GM and UAW Start to Bargain in Detroit Today

Labor, Industry Giants Square Off for Tussle Over Guaranteed Pay

DETROIT (AP)—The giants of labor and industry square off today on a union's most ambitious demand since organizing days—the guaranteed annual wage.

The principals are the billion-dollar General Motors Corp., the nation's biggest industrial firm, and Walter Reuther's 1½-million-member CIO United Auto Workers, the nation's biggest union.

The arena is a small room in the massive General Motors Building in midtown Detroit, scene of the start of formal bargaining on a new contract.

Immediately at stake are the fortunes of some 350,000 General Motors employes across the country. But the significance of the negotiations goes far beyond this.

The current five-year cost-of-living contract between GM and the UAW expires May 29. Three days later a similar pact covering 140,000 Ford Motor Co. employes runs out.

The UAW plans to concentrate its guaranteed wage fire on these two biggest producers in the industry. Ford negotiations start Tuesday.

If it comes to a strike, the feeling in Detroit labor circles is that Ford would be chosen. The reasoning is that the union couldn't afford a long strike at GM which would cut off roughly one-third of its dues besides costing countless millions in strike benefits.

The UAW guaranteed wage plan calls for 40 hours' pay if an employe works any part of a week. The employe would be guaranteed enough to "maintain his living standards" any week he is laid off completely.

Augusta Favorites Shoot Short of Par

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Billy Joe Patton and Mike Souchak, two of the top conversation pieces of the 1955 Masters Golf tournament were unable to crack par on the early holes of today's first round.

Patton, having trouble keeping his drives in the fairways, was two over par after seven holes. Souchak, sensation of the winter tour, was even par after four holes.

Souchak, of Durham, N.C., got his par-5 on No. 2 the hard way. His drive landed just behind a bump in the fairway and his second caught the crest of the hump and bounded over into an adjacent fairway. He went for the pin but caught a trap guarding the green. Then he blasted out about two feet from the cup and sank his putt.

Defending Champion Sam Snead, Ben Hogan and other top threats were among the late starters.

County Educators Praise Proposal for Federal Aid

CLEVELAND (Special)—Oakland County school superintendents returned to their local school districts today hailing the Beardsley Ruml proposal for federal aid to education as the key address of the annual American Association of Schools Administrators convention (Apr. 2-6).

Ruml, noted financial authority, set forth a program of federal aid for all schools of the nation on a per capita child basis which he said should begin by Jan. 1 of 1956.

Federal aid to education, long a controversial subject because previous proposed programs have been hamstrung with federal control, must come because the local tax base is not sufficient to support a good educational program, said Ruml.

By distributing the federal money on a per capita child basis, Dr. Dana P. Whitmer, superintendent of Pontiac schools attending the convention, said that federal control danger is eliminated.

Clifford H. Smart, superintendent of Walled Lake schools, said that "I agree with Ruml's statement that the property tax, although it should remain an integral part of school support, cannot furnish the funds necessary for an adequate school program now or in the immediate future. Other sources must be made available."

Ruml's thesis is that the increase of national income decreases the local moneys available for education.

Smart said that a reasonable proportion of our gross national income is not presently allocated to education and Ruml's recommendation of a three to six per cent increase for schools is moderate.

Both Smart and Dr. Whitmer suggested that school district reorganization precede the enactment of Ruml's proposal.

"Federal aid would tend to perpetuate the inefficient district under Ruml's plan," said Dr. Whitmer who believes that reorganization must take place to guarantee the efficient use of public funds.

Donald Baldwin, superintendent of Rochester schools, endorsed Ruml's plan in "theory."

City Stores Will Close

Most retail stores will close from noon to 3 p. m. tomorrow for Good Friday Tre Ore services, Richard L. McPartlin, president of the Pontiac Retail Merchants Assn., said today.

Election Hinges Upon Canvass in 20 to 30 Days

3 Contests Unsettled; Both Parties Will Call for Recount

DETROIT (AP)—Michigan's spring election is three days past, but results were so close that winners in at least three of the eight contests will not be known until the official canvass 20 to 30 days hence.

Even the official count likely will not settle the outcome of the tightest spring election in state history.

Leaders of both the Democratic and Republican parties, conceding nothing, say they will call for a recount after announcement of the official tabulation of the million-plus votes which were cast.

Only Chief Justice Leland W. Carr of the State Supreme Court, running for re-election, could claim a substantial margin of victory in the Republican camp. He polled an impressive 487,072 votes to take an 85,000-vote lead over his nearest competitor, Circuit Judge Eugene F. Black, a Democratic nominee from Port Huron.

The other Republican leaders are Dr. Clair L. Taylor, incumbent, for superintendent of public instruction, and Stephen S. Nisbet, Fremont, running for re-election to the State Board of Education.

Both men held razor-thin leads, Taylor by 2,167 over Dr. Lynn Bartlett, Grosse Pointe superintendent of schools, and Nisbet by 1,962 over John M. Veale, St. Clair Shores.

The unofficial vote Monday, as tabulated by The Associated Press, follows:

Saginaw Police Count Treasure Hoard

AP Wirephoto

Saginaw Police Unearth $12,000 in Hermit Hovel

SAGINAW (UP)—Police today searched the hovel of a recluse who wore no shoes but had at least $13,000 in cash, stocks and bank deposits hidden among the debris in his shack.

Officers stumbled on the hoard when they were called to help a "sick man."

They found that Frank Trarup, 72-year-old hermit, had suffered a stroke and lifted him from his battered bed to take him to a hospital.

In the process, an officer kicked over a beer can standing near the bed. Silver dollars spilled from the beer can among the rubbish strewn on the floor.

After taking Trarup to the hospital, police returned to search the shack. They found $1,450.96 in cash, $11,646.07 in bank accounts and numerous other stocks of undetermined value.

Stock certificates dating back to the 1920s were found in the drawers of a broken down sewing machine.

"Everything we touched seemed to have money in it," Capt. Melvin Austin said. "Our boys are still out there finding money, even some of those old big bills. There were old pocketbooks tossed into corners and jammed into the mattress."

Austins said Trarup apparently ordered catalogs from all over the nation and tucked bills between the pages of many of them.

Engineers Map Recommended Road Course

Communities Affected Will Be Consulted on Announced Plan

The Michigan Turnpike Authority today said it has received a definite plan from its engineers for the route of the state's proposed north-south toll road from Rockwood to Saginaw.

The Authority will study the plan "but it will be some time before any final action is taken on it. It will be thoroughly studied first," said Otis Hardy, of the group's administrative staff.

As presented to the authority meeting in Ann Arbor today, the route would start at a point on US-24 southwest of Flat Rock.

The road proceeds north through Allen Park and Dearborn along Southfield to the Ford Estate, and then follows the River Rouge valley through Detroit's Rouge Park.

Near Eight Mile Rd., it would cross to the west of Telegraph road and hit Franklin Village.

The route remains very closely parallel to the west side of Telegraph road, crossing Maple road, for about a mile before it reaches West Long Lake road in Bloomfield Township, Oakland County.

At this point it crosses to the east side of Telegraph road and proceeds northeasterly to an interchange at Woodward Ave. It continues northeasterly, turning due north as it crosses Square Lake road. Then it crosses the Grand Trunk Railroad and Auburn road and jogs slightly to the west for an interchange at Lapeer road, about a mile south of Walton boulevard.

The road then heads north passing Mud Lake and Judah Lake on the east and bends northwesterly. It meets the northeast edge of Voorheis Lake in Orion Township and continues in its northeasterly direction past Dennis Lake, Seymour Lake road in Brandon Township, Oakland County, and midway between Hemstead Lake and Perry Lake.

Passing Grass Lake on the northern edge, it cuts into Groveland Township, heading northeast over Groveland road and Burdee road.

The route would go east of Pontiac and Flint, terminating five miles south of Saginaw tieing in with a by-pass expressway built by the State Highway Department.

Chief criticism of the turnpike has been the belief it will split communities into isolated sections. Today's announcement, however, has the route going under or over all existing roads.

Hardy said the authority will mail index maps of the engineer's route to all townships and communities involved with an offer to have a representative meet and discuss the plan with local officials.

City Churches Announce Good Friday Observances

By MARY ANGLEMIER
Pontiac Press Church Editor

Christians throughout the world will go to church tonight and tomorrow in commemoration of Jesus' last two days on earth.

A Good Friday meditation entitled "The Road to Calvary" will be held at Grace Lutheran Church, Glendale and S. Genesee Sts., beginning at 1 o'clock. The service will last one hour and will feature selections by a group from the Tuesday Musicale. They will sing "Lord Hear Our Prayer" by Verdi, "Jesu, Word of God Incarnate" by Gounod and the hymn "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross."

Mrs. James B. Forman will direct the singers and Henry Elling will be at the organ. The pastor, the Rev. Otto G. Schultz, will read 10 meditations depicting the Saviour's passion. Each meditation will be followed by a moment of silence. Mrs. Basil B. Kimball will sing at the close of the service "I Walked Today Where Jesus Walked."

Holy Week services are being held each night this week by the Macedonia Baptist Church. Friday, the Young Matron's Auxiliary to the Women's Home and Foreign Missionary Union will conclude their series of films on the Life of Christ at 7:30 p.m. at Macedonia Center with the showing of "Nicodemus and the Resurrection."

Maundy Thursday Communion Service and reception of members will be held tonight at the First Congregational Church. The Chancel Choir will sing "Alleluia," by Randall Thompson and the Rev. Malcom K. Burton will preach on "Jesus Ofttimes Resorted Thither."

The Women's Fellowship will hold the annual Good Friday Breakfast at 9:30 a.m. Mrs. Lawrence D. Graves, wife of the associate pastor, will give a dramatic presentation in costume of "The Story of Mary Magdalene."

Mary Louise Lindquist will sing "Panis Angelicus," by Cesar Franck and "He Was Alone," by Theodore Paxton, with Charles A. Wilson, accompanist. The church congregation will join in the Union Good Friday Service at the Central Methodist Church from 12 noon to 3 p.m.

The St. Paul Lutheran Church on Joslyn Ave. will meet for a Maundy Thursday Communion Service, "The Lord's Supper." The choir will sing "Go to Dark Gethsemane." Pastor George J. Mahder will speak.

Preaching from the theme "I Was There When They Crucified My Lord," will be the Rev. Mahder at the Good Friday service from 1 to 2 p.m.

At the Candlelight Communion Service at 8 o'clock Maundy Thursday evening, there will be a reception of new members at Kirk in the Hills. Good Friday afternoon at 1 o'clock the Rev. Harold

New Sales Peak Hit by Pontiac

Deliveries in March Reach 54,146 Cars, for Highest Month

Pontiac Motor Division sales soared to a record high of 54,146 new cars in March, according to R. M. Critchfield, GM vice president and general manager of the division.

During the last 10 days of March, 21,489 cars were delivered. March sales were 30 per cent over February and by far the highest month's sales in Pontiac history, topping Pontiac's previous record of August, 1950, by 20 per cent, Critchfield said.

Total sales of 1955 Pontiacs through the end of March have gone over the 228,000 mark. Critchfield predicted record sales of over 550,000 new Pontiacs during the 1955 model year.

In comparing sales this year with 1954, Critchfield said they were up 66 per cent over March last year.

Used car sales by Pontiac dealers also reached a new high in March. Dealers reported 75,677 used car sales, more than 19,000 units above March, 1954.

No Gaca Clues, Police Admit

Public Appeal Is Made for Further Help in Solving Crime

After checking hundreds of tips, Oakland County and Detroit Police today admitted they have no clues to the kidnap-murder of Barbara Gaca.

Oakland County Sheriff Frank Irons said his men investigated 15 tips yesterday and three new ones today. He said one looked "pretty fair" but refused to elaborate.

The 7-year-old Detroit schoolgirl's body was found last Thursday in a West Bloomfield Township lover's lane. She had been stabbed 15 times, strangled and raped.

Detroit Police, carrying on the major part of the intense man hunt, said their only tangible clue is the army blanket in which Barbara's body was discovered. And they admit this is a one-in-a-million clue.

The Life of Christ—28

Even Disciples of Jesus Doubt Resurrection

By BISHOP FULTON J. SHEEN

(On Sunday morning after the Crucifixion several women visit Christ's grave. They were grieving and wished to embalm the dead Saviour. They did not expect a resurrection. The Angel shows the women where the Lord's body had been laid and directs them to make known the fact of Christ's Resurrection.)

Nothing is more anti-historical than to say the pious women were expecting Christ to rise from the dead. This was, in fact, something they never expected. Their minds were not made up of that kind of earth on which such expectations could grow. The other women may have rushed back to their homes, but Magdalene races impetuously to Peter and to John, not to announce the Resurrection, but to say: "They have carried the Lord away from the tomb and we cannot tell where they have taken Him."

Just a week before, she had heard her Master say that He was the Resurrection and the Life, and now instead of believing in the Resurrection, she thinks that someone had stolen away the body.

Despite the multiple predictions of His Resurrection and the comparing of Himself to Jonas, still His own disciples and followers did not believe. When finally Mary Magdalene and Joanna and Mary the mother of James, told the apostle of His Resurrection, they refused to believe. "To their minds the story seemed madness and they could not believe it."

"Doubting Thomas" is faced with proof of Christ's Resurrection

Added to the original incredulity of the women is now the incredulity of the Apostles. Their answer practically was: "You know how women are, always imagining things." In vain do we think that people before the advent of scientific psychology were not afraid of their own minds playing tricks upon them. We boast of our own incredulity in the fact of the extraordinary, but our skepticism is as nothing compared to the skepticism which immediately greeted the first news of the Resurrection.

The fact is that what modern skeptics say about the Resurrection story, the disciples themselves were the first to say. As the original agnostics of Christianity, with one assent they dismissed the whole story as a delusion.

Something very extraordinary must happen, and some very concrete evidence must be presented to all of these doubters, before they will overcome their reluctance to believe. Their skepticism was even more difficult than modern skepticism to overcome, because theirs started from a hope that was disappointed in Calvary; this is far more difficult to heal than a modern skepticism which is without hope. Nothing is farther from the truth than to say that followers of Our Blessed Lord were expecting the Resurrection and, therefore, were ready to believe it or to console themselves for a loss that seemed irreparable. H. G. Wells has written nothing about the Resurrection that Peter and the other apostles had not already had in their own minds.

When Mohammed died, Omar rushed from his tent, sword in hand, and declared that he would kill anyone who said that the prophet had died. But with Christ there is a readiness to believe that He had died, but a reluctance to believe that He was living.

There were many other appearances of Our Lord, for example: to the disciples on the road to Emmaus, to the apostles, excluding Thomas, to the apostles with Thomas, to multitudes, to small groups of apostles, to Peter and John on the lake. Then after forty days, He takes leave of them to ascend, as He told Magdalene, back again to His Father. It took a long time to convince them, but the full meaning of it did not dawn in their souls until Pentecost. Then they were all ready to have their throats cut for their belief.

Less than seven weeks before, Christ made His triumphal entry into Jerusalem; He had also suffered His ignominious death in Jerusalem, and now within view of it He would ascend back again

Ex-County Man Back in Custody

George Joehansen Held on West Coast After 'Confession'

A former Oakland County man, who reportedly claims he murdered a Pontiac factory worker, is again in custody at Goldendale, Wash., Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem said today.

The sheriff of Klickitat County, Wash., wired Tuesday night that George Joehansen, about 47, had confessed that he killed Henry J. LaFond, 56, of 80 Stanley, Pontiac Township on Jan. 8, 1954.

The death was ruled suicide or accidental at the time.

The Washington authorities discounted Joehansen's admission and released him. Ziem requested that he be re-arrested yesterday afternoon.

News that Joehansen was back in custody was received early this morning. Assistant Prosecutor Robert D. Long and an officer will leave by plane at 2 p.m. today to question the lumber mill worker.

LaFond was found in a field a half mile behind his home by two of his daughters and a brother-in-law, Marshall Pridmore Sr., of 3384 Meinrad, Drayton Plains.

Pridmore yesterday told Ziem that LaFond's gun had a hair trigger and his impression was the victim fell on the weapon which discharged.

Joehansen, who was divorced from Mrs. LaFond's sister 14 years ago, lived with the LaFonds at time of the death.

The dead man's wife, Hazel, 49, yesterday said Joehansen was missing for about a week after the incident, then returned for a short while, before leaving for good.

Other relatives contacted today by Ziem said Joehansen left the home briefly after the death so it would not be crowded while funeral proceedings were in progress.

State Police Begin Ballot Box Check

State Police began a check of all ballot boxes in Oakland County today looking toward possible recounts of vote totals in last Monday's spring election.

County Clerk Lynn D. Allen received a wire from Secretary of State James M. Hare last night asking that local clerks be informed of the planned inspection.

Allen made a list for the troopers of the county's 65 precincts where paper ballots are still used. A majority of these (44) are in Pontiac.

The officers will make certain that the boxes are properly locked and stored.

Commission to Confirm Ballots on City Issues

The City Commission will sit as a board of canvassers tonight to officially confirm the ballots cast on the three city propositions in Monday's election.

After completing the canvass, the Commission is slated to consider appointments of Pontiac representatives to the Oakland County Board of Supervisors.

Easter Vacations Start for City School Pupils

ZELLA LOUISE WALKER

Zella L. Walker Taken by Death

Former Pontiac High Civics and U.S. History Teacher Dies Today

A Pontiac High School teacher for more than 30 years, Zella Louise Walker, 70, of 96 Washington St. died early this morning at Pontiac General Hospital. She had been in the hospital four months.

Born Feb. 22, 1885 in Berlin Township near Saranac, she was the daughter of Lewis Curtis and Cora Udall Walker and had lived in Michigan all her life.

Miss Walker received her A.B. and M.A. degrees from the University of Michigan. She had done graduate work at the University of Wisconsin, University of California, Southern Branch, studied in Los Angeles, Calif. and taught in Mt. Clemens and Freeland.

Coming to Pontiac High in 1916, Miss Walker had taught Civics and U. S. History and had traveled every state in the union. She retired in 1950.

She was a member of the First Presbyterian Church, Women's Group of her church, the University of Michigan Alumnae club here, and the DAR.

Two sisters survive, Mrs. A. A. (Marion) Fickes of Willoughby, Ohio and Dorothy L. Walker of Washington, D. C. Also surviving are a nephew and two nieces.

The funeral will be held Saturday at 11 a.m. from the Sparks-Griffin Chapel. Dr. William H. Marbach, her pastor, will officiate with burial in Saranac.

Mrs. John Boomer

Mrs. John (Edna E.) Boomer, 76, of 64 N. Cass Ave. died yesterday afternoon at her home after a short illness.

Born Aug. 4, 1878 in Kingston, she was the daughter of Edward and Elizabeth Jeffery Hartt and married Jan. 1, 1914 in Bay City.

Mrs. Bloomer had lived in Pontiac since 1918.

Surviving are four children, Mrs. Lucille Coulter of Royal Oak, John C., Rex and Mrs. Fay Hanby, all of Pontiac, nine grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Service will be held Saturday at 1:30 p.m. from the Huntoon Funeral Home with Dr. Milton H. Bank of the Central Methodist Church officiating. Burial will follow in Ottawa Park Cemetery.

Vern Gorsline

Vern Gorsline, 58, of 44 Seneca St. died this morning at his home. He had been ill one day. Born Sept. 8, 1896 in Lapeer County, he was the son of Kennedy and Maude Ammon Gorsline and married to the former Martha L. Smith July 23, 1918 in Caro.

Coming here from Marlette 30 years ago, he had been employed by the Pontiac Motor Division.

Surviving besides his wife and parents of Marlette are six children, Mrs. Gerald Goodison of Rochester, Leon C. Gorsline of St. Paul, Minn., Robert R., Richard V., Gerold V. and William H., all of Pontiac.

Other survivors are a sister, Mrs. Gail Bracken Sr. of Lake Orion; four brothers, Earl of Marlette, Kenneth of Rochester, Clarence and Harry, both of Pontiac.

Service will be held Monday at 1 p.m. from the Donelson-Johns Funeral Home. Dr. Milton H. Bank of the Central Methodist Church will officiate with burial in Oak Hill Cemetery.

Public Housing Ban Petitions Checked

City Clerk Ada R. Evans reported today her staff has begun checking signatures on the petitions calling for an ordinance barring further public housing here.

The petitions, reportedly bearing some 6,000 signatures, were turned in two weeks ago but were not checked because of election duties by the staff.

Approximately 2,100 valid signatures are needed to bring about presentation of the proposed ordinance for passage by the City Commission or a special election.

The ordinance prohibiting fluoridation of the city's water, passed Monday, was initiated in the same manner.

The Day in Birmingham

New Tools May Be Used for Teaching Arithmetic

BIRMINGHAM—Abacus, the Oriental calculating device, and the modern adding machine will appear in classrooms if the recommendations of the Birmingham Administrative Council, composed of principals and assistant superintendents, are accepted. The recommendation will be submitted to the school board at an early date, administrators said.

Training in arithmetic has been vastly improved through use of these instruments which releases children's physical vigor to leave them free for mental work, according to school officials who have studied the new work done by Dr. Andrew F. Schott, Marquette University, in elementary and high schools in Milwaukee County.

This new tool in arithmetic teaching has been demonstrated to top school officials here and, if the school board approves, will be tried experimentally next fall in 7th and 8th grades in Barnum Junior High School and in a primary grade in one school.

Dr. Schott's tests show, in many cases, 14 months' learning work covered in four months.

Dr. Dwight B. Ireland, superintendent of schools, commented favorably on the plan.

"The program has merits in various ways," he said. "Perhaps the most important is that numbers become a reality rather than abstractions."

* * *

Six ministers of the community will assist in the three-hour devotion service sponsored by the Council of Churches from noon to 3 p.m. Good Friday in the First Baptist Church.

Leading the worship will be the Revs. Robert Searls, William Norvell, and Robert Dewey. Preachers in each of the three hours of the union service will be the Revs. Dr. W. Glen Harris, Allen Wittrup, and Emil Kontz.

Mrs. Walter E. Turner, organist of the Baptist Church, will play sacred music. Soloists will come from the Presbyterian, Methodist and Baptist churches.

Eighth grade Holy Name student Brian Lourim, 14, has been selected to represent the city at the National School Safety Patrol assembly in Washington, D. C. May 6-7.

He was chosen for the honor by the safety and traffic division of the Automobile Club of Michigan, after recommendation by Police Lieut. Henry Timm.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard T. Lourim of 591 Lakeview, he has been safety patrol captain at the school for the past year.

Robert L. Perry

Service for Robert Lord Perry, of 1145 N. Woodward, will be held at 10 a. m. Friday at the St. James Episcopal Church, with burial in Erie Cemetery by the Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co.

Born in Erie, he was a Birmingham resident since 1942, and was with the public relations department of the Detroit advertising firm, Campbell-Ewald.

A 1926 graduate of the University of Michigan, he was a member of St. James Episcopal Church, the Newspaper Guild, and a director of the Michigan Humane Society.

Surviving besides his widow, Eleanor, are two sons, John M. and James K., a daughter, Susan Jane, all at home, and two sisters.

Jesus' Disciples Doubt Resurrection

to His Father. While in the city He opens their understanding, gives them the light beyond the light of reason. However excellent natural and external means may be, they still are insufficient; fullness of faith only God can give.

Once that new understanding or new light comes, then everything appears differently than it was before. The difference is the same as two men walking into a room, one man being blind and the other man having eyes to see. Both have some approximation of the contents of the room, but only the man with eyes understands clearly each object and the relation of one to another.

So when He opened their understanding, the words Christ and sin and suffering all had different sounds in their ears, and a different meaning in their hearts. He might have illumined their minds without any appeal to reason or history, but the practical method that He chose was the historical one. He told them all the things that had been written in the law of Moses and the Prophets and the Psalms, concerning Him, in order that they might understand the Scriptures. That these men about Him should have, in a single second, understood the full scope of history is as great a miracle as any of His healings.

Then He came back to the basic idea of His life, namely, that He come on this earth not to live, but to suffer and die, to redeem and to be glorified. Bringing into one focal point, all He had told them about the Scriptures, He said:

"So it was written and so it was fitting
That Christ should suffer, and should rise again
From the dead on the third day; and that repentance
And remission of sins should be preached in
His name to all nations, beginning at Jerusalem.
Of this you are the witnesses."

Pontiac Sergeant Returned for Burial

Sgt. J. E. (Whitey) Ellefson, who died in Korea Nov. 27, 1950 from wounds received in action is being returned to Louisville, Ky., Friday for service at the Headey & Son Funeral Home Monday. Burial will follow in Louisville.

Entering service September 1948, he received his basic training at Ft. Knox, Ky., and Ft. Lewis, Wash. Previous to this, he had served three years in the navy during World War II.

ELLEFSON

Surviving are his parents, Edward and Alice Smith Ellefson of 902 Cameron St., Pontiac, his wife, Virginia Able of 1501 Wurtele St., Louisville, a sister, Carol Ann at home, a brother, Louis and his grandmother, Mrs. Pauline Smith, both of Pontiac.

At the time of his death, a memorial service was held at the Perry Park Baptist Church in Pontiac.

Former Hockey Star, Red Wing Scout Dies

HAMILTON, Ont. (AP) — Carson Cooper, 56, professional hockey scout and a well known player 30 years ago, died in a hospital here today.

Known as "shovel shot" in his playing days, Cooper was an ace right wing both as an amateur and a pro. As a scout he signed many of the top players now with Detroit Red Wings and for the last year or so had been scouting for New York Rangers.

Expectant Parent Class Slated to Start Tonight

Classes for expectant parents, sponsored jointly by the Oakland County and City Health Departments and the Oakland County Medical Association, will start tonight at 7:30 p.m. in room 119 of Pontiac High School.

A previous Press story incorrectly stated that the classes were to open last Monday.

Magnets made with a cobalt alloy can lift 16 or 17 times their own weight.

Habel Misses 'Big Payoff' on Television Show

A Pontiac man, Jack Habel of 22 Miami Rd., missed the "Big Payoff" of a mink coat and trip to Europe yesterday, but walked off with several other prizes for his wife, Lenora, on a national TV program of the same name.

Contestants are selected on the basis of letters written by husbands telling why their wives deserve the prize. Habel's letter told of his four tragedies within a year—including a fire at his automobile agency—and how his wife stood by him through them all.

During the program, Emcee Randy Merriman and Bess Myerson read two of several telegrams wishing the Habels luck. The first was from Pontiac City Club:

"Good luck, Boy. Anyone with the answers on how to retire at 29 will certainly have the answers to four others."

The second read: "Binding coverage on mink coat. Good luck to win. Regards to Bess and Randy." Thatcher, Patterson & Wernet.

Does Vaccine Work?

UM Prof Playing Hooky to Write Report on Polio

ANN ARBOR (AP)—A University of Michigan professor has withdrawn to his home to diagnose the health history of two million children.

For the last two days, Dr. Thomas Francis Jr., has been working at his cherrywood desk, writing the report on the success or failure of the Salk polio vaccine—only four days from completion.

• • •

His wife, Dorothy, and his household maid, are the buffers between Dr. Francis and an inquiring world. He will talk only to associates on the telephone. His front door is closed to inquiring voices. Dr. Francis says he will issue the vaccine report April 12 and no sooner—and he means it.

This is a big job, evaluating some 144 million pieces of information into what could be one of the greatest scientific and medical achievements of the century. He says his answer will be free from bias, pressure and wishful thinking.

To back up his words, Dr. Francis has retired to work in the calm of his own study. There's no doubt that he did it to help his peace of mind too as he weighs numbers representing children.

Under the pressure of the moment, Dr. Francis tends to anger quickly. His usually soft, unimpressive voice crackles and his face reddens. "They picked T.F.," one colleague said, "because they knew no one could push him around."

• • •

A father of two teen-age children, a boy and girl, Dr. Francis says he tries to remember that the test figures represent children and are not dull, soundless statistics.

Physically, Dr. Francis, 5-feet-6 tall, resembles a typical college professor. He wears a small moustache and is somewhat portly, befitting a man of 54. He has an extensive reputation as a careful, hard-working investigator in the field of public health.

The man who developed the vaccine, Dr. Jonas Salk, once studied under Dr. Francis and later worked with him in influenza research.

Negro Solon Plans to Attend Afro-Asian Meet

NEW YOR (AP) — Rep Adam Clayton Powell Jr., Negro congressman from Harlem, plans to attend the Asian-African conference of 30 colored nations to sell the idea that the United States is not "a white man's country."

"I expect to tell them as a Negro, and it will be hard for them to refute me, just what has happened in terms of progress here and I think I can refute a lot of propaganda concerning the Negro," he said.

Powell, pastor of a Baptist church and a Democrat, announced at a news conference yesterday that he will attend the conference at Bandung, Indonesia, starting April 18.

Chiang Adviser Sees War Soon

Chief of Staff Believes Red Buildup on Coast Will Touch Off Fighting

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Gen. Sun Li-jen says a showdown is coming soon in the Formosa Strait.

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's personal chief of staff said in an interview, however, that this does not necessarily mean an imminent Communist Chinese invasion of Matsu or Quemoy islands.

He said the showdown will be touched off by the Communists' buildup of defenses along the south China coast. When that buildup is finished, he said, the Communists can challenge the present Nationalist and American air and surface superiority in the strait.

Sun said it is difficult to stay on any island once air and sea control are lost. For that reason, he said, he does not like the present policy which permits the Reds to build installations, including airfields, along the coast without molestation.

"This buildup," he said, "once completed, might destroy us."

Atlantic Greyhound Halted by Walkout

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — A strike of 2,525 Atlantic Greyhound bus drivers and other employes today idled the Southeastern transportation system serving 10 states.

The long-heralded strike, affecting 725 drivers and 1,800 other employes, began at midnight. That was the deadline set by the AFL Motor Coach Employes Union, Division 1493, last Monday when its demands for higher pay and a contract equal to those for drivers of other Greyhound systems were not met.

North Carolina Hunting Persons Who Set Fire

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—Forestry officers today hunted the people who touched off a giant forest fire in eastern North Carolina.

The fire was brought under control yesterday after burning some 203,000 acres.

Asst. State Forester Paul W. Tillman said it was deliberately set. It broke out by Lake Phelps in Tyrrell County March 30 and swept 20 miles, burning into Hyde and Washington counties.

Tillman said it would take a long drenching rain to completely put out the fire because of the peaty soil.

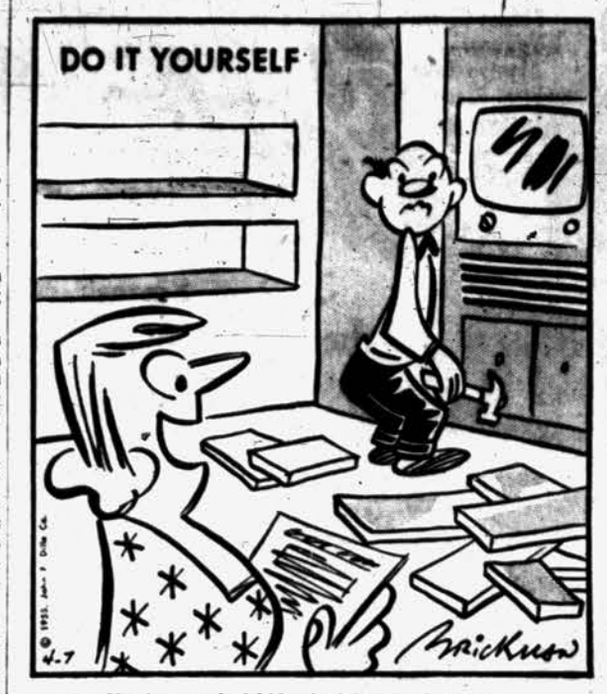

Girlfriend Pays $15 Fine for Kiss Behind Wheel

OMAHA (AP)—When Omaha police saw Mason D. Wagner, 24, Council Bluffs, Iowa, kissing his fiancee while driving his car they decided it constituted reckless driving.

In Traffic Court, Judge Robert Nelson agreed and fined Wagner $15 and costs. Then the judge asked: "Was it worth it."

Wagner merely smiled.

Court officers said Wagner's fiancee paid the fine.

Ousted Principal Now Heads Schools

IRVING, Tex. (AP) — Fired as Irving High School principal on March 1, Ira Lasseter today headed the whole strife-ridden school system.

He was one of nearly 200 school system employes, most of them teachers, who walked off the job Feb. 16 to protest the dismissal of Dr. John L. Beard as superintendent.

He gained the title of acting superintendent yesterday as a new interim school board reinstated several of the dismissed employes.

The future status of Beard and the other dismissed employes remained in doubt.

Swanson Plant Burns

SALISBURY, Md. (AP)—Exploding fumes in the refrigerating plant caused an estimated $100,000 damage yesterday to the C. A. Swanson & Son Co., one of the country's largest poultry processing plants. Fire spread through a storage building. About 500 employes fled to safety.

Cans' False Bottoms Yield $10,000 Opium

BALTIMORE (AP) — Paint cans with false bottoms yielded 10½ pounds of opium worth $10,000, federal agents said. They were searching for more opium in at least three other cities.

Arrested here were two officers in the merchant marine serving aboard the SS Andrew Jackson. They were identified as John J. Stauble, 27, Bridgeport, Conn., a radio operator, and Carl D. Adamire, 33, Hatfield, Pa., first mate.

Democrats Continue to Gain in Michigan

Michigan's Republican Party has lost another round to the lusty Donkey.

Some of the races are very close and there will probably be recounts, but out of the welter of statistics, lies the fact that the GOP has lost more ground.

Last Fall, G. Mennen Williams carried his party to a tremendous triumph and swept his State ticket into office along with himself. Three times before he had eked out a narrow personal victory but his associates had all gone down to defeat.

In 1954 it was different.

The Republicans were brushed aside and an entirely new group of faces took over the State offices. And now, the Democrats have another tradition and ancient custom by capturing a big part of the Spring election.

Don't discount the CIO in all this.

The political action committee really went to town and delivered the mail. It is apparent that pointing out Governor Williams is a graceful captive of the CIO no longer stands as an indictment in the eyes of a majority of the voters. Of course a majority of the voters didn't vote, but there is no particular reason for believing that any more Republicans yawned and stayed home than did Democrats.

It's idle to speculate what might have happened in a bigger vote. The margin might simply have been that much larger.

★ ★ ★

Republican fortunes are at a lower ebb in Michigan. The Democratic sway is still in the ascendency. Michigan was once a "safe" Republican State, but it almost begins to look as though it were "safe" for the Democrats for the nonce. In fact, Senator Ferguson's defeat in Michigan last Fall cost the Republicans control of the Senate in Washington.

That was truly monumental.

Recently, statistical tables were issued showing how few votes in how few precincts in the country would have reversed the national results. But this idle, post prandial speculation doesn't put a single candidate in office.

★ ★ ★

Today the Donkey stands head up, tail arising in Michigan. The Republicans face a major overhaul of sorts before they can get back into the running in the great Wolverine Commonwealth.

Churchill's Retirement Ends an Era for Britain

It is saddening to see a Titan step down from the heights.

When that Titan happens to be Britain's Prime Minister Sir Winston Churchill, and he is succeeded by Sir Anthony Eden, it is news of global import.

This brilliant son of a titled British father and American mother entered Commons in 1900. Then the venerable Queen Victoria sat on Britain's throne. When Sir Winston tendered his resignation at Buckingham Palace, it was received graciously by Victoria's great granddaughter, the beautiful young queen Elizabeth II.

Politically Churchill started out as a Conservative after a spectacular career as a Boer War correspondent. He bolted to the Liberals in 1906 to accept his first ministry appointment as Undersecretary for the Colonies. In 1922 he ran as an independent and was defeated. After two more election defeats he returned to the Conservative fold in 1924.

At the outset of World War II Churchill was serving for a second time as First Lord of the Admiralty. He became Prime Minister upon retirement of Neville Chamberlain on May 10, 1940. It was then the Allied World began to learn that his morale building eloquence was worth at least a battalion in the field.

After the war in which he had led his country to glorious victory, Churchill was ousted temporarily by the Labor Party's 1945 victory, but was returned to power in 1951.

★ ★ ★

Statesman, orator, historian and artist, events thwarted Churchill's fondest wish — to arrange another high level conference with Russia. Nonetheless history will save a special niche for Mr. John Bull of World War II who indeed personifies greatness in our time.

Less Than 2 Days

Now Time for Action if You Can Use $250 in U. S. Bonds

Fair warning: What you're getting in the statement that follows.

