Peron Tightens Grip on Argentina

Dictator Vows Death to Foes of His Regime

Withdraws His Offer to Resign Presidency as Supporters Cheer

BUENOS AIRES (INS)—President Juan Peron, vowing death to all who stand in his way, moved to tighten his 10-year-long grip on Argentina today.

With the shouts of more than a 100,000 of his supporters welling up from the Plaza de Mayo last night, Peron withdrew the offer to resign that he had made some 10 hours earlier.

Speaking from the balcony of Government House, the President gave virtually direct orders to his Peronista supposters to kill any member of the opposition caught plotting against the government.

In a strongly worded speech, Peron declared:

"If any person is caught in the act of attempting to create disorder, he may be killed by any Argentine. This order to all Peronistas is directed against those who conspire or incite disorders as well as those who actually execute crimes."

Peron's request to the Peronist party and General Confederation of Labor that he be permitted to leave office was the signal for a general strike to be called throughout the nation.

* * *

With Peron remaining in office, the CGF issued orders last night that work was to resume this morning. By late last night, the city was quiet again and the streets deserted.

FIVE WILL FALL

The 59-year-old President promised his followers that for every one of them that fell in violence with their opponents, "five of them will fall."

* * *

Ten years ago this fall, similar action by the workers whom Peron had organized brought him back into the government after he had been forced to resign.

Whatever Peron's main aim was in planning the demonstration it served to indicate that his influence among his supporters was unshaken. And not all who clamored last night for his continuation in power were members of his own party.

Consultant

MURRAY D. VAN WAGONER

Name Area Man as Turnpike Aide

Murray Van Wagoner Is Consulting Engineer for Toll Road Group

George N. Higgins, chairman of the Michigan Turnpike Authority, today announced the appointment of Murray D. Van Wagoner, of Birmingham, as consulting engineer for the authority.

The appointment was suggested recently in a Pontiac Press editorial.

Higgins said he and Van Wagoner will tour the route of the proposed north-south turnpike from Bridgeport, near Saginaw, to Rockwood on the south. The inspection, already made once by Higgins, will begin at the southern end, with special attention given to Dearborn and Detroit, the chairman said.

"I wanted somebody local who knows the problems and who has built roads to look over the route," said Higgins. "Maybe he will see something that I don't see or spot something different.

"I want to be ready when the State Supreme Court makes its decision that this is the route. I want to make sure it is correct."

Holy Land Girds for All-Out War

Jews Down Egypt Jets; Arab Armies Moving Into Bloody Gaza Area

WASHINGTON (INS)—U.S. officials expressed deep concern today at the stepped-up fighting between Israel and Egypt in the crucial dispute over the Gaza strip.

A spokesman for the State Department, who has been studying the latest news dispatches from the Middle East, said "We are terribly concerned."

Reports from Tel Aviv say two Egyptian jet planes crashed in flames in a dogfight with Israeli jets today in the most dangerous Holy Land fighting since the U.N. truce was negotiated six years ago.

Both sides threw planes, armor and artillery into action across the bloody Gaza sand strip along the Mediterranean coast. Casualties were not known.

Diplomats feared an all-out war might erupt momentarily.

Chrysler, UAW Agree to Terms of New Contract

Widespread Walkouts Hit Plants; Settlement Follows GM, Ford

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp. and the CIO United Auto Workers reached a contract settlement today, six hours after widespread strikes hit Chrysler plants in six states.

The UAW immediately sent out back-to-work orders to all union locals.

There were indications, hdwever, that work disruptions among Chrysler's 139,000 employes would mar production throughout the day.

The settlement was modeled closely after Ford and General Motors agreements reached in early June. It completed the lineup of the auto industry's "big three" companies on revolutionary, new layoff pay plans.

Like the Ford and GM plans, the Chrysler agreement will guarantee laid off workers 60 to 65 per cent of regular take-home pay for up to 26 weeks of idleness.

It also provides wage increases of six cents an hour to all employes for each of the three years in skilled classifications.

Also included in the new agreement were clauses to:

1. Boost pension benefits up to a maximum of about $350 a month, including social security.

2. Eliminate wage differentials between the Detroit area, biggest concentration of Chrysler workers, and other parts of the country. Chrysler said it thus became the first big auto company to do this. Chrysler has plants in Michigan, Indiana, California, Delaware, Kansas and Georgia.

3. Improve hospital-medical and insurance coverage.

4. Liberalize non-economic portions of the contract, which among other things gives the union for the first time the right to strike over production standards.

A dispute over the effective dates of the layoff pay plan and other economic benefits snagged the settlement beyond the midnight strike deadline and until dawn.

The new contract will expire June 1, 1958. This will bring the union's contract negotiations to a head at all "big three" companies at virtually the same time.

* * *

Negotiations headed toward a climax at American Motors with the Chrysler signing. The UAW's contract there expires at midnight tonight. There have been reports that a showdown at American Motors was held up pending developments at Chrysler.

The Studebaker division of the Studebaker-Packard Corp. was shut by a strike in South Bend, Ind., today.

Bendix Aviation Corp. and the UAW were continuing negotiations in Detroit, with 20,000 out in Bendix plants in five states.

Four-Day Drive Planned to Cut Accident Toll

Police, Sheriff Depts., Red Cross, Guardsmen Join in Campaign

Oakland County police departments, Sheriff's deputies, National Guardsmen and Red Cross volunteers will join forces in a 4-day campaign to curtail serious traffic accidents over the Labor Day weekend.

Police leave days have been canceled, reserves have been called to duty, and all available patrol cars are being readied by officials who expect "extremely heavy" traffic to pour through main county highways.

The National Safety Council has forecast a nationwide death toll of 400 over this final holiday of the summer. Last year, 351 persons died in traffic crashes during the same period.

Lt. Joseph Koren, chief of the Pontiac Police Department's Traffic and Safety Bureau, announced that his men will operate on a full-force basis.

In an effort to supplement his regular force, Lt. Koren said he has alerted 25 reserve officers to be ready for duty with regular patrolmen.

"My men have been instructed to enforce all traffic regulations to the letter—speeding and other serious moving violations will not be tolerated," he warned.

24-HOUR VIGIL

Every available Oakland County Sheriff's deputy and patrol car will maintain a 24-hour vigil on all main and secondary county arteries, said Undersheriff Elmer McQuern.

They also will work in conjunction with 101 Red Cross volunteers who will operate 20 radio-equipped cars at critical points. Patrols will be maintained on the Dixie Highway and Telegraph Road, W. Huron Street and M15.

Stationary first aid cars will be located at Telegraph and Maple Rds., Telegraph and Square Lake Rds., Telegraph and Huron St., Elizabeth Lake Rd. and W. Huron and at the M15-Dixie intersection.

The first aid units, with radio equipped cars, will be dispatched to accident scenes to assist police with injured persons.

RELAY STATIONS SET

National Skeet Shooting Assn. president Chester Crites of Detroit is now Colonel Crites.

At a special investiture ceremony last night in Oakland County Sportsmen's Club headquarters at Waterford, Crites became a Kentucky colonel.

The title was presented by Ralph Polk, president of the Jefferson Gun Club of Lexington, Ky. Polk acted as a representative of the governor of Kentucky. The commission came as a distinct surprise.

In today's national 20 gauge championship, the scores were steadily rising.

William Fernandez, of Puerto Rico, still led the parade at noon, with 98x100. Other members of the San Juan team averaged between 87 and 97x100. The last shooter of this group was Captain Julio Vigoreaux, who had a 95.

Others in the 90 to 100 bracket included, at 97x100, yesterday's champion of champions, Lew Gordon, of Texarkana, Ark. and Robert E. Reedy of Bristol, Va., at 96x100, Minor Cliett of Childersburgh, Ala. at 92x100, Bernard Thom of Honolulu; Rorie Cowden, of San Antonio, Texas, and E. B McCullough of Houston, Texas, and Richard Delk of Denver, at 93x100.

Police Reveal New Promotions

Three Officers Named to Detective Ranks, Two Others Transferred

Three promotions and two transfers within the Pontiac Police department were announced today by Chief Herbert W. Straley.

Patrolman Eugene Hendren was Quick was transfered to Lt. Narfker's platoon in the Uniform Patrol Bureau. Before his transfer Quick worked with the Juvenile Department of the force.

Area Draft Quota 33 Men in October

Oakland County's share of Michigan's draft quota of 551 men for October will be 33 men according to Col. Arthur A. Holmes, State Selective Service Director.

Oakland County Board 65 will select 14 men, Board No. 66 10 men and Board No. 67 will draft nine men.

The state October call is five less than the quota for September and almost the same as the quotas for the last six months.

Japan's Uranium Workers Suffer Blood Count Drop

TOKYO (AP) — The newspaper Asahi today reported men employed at Japan's top uranium diggings have suffered a serious drop in white blood corpuscle count.

It quoted Dr. Akira Miyazaki as saying the count had dropped from a normal 6,000-7,000 to 3,000-2000. The men are complaining of being tired and dizzy after only 80 days of work, he said.

The mine is located at Ishikawamachi in northern Honshu.

Miyazaki also reported villagers of the area have only a 2,200 to 3,200 white corpuscle count, Asahi stated, but unlike the miners do not complain of ill effects.

Appointments Announced in Pontiac School System

A complete list of appointments to upper level posts in the Pontiac School System was announced today by Dr. Dana P. Whitmer, school superintendent.

Dr. Russell Curtis has been appointed coordinator of secondary education. Curtis comes from a similar post in Janesville, Wis.

Paul Sullivan has been named the school system's first psychologist.

A former junior high principal in Urbana, Ohio, Kenneth Nagley, replaces Staley at Eastern.

Mrs. Mary Killian, previously a teacher at Webster Elementary, has the principal's post at the new Lake street Elementary opening this fall.

William Wright, principal at Whittier Elementary, has been named to the same post at the new Linda Vista Elementary. Classes for the school will be held at Emerson Elementary until the new school is built.

W. W. Abbott fills the assistant principal's position at Washington Junior High School.

Ninety-three teachers have been hired as replacements and for new posts for the upcoming term.

One 7-Hour Day Coming

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Men will work one seven-hour day a week 100 years from now and receive the same pay they now get for a 40-hour week, says Joseph Prendegast, executive director of the National Recreational Assn. of New York. He spoke before the California Recreation Commission yesterday.

The State Fair: It's Tomorrow! Open at Noon

DETROIT (AP) — It's State Fair Time in Michigan again.

The nation's oldest state fair will open tomorrow morning with a gala three-mile-long parade up Woodward Avenue, Detroit's main street. Nearly 3,000 persons and more than 300 animals will take part.

Participants will include 20 bands, 50 beauty queens from all parts of Michigan, "big-name" entertainers, antique autos, stage coaches and the Holland, Mich., Dutch klompen dancers.

Gov. Williams, assisted by Fair Manager Donald L. Swanson, will cut the ribbon officially opening the fair at 12:30 p. m.

EXPECT 800,000

Swanson said an estimated 800,000 persons are expected to attend the 1955 fair during its 10-day run ending Sept. 11. Fairgrounds will be open from 9 a. m. till 10 p. m. daily and from 8 a. m. to 10 p. m. on weekends.

Custodians Try Anything to Keep People Away

BOISE, Idaho (AP) — The State Land Department placed signs yesterday around the new asphalt surface of the government parking lot near the statehouse in downtown Boise. They read: "State land keep off. Remove no timber. Graze no stock without permit. No mining."

Statehouse custodians wanted to keep people off the asphalt and the signs were the only ones available.

Romans Have a Holiday—Joe DiMaggio's in Town

ROME (AP) — Swank Donet's sidewalk cafe today looked like Yankee Stadium after Joe DiMaggio had doubled with the bases loaded.

Joe was at the cafe. So was U. S. Ambassador Clare Booth Luce and Gino Prato, the Italian-born wizard on opera lore who recently won $32,000 on a quiz show.

Mrs. Luce had invited Prato and DiMaggio to join her in a cup of coffee at the cafe, patronized by the sophisticates and aristocrats of Rome. The party was theoretically in honor of Prato, who arrived yesterday.

"I've been waiting to do this all my life," the graying little shoemaker declared. "We're all Yankee fans." That included his wife, daughter Lorraine and Eugene Joanides, the son-in-law, who came with Prato to see his 92-year-old father and home village of Statali.

"Hey, Joe DiMaggio."

That started it.

She turned out to be a Joe DiMaggio fan, too.

"I'm a down-the-line Yankee fan," she said. "I've always been. No, not a Dodger nor a Giant. I'm a Yankee."

DiMaggio said "Yes, we talked some baseball."

Autumn Touch in Air

Hot-and-Cool August Bows Out

A touch of autumn was in the air as September bowed in today, with the weatherman predicting fair skies and cool temperatures through Friday.

Daytime temperatures will remain in the 70s, while the mercury will drop into the low 50s during the night, the Weather Bureau said.

August ended on the same cool note with which September is beginning. But it didn't begin that way. The first five days of the month saw the temperature climb well into the 90s.

A cool wave moving in on the 6th eased things and pleasant temperatures stayed through the 15th, when the mercury crept up to the 86-degree mark, heralding another hot spell.

Highs of 90 were registered on the 16th and 17th and on the 18th the mercury hit 93 degrees. An 83-year record for the date was smashed on the 19th when the temperature soared to 99. That reading also set a temporary high for the summer.

* * *

Two days later, though, the downtown thermometer recorded a sizzling 100 degrees, establishing the high mark for the year.

* * *

Cool air moving in from the west caused the temperature to plummet 30 degrees that evening and summer blankets were brought out of storage in many homes.

Generally pleasant weather, interrupted by showers and thundershowers, continued through the 29th when the mercury again edged into the 90s for a one-day stand. It eased back to high readings in the 70s to end the month gently.

Yesterday, the high was 70 and the low 54 degrees. A total of 2.36 inches of rain fell during the month.

Violent Woman Kidnaps Baby

Scratches Mother and Then Snatches Infant From Crib

NEW YORK (AP)—A 2½-month-old baby was reported kidnaped from its crib today by a woman who threatened to kill the child's mother.

The woman posed as a diaper saleswoman in order to gain entrance to the fourth floor apartment of Mrs. Christine Tegerides at 40-07 67th St., Woodside, Queens, police said.

Then she told Mrs. Tegerides, whose infant son lay nearby in his crib:

"Give me the baby or I will kill you."

Mrs. Tegerides tried to block the intruder's way but the woman clawed her and Mrs. Tegerides fell in a faint, police said.

The kidnaper then rushed to the crib, seized the baby and ran out of the apartment. Mrs. Tegerides recovered shortly and ran upstairs to another apartment in which her mother resides, officers added. The mother called police.

Mrs. Tegerides was quoted as saying the kidnaper was about 35 years old, about 5 feet 3, with black hair and dark eyes. She wore a black dress.

The kidnaping occurred about 9 a.m. Mrs. Tegerides' husband, Andrew, 23, was at work in a Jamaica luncheonette in which he is a counterman.

Space Flight Now Awaiting Its Lindbergh

BRISTOL, England (AP) — An American rocket expert told British scientists today that space flight is at "the Charles Lindbergh stage"—just about ready now for somebody to make the big breakthrough.

Milton W. Rosen, of the U. S. Naval Research Laboratory at Washington, D. C., said space vehicles already have been "developed to a reasonable degree of reliability and many flights of short range and duration have been made."

• • •

This is the same stage of development reached by aviation in 1926 — a year before Lindbergh made the first Transatlantic flight — Rosen told the British Assn. for the Advancement of Science.

But he said the big breakthrough in rocket-propelled space ships still had to be preceded by a brief period of "experimentation with unmanned, instrumented satellites" and by solution of the problem of getting the ship safely back to earth.

Sally Sharp, Wiffi Reach WDGA Finals

Two 18-year-olds, Sally Sharp of Pine Lake and Wiffi Smith of St. Clair River, will collide Friday at Birmingham Country Club for the Women's District Golf Association championship.

Tomorrow's match over a 36-hole route will mark the second meeting of the pair this summer. Wiffi defeated Sally for the state amateur title a month ago.

Miss Sharp reached the final round by upsetting defending champion Pat Devany, 2 and 1, in today's semi-final. Wiffi attained the same status by downing Mrs. Betty Jane Wilson, 3 and 2, in their semi-final match.

MSU President Hannah Denies Political Plans

EAST LANSING (AP) — Michigan State University President Dr. John A. Hannah has said he has "no political ambitions" in response to an attempt to boom him as the next Republican candidate for Governor.

The MSU President was named as their favorite entry by a group of "Young Turk" Republicans meeting at Ann Arbor.

Auxiliary officers elected besides Mrs. Ward were Mary Charter, 1st vice president; Alice Hight, 2nd vice president; Florence Myers, secretary; Charlotte Charter, treasurer; Mrs. C. Chandler, chaplain; Lucy Gulda, sergeant at arms; Shirley Rampart, historian; and Kate Kohn, Maudie March and Bertha Salked, executive officers.

Expect Year's Low in Car Production

DETROIT (INS) — Automotive News reported today car production will sink to the lowest level of the year this week with 9 of the 16 producers closed for changeovers or inventories.

However, the industry's trade paper said the week's total will bring the year's mark over the total for all of 1954.

Automotive News estimates that output for 1955 from Jan. 1 to the Labor Day holiday will total 5,561,720 cars, compared with a figure of 5,508,637 for the entire year of 1954.

Only 87,197 cars will be added to the 1955 total this week with truck production is estimated at 15,962.

Municipal Airport. Base for operations is the Pontiac Red Cross Chapter House.

A Civil Air Patrol plane will roam the skies during daylight hours in search of accidents and traffic congestion. Equipped with a 2-way radio, the pilot will help dispatch police and ambulances to the trouble spots.

State Police of the Pontiac Post, assisted by six National Guardsmen, have sacrificed their leave days to help maintain constant vigilance. Four other Guardsmen from Pontiac's two units, will be sent to Romeo to aid State Police there.

Waterford Township Police Chief Frank Van Atta, whose department patrols sections of the most dangerous highways in the county (Dixie and M59) said every available man and piece of equipment will be pressed into use.

TICKETS FOR VIOLATORS

"Violators will not be warned, they will be ticketed," was his warning.

Meanwhile State Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler said all highway maintenance operations will be closed down from Friday noon until Tuesday noon. Crews today are spreading dust preventatives on temporary routings, smoothing shoulder ruts and checking detour signs and barricades.

The five state ferries at the Straits of Mackinac will run off schedule as often as necessary to handle the traffic rush between Mackinac City and St. Ignace, he announced. Maximum service during rush periods will provide departures on an average of one about ever 25 minutes.

Also on the statewide scene, 10 planes will be used for observation, including four National Guard craft. Approximately 450 Guardsmen will serve with State Police and sheriffs all over the state.

In a plea to motorists, the National Safety Council urged drivers:

To hold down speed, take care in signaling turns and stops, keep in the right traffic lanes, pass only when there is plenty of room and keep a safe distance from the car ahead.

$50,000 in Relief Funds Given by Ford Motor

DETROIT (INS)—The Ford Motor Co. fund has donated $50,000 to the American Red Cross flood relief fund for use in six northeastern states crippled by recent floods.

The Ford Fund is principally supported by donations from the Ford Motor Co., and is not a part of the Ford Foundation which earlier contributed $175,000 to the flood fund.

Sept. 16 Deadline Is Set for Polio Makeup Shots

A Sept. 16 deadline in the Salk Polio vaccine makeup shot program for Oakland County was announced today by County Health Director Dr. John D. Monroe.

Second round and booster shots will be given daily from 9:30 until 11:30 a.m. and 1 to 4 p.m. at two clinics until the deadline. After Sept. 16, all remaining vaccine on hand will be returned to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, Monroe said.

Children in the North Oakland area will be given their inoculations at the County Health Department, 15 W. Huron St.

Birmingham children may attend either clinic, but must procure an identification card from the Birmingham Board of Education.

Youngsters from Avondale, Rochester, Pontiac, Waterford, Bloomfield, West Bloomfield, Walled Lake, Huron Valley and Dublin school districts are being served at the Pontiac center.

Pontiac Deaths

Ruth E. Logan (Inwood)

Service for Ruth E. Logan (Inwood) 50, of 1312 Scott Lake Rd. will be held Saturday at 2 p.m. in the Apostolic Church of Christ with the Rev. L. A. Parent officiating. Burial will follow in White Chapel Memorial Cemetery.

She died suddenly at her home Tuesday morning. The body will be at the Pursley Funeral Home until time for the funeral.

Mrs. Fred G. Tykle

Mrs. Fred G. (Dorothy) Tykle, 54, died suddenly Wednesday at her home, 19,201 Afton Dr., Detroit.

A native of Middletown, Ind., Mrs. Tykle has been a resident of Detroit the last ten years.

She is survived by her husband, a director of the real estate division of General Motors Corp.; a daughter, Mrs. L. C. Hare of Kansas City, Mo. and her mother, Mrs. J. J. Cumins of Middletown.

Also surviving are two sisters, Mrs. C. M. Jones of Plainfield, Ind. and Mrs. W. O. Jones of Meriemont, Ohio and a brother, J. J. Cumins of Hot Springs, Ark.

Chad Ritchie Named to Committee Post

Chad M. Ritchie, chairman of the Oakland County Republican Committee, has been named to the reservations committee for the GOP's "Forward to '56" conference at Mackinac Island Sept. 17-18.

Michigan members of President Eisenhower's cabinet, high administration officials from Michigan and members of the state's congressional delegation will attend.

Reservation blanks may be obtained by contacting Mrs. Eunice Guentsche at county Republican headquarters in the Hotel Pontiac or by phoning FE 2-3414, Ritchie said.

McGregor Fund Assists Mental Health Program

DETROIT (AP)—A $75,000 grant for an investigation into mental health needs of Michigan school children was announced by Stephen S. Nisbet, president of the Michigan Society for Mental Health.

The grant was made from the McGregor fund and will be used to send psychiatrists to outstate areas to train teachers. The program is intended to build partnerships between parents and school officials in preventing mental breakdowns among school children.

Originally the program will be concentrated in the Jackson and the Thumb areas on a trial basis.

Bids to Be Opened on Blacktop Project

Bids for blacktopping West Long Lake road from Telegraph to Orchard Lake were scheduled to be opened today. Contracts should be let in the near future, said Oscar D. Loomis, general superintendent of the Oakland County road commission.

In response to inquiries about "undue delay" in the road repair project, Loomis said:

"There is no delay. We are going right along as well as we can. There is quite a lot of concrete patching that has to be done and we will be through with that work in about 10 days."

Long Lake road is being widened from 16 to 20 feet along with being recapped.

Loomis also reported that "ripples" in Telegraph road are now being removed. The planing machines, which use blow torches to smooth bumps in the blacktop surface, will also be used on US 10 in Waterford Township and on Woodward near Long Lake road in Bloomfield Hills, he said.

Salem's Resignation to Affect Sudanese

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—Egypt's military government has decided to get along without its loudest mouthpiece, Maj. Salah Salem, whose Sudanese policy proved a flop.

The ruling Revolution Council announced early today it had accepted the resignation of the flamboyant political figure who served as minister of national guidance (propaganda) and minister of state for Sudan affairs.

His apparent ouster was considered the biggest governmental change since Maj. Gen. Mohamed Naguib was removed as premier and Egypt's first president last year.

Detroit Riverama Show Winds Up in the Black

DETROIT (INS) — Riverama, Detroit's civic water festival which closed Aug. 28 after an eight-day run, wound up in the black.

R. T. Johnstone, chairman of the Riverama executive committee, said receipts from shows and concessions, together with a $69,000 appropriation by the city and $105,000 contributed by private parties, was enough to meet total expenses of approximately $315,000.

Johnstone said he did not know whether the festival would be held next year, saying:

No Parade Scheduled

There will be no Labor Day parade or celebration in Pontiac this year, Fred V. Haggard, president of the Oakland County CIO Council said today.

"Because of the continuing contract negotiations, we felt we should hold off until next year," Haggard said.

He noted that there would be a parade in downtown Detroit beginning at 9:30 a.m. Monday.

GOP Chairmen to Meet With Ike

Party Leaders Going to Denver for Parley September 10

DENVER (AP) — President Eisenhower will confer here Sept. 10 with all 48 Republican state chairmen in a move to spur party organization for the 1956 political wars.

Announcing this today, the Summer White House declined to shed any light on whether arrangements for the conference meant that the President may have made up his mind whether to seek a second term.

Eisenhower indicated last month in Washington that he probably would not decide until early next year.

The President will have breakfast with the GOP state chairmen at the Brown Palace Hotel here. They will arrive the night before from Washington where a campaign clinic has been arranged for the two days prior to the Denver meeting.

Coming on, too, for the session here will be Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall and Rep. Simpson of Pennsylvania, who heads the House Congressional Campaign Committee.

Hagerty said Sen. Goldwater (R-Ariz) will be unable to attend because of a speaking engagement conflict. Goldwater is chairman of the GOP Senatorial Campaign Committee.

He and Simpson will play leading roles in the Republican Party's 1956 drive to recapture control of congress from the Democrats.

signment in Inspector Clark M. Wheaton's detective bureau and will replace Sgt. Fred J. Wirth presently assigned to the Uniform Patrol Bureau.

Also holding the new rank as detective is former Patrolman Herbert C. Cooley. He will remain in his present assignment as a detective with the vice detail.

Joining the Traffic and Safety Bureau as a motorcycle officer to replace Emery, is Patrolman Clarence G. Smith. Formerly assigned to Lt. George T. Scott's platoon, Smith will now be attached to the second unit for traffic control and accident investigation duty.

The Day in Birmingham

Announce Key Chairmen of Area Torch Campaign

BIRMINGHAM—Irving B. Babcock today announced the appointment of key committee chairmen for Birmingham-Bloomfield-Franklin, in connection with the 1955 Detroit area Torch Drive.

Babcock, general chairman for that portion of the United Foundation campaign to be conducted this fall in the three suburban communities, said the fund-raising will again call for new records in that effort, as well as added volunteers and contributors.

He said more than 1,200 volunteers worked in last year's local campaign and estimated that 1,400 might be needed this fall. "The job would not be possible if large numbers of new workers were not joining hands each year with the hundreds who are responsible for Torch Drive success here in the past."

Assisting Babcock and Mrs. J. Rowland Quinn, campaign director as chairman, will be Granville A. Morse, business and industry; M. W. Woodworth, chapter training; William B. Bachman Jr., promotion; Howard E. Hallas, publicity, and Mrs. Philip Detwiler, co-chairman of publicity on women's activities.

Others are: Edwin J. Kirbert, schools; Mrs. E. S. Wellock, special assignment and Mrs. Donavan J. Gray, residential training.

An amendment to the city's nuisance ordinance was for the birds—or was it?—as far as city commissioners were concerned this week.

The amendment would have added poultry and fowl to the list of other animals (livestock, etc.) which localites are not allowed to harbor on their premises.

But the plaintive silence of three young boys, Phil Ingraham and Terry and Pat Hefferan, and the sound advice of their two fathers, was enough to convince lawmakers they might have acted hastily in ordering the revision.

In "pleading" the case, father-lawyer Carl Ingraham told the commission, "At present count the boys have one Rhode Island red rooster, one bantam rooster, five bantam hens, three pheasants, two white mice, two ducks and one egg!

"They have spent the entire summer building a coop, runway and house for their furry and feathered friends," he said "and we even had Health Inspector Henry Johns over to ask for his suggestions."

He continued, "About a year ago I served on a committee which investigated area recreational needs for our youth. One conclusion reached was that a boy of today is no different, except that civilization has so encroached upon normal activities that his outlets can become almost criminal in nature.

"These boys are doing something educational and I feel the amendment should leave the situation up to whether or not they are creating a nuisance." Also concurring was father William R. Hefferan.

A case involving a woman who has complained over seven chickens kept by her next-door neighbor was scheduled in Municipal Court yesterday, but has been postponed one week.

Area Road Commissioners Serve on State Board

Two Oakland County road commissioners are serving on committees of the County Road Assn. of Michigan.

Lee O. Brooks, chairman of the Oakland County commission, is a member of the membership committee, while Robert O. Felt, a member of the county commission, is serving on the constitution and by-laws committee.

Their terms expire next March 31. The association is composed of the 83 county road commissions in Michigan.

Twin Daughters Are Born in Car

Father Tells of Hectic Trip to the Hospital in Heavy Rainstorm

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Earl Jourden, 40, described the hectic arrival of twin daughters in his car during Monday night's rainstorm as "not so bad."

* * *

His wife, Maryann, 39, and the new twins are doing very well at Burton Heights Osteopathic Hospital, he said. One girl weighs 5 pounds, 8½ ounces and her twin 6 pounds, ¼ ounce.

Jourden, father of four other boys and a girl, said the storm had knocked out their telephone service just as his wife reported her time had come to leave for the hospital.

"It was raining pitchforks," Jourden said. The couple, unable to contact hospital or doctor, left home by auto in a five-mile race against time.

The first girl was born as they sped on their way.

"Nurses and the night resident physician were soaked to the skin as they took over in the driving rain," Jourden declared.

He reported the experience was "not so bad, because one of our other children was born at home before the doctor arrived."

* * *

Turkeys, Hams Spotlighted for Labor Day Festivities

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Turkeys and smoked hams take over the featured spot in the nation's food stores this weekend. The occasion is the Labor Day holiday.

• • •

Smoked hams, whole or halves, are attractively priced, and in some stores turkeys will be down around six cents a pounds from recent levels. You'll find plenty of the birds for sale in all sizes.

Frying chickens will be another popular feature, with some markets dropping prices two to six cents a pound from a week ago.

Legs of lamb will be lower in some sections of the country. Another weekend special will be prime ribs of beef.

Egg prices, which have climbed rather sharply in recent weeks, will be lower in most markets. One chain is cutting grade A whites by one to eight cents a dozen in many of its outlets.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture sees September as a month of "balanced abundance" for consumers. It says meats, fish, dairy products, fruits and vegetables are well-represented on the list of plentiful foods for this month.

PORK PLENTIFUL

"Pork will be very plentiful as the large pig crop of last spring starts to market in volume," the USDA says. "Cattle marketings are also expected to be heavy. Canned tuna is another September plentiful, and good supplies of broilers and fryers are anticipated.

"Although milk production will be trending seasonally downward, heavy stocks of dairy products will help provide plentiful offerings.

"Potatoes, rice and fresh vegetables," the USDA goes on, "will be abundant on September produce counters. And fruit stalls will be featuring fresh grapes and Italian prunes. Also in heavy supply are fresh and processed lemons and limes and canned grapefruit sections. Lard and vegetable fats and oils will continue abundant."

Produce men nominate potatoes, onions and eggplant as the outstanding buys of the week. Also recommended are cabbage, carrots, sweet potatoes, cauliflower, peppers, beans and corn. Most of the corn, they add, is of ordinary to fair quality.

Iceberg lettuce is higher in some areas this week and big Boston and romaine types are definitely up. Also tending higher are spinach, celery, broccoli, parsley, endive and escarole.

Plums and prunes enter the good buy list this week following a sharp drop in wholesale prices. Peaches, oranges, watermelons and limes also are reasonable and canteloupes and honeydew melons are attractively priced. Grapefruit is in lighter supply. Blueberries are getting scarce as the season closes.

Sign of the Times?

CARDINAL, Ont. (INS)—Ronald Reid, 17, was arrested by police today on a charge of slashing to death Benjamin Spellerman, 50, two weeks ago. When picked up he was reading a crime comic book.

Many Michigan Children Urgently Need Eye Care

A bulletin issued by the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness indicates that eye care is needed by an estimated 388,000 Michigan children, many of whom aren't getting it.

This disturbing report is part of the society's nationwide observance of September as Sight Saving Month. It includes information that should have the attention of all parents.

Thousands of these children, says Dr. Franklin M. Foote, executive director of the society, now suffer from eye neglect and may go through life burdened by needlessly impaired vision. He added that young children seldom complain about poor vision because they don't know how well they ought to see.

"The child with an uncorrected vision defect," continued the doctor, "is unable to keep up with his friends at school or at play. The result, in addition to poor grades, may be emotional difficulties and social maladjustments lasting well into adult life."

This society is doing extremely useful work in emphasizing the need for parents and teachers to recognize the signs of eye trouble in children. Among such signs are blinking, over-sensitivity to light, rubbing the eyes, inability to read comfortably or play outdoor sports or games, stumbling over small objects or tilting the head to one side while reading.

The wisdom of periodic eye examination for children cannot be urged too strongly on parents. Don't let your child be handicapped by avoidable defects of vision.

Mr. Ali Coming Back

Announcement that Pakistan's former Prime Minister Mohammed Ali is coming back to Washington as ambassador is welcome news indeed.

This return of one of the most popular diplomats ever to serve in our national capital was brought about by Mr. Ali's loss of leadership of his country's Moslem League party.

Before being recalled to Karachi by elevation to high office in 1953, the former prime minister served his country as ambassador here for about a year. In that time, thanks to his warm smile and friendly nature, he became widely known and popular. Mr. Ali's obvious energy and ability also earned him respect and admiration.

★ ★ ★

A statement by the new Prime Minister, Chaudri Mohammed Ali, expressing his warm regard and desire for the best possible relations with the United States, also is welcomed in Washington. This is more than ever the case because Pakistan shares our ideals of freedom and democracy and progress through private enterprise.

Japan's Harsh Tax Policy

If at the first of next year there is a surprising exodus of American civilians from Japan, the reason will be that country's tax-until-it-hurts policy.

Basically a low income country, Nippon's new tax laws bear down harshly on American businessmen, doctors, lawyers, accountants and news correspondents. Altogether U. S. News & World Report estimates that Japan's new tax law is a heavy blow to some 3,000 Americans in these categories.

Beginning in 1956, an American earning $10,000 a year will have to pay from 58 to 65 per cent of it in income taxes if he wants to stay in Japan. In order to net $10,000 a year his annual earnings would have to total $32,149.

From 1946 to 1950 an occupation directive deprived Japan of the right to tax any Allied Nations. Since 1950, American and other foreign civilians have been paying taxes only on that part of their salaries actually sent to them in Japan and 50 per cent of that was deductible.

Americans who hope U. S. officials will succeed in their effort to persuade the Tokyo government that its tax law should be modified, are over optimistic. In Japanese eyes U. S. businessmen's salaries make them millionaires.

When Foreign Minister Hisato Ichimada was told that failure to modify the law would drive many Americans out of Japan, he said "we've already made allowances for their departure."

Costly Carelessness

If there is anyone left who doubts the need for continued pleas for care to prevent forest fires, he should read a Michigan Conservation Department report.

This shows that in a single week, marked by considerable rainfall, there were 35 forest fires in the State. Losses in these fires added up to 669 acres of forests and grasslands. To date this year there have been 972 forest fires in Michigan. Acreage destroyed by these fires totaled 4,760.

When it is remembered that nine out of ten forest fires are man caused, this year's record is disgraceful. It means that at least 875 of these fires never should have occurred.

These figures emphasize the urgent necessity of practicing the common-sense rules of fire prevention while camping in or driving through Michigan woodlands.

Dixie Highway Stretch in County to Be Leveled Off

Nursery: A bawl park.

Within a few weeks the 25 miles of the four-lane Dixie Highway pavement between Pontiac and the north Oakland County line will all be black topped. The contract for the 4.8 miles that had not been previously covered with this smooth surface has been awarded to the Ann Arbor Construction Company for $794,000, and they already have commenced work. It extends from Bridge Lake Road in Springfield Township to Tindall Road in Groveland Township.

In response to several inquiries, the annual MAT Football Contest will be announced next Tuesday, with $300 in U. S. Savings Bonds as the prize.

Needs More Than an Annual Booster Shot

David Lawrence Says:

Present Eisenhower Cold War Policy —'The Most Constructive Ever Adopted'

WASHINGTON — There's a big game going on in the world between the East and the West. Some call it the "Cold War." Some call it "Peaceful Co-Existence." Others call it "The Geneva Era of Good Feeling."

• • •

But the odd part of it all is that very few persons, except those who are on the inside of governments, know really what's going on and what the various moves portend.

Thus, some observers are convinced there'll be no war and that "an atomic stalemate" is in progress. Other observers argue that, because war can be more horrible than ever before, there is no alternative now except to negotiate and bargain and reach some agreement with gangster governments whose word has repeatedly been proved worthless, no matter what the pledges.

The big story of the age is not the stalemate but the ferment behind the stalemate. The big discovery is that people are slowly but surely becoming aware that they can control their own destiny. Once upon a time President Woodrow Wilson described the gradual workings of a people's will by the phrase—"moral suasion." President Eisenhower, a couple of weeks ago in his speech to the American Bar Association at Philadelphia, had the same thing in mind when he referred to "peaceful change."

FEAR REVOLUTION

The greatest fear of the men in the Kremlin today is of revolution in their midst. If they hesitate to go to war now, it's because the Red Army would reflect the rebellious feelings of the whole population, and a few army leaders could change the entire picture in a few hours.

The greatest danger is that war will come anyway because the Soviet rulers may take a chance and mistakenly believe they can hold their people together with an aroused patriotism. But an unpopular government in 1917 in St. Petersburg didn't keep the Russian armies, who were fighting the enemy, from making a separate peace with the enemy.

MORAL FORCE

The policy of the United States today under President Eisenhower is the most constructive this country has ever adopted. It calls not for the use of physical force—in fact, every effort is made to renounce or outlaw force except in case of attack—but for the exertion of moral force. This is the persistent, steady, uninterrupted pressure through world opinion to convince peoples behind the Iron Curtain that their safety and their liberty can be best assured by following the doctrines of freedom proclaimed by the West.

The process may take years to achieve big results. It will require patience. There is no plan to precipitate a climax now. The United States has merely announced that it will not accept the "status quo." This does not mean it must bow to its enemies and strike a bargain.

Moral force means sticking to moral principles and holding out for the only kind of agreement that ever will be worth while—an agreement with a free government representing a people free to choose its own government without coercion of any kind.

RUSSIAN PEOPLE KNOW

The peoples of the satellite states know now that America has not abandoned them, that self-liberation is still regarded as a goal they can strive for. As long as America doesn't discourage the peoples behind the Iron Curtain or let them think they are to be forsaken, the influence of moral force will continue to permeate the entire area dominated by the Soviets until the dictatorship collapses from within by reason of the upward pressure of the people themselves.

