Discoverer II With Space Capsule Orbits Pole

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—Discoverer II, a 1,600-pound satellite, was in polar orbit today, carrying in its nose cone a space capsule the Air Force hopes to catch in the air near Hawaii.

The recovery experiment may be attempted later today.

The capsule was described as a miniature of the type that someday may be used to return men from space stations.

Discoverer II was launched from this missile base Monday night, while across the nation fellow scientists were experiencing a disappointment.

At Cape Canaveral, Fla., the Air Force tried unsuccessfully to put three satellites into orbit from a single launching vehicle, Vanguard III.

The Vanguard's second stage failed to ignite on schedule. Officials at the Cape said cause of the trouble was not known.

If Discoverer II achieves proper stability, its instrumented nose cone is scheduled to be kicked loose on command from ground tracking stations and float earthward beneath a parachute.

Eight Hawaii-based C119 Flying Boxcars are awaiting orders to swoop on the descending parachute and try to drape it across a 30-foot long trapeze bar suspended beneath each plane. The parachute and capsule would then be reeled into the plane.

The parachute would come into range of the Air Force C119s at about 20,000 feet. The planes would have 10 minutes to snatch the parachute from the air. If they failed, the buoyant capsule would be fished from the ocean by Navy vessels patrolling the recovery area.

The capsule contains instruments to supply oxygen and control heat and atmospheric pressure.

Other instruments will check how effective these environmental systems are. They are designed to keep small animals alive in future satellites. There is no animal in Discoverer II.

Regardless of the outcome of the recovery attempt, spokesmen said they were elated by the second successful orbit in the Discoverer series. Discoverer I, fired Feb. 28, circled the earth 17 days before falling back into the atmosphere and burning up.

No attempt was made to recover any part of Discoverer I.

Seven hours after Monday's launch spokesmen announced the satellite was whirling around the earth north-to-south every 90.84 minutes. Its path from pole to pole took it as far out as 243 miles and brought it as close as 156 miles. It was traveling 17,433.8 miles per hour.

With this orbital pattern established by tracking stations in Alaska, Hawaii and Vandenberg, the satellite is expected to remain aloft at least 30 days. It will continue sending radio beacon signals during its lifetime.

Future Discoverers will carry mice and monkeys into orbit to test the hazards man will meet in space travel.

The Discoverer II capsule, although only 27 by 33 inches, is remarkably similar in function to the capsule planned for Project Mercury which is expected to bring a man back from orbit some two years hence.

Eventually, controlled-environment capsules such as this may be the vehicles technicians will use to descend from large communications and weather-observing satellites.

The Vanguard failure in Florida was the seventh in nine tries for that type rocket. If it had behaved as planned, the second stage would have boosted the satellite payload up to 9,000 miles an hour before separation of the units.

Bells Ring Out to Honor Taft

AP Wirephoto

CROWD AT DEDICATION — The viewers came early, and soon filled the available seats today before President Eisenhower dedicated a bell tower to the late Sen. Robert A. Taft in Washington. Such action was most unusual for Congress. Other speakers were former President Herbert Hoover and Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Ike Praises Late Senator

Taft Memorial Dedicated

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower dedicated a towering memorial today to the late Sen. Robert A. Taft.

He praised Taft as a man who gave generously and unstintingly of himself "for the good of all America."

Eisenhower honored a former political rival and ally at ceremonies at the base of a 100-foot bell tower erected at the foot of Capitol Hill in memory of the Ohio senator.

Taft, Eisenhower said, was a liberal in championing individual rights and the symbol of conservatism in everything affecting the national economy.

Former President Herbert Hoover and high government officials also participated with Eisenhower in the dedication.

Hoover depicted Taft as a man who chose to die with his boots on rather than to desert his post.

He called Taft "an official with a social conscience" and said: "He not only would not desert his post, he never deserted his people."

Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn (D-Tex) arranged to accept the marble tower on behalf of Congress.

The tower is the only memorial to an individual Congress has permitted to be erected on the Capitol grounds.

At the base of the tower is a 10-foot high statue of Taft, whose death from cancer on July 31, 1953 ended a career that included four unsuccessful bids for the Republican presidential nomination.

Above the statue are inscribed these words:

"This memorial to Robert A. Taft, presented by the people to the Congress of the United States, stands as a tribute to the honesty, indomitable courage and high principles of free government symbolized by his life."

Rep. B. Carroll Reece, Tennessee Republican who was a close friend of Taft, said the Ohio senator "will be judged by historians to have been the noblest American of his time."

Court Upholds Ruling on Sewer

Legal Snarl Continues to Peril Farmington Intercepter Project

A quick huddle was called in Detroit today after the State Supreme Court dealt a potential knockout blow to the $5,748,000 Farmington interceptor sanitary sewer system.

For the second time, the court refused to disturb an October decision leaving the project hanging in mid-air.

At the same time, the high court took no action on the long-delayed Twelve-Town Drain case.

Claude H. Stevens, Oakland County's bonding attorney, called the hurried huddle in his office with County Department of Public Works officials to see if the county can now proceed as planned for the sewer.

It is slated to serve Farmington and West Bloomfield townships and the cities of Southfield and Keego Harbor.

"Frankly, I'm greatly surprised," Stevens said when he learned of the court's decision.

Bids on the sale of general obligation bonds to finance the sewer system are scheduled to be taken a week from today. Stevens said this morning's conference would determine whether bids would still be received then.

SPLIT DECISION

Oakland County had tried twice to have the eight justices of the Supreme Court rehear and possibly alter their 4 to 4 decision handed down last October which actually affirmed by equal division the county's legal right to proceed with the project.

County DPW officials, Stevens and Louis H. Schimmel, municipal finance consultant on the project, were leery, however,

U.S. Plane Buzzed by Red Jet Fighters

From Our News Wires

BERLIN — Two Soviet jet fighters buzzed an American Air Force cargo plane and forced it to reduce altitude while it was crossing East Germany on a flight from West Berlin April 3, a U.S. embassy spokesman said today in Bonn.

The incident occurred while the United States and Soviet Union were embroiled in a series of protests and counter-protests involving another buzzing by MIGs on Good Friday, March 27.

Only yesterday the United States delivered a protest to the Soviet Foreign Ministry in Moscow charging that Russia intentionally created a hazard to flight safety in the Berlin air corridor when it buzzed the first plane.

A new protest against the second incident has been lodged at the Berlin Air Safety Center, informed sources said.

HEIGHT IN DISPUTE

Both planes were harassed because they were flying at altitudes above 10,000 feet in the 20-mile-wide air corridors leading from West Germany to West Berlin, 110 miles inside the iron curtain. The United States does not accept such a ceiling on its flights.

The incidents were considered significant because most American transport planes fly at high altitudes and such flights might be necessary to supply the city of West Berlin should the Communists begin a new blockade of the city.

The United States has rejected a Soviet claim that it has a right to limit American Air Force flights to West Berlin to altitudes of 10,000 feet or less.

American planes will fly as high as they need to whenever they want to, the United States said in a formal note delivered Monday to the Soviet foreign office in Moscow.

The Soviet Union has no right at all to set ceilings on plane flights along the 110-mile corridor from West Germany to West Berlin, the note said.

SAID DELIBERATE

The Soviets charged the United States with deliberately staging the first high altitude flight in an attempt to wreck the scheduled Big Four foreign ministers meeting set for May 11 at Geneva.

The U.S. note denied this.

Hamlin Given Unprecedented Fourth Term

Mrs. Phillips Loses Seat as Supervisor to Mayor Calhoun

As expected, Oakland County supervisors today voted unprecedented fourth terms for Delos Hamlin, their chairman, and Hiland M. Thatcher, vice chairman, but there was at least one big surprise as the 83-member Board met in its first 1959-1960 session.

Harriett Phillips, an appointed supervisor from Huntington Woods since 1951, was replaced last night in a sudden move by the Huntington Woods City Commission.

Mrs. Phillips, a staunch Democrat who has been on the Democratic State Central Committee six years, was replaced by Huntington Woods Mayor David R. Calhoun.

Calhoun, past president of the Michigan Municipal League, is privately in the opposite political camp from Mrs. Phillips, although his Huntington Woods post is nonpartisan.

ISN'T BITTER

"This is politics and you just have to face it," the peppery Mrs. Phillips conceded privately before supervisors gathered in the fourth floor auditorium at the Oakland County Office Building this morning. Mrs. Phillips declared she felt "no bitterness at being bumped."

Calhoun said after today's meeting that Mrs. Phillips had "let too much partisanship creep into" her decisions on the Board.

Asked what decisions in particular, Calhoun mentioned Mrs. Phillips' insistence that Gov. Williams appoint a second probate judge the county is seeking.

HE'S SWITCH VOTER

"There's no place for partisanship on this Board," the new supervisor remarked. He said he was a "switch voter" leaning toward the Republican ranks.

It was learned, too, that Mrs. Phillips, a housewife, last year backed Calhoun's opponent for Huntington Woods mayor.

This led, an observer said, to the fiery Mrs. Phillips being reappointed to the Board by a scant 3-2 vote last year.

She interpreted last night's Commission vote (four voted for her removal and one abstained) as criticism of her past record.

"Apparently they thought I wasn't representing the interests of the city."

Commission members, however, said the change represented a new policy that the Huntington Woods supervisor should be an elected official from the Commission on the Board. Calhoun has been mayor eight years.

Mrs. Phillips, a lively figure at most county and Democratic conclaves, has been one of the supervisors' most outspoken members, frequently voicing objections to traditional policies.

Another change occurred last night in Pleasant Ridge, where

Dulles' Resignation Might Come Soon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators expressed reluctantly today a growing belief that Secretary of State John Foster Dulles may have to hand in his resignation soon.

There were well-founded reports—including some from persons who have talked to him—that Dulles has failed to respond to treatment for a cancerous condition.

If fresh medical treatments planned at Walter Reed Army Hospital do not show results, the general expectation among members of Congress is that Dulles will step out of official job quickly to clear the way for appointment of a successor.

Cite Left Turns as Hazard at Maple-Telegraph Corner

By DICK SAUNDERS

The State Highway Department's rating of the W. Maple and Telegraph Rd. intersection as the state's most dangerous has resulted in some raised eyebrows and ideas for improvement.

Most area traffic officials agree the trouble can be solved by making some sort of limitations on left turns at the Bloomfield Township intersection.

Several county police and sheriff's officers voiced surprise at the announcement last week placing the crossing at the top of the list of the top-10 accident intersections in the state trunkline system.

John A. Wills, district engineer for the State Highway Department, said, "This rating is by no means a summation of county intersections that are high accident producers."

"The department's list is only of bad spots on the state trunkline system. The intersections mentioned are only those which concern the Highway Department," he said.

This explains why other intersections in Oakland County, and throughout the state, may have more personal injury accidents but be overlooked by Highway Department officials.

RELIEF EXPECTED

"A plan or program to allieviate the Telegraph-West Maple problem and funds to put the program into effect will no doubt be forthcoming to us from officials in Lansing within several weeks," Wills said.

"The big problem is limiting left turns from the southbound lane."

No one knows yet just how this problem will be overcome. Suggsestions ranged from the costly but ideal solution—construction of an overpass—to the simple move of placing several "No Left Turn" signs at the intersection.

Highway Department figures showed there were 27 persons injured in 41 accidents at the corner from Jan. 1 through Dec. 31, 1958. This topped the No. 2 intersection of U.S. 23 at M59, in Livingston County, by one casualty.

Probably most acutely aware of the problem intersection is Bloomfield Police Chief Norman Dehnke.

After compiling figures yesterday Dehnke said:

"Our files show that from April 1, 1958, through March 31, this year three were 40 property damage accidents and 16 accidents involving personal injury, resulting from either rear-end smashups or drivers turning in front of an oncoming vehicle."

"This, beyond a doubt, is the

GOP Senate Leader Hopes to Get Action on Vets Fund Bill

LANSING (AP) — Gov. Williams said today he could not guarantee what will happen if bills to mortgage or liquidate the veterans trust fund fail to reach his desk in 10 days.

"If the bills reach my desk on April 24, we can meet the cash emergency problem," he said after a conference with top administrative officials and Sen. Elmer R. Porter.

The meeting followed an urgent plea to the Legislature last night for speedy action on the legislative proposals, already approved by the House but stuck for the last three weeks in Porter's Senate Appropriations Committee.

Porter, Blissfield Republican and the Legislature's top man on money matters, agreed with the governor that something will have to be done soon.

He promised to try to pry the bills loose before the week is out, possibly on Thursday.

Williams said he was "encouraged that we're moving forward." Porter would say only he was not discouraged by the outlook.

$64 QUESTION

At the same time, Porter said he doubted if any of the seven committee members who had opposed reporting a trust fund liquidation version of the bills last week had changed their minds.

"Can you get them out of committee?" Porter was asked.

"That's the $64 question," he replied.

In his message to the Legislature, Williams said damage had been done to faculties of the state's great universities, and their continued financial peril was "shocking and dreadful."

He said it was "unthinkable" that the state should be permitted to drift into a financial crack-up.

The governor said that by one reckoning the general fund cash

Jury Awaiting Final Arguments in Connie's Case

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Six lawyers and a judge hammer out final instructions today for a jury that will decide the fate of Connie Nicholas.

The murder trial of the trim divorcee stood adjourned until Wednesday when the panel of 12 married men will hear final arguments in the killing of handsome drug firm executive Forrest Teel.

After receiving instructions from Judge Thomas J. Faulconer, the jury will retire to a small, plainly furnished room in the basement of the Marion County courthouse to debate which version of the July 31 shooting is the true one.

Did the 45-year-old divorcee ruthlessly plan to kill Teel, 54, because he was breaking up their 15-year romance to pursue a young secretary?

Or did a pearl-handled French pistol go off accidentally in a struggle after Mrs. Nicholas threatened to commit suicide in Teel's car?

Telegraph-Maple Hazard Attributed to Left Turns

meat of the situation. The turn problem is created to a large extent by the hill crest in the northbound Telegraph lane about 1,000 feet south of Maple."

Oddly enough, there were no fatalities at the intersection last year.

Dehnke, in offering a solution, said, "I would try cutting the hill down and reducing the speed limit there to 45 miles an hour.

Blinker lights alongside the highway would also pay off. They were tried on both sides of 13-Mile road at Telegraph and cut the accident rate at that intersection way down.

Sgt. Mike Ahlgrim, commander of the Pontiac State Police Post, is a man who has more-or-less gone from the frying pan into the fire.

Last year's most dangerous intersection was U.S. 112 and the M-60 Bypass, in Cass County near Niles. Ahlgrim was transferred to Pontiac from the Niles Post last fall.

The intersection near Niles has dropped to third place in the current list.

"Actually, having only been here since last fall, I'm better acquainted with the U. S. 112-M60 intersection. The problem there was that of a large divided highway with two lanes of traffic on either side of a center island," he said.

"Drivers going north or south on U. S. 112 would approach the bypass and stop for a stop sign at the first lane. Then, there was also another sign in the island, signifying another stop. Drivers were missing the second stop and accidents were occurring for awhile at the rate of about one a day."

"We solved the problem to some extent by placing large billboard-type signs warning of a stop ahead at points about a half mile to either side of the bypass."

"It looks to me as though this problem can't be attributed to drivers missing signals at Telegraph and Maple, since the only signal is a stoplight and the turns are causing the trouble."

"My suggestion would be to eliminate the left turns, cut speed and move the businesses back from the highway if necessary. Naturally, the ideal answer would be an overpass, since both roads are heavily traveled."

Assistant County Prosecutor Resigns

Resignation of Assistant Oakland County Prosecutor Walter R. Denison from the staff of the Prosecutor's Office was announced today by Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem.

Denison, 28, of Birmingham, said he would open his private practice today in the Pontiac office now occupied by attorney James G. Hartrick, 1101 Pontiac State Bank Building.

The assistant prosecutor has been on the staff for 3½ years. Lately he has been assigned the handling of matters relating to adoption and probate court appeals, welfare cases, dependent parents and children, fraud, and waivers of jurisdiction from the Juvenile to the Circuit Court.

Ziem said his job will be taken by Richard Condit, formerly a clerk for Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore.

By The Associated Press

It was a little cool in the eastern quarter of the country and in some areas in the Northwest today but mild spring weather prevailed in most other parts of the country.

Adding discomfort to the cool weather was light snow in parts of the Virginias, Tennessee and the Carolinas. Light rain or drizzle sprayed sections of the Carolinas.

Freezing weather hit northern parts of Georgia, with a 31 reading at Rome. The mercury dropped into the 30s in northern sections of Mississippi and Alabama and into the 40s in northern Florida. However, readings were in the 70s in the extreme southern part of Florida.

The cool air in the Northeast kept temperatures mostly in the 20s and 30s during the early morning but warmer weather appeared on the way.

Snow fell Monday in scattered areas from Parkersburg, W.Va., into the mountains of Tennessee, Virginia and North Carolina.

Southerly winds fanned warm air into the plains and central Rockies and it headed eastward into the upper Mississippi Valley and upper Great Lakes region. The broad belt of fair and warmer weather was expected to extend from the southern and central plains into the Great Lakes region and eastward into New England.

SGT. WALTER A. BAERWOLF

Pontiac Police Official Dies

Heart Ailment Claims Head of Weights and Measures Division

A member of the Pontiac Police Department for 34 years, Sgt. Walter A. Baerwolf, died Monday at Pontiac General Hospital after a short illness. He was 62.

Baerwolf, head of the Department's Weights and Measures Division, suffered a heart attack at his home, 26 Ogemaw St., Friday morning and had been on the hospital's critical list since then.

He was named to the resolution committee of the 39th National Conference on Weights and Measures in Washington, D.C. in 1954, sponsored by the National Bureau of Standards, of the U.S. Department of Commerce.

At the group's 40th conference in 1955 Baerwolf was named to the U.S. Committee for Education. He had also served on numerous committees and panels at conventions of the Michigan Association of Weights and Measures in recent years.

Baerwolf was active in various community activities including the annual Goodfellows' newspaper sales of which he was chairman for several years.

He was president of the Metropolitan Club of Pontiac, a position which he also held in 1952. He also served as vice president of the organization.

The funeral service will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday at the Donelson-Johns Funeral Home. Burial will be in White Chapel Memorial Cemetery.

Baerwolf, a native of Sandusky, is survived by his wife, Helen, and two daughters, Mrs. A. R. Stahl and Miss Aileen M. both of Pontiac.

that the split decision might discourage bond buyers. They sought to strengthen the buying power of the bonds by having the justices reconsider their decision.

Justice Eugene Black said he was aware the court decision left the project "in a state of legal uncertainty."

"These townships are in a position where they have contracted to do that which (if other usable funds and revenues are short of upcoming payment schedules) of necessity will violate the constitutional limitation," Black wrote.

Cities are not bound to the 15-mill taxing limitation like townships.

The future of the Farmington project is seen as bearing on the future of the young DPW, which as yet has been unable to escape legal entanglements to get projects under way.

Black, in essence, was saying voters, and not the courts, should say whether they are in favor of their township exceeding the constitutional limitation to finance the sewer and like projects.

Hamlin Re-Elected to Rare 4th Term

Arthur G. Elliott Jr. was named to replace Winston S. Moberly, an appointed supervisor the past 14 years. Elliott is chairman of the Oakland County Republican Committee.

Like Mrs. Phillips, Moberly, Pleasant Ridge's city clerk who is planning to retire next year, said he held "no animosity" toward the City Commission for not reappointing him, although he said he wasn't asked if he wished to be returned to the Board.

"Apparently they felt my successor could gain one year's experience on the Board before my resignation takes effect," Moberly said. He was first appointed in 1945.

Re-election of Hamlin and Thatcher was interpreted as a resounding vote of confidence in the progress of Oakland County in the past three years.

Hamlin is an appointed supervisor from Farmington, while Thatcher has been the elected supervisor of West Bloomfield Township for many years.

It normally is supervisors' policy to elect the vice chairman of the proceeding year as chairman this procedure has now been held in abeyance for the fourth time.

Hamlin and Thatcher have served together since 1955.

In thanking supervisors for their support, Hamlin said:

"Oakland County is getting to be known as one of the most progressive in the nation. This is because you, its supervisors, have put the county's interest above all else."

Only dissent came from Calvin C. Henry, Hazel Park city manager who quit his job last night but still is Hazel Park supervisor until his appointment is officially canceled.

