Victorious Nixon Facing Big Dem Vote

Pontiac Up '58 Pct. Over 1961

Auto Sales Spurt in May

Pontiac and Tempest car sales in May rose by 58 per cent over May of last year, the division reported today. Other makes also showed gains.

The selling record of 44,967 Pontiac and Tempest was the best for any May since 1955. It was announced today by E. M. (Pete) Estes, General Motors vice president and general manager for the Pontiac Motor Division.

In May of 1961 28,419 units were sold.

And the sales curve was still going up—in the last 10 days of May, dealers delivered 17,925 cars as compared to 10,787 in the same period last year. This increase totaled 66 per cent.

Meanwhile, Chevrolet sales in May were the highest for any month in the company's history for both trucks and cars. It was announced by General Manager S. E. Knudsen, predecessor of Estes at Pontiac.

OTHER SALES UP

Rambler, Chrysler, and Dodge sales were also up, according to the sales departments of their companies.

Business Outlook Good, Romney Tops, Says Ford

WASHINGTON (AP)—Henry Ford II spoke with restrained optimism yesterday about the current business outlook, proposed tax cuts, and the Kennedy administration.

But his enthusiasm for George Romney was less restrained.

The Ford Motor Co. board chairman said, "I am a Romney supporter. I think it is about time for a swing."

"We've had 14 years of state government under a Democratic machine."

"I think a change would be for the benefit of the state as a whole."

Ford said he thought the economy might get a lift from Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon's announcement of proposed top-to-bottom tax cuts next year.

The industrialist remained cautious about the tax cuts, however, saying they look "glamorous, but I haven't seen the second page."

PEOPLE THINKING

He said he has found no evidence that the recent stock market dip cut into consumer buying, but he added that the Wall Street gyrations "have affected everyone's thinking in the United States."

Ford said the market upheaval has not changed his company's financial plans, but "all of us wonder where this thing is going to go."

One thing in question, Ford said, is whether different price-earning ratios will result as the market stabilizes.

The industrialist said he does not "regard the Kennedy administration as antithetical," and said he did not believe that vigorous enforcement of antitrust laws would constitute an antitrust position.

Ford refused direct comment on the recent steel price crisis.

He said he had "great admiration" for Secretary of Labor Arthur Goldberg, but added he did not know where intervention might end.

He took the position that "a little bit of inflation" would not harm the country, but added that uncontrolled inflation must be avoided.

Bount Oum Ok Meeting

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Premier Prince Bount Oum Ok has agreed to go to the rebel-held Plain of Jars tomorrow to meet with neutralist Prince Savanna Phouma and pro-Communist Prince Souphanouvong to discuss formation of a coalition government.

Pontiac Man Is Drowned in Area Lake

A Pontiac man drowned on Upper Long Lake in Bloomfield Township shortly after 11 a.m. while clearing weeds from a swimming beach.

The victim, identified by Township police as Jeremiah Tolbert, 26, 24 Rockwell St., went down in 15 feet of water about 75 feet from the north shore, according to a fellow worker.

His body was recovered by Deputy Michigan Trooper, Oakland County Sheriff's Department skin diver.

The victim was in a 12-foot boat with Edward Kimble, 55, 603 S. Paddock St.

Kimble said he dropped anchor and the boat rocked. Kimble and Tolbert both lost their balance and fell overboard.

The two men were working for a firm contracted to clean the swimming beach for the Upper Long Lake Estates Association.

The drowning occurred just south of Lake Point Drive and Marie Circle.

To Teach English in Borneo

Pontiac teacher, Joyce Hoffman, will swap a cool, modern classroom this fall to teach in a country which one encyclopedia describes as "wet, hot and unwholesome."

Miss Hoffman, 29, civics and English teacher at Washington Junior High School, is the first Pontiac resident to join the U.S. Peace Corps. Her destination, Borneo, a kidney-shaped island of 286,000 square miles just south of the Malay Peninsula.

White American fighting men are tramping through the jungles of Laos and Viet Nam not far away. Miss Hoffman hopes to teach English to the natives in British-controlled territories of North Borneo or Sarawak.

The other half of the island is controlled by Indonesian President Sukarno who is currently squabbling with the Dutch about their holdings in the area.

Why is Miss Hoffman volunteering for a mission of peace and better?

Dick Gets Busy Uniting Party in California

Opponent Gov. Brown Rolls Up Nearly Same Count as 2 GOP Men

By the Associated Press

Richard M. Nixon, winner of the Republican nomination for governor of California, is over the first hurdle of his comeback bid for high office today.

However, heavy voting in the Democratic primary emphasized he is still a long way from the statehouse.

Democratic Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown, bidding for a second term, was rolling up almost as big a vote from his party's balloting as the combined total split between Nixon and Joseph C. Shell, the GOP contenders.

Brown ran in the primary against three little-known aspirants for the Democratic nomination.

Nixon, maintaining roughly a 3-1 edge over Shell as counting continued today of Tuesday's voting, was already setting about efforts to unite his party for what obviously was going to be a hard campaign. He had kind words for Shell.

Brown, relating confidence, agreed it was going to be a rugged campaign, promising: "You can expect the greatest fight you've ever seen."

PATS SHELL ON BACK

Nixon's party peace efforts got an assist from Republican National Chairman William E. Miller who issued a statement in Washington congratulating Nixon and commending Shell, and declaring:

"As a dedicated Republican, we are confident Joe Shell will be instrumental in rallying his supporters behind the Republican nominee and insuring a smashing defeat of the Democratic incumbent in November."

"A united Republican party will mean victory and the return of California once again as the Republican capital of the Far West."

In Gettysburg, Pa., former President Dwight D. Eisenhower said Nixon's victory in the Republican primary is "a sure indication of the arrangement by Detroit academic tests last summer and passed."

"I'm still up in the air about it all," Miss Hoffman said. "I was told about the assignment last week by my parents (Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hoffman) in Grand Rapids. The letter from Sargent Shriver in Washington was sent to them."

Her first assignment was offered her last fall in new African country of Sierra Leone.

"I would have liked to go," she said, "but it was in September a hard time to find a replacement here — and I had a contract to fulfill."

Miss Hoffman, 24, Huron St. has been at Washington Junior High eight years, since graduation from Hope College in Holland, Mich.

She presently teaches four civics classes and one English class and is in charge of one homeroom.

"In my sparetime — when there is any — I read," she said, (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

Other Things to Think About

Change in Ordinance Means Service Reduction, Tax Hike

Pontiac's 1962 fiscal condition will be one of more taxes and less services.

That's the picture painted by an emergency amendment to the 1962 appropriation ordinance, introduced at the City Commission table last night.

The cause of the dilemma: A shrunken tax base.

It will set the 1962 tax rate at $15.50 per every $1,000 of assessed property valuation, an increase of 38 cents over the 1961 tax rate of $15.00.

It will slice $270,350 off the previously adopted 1962 budget appropriations, according to City Manager Robert A. Stierer.

TO BE REDUCED

Much of the cutback will be felt in a "drastic reduction in such services as street patching and sweeping, traffic sign replacement, storm drain repair and maintenance and chloride applications to unpaved streets."

The appropriation ordinance adopted in January called for a $15.50 tax rate to support a $6,178,675 total budget based on an assumed total assessed valuation of $399,554,000.

This was jolted when the city's board of review set the assessed valuation at $281,062,300.

This meant the budget had to be cut or the tax rate go to at least $14.30 per $1,000 of assessed property value.

TO AFFECT SERVICE

Stierer explained prior to last night's meeting that the overall budget cuts will affect services more than jobs of city employees.

"All department heads, he said, 'began cutting expenses a month ago. We will concentrate on services and equipment first. Where the payroll is concerned, we won't hire many of the normal seasonal workers and won't fill vacancies. There could be layoffs of present personnel, but only as a last resort.'"

The city manager pointed out that some accounts are already in bad shape.

"The Department of Public Works," he said, "reports that due to the bad winter, our ice and snow removal account is already $25,000 in the red and as of May 1 the street patching account had only a $5,000 balance."

The cut in capital improvement will mean less money for New York, outsped 25 other 3-year-olds today to capture the 183rd running of the Epsom Derby.

Second over the finish line in the 1 1/2-mile classic with its five-year-old and winner's purse of $97,400 was the French colt Arcor, followed by another French horse, Le Canticle.

Larkspur won by 2 lengths, and Arcor was a half length in front of Le Canticle.

Guest colt started at odds of 22 to 1. Arcor was 40-1, and Le Canticle 8-1.

Action Follows New Attack on George Romney

Labor Convention Told Con-Con Sacrificed to Help GOP Candidate

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—The politically powerful Michigan AFL-CIO voted unanimously at its convention today to oppose Michigan's proposed new constitution.

The vote came today after William Marshall, executive vice president of the state AFL-CIO attacked George Romney for his role in writing the proposed new document.

Marshall said the constitutional convention was sacrificed to help Romney's bid for the Republican nomination as governor.

"It's a shame it turned out this way but Romney's political ambitions took priority over all else."

There was no question which way the labor unionists would vote.

LANSING (AP)— The State Chamber of Commerce "unhappily and unambiguously" endorsed Michigan's proposed new constitution today. Directors of the chamber issued a statement praising it as "a stronger, better coordinated, more logically arranged" document than the present constitution written 54 years ago.

They had heard speakers, ranging from Gov. Romney to United Auto Workers President Walter Reuther, blast the constitution as drawn by the Republican-dominated constitutional convention.

More than 1,000 of the delegates and their wives thronged city auditorium last night to hear a 9 1/2-hour debate by two Republican and two Democratic con delegates.

Glen Allen, former Republican speaker of the House, told the audience, which booed the Republican speaker mildly on several occasions.

"I understand you are going to vote against us anyway. But remember a 'no' vote will leave us with the 1960 constitution and the issue is whether it is to stay or to be one or to move on to 1962. I am pleased it is the Republican delegates who are urging you tonight to move ahead."

"DOUBLE CON"

Melvin Nord, Detroit Democrat, told the audience the constitution should not be called con-con but rather a "double-con."

Nord said it "developed from an infamous political deal between the supposed reformer, George Romney, and the antireform farm bloc, which clearly showed St. George was not going to lay the dragon, but on the contrary, entertain the friendliest feelings toward it."

Earlier yesterday, Reuther, in a fighting 50-minute speech, had attacked the proposed constitution.

He also chided unions which mild support the constitution.

"Some union leaders get fire in their eyes only when they are stealing workers from some other unions," he said.

Letter Reveals Ford Dem Gifts

Stoebler Acknowledges Money From 178 Firm Executives

DETROIT (AP)—A letter from Neil Stoebler, Democratic national committeeman, thanking Ford Motor Co. for 178 envelopes containing donations from Ford executives for the Democratic party was published here today.

The letter was dated June 5, 1962, and addressed to Thomas R. Reid, Ford's civic and governmental affairs manager. It was published in the Detroit News.

August (Gus) Scholle, president of the Michigan AFL-CIO, told the convention at Grand Rapids Monday that Republicans raise hundreds of thousands of dollars from automobile company executives and office workers by "exploiting" activities.

Contacted at the convention today, Scholle said of the letter: "That would be about one in 1,000 of Ford's executives who contributed to the Democratic party."

Just a River, but It Draws Line Between Ideologies

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
VIETNAME, Laos — Here, where the Mekong River forms the East-West boundary between Laos and Thailand, a barren sandbar stretches out from the steep river bank nearly a mile toward the Thailand shore.

A mile or so upstream, huddled listlessly on the far shore, is a small Thai village.

The village and its thatched huts ordinarily scarcely would be worth a second glance. But today it gets special attention from Thai police on guard against Pathet Lao infiltrators hoping to spread the Communist guerrilla war in Laos across the river into Thailand.

It is not too difficult a trick because more Laotians live in north-east Thailand than in all of Laos itself. Rainfall hits the northeast plateau only during the two to three months of the monsoon season and the poverty of the people makes them natural targets for the Communists.

The Mekong now is not the impressive river it will become in a few weeks. When the monsoon hits it will run a mile and a half wide, brimming from bank to bank. The monsoon will fill the paddies, turn the few roads into bottomless pits, and nature will take a hand in military strategy.

The Mekong is impressive now because it represents a deep new commitments for the United States.

It is a new fixed line of defense which could become as significant for Americans as Berlin, the 38th Parallel in Korea or the Straits of Formosa.

JUST AS EXPLOSIVE

And potentially it is just as explosive, for a line, for whatever reasons it is drawn, automatically limits the mobility of the one who draws it.

Across the river, just 35 miles away at Udorn are U.S. Marines, and scattered up and down the line from Chiang Mai in the north to Ubon in the south are other taken Allied forces of Great Britain, Australia and New Zealand.

Western military and diplomatic representatives here accept the fact that the Pathet Lao and their Communist Viet Minh allies from North Viet Nam could, if they wished, complete the conquest of Laos in one lightning blow.

Then would come a test at the Mekong if the Communists should decide to expand their offensive into Thailand.

For diplomats here, these are days of suspense.

U. S. Ambassador Winthrop Brown and British Ambassador J. M. Addison both express guarded optimism — Addison with the "deepest reservations" — that before the monsoon floods subside, agreement on a neutral Laos will have been reached and the military danger eased.

Despite the imminence of military defeat and their promises to negotiate, evidence still remains that Premier Prince Boum and strongman Gen. Phoumi Noyan hope to retain their position. Such could be accomplished only if a minimum of 300,000 U.S. troops entered Laos.

Ford Considers Building Plant in West Berlin

WASHINGTON — The Ford Motor Co. disclosed yesterday it is giving serious thought to setting up a manufacturing plant in West Berlin as a symbol of the importance of that city to the free world.

Henry Ford II, the company's board chairman, told a news conference that a team of Ford executives was headed to Berlin after he received a letter from Gen. Lucius Clay, then President Kennedy's special ambassador in that city.

Ford said his company likely will set up a plant in Berlin "if we can work out something reasonably economically sound."

OK Enlisting Fifty to Man Area Missiles

Michigan recruiters have been granted authority by the Department of the Army to enlist 50 men from Michigan to train for assignment with the 28th Artillery Group (Air Defense) in the Desert.

The 28th Artillery Group is presently manning missile sites around the Detroit Metropolitan area. These missile sites are part of the Air Defense Command charged with the responsibility of protecting the North American Continent from air attack.

The enlistment campaign, now under way, ends June 20.

First evidence that Stone Age men existed was found at Chelles, France, in 1847. Since then, the so-called Chelles Man's tools have been collected over much of Africa, Asia and southwestern Europe.

'Don't Try Us,' AMA Tells JFK
Medical Assn. Head Says King-Anderson Bill Real Issue

CHICAGO (AP)—The American Medical Association answering President Kennedy's challenge to "set the record straight," says the King-Anderson medical care bill—not the AMA—is on trial.

The exchange was the latest development in the administration-AMA dispute over a plan for medical care for the aged.

President Kennedy, in a letter to Dr. Leonard W. Larson, AMA president, cited past actions Kennedy said indicated the AMA's opposition to the Social Security system.

The President's letter Tuesday was in reply to a message Larson sent Kennedy last month charging the President had created the impression the AMA had called Social Security a "crustal hoax" and was among opponents of its enactment in the 1930s.

'STATEMENT FALSE'
Larson's letter said, in part, "President Kennedy made the statement in his May 23 news conference that the 'AMA was one of the chief opponents of the Social Security system in the '30s.' This statement is false."

"The American Medical Association did not oppose enactment of the Social Security system, but what may have been said at some later time is extraneous to the accusation the President made on May 23."

"Furthermore, I want to emphasize that past history of the AMA has nothing to do with the merits of the King-Anderson bill."

"The King-Anderson bill is on trial, not the AMA."

Has Idea for Shelter Under an Overpass
TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—State Road Board member W. F. E. Carson thinks the elevated Tampa Expressway, on which construction will start soon, should transport people in time of peace and protect them in time of war.

Cason, noting that there's lots of concrete and dirt piled up for overpasses on an elevated highway, suggests that public fallout shelters could be built in the overpass approaches.

He has asked road department engineers to investigate the practicality of his idea.

Crisis Comes Next Week

Hyannis Must Find Housing for Southerners

(Editor's Note — What will be the fate of the southern Negroes who have been given one-way bus tickets to a town near President Kennedy's summer home. The situation is approaching a crisis.)

By HARRY FERGUSON
HYANNIS, Mass. (UPI) — The clock is moving relentlessly toward crisis hour for this village some four miles up the road from President Kennedy's summer home.

The next week will determine whether Hyannis wins or loses its struggle to take care of the destitute southern Negroes whom segregationists are sending north on one-way bus tickets.

Housing is the crucial problem. Most of the Negroes now are living in the dormitory of the Cape Cod Community College, which opens a summer term in mid-June. They must move out then and, as of now, nobody can say where they will go. News of Hyannis' troubles has got around the country as witness this unsigned letter received by the town authorities from Natchitoches, La.:

"My, my, what has come over you folks in Hyannis? Don't you know Teddy Kennedy rolled out the red carpet for the first Negro that went to the land of freedom?"

"Teddy said Massachusetts is where freedom started. The Negroes in the South were satisfied until the Kennedys started to ram the Negroes down people's throats."

The key facts of the situation here are:

— It is not true that a "Little Harlem" suddenly has sprung up in the yard of Kennedy's summer home. His home is in the neighboring village of Hyannis Port. It is located in what is known as the "Kennedy compound," a fenced area containing houses belonging to the President, his brother Robert and his father.

— Everybody here agrees that the segregationists are trying to embarrass the President because of his civil rights stand, but, judging from the mail arriving here from the south, Robert Kennedy is the real target of resentment.

There are frequent references in letters and post cards to the position he took on the issue of the freedom riders in the South.

— Negro men can find temporary work here during the tourist season, but will be out of jobs after Labor Day. The normal population of the Cape Cod area is 70,000. It swells to 200,000 during the summer season.

SOME DISAGREE

— Not everybody in Hyannis approves the position of the town authorities in welcoming the southern Negroes and trying to find a place in the community for them. ("There has been some grumbling, all right, but it is a small minority," one official said.)

— Not everybody in the South approves of sending the Negroes north. The Little Rock, Ark.,

Chamber of Commerce issued a statement saying "only a small minority of Little Rock citizens are supporting the movement."

Southerners who write encouraging letters to Hyannis officials frequently enclose an editorial from the Arkansas Gazette of Little Rock noting that 20 Negroes were among the Negroes leaving on one weekend, and adding that the sponsors of the trip "succeeded in bringing a measure of undesired shame down upon the whole of Arkansas."

So far as Hyannis is concerned, the children are the toughest problem. The number of Negroes to be cared for fluctuates because some of the single men leave immediately for New York, Boston and Philadelphia as soon as they see conditions here.

But at one point there were 49 southern Negroes here and 33 of them were children. Their ages ranged from 17 down to 18 months. Three women who either are separated from their husbands or have been deserted have a total of 27 children — Mrs. Victoria Bell of Little Rock, has 10; Mrs. Lela Mae Williams of Huttig, Ark., nine; Mrs. Eliza Davis of Cuba, Ala., eight.

"The problem here," said Thomas Murphy, the village official in charge of welfare, "is that we don't want the mothers to work even if we can find jobs for them. There is nobody else to look after the children."

"I would estimate that it costs $100 a month to take care of each Negro who has come here. For Hyannis, the state classifies these people as "unsettled persons" and reimburses us for the money we spend on them. But there still is no answer to the housing problem once we have to move them."

The Negroes arrive here convinced they will be moved immediately into ample houses, that well-paying jobs are available for everybody and that schooling will be provided in the fall for all children.

They also have some other ideas.

When Mrs. Williams got as far as Providence, she told the bus driver she wanted to stop and change into her best dress because "the President's brother is going to meet me."

WANTS RED CADILLAC
Actually, Ted Kennedy has met only one of the Negroes — David Harris, 43, from Little Rock, the first to arrive.

"You have come," Kennedy said to him, "to a state which since the time of the Pilgrims has been a haven for those seeking relief from oppression."

Harris thanked him and said that some day he hoped to return to Little Rock "a rich man driving a red Cadillac."

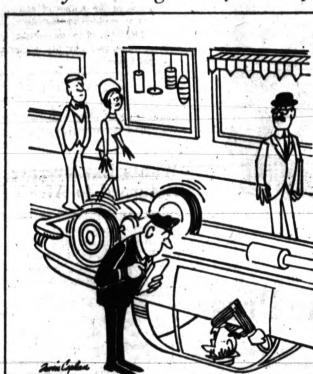

The amount of cash given to each Negro when he boards a bus in the South varies, but averages around $7. One of them arrived here with only two cents, but others nurse their money carefully and a 17-year-old girl, Wardene Davis, said she had spent two nights and three days on a bus but still had some money because "I just ate nothing but light bread and beans all the way."

