GMCT Reveals Long-Range Plan for Super Trucks

The GMC Truck & Coach Division has embarked on a far-reaching engineering development program for GMC trucks that will bring "super-trucks" on to the super-highways of the future, it was disclosed today by Philip J. Monaghan, vice president of General Motors and general manager of the division.

Monaghan told a press conference this afternoon that the GMC truck engineering department, expanded 22 per cent in the past year and now one of the largest in the corporation, is tieing together new truck engineering concepts of great economic significance.

For the immediate future, Monaghan said, the new 1958 light and medium duty GMC trucks offer outstanding values with new styling, a new V-8 engine, a stronger chassis and a new automatic transmission for the medium duty models.

PHILIP J. MONAGHAN

They will be introduced in dealer showrooms the week beginning Nov. 11.

For the long-range future, Monaghan said, GMC was making a complete reassessment of the product with a view toward incorporating into it everything of value, in a single design pattern, now known to our engineering world.

It would appear, he said, from what is heard from many sources in the trucking industry, that what is needed is "a complete and radical departure from traditional truck design as we know it today."

The truck operator is thinking of obtaining new trucks that will cut down on his operating costs, increase payload and increase cubage which add more revenue to offset some of the rising costs over which he has no control, Monaghan said.

★ ★ ★

"We are in the business of designing and manufacturing trucks where even a small improvement means literally millions of dollars in cost savings for the operator, greater ease and efficiency of goods shipment by the shippers, and a decrease of the hidden costs of transportation of goods purchased by the consumer," Monaghan said.

R. C. Woodhouse, general truck sales manager for the division, said that the current upswing in industry truck sales indicated that 1957 sales volume would equal 1956, or approximately 1,100,000 units including export and Canada.

In forecasting 1958 industry sales, Woodhouse said he could see no reason to expect any substantial change from 1957 levels.

A significant truck market development this year has been the resurgence of half-ton truck sales, Woodhouse said.

★ ★ ★

GMC's retail deliveries and market penetration have been moving up steadily since the middle of the year, and GMC dealers reporting figures in a business management program show the same good monthly profits of a year ago, Woodhouse said.

Oakland Board OKs Proposals on Highways

Mackie to Receive Plan With North-South Road Passing Through City

Oakland County Board of Supervisors today approved a seven-point program of highway recommendations, including a north-south highway from Detroit past Pontiac to Flint.

The recommendations will be presented to State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie, in hopes that the north-south highway can be included in the state's present five-year road plan recently announced.

The Roads and Bridge Committee and the Oakland County Planning Commission were asked to consult with Mackie, before November 7, when a five-year-plan for Wayne County road building will be disclosed.

★ ★ ★

It was recommended that if Mackie decides to go ahead with construction of the Oakland-Hastings expressway in Detroit, a north-south highway through Oakland County should be constructed at the same time.