Henry objected to a unanimous ballot being cast for Hamlin, but his objections were drowned out by Hamlin supporters.

Altogether, there were nine new faces on the Board. In addition to Calhoun and Elliott, there were these changes:

Berkley — Donald N. McPherson, former mayor and supervisor, replaced Howard H. Crenshaw.

Clawson — Robert D. Romer, city assessor and treasurer, replaced Robert O. Wright.

Farmington Township — newly-elected Supervisor Curtis H. Hall, replaced Frank J. Stephenson.

White Lake Township — newly elected Supervisor Edward Cheyz replaced Forest I. Brendel.

South Lyon—newly-elected Mayor Herbert R. Ross Sinclair replaced Albert J. Weinburger.

In other action, supervisors set April 27 to debate the county's proposed 1960 allocation budget of $13,906,584, copies of which were distributed this morning without discussion.

Supervisors also approved the allocation of $10,000 to add a secretary and lawyer-clerk to Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore's staff.

Referred steps toward creating a second probate judge to the board's Legislative Committee.

Red-Appointed Lama Visits Peiping

Chou Greets Tibet 'Ruler'

TOKYO (AP) — The Panchen Lama, Communist-appointed ruler of Tibet, arrived in Peiping today to attend the Red People's congress.

The 21-year-old puppet, placed on the throne after the Dalai Lama fled to India, was expected to parrot full support for Communist control of his strife-torn Himalayan land.

GREETED BY CHOU

Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai and other high officials were at the railroad station to greet the Panchen Lama, Peiping radio said.

The religious leader stepped from the train with a beaming smile, the broadcast went on. He shook hands with Chou and the others and "exchanged hata (ceremonial scarves). A group of school children rushed forward and presented bouquets."

Before he left for Peiping, the Panchen Lama reportedly tried to win over influential Tibetan traders by announcing big tax concessions. They include abolition of import duty on tea from India and export duty on wool to India — two main items of the mountainous country's trade.

Trade sources in Kalimpong, on the India-Tibet caravan route, said Tibet's already depleted resources could ill afford to lose such substantial revenue.

From Formosa came fresh reports of continuing strife in Tibet. All were credited to intelligence sources on the China mainland. None could be confirmed.

The independent China Post said the Communists had rushed in four divisions of reinforcements.

Moscow radio admitted that the Tibetan rebels are still carrying on the fight against the Chinese but asserted that the situation in Tibet is "on the way to normal."

Catholic Blood Bank Sets 300-Pint Goal

Three hundred pints of blood is the goal for the newly-formed Catholic Community Blood Bank.

Donations will be held in bank for use of the 8,000 Catholic families in Pontiac.

A Red Cross Bloodmobile will be at St. Michael's parish Monday from 2 to 5 p.m. and 6 to 8 p.m. for donations.

Cooperating in the bloodbank are most of the parishes in Pontiac and surrounding townships, according to Mrs. Vincent Vaverek, project coordinator.

General chairman for volunteer committees participating in the blood drive is Mrs. Omer DeConinck.

This is the first time that Catholics have had the Bloodmobile visit Pontiac especially to supply the Catholic bloodbank. In the past, securing and disbursing of blood has been handled in each parish by the Society of St. Vincent de Paul.

"But our need is growing so great that now it is imperative to have an all-out drive to bank a year's supply of blood," said S. J. Salvador, Vincentian chairman.

It is hoped that 450 to 500 potential donors visit the Bloodmobile Monday in order to meet the goal of 300 pints, he said.

Bardot Cuddles and Smooches With Film Star

LONDON (AP)—French movie star Brigitte Bardot flew back to Paris Monday night after getting her hair dyed and doing a lot of airport smooching with the costar of the movie she is making.

Brigitte arrived in the British capital four days ago her usual blonde self. She left for Paris a brunette. She gave no explanation for the change.

The star and French actor Jacques Charrier came to London for location shots for the film "Babette Goes to War." While waiting for their plane they killed 35 minutes drinking scotch, cuddling and kissing in the airport lounge.

Newsmen asked about Sacha Distel, French guitar player to whom Brigitte announced her engagement in September 1958.

The Day in Birmingham

Woman Mayor Pro Tem First Time in City History

BIRMINGHAM — There's a "first" coming soon for the Birmingham City Commission — a night when "Madam Mayor" will be the proper way to address the chair.

Commissioner Florence Willett was named mayor pro tem to serve during any absence of the newly elected mayor, Harry Denyes.

Her election to office was somewhat complicated by the absence of Commissioner William Burgum. The first ballot was a three-three tie for Mrs. Willet and Commissioner John O'Gorman. The second and third ballots saw each win a majority of commissioners present but not a majority of the entire body.

In the fourth ballot, Mrs. Willet received four votes, giving her the office.

Both Denyes and Mrs. Willett first took office as commissioners in April 1955. They've held their posts since then. Denyes served as mayor pro tem last year.

An extension of time was granted Burgum who is vacationing. The city charter states that candidates must be sworn in within 10 days of their election.

Luther Heacock, David Levinson, Hope Lewis and Carl Ingraham were re-appointed to the county Board of Supervisors. Charles Renfrew was named to continue on the city's Retirement Board.

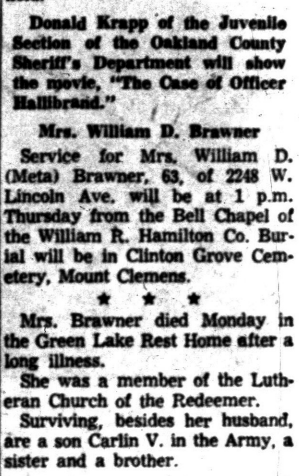

Commissioners told Carleton Patterson Jr. that finances make any change in the Baldwin Library extension plans impossible.

Patterson, in a letter to commissioners, had suggested a branch library rather than an attached, modern wing to the present building. He said he felt the two architectural designs would be incompatible and would spoil the looks of the overall Civic Center.

He was assured that everything possible is being done to make a pleasant blend of the old and new and that the combination would not "be an eyesore."

Friends of the Baldwin Library last night named Mrs. William Burlingame, Mrs. Raymond Walmoth, William Lerchen and Winston Kellogg as directors.

The gift of $1,100 presented to the library by Friends President Richard Henney will be used to furnish the new wing.

HARRY M. DENYES
New Birmingham Mayor

South Oakland Kappa Delta Alumnae Assn. will meet at the home of Mrs. Donald Cox, 3505 Cumberland Ave., Berkley at 8 tonight. Election of officers will be held.

Donald Krapp of the Juvenile Section of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department will show the movie, "The Case of Officer Hallibrand."

Mrs. William D. Brawner

Service for Mrs. William D. (Meta) Brawner, 63, of 2248 W. Lincoln Ave. will be at 1 p.m. Thursday from the Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co. Burial will be in Clinton Grove Cemetery, Mount Clemens.

Mrs. Brawner died Monday in the Green Lake Rest Home after a long illness.

She was a member of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer.

Surviving, besides her husband, are a son Carlin V. in the Army, a sister and a brother.

Mrs. C. Fay Kenrick

Service for Mrs. C. Fay Kenrick, 54, of 6345 W. Surrey Dr., Foxcroft will be held at 11 a.m. tomorrow from the Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co. with burial in Acacia Park Cemetery.

Mrs. Kenrick died suddenly at her home Sunday.

She is survived by her husband, a daughter, Mrs. Mary M. Cordes of Spain, three sisters and two grandchildren.

HERBERT HUNTER

Series Planned on Investments

Jaycees Sponsor Six Public Lectures About Financial Problems

Herbert Hunter, a Detroit stock and bond expert, will be the kick-off speaker Monday in a six-session lecture series on investments and securities, sponsored thereafter on Tuesday night, April 28-May 26, by the Pontiac Area Junior Chamber of Commerce

"This is the first time Pontiac Jaycees have sponsored a series like this, and I'm sure it will prove a great interest to all Jaycee members, as well as the public," says Clyle R. Haskill, Jaycee president.

Hunter is a partner in the firm of Watling, Lerchen & Co. His topic will be, "Why Stocks and Bonds?"

A graduate of Olivet College and University of Michigan School of Business Administration, Hunter is past president of the Financial Analysts Society of Detroit. He is vice chairman of the Michigan Group of the Investment Bankers Assn. of America and chairman of the Investors Information Program of Detroit.

Other speakers include: April 28—Philip F. McLellan, president, Massachusetts Life Fund, Boston; May 5—George A. Nicholson Jr., head of Investment Advisory Dept., Smith Hague & Co., Detroit; May 12—Paul Richmond, partner, Watling, Lerchen & Co., Detroit; May 19—Wilford J. Eiteman, professor of finance, University of Michigan School of Business Administration; and ... May 26—David L. Babson, of the David L. Babson and Company, Inc., Boston.

All programs will begin at 8 p.m. at Pontiac Northern High School.

The lecture series has been prepared by the Jaycee's National Convention Committee. Part of the proceeds will enable Jaycee members to attend their national convention in Buffalo in June.

There are only a limited number of reservations available, Haskill notes. Jaycees are requiring a $10 donation for the entire series.

shortage stood to zoom to 121 million dollars as of May 15, or 88 millions if calculated another way.

After the conference with Porter, State Controller James W. Miller and State Administrative Board members, the governor said two conclusions were reached:

1. That completion of legislative action on the trust fund bills, and their delivery to his desk, would allow the state to continue meeting vital obligations. Later action might not.

2. Agreement was reached on working up the most detailed financial resume possible on exactly where the state stands financially.

The figure job, the governor said, will be handled principally by Miller, representing himself, and C. J. McNeill, legislative controller as a representative of lawmakers.

State Treasurer Sanford A. Brown and Atty. Gen. Paul L. Adams were delegated to assist in the project.

READY IN DAY

Porter said that if the Legislature completed action on the bills April 23 they could be prepared for Williams' signature the following day.

Williams noted the School Aid Fund already is broke and announced he had signed a bill to make up a $27,800,000 deficit in the fund.

The bill is meaningless until there's money to back it up.

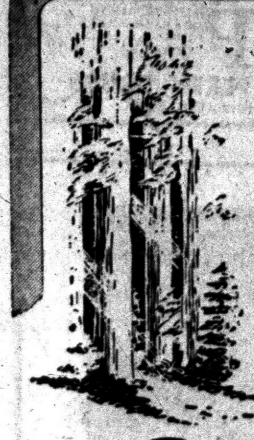

Hopes were also dim today for agreement on a bill to extend temporary unemployment compensation until July 1.

A second conference committee, named after the first failed to attempts at compromise, met for two hours last night without resolving Republican-Democratic differences on the measure. The second committee must come to terms or the bill will die.

Another meeting was scheduled today.

Detroit Woman Killed

DETROIT (AP)—Marie Hays, 24, of Detroit, died Monday of injuries suffered earlier in the day when her car went out of control and rolled over in suburban Taylor Township.

Driver and Owner Charged in Fatal

PORT HURON (AP)—Both the driver and the owner of a car involved in a fatal collision have been charged with manslaughter.

Identical charges were brought against the two yesterday in the collision which killed 11-year-old Tommy King of Port Huron, in his parents' car Friday night.

Robert Fraser, 26, was the driver. Sam Sturdivant, 28, owns the car. Both are Port Huron residents.

Prosecutor Richard J. Schonk of St. Clair County said Fraser was racing with another car at the time of the collision. Police said tests showed Fraser had been drinking.

Sturdivant was named in the charges because he permitted Fraser to drive the car, Schonk said.

Robert Caughill, 26, of Port Huron, driver of the other racing car, was accused of reckless driving.

Area Youth Gets No Sympathy From Judge

A 19-year-old prison-bound youth got no sympathy from Oakland County Circuit Judge H. Russel Holland yesterday after the judge sentenced him to a term of from 2½ to 15 years in Jackson Prison for his part in the burglary of a Southfield gas station last month.

Irvin C. Uhlig, of Berkley, first disclaimed knowledge that he had a long criminal record dating back to 1953, and then refused to look at his probation report handed to him by Assistant Prosecutor Jerome K. Barry Jr. on the judge's instructions.

"Just look at my mother," Uhlig said as his hysterical mother went screaming from Judge Holland's courtroom.

"Yes, you should," Judge Holland quickly answered Uhlig. "You should look at her and hang your head in shame."

Uhlig's partner in the crime, Donald R. Ballard, 19, also of Berkley, was placed on probation for three years and assessed $150 court costs by Judge Holland.

Uhlig and Ballard both pleaded guilty to breaking and entering March 30.

Florida Asked to Mete Death for Bombings

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — A bill to impose the death penalty for bombing churches, schools or other public places has been introduced in the Florida House.

The measure, sponsored by Rep. John Mathews of Duval (Jacksonville) County, also would apply to firing of machine guns in public places.

Gov. Leroy Collins recommended much tighter laws against bombings after schools were damaged in Jacksonville last year by explosives.

The bill would provide the death penalty when a machine gun was discharged or a bomb hidden or exploded in any public place with an intent to kill or injure persons or damage property.

Gets Prison Term in Area Robbery

Kenneth F. Ford, a 23-year-old bricklayer working in Waterford Township, yesterday was sentenced to a prison term of from 2 to 15 years by Oakland County Circuit Judge H. Russel Holland for the unarmed robbery of $55 from the Tom Thumb Restaurant on Telegraph road in February.

Ford, of Dearborn, pleaded guilty March 30 to the robbery.

Judge Holland said Ford received the prison sentence because he had twice violated terms of his previous probation.

Hoffman Says Reporters Sponge Off Uncle Sam

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Clare E. Hoffman said today that newsmen are "sponging on Uncle Sam" when they use government-supplied typewriters, desks and chairs in the Congressional press galleries.

The 83-year-old Michigan Republican suggested that newsmen who have written dispatches critical of Congressional allowances for clerk hire and office rental should get a mirror "and take a look at themselves."

Hoffman's colleagues grinned and applauded when he made the statements during a House speech.

Congress provides newsmen covering its activities with work space, typewriters, copy paper, stationery, envelopes and local telephone service. It also employs several attendants to supervise the House and Senate press, radio and periodical galleries.

The award is presented annually by the student council and faculty of the school to a businessman "who has shown an understanding of the responsibility of business to society and an interest in business education."

Bellini's Body Moved to Enable Church Repairs

CATANIA, Sicily (AP) — The body of Italian composer Vincenzo Bellini has been exhumed after 83 years to make way for church repairs.

Bellini, who composed the opera Norma, died in Paris in 1835. His body was brought to his native Catania in 1876 and entombed in the local cathedral.

When work was begun this week to lower the floor of the cathedral, it became necessary to lower Bellini's tomb. The composer's remains will be placed in a new mahogany coffin within a lead casket and reburied in the cathedral.

St. Clair Shores Park Fights Closing

MOUNT CLEMENS (UPI)—The amusement company operating Jefferson Beach Park has gone to court in an effort to reopen for another year.

The St. Clair Shores Council voted 6-1 last night to keep the amusement park closed. An attorney for the Lakeshore Amusement Co. then served the councilmen with subpoenas for a show cause hearing Friday.

The Council decided in 1957 to keep the 30-year-old park closed after the summer of 1958. The resolution last night claimed the park had an "adverse and detrimental effect on the health, safety and general welfare" of the community.

Bob Considine Says:

Las Vegas Tables Show Money Plentiful

LAS VEGAS, Nev. — Millions of Cuban pesos coined or printed during the reign of Batista are being offered to Las Vegas's ready money men at cut rate prices.

Wilbur Clark, the most successful gambler and inn-keeper in town, was offered a ton of the lammister loot at 35 cents on the dollar, and turned it down.

Clark and his associates also had the wisdom to sell out their Havana casino holdings last summer. His hesitation to buy Cuban money with dollars at bargain prices springs from his hunch that brother Castro is about to call all the old stuff in, burn it and issue new money.

Clark has learned to believe in his hunches. He picked up an unfinished derelict named the Stardust across the Strip from his Desert Inn, after the original backers had gone bust, imported the show from the Lido in Paris, completed the 1,000-room hotel, and hasn't had anything but winning days and nights for a year. It's the greatest nightclub show in the world, by the way.

Las Vegas is a truer barometer to the amount of spending money loose in the land than is Wall Street. Spending money must be easy these days. The Desert Inn, which played a heavy role in the harvesting of the black market spenders after World War II had the biggest month of its life, in March.

The thrills of the World Congress of Flight couldn't wait for the formal opening here last Sunday. Last midweek the aerobatics team of the Netherlands Air Force came a spectacular cropper while rehearsing a close formation maneuver it planned to demonstrate in the big show.

Two of its American built F84F's brushed roughly while flying at 575 mph. The collision sheared the wing off the plans of 1st Lt. Robert M. Veenhuysen.

His wounded bird shot crazily upward in a vertical, revolving climb completely out of his control. Veenhuysen catapulted himself free of the plane and parachuted to safety with only a small cut over one eye.

Capt. Peter Van Der Muelen Kunee, the other pilot involved, managed to get his plane safely down at Nellis Air Force Base though hunks of it had been broken off in the collision. His estimated landing speed: 200 mph.

The wonder is that it doesn't happen very often in the breath-taking annals of this kind of flying. The Air Force's Thunderbirds and the Navy's Blue Angels, both here, fly at supersonic speeds with hardly five feet of air separating the planes — a margin of safety few automobile drivers would chance even when inching along a traffic clogged street.

The live television cameras which will be secreted in supersonic cockpits in the course of next Sunday's NBC General Motors report on the big air show have never been used for such purpose before.

They were produced to be carried by troops scouting an enemy position. They transmit a big clear picture back to headquarters, for spot analysis by the brass.

The camera and its transmission equipment weigh hardly four pounds, cost $12,500 in case you need one to scout whether its safe to stumble in on the Little Woman some sunny six in the ayem.

The Air Force at the last minute nixed the well laid plans of World Congress of Flight officials to hit Las Vegas' spanking new convention hall with a sonic boom thrown by a passing B58. It suddenly remembered all the plate glass that might be shattered in the neighborhood, including perhaps the glass frame which holds one hundred $10,000 bills, a drool-producing exhibit at the Golden Horseshoe gambling hall.

Bill Okays U.S. Aid to Soviet Satellites

By ERNEST B. VACCARO

WASHINGTON (AP)—American economic aid could be used to help satellite nations loosen Moscow's control, under a bill offered in the Senate today.

Present law forbids aid to any nation controlled or dominated by Communists. Under the bill, such assistance would be barred only to the Soviet Union, Red China and Communist North Korea.

President Eisenhower would be given discretionary authority to provide aid to other Communist nations if he finds it would promote U.S. security. This could be done under any of several provisions which in general would mean less Soviet or Chinese control of satellites.

The measure, as an amendment to the foreign aid bill, was defeated 43-42 in the Senate last year. It was offered as a separate bill today by Sens. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) and George D. Aiken (R-Vt).

Chamberlain Finds West Berlin Is Calm

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Charles E. Chamberlain (R-Mich) said today he found "quiet confidence, no signs of panic" on a recent visit to Germany and West Berlin.

"There is less feeling of crisis in Berlin and Germany than here at home," Chamberlain said, "not because the threat is discounted, but because our troops and the German people are conditioned to crisis."

35 Persons Drown in River in India

NEW DELHI (AP)—Thirty-five persons were drowned while crossing the Sarda River in a small boat on the India-Nepal border, reports reaching here today said.

Only five bodies have been recovered.

Latest figures show that there are in use one million trucks that are 12 or more years old.

Eisenhower Dedicates Taft Memorial Tower

Today President DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER speaks at the dedication of the ROBERT A. TAFT Memorial Bell Tower on Capitol Hill in Washington, D.C.

"To speak of the old fashioned Republican party without TAFT is like speaking of the old fashioned Democratic party without the South; he was an embodied force as well as a man," said WILLIAM S. WHITE.

Robert Taft deserved the title of "Mr. Republican" more than any man of his era and this explains why Democrats are viewing the 115 foot bell tower erected in his memory on Capitol Hill with something less than enthusiasm.

It would be hard for anyone to point out that he is not deserving of this recognition. Proof of his popularity was shown when not a word was raised against the memorial when the Senate and House voted to authorize it in 1955.

Taft was definitely a party man, but his fairness was beyond reproach. Taft as a man was always immensely popular on the Hill and his colleagues recognized in him a true ally or a fair antagonist.

