator beautifully, you may plan to cook extra rice when preparing another dish to make even simpler the preparation of this dessert.

Toasted Pecan Rice Bavarian

½ cup broken pecans
1 tablespoon unflavored gelatin
¾ cup dark brown sugar
¾ teaspoon salt
½ cup evaporated milk
½ pint whipping cream
1 teaspoon vanilla flavoring
2 cups cold cooked rice
Whipped cream
Whole pecans

Toast pecans in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for 5 minutes. Soften gelatin in ¼ cup water. Stir softened gelatin, brown sugar and salt into ½ cup hot water until dissolved. Add evaporated milk. Chill until partially set. Beat smooth.

Whip cream with vanilla until stiff. Fold rice and pecans into gelatin mixture, then the whipped cream. Pour into 4 cup mold. Chill till firm. Unmold and garnish with whipped cream and whole pecans. Yield: 8 servings.

Frankfurter Pennies

Slices of frankfurters add heartiness to a supper soup like potato soup or corn chowder. Slice the franks in one-inch thick coins and heat them with the soup during the last few minutes of cooking time, recommends the American Meat Institute.

Liver and Onions but How Different

Liver With Crisp Onions

4 large slices (¼-inch thick) liver (1¼ pounds)
6 tablespoons butter
1½ teaspoons vinegar
¼ cup minced parsley
1 can (3½ ounces) French fried onions

* * *

Remove skin and cut away any tubes near edges of liver. In a large heavy skillet, melt 2 tablespoons of the butter; brown and cook liver in it, 2 slices at a time if necessary. Remove liver and keep warm; wipe skillet clean.

Add remaining 4 tablespoons butter and vinegar; heat until a light brown color, watching and stirring so as not to scorch. Pour butter over liver; sprinkle with parsley. Meanwhile heat onions according to can directions; sprinkle over liver. Makes 4 servings.

Pecans in Sandwiches

Run out of sandwich ideas for school lunches? The U. S. Department of Agriculture suggests you try a chopped pecan-cream cheese mixture spread between slices of brown bread or tuna, egg, ham, chicken or turkey salad touched up with chopped pecans and spread on buttered whole or cracked wheat bread. Try it soon while pecans are plentiful.

International Cookbook Now a Paperback

NEW YORK, N.Y. — The World-Wide Restaurant Cookbook by Charlotte Adams in cooperation with Scandinavian Airlines System is now available in paperback edition.

This unique and unusual cookbook combines the favorite recipes from world-famous restaurants in 38 countries with short descriptions of the originating restaurant — its decor, cuisine, location and meal prices.

Besides serving the globe-trotter with an unerring guide to the world's finest restaurants, this cookbook makes available a complete collection of cosmopolitan recipes for the home gourmet in search of distinctive cuisine.

The restaurants covered in the book range from Europe, the Far East and the Middle East to the United States, Canada and Alaska.

All the gourmet's tastes, whether they be for Makedonska Brozola (pork stuffed with cheese) from the famous Balkan Grill in Vienna or for Chicken Kabob done in the traditional way of the Embassy in New Delhi, India, are contained in the pages of this world-wide cookbook.

Curry Contains Number of Spices

MADRAS EGG CURRY — One of the many delightful things you can do with curry powder is season an' egg curry. Curry powder is a blend of many different aromatic spices. In India the women still grind these spices fresh every day.

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

If you can't think of anything else to be thankful for today, be glad you're not a homemaker in India. Among all the conveniences she doesn't have that you do have is prepared curry powder. She must grind the spices fresh every day.

* * *

As you probably know, curry is a mixture of spices. It is one of the oldest seasonings with which we work. Curries vary from country to country and even in India, there are hundreds of variations. Curry means a richly spiced sauce.

Curry powder lends itself to many foods. We would suggest that if you are unfamiliar with it, you use it sparingly until you find out how much you like. Like most spices and herbs, too much will overpower the food.

To show you the versatility of curry, we've rounded up some intriguing recipes for you to try.

The first one is for a curry sauce to serve with rice and hard-cooked eggs. You may want to repeat this when Lent comes along later this year.

Madras Egg Curry

1 tablespoon instant minced onion
½ teaspoon instant minced garlic
1 tablespoon water
1 tablespoon shortening or cooking oil
2 teaspoons curry powder
1 tablespoon tomato paste
¾ cup water
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon fresh lemon juice
6 hard-cooked eggs

Soften instant minced onion and instant minced garlic in the 1 tablespoon water. Saute in shortening or cooking oil along with curry powder, 3 to 4 minutes. Add tomato paste and water. Cook 3 to 4 minutes. Add salt and lemon juice. Stir and cook until the gravy is of medium thickness, about 1 minute.

Peel hard-cooked eggs, cut in half lengthwise and add. Heat. Serve with rice. Yield: 5 servings.

* * *

Meat balls are removed from the ordinary class when coriander, cumin and mustard are added to the beef and a curry sauce is passed at the table.

KOFTAH CURRY
(Curried Meat Balls)

2 tablespoons instant minced onion
2 tablespoons water
2 pounds twice-ground lean beef
2 eggs
2 teaspoons ground coriander
1 teaspoon ground cumin seed
½ teaspoon powdered mustard
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon garlic powder
3 tablespoons flour
Curry sauce
¾ cup undiluted evaporated milk
1 teaspoon fresh lemon juice

Soften instant minced onion in water. Add to ground beef along with eggs, spices, salt and flour. Mix well and shape into 1½-inch balls. Brown on all sides in hot cooking oil or shortening.

Remove from fat and add to Curry Sauce. Cook gently 5 minutes. Add evaporated milk and heat. Stir in lemon juice just before serving. Serve with rice and vegetable. Makes 6 servings.

Curry Sauce

Soften ½ cup onion flakes in 1/3 cup water. Cook in ¼ cup hot vegetable oil or shortening until onions begin to brown, about 5 minutes. Stir in 3 teaspoons curry powder, 2 teaspoons ground coriander, ½ teaspoon each garlic powder and red pepper. Stir and cook 3 minutes. Add 2 teaspoons salt and 2½ cups water. Cook, uncovered, 10 minutes or until sauce is of medium thickness.

Another meat that takes well to curry is lamb. By using economical lamb shoulder you'll have a hearty main dish that will help balance the budget.

Lamb Macaroni Curry

1 tablespoon salad oil
2 pounds lamb shoulder, diced
1/3 cup chopped onions
3 cups hot water
2½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon thyme
2 tablespoons all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons curry powder
¼ cup cold water
1 tablespoon salt
3 quarts boiling water
2 cups elbow macaroni (8 ounces)

Heat oil over low heat; add lamb and onions and cook until lamb is well browned. Add 3 cups hot water, 2½ teaspoons salt and thyme; cover and cook over low heat until lamb is tender, about 1½ hours. Combine flour, curry powder and ¼ cup water; mix well and add to lamb mixture. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until thickened.

Add 1 tablespoon salt to 3 quarts rapidly boiling water, gradually add macaroni so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander. Combine macaroni and lamb curry. Mix well and serve. Makes 4-6 servings.

Curry is not limited to eggs and meat. It can dress up a vegetable like cauliflower. This is an authentic recipe from northern India.

Curried Cauliflower and Mushrooms

3 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 cup sliced fresh mushrooms
¾ teaspoon ground cumin
⅛ teaspoon ground black pepper
4 teaspoons ground coriander
1 teaspoon ground turmeric
3 tablespoons water
1 large head cauliflower (about 2½ pounds)
2 tablespoons instant sliced onion
1 bay leaf
2¼ teaspoons salt
¼ cup water

Heat butter or margarine until bubbling. Add sliced mushrooms and saute lightly. Blend cumin, black pepper, coriander and turmeric with 3 tablespoons water. Add to mushrooms and blend, stirring constantly over low heat for 2 minutes, or until spices have been cooked.

Add cauliflower broken into flowerets, sliced onion, bay leaf, salt and water. Mix thoroughly. Cover tightly and cook 10 to 15 minutes, or until just tender. Makes 5-10 servings.

Potato soup with curry will be a pale gold color.

Curried Potato Soup

3 cups diced raw potatoes
2½ cups boiling water
3 chicken or beef bouillon cubes
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon instant minced garlic
1¾ teaspoons curry powder
3 tablespoons instant minced onion
2 cups milk
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
¼ teaspoon ground black pepper

* * *

Combine potatoes, water, bouillon cubes, salt, instant minced garlic, curry powder and instant minced onion. Cover and cook until potatoes fall apart, 40 to 50 minutes. Remove from heat and mash potatoes in the liquid. If necessary put mixture through a sieve. Add milk, butter or margarine and black pepper. Heat only until hot. Yield: 5 cups or 6 servings.

Cold Weather Influences Produce Supply, Price

Winter went berserk, and the deep freeze in Texas last week erased its citrus crop. This is a major disaster for many producers and results will be felt in prices you will pay for citrus for the balance of 1962 and longer. A seven-day shipping moratorium went into effect to protect against moving any damaged fruit.

Leaf and root crops in Texas are severely damaged and some are a total loss. The cold dipping into Florida, California and Arizona — harvesting areas at this season — damaged and delayed maturing of some vegetables in these spots. Winter weather has further reduced fresh fruit and vegetable supplies and you can expect increasing prices for those available.

Weather is also influencing the quantity of meat animals arriving for slaughter. Most retailers report that wholesale meat prices are steady to higher. We are fortunate that retail meat prices do not fluctuate as much as day to day or week to week prices of live animals arriving at market.

Shoppers will find some cuts of both red meats and poultry featured in many stores this week. Ground beef, blade chuck and standing rib are beef cuts to check. Both fresh and smoked ham and bacon are listed at special prices in the pork department. Lightweight veniers show up at special prices in some stores, while lamb cuts are the big attraction in others. Both fryers and turkeys are marked at lower prices than a week ago in most stores.

Produce buyers indicate that prices on beans, squash, cucumbers and tomatoes are erratic and high. They also report that celery, broccoli, spinach, onions, lettuce and cabbage prices are higher.

Looking on the bright side, there are many good values in the produce department, despite weather influence. Potatoes are in abundant supply and most are 3 to 8 cents per pound (a pound serves 3 persons). Sweet potatoes are 13 to 17½ cents per pound in many stores, which is less than usual for this season.

Apples, Florida oranges and grapefruit, and bananas are fresh fruits to keep on the shopping list. Although banana imports are lighter, retail prices are very comparable to other fruits.

If your cupboards can use green or wax beans, tomatoes, corn, peas, apple sauce, fruit cocktail, soup, pineapple juice or peaches, check the canned foods listed this week. Several frozen vegetables and meat pies are marked for special emphasis.

* * *

Egg prices are much the same as a week ago. The large size at 49 to 53 cents a dozen is a slightly better value than most other sizes when a comparison is made on a price per pound basis. Egg prospects for 1962 show that supplies will be a little larger than in 1961, and prices should average a little lower.

The frozen fish department offers more variety each year, and price ranges from thrifty to expensive, depending upon your choice. Comparing cost with other proteins is easy when you consider that a pound of frozen fish fillets serves three people.

Saucy Accent for Sprouts

Brussels Sprouts and Orange Sauce

4 packages (10-ounces each) frozen Brussels sprouts, OR
2 pounds (2 quarts) fresh Brussels sprouts, OR
4 10-ounce cartons fresh Brussels sprouts
2 tablespoons cornstarch
2 cups fresh orange juice
¼ cup melted butter or margarine
1½ teaspoons grated orange rind
½ teaspoon mace
¼ teaspoon salt
Orange slices for garnish

* * *

Cook frozen Brussels sprouts according to package directions; drain if necessary. If fresh Brussels sprouts are used, cook, covered, in 1-inch boiling salted water 10 to 15 minutes until just tender; drain.

* * *

Meanwhile, combine cornstarch and orange juice; stir until well blended. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until thickened and clear. Mix in melted butter or margarine, orange rind, mace and salt. Pour over Brussels sprouts. Garnish with orange slices, as desired. Makes 10-12 servings.

Literary Quarterly Meant for 'Main Street' Culture

He Hears Voice of the Individual in a World of Art

By JACK EADIE
Feature Editor, Midland News
Written for the AP

SAGINAW — A spirit of individualism and the blossoming of grass roots culture as a means for a better way of life are what Robert Bassil of Saginaw seeks for America.

Last year he deserted a $10,000 a year job to pursue his ideals by founding "Voices," a literary quarterly that touches on several of the arts and provides a window to a wide range of intellect.

It was started without the backing of a college or university, foundation or advertising revenue.

"Voices is most concerned with people's participation and understanding of the arts. We want to educate the people to the potential of the arts," says Bassil.

* * *

Bassil was born in England and served with the British army in India.

In 1953 he took a job selling British-made office machines and came to New York. Later he moved to Chicago and traveled seven Midwestern states.

Then, in Chicago, it came to him. One day on a drive through the industrial district of the city "I was suddenly stricken with the huge power of America. It seemed that America could do anything it wanted," said Bassil.

TAKES 'GUTS, ABILITY'

"Here in the United States you have the potential to do what you like if you've got the guts and ability," Bassil said.

Why did Bassil settle in the Midwest?

"I asked myself, 'Where is Main Street U.S.A.?' I wanted to see where the average man was," said Bassil.

"Michigan is the key state in the mechanization of the world. And here, we now have the potential of an age of leisure with automation."

* * *

Bassil also was influenced by A. H. Whitehead, who as early as 1935 declared: "The only place I know where European men can still create civilization on a grand scale is in the American Midwest . . . man's best thinking is done by persons living in the country or in small communities."

"These," said Bassil, "are some of the reasons why 'Voices' came into being."

East, West Cooperate in Search for Thieves

BERLIN (AP)—In a rare case of cooperation, West and East German authorities were working together today to try to end an outbreak of thefts on the East German Railway System in West Berlin.

* * *

So far West German police, working with an East German railway official, have arrested one junk dealer on suspicion of receiving stolen goods. East Germany by agreement runs the elevated train system in West Berlin.

Proportion of U.S. residents over age 65 has more than doubled since 1900 and amounts to about 10 per cent of the total population.

Bassil asserts that machines have become our masters.

The practice of the arts, Bassil forecasts, can bring the income to individuals and society which is being lost through automation.

TO PROMOTE TALENTS

The development of natural human gifts would inevitably lead to the development of thousands of institutions across the country to house and promote flourishing individual and group talents, he believes.

This, in turn, would mean employment for architects, builders, furnishers, artists and instructors, Bassil says.

The important result, he contends, would be the exchange of ideas between people.

* * *

Another point Bassil makes is that a higher plane of cultural participation can take us out of the arms and gadget races and back into the human race.

"Then we can again hear the voice of the individual in their poetry, art and writing."

"We do not want to give the reader an inferiority complex when he picks up 'Voices,'" says Bassil. "On the contrary, we want his support, for him to become a part of it, and perhaps most important of all to contribute his own work to it."

Fidelists Toss Bomb at Caracas Ministry

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Pro-Castro high school students threw a fire bomb at the door of the ministry of foreign relations today but police put out the flames before damage was done.

* * *

Police, using tear gas, broke up the demonstration. Police said the students numbered about 50 and some appeared to be not more than 14 years old.

* * *

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

And now there are three!

With the passing of Judge Frank Doty, the first glorious era of Pontiac football, a niche of Pontiac sports, becomes history.

This was the team which won the mythical state championship in a league composed of 42 Michigan high school teams.

The opener in 1899 was with the powerful Cadets of Orchard Lake which had enough manpower to field three teams. Pontiac had 13 players, a manager and a coach. It was the bloodiest game ever played. Pontiac won 10-6.

After the season, the PHS team went to Ferry Field at Ann Arbor to meet Plainwell for the state championship. All the buggies which could be found in Pontiac were shined up and a stream of fans headed for Ann Arbor.

In the game, Pontiac shocked the Plainwell team with a play which was never used before. It was a lateral pass to the sidelines from quarterback Thompson to Brewster. Pontiac scored and won the game 6-5.

Dawson is presently in Florida where he spends each winter. Hughes is known to be alive and living in Arizona, and Dr. Starker is living at his home on Iroquois street.

"I remember Doty as one of the finest sportsmen in athletics," said Dr. Starker, "he was a vicious tackler, but after every tackle he would apologize to the opposing runner and inquire whether he was hurt. He never wanted to see anyone hurt, but he never forgot that football was a game of tackling."

During that stay in Ann Arbor, Doty happened to miss dinner because he fell asleep in his hotel room. The word got around and when he returned to school after the Thanksgiving Day holidays, there was a sign on the PHS bulletin board which read: "Lost one dinner by Doty. Please leave same with owner and receive reward."

Judge Doty was laid to rest this week. There are very few in Pontiac who may remember him as an athlete in 1899, but records tell us he was one of the finest athletes ever to come out of Pontiac High School, and he was a credit to the city during his great years on the bench as circuit judge.

When we talk about great names in Pontiac history, the name Frank Doty should never be omitted.

Pontiac Central Host to Handy in Valley Game

Last Test for Unbeaten Chiefs Before Battle at Saginaw High

Overconfidence and looking ahead will be danger zones for Pontiac Central's unbeaten basketball squad Friday evening.

The Chiefs, boasting a flawless 7-0 record, will be heavily favored to down Bay City Handy in a Saginaw Valley Conference battle on the PCH court at 8 p.m.

The favorite's role combined with the title showdown trip to Saginaw next Friday will pose trouble for the highly-rushed Chiefs if they happen to let their guard down.

Central, 5-0 in the Valley and presently the co-leader with the undefeated Trojans in the SVC race, was rated as Michigan's 2nd best Class A quintet Tuesday in the first weekly Associated Press poll.

Defending Valley champion Saginaw, voted N. 1 in the prep poll, is idle this weekend and will have plenty of rest in preparation for Pontiac's visit Jan. 26.

Handy has yet to taste victory in four Valley outings and the Wildcats will be a hungry crew when they invade the PCH gymnasium.

Their over-all record is 1-5 with a 73-56 non-league victory over crosstown rival Bay City Central their only success to date.

This will be Pontiac's first hardwood meeting with Handy, which is a new SVC member this year.

Due to see plenty of action before the game is over are Ed Williams, Ray Sain and Alvin Keel, all underclassmen.

Ransom, Douglas and Kennedy are the Chiefs' leading scorers, in that order. The 6-6 Kennedy is the team's top rebounder with 126 grabs in seven games, an average of 18 hauls per contest.

In other Valley action tomorrow night, Midland invades Flint Central, Flint Northern visits city foe Flint Southwestern and Bay City Central plays host to rangy Arthur Hill.

Wilma Trains for Saturday's Indoor Meet

★ ★ ★

She flew in Wednesday night from her home in Nashville, Accompanying her were her Tennessee A&I teammate, Jean Holmes; coach Ed Temple and broad jumper Ralph Boston.

Wilma and Miss Holmes are entered in the 60-yard dash.

"I plan to win," said Wilma, a recent bride. She admitted that she gained weight during the winter on the banquet circuit.

Lane Played in Bowl Despite Appendicitis

LOS ANGELES (AP)— Dick (Night Train) Lane, the Detroit Lion who starred defensively for the West All-Stars in the Pro Bowl game Sunday, was suffering from appendicitis when he played.

Lane underwent an appendectomy Tuesday.

But the Lion defensive back — who said he stopped eating Friday — scored the first touchdown for the West with a pass interception and 42-yard run.

Lane, speaking from St. Joseph Hospital at nearby Burbank, said he was sure he had appendicitis Saturday.

"Saturday night was the worst," he said. "I never slept a wink that whole night. If it hadn't been for the game next day, I'd just as soon have died.

"I told the doc Sunday morning that I'd had a restless night and needed something to settle me down.

"He gave me a few pills and that sort of eased the pain. I could tackle guys without feeling too much pain, but I couldn't shake a weak feeling. I've never felt so weak for so long."

He said he had been 48 hours without food, explaining, "I just couldn't keep anything on my stomach."

★ ★ ★

He said only his wife, Geraldine, knew he was ill.

Lane entered the hospital Monday.

The West beat the East, 21-20.

Giant Happy Humphrey to Rassle at Armory

Happy Humphrey, the giant of the rassling, returns to the Pontiac Armory Friday night. The huge 300 pounder will take on two challengers, Danny Perna and Johnny Gates, in the feature bout.

There is no change in prices to see Humphrey on the mats. Starting time is 8:30 p.m.

It Was Hall's Night --- Then It Wasn't

CHICAGO (AP)—It was Goalie Glenn Hall Night in Chicago Stadium last night — and again it wasn't.

But it just wasn't Hall's night. The Montreal Canadiens won, 7-3, registering the most goals Hall has permitted an opponent on ice this season.

It was rather embarrassing for Hall. Just before the game the Hawks management had a new black, sporty auto driven onto the ice and the keys were presented to the surprised goalie.

He was completely taken by surprise. So much so, in fact, that the game wasn't six minutes old before Jean Beliveau shot the puck between Hall's legs from about 50 feet out. From then on, the Canadiens fired through him six more times. Twenty-six times this man who seems to thrive living in the center of a bullseye, stopped shots.

"I've never fought the puck so hard in my life," said Hall afterwards. "That first shot took just one bounce and through my legs it went. I'm glad the first 499 games weren't like this one."

No other goalie in history has come close to Hall's streak. Murray Murdock played in 353 consecutive games and Johnny Wilson in 631. But they were forwards, playing only a few minutes at a stretch.

Rochester, Rams Featured; Wolves Vs. Barons

Big Loop Games Friday

A Tri-County League 1st place showdown game and a St. Fred home contest against one of the Suburban Catholic co-leaders will be among the many featured attractions on another big Friday night prep cage schedule around the Oakland County area.

Rochester and Lapeer will tangle at the Falcon court in a contest which could very well decide the Tri-County champion. Rochester has beaten the other three loop teams, Lapeer has taken Kettering and L'Anse Creuse.

Kettering will be at Romeo and L'Anse steps out of the group to meet former member Roseville.