Large cities have agencies to care for such people — the Traveler's Aid, Salvation Army, the Community Settlement House. Hyannis has none of these.

The Rev. Kenneth Warren of the Unitarian Church has organized a committee. He tries to meet each Negro as he arrives, see that he is temporarily settled and is provided with food.

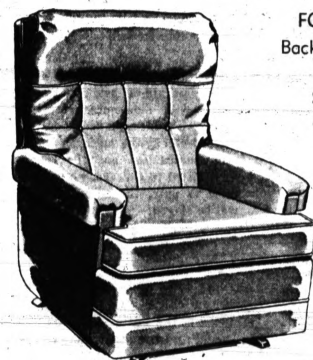

"This is a severe crisis for us," he said. "But it has been good for us, too. I think the tide of public opinion turned against the segregationists when they started sending children to us. I get lots of mail and 75 per cent of it is favorable. I'm proud of our people here. In a severe crisis they have proved for all the world to see that all men are created equal."

China's Food Problem Causing World Concern

The crux of Communist China's desperate struggle to provide food for its 650 million people has been characterized not as whether the food supply can be slowly and laboriously expanded but as to whether it can overtake demand.

Fifteen-million more mouths to feed are added to the Chinese food problem every year under a regime that frowns upon birth control. Flight of refugees to Hong Kong, which the Economist of London describes as "the greatest mass crossing of the frontier since the Japanese invasion in 1941," provides poignant evidence that the burden is insupportable.

Spring sowing is nearly completed at the more than 2,000 state farms in China. In Shanghai, tens of thousands of urban workers reportedly are being removed to rural communes in the government's desperation to bolster the farm labor force.

Many Western farm experts believe that, after three straight years of poor harvests, Red China simply must have a bumper grain crop in 1962 if outright famine is to be avoided.

Free world readings of the Chinese farm situation have been shown to be imperfect in the past. Reliable information on rainfall conditions behind the Bamboo Curtain is harder to come by this year than ever before. But large-scale wheat purchases by Peiping from Australia and Canada, and the tales told by refugees arriving in Hong Kong and Portuguese Macao, indicate that the crisis is severe indeed.

Hunger is no stranger to the Chinese mainland. Between 1850 and 1950 an estimated total of 100 million Chinese starved to death. Mainland China's economy was in a state of virtual exhaustion when the Communists took over in 1949 after more than a decade of civil war.

However, no widespread famine has been reported on the mainland for the last decade—a fact which even an undernourished Chinese peasant is likely to keep in mind when he contemplates revolt.

Uprightness of Boxing Now at All-Time Low

It departed mortals do indeed "turn over in their graves" when provoked by earthly phenomena not consonant with beliefs they once embodied, then the remains of the Marquis of Queensberry must have been for some time now emulating a pin-wheel. For the integrity of professional boxing, the sport that claimed him as its patron, is currently at an all-time low.

It is our considered opinion that the ranks of those connected with the sport (?)—fighters, managers, promoters, et al.—have been infiltrated by fast-back operators and opportunists with scant regard for the ethics of their craft or concern over the low estate to which it has fallen.

As the most recent link in a long chain of evidence, we submit the Patterson-Liston farce. It is farcical because, in the first place, in no reputable pursuit would someone of Liston's antisocial background and criminal proclivities be accorded even standing room . . . or falling-down room, in his case.

After the match had been articulated, quest for an arena got under way—with New York, as usual, favored. But the boxing commission of the Empire State landed a haymaker on the project—a haymaker much to be commended—by banning the fracas from its sovereign soil.

Following this, the promotional effort moved on to Detroit. After much on-again-off-again maneuvering with subsequent revelations of considerable double-dealing and deceit, the Michigan city was counted out and the ring was shifted to Chicago, where, it came to pass, the alleged fight will be staged.

And this we think is eminently fitting. Chicago is one of the more corrupt and racket-ridden North American cities, and the unsavory elements of the Patterson-Liston set should find the atmosphere of the Windy City most compatible.

A sizable number of Americans are fortunate in that they have kinsfolk in or near Seattle whom for years they have neglected to visit.

Remember This If You're Considering Buying Elephant for Pet

By HOWARD V. HELDENBRAND
Those of you on the point of acquiring an elephant for a household pet should be warned that the average pachyderm eats 50 pounds of hay daily (Sundays and holidays included). Not counting midnight snacks, this totals up to nine tons a year. At present menus prices, $110 per ton, each and every elephant lover will annually pick up a check for $990 . . . And that, as the fella said, ain't hay.

After walking his third consecutive batter, Bill Dickey, the catcher, strolled leisurely to the mound and observed pleasantly: "You're got three on, son." To which, Gomez in tones of deepest scorn retorted: "Whatcha think I thought those guys on base were—extra infielders?"

David Lawrence Says:

JFK Doesn't Understand the Press

WASHINGTON — Inside the White House they live in a kind of intellectual seclusion. President Kennedy himself and his aides make comments to the press moments which reflect a regrettable lack of experience with the world of reality.

Thus, the other day the President made quite a fuss and canceled all the White House subscriptions to the New York "Herald Tribune" because the edition he got in Washington didn't carry a story about the investigation of the stockpiling of war materials which, in the Administration's political mind, should be equated with the Billie Sol Estes case.

But the reason why the "Herald Tribune" didn't get its news article about the Senate hearings on the stockpile affair into a certain edition on a given day is far less important than what is revealed about the unfamiliarity of the folks in the White House offices with the way a newspaper operates.

For it is truly a miracle that any newspaper gets out its first edition — of the second or its third — on a regular schedule. Nobody gets out the equivalent of a 218-page book in a single night except a newspaper.

Indeed, in a newspaper with 16 pages of news matter there are 10,000 words. Sometimes in the stream of copy a story gets mislaid or lost.

FAST KEYBOARD
The typesetters have to do a fast job. They operate a machine called a linotype. It has a keyboard, and it's possible to make mistakes in setting up type just as it is in working a typewriter.

But the mistakes on a type-written copy of paper can be marked out with a pencil, or a few words typed in to correct the error. In a newspaper column of lead type, a mistake of one character means resetting a whole line. If one word is omitted, a number of lines may have to be reset.

Then somebody has to find the exact place to insert the corrected line or lines on the page. Some times, in haste, a wrong line is accidentally pulled out by the make-up man, and the result is that lines are duplicated or omitted.

Now, many readers have doubtless become exasperated over the errors in print, as does this correspondent at times.

But the fact remains that setting the type correctly is only one of a number of problems that face the newspaper's computer room and the reporters and editorial writers have turned in their copies, headlines have been written, and it is all ready to be put into type.

The Country Parson

The editor may have started carefully in advance just where each story should be placed. It doesn't matter sometimes how early a story got to the composing room.

DOESN'T FIT
In the last minutes of make-up and transposition, something that was planned for a certain spot just doesn't fit in the allotted amount of space, and something else has to be quickly inserted that does fit.

One can't be thinking of the sensitivities of White House folks in moments like these.

Minutes count in this whole operation. There are mail trains to catch, as well as trucks to be loaded in time to catch these trains. There are news dealers in other towns and cities who have to call for the papers and deliver them on time to the subscribers.

Many a morning's first edition of the New York "Herald Tribune" or the New York "Times" arrive too late for the breakfast table here. Something in

Dr. Harold Hyman Says:

Serious Ill Effects Result From Overexposure to Sun

Everyone knows that sunlight is essential to our survival. Without it, life could not be sustained on earth. We all know, too, that an acute sunburn may be a very painful experience.

Less well known, however, are the ill effects of prolonged overexposure to the sun's rays (chronic actinic irradiation) and the disturbances that may be experienced by those who have allergy to sunlight (photosensitivity).

Professor John M. Kunk, of the Baylor University college of medicine in Houston, Tex., recently summarized these less well-recognized manifestations.

Burn-producing wave lengths are present in greater concentration at midday rather than earlier or later in the day. This observation checks with the Noel Coward lyric to the effect that only "mad dogs and Englishmen go out in the midday, out in the midday sun."

Burn-producing wave lengths also are present in greater concentrations in tropical countries and at high altitudes. Their intensity, furthermore, is increased by reflectors such as water, snow and sand. Their intensity is decreased by smoke, fog, clouds, clothing and other forms of medical machinery.

Prolonged and sustained exposure (chronic actinic irradiation) hastens the degenerative skin changes associated with aging. Also chronic actinic irradiation may be a causative factor in the growth of a skin cancer (cancerogenesis).

Neither of these ill effects is observed in portions of the skin surface not exposed to sunlight (abdominal wall or buttocks). And they are less likely to occur in the Negro whose increased skin content of pigment (melanin) acts as a protective.

These facts explain why doctors have frequently commented on the rare occurrence of skin cancers in the Negro, and why many of us note how much kinder the aging process is to the Negro than to the Caucasian of the same age, particularly when the prevailing conditions of life are relatively comparable.

the chain of communication and traffic breaks down.

It's too expensive to send the papers by air when occasionally the trains are delayed or something else happens to interrupt the right schedule.

Basically, it is, indeed, a miracle that a newspaper gets out all that as many as three editions are handled in the evening hours, and that many of the stories which are originally prepared do finally get into the paper for the next morning.

This isn't something in which a change can be effected by cancelling White House subscriptions, though this is a tactic which Mr. Khrushchev might enjoy.

Smiles

Why do we always have to touch wet paint to see if it's really wet?

Dad gets into the dirt in the garden and Mom gets it over the back fence.

Dr. Harold Hyman Says:

Serious Ill Effects Result From Overexposure to Sun

Those of us who are normally sensitive may protect ourselves by measured exposure, the wearing of protective clothing and the gradual development of a suntan.

The hypersensitive, on the other hand, may have to be more completely screened by products in creams or by drugs prescribed by their physicians.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE M-433: Vivian Edmondson, aged about 38, is a spunky but very articulate housewife of Columbus, Ohio.

"Dr. Crane," she said on the phone, "I have read your newspaper column in which you outlined the possibility that many of all of the ocean's 44 water soluble chemicals may be proved of benefit in deficiency ailments."

"And we have tried the sea salt with very good effects. So have many of our friends."

"But recently the president of the American Medical Association ran a signed article in which he castigated the sea salt with other forms of medical machinery."

"He said it has no therapeutic value whatever in arthritis and the Food and Drug Administration has even claimed it has no medical value for any human ailments."

"Yet they never cited even one patient or one doctor's report of any test cases."

"They simply pontificated and apparently felt that their high medical or governmental positions would instantly intimidate all newspaper readers."

"Dr. Crane, when you wrote about sea salt, you said your father-in-law, then aged 86, came out of coma and his arthritis right hip limbered up in the point he used sea salt. I was so relieved just over his bed knee to remove his shoe and sock at night."

"You also cited other cases. But

City Commissioner Writes About Racial 'Problems'

Negroes and whites live side by side and have for 300 years, yet even today few whites have actually experienced a deep social relationship with any given Negro. This is unthinkable.

Without deep inter-personal relationships it is impossible for any thorough going alteration of group attitudes or hostilities. Until people can become "involved" with others on a personal basis, there can be no real change of interest in common problems and no appreciation of others' feelings. This is why intelligent men like Messrs. Whitmer, Soley and McMillan were unable to foresee the dangers in the tragic course they elected to follow. And these tactical blunders are compounded on higher national and international levels by men with our national destiny in their hands, but are just not capable of relating themselves with darker peoples, whose influence is daily increasing.

It becomes relevant to know whether a principal of a largely integrated high school, where the entire Negro student body has been subjected to the indignities which have been heaped upon them, believes in the notion of unassimilability. Any person knows that this runs counter to, and does violence to the American egalitarian idealism. The unassimilables fall easy prey to feelings of frustration and hostility which retard efforts to breach artificial racial barriers.

The loss of constructive community contribution, costs America its life blood. In the long run, society must support the jobless whose natural talents have been subverted because of race. But this business not only costs money, it saps the energies of those who must resist.

Wants Ex-Governor Returned to Africa 'Should Allow Men in Delivery Room'

Help. After spending 12 years running Michigan's national reputation and giving the state a black eye to all industry, I thought we were through with G. Hennen Williams when his party shipped him to Africa.

He insisted the Africans as soon as he arrived, but that was patched up and most of us hoped he was "here for life. Now he's back telling us what to do about our State Constitution."

I don't know whether the new one any good, but we don't need any more advice from the Scholle-Reuther chapter on the constitution or anything else. Africa—take back your personal property. We gave him to you for life.

Agitated Taxpayer

'People Interested in Way City's Run'

I commend Commissioner Taylor for his fortitude in voting against the resolution granting Herbert Straley compensation and a lifetime pension. You are not alone in this belief. Strongly being pulled at an alarming rate and at the expense of the "unsuspecting taxpayer."

We in District 4 are in sympathy with Mrs. Meggett, and 'here of District 5, as our situation is similar. Winded but president of the City Council reserves during the Straley administration, had never been concerned about the conditions existing in our area before.

Others would like to see a public statement as to what furnished the money for the organized campaign material delivered to homes in Districts 4, 5 and 6 the Saturday afternoon before election, and too late for any rebuttal.

We are still a free people believing in democratic procedures and the right of free Republicanism. We shall run this city regardless of the wishes of the people.

Shaw and his biochemical cohorts are liars.

Apparently, the FDA went off half-cocked in its internal feud with me and stupidity stated,

"So how do they get by their unsupported charges?"

SCIENCE VS. BUREAUCRATS
Mrs. Edmondson has cited one of the greatest hazards to the future of our free Republic, namely, the tendency of people to accept uncritically the pontificated statements of bureaucrats, without demanding proof.

Your newspaper is doing a patriotic service to expose all attempts to regiment thinking and stifle private business by bureaucrats.

Newspapers are the last bastion of defense against domination by a central government!

The American Dental Association has shown the great value of the ocean's fluoride to reduce tooth decay.

Does the FDA wish to say the American Dental Association is unscientific and in error?

Our Department of Agriculture also reports soil deficiencies of these water soluble chemicals. Farmers must make up many of these deficiencies before they can even receive their soil bank checks.

Does the FDA think the Department of Agriculture is hoarding the farmers of America?

Sea iodine has been added to table salt since 1924 to banish simple goiter. Didn't the FDA ever hear of that fact before?

Biochemists, such as Dr. James H. Shaw of Harvard, have identified 44 of the ocean's 44 chemicals in tooth enamel, dentin and bone.

Does the FDA wish to say Dr.

"There is nothing of any therapeutic value in the sea salt. I have hundreds of clinical cases to support my newspaper comments about sea salt. The FDA has cited not even one!"

So you readers might send for my booklet "The Ocean's 44 Trace Chemicals."

Let the FDA either put up or shut up and stop oppressing little merchants who sell sea salt!

MARRIED — Composer Jule Styne and British-born actress Margaret Brown were married in New York Monday. The wedding took place in the study of Dr. Julius Mark, senior rabbi of Congregation Emanu-El. The couple plans to spend a brief honeymoon in Hollywood where Styne will make arrangements for a special concert of his music.

Wilderness Bill Manuever Claimed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democratic members of the House interior committee were accused yesterday of trying to kill an administration-backed plan to preserve millions of acres of public land in a state of natural wilderness.

Rep. John P. Saylor, R-Pa., top GOP member of the committee, said the Democrats had launched a "deliberate attempt to make sure the wilderness bill is not brought up."

It is no secret that many miners, ranchers and lumbermen view the proposed wilderness system as a threat to their livelihood.

The House public lands subcommittee, headed by Rep. George Ploof, D-Ill., has held nine days of public hearings on the Senate-passed proposal.

But Saylor said that an effort was now being made to keep the controversial legislation bottled up in committee.

"If I can blast the bill out of committee and onto the House floor," Saylor said, "there is no question it will be approved."

Under the plan, about seven million acres of public land already declared wilderness areas automatically would be included in the system.

Additional public land, estimated at 60 million acres, would be considered for gradual inclusion in the wilderness system with Congress having a veto power over individual parcels.

Mining, grazing and lumbering licenses would be strictly curtailed. There are few congressmen who say they are opposed to the wilderness plan but many western lawmakers are interested in working out a compromise where the land would be reserved for the public and at the same time open for economic development.

The public lands subcommittee has scheduled four closed sessions in June to consider pending legislation. But Saylor said the wilderness plan had been placed at the end of the subcommittee's calendar and that he was not sure it would be considered before adjournment.

"We're not out of the woods yet," he said.

Luxury Tag Off Air Conditioning

To Be as Commonplace as Refrigerator, Says
Electric Firm Man

NEW YORK (UPI) — Air conditioning finally has cast off the "luxury item" label and this year could be the year when the air conditioner becomes as commonplace as the refrigerator, according to scientists of one large electric company.

Time and technology, the scientists said, have done away with the general belief that air conditioning was something only the rich could afford and other folks, could do without.

Within a 10-year period, they said, the most-conditions home will be obsolete in a great part of the country because of recent widespread acceptance of air conditioning as a necessity for year-around good health in all climates.

Before 1950, no more than 100,000 units were sold by the air conditioning industry in any one year.

At the turn of the decade, annual sales were doubled and by 1953 more than 1 million units were sold.

Sales leveled off at about 1.6 million annually. Introduction of zonal air conditioners is expected to open up new markets.

The zonal unit has the necessary high capacity for cooling whole zones, such as living-dining areas, plus the individual control supplied only by through-the-wall units.

Individual units in zonal systems also assure that an entire building will never be without cooling capacity.

Assembly Backs French Premier

PARIS (UPI) — Premier Georges Pompidou fought off the first severe attack on his seven-week-old government today and won a substantial victory against a censure motion in the national assembly.

Opponents could muster only 113 votes — far less than half of the 278 simple majority needed to topple the government.

The main issue on which the assembly's right wingers attacked the government was the future of the 11 million Europeans of Algeria.

Rainy Weather Hanging Around in Eastern U.S.

By The Associated Press

More rain dampened broad areas in the eastern half of the nation today, following the general weather pattern of the past several days.

Stormy weather, with rain, hail and tornado winds, hit areas in Texas and western Oklahoma. A severe thunderstorm struck Tyn-dall, in south-central South Dakota.

Showers and thundershowers continued in western South Dakota, south and southeastward across western and central Nebraska, western and central Oklahoma and into northwestern Texas and Louisiana.

Oppose Constitution

DETROIT (UPI) — The Socialist Workers party today announced it will oppose the proposed new state constitution, calling the proposed document "big-business inspired."

Australian Youth to Wait Awhile Before Driving

PERTH, Australia (U) — An 18-year-old Perth boy has been forbidden to drive an automobile until he is 18.

The youth appeared in Perth Children's Court, and pleaded guilty to three charges of having unlawfully used motor vehicles. He turned 18 after committing the offenses.

Police told the court that because of his previous driving suspensions the youth could NOT obtain a driving license until the year 2003.

Burglars Work Hard but Fail to Score

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Burglars climbed an outside fire escape to the roof of a two-story downtown Des Moines building the other night, then went down a stairway to the first floor of an optical company.

From there they carried a 100-pound safe back up to the roof and down the fire escape to a waiting car.

Company officials told police the safe was empty.

Talking Radiator Brings Help to Injured Woman

TULSA, Okla. (U) — A radiator that talked led to discovery of a woman who had broken her leg in a fall and had remained helpless on a bathroom floor for six hours.

Mrs. Marie Smith said she heard radiator noises when she got up one morning. "I don't know why I put my ear to the radiator," she said. "But when I did I could hear someone saying, 'Help, help.'"

Hungary Misses Goal

VIENNA — For the second year in a row, Hungary's collectivized agriculture has failed by a large margin to reach its production target, Radio Budapest admitted recently.

A broadcast said 1961 farm output was 8 per cent lower than planned. Drought was blamed.

On investigating, she found that Mrs. Nell Grant, who lives in the apartment below Mrs. Smith's, had fallen and broke her leg and had been stranded there until her cries were heard via the radiator.

Kerr-Mills Plan 'Working Here'

State Medical Society Official Challenges Swainson Criticism

EAST LANSING, (AP)—Contrary to claims by Gov. Swainson, the Kerr-Mills program of medical care for the aged is working in Michigan, an official of the Michigan State Medical Society said today.

Dr. Oliver B. McGillicuddy, chairman of the society's directing board, called on the governor to reconsider his contention that the federal program is a failure in Michigan.

"In all honesty," he said in a letter to Swainson, we must say that we know of no people over 65 who are not now receiving care who wish it, need it, and request it or who are denied it for financial reasons.

"There is no question that the Michigan aid to the aged is working well in nearly all of Michigan's 83 counties."

Swainson reached his conclusion after learning that 11,714 Michigan residents over 65 received treatment under the Kerr-Mills program during its first year of operation. This, he said, was less than 2 percent of the over 65 population and considerably less than the number of needy aged who required medical care.