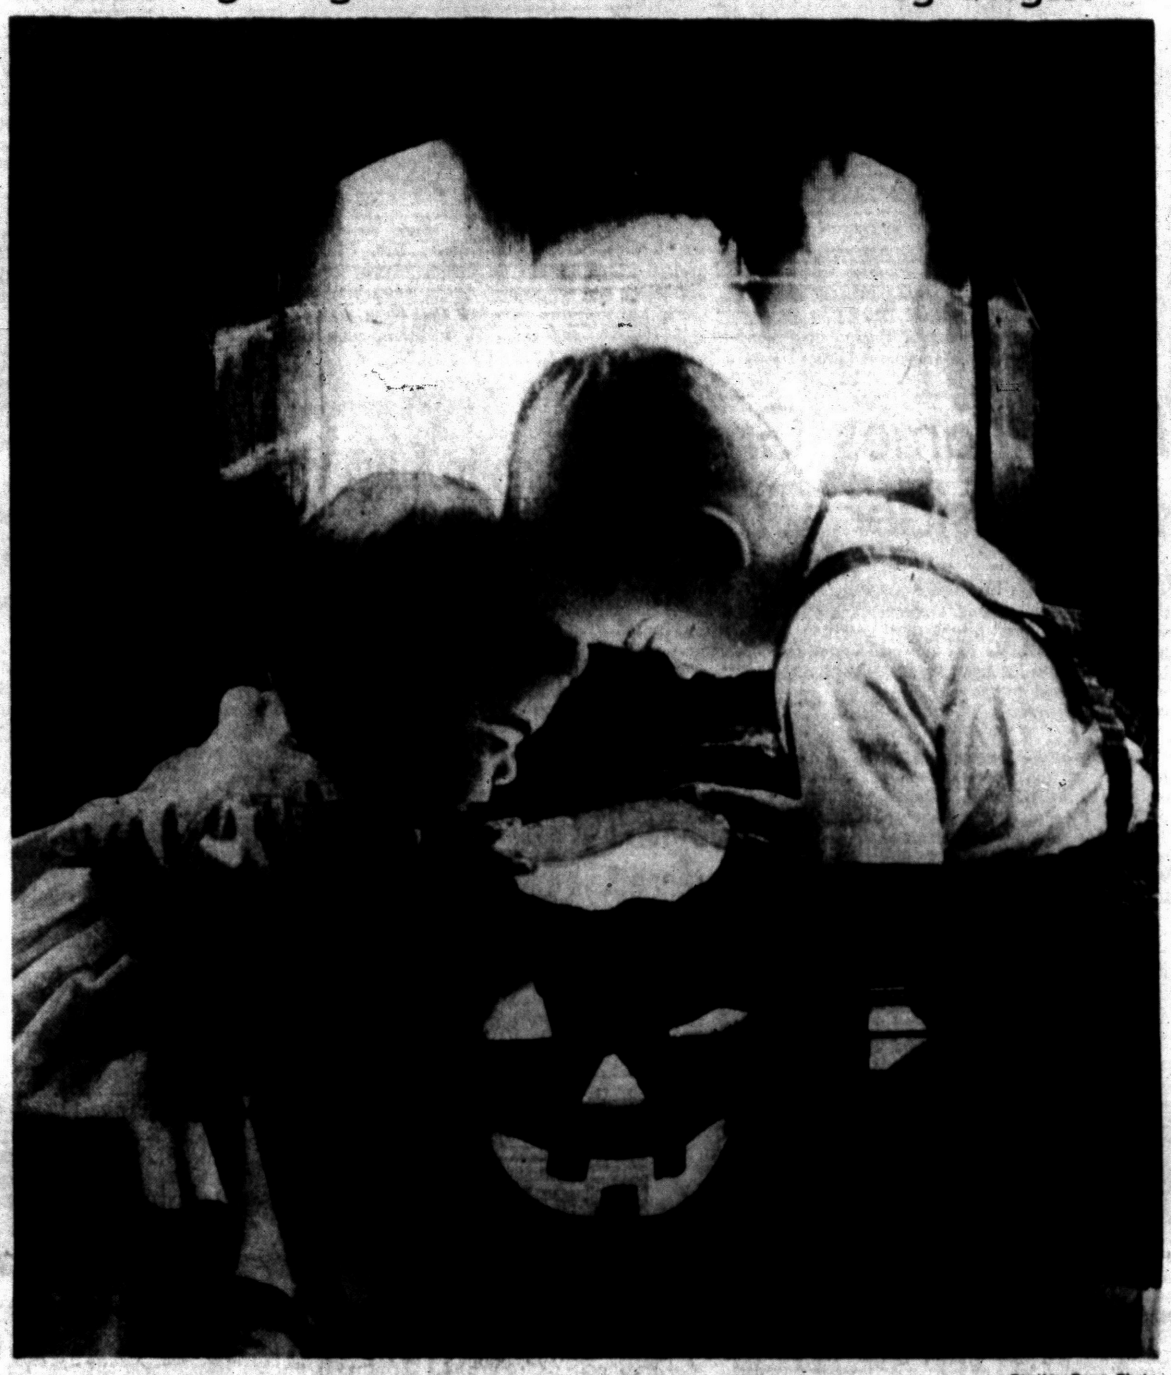

Supervisors recommended that this highway, which would not be a toll road, would connnect with the Oakland-Hastings expressway at Eight Mile road, and parallel Woodward to the east, to and beyond Pontiac.

The north-south highway would be part of the federal interstate defense highway system, and be eligible for up to 90 per cent federal aid, supervisors said.

Offering the recommendations was Supervisor Roy Goodspeed in

Heads of 15 Countries Expected at Meeting in Mid-December

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today he plans to attend the mid-December NATO Council meeting in Paris—assuming a majority of the heads of the government of the other 14 member nations also attend.

Eisenhower told a news conference he would like very much to visit England on the same trip but does not know whether he will be able to.

Eisenhower's statement that he wants to go to the Paris conference amounted to assurance that he will attend the meeting.

Earlier in the day the North Atlantic Treaty Organization announced in Paris that the heads of government of the 15 member nations would attend.

Eisenhower placed great importance on what he called the NATO concept of collective security and defense.

He and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan already have reached preliminary agreement to pool Anglo-American scientific resources in an effort to overtake and surpass Russia.

★ ★ ★

Eisenhower said the concept of such collective security is important to the free world.