Case Records of a Psychologist

Woman Disguises Her Real Problem by Insisting That She Suffers From TB

Myrtle's problem is a perfect teaching case for all readers who make psychology their hobby. But Myrtle's fear of tuberculosis is due to the opposite type of sex worry from that which motivated hypochondriac Max, whom I discussed yesterday. Make scrapbooks of these clinical cases for I sift them carefully to simplify psychology.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case P-328: Myrtle F., aged 24, has been married for two years.

• • •

"Dr. Crane, my wife is obsessed with the notion she has tuberculosis," her patient husband informed me.

"I've taken her to clinics and doctors in four different states. Every cent of our savings has gone for checkups.

"And they always tell her she hasn't a sign of tuberculosis. The last medic irritably informed her it was all in her mind and for her to go home and forget it.

"But she cries and says she can't get it out of her mind, so please can't you help her, Dr. Crane?"

SYMBOLIC ILLNESS

Yesterday I urged you to scrapbook that Case P-327 as an excellent example of the new stress on "psychosomatic medicine."

For it dealt with a middle-aged male whose fear of sexual decline had caused him to grow unduly neurotic about pills and vitamins.

• • •

Well, Myrtle's case is a twin, except her trouble is not sexual decline but a secret craving for physical affection which her husband has never satisfied adequately.

And he is not to be blamed unduly, for most husbands haven't been briefed in advance of marriage on the intricate body-mind situations that comprise a wife's erotic ego.

Myrtle's problem can be simply stated, in her own words, after a lengthy interview:

"Dr. Crane," she concluded, "I feel that I must be abnormally passionate for my husband doesn't satisfy my craving for affection.

"But I remember as a child overhearing some grown women talking about such matters, and they said it meant you must have tuberculosis, for they said people with TB often had such cravings.

"Well, Dr. Crane, I have been ashamed to talk frankly like this before, but I just knew I must have TB, although every medical test proved negative."

HORSE SENSE

Whenever a person persists in maintaining that she must have a certain ailment, even in the face of plenty of scientific evidence to the contrary, they grow suspicious.

For such a person often believes secretly that she ought to have that ailment, since some mistaken notion from way back in childhood makes her imagine that there is a cause-and-effect relationship.

• • •

All Myrtle needed was a complete briefing of the sort that clergymen and physicians now try to give all young married couples or prospective brides and bridegrooms.

So I called in her husband. Then I gave them a detailed 30-minute explanation of marriage problems.

To clinch it and leave them something to read and re-read, I handed Myrtle my booklet "Sex Problems in Marriage." You can all get it by sending a stamped return envelope, plus a dime.

It digests the essentials of many $5 books nowadays, but also adds some critical suggestions those books generally overlook.

• • •

With this simple, scientific aid to happy marital adjustment, Myrtle found no more need to get chest X-rays or fret about tuberculosis.

USED BY MANY

Thousands of clergymen of all denominations are using these medico-psychological booklets offered via this newspaper column.

Since they are a non-profit educational service offered in the interest of promoting happier homes and preventing divorce, be sure to take full advantage of them.

So if you feel frustrated in marriage or are planning to be married soon, by all means send for the booklet mentioned above.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and a dime to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his psychological charts.

Adequate Iodin Ration Needed by Women Over 40

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

So many cold-blooded ladies are seeking advice these days that I'm beginning to worry about the propagation of the species. Remember, though, I'd never call a da— a lady cold-blooded. The ladies tell me they're cold-blooded.

• • •

Here, for instance, is one who admits without batting an eye that she is 40. To some cold-blooded girls that means she's 50. But I'm not taking sides—let's say she is about 45, shall we?

"I am uncomfortable," the lady says, "until the temperature reaches 80 to 85; and my first husband, as you'd say, prefers a temperature of 65 to 68. I seem to be in good health generally, except that for twenty years I have had sinusitis and am only occasionally free from sinus headache. Stamped, self-addressed envelope and 25 cents (in negotiable condition without laundering) enclosed, for Little Lesson 26, The Calcium Shortage, and your pamphlet Relief from Allergy.

What! A clean quarter? No glue, tar, paper, gum, paste, adhesive plaster, tire tape? Evidently the boss doesn't permit employes to waste their time and his supplies unnecessarily.

This nice, clean lady closes her letter with the hope that she will have a favorable report to make in a few months.

CALCIUM LOW

So far as the "sinusitis" and "sinus headache" is concerned, I expect she will, provided (a) she consistently follows a high calcium diet, and (2) supplements her diet with a good daily ration of calcium and D, as Little Lesson 26 describes. The lady many have actual sinusitis, but just as likely her "sinusitis" is spurious, a mere manifestation of calcium deficiency.

Whether calcium deficiency would explain the lady's cold-bloodedness, I don't know. Perhaps the report she will make six months hence will throw light on the question—if she makes any report.

Incidentally my advice to anyone with chronic sinusitis, genuine or spurious, is precisely the same advice I give this nice clean lady. Remember, the calcium and vitamin D which I recommend is not medicine. It is essential food — and you should take it not for six weeks but from now on, just as you take bread and butter.

Regardless of calcium metabolism, I advise an adequate iodine ration for every man, woman and child in America, and especially for the woman anywhere within sight of forty who feels chilly in an enviroment which is comfortable enough for ordinary individuals, the woman who has to wear her coat at the bridge table and not just to make the other girls envious.

Further particulars in the pamphlet The Iodin Ration, for which send stamped, self-addressed envelope. Clipping or unsigned request will not suffice. One pamphlet free, at my expense. If you ask for something in addition it will be at your own expense.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to the Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Mich.

'National Debt Comes Before Space Research'

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer name, address and telephone number of the nature

When one thinks of all the taxes we're paying now, it is rather out of place to have all this talk of spending tens of millions of dollars on the so-called space sphere and space travel.

Does anyone in Washington think of devising measures to pay off the awful national debt? Readers should choose between the sensationalism of all this talk of conquering gravity and paying off the national debt.

School Board Bid Article Draws Reader's Attention

After reading the article Monday about suit being brought against the Pontiac School Board, I am glad that I have moved into the Waterford School District.

I would not want a serious matter such as this to appear in our district. With the mounting cost and need for more schools by the taxpayer, he is also faced with the school board's refusal to accept the lowest responsible legitimate bidders.

This decision of the school board was made against the architect's better judgment. Should the school board be allowed to override such experienced advice at the expense of the taxpayer?

This I believe is serious in more ways than one. First, it adds cost without added quality or quantity to the taxpayer at a time when the school program is so hard pressed for both.

Secondly, this is strictly against the basic reason for closed bidding. It will drive away competent bidders, cutting down competition, thus raising costs.

Last, but not least, if a condition like this is allowed to exist, there is always the danger of collusion, kick-backs, favors, etc. This is not the democratic way of life we are raised in.

Hal Boyle Says:

Nothing to Worry About? Why, World's Full of Woe

Worry is a sign of civilization, and anyone without a worry has a guilty feeling that he has turned into a barbarian.

It has been getting harder and harder to find anything to worry about in America ever since Franklin D. Roosevelt declared in 1933 that all we had to fear was fear itself.

The real art of worrying in this country has been going downhill ever since. For worries do wear out. Everyone, for example, Russians are acting like graduates of a "charm school—Dale Carnegie must be required reading in the Kremlin today—the proper attitude toward them seems to be one of dubious suspicion rather than of downright worry.

JUST TOO GOOD

"Times are too good," says the average man, unhappily, "there just isn't anything more left to worry about."

This isn't a ridiculous attitude. A man with any ingenuity can always find something worth fretting about. The real test of a worrier is his ability to see the dark lining in any silver cloud.

The chances are you have a bunch of worries you don't even realize. Look within yourself and find them. Bring these hidden troubles out. Learn their scientific names. Then you can worry about them openly and happily.

Every human being today is a walking patchwork of hidden phobias.

Housewives, for example, are beginning to get that fall housecleaning look in their eyes. They don't realize it, but they are suffering from mysophobia, or the fear of dirt, as well as ataxiophobia, the fear of disorder.

• • •

Do you hate to make up your mind? Poor fellow, you're a victim of gephyrophobia, the fear of crossing bridges.

WALKERS' WOES

Are you a pedestrian? Well, if you are sensible at all, you are often in the throes of agyiophobia, the fear of crossing a street. And if you are a really careful pedestrian you suffer both forms of this common disease—levophobia, or fear of objects on the left side of the body, and dextrophobia, or fear of objects on the right side of the body.

Do you hate to get up in the morning and face another day? Don't just laugh at this feeling. You're sick, sick, sick. You are afflicted with basophobia, stasiphobia, and stasibasiphobia—all of which mean you're afraid to stand upright.

Are you weary of television commercials? You've come down with onomatophobia, the fear of hearing certain names.

Are you angry at your husband because he comes home late? He may have either domatophobia, fear of being in a house, or (depending on your temper) amycophobia, the fear of being clawed. Maybe it would help if you shut up and contract phonophobia — the fear of hearing one's own voice.

FULL OF WORRIES

Nothing to worry about? Why the world is full of wonderful fears—from hadeophobia, the fear of hell, to apiphobia, the fear of being stung by a strange bee.

Anybody who isn't doing this fair share of worrying simply is loafing on the job and has lost the desire to be civilized.

Rabbi Foils Alcoholic by Using Grape Juice

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Rabbi Albert Pappenheim got a little tired of repeated thefts of ceremonial wine from the Ohava Zion Synagogue.

After the second time someone broke into the synagogue to drink the wine, the rabbi was prompted to announce the congregation would use grape juice in the future.

Americans Eat More

WASHINGTON — The average American civilian now eats 13 per cent more food than in the 1935-39 period, according to the Department of Agriculture.

Indians Get Lit Up

CLEWISTON, Fla. (AP) — Most of the Seminole Indians in the Everglades live in primitive chickees — tiny open shelters consisting only of a thatched roof mounted on four poles. But 15 Indian families on the Big Cypress Reservation have wired their chickees and are receiving electricity from a Rural Electrificaiton Administration line running 50 miles from here to their settlement.

Few Turks Own Land

ISTANBUL—There are few large landowners and few landless farmers in Turkey. The average farmer owns one or two plots of land and his oxen and sheep.

Interstate Fire Alarm Ready at Rock Island

ROCK ISLAND, Ill. (AP)—Davenport, Ia., twice spotted a fire in Rock Island before Rock Islanders were aware of it.

The blazes involved an old cribbing for the Crescent Bridge. A high river levee hides it from view in Rock Island but the fire was easily seen across the Mississippi River in Davenport.

Lengthy State Shore

KNOXVILLE — Tennessee Valley Authority and United States Engineers lakes in Tennessee have more than 10,000 miles of shoreline.

Bruges Bilingual

The Flemish language is spoken more than French in Bruges, Belgium, though both are official tongues. Most Flemings speak French as well as Flemish, but few French-speaking Walloons have a command of Flemish. An English or German-speaking person can sometimes pick up words or the general drift of Flemish, and it is not very difficult for such people to read simple public signs.

Big Subsidiary Plant

LONDON — The most modern foundry in the British Commonwealth is a subsidiary of a United States automobile company.

Inquest Scheduled in Heiress' Death

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A public inquest begins tomorrow into the sudden death of beauteous young socialite Mrs. Doris Jean Silver Oestreicher. The case has been under a secrecy-shrouded investigation by city police and medical authorities for a week.

The 22-year-old chain store heiress who eloped with Miami Beach motorcycle policeman Earl Oestreicher to Folkston, Ga., June 24, returned to her parents' home alone here two weeks ago. She died while visiting in the apartment of friends Aug. 24.

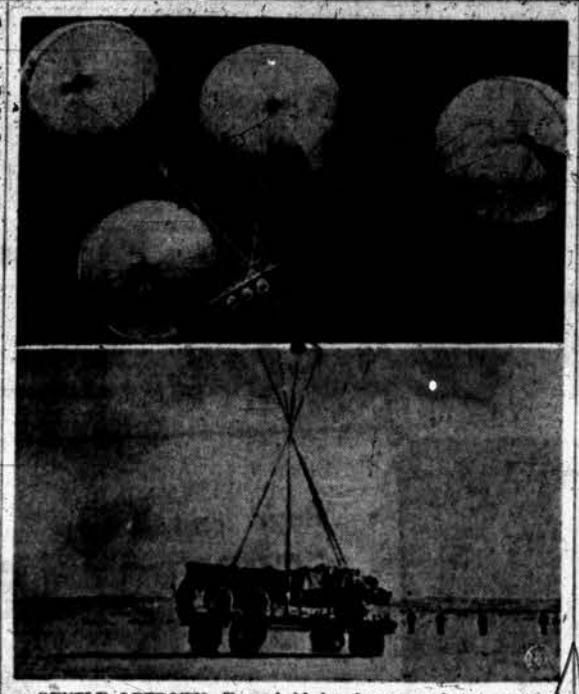
* * *

Police Commissioner Thomas J. Gibbons has termed the death "suspicious".

The Philadelphia Inquirer quoted Dist. Atty. Samuel Dash as saying police have been working on the assumption the death "was caused by an illegal operation." Dash could not be reached for comment. Other investigators and Mayor Joseph Clark declined comment.

Havasupais Indians

Grand Canyon National Park encloses the home of the Havasupais, possibly the smallest and certainly the most isolated Indian reservation in the United States, says the National Geographic Society. A few square miles in a side canyon support the tribe of some 300 members.



GENTLE LETDOWN—Even held by four parachutes, a truck can hit the ground pretty hard when dropped from a plane. To ease the shock of landing, the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co., of Akron, Ohio, has devised the "aero-pallet cushions" pictured above. In top picture, truck is lashed to the cargo platform or "pallet." Underneath are six barrel-shaped cushions that fill with air while descending. As seen in bottom photo, they cushion the landing jar of the 2½-ton truck and then collapse. Photos were taken during tests at El Centro, Calif.

File Parenthood Suit Against Heir

AP Chain Millionaire Said to Be Father of 17-Year-Old Boy

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The grandmother of a 17-year-old boy, saying she wants to have his identity established, has filed a suit asking the court to declare that A&P grocery chain heir Huntington Hartford II, 44, is his father.

* * *

The suit, filed yesterday, says Hartford refused to acknowledge parenthood publicly. The mother of the boy, Edward Barton Colt, was Mary Phillips, a New York dancer who died in 1941, the action alleged.

The suit was brought by the boy's maternal grandmother Mrs. Florence Barton Brandgenberg, Los Angeles, with whom young Colt has lived since he was 10 days old.

* * *

Colt seeks the establishment of parenthood so he may obtain a passport for foreign travel and may enter the armed forces under his rightful name, the suit said.

It said Hartford established a $295,000 trust fund for the boy on April 3, 1939, with proceeds of the trust payable to the grandmother in the boy's behalf and amounting to $800 monthly. The suit said the sum is adequate "at this time."

* * *

The action identifies Hartford as a major stockholder in the grocery chain and says he has a yearly income of a million dollars.

In 1949 Hartford was married to Marjorie Steele. In 1939 he was divorced from the former Mary Lee Epping, now Mrs. Douglas Fairbanks Jr.

Mrs. Brangenberg's attorney Bernard B. Cohen said New York newspaper clippings show that the boy's mother died of sleeping pills.

Formosans Honor Dead During Ghost Festival

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Neither rain nor official reminders of austerity dampened a big binge by Formosans today on the occasion of the Ghost Festival.

The day was dedicated to the spirits of the dead, who were supposed to return to earth. Their living kinfolk prepared big feasts in honor of their visitors from the nether world—then, very practically, ate the food themselves.

Long strings of firecrackers were popped off and thousands of lanterns were lighted to guide the spirits.

Girls Hurry to Wed GIs

Soviet Suicides Reported as Big 4 Leaves Austria

By RICHARD O'REGAN

VIENNA (AP)—Some Russian soldiers are reported killing themselves or deserting . . . Long military trains are pulling out through the night to east and west . . . Austrian girls are hurrying to wed their departing American boy friends.

The evacuation of Austria by the armies of the Big Four is in full swing.

* * *

In the five weeks since Austria finally won her independence July 27, the occupation powers are estimated to have pulled out more than half of their 60,000 soldiers.

The French will all be gone by Sept. 10, the British by Sept. 19. Russian operational forces will be out by Oct. 1 and the Americans about the same time.

* * *

Austrian police report several Soviet soldiers are believed to have committed suicide. Unconfirmed reports say about 10 deserted to the Western armies. Other unconfirmed reports speak of deserters caught and shot before assembled Soviet troops.

One of the busiest little resorts in the country today is Baden, a few miles from the capital in the Vienna Woods. For 10 years it has been the Russian headquarters, with Soviet offices in elegant hotels, billets in fashionable villas and the officers' mess in a gambling casino.

Now much in the town has been returned to the Austrians. Property values are soaring.

Salzburg's American consulate reports a marriage boom. The office is working overtime to clear the records of Austrian girls the soldiers want to marry.

In contrast with most of their countrymen, the Salzburgers generally regret the Americans departure. The Army and its dependents spent almost 30 million dollars a year there.

* * *

As a gift, the Americans are leaving a 16-million-dollar camp area.

The Big Four are also leaving behind living reminders—"occupation babies." Vienna alone has 2,300 after the troops' 10-year stay.

According to Austrian statistics, American fathers lead the list with 1,128 illegitimate children in the city. The Russians are next with 649, the British 357 and the French 166.

Return Temple Bell

PASADENA, Calif. (INS) — A Japanese temple bell, given to the city of Pasadena by the officers and men of the USS Pasadena in 1946, was sent back to Tokyo at the request of the State Department. The bell was found in a metal heap in Tokyo.

Foreign Film Club Will Hold Meeting

The Foreign Film Club will hold the first in a series of monthly meetings Tuesday at 8:15 p.m. in the Cranbrook Institute of Science.

Films scheduled to be shown are "The Cabinet of Dr. Caligari," a German picture made in 1919 and the "grandfather" of horror movies, and a 20-minute film titled, "Little Greyneck."

The bureau of engraving and printing of the Treasury department manufactures all the paper money and other securities of the federal government.

Charge Man in Death

DETROIT (AP) — Dearborn police said they will seek a murder warrant against Joseph H. Sexton, 37, in the fatal stabbing of Billy Free, 27, during a poker game argument.

Police said the stabbing occurred Monday night in Sexton's apartment in Dearborn. Free died of his wounds Wednesday.

Buggy Makers Still in Business

Horse-Drawn Vehicles Built Mainly for Amish and Acadians

WASHINGTON — Buggy making, though not exactly booming, still is a business in the United States.

At least two companies maintain their listing as buggy manufacturers in farm equipment directories. Here and there work a few other lingering craftsmen—Roman Schrock of Walnut Creek, Ohio, for example, who by law now has to put headlights, taillights and parking lights on highway buggies he builds to order.

The biggest buggy factory — Standard Vehicle Co. of Lawrenceburg, Ind. — makes about 800 passenger vehicles each year. Its catalogue lists nearly 50 different models, from surreys and phaetons to sulkies and horse-show pony carts.

For steady transportation, says the National Geographic Society, only two groups of Americans still buy buggies in any numbers: Amishmen, the devoted Amanite farmers whose somber garb and German idiom may be found from Pennsylvania to the Midwest, and the French-speaking Acadians of Louisiana's southern "Cajun country."

Through the Amish valleys of Pennsylvania, square canvas-topped family buggies and open bachelor's runabouts roll along behind clip-clopping horses as if automobiles had never been invented.

Probably half the buggies built in the United States go to Louisiana. New buggies are seen as often as new cars in some small bayou towns. Buggy dealers support showrooms, blacksmiths repair iron-rimmed wooden wheels, and stores and doctors' offices keep hitching posts outside.

One New York city stableman keeps several hundred old tallyhos, gigs, coaches and other horse-drawn vehicles for rent, adding spice to college parties and special promotions.

In Central Park, a few hansom cabs maintain a nostalgic business. But in all New York, fewer than a hundred horses now pull wagons, public carts, carriages or conveyances of any sort through the streets.

Statesman Never Voted

WASHINGTON — Zachary Taylor never cast a vote in his life. When the Whigs mailed him their presidential nomination, he refused to pay the 10 cents postage due and sent the nomination back unopened.

2 Atolls Found by Yank Captain

18th Century Seafarer Almost Collided With Fanning, Palmyra

WASHINGTON — How does an uncharted island happen to be discovered?

Capt. Edmund Fanning, the Connecticut Yankee mariner who helped find new paths across the 18th Century Pacific, almost ran under full sail into two islands that are strategically important today.

The two atolls — Fanning and Palmyra — are part of the equatorial Line Islands in the mid-Pacific, the National Geographic Society says. Fanning lies 1,200 miles south of Honolulu; Palmyra, 1,080 miles.

Capt. Fanning's near collision with the unknown islands was such an unnerving experience that he gave up further exploration on his first voyage around the world.

The strait-laced New Englander, who would permit none of his crewmen to swear on ship, set out from New York in June 1797. He commanded the Betsey, a brig of less than 100 tons.

As the Betsey headed across the Pacific toward Canton, at 3 a.m. on June 11, 1798, a lookout cried: "Breakers ahead and close aboard!" The crew barely had time to trim sails and beat clear of a reef.

Daylight disclosed a lushly tropical, foot-shaped atoll, about 12 by 16 miles, with one promising passage into its peaceful lagoon. Crewmen found no signs of human habitation, but the island abounded in wood, water, fruits, fish, turtles and coconuts. Fanning promptly named his first discovery for himself.

On the night of June 14, Fanning had a strange premonition of danger. He kept waking, and finally ordered the ship hove to until dawn.

Again, day disclosed that the Betsey was about to strike a reef off an atoll. He decided to bypass the island. It was not officially discovered and named Palmyra until 1802.

Press Declares Truman to Snub 2 Dem Dinners

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — The Copley Press said today former President Truman has decided to snub two California Democratic fund-raising dinners because he is "sore" at Edwin S. Pauley, former treasurer of the Democratic National Committee.

• • •

The Copley Press and the Los Angeles Times in similar stories said Truman is angry because Pauley entertained Vice President Nixon and his wife at a reception recently.

• • •

Pauley, multimillionaire oil man is a "key figure" in arrangements for the dinners, Copley Press said in a story from Washington carried by the Illinois State Journal, Springfield, and other Copley newspapers.

• • •

The Los Angeles Times said Truman "is boiling Missouri mad" over Pauley's party for Nixon. It said, "This was the rumor rampant in the capital today although Democratic officials stuck to their story: Mr. Truman called off his California trip on doctor's orders."

• • •

Truman was not available for comment immediately.

See Film, Drive Better

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Police Judge Edward G. Burleson handed out complimentary movie tickets to one group of traffic violators arraigned in his court. He wanted them to see "The Devil Takes Us," a traffic safety film at a downtown theater.

It's Mine, Mine, D'ya Hear Mickey Barks at Guests

Dog candy favors were distributed to the guests—14 neighborhood dogs accompanied by their young masters and mistresses.

Everything went smoothly enough until it became time to serve the birthday cake, made of dog food and topped with three candles.

Jackie put a leash on Mickey and took her into the house. Then the guest dogs were served.

U.S. Offers Senecas

SALAMANCA, N.Y. (AP) — The government will make its annual distribution of "treaty cloth" tomorrow and Saturday to Indians of the Seneca Nation.

These yearly payments are required by a 1794 treaty between the United States and the Seneca Nation. The Indians twice have rejected government offers to settle the account with a lump-sum payment.

Meat Exports Decline

CHICAGO — United States exports of meat declined more than 20 per cent during 1954 from the 1953 total of 127,000,000 pounds. Both pork and beef exports dropped — pork substantially and beef moderately.

Baritone Offers Concert Complete With 5 Lions

FLORENCE, Italy (AP) — Gino Bechi, well-known Italian operatic baritone, gave a short but successful concert last night in a cage with five lions.

Observers said there was a slight tremolo in his voice at the start, but he settled down nicely as the program progressed. The lions appeared confused.

Bechi said the 12-minute performance won a bet providing dinner for 10 friends.

JUNIOR EDITORS

DENMARK—4
The Little Mermaid

No trip to Denmark is complete without a visit to the city of Odense—the home of Hans Christian Andersen, beloved writer of children's stories, such as Hansel and Gretel, the Ugly Duckling and the Little Mermaid.

Andersen was born in Odense in 1805, the son of a poor shoemaker. He seldom had enough to eat but he loved books and nature and he wanted to see the world.

After his Fairy Tales were printed he became famous and traveled all over the world as he had hoped to do when he was a boy.

In Odense this mermaid statue was erected as a tribute to Andersen. Our touring Junior Editors saw the figure of the Little Mermaid looking out to sea. She is made of smooth, polished bronze and always looks wet as if she had just come up out of the water. Sailors leaving Copenhagen bring the mermaid flowers as a good luck symbol for their voyage.

For your collection, color the mermaid as you wish and paste the picture on thin cardboard. Cut out the square, then cut around the edge of the cloud on the dotted lines. Fold the top part back to make the Little Mermaid sit up and look out over the sea.

Champagne Sales Soars

PARIS—About 250,000 cases of French champagne—nearly 2,500,000 bottles—were exported to America in 1954. Britain consumes about 260,000 cases of this wine a year. About 27,000,000 bottles of French champagne are sold throughout the world each year.

It is estimated that more than 1,000 cans a second are opened in the United States and that some 36 billion cans a year are opened by 40,000,000 American families.

U.S. Production Rises

WASHINGTON—The rate of production of goods and services in the United States has increased nearly 30 per cent since the end of World War II. Output per man-hour has risen three-fold since 1909 and doubled between 1923 and 1933.

When the 28-year-old Hannibal started for Italy he had 50,000 foot soldiers, 9,000 horsemen and 30 elephants.

Most Loans Insured

NEW YORK — The Institute of Life Insurance reports that nearly 40 per cent of the outstanding consumer credit in the United States is covered by life insurance specifically written to cover the loan in the event the borrower dies.

You can read letters printed in 10 or 12 point type faster than those which are larger or smaller, says the Better Vision Institute.

Scouts Launch Volunteer Move to Serve All Boys

A volunteer movement to serve all boys, no matter what their financial status, race or religion, will be launched by scouters Thursday at Camp Agawam.

Council Executive Edward H. Leland said Roundtables for Boy Scout, Cub Scout, and Explorer Scout leaders will meet in separate groups the first Thursday of each month at 7:30 p.m. All three units conducting the program are in Manito district, Leland said.

The Cub Roundtable, with the theme "Cub Scout Beekeepers," will be conducted by Kirk Francis. Cubmaster Ted Pearson of Pack no. 32, Oxford, has a special program planned for Thursday night.

Den Mothers, committee men and ideas chairmen are invited to the discussions.

Under the direction of Roger Gunn, the Boy Scout Roundtable's topic for the month will be "Weather Wise." The Council Camp Out will be discussed, and all scoutmasters, assistant scoutmasters and committee men may attend.

Stu Williams will conduct the Explorer Scout Roundtable Thursday. Topic will be "The Monthly Business Meeting" and "How to Use Your Explorer Program Quarterly."

All Explorer advisors, scouts, and committee men are invited.

The overall purpose of the roundtables is to discuss scout organization, and methods of getting every possible good out of scouting, Leland explained.

Quarterlies and program notebooks will be available Thursday night for all three scout units.

Find Ex-Lansing Man Dead in Florida Home

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Howard W. Diehl, 55, a lifelong resident of Lansing, Mich., until he moved here five years ago, was found dead yesterday in his gas-filled apartment.

Magistrate Edward P. Silk, acting coroner, ruled the death a suicide. He said Diehl, a retired machinist, had been despondent because of illness.

Seeks 'Sweet' Sleeper

DALLAS (AP)—Mrs. J. G. Curtiss, 80, asked police to help her find the tramp she gave a meal and an unneeded mattress. She remembered she'd sewed up $100 in the old mattress. Asked for a description, the only thing she could remember of the man was that he talked "very sweet."

St. Louis Publisher Dies on East Coast

RYE BEACH, N. H. (AP)—E. Lansing Ray, who rose from a $10-a-week job to editor and publisher of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, died of a heart attack at his summer home here Tuesday as he was observing his 71st birthday.

His unexpected death ended 52 years on the Globe-Democrat. The paper had been under his direction for 36 of those years.

Ray was opening gifts at a family birthday party. Suddenly he felt weak, excused himself and went to his bedroom. A physician was called but life quickly ebbed. Death was attributed to a coronary thrombosis.

Only five months ago Ray, whose family had controlled the newspaper for three generations, sold his stock interest in the Globe-Democrat to Samuel I. Newhouse of New York.

Ray remained as editor, publisher and chairman of the board for Newhouse, who owns 10 other newspapers.

Old Sea Chanteys Recall Stirring Historical Period

WASHINGTON—"Blow the man down, bullies, blow the man down. Heave away, away, blow the man down . . ."

Sea chanteys like the classic "Blow the Man Down" today echo a stirring epoc in maritime history. Purely work songs, they came into being to pace and lighten drudgery aboard old sailing vessels. Sailors no longer sang them when smokestacks replaced the canvas.

To perpetuate the dying art of chanteying, the Library of Congress has recorded a score of tunes sung by a few surviving oldtimers. These tunes are among the few authentic chanteys preserved in sound. Other remembered work songs of the book form.

Since remote times, seafaring men have "sung out" at work, the National Geographic Society says. A friar noted what might have been chanteying aboard a Venetian galley in 1493. He wrote of mariners "who sing when work is going on, because work at sea is very heavy, and is only carried on by a concert between one who sings out orders and laborers who sing in response."

One of today's best-known short chanteys, "Haul the Bowline," dates from Elizabethan times.

AMERICAN ART

Chanteying flowered as an art, however, when American squareriggers mastered the seas between the War of 1812 and mid-19th Century. Sleek, swift, record-breaking Yankee clippers in particular drove crewmen hard, and they sang hard to forget aching backs and bleeding hands.

• • •

Unmistakably American chanteys — "Shenandoah," "Roll the Cotton Down," "The Alabama" an "Gimme the Banjo" — echoed in far, exotic ports.

Whether the inspiration came from a New Orleans dock or London's Limehouse or an old English ballad, seamen adapted it to their own taste and needs. It became a slow, ponderous sea song, set to work tempo with an inimitable flavor of salt air, creaking rope and running tide.

Sailors sang thre major types of chantey—the short-haul, the halyard and capstan.

• • •

Men shouted key words of the short-haul when a few vigorous tugs were needed to bunt up a sail, or haul on sheets, tacks and braces. It was a primitive song, not far removed from "ho-heave-ho'ing":

Way ay ay yah,
We'll all go down
and hang the cook!

The chanteyman, or song leader, struck up a halyard tune for a longer, heavier job like masthead-ing the topsails:

We'll blow ashore and blow our pay day,
Blow, boys, blow,
Then blow aboard and blow away.

There were prolonged, continuous tasks — crewmen treading in rhythm around the capstan, pushing their spokelike bars before them to raise the clanking anchor chain.

Such monotonous tasks required a clever chanteyman to improvise endless verses, and a good booming chorus for the laborers:

And away Rio, it's away Rio!
Singing fare you well,
my bonny young girl,
And we're bound
for the Rio Grande.

Before the art went out, there was a saying that a chantey was worth 10 men and a rope. In truth, it took a lot of chanteying to man wind-whipped canvas on rough seas. Steam, on the other hand, didn't need "Blow the Man Down."

Vortex Tubes Aid Temperature Gauge

CHICAGO — The Illinois Institute of Technology's Armour Research Foundation is developing a device that will provide more accurate meteorological information for weather forecasting and will result in a cut in the fuel consumption of high-speed aircraft.

Scientists at the institute are studying the application of vortex tubes for the measurement of free air temperature from planes traveling at supersonic speeds.

The vortex thermometer, the institute says, will enable new high-speed weather-observation planes to measure air temperatures more accurately and to locate jet streams, resulting in a cut in fuel use.

GIs in Korea Praised

WASHINGTON (AP) — GIs who checked South Korean demonstrations against Communist truce inspectors have been commended by Secretary of State Dulles for "firmness and strength under very trying conditions." A letter from Dulles was relayed yesterday by Secretary of the Army Wilber M. Brucker, who added his own commendation.

Work, Sleep, Play In Comfort

Without Nagging Backache

Nagging backache, headache, or muscular aches and pains may come on with over-exertion, emotional upsets or day to day stress and strain. And folks who eat and drink unwisely sometimes suffer mild bladder irritation ...with that restless, uncomfortable feeling.

If you are miserable and worn out because of these discomforts, Doan's Pills often help by their pain relieving action, by their soothing effect to ease bladder irritation, and by their mild diuretic action through the kidneys — tending to increase the output of the 15 miles of kidney tubes.

So if nagging backache makes you feel dragged-out, miserable...with restless, sleepless nights...don't wait...try Doan's Pills... get the same happy relief millions have enjoyed for over 60 years. Get Doan's Pills today!

38 Nations Join Probe of Earth's Inner Secret

WASHINGTON — The planet Earth has been described as a whirling ball of rock that carries more than two billion human passengers on a journey through space.

Although man has lived upon this flying top for an estimated million years, only recently has he begun to penetrate its inner secrets, to measure the tides of air and water and ice that surge across its wrinkled surface, to study the rays that strike it from without.

* * *

Thirty-eight nations of the world now are getting ready for a concerted scientific attack upon this still-little-known island in the universe, the National Geographic Society says. Their joint effort will be known as the International Geophysical Year, or simply, "IGY."

This "Year" of world science, third in a century, will officially begin July 1, 1957, and extend to the end of 1958. It already involves millions of dollars and thousands of scientists, and such planning as the reconnoitering of the Antarctic ice shelf by the United States icebreaker Atka.

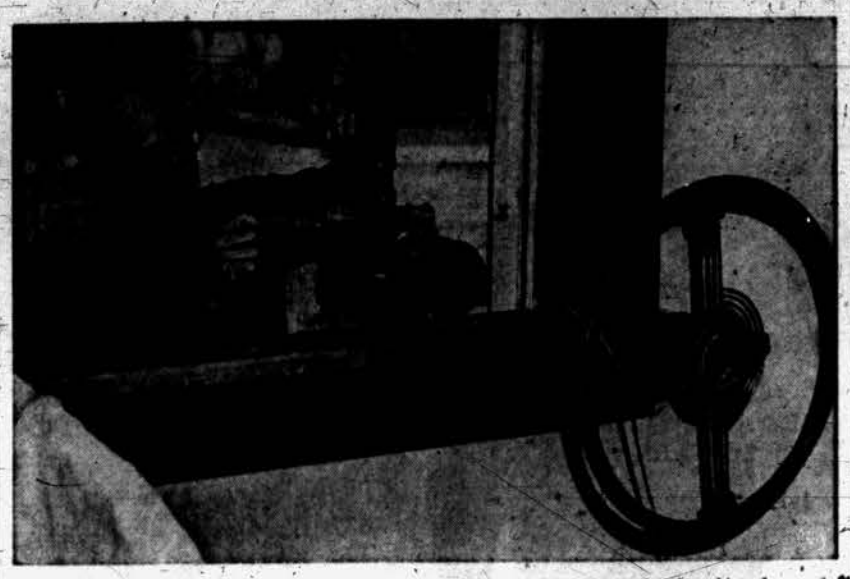
Before the Year ends, an expedition may have gone all the way across Antarctica. Other teams will fire high-altitude rockets simultaneously from various bases, study polar glaciers and ocean depths, capture cosmic rays and measure continental drift.

IKE COMMENTS

Four American expeditions, one in Alaska, another on the Greenland ice cap, and two in Antarctica, will study glaciers. British plans for the Geophysical Year include a 1,750-mile crossing of the Antarctic continent with snow vehicles, the expedition to be shared by a New Zealand party led by Mount Everest's conqueror, Sir Edmund Hillary.

If successful, the explorers will measure the depth of the Antarctic ice-cap with a series of explosive charges. They also hope to map a totally unknown region as large as all Europe.

By world-wide latitude and longitude fixes and measurement of long distances to an accuracy of 90 feet the maps of all the continents will be better tied together during the Year. The speed at which the earth spins in space can thus be determined more exactly.



HE DOOD IT, HIMSELF — Oliver Hagg, of Salina, Kan., is quite proud of this contraption he rigged, figures it saved him more than $100. It's a rotary television antenna that he whipped up out of an old car steering wheel, worm gear taken from a combine and a 25-foot pipe from a well.

Runs Furniture Lab

ZEELAND (AP) — The Herman Miller Furniture Co. has appointed James Witty, a Grand Rapids industrial engineer, as head of the firm's new technical center. Witty will direct materials testing and laboratory research at the company.

Iron ore which has been shipped down the Great Lakes would make a pile as high as a 52 story building and a city block wide, three-quarters of a mile long.

Television Aids Dam Builders

Underwater Video Lets Engineers See What's Happening Below

GRAND COULEE, Wash. (AP)—Out at the Grand Coulee Dam they are bringing in some strange pictures on a TV set. It's part of a scheme to give engineers a better idea of maintenance and construction needs of dams, bridges, piers and other underwater structures.

Harold Maiken, veteran diver, rigged up the underwater set to show the engineers what he saw. Still pictures have been made before, but Maiken thinks his show was the first of its kind.

He got out of bed after being hospitalized with the "bends" (a disability stemming from underwater pressure to make his first demonstration.

The engineers saw where concrete had been eaten away by the rushing water, cavities along the bottom of the dam and a dozen other things.

One of them explained that still pictures and oral reports of the divers were not easy to interpret. "We just don't get the feel of it."

Some experts also believe the camera can take pictures in places too small for the diver to enter and send them to the surface on a coaxial cable.

Pension plans insured by the nation's life-insurance companies have enabled nearly 4,000,000 American men and women in 17,280 groups to accumulate almost 10 billion dollars toward their retirement income.

Scientists say the old adage, "If you heard the thunder or saw the lightning, it did not strike you," is quite true.

Flies High on Ground

LIMA, Ohio (INS) — Newly-designed aircraft equipment is "flown" as high as 120,000 feet — that's 23 miles up — without ever leaving the ground. Westinghouse engineers reveal that a special high-altitude test chamber that creates artificial atmosphere conditions ranging from 500 degrees Fahrenheit to 75 degrees below zero, enables scientists to test jet equipment prior to its installation in our fighting planes.

Unearth Ancient Cypress Stumps

Washington Excavation Discovers Tree From Cretdceous Epoch

WASHINGTON — The Nation's capital occasionally yields souvenirs of its primeval past, including a new cache of 100,000-year-old cypress stumps.

• • •

Builders turned up the fossilized remains of three stumps while excavating the site of a new office building in a midtown block shared by the National Geographic Society's headquarters. The pieces of wood, buried about 30 feet below street level, were well preserved but not petrified.