Nevertheless, said Dr. McGillicuddy, the percentage of eligible Michigan residents who received care is greater than the national average and the average stay in hospitals was equal to the national average.

The doctor told the governor that the society would be willing to work out amendments to the Michigan program to extend it to additional people.

Michigan was the first state to adopt the program in October 1960. In the first year of operation, it cost $13.15 million, with the state paying $4.6 million of the total.

State to Recommend Lansing Firm for Job

LANSING (U)—The State Aeronautics Department said today it will recommend the low bid of a Lansing paving company on a project at the Alpena Airport.

The Lansing division of the East Shore Asphalt Paving Co., Inc., bid $33,118, the department said. The other bidder was the Gilliland Construction Co. of Alpena at $35,368.

The $350 project is due to start June 25, the department said.

Stops Constipation due to 'Aging Colon'

Relief, doctors say, the new laxative prevents that re-creation of youthful regularity.

As you grow older, the internal muscles of your colon also age, lose the strength that propels waste from the body. Stagnant fecal matter builds up and shrinks as they fail to stimulate the urge to purge. Of all leading laxatives, only one Colomax gives you its special 3-way relief.

(1) Colomax prevents the formation of dry, hardened waste for easy passage of stool. (2) Colomax relaxes the nerve reflex that stimulates the "urge to purge" of your lower colon. New Drug Aids Family of TB Patient

By The Associated Press

Protection against tuberculosis, an old cancer treatment drug, and hazards in wearing false teeth are in the medical news.

TB SHIELD

Isoniazid, a drug used in treating tuberculosis, looks promising for protecting family members of persons who develop TB.

In a Public Health Service study of 25,000 such contacts of newly reported cases of TB, half were given the drug daily for a year, while the rest received dummy pills or placebos. About four times more persons taking the useless pill did develop TB themselves compared with those getting the real drug.

CANCER DRUG CLUE

To treat cancer, the ancient Greeks and Romans reportedly used a Mediterranean species of a plant called Aristolochia indica.

Now an acid isolated from this family of plant grown in Madras, India, has been found to slow the growth of tumors in mice, reports Prof. S. Morris Kupchan of the University of Wisconsin.

Czech's Statute Downed

VIENNA, Austria, (AP)—The last remaining statue of Thomas Masaryk has been removed from Communist Czechoslovakia, the country he helped to found, diplomatic sources reported Tuesday.

If further tests are successful, explains. People with dentures should chew their food twice as long as when they had their natural teeth.

BLACK WIDOW BITES

The bite of the black widow spider can cause numbness in the arm or leg near the bite, pain and stiffness in abdominal muscles, headaches, skin rash, hiccups, higher blood pressure, and other symptoms.

Skeletal muscle relaxant drugs can relieve some of these complaints, including headaches, nausea, breathing difficulties and some of the muscle problems, a medical journal reports. The relaxants do not, of course, counteract the venom.

DENTURE HAZARD

People who wear dentures run a greater risk of accidentally swallowing chicken or fish bones, says Dr. Paul G. Bunker of Aberdeen, S.D.

The sense of touch in the mouth decreases with age, and bones can pass the point of recovery before the denture wearer becomes aware of their presence, he said.

Senator and Union Man Hurl Charges but Politely

LANSING (AP)—The Detroit union official called the state senator "cowardly and irresponsible." The senator termed the union official "a hoodlum of the lowest order who could walk underneath a snake with a top hat."

The opponents in the Senate hearing yesterday sat within six inches of each other and politely passed their statements back and forth.

It was a contradictory display of courtesy on personal enmity and violent attacks on each other in statements read into the record.

Sen. John P. Smeekens, R-Coldwater, spoke first on his opposition to the appointment of Paul Silver, president of Detroit UAW Local 351 to the State Hospital Council.

QUOTES RECORD

Smeekens said Silver had a police record dating back 34 years. "It goes back 34 years," Silver retorted. "I was given a traffic ticket when I was 17."

Smeekens had said Silver had served a prison term in connection with the car death of a pedestrian.

Silver said he was found guilty of involuntary manslaughter and never served a day in the State Prison of Southern Michigan, as charged by Smeekens.

"If I was in prison I was a most unusual prisoner with outside privileges," Silver said. "I served 80 days on the picket line during that period but never a day in prison."

"Any picket line in this state that wants my help is going to get it," Silver said. "I don't mind going to jail or compiling a record in defense of the rights of workers."

The Senate Business Committee, headed by Sen. John W. Fitzgerald, R-Grand Lodge, called the hearing at the request of Silver after Smeekens blocked his appointment by Gov. Swainson to the hospital council.

Newsmen, cameramen and others crowded into the small committee room, half expecting some fist-fighting.

Silver has been charged with

Crash Victims Had $1 Million in Insurance

NEW YORK, (UPI)—The 130 persons who lost their lives when an Air France Boeing 707 jetliner crashed in Paris Sunday carried a total of about $1 million in air accident insurance, according to the companies which wrote the policies.

The Fidelity and Casualty Co. of New York, which has insurance counters and machines at the Atlanta, Ga., airport where the chartered flight originated, said today policies it wrote were "not over $500,000."

A spokesman for the company said a specific figure was not yet available.

The Home Insurance Co. of American Express wrote $430,000 in trip accident coverage for 24 persons aboard the ill-fated flight and Mutual of Omaha wrote $55,000 in coverage on two other persons.

Kennedy Will Hold News Conference

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy will hold a news conference at 3 p.m. (Pontiac time) Thursday, press secretary Pierre Salinger announced today.

Salinger said the news conference would be available for live broadcast by radio and television networks.

Newsmen asked Salinger whether the fact that all of Kennedy's recent news conferences had been in the afternoon had any bearing on a desire not to influence stock market prices while trading was still being conducted.

Salinger replied that there was no relationship whatever between the news conference and the stock market.

'Islander' Ferry Serves St. Ignace and Mackinac

CHEBOYGAN (U)—A 70-foot ferry, for passenger service, has become the fifth vessel in the Straits Transit Co. fleet of boats to operate in the Mackinac Island area.

The Cheboygan firm brought the boat from Cleveland, Ohio, last week and changed its name from "Show Boat" to "The Islander."

The transit firm is resuming service between St. Ignace and Mackinac Island after a year's lapse. It also serves runs between Mackinaw City and Mackinac Is-

'Don't Act Like Guests or Press'

Reporters Get Briefing on JFK's Parties

By RUTH MONTGOMERY
WASHINGTON — The last has not been heard of that supersecret White House huddle to determine whether society reporters are fish or fowl.

Currently they are neither, although the first lady considers a couple of them rather foul, and some of her guests have regarded the whole corps with a fishy stare.

Mrs. Kennedy wants the female scribes who cover White House parties to understand that they are not there as guests, even though they must dress like it; nor are they to act like reporters, although she expects them to report the parties.

No journalism school yet offers a course in how-not-to-be-a-guest-reporter-simultaneously, while rubbing elbows with the elite of the intellectual and political worlds.

SWORN TO SECRECY

Perhaps that is why social secretary Letitia Baldridge and press secretary Pamela Turner summoned society writers to the White House for a finishing school course in how to seem invisible.

First the girls were sworn to secrecy. Then they were told the problem: Some of the out-of-town celebrities who throng to Kennedy without object to being surrounded by women reporters. In fact, "Lone Eagle" Charles A. Lindbergh and actress Julie Harris have even kicked about it.

When you understand their point of view, it is hard to blame them, really. In Washington, where big government wheels are a dime a dozen, the society reporters have been turning their backs on them, to interview never-type White House guests like Nobel Prize winners, astronauts, long-haired musicians and ballerinas.

To these out-of-towners, however, President Kennedy's New Frontiersmen are the celebrities they want to meet.

Unfortunately, a solid wall of bare-shouldered femininity has been separating each from the other. The New Frontiersmen can't meet the visiting celebs, and vice versa. All that each knows of the other is what he reads about the party in the next day's society columns.

Tail, sophisticated Tish Baldridge had a personal gripe, as well as with a scientist like Linus Pauling. Nonetheless these people came to meet the President of the United States, and they want to talk to each other, without eavesdropping.

Another newswoman, saying she had been walking behind the President when Admiral Hyman Rickover rushed over to talk to him, demanded: "What was I supposed to do, run away to keep from hearing what they said?"

"Exactly," Tish said. "To stay would be eavesdropping."

Tish ruled that hereafter reporters may mingle with the high and mighty, smiling and sipping champagne, so long as they keep their ears and mouths closed. Oh, it's all right to say, "Isn't it a lovely party," she added.

It is, wasn't it!

WON'T TALK

Julie Harris was "way out" for "that darling Lyndon Johnson," but was blocked from her heart's desires by newsmen seeking to talk to her... not him. Lindbergh just plain won't give interviews, even at a Jackie Kennedy soiree.

Tish and Pamela told the girls that something had to be done. They must not monopolize guests. They must not eavesdrop on conversations. They must not talk to the President. One reporter happily asked what she was supposed to do when "Jack" came up to talk to her.

"Why don't you get behind a pillar and stay there?" Tish teased. More seriously, she added: "Let's face it. The President used to be a newspaperman, so he probably feels more at ease with members of the press than

Ends Control of State Board

Swainson Signs Bill Ending Tax Commission Domination of Unit

LANSING — The State Tax Commission's control of the state board of equalization has been ended by a bill signed into law by Gov. Swainson.

The bill expands the board from five to seven members — four of them to be appointed by the governor within 60 days after the bill becomes law. Three board members are taken from the tax commission.

The new law, which takes effect 90 days after the legislature adjourns, prohibits appointed members from holding any other state office that has the power to appoint or levy tax funds, and bars anyone who served on the tax commission within three years prior to the appointment.

Other bills signed yesterday will: —Amend the state employment security act to change the definition of a dependent to include a child, or brother or sister over 21 years who cannot work because of a physical or mental handicap. It also tightens regulations of students.

—Amend the social welfare act to require county welfare departments to grant general assistance to families whose aid to dependent children grant is cut off because the home is ruled unsuitable, bringing the act in line with federal requirements; —Transfer jurisdiction of the Grand Rapids National Guard Armory from the State Military Board to the highway department. The land on which the armory is located is in the path of highway construction.

According to the Florida alcoholic rehabilitation program, the occurrence of blackouts, or memory lapses caused by alcohol, is an early sign of alcoholism.

Judge Upholds Sicking of Dog on Policeman

DETROIT — Mrs. Barbara Lewis was within her rights in siccing her 60-pound dog on a policeman, Recorder's Judge John P. O'Hara ruled yesterday.

The judge dismissed assault and battery charges against Mrs. Lewis, of Detroit, who urged her dog, Duke, on policeman who entered her home searching for evidence in the arrest of her father.

Duke bit patrolman Gustave E. Herbstreit, 35, on April 27.

But Judge O'Hara said he found the police used coercion to gain entry, that they were on the premises illegally, and that Mrs. Lewis was acting in defense of her home and property.

Assistant Prosecutor Jay Nolan had charged Mrs. Lewis acted vindictively, and "to get even with the police for finding evidence."

Big Increase Seen in Highway Traffic

LANSING — Highway traffic volume in Michigan is headed for its biggest increase in seven years, the State Highway Department reports.

Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie, in his monthly report to Gov. Swainson yesterday, said:

"Barring some change in economic conditions we expect an increase of approximately 5 percent in traffic volumes this year."

The increase from 33.3 billion miles to 35 billion would be the largest since 1955, when volume increased 8.4 per cent over the previous year.

Southgate Man Dies of Car-Crash Injuries

CANTON, Ohio — George J. Blackburn, 39, of Southgate, Mich., died in Mercy Hospital yesterday of injuries received in a truck accident last Thursday.

The truck he was driving ran through a guard rail on a curve of Canton's new expressway and plunged downward to the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad tracks. His death was Stark County's 24th from traffic this year.

Carpenter Tired After Busy Day in New York City

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — A weary astronaut arrived here Tuesday night to rest and visit hometown friends before another round of speeches and receptions. "I am very tired" was all Navy Lt. Cmdr. Malcolm Scott Carpenter would say to reporters when he stepped from an airliner at Denver.

The tumultuous day began for Carpenter and his family when they flew from Langley Field, Va., to Washington where the astronaut was congratulated personally by President Kennedy.

Later the Carpenters flew to New York where Mayor Robert F. Wagner presented the city's medal of honor to the astronaut. Among some 1,500 persons giving Carpenter a standing ovation at a New York luncheon were former Presidents Herbert Hoover and Harry S. Truman.

Four Leave Camp Family

Four young men from the same family graduate Thursday from Oxford High School. They belong to the family at Boys' Ranch, Camp Oakland, Camp Director Bill Matus is proud of each one of them—the largest group to go out into the world at one time from the Oxford camp. One of the foursome, 18-year-old Jerry Risinger, has lived at Camp Oakland almost since its founding nine years ago.

Jerry, a high school football player and track star, was just 11 years old when he began making his home at Boys' Ranch. * * *

Next Tuesday, Jerry, 19-year-old Steve Van Amburg and 18-year-old Jim MacLachlan will journey to Detroit. Director Matus will bid a temporary "goodby" to his fine-looking trio as they report to the U.S. Army schooling program.

The fourth member of the graduating quartet, 18-year-old Larry Bailey, starts classes at Michigan State University Oakland this September.

Tuesday evening Mr. Matus followed a tradition he began several years ago and continued last year when two Boys' Ranch residents graduated.

Accompanied by Mr. Matus, the foursome dined at the Kingsley Inn. Owner Nick Takis, a Camp Oakland director, treated the boys to all the steak, lobster and elegant fare offered on his jumbo-size menus. * * *

Oakland County Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore and Mrs. Moore joined them for the celebration.

Judge Moore was one of the founders of the 300-acre camp which provides summer camping for underprivileged children and a home for youngsters who are permanent wards of the court. * * *

One of the camp's most avid supporters, Judge Moore is vice president of its board of directors. He has watched each of his Tuesday evening dinner companions grow from early adolescence.

The judge rejoiced along with Director Matus when Steve VanAmburg made the high school football team, was named to the student council and elected president of the Methodist Youth Fellowship. * * *

He took pride too, along with Mr. Matus, at Jerry Risinger's accomplishments as a member of the high school Varsity Club and the conference champion track team.

They both enjoyed watching Jim MacLachlan collect 21 ribbons for his skill in rodeo contests. Equestrian Jim cared for as many as nine horses at once at Camp Oakland's stables. He was also a member of the Lake Orion Saddle Club and Future Farmers of America. * * *

A few Camp Oakland leaders' suit buttons popped off again when Larry Bailey distinguished himself scholastically. Larry was recently awarded a Prix d'Honneur medal for placing third in a statewide competition sponsored by the National Association of Teachers of French. * * *

Larry plans to study engineering and science at MSU. Steve wants to work with heavy equipment, perhaps become a diesel engineer.

IT IS HOME
Jim and Jerry are undecided about the goals they'll pursue three years from now, after the Army.

But whatever they do, all four boys know they can always go back to live at Boys' Ranch. * * *

"They'll always have a home here," Director Matus says. "That's the true of all our boys and girls. They're welcome to come back anytime they want to." * * *

If they should take him up on his offer, it would probably make the director happy. "I'm going to miss them," he said.

'Don't Go Until She Asks You'

By The Emily Post Institute
Q: I am engaged to a young man whose family lives in the South and whom I have never met. He has written urging me to come and visit them during my vacation, and I'd like to go and meet his family. But his mother has not written me either about coming or about the engagement. I don't want to seem formal about this, but I don't feel right about going. What do you advise in this situation?

A: Tell your fiancé that his mother has not as yet written a word to you and you can hardly go without an invitation from her.

COCKTAIL PARTY

Q: My husband and I are planning to give a rather large cocktail party next month to repay some of our obligations. Will you please tell me what type of invitations to send and also what foods to serve?
A: A cocktail party is so informal that invitations to one may be in any form. At the moment the one most often seen is folded like an informal. It often has a picture of a rooster or a cocktail glass on the outside, and inside, "Cocktails at . . . o'clock" or "Cocktails from 5 to 7" on such and such a date and the names of the hosts and their address. Or the invitations may be telephoned or written on visiting cards.

You may serve every sort of hors d'oeuvre or appetizers that you think taste good and look tempting. Olives (either chilled or wrapped in bacon and broiled), very tiny sausages, broiled, canapés, or thin bread rolled around cheese or crackers, skewered and toasted, or crackers spread with sandwich paste, crabmeat, or lobster in mustard sauce, or shrimp on little wooden picks with which to dip them in mayonnaise or colorful sauces, are favorites.

GENUINELY

Q: When attending services in a church where it is customary to genuflect before entering the pew, is it necessary for one of another religious denomination to follow this practice?

A: No.
Q: I recently applied for a position in a store and gave a friend's name as reference. I thought that since we are fairly good friends it would be all right to do that and that she could have no objection.

However when I told her that I had given her name as a reference, she said that she didn't like people using her name without first asking permission. Will you please tell me if I was wrong?
A: I'm sorry to say you were wrong. One should always ask permission before giving a name—even that of a good friend—as a reference.

Sonaheim Look a Cover-Up

It's 'Modesty' for Fall

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
Associated Press Fashion Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Although summer styles dictate a bare and breezy summer with décolletage, Sonaheim has promised that by fall women will be modestly and stylishly wrapped up to their dimpled chins.

Even though bathing suits are still in the nation's department store windows, the store buyers are in town these market weeks stocking up on winter woollies.

And it was for them that those swan-necked Sonaheim models paraded in and out of the crowded showroom, peering over the tops of suit collars that stood half a foot high.

For a breather the collars folded back, but only to reveal sleek satin scarves tied Ascot style over the throat. The scarves are not an accessory; most of Sonaheim's suits come with these Ascots. The same slithering satin is used for blouses or for piping in contrast to jacket materials as coarse as a gravel road.

Most of his daytime clothes have simple bodies with wee waistlines and generous, easy skirts. Usually, his basic little black dress, which no wardrobe can be without, has a vivid jacket such as red trimmed with Persian fur, or bold black and white plaid wool.

Whatever, the silhouette prevaricates pleasantly for ladies with too much natural upholstery. Although his suits are throat huggers, Sonaheim's black crepe cocktail dresses are bare in back, and mostly so in front. Sometimes the necklines can't make up their minds, remaining high on one side while plunging recklessly on the other.

Harris-Smith Vows Told in Trinity Baptist Church

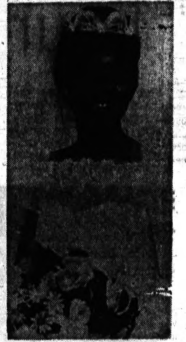

Trinity Baptist Church was the scene for the marriage of Phyllis W. Smith to Ernest J. Harris Sunday afternoon. The Rev. J. Allen Parker of Newman AME Church performed the 4 p.m. ceremony.

Parents of the newlyweds who will honeymoon later this summer are Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Smith of Rapid Street and the Alonzo Harris of Deland Court.

The bride's gown of white English lace, studded with rubies, featured a floor-length bouffant skirt. She wore a fingertip veil secured by a tiara of lace and seed pearls, and carried a bouquet of yellow roses and white carnations.

Mrs. Johnella Harris of Detroit served as matron of honor in an orchid sheath and overskirt of silk organza over tulle. Her bouquet was comprised of pink and white carnations. Odessa Jones of Detroit, Carolyn Smith, the bride's sister, and Arveria Hyde, both of Pontiac, attended as bridesmaids wearing dresses identical to the matron of honor, only in rainbow colors of pink, yellow and green, respectively, with corresponding bouquets.

Alonzo Harris Jr., the bridegroom's brother of Detroit, was his men of the cliff-dwelling Indian best man with Earl McKee, David

Pants Do Nothing for Four Beauties

By RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
To illustrate a fashion story, "Pants Go Everywhere on Today's Women" (even when they shouldn't), Galle Dugas of Newspaper Enterprise Association used photographs of four women, generally regarded as outstanding beauties. The four: Jackie Kennedy, Marilyn Monroe, Soraya and Elizabeth Taylor.

Press Week for Fashions in Danger

Women's Wear Daily reported Tuesday that the 20-year-old institution of national press week for fashion writers is "in danger of being canceled."
The trade publication for the women's apparel industry said that members of the New York couture group, an organization of leading dress, coat and suit manufacturers which sponsors the semi-annual event, received letters Monday informing them the board of governors had decided to cancel the event.

Originally, the week designated for visiting reporters to see the New York collections was set for July 8-14.
Women's Wear said that the future of press week will be decided at a membership meeting Friday.

Eleanor Lambert, press director of the group, was in Chicago and could not be reached immediately for comment. Larry Aldrich, a manufacturer and president of the couture organization, said he would have no comment until after the Friday meeting.