Many felt, and it was probably true, that he was euchred out of the G.O.P. presidential nomination. Looking back it almost seems like at one time or another it should have been his.

This memorial is a fitting example of his standing with his colleagues. More than a million dollars was raised by a private foundation. It might also be noted that two years ago TAFT was chosen by his former colleagues as one of five outstanding Senators whose portraits were to be hung in the Senate reception room.

Recognizing the bipartisan sentiment may be a little late, but it will definitely be lasting.

Detroit Police Force Makes Poor Showing

Unhappily, Detroit's Tigers are off to a dismal start for two reasons. First of all, they folded in the clutches at home and lost three straight. This could affect attendance badly for the first month or two.

Secondly, the Detroit police force looked even worse than the kittenish Tigers when they allowed a dozen fans to make a mockery of law and order in Briggs Stadium. The police were even more spineless than the Bengals. They didn't measure up to their responsibility. Official records said they had 44 officers in the park but a half hundred couldn't cope with a dozen belligerent spectators.

Today the Detroit Police force stands before the state with a badly tarnished reputation: 44 men left on bases.

The Tigers looked bad.

But they're not that bad. And the lawlessness will further affect attendance. Who wants to visit a place that can't be patrolled?

What Will Be Next Step for Meade Alcorn?

Just where will MEADE ALCORN fit into an active role in politics since he resigned as Republican National Chairman is causing some conjecture.

He will not just fade away like an old soldier. It is true that he had some falling out with the White House, which is the reason for his resignation. He is still very active and has told friends he will continue as National Committeeman from Connecticut, a post he has held since 1953.

Recently at a news conference in Washington he said that he had no intention of running for public office in his home state of Connecticut. This is all well and good for him to say, but for a man who has been in politics for 20 years and still in his prime, it is not likely.

His father, the late Hugh M. Alcorn, was Republican nominee for governor in 1934 in Connecticut. The retiring national Chairman made his own bid for public office in his home state in 1948 when he ran a close race for Lieutenant Governor.

Even though he was defeated at that time there were many who felt it was an opening step in Mr. ALCORN'S candidacy for the governorship. His increased national stature lead many to believe that he will seek the nomination for Governor in 1962 in Connecticut.

Deer in Pontiac Area May Become a Real Problem

Snob: A person with an icy smile and well-frozen words.

Extension Wildlife Management Specialist at Michigan State University,

Charles Schick,

sends word that deer are multiplying so fast in this area that in the near future some action will be necessary. He says: "This will require the harvesting of females, fawns and buck deer during the hunting seasons."

Better feeding conditions also are driving the deer south, and they already are doing much damage to farmers' crops in the Pontiac area, as well as becoming a hazard to motorists.

From Levittown, N.Y., (population 70,000) comes a suggestion from garbage collector, which he asks me to pass along to the Pontiac City Commission. He says that his city, almost as large as Pontiac, is disinfecting and perfuming its garbage cans at a total cost of only $1,000 a year.

Word comes to me from one of the best foresters in Michigan,

Arthur Farnsworth,

that the Pontiac area, for the first time in its history, is planting more trees than it is removing every year. However, he says that we still have many acres of so called "rough land" that could be put to good use that way.

Wish that my postal card writer, who signs himself,

"Josh, the Old Timer," would establish his identity. He writes that a Detroit radio station got its name from the initials of the old plant near Sylvan Lake having been torn down for the Telegraph Road widening. He also calls attention to the fact that automobiles once made in Pontiac included the Cartercar, Olympia, EMF, Flanders and Welch.

"We're Jewett Radio,"

Newest Florida accommodations for those who have motor boats are where every overnight facility of a motel is offered.

"Botels,"

"Seems Like Yesterday You Came Up to My Knee"

David Lawrence Says:

Gag Attempt Disturbs Senators

WASHINGTON — Several members of the United States Senate are a little disturbed over the attempt the other day to gag them when they were questioning Justice Potter Stewart of the Supreme Court of the United States.

LAWRENCE

Stewart was given a "recess appointment" as an associate justice of the Supreme Court on Oct. 14, 1958. He has not been confirmed by the Senate, but he has participated in many decisions and has written nine opinions.

Some justices in the past have declined to take the oath of office until confirmed. The embarrassments that come to a justice who is already sitting on the court but who has to appear before a congressional committee to give information, presumably on his own qualifications, are obvious.

In the hearing of the Senate Judiciary Committee the other day, lasting two hours, a point of order was made that no question should be asked of Justice Stewart concerning Supreme Court decisions or his own attitude toward past decisions.

But, in the discussion that followed, it was apparent that the point of order was not concurred in by other members of the committee from both the North and the South.

While the Constitution provides that the Senate may confirm or reject any presidential nomination submitted to it, sometimes, when Congress is not in session, "recess appointments" are made.

The recipient of such an appointment can serve only through the subsequent session of Congress. If he is not confirmed during that session, he is no longer eligible to remain at his post.

CONCURS ON SEGREGATION

Justice Stewart was, of course, not on the Supreme Court when the segregation decisions of 1954 were issued, but he has since had opportunities to concur in various rulings derived from the original case.

On the surface, it would seem to be an impropriety to ask any Supreme Court justice to discuss his reasoning with respect to decisions that he has already rendered on the high court, even though serving under a recess appointment. But the senators on the Judiciary Committee did not ask about current decisions.

They were interested in the reasoning of the Supreme Court in decisions prior to the time of Stewart's appointment. They wanted to know whether the new justice agrees with the reasoning, and Senator McClellan of Arkansas, Democrat, asked him to explain what he thinks was the reasoning and logic applied in the school segregation cases.

Justice Stewart said that basically he agrees with the 1954 decision, but not with "all the grammar and the footnotes." Yet it was one of those footnotes citing "psychological authority" — including Gunnar Myrdal, a Swedish socialist—that has occasioned widespread criticism.

Certainly in the argument before the Supreme Court itself, there was no opportunity to offer a rebuttal to the Myrdal view, because the "footnote" had at the time not been mentioned by the court.

It might well be asked of what value it is to determine whether an appointee to the court agrees or disagrees with past decisions. On this point, Stewart said, "I've never read any opinion of any court that I thought was perfect."

But the real duty of the Senate, every time a judicial appointment is submitted, is to find out whether the prospective justice actually believes in a written constitution and the method prescribed therein for its amendment, or whether he believes that the Supreme Court can override the Constitution at will.

The Country Parson

"I expect some persons to object to what the church does — it never would do anything if it waited for everybody's approval."

Dr. William Brady Says:

Milk Steadies Nerves, Alleviates Aches, Pains

"Over a year ago I was in constant pain in arms and shoulders, especially my left arm, which I couldn't move without severe pain.

DR. BRADY

"Commenced taking calcium and D to supplement my diet, as you suggested in your column. After three weeks I noticed some change for the better. I kept on with it and kept getting better and better. For several months I have been just fine — can move my arm any way without any pain whatever. (E. S. H.)"

Many readers report some such experience as that of E. S. H., whose trouble was probably shoulder bursitis. For instance, Mrs. L. F. writes:

"I suffered headaches nearly all the time and two attacks of bursitis in left shoulder, but since I have been supplementing my diet with calcium and D, no headaches and no bursitis."

Bursitis — inflammation of one of the pads or sacs placed between bony prominence and muscle tendon — is generally due to strain, overuse, sprain or prolonged pressure — as in tennis elbow, glass arm of baseball pitchers, housemaid's knee (if housemaids anywhere still scrub floors.)

TREATMENT

Bursitis runs its course and pain abates when the inflammation subsides. Rest, local heat, diathermy, needling, or aspiration of the bursa and other remedial measures relieve pain and hasten recovery. Recovery of normal function and prevention of permanent stiffness or disability depends on persevering graduated passive motions (manipulation) and active exercise.

One of the physiological functions of calcium is to regulate excitability of nerve fibers and nerve centers. The young person whose diet provides an adequate daily intake of calcium has "steady nerves."

In my opinion an optimal daily intake of calcium (at least twice as much as the minimum daily requirement) tends to prevent or alleviate ache or pain.

The calcium and D I recommend is not medicine, so you can't "try" it for a few days as you might medicine. It is food, food essential for good nutrition, and you must eat it every day for weeks or months, as you might eat bread and milk or meat and potato, if you want to see whether it will do you any good.

I can't promise it will do you any good, but I do assure you it can do no harm, I don't care who says what about "calcium deposits," hardened arteries, stiffened joints.

No physician or pathologist has educed scientific evidence of any such untoward effect of daily consumption of the quantities of calcius and vitamin D I recommend. The quantities I recommend you get or should get in not less than 3 glasses (1½ pints) of milk a day.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Get the Most From Night's Sleep

Jay wants to make his slumber more efficient and this is a smart idea, for you can add almost 3 years to your waking hours througout life if you can shorten your slumber by just one hour per night: Follow the advice below, and by all means team up with God in the partnership method outlined herein.

By GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE B-408: Jay M., aged 27, is an industrial chemist.

DR. CRANE

"Dr. Crane, I need more sleep than many people," he began.

"My employer says he can get along on only 6 hours per night. But I require 9 hours and sometimes 10 or 11.

"Do you suppose that may be due in part to the fact that I read a lot and thus overly fatigue my eyes?"

"I weigh 190 pounds, too, and am only 5' 8" so I am about 30 pounds overweight.

★ ★ ★ ★

"If I dieted, would that help? How can a person get more benefit from the hours he spends in slumber.

FACTS ABOUT SLEEP

Jay is correct in suggesting that he would need less sleep if he went on a diet.

For example, I find that my need for sleep is cut down by at least an hour per night, if I am eating about 1,600 calories per day, as when I diet.

Apparently, a person bounces back to normal more quickly when his blood is not filled with excessive toxins and also unnecessary foods in solution.

All of the food that is digested in the stomach and intestines goes into the blood stream, where it is later picked up by the liver and the muscles, or deposited as extra fat.

Obviously, if you have only 1,600 calories worth of food in your blood stream per 24 hours, you will not be dopey and require as much sleep as if you have 3,600 therein.

So you will get more benefit from slumber if you don't overload your body with liquor and extra foodstuff.

However, a gnawing stomach will make you restless and thus interfere with the maximum value of slumber, so it is often wise to take a glass of milk or a little cottage cheese at bedtime.

These also help neutralize the extra free acid and protect you from peptic ulcer, if you are inclined in that direction.

IMPROVE YOUR SLUMBER

Keep a notebook beside your bed and scribble any ideas thereon which may pop into your mind for next day's work.

If you try to remember them till morning, you will be more tense and thus sleep less soundly.

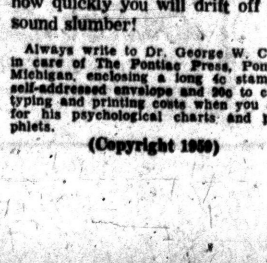

In this same connection, rely on an alarm clock to waken you, for if you try to waken yourself without a clock, you also sleep more restlessly.

Keep your bedroom at a cool temperature, as from 60 to 65 degrees, Fahrenheit.

And don't overload with blankets nor use too few, for either extreme will interfere with your best slumber.

Also, say your prayers at night, not in a mechanical fashion with obsolete memorized ritual, but make up fresh prayers and utter them as if you are just conversing with God, who is your Father.

Remember, whether you are Jewish, Catholic or Protestant, you all have the same God!

And if you are trying to help make this world better, you are a Junior Partner of the Almighty.

"Lord, I'm on your team," you can start out, "but I have a heavy day's work tomorrow and need a sound night's sleep. So will you please take over the night shift for me?"

God never refuses such a request: Just lift your right hand as you utter this plea and imagine you are placing your hand in God's.

Then drop your hand limply on the bedcovers. You'll be surprised how quickly you will drift off into sound slumber!

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Praises Teenagers' Help When Dog Is Hit by Car

Although the young, male beagle will never know who befriended him, I'd like to commend three teenagers who were interested enough to stay with this little victim of a hit-run motorist on Elizabeth Lake Road by the golf course.

By the time my husband and I drove by, these young people had notified and were waiting for the police and because they had not moved the dog, they probably prevented further injury. They were directing traffic around the victim, thereby avoiding certain death.

Although this was a well-cared-for animal, he had no collar or identification tag and was a stranger to all concerned. These youngsters were thoroughly chilled by the time help arrived, but they can well be proud of their behavior in that emergency.

Press Corrects Misquotation

The front page of The Press gave an account of a talk by E. C. Hayhow, stating: "This graduated feature is the basis of Williams' proposal and that of a majority of the special committee he named."

The question is did Gov. Williams name this tax study committee? According to what I read by Paul Weber, Press Secretary, the 18-month study of taxes was under the auspices of a Republican-controlled House committee. This committee, not the Governor, appointed a citizens' committee and hired the best available experts on taxation.

Republicans in the Legislature refused to do anything about taxes for 18 months because they were waiting for the report of the committee. When the report came down, it recommended a corporate and personal income tax and specifically rejected an increase in sales tax as discriminating and unfair to low-income taxpayers.

C. A. Goff

33 Stout St.

(Editor's Note: The Press stands corrected. Mr. Hayhow stated correctly that the Legislature appointed the committee. We erred in quoting him as stating that it was appointed by Governor Williams.)

'Bands Are Great but Let's Be Fair'

Let's have bands—lots of them. And let's have music which everyone likes, but let's let the schools run the bands and not the bands run the schools.

Parent

We have great bands at Pontiac Central since we first moved here but the tax situation is more important just now than about anything else and we hope a fair decision to both sides is reached with the taxpayers in mind.

Readers Second North East Sider

I certainly agree with North East Sider about turning down the sewers. Having lived near the disposal plant for 20 years, I can see what little enlargement has been done there and know of many new homes, old ones that may have been added to it and homes here in Pontiac that have no sewage facilities as yet. I can really see how much it is needed. It will have to be done and could cost more.

For a Better Community

North East Sider said the City voters are asking for trouble. How true. We've been asking for a sewer for about ten years and no sewer yet in Kenneth Garden and we're not dodging anything. If you want to see filth come out and look at Kenneth Gardens. I can't see what stops disease out here. I hope the State of Michigan would step in. Our Commission or Health Department will do nothing about it. All we get out here is tax bills.

Emperor Hirohito 'Hot TV Property' in Japan

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

TOKYO — Not since the premier of Gilbert & Sullivan's "The Mikado" has an Emperor of Japan been such a hot property in the entertainment world as Hirohito is at this moment.

It seems that some of the old pre-war city fathers would like to restore the lately-"humble" Hirohito to his former position of divinity. Angry because they could not prevent Prince Akihito from pulling a sneaky Western trick like marrying a commoner, they would like at least to keep the Emperor from losing dignity.

The Japanese TV industry, which closely resembles the U. S. in its affection for ratings, says "Oh, so? No."

They have announced that "To keep his Imperial Highness in constant touch," they have formed a new show (unsponsored) called "Heika Totomoni" — or "In Company With the Emperor."

The idea of the half-hour weekly show is that simultaneously, mind you, the boss and just folks can curl up on their throne and their floor mats, respectively, and achieve togetherness on channel 11.

In the same time slot on other channels, people with no empathy for the Emperor will be permitted to watch "Song Parade," "My Secret" or "Superman."

It's a free country.

Japan has 1,700,000 television viewers. All the shows are done in Japanese since there are only 30,000 American residents and the tourists are too busy taking color pictures and buying pearls to watch.

Since I can't tell a Mikimoto pearl from a Woolworth's, I decided to rent a television one day. But after looking at the evening's lineup in the paper I reconsidered:

7:30: "4-H Story."

Sony's fond dream of winning the 4-H cattle show by entering the sheep he has saved from the rattlesnake is shattered all to pieces when he has a look at Frankie's beauty. So distressed is he that Sony even refuses to participate in a hunt when Frankie's sheep goes astray and becomes missing. Jim though helps restore Sony's sportsmanship. Finally the hero sets out in search of the sheep astride Fury. There follows an action sequence marking Sony's contact with a fat bear. Fury nearly floors the shaggy intruder.

8:30: Mike Nelson.

You know the world under the sea is not silent at all but is full of strange noise and things. This bit of fact plays a vital role in Mike Nelson's story of the evening in which he investigates a phenomenon. You see, giant whales are seen escaping like mad from something on the coast of California and these fishermen think that this something is a monster from yesteryear's world.

The receptionist at this office mails a letter to a cowboy. Enclosed in it was a portrait of Susie. And the cowboy immediately falls for her. All this happens without Susie knows. And when it is disclosed, she finds herself involved in an oddest case of romance on and off the air.

There were other shows too, including the ever popular "I Love Lucy," with dubbed-in dialogue, but these were the top-billed productions."

Well, the Japanese asked for it.

But Space Hardware Useful

Satellites Won't Usurp the Role of Weathermen

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The ground-based weather man is not about to surrender his job to any gadgets flying around in space.

That is the word from Geneva, Switzerland, where the 100-nation World Meteorological Organization (WMO) has been having its quadrennial congress.

WMO President Andre Viault of France said weather rockets, satellites, and other such space are hardware "offer great hopes" to the science of meteorology.

But he made it clear that they do not spell technological unemployment for the earth-bound weather man with his wet bulb thermometers, barometers, spinning cups, radiosondes, and such.

Information from weather satellites, Viault said, will be a valuable supplement to data from conventional sources. And the publicity given "to the question of launching meteorological outer space vehicles" is good advertising for weather science.

"However," he added in a statement circulated here, "It must not lead the public and governments to think that all our problems can be solved by means of satellites possessed by only a few countries."

There is glamor and excitement and promise in proposals for robot weather stations in space.

But Viault reserved special praise for the working weather men of the pre-space age past.

"Our admiration," he said, "goes to the pioneers who, in their time, found in themselves the strength to persevere in the face of a public opinion more attentive to their failures than to their successes and which often considered them as priests of a religion without believers."

Remember the good old days? That's when, if you saw a kid wearing blue jeans, you knew he had a job on a farm . . . Comic Henry Morgan says he's been working like a dog all his life, and all it ever got him was a fan letter from a cocker spaniel. — Earl Wilson.

Mussolini's Son Returning to Italy

ROME (AP)—Vittorio Mussolini, son of the late Fascist dictator, wants to move back to Italy after living 11 years in Argentina, his lawyer said.

Atty. Rinaldo Taddei said Mussolini would like to resume his pre-World War II career of journalism and not return to Buenos Aires "unless he should be forced to do so by his failure to find some kind of a job in Italy."

Taddei defended Mussolini a month ago in Florence when an appeals court acquitted him of charges of deserting the Italian Air Force during World War II. Mussolini, who has a textile factory in Argentina, returned to Italy for the trial.

800 Cadillac Students Let Out in Bomb Scare

CADILLAC (AP)—More than 800 students were dismissed from Cadillac junior and senior high school classes at 1:30 p.m. yesterday while police searched for a bomb after an anonymous telephone call.

School authorities sent students out of both buildings in fire drill routines after an alert by Cadillac Police Department clerk Margaret Johnson.

The call, she said, came from a coin-operated telephone. The clerk said the unidentified caller told her: "This is not a hoax. There is a bomb in Cadillac High School." A police search failed to find the bomb.

Alaska's Governor Back After Surgery

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — Lean but lively William A. Egan, given only a 50-50 chance to live when flown to Seattle for emergency surgery 12 weeks ago, returned to Alaska Monday and was cheered by the Legislature.

About 32 pounds under his normal weight but speaking strongly and walking with a quick step, the 44-year-old Democratic governor told a joint session and packed gallery: "I can't begin to express how wonderful it is to be back in Alaska."

In a 10-minute speech, interrupted three times by standing ovations, Egan told the lawmakers he would be able to devote only a few hours a day to office work and Secretary of State Hugh J. Wade would continue as acting governor.

He said he would have to return to Seattle for relatively minor gallstone surgery.

Egan entered a Juneau hospital just two hours after being sworn in as Alaska's first elected governor Jan. 3. Complications followed a Jan. 6 operation here and he was flown to Seattle for abdominal surgery.

Dalai Lama to Settle in Indian Resort Village

NEW DELHI, India (UPI)—The Dalai Lama of Tibet will settle down to asylum from the Chinese Communists in the Indian resort village of Mussoorie within sight of his beloved Himalayan Mountains, it was announced.

The plans for accommodating the Buddhist god-king were announced as dispatches from the border reported continued fighting between Khampa tribesmen and Chinese troops in remote Tibetan districts.

