Nixon Clan Equals Close-Knit Kennedys

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON—The close-knit tribal qualities of the illustrious Kennedys are by now familiar to all who can read.

Less well known, but equally remarkable is the clanish affinity of the Nixon family.

The two men who will doubtless battle it out for the presidency this fall share an amazing number of things-in-common, despite the vast disparity of their backgrounds.

The Kennedy political dynasty could pack a good-sized hall, anytime the relatives and in-laws decided to get together for a frolic.

Last Christmas, although the vice president and his immediate family remained in Washington, the rest of the Nixon clan gathered in California 200 strong to celebrate the yuletide season.

Both presidential candidates are in their 40s. John F. Kennedy is 43, and Richard M. Nixon 46. Each has two brothers who are loyal devoted to them, without tinge of jealousy.

Their mothers are septuagenarian ladies of sharp, keen intellect. Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy is a devout Roman Catholic who has lost two children. Mrs. Frank Nixon is a deeply pious Quaker who has also lost two children.

Jack Kennedy frankly admits that the direction of his life was changed by the death of his older brother, Joseph Jr., during World War II. Stated for the newspaper business, Jack stepped into Joe's shoes as the Kennedy slated for a political career.

SERIOUS TEEN-AGER

Dick Nixon, who had often sneaked away with his older brother in a forbidden ditch near Yorkville, became a serious, super-charged teen-ager after Harold died of tuberculosis.

Fighting in at his father's country store, he began doing the work of two, to compensate for the family loss. That early determination to make every minute count undoubtedly aided him in his rapid rise to the second highest office in the land.

Kennedy shared his family's anguish when his sister, Kathleen, died in a plane crash in the 1940s. Nixon suffered heartbreak when a younger brother, Arthur, died of sleeping sickness (tubercular encephalitis) in 1955.

His mother still treasures a touching memorial which Dick at the age of 17, composed to the memory of his seven-year-old brother.

Rose Kennedy schooled her nine youngsters in the ritual of the Roman Catholic church from babyhood. She attends mass daily, and two or three times on Sunday.

Hannah Nixon uses "thee and thou" in addressing her sisters and fellow Quakers. She has no modesty—and devotedly lived her religion that her pastor describes her as "a Quaker saint."

Both Kennedys and Nixons have been called "cool cats" by political analysts. Each is an accomplished leader, who speaks convincingly and thinks fast on his feet.

They arrived at the House as freshmen legislators the same year. Nixon moved first to the Senate, and by the time Kennedy won election to the upper chamber in 1962, Nixon had been chosen vice president of the United States.

From that time on, Jack has had to call Dick "Mr. President" each time that he wished to address him in the presiding officer's chair.

Jack's two younger brothers are non-practicing lawyers who have temporarily postponed their careers to help put him in the White House.

Dick's two younger brothers, Don and Eddie, are milk sales representative and a Navy lieutenant respectively. Unlike the Kennedy relatives, they have carefully avoided the limelight which they could so easily claim.

Both Kennedys and Nixons are serious young men in a hurry. May the best man win.

All Right, You Guys, Give Back the Bridge

LIMESTONE, Maine (AP)—Police on both sides of U.S.-Canadian border are looking for a stolen bridge. Town Mgr. Bernard Cameron asked for help when he discovered that someone had driven off with a small bridge which spanned Limestone Stream only 250 feet from the Maine-New Brunswick border. The bridge, used mostly by a couple of farmers in the area, consisted of a dozen railroad rails and some planks.

Won't Allow 'Courtin' in Slacks or Shorts

PORTLAND, Maine (AP)—Girls, you can be found neither guilty nor innocent if you appear in Portland Municipal Court in slacks or shorts. In fact the judge won't even let you in. Judge Walter F. Merrill said Tuesday he has barred informally dressed women from his court room because too many have been appearing before him in casual clothing.

Asks Train, Track Cash for 1964-65 World's Fair

NEW YORK (AP)—The municipal Transit Authority asked city officials Tuesday for 12.8 million dollars to get trains and tracks ready for the 1964-65 World's Fair. The item was included in a transit budget of $135,473,000 for the next fiscal year.

Three-County Area Will Be Pivotal in Fight for Lieutenant Governorship

By United Press International
The three-county industrial complex around Detroit becomes the focus of attention in the two weeks before the Aug. 2 primary as six candidates battle to win the party's party nomination for lieutenant governor.

Virtually all the candidates—four Democrats and two Republicans—will concentrate their voting efforts in the state's most populous area of Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties.

Of the four Democrats in the race, Grand Rapids attorney Richard E. Vander Veer comes into the closest stretch with the biggest organizational advantage—the backing of the powerful state AFL-CIO.

But the other three candidates refuse to accept Vander Veer's lead as final. Labor leader George H. Dougherty, Flint, thinks that the AFL-CIO support of Vander Veer will work to his own advantage.

"I'm glad I'm not endorsed by (state AFL-CIO president) Gus Scholle," Dougherty told United Press International. "I'm interested in all the people of Michigan." Dougherty, president of United Auto Workers Local 600, said UAW President Walter Reuther and Scholle put political advantage ahead of the interests of labor.

Dougherty is counting on support from members of Flint locals, locals in the Detroit area where he once worked, and from residents of northern Michigan where he was born and raised.

The two other candidates are challenging Vander Veer on the constitutional question. Assistant Wayne County Prosecutor William J. Coughlin is the only candidate in the race supporting the proposal for a referendum on reform of the state constitution.

Coughlin is counting on support from con-con supporters and from backers of Secretary of State James M. Hare, the only one of three Democratic candidates for governor who favors con-con.

However, neither Coughlin nor any of the other three candidates for second spot on the state ballot is linking his campaign with that of any of the gubernatorial candidates.

Both Coughlin and Detroit attorney J. John Lesinski accuse Vander Veer of doing a "flip-flop" on the con-con question. They said he changed his position on the issue three times in order to keep the support of the AFL-CIO, which opposes the measure.

Lesinski is steadfast in his opposition to con-con. He is conducting a limited campaign with limited expenses and is counting on personal backing to see him to victory. Lesinski is a first cousin of Congressman John Lesinski and thinks this did not contain enough votes for him.

In the GOP race for lieutenant governor there are no major differences between the two candidates.

Former Lt. Gov. Clarence A. Reid, Detroit, is campaigning on the basis of "experience," while State Sen. Edward Hutchinson, Farmington, claims that he is "closer to the state picture" than Reid, who left the state House in 1954.

Hutchinson seeks to "upgrade" the office of lieutenant governor and give it "more functions, more responsibilities—part of the same arrangement that Richard Nixon has had as vice president."

Reid said. "It's going to be a tough race," Reid said.

PET DOCTOR

By A. W. Miller, D.V.M.

Q. Our dog has had a series of cysts between his toes. What can we do to prevent this?

A. Actually, these are abscesses. Some dogs seem more susceptible than others to this common trouble, and we are still somewhat in the dark as to the cause.

Some cases are obviously caused by grass seed and other foreign material that enters the skin between the toes. When the abscess forms, the paw is painful and the entire leg is affected.

Give your pet temporary pain relief by bathing the paw in warm epsom-salt water (one tablespoon to one pint water). When the abscess is ripe, your veterinarian can decide whether it is best to lance, remove or cauterize to prevent recurrence.

Examine your pet's paws for seed, gravel, etc., after his daily run or walk. We've tried many substances to prevent these abscesses, but when the cause is not one of the external ones mentioned, vitamin A injections seem to give the best results.

Now Drowsy Motorists Can Chew Away Fatigue

NEW YORK (U)—Weary motorists need not stop for a cup of coffee to overcome drowsiness. It's asserted, if they have a supply of these coffee-flavored chicle chewing gum tablets made of a pure coffee base and fortified with vitamin A.

Called "Drive-Safers," they come in an easily accessible dispenser that hangs from a knob on the dashboard. The driver can twist off a couple and pop them in his mouth without taking his eyes off the road. Offered by Kean Ensigning Health products, New York, N.Y.

Waterford Tax Will Be Decided

Board of Education to Determine School Levy Thursday Night

The Waterford Township Board of Education again will review and determine the school district tax rates for 1960-61 at the regular meeting at 7:30 p.m. Thursday.

At a special meeting July 7, Supl. William A. Shuck presented three basic plans for the Board's consideration in establishing next year's tax rate.

One would reduce the millage .35, another would keep the same rate as last year, and a third would raise the school tax from the present $4.46 to $5.30.

The third plan would enable the Board to pay off former school bond issues approved by registered voters of the Waterford School District, Shuck said.

In other business, the Board will receive bids for blacktopping a parking area at the new Waterford-Kettering senior high school and an adjacent future site for a future school. Contracts for next year's coal supply also will be awarded.

Shuck will present a report on a new well being drilled at the Waterford Village School. The school is being remodeled. The Fred Pew Drilling Co. of Farmington is contractor for the well.

The Board will consider and probably approve the Waterford Township Recreation Department budget. Supported by the township board and the recreation board, the $31,500 budget had been referred to director Tom Beilon for revision.

Consideration will be given to the new Carl Sandburg Elementary School attendance area, and student accident insurance for 1960-61 will be discussed.

Supporter Sees Move to Rocky in Colorado

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—Ray Bengert, Denver attorney who is leader in Colorado of a move to draft Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller for the Republican presidential nomination, said Monday more than 60,000 state voters have signed petitions. "People are simply rising up against a closed Republican National Convention to nominate Vice President Richard Nixon," Bengert said. The Convention opens next Monday in Chicago. Colorado's 18-vote delegation is pledged to Nixon.

Grizzly Bear Mauls Boy, 10, 2 Men Injured

CARDISTON, Alta. (AP)—Three persons clawed by a 500-pound female grizzly bear they thought was protecting her cubs were in a serious condition today in a Cardiston hospital.

The most severely hurt was Smith Parrot, 10, son of a park ranger. Lloyd Parrot, of Cardiston, Alta. The boy suffered a lung puncture, right arm and rib fractures, multiple chest cuts and severe facial damage including possible impairment of both eyes.

Less seriously injured were park ranger Alan G. Nelson, 27, of Banff, N.D., who suffered cuts on the back and both legs; and Brita Norling, 38, of Alvaro, Sweden, who suffered cuts on the right leg and hip.

The attack occurred Monday in a remote wilderness section of Glacier National Park in the Canadian border.

The three injured persons were in a hiding group along with Ed Mazzer of Phoenix, Ariz., a seasonal ranger, and Gote Nylen, 42, of Avesa, Sweden.

Actress Has New Mate 4 Months After Divorce

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Actress Vera Miles, who shed her first husband four months ago, now has a second.

Miss Miles, 34, announced Tuesday that she was wed last Saturday to actor Keith Larsen, 34, at the Last Frontier Chapel in Las Vegas, Nev. Larsen is starring in his own TV series, "Equinox."

Miss Miles is under contract to Alfred Hitchcock and is starring in his "Psycho."

The actress and her first husband, actor Gordon Scott, were divorced last March in Juarez, Mexico. They have a daughter, Michael.

Set Integration Appeal in East

Federal Court Order Opposed by Delaware Attorney General

DOVER, Del. (AP)—Delaware's attorney general indicates he plans to appeal a federal court decision ordering total public school integration by the fall of 1961.

"Since the State Board of Education, whom I represent, directed the two previous attorneys general to carry this matter to the U. S. Supreme Court, I do not anticipate that the board will give me different instructions," said Atty. Gen. Januar Bove.

His statement Tuesday night some 10 hours after the 3rd U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Philadelphia had told Delaware its grade-year public school integration was too slow.

The plan, which had been approved by a U. S. Dist. Court judge, began last year and would have resulted in total school integration by 1972.

In a 2-1 decision on an appeal by an attorney for 30 Negro youths, the Court of Appeals said Delaware's present plan does not meet the "deliberate speed" requirements of a Supreme Court decision.

Delaware can appeal within 15 days for a rehearing before the full seven-member Circuit Court that includes a Negro judge, William H. Hastie, or it can appeal within 90 days to the Supreme Court.

Bove said he had not received the opinion. He added that if reports of it "are accurate, then the opinion differs from an opinion of the U. S. 6th Circuit Court of Appeals in the Nashville, Tenn. case."

Workers Donate $12,000 Toward Addition to Plant

TRAVERSE CITY (AP) — Workers have tapped bank savings, credit union deposits and cookie jars to provide some $12,000 toward construction of an addition to the Traverse City Plastic Co. where they are employed.

Harold R. Hawley, manager of the Burwood Products Co. credit union, said today that 80 employees have agreed to buy debentures underwriting a substantial portion of the planned $36,000 building annex.

The company, which makes molded fiber plastics, moved here about 30 years ago after its original plant in Eastern Michigan was gutted by fire and Traverse City businessmen loaned the company $66,000 to build a new factory.

Major Work Starting on Charlevoix A-Plant

CHARLEVOIX (AP) — Major construction work began today on the $7,700,000 Big Rock Point atomic power plant.

Atomic Energy Commission member Lauren K. Olson was present for a ceremony which marked the end of preliminary work on the Consumers Power Co. plant.

James H. Campbell, Consumers president, said the plant was scheduled to begin producing power in September 1962. He said it would have a total power production of 1,250,000 kilowatts a year during its first 4 years when it will be used for research and development.

There are 680 railroads in the United States with 42,500 locomotives, 41,000 passenger coaches, 2,100,000 freight cars and 226,000 miles of trackage.

ALOHA! — Peter Fithian, in hat, makes a business of greeting visitors to Hawaii. Here with an assistant, left, he welcomes an incoming tourist.

Tough Job

Official Hawaii Greeter Spends Day Kissin' Gals

HONOLULU (AP) — Peter S. Fithian sometimes kisses 50 girls a day... and always gets paid for it. But for Fithian, a tanned, handsome bachelor, it's strictly business.

Fithian, 31, is the founder of the Greeters of Hawaii. He has turned the Hawaiian tradition of welcoming visitors with a flower lei and a kiss into a lucrative business.

He has stood in for all kinds of people and for all kinds of reasons, Fithian says. "The whole idea of our business is that the common man be met and welcomed."

If the friend of a busy housewife or a prospective customer of a business executive is arriving and can't be met personally, Fithian is called.

With his headquarters at the Honolulu International Airport, Fithian and his staff of Hawaiian girls will meet passengers with armloads of leis. They also will claim baggage, clear customs, summon a porter or taxi and help with hotel reservations.

And, Fithian has a price to suit everyone.

His "executive price list" includes prices for greetings of casual friends and prospective customers. The costs range from $2 to $6.

Fithian is on hand for all ship arrivals. His regular customers include all the major Walkiki hotels, air lines, travel agencies and even the Hawaii Visitor's Bureau.

He guarantees a delay of not more than five minutes in taking an order and carrying it out.

"We greet anything that moves," Fithian says. "We are there to give the new arrivals any help possible with everything."

By the time the visitor has arrived, reached his hotel and rested, the busy executive who hired Fithian can then schedule a lunch or dinner and see his client under relaxed conditions.

"And he has saved half a day," Fithian adds.

Formerly the manager of a hotel on the island of Hawaii, Fithian started his business in 1957. He came to Hawaii in 1954 from Needham, Mass., his hometown. It was slow progress at first in the business without precedent. While the idea sounds simple, greeting service is complicated and nearly always hectic in this tourist center.

Fithian constantly carries a small radio that signals him when he's wanted on the phone. "People expect to be met this way in Hawaii, and they're disappointed when it doesn't happen. They fail to realize that someone must 'pay the piper' for the leis they receive," Fithian says.

Bandits Take $117 Watch, $11 From Man

Two teen-age bandits last night took $117 and a $117 watch from a 37-year-old Pontiac man. Then, one of the robbers snarled at the victim: "Is that all you have?" We should kill you or knock you out."

Instead, the pair fled, said Cecil Newland, 257 Fisher St., in reporting the robbery to Pontiac police.

Newland said the robbery occurred at 10:35 p.m. at Franklin road and Harrison street. One of the bandits grabbed him about the neck, while the other took the watch and cash, he said.

Shortly after the robbery, Newland hailed a police car. He cruised the area with officers but they were unable to find any trace of the two bandits.

Fifth National Jubilee Attracts 55,000 Boys

HORACE GREELEY's advice, "Go west, young man, go west!" will be observed on a mass scale when 55,000 youngsters converge on a four square mile site near Colorado Springs, Colorado for the fifth national jamboree of the Boy Scouts of America.

Our own contingent from Pontiac left Monday morning and expects to arrive in plenty of time for the opening ceremony. From the Clinton Valley Council we have 100 boys and eight adult leaders, making the trip.

On hand to greet the Pontiac group on arrival will be Pontiac's No. 1 scout, JOE HAAS, who is attending the Jubilee before going on to Chicago for the Republican Convention.

For many scouts the jamboree will provide a first look at the "wild west" — or what is left of it. The American National Cattlemen's Association is setting up an old time "spread" with cattle and horses to show the boys what ranching was really like.

The logistical problems are as awesome as a hungry boy's appetite. Consider, for example, the 600,000 quarts of milk, the 350,000 cases of dry groceries, the 500,000 eggs, and the 5000 tents for administrative functions (not counting the 25,000 two-boy tents in which the scouts will "rough it.")

Nearly 1½ billion dollars is being spent to build and equip the big tent city on a leased portion of the Reverse-J Diamond Ranch. This year marks the 50th anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America, a movement which now boasts more than 5 million active boys and men, and 28½ million scout alumni.

The Pontiac Press and our whole area are proud of these fine young men participating in this outstanding program.

Arkansas May Want Different Governor

Outspoken ORVAL E. FAUBUS may be in trouble in his campaign to win nomination to a fourth two year term as Arkansas governor.

Reports have it that he will poll more votes than any one of the four candidates in the state's Democratic primary, July 26, but the trouble may lie in that he won't receive the necessary absolute majority.

Should this happen, it may be taps for Faubus. Because in that event, a run-off between the top two vote getters would be held. Insiders seem to reason that if this happens it would indicate his vote getting power was on the wane and he would lose the run-off.

FAUBUS' principal opponent is JOE E. HARDIN, a 61-year-old farmer and businessman who kicked up quite a row with Faubus in 1950. He was responsible for the recall school election which ousted three FAUBUS backed members of the Little Rock school board.

This in itself was quite a blow to Faubus when he was taking on the Federal Government, and any and all comers. Violence and disorder in 1957 put Little Rock and Faubus in the limelight. He won a third nomination going away with a record vote.

Things are somewhat different now and the state is eager to get back to normal, and the issues this year are of the bread and butter variety.

Arkansas is not moving ahead in population and is one of three states (West Virginia and Mississippi were the others) to lose citizens — 7.2% between 1950 and 1960. Industrialization is off, particularly in the capital city.

Perhaps it would be sound for the good citizens of Arkansas if a change does come about. At least this very controversial figure would be sent back to pasture.

Two Youths Sentenced to Profitable Painting

An excuse "we didn't have anything better to do" is the reason two area boys gave for smearing paint on a Bloomfield Hills bridge.

Since by their own admission they were lacking in something to do the Bloomfield Hills Police Captain has come to their rescue and sentenced them to a painting job.

This time, however, the youths will change from making a mess and paint the bridge in the accustomed manner. Three cheers for the Police Captain for putting the youngsters to work.

A little hard work is good for some of today's youth that is showing so much pent up energy.

The Man About Town

Started in Pontiac As a Mere Boy, and Became World's Greatest Showman

Vacation: What when you need it most you've just had it.

An interesting bit of Pontiac history is found in a book by H. L. Rotramel of Drayton Plains has called my attention. It brings to our city a typical Alger story — in fact, its title is "The Fabulous Showman." and it is a history of the life of P. T. Barnum, greatest of the circus owners of the last century.

Barnum became interested in a man named James A. Bailey, later took him into partnership, and they owned the Barnum and Bailey circus, the greatest of its time.

As Barnum grew old, Bailey succeeded him as being regarded as the greatest. The circus later was merged with Ringling Bros.

Bailey's family name was McGinnis, and he was born in Detroit. At the age of 12 he ran away from home and came to Pontiac, where he did odd jobs around a hotel.

Here he met a circus advance agent named

Frederick H. Bailey who took a liking to the boy and gave him a job with his show, and the lad changed his name from McGinnis to Bailey.

He quickly rose to prominence in the circus world and got associated with Barnum, and really was the spark plug of that great circus long before Barnum allowed his name to be connected with its name.

Another Pontiac area phase of the matter is that Edward McGinnis, brother of James, for many years was a railroad engineer on a run through this city. He moved to Holly, where Bailey built the finest home in the village, and presented it to him.

That was 60 years ago, and the present architect of this column was secretary to McGinnis, and carried on the correspondence between the brothers.

David Lawrence Says: Johnson Accepted to Check Jack

LOS ANGELES — Just why did Sen. Lyndon Johnson accept the vice presidential nomination of the Democratic Party after what he had said publicly in disparagement of the candidacy of Sen. Kennedy?

The easy and perhaps superficial answer is that politics is politics, and that what is said before or during a convention bears no resemblance to what is said afterward as the previously rival candidates for the nomination now wave their arms in the air and unabashedly cry out for "a united party."

But there is something else back of all this, too.

When word was being passed around the convention hall last Thursday that Johnson had accepted Kennedy's offer of the vice presidential nomination, a close adviser of the Texas senator approached this correspondent and said:

"I know you will be surprised about this, but last night several of us had a talk with Sen. Johnson and discussed very frankly what we were up against."

"Bear in mind that the labor leaders fought Johnson for the top place on the ticket, and they don't like him. Bear in mind that Jack Kennedy will make a campaign on virtually a socialist platform."

"He may be less radical if elected, but he will be plenty radical in the campaign. What is that going to do to us in the South during the coming sessions of Congress and later on?"