Each July and January, the couture group has invited more than 200 fashion editors here to see the collections as their guests.
Press week was started in 1942 under the sponsorship of the New York Dress Institute, predecessor of the couture group.—(UPI)

Marilyn, in plaid pants, a long sweater and a scarf on her head looked like the girl you see riding motorcycles behind long-haired boys in black jackets. Not one bit of glamour there.

Soraya, in dark pants and sweater, also looked like a suburban housewife, too busy with car pooling, window washing and floor scrubbing to care how she looked. And Liz, in black stretch pants, just looked fat and dumpy.

Jackie looked just like any housewife pushing a supermarket cart in any neighborhood shopping center—no more distinguished and no less.

These four pictures are the best argument against pants for women yet produced.

Abby Advises 'Friend'

Better Fix Wife Chaser

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: I have a friend named Dora. Her husband is a "wife chaser." Red doesn't care what he does as long as she's married.

He says it is dangerous for a married man to run around with single girls. One of them might take him seriously. When a married woman takes up with a married man, she knows it's all in fun.

Dora is a very quiet, religious type and has never caught onto Red's chasing. Should we tell her? Or should we let her find out for herself?

DEAR ABBY: Our son is 14 and very big for his age. We aren't the kind of people who talk openly about every subject in the world. If you know what I mean.

Lately our son has been asking me a lot of questions about life and so forth. I tell him to ask his father, but his father tells him to ask me. Whose job do you think this is?

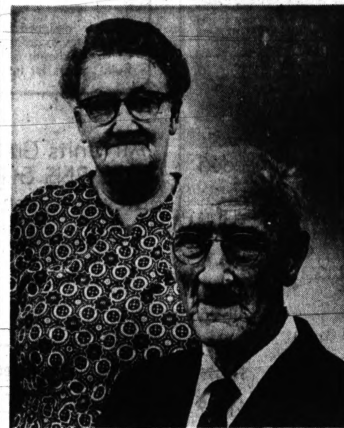

MRS. J. DEAR MRS. J.: It's Father's job. But one of you had better hurry up and tell the boy what he wants to know or it will be like giving a fish a bath!

DEAR ABBY: Will you please settle an argument on a point of etiquette? I once read that it was acceptable for a woman to sit and embroider or knit while with friends.

Recently I wanted to take my knitting along when we went to call on some friends and my husband told me to leave it home as it might be considered rude. I've seen women knitting and embroidering at all kinds of social gatherings and I never gave it a second thought. I'd like your opinion.

LIKES TO KNIT
DEAR LIKES: There is nothing "rude" about knitting or embroidering while conversing with friends. (If there is any "needing" done, at least it's done in the open.)

CONFIDENTIAL TO WALTER: A: You're not sick, you're just in love.

Sing a Song of Summer Salads, Note New Recipes

By JANET ODELL

Pontiac Press Home Editor

Summer and salads go together. This seems like a good time to suggest some new recipes for this summer.

The classical tossed green salad still stands supreme. We're fortunate in having such a large variety of greens available in our grocery stores. Summer and winter there is head lettuce. Last week we saw romaine, endive, salad bowl lettuce, leaf lettuce and Bibb lettuce as well. Any of these puts zest into a salad.

Dressings come in all flavors, loaded with calories, or nearly devoid of them. If your family is like ours, they will be happy when you serve your own homemade French dressing.

Whatever your choice of salad, be sure to serve it at least once a day, if not often, all during the summer. Then don't forget it when fall and winter roll around.

This first salad uses both head lettuce and endive. But blue cheese and cooled frankfurters add protein, so that the salad can serve as the main course on a warm evening.

Super Hot Dog Salad

1/2 head iceberg lettuce
1/2 bunch endive
1 medium onion, cut into rings
1/2 cup green pepper strips
1/2 cup diced celery
1-3/4 to 2 cups asparagus, drained or 18 stalks fresh asparagus, cooked and drained
1/2 pound blue cheese
6 skinless frankfurters, cooked and chilled

All ingredients should be chilled before starting salad; lettuce and endive should be washed and chilled. Shred lettuce into a large bowl; tear endive into bite-size pieces and mix with lettuce. Add onion rings, green pepper strips and chopped celery and mix with greens. Divide into 4 large salad bowls.

Cut frankfurters into coin-sized slices and sprinkle over salad in bowls; add crumbled blue cheese and top with several asparagus spears. Serve with garlic-flavored vinegar and oil dressing. Makes 6 servings.

Another hearty salad — this one for meatless days — comes from the west. Be sure to add color in the form of green pepper and tomato garnishes.

Western Vegetable-Macaroni Salad

2 cups uncooked macaroni
2 quarts water, boiling
2 teaspoons salt
Gradually add macaroni into boiling, salted water. Cook 10 to 15 minutes or until done. Place in strainer. Pour 4 cups of cold water over macaroni to remove the starch. Strain the following into it:

1/4 cup lemon juice
2 tablespoons salad oil
Refrigerate for at least 1 hour.

Then add:

1 cup sliced celery
1/2 cup green onion slices
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1/2 teaspoon freshly ground black pepper
1/2 cup dairy sour cream
1/4 cup mayonnaise

Line salad bowl with iceberg lettuce. Arrange macaroni salad on lettuce. Garnish with bell pepper slices, tomato wedges, and parsley. Makes 6-8 servings.

Molded fruit salads are not new, but making one with consommé is. This tangy soup makes an excellent chilled first course too. Just put the unopened cans into the refrigerator for about 4 hours before serving time.

Save out one can for this interesting salad.

Fruited Consommé Salad

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1/2 cup cold water
1 can (10 1/2 ounces) condensed consommé
1/2 cup orange juice
1/2 cup pineapple juice
1/2 cup thin orange slices
1/2 cup pineapple tidbits, cut in half
1/2 cup seedless grapes, cut in half

In saucepan, sprinkle gelatin on water to soften. Place over low heat and stir until dissolved. Remove from heat and stir in consommé, orange juice, and pineapple juice. Chill until mixture begins to thicken. Fold in remaining ingredients. Pour into 1-quart mold. Chill until firm. Unmold; serve on crisp greens. Garnish with additional fruit, if desired.

NO-FOLD CORN OMELET—What could look more attractive for brunch entertaining? This omelet is made special, with canned whole kernel corn, sausage and seasoned bread dressing and turned out on the serving platter without folding. Spiced canned apple rings are a colorful garnish for the omelet. Frothy Grapefruit Apple Drink is a spicy fruit beverage—wonderful to accompany the main dish.

Flip Over Omelet to Show Corn

One of the most fun and leisurely ways to entertain is at a brunch. It means time in the morning to prepare and time in the afternoon to yourself. Sound interesting? Let us plan the menu. No-Fold Corn Omelet is tops as the main dish. When done and turned out on a serving platter without folding, a crust of sausage, seasoned bread dressing and canned whole kernel corn tops the bright yellow omelet.

No-Fold Corn Omelet

1 lb. sausage meat
1/2 cup packaged seasoned bread dressing
1 can (12 or 16 oz.) whole kernel corn
6 eggs
1 1/2 cups water
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper

Brown crumbled sausage in a 10" skillet; drain off all but 3 tablespoons fat. Stir in dressing, 4 cup liquid from corn and drained corn; spread evenly in skillet. Heat over low heat.

Beat egg whites with water and salt until stiff. Beat egg yolks with pepper until thick and lemon colored. Carefully fold yolks into whites; pour over corn mixture and cook over low heat 10 minutes.

If skillet handle is not heatproof, remove it. Bake in a slow oven (325 degrees), 15 to 20 minutes. Until done. Loosen around edge and invert on serving plate. Six servings.

Simple to Make Own Biscuit Mix

Ever thought of making your own biscuit mix? Here's a small edition of one of the standard recipes for interested cooks to try.

Homemade Mix Biscuits

4 cups sifted flour
2 tablespoons double-acting baking powder
2 teaspoons salt
1/4 cup vegetable shortening

Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt. Cut in shortening with a pastry blender until particles are small. Store in tightly covered container at room temperature — may be kept about a month. Makes 5 1/2 cups. Use for making regular or drop biscuits.

Pineapple Sherbet Salad Is Summertime Treat

Drain 1 (11 ounce) can pineapple tidbits. To syrup, add enough water to make 2 cups; bring just to boil. Dissolve 2 packages orange gelatin in water, then quickly stir in 1 pint pineapple sherbet. Stir until sherbet melts. Fold in pineapple tidbits.

Pour into 1 1/2 quart ring mold or other fancy mold. This pretty creation is a wonderful light dessert.

SEASONED BUTTER — Brush on buttery — such a fine recipe, don't limit it to outdoor good flavor with this sauce that boasts lemon cooking but also try it under the broiler. juice and garlic salad dressing mix, too. It's

Chicken Livers for a Sandwich

Dagwood Would Like Mixture of Giblets and Onions on Muffins

The man of the house will enjoy making — and eating — "He-Man Sandwiches" for a weekend luncheon or Sunday supper. They are open-faced English muffin treats spread with a mixture of chopped chicken livers and mushrooms, crumbled bacon, instant minced onion, an onion and topped with tomato slices.

Instant minced onion takes the guesswork out of cooking with onion. Simply measure the amount you want for any recipe straight from the container without any waste and seal it again so that none of the flavor of freshly harvested onions is lost.

He-Man Sandwiches

3 slices bacon
1 lb. chicken livers
1/2 lb. mushrooms
1 tablespoon instant minced onion
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
4 English muffins
2 tomatoes, sliced

Fry bacon until crisp; drain and crumble. Add livers and mushrooms to pan and cook. Chop livers and mushrooms and mix with bacon, onion, salt and pepper. Split muffins into halves. Spread with liver mixture; top with tomato slices.

Soy Sauce in Eggs

For a tasty egg treat, U. S. Department of Agriculture home economists recommend Oriental Scramble. Sauté chopped onions in butter, add the scrambled egg mixture, when partly cooked, stir in a touch of soy sauce. Cook until done and serve with a topping of ripe olive slices or wedges.

Butterscotch Squares Are Easy-to-Make Cookies

A cookie suffices as the "some-thing sweet" to end many a meal. A grand nominee for a cookie dessert—or more properly perhaps, a simple cake dessert—is butterscotch squares. Moist, richly flavored, crunchy with pecans, these chewy cake-like squares are good in themselves. They are good, too, as a partner for a simple and not-too-sweet milk pudding or custard, or with a dash of tart applesauce, or chilled canned or fresh fruit.

Noteworthy in this recipe is the ease of preparation. The batter is mixed right in the same saucepan in which the butter is melt-

Chill Stuffed Olives in Garlic Dressing

Keep spicy Spanish olives in the refrigerator to serve when unexpected guests arrive at snacktime. Prepare 1 (4-ounce) package of cheese-garlic dressing mix as label directs. Mix 2 cups of pimiento-stuffed olives with dressing.

Cover and chill at least 2 hours, or overnight. Stir occasionally. Drain before serving. Reserved dressing may be served on lettuce wedges.

Delicate Butter Flavor Just Right for Fowl

Most everybody with a backyard, side yard, front yard or nearby park manages to cook outdoors. Not only for the extraneous flavors that foods take on, but for the sheer fun of doing it.

Most everybody has a barbecue sauce recipe in their repertoire of outdoor cookery. So be different and feature Grill-Broiled Chicken With Seasoned Butter Brush-On. Lemon juice and garlic salad dressing mix take top honors along with creamy butter in this sauce that will surely become a classic. Chicken is so delicately flavored that a zestily seasoned sauce often masks and overpowers it. The pun-

Italian Style Dressing Used on This Salad

Tired of tossed greens? Try this elegant salad!

Artichoke and Cucumber Salad

3 packages (9 ounces) frozen artichoke hearts
1 envelope Italian salad dressing mix
1 cucumber
Chicken or other salad greens
Paprika

Cook the artichoke hearts according to package directions; drain. Meanwhile make up the salad dressing mix according to envelope directions using the amount of vinegar, water and salad oil called for.

Spoon 1/4 cup of the dressing over the warm artichoke hearts and allow them to marinate for an hour or longer. Pare cucumber; score with fork tines; slice thin.

Arrange cucumber around marinated artichoke hearts in serving dish and border with chicken. Sprinkle cucumber with paprika. Pass extra salad dressing. Makes 6 servings.

After baking, the cake is left in the pan and cooled—and can be left in the pan and cut as needed. Between times, the pan should be covered tightly with aluminum foil of course. Or the squares should be tucked in the cookie jar.

Butterscotch Squares

3 tablespoons butter
1 cup evaporated milk
1 cup firmly packed brown sugar
1 egg
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon vanilla extract
1/2 cup chopped pecans

Melt butter in saucepan over low heat. Remove from heat, add milk, sugar, egg and salt and beat until well blended. Sift flour with baking powder. Stir into egg mixture to blend. Then stir in vanilla and nuts. Turn into a well greased 8-inch square baking pan and spread evenly.

Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) until toothpick inserted in center comes out clean, about 30 minutes. Cool in pan on a cake rack, then cut in 2-inch squares. Makes 16 squares.

Cut Cake in Wedges Before Baking It

Two couples coming over? This quick coffee cake should be eaten as soon as it's baked. So have the ingredients ready and put it in the oven just before serving.

West Coast Coffee Cake

1/2 cup raisins
1/2 cup medium sherry
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
2 cups biscuit mix
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1/2 cup milk

In a small saucepan, over low heat, heat the raisins, sherry and orange rind about 5 minutes to plump raisins; cool. Mix biscuit mix and sugar; cut in butter until particles are fine. Stir in milk and raisin mixture; beat with spoon for 10 to 15 strokes. Turn into a greased 8-inch round cake pan; spread batter evenly; mark with a knife into 6 wedges. Bake in a hot (425 degrees) oven 20 to 25 minutes or until cake tester inserted comes out clean. Serve at once with butter. Makes 6 servings.

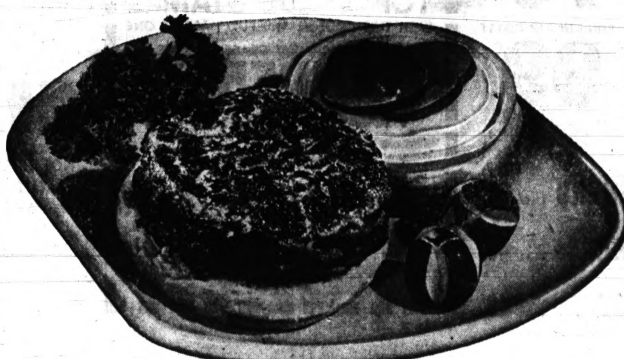

Oriental Type Salad Stays Fresh All Day

Virgin Islands' safari salad was created originally for all-day outings because its cooked oriental vegetables remain crisp for hours. Combine 1 cup of cooked, drained red kidney beans with 1 cup of cooked, drained bean sprouts. Marinate overnight in french dressing to taste in refrigerator.

The next day, add 1 cup of cooked bamboo shoots or water chestnuts, drained, and 1/2 cup each of drained, chopped pimiento, olives, celery and green onions. Taste along; mayonnaise thinned to taste with soy sauce to add before serving. Serves 6 to 8.

year's graduates have more opportunities and responsibilities than ever before. "You must do what you can," he said, "to keep our country from expiring on the bed of luxury and mispent leisure."

Gets Town's Confused on Political Journey

ROCK HILL, S. C. (AP)—Dero Cook, a Democratic candidate for governor, made a mistake that politicians dread. "I am mighty happy to be in Spartanburg," he said as he opened a speech. But the crowd laughed—he was in Rock Hill.

One-third of the hogs in the U. S. are raised in Iowa and Illinois.

Expert Gives Advice to Newlyweds on Picking Out the First Stove

What should newlyweds, who are pinching pennies and dreams, look for when they buy a stove? There's no problem if you've got the money for a new stove. Gas appliance manufacturers are doing a superb job of information, according to Mary Jane Forest, home economist for S. T. Babbitt, Inc.

But that first budget apartment often calls for a budget stove—even second hand. Used stoves can be a good buy if seven simple rules are observed, says Miss Forest. Remember stoves have few moving parts, so they don't wear out. They are made of cast iron (burners) and steel (housing). Here are the rules:

(1) Buy a stove that has adequate temperature controls.

"You'll be cooking from a book or labels," Miss Forest warns the young bride, "and the best recipes call for specific temperatures."

(2) Buy a stove with ample cooking width. "About the size of the turkey that will feed both sides of the house when they come for that first dinner," says Miss Forest. She points out that casserole and other money saving dishes take cooking time. You'll save money by getting a stove that can handle a couple of cooking jobs at once.

(3) Buy a stove with a service guarantee—and get it in writing. Who installs the stove and for how long? how many times will the seller service the stove; over how long a period, and who pays for the parts. These are questions the man of the house should get answers to.

(4) Buy a stove with a tightly fitting oven door. Close the oven door. Light a match and run it lightly around the edges. If the matchflame tilts inward, you've got a leak. Get the spring and oven hinges tightened. See if the door seal needs replacing.

(5) Buy a stove with simple clean lines. It's easier to clean, fits in any decorative scheme.

(6) Buy a stove with good insulation. Rap your knuckles on interior oven walls. A hollow tinniness means too little insulation, too expensive a heat loss.

(7) Buy a second hand stove with unchipped porcelain. Dirt doesn't matter. A stove is easy to clean. Burners can be dunked into a strong solution of all-purpose cleanser in a bucket of warm water. A scrubbing brush will return them to original effectiveness. Oven interiors are good steel, and new spray oven cleaners make oven cleaning easy and quick.

After the stove has been installed, Miss Forest says, you can use an old trick of gas company repairmen to get top performance. Turn on the broiler, spread four pieces of bread on the broiler rack—and toast. If all four don't toast evenly, you'll have to make the stove level. Easiest way is to buy a piece of three quarter inch plywood of the width and length of the stove—and place it under the stove.

Reshuffle Suit Slated July 2

State Supreme Court to Rehear Arguments in Scholle's Case

LANSING (AP) — The State Supreme Court will rehear August Scholle's suit to force redistricting of the State Senate July 2.

The court, acting on orders from the U. S. Supreme Court, set the date yesterday and gave attorneys in the case opportunity to file new briefs.

Scholle, president of the Michigan AFL-CIO, has asked the court for an immediate decision or prompt hearing of arguments.

Selection of the rehearing date, nearly two weeks after the June 10 filing deadline for the August primary election, made it unlikely that the court's decision will affect this year's elections. However, Theodore Sachs, attorney for Scholle, asserted there still would be time for the decision to apply this year "if the court acts with dispatch."

SCHOLLE'S CASE

Scholle sued to declare the boundaries of the 34 Senate districts illegal, citing the wide variation in population. This, he said, violated the equal protection of the laws guarantee of the federal constitution.

The State Supreme Court turned him down two years ago, saying the dispute was a political matter not subject to its jurisdiction. The federal court vacated the decision in April and ordered a rehearing, citing its Tennessee apportionment decision holding that legislative apportionment is a proper subject for judicial review.

Barring redistricting of the Senate districts, Scholle asked that all 34 senators be elected from the state at large.

Sachs said that if the State Court rules in favor of Scholle, the candidates who file for the primary could automatically be declared the candidates for election from the state at large.

Sabotage Eyed by Air Officials

Top Federal, Industry Administrators Start Prevention Campaign

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Top federal and air industry officials have begun a new campaign aimed at preventing air sabotage, it was learned today.

The decision to step up and coordinate preventive measures was reached in a closed meeting yesterday at the Federal Aviation Agency. The group agreed to review all practical proposals and back those judged worthwhile.

Present were FAA Administrator, Joseph E. Bland, Civil Aeronautics Board Chairman Alan S. Boyd, President Stuart H. Tilton of the Air Transport Association, Deputy Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach, Director Jerome Lederer of the Flight Safety Foundation, Director Courtney Evans of the FBI's special investigation unit, and Chairman Glenn K. Stenwig of the Atomic Energy Commission.

Halaby, who presided at the nearly three-hour meeting, declined to discuss details. But an FAA spokesman said the group expected to complete a thorough review of all possible antisabotage steps within the next six weeks.

The most promising appeared to be a plan for marking all commercial explosives sold in this country with a "signal-giving" chemical, probably some radioactive substance that could be detected with geiger counters at airports.

The meeting was called as an aftermath to the May 22 bombing of a Continental Airlines jet near Centerville, Iowa, killing all 45 aboard.

Former Palace of Aide to Pope Bombed in Spain

MADRID (AP) — A bomb exploded at the former palace of the papal mundo Tuesday, eyewitnesses said.

The explosion damaged the front gate, the staircase and a huge lamp hanging from the ceiling, but caused no casualties, witnesses said. Police refused to comment.

The 100-year-old stone palace is now-used by the Vatican's Rota Tribunal and the Spanish armed forces vicar general.

German Airlines Back in Service After Strike

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—Commercial air service resumed Tuesday night after planes were grounded for 36 hours in a nationwide warning strike by air safety personnel.