Less than two days remain for you to get your Baseball Contest entry into the Pontiac Press office. It must be received by noon on Saturday to make you eligible to compete for the prize of $250 in U. S. Savings Bonds. The prize goes to the person who submits the nearest correct answer to the following:

What player who has been at bat at least 25 times will be leading the American League on the night of Saturday, April 30, and what will be his batting average?

It costs nothing to enter the contest, and every member of your family is eligible to compete, but each entry must be on a separate piece of paper. Simply write out the name of your player and your estimated batting average. Then sign your name and address plainly, and see that it reaches this office by Saturday noon—and that's only day after tomorrow.

In last year's contest over 50 entries were disqualified because they were not received on time. Better make out your entries right NOW, before you forget it. That $250 is worth the effort, isn't it?

The Doctors Disagree on the Miracle Drug

David Lawrence Says:

Churchill Never Forgets That He's Half American

WASHINGTON—"There is so much to do in the world and so little time in which to do it."

These words, from the pen of Winston Churchill on his 25th birthday, are contained in an unpublished letter written from imprisonment to a relative in the United States when, as a British war correspondent, the future Prime Minister had been captured during the Boer War.

Just a year ago, when this correspondent was alone with Sir Winston before lunching with him at 10 Downing Street in London, there was an opportunity to ask the Prime Minister why he had written that comment.

Churchill replied that as a young man he didn't think he was going to live past middle age because he was frail, and he reminded me that his father had died in his forties.

In the 55 years that have elapsed since the 25th birthday, Winston Churchill had spanned the longest period of history of any man in public life today. They were turbulent years, but his courage was always manifest in any emergency. Perhaps the reason for the success of the famous British statesman is that he never felt panicky in a crisis. He sailed through stormy seas without flinching in the slightest.

Sir Winston's influence in the world cannot be measured by written records of state papers or his own memoirs. His personal power has been extraordinary. He never forgets that he is half-American. He has never failed to pay tribute to America. He has differed with American policies at times, but he has always known the motivation of such policies and has understood their true meaning.

A story was being told a year ago at the Geneva Conference, where Anthony Eden, then British foreign secretary, headed the British delegation and at times found himself at variance with American policy. On one occasion, after a crisis that seemed to fill the headlines, word is said to have come from Churchill to Eden which may be paraphrased as follows: "Listen carefully to what the Americans say. Express your own viewpoint as forthrightly as you can. Then perhaps you better do what the Americans want you to do."

This may be too broad a generalization but in certain circumstances when American cooperation was desired, and it was not deemed desirable to let a rift in relations develop, the Churchill concept would seem to have been logical. But, conversely, there have been some occasions when President Eisenhower, an intimate friend of Sir Winston, has sent word to Secretary Dulles that it might be best to defer to the British view.

What most Americans are anxious to know is whether the ascension of Sir Anthony Eden to the post of Prime Minister will affect British relations with the United States. Rumors have it that he does not get along so well with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, but the truth is that they get along personally very well and that the only differences are those which arise when understandings reached at one conference later have to be modified or abrogated.

Usually domestic politics has caused such changes, or else it has been reconsideration by superiors in the government. These incidents are provoking, but they do not impair the relations between the two countries.

Broadly speaking, Sir Anthony Eden will maintain the policy of close cooperation with the United States because it is logical for the Conservative Party in Britain to do so. The British Socialist-Labor Party plays it the opposite way, and there is frequent needling of the Conservatives with respect to American policies. Basically it arises out of a desire to embarrass the Conservatives rather than because of any inherent anti-Americanism.

How long will Sir Anthony remain as Prime Minister? When this writer was in Britain last year, there were some Conservatives of influence who thought he was not as familiar with the snares of domestic politics as Sir Winston and might come a cropper purely on controversial questions inside Great Britain.

Fortunately, Eden has at his side R. A. Butler, chancellor of the exchequer, who is one of the strongest men in England today on social and economic questions. The team of Eden and Butler should be able to weather political storms, but the mood of the British people—like that of the American people — is often more concerned with internal than external matters. Hence, a continuance of prosperity in England is an essential prerequisite to a victory for the Conservatives in the coming general election.

Helen Ferguson Begs Mercy for Rabbits, Baby Chicks Sold During Easter Season

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

Now that the Easter Season is approaching, the time of year when mercy and kindness should be paramount in the minds of all, the Oakland County Animal Welfare Society is urging all establishments handling baby chicks, ducklings, and rabbits not to sell these frail young creatures to persons intending to make Easter presents or favors of them. Also not to allow them to fall into the hands of children or others not having proper facilities for their feeding and care.

Courts have declared the act of selling animals and fowl under the above conditions to be in violation of the Anti Cruelty laws. Michigan Humane laws provide punishment for "One who procures an animal to be deprived of necessary sustenance or suffering."

The humane officer will submit to the courts evidence of any violation of those laws. Please report acts of cruelty, unwanted or stray animals to Humane Officer Albert Sundell at the Oakland Co. Animal Shelter, 1200 E. Walton Blvd., FE 2-8262.

Wishes Sir Winston Would Visit U.S.

It would be a great deal for the world in general, if Sir Winston Churchill could come to the United States once again, this time as the only living man to clear the name of Franklin D. Roosevelt as of the meeting at Yalta.

I cannot accuse a man for something that happened after death. Had the president lived these past 10 years, would Russia or any other power choose to rule or upset democracy at peace? Nobel Peace prizes should be awarded on merit.

Questions Advisability of Capital Punishment

Again the drums are being beaten for capital punishment in the State of Michigan. Here are some of the questions I'd like answered before I would support it.

Just who's going to occupy this electric chair or whatever device we install to dispose of our misfits in society; the poor working man with no friends, money or political influence or the man who can afford mink coats and Cadillacs?

Is there any justification for murder besides self defense? Isn't it possible for anyone who "knows the ropes" to put up a convincing defense? What about the inexperienced person who has no knowledge of the law? Are his chances equal to that of a person who knows all the "angles" in advance?

What about the innocent? We can't breathe life into a corpse and for my part, I'd rather spend $1,200 per year per prisoner than walk with a ghost the rest of my life.

My advice, for what it's worth, is think before you shoot and then don't if you can't afford a Clarence Darrow.

'Public Should Decide Congress' Pay Hikes'

It seems rather strange that members of Congress can raise the amount of their salaries. If a hired man on a farm, or a clerk of a store would be able to raise his own wages it would seem to be unfair to the employer.

The members of Congress are servants of the public and the public should determine the raise of the salary of Congressional members. If the members of Congress are delegated the privilege to raise their salaries it is an unwise procedure and should be taken from them.

Suppose the Congress would make it retroactive, wouldn't that be something! If Congress is not given increase of salary privilege why do they take that privilege? A very unwise and unfair way to accomplish their desire.

Sees Need of Homes for Defective Children

I am glad to see that someone who is in a position to do something about the situation, has at last become interested in the long waiting list of children who have been and are trying to get into Lapeer State Home and Training School.

Some of we parents, who have this problem in our homes and have been begging for help, were advised to write to Gov. Williams' office. We are told that there is a very long waiting list. Some parents have been waiting as long as 4 years.

I know that they are overcrowded but knowing this I have often wondered why some such solution as Judge Moore has recommended has not been done before.

I think that if as much interest were taken in this problem of children who are defective, as there is in cancer, heart disease, polio and the many other diseases that collections are taker up annually for, more schools and homes would be provided for them where they would be happy the same as other normal children.

Those present at the Yalta put-and-take were Winnie, Roosevelt and Stalin. We did the putting.

Stalin carried his agreements out. On a stretcher.

Woman Who Uses Profanity Will Sink in Estimation of Even Toughest Men

Girls, notice Darleen's trouble. Remember, your mind goes on parade whenever you utter a sentence. If you indulge in masculine slang, profanity or vulgarity, you strike a false note and de-feminize yourself. Men rarely marry masculine females, so beware! One jarring word can violate feminine feeling tone.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case N-394: Darleen M., aged 16, is a very pretty high schooler.

"But she has one very bad habit," her senior boy friend told me.

"Darleen looks very feminine and is quite attractive except for her slang and rough speech.

"I wince whenever I have her around my parents for she gives a very wrong impression of herself. She sounds as if she were a tough from the other side of the tracks, but really she is a very nice girl.

"Dr. Crane, would you please write about the excessive use of slang so Darleen will see it? For she reads your column regularly."

Girls must be doubly careful of their speech, for rough talk has a masculine flavor. It makes a girl sound hard and even immoral.

Many thoughtless girls, however, simply adopt the language of their social crowd. And if girls have grown up in a large family, of brothers, they may unwittingly hamper their social charm by imitating the language of those brothers.

"Bill got married last year and now he has a kid," a boy may say, without violating masculine feeling tone.

But if a girl calls a baby a kid, that immediately makes her sound tough.

Men who use excessive slang nevertheless don't relish hearing the same strong language from the lips of their girl friends.

Most girls are ultra sensitive about hair on their chin or fuzz on the upper lip. For they fear such excess hair may look like a mustache and thus make them seem masculine.

But there are many far more masculinizing items. For example, the use of profanity will defeminize a girl faster than a half-mustache on her upper lip.

Whiskey likewise has a masculine connotation, so a girl who uses hard liquor violates what advertisers call the proper "feeling tone".

Gambling, use of cigarettes, telling of vulgar stories—all these have a masculine feeling tone. Whenever a girl is guilty of such things, she violates the feminine mental image that men associate with charming women.

"But Jack is a rough he-man so I'm sure he never notices such things," Darleen might protest.

Don't kid yourselves, for the roughest of men still maintain a stereotype of what they deem charming femininity. Whenever a girl violates this feminine feeling tone, she sinks in the estimation of men.

"She was a skinny maiden," thus violates the proper literary feeling tone, for "maiden" is a poetical type of phraseology, whereas "skinny" suggests dirty-faced, freckled boys playing sandlot baseball.

You girls who spend so much time and money trying to dress attractively, should realize that the words you speak are the apparel of your mind.

You can ruin an otherwise lovely impression if you clothe your ideas in crude, uncouth or vulgar verbal attire.

Every time you utter a sentence, your basic personality is on parade. And you can repell desirable members of the opposite sex by slangy, vulgar speech which is then simply shoddy apparel for your mind.

Don't grow unduly sophisticated in your speech or try to browbeat your associates by spouting long words they can't understand.

But be sure your language matches your attractive ensemble and make sure both of them create the right feeling tone.

Charming femininity dares not strike false notes, either in conversation, behavior or even tailored dresses.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and a dime to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his psychological charts.

Most Victims of 'Arthritis' Don't Care What Ails 'Em

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

Regular readers, if any, will have noticed, I hope, that the conductor is pessimistic about the diagnosis and treatment of chronic "arthritis."

In the first place, most victims of the "arthritis" swindle haven't the least idea what ails them nor have they the wish to know.

They are so awed and dazzled by the pretensions made and the gadgets displayed by their trick specialists or "clinic" racketeers that they drift along like children as long as their money holds out or their "leading" quacks come up every month or two with the very latest wonder drug, which, unfortunately, is not yet freely available and hence extremely expensive . . .

Not yet freely available to the general profession, that is. By dint of his eminence, the charlatan has enough at his disposal to take care of a few selected cases. The new drug has what the tricksters call "great promises," even though it may not be an immediate cure of arthritis.

For a while the medical journals carry reports of treatment of series of cases with the drug which seem (to a novice) very encouraging. Although I should have known better, from bitter experience, I permitted my personal sympathy to overrule my professional judgment and recommended the use of a "wonder" drug for the rheumatiz (the patient's physician called it arthritis) of a member of my own family. The dope gave extraordinary relief from pain and lameness for a few days—and like an irresponsible child, I hastened to tell all about it here.

Simultaneously with publication of my half-baked plug came reports of disastrous by-effects produced by the drug, some of them fatal. And, while there was no such effect in the case in which I was interested, the pain and lameness returned as the effects of the drug wore off, and that was the end of the experiment.

I broke the Hippocratic injunction which I have tried to follow here since Topsy was a colt. And I tell you I prayed hard that no harm would come to any reader who might take the drug on the strength of my ill-considered praise.

Yes, I'm a pessimist. Want to make anything of it?

Let me ask you poor geeks who are under treatment for "arthritis" two simple questions:

1) What does the term arthritis mean? It means joint inflammation—and the doctor who pronounces your trouble joint inflammation in Greek or Latin merely translates what you tell him.

2) Whatever became of chronic rheumatism after "arthritis" became fashionable?

Now I'll tell you what I'm going to do—just what I've been doing all along—urge you to send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope and ask for the pamphlet titled Calcium and Rheumatiz. It may not revolutionize the treatment of, let us say, joint disability, but at least it will give you something to think about—that is, if you ever—aw, can't you crack just a little smile?

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to the Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Mich.

Bob Considine Asks:

Were There Really 2 St. Patricks?

DUBLIN (INS) — Two St. Patricks? Apparently there were, but the teeming generations and the fertility of the legends have blended them into one. I am indebted to the Department of External Affairs for the following, which may come as a shock to a lot of Irish-Americans.

"There is no doubt that there was a historical Patrick, the author of the 'Confessio' and the 'Letter to Coroticus,' but it is very difficulty to reconcile the traditional story of his life with the documentary evidence.

"The existence in the Irish annals of two entries for Patrick's death—461 and Circa 492—the facts that there are various references in the annals to an 'old Patrick' and a 'young Patrick' that that the death dates of Patrick's disciples fall into two groups—one ranging from 447 to 468 and the other from 488 to 544—have seemed to suggest to some scholars that there were in fact two Patricks.

"The late Celtic scholar T. F. O'Rahilly propounded the theory that the first Patrick was identical with the Deacon Palladius. This Palladius—Patricius died March 17, 461 and was succeeded by Patrick, the Briton, author of the 'Confessio,' who died either in 491 or 492. This latter was the great St. Patrick, but some of the acts of his predecessor have been attributed to him, and the traditional St. Patrick is thus a conflate (combination) character."

The aforementioned Department of External Affairs is located in a handsome mansion that once was the property of a member of the Guinness family, foremost brewers of the land. At a foreign office reception for the visiting newsmen an aide, uncertain, let's say, asked a reporter who is a professional Irish-American, "Are you a Guinness?"

"Not on your life," he said stoutly, "I'm for ye."

The Irish theater is more robust than our own. Sean O'Casey's "The Bishop's Bonfire," put on at Louis Elliman's intimate Gaiety Theater, aroused vigorous editorials pro and con, mostly con. The ecclesiastical press had at it indignantly.

At its final performance the controversy remained utmost in the mind of the audience. There were cheers when Cyril Cusack, the new Barry Fitzgerald (or is he the old?) came to the rim of stage lights to say a few words of farewell. But there were jeers, too.

As for the latter, Cusack was saying, in an effort to urge O'Casey on, "I hope and pray that he will live to write more . . ."

That's as far as he got. A great voice in a stall finished the sentence for him. It indignantly roared:

". . . Rubbish!"

The reluctance of the Irish male to get married has been the subject of much magazine talk in recent years. Here it is spelled out, as printed in the "Sunday Press" of Dublin in an interview with a 34-year-old businessman bachelor:

"I want my wife to have a charming, spontaneous manner. She must have intelligence, humor, a fund of good conversation, immaculate chic, and be the sort of woman you'd be proud to take anywhere."

Asked if he considered domesticity an important asset, he said, "But of course—that goes without saying. She must be thoroughly competent in the kitchen and the house. She will be—if she's intelligent!"

Relief Group Files Optimistic Report

PARIS (AP)—The Organization for European Economic Cooperation proudly reported today that per capita consumption in its 17 member countries last year was 12 per cent higher than before World War II.

* * *

"The task which Western Europe now faces is to build a better economy than that existing before the war," the OEEC declared in its sixth annual review. It was the first generally optimistic report on West European economic conditions the organization has published.

* * *

OEEC was set up in 1948 to handle the European end of the Marshall Plan. It has continued since the end of that U.S. aid as a kind of coordinating economic body for the 17 West European participants.

Police Camera Stolen

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Police Department reported yesterday that its official camera had been stolen from the office of Michael Lentz, chief of the criminal investigation division.

Continue Search for Bank Bandits in Biggest Holdup

NEW YORK (AP)—Police and the FBI searched today for four robbers who engineered history's biggest cash bank holdup with precision planning. It netted them $305243.

The quarter kidnaped a clerk near his home to get into the Woodside Queens, branch of the Chase Manhattan Bank yesterday. They locked 11 persons in a vault and escaped with bundles of bills of mostly 5, 10, and 20-dollar denominations. No shots were fired and no one was hurt.

* * *

The familiarity the bandits had with the names and working habits of the employes led Asst. Dist. Atty. Thomas P. Cullen to say last night that the holdup may have been due in part to, "information from the inside."

Three of the men, one with a sawed-off shotgun, did the actual looting while a fourth man awaited in a getaway car.

The car, a 1953 Cadillac, later was found abandoned a short distance from the bank. The bandits apparently transferred to another car and vanished despite a hastily set up FBI and police dragnet.

THE EASTER STORY—10

The Soldier's Take Jesus' Clothing

The soldiers who were crucifying Jesus took his clothes and divided them into four parts—one part for each soldier. They cast lots—which is like drawing straws—to see what each soldier should get. Then they sat down to watch him die. From the sixth to the ninth hour after Jesus was put on the cross, it was very dark. Jesus cried "My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?" One of the soldiers put vinegar on a sponge to give Jesus to drink. Jesus cried out in a loud voice and died. Then the earth quaked and one of the soldiers, the centurion, said "Truly this was the Son of God."

This is the 10th of 12 stories on Easter. Each story's picture is drawn like a stained glass window. You can look at your church's windows for ideas on how to best color this series.

Tomorrow: Jesus is buried.

Author Wills Homes for Period Museums

BOSTON (UP) — Author Charles Hammond Gibson, who died last Nov. 17, directed in his will that his Beacon street home and the estate, "Forty Steps," at Nahant and their contents be left intact as "complete examples of the period from 1895 to 1900."

The 79-year-old writer said he wanted his homes to become museums "for the education of the people."

The common cold is limited to humans and monkeys.

Shellfish Pirates Hard on Quahaug Industry

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (UP) — Rhode Island's conservation department says the state's quahaug industry is kept from doubling because of shellfish pirates.

Quahaug fishermen bring in a $2,500,000 catch annually. But pirates bring in thousands of dollars worth of undersized shellfish, destroying the beds.

In Latin the "calends" was the first day of the month — hence the English word "calendar."

Television Set Homeless

MANCHESTER, N. H. (UP) — Mrs. Walter Luby arrived home from work one evening and found a television set on her porch. It wasn't her's she told police. Investigation disclosed that the set belonged to a family that used to live in Mrs. Luby's house. The family had moved without notifying their television repairman of the new address.

An average car scrapped in the U.S. in 1925 had traveled 22,000 miles. In 1945 the average was 81,000 miles.

Roots of Suicide Lie in Childhood Conflict

SAN FRANCISCO (UP) — The roots of suicide lie in a childhood conflict, according to Dr. Donald D. Jackson, a clinical instructor in psychiatry in the University of California School of Medicine.

It appears that suicidal individuals have experienced, during their childhood, severe rejection by one or both parents, he said, adding:

"As long as such an individual lives in a situation in which he is continually accepted, his conflict may not break out into the open. But if he encounters an experience producing a marked feeling of rejection . . . he may no longer be able to repress his conflicts."

The major situations in which suicide tends to occur, Dr. Jackson said, can be classified roughly into two groups: (1) those involving outright rejection, such as divorce or loss of a job; (2) the anticipation of rejection, such as loss of prestige or a failure in one's work.

In 46 B.C. Julius Caesar ordered calendar computations changed from a lunar to a solar year, adding three extra months to that year to make it come out even and giving rise to the designation "year of confusion."

Spaniards Discover U. S. Assistance Does Not Include Economic Miracles

MADRID, (INS)—Spain and the U.S. finally have resolved some ticklish disagreements over economic aid—but Spain is finding itself accepting a tougher bargain than it expected.

Spaniards long ago lost the illusion that economic aid would be a bonanza. Newspapers and occasionally government officials have been saying for a year that the funds allotted to Spain were too small.

Commerce Minister Manuel Arburua expressed the hope recently that "American aid will be increased in the future because undoubtedly collaboration between the two countries requires larger expenditures" than Spain alone can afford.

On the other hand, observers say U.S. officials feel Spain is fulfilling only half-heartedly certain terms implicit in the 1953 economic aid and defense agreements.

The U.S. hoped Spain would simplify its multiple exchange system, release blocked earnings of U.S. companies and take steps to encourage foreign investment.

Economic aid to Spain amounts to limited grants and loans, mainly for "defense support," in return for U.S. use of air bases. Spain is receiving $85 million during each of the first two years of the agreement.

While the aid is taking effect very slowly, it already is causing the Spanish government to make heavy outlays.

For every dollar the U.S. allots, the Spanish government must put up the equivalent in counterpart funds. Seventy per cent of the counterpart funds are turned over to the U.S. for base building or for Foreign Operation Administration expenses in Spain.

Only 30 per cent of the counterpart is left to the Spanish government to spend on strengthening the Spanish economy.

So far, Spain has paid out 2,415 million pesetas ($60 million) for U.S. base construction. That represents nearly 10 per cent of Spain's annual budget.

Spain expected the counterpart would be calculated at an exchange rate of 35 pesetas to the dollar. But the U.S. insisted on a higher rate and negotiations finally settled on the official rate of 38.95. This is causing Spain to revise its counterpart estimates upwards by 10 per cent.

While the $85 million for the first year's aid was all in grants, the second year $85 million includes $20 million in loans, repayable in dollars over 40 years.

Spanish officials had expected almost the entire amount of the aid in the form of grants and they have not hidden their disappointment.

The aid is not performing the miracles that some over-optimistic Spaniards expected. One highly informed Spanish source said, "The aid is having no effect on the standard of living here."

However, observers point out that the aid to Spain is not akin to the relief of the early postwar years but is a limited program aimed primarily at strengthening the sectors of the economy important to defense, such as communications, electric power, steel and coal production, and agriculture.

Mobs of People Throng Capitol

Easter Season Means Peak Tourist Traffic in Washington

WASHINGTON (INS)—The corridors of the National Capital are jammed with craning necks, peering eyes and trudging feet.

The halls where America's laws are written bear a sharp resemblance to Macy's department store at the height of the Christmas rush.

This is the time of year when seemingly half of America flocks to Washington for an annual sightseeing crusade to Capitol Hill.

Official guides estimate that each day this week and next at least 2,000 persons will be shown through congressional chambers. As many visitors probably will take the Capitol tour on their own, with the aid of an official guide.

Through years of showing off the halls of Congress to awe-struck visitors, Capitol guides have learned that the tourist peak arrives in the week before and the week after Easter.

Americans, who come to the Capitol to gaze upon statues of the nation's forefathers and look at the rooms in which history is being written, range in age from a few months to the 80s and even, on occasion, the 90s.

There are 24 official guides to show visitors through the Capitol, with each tour lasting about 45 minutes. It is estimated that 400,000 persons take the tour each year.

Adults pay 25 cents for the guided trip; high school and junior high school youngsters, 15 cents, and children under 10 are admitted free.

Forty per cent of the visitors are youngsters at this time of year, when schools are having their annual spring vacations.

Honest Rural Folk Worry City Police

LIVERPOOL, Eng. (INS)—The high standard of honesty among Britain's country folk is causing a major headache for Liverpool police.

Liverpool is a shopping mecca for many country people who, in their own villages, are accustomed to leaving their front doors unlocked when they go to the market. As a result, police are struggling with a growing number of thefts from cars left unlocked in Liverpool by rural visitors.

Authorities are trying to find some means of convincing the country folk that their trust in human nature should be left at home when they come to the city.

Feeling Lousy? Milwaukee Has Number to Call

MILWAUKEE (UP) — Persons in trouble, folks feeling "low," or anyone in need of a comforting word, may call a number here and hear a message of consolation.

The message, relayed by a special recording device, is played on an average of 600 times daily now, according to Rev. Ralph Brushaber, pastor of the Warner Memorial Chapel. This Church of God congregation first installed the device six months ago and calls have risen from an initial 25 to 30 daily to as high as 1,000 in a 24-hour period.

The messages are changed weekly and may be heard at any time of day or night. Callers may leave their names and addresses if they wish a visit by the pastor. "Visitation teams" from the church help those with special problems.

The pastor said at least two calls a day were from persons who are almost desperate — in addition to the usual sprinkling of return messages from humorists. Generally, the people receiving the messages express gratitude, and the congregation has been amazed at the reception of the idea.

Industry Keeps Moving South

Dixie Needs Still More Jobs for Fast-Growing Labor Force

RICHMOND, Va. (UP)—There's a big race on in the South and the stake is "labor."

The Fifth Federal Reserve Bank here has furnished some figures that support the trend of a southward movement of industry, thirsty for Dixie's rapidly growing labor force and optimistic about economic conditions.

In the Fifth Federal Reserve District, which comprises North Carolina, South Carolina, Virginia, Maryland and West Virginia, the labor force is expected to expand by an average of 88,000 persons annually through 1975.

During the 1940s its growth accounted for 11 per cent of the national increase of 7.3 million persons.

Reports from these states indicate a vast movement of industry with million dollar investments and million dollar payrolls.

In Virginia for the 18-month period ended June 30, 1954, industrial expansion and modernization entailed investments of $317,000,000 and added an estimated 15,000 new jobs and $50,000,000 to payrolls.

In North Carolina, there were 184 new and expanded industries with total investments of $89,223,000 for the first nine months of 1954.

The industries provide a potential of 13,200 new jobs with an expected annual payroll of $31,731,240.

Other Southern states reported a somewhat similar influx of badly needed industry.

But in the back of the minds of state officials who are quite familiar with the problems of unemployment is this doubt: Can the increase of industry in the South keep pace with the increase in the labor force?

The Fifth Federal Reserve District's labor force grew faster than that of the nation from 1940 to 1950.

Population last year continued to increase at approximately the same rate that it grew in each state from 1940 to 1953.

The increase in population points up the need for growing employment opportunities, particularly in basic industries that create new jobs in service industries and multiply income within communities.

13 Lucky Number for '05 Girls Club

GOWANDA, N. Y. (UP) — Thirteen apparently is a lucky number for 13 former Gowanda High School girls who have maintained contact for 50 years.

They were superstitious about the number 13 when they banded together back in 1905, but all are still alive, keep in touch with each other and have occasional reunions.

Only three of the women still reside in Gowanda. Five live in the Buffalo, N. Y. area, while the rest are scattered from coast to coast. The last reunion was held in 1948.

Cat Catnapping on Piano? Then House Is Chilly

MINNEAPOLIS (UP) — If your cat catnaps on top of the piano, chances are you could use more heat in your house.

House pets, engineers say, can give you a cue to whether or not your house is comfortably heated. Research conducted here has revealed that floor temperatures and the temperature of air directly above it are important to comfort.

If the floor is too cold, causing the cat to seek a higher perch, then your house will probably be uncomfortable in the winter season.

This is because a great deal of the critical heat-loss area of your body is within 36 inches of the floor.

Approximately 30 per cent of the total heat dissipated by your body, the engineers explain, is from your hands, arms, legs from the knees down, and your feet.

For your comfort—and that of your pets — floor temperatures should not be less than 68 degrees to 70 degrees.

Cobalt is sometimes called the "goblin metal."

CALIFORNIA . . . THE TRUTH about the cost of homes, how best to find a job, heating bills. The truth about the climate throughout the state, unemployment insurance programs, state aid, old age pensions, what to do when you get here—what to avoid when you come. Do you want to be one of the 30,000 people a month who come to live in California? Expansion of old businesses, development of new businesses are finding places for these people every day. These businesses need experienced people. When you think of living in California, this unusual booklet, "California and You" will tell you the FACTS. Not a Chamber of Commerce Book. Wreckage Is Monument

BOSTON (UP)—The fuselage of a wrecked Northeast Airlines DC-3 will be left where it crashed last Nov. 30 on the wooded slopes of Mount Success near the border between New Hampshire and Maine. An airlines spokesman said the wreckage would serve as a monument to the valiant work of search parties and rescuers who saved the lives of five of the seven persons aboard.

The whale is said to have the mental capacity of the average elephant.

Emergency Withdrawal

GARY, Ind. (UP) — A Gary housewife, who was being interviewed on a morning television show, suddenly remembered she forgot to give lunch money to her three children. So she voiced an "emergency" appeal on the air, hoping a friend would hear and take care of the matter. But she needn't have worried. The children raided the piggy bank before going to school.

About 40,000 American men under the age 65 are accidentally killed every year.

Lights Up on Birthday

ROCKLAND, Me. (UP)—Edward B. MacAllister, one of the nation's oldest practicing attorneys, kept his vow and is once again lighting up cigarettes and puffing away whenever he feels like it. MacAllister determined that he would stop smoking when he was 85 and resume only if he reached the age of 90. First thing he did on his 90th birthday recently was buy a pack of cigarettes.

X-Rays, Hormones Tried

Cobalt 'Bomb' Is One of 4 New Methods Tested by Minnesota in Cancer Battle

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Four new steps in fighting cancers—three by X-rays and one by a hormone—were reported today by University of Minnesota scientists.

One X-ray step has produced some unexpectedly good results. It employs the cobalt "bomb,"—a chunk of radioactive cobalt only as big as four silver quarters piled atop one another. But it shoots out X-rays equal to those from a three-million-volt X-ray machine.

* * *

Two patients with widespread cancers hit by the cobalt beam are alive and apparently well a year later, said Dr. K. W. Stenstrom and Dr. Halvor Vermund, radiologists.

One young man had inoperable cancer which had started in part of the large intestine, then spread to the liver, lung and neck. Cobalt's X-ray beam on three separate occasions was shot into his abdomen, chest, then neck. He is as "healthy as anyone," a year later so far, back at work, with his cancers apparently melted.

* * *

Other patients have not fared anywhere near so well. But the cobalt bomb offers some advantages over conventional X-ray machines, including less radiation sickness from damage to healthy tissues.

A second step is a still-secret chemical which may make cancers more vulnerable to X-rays than nearby healthy tissue. Cancer cells have a bigger appetite for this chemical, and thereby may become an easier pushover for X-rays. The drug has been given to only six patients so far, and it's too early to assess results, Stenstrom and Vermund told science writers on an American Cancer Society tour of research centers.

* * *

Third is evidence, from animal tests, that X-rays hitting normal tissues may make them more resistant to cancer growth, or to becoming seed beds for cancer cells wandering from the original cancer site.

Fourth is the hormone treatment of massive doses of cortisone, an adrenal gland hormone, for some women with advanced breast cancer. This puts some of the woman's own glands on an enforced vacation, and that can be very good, said Dr. B. J. Kennedy.

Of 30 women given this treatment for up to a year, almost all felt better, with less pain.

FIRST?—Sister Miriam Teresa Damjanovich may be the first American-born nun to become a saint. The Vatican is conducting an official religious inquiry into the life of Sister Miriam, who belonged to the Sisters of Charity of St. Elizabeth near Morristown, N. J., before her death in 1927 at the age of 26. Born in Bayonne, N. J., she was well known for helping the sick.

Cancer as a killer has risen from eighth place in 1900 to second place today, says the American Cancer Society.

Hiroshima Survivor Joins U.S. Army

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A young man of Japanese descent who survived the atomic bombing of Hiroshima joined the Army yesterday. Mikami Kinnosuke, 19, said he holds no ill feeling against America.

He believes every young American ought to enlist, he said. "They will need the training."

He was 9 when he saw the bomb's searing flash from a schoolyard 10 miles away. He was unhurt.

His parents, U. S. citizens, went to Japan to live before he was born.

Yank Food, Speech Scramble Signals

FT. MONMOUTH, N. J. (AP)—Foreign soldiers trained at this Signal Corps center under the Allied Military Training Program do all right learning the technical aspects of communications, but American speech and food just about floor them.

An Italian major put it this way: "I studied school books. I learned that you say hello when you greet a person in America. But I come here and everybody says 'hi' or 'how the hell are you?'"

And a Korean officer adds: "The rich American food just about knocked me out for the first few weeks. But now I like it."

Saginaw Man Is Elected to Head Concrete Group

Other officers included: Vice president, Stanley Ernst, East Detroit; treasurer, Donald Battjes, Battle Creek; secretary, J. R. Hopkins, Lansing.

Improving Game Area

IONIA (AP) — Work is starting on improvement of 30,000 acres in the three-county Flat River Game and Recreation Area. The project calls for extensive tree planting and stream improvement. A crew of 10 trusty prisoners at Ionia Reformatory was assigned to the reclamation work last week.

Ballots Almost Depleted

ELLSWORTH (AP) — Voters in this Antrim County community came within an eyelash of depleting the supply of ballots in last Monday's elections. Officials counted 347 voters, the largest turnout in years, and noted only three ballots remained from a supply of 350 ordered for the election.

BENJAMIN M. GATES AND FAMILY

Benjamin M. Gates Visits Bartlett Family in Syria

Benjamin M. Gates, 389 Whittemore St. has just returned from Israel where he visited his daughter, Constance, her husband, Master Sgt. William F. Bartlett and 10 month old grandson, Karl Gregory.

The Bartletts are stationed in Zahala, Israel, a suburb of Tel-Aviv, where Sgt. Bartlett is with the Army Attache Office.

Mr. Gates flew to Israel in 26½ hours. While there, he traveled to Lebanon, Damascus, Syria and the Holy Lan. The Bartletts live in a modern apartment house. The floors are marble, the roof, clay tile and painted pink. A great deal of color is used on roofs and exterior walls.

While staying at the Jordan City Hotel in Jerusalem, Mr. Gates met Judge Joseph A. Moynihan of Detroit and Mrs. Barney Habel of Pontiac. Mrs. Habel was on a Mediterranean cruise.

Mr. Gates stopped in Athens, Rome, Paris and other European centers on his return trip.

Ex-College Janitor Composes Poetry

BURLINGTON, Vt. (UP)—One of the best read poets at the University of Vermont is a former janitor at the school.

Sam Baron, who's also been a publicist and salesman, expects his third volume of verse to be printed shortly. His first two books sold well.

"Trailing Vines," Baron's first work, sold 150 copies the day it was published. "For Those Around Us" was his second book.

Baron attributed some of the sales to Medical College doctors and students who "wanted to find out what was going on in my head while I pushed a broom around.

"My biggest pleasure is to hear people say they've enjoyed reading my poems," he said.

Great Operatic Soprano Still Sings, but Only for Herself and Her Friends

BALTIMORE (AP) — "I'm down in the dumps," said Rosa Ponselle.

In such a setting the word "dumps" had an odd ring. The huge white Italian villa was luxuriously trapped in Renaissance furnishings. Drawers were stuffed with mementoes recalling one of the most fabulous careers in music history.

"One of my dogs died this morning," the great soprano explained. "Then something went wrong with the chimney and the sparks set fire to my hedge, the caretaker wasn't on deck when I needed him, and Lloyd Garrison showed up late so we're behind schedule on editing the recordings."

The recordings were done at "Villa Pace," the Ponselle home named after the aria which highlighted her success in "La Forza del Destino," her 1918 Metropolitan debut opposite Enrico Caruso.

When the former prima donna finished reciting her troubles, everyone expressed sympathy about the dog. Barbara Nutall, a friend and pupil, assured her steps were being taken to have the chimney fixed.

Lloyd Garrison, an admirer who made the recordings, explained his delayed arrival. A newsman mumbled condolences about the domestic help situation.

Shakeh Vartenissian, another friend and pupil, expressed a feeling that everything would work out beautifully.

Miss Ponselle then mounted a balcony overlooking the spacious entrance hall, three French poodles took their customary stations at her feet, and the editing began.

For the next half hour Villa Pace vibrated to the voice of Ponselle. The golden notes of Schubert's "Ave Maria" swelled and overflowed a background of organ music while the small group of listeners, including the dogs, sat transfixed, bound by the spell.

"The voice is 'right there'," cried Miss Vartenissian when it was over.

"One top voice," beamed Maestro Messimo Freccia of the Baltimore Symphony.

Miss Ponselle says the recordings do not herald a comeback. She called it a career in 1939.

"I'm through with all that," she insists. "This is what I want—to live here, to coach voice, to serve as artistic director of the Civic Opera as I've been doing, and to enjoy my friends."

Her only recordings now are done informally at home.

"I have many such numbers piled up back there," she said, waving toward a corner of the library. "But they were all done here, not in any studio where you must sing by appointment.

"Now when I feel like singing, I just call up Lloyd and my accompanist, Igor Chichagov, and we make records for the fun of it."