St. Fred will be taking on strong Royal Oak St. Mary. The Rams, only team to beat St. Clement, have been coming along slowly and will likely need their best showing yet to come through. They currently are in a three-way tie for 2nd with Orchard Lake and St. James.

The latter two schools are matched in another big one at the Eaglet court. St. Michael will be trying again for its initial SCL triumph at St. Clement and Our Lady of the Lakes will be doing the same on its own court against St. Rita.

Struggling Birmingham Seaholm will travel to Mt. Clemens, Royal Oak Kimball and Ferndale will meet in a duel for 2nd place and East Detroit should move into a tie with Port Huron for the top slot by whipping Hazel Park in Eastern Michigan League action. The Big Reds will be idle.

In the Wayne-Oakland, Clarkston at Bloomfield Hills may be the best game of the night. They are part of a three-way tie for 2nd with West Bloomfield. The Lakers o to Holly. Unbeaten Northville should roll on past improving Milford. Brighton vs Clarenceville.

Avondale and Lake Orion will be out to do something about their poor records in Oakland A games. The Yellowjackets visit Clawson while Lake Orion is at Troy. Madison plays Oak Park.

The South Central may have a dandy if North Branch's big three are clicking. The Broncos are host to unbeaten Imlay City, the state's top-ranked Class C quintet. Oxford is home to meet Millington in the other tilt.

Elsewhere, Utica attempts to keep its record spotless against Lakeview, Royal Oak Dondero invades Wyandotte, Groves takes on Cherry Hill, Country Day vs Whitmore Lake, Lamphere meets Lutheran East and North Farmington is at Dearborn Heston.

Cranbrook entertains South Lyon, Farmington Our Lady battles Wayne St. Mary, Ortonville duels Lake Fenton and Royal Oak travels to Redford St. Mary.

The Southern Thumb tournament has the 2nd round tonight at Dryden and New Haven.

The only scheduled Saturday game will match Country Day and Emmanuel Christian here. The Thumb tournament will conclude play the same day in afternoon and night sessions.

Toronto and Montreal Win

Wings Shoot at 4th Place Tonight

By The Associated Press

The Detroit Red Wings, benefiting from a New York nosedive, will be gunning for fourth place in the National Hockey League tonight when they visit Boston and the lowly ruins.

A Detroit victory would vault them into sole possession of the last playoff spot and a tie would give them a share of it. Their match is the only one scheduled in the league.

The Red Wings, idle Wednesday night, remained just one point back of the Rangers, who lost their sixth straight game and eighth in nine starts, 4-2, to Toronto.

MONTREAL HOLDS LEAD

Montreal retained its two-point hold on first place with a 7-3 rout of Chicago.

New York appeared well on its way to breaking its losing string before the muscular Leafs wore the Rangers down in the last period. New York carried a 2-0 lead going into the last 20 minutes.

But then the Leafs took over with Frank Mahovlich leading the way. He scored a pair, his 21st and 22nd of the season, and George Armstrong and Ron Stewart got the others.

Andy Bathgate, the Rangers' league leading scorer, got one New York goal and assisted on one by Dean Prentice as the Rangers dominated play in the first two periods. Bathgate now has 18 goals and 41 assists for 59 points.

The seven goals against Chicago goalie Glen Hall were the most he has allowed this season and came in his 500th game.

Guy Rousseau had a pair, Ralph Backstrom, Bill Hicke, Jean Beliveau, Jean Guy Talbot and Don Marshall one each. Bobby Hull scored his 19th and 20th of the season for the Black Hawks and Ab McDonald got the other.

TOP BRONCO — Rugged Jim Roy has been Holly's most steady scorer thus far in a 2-5 season. The Broncos will host West Bloomfield tomorrow night.

Young Dropped by Detroit Club

BOSTON (AP) — The Detroit Red Wings have indefinitely suspended defenseman Howie Young for missing practice and breaking training.

The Wings play Boston here tonight.

General Manager Jack Adams said yesterday "we've gone as far as we can with him. It isn't his on-ice conduct this time. It's his off-ice conduct."

Adams said Young missed practice both Tuesday and yesterday.

Red Wing Coach Sid Abel said Young "made a lot of promises . . . last fall when we dropped him from the team, and he's broken them all."

The Red Wings suspended Young for three games in October because he was acquiring too many penalties on the ice and leaving the Wings shorthanded.

He missed seven more games after his reinstatement but still has the most penalty minutes of anyone on the club — 73.

Police Cagers Can't Get Away From T&C

The pace-setter and runnerup stayed that way Wednesday night in the National division of the City Basketball League.

Unbeaten Pontiac Police defeated Smith's Fuel, 53-48, for win No. 4. John Bridgewater and Harry Kunkle led the Police with 14 and 12 points, respectively. Phil Landry poured 28 through the hoop in Smith's losing cause.

Town & Country stayed on the heels of the league-leading Police with a 44-38 conquest of 300 Bowl. Roger Reynolds tallied 18 points to pace T&C to its 3rd win in four starts. Jim Kennedy bagged 14 for 300 Bowl.

Will Settle Dispute of Bantams Tonight

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP) — One of boxing's three disputed titles will be cleared up tonight and Brazilian fans think their Eder Jofre will emerge as the undisputed bantamweight champion in his match with Ireland's John Caldwell.

Jofre, a knockout puncher with 40 victories and three draws in 43 fights, is recognized in South America and by the U.S. National Boxing Association as world champ. Caldwell, 23-year-old boxer who also is unbeaten, holds the European version of the same world title.

24th Annual Sports Bust Expected to Be Largest

A sellout of nearly 800 is expected tonight for the 24th annual Father and Son Banquet at the Elks Temple. Ticket reservations indicate it will be the largest in history, and a long list of sports celebrities is expected to be at the guest table.

DIBBLE GALINE

Former Pontiac Central graduate, Don Kremer, who is now a TV sportscaster in Detroit, will be the master of ceremonies.

★ ★ ★

Among the sports personalities who have been invited are Al Kaline of the Detroit Tigers, Jim Mills, U. of D. football coach, Chuck Davey, former boxer, Ron Kramer and Norm Masters of the Green Bay Packers, Bob Calihan, U. of D. basketball coach, Russ Thomas and Dorn Dibble, former Detroit Lion players, Bill Pierce, formerly with the White Sox, Don Lund, U. of M. baseball coach, Charlie Gehringer, Hal Newhouser, Art Houtteman, Steve Gromek, all former Tigers, Ted Lindsay former Red Wing, Don Dufek from the Michigan coaching staff and Cal Stall of the Michigan State staff. Gene Bone, Pontiac pro golfer is also expected to attend.

Dinner is scheduled to start at 7:00 p.m. and on the program of entertainment is Johnny Ginger, TV comedian.

Door prizes and souvenir prizes will be given to the boys in attendance.

Chick Gaffney, chairman of the event, reported there were very few tickets left as of last night. All tickets have been given reserved places.

Berkley Visits Northern Gym to Face Huskies

Waterford Plays Host to Southfield in I-L Cage Action

BY CHUCK ABAIR

A three-way battle for 2nd place and Walled Lake's 10th attempt at winning a game should make it another interesting night in the Inter-Lakes basketball race Friday night.

★ ★ ★

Two of the tenants sharing the No. 2 position will be clashing head-on when Southfield visits Waterford. Berkley, the other, will be guest of the hard-luck Northern Huskies.

Bob Readler and his mates will have to be in top rebounding form if Waterford is to keep rolling past the big Bluejays. The Skippers have won four straight and are 5-2 all season.

★ ★ ★

Each has beaten cellar-dwellers Northern and Walled Lake. Waterford bowed to Berkley and Southfield, 5-4 over-all, to Farmington in I-L contests.

BEARS IMPRESSIVE

Injury-riddled PNH dropped an overtime affair at Southfield a week ago for its 4th straight setback, three in the loop. Favored Berkley has been the only team to give Farmington a battle and been impressive in the league although 3-5 for all games.

Everything will be in its favor but new coach Dave Parks and his Farmington will not likely be expecting an easy time with the hard-working Vikings. There is the law of averages and a holiday tournament game to consider. Walled Lake played its best game of the year in a 76-70 loss to the Falcons. Their best output has been 52 against all other foes.

Farmington has bowed only to Highland Park and Plymouth in nine season outings and is 3-0 in the Inter-Lakes.

Mossi and Rookie Sign Tiger Contracts

DETROIT (AP)—Don Mossi, 32-year-old left-hander who made a spectacular comeback with the Detroit Tigers last season, has signed a contract for 1962.

The Tigers' director of player personnel, Rick Ferrell, said today Mossi sent in his contract from his winter home at Redwood City, Calif.

Mossi posted a 15-7 record last season and had an earned run average of 2.96. In 1960 Mossi was bothered by arm trouble and was unable to finish the season.

Ferrell announced the signing of rookie left-handed pitcher, Johnny Seale of Durango, Colo., who pitched at Birmingham in the Southern Association last season and had a 12-10 record.

Seeks 4th Straight Title

Pistons Lose, Stilt Hits 62 at Arena

DETROIT (AP) — The Boston Celtics, trailing 62-52 at halftime, had to rally in the second half to overpower the Detroit Pistons 126-116 in the nightcap of a National Basketball Association doubleheader last night.

★ ★ ★

In the opener, Wilt Chamberlain set a new Convention Arena record by scoring 62 points in pacing the Philadelphia Warriors to a 136-130 overtime victory over the St. Louis Hawks. He erased the arena mark of 58 he set last Nov. 8 against the Pistons.

The Los Angeles Lakers beat the New York Knickerbockers 129-121 at Los Angeles in the only other NBA game of the night. Jerry West fired 63 points for the Lakers.

The doubleheader drew a crowd of 8,379, largest ever to see a game in Detroit's new riverfront arena.

Hundreds of fans surged around the box office and broke a window in a ticket booth. Eighteen policemen were called out to control the crowd. Police Sgt. Paul Womack said only two ticket windows were open shortly before game time when the crowd swarmed into the lobby.

★ ★ ★

"I don't know where they all came from, but the first thing I knew, there was the worst jam-up I ever saw," he said.

WALLET LIFTED

Patrolman James Hames said somebody lifted his wallet containing $22 while he was trying to restore order.

Bailey Howell with 23 points and Gene Shue with 14 led the Pistons to their halftime advantage.

Sam Jones and Bob Cousy sparked Boston's third quarter rally and the Celtics went out in front 91-87 at the end of the period.

In the final period, the Pistons fought back and the Celtics were tied 106-106. But Tom Heinsohn and Heinsohn widened the margin with two more baskets and Sam Jones added another pair that put the game out of reach.

Sam Jones with 33 points and Cousy with 28 were top scorers for Boston. Howell finished with 30 and Shue with 31 for Detroit.

Famous 'Red Heads' at Orion Saturday

Those spectacular All-American Red Heads, the national queens of big time basketball, will pay a visit to Lake Orion Saturday night.

The famous Red Heads will meet the Lake Orion High School faculty quintet in a benefit game at the Lake Orion gymnasium at 8 p.m.

Proceeds from the exhibition contest will go into the school's athletic development fund, money set aside to develop the Orion athletic plant.

Coach Orwell Moore's Red Heads have performed before more than 5,000,000 fans.

Organized in 1936 by "Ole' Olson, owner and star of "Olson's Terrible Swedes," the Red Heads have toured the U.S.A., Canada, Mexico and the Philippines and this year will visit Alaska and Hawaii.

The Red Heads play anywhere from 180 to 200 games per year and their roster includes the top female cagers available.

They play men's rules and defeat the "stronger sex" upwards of 100 times annually.

Some of the famous names on the Red Heads roster are 6-foot-2 Georgia Washington, Justine (Tex) Glover, Pat Rimer and Rosalie (Shorty) Kaschmitter, who stands 6-7.

★ ★ ★

Price of admission to Saturday's cage attraction will be $1 for adults and 75 cents for students.

Russell Nears Second Crown

Spencer Wins Key Cage Tilt

Spencer Floors won one of the big games of the season in Waterford basketball last night by whipping defending Class A champion Lakeland Pharmacy 63-62.

Just after entering the game, sub Bob Mitchell clinched it with a jump shot with eight seconds remaining.

Larry Bowen and Jim Poteet tallied 15 points apiece to spark Spencer's sixth straight victory which was decided on a 23-14 free throw advantage.

Lakeland, now 3-2 with both losses to the leaders, lost three starters as 57 personal fouls were called. Vern Cork swished 18 in defeat.

THE DUKE RELAXES — Veteran Duke Snider of the Los Angeles Dodgers hoists his one-year-old daughter, Donna, as he relaxes at his home in Fallbrook, Calif. Beverly, Duke's wife, holds the family pooch, a poodle called Holly. The Dodgers announced today that Snider has mailed in his 16th Dodger contract.

Groat; Snider Seek Vindication in '62

By United Press International

One took a cut and one took the same money as last season but both look forward to 1962 as a year of vindication.

Dick Groat, the National League's Most Valuable Player of 1960, conceded "1961 was a bad year" and accepted a nominal cut from general manager Joe Brown of the Pittsburgh Pirates to about $27,000.

Duke Snider, admitting "I haven't shown my neighbors a good season yet," signed with the Los Angeles Dodgers at no loss in pay and looked forward to a new lease on his baseball life in the Dodgers' Chavez Ravine Stadium.

Each is a key man in the 1962 fortunes of his team.

Groat, the inspirational leader of 1960, is being relied upon by the Pirates to return to the form that catapulted him into one of the game's top stars.

Snider, the last of the old Brooklyn stars still playing with the Dodgers in Los Angeles, is rectifying the team's lack of long-range firepower.

"I was bad last year," admitted Groat. "I didn't play the baseball that I'm capable of playing. There's no explanation. I just want to forget the nightmare 1961 season. Maybe it just was one of those things. I'm looking forward to the 1962 season to return to my 1960 form. I've written 1961 off the calendar."

Snider, who signed for between $30,000 and $35,000, admitted it's been one frustration after another since the Dodgers transferred from Brooklyn to his home diggings in Los Angeles but speculated that the new home of the Dodgers would enable him to show his true power.

"Maybe in this park I can come up with an old fashioned year," said Duke, who hit 40 or more homers in five consecutive seasons at Brooklyn between 1953 and 1957.

Snider based his optimistic outlook on the fact that the distance from home plate to right field in the new Chavez Ravine park at Los Angeles is about 330 feet compared to the 380-foot distance with which Snider contended at the distorted Coliseum the last four years.

The penalty for having more than 14 clubs in a golf bag is two strokes per round.

2 Points Separate Leaders

Hot Big 10 Scoring Race

CHICAGO (AP) — Less than two points separate Indiana's Jimmy Rayl, Purdue's Terry Dischinger and Iowa's Don Nelson in a developing hot scoring race in Big Ten basketball.

Of the three, only Nelson will be in action Saturday in a conference schedule bobtailed by final examinations at most schools. Iowa is at Northwestern, Michigan State at Michigan for a regionally televised contest and unbeaten Ohio State at Minnesota.

Rayl has taken over the scoring lead, based on averages of official Big Ten statistics released today. He is averaging 30 points a game while Dischinger is hitting at 29.3 and Nelson 28.8. They are followed by Eric Magdanz, Minnesota, 24.0; John Havelicek, Ohio State, 22.3; and Ron Jackson, Wisconsin, 21.8.

Dischinger matched a single game Big Ten record Monday against Michigan State by sinking 13 of 13 free throws. He now has 27 straight foul shots without a miss, placing him in a third place tie with Ohio State's Jerry Lucas on the consecutive free throw list.

★ ★ ★

If Dischinger gets three more in his next appearance, against Ohio State Jan. 22, he will break the record now held by Wisconsin's Dick Miller who sank 29 in a row in the 1955 and 1956 seasons.

Lucas has the best field goal shooting percentage, .680, with teammate Havlecik second with .613.

Duquesne Battles Cincinnati Tonight

By The Associated Press

Duquesne, a team that didn't belong according to the pre-season experts, gets a chance to stay tonight when it tackles third-ranked Cincinnati in the week's top college basketball attraction.

The game is one of three involving four ranking teams in the current Associated Press poll, in the busiest and most interesting night of the exam-curtailed week.

★ ★ ★

Duquesne, with 12 victories and only a loss to Villanova in the semifinals of the Quaker City Holiday Festival last month in Philadelphia, is ranked fifth as it goes into its most crucial game of the year. Cincy is 12-2, after beating Dayton Tuesday night while the Dukes won over Toledo on Monday.

★ ★ ★

Elsewhere tonight, fourth-ranked Kansas State makes its only appearance of the week against Missouri in a Big Eight game and Missouri Valley leader Bradley, ranked ninth, takes on conference foe Drake.

MISS. STATE WINS

The only ranked team in action Wednesday night was 10th rated Mississippi State, which must have taken a leaf from the defensive book of Alabama football coach Bear Bryant, whose Crimson Tide was rated the top team in 1961. State romped the Tide's basketball team 67-40, allowing only five points in the first half.

In other action, North Carolina took over first place in the Atlantic Coast Conference with a 66-56 victory over North Carolina State; Virginia Tech won over Richmond 67-54 in a Southern Conference game. Louisville surprised Xavier, Ohio, 85-80, Harvard gained sole possession of fourth place in the Ivy League with a 76-72 victory over Dartmouth, Penn beat city-rival St. Joseph's for the first time since 1946, 66-60 and Army ended Williams' unbeaten string at 12 with an easy 72-56 victory.

Alabama went into a first half stall, but Mississippi State showed the Tide how it should be done and gained a 21-5 halftime lead. Both changed tactics in the second half and the Maroon ran away from 'Bama 46-35. Leland Mitchell, with 20 points, and J. D. Stroud with 16 paced Mississippi State, which had a 45.6 shooting average from the floor. 'Bama shot only 27.6, paced by Gary Blagburn's 16 points.

The Tar Heels almost lost a 15-point lead, going scoreless for six minutes in the second half before regaining their edge. Larry Brown's 21 points paced North Carolina, now 5-1 in the ACC, while Jon Speaks led N. C. State with 20.

XAVIER OUTCLASSED

Virginia Tech won its 28th straight home game, coming from a 32-27 deficit with a 21-2 spurt in the second half. Xavier, which beat ranked Villanova in its last outing, never was in contention as Louisville's Bud Olsen scourged the Ohioans with 31 points.

Joe Deering's 17 points led Harvard. Penn came from an 11-point deficit as all five starters, paced by Dave Robinson's 17 points, hit double figures. Robinson scored the final go-ahead basket for the Quakers, who hadn't beaten the Hawks in nine straight games. Stu Sherard's 23 points paced Army's afternoon victory.

In another pair of afternoon games involving service academies, Navy beat Georgetown, DC in overtime, 64-56, outscoring the Hoyas 10-2 in the extra session, and Air Force won over Wyoming 51-39.

Fairfield double teamed Seton Hall soph Nick Werkman, the nation's second highest scorer, so another soph, Dan Combs popped in 29 points in the Pirates 100-96 victory. Werkman got 23. Brian Generalovich scored 20 points in the first half and 29 over-all as Pitt beat Columbia 77-66. Arizona State U. beat Arizona State College 109-88, Oklahoma City won over Austin College 72-65 and Denver beat Colorado State College 83-72.

Hope Blasts Albion

Adrian Snaps Cage Slump

By The Associated Press

Adrian College has called a halt to its MIAA basketball losing streak at six games.

★ ★ ★

An 85-67 victory over host Alma Wednesday night ended Adrian's string of losses. Adrian now is 1-6 in league play and Alma is 1-5.

Michigan Tech, meanwhile, was set back 81-74 by Northland, Wis.

Adrian held a 42-35 halftime advantage and increased the spread in the second half.

Ekdal Buys scored 33 points in leading Hope to its fourth conference victory in six games.

Over-all, Hope now is 5-7. Albion is 4-1 in the MIAA and 6-5 over-all.

Northland rallied from a 41-39 halftime deficit in defeating Michigan Tech at Ashland, Wis. It was Northland's ninth victory in 10 starts. Jack Povaser, who got 31 points, and Frank Hunter, who collected 19, led the Northland uprising.

Groves Tankers Add Fitzgerald to List

Birmingham Groves which is reaching the stature of city brother Seaholm in swimming, defeated Fitzgerald last night, 55-50.

Lee Driver and Rusty Kline turned in double victories. Driver won his specialty, the breaststroke in 1:05.8 and also the individual medley. Kline took the butterfly in varsity record time of 1:02, and the 200 freestyle in 2:05.2.

Keith Brockman was a double winner for Fitzgerald in the short freestyle events. The two team events won by Groves settled the issue.

400 freestyle — Bill Jones (F) Time 4:36.6 (pool and varsity record); 50 freestyle — Keith Brockman (F) Time: 24.3
200 butterfly—Rusty Kline (G) Time 2:03.6 (varsity record);
100 breaststroke—Lee Davis (F) Time 1:05.8
100 breaststroke—Lee Driver (G) Time: 1:05.6
100 freestyle — Keith Brockman (F) Time: 52.7 (pool record);
Diving—Milt Reynolds (F) 51.6 points.
200 freestyle—Rusty Kline (G) Time 2:05.2 (varsity record);
200 freestyle relay — Groves (Terry Thesereth, Dave Mead, Don Cole, Don Brown) Time: 1:39.

Scott Ward of Valparaiso, Ind., hit with five straight free throws in the last minute and a half last spring to help South Carolina beat North Carolina State in the first round of the Atlantic Coast Conference tournament.

Church League Teams to Break Tie Friday

The YMCA church basketball league will have its big deadlock broken this Friday evening when All Saints tangles with Trinity Baptist at 7 p.m. Both teams boast a 5-0 standing as the league goes into its sixth week of action. Next week will mark the completion of the first of two rounds to be played.

Admission is free for all the Y-church games each Friday.

In other games for the evening, First Christian faces First Congregational at 6 p.m.; Central Methodist goes against St. Paul Methodist at 8 p.m.; First Baptist climaxes the evening with Macedonia Baptist at 9 p.m.