Giant bald cypresses flourished in a swamp here during the Pleistocene epoch or ice age a hundred millenniums ago, according to the United States Geological Survey. The layer of swamp muck holding the remains lies deep beneath an area now studded with modern business structures and fashionable hotels.

Across the street from the most recent discovery, excavators unearthed huge upright stumps of cypress in 1922. Some were eight feet in diameter. Scientists carefully examined the swamp muck and found silica remains of minute fresh-water plants, as well as fossil fruits and seeds.

EARLY EVIDENCE

The earliest ecidence of life in Washington's present limits dates to the early Cretaceous time, 100,000,000 years ago. Huge dinosaurs roamed swamplands. Turtles and crocodiles cooled in shallow lagoons. Fossils indicate the presence of trees similar to cypress, sequoia, elm and holly, in addition to cone-bearing trees and ferns.

Giant bald cypresses dominated the swamps. New animals appeared: Elephant, reindeer, musk ox, wild horse, ground sloth, wild hog and beaver. Much later Indians farmed and fished on the city's site.

NO ECLIPSE FOR CONSTELLATION — Saved from oblivion, the USS Constellation, oldest ship in Uncle Sam's Navy, is moved away from her moorings in Boston Navy Yard on her way to a seagoing drydock. Eventually, she'll be towed to Baltimore, Md., where she was launched Sept. 7, 1797, and after restoration will become a permanent memorial.

U.S. Justice Douglas Sightseeing in Moscow

MOSCOW (AP) — U. S. Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas flew in to Moscow today after a 5,000-mile sightseeing trip through Central Asia and Siberia.

He was met at the airport by his wife, who came here to join him for a final week of sightseeing in the Soviet capital.

This is the first time an American Supreme Court justice has ever visited Moscow.

Michigan Student Invents Traffic Control Devices

ANN ARBOR (INS)—A plan that he thinks would slow down speeding motorists has been devised by a University of Michigan graduate student from Turkey.

He is Ligore G. Fenerli, a civil engineer specializing in highway traffic, who has come up with an automatic system for warning individual speeders or of recording their license numbers.

He says that two photo-electric relays could be installed a few feet apart at the side of a highway, set to detect vehicles that pass by at excessive speeds.

Then, Fenerli says, the relays would set off signs further down the road which would read "You are driving over 60" and "slow down."

• • •

They would be "like a big eye catching and warning" the motorist whenever he broke the speed limit.

Going a step further, he suggests that a camera be installed in place of the signs, situated to photograph the license plate of violators right at the time of the violation.

He says 4,000 pictures could be made with one 100-foot roll of film and would supply police with a large amount of information for a nominal cost.

The plan is the result of Fenerli's studies into highway speeds which are necessary for his doctoral research on the dynamic loading of highway pavement.

Cowboy Gives Kids Some 'Gentle' Heroes

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS)—Every day thousands of small, bright kids are succumbing to large, dull pangs of inferiority which may make them inevitably shy away from life. And the trouble is a spreading disease that might be called "hero-itis."

* * *

Ever since Adam, of course, kids have had heroes to idolize and emulate.

But only since television has the hero become so alarmingly close to a kid that every blink of the noble eye can be studied, every jab of the giant fist copied, and every patrolman's badge and luger earnestly requested for Christmas.

"The national heroes of today are big, sharp men of action, and you know what that means?" said a 6-foot-4 TV idol today. "It means that when a child is weak, or sensitive, or has bad eyes, or leans more to thinking than playing ball, he hasn't got a chance.

* * *

"One of two things'll happen. Either he feels inferior because he can't live up to the feats of the big guy he idolizes, and realizes he probably never will. Or his alleged buddies make fun of him because he isn't built in the modern heroic mood."

* * *

The man who speaks, in a pronounced Western drawl, is Jim Wyler, cowboy host-narrator of "The Adventures of Hopalong Cassidy Show."

WESTERN DANDY

He is dressed in a red chiffon neck scarf, sand suede jacket, blue jeans and boots. With two .38s, loaded, on his heroic hips.

* * *

"See me?" he inquired, rather superfluously since 6-foot-4 men with pistols are hard to miss. "I am an example of what hero worship can do to the kid at the other extreme—the one who looks like he's got it made from the time he's 4 years old.

"I got a lot of attention wearing the sweater with the big 'O' (for Oswego-West Lynn High, in Nebraska) but I found out I was a real rockhead when I got out. My inferiority came when I saw I didn't live up to what everybody thought I was.

"So swashbucklers get disillusioned too."

* * *

The whole society takes a shellacking at the expense of idols until they reach a certain age, and then sometimes they never quite get over those early impressions—that they always would be, or never could be, a hero.

* * *

Wyler has only one solution to the problem, and he's trying it out on his WABC-TV "Hoppy" show every afternoon. He is telling stories to his audience of youth and their elders, and the stories he tells are not of Charles Atlases who would rather shoot to kill than study to accomplish.

'THE GENTLE MEN'

"I'm tryin' to build up a good hero worship for some of the really great men that kids could associate their own personalities with. I like to tell the stories of men about whom a kid might say, 'Gee, he was just like my dad!' "

So Wyler is casting aside Davy Crockett, Superman and Space Cadets and recounting, in homey talk, the fine attributes of such as Thomas Edison, Thoreau, Johnny (Appleseed) Chapman, Luther Burbank, Stonewall Jackson, Brigham Young. "I think of them," he says softly, "as the gentle men."

"But I sure don't ever call them that. The kids would think they were sissies."

Even Hopalong Cassidy, despite his high Hooper and 20-year-long reign among cowboys, might suffer if labeled "gentle." For gentleness is a quality that must be "sneaked up" on American boys and girls—who refute, but badly need it.

Dominicans Give Second Flood Relief Donation

WASHINGTON (INS)—A second $100,000 flood-relief gift has been presented to the American Red Cross by the Dominican Republic.

Ambassador Joaquin E. Salazar made the presentation on behalf of the government and people of his country.

An earlier $100,000 contribution to aid victims of the floods which ravaged six northeastern states was the personal gift of Generalissimo Rafael Leonidas Trujillo, former president of the republic and now chief of the Dominican armed forces.

Winchell Suing ABC for 7 Million Dollars

NEW YORK (AP)—Walter Winchell is suing the American Broadcasting Co. in state courts for seven million dollars, the network said.

The suit is the upshot of termination of Winchell's contract with the network June 26.

10,000,000th Book Received

Library of Congress, Largest in World, Has 33,153,000 Items

WASHINGTON — The Library of Congress, the Nation's largest library, received its 10-millionth book recently.

* * *

No one knows exactly what book was the 10-millionth, for the landmark volume arrived among 308,748 books and pamphlets acquired in fiscal year 1954. It became without fanfare one of the library's 33,153,000 items. The library's chief rivals for size, the British Museum and the Bibliotheque Nationale in Paris, were probably surpassed before 1940.

* * *

Established in 1800 and housed in the Capitol, the library after five years contained about $4,000 worth of books. British soldiers burned the building in the War of 1812 and one of them wrote wistfully home that "a noble library" had passed. But the nation soon bought 6,487 more books from Thomas Jefferson's personal shelves. The average cost of $3.69 a volume brought charges of extravagance.

Fires in 1825 and 1851 wiped out two - thirds of the collection. Later, outgrowing its first home, the library moved to its own structure near the Capitol. In 1939 an annex housed additional millions of items.

Browsers, students and scholars swarm the library buildings. Two reading rooms accommodate over 500 persons and offer the aid of trained reference assistants. A requested book is delivered from the jungle of stacks within 20 minutes.

A repository of cultural treasures and curiosities, the library houses the venerated Gutenberg Bible and a rare collection of Stradivari violins whose exquisite tones are sometimes heard in library chamber recitals.

* * *

Deeply music - minded, the library offers an enormous collection of American folk songs, tape-recorded on plantations, river banks or wherever they flourish.

* * *

The blind have access to thousands of Braille books and large assortments of "talking book" transcriptions. For a world now intent on studying the Soviet Union and China the library contains the largest collection of Russian and Chinese books known to exist outside those two countries.

He Goes Back to College at 69

Businessman Returns to U. of M. for Special Nuclear Course

ANN ARBOR (AP)—By 65, most men have retired. But not Arthur B. Modine of Racine, Wis.

* * *

At 69, Modine is the chairman of the board of one company, the vice president of another. Just last week he attended a two-week series of classes at Michigan, his alma mater, to learn the ABC's of industrial nuclear engineering.

Modine explains it this way. In 1938, he decided he had had enough of running his company, the Modine Manufacturing Co. of Racine, but when he quit, he had to have something to "take up my time."

So he started studying modern physics. It was, he admits, not very much then like the physics of today. But it served, he said, as "a transition out of business."

* * *

He is still chairman of the company and is vice president of the Twin Disk Clutch Co., also of Racine.

TWO REASONS

This year, there were two reasons which drew him to the classes at Michigan where he graduated in 1908. He wanted to "keep up to date in physics" and "contribute something of what we've learned" in the field of heat transfer.

* * *

Modine wasn't alone. These reasons and others drew more than 50 representatives of business, big and small, to Michigan. They were aircraft men, insurance underwriters, oil men, automotive men, and military men.

Their object: To stay up to date with the fantastic strides of science. They came from all over the country.

Most of the representatives said they were here to gain a basic knowledge of what they could do in their companies to expand their scope into the nuclear field.

* * *

—Water, Water Everywhere and It's Just a Leak

MERIDEN, Conn. (AP)—Meriden has a plumbing problem because somebody 80 or 90 years ago forgot to mark certain pipe on the map of the city water system.

* * *

As a result, many of the city's 44,000 people didn't have any water at all while others get only a trickle.

It has been this way since Tuesday. A construction crew was digging a hole to sink a gasoline station tank. The drills ground into something hard and water gushed out. It was a main water line.

City workmen rushed to the scene but couldn't get near the broken pipe because of the water. The water has been gushing out ever since.

* * *

City officials figured it was a minor problem. They shut off a line they thought was running into the main. Nothing happened. Then they shut off another line. Nothing happened again.

So somewhere in this city is a lost pipe—a pipe that is feeding water into that broken main. But they can't find it.

They went over the water system map several times but the pipe isn't there.

It probably is one of the crossover lines, the officials said, and if they find it all they have to do is dig down and shut it off. They said most crossover lines have shutoff valves on them.

* * *

In the meantime, the city is making arrangements to install a split sleeve on the broken pipe so it can be repaired despite the continuing water pressure.

BIG CLEANUP JOB — A 12-ton granite statue of St. Francis gets a thorough cleaning prior to dedication ceremonies on Oct. 4 at San Francisco's Church of St. Francis. The huge statue was made 28 years ago by Beniamino Buffano and it has just been brought over from Le Havre, France, after one of the church's members paid the 28-year storage bill as a donation to the church.

Expect Better Federal Security Program

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Both Senators Olin D. Johnston (D-SC) and Carlson (R-Kan) said today they expect improvements in the Eisenhower administration's employe security program to grow out of their Senate subcommittee investigation.

• • •

Johnston is the chairman and Carlson the lone Republican member of a Senate Civil Service subcommittee conducting the inquiry.

The senators late yesterday finished three days of public hearings on a series of disputed firings of government employes as security risks. Witnesses alo offered many recommendation for revising the program set up by President Eisenhower's order in 1953.

• • •

Carlson said, "I think the security program can be improved and we can make some recommendations that will be worthwhile."

Johnston said in a separate interview testimony showed that the security program has been administered "in a slipshod fashion."

He also said the program "needs a general overhaul to protect the rights of individuals and also to see the government is kept free of any Communists or subversives."

One of the most frquent complaints before the committee was that federal workers have been ousted as "security risks" without a fair chance to clear themselves.

• • •

Among other things, witnesse ploy be allowed to face their accusers, that security officers be required to make their charges more specific, that hearing boards be required to give the reasons for their decisions, and that the security program be restricted to those jobs where government secrets are involved.

Johnston said the subcommittee will resume hearings in about three weeks, to take up then the case ofla ndreformspecialis tWolf case of land reform specialist Wolf Ladejinsky and others.

Ladejinsky was fired by the Agriculture Department last December as a security risk and hired in January, with full security clearance, by the Foreign Operations Administration.

• • •

Johnston complained at yesterday's hearing that Carlson apparently had been receiving information about cases under investigation which the administration was denying to him and to the subcommittee staff. He spoke after Carlson had asked questions of witnesses indicating derogatory information against them.

• • •

Carlson later told newsmen he had no secret information and no secret files but did some digging on his own.

The subcommittee concluded with testimony from two federal employes who were suspended under the security program but later were cleared and won reinstatement.

Adlai Entering Political Arena

Returning to Platform With Appearances in Wisconsin, New York

WASHINGTON (AP) — Adlai E. Stevenson returns to the political platform this fall with Wisconsin and New York appearances which may precede a November announcement in Chicago that he wants the Democratic party presidential nomination again.

• • •

A Democratic National Committee spokesman said today, Stevenson will resume party activity after a self-enforced layoff since last year with a speech at the Wisconsin Democratic State Convention in Green Bay Oct. 7-9.

The 1952 nominee will then join former President Truman and New York's Gov. Averell Harriman for what may be a significant appearance at a $100-a-plate Democratic dinner in New York City Oct. 31.

Stevenson also has been booked as one of the speakers, along with Truman and other party leaders, at a meeting of national committee members and state chairmen in Chicago Nov. 17-19.

A Stevenson supporter said that while there might be some "raised eyebrows" at the choice of a party committee dinner for the occasion, he sees no reason why the former Illinois governor should not announce in the Stockyards Amphitheater site where he was nominated in 1952 that he is available again.

Stevenson's New York appearance took on added significance when it was learned that he, Harriman and Truman had been selected personally as speakers by Carmine DeSapio, Democratic national committeeman and Tammany leader.

• • •

DeSapio has given all the signs that he is running Harriman for president. Harriman has said he is for Stevenson but few party associates have any doubt he would become quickly available for the nomination if he thought Stevenson couldn't make the grade.

DeSapio's inclusion of Stevenson among the speakers was interpreted as indicating he isn't ready yet to go all out for Harriman and isn't cutting his lines to the Stevenson camp.

Smithsonian Honoring U. S. Drugstores

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Smithsonian Institution today is paying tribute to that typically American institution, the drugstore.

• • •

So, behind S. P. Langley's hopeful model of an airplane to be driven by steam, on the balcony above the display of early U.S. firefighting equipment, are exhibits showing man's long history in the drug dispensing business.

A visit to the exhibit, plus a side trip to the headquarters of the American Pharmaceutical Assn., show that some of the earliest writings, dating as far back as 3700 B.C., were prescriptions.

The Chinese and Egyptians were deeply interested in drugs. Hippocrates, the father of medicine, was a pharmacist. Aristotle, the great Greek philosopher and natural scientist, also was a drug salesman.

Dioscorides marched right along with the army in 100 A.D., but his job wasn't to fight the barbarians, but to keep an eye on herbs that might work as medicines.

Not until the 8th Century was there a store devoted chiefly to the peddling of drugs. It was located in Baghdad, and although it didn't sell greeting cards, shoe polish or sandwiches, it's considered the true forerunner of the drugstore of today.

So was Dr. Edward Heldon, who had been Shakespeare's friend—and pallbearer, before coming to Virginia.

Gov. John Winthrop Jr., of the Massachusetts Bay colony, was, for his time, a skilled pharmacist.

Even patent medicines have a longer history than you might suspect. The first was Goddard's drops, patented in England in 1624. They so impressed Charles II that he, anxious to be mankind's benefactor, paid Goddard $25,000 for the magic formula. One of the chief ingredients was human bones, and the stuff was thought to be good for the gout.

"Tuscarora rice" was the first patent medicine in this country, in 1711. It was concocted by a Mrs. Masters, who said it would cure consumption.

Boston had the first U.S. pharmacy, opened in 1646 by William Davies. And how did these early shops, with their rows of impressive bottles, turn into the catch-all drugstores of today?

Dr. Robert P. Fischelis of the pharmaceutical society says there is logic in the steady progression. Even the apothecaries didn't deal exclusively in remedies for human ills, Dr. Fischelis says they handled many chemicals, including spices, putty and even paints.

Take the familiar drugstore soda fountain. "Soda water is made by putting sulphuric acid on bicarbonate of soda, a chemical process," Dr. F. said. "Naturally soda water would be sold at drugstores.

"Or take the confectionery part of the business. It was only a small step from covering the bad taste of a pill with chocolate to selling plain chocolates."

Theft of Auto Lights Reported to City Police

Meat Abundant on Table, Hoof

World Production Up; Biggest Gain Apparent in Western Europe

ROME (AP)—The world has more meat on the table and more on the hoof than at any other time since the end of World War II.

The Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations said a survey showed 1954 production of meat was up 16 per cent in 23 countries compared with 1950 output.

Biggest gain has taken place in Western Europe, which now produces about 25 per cent more than the 1934-38 period. North American production, which jumped in the war years, has been kept high by domestic demand.

FAO analysts found North Americans consuming more than 150 pounds per person in 1954. That's one fourth more than before the war. Western Europeans ate an average 82 pounds. Before the war the average was 88 pounds, but in the hungry days immediately after the war, West Europeans ate only 60 pounds of meat a year.

In the major producing areas of South America and Oceania the average consumption was 220 pounds per year. By contrast, the Far East and Asia averaged only 4 to 11 pounds a year.

• • •

The FAO said it had only general estimates on meat production beyond the Iron Curtain. In Eastern European countries, the report said, there are 10 per cent less cattle than before the war but 10 to 15 per cent more pigs. Total meat production for the area is still less than before World War II, although "considerably above the low levels of the first postwar years"

Whitney's Book Reveals

Truman Bushwhacked MacArthur

NEW YORK (AP)—A top wartime aide of Gen. Douglas MacArthur says former President Harry S. Truman set "a sly, political ambush" for MacArthur by summoning him to their celebrated Wake Island conference in October, 1951.

Maj. Gen. Courtney Whitney, in his biography of MacArthur includes this charge with others on the Korean War.

He writes:

"Someone must have told the Chinese Communists that the U. S. government would not retaliate to attack and that Manchuria would remain a sanctuary."

MacArthur's offer to negotiate with the Red Chinese cut right across one of the most disgraceful plots in American history. Politicians were scheming to "give Red China both Formosa and a seat in the United Nations."

MacArthur's message to a Chicago VFW convention "ran afoul of State Department plans to succumb to British pressure and desert Chiang Kai-shek."

MacArthur was denied use of 33,000 Nationalist Chinese troops from Formosa because "the British preferred sabotaging the U.N. effort in Korea."

MacArthur could have defeated the Red Chinese had he been allowed to bomb over the Yalu River.

"The Korean war cost the United States 22 billion dollars and 33,600 young men and loss of American prestige all over Asia."

The Wake meeting, Whitney claims, accomplished nothing.

"But what Truman personally —and the Democratic party — gained by the trip was tremendous in terms of political advantage," Whitney says.

"By this one stroke, Truman established a connection between his administration and the military strategy which had just won the great victory at Inchon."

Whitney writes that after MacArthur's dismissal by Truman, Sen. Robert A. Taft approached him about being a possible running mate on the Republican ticket.

Had President Eisenhower not won the nomination Whitney asserts, it was quite possible that MacArthur would have stampeded the convention to Taft.

"When Taft died a year later Douglas MacArthur might have become President of the United States," Whitney concludes.

Study Red Arms Inspection Plan

Clarification of Soviet Proposal Is Sought by Disarmament Group

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The U.N. Disarmament subcommittee headed into its last meeting of the week today with Western delegates pressing for a clearer idea of Soviet arms inspection proposals.

• • •

The five-nation subcommittee planned a weekend recess stretching over Labor Day next Monday, partly in hopes Russia's Arkady A. Sobolev would get clarifying answers to their questions from Moscow.

The long recess also will allow Harold E. Stassen, the U.S. disarmament negotiator, to review with President Eisenhower the broad general agreement Stassen said yesterday the subcommittee has reached on the principle of stationing ground inspection teams in the Soviet Union and the United States.

Canada's Paul Martin pressed Sobolev closely in the closed session yesterday to explain more fully the meaning of the Russians' May 10 proposal for ground inspection teams stationed at key ports, railway and road junctions and airfields.

France's Jules Moch and British Minister of State Anthony Nutting joined in to ask what facilities specifically Russia considers the ground teams should inspect. Should not ordnance factories be included? Moch queried.

Breaking nearly two days of comparative silence, Sobolev suggested the delegates study more carefully the Russians' May 10 statement. "It is comprehensive enough," he was quoted as saying.

Stassen said that the group had made "constructive progress" in all agreeing that ground inspection teams are a necessary part of any disarmament machinery to avert surprise attack.

An informant said the United States would not be satisfied with an agreement on ground inspection alone. Any acceptable plan, this source explained, must include the military information exchange and air checks Eisenhower advocates.

Tighten Money Belts Again

NEW YORK, (AP)—Another round of money tightening is under way. The goal: to slow down the increase in the total of debt of all kinds which proceeded at a rapid rate in the first eight months of this year.

• • •

The debt total has been growing in 1955 at an annual rate of almost 30 billion dollars. The Federal debt hasn't swelled much this year. But state and local government debt, corporate debt, mortgage and consumer debt have been making notable gains.

The money managers have been letting the supply of money tighten and interest rates rise to discourage the continuance of the rapid rate of debt brow th.

Latest moves are:

Three Federal Reserve Banks—Cleveland, Atlanta and St. Louis—now charge member banks 2¼ per cent on money they lend the commercial banks for use in making loans to business or consumers. The other nine reserve banks still charge 2 per cent, but their directors will be meeting this week and next.

The U. S. Treasury is paying more than 2 per cent on its short-term borrowing—for the first time since August 1953, the previous period of tight money that preceded the recession.

Banks financing Commodity Credit Corp. price support loans are to receive 2¼ per cent per year, which is one half of one per cent more than they got last year. The rate charged farmers remains at 3¼ per cent.

And the really big season of demand for business loans is just ahead. Loans are sought to move and process the crops, and to stock the stores for the big Fall and Christmas trade.

Southfield Charter to Be in Hands of Voters by Sept. 15

Public Meeting to Be Sept. 19

Proposed Document May Be Studied for Later Discussion

SOUTHFIELD — The Charter Commission in a meeting last night agreed to publish in full the proposed charter for the new City of Southfield and put a copy of it in the home of every registered voter Sept. 15 or shortly thereafter.

Thus, voters will have the opportunity to study the document and prepare any questions they may have for the public meeting which will be held on Sept. 19 or 20 (depending on the date the high school will be available.) The time tentatively set for the meeting is 7:30 p.m.

DISCUSSION FOR PUBLIC

For the public session, each commissioner will be assigned certain chapters on which they will answer questions by the voters.

The Commission will meet later, on Sept. 26, at which time they will make suggested revisions and prepare the charter for mailing to the governor between Oct. 1 and 3.

It is expected the report from the governor will be received between Oct. 24-28. If those dates follow through, the special action to vote on the charter and the seven council members will be set for Dec. 13.

Nomination petitions for candidates to the City Council will be available at the clerk's office on Nov. 1 and must be filed with the clerk not later than Nov. 21. Each petition must have not less than 200 nor more than 300 signatures of registered voters.

MARLETTE — Annual homecoming of Bethel Church here will be held this Sunday, with the Rev. Charles Chamberlain, missionary to India and former pastor of Bethel, to be the speaker.

The Rev. Mr. Chamberlain will talk at the homecoming service, to be held at 2 p.m.

Scheduled also, are the Sunday school service, at 10:30 a.m., and a cooperative dinner, to be held at noon. Coffee will be furnished by the church.

Granges Will Select Young Pair of Year

WASHINGTON (INS) — Subordinate Granges throughout the country are being urged to select a 1956 "Grange Young Couple of the Year" to participate in a national contest.

The couples must be no more than 35 years of age. Selections are to be based on their contributions to the farm organization and to community life outside the Grange.

125 Turn Out for Banquet at Sunnyvale Chapel

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP—Students, servicemen and three young people going into mission work were honored recently at the annual Student Banquet at Sunnyvale Chapel.

Some 125 parents and friends attended the affair and heard Ed Darling, director of the Detroit Voice of Christian Youth, give a talk on "Christ in Education."

Will Teach in Maine

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — Wanda Souslin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Souslin of 5516 Oster Dr., a member of Sunnyvale Chapel, will leave tomorrow for Maine.

Miss Souslin will be a worker for the New England Fellowship of Evangelicals and will teach rural Bible classes in 45 schools, with a 400-mile circuit in Maine. She is a June graduate of Northwestern College.

MR. AND MRS. EARL L. KOONCE

Ardyce Ileen Mellendorf Wed to Earl Lee Koonce

LAKE ORION—Before an altar banked with white gladioli and candelabra, Ardyce Ileen Mellendorf and Earl Lee Koonce spoke their nuptial vows Saturday at the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints in Lake Orion. Some 125 guests attended the wedding.

Ardyece is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert H. Mellendorf of 31 Beebe St. Earl is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Koonce of Stanton, Texas.

The bride wore a waltz-length gown of nylon tulle over taffeta. The scooped neckline was bordered with seed pearls, and a Chantilly lace front panel gave princess styling to the dress.

Maid of honor was Susan Standefer of Stanton, Texas, and bridesmaids were Opal Woods of Columbus, Ohio, and Mrs. Bruce Mellendorf of Lake Orion.

The bridegroom's twin brother, Gearl D. Koonce, of Stanton, served as his best man. Ushers were Charles Brown of Springfield, Mo., and Bruce Mellendorf of Lake Orion.

Waterford Sets New Drain Rule

Order Enclosed Piping in Future Subdivisions, Except Rights-of-Way

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP—The Waterford Township Board passed a resolution requiring that all drains in new plats be enclosed, at its regular meeting this week. Only exception was drains along road rights-of-way.

The township also formally took over the operation of water and sewage systems for the Lorraine Manor Subdivision on Elizabeth Lake road. Deeds to water and sewer mains were turned over and township operation of the sewage plant was agreed upon.

Authorization for the purchase of two new voting machines was included in other business.

Township offices will be closed Sept. 5 for the Labor Day holiday, and the regular board meeting will be postponed to Sept. 12.

Dorothy A. Holst, Merle Ross Wed in Marlette Rite

Dorothy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Holst, and Merle is the son of the Melvin Rosses. Both are from Marlette.

The bride wore a waltz-length gown of tulle over taffeta—her own creation. A matching headpiece of lace and tulle held her fingertip veil and her bouquet was of pink roses and ivy. She carried a handmade bridal handkerchief of her grandmother, and wore a small gold locket, a first-birthday gift from her parents.

Nora Lee Benedict was the maid of honor. Bridesmaid was Helen Ross, and Judy Traxler and Margaret Ross, sister of the bridegroom, were flower girls.

Merle's attendants were Lawrence Turner of Marlette, and a cousin, Jack Ross of Dearborn. William Traxler and Henry Hodges served as ushers.

Average Man Invades Resort

Ordinary Folks Mingle With Rich at Swanky Acapulco, Mexico

ACAPULCO, Mex. (INS)—The so-called idle rich are being forced to pull in their elbows in one of their favorite winter play spots these days to make room for an intruder—Mr. Average Man.

For the lazy pleasures of Acapulco, a lush tropical garden with modern fixtures once almost exclusively the haunt of the international set, are rapidly being brought within the financial limits of just plain Joe Vacationer.

They are, in fact, even being brought within at least jumping distance of Mexico's growing middle class.

The reasons for Acapulco's emergence as a warm weather playground for the many rather than for the few are as many and varied as the tropical plants that make it one of the world's most beautiful resorts.

Another reason very probably is the understandable desire of the dozen or so luxurious hotels lining Acapulco's famous bay to keep paying customers dozing in their rooms beside their swimming pools.

Still another is the recently increased air service to Acapulco. Aeronaves de Mexico, an affiliate of Pan-American World Airways, now offers a round trip from Tijuana, on the California border, for $112.

The completion of a highway over the 200-odd rugged miles between Acapulco and Mexico City —5½ hours for courageous and aggressive motorists—also has contributed to the resort's expansion.

So things are changing in Acapulco. The hotels still boast their shares of international nomads and blase socialites, but sprinkled among them are numerous Joe Doakses spending carefully hoarded vacation funds.

And on weekends, the streets swarm with Mr. and Mrs. Jose Mexicos herding their broods to the shore for a whiff of salt air and a bit of swimming and snoozing under the palms.

The town is a particular delight to the American tourist, who is accustomed to having acute pains in the wallet each time he turns around in this country's swankier resorts.

A hotel as grand as the Prado las Americas, one of Acapulco's finest, offers luxurious accommodations for two for about 250 pesos a day, including meals, which adds up to about $10 a day per person in American money.

Actress Quitting Program for Role as Pastor's Wife

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Gloria McMillan, the pretty blonde whom television audiences know as Harriet Conklin, the principal's daughter on the Our Miss Brooks show, is giving it all up for a poorer-playing role as a minister's wife.

• • •

But Gloria, 22 and a bride of six months, has no regrets about following in the footsteps of Colleen Townsend. Miss Townsend chucked a promising career at 20th Century-Fox five years ago to become the wife of a seminarian.

At the moment, Miss McMillan is working in the movie version of the famed Eve Arden starrer at Warner Bros. When the movie "Our Miss Brooks" winds up, Gloria and her husband take off for San Francisco.

• • •

The husband is Gilbert Allen, a graduate of the University of Southern California, who intends to enter San Francisco Theological Seminary for Presbyterian ministers on Sept. 17.

The two met at Beverly Vista Community Church in Beverly Hills where both were interested in youth work. They were married there, too.

• • •

"We've both had a good taste of church work and we love it," she added.

A veteran of radio since she was four years old, Gloria believes that her long acting career will be a big help in her husband's work.

She also plans to put some of her background to use to help pay the freight while her husband is studying.

• • •

"I've already talked to some of the CBS executives there and they like some ideas I have for Sunday programs. They will be mostly Bible readings for children—sort of a Sunday School of the air."

"Once we get established, we plan to adopt four children and have four children of our own. Ours is going to be a big family when we get our wish."

Gloria has averaged between $300 and $400 a week in her acting career.

Robber Has His Worries but He's 'Without Worry'

FAYETTEVILLE, N.C. (AP) — In French his name means "without worry."

But Raymond A. Sans Souci, 17, of Pawtucket, R.I., had something to worry about today.

Senator, Reds Swap Toasts

U.S. Lawmaker Desires Peaceful Coexistence at Yugoslav Embassy

MOSCOW (AP) — Sen. George W. Malone of Nevada, a leading member of the Republican party's right wing, swapped toasts to peaceful coexistence last night with several Soviet Union bigwigs.

• • •

At a Yugoslav Embassy reception, the senator proposed a toast to Minister of Power Stations Georgi Malenkov and First Deputy Prime Minister L. M. Kaganovich, saying: "You have your system. We have ours. Nobody should try to interfere with the other."

Malone said today he had a "very friendly visit" with the two Soviet officials.

"We had quite a conversation, half joking and half serious," he said.

Malone, an engineer, said he told Malenkov and Kaganovich about a booklet he had compiled on strategic metals in the Western Hemisphere. He said he described its wealth of statistics and told them it is better for everyone when more statistics are published.

Scottish Tune Bagpipes for Edinburgh Festival

EDINBURGH—Across the bonnie braes, from Loch Lomond to Brig o'Doon, Scotsmen are tuning up their bagpipes, boiling the haggis and dusting off their kilts. The big season is beginning in the Highlands, and world attention focuses on the ninth annual Edinburgh Festival of Music and Drama, set for Aug. 21 to Sept. 10.

Dramatic high spot of the festival is the world premiere of Thornton Wilder's "A Life in the Sun" on the apron stage of Assembly Hall. The Old Vic Company offers a new version of Shakespeare's "Othello," and the French actress, Edwige Feuillere, presents Dumas', "The Lady of the Camelias."

The Royal Danish Ballet will be on hand for a modern production of "Romeo and Juliet" with music by Prokofiev. And, all the way from Tokyo, come the traditional dance-dramas of Japan as performed by the Azuma Kabuki Dancers and Musicians.

Edinburgh, located on the famous Firth of Forth, offers the visitor a good deal of variety in the way of sightseeing, dominating the city from a rock some 270 feet high is Edinburgh Castle, steeped in blood and tradition. Here lived tragic Mary, Queen of Scots, who lost her head. Here are the crowns, treasures and ancient regalia of Scotland. Each day from the battlements the "one o'clock gun" is fired, and the citizens of Edinburgh set their watches.

Nightly during the festival, a full-scale military tattoo will be staged on the floodlit esplanade of the castle. Massed pipe and drum bands of the Scottish Regiments will march in the white beams of searchlights, and set the pace for the kilted, white-coated Highland dancers.

Sociologists Say Politics on TV Have Little Effect

WASHINGTON (AP) — Televising such things as national political conventions doesn't necessarily stimulate viewers to a more active part in political affairs, the American Sociological Society convention was told today.

On the contrary, reported Kurt Lang of the Canadian Broadcasting Corp. and Gladys Engel Lang of La Groupe de Recherche, a private survey group, TV viewers sometimes get a false impression they have been present at a televised event, and wind up with a feeling they have done all that is expected of them.

Poisoned Milk Firm 'Sorry' About Deaths

TOKYO (AP)—Morinaga Milk Co., affiliated with one of Japan's largest food combines, today offered its "humblest apologies" for the 50 deaths reported caused by arsenic in its dried milk product last week.

In a black-bordered, four-column advertisement carried in all Japanese and English-language papers, the company said:

"We are filled with a sense of black guilt, particularly on learning that the cause of the disaster was neglect on our part to subject the stabilizer (arsenic) used in the milk to careful chemical analysis. . . . All we can do is to take every possible action by way of indemnification and pray for the souls of the dead. . . ."

Jap Seamen Missing

KOBE, Japan (AP)—Six Japanese are missing after a collision today between a British freighter and a Japanese boat about 27 miles of Kobe, the Maritime Safety Board reported. A spokesman said one crewman of the 200-ton Tohoku Maru was rescued by the 8,297-ton freighter Cape York.

AEC Limits Authority of Its Advisory Boards

WASHINGTON (AP) — To forestall charges that big business "dominates" its peacetime atomic energy program, the Atomic Energy Commission last night acted to limit the authority of its industry advisory boards.

The AEC ruled that businessmen and other board members may only act as advisers and can't set policy. It also directed that the boards be representative of "large, medium and small" business. Wherever practical, full-time government employes will head the advisory groups.

Standardization of engines for military tanks has permitted reduction of the five kinds of engine for one medium tank in 1944 to one engine for five tanks today with a difference between 4,310 and 1,320 spare parts.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

Notice is hereby given of a public hearing to be held by the White Lake Township Zoning Board at the Township Hall on Monday, September 26, 1955, at 8:00 p. m. to consider the following changes in the zoning ordinance.

ORDINANCE NO. [illegible] OF THE TOWNSHIP OF WHITE LAKE, OAKLAND COUNTY, MICHIGAN

An ordinance to amend the White Lake Township Rural Zoning Ordinance by amending Sections 2.2 and 2.35 of Article II—Definitions, Section 3.10 of Article III—General Provisions, Sections 4.3 and 4.4 of Article IV—Health, Sanitary, Safety and Protective Measures, Section 6.6 of Article VI—Residence 1 District, Sub-Section (h) of Section 8.1 of Article VIII—Commercial 1 District, Section 9.2 of Section IX—Manufacturing District 1 and Section XIII—Violations and Penalties, and by adding Sections 3.17 and 3.18 of Article III—General Provisions and Section 12.8 of Section XII—Administration.

Article II—Definitions.

Section 2.2. Basement and Cellars.

Section 2.35 of Article II—Definitions of the White Lake Township Rural Zoning Ordinance is amended to read as follows:

Section 2.35. Parking Space—An area of not less than two hundred (200) square feet, exclusive of drives or aisles giving access thereto, accessible from streets or alleys or from private driveways or aisles leading to streets of alleys, and to be usable for the storage or parking of self-propelled vehicles.

Section 3.10 of Article III—General Provisions of the White Lake Township Rural Zoning Ordinance is amended to read as follows:

Section 3.10. Height—All dwellings shall have a height above grade at least twelve (12) feet; such height shall not exceed thirty-five (35) feet, unless otherwise specified herein.

Article III—General Provisions of the White Lake Township Rural Zoning Ordinance is amended by adding new Sections 3.17 and 3.18 as follows:

Section 3.17. REMOVAL OF SOIL, SAND OR OTHER MATERIAL. The use of land for the removal of topsoil, sand or other material to be sold from the land is not permitted in any district except under a Certificate from the Board of Appeals which may be issued or granted in appropriate cases upon the filing of an application accompanied by a suitable agreement or bond that such removal will not cause stagnant water to collect, or leave the surface of the land at the expiration of such permit in an unstable condition or unfit for the growing of turf or for other land uses permitted in the District in which such removal occurs. Bond and permit to be renewed annually.

Section 3.18. DUMPING OR DISPOSAL OF RUBBISH, ETC. The use of land for the dumping or disposal of scrap iron, junk, garbage, rubbish or other refuse or of ashes, slag or other industrial wastes or by-products, is not permitted in any district, except under a Certificate from the Board of Appeals which may be issued in appropriate cases upon the filing of an application accompanied by a suitable agreement or bond that such dumping or disposal will not pollute the waters of the township or cause stagnant water to collect, or leave the surface of the land, at the expiration of such permit, in an unstable condition or unfit for the growing of turf or for other land uses permitted in the district in which such dumping occurs. The dumping of dirt, sand, rock or other material excavated from the earth is permitted in any district provided the surface of such material is graded within a reasonable time in a manner preventing the collection of stagnant water, and which leaves the ground surface in a condition suitable for the growing of turf or for other land uses permitted in the district.

Sections 4.3 and 4.4 of Article IV—Health, Sanitary, Safety and Protective Measures of the White Lake Township Rural Zoning Ordinance are amended to read as follows:

Section 4.3. Windows—Every room, except closets, of each dwelling shall have at least one glass window and the area of said window or windows shall be a minimum of one-tenth (1/10) of the floor area of the room.

Section 4.4. Outside Privies—No outside privies shall be built, constructed or used unless approved with the building permit, except those in connection with a farm which shall be a minimum of two hundred (200) feet from the nearest property line.

Section 6.6 of Article VI—Residence 1 District of the White Lake Township Rural Zoning Ordinance is amended by deleting the figure in brackets of (1,350) and adding the figure of (11,250) in the said brackets.