"Well, many of us in the Johnson camp felt he just had to get in there and exercise a restraining influence. If elected, Lyndon Johnson will have considerable power inside the Senate, just as he has as majority leader."

"I tell you his influence will be exerted toward safe and sane policies, and he will be in there pitching. We told him he just had to accept the vice presidential nomination if offered to him."

"If he has nothing to lose if defeated, because he would remain as majority leader."

There are many people wondering nevertheless how the Texas senator happened to swallow the platform plank on civil rights which pledges the federal government to end racial discrimination "in all areas of community life."

This would appear to be in line with private schools and in clubs and in the employment policies of all business establishments throughout the South.

The hypocrisy exhibited at the convention here last week was to be sure, rather brazen, and much of the phraseology of the party platform is, of course, discounted as merely designed to win votes.

In the South, however, the story may yet prove to be different.

Thus the public has been told that all the Democratic leaders, with few exceptions, have agreed to stay "loyal" to the party and go along with the nominees now that Johnson has been given a place on the ticket.

But the assumption that this will carry the electoral votes of the South may prove fallacious. The voters of the South will make up their own minds.

Party organizations can go just so far. Not long ago, in South Carolina, for instance, a regular Democratic organization candidate was running for the U.S. Senate.

"GANGWAY!"

The voters disregarded the name of the regular nominee on the printed ballot and wrote in the name of former Gov. Strom Thurmond, and he won. This can happen again.

What's wrong with our teenagers? Are they looking for something to complain about? "I never have anything to do," says one girl. "Boy, am I bored," says another.

We hear this every day. We planned and worked together and finally formed dances and other recreational programs for our teenagers. Now, we have been plagued by poor turnout.

Teen-agers in Waterford and Independence Townships have teen clubs and dances provided this summer. I chaperoned a dance and only 50 teens turned out. Why?

Just wondering. THOUGHTS FOR TODAY Many seek the favor of a generous man, and everyone is a friend to a man who gives gifts. Proverbs 19:8

Detroit Tiger Fan Shocked at Poor Sportsmanship

They call Detroit the greatest sports town in America. If that be true then God help America. Nowhere else in this world including Communist Russia, would you see such a demonstration of poor sportsmanship as was seen in Briggs Stadium Sunday.

Never before did I see so many whisky bottles in the stands, or beer flow so freely and in place of sportsmanship it was mostly mob rule.

Never again will I subject my family to such vile and indecent language as was used against the umpires and the opposing team.

I don't believe Detroit deserves a pennant flying over such an unsportsmanlike crowd, and I'm sure Old Glory must have hung her head in shame over such doings.

Teen-Agers 'Don't Have Anything to Do' Last fall there was quite an argument in The Voice of the People about Clarkson teen-agers never having anything to do. So, a group of us got together and formed a teen club. We have dances, play miniature golf, bowl, and go to league baseball games. We had so much planned for this summer. Now that we have this wonderful program under way, no one wants to support us by attending.

I am a teen-ager and I cannot understand why teens do this. They gripe about never having anything to do and the next thing you know they don't want anything to do when it's planned. I am fed up with the stupid way they act. When someone practically gives us recreation on a gold platter I don't sit and wait for it to disappear.

These teen dances are held every Friday night for our enjoyment but no one comes. I'd like to know one thing... What are you kids waiting for — someone to offer you something for free and beg you to come?

Would Warm Of John D's Heart

Dimes Return a Hundredfold

By DICK WEST
CHICAGO (UPI)—Back in the old days, John D. Rockefeller used to stand on the sidewalk and hand out dimes to little children.

Nowadays, little children stand on the sidewalk and hand out campaign buttons for John D.'s grandson.

There is a moral in this which I intend to point out subsequently. But first, let us go down on the sidewalk and have a talk with some of the children who are engaged in the turnabout giveaway.

You probably have been hearing a lot about the pre-convention show being put on here by supporters of Gov. Nelson Rockefeller. There is a good reason for this.

I mean, the show isn't so hot as convention shows go, but thus far it's the only show in town.

Politically speaking, which is the way everyone talks around here, "Rockefeller Center" is located on the street running between GOP Convention headquarters in the Hilton Hotel and Rockefeller's headquarters in the Blackstone.

As yet, this "Rockefeller Center" doesn't have an ice skating rink or a line of dancing girls, like the one in New York. But they may get around to that.

"EMPLOYMENT AGENCY"

At present, it functions as one of the world's most unusual employment agencies, the sole purpose of which is to find a new job for a downtrodden multimillionaire.

As I was standing on the sidewalk, waiting to help old ladies who like Nixon get across the street, I was struck by the youth of the Rockefeller campaigners. One youth struck me in the eye with a pennant.

Selecting him by the arm, I conducted a sidewalk interview during which I learned that he was a 13-year-old high school freshman before he became a politician.

"Why are you for Rockefeller?" I asked as he pierced my lapel with a campaign pin which almost penetrated my left lung.

"I think he's been a successful governor and I think he'll make a successful president," the lad replied pontifically before darting across the street to stab another underdecorated adult.

"MARCIANO?" Then I stopped three more juvenile Jim Farleys who were wearing pith helmets with the word "Rocky" stamped across the crown. I figured they were touting a comeback for Rocky Marciano. "You fellows are really Democrats, aren't you?" I teased.

"Not necessarily," their spokesman retorted. "We intend to reserve judgment until the Republican platform is finished."

It was plain that the youngsters really wanted to help Rockefeller even if they couldn't vote, and this was what made me think of old John D. and the dimes.

You've heard the parable of the bread upon the water and I think there's a lesson in this story, too. The moral is:

Give all your dimes to little children and invest the rest of your money in Standard Oil.

Guess who just learned that the contents of his home aren't properly insured!

Don't you neglect the insurance on the values you have in your home. You have too big an investment at stake! Make sure you're covered. Call us for a complete property insurance checkup... today.

'John-Lyndon Hopeless Ticket'

Dems in New York Doomed Under Present Circumstances—Powell

NEW YORK (UPI)—Democratic congressman Adam Clayton Powell said Tuesday that the chances of the Kennedy-Johnson ticket winning in New York state next fall were "hopeless" under present circumstances.

"The present stage of deterioration of leadership within the state party seems to doom our chances in November," Powell told a news conference.

The Negro congressman said that before Negro and other minorities give Kennedy and Johnson the support they need to carry the state, Kennedy must "spell out his specific endorsement of the whole party platform, particularly in regard to the 1954 school desegregation decision."

"Senator Kennedy must make it clear that if he is elected the executive will resume the full powers guaranteed that office by the constitution," he added.

Powell said that "under no circumstances" would he vote against the Democratic party in this election and support the Republicans as he did in 1956.

He said the extent of support he will give the Democratic ticket depends on the outcome of talks between Negro and other minority leaders with Mayor Robert F. Wagner and representatives of Sen. Kennedy, including Kennedy's brother, Ted, and Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. He said these talks would be held within the next few days.

He said the party in New York state was torn by internal strife between Wagner and state Democratic Chairman Michael Prendergast and Democratic Committee man Carmine De Sapio and that until these rifts had been healed, the party's chances of carrying the state were gloomy.

In Grain Elevator Blast

Saved From Fiery Death

BROWNFIELD, Tex. (AP)—As thousands watched in horror, a gravely injured man clung to a window high in a burning grain elevator Tuesday and begged "Help me! Help me! I'm burning to death!"

After two hours of desperate maneuvering, a helicopter finally dropped a cable and a former stevedock descended to save him.

The drama followed two thundering explosions which ripped a giant grain storage elevator and sent flames raging for hours through the 180-foot high structure.

Three men died and another was missing and presumed dead. Five others were injured.

One of the victims, Paul Allen, about 32, of Brownfield, his clothes flaming, leaped 50 feet from near the top of the elevator to a landing in an attempt to avoid burning to death. He died a short time after arriving at a hospital.

Others listed as dead were Royce Lawhorn, about 50, and Henry Nix, about 24, both of Brownfield.

Missing and presumed buried in the debris was C. L. Burden, age unknown, of Brownfield. Elevator Mgr. V. N. Lewallen said Burden was working in the elevator at the time of the explosion "and I don't see how he could be alive."

Damage to the structure, owned by the Grady Goodpasture Elevator Co., was estimated by Harvey Bales, division manager for the company, at between $750,000 and $1,000,000.

Firemen blamed exploding grain dust for the disaster.

The helicopter that saved Philip Reeves of Cotton Valley, La., came from Reese Air Force Base at Lubbock, 35 miles northeast of here. Donald J. Ehington, assistant chief of Brownfield, assisted in the rescue.

Will Fly Added Troops to Congo

U.S. Plans to Carry in African and Swedish Forces, No Americans

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Defense Department announced Tuesday that U. S. airplanes will fly an additional 4,005 African and Swedish troops into the strife-ridden Congo this week.

A spokesman reviewed American efforts to move troops, food and equipment into the Congo area since the United Nations force was ordered there last Thursday.

No American troops are involved in the U. N. force but there are about 50 Army and 30 Air Force men in Congo handling communications, air traffic control, weather forecasting and operating light airplanes and helicopters for the U. S. Embassy.

Up to Monday night, transport planes to the U. S. air forces in Europe had made 100 flights with four-engine transports to Leopoldville.

TV Holocaust Kills Baby in Living Room

The spokesman said with heavy irony, "I understand a Soviet aircraft is due with food any day now." He recalled that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev was quoted last Sunday as promising 10,000 tons of food.

U. S. airplanes already have transported 2,522 troops who are serving under U. N. commander Maj. Gen. Carl von Horn of Sweden. The troops comprised 1,075 Tunisians with 50 tons of equipment, 10 jeeps, 1,197 Moroccans with 150 tons of equipment, and 250 Ghanians.

To be airlifted this week are 1,000 more Tunisians, 1,250 Moroccans, 500 Ghanians, 635 Swedish troops from the U. N. force on the Israeli-Egyptian border, and older girls by putting them out a first floor window.

PONTIAC AREA

By RAY STORM, Manager

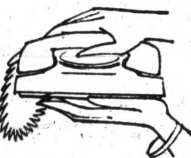

"Come On In, The Water's Fine!" This is the call of Summer in our lake area. When we answer this call do we throw caution to the winds and take a chance—possibly a costly chance? Or—do we review the basic "swim safety" rules? What are the "swim safety" rules?

- They are —
1. Become familiar with the swim area.
 2. Know the swimming capability of each member of the family.
 3. Provide the proper supervision for each member of the family.
 4. Learn at least one method of artificial respiration.
 5. Know where help can be obtained in case of an emergency.
 6. Establish family "swim safety" ground rules and see that they are carried out.

THE PHONE RANG and a small boy answered. "I have a collect call here," said the Michigan Bell operator. "Is there anyone older at home?" "Sure," answered the boy, "Michael's here. Do you want to talk to him?" "Well, how old is Michael?" asked the operator. "Just a minute," replied the boy. In a moment, the youngster returned to the phone: "Michael says he's seventy!"

MOVE OVER, Princess Margaret and all the crowned heads of Europe... we've got our own Princess—a wonderful, new addition to our family of telephones. The lovely Princess is the latest thing in telephones. Little enough to fit on the smallest night table, it comes in five decorative colors. The built-in night light brightens when you lift the receiver. To order this new telephone, stop in or call your local business office or, ask the man on the telephone truck.

Second Quarter Earnings Eight Cents a Share for SP

SOUTH BEND, IND. (U.P.)—Studebaker-Packard Tuesday reported net earnings of $57,946 for the second quarter of 1960, equal to approximately eight cents a share.

This compares with $4,900,000 or 67 cents a share in the second quarter of last year.

Earnings for the first six months totaled $8,500,000 on consolidated sales of $178,602,156. Last year the company netted $12,073,581 on sales of $208,816,771 in the first six months.

Studebaker is the first of the auto companies to report earnings for the April-June quarter. Ford Motor Co. will report later this week. General Motors, Chrysler and American Motors will report next week.

Harold E. Churchill, SP president, said the report does not include sales and income of Gravelly Tractors Division, acquired by Studebaker on May 1.

Because of previous heavy losses neither last year's income nor this year's figures are subject to tax.

Churchill said earnings were adversely affected in the second quarter by higher marketing costs. These, he said, were necessary because of increased competition.

Wheat Cutting Behind Normal

Warm Weather Pushes Corn Growth; Sugar
Beets Make Headway

LANSING (U.P.)—Wheat combining is about 10 days behind normal, with much of the crop still carrying too much moisture for safe storage without mechanical drying.

A few farmers started drying wheat from the fields late last week, the state and federal agricultural departments and Weather Bureau reported yesterday in their weekly crop bulletin.

About half of 1960 wheat acreage had been combined by this stage of 1959, the experts reported.

Warm days last week pushed corn growth, but a wide range in rainfall reflected the problem of getting it on the ground earlier in the season.

Early planted fields were described as almost ready to tassel whereas late fields were unusually short for mid-July.

The crop reporters said sugar beets generally were making good headway but still lagged behind normal for this time of year. Dry beans showed a wide range of growth and condition.

Sour cherry harvest was reported just past its peak in the southwest and just getting well started in the central and northern areas. Sweet cherries were being picked in northern orchards.

The bulletin said some good quality hay was put up last week in the absence of showers, and that pastures were in generally good condition.

Winter barley combining approached 60 per cent completion, a record for this time of year, and that was all but complete at this time a year ago, it was reported.

Considerable cool weather has benefited the late planted corn crop this year and good yields are expected.

Red Britons Picket U.S.

LONDON (AP)—Twenty-five banner-waving British Communists picketed the U.S. Embassy last Tuesday night and handed in messages protesting American reconnaissance flights over and around the Soviet Union. A Communist party spokesman said seven more Red demonstrations will stage separate demonstrations at the embassy in the next week.

Assails N.Y. Governor

Willkie's Son Would Run Against Rocky

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI)—Philip H. Willkie said Tuesday the only circumstances under which he would be a candidate for vice president would be if "Republican leaders think that I can be useful in keeping Nelson A. Rockefeller off the national ticket."

Willkie, son of 1940 presidential nominee Wendell L. Willkie, criticized New York Gov. Rockefeller for criticizing Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

"It is fantastic to think that the Republicans would nominate Rockefeller for president in view of his open and bitter attacks on the policies of the Republican Party, the President and vice president," Willkie said in a statement.

"It would be disastrous to nominate him even for vice president because he is openly antagonistic to the view of Nixon and this antagonism would undoubtedly continue through the campaign and into the White House if he is elected," he said.

Willkie made the statement after Mrs. Harriet W. Toner, publisher of the Anderson Herald newspaper, sent a six-page letter to every delegate and alternate delegate to the GOP national convention suggesting Willkie as a running mate for Nixon. The Ontario, N.Y., Republican candidate for governor, Rockefeller held a similar post during Bagwell's 1958 gubernatorial campaign.

Carlsbad Caves National Park

Found in New Mexico, They Are Probably 60 Million Years Old

WASHINGTON—Beneath the simulated cactus lands of southeastern New Mexico lie the Carlsbad Caverns, a vast wonderland established as a national park 30 years ago.

Carved by water, the network chambers is encrusted with ornate formations; fragile chandeliers, folds of mineral drapery, pillars, domes, and fanciful figures.

The Big Room is the world's largest known underground chamber. The trail around its perimeter is 1 1/4 miles long. At one point the ceiling arches up 265 feet.

"The most spectacular underground wonder in America," wrote Dr. Willis T. Lee of the United States Geological Survey in 1925. "For spacious chambers, for variety and beauty, (the cave) is king of its kind."

The Carlsbad Caverns were established as a national park May 1908.

The caverns were hollowed out of a 1,000-foot limestone bed deposited in a shallow sea some 200,000,000 years ago. The area was uplifted when the Rockies started growing 60,000,000 years ago, and numerous cracks formed in the limestone.

Ground water entered the fissures, dissolving the limestone. The chambers were enlarged when great masses of undermined rock crashed down. Finally, the water table fell, and air filled the cavities.

Rain water, seeping in from the surface, picked up limestone. Wherever it dripped slowly enough, evaporation squeezed out the water and deposited minerals which, layer by layer, formed stalactites, stalagmites, and fantastic statuary.

GETTING AWAY—Democratic presidential nominee Sen. John F. Kennedy and his wife Jacqueline stroll down a pier at Hyannis Port, Mass., where they boarded the family yacht "Marlin" to get away from it all Tuesday. They sailed on Nantucket Sound. Kennedy plans to vacation at Hyannis Port until the Senate goes back into session.

The 322 islands which comprise the Fijis of Great Britain spread across about 100,000 square miles and are an important southwest Pacific outpost.

Four states—Delaware, Nevada, Vermont and Wyoming—each have two senators in congress, but each is entitled to only one representative on a population basis.

Delay Decision on Racial Bias

Michigan Lawmakers Put Off Judgment on Grosse Pointe Case

LANSING UP—Legislators who review rules promulgated by administrative agencies are postponing judgment on proposed curbs on alleged racial discrimination by real estate brokers and salesmen.

Rep. Harry J. Phillips (R-Pontiac), chairman of the joint committee on administrative rules, wound up a two-hour discussion yesterday by setting another session for Aug. 4.

Phillips said he hoped there for full attendance by his six-man group. Sen. Charles T. Prescott (R-Flint) and Patrick J. Doyle (D-Dearborn), were absent yesterday.

Sen. John W. Fitzgerald (R-Grand Ledge) and Phillips seemed generally critical of the rule adopted by Lawrence Gubow, state corporation and securities commissioner, in the wake of hearings on the so-called point system used by brokers to screen buyers and renters in the Grosse Pointe area.

Even if the committee expressed formal disapproval, the anti-discrimination rule will become effective in mid-August if Gubow persists in advocating it.

A committee protest, however, would lay the ground work for reconsideration of the rule after the Legislature returns in January.

Under the new restrictions, state-licensed brokers would be prohibited from discriminating against buyers, sellers, renters or lessors for reasons of race, color, creed or ancestry.

Fitzgerald questioned whether Gubow possibly was going too far too fast.

"Wouldn't there be some virtue in a little less strong beginning?"

The Grand Lodge Republican said it opposed the rule was trying to control transactions essentially between buyers and sellers by clamping down on a third person cast in a kind of middle-man's role.

"I don't defend the point system for one second," said Phillips. "But I don't want to see the tail wagging the dog."

The rule was vigorously defended by Gubow and Solicitor General Sam Torina, who said some brokers were using the public protection afforded by state licensing to take part in carrying out restrictive covenants unenforceable in the courts.

Assembly of France Moves Against Boze

PARIS (AP)—The French National Assembly voted the government power Tuesday to legislate by decree in an effort to control alcoholism. The measure is aimed mainly at giving the Cabinet power in the next four months to limit private distilling of alcohol.

The vote was 200-165. The Senate still must give its approval.

Premier Michel Debre told the deputies: "Alcohol kills more people than tuberculosis and twice as many as the automobile."

British Tanker to Haul Russian Oil to Brazil

LONDON (AP)—The Brazilian government has chartered a British tanker to carry Soviet oil from the Black Sea to the Brazilian port of Santos. The Financial Times reported Tuesday. This is the first reported arrangement of its kind since Standard Oil of New Jersey warned on July 8 that it will consider whether a company has dealt with Communist nations before chartering any of its ships.

Ransomed in Singapore

SINGAPORE (AP)—Chinese millionaire C. K. Tang, 60, was kidnapped Tuesday, three days after being kidnapped by armed thugs outside his home. A member of Ippine goli fish, Pandaka Philanthropy, Tang's family was quoted as saying the ransom totaled $10,000.

List 2 Million Varied Animals

Modern Noah Would Require Big Ark for 150-Ton Whale

WASHINGTON—A modern Noah would need a big ark. Biologists estimate that they have classified nearly 2,000,000 different kinds of animals.

The number of existing species can be only a guess, however, for no one can tell how many are yet to be found. Entomologists believe that if all forms of insects alone could be counted, they would total 10,000,000.

Biologists have learned a great deal since the Swedish scientist Carolus Linnaeus compiled his catalog of animals and plants in the 18th century, the National Geographic Society says. His list showed only 4,345 species of animals in the world.

FEWER PLANTS

Plant species are less numerous than animal species, but varied enough to keep botanists occupied. Some 65,000 kinds of fungi have been identified, along with 30,000 algae, 12,000 mosses, 4,000 liverworts, 4,000 ferns, 50 club mosses, and 15,000 flowering seed plants. The total of identified plant species surpasses 251,000.

Faced with a proliferation of creatures to name, scientists have used up suitable Greek or Latin words, and now make up scientific names out of whole cloth. One scientist devised Grellia and Ligrita, which so far as he knew had no significance in any language dead or living.

Other creatures are just as peculiar. One creature is a Philonthus, a member of Ippine goli fish, Pandaka Philanthropy, which so far as he knew had no significance in any language dead or living.

Cash Dividends Up 6 1/2 Pct. in First Half

WASHINGTON (AP)—Cash dividends paid by corporations issuing public reports were 6 1/2 per cent higher in the first six months of this year than in the first half of 1959, the Commerce Department reports.

The 6 1/2 billion dollars of dividend payments reflected increases by most manufacturing industries, along with gains in the finance, industries and the retail and wholesale trades.

In June, cash dividends totaled just under two billion dollars, the department said. This was a 4 per cent gain from June 1959.

A wing-sleeved cocktail dress was among daring designs by Wilson Folmar in the Edward Abbott collection. Executed in imported gold-metal brocade ivory silk satin, its wide buckled belt is of matching fabric.

Find Source of Trouble: Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: With vacation near, my husband and I are disagreeing over my friendship with a young, single neighbor. She has a cottage near ours and she gets my husband there on various pretexts "Stopped up drinks," "blown fuses" etc. Once he's there, she takes his time discussing her problems (boy-friends, business, family) with him. Since he hasn't enough time to listen to MY problems, or to fix my drain or replace my fuses, how can he justify giving his time to this single woman?