ROSA PONSELLE

But she still backs musical developments. Recently she took part in a nationwide radio appeal to raise funds for the Met.

She thinks it's a tragedy that symphonies and opera companies must face such problems.

But production costs are so prohibitive that she feels the financial problem will be with them until private endowments or government subsidization takes up the slack.

"If the government doesn't want to do it, as it's done in Europe," she says, "then a few industrialists should get together and foot some of the bills. To them it would be only a drop in the bucket, anyway."

With such support, plus hard work on the part of talented singers and musicians, she said, there'll always be cultural music in America.

Veteran Stair Climbers Finally Calling It Quits

CHARLESTON, Ill. (UP)—After 24 years and about two million up-and-down steps, Mr. and Mrs. William Ashmore have called it quits.

The couple recently retired after almost 25 years as custodians of the Coles County Courthouse here, where they traversed the 55 steps from their third-floor quarters to the first floor an average of four times daily.

They now have a five-room house — all rooms on one floor.

Trooper Tickets Plane for Speed on Highway

LEBANON, Va. (UP) — State trooper D. E. Adams stopped an airplane near here and handed its "driver" a ticket for speeding.

Adams was doing routine cruising when the fast-moving airplane, towed by a truck, passed him. Investigation disclosed the wrecked plane was being taken to an airport for salvage and rebuilding.

Scientists believe that the first villages were set up in what is now Iraq about 7,000 years ago.

Reds Still in Horse Era

TOKYO (AP) — The age of the horse is not over in Communist China, Peiping radio says. Communist China and Outer Mongolia have signed a trade agreement for 1955. Outer Mongolia's chief export—horses.

Dog's Life Pretty Soft

HOLDREGE, Neb. (UP) — A middle-aged woman, her daughter, her granddaughter and the family dog were out for an airing. The grandmother carried the baby, the daughter pushed the baby buggy and the dog, propped up comfortably on pillows, rode.

The annual Maundy Thursday Communion Service will be held at 7:30 p.m. tonight at the First Presbyteriain Church. A class of new members will be received and Dr. William H. Marbach will preach the sermon. The Chancel Choir will provide the music under the direction of Lyndon Salathiel.

All Saints Episcopal Church has been holding a preaching mission with the Rev. Canon J. Douglas Paterson speaking every night last week and Sunday morning.

Tomorrow the Rev. C. George Widdifield will speak at the Tre Ore service from 12 noon to 3 p.m. His talk will be interspersed with prayer and hymns.

The Easter Eve service of Baptism will be held at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon at All Saints.

At the Hotel Waldron at 12:15 Friday noon, the Rev. Paul R. Havens, pastor of the First Methodist Church will give an illustrated lecture entitled, "From Bethlehem to Calvary" to members of the Exchange Club. The Rev. Mr. Havens took the pictures while on a trip to the Holy Land last year.

The last in the series of Lenten evening suppers and services will be held tonight on Maundy Thursday, at Christ Church Cranbrook, on Lone Pine road. Supper will be at 7 o'clock. In commemoration of our Lord's last supper the service of Holy Communion will be celebrated at 8:15 p.m. in St. Dunstan's Chapel. Good Friday morning, Morning Prayer will be held in St. Dunstan's Chapel at 8:45.

From 12 noon to 3 p.m., there will be a service in Christ Church consisting of meditations, prayers and hymns. Saturday morning a prayer service will be held at 8:45 in St. Dunstan's and at 4 p.m. a service of Holy Baptism.

The Christian Emphasis Committee of the YMCA is sponsoring a Breakfast and Service Good Friday morning at 7:30 and will be held in the YMCA building, 131 Mt. Clemens St. for laymen of all denominations. The Rev. Paul R. Havens of the First Methodist Church will be the speaker. The theme of the breakfast is "A Morning Devotional Designed to Give Spiritual Strength."

The Wesleyan Emphasis Good Friday Service will be held at the Salvation Army Citadel from 1 to 3 p.m. This service is being sponsored by the Oakland County Holiness Association with the following denominations co-operating: Nazarene, Free Methodist, United Missionary, Salvation Army, Pilgrim Holiness and Wesleyan.

There will be three periods, the first from 1 to 1:40 p.m. with the Rev. Homer McRoberts bringing the message. The Rev. Claude Friess will be in charge of this period, with special music by Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Jenkins.

The Rev. Kenneth Hutchinson will lead the second period from 1:40 to 2:20 p.m. Mrs. Homer McRoberts will sing a solo and the Rev. Larry Burr, evangelist at the Free Methodist Church will speak.

Special music will be given by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sheppard at 2:20 and the Rev. Clifton DeBord, evangelist at the First Church of the Nazarene, will preach. Congregational singing of "In the Cross of Christ I Glory," "Man of Sorrows" and "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross" and prayer will be a part of the service.

The Baldwin Ave. Evangelical United Brethren Church will meet with the Oakland Ave. United Presbyterians Good Friday from 1:45 to 2:45 p.m.

Friday night a service of Holy Communion will be held at 7:30 at the Oakland Ave. Church. The pastor, the Rev. Theodore E. Allebach, will speak.

Under the auspices of the Pontiac Pastors' Association, a downtown Good Friday Service will be held from 12 noon to 3 p.m. at the Central Methodist Church.

The Rev. J. Allen Parker, president of the association, will open the service, assisted by the Rev. Kenneth Hutchinson, secretary. Dr. Milton H. Bank, minister of the Central Church will preside.

Each of seven ministers will present a meditation on the theme "The Seven Last Words From the Cross." They include the following Reverends, Theodore E. Allebach, of the Oakland Ave. United Presbyterian Church; Donald Morris, of St. John's Methodist Church, Lawrence D. Graves, associate pastor of the First Congregational Church; William E. Hakes, assistant minister of the First Baptist Church; James W. Deeg, pastor of the Oakland Park Methodist Church; Dr. William H. Marbach of the First Presbyterian and Carl W. Nelson, pastor of the St. John's Lutheran Church.

The three organists playing will be Charles A. Wilson, Mrs. W. Henry Sink and Lyndon Salathiel. Soloists will be Mrs. Rebecca Gould, Royce Everett and Mrs. Carl (Mary) Leonard.

Bethany Baptist and First Christian churches will observe their service together from 1:30 to 2:30 p.m. at the Bethany Baptist Church with the Rev. Duncan D. McColl preaching and the Rev. Fred R. Tiffany, host.

The churches of auburn Heights will hold their union service from 1:30 to 2:30 at the United Presbyterian Church. The Rev. Harvey McCann, of the host church, the Rev. Eldon Cummings of the Auburn Heights Free Methodist Church and the Rev. A. E. Potbury, a retired Free Meothodist minister, will be the speakers.

At the Oakland County Tuberculosis Sanitarium, three simultaneous services will be held for patients, nurses and physicians. One will be conducted by Father Tracy for Roman Catholics, another by the Rev. O. A. Gerken of Walled Lake Missouri Synod Lutheran Church and the Protestant service will be led by the Rev. Herbert Ryan, chaplain of the Pontiac Pastors' Association and pastor of the Baldwin Ave. Evangelical United Brethren Church.

The Oakland County Ministerial Fellowship will hold a union service at Macedonia Baptist Church from 12 noon to 3 p.m. Pastors participating include the Rev. T. Walter Harris, the Rev. John Hatcher, the Rev. Richard H. Dixon Jr., Elder Watkins, the Rev. Donald Morris, the Rev. Roy Cummings and Rev. J. Allen Parker.

"Good Friday Hour" will be the theme of the 7:30 service at the Marimount Baptist Church (Walton Blvd. near Baldwin) Friday night. The Rev. Frank Partridge of Roseville will bring the message.

From 12 noon to 3 p.m., at St. Vincent de Paul Catholic Church there will be the Mass of the Pre-Sanctified and Stations of the Cross. The Rev. Joseph J. Ryder will give the sermon at 1:30 and at 2:30 p.m. on "Sufferings of Jesus."

Saturday at 11 p.m., there will be the Easter Ceremonies, consisting of the "Blessing of the New Fire," "Blessing of the Paschal Candle" and the "Blessing of Baptismal Water."

The Most Rev. Alexander Zaleski will pontificate at the Solemn High Mass at 12 midnight, Saturday.

The Mass of the Pre-Sanctified will be said at 8 a.m. Friday at St. Michael's Catholic Church. From 12 to 3 p.m. three priests will preach on the "Seven Last Words of Christ" ending with the Stations of the Cross and the Veneration of the Cross.

Tonight "Holy Thursday," there will be All Night Adoration at St. Benedict's Catholic Church in which each Catholic Church is participating. From 9 to 10 p.m. a priest of the St. Michael's Parish will conduct the Holy Hour for his parishioners, from 10 to 11 p.m. the St. Vincent de Paul parish members will be present with one of their priests leading the prayers; from 11 to 12 p.m. a priest from the St. Joseph Parish will lead the Holy Hour and a priest of St. Benedict's will conduct from 12 to 1 a.m.

The rest of the early morning, groups will spend their Hour of Adoration with a member of Knights of Columbus leading the prayers until 6 a.m.

A special Mass and Procession is scheduled at 9 a.m., at St. Benedict's Catholic Church Friday in honor of Holy Eucharist. At noon there will be the Mass of the Pre-Sanctified, Veneration of the Cross and the Way of the Cross.

The traditional "Blessing of the Fire, Water and Paschal Candle" will be at 7 a.m. Saturday with a special Easter Saturday Mass at 8 a.m.

Good Friday morning at 9:30, at St. Joseph Catholic Church Mass will be read. From 12 noon to 3 p.m. the Tre Ore Service will be held and at 7 p.m., the Stations of the Cross.

Volunteer Workers Packaging Supplies for Planned Polio Vaccination Clinics

Volunteers were working yesterday in Birmingham Community House, packing supplies for the polio vaccination clinics which will begin later this month after next Tuesday's report on the results of last year's tests.

Dr. John D. Monroe, Oakland County Health director, said individual kits are being made up, so that clinics can be set up with everything necessary to vaccinate school children in a single, self-contained unit.

About 60 per cent of an estimated 30,000 parental request forms have been returned to health authorities so far.

These forms, signed by parents, must be returned before children can be given the vaccine.

Parents of children who participated in the last year's tests or parents of first or second grade children, who did not receive the request forms passed out in schools a week ago, should call the school office.

Oakland County Health Department will answer questions about the vaccination program. Volunteer workers under the direction of Mrs. Howard Rieman of Birmingham will staff the clinics, under the direction of county health department officials and members of Oakland County Medical Society.

Preparations for the mass immunization of some 30,000 county children are as far advanced as they can go before the final report in the results of last year's field tests is issued, Dr. Monroe stated.

The report, although top-secret as yet, is expected to be highly favorable.

Rep. Hayworth to Vote for Flexible Supports

FLINT (AP)—Rep. Hayworth (D-Mich) of the Sixth Congressional District says he will vote for flexible farm price supports as the result of a poll of farmers in his district.

Hayworth said his poll of 1,000 farmers showed them evenly divided — one-third favoring rigid controls, a third favoring flexible controls and another third favoring none at all.

Bank to Be Remodeled

ALLEGAN (AP) — City Council has approved a building permit to allow remodeling of the Allegan State Bank at an estimated cost of $107,000.

Naval Reserves to Name Queen

Miss Pontiac Naval Reserve, who will be named here May 18, will receive a host of prizes incuding clothing, jewelry, cosmetics and luggage.

All the prizes, including a trophy, have been donated by local merchants.

Spokesmen at the Reserve Training Center, 469 S. East Boulevard, said single or married women 17 years old or more are eligible.

Relatives, friends or prospective contestants may submit photographs with training center personnel before the May 7 deadline. Contestants' names, addresses and telephone numbers must be printed on the back of each photo.

Ten finalists will be chosen and the winner will reign as honorary commander of Reserve Unit 9-104 for one complete drill period.

State Residents Hunt Uranium

UM Prof Is Teaching Over 100 Students How to Find Ore

DETROIT (UP) — More than 100 Michigan residents, enchanted by tales of "Pick's find" and other prospectors who have struck it rich, are going to college to learn "how to find uranium."

The 102 students, mostly middle-aged and including more than a dozen women, have paid $18 for a series of 16 weekly lectures of two hours each by a University of Michigan professor.

They'll be finished with their training by summer and ready to buy their Geiger counters and start searching Michigan's copper country for a 20th century treasure of uranium.

Only minor deposits of uranium have been found in the state so far. But that hasn't discouraged the hopes of Michigan residents.

The University of Michigan planned originally to offer its "uranium hunting" courses only in Detroit by E. William Henrich, curator of the school's mineralogical collection.

But the interest was so keen and registrations so high, that another course has been opened in Ann Arbor. Students drive in from places as far away as Midland and Ithaca for the weekly meetings.

Escapee's Mom Marches Him Back to Prison

DYERSBURG, Tenn. (AP)—Jailer Frank Gregory sleepily answered the door early yesterday and was surprised to see young James Beard, firm in the grip of his mother.

He investigated and found that five of his prisoners had battered through the jail wall under cover of a thunderstorm. Beard was one of them.

The escapees separated after sliding down a blanket rope from the second floor. Beard, 19, went home. His mother marched him right back to jail.

Another of the escapees was caught later but three are still at large.

Gregory said the men used a window weight, a teaspoon and a hinge from a folding bunk to break off a rusty steel plate used to patch a hole cut through the wall in another breakout years ago.

Fishermen Seek Asylum

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP) — Three East German fishermen left their vessel after it grounded on a Baltic island and sought political asylum in Denmark. They will be brought to Copenhagen.

Smoked Hams, Turkeys Top Holiday Food Lists

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Smoked hams and turkeys for sumptuous Easter dinners will be the overwhelming favorites on the feature lists of the nation's food stores this weekend.

And you'll find good value for your money. Smoked ham prices will be down as much as 20 cents a pound from a year ago, reflecting the drop in pork prices since that time. A spokesman for a major chain says prices haven't been as low in eight years.

Stores also will be featuring canned hams at what they say are very reasonable prices.

Turkeys also wil be down sharply from a year ago. One meat spedialist says prices will about match those that prevailed at Thanksgiving and will be a trifle lower than at Christmas.

Incidentally, Easter eggs shouldn't cost you too much this year. Egg prices are down again in most sections of the country, with one large group of markets trimming two to six cents a dozen off week-ago prices.

If you're not in the mood for ham or turkey, you will find prime ribs of beef on sale in numerous markets. Legs of lamb also will be featured at prices a bit lower than last week.

Pork chop prices generally will be higher than a week ago. One chain plans boosts of two to six cents a pound for center-cut chops.

Butter will be cheaper in some sections of the country, with reductions ranging from one to six cents a pound.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture notes that food shoppers will find an abundance of seafood — haddock fillets, halibut, ocean perch and shrimp "at very attractive prices" in either fresh or frozen form.

Onions and potatoes went up in price this week, as did many vegetables, but produce specialists say these two still rate as good buys.

Also in this category are escarole, nearby greens, new crop cabbage, celery, bunched and topped carrots, broccoli, eggplant, small and medium-size peppers, rhubarb, artichokes and beans. Once again, the beans are only of ordinary to fair quality.

Cucumbers took a big jump in price during the week. Iceberg lettuce and asparagus are rated as moderately priced. Asparagus is in big demand right now.

The list of good buys in fruits isn't very long. Oranges and grapefruit are your best bets. Strawberries and good quality apples went up in price.

103-Year-Old to Sing on Radio Barn Dance

CHICAGO (AP)—William Berry, of Elgin, Ill., will observe his 103rd birthday tomorrow and is planning to appear on a radio barn dance program to sing "Rose of Sharon."

Berry was honored last Sunday at the Highland Avenue Church of The Brethren in Elgin when the choir sang one of a number of hymns he has composed. Berry lives with his daughter, Mrs. Judith Garber, and her husband, Isaac.

The Indian word for "Great Water", was Michigamaw—sometimes spelled Michigama or Michiguma. From that word came the name of Michigan.

Asks Physicists to Shun Red Bid

Government Frowns on a Scientific Conference in Moscow

NEW YORK (AP)—Two physicists from this country say they were advised by government officials to turn down invitations to a Moscow scientific conference which concludes today.

Prof. Richard R. Feynman, of the California Institute of Technology, and Dr. Freeman J. Dyson, of the Institute for Advanced Study at Princeton, N.J., said yesterday they first accepted the Soviet invite. They said no "classified" matters were on the agenda of the Moscow meeting.

* * *

But, said Feynman, the Atomic Energy Commission advised him not to go, on the ground it would be an "unwarranted risk."

"There are several reasons why it may have been unwise for me to go even through theoretical discussions might have been valuable on both sides," he said.

Feynman said he had done classified work on the atom bomb project during World War II, and recently consulted with the Army on a highly classified subject.

* * *

Dyson, a British citizen, said he first told the Russians he would attend the conference — which opened March 31—if he could obtain the necessary papers.

Later, he said, the immigration service informed him that even the granting of a re-entry permit to the United States would not guarantee he could get back in this country.

Support for Thieves

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Bud Weill reported the eighth burglary in two years at his store and said about $6,000 in merchandise had been taken in that period. "All I'm doing is supporting thieves," he complained.

37 Communist Years Fail to Dim Russian Hospitality

(Editor's Note: Visiting American newsmen Alfred G. Hill of the Oak Ridge (Tenn.) Oak Ridger and George Johnson of the Long Beach (Calif.) Independent Press find that the Bolshevik revolution and 37 years of communism have not dulled Russian hospitality. They tell of their social visit to a collective farm leader's home.)

By ALFRED G. HILL and GEORGE JOHNSON

MOSCOW (INS)—Revolution and 37 years of communism certainly have not liquidated the good, old-fashioned Russian hospitality. It's staggering, comrades, and if you don't watch that vodka, you'll be staggering too.

We learned this the easy way at the home of collective farm chairman Ivan Morrzov on the outskirts of Moscow.

After a question-and-answer session in Morrzov's office and a tour of his prize-winning barns, he casually invited us around to "tea."

But when we stepped into the commodious dining room of the house built by Morrzov's peasant father, we found no tea but a groaning board with platters of warm boiled eggs, cold roast suckling pigs, cucumbers in sour cream and a flock of other dishes which would have done credit to a Midwestern farm Sunday dinner.

The hospitality of Ivan and his wife, Maria, included a flow of vodka as glasses were filled after each of a dozen toasts.

There are 600 houses in nearby villages whence the collective draws farmers. In general, the farming operation concentrates its major efforts on potatoes and other vegetables for the Moscow market.

We saw facilities for various prize Russian white hogs which proved an attraction at the state fair.

Greenhouses grow vegetables to hit early spring and later fall markets when cauliflower, cabbage, carrots, tomatoes, cucumbers and onions bring top prices.

We noted that two-thirds of the leading farmers on the honor rolls in Morrzov's office were women—reflecting the ratio of two women for every man employed.

It was explained that most village men worked in Moscow factories.

That the combination of factory paychecks and shares in this showplace collective pays off was shown by television aerials sticking up from simple, even primitive, log houses in the villages.

Reports Margaret Will Wed Another

NEW YORK (INS) — Romney Wheeler of the National Broadcasting Company reported from London today that Princess Margaret will marry Billy Wallace, stepson of American author Herbert Agar.

Wheeler, speaking on NBC's "World News Roundup," quoted a source "close to the royal family" as saying:

"The royal family will announce her engagement to Wallace shortly."

The NBC correspondent said Margaret, whose engagement to RAF Group Capt. Peter Townsend oft has been rumored near in recent months, definitely would not wed the onetime equerry to Queen Elizabeth.

The 27-year-old Wallace, who has been Margaret's frequent escort to the theater since her return from her Caribbean tour, is an airlines employe.

Fierce Eagles Scare Swedes on Baltic Island

ISLE OF OLAND, Sweden (AP)—Parents of this Baltic island don't let their children go out alone for fear they will be attacked by fierce eagles.

The giant birds are terrorizing people and killing both wild game and livestock. Sheep farmers angry over daily losses from their flocks have demanded permission to shoot the eagles, which are protected by an act of Parliament.

Recently a huge eagle swooped down on a taxi driver, who dove inside his cab just in time to escape the onrushing talons. When he drove off, the bird followed him for two miles.

Michigan Stock Killing Down During February

LANSING (AP) — Livestock slaughter in Michigan during February was down from the previous month, the Federal-State Crop reporting Service said today.

Compared with the same month last year, the slaughter of sheep and lambs, hogs and cattle was up and there was a decrease in the calf slaughter.

Eden's Appointment Doubles His Salary

LONDON (INS) — Sir Anthony Eden's appointment as Prime Minister doubled his salary from the British government.

As foreign secretary, he received 5,000 pounds ($14,000) annually. As first lord of the treasury, a post the premier always holds, Eden receives 10,000 pounds. The premiership itself is unsalaried.

Heads Two Societies

MUSKEGON (AP) — Hazel M. Thompson, Muskegon County Health Department staff nurse, has been named executive secretary of the county Crippled Children's Society and the infantile paralysis chapter. She succeeds Neva Pumfrey, who resigned the post recently after serving 10 years.

Charge Sloppy Procedure in Monday's State Election

DETROIT (UP) — Michigan didn't even know how many precincts it had in this week's election. That's what tabulators found when they started running down the vote count.

They learned that the official precinct count of 4,783 released by state officials was at least five precincts short.

The law requires county officials to notify the state of the number of precincts 30 days before an election. But apparently some of the counties failed to pay attention to this.

Some counties turned up with one or two more precincts than the state knew about. Others turned up one or two short.

One of those which came up with a different figure than the state knew about was Ingham County. That's the county in which Lansing is located. It turned up with 114 precincts instead of 112.

Some county clerks locked their doors election night and went home for a good night's sleep. Ballot boxes were brought in the next da yor else sat in the county buildings until opening time the next day.

Some said they didn't think they'd get around to toting up any figures for a couple of days. In some counties, some of the ballot boxes still hadn't been brought in to county officials 48 hours after the election.

That happened, despite the fact that in Michigan ballot boxes are sealed with the same kind of seals as railroad box cars. They fit fine on a railroad car. But they allow too much "give" on ballot boxes. Lids on the boxes can be lifted and a hand stuck in without breaking the seal.

Most famous of the missing precincts were the ten in Macomb County, in Warren Township. They finally turned up about 40 hours after the polls closed. The big Democrat majority they had vitally influenced the election count.

The slowness of the outstate counting was certain to bring new pressure in the state Legislature for a law similar to those many other states have. In Wisconsin, county clerks must total up the county figures election night, make them available for unofficial counts, and not close up shop until they finish the job. Ohio and Illinois also require the posting of election returns.

In Michigan, with the lead seesawing this week, it was impossible to get the returns for some precincts which could influence the races one way or other.

Secretary of State James Hare said he noted many "improper" procedures.

Here are some of them he listed:

One township in Isabella County closed its township hall doors to voters for one hour or more on election day so a township meeting could be held in the hall.

A precinct in Port Huron tallied votes on sample ballots instead of official forms.

One Iosco County township didn't have any ballots on hand until 11 a.m. four hours after the polls opened.

Spaulding Township in Saginaw County didn't furnish pencils to voters.

Some ballots were invalidated because of improper handling by election officials, disenfranchising the voter through no fault of his own.

In one place, a sound truck operated just slightly more than 100 feet from the polls, circumventing law preventing campaigning within that mark.

Mom, Daughter Killed by Car in Allen Park

DETROIT (AP)—A mother and her 4-year-old daughter were struck and killed by a car last night in suburban Allen Park.

The victims were Mrs. Isabelle Root, 34, and Diane Lynn Root, of Wyandotte. They were crossing a street to meet Mrs. Root's husband, Hal, at his photo studio.

The driver, Ethel Klockenbrink, 30, a barmaid, was held for investigation of manslaughter. Assistant Prosecutor Raymond L. Miller said Miss Klockenbrink admitted she had had "six or seven beers" at a bar with a girl friend shortly before the accident.

Press Story Brings Fast Bike Recovery

Mrs. Bernice Rivard of 361 Highgate Rd. called the Press last Monday, saying that her paper boy had not delivered the paper.

The Reason? Albert Harrell of 249 Briscoe, who delivers papers in the crescent Lake area, had missed his bicycle. The bike had been stolen from his backyard and Albert, who had never missed a day's delivery, was unable to deliver his papers for the first time.

The story appeared in the Press on Monday. Within an hour and a half, Albert had his bike back.

A Press reader had seen the story and noticed the bike abandoned against a mail box on her farm. Albert has resumed his mal after-school work again, giving residents in the area the "good service" they had been used to.

Union Scholarship Test Will Be Offered April 16

LANSING (AP) — The Michigan Federation of Labor today said examinations in its annual scholarship contest will be conducted April 16 at 55 centers in 11 counties in the state.

The two high school seniors placing first in the contest will receive $500 scholarships.

Tarpon Infancy Puzzles Expert

Curator at Marineland Discovers Tiny Fish in Florida Pond

MARINELAND, Fla. (UP)—Almost every fisherman in Florida waters is familiar with the big fighting tarpon which attract sportsmen from all over the world, but nobody seems to know much about tarpon before they attain their great size.

Curator F. G. Wood Jr. of Marine Studios here recently found a number of small tarpon, only 3 to 3½ inches long, in a pond here.

He could not remember ever seeing any of the "silver kings" that small and decided to do a bit of research.

Wood said that Dr. C. M. Breder of the American Museum of Natural History described baby tarpon only 2 inches long found near Sanibel Island on Florida's Gulf Coast.

Dr. Breder also hatched fishlets from what he believed were tarpon eggs, but they all shrank and died after about three days.

Wood said that one mystery is that almost all the very small tarpon found were collected from landlocked ponds.

The eight young fish found here were seined from a pond that connects with an inlet only during the very highest tides of the year.

He said tarpon are able to breath atmospheric air and are not dependent on oxygen in the water. Thus they would be able to survive in such ponds, but the period in the life of a tarpon from three days after hatching until it attains the length of 2 inches is still a mystery.

Wood said only three of the eight tiny tarpon he caught survived. The staff is giving them great care, hoping they will some day graduate to the giant tank of the oceanarium.

Fraternity Pin Returned

HOLDREGE, Neb. (UP) — R. P. Anderson recently received a small package in the mail containing the fraternity pin he had lost 20 years ago. It was returned by a Bethany, Mo., woman who had traced it from a number on the back through the organization's national headquarters. Anderson has never been in Bethany.

'A MAN CALLED PETER' — Richard Todd, star of new 20th Century-Fox film, "A Man Called Peter," was luncheon guest of theatermen in Detroit this week in connection with the Michigan opening of the picture. In above scene he is shown, as Peter Marshall, after narrowly escaping a death plunge into an abandoned quarry.

Portrays Rev. Peter Marshall

Actor Todd Accompanies New Movie to Michigan

"We honestly have something we can acclaim."

Richard Todd, star of "A Man Called Peter," was speaking about the 20th Century-Fox film which is being released in Michigan theaters this week.

The occasion was a luncheon honoring the British star yesterday at Detroit's Sheraton-Cadillac Hotel attended by press representatives and theater men.

Todd was signed by 20th Century last July to play the title role in "A Man Called Peter," remarkable chronicle of the life of Peter Marshall, Scotch immigrant who became one of the nation's outstanding ministers and chaplain of the U. S. Senate.

Written by Marshall's widow, Catherine, the book became an outstanding best-seller of recent years.

A love story and a success story, "A Man Called Peter" is told in terms of God's intimate participation in the affairs of man.

Irish-born Todd, who is 35, moved to England, where he was educated, at the age of 6. He decided to become a playwright and in order to learn all he could about the theater, decided to spend some time as an actor.

His later decision to remain on the stage was interrupted for six years when World War II broke out and he volunteered. His experiences then were many and varied, for he traveled halfway across the world.

He was a commando in Iceland and later joined the Parachute Regiment. He fought in many battles including Normandy, the Battle of the Bulge and the final attack on Germany. He then served in Palestine until demobilization in 1946.

His years in service not only toughened him physically but built up a strength of character to match rugged good looks and fine physique.

This, coupled with his fine portrayal of a Scotch sergeant in "The Hasty Heart," made Todd an outstanding candidate for the title role in "A Man Called Peter" from the day 20th Century purchased the book.

Jean Peters, who has achieved notable artistic success, was aptly picked to portray Catherine Marshall, and both stars are supported by a fine cast.

Todd, barraged with questions from the press yesterday, shot back answers in a direct and friendly manner, with a crisp British accent.

Sporting a beard which was needed for his recently completed film, "Sir Walter Raleigh," Todd was asked why he hadn't shaved off the whiskery growth.

"There might be some retakes on 'Sir Walter Raleigh,'" he said, "and I'm not taking any chances." He added that it took him about a month to grow the beard.

Todd, married to stage actress Catherine Bogle, now in the United States with him, says they will leave for England after his short personal appearance tour here.

There he will do his next picture, title undisclosed, starting in June.

Asked whether he believed imported films hurt the movie business here, Todd replied that they did much good instead.

"Movies," he said, "are an international business."

The star laughed as he answered the question, "Could you say you liked doing your role in 'A Man Called Peter' best of any role?"

"I wouldn't say that," he observed. "I always like best the picture I'm going to do next!"

Anne Francis Wins Divorce Plus Bed

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Actress Anne Francis has obtained an interlocutory divorce decree—plus one twin bed and $4,000 she said she loaned her husband, film producer Bamlet L. Price Jr.

Price got the other bed. The court approved a property settlement and granted the divorce yesterday after Miss Francis testified Price said it was "important for my character" to do without a maid. At the time she was working 12 hours a day at her studio, she said.

She charged mental cruelty. The couple married in May 1952 and separated last Feb. 20.

Teacher Leaves Estate of More Than $200,000

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Miss Catherine A. Cunningham, who taught in the public schools here for 51 years, left an estate valued at more than $200,000.

Miss Cunningham, who died Jan. 28 at the age of 84, compiled her estate through saving and investments. Income from the estate was left to two sisters but after their death the bulk goes to institutions for charitable work. She retired in 1944.

An inventory was filed in Probate Court yesterday.

Out-of-Practice Singer Saves Day for Opera

NEW YORK (AP)—About five hours before the curtain was to go up on Donizetti's 'Don Pasquale" last night at the New York City Opera, here was the situation:

David Cunningham, scheduled to sing the role of Ernesto, was too ill to go on. His understudy Gilbert Russell had laryngitis. No other tenor in the company knew the part.

Then Salvatore Baccaloni, veteran comic basso of the Metropolitan Opera and an adviser to the City Center Theater presentation, remembered Constanzo Gero, with whom he had made a cross-country tour four years ago.

A frantic hunt located Gero, American-born but raised in Italy. He agreed to go on although he hadn't sung the role in the intervening four years.

He got an ovation from the audience after his first aria.

To Guide Red Farmers

MOSCOW (INS)—Soviet leaders announce that a "shock brigade" of 30,000 city-trained specialists will leave for the country within the next four months to "guide" collective farms to maximum production.

Charity Comes Home

SHERMAN, Tex. (AP) — It was a good deal, said Mrs. Roy Good, when she gave her husband's old clothes to a charity organization here. The Goods' home was destroyed here in a windstorm yesterday morning. One of those given clothing by the organization which Mrs. Good favored was storm victim Roy Good.

SHE'LL HELP DESIGN MUSEUM — Italian sculptress Fiore de Henriquez arrives in New York to help design modern art museum which Huntington Hartford plans for Los Angeles estate.

Museum Acquires 'Venus and Adonis'

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (UP)—A famous Renaissance painting that was retouched by a British painter, is now the property of the Rhode Island School of Design's museum.

The museum purchased the painting, Nicolas Poussin's "Venus and Adonis," after it turned up in a private English collection last summer. Dr. John Maxon, museum director, called the purchase the museum's "most important . . . in 20 years."

Poussin's work "lost" for more than a century, was once the property of Sir Joshua Reynolds, the famed English painter.

"When Sir Joshua owned it, he somewhat repainted the canvas," Dr. Maxon said. "But his repaints have been successfully removed and Poussin's original work has survived in unusually fine condition."

Sweden has one passenger automobile for every 13 people.

One of Fastest Jets Can Even Back Up

BALTIMORE, Md. (UP)—One of America's fastest jet planes can back up! On the ground, that is.

The Air Force's Air Research and Development command has announced installation of a "reverse thrust" device in a Republic F-84F Thunderstreak, listed as being in the "650-miles-per-hour-plus" class.

Reverse thrust's real purpose, in the air, is as a brake to permit aerial contact with slower enemy aircraft or to slow a plane during landing approaches, permitting steeper descent. On the ground, reverse thrust can be used instead of wheel brakes or parachutes to stop a plane's roll, thus permitting landings into shorter fields.

ARDC said its Wright Air Development Center, in an experimental project had designed and built two movable flippers and a series of "cascades" around the jet engine's tailpipe. These can turn the jet of hot gases forward.

Lost Hunter Locates Another Lost Hunter

BAYFIELD, Wis. (UP)—It was getting dark, and as much as he hated to leave his 14-point buck in the woods, Raymond Sales, deer hunter from Chicago, set out for camp.

He fell over logs, slipped over the rocks and was scratched by branches before he decided he was lost. He signaled his distress with shots from his rifle. In the distance the signal was returned.

He started toward the sound and kept shooting. Each time his signal was answered. Finally he saw a form coming toward him and, thinking he was in camp, said:

"Where are the cabins, and where . . .?"

Turkey Is Not Impressed by 'Peaceful Coexistence'

By LEON DENNEN

ISTANBUL, Turkey (NEA) — Peaceful "coexistence," Soviet-style, isn't even a word in the ordinary Turk's language.

And the reason: For the past 300 years the Turks have resisted, with courage and tenacity, the mounting tide of Muscovite imperialism—both Czarist and Communist. They still do.

Turkey knows the Russians as few NATO powers do and prefers to keep her powder dry—despite Moscow's honeyed words about "peaceful coexistence."

The man-in-the-street is thus baffled by the flood of propaganda in favor of "coexistence" now broadcast from the U. S.

Baffled is perhaps a mild word; Turkey, America's staunchest friend in NATO, is completely confused by the sudden pro-coexistence twist in President Eisenhower's foreign policy

Said a noted Turkish engineer who knows and respects the U. S.: "President Eisenhower is obviously out to gain friends and influence people. But will Washington's new soft policy change the mind of a single Red or influence even one French intellectual? Hardly."

However, the engineer added: "By confusing the Turks the U. S. is endangering the nation's will to resist Red aggression."

A Western diplomat, an unusually qualified observer, was equally emphatic in his remarks, if not quite diplomatic.

He said: "The State Department obviously aims to appease the French. But Wahsington's new policy is playing havoc with the Turks. And yet one Turkey is worth two Frances with Premier Mendes-France thrown into the bargain."

As seen from the Middle East, especially in Turkey, the "new look" in U. S. foreign policy—which is likely to result in another sterile Big Four conference—will in the end benefit only the Russians.

Its effect on Turkey is particularly unfortunate because:

1. Turkey, a dictatorship only 10 years ago, is today by far the most stable democratic country in the Middle East—more stable than many European nations.

2. The man-in-the-street, peasants included, is remarkably well informed on the main points at issue in major internal and international problems.

3. The Turk's pro-U. S. orientation and ingranied distrust of Moscow makes Turkey an invaluable source of strength in the Middle East as a deterrent to Red aggression.

Alone, Turkey—with her army of 370,000 tough and well-trained men—is no match for Russia. However, in association with other non-Communist nations she ranks high up in military potential—certainly higher than a number of other countries who receive larger benefits from the U. S. pork barrel.

These are elementary facts, but they are important to any understanding of Turkey.

From the U. S. point of view there is another fact equally significant: Unlike France, Britain or even Italy or Germany, Turkey is the only genuinely pro-American country in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

An American does not have to be long in Turkey to realize that he is among true friends.

As one Turkish official put it: "We know a great deal more about the U. S. than you know about Turkey."

That's the truth. After years of corrupt Ottoman rule and Ataturk's dictatorship it took "Johnny Turk" a long time to discover the U. S. and American democracy.

But once he discovered the great and mysterious land across the ocean his enthusiasm for "Amerika" never waned.

To be sure. Turkey's democracy, after years of dictatorship, is emerging but slowly. It still has many pitfalls to overcome.

The country's economic economy, due to industrial overexpansion and poor U. S. advice, is not in the best shape.

Anyone Can Get Glamour

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

HOLLYWOOD (INS)—You don't just come to Hollywood and remain your drab, freckle-faced self—it is considered cruelty to the natives.

Out here a misplaced eyelash is more odious than a misspent youth, and the assymetrical mouth or unvarnished nail is grounds for gossip.