Eisenhower said we don't know at this time whether Zhukov — with whom Eisenhower became acquainted at the end of World War II and with whom he has corresponded since — has been degraded.

Extraordinary changes in the Soviet hierarchy have been taking place during the last few years since the death of Stalin, the President noted.

He mentioned the ousting of Malenkov as premier, the de-

16 Die as Plane Hits Mountain

AF Tanker Smashes Into Remote Slope in Northern Arizona

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz. (AP)—All 16 men aboard apparently were killed when a four-engined Air Force tanker smashed into a steep and remote northern Arizona mountain yesterday.

The only authorities to reach the charred wreckage reported finding eight bodies and no sign of life. A thorough search for additional remains was begun today.

★ ★ ★

The Air Force said the plane, a KC97 on a routine flight from Walker AFB, N.M., was carrying 16 men but did not identify them.

The tanker plowed into the sheer side of Gray Mountain, about 40 miles east of the Grand Canyon site where 128 persons died in the crash of two airliners in June 1956.

An explosion was heard shortly after the plane was reported seen flying low over a nearby trading post. Reporter Bill Deaver of the Flagstaff Arizona Daily Sun, who reached the foot of the bluff shortly before darkness halted rescue operations, said a wide area around the wreckage was burned off.

The peak of the mountain, an ash-covered dead volcano, rises about 7,000 feet above sea level and 1,000 feet above surrounding terrain. The plane hit about half way up.

Starlings to Find They Have Home Here in Pontiac

Long the target of numerous schemes to drive them from Pontiac, starlings now have been granted a sanctuary in the city.

With the passage last night by the City Commission of the city's first no hunting ordinance, starlings can roost all they want in the city without fear of being knocked off by a rifle, shotgun, air rifle, slingshot or bow and arrow.

Commissioners passed the emergency law when City Attorney William A. Ewart warned of the danger to children by a large number of hunters within the city limits.

An examination of city laws last week showed no ordinance prohibiting hunting.

The new measure will make it unlawful to either hunt birds such as pheasant, grouse, partridge, duck, or animals such as deer, rabbit, squirrel or raccoon.

Violators will risk 90 days in jail or a $100 fine, or both.

City Manager Walter K. Willman was the first to see the immunity granted starlings. "Does this put our old friend the starling in a protective class?" he asked the commission.

Commissioners gave no answer. Apparently it had.

More Rain Thursday With Mercury at 60

Mostly cloudy with occasional showers tonight, says the weatherman in his daily prediction for the Pontiac area. Tonight's low will be near 40 - 44.

Thursday will be partly cloudy with little change in temperature. The high will reach around 56 - 60 degrees.

Precipitation Friday will total about one-quarter inch. Temperatures will dip as Saturday and Sunday become colder.

In downtown Pontiac the lowest temperature recording preceding 8 a.m. was 42 degrees. The mercury stood at 49 degrees at 2 p.m.

Pontiac's 1958 cars reach a new peak in styling and beauty. They are scheduled for first public announcement tomorrow. The Press will present the new car in color, as well as a full page of black and white pictures of the cars. Watch for them in Thursday's Pontiac Press.

Khrushchev Laughs at Reports of Kremlin Battle With Zhukov

LONDON (AP)—Nikita S. Khrushchev last night brushed off reports of a Kremlin showdown battle with Marshal Georgi K. Zhukov and announced the ousted Soviet defense minister will receive a new post.

NIKITA GAY

While the Western world buzzed with rumors of a struggle between Khrushchev and Zhukov in prolonged meetings of the Soviet Communist party Central Committee, the ebullient party chief turned up at a Turkish Embassy reception and told reporters:

"We have not decided on a new job for him (Zhukov) yet, but he will have one according to his experience and qualifications.

"I saw Marshal Zhukov today. I spoke to him. He was in good health."

MADE ATTACK

A Vienna newspaper suggested yesterday that Zhukov might be made military attache to outer Mongolia, the limbo to which V.M. Molotov was consigned as ambassador after he was purged in June.

Asked about reports that the 125-member Central Committee had been in session off and on since Zhukov's removal was announced Saturday, Khrushchev shrugged and told correspondents:

"You are making up those reports yourselves."

Khrushchev and Premier Nikolai Bulganin compared Zhukov's removal with the recent resignation of U. S. Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson.