These are the standings: (thru January 19th)

	W	L		W	L
All Saints E.	5	0	First Baptist	3	3
Trinity Bap.	5	0	St. Paul Meth.	2	2
Macedonia B.	3	2	First Christian	0	5

Play Starts for 324 at Crosby Tourney

While golfers and fans alike hoped for continuance of the clear skies of the past week, the forecast called for overcast tonight with possible rain Friday.

Defending champion Bob Rosburg of Palo Alto, Calif., headed the bulky field in quest of another $5,300 top prize for the leading professional in this $50,000 production.

Another $3,000 goes to the play-for-pay shooter on the winning pro-amateur team. Crosby's format calls for each pro to have an amateur partner with celebrities of entertainment, business and sports adding spice to the competition.

WALL CONFIDENT

Art Wall, who won in 1959 with a 72-hole score of 279, indicated he expects to be in contention again as he commented, "I'm playing better. I was just one stroke behind the winner at San Diego and that helped my confidence."

Young Phil Rodgers, who won the Los Angeles Open by nine strokes two weeks ago, continued his hot shooting in his practice round Wednesday. He played 14 holes at Cypress Point four under par and then went 18 at Pebble Beach with a 69, three under. "I was playing exceptionally well," he declared.

The field was split into three groups for today's opening round. One played Monterey Peninsula, another Cypress Point and the third Pebble Beach. By Saturday night each will have played all three courses with the low scorers continuing in Sunday's finals at Pebble Beach.

Wall voiced the feeling of all when he said scores will depend a lot on the weather. Winds whipping off the Pacific Ocean into this beautiful Monterey Peninsula compound the golfers' problems. Rain makes it even tougher.

SANDERS EAGLES

All three courses play to par 72. Most consider Monterey Peninsula to be less difficult, since tall trees break the wind. Yet the foliage will cost strokes on erratic shots.

Doug Sanders gave evidence of great shots to come during the tournament proper when he scored an eagle three on the 15th hole at Monterey Peninsula, a par five that he reached in two.

After that round he joined a foursome at Pebble Beach with 1961 amateur champion Jack Nicklaus, now a pro. Doug appeared awed by the long driving youngster and commented, "He'd put that tee shot out 30 yards ahead of mine."

Detroiter Inks Pact With Chicago Cubs

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Cubs had two-thirds of their 1962 roster signed today as contracts were received from pitcher Jim Brewer and rookie hurler Jim Schandevel.

The Cubs now have contracts from 23 of their 37 listed players. Schandevel, 24 from Detroit, pitched last season for San Antonio in the Texas League.

The New York Yankees and New York Mets will meet only twice during 1962. They play spring exhibition games on March 22 in St. Petersburg and March 27 at Fort Lauderdale. There's little chance they will meet in the 1962 World Series.

Pro Football Selected Future National Pastime

By The Associated Press

Will professional football in 10 or 20 years replace baseball as our national pastime?

"Yes," voted 109 of the 215 sportswriters and broadcasters participating in an Associated Press poll. There were 106 dissenters.

In addition, 25 voters insisted that pro football already has knocked baseball out the box as America's No. 1 sport. Fifteen others predicted the grid game will take over in fewer than 10 years.

The question was prompted by a record 1961 attendance of 3,886,159 with an average of 40,575 in the National Football League plus the larger crowds pulled in by the rival American Football League in its second year of operation.

★ ★ ★

Meanwhile, major league baseball attendance dropped 5.6 per cent despite the addition of two new teams, the Minnesota Twins and Los Angeles Angels. The NFL added one new club, the Minnesota Vikings.

CONSTANT ACTION

"Baseball is dying," claimed one writer. The excitement of pro football overshadows even the most spectacular off baseball's shows, the World Series. Pro football has so much to offer sports fans who want to see action rather than dull, nine-inning marathons that sometimes last 4 hours."

"Pro football gives the spectators what they want, violence and physical contact," commented a broadcaster.

"Baseball lacks color and colorful players," wrote another voter. "Pro football gives you 60 minutes of action, baseball 3 hours of dullness."

"Pro football is the top sport right now," insisted another writer. "Baseball has been hurt by longer schedules, the two All-Star games, expansion and the killing off of the minor leagues."

The diamond defenders, among other points, noted that pro football games are played only once a week compared to baseball's every day scheduling.

★ ★ ★

Said one dissenter, "pro football is a weekly affair. Baseball is played almost every day from April through September."

"Baseball attracts the youngsters through the Little Leagues and the Babe Ruth Leagues and will always be more of a participant sport than football," commented another.

"The major league pennant races and the World Series will continue to be the No. 1 item in fan interest," insisted still another voter.

Grid Committee Touches Up Rules

3-Day Confab Produces No Major Change

Crisler Not Convinced That Face Mask Invites Head Injuries

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The rules of college football got a few minor touchups but no major alterations this year from the NCAA Rules Committee, which keyed its efforts toward curbing injuries.

The committee left unchanged the existing substitution rule after considering coaches' requests for permission to use as many as three "wild card" subs.

Fritz Crisler, former Michigan coach who served as acting chairman, said he believed most coaches would find the committee's actions acceptable.

"The small colleges favor one rule, the universities like another," Crisler said. "I think, however, the majority do not want free, unlimited, unrestricted substitution."

The committee adjourned its three-day annual meeting after holding a special session Wednesday night to consider the substitution rule.

One other action came out of the night session, however—a decision to request stricter enforcement of a rule against piling on a tackled player.

MEETING ADJOURNS

The committee left unchanged the regulations governing player equipment. It said that before changes are authorized, a thorough assessment should be made of numerous player-injury surveys now under way or completed.

There had been controversy over the use of face guards, with some opponents contending neck injuries can be caused by grabbing a player's face guard.

Crisler said the chairman of the NCAA injury committee, Ernie McCoy of Penn State, will be asked to survey all studies on football injuries, including one done by the Army, one by Cornell and Michigan and others.

He said, "We hope in another year to know if the face mask invites injuries to the head and neck. I personally am not convinced."

The rules committee recommended that all players wear properly fitting mouth guards, but did not make that a regulation., "It would be difficult to enforce," said Crisler.

More rigid enforcement was asked of rules against clipping, and words or signals that would rattle a team preparing to put the ball in play.

PENALTY REDUCED

The penalty for an illegal shift was reduced from 15 yards to 5 yards to make it equal to the illegal motion penalty.

A team kicking the ball will be authorized to touch it within the opponents' 10-yard line and make it dead. Previously, such action was ruled a touchback and the ball was brought out to the 20. Crisler said, "some feel it is a good play and lets the kicking team put an opponent way back in the corner."

The committee boosted from 5 to 15 yards the penalty for violating a rule that a forward pass or place kick held by an opponent cannot be kicked. Crisler said, "You wouldn't often see this happen, but some of the coaches wanted the change."

Coach Remarks on NCAA-AAU Fuss

See Track 'Rebels'

CHICAGO (AP)—The possibility of track athletes rebelling against their elders in the bitter NCAA-AAU dispute and calling the shots for themselves was suggested today by a hard-working, behind-the-scenes track coach.

Ted Haydon, University of Chicago track coach and probably as vitally interested in the sport as any man in America, said in an interview today:

"The way this squabble is going, athletes probably will be forced to make choices concerning meets leading to international competition. One athlete will be asking another what he intends to do about this situation and you have a third element introduced in the whole fuss. The athletes may operate independently either of the NCAA or the AAU."

NO AXE TO GRIND

Haydon, who conducts about 20 meets annually for "out-of-college" athletes under sponsorship of the University of Chicago Track Club, has no axe to grind in the situation which reached a head in last week's NCAA convention here.

At the conclave, the NCAA membership gave full backing to proposals for creation of national federations in track and gymnastics, following a pattern already set in basketball.

"I think there are good people in the NCAA and good people in the AAU," said Haydon, a former star Maroon hurdler and captain of the U. of Chicago's track team in 1933.

"I would say I am in favor of having everyone interested in track being represented in the national picture. It would seem, however, that the AAU, having been the nation's authority in track so many years, would be due some respect during any period of transformation or remodeling."

NEVER RESPONDED

Haydon said that he, and perhaps 200 other coaches, never responded to the National Collegiate Track Coaches Association questionnaire, on which NCAA approval of a new federation was based. The questionnaire vote was announced as 485 to 7 favoring the new federation.

"Generally, the questionnaire was of a complex nature," said Haydon, "You couldn't give a yes or no answer. You either had to not answer, or write a book."

Haydon said his own group, "International Track," now finds it precarious to continue its plans to hold a June 30-July 1 meet proposed between the United States and Poland in Chicago.

"This is a $40,000 or $50,000 operation. If the National Federation and AAU are still at odds, where do we stand on this meet?"

"There is one thing the National Federation should bear strongly in mind. A continuing program is sorely needed in this country for out-of-college athletes, women track prospects, and Olympic hopefuls in such long distance events as the 10,000 meter and marathon runs.

★ ★ ★

"It has been estimated that on an Olympic squad, two out of three members on the team are out-of-college athletes. Where do these athletes fit into the track control proposed by the new federation?"

McGill's 37.4 Tops Averages

Five Teams Battling in College Scoring Race

NEW YORK (AP)—Utah's Billy (The Hill) McGill continues almost unchallenged as the nation's major college scoring leader, but there's a donnybrook a-building in the scramble for the team scoring lead.

Less than half a point separate the first five teams, the tightest race in history, the NCAA service bureau said today.

In games through Jan. 13, Indiana had the lead with an average of 87.58. It was followed in Loyola, Ill., 87.43; Boston College 87.44 and Kentucky 87.21.

McGill struck for 78 points in two games during last week and now averages 37.4. The only other player averaging 30 points or more is Seton Hall sophomore Nick Werkman with 32.3.

The Scoring leaders:

	G	FG	FT	Pts.	Avg.
1. Billy McGill, Utah	15	220	121	561	37.4
2. Nick Werkman, Seton Hall	9	102	87	291	32.3
3. Jack Foley, Holy Cross	11	115	97	327	29.7
4. Art Heyman, Duke	13	138	96	372	28.6
5. Granny Williams, Morehead State	8	82	59	223	27.9
6. Len Chappell, Wake Forest	22	110	108	328	27.3

Hatfield to Manage Houston Farm Team

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Fred Hatfield was appointed player-manager of the Modesto, Calif., farm club of the National League Houston Colts today.

Rens, Pipers Triumph

ABL Problem Unsettled

By The Associated Press

The American Basketball League still awaits word on the future of the Los Angeles Jets.

A meeting between Jet officials and ABL officials was scheduled to continue today. A spokesman said there is "a good possibility" that the Jets will remain in the league.

★ ★ ★

He said an announcement is expected today. The meeting was called to revamp the schedule in an attempt to help the club financially. Most of Los Angeles' games have been played early in the week.

TWIN BILL CANCELLED

Two of the Jets' home games, scheduled Friday and Sunday with Hawaii, have been postponed. And in Cleveland, a spokesman for the Pipers said a doubleheader scheduled for Youngstown, Ohio, tonight, has been cancelled.

In games Wednesday night, Pittsburgh whipped Cleveland 107-97 and Chicago topped New York 111-95 in a doubleheader at Cleveland, and San Francisco took Hawaii 109-92.

Connie Hawkis had 36 points and Bucky Bolyard 31 in Pittsburgh's easy triumph. The Rens grabbed a nine-point advantage at the end of the first period and weren't in trouble afterwards.

★ ★ ★

New York's Warren Spraggins tossed in 31 points, but it wasn't enough to keep the Tapers from losing their third straight after the midseason break.

Skiing Grows in Area Prep Ranks

17 High Schools Have Clubs at Local Resorts

Waterford Has Largest Group; Dryden Popular on Thursday Nights

The growth of skiing in high school ranks is on the march. Six years ago when the first ski area in Southeastern Michigan opened there were no organized ski clubs in this area. In fact four years ago there were none.

Today, 17 high schools, in Oakland County and nearby, have organized ski clubs. Eight of them participate in weekly Saturday morning meets at Mt. Holly.

The other clubs have their weekly evening gatherings at Grampian Mt., Dryden, Mt. Holly, Alpine Valley and Mt. Christie. Most of the prep clubs use Wednesday or Thursday evenings for their ski sessions.

TWISTING AT DRYDEN

Dryden ski area has become popular with the teen set on Thursday evenings. Members of several ski clubs enjoy skiing on the Dryden slopes and receive instructions from Don Luther and Dave Delpiere.

The students mix skiing with a social hour during the evening in the attractive lodge at Dryden. Naturally, the most popular type music on the juke box is "twisting" rhythm.

"Some of these kids are learning to ski quite well," said Dryden owner Fred Molitor, "and it gives them an outlet for good clean fun one evening a week."

WATERFORD CLUB LARGEST

One of the pioneer high school ski clubs in the area is at Waterford which was organized by Dave Freeman nearly four years ago. The club has 90 members with Stu Thorell as faculty moderator.

New Kettering high school also has an organized ski club and lists 80 students in its first year of operation.

Most local areas have a certain evening during the week designated for high school clubs, however, all require supervision by a member of the faculty during their specified time at the ski area.

These are the high school ski clubs listed with local areas and the number of club members:

Clarkston (75), Royal Oak Kimball (60), Southfield (75), West Bloomfield (75), Utica (40), Waterford (90), Kettering (80), Lake Shore (45), Farmington (70), Walled Lake (65), Pontiac Central (30), Romeo (60), Imlay City (75), Bloomfield Hills (50), Avondale (40), Berkley (45) and Grosse Pointe (60).

WELCOME CLUB NOTES

Any of these ski clubs with news and notes which may be of interest for The Press weekly ski page, are urged to send them to The Press sports department. We would also like to hear from other ski clubs who are not mentioned here, or who are organized on an independent basis, other than high school.

Area Ski Conditions

GRAMPIAN MT. — New powder added last night makes skiing very good to excellent. All slopes and facilities operating and night skiing available until 11.

DRYDEN SKI AREA—New powder added nightly makes skiing very good day and night. All facilities in operation.

* * *

MT. HOLLY — Skiing very good with new powder added to good base. All tows and chair-lift in operation with nightly skiing.

TEEPLE HILL—Skiing was very good last weekend with four tows in operation. Four-inch base has two-inch new powder and skiing is expected to be very good Saturday and Sunday.

MT. BRIGHTON — Opens dining area of lodge. All ski facilities in operation with new powder added. Skiing very good.

MT. SUMMIT — Fresh powder covering new slopes makes skiing very good along with ski trail. All facilities operating.

UPPER PENINSULA

Iroquois Lodge, Mission Hill, Brimley —five-20 inches base, 2 inches powder. Only rope tow operating. Skiing excellent.

Porcupine Mountain, Bessemer — fifteen-30 inches base, 3 inches powder. Skiing excellent.

Dryden Teacher

DOING IT RIGHT — Don Luther of Rochester, a certified instructor at the Dryden Ski Area, helps Phoebe McGuire and Dave Dorn of the Romeo High School ski club with advice about choosing skis.

U. S. Girls Fall in Slalom

BADGASTEIN, Austria (AP)— Linda Meyers, the Bishop, Calif., lass who failed to finish in the downhill event, goes after her second straight major giant slalom title today in the Ladies International Silver Jug races.

* * *

Miss Meyers fell victim to the badly chewed up course Wednesday in the downhill event, but still was considered dangerous after winning the giant slalom in a surprising showing last week in Switzerland.

* * *

In today's event, Miss Meyers, 24, drew starting position No. 15. She was 26th down yesterday and the treacherous slopes of Gemsknogel Mountain proved too much for her and Barbara Ferries of Houghton, Mich., who also took a tumble.

* * *

Miss Ferries is the first U.S. entrant today, drawing No. 9 post. Wednesday's winner, Erika Netzer of Austria started 11th, and won in 1 minute, 54.6 seconds over the 2,630 yard course with its 22 compulsory gates.

The best U.S. showing was by Joan Hannah, who finished in a tie for seventh with Austria's Grete Grander. The Franconia, N.H. miss had a time of 1:58 flat. Jean Saubert of Lakeview, Ore., was 15th in 2:00.8.

This meet is the final major dress rehearsal for next month's world championships in Chamonix, France, and winds up Friday with the special slalom event.

Grampian Jumpers

RIDERS IN SKY — The first jumping tournament was held Sunday at Grampian Mt. and these jumpers (also called riders) walk up the tower of the 30-meter jump. John Tessmer of Rochester, who took second place is first in line (number 8). Behind him are Carl Saul (4) of Briar Hill, Ed Plesnarski (12) GM Ski Club, Clint Beach of Flint, the winner; Adolph Opberg (9) Caberfae and Carl Nolan (3) of Rochester.

Instructions at Alpine

Holly Prep Meet

FIRST PREP MEET — The first triangular prep was held last Saturday morning at Mt. Holly with Grosse Pointe taking honors, followed by Waterford and Berkley. The prep triangular meets are held each Saturday morning. This Saturday, Bloomfield Hills, Berkley and Walled Lake engage in a triangular. In the background is Mt. Holly's new lodge.

Christie Canine

CASUALTY — Christie, the dog, was a casualty at Mt. Christie. Mrs. Louis Newsome and daughter Jeannie of Lake Orion give the canine first aid after it cut its paw. Christie tried skiing without skis.

2 New Slopes at Mt. Summit

Two new slopes with runs of 1,500 feet opened at Mt. Summit last weekend along with two new electric tows. This brings the total to 12, the number of runs at Summit.

The new runs, called Leeder Neil and North Run, have been cut for the intermediate and expert skier.

An added activity at Mt. Summit is the start of special ski classes for elementary and high school students. Only cost will be a special tow ticket fee of $1.25 and the classes will be held each Wednesday and Thursday night in January and February from 7:00 p.m. to 8 p.m. Bob Hurd, Summit Ski school director will conduct the classes.

Equipment will be available for those who do not have skis at a rental of $1.25.

The Summit Ski Club has also announced it will sponsor a 17-day trip to the Alps, starting March 1st. Skiers can sign up for the trip by calling Summit. The closing date is February 1st. The group will leave Detroit by Jet and included in the itinerary is a stop at Chamonix and Grindenwald in the Alps.

Skiing Great at Five Areas: Photos Show It

Skiing was great at all local ski areas last weekend and during the week. Conditions are very good for this weekend with day and night skiing at Alpine Valley, Mt. Christie, Mt. Holly, Dryden, Grampian Mt., Mt. Brighton and Summit.

Cass Lake Ice Yachts in Regatta on St. Clair

Seven boats from the Cass Lake Yacht Club will compete in the Lake St. Clair regatta this weekend. A total of 150 boats are expected to compete in the three day affair starting Friday and continuing through Sunday in seven different classes.

* * *

The regatta will take place off Jefferson Avenue between Metropolitan Beach and Selfridge Air Base.

The Cass Lake club will take part Saturday. Sunday the ice boaters will have their own weekly races at Cass Lake near the Pontiac Yacht Club.

Mt. Brighton's Opening

Mt. Brighton ski area has been open since the start of current ski season, but Saturday night it will be "official."

* * *

The area will open its "Geneva Room," a dining area for 150 persons. The room will be available for banquets and parties.

GI Checks Top $240 Million

Distributing Dividends to 4.7 Million Holders of Insurance Policies

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than $240 million in dividends is being distributed this year to over 4.7 million GI insurance policyholders, Veterans Administrator John S. Gleason Jr., announced today.

Gleason said checks will be issued or the money will be deposited to the credit of the policyholder on the anniversary date of the policies, as is the usual custom.

Last year the payment was speeded up at the direction of President Kennedy in an effort to aid the national economy, and later a special dividend was distributed.

This year's dividends will include about $225 million for almost 4.5 million World War II veterans holding participating policies. Some 228,000 World War I veterans with such policies will get about $16 million.

The average will be about $50 for the World War II veterans and about $70 for those of World War I.

The annual dividends are primarily a return of part of the premiums paid, since the death rate of veterans continues to be less than estimated in the mortality tables upon which the premium rates were set by law.

Town Has No Births, Deaths or Marriages

SEARSBURG, Vt. (AP)—For the first time in the 136-year history of this tiny town there were no births, deaths or marriages recorded during an entire year.

Town Clerk George Briggs said today the community's records go back to 1825. Searsburg has a population of 74.

Urge State Building in Center of Lansing

LANSING (AP)—The Greater Lansing Chamber of Commerce has opened a drive to urge the state to start a building program in the downtown Lansing Capitol area this year.

Mr. Gen. Ronald G. McDonald, state adjutant general and incoming chamber president warned:

"State agencies are talking about moving to other areas or to rural areas. This is big business, and we can't afford to lose it."

Howard J. Stoddard, Lansing banker who recently headed the constitutional convention convention preparatory commission, was named chairman of a chamber committee to work for capitol development.

Lincoln Hall Formed to Prevent 'White Slavery'

School Has Spent Century Reclaiming Delinquents

BY BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK—A century ago, New York City had a cruel but positive way of dealing with its juvenile delinquents.

Civil war orphans, children of destitute Irish, German and Italian immigrants, and others who got in trouble with the police were rounded up like wild beasts, shipped westward and virtually sold to farmers and ranchers in search of cheap labor.

The practice so offended Archbishop John Hughes that he formed a board of laymen and ministers, including Dr. Silliman Ives, a former Episcopal bishop of North Carolina. The board went under the jaw-breaking title of the Society for the Protection of Destitute Roman Catholic Children in the City of New York.

It is still going strong as Lincoln Hall, a school run by a lay group and taught by Christian Brothers. It is located on 900 acres of rolling Westchester County farmland.

★ ★ ★

There is no fence around it. Though each of the boys is "committed" by a court, there are few runaways. The good grub, the sports programs, trade schools and the example of the dedicated Brothers combines into an almost irresistible magnet.

In time, a boy sent there as homeless or a menace to society is ready to be passed along to what are called "half-way" houses, private families willing to take the reclaimed boy into their midst and give him a little home life, the lack of which got him into into original trouble.