It appeared that the Buddhist religion, representing some 200 million Asians, was uniting behind the Dalai Lama in opposition to Communist China.

Press reports said another Tibetan religious leader, the Karampa Lama, had fled and was seeking asylum in the independent neighboring state of Bhutan.

The Karampa Lama, head of the Red Lama sect, is held in high Buddhist esteem, although he is not as powerful as the Dalai Lama. He was one of 18 Tibetan leaders declared traitors by the Chinese Reds.

The Dalai himself was resting in the town of Bomdila in the northeast frontier area of India which is forbidden to outsiders. He was expected to travel by car the 80 miles to civilization at Tezpur on April 17.

From there he will be taken by train to Mussoorie, arriving April 21. It was reported he will meet there with Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru.

END OF TREK

Mussoorie would be the end of the long trek which brought the Dalai Lama overland on horseback to India from his sacred capital at Lhasa.

It took 15 days to make the trip and another five for him to travel between the Indian border outpost of Towang and Bomdila.

Mussoorie, in Nehru's home state of Utter Pradesh, is a wooded, modern town 7,000 feet above sea level about 200 miles northwest of steaming New Delhi and about 100 miles from the Tibetan frontier. The cool climate would be to the liking of the crew-cut Dalai Lama accustomed to the rigors of the high Himalayas.

The town is located in the British-colonized tea district of Dehradun and it was there that British officials used to go years ago to relax and escape the heat of the lowlands.

It was believed that the Dalai Lama would meet newsmen when he arrives at Tezpur. But sources said the meeting would be confined to the issuance of a formal statement by the man who has become in Asia a symbol of resistance to communism.

BUDDHISTS DISTURBED

Quarters in New Delhi reported that the Communist action against the Tibetans has deeply disturbed devout Buddhists throughout Asia.

Buddhist monks in Ceylon have formed an organization to mobilize world opinion in favor of the independence cause in Tibet.

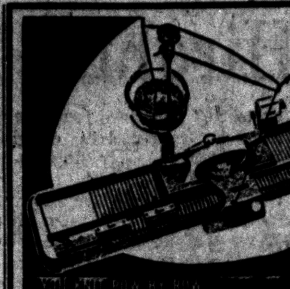

Throughout Asia, there was deep Buddhist shock at the fact that the Dalai Lama was forced to flee his country.

Observers said strong religious opposition to the Chinese Communists could lead to further setbacks for them. Even in neutral India, which is predominantly Hindu although Buddha was an Indian, there has been an upsurge of anti-Communist sentiment.

The dispatches from the border said the Reds still had their hands full fighting the Tibetan tribesmen. Tension was reported high in areas 70 miles east and west of Lhasa. The capital itself was reported quiet, shelled into submission by Red artillery during the weekend of March 21.

Fighting was reported still going on in remote areas of the country. Lhasa was said to be separated from southern Tibet because seven bridges have been destroyed.

The nation's proved oil and gas areas now comprise a combined total of about 125 million acres.

Castro to Storm U. S. in Person This Week

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Editor

Cuban Premier Fidel Castro storms the United States this week.

The word "storm" is used advisedly about this controversial figure whose revolution in Cuba began as a local disturbance in the mountains of Oriente Province in 1956, but so gained in fury that it was a full-scale hurricane which swept all before it by the time it reached Havana in 1958.

Nor was its fury abated after Castro succeeded in ousting former President Fulgencl Batista and took over himself as premier.

Since then Castro has lashed in all directions, with the United States a favorite and frequent target on subjects running the gamut from military, through political and business.

Besides delivering a speech before the American Society of Newspaper Editors in Washington, Castro also is expected to ask the U.S. for economic aid and for a revision upward of Cuba's sugar quota in the United States.

As a result, his policies will come under considerable scrutiny.

They also came under scrutiny last week in a meeting of American ambassadors to 12 Caribbean nations, held in San Salvador.

At San Salvador meeting U.S. ambassador to Cuba Philip W. Bonsal was understood to have expressed concern over evidences of increasing Communist activity in Cuba but to have held out the overall hope that Cuba eventually would settle down as a stable, free-world democracy.

COMMUNIST LEANINGS

Castro himself has said he is not a Communist.

There is no such certainty about his brother Raul nor about some of his other lieutenants.

During the fighting stages of his revolution, Castro said many times he would accept help from any quarter, including from the Communists.

Communist or not, there is no doubt about the leftward tendencies of many of those now in positions of influence in Cuba.

The newspaper, Revolution, which speaks for the revolutionary movement, recently brought out a weekly magazine section called "Lunes de Revolution." The name has no political significance but the editorial content seems to have.

In it are Karl Marx's Communist manifesto; Vladmir Mayacovsky's "Ode To the Revolution;" John Reed's "The Ten Days That Shook the World"; excerpts from Trotsky's "The History Of the Russian Revolution"; and Nicolas Guillen's poem "La Voz Esperanzada" (The Hopeful Voice).

Gullen is a Cuban Communist poet.

An editorial introducing the new magazine said:

"We want to say, simply that we are not Communists. So that we may also say we are not anti-Communists. We are intellectuals, artists and writers of the left—so much to the left that at times we see Communism pass by the side and place itself on the right in many questions of art and literature."

These intellectuals who are to the left of Communism do not take kindly to criticism, real or implied, or to reporting which may take some of the shine from the glory of their revolution.

Castro himself sees an enemy behind every woodpile.

Last week, United Press International became one of his targets.

A UPI dispatch had reported instances of labor unrest, sabotage and the presence of small, armed counter-revolutionary groups in the interior of Cuba. The information also has been published in local Havana newspapers.

Security for You

Estate Planning Good Idea

By RAY HENRY

You can provide your family with financial security in many ways against your death.

And, if you're the average family man, you're already doing it.

But, without much additional expense, could you be doing it better?

Chances are you've got some life insurance. More than 121 million Americans have, totaling 500 billion dollars.

If you're working, you almost certainly are covered by social security which, if you die, will assure monthly payments to your widow and to the children while they're growing up. Nine out of 10 families are eligible for this protection.

HOME CASH VALUE

You're probably buying a home which, although not paid off, represents a cash value.

Maybe you've got a pension or annuity plan which has a cash value. Maybe you own some stocks and bonds. Maybe you own a business.

All of these, whether you consider them as such or not, are a form of financial security for your family.

Yet, the odds are you've done little to coordinate all your assets to make sure your family — if you should die — receives the maximum security and financial protection from them.

For example:

Do you have your insurance payments arranged so your widow and children will be able to pay off your last debts without financial hardship?

Have you taken social security into consideration in planning for your family? Remember: social security can now provide up to $254 a month to a widow with three minor children.

If you have a business interest, would it be better to arrange for its sale after your death? Or, should you now develop management for the continued operation of the enterprise?

Don't get upset if you can't answer these questions the way you'd like.

Without much trouble or cost, you may be able to get the answers and, thus, coordinate your assets in the best interest of your family.

"Estate planning" is the phrase used by insurance men, bankers, lawyers and other financial advisors to describe such planning. And, you can get their help in doing it.

3 Lost Skiers Sing and Slap, Survive Cold

LONGMIRE, Wash. (AP) — Three lost skiers who huddled in a snow cave, slapping each other to keep warm and singing to keep up spirits, survived a frigid night high on Mt. Rainier.

Ulla Samvik, 31, Bo Ryfelt, 35, and Einer Storakers, 30, all of Seattle, had worked their way down to the 6,500-foot level before they were found Monday afternoon. They were hungry but unhurt.

Storakers, member of a mountain rescue team at Jamtland Fjall, Sweden, before coming to the United States two years ago, was credited with devising the survival shelter.

"We think his experience what saved our lives," said Miss Samvik. "He showed us how to dig a cave with our skis in the snow, where we crawled in and spent the night."

The party became lost on a Sunday skiing trip.

Find No Survivors in Seaplane Wreck

TOKYO (AP)—A ground party today reached the wreckage of a U.S. Navy seaplane that disappeared April 9 and reported all 10 men aboard apparently were killed.

The wreckage was sighted Saturday on a mountain on Cheju Island, off the southern tip of South Korea. The plane had disappeared on a training flight from Japan to South Korea.

"Chances that any of the crew survived are extremely remote," the ground party reported.

Three officers and seven enlisted men were aboard the plane.

Latin America Said Growing Up Rapidly

DETROIT (AP) — Latin America is growing and developing at a rate unequaled in Western Hemisphere history, says a State Department representative.

Roy R. Rubottom Jr., Assistant Secretary of State for Inter-American Affairs, gave this report in a talk to the Economic Club of Detroit yesterday.

Rubottom said Latin America's population has doubled since 1920 and now is increasing 36 per cent faster than that of the United States and Canada. He said education is growing rapidly and illiteracy should be nearly overcome within a decade.

He said increased trade with Latin American countries is essential in order to protect a continued peaceful growth. He said this offers a challenge to American business and industry.

Canterbury Dean Off for Russian Vacation

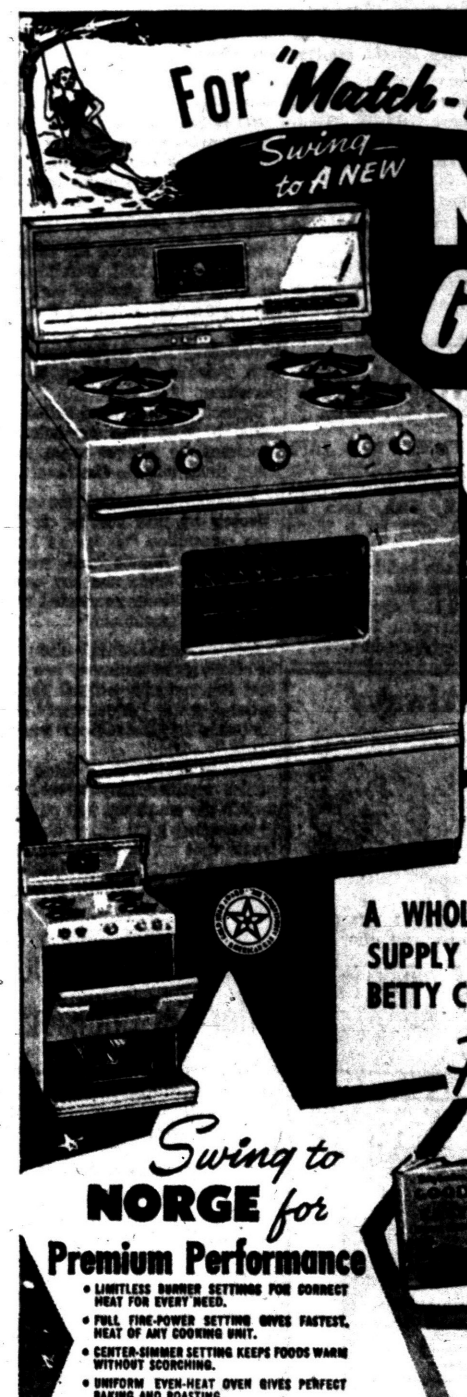

LONDON (AP)—Dr. Hewlett Johnson, the 'Red' dean of Canterbury, flew off for the Soviet Union yesterday to recuperate from a recent illness. Dr. Johnson, who is 85, is known as the 'Red' dean because of his long record as a Soviet sympathizer.

Before boarding a plane with his wife, he told reporters:

"I have had double pneumonia and double pleurisy. I have been invited to the Soviet Union to convalesce at a health resort on the Black Sea. I don't know exactly which one, but I shall be treated as a VIP and I believe my wife and I will have a cottage to ourselves."

The word "jaywalking" to describe crossing the street against traffic rules was first used in Harper's Magazine in June 1917. "Jay" meant wanderer in 17th century England and later came to mean fool or simpleton.

As Judge in East-West Disputes

Nixon Nominates World Court

NEW YORK (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon proposes that the World Court be made the umpire in disputes arising from any future East-West agreements.

U. S. dedication to a strong military position reduces the chance of deliberate war, he said. But as long as force remains the final arbiter of international disputes there will always be the possibility of "war by miscalculation," he added.

"If this sword of annihilation is ever to be removed from its precarious balance over the heads of all mankind, some more positive courses of action than massive military deterrence must somehow be found," he said.

Nixon spoke Monday night at the Academy of Political Science. He said the answer to the present armed deadlock between East and West is somehow to replace the "balance of terror" by "the rule of law."

His proposal is not yet the official United States position, he said, but he has discussed it at length with Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers and officials of the State Department.

He said he is convinced the proposal deserves serious consideration.

The World Court—the International Court of Justice—is the principal judicial organ of the United Nations. It is composed of 15 judges elected by the Security Council of the U. N.

The court, which sits at the Hague, Netherlands, cannot consider any case not voluntarily submitted to it by one or more nations, and has no power to enforce a decision.

Nixon proposed that nations signing future international agreements agree to be bound by the court's interpretation.

Tax Deadline Is Tomorrow

Some 5,000 Pontiac Persons Still Must File Federal Returns

There's probably about 5,000 wage earners in Pontiac today who think they have only a little more than 24 hours in which to file their 1958 income tax returns.

If past experience is repeated, 4,000 to 5,000 returns will be handled by the main Pontiac Post Office tomorrow in the hours leading up to the deadline most people figure on.

Income tax returns, it's commonly assumed, must be postmarked by midnight, April 15. Actually, the law says returns must be in the hands of the Internal Revenue Service by April 15, so that any return mailed April 15 is bound to be at least one day late.

The tax collector usually doesn't worry about returns one or two days late — doesn't worry, that is, if the return is made out properly and the tax fully paid.

INTEREST POSSIBLE

But, theoretically, he could charge interest figured at the rate of six per cent a year for every day a return is late.

Tax examiners at the Pontiac branch of the Internal Revenue Service, 65 Oakland Ave., expected to provide lots of help tomorrow, but there probably will be no long lines of last-minute filers.

Two examiners are on duty to offer advice in person from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Another is available over the telephone.

The last minute returns don't add any appreciable load at the post office, said Robert C. Miller, acting postmaster.

"Pontiac people usually have filed their returns well in advance of April 15," he observed.

FIVE MILLION LEFT

Nationally, it's estimated that five million or more taxpayers will file returns today or tomorrow.

Pontiac area returns are to be mailed to the Director of Internal Revenue, Detroit, 31, Mich.

Some last minute advice from the Internal Revenue Service:

1. Be sure to include your social security number and your name (some people always forget to sign their returns.)

2. If it's a joint filing, both husband and wife must sign.

3. Check your arithmetic. Last year, two million people made mistakes in addition, subtraction or other figuring.

3. Include a check or money order if you owe Uncle Sam money in unpaid taxes.

4. Send the return to the Detroit address, not to Washington. (The President always gets at least one tax return in his mail, from some bewildered taxpayer.)

Will Ship on Seaway

Potter Joins Boat Firm

DETROIT (AP) — Former Republican U.S. Senator Charles E. Potter was quoted by the Detroit News in a Washington dispatch today as saying he is going into the shipping business with a real estate sideline.

"I expect to work hard — but that's the way I want it," said Potter, who was defeated for re-election last November by Philip A. Hart, a Democrat.

Potter will become president of the World Seaway Shipping Agency, with offices in Detroit and New York.

The new firm will operate cargo ships between Great Lakes ports and around the world by way of the St. Lawrence Seaway.

Potter said he also will be a partner in Jensen Enterprises, Inc., which has been formed to develop and rent land for home trailers.

Potter reportedly had been in line for appointment to a federal job. Efforts were being made to get him appointed to the Federal Trade Commission.

"I'm sure I'll be better off in private business," Potter said. "Nobody has ever given me anything in my life, and they're not now."

Potter said the seaway shipping business appealed to him because he was one of the main sponsors of legislation authorizing the seaway.

Two Arrested After Break-In at Western Auto

Two men were being held at the Oakland County Jail today for investigation of breaking and entering in the nighttime. A Pontiac patrolman arrested them in the Western Auto Store, 162 N. Saginaw St., last night.

Patrolman Robert H. Rood said he was walking his beat when he heard a noise at the rear of the store. Upon checking it, he said he discovered five iron bars pried off a window.

"Then I saw two figures inside, in the garage at the rear of the main building," Rood said. "When the two men opened a large garage door and came out I warned them to stop or I'd shoot. They stopped."

The suspects were identified as Loran K. Wilson, 27, of 6551 Willimas Lake Rd., Waterford Township, and Thomas W. McNamara, 24, of 5116 Drayton St., Clarkston.

Bitter Cold Forces 59ers to Move On

KENAI, Alaska (UPI) — Hopes of the Detroit 59ers to homestead the Kenai Peninsula were buried today under a swirling blanket of snow in the bleak wilderness.

The discouraged band of pioneers yesterday abandoned their plans to homestead here and headed through a new snowstorm to Anchorage.

They planned to make the 125-mile journey by today.

The 59ers decided they could not find enough available land on the peninsula to accommodate the group, and another which will follow from Detroit.

The choice land was gone. And the weatherman wouldn't cooperate.

There was no break in the bitter cold and snow. The scouting parties brought back only frustration. No sign of the good earth they were seeking.

Waterford Twp. Gets One New Patrolman

One patrolman was added to the Waterford Township Police Department last night in the first official business of the new seven-member Township Board.

Veteran police reserve officer Charles Griffith, 31, of 2912 Rowan St. was hired at a starting salary of $5,050. Formerly employed as a construction worker, he is married and has four children.

With the hiring of Griffith, Officer John Forbush was promoted to assist Lt. William Stokes on investigation work.

In other business, the board approved a special assessment district for the blacktopping of Lansdowne and Marion streets at the final hearing last night.

These two street projects, along with Cameley avenue, will cost approximately $38,000. Special assessment bonds will be sold to cover construction of the three. Work is expected to be completed this summer, according to Township Clerk James Seeterlin.

In the final fiscal year-end report submitted by Mrs. Dorothy Olson, treasurer, the balance in the general fund totaled $88,422.

Receipts from April 1, 1958 to April 7, 1959 were $410,389 and disbursements were $416,513. There was $94,545 in the general fund at the beginning of the 1958 fiscal year.

This was the first meeting for newly elected Trustees Joseph McGee and Lewis Ruelle.

John Coleman was elected in the spring election but had served on the board as a replacement appointee.

To Call Bufalino on Stand Today

Senate Rackets Group Will Quiz Teamster in Jukebox Probe

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Rackets Committee will call William Bufalino, Detroit teamsters union official to the stand this afternoon for questioning about testimony linking his name with gangsters and jukebox rackets.

Bufalino, president of the Detroit Teamsters Jukebox Local No. 985, committee contending any attempt to connect him with lawlessness is a "sinister attack on my character and reputation."

Committee Counsel Robert F. Kennedy said other witnesses would include Angelo Meli, an uncle of Bufalino, and Samuel Tocco, one of Bufalino's former business partners.

Charles Siragusa, a federal narcotics agent, has testified that Bufalino left a jukebox business partnership with John (Poppa John) Priziola, whom Siragusa called a narcotics trafficking Mafia mobster, to become the local's president.

In testimony before the committee on Sept. 27, 1957, Bufalino said he wasn't sure whether Meli had put up $46,000 to launch Bufalino in the presidency of the Bilvin Distributing Co., a jukebox firm, with Priziola and Tocco as his partners.

Kennedy at that time called Bufalino a front man for notorious hoodlums he alleged were interested financially in the firm.

Bufalino interrupted the questioning at that hearing to tell the committee "so far as I am concerned, Angelo Meli, who is my wife's uncle and my uncle, has at all times conducted himself as a gentleman."

Kennedy said Bufalino also would be asked about testimony last week that the teamster official had negotiated some "sweetheart" labor contracts for Detroit car washing firms.

Several employes of these companies testified they were forced to join the teamsters and pay dues to Bufalino's local under labor contracts that cut their pay as much as $10 a week. They said the contract called for $25 for a 70-hour work week.

Alyea to Face Second Trial

Jury Failed to Reach Verdict in Southfield Slaying Case

Raymond L. Alyea must stand trial a second time on a charge of first-degree murder, Circuit Judge William J. Beer ruled today.

Defense motions to dismiss the charge against Alyea, whose trial early this year resulted in a hung jury, were denied by Judge Beer. He granted, however, a motion to let the 35-year-old Detroiter out on bail for the first time since last August.

Alyea is accused of robbing and stabbing to death Anthony Jasinski, 51, a Southfield nursery caretaker, Aug. 1 at Ilgenfritz Nurseries, Inc., 22951 Northwestern Hwy, where Jasinski was employed.