SUMMER BLUES
DEAR SUMMER BLUES: If your husband goes repeatedly to your neighbor's cottage to be her handy man or wailing wall, he must enjoy it. There's more than a stopped-up drain and a bad fuse involved here. Bring your grievances out in the open and find out what the woman has that you don't. Then make up the deficiency.

DEAR ABBY: We have two sons, 8 and 9, who are perfectly wonderful except for one thing. They just detest each other. They won't even eat in the same room. To avoid a fight I have to serve them at different times or in separate rooms. They get along fine with the other children in the neighborhood but they can't get along with each other. Abby, I have tried everything and am at the end of my rope. What can I do? Some folks say this is normal.

END OF ROPE
DEAR END: A certain amount of hostility between brothers at this age is normal, but your boys are carrying things to a serious extreme. Catering to their demands is wrong. Set the table for the family. And if either or both boys refuse to eat "with the family," let them go hungry. An empty stomach produces "food" for thought.

DEAR ABBY: Won't you please put this in the paper so people who have a mother or father in a nursing home will see it. These old folks sit in their chairs from early morning until bedtime. It is such a long day for them it is pitiful. Some of them never have any visitors and they have children and grandchildren living nearby. My own mother passed on recently in one of those homes and I have very little to regret because I visited her twice a week. How I wish I could have visited her more.

DAUGHTER
DEAR ABBY: I passed a gentleman on the street whom I knew slightly. He didn't say hello to me so I didn't say hello to him, but he looked right at me as though he expected me to speak to him. I mentioned this to a co-worker and she said it was my place to say hello to him first. I can't believe she is right, is she?

A LADY
DEAR LADY: She is right. A lady should speak to a gentleman first. That way she has the privilege of ignoring him if she so chooses.

"What's your problem?" Write to Abby in care of this paper. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For Abby's pamphlet, "What Teen-agers Want to Know," send 25 cents and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope in care of The Pontiac Press.

Four Pages Today in Women's Section

William H. Wilmot, Mrs. Robert C. Lake, Mrs. Wilbur R. Schutze and Mrs. Newton Skillman, all of the Lake Angelus area.

Trigere collection was her "Knight Stole" done in brocade.

This was a sweep of fabric with a slot for sliding it over the head. The stole billowed out behind the wearer like a knight's cloak.

Marie McCarthy, designer for Larry Aldrich, continued the lowered waistline which the house introduced last fall.

Some dresses came with fitted torso and soft fullness to the skirt which joined the bodice about three inches below the natural waistline. Aldrich said the brass tones — brassy sheen to green, gold and yellow — would replace beige as fall's neutral shades.

OTHER HIGHLIGHTS

Highlights of other collections shown yesterday:

TOWNLEY — Designer Donald Brooks flirted with the unfitted dress. One was pure chemise. Other designs were with low-waist ties, bias skirts and loose, bloused tops.

He produced a double coat, a bulky number with a second inner front, two panels buttoned, which he said lets milady keep warm and still have the smart, open coat look.

PAUL PARNES — Beni Claire, the designer, liked the looks of fur blend woolsens, fur collared suits and costumes and something dubbed the day or night fur jacket costume.

This all-occasion outfit combined a brief jacket of black American broadtail or gray mole with a slim and simple wool dress.

The designer used fur trim on theater costumes too—one in black chiffon worsted flannel was colored in natural white mink.

EDWARD ABBOTT — Wilson Folmar, the designer, cut a daring neckline, plunging nearly to the waist in front in some dresses.

Back bareness was done the peek-a-boo way, with tiny straps crisscrossing and drawing geometric patterns across the shoulders.

The designer showed the harem skirt for dress-up occasions, with the puffs of the skirts softly tucked under at the hem.

Pompadour pink satin has stag line appeal in Ceil Chapman's bare shouldered short evening dress with draped bodice. Its wide midriff is drawn aside and looped into a drape that cascades to the hem of the full shaped skirt.

Clever Girl Does NOT Invite Man

By EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: A man whom I happened to meet through friends, ended our conversation the other evening at their house by expressing a wish to see me sometime. I answered that I would be glad to see him. It was left that way.

I am wondering whether it is up to me to let him know what evening would suit me, or whether what he said was just preliminary to finding out whether I would turn him down if he called me sometime and asked to see me.

Answer: Such a gesture on your part would be much too eager, unless you are giving a party or unless you perhaps ask him to make a fourth at bridge. But to telephone him, "I'm going to be home on Wednesday evening, won't you come to see me?" is what a nice, or clever girl does not do.

Dear Mrs. Post: About a year ago I married a widow with two grown daughters. I get on very well with them and a happy relationship exists between us. The oldest daughter is to be married soon and she has chosen her uncle, her father's brother, to give her away.

She has always been very fond of this uncle and, I must admit, he has been good to her. However, I can't help feeling hurt over this and think that as her legal stepfather, I should be given this honor. Will you please give me your opinion.

Answer: I do not think you should feel hurt because she has chosen her uncle, whom she has loved all her life, instead of you who after all have been her stepfather for only a year.

Dear Mrs. Post: I am going to be married shortly and would like to know if it would be proper to put "money gifts only, please" or something similar at the bottom of my wedding invitations or on a separate card to be enclosed with the invitations.

My reason for doing this is that I have everything I could possibly need for my house and I could really use the money. I would appreciate your opinion on this.

Answer: To do so would be a little tacky, possible. Please don't even think of it.

Church Fair Set July 30

Spacious rural grounds of St. Mary-in-the-Hills Episcopal Church southwest of Lake Orion will be the site of the annual midsummer fair July 30.

Sponsored by St. Angelus and St. Mary Guilds, the noon to 7 p.m. affair will have an Alpine theme.

Streamed flower decked maypoles will supply the decorative motif for the affair.

Chairmen Mrs. Newton Skillman and Mrs. Robert C. Lake announce the fair will include silhouettes cut by professionals, hand made Christmas ornaments, games, pony rides, door prizes and a cake walk.

Booths will offer for sale a variety of goods ranging from top grade antiques to white elephants, according to committee members.

During the day, a snack bar will be operated in the undercroft of the church, with a ham dinner served from 5 to 7 p.m. In the event of rain, the fair will be held on the following Saturday.

Cocoa Mixture Fills Rich Yeast Coffee Cake

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Today I'm being personal in this column. I'm giving you a recipe from the person who taught me the most about cooking — my mother. She is a real artist with food and loves preparing it. Whenever she comes for a visit — as now — she brings along some new recipes.

At home in Milwaukee she leads an active life. She is a member of the PEO Sisterhood and works in her church. Rejoice is her hobby.

Here is her recipe for an interesting coffee cake.

MOM'S CHOCOLATE ROLL
By Mrs. A. H. Oberlander

1 cup milk
1 cup butter or margarine
1 cup sugar
1 cup yeast

1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup of one teaspoon, grated
1/2 cup of one teaspoon, grated
1/2 cup of one teaspoon, grated
1/2 cup of one teaspoon, grated
1/2 cup of one teaspoon, grated
1/2 cup of one teaspoon, grated
1/2 cup of one teaspoon, grated

Heat milk, add butter or margarine and vegetable shortening. Cool and add sugar, salt, lemon rind and nutmeg. Dissolve yeast in 1/2 cup lukewarm water. Add to first mixture. Add eggs and flour. Beat well.

Refrigerate for 3 hours or overnight. Divide into two parts. Roll into rectangles. Spread with melted butter or margarine.

Mix 4 tablespoons cocoa with 1/2 cup sugar. Sprinkle over buttered dough. Roll up like a jelly roll and place in greased tub pan. Bake 30 minutes at 375 degrees. Frost with confectioners sugar icing when cool.

Bullock-Coyle Ceremony Held at St. Benedict's

Breakfast at the Fox and Hounds Inn, Bloomfield Hills, followed Saturday nuptials of Mildred Helen Coyle of East Maple road, Birmingham, and Alexander James Bullock of Royal Oak in St. Benedict Church.

The bride is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Coyle. The Alexander Bullocks of North Wilson avenue, Edy Oak, are parents of the bridegroom.

Amazon lilies and stephanotis mounted on a white mistle were held by the bride who chose a floor-length gown of tulle of white eyelet organza for her wedding. The molded bodice was styled with sabrina neckline and short sleeves.

Fingertip veiling of silk illusion was caught by a crystal tiara. Barbara Coyle was her sister's honor maid. Serving as bridesmaids were Gayle Joyner of Pontiac and Frances White of Royal Oak.

Cascades of blue and white carnations complemented attendant's white lace sheath dresses, worn with net overalls. The headpieces and short gloves were blue.

Daniel Patrick Stevenson acted as best man for his brother-in-law, James S. McPhillips and the bridegroom's brother David John Bullock ushered. All are of Royal Oak.

After a honeymoon in northern Michigan, Toronto and Watkins Glen, N.Y., the couple will be at home on East Twelve Mile road, Royal Oak.

For her son's wedding, Mrs. Bullock chose turquoise silk shantung with matching flowered hat. White cymbidium orchids were pinned to her clutch purse.

Each New First Lady Has Fun Fixing Up White House Home

WASHINGTON — Winning the United States Presidency carries a pleasant adjunct—the right and the wherewith to refurbish the White House.

The next stage of interior decorating must await election returns, and the arrival and suggestions of the 1961 presidential family. Meanwhile, Congress provided $100,000 for the job.

Included is $25,000 for repainting the White House exterior—a chore that permits no imaginative flights in color, thus can be done whenever needed.

Actually, the decor of much of the Executive Mansion is now outside the province of its residents. Since the 1902 renovation, when the main floor was restored to early 19th-century elegance, any changes in state rooms have required authorization by officially appointed commissions.

On the other hand, the building's living quarters—except for the historic Lincoln bedroom and the Rose Room where visiting royalty and other celebrities have slept—are completely at the disposal of each new executive family.

The private apartments in the White House, as reconstructed after World War II, contain 54 rooms, 16 baths. Included are guest bedrooms and parlors, extra kitchens, five elevators, and a solarium.

CAN PICK COLORS

Within this sizable personal home, the incoming First Lady may choose any colors she likes and send unwanted furnishings to storage.

For 150 years the White House has reflected not only presidential tastes, but America's changing mores. In the early days, it was furnished in styles then fashionable among the well-to-do—Adam, Sheraton and Hepplewhite, Louis XVI and French Empire, says the National Geographic Society.

Some of President Monroe's Paris purchases of Empire ornaments are still displayed as priceless heirlooms in the public rooms. But both in his and later terms, the expensive foreign imports brought roars of protest.

In the 1830s Congress passed a law requiring White House furnishings to be of domestic make "as far as practicable."

The bill, with its qualifying loophole, did little to halt the vogue for French craftsmanship. President Van Buren was bitterly castigated for high living amid "costly fripperies of Europe." Even the people's hero, Andrew Jackson, was criticized for his liking of foreign elegance, despite his acquisition of a set of 20 plebeian capisards at the bargain price of $2.

VICTORIAN TAKES OVER

After the 1850s, the Victorian influence began to take over in the White House, as in other homes throughout the nation.

Instead of the light, graceful lines of the classical periods, the new styles ran to massive sideboards and wardrobes, marble topped dressers, and horsehair sofas; to curlicues and busy patterns.

By 1881, when the wealthy Vice President Chester Arthur, succeeded to the highest office on President Garfield's assassination, the mansion was filled with a worn, motley accumulation of goods and furniture.

The new executive cleared out 24 cartloads of discards to be sold at public auction. In their place he substituted a much-admired extravaganza of colorful and lavish decoration that included heavy gold wallpaper, pomegranate plush draperies, and the famous opalescent glass screen, by Tiffany, that reached from floor to ceiling in the Entrance Hall.

The next major upheaval, masterminded in 1902 by energetic "Teddy" Roosevelt, separated the White House into three distinct areas—administrative, domestic, and formal.

An executive wing was added, the living quarters redone. The State Rooms reverted, full circles, to the simple and dignified late-Georgian period they had known in the beginning.

The Executive Mansion then became a kind of lived-in museum with private quarters set aside where each First Lady could practice her own brand of homemaking.

Mrs. Taft brought a breath of East to the second-floor Oval Room by installing teakwood furniture and Oriental screens from the Philippines, where her husband had served as American's first civil governor.

Mrs. Coolidge raised the roof of the third floor to create a family "Sky Parlor." Mrs. Hoover made a sitting room in the wide corridor outside the presidential apartments, brightening it with South American rugs and other mementos of the Hoovers' worldwide travels.

The gregarious Franklin Roosevelt clan moved in with personal trophies and collections. The large family found good use for new kitchen facilities, strategically placed to accommodate a household of guests.

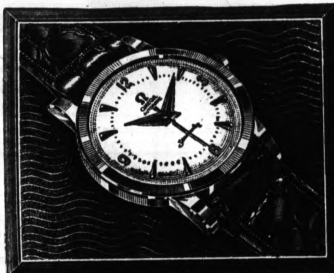

But it remained for the Trumans to see the White House through its greatest change, and to miss what might have been its worst disaster.

An intensive investigation, touched off by the swaying of a chandelier at a reception in 1950, disclosed that the building was about to collapse. The findings led to total reconstruction within the historic white shell. Retaining the formal 19th century atmosphere on the first floor.

When the Eisenhowers arrived in 1953, they found a house built at last, in the words of its First Lady, Abigail Adams, "for ages to come."

300 See Play on Racial Strife

By MARY ANGLEMER
"Cry, the Beloved Country" by Alan Paton, presented to an audience of 300 at All Saints Episcopal Church Tuesday evening, was the third in the series of church plays shown in the Pontiac area this week.

The fourth and last play, "The Great Divorce," will be given at 8:15 this evening at St. James Episcopal Church in Birmingham.

The summer festival of chancel drama is presented by the Bishop's Company of Santa Barbara, Calif., a group of experienced actors who handed together some years ago to revive great drama in the church.

The first American traveling repertory company of its kind in the nation, it is now on its seventh national coast to coast tour.

On Thursday evening, the group will present a play at the Trinity Episcopal Church in Farmington where the Rev. James B. Guilan is rector.

"Cry, the Beloved Country" concerns the tender, tragic story of a black man and a white man locked in the grimmest of human emotions. The son of one murdered the son of the other.

Laid against the beautiful mountains and valleys of the country of South Africa, the story speaks for the only solution — love — anywhere in the world where racial ferment and unrest exist.

GIVES REASONS
From the prologue to the play, the Rev. C. George Widdifield, rector at the All Saints Church, read "I shall no longer ask myself if this or that is expedient, but only if it is right."

"I shall do this, not because I am noble or unselfish, but because life slips away, and because I need for the rest of my journey a star that will not play false to me, a compass that will not lie."

"I shall do this, not because I am a negrophile and a hater of my own, but because I cannot find it in me to do anything else. I am lost when I ask if this is safe. I am lost when I ask if men, white or black, Englishmen or African, Gentiles or Jews, will approve. Therefore, I shall try to do what is right, and to speak what is true."

"I do this not because I am courageous and honest, but because it is the only way to end the conflict of my deepest soul."

At the close of the performance the audience met the players in the Rose Knolls Room. Presiding at the coffee service were Mrs. Robert B. Rickard and Jean Wilson.

General chairman Janet Evans was assisted with arrangements by Marjorie Baker, Alice Bouford, Subdued elegance in a red and grey plaid wool from the Italian showings is found in this travel suit with longer jacket, notched lapels and deep inverted front pleats.

QUANTITY VS. QUALITY
Experiment to develop a cultured taste in nice things. Set your standard high but not beyond your income. Reflect the interest in fine fabrics, lacem, to achieve subdued color tones. We do not mean the drab, but the richness of textured belges and colors that are warm rather than brilliant. The same development of taste can be carried out in your perfume. Select a better fragrance and buy the cologne instead of the perfume for economy. You will have the advantage of the cultured fragrance.

Enjoy the planning of a well spent dollar. Collect things of quality over a period of time by buying the best you can infrequently.

Prevent Overexposure

Sun Harms Complexion

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN
Summertime is full of fun and health. However, it can be hard on the eyes, hair and complexion unless we give them the proper protection.

I think most women are careful about using one of the screening creams or lotions to soften the blow of the sun on the skin. Usually the complexion gets more care than the hair or the eyes. Actually, acne often clears up during the summer when the victim is out in the sun quite a lot.

PROTECT HAIR
The hair should not be subjected to the bright sunlight for hours at a time. Wear a scarf or a hat at least part of the time. Too much sun will cause the hair to become dry and brittle and hard to manage.

By all means wear dark glasses for the sake of your eyes when you are going out into the bright sunlight. But also for the sake of your eyes, spend a few dollars more and get a pair which have well-ground glass.

Sunglasses should be made with the same skill employed when making regular glasses. Otherwise small defects and irregularities may place a strain on the eyes.

LENS COLOR IMPORTANT
Too much sunlight actually can cause damage to the eyes so be sure that you have at least one pair along with you when you go out. The color of the lens is quite important, too.

Attendants Are Named

At a miscellaneous shower Tuesday evening in the home of Norma Klukos on North Tassmanian avenue, Lillian Casper named attendants for her forthcoming marriage to Thomas M. Hall of Royal Oak.

Nancy Casper will be his sister's maid of honor at the Aug. 13 nuptials in St. Michael Church. Judy Carline and Miss Klukos will serve as bridesmaids. Bonnie Aird has been given the role of flower girl.

Guests at the shower included the bride-elect's mother, Mrs. Leon Casper of Lounsbury avenue, Mrs. Edward Klukos, Anne Blenievski, Mrs. Lester Spell, Claude Borden, Shirley Collins, Mrs. James Schlink, Mrs. Edward Barcome, Elaine Ellins and the Misses Carline and Klukos.

Miss Casper's fiance is the son of George Edward Hall of Royal Oak and the late Mrs. Hall.

Catholic Women Gather Plan Dessert, Card Party

Annual dessert card party plans chairman, who announced that membership to date from eight parishes numbers 1,033; and Mrs. George Michaels, family care chairman.

The group's monthly party for family care patients are held at the league home Tuesday.

League President Mrs. Delmo Chapdelaine announced a luncheon and summer board meeting Monday at the home of Mrs. Floyd Leinski on Williams Lake road.

Heading committees are Mrs. Charles Thayer and Mrs. Ernest Gray, refreshments; Mrs. Robert Galle, tables and cards; Mrs. James Clark and Mrs. Fred Gottschalk, table prizes; Mrs. Carl Brown and Mrs. Lewis Swartz, door prizes; and Mrs. Marshall Sprague, tickets.

Where Did He Go? Out

Jack Had a 'Fire Escapade'

By JAMES BACON
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Why did Sen. John F. Kennedy climb down the fire escape and jump over the back fence the night of his nomination? And where did he go?

As the Democrats flee our town, that mystery lingers. Source for the Democratic presidential nominee's unusual behavior last Wednesday night is actor William Gargan.

A few weeks before the convention opened, Gargan told a friend of his at the Baltimore Hotel about the vacant apartment above his and Rosemary Avenue. The building is owned by Jack Haley and is only a few doors from Mac West's apartment building.

His tip brought Gargan a famous neighbor. The Massachusetts senator rented the apartment as a hideaway spot to catch a little rest from the maddening whirl of party headquarters at the Baltimore.

CAN BE TOLD—NOW
"I guess it can be told now," said Gargan. "Last Wednesday night—it was still daylight—I was out in the backyard. All of a sudden I see Sen. Kennedy coming down the back fire escape. As he climbed over the back fence, he said: 'Keep this quiet, will you?' 'I don't know where he went, but he was back upstairs by the time the balloting started. We could hear him walking around. Just about the time the roll call got to California, he came to our door."

"May I look at your television set?" he asked. "Mine won't work. He sat there, nervous and tense. Occasionally he would say, 'I've picked up one here' or 'I picked up three there.'"

"Just before the roll call got to Wyoming, he jumped up and excused himself. I've got to get upstairs," he said. "Bobby (his manager brother) will be calling me. And I want to call my wife."

Gargan said he saw him again after Wyoming's 13 votes clinched the nomination.

"My wife," said Gargan, "was the first one to shake his hand and congratulate him."

Cuban Dispute Goes to OAS

Security Council Votes 9-0 Over Soviet and Cuban Protests

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Despite Soviet and Cuban protests, the United Nations Security Council has dumped the U.S.-Cuban dispute back into the lap of the Organization of American States.

By a vote of 9-0, with the Soviet Union and Poland abstaining, the 11-nation council approved an Ecosuppan-Argentine resolution to suspend action on Cuba's charge of U.S. economic aggression until the 21-nation OAS reports on its efforts to resolve the dispute.

Cuba said it accepted the decision but would have preferred a council condemnation of the United States.

"Don't touch Cuba," Soviet Delegate Arkady A. Sobolev warned in the final round of debate. He reiterated Premier Nikita Khrushchev's warning that Soviet military might would help Prime Minister Fidel Castro's regime if Cuba is attacked.

"Don't touch us, don't seek to extend Communist imperialism," U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge warned in reply.

Too Bad, Love Scene Doesn't Get an Encore

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Some times good acting has its drawbacks.

During the filming of Warner Brothers' "Tall Story" Anthony Perkins did a passionate eight-minute love scene with Jane Fonda.

Normally such a lengthy scene requires several retakes. But director Joshua Logan proclaimed the first take perfect and shooting continued on to less interesting matters.

LONDON (AP) — Lightning struck the Eton College boathouse while it was crowded Tuesday while it was crowded Tuesday with boys sheltering from a storm. Boys were huddled about a Smoke file dithe boathouse. Six pigeons in the rafters were killed. But none of the boys was hurt on his lap.

Measles Still Plunge in County; Leap in Pontiac

The number of measles cases in the county continued its downward trend last week.