Subsection (h) of Section 8.1 of Article VIII—Commercial 1 District of the White Lake Township Rural Zoning Ordinance is amended to read as follows:

Article VIII—Commercial 1 District.

(h) The use of trailers, tents or portable structures for human habitation or the establishment of a trailer coach park or parks, camp or camps within a Commercial District is hereby expressly prohibited, except a trailer coach park or parks, camp or camps may be permitted under the following condition: If it shall appear that there is no residential property within fifteen hundred (1500) feet thereof a permit for such trailer coach park or camp may be obtained from the Board of Appeals of this Zoning Ordinance under the following conditions:

1. Such application shall be filed with the Board of Appeals and notice shall thereupon be given of a public hearing upon said application upon all owners of residential property located within one-half (½) mile of the proposed trailer coach park or camp site, which notice shall be served by mail upon all owners of residential property at the last address as shown on the latest assessor's roll. Such hearing shall be held not less than two (2) weeks after the giving of such notice at the time and place specified therein. All expenses of mailing said notices and special meetings as to said application shall be paid in advance by applicant.

It shall be the duty of said Board of Appeals in conducting said hearing to determine whether or not the operation of such trailer coach park or camp will in any manner be detrimental to public health or public safety by reason of its location in relation to residential property or by reason of any other features of its planned operation. Said Board of Appeals shall determine whether or not such application if granted will cause injury to the public safety or public health, and if it finds that no injury will be forthcoming therefrom the permit shall be granted, but if it finds and determines that any injury to the public safety or public health will result therefrom such permit shall be denied.

2. If the Board of Appeals determines that such permit should be granted it shall be conditioned upon the applicant fulfilling the following requirements, to-wit: Each trailer coach located in such trailer park or parks, camp or camps shall be located on a parcel of land having a minimum width of not less than 50 feet and an area of not less than 5,000 square feet for each trailer. Only one (1) single family may occupy a single trailer coach. The applicant shall install a suitable sanitary sewer which must be connected to the trailer.

3. The determination of such Board of Appeals shall be final and conclusive.

The heading of Section IX—Manufacturing District 1 and Section 9.2 of Section IX of the White Lake Township Rural Zoning Ordinance is amended to read as follows:

Article IX—Manufacturing District 1.

Section 9.2. Building Requirements—All buildings permitted in Residence 1 District erected in this district shall comply with the requirements for buildings provided in Residence 1 District. All buildings permitted in Commercial 1 District erected in this district shall comply with the requirements for buildings provided in a Commercial 1 District, except height limitations shall not apply to buildings in a Manufacturing District.

The heading of Section XII—Administration is amended and a new Section 12.8 of Section XII—Administration is added respectively as follows:

Article XII—Administration.

Section 12.8. Rezoning and changing of Zoning Map.—Application for rezoning may be filed with any member of the Township Zoning Board, and, if upon the consideration of same by the Board, it shall appear to be a fair and reasonable request, the Board shall prepare the necessary matters for said change and then proceed to call a hearing as prescribed by statute and in addition thereto, a notice shall thereupon be given by mail of said public hearing upon all owners of property located within 300 feet of the perimeter of the property proposed to be re-zoned.

The title of Section XIII—Violation and Penalties shall be amended and the said Section XIII shall be amended by deleting a portion thereof as follows:

Article XIII—Violations and Penalties.

Deleting from said Article XIII "and the Board of Appeals is hereby charged with the duty of enforcing the within Ordinance."

Released Flier Explains Letter

Denies That He Signed 'Confession' While in Chinese Hands

TOKYO (AP)—Air Force Lt. Guy H. Bumpas today said he was forced into "friendly chats" with his Communist captors and finally signed a letter before leaving North Korea more than a week ago.

• • •

But he insisted the letter was not a "confession," nor did it contain any references to "fictitious American propaganda," as alleged by Communist propaganda broadcasts, he said.

"I gave them the type of answers I knew wouldn't do any harm—I tell you I gave them nothing that was going to hurt the United States," he said.

"I stuck to beating around the bush."

Bumpas, 23, of Jackson, Miss., and Army Capt. Charles W. Brown of West Louisville, Ky., were shot down over the demilitarized zone in Korea Aug. 17 in an unarmed American training plane. Brown was killed, but Bumpas said he did not know whether by gunfire or in the crash.

Bumpas insisted he was over friendly territory near the truce line when Communist antiaircraft batteries opened up on him. His plane then veered to the north and crashed in North Korea.

• • •

He denied all Communist statements attributed to him in an hour-long news conference at an Air Force hospital near Tachikawa Air Base, West of Tokyo.

He will undergo further surgery to help correct a severe skull fracture.

Pyongyang radio reported Bumpas said he had "been filled up until my ears ached about Communist atrocities by American propaganda."

Honeybees Regulate Hive Heating Throughout Year

WASHINGTON — Man developed air conditioning in the 20th century, but nature's engineers thought of cooling systems and other modern conveniences many years ago.

The industrious honeybee, closely regulates the hive's temperature. In summer well-organized fanner bees flutter tirelessly. The air circulation maintains a pleasant atmosphere for brooding bees and removes excess moisture that would ferment the nectar.

In winter the colony devises its own central heating. All the bees cluster around the queen. Those on the periphery press together to form an insulation shield; bees inside mill around to generate heat. The lower the temperature, the harder they must work. But the insulators and heaters change places frequently.

Bees construct elaborate homes that suggest modern apartment hotels. The hive is honeycombed with thousands of nursery cells, each a sort of efficiency apartment where a single egg hatches and the larva grows to maturity. When a full-grown worker emerges, the worker bee "staff" thoroughly cleans the cell to prepare for the next tenant.

ANTS, TERMITES, TOO

Like bees, ants and termites are master builders. African termites erect many-storied, skyscraper nests. Leaf-carrying ants of tropical America dig underground apartments, some 30 feet wide and 8 feet deep.

The short, chubby mountain-beaver tunnels an intricate subway system with numerous exits. Its motive: swift, safe travel beneath dangerous traffic on the earth's surface.

Man hailed the construction of the Suez and Panama Canals as great engineering feats. The little beaver excavates remarkable canals, some hundreds of feet long, for the same reason: speedy passage for itself and transportation of freight too heavy to tow overland.

One creature, the fairy armadillo or pichiciago of South America, wears a built-in safety door. A plated shell rests above its furry coat. A vertical armored disk, body width and strongly resembling a jar lid, protects its rear end.

Food Sales Gigantic

BOSTON (INS)—American homemakers spent an estimated 63 billion dollars for food in 1954, B. Lucile Bridges, executive director of the New England Dairy and Food Council, said about 15 per cent of that total, or 9½ billion dollars, purchased milk and dairy products.

Nitrogen Fertilizer Use Rises Sharply

DES MOINES—In the past 15 years there has been a phenomenal growth in the use of nitrogen fertilizers in the United States.

Annual consumption of this important plant nutrient rose 371 per cent—from about 384,000 short tons in the 1938-39 fiscal year to 1,810,000 tons in 1953-54. In each year since 1950 the quantity used was 11 to 23 per cent higher than in the previous year.

With a single exception—1951-42 — the consumption increased in every year in this period and in most of the years would have been larger had supplies been available.

During the same period world consumption increased 127 per cent —from 2,517,000 tons to 5,702,000.

Phones Assist Bashful Youths

Giant Berlin Nightclub Helps Shy Boys Meet Girls by Unique System

BERLIN (AP)—Soldiers and other Americans in Berlin like to visit a mammoth night club that goes out of its way to help boy meet girl. It's the Resi Ballroom (pronounced "racy") and it's a favorite spot for both GIs and tourists.

"By the numbers," can have unpleasant meanings for GIs when they recall the drill sergeant's chant. But the numbers at the Resi stand in lights above each of the tables and they can help a lonesome man who wants to talk to that comely miss several tables away. He can dial her number by telephone.

For the more bashful, there is pneumatic tube system over which coy notes may be "mailed from one table to another.

But the message must not be naughty. It goes first to a central office where it is read by a woman censor. If the note passes, it is relayed by pneumatic tube to its table address.

The Resi is perhaps best known for its water show, a multi colored display of thousands of water spouts which are raised and lowered or swayed back and forth in synchronization with symphonic music.

More than 2,000 gallons of water a minute are pressured through these jets. The changing light effects are produced by 100,000 colored lights located behind and under the spouts.

The Resi Ballroom draws an average of 650 persons a night during the week and more than 1,000 patrons a night on weekends.

It was originally established in 1926 by Paul Baatz, a well known speedboat racer. At the time, it was located in the center of Berlin near Alexander Platz, which now is in the Russian sector.

If you've been holding off on your purchase of carpet until you could afford a better grade broadloom, wait no more! Here's all the luxury and quality you expect of carpets selling for as much as $30 a yard—Harrison low-priced at a sensational 9.95.

The reason? One of America's largest and finest makers of broadloom designed this carpet to sell for 16.95, yet still give the public all the value they get in grades now selling for as much as $30. During the initial loom runs, slight irregularities developed which prompted the manufacturer to classify it as "mill-trials." Because Harrison's is one of the few floorcovering retailers in the country capable of buying great quantities of goods, this maker offered Harrison's the entire run, over 10,000 yards in all, at fantastic reductions.

It's one of the most lush, richly textured broadlooms you've ever seen. It's closely woven pile contains nothing but the finest imported wool yarns. Durable 4-ply construction, weighing approximately 5 lbs. per square yard. It's available in 12 or 15-ft. widths in April Green, Mayfair Beige, Rose Quartz, Meadow Green, Nutria, Parchment or Cocoa.

Nomad Problem Bothers British

Wanderers Given Free Beds, Meals Paid for by Government

LONDON (INS) — Despite prosperity and full employment an estimated "wandering poor" are treking the highways and byways of Britain today.

They include the old-fashioned tramp who prefers the freedom of the road, the aged who resist institutional treatment, the temporarily unemployed casual laborer and the nondescript men and women who for one reason or another are on the run.

Officially they are termed "persons without a settled way of living" and as such represent a major headache for the officials of Britain's welfare state.

The National Assistance Board, which doles out over 100 million pounds a year in assistance allowances to poor people with settled homes, has also been given the responsibility of "influending" persons without a settled way of living.

"Our policy," expalined a Board spokesman, "is to get these people to settle down, but it is difficult to arrange."

The Board tackles this problem by running what amounts to a nation-wide free hotel service. At a cost of 400,000 pounds a year the Board maintains 124 government reception centers in England, Scotland and Wales.

These centers are actually run by local authorities, and are sometimes attached to hospitals or old folks' homes, but are financed by grants from the National Assistance Board.

In any of these centers anyone who needs a bed or says he needs one can get a free night's lodging. Supper and breakfast are invariably thrown in but no cash is ever dispersed.

Princeton University Sponsors Team to Dig for Ancient Greek Fortress

By L. S. CHAKALES

ROME (AP) — A team of archaeologists sponsored by Princeton University will begin excavations Aug. 20 on an ancient Greek fortress in Sicily which flourished between the 3rd and 7th Centuries B. C.

Dr. Eric Sjoquist, professor of classifical archaeological studies at Princeton, will head the expedition.

The personnel for the dig is now assembling in Rome. It will include Mrs. Stina Borgstrom of Uppsala University, Sweden, assigned at the request of King Gustaf Adolf who is personally interested in the project.

TRACES OF FORT

First traces of the fort, which may answer questions on the exchange of Greek and Carthaginian cultures during that 400-year period, were discovered about 45 miles west of Catania in 1880. Paolo Orsini, the greatest Italian archaeologist of the time, made further excavations in 1912, definitely establishing the existence of a fortress-city.

Dr. Sjoquist said subsequent diggings during the '30s revealed the fortress in more detail, but complete excavation will be necessary to uncover the full story.

Located 2,500 feet above sea level, the ancient fortress city seals off a valley providing the only natural communication line between the mountains and the rich coastal plain of Catania.

"I have found substantial remains of a fortification wall that encircles 60 to 80 acres," Dr. Sjoquist said. "Within the perimeter of this fortication wall are architectural remains that can be traced on the surface of the soil, flush with the ground, bases of quite monumental buildings. Configuration seems to indicate civic center and market place."

Pottery dating back to 200 B. C. was found. Dr. Sjoquist said the city did not flourish after that date.

ANCIENT CITY

"That was its death. There are older traces that go back to 600 B. C. It is one of the ancient Greek cities of Sicily, but we don't know its name."

The theory is that the city was an inland frontier fortress commanding the valley so the Greeks could stand off hostile mountaineers.

Red Farming—One Man's Opinion

Soviet Agriculture Needs Uptake in Worker Output

(Editor's Note: This is the fourth of six articles in which the dean and director of the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture reports on what he saw during a five-week, 10,000-mile tour of Russian farms areas.)

By DR. W. V. LAMBERT

The use of manpower on Soviet farms is excessive by U.S. standards. The Russian farm worker produces only about one-fifth as much as an American farm hand.

This is the greatest contrast we noted between the agriculture of the two countries.

* * *

The average American farmer and his family will do most of the work on a 160-acre farm. This includes management, bookkeeping and the many other chores required in operating a modern farm—as well as the physical labor.

Direct comparisons are not possible since all Soviet farms are large-scale enterprises operated either by the state, or as collectives.

The collectives are managed by a chairman approved by local party and government authorities and elected by the farm members.

RUN LIKE FACTORIES

Some comparison is possible, however, on a manpower-per-acre basis.

Eight hundred and nineteen persons work on one highly-diversified collective farm we visited. This is the equivalent of one person for each 14.4 acres.

This includes, however, workers at the farm's brick and lime kilns, the recreation center and other smaller enterprises on the farm.

Figuring that not more than a hundred of these people were working on such jobs the year around, each farm worker was still operating only 16.3 acres.

SPECIALISTS ON TRACTORS

But this figure doesn't include the tractor and combine operators and mechanics from the state machine-tractor station (MTS) who do all of the farm's mechanized planting, cultivating and harvesting.

Another collective of 36,250 acres has 2,500 workers. Allowing for work in enterprises not strictly farming, each worker was handling the equivalent of 16-18 acres, not counting the MTS personnel.

A well-managed, state-operated grain farm of nearly 45,000 acres which we visited had 620 regular employes and 500 seasonal, who worked five to six months a year.

Assuming the seasonal workers equalled 200 full-time workers and estimating generously that 150 of the permanent work force were not directly engaged in farming, each worker was handling about 67 acres.

On the basis of these comparisons, it is apparent that as a whole the average Soviet farm laborer handles only 15 to 20 per cent as much land as each American farmer.

The U.S. farmer is able to do this because of greater mechanization, smaller administrative overhead and far less use of womanpower. Fifty to sixty per cent of the laborers on the farms we have visited have been women.

Perhaps the most significant factor is the difference in the two systems of farming.

* * *

The American system demands great efficiency of every farmer if he is to survive in competition with other farmers. That incentive is lacking in the Soviet Union.

The Soviet government is aware of the inefficient use of manpower on its farms and is taking several steps to increase output per worker.

It will be interesting to observe the extent to which the USSR can make the use of farm manpower more economical.

Sylvan Residents Attend Meeting

Tension Eased Against Rezoning Orchard Lake Road, Says Mayor

Sylvan Lake Mayor Anthony Kreps today credited a public meeting last night with easing tension over a proposal to rezone property on Orchard Lake Road to permit construction of a lumber company.

"We feel we had a good meeting and the people who were out really have been enlightened on the question considerable," Kreps said.

"It has eased tension against the proposition, although there are, of course, a few things that still have to be cleared up. The biggest fear has been that rezoning would allow industry, but it was shown there just wouldn't be enough room for industry. There isn't any land available."

After the public meeting, held at the Whitfield School, the City Council postponed further action on the matter until the next regular meeting, Sept. 14. Approximately 250 persons attended, Kreps said.

Detroiter Is Sentenced

After pleading guilty to driving under the influence of liquor yesterday, Johnnie McDonald, 23, of Detroit, was sentenced to 10 days in Oakland County Jail by Oak Park Justice William F. Nern. McDonald also was ordered to pay a $50 fine and $5 costs or spend 15 days in jail.

Farm Surplus — Puzzler Supreme

(An Associated Press writer details the background of a political puzzler —"What to do with the ever-growing farm surplus?" This is the second of three articles.)

By WARREN ROGERS JR.

WASHINGTON (AP) — America's farm production was coaxed to new heights during the war years. Today it bestrides the delicate field of foreign affairs like Frankenstein's monster.

Butter, cheese, cotton, rice, wheat—these are unmentionables in polite conversation with certain of America's allies. And for very grave reasons.

Dumping the huge U. S. surplus in rice and cotton on the world market, for example, could drive Asia and the Near and Middle East into the Communist camp.

Burma is the chief rice supplier in Southeast Asia. If the United States started shipping rice into that area, the Burmese would be outraged, perhaps driven into trade and tight liaison with rice-hungry Red China. The lives and fortunes spent to keep the Reds out of the area would be lost—and possibly all of non-Communist Asia as well.

COTTON WOES

With cotton, it's principally Egypt, although Mexico and Brazil are concerned too. The Egyptians are the world's champion growers of fine long-staple cotton. It is practically the only thing they export. Dumping the U.S. cotton surplus into Egypt's markets would play havoc with Egypt's economy.

Egypt is a key to Arab-Israeli peace and to continued cold-shouldering of Communist attempts to muscle in on the Middle East.

The milk-producing Scandinavian countries might be alienated if American dairy surpluses showed up cheap on the world market. The grain-growing Canadians never cease to fret that surplus might be dumped.

Its chief tool for disposing of farm surpluses abroad is Public Law 480. This permits their sale, barter or giveaway to "friendly countries." Russia and Red China are specifically barred. The law would have to be changed to bring them in.

A major provision is that sales may be made for foreign currency. This money never reaches the United States, however. It is simply plowed back into economic development of the country, gift of Uncle Sam, or used to pay off U.S. bills, such as for troop camps in Japan.

A Hoover Commission task force took a swipe at a companion law in a report made public this month. It complained:

"The earmarking of dollar aid for surplus agricultural commodities leads to the appearance if not the reality of pressure on recipient countries to take American surplus commodities.

But officials who administer the law defend it as a way out of the shortage of dollars abroad. They see the long range solution in ultimately getting enough dollars in the hands of foreign buyers so they can pay the high price of U.S. farm goods.

Woman Admits Having Gambling Equipment

Pleading guilty yesterday to illegal possession of gamblin gequipment, Helen Fowlkes, 40, of 522 Fildew Ave., was fined $100 when she appeared before Municipal Judge Maurice E. Finnegan.

Police officers confiscated tip sheets, "dream books" and records of previous betting when they arrested the woman yesterday.

6 Bendix Radio Plants Are Closed by Strike

BALTIMORE (AP)—A strike early today halted production at six Bendix radio plants here where work is mostly classified electronics equipment for the armed forces.

Picketing began at midnight, when the company's one-year contract with the AFL International Assn. of Machinists expired.

The union represents about 3,000 employes, but the company said about 3,000 others not on hourly wage scale also were affected.

Slaying Suspect Found in Well

Death Comes to Second of Four Principals in Oilman's Murder

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Police found the body of gunman-gambler Leroy (Tincy) Eggleston, 49, in a shallow well six miles north of here last night. He had been shot in the back of the head.

* * *

His death left alive only two of the principals in the slay-for-pay murder of wealthy oilman William P. Cark, 61, found dead in his expensive home May 22, 1953.

The remaining principals are Clark's blonde widow Mary, 46, and Harry Huggins, the 47-year-old mobster-informer who said Mrs. Clark offered a $10,000 reward for her husband's death.

* * *

Another mobster named by Huggins and the police in the Clark killing, Ceci Green, 49, was slain in a gangland ambush last May 4 when he and Eggleston drove up to a highway rendezvous. Eggleston shot his way out of the trap and was found, scared and shaking, hours later in a nearby building. He had been reported in hiding until his disappearance but underworld sources said he "was still busy."

* * *

Eggleston, the source said, stayed busy milking gamblers, burglars, safe men and others of part of their hauls, giving them the alternative of losing all of their take.

Name Winners at MSU Show

Cleo Donal, 19, of Fowlerville, was runner-up and Melvin Davis, 17, of Paw Paw, took third place.

Winners of the sheep-shearing contest were Robert Bell, 17, of Lansing, and R. Warren Thorne, 18, of Hanover. The two youths will represent Michigan at competition during the International Livestock Exposition at Chicago.

Ten-Year 4-H Leader to Be Honored Today

ROCHESTER—Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Wiggins of 322 East Street will be guests this evening of the New York Central Railroad at a banquet in East Lansing, where Mrs. Wiggins will be recognized for her ten years as a 4-H leader.

She will be given a gold 4-H Clover Award.

Mrs. Wiggins is also a member of the state 4-H Service Club, an honorary organization made up of outstanding leaders and older 4-H members. Among other accomplishments are counselor at Island Lake Camp for nine years and service on numerous committees on a county level.

Rochester 4-H Youth Enter East Lansing Fair

ROCHESTER—Stuart Hutchins, Jane Booth and Margaret Wiggins from the Rochester Variety Club are this week attending the 40th Annual 4-H Show at East Lansing, where they have a number of entries.

They are housed at Shaw Dormitory. Others exhibiting from this area are Karen Bush, Mike Stieb and Nancy Hutchins.

County Deaths

Fredrick Bossow

ROMEO — Service for Fredrick Bossow, 8, of 238 West Lafayette, will be held at 2 p.m. Friday from Roth's Home for Funerals, with burial in Romeo Cemetery. Frederick, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Bossow, died Tuesday.

He is survived by his parents and paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bossow, all of Romeo, also his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Campbell of Detroit.

Dryden Couple to Mark Golden Wedding Date

DRYDEN—Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dyer will observe their golden wedding anniversary at their home on North Street, Friday.

Married in Van West, Ohio, Sept. 2, 1905, the couple came to Dryden in 1912. They have lived in their present home for 37 years.

They are the parents of one son, Miles, of Dryden and have a grandson.

ROCHESTER — The treasurer here reports that $41,160.44 or 40.3 per cent of the total tax roll for the village was collected in July. The total roll is $102,008.50.

MR. AND MRS. KENNETH LOGAN

Pair to Tour New York

LAKE ORION — Judith Ann Schick and Kenneth A. Logan were united in marriage in a double ring afternoon ceremony, Saturday, in the First Baptist Church here.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Schick of 242 Anderson, Lake Orion, and Kenneth is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Logan of 3247 Melvin, Rochester.

Judy chose for her wedding a ballerina-length nylon lace gown over satin, with net ruffles cascading down the back of the skirt. A seed pearl crown held her fingertip veil and she carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations.

Her maid of honor was Beverly Graham of Lake Orion, and Mildred Ballagh of Lake Orion and Barbara Logan of Rochester were bridesmaids.

Best man for his brother was Charles Logan. Ushers were Jerry Schick of Lake Orion and Douglas Weaver of Los Angeles, Calif.

Japanese Girl in Metamora to Attend MSU

METAMORA—A Japanese girl, Tsuru Makatai of Tokyo, in the United States on a Fulbright Scholarship issued by the State Department, is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Whittaker here.

Miss Makatai, who will attend Michigan State University, will be sponsored also by the Farm Bureau of Michigan. She will receive her Master's degree in December, returning then to Japan to work among the rural people of her country as teacher and counselor.

Queen's Ball to Open 23rd Peach Festival

ROMEO—The Queens Ball will officially mark the opening of the 23rd annual Romeo Peach Festival Friday evening.

Peach Queen Nancy Kovack and her escort will lead the Grand March at the dance to be held beginning at 9:30 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

Members of the Queen's court, their escorts, Festival officials and guests will join in honoring Queen Nancy as she begins her reign over the three-day Festival program.

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — More than 40 persons attended the recent Singspiration of Sunnyvale Chapel, held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gabe Roth.

Accept 3 New Subdivisions

ROCHESTER — A special meeting of the Rochester, Avon, Oakland Planning Commission was held last night in the Village Hall when action was taken on three proposed subdivisions presented by Michael Brenan of the Howard Keating Jr. firm. L. R. Bebout presided in the absence of President F. R. Chapman.

Following a report of the committee which investigated No. 1 plat, known as Bellermine, it was accepted. The plat is the former George Dusenbury Farm on Walton Blvd., one-fourth mile west of Adams road.

The 67 acres, containing 96 lots, with easements provided and percolations tests approved by the Oakland County Board of Health will go to the Avon Township Board for approval.

No. 2 plat, Braebach Subdivision, located at the Northeast corner of Brewster and Tienken roads, formerly owned by the Ross and Cryderman families was also accepted by the commission. This plat is a 33-acre subdivision of 54 lots.

Tienken Acres, located on the South side of Tienken road between Livernois and Brewster road, and known as the Murphy Farm, was the third plat to be accepted.

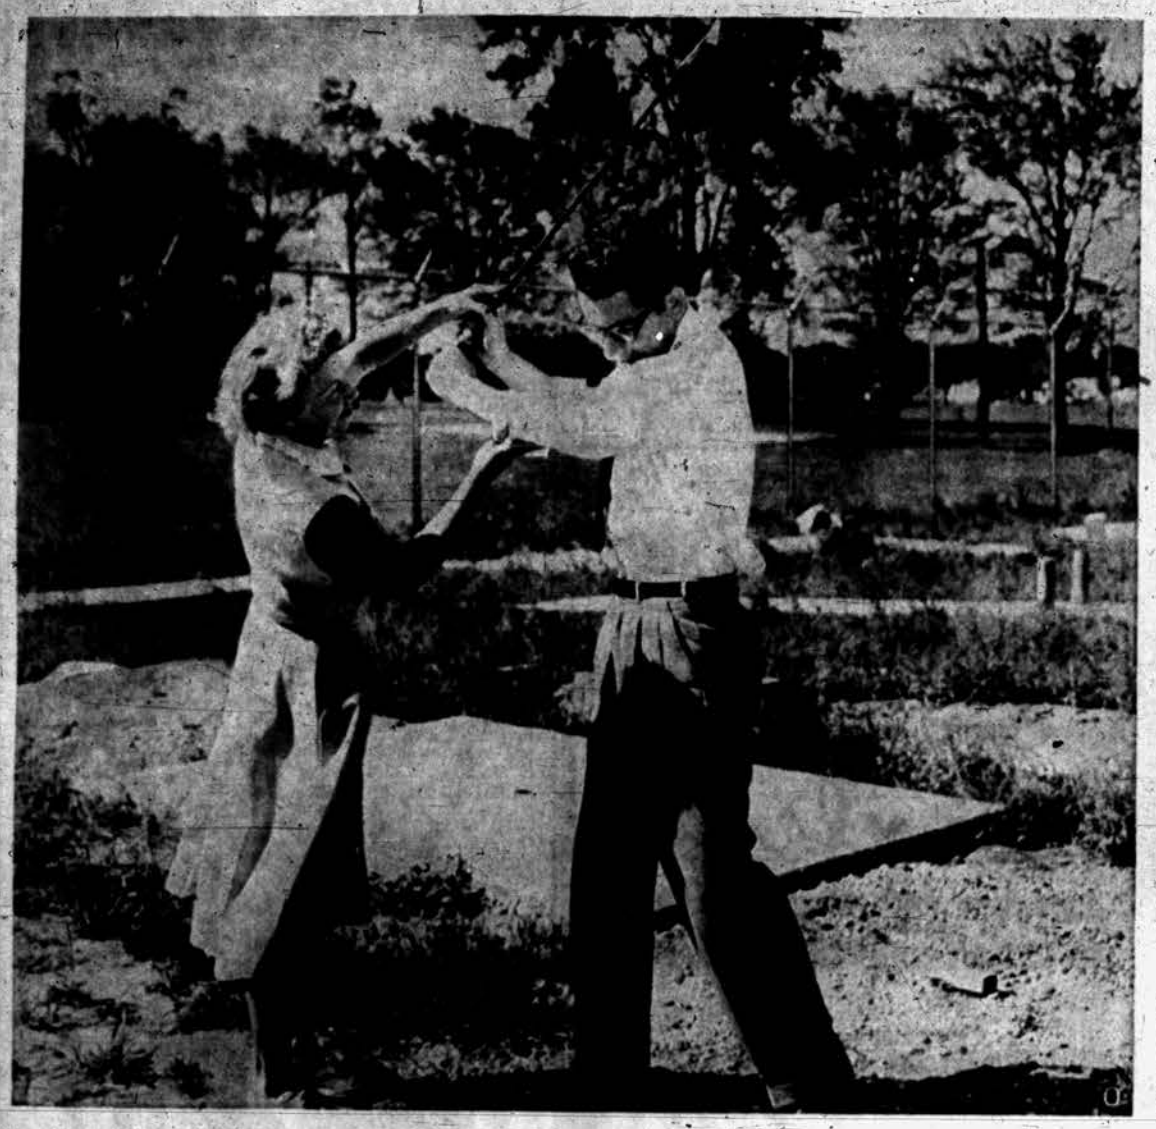
Central Volunteer Bureau Meets Community Need



Volunteers at Pontiac State Hospital have been rewarded many times over for the hours of service they have given to patients within the hospital. Mrs. A. Phillips Streeter (above) of Birmingham volunteers one day each week for teaching golf in the Recreational Therapy Department. She is showing Bernie Hansen, a psychiatric social worker, the particular technique she demonstrates to patients. The photograph was taken at the site of the new 18-hole miniature golf course which was made possible by donations received from the community. Plans also are being made for the completion of the athletic field of the hospital.

Pontiac Press Photos

Student volunteers Linda Fitzpatrick and Victoria Micu compare experiences after a busy summer of volunteer work. Linda, who lives on Geneva street, has been assisting the Michigan Children's Aid Society all summer with such varied duties as sorting clothing for layettes, filing, typing and answering the phone. Victoria, who lives on Midway avenue, served as assistant leader at the Camp Fire Girls' day camp during June and July. They registered with the Central Volunteer Bureau when school closed.

Hills Folks Will Gather in Metamora

Plans Being Made for Festive Holiday Weekend

By RUTH SAUNDERS

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — Many Bloomfield families will spend the holiday weekend at Metamora where, besides the annual Hunter-Breeder Show there Saturday, the United States Equestrian Team will be on hand for Olympic trials.

On Saturday evening Mrs. George Gagnier Jr. and her twin daughters of Tryon, N. C., will give a cocktail party at the Metamora home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Pierce.

Mr. and Mrs. Pierce of Tiverton road, Bloomfield Hills, will also have Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Mahler of Tryon as guests at their farm, Fox Covert.

Another cocktail party will be given Saturday by Mr. and Mrs. James J. Phelan Jr., who will have as their houseguests Mr. and Mrs. Bernard E. Hopper of Glenview, Ill., and Mr. and Mrs. William Rochester of Warrenton, Va.

* * *

Metamora Hunt Club will give a dinner-dance for juniors on Saturday and for the seniors on Monday evening.

* * *

On Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Graham J. Graham and Mr. and Mrs. James A. Blackwood will be cocktail hosts at the Blackwoods' Red House Farm.

LONG WEEKEND

Mr. and Mrs. James A. Beresford and their family, who have recently returned from a summer in Europe, are spending a long weekend at their Metamora farm, as are the E. S. Nichols of Tiverton road.

* * *

Going out to Metamora from here will be a group of young men from St. Louis who are guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Anderson and their daughter, Mernie, and of the Charlton G. Edens and their daughter, Patty. Mrs. Eden and Patty recently returned from a visit in New York.

TO VISIT AUSTRIA

Mrs. Graham J. Graham will spend a greater part of the coming hunting season in Austria where she will visit her niece, Mrs. George Rochlitser.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Schirmer came down from their summer home at Burt Lake Tuesday and left almost immediately for Lincoln, Neb., where their son, Edward E. Schirmer, is being married Saturday.

They will be hosts at the rehearsal dinner Friday evening at the Cornhusker Hotel for their future daughter-in-law, Janet Fairchild, and their son.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin J. Anderson will fly out Friday to attend the wedding.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. C. Grant Barnes and their daughters, Kathy and Virginia, of Grosse Pointe are spending this weekend with Mr. and Mrs. John B. Poole of Rathmoor road.

* * *

Mrs. Norman Meginnity and her son, Dick, are the guests of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Mark B. Duffield, over this weekend.

REVEAL BETROTHAL

Mr. and Mrs. Myron Zucker of West Long Lake road have announced the engagement of their daughter, Judith, to David W. Clark. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Clark of Skaneateles, N. Y.

Both young people were graduated from Cornell University.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Strickland are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Fruhauf at their lodge at Killarney, Muskoka, over this weekend.

ATTEND POWERAMA

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Osborne were in Chicago a few days this week attending the opening of GMs' Powerama.

* * *

Ferd M. Broock, Maynard D. Andreae, Hobart D. Andreae and Wayne A. Andrea are spending a long weekend fishing at a ranch in Wyoming.

Mrs. Thomas W. Williams has returned to her home in Philadelphia after a visit with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. G. Bretnell Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis S. Morse Jr. have invited a few close friends for a "cookout" Monday at their Lone Pine road home, "Overbrook."

On Saturday, "Overbrook" was the setting for the wedding reception of Mary Pamela Scolaro and Michael Allan Ryan after their marriage in St. Hugo of the Hills Church.

* * *

Margaret McCaul was hostess at an out-of-door dance last Saturday evening at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. McCaul of Lone Pine Hill.

September Set Aside by Bureau

To Devote Month to the Recruitment of Volunteers

September has been set as volunteer recruitment month by the Central Volunteer Bureau.

* * *

During this month the bureau hopes to register hundreds of women who will be willing to spend a few hours each week in social service.

In a recent issue of a nationally read magazine, these volunteers are described as "America's Amazing Women." This group, which is five times the size of all our armed forces, is the salt of American society, the article states.

These women have found that the unselfish giving of one's self to one's neighbors is a life-giving force both to the served and the server; it is also the best therapeutic method for securing peace of mind, meaningful happiness, real freedom, creative power for the giver.

* * *

The Central Volunteer Bureau was created a year ago last June under the auspices of the United Fund "to keep abreast of current volunteer needs in the north Oakland area, of the health, recreation and social service agencies (both public and private), and to recruit and channel volunteers to fill these needs in sofar as possible.

OTHER AIMS

"To assist individuals, or organized groups of people, to find the places where their services will be most needed and where their particular skills and abilities can be put to best use;

"To help avoid duplication in the recruitment and selection of service volunteers . . . "

* * *

Mrs. George Petroff of Cherokee road is the retiring chairman, and on the advisory board are Mrs. William Crawford, Birmingham, vice chairman; Mrs. Whitney Murphy, Pontiac, secretary-treasurer, and Mrs. C. M. Shelton, Mrs. Mildred Bennett, Margrierite Parrish, Mrs. Ross Tenny, Mrs. Ivan Wilcox, Mrs. H. Guy Moats and Mrs. David MacLaren from Pontiac.

Serving from Sylvan Lake is Mrs. Jack S. Allen; from Waterford are Mrs. R. G. Bump, Mrs. E. L. Windeler and Mrs. A. W. Gault; from Bloomfield Township, Mrs Stanley Carter; from Franklin, Mrs. Robert Groves, and from Birmingham, Mrs. William Jackson and Mrs. William Rosso.

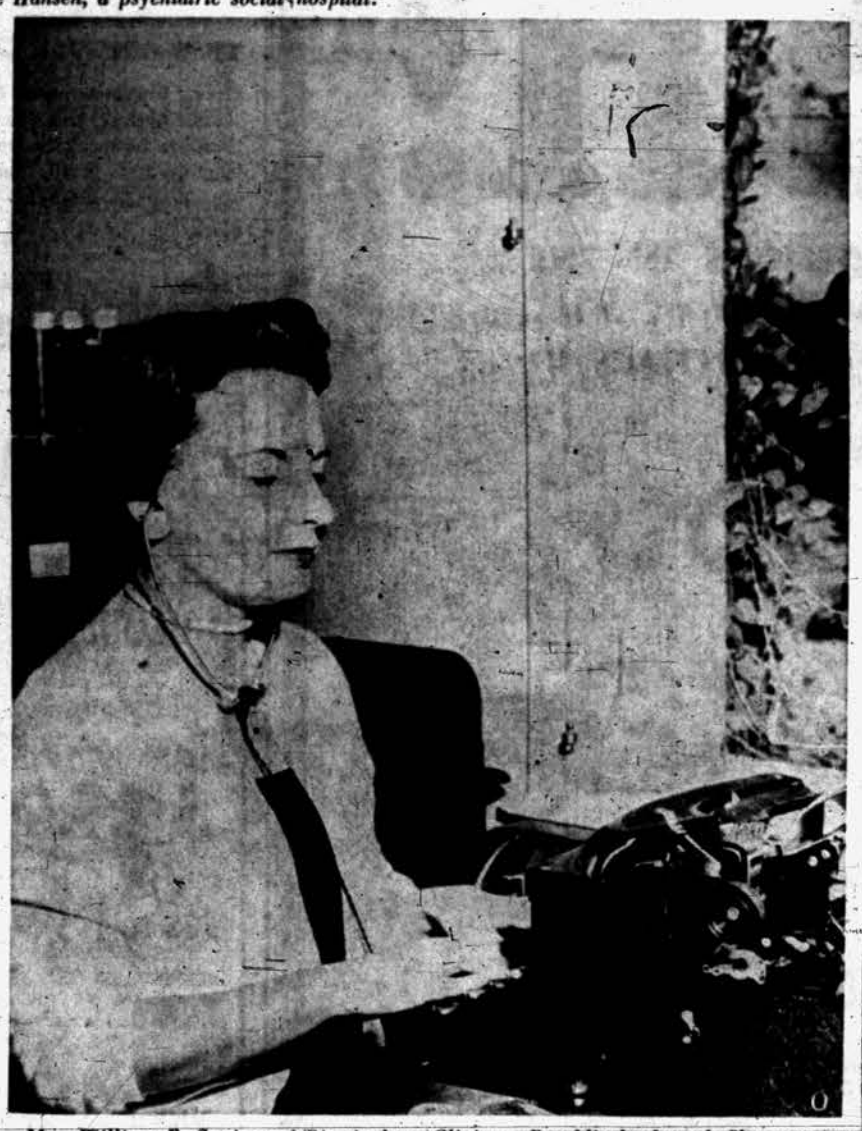
Registration may be made at the United Fund office, 218 National Building.



Mrs. William F. Squires of Birmingham was photographed at her work as volunteer at the Oakland County Child Guidance Clinic on Franklin boulevard. She comes to the clinic one day each week to take dictation and to do some typing.