The strike was staged by 2,000 members of a new and airport right control centers in a demand for higher pay. Traffic between West Germany and isolated West Berlin was excepted.

1,500 Tractors Shipped by Romania to Cuba

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — Romania has shipped the first of 1,500 especially built tractors ordered by Cuba, Havana radio reported Tuesday.

The tractors, designed for the Cuban climate, also are equipped for use with the automatic sugar cane cutters Cuba expects to build before next year's harvest is ready, the radio said.

Romania supplied Cuba with 2,000 tractors last year, said the broadcast.

School Bus Measure Killed in Wisconsin

MADISON, Wis. (UPI) — The Wisconsin Supreme Court yesterday killed the perichol school bus law by a 4-2 decision and ended a long, bitter controversy.

Atty. Gen. John Reynolds, who had fought to keep the 1961 law alive, took the decision calmly. "The state constitution means just what the supreme court says it means," he said.

The high court found the law to provide state aid to transport parochial children to school was "in direct violation of that portion of the state constitution which prohibits the expenditure of any public funds for the benefit of religious societies, or religious or theological seminaries."

Swainson Commutes Life Sentence of 2

LANSING (AP) — Gov. Swainson has commuted the life sentences of Eleanor Cook, formerly of Muskegon County, and Joseph M. Mushro of Detroit.

Mrs. Cook, 62, has served 26 years of her life sentence for the killing of her husband in 1936 near Houghton Lake. She will live with a sister in Petoskey.

Mushro, 47, and three others were convicted for a shooting in a Hamtramck poolroom in 1938. He will live with a brother in Hamtramck.

'Parents Failing Their Children'

Billy Graham Claims Knowledge Is Taught but Not Wisdom

CHICAGO (UPI) — Evangelist Billy Graham said last night that schools, parents and churches have failed to give American youth purpose and meaning in life.

Graham, addressing some 31,000 persons in McCormick Convention Hall, said the American educational system is "intent in imparting knowledge, but so lax in instilling the power to direct that knowledge toward constructive goals that it is casting our young people adrift on a sea of purposeless life."

"We have worked to develop minds and bodies and have neglected the most important part of the student — the spirit," he said.

"Our colleges have built bone without sinew, generated energy without purpose. We have imparted knowledge without wisdom."

Graham, whose sermon was the seventh of his greater Chicago crusade, blamed the adults of today for many of youth's problems.

WE'VE FAILED

Speaking to young persons in the audience, Graham said, "I am convinced that my generation has failed you. We have immersed our children in the purposelessness, the meaninglessness of our own lives."

"We are the affluent parents who have conveyed to them an overemphasis on material possessions," he said.

Graham said, however, young people today "are not much different than the youth of yesterday" because the former "are only falling back on the escapisms they have learned from their elders."

He said, "The endless search for entertainment today" was "a pleasure jag" reminiscent of the Roaring 20s.

Library Service for Blind Hit

State Official Says Michigan Not Fulfilling Its Obligations

LANSING (AP) — Genevieve M. Casey, state librarian, charges that Michigan has failed to fulfill its obligation to some twelve thousand blind persons in the state.

Only about 600 are being served because of poor housing and a lack of professional staff at the State Library for the Blind in Saginaw, she said.

The state library is supposed to administer to all blind persons outside of Wayne County.

Cramped quarters have limited the size and scope of the library collection, Miss Casey said. The present staff consists of three unprofessional, she added.

The library now is faced with a backlog of 100 requests from persons who have been waiting, as well as five years for service, she said.

The State Library Board has asked the legislature for a $20,000 increase in its 1962-63 appropriation, but the appropriation bill before the Senate provides for no increase, she said.

Michigan's service to the blind is among the poorest in the country, the librarian said.

Japs Reveal Swim Suit With Built-In Floater

TOKYO (AP) — A Japanese textile firm announced yesterday it will place on the market in mid-June a new swimming suit designed to keep the wearer afloat.

Teikoku Rayon Company of Osaka said the suit has a special sponge-like material sandwiched between layers of textiles.

The company said the new suit is intended primarily for children and women. It weighs 12½ ounces and is supposed to keep afloat anyone weighing up to 135 pounds.

Apportionment Ordered in Alabama

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI)—Gov. John Patterson yesterday ordered the Alabama legislature to convene in special session next Tuesday to consider reapportionment.

A three-judge federal panel ordered the legislature to reapportion itself by July 16 or the judges, themselves, would rearrange the seating to give populous counties a stronger voice in state government.

The court mandate was issued six weeks ago.

In announcing the extraordinary session, Patterson promised to "do everything within my power to see that the legislature is reapportioned so as to give every citizen a fair voice in his government."

2nd Largest Bid Letting Slated by Highway Dept.

LANSING (AP)—The State Highway Department says it will hold its second largest bid letting in history next Wednesday, when it opens bids on 46 construction projects totaling $33 million.

The projects include construction of more than 25 miles of freeways and modernization of more than 125 miles of other highways. The largest bid letting in history was held in December 1960, when bids totaling $42.3 million were opened, the department said.

Theater School, 'Arts-in-Open' MSUO Summer Term Opened to Youth

For the first time, young people of high school and junior high age will find an outlet for their artistic interests among offerings this summer by the continuing education division of Michigan State University.

The six-week term beginning June 25 will present opportunities to join a new theater school and a junior high arts-in-the-open program.

There also will be the regular classes for adults.

Non-credit courses will total 25. The theater-school will give high school and college-age students an opportunity to study drama, speech, theater production and modern drama with a professional staff.

William Merrill, former director of WBQ-Way Playhouse, will direct the theater school.

Working with him will be Adeline Hirschfeld, professional actress and instructor in speech and drama at Wayne State University.

William Merrill Jr., who is specializing in technical theater production at the State University of Iowa, and Elizabeth Applegate who has taught drama at the University of Minnesota and George Washington University.

Theater school students will work toward the production of a three-act comedy.

Junior high "arts-in-the-open" will offer art, creative dramatics and creative dance courses for boys and girls on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday mornings outdoors on the Rochester campus.

On Thursday mornings MSUO's popular family studio in art for parent and child will be repeated with children 8 years and up eligible for the studio.

Other painting and sculpture classes for adults, as well as courses in languages, literature, music, creative writing, efficient reading and effective speech, are being offered both afternoon and evening.

A three-week course in Shakespeare at Stratford is a special feature for those planning to attend the Canadian Shakespearean festival.

Composition skills workshop and study skills workshop are intensive courses, the first for four weeks starting June 25, and the latter for three weeks in August.

Peppy Youngsters Create Own Summer Jobs

They Rise Early at Walled Lake

PHOTOS, STORY BY KEDA HEINTZGEMAN

In a few weeks a small army of job seekers will emerge from Oakland County schools. Michigan Employment Security Commission officials are busying themselves for a flood of more than 400 applications.

However, many Walled Lake seniors have taken the initiative and already found their jobs.

By talking various employers into "hiring-for-learning" positions, they have actually created jobs for profitable summer activity.

It developed in a brief survey at the high school that about 120 of the 350 June graduates are now employed at part-time jobs which will continue during the summer.

SWIMMING CLASS

Gale Murray had the idea of teaching private swimming lessons. She had to pass various tests and a life-saving course before getting her certificate, but she has built up her own thriving little class in swimming at a Green Lake beach.

Because he liked the taste of a big thick juicy steak, Bill Gregory decided to find out more about them. He talked to Al Secunda, veteran Walled Lake meatman. The youth was so interested in learning the meatcutting profession that Secunda took him under his wing. Now Bill knows there's a lot more to beef steak than just sitting down to a hamburger or a steaming filet mignon.

Tetlie Jadzenski wants to be a nurse so she volunteered to help out at a home for retarded children. Consequently she has been hired as a nurse's aide until college next fall.

Driving heavy equipment always had fascinated big Rick Sturgeon, so he asked a neighbor road-construction friend to teach him the ropes.

This summer Rick will not only drive his friend's big earthmoving equipment for pay, but will contract his time on baling hay for nearby farmers.

Alvin Parmeter is a plumber's helper. Philip Cunningham will sell insurance. Jack Rutledge will be a life-guard at Westacres Beach.

Saved! Husky Jack Rutledge carries Gale Murray ashore.

Alvin Parmeter, is going to be a master plumber.

In learning to sell insurance, Philip Cunningham tests Oliver Rose.

First a nurse's aide then a nurse says Tettie Jadzenski.

Work Opportunities All Around You

You want a summer job. You'd like to make your vacation time count with cash in your bank account. You want to feel like an adult. Mom and Dad say now that you're in high school you ought to be earning money.

So what can you do about it?

If you want to be your own boss the only limit to jobs is your own imagination. Look around your neighborhood and see what needs to be done. Windows need washing? Walks need sweeping? Cars need repairing (if you're handy with tools)?

Mothers welcome dependable girls to play with their children for a few hours each day so they can get more work done or have a few moments of rest.

If you live in a rural community: Who needs help with planting and harvesting?

Employment experts make one important point—try to find a job that will be of value in your future career and be sure that it is performed under conditions not harmful to your health and welfare.

Meanwhile, make sure you find out about all the people who WANT to hire students this summer:

- 1—Check with family, relatives and friends to see whether there are jobs where they work.
- 2—Comb newspaper "help wanted" ads. And why not place a job wanted ad of your own?
- 3—Take advantage of your school's employment services. Many schools keep an active file of summer jobs for students. Sometimes a faculty counselor is in charge of this; occasionally it's a student group.
- 4—Check with the local office of the Michigan Employment Security Commission.
- 5—Think of all the "summer only" businesses you can, such as amusement parks, golf courses, swimming pools, gun clubs, beaches, resort restaurants and shops.

These places are LOOKING for summer help. You may be exactly the kind of person they want.

And remember, all students under 18 years are considered minors and must obtain working papers either from the board of education or from the high school. Also, the employer must get an approval number from the Department of Labor which expires Dec. 31 and must be renewed yearly.

Legislative Apportionment Factor Explosive Politically

Editor's Note — This is the third in a nine-part series by two veteran Associated Press newsmen on Michigan's proposed constitution.

By GENE SCHROEDER AND A. F. MABAN

LANSING — If any one issue holds the key to whether the proposed new constitution will stand or fall before the voters it probably is legislative apportionment.

While the subject may not have been the most important one faced by the constitutional convention's 144 delegates, it certainly was — and still is — the most politically explosive.

Republicans are high in their praise of the provisions under which the state Senate and House will be apportioned in the future if the constitution is adopted.

Democrats attack the plan bitterly, contending it merely perpetuates GOP control of the Senate and fails to put even the House on a straight population basis.

FAVORED BY HANNAH

Michigan State University President John A. Hannah, R-East Lansing, who served as chairman of the committee which tackled the problem, said he will give the apportionment formula in the new constitution his full-fledged support.

From the opening day of the convention, the apportionment issue was cited repeatedly as the one factor which affected decisions on other matters in the constitution, ranging from Senate confirmation of executive appointments to legislative powers over local government.

In the closing days of the convention's deliberations, a decision by the United States Supreme Court also affected delegate thinking.

The high court vacated a state Supreme Court decision throwing out a suit by August Scholle, Michigan AFL-CIO president, seeking for redistricting of the state Senate.

The state tribunal was ordered to reconsider the case because it was wrong in saying Scholle's action dealt with a political question outside the court's jurisdiction.

Scholle announced weeks ago that he would campaign against the new constitution if the Republican majority pushed through its apportionment plan.

The U. S. Supreme Court action brought about one quick change in the apportionment proposals of the new document.

Delegates adopted a provision under which redistricting of the Senate could be undertaken immediately if the state court upholds Scholle's contention that the present Senate's "frozen" districts are unconstitutional.

Under the original plan, an eight-member bipartisan commission would not reapportion the Senate until the 1970 census figures became available and every 10 years thereafter.

If the commission cannot agree, then proposed plans would be submitted to the state Supreme Court.

DEMS ANGRY

Democrats are vehement in their displeasure over the convention's systems for establishing new Senate districts. It is based on a formula giving 80 per cent weight to population and 20 per cent weight to area.

Outnumbered better than two-to-one in the Senate now, Democrats argue that the GOP-sponsored plan would merely perpetuate "legislation without fair representation" for some high population areas such as Detroit.

The major reason for the calling of the convention was general public dissatisfaction with the present method of legislative apportionment, the Democrats said.

The proposed document perpetuates legislation without fair representation, because the apportionment problem has not been solved.

Senate districts which would not be reapportioned until after 1970 would vary in population by more than four to one, the largest being approximately 365,860 and the smallest being 86,860, based on population projections for 1970.

FOUR MORE SEATS

To overcome some of the objections, the convention approved for immediate effect — a plan whereby the Senate would be expanded from its present 34 to 38, with the four additional seats going to Wayne, Genesee, Macomb and Oakland counties.

Although the provision eliminates the present 3.5 per cent "moleity" figure, Democrats say nevertheless that the 7 per cent factor is a modified moiety favoring farm areas at the expense of the cities.

They said the result would merely cut from 10 to five seats a "bias favoring rural Republicans" whereas there should not be even one seat allocated in this manner.

AS CLOSE AS POSSIBLE

GOP spokesmen counter that since both parties have indicated they favor sticking to county lines in drawing up districts, the proposed plan is about as close to population equality as possible.

The unsuccessful substitute constitution drawn up by the Senate and the House to be apportioned on a "one man-one vote" concept, with districts in both houses not more than 15 per cent above or below an average population ratio.

Democrats also fought unsuccessfully for congressional districts based on a 15 per cent variation. The Republicans argued that districts drawn by the U. S. House of Representatives don't belong in a state constitution.

Other provisions in the apportionment plan would increase the term for senators from two years to four and eliminate multi-seat districts.

In dealing with the legislative branch of government, the convention decided to strengthen the hand of lawmakers in certain areas.

Although Democratic and Republican delegates alike stated they favored giving more power and clearer authority to all three branches — legislative, judicial and executive — they differed on just how far to go.

One section of the proposed new constitution gives joint interim legislative committees the right to suspend any state agency rate until the legislature reconvenes.

This proposal brought a charge from Democrats that it was merely a subterfuge to attack Rule 9, a Corporation and Securities Commission rule barring real estate brokers from discriminating because of race, religion, color or national origin.

"This narrow approach," the Democrats said, "could well destroy the value of all the state administrative agencies as efficient departments of government."

WANTED CHECKS

They charged that suspensions by interim committees could be ordered without hearings and without action by the legislature.

"Thus an administrative agency could find its hand tied indefinitely by summary interim committee suspensions, even though the legislature had never, by formal action, approved this suspension."

Republicans argued, however, that administrative agencies are rapidly becoming a fourth branch of government and should have some checks placed on their expanding power.

Another major change in the legislative branch article would establish a legislative auditor general, to be appointed by the lawmakers for an eight-year term. This provision would eliminate the present elective auditor general.

A majority of the Democratic delegation don't like that, either, contending that the post should remain elective and thereby directly responsible to the people. They agreed, however, that the legislature should be allowed to hire an auditor to conduct fiscal post audits.

One provision of the legislative branch article adopted virtually without a murmur of dissent, struck a blow for the people's right to know what their legislators are doing.

Much of the work in the legislature is carried on behind closed committee doors, with newsmen barred and votes taken in secret.

Under the new constitution, all legislative committees would be required to take roll call votes and make them a matter of public record.

The rejected Democratic version went even further, requiring that all committee meetings themselves be open to the public unless secret sessions were authorized by a majority of the legislators.

Nuisance Cuts Sought by Tied State Senate

LANSING — Economizing senators are looking hard for ways to trim the House-approved $83-million "nuisance" tax package without killing it all.

While other legislators sit idly waiting for action, Senate Republican leaders met most of the day yesterday with a delegation from the House in an attempt to reach agreement on the size and source of the tax program.

The full Senate was set to discuss the situation today.

The House, in passing the program last week, put handcuffs on the Senate.

All six bills in the package must be approved, the House decided, or all will die. Furthermore, the lower chamber decreed that the Senate must approve a $17-million school aid increase.

Some GOP senators hoped to cut $30 or $40 million from the House package, retaining all six bills but reducing the amounts. Most likely candidates for a cutback were a proposed two-cent increase in the three-eighths of a cent on a bottle of beer, a two-cent boost in the five-cent-a-pack cigarette tax and a one-mill increase in the four-mill tax on corporation franchises.

Together, they would yield $88 million of the total package, which also includes 4 per cent taxes on liquor and telephone and telegraph bills.

Sen. Lynn O. Francis, R-Midland, Senate majority leader, said Republican strategists appeared on the verge of supporting the entire House package rather than risking a breakup that would further delay adjournment of the legislature.

Lawmakers already are struggling through their seventh week of overtime.

A good many legislators are eager to break off deliberations in the middle of the week. Some are set to go on the Detroit Board of Commerce cruise to Montreal tomorrow. Others are booked for the annual legislative leaders conference next week in Seattle, site of the 1962 World's Fair.

"There will be no recess," Francis declared. "The chips are down now and we should settle this thing. That includes the state budget."

CANNES, France (AP)—Max Conrad, the "Flying Grandfather," delivered a large Michigan flag, a friendship message and an airplane here yesterday.

He took off from Lansing—alone in a single-engine Piper 250 C—on a single-engine Sunday evening. He stopped in Old Town, Maine, and in Shannon, Ireland, on his trip.

Conrad, the 88-year-old father of 10, ran into ice and snow over the Newfoundland coast and had to drop from 8,000 to 5,000 feet. From there on, he said, it was blue skies all the way.

A Cannes delegation met Conrad at the airport and gave him a ceremonial vase and a friendship message for the people of Lansing. Conrad hopes to return in a jet airliner.

Sgt. York May Be Able to Go Home This Week

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—A hospital spokesman says Sgt. Alvin C. York, 74, should be able to return to his farm home at Pall Mall, Tenn., by the weekend.

Doctors have been examining the World War I Medal of Honor winner to determine what caused internal bleeding two weeks ago. York was resting well today.

The money was voted to push ahead as fast as possible with development of the RS70 as a coordinated weapons system rather than an experimental plane.

The committee went along with the House by voting funds to keep the Army National Guard at 400,000 men and the reserve at 300,000 instead of dropping the levels to 367,000 and 275,000 in the fiscal year starting July 1.

The action of the subcommittee could be overturned by the parent committee, but the RS70 decision had the support of Chairman Carl Hayden, D-Ariz., of the full committee.

The defense department asked for a $171 million outlay for the plane and the House voted $223.9 million. But the Senate committee decided to go along with Gen. Curtis E. LeMay and other Air Force officials who wanted the larger outlay.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate Military Appropriations subcommittee yesterday approved a defense money bill that would provide the full $491 million the Air Force wants for the supersonic RS70 bomber.

A gown of silk organza over tulle featuring re-emphasized Alencon lace accents on the bodice and skirt and a sweeping chapel train was chosen by the bride for her wedding.

Her veil of silk illusion was held in place by a crown of Alencon lace and pearls. She carried a white Bible topped with white orchids and stephanotis.

Approval of the proposal by voters would increase the township's bonding power from 2½ per cent to 10 per cent of its tax base, and raise its taxing power limit to five mills compared with the present one mill.

WON'T ASK LIMIT

Mrs. Stecker said, however, that township officials did not plan to levy all of the five mills immediately if a charter township form of government is adopted.

Main factor in permitting a more rapid development of water lines and sewers would be the increased bonding power, she said.

16-VOTE MARGIN

Residents of five subdivisions decided Monday by a 16-vote margin, 172 to 156, to join Utica, which expects to have Detroit water by next May. Utica officials also promised the area sanitary and storm sewers within a shorter time.

The Shelby Manor Civic Association, which circulated the annexation petition, charged the township had taken no action toward solution of the area's water and sewer problems.

Township Supervisor Lorin E. Evans pointed to the charter township possibility as the answer in his unsuccessful battle to stave off the annexation.

Chartering the township was recommended by a four-man charter study commission appointed by Evans at the Township Board's May 15 meeting.

Evans has also proposed establishment of three areawide authorities to develop and control water and sewer systems, police and fire protection and a public works program.

In Monday's annexation vote, Utica voted overwhelmingly to accept the township area, 136 to 11.

Independence OKs Uniform Lake Code

INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP — The Township Board last night adopted a water craft ordinance regulating activities on the township lakes.

The uniform code, recommended by the Oakland County Township Supervisors Association, has been adopted by seven other townships. It limits water skiing to certain hours and also places restrictions on power boat operation.

In other business the board voted to put two questions on the ballot in the August Primary Election. Voters will be asked to decide on establishment of a planning commission and on elimination of the annual township meeting.

TAKE NO ACTION

Several councilmen stated that the township might be right but took no action. They said they want to wait for the advice from a lawyer.

City Manager Harold Millsap was directed to present the question to the Sylvan Lake firm, which succeeds Albert Herzog who resigned last month as city attorney.