Alyea's 27-day trial ended Feb. 4 when a seven-woman, four-man jury announced after a week's deliberation that it could not reach a verdict.

Judge Beer set Alyea's bond at $10,000. If Alyea can post it, he will be free to leave Oakland County Jail prior to his second trial, which probably will be scheduled soon after the next jury term begins May 5, Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem said.

Man Confesses Wife's Murder to Billy Graham

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Billy Graham told 21,000 people at Sydney showground last night that a drunken man wandered into the crusade last night and confessed that he had been responsible for the death of his wife eight years ago.

The man said his wicked life caused his wife's death.

Hundreds of people saw ushers escort a man from the arena last night. Graham mentioned him during his sermon and said no one attended the crusade by accident. They came, he said, because God sent them.

Graham added that this morning the man came to him and said, "I just came to the hotel today to find out if you fellows really meant it when you said God can overcome my sin."

Graham told the crowd: "We said 'yes' and he went away with a smile from ear to ear with his little gospel of John clutched in his hand."

At tonight's crusade 1,600 people went forward after Graham had called for "decisions for Christ."

So far 84,000 people have heard Graham in Sydney and nearly 6,000 have made decisions."

Municipal Judge Malcolm Trombley fined each $35 yesterday for disorderly conduct.

Waterford Man Takes No-Pay, No-Duty Post

A Waterford Township resident was elected by one write-in vote to a position that has no pay or duties, and he has accepted.

A canvass of the votes made by the Township Board revealed that Democrat Walter Brinkman of 1496 Eason Rd. is the new township highway commissioner, a position township officials have been trying to abolish for years.

Brinkman, who was out of the state on election day, is a retired General Motors Truck and Coach executive. Although he and his wife have lived in the Watkins Lake area for the last 14 years, this is his first political position, he said.

Saws Legs Off Table, Wife Wins Divorce

DENVER (AP)—When Robert Millard, 39, sawed off the legs of his wife's new dining room table, she says she at first tried to grin and bear it.

"We sat on pillows to eat our meals," Mrs. Millard, 38, told Dist. Judge Neil Horan. "We would lie on the floor to talk and we had to lean against the wall to read."

Her divorce was granted Monday.

Let Ushers Tell Guests at the Door

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: My daughter is going to be married next month and after the ceremony we would like our many friends to go down into the social hall of the church for a piece of wedding cake and a glass of punch. However, I do not want to make any mention of a reception on the invitations because people might come expecting a good deal. Also I don't want them to feel they have to bring a present because they are invited downstairs for punch and wedding cake. Have you any suggestions as to how this can be handled?"

Answer: It could be handled by the ushers stationed at the back of the church. They would announce to all the guests as they leave, "The bride and bridegroom are receiving in the social hall downstairs."

"Dear Mrs. Post: I have been told that when taking a boat trip it is not proper for the passengers to dress for dinner the first night out. Is this true? If it is, I would like to know the reason for it. Why is the first night different from any other night aboard ship?"

Answer: There is really no difference. If the hour of the sailing is early in the day, many people dress for dinner. Very often, however, the boat does not sail until late in the afternoon, and in this case passengers find they have too little time to unpack their belongings and to dress for dinner.

"Dear Mrs. Post: When an acquaintance comes to visit and brings her young child with her, may the hostess, when she sees the child going for her best ornaments, ask her please not to touch them when the mother sits by and says nothing, or does politeness demand that she stay silent and hope for the best?"

Answer: It is entirely right for her to say something in a nice polite voice.

City Girl to Go Abroad With Michigan Chorale

By MARGARET BROWN

Come June 24, Detroit's Willow Run Airport will echo the enthusiastic chatter of young voices when 100 high school vocalists and their counselors board a giant airliner bound for Europe. There they will spend what promises to be the most exciting summer of their lives presenting concerts in Ireland, Sweden, Holland England, Germany and Finland.

The group is the Michigan Chorale, composed of specially auditioned and selected high school juniors and seniors from throughout the state. Among its members is a Pontiac Central High School senior, Marilyn Vernon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry F. Vernon of West Rundell street.

Marilyn is one of the 100 talented students chosen from among some 350 auditioners to make the tour.

PLAYED IN 'KING AND I'

Those of you who saw the PCH excellent production of "The King and I" recently will remember Marilyn's portrayal of Anna, a role she says was ". . . a lot of work, but worth all the effort."

This wholesome teenager is a member of the high school choir, Senior Girls' Ensemble, Song Spinners, Playcrafters Club, and soon will be a member of Thespians' national honorary dramatic society.

Her fellow students at Central know Marilyn well for in addition to her musical and dramatic endeavors, she finds time to be active in the Y-Teens Club and serves as an assistant in the chemistry lab. English she lists as her favorite subject.

And if it seems that the above-mentioned activities likely keep her nose to a well-worn grindstone, please be informed that Miss Vernon also is a Past Honored Queen of Bethel No. 40, International Order of Job's Daughters; secretary of the Youth Fellowship at Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church, and a member of a teenage missionary group.

The Michigan Chorale, sponsored by the Council of Churches, was orangized in 1958 and toured Europe for the first series of concerts with some 74 students.

TO SING FOR QUEEN

Half of this summer will be spent in England where the young singers will have the once-in-a-lifetime experience of appearing before Queen Elizabeth II. If all arrangements can be cleared, Marilyn adds, members also will present a concert in Russia.

She isn't worried about being lonesome during her summer abroad. Her cousin, James Casey of Oxford, also is touring with the Chorale this summer. Last year the two were together at Interlochen.

While in Europe students will stay with a different family each week. Marilyn explains, "We'll be taken in like sons and daughters and learn their customs."

Currently the group is presenting concerts throughout the state. On April 18 they will sing at Royal Oak's Dondero High School, and on April 26 will appear in a concert at Ann Arbor. June 17 the Chorale will be at Cranbrook.

PLANS MUSICAL CAREER

Following graduation in January 1960, Marilyn, who is aiming for a scholarship, would like to major in music at the University of Michigan or Alma College.

She's taken piano lessons for seven years and currently is studying voice under Mr. George Putnam, vocal music department head at Pontiac Central High School.

She differs little from most teen girls in the favorite singer department. Pat Boone, of course, walks off with this honor.

Have You Tried This?

Add Sour Cream Sauce to Beef Noodle Dish

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

There is another way to use ground beef and here it is! Mrs. H. C. Martin puts it in a noodle casserole with a sour cream sauce.

Mrs. Martin has several hobbies. She likes sewing, quilting and gardening. She is also active in the Pioneer Girls work.

GROUND BEEF IN SOUR CREAM SAUCE

By Mrs. H. C. Martin

1 cup chopped onion
2 tablespoons fat
1 pound ground beef
3 cups medium noodles
3 cups tomato juice
1½ teaspoon celery salt
Pepper
1 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons worcestershire sauce
¼ to ½ cup chopped green pepper
1 cup dairy sour cream
1 can (3 oz.) broiled sliced mushrooms, drained

Cook onion in hot fat until tender but not brown. Add beef; brown lightly. Place noodles in layer over meat. Combine tomato juice and seasoning; pour over noodles.

Bring to boiling; cover and simmer over low heat 20 minutes. Add green pepper; cover and continue cooking 10 minutes or until noodles are tender.

Stir in sour cream and mushrooms; heat just to boiling. Season to taste. Top with green pepper rings. Makes 6 servings.

If you like, you may mix all ingredients together in a casserole and bake for 45 minutes.

Efforts Will Pay Off if Husband Talks

By RUTH MILLETT

So your husband won't talk.

Time was when the two of you could talk for hours. Now you do well to get a "Yeah," "Sure," or "That so?" response from him.

When you learn anything about his business, it's by accident. You overhear him discussing the matter with another man.

When you learn anything about his hopes, his disappointments, his ambitions it's because they come out in a general conversation.

But he tells you mighty little of the things that are important to him. The response you get when you try to tell him about the things that are important to you is disheartening enough to make you wonder why you ever thought he would understand.

If that's your problem—and it seems to be the problem of a lot of the wives who write to me—here are a few suggestions that may help to make it easier for the two of you to talk to each other.

OUT TO DINNER

One night a week, go out to dinner together. Leave the children at home, don't be tempted to invite another couple to go along. Pick a quiet restaurant where the food is good and the atmosphere relaxing.

By the second cup of coffee you may be surprised to find that your husband is in a talkative mood. If he is—let him do the talking and give him your undivided attention.

At home try to arrange a quiet corner that will tempt your husband to relax. It may be just two comfortable chairs with a good reading light between. But it will be enough if it is a hideaway from the noise of children, the TV and the endless telephone conversations of the children. What many couples need is just a place where they can talk.

Last of all, make a bigger effort than you have been making to have some interesting, worthwhile things to talk about. Men shy away from feminine chatter, but most are willing to listen to the woman who has something to say.

Better Let 28-Year-Old 'Kid' Settle Own Marital Problems

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: You've probably heard of Forever Amber and Jezebel? Well, I know a woman who could give them instructions. She is 40 and has been married four times. She has had kids by this one and that one. She got a quick Mexican divorce by mail order and married a 28-year-old kid. She lied about her age and passed off her children as nieces and nephews. Is there any way this kid can retract his marriage if he gets proof that she roped him in with false figures and facts?"

ABBY

DEAR FRIEND: The "kid" is 28 years old and should know enough to see a lawyer if he wants to dissolve his marriage. An annulment is in order if the "bride" misrepresented herself, providing the "kid" wants one.

"DEAR ABBY: My little brother is 6 and I am 11. He has this ragged blanket which he totes around and sleeps with every night. When we try to take it away from him he cries and says he can't sleep without it. We are at our wits' end. What shall we do?"

BERNADINE

DEAR BERNADINE: Let him keep the blanket as he wants it. Just be sure it is kept clean.

"DEAR ABBY: I am a boy of 15 but my mother still thinks I am 5. The other day a girl called and asked my mother if I could come to her birthday dinner. My mother accepted for me and told me I was going. I told my mother I think she should have told the girl it was up to me and then let me accept if I wanted to go, which I would have done anyway. Pow! My mother almost flipped. She said I had no respect for her. Please put a kind word in your column for me if you think I'm right."

KEN

DEAR KEN: Your mother should have given you the opportunity to accept (or refuse) your own invitation . . . But, it probably wasn't what you said, it was the way that you said it. How did you say it? Think hard.

"DEAR ABBY: I am a 19-year-old girl who has fallen in love with a man who is much older, but this is not my problem. He has a 23-year-old son who thinks of me not as a future stepmother but rather as a target for flirtations. He lives with his father now and nothing has been said about where he will live after his father and I are married. I don't want to cause conflict between father and son but doubt if we three can live harmoniously together. Have you some ideas?"

DEE DEE

DEAR DEE DEE: I have some "ideas" and if you suspect your fiance's son also has a few, under no conditions should you three live under the same roof. He's old enough to leave his father's nest and in this case three is definitely a crowd.

CONFIDENTIAL TO MARRYING SOON: If you plan to change him — prepare to be disappointed.

Want to Talk

Treat Him Tenderly

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

A man must have someone to talk to. Now that sounds silly! A man is away from home all day long, surrounded by people with whom he talks, AND, when I suggest that a man should be able to talk to his wife more often, that sounds even crazier because most of the complaints I get from women about their husbands are similar to the following: "He just comes home, reads the newspaper, looks at television or goes right to sleep with no conversation at all."

There are certainly two sides to this question. It is far from ideal when the wife spends almost every day at home, with only the companionship of young children, and then has no companionship with her husband during the evenings. This sort of situation, over a long period, can change a normally happy woman into a sensitive, neurotic one, with resulting fatigue and even illness.

However, this is men's week in "Why Grow Old?" so I would like to paint the picture today from the man's viewpoint. When I say that a man should be able to and should have the opportunity to talk with his wife more often I am not thinking of chit chat.

I am thinking that a man needs someone to talk to about his discouragements, about his dreams, about the everyday problems at work — someone with an understanding ear and time to listen.

"Time to listen" is the most difficult factor to snag in a household bursting with children or even with one child. I believe that fundamentally most women would love nothing better than to be trusted with the doubts and even the failures of the men they love as well as with their successes and plans.

Many a time many a man would like to talk to his wife but she is too occupied with the children or her household chores or her own problems or just plain fatigue.

Because we women think of men as strong and practically indestructible, because we lean on them for protection and security and guidance, we may sometimes forget that they, too, have their discouragements and their weariness, that they also need emotional protection and reinforcement, which only the women they love can provide for them. They surely will not get it from the outside world.

One theory as to why men die faster and sooner than women is that they have no safety valves. For instance, women have tears but men must at all times appear strong and rugged. Doctor Lemuel C. McGee of Wilmington, Delaware said, "The American male has been indoctrinated with the philosophy that he must live, work and play at a dizzy pace; that he can and should wade through all emotional and physical situations without flinching and without reflection.

Men are not indestructible. They need your tenderness and warmth and time for you to listen. If this means putting the children to bed an hour or so earlier, it will be good for their health and also for your relationship. I am often amazed when I see children who should be in bed at seven, anyway, remaining on the scene until nine and nine-thirty, completely ruining any chance for companionship a husband and wife might have had.

Tomorrow: "The Men Are Having Their Day in Fashions."

Hair Style Showed Status in Society

Men and women of all countries, in all times, have signalled their marital, social and financial status by the way they wore their hair. In the early days of America, Indian maidens of every tribe changed coiffures as they passed from girlhood to squawhood to motherhood.

This ritual of changing hair style, especially of shearing off the hair, was known throughout the ancient Mediterranean world, especially in ancient Israel., Assyria, Persia, Turkey, etc. It is still practiced today in many areas of the world.

Following registration, the general meeting will be held with workshops set up in different rooms for 25 different groups. These workshops will present all phases of PTA work and will be lead by state and county persons who are leaders in their fields.

Mrs. Charles Neldrott, state president of Michigan Congress of Parents and Teachers, will direct a workshop, and state vice president Otto Yntema will head the "cracker barrel" session on questions asked by the workshop members.

All school PTAs and PTSAs can send as many representatives as they wish, but to get the maximum benefits should send at least one to each of the workshops.

Clean Beverage Stain at Once

Accidents will happen when teenage youngsters gather for a record session. Soft drinks spilled on clothing may result in a brown stain.

So, when spilled, sponge the area at once with cool water or equal parts of alcohol and water. Then rub glycerin into the stain. After half an hour, rinse with water and wash with hot suds.

High fashion in diaper sets combines gay stripes with solid fabrics. These outfits are machine washable, of course.

Frosted Fake Gems

Fake black diamonds have shown up in frosted gold-colored jewelry to enliven dresses. These appear in ping and earrings, too.

Hal Boyle Says:

'Actor' Frankie Laine Skins Trigger Finger

NEW YORK (AP) — Singer Frankie Laine, who quit show business five times before he became a star, has been bitten by the acting bug. So when'll he pay Hamlet?

"Not right now," said the song belter. "I'm not ready for Shakespeare yet. That's a rough school. "But in another five years I might be crazy enough to try it."

Acting is not without its perils, he has found. He wasn't so lucky practicing drawing his six shooter for a part in a television piece.

"The first time I skinned my finger," he said. "And the second time I dropped the gun and nearly broke a toe."

Frankie has sold more than 30 million records in the last dozen years.

Why, since his voice brings down money in a golden shower, waste it on straight acting?

"The fear of trying something new is often what defeats people," said Laine. "There is no standing still in this business. The day you aren't wiling to take a step forward is the day you've already started going backward."

Frankie, the son of a Chicago barber, isn't frightened by the possibility of failure. It took him 16 years to reach the top as a singer. During that period he slept at times on park benches, worked as an office boy, dancing teacher, shipping clerk, auto salesman, and machinist.

"The first lesson I had to learn was to be myself," he recalled. "I did what everybody else was doing. And I was a dud.

"In 1936 I decided I'd quit imitating others."

It took another decade before his big-voice style caught on. Five times he quit in disgust. Five times he came back and tried again.

"The last time, I quit a $150 a-week factory job, because I couldn't see spending my life looking at the same four walls," he said. "I figured that it woud take me 20 years to work up to an executive job."

Soon after taking a job in a Hollywood night spot, Frankie clicked with a recording. His first royalty check was for $36,000.

"I often wonder what would have happened to me if I hadn't been willing to make that one last try," he said.

"It's not just a matter of the loot. We're in pretty good shape financially. But you have to try to prepare against the day when you wake up and find everything gone.

"But it doesn't worry me. I can lie down 20 minutes before going on the air and take a nap. My wife, Nan, and I both have faith. We believe there's a reason for everyting that happens in life."

The Laines and their two teenage daughters, Pam and Jan, are very close.

"When you boil it down," said Frankie, "the family is the most important unity in your life."

Step Toward Leprosy Vaccine

Scientist Grows Rat Version of Disease in Test Tube

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Writer

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—A possible lead towards developing a long-sought vaccine against leprosy — one of man's oldest scourges—was reported today.

A government researcher announced sucessful growth in test tube tissue culture of bacteria which causes leprosy in rats. He indicated that this might open one way to:

1. Producing a vaccine against the rat disease.
2. Perhaps ultimately developing a vacine against the human malady.

Dr. Y. T. Chang, of the National Institute of Arthritis and Metabolic Diseases and the American Leprosy Foundation, gave this outline in a report to the 43rd annual meeting of the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology:

The bacillus that causes human leprosy is one of the wiliest and most elusive organisms of the germ world.

For many years, he said, researchers have attempted to maintain growth of the organism outside its natural host, the human body. Though it grows vigorously inside the body, it stops multiplying and soon dies if placed in an artificial environment.

Researchers would like to coax the bug into outside growth because, aside from possibly helping towards such an ultimate objective as producing a vaccine, such laboratory culturing of the germs would allow a mro Ide -e germs would allow a more detailed study of the bacteria and would provide a means for rapid testing of possible new antileprosy drugs.

Timberman Gets Life in Slaying of Wife

BUTLER, Ala. (AP)—A wealthy timberman was sentenced to life imprisonment Monday night for the rifle slaying of his wife.

Attorneys for John L. McPhearson, 36, filed notice of appeal of the first-degree murder conviction.

The state had asked for the death penalty.

The defendant had pleaded innocent and innocent by reason of insanity.

McPhearson was charged with shooting his wife of 14 years in woods near Silas Jan. 29. Her body was recovered from an abandoned well to which, officers said, McPhearson led them.

McPhearson testified he and his 35-year-old wife had argued bitterly over terms of a divorce both were considering. He said his wife was shot acidentally when he fought with her for possession of a rife.

Area Answer Advised for Sewage Problem

Learning Speed Varies Greatly

ANN ARBOR — How well youngsters do in the early years of school may not be an accurate indication of their mental ability and academic progress by the time they complete elementary school, says a University of Michigan educator.

Associate Prof. Warren A. Ketcham, PhD, bases this view on a long-range testing program conducted by the School District of the City of Ferndale and dating back to 1951.

The system-wide program yielded records of the physical, mental, and academic growth for all elementary school pupils. Earlier Ferndale testing programs were conducted from 1926 to 1931, and from 1943 to 1951.

Professor Ketcham says, "The enlarged testing program inaugurated in 1951 had two purposes: (1) to emphasize the extent and nature of individual differences in children's capacities to benefit from instruction and (2) to increase the effectiveness of teachers in assessing the individual needs of pupils as a basis for improving teaching methods and the curriculum.

Analysis of test data was made possible by a grant to the U-M from the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Findings of the long-range testing program show:

(1) There is a wide range of individual differences in mental abilities and learning of children no matter how early they are tested;

(2) The range of individual differences among children increases as their chronological age increases;

(3) When the beginning of learning and the progress of learning are charted, the record shows a high degree of individuality in each child's progress.

"The major problem facing teachers is not how to eliminate individual differences but rather how to cope with them," said Ketcham.

Test results showed how "fantastically complex" learning can be, even when considered apart from all of its emotional, social, and motivational overtone, he added.

"Take mental ability and reading skill. Individual records show that while some children began early and progressed rapidly, and some began late and progressed slowly, other children began late and progressed rapidly, and still other children began early and progressed slowly," said Ketcham. "In other words, some children catch up while others do not succeed in keeping up."

Professor Ketcham's views are expressed in an article, "How Well Are They Learning?" written with Rondeau G. Lafitte, Jr., U. of M. assistant psychometrician, in the current issue of "Educational Leadership."