Mrs. William A. Hyland of Birmingham finds real pleasure in helping with the horticultural therapy program at Pontiac State Hospital. She is shown assisting a patient with some flower arrangements. On alternate Wednesdays Mrs. Hyland helps in this capacity, and on each Tuesday, she has been helping with the Child Psychiatry Program. This work consists of aiding youngsters with their garden project. The boys have taken several 4-H awards for the project.

Readying some of the thousands of pledge cards needed for the coming United Fund drive is Mrs. E. V. Geizer of Island court, Sylvan Lake. Mrs. Geizer recalls with pleasure the many days of work she donated at United Fund campaign headquarters last fall, and she hopes to be able to give time again this year.

Bride-Elect Entertained at Shower

Hostesses for the Tuesday evening party were Mrs. Ray Denton, Mrs. Fred Postl, Mrs. George Stevenson and Mrs. Leslie Davidson.

Invited guests were Mrs. Joseph Errias, Mrs. Edna Stevenson, Mrs. Harry Fredricks, Mrs. James Sincklin, Mrs. Charles Fredricks, Mrs. Leon Tatro and Mrs. Robert S. Shoemate.

* * *

Also invited were Mrs. Everett Brown, Mrs. Knute Thall, Mrs. Leon Tatro Jr., Mrs. Enmund Tatro, Mrs. Thomas Sickler, Mrs. Leonard Piantkowski, Marlene Daly, Mrs. Archie Castor, Mrs. Robert Stevenson and Mrs. Frank Morris.

Mrs. Harold Boughner, Carole Morris, Mrs. Rock Goddard, Patricia Boughner, Mrs. Andrew Smith, Mrs. Russ DeLongchamp, Mrs. Carl Rutherford, Mrs. William Harteau, Mrs. Ted Schuler and Verona Inglehert.

Completing the guest list were Mrs. Frank Bader, Mrs. Lois Amy, Mrs. Theodore Hubert, Shirley Biskner, Patti Davidson, Jackie Wright, Mrs. Alfred Henke, Mrs. George Lippert, Mrs. John Beard, Mrs. Albert Leighton, Janice Postl and Sharron Errias.

* * *

Mr and Mrs. Ronald E. Harris (nee Marianne De Nio) of Ypsilanti, formerly of Pontiac, are announcing the birth of a daughter on Aug. 21.

They will be moving to Utica very soon. Mr. Harris has accepted the position of industrial arts instructor in the Utica Community High School.

The middy bows onto the night-time scene as Christian Dior introduces his new "Y" silhouette. A perfect example of the new line, the dinner gown is fashioned of lustrous orlon-and-silk satin. The white middy blouse, tied in self bows at each shoulder, puffs over the hips in a soft pouf. It tops a slim sinuous sheath skirt of the same fabric.

Tackle Jobs With All Your Might

By ANNE HEYWOOD

The most interesting thing about growing older is the way you begin to re-evaluate things.

For example, the tired old virtuous cliches, which used to irritate me to death in my youth, are beginning to make more and more sense to me now.

When Mother used to hand me that one, I'd think, "Oh, honestly!" But now I see how important it is—not only for virtue, but for happiness, health and even good looks!

Two women I know illustrate this point, beautifully.

Helen does not practice that little rule of thumb, but Esther does. They are both in their early 30's—within one month of the same age.

But Helen literally looks old enough to be Esther's mother. And her life is just as unhappy as Esther's is happy.

HOUSEHOLD DUTIES

Both are housewives and neither of them is particularly crazy about household duties.

However, Esther does them as well and as cheerfully as she can. She gets them done in good time, with no wear and tear on her nervous system and no stabs from her conscience.

In the afternoons—when her housework is finished—she has a part-time job, in a doctor's office, which she loves. Furthermore, it brings in extra money which the family needs.

On the other hand, Helen makes a lifework, quite literally, of hating housework.

She drags through it, doing it badly, complaining and talking forever. She wears sloppy old housedresses, claiming that she never has any time for herself.

NEVER HAS TIME

She never gets finished before her husband arrives, so she just tosses some terrible dinner together at the last minute. They need extra money, too, but Helen never "has time for a job."

There is no real difference between the two, except for that basic concept, "Whatever your hand finds to do, do it with all your might."

Esther does, Helen doesn't. But the difference it makes is tremendous, and affects everything about both their lives.

Couple Wed in St. Johns

Gladioli, pompons and fugi chrysanthemums in shades of rust and ivory decorated the Symmonds home in St. Johns for the marriage of Nancy Symmonds and Glynn Barnett.

* * *

The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Charles S. Symmonds of St. Johns, and Glynn is the son of Mr. and Mrs. U. H. Barnett of Norton avenue.

The bride's gown of Wedgewood blue lace was ballerina length. She carried a colonial bouquet of white chrysanthemums and yellow roses.

Her only attendant was her sister, Mrs. Merrill A. Wilson of Des Moines, Iowa. She wore a rust linen dress accented by a bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums and yellow roses.

Guy Barnett served as best man.

* * *

For a reception held at Walker's Restaurant in St. Johns, the bride's mother wore a pale blue linen dress. Mrs. Barnett wore a pink nylon dress. Both mothers chose corsages of white chrysanthemums and pink roses.

Both the bride and bridegroom are graduates of the University of Michigan where he is at present studying in the Law School.

Verla Sturgeon Feted at Shower

A linen shower was given for Verla Lee Sturgeon Tuesday evening by Mrs. Joan Morang of Bramble drive. Verla, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Shelvy Sturgeon of Sanford drive, is the bride-elect of George Howell.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Howell of Pontiac drive. The couple plans an Oct. 8 wedding.

Invited guests were Mrs. Sturgeon, Mrs. Howell, Mrs. Robert Travis, Mrs. James Mazza, Mrs. Arthur Featherstone, Mrs. B. M. Pitchford, and Mrs. John Putnam.

Completing the guest list were Mrs. Jack Albright, Mrs. Joe Zaffina, Gwen Lehmann, Mrs. Lyle Ross, Doris Jones and Mrs. Lillian Cummings.

Marlene Hartmann Weds

Marlene Hartmann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold J. Hartmann of Monterey boulevard, became the bride of David J. England, the son of Mr. and Mrs. David W. England of Logan, Utah, last Friday.

* * *

Parents of the couple and close relatives attended the double-ring ceremony performed in the Temple of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints, Idaho Falls, Idaho.

The bride wore a waltz-length gown of imported Chantily lace and net over white slipper satin. Her fingertip veil was joined to a tiara of lace with seed pearls and sequins. Her bridal bouquet was of white roses centered with a white orchid.

Bridesmaids Nancy Lundquist, Judy Hartmann and Patricia Tolman wore dresses of net and lace in pastel colors. Julie Ann England and Helen Marie Lundquist wore teal green frocks for their duties as flower girls.

* * *

For the reception held in the evening, Mrs. Hartmann wore a blue lace and crepe dress. Mrs. England wore a gown of pink linen and lace. Both mothers chose carnation corsages.

The bride wore a gray suit with white accessories for her going away costume. After honeymooning in Yellowstone National Park, the newlyweds will make their home in Logan, Utah, where he will enter Utah State College in the fall.

Hawthorne Board Outlines Programs

The executive board of the Hawthorne PTA met Wednesday evening at the home of its new president, Mrs. Ronald Carr, on West Colgate avenue.

The theme for the coming year will be "Understanding the Educational Program of Our School." Each month's program was outlined under that theme.

Committee chairmen were appointed to handle the popcorn sales held each Friday during the school year. The first one is scheduled for Sept. 16.

Girl Questions Wisdom of Dating Neighbor

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

What a break that can be for a girl! When the boy next door likes her every bit as much as she likes him, how convenient! They can be together as much as they want. No long treks from one house to the other.

Their families know each other, too, and are likely to be a bit lenient. It's wonderful arrangement when it works.

Sometimes it doesn't, of course. Two young people who live so close can consider each other poison. Can't stand the sight of him, she can't. Wouldn't be caught dead on a date with her, he wouldn't.

And what a bore, to have such a burden constantly so near. Terrible strain on politeness.

"Dear Miss Woodward: He has dated me several times, and it seems to be getting almost regular, and this may lead to our going steady.

"He's very nice and we get along just fine, but for some reason I feel funny about going with him. Maybe it's just because I do live next door to him.

"It's not because I don't like him; I do. I'm afraid people might say that he couldn't do any better than the 'girl next door.' But he has gone out with other girls, and I with other boys.

"My parents think it's okay, possibly because they know him and his family so well. Going with the 'boy next door' has its advantages and disadvantages. What do you think?"

Answer: It can be very pleasant, indeed, to have a very good boy friend living next door. Being neighbors is an accident that neither of you had anything much to do with. Your parents fixed that. And it would be awful if you hated each other.

It's not laziness that makes him want to date you. Nor is it that "friend of the family" stuff. He genuinely likes you, and you enjoy being with him. It's an extra dividend to being neighbors.

If he wanted to go afield to date other girls, he could. And you can be receptive to boys who live on the other side of town. If you choose to spend evenings together, what do you care what other people think?

Don't let it get to be too much of a good thing, though. Respect the slight distance between your two homes. Don't impose, or take it too easy. Be neat and tidy at all times. Keep your family squabbles low.

And if you don't want it to turn into going steady, check the regularity of your dates together. Turn one down occasionally, but be sure you have an excuse that will stand close inspection.

Date other boys now and then, and don't mind if he has other dates, too. You're stuck with him as a neighbor, so keep him your friend for always.

Dorothy C. Cairns became the bride of Robert C. Barner Saturday. She is the daughter of the Neil Cairns' of of Drayton Plains, and he is the son of the L. C. Barners of Hudson avenue.

MR. and MRS. ROBERT C. BARNER

Dorothy Cairns Repeats Nuptial Vows Before 200

Before an altar banked with baskets of gladioli, palms and candelabra, Dorothy M. Cairns and Robert C. Barner exchanged nuptial vows Saturday at 8 p.m.

The Rev. Malcolm K. Burton read the double-ring service at First Congregational Church, in the presence of 200 guests.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Neil W. Cairns of Drayton Plains and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Barner of Hudson avenue.

A gown of Chantilly lace over satin was worn by the bride. It was fashioned with a fitted bodice and sleeves that ended in points at the wrists. The bouffant skirt of net was accented by panels of lace that ended in a cathedral train.

Her fingertip veil of silk illusion was secured by a small band of pearls and iridescent sequins. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses, carnations and stephanotis.

ATTENDS BRIDE

Mrs. Robert E. Johnson, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Her gown was of pink crystallette in a waltz length. Her bouquet was a semi-cascade arrangement of Queen Elizabeth gloroses.

Mrs. Donald Lager, cousin of the bride, and Mrs. Albert Potter wore gowns fashioned like the matron of honor's in turquoise crystallette. Their headpieces were of flowers and net that matched their bouquets of light pink gloroses.

Bruce F. Barner served his brother as best man, and seating the guests were Fred Goyette and James Lynch.

GOWNED IN NAVY

The bridegroom's mother was wearing a navy lace dress over taffeta. Her accessories were pink, and she wore a corsage of roses and carnations.

For her honeymoon in northern Michigan, the bride changed to a navy blue nylon shantung dress with which she wore red accessories. She also wore the corsage from her bridal bouquet.

Tuesday Tee Club Makes Fall Plans

At the Tuesday Tee Golf Club's weekly meeting at Pontiac Country Club, plans were announced for tournament play through the month of September. The group also planned a luncheon to be held Sept. 6.

In the medal play on Tuesday Mrs. Delbert Hammett held low gross and also won in the blind hole play. Mrs. Floyd Levely won low putts.

Gay Garden Gloves Also Protect Wrists

The cleverest garden gloves are gaily decorated with strawberries, sunbursts, pompons, and polka dots. They're gauntlet gloves to protect wrists as well as hands when you're grubbing in the soil.

Girl May Tell Boy, 'Call Again'

But She Shouldn't Suggest a Definite Time for Date

By EMILY POST

A girl writes: "When I have to refuse a date with a young man because of a previous engagement, is it proper for me to suggest another night instead? I'm afraid if I say no he will think I don't want to go out with him and not ask me again. On the other hand, I don't want him to think me overeager."

Answer: You cannot say a definite time, but you can say, "I'm so sorry I'm unable to go Thursday, but do ask me again."

"Dear Mrs. Post: "When we arrive at the house of friends and find another couple present, about whom we've often heard but never met, should both of us shake hands with both of them or just my husband with the other man? What about when we leave?"

Answer: The rule is that the men always shake hands but the women do not. This last, however, is not a fixed rule and those who have heard about each other follow their natural inclinations and probably do.

"Dear Mrs. Post: The other evening we entertained for the first time in our new house. It was not a housewarming, but one of the guests brought us a present. I thanked her and put the gift aside. Since unwrapping it I've telephoned and thanked her again.

"My husband feels that I was wrong not to open the gift and show it around. I thought this might embarrass the others. Anyway the present was for us, not for them. What is your opinion?"

Answer: I agree with your husband that it was very unkind not to seem to care enough about the present to look at it. There was no reason why the others should have been distressed because they brought nothing.

Breakfast Starts the Day Right

Morning Meal Is Important

By JANET ODELL

Did you eat breakfast this morning? Some of my fellow workers look a little guilty when I toss that question at them. I haven't succeeded in convincing all of them of the importance of breakfast.

Perhaps we can do better with the younger set. Let's try anyway as conscientious mothers. Let's see that our children go off to school each and every morning with an adequate meal in their tummies.

And what is an adequate breakfast? The basic breakfast is fruit or juice, cereal with milk, and toast. Add bacon or eggs to this or in place of the cereal or milk.

Breakfast is the meal which falls most easily into a pattern. The pattern need not be monotonous; but for some people an early morning meal is hard enough to get without thinking of some new food each day.

VARIETY IS EASY

Vary the fruit according to season. Alternate hot and cold cereal (it's cheaper, you know, to cook oatmeal or some other hot cereal than it is to serve prepared cereals.) Use a variety of bread and rolls.

The J. Thomas Peterson household of Waterford is one where a good breakfast is served and eaten every day. Mrs. Peterson insists upon her three children's having an adequate meal first thing in the morning. She knows that such a practice will pay off in the long run in sturdier, healthier children.

Tests have shown over and over again that individuals work better if they eat breakfast. Children do better in school. Fathers function more efficiently at the office. Mothers don't have that let-down feeling halfway through the morning. Dieters are less apt to want a snack on high calorie foods during their coffee break.

Better Breakfast month coincides with Back-to-School month. Why not make a new resolution, even if it isn't January first? Be it here resolved that we'll do our best to see that all members of our family eat a basic breakfast daily. Tempt them with these two recipes.

Individual hot breads are fun and are quick and easy to make, too. These Honey Raisin Muffins are sure to be a hit.

Honey Raisin Muffins

2 cups sifted enriched flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon sugar
½ cup raisins
1 egg, beaten
1 cup milk
¼ cup honey
2 tablespoons melted shortening

Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Add raisins. Combine egg, milk, honey and shortening. Add liquid to flour mixture, stirring until flour is moistened. Fill greased muffin pans 2-3 full. Bake in hot oven (425 degrees) 20 minutes. Makes about 1½ dozen 2-inch muffins.

Pancakes, flannelcakes, griddlecakes, flapjacks, wheatcakes — call them what you will. If your family likes them, they'll surely take to these Scandinavian Apple Pancakes.

Scandinavian Apple Pancakes

1 apple
½ cup sugar
¾ cup sifted enriched flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon sugar
1 egg, beaten
1 cup milk
1 tablespoon melted shortening

Core and peel apple and cut into thin rings. Sprinkle with ¼ cup sugar and let stand while mixing batter. Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Combine egg, milk and melted shortening. Mix well. Add liquid to flour mixture and mix thoroughly. Pour 1 tablespoon batter on hot griddle or skillet. Put apple ring in center and top with another tablespoon batter. When bubbly, turn and brown. Makes about 12 4-inch pancakes.

Try Beef Shanks in 'Boiled Dinner'

Did you know that there are more than 30 different cuts of beef on the market? How many have you been using lately, in addition to pot roast, steak and stew meat?

For instance, have you ever planned a dinner around beef shanks? You'll often see these "cross-cut shanks" in your meat man's counter — frequently with attractive price tags attached.

Remember that beef shanks, and other of the thrifty cuts, are just as nutritious as the fancier steaks and rib roasts.

You can make an excellent "boiled dinner" of beef shanks and vegetables. Just place the shanks in a Dutch oven and cover with water; add a slice or two of onion, some celery leaves and a bay leaf.

Cover the pan and cook the shanks at simmering temperature for 2½ hours or until almost tender. Then add vegetables such as quartered potatoes, carrots cut into 2-inch pieces, and onions in halt.

Continue cooking until vegetables and meat are tender. Serve the shanks with a horseradish white sauce. Save cooking liquid for making soup or cooking vegetables.

BEEHIVE SUNDAE — Honey and ice cream are such good companions that once you have served them together you will do it often. Shape the ice cream like a hive and press in chocolate pieces to resemble bees.

Blackberry Cobbler Has Old-Fashioned Goodness

Blackberry Cobbler

3 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca
1 cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon cinnamon
4 cups blackberries
1 cup water
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1 cup biscuit mix
1 tablespoon sugar
1-3 cup light cream
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 tablespoon sugar

Mix tapioca, 1 cup sugar, salt, one-eighth teaspoon cinnamon, blackberries and water in a saucepan. Cook and stir over moderate heat until mixture comes to a boil. Remove from heat; add lemon juice and butter. Pour into a baking dish (12 by 7 inches) and keep warm.

Mix biscuit mix with 1 tablespoon sugar. Add cream and stir until soft dough is formed. Turn onto a lightly floured board of prepared pastry cloth and knead 10 times.

Pat lightly to about one-fourth-inch thickness. Cut out eight 2-inch biscuits. Place biscuits on top of blackberry mixture.

Then mix 1 tablespoon sugar and 1 teaspoon cinnamon and sprinkle over biscuits. Bake in moderate (375 degrees) oven 30 minutes or until biscuits are baked through.

Serve warm with cream. Makes eight servings.

Ntoe: One-fourth cup milk and 2 tablespoons butter or margarine

Hot Potato Salad and Franks Are Teen Favorites

Next time there's a basketball game, have your teenagers invite the gang in for a buffet lunch.

Your role in this party is chief chef. Home economist Reba Staggs suggests that a menu easy on you and pleasing to the teenagers would be frankfurters with hot potato salad, pickles, catchup, mustard, strawberry-whipped cream-nut-sundaes and hot chocolate.

Frankfurters With Hot Potato Salad

1 pound frankfurters
6 medium-sized potatoes
1 onion, finely chopped
Hot dressing

Cook potatoes in skins and remove skins while hot. Cut potatoes in one-half-inch cubes.

Add onion to potatoes. Make hot dressing. Cover frankfurters with hot water and heat slowly but do not boil.

Hot Dressing

1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon mustard
¼ cup sugar
½ cup water
⅛ cup vinegar
1 egg, slightly beaten
4 slices bacon, diced

Combine salt, pepper, mustard and sugar. Add water, vinegar and beaten egg.

Cook bacon until lightly brown and combine other mixture. Cook slowly until thickened.

Tangy Cheese Spreads

You can make so many different kinds of spreads for crackers or melba toast from cream cheese. Add drained minced clams, chopped pimientoes, pickle relish, chutney or ground ham to the cream cheese along with a little onion juice.

Stuff Peppers and Tomatoes

With tomatoes and green peppers plentiful, now is the time to give them a savory stuffing, then serve them as the main dish of your meal.

By using handy ready-to-serve meats for stuffing, your preparation time is cut to a minimum.

Stuff tomatoes with this mixture, then sprinkle them with grated cheese. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes.

Follow this same procedure with peppers. Combine the tomato pulp with the corned beef hash. But before stuffing, parboil the peppers for eight minutes in boiling, salted water.

When stuffed, pour hot water to a depth of 1 inch in the baking dish, then cook for 20 to 30 minutes in a 350 degree oven.

Serve Scallops Hawaiian Style

Seafood for the sophisticate takes on extra glamor when cooked in the out-of-doors, and when the seafood of the moment is exotic Scallops Hawaiian, here is party fare indeed.

This recipe makes eight servings and is ideal for an informal gathering of guests. It is so easy to make that the cook need hardly absent herself from the festivities to grill this delicious dish.

For those who would know something of these succulent morsels, the National Fisheries Institute tells us that scallops come in two sizes—the small bay scallop and his larger cousin, the sea scallop.

This time of year, however, the bay scallop, like the oyster, makes himself scarce for the warm "R" months. The sea scallop, however, is readily available and may be purchased either fresh or frozen in convenient, no-waste packages.

Both varieties of scallops are mollusks with two shells like mussels and clams. But only the large muscle or "eye" at the hinge of the shells is eaten; the rest of the scallop is thrown away.

Hawaiian Scallops

2 pounds scallops
2 teaspoons salt
1 No. 2 can pineapple
½ cup butter
2-3 cup brown sugar

Rinse scallops and pat dry (frozen scallops should first have been thawed). Cut any large ones in half. Sprinkle with salt. Melt butter in a large skillet; blend in brown sugar, then pineapple chunks and liquid.

Add scallops; cook over hot coals about 10 minutes or until scallops are tender. Stir occasionally to coat them with sauce. Makes eight servings.

Put Coconut in Pudding

Cut a half cup of shredded coconut into short lengths; stir the coconut into a package of prepared chocolate pudding mix before cooking. Chill the pudding before serving and garnish each serving with a dollop of whipped sweetened evaporated milk and maraschino cherry.

Put Liver Sausage in Tempting Spread

If you're a devotee of liver sausage and the cold cuts of meat, as many of us are, here's an especially good sandwich filling for you.

It's excellent on slices of rye, but also makes mighty fine eating when served on whole wheat or flavorful egg sesame seed bread.

1-3 pound liver sausage
3 tablespoons chopped celery
3 tablespoons chopped sweet pickle
2 teaspoons chopped onion
1 hard-cooked egg, chopped
3 tablespoons mayonnaise
8 slices bread
Butter or mayonnaise
Head lettuce

Spread bread with butter or margarine. Spread four slices with liver sausage mixture. Cover with crisp leaves of lettuce and top with remaining bread slices.

Rich, Delectable Cookies Found in Austria

SEEIRCHEN, Austria — There is an old and fusty saying in Austria which goes to the effect that it is easier to drive an elephant through the eye of a needle than to get an Austrian to change his ways.

* * *

This may or may not be true, but it is a certainty that the Austrians stick to old customs and ceremonies with an unequaled tenacity.

There is still a law on the books requiring horse - drawn carts and sleighs to be belled. The bells originally were to drive away the "evil eye", but modern Austrians claim they are useful to give warning of a horse and sleigh padding swiftly and silently over snow-packed roads.

The Austrians still regularly observe Raunaechte, the witching night when animals and houses are blessed in elaborate ceremonies; their barrel makers still dance in the old city squares as they have for hundreds of years, and the salt-shippers in Oberndorf still fight make-believe pirates on the River Salzach as they did centuries ago.

* * *

These are in the way of customary celebrations, but the Austrians are inclined to the old ways in their daily life, too. The cradle scythe is no novelty here and in harvest season it is nothing new to see a long line of women angled across a field of grain, patiently cutting it by hand.

HE JUST LAUGHS

Thus a man like sprightly, 63-year-old Johann Altmann is a bit of an anomaly—so much so, in fact, that some of his more conservative neighbors are not certain that he isn't possessed of the evil eye himself. But Johann just laughs and goes his way assuredly.

* * *

Johann owns and runs a 75-acre farm near here that is the pride of the district, and lives in the same big plastered - stone farmhouse in which he was born.

It is the birthplace, as a matter of fact, of his own two sons and two daughters; his father; his grandfather; his great-grandfather, and on back 12 generations to 1617. This is a matter of considerable pride for Johann, but it has not impressed him so much that he is unwilling to try something new.

Today his farm is as modern as could be found in Austria even though the farmhouse, which is his wife, Johanna's domain, is still unbathroomed and unheated except for the big tile stove between the kitchen and the living-dining room which serves as both an oven and heating plant for the two main rooms.

And even though he has two horses—he keeps them belled—to use in the hilly corners of his land, the majority of his farming is done with his tractor and the collection of machinery that makes his equipment barn look a little like a farm equipment showroom.

* * *

He loves nothing better than to show off his tractor, his seeder, mower, harrow and combine; the power drills and saws in his workshop, and the monumental hydraulic press that he uses to press the fruits from the farm.

FIGURES COSTS

Besides fruit trees, which include cherries, pears, apples, prunes, and peaches, as well as walnut trees, his main crops are wheat and barley and the produce of his 22 dairy cows. Unlike most of his neighbors, he knows to the penny how much each one brings in and how much goes out.

* * *

This alone has set him apart and government agricultural agents have enlisted his help for years in determining the possibilities of new crops and new techniques in the area. That, in turn, has made him the "Sage of Seekirchen" and few days pass without one or another of his neighbors coming to him for advice.

"Mostly, I learned from my father," he said as he drew the cork from a bottle of Kirsch from his own pressings. "Then I got the books and read a lot. . and I'll try anything once."

"You should ask him about the washing machine," his wife, Johanna, broke in as she came around the corner with a big flat baking sheet filled with cookies which she slipped into the green tile stove. She laughed and disappeared back into the kitchen.

* * *

"Yah, Mamma likes to do things the old way," Johann grinned. "A while ago I bought her a new washing machine and it's been sitting out in the passageway ever since. The old ways seem to suit her fine. You should watch her now."

FULL OF ACTIVITY

Taking Herr Altmann's invitation, we ducked through the low door that separated the living room from the immense stone-floored kitchen. It was thrumming with activity.

In one corner a tile-faced range—the other side of the tile stove in the living room with which it connected—was throwing off waves of heat; in another corner Johanna was scrubbing up big copper pots in an old iron-bound wooden tub she had set on a bench, and on the other side of her room her 23-year-old daughter, Maria, was rolling out dough for Zauner Krapfen on a big deal table.

"So we still use a washtub," Johanna laughed. "That way we don't break so many dishes. And when we make Krapfen. . well, we make Krapfen!"

And she was right. Maria had been rolling out big sheets of dough from which she had cut dozens of cookies with a water tumbler for a cutter, and there was still a big lump to go.

* * *

Some of the little round cookies were dropped on the baking sheets as single cookies, others were spread with marmalade and covered with another dough disc with a little hole in the center.

Still others, which were to be frosted with chocolate after baking, were filled with a chocolate filling. These are the traditional ways of preparing Zauner Krapfen, an old Austrian recipe that has been converted to American measures by the Pillsbury European Recipe Service.

PLENTY OF COOKIES

And while we watched, sheet after sheet full of cookies was carried into the next room to bake until we had counted no less than 12 dozen—a good, round gross.

* * *

"We always bake this way," Johanna explained. "Then we won't have to bake for a week, and the cookies keep beautifully in stone crocks. It's old-fashioned, but it works.

"Pappa likes his way, I like mine and we get along. Outside he can have all the gadgets and machinery he wants. But inside . . . I still like my big wooden tub and my tile stove.

"And until I hear some complaints about what we turn out in this old-fashioned kitchen, I'm not about to change my ways!"

Nut Butter Rounds

(Zauner Krapfen — Pronounced Tsown-nair Crop-fenn)

1 cup sifted enriched flour
½ cup sugar
½ cup hazelnuts, walnuts or pecans, ground
½ cup soft butter or margarine

Sift together the flour and sugar into large bowl. Add the nuts. Blend in the soft butter with spoon to form dough. Chill one to two hours. Roll out on floured pastry cloth or board to ⅛-inch thickness. Cut into rounds with floured 2¼-inch cutter.

Place on ungreased baking sheet. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees) 7 to 10 minutes until light golden brown. Makes about 3 dozen cookies.

Chocolate Butter Filling

2 tablespoons butter
½ cup sifted confectioners' sugar
1 square unsweetened chocolate, melted and cooled

Chocolate Frosting

1 tablespoon butter
½ cup sifted confectioners' sugar
1 egg yolk
1 square unsweetened chocolate, melted and cooled

Applesauce Parfait Offers Cool, Light Refreshment

Gay and bright to look at, and delectable to eat. . .that's the story of this refreshing summer dessert.

It's a dessert to offer at a bridge luncheon; to set out as a treat for the youngsters' supper; to please the family for dinner; or to pass as a refreshment at an afternoon or evening gathering.

You'll find it on the light side, cool and fruity, part rosy cinnamon apple sauce, part almond custard, topped with a froth of whipped egg white.

And so easy to make!

Simply open a can or jar of your favorite brand of applesauce. Color the applesauce rose red with red cinnamon candy. Then spoon the sauce into the glasses with alternate layers of the creamy almond custard.

If you wish, instead of making custard, use a vanilla pudding mix and flavor with almond extract. The parfait is delicious made that way, too, and a bit quicker.

Applesauce Parfait

2 cups canned applesauce
2 tablespoons cinnamon drop candies
¼ cup sugar
2 teaspoons cornstarch
¼ teaspoon salt
2 cups milk
2 egg yolks
¼ teaspoon almond extract
1 egg white

Combine applesauce and cinnamon drop candies; let stand in refrigerator several hours, or until candy drops have dissolved. Mix well.

Combine one-quarter cup sugar, cornstarch and salt in top of double boiler, gradually add milk. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly, until slightly thickened.

Beat egg yolks, gradually add hot milk mixture. Return to double boiler; cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and coats spoon. Cool. Add almond extract; chill.

Beat egg white stiff, gradually add remaining 2 tablespoons sugar, beating constantly. Use as garnish on parfaits topped by teaspoon of the applesauce. Yields six servings.

German Search Halted; Lad Found Under Bed

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — A two-day police search for 12-year-old Norbert Hoeliforter has been called off.

Shortly after the Frankfurt Radio broadcast an appeal last night for help in the search, Norbert's father found the boy under his bed.

"I didn't want to go to school," explained Norbert, "so I hid there. Then I fell asleep. When I woke up, I was too scored to come out."

Treat Youngsters to Danish Spinach

Danish Spinach

1 10 or 11-ounce package of frozen chopped spinach
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup milk
½ teaspoon salt
Pepper
½ teaspoon sugar
Nutmeg

Allow spinach to thaw on refrigerator shelf enough to break up easily. Stir butter and flour together in small bowl with a wooden spoon until completely blended.

Place spinach in heavy saucepan (about 1½ quarts); stir over moderate heat with long-handled fork until completely thawed and hot.

Add milk; when milk is very hot, add blended butter-flour, salt, pepper to taste, sugar and nutmeg; a little less than one-sixteenth teaspoon nutmeg will be right.

Stir constantly until sauce is thickened and bubbly; allow to bubble a few minutes to cook flour well. Makes four servings—a generous one half cupful for each portion.

Vegetables, Wheat Germ Provide Nutritional Bonus

How dull meals would be without vegetables. They accent the meal with bright color, and they complement main meat dishes with a variety of sharp, strong or mild flavors.

And in the same way, vegetables fill in the gaps and balance the meal nutritionally. They furnish minerals, salts, and A and C vitamins — nutrients which are usually deficient in foods that make up the bulk of daily diets.

Care should be taken to retain the important health building nutrients in vegetables. Vegetables to be boiled should be left unpeeled whenever possible. The shorter the cooking time, and the less liquid used, the better.

Vegetables make delicious, economical main dishes; but it must be remembered that they are usually low in protein and B vitamins. However, you can easily add good amounts of these essential nutrients, and have a better balanced meal, by using wheat germ.

Wheat germ is 33 per cent protein and nature's richest food source of Vitamin B1. Wheat germ can be tossed into cooked vegetables or salads like crumbs; used as stuffing in peppers, eggplant or squash. It makes a toasty, flavorful topping for a vegetable casserole.

This Curried Onion Pie is an epicurean dish, but very easy to make. Wheat germ in the crust means high food value, and onions baked in this manner retain their nutrients well and have unusually fine flavor.

CURRIED ONION CHEESE PIE

Crumb Crust

100 crackers, finely rolled (about 1 cup crumbs)
½ cup wheat germ
½ cup softened butter or margarine
½ teaspoon curry powder

Blend together cracker crumbs, wheat germ, softened butter or margarine and curry powder. Press into an even layer against bottom and sides of a 9-inch pie plate.

Filling

3 cups thinly sliced onions
¼ cup butter or margarine
1 cup milk, scalded
3 eggs, slightly beaten
1 teaspoon salt
¼ cup cold milk
¼ pound grated American cheese
¼ cup wheat germ

Fry onions in 3 tablespoons butter or margarine. Stir until lightly browned; cool. Spread over bottom of crumb crust. Slowly stir scalded milk into eggs. Add salt; add cold milk. Toss in half the grated cheese.

Stir and cook until cheese is melted. Pour over onions. Combine wheat germ and remaining cheese. Sprinkle over custard mixture; dot with remaining butter.

Bake in moderate oven (325) for 45 minutes. Serve at once. Makes six servings.

Serve Scallops as Snack Fare

SCALLOP SOUFFLE SNACKS — Serve sea scallops in snack form for an original food treat. After pre-cooking, the scallops are topped with a zesty mixture, then broiled. Serve at once for a hot hors d'oeuvre.

If you want to introduce the fresh tang of the deep sea into your entertaining, you can't get far off course if you serve those succulent shellfish of the cool Atlantic . . . sea scallops.

Father Neptune makes few offerings that so unmistakably carry the flavor of the sea.

* * *

The firm, white meat of the scallop is actually its muscle, and this is the only part of the mollusk that finds its way to market. The rest of the scallop is shucked overboard at sea.

Deep frying has always been the popular method of preparing scallops, but it's by no means the only method. You can bake 'em, broil 'em, oven-fry 'em . . . or you can feature them in a salad, a chowder or a kabob.

It comes straight from the port of New Bedford, Mass., as do most of the country's sea scallops.

Sea Scallop Souffle Snacks

1 pound sea scallops (about 12)
¼ cup mayonnaise
2 tablespoons drained pickle relish
1 tablespoon minced parsley
1½ teaspoon lemon juice
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
Few grains pepper
1 egg white

Cook sea scallops in about 1 cup water in covered saucepan, keeping water below boiling point, until just tender (about 10 minutes). Drain, cool, cut in halves.

Combine all remaining ingredients except egg white; mix well. Beat egg white stiff; fold into mayonnaise mixture. Place scallop halves on baking sheet or in shallow pan; top each with mayonnaise mixture.

When ready to serve, run under broiler with surface of food 3 inches below broiler heat. Broil about three minutes or until golden brown. Serve at once, as a hot hors d'oeuvre. Makes about 24.

Bran Cereal Adds Nut-Like Flavor to Candy Treats

Zippos

1 cup (6 ounces) semi-sweet chocolate, chopped or bits
2/3 cup ready-to-eat bran
¼ cup seedless raisins
½ cup chopped nutmeats
Few grains salt

Melt chocolate over hot but not boiling water. Add remaining ingredients, stirring until well-coated with chocolate. Drop by teaspoonfuls onto waxed paper; let harden. Yield: 14 candies, 1½ inches in diameter.

Bran Brittle

1 cup granulated sugar
½ cup light brown sugar
¼ cup light corn syrup
½ cup water
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
½ cup ready-to-eat bran
Dash salt

Combine sugars, corn syrup and water. Cook over low heat, stirring until sugars are dissolved. Continue cooking without stirring to 300 degrees F. (hard crack in cold water).

Remove from heat, add butter and salt, stirring only enough to mix well. Add all-bran and turn out at once onto a greased slab or greased pan. Smooth out with spatula.

After 30 seconds, take hold of edges of candy and, lifting slightly from slab, pull as thin as possible. Break into irregular pieces. Yield: Approximately 1 pound.

Tea Stays Fresh in Tight Container

Here's the secret for keping tea fresh — three simple steps which will help give you a sparkling, flavorful cup of tea every time.

* * *

Pick out a container with tight-fitting lid for storing tea — a caddy, cannister or glass jar will do. Tea's a vegetable, and, to kep it fresh, protect it against heat and air.

Season the caddy before using it. Put 2 teaspoons of tea, or break open 2 tea bags into the container. Shake it up and leave it for a few days.

The tea absorbs any moisture of foreign odors. Throw this tea out, the caddy's now seasoned.

* * *

Fill the seasoned caddy with the freshest tea you can buy — tea that has been protected on the grocer's shelf. The best protection for tea is a package seal-wrapped in aluminum foil.

Make Graham Crust

A graham cracker crust makes a fine base for your favorite cheesecake mixture. To make the crust roll 14 graham crackers very fine; you should have about 1 cup of crumbs. Then mix the crumbs with a quarter cup of butter or margarine (that you have melted) and 2 tablespoons of sugar. Pat the mixture evenly over the bottom of a 9-inch spring form pan and chill before putting in your cheese mixture and baking.

Meets Their Special Needs

New Senior Foods Line Designed for Older Folks

Entering an entirely new field which offers vast possibilities, H. J. Heinz Company has announced a line of geriatric products specially processed to meet the diet requirements of older people.

* * *

The products—representing an important "first" in the food industry—will be marketed as Senior Foods. High in protein, calcium and iron content and low in calories, the line is produced with no salt added.

First items in the geriatric line, produced after five years of intensive research, will be beef stew, lamb stew and chicken stew. Other products are expected to be added, together with a selection of desserts especially designed for taste and nutritional values.

In announcing Heinz' entry into the geriatric field, Frank Armour, vice president of the firm's U.S. operations, pointed out that the step is similar to the situation of the early 1930s when baby foods were first offered as a special service item.

OLDSTERS INCREASE

"The country's population of people over 60 years of age is steadily climbing and indications point to an even more dramatic gain in the years immediately ahead," he stated.

"Today, there are approximately 18½ million persons in the United States who are past 60, as compared to only eight million in 1920. By 1960, census estimates show that there will be 25½ million men and women over 60.

* * *

"Just as the introduction of baby foods met a great requirement 25 years ago, we feel that Senior Foods will offer older people an opportunity for a better diet, together with convenience in the preparation of tastier meals."

The Senior Food line will be produced in 8½-ounce individual portion tins, giving oldsters who live alone an opportunity to prepare a nutritious meal easily and at the same time permitting them a wider variety of foods for their diet.

Market tests of the new Senior Foods will be started shortly in Cincinnati where population studies show that there is a large percentage of the population in the 60 and over class. The second test market likely will be St. Petersburg, Fla. Following these tests, Heinz expects to begin national distribution of the new line.

VITAMINS VITAL

The absence of added salt makes the products especially valuable to persons suffering from hypertension, while the addition of vitamins provides important dietetic requirements for elderly persons' diet.