Reports show more than a 50 per cent reduction compared to the week ending July 9.

Cases in the city showed a considerable rise, however, with 15 cases of measles reported last week compared to only three the previous week, according to Dr. John D. Monroe, county public health director.

Following is a list of the communicable diseases reported to the city and county health departments last week:

Look Whose Turn It Is Now for a Convention—the Beatniks

By EDWARD NICKERSON

NEW YORK (AP) — The Republicans have their convention next week. The Democrats have had theirs. So who's in now? The way-out beats, that's who.

They've got delegates from a dozen states, they've got candidates, including Miss Beatnik of Chicago, and they've got a convention hall. "The College of Comedians," a Greenwich Village coffee shop.

By tonight they hope also to have foreign and domestic policy platforms and a national beat candidate to oppose against the Democratic and Republican big guns.

But above all, what the three dozen or so assembled beatniks have, according to their own tests, money is independence. They are so individual-minded that a strong faction has protested the adoption of any rules of procedure whatsoever.

'YOU BUG ME'

When the beat leaders tried to get things organized, Maurice Fishemer of New York announced that parliamentary procedure was just "garbage" characteristic of the sick society we all repudiate.

"You bug me, Fishemer," cried several protest delegates.

Another problem is representation. There are favorite-son candidates, but many of the delegates say they are from nowhere, man. In other words, they claim allegiance to no "geographical entity" imposed from above and conducive to isolation of one man from another.

The leading candidates?

"Well," said Bill Smith, keynote speaker and a bookstore owner in Chicago, "there's a big group favoring Gnomi Gross, Miss Beatnik of Chicago."

Miss Beatnik, he explained when asked, is about 18, 5 feet 2, and very well put together.

"She has a lovely, innocent face too," said Smith.

"That's kind of in opposition to the Bohemians. You know, they talk about free love and all that. Well, when we elected Miss Beatnik we picked the purest, most innocent-looking girl we could find."

MORE SERIOUS

Smith added that the beats have their Bohemian element but actually consider life as something more serious than one big party.

Other candidates are Smith himself, who is a favorite son of the Illinois, Michigan and Minnesota delegations, and Slim Brundage, who operates the host coffee shop.

"Brundage is a good possibility because he's got a car and can get around," Smith explained.

Police Find Camper, Return Him to Parents

MIAMI, Fla. (U-P) — Edward Hennessey, 7, wanted to go camping but he didn't think his parents would understand.

So he didn't say anything—just picked up a blanket and strolled to a vacant lot a quarter mile from his home.

Electronic Computers Prove Their Versatility

NEW YORK (UPI) — Electronic computers are proving their versatility by tackling an increasing variety of odd jobs.

Some universities report they use computers to prepare class schedules, while other machines are being readied for such specific jobs as telling oil companies where to build new gas stations and abandon old ones.

Move Afoot to Shove Paul Bagwell in Spotlight at GOP Meet Monday

LANSING (U) — A move was afoot today to shove Paul D. Bagwell, Michigan party titular leader, into the spotlight at least briefly at the Republican National Convention starting Monday.

State chairman Lawrence D. Lindemer and John B. Martin, national committeeman, headed toward Chicago in furtherance of this effort to participate in other pre-convention activities.

Lindemer confirmed yesterday that the convention arrangements committee had been asked to state Bagwell, unopposed for a repeat governor nomination Aug. 2, for a rostrum appearance on Monday.

While it would amount only to an introduction, Bagwell would benefit from exposure to a larger television audience than it would be possible for him to get in any other way.

Lindemer said he understood there were plans for introduction of some congressional candidates but none had been firmed up on gubernatorial aspirants.

Aside from trying to promote Bagwell and settling a fight over Mrs. Rae C. Hooker's national committeewoman's post, the Michigan convention role didn't loom too big.

"Our delegation will be playing a supporting role for Vice President Nixon and his desires and providing a self-sell approach for Jerry (Rep. Gerald R.) Ford — making him better known to delegates from other states," Lindemer said.

FORD, MICHIGAN'S FAVORITE

Ford, a popular 47-year-old ex-football player from Grand Rapids, is Michigan's favorite son for the vice presidential nomination.

Before it reaches its climax at 3 p.m. eastern Sunday, the national committeewoman scrap could develop into a three-way affair. Mrs. Catharine Gibson, formerly of Monroe, has let it be known she is available.

Mrs. Gibson has been away from Michigan to serve as president of the National Federation of Women's Republican Clubs.

Basically, the contest pits Mrs. Hooker, finishing a third four-year term on the GOP national committee, against Mrs. Ella

Belgian Officer Explains Congolese Views on Rape

By ANDREW BOROWICZ

THYSVILLE, The Congo (AP) — "The Congolese don't look at rape in our sense," said the young Belgian lieutenant. "They frequently exchange wives among themselves."

The lieutenant, Alfons Schoonbroodt, a bachelor, is in command of 1,000 ill-disciplined Congolese who hold Camp Hardy, where the Congo army mutiny flared 11 days ago.

Schoonbroodt said the Congolese had asked him to stay on after the uprising in which white officers were beaten up and their wives raped.

When independence came to the Congo July 1, Schoonbroodt said the soldiers thought they were entitled to share wives with their officers as they had been doing among themselves.

"I myself saw Congolese soldiers playing with children while waiting for their turn to rape the mother," he said.

Schoonbroodt talked to this reporter outside the gate of the camp where Moroccan foot soldiers of the new U. N. force stood guard next to Congolese with fixed bayonets.

Dem Hopefuls to Air Views

TV Program Will Host Swainson, Connor and Hare Before Primaries

By The Associated Press

The three candidates for the Democratic nomination for governor will air their views on issues in a weekly series of television programs sponsored by the United Auto Workers Union.

Lt. Gov. John Swainson, Secretary of State James M. Hare and Ed Connor, Detroit city councilman, all will appear on each of five successive programs beginning Monday, the week preceding the primary election.

They will appear on the UAW's nightly "Telephone" program on CKLW-TV, Channel 9.

Guy Nunn, the UAW's radio-television department director, said Paul Bagwell, the sole candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, "will be invited to appear on the UAW telecast following the primary, together with the Democrat who emerges as winner in the primary race."

WONT ENDORSE

Nunn said the UAW was not endorsing any candidate for office. Meanwhile, leaders of the labor for Swainson committee claimed Tuesday that 28 Detroit-area local unions, representing 108,460 members, have endorsed Swainson for the Democratic nomination.

The committee also said Swainson was endorsed by two Flat UAW locals, the Brewery Workers Joint Board, the Bakery Workers of Detroit, the Yardmasters of the Railroad Brotherhood, and the Lanning Motor Wheel plant.

Earlier Tuesday, Hare pledged to provide new governmental protection for consumers. He said that if he won both the nomination and the election he would press for attachment of a "consumers representative" to the executive office to help clamp down on loan sharks, chiselers in food processing and shabby vendors.

"There are too many areas of illegitimate trade and commerce where citizens daily are victimized, fleeced or duped," he said.

Council Considers Detroit Income Tax

DETROIT (UPI) — The Detroit Common Council yesterday considered a proposal for a city income tax on a first and second reading, and authorized Council President Mary V. Beck to appoint a 15-member citizens committee to study an initial draft of the measure.

The vote was 6-2 in favor of accepting the first reading of the proposal, drafted by Assistant Corporation Counsel John H. Witherspoon.

Councilmen Blanche Parent and Ed Connor dissented.

Witherspoon will serve as moderator of the panel, to be comprised of four members from each of industry and business, labor, and home owners. The panel will make its first report to the Council Sept. 13.

The proposed 1 per cent tax could apply to "all salaries, wages, commissions and other compensation of persons living or working in Detroit."

Johnson Leaves Soon for Mexico Vacation

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (U) — Sen. Lyndon Johnson, Democratic nominee for vice president, said today he is leaving "very shortly" for several days' vacation in Acapulco, Mexico.

For two days the senator and his staff denied reports that Johnson would leave today for a Mexico vacation.

"We're going down to get a little relaxation and catch up on correspondence," said Johnson's aide, George Reed.

Ike Reveals Surplus of $1.1 Billion

NEWPORT, R. I. (AP) — President Eisenhower today announced a $1,100,000,000 budget surplus for the fiscal year which ended June 30.

The surplus is more than five times as large as the figure the President predicted last January.

"This demonstration of fiscal responsibility not only reinforces economic strength here at home, but reaffirms to the world that the United States intends to run its financial affairs on a sound basis," Eisenhower said in a statement at the summer White House.

The announcement, coming just a few days in advance of the opening of the GOP National Convention, is sure to be seized on with delight by Republicans in their campaign to retain the presidency and capture control of Congress.

This was the Eisenhower administration's third budget surplus in seven years.

Cabbage Is Good Raw or Cooked

Raw cabbage combines so readily with other vegetables or with fruits that you can serve it fine after time without having it become monotonous. Starting with shredded cabbage, you can create several different salads by combining it with different things: With orange sections and crushed pineapple; slivers of celery and carrot plus raisins; diced apples and chopped walnuts; with sliced olives and chopped celery; or with slivers of celery and cubes of fresh cucumber.

For the more pronounced flavor of cooked cabbage, try this recipe recommended by home economists of the U.S. Department of Agriculture: Heat 1 1/2 cups of milk; add 1 quart shredded cabbage. Simmer about two minutes. Mix 1 1/2 tablespoons of flour with equal amount of melted butter, and add a little of the hot milk. Stir this mixture into the cabbage and cook three or four minutes or until thickened. Stir constantly. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Serves four.

Ring Found in Olives May Belong to Bottler

Lady Luck appeared to be riding with a Detroit woman whose job is bottling olives.

The ring found by a Pontiac housewife Monday night in a jar of olives may be the ring she lost six weeks ago.

It's a better than even chance, said a spokesman for Mario's Food Products Co., a Detroit firm.

USUALLY SOONER

The firm's officials said that jewelry has been found in barrels of olives shipped from Spain—but the jewelry is usually found before the product is bottled.

Sometimes, they said, wedding bands have been found attached with marriage proposal notes signed by Spanish girls.

Mrs. Wells K. Ray, 101 Auburn Ave., found the wedding band in a 20-ounce jar of olives Monday night.

She was trying to trace the owner.

Whether the ring belongs to a Detroit or a Spanish senorita is a mystery that probably will be cleared up by the end of the week.

Short Order Barbecue Saves the Cook

What do you do when the family giving everyone his favorite food is divided—when father wants spaghetti, the children want hamburgers, and you secretly hanker for chicken? The solution is simple: "Short-Order Barbecue."

"Short-order" cooking can be a nuisance in a private kitchen because it requires so many pots and pans to keep the flavors separate, but it's no trouble at all on an outdoor grill, where each food cooks separately over the fire. What's more, "short-order" cooking is one of the best ways to serve family meals in the summer. In the heat, appetites decline, and to do but to put together a barbecue sauce and a fresh salad before hand, and is less on the paper dishes afterwards.

There are only two special tips to remember when "Short-Order Barbecueing": (1) Gauge the appetites of each individual, and buy reasonably exact amounts of the different meats or pieces of fowl. It's a nuisance to end up with a spare rib and two chicken wings left over! (2) Choose a sauce for marinating and basting that tastes good with everything, so you don't have to whip up different sauces for different main dishes.

Here are two multipurpose barbecue sauces that fill the bill—simple, the other more complicated. Both will do wonders for any meat you can mention, and for chicken:

Old-Fashioned Barbecue Sauce

1 cup vinegar
1 cup ketchup
1 cup Worcestershire sauce
1 cup water
1/2 cup salt
1/2 cup onion
1 teaspoon sugar
1 teaspoon chili powder
1 clove garlic, chopped
Combine all ingredients and simmer, covered, for 5 minutes. Makes 3 cups. Use as a marinade and basting sauce.

Chili Tomato Barbecue Sauce

1 slice bacon, diced

1/2 cup chopped onion
1 teaspoon chili powder
1/2 cup ketchup
1/2 cup tomato catsup
1/2 cup water
1/2 cup vinegar

In saucepan, cook bacon until crisp. Add onion, chili powder and garlic powder; cook until onion is tender. Stir in soup, water and vinegar. Cook over low heat for 10 minutes, stirring now and then. Makes 1 1/2 cups sauce.

Improved Style Shrimp Salad

You may think that shrimp salad is so good the way you make it, it couldn't be any better. But if you follow the recipe below, you'll find that shrimp salad can be different—and still be delicious.

Combine may, curly shrimp with golden segments of mandarin oranges, served on a bed of leafy greens for a pleasant color contrast.

Add slivered almonds and sliced celery for an enjoyable combination of taste textures, and you'll have a summer main course salad that will long be remembered by your family and guests. Plenty of nutrients are here, also, to make a well-balanced salad—protein from shrimp and nuts, vitamins and minerals from fruit, vegetables and shellfish.

Mandarin-Shrimp Salad

1/2 pounds shrimp
1/2 cups sliced celery
1 cup canned or fresh mandarin oranges
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1/2 cup slivered almonds
1/2 cup sliced celery
1/2 cup juice from mandarin oranges
1/2 cup ground almonds
Shell and devein shrimp; cook by boiling 3 minutes in salted water. Drain and cool. Combine with celery, orange slices and almonds. Combine mayonnaise, vinegar, orange juice and ground almonds. Lightly toss in shrimp mixture. Serve on lettuce. Makes 4 servings.

Fresh Fruit—Frozen Juice

With a variety of frozen fruits and fruit juices in the freezer you can combine frozen with fresh fruits for some delightful effects. Try frozen lemonade over fresh blueberries, partially thawed from strawberries over seedless grapes, frozen limeade over freshly sliced peaches, pink lemonade over fresh pineapple or melon balls. Let the fresh fruits marinate in the frozen juice concern for a few hours before serving.

Macaroons on Ice Cream

Save some macaroons and let them get dry; crush into crumbs and use as a topping with hot fudge sauce for vanilla ice cream.

Original Wrapping OK

NEW YORK (UPI) — Pre-packaged self-service fresh meats can be frozen in the original storage package for one to two weeks, says the American Meat Institute. Before freezing, check the wrapping film and board or package tray to make sure there are no breaks. Keep the meat at zero degrees or lower.

saucepan with sugar, water and cinnamon. Cover and cook until skins burst, about 5 minutes. Add lemon juice and salt.

Mix sugar with baking powder and the $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon salt. Stir in enough milk to make a soft drop dough. Drop from teaspoon into boiling blueberries.

Cover and cook 12 minutes without lifting cover. Serve hot with a little cream poured over the top or, if desired, top with whipped cream. Yield: 9 dumplings.

For our final offering we suggest a blueberry sauce to top vanilla ice cream in cantaloupe cups. Orange juice and lemon help perk up the flavor. Besides, this dessert is pretty.

Blueberry-Cantaloupe Sundae

2 small cantaloupes
 pint blueberries
 1/2 cup orange juice concentrate
 1/2 cup water
 1/2 cup sugar
 Pinch salt
 1/2 pint vanilla ice cream
 1/2 pint lemon juice
 1/2 pint orange juice
 1/2 pint blueberry or margarine
 1/2 pint vanilla ice cream

Cut cantaloupe into halves with sawtooth cuts to make 6 melon cups; scoop out seeds and chill.

Combine orange juice concentrate, water, sugar, salt and orange juice in a small saucepan. Cook and stir mixture until it boils and thickens. Add lemon juice lemon juice, nutmeg and butter and set aside to cool.

Combine blueberries and orange mixture. Fill cantaloupe halves with vanilla ice cream and top with blueberry sauce to serve. Makes 6 servings.

Wheels of Color

Here's a combination you'll really love. It's different, delicious and easy to make . . . and goes well with lamb or poultry. Alternate slices of Valencia orange and candied cranberry sauce with thin slices of onion on a bed of lettuce. Serve with a dollop of salad dressing mixed with a dash of fresh lemon juice.

To the imaginative growers who domesticated the blueberry are eternally grateful. They make summer cooking and baking so easy. One we bought recently were from New Jersey, but we know and want to remind you that our own state is one of the principal blueberry growing areas of the country.

Every year we bring you a few new ways of serving the plump blue morsels of goodness. First of all, we offer you Blueberry Pritters:

Blueberry Pritters

1 cup flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 cup granulated white sugar
4 eggs
1/2 cup milk
2 eggs, separated
1/2 cup blueberries

Sift flour, baking powder, sugar and salt together. Make a well in center of dry ingredients and pour in milk. Add lightly-beaten eggs and mix. Stir in blueberries. Batter is smooth. Fold in fresh blueberries. Fold in stiffly-beaten whites. Cook for half an hour.

Form into fritters by making balls with two spoons dipped into hot water, and deep-fry until golden brown. Yield: 1½ dozen fritters. Serve with Blueberry Syrup.

Blueberry Syrup

2 cups fresh cultivated blueberries
1 cup of water
¾ cup rock-candy sugar
¼ teaspoon lemon juice

Wash and drain blueberries. Put into saucepan with 1 cup of water. Cook slowly for 15 minutes. Strain through fine strainer. Add sugar and lemon juice to clear liquid and return to heat for 15 minutes.

until sauce gets syrupy. Cool and serve.

Our second recipe, though no second rate, is for an old fashioned New England dessert. Really it tastes better than the name would have you believe.

Cape Cod Blueberry Grunt

3 cups (1 pint) fresh blueberries
1 cup water
1 cup sugar
1 stick whole cinnamon
1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
1/2 cup brown sugar
1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup brown sugar
1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup milk

Wash blueberries and place in

SET UP SHOP — Two Rockefeller backers tape up a poster announcing the opening of the Democrats for Rockefeller headquarters at a Chicago hotel. Doing the posting are Julie Powers, 18, of Evanston, Ill., and Clarence R. Mann of Brownsville, Tenn. The group will campaign to have Nelson Rockefeller drafted as the Republican presidential candidate.

Dem Platform Won't Deflate

Statistics Unit Finds Party Promises Likely to Raise Stock Prices

NEW YORK (UPI)—The International Statistical Bureau feels that the Democratic platform and its candidates must definitely be construed as favoring the economy.

The platform, it says, promises everything to everybody and is not deflationary. With Sen. Johnson as vice presidential candidate, the bureau expects pressure for passage of some of the bills stimulating the economy in a special August session.

It also points out that the Republican platform and its candidates may promise as much and in some areas more. The bureau says that it's difficult to see how all these promises can fail to stimulate stock prices.

Martin Gilbert of Van Alstyne, Noel & Co. reports that the present position of the price structure does not appear particularly upsetting since there is a considerable underlying "congestion" for some 10 points lower which could at any time halt the decline. The lack of heavy offerings is a good sign, he says.

But R. E. Buchsbaum of W. E. Hutton & Co. has another view. He says the bulk of advice from the major advisory services has a cautious tone and is not likely to change materially in the next few weeks.

The probability that international crises and doubtful business prospects will continue should keep the market in the doldrums until the fall, he concludes.

The deposits of cryolite are the largest in the world in Greenland.

Congo Strife May Add Status to United Nations

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign Editor

Some good may come out of evil in the Congo situation. It may place the United Nations on the high road to the world eminence its founders saw for it.

When the Security Council voted last week to send U.N. emergency forces into the violence-torn Congo, it was acting under pressure of the knowledge that if action were not taken quickly, the new state might quickly fall apart and, worse, become a very hot point indeed in the East-West cold war.

It was a history-making event in two ways.

It was only the second time that U.N. emergency forces had been called into action. The first was the U.N. force that took up positions along the truce line separating the United Arab Republic and Israel.

It was the first time such a force had been considered to take action in what must truly be considered an internal situation, as opposed to training to fill.

an external threat to international peace and security.

STRETCHED A POINT

To get the Congo before the Security Council at all, it was necessary to stretch a point and consider it on the basis of Belgian "aggression" against Belgium's former colony.

The aggression consisted of Belgium's decision to call her troops into action to protect Belgian citizens in the midst of a chaotic collapse of Congo authority and mutiny among Congolese native troops. Belgium had a perfect right to do so under a Belgo-Congolese friendship treaty.

The swift U.N. action could point the way to prevent further troubles as other unprepared areas gain their independence.

Former colonial powers, willingly or not, gradually have abandoned the territories they formerly administered and have left behind vacuums which inhabitants were prepared neither by education nor training to fill.

Thus it was with an eye to the whole of Africa that Soviet Premier Khrushchev, at the peak of the Congo disorders, accused not only Belgium but the United States and the NATO nations as well of aggression against the new government and of an attempt to restore it to colonialism. With it was the threat of direct Soviet action which could have plunged the Congo into the midst of the cold war.

This is the threat which future U.N. action can prevent.

It is within the premise of the U.N. charter to provide, at any new government's request, administrative and other personnel which can assist in the training of the new officials who must take over administrative duties.

If necessary, an emergency force of troops can assure the peace and prevent one-sided action by any outside nation.

To the ill-prepared, independence so often means unbridled license to destroy. Too late comes the realization that independence is not a free ride to Utopia.

Little Dead Fish Baffle Cottagers

Lake Michigan's Kill of Silvery Alewives Apparently Natural On

LANSING (U) — Cottagers along Lake Michigan have been puzzled during recent weeks by the sight of hundreds of small, silver dead fish piled up along the beaches.

The fish are alewives, a minuscule species that has experienced a population explosion in the Great Lakes in recent years. The fish kill apparently is a natural one, reported Carol M. Fetterolf, aquatic biologist with the State Water Resources Commission.

"These are originally a salt water fish and have more difficulty living in fresh water," Fetterolf said. "We think they are weakened by the winter and die off of natural causes in the summer."

Fetterolf said he counted as many as 600 of the small fish along a 100 foot stretch of beach. Most of the complaints have been received from the Leelanau Peninsula area but the dead fish can be found all along the Lake Michigan shore and also on Lake Huron beaches.