Do not think harshly of Hollywood, however, in demanding that girls be glamorous. For if you ain't got glamor by nature, you can get it by Westmore, or Factor, or a variety of other potentates of the paint-pots, in less time than it takes to write out a check for two weeks' pay.

All you do is walk into one of the cosmetics cults and say, "Make me over, and in a hurry please."

They may flinch slightly, as in my case, and plead for time.

But inevitably they will do it, and you will not recognize yourself. Nor will casual acquaintances know you. I, for instance, was mistaken, on the night of my facial conversion, for Rosemary Clooney, Dinah Shore, Lizbeth Scott and Ginger Rogers.

One man thought I was his old friend Ethel Barrymore, but he was drinking heavily.

I decided on glamorization the day I arrived here, and took the haggard face over to young Perc (pronounced "purse") Westmore's Sunset Boulevard salon, because that is where Louella, Hedda and Joan Crawford go when their hair is at loose ends.

Perc, an expert in this business for about a quarter-century, introduced me to a girl named Dorothy Joy, a hair-styling expert for 12 years, and another named Melba Kennedy, a face-changing expert for 15. They looked sympathetic and solemn.

"Luck, girls," said Perc and disappeared. Dorothy and Melba set to work.

Dorothy got me first. "Now a hair style should be planned to make the face appear as near a perfect oval as possible," she said, changing my part from lower-left to a just off-center. "That minimizes the length of your face—see?"

"Long, droopy hair gives one a tired look," she said, whacking off inches here and there, giving me symmetrical bangs. "Much younger — see?" Quickly she wound pin curls, tucked me under a dryer and called Gladys, the manicuring expert for six years who was quite encouraging: "You have callouses at the corners of your nails and my, how did they get so rough? But basically, nice hands," she said.

Melba then took me into a mirrored room for the make-up treatment. "You certainly have an unusual face," she said. "Very Slavic." What was your ancestry?" English and French, I said. "Well," she said, "that's funny."

My chief problems, it turned out, were my mouth, nose and eyes. They were, respectively, too narrow, too wide and too small to be proportionately perfect. So with a lipstick brush, Melba widened the lips; with pencils and brushes she opened the eyes; with brown eyeshadow she narrowed the nose.

Over it all went a layer of Rose Glow foundation cream, transparent powder and a soupcon of rouge. Announcing I was now "perfect," Melba raised me up (no easy job, as my limpid eyes were quite heavy) and pointed me toward a mirror.

Any resemblance to the old me was purely from the neck down. I was divine.

It washed off, however. I am making reservations to go home.

Wrong Number Costly

HARTFORD, Conn. (UP) — A wrong number cost Charles Evans $35. Evans pulled his wallet out to get a number while making a call from a pay telephone both. He placed the wallet on a shelf and dialed. It was the wrong number. Evans stepped outside to check the telephone book and in the moment he turned his back someone grabbed the wallet.

Hints Admission of Yalta 'Leak'

Solon Believes Dulles Will Tell Why Papers Went to N. Y. Times

WASHINGTON (UP)—Sen John J. Sparkman (D-Ala) said today he understands the State Department is considering issuing a public statement that it "leaked" the papers of the World War II Yalta conference as part of a definite plan.

Sparkman, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said he had heard that the department is planing to admit its role in letting one newspaper have the Yalta documents in advance. The department was pressured into making them public before that newspaper could print them exclusively.

Sparkman said such a statement would make it clear that the "leak" was deliberate.

The State Department gave the documents first—and for a while exclusively—to the New York Times. The Times received them on condition that it would print the lengthy texts in their entirety.

The State Department was expected to claim it favored the Times deliberately to be sure that all of the controversial documents were printed rather than only portions which might be lifted out of context.

The plan went awry, however. Other newspapers discovered that the Times had obtained the documents, and White House Secretary James C. Hagerty, after huddling with a group of GOP senators, insisted that all publications have access to the documents.

The Foreign Relations Committee voted unanimously last week to call Dulles after the Easter congressional recess.

Sparkman's comment to newsmen came on the heels of published reports that Secretary of State John Foster Dulles is preparing to tell the Foreign Relations Committee that his own top information official—Assistant Secretary of State Carl W. McCardle — handed the Yalta documents to the New York Times.

McCardle declined to comment on those reports yesterday.

Asks State to Run 2 Wayne Hospitals

LANSING (UP)—Gov. Williams sent a special message to the Legislature today asking it to consider taking over two mental institutions operated by Wayne County.

He also asked an additional $652,368—or a total of $6,589,291—for the care of state patients in the two institutions, Wayne County General Hospital (Eloise) and Wayne County Home and Training School.

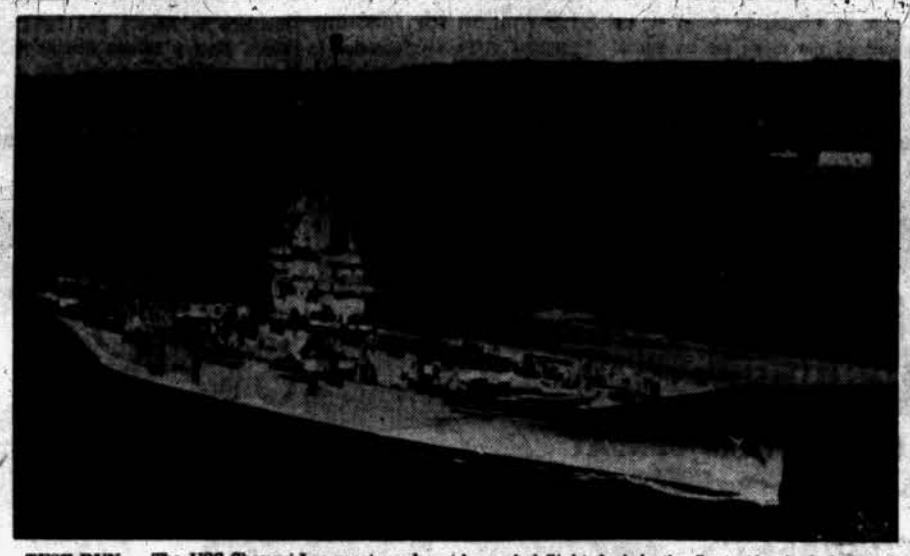

He said an increase in the per diem rate paid for patients in those hospitals would "minimize the existing inequity" while the lawmakers were studying the future of the institutions.

The county, Williams said, has lost about $1,500,000 a year for 11 years because of the failure of the state to meet the actual costs of keeping patients in the two institutions.

Williams said Wayne is the only county maintaining mental hospitals and that by law and tradition the state is supposed to assume the care of mental patients

Contracts for Acreage

FREMONT (AP)—Gerber Baby Foods produce manager William Hays says contracting for pea acreage and spinach acreage has been completed with increased acreage for peas and reduced space for spinach. Hays says heaviest contracting has been done in the Montague area. Plantings are scheduled for Frens, Bailey, Sheridan and Saginaw.

TEST RUN — The USS Shangri-La, most modern aircraft carrier in commission, is shown on a test run after a 26-month modernization period at Bremerton, Wash. The carrier was fitted with the first structurally angled flight deck in the fleet. Also included in the modernization were steam catapults and an enclosed "hurricane bow."

Ice Cream Peddling Law Ruling Is Expected Soon

Oakland County Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty is expected to rule within two weeks on a case concerning the validity of a Pontiac ordinance amendment banning the peddling of ice cream products on city streets.

The judge took the case under advisement after hearing arguments from Pontiac City Attorney William A. Ewart and Paul W. Harty, a Detroit lawyer representing two men arrested for violating the ordinance shortly after it was passed last August.

Marvin R. Rubinstein, 18, of 3025 Corland, Detroit, and Sol Greenwald, 35, of 6520 Third, Detroit, were arrested Aug. 27 and later convicted in Municipal Court of illegally peddling ice cream.

Harty, who also represents a group of Detroit ice cream vendors, appealed the case claiming the ordinance is invalid because "it prohibits a man from making a living."

He said an identical ordinance passed in June 1953 by River Rouge was found unconstitutional by Wayne County Circuit Judge Ira W. Jayne.

Ewart said the ordinance is designed both to reduce traffic injuries and to foster public health by preventing the streets from being littered with wrappers, ice cream cones and confection sticks.

The city of Dearborn, Ewart stated, had a law banning curb service of foods upheld by the State Supreme Court. "We contend that the Dearborn case should apply to the Pontiac ordinance," he declared.

When the two peddlers were first arrested Municipal Judge Maurice E. Finnegan refused to issue a warrant. He called the amendment "utterly discriminatory and unfair to any businessman wanting to make a living by vending."

Municipal Judge Cecil McCallum signed the warrants saying he didn't know whether or not the restrictions were valid, but he felt obliged to comply with the measure since the City Commission had passed it.

Quarries Yield Shells

MANILA (UP)—Two flooded stone quarries on the outskirts of the city today yielded 400 live 80mm. Japanese mortar shells, dumped there in World War II. Police found the shells under four feet of water. They said firecracker manufacturers had been hauling the shells away for the powder.

Creek Area Is Reserved for Women Dipnetters

BEAULAH (UP) — Lady dipnetters will have special privileges at Beaulah's smelt run tonight.

Fred Bradford, smelt run chairman, said a 100-yard section of Cold Creek will be reserved for women.

Guards have been instructed, Bradford said, to be on watch for a recurrence of last year's invasion of the ladies' area by men dressed in their wives' clothing.

Smelt dipping, which started here last Friday, is expected to hit a peak later this week. Cold Creek will be returned to control of the State Conservation Department Sunday night, according to Bradford.

Experts estimate that about a fifth of all food planted by man is destroyed by diseases and insect pests before it reaches the table.

Social Service Meet Scheduled Tonight

The second in a series of six social service meetings will be held tonnight at 7:30 in the YWCA.

Devoted to acquainting the public with social services available in the community, the meetings are held every Thursday with Eileen Muir acting as chairman.

Tonight's topic will be group work and recreation agencies. Under the leadership of Edwina Isaacson, Waterford High School Home and Family teacher, several teenagers will give a discussion demonstrating a group in action.

Mary Ellen Wyngarden will show a spot map of Oakland County social agencies.

Open to the public, this series is sponsored by the American Association of Social Workers, Oakland County CIO Council and the Pontiac area United Fund.

Mother Hears From Prisoner

Man Held by Chinese Says That Treatment Has Improved

LYNN, Mass. (INS)—A letter from behind Red China's Bamboo Curtain today gave a Lynn mother new hope that her son, captured by the Reds on Christmas Day, 1952, eventually may be freed.

Mrs. Philip D. Fecteau said the first letter she has received from her son, Richard, since he was imprisoned with several other Americans, indicated the Reds have changed their tactics in treatment of the prisoners.

Fecteau wrote in the letter, postmarked Feb. 22, 1955, from Canton, China, that his group of 10 prisoners now was allowed to bunk together. Previously, they had been confined in separate quarters. He wrote:

"Now I can bunk with Downey and the others."

He referred to John T. Downey, 24, New Britain, Conn., given a life sentence by the Communists after they found him guilty of being a spy. Fecteau, a civilian employe of the U. S. Air Force, was given a lesser sentence on similar charges.

The Lynn man said he was well fed and related that when a package from home failed to arrive in time the Reds gave him a small can of chicken for dinner last Christmas. He said the men are allowed to play volleyball for an hour each day.

Donlevy Gives Up Drink After Driving Conviction

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (UP) — Movie actor Brian Donlevy has paid a $150 fine and promised to refrain from drinking for a year after being convicted yesterday of drunk driving.

The 52-year-old television and film star was arrested March 11. His automobile had jumped two curbs, rolled onto a parking lot and crashed into another car.

Judge Charles J. Griffin ordered the actor to use his car only for business for the next 90 days.

The world's largest bean elevator is located at Saginaw.

First Church of Brethren Holds Revival Meetings

Beginning last night and continuing through April 9, the First Church of the Brethren will hold pre-Easter services with the Rev. Hugh Warstler of Durand, the speaker. The meetings will begin with a prayer service at 7 p. m. followed by the evangelist's message at 7:45.

The Children's Choir will sing Easter morning at the 11 o'clock service. A Service of Baptism will be held at 6 p. m. followed by the evening service at 7. Special music will be featured at both Sunday services. The Rev. LeRoy Shafer is pastor of the church.

Marilyn Monroe Sought by Court in Beverly Hills

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (UP) — They've got a warrant out for Marilyn Monroe in Beverly Hills.

Municipal Judge Charles J. Griffin has been hoping to see the shapely blonde since soon after last Nov. 21, when she got a traffic ticket for driving without a license. She failed to appear in court to answer it.

Judge Griffin issued a warrant in February, setting bail at $100. Morris Brown, a Champaign, Ill., bail bondsman, posted it as a "friendly gesture." Yesterday Judge Griffin issued another warrant for her arrest and this time set bail at $250.

Miss Monroe's attorney W. C. Fields Jr., son of the late comedian, asked for a continuance on grounds that "contract commitments require Miss Monroe to be in New York." Said the judge, referring to her signed traffic ticket promising to appear in court:

"She also has contract commitments here."

He ordered the $100 bail posted by Brown forfeited and set the new bail.

Chicago Banker Set to Speak at YMCA

John Nuveen, partner in the Chicago banking firm of John Nuveen & Co., will be speaker for the 55th annual meeting of Pontiac YMCA.

The affair, including dinner and election of eight new directors, will be April 21 in the "Y" building, 131 Mount Clemens St.

Ted Slosson, secretary, announced that Harry Stayton was handling arrangements and reservations, and that Robert R. Eldred would be toastmaster.

Deed Recorder Processes 16,150 Documents Here

A total of 16,150 documents were processed during March by the Oakland County Recorder of Deeds' office, it was anounced today by Orrin McQuaid, register.

This is more than 20 per cent over the 12,908 total for February, and an increase of nearly as much over the 13,102 total for March of last year.

Total of fees received was $23,051.50, compared with $18,199 in March 1954 and $19,788.75 last month.

Tot's Efforts Pay Off as Fire Trucks Arrive

ARCATA, Calif. (UP)—"What happens if you pull that handle?" the little boy asked the electrician making a routine check of fire alarm boxes yesterday.

"Why, all the fire trucks would come rushing right out here," answered Bill Donahue.

Ten minutes later they did. The little boy, not yet 3, was just barely able to reach that handle by standing on his shiny new red wagon.

Hits Safety Conferences

GRAND RAPIDS—Circuit Judge Dale Souter scorned safety conferences today as a means of curbing traffic fatalities and suggested strict enforcement of laws now on the books.

Radio Announcement Alerts Boston by Error

BOSTON (UP)—An announcement over WBZ-TV last night said, "All military personnel will report to their bases immediately; all leaves are canceled"—but it was all a mistake.

Station officials said the announcement came about when a network program out of New York had been inadvertently cut in on a local broadcast.

The network show was a dramatization of a hurricane story and had no official status.

The station made several announcements during the night to give assurance that there was no emergency.

Ike Receives Picture of Old North Church

WASHINGTON (INS) — President Eisenhower has been presented with a painting of Boston's historic Old North Church, whose steeple was toppled by Hurricane Carol last summer.

The water color painting by Massachusetts artist Forrest Orr pictures the church as it will look when the steeple is restored.

The presentation was made by Charles H. Watkins, of Middleton, Mass., treasurer of the Lantern League of the Old North Church.

Eisenhower said he will send the painting to the Eisenhower museum in Abilene, Kan.

Tornado Lashes Area Near Birmingham, Ala.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UP)—A tornado lashed the town of Altoona, Ala., last night, leaving a trail of ruined and damaged buildings, and high winds accompanied by torrential rains whipped Birmingham and other north Alabama areas.

Damage at Altoona, 10 miles west of Gadsden, was estimated at about $50,000. A 50-foot new field house at Altoona High School was removed and set down in one piece over railroad tracks about 30 feet distant.

Mr. Wright Demonstrates Audio-Visual Aids to PTA

William Wright, principal of Whittier School, demonstrated the uses of Audio-Visual aids in PTAs at the Pontiac Council meeting held at Webster School Tuesday afternoon.

Many sources of equipment and material are available for use in PTA meetings, such as films, film strips or slides, or tape recordings, listed by leading universities.

Feltboards, chalkboards and skits or plays may illustrate the subject more emphatically than the spoken word alone.

Josephine Seeley, school nurse, spoke to the assembly on tentative plans set up to administer the Salk polio serum when it is available to our school children.

Six clinics are to be established with doctors and nurses in attendance. These centers are to be held at Webster, Longfellow, McConnell, Owen and Baldwin Schools and Lakeside Community Home on Saturday mornings.

Volunteers are needed to assist the registered nurses and doctors, and to do the clerical work necessary in compiling a complete record of this subject.

Mrs. Stanley Watson was chairman of the refreshment committee. Assisting were Mrs. Lawrence Taylor, Mrs. Jack W. Gilbert and Mrs. Paul Gorman.

CHICAGO (INS)—Papa may do the cooking out of doors but he does it with equipment somebody else buys—namely "the Mrs."

So say manufacturers of barbecue equipment in a survey taken by International News Service.

Because most of their customers are women, the manufacturers show outdoor grills of the brazier type and trim them in copper.

Copper finish for plating shows up on the bowls themselves or on the legs supporting them.

Put Clean Blankets on Top of Pile

Store a soiled woolen blanket under a dead weight in the spring and it won't emerge lively and fluffy in the fall.

Technicians advise homemakers to put their woolen blankets away clean and on the top, not the bottom, of the store pile, so that the nap will not be flattened.

The cotton cooler in the new and preferred "short-shorty" nightgown is made of the same wonderful soft, porous cotton dimple-knit as the little baby clothes. Matching panties are ruffled like the short, full, flaring short, shorty gown.

Come Back Again

Now, if that isn't the limit! One mother, departing from the maternity hospital with her precious bundle, looked up to see a sign: "Thank you, come again next year."

You Can Avoid Bad Skin

Prize your skin when you are young, and you may not develop complexion problems that make older girls miserable.

Acne and other skin blemishes may be avoided, according to dermatologists. A skin blemish is likely to be due to a systemic upset, allergic reaction or careless cleansing.

At the first sign of a blackhead, white head or pimple, ask yourself: "What happened?"

Then analyze the situation. What did you eat and drink yesterday? The day before? What did you put on your skin in the way of cosmetics? Have you been on a soap and water strike? Have you been too indulgent in candy, cake, soda pop, gravies?

Once you've established at least an inkling of the trouble, experiment by desisting from the suspected trouble maker.

If you can't figure it out, save your pennies if that is the only way you can afford a skin specialist. A small fee for diagnosis now may save you years of expense and unhappiness.

One way to avoid scars of adolescent acne is to stick to a planned skin regimen, according to the experts.

Perhaps all you need is a milder soap for cleansing an overly-sensitive skin. One recommended for that purpose is a liquid of blue foam that comes in a tube. It has a fast sudsing action without being too harsh on the complexion. Use your hands to apply it since wash cloths and towels can be irritating to a sensitive skin, too.

It is a good idea when you are young to develop a do-it-now attitude.

Carry What You'll Need in Handbag

Clear Out Debris but Don't Neglect Necessities

"Merciful heavens," remarked the friend. "Do you really carry all that stuff in your handbag?"

She was watching, in astonishment, as a well-organized woman produced a small notebook, a pencil, three swatches of fabric, four ads pasted on 5 x 7" cards, and a wallpaper sample from her handbag.

"Oh, no, just when I need them," the woman answered, with a laugh.

Which, of course, is the answer. No handbag is overloaded if it has just what you want in it. But however bulging it may be, if it doesn't have what you want, it's empty.

The handbag, annoying as it sometimes is, can be as useful and intelligent as a well-organized business file. A mature woman who prides herself on doing things neatly should remember this.

Going shopping for draperies tomorrow? Tonight, get out the handbag you want to carry with the suit you're going to wear. Pack it with just the things you'll need. Perhaps it will be a collection like that of the woman above, who was doing such shopping.

Include your shopping list, the phone numbers of anyone you may want to call when you're out. Check on change for the bus, taxi or parking meter. Collect the things you want to match and write down the dimensions of the window.

There are certain accessories that are always in your handbag, but you might check them over each night for renewal necessities or repairs. Lipstick (is it the color you're going to wear?), tissues (enough), wallet, comb (clean), mirror, emergency rainhat.

While you're at it, you might throw out that old letter and put that button in your sewing box. You probably won't need them.

Fabrics Suggest Decorating Ideas

A good place to go for inspiration if you're redecorating your home is right to the fabric counters.

While you can find gold lame at $225 a yard, you can also find attractive cottons at less than $1.50 a yard—so it isn't money that determines good and bad decorating, these days.

Fabrics that are inexpensive, that are durable, that are soap-and-water washable can be used, and used lavishly, even in a home that's run on the most economical basis.

Make the most of the lovely and serviceable yardage that's so abundant, for since it's washable, it's economical in the long run.

Wednesday afternoon the Women's Auxiliary to the Oakland County Medical Society was the hostess group to a luncheon held at Rotunda Inn. Guests were members of the Women's Auxiliary to the Oakland County Dental Society and the Jury Club. Three who got together briefly before the luncheon were Mrs. Arnold Brown of Cooley Lake road, Mrs. Ralph Fox of Birmingham and Mrs. Charles Barker of Forest Lake Drive (left to right) all members of the Medical auxiliary.

8 Women Join Local Chapter

Eight business women of Pontiac were accepted as new members of Tipacon Chapter of the American Business Women's Association, Wednesday evening.

Installed at the candlelight ceremony by President Mrs. Dorothy Brooks were Mrs. Otis Allen, Mrs. Russell Perkins, Marjorie Bartles, Mrs. Leroy Huff, Mary Louise Miller, Mrs. Robert Gallo, Mrs. Herbert Buchanan and Mrs. Elva Templeton.

Julie O'Brien, program chairman, introduced the speaker, David E. Ewalt, director of the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department.

Mr. Ewalt talked about the four divisions under his jurisdiction. The divisions include recreation, maintaining city parks, forestry and golf course duties. He also showed slides depicting the progress his department has made in performing these duties.

He stated that in each Pontiac school from 5 to 16 activities are usually taking place in one evening. They include tumbling, arts and crafts, golden age parties, basketball and fencing.

The department offers assistance on planning picnics, parties or clubs and gives advice on landscaping, the care of lawns and control of insects.

Mrs. Ossie Gates announced final plans for an annual Boss Night Dinner to be held at Oakland Hills Country Club on May 18. Guest speaker for the evening will be Barbara Hall Watt. Mrs. Earl Holliday is assisting Mrs. Gates with reservations.

Lillian Laska was presented with a diamond and pearl past president's pin.

A motion was made to send a donation to the Adrian School for Girls. Mrs. Edward Wynne was appointed captain to represent ABWA in the project being sponsored by Pontiac Federation of Women's Club.

Special guest of the evening was Mrs. Julia Jenson of Chicago.

Mrs. Vince Greeson (left) of Birmingham, a member of the Dental auxiliary chats with Mrs. John Manikoff also of Birmingham, a member of the Jury Club.

Decorating Consultant Is Speaker

Bruce B. Bradshaw, a Detroit decorating consultant discussed attractive rooms and how they come about with members of the Women's Auxiliary to the Oakland County Medical Society, the Jury Club and the Women's Auxiliary to the Oakland County Dental Society Wednesday.

The luncheon program sponsored by the Medical auxiliary was held at Rotunda Inn.

The speaker said attractive rooms just don't happen, but rather they are achieved through planning and better understanding.

He explained how to get the best results in furniture arranging, worked out attractive color schemes and gave concrete examples of how and where to use various fabrics in decorating.

Mrs. John Marra and Mrs. Vincent Russell arranged the beautifully decorated speaker's table. President Mrs. N. E. Durocher welcomed the guests and Mrs. John Whitehouse, program chairman, introduced the speaker.

Dames of Malta Hold Installation

Mrs. William Dougherty was installed Wednesday evening as Queen Esther of Corinne Sisterhood No. 184, Dames of Malta.

Assisted by women from Teecheema, Harmony and Loyalty sisterhoods from Detroit, Mrs. Grace Combs and her installing staff inducted the officers.

Mrs. James Schramm was installed as Ruth; Mrs. George Kayga, Naomi; and Mrs. William Vandecar, past proctor.

Others were: Mrs. Elmer Beardsley and Mrs. Richard Lang, keeper and assistant keeper of archives; Mrs. Earl Brobst and Mrs. Margaret Ballard, herald and deputy herald; Mrs. Christian Theis and Mrs. Steve Sapelak, first and second color bearers; and Mrs. Hoyt Higgins and Mrs. Elsie Bailey, first and second messengers.

Still more were Mrs. Florence Carter and Mrs. Marian Chandler, first and second guards; and Mrs. Don Bussard, pianist.

The new Queen Esther presented gifts to the installing staff, while gifts for retiring officers were given by Mrs. Vandecar. Soloists for the affair included Mrs. Alvina Chappel of Detroit, and Corinne Vanwert, accompanied by Ruth Ann Vanwert.

Pouring during the social and refreshment period which followed for the group and their friends and relatives were Mrs. Earl Beason and Mrs. Alan Vanderpool.

Women Should Begin Over Again

By MARY MARGARET McBRIDE

The other day I flew from New York to Kansas City resolved that this time I would make a real speech, with a defined beginning, middle and climax. I've done plenty of talking in my life, but never, never have I been able to hold myself to a formal speech.

This time to make sure, I sat down and I wrote out 13 beautiful, clean pages, full, if I do say it and shouldn't, of meaty, provocative material.

But, as usual, more interesting things came up (for instance, a woman said to me the morning of the speech: "I think every woman should be allowed to have one baby with no questions asked") and I never got around to using my beautiful words.

However, so that my effort won't be entirely wasted, I'm going to set down briefly the line of thinking I intended to follow. It sprang from the remark of a gentleman I know who is making a survey of women in the world of affairs.

"American men," he told me, "think women are nothing much in the business and professional world."

I was horrified and angry at first for, remember, I came to New York in the days of the feminists, those embattled women who got us the vote and mostly believed that you had to talk, act, even dress as much like a man as possible. But though I'm still shocked at such a brutal pronouncement, on thinking it over I wonder if it could be that maybe we women somewhere got off on the wrong track.

Writer Russell Lynes once observed about a woman secretary, "The trouble with her was, she didn't know where she wanted to go, and she was determined to get there in a hurry."

I am wondering where the fiercely competitive feminists thought they were going in such a hurry. Certainly they were right in wanting to remove cruel inequalities and injustices. But in their zeal to balance things, did they, perhaps, take a wrong turning at some point?

The one obvious fact we women haven't faced up to, it seems to me, is that we ARE different from men and that, just as men have limitations, so do we, but of a different kind. Yet, within the social structure of our democracy we women refuse to face these limitations.

If there's one generality that you can apply to Americans, men and women, it is that we refuse to treat any limitation — sex or speed — as anything but a challenge to be met and conquered.

The only solution, to my way of thinking, to the woman problem if there still is one, is that we should start again with freedom from inequalities but new points of view and develop as women. That was what my speech, if I'd made it, would have tried to say. What do YOU think?

If you have a small attic room that's going to waste because it hasn't a window or any pretty furnishings, "open it out" by using a semi-scenic wallpaper such as the one you see here. Note how the designs are widely spaced on a white background to give the illusion of space. The bright green trees and foliage, the lightly sketched bridges in black and gold leading to a courtly silvery-white building all give the feeling of unlimited space in a free outdoor world.

IF no longer young—

Avoid floppy hats. Flatter your face with lifted plus tilted beret lines. Supple fabric or straw, becoming color too.

Mrs. L. Y.—Upturned brims are important to give the feeling of lifting the face lines, lifted partly at front particularly. The mature woman, to be truly elegant, should wear hats to enhance her costume and flatter her face.

Try These Eggs on Easter

How would you like to make some candy eggs for your family for Easter? They will look good enough to eat—in fact, that's just what you do.

Have you ever heard of old fashioned potato candy? It is a good way to use left over mashed potatoes. Here is the recipe: Mix 2 tablespoons of mashed potatoes; 1¼ cups of powdered sugar; a pinch of salt; and three drops of vanilla extract.

This will give you a mixture just right to work into any shape. Put a little of the powdered sugar on your hands and roll a bit of the candy into an egg shape.

You can now leave it like this and add a jelly bean to the top, or roll it in cinnamon or coconut. Use red hots and chocolate bits for decoration. You'll like this!

Colored eggs can be made by adding coloring in place of vanilla.

Visitor Irked When Guest 'Drops' In

Hostess Is Given Good Suggestion for Situation

By EMILY POST

A woman writes me: "I would like your opinion on a situation we encountered the other evening. My husband and I were invited to the house of friends for an evening of cards.

"In the middle of our game another couple dropped in. They had not been invited. As six people could not play the game, the hostess suggested that we stop playing entirely.

"I was very much disappointed. As we had been invited specially to play cards, wasn't it the hosts' obligation to show us first consideration? Shouldn't the friends who just dropped in, upon seeing that we were in the midst of a card game, have gone on their way?

"Since they did not do this, would it have been rude for us to have continued playing?"

Your hostess might have said to the unexpected couple, "Oh I'm so sorry but I have invited the Smiths for an evening of bridge and I can't ask them to stop. Would you like to sit and watch the game, and join us in having refreshments later or would you rather come in tomorrow or some other evening?"

Dear Mrs. Post: Two years ago a friend of mine was divorced and after living apart discovered that it was a mistake and are to be remarried next month. She is going to be married quietly but intends to ask friends and relatives to the house afterwards to celebrate their reunion. Several friends and myself have been wondering whether we should take presents.

Answer: No presents will be expected.

Dear Mrs. Post: When a stranger (to me) joins a group of people with whom I happen to be standing and no one in the group makes a move to introduce us, do I introduce myself to the stranger or do I ask someone in the group to introduce us?

Answer: Neither. If you should have something to say to the stranger you would say it to him as if he had been introduced, and later if you wish to know who he is you can ask one of the group.

Pleasant Hobby Develops Into Full-Time Business

By ANNE HEYWOOD

A great many people planning for retirement think of engaging in carpentry and woodworking.

If woodworking is contemplated just as a hobby, a little woodworking shop in the basement, that's fine.

If you contemplate a bread-and-butter hobby, if making some money is a factor in your retirement project, you'll have to change your thinking and become a specialist in some phase or other of woodworking.

Take, for example, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. He has always enjoyed puttering around his basement workshop. When he retired, he and his wife had a long financial session.

They realized they would have to bring in at least $20 every month. This they could not do by just taking on occasional furniture repair jobs.

"We got very upset, working on that budget," Mrs. L. W. told me. "When we finished it, I decided to relax and get my mind off my flower boxes.

"We live in the city, and my husband had made me charming window boxes for all our windows. I grow herbs and flowers, even a couple of tomato plants! I love it, and it always relaxes me so.

"Well, Len came in just then, and all of a sudden he got an idea.

"He said he thought we ought to go in the window-box business—he making them and installing them, I planting them and instructing people and so forth. We both got quite excited, and decided to try.

"It took a lot of doing, but we did begin right away in a small way. We put an ad in the paper. Of course, our own window boxes are so lovely they were a good advertisement, too.

"Now we work half a day, every day, and clear about $30 profit a month. We make window boxes for all kinds of windows.

"Len has experimented and come up with some charming ones. I advise the purchasers on types of soil, and what kinds of things to grow in different exposures.

"Our customers are contented, and we're really getting to be experts in window boxes!"

Mildew Stains Hard to Remove

It's easier to prevent mildew than remove its stains, beside being easier on the fabric! No magic formula has yet been devised for removal of the greyish stains caused by the mildew parasite that feeds on warm, damp fabrics.

Since damage usually results from even scientific efforts to remove mildew stains, they advise homemakers to store clean fabrics away dry. That "dry" advice applies, too, to soiled items tossed into the laundry bag in warm weather.

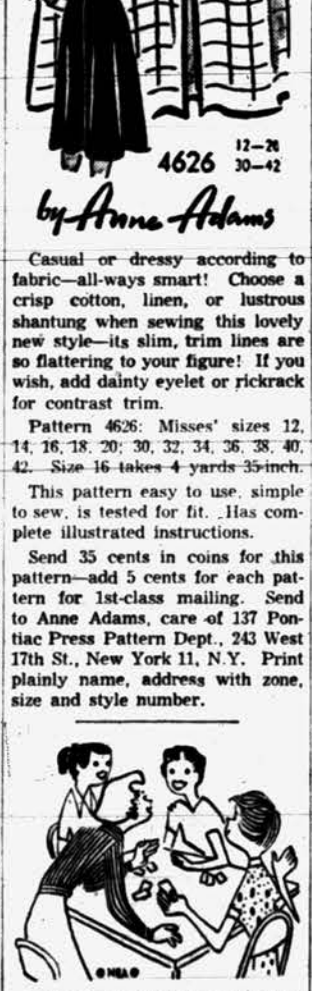

Youngsters Know Value of Dollar

A great many youngsters apparently get to know the value of a dollar bill long before they are through with their schooling.

Just a few months back, when the study was made, one out of five students in high school—14 to 17-year-olds—either had a job, or was actively looking for one. More than half of these ambitious students were boys.

There were very few full-time worker in this age group, probably only one in 10, and most of those jobs were temporary, according to the report. On an average, the youngsters spent about 17 hours a week at work.

For the most part they worked as salespeople in households or on farms; or they delivered newspapers or had other service jobs.

If the host and hostess get tired of playing bridge before the guests who make up the foursome, there is always one way the hostess can bring the game to a close without seeming rude. She can suggest stopping to have a bite to eat.

Given a choice between cards and food even the most avid bridge players will usually choose food.

Cut Out the Rough Stuff Advisor Tells Teenager

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

"Dear Miss Woodward: Every time I get stubborn my boy friend takes it for a while, then he spanks me! (Hard too.) He says it's the only way to make me stop.

"My other boy friends couldn't do anything about it, but this one thinks he can. I keep telling him I'm too old to spank (I'm 17) but he insists that I'm spoiled and that his treatment is just what the doctor ordered.

"I can't talk him out of it. do you suggest that I do?"

A very undignified business, this. You, flailing arms and legs, draped across the knees of one very actively thwacking boy friend.

You claim you don't like his treatment. But you know why he administers it. Every time you brace your feet, stand pat and rigid, and refuse to compromise or let anyone else have a say, you get it.

To date he hasn't been able to talk you out of your stubbornness. To date you haven't been able to talk him out of the spankings.

It's high time you cut the rough stuff. And being easier to get along with is the first step. You know when you're too huffy to bear. Your boy friend has been reminding you. Couldn't you tell him that you're eager to change and you appreciate his reminder, but you'd like it changed.

Figure out a password that would cue you. The minute he says that word, stop dead in your tracks and relax. Let that password be a warning to you. Then if you don't stop being stubborn you'll have brought the punishment on yourself.

"Dear Miss Woodward: My girl friend and I met two nice boys at the rink, and we were quite interested in them but disappointed to learn that they were going steady with other girls. Recently they broke off with them and asked to date us.

"They're nice, our parents approve, so we accepted. But those two girls are so mad at us! They seem to go out of their way to bump into us in the halls or on the street, and have even told us that they would "beat us to a pulp" if they got a chance.

"They've been known to do that before, so we're in danger. What should we do?"

How 'bout a bodyguard in the form of your two boy friends—or some other girls? Suddenly become part of a crowd that's inseparable, and don't be caught unawares alone. Be polite, but indifferent to those two girls. Ignore them.

Avoid a fight at all costs. Their mad will fade—particularly if they find two other boys to go with.

Save Card if Buying Appliance

By HUBBARD COBB

How often, when you buy a new appliance such as a toaster, washing machine, furnace or similar appliance do you bother with that little card that comes with the appliance and which asks that you fill it out and send it back to the manufacturer.

Chances are that if you are like a lot of people you just toss it into the wastepaper basket and forget about it.

This is a shame because most products are guaranteed for a certain period of time against breakdown of parts, workmanship or both.

With many products, if something goes wrong before the end of the guarantee period, you simply have to send it back to the manufacturer or to the nearest service branch and they'll put it in order at no or little charge to you.

But to protect themselves, the manufacturer must have on record the date of the sale of the item and its serial number. If they don't have this information they'd be sticking out their necks as far as servicing goes.

So they enclose a little card with their product which you are supposed to fill out and send to them to make the guarantee effective.

But most of us don't send the little card and probably don't even read about the guarantee. When something goes wrong with the appliance we send it to a local repair shop which makes the repairs and sends us a bill.