If the council is in error a residential land, the Township Board found that the only construction bid was almost double the $7,500 allotted in the budget. Township officials solved the problem by taking over the job themselves and eliminating plans for a basement. The addition will house voting machines for two precincts and office facilities.

Put to Work in Walled Lake

WALLED LAKE — New legal counsel was hired by the City Council last night and was immediately put to work.

The council, on naming attorneys Howard Bond and Thomas Dillon as the city's legal representatives, asked for their opinion on a charge that parliamentary procedure was not followed when the city's tax rate was adopted, thereby making the action illegal.

Councilman Clyde A. Mottor, who announced his resignation from office last night, had pointed out the alleged violation of Robert Rules of Order.

Mottor, who was unable to attend last night's session and the meeting when the tax rate was established, claims that the resolution setting the rate was a reconsideration of a proposal that failed a few minutes before and a councilman, who had been in the minority the first time, asked that it be reconsidered.

This is illegal, according to Mottor.

The contest will be staged at 7 p.m. in Room 143 of the high school. Each girl will be interviewed individually and judged on poise, personality, general appearance, beauty and ability to speak before an audience.

The queen will reign over the Utica Lions Club's 18th annual Utica Jr. High celebration which opens with her coronation and a gala parade through the city.

The rest of the day-long celebration will be held at Ramona Park, west of town.

The Utica Lions Club float, which will bear the queen and her two attendants in the holiday parade, also is slated to be entered in other area parades throughout the summer.

Miss Utica also is eligible to represent her city in the Romeo Peach Queen contest in August.

Strikers Back: Building Resumes at West School

ROCHESTER — Construction of the new West Junior High School has resumed following attainment of an airtight strike by reinforcing steel workers.

Pouring of the building's concrete floor had been delayed two months by the strike, according to School Superintendent D. Baldwin. Strikes by other construction workers are still in process, but do not affect work on the floor.

Baldwin said today students may be doubled up in Central Junior High School if the new school is not completed by September.

There is still a chance, however, that it will be completed in time, he said, if larger crews are placed on the job and strikes by other workers are settled before they are needed.

Doctor Started Estes Furor

His Widowed Mother Noticed Unusual Pile of Farm Mortgages

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Peconic, N.Y., physician was identified today as the amateur investigator who put federal authorities on the trail of Texas financier Billie Sol Estes.

Justice Department officials confirmed reports that Dr. John Dunn, 34, uncovered the original evidence in the bizarre case which led to the collapse of Estes' multimillion-dollar grain storage and fertilizer tank empire.

The informant presented this picture of Dunn's role in the investigation:

In February 1961 Dunn's widowed mother, who operated a retail credit office in Peconic, told him of an unusual number of chattel mortgages carried by farmers dealing with Estes.

Dunn checked into the situation, suspected possible violations of federal banking laws and conferred with Dan Smoot, a friend and former FBI agent.

TALKED TO FBI
Smoot arranged for Dunn to discuss his findings with the FBI in El Paso, Tex. The FBI relayed the information to an assistant U.S. district attorney, but he found no violation of the banking laws.

The FBI report was then turned over to the Justice Department in Washington, and the department instructed the FBI that there was insufficient evidence to warrant further investigation.

Dunn continued his investigation and later tried to interest Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., in the case.

Tower said he lacked adequate staff to pursue such an investigation and suggested that Dunn contact Texas authorities.

Dunn then turned to the independent, the Peconic biweekly newspaper of which he was co-owner.

Oscar Griffin, editor of the Independent, took up the investigation and on Feb. 12—one year after Dunn's original interest in the case—began a series of stories indicating irregularities in fertilizer tank mortgages.

The stories aroused new FBI interest in the case, leading to Estes' arrest last March 29.

New Ambassador Likes His Own Vodka

Russia's Dobrynin Makes Small Talk at Luncheon

By BOB CONSIDINE

WASHINGTON—The new Soviet ambassador to the U.S., Anatoly G. Dobrynin, a big, wiry, bespectacled fellow, 46, speaks flawless English, likes his job, and refuses to recognize the bloody Mary as a possible first step in peaceful coexistence, even when made with American tomato juice, Russian vodka and neutralist spices.

"The worst of your drinks, I'd say," he declared before Bill Hearst's luncheon for him at the Solgrave Club here yesterday.

"I can't taste the vodka because of the other ingredients. If I drink vodka (he pronounced it vodka) I drink it straight. And, if you'll pardon me, not your American vodka."

He ordered a daiquiri, thereby further cementing Soviet-Cuban relations. Ambassador Dobrynin, who seems more affable than even his predecessor, Mike Menshikov, nevertheless is a man of more positively expressed opinions.

He likes Washington, has found the President to be good company on the four occasions they have met at social functions, enjoyed working in New York at the United Nations, and speaks highly of both San Francisco and Los Angeles. That alone would tend to make him unique.

He is not certain that Benny Goodman was the ideal exponent of U.S. jazz to send on the current cultural tour of the U.S.S.R.

"A fine man, fine musician—admittedly," he said, as he sparred bravely with a soft-shelled Maryland crab. "But I think the lack of great enthusiasm among our young people at his concerts is because his style is, well, let us say, dated."

"Our jazz has gone onward to what you call the progressive stage. His remains static, and our young people are inclined to be restless with that."

In another matter, planners will be asked to reconsider changing the zoning of a 17,136-square-foot land parcel at the northeast corner of E. Howard and Edison Streets from residential to commercial.

The land is owned by the Seventh Day Adventist Church of Pontiac and currently houses a church school. The church is vacating the school and plans to sell the property.

The Clark Coal Co. has also asked that the city vacate an alley which divides its property at 49 Forest St.

Car 'Buyer' Extradited

GREENSBURG, Pa. (AP)—Eugene Kennedy of New Kensington, Pa., accused of obtaining a car on credit in Grand Rapids, Mich., and leaving with $3,600 still due, was turned over to Grand Rapids officials for extradition Tuesday.

"It is something like the rock 'n' roll number our money-dancers incorporated in their act when they played here, Igor put it in as a burlesque, a parody. To everyone's surprise, it was accepted as a straight forward demonstration, and greatly enjoyed in Mexico, the same."

U.S. AT FAULT

He was saddened, he said, by two recent breakdowns in U.S.-

Soviet relations and we appeared to be at fault in both cases. He ventured, embarking on his lamb chop.

"We had great hopes of sending the Red Army band to this country for a tour," the ambassador said. "A great band, as you know. But the answer has been no. Something about the wearing of the uniform, is that correct? What is a uniform if the band music is good. We would welcome your great Marine Band in my country, on our concert stages and marching down our streets in uniform."

"My other disappointment? Ah, yes, the failure to get through with the agreement for a Moscow-New York, New York-Moscow air link. All the papers were initiated by our people Aero-101 and your people Pan American. Then—poof—Out the window."

Maybe it was because of what happened in Berlin," the host observed.

The ambassador silently applied himself to his luncheon.

This was a social luncheon, not political. He had come news from the old country: Yuri Zhukov, the cultural minister who accompanied Premier Khrushchev to the U.S. in 1959, was back on Pravda as an "observer." Alexi Adzhubel, K's son-in-law, has done a good job of "brightening up" Ivestia, which was pretty dull to look at."

The U.S.S.R. hopes to be chosen as the host nation for the 1968 Olympics. "And why doesn't soccer do better in the U.S.?" Ah, Yes, and all Russia now knows and roars at the films of "Your Choice Champion."

The ambassador noted merrily, "I dare say we see much more of them today than you do. The little boy in the street knows Chaplin's life story."

He looked at his watch and stared. He smiled engagingly, pumped up hands and left. It was time for all of us to get back to the cold war.

Urge No Israeli Ties

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP) — The world Islamic conference recommended in a resolution Tuesday that Islamic, Asian and African countries avoid all ties with Israel. It also demanded that Moslem countries forbid their Jewish nationals to immigrate to Israel.

Admit Shortages in East Germany

BERLIN (UPI) — The Communists today admitted widespread milk, butter and meat shortages in East Germany.

They indicated collective farmers were working only under the eye of party officials and accused many local officials of hoarding food.

The official Communist party school for "public relations" of milk and meat production. It said the entire question would be raised at the forthcoming Communist "National Congress" of next September, when it was to show "a manifold increase in fulfilling the national plans for meat and milk."

Operetta Composer Plans New Career After 30 Years

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD — It is just 30 years since Rudolf Friml wrote his first operetta, and now at 77 the great melody is aiming at a whole new career of more serious music.

"Friml's 'Gypsy' style house on a peak atop the Hollywood Hills abounds in music. Boxes of recording tape are piled everywhere—in closets, on tables, on the floor.

"They are symphonies, sonatas, concertos," said the elfin Friml. "I have improvised them all—five, six hours a day, every day. It is like a disease; I can't stop improvising.

"NEVER SATISFIED" "But I am never satisfied. I take out a tape I have made a year ago. I do not like it. I play along with it on the piano. I change it until I improvise something entirely new. Then I put it away."

This has been going on for years, and the Friml public output has been very slim. The last of his 31 operettas (most notable: "Rose Marie," "Vagabond," "Kalinka," "Three Musketeers," "Friml") was "Lulu."

Avonlea. Special assessment rolls were ordered prepared for presentation to commissioners next Tuesday.

Work will begin shortly on a combined sewer on Beverly Avenue and curbs and gutters on Beverly and Emerson Avenues. There were no objections at public hearings on special assessment rolls for the three projects last night.

He pointed to what he termed "a veritable lake" on Orton Street near Lake Street. City Engineer James N. Carlisle said the matter was one of "a very poor drainage system in that whole area which has been under intensive study for our department for some time."

"It won't be easy or cheap to fix," Carlisle added. "Heavy rain repeated an earlier plea for a boat landing in Crystal Lake for use of residents in that area."

Waive Boys Club Sewer Fees

The North Side Boys Club of Pontiac is going to get a free sewer connection from the city. Commissioners passed a resolution waiving all sewer connection charges and permit fees for the boys' club at last night's City Commission meeting.

The resolution was offered by Commissioner Winford E. Bottom. Under city ordinance, the connection charge for new buildings is $1.50 per front foot, plus miscellaneous permit fees.

Several resolutions were also passed at the request of the State Highway Department. They were technical statements assuring that the city recognizes what new trunkline designations will eventually result from construction of the proposed perimeter road and extension of E. Huron Street.

The major changes will result in trussline designations being dropped on Saginaw Street within the perimeter road and the M-59 designation being switched from Auburn Avenue to East Huron as well as the extension and M-59 freeway are completed.

Most of the changes won't take effect for several years. The perimeter road will, in effect, link trussline designations of M-59 with major streets in the central business district in the role of routing through traffic around downtown.

No objections were voiced at public hearings on the city's plans to construct curbs and gutters on portions of Fourth and Robinson avenues. Special assessment rolls were ordered prepared for presentation to commissioners next Tuesday.

Probe Vanishing of Hoffa Debtor

Indianapolis Cab Firm Official Disappeared in 1955; Feared 'Danger'

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal grand jury is investigating the case of an Indianapolis taxicab firm, official who disappeared in 1955 after paying back only part of a loan from Treasury's President James R. Hoffa.

The Justice Department declined to comment but it was learned today that Frank E. McKinley, Indianapolis banker and chairman of the Democratic National Committee in 1953, was to appear before the grand jury.

McKinley was president of the "Hoosier Bank" Trust Co. of Indianapolis which, according to testimony given the Senate Rackets investigating committee in 1955, was a "little over a million dollars" in assets.

McKinley was only one of a half-dozen Indianapolis witnesses under subpoena to appear before the grand jury here. Another is James C. Courtney, Indiana state revenue commissioner, who said he thought the probe concerned Probst's disappearance.

Are Tax Cuts Peace Offering to Business?

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK — Tax cuts — not now but maybe next year — are being pushed again as the likeliest healing balm for the wounds of the government-business battle. Both sides are perhaps just realizing how deep and how serious these wounds are.

Both show signs of being won by continued quinquity in the stock market, by the hesitancy of industry to give the expected push to its spending plans, and by the fear that consumer spending might later be affected.

So Secretary of the Treasury Dillon makes the most forceful statement yet on the Kennedy Administration's proposals to push a top-to-bottom cut in income tax rates by Congress next year.

And the man who has become the symbol of business in its clash with the administration, Roger Blough, chairman of U.S. Steel, says "business could do much more to inspire confidence." But he also stresses that what would really do the trick would be "basic depreciation reform" in the tax laws.

The treasury secretary a few hours later stressed that the administration planned to offer such reform in a few weeks, liberalizing the rate at which business could charge off depreciation in plant and equipment for tax purposes.

FOOT-DRAGGING

The same day, Monday, that Dillon and Blough were discussing the healing powers of tax cuts, the stock market was taking another plunge, but a more subdued one than that of the week before. And a government survey was being released showing that industry's capital investment plans were falling short of earlier hopes.

The Department of Commerce and the Securities & Exchange Commission reported that business survey of intentions to spend on new plant and equipment stayed at the same level as that made in February. Usually these plans expand in the spring. The administration certainly had hoped they would do so this year.

Business leaders in all parts of the nation have stressed that since the Kennedy-Blough clash over the short-lived attempt to regulate prices, business confidence had been shaken. Many industrialists are reported wary about extending their spending plans until the wounds were healed.

A chief reason, business leaders say, is that business needs to see a good chance of making a profit before it expands, and that it needs past profits to help finance such moves. Many businessmen say they are uncertain as to what the administration's attitude is toward higher profits are, while some say flatly they think Washington is unsympathetic toward business increasing its profits at this time.

But much of this uncertainty might be eased if the reforms in the rules on depreciation prove as generous as business hopes. And a revision in income tax rates, in individual and corporate, next year would release more funds for business to use, and more money for consumers to spend.

Both possibilities are in the future—and neither has been spelled out in any definite terms as yet. But right now talk about them and promises of relief to come, may help ease some of the strain on public confidence.

Government and business both could be the galley if the work-

Half Seoul Students Before U. S. Embassy

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—A thousand students defied a martial law ban on demonstrations today and marched on the U.S. Embassy to protest the beating of a Korean by two American Army officers.

A triple row of police jeeps barricaded the front entrance to the embassy, and the students withdrew after an appeal by Maj. Gen. Kim Chul-wi, commander of the Seoul garrison. Then they split into small groups and tried to reach the embassy through alleys and side streets.

Again they were met by police, who arrested more than 100 of the demonstrators. There was no violence.

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Air France has been accused in a lawsuit of willful misconduct and gross negligence in Sunday's crash of a jetliner that killed 130 persons in France.

The suit, seeking $250,000 damages, was filed Tuesday in U.S. District Court by Drs. Hope Harvey Payne Jr. and Robert Payne, both Atlanta dentists. They are sons of Annette Snelson Payne, 66, a victim of the crash.

The suit claims the chartered aircraft, a Boeing 707, was overloaded with passengers, baggage and fuel and was not airworthy.

Next to you . . . who knows Father best?

He probably works in an office . . . or a shop.

He probably thinks of himself as just another guy, with a family and a job to do . . . and problems. But . . .

On Sunday, June 17th, he will get formal recognition of all the things he really is: Breadwinner, good-loser, story-teller, handyman, soft-touch, hard worker, umpire, ball-player, bill-payer—and a dozen more that aren't even in the book.

His name?

Take your choice: The "Old Man," Chief, Pop, Poppa, Dad, Da-Da, Daddy-O, and, in a pinch, . . . Father. Almost every home has one. You probably know one or two yourself.

So do we.

For over thirty years Osmun's has been helping make life with Oakland County fathers something special for Father's Day. Why? Simply because fathers like the gifts they get from Osmun's.

The shirts fit. The ties actually look good. The sport coats feel (and look) right. And if he's about this tall and that wide we can probably help you guess his exact size, too.

This Father's Day we want you to know all our experience in pleasing Dad—if he's 23 or 73—is at your service in both Osmun's stores. We know him pretty well by now.

Almost as well as you do.

Wynn Has New Theory on Particles in Orbit

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Early Wynn, the elder statesman of the Chicago White Sox pitching staff, has a feeling that when the first man reaches the moon he'll find a supply of major league baseballs up there.

The likable right-hander, 40 still a man to be reckoned with, said today he hasn't heard back from astronauts John Glenn or Scott Carpenter, to whom he sent a personal message last week.

"I wired them that a careful study of the films of their flight might disclose some interesting facts about those particles they saw in orbit."

"If they look close enough," said Early, with tongue in wide cheek, "they might find the signatures of Joe Cronin and Warren Giles on them."

Mr. Giles and Mr. Cronin are the presidents of the National American League.

"No," continued Early, "I have not received a reply from Major Glenn and Commander Carpenter. They are out on tour from Cape Canaveral."

Wynn actually sent the night letter—and paid for it himself—from Baltimore June 1.

He said he got the inspiration after watching some of the less ferocious hitters send baseballs into orbit.

FADEAWAY HOMER
Mentioned was Detroit's smallish Jake Wood. He banged a pitch into the center field bleachers at Detroit recently that went into the upper tiers at more than 400 feet—and it fell falling away from a pluck.

"Some of the fellows are hitting the ball further than Joe DiMaggio or Hank Greenberg ever did," said the long ball hitter of yesterday, Babe Herman.

Wynn enlisted the journalistic advice of a gifted Chicago writer, Warren Brown, and drafted the wire to the astronauts.

"Being a flier myself, I understand the value of solid fuels in such space ventures," continued the crutcher Mr. Wynn. "So I suggest that if we have not developed a satisfactory fuel for our first moon flight, I was sure baseballs would supply the secret because the solids in baseballs these days are the most powerful known to man."

With that, Mr. Wynn adjusted his matty tie and headed for his nearby newspaper theater. He indicated maybe he might detect something from the films himself.

Manny Jimenez, Siebern Join to Nudge Twins

Rookie, Veteran Each Make 2 Hits to Spark 4-3 Victory

By The Associated Press
Manny Jimenez, a rookie with one foot off the ground, and high-flying Norm Siebern have lifted the Kansas City Athletics right into the middle of that ever-tightening American League pennant scramble.

Jimenez and Siebern each stroked two hits Tuesday night as the A's knocked off Minnesota 4-3, another shuffling in the standings by dropping the Twins into fourth place and improved their own position by moving within two victories of the 300 mark.

Jimenez, who lifts his right foot when swinging in the manner of Mel Ott, came to the A's from Milwaukee in the trade that sent pitcher Bob Shaw to the Braves. He's been sensational. A double, driving in Siebern with the first run, and a single boosted his league-leading average to .386.

AVERAGE JUMPS
Siebern, meanwhile, moved into seventh place among the AL's top hitters, stroking a double and a home run for a .321 mark, and remained No. 1 in runs batted in with 41. He also topped one end of the plate that led in the winning run in the fifth inning.

Twins' starter Camilo Pascual failed to cover home as catcher Earl Battey tossed out Siebern and Bobby Del Greco, who had doubled, sped home with the clincher. That dropped Minnesota into fourth, percentage points behind Detroit's Tigers, who were nailed out.

Only two other games were played as rain idled the remaining double. The Chicago White Sox whipped the Los Angeles Angels 9-5 and Baltimore edged Washington 6-5 in the first game of a scheduled two-night doubleheader. The second game was rained out.

CONSECUTIVE DOUBLES by Siebern and Jimenez in the first and third innings helped the Athletics build a 3-0 Kansas City lead, but they needed the run on Pascual's mental error to win it. The loss was the third in 10 decisions for Pascual. John Wyatt (4-3) was the winner, allowing only four hits for six innings before Diego Segui and Gordon Jones finished up with hitless relief pitching.

HAS BIG GAME
Charlie Smith drove in four runs for the White Sox with three singles, snapping a 5-5 tie in the ninth as the Chicagoans broke loose for four runs to whip the Angels. The victory went to Dom Zanni (3-2), the loss to Ryne Duren (2-5). Bo Belinsky was a surprise starter for Los Angeles, but left in the third after walking five, giving up four hits and three runs. Leon Wagner hit his 14th homer for the Angels.

The Orioles came from behind to win it on White Herzog's seventh-inning pinch-hit homer in the seventh inning off reliever Marty Kutyna (1-5). The Orioles built a 4-0 lead in the first inning on Jack Brandt's two-run triple and a bases-loaded single by Charlie Lau before the Senators used a three-run shot by Chuck Hinton to move ahead. Herzog settled it and gave Billy Hoelt (1-3) the triumph.

Rochester Easily Wins Tri-County Golf Title
Rochester ran away with the Tri-County League golf title at Pontiac Country Club. The Falcons compiled a five-man total of 404 for the 18-hole event, followed by Lapeer with 441. Waterford Kettering trailed with 447. L'Anse Creuse 461 and Romeo 477.