"It apparently is nature's way of balancing the species," said Fetterolf. "They grow rapidly and have a short life cycle."

The gulls are doing a good job of cleaning up the fish, he said, but there are too many fish and not enough gulls. The worst of the kill should be over now, he advised.

Fetterolf said cottagers should clean up the fish and bury them above the water line. They make good fertilizer for gardens and flowers, he added.

COLLINS VISITS JOHNSON — Gov. LeRoy Collins of Florida, left, bids farewell to his host after he and his family spent Monday night at the ranch of Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, near Johnson City, Texas. The governor was chairman of the National Democratic Convention that selected the Senate majority leader as its vice presidential nominee. Ten-year-old Darby, the governor's daughter, tried on the nominee's 10-gallon hat. The family also saw Johnson's flagpole, which flies three flags, that of the United States on top, Texas below and his family's inscribed "LBJ." underneath.

Most Complete Anti-Semitism File Eichmann Prosecution Aided by Crime Library

BY ERIC GOTTFREY
JERUSALEM (AP) — Israeli prosecutors preparing for the trial of Adolf Eichmann, 54, are being assisted by historians who have compiled the world's most complete library on anti-Semitism and Nazi war crimes.

The ex-Nazi colonel, charged with masterminding the slaughter of six million Jews, is unwittingly contributing to the giant records. Daily Eichmann is called before Bureau 66 for interrogation. This bureau is a special 20-man police team assigned to the case after Eichmann was tracked down in Argentina and brought back to Israel for trial.

At the same time a group of Israeli experts continues to supply a constant flow of Eichmann material to the bureau. These experts on World War II history, with particular reference to the Jewish problems, are working in the office of Yad Vashem. The organization has thousands of original documents on persecution of the Jews and an enormous microfilm laboratory of documents used in the Nuremberg and other war crimes trials.

Dr. Aryeh Kubov, Yad Vashem's chairman, said further collection of Eichmann material may take five more months, setting back his trial to 1961.

Yad Vashem has been utilized before in such trials. Material has been requested from public prosecutors in much of Europe where former Nazis were being tried on charges of manslaughter or murder. The office has catalogued index cards on Nazi war criminals

Links Drink, Speed to 90 Pct. of Wrecks

CHICAGO (UPI)—The National Safety Council said today speed and drinking were contributing factors in 90 per cent of the traffic fatalities during the last New Year's holiday weekend.

The council said that of the 374 traffic deaths, drinking was a factor in 38 per cent and excessive speed was at least partly responsible for another 32 per cent of the accidents.

The year-round average is 30 per cent for drinking and 37 per cent for speeding, the council said.

State Highway Maps Arrive

Will Distribute 600,000 Copies of Michigan's 1st Guide Since 1958

LANSING — Distribution of the Michigan State Highway Department's 1960 official highway map has started.

Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie said 600,000 copies of the new map — first one the state has had since 1958 — were printed by Rand McNally & Co. of Skokie, Ill., recently.

"When the maps arrived, we began immediately to fill the nearly 18,000 individual requests we had received from persons throughout the country," Mackie said.

The Highway Department received 350,000 maps, while the remaining 250,000 were shipped direct from Skokie, Ill., to organizations that requested large quantities.

These groups included the Michigan Tourist Council, regional tourist associations, chambers of commerce, hotels, oil companies, travel bureaus, Michigan State Police, State Conservation Department, tourist information stations and others.

Copies of the map are available free by writing: Motorist Services Division, Michigan State Highway Department, 732-C Mason Bldg., Lansing 26, Mich.

Decision Due on Row With Frank Sinatra

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The city attorney's office says it will decide today if any charges will be filed against Frank Sinatra as the aftermath of a row with a parking lot attendant.

Sinatra denied at a hearing Tuesday that he had pushed Edward E. Moran, 21, at a Hollywood night club last May 11. Moran told a previous hearing held by the city attorney that Sinatra shoved him, then called on an acquaintance, John Hopkins, for help.

Hopkins, Moran said, hit him five or six times with his fists. Sinatra said he had stepped off a curb when a car driven by another attendant "screamed to a stop six inches from me."

"I was shaken," the singer related, "and I started to berate the driver when Moran came up. He came towards me and I put up my hands to keep him away, but I didn't shove him."

Thomas A. Edison lit the world's first electric light on a Sunday afternoon in October 1879. He allowed it to burn until Tuesday and then deliberately burned it out by increasing the current through it.

Indiana Negro Expects Nomination for President

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — A Negro attorney who got more than 19,000 votes when he ran for president in the Indiana preference primary last May said today that he has been assured his name will be placed in nomination at the Republican National Convention next week.

Frank R. Beckwith said he expects to become the first Negro ever to be nominated for a place on a national ticket. He said that Dr. George P. Rice Jr., a fellow attorney and a Butler University member, will place his name in nomination.

"I don't know who will make the second speech," Beckwith said. "But it will be some."

Edgar Snubs K After Talk About Dwigth

NEW YORK (U) — Two hours before Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev checked into a Vienna hotel on his recent Austrian tour, President Eisenhower's brother Edgar checked out.

"I felt it would be an insult for me to stay under the same roof with Khrushchev after the way he talked about my brother Dwight," Edgar Eisenhower, a Tacoma, Wash., attorney, said Tuesday on his return from his European tour.

Young Mom Has Heart Opened—She, Child Fine

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — A young mother, believed by doctors here to be the first to undergo open-heart surgery during pregnancy, gave birth to a healthy sixth child Tuesday.

Cynthia Mae Ingels, 33, of Minerva, N.Y., gave birth to a 7-pound, 15-ounce girl.

Aides at St. Joseph Hospital said both mother and daughter were doing fine.

Mrs. Ingels had gone through her first five pregnancies without complication.

Then, in the fourth month of the latest, doctors said she developed signs of a blood clot. Examination showed a clot in the artery leading to the brain, which caused a temporary stroke and congested heart failure.

Doctors also found a severe obstruction of the aortic valve leading to the heart.

On April 7, she underwent a four-hour operation to relieve what is known as an aortic stenosis.

After the operation, doctors listened for the child's tiny heartbeat and found it to be fine. Three days later Mrs. Ingels was sitting up in bed. Two weeks after the operation she went home.

Isle Bid Pushed by Hondurans

Diplomat Already Has Taken Swan Question to State Department

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hondurans will continue to press the United States to recognize its sovereignty over the Swan Islands, a Honduran Embassy spokesman says.

The spokesman said Ambassador Celso Davila already has taken the matter up with the State Department, and will continue in his action stressing Honduran claims to the islands.

The United States has a radio station on one of the small islands, and included them in its recent census.

In a note presented to the U.S. Embassy in Tegucigalpa, the Honduran government protested the action. The note also was forwarded here for direct presentation to the State Department by Ambassador Davila.

The spokesman said the islands, always have belonged to Honduras, and were recognized as part of the Spanish colonial empire, being transferred to Honduras at the time the nation gained its independence.

The islands are in the western Caribbean north of Honduras.

The State Department has said the embassy is looking into a report that 13 unarmed Hondurans landed in the islands Sunday.

Congo Revolt Termed Integrated and Planned

WASHINGTON (AP) — An American medical missionary Tuesday described the revolt of the Congolese army as "an integrated, planned affair... certainly not a spontaneous uprising."

Dr. Mark Poole spoke from the background of 24 years in the Congo's Kasai Province where he headed a hospital in Balape.

The Bay City, Tex., physician arrived here from the African republic.

A week ago he was flying his small plane taking missionaries from remote posts to Luluabourg, a city besieged by Congolese soldiers — later freed by Belgian paratroopers.

Poole had only praise for the Belgian paratroopers; without them, he told a news conference, the casualty list in the Congo would have been much higher.

He said that when the Belgians were dropped in Luluabourg to free more than 1,400 whites besieged in the city's hotel the revolting native soldiers fled in panic.

DRAMATIC ACCOUNT

Poole, 51, a handsome man speaking in low tones and without visible signs of emotion, gave a dramatic account of the days starting Sunday, July 10, when it became obvious that the missionaries would have to leave their posts.

Dr. Poole said the Congo situation was complicated because of what the future of The Congo will be.

But, he said, The Congo cannot exist without guidance of white experts for at least 20 years.

He said he and most of the missionaries will return to The Congo "if effective work can be done there."

"The Christian natives need us," Poole said.

The Olympic peninsula in north-west Washington state receives the heaviest rainfall in the nation, it is believed, with 200 inches recorded during some of the wetter officials, refused to speculate on years.

Poole, in Washington to give an eyewitness account on The Congo situation to State Department

Rock's Grounder to Left in 8th Ruins His Bid

Bull Skips Past Short for Tigers' Lone Hit as Nats Win, 5-0

DETROIT (U-P)—Pedro Ramos lost a no-hitter by one bounce of a grounder ball and figured, after all is said and done, that it was just as well.

"I don't know what it is," said the Washington Senators' pitcher in the best English he could muster, "but something seems to happen to pitchers who pitch no-hitters. They just seem to go poof!"

A grounder ball by Detroit outfielder Rocky Colavito leading off in the eighth inning prevented Ramos from gaining baseball immortality last night at Briggs Stadium. It was the first pitch of the inning — one Ramos described as "a 100 per cent fast ball — but just a little bit higher than I wanted it."

Colavito knocked it between the mound and shortstop Jose Valdivia, who made a great try for the ball.

"He could have had it, but it took a long leap instead of another short hop," said Detroit's manager, Jimmie Dykes. "If ever a guy deserved a no-hitter, this guy did. I told Luke Appling (Tiger coach) as early as the third inning that we were in for an unpleasant evening."

The Senators won the game 5-0, as Ramos struck out nine batters and yielded no hits other than Colavito's single.

Ramos, a 25-year-old Cuban, pitching his sixth season in the Major Leagues, did not pretend that he was unaware of the no-hitter.

"I know it all the time," he said. "How can one not know it? No one says anything to me, and I don't say anything to anyone. When Colavito gets the hit, I figure 'so, he gets a hit — now I still have to win the ball game.'"

In a way, it's a good thing. You get a little bit of money, a no-hitter, but you get a lot of it. You win 50 games, I would rather win the 50."

Ramos mentioned the salary history because he learned yesterday that he will have another month to feed.

"I talk to my wife today — she is in Cuba and this is the first time I know I am going to be a father. So I have to bear down harder."

Manager Cooke Lavagetto said a no-hitter would have been just as good, but said the outcome — the victory that tied the Senators with Detroit for fifth place — was the big issue.

"He told me before the game that if he didn't win tonight, he never would," said Lavagetto. "He said he felt great."

Ramos said after the game "I feel so good now I could go out and pitch nine more innings, and never throw so good in my life. I was strong all the way."

The Tigers agreed, Colavito said. "Pedro's pitching in his best form with the best stuff I've ever seen."

Detroit pitching coach Tom Ferrick commented "I've never seen a pitcher have such good stuff for nine innings. He was tremendous. No one could have hit him."

Teammates and visitors peppered Ramos with congratulations after the game and one mentioned that "I know you must feel sorry, Pedro."

Ramos replied: "You go see Colavito. I bet you he is more sorry than I."

"Yes sir," said Colavito, "in a way, it's a doggone shame."

Ramos, who had no no-hitter while pitching semi-pro ball in his native Cuba, has won only six games while losing 10. He has had three straight losing seasons, the last two years leading the American League in losses.

The Senators call him their hard-luck pitcher.

Ramos' record shows that his teammates have obtained more than four runs for him only three times. He has lost six games by one-run margins.

"I don't think I am any jinx," said Ramos. "I know the boys try to say 'four.' It's just one of those things. Four or five runs should be enough for any pitcher — and tonight they got me five, and that was enough." Bill Gardner and Harmon Killebrew got homers.

Al Kaline and Eddie Yost were Ramos' chief strikeout victims, each going down twice on strikes. Ramos fanned every regular except Charlie Maxwell and Lou Berberet. For the route, he faced only 21 batters. One man got as far as third base.

SPORNS Showdown Due for Continental

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A showdown meeting at which the proposed Continental League will say if it is prepared to meet the standing for a third Major League O'Malley of the Los Angeles Dodgers was being arranged today with representatives of the two Major Leagues.

The invitation for such a meeting was extended by Walter P. Reuther, president of the American League, who suggested the meeting be held in New York next week. O'Malley, a Democrat, had no objections but he said some Republican members of both the National and American League committees might want to wait until after the GOP convention in Chicago next week.

Rickey in a prepared statement in New York said that by its action the National League belatedly renewed recognition that expansion was necessary for Major League baseball.

But the possibility that the Major League might be considering "internal expansion" drew surprise from Rickey.

"I am confident that several members of the National League will join with 100,000,000 people and the United Congress in favoring the organization of a third Major League."

Rickey said that the Continental League was prepared to meet the standards laid down last spring at Columbus, Ohio for the formation of a third Major League "other than the unreasonable indemnity demands of the American Association and the International League."

In reporting on the National League's Chicago meeting, O'Malley said "The National League is definitely committed to expansion."

"The trail will first take us to the Continental League... to find out if it is making progress to go Major League."

SENATOR SCORES — Harmon Killebrew slides under pitcher Lou Berberet to score on a grounder ball as Washington opened a series at Detroit with a victory to tie the Bengals for fifth place.

Lions Attack QB Problem in New Way

DETROIT (U-P)—The Detroit Lions' attack on their quarterback problem will be a new one.

The Raiders, only American team in the Ontario Football League, are seeking a quarterback to replace Frank Finney, the former Brown guard from Royal Oak who has signed with the Buffalo Bills.

Coach Gus Cifelli expects more than 50 candidates for the squad, including former Michigan halfback Tony Brown, former Iowa back Jim McInnes, tackle Bernie Lowe from Wayne State, and former Michigan starters Jim Hines and Howard Newell.

Four of the Raiders' home games this year will be played in Pontiac, Michigan, and the other in Detroit. The Raiders have a nine-game schedule in the OFL.

Wildness Is Fatal in 1-0 Mound Duel

Wildness proved fatal to pitcher Frank Macell last night as the Detroit Tigers defeated the Washington Senators 1-0 in a Waterloo National League softball game at Drayton Plains.

With two out in the bottom of the 7th inning, Macell gave up two straight wild pitches following back-to-back singles by rival hurler Al Servoss and Bill Pichford to force home Servoss with the winning run.

Macell, who had a no-hitter while pitching semi-pro ball in his native Cuba, has won only six games while losing 10. He has had three straight losing seasons, the last two years leading the American League in losses.

The Pontiac Baseball Federation netted $400 from its annual Amateur Day held last Sunday at Windsor Field.

Steve Bilko won the home run derby at Briggs Stadium beating Bob Allison of Washington in a playoff after both tied with six slams in 20 swings. Big Steve hit two balls on the roof in left field. Faye Thorneberry of the Nats hit one right out of the park in right field. Newcomer Phil Regan turned in an outstanding relief job in defeat.

The National AAU Men's Outdoor swimming championships will be held Friday through Sunday at Toledo with the exception of the platform diving which is set for Detroit's Brennan Park.

Russell W. Johnson, 2550 Walnut Rd., Pontiac, has accounted for the 5th hole-in-one of the year at Twin Lakes Golf Club. Playing with John Sheldon, Juan D. Jewell and Dick Thompson in a weekly G.M. league match, Johnson scored the 115-yard 5th hole with a 7-iron. It was his 1st ace.

Coach Bob Waterfield of the Los Angeles Rams scored 21 ambitious rookies as grid drills started today. San Francisco opened Tuesday with 27 hopefuls including 24-pounder named Paul Tripp of Idaho State, Bill Cannon and Bob White are among several boys looking good in Houston Oilers drills.

A Dearborn woman scored Pontiac Country Club's first hole-in-one of the year Tuesday.

Mrs. Walter Majkyla, 2590 Rockford Ave., used a 3-iron to ace the 135-yard 8th hole at PCC. Playing partners who witnessed the feat were Yello Bertacchi and Joe Gerbino.

Marichal lost his no-hit bid when pinch hitter Clay Dampier singled with two out in the eighth. That was the only Phil hit as they absorbed a 2-0 defeat. The newcomer struck out 12, only three short of the record that the Dodgers' Karl Spooner set in his first start in 1954.

No other National League pitcher in modern days (since 1900) has thrown a one-hitter in his first start, although Charles Jones of Cincinnati pitched a no-hitter in his major league debut in 1884.

Other American Leaguers have broken in with one-hitters—Addie Joss of Cleveland and Mike Foran of Washington.

Giants' Rookie Hurls One-Hitter on 1st Try

By The Associated Press

San Francisco, July 19.—A 21-year-old rookie from the Dominican Republic has become the first National League pitcher in modern days to pitch a one-hitter in his first big league start.

The 5-10 right-hander who was the strikeout king of the Pacific Coast League until he was recalled from Tacoma with an 11-5 record, had a post game for the 6-1-3 innings last night for San Francisco. An error by Ed Bressoud let the Phils' Tony Taylor reach base safely.

Marichal lost his no-hit bid when pinch hitter Clay Dampier singled with two out in the eighth. That was the only Phil hit as they absorbed a 2-0 defeat. The newcomer struck out 12, only three short of the record that the Dodgers' Karl Spooner set in his first start in 1954.

Major Leaguers in 'Keg' Draft

OMAHA, Neb. (UPI)—The Infant National Bowling League today wrestled with the problem of selecting a possible division of the circuit into conferences to players' contracts.

The 12 franchises owners who plan to create a league equate social standing to major league operations in other sports would use a five-day session here with expectations of a million dollars annually in television revenue and a completed player draft.

Also discussed today were minimum ages for players. Omaha drafted a 14-year-old Johnny Chapman Jr., Omaha, who won't start high school until this fall, and there were several other teen-agers among the selections in the 30-round draft.

The final choice was New York Yankee catcher Vogt Berra, who was taken by New York. Earlier Dallas picked Mickey Mantle, New York outfielder, and Omaha picked Jackie Brandt, Baltimore Orioles outfielder. Both were regarded as favorite son choices whose names might add box office appeal even without their bowling averages.

Both Berra and Brandt were not high enough to warrant selection on that basis alone.

Blue Star Drive-In collected nine hits while trouncing University of Illinois, for a 9-4 victory over O'Neil Realty, and Phil's Sporting Goods breezed to a 9-3 win over First Presbyterian.

The Road Builders made only two hits, but capitalized on six errors and nine walks for a 9-2 triumph over "C" Battery in an International division game. Frank Spackall honored for the boys.

Doctoring Your Golf

PATIENTS COMPLAINT: "My sand shots are sad." DIAGNOSIS: Small sand traps. TREATMENT: There isn't much difference in the proper swings for hitting a ball out of grass or hitting it out of sand. But the small difference is important.

About the only real change in form for the sand shot is that the clubhead should be picked up more steeply and abruptly than the grass shot. This is accomplished by breaking the wrists more quickly as you start the club back.

The result will be a more U-shaped swing, which makes it easier to send the clubhead under and past the ball.

Remember that the best sand trap shot is what we call the explosion. The clubhead enters the sand about two inches behind the ball and goes through and under to take out the divot of sand on which the ball is resting.

You should never feel the clubface contact the ball unless you are in a trap a long way from the hole and want to get all the distance you can.

Jack Kennedy Says, 'I'm a Liberal,' Ranges Widely to Prove His Point

By REILMAN MORIN
AP Special Correspondent

In campaigning for the Democratic presidential nomination, Sen. John F. Kennedy spoke out on everything from foreign policy to fishing, from the problem of depressed regions to the importance of primary elections.

The plunged into the controversial areas of farm policy, civil rights, and labor legislation.

Before that, there were 14 years in the Senate and the House of Representatives, bringing his speeches and compiling his record. Kennedy says it is the record of a liberal.

Political labels such as "liberal," "conservative," "progressive," and the gradations thereof, mean different things to different people. But here are some of the highlights of the Kennedy record and the results of it when he became the Democratic nominee.

LABOR AND MANAGEMENT—He was the chairman in 1957 of a subcommittee which investigated improper practices in labor and management. A year later, after serving on the McClellan committee, he introduced the Kennedy-Ervin Bill which passed the Senate but was changed in the House.

BRINGS LABOR ENMITY

This earned him the enmity of some labor leaders, notably James R. Hoffa, president of the Teamsters Union. But George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, expressed "our appreciation for your leadership in the fight to enact a law which will help honest labor and honest management deal with the problems created by a corrupt minority."

At the Democratic convention, AFL-CIO leaders supported him for the nomination.

In other areas, Kennedy co-sponsored a bill to raise the minimum wage to $1.25 and to extend coverage of the bill to eight million additional workers. He introduced a "bill of rights" to improve living conditions for older people and an amendment to the Social Security Act to provide medical insurance for the aged.

NATIONAL DEFENSE—He called for a stepped-up missile program, the rebuilding and modernization of the Army and Marine Corps, and an emergency stop-gap air alert program to deter missile attacks.

In an overall speech, addressed to both foreign and domestic problems, Kennedy said: "The hard, tough questions for the next decade is whether any free society with its freedom of choice, its range of alternatives, its breadth of opportunity, can meet the single-minded advance of the communist system."

Coffee Prices Decline Again

Glut in Brazil Allows Largest U. S. Roaster to Decrease Charge

NEW YORK (U. S. Coffee prices are dropping again, due largely to the huge glut of coffee beans in Brazil.

General Foods Corp. reduced the wholesale price of the regular grind, vacuum-packed Maxwell House, Sanka, Yuban and Bilsco coffees two cents a pound, effective today.

The reduction was the first change in price since March 1959 by the largest U. S. coffee roaster and brings the wholesale level to its lowest point in 10 years.

Arthur E. Larkin Jr., general manager of the Maxwell House division, said green coffee prices, which remained relatively stable for a period of 16 months, now have drifted down to a point that make possible a price cut in roasted and ground coffee. Albert Ehlers, Inc., joined General Foods with a similar price cut on its ground coffee.