Thus . . . this salute to a century of service, never easy at any time through the 10 decades, yet always magnificently rewarding.

B52 DREAM COME TRUE

That SAC B52M which recently flew nonstop and unrefueled 12,000 and more miles from Okinawa to Madrid came a long way, even before it took off.

The B52 was born in the minds of Gen. Curt LeMay, George Kenney and a few others just 16 years ago. It was first thought of as a propeller-driven bomber.

They kept their dream to themselves and the Boeing people until September 1947 when the public was informed that a bomber of that designation might one day become the Free World's number one deterrent. By that time it could be said the B52 would be jet-propelled.

But not until March 15, 1951, was the money forthcoming for production tooling. The first flight was on April 15, 1952, and SAC's 93rd Bomb Wing, Castle AFB, Calif., got the first one. That was on June 29, 1955, nine and a half years after the birth of the dream.

The impact of the remarkable aircraft on the public itself had to wait until Jan. 15, 1957, when three of them flew around the world nonstop in 45 hours and 19 minutes—24,325 miles at 520 m.p.h.

The refinements never stop in this business. The "H" model of the B52 has a wingspread that would take up nearly two-thirds of a football field.

Its tail stands four stories high. It weighs 488,000 pounds. It flies at 650 miles an hour and better than 60,000 feet.

It's lone gun, a Gatling cannon, can squirt 6,000 shells 20 mm per minute. It carries ECM electronic counter measures equipment which can make it "invisible" to enemy radar and "defleet" on-coming antiaircraft missile fire.

It will soon carry four Skybolt solid-fuel nuclear-tipped air-to-ground ballistic missiles built to be launched 1,000 miles from a target. Its bomb-bay can carry a vast assortment of additional A-bombs and H-bombs.

Science at Work

Rate '61 Quiet Year for Earthquakes

By The Associated Press

Mother Earth taking a breather from earthquakes; the possible magic of souped-up light; and aerial typewriting are among the latest subjects for science at work.

Although plenty of major political rumblings occurred on its surface during 1961, the earth last year was comparatively quiet by the standpoint of producing internal rumblings — earthquakes, that is.

U.S. Coast and Geodetic Survey seismologists told a reporter the year was a weak one for earthquakes—with only a few really big temblors occurring, and these at widely separated places.

As in other years, there were numerous small quakes. But even so, earthquake activity for the year was happily below average.

Their explanation:

Mother Earth was, in effect, pretty bushed after rumbling in real tough fashion the year before —when she loosed such major quakes as the Chilean one that spawned a great tidal wave in the Pacific Ocean.

SOUPED-UP LIGHT

Keep the name LASER under your hat. Some day, devices bearing that moniker may vastly increase the range of space communication; make possible knife-less surgery; allow transmission of 100 million simultaneous telephone calls; and even provide a new form of death ray.

* * *

Navy and other scientists say such possibilities are envisioned from still highly experimental research on the LASER technique, more formally known as "Light Amplification By Stimulated Emission of Radiation."

LASER is a system for amplifying and sharpening weak waves of light to produce a very narrow, powerful beam—and the ultimate hope is to employ optical waves in much the same way radio waves are now used.

Its secret is based on the fact that if certain chemicals, gaseous or solid, are excited to emit light —for example, under the influence of an electric current—the weak light will further interact with atoms of the material. Under proper conditions, the original waves of light are thereby intensified.

AERIAL TYPIST

Now we have skytyping by airplanes as well as the more familiar skywriting.

As described in Ethyl News, five airplanes fly parallel courses in tight formation and shoot out staccato smoke bursts electronically. The idea is to get a skywritten advertisement out fast before poor weather sets in.

* * *

In the typing technique, one central-control pilot in the squadron operates a radio transmitter which sends impulses to receivers in the other planes—triggering smoke valves.

Urges Tax Break for Bus Lines

Geerlings Bill Would Retain Reduced Levies for Private Companies

* * *

"The state loses no revenue under this bill, since bankrupt bus companies pay no taxes nor are municipalities forced to take them over," said Geerlings, chairman of the Senate Taxation Committee.

The present law providing a tax break for the private bus lines is due to expire Feb. 28. It allows a flat $25 fee tax on buses instead of the former average of around $300 per bus.

As a result of the reduction in taxes Geerlings said Wednesday, all but one of the privately owned bus lines in operation two years ago are still in business. The exception is the Intertown Suburban Lines, which formerly served the area, downriver from Detroit.

* * *

"There is no way of knowing how many of them would have quit business if the legislature had not granted that relief," Geerlings said. "I am told several cities might not now have bus service."

Geerlings cited Grand Rapids, Muskegon and Lansing as among cities needing the relief.

Sen. Harold M. Ryan, D-Detroit, introduced a pair of bills to reduce taxes on contractors.

TO END SOME TAXES

One would repeal the four per cent use tax on federal contract work. The other would exempt from property taxation all construction in progress for a period of up to two years.

* * *

Ryan also introduced a bill asking for an appropriation to establish an office of the State Economic Development Department in Washington, D.C. — one of the suggestions of Gov. Swainson in his message on economic growth.

Albania Says Tito, K Splitting Commies

VIENNA (UPI)—Albania has accused Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev and Yugoslavia of working together "like good pals" to divide and demolish the Communist camp.

A 4,300-word editorial in the official Albanian Communist party newspaper Zeri I Popullit (People's Voice) said Yugoslavia considered "revisionism" and that Russia was coming closer each day. It said the struggle against revisionism must be waged until it is crushed.

Ministers Unable to Get Graham to Address Unit

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The Michigan Pastors' Conference has asked evangelist Billy Graham to speak at next year's convention.

But the Baptist minister's office said he expects to be in the Far East at this time next year.

* * *

The Rev. Dewitt C. Baldwin, coordinator of religious affairs for the University of Michigan, said "we wanted to get one of the great evangelists of our age and to get a fiery spiritual message. We have more liberal speakers and we want to balance out the program with a conservative like Billy Graham."

Cancel Book Citing Church Differences

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The United Lutheran Church said Wednesday it has canceled publication of a book citing differences between Catholics and Lutherans.

Cancellation of the book, in preparation since 1957, was made in the interest of fostering understanding between the two faiths, said the Rev. Dr. Arthur H. Getz, a member of the Lutheran's Board of Parish Education.

"At the time that the book was projected it may have been timely to stress the differences, but more recently the emphasis has been upon 'conversations' between the two faiths, and upon understanding each other," Dr. Getz added.

The Board of Parish Education is responsible for preparing all education material used by the 4,600 congregations of the church.

The 21-member board approved the cancellation unanimously, Dr. Getz said.

About two of seven auto drivers in the U.S. have been given police tags for one or another kind of traffic violations over recent years.

Trading Is Relatively Quiet

Mart Price Pattern Is Mixed

Losses of key stocks went from fractions to about 2 points. They were balanced pretty evenly by gains of fractions to a point or so.

* * *

A few specially-situated or more volatile issues took wider losses.

The list remained uninspired by good news such as the report of new records for incoming business and sales of durable goods in December. Moderate selling pressure continued on some high quality issues which retreated in yesterday's sharp selling wave.

Losses of around 2 points were shown by American Tobacco and Goodyear. Polaroid lost about 5.

FEELS TURMOIL

South Puerto Rico Sugar, still upset by political turmoil in the Dominican Republic where the company has about two-thirds of its operations, was delayed in opening. It fell 4 points to 28¾ on opening blocks of 12,000 and 21,500 shares, widened its loss to more than 5, then recovered to show a net loss exceeding 4 points.

* * *

Some blue chips rebounded nicely. International Business Machines won back about 5 points of its recent losses. Eastman Kodak and Goodrich recovered more than a point each. Union Carbide, American Smelting and General Electric recouped fractions.

Prices were mixed on the American Stock Exchange. Trading was moderate. Gainers included Webb & Knapp, Technicolor, Signal Oil "A," Admiral Plastics and Ogden Corp. Mead Johnson lost about a point. Other losers included Occidental Petroleum, New England Telephone, Peruvian Oils & Minerals and Massey-Ferguson.

Bonds Steady at Close

Over-the-counter dealers in U.S. government securities posted almost no price changes among intermediate and long issues. There was little activity.

The 4s of 1969, reoffered in the Treasury's latest financing operation, fell 2/32s from Wednesday's close of 99 20/32 bid.

* * *

Among the few changes amounting to a full point or more were Union Oil of California 4¾s, off 1 at 104.

Macy convertible 5s fell 3 at 205½ at one time.

Grant Egbert Delay in Trial

S-P President Charged With Offering to Fight Striker at Plant

* * *

Egbert did not appear in South Bend City Court, but was represented by a company attorney, Joseph W. Roper. The 41-year-old executive remained free on $50 bond.

Egbert made no comment after his arrest Wednesday night, but a company spokesman denied that a fight challenge was made.

The Studebaker-Packard plant has been shut down by a United Auto Workers strike since Jan. 2.

Lloyd Richards, 40, a truck driver who has been employed by the auto manufacturing firm for 21 years, swore out the affidavit against Egbert, and prosecutor Patrick Brennan of St. Joseph County signed it.

ALLEGED CHALLENGE

Richards alleged in the affidavit that Egbert challenged him to physical violence at the picket line in front of the plant. Richards said he was not on picket duty at the time but was taking pictures. He said he had served as a picket last week.

* * *

Richards said he swore out the affidavit on his own initiative and "wasn't prompted by the union" to file the charge.

C. M. MacMillan, Studebaker-Packard vice president for industrial relations, who was present, denied that Egbert challenged anybody. He said the incident was "highly exaggerated."

Broad Liquidation Cuts Grain Prices

CHICAGO (AP) — Broad and fairly general liquidation weakened grain futures prices today in early transactions on the board of trade.

* * *

Wheat, rye and soybeans were down major fractions in spots with offerings meeting a rather indifferent reception during the first several minutes. Commercial buying was black all around.

Effect of Tariff Cuts on Car Mart Uncertain

BY BEN PHLEGAR
AP Automotive Writer

DETROIT — The tariff-cutting agreement between the United States and the Common Market countries of Europe, announced this week, will have a definite effect on the automobile business but no one yet is certain what it will be.

THE POSSIBILITIES

These are among the possibilities:

1. Increased use of American-made parts in automobiles assembled inside the Common Market by American companies.

2. Increased use of foreign-made parts in United States cars.

3. Increased sales of imported cars in this country.

* * *

The agreements provide for a tariff reduction from the present 29 per cent to 22 per cent on American-built cars shipped into the six Common Market countries —Belgium, Luxembourg, and the Netherlands, France, Italy and West Germany; a cut from 18 to 14 per cent on auto parts shipped to those countries; a reduction in U.S. tariff on European cars from 8.5 to 6.5 per cent and on European parts from 10 per cent to 8.4 per cent.

The reduction on fully-assembled cars exported to Western Europe, while substantial, probably won't cause any noticeable increase in exports.

NOT HEAVY BUYERS

The Common Market countries are not heavy buyers of American-built cars, taking less than 5 per cent of all car and truck exports as a rule.

One reason is that the major American manufacturers have assembly plants in the area which supply what demand there is for the larger cars.

General Motors and Ford have plants in Antwerp, Chrysler is located at Rotterdam and this month American Motors will begin producing Ramblers at Haren, near Brussels, in an agreement with Renault.

Most of these plants use a mixture of American and locally produced parts. It may eventually prove advantageous to use more American parts.

More than half of American auto exports consists of parts. In 1959, for example, total United States auto exports were valued at $1.28 billion of which fully assembled cars and trucks accounted for $617.7 million, mostly to Canada and South America.

On the other hand, domestic manufacturers have been giving careful consideration to the cost of importing certain parts from their foreign subsidiaries.

* * *

Ford already uses a small percentage of German and English components in its compact cars. But most of the speculation has centered around Ford's smaller car, the Cardinal, which is reported ready for introduction in the summer.

The Cardinal is said to use several major parts from abroad in keeping with Ford's announced hopes of making its worldwide operations more compatible.

School Board to Save Interest

Pontiac Group Will Buy Back $600,000 Callable Bonds in March 1963

Pontiac School District taxpayers are expected to save from $10,000 to $15,000 a year in interest on a $1-million bond issue, as a result of a Pontiac Board of Education vote last night.

The board adopted a resolution to buy back on March 1, 1963, $600,000 of callable bonds dated July 1, 1961. That promise is expected to lower the interest rate by one to 1¼ per cent.

The bond issue, which already had been approved on June 1, 1961, would pay for the completion of Jefferson Junior High School and provide approximately $430,000 of the 1961-62 building program of which the Northern High School addition is the primary part.

Former Board Member Louis H. Schimmel, a municipal finance expert, explained the need for the promise to call back the bonds before their legal 25-year maturity.

Since the Pontiac district is able to pay off bonds in less than 25 years, he said, it would not be economical to buy back the bonds over 25 years which would raise interest rates.

* * *

The promise to buy back in March 1963 the $600,000 worth of callable bonds, which would begin to mature March 1, 1966 through 1987 would enable bond buyers to lower their interest demands.

At current rates, this would lower interest from 3.6 per cent to 2½.

Bids on the bond issue will be opened at the next board meeting, Jan. 25, Supt. Dana P. Whitmer said.

Michigan Drivers Take Economy Run Victories

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP)— Bill Horton of 312 Canal St., Milford, Mich., drove a Chevrolet Bel Air to an average of 19.289 miles per gallon of gasoline in economy trials at the Daytona International Speedway Tuesday.

He led in class 4 for small V8 engines. Les Vilan of Livonia, Mich., led in class 3 for medium V8 engines with 20.214 miles in a Rambler Ambassador.

Reciprocal Trade Talks Pushed by Henry Ford II

NEW YORK (AP) — Henry Ford II Wednesday night called for stepped up reciprocal trade negotiations to minimize Europe's external trade barriers.

The automotive executive told the 20th anniversary dinner of the Advertising Council the United States' tariff-cutting pact just completed with the six-member European Common Market offered "promise of some gain" in getting concessions from Europe for the elimination of more American goods.

Ford praised President Kennedy's drive to get congressional approval for "freedom to wheel and deal" in getting trade concessions from Europe.

He urged that reciprocal trade negotiations should now be pushed "on an even bigger and broader scale" to minimize Europe's external trade barriers.

* * *

At the same time the head of a company with a number of plants abroad warned against "a new protectionism" that would discourage such private investment abroad, "particularly a recent legislative proposal to tax foreign income at source."

The Advertising Council's president, Neil McElroy, chairman of the Proctor & Gamble Co., presented the automobile manufacturer with the council's 1960 public service award, citing him as "the rebuilder of the Ford Motor Co.," for his work with the Ford Foundation, and as an alternate American delegate to the Eighth General Assembly of the United Nations.

EUROPE'S POWER GROWS

"Europe united is a far more formidable force in every respect than Europe divided," Ford said. "Its power in dealing with other great powers—ourselves included —is growing fast.

"It is the United States is to be influential in the economic, political and military decisions of Europe, it must become a near partner in European affairs, not a distant cousin."

Americans must now work and fight hard for their share of markets, the auto maker said.

Firm to Take In 50 From Detroit Oil Seal Plant

A Pontiac manufacturer of oil seals, the Universal Oil Seal Co., will take in 50 employes from a sister operation in Detroit which is being dissolved.

* * *

The parent organization of Universal Oil-Seal, the Chicago Rawhide Co. of Chicago, has sold its Detroit oil-seal stamping plant to the Wm. S. Webb Co. of Detroit, manufacturer of coveyors.

Part of the Detroit oil seal operation and manpower will be transferred to the Chicago home plant, and the remaining 50 men and some operations will be transferred to the Pontiac plant at 34 W. Kennett Road.

* * *

At present the Pontiac plant employs about 140. It manufactures and assembles oil seals for engines for aircraft, automobiles, marine equipment and production machinery.

Good Year Predicted by MSU Economist

EAST LANSING (AP) — A Michigan State University economist predicts a better year for Michigan and the nation in 1962.

Dr. Eli P. Cox, director of the Bureau of Business and Economic Research at MSU, said he expects a rise in nearly every major sector of the national economy.

Cox said there are signs that the American consumer has loosened his purse strings and is going into the market place to spend some of his money.

Test Drivers Given Trophies for Safety

Test drivers of the Pontiac Motor Division and the Proving Ground Garage Department have each received a million-mile safe-driving trophy, upon completing one million miles of test driving on the Proving Ground without a driver-caused accident.

* * *

The awards were made to each of the driver foremen, Kenneth L. Gardner, William H. Hance Jr., Louis W. Caswell (Proving Ground Garage Department) and Alfred G. Cooper, George D. Robinson, Daniel J. Bailey (Pontiac Division) representing the men on their shifts.

* * *

Their present award was made on the basis of 1,045,415 accident-free miles accumulated between Feb. 17, 1961 and Jan. 4, 1962. The million mile record is the best safe driving accomplishment by the Pontiac drivers since Pontiac Division started operations at the Proving Grounds.

News in Brief

Someone broke into the First General Baptist Church, 249 Baldwin Ave., and ransacked rooms and offices during the previous night, it was reported to Pontiac police yesterday morning. Nothing was reported stolen.

A shed valued at $150, and $1,200 worth of welding equipment were destroyed in a fire last night at 4810 Cherry Court, Highland Township, according to Oakland County Sheriff's deputies. The owner, Fred Cook, said the blaze broke out while he was welding in the shed next to his home.

Detroit Area Firms Get Jobs Worth $1 Million

DETROIT (AP) — The Army Ordnance Tank-Automotive Command says Detroit area firms were given contracts for $1,211,699 Wednesday.

Chrysler Corp. received a $473,967 contract for 225 carry-all trucks; Ford was given an award of $138,453 for 32 dump trucks; Chevrolet received a $464,864 contract for telephone maintenance and utility trucks, and the Fruehauf Trailer Co. was given a $44,108 contract for trailer assemblies.

Father of Retarded 3 Asks Swainson's Help

LANSING (AP) — Tom Bradley, worried and distraught, admitted he has just about come to the end of his rope.

Bradley, a lean and good-looking six-footer, is the father of eight children, the oldest 14 and the youngest eight months. Two boys and a girl are mentally retarded, certified by the probate court a year ago for emergency admission to a state home and training school.

All three are among 1,521 adults and children still on waiting lists at state institutions for the mentally retarded.

* * *

The youngest, 8-year-old Dennis, is in a nursing home temporarily. But Bradley, 37, says his salary as purchasing agent for Redford Township in suburban Detroit will not cover the $5.50 a day it costs to keep him there much longer.

"I'm in debt up to my ears," he told Zolton Ferency, the governor's executive secretary.

WORRIES ABOUT WIFE

"But it's not debts or myself that I'm worried about," he added quickly. "It's my wife Lorraine. She has to live with the situation 24 hours a day. The doctor has told me that unless we can do something about it, she's going to end up in a mental institution herself."

* * *

Swainson remembered Bradley from the days when the governor was making his first campaign for state senator in 1954. Bradley tacked up campaign posters and distributed literature for the Democratic party.

"I knew about Tom's problem, but I didn't know it was as serious as this," the governor told a reporter. "I asked the mental health department last year to see what they could do about it, but I didn't ask them to admit his children ahead of somebody else higher on the waiting list.

"I do think, however, that families with more than one mentally retarded child waiting for admission should get special consideration."

Swainson noted that his 1962 program for mental health, submitted to the legislature yesterday, called for immediate construction of additional facilities for the mentally retarded. It also proposed expansion of local facilities for treatment of less serious cases.

NEWS OF THE AREA

To Consider Reorganizing Avondale School Setup

The Avondale Citizens School Study Committee will look over plans of a subcommittee to reorganize the school system's grade setup along conventional lines when it meets Monday evening.

The subcommittee suggests the system set up six elementary grades, three in junior high and three in high school. Presently the district employs a 5-3-4 arrangement.

Taking charge of the 8 p.m. general meeting will be newly chosen chairman of the steering committee, McAllister Stock, of 425 E. South Boulevard, Pontiac Township.

The committee also will consider plans submitted by subcommittees on projected population and enrollment figures. In addition, the group will study curriculum and educational program plans for the elementary schools.

Also the unit will take up the question of how future enrollment should be distributed between the three school levels.

* * *

The group's recommendations could have a considerable effect on the school system, Stock said.

The present system which has resulted in crowding the high school, was adopted by the board of education to relieve crowding in the elementary schools, Supt. L. R. Watt said.

If the committee comes up with a recommendation that the board change to a six-year elementary school program and shave the four-year high school setup, the decision would affect future building programs.

* * *

According to Stock, many parents have asked that the 6-3-3 distribution be adopted.

* * *

The study committee is working with data projected for the next five years.

It will turn next to financial and transportation problems faced by the school system.

Tickets may be purchased at the door.

$1,000 Allocated [illegible]

Walled Lake Group to Hire Professional on Revising Zoning

WALLED LAKE — The city plan commission has been empowered by the City Council to hire a professional planning consultant to assist the nine-member group in carrying out its duties.

The council allocated $1,000 for the remainder of the year to be used for the consultant's fee, materials and research cost necessary to revising the present zoning ordinance.

The funds also can be used for registering members of the commission in any one-day planning conference held at a college or university within a 35-mile radius of city.

The council said that while limiting the commission to $1,000, it is very likely that the allocation would be increased if necessary.

The consultant would be used primarily to train members of the commission in planning procedures and techniques.

Ice Floes Halt River Traffic on Mississippi

CAIRO, Ill. (AP)—A congestion of ice floes blocking the Mississippi River since Friday may prevent resumption of river traffic for at least five days, the Weather Bureau said Wednesday.

More than 250 barges have been berthed at this junction of the Ohio and Mississippi rivers while tugs and towboats back at the stubborn ice. The gorge extends 10 miles downstream from Fayville, and is 10 feet thick in some places.

To Make Up Deficit

Southfield Approves Reassessment Move

SOUTHFIELD — Nearly $25,000 of a $54,000 city deficit due to low assessment estimates will be collected by respreading costs for paving, water and sewer projects undertaken during the 1959-60 fiscal year.