* * *

Previously, other dietetic foods have been produced in the geriatric field, but the introduction of the Heinz line is the first to offer reciped products containing high protein and mineral supplements that have been especially prepared as the major course for an older person's meal.

While it is impossible to estimate the value, Heinz and other food companies realize that large quantities of baby foods are now consumed by older people, as well as by persons on special diets.

The Senior Food line offers varaition in such diets, since the foods have been designed especi-

Try Variety in Sandwiches

Sandwiches made on a variety of enriched yeast-raised breads are ideal for informal summer meals. They're popular with young folks and oldsters alike. But it is difficult to judge appetites ahead and so often there may be a quantity left over. Don't despair because sandwiches can taste better the second time round trying them in any of the following ways:

Fish Or Meat Sandwiches

1. Put through a meat grinder. Bind with beaten egg; shape into balls. Fry in deep fat 370 degrees until crisp and golden brown. Large size makes a main dish—small size makes fine appetizers or soup accompaniments.

2. Dip fish or meat sandwiches in a thin batter and saute in shortening until golden brown.

Fish & Cheese Sandwiches

Line a buttered baking dish with cheese sandwiches. Cover with a layer of sliced tomatoes, then a layer of fish sandwiches. Sprinkle with buttered bread crumbs and grated Parmesan cheese. Bake at 350 degrees (moderate oven) until brown.

Sweet Sandwiches

Place jelly, jam, fruit or honey sandwiches in a buttered baking dish. Pour a little boiling milk over them and soak for a few minutes. Make a custard with a pint of milk and 2 eggs seasoned with salt, sugar and vanilla. Pour over sandwiches. Grate nutmeg over the top and bake at 325 degrees (slow oven) until set.

Crisp Celery Snacks Enhance Relish Trays

To add a little fillip try stuffing the celery with various kinds of cheese. For weight watchers a cottage cheese filling gives a lot of gustatory pleasure for very few calories.

No Special Skill Needed for Elegant Baked Alaska

You don't need an artist's touch to prepare an elegant Baked Alaska. In fact, no special skill is needed — thanks to prepared freezing mix, packaged cake mix, and your home freezer.

Though it looks like a very special party refreshments, Baked Alaska is so easy to put together you'll want to serve it at those just-for-the family meals as well as when you entertain. Here's the easy recipe:

Baked Alaska

1 cup heavy cream
1 cup milk
1 4-ounce package flavored freezing mix*
Combine cream and milk in a deep bowl. Whip until a deep layer of foam forms. Takes one or two minutes. Add contents of package of freezing mix. Whip one more minute to dissolve. Pour into freezing tray. Freeze until very firm.

While ice cream freezes, make your favorite white cake. Bake in a greased, well-floured 9x13 pan. Turn out on wire rack. When cool, trim off crisp edges. Cut two pieces the same size as the freezer tray of ice cream. Put 1 one layer on wooden board, oven-proof platter or metal tray.

When ice cream is frozen firm, make meringue. Whip 4 egg whites until foamy. Gradually add one-half cup sugar, beating continually until meringue is stiff.

Unmold ice cream onto layer of cake. Top with second cake layer. Cover cake and ice cream completely with meringue. Brown quicly in a hot oven (450 degrees) for about five minutes.

Serve Baked Alaska at once, or return to freezer until serving time. Serves 10-12.

Sardines, Tomatoes Are Good Partners

Cool, cool, ripe, red tomatoes stuffed with cold, succulent, silver sardines from Maine! A refreshing sight to the eyes, a treat to the palate . . . and a rest for the kitchen-weary homemaker.

Here's a nourishing lunch, high in protein, rich in vitamins and ever so easy to prepare.

Sardine Tomato Surprise

2 cans Maine sardines (3¼ or 4 ounces), drained
1 teaspoon lemon juice
4 medium size tomatoes
½ teaspoon prepared mustard
3 level tablespoons mayonnaise
Salt and pepper to taste
½ cup chopped celery
1 tablespoon chopped stuffed olives
1 chopped hard-cooked egg

Cut tops off tomatoes, scoop out pulp. Break up six sardines. Combine with lemon juice, mustard, mayonnaise, celery, olives, egg and salt and pepper to taste.

Fill tomatoes. Chill. Serve on chicory or lettuce. Garnish with remaining whole sardines. Makes four servings.

Chilly Applesauce Cream Goes With Icebox Cookies

Frozen Applesauce Cream. Doesn't the name revive you, especially when you see that it's a 1-2-3-4 recipe that freezes obligingly while your back is turned.

For that porch party, or backyard picnic, or dessert bridge, why not serve Applesauce Refrigerator Cookies and the fruitful sherbet with the cool name? No peeling, no cooking of apples.

Frozen Applesauce Cream

1 cup strained applesauce
1 cup light cream or undiluted evaporated milk
¼ cup sugar
1½ cup strained orange juice

Combine ingredients, stirring until sugar has dissolved. Pour into a freezing tray and freeze at the coldest refrigerator temperature until firm.

Turn into chilled bowl and beat until smooth. Return to tray and freeze. Serves four.

Applesauce Refrigerator Cookies

1 egg
1 cup sugar
2¼ cups sifted flour
½ teaspoon soda
¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon ground cloves
½ cup finely chopped nuts (optional)
½ cup strained or junior applesauce

Cream together fat and sugar. Add egg and beat mixture until light. Sift together flour, soda, salt, cinnamon, cloves. Add nuts. Add to creamed mixture alternately with the applesauce. Mix well.

Form into roll and wrap with waxed paper. Chill overnight in the refrigerator. Slice thinly.

Bake on a lightly greased cookie sheet in moderately hot oven, 375 degrees, 10 to 15 minutes or until lightly browned. Remove from cookie sheet and cool on racks.

Makes about 4 dozen small cookies.

In a 'Pickle'? -- Try Canning Varied Types

If you're one of millions of home garden experts, by now you are probably up to your ears in cucumbers and tomatoes. If that's the "pickle" you are in, here are some ideas that should appeal to you.

Bread and Butter Pickles

25 large cucumbers
12 onions (white-medium)
¼ cup salt
1 pint vinegar
2 cups sugar
2 tablespoons mustard seed (white)
2 tablespoons ginger
2 tablespoons turmeric powder

Soak unpeeled cucumbers in water overnight. Slice cucumbers and onions and place in pan with the salt (no water). Let stand one hour, then rinse off salt, add vinegar, sugar, mustard seed, ginger and turmeric powder. Boil all ingredients until peel turns yellow (about 40 minutes). Pack pickles solid in sterilized jars. Seal and allow to stand 10 days before using.

Ice Water Pickles

1 quart cucumbers
½ teaspoon curry powder
3 sliced onions
1 cup vinegar
1 tablespoon salt
1 teaspoon celery seed or
¼ cup diced celery
1 cup sugar

Soak cucumbers, sliced lengthwise, in ice water for two hours. Remove from the ice water. Pack in jars with sliced onions, mustard seed and celery. Heat vinegar to which salt and sugar have been added. When boiling pour over cucumber and onions.

Spanish Pickle

4 chopped green tomatoes
3 cups chopped onion
1 cup chopped sweet green pepper
1 cup chopped celery or
2 tablespoons celery seed
4 cups ripe tomatoes
¼ teaspoon each cloves, mace and allspice
1 quart white vinegar
1½ cup brown sugar

Place the green tomatoes, onions and peppers in salt for six to eight hours. Rinse and drain well, add celery, ripe tomatoes, and seasoning tied in cloth. Cook about an hour. Pack and seal while hot.

Mixed Pickle

1 quart small cucumbers
1 pint pickling onions
1 pint small carrots
1 pod hot red pepper
2 sweet red peppers
1 pint ½ inch pieces celery
1 small head cauliflower
4 tablespoons mustard seed
2 tablespoons celery seed
1½ cups sugar
3 cups vinegar
Spices if desired

Wash all vegetables. Peel onions, scrape carrots, chop peppers and divide cauliflower into small pieces. Cover with cold brine (1 cup salt to 1 gallon water) and let stand overnight. Drain. Add seed, spices and sugar to vinegar. Bring to boil. Add vegetables and simmer until hot through. Pack into hot jars and seal.

* * *

In making pickles, the strength of vinegar and spices will vary. The successful pickle maker uses vinegar of known strength and tests by taste as she goes along. The flavor of pickles may be changed by varying the kind and amount of seasoning and by adding a little more or a little less sugar or vinegar. Keep in mind that sour pickles are characterized by the flavor of vinegar, and sweet pickles will vary in their sweetness depending your desire to add more or less sugar.

Quick Summer Dessert

A delicious, and economical way to a healthful summer dessert, is to beat up a package of coconut cream instant pudding—two cups of milk called for—and serve with fresh fruit in season. It's yummy with juicy yellow peaches, for example.

SALAD STUFFED PEPPERS — Ever hear of hot chicken salad as a stuffing for peppers? Try it sometime when you have a cup of diced chicken to use up. Rice and whole kernel corn add interest and color to the stuffing.

Chicken Salad in Peppers Offers Flavor Contrasts

Use this delicious hot chicken salad recipe—and stretch 1 cup of chicken to feed six! Cooking time is short—only 10 to 12 minutes so you save on fuel, too!

Yellow corn and soy sauce are the flavor secrets. The serving trick is to stuff the salad into green peppers, and while the peppers cook, the salad becomes piping hot.

Hot Chicken Salad in Green Peppers

1½ cups water
1 teaspoon salt
⅔ cup uncooked white rice
1 cup diced cooked chicken
1 whole canned pimiento, diced
½ cup cooked whole kernel yellow corn
¼ teaspoon black pepper
2 tablespoons soy sauce
2 tablespoons mayonnaise
6 medium-sized green peppers

Put the water, salt and rice in a 2-quart saucepan. Bring to a vigorous boil. Turn the heat as low as possible. Cover saucepan with a lid and leave over this low heat 14 minutes. Remove saucepan from the heat but leave the lid on 10 minutes.

Add the chicken, pimiento, corn, black pepper, soy sauce and mayonnaise to the rice. Mix well. Cut out the tops of the peppers at stem end. Scoop out the seeds and membranes. Stuff firmly with the chicken salad mixture.

Place stuffed peppers in a large deep skillet. Add enough water to come part way up the sides of the peppers. Water should not come over the sides of the peppers into the filling.

Salt the water. Cover skillet with a lid and cook about 10 to 12 minutes until the peppers are tender. Water should not boil too vigorously as it is likely to boil over the sides of the peppers.

A saucepan or a soup kettle can be substituted for skillet if peppers are too tall for the skillet when lid is on.

Popular Salads Easily Varied

The casual and easy-going tossed green salad, so popular on the west coast and spreading in popularity throughout the nation, has many possibilities for variation.

The markets are full of crisp, bright greens . . . lettuce, endive, romaine, watercress, spinach . . . all combining so well with crunchy, nutrition-packed fresh vegetables for your salads.

Radishes, too, are colorful, either thinly sliced or cut into roses or accordions for a garnish. Finely grated onion is excellent, but some find the small green onions, tops and all, even better.

For extra flavor, add bright green peppers, sprigs of parsley, tender shredded cabbage or slices of cucumber.

Some like to nestle a few orange or pineapple chunks, or perhaps some slices of buttery-rich avocado, in among the greens . . . special cheeses, crisp crumbled bacon, sardines, olives and nuts are often favorites to be added, too.

Just let your imagination go to work and, when the masterpiece is completed, toss lightly with your favorite dressing and serve immediately. You may have your own special dressing, which varies from oil and vinegar, tomato soup or catsup, sweet onion, to one with sour cream.

However, here's one of our favorites we thought you might like to add to your recipe files . . . lends real zest and sparkle to your garden fresh salads.

Italian French Dressing

1 cup salad oil
¼ cup red wine vinegar
2 tablespoons lemon juice
¼ cup chopped green onions
¼ cup parsley
¼ cup Bleu cheese
6 finely cut anchovy fillets
½ teaspoon coarse black pepper
½ teaspoon salt
Dash garlic powder

Combine all ingredients and mix well. Makes 1¼ cups dressing. (If anchovies are omitted, add a bit more salt.)

Roll Meat Loaf Around Filling of Apples, Onion

Once in a while a dish comes along that tastes so good you wonder why it was never dreamed up before. This meat loaf is such a tasty dish.

Its newness is in its stuffing made of canned sliced apples—the very canned apple slices you buy for pie. But for this dish, the apple slices are drained, chopped, mixed with sauteed onions and bread crumbs, seasoned with sage and sugar, then spread in a layer over the meat and the whole rolled up jelly-roll fashion and baked.

Pinwheel Meat Loaf

2 pounds ground beef
2 teaspoons salt
Few grains pepper
1 cup sliced onion
2½ cups (1 can) sliced apples
¼ cup shortening
½ cup dry bread crumbs
2 teaspoons sage

Combine beef, salt and pepper. Roll out to one-fourth inch thickness between sheets of waxed paper. Remove top paper. Saute onion in shortening until light brown. Drain apples and chop.

Combine apples, onion, bread crumbs, sage and sugar. Spread on meat; rool jelly-rolf fashion Place n shallow pan.

Pudding Stars Coconut Cream

You'll discover this dessert has the wonderful flavor of real, homemade coconut cream pie. With this recipe you can enjoy the same old-fashioned goodness—without having to struggle with a pie crust.

Coconut Cream Meringue Pudding

3 cups milk
⅓ cup uncooked white rice
¾ cup beet or cane sugar
2 eggs, separated
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup moist shredded coconut

Put the milk and rice in a 2-quart saucepan. Stir well. Put over a medium heat. When bubbles appear around the edges of the saucepan, stir well. Turn the heat as low as possible.

Cover with a lid and leave over this low heat 45 to 50 minutes or until most of the milk cooks into the rice. Stir several times during the cooking.

Remove saucepan from heat. Stir in the sugar. Beat the egg yolks well. Stir some of the hot mixture into the yolks. Pour back into the saucepan. Stir in the vanilla and the coconut.

Beat the egg whites until stiff. Pour the hot pudding into the egg whites and mix together.

Serve at once or cover in the refrigerator until time to serve. If pudding becomes thicker than desired, stir in a small amount of milk or cream. This recipe makes 12 servings.

Zippy Spareribs Are Baked With Barbecue Sauce

If you want a delicious treat for your family and guests, try these spareribs permeated with a tangy barbecue sauce. Also, you will find this flavorful sauce can be used to spice many other meat dishes in your home.

Barbecue Sauce

1 onion, chopped
2 tablespoons oil
2 tablespoons vinegar
2 tablespoons brown sugar
¼ cup lemon juice
1 cup tomato catsup
3 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
½ teaspoon prepared mustard
½ cup water
½ cup chopped parsley
Salt and tabasco sauce (to taste)

Brown onions in fat. Add remaining ingredients. Simmer for 30 minutes.

Spareribs

4 pounds spareribs
2 onions, sliced
Salt and pepper (to taste)
Barbecue sauce

Place spareribs in roaster and add onions. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Pour sauce over spareribs and bake, covered, in 350-degree oven for 1½ hours or until tender. Cook 20 minutes more uncovered.

Novelty Egg Dish Ideal for Luncheon

Baked Eggs in Toast Cups is a novelty-type luncheon dish, perfect to serve when entertaining friends. It's light and pretty, delicious and inexpensive. So it has all the desired attributes.

Complete the menu with a green salad, and serve ice cream and cookies with tea for dessert.

Baked Eggs in Toast Cups

6 slices soft bread
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
6 eggs
Salt and pepper
1 cup oven-toasted rice cereal
1 tablespoon melted butter or margarine
3 tablespoons grated cheese

Remove crust from bread; spread lightly with butter. Press into buttered custard cups. Break an egg into each bread cup. Sprinkle lightly with salt and pepper.

Bake in moderately hot oven (400 degrees) about 20 minutes or until eggs are set. Yield: Six servings.

Mint Candy Tops Pudding

If you can't get your youngster to drink enough milk or if you yourself fail to get the recommended daily minimum, try enriching your recipes with instant nonfat dry milk.

Choc-Mint pudding features three-fourths cup (one envelope of instant nonfat dry milk powder with a package of instant chocolate pudding and finely crushed hard peppermint candy. This makes four servings.

The amount of instant nonfat dry milk used is the equivalent of 1 quart of nonfat milk.

Choc-Mint Pudding

1 (4-ounce) package instant chocolate pudding
¾ cup (1 envelope) instant nonfat dry milk powder
1¾ cup cold water
½ cup finely crushed hard peppermint candy

Combine pudding mix and instant nonfat dry milk powder in mixing bowl; add water. Beat with rotary beater or electric mixer until smooth, about one minute. Fold in candy.

Pour into sherbet glasses. Chill. Makes four servings.

Coconut Crisp

¾ cup (1 envelope) instant nonfat dry milk powder
1 (4-ounce) package coconut-flavored instant pudding
2 cups water
1 cup (15 crackers) graham cracker crumbs
¼ cup brown sugar, firmly packed
½ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
2 tablespoons butter, melted

Combine instant nonfat dry milk powder and instant pudding. Add water. Beat with rotary beater until blended, about one minute. Chill. Combine crumbs, brown sugar and spices. Add butter; stir until well blended.

Press half of the crumb mixture firmly over bottom of an 8x8x2-inch square pan. Spoon pudding mixture over crumbs. Top with remaining crumb mixture. Chill about two hours. Makes eight servings.

Strained Fruit Makes Delicious Party Desserts

From the strained baby food shelf come colorful fruits in variety that make simple party desserts.

Strained fruit dessert gives its own special flavor to this icebox roll and chiffon pie, which were encored by willing taste-testers.

Both treats call for heavy cream, so they're not for the highchair set.

Fruit Dessert Icebox Roll

1 cup heavy cream
¼ cup sugar
1 cup strained fruit dessert
½ teaspoon orange extract (optional)
24 thin chocolate wafers

Beat cream until stiff. Fold in sugar, fruit dessert and orange extract. Spread cream mixture on chocolate wafers and stack together to make a long roll.

Spread remaining cream mixture on outside of roll. Freeze or thoroughly chill for several hours.

Fruit Dessert Chiffon Pie

1 package lemon-flavored gelatin
1½ cups hot water
1 cup strained fruit dessert
½ cup heavy cream, whipped until thick
1 baked 9 or 10-inch pie shell

Dissolve lemon-flavored gelatin in hot water. Chill until thick but not set. Beat until light and fairly thick.

Fold in fruit dessert and whipped cream. Partially chill. Pour into baked pie shell and chill until firm. Serves six-eight.

Bake Eggs in Nest of Ham, Peas, Rice

The distinctive spicy flavor of deviled ham adds real zest to this main dish—and green peas add a spark of color behind the sunny-side-up eggs. Here's a main dish to catch the eye and please the tastes of the whole family!

Egg Nests o'Deviled Ham

2 cups water
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup uncooked white rice
1 cup cooked green peas
1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
1 can (4½ oz.) deviled ham
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
½ cup water
6 eggs

Put the water, salt and rice in a 2-quart saucepan and bring to a vigorous boil. Turn the heat as low as possible. Cover and leave over this low heat for 14 minutes. Turn off the heat but leave the lid on for 10 minutes.

Add the peas, onions, deviled ham, salt, pepper and water to the rice. Mix well. Spread mixture evenly over a greased shallow baking dish about 8x12. Make six depressions in the rice mixture and break an egg into each.

Bake in a preheated 350 degree oven for 25 minutes or until the eggs are set. Cut into squares around the eggs and serve hot. This recipe makes six servings.

Quick Breads Add Variety to School Child's Lunch

By JANET ODELL

Oakland county school bells are about to ring, and all the belles and beaus will be trudging off to answer their call. That means mothers must provide lunches at scheduled times each day, whether the children eat at home or at school.

One of the easiest ways to get variety into children's lunches is to serve different kinds of bread. Quick breads bring a welcome change into their diet of sandwiches. It's nice, too, to have some of these breads on hand for unexpected guests or for after-school snacks.

Even inexperienced cooks should have no trouble making quick breads. The only trick is to mix lightly. Most recipes direct you to "mix only until dry ingredients are moistened." Do just that, mixing only until there is no dry flour to be seen. Overmixing produces tunnels and is inclined to make a loaf tough.

Oatmeal is a good ingredient for quick breads. It gives a good texture to the loaf and adds some vitamin B. Although this recipe calls for walnuts, you may substitute other nuts, or even use raisins or dates in their place.

Oatmeal Nut Bread

1¾ cups sifted flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
¾ cup uncooked rolled oats (quick or old fashioned)
1 cup coarsely broken walnut meats
1 egg
1 cup milk
¾ cup sugar

Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt; stir in rolled oats and walnuts. Beat egg enough to combine yolk and white; beat in milk and sugar to combine. Add flour mixture; mix only until dry ingredients are moistened evenly. Let stand 10 minutes.

Turn into loaf pan (1 pound size) after lining the bottom of the pan with paper and greasing the paper. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven 60 to 70 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean.

Turn out of pan onto cooling rack. When bread is cold, store in tightly covered container overnight or one day before slicing.

Another moist loaf is made with dried prunes and apricots. The apricots give it a nice touch of color. If you wish to double the recipe, you can freeze one loaf.

Prune and Apricot Bread

3 tablespoons shortening
¾ cup sugar
2 eggs, slightly beaten
½ cup walnuts, coarsely chopped
½ cup dried apricots, cut in small pieces
½ cup pitted prunes, cut in small pieces
2½ cups sifted flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup liquefied instant nonfat dry milk

Cream shortening. Gradually add sugar; beat until light and fluffy. Add eggs and mix thoroughly. Stir in nuts, apricots and prunes. Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Add alternately with liquefied instant nonfat dry milk, beginning and ending with flour mixture.

Pour mixture into loaf (9x5x3-inch) pan that has been greased, lined with waxed paper and greased again. Arrange batter higher at pan corners — lower through middle of batter. Let stand for 20 minutes to mellow. Bake in a slow oven (325 degrees) 55 minutes; increase temperature to 400 degrees and bake 5 minutes longer or until top of loaf is golden brown. Makes one loaf.

Have you ever heard of putting yams into bread? Of course, mashed potatoes in yeast bread are commonn. Try this recipe for Yam Marmalade Bread, a bread with a delicious mellow flavor and an even texture. Serve with cottage cheese.

Yam Marmalade Bread

½ cup shortening
¼ cup firmly packed brown sugar
2 eggs, well beaten
1 No. 2 can yams, drained or mashed or 1¼ cups mashed, cooked fresh yams
2 tablespoons milk
1 teaspoon lemon juice
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup chopped nuts
¼ cup orange marmalade
3 unpeeled orange slices

In a bowl, cream shortening; add sugar and beat until light and fluffy. Add eggs, yams, milk and lemon juice; beat well. Sift together flour, baking powder and salt; add sifted dry ingredients and nut meats to yam mixture and mix only until ingredients are combined.

Spread orange marmalade evenly over the bottom of a greased 9x5x3-inch loaf pan. Arrange orange slices in marmalade. Turn yam batter into loaf pan and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 1 hour and 30 minutes. Remove from oven and turn out of pan; cool before slicing. Makes one loaf.

For the last recipe I'm giving you the family recipe for Brown Bread. I have an idea I have printed it before, but no matter. It is the only Brown Bread recipe I have ever seen that calls for baking rather than steaming.

Brown Bread

½ cup molasses
½ cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon soda in a little hot water, then fill cup with cold water
¼ cup shortening
½ cup cold water
2 cups graham flour
1 cup sifted all-purpose flour (You may substitute 3 cups of whole wheat flour for these two kinds.)

Mix together in order given. Pour into greased loaf pans and bake slowly (325 degrees) for one hour.

Try Tasty Milk Shake

For one serving combine ½ cup cold milk with ½ cup chocolate ice cream in a tall glass — or your cocktail shaker—then add, and stir in, 2 to 3 heaping teaspoons instant cocoa mix to blend. Rich, luscious and fresh-made!

Uncle Sam to Quiz Wives on Food-Buying Customs

WASHINGTON (INS) — About 6,000 housewives in 42 states will be asked during the next few months to give Uncle Sam a voluntary report on how they spend their food dollars.

The huge project is being undertaken between the first of April and the end of June by National Analysts, Inc., a private marketing research firm, under contract with the Agriculture Department.

The idea is to get a cross-section of American eating habits. It is the first study of its kind since 1942 to include both city and rural households.

Arrangements are to be made with selected families in each survey area to give information about the kinds and quantities of food they are using, about family size, income, and other factors that affect their choice of foods.

The purpose is to supply facts needed by nutritionists, home economists and marketing specialists.

One of the prime goals of the study is to get data which will serve as the basis for educational programs to improve the use of food from the human nutrition standpoint.

It is also expected to pinpoint whether large groups of families are eating too little of certain important foods.

Officials pointed out that success of the study depends entirely on the cooperation of families who have been selected for interviews by a scientific sampling method.

They particularly stressed that all of the information obtained is to be kept strictly confidential so far as individual families are concerned. No record will be made of the names of persons taking part.

The facts from many households will be combined to provide a picture of food use in both city and rural homes, including some not on farms, in several different regions and in the U.S. as a whole.

Some of the larger cities to be surveyed include Birmingham, Ala., Los Angeles, San Francisco, Denver, Savannah, Chicago, Fort Wayne, Des Moines, Baltimore, Boston, Detroit, St. Louis, Kansas City, Jersey City, New York, Cleveland, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Memphis, Galveston, Dallas, Richmond and Seattle.

Notably missing from the list are Washington, D.C., and New Orleans, despite the latter's far-flung reputation for good eating.

MINCEMEAT PEACH SALAD — Mincemeat and peaches combine to make a fruit salad that's tops in flavor interest. Dessert salads are increasingly popular for both luncheons and dinners. Serve with French or Honey Fruit Dressing and garnish with sugared grapes and kumquats.

Mincemeat Peach Salad Boasts Plenty of Appeal

Here's an appetite-teasing treat for a late summer menu: Fruit salad spiked with mincemeat for added flavor interest!

* * *

Dessert salads are a happy ending for any summer meal. With sandwiches and a beverage they are a perfect luncheon. And they turn even a simple main-course dinner into a treat for family or guests. Mincemeat gives an added zest to many fruit salad combinations.

Whatever fruits you choose, start off with well-washed, well-crisped greens — lettuce, escarole, endive, chicory, one or several of them together. Arrange the fruit, which should be cold but not sufficiently chilled to blunt flavor, on the greens at the last minute.

Have the mincemeat ready at room temperature and add it to the fruit so that it is decorative

Mincemeat Peach Salad

Ripe peaches, peeled and halved
1 8-ounce condensed package mincemeat
1½ cups water
Salad greens

Break condensed mincemeat into small pieces. Add water and stir until all lumps are thoroughly broken up. Bring to brisk boil and cook until almost dry, about two minutes. Cool.

Arrange peach halves on greens. Fill peach halves with mincemeat. Garnish with cherries, sugared grapes, banana slices, kumquats or halves of orange sections.

Honey Fruit Dressing

1-3 cup oil
3 tablespoons lemon juice
½ teaspoon salt
1-3 cup honey

Place all ingredients in a jar. Shake well before using.

Cranberry Sparks Toll House Cocktail

At the famous Toll House in Whitman, Mass. (one of the nation's best dining inns), "Toll House Cocktail" is a favorite. It's made with cranberry juice cocktail and here is the recipe . . .

1 cup cranberry juice
¼ cup lemon juice
¼ cup orange juice
½ cup syrup from spiced peaches, spiced watermelon rind, or sweet pickled or spiced fruit
1 tablespoon gum (if desired)

Chill thoroughly. Add sugar if necessary. Serves three to four depending on size of glass. (May also be served away from table as a hot-weather drink.)

Add Celery to Salads

Most salads taste better with a little celery chopped into them. Stews, soups and casserole dishes also benefit by the addition of celery.

Beehive Sundae Is a Real Honey

Often it is the simplest dessert that makes the biggest hit. What counts is the homemaker's ingenuity in giving a new spark to an old favorite.

* * *

For instance, it is a certainty that you can serve this simple dessert tonight without stepping outside your kitchen door to do any extra shopping. Yet, would you have thought of this idea without a hint?

Serve a honey sundae shaped like a beehive with chocolate tidbits inserted to look like bees.

This is simplicity at its best. It takes no long preparation to serve this dessert. You might even remember the idea in the middle of the main course, and still serve the honey beehive sundae that evening.

Your freezer undoubtedly holds the ice cream, and honey is on the kitchen shelf probably right near the chocolate tidbits.

* * *

Honey and ice cream are such good companions that once you have served them together you will do it often. The chocolate tidbits add that something new that proves you are a homemaker with culinary flair.

Try the beehive sundae tonight!

Beehive Sundae

For each sundae, pour honey over a high mound of vanilla ice cream. Press in semi-sweet chocolate pieces for "bees."

Extra-Special Salads

So many good things to add to a salad of tossed greens to make it extra special! Here are some of them: Chopped green onions; crumbled crisply cooked bacon; crumbled blue cheese; crisp croutons browned in garlic-flavored olive oil; finely cut anchovy fillets; sliced pimento-stuffed green olives.

Bake Ham and Corn

Cover a slice of browned tender ham with a can of cream-style corn and bake in a moderate oven for about three-quarters of an hour. A little grated onion or green pepper, or both, may be added to the corn if desired.

Blend Cheese and Blueberries

The ingredients are simple: Sugar, lemon, cream cheese, cultivated blueberries. The spread you come up with is smooth, cool to the tongue as the purest jazz to the ear.

Try it with alternate breads, as pictured here in tea-type sandwiches. You can make man-size sandwiches, too, and keep 'em in the refrigerator for those who raid.

Blueberry Cheese Spread

1 tablespoon sugar
½ teaspoon lemon juice
¼ pound softened cream cheese
1 cup cultivated blueberries, rinsed

Blend sugar and lemon juice into cream cheese. Beat in blueberries. Chill. Makes 1½ cups cheese spread.

Use for sandwiches with plain or date-nut bread.

BLUEBERRY CHEESE SPREAD — The newest idea in cream cheese spreads is one containing blueberries. Lemon juice gives it an added tang. This is an excellent spread for nut bread or just plain white bread.

Doughnuts and Milk Are Always Favorites

You'll welcome a refreshing snack this busy month while you are filling your freezer and canned fruit shelves with Fall's luscious fruit bargains, and getting the children ready for school.

Our suggestion is one the whole family will enjoy—big glasses of milk, served with cook book quality packaged doughnuts from your grocer's ready-to-eat cake department.

Serve them as is from the package, or make them into a glamour snack by splitting them crosswise, and putting them together again with banana slices. Banana slices can be dipped in a lemon juice solution to keep them from darkening.

To make this simple refreshment idea suitable for company, let the banana slices show between the doughnut halves, and garnish tsem with slices of maraschino cherry.

Satisfy Hearty Appetites With Barbecued Chicken

Outdoor Barbecued Chicken

To barbecue chicken on a grill over charcoal, brush two 2½-pound broiler-fryers, cut in half, liberally with melted shortening. Sprinkle with salt and pepper.

To keep birds flat during grilling, break the hip, knee, and wing joints. When coals are glowing, arrange chickens, with skin sides up, on the grill.

Grill slowly about 45 minutes, or until tender, turning often and brushing with barbecue basting sauce. Makes four servings.

To barbecue chickens in range broiler, prepare broiler-fryers as for Outdoor Barbecued Chicken, then arrange on preheated broiler rack. Broiler can be covered with aluminum foil to catch drippings.

Broil slowly 45 minutes, or until tender, turning often and brushing with barbecue basting sauce.

Barbecue Basting Sauce

(For chicken, lamb, chops, etc.)

½ cup shortening
1½ cups tomato juice
¼ cup catchup
1¾ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon dry mustard
1-16 teaspoon cayenne
1½ tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
1 bay leaf
¼ cup vinegar
1 tablespoon brown sugar
3 cloves garlic, very finely chopped

Team Up Corn and Herb Sauce

Corn on the cob is one of the nicest things about late summer. Cook it outside over glowing hot coals and here indeed is corn on the cob at its very best.

* * *

Whether you like your corn cooked in or out of the husks, it's important to provide lots of good flavorful sauce — sauce for dunking the corn after it's cooked in the husk, and sauce for basting the corn that's grilled without the husk.

And when there's not enough time for making a good barbecue sauce, provide lots of golden good margarine, salt and pepper.

Barbecue Herb Sauce

½ cup margarine
2 teaspoons lemon juice
1 tablespoon finely chopped parsley
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon cayenne pepper

Cream margarine thoroughly. Add and blend until smooth the remaining ingredients.

To roast corn with husks on: Without removing husks completely, carefully peel the husks back and remove the silk. Spread each ear with margarine and sprinkle with seasoning as desired, or desired, or spread with herb sauce (margarine or sauce, use about 1 tablespoon for each ear of corn).

Put husks back in place over corn. Wrap each ear tightly in aluminum foil. Grill about 15 to 20 minutes. Remove husks and serve immediately.

To grill corn: Remove husks and silks. Brush corn with margarine or herb sauce and grill over hot coals, turning frequently, about six to eight minutes.

CORN ON THE COB — There's still plenty of time to have an outdoor corn roast. In fact, cooler weather makes all cooking outside more pleasant. Brush the corn with Barbecue Herb Sauce before roasting or grilling.

Tropical Salad Has Flavor and Color

Tropical Salad

4 slices of pineapple, drained
1 banana, sliced
4 Maraschino cherries, quartered
1 (3-ounce) package of soft cream cheese
½ cup of mayonnaise
2 tablespoons of pineapple syrup
¼ cup of chopped nuts

Mix cream cheese, mayonnaise and pineapple syrup together until smooth. Fold in banana slices, cherries and nuts.

Delicious Oatmeal Muffins Prepared With Buttermilk

Looking back through American cookbooks published during the early part of the century, we find only a few muffin recipes that contain rolled oats—and these all call for the cooked oatmeal. Nowadays most oatmeal muffin recipes like this one, call for uncooked rolled oats.

Muffins should, of course, always be served hot. But if you want to make these oatmeal muffins ahead of time, or there are any left over, you can reheat them.

One way is to put them on a rack in a shallow pan in a hot (425 degrees) oven for about 10 minutes.

One note about the mixing technique for these oatmeal muffins. Some cooks like to beat the egg that goes into a batch of muffins until it is ivory-colored and about as thick as mayonnaise because this method they believe produces a fluffy texture.

We tried beating the egg to full volume for one batch of these oatmeal muffins; for another batch we beat the egg only slightly. Both methods produced muffins much the same in texture.

Oatmeal Buttermilk Muffins

1 cup sifted flour
2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder
½ teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup firmly packed dark brown sugar
¼ cup butter or margarine
1 cup uncooked quick rolled oats
1 egg
¾ cup buttermilk

Sift together the flour, baking powder, baking soda and salt into a medium-sized mixing bowl. Stir in the brown sugar.

Cut in the butter with a pastry blender until no particles of fat can be seen; rub the mixture between the palms of your hands, if you like, to hasten this process. Stir in rolled oats thoroughly.

Beat the egg enough to combine yolk and white; beat in buttermilk enough to combine. Add egg-buttermilk to rolled oats mixture; stir just until dry ingredients are moistened.

Fill greased muffin cups each about three-fourths full. Bake in a hot (425 degrees) oven until cake tester inserted in the center of a muffin comes out clean. Remove muffins from cups at once and serve piping hot.

If muffin pans whose cups each hold one-third cup are used, this recipe will make eight or nine muffins and will need to be baked about 18 minutes.

Salad Requires Little Cooking

Smart homemakers are taking the "simmer" out of late summer with a whole bag of slick tricks designed to keep them in the kitchen as little as possible this season.

One of the best is to plan a meal that can be prepared all in one dish, thus cutting both cooking and cleanup time.

The whole family will enjoy a potato salad which requires very little cooking (only the potatoes and hard-cooked eggs) and can be prepared many hours in advance during the cool of the day.

Potato Salad

6 cups cubed cooked potatoes*
1 cup sliced celery
½ cup chopped green pepper
¼ cup chopped pimiento
¼ cup minced onion
1 cup mayonnaise
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
½ pound frankfurters, sliced
1 cup sliced stuffed olives
4 hard cooked eggs

Combine potatoes, celery, green pepper, pimiento and onion. Mix mayonnaise with mustard and add to potato mixture. Mix thoroughly. Cover and chill several hours.

Add olives, part of the frankfurters and three of the eggs which have been diced. Mix carefully.

Home Magic Glorifies Store Cake

Delicious, Chocolate Angel-ettes made from a store-bought angel cake, Chocolate Stack Cake made from grocery silver cake, and a tray of custom-decorated cookies made magic with semi-sweet chocolate morsels are cues to clever ways to solve the picnic dessert problem.

* * *

What's the marvel of the millions who visit our shores from foreign lands? It's our supermarket with their ready-prepared foods from French fries to fine cakes.

But do we make the most of these good, hour-saving foods? The fact is, you save so much time buying a ready-baked cake that you can afford a few moments to give it a strictly-from-Mom's-kitchen look.

This is one of the smartest of the modern cook's secrets: To buy ready-made but to personalize just a little with one's own work and fancy.

* * *

A good, plain angel cake from the store is transformed into wonderful tea or dessert cakes by dipping cubes of it in a quick semi-sweet chocolate frosting and rolling the chocolate-coated cubes in chopped nuts and coconut. So good, it isn't worth baking the cake yourself.

CAKE TRANSFORMED

That old familiar of the grocery store, silver cake with the white frosting, finds itself named Chocolate Stack Cake when a homemade filling is put between layers cut in your kitchen.

The filling is as easy as blending semi-sweet chocolate morsels and evaporated milk over heat. Fun for a party. Fun for a picnic.

And they won't guess your stack cake was baked by somebody else but glamorized by you.

Chocolate Angel-Ettes

1 8-ounce bought angel food cake
1 package (1 cup) semi-sweet chocolate morsels
1 tablespoon shortening
1 cup sifted confectioners' sugar
⅓ cup evaporated milk
1 cup chopped nuts
1 cup shredded coconut

Cut angel food cake into three-fourths inch cubes, (there should be 3 cups).

Melt semi-sweet chocolate morsels and shortening over hot, not boiling water. stir in sifted confectioners' sugar and evaporated milk; beat until smooth; keep over hot water.

Dip cubes with fork into chocolate mixture. Roll half the cubes in chopped nuts and half in coconut. Yield: Approximately 42 nuggets.