First U.S. Phone Fire Alarm New Kalamazoo Aid

KALAMAZOO (UPI)—A telephone fire alarm system, said to be the first of its kind installed in the United States, went into effect at midnight in Kalamazoo township's four fire stations.

A central switchboard will process all township fire alarms and by pressing a button an operator can alert the fire chief and 25 volunteers through the new system.

In each volunteer home phones are equipped with special tone devices to denote a fire alarm. By lifting the receiver, the volunteer is given the location of the fire by recording and can proceed directly to the scene without reporting in.

Two UP Colleges Study Joint Extension Plan

Houghton and Northern Michigan Colleges have authorized a joint study for combining the extension programs of the two colleges under one administrative unit.

The study is to be completed in a year and was described in a joint statement as a major step toward integration of the extension divisions.

New Kennedy Unit Seeks to Lure GOPers, Others

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy today announced appointment of a new campaign organization designed to attract independents, Republicans, and Democrats who want to "work apart from the regular Democratic party organization."

Pierre Salinger, Kennedy's secretary, said the organization "could very well" provide a place for such groups as the New York Democratic faction led by former Sen. Herbert H. Lehman.

Lehman is at odds with the New York organization. Salinger, as Kennedy's official spokesman, told a news conference the organization will be known as Citizens-for-Kennedy, and will be headed by Byron White, 43, the former All-America halfback at the University of Colorado.

White's title will be national chairman; his assignment to establish units in every state.

White is a Denver lawyer and friend of Kennedy. He directed the senator's campaign in Colorado leading up to the Democratic National Convention, and was one of his convention floor leaders.

Quarter Will Bring Cabin Design Book

The growing enthusiasm shown by Americans in building their own summer and vacation cabins has been caused partly by the availability of well-designed plans.

Twelve cabin designs are offered at 25 cents each by the Douglas Fir Plywood Assn., Tacoma 2, Wash. These are all 60-sq.-yard cabins which rely on the large size and great strength of plywood to make them fast and easy to build.

The association also offers two full-color catalogs of building plans at 10 cents each.

Defense Issues Make Advances

NEW YORK (AP)—Space age defense stocks were strong in an irregularly higher stock market early this afternoon. Trading was moderate.

The growing tenaciousness of the international situation was cited by brokers as the reason for the rise of aircraft-missile and rocket stocks.

Statements by Prime Minister Harold Macmillan of Great Britain, Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, and Gov. Nelson Rockefeller highlighted the emphasis on America's defense.

Gains of a point or more were made by a wide assortment of defense issues. A few electronics and other "growth" issues followed along.

Steel, autos and chemicals were ragged but oils, rails and nonferrous metals had a higher trend. The market as a whole still was nervous and hesitant.

The mixed nature of second quarter earnings reports and continued evidence of a profits squeeze tended to dampen interest in the market storables.

DePaul, off a fraction, touched another low for the year. The firm had reported record sales but lower earnings. Radio Corp. made a similar report and lost a fraction.

Among defense-related stocks, Boeing and Thiokol, the rocket fuel maker, gained about 2 each. Martin Co. advanced more than a point. Gains of about a point were scored by United Aircraft, Douglas, Lockheed, General Dynamics and North American Aviation.

General Tire, which has a rocket subsidiary, also gained about a point.

Florida Power and Light sank about 4 as Wall Streeters heard a further investigation of the company's rates may be in the offing.

NATF met, renewed demand, gaining about 3. Vendo and Beckman Instruments came back about a point each. Automatic Canteen added a fraction.

Baltimore and Ohio, basking in renewed publicity about a merger, rose a point. A similar gain was made by Eastman Kodak.

South-Oak Drain Plan Is Junked by County

The proposed South-Oak storm drain has been scrapped.

"The drain is a dead duck," declared Drain Commissioner Daniel W. Barry following last night's vote by the three-member County Drainage Board to terminate the proceedings for the controversial $4,610,000 plan.

Barry placed the blame squarely on the shoulders of the Southfield City Council, whose members he accused of withholding from Southfield residents a "realistic fiscal plan."

"They left it hanging where it looked like it was going to cost each property owner $1,100 an acre," Barry said.

Death of the drain, designed to stop flooded basements and streets in Southfield and Oak Park and an overflow into northwest Detroit, again put a question mark over when Detroit will accept severance from the waiting Evergreen Farmington sanitary sewer system.

Southfield's blocking of the storm drain could end in a lawsuit against the city by Detroit over the seasonal rains causing troubles in Detroit, according to R. J. Alexander, director of the Oakland County Department of Public Works.

He was trying to reach Glenn C. Richards, Detroit DPW director, by phone today in an attempt to show that the $12 million sanitary sewer system should be held idle because of Southfield "thwarted the South-Oak drain in every shape and form."

"We've done everything in our power to build that drain," Alexander said.

Southfield officials have insisted that the 78 per cent their residents who would have to pay for the drain would result in confiscatory assessments.

At the public hearing in Southfield, which attracted 600 persons, city officials insisted that Detroit be assessed for benefiting from the drain, that the State Highway Dept. and the county weren't paying a large enough share, and the Evergreen Farmington districts should be assessed, too.

Oakland GOP for Nixon, Lodge

Entire Delegation Says It Will Go With Dick; Splits on Rockefeller

As they get ready to depart for Chicago and the Republican National Convention next week, there's strong sentiment among delegates from Oakland County for a ticket of Richard Nixon and Henry Cabot Lodge.

There were mixed emotions about the big question mark of the convention — Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York.

All emphatically said they were "sticking with Dick."

One of the 10 delegates-at-large from Michigan, Arthur G. Elliott Jr., chairman of the Republican Committee of Oakland County, said he favors Lodge, the U.S. delegate to the United Nations — but only if Rockefeller can't be persuaded to accept the second spot.

But one delegate, Charles M. Ritchie, said he would take him over Lodge, of course, said Elliott of Pleasant Ridge.

Vehemently against Rockefeller for any position was Chad M. Ritchie, former county chairman and now treasurer of the county committee. He's one of Oakland's two delegates to the convention opening Monday.

Ritchie's ticket: Nixon and Lodge.

Fellow delegate Mrs. John Finigan didn't attend last night's GOP State Party rally in Bloomfield Hills. The members of the GOP State Central Committee is already in Chicago as a member of the convention's advance platform committee.

Alternate delegate Alvin R. Ball

16 'High' Mice Down to Earth

Soar 133,000 Feet for Test on Cosmic Ray Effects Up There

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Sixteen high-flying mice which soared to 133,000 feet in a balloon to test the effects of cosmic rays are back to earth.

The Air Force announced the mice were recovered Tuesday near Jordan, Mont., after traveling 35 miles from near Bernadine, Minn., since Sunday.

Unfitted with vest-like coverings to detect cosmic particles at high altitudes, the mice came to earth in a container that was cut loose from the balloon.

They will be sent to Brown University in Providence, R. I., for observation by Dr. Herman C. Fox. The school holds an Air Force contract for cosmic radiation studies.

Shaw Air Force Base, S.C. (AP)—Two jet planes crashed here today shortly after a side-by-side pre-dawn take-off. The fiery crashes killed four persons. One plane burst into a farmhouse and exploded, killing a sleeping couple.

The dead: Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Davis Sr., an elderly farm couple in the house; and the pilots of the RF-101 jets, Lt. Roger N. Siegel, 27, a native of Brooklyn, N.Y., and Capt. Clarence A. Toole, 30, of Franklin Park, Ill.

The Shaw Air Force Public Information Officer said the cause of the crash was not known. There were no witnesses when the planes took off at 3:46 a.m. on a night refueling mission.

Clerk Grabs Broom, Knife

Thugs Swept From Store

Armed with broom and butcher knife, a White Lake Township grocery clerk Tuesday rained the plans of two would-be teenage bandits.

The clerk, Fred Roth, told Pontiac State Police that two masked teenagers entered Raley's Market, 5100 Highland Rd. at 3 a.m., and ordered him to open the cash register.

The bandits carried belts with metal buckles, Groth told troopers.

When he refused, he said, they raised their belts as if to strike him.

Groth seized a nearby broom and butcher knife, ready to do battle but the masked men retreated through the door.

The clerk was unable to immediately report the robbery to police because the fruit market's phone was out of order for repairs.

Business Notes

The Pontiac area men have been appointed to administrative posts in Ford Motor Company's newly expanded industrial sales organization for the Tractor and Implement Division.

The sales staff is headed by J. B. Nicolls, Jr., of 1723 Blair House Ct., Bloomfield Township. Formerly division export-import manager, Nicolls joined Ford in 1947.

Harold Hanks of 4293 Crooks Rd., Clawson, has been named manager of the Tractor and Implement Division's Industrial Sales Office.

McNamara Still Planning to Run

No Intention of Retiring, Says, Senator; Surgery Kept Him From Confab

DETROIT (AP)—Sen. Pat McNamara (D-Mich.), who recently underwent surgery in a Detroit hospital, says he has no plans for dropping out of the race for reelection to his Senate seat this fall.

McNamara, 63, was forced to skip the Democratic National Convention in Los Angeles last week because of the operation, reportedly for cancer. There had been some speculation that he might pull out of the Senate race.

McNamara told the Detroit News: "I certainly have no intention of retiring. I have a program I am determined to get through Congress, some of it still this session."

"I feel sure we will get a good bill to provide medical care for 15,000,000 aged people. I hope to see the minimum wage raised from one dollar to $1.25."

"The nomination of Senate Majority Leader Johnson of Texas for vice president should assure us every help in the session when it resumes Aug. 8. I'll be there," McNamara said he was feeling better since the operation than he has in a year.

How to send your baby to college for $9.50 a week

A good college can cost as much as $65 a week these days. You can send your baby to college for $9.50 a week, if you start planning right now. Just earmark that $9.50 for U.S. Savings Bonds. In a month you can buy a $37.50 Bond. Keep it until your baby is ready for college and you'll have enough ready in Bonds to send him on his way.

The best part of it is that one-fourth of your total comes from the interest on your money. It's like getting a year of college free.

And your baby's college education is only one dream you can make happen by saving with U.S. Savings Bonds. You probably can think of some other things you'd like to save for, too.

More Advantages to Think About

You can save automatically with the Payroll Savings Plan. Tell your company how much to deduct from your pay for Bonds. This way you won't forget to save and your savings will add up automatically.

You now get 3 1/2% interest, at maturity. This new rate, which went into effect June 1, 1959, makes your Bond money grow faster. Series E Bonds now mature 14 months earlier than before—in just 7 years, 9 months. Bonds bought before June 1, 1959, earn more, too—an extra 1/2% from now to maturity.

You can get your money, with interest, anytime you want it. Bonds are a ready reserve that you can cash anytime at any bank. But it pays to keep them.

Your money is guaranteed safe by the U.S. Government. Bonds are an absolutely riskless investment. The Government promises you that the cash value of your Bonds will not drop—it can only grow.

Your money can't be lost or stolen. The Treasury will replace your Bonds, free, if anything happens to them.

You save more than money. You help save the peace with every Bond you buy. Bond money goes for science, education, military strength—the weapons of peace. And the money you save helps keep our nation's economy strong.

Here's how you can reach your savings goal with U.S. Savings Bonds in just 7 years, 9 months.

If you want about $2,500 $5,000 $10,000 each week save $5.45 $10.85 $21.70

Tin Containers

150 Years Old

Some Countries Prize Can Even More Than Its Contents

WASHINGTON—A special salute is due the tin can this year. The humble container is 150 years old. The tin can has served man faithfully from polar wastes to jungle swamps. It is no stranger in the least-tatched households of people who have never heard a radio or even an electric range.

In many lands the can is most prized than its contents and considered a handsome piece of local handicraft. The National Geographic Society says:

Many primitive homes are built of cans, especially the large tin used for carrying gasoline.

Not just the tin can but the canning process itself passes the century-and-a-half mark this year.

The story began in 1755 when the French Government offered a 12,000-franc prize to anyone who could find a way to preserve food.

At that time, food constantly spoiled. Soldiers and sailors, in particular, had dreary and sometimes dangerous food.

Inspired by the waiting award, an obscure French confectioner named Nicolas Appert began experimenting. For years he patiently worked in a tiny kitchen behind his shop. He discovered that food would keep if he cooked it, packed it in tightly closed glass jars, then cooled it.

Fifteen years after his first efforts, he presented his notes to the government, and in 1810 he was granted a patent for his process. Unfortunately, he went broke trying further experiments and was buried in a pauper's grave.

The same year that Appert received his prize, an English food processor named Peter Durand varied Appert's method by putting edibles in tin-coated iron containers.

Pioneer canners did not really know what their problems were. Appert himself believed that air spoiled food. It remained for Louis Pasteur to find that microorganisms cause most spoilage. Correct heating destroys bacteria, thus preserving food.

Properly canned food lasts all most indefinitely.

Doctors Help Overcome Cases of Insure

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Doctors in Pittsburgh have launched a "group responsibility" campaign to help overcome the rising costs of medical insurance.

The aim: To prevent abuses against or by insurance carriers; decrease coverage on short-circuits; formation of future medically insured groups in the population.

The plan: To prevent abuses against or by insurance carriers; decrease coverage on short-circuits; formation of future medically insured groups in the population.

Construction to Boom in 50th State

MENLO PARK, Calif. (UPI)—Hawaii will be saying aloha to a big construction boom during the 1960's, according to the Stanford Research Institute.

Construction volume totaled $174,000,000 in 1958 and should average $220 million annually between 1960 and 1970, an institute study found.

Upped Episode Delivers Pinch Hit for 'Diagnosis'

By FRED DANZIG

NEW YORK (UPI) — When a pinch-hitter comes into a baseball game and delivers a home run, a joyous whoop is heard from the crowd and the manager is depicted as a mastermind.

Last night, the managerial staff of CBS-TV's "Diagnosis" knew suddenly switched episodes on. Instead of the scheduled, "A Sudden Stillness," they sent in "Blood Will Tell."

Why? Producer Leo Davis and executive producer Bob Hammer said they felt "Blood Will Tell" best represented the series approach to its subject. The show was scheduled for Aug. 2 but they wanted a sharp hit, it is fitting for this crowd-of-one to take a yip. I guess the producers can let their bows too.

"Blood Will Tell," an attention-holding hour that was held firmly in focus with some meaty acting jobs, was written by Elliot Noran, based on a story by Max Ehrlich. It involves the murder of Mrs. West, a bed-ridden newspaper publisher who ruled her little empire with an iron hand on her telephone.

The clues consisted on a toothpick chewed, which Dr. Coffey gingerly lifted from a batch of bird seed, some caviar and bourbon stains and, finally, a dead mosquito. Coffey, peace on Mrs. West's tidy desk.

The mosquito gave Dr. Coffey the blood sample he needed to prove that the murder was committed by the managing editor, a campaign-winner due played by John Cromwell.

Motive: Mrs. West not only refused to give him a one-third interest in the paper, but she also was about to carry out on him. "It was right and it was just," said Cromwell as they led him off to jail. (I'd like to read the original he turned out for that paper.)

The acting by Lydia St. Clair as the boozing-journalist editor and Sally Chamerlain as the stepdaughter deserve special praise.

Incidentally, an insect-killer sponsored part of the show. I guess if Mrs. West had used the sponsor's product in her bed, Dr. Coffey would still be scratching his head and trying to solve the case.

THE CHANEL SWIM: Westerner, the on-air, off-air, westerner that was to replace Ernie Pyle on NBC-TV this summer, may not reach the airwaves after all. The Aug. 4 date slot now carries a "to be announced" tag at NBC-TV and a sponsor representative reports the show's status is still shaky.

Person to Person will occupy CBS-TV Thursday, 9 p.m. EST, time slot next fall. Various news situation comedies had been rumored to be headed for the schedule vacancy.

Col. John D. Craig, author-explorer, has signed as host-narrator for the new ABC-TV series, "Expedition," which bows on Tuesday, Sept. 20. Jackie Gleason's 60-minute CBS-TV variety special on Sunday, Oct. 9 is based on a theme of Great American Salesmen. Gleason's full-hour TV play, "Million Dollar Incident," has added Frank Falk, Everett Sloane and Jack Klugman to its cast.

Hugh Downs, who appears on a forthcoming "Invitation to Learning" program on CBS radio, will discuss the Abhidhammapiṭaka, the sacred writings of the Buddhist scholars.

Candidates, Canadians Confuse Screen Star

By EARL WILSON

HOLLYWOOD — Gina Lollobrigida's a little mixed up about "Nexon," "Kannadee," and other strange "peoples" running for President—and I tried my hardest to unconfuse her.

"Nexon" and Gina met last year in Washington—but her confusion began when she returned here from Canada for a few days and a friend asked her to a party to meet "all the candidates."

To Gina's ear, "candidates" and "Canadians" are similar. "I go Quebec to meet all the Canadians," explained Gina, who recently moved to Canada. "But I only meet one Canadian woman and about 200 American wolves."

"One man was really very shawking to me," related Gina. "He say, 'Ohhh, Greens, Stella meah, come tomorrow eat my swimming pool and we will have a fun.'"

"These men also say, 'Can I bring you home?'" "I tell him I am weeth my husband, but he says 'Oh, we will not mind him!'" "These man theenks I am free like a bird."

While Gina was watching TV at her bungalow at the hotel, she was troubled about Gov. Loveless having a name like that.

"Doooh, esee too bad, eet means without love," she said dejectedly. "Why doesn't he change his name to 'Lovemore' or 'Morelove'?" Ees better, no?"

Little Mike was in pajamas howling "I'm-for-Denney." Mike was wearing a Scotch. Gina, with her shoes off, was on the floor talking back to the TV. A woman politician was making a speech. "I see the impression like when I see a policeman in the street with a whistle. Ees not a woman at all any more."

Though she had never met Senator Kennedy, Gina said, "He is a very handsome man, I think thee can help him a lot." But she is worried about one more thing, "Kannadee" and "Canada" sound alike. If she says she's a Canadian does that mean she's also saying she's a "Kannadee" and will people think she's for Kennedy?

Gina's glad she's going back to Canada where she won't be hearing words like Kannadians, Kennedades and Senator Canady.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL IN N.Y. . . . Princess Margaret will attend a London Party for Ethel Merman . . . Hildegard plunked her dough into a Milwaukee vitamin company . . . Pearl Bailey, regarding Lollobrigida, Loren, etc., says: "They must have a lot of it in Italy!"

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: A local Romeo complained that his girl likes to sit in the balcony at the theater—so when he does to a drive-in he has to jack up the car . . . That's earl, brother.

(Copyright, 1960)

NOW A PRODUCER — Blonde actress Stella Stevens, whose chief claim to Hollywood fame has been a few bit and television parts and a fat role in the movie "A Life in the Beverly Hills," Stella, who formed her company during the recent actors' strike, thinks her movie might even be good enough to win a film festival prize.

Meet Your Candidates

Prof. Bagwell 'Lectures' at GOP 'Summer School'

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.
Returning to a familiar habitat, the classroom, Prof. Paul D. Bagwell felt right at home last night as he lectured his gold star "pupils" on their three R's—Republican victory, rehabilitation of Michigan business climate and restoration of a sound fiscal policy.

Oakland GOP for Nixon, Lodge

Entire Delegation Says It Will Go With Dick Spits on Rockefeller

As they get ready to depart for Chicago and the Republican National Convention next week, there's strong sentiment among delegates from Oakland County for a ticket of Richard Nixon and Henry Cabot Lodge.

There were mixed emotions about the big question mark of the convention — Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York.

All emphatically said they were "sticking with Dick."

One of the 10 delegates-at-large from Michigan, Arthur G. Elliott Jr., chairman of the Republican Committee of Oakland County, said he favors Lodge, the U.S. delegate to the United Nations — but only if Rockefeller can't be persuaded to accept the second spot.

RITCHIE: NOT ROCKY
"If I could get Rockefeller, I would take him over Lodge, of course," said Elliott of Pleasant Ridge.

Vehemently against Rockefeller for any position was Chad M. Ritchie, former county chairman and now treasurer of the county committee. He's one of Oakland's two delegates to the convention opening Monday.

Ritchie's ticket: Nixon and Lodge.

Fellow delegate Mrs. John Finnegan didn't attend last night's Republican rally in Bloomfield Hills. The member of the GOP State Central Committee is already in Chicago as a member of the convention's advance platform committee.

Alternate delegate Alvin R. Belden of Huntington Woods said he is for a combination of Nixon and Rockefeller.

"If not Rockefeller, I'll take Lodge," he said.

The second alternate delegate, Mrs. Leslie Consterline of Royal Oak, voiced her support for Nixon and Lodge.

Rocky Approves Nomination Bid — or Does He?

His 300-Vote Claim Amazes Nixon Camp; Scant Chance for Draft

CHICAGO (U.P.)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's strategists aimed a well-heeled blitz today at the nearly impenetrable wall Vice President Richard M. Nixon has built around the GOP presidential nomination.

A Rockefeller strategist said the decision had been made to place the New York governor's name in nomination before the Republican National Convention which opens Monday.

This move was reportedly approved by Rockefeller personally in a conference with his leaders which preceded a personal appearance before the party's platform committee Tuesday.

However, Robert L. McManis, Rockefeller's news representative, said today it was untrue that the New York governor had made any decision to submit his name to the convention.

McManis said Rockefeller will appear at the convention only as chairman of the New York delegation and his future course will be determined then.

The governor has said he is available for a draft but doesn't expect one to materialize.

STAMPED OUT

BLOOD WILL TELL

Receiving the biggest gold star for effort for the evening were the Republican women members of the Oakland County Council of Republican Women's Clubs.

They proved again the old adage — never underestimate the power of a woman—especially when it comes to getting out a crowd.