The City Council approved the action to reassess the property in question at a public hearing last night at the Southfield High School.

Only mild protests were heard from a few of the more than 200 homeowners who attended the meeting. The council had expected more than 500 persons at the hearing.

The move to reassess all the property that the state will allow under law will cost the individual property owners living in certain assessment districts anywhere from five to 68 cents more a front foot for the completed projects.

City officials claim that the deficit is due to improper assessing procedures during the last administration.

In addition to the amount that the state says can be reassessed, the law also limits the amount of money that the city can retain if construction costs are below the original assessment. The city has to refund the excess to the homeowner.

* * *

At this time the city has not finished its computations on just how much will have to be returned.

CD Workers to Be Honored

Says Footprints Proof of Guilt

Prosecutor Charges Man's Tracks Found at Scene of Murder

NEWBERRY (AP)—"A man might lie when talking, but cannot forge footprints made in the sand."

Prosecutor John Shimmens said he would back up this statement with testimony today at the trial of James Yenik, 38, on a first-degree murder charge in the slaying of 14-year-old Michael Richmond.

Michael was found shot to death last July 28 in the brush near a road intersection 15 miles east of Newberry.

In his opening statement to a Circuit Court jury yesterday Shimmens said he had 173 boot-prints taken from soft sand at the scene of the slaying.

'CAN'T BE FORGED'

He declared, "Yenik's own tracks would convict him because he has a peculiar walk that cannot be forged."

Yenik, an auto worker who was on vacation in Upper Michigan, claims an alibi. He says he was from 20 to 30 miles away from the scene of the killing. Yenik is a bachelor whose hobbies are hunting and collecting guns.

The prosecutor said Yenik has been under close observation since his arrest.

Plans New Try at Redesigning Michigan's Flag

LANSING (AP) — Sen. Harold M. Ryan, D-Detroit, planned another try at changing the state flag today — with hopes no one would add "Soapy's" bow tie to kill the bill.

Ryan tried for the flag change last year. His design for the new flag included two gold lines connecting Michigan's peninsula's to represent the Mackinac Bridge.

The measure was being taken seriously until an amendment was added to change the lines to a green and white bow tie — the trademark of former Gov. G. Mennen Williams. Then it was defeated.

Mary Brown Married

The bridegroom is the son of Frank Hebner of Burlington Township, and the late Mrs. Hebner.

The bride wore a floor-length white satin dress and carried a bridal bouquet of pink sweetheart roses. Her fingertip veil was held in place by a headpiece decorated with sequins and pearls.

Serving as maid of honor was the bride's cousin, Ann Brown. Bernard Willson was best man.

The Browns are living in Clifford.

Con-Con Invites Baruch to Talk

New Committee Urges Request for Speech by Elder Statesman

LANSING (UPI) — Constitutional convention President Stephen S. Nisbet has issued an invitation to Bernard Baruch, elder statesman and perennial adviser to U.S. presidents to appear before the Michigan convention.

* * *

The invitation was sent at the request of Frank G. Millard, R-Flint, former state attorney general, chairman of the convention's new committee on emerging problems.

The new committee was appointed to look into matters not now in the constitution but which may become serious issues in the foreseeable future.

"We felt that Mr. Baruch's vast knowledge and experience would be invaluable in guiding the work of our committee," Millard said.

Nisbet's invitation urged Baruch to appear before the committee and also the entire convention.

* * *

Millard told the committee Wednesday that other national figures would also be invited to appear on various matters which may prove to be the key issues of the future.

There was no indication whether Baruch would accept the invitation.

Re-Elected President of Law Officers Unit

Capt. Lee Hazen of the Oakland Sheriff's Department was re-elected president of the Oakland County Law Enforcement Association Tuesday night.

Other officers named were Orchard Lake Police Chief Elmer Peters, first vice president; State Police Sgt. Mike Ahlgrim, second vice president; and Novi Police Chief Lee Beagle, secretary-treasurer.

The five directors of the board are Wolverine Lake Police Chief Glenn Smith, Capt. Walter Shiker of Bloomfield Hills, Lt. Merlin Holmquist of Birmingham, Lt. Clayton Randolph of Pontiac, and Palmer Wee of the FBI office in Pontiac.

UP Board Will Discuss Harbors, Bridge Tolls

MARQUETTE (AP) — Subjects ranging from harbor development to tolls for the Mackinac Bridge will be discussed Friday at the first meeting of the Upper Peninsula Advisory Board of the Michigan Economic Development Commission.

Dr. Edgar L. Harden, president of the Northern Michigan College and board chairman, said the group will come up with recommendations for greater development of the Upper Peninsula.

Ten million persons are employed in the United States in the storing, transporting, processing and merchandising of agricultural products.

PUBLIC SALE

At 9:00 a.m. on January 26th, 1962, a 1960 Renault 5 Cv Dauphine Sedan, serial number 3656763, will be sold at public sale at Woodward Ardmore Service Station, 22500 Woodward Ave., Ferndale, Michigan, that address being where the vehicle is stored and may be inspected.

Jan. 18 and 19, 1962

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO CONSTRUCT grade and gravel and related work on Locke Street.

You are hereby notified that at a regular meeting of the Commission of the City of Pontiac, Michigan, held January 16, 1962, by resolution it was declared to be the intention of the City Commission to construct grade, gravel and related work on Locke Street from Bay Street to east end of street at an estimated cost of $5,201.00, and that the plan, profile and estimate of said improvement is on file for public inspection.

It is further intended to construct said improvement in accordance with the plan, profile and estimate, and that the cost thereof shall be defrayed by special assessment according to frontage and that all of the lots and parcels of land fronting upon either side of Locke Street from Bay Street to east end of street shall constitute the special assessment district to defray $2,700.83 of the estimated cost and expenses thereof and that $2,590.17 of the estimated cost and expenses thereof shall be paid from the Capital Improvement Fund.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN

That the Commission of the City of Pontiac, Michigan, will meet in the Commission Chamber on January 23, 1962, at 8 o'clock p.m. to hear suggestions and objections that may be made by parties interested.

OFFICIAL NOTICE OF SALE
$6,000,000

County of Oakland, State of Michigan, Motor Vehicle Highway Fund Bonds.

Sealed bids for the purchase of "Motor Vehicle Highway Fund Bonds" to be issued by the County of Oakland, State of Michigan, of the par value of $6,000,000, will be received by the undersigned, at his office in the Oakland County Road Commission building, 2420 Pontiac Lake Road, Pontiac, Michigan, until 10:00 o'clock a.m., Eastern Standard Time, on Tuesday, the 6th day of February, 1962, at which time and place said bids will be publicly opened and read, and will be presented to the Oakland County Board of Supervisors for action at its meeting to be held at 11:30 a.m. on the same day.

Said bonds will be dated January 1, 1962, will be registrable as to principal only, will be numbered consecutively in the direct order of their maturities from 1 to 6,000, both inclusive, will be coupon bonds in the denomination of $1,000 each, and will bear interest from their date at a rate or rates not exceeding 5% per annum, payable on July 1, 1962, and thereafter semi-annually on January 1 and July 1. Each bid shall state the annual interest rate or rates upon which it is submitted, expressed in multiples of ¼ of 1%. The interest for each coupon period on any one bond shall be at one rate only and shall be represented by one coupon only. Accrued interest to date of delivery of such bonds must be paid by the purchaser at the time of delivery.

Said bonds will mature serially on the 1st day of July in years and principal amounts as follows:

Year of Maturity	Principal Amount	Year of Maturity	Principal Amount
1963	$200,000	1973	$300,000
1964	210,000	1974	310,000
1965	215,000	1975	325,000
1966	225,000	1976	335,000
1967	235,000	1977	350,000
1968	250,000	1978	365,000
1969	260,000	1979	375,000
1970	270,000	1980	390,000
1971	280,000	1981	400,000
1972	290,000	1982	415,000

Bonds maturing in the years 1973 thru 1982 shall be subject to redemption prior to maturity at the option of the county, in inverse numerical order, on any one or more interest payment dates on and after July 1, 1972, at the par value thereof and accrued interest, plus a premium on each bond in accordance with the following schedule:

$30 if called to be redeemed on or after July 1, 1972 but prior to July 1, 1974

$20 if called to be redeemed on or after July 1, 1974 but prior to July 1, 1976

$10 if called to be redeemed on or after July 1, 1976 but prior to July 1, 1978

No premium if called to be redeemed on or after July 1, 1978.

Notice of redemption shall be given to the holders of the bonds to be redeemed, by publication of such notice not less than thirty (30) days prior to the date fixed for redemption, at least once in a newspaper or publication circulated in the City of Detroit, Michigan, which carries as a part of its regular service, notices of the sale of municipal bonds, or if any of said bonds shall be registered, notice of the redemption thereof shall also be sent by registered mail to the registered holders, at least thirty (30) days prior to the date fixed for redemption. Both principal and interest will be payable at such bank or trust company as shall be designated by the original purchaser of the bonds. A co-paying agent or agents may also be so designated.

The bonds are to be issued under Act No. 61, Michigan Public Acts of 1951, as amended (especially Section 18c thereof), for the purpose of defraying a part of the cost of constructing and reconstructing highways in the primary road system of the county. The principal and interest on said bonds are payable primarily from Motor Vehicle Highway Funds derived from state-collected taxes to be returned to the Board of County Road Commissioners of said county pursuant to said Act and an irrevocable appropriation and pledge of an amount thereof sufficient to pay such principal and interest has been made by the County Board of Supervisors. Such appropriation and pledge is subject, however, to the priority of pledges heretofore made by contract with the State Highway Commissioner for payment of an aggregate amount of $106,000 per year to finance construction of the Farmington-Brighton Expressway and the Northwestern Expressway. Pledges of equal priority with the pledge for the bonds herein offered for sale may be made for payment of future county bonds, notes or contractual obligations, within limitations prescribed by said Act No. 51. In the event that moneys pledged are not sufficient to pay principal and interest on the bonds herein offered for sale, the County Treasurer is obligated, under resolution of the Board of Supervisors, to advance the amount of the deficiency from general funds of the county.

For the purpose of awarding the bonds the interest cost of each bid will be computed by determining, at the rate or rates specified therein, the total dollar value of all interest on the bonds from March 1, 1962, to their respective maturities and deducting therefrom any premium. The bonds will be awarded to the bidder whose bid on the above computation produces the lowest interest cost to the county. No proposal for the purchase of less than all of the bonds or at a price less than their par value will be considered.

A certified or cashier's check in the amount of $120,000 drawn upon an incorporated bank or trust company and payable to the order of the County Treasurer must accompany each bid as a guarantee of good faith on the part of the bidder, to be forfeited as liquidated damages if such bid be accepted and the bidder fails to take up and pay for the bonds. No interest shall be allowed on the good faith checks and checks of the unsuccessful bidders will be promptly returned to each bidder's representative or by registered mail.

Bids shall be conditioned upon the unqualified opinion of Dickinson, Wright, McKean & Cudlip (Claude H. Stevens, of Counsel), attorneys, Detroit, Michigan, approving the legality of the bonds. The cost of said legal opinion and of the printing of the bonds will be paid by the county. There will also be furnished the usual closing documents, including a non-litigation certificate, dated as of the date of delivery of the bonds. Bonds will be delivered at New York, N.Y., Chicago, Illinois, or such other place as may be agreed upon by the county and the purchaser.

Envelopes containing the bids should be plainly marked "Proposal for Bonds."

Glamorous Rita . . . 12 Years Ago

Hollywood Goddess' Buggy Ride Is Brief

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD — The terrible pitfall of becoming a movie goddess is that the buggy ride is a brief one.

Twelve years ago Rita Hayworth was an international glamour girl, the wife of a prince, adored by millions, sought after for parties and target "A" for the wolf pack.

There were lavish villas, world travel, champagne corks popping like rifle fire—all for Rita.

Now, as happened so frequently in movies starring the red-haired beauty, let's dissolve the happy scene into a different time and setting. Say, a dozen years ago.

It is January 1962. Rita, her legs still slender and shapely, sits alone in her Chateau Marmont Hotel suite. It is plainly furnished and small. The view looks down on the Sunset Strip where a statue of Bullwinkle Moose (the TV cartoon figure) revolves endlessly.

★ ★ ★

Rita is dressed in an attractive suit. Her eyes are tired and she appears to be very shy.

TOO EXPENSIVE

"I moved in here for the holidays," she said hesitatingly. "The children were with me and I needed some room. Tomorrow I will move into a small suite.

★ ★ ★

"It was too expensive for me to move into the Bel Air Hotel. I didn't want to waste thousands of dollars."

This from a star who once was married to great wealth.

In a corner of the room stood Rita's golf bag. She nodded toward it and said, "I love to play golf. In fact I'm going to play tomorrow. I have a lot of time for it now."

Rita's latest movie, "The Happy Thieves," was completed last May. She hasn't worked since.

"I'm looking for some good scripts," she said. "So far I haven't felt like doing any television, but I may do a few things in the future. If you love making movies and enjoy the medium it is difficult to go into TV and then return to pictures."

Five times married and divorced—to oilman Ed Judson, Orson Welles, Dick Haymes, Aly Khan, producer James Hill—Rita is the mother of two daughters, Rebecca Welles, 17, and Princess Yasmin, 12.

On the wall was a poster-sized painting of a couple dancing in a night club. It was imaginative and well-done.

"Yasmin did it for me in Switzerland last year," the proud mother said. "She's back there in school now. Yasmin is really a lovely little girl. I miss her."

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

The glamour is missing, the champagne corks don't pop as they once did and the excitement doesn't flitter down to the average moviegoer as in days gone by.

It is an occupational hazard of movie goddesses.

We Must All Pull Together, Warns GOP State Senator

LANSING (AP) — Sen. Frank D. Beadle, R-St. Clair, Senate majority leader, has told Senate Republicans they should work together on a legislative program instead of splitting up into splinter groups.

Beadle stated his views in a Senate Republican caucus Wednesday.

He also said he would not rule out an income tax as a solution to the state's money problems—indicating a further drift toward the tax among Republicans.

Four Senate members considered among the so-called moderates said this week they would favor an income tax. Republicans have firmly rejected an income tax solution to the state's fiscal troubles since it was proposed by former Gov. G. Mennen Williams.

Citizens for Michigan, a non-partisan organization, headed by George M. Romney, also is advocating the tax.

Said Beadle in his unity appeal:

"I'm getting just a bit irked at this, that and the other one doing their best to create differences among Senate Republicans, playing up the 'moderates,' the 'veto bloc' and so forth . . ."

Republican Senators generally are classed as conservatives, moderates, with the conservative wing including a group tabbed the veto bloc because of its frequent opposition to proposals of senators of both parties.

MUST GIVE, TAKE

"I feel confident that we are all basically Republicans, and will give and take — recognizing the values of each other's ideas — and work a program out together," Beadle said.

Beadle said he saw nothing wrong in admitting there was a $70-million deficit in the state treasury and a probable need for more money in such areas as mental health, higher education, tourism, school aid and step increases for state employes.

He said he agreed with Sen. Carlton H. Morris, R-Kalamazoo, on the need to provide a college building fund.

There is a possibility, Beadle said, that so-called nuisance taxes and taxes on services might do the financing job.

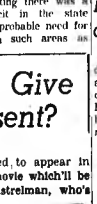
★ ★ ★

He said he did not think Republicans should close the door on a broad base corporate and personal income tax, repeal of the business activities tax, adjustments in the intangibles tax and consideration in other areas, including giving authority to municipalities to solve their own revenue problems.

What'll Kennedys Give for Wedding Present?

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Frank Sinatra has agreed to appear in Sammy Davis' first independently-produced movie which'll be about James A. Bland, the first Negro minstrelman, who's credited with having written "Carry Me Back to Ole Virginny" (instead of Stephen Foster). Or so we hear hereabouts . . . Johnny Carson mentioned at the Fight for Sight "Lights On" benefit at Carnegie Hall that if JFK attends the Sinatra-Jullie Prowse wedding, he could give them a very nice wedding present: "Berlin."



WILSON

Speaking of Carson, as I always seem to be lately, as he was leaving for "What's My Line?" Sunday night, I tried to tell him I'd heard the mystery guest was going to be Tuesday Weld. But I never got the name out. "Don't tell me! I don't want to know, it spoils the game!" he said. (I didn't tell him and nobody guessed it.)

DEE JAY

There's a dancer named Dee Jay Mattis, from Elizabeth, N.J., on the "Sing Along With Mitch" show—she explained to me that her real name, Dorothy Jeanne, is fairly common, so she took her initials and spelled them out, "and nobody's got that name." Recently as a gag, most of the men on the show grew Mitch-type beards. "How did they look?" I asked Dee Jay. Dee Jay said: "They were a mess."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Comedienne Jean Carroll appeared on a telethon for 20 hours, then went twisting at Sherry's 1890 . . . French farmers in Normandie are complaining that Darryl Zanuck's cannons—for "The Longest Day" — made their cows quit giving milk. Debbie Reynolds'll have four male dancers in her cafe act.

EARL'S PEARLS: Politeness is a matter of being nicer to others than they deserve.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Bob Hope has this line on his Jan. 24 TV'er: "Ike and Mamie have a beautiful home in Palm Springs — pool, six bedrooms, patio. Isn't that GI Bill wonderful!"

WISH I'D SAID THAT: It's amazing how few women of 40 there are this year—considering how many there were of 39 last year.

"My uncle showed me a picture of a Cadillac," says Jack Herbert, "and told me that's what I'd get for Christmas. Sure enough, that's what he gave me—a picture of a Cadillac." That's earl, brother.

Kennedys to Hold Dinner in Honor of Stravinsky

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President and Mrs. Kennedy, starting a new year full of glittering social-cultural events at the White House, entertain famed Russian-born composer Igor Stravinsky tonight.

The Kennedys have invited probably less than 30 guests to the dinner in honor of the composer of the ballets "The Firebird" and "The Rites of Spring" and his wife tonight.

In the past year, the Kennedys have made the President's mansion a mecca for artists and musicians. Many great names of the creative world are as much at home at the White House now as elite politicians have been in the past.

★ ★ ★

The White House social calendar for 1962 calls for at least three more musical programs for children and night life spotlighting poets, artists and composers.

Expect Holmes to Be MSUO Asst. Dean

The appointment of Asst. Prof. of Music Robert W. Holmes as assistant dean of students was expected to be announced this week by Michigan State University Oakland.

Holmes would continue to teach part time in the university's music sections but also would assist Dean of Students Duncan Sells with work regarding male students on campus.

X15 Pilot Tests the Plane's New Control System

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — With his throttle open only three-fourths of the way pilot Neil Armstrong flew the X15 rocket plane 3,715 miles an hour Wednesday—more than five times the speed of sound.

★ ★ ★

The flight was a test of a new control system for the stub-winged plane to an altitude of 133,000 feet, or 25 miles.

"Everything worked just fine," Armstrong said later of the new system—designed as the closest approach yet to a space flight autopilot.

The X15 has reached 4,093 miles an hour and 217,000 feet in record seeking flights.

★ ★ ★

Air friction caused a slight warping of the Sky Dart's stubby wings but Armstrong said he was never in danger. He kept the power on for 97 seconds.

The American Foundation for the Blind recorded 155 "talking books" last year and pressed 425 records for the Library of Congress to distribute free.

Sen. Roberts Sees Move Toward State Income Tax

The ball is now rolling toward a state income tax, said Sen. Farrell E. Roberts, R-Oakland County, today.

Roberts, who said he had seen the need for such a tax for several years, but declined to announce support publicly because the party "had painted itself into a corner against one," made the prediction after a closed GOP caucus in Lansing Wednesday.

Senate Majority Leader Frank D. Beadle, an opponent of an income tax, emerged from the caucus to announce this would be the most "propitious" time to consider such a tax since the state is $71.6 million in the hole and needs more money.

Beadle's statement followed announcement yesterday that Roberts and three other "moderate" Senate Republicans had supported such a tax.

"If we're serious about tax relief to our businesses and industries then an income tax is a fact," Roberts said.

"You can raise $80 million with nuisance taxes," Roberts said, "but when you talk, as (George W.) Romney is, of repealing business activities tax, corporation franchise tax, intangibles tax and giving other tax relief, these are going to have to be replaced with a broad base tax."

"And there are only three — property, sales and income. I don't think the people want their property taxes any higher," said Roberts.

Only a big selling campaign is going to get the need for the statewide tax across to the people, he said. He said he doubted it would pass this year — an important state election year.

"The feeling is that the timing is bad," the senator said. "Politicians during an election year are like a bunch of penguins on a sheet of ice. They kick some of their fellows off to see if there are any sharks in the water."

"The four of us are the penguins going into the water," Roberts said.

4 GM Officials Are Cleared in Antitrust Case

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Four officials of General Motors Corp. have been cleared of antitrust charges by a federal court.

They had been indicted along with the parent company and various Chevrolet organizations. The government accused the defendants of refusing to sell new cars to discount houses. The charges were dismissed Wednesday on grounds that the counts were defective.

The officials cleared were: K. E. Staley, general sales manager for Chevrolet; L. N. Mays, Staley's assistant, and Robert O'Conner, Los Angeles zone manager for GM.

Several other company defendants are to enter pleas Feb. 26.

Cuba May Be Under Radar Eye of U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The air Force said today that a detachment of long-range radar picket planes is operating along a patrol track roughly between Miami and Key West, "improving radar coverage to the southeast."

There was no elaboration on this reference, but it could mean that through radar the RC121 planes are keeping an eye on movement of aircraft and ships in waters approaching Communist Cuba.

The Air Force announced in November that it would activate the 966th Airborne Early Warning and Control Squadron, to be stationed at McCoy Air Force Base, near Orlando, Fla.

Sen. Roberts Excites Envy of Co-Workers

★ ★ ★

Several senators expressed envy. Sen. John P. Smeekens, R-Coldwater, suggested he and Sen. Charles R. Feenstra, R-Grand Rapids, be appointed to a study committee to determine how Roberts arranged to sire a son. Each has seven daughters. Smeekens also has one son.