Pickle Factory Labeled 'Filthy'

Father, Son to Stand Trial on Conditions in Highland Plant

HIGHLAND TOWNSHIP — A local father and son have been bound over to Circuit Court for operating a 20-year-old pickle factory here in allegedly "filthy and unsanitary conditions."

Charles Needham, 65, and his son Arthur, 34, of 254 Livingston St. were arraigned, demanded examination and pleaded not guilty in Justice of the Peace Roy Carl's court.

Enough evidence was presented by State Health Inspector James McCallum to warrant a Circuit Court trial which will be held at 1:30 p.m. Monday in Judge Clark Adam's court in Pontiac.

The two men are charged with operating The Domestic Pickle Works for three days without any water facilities, while wild birds were flying through broken windows and filth and debris was in evidence both in and outside the plant, according to Inspector McCallum.

Both of the accused furnished $200 personal bonds and were released pending trial.

Hospital Auxiliary Party Set Saturday

GROVELAND TOWNSHIP — A "get acquainted" party is planned for this Saturday by the newly formed Groveland Township Branch of the Goodrich General Hospital Auxiliary, known as Unit 1.

Persons interested in joining are invited to attend the party at the Grange Hall starting at 8 p.m., announced Mrs. Paul D. Walter, secretary of the new unit.

She explained that the purpose of the auxiliary is to purchase new equipment for the hospital and ultimately to build a new hospital to serve the community.

Mayor Pro Tem Maheny was elected to the City Council a year ago. A resident of Walled Lake for the past six years, he is married and lives with his wife and three children at 1148 Asher Ct.

He is an industrial engineer with U.S. Rubber Co. in Detroit.

The Council will meet Monday at 8 p.m. for presentation of the 1959-60 budget.

Proctor re-appointed Marshall Taylor to the County Board of Supervisors for his second term. It was decided that Taylor would represent the council in the Michigan Mayors Day exchange with Essexville, a small city in the Thumb area, on May 18.

Romeo OKs Purchases for Street Repairs

ROMEO — The Romeo Village Council last night authorized the purchase of 900 tons of asphalt plus sealer for street repairs from the Peake Asphalt Paving Co. of Utica. The firm's low bid was $8,100.

Police Chief Edgar Welsch was granted a pay increase of $7.70 per week, bringing his salary up to $102.70 a week.

Village President Joseph Rymill appointed all incumbent department heads to continue in their present posts for another year. The local, law firm of McLean and Davidson will represent the village, and McMahon Engineering Co. will continue as village engineers.

The council opened bids for garbage collection and awarded a contract to George Reedy of Lake Orion.

An initial move was made to remove all junk yards within the village limits, and fire protection contracts with Ray and Washington townships were renewed.

Teachers Still Seeking Tenure

Utica Talks Scheduled Despite Failure to Get Proposal on Ballot

UTICA—Even though the Board of Education of the Utica Community School District has denied a request to put teacher tenure on the June ballot, Richard S. Hyman, high school physics teacher, is continuing his schedule of talks on the proposition before area organizations.

Hyman will be guest speaker at tonight's meeting of the Utica Rotary Club and on Thursday night at the regular meeting of the Disco Elementary School PTA.

The Tenure Committee of the Utica Teachers Club made the request about a month ago, and although the board did not favor placing the question on the ballot at this time, it has no objection to the current informational series on the subject, members said.

The Michigan Tenure Act, adopted in 1937, may be defined as the legal method by which teachers are given security in their positions during efficient service.

The act specifies that "discharge or demotion of a teacher may be made for reasonable and just cause and only after such charges, notice, hearing and determination are provided."

"There is more need now than ever," Hyman said, "to inform parents and other school district residents about the principle involved in the act."

"We want the improvement of schools for the children, and if men, anywhere in the system, do not act on principle to that end, then the Michigan Tenure Act becomes a necessary tool to accomplish it," the teacher stated.

Hyman also will appear before the Shelby Homeowners Assn. at Auburnshire Elementary School May 5.

Subject of his talk tonight is "Tenure and the Board of Education."

County Official Explains Plans to Rochester Council

By LEE WINBORN

ROCHESTER — What the proposed Clinton River Sewage Disposal System could mean to Rochester and its environs was explained to the Village Council at its regular meeting last night.

Leading the discussion was Harold K. Schone, acting director of the Oakland County Department of Public Works.

Asking council members to make no immediate decision about joining the project, Schone said he wanted them to "keep an open mind" as plans for the mammoth sewage system advance during the months to come.

Schone stated that the DPW is "convinced that the answer to sewage problems is on an area basis rather than smaller units of government trying to solve their own individual problems."

He recommended that Rochester not abandon its present plans for a secondary sewage treatment plant. "It seems reasonable to assume that the plant will be used in any case," Schone said.

He added, "We will have to know what Pontiac and Rochester will do within the next six months. Their decisions will affect our overall intercepter design."

"What we are asking is that a solution for sewage disposal be found that will prove advantageous to the village and county alike," Schone emphasized.

The DPW hopes to develop an intercepter sewer system in the area and to locate a treatment plant between Rochester and the county line.

"The treatment will be the highest type," Schone promised.

Giving 18 months as the target date to complete the planning and engineering phase, the DPW head said that if Pontiac would join, that date could be moved up. If it does not, as much as two years could be added.

Maurice Richmond, engineer with the Michigan Department of Health, said, "We would expect that as soon as a detailed report is ready, the usual procedures on pollution abatement will be put into effect."

He outlined the procedures as the planning stage the "reasonable" construction period of about two years followed by court enforcement if necessary.

The Rochester Council approved the appointment of Leslie Aris to a three-year term on the Board of Review.

In other action, members approved the spread of the special assessment for the blacktop curbing of Helen street between First and Fairview streets. The cost will be 95 cents per foot rather than one dollar which was announced at the November 24 hearing.

Officials Quit in Hazel Park

City Manager, Council Member, 3 Engineers Leave Posts

HAZEL PARK — The city manager and a councilman resigned at last night's council meeting here—the first since the April 6 election. Their action followed the resignation of three city employes.

City Manager Calvin C. Henry announced at the council meeting that he is quitting June 30.

Councilman Leonard C. Milligan said he was through, too. He left the meeting saying, "I have taken about as much as any person with a reasonable stomach can take."

Earlier in the day, three engineering department employes resigned. They were Joe Shugart, city engineer since 1957; his assistant, Edward Kubiske, and Edward Smith, building inspector.

Milligan, a councilman for 10 years, said, "I'm resigning because Mr. Henry is, because the engineers have left and because of the lying yellow sheet that was distributed just prior to the last election. I'm sick and tired of being the fall guy and patsy for petty politicians at this council table."

Milligan referred to a pamphlet circulated prior to the recent city election. The pamphlet accused Henry, Milligan and defeated Councilman Omer Taylor of running the city through secret meetings and accused Henry of intimidating city employes.

Henry, 34, who is Hazel Park's seventh city manager, said the meetings had always been open to the public and the press.

Mayor Louis Elias, co-owner of a restaurant chain, said, "I deeply regret these resignations. I tried to talk them out of it but their minds were made up."

Transfer of 6 Mills Proposed

Map Avon School Voter Campaign

AVON TOWNSHIP — The Citizens' Committee of the Avondale School District has undertaken an ambitious program to inform the voters of the issues involved in the upcoming May 4 school election, Earl C. Wilson, spokesman for the group, reported today.

The Board of Education is seeking voter approval of the transfer of six mills being dropped from the building fund to the operating fund.

In an effort to reach all voters and potential voters in the school district, Wilson and his committee have mapped out a campaign which they hope will reach every home.

The committee has prepared notices giving pertinent facts about the forthcoming election, which have been sent home to parents.

They have also divided the district into zones and assigned volunteers to each zone. The volunteers go door to door distributing a specially prepared brochure containing questions and answers about the millage transfer.

A letter has been framed for distribution to everyone in the district explaining the election proposal which will be followed up by personal interviews.

"Our prime concern is to see that all prospective voters in the district are registered by the 5 p.m. deadline Friday, April 24," Wilson said. "Then we hope they will have received enough information to know how to vote intelligently when they go to the polls May 4," he added.

Leaving no stone unturned to inform the public, Citizens' Committee representatives are appearing at meetings of area organizations during the weeks remaining before the election. Wilson will speak at the Auburn Heights Lions Club meeting tonight.

Henry Knight will address the Auburn Heights Rotary Club Thursday noon, and Edward Turner, the Elmwood School PTA meeting Thursday evening.

Any representative of an organization wishing to have a speaker address his group is asked to call Avondale High School where arrangements will be made, Wilson said.

Slate Talent Contest

LAKE ORION — Dress rehearsal is at 7:30 tonight for the 26 contestants who will compete for prizes in the Community Talent Show Friday night at Lake Orion Community High School.

GAYLE SCHENCK

The betrothal of their daughter, Gayle, to John D. Kubat is announced by Mr. and Mrs. Robbert E. Schenck of 3278 Winterberry Rd., Orchard Lake. The fiance is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kubat of Detroit.

Forty-three persons auditioned last Friday night before the 26 were chosen to enter the contest sponsored by the Lake Orion Teachers Club. The show replaces the comic basketball game staged by the club in previous years to raise funds for scholarships.

This year, in addition to the scholarships, some money will be used to purchase school furniture, according to Fred Baker, show chairman.

The group of teachers who served on the selection committee were John Bixby, Mrs. Eva Johns, Mrs. Vena Kirkpatrick, Miss Marlene Arnold and Reid Straub.

The acts which they chose include pantomimists, vocal and instrumental soloists, a chalk talk artist and several instrumental combos. Others are dancers who will perform the Highland Fling, a Roaring Twenties number and a tap routine.

To be eligible to compete for the cash prizes of $25, $10 and $5, all contestants must attend tonight's dress rehearsal, Baker said. Winners of the contest will be determined by an applause meter.

Friday night's show will start at 7:30 p.m., and tickets are available from any student or teacher in the district or at the door the night of the contest.

Sec. Benson Wants Action on Ike's Farm Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson appears determined to goad the Democrat-controlled Congress into action on farm legislation.

Twice within four days, the Republican farm chief has accused Congress of inaction on farm program recommendations President Eisenhower made in mid-January. He spoke out at a news conference last Friday, and resumed the attack in a speech yesterday before the Associated Retail Bakers of America.

In a speech, Benson accused administration opponents of being "just against anything and everything we propose." As for themselves, these people, he added, can't agree on a constructive solution.

The secretary said the administration's policy was to get government out of agriculture and give farmers more freedom to run their affairs. In this connection, Benson proposes lower price supports and fewer restrictions on production.

These Benson slaps could be expected to bring rebuttals from his congressional critics. Likely to arouse them the most was Benson's call, in the speech, to "every citizen—every businessman, every tax payer, every housewife, every consumer, every person interested in a sound economy" to join in the demand for congressional action.

Similar appeals by Benson in the past have brought charges by his foes that Benson seeks to line up the non-farm part of the population against federal aid to agriculture. The secretary has denied this.

Six Teams Still Seeking 1st Victory

Seven More 'Openers' Slated

By The Associated Press

Major league baseball puts a finish to the business of "season openers" today with the National Braves, San Francisco Giants and Los Angeles Dodgers playing their first games at home. The Cleveland Indians, Chicago White Sox, Boston Red Sox and Baltimore Orioles make their home debuts in the American.

Seven of the majors' 16 clubs still are unbeaten. But six still are trying to get started in this second round of openers.

The Pittsburgh Pirates, surprising members of the winless six, are at Cincinnati, but that doesn't qualify as an opener. It was at Cincinnati that the Pirates began their 0-3 frustration last Thursday.

The White Sox, who matched some fine relief pitching with some surprise power for a three-game sweep at Detroit, expect a crowd of about 23,000 at Comiskey Park for their debut against the A's, who were beaten by Cleveland in their only two starts.

Billy Pierce, was the Sox' opening day choice last Friday who was not involved in the decision, will face Ralph Terry, a young right-hander, making his first start for Kansas City.

The Yankees (1-0) also have a test case on the mound, with Don Larsen still to prove that his bothersome shoulder is fit. The Orioles, who haven't played since losing Thursday's opener at Washington, switched from Hoyt Wilhelm, who no-hit the Yankees last season, to Arnie Portocorreso while estimating some 30,000 fans will show up.

The Red Sox, stymied by bad weather and the two-hit pitching of Bob Turley at New York Sunday, now are battling the flu. But Ike Delock insists he's ready to pitch against the Senators. About 20,000 are expected at Fenway Park.

Warren Spahn, who got a quick start toward what would be his 10th season of 20 victories by shutting out the Pirates last Friday, goes for No. 2 against the Phils, who beat Cincinnati in their lone start. Good weather is expected to bring 43,000 fans and Ruben Gomez' debut as a Phil following the winter trade with San Francisco. The Cuban right-hander, who dislikes cool weather, has lost five in a row to the Braves since June, 1957. If the weather is cool, lefty Seth Morehead may pitch.

The Giants, 3-0 after their sweep at St. Louis, have a half-game edge over the Braves (2-0). They'll introduce their half of the trade with the Phils with Jack Sanford going for his seventh victory in 10 decisions against the Cubs. Dave Hillman has won three straight from the Giants, who expect a sellout crowd of 23,000.

The Dodgers, who split a pair at Chicago last weekend, hope for 60,000 at the Coliseum, where starter Johnny Podres had an 11-4 record while winning only two of 13 on the road. Cardinal Lindy McDaniel had only a 5-7 record last season but was 2-0 against the Dodgers.

Pittsburgh's pitching choice was young George Witt, who has been troubled by a bum elbow. The young right-hander carries a seven-game winning streak from last season. Bob Purkey, the ex-Buc who beat the Pirates for the fifth consecutive time opening day, or right-hander Brooks Lawrence will work for the Reds, who are 1-1.

Tribe Southpaw Faces Bunning in Test Outing

Cleveland Is Unbeaten Entering Home Opener; Doby to Start Again

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Three years and two injuries after being acclaimed the best southpaw of the season, Herb Score is trying to prove himself.

Score was scheduled to start against Jim Bunning and the Detroit Tigers today in the Cleveland Indians' home opener. Unbeaten Cleveland was looking for its third straight victory and Detroit its first after three consecutive two-run defeats.

One year ago, also on the second opening day of the season but then at Detroit, Score beat the Tigers 7-5 with a five-hitter. It seemed the plucky fast-baller was on his way back after the tragic 1957 accident that almost cost him an eye.

But Score won only one more game and lost three. In the past two seasons he's won four — two over Detroit — and lost as many. Score developed a sore arm last season and spent most of the year on the disabled list.

In 1957 it was the line drive from the bat of Gil McDougald that almost ended his career. Score had won 20 and lost nine in 1956, a banner year for left handers. Billy Pierce had the same record but a higher earned run average than Score. Billy Hoeft and Warren Spahn also won 20 but lost more than Score did.

Score is most important to Cleveland. Without him most experts say the Indians don't have the pitching to make the first division.

Herb's initial appearance this season is one he'd like to forget. He nearly lost the opening game in a relief role. Score was called in to snuff out a Kansas City rally after the A's closed the Tribe's margin to 6-3.

Score walked the first man he faced on four pitches and issued a pass to the second. He was 2-0 on the third and had wild pitched one runner across the plate before manager Joe Gordon decided to lift him. Dick Brodowski went in to save the game as he did in the Indians' second contest.

Score, now 25, is 9-4 lifetime against the Tigers. Nearly one fourth of his 40 victories are over Detroit.

Score is one of only three Cleveland starters today that faced the Tigers a year ago.

Master trader Frank Lane brought in ex-Tiger Billy Martin to man second base; Woody Held and Vic Power, who started last season at Kansas City, are at third and first; Jim Piersall, ex-Boston Red Sox flychaser, is in center and George Strickland, who sat out last season in retirement, is back at shortstop. Russ Nixon didn't start last season's Detroit opener but came in to catch in the fifth.

Detroit's lineup will be the same as the home opener with Larry Doby returned to left field. Manager Bill Norman said he might rearrange the batting order.

Leafs in Familiar Role—Underdogs

Toronto Seeks First Triumph in Cup Finals

Favored Montreal Has 2-0 Lead as Playoffs Resume Tonight

TORONTO (AP)—The Toronto Maple Leafs are in a familiar role for tonight's third game of the Stanley Cup hockey finals against the Montreal Canadiens. They're the underdogs.

The Leafs, who crossed the odds-makers by edging into National Hockey League playoffs three weeks ago and did it again last week by eliminating the Boston Bruins in the semifinal round, aren't given much of a chance to halt the Canadiens.

Toe Blake's club won the first two games of the best-of-seven series and needs only two more to make it a sweep. The next two games are scheduled for Toronto.

While the Canadiens are 8-5 favorites to win tonight's game, Leaf Coach Punch Imlach was telling anybody within hearing range that his team was by no means dead.

"We're down two games in this series and that's all Montreal has won so far," Imlach said. "Those guys have to win four before they can claim the Stanley Cup."

Imlach said he would have center Larry Regan playing in his regular spot between left winger Dick Duff and Ron Stewart. Regan, picked up from Boston on waivers midway through the season, was considered a key player in the semifinal series with Boston. He suffered a broken right hand during that set and missed the two games at Montreal, won by the Canadiens 5-3 and 3-1.

Regan's right hand will be in a plaster cast, small enough so that he will be able to hold a stick.

"I didn't want to play him during those two skirmishes in Montreal," Imlach said. "I wanted to save him for the big game. This is the big one as far as we're concerned."

Blake, whose Canadiens have won the Cup the last three seasons, said he expected to win the post-season playoff without leaving Toronto ice.

"We want to get this thing over with as soon as possible," he said. "I'm not saying we'll take it in four games but I'd sure like to."

Veeck Plans Surprises at Club's Home Opener

CHICAGO (AP)—Amid rumors that Satchel Paige will be the starting pitcher and baseball is once again open to midgets, the Chicago White Sox inaugurate their 1959 home season with none other than Bill Veeck on the scene.

Veeck, who heads a syndicate which purchased 54 per cent of the club, assured all concerned that Paige will not be the starting pitcher.

And, he confided, there'll be no midgets sent to bat as there once was when he owned the St. Louis Browns.

"I can't say in advance what we'll do," said Veeck, "but something will be popping and there may be a surprise or two."

The Associated Press, however, learned that one of Veeck's stunts will include fireworks and the first display will take place when the crowd is singing the Star Spangled Banner and reaches the bars "and the rockets red glare, the bombs bursting in air."

At this point, in a lot behind the bleachers, Veeck's cohorts will touch off an explosion of fireworks unparalleled since last summer's celebration of the Chinese new year.

Another Veeck trick will take place in the seventh inning when the Sox come to bat, although most people will not consider this a stunt but rather a downright generous and hospitable gesture.

Free beer will be passed out in the stands to toast the White Sox.

And some of the circus-like atmosphere apparently has rubbed off on the Chicago police department.

Acting Capt. John L. Sullivan of the Deering Station which patrols Comiskey Park will have 40 men on the job and a special pickpocket detail.

Every opening day for the last five years, Sullivan's men have nabbed one Eddie Murphy on sight. Murphy is a reputed pickpocket with a record dating back to 1915.

However, Murphy happens to like baseball. So Capt. Sullivan notified Murphy that he may attend the home opener provided he wears boxing gloves.

Behind all this hulaballoo will be, of all things, the baseball team known as the White Sox. Chicago fans aren't too excited even though the Sox are entrenched in first place with their 3-0 record.

$50,000 Offer for Title Bout

Leonard Would Send Brown Against Victor of Lane-Busso Test

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Matchmaker Jackie Leonard says he's offering lightweight champion Joe Brown $50,000 to defend his title against the winner of Friday night's Kenny Lane-Johnny Busso fight here.

Leonard would stage the bout in June or July.

Jack Kearns, who manages Lane, said if the Muskegon, Mich. boy wins he would guarantee Brown $75,000 and agree to take a percentage.

Brown has beaten both Lane and Busso but said he wasn't particularly interested in fighting another southpaw. Lane, the southpaw, said he's certain Brown would be willing to meet him again.

"He'll fight me if the money is forthcoming," Lane promised. "The money will be there, too."

Hopes Up for 2nd New York Team

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor Wagner's committee to bring a second major league team to New York reported progress Monday and added it will have something to announce within two months.