Chuck Sterns of Rochester and Louie's Bob Duckwall each shot 77, then Sterns defeated Duckwall in the 2nd extra hole of a sudden-death playoff to win medal honors. Rochester's Dave Bowmen carded 78 and Doug Stranahan of Kettering posted 83.

Sadecki Fined $250

By The Associated Press
Stan (The Man) Musial hit his 450th home run to put St. Louis back in the victory column. But Cardinal pitcher Ray Sadecki wound up on the losing side.

60 Tuesday night to give the Cards a 10-9, 11-inning triumph over Cincinnati that snapped an eight-game losing streak, fuming St. Louis Manager Johnny Keane announced he was fining Sadecki $250 because "he goofed off."

The increased Cardinal field boss said he leveled the heavy fine on Sadecki "for the poorest exhibition of effort I have ever seen on a major league diamond. Everyone else out there was trying to win and he goofed off."

POOR INNING
Keane was shaken by the incidents that occurred in the fifth inning when Sadecki faced five men, committed two errors, gave up three homers, allowed five runs and failed to retire one batter as the Reds pulled out to a 9-1 lead.

The 21-year-old left-hander's first pitch was hit for a homer by opposing hurler Bob Purkey. After a single by Ed Kasko, Sadecki missed Marty Keough's attempted sacrifice for an error.

Then Don Zimmer tapped one back to the mound and Sadecki fired the ball into center field. Frank Robinson's three-run homer topped it off.

Meanwhile, league-leading San Francisco blasted Chicago's Cubs 11-4 and maintained a two-game edge over runner-up Los Angeles. The Dodgers won the opener of their two-night doubleheader with Pittsburgh 5-2 and tied 7-3 after eight innings when the nightcap was suspended by curfew. It'll be resumed tonight.

Houston belted Milwaukee 7-1 in the only other game played. The New York-Philadelphia game was rained out.

PERFECT THROW
Musial, who went 3-for-6 in pacing the Cardinal comeback, has hiked his average to .326 with 11 hits in his last 25 at-bats, also cut down Koolie Rojas at the plate with a perfect peg in the fourth inning.

Checked on three hits for five innings by Bob Purkey, the Cards began to battle back, finally pulling even in the seventh when Bill White hit a three-run homer and Ken Boyer smashed a two-run shot. It stayed knotted until Musial won it for reliever Lindy McDaniel (2-3) with his homer off Dave Slater (2-1).

A five-run eighth inning uprising triggered by Felipe Alou's homer and an error by Cubs' shortstop Andre Rodgers gave the Giants their fifth triumph in a row and 12th in 13 games. Alou homered and the next two batters walked. Rodgers dropped a line shot by Jose Pagan that conceivably could have been a check into the New York Mets' hotel Tuesday night and will get a tryout by Manager Casey Stengel.

In his tenure with the Yanks, Dittmar was one of Stengel's favorite pitchers. Dittmar was released by the Kansas City A's on May 23.

against the Pirates with a homer and double and scored the clincher in the sixth on a single by Tommy Davis. Stan Williams (6-1) got the victory with 2-3 innings of no-hit relief by Larry Sherry. Earl Francis (2-3) lost it.

DOUBLE ACTION
Maury Wills, who had three singles in the first game, hit two doubles and a single in the nightcap and Jim Gilliam stroked a double and three singles as Don Drysdale went for victory No. 9.

The issue will be settled before tonight's regularly scheduled game.

The seventh-hit pitching of Bob Bruce (3-1) a 13th-inning at-bat in which every player in the lineup got at least one safety got the job done for the Colts. Al Spangler's lead off homer in the first inning set the pattern and charged Milwaukee starter Ron Piche with his first loss after three victories.

Dittmar Seeking Job With Former Manager
PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Art Dittmar, a former New York Yankee, is trying to hook up with his old boss again.

The 32-year-old right-hander checked into the New York Mets' hotel Tuesday night and will get a tryout by Manager Casey Stengel.

Prep Athletics Hit by Cutbacks

LANSING (AP)—School officials report a trend in economy cutbacks. It's in athletic programs. Bay City public schools have cut out all interscholastic sports except football, officials say, while Saginaw is considering dropping all except those that pay their own way.

Houghton Lake quit interscholastic competition a year ago and just recently announced it is restoring some sports, said Allen W. Bush, assistant state director of interscholastic athletics.

And Berrien Springs was about to drop such sports a year or so ago when local backers agreed to pick up the tab, Bush added.

Why? Money.

When these school districts found themselves foundering in a sea of financial problems, one of the first items to go over the side was interscholastic athletics.

Other districts are rumored thinking along the same lines, Bush added.

Saginaw also reduced programs in shop, homemaking, art and physical education. High school music was eliminated.

A refusal to burden local property owners with further school taxes apparently is growing among Michigan voters, says Dr. Lynn M. Bartlett, state superintendent of public instruction.

Bartlett, testifying in favor of a federal aid to education bill last month before a congressional group, said:

"During the past several months an increasing number of school districts are experiencing more and more difficulty in obtaining approval of their communities for needed additional funds."

Bartlett based his testimony, in part, on a study of Dr. Lawrence F. Read, superintendent of Lakeshore public schools in St. Clair Shores. Read's study, the only recent survey of the most part, the metropolitan Detroit area from last January to mid-April.

Lampere public schools got a millage increase through in a second attempt. Dearborn District No. 8 succeeded only after it had failed

Some of the losses have been before the voters four times or more.

A millage increase in Harper Woods was defeated more decisively in April than it was in January. Lakeshore district passed a millage hike in its second try at the polls—but only after the original request was scaled down.

Cherry Hill (including the village of Inkster and part of Dearborn Township) never before had three times. Port Huron failed on the same issue twice and Hazel Park missed several times. Southgate in western Wayne County passed the successful bond issue during the period of the survey.

Voters in most of these Wayne, Oakland, Macomb and St. Clair county districts previously had been sympathetic to pleas for more money. Read said.

FIRST RETRACK
Cherry Hill (including the village of Inkster and part of Dearborn Township) never before had lost in a request for more funds but it then had two extra-money requests turned down at the polls.

Bay City lost its request for $4 million over a two-year period last April. Saginaw lost out last year on a proposed three-million dollar bond issue. Bay City will not get $2.5 million from a $4.7 million bond for the coming fiscal year. Saginaw votes are to be decided this month.

The solution, Bartlett told congressional investigators, is a tax reform. Michigan school districts need something better than that dependence on property taxes, he said.

In the past 10 years, said Bartlett, the local school tax burden has mounted from 45.5 to 55.4 per cent of education costs, while the state share has slipped from 52 to 44.5 per cent. Federal contributions have remained at about two per cent.

Army Football Coach Accused of Piracy

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP)—New Army coach Paul Dietzel has lured two of South Carolina's top prep football prospects to West Point and cries of piracy promulgated through the South Carolina hinterlands.

Both boys—Curtis Lindler of Lower Richland High, a fullback, and Wayne Page of Lake View, a halfback—already had signed college grants-in-aid. Lindler, at South Carolina and Page at Clemson.

"It is a down right outrage," said coach Frank Howard, who for more than 20 years has considered South Carolina hallowed domain from which to draw the bulk of his Clemson players.

"My money" Howard accused Dietzel of luring Lindler and Page to West Point, knowing that they already had signed athletic grants-in-aid.

"I always thought West Point taught young men to have integrity," Howard said. "But you can't expect them to have any when they are started off on the wrong foot like Dietzel's teaching them to do. That's nothing but hitting below the belt."

South Carolina coach Marvin Bass was less vehement, saying "you can't blame the boy for going to West Point. You have to blame the people who are trying to take him away."

PUBLIC DOMAIN
Dietzel, who left a highly successful tenure at Louisiana State to take the Army head coaching job last fall, said at West Point he didn't know South Carolina was restricted recruiting territory.

"This is the United States Military Academy," he said, "and we are not restricted to one state. This situation deals in personalities but unfortunately schools get involved."

As to Howard's charge that he lured Lindler and Page to West Point, Dietzel said "any money spent in recruiting comes from the Army Athletic Association, which is from football game receipts. No funds of any kind are appropriated for football."

Lindler, now on a visit to Niagara Falls, N.Y., with some high school mates, said he had tried to get an appointment to West Point through his congressman but failed.

SOUGHT ENTRY
"Then the football people became interested in me and they helped me to get an appointment. I wouldn't have gotten it if it hadn't been for the help from the football staff."

Page was not available for comment. But his mother, Mrs. Lucy Page of Lake View, said her son wasn't interested in West Point until "the football people began talking to him."

"It was too late for Wayne to apply to West Point anyhow, because it normally takes about a year to make application. But the football people handled the whole thing for Wayne. We didn't even have to work through our congressman."

Three-Run Rally Enables Nicholice to Surprize CIO

A three-run uprising in the top of the 7th inning enabled Don Nicholice to score a 4-3 victory over CIO Local 584 last night in a Class A City League baseball game at Joyce Park.

Two errors, a walk and a pair of singles highlighted the rally. Jerry Powell's single delivered Larry Lamphere with the winning run.

CIO batted three times in the eighth inning, but the rally counted once in the 5th to set the stage for the victorious surge.

Huron Airways and the N. T. Clippers tangle in tonight's Class A game under the Joyce Park lights at 8 o'clock.

Detroit in Lead of Seniors' Meet

RYE, N.Y. (AP)—James H. McAlvin of Lake Forest, Ill., and George Hagarty of Detroit take a two-stroke lead into the final 18 holes of the U.S. Seniors' Golf Association championship today but a fellow five strokes back may be the top challenger.

McAlvin and Hagarty both shot the low round of 68 in the 36-hole Western Country Club, considered the least demanding of the two courses where the field of 419 is competing. The best score on the "other half" played their first round, was a 74 by John Ledbetter Jr. of Scarsdale, N.Y. He and the others who started at Apanawis will get their crack at Western today in the final round of the 36-hole tournament.

The defending champion, Joseph Morrill Jr. of Great Barrington, Mass., shot a 69-72 at Apanawis.

Another Michigan entry, Fred L. Righin Sr. of Port Huron, finished three strokes behind Morrill with a 69-75.

Reed Whipped by Lundquist in Tournament

OSLO (AP)—Jan Erik Lundquist of Sweden handed America's No. 1 tennis player, Whitney Reed of Alameda, Calif., a sound 3-6, 6-3, 6-2, 6-3 pasting Tuesday as he advanced to the final of the Norwegian Tennis Championships.

Reed was seeded behind Wimbledon champion Rod Laver, of Australia.

Laver, making his first tournament appearance in a quarter-final match, had some trouble disposing of a veteran Norwegian, Drobner of Bjorn 6-4, 3-6, 6-4.

Laver's semifinal opponent will be Ulf Schmidt, Lundquist's Davis Cup teammate, who defeated Sergio Tacchini of Italy, 6-1, 7-5.

Harmsworth Challenger

DETROIT (UPI)—Jack Schaffer yesterday christened his newest racing boat—Sucha IV—and announced that the craft was designed to challenge Canada's Harmsworth trophy winner, Miss Supertest III.

Schaffer's new boat is aluminum-constructed and is powered by twin Allison engines which develop 3,500 horsepower. It is the largest and most powerful hydroplane in the unlimited class.

Conservation Director at Lakeland Tonight

State Conservation Director on the Drayton Plains fish hatchery tonight.

According to Ray Herrington, secretary of the Lakeland Conservation League, Eddy and A. B. Cook, head of the department's fish division will attend a meet-at 8 o'clock in the Chief Pontiac American Legion Hall on Lake Oakland where the league makes its headquarters.

The Oakland County Sportsmen's Club has invited the state director to be on hand Saturday when club members begin impoundment and crop planting projects in the Holly Recreation.

The hall is at the south end of Mary Sue Street off Maybee Road.

DRIVE STARTED

A drive to reopen the Drayton hatchery has been started by the Lakeland group. The fish rearing facility was officially closed early this year.

Cook cited money problems and water pollution as the reasons for the closing. Other hatcheries in the state met similar fates because of the curtailment in the Conservation Department's budget.

Holding ponds at the Drayton hatchery were used during trout planting operations in April. Although there are no fish there now, the department is maintaining an operating force of two men.

The OCS conservation committee will have charge of the projects in the Holly area.

Club members are scheduled to begin fitting land for grain food crops near Brant and Perryville Roads Saturday morning. Heavy equipment will start moving earth around at the same time at the southeast corner of the same intersection, a mile and a half west of Ortonville.

This will be the location of the water impoundment. Committee officials said they hoped to complete the impoundment Saturday.

Ed Tucker, conservation department game biologist for Oakland County, will be the technical supervisor.

The Oakland County Excavators and Earthmovers Assn. will assist with the projects.

Possible Success in Lamprey Fight

TORONTO — Success may be in sight in a long battle against the sea lamprey. J. W. Spooner, Ontario minister of lands and forests, says:

"If our biologists have not misinterpreted the evidence of the poisoning program to date, the spring run of 1962 will be the last heavy sea lamprey run from Lake Superior."

"In spite of our best efforts, however, it is extremely doubtful if sea lamprey can be completely eliminated from Lake Superior."

The lamprey, an eel-like fish that grows to 12-24 inches, kills by fastening itself to a fish and sucking blood.

It has been in the St. Lawrence River and Lake Ontario for centuries. After the Welland canal opened in 1829 it bypassed Niagara Falls. Even then it took the lamprey nearly 100 years to pass through Lake Erie.

The projects are getting under way about six weeks early.

Committee officials cited the unusually dry weather last month as making it possible to operate the heavy equipment needed in the swamp area where the pond will be formed.

OCS is planning several ponds in the Holly recreation area. Two and possibly three may be completed this summer, according to committee officials.

The impoundments are designed to improve duck breeding habitat in the area. The ponds will be formed to hold water long enough for ducks to hatch their eggs and move the youngsters to more permanent water.

The crops will be left standing to provide food and cover for wildlife.

Appointment Bill Gave MUCC Push

LANSING — Twenty-five years ago, a bill in the legislature proposed appointment of the state conservation director by the governor, taking the authority away from the State Conservation Commission.

Conservation groups, for the most part, don't like the idea of making a patronage plum of the state's top conservation post. With the bill halfway through the legislature, the Kent County Conservation League started a drive to kill it.

An appeal to conservationists and other conservation clubs brought a $150 kitty to fight the measure. It was defeated.

Out of that campaign was born the Michigan United Conservation Clubs, one of the largest, best known and most active of its kind in the country.

"It describes itself as 'a non-profit, non-partisan organization of Michigan citizens interested in the present and future well-being of our state and in the conservation of our soils, waters, forests, wildlife, mineral and a healthful outdoor recreation.'"

This month, the MUCC, grown from 6,000 members to about 60,000, will observe its silver anniversary in Traverse City at its annual convention. Delegates will represent approximately 335 member clubs throughout the state.

Time after time, its campaigns for or against legislation and proposed conservation programs have helped turn the tide one way or the other.

The MUCC figured prominently in the successful fight four years ago to prevent mining exploration in the big Porcupine mountains state park in the Upper Peninsula.

The State Conservation Department's deer management program, keyed to the regular harvest of does and fawns to keep the herd in balance with the food supply, would not be accepted as it is without MUCC support.

It was a driving force behind the public fishing sites program, now the nation's largest, and fought repeatedly to keep partisan politics out of state agencies charged with resources management.

Lately, the organization has been planning for an ambitious program to control pollution in the Detroit River and a ban against throw-away bottles, as well as other anti-litter legislation.

Critics of the MUCC most frequently label it a "rubber stamp" of the State Conservation Department. Similarly, the Conservation Department is sometimes tagged a rubber-stamp of the MUCC.

CANNED BULLHEAD — Joe Gareau, 52, of Union Lake holds a jar containing a bullhead that had eyes smaller than its stomach. Gareau and Norm Hinkle, 34, of Cass Lake discovered the jar and fish while skin diving Sunday in 12 feet of water at Pine Lake. The bullhead apparently poked its whiskered head into the jar and kept going in search of food. The fish managed to squeeze in, but its well filled stomach wouldn't let it back out. The fish was in good condition when rescued, and was released.

Million and Half Lakers in the largest planting since the trout restocking program started in 1959, the State Conservation Department said today.

Economy Moving But Gears Sticking

Editor's Note — The official administration line is that the business recovery is satisfactory, but privately there is talk of a lack of zip. This second of four articles considers what measures the administration may take to put the economy in over-drive.

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy's top economist, Walter W. Heller, says: "The economy is running in high gear. That is not enough. It should be in over-drive."

To help get it into over-drive, Kennedy will ask Congress, before it goes home this summer, to start work on a major 1963 overhaul of the tax law. There is good reason to believe this will bring a net tax reduction of anywhere from $7 billion to $15 billion.

Since the economy is in a good recovery, well into its second year, is satisfactory. It is, in the limited sense that gradual gains are being made to new high levels of income and production. No recession is in sight.

But privately Kennedy's advisers admit that the expansion lacks zip. Industry is working 15 percent below capacity and unemployment is at 6.9 percent.

The White House is seriously concerned over the possibility that years may linger on, discouraging consumers from spending and causing business managers to defer their planned outlays on new plants and equipment.

By word and deed, Kennedy has sought to reassure business that his crackdown on the April steel price increase was not a policy of intervention in free markets; that his concern for profits is great, because the federal tax collector gets half of them; and that a healthy climb for enterprise and investment is among his foremost concerns.

But all Kennedy's assurances do not dilute the bitterness with which investors swapped anti-Kennedy jokes in the weeks after the quotation boards in the brokers' offices. The steel price episode and the market nosedive became a running commentary on the administration's economic policy.

There are not too many ways to reverse the odds. The most obvious is a tax cut. Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon said Monday night in a New York City show of firmness in opening transactions, the grain hauler selling today on the Board of Trade and prices turned generally easier.

Wheat moved up as much as a cent at the start, but within a few minutes slipped into a narrow mixed range while corn and soybeans made major fractions higher.

Senator Rips Tax Cut Request

Democrat Gore Says
'Big Money Crowd' Is Out to Tap Treasury

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., charged today that the "big money crowd" was trying to tap the Treasury by exerting pressure for a business-stimulating cut in federal taxes.

Gore, a member of the Senate Finance Committee, said he believed that a quick tax cut urged by some to restore confidence shaken by the stock market's gyrations would be unwise.

Economist-diplomat J. Kenneth Galbraith, author of a book on the 1929 market crash, concurred in Gore's views and told reporters the circumstances "are very different from 1929."

Two Republican senators meantime called on the administration to drop the tax bill now pending and submit the major tax reduction bill that has been promised by President Kennedy for 1963.

The pending bill is built around a tax credit to spur business investment. The goal of lowering unemployment to 4 percent by mid-1963 apparently will not be met.

HIS BATTLE CRY
In the past month the President's speeches began to repeat his campaign lingo: "We are going to get the economy moving forward."

It would still be barely possible to reach Kennedy's January forecast of 375 billion in gross national product this year, but only if there is an early, vigorous upsurge of consumer buying and industry spending.

Most officials suspect that Chairman Heller of the President's Council of Economic Advisors—the man who is trying to get economy into over-drive—whistling in the dark when he said last week:

"There is a chance, a good chance, that we could do it. But the odds have dropped."

There are not too many ways to reverse the odds. The most obvious is a tax cut. Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon said Monday night in a New York City show of firmness in opening transactions, the grain hauler selling today on the Board of Trade and prices turned generally easier.

Business Good

Autos have been selling in recent weeks at a rate of more than seven million a year, second only to the great spurge of 1955. It was the lifting of the threat of a mid-year strike or price increase.

Spring retail sales have been strong. The rise of personal income to a present rate of 6 percent indicates a rise of promise of a further strengthening in consumer demand. Stable prices mean that the income gains represent genuine growth in purchasing power.

Industrial output in April hit another all-time high, despite a slowdown in steel demand which came from the sitting of the threat of a mid-year strike or price increase.

The outlays of government for the first five months of 1962 are $10 billion more to the national account than in 1961.

Unofficial new estimates of corporate outlays for new plant and equipment indicate a rise of about 10 percent from last year.

The dollar value of all goods and services produced, or gross national product, is now at a rate equivalent to the early 1950s and $500 billion a year, a record high which represents a gain of more than $20 billion from the recession level of early 1961.

What's wrong then? Only these things:
NO OVERDRIVE
If the industry were in over-drive, on its way to full employment, the production rate by now would be $10 billion higher. Unemployment would be down to 5 percent or less of the labor force. Instead it has dropped only to 6.9 percent, roughly half way between the recession rate of 6.9 percent and the long-run goal of 4 percent next year.

Corporation profits, now believed to be somewhat above $52 billion in annual rate, would be closer to the $30 billion if the administration built its budget-balancing forecast of corporation tax revenues.

The profit squeeze of which business is complaining results from a combination of rising labor and other costs, idle capacity, tough competition at home, tougher overseas markets.