★ ★ ★

"Take your wife on a vacation to the Upper Peninsula and I'll guarantee you'll have a son," recommended Sen. Phillip Rahol, D-Iron Mountain.

Bruce Eugene Roberts was born at Pontiac General Hospital, where Mrs. Phyllis Roberts once was a nurse.

Gets Authority Over Foreign Intelligence

WASHINGTON (AP) — John A. McCone made public today a directive from President Kennedy over all foreign intelligence as director of the Central Intelligence Agency.

As McCone appeared for a public hearing before the Senate Armed Service Committee on his nomination to be the new CIA chief, aides handed newsmen a White House memorandum dated Jan. 16.

McCone, a millionaire engineer and industrialist, was named last September to succeed Allen W. Dulles.

Governor Urges Aid for Schools

LANSING (AP)—Gov. Swainson urged the legislature today to increase state aid to public schools and establish a state building authority to finance a vast construction program at state colleges and universities.

The two proposals are key sections of a far-reaching educational program the governor spelled out in a special message to the legislature.

Swainson also called for a $10-million boost in operating revenues for higher educational institutions and a $5.4-million appropriation from the state's general fund to complete construction already started and draw up plans for new buildings.

Said the governor:

CONDITIONS SHAMEFUL

"An inventory of Michigan's educational needs of the 1960's makes it obvious there are vast areas in our total educational scene that can merit nothing but shame.

★ ★ ★

"The time has come to re-emphasize a goal of educational excellence for Michigan."

★ ★ ★

Last year, the governor proposed a uniform increase of three per cent in state aid to schools, currently based on a $205 per pupil formula. This year, he said, professional and lay education organizations agree an eight per cent increase is "the bare minimum necessary to maintain the primary and secondary education programs."

The governor noted that the state's share of local education costs has dropped from 52 per cent of the total to 41 per cent since 1952. Local tax sources "are already strained to the breaking point," he said.

Building needs at the nine state colleges and universities currently total $32.9 million, Swainson said. His building authority blueprint was turned down by the legislature last year.

This year, there is a strong move in the Senate to start a big construction program at colleges and universities, Sen. Carlton H. Morris, R-Kalamazoo, said he would offer legislation for a $150-million construction program to be financed by re-enactment of some of the "nuisance" taxes on cigarettes, liquor and other items that expired last June 30.

The governor recalled that he asked last year for an $8.1-million increase in operating funds for higher education but the legislature settled for a $417,000 increase.

Qualified students are being turned away at state-supported institutions for lack of operating revenues, the governor told the lawmakers.

Specifically, the governor recommended:

SANDER M. LEVIN

Oakland Dems Pick Chairman

Sander Levin Succeeds James Ginn in Quiet Party Meeting

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

Far from the turmoil that marred the last election, Oakland County Democrats last night elected Sander M. Levin new county chairman in one minute flat.

Levin, a 30-year-old Detroit attorney living in Berkley, succeeds James M. Ginn who officially resigned last night to take a new job as Southfield city attorney.

Interparty bickering broke out all over the Roosevelt Hotel in August 1960 when Ginn, also an attorney, was chosen chairman after a four-hour session.

There wasn't a murmur of dissent anywhere in the Pontiac Central High School auditorium as Harold Julian, UAW Chrysler official from Berkley, nominated Levin. There were no other nominations. Levin was chosen by acclamation.

★ ★ ★

The one other likely candidate for the nonpaying post, William A. O'Brien Jr., a Clawson attorney and city councilman, wired Ginn to say he was tied up in Tawas City on a trial.

Local party workers smilingly welcomed the strange serenity of the meeting as a good omen as they plow into a big election year against the entrenched county Republicans.

Ginn indicated in his brief swan song that "significant forward strides" taken during his 18-month regime would produce equally gratifying results in the future.

He promised he would work for the organization "in any way I can" and seek re-election as pa-

BIG CHIPPING JOB — Insurance adjustor E. S. Peterson inspects a one-foot-thick column of ice extending from the chandelier to the floor of a vacant Omaha house. It is part of about a ton of ice which coated stairways and floors to a depth of 2 to 8 inches after a third floor water pipe burst during the subzero cold. The realty firm which manages the property estimated the damage at about $2,000. Workmen plan to chip out the ice rather than thaw it.

Would Be Continent-Buster

Explains Asteroid Bomb

By FRANK CAREY

WASHINGTON (AP) — The grim concept of an asteroid bombardment—a continent-shattering weapon produced by diverting a tiny planet from its orbit so it would strike the earth—was introduced today by a space scientist.

Dandridge M. Cole of General Electric's missile and space vehicle department said such a cataclysmic weapon might be developed sometime after 1970.

The theory involves using a Nova-class rocket to carry a crew of men or remotely controlled devices to one of the "close-approach" asteroids whose orbits sometimes carry them between the earth and the planet Mars.

AWSOME FORCE

The idea would be to explode a number of hydrogen bombs on the surface of the asteroid in such a way that the tiny planet would be kicked out of its orbit and pushed toward the earth—striking with the force of several million megaton-type H-bombs.

In a report prepared for the eighth annual meeting of the American Astronautical Society, Cole said: "The energy release and impact on the earth would be on the order of 1,000 times as great as the energy of a multi-megaton bomb which could be carried by the same Nova-class vehicle on an ICBM trajectory to the same target.

"This unusual weapon system shares with the biological weapons the possibility for masquerading as a natural catastrophe. The attacker could hope to escape blame and retribution from surviving retaliation forces."

He said that "while such an irreversal meddling with cosmic forces may seem highly implausible or even impossible on superficial examination," such a system should be feasible with rockets expected to be available in the post-1970 era.

Cole said: "It is assumed that the Russians would like to obliterate the United States and run little risk of retaliation, then they would reasonably consider the use of a close-approach asteroid for this purpose."

Officer Gets Help From Two Trusties

A state policeman whose patrol car was stuck in an icy rut in front of the Oakland County Jail received road service from an unexpected source this morning.

When the officer tried in vain to maneuver out of his parking place on Wayne Street and tires whined, two husky inmate trusties came out and pushed the patrol car off the ice.

MIAMI (AP) — The telephone rang in the Miami FBI office. "Come and get me," the caller said. "I'm tired of running."

A KING IN ITS DAY — The purple and red Welch cars produced in Pontiac from 1904 until 1911 were rated among the best on the road in the early days of the automotive industry. The Welch Motor Car Co. was located across South Saginaw Street from the General Motors Truck & Coach Division. The pioneer firm was sold to GM.

Welch Hottest Auto on Road (in 1907)

The Welch automobile—built in Pontiac—was the hottest rod on the road in its hey-day.

All Welch cars were purple with red running gear. None of the early auto manufacturers offered wide color ranges by today's standards.

Glossy new Welch cars rolled out of a three-story factory on South Saginaw St. from 1904 until 1911, under the exacting scrutiny of the owners, the Welch brothers. They advertised their product as "The Best Car in the Entire World."

Three to four cars a week was considered good production by the Welch Motor Car Co. of Pontiac. The business required more than 200 employes at its peak in 1906-07.

At that time the Welch car had a pressed steel frame, wood body and weighed 3,200 pounds. Standard models cost from $1,000 to $7,000, but a top and windshield cost an additional $175 for the "particular" customer.

Founders of the firm, Fred and A. R. Welch sold out to General Motors company of New Jersey in 1911 for $25,000.

Girls to Page for The Press Cook School

High school girls will act as pages for the 1962 Press cooking school, Galaxy of Foods, Jan. 23-26 at Pontiac Central High School. Juniors Martha Henry and Karen Holstein, will serve on Tuesday. On Thursday it will be Chris Miller and Lois Zeunert.

Seniors assisting on Wednesday will be Mary Stephe and Sevan Folsom. On the concluding day, Friday, the cooks will be Karen Bonnell and Marilyn Coffing.

Persons attending the cooking school will find parking available in the Cnfoot School lot, west of the school on the north side of Huron Street. If that lot is full, there is a municipal parking lot three blocks from the high school on West Lawrence street.

★ ★ ★

The east entrance to the auditorium is the only one to be used. Doors will open at 1 p.m. for ticket holders. At show time others will be admitted to fill the remaining seats.

Cliff Wiegand of Wiegand Music Co. will entertain on the electric organ before the performances begin each day.

Dominican Junta Clamping Down on Opposition

U.S. Reportedly Plans Sanctions Against the New Government

By The Associated Press

The Dominican Republic's new junta clamped tight restrictions on the country today with a series of sweeping decrees designed to stifle opposition to the apparent takeover by the military. But unrest seethed in Santo Domingo.

And in Washington the United States reportedly planned political sanctions and probably an economic crackdown against the Dominican Republic if the new government there proves to be a military dictatorship.

Huberto Bogaert, a civilian official of the Trujillo era, was named to head the junta of four civilians and three military men that deposed the 16-day-old all civilian council of state Tuesday night.

But authoritative reports filtering through the strict Dominican censorship said the real strongman is the armed forces chief, Gen. Pedro Rodriguez Echavarria.

IN COMPLETE CONTROL

State Department officials in Washington said the junta appeared to be completely under the power of Rodrigue Echavarria.

They said the Kennedy administration, which has been promoting democracy in South America, is determined to oppose revival of strongman rule in Santo Domingo.

The major step under consideration is denial of recognition to the junta formed Tuesday upon the ouster of President Joaquin Balaguer.

CONSIDER ACTION

Other steps may include economic sanctions, among them denial to the Dominican Republic of U.S. sugar purchases in the first six months of this year amounting to $45 million.

The junta decreed a modified form of martial law, suspending civil guarantees, and imposed a dusk to dawn curfew.

Heavily armed troops patrolled the capital streets that night, and more troops had to be called out Wednesday to break up a student demonstration protesting the swift government change the night before.

★ ★ ★

The troops reportedly opened fire on the youths, killing one and wounding two others. One hundred youths set fire to a school and

Record in Peacetime, Has a Small Surplus

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy, in the first federal budget of his own making, called today for record peacetime spending of $92.5 billion and a wobbly surplus of $463 million — a margin possible only if revenues rocket and the price of mailing a letter is increased.

The 1,500-page spending blueprint, which covers the 1963 fiscal year starting July 1, foresees a spending rise of nearly $3.5 billion over the current level. More than 75 per cent of the increase would involve military and space programs.

Kennedy told Congress he expects outlays to total slightly more than $92.5 billion — an amount exceeded only twice before, during World War II. Revenues were estimated at $93 billion, an unprecedented level $11 billion higher than this year's income.

Eight-pound, 7,400-word budget message which Kennedy sent to Capitol Hill were these recommendations:

A defense program of $52.7 billion, up nearly $1.5 billion. Allocation of $7.1 billion for space research, an increase of $1.3 billion.

A foreign aid program boosted by $200 million to $4.9 billion. But along with that spending request, which includes $2.5 billion in economic aid and $1.4 billion in military aid, Kennedy asked nearly $3 billion in new authority to borrow from the U.S. Treasury.

Closer Look at Budget, Page 13

$3 billion of new funds. The new money would include $4.29 billion for veterans economic and pensions and $1.5 billion for military aid.

★ ★ ★

Repeal of the 10 per cent DX on rail, bus and taxi fares with other adjustments in aviation taxes.

Enactment of a new farm bill designed to cut farm program spending from $6.2 billion to $5.8 billion.

Increase the "temporary" $298 billion national debt limit to a new high of $308 billion. Increase postal rates by about $600 million a year.

The new budget assumes that the Berlin crisis will end and provide for the return home by June 30 of military reservists mobilized last fall. Any heightening of cold war tensions could prompt new hikes in defense spending and wipe out the anticipated surplus.

ASSUMES EXPANDING ECONOMY

Kennedy also based his projections on an assumption that the economy will continue to expand briskly into 1962. Budget perhaps at a lesser rate as time passes. The President said major economy gains will be broken mouth after month while the unemployment rate will drop from 6.1 per cent to 4 per cent by mid-1963.

The fate of the postal rate request, which has been shelved three years running, also will have a major impact on the

'63 Military Tab to Extend Might

Requests $48.3 Billion to Provide Alternative to N-Holocaust, Retreat

WASHINGTON (AP) — Military spending of $48.3 billion next year was recommended today by President Kennedy to increase the nations armed strength and reform for ourselves a choice other than nuclear holocaust or defeat.

With related programs, the defense tab comes to $52.7 billion — up nearly $1.5 billion over this year.

Kennedy said in his budget message that the military spending for fiscal 1963 would provide "further significant increases" in the ability to fight a nuclear war or a conventional one.

And he said the lesser war was the greater possibility.

What will the money buy? Kennedy said it would provide for these items, for instance:

★ ★ ★

—A start on 12 more Polaris submarines — six in 1962 and six in 1963.

More Atlas and Titan intercontinental ballistics missiles.

Eight more atomic-powered attack submarines.

More Minuteman battlefield missiles and automatic rifles.

Two additional regular Army divisions.

$15,346,000,000 for procurement of varying weapons and equipment.

$13,414,000,000 for pay and maintenance of 2,684,000 men under arms.

$11,211,000,000 for maintenance and operation of 16 Army divisions, 862 Navy ships, more than 27,000 aircraft of all the services and growing numbers of long-range missiles.

WEAPON RESEARCH

$6,650,000,000 for research, development and testing of new weapons and equipment.

$350 million for civil defense.

In the maze of figures, however, there are no separate budget totals for the three services. For logistics purposes, Kennedy has included

Hospital Report in Black for '61

Pontiac General Ends Best Year, Second One With Surplus

Euler said today that the hospital ended 1961 in the black for the second straight year. As of Jan. 1 the hospital had cleared $28,510 over expenses for the year.

Euler indicated that 1961 was the best year in the hospital's history, since the budget had been a tight one last year.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

The 1961 budget had been based on an anticipated occupancy of 88 per cent. The board will get a detailed report at its 7:30 p. m. meeting.

Soviet Gives U.S. Terms on Berlin

LONDON (UPI) — Russia has handed the United States a memorandum on Soviet demands for a Berlin settlement, it was learned authoritatively today.

The memorandum was given by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko to U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson during their meeting in the Kremlin last Friday, the sources said.

Khrushchev then proposed to Kennedy that Berlin be turned into a neutralized, demilitarized free city, the termination of Allied occupation rights, the stationing of token forces of the U.S., Britain, France and the Soviet Union as guarantors of the city, and (or) stationing of forces from neutral states under U.N. authority.

Another condition was the "necessity of respecting and strictly observing the sovereign rights" of East Germany, implying Western de facto recognition of the Communist regime.

There was no indication of any substantial change of the Soviet position since then.

The United States has informed its major Allies of the contents of the Soviet document, which presently is under study both through diplomatic channels and in the ambassadorial study group in Washington.

Community Helps Its Young Citizens

Boys' Club Gets a 'White House'

"The White House, that's what we'll call her," a group of Northside Boys' Club members shouted as their first real home was placed by movers onto readied footings yesterday afternoon.

Located on West Columbia and Ypsilanti avenues "The White House" is the former home of Fisher Local 596 of the UAW. The building, once located at 821 Baldwin Ave., was moved yesterday.

"The program really started in May, 1960," Cressy Larson, director of the Boys' Club of Pontiac Inc., recalled, "but the land was purchased some five years ago by the club's board of directors." Since his first meeting with Larson on the community project, City Commissioner Winford Bottom of District 4 has strongly urged development of the Northside Branch."

The 4½ acres, were cleared through the aid of Pontiac Motor Division employees and equipment, explained a Boys' Club director, Joe Davis of the Oakland County Road Commission.

The home was donated by the union.

Bob Costello, John Talbot, Frank Bryant and their crews, besides the firms of M. A. Benson and Boice's have donated time, equipment, and labor to the task. So has Marion & Young, house movers.

The Pontiac Optimist Club contributed a $1,000 check toward moving of the building. The Pontiac Firefighters' Association has donated $100 to the cause, and some 26 men from the Bricklayers' Union have volunteered their services.

"The list is long, but we can't omit the teacher groups' support and personal donations of help and funds," Larson said.

The staff of the Boys' Club and other youngsters in the neighborhood dug the basement, he added.

PARENTS HELPED

During the past two years the teens have been meeting at the Metropolitan Club on West Yale Street and in individual homes.

During this period, Austin Adler, who runs Adler Service Station near the club site, couldn't wait for the club, so he started a movement to take teens via bus to various activities.

Parts from three retired buses were salvaged to outfit one bus bought by the Civitan Club. The staff now uses the bus for club outings to league games and hunting trips.

Jaycees Seek Top Young Man

Group Now Receiving Nominations for '61 Service Award

The searchlights are being switched on throughout the Pontiac area to spot candidates for the "Outstanding Young Man of the Year Award," made annually by the Pontiac Area Jaycees.

By 7 p.m., Jan. 31, at the annual Bosses' Night dinner at Devon Gables, the lights will have locked on the young gman "with the maturity and wisdom of age and driving energy of youth, who has helped most to make Pontiac a better place to live."

Speaker at Bosses' Night will be Chancellor D. B. Varner of Michigan State University Oakland.

Nominations for Young Man of the Year may be made by anyone.

DEADLINE JAN. 26

Entries must be filed by Jan. 26 with Richard M. Fitzgerald, The Pontiac Press, Box 9.

Basic requirements for nominations are these:

* * *

The award (the Distinguished Service Award) is designed to honor that young man who has performed services beyond his normal profession.

The candidate need not be a member of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

He may be any young man, 21 through 35 years old. If he has reached his 36th birthday Before Dec. 31, 1961, he becomes eligible if the activities for which he is judged were performed when he was 35 or younger.

* * *

The candidate need not be a resident of Pontiac, but his services should have been performed in this area.

JFK's Budget Asks $92.5 Billion to Spend

budget. Without higher rates including a 4-cent letter charge to add to the anticipated big increase in tax collections, Kennedy's envisioned surplus would evaporate—barring major economy moves in other areas.

Many congressional Republicans — and some Democrats — were ready to demand greater economy and a bigger surplus in order to whittle down the record national debt, now nudging the $298 billion ceiling.

Anticipating this, Kennedy said a $963 million surplus would reflect "the best national policy." He said deficit spending might promote inflation while a larger surplus "would risk choking off economic recovery and contributing to a premature downturn."

A surplus as small as the one forecast by Kennedy would represent a big change from the indicated budget results for the current fiscal year which ends June 30. Kennedy said the current year outlook is for spending of $80.1 billion, revenues of $82.1 billion and a deficit of $2 billion.

Defending in advance his proposed spending increases, Kennedy said all new ideas for additional outlays were reviewed in accord with "strict standards of urgency." He said that, in the name of economy, "many desirable new projects and activities are being delayed."

Sen. Roberts Sees Move Toward State Income Tax

The bull is now rolling toward a state income tax, said Sen. Farrell E. Roberts, R-Oakland County, today.

Roberts, who said he had seen the need for such a tax for several years, but declined to announce support publicly because the party "had painted itself into a corner against one," made the prediction after a closed GOP caucus in Lansing Wednesday.

Senate Majority Leader Frank D. Beadle, an opponent of an income tax, emerged from the caucus to announce this would be the most "propitious" time to consider such a tax since the state is $71.5 million in the hole and needs more money.

Beadle's statement followed announcement yesterday that Roberts and three other "moderate" Senate Republicans had supported such a tax.

"If we're serious about tax relief to our businesses and industries than an income tax is a fact," Roberts said.

ONLY DOOR OPEN?

"You can raise $80 million with nuisance taxes," Roberts said, but when you talk, as (George W.) Romney is, of repealing business activities tax, corporation franchise tax, intangibles tax and giving other tax relief, these are going to have to be replaced with a broad base tax."

"And there are only three — property, sales and income. I don't think the people want their property taxes any higher," said Roberts.

Only a big selling campaign is going to get the need for the statewide tax increase to the people, he said. He said he doubted it would pass this year — an important state election year.

"The feeling is (that the timing is bad," the senator said. "Politicians during an election year are like a bunch of penguins on a shelf of ice. They kick some of their fellows off to see if there are any sharks in the water."

"The four of us are the penguins going into the water," Roberts said.

Oakland Dems Pick Levin as Chairman

cinct delegate next month in Southfield.

The new chairman, whose political star seemed to be lit as he chaired the most successful history last November, promised a unified "pragamatic not pragmatic" 1962 campaign.

The president of the Berkley Democratic Club received his undergraduate degree from the University of Chicago in 1952, a master's degree in international relations from Columbia University in 1954, and his cum laude law degree from Harvard Law School in 1957.

His late father Saul was FDR's choice for general counsel in the Republic of Honduras and former Gov. Williams appointee to the State Corrections Commission until his death. His uncle is Detroit Federal District Judge Theodore Levin.

Levin, a soft-spoken, wavy haired young man who still speaks with a slight Harvard twang, was a member of the eight-man American delegation to the World Assembly of Youth in Singapore in the summer of 1954.

He traveled in India and other Asian countries after the conference.

He succeeded now Circuit Judge William J. Beer as precinct delegate in Berkley and was elected to the policy making executive committee of the county party to fill a vacancy in 1960.

He lives with his wife Vicky and their two children, Jennifer, 3, and Andrew, 16 months, at 1022 Edgewood Drive. The Levins are expecting a third child next month.

Sen. Roberts Excites Envy of Co-Workers

LANSING (AP)—Sen. Farrell E. Roberts, R-Oakland County, received official congratulations from fellow senators Wednesday on the birth of his second son, Bruce Eugene, Saturday.

Several senators expressed envy. Sen. John P. Smeekens, R-Coldwater, suggested he and Sen. Charles R. Feenstra, R-Grand Rapids, be appointed to a study committee to determine how Roberts arranged to sire a son. Each has seven daughters. Smeekens also has one son.

"Take your wife on a vacation to the Upper Peninsula and I'll guarantee you'll have a son," recommended Sen. Phillip Rahoi, D-Iron Mountain.