We get mad at the bill and say: "Why, we've only had this fool thing two years! It must be a no-good product and we'll never buy another like it again!" This makes the manufacturer sad.

So, the next time you buy a product, look for a guarantee and send in the card. It will save you money and it will make the manufacturer feel that you appreciate what he is trying to do.

Get at Spots Immediately

Spring thaws and dirty water on sidewalks and streets that result from them easily cause spots on trouser legs and long skirts. Take care of them right away.

If spots are allowed to "set" they may permanently stain. Tackle them by brushing off the loose soil, then gently spot the stain with soap and water.

Above all, never press the spotted garment, for the heat of the iron will make the stain permanent. Do what you can to remove the spots, then send the garment to your laundry.

Modern Tots Play Games Enjoyed in Centuries Past

WASHINGTON—Today's American boy in a space helmet and blue jeans plays many of the simple street games that delighted a togaed lad in ancient Rome.

Youths of long ago shot marbles. Their sisters played jackstones and a form of hopscotch. The picture of a boy with a hoop appears on a Grecian vase made 2,500 years ago. Homer, Vergil and Ovid refer to balls and dolls.

Street games are similar all over the world, the National Geographic Society says. Tag, hide-and-seek and blindman's buff are as universal as child's play.

The Flemish artist Pieter Breughel depicted more than 150 different diversions in his painting, "Children's Games." The setting was Flanders, 1560, but it could well be any American playground in 1955.

Breughel's youngsters are playing leapfrog, follow-the-leader, crack-the-whip, guess-which-hand, marbles and other familiar games. Various children are scuffling, climbing and performing acrobatics on parallel bars. One boy is walking on stilts, and another is riding a stick horse.

Children's play is a joyful and innocent outpouring of energy, but some traditional games sprang from grim origins. Singing games, in particular, reflect old customs and superstitions.

A striking example is "London Bridge," the game in which two children lock hands overhead and trap players in their suddenly lowered arms. The ritual suggests a primitive superstition that bridge-building angered river spirits and only a human sacrifice would appease them.

English references to "London Bridge" first appeared in the 17th Century, but the widespread game has earlier continental parallels. An old record indicates it was played by Florentine children in the 14th Century.

Tag represents flight from an evil spirit, against whose influence a special word, action or home base provides protection.

"Counting out" games are passed from generation to generation. Almost every American child has chanted "Eena, meena, mina, mo," and the equivalent is found in several languages. This type of game is believed to preserve the remnants of formulas used by Druids for choosing human sacrifices.

"Here We Go Round the Mulberry Bush" stems from the practice of celebrating May Day or spring's arrival by gathering flowers and marching in processions. Courtship and marriage customs are manifest in such games as "Farmer in the Dell."

Monkey on Rooftops Plays Hob With TV

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UP) — Residents of the Carmichael area of suburban Sacramento once again are able to watch television in the evenings without interruptions from an intruder who scrambled from rooftop to rooftop.

The intruder, a small, cream-colored monkey, was captured by the county poundmaster, Ray Root, but only after the animal had eluded pursuers and caused general consternation in the area for about three weeks.

The monkey, which escaped from his owner one day after arriving here from Texas, often perched on TV aerials, interrupting programs. The poundmaster, sheriff's officers, and California highway patrolmen were called at intervals, but the monkey always made its escape into nearby treetops.

Despite the inconvenience it caused, the monkey attracted many animal lovers, and Root said nearly a hundred persons had asked for the tiny simian before its owner came to claim his pet.

'Lucky' Should Be Man's Nickname

JAMESTOWN, N. Y. (UP)—Fred W. Austin, of nearby Frewsburg, considers himself a fortunate young man.

He was riding alone in his car recently when it left the highway, bowled over a high tension pole, four mail boxes and a sign, demolishing the vehicle.

Police said the high tension wires, carrying 2,300 volts, coiled around the car and a thick plank rammed through the windshield on the driver's side. But Austin walked away with only two small cuts.

Thief Loses Cop's Teeth

HARTFORD, Conn. (UP) —State Police Major George Remer was pleased when officers caught the thief who swiped his raincoat. But his elation turned sour when he reached into the pocket of the coat and failed to find the false teeth he had left there. The thief couldn't remember what he did with them.

Rubber Fence Posts Are Boon to Drivers

CUYAHOGA FALLS, O. (UP)—Rubber fence posts for motorists with wooden heads have given a good account of themselves at an experimental point here for the past year.

Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. made hollow rubber posts for the beginning of a traffic island where Broad Boulevard becomes a divided highway. The old-type steel posts had taken a heavy toll of drivers who couldn't get out of the center of the street fast enough.

Now the errant autos just bang into the rubber posts, bend them over and come to a rough stop. The biggest damage bill recorded during the year was $10.

Of course it plays hob with statistics. No one now knows how many wobbly drivers smack into the posts and then back off, full of admiration for the strength of their bumpers. It used to be easy to keep track of them. The police tow truck had to tear them loose.

Malay mined 60,691 long tons of tin in 1954.

Jet Age Limits Use of Land Near Fields

CHICAGO (UP) — The jet age will make land near airports too noisy for most uses, according to the American Society of Planning Officials.

"It will be too noisy for sleeping, too noisy for normal conversation, too noisy for work in non-sound-proofed buildings, and too noisy for some kinds of out-of-door work," the society said in a report.

"City and county governments, airport operators, airline officials, the aircraft industries and other groups concerned will have to come to recognition of this fact before any real solutions can be achieved."

The report noted that a number of aviation authorities believe that there is an "inherent alliance between engine power and noise," it is doubtful that the jet noise problem can be solved soon.

Crash Awakens Angel

WINDHAM, Conn. (UP) — Authorities reported that while Leo A. Racine was fleeing the scene of an accident he drove through a bedroom wall and awakened Ernest Angel — a state policeman.

The average annual income per person in India is $54 a year.

Coloring Eggs Delights Children

Boys and Mom Help the Rabbit

Mrs. Putnam Will Use Leftover Easter Eggs in Scalloped Casserole

It wouldn't be Easter without colored eggs. In some families the children do not see the eggs until they find them on Easter morning. But in many families like the George Putnam's, the children help with the decorating.

Brooks and Tommy Putnam don't go to school yet. They got a head start on this Easter egg business early this week when we went to take their picture. Each one had an egg with his name on it, and they were making more for big sister Susan and big brother Roger.

After the children have eaten their fill of hard cooked eggs, Mrs. Putnam will fix a casserole dish for dinner. She'll use six of the Easter eggs and a cup of ham left over from their Easter dinner.

Perhaps you will like to try Mrs. Putnam's one-dish meal.

SCALLOPED CASSEROLE
By Mrs. George Putnam

3 tablespoons butter
¼ cup flour
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup melted butter or margarine
2 cups milk
1 cup dry bread crumbs
6 hard cooked eggs, sliced crosswise
1 cup cubed cooked ham
½ cup sliced mushrooms

Make white sauce of 3 tablespoons of butter or margarine, flour, salt; add milk. Moisten crumbs with remaining butter. Alternate layers of crumbs, eggs, ham and mushrooms in a greased casserole. Pour white sauce over the top. Sprinkle with more crumbs. Bake in a 350-degree oven for 25 minutes. Serves 6.

Pontiac Press Photo

EASTER MAGIC — The wonder in a child's eyes is ample payment for any extra work a mother does. Five year old Brooks and two and a half year old Tommy are fascinated by the eggs their mother, Mrs. George Putnam, is decorating. The Putnam family lives on West Iroquois road.

Blend Giblets, Eggs in Sandwich Spread

Save chicken giblets in your freezer, then use this way.

Giblet and Egg Sandwiches

½ cup finely ground cooked chicken giblets and neck meat
2 hard-cooked eggs (riced or mashed)
¼ cup commercially prepared mayonnaise-type sandwich relish spread
¼ teaspoon salt
Pepper

Mix ground chicken, mashed eggs, sandwich spread, salt and pepper to taste. Makes 1¼ cups. Use as spread for sandwiches.

The gizzards, hearts and necks from three frying chickens will make the amount of meat called for after they have been cooked in seasoned water and put through food chopper.

When you are stewing or steaming chicken, remember that it takes chicken pieces about as long as a whole bird to cook.

Add Chives to Potatoes

If you have a pot of chives growing on your window sill, or can get some from your vegetable market, mince some of them and add them to mashed potatoes. They're delicious, too, sprinkled over bowls of creamy clam chowder.

The United States had 32 million motor vehicles in 1940 compared to 58 million today.

Serve Baked Noodles

Pour thin white sauce over cooked drained egg noodles; sprinkle well with grated cheese and bake in a moderate or hot oven until heated through and browned. This dish makes good eating for lunch with crisp bacon and a salad.

Serve Prune Whip With Soft Custard

Here's one of the best of prune whip recipes!

Prune Whip

2 egg whites
Dash of salt
¼ cup sugar
1 jar (8 ounces) junior-food prunes
½ cup heavy cream

Beat egg whites and salt until peaks that curl over slightly are formed; gradually and thoroughly beat in sugar.

Without washing beater, beat cream until stiff. Fold prunes into beaten egg whites; fold in cream. Turn into sherbet glasses. Chill until serving time. Makes six servings.

Serve with soft custard sauce made by beating two egg yolks remaining from Prune Whip with 1 cup milk enough to combine; add 1 tablespoon sugar and a dash of salt and cook and stir constantly over hot (not boiling) water until sauce coats a silver spoon.

Cool, stirring often and adding one-fourth teaspoon vanilla.

Add Zip to Salmon Loaf

To give extra flavor to a salmon loaf, add a half cup of coarsely chopped dill pickle and a teaspoon of grated onion to the salmon mixture. Serve with a thin white sauce to which dried crushed dill leaf has been added.

Perfect Parfait Features Coffee

Practice makes perfect, they say, whether you're making a cup of coffee or a parfait.

And once you learn the simple recipe for this Coffee Jelly Parfait, you'll practice it often, we guarantee. With coffee and cream cold in the glass, and steaming coffee and cream in the cup, there'll be perfect harmony all around.

Coffee Jelly Parfait

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
2¼ cups strong coffee
1-3 cup sugar
1 tablespoon brandy flavoring
1 cup whipping cream
½ cup canned chopped buttered almonds

Soften gelatin in one-fourth cup of the cold coffee. Heat remaining coffee to boiling point. Add softened gelatin and sugar: stir until gelatin dissolves. Add flavoring.

Pour into jelly roll pan or any shallow pan, to a depth of about one-half-inch. Chill until firm. Cut into one-half-inch cubes.

Whip cream and sweeten to taste. Arrange alternating layers of coffee jelly cubes, whipped cream and almonds in tall dessert glasses. Makes six servings.

Vegetable plate: Glazed carrots, creamed spinach, baked potatoes, broccoli. This makes a delicious combination.

POPCORN EASTER BUNNY — What child wouldn't be delighted with this Easter bunny? He's good to eat too — for he is made with popcorn. Use him as a centerpiece, surrounded by nests of popcorn eggs. You may color the "eggs" if you like.

Easter Bunny of Popcorn Presides at Holiday Table

Delight the children this Easter season by making them a snowy, white popcorn bunny. In fact, the kiddies can even help in making this appealing little fellow.

Perhaps you're planning a party for them, and if so, why not use the cute popcorn bunny for the table centerpiece and make a little individual nest and popcorn egg as a favor for each child?

As attractive and unusual as this Easter bunny is, he's very easy to make. You start by popping up several quarts of popcorn. And, to assure complete success, get a good variety of popcorn.

Popcorn Easter Bunny

For a 10-inch rabbit, triple the following recipe.

1 cup sugar
1-3 cup white corn syrup
1-3 cup water
¼ cup butter
¾ teaspoon salt
¾ teaspoon vanilla
3 quarts of popped corn

Put sugar, corn syrup, water, butter and salt in a sauce pan and cook until sugar is dissolved. Continue cooking without stirring until syrup forms a brittle ball in cold water (265 degrees). Add vanilla and stir only enough to mix it through hot syrup.

Place popcorn in large mixing bowl and pour cooked syrup slowly over popped corn, mixing well to coat every kernel. While mixture is still warm, wet hands slightly and form a large popcorn ball for the body of the bunny.

Then make a small ball for the forequarters and a third ball for the head. The ears are formed separately . . . pressing into shape with hands and fingers.

Two raisins make the eyes and the mouth is a maraschino cherry. Form small popcorn eggs, and place them in little grass nests of shredded green paper!

In working with this popcorn mixture, if it becomes too stiff and brittle before you have finished, it can be softened quickly and easily by warming in the oven.

Canned Ham Delicious When Sliced, Glazed

Did you ever try the popular chefs' trick of slicing and then glazing a canned ham?

Take the well-chilled ham from the refrigerator, open the can and slice the ham one-quarter-inch thick. Carefully press all the slices together until the ham is in its former shape, then wrap string around and around the sides of the ham to hold the slices in place.

Spread the ham with any desired glaze and heat and glaze in a 325-degree oven. For a 6-pound ham this will require about 1¼ hours; for a 10-pound ham about two hours. Cut the strings and the ham is all sliced and ready to serve!

French-Toasting Adds Flavor to Sandwiches

Ever French-toast cheese sandwiches? Make the sandwiches first, using slices of cheddar cheese, prepared mustard and white bread. For three sandwiches, beat an egg with a quarter cup of milk and a dash of salt. Dip the sandwiches in the egg-and-milk mixture. Brown the sandwiches in hot butter or margarine.

Any leftover cooked noodles in the refrigerator? Add them to a puffy omelet.

Oven-Fry Fish Fillets Until Golden, Tender

You can oven-fry fish fillets. Dip the fillets, cut in serving-size pieces, in milk, then in flour; now dip in a mixture of slightly beaten egg, water and salt and crumbs. Place prepared fillets in buttered baking dish; dot well with butter and bake in a very hot (500 degrees) oven about 10 minutes or until cooked through and browned.

Eggs, meat or fish help to bring up the protein content and protein value of a cereal main dish.

What About Those Eggs After That Bunny Goes?

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Can you guess what food will be in greatest abundance in the Pontiac area during the next few days? Hard cooked eggs! With the Easter Bunny working overtime to provide the small fry with brightly colored eggs, the supply is going to be something to cope with. For instance, what are you going to do about it? And you?

We were mulling over this problem recently, wondering how we could help you solve it. There are always creamed eggs, of course, but you can eat only a limited number of them. We then turned our attention to recipes for stuffed or deviled eggs.

Stuffed eggs can be served in a number of ways. The children at our house like them in their lunch boxes. They add a bright spot of color to a relish tray. They also may be creamed if you like.

Going through about a dozen cookbooks we found some different ways of stuffing eggs. Here they are.

Parisey, mayonnaise and crisp bits of bacon is one filling; that could grace a breakfast plate. Finely ground chicken, or chopped sauteed chicken livers give stuffed eggs a new interest and are a means of using up just a bit of chicken. Another warm stuffing is chopped mushrooms, chopped onions and parsley browned in butter before filling the whites.

Individuals who are not supposed to have egg yolks will be pleased with hard cooked egg whites filled with cabbage salad.

The following recipe comes from the Pope school of cooking in Chicago:

Deviled Stuffed Eggs

After eggs have been hard cooked, shell 8 eggs and cut in halves lengthwise. Remove yolks. Pick out the most attractive whites. Put all of yolks and rest of whites through food mill or strainer.

- ¾ cup soft cream cheese
- 2 tablespoons mayonnaise
- 1 teaspoon vinegar
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon garlic salt
- 1 teaspoon prepared horseradish
- ⅛ teaspoon dry mustard

Mix above ingredients with mashed egg. Blend well; if mixture is very stiff, add a little more vinegar or lemon juice. Fill egg whites.

If you would like to serve stuffed eggs as a salad course, you might try this aspic recipe.

Stuffed Eggs in Aspic

- 2 cans consomme
- 6 hard cooked eggs
- Finely cut chives
- 2 pimientoes
- 2 ounces deviled ham
- 12 stuffed olives
- 2 tablespoons cream

Heat consomme slightly and pour a little of it into the bottom of the molds and set them in the refrigerator. Shell and halve eggs. Take out yolks and mix with ham and chives. Moisten with the cream—or mayonnaise, if preferred. Fill egg whites with this mixture. Keep what is left for sandwich filling.

Put halves of eggs together again and wrap a thin strip of pimento around them to conceal the cut place. Put a slice of stuffed olive at the bottom of the mold in the consomme, the egg on it and the rest of the sliced olives around it. Pour the rest of the consomme over the eggs to cover. Unmold on a plate with green salad. Russian Dressing is good with this salad.

This final recipe isn't for stuffed eggs, but it seems like such a good suggestion for hard cooked eggs that we can't resist giving to you.

Pressed Eggs

- 6 hard cooked eggs
- 1 green onion
- ½ seeded green pepper
- 2 tablespoons stock
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 1 tablespoon prepared mustard
- 1½ cups chopped ham

Chop fine the hard cooked eggs, onion and green pepper. Mix together with salt and mustard. Place half of the mixture in a small, greased loaf pan, press down, then add a layer of ham. Finish with the egg mixture. Pour on the stock to help bind it together and press down well. Keep in the refrigerator until molded well enough to slice. Serve in place of cold meat or use as a sandwich filling. Serves six.

Green Beans Fill Skillet Meat Ring

Try this tricky way of preparing a meat ring!

Skillet Meat Ring

- 1 pound ground chuck beef
- ½ pound ground pork
- ½ cup finely chopped onion
- ½ cup finely chopped celery
- ¼ cup finely chopped green pepper
- 2 teaspoons salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- 2 eggs (slightly beaten)
- ½ cup tomato juice
- ¾ cup uncooked quick rolled oats
- 1 can (1 pound 4 ounces) green beans

Mix together thoroughly all ingredients except green beans. Pack into greased 9-inch skillet with heat-resistant handle, leaving a 3½-inch hole in center to form a ring.

Invert a small round baking dish in center to keep meat ring in shape. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven about 45 minutes. Remove from oven; take dish out of center.

Fill center with green beans that have been heated and drained. Serve in skillet. Makes six servings.

Don't Soak Prunes

Tenderized packaged prunes do not need to be soaked before cooking. Just wash the prunes, cover with water and simmer until tender. Be sure to add a few slices of lemon to the prunes while you are simmering them for fine flavor.

Cut an avocado in half either lengthwise or crosswise, twist and then remove seed before peeling. If you peel the avocado whole before removing the seed, you'll find the outside of the fruit is likely to look messy.

HAM FOR EASTER—Ham is as decorative as it is delicious. Every cook has her favorite way of glazing ham, but new ideas are usually welcome. The shiny coating shown here is made from old fashioned brown sugar, crushed pineapple and powdered cloves. Pineapple slices garnish the platter, along with watercress.

Traditional Easter Ham Calls for Glazing Recipes

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

If you need any reason for buying ham for Easter other than it's traditional, you can assure yourself that it will cost you less money this year.

The 1955 movement of hogs to market has continued longer than usual, says one authority, and April will see a Pork and Pork Products campaign. Ham is definitely the buy of the month.

The Easter ham is as traditional as the Easter bonnet—but the ham custom is older. Ancient people celebrated the coming of spring by feasting on ham that had been cured in salt water. When they slaughtered their pigs in the fall, they buried the hind legs in sand on the beach, then dug them up in the spring. Present day methods are quicker and less complicated.

There's a new look in hams nowadays. In response to the demand for more meat and less fat, breeders are producing "meat type" hogs. We homemakers can get practically any kind of food we demand.

Going a step farther, some packers remove skin, excess fat and the shank from the ham, coming up with a smooth, almost-round ham. Whether you will choose this kind or one of the traditional hams is your personal choice.

Glazing the ham merely adds a tasty decoration to an otherwise perfect meat. We're giving you a choice of several glazes to use on your Easter ham.

Always read cooking directions on the wrapper or tag attached to the ham you purchase. If none are available, as in the case of a half ham, bake an uncooked ham 22 minutes per pound in a 325-degree oven. For the last 15 to 30 minutes of baking, remove the skin (if it has not been removed by the packer) and score the fat into diamond shapes with a sharp knife. Cut evenly, only ¼ inch deep. Then cover with the desired glaze.

Molasses makes an unusual and different glaze for ham.

¼ cup unsulphured molasses
¼ cup prepared mustard
¼ teaspoon Tobasco sauce

Combine all ingredients. Brush over scored ham last hour of baking time. This recipe makes ½ cup, enough to glaze half a ham. Increase recipe for whole ham.

A ready-to-eat ham needs 10 minutes for each pound in a 325-degree oven. Fifteen minutes before removing from the oven glaze with the following:

Orange-Pineapple Sauce

1 cup caramel syrup
1 can frozen orange juice, undiluted
1 can frozen pineapple juice, undiluted
1 tablespoon lemon juice

To make caramel syrup, place 1 cup sugar in heavy skillet. Place over low heat until sugar melts and turns golden brown, shaking pan frequently. Remove from heat. Slowly add 1 cup boiling water, stirring constantly. Return to heat and stir until all sugar is dissolved. Allow to simmer 10 minutes until syrupy consistency is formed. Cool. Blend with remaining ingredients. Makes 2 cups sauce.

1 cup dark brown sugar, firmly packed
¾ cup crushed pineapple, drained
½ teaspoon powdered cloves
3 tablespoons pineapple juice

Blend all ingredients, and spread over ham during last 15-20 minutes of baking.

I still think that my grandmother's use of plain gingerale for basting a baked ham made a delicious meat. Other simple glazes are honey spread with a pastry brush; orange marmalade or apricot jam spread with a spatula; or for a hot-sweet glaze, Bahamian mustard spread thinly over fat, covered by a good layer of brown sugar.

Ask President to Attend Reserve Officers Confab

WASHINGTON (INS) — President Eisenhower was invited today to attend the national convention of the Reserve Officers Association in Boston June 22-25.

The invitation was extended by a delegation headed by Sen. Strom Thurmond (D-SC), who is president of the association.

DELICIOUS FOR DINNER
frozen Downyflake 1-minute WAFFLES

Apples Flavor Green Beans

Vegetables too often are treated as "stepchildren" of the foods family. They do get credit for being "good for you," but too often the taste appeal of vegetable dishes does not get its due.

Dress up your vegetable dishes so they have their share of eye and taste appeal, as well as bounteous nutrition values.

This recipe for green beans with apple is a good place to start.

Green Beans With Apple

1 pound snap beans, or
2 packages frozen cut green beans
3 tablespoons margarine
2 apples, cored and diced
1 cup light cream or top milk
½ teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper
Dash of mace

Cut fresh beans into 1-inch lengths and cook in three-fourths cup boiling water with 1 teaspoon salt until just tender, about 15 minutes.

If frozen beans are used, follow cooking directions on box. Be careful not to overcook.

While beans cook, melt margarine in skillet. Add diced apples and fry gently about five minutes, until just tender but not soft. (If apples have tender skins, do not pare.)

Add cream or top milk, salt, pepper and mace. Drain beans. Fold into apple mixture and heat thoroughly. This is good with chicken or ham.

Protect Thermometer

If you want your cooking thermometer to last, place it in your deep fat while it's heating. Never plunge the cold thermometer into the hot fat!

Lemon Carrot Slaw Pairs With Burgers

This carrot slaw is a tasty partner for hamburgers.

Lemon Carrot Slaw

2 cups grated carrot (use medium grater and pack down firmly in cup when measuring)
6 tablespoons mayonnaise
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 teaspoons light brown sugar
½ teaspoon (scant) salt, salad greens

Mix grated carrot, mayonnaise, lemon rind, lemon juice, brown sugar and salt. Cover and chill for at least one-half hour before serving to blend flavors.

Serve on salad greens, mounding slaw and topping with a garnish of green pepper strips, parsley sprigs or sliced green olives. Makes three to four servings.

Note: This slaw keeps well if it is refrigerated overnight.

Sprinkle Salt on Board to Ease Dough Removal

Would you like to know an easy way to unstick those bits of dough left on the board after you've kneaded bread, shaped biscuits or cut out cookies?

According to a current magazine, all you do is sprinkle the board liberally with salt, then rub with a damp dishcloth or sponge. The salt cuts right through the sticky dough and makes the board a cinch to wash.

Shrimp, Grapefruit Make Tangy Salad

Seafood and grapefruit make a refreshing salad.

Shrimp and Grapefruit Salad

1 pound shrimp (cooked and cleaned)
3 grapefruit
Watercress or other salad greens
Paprika
French or Thousand Island dressing

Cut shrimp in half lengthwise if they are medium-sized or large; leave whole if small. Peel grapefruit so no white membrane remains; cut sections away from dividing membranes.

Arrange shrimp and grapefruit sections on salad greens. Sprinkle with paprika. Serve with salad dressing. Makes 4 servings.

MINCEMEAT COFFEE RING — The luscious coffee ring shown here is as easy to make as it is good. Combine half-baked rolls and prepared mincemeat, bake, frost and there you are. It's a hot bread specialty ready for breakfast — lunch or dinner — in a twinkling.

Bake Mince Coffee Ring for Festive Easter Morn

Say "Happy Easter" at the breakfast table over a luscious, fruit-filled coffeering—made in just a few minutes with a 9-ounce package of condensed mincemeat and a package of half-baked rolls.

It's the easiest thing to make, and it tastes like a really high-class breakfast specialty that might be the masterpiece of a famous pastry cook.

But that's all it is—half-baked rolls and a package of condensed mincemeat, with a glaze of frosting dripped over it.

It will spark up any Saturday or Sunday breakfast or brunch and it will prove a sure success when served with a neighborly cup of tea or coffee any afternoon or evening.

Mincemeat Coffee Ring

1 package partly cooked rolls
1 9-ounce condensed package mincemeat
1 cup water
3 tablespoons sugar
1 cup sifted confectioners' sugar
2 tablespoons milk

Break one 9-ounce condensed package mincemeat into small pieces in a saucepan. Add water and 3 tablespoons sugar and bring to boil, breaking down lumps with a spoon. Boil briskly for two or three minutes, until mincemeat is almost dry. Cool.

Arrange rolls around edge of 9-inch layer cake pan, close together. Split open each roll almost to the bottom crust. Press mincemeat gently into opening and between rolls. Brown rolls in oven according to package directions.

Remove ring carefully from pan and cool for 10 minutes. Drip thin confectioners' sugar frosting over top of ring, letting it drip down sides and between rolls.

To make the frosting, stir the milk into sifted confectioners' sugar until right consistency is attained.

Hawaiian Bavarian Is Rich and Creamy

Here is a dreamy recipe for a pineapple dessert that is rich, creamy and oh, so good to eat.

Forget the calories for once and try this Hawaiian Bavarian Cream on your family. They'll thank you and you will want to serve it often later for company dinners.

Hawaiian Bavarian Cream

1 cup pineapple syrup (drained from crushed pineapple)
1 tablespoon unflavored gelatin, softened in
2 tablespoons cold water
2 tablespoons strained lemon juice
½ cup sugar
1⅛ cups drained crushed pineapple (No. 2 can)
¾ cup heavy cream, whipped

Heat pineapple syrup just to boiling point. Remove from heat and stir in softened gelatin. Add lemon juice and sugar. Chill until thickened and almost set.

Beat with rotary beater or electric mixer until light and fluffy. Fold in drained crushed pineapple and whipped cream.

Turn into a 1-quart mold and chill until firm. Eight servings.

Blend Fish, Potatoes

Add flaked cooked leftover fish and a slightly beaten egg to dry mashed potatoes. Season to taste.

Form into patties and roll in flour. Brown the fish-and-potato patties in hot butter or margarine and serve piping hot with a salad for a luncheon dish.

Eden's Mother Gentle, His Father Stern

LONDON (AP)—When young Anthony Eden first stepped out on the British political stage, soon after World War I, he impressed his associates by being such a contrast to his father.

Although capable of outbursts of temper at home or in his office, Anthony was unfailingly polite and urbane in company, on the public platform or in the House of Commons. His self-control was almost too complete.

* * *

This was not at all like his father Sir William Eden, seventh baronet of West Auckland, country gentleman, artist, amateur boxer, ardent hunter and gardener. Sir William is remembered as a man who could be magnificently angry.

* * *

Sir William was the master of Windlestone, a fine estate in Durham County. He inherited a substantial fortune.

Red-bearded, 6 feet tall, he is still remembered in the county as a sharp-tongued judge familiarly called "Seven and Six." The fine he habitually imposed for minor misdeeds was 7 shillings and sixpence, and no nonsense.

It is said Anthony tried deliberately—and with great success—to suppress the family temper in public. In his earlier days as foreign secretary, he was known to hurl a book across a room, or throw an unsatisfactory document at the head of a blundering junior. But it doesn't happen any more. The balanced mood has become his essential nature.

* * *

Eden was born at Windlestone June 12, 1897. His mother Lady Sybil Frances Grey Eden called him "the quiet one" of her sons, the baronetcy in the family passed on to his older brother Sir Timothy, who conducts a school in Hampshire.

* * *

Eden was reared in the solid and secure England of the century's early years, surrounded by the amenities of fine living—a stately home with a park for a front yard, pictures, Hepplewhite and Sheraton furniture and cultured society.

The fierce father with the red beard often lectured sternly but gave his sons every possible advantage. He went to Eton, and, after war service, completed his education at Christ Church, Oxford. The emphasis was on Oriental languages, and his scholarship was so brilliant that one of his Oxford tutors predicted, "He will be foreign secretary by the time he is 40." He made it at 38.

A gentle influence in his formative years was his mother. The late Lady Eden, Red Cross nurse in the first World War, was an understanding woman who knew how to shield her "quiet one" from the tempests stirred up by Sir William. To Anthony she was "dear little Mummie." As his political fortunes soared, she wrote of him:

AP Wirephoto

EDEN WAVES TO CROWD — Sir Anthony Eden smiles as he waves to crowd on arrival at the Foreign Office in London Wednesday after visiting Buckingham Palace to receive appointment as new prime minister from Queen Elizabeth II. He succeeds his longtime political mentor, Sir Winston Churchill, who retired Tuesday.

"They say that famous men were often the most mischievous of boys, but Anthony was not like that. He never gave me the slightest trouble. He was the kindest of sons."

He broke away from that kindly influence and interest in faraway places became an Eden characteristic. It was said of him that he was born with a feeling for being a foreign secretary. He traveled extensively.

After the war, in which he served with distinction as an officer of the King's Royal Rifle Corps, he considered a military career. But politics was the greater attraction. After an initial defeat, he won election in 1923 to the House of Commons from the Warwick and Leamington constituency, which he has represented ever since.

He was married in the crucial days of the 1923 political campaign to Beatrice Beckett, attractive daughter of banker Sir Gervase Beckett. She at first seemed the ideal wife of a man deeply immersed in public affairs.

* * *

But her interest flagged quickly and the Eden home soon was temperamentally divided—she preferring a bright social life, while he found in the ministries of Westminster the environment his nature craved.

* * *

They had two children—in 1924 Simon, who was killed in an air mission in Burma, and in 1930 Nicholas, now employed in a London bank. Father and the surviving son are deeply attached to one another.

But the marriage drifted into frustration. Eden obtained a friendly divorce in 1950 on grounds of desertion, Mrs. Eden having gone to the United States to live. There was some concern that the divorce might jeopardize Eden's political career in a country in which an established church takes an uncompromising stand on the indissolubility of marriage. But it aroused surprisingly little disputation.

Once under way, Eden became swiftly—in a country which moves rather slowly—a power in the Conservative party.

From 1926 to 1929, he was parliamentary secretary to Sir Austin Chamberlain, then foreign secretary. In 1931, he was appointed undersecretary of state for foreign affairs. He became lord privy seal in 1934, and minister for League of Nations affairs in 1935.

* * *

In December 1935, on the resignation of Sir Samuel Hoare, he became foreign secretary. He resigned from the exalted post, an action of political courage and redounded to his credit, after disagreements with Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain in 1938.

At the start of World War II he returned to ministerial office as dominions secretary. When Winston Churchill became prime minister in 1940, he was appointed secretary of state for war. In a few months Churchill had him back at the Foreign Office. Eden worked hard to strengthen British-Russian-American relations and had a hand in shaping the pact which became the United Nations. He took Britain's part in many international conferences, leading the British delegation to San Francisco in 1945 when the U.N. Charter was drafted.

SUCCEEDS EDEN — Harold MacMillan succeeds Sir Anthony Eden as Great Britain's foreign secretary. The 60-year-old, hard-headed Scotsman won distinction by heading his country's postwar homebuilding program. His mother was an American.

Eden holds to the conviction that international cooperation is the only hope of lasting peace.

The rise of Clement Attlee as a national figure and the success of his Labor party in the election of 1945 swept Eden out of the government, but not out of Parliament.

Churchill came back in 1951, and he promptly restored Eden to the foreign secretaryship.

Sickness threatened to finish Eden's career in 1953. Recurring attacks of jaundice obliged him to take frequent leaves. The condition finally was corrected at a Boston hospital. An operation by Dr. Richard Cattell, liver specialist, removed a bile duct obstruction.

Eden was encouraged in his convalescence by his second wife Clarissa Spencer - Churchill, niece of the former Prime Minister. Unlike his first wife, Lady Eden relishes politics.

Tomorrow—his finest hour, 1938 and the clash with Chamberlain.

Churchill Wants to Run for Re-election to House

LONDON (INS)—Sir Winston Churchill today declared his willingness to run for re-election to the House of Commons.

He said in a letter to the chairman of the Conservative party in his Woodford constituency that he would stand for election again, if asked, in the next general election "whenever it comes."

Quaker State Solons Welcome Ike's Ballot

WASHINGTON (INS) — President Eisenhower has been presented with a resolution passed by the Pennsylvania house of Representatives welcoming him as a voting resident of the state.

The resolution was delivered by Rep. Francis Worley (R-Pa) whose congressional district includes the President's Gettysburg farm.

Secretary 'Shocked' by Air Base Housing

WASHINGTON (INS) — Air Force Secretary Harold E. Talbott states he has been "shocked" at the housing conditions he has seen at some U. S. air bases at home and overseas.

He told a Senate appropriations subcommittee considering military budget requests that "housing is the most critical personnel problem in the Air Force today."

Pakistan Chief Weds 2nd Wife

Feminist Groups Riled as Prime Minister Ali Follows Old Custom

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP)—Prime Minister Mohammed Ali has married the second of the four wives the Moslem religion allows him. Aroused feminist groups today called emergency meetings to discuss the political leader's action.

Many Moslem feminist groups oppose continuance of the polygamy allowed by their religion. Indonesian President Soekarno's taking of a second wife last summer stirred a similar furor in his island republic.

An official of Ali's household confirmed today that the 56-year-old Prime Minister married his Canadian-born ex-secretary Alya Saadi, 30, in Beirut, Lebanon, last Saturday.

Ali brought his new wife home from Beirut yesterday. She was formally received by a delegation of Cabinet ministers and officials at the airport.

A room had been prepared for her on the first floor of Ali's residence. Not far away, in a room on the same floor, lives Ali's first wife Hamida, 40. She is the mother of his two sons, 14 and 11.

The household official said both wives will stay in Ali's residence for the present—unless Hamida decides to move elsewhere.

3-Year Sojourn at Pole Awaits Antarctic Team

WASHINGTON (AP) — A year of construction work and another two years of scientific observations in the antarctic lie ahead for the Navy and civilian scientists.

Detailed plans were announced by the Navy yesterday for the three-year expedition which will be under general supervision of Rear-Adm. Richard E. Byrd, retired. The extent of Byrd's actual participation in the project remained uncertain.

One main observation post is to be built next year and two others, one as near the South Pole as possible, are to be constructed later. Both ships and planes will carry men and supplies to the area.

Capt. George Dufek will command a task force of five Navy ships—two ice breakers, two cargo ships and an oiler—which will set out late this year and arrive in the antarctic in January 1956.

This task force will start construction of a base camp and one snow runway, unload masses of supplies, and start back a month later. A group of 121 officers and men, including a group of specially trained Seabees, will remain there to complete this work.

The first planes will fly in October 1956, and the Seabees will set up the other two observation posts. The construction crews will be flown out then, and the civilian scientists will be flown in.

Defense Budget May Be Raised

Chavez Sure Senate Will Add Some Money to Prevent Cuts

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Chavez (D-NM) said today he is certain efforts will be made in the Senate to add some money to President Eisenhower's defense budget with the aim of preventing cuts in Army and Marine strength.

Chavez, chairman of an Appropriations subcommittee considering the 35-billion-dollar military money bill, said, "I think that Gen. Ridgway is right, and his views will get full consideration."

* * *

Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, Army chief of staff, told the subcommittee late yesterday he had recommended that Army strength be maintained at 1,300,000 men during the fiscal year starting July 1.