White House policy against price raises.
PROFITS SMALLER
As a result, this year's record profits will represent a smaller share of national output than did the early 1950s. In the past decade profits have risen only 11 percent while sales went up 70 percent.

Profit Taking Quiets Down Wall Street Bounces Up Again

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market held substantial gains early this afternoon. Profit taking skimmed the cream from a brisk rally in the morning. Trading quieted after a vigorous start.

Gains of fractions to well over a point among key stocks were spread throughout various sections of the list.

The rise was strong from the opening, with the ticker tape running as much as four minutes behind transactions.

Wall Streeters ascribed the advance to an outgrowth of yesterday's gyrations which had the signs of an attempt to build a solid base from which to rally.

Apparently, such a base was built only for a day.

LIKE BOUNCING BALL
"It's the bounced ball effect," said one market technician.

In the early afternoon the market had recouped about a third of Monday's sharp losses. Blue chips started 1 or 2 points above the broad front in the morning and early gains of several points were scored by some of the "growth" stocks. These advances were cut back in most cases and some gainers became losers.

As trading progressed, however, prices once again were improving. Prices maintained a generally higher trend on the American Stock Exchange as trading slowed markedly from recent sessions.

Padlocking "A" rose about 2; Keweenaw, Aerof-General, Syntex, Technical Operations and South West Corp. more than a point.

Calgary & Edmonton added a point. Brown - Forman preferred was off fractionally in heavy trading. Hebrew National dropped more than a point.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A retired business executive whose daughter was murdered Monday denied today that his company was involved in a private report issued after the close of trading yesterday. However, some dealers said the company may have been largely discounted in earlier trading.

The executive, Arthur H. Bunker, president of the China Molybdenum Co., testified without visible emotion before Sen. Stuart Symington's special armed services subcommittee.

Chrysler Corp. Answers Labor

Tells Scholle Political Gifts Should Be Given to Man's Own Party

DETROIT (U)—Chrysler Corp. said yesterday that—in response to requests from both the Democratic and Republican parties—it invited its executives April 18 to make political contributions as "good citizens."

Chrysler made public a letter from President Lynn A. Townsend to company executives in which the company invited contributions while emphasizing that the choice of party was "strictly your own decision."

The company made the letter public after Michigan AFL-CIO President August Scholle charged at the AFL-CIO Grand Rapids convention that Republicans used "exploitation and extortion" to get money from auto company executives and office workers.

Scholle made the charge in his convention speech Monday. He assailed Republican fund-raising tactics.

General Motors and Ford declined comment on Scholle's statements. Spokesmen for both, however, said that employees had been encouraged to take part in activities of parties of their own choice.

The Townsend letter to Chrysler executives said in part "by supporting the party of your choice you will be doing your share to ward providing the kind of party activity you believe is best suited for your community, state and nation."

Townsend said that all funds collected by the company from the executives would be turned over to the names of the contributors "to the proper officials of the Democratic or the Republican party."

Townsend said the chairman of both parties had asked him to request political contributions—from the executives.

Building Activity in Waterford Is Down From 1961

Building activity in Waterford Township, according to the May building department report, continues to ease from last year's pace.

In the month just ended 129 permits were issued valued at $805,651. During the same month a year ago, 138 permits were allowed and their valuation was set at $874,906.

Drop CPA's License for Aiding Billie Sol

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—The Texas Board of Public Accountancy suspended the license yesterday of a certified public accountant whose report on Billie Sol Estes showed him worth more than $13 million when in fact he was broke.

The board suspended Winfred Paul Jackson's license for two years following his appearance at a board hearing Monday.

The Lubbock accountant in late 1960 prepared a financial statement showing Estes had a net worth of more than $13 million. Within months Estes was bankrupt and admitted to owing millions.

On the basis of Jackson's financial statement, the Agriculture Department kept Estes' bond on grain storage at $700,000 after first considering raising the bond to $1 million as recommended by a department staff member.

Old Ironsides 'Done' on 1 Side for the Year

BOSTON (U)—The USS Constitution, "Old Ironsides" of the War of 1812 and the scourge of the Barbary Coast, took its annual turn-around in Boston Harbor yesterday.

The Constitution is berthed at the Boston Naval Shipyard and is the flagship of Rear Adm. Joseph H. Wellings, commandant of the First Naval District.

Annually the three-masted frigate is taken out and brought back for the reverse berthing to prevent winds and sun from warping her masts and yardarms after a year's exposure in the same direction.

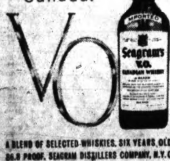

Commander of the craft is Lt. Victor B. Stevens of Worcester.

Budget Change Means Service Cut, Tax Hike

City Commission Sets Hearing on Amendment to Appropriations

Pontiac's 1962 fiscal condition will be one of more taxes and less services.

That's the picture painted by an emergency amendment to the 1962 appropriation ordinance, introduced at the City Commission table last night.

The cause of the dilemma: A shrunken tax base.

The amendment will be the subject of a public hearing at next Tuesday's Commission meeting. Following the hearing, commissioners are expected to adopt the ordinance as amended.

It will set the 1962 tax rate at $12.36 per $100 of assessed property valuation, an increase of 36 cents over the 1961 tax rate of $12.00.

It will slice $70,500 off the previously adopted 1962 budget appropriations, according to City Manager Robert A. Shuman.

Much of the cutback will be felt in a "drastic reduction in such services as street patching and sweeping, traffic sign replacement, storm drain repair and maintenance and chloride applications in unimproved streets."

The appropriation ordinance adopted in January called for a $12.36 tax rate to support a $6,719,475 total budget based on an assumed total assessed valuation of $530,254,000.

This was given when the city's board of review set the assessed valuation at $281,882,200. This meant the budget had to be cut or the tax rate go to at least $14.30 per $100 of assessed property value.

The original $6.7-million budget total included $5,694,675 for operating costs and waste collection, $553,000 for the city's capital program. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 1)

Pontiac Sales Boom to Double Last May

Twice as many drivers bought Pontiac and Tempest cars this May than did last year. Other makes also showed gains.

The selling record of 44,987 Pontiac and Tempests was the best for any May since 1955, it was announced today by E. M. (Pete) Estes, General Motors vice president and general manager for the Pontiac Motor Division.

The figure is a 58 per cent gain over the 28,413 units sold in May last year.

And the sales curve was still going up in the last 10 days of May, when deliveries of 12,253 cars as compared to 10,751 in the same period last year. This increase totaled 66 per cent.

Meanwhile, Chevrolet sales in May were the highest for any month in the company's history for both trucks and cars. It was announced by General Manager S. E. Knudsen, predecessor of Estes at Pontiac.

Other sales up: Rambler, Chrysler, and Dodge sales were also up, according to the sales departments of their companies.

Chevrolet car sales were 22,681—16 per cent above the previous high last March and 38 per cent above May last year. Car sales included 12,515 regular models, 37,992 Chevy II's, and 32,189 Corvairs.

Truck deliveries totaled 41,417, up 30 per cent over May 1961 figures, the company said. Combined car and truck deliveries for 1962 totaled 1,083,353 at the end of May, beating by 77 car-end days the earliest previous date by which Chevrolet had achieved the one-million mark.

American Motors announced Rambler had its best May in history, with sales of 40,584 units compared to 33,515 in the 1961 period.

Chrysler sales were tops for any May since 1955, with sales of 10,644.

Chrysler car sales for the first five months of 1962, totaling 51,548, were a 37 per cent increase over the similar period last year and the best for the period since 1955.

For the combined Chrysler-Plymouth Division, 15,065 units were delivered in the last ten-day period of May, a 27 per cent increase over the previous ten-day sales period. Total Plymouth-Vauxhall sales in the last ten days were 9,896, up 25 per cent over the previous ten days.

Dodge reported its car and truck sales during May were 18.4 per cent higher than in May last year.

Dodge said dealers sold 26,344 vehicles—20,638 cars and 5,706 trucks—in May 1962, compared with 22,238 vehicles in May 1961.

Syrian Calls for Union With U.A.R., Eyes Iraq

DAMASCUS (U)—Syrian Premier Baschar Assad called today for federal union with the United Arab Republic and expressed hope Iraq also would join.

This plan would preserve Syrian sovereignty, which was submerged in the union of Syria and Egypt into the U.A.R. in 1958. That merger was dissolved by a Syrian army coup last Sept. 28.

Letter Reveals Ford Dem Gifts

Steebler Acknowledges Money From 178 Firm Executives

DETROIT (U)—A letter from Neil Steebler, Democratic national committee chairman, thanking Ford Motor Co. for 178 envelopes containing donations from Ford executives for the Democratic party was published here today.

The letter was dated June 5, 1961, and addressed to Thomas R. Reid, Ford's chief and government affairs manager. It was published in the Detroit News.

August (Gus) Scholle, president of the Michigan AFL-CIO, told the union federation's convention at Grand Rapids Monday that Republicans raise hundreds of thousands of dollars from automobile company executives and office workers by "exploitation and extortion."

Scholle charged that Republican executives in the auto industry "are trying to buy state government in the same way they buy raw materials for their cars."

He also read a 177-page list of what he said were 1960 contributions totaling $552,000 to the Wayne County Republican committee by auto executives and office workers.

Total Dem Vote Nearly Double the GOP Count

As California Balloted, Connecticut's Alop Gets Nod on 8th Round

By The Associated Press
Republican Richard Nixon and Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown emerged today as triumphant choices of their parties to face each other in California's 1962 race for governor.

The county of nearly 4 1/2-million ballots in yesterday's primary election carried both nominees toward the one-million mark as the foundation for their November campaign.

Nixon, in his first political outing since losing the presidency in 1960, defeated conservative assemblyman Joseph C. Shell of Los Angeles by a never-challenged 2 to 1 margin.

The tally from 17,438 of 31,312 precincts: Nixon 567,106, Shell 313,559.

Nixon swept the big population areas.

There never was any doubt that Brown, with only nominal opposition, would be tapped by the state's preponderant Democrats to head their ticket.

DEM VOTE DOUBLE?
But the size of his vote—almost equalling the combined Nixon-Shell total—uncovered solid party support for the 57-year-old governor.

With returns from 16,818 precincts, Brown had 781,580, Alfred Hamilton, 42,066; Phillip Moore, 45,000; and John C. Stuart, 45,660.

The governor's showing was in sharp contrast to the 600,000 votes against his favorite son, state Sen. John J. McCarthy, Democratic presidential primary.

IN OTHER RACES
In other races around the nation: Sen. Thomas Kuchel of California, Sen. Francis Case of South Dakota and Gov. Robert E. Smylie of Idaho won Republican nominations for new terms.

The Connecticut Republican convention took eight ballots to nominate insurance executive John Aloi for governor.

Rep. James Whitton ousted Rep. Frank Smith from Congress in seeking the same House seat.

Nixon never faltered in defeating Shell, an independent oilman from Los Angeles and leader of the Republican minority in the California Assembly.

Nixon immediately made peace overtures to Shell, who denounced his rival during the campaign as "a meeter" and a "loser" in intent on running for president again.

Passes for Peace Corps

Pontiac teacher, Joyce Hofman, will swap a cool, modern classroom this fall to teach in a country which one encyclopedia describes as "wet, hot and unhealthful."

Miss Hofman, 28, civics and English teacher at Washington Junior High School, is the first Pontiac resident to join the U.S. Peace Corps. Her destination: Borneo, a kidney-shaped island of 28,000 square miles just south of the Malay Peninsula.

While American fighting men are tramping through the jungles of Laos and Viet Nam far away, Miss Hofman hopes to teach English to the natives in British-controlled territories of North Borneo or Sarawak.

The other half of the island is controlled by Indonesian President Sukarno who is currently squabbling with the Dutch about their holdings in the area.

Why is Miss Hofman volunteering for a mission of peace amid battle?

"It's a tremendous opportunity for Americans to do something else besides sending money," she re-

Constitution Veto Sure From Labor

GRAND RAPIDS (U)—The politically powerful Michigan AFL-CIO voted unanimously at its convention today to oppose Michigan's proposed new constitution.

GRAND RAPIDS (U)—The politically powerful Michigan AFL-CIO was to make official today its stand against Michigan's proposed new constitution.

A vote was expected at mid-morning following a final report to the 1,000 delegates by two AFL-CIO officials who were con-con delegates.

They were Tom Down, a con-con attorney, and William Marshall, executive vice president of the state AFL-CIO.

There was no question which way the labor unionists would vote. They had heard speeches, ranging from Gov. Swainson to United Auto Workers President Walter Reuther, blasting the constitution as drawn by the Republican-dominated constitutional convention.

More than 1,500 of the delegates and their wives thronged civic auditorium last night to hear a 2 1/2-hour debate by two Republicans and two Democratic con-con delegates.

Glenn Allen, former Republican mayor of Kalamazoo, told the audience, which boomed the Republican speaker mildly on several occasions:

"We understand you are going to vote against us anyway. But remember a 'no' vote will leave us with the 1960 constitution and the issue is whether it is better to stay with that old one or to move on to 1962. I am pleased it is the Republican delegates who are trying you tonight to move ahead."

Melvin Nord, Detroit Democrat, said the proposed constitution should not be called a con-con but rather a "double-con."

Nord said it "developed from an infamous political deal between the supposed reformer, George Romney, and the anti-reform farm bloc, which clearly showed St. George was not going to slay the dragon, but on the contrary, entertain the friendliest feelings toward it."

Earlier yesterday, Reuther, in a fighting 45-minute speech, had attacked the proposed constitution.

He also chided unions who raid fellow unions.

"Some union leaders get fire in their eyes only when they are stealing workers from some other unions," he said.

"We hope to launch a comprehensive organizing campaign in Los Angeles where there are 500,000 unorganized workers. This is a place where unions must learn to work together."

Referring to President Kennedy's proposed White House economic conference, Reuther said:

"I sometimes get disappointed in my friend Henry Ford, who was a member of that conference. The first speaker his public relations people wrote for him sounded good, even human."

However, I'm afraid the way things are going, his only claim to fame may be that he picked the right grandfather."

Ford said the market upheaval has not changed his company's financial plans, but "all of us wonder where this thing is going to go."

One thing in question, Ford said, is whether different price-earning ratio will result as the market stabilizes.

The industrialist said he does not "regard the Kennedy administration as antibusiness," and said he didn't believe that vigorous enforcement of antitrust laws would constitute an antibusiness position.

Ford refused direct comment on the recent steel price crisis.

He said he had "great admiration" for Secretary of Labor Arthur Goldberg, but added he did not know where intervention might end.

He took the position that "a little bit of inflation" would not harm the country, but added that uncontrolled inflation must be avoided.

Sen. Carlton B. Morris, R-Kalamazoo, was successful in a move to require local units of government to take action if violations of the state's laws regarding marine safety are on its way to a conference committee to file, the final step before it is sent to the governor.

The Senate last night approved the House-passed measure, but made enough changes to require a conference to iron out the differences between the two houses.

The bill, proposed by Rep. Charles Boyer, R-Manistee, provided for statewide control of regulations on lakes when control measures are sought by local governments.

A Senate change also would allow local units of government to repeal the state's regulations.

Your Years Are Showing if You Remember . . .

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Your years are showing if you can look back and remember when—

It was a regular Saturday morning chore to carry out furnace ashes from the basement.

Tennis was regarded as a sissy game, only the wealthy played it, and only the poor went bowling.

You treated a heavy cold by greasing your chest and covering it with a piece of yellow flannel. Every kid in a large family had an insurance policy that cost a dime a week.

A girl knew you were really and truly in love with her if you bought her a double-dip ice cream cone.

People stayed up half the night trying to get Pittsburgh on their new crystal radio set.

Cars had running boards. The height of sophistication in a teen-ager was to own a yellow elskor on which was painted in big black letters, "Oh, You Kid!"

Children took their baths in a big washtub in the kitchen on Saturday nights.

Doctors charged $2 for an office visit and $3 for a home call. You could tell a dude on sight. He wore a pair of spats and sported a jaunty cane.

a moral peril to the young. Horses were still the bane of street sweepers.

DEGRACEFUL!
Men wore two-piece bathing suits. A fellow who showed up in nothing but swim trunks would be ordered off the beach. Few people played guitars, but it was a real social asset to be able to strum a ukulele.

It was fashionable for a young fellow to wear a porkpie hat, sideburns, and a pair of bell-bottom trousers so wide he had to take three steps before his pants began to move.

When the boss told a joke, all the men in the office would snap their suspenders as they laughed.

OH! THAT GRAY
Nobody counted calories, and a meal without gravy simply wasn't a meal.

Prohibition ruled the land, and everybody else in the family was banned from the cellar—as a safety measure—while father bottled his home brew.

During church services every one lifted when anyone dropped anything larger than a quarter in the collection plate.

You could take your girl to dinner, and a movie and still have enough change from a $5 bill to buy her a box of candy on the way home.

Yep, those were the days. Remember?

Moscow Relents Lets Goodman MAKE OVER PAGES Be Recorded

SOCHI, Soviet Union (AP)—Apparently prodded by the U.S. Embassy, Soviet authorities relaxed their restrictions on Benny Goodman Tuesday night and allowed American companies to film and record a concert here by his band. The Soviets had stopped an RCA Victor recording team and an NBC television crew from taping a performance by Goodman and his band Monday night in this Black Sea resort town. Officials relented after Goodman and a U.S. Embassy representative accompanying the party made repeated calls to Moscow.

Installing chairman Mrs. Irvin Koper of Menominee Road (center) presided during Sisterhood of Congregational B'nai Israel's annual installation ceremonies at the Pagoda Inn

Board, Officers Installed at Inn by Sisterhood

The Sisterhood of Congregational B'nai Israel installed officers and board members at the annual luncheon Tuesday at Pagoda Inn, Clawson.

Mrs. Israel Goodman gave the invocation and Mrs. Joseph Markle extended greetings from the Michigan Branch of the National Women's League.

Theme for the installation ceremony conducted by Mrs. Irving Koper, nominating committee chairman, was based on the symbolism of the Tree of Life.

Board members for the years 1962-64 are Mrs. Karl Berg, Mrs. Barney Yagoda, Mrs. Stanley M. Ebling and Mrs. Samuel Tobey.

Serving for the same term of office will be Mrs. Morris Bletstein, president; Mrs. Michael Davis, Mrs. Irwin Posner, Mrs. Jack Gambard and Mrs. Sol Newhouse, vice presidents; Mrs. Arnold Wine, treasurer; Mrs. Irving Gordon, financial secretary; Mrs. Abraham Avadens, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Edward Blumeno, parliamentarian and Mrs. Edward Avadens, recording secretary.

Gifts from the sisterhood were presented to the two immediate past presidents, Mrs. Koper and Mrs. Sidney Czeisler.

Rabbi Goodman gave the closing benediction.

Will Aid Scholarship Fund

MSUO Folk Give Time at Hunt Fair

Community groups, Michigan State University Oakland faculty and staff, their husbands, wives and students, have donated their services as ticket-takers for Detroit's 45th Annual Horse Show, June 25-July 1.

Their time has been donated to benefit the MSUO Foundation Scholarship Fund, to raise money for the education of deserving young people, and to assist the Hunt Fair project held during the Horse Show.

Girls in shocking pink aprons and hats will sell popcorn and cotton candy under festive blue and white-striped tents. Pony rides and a carnival of games will be enjoyed by the youngsters while their parents browse through a fine array of shops.

One of the most interesting booths will be the MSUO trinkets and treasures booth—a collection of toys, jewelry and valuable antiques. Everything in this collection has been donated by interested area residents.

Another featured attraction will be the special tea room sponsored by the MSUO Foundation Scholarship Committee and staffed by its members.

Cochairmen of the Hunt Fair committee are Mrs. L. L. Colbert and Mrs. A. C. Girard, both of Bloomfield Hills. Assisting them as members of the MSUO Foundation scholarship committee are publicity: Mrs. George Huebner Jr., Bloomfield Hills; Mrs. E. D. Windeler and Mrs. Norman Cheal, both of Waterford.

Others working on the project include: Concessions; Mrs. Edward S. Wellock, Mrs. Robert VanderKloot and Mrs. Edward H. Lerchen, all of Bloomfield Hills; and Mrs. John K. Bagby, Birmingham.

Mrs. Collis Scott of Franklin Boulevard is working on the Jr. Mrs. Jack Haupt and Mrs. John W. Bell, both of Clarkston.

Treasurer Mrs. J. A. Rammes of West Bloomfield Township is assisted by Mrs. M. D. Stapp, also of West Bloomfield Township. Mrs. S. D. Steiner of Birmingham and Mrs. Harry Swan of Bloomfield Hills have charge of tickets.

Trinkets and treasures are headed by Mrs. Arthur Underwood, Rochester; Mrs. A. children's activities along with Mrs. Rockwood Bullard Jr.