Bruce Eugene Roberts was born at Pontiac General Hospital, where Mrs. Phyllis Roberts once was a nurse.

City to Register Voters Till 8 on February 5

Unregistered voters in Pontiac will have until 8 p.m., Monday, Feb. 5 to register at the city clerk's office for the March 6 primary election.

The clerk's office, located on the main floor of City Hall, will stay open late that day to accept registrations.

All those who have recently become of voting age, or are new residents of the city, or city residents who have not registered or voted in four years, must register to be eligible to vote in the spring elections.

The Day in Birmingham

Long-Time City Workers to Be Honored

BIRMINGHAM — Fifty-nine municipal employes will be honored for length of service of five to 30 years at the city's fourth biennial recognition banquet Feb. 1.

More than 300 persons are expected to attend the 6:45 p.m. banquet to be held at the 300 Lounge in Waterford Township.

Awards will be presented to 32 employes for five years' service; 15 employes for 10 years; eight for 15 years; one for 20 years; four for 25 years; and one for 30 years.

To be cited for 30-years of service will be City Clerk Irene Hanley. She will be presented a green emerald chip pin.

* * *

Those with 25 years' service will receive engraved watches. They are George Scott and Park Smith of the fire department; Robert Pepperal of the police department, and Russell T. Berger of the finance department.

Calvin Snell of the department of public works will be honored for 20 years of service.

The awards will be presented by city commissioners.

General chairman of the program is Milford Fuller, and toastmaster will be Richard Nunnelley.

City Commissioner William E. Roberts and John E. Martz of 724 Lakeview St. were renamed to the hospital board.

Reappointed to fire prevention bureau board was Carl B. Marr of 455 Fairfax St.

Birmingham Chapter 220, Order of the Eastern Star, will sponsor a card party Jan. 27 to raise money for the new Masonic Temple building fund.

The card party will be held 7:30 p.m. in the community room at the Federal Department Store, 1075 W. 14 Mile Road, Clawson.

Mrs. Winifred Shields, a member of the Christian Education Committee of the Michigan Congregational Conference, will be the guest speaker at the Jan. 25 luncheon-meeting of the Child Study Club of the Congregational Church.

Mrs. Shields, who is also chairman of the Christian Higher Education Fund, will speak on "Church Related Colleges."

The program will be held 12:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Saunders, 4040 Orchard Hill Drive.

Mrs. William Kolbe

Service for Mrs. William (Emma H.) Kolbe, 88, of West Maple Road, will be 11 a.m. Saturday at the Manley Bailey Funeral Home. Burial will be in Evergreen Cemetery, Detroit.

Mrs. Kolbe died yesterday in Ann Arbor following an illness of about eight months. She was a member of the First Methodist Church of Birmingham.

She leaves no immediate survivors.

Anson A. Woodruff

Service for Anson A. Woodruff, 84, of 875 Puritan St., will be at 11 a.m. tomorrow at the Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co. Burial will be in Delhi, N. Y.

Mr. Woodruff, a retired automobile dealer, died Tuesday following a long illness.

He had been sales manager for the Locomobile Co. in Bridgeport, Conn. He also was an expediter for the Remington Arms Co. and sales manager for the Fairchild Aviation Co.

Surviving are two sons, Robert N. of Birmingham and A. Atwood of Clearwater, Fla., three grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Two Re-elected to Board Posts

Shareholders Approve Waddell, Clarkson in 1st Federal Posts

John Q. Waddell and James Clarkson were re-elected to three-year terms on the board of directors of First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Oakland at the association's 27th annual shareholders' meeting Wednesday.

Clarkson, association president, reported 1961 was a high spot in the association's 27-year history, with record activity in almost all departments.

He said that the association paid out $881,204.61 to shareholders last year as compared to $741,875.85 in 1960—an increase of $139,328.76.

"We currently anticipate paying some 1.25 million to shareholders in 1962," Clarkson said.

He also reported an increase of $4,666,000, or 16.04 per cent, in assets during 1961. Current assets total $33,742,936. This is an all-time high for the association.

Also at a record level are savings accounts now totaling $29,122,877. This represented an increase of $4,325,670 during 1961, Clarkson said.

* * *

Following the shareholders' meeting, the board reappointed all association officers at a special meeting.

Thant Makes Urgent Peace Plea to Dutch, Indonesia

By TOM HOGE

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —Acting Secretary-General U Thant pressed a peacemaking effort today to bring The Netherlands and Indonesia together for negotiations to settle their dispute over control of West New Guinea.

* * *

Thant cabled identical appeals to Indonesian President Sukarno and Dutch Premier Jan de Quay to accept his services as go-between. He asked both to hold off from any drastic action in retaliation for Monday's naval clash off the coast of New Guinea.

THANT'S CABLE

"I earnestly appeal to your excellency and your government," Thant's cables said, "to refrain from any precipitate action following the clash of naval vessels which took place on 14 January. (The attack actually occurred on Jan. 15). I would also request that your permanent representative in New York be instructed to discuss with me the possibilities of a peaceful settlement of the whole question in conformity with the purposes and principles of the charter of the United Nations."

* * *

Later Thant talked with Dutch Ambassador C. W. A. Schurmann and Indonesian Ambassador Sukardjo Wirjopranoto. Informants said he notified them formally of his cables to their governments.

Sukardjo told newsmen that Indonesia was "flexible." He added, however, that his government favors negotiations only if the Dutch government commits itself in advance to transfer administrative control of the disputed territory to Indonesia.

An informed source said he expected the Dutch reaction to Thant's overture to be favorable.

De Quay cabled Thant Tuesday that his cabinet had expressed readiness as early as Jan. 2 to negotiate with Indonesia "under your auspices and without any preconditions." He said the offer still stood but he warned that his government reserved the right of self-defense if Indonesia attacked Dutch territory.

SUSPENDED SENTENCE—Charles Van Doren and his wife leave Special Sessions Court in New York Wednesday after he received a suspended sentence. The big-winning contestant on a television show pleaded guilty to second degree perjury, admitting that he lied in testimony before a grand jury. Van Doren won $129,000 on the now defunct TV program "Twenty One."

'DUTCH RESIGNED'

The Dutch reportedly are reconciled to giving the Indonesians control over the territory. But apparently they are withholding an advance pledge in hopes of obtaining some assurance in the negotiations that the Papuan population of West New Guinea ultimately will be allowed a plebiscite to determine whether they will be independent or Indonesian.

* * *

A dispatch from Jakarta said Sukarno's cabinet was pinning its last hope of avoiding war on the U.N. chief. The cabinet was said to feel that Thant alone could manage to bring Indonesia and The Netherlands to a conference table — something the United States and other big powers have been unable to accomplish.

Thant has been working behind the scenes for nearly two weeks seeking a bloodless solution to the New Guinea crisis. He has met with Dutch and Indonesian representatives and with many other diplomats including U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson.

New Guinea is certain to get a thorough going-over when President Kennedy comes to New York Friday to confer with Thant on U.N. issues in general.

* * *

The State Department has called on both the Netherlands and Indonesia to try to resolve their dispute through peaceful negotiations. A State Department official said the U. S. government welcomed Thant's "commendable initiative" and hoped it would meet with a "speedy and positive response."

ARRESTS CONTINUE

The Indonesian government meanwhile continued to arrest political opponents of Sukarno in an attempt apparently to prevent rallying of opposition to an invasion of West New Guinea should Sukarno order it.

Sultan Hamid of Pontianak, whom the Dutch installed as head of the West Borneo State in 1947, was the latest reported taken into custody. Sukarno's government had imprisoned him for a time in 1950, accusing him of masterminding a revolt, and his state along with the other Indonesian states abandoned the semi-autonomy which they had when they first won independence from the Dutch.

* * *

Informed sources indicated 16 political leaders in all had been arrested but it was believed more would be taken in.

Winter Sickroom Helps

What to Do After Doctor Comes

Winter is the time of year when colds, flu and other virus infections mean extra work for most mothers. Caring for a child who is sick, fretful and unhappy about having to stay in bed is trying at best. Keeping him amused is a problem that even mothers who are seasoned veterans at coping with sick children find difficult to solve.

★ ★ ★

Here are some suggestions to help lighten your workload in the sickroom and make the business of recuperation more pleasant for everybody.

Since one of the main problems in dealing with a sick child is getting him to eat properly, here are a few tricks you can use to help perk up his appetite.

Humpty dumpty lunch pack: Decorate the bottom of a 9-inch paper plate with eyes, nose and mouth to make a Humpty Dumpty. Use this to cover another 9-inch plate on which you have arranged the child's food. Fasten the plates together with four spring-type clothes pins — two for the arms and two for the legs. Most children are delighted with surprises of any kind — opening the Humpty Dumpty lunch can be as festive an occasion as Christmas.

The clown: Shape food such as scrambled eggs in an oval on the center of a paper plate. Construct a smiling clown face by adding a thin carrot strip for the mouth and chips of carrot for the eyes and nose. Use a triangle of toast for the clown's hat.

The carousel: Serve dessert pudding, tapioca or ice cream in a 5-ounce disposable paper dish. Arrange animal crackers around the edge of the dish to suggested a merry-go-round.

Making use of such common household items as paper cups, plates and clothespins, here are some easy-to-make toys that will keep your sick youngster occupied and happy for hours. Let him make them himself. Part of the fascination comes from using his own hands to build something that can't be bought in the store. All it takes is a little instruction and guidance from you, and the results will make the time you spend more than worthwhile.

Go-well dolly: Push a clothespin through the bottom of a pleated paper water cup leaving just the top of the pin showing. Loop a pipe cleaner around the top indentation of the pin to make arms. Glue a small paper cloth bow on to the top of the pin. Draw eyes, nose and mouth on the head of the clothespin with ink.

Long distance telephones: Use two waxed paper cold drink cups and a long piece of string. Insert string through the bottom of each cup and knot the ends. Stretched taut the string will act as a conductor of sound to transmit conversations.

Cheer-up pictures: White or solid color paper plates, crayons and ribbon are the materials you need for this sickroom pastime. Have your patient draw and color pictures on the bottom of a paper plate, using the edges as a decorative frame. Fasten each completed "work of art" with ribbon and use it to decorate the walls of the sickroom. Youngsters will spend hours contemplating and admiring their own handiwork.

Medicine man necklace: Show your child how to string four of five paper nut cups on a length of colored ribbon, using knots to secure the cups in place. Making paper "jewelry" is another way to keep your patient occupied and happy during the critical and endless period of recuperation.

By keeping a sick youngster amused the business of recuperation can be more pleasant for all concerned. Challenge his imagination, showing him how to construct simple toys, as above, from such common household items as paper plates, cups and clothespins.

Set Public Supper

Mothers Club members at Our Lady of Refuge Church are planning a public pot luck supper Jan. 29. Serving will be 4 to 7 p.m. in the church basement.

He'll Be Sorry, Says Abby

His Name: Mr. Milquetoast!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: How do you pick a "best man" for a wedding? I always thought I could be the best man because I was the groom's best friend. My son grew up with a certain young man in his town, and these boys were like brothers. They follow each other home as he was in his own.

He is getting married and I know he will find a bride who is just right for him, but when asked to be best man. The bride asked her fiance to ask her brother (whom he doesn't even KNOW) to be best man because he is 6 feet 2 and will look better in the bridal party than my son, who is 5 feet 8. Can you help me find the right answer?

ABBY

ABBY

DEAR ABBY: The other night my husband and I went to a party. The daughter of a very respected couple in town announced to table at her engagement. We paid her the standard gift [illegible] ways.

Imagine our astonishment when I received home and found that this [illegible] had spent the evening looking through my drawers, closets, underwear and other personal items.

The child is [illegible] with taken care of. Abby, and she's a [illegible] winning. But I would like to know what make a child have a good home before she [illegible] and Peeping Tom the minute she is left alone in another person's home.

UTTERLY FLABBERGASTED

DEAR UTTERLY: A combination of curiosity and [illegible] family causes people to snoop. The neighbors [illegible] to have been [illegible] child.

[illegible]

DEAR ABBY: [illegible] to HER house [illegible] to HIS house.

Eastern Star Chapter Initiates 2 to Order

Areme Chapter, No. 503, Order of the Eastern Star, initiated Mrs. Kathleen Fisher and Nancy Newcomb into the order at a special meeting in Roosevelt Masonic Temple.

Past matrons and past patrons introduced were Mrs. Theron Taylor, Mrs. Sidney Fellows, Mrs. Victor Bodamer, the William C. Pfahlerts, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Oles, Christian Hornbeck, Norton R. Graham, Royal Clark and Harry Eaton.

Serving on hospitality were Mr. and Mrs. Oles, Mrs. Edward Moden, Mrs. Gladys Holliman, Mrs. Earmon Howard and Mrs. Bodamer.

TO BE GUESTS

Special guests at the various county chapters' Friends Night will be Mrs. George Eldred at Hazel Park and Commerce, Mrs. Daniel Peterson at Royal Oak and Mrs. Harry Eaton, South Lyon and Farmington.

Melvin Patterson, worthy patron, announced a new proficiency class at 7:30 p.m. Monday in his home.

Refreshments were served to the members by Mrs. Loring Downs, Mrs. Albert Kugler, Mrs. Herbert Blom and Mrs. George Brash.

Among members busy with plans for the annual card party Jan. 31 in Roosevelt Temple are Mrs. Bodamer, general chairman; Mrs. Harry Vernon, cochairman; Mrs. Harry Eaton, Mrs. Howard and Mrs. Melvin Patterson, tickets.

Foursquare Club Holds Game Night

This hostess served refreshments during the social hour which followed an evening of games and a business meeting.

Marathon 'First Aids'

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Here I am with a few more first aids for those of you who want to lose weight, especially those of you who are following my 8-Week Self-Improvement Marathon.

1. Once you decide to lose those extra pounds, do not give in at all. Let the chips fall where they may, with friends and foes alike. Don't tell them what you are doing. Just say that you have a tummy ache, or have a blood cholesterol level which frightens both you and your doctor.

If you give in here and there, on a short term reducing diet, you are sunk. For instance, on my 9-Day Reducing Diet you cannot take any liberties if you wish the diet to do what it can for you.

If you are following my 8-Week Self-Improvement Marathon for a loss of 15 to 20 pounds in eight weeks, you cannot take MANY liberties. If you take ANY you probably will take TOO many!

2. You may experience a few hunger pangs during the first 10 days of your diet. Remember that if you are overweight, you have been eating more than you need, and that those layers of fat must supply some of your energy requirements if you are to lose weight. When you eat more than you need, your stomach becomes stretched and it takes a little time for it to return to normal size.

3. If you crave sweets, eat fresh fruit, especially some of the sweeter variety. You also can have one or two small pieces of hard candy after dinner. SMALL!

4. You can have celery and carrot sticks in between meals. These are filling and their calorie count is negligible.

EXERCISE

5. You should exercise while dieting. It will redistribute your weight more attractively.

6. Look up the calorie count in cocktails. While the calories from alcohol are not stored as fat but are burned up rapidly, these provide energy which otherwise would have come from those fatty deposits you wish to lose.

If you missed my 8-Week Self-Improvement Marathon and would like to lose from 15 to 20 pounds in the next eight weeks, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for the Marathon booklet to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Not the twist, but almost as much fun. It's a good idea to do this exercise while dieting. Keep knees straight and shoulders still as you move hips to the left as far as possible. Tighten seat, abdomen, thigh muscles. Now, shift to the right. This will trim the thighs.

Attentions Should Be Divided

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: My parents are divorced and both are contributing toward my wedding. I know you have said that it is not proper for the divorced parents' names to appear together on the invitations. However, I am sure my father, who has been very good to me, will be deeply hurt if he is not mentioned.

Would it be proper to have two sets of invitations made up — one in my mother's name and one in my father's name, each sending them to their own list of friends and relatives?

A: It would be very improper for your divorced parents to send out joint wedding invitations and your idea of two sets of invitations would be less improper but would be very confusing if some friends of your parents received invitations to your wedding in your mother's name and others in your father's name.

Properly your invitations should be in your mother's name alone and of course your father would give you away.

* * *

Q: When presenting a new member of our sewing group to as many as a dozen others, is it sufficient just to give her name and not give the names of all the others?

A: Such an introduction as this usually is made by first attracting the attention of the group by saying, "I'd like all of you to meet Mrs. Jones." Then you merely tell her their names in the order each one happens to be in.

* * *

Q: When going to visit a friend in the afternoon and you find that she has other guests, is it proper for the unexpected visitor to stay, or should she take her leave as soon as possible?

A: If they are playing bridge, or seem to have been having a conversation that you are interrupting, you should make some excuse and leave. But if the conversation is general and you are made welcome, you may stay.

No Working Wives Not Jobless Answer

By RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Labor Secretary Goldberg's mail bag is heavy these days with letters suggesting ways to cure unemployment. The idea that crops up most often is that in families where the husband has a full time job his wife shouldn't be allowed to work.

* * *

The only thing working wives would need to do to prove what a lame-brain idea this is would be to stage a week's appreciation strike.

If all the married women in the country whose husband's have full time jobs ever decided to take a week's vacation — all at the same time — the country would be in a real mess.

For while the majority of working wives aren't holding down executive positions, an awful lot of them are making it possible for the nation's executives to look good.

Being settled in her home life, the working wife is usually settled in her job, too. And so she stays with one boss or one firm long long enough to make herself — if not indispensable— at least mighty important to the running of the office she works in.

* * *

Everybody knows what happens in a home when the woman of the house has to be away for awhile. All the thousand and one little things that a housewife does routinely just don't get done, and living becomes pretty makeshift.

Let the married working women of the country all step out of the jobs for a week — and office routine wouldn't fare much better.

And that's just part of the story. Think what a recession we would have if all the two income families suddenly became one-income families. The working wife in most families isn't tucking her pay check away in a savings account. It's going to buy all the things that give work to men — homes, automobiles, furniture, appliances and all sorts of things the family couldn't have on one pay check.

* * *

Men—there is good advice for the years in Ruth Millett's booklet, "Happier Wives (hints for husbands)." Just send 25 cents to Ruth Millett Reader Service, in care of The Pontiac Press, P. O. Box 489, Dept. A, Radio City Station, New York 19, N.Y.

Play Starts for 324 at Crosby Tourney

While golfers and fans alike hoped for continuance of the clear skies of the past week, the fore[cast] cast called for occasional [rain] with possible rain Friday.

Defending champion Bob Rosburg of Palo Alto, Calif., headed the hobby field in quest of another $5,200 top prize for the leading professional in this $50,000 production.

Another $5,000 goes to the play-for-pay shooter on the winning pro-amateur team. Crosby's fondness for such pro-am events is credited with creating [a] unique entertainment, business and sports adding space to the competition.

WALL CONFIDENT

Art Wall, who won in 1959 with a 72-hole score of 279, indicated he expects to be in contention again as he commented, "I'm Ram making it even tougher."

Wall vowed the feeling of all when he said scores will depend a lot on the weather. Winds whipping off the Pacific Ocean into compound the golfers' problems.

SANDERS EAGLES

All three courses play to par 72. Most consider Monterey Peninsula to be less difficult, since tall trees break the wind. Yet the foliage will cost strokes on erratic shots.

Doug Sanders gave evidence of great shots to come during the tournament proper when he scored an eagle three on the 14th hole at Monterey Peninsula, a par five that he reached in two.

After that round he joined a foursome at Pebble Beach with 1961 amateur champion Jack Nicklaus, now a pro. Doug appeared awed by the long driving youngster and commented, "He'd put that tee shot out 30 yards ahead of mine."

Detroiter Inks Pact With Chicago Cubs

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Cubs had two-thirds of their 1962 roster signed today as contracts were received from pitcher Jim Brewer and rookie hurler Jim Schandevel.

Schandevel, 24, from Detroit, pitched last season for San Antonio in the Texas League.

The New York Yankees and New York Mets will meet only twice during 1962. They play spring exhibition games on March 22 in St. Petersburg and March 27 at Fort Lauderdale. There's little chance they will meet in the 1962 World Series.

GI Checks Top $240 Million

Distributing Dividends to 4.7 Million Holders of Insurance Policies

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than $240 million in dividends is being distributed this year to over 4.7 million GI insurance policyholders, Veterans Administrator John S. Gleason Jr., announced today.

Gleason said checks will be issued or the money will be deposited to the credit of the policyholder on the anniversary date of the policies, as is the usual custom.

Last year the payment was speeded up at the direction of President Kennedy in an effort to aid the national economy, and later a special dividend was distributed.

This year's dividends will include about $225 million for almost 4.5 million World War II veterans holding participating policies. Some 228,000 World War I veterans with such policies will get about $16 million.

★ ★ ★

The average will be about $50 for the World War II veterans and about $70 for those of World War I.

The annual dividends are primarily a return of part of the premiums paid, since the death rate of veterans continues to be less than estimated in the mortality tables upon which the premium rates were set by law.

Urge State Building in Center of Lansing

LANSING (AP)—The Greater Lansing Chamber of Commerce has opened a drive to urge the state to start a building program in the downtown Lansing Capitol area this year.

Mr. Gen. Ronald G. McDonald, state adjutant general and incoming chamber president warned:

"State agencies are talking about moving to other areas or to rural areas. This is big business, and we can't afford to lose it."

Howard J. Stoddard, Lansing banker who recently headed the constitutional convention convention preparatory commission, was named chairman of a chamber committee to work for capitol development.

Town Has No Births, Deaths or Marriages

SEARSBURG, Vt. (AP)—For the first time in the 126-year history of this tiny town there were no births, deaths or marriages recorded during an entire year.

Town Clerk George Briggs said today the community's records go back to 1835. Searsburg has a population of 74.

Lincoln Hall Formed to Prevent 'White Slavery'

School Has Spent Century Reclaiming Delinquents

BY BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK—A century ago, New York City had a cruel but positive way of dealing with its juvenile delinquents.

★ ★ ★

Civil war orphans, children of destitute Irish, German and Italian immigrants, and others who got in trouble with the police were rounded up like wild beasts, shipped westward and variously sold to farmers and ranchers in search of cheap labor.