That is 273,000 more than the figure recommended by the President. Army strength was 1,300,000 Jan. 1; it now is down to about 1,270,000.

Estimates were that it would require more than a billion dollars additional for the Army to maintain strength at the figure Ridgway recommended. Its share of the Eisenhower budget is about seven billions.

New Envoy Ferguson at Resort for Easter

MANILA (AP) — Homer Ferguso, new U. S. ambassador to the Philippines, left immediately after his arrival today for the summer resort city of Baguio to spend Easter.

Ferguson is scheduled to see Vice President Carlos P. Garcia, who also is secretary of foreign affairs, on Monday. At that time he expects to make an appointment with President Magsaysay to present his credentials.

Milk War Sends Price to 12 Cents Per Quart

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—At least one major grocery chain said it would sell milk at 12 cents a quart when stores opened today—the fourth day of northern Utah's bitter milk price war.

The figure is 2 cents below what milk sold for yesterday and 9 cents under the price at which milk was selling before the war started Monday. Other retailers—in Salt Lake City, Provo and Ogden—were expected to follow suit.

Zsa Zsa Obtains Final Decree From Sanders

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Actress Zsa Zsa Gabor obtained a Superior Court order yesterday making final the divorce decree she obtained last year from actor George Sanders.

Zsa Zsa has been keeping company with Porfirio Rubirosa who is seeking a divorce from heiress Barbara Hutton. However, Miss Gabor said recently that she has no immediate plans for marriage.

Moonshine Output Growing Bigger

By DAVID L. BOWEN
Associated Press Newsfeatures Writer

No body can say exactly how much moonshine is produced in the United States each year, but one fact is certain: The output of illegal stills is substantial and has been growing ever since the end of the war.

Some maintain the increase is reaching alarming proportions. R. E. Joyce, vice president of National Distillers Products Corp., estimates that 1954 moonshine production reached 68 million gallons — approximately one-third the annual consumption of legal spirits.

Licensed Beverages Industries, an agency supported by liquor manufacturers, claims still seizures in recent years are running around the 20,000 mark — not far from the prohibition peaks of 22-25,000 seizures annually.

Whether or not moonshine operations are as staggering as the legitimate liquor industry estimates, there is no question the production of illegal alcohol is big business and getting bigger. Federal seizures show a 74 per cent increase in the eight years since 1946, and daily production capacity of seized stills over the same period has jumped 135 per cent.

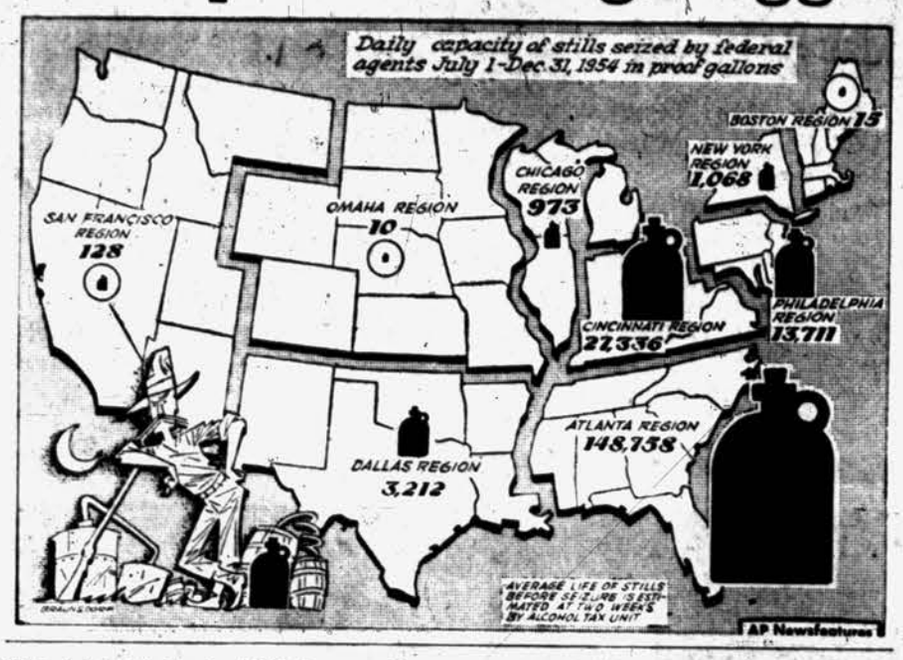

The accompanying map is based on the most recent Treasury Department report, the first six-month summary issued by the government. It would seem that the Atlanta region in the South is far and away the biggest producer.

In the final half of 1954 alone, federal agents seized 4,602 stills with a daily production capacity of 148,758 gallons in Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina and Tennessee.

To the Cincinnati region just to the north, 724 seizures were made and daily production capacity totaled 27,336 gallons. Next in line in capacity were regions centering around Philadelphia, Dallas, New York, Chicago, San Francisco, Boston and Omaha, in that order.

According to the Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Division of the Treasury Department, during the year ending last June federal agents seized 11,266 stills with a total daily production capacity of 387,543 gallons of 100-proof alcohol. Of course, not all of these stills were operating on any one day. The division estimates the average life of a still at about two weeks, after which it is knocked off or goes out of operation.

The government will make no estimate of how much moonshine is produced annually. However, if you assume 14 days of production at a daily capacity of 387,543 gallons, these stills would have yielded around 5½ million gallons of 100-proof alcohol during fiscal 1954.

This is a far cry from the 68 million estimated by LBI, but that organization sets the average life of stills at about three times the government estimate. It also claims the federal figures do not include seizures made by state and local authorities, which LBI surveys by mail annually, or allow for stills which go undetected.

LBI says seizures by state and local officials operating independently approximately equal federal seizures, and that one still can be assumed operating for every one discovered by enforcement officers. The government disputes both of these contentions, emphasizing particularly there simply is no way to test the accuracy of any estimate of unseized stills.

As partial substantiation for its figures, LBI points to the experience of licensed liquor dealers in Atlanta, Ga., in 1951 following the death of 42 persons from poisonous moonshine and hospitalization of over 100 others from the same cause.

In the weeks immediately following, it says, sales of legal distilled spirits in the low-income sections of the city shot up as much as 500 per cent in some stores. Total sales in the area increased by over 50 per cent.

The liquor industry argues that the heavy tax burden borne by legal liquor is one of the main reasons rotgut moonshine finds a market. It sets the average retail price of a fifth of blended whiskey ent. Mothers of 11th grade students at $4.27. According to its calculations, federal, state and local taxes, on the average, account for $2.38 or 56 per cent of this price.

Moonshine — which costs perhaps a little more than a dollar a gallon to make — oftentimes sells at about half the price of legal whisky.

Policemen Go Back to Books to Sharpen Up

OLEAN, N.Y. (UP)—Members of Olean's Police Department are now equipped with classroom theory to support the practical experience they get on the beat.

All of the policemen attended a special course in police work presented by St. Bonaventure University.

The three-phase program covered "The Psychological Factor of Delinquency," "Sociology in Police Work" and "Legal Terminology, Penal Law, Criminal Law and Procedure."

Patrolmen and officers alike were enthusiastic about the course, and considered the classroom work a valuable supplement to their actual duties.

Said Patrolman Wilford Clancy, 15-year-veteran:

"Hoodlums and racketeers are a lot shrewder today than they were 15 years ago. Today the run-of-the-mill crook immediately asks for a lawyer when he's hooked. He didn't think of that in the old days—not the average hoodlum, anyway."

Sugar cane has been cultivated only about 500 years.

Multimillionaire Shy of Camera

Heirs Find Only One Snapshot of New York Philanthropist

PLATTSBURG, N. Y. (UP) — Four buildings in this city and the neighboring village of Chazy stand as memorials to a man so modest that only a single photograph of him ever was found.

The picture—a snapshot—was of William Henry Miner, whose fortune from making a fraction draft gear for railroad freight cars was estimated variously at between $100,000,000 and $250,000,000.

Miner, who died in 1930, made his home in Chazy, about seven miles south of the Canadian border.

For the village, he built a $1,600,000 school that was considered a model for the nation in the early 1900s and remains comparable to almost any today.

At his farm, Miner set up two hydroelectric systems that served the school, a teachers' home that he built and the village streets with electricity.

Also in Chazy is the Miner Museum, which he built to house relics of "north country" history.

In the hospital lobby hangs an oil portrait of Miner painted from the one snapshot of him. Across the lobby hangs a $45,000 Reubens painting that was given to the hospital by his widow.

French and Italians Cheat on Income Tax

By STAN SWINTON

ROME (AP)—Beating the income tax is a national sport among the rich of Italy and France. Mass cheating costs both governments untold millions. Each has tried to crack down, with limited success.

The American taxpayer has a stake in this situation as he prepares his tax return—with no cheating permitted—for the April 15 deadline. Part of his tax goes for foreign aid, and he can ask: "Why should my money go to help countries where the rich often dodge taxes?"

The U. S. government agrees there's no justice in that. It has used its influence to encourage tax reforms in these countries. The French and Italian governments agree too—but look at their problems.

• • •

Gina Lollabrigida is probably the highest paid film star in Europe. She declared an income of $4,800 last year. The government estimated her minimum earnings at $40,000. That's sheer gallantry if you credit a private estimate in the film industry that she may have taken in as much as $350,000.

Handsome actor-director Vittorio de Sica told the tax man he earned $16,000. The collector thought $64,000 was about right. An authoritative Italian source says De Sica probably made $900,000.

Blue-blooded Prince Alessandro Torlonia declared $17,200 income—somewhat short of the $1,279,880 the tax man estimated.

How do they get away with it?

In Italy the present tax law has no provision for sending tax dodgers to jail. In France, cheaters who are caught get off with fines, almost invariably. Most never are caught.

But the basic problem is more complicated. The income tax is old stuff in the United States, which derives over 80 per cent of governmental income from individual and corporation income levies. Here the rich always have been powerful and most revenue comes from hidden taxes, taxes that hit the poor harder proportionately than the rich. Only in recent decades has the balance of power shifted and the tax structure been modified.

• • •

France collects only about 25 per cent of national revenues from income tax. Hidden taxes on industry, food, sales and the like make up the rest.

Italy picks up about one-sixth of the government income from direct taxes. The bulk comes from a three per cent tax on every transaction in the country, national monopolies on salt and tobacco and similar levies.

Leaders in both countries recognize that income taxes are a fair way to apportion the cost of government on the basis of ability to pay. The public is hard to convince, however. Latins prefer paying in dribs and drabs.

Actually it costs them as much or more under the present system. The over-all tax burden in Italy is 27 per cent of gross national product. In France it's 31 per cent.

• • •

There is some excuse for the rich ducking taxes. If an honest man paid all the indirect taxes and the full income tax, he could go broke. The tax rate anticipates cheating in declarations. In France, for example, income tax rates for the middle and upper brackets are higher than in America even despite the tremendous additional burden of indirect taxes.

The tax collection system encourages bribery and evasion, too. Many a tax collector is a $150-a-month civil servant. Temptation is great.

Moreover, Europeans don't talk about their incomes the way Americans do. Nobody ever really knows how much a rich man has.

Complete books are rare. Often the honest collector estimates wealth on the basis of the number of yachts, grand pianos, Riviera villas and sports cars he can trace to the tax payer.

It's a grim picture—but not a hopeless one.

Italy expects to have a new law on the books this summer instituting jail sentences of up to six months for major tax evaders. The average taxable income declared by Italians tripled between 1951 and 1954—strong evidence the higher income groups are being more realistic in their declarations. The number of returns rose during the same period.

France has had less of a crackdown on income tax payments, but both countries are trying to extract more of their taxes from the rich. Each is meeting resistance from the citizenry.

New Type Alfalfa Being Developed

PIERRE, S. D. (UP) — Dr. John W. Headley, president of South Dakota State College, says that experts at his institution are developing a new type of alfalfa that may be "revolutionary."

Headley, testifying before the Legislature's appropriations committee, said a "sample" of the alfalfa can spread quickly to cover a small plot of ground.

Other authorities said the new type was a "creeping alfalfa that really creeps."

Headley said the new alfalfa might be a "revolutionary forage," if the problem of bloat is solved in the cattle and sheep that feed on alfalfa.

Builders Find New Use for Hitching Post

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UP) — An obelisk-shaped hitching post, dating to the 1890 horse and buggy days, recently was pressed into service in a modern construction job in downtown Sacramento.

The use of the 2½-foot-high post, with a ring on the top, occasioned some notice and may save the relic from oblivion.

The hitching post was perfectly situated in the center of construction activities at the site of a new $7,000,000 building for the California department of employment, at a stationary elevation of 21.7 feet. It was used as a bench mark for elevation control during erection of the six-floor, two-block-long structure.

When the story of the hitching post appeared in a local newspaper, the division of architecture was besieged with calls from persons who wanted it as a memento of the 19th century. However, the former owners of the property asked the division to hold the post, in order that they may have it placed in an appropriate museum.

Puppy Locked in Store Makes Escape by Phone

WELLAND, Ont. (UP)—A local telephone operator became alarmed when she heard a moaning sound as from someone in pain come over the wire. She traced the noise to the telephone of an electrical worshop near here, then called police.

When Constable William Calder arrived on the scene, he found a young boxer puppy, owned by the operators of the shop, had been locked in the building. The pup had knocked the phone off the hook and lay down beside it. The dog's whimpering had aroused the operator.

Thomson Again Faced With Injury Threat

Flying Scot's Ailing Shoulder Due for a Checkup, Treatment

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The injury hoodoo that has run with Bobby Thompson, the Flying Scot, since he hooked up with the Milwaukee Braves threatened again today to keep him sidelined on Opening Day.

Thomson, pushing aside chances that 1955 will turn out like last year, said he'll "be ready to go" when the Braves open thier home season against Cincinnati Tuesday at County Stadium. He looked forward to the coming campaign and said he wants "just a good year, for a change."

• • •

His immediate problem was an ailing right shoulder that brought him into town this week for examination and treatment by the team physician.

Bobby came to the Braves in the winter deal a year ago that sent Johnny Antonelli to the Giants. He fractured his right ankle in Florida in the 1954 spring drills and was out of the lineup until late in the season. Even when he returned he saw only limited action.

He played in 43 games last year, at his left field position, and collected 23 hits, including two home runs, and finished with a .232 batting average.

The 31-year-old star said he's been working out each day since he returned to Milwaukee, but has confined himself to running. "No throwing or batting," he said, as he told of plans to join a group of Milwaukee pitchers who got into town today and slated an early drill at the stadium. He added that he'll keep right on working out until Tuesday.

Dr. Albert Schmidt, team physician, subjected Bobby's shoulder to X-ray examination Tuesday and said the results were negative. He advanced that a sore elbow that bothered Thomson earlier in the exhibition season may have caused a reaction in the shoulder. Additional X-ray treatment is slated for Saturday.

BOSOX SLUGGER — Norm Zauchin (above) is making a strong bid for the regular first base job with the Boston Red Sox this spring after several seasons' service in the minor league and military duty. He is a former Royal Oak High School athletic standout.

• • •

RO's Zauchin Beating Out Agganis for Red Sox' Job

Big, strong and long hitting. That's Norm Zauchin, former Royal Oak High School athletic star, now seeking a regular berth at first base with the Boston Red Sox.

After establishing himself as a solid minor league ace, Zauchin, a 6-4½, 220-pounder bids fair to run Harry Agganis off first base for the Beantowners. Agganis, the ex-Boston University football All-America, held the position regularly last year, but doesn't hit with the authority of the Oakland County boy, who bears a strong resemblance to former Boston and Detroit player Walter Dropo.

After starring in football, basketball and baseball at Royal Oak High, Zauchin (his full name is Norbert H.) played sandlot ball in Detroit and was signed by the Red Sox, when Detroit Tiger scouts couldn't make up their mind about him.

He spent the 1948 and '49 seasons in the low minors than advanced to the Birmingham Barons of the Southern Association in 1950 where he belted 35 home runs in hitting .287.

This earned Norm a jump to the AAA American Association with the Louisville Colonels. His average slipped to .267, but he retained his power, chasing home 104 runs with 30 doubles and 14 homers to draw a spring trial with the parent Bosox.

He had a 4-game trial with Boston in 1951 just prior to entering military service. He was discharged in time to join Pinky Higgins at Louisville last year and moved with his manager to the Hub this spring.

At Louisville last season, the 23-year-old Zauchin played in 145 games, collected 154 hits for 257 bases. He struck out only 18 times and drew 118 bases on balls. His 118 runs batted in led the American Association and numbered among those 154 hits were 27 doubles, 11 triples and 18 homers.

His batting average was .289. He also is a fine fielder. At Louisville, he committed only 6 errors and his .995 was best among the circuit's first sackers.

In spring training, Zauchin has kept his average about the .340 mark and appears likely to open the season at first base for the Red Sox. He is one of several county area ball players making major league bids this season.

Charles (Ducky) Oertel of Pontiac was on the spring roster of the Baltimore Orioles. Oscar Van Brabant of Berkley is a rookie pitcher with the Kansas City Athletics, and Duane (Duke) Maas of Utica is coming north with the Detroit Tigers.

Danny Schell of Fostoria, who played ball and worked in Pontiac, is starting his 2nd season with the Philadelphia Phillies. In addition, a number of city and area athletes are affiliated with minor league teams.

Veterans, Youngsters Vie for Masters' Title

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Snead or Souchak? Hogan or Hebert? Patton or Palmer? Middlecoff or Mangrum? Who will win the 19th Masters golf championship?

Any one of them could. But maybe none of them will. There are many more fine golfers in the field of 78 who could capture this tournament and earn one of golf's most cherished titles.

Fifty-nine professionals and 19 amateurs were assigned tee times for today's first round of the 1955 Masters, which in 21 years has grown in prestige until it ranks second only to the National Open.

• • •

The Masters was born a full-blown success in 1934. Grand Slam king Bobby Jones, who helped design the Augusta National golf course where the Masters is played, came out of retirement to compete in it.

There were two schools of thought in pre-tournament speculation about the possible winner of this year's classic. One leaned toward the younger golfers, pointing to the way they had stolen much of the limelight during the winter tour. The other stuck with the veterans, pointing to the tremendous pressure generated in this prestige-loaded event.

• • •

Sam Snead, three-time Masters winner and the defending champion, and Ben Hogan, a two-time winner who lost to Snead in a playoff last year, head the corps of veterans.

Others in the field with several years of tournament success behind them include Cary Middlecoff, Lloyd Mangrum, E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, Tommy Bolt, Ed Furgol, Julius Boros, Lew Worsham, Byron Nelson, Jackie Burke and Al Besselink.

• • •

Mike Souchak, the former Duke football player and leading money winner on the winter circuit, is the king bee of the younger generation, which includes Gene Littler, Jay Herbert, Rex Baxter Jr., Billy Maxwell, Joe Conrad, Arnold Palmer and Bob Rosburg.

The Augusta National course, which stretches 6,950 yards, has the reputation of being one of the best tests of golf anywhere. Par is 36-36—72.

• • •

Billy Joe Patton, who came within a stroke of tieing Snead and Hogan in last year's playoff, heads a fine field of amateurs which includes Charlie Coe, Harvie Ward, Hillman Robbins Jr., Dynamite Goodloe and Don Cherry. Arnold Palmer, the 1954 U.S. Amateur champion, is now a pro.

• • •

Souchak and 42 others in the 1955 field tried without success yesterday to duplicate another feat of Gene Sarazen's double-eagle on the par-5 15th which enabled Gene to overhaul Craig Wood in the final round and force a playoff. Their efforts were part of ceremonies dedicating, to Sarazen, a new stone bridge leading to the 15th green. Fred Haas came closest, putting a ball 4-feet, 1-inch from the pin.

Hoeft Turns in Effective Job, but Braves Still Beat Tigers

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP) — Sometimes the best isn't quite good enough.

It was that way with Detroit's brilliant southpaw Billy Hoeft when the 19-year-old hurler dueled with Warren Spahn, the Milwaukee Braves' great pitcher, in an exhibition game here yesterday.

Hoeft turned in the longest and most polished performance of any Tiger pitcher so far this spring, limiting Braves to two hits in a seven-inning stint on the mound. Spahn gave up three hits in the same number of innings, but the Braves won, 2-1.

Milwaukee coupled two singles with a pass and two sacrifice flies in the 8th inning off Hoeft's relief, George Zuverink, to score the inning run. Zuverink was charged with the loss.

Hank Aaron homered for Milwaukee to lead off the 4th frame and score the Braves' other run. That and a single by shortstop Johnny Logan in the 5th were the only hits off Hoeft.

And while he didn't win the game, Hoeft at least impressed manager Bucky Harris enough to convince him that his young southpaw definitely will rate a starting position when the regular season opens five days hence.

There was a time in the not so distant past of one week ago when Harris was ready to relegate Billy to bullpen duty.

Not that the Braves didn't deserve to win. Spahn made an impressive show, fanning six and walking only two. Hoeft struck out three and walked two.

Tigers' only run was an unearned tally in the 1st inning. With two out, Braves 3rd baseman Eddie Matthews and Logan let two straight ground balls roll past them. Jay Porter, playing 1st base for the ailing Ferris Fain, promptly doubled Al Kaline home.

Winning run against Zuverink was scored by Jack Dittmer, pinch hitting for Spahn. He singled, went to 2nd on a sacrifice and crossed home plate on Andy Pafko's fly after Chuck Tanner walked and Matthews singled.

Milwaukee, which now holds a 2-1 edge over Detroit in exhibition play this spring, will meet the Tigers again tonight in Toledo.

Frank Lary and Ned Garver will pitch for Detroit. Milwaukee will start their sensational young rookie, Humberto Robinson.

White, Joost Are Sparkling

Sammy's Hitting Looks Good, Vet Shortstop Is Fielding Well

ROANOKE, Va. (AP) — Catcher Sammy White's hitting and surprisingly good fielding by veteran shortstop Eddie Joost are the latest encouraging developments on the Red Sox northern trek.

White got three hits, including a three-run homer, yesterday as the Sox beat the Philadelphia Phils 9-3. Sammy, who missed much of the spring exhibition game action while Manager Mike Higgins tested new receivers, now is hitting .500.

Jackie Jensen and Grady Hatton also homered and the tripling Billy Goodman scored the other run.

Nat Rookie Shortstop Makes Good Showing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bob Kline, young Washington Senators shortstop, got off on the right foot last night in the team's first 1955 game in its home town.

Kline got two of the Senators' 10 hits against Brooklyn. He also pleased the crowd of 10,000 with some fancy fielding.

The Senators, blanked 6-0, try to get back in the win column tonight in another game with the Dodgers. Don Newcombe is scheduled to pitch for Brooklyn. Camilo Pascual and Ted Abernathy will share the hurling duties for the Senators.

Sharp Pitching, 1-Man Show in Texas' Openers

Rookie Clouts Pair of Homers, Double in San Antonio Win

DALLAS (AP) — Three top hurling jobs and a one-man show by a San Antonio rookie got the Texas League off to a rousing start last night with defending champion Houston among the winners but Shreveport, the 1954 full season leader, taking a terrific clouting from Dallas.

Dave Roberts, rookie first baseman, was the boy who put on the show — he clouted two homers and a double and drove in four runs, leading San Antonio to a 6-2 victory over Oklahoma City.

• • •

John (Red) Murff spun a 5-hitter as Dallas, which was supposed to lack power but have airtight defense, smashed 15 hits and made four errors in clubbing Shreveport 13-2. The bobbles gave Shreveport all its runs.

Bill Greason allowed only six scattered hits as he hurled Houston to a 6-1 triumph over Tulsa and Mike Clark granted but one more while pitching Beaumont to an 8-2 victory over Fort Worth.

Rain at Shreveport and cold at San Antonio held the crowds down but Houston pulled in 7,431 fans and Beaumont 6,272. The total for opening night was 20,792—10,000 under forecasts. Shreveport drew 3,807 and San Antonio 3,282.

Roberts hit his homers off two pitchers — blasting Wayne McCleland in the first inning and clouting Billy Bagwell in the seventh. Oklahoma City left 13 runners stranded and out-hit San Antonio 6-5 but the Missions got tight pitching from Frank Fanovich, who gave up only five hits in seven innings before tiring.

Moore, Valdez Fight Given Official Okeh

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Nevada's Athletic Commission has given official sanction to the May 2 fight between light heavyweight champion Archie Moore and Nino Valdez. It is a promotional venture by Jack Kearns. The commission was given a copy yesterday of the contract between the fighters and Kearns.

Moore's appearance was okayed despite the California Athletic commission's warning that Moore will not be granted a license to fight again in that state because of the report of his private physician that he has a heart murmur that indicates strenuous exertion might be hazardous.

Sons of Pericles Set for Greek Cage Test

CHICAGO (AP)—Ypsilanti Sons of Pericles, a Chicago team and defending tournament champion, tops a field of 17 entries in the 25th annual National Hellenic (All-Greek) basketball tournament starting tomorrow.

In addition to Ypsilanti, five other teams entered are from the Chicago area. Out of state teams include Fond Du Lac, Wis.; Indianapolis; Gary, Ind.; Hammond, Ind.; two from Detroit; Denver; Worcester, Mass.; East Chicago, Ind.; Milwaukee and Flint, Mich.

The tournament will end Sunday.

Scoreboard Due for Rest

11 Changes Marked Up in ABC Tourney

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP)—The American Bowling Congress scoreboard is due for a rest the remainder of this week after a big scoring splurge yesterday which resulted in 11 changes in the standings.

Booster teams take up most of the action the rest of the week, indicating scoring should subside plenty in comparison to yesterday's sharpshooting.

The singles division drew most of the fire, with six changes, highlighted by a bristling 704 by Dave Moffat, a Chicago bowling alley manager rolling in his 7th ABC. Moffat took over 2nd place, behind Eddie Gerzine of Milwaukee, who leads with a 738. Gerzine also heads the all events with 1,938.

The day's best all-around performance was by Moorie Oppenheim, a 200-pound 18-year-old college student of Chicago, who drew within eight pins of Gerzine's all-events lead with a 1,930 total on series of 653, 633, and 644. A teammate of Oppenheim, Carl Berger, former star with the famed Monarch Beer teams, crashed into 4th place in the all-events with an 1,879 total and 7th in the singles with a 684 effort. The pair also had a 1,226 in doubles, good for 13th place.

Oppenheim and Berger led the Cole Finder Mercury quintet to the top of the team standings Tuesday with a 3,015 total to tie Howard's Clothes of St. Paul, Minn., who held it since opening night.

Other singles changes were: Anthony Zaremba, Grand Rapids, Mich., took 4th with a 694; Albert Baugert, Wilkes-Barre, Pa., grabbed 5th with 689, and Richard George, Anchorage, Alaska, gained 6th with 685.

In the all-events, Jim Lawson, noted ski jumper of Ishpeming, Mich., stepped into the 5th slot with an 1,870 performance, capped by a 671 series.

Marquette Ace Signs With NFL

Ron Drzewiecki Meets Bears' Terms, Rejects Canadian Offer

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Ron Drzewiecki, ranked as the greatest ball carrier in Marquette football history, has rejected a Canadian offer from Calgary and has signed with the Chicago Bears.

The 185-pound halfback was the Bears No. 1 choice in the National Football League player draft last January.

• • •

"The Canadians offered a higher starting salary," Drzewiecki said in Milwaukee yesterday. "But I took the Bears offer because the long range opportunities are so much greater in American football. I live in Milwaukee and my future, both in football and business, is in the Midwest."

Drzewiecki has been quoted as saying Calgary had offered him a two-year pact at $11,000 per season. The terms of the Bear contract were not disclosed but the fleet halfback is believed to have signed for about $9,000.

Flint Cancellation Helps Pontiac Boxer

Cancellation of the April 12 fistic show at Flint has proved a boon to Pontiac's "Fighting Mailman," Gene Linscott.

Linscott received an injured ear his last time out, but the member is healing rapidly now, and just about OK, according to co-manager Don Frayer. "We were glad the cancellation was made," Frayer reported. "It gives the ear more time to heal, and Gene now will be fully ready to go April 26 at Motor City."

The Pontiac fighter, a mailman in his regular working hours, meets tough Young Chico of Detroit in a main go on the April 26 card. It will be Gene's 1st main bout since starting his comeback.

Larsen Says Arm Is OK

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Don Larsen, bothered by a sore arm after coming to the New York Yankees in the winter trade with Baltimore, pitched 20 minutes of batting practice yesterday and said the arm felt good. He was slapped for a game-winning double by the only hitter he's faced in an exhibition game this spring.

'Tiger' Jones Looks Ahead to Post-Ring Days

Brooklyn Boxer Saves Money, Won't Be Like Many Ex-Fighters

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Ralph (Tiger) Jones, scrappy Brooklyn middleweight, is one of the Fight-for-Pay Boys who isn't going to be caught short when he retires from the ring.

The 27-year-old boxer, who takes on Georgie Johnson in a nationally-televised 10-rounder at the St. Louis Arena tomorrow night, finds a place for his ring earnings.

Jones, who turned pro in 1950, said he invested the first $20,000 he made into a trust for him and his family. His wife expects a baby next month, their first.

Then his next $10,000 went to buy a farm for his father in Virginia. Another $10,000 made a substantial down payment on a Long Island home.

Lawrence Will Tune Up for Cards' First Job

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals wind up their barnstorming trip North with the Chicago White Sox today.

Brooks Lawrence, righthander who will open the season for the Cards, will tune up for the job here. Manager Eddie Stanky said Luis Arroyo will pitch in St. Louis against Detroit Saturday in the first of a two-game series.

Collegians' 5 Beats Trotters at Denver

DENVER (AP) — The Harlem Globetrotters and the College All Stars make their annual stop here tonight for a game at Denver Coliseum.

The All Stars led all the way to win their fifth game in 14 starts last night as they defeated the Trotters 76-72 at Iowa City, Iowa.

The All Stars were paced by Chuck Mencel and Jack Stephens with 23 points apiece.

Duke's Late Rally Beats Michigan Nine

DURHAM, N.C. (UP) — Duke's Blue Devils scored three runs in the last of the 6th inning yesterday as they opened their home baseball season with a 7-6 victory over touring Michigan.

The Wolverines led, 5-4, after their half of the inning, but Duke went ahead, 7-5, and Michigan was unable to close the gap.

Blue Devils put together a walk, a sacrifice and singles by Dick Brewer, Sonny Jurgensen, and Andy Cockreall for the winning runs.

Home Town Honors 'Home Run' Baker

EASTON, Md. (AP)—Frank (Home Run) Baker, former American League baseball star who was elected to the Hall of Fame earlier this year, was honored at a dinner here last night.

Baker, who manages some farms near here, was presented with a number of gifts including an oil portrait of himself. More than 200 friends and guests attended.

Johnson Given Contender Rate at Light-Heavy

MILWAUKEE (INS)—The National Boxing Association lists Harold Johnson as the logical light heavyweight contender in its latest ratings.

He bounced back as the top contender to the crown now held by Archie Moore by virtue of his recent knockout over Paul Andrews.

Fred Saddy, NBA championship committee chairman, said in the spring ratings issued yesterday that heavyweight Bob Baker is an "outstanding boxer."

He was listed 4th in the ratings behind champion Rocky Marciano, No. 1 ranked Nino Valdez; Ezzard Charles, listed 2nd, and Don Cockell, ranked 3rd. Marciano battles Cockell of England next month.

State Senate Lauds Prof. Aigler's Work

LANSING (AP)—Prof. Ralph W. Aigler, the University of Michigan's Big Ten faculty representative since 1913, received the compliments of the state Senate yesterday upon his retirement as a law school professor.

A resolution of tribute sponsored by Sen. Haskell L. Nichols (R-Jackson) noted Aigler's contributions to "healing the nine-year breach that dealt with eligibility rules, to molding public opinion and to being ever alert in maintaining Big Ten athletics as amateur sports and to combatting the encroachment of professionalism."

Phillies Drop Outfield Experiment With Lopata

PORTSMOUTH, Va. (AP)—Manager Mayo Smith of the Philadelphia Phillies says he does not plan to use catcher Stan Lopata in the outfield any more.

The Phillies used Lopata in left field through several exhibition games in Florida, plus several more on the route North. But his batting average began fading, and it appears the Phillies are concerned over the reduction.

Track, Baseball Players Lost to Chiefs' Squads

Two highly-rated athletes at Pontiac High School have been lost to the track and baseball squads by reason of ineligibility.

Coach Wally Schloerke lost Walter King, a basketball ace during the winter and one of Wally's good high jumpers. Coach Ed Heikkinen loses Clay Williams, a good infielder.

Both boys were barred from further competition in school sports because of participation in a recent post-season basketball game.

Schloerke has also lost Bill Imboden, a promising miler. Imboden left school to take employment in a Pontiac plant. He was the squad's No. 3 distance man.

Rain Washes Out A's Drill for First Time

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Rain gave the Kansas City Athletics a day of rest yesterday but the lack of exercise didn't worry Manager Lou Boudreau.

It was the first entire day the club has lost since spring training started. Boudreau said pitching still was his greatest concern but "our hitting has been all right."

Burnett 1st in Line

EAST LANSING — Michigan State's 1st big athletic hero was Leander Burnett, a baseball and track star in the 1880's.

Future for College Boxing Appears to Be Brighter

EAST LANSING — The future of college boxing is looking brighter.

That's the report from all those who attended the NCAA championships at Pocatello, Idaho, over the last weekened.

Michigan State won the team championship and also had an individual champion in Herb Odom, the skinny stylist from Flint, who successfully defended his NCAA 147-pound title.

For a while, those interested in college boxing were concerned about the future of the sport. Several schools had dropped boxing in the past five years and there was trouble with scheduling.

MSC and Wisconsin are the only Big Ten schools sponsoring boxing teams.

But at the title meet it was reported that more than half a dozen schools are adding the sport. There's particular enthusiasm in the far West and Mountain states.

University of Houston and University of Oklahoma are the latest to join the boxing ranks.

Notre Dame is reported to be thinking about going in for boxing. If the Fighting Irish came out with a stable of fighters it would be a tremendous boost to the sport.

MSC athletic director Biggie Munn, a strong advocate of contact sports, attended the tourney and came back an enthusiastic booster.

Brundage OK's Aussie Plans

MELBOURNE (AP) — Australia's preparations for the 1956 Olympics, reported lagging behind schedule, today had the approval of Avery Brundage, president of the International Olympic Committee who is making a special, first-hand inspection because of the rumors.

Brundage, long an Olympic watchdog as head of the United States Committee before taking over as chairman of the international group in 1952, said, "So far, I have seen nothing to seriously criticize." He added he was confident all preparations for the games would be completed in time.

Brundage visited the main stadium at the Melbourne Cricket Club yesterday and found everything adequate, except for the need of a coat of paint. He also suggested the addition of dressing rooms, showers and toilet facilities.

Lt. Gen. William Bridgeford, chief executive officer of the Australian games, accompanied Brundage on the tour along with E. J. Holt, technical director, and Lew S. Luxton, Australia's international committee member.

Brundage assured the officials he would do as much as he could when he returned to the United States to dispel rumors that the Aussies weren't 100 per cent behind the games. "You have received a lot of bad publicity," he said. "I will do my best to counter it."

When he arrived in Australia last week, Brundage made it plain he had decided on the special inspection in the light of conflicting progress reports. The official reports, he said, were favorable. But unofficial reports indicated the Aussies were having serious troubles getting ready for the games.

On his arrival, Brundage told newsmen he couldn't see "how Melbourne can lose the games unless I discover something serious."

In addition to the main stadium, Brundage also inspected side-arenas where other sports events will be held.

Freak Goal Beats Bisons in American Puck Playoffs

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — Shed a tear, please, for the vanishing Buffalo—victims of the cruelest quirk of fate.

• • •

The Buffalo Bisons dropped another game in the American Hockey League Calder Cup playoffs last night when a puck bounced off a Pittsburgh player's head and into the Bisons' net.

• • •

The strange score, which broke a third period 2-2 deadlock, gave the Hornets a 3-2 triumph and put them ahead in the best-of-seven series, 3 games to 1.

Wings Aim for 16th Straight Win in 3rd Cup Test

MONTREAL (AP) — Just how long the champion Detroit Red Wings can extend their remarkable winning streak, is one of the questions that will be answered tonight when the Wings and the Montreal Canadiens meet in the 3rd game of the Stanley Cup final.

So far coach Jim Skinner's power-laden crew has won 15 consecutive games, including the elimination of Toronto Maple Leafs in the semi-finals and the defeat of the Canadiens in the 1st two games of the final in Detroit.