Quick Chocolate Stack Cake

1 8-ounce bought silver cake
½ package (½ cup) semi-sweet chocolate morsels
6 tablespoons evaporated milk

Put semi-sweet chocolate morsels and evaporated milk in saucepan. Place over low heat. Cook slowly, stirring occasionally, until mixture is blended.

Bring to a boil and cook, stirring constantly, until mixture is slightly thickened, about three minutes. Cool.

Quickie Cookies

Bought vanilla, chocolate, orange, lemon or ginger cookies
Semi-sweet chocolate morsels

Place cookies on baking sheet; put approximately 6 to 10 semi-sweet chocolate morsels on each cookie depending on size. Place in a very slow oven (250 degrees). five minutes.

Immediately press additional cookies on top to make sandwiches.

Second-Day Roast Beef Is Good With Gravy

Canned beef gravy provokes to goodness any second-day roast beef. Here's how: Chop 1 small onion and mince a small clove of garlic. Brown both lightly in 2 tablespoons butter. Stir in ½ cup chopped, cooked beef, dash salt, pepper, and ¼ can (10¾ ounce size) beef gravy.

In a bowl blend 1 cup prepared biscuit mix with 1-3 cup milk and ½ teaspoon caraway seed (if desired), to form a soft dough. Roll out on lightly floured board to form a rectangle ¼-inch thick. Spread meat mixture on dough; roll as for a jelly roll; cut into 4 slices. Place slices, cut side down, on a cooky sheet; bake in a hot oven (450 degrees F.) about 12 minutes or until lightly browned. Heat remaining gravy in saucepan. Place "pinwheels" on hot platter; pour gravy over them. 4 servings.

People Amend Nature's Ways

Precise Balance Falls When Humans Attempt Plant-Animal Changes

WASHINGTON — Man's tinkering with nature's system of checks and balances can transform an animal or insect into a pest and a plant into a weed.

Hundreds of common weeds — plants growing where they are not wanted—hitchhiked to the United States as seeds in grain shipments. Once separated from natural enemies, the plants spread far and wide in stubborn orgy of multiplication.

The South American water hyacinth, welcomed to the southern United States as an ornamental plant, avalanched along ditches and waterways. Conversely, the American prickly pear became a serious nuisance in Australia. The plant rampaged over 30,000 acres before an imported cactus moth halted its advance.

All plant and animal life is interrelated in a delicately balanced scheme, the National Geographic Society says. Plants provide food for insects, birds and animals. Each in turn whets the appetitite of another creature, usually larger or stronger. Thus, every creature enjoys a special diet until it meets its fate and returns to the soil.

To insure survival each species has the power to reproduce much faster than its death rate. So nature provides police — parasites, disease and predators—to keep a balance between life and food supply. Near disaster sometimes follows the removal of plants and animals from nature's discipline.

The West Indies' nightmarish experience with mongooses is a classic example. In India the courageous little animal is domesticated to guard homes against cobras, rats and mice. In Jamaica it became a curse.

Imported to rid cane fields of rats, ever-increasing hordes of mongooses quickly killed off the pests; also, snakes, birds, lizards, chickens, lambs, pigs, dogs and cats. The decline of birds and reptiles simplified the lives of harmful insects. A plague resulted, and it took years to restore the balance.

Ann Arbor Schools Name Publicity Man

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The Ann Arbor public schools have set up a new position of publications and public relations director.

Superintendent Jack Elzay said the purpose is to keep school district residents informed on school affairs.

Appointed to start work today in the new job was a young Wisconsin newspaper editor, Philip F. Buchanan, 34, of the Menominee Falls (Wis.) News. Buchanan is part owner of the paper.

Bus-Driving Minister

EAST PATERSON, N. J. (AP)—Officials of this community expect excellent behavior from the kids who ride one of the school buses.

The School Board last night hired the Rev. Morris Anderson of the Bible Protestant church as a bus driver.

School Supt. T. A. Shaheen told the board the cleric was highly recommended as a bus driver, having considerable experience. The job pays $1.75 an hour.

Germans Request Occupation Sires to Support Heirs

KAISERSLAUTERN (AP)—German Juvenile Court authorities said today they will ask 300 American and French soldiers to help support their illegitimate children in the Kaiserslautern district.

* * *

Registered letters will be sent to 100 Americans still on duty here inviting them to make voluntary payments, officials said. Efforts will be made to locate other soldiers who have left this city, where both American and French units have been stationed since the end of World War II.

* * *

"If the letters don't work, we intend to bring suits on behalf of our juvenile wards to force contributions from the fathers under German law," an official said. "The mothers of the children would be called as witnesses."

"Since German sovereignty was restored last May, some fathers have voluntarily begun contributions. The big majority, however, have made no move to help."

* * *

Welfare authorities estimate that 100,000 children have been born out of wedlock to Allied troops in West Germany since the war. Of these, they say 50,000 have American fathers.

British Defeat Americans Without Firing Single Shot

(Michigan's history is rich and alive, but too often lost in school history lessons. To bring these moments to life, the following story was compiled from eyewitness accounts on file at the Michigan Historical collections at the University of Michigan.)

FORT MACKINAC, July 17, 1812 (AP)—A strong British force captured tiny Fort Mackinac today without firing a shot. They now command the Straits of Mackinac, linking Lakes Huron and Michigan.

The American garrison numbered—only 57 men, but various sources numbered the British from 500 to 1,000, mostly Indians. The American commandant, Lt. Porter Hanks, fearing an Indian massacre, surrendered at noon.

Lt. Hanks had not yet received word that the United States was at war with Great Britain, and his intelligence reports were cut off when Capt. Michael Dousman of the militia was captured on his way to observe activities on St. Joseph Island.

American military sources say the loss of the fort is a grave blow, since it may swing Indian support to the British and thus peril the fort at Detroit from which the Americans have invaded Canada.

USE U.S. OFFICER

The British used captured Captain Dousman to move residents of the island to the west side in the wee hours of the morning and some consider him a traitor for his actions.

During the night, the British set up cannon commanding the interior of the fort and were in a most advantageous position. The garrison was told to return to their homes and not engage in the war again until exchanged as prisoners of war. Merchant vessels remained with their current owners and private property would be held sacred as far as possible, the British terms said.

An ominous footnote to the conditions of surrender provided that all citizens of the United States who do not pledge their allegiance to the King shall leave the island within one month.

Burroughs May Acquire California Printing Firm

DETROIT (AP) Burroughs Corp. today announced its "intention to acquire" Charles R. Hadley Co., Los Angeles printing firm, through an exchange of stock.

Burroughs said it will exchange 79,400 shares of its own common stock, having a market value of about 2¼ million dollars, for all the Hadley stock.

The Hadley company's principal business is printing standard business and financial forms. Burroughs manufactures business machines.

Just Sell in Secret

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — The Tallahassee Board of Realtors has asked brokers to stop putting for sale signs on houses they're handling. The signs, the board said, lessen confidence in property values and give visitors the impression the city isn't a desirable place in which to live.

Bentley Opposes Foreign Policy

Claims Geneva Meeting Was Republican Mistake Which Aided Soviet

CHICAGO (AP) — Rep. Bentley (R-Mich) admits he has opposed President Eisenhower's foreign policy more often than he's supported it, but says conditions would be worse if the Democrats returned to power in 1956.

* * *

Bentley, a member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, told a meeting of women of the Abraham Lincoln National Republican Club that the Geneva Conference was a mistake.

While we proved we want peace at Geneva, he said, he fears the propaganda effects of President Eisenhower "sitting down with the murderers and tyrants of the Kremlin and giving them an aura of respectability."

Bentley said he had opposed about 61 per cent of the President's foreign policy program in Congress. He added, however, he had approved three-fourths of his domestic program.

* * *

"A national political victory for our opposition would present far worse consequences than the present situation," Bentley said.

Steel Stockholders to Act on Mortgage

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit Steel Corp. shareholders will meet Sept. 16 to act upon plans for refinancing the company's first mortgage note to the Reconstruction Finance Corp.

M. J. Zivian, company president, announced that Detroit Steel has filed a registration statement covering a million dollars in first mortgage sinking fund bonds, due in 1970, and 403,155 shares of common stock.

A syndicate headed by Halsey, Stuart & Co. will sell the bonds. The additional shares will be offered to shareholders on the basis of one share of new stock for each five shares held.

The program also includes six million dollars of 6 per cent cumulative preferred stock not covered by the registration statement. The preferred stock will be issued to the RFC as partial payment of the existing $38,180,000 debt.

Bob Considine Says:

Girl Tank Drivers Beautify GM Powerama

CHICAGO (INS) — Came out here to look at two beasts of burden — they call them some crazy names like Swaps and Nashua around the barns — but ran smack dab into a multi-multi-million dollar exhibition of the monster that threatened to render the horse extinct many years ago, the engine.

* * *

This would be General Motors "Powerama," a display of everything that industrial colossus makes except that for which it is best known, the automobile.

Pitched on the memorable old "Century of Progress" fairgrounds along the lakefront, the exhibit of power covers 1,000,000 square feet and includes everything from the atomic cannon (powered by GM diesel cabs) to the similarly powered 10-car 105 m.p.h. streamlined "Aerotrain" which soon will be in service on the New York Central and Pennsylvania Railroads.

Strange things happened at "Powerama" during the press review. A hard-bitten tank sergeant, tooling around the tank proving grounds in a 50-tonner that could sink a battleship, passed a 49,000-pounder (M-42 Duster) and sneered, "Lady driver!"

Peggy is one of three girls hired to drive the big Army tanks between now and the time the show closes Sept. 25 and goes on the road. While Peggy gave the bum a swish of her rear armor (two 40mm's) I talked to the other members of one of the oddest and certainly most beautiful troupe ever hired.

They turned out to be Joby Johnson, 17-year-old singer who goes to Amundsen High in CHI when not driving a tank, and beautiful Muriel Carroll, a big doe-eyed doll who usually does fashions. The William Morris Agency found this curious chore for all.

"We thought they just wanted us to make the tanks as decorative as possible," Muriel said, with a note of helplessness that belied the way she handles a Siegfried Line buster.

"But after we got over our surprise, things were okay," she went on. "They're not hard to drive. There's less traffic, of course, and we feel that nobody's going to get in our way."

* * *

The girls drive their own cars on the side and swear they've never had any trouble with motorcycle cops, traffic lights, parking, or the law in general.

JUST MEN DRIVERS

"The only trouble we've had is with men drivers," La Carroll said, throatily.

Out of an armored lower hatch on the "Duster" stuck a solemn helmeted head, perhaps decapitated, but wearing the shaken expression of a driving instructor. Things, the head seemed to say, were never like this at Bastogne.

Other girls were swimming in a truck. No kidding. This was a 50-ton truck with a carrying vat bigger than most home pools. Capt Stubbs, the Cecil B. DeMille of such vast exhibits, promptly turned it into the most expensive bathtub since Nita Naldi's.

Stubbs made some interesting discoveries while plowing up the old World Fair site for this one. Came across two 36-inch gas mains which not even the city of Chicago could tell him about. Just 36-inch gas mains, headed nowhere.

City fathers are trying to get in touch with Big Bill Thompson by ouija. There were a lot of conduits left in the ground but no power. He believes he unearthed a gross of Sally Rand's old bubbles.

Anyway, don't miss the great missiles, the incedible earth-movers, and oil rings, the Kitchen of Tomorrow, Convair's pogo-stick plane, the cotton gin, the submarine, the shrimp boat and—it figures—the dancing tonight.

Auto Parts Makers Protest Against Big 3

WASHINGTON (AP) — A spokesman for independent car parts makers has testified that three big automobile manufacturers "set and establish the price for almost every part and replacement" needed to repair cars and trucks.

Harold T. Halfpenny of Chicago, counsel to the National Standard Parts Assn., told Senate investigators this occurs while the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) "stands idly by."

Halfpenny said "three major vehicle manufacturers dominate" their own industry and the sale of parts to repair the vehicles.

750 French Tourists Welcomed in Russia

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union, already swarming with foreign visitors including U.S. congressmen and a Supreme Court justice, welcomed today 750 French tourists.

The French group reached Leningrad aboard the chartered Polish liner Batory. Russian crowds gathered around them, singing the Marseillaise, the French national anthem, and asking for autographs.

Detroit to Reinter Stevens' Remains

DETROIT (AP) — The remains of Gov. Stevens T. Mason will be reinterred in downtown Capitol Park some time in September, the Detroit Historical Commission has announced.

Over a period of months there had been dispute over whether the remains of Michigan's first governor should be kept in Detroit, where he was first laid to rest, or taken to Lansing.

The Historical Commission said reinterment plans call for a simple ceremony. The 425th National Guard Infantry will provide an honor guard.

U. of M. Printers Buy Cedar Springs Paper

CEDAR SPRINGS (AP) — The Cedar Springs Clipper, one of west Michigan's best-known weekly newspapers, was sold today to Archard C. Gamm and Millard E. Engberg, Ann Arbor printers.

Details of the transaction were not disclosed. The new owners, employed as printers on the Michigan Daily at the University of Michigan, take possession Sept. 12.

Stock Exchanges Help

NEW YORK (AP)—Including donations from stock exchange workers throughout the country, a check for $151,048 was given to the Red Cross today for Northeastern flood relief. Harold W. Scott, chairman of the New York Stock Exchange, presented the check—the largest single gift yet in the Red Cross disaster drive.

Labor Day Rail Strike Imminent

Only White House Act Will Avert Pennsylvania Line Shutdown

NEW YORK (AP) — Hopes turned to the White House today to stave off a strike of 35,000 nonoperating employes of the Pennsylvania Railroad at midnight tomorrow.

* * *

The CIO Transport Workers Union said yesterday its members voted overwhelmingly to strike the nation's largest railroad over a series of old grievances coupled with new wage and hour demands.

The union is "sorry" to disrupt travel plans of the thousands over the Labor Day weekend, said TWU President Michael J. Quill, but he added that the workers "are sick and tired of management's refusal after six years to solve countless grievances."

The main break remaining to halt the walkout is invocation of the National Railway Labor Act by President Michael J. Quill, but he added that the workers "are sick and tired of management's refusal after six years to solve countless grievances."

* * *

The main brake remaining to halt the walkout is invocation of the National Railway Labor Act by President Eisenhower. The act calls for a 30-day period during which a dispute is considered by an emergency fact-finding board. If that fails, there is an additional 30-day "cooling off" period.

The National Mediation Board in Washington last night urged appointment of a fact-finding board.

1st Integrated Schools Open Doors in Texas

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., (AP)—Negroes went to public school with whites for the first time yesterday in Bexar County and possibly in Texas. Officials reported no incidents.

Four Negro youngsters enrolled and went to classes at the high school and an elementary school in the South San Antonio Independent School District. The district's schools were the first in the county to open.

Of the 2,000 school districts in Texas, 64 originally announced integration in some form, although at least two reversed this decision.

Four U.S. Lawmakers Arrive in Leningrad

LENINGRAD, U.S.S.R., (AP)—Two U.S. senators and two members of the U.S. House of Representatives arrived today en route to Moscow

This largest group of American legislators ever to visit Leningrad included Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn), Sen. Thomas C. Hennings (D-Mo), Rep. John M. Robsion (R-Ky) and Rep. Harold D. Cooley (D-N.C.). They are to leave by train tonight for moscow.

Pastor Acquitted of Heresy Charges

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The second heresy trial in the history of the Northwest Synod of the United Lutheran Church last night found the young pastor of a small town church innocent but asked administrative action to correct what it called "this offensive situation."

The Rev. John Gerberding, 33, pastor of Holy Cross Church at Menomonee Falls in adjoining Waukesha County, was found innocent in the secret trial on seven charges and the eighth charge was set aside. The decision, by a trial innocent to the charges of deviating from official church doctrine, said he was "surprised" by the verdict. He was reached at his home several hours after the decision was read to him in the hearing room and stated he "did not expect unanimous acquittal."

Iron Ministry Set

NEW DELHI — A Ministry of Iron and Steel has been created to take charge of Government-owned mills and foundries in India.

Crash Brings Death to Port Huron Couple

SAGINAW (AP)—Horace Eldrige, 65, and his wife, Iva Lee,, 26,, of Port Huron were killed yesterday in a 2-car collision at an intersection on M81 three miles east of Reese in Tuscola County.

The driver of the second car, Leonard Dunn, 33, of Lansing, was reported in fair condition at Saginaw General Hospital with chest injuries and a broken arm. He is a milk tester for the State Agriculture Department.

Allis-Chalmers, UAW Tackling Local Issues

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Contract talks between Allis-Chalmers and the CIO United Auto Workers, which have resolved all national issues, were slated today in a drive to clean up remaining local issues.

National issues hinged to a master contract for the six company plants represented by the union were cleaned up yesterday. A final session went on until late in the evening in an effort to solve local problems.

Red Air Attack —a Real Danger

General Tells Vet Group Soviet Power Potential Could Engulf U.S.

BOSTON (AP)—Air Force Chief of Staff Nathan F. Twining says an air attack could pour out of the Soviet Union engulfing and overwhelming not only cities or states but our entire nation."

He told the 66th annual Veterans of Foreign Wars encampment yesterday that "new Soviet air power . . . holds far more potential danger than the mightiest hurricane."

Gen. Twining said also that "Soviet aircraft production is catching up to ours fast—not only in quantity but in quality. If we let the Reds catch up in air power, you may be certain that a Soviet attack would be more likely than it is now."

He added, however, that current United States air power is sufficient to protect the nation, although "we could by no means guarantee to stop every enemy bomber in an attack." About 80 per cent of the Air Force's proposed 137-wing strength has now been achieved, he said.

Gen. Twining said also that offensive Air Forces "are now poised on base systems that almost encircle the globe. From these our offensive forces could strike an aggressor in almost any direction."

The United States is still "well ahead in the kind of air power the Soviets respect," he said.

Plan to Plant 5 Million Trees Before Snowfall

LANSING (AP) — The Conservation Department said today it will put 25 new tree planting machines to work this fall.

With a total of 42 machines in service, the department says it can plant some five million trees before the first snowfall.

The department says it hopes to plant 10,000 acres of trees by next spring, 15,000 acres in each of the next two years and 20,000 acres annually thereafter until 250,000 acres have been planted.

Jackson Firm Given 2 Million Dollar Orders

NEW YORK (AP) — Jackson & Church Co., diversified manufacturing concern o fSaginaw, Mich., has orders to deliver two million dollars of rayon and cellophane processing machines to three firms in the next few months, an official of the company reported yesterday.

Bruce Armstrong, technical director of Jackson & Church, a division of the Norbute Corp., said six units will go to Celanese Corp. of America, five to Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp., and two to the Du Pont Company. He said units are priced at around $150,000 each.

Most popular big game species hunted in New Mexico are bear and deer as well as wild turkeys.

Approves Bigger Budget

MACKINAC ISLAND (AP) — The State Tourist Council today approved a budget of $321,000 for 1956-57 operations which is $136,564 greater than this year's appropriation.

After Long Battle Korean Rejects Exclusive Home

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco Chronicle said today Maj. Sammy Lee, the Olympic diving champion, has decided not to live in Garden Grove, Calif., where he was turned down twice—because of his Korean ancestry—in efforts to buy a house.

The Chronicle said in a copyrighted story that Lee, an Army doctor stationed at Ft. Carson, Colo., has decided to practice in Santa Ana, about eight miles from Garden Grove in Southern California.

* * *

Lee, 35, is scheduled to be discharged in November after 12 years of service.

Lee won the Olympic tower diving titles in 1948 and 1952 for the U.S. team. He was born in Fresno, Calif.

Hotel Fire in Vienna Forces Out Russians

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — Several score Russian officers and their families were forced out of Vienna's Grand Hotel today by a fire in the cellar.

Russian officers and their families have occupied the hotel, on Vienna's famous Ringstrasse, since the end of the war. They are preparing to leave now that Austria has won its independence.

Firemen quickly extinguished the blaze. They said the Russians apparently had been burning papers in the cellars in preparation for their departure from Vienna. One Russian soldier, overcome by smoke, was carried out unconscious.

Seismograph Stolen

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Someone has stolen an 80-pound $5,000 seismograph from an underground crypt in Golden Gate Park. The machine is to provide engineering data in case of a severe earthquake.

People Act Like Idiots When Meeting the Rich

By EARL WILSON

GUYS and GALS and GAGS and GOSSIP . . .

NEW YORK—Cary Grant's frequently been asked, "Who's your favorite wife?" while touring with "To Catch a Thief"—and has given a most discreet answer.

"They were all my favorite—the trouble is, I wasn't their favorite," he says.

He often defends Barbara Hutton like this:

"The trouble isn't with her. People just can't disassociate her from her money and act like idiots around her. She seldom gets to know people as they really are. I ask you to have a little patience and tolerance for Barbara, who I know is a very dear woman."

CARY

In one city, Grant was in a restaurant where everything went wrong — he was jostled and pushed by overattentive waiters who finally spilled food on him. As they argued about whose mistake it was, Grant said, "Fellows, it wasn't your fault. It was mine—for coming in here."

Toots Shor pointed to a group in his pub and said, "That's my Alcoholics unanimous table." A literary friend said, "You mean Alcoholics Anonymous." Replied Toots: "I mean Alcoholics Unanimous. Every one of 'em is a drunk!"

Jayne Mansfield—the Dallas darlin' here to star in "Will Success Spoil Rock Hunter?"—is an animal lover.

"The man I marry must also like them," she says. "All I have now is a Great Dane, Chihuahua, 3 cats named Sabina, Romulus and Ophelia, and a rabbit. I had a pink poodle, which just died after we had it dyed pink to match my pink Jaguar, although that wasn't the cause of its death. I also had some mice, but somebody let them out."

JAYNE

Taffy Tuttle claims that with the development of faster films, the cheesecake photographers are now looking for faster models.

Polly Bergen glamourized the opening of the new Latin Quarter show, which features her ex-husband Jerome Courtland and stars Tommy Noonan. Polly, who did a strip-tease in a recent B'way show, must have envied the Latin Quarter girls, who can look naked without being undressed.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Denise Darcel's wearing her hair very long and friends tell her to shorten it. Diana Barrymore dropped from 140 to 118 . . . Arthur Franklin Williams flew to Mexico hoping to romance Dolores Del Rio.

Shelley Winters was rushed to Mt. Sinai hospital for an operation . . . Several movie producers are contributing to a slush fund to battle scandal magazines . . . Joyce Thomas of South Fallsburg, N. Y., was chosen "Prettiest Local Girl in Sullivan County."

Veronica Lake married songwriter Joe McCarthy in Traverse City, Mich., where she's doing summer stock. They'll honeymoon in Canada . . . Gary Cooper, the tough hombre, bought a stack of ruffled shirts . . . Grace Kelly rented Gaylord Hauser's H'wood home . . . Singer Billie Holiday's autobiography will be tagged "Bitter Crop."

JOYCE

Peggy King, who was re-signed by George Gobel, appeared on "What's My Line?" Sunday night despite telegraphed requests from her agent not to do so. She was accompanied by her favorite escort, arranger Joe Linhoff.

Fran Warren picked up 5Gs for a singing commercial for the Groucho Marx TVer . . . NBC-TV has a 15-city tour set for Jeannie Carson to boost Max Liebman's "Heidi"—publicizing it like a movie.

Earl's Pearls . . . There's one card trick all women can do—they can make the Jack disappear.—Vaughan Monroe.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: "A real hypochondriac," says Ted Steele, "is a guy who can read his doctor's prescription."

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Bobby Nicholson complains, "I deeply resent the fact that I have to pay the same amusement tax as Rubirosa."

Daring Ex-Commie to Be U.S. Citizen

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (AP) — Peter Pirogov, a Russian flier who risked his life to hop the Iron Curtain in 1948, will become an American citizen.

• • •

The last major barrier was cleared yesterday with the announcement that the Immigration and Naturalization Service has approved Pirogov's application for citizenship.

Pirogov, a navigator, and pilot Anatole Barsoff landed in a Russian bomber at an airport in the American zone of Austria seven years ago with a scant two minutes of fuel left.

• • •

Barsoff became homesick and returned to Russia, but Pirogov, now 35, settled in Fairfax County, Va. He is now a consultant to the Air Force.

License Road Test Only Causes Trouble

Two cars were smashed, the state patrolman giving the test was injured, and Mrs. Pierce got a traffic court summons for failing to remain in the proper traffic lane and for being involved in an accident.

Police said the 42-year-old housewife became excited while making a curve, stepped on the accelerator instead of the brake and crashed into a parked car and a utility pole. State Trooper Lloyd P. Hataway, who was giving the test, was hospitalized for head and hip injuries.

Mrs. Pierce didn't get the license.

Deputy Civil Defense Directors Take Posts

New deputy civil defense directors have been named in Holly and Southfield townships, Lewis C. Jarrendt, Oakland County civil defense director, announced today.

They are Anton Berggren, who will direct civil defense activities in Holly Township, and Mrs. Linn Hershey, who will head CD affairs in Southfield.

All but two townships in the county now have deputy CD directors, Jarrendt said.

Best-Loved Home of Robert E. Lee Is Renamed

WASHINGTON — Custis and Lee, famed Virginia names woven into the Washington family fabric, have joined in a new designation for Arlington House, Robert E. Lee's most-loved home.

Under a bill signed by President Eisenhower, the white-columned Virginia house overlooking the Potomac at Washington becomes the Custis-Lee Mansion. The change from its present name, Lee Mansion National Memorial, is aimed to "give appropriate recognition to the illustrious Virginia family in which General Lee found his wife."

A half million visitors annually roam the hilltop house where Lee and his wife, the great-granddaughter of Martha Washington, reared their children and delighted in a view of the wide river and the spreading Federal captial, the National Geographic Society says.

The Greek revival structure, symbolizing a vogue for classical architecture, crowns an elevation acquired by John Parke Custis, son of Martha Washington by a first marriage. The hill and much surrounding forested land passed to his son, George Washington Parke Custis, father of Mrs. Lee and builder of the house.

The mansion rose slowly — two wings at first. As building progressed, Mrs. Custis held annual fairs to promote improved agricultural methods and the breeding of fine-wool Merino sheep.

Score's Victory Boosts Indian's Pennant Hopes

Southpaw's Three-Hit Chore Keeps Tribe on Pace; White Sox Next

CLEVELAND (AP) — Young Herb Score's sparkling three-hit victory over Baltimore yesterday boosted the Cleveland Indians' pennant hopes as they face four games with the league-leading Chicago White Sox.

The rookie southpaw's performance, which gave Cleveland a 5-1 victory despite eight innings of hitless relief pitching by Baltimore's Hector Brown, kept the Indians on pace in the nip-and-tuck pennant drive.

Score's 13 strikeouts ran his total to 209, and he became the first pitcher to pass 200 since 1946, when Cleveland's Bob Feller set the record of 348.

Brown fanned 10, and the game total of 23 tied the modern major league mark. Brown, a righthander recently recalled from the Pacific Coast League, was wild at times, but stopped the Indians cold and retired the last 13 batters in succession.

Although he pitched eight full innings without allowing a hit, he can't get credit for a no-hitter. To get credit, a pitcher must go the full nine innings, and the last of the ninth wasn't necessary, as Cleveland won.

Score, who was knocked out of the box by the New York Yankees in the first inning last Saturday, regained his control. He had a two-hit shutout going into the ninth, but then walked two and yielded a double to Willie Miranda.

He finished with a flourish, fanning pinch hitter Bob Hale on three pitches and blazing a called third strike past Wayne Causey.

Score, who is 14-10 for the season, has now pitched three three-hitters, a two-hitter and a one-hitter.

Auscos Team Close to Top Honors

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—If the St. Joseph, Mich., Auscos can get past their opponent tonight in the National Non-Professional Baseball Tournament, they'll have only one big obstacle remaining on the way to the championship.

The No. 1-seeded Auscos play Huntsville, Ala., in a fourth-round game. Both teams are undefeated in the double-elimination tournament. The winner will play the defending champion Wichita Boeing Bombers Friday night.

High School Football Booming in Texas

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Last year was a record-breaker for Texas high school football. But this year will surpass all others.

The Texas Interscholastic League, which started its gridiron race in 1920, is coming up with the all-time high in teams this season. There will be 1,897 schools playing football in the six divisions. This is an increase of seven over 1954.

Stengel on Hot Flag Race—'Just Like I Predicted'

Casey Stengel, making appropriate gestures, made the statement about the sizzling American League pennant race following his New York Yankees' 11-6 victory over the Kansas City Athletics Wednesday night.

Asked if his earlier prediction that "about 95" victories would be enough for the pennant, Casey snorted:

"Don't ask me about how many or what now. It looks like it's going to be right down to the last game. That's what I felt all along. We have got 23 more games to play and we'll shoot for every one of them."

Stenge said he still had highest regard for Chicago, Ceveland and even Boston, the latter now five games off Chicago's leading pace. The Yanks' victory left the Stengel crew in a second place tie with Cleveland and a half game behind Chicago.

The Yankee skipper said he planned to use Billy Martin, star second baseman of the 1953 World Series, now on leave from the Army, as soon as the team gets back to New York. That figures Martin will be in the lineup against Washington Friday.

Sharp, Devany Meet in Semis of WDGA Test

Wiffi Battles Wilson at Birmingham CC; Pat Shoots Sub-Par Golf

Defending champion Pat Devany, playing her finest golf this year, moved into semi-finals of the Women's District Golf Association championship Wednesday at Birmingham Country Club.

Three others joined her after yesterday's quarter-final rounds — Wiffi Smith, Sally Sharp and Mrs. Betty Jane Wilson. This is the same foursome that vied for the state amateur title a month ago.

Devany is not only shooting her best golf, but the best in the tourney as well. Yesterday Pat equalled men's par of 36 on the front nine and finished one under women's par as she buried Helen Grinnell, 6 and 5. Miss Devany was 5-up after nine holes and ended the match on the 13th.

Sally Sharp of Pine Lake, who will face Miss Devany today, defeated Mrs. Victor Ryden, 5-4. The 18-year-old golfer was seven over women's par.

Medalist Wiffi, who was forced to scramble in Tuesday's victory over Irene Bretzlaff, recovered form yesterday to eliminate Mrs. Don Weiss, 6-5. The 18-year-old Wiffi, outdistancing the ex-champion by a wide margin off the tees, posted 39 on the front nine, and was two over par at the end.

* * *

In yesterday's other quarter-final match, Mrs. Betty Jane Wilson downed Mrs. Susie LeClair, 3 and 2. The two Ann Arbor housewives, golfing chums, have been commuting together each day of the tournament.

* * *

Unearned Run Puts Washington Ahead

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—Washington, D.C. was the only undefeated team left in the American Legion Junior Baseball Tournament today after scoring an unearned run to defeat Salisbury, N.C., 7-6 last night.

Salisbury comes up against Cincinnati, only other single loser, tonight with the winner meeting Washington tomorrow night. Cincinnati ousted Lincoln, Neb. from the double elimination tourney by 1-0, also with an unearned tally, in yesterday's afternoon contest.

Pontiac Anglers Test Skill With 'Kings'

(Editor's note: This is the first of two articles about a fishing trip in Pacific waters along the western coast of Canada. In the party were O. E. Hunt, Dr. Howard B. Barker, Harry M. Fryale, O. L. Beaudette and Harold A. Fitzgerald from here; and Carl Johnson of Cleveland and Calvin P. Bentley of Owosso.)

By HAROLD A. FITZGERALD

The party flew to Seattle and then an additional 400 miles north to a waiting ship that had been chartered for the business of becoming acquainted with the wild life in that area.

* * *

The Canadian Pacific Coast is a network of inland seas, channels, arms and bays with countless streams dumping their crystal clear and mountain cold contents into the vast domain of the ocean. These bodies of water are dotted with islands which are composed of almost sheer rock, like the mainland. The most astounding thing is the fact towering trees grow out of this and contest with each other for the right to see the sun and exist. They're jammed together for thousands of square miles and it becomes a "survival of the fittest," where the weaklings expire and stand there gaunt, ghostly and stripped of foliage.

The water in the channels which constitute the "inland passage to Alaska" is amazingly deep. One morning we rounded a small bend where the channel wasn't over 200 feet wide. The captain was studying a chart. Casually I asked the depth.

* * *

"It's a 100 fathoms at this point," replied the skipper in the patient tone usually reserved for little children, "and at yonder bend it drops to 256 fathoms (1500 feet)."

* * *

The party caught a varying assortment of fish it did and didn't want. Included in the former were the prize—the salmon—rainbow trout, Dolly Vardons and cut-throat trout. And in the unmentionables were such exhibits as the cod, hake, star fish, sun fish and dog fish. Our All-American chef made a wonderful stew out of the cod, but the pesky dog fish was the unbridled villain in the piece. First cousin to the shark, he bit everything in sight and measured 20 to 30 inches. Bob Doty and Dave Anderson, crew men, cut their bally throats and heaved 'em back with disgust and disdain.

He fights himself into exhaustion and when he's eventually gaffed and lifted into your little boat he produces two or three last-gasp heaves that suggest he'll be overboard in another second. We aimed at King salmon which are sometimes known as "Spring" or by the Indian name "Tyee" or "Chinook." Whatever you call them they're nature's noblemen.

* * *

Some immediately sound when they're hooked and head for the bottom of those fathomless depths. Others break water before they take off. O. E. Hunt hooked a particularly pugnacious number that started due west and should be approaching the Japanese coast line any moment. You've heard the ancient dictum about someone taking "hook, line and sinker," and that's what happened to one of O. E.'s lures. "He went away with all my hardware," said the Baron of Rathmoor Road ruefully. "It was one grand run and rush and he was never checked or turned. I'll bet he weighed ——" but there's a sentence no one ever let him finish.

* * *

When the Pacific salmon does break water, he differs from many game fish. Instead of leaping high, he arises to the surface and threshes violently for several seconds right there on top. You get an occasional glimpse of this concentrated fury as he whips about and struggles all-out to dislodge the hook. If he turns and heads straight for the boat, you reel in faster than you ever did in your life in hopes you can keep him from getting any slack.

The Kings we caught ran from eighteen to forty-six pounds and the ones that got away, of course, were as much larger as the frustrated fisherman dared make them and some of us dared pretty good. When the fish is lifted from the sea, dripping and still struggling, he presents a wonderful sight. He's iridescent and gleams beautifully in the light with a definite marking of light pink, somewhat suggestive of his cousin, the rainbow trout. Also he has blues and purples together with an over-all cast and background of silver that reflects in breath-taking hues.

He sparkles.

What a prize!

On one occasion Carl Johnson of Cleveland and O. L. Beaudette were in a small fishing boat, fairly close to shore when a grizzly broke through the brush, reared on his hind legs at the water's edge and eyed the pair speculatively. Finally he dropped down and leisurely swung off into the trees. On our anchorage at Kwatna, Captain Hook never ventured up on the river in a small boat without a rifle. "This isn't for offensive purposes," said he. "It's just a precaution against those big bears."

Our boat with a crew of four was chartered from Stanley Donogh, West Coast Sears' executive who is a long standing friend of Pontiac's own Frank Lyndall. Donogh is one of the Northwest's leading sportsmen and was pressed into service at the recent Gold Cup races as referee when the original official resigned under pressure. The man is a master airplane pilot and knows the western Canadian shore like you know your living room. He flew part of the group into Chilko and out and part from Namu to Vancouver on the return trip.

Stanley has a private lake that is the most thickly stocked with cut-throat trout of any thing you ever saw. It was about 25 or 30 miles from one of our anchorages and when he was with us, he obligingly flew us into this sanctuary upon request. "Getting the limit" was a very simple matter and several of us had a cut-throat trout every morning for breakfast for a week.

2 Pitchers, 3 Others at Tribe Farm Club to Bolster Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP)—Five players from the American Assn., will join the Cleveland Indians when the Tribe begins its last eastern trip next Tuesday.

The Indians' front office announced today that first baseman Joe Altobelli, outfielder Rocco Colavito and second baseman Bobby Young were recalled and the contracts of pitcher Hank Aguirre and second baseman Stan Pawloski were purchased from the Tribe's Indianapolis farm club.

Two other pitchers, Dick Tomanek and Marion Murszewski, also have been recalled, but they will not report until 1956 spring training, the Indians said.

Altobelli, who payed for Cleveland early in the season, has chalked up a .276 batting mark at Indianapolis, while Colavito is .270 with 27 homers and 91 runs batted in.

Swaps Backer? Not Just You, Reporters, Too

NEW YORK (AP)—A total of 139 of the 328 sports writers and sportscasters participating in The Associated Press pre-race poll were right in selecting Nashua to beat Swaps but only one predicted the correct time and none came within two lengths of naming the margin of victory.

Dick Anderson, sports editor of the Evansville, Ind., Press, predicted the mile and one-quarter would be run in 2:04 1-5. That was Nashua's time in beating Swaps by 6½ lengths Wednesday.

Katlin Wins 25-Lap Race at M59 Track

Veteran driver Mickey Katlin roared to victory Wednesday night at the Pontiac Speedway in the 25-lap feature race. Katlin's time was 8:17.91. Chuck Partello finished 2nd.

Cincinnati Redlegs are raving about rookie southpaw hurler Charlie Rabe at their Columbia, S. C. farm club. In his first 197 innings he had fanned 175 batters, compiled a 2.41 earned run mark and had won 17 games.

Rice Owls Top Selection to Lead Southwest Teams

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Football bloomed in the Southwest Conference again today with the little finger pointing toward the Rice Owls. It's not the index finger because the Owls are the shortest favorites in many years.

Some 404 young men started practice this morning in the seven far-flung camps with more veteran material than any season since World War II. They'll be needed because the conference has mapped its strongest intersectional schedule, with first games coming up in two weeks.

Rice is a narrow choice for the title it last held undisputed in 1949 and shared in 1953. In fact, the race is considered so close that any one of six teams could win it and occasion no surprise. The seventh, Texas A&M, is rebuilding and has twice as many sophomores as the other categories combined. The quality of the sophs is good, however, and there are some who think the Aggies could finish high.

If A&M did win the title it might embarrass the Cotton Bowl, the Aggies are under a 2-year probation for violations of the recruiting rules and are forbidden to play in post-season games.

* * *

Rice was the choice because it has a strong running attack brewing, featuring the powerful Jerry Hall and Jack Throckmorton and sophomore Virgi Mutschink, and what could be a devastating passing game. Not only does it have quarterback of last season, John (Pinky) Nisbet, an adept thrower, but a couple of sophomores, Frank Ryan and King Hill, are due to add both terrific passing and running to the Owl T offensive. Furthermore, the backfield talent will have the protection of a sturdy line.