Bill Shea, chairman of the committee, said he recently returned from a three-week trip across the country during which he talked with various interested parties concerning the formation of a third major league that would include New York.

"We have made progress," Shea said, "but we do not think it is in the best interests to issue any statement at this time. I do think we will have something to announce within the next 60 days."

Shea said he made the trip to find out for himself whether there really was evidence of active interest in forming another big league.

"I am greatly encouraged by what I've seen and heard," he said. "The committee has done considerable work and I only hope some good will come out of it. We're still working on it.

"It would hurt us a great deal to make a statement now. We have to be sure of our ground first. As we've said before, it's our firm opinion that the only way by which New York would obtain another major league franchise would be through the formation of a third major league."

Shea said there would be no problem getting backers for a New York franchise.

"Any number of people are ready to put up the money for a franchise," he said, "but first we must get the franchise."

He indicated the New York team, according to plan, would operate in a new park in Flushing Meadows, Queens, to be financed by privately financed bonds under the direction of Park Commissioner Robert Moses.

Tigers Return Check for Series Tickets to Hawaii

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Tigers have sent back a $50 check to a hopeful fan in Hawaii who wanted tickets to the 1959 World Series.

The ticket request was made by John V. Bailey of Grand Rapids, Mich., "on the assumption that the farther I get from home the better the team plays, I'm sure this MUST BE THE YEAR."

Club officials said the fact the Tigers have lost their first three games of the season had no bearing on the return of the check to Bailey.

Harry M. Sisson, executive vice president, said it is not the practice of a ball club to accept World Series ticket orders until it's pretty sure of playing in the Series.

Bailey didn't explain what he was doing in Hawaii. He wrote from Honolulu on stationery of the Matson Navigation Co.

Stars Prep in Pro-Amateur

Houston Meet Thursday

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Golf's stars competed in a $5,000 pro-amateur event today while warming up for Thursday's first round of the $30,000 Houston Classic tournament.

The pros divided time between the site of the Classic, the sprawling Memorial Park course, and two country clubs where a pair of $2,500 pro-amateur meets were in progress. The pros were paired against Houston businessmen for the 18-hole best-ball events at Brae Burn and Lakeside Country Clubs.

The entire field of 135 will be back at the 7,133-yard, par 72 Memorial layout tomorrow for final practice rounds before the Thursday chase gets under way for the Classics top prize of $4,300. The field will include 130 pros and five amateurs.

Ben Hogan, making his first tournament appearance here since 1947, was among the first on the Memorial course yesterday when it was reopened after five days of incessant rain. Hogan impressed a large gallery with his tee shots in a whipping wind.

Others impressing their galleries were Cary Middlecoff, the only two-time winner of the 12-year-old tournament, and Jack Burke Jr., a hometown favorite.

The exempt list took all but two of the 135 spots for Thursday's first round. Six Houston area pros competed in a qualifying round yesterday and the two spots went to Barney Clark, Houston, and Deen Wood, Liberty. Clark had a one-under 71, while Wood qualified with a 75.

Robie Williams, the Memorial pro, said he believes the course is in the best condition since the tournament returned to Memorial in 1951. The tournament has been held in February in the past but was switched to April this year after being hampered by rain.

Title War Enters Court

NEW YORK (AP) — Middleweight champion Ray Robinson has gone to the court to prevent the New York State Athletic Commission from taking away his title.

Gen. Melvin Krulewitch, chairman of the state boxing commission, said Monday night that he and the two other commissioners have been served with papers to appear in special term Supreme Court Wednesday.

The papers were filed to restrain the commission from vacating Robinson's title.

The commission issued an ultimatum to Robinson last April 3 ordering him to sign for a title defense against challenger Carmen Basilio by noon of April 15 or face loss of his title.

Robinson's lawyer, Martin Maschat, had indicated then that Robinson probably would go to the courts.

Krulewitch said since the matter now is in the courts, the commission would make no statement until the court action is cleared.

The other two members of the boxing commission are James Farley Jr., and Julius Helfand.

Doctoring Your Golf

By DR. CARY MIDDLECOFF

PATIENT'S COMPLAINT: Generally sloppy play.

DIAGNOSIS: Failure to HIT ON THROUGH the shots.

Treatment: In my earlier efforts to pass on sound advice to other golfers, I've often urged that they avoid quitting on their shots. By "quitting on the shot" I mean stopping the clubhead very soon after the ball is hit.

Over the years, however, I have found that this negative approach to the problem isn't the best one. It's much better to concentrate on HITTING ON THROUGH THE BALL — which is, of course, the opposite of quitting on the shot. So my advice is that you concentrate on the positive approach to this problem, HIT ON THROUGH, letting the left hip keep on turning to the left.

The drawing here shows the position I like to think of myself as being in just after the ball is hit. Study it closely.

For a good follow-through, you need good form throughout. To get that in your iron swings, you must have left arm control, leaving the right arm to apply its power at impact and help direct your follow-through.

Preparations for Pan-Am Going Well in Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — The Pan American Games box office opens June 1, and Chicago is preparing for a rush.

Now that Congress has provided a half-million dollars to bring Latin American athletes to Chicago, the third Pan American Games has leaped its highest hurdle.

Mayor Richard Daley, vacationing in Miami, commented:

"The passage by Congress of a bill authorizing $500,000 for the Pan-American Games will be enthusiastically hailed by Latin American countries as positive evidence of the interest of the people of the United States in further understanding and friendship with our neighbors."

The money will be used for an airlift of athletes to Chicago from participating countries. It also will go toward food and lodging.

"We feel that the development makes it very certain that the games here Aug 27. to Sept. 7 will be the largest international sports assembly in the western hemisphere," said Al Herman, director of games.

"With this help available in the important area of transportation costs, it appears to us that we will have at least 2,000 participants at the Games," he said.

The Games will have 25 categories and possibly 28.

The larger participation expected this year is due to increased interest in sports in South American countries. There are 25 countries eligible but no athlete has yet signed in. The deadline for nations to enter athletes is July 28.

Soldier Field will handle the main events in track and field. A new track surface is being installed by an English firm.

Three other Pan American Games facilities are under construction.

A 250 meter velodrome for bicycle events is being built by the Chicago Park District at Gately Stadium on the city's South Side.

The Park District is building in Portage Park a 50-meter swimming pool and an adjacent diving pool with accomodations for 7,500 spectators.

A rifle and pistol shooting range is being built fronting Lake Michigan at Waukegan, Ill.

Chiefs Bow to Indians' Power

Pontiac Central's state champion Chiefs Monday afternoon felt the powerful impact of the Flint Central track squad for the 2nd time this season. The Indians rolled over the young Chiefs, 72-37 with a display of ability that bodes ill for other Valley foes this spring.

The Flint squad took 10 of 13 first places, including two that set field records. Chiefs also figured in a record-equalling victory when Fred Brooks high-jumped 6-2 to equal a field mark set by himself and Charley Barge last spring.

Indians' Bill Milum hit a 4:40.8 mile to erase a 4:42.5 mark set in 1956 by Perry Williams. Tribe's 880 relay quartet turned in a 1:33.5 win for the other top effort on a fine, slightly chill afternoon on PCH's field. A big audience witnessed the dual event.

Chiefs' mentor, Dean Wilson, was particularly pleased with Andy Terry's high hurdles win at 15.6. Terry never had run the event before, outdoors, and it was also his first try at the full 120-yard distance.

Flint's Ron Watkins was the only double winner, taking the 100 and 220 tests in fast times.

Brooks, Robertson, Carson, Walker and Kimbrell swept the high jump. Charley Brown, Jim Prichett and Jerry Rush also swept the shot-put. Prichett's 2nd to Indians' Foster in the 440 (52.5, field record equalling time) and Ken Byrd's 3rd in the 880 (2:08, best time for a PCH sophomore) were other good performances by Pontiac.

Summary:

120 yard high hurdles—Terry (PCH); Johnson (FC); Drayton (P) .15.6.

100-yard dash—Watkins (FC); Robb (FC) Brooks (PCH) .9.9.

Mile run—Milum (FC); Crenshaw (FC); Joe Anderson (PCH) .4:40.5 (field record).

154 Hopefuls to Learn Platoon Style

MSU Back to Old System

EAST LANSING (AP) — Duffy Daugherty is going back to the system that carried Michigan State to its greatest heights of football glory.

The Spartan coach said at the start of spring workouts yesterday he hopes to field separate offensive and defensive units this fall.

This harks back to the old two-platoon system that gave Michigan State two undefeated seasons and a 28-game win streak between 1950 and 1953.

"We'll play as close to the two platoon system as the present substitution rules will permit," Daugherty said.

There were 154 players in uniform for the start of five weeks of spring drills.

But the total was deceptive. There were only 22 lettermen back from the team that won three, lost five and tied one last year. Two of the top varsity players are with the baseball team.

Daugherty described the freshman crop as one of the smallest in recent years. The remainder were non-letter holdovers and casuals who generally drop out when the going gets rough.

Daugherty, starting his sixth season as head man of the Spartans, told of his hopes and plans in the coaches' dressing room beneath the 76-thousand seat stadium built by big-time, winning football.

Daugherty said he has high hopes for the new double wingback formation with a man in motion that enabled him to beat the West as coach of the East in the Shrine game.

"There's a lot of deception in it," he said, "and the players like it. It's a fun-type thing for them to learn."

Dean Look, the top choice for quarterback next fall, showed up only briefly to pose for photographers before leaving for baseball practice.

Both Look and halfback Al Luplow, also a baseball outfielder, will work out one day a week in sweat clothes with the football team to get the feel of the ball and the new system.

"We're figuring on look as the quarterback," Daugherty said. "He has the ability and is a great competitor. But we'd like to find another one this spring."

Tommy Wilson of Lapeer, one of the holdover signal-callers from last year, was running the team in the first afternoon of maneuvers. Blanche Martin, counted on as the power-running fullback, was back in uniform to cheer the coaches. Martin missed all last season after a knee operation.

The Spartans will work four days a week for five weeks instead of five days for four weeks as in previous seasons. Windup of the drills will be the annual Varsity-Old Timers game on May 16.

UNBEATEN FILLY ARRIVES — C. V. Whitney's speedy filly, Silver Spoon, arrived in Louisville yesterday by plane from California to prepare for the Kentucky Derby. Silver Spoon, one of the Derby favorites, is undefeated in six starts, including the Santa Anita Derby. She is treated to a lump of sugar from trainer Bob Wheeler.

Derby Experts Eye Wood Memorial

NEW YORK (UPI)—They'll run the Wood Memorial at Jamaica on Saturday and its outcome will decide whether they'll have a sweeping calvalry charge in the Kentucky Derby two weeks hence.

Three of the "Big" colts of the year, First Landing, Atoll and Intentionally, will be among those going postward in the Wood. One of them will have to win it impressively.

Otherwise it's going to be "Katie-bar-the door" for a tall space at Churchill Downs.

Already there is evidence that a great many owners of Derby eligibles feel this might be a year when anything could steal the big race. Domination by one overpowering Colt always cuts down the Derby field. When a boss horse develops, the mob of long-shot hopefuls is swiftly reduced.

As example, you can go back to the 20-horse field, largest in recent years, which was attracted to the Derby in 1951. The race was won by Count Lurf, a 15 to 1 shot who would have been 50 to 1 if he hadn't been hooked up in a five-horse field. The favorite was Battle Morn, but only because the wagering gentry were putting their rolls on his rider, Eddie Arcaro. Even Arcaro couldn't carry the colt, so they finished sixth.

There may be another 20 trotting postward come May 2 at the Downs unless one of the big three Saturday does an impressive job. Proof of this are the vanloads of outsiders already being shipped into Louisville to get the feel of the track and wait out the situation.

Colts such as Sputnik and Waltz, which give you an idea of the thinking around horse highway these days.

The Derby favorite at the moment is C. V. Whitney's Silver Spoon, which arrived in Louisville yesterday.

Silver Spoon is a filly, and, it is of note, no filly has won the Kentucky classic since Regret in 1915. Even Whitney seems to be backing off, however, what with this being the time of year when a filly's instincts turn to romance.

Winged-T Will Be 1959 Offense for Wolverines

Elliot and Aides Have Huge Rebuilding Job Ahead

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Chalmers W. (Bump) Elliott is Michigan's "man of the hour."

The youthful football coach has surrounded himself with five energetic young assistants who will install a new offense in an effort to lift the Wolverines' sagging football fortunes.

Spring practice opened yesterday at Ferry Field. Elliott and his staff greeted nearly 125 hopefuls, many of whom will resort to less strenuous activities once they realize the great difference between intramural football and the stuff they play in the Big Ten.

Many of these now-enthusiastic youngsters will require only one lesson. It will come next Wednesday or Thursday when Elliott plans his first scrimmage.

Elliott has a talented staff that does not lack for enthusiasm. The average age of the assistants is 33. Holdovers from the regime of Bennie Oosterbaan are Bob Hollway, the line and defensive coach, and Don Dufek, freshman coach.

The new coaches are Jack Nelson, end coach from Colorado; Jack Fouts, interior-line coach from Bowling Green, and the most familiar of the new aides, Michigan's own Hank Fonde. The ex-Wolverine back and former teammate of Elliott is taking over as backfield coach after compiling a fantastic record at Ann Arbor High School.

The staff faces major problems. Foremost is the installation of the famed Iowa Winged-T formation and the use of a balanced line. The latter is something Michigan fans have not seen in many, many seasons.

Despite recruiting success and despite much vigor and modern ideas, Elliott does not expect miracles. Michigan was 2-6-1 last season and the rebuilding job is a huge one.

"Our aim is improvement," said Elliott. "We know we have a lot of work to do.

"We're not going to be big. We won't be able to pound with the other teams. Our overall team speed should be fair but we don't have real fast backs. We're depending on our new offense to make up for the lack of great power that has marked so many Michigan teams in the past."

Michigan has 23 returning lettermen but will be missing such outstanding performers as ends Gary Prahst and Walter Johnson, fullbacks John Herrnstein, Jim Byers and Gene Sisinyak, and the man who did just about everything for the 1958 team, quarterback Bob Ptacek.

These are the main reasons Michigan is content, for the moment, to talk improvement.

Injuries, the plague of the Michigan football team last year, struck early at the Wolverine camp.

John Walker, a junior from Walled Lake and top candidate for the fullback spot this year, suffered a knee injury during a tackling drill. He was sent to the University Hospital for observation. The extent of his injury was not immediately determined.

Maples Trip 'Jays in Links Opener

Led by Gary Mouw's 40, Birmingham High's golfers yesterday afternoon defeated Southfield 172-192 in the season opener for both squads. Dick Zurla paced the Bluejays with 43, over the Plum Hollow layout.

Team scores:

Birmingham — Mike Jackson 42, Tom Maxwell 43, John Cooper 47.

Southfield — Jim Gibbons 46, Jim McGaffin 49, Gordon Dye 54.

Maples face Pontiac Northern Thursday, at the municipal course here.

The deadline for entries is Friday for the event sanctioned by both ABC and WIBC. Bill Titus is tournament manager.

Eaglets Blank Ritas, Rams Bow in Openers

Pontiac area Suburban Catholic League baseball season got off to a fast start, yesterday, with the two city parochials on the losing side, and Orchard Lake St. Mary winning its opener.

Sharp pitching marked two games, that by Eaglets' Stan Krogulecki the tops. "Kroger" set down 16, retiring the side on strikeouts over the last four frames. His 8 consecutive SOs is a school record. Eaglets blanked St. Rita, 4-0, on one hit. All Eaglet runs were scored in the first inning on two hits, three errors.

St. Frederick was shut out at Centerline, 6-0, but got a fine mound job from Norm Hoffman who fanned 9. Dick Weber was the winner, with 13 strikeouts. Centerline scored three runs in the first frame to nail the win. Rams had only one day's practice prior to the opener.

A 4-run deficit in the first innings proved too much for St. Michael to make up at Ferndale St. James and Shamrocks lost 8-5. However, it really took a two-run homer in the 5th by Larry Yezak to clinch the win. Mikemen had moved to within one run 6-5, at the time.

150 Enter AAU Tourney

U. S. Mat Title at Stake

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP)—Upwards of 150 amateur wrestlers, ranging from high school students to everyday working men, start gathering here tomorrow for the National AAU championships.

Oklahoma State University will be the host and the 20 OSU wrestlers entered under the banner of the Cowboy Athletic Club are one of the three major contenders for the team championship which Tulsa YMCA won last year at San Francisco.

Tulsa again will be strong and the New York Athletic Club is loaded with collegiate stars from the 1959 season which saw Eastern schools fare better than in many years.

But the emphasis will be on the individual, which is traditional in all AAU events.

Tournament officials reported that 140 have entered with more expected. All but three of the defending titlists from last year are in and one of them, Larry Ten Pas, former Illinois University star, may also enter.

The other two were members of a Japanese team coached by Ichiro Hatta of Tokyo.

Hatta has brought a new team of Japanese high school and college champions this year, but left two defending AAU champions home.

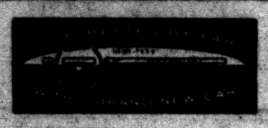

The Japanese team finished its with an exhibition match at nearby Cushing, Okla, bowing 5-3 to a team of Marines bulwarked by two Oklahoma collegians and a high school student.

The Marines are one of three service outfits entered in the meet and should be heard from with such men as Jerry Hoke of up at 136 pounds in last year's AAU meet.

Struggle to Keep Foreign Markets

U.S. Firms Are Being Priced Out

(The overseas migration of American business is growing. There are several ways Americans can meet foreign competition on more even terms. In the following first of three articles on the trend, Sam Dawson, AP business news analyst, tells how one firm is offsetting the general drop in U. S. exports.)

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—"There is more than one way for an American firm to operate abroad—we use four. But there's just one reason we are thinking about further expansion overseas—we aren't going to be pushed out of any of our world markets."

That's how Gifford V. Leece, president of Gardner-Denver, Quincy, Ill., maker of tools and machinery, reacts to all the talk today about whether Americans are being priced out of world markets.

Operating costs have been rising in the United States faster than in other lands. Many American firms have been able in the past to surmount this because of technical advances here that put them out in front of their foreign competitors.

But in the last few years Europe and Japan particularly have been catching up fast both in technique and designs. Americans feel they haven't the advantage they once had—and the rising costs here are beginning to hurt.

American exports have been falling off. Now many American firms are recouping because of increasing sales of their foreign plants.

The start of the common market in Europe has given some American manufacturers still more to worry about. They fear that in time the six nations—West Germany, France, Holland, Belgium, Luxembourg and Italy—will build a tariff wall that gives unbeatable protection to plants operating inside the area. That is causing more Americans to think about producing in their own plants there.

Since Gardner-Denver has plants within the common market area, Leece feels that the new departure may be a help in building up his sales there. And he says the relaxing of controls on currency should help, too.

The four plans that his firm use overseas are:

1. A wholly owned plant in Rio de Janeiro, where factory and tools are its own and its product is made for distribution in Brazil, and maybe later in other countries. It was built to offset local competition that was cutting into the firm's market.

2. A leased plant in South Africa was built to Gardner-Denver specifications and the company installed its own tools. It makes and distributes its own products. It moved in to protect its existing markets in Africa.

3. In Belgium the firm contracted with a local company that already had factories and tools to make the American items to its specifications and deliver them to warehouses. Its own sales force handles them.

4. Gardner-Denver bought a controlling interest in a German company. The Americans furnish the specifications and the techniques and the German firm makes the products. The American sales force takes over from there.

Leece says that in no case does his company allow others to sell its goods.

The Quincy company is constantly studying opportunities for more expansion abroad. "We are keenly alert to growing foreign competition at home and abroad," Leece says. "We intend to hold onto our markets, whether we make the goods here or abroad."

Future Vehicles May Ride on Air

Pentagon Says Troops Someday Will Travel on Jet Cushions

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. troops and equipment may move into battle some day on machines that skim just above the ground on a cushion of air.

Defense Department researchers reported this possibility today to the House Space Committee.

J. B. Macauley, deputy director of defense research and engineering, said the military services are looking into the feasibility of jet powered machines that can rise vertically through a high pressure air system.

Macauley gave the committee only a sketchy picture. He told the committee that engineers know how to build machines that can use the ground cushion principle but no method has been devised so far of steering them.

Another witness, Dr. Andrew A. Kucher, a Ford Motor Co. vice president, said trains operating on a similar principal may be a possibilty.