No other National Hockey League team has won that many games in a row. Previous record-holders were the Boston Bruins, who won 14 straight games during the 1929-30 season. The Bruins' feat, however, is still a record for play during the regular season.

Meanwhile, the gloom that drifted over Montreal following the Canadien's humiliating 7-1 defeat at Detroit Tuesday night appeared to be lifting as diehard fans convinced themselves that the Montreal club has the stuff to reverse the picture.

However, both coaches—one a rookie and the other a gray-haired veteran—refused to commit themselves for the 3rd game. The 4th will also be played here Saturday night.

On the train from Detroit yesterday, Dick Irvin, the veteran Montreal pilot, surprisingly wasn't downhearted about Montreal's two defeats, but made no predictions.

While Skinner said.

"I'm only a rookie coach and I don't dare predict anything. Of course, I'm pretty happy the way things are. I feel rather sorry for Irvin because he has had a rough season, what with Maurice Richard's suspension and everything."

Irvin's troubles, besides the loss of Richard, stack up this way:

Jean Beliveau, his big center, is playable but ill. Beliveau suffered an infection in the mouth on arrival at Detroit for the 1st game Sunday night—Montreal lost 4-2—and this may greatly affect his ability tonight.

There was some speculation that Irvin might turn to Chicoutimi Saguenees of the Quebec Hockey League for help. The Saguenees were eliminated from the league playoffs Tuesday night. But other farm clubs to which he might ordinarily turn for help are all engaged in post-season playoffs.

Ailing Pitchers Hold Answer to Athletics' Fate

Majority of A's Hurling Corps Has History of Arm Trouble

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — If those ailing arms hold up, the Kansas City Athletics' pitching will be a lot more solid this season than it was during that last dismal year at Philadelphia.

Half a dozen of the A's hurlers, including the two top lefthanders, have a history of sore arms.

But this spring, some of the arms have looked promising.

The two southpaws are Bobby Shantz and Alex Kellner. Others with a sore arm background include Cloyd Boyer, Tom Gorman, and Ewell Blackwell. Arnold Portocarrero, the A's leading pitcher last season with a 9-18 record, is under treatment now for an ailing shoulder.

Shantz, named the Most Valuable American League Player in 1952 when he won 24 games and lost 7, is an outstanding example of what a bad arm can do. In 1953, handicapped part of the season by arm trouble, he wound up with a 5-9 mark.

Last season he injured his arm on Opening Day. Final record for the entire season: one victory, no losses.

Shantz says he has felt okay so far this spring. In his last exhibition stint he hurled five innings against Savannah of the Sally League, allowed five hits and one run and struck out four. The little southpaw's control showed considerable improvement over previous performances.

* * *

In the same game Cloyd Boyer allowed only one hit in the remaining four innings. Boyer, formerly with the St. Louis Cards, also is trying a comeback.

Manager Lou Boudreau hopes Kellner will pan out and may start him Opening Day next Tuesday against Detroit. Kellner developed a bad arm last season although he pitched in 27 games. He had a 6-17 record.

He's been throwing at his old time speed and skill for the last week.

Blackwell and Gorman, recently purchased from the New York Yankees along with first baseman Dick Kryhoski, both had arm ailments last year. Blackwell voluntarily retired and Gorman hurled a total of only 37 innings and had a 3-2 record.

Blackwell maintains there is no pain in his arm this spring and Gorman has been throwing quite well thus far.

Improved Tennis Squad Is Seen for Chiefs This Year

After a year of rebuilding, Pontiac High's tennis squad is expected to be a much improved aggregation this spring. Coach Vic Lindquist, now beginning his 7th year as Chiefs' net mentor, has had his lettermen and new candidates working outdoors for a week at Murphy Park courts but as yet has not made any decisions regarding makeup of his team for the coming Saginaw Valley and dual match season. Squad comprises 22 players, including eight lettermen.

Opening match pits PHS against Flint Northern at Flint in the SVC opener. First home match is with Arthur Hill, which Lindquist believes may be the Valley class this spring. Twelve matches, not including Valley or regional, are on the PHS schedule.

Returning lettermen, expected to form the bulk of the competitive squad include Eddie Macadaeg, Kent Mills, Kurt Laughner, Gary Thomas, Ted Wiersema, Bob Erb, Boy McCurry and Paul Kampner.

The schedule:

April 15, at Flint Northern; 19, Arthur Hill in Pontiac; 21, at Cranbrook; 25, Lapeer in Pontiac; 26, Flint Central in Pontiac; 29, Bay City here; May 3, Flint Central there; 6, Arthur Hill in Saginaw; 13, Northern here; 16, Bay City there; 23, Lapeer there; 25, Cranbrook here.

Rioters in Montreal Given Stiff Fines

MONTREAL (UP)—Twenty-seven men who took part in the St. Patrick's Day riot at the Montreal Forum during and after a Montreal-Detroit National Hockey League game today were ordered to pay fines ranging from $25 to $100.

Judge Emmett J. McManamy also ordered each of the rioters to post a $200 bond to keep the peace for one year, or spend 30 days in jail.

End Spring Rivalry

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — The world champion New York Giants and the Cleveland Indians close their spring exhibition rivalry here today. The tribe has the series lead 9-8 after beating the Giants 3-2 in 10 innings at Charlotte, N. C. yesterday.

Tebbets Voices Disappointment in Reds' Hurlers

Says Cincinnati Nine Has No Young Pitcher to Stir 'Imagination'

LYNCHBURG, Va. (AP) — Birdie Tebbets, manager of the Cincinnati Redlegs, is a man who is both disappointed and hopeful.

A year ago the Reds came up with rookie pitchers Art Fowler and Corky Valentine who combined to win 24 games and help the Cincinnatians to a fifth place finish, only a game out of fourth. This year the crop of rookie pitchers figured to be better. But yesterday Tebbets said:

"There is in every major league training camp a young pitcher who captures the imagination. We do not have one, and, frankly, it is a disappointment."

But Tebbets now is hopeful that Maurice Fisher, an acquisition from the "B" squad may be the rookie he is looking for and he's hopeful that the hitting in the last two exhibition games is an indication the Redlegs are about to unload some of that power that will help to take up the pitching slack.

Sauer, McCullough Ailing as Cubs Head for Home

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP)—The Chicago Cubs shoved off for home today with Hank Sauer nursing a lame back and Clyde McCullough a sore head.

Sauer's back ailment is not considered serious and the big slugging outfielder said he will be ready to play Saturday against the Chicago White Sox.

McCullough was hit on the head by Bob Speake's bat and three stitches were needed to close the gash.

Twin Cities See Major Status in 1957

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Guiding forces behind the Twin Cities major league baseball ventures are viewing 1957 with honied hopes—and a barrel of unexpected cash.

* * *

Some of the optimistic believe that big league banners will be floating over the proposed stadium in suburban Bloomington by 1956. Most are convinced that big time baseball will arrive here no later than 1957.

* * *

Impetus for these sugary estimates springs from a willingness of baseball zealots here to back up conversation with cash. A bond drive just concluded added $1,200,000 to previous bond commitments of about a million dollars to finance the new stadium.

Major league supporters say they have been assured by investment houses that the remainder of the estimated $4,500,000 stadium cost can be underwritten by nationwide bond sales.

* * *

Grading of the 160-acre site in Bloomington is expected to begin sometime in May. Bids for actual construction may be let as early as June 1.

* * *

Initially the plant might have a capacity of around 17,000. Once a major league commitment is made the seating would be expanded to 42,000.

* * *

"If the stadium is ready by next year," said Charles Johnson, executive editor of the Minneapolis Star and Tribune, "we should have major league baseball here by 1957."

Johnson has been one of the main movers behind the plan and a spokesman for Twin Cities baseball interests in the councils of the major leagues.

The Twin Cities reportedly were the first choice of major league owners in the transfer of both the St. Louis Browns and the Philadelphia Athletics.

But the only baseball stadiums here were undersized and antiquated Nicollet Park in Minneapolis and Lexington Park in St. Paul.

The Bloomington park, baseball men here say, should offer the Twin Cities a lush new pasture for money-troubled big league club owners to roam in.

* * *

They give these reasons:

Baseball here has no serious competition for the spectator dollar as it does in towns near race tracks and other sports headquarters.

* * *

The Twin Cities have a metropolitan population in excess of 1,300,000. To this they add thousands of fans from outstate, the Dakotas, Iowa and Wisconsin to whom major league baseball would be eminently attractive.

Where will the Twin Cities team come from?

Major league boosters here believe teams like Washington, Cincinnati, Baltimore and perhaps the New York Giants would have a hard time resisting the temptation of another Milwaukee Story.

That problem, they feel, will solve itself. They say the big thing is the stadium and apparently that's on the way.

Shelley Mann Defends 3 AAU Swimming Crowns

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Preliminaries in the 100-yard freestyle, 200-yard backstroke, 400-yard individual medley and one-meter diving of the National AAU women's indoor swims were run off this morning.

Finals begin this afternoon.

Patricia McCormick, 24, California housewife, is defending her diving title today and her three-meter crown Saturday. The 5-4 athlete from the Los Angeles Athletic Club won all five diving titles last year.

After each morning preliminary, the eight best compete in the afternoon in the finals. There are 153 entries for the entire competition.

Shelly Mann, 17, who swims for the Walter Reed Hospital team of Washington, D.C., will defend her three titles in the 100-yard butterfly, 100-yard backstroke and 400-yard individual medley.

Carol Tait, 16, from Palo Alto, Calif., representing the Santa Clara Swim Club, will seek to retain her championships in the 500-yard and the 250-yard freestyle events.

Barbara Stark, 17, Orinda, Calif. is defending champion in the 200-yard backstroke; and Mary Jane Sears, 15, of the Walter Reed team, comes back to defend her title in the 250-yard breaststroke.

Only one 1954 titleholder, Jody Alderson of Chicago, will not be back, leaving the 100-yard freestyle open.

Bill Miller Has One Good Inning for Birds

GRAHAM, N.C. (AP) — One inning doesn't make a season, but southpaw Bill Miller of the Baltimore Orioles was mighty happy after pitching one inning against the Pittsburgh Pirates yesterday.

"I never threw the ball that hard, even when I had a good arm," Miller said after hurling the ninth inning to preserve a 3-2 Baltimore victory. He struck out the last two men with a runner on second.

MILWAUKEE—Andy Pafko of the Braves has hit 194 home runs in his 12 years in the majors.

Trotters do OK Without Tatum

CHICAGO (AP) — The fabulous Harlem Globetrotters are turning a fast basketball dollar these days even without their Golden Goose.

Abe Saperstein, pudgy owner-coach of the Globetrotters, is not a bit worried over the fact that Goose Tatum, clown prince of basketball, might never play again.

Saperstein suspended Tatum for a month after the Goose pulled one of his famous disappearing acts and is now prepared to release his star. Tatum was last reported visiting relatives in Arkansas.

"I haven't heard a single word from Goose," Saperstein said after Sunday's appearance at Chicago Stadium. "His suspension will be over April 12th and frankly, if I don't hear from him I'll just have to release him."

Belief that the Trotters could not draw as well at the gate without Tatum has proven wrong.

Near capacity and some record crowds have packed stadiums throughout the East and the Midwest on the present whirlwind tour with the College All Stars.

Saperstein estimated attendance on the tour is about 15 per cent above last year's journey with the All Stars. "I don't know how much that is in dollars and cents but I know we're way ahead," Saperstein said.

Saperstein makes no bones about wanting Tatum back but he is prepared to go ahead without his $50,000 a year star.

"Several times on this tour we've hung up signs at the box office saying Tatum will not be playing but the fans still come. In fact, on advance sales we've only had seven requests for refunds."

Trucks Faces Cards in Training Windup

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—The Chicago White Sox today will call on veteran Virgil Trucks for pitching duty against the St. Louis Cardinals as the two clubs play their eighth and final game of the spring tour.

Trucks, scheduled for the American League opener in Cleveland Tuesday, will try to go the route for the Sox.

From Ice to Squash

CLEVELAND (AP) — Freddie Thurier, who holds the American Hockey League record for total goals, assists and points in both regular season and playoff play, is now becoming famous in another sport — squash racquets. Thurier fought his way to the semi-finals in the Cleveland Class A Squash Racquets tournament here.

Thurier is still active as an official in the AHL.

Scans New Talent

Martin, Scott May Be Chiefs Big Hopes on Links; Newcomers Could Be Big Help

By H. GUY MOATS

With only two of last year's varsity lettermen returning, PHS golf coach John Maturo is facing a rather difficult task right now. With a stiff dual, Saginaw Valley and outside schedule, including SVC, Regional and state tourneys and the Pontiac Press annual prep event, Maturo will have to whip up his squad from a group of junior varsity players and from newcomers. The new men may provide some answers to the problem.

Only Arthur Scott, who has not been out for drills, and Bill Martin are varsity holdovers. Martin, however, is apparently off to a fast start and is hitting in mid-season style. He has turned in one fine round, a 37-36 at Municipal course.

Junior varsity holdovers include Tom Cross, who has been working out at Pine Lake and at the city layout, hitting the ball well. Others are Walter Larsen, shooting in the low 40s; Ronald Nelson, Bruce Robertson, Paul Hickman, Paul Hagle, Ron Beckman, George Bergstrom, Bob Pike, Dale Hannan and Jerry Richards. Bergstrom and Richards are rated among the better prospects.

Loss of Don Walker, who has used up his ellgibility, will hurt the squad a lot. Don was one of the Chiefs' better golfers last year, and with Martin and Scott, 1954 standouts, was a big factor in the club's success. Chiefs won 6, lost 3, placed 3rd in Valley competition.

An interesting observation on the graduated Pontiac golfers from the 1954 team was offered today by Maturo. The coach reported that four of the varsity crew are now in college. They are top man Norbert Capistrant, Harold Titus, Mike Rosenberger and Bob Kent, an alternate.

A schedule of 13 matches, mostly duals, and three tourneys, opens at Arthur Hill April 15. Rest of this card:

For April—22, Waterford here; 25, at Flint Central; 28, at Flint Northern; 29, Bay City here.

For May—4, at Port Huron; 5, Flint Northern here (SVC); 10, Port Huron here; 11, Waterford at PCC; 13-14, regionals; 16, SVC tourney at Owosso; 21, State finals; 23, Pontiac Press tourney.

Wynn May Miss Season's Start

Tribe Ace Hurler Is Still on Shelf After Bout With Flu

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — One member of the Cleveland Indians' big three pitching staff may not be ready for his regular turn when the season opens. That's Early Wynn.

* * *

Because of salary differences, Wynn didn't get into uniform until a week after the training camp opened, and two weeks ago he spent five days abed with flu. Now the flu bug has him again and he missed a chance to hurl yesterday at Charlotte. He still hasn't rounded into form.

* * *

But if Herb Score, who started for the Tribe in yesterday's 3-2 victory over the New York Giants, can keep up his exhibition game pace, the immediate need for Wynn won't be urgent.

Brooklynite Makes Good

LEXINGTON, Va. (AP) — A sophomore—6-foot, 3-inch Barry Storick of Brooklyn, N.Y. — has been elected captain of Washington and Lee's 1955-56 basketball team. Storick, one of three sophomores on this year's W&L team which won 11 of its last 14 games, pulled in 288 rebounds for the Generals and scored 293 points in 29 games.

Skowron Equals Mark for Fielding Assists

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — It was only an exhibition game but 1st baseman Bill Skowron of the Yankees equalled a major league fielding record of seven assists for a 1st baseman against the Cardinals here.

In a regular season play only three men have achieved this feat in the majors — Bill Bransfield of the Pirates in 1904, George Stovall of the Browns in 1912 and Fred Luderus of the Phillies in 1918.

Dropo Clouts Pair of Homers for White Sox

Erskine Hurls Shutout at Nats; Hearn Shines in Giant Loss

By The Associated Press

Unless Eddie Stanky really is a changed man this season, $5 will get you $10 the scrappy little manager of the St. Louis Cardinals must have had his hands jammed in his hip pockets, string bitterly at the ground and ripping the turf in short jabs with his spikes at the Little Rock ball park yesterday.

Harvey Haddix, his southpaw ace, and the struggling Vic Raschi were belted for a 13-3 decision by the Chicago White Sox.

* * *

It was pitching, or the lack of it, that outweighed the Cards' hitting power and scuttled them in sixth place last season. Haddix particularly had trouble. He was off to a bad start and then, after gaining his form, he was injured and lost his effectiveness again.

Thus far this spring—with opening day just around the weekend—Haddix has had it rough. In five exhibition appearances he has a 0-3 record, Raschi, bothered by a bad back, made his first appearance in the White Sox game.

* * *

The man who done them wrong in Little Rock was Walt Dropo, swatting a three-run homer off Haddix and a two-run clout off Raschi. That pushed Dropo's home run production to six in eight days.

Haddix left in the fifth, trailing 7-0. Raschi was clipped for five runs in the sixth. Tony Jacobs came on in the seventh and the White Sox wound up with 19 hits.

In the first game to be played in a major league park this season, Brooklyn defeated Washington in Griffith Stadium 6-0. Carl Erskine blanked the Senators with some difficulty. He gave up 10 hits.

Brooklyn slugged Bob Porterfield for 8 of its 11 hits.

* * *

Cleveland nudged the New York Giants 3-2. Dave Pope doubled across the winning run in the 10th. Jim Hearn looked good for the Giants, yielding just one earned run in the seven innings he worked. He also homered. Herb Score, the Indians' prize youngster, was touched for a first-inning run—the first he's allowed this spring—but no more in four frames.

* * *

Sammy White hit a home run in the fourth with two on to break up a duel between Boston's Ike Delock and Philadelphia's Murry Dickson. The Red Sox went on to win 9-3.

Baltimore edged Pittsburgh 3-2 when Roger Bowman walked Vern Stephens with the bases loaded in the ninth.

Miller's Bingo Takes Top Spot in Derby Trial

The 10-month-old male beagle, owned by Harry E. Miller, 6645 Pontiac Lake road, took top honors in the 15-inch derby winner's stake, at Manchester, during the last weekend.

Bingo, son of CH. Lynch's Speaker and Miller's Dainty Dottie, beat a field of 57 beagles. A 13-inch class was also run. Bingo previously won in the Detroit Beagle Club trials and will run in the big International at Pittsburgh, in mid-April.

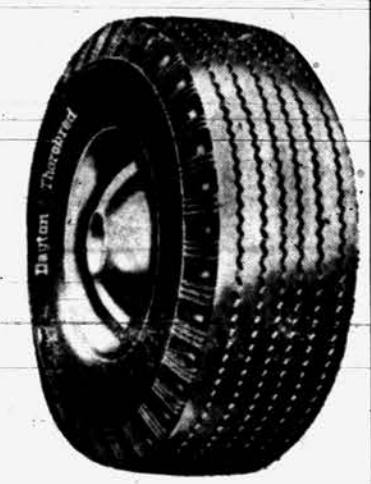

Alston Delays Action on Howell, Kellert

WASHINGTON (AP) — Manager Walt Alston still hasn't reached a decision on catcher Dixie Howell and right-handed pinch hitter Frank Kellert. "I'm still looking at Kellert," Alston said. "I'll play him as much as possible to see more of his hitting, but I want to play the regulars in what remains of the exhibition schedule." Kellert grounded out in a pinch role as the Brooks beat Washington 6-0 last night.

Whitfield Youngsters Start Diamond Action

First spring outdoor practice session for Whitfield School youngsters took place first of the week, with some 30 taking part, according to Dwight Thompson, who is handling the boys. The school expects about 60 to be out later to help provide material for three teams, representing the 4th, 5th and 6th grades. Teams also will take part in the city Parks and Recreation Department program during the summer.

March Building Permits Pass $1 Million in Waterford Area

School Names 2 Top Seniors

Stanley Rock, Lois Wenz Will Head Graduates at Walled Lake High

WALLED LAKE—Stanley Rock and Lois Wenz have been named valedictorian and salutatorian of the class of 1955 at Walled Lake High School with averages of 3.91 and 3.90.

Stanley is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Rock of 4346 Forbush Ave., Twin Beach, while Lois' parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ray E. Wenz, 868 Mandon Dr., Route 5 Milford.

Stanley has been active in the affairs of his class and school clubs since transferring to Walled Lake from Waterford in the ninth grade.

He has served on the class executive committee, is president of the National Honor Society, was proof reading editor of the yearbook, a three-year member of the library staff and holds membership in the Latin, science and chess clubs.

He has represented his school in discussion groups in the Inter-lakes League, has been a member of the debate team and recently won the district extempore speech contest.

In addition he found time to run on the cross country team and take a part in the young people's group of his church, serving as its president this year.

Lois joined the class of '55 as a junior, transferring from Dublin school where she was the valedictorian of her tenth grade class. She too, is a member of the National Honor Society.

Most of her energies outside of classes is directed toward assisting in the senior high office, where she works before school each first hour, and during her lunch hour. Lois is president of the Office Assistants' Club.

Her hobbies include reading and horseback riding.

DOG'S LIFE — Not so bad for a dog's life is this portable but noisy back scratcher. Beowulf, a two-year old Richmond, Va. boxer, has been getting the treatment from D-D, his backyard playmate, ever since last Easter, when the honker was purchased by their master, W. W. Wilkinson. So far the rubdown has been free, and Beowulf has no return obligations. That might be because he's been smart enough not to call his benefactor a "quack."

Stores to Go Up at Dixie, Walton

Detroit Firm to Build Pharmacy, Supermarket at Cost of $97,500

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — A Detroit firm has announced plans for the $97,500 construction of two stores near Walton Blvd. and Dixie Highway.

Joseph Shefman, president of the Shefman Const. Co., said the project would include a National Food Store, and a drug store.

A building permit for the structures has been granted by the township, and work is underway.

Expected completion date is early August, according to Shefman.

The brick and steel construction buildings will be opposite the state truck weighing station on the Dixie.

Petitions Urge Metamora Area Vote on Zoning

METAMORA — A committee studying zoning in Metamora township has recommended that a zoning ordinance be adopted.

The committee, composed of A. P. Stocker, Harry Best and Edward C. Parker are circulating petitions to bring the question to a vote of the people.

At present there are no building restrictions or permits.

Also in this group will be Barbara Gottschalk, Wilma Thomas, Joanne McKinnon, Paula Kilgore, Carolyn Ball, Betty Crowley, Janet Barnard and Judy Greenthal.

Next, the Girls' Choir, also under the direction of Miss Davis, will sing "Green Cathedral," "Follow the Gleam," and "When the Red, Red, Robin Comes Bob-Bob-Bobbin' Along." There are 58 students in this group.

The fourth group to appear on the program will be the eighth grade general music class under director Francis Mansfield. Their selections will be "At Dawning," and "Come Thou Almighty King."

To conclude the program, the 71-piece band, with Bruce Orr directing will present "America," "Easy Steps" march, "Chorale," and "Opener" march.

Elect Goulet to Head Jaycees at Waterford

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP—William Goulet has been named new president of the Waterford Junior Chamber of Commerce.

He will take over from Charles Pappas in June.

Other new officers named are John Chase, first vice president; Robert Wheller, second vice president; Robert Klingman, secretary and Tom Belton, treasurer.

Seven new members have been elected from the general membership to serve on the governing board, making a total of 13 board members.

At the election meeting the forthcoming Home and Gardens Show was discussed, as were plans for next month's first year anniversary celebration.

Doubles Total for 1954 Period

2-Store Development on Dixie Highway Ups Valuation by $97,500

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP—An increase in commercial permits sent the March building valuation over the one million dollar mark in Waterford Township, the supervisor's office has announced.

Last month's 140 permits totaled $1,072,835.80.

This amount more than doubled the $503,734 valuation for March, 1954. The construction is also a sharp jump from February's $623,477.

Topping the commercial building anticipated is a two-store development on Dixie Highway valued at $97,500.

Other commercial building includes the Northern Lumber Co. on Cooley Lake road, $18,000; a gas station, $12,900 and a root beer stand on M59, $8,000.

Home building continued to keep up its rapid pace. Ninety-two home permits were issued, at a valuation of $879,280. Twenty-two homes will be remodeled, for permit valuations of $33,805, and commercial remodeling added $8,600.

Thirteen garage permits raised the total figure by $10,550.

Physician to Address Williams Lake PTA

WILLIAMS LAKE — Dr. Leonard Blackwell, Pontiac physician, will speak on immunization, and the Walt Disney film "Defense Against Invasion" will be shown when the Williams Lake PTA meets tonight at 8 p.m. at the school.

Mrs. Richard VanHuizen, health committee chairman is in charge of the program. Mothers of the fourth grade pupils will be hostesses for the social hour following the meeting.

Kenny Polio Hospital Film Slated at Rochester

ROCHESTER — Representatives of the Sister Kenny Polio Hospital of Farmington will appear in Rochester this evening to show movies and explain the work being done at the hospital for polio victims.

The group will be at the Eagle's Hall, 115 E. Fourth St., at 8 p.m. The Eagles have been raising money to purchase equipment for the hospital. The meeting is open to the public.

Mental Health Is Topic

AUBURN HEIGHTS — Dr. J. J. Van Zoeren of the Haven will give an illustrated talk on mental health at the 8 p.m. meeting today of the Stiles PTA.

Centennial Plates Now Being Sold at North Branch

NORTH BRANCH—Plans for the centennial observation of this town continued this week, with the sale of souvenir plates.

The plates illustrate the local streets as they were 100 years ago, and are now. The birthday party will be held June 16-18.

Mrs. Ralph Gardner and Mrs. Almeda McIntyre have completed the history of the local community, and Mr Steward Mitchell and Mrs. Spencer Wilson have announced that dress rehearsals will begin immediately for the centennial pageant.

Net $455 Profit at Benefit Show

Garden, Women's Clubs Allocate Funds to Aid CAI Building

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — A net profit of $455 resulted from the fashion show given recently by the CAI Women's Club and the Waterford Branch of the National Farm and Garden Association, for the CAI building benefit.

At a joint committee meeting this week, the clubs decided to pay $95 for the auditorium stage improvements and split the balance. The garden club plans to purchase a $100-life membership, using the rest for landscaping the CAI grounds.

The Women's Club will decide on its mortgage-project division of funds at a meeting next week.

The CAI mortgage-lifting drive, begun in February, shows only about $3,000 on the $11,300 mortgage left to account for before mortgage burning ceremonies can be held. Nearly $4,500 in cash and $4,000 in pledges have been turned in to date.

More than 2,000 adults and children use this community center every week. A volunteer project, it was started about ten years ago.

Parents Group to Meet

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — A hearing and a discussion of the Christopher recordings on sexual education will constitute the program for Child Study Group I when it meets next Monday at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Irwin Greer. Mrs. Clare Novess will be co-hostess.

Detroit Hostel Group Buys Camp Location at Milford

MILFORD — Five and a half acres of woodland hills was purchased recently by the American youth Hostels of Detroit, from Charles Ash, 2220 Wixom Rd.

This hostel will be a camp, the first in a chain of five extending down the Huron River from Proud Lake, permitting the maximum use of this scenic area.

Typical hosteling activities include cycling on the blacktop roads, canoe trips on the river, hiking on well developed trails on State and Huron-Clinton lands, and winter sports at nearby Teeple Hill and Kensington.

Construction will commence largely on a volunteer basis this coming June and will proceed as fast as funds become available. The funds to purchase the site and to initiate construction, have been donated mostly by Detroit area hostelers, according to Thomas A. Loomis, Executive Director.

The Hostel will have separate dormitories for boys and girls, sanitary and cooking facilities for a total of 24 people, plus permanent quarters for houseparents. A large central room with a fireplace will lend itself to social activities.

The hostel's architect and head of the project is Alastiar Mackintosh, of the architectural firm O'Dell, Hewlett and Luckenbach in Birmingham.

The Hostel will be owned and operated by the Metropolitan Detroit Council of the American Youth Hostels.

Marilyn J. Dobat, Alan B. Burnham Wed at Rochester

ROCHESTER—At a candlelight ceremony Saturday evening at St. Paul Methodist Church, Marilyn Joyce Dobat, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Dobat, became the bride of Alan Bryce Burnham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Burnham.

The bride approached the altar wearing a fitted gown of slipper satin, fashioned with a sweetheart neckline and long pointed sleeves. The full skirt fell into a cathedral train.

Her fingertip veil of illusion was held in place by a Juliet cap of pearls and she carried a white Bible on which was a corsage of white orchids and stephanotis.

Attending the bride were her three sisters. Matron of honor was Mrs. Thomas McPeter, with Shirley and Joan Dobat as bridesmaids. Elizabeth Barton was junior bridesmaid.

Hazen Burnham, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. Claude Connon and Ralph Dobat, brother of the bride, acted as ushers. Robert Hodges served as junior usher.

A reception for 250 guests was held at the Avon Park Pavilion immediately following the ceremony.

Disc Jockey, Singer Slated at Youth Night

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP—Appearing tonight at the Yough Night program in the Community Activities Inc. building here will be Detroit's TV and radio disc jockey, Bud Davies, and Pontiac vocalist Patty Ann Morris.

Davies will spin popular old and new hits, styled to the taste of the 400 high school students expected to attend, and Miss Morris will sing current hits.

The weekly Youth Night dances are sponsored by the Waterford Township Recreation Department from 7-9:30 and are open to all teenagers.

Adventists Set to Break Ground

Holly Ceremony Sunday to Start Construction of Adelphian Auditorium

HOLLY—Ground breaking ceremonies will take place Sunday at three o'clock for the new Adelphian Academy auditorium.

Several men of national prominence in the Seventh Day adventist Church will be present. The Adelphian Band will furnish the music.

E. P. Weaver, superintendent of construction, states that the new building will be completed early next year.

Situated between the two new campus dormitories, the structure will be 92x163 feet in size, and will have a cafeteria on the first floor.

The second floor will be given over to a combined gymnasium and auditorium with a seating capacity of 1,500. Excavation will begin at once.

The new building is a part of a million dollar expansion program now under way in connection with the academy.

The general public is invited to attend the ground breaking program.

Waterford Garden Club Hears Talk on Birds

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — Walter Nickell, of Cranbrook's Institute of Science, presented an illustrated lecture on birds and bird calls when the Waterford Branch of the National Farm and Garden Association met at 1 p.m. today in the home of Mrs. A. W. Emery, 5540 Dixie Hwy.

Mrs. Fred Collins, Mrs. James Green, and Mrs. Owen O'Neill will be co-hostesses for this guest day program.

County Calendar

Auburn Heights

The Sacred Heart Church is sponsoring a Penny Supper from 5:30-7:30 p.m. at the church Saturday.

Troy Township

There will be a regular business meeting of the Troy Dad's Auxiliary at 7:30 p.m. today at the Troy High School.

Couple 'Doing Things' in Golden Years

Milford Man Is Master Clock Maker While Wife Displays Talent in Art Field

MILFORD — Two busy people who are 'doing things' as they enter the golden years of life, are the John Van Egmonds of 819 Commerce Street.

John, a quality supervisor at Fisher Body Corp., is a master craftsman in making and repairing old clocks. He has a collection of more than 40 rare old timepieces, ranging from tiny Dresden figurines, to two magnificant grandfather clocks.

When he was 15, John became interested in clock making and learned most of his technique from a cousin, who was a master clock maker.

Since that time, John has spent most of his life working on his hobby. He builds and repairs Early American timepieces, and in many cases has to handmake the wooden parts.

Formerly an art teacher, Mrs. Van Egmond has continued to paint, both in oil and water colors. Beulah graduated from Ypsilanti State College, then studied art at the Pratt Institute in New York City.

Last year Mrs. Van Egmond had exhibits in the Kirk Of The Hills national show, in the Tri-state show in September plus paintings at the Scarab Club and at J. L. Hudson Co.

Mrs. Van Egmond also has studied all the art crafts including loom weaving, metal work, china painting, hooked rugs, and pottery. She recently finished a huge braided rug for her living room in just two colors, maroon and gray.

Together John and Beulah have designed and constructed a grandfather's clock that resembles an irreplaceable heirloom.

The brass dial is etched with an original design, and the hands and Arabic numbers are hand-made of copper. The case of this masterpiece is made of solid walnut, and Mr. Van Egmond constructed and finished it in his basement workshop.

The Van Egmonds are looking forward to the annual convention of the Great Lakes Chapter of the National Watch and Clock Collectors to be held in Washington, D.C., May 21 and 22. The organization plans to present President and Mrs. Eisenhower with an antique sun dial.

CLOCK-WATCHERS — Although they are clock-watchers, and clock fanciers, the John VanEgmonds of Milford are not concerned with time. It takes care of itself, as they spend their leisure hours in hobbies of craftsmanship. Here they pose before a grandfather clock which they designed and constructed together. Her husband builds and repairs early American time pieces, and Mrs. VanEgmond creates water color and oil paintings.

Warners Plans Full Length 'Miss Brooks'

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS)—Jack Warner has grabbed another top TV show, "Our Miss Brooks," for a full length motion picture and it goes without saying that Eve Arden, who is as much at home in films as she is in TV, will be the star.

Just as Warners did with "Dragnet," bringing Jack Webb, his writers and practically the entire crew to the studio, "Our Miss Brooks" will be kept intact with Al Lewis continuing his writing and directing chores and David Weisbart producing.

It's been a long time since Eve's made a picture, not since she gave up the movies to become TV's favorite school ma'am.

I happen to know that a deal is being worked out with Marilyn Monroe and 20th Century-Fox by the Music Corporation of America. Marilyn is getting some good advice from Lew Wassermian, general manager of MCA, and I'm told she's listening.

* * *

It would be wonderful if Marilyn could make another picture. She'll never be as hot as she is right now, and the longer she stays away from the screen the more difficult it gets, although the more we see of the glamour girls who try to be another Marilyn, the more we know there is only one Monroe. She's the best, and there are no substitutes.

Serious minded Lew Ayres has quietly completed two films, one based on Judaism and the other on Buddhism, the result of his six months tour around the world to make comparative studies of the great religions.

Lew plans to make similar pictures on three other religions, then he will start a lecture tour to present the films, along with his own thoughts on them. He also has been given an advance by a New York publishing company on a book he is writing on the same subjects.

*

More and more, the film companies are realizing that people want to hear about religion. Our Christian belief is the one thing that is shining and strong in these days of dark uncertainty.

The Easter bonnets this year, according to two authorities, Freddie Fredericks and our own Rex, are extremely feminine.

Says Freddie: "The big Easter hat fashion is up-sloped, a sloping flower-pot style, and you can praise or blame Audrey Hepburn. She inspired me to create this fashion, which is sweeping the country."

Rex says: "The most popular Easter bonnet this year will be romantic."

I suppose Rex means that the ladies must wear something more than just a pillbox set atop their heads. Big hats are more flattering, I realize, but not as comfortable.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Alan Ladd, on location in San Francisco for "The Darkest Hour," sent for Sue to join him.

Talk is that Jean Peters has established residence in Miami to divorce Stuart Cramer III.

Liz Taylor knows how Mamie Eisenhower felt. Before Liz got delivery on her new all-white sports car, her next-door neighbor drove home in an identical convertible, same make, same color.

Bob Howard spent a whole day at Howard Manor airmailing local newspapers to friends in London who could not read about Winston Churchill's resignation because their own papers are closed down by strike.

Jeanette MacDonald returns to Dallas this summer for her second season in "Bittersweet."

Couples 'Spoon' Openly in Swanky Night Clubs

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Everybody was spooning at the Little Club—"spooning" being the new cafe society stunt wherein you manipulate the bowl part of the spoon around the tip of your nose until it sticks there. Playwright Eddie Trzcinski, French actress Lilo, pretty Geene Courtney, and Mitch Miller, the record man, quickly mastered it. Spooning is most enjoyed by people who ought to be home working.

Jo Stafford'll follow Perry Como from CBS to NBC, and is also expected to make a record deal with RCA when her Columbia deal's up. Como, who's made a $15,000,000 deal to do a one-hour NBC variety show—probably against the Jackie Gleason time—was interviewed by young Fort Worth radio preacher Marvin Boyd. Como, whose religious feelings are well known, told the minister:

Ike, Adlai Best Bets in Wake of Election

WASHINGTON (AP) — Results of state and local elections strengthened a belief among politicians today that President Eisenhower and Adlai E. Stevenson may square off again in 1956.

Republican and Democratic national chairmen claimed good omens for their parties in conflicting statements yesterday over the outcome of balloting in Michigan, Chicago, St. Louis and smaller cities east and west.

* * *

But to many political strategists the inconclusive results were such as to indicate both parties will be looking for their strongest candidates next year.