Women Softball Teams Continue Play Today

EGLIN AIR FORCE BASE, Fla. (AP)—Three of the four teams left in the Air Force Worldwide Women's Softball Tournament play today. Wiesbade AFB, Germany, and host Eglin meet during the day, with the winner taking on Barksdale AFB, La., tonight.

The victor in the night game plays unbeaten Andrews AFB, Washington, D.C., for the tournament championship tomorrow.

Pirate Head Hopes to Rise From Cellar

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Fred Haney, long-suffering manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates, isn't making any predictions but he admits he's sort of keeping his fingers crossed in the hope the club will get out of the National League cellar.

Going into Thursday's game with the St. Louis Cardinals, the Pirates had won nine of their last 13 games. They're only 3½ games back of the skidding St. Louis Cardinals.

Three Duke University football teams have had undefeated seasons — 1888, 1891 and 1920. Two others, in 1938 and 1941, were undefeated in regular season play but lost in the Rose Bowl.

College Football Interest, AL Pennant Race Collide

The college boys have a gimmick to snare their share of the interest. The word is out that it may be a long autumn for Ohio State, the 1954 national champion, and Notre Dame, the perennial pretender to the throne.

And with those two elevens on the fence, Oklahoma, riding a 19-game unbeaten streak, makes its big bid to reclaim the national title it last held in 1950.

The Sooners were No. 3 a year ago in The Associated Press rankings, running behind OSU and UCLA, with Notre Dame, Navy, Mississippi, Army, Maryland, Wisconsin and Arkansas filling out the top 10.

Graduation losses have pared Ohio State's hopes to Howard (Hopalong) Cassady, one of the big guys as the Buckeyes ruled the Big Ten last season with a rare sweep of seven games. They then swamped Southern California in the Rose Bowl 20-7.

Michigan, packed with sophomores, Wisconsin, even without Alan (The Horse) Ameche, and Iowa figure to get into the act in the unpredictable Big Ten.

In the Big Seven, as always, it's Oklahoma.

On the West Coast, UCLA — which missed a showdown with Ohio State in the Rose Bowl because of a rule prohibiting two consecutive appearances — again looks like the big threat for the Pacific Coast Conference crown. But Southern Cal, counting on a fleet stable of backs also gets a nod.

In the East, the two service schools, Navy and Army, are the terrors.

Gordon, Kerr Take Top Skeet Events

By H. GUY MOATS

Two major championships yesterday provided lots of fireworks for the big National Skeet Shooting Association's event at Oakland County Sportsmen's Club at Waterford.

Lew Gordon, Texarkana, Ark., veteran of the national skeet "wars" figured in both title battles with the small gauge (28) shotguns. Gordon staged a brilliant performance to capture the coveted Champion of Champions crown. He came within one target of tieing another.

There was also another 100 shooter in the event, but he was there by mistake—it was no mistake the way he compiled the 100—and NSSA officials ruled him out of the shootoff. He was 10-year-old Eddie Brown of Birmingham, the youngest shooter in the NSSA.

Gordon went 25 straight to run his production of straight hits to 125. That was good enough too win. Thomas went 24-25 and Boardman 22-25.

With the champions test under way very late in the afternoon, it was dusk before the championship was finally settled.

Earlier in the day, Wednesday, Gordon missed squaring the count for the small-gauge title with nationally-known Alex Kerr of Beverly Hills, Calif. He fired a 99x100, but Kerr went 100 straight to grab the top spot.

Shooting concurrently in the two-man event Kerr and Andy Laird, Stockton, Calif., compiled a 100x96—196 to capture the pairs championship. J. C. Dalton, Chevy Chase, Md., and Harry Wright, Baltimore, Md. were runnersup with 98-93—191.

Although he was ruled ineligible for the big champions event, little Eddie Brown, youngest son of William A. Brown of Birmingham, wasn't shut out of the championship picture. He shot 93x100 to win the junior small-gauge crown. There are two other Brown brothers, all of whom are good skeeters along with their dad.

Puerto Rico's team still figures in top scoring, but it is very evident it misses the remarkable shooting skill of Col. Salvador Roig, who led it to a high spot in last year's shoot here. Capt. Alberto Guerrero and Jaime Loyola each had only one miss in the champions shoot, and the team, overall, is high up in the compilation of the high-over-all totals.

Six other minor championships were determined yesterday.

Two of the shooters in the Waterford extravaganza have interesting origins. They are Bernard Thom and little Mee Tai Chang, Chinese Hawaiians from Honolulu. Thom's wife is with him.

Both Thom and Chang have been shooting skeet for some time, but this is the first time in the Nationals for Chang, a U. S. Navy electronics worker. Both belong to the Kuliouou Gun Club at Honolulu.

Thom has shot in three nationals.

National 20-gauge championships are up for grabs today. This is the only event slated for this, the 4th day of steady shotgunning at the fine OCSC fields. The usual six subsidiary competitions are also on tab, all to be shot concurrently with the 20-gauge.

Friday marks the start of the big windup—the national all-gauge championships, that conclude Sunday.

Champion of Champions—Lew Gordon, Texarkana, Ark., 100-25—125.

Women's Small Gauge Champion—Mrs. Alphonse Ragland, Dallas, Tex., 94x100; Mrs. Carola Mandel, Chicago, 91x100.

Senior—George Docherty, Holyoke, Mass., 94x100.

Sub-Senior—Fred Alford Sr., Dallas, Tex., 97-100.

Junior—Edward Brown, Birmingham, Mich., 93x100.

Two-Man Teams—Alex Kerr and Andy Laird, Stockton, Calif., 100-96—196; J. C. Dalton, Chevy Chase, Md., and Harry Wright, Baltimore, Md., 98-93—191.

Industry—Fred Misslidine, Sea Island, Ga., 95x100.

Class titles:

A—Fred Alford Jr., Dallas, Tex., 97x100.

B—Robert E. Rath, Waterloo, Ia. (NW Univ.) 97x100.

D—Edward C. Brown, Birmingham, Mich., 93x100.

E—Sgt. R. S. Ridenour, Denver, 89x100.

Women—A—Ethel Balch, Tulsa, Okla., 88x100; B—Jean Smythe, Palm Beach, Fla., 90x100; C—Mrs. Igor Pezas, Greenwich, Conn., 87x100.

By 6½ Lengths
Derby Defeat Avenged, Nashua Beats Swaps

CHICAGO (AP)—It took Nashua 3 months and 24 days to catch up with Swaps—then brutally beat him to avenge his Kentucky Derby loss.

The powerful, mahogany bay, pride of the East, met the California-bred Swaps under neutral conditions yesterday at Washington Park and scored a brilliant 6½-length triumph in one of the greatest match races ever run.

It was a thorough trouncing at 1¼ miles under equal weights of 126 pounds, the same as the Kentucky Derby when Swaps brushed off favored Nashua's midstretch challenge and swept to a 1½-length victory.

The $100,000 winner - take - all showdown, first of its kind since Armed beat Assault and jockey Eddie Arcaro by eight lengths for the same jackpot at Belmont in 1947, undoubtedly cinched 3-year-old honors and probably the "Horse of the Year" award for Nasrullah's handsome son, owned by William Woodward Jr., of New York.

Arcaro said he "hit Nashua so hard" he thought he "set his flank on fire." He added that Nashua "did everything I asked him to do, including take the lead."

Willie Shoemaker, the losing jockey, said that "Swaps tried, but just couldn't get there." He added: "I'm not making any excuses but I don't think he cared too much for the track—he was laboring all the way and didn't handle too well."

The $100,000 pot pushed Nashua's earnings to $689,700 as a sophomore. He collected $192,865 in winning six out of eight starts to take juvenile honors last year. The total of $882,565 left him third behind Stymie and Citation on the all-time money list.

Nashua led at every pole after accelerating ahead under Arcaro and the whip. Swaps, who never had felt the sting of Willie Shoemaker's bat for desired speed, was bitten by it at the head of the stretch. But nothing much happened and Nashua gradually drew away. The closest Swaps got after the clubhouse turn was one-half length with six furlongs gone.

Nashua's winning time on a track termed as "good" was 2:04 1-5. He went off at 6-5 and returned $4.40 to his screaming backers in a crowd of 35,262. There was parimutuel win betting only.

'Windmill' Star Waits New Try in Pro Baseball

SEATTLE (AP)—The idol of the softball clan is still waiting for another chance to test his windmill whip in professional baseball.

But "Bullet Bob," who winds up like a windmill and fires from the hip, hasn't had a chance with Seattle's Pacific Coast League team since his ill-fated debut the night of Aug. 10.

He is on the road with the team, though, working steadily to master control at the greater pitching distance of regulation baseball. General Manager Dewey Soriano said the management hopes to be able to use him again before the season ends.

Grattan's Honor Wins Feature Pace at DRC

Grattan's Honor, with Leon Boring at the reins, captured the feature pace at the Detroit Race Course last night for his second victory of the Wolverine harness raceway meeting.

Grattan's Honor beat Swan Bay by a length and a quarter in 2:05½. He paid $10.60.

In the second annual Disc Jockey Derby Bob Maxwell of WWJ, Detroit, brought Eddie Azoff from dead last to pass Fred Wolf of WXYZ, Detroit, with Bobby Cannon in the home stretch.

Mrs. Fox, Mrs. Koss Clash in MGA Finals

Mrs. C. F. Fox and Mrs. Joseph Koss meet today in the 18-hole finals of the annual Women's Metropolitan Golf Association championship at Sunnybrook Golf Club.

Two finalists, firing their hottest golf of the year, breezed to easy and impressive wins in Wednesday's semi-finals. Mrs. Fox trounced Mrs. W. H. Falco, 6 and 4, while Mrs. Koss was trimming Mrs. J. W. Menefee, 7 and 5.

Sam Snead's Golf School

I'm going to talk a little today about the use of the No. 3 wood. This is a very useful club when you need a little more distance than you can obtain with an iron. It also comes in handy when you haven't got a good enough fairway lie for a brassie shot, or where you want to loft the ball quickly with a wood in order to clear some obstacle.

You swing the No. 3 just as you do any other wood club. The only difference is that you play it just a little further back from your left heel so that you hit it right at the bottom of the arc on your downswing instead of just after, as with the other woods.

The reason for this is that there is enough loft built into the face of a No. 3 wood so that it isn't necessary to hit it slightly on the upswing as with the other woods. In other words you play it more like an iron shot for best results.

Of course, one other difference between the No. 3 wood and the others is that it is shorter and therefore you stand a little closer to the ball and take a somewhat more upright swing, which is good.

Old Hurlers Helping Chisox

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Chicago's old folks pitching staff reclaimed Bob Keegan today and the White Sox shoved off for Cleveland to put their half-game lead in the American League to a showdown test against the Indians.

Manager Marty Marion's been getting a lot more mileage than anyone expected from his mound veterans, riding on top with the likes of Virgil Trucks, 36; Sandy Consuegra, 35; Millard Howell, 35; Morrie Martin, 32; Connie Johnson, 32, and Harry Byrd, 30. And now Keegan, 34, is back in good standing.

The big righthander, a 16-9 help to the White Sox last season, but a bust thus far in '55, came back with an eight-hitter yesterday to beat Boston 4-2. It was his first victory and first complete game since Sept. 12, 1954.

With a sweep of the two-game Boston series, Chicago stayed five percentage points ahead of New York and Cleveland, deadlocked in second. The Indians kept the pace as rookie Herb Score three-hit Washington 5-1 and fanned 13, overcoming eight hitless relief innings by the Nats' Hec Brown. New York made it past Kansas City 11-6, but Tommy Byrne needed help to gain his 13th victory when the A's scored five in the ninth.

Brown struck out 10 in his string, making for 23 strikeouts in the game. That tied a record set by Boston and Cincinnati in 1902. It previously was equaled by New York - Washington in 1914 and Brooklyn-Cincinnati last Saturday.

In the other AL game yesterday, Earl Torgeson pinched a three-run homer in the seventh as Detroit edged Baltimore 7-4 and rookie Frank Lary won his 18th.

In the National, Milwaukee brought six Brooklyn pitchers to the mound in a 13-8 pasting of the league-leading Dodgers. New York made it three straight over Cincinnati 5-0, Philadelphia clobbered Chicago 13-2 and Pittsburgh moved within 3½ games of seventh place St. Louis by edging the Cardinals 4-3 on Johnny O'Brien's single in the 10th.

Snider Thinks Home Run Mark Should Remain

These were the emphatic words of the Dodgers' Duke Snider whom many baseball experts think has a good chance of breaking the mark (60 homers in one season) within the next few years.

His teammate, pitcher Carl Erskine, said: "I feel the same way, too. But I'm afraid that some day some greedy club owner will rig the park so that it will be broken."

Snider nodded his head and remarked: "Of course if anyone ever does hit more than 60 I would like it to be me. But I'd hate to see the record go. Ruth means too much to this game. His mark should stand forever."

Ty Cobb is the only major leaguer ever to make more than 4,000 base hits.

Virginia Tackle Ready to Play for Baltimore

BLACKSBURG, Va. (AP)—It's a pretty fair bet that when the Baltimore Colts of the National Football League start thinking about a starting lineup that George Preas will be available. Preas, Virginia Tech's all-Southern Conference tackle last year, started every game during his college career. The 220-pounder from Roanoke, Va., was in the opening kickoff action in 40 successive tilts.

Muskie Follows Sunfish

PETERBOROUGH, Ont. (AP)—Teddy Moore is only six years old but can talk man to man with his father about fishing. The youngster hooked a sunfish, but before he could land it a 33-inch muskie swallowed it. With an assist from other fishermen, Teddy caught the muskie.

Waterford Leagues End Play Tonight

Three games will be played at Drayton ball park tonight to determine Waterford Junior and Little League champions in the post-season playoffs. Finalists for the Junior loop are already established, but two tilts are necessary to decide the Little circuit.

Union Lake Lumber, Jack's Service and Puertas Service posted victories in Wednesday night's opening round. Union Lake trounced Maceday Gardens, 11-2, as pitcher Jerry Andre clouted a grand slam home run in the 6th inning. Champion Jack's smothered Waterford Village, 10-4, and Puertas downed Pete's Service, 3-1, behind the two-hit pitching of Gordon Rice. Rice fanned 13 batters.

Union Lake meets Jack's today at 5:30, with the winner facing Puertas for the Little League playoff title at 7 p.m. Drayton Drug battles White Brothers at 8:30 for the Junior crown.

Sub-Small Gauge Class Champions

One title went to a Pontiac shooter. Bob Thiefels (OCSC) won the Class C sub-small gauge championship with 87x100.

Class AA—Lewis Gordon, Texarkana, Ark., 94x100.
Class A—Capt. Alberto Guerrera, Puerto Rico, 92x100.
Class B—Bill France, 92x100.
Class D—Joe Begin, 88x100.
Class E—Richard Delk, Denver, 85x100.
Women's Class A—Carola Mandel, 79x100; Class B—Judy Allen; Class C—Mrs. Igor Perss of Connecticut, 81x100.

Now your Ford Dealer makes it easy for you to be a 2-car family!

● Of course, the ideal way to become a 2-car family is to buy a new Ford and keep your present car as a "second." And that's easy, too.

But the easiest way, and a fine way, is to buy a Ford Dealer A-1 Used Car. And it's particularly easy to do that right now . . . because we're offering special inducements to people who want to buy a second car. Why? That's one of our ways of making friends. For, once you buy a car from us, we are sure you'll like the way we do business . . . and that we'll have a good chance of selling you a new Ford in the future.

Special Savings on A-1 USED CARS

Come in today

...and see how easy we can make it for you!

Here's why A SECOND CAR is a NECESSITY

For getting children to school there's nothing like having a second car . . . especially when you have little ones or the school is not close by.

To enjoy your hobbies a second car is almost a must. With a second car, the men in the family can go fishing, hunting, golfing—and the girls can go about their activities—without leaving other members of the family stranded without transportation.

In case of an emergency a second car enables you to go wherever you need in a hurry. And it's always a comfort to know your second car is there—just in case.

For grocery shopping, and all other shopping too, how can you manage without a car? A second car lets Mother suit her shopping to her own schedule and convenience.

So the young folks can go, too. Young people have their own friends and interests—which are usually not the same as Mother's and Dad's. With two cars in the family, both youngsters and oldsters can come and go as they wish.

UM Coaches Denying Title Predictions

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Michigan's Wolverines, packing their biggest football punch in at least five years, pushed into fall practice today—disguised as a mere hopeful in the Big Ten race.

About 70 players, 23 of them lettermen from last year's squad, cavorted for newspaper photographers yesterday while coaches batted down predictions that Michigan is destined for its 19th conference title.

Bennie Oosterbaan, in his eighth season as head coach, was ready to bet that the forecasters are wrong 50 per cent of the time.

At that, he had some strong evidence on his side. Last year Michigan State and Illinois were picked as the class of the Big Ten. State finished 8th and Illinois 10th. The Wolverines, picked only as also-rans, finished in a 2nd place tie with Wisconsin.

In the backfield, the Wolverines have a potent pre-season combination of fullback Lou Baldacci, halfbacks Terry Barr and Tony Branoff and quarterback Jim Maddock.

A strong line, bulwarked by some sophomore strength, could give Michigan as good a defense as last year when it rated 1st in the Big 10. The Wolverine's passing game is an open question, however.

Baldacci, who switched from quarterback to fullback last year, has the speed and know-how to work the Michigan spinner series for all its deceptive value.

Barr, a junior from Grand Rapids, showed the coaches last season that all he lacked was experience in the left halfback position. He played only occasionally but demonstrated that he was dangerous if he ever got into the secondary.

If one promising sophmore, Jim Van Pelt, a 20-year-old Evanston, Ill., product, comes through as well as hoped, Maddock will have plenty of relief. Van Pelt is a rugged, whip-armed former all starter from Illinois.

And then, of course, there's Ron Kramer, who on the very 1st day was the center of attraction among the photographers and kids who watched practice.

Tiger Notes

DETROIT (AP)—The Tigers get a day off today, and manager Bucky Harris is thankful for it.

"We sure can use the rest," he said. "It's been a pretty steady grind in recent weeks."

Detroit returns to action Friday night in Kansas City, where Paul Foytack will get his 1st major league start. He has an 0-0 mark this season with a 5.05 earned run average for 40 2-3 innings.

Tigers have purchased Tom Sarna, 21-year-old 3rd baseman from Augusta of the Sally League. He will report next spring.

New York football Giants claim the biggest man in professional football. Tackle Earl Putnam is 6 feet 6 and weighs 310 pounds.

FROM FAR PLACE — Two of the contestants in the national skeet shoot at OCSC's Waterford location are really from "a far place." Above are (left), Bernard Thom, and little Mee Tai Chang, Chinese-Hawaiians from Honolulu. Thom has shot in several nationals, but this is Mee Tai's first visit to the big championships, and to mainland USA. Thom is a husky shooter whose wife is with him. Chang is just over five feet tall and a very likable fellow.

TREE-TOP HIGH — Alfredo Mendoza was all of that and then some practicing jump at Cypress Gardens, Fla., He is a member of the Cypress Gardens team competing in the World Water Ski Tournament, ending Aug. 22 at Beirut, Lebanon.

New Game Area Near Bay City Up for Study

LANSING (AP)—The State Conservation Department next week will consider establishing a new state game area eight miles northwest of Bay City.

Conservation Department officials said the site is an area of swamp, open water and brush land along Saginaw Bay known as Tobico Marsh.

Scott Frost Seeking to Boost Earning Record

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP)—Scott Frost back from a triumphant tour of the Midwest after winning the Hambletonian four weeks ago, seeks to boost his 1955 earnings past the $100,000 mark tonight as the odds-on-favorite in the $73,840 Yonkers Futurity.

Planned Alaskan Trip Promises Versatility

DUNNELLEN, N. J. (AP)—Dick Bremmer plans to go hunting and fishing in Alaska in style. He has equipped a truck with all the comforts of home—including an easy chair.

And should fish and game prove scarce, Bremmer is prepared to hunt for uranium and gold. He is taking along a Geiger counter and equipment for panning the precious metal.

Jackson Batters Ex-King Charles

Ruins Boxer's Hopes for 3rd Title Shot With Unanimous Win

CLEVELAND (AP)—Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson, the fantastic young fighter who had just battered Ezzard Charles into helplessness, walked up to the 34-year-old ex-champ in the dressing room last night and told him, "that was one fight I hated to win."

The tall, 24-year-old youngster from Far Rockaway, N.Y., with his second unanimous 10-round decision over Charles in less than a month, had spoiled the Cincinnati boxer's hopes for another crack at the world's heavyweight crown.

In the ring before the TV cameras, Jackson was a dancing, weaving, cocky jack-in-the-box, finally staggering the baffled Charles in the 10th round and hitting him with punches from everywhere.

City Kegler Rolls 726

Richard Carmichael of Pontiac bowled an outstanding score Tuesday night at the Pontiac Recreation. Bowling on the 14th alley, Carmichael rolled a 726 series and threw 25 strikes out of a possible 30. Carmichael's total preceded the start of the season by two weeks.

Yachting Championship Annexed by Canada

TORONTO (AP)—Canada won the International Tumlaren Yachting Championships with a 64-42¼ victory over the United States Wednesday.

Tigers Top Senators With Guesswork

DETROIT (AP) — Everybody guessed right yesterday and the Detroit Tigers wound up with a 7-4 victory over the Washington Senators.

Bill Tuttle guessed right on the base paths, causing an interference play to be called against the Senators . . . Earl Torgeson guessed right on one of Ted Abernathy's pitches and drove it for a three-run homer . . . and manager Bucky Harris guessed right by bringing in Jim Bunning in relief.

These were the events which led the Tigers to their 10th victory in 11 games over the Senators in Briggs Stadium this season.

With the score tied 4-4 in the bottom of the seventh and Bill Tuttle on second, Al Kaline hit a hot grounder to Yost. Instead of trying for the fleet Kaline at first, Yost hung up Tuttle in a run-down between second and third.

Tuttle danced back and forth with the Senators in pursuit. It looked as though he'd be caught but, then, suddenly, he turned and ran smack into shortstop Jose Valdivielso, who was blocking the base path.

The umpires quickly called interference on the little Cuban and Tuttle was sent to third, with Kaline sitting safely on first.

"I just guessed right," Tuttle admitted later. "I decided to turn quickly on "Valdi" whether he had the ball or not. Fortunately for me, he had just gotten rid of it. If he was still holding it, I'd have been an easy out.

Moments after this play, Harris sent Torgeson in to bat for Jack Phillips and he lined one of Abernathy's pitches into the upper right field deck, cracking the 4-4 tie. It was Torgy's ninth of the season.

Harris then brought in Bunning from the bullpen, replacing starter Frank Lary, and the rookie right-hander held the Senators hitless through the last two innings.

"It sure has been a long time since one of our relief pitchers got the last six outs in order," Harris said."

Culinary Career When Retirement Comes for Bilko

LOS ANGELES — As long as Steve Bilko can swing a bat he'll always find employment as a ballplayer. But when the inevitable day comes that the round and firm first baseman can't get the bludgeon around, he ought to be a chef.

Boom-Boom, as the former Cardinal and Cub is known on the Los Angeles club, is getting plenty of practice in his role as chief cook (but not bottle washer) for himself and three other Angels he lives with, Pitcher Ray Bauer, Outfielder Bob Coats and Catcher Jim Fanning.

"What a salad he whips up," drooled Fanning. "He cooks anything—steaks, meat loaf and chicken. And he's proud of his meals. You eat a couple of helpings and then leave a little and he'll accuse you of not appreciating his cooking."

The players usually cook their own breakfasts with "Humphrey," as Steve Bilko is known in culinary circles, preparing the dinner.

Moose League Ready

Moose bowling league will begin action at Pontiac Recreation on Sept. 11, at 2 p.m. All members have been asked to report at 1:45 p.m. that day.

Former National Prexy Says Discipline Needed

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — John Heydler, former president of the National League, believes there must be strict discipline in the administration of the game.

The 86-year-old Heydler, who served as loop president from 1918 to 1934, now lives here in retirement but keeps up with the game via radio, television, newspapers and correspondence.

Davey O'Brien, former Texas Christian University quarterback named to the football Hall of Fame this year, never weighed more than 150 pounds during his collegiate days.

Daily Workouts Beginning

MSU Football Turnout 'Interesting, Eager,' Coach Daugherty Remarks

EAST LANSING (AP) — "Interesting" and "eager" were the two words coach Duffy Daugherty selected when asked to describe his 1955 Michigan State football squad.

Daugherty had 72 of his eager and interesting candidates show up for the picture-taking session Wednesday that was the prelude to today's start of regular fall practice.

"There's a lot of them with terrific potential," he said, "but of course they haven't gained a yard for us yet. We'll have to try to bring our sophomores along fast and fit them in with our more experienced men."

Kowalczyk, a power runner who also has the speed for outside sweeps, is number one at the position although he has yet to appear in a play-for-keeps game.

"As far as experience and depth go," Daugherty said, "we're a lot better off in the backfield than we are in the line."

Ticking off names, coaches found that all the candidates invited were accounted for except Harley Mackenzie, a sophomore guard from Alpena. Coaches said he apparently has dropped out.

Coaches indicated that they wouldn't be in a hurry to start scrimmage sessions this season. Last year, MSU had a raft of injuries in fall practice with the cripples including LeRoy Bolden, the star halfback.

Champs Roll Match at Cooley Opening

An exhibition bowling match between the champion Pfeiffer's team of Detroit and the Pabst squad will be held tonight at 8:30 p.m. to feature the grand opening of Cooley Lanes, Cooley Lake road.

Nationally-known keglers who will roll for Pfeiffer's tonight are Fred Bujack, Louis Sielaff, Therm Gibson, Harry Smith, and Roger Overmyer. Bowling for Pabst will be Les Pennell, Bill Titus, Bud Marohn, Paul George and Roy Johnston.

New "AMF" fully automatic pinspotters have been installed at the Cooley Lanes and will be initiated at tonight's exhibition. Public is invited.

Third Baseman Ransom Jackson of the Chicago Cubs never played baseball until he tried out for the team at Texas University. That 1st year he hit .500.

Hershey Sees All Men Ready

Outlines Defense Setup in Which Every Civilian Is Trained

BOSTON (INS) — Maj. Gen. Louis B. Hershey has revealed that within five years, the armed forces will be engaged in an all-inclusive defense setup which will see all qualified civilians in training or previously trained.

* * *

The director-general of selective service, in Boston to address the 56th national encampment of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, said:

"As soon as a youth reaches 18 years of age, he will be drafted into the national defense in one capacity or another."

Gen. Hershey added:

"We need a reserve force with equipment where we can get our hands on it. It is not important what we call it, universal military training or something else.

* * *

"We must build a trained civilian force and have it backed up with an active reserve of experienced men who could instantly step in and bring our units up to full strength.

Delay Lincoln Showing

DETROIT (INS)—Lincoln Division of Ford Motor Co. announces that public showing of its 1956 models has been postponed from Sept. 8 to Sept. 17.

A Lincoln spokesman said extensive quality checks on the new model were responsible for the delay.

Many airplane parts are now made of compressed glass fibers and manufacturers say their use probably will be extended.

State Highway Death Toll Shows Decrease

EAST LANSING (AP)—The steady upward trend in highway fatalities in Michigan finally showed a slump in July, state police reported today.

There were 5,732 injuries during the month, an increase of 13 per cent over the same month a year ago. Accidents totaled 15,111, a 2 per cent increase over the 14,455 total during July of 1954.

For the first seven months of the year, 1,037 persons were killed and 32,685 injured in 105,336 accidents. Deaths were up 3 per cent from 938, injuries increased 4 per cent from 30,331 and total accidents gained 3 per cent from 103,289.

Russians Publish Tome About Atomic Energy

LONDON (AP)—The Soviet government today put on sale a five-volume work on atomic energy.

Moscow radio said the books contain material from a recently held session of the U.S.S.R. Academy of Sciences and deal with the application of atomic energy in "various fields."

There were 2,475,000 college students in the U. S. in 1954 compared with 1,364,000 in 1939.

TOWNSHIP OF INDEPENDENCE, County of Oakland, State of Michigan Ordinance No. 14.

Amendment to Independence Township Building Code adopted August 23, 1955, effective October 1, 1955.

Title: An Ordinance to amend Sections 302.8, 304.1, 304.1 (2), 304.2 (4), and 304.3 (1) of Article Two, and Section 308.3 (4) of Article Three of Ordinance No. 5, as amended, of the Township of Independence.

The Township Board of Independence Township of the County of Oakland, State of Michigan, Ordains:

Section 1. Section 302.8 of Article Two of Ordinance No. 5 as amended of Independence Township is hereby amended by the addition of the following phrase at the end thereof: "Except garages and accessory buildings which shall have an eight (8) inch by twenty-four (24) inch ratwall."

Section 2. Section 304.1 of Article Two of Ordinance No. 5, as amended, of Independence Township is hereby amended by the deletion of the following paragraph:

"Compliance with the standards set forth in the publication 'Minimum Construction Requirements for New Dwellings Located in the State of Michigan,' revised May 15, 1948, Federal Housing Administration, FHA Form No. 2300, or 'National Design Specification for Street-Grade Lumber and Its Fastenings,' first edition 1944, National Lumber Manufacturers Association, shall be acceptable."

Section 3. Section 304.1 (2) of Article Two of Ordinance No. 5, as amended, of Independence Township is hereby amended to read as follows:

"2. Joist spans. First floor joists, if of wood shall not be less than two (2) inches x eight (8) inches up to and including fourteen (14) feet spans—two (2) inches x ten (10) inches up to and including eighteen (18) feet spans and two (2) inches x twelve (12) inches up to and including twenty four (24) feet spans. For second floor joist the foregoing spans may be increased by two (2) feet. In no case shall any floor joist be less than two (2) inches x eight (8) inches nor spaced further apart than sixteen (16) inches center to center, except that attic joist may be two (2) inches x six (6) inches, and except that added joists may be two (2) inches x six (6) inches, span not to exceed fourteen (14) feet. Spans above fourteen (14) feet must be two (2) inches x eight (8) inches. Sub floors shall be required on top of first and second floor joists and shall not be less than one (1) inch commercial flooring or shiplap, or one-half (½) inch plywood."

Section 4. Section 304.2 (4) of Article Two of Ordinance No. 5, as amended, of Independence Township is hereby amended to read as follows:

"4. Framing. All external wall covering materials shall be moisture-resistant, of sufficient stiffness and properly anchored to remain in place during high winds and be reasonably permanent, provided, however, that no type of material shall be used other than those types approved by the township board. Stud walls shall be constructed of not less than two by four (2x4) inch lumber, four (4) inch side at right angles to sheathing, spaced sixteen (16) inches on center in all bearing walls, with single sole, plate and double top plate.

All studs shall be securely fastened to plates top and bottom. Walls shall have corner posts either built-up or solid of not less than three two by fours (2x4's). Top plates shall lap at all corners and at all inter-section partitions. All such laps shall be securely nailed. All window and door openings shall be cut to rough size the header over the opening and shall extend in one piece from bearing to bearing.

Headers over all openings shall be doubled and shall be set on edge. In lieu of headers, trussed construction may be used. Spans for headers shall not exceed the following for the size given:

Spans up to 4 feet.....two 2x 4's
Spans 4 feet to 7 feet.....two 2x 6's
Spans 7 feet to 9 feet.....two 2x 8's
Spans over 9 feet.....two 2x10's

Section 5. Section 308.3 (4) of Article Three of Ordinance No. 5, as amended, of Independence Township is hereby amended by the addition of the following sentence at the end thereof:

Ayes: Andrews, Tucker, Rolfe, Snader, Doebler.

Grains Show Little Change

CHICAGO (AP)—Grains showed very little price change in quiet dealings on the Board of Trade today.

Feed grains and soybeans started out higher but quickly lost their advance. In contrast, wheat started out lower and then made up its lost ground. The market was awaiting a private crop forecast.

Weather was clear over much of the grain belt but weather has lost its influence as a price-making factor in the market. Trade reports said harvesting operations were starting on early soybeans in southern Illinois and Indiana. Harvesting is expected to become general within 10 days or two weeks.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was ⅛ lower to ⅛ higher, September $1.92¼; corn ¼ lower to ⅛ higher, September $1.27⅝; oats ⅛ lower to ¼ higher, September 56⅛; rye ¼ higher to ⅝ lower, September 93½; soybeans ¼ lower to ⅛ higher, September (new) $2.25¾, and lard unchanged to 8 cents a hundred pounds lower, September $19.92.

Steel Resumes Market Lead

NEW YORK (AP)—Steels resumed their leadership as the stock market moved higher in early trading today.

The market was fairly active with gains running to about a point and a few small losses.

Among the opening blocks, U. S. Steel was up ½ at 57 on 5,000 shares, Montgomery Ward up ½ at 83 on 2,100 shares, Douglas up ⅝ at 70½ on 1,500 shares and Boeing up ¼ at 64½ on 1,800.

But United Aircraft, which has gained nearly 9 points in the past two days, dropped 1½ at 86 on an opening block of 2,000 although it later recouped a point of this loss.

As the steels advanced, Bethlehem was up a point and other gains were scored by Crucible, Republic and Youngstown.

Aussie Physicist Hears Messages From Jupiter

SYDNEY (INS)—An Australian radio-physicist has announced that Australia was getting weekly "radio signals" from the planet Jupiter.

Dr. E. G. Bowen, chief of the radio-physics division of the Scientific Industrial Research Organization, said the signal appeared to originate from a visible marking on the far-off planet.

Met Mezzo Mona Paulee Injured in Stage Fall

DETROIT (AP)—Rushing to take a bow, actress-singer Mona Paulee fell last night and broke her left arm below the shoulder. She had just completed the role of "Bloody Mary" in South Pacific at a summer stock theater.

Miss Paulee, Metropolitan Opera mezzo-soprano, fell on stage stairs. Doctors said a special brace will help her continue with her South Pacific role.

Murrow Show Returns Friday

Video Newsman Takes American Public Into Celebrities' Homes

By CHARLES MERCER

This simple fact of human nature lies behind the popular appeal of Murrow's show Person to Person, which returns to CBS-TV tomorrow evening. With it, of course, returns Murrow, tanned and fit after vacation on his Pawling, N. Y., farm.

• • •

He and the show's coproducers—John A. Aaron and Jesse Zousmer—recall that some aimless conversation about walking down streets and looking in lighted houses led to the birth of this program in which cameras pass into the private homes of interesting people. "And," Murrow adds drily, "you don't have to be a peeping Tom to wonder how other people live."

Since 1953 Person to Person has visited 170 homes, two per program. Tomorrow night it adds those of actors Dick Powell and June Allyson in West Los Angeles, Calif., and of photographer Margaret Bourke-White in Darien, Conn. Generals, actors, athletes, business leaders, politicians, artists, a New York red cap and former President Harry Truman—all have welcomed Murrow's cameras in the front door and told him never mind looking through the window.

• • •

It's a rare citizen these days who slams the door in Murrow's face. In fact, there are more open doors than the program can ever hope to enter. It was not always thus. In the beginning there were several turndowns. But nearly all those who first said "No" have since come around with an eager "Yes."

"One of the big problems," says Murrow with a slow smile, "is delay in scheduling. You'd be surprised how many ladies want to have their homes redecorated before letting our cameras come in."

He calls the program "the most formatless show on television. We never know how it's going to work. I still don't know how we really do this show.

"But it goes on and things keep clicking smoothly. Actually, it's a pleasant change of pace to me. For instance, if I'm interviewing a politician on it I have no desire to pin him against the wall on the subject of politics. After all, he's in his own home. I like doing it because I like people. And I like the unpredictability of it."

The southeastern states have abundant regions of red soil. Other principal areas in the world are Africa, South America, Asia and South Pacific.

Ship Still Acceptable Despite Bad Bearing

NEWPORT NEWS, Va. (AP)—A naval spokesman said today the carrier Forrestal's burned out propeller shaft bearings will be no obstacle to the Navy's acceptance of the ship.

"Like death and taxes, trouble in new things is inevitable," said Rear Adm. R. F. Stout, president of the Navy Trial Board of Survey and Inspection, which checked the Forrestal's performance during her sea trials this week.

The mechanical difficulties that caused the giant new warship to postpone her full power runs Wednesday and to cut her trials short by two days "will be corrected and everything will be all right, I am sure," Stout told newsmen.

"There is a good probability" the Newport News Shipbuilding and Drydock Co., the Forrestal's builders, will be able to deliver the ship Sept. 29 as scheduled, he said.

Wall Streeters Reward Cop for His Decision

NEW YORK (AP)—Early this week Patrolman Julius A. Horai, 52, turned down a promotion to detective. He said it wasn't worth the extra $215 a year, considering he would have less time to spend with his family.

The word got around in Wall Street, which has been Horai's beat for most of his 23 years on the force. Folks in the area, remembering the policeman's past kindness and consideration, "passed the hat."

Result: contributions totaled $1,200—equal to six years of the pay boost Horai turned down.

RCAF Outpost Cold

Resolute, on Cornwallis Island, is the northernmost post of the Royal Canadian Air Force. It lies 360 miles north of the Arctic Circle. Outgoing planes make about 50 flights in spring, carrying men and a year's supplies to Mould Bay and Isachsen, Resolute's dependent weather stations. Permanent frost extends at least 675 feet into the ground at Resolute, says the National Geographic Society.

One-half of the people of the world live in eastern Asia.

Vienna 'Whites' Return

The famed White Horses of Vienna and their dexterous riders are coming back to their home arena in the Imperial Palace of the Hapsburg emperors. Until recently dispersed to various parts of Europe, the animals have been reassembled and will enter the ring of the Imperial Riding School and step out delicately into the quadrille that only they can do. The Lipizzaner horses are black at birth and do not turn white until the seventh year.

Delhi Slowly Dries Up

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — The Delhi state government, as a new step toward prohibition, has cut down the drinking hours in night clubs and hotels. An order puts a weekday curfew of midnight and a Saturday night curfew of 1 a.m. on drinking. Previously bars were permitted to serve drinks an hour longer. Delhi already observes dry Tuesdays each week.

Italy, which had a death rate of 14 per 1,000 a year before World War II had a rate of 12.1 in 1946 and 9 in 1954.

Eggs When Desired

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP) — Harry Kauffman, poultry specialist for Pennsylvania State University, says farmers producing eggs for a local market can fix production schedules to equalize monthly output. One flock of chickens hatched in winter and another flock hatched in June will help to equalize monthly production, Kauffman explained.

A mature skunk can fire from four to six successive discharges of odorous liquid, accurate to a distance of 8 to 15 feet.