The practice so offended Archbishop John Hughes that he formed a board of laymen and ministers, including Dr. Silliman Ives, a former Episcopal bishop of North Carolina. The board went under the jaw-breaking title of the Society for the Protection of Destitute Roman Catholic Children in the City of New York.

★ ★ ★

It is still going strong as Lincoln Hall, a school run by a lay first time in the 126-year history group and called the Christian Brothers. It [illegible] on 900 acres of rolling Westchester County farmland.

★ ★ ★

There is an honor attached to it. Though each of the boys is "committed" by a court, there are few runaways. The good grub, the sports programs, trade schools and the example of the dedicated Brothers combines into an almost irresistible magnet.

In time, a boy sent there as homeless or a menace to society is ready to be passed along to what are called "half-way" houses, private families willing to take the reclaimed boy into their midst and give him a little home life, the lack of which got him into into original trouble.

This ... this salute to a century of service, never easy at any time unrough the 10 decades, yet always magnificently rewarding.

B52 DREAM COME TRUE

That SAC B52M which recently flew nonstop and unrefueled 12,000 and more miles from Okinawa to Madrid came a long way, even before it took off.

The B52 was born in the minds of Gen. Curt LeMay, George Kenney and a few others just 16 years ago. It was first thought of as a propellor-driven bomber.

They kept their dream to themselves and the Boeing people until September 1947 when the public was informed that a bomber of that designation might one day become the Free World's number one deterrent. By that time it could be said the B52 would be jet-propelled.

But not until March 15, 1951, was the money forthcoming for production tooling. The first flight was on April 15, 1952, and SAC's 93rd Bomb Wing, Castle AFB, Calif., got the first one. That was on June 29, 1955, nine and a half years after the birth of the dream.

The impact of the remarkable aircraft on the public itself had to wait until Jan. 15, 1957, when three of them flew around the world nonstop in 45 hours and 19 minutes—24,325 miles at 520 m.p.h.

The refinements never stop in this business. The "H" model of the B52 has a wingspread that would take up nearly two-thirds of a football field.

Its tail stands four stories high. It weighs 488,000 pounds. It flies at 650 miles an hour and better than 60,000 feet.

It's lone gun, a Gatling cannon, can squirt 6,000 shells 20 mm per minute. It carries ECM electronic counter measures equipment which can make it "invisible" to enemy radar and "defleet" on-coming antiaircraft missile fire.

It will soon carry four Skybolt solid-fuel nuclear-tipped air-to-ground ballistic missiles built to be launched 1,000 miles from a target. Its bomb-bay can carry a vast assortment of additional A-bombs and H-bombs.

Space Division Set Up by Chrysler Corporation

DETROIT (UPI)— Chrysler Corp. has set up a new space division in its defense and space group.

* * *

The group vice president, Thomas F. Morrow, said Wednesday the new space division will be responsible for the engineering, production, assembly, static testing and firing of the huge Saturn rocket.

Changes Mostly Small

Market Steady in Quiet Trade

* * *

Changes of most key stocks were small, some going a point or so either way.

Brunswick, Wednesday's most active lower, was steady. International Business Machines recouped 4 points or so. Du Pont resumed its slide, dropping about 2. General Motors as off another fraction.

American tobacco fell about 2.

* * *

Although Bethlehem gained a fraction, other major steels eased. Rails were fairly steady, Pennsylvania Railroad holding firm, Southern Pacific and Santa Fe losing a bit, others trading about unchanged.

* * *

The Dow Jones industrial average was below 700 for the first time since late October and this represented a theoretical "support" level which was in the process of being tested.

Wednesday the Associated Press average of 60 stocks fell 1.90 to 254.30.

* * *

On the upside were Aerojet-General, Giannini controls and Polarad Electronics.

Bonds Steady at Start

Over-the-counter dealers in U.S. government securities posted almost no price changes among intermediate and long issues. There was little activity.

The 4s of 1969, reofered in the Treasury's latest financing operation, fell 2/32s from Wednesday's close of 99 20/32 bid.

Among the few changes amounting to a full point or more were Union Oil of California 4⅞s, off 1 at 104.

Grant Egbert Delay in Trial

S-P President Charged With Offering to Fight Striker at Plant

* * *

Egbert did not appear in South Bend City Court, but was represented by a company attorney, Joseph W. Roper. The 41-year-old executive remained free on $50 bond.

Egbert made no comment after his arrest Wednesday night, but a company spokesman denied that a fight challenge was made.

The Studebaker-Packard plant has been shut down by a United Auto Workers strike since Jan. 2.

Gloyd Richards, 40, a truck driver who has been employed by the auto manufacturing firm 21 years, swore out the affidavit against Egbert, and prosecutor Patrick Brennan of St. Joseph County signed it.

ALLEGED CHALLENGE

Richards alleged in the affidavit that Egbert challenged him to physical violence at the picket line in front of the plant. Richards said he was not on picket duty at the time but was taking pictures. He said he had served as a picket last week.

* * *

Richards said he swore out the affidavit on his own initiative and "wasn't prompted by the union" to file the charge.

C. M. MacMillan, Studbaker-Packard vice president for industrial relations, who was present, denied that Egbert challenged anybody. He said the incident was "highly exaggerated."

Effect of Tariff Cuts on Car Mart Uncertain

BY BEN PHLEGAR
AP Automotive Writer

DETROIT — The tariff-cutting agreement between the United States and the Common Market countries of Europe, announced this week, will have a definite effect on the automobile business but no one yet is certain what it will be.

THE POSSIBILITIES

These are among the possibilities:

1. Increased use of American-made parts in automobiles assembled inside the Common Market by American companies.
2. Increased use of foreign-made parts in United States cars.
3. Increased sales of imported cars in this country.

* * *

The agreements provide for a tariff reduction from the present 29 per cent to 22 per cent on American-built cars shipped into the six Common Market countries—Belgium, Luxembourg, and the Netherlands, France, Italy and West Germany; a cut from 19 to 14 per cent on auto parts shipped to those countries; a reduction in U.S. tariff on European cars from 8.5 to 6.5 per cent and on European parts from 10 per cent to 6.4 per cent.

The reduction on fully-assembled cars exported to Western Europe, while substantial, probably won't cause any noticeable increase in exports.

NOT HEAVY BUYERS

The Common Market countries are not heavy buyers of American-built cars, taking less than 5 per cent of all car and truck exports as a rule.

One reason is that the major American manufacturers have assembly plants in the area which supply what demand there is for the larger cars.

General Motors and Ford have plants in Antwerp. Chrysler is located at Rotterdam and this month American Motors will begin producing Ramblers at Haren, near Brussels, in an agreement with Renault.

Most of these plants use a mixture of American and locally produced parts. It may eventually prove advantageous to use more American parts.

More than half of American auto exports consists of parts. In 1959, for example, total United States auto exports were valued at $1.28 billion of which fully assembled cars and trucks accounted for $617.7 million, mostly to Canada and South America.

On the other hand, domestic manufacturers have been giving careful consideration to the cost of importing certain parts from their foreign subsidiaries.

* * *

Ford already uses a small percentage of German and English components in its compact cars. But most of the speculation has centered around Ford's smaller car, the Cardinal, which is reported ready for introduction in the summer.

The Cardinal is said to use several major parts from abroad in keeping with Ford's announced hopes of making its worldwide operations more compatible.

School Board to Save Interest

Pontiac Group Will Buy Back $600,000 Callable Bonds in March 1963

Pontiac School District taxpayers are expected to save from $10,000 to $15,000 a year in interest on a $1-million bond issue, as a result of a Pontiac Board of Education vote last night.

The board adopted a resolution to buy back on March 1, 1963, $600,000 of callable bonds issued July 1, 1961. That promise is expected to lower the interest rate by one to 1½ per cent.

The bond issue, which already had been approved on June 1, 1961, would pay for the completion of Jefferson Junior High School and provide approximately $430,000 of the 1961-62 building program of which the Northern High School addition is the primary part.

Former Board Member Louis H. Schimmel, a municipal finance expert, explained the need for the promise to call back the bonds before their legal 25-year maturity.

Since the Pontiac district is able to pay off bonds in less than 25 years, he said, it would not be economical to buy back the bonds over 25 years which would raise interest rates.

* * *

The promise to buy back in March 1963 the $600,000 worth of callable bonds, which would begin to mature March 1, 1946 through 1987 would enable bond buyers to lower their interest demands.

At current rates, this would lower interest from 3.6 per cent to 2½.

Bids on the bond issue will be opened at the next board meeting, Jan. 25, Supt. Dana P. Whitmer said.

Michigan Drivers Take Economy Run Victories

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Bill Horton of 312 Canal St., Milford, Mich., drove a Chevrolet Bel Air to an average of 19.289 miles per gallon of gasoline in economy trials at the Daytona International Speedway Tuesday.

He led in class 4 for small V8 engines. Les Vilan of Livonia, Mich., led in class 3 for medium V8 engines with 20.214 miles in a Rambler Ambassador.

Reciprocal Trade Talks Pushed by Henry Ford II

NEW YORK (AP) — Henry Ford II Wednesday night called for stepped up reciprocal trade negotiations to minimize Europe's external trade barriers.

The automotive executive told the 20th anniversary dinner of the Advertising Council the United States' tariff-cutting pact just completed with the six-member European Common Market offered "promise of some gain" in getting concessions from Europe for the admission of more American goods.

Ford praised President Kennedy's drive to get congressional approval for "freedom to wheel and deal" in getting trade concessions from Europe.

He urged that reciprocal trade negotiations should now be pushed "on an even bigger and broader scale" to minimize Europe's external trade barriers.

* * *

At the same time the head of a company with a number of plants abroad warned against "a new protectionism" that would discourage such private investment abroad, "particularly a recent legislative proposal to tax foreign income at source."

The Advertising Council's president, Neil McElroy, chairman of the Proctor & Gamble Co., presented the automobile manufacturer with the council's 1960 public service award, citing him as "the rebuilder of the Ford Motor Co.," for his work with the Ford Foundation, and as an alternate American delegate to the Eighth General Assembly of the United Nations.

EUROPE'S POWER GROWS

"Europe united is a far more formidable force in every respect than Europe divided," Ford said. "Its power in dealing with other great powers—ourselves included—is growing fast.

"If the United States is to be influential in the economic, political and military decisions of Europe, it must become a near partner in European affairs, not a distant cousin."

Americans must now work and fight hard for their share of markets, the auto maker said.

Firm to Take In 50 From Detroit Oil Seal Plant

A Pontiac manufacturer of oil seals, the Universal Oil Seal Co., will take in 50 employes from a sister operation in Detroit which is being dissolved.

* * *

The parent organization of Universal Oil-Seal, the Chicago Rawhide Co. of Chicago, has sold its Detroit oil-seal stamping plant to the Jervis B. Webb Co. of Detroit, manufacturer of conveyors.

Part of the Detroit oil seal operation and manpower will be transferred to the Chicago home plant and the remaining 50 men and some operations will be transferred to the Pontiac plant at 34 W. Kennett Road.

* * *

At present the Pontiac plant employs about 140. It manufactures and assembles oil seals for engines for aircraft, automobiles, marine equipment and production machinery.

Members of the Pontiac Automotive Trade Association, comprised of new car auto dealers in Pontiac, are Matthews-Hargreaves Inc., R & R Motors, Inc., McAuliffe Ford Inc., Lloyd Motors Co., Oliver Motor Sales Inc., Pontiac Retail Store and Jerome Motor Sales Co.

Test Drivers Given Trophies for Safety

Test drivers of the Pontiac Motor Division and the Proving Ground Garage Department have each received a million-mile safe driving trophy, upon completing one million miles of test driving on the Proving Ground without a driver-caused accident.

* * *

The awards were made to each of the driver foremen, Kenneth L. Gardner, William H. Hance Jr., Louis W. Caswell (Proving Ground Garage Department) and Alfred G. Cooper, George D. Robinson, Daniel J. Bailey (Pontiac Division), representing the men on their shifts.

* * *

Their present award was made on the basis of 1,045,415 accident-free miles accumulated between Feb. 17, 1961 and Jan. 4, 1962. The million mile record is the best safe driving accomplishment by the Pontiac drivers since Pontiac Division started operations at the Proving Grounds.

Good Year Predicted by MSU Economist

EAST LANSING (AP) — A Michigan State University economist predicts a better year for Michigan and the nation in 1962.

Dr. Eli P. Cox, director of the Bureau of Business and Economic Research at MSU, said he expects a rise in nearly every major sector of the national economy.

Cox said there are signs that the American consumer has loosened his purse strings and is going into the market place to spend some of his money.

News in Brief

Someone broke into the First General Baptist Church, 249 Baldwin Ave., and ransacked rooms and offices during the previous night, it was reported to Pontiac police yesterday morning. Nothing was reported stolen.

A shed valued at $150, and $1,800 worth of welding equipment were destroyed in a fire last night at 4810 Cherry Court, Highland Township, according to Oakland County Sheriff's deputies. The owner, Fred Cook, said the blaze broke out while he was welding in the shed next to his home.

Detroit Area Firms Get Jobs Worth $1 Million

DETROIT (AP) — The Army Ordnance Tank-Automotive Command says Detroit area firms were given contracts for $1,211,699 Wednesday.

Chrysler Corp. received a $473,987 contract for 225 carry-all trucks; Ford was given an award of $136,453 for 28 dump trucks; Chevrolet received a $484,864 contract for telephone maintenance and utility trucks, and the Fruehauf Trailer Co. was given a $44,108 contract for trailer assemblies.

Father of Retarded 3 Asks Swainson's Help

LANSING (AP) — Tom Bradley, worried and distraught, admitted he has just about come to the end of his rope.

Bradley, a lean and good-looking six-footer, is the father of eight children, the oldest 14 and the youngest eight months. Two boys and a girl are mentally retarded, certified by the probate court a year ago for emergency admission to a state home and training school.

All three are among 1,521 adults and children still on waiting lists at state institutions for the mentally retarded.

The youngest, 8-year-old Dennis, is in a nursing home temporarily. But Bradley, 37, says his salary as purchasing agent for Redford Township in suburban Detroit will not cover the $5.50 a day it costs to keep him there much longer.

"I'm in debt up to my ears," he told Zolton Ferency, the governor's executive secretary.

WORRIES ABOUT WIFE

"But it's not debts or myself that I'm worried about," he added quickly. "It's my wife Lorraine. She has to live with the situation 24 hours a day. The doctor has told me that unless we can do something about it, she's going to end up in a mental institution herself."

★ ★ ★

Swainson remembered Bradley from the days when the governor was making his first campaign for state senator in 1954. Bradley tacked up campaign posters and distributed literature for the Democratic party.

"I knew about Tom's problem, but I didn't know it was as serious as this," the governor told a reporter. "I asked the mental health department last year to see what they could do about it, but I didn't ask them to admit his children ahead of somebody else higher on the waiting list.

"I do think, however, that families with more than one mentally retarded child waiting for admission should get special consideration."

Swainson noted that his 1962 program for mental health, submitted to the legislature yesterday, called for immediate construction of additional facilities for the mentally retarded. It also proposed expansion of local facilities for treatment of less serious cases.

NEWS OF THE AREA

To Consider Reorganiznig Avondale School Setup

The Avondale Citizens School Study Committee will look over plans of a subcommittee to reorganize the school system's grade setup along conventional lines when it meets Monday evening.

The subcommittee suggests the system set up six elementary grades, three in junior high and three in high school. Presently the district employs a 5-3-4 arrangement.

Taking charge of the 8 p.m. general meeting will be newly chosen chairman of the steering committee, McAllister Stock, of 425 E. South Boulevard, Pontiac Township.

The committee also will consider plans submitted by subcommittees on projected population and enrollment figures. In addition, the group will study curriculum and educational program plans for the elementary schools.

Also the unit will take up the question of how future enrollment should be distributed between the three school levels.

The group's recommendations could have a considerable effect on the school system, Stock said.

The present system which has resulted in crowding the high school, was adopted by the board of education to relieve crowding in the elementary schools, Supt. L. R. Watt said.

If the committee comes up with a recommendation that the board change to a six-year elementary school program and shave the four-year high school setup, the decision would affect future building programs.

★ ★ ★

According to Stock, many parents have asked that the 6-3-3 distribution be adopted.

★ ★ ★

The study committee is working with data projected for the next five years.

It will turn next to financial and transportation problems faced by the school system.

Saturday Night Dance Planned at Goodison

GOODISON—The Baldwin School Parent-Teacher Association will sponsor a square dance at the school from 8 p.m. until midnight Saturday.

Charles Becker, owner of the B-Bar-B Western Supply Store in Rochester, will be host and caller for the evening.

Proceeds from the dance, which is open to the public, will go toward buying new books for the school library. Square dance instruction will be available and modern dancing will be offered.

Tickets may be purchased at the door.

$1,000 Allocated for Consultant

Walled Lake Group to Hire Professional on Revising Zoning

WALLED LAKE — The city plan commission has been empowered by the City Council to hire a professional planning consultant to assist the nine-member group in carrying out its duties.

The council allocated $1,000 for the remainder of the year to be used for the consultant's fee, materials and research cost necessary to revising the present zoning ordinance.

The funds also can be used for registering members of the commission in any one-day planning conference held at a college or university within a 35-mile radius of city.

The council said that while limiting the commission to $1,000, it is very likely that the allocation would be increased if necessary.

The consultant would be used primarily to train members of the commission in planning procedures and techniques.

Ice Floes Halt River Traffic on Mississippi

CAIRO, Ill. (AP)—A congestion of ice floes blocking the Mississippi River since Friday may prevent resumption of river traffic for at least five days, the Weather Bureau said Wednesday.

More than 250 barges have been berthed at this junction of the Ohio and Mississippi rivers while tugs and towboats back at the stalemate ice. The gorge extends 10 miles downstream from Fayville, and is 10 feet thick in some places.

F. W. Satow Named Building Inspector

COMMERCE TOWNSHIP — Frederick W. Satow of 1570 Maplewood St., Sylvan Lake, has been named township building inspector to succeed Richard B. Schlosser.

★ ★ ★

Satow, 64, had been assistant building inspector for the township for nearly two years. His appointment was made by Supervisor Thomas Tiley and confirmed by the Township Board.

★ ★ ★

Schlosser resigned from his post early this month to become the city building inspector in Birmingham. He had been with the township four years.

To Make Up Deficit

Southfield Approves Reassessment Move

SOUTHFIELD — Nearly $25,000 of a $54,000 city deficit due to low assessment estimates will be collected by respreading costs for paving, water and sewer projects undertaken during the 1959-60 fiscal year.

The City Council approved the action to reassess the property in question at a public hearing last night at the Southfield High School.

Only mild protests were heard from a few of the more than 200 homeowners who attended the meeting. The council had expected more than 500 persons at the hearing.

The move to reassess all the property that the state will allow under law will cost the individual property owners living in certain assessment districts anywhere from five to 68 cents more a front foot for the completed projects.

City officials claim that the deficit is due to improper assessing procedures during the last administration.

In addition to the amount that the state says can be reassessed, the law also limits the amount of money that the city can retain if construction costs are below the original assessment. The city has to refund the excess to the homeowner.

At this time the city has not finished its computations on just how much will have to be returned.

Says Footprints Proof of Guilt

NEWBERRY (AP)—"A man might lie when talking, but cannot forge footprints made in the sand."

Prosecutor John Shimmens said he would back up this statement with testimony today at the trial of James Yenik, 35, on a first degree murder charge in the slaying of 11-year-old Michael Richmond.

Michael was found shot to death last July 28 in the brush near a road intersection 15 miles east of Newberry.

In his opening statement to a Circuit Court jury yesterday Shimmens said he had 173 boot-prints taken from soft sand at the scene of the slaying.

'CAN'T BE FORGED'

He declared, "Yenik's own tracks would convict him because he has a peculiar walk that cannot be forged."

Yenik, an auto worker who was on vacation in Upper Michigan, claims an alibi. He says he was from 20 to 30 miles away from the scene of the killing. Yenik is a bachelor whose hobbies are hunting and collecting guns.

The prosecutor said Yenik has been under close observation since his arrest.

To Lee Hebner

Mary Brown Married

The bridegroom is the son of Frank Hebner of Burlington Township, and the late Mrs. Hebner.

The bride wore a floor-length white satin dress and carried a bridal bouquet of pink sweetheart roses. Her fingertip veil was held in place by a headpiece decorated with sequins and pearls.

Serving as maid of honor was the bride's cousin, Ann Brown. Bernard Wilkson was best man.

The Browns are living in Clifford.

Con-Con Invites Baruch to Talk

New Committee Urges Request for Speech by Elder Statesman

LANSING (UPI) — Constitutional convention President Stephen S. Nisbet has issued an invitation to Bernard Baruch, elder statesman and perennial adviser to U.S. presidents to appear before the Michigan convention.

★ ★ ★

The invitation was sent at the request of Frank G. Millard, R-Flint, former state attorney general, chairman of the convention's new committee on emerging problems.

The new committee was appointed to look into matters not now in the constitution but which may become serious issues in the foreseeable future.

"We felt that Mr. Baruch's vast knowledge and experience would be invaluable in guiding the work of our committee," Millard said.

Nisbet's invitation urged Baruch to appear before the committee and also the entire convention.

Millard told the committee Wednesday that other national figures would also be invited to appear on various matters which may prove to be the key issues of the future.

There was no indication whether Baruch would accept the invitation.

Plans New Try at Redesigning Michigan's Flag

LANSING (AP) — Sen. Harold M. Ryan, D-Detroit, planned another try at changing the state flag today — with hopes no one would add "Soapy's" bow tie to kill the bill.

Ryan tried for the flag change last year. His design for the new flag included two gold lines connecting Michigan's peninsula's to represent the Mackinac Bridge.

The measure was being taken seriously until an amendment was added to change the lines to a green and white bow tie — the trademark of former Gov. G. Mennen Williams. Then it was defeated.