He said present research programs indicate it may be possible to build trains capable of speed up to 300 miles an hour while traveling a fraction of an inch above a single rail.

Committee members were given a demonstration of a Ford device called a "levapad," a scooter-like affair that rises a fraction of an inch off the ground.

U.S. Inventor Was Once Poor Billionaire

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—William A. Patzer, who invented the new "bill changer" vending machine, once was a billionaire in a land where a billion dollars would not buy a cup of coffee.

The Germany of the 1920's was literally making nothing but money. Each town had its own currency and would accept no "foreign" money from the neighboring village.

Patzer worked in a munitions factory then, and carried his daily wages in string-tied bundles stuffed in every pocket. He would hurry to the nearest bakery to buy a loaf of bread before the hourly price change.

Today he is president of A.B.T. Manufacturing Corp., of Chicago. His firm manufactures coin rejectors for vending machines. Dubbed the "bill changer," the device changes bills into coins.

Until Patzer's invention, coin-operated machines were limited to the sale of items whose cost would not exceed the change in the average pocket or purse.

Patzer said his machine is foolproof. It is set for $1, it will not accept $2, $5, $10 or other denominations, nor will it take foreign or counterfeit money.

But a genuine $1, no matter its condition, will trigger the mechanism to turn out coins in correct change. The bill-changer even has its own built-in burglar alarm, Patzer said.

Changes Tune From Itch to Ouch After Bad Fall

MAYSVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Charles Hutchings will be careful the next time he scratches his back.

The last time he tried it, Hutchings was hospitalized with sprained ligaments in his shoulder, a bruised left elbow and a swollen upper left arm.

He fell back on his arm while scratching.

Trilck Is Battling Return to Michigan

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—Alleged gambler Russell Trilck is fighting extradition to River Rouge, Mich., on charges of conspiracy to bribe three police officers in an alleged numbers racket.

Trilck testified yesterday he could not legally be returned because he had been granted immunity by a Wayne County, Mich., grand jury which questioned him about alleged payoffs of the mayor and police chief of Ecorse, Mich.

Trilck also contended the charges were barred by the statute of limitations, that the legal papers sent here charged a misdemeanor instead of a felony, and that he had not been properly notified of the

Drugs Strong; Market Higher

NEW YORK (AP) — Drugs were strong in a generally higher stock market early today. Trading was fairly active.

Key stocks throughout the list rose from fractions to a point or so. There were scattered losers. Most oils declined fractionally.

Advances by drugs went to as much as 3 points for Warner-Lambert. The pharmaceuticals still rode on a flock of reports about new products.

A three-for-one stock split proposal and plans for a raised dividend found Bristol-Myers with a routine fractional gain. The stock was up 2⅛ yesterday in advance of the news.

Pfizer and Parke, Davis were up about 2 apiece and Merck better than a point. Schering added a fraction. Pfizer sliced its gain to a fraction in later trades.

As earnings reports showed great improvement over the first quarter a year ago, a number of stocks responded.

International Business Machines added about a dozen points to its high price. DuPont resumed yesterday's strength with a gain of more than a point.

New Material for Tires Hailed

Synthetic Fiber Seen Lowering Price While Giving More Mileage

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP) — Something radically new in motor car tires was predicted yesterday by Clowes M. Christie, president of the Dayton Rubber Co.

He said tires of the future would be molded from synthetic material without cords, plies or expensive fabrication; that they would give greatly increased mileage at considerably less cost, and they will hold air indefinitely because of the non-porus material used in the construction.

Christie made his predictions in a speech prepared for a meeting of the Springfield Chamber of Commerce. This city is the site of a new plant nearing completion by the Dayton firm.

The material that will bring about the change, Christie said, is urethane.

Use of solid urethane as a long wearing tread material already is under development.

"There will come a time when tire price will no longer be a factor in the motorist's budget," he said.

And there will be another advantage.

"The material could be supplied in any color, custom blended to match the car's finish," he said. "Since the color will be throughout the tire, there will be no fading or wearing off."

Commissioners Slate Hearings

Blacktopping, Curbing, Other Proposals to Be Considered Tonight

Thirteen public hearings will occupy city commissioners' time tonight.

To be aired first is the city's intention to blacktop four streets, including Pensacola avenue, Oakland to Monticello; Roselawn drive, Fiddis to Maines; Stanley avenue, Kinney to Kennett; and Wyoming avenue, Bagley to Franklin road.

There will be hearings on seven assessment rolls. Four cover blacktopping, including Adelaide street, between Oakland and Baldwin; Euclid avenue, between High and Jefferson; Harriett street, Cadillac to Adelaide; and LoGrande avenue, Baldwin to Euclid.

Three cover curbs and gutters, including Carlisle street, Walton to Chicago; Carr street, Mt. Clemens to Pontiac Knolls subdivision; and Colgate avenue, Baldwin to Carlisle.

The 12th hearing will be on vacating the alley south of Orchard Lake road at Telegraph road. Action to change the zoning ordinance is not expected until easements are obtained.

Finally, commissioners will air the proposal to vacate the alley west of Highwood avenue between Walton and the Grand Trunk Railroad.

If there are no objections, it is expected that more than 60 lots in the Glenwood Estates subdivision there will be rezoned from manufacturing to residential to make way for some new homes planned along Walton boulevard.

To be rezoned in connection with this is the Malkim School property and Jaycee Park, which are also manufacturing at present.

Mail Supt. Ebey Cited for Plan to Reduce Thefts

Cornelius A. Ebey, superintendent of mails at the Pontiac Post Office, was awarded a letter of commendation today for his suggestion in the nationwide incentive awards program for postal employes.

Ebey's winning suggestion, which will now be put into effect in post offices across the United States, was to warn patrons receiving service on rural and mounted routes against leaving mail in their boxes overnight with the flag raised.

This flag, left up throughout the night, becomes an incentive to thieves who want to rob the mails.

Robert C. Miller, acting postmaster, presented the award to Ebey on behalf of the United States Post Office Department regional operations director in Chicago.

Mayor Accepts Tax Position

One of Three Appointed to Allocations Board for Oakland County

Pontiac Mayor Philip E. Rowston has accepted an appointment to the Oakland County Tax Allocation Board for the fourth consecutive year.

The appointment was announced yesterday by Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore, who is required by state law to make three annual appointments to the board each spring.

Rowston is on the board as a representative of a large city; Gardner, supervisor of Commerce Township for many years, is serving as a citizen-at-large; and Oliver, treasurer of the Southfield School Board, was named by virtue of his position on a local school board.

Permanent members of the Tax Allocation Board by virtue of their positions with the county are William J. Emerson, Oakland County superintendent of schools; Charles A. Sparks, Oakland County treasurer; and Robert Y. Moore, chairman of the Oakland County Board of Auditors.

Pontiac Car Sales Soar

Today, less than six months after full scale assembly began last fall, 1959 Pontiac Motor production reached 217,303 units, the same number of cars produced during the entire 1958 model year.

At the present time, sales of the 1959 models are exceeding last year's sales by more than 50 per cent, said S. E. Knudsen, G.M. vice president and general manager of Pontiac Motor Division.

Pontiac's rapidly expanding sales picture has placed it in the top position in the medium price field, Knudsen said.

In reaching this milestone Knudsen praised employes for the exceptional teamwork that has been evidenced throughout Pontiac production facilities and Pontiac dealers' enthusiastic sales efforts.

Would Sell $9 Million in Astor Holdings

POUGHKEEPSIE, N.Y. (AP)—Administrators of the estate of Vincent Astor asked permission Monday to sell more than nine million dollars worth of securities of major corporations.

They also want to sell Astor's amphibian plane, worth about $90,000.

The entire estate, left to his widow and a charitable foundation, is estimated between 100 and 200 million dollars.

The administrators reported earlier the estate is increasing at the rate of about $200,000 a month.

Dutchess County Surrogate Vincent Grady will hold a public hearing Monday on the application to sell $9,203,100 worth of securities.

Astor died in New York City Feb. 3. The Surrogate Court here has charge of the administration of the estate.

Briggs Co., Lists Profit of $36,055 for Quarter

DETROIT (AP) — Briggs Manufacturing Co. made a profit of $36,055 in the first quarter of this year compared with a loss of $91,759 in the first three months of 1958, A. D. Blackwood, president, said today.

Blackwood reported an improved sales trend for plumbing fixtures noted in the latter part of 1958 continued during the first quarter of this year. He said, "Indications are that we will be able to continue our first quarter gains."

The United States Office of Education expects school and college enrollment during the 1958-59 school year to total 44,945,000, or about 1,750,000 more than last year.

But Will Insist on Wage Increases

Union Proposes Freeze on Steel Prices

NEW YORK (AP)—The United Steelworkers of American have proposed to the steel industry that it freeze its prices for the term of the next contract with the union to help "economic stability."

Even if the industry agreed to do so, the union says it would insist on higher wages and other benefits for its half-million members.

Industry spokesmen had no immediate formal reply to the union's proposal, made Monday night in a letter to 12 big steel-producing companies.

Prompt rejection of the union's suggestion was expected. The union last week turned down an industry proposal that wages and other contract benefits be frozen for a one-year contract period.

U.S. Steel, the industry's leading producer, declined comment. A U.S. Steel spokesman said the company was waiting to see the text of the union proposal.

The industry's call for a one-year wage freeze and the union's proposal for a price freeze are part of the sparring prior to negotiations on a new contract to replace the one that expires June 30.

The union's price freeze proposal was drawn up by the executive board after it affirmed President David J. McDonald's rejection of the industry's proposal that present contract benefits terms be continued for another year.

The union executive board also suggested that negotiations for a new contract begin May 4, instead of May 18 as now scheduled. The union's 170-member wage policy committe is scheduled this month to draft contract demands.

The letter to the 12 companies, endorsed by the union executive board and signed by McDonald, said in part:

"Since there can be no inflation without price increases, the first principle which we propose is that there be no increase in the price of steel during the term of any agreement which we may reach.

"By adopting this approach we can make a substantial contribution to economic stability and economic progress."

The letter said that wage increases without price increases are justified by the industry's profits and the rising productivity of its workers.

Doesn't Know Actress Cabot

King Hussein Flies to West Point and Fluffs Off Romance Talk

DETROIT (AP)—Jordan's King Hussein prepared to fly to West Point, N.Y. today after 36 hours in Detroit during which he fluffed off a rumor of romance. The 23-year-old monarch, a divorced man, described as "very odd inded" a report that he might be interested in movie actress Susan Cabot.

They met when he visited Hollywood last week. Miss Cabot was quoted as calling him the "most charming man I ever met." But Hussein did not recall meeting her.

"I don't know the lady," he said. "I met many people in Hollywood and she might have been among them, but I don't remember her."

On a tour of auto plants the dark-haired king, hatless and wearing a blue suit and maroon tie, was a target of winks from women assembly line workers. He smiled back.

At Mayor Louis Miriani's office he was given the keys to the city and he and Miriani exchanged banter.

Hussein discussed international affairs at a city hall press conference.

He repeated a previous statement that "Arab nationalism and communism can never live together."

Israel he described as "the responsibility of all the world." Asked about Iraqui Premier Kassem and President Nasser of Egypt he replied: "I don't think very highly of either of them."

Leningrad Port Opens Early as Weather Good

LONDON (AP) — The port of Leningrad has opened to navigation a month earlier than usual because of warm weather.

Moscow radio said one of the first ships to enter the harbor, the 3,385-ton Soviet vessel Leonid Leanidov returning from Ceylon, was led in by an icebreaker.

Time Grows Short for Sec. Dulles

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press News Analyst for James Marlow

John Foster Dulles once remarked: "Time is the most valuable thing in life, and I don't want to waste it."

Time works against him now. While he battles cancer in the hospital, the hour is swiftly approaching when the policies on which he based America's prosecution of the cold war will face momentous trials.

In less than a month, the foreign ministers of the United States, Britain, France and the Soviet Union are scheduled to meet to prepare the way for a summit meeting of government heads. It is possible the United States will be represented in Geneva by a new secretary of state.

But the influence of John Foster Dulles will be present in any case. The past six years demonstrated the tremendous impact a single personality can have upon a nation's policy and the course of history.

Basically, perhaps, American policy in a time of cold war would have been pretty much the same under any secretary of state. But it makes a great deal of difference how those policies are interpreted and carried out.

NO COMPROMISE

Dulles' solemn, almost evangelistic approach and his stubborn defense of moral principles have left little room for compromise on any fundamental issue of what he considered right or wrong.

Perhaps U.S. policy might have done better if its architect had been more deliberately cynical in dealing with a cynical enemy. Dulles seems to have denied himself that weapon out of conviction that a civilized Western nation's diplomacy should rely on the moral force of Christian principles. Possibly this was a little naive in today's world. But in the matter of assessing his antagonists, Dulles has displayed little naivete.

"We are devoting billions in money and our highest talents to preparation for a fighting war, a war that may never come," Dulles wrote long before he became secretary. "The strength of our society is being underminded by the cold war that is here and which could finally defeat us."

Dulles has never lost sight of that possibility. Apparently he still believes the Kremlin is intent upon world domination through Communist expansion. The cornerstone of his policy has been a determination to convince the Kremlin it can never succeed.

The post of secretary of state always has been an easy and popular target for criticism, and Dulles has aroused many storms. Educated opinion both at home and abroad attributes U.S. policy not to President Eisenhower — as it had to presidents before him—but directly to Dulles. He bore the full brunt of criticism when he solemnly issued such verbal thunderbolts as "agonizing reappraisal" and "massive retaliation."

Only time will tell whether he will be vindicated. But time will not wait for him. Important cold war contests are ahead. Will the United States be represented by a man equal in rank to the other foreign ministers?

Dulles and President Eisenhower face another agonizing reappraisal. Dulles' influence surely will be felt at Geneva, but perhaps he and the President will decide the time has come to give the reins of U.S. policy into other hands.

Pair of Thieves Walk Into Trap

Son Notices Robbery of Parents' Home, Gets Detroit Police

DETROIT (AP) — Two armed men robbed Rome Leone, 69, bar and bowling alley owner, and his wife, Bridgett, also 69, of $1,659 at the couple's home last night.

The big, rough-talking pair bound and gagged Leone and theatened Mrs. Leone.

At that moment the Leones' son, Raymond, 23, entered the back door from his home across the alley.

In the mirror on the kitchen door he saw one of the men rifling a drawer. He also heard his mother sobbing.

Raymond dashed out, called police and returned with his shotgun from his own home. Officers surrounded the house. Two walked in the door with guns drawn.

Both robbers surrendered meekly. They identified themselves as Steve Milanovich, 40, of Gary, Ind., and William Harmon, 26. Harmon refused to give his address. Both were jailed.

The police returned the $1,659 to Leone.

Dahlings, Says Tallulah, Y'all Must Help Us

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tallulah Bankhead returned to Congress and asked the precious dahlings there to help her fellow actors.

"I don't know why y'all make me so nervous," she told the House Ways and Means Committee Monday. "I've been sitting on everybody's knee up here since I was two."

Tallulah, wearing her mink just off her shoulder and not appearing a bit nervous, reminded the congressmen her uncle, granddaddy and daddy all had served in Congress. Her daddy, the late William B. Bankhead, had been speaker of the House.

Testifying for Actors Equity Assn., she asked that unemployment compensation be given to actors out of work, as so many of them often are.

Perhaps, she admitted, they ought not be actors, but she added: "Maybe you shouldn't be elected to Congress, who knows?"

Tallulah made certain the congressmen knew she wasn't asking jobless payments for herself.

"It's all new to me," she said, "I didn't know such a thing existed."

Nevertheless, the actress, who had flown to Washington from New York, was convinced Congress should approve legislation for jobless actors.

"I had to get up at 5 a.m. this morning," she explained, "so for that reason alone I think this bill should be passed."

No Refueling's Needed in This Jet Talkathon

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — The Hollywood Jet Set began arriving at the L. A. International Airport about 2 a.m. N.Y. time (11 p.m. there) — Lucille Ball's red hair and Peggy Cass' cackle attracting attention at the check-in counter.

There was a holidayish flavor; it was a Show Biz or Glamour or Television flight.

WILSON

Mrs. Burl Ives was bringing back to West End Avenue the Oscar her Big Daddy had won (and plans for him to do a Texaco TV show June 3). Peggy Cass was returning to "Keep Talking" (and she kept talking all night) — and to Jack Paar.

These were cross-country commuters — so blase they wouldn't look out a plane window at the Grand Canyon because they've already seen it. But this was a jet that cuts a continent down to 4½ hours.

Suddenly we felt ourselves being lifted — we were off just before 3 a.m.

I made notes: About lunching with Groucho Marx who discussed his book, "Groucho and Me." About Ingrid Bergman, nice as always, saying she'd see us in N.Y. About looking at Martha Hyers' paintings (a Renoir, a Gauguin and Utrillo) at her home in the Hollywood Hills.

PEGGY

"I wanted to paint or act as a little girl in Texas and decided to act because they don't applaud painters till they're dead," she said.

Back of me the B. W. was outtalking Peggy Cass: telling the young mother of a year-old son all she knew about child-rearing. I fell asleep . . .

When we came down at Idlewild into a beautiful N.Y. morning, at well before 7 a.m., I heard a familiar voice: my wife's. She had talked the night into day.

MORAL: Planes and autos run out of gas, women don't.

EARL'S PEARLS: The biggest problem facing most wives is the one sitting across the table from 'em every morning. — Ken Kraft.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Husband-hunting's the only sport in which the creature that's caught pays for the license.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Henny Youngman heard of the fellow who was elected to Congress but had to turn it down—none of his relatives wanted to work in Washington . . . That's earl, brother.

3 Westerners, Private Eyes Compete in Best Actor Category

Spinster Saves Pair From Chair

Youths Who Assaulted Her Get Life as She Pleads for Them

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Two handsome youths were saved from the electric chair Monday by the plea of a tiny, gray-haired spinster they abused and raped.

Instead Michael F. Miller and Thomas Nevin Eckenrod, both 18, were sentenced to life in prison.

Their victim sat outside the courtroom, nervously fingering a golden cross, as the pair heard the verdict. She peered through a glass door as the neatly dressed youths rose to be sentenced.

Asst. Dist. Atty., Frank Briscoe said the state would have demanded death for the pair if their victim hadn't asked that their lives be spared.

Briscoe read her statement and Miller's confession.

This told how Eckenrod seized the spinster in front of a hotel as she walked to work last Dec. 26. She was dragged into a car driven by Miller.

The pair beat her almost unconscious, drove to a lonely lane, ripped off her clothing and repeatedly beat and assaulted her.

"We would ask death—they deserve death," Briscoe before reading a letter from the spinster which said:

"I do not believe in capital punishment—I am opposed to the assessing of the death penalty in this case."

The state agreed not to ask death if the boys pleaded guilty and accepted life sentences.

"How do you plead?" Dist. Judge Edmund Duggan asked.

"Guilty," said Miller, who worked for an electric firm.

"Guilty," said Eckenrod, who was a Texas A&M student.

The tiny victim bowed her head and wept outside the courtroom.

Reds Said Foolish About Berlin Policy

BOSTON, Mass. (AP)—Henry M. Wriston, former president of Brown University, says the Soviets are "diplomatically stupid beyond belief."

"Just as NATO was getting weaker, they pull a Berlin crisis and reunited the Western nations," he told a news conference Monday night before the annual dinner of the Brown Club of Boston.

Wriston, a State Department adviser, called Secretary of State John Foster Dulles the department's best negotiator since Charles Evans Hughes, and its best administrator.

"The way our State Department is running now in his absence has made observers realize just how strong are the subordinates Dulles has chosen."

Osteopathic Assistants to Hear About Birth

Dr. Charles K. Norton will address the Oakland County Osteopathic Medical Assistants Assn. at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at the Rochester Public Library.

Dr. Norton's subject is entitled "The Miracle of Birth."

First Exams Set for Heating Licenses

Examination for licenses under the city's new heating trades ordinance will begin at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Examination will be given by a newly-organized board, comprised of Maurice J. Croteau, chairman; Peter Hickey, city plumbing inspector; Bryant French, contractor; D. B. Eames, contractor; and Charles Dill, contractor.

The ordinance is similar to ones governing plumbing and electrical trades. It contains reciprocal arrangements that tie Pontiac in with other southeastern Michigan communities for control of heating installations, both residential and commercial.