Former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York said yesterday he still hopes "prayerfully" Eisenhower will run. He did not say whether he had discussed the matter with the President during a White House call.

Urges A-Arms Ban

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Kerr (D-Okla) has appealed to President Eisenhower to ban the use of atomic weapons in any defense of Quemoy and Matsu. He said in a statement that the employment of other than conventional weapons in fending off any Red Chinese attack against the islands "could provoke massive retaliation against American families and American homes."

Minneapolis Gets Grant

WASHINGTON (INS) — The House and Home Finance Agency today approved a $6,606,411 loan and a $4,399,035 capital grant to aid Minneapolis, Minn. for cleaning and redeveloping a 180-acre slum area.

Suggests Checkup for 'Cancer Phobia'

LANSING (UP)—The Michigan Department of Health recommends a quick trip to the doctor for persons suffering from "cancer-phobia—a condition often marked by sleepless nights, jitters, a heavy scowl, and a cheerless disposition."

Dr. Albert E. Heustis, state health commissioner, defined "cancer-phobia" as "incessant fear of the sease which will only run down your health. By seeing your doctor, you can get the peace of mind that comes from his examination, and if cancer should be found, the rewards of early detection may be yours."

Heustis said preliminary figures show Michigan had 10,017 cancer deaths in 1954, against 9,904 in 1953.

He called for full use of "Common sense and science" to reduce the death toll and warned against "false fears" of cancer.

Mrs. Nation's Hometown Wants Its Liquor Stores

MEDICINE LODGE, Kan. (AP) — A proposal to oust liquor stores failed yesterday in Medicine Lodge, where 55 years ago Carry Nation opened her crusade against saloons.

The voters in this south central Kansas town decided 488-451 to retain liquor stores.

Mrs. Nation's old home here has been made a permanent memorial to her. It was in 1900 she began a 10-year attack on liquor. It took her from coast to coast. She used stones and billiard balls to wreck bars and later adopted a hatchet as a weapon. She died in 1911.

Form Soviet Coal Office

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet government has set up a new ministry in an apparent move to boost coal production. It announced last night the formation of a ministry of construction of coal industry enterprises to be headed by Leonid G. Malnikov, former ambassador to Romania.

Letters Flood Columnists

By MARGARET LATROBE

A gentleman scribe recently admitted finding himself in hot water with feminine readers for remarking that no lady older than 16 should try to wear a wide-brimmed picture hat.

It just goes to show that men, however discerning, will never know much about women. (Honey lamb, every single gal on earth thinks her profile is a knockout in the face-framing millinery. And the older she gets, the wider the hat, the better she looks. So!)

It also goes to show that no columnist ever knows when the bells will ring in readers' heads, or why they rang so loudly.

My friend and adviser, the late Erich Brandeis whose column was widely syndicated for years, said the most mail he ever received about a single column was about popovers—that rich and fluffy hot bread. He had written that his wife, a talented and gracious lady, had only one failing. She couldn't make popovers. And before the ink had dried on the early edition, mail began coming.

From everywhere came recipes, advice, warnings, shrill-toned admonition against eating popovers at all, and just as many congratulations on his expressed desire to consume more of the delicacy.

Billy Rose once mentioned that his simple dissertation on the doctor brought response from the four corners by the 14-ton truckload. This column was reprinted, and still he was swamped with requests for copies. For all I know they may even have made a movie of it.

Newspaper folk may spend hours or weeks turning a phrase, doing research for a single sentence, drinking pots of coffee far into the night trying to make one offering perfect—their best possible work. With visions of grateful letters to the editor in mind, off it goes to press. And the mail? There ain't any. Either everybody went fishing that day or it wasn't run. Nobody got the message.

Then you toss off a light breezy comment on feather beds, bathing suits or Zsa Zsa Gaboom—it hits a nerver, the lights flash, and the mailman comes tottering up the steps with letters from all over.

But whatever it is that causes people to write—we like it.

Agreement or disagreement, it is welcome home, happy days, good news. Even though they take you apart and stitch you together with a dull needle.

Best of all—and this is merely human—are those letters written by the kindest people in the world, the ones who say you did a good one, they liked it. There are a lot of folks like that, and to them all—thanks.

Wonder if there is anything new with popovers? Feather beds we have done, already.

Mom to Be Shocked When Pups Mature

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UP)—Susie, a mongrel foster mother, will be a mighty confused dog when her "puppies" grow up this spring and she finds them to be wolves, the only maned wolves ever born in the United States.

The whelps were born at the San Diego Zoo recently to the only maned wolves in this country. The parents, native of South America, were sent to San Diego from Rio de Janiero in 1951.

When their mother refused to nurse them, zoo officials appealed for help and Susie, with two puppies of her own, was sent from the dog pound to the zoo. The entire family appeared to be contented for the time being.

Maned wolves are said to be the largest known, standing more than four feet high at maturity and weighing an average of 60 pounds.

The world's highest artificial ski jump is located at Iron Mountain, Michigan.

Says Shooting Padlocks Usually Jams the Works

CHICAGO (UP)—Hold it, cowboy. Don't shoot that padlock!

Harry Soref, a lock company executive, says that shooting a padlock in the manner of a horse opera cowboy rarely opens it. Shooting just jams the works, he said.

"Also, a bullet striking a padlock may ricochet and wound the would-be lock-breaker," Soref warned.

"If you've lost the key to your own padlock, then a locksmith is your best friend. If you're a burglar, then change your profession. But lay that pistol down."

Canada to Get Break on Taxes

Levy on Income Will Be Reduced 10 Per Cent Starting July 1

OTTAWA (AP)—Canadians will get an income tax cut averaging 10 per cent starting July 1. The cut was included in the federal budget message presented Parliament last night.

The tax on big corporation incomes also will be reduced. Excise taxes on some items will be trimmed and others canceled.

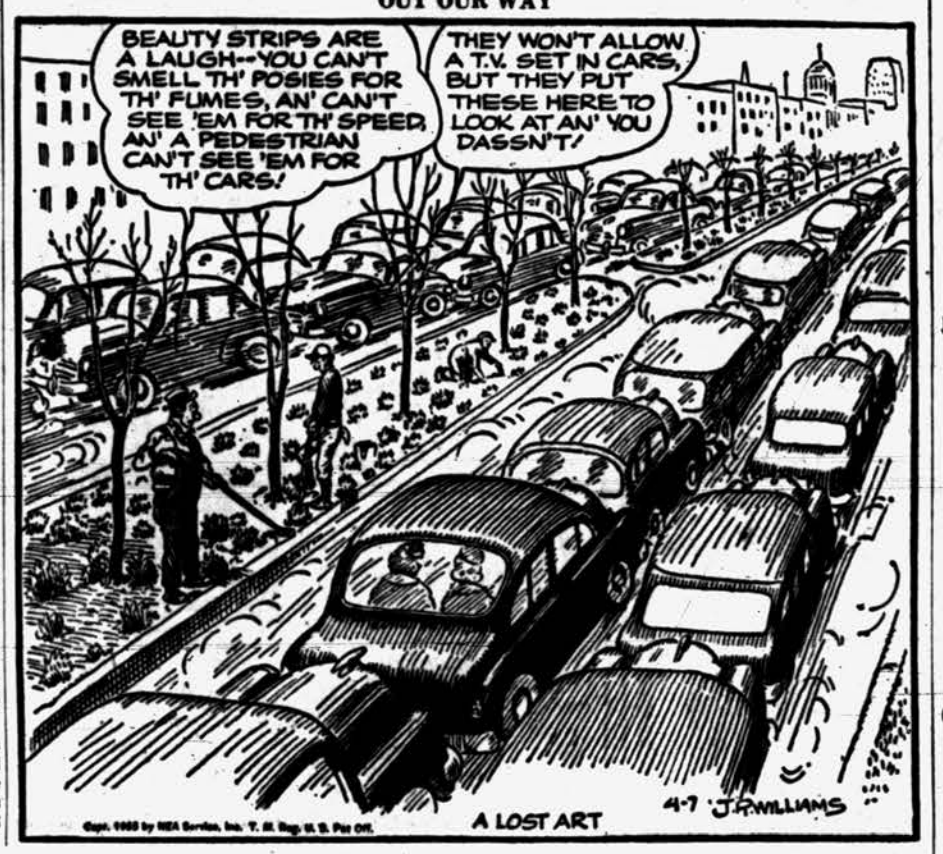

The budget message presented by Finance Minister Walter Harris called for no major tax increases.

• • •

Harris calculated government revenue during the current fiscal year ending next March 30 at $4,202,000,000. Expenses, he estimated would run $4,362,000,000 leaving a deficit of 160 million dollars. This would be Canada's second straight deficit year, after nine years of surpluses.

The finance minister said he was cutting taxes because he expected the gross national product—the value of all goods and services produced in the nation—to hit 26 billion dollars in 1956.

Wheat Higher; Others Steady

CHICAGO (AP)—A small amount of buying lifted wheat prices on the Board of Trade today but the rest of the market barely held steady. Dealings were slow in all pits.

Part of the demand for wheat was believed to come from previous short sellers. The market will be closed tomorrow, Good Friday, and brokers felt professional traders who were on the short side of the market didn't want to maintain their positions over the long weekend.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was ¼ to 1⅛ higher, May $2.09⅛; corn unchanged to ¼ lower, May $1.42¾; oats unchanged to ¼ higher, May 70; rye unchanged to ¼ higher, May $1.00¾; soybeans unchanged to 1¼ lower, May $2.51; and lard 2 to 8 cents a hundred pounds higher, May $12.92.

Four Teenagers Hurt in Auto Accident

Four teenagers were treated at Pontiac General Hospital last night for minor injuries received when the car in which they were riding skidded off Richardson Rd. at Haggerty Rd. in Commerce Township.

Treated for cuts and bruises were Lester Combs, 17, Paul Sherbert, 17, and Robert L. Wilson, 20, all of Walled Lake, and Ruth Ann Wegner, 17, 2866 Otsego, Pontiac. The driver, John J. Wilson, 18, also of Walled Lake, was uninjured.

He told Oakland County Sheriff's deputies he was attempting to make a left turn, lost control and ran off the road.

Pontiac Township Man Is Injured in Collision

James E. Johnson, 42, of 2139 Dexter Rd., Pontiac Township, was treated at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital for a cut leg Wednesday afternoon after his car was involved in a collision with another at Pontiac and Allerton Rds.

Patrick L. Kirby, 19, of 100 S. Anderson St., driver of the other car, told Oakland County Sheriff's deputies that Johnson's auto struck his in the rear as he was making a left turn onto Allerton.

Wants Ban on TV Crime

WASHINGTON (INS) — Federal Communications Commissioner Frieda B. Hennock has demanded an FCC crackdown on television crime and violence programs, charging they contribute to juvenile delinquency.

INVITATION FOR BIDS

The City of Pontiac, acting by and through the Pontiac Housing Commission, and hereinafter referred to as the Pontiac Housing Commission, will receive bids for the installation of 400 socket-type Watt Hour Meters of the following description: 15 amperes, 240 volts, 3 wire, single phase, 60 cycle, equipped with cyclometer type recording mechanism, at the Lakeside Homes Housing Project. Bids will be received until 2:00 p.m., EST, on April 22, 1955, at 535 Branch Street, Pontiac, Michigan, at which time and place all bids will be publicly opened.

Forms of contract documents will be available at the office of the Pontiac Housing Commission, 535 Branch Street on or after Monday, April 11. A Bid Guarantee and Performance and Payment Bond, as well as a Statement of Bidder's Qualifications, will be required. Not less than the minimum salaries and wages set forth in the specifications must be paid for this work.

The Pontiac Housing Commission reserves the right to reject any or all bids, or to waive any informalities in the bidding. No bid shall be withdrawn for a period of thirty (30) days subsequent to the opening of bids.

Pontiac Youngster Hit by Automobile Yesterday

Larry W. Taylor, 5, of 652 E. Walton Blvd., who was struck by an auto in front of his home yesterday, was reported in fair condition at Pontiac General Hospital today after suffering back injuries.

The driver, Bernard Giroux, 47, of 2431 Walnut St., and two witnesses told Pontiac Police the child darted into the path of the auto from between parked cars. Police said there were 99 feet of skid marks at the scene.

Man Who Killed Girl, 6, 31 Years Ago Dies at 75

JACKSON (AP)—Adolph Hotelling, the Owosso church elder who spent 30 years in prison for the brutal murder of a six-year-old Mount Morris girl, died today in Southern Michigan Prison at the age of 75.

Hotelling was the object of one of Michigan's largest manhunts after the body of little Dorothy Snyder was found in a barren field near her home in 1924.

An American dies of cancer every two minutes.

Stocks Higher; Losses Dot List

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market advanced today in early dealings although rather generous losses dotted the list.

Gains and losses went to around a point, but some losses were greater in individual instances.

Babcock & Wilcox, for example, was down around 3 points at times. It was off 4¾ yesterday. The company disclosed that profits from atomic power activities were somewhere in the future.

Paramount Pictures, up 2 points yesterday, gained a point today on the heels of its announcement of a new "popular price" color TV set. The stock opened on 3,000 shares up 1 at 40.

New York Central, yesterday's most active issue up ¾, started today on 4,000 shares up ⅛ at 39 and then gained a little more.

Also higher were Santa Fe, Royal Dutch Petroleum, American Telephone, Allied Chemical, Union Carbide, Kaiser Aluminum, Climax Molybdenum, Republic Steel, and United Aircraft.

Lower were Zenith Radio, Montgomery Ward, American Smelting, Westinghouse Electric, Johns-Manville, and General Dynamics.

CREATES SHELL CREATURES—June Wilson displays her collection of shell-people and shell-creatures which she has made over a period of 12 years at her home in Marshall, Mich. Elephants at right foreground are made of scallop shells for bodies and pointed spiral shells for heads and trunks. The cars drawing performers are built of painted shells. Shells compose the principal materials from which the wild animals are fashioned. The tent is plated with shells. Chenille and pipe stems form much of the bodies of performers. This is just a portion of her collection.

Pontiac Economy Gauges Show Rise Over 5 Years

Six of the nine gauges of Pontiac's economy have trended upward over the past five years, with the rise of two of the remaining three faltering slightly in 1954.

In a report covering 1950-54, the Pontiac Chamber of Commerce has compiled figures showing a continued increase in bank deposits, postal receipts, gas and electricity consumption, building permits and new dwellings.

Conversely, the report shows a continual falling off in the number of bus passengers carried during the period.

Industrial payrolls, rising from $129,492,001 in 1950 to $178,315,919 in 1953, declined to $168,996,175 last year.

Water consumption rose to 4,698,258,000 gallons in 1953, then slumped slightly to 4,627,459,000 in 1954.

Bank deposits exclusive of public funds, were boosted from $468,680,715 in 1950 to $695,271,785 in 1954.

Postal receipts topped the million-dollar mark in 1953 and 1954, up one-fifth from the $796,079 registered in 1950.

In 1954, the city issued 2,276 building permits for projects totaling $11,115,642. Of the total, 995 were for new dwellings valued at $7,486,750.

Although more permits were issued in 1954 than any other of the four years the value of the tags issued in 1951 ($16,328,992) was the greatest.

Natural gas consumption bounded upward to the 2,540,214,800-cubic-foot level in 1954, almost double the 1950 total.

Electrical energy consumption was upped by one-third in the five years, hitting 39,299,062 kilowatt hours last year.

The Chamber states all indications point to a new all-time high in industrial payrolls this year. And city officials are so confident that water consumption will rise they are worried about getting enough supply to meet demand.

Only the bus picture remains dim. The downward skid here has been reflected all over the nation as more and more persons turn to automobiles for transportation.

From the 6,728,580 passengers carried in 1950, the load here fell to 4,015,015 last year.

National City Lines, Inc., which operates the bus company here, has offered to sell Kalamazoo the line it operates there. It has been indicated a similar offer will be made to Pontiac.

Carney's 'Prediciton' Argued by Newsmen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Newsmen who attended a now-controversial briefing with Adm. Robert B. Carney disagreed last night as to whether the chief of naval operations had made a firm prediction of Communist attack in the Formosa Strait.

Carney told a Senate Appropriations subcommittee Tuesday he had not.

He has been named as the source of stories which appeared after a March 24 background session with a group of reporters. Some of these stories, without quoting Carney, said the Chinese Communists were expected to attack in the Quemoy-Matsu Island area in mid-April.

After Carney told the Senate group he had not made such a prediction, Robert L. Riggs wrote in a dispatch to the Louisville Courier-Journal that the admiral had so predicted at least four times.

Riggs said he took extensive notes at the briefing, in longhand and shorthand, and he quoted Carney as saying at one point the Reds "probably will initiate an attack on Matsu in mid-April."

Rules Supervisor Needn't Own Land

LANSING (AP)—Atty. Gen. Thomas M. Kavanagh ruled today that a candidate for township supervisor does not have to be a landowner although he must be a qualified elector of the township.

Kavanagh's opinion came in answer to a question from Secretary of State James M. Hare. Hare asked for a ruling on a 1954 act which will require that members of township boards of review be landowners and taxpayers.

The act becomes effective June 1 this year.

The attorney general said the office of township supervisor is established by the Constitution and the only qualification for the post is that the candidate be a qualified elector.

Kavanagh also ruled that it is not necessary for the supervisor to be a landowner and taxpayer to serve on the boar dof review.

Streets in River Rouge Get Fluorescent Lights

RIVER ROUGE—One hundred newly-designed Westinghouse fluorescent street lights will be installed here shortly along Jefferson avenue, it was announced today by A. F. Ayers, manager of the Detroit district office of Westinghouse Electric Corporation.

Engineers of the Detroit Edison Company, the utility firm that will install the new fixtures, pointed out this will be the first time fluorescent street lights have been used in River Rouge. The project is part of a city-wide relighting program.

Wholesale Prices of Food Dip Low

NEW YORK (AP)—Wholesale food prices as measured by the Dun & Bradstreet index declined this week to the lowest level since November 1953.

The index stood at $6.49, down from $6.52 a week ago and $7.40 a year ago. This week's figure was the lowest since the $6.48 touched on Nov. 3, 1953.

The index represents the total cost at wholesale of one pound each of 31 foods in general use.

Foods rising during the week included lard, butter, cottonseed oil, eggs, potatoes, raisins and currants. Lower were flour, wheat, corn, rye, oats, barley, beef, hams, jellies, sugar, cocoa, steers, hogs, and lambs.

Chrysler to Complete Plant Expansion in Fall

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp. reported today it expects to complete its multi-million dollar modernization and expansion program at its Mack avenue body plant some time in September.

The 2¼ million-square-foor plant is one of those purchased in 1953 from Briggs Manufacturing Co. The expansion program has been aimed primarily at enlarging capacity for Plymouth pasenger car bodies.

Plymouth is Chrysler's largest volume producer.

Raps Parents of Delinquents

Rep. Thompson Wants Mothers, Fathers Held Responsible

WASHINGTON (INS) — A Congresswoman who has spent most of her life studying juvenile problems proposed today that parents of minors involved in crime be fined or sentenced to jail.

Rep. Ruth Thompson (R-Mich), a former juvenile judge, said states should enact legislation to hold parents directly responsible for the crimes of their offspring.

Otherwise, she declared, delinquency can never be stamped out.

Miss Thompson argued that "when you hit people in their pocketbooks, you hit them hard." She said assessment of a fine would make parents realize that they must assume responsibility for the morals and ethics of their sons or daughters.

The Michigan Republican pointed out: "We now can prosecute parents for neglecting their children, and delinquency is just another form of neglect."

A tall, soft-spoken woman, Miss Thompson served 18 years as clerk and 12 years as judge of the Juvenile and Probate Court in her home town of Muskegon.

She also did social work for the Labor Department and Social Security Administration in Washington during World War II, and later was sent abroad in a legal capacity by the Army.

Says Probers Are Crucifying Harold Stassen

WASHINGTON (UP) — Sen. George H. Bender charged today that Senate investigators are attempting a "modern crucifixion" of foreign aid director Harold E. Stassen.

The Ohio Republican made the accusation against the Senate investigating subcommittee which is checking into the handling of a contract by Stassen's agency for the U.S.-financed grain elevators in Pakistan.

The subcommittee wants to know why the contract was being negotiated with a firm which did not submit the lowest bid.

Bender noted that Stassen told the subcommittee yesterday he would cancel all bids on the contract and start all over. Bender indicated this should end the matter. He accused the subcommittee of using "headline-hunting tactics" in its hearings.

Subcommittee Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark) retorted that Bender "has never protested the hearings to me—in fact, he acquiesced in them."

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr. (D-NC), a subcommittee member, said Bender had made "unfortunate deductions."

Another member, Sen. Karl E. Mundt (R-SD), pointed out that "no charges have been made again Mr. Stassen up to now that I know of."

Waterford Man Pleads Innocent to Charges

Albert Urbaniak, 28, of 3300 Elizabeth Lake Rd., Waterford Township, pleaded innocent to a charge of indecent exposure yesterday before Municipal Judge Maurice E. Finnegan and was released on a $100 bond, pending trial May 12.

Urbaniak was accused by a 15-year-old girl who said the man stopped his auto at Whittemore and Jessie Sts. and indecently exposed himself. She obtained the license number of his car the second time it happened, according to Pontiac Police who arrested him Sunday.

New Car Sales Smash Records

GM Divisions Report Highest First Quarter in Their History

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors, Chrysler and Ford report new car sales are smashing all records.

General Motors reported today its sales of new passenger cars during the first three months of this year are the highest for any quarter in history. It added that March sales set a new record for any month in history.

GM said new car sales in the first quarter were 893,978, a 46.8 per cent gain over the same period a year ago. March sales totaled 351,963, a 38.9 per cent gain over March 1954.

The previous quarterly record was 795,847 sales set in the second quarter of 1954.

All sales records in Chrysler division's 31-year history fell also during the first quarter, the firm said. It reported 44,115 new Chrysler cars delivered, a boost of 70.1 per cent over first quarter sales of 25,939 in 1954. Chrysler said sales are accelerating daily.

Buick today reported its retail deliveries for the January-March quarter totaled 186,223; Oldsmobile announced its deliveries for the quarter of 146,866; Pontiac listed 228,000 retail deliveries for its 1955 cars from introduction to the end of March.

Ford confirmed previous reports of a new sales record although it gave no specific figures. It said deliveries of cars and trucks for the January-March quarter topped the previous record of 421,806 deliveries in the first quarter of 1954.

Mercury's January-March retail deliveries numbered 89,560. The previous high mark for a first quarter was 75,444 deliveries in the first quarter of 1954.

March Report Shows Jobs Up by Half Million

WASHINGTON (AP)— The government reported today the nation's job picture improved seasonally in March with employment rising a half million and unemployment declining 200,000.

The Commerce and Labor Departments said in a joint report there were "widespread gains" in factory employment as well as in outdoor activity such as farming and construction.

* * *

The March increase in employment exceeded the decline in unemployment because a number of farm women and young persons joined the labor force.

Total employment rose from 59,938,000 in February to 60,477,000 in March, a gain of 539,000 for the month. The total was 377,000 more than the 60,100,000 employed in March 1954.

* * *

Unemployment declined from 3,383,000 in February to 3,176,000 in March, a drop of 207,000. The count of the jobless was 549,000 below that of March last year. That was the high point for 1954 unemployment with 3,725,000 out of work.

The departments said factory employment showed the sharpest February-March gain in nine years, rising by 160,000 to 16,265,000.

Claims Reds Spying on U.S. 7th Fleet

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—A Nationalist Chinese news agency said today that Soviet Russians had established an intelligence center to gather information on activities of the U.S. 7th Fleet and the Nationalist navy.

The Tatao agency, operated by the Interior Ministry, said the center was located at Siangshan, a town on the Chekiang coast 120 miles south of Shanghai. This would place it 300 miles north of Formosa.

The agency, which claims underground contacts on the mainland, said its information came from Hangchow, the provincial capital of Chekiang.

Moscow Narrows Field in Tomb Design Contest

LONDON (AP)—Moscow radio said today a jury has picked 180 possible designs out of 875 submitted for a temple to hold the remains of Joseph Stalin, Nicolai Lenin and other Communist heroes.

The pantheon project was announced soon after Stalin's death in 1953. It will stand in the Lenin Hills, south of the new Moscow State University.

Sixteen of the American states produce coking coal.

Wind Rips U.S. Camps

SEOUL (AP)—A windstorm ripped tents and damaged roofs on U. S. and South Korean military installations on Korea's east coast Wednesday. An 8th Army spokesman said there were no deaths or injuries.

Housewives Are Jolly Well Sore

Less Kitchen Shows, Women TV Announcers Would Please Ladies

NEW YORK (INS)—The English channels: Gripes and growls of hundreds of London housewives concerning British TV are reverberating as a result of a no-punches-pulled poll conducted by London's "Evening Standard."

Determined characters, these ladies, who know exactly what they don't want to see:

"No morning television"—70 per cent.

"Cut out the kitchen shows"—90 per cent.

Typical of letters received by the "Standard". "All programmes should be banished that involve patronizing household experts who tell us how to perform elementary household chores and who credit us with the IQ of mice." (The writer of the letter won a 10-pound, 10-shilling prize. And this writer knows more than one TV producer who is scared to death of mice.)

"The time has come," continued the London lady, "to haul off all programmes staged in the kitchen. We demand more entertainment."

Among the questions put to the ladies were: "Would you welcome a programme at elevenses?" We don't know what elevenses" are or is either, but the ladies didn't think they would.

"What old faces would you like to see removed?" Was another blunt query. Answered a poll-ee: "That of Andrea Troubridge for a start and some of the prim-and-proper brigade who handle women's programmes." (We don't know who Andrea Troubridge is, but we wouldn't like to be her, even for a start.)

The "Standard" concluded: "There is downright antagonism among women to women announcers, interviewers and lecturers."

What do these outspoken viewers want to see?"

"More men on women's television."—practically unanimous.

Unity Committees Study Draft of Union Merger

WASHINGTON (AP)—The AFL and CIO expect to accomplish their merger before the end of the year.

AFL President George Meany and CIO President Walter Reuther said yesterday that 'unity" committees have gone over a draft of a constitution for the proposed 15-million-member organization. They said they had agreed on practically the entire document but wanted to consider some items further.

Another meeting will be held May 2.

8 Burglaries Probed

CADILLAC (AP) — State Police are investigating a series of eight burglaries at Marion and McBain, 15 miles apart. All occurred early Wednesday. All establishments were entered through rear windows, according to police.

FOLLOWER—Mary had a little lamb following her all the time, but nine-year-old Lora May Gardsen of Petersburg, Kan., is one up on her. "Tweety Bird," her pet quail, follows her all around when not perching on Lora's shoulder.

New Kind of Animal May Threaten Stock

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — A new breed of animal, perhaps a cross between a coyote and German Shepherd dog, could be a threat to the livestock industry, a professional hunter here says.

E. G. Pope, head of the Lubbock subdistrict of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service's Predatory Animal Control Division, said the new animals are fairly large and fast.

He said he and his 35 men are attempting to watch the mystery animal closely to see if a real threat to cattle and sheep owners develops.

Jap Premier, Envoy Sip Tea Before Crowd

TOKYO (AP)—Prime Minister Ichiro Hatoyama and U. S. Ambassador John M. Allison and their wives drank Japanese ceremonial tea before some 300 spectators today in what seemed a display of Japan-American solidarity.

The scene was a reception in the garden of Hatoyama's official residence for delegates to the U.N. Economic Council for Asia and the Far East.

It featured the Tokyo police band, geisha dancers and magician acts.

Guests included Russiand and Red Chinese.

8 Afro-Asian Leaders Are Invited to Japan

TOKYO (AP)—Japan has invited leaders of eight nations to visit here after the Afro-Asian conference in Bandung, Indonesia, April 18-25. Syria, also invited, has declined.

Foreign Office sources said the government sought to promote friendly relations and to increase trade. Invited were Egypt, Iraq, Lebanon, Jordan, Libya, Yemen, Saudi Arabia and Iran.

U. S. Business Projects Change Life in Venezuela

CARACAS (UP)—American business is changing the buying and eating habits of Venezuela's 5,000,000 people.

The changes are the result of a private "point four" program founded by Nelson Rockefeller and his brothers and assisted by the major oil companies now producing nearly 2,000,000 barrels of oil a day in this mineral-rich country.

Basically this program has two parts.

The first is the Venezuela Basic Economy Corporation (VBEC), which is a hard-headed business proposition designed to improve food production, food processing and food distribution throughout Venezuela.

The second is CIDEA, a philanthropic organization dedicated to a program of raising health and nutritional standards in a country where death from malnutrition once was common.

Both VBEC and CIDEA have produced startling results.

VBEC is a subsidiary of the International Basic Economy Corp. founded in 1947 by the Rockefellers as a financing development company.

Some of its early projects, admittedly, were failures. Sums spent to modernize farming and the fishing industry did not bring good results. Farmers and fishermen resisted changes in their ancient methods. But after these early failures, VBEC really got going.

In 1949, in Maracaibo, the big oil capital, the average grocery store was a dingy little hole-in-the-wall where meat and other produce was in the open.

Flies far outnumbered the customers, and the proprietor felt he was getting gypped unless he could maintain a markup of 100 per cent on his merchandise.

VBEC erected TODOS, the first ultra-modern supermarket in South America. Venvuelan investors joined VBEC in putting up the capital. The results of this project were spectacular.

In less than 30 days prices throughout the city had dropped 15 per cent, and in a year the price drop was close to 30 per cent under the spur of competition furnished by TODOS.

The small stores also found that their customers began demanding refrigeration and modern packaging.

VBEC also moved in on food production. Building modern milk pasteurization plants in many parts of Venezuela, VBEC has raised milk consumption and production 10 times over pre-1950 levels.

Before CIDEA came into the picture in Venezuela, the basic diet was black beans and rice. Rickets, pellagra, beri-beri were common. Malnutrition was standard.

CIDA, which receives funds from the major oil companies, attacked the problem with a public relations program.

As a result of this program, deaths due to malnutrition have been cut by 50 per cent. The old dietary diseases have been cut by 40 to 50 per cent.

Town With Two Names Confusing to Everybody

DuBOIS (Bois), Ill. (UP)—The dateline is not a mistake because this little southern Illinois town is known by both names.

The historical, geographical and state-highway-department-sign name of the town is DuBois. The Illinois Central Railroad depot carries the name Bois because 10 miles down the track is DuQuoin, and passengers and baggagemen kept getting confused.

Now motorists who see DuBois on the highway sign and Bois on the depot are confused.

Oil Drillers in Illinois Have Near Peak Year

URBANA, Ill. (UP)—John C. Frye, chief of Illinois' geological survey, said reports indicate oil drilling in the state in 1954 was exceeded only by the peak years of 1939-41.

The state's oil production in 1954 ran about 10 per cent above that of 1953 and was expected to be the second highest on record.

Americans average about 188 million telephone calls every 24 hours.

Fathers Do Good Turn

AVON, Conn. (UP) — While Scoutmaster Henry C. Lee was off with his troop on a camping exercise, the fathers of his Scouts decided to build him a much needed hen house. When Lee returned from the trip he was greeted by a sign on top of the new building which read: "A Hennery for our Henry."

Colorado has the highest mean elevation of any of the states averaging 6,800 feet. By contrast Delaware has the lowest with a 60 feet average.

Worm-Grower Develops Hybrid That Fish Love

DAVENPORT, Iowa (UP)—Wilbur Eppard, the Luther Burbank of the worm world, has come up with an Iowa-California hybrid that resists cold but still has that "taste appeal" so attractive to fish.

Eppard got into his strange worm-breeding occupation last year after doctors told him he'd have to give up carpentry for less strenuous work.

He bought 15,000 California red worms and set up his business. But low Midwestern temperature killed many of his wrigglers. So he dumped some local brown-nose leaf worms in with the remainder.

Now he has about 250,000 worms in a backyard bed and 72 trays in his basement. As the worms grow to 4 inches long, Eppard hand-picks bunches of 40 of them, grabs a handful of "special formula" and dumps the mixture into a plastic bag.

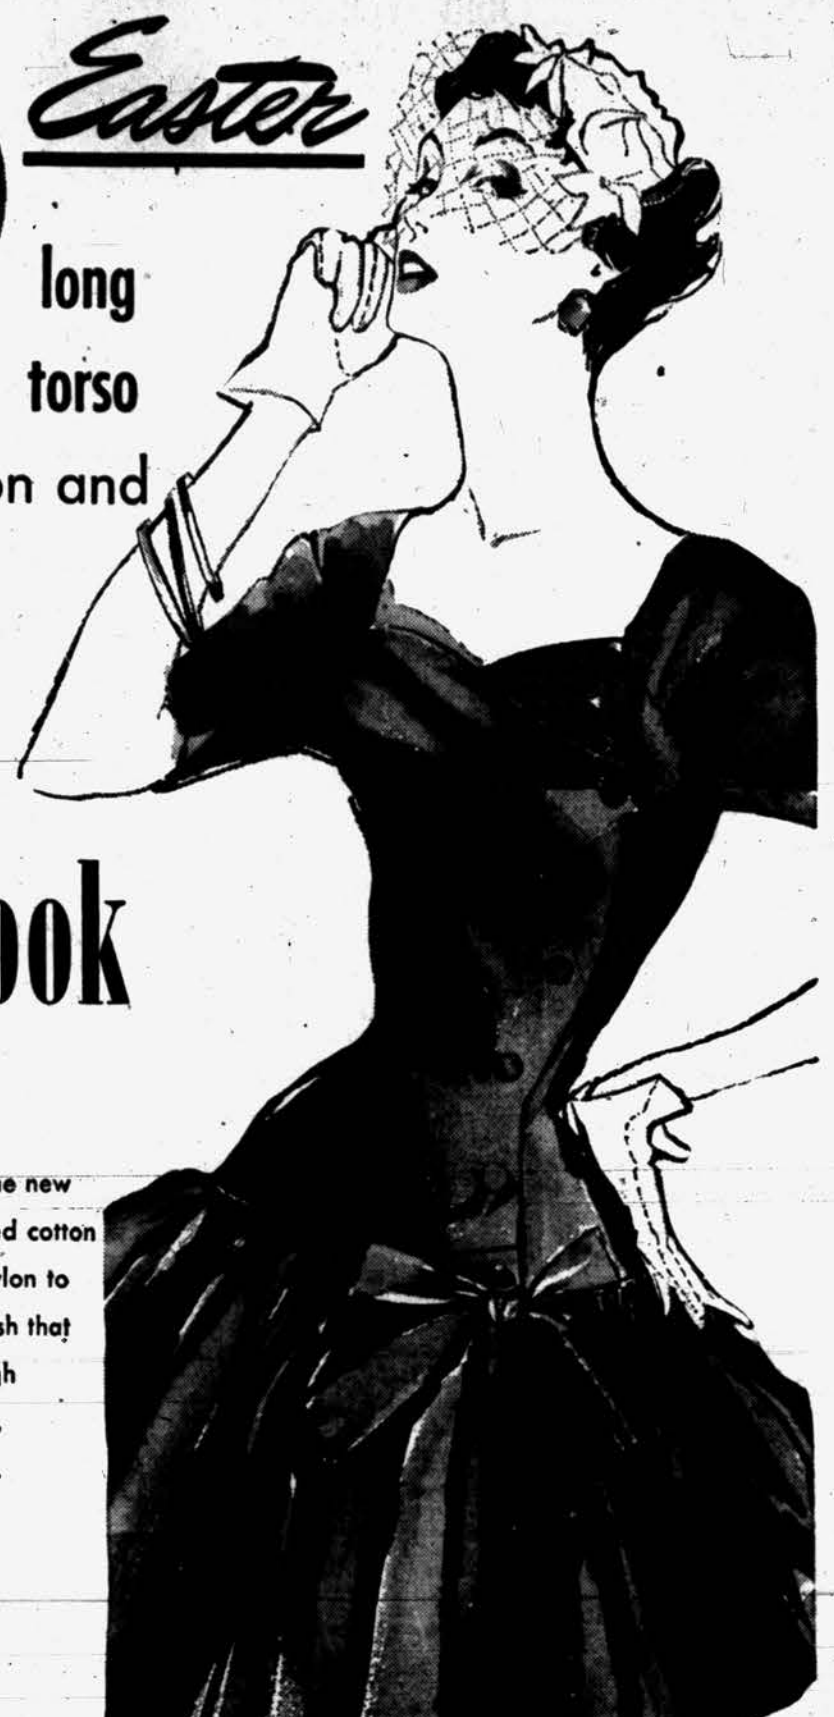

He says the worms will stay fresh and alive for about two months.