Some 1,200 men and women waited their turn in the hot corridors of the Bloomfield High School eager for a chance to hear the five state and many local candidates sell their wares.

"Where have you ever seen voters waiting in line to hear candidates 'before'?" inquired Arthur G. Elliott Jr., county chairman.

"This crowd, a tribute to Oakland County," said Elliott.

DISFIGURED BOW — The U.S. Navy destroyer Collett limps away from the scene of yesterday's collision off the California coast in dense fog. But, as the saying goes, you shoulda seen the other guy. The battle-crashed destroyer Ammen lost 11 men on its trip to the boneyard. It had unloaded its explosives just before the crash.

LONG BEACH, Calif. (U.P.) — A Navy investigating board tries today to learn what caused two destroyers with radars working to collide in fog Tuesday, killing 11 men.

At least 20 others were injured, but only six were hospitalized.

The collision between the destroyers Collett and Ammen occurred at 9:42 a.m. about seven miles off the resort city of Newport Beach south of here.

Patrick Medeiros, bow lookout aboard the freshly refitted Collett, peered anxiously into a fog as thick as cotton candy. His ship seemed to be gliding blindly through a cloud.

Suddenly Medeiros screamed into his microphone: "Ship dead ahead!"

An instant later the newly painted bow of the Collett smashed into the destroyer Ammen, a battle-crashed veteran on its way to the boneyard.

Thom Medeiros, 19, of Honolulu, heard the awesome sounds of disaster at sea—grunts, shouts, the clanging of bells, death screams, the hiss of steam, and the rip and tear of steel.

Medeiros escaped with a bruised thigh, but 11 other Navy men died in the collision Tuesday. At least 20 others were hurt, but only six were hospitalized.

The Ammen, heading for San Diego and deactivation, had just unloaded her explosives at nearby Seal Beach. Otherwise both ships could have been blown out of the water.

'Hit Back Hard at Russia'—Ike

Gives Green Light to Hot Counterattack on Propaganda by Reds

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower was reported today to be all for a policy of American officials hitting back hard and fast at Kremlin propaganda onslaughts against the United States.

Word from the summer White House at Newport, R.I., was that the President had given a personal go-ahead on this at a conference there Tuesday with Secretary of State Christian A. Healey and other key foreign policy advisers.

Much of the hitting back reported will be done through the State Department's new "dissemination" campaign. Asked by newsmen to speculate on the motives for the Soviet attitude, he said: "We take this attitude seriously and regard it as one we should give serious consideration to."

Further evidence of the policy of replying to Soviet charges came late Tuesday when the State Department rejected a Soviet demand to meet only a few hours earlier than 20 Soviet Americans be withdrawn from the Congo.

Lincoln White, State Department press officer, termed the Moscow demand a "disparaging and almost brazen effort" to obstruct U.N. efforts to restore order in the riot-torn Congo. He said the Americans were there to help the U.N. land troops from other countries as well as supplies for the U.N. units.

Ike Reveals Surplus of $1.1 Billion

NEWPORT, R. I. (AP)—President Eisenhower today announced a $1,100,000,000 budget surplus for the fiscal year which ended June 30.

The surplus is more than five times as large as the figure the President predicted last January.

"This demonstration of fiscal responsibility not only reinforces economic strength here at home, but reaffirms to the world that the United States intends to run its financial affairs on a sound basis," Eisenhower said in a statement at the summer White House.

The announcement, coming just a few days in advance of the opening of the GOP National Convention, is sure to be seized on with delight by Republicans in their campaign to retain the presidency and capture control of Congress.

This was the Eisenhower administration's third budget surplus in seven years.

Polio Epidemic Total 60
The Rhode Island polio epidemic total reached 60 Tuesday when a year-old Providence girl was stricken with paralytic polio.

A portion of the money which three city commissioners are attempting to hold up is for the making of the movie.

Landry and Henry Threaten Suit

City commissioners last night defeated a motion to block the city's advance of $15,000 for Pontiac's Centennial on grounds that approval of the outlay last week was illegal.

The Commission last week approved a $12,000 advance promised to the Greater Pontiac Centennial Commission, Inc., and the first half of a $6,000 grant promised the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce for the Centennial film it is producing.

Both votes were 4 to 3 simple majorities.

Last night, Commissioner Henry moved that the minutes of the July 12 meeting be amended to read that both motions were defeated by a 4 to 3 vote.

They contended that a simple majority was not enough to appropriate such monies, and threatened to take the question of the legality of such a move into court.

Their motion to amend the minutes was likewise defeated by a 4 to 3 vote.

QUESTIONS LEGALITY
Landry opened the meeting by questioning the legality of the 4 to 3 vote.

"The city's appropriation ordinance states clearly that it takes a 3 to 1 vote to pay out money for a purpose that is not specifically mentioned in the annual budget," Landry said.

"I maintain it is not mentioned in this year's budget appropriation," he said.

Henry claimed that "it takes a vote of five in favor to pay out such money under any city charter."

Mayor Proclaims 'Philippines Day'

Mayor Philip E. Rowston last night proclaimed this "Philippines Day" in Pontiac as the city prepared to play host to Philippine Ambassador Carlos Romulo.

Romulo is here today to receive a $30,000 airplane bought through donations from the people of the Pontiac area.

It was presented to Romulo by Rowston at ceremonies on the Pontiac Country Club Golf Course this morning.

The plane is named "The Spirit of Pontiac."

The plane is to be used for spreading literacy and Christianity through jungle communities.

They are among the early arrivals of a group expected to reach 60,000 by Friday.

By JOE HAAS
COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. — When the Clinton Valley Council contingent of the Boy Scouts arrived here in their special railroad cars they found everything in readiness for them.

They occupy one of the best locations in this area of several thousand acres in the Colorado mountains where for the next week will be held the largest assemblage of Scouts in world history.

It is Scouting's Fifth National Jamboree, and the attendance will be over 50,000 boys, coming from all of the 50 states, also from our territories and many foreign nations.

A Pontiac Scout, Richard Buckley of McConnell School, won the contest for a design for the gateway entering Clinton Valley Council's location here. This gateway is 18 feet wide and 18 feet high, and shows two deer holding up a map of Michigan, and can be seen for miles around.

According to our district executive Van Braithwaite, who has much to do with putting across the Clinton Valley contingent, the roster of nearly 100 boys will divide into two and one-half troops, as follows:

Four Persons Die as Two Jets Crash

SHAW AIR FORCE BASE, S.C. (AP) — Two jet planes crashed here today shortly after a side-by-side pre-dawn take-off. The fiery crashes killed four persons. One plane hurtled into a farmhouse and exploded, killing a sleeping couple.

The dead: Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Davis Sr., an elderly farm couple alone in the house; and the pilots of the RF101 jets, Lt. Roger N. Siegel, 27, a native of Brooklyn, N.Y., and Capt. Clarence A. Toole, 30, of Franklin Park, Ill.

The Shaw AFB Public Information Office said the cause of the crash was not known. There were no witnesses when the planes took off at 3:45 a.m. on a night rehearsing mission.

Belgian Troops Are Leaving Congo

Saturday Eyed for Completion

U.N. Force Swelling in Leopoldville, Dog Plans Look-See

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (AP)—The bulk of Belgian troops stationed in Leopoldville began withdrawal from the Congo on Saturday. U.N. officials pressed to wind up the evacuation by Saturday.

The Belgians already have begun turning over patrol duties to the swelling U.N. force in Leopoldville, but other units still withdrawn from about 20 cities and towns scattered over the strife-torn African republic.

U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld announced in New York he plans to fly to the Congo Saturday to check on the situation. Tonight he will make a progress report to the Security Council on the swiftly mobilized, blue-helmeted U.N. force the council ordered to the Congo last week to restore order.

Tunkwa was reported planning to introduce a resolution before the council calling for speedier withdrawal of the Belgian troops. Belgian Foreign Minister Pierre

Peru Chancellor Denounces Reds' Meddling in Cuba

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Pedro Beltrán, Prime Minister of Peru, denounced Soviet "meddling" in Cuba.

"We don't need any strangers telling us what to do," the gray-haired statesman said Tuesday night. "This is strictly a matter for the American states to settle, and we don't need or want any help from Mr. Khrushchev."

He arrived here by plane for a brief visit while his wife, the former Miriam Kropp of San Francisco, undergoes surgery for an undisclosed illness.

Bagwell Lectures at 'Summer School'

Elliott had his headquarters out in the crowd making the case to how the women did it. It was one of the biggest Republican gatherings in the county since Mrs. Richard M. Nixon visited Royal Oak in February.

The women, directed by co-chairmen Mrs. Robert Sinclair and Mrs. Allen H. Simmons, were as pleased with the standing room only crowd as with the punch they served.

Mixing his lecture on Republicanism was Oakland's Congressman William S. Broomfield. He was on a vacation, from politics. So large was the gathering that Prof. Bagwell, on leave from Michigan State University, had to relocate his class in the school auditorium.

Bentley and Bagwell held the most popular classes. The STAY AFTER SCHOOL.

They liked what Bagwell had to say so much that they stayed after school to ask him questions.

He repeated in the five classes he conducted that his 1958 opponent, Gov. Williams "didn't even know what the state's job situation was."

He said Democrats accused him of smearing Michigan in the 1958 campaign as a "last resort" after they were confronted with the fact that industry was leaving the state.

—Bagwell's biggest campaign plank. "When I'm elected on Nov. 8," Bagwell told the crowd, "I'll begin on Nov. 9 to bring in more jobs to the state and restore a sound fiscal policy so as to make Michigan a model to be emulated and not criticized by other states," Bagwell said.

Out roaming the halls of the school and not in the room designated for county office candidates was Charles A. Sparks, veteran county treasurer.

He apparently didn't see the need to pour out his campaign promises. He's won re-election consecutively since 1952.

Does Rocky Approve Nomination Bid?

But Rockefeller's most enthusiastic supporters were talking in terms of collecting upwards of 100,000 votes in the first ballot.

No one, outside of a handful of Rockefeller enthusiasts, could fathom the mathematics by which this Nixon total could be reduced below the 600 needed for the nomination by even the most vigorous sort of draft operation.

Rockefeller might command most of New York's 80 votes in a showdown, but where others would come from remained a puzzle.

The public demonstrations for Rockefeller, largely carried out by teen-agers ranging from 16 to 20, appeared as amateurish as those arranged for Stevenson in Los Angeles.

Boise, Idaho, registered a blistering all-time high of 111 degrees Tuesday. Salt Lake City, with a 104 reading, had its sixth straight day of 100-degree or more heat.

The prospect today was for more of the same. No could the weather bureau promise any measurable assistance in the way of rain for fire fighters battling blazes in the tinder-dry region of the West.

Twenty miles north of Los Angeles, 1,500 fire fighters battled to control a brush fire that has already destroyed four homes and threatens 40 more. Conservation workers fought another forest and grass fire near Ellensburg, Wash.

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP)—A Belgian transport plane crashed in the Congo today, killing 34 Belgian soldiers and seriously injuring seven, the government announced.

The plane, a C119 Flying Boxer, hit volcanic peak near Goma, north of Lake Kivu.

The crash scene is in the eastern Congo, some of violence against whites early in the uprising of Negro soldiers of the Congo army.

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Nepal has charged Chinese government troops with more trespassing across the Tibetan border in Mustang since the Hindu Times reported today.

The newspaper's correspondent in Kathmandu, Nepal's capital, said the government had sent a strong protest to Peking.

ROME (AP)—Two Soviet transport planes carrying food for the Congo took off for Leopoldville today after an overnight stop at Rome's airport.

HONG KONG (AP)—Red China has granted permission for two Americans to visit relatives imprisoned in China, the U.S. consulate said today.

A complete spokesman said the permission was given to Judge William C. Walsh of Cumberland, Md., and Mary V. Downey of New Britain, Conn.

Judge Walsh's brother, Bishop James E. Walsh, a Roman Catholic missionary, who was sentenced last March to 20 years imprisonment for espionage. He had been held in Shanghai since Oct. 10, 1958.

Mrs. Downey is the mother of James T. Downey, a U.S. Army civilian employee imprisoned in Peking. Downey was sentenced Nov. 25, 1954, to life imprisonment on a charge of espionage.

The committee will hear other spokesmen today, advocating in some cases more federal spending and in others less federal aid to the economic and public welfare fields.

The Day in Birmingham

Lack of Interest Tables Sale of Six City Lots

BIRMINGHAM — The City Commission has decided to table the sale of six city-owned lots indefinitely after learning that no interested parties had been received on the advertisement.

The lots are in the East Maple subdivision and are on Yorkshire street and Maple road.

The properties are served by water, sewer and gas lines.

"It's better that the minimum prices which were set on the property were reasonable, but evidently the market purchasers were not interested at this time," City Manager L. R. Gare said.

Voters authorized the city to sell the lots in the April election.

The city is asking a minimum bid price of $65 a front foot for the three properties fronting on Yorkshire and a front foot for the properties facing Maple road.

In another action Monday night the Commission declared the construction of the Forest avenue sewer a necessity and will proceed in creating a special assessment district.

The 12-inch sewer will run along the 12th Street.

Commission Nixes Centennial Blockade

"Commissioner Landry or any other taxpayer can go to court to prevent us from paying out this money," he explained.

Henry also criticized what he called "secret meetings of the Commission."

City Manager Walter K. Willingham said the 4 to 3 vote was "perfectly legal under the circumstances."

TALKED MANY TIMES "We talked about the Centennial many times and agreed to allow for it in the contingent fund," Willingham said.

Last fall, the 1958-60 Commission promised a $30,000 loan to the Centennial.

Early this year, the Chamber of Commerce said the city would pay half the cost of a $12,000 film, "Pontiac, Story of Progress and Promise."

Both promises were made at informal meetings, at which Henry was not present.

Half the loan, $25,000, was budgeted in the contingent fund for this year, Willingham explained.

Last week, Henry and Landry asserted that the city should pay the legal fees of former Police Chief Henry Straley, run up while successfully fighting his Civil Service Commission ouster, before paying out funds for the Centennial.

After last night's motion to amend the minutes of July 12 was defeated, Landry turned to City Finance Director Marvin M. Alvord.

"The crash scene is in the eastern Congo, some of violence against whites early in the uprising of Negro soldiers of the Congo army."

"I just want to be sure of this now," said Landry, "because you may be asked that question by a grand jury."

City Attorney William A. Ewart told the Commission he thought "there was sufficient commitment of the money for the Centennial loan and film in the contingent fund to make a $4,500 legal bill."

"DEALS WITH SURVIVORS" "The five-man jury, which was supposed to be agreed this would be budgeted in the contingent fund," he explained.

Asked after the meeting if he had decided to table the 4 to 3 vote, Henry said, "No comment."

Before the thermometer was invented, physicians measured the degree of bodily heat with their hands.

Goldwater Draws Wild Cheers

CHICAGO (AP) — Republican platform drafters are obviously partial to a conservative point of view, but the chances are they'll come up with a middle-of-the-road banner for the party to carry in 1960.

The 103-member Resolutions Committee heard speeches by nine political, industrial, economic, and scientific leaders Tuesday, it gave its most enthusiastic reception to those who criticized what they called a trend toward a welfare state.

The committee will hear other spokesmen today, advocating in some cases more federal spending and in others less federal aid to the economic and public welfare fields.

Family Income Rise Lags Here

Survey Indicates That Area Is Well Paid But Outgined Elsewhere

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Family income in the Detroit metropolitan area isn't keeping pace with national average increases, a University of Michigan survey indicates.

Although median family income was some $6,000, or 11 per cent above the U.S. average last year, the city has lost ground since 1951, said the survey.

For the nation as a whole, family income grew 50 per cent between 1951 and 1959 while the increase in Detroit was only 30 per cent.

The study brought out a number of trends.

Nearly all of the increase in median family income has been directed into the suburbs. The 1951-59 gains by sections shows the suburbs making up some 47 per cent of the total increase while the outer city income has increased 15 per cent and inner city increases were only 5 per cent.

Median income of families living within six miles of City Hall actually declined from $4,400 in 1958 to $3,800 last year.

MORE ARE POOR The proportion of low income families also has increased substantially in the past four years, the report said. Where some 13 per cent of Detroit families made less than $3,000 in 1956, 15.9 per cent were below $2,000 in 1959.

White families had a 35 per cent increase from 1951-59 while Negroes had only 8 per cent gain — from $2,800 to $3,000.

Graduates with 12 or more years of formal education dropped from $3,800 to $3,600, or 5 per cent.

Those with nine or more years education had an increase of nearly one-third in the same period.

The income gap widened for college graduates. In 1951, Detroiters with a college education had incomes $2,500 higher than those with only a grade school education. In 1959, the gap was $5,400.

Some party leaders said they believe the platform will fall somewhere between the conflicting viewpoints of Goldwater and Rockefeller. They based this on the belief that Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the probable presidential nominee, will urge a middle road.

Goldwater told the committee he is concerned that his party might lose its identity "in a makeshift effort to adopt the tactics and practices of the spend-and-spend, elect-and-elect architects of the New Deal and the Fair Deal."

Rep. John W. Byrnes of Wisconsin, chairman of the House Republican Policy Committee, said he would prefer party defeat to adoption of what he called a "spending platform."

Three-County Area Will Be Pivotal in Fight for Lieutenant Governorship

By United Press International
The three-county industrial complex around Detroit, because of its size and the two votes before the Aug. 9 primary as six candidates battle to the wire for their party nominations for lieutenant governor.

Virtually all the candidates—four Democrats and two Republicans—will concentrate their vote-getting efforts in the state's most populous area of Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties.

Of the four Democrats in the race, Grand Rapids attorney Richard F. Vander Veer comes into the fight with the biggest organizational advantage—the backing of the powerful state AFL-CIO.

But the other three candidates refuse to accept Vander Veer's lead as final. Labor leader George H. Dougherty, Flint, thinks that the AFL-CIO support of Vander Veer will work to his own advantage.

"I'm glad I'm not endorsed by (state AFL-CIO president) Gus Scholle," Dougherty told United Press International. "I'm interested in all the people of Michigan."

Dougherty, president of United Auto Workers Local 600, said UAW President Walter Reuther and Scholle get political advantage ahead of the interests of labor.

Dougherty is counting on support from members of Flat local, locals in the Detroit area where he once worked, and from residents of northern Michigan where he was born and raised.

The two other candidates are challenging Vander Veer on the constitutional convention question. Assistant Wayne County Prosecutor William J. Coughlin is the only candidate in the race supporting the proposal for a referendum on reform of the state constitution.

Coughlin is counting on support from con-con supporters and from backers of Secretary of State James M. Hare, the only one of three Democratic candidates for governor who favors con-con.

However, neither Coughlin nor any of the other three candidates for second spot on the state ballot is linking his campaign with that of any of the gubernatorial candidates.

Both Coughlin and Detroit attorney T. John Lesinski accuse Vander Veer of doing a "flip-flop" on the con-con question. They said he changed his position on the issue three times in order to keep the support of the AFL-CIO, which opposes the measure.

Lesinski is steadfast in his opposition to con-con. He is conducting "a limited campaign with limited expenses" and is counting on personal backing to see him to victory. Lesinski is a first cousin of Congressman John Lesinski and thinks the famous name in Michigan politics will garner many votes for him.

Lesinski has represented the 16th district in Congress ever since the bullfight was placed together from a corner of Detroit and the downriver suburbs.

There is a fifth candidate in the Democratic race for lieutenant governor, but he is not on the ballot. Eugene C. Keyes of Dearborn is conducting a write-in campaign.

The State Board of Canvassers refused to certify Keyes as a candidate, and the Supreme Court denied his request to order his name placed on the ballot.

Keyes, a one-time Republican lieutenant governor, sought nomination as a Democrat, but election officials ruled that his petitions did not contain enough valid signatures.

In the GOP race for lieutenant governor, there are no major differences between the two candidates.

Former LL Gov. Clarence A. Reid, Detroit, is campaigning on the issue of "experience," while State Sen. Edward Hutchinson, Farmville, claims that he is "close to the state picture" than Reid, who left the state House in 1954.

Hutchinson needs to "upgrade" the office of lieutenant governor, and says "there are a lot of more responsibilities out of the state arrangement than Richard Nixon has had as vice president."

Source close to Reid says that Paul D. Bigelow, the Republican candidate for governor, favors Hutchinson as his running mate. "It's going to be a tough race," Reid said.

PET DOCTOR

By A. W. Maher, D.V.M.

Q. Our dog has had a series of quies between his toes. What can we do to prevent this?

A. Actually, these are abscesses. Some dogs seem more susceptible than others to this common trouble, and we are still somewhat in the dark as to the cause.

Some cases are obviously caused by grass seed and other foreign material that enters the skin between the toes. When the abscess forms, the paw is painful and the entire leg is affected.

Give your pet temporary pain relief by bathing the paw in warm epsom-salt water (one tablespoon to one pint water). When the abscess is ripe, your veterinarian can decide whether it is best to lance, remove or cauterize to prevent recurrence.

Examine your pet's paws for seed, gravel, etc., after his daily run or walk. We've tried many substances to prevent these abscesses, but when the cause is not one of the external ones mentioned, vitamin A injections seem to give the best results.

Now Drowsy Motorists Can Chew Away Fatigue

NEW YORK—Weariness motorists need not stop for a cup of coffee to overcome drowsiness, it's asserted, if they have a supply of these coffee-flavored chicle chewing gum tablets made of a pure coffee base and fortified with vitamin A.

Called "Drive-Safers," they come in an easily accessible dispenser that hangs from a knob on the dashboard. The driver can twist off a couple and pop them in his mouth without taking his eyes off the road. Offered by Kean Energizing Health products, New York, N.Y.

Waterford Tax Will Be Decided

Board of Education to Determine School Levy Thursday Night

The Waterford Township Board of Education again will review and determine the school district tax rates for 1960-61 at the regular meeting at 7:30 p.m. Thursday.

At a special meeting July 7, Supl. William A. Shunk presented three basic plans for the Board's consideration in establishing next year's tax rate.

One would reduce the millage .75, another would keep the same tax rate as last year, and a third would raise the school tax from the present 34.46 to 35.50.

The third plan would enable the Board to pay off former school bond issues approved by registered voters of the Waterford School District, Shunk said.

In other business, the Board will receive bids for blacktopping a parking area at the new Waterford Kettering senior high school and an adjacent future site for a future school. Contracts for next year's coal supply also will be awarded.

Shunk will present a report on a new well being drilled at the Waterford Village School. The school is being demolished. The Fred P. Drilling Co. of Farmington is contractor for the well.

The Board will consider and probably approve the Waterford Township Recreation Department budget. Supported by the township board and the recreation board, the $31,500 budget had been returned to director Tom Belton for revision.

Consideration will be given to the new Carl Sandburg Elementary School attendance area, and student accident insurance for 1960-61 will be discussed.

Too Closely Identified?

Byrnes Resents 'Kookie' Role

By DICK KLEINER
NEW YORK (NEA)—There are two schools of thought regarding Kookie. Some casters say he's the wildest. And others resent him, figuring that this 37 Sunset Street character is hardly symbolic of the better things in TV.

Among the Kookie resisters there is a pleasant young actor named Edward Byrnes. This is surprising because Kookie is Edward Byrnes and, also, vice versa.

"Sure, I resent Kookie," says Edd Byrnes. "Every time I see my name in a column and they write 'Edd (Kookie) Byrnes,' I resent it. I want to be known as an actor, not as the character I play."

He has a point. They don't talk about Robert (Elliot) Stack, or James (Bret) Garner, or James (Matt) Arness. So why this Edd (Kookie) Byrnes bit?

Byrnes is actually traveling a well-worn route. Ever since Boris Karloff rebelled at being the Frankenstein monster, actors have become worried when they are too closely identified with parts they played. In some cases, such super-identifications hurt careers.

Byrnes is aware of the danger. To guard against it, he's feverishly looking for non-Kookie movie parts (he'll play a young rebel in the soon-to-be-filmed "The Savage Streets").

He stresses to everyone he meets that he's not really a Kookie, only an actor.

Of course, his resentment is that Kookie has taken him, in two years, from obscurity to great, passing fame.

Perhaps because he rose suddenly, Edd is a mass of contradictions. He will tell you how he resents Kookie and, in the next sentence, offer the opinion that he loves Kookie and that the character is 100 per cent Edd Byrnes.

He will tell you how he is trying to avoid the cool talk Kookie uses. And, immediately after, he will speak about his new home in California, which he characterizes as "a wild pig."

He will say that he never wants to get married because he likes "to keep twirling."

Then he'll tell you that friends who come to visit him in California are always disappointed because he stays home nights and doesn't like "to go twirling."

Byrnes is a New Yorker, 26 years old, "and I don't care who knows it"—who tried acting when he grew tired of old jobs. He was a red-hot movie fan as a boy, the still treasures a Robert Mitchum letter answering a fan-type letter.

EDD BYRNES

he wrote as a youth. After a whirl in stock around New York, he invaded Hollywood and just latched around until Kookie took him for a ride to the stars.

Around TV Town—Robert Montgomery may get back into television. He and James Cagney, who cooperated on producing the movie, "The Gallant Hours," are now considering future plans—they're mulling over three movie properties and some TV ideas.

Joseph Pierre Auguston, on his 14-year-old daughter: "She is very beautiful. I can say that because she looks like her mother, who was Maria Montez."

The celebrity dancer on "The Arthur Murray Party" who worked hardest to perfect her routine was Ruth Roman, says choreographer James Burback.

Maureen Stapleton on why she turns down offers for TV films in Hollywood: "It seems like a long way to go to do something you don't particularly want to do in the first place." ... Joseph Welch on why he has no credit card: "It's mobbishness. I know, but I prefer getting credit on my feet than to have to dig in my pocket for a card."

Byrnes is actually traveling a well-worn route. Ever since Boris Karloff rebelled at being the Frankenstein monster, actors have become worried when they are too closely identified with parts they played. In some cases, such super-identifications hurt careers.

Thugs Learning U.S. Methods?

India Has Gangster Scare

NEW DELHI, India (AP) New Delhi police are wondering if technology aid to India might unofficially have included some American gangster techniques.

The police are concerned that criminals here are beginning to catch on to some of the fine old arts for which Chicago is known around the world.

The development of modern methods and higher professional standards among Indian criminals would greatly increase police problems.

Crime in India has, up to now, been a rather backward thing by advanced American standards.

House robbery is still one of the favorites, especially since the average Indian knows nothing of banks and keeps his savings in cash or gold ornaments.

The pickpocket is active and his more advanced brother, the confidence man, occasionally fleeces

the unwary. Protection rackets exist in many cities and bootlegging makes a good thing of the prohibition in some states.

In the countryside, the spirit of Jesse James still lives. Train robbery is a popular sport so common it scarcely rates two paragraphs in the newspapers. Organized gangs of bandits, called dacoits, dominate large rural areas and rob anyone who happens to pass through. The dacoits often have good rifles but most other criminals are armed with knives.

The police system which India inherited from British rule is organized to deal with the old-fashioned ways, although in the case of train robbery and dacoits little is done. Adoption of modern methods by criminals could require some changes in approach.

What worries the New Delhi police are two recent robberies of gas stations. The stations were about three miles apart. Within an hour, five masked men raided them both. They used the same method at each.

Their black car, without license plates, roared up. Four men piled out with ready weapons — a double-barreled shotgun, two pistols, a knife. One stuck a pistol into the station attendant's chest and asked for the cash box keys. One cut telephone wires. One cleaned out the pockets of a customer. One kept watch. The driver was ready for a quick getaway.

A routine operation, perhaps, in America and parts of Europe, but for India new elements included the speed and coordination, and even the use of the car and guns. As a result, police are revising the beats of foot policemen to include gasoline stations. Mobile patrols have been instructed to keep an eye on them too. Other steps are being considered.

The gas station lost wasn't much — about 500 rupees ($15.50). The next logical step, if New Delhi criminals are following the American pattern of developing their skills, is to try to knock over a bank. But Indian banks don't look so easy as American ones. Here, they are guarded — sometimes by men with wicked-looking shotguns.

She announced early this year she was stepping out but then reversed herself.

Move Afoot to Shove Paul Bagwell in Spotlight at GOP Meet Monday

LANSING (AP) — A move was afoot today to shove Paul D. Bagwell, Michigan party titular leader, into the spotlight at least briefly at the Republican National Convention starting Monday.

State chairman Lawrence D. Lindemer and John B. Martin, national committeeman, headed toward Chicago in furtherance of this objective and to participate in other pre-convention activities.

Lindemer continued yesterday that the convention arrangements committee had been asked to slate Bagwell, unopposed for a repeat governor nomination August 2, for a rostrum appearance on Monday.

While it would amount only to an introduction, Bagwell would benefit from exposure to a larger television audience than it would be possible for him to get in any other way.

Lindemer said he understood there were plans for introduction of some congressional candidates but none had been firmed up on gubernatorial aspirants.

Aside from trying to promote Bagwell and settling a fight over Mrs. Rae C. Hooker's national committeewoman's post, the Michigan convention role didn't loom too big.

"Our delegation will be playing a supporting role for Vice President Nixon and his desires and providing a soft-sell approach for Jerry (Rep. Gerald R.) Ford — making him better known to delegations from other states," Lindemer said.

FORD, MICHIGAN'S FAVORITE

Ford, a popular 47-year-old ex-football player from Grand Rapids, is Michigan's favorite son for the vice presidential nomination.

Before it reaches its climax at 3 p.m. on Sunday, the national committeewoman scrap could develop into a three-way affair. Mrs. Catharine Gibson, formerly of Monroe, has let it be known she is available.

Mrs. Gibson has been away from Michigan to serve as president of the National Federation of Women's Republican Clubs.

Basically, the contest pits Mrs. Hooker, finishing a third four-year term on the GOP national committee, against Mrs. Ella Koene of Grand Rapids, GOP state vice chairman.

Mrs. Hooker first was elected in 1948 when Arthur Summerfield, now postmaster general, was installed as national committeewoman.

Cabbage Is Good Raw or Cooked

Raw cabbage combines so readily with other vegetables or with fruits that you can serve it time after time without having it become monotonous. Starting with shredded cabbage, you can create several different salads by combining it with different things: With orange sections and crushed pineapple; slivers of celery and caraway seeds; sliced apples and chopped walnuts; with sliced olives and chopped celery; or with slivers of celery and cubes of fresh cucumber.

For the more pronounced flavor of cooked cabbage, try this recipe recommended by home economists of the U.S. Department of Agriculture: Heat 1 1/2 cups of milk; add 1 quart shredded cabbage. Simmer about two minutes. Mix 1 1/2 tablespoons of flour with equal amount of melted butter, and add a little of the hot milk. Stir the mixture into the cabbage and cook three or four minutes or until thickened. Stir constantly. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Serves four.

Never Outgrow Your Need for Daily Milk

It's the same old song — drink four glasses of milk every day. If one finds the time monotonous, remember, there are several variations on the theme. There's more than one way to get the four glasses of milk, suggesting Josephine Lawyer, Consumer Marketing Agent.

Get an ounce of cheese and get the food value contained in a cup of milk. The same song, with a different verse, use cheddar cheese in cooking.

If one prefers the low calories of cottage cheese, eat 3/4 cup of cottage cheese. This equals a glass of milk.

Ice cream is the fun way to drink milk. One and 1/2 cups of ice cream equals the food value of a glass of milk.

When writing the score for the milk melody, count everything, milk used in cooking; milk on cereal; cheese sandwiches; ice cream cones. They are all part of the same old song we sing — everyone needs 4 glasses of milk every day.

Young Mom Has Heart Opened—She, Child Fine

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—A young mother, believed by doctors here to be the first to undergo open-heart surgery during pregnancy, gave birth to a healthy sixth child Tuesday.

Cynthia Mae Ingels, 33, of Minerva, N.Y., gave birth to a 7-pound, 15-ounce girl.

At St. Joseph Hospital, both mother and daughter were doing fine.

Mrs. Ingels had gone through her first five pregnancies without complication.

Then, in the fourth month of the latest, doctors said she developed signs of a blood clot. Examination showed a clot in the artery leading to the brain, which caused a temporary stroke and congested heart failure.

Doctors also found a severe obstruction of the aortic valve leading to the heart.

On April 7, she underwent a four-hour operation to relieve what is known as an aortic stenosis.

After the operation, doctors listened for the child's tiny heartbeats and found it to be fine. Three days later Mrs. Ingels was sitting up in bed. Two weeks after the operation she went home.

Isle Bid Pushed by Hondurans

Diplomat Already Has Taken Swan Question to State Department

WASHINGTON (AP)—Hondurans will continue to press the United States to recognize its sovereignty over the Swan Islands, a Honduran Embassy spokesman says.

The spokesman said Ambassador Celeo Davila already has taken the matter up with the State Department and will continue in his action stressing Honduran claims to the islands.

The United States has a radio station on one of the small islands, and included them in its recent census.

In a note presented to the U.S. Embassy in Tegucigalpa, the Honduran government protested the action. The note also was forwarded here for direct presentation to the State Department by Ambassador Davila.

The spokesman said the islands always have belonged to Honduras, and were recognized as part of the Spanish colonial empire, being transferred to Honduras at the time the nation gained its independence. The islands are in the western Caribbean north of Honduras.

The State Department has said the embassy is looking into a report that 13 unnamed Hondurans landed in the islands Sunday.

Congo Revolt Termed Integrated and Planned

WASHINGTON (AP)—An American medical missionary Tuesday described the revolt of the Congolese army as an "integrated, planned affair... certainly not a spontaneous uprising."

Dr. Mark Poole spoke from a background of 21 years in the Congo's Kasai Province where he headed a hospital in Bulape.

The Bay City, Tex., physician arrived here from the African republic.

A week ago he was flying his small plane taking missionaries from remote posts to Lubumbashi, a city besieged by Congolese soldiers—later freed by Belgian paratroopers.

Poole had only praise for the Belgian paratroopers; without them, he told a news conference, the casualty list in The Congo would have been much higher.

He said that when the Belgians were dropped in Lubumbashi to free more than 1,400 whites besieged in the city's hotel the revolting native soldiers fled in panic.

POOLE, 51, a handsome man speaking in low tones and without visible signs of emotion, gave a dramatic account of the days starting Sunday, July 10, when it became obvious that the missionaries would have to leave their posts.

Dr. Poole said the Congo situation was complicated because of what the future of The Congo will be. But, he said, The Congo cannot exist without guidance of white experts for at least 20 years.

He said he and most of the missionaries will return to The Congo "if effective work can be done there."

"The Christian natives need us," Poole said.

The Olympic peninsula in north west Washington state receives the heaviest rainfall in the nation. It is believed, with 200 inches recorded during some of the wetter years.

Poole, in Washington to give an eyewitness account on The Congo situation to State Department officials, refused to speculate on years.

Aircraft-Missiles Skip Rule, Rise

NEW YORK (AP)—Some of the aircraft-missiles and selected missiles made a good showing in an otherwise mixed stock market early today. Trading was moderate.

Gains and losses of fractions to about a point were scattered throughout the list.

Boeing and Martin Co. were up more than a point in both dealings as the international situation continued serious.

Universal Match, reporting higher earnings, also rose more than a point. Similar gains were made by Union Carbide and Automatic Canteen.

Second quarter earnings continued mixed and showed evidence of a profit squeeze. Radio Corp. dipped a fraction. Six-month sales were at a new high but net income declined.

DuPont, off about a point, sank to another new low for the year, having made a report similar to RCA's.

Steels and autos were unchanged to a bit lower on balance. U.S. Steel was off about a point and Ford a fraction.

Alcoa reflected some trading interest and gained a fraction.

Moderately higher were United Aircraft, General Electric, International Nickel, Texaco and Standard Oil (New Jersey).

Federal Court Order Opposed by Delaware Attorney General

DOVER, Del. (AP)—Delaware's attorney general, J. Mark Tamm, today announced he would appeal a federal court order requiring school integration by the fall of 1961.

"Since the State Board of Education, whom I represent, directed the two previous attorneys general to carry this matter to the U. S. Supreme Court, I do not anticipate that the board will give me different instructions," said Atty. Gen. Tamm.

His statement Tuesday night came 10 hours after the 3rd U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Philadelphia had told Delaware its grade-school public school integration was too slow.

The plan, which had been approved by a U. S. Dist. Court judge, began last year and would have resulted in total school integration by 1972.

In a 2-1 decision on an appeal by an attorney for 20 Negro youths, the Court of Appeals said Delaware's present plan does not meet the "deliberate speed" requirements of a Supreme Court decision.

Delaware can appeal within 15 days for a rehearing before the full seven-member Circuit Court which includes a Negro judge. U. S. Supreme Court review would be within 90 days to the Supreme Court.

Bove said he had not received the opinion. He added that if it is as accurate, then the opinion differs from an opinion of the U. S. 6th Circuit Court of Appeals in the Nashville, Tenn. case where such a grade-school plan was approved.

Belgian Officer Explains Congolese Views on Rape

By ANDREW BOROWICZ

THYSSVILLE, The Congo (AP)—"The Congolese don't look at rape in our sense," said the young Belgian lieutenant. "They frequently exchange wives among themselves."

The lieutenant, Alfons Schoonbroodt, a bachelor, is in command of a 1,000 ill-disciplined Congolese who hold Camp Hardy, where the Congo army mutiny flared 11 days ago.

Schoonbroodt said the Congolese had asked him to stay on after the uprising in which white officers were beaten up and their wives raped.

When independence came to The Congo July 1, Schoonbroodt said, the soldiers thought they were entitled to share wives with their officers as they had been doing among themselves.

"I myself saw Congolese soldiers playing with children while waiting for their turn to rape the mother," he said.

Schoonbroodt talked to this reporter outside the gate of the camp where Moroccan foot soldiers of the new U. N. force stood guard next to Congolese with fixed bayonets.

Nearly stood the empty homes of Belgian officers. Along the road were several charred automobiles burned by raiding mobs.

Ancient Kashamura, Congolese indigenous minister, charged in Leopoldville that the Belgians "were first to rape our women."

"People from Kindu, Kasanga and other places recently complained of having suffered violence from the Belgians," Kashamura said in a broadcast. "They endured the most scandalous savagery from a people who call themselves civilized."

Dem Hopes Full to Air Views

TV Program Will Host Swainson, Connor and Hare Before Primaries

By The Associated Press

The three candidates for the Democratic nomination for governor will air their views on issues in a weekly series of television programs sponsored by the United Auto Workers Union.

Ed Ger. John Swainson, Secretary of State James M. Hare and Ed Connor, Detroit city councilman, all will appear on each of five successive programs beginning Monday, the week preceding the primary election.

They will appear on the UAW's nightly "Telescope" program on KTLV-TV, Channel 9.

Guy Nunn, the UAW's radio-television department director, said Paul Barwell, the sole candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, "will be invited to appear on the UAW telecast following the primary, together with the Democrat who emerges as winner in the primary race."

WON'T ENDORSE

Nunn said the UAW was not endorsing any candidate for office. Meanwhile, leaders of the labor for Swainson committee claimed Tuesday that 28 Detroit-area local unions, representing 108,440 members, had endorsed Swainson for the Democratic nomination.

The committee also said Swainson was endorsed by two Flint UAW locals, the Brewery Workers Local 6, the Bakery Workers Local 1, the Yardmen of the Railroad Brotherhood, and the Lansing Motor Wheel plant.

Earlier Tuesday, Hare pledged to Waterford Township.

Ex-White Lake Boy, 13, Killed

Struck by Car While Riding Bicycle Through St. Charles Intersection

A former White Lake Township boy, John T. Johnson, 13, was killed instantly Monday when struck by a car near St. Charles.

The Johnson boy, whose family moved from its home at 955 Buckingham St. two months ago, rode his bicycle through an intersection and was struck by a car driven by David Griffiths, 25, of Flint, according to sheriff's deputies.

Johnson's father Allen was working on a road project in St. Charles area. Deputies said the boy was dragged 106 feet.

Griffiths told deputies he was on his way to his parents' home to tell them about the birth of his new son.

Johnson was a student at John D. Pierce Junior High School in Waterford Township.

Council Considers Detroit Income Tax

DETROIT (UPI)—The Detroit Common Council yesterday considered a proposal for a city income tax on a first and second reading, and authorized Council President Mary V. Beck to appoint a 12-member citizens committee to study an initial draft of the measure.

The vote was 6-2 in favor of accepting the first reading of the proposal, drafted by Assistant Corporation Counsel John H. Witherspoon.

Councilmen Blanche Parent and Ed Connor dissented.

Witherspoon will serve as moderator of the panel, to be comprised of four members from each of industry and business, labor, and home owners. The panel will make its first report to the Council Sept. 15.

The proposed 1 percent tax would apply to "all salaries, wages, commissions and other compensation of persons living or working in Detroit."

Found Troy, and Then Some

German Didn't Know Extent of Discovery in Greece

WASHINGTON (AP)—Archaeologists may some day know more about the Greeks who fought the Trojan War than did Homer.

The poet composed the Iliad about 800 B.C., four centuries after the fall of Troy, a great walled city in what is now Turkey. The Iliad Greeks finally captured the city after a 10-year siege by hiding soldiers in a wooden horse that the Trojans accepted as a gift.

Through the ages men have delighted in Homer's narrative, but eventually they came to doubt that Troy had ever existed, the National Geographic Society says.

Today, however, archaeologists are not only unearthing the remains of Troy; they have found the home of the Mycenaean Greeks who Agamemnon led against the Trojans. The Mycenaean language has even been deciphered.

The archaeological triumph had its beginning in the early 19th century when a seven-year-old German, Heinrich Schliemann, saw an artist's conception of Troy. The boy doubted that such a great city could possibly have disappeared without trace, and decided to find it.

He became a wealthy businessman and traveled across the world, but his heart remained in Greece. At last he moved to Athens.

There he named his home Belletrion; his children, Andromache and Agamemnon. He solemnized their baptism by laying a copy of the Iliad on their heads and read a hundred hexameters aloud.

In 1870, Schliemann explored the northwest corner of Asia Minor and decided, in the teeth of scholarly opinion, that King Priam's Troy lay under a hill called Hisarlik. After a year of digging, he began uncovering ruins.

The question soon became not whether Troy had existed, but of what size, built on what site, and another was the Troy celebrated by Homer. Modern archaeologists believe it to be the seventh.

Schliemann's discoveries rocked the scientific world and created a wave of enthusiasm for archaeology. He excavated Mycenae, uncovering gold masks, jewelry, and a sepulcher containing a skeleton. Excitedly, he telegraphed the King and Queen of Greece that he had found Agamemnon's remains.

Other scholars showed that the tomb antedated Agamemnon by four centuries. But like Columbus, Schliemann had discovered more than he sought.

Instead of Agamemnon, he had unearthed the lost Mycenaean civilization, now linked with the Minos culture of Crete. Taking his mistake in good part, Schliemann called the disputed skeleton "Schulze."

Oats Futures Attract Demand

CHICAGO (AP)—Oats futures attracted a good demand during the first several minutes today of dealings on the Board of Trade but other grains and soybeans were steady to weak.

All oats deliveries were on the plus side of previous closes with July up a major fraction on short covering. Rye and July soybeans were weak as longs sold out.

Trading in all July contracts ends today and all interests still long in the market after the close would have to settle by accepting delivery. On the other hand, short interests would have to make delivery.

Although open-interests in most pits were small, brokers said the market probably would show broad fluctuations in spots before the final going.