ALL THE SAME

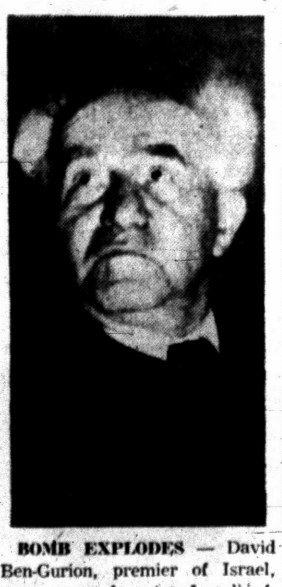

"It's all the same," they said. "There is no difference."

The comparison being made by Western diplomats was more dramatic. They recalled the Central Committee meeting last summer when Khrushchev had a showdown with V. M. Molotov, Georgi Malenkov and Lazar Kaganovich.

The tide then reportedly was

BOMB EXPLODES — David Ben-Gurion, premier of Israel, was among four top Israeli officials injured when a deranged man threw a bomb during a parliament meeting. Ben-Gurion's injuries were minor, but Social Welfare Minister Moshe Shapiro is reportedly in serious condition. (See story on page two.)

U. S. Expects Banishing of Zhukov to Siberia Post

WASHINGTON (INS)—U.S. officials said today deposed Soviet Marshal Georgi Zhukov will probably be banished to a relatively minor military post in Russia's Siberian hinterland.

They said Communist Party Boss Nikita S. Khrushchev appeared to have won a victory over the Red Army in the Kremlin's power struggle.

Virtual exile of Zhukov, who guided the military to new authority and prestige after Stalin's death, will almost certainly result, they said.

This was the Washington interpretation of Khrushchev's remark that the dismissed defense minister will be given a new post "commensurate with his qualification," and Premier Nikolai Bulganin's statement that "the party had achieved complete victory" in the Kremlin power struggle.

U. S. observers took a tongue-in-cheek attitude toward Khrushchev's promise of a new job for Zhukov. They noted, too, that one of the party boss' deputies said that he had seen Zhukov and that he was "in good health."

Officials said that neither of these two assurances from Soviet officials was surprising in view of the recent pattern of the Kremlin hierarchy in getting rid of unwanted rivals for power.

They pointed out that Lavrenti Beria, purged head of the secret police, was the last high Soviet official to be shot after his removal from office.

Since then the Kremlin has simply banished deposed officials to minor posts in Siberia or outer Mongolia, where they could be watched and could do no harm.

This was the case with V. M. Molotov, long-time Soviet foreign minister under Stalin, who was demoted last summer after he lost a power struggle with Khrushchev.

Molotov also was given "a new job." He was made ambassador to the Soviet Republic of Outer Mongolia.

Buick Executive Killed by Car

Roy I. MacArthur Hit in Front of Sanitarium Near Rochester

Roy I. MacArthur, general superintendent of Buick Motors Division, Flint, was killed instantly last night when struck by a car on Pontiac road, about one mile west of Rochester.

The accident occurred in front of the Haven Sanitarium where MacArthur, 64, of 2930 Circle Dr., Flint, had been spending the past week following an illness.

He was officially pronounced dead on arrival at Pontiac General Hospital by Deputy Coroner Isaac C. Prevette. He suffered a broken neck and skull fracture.

The car was driven by Mrs. Thelma M. Ryckman, 35, of 145 Orion St., Lake Orion. She told deputies that MacArthur was crossing the highway at an angle, with his back to her. She said that she pulled to the right, but could not avoid hitting him.

Mrs. Betty Smith, afternoon supervisor at the Haven, said MacArthur had gone out for an evening stroll. He had been with General Motors since 1911. Surviving are his wife, Mildred, and a son and daughter.

Rose, 11, Escapes by Jumping From Porch

Parents, 6 Children Perish in Fire

PICKFORD (INS)—Eight members of one family were burned to death early today here at Pickford, 30 miles north of St. Ignace.

Only one person in the family survived.

State police and Sheriff's officers listed the dead as Verne Cerrik, 45, his wife, Irene, 30, and six of their seven children, Dennis, 9, Harold, 7, Norma, 5, Joy, 3, Daniel, 18 months and James, one and a half months.

The only survivor was Rose, 11.

She told police that she was awakened by the sound of breaking glass and believed that her mother and father were breaking windows.

Rose added that she heard her sister, Norma, screaming. The girls shared one of the three bedrooms in the 20 by 24 foot two story frame house.

JUMPS FROM WINDOW

She said she started down the stairs looking for her sister and other members of her family but could not reach the first floor, where her father slept, because of the flames.

She jumped from one of the smashed second floor windows to a raised back porch and leaped to the ground.

Then she ran next door to the home of her uncle, Arthur Cerrik, who called fire departments in Pickford and nearby Cedarville. The house is almost halfway between the two communities in a sparsely populated area.

By the time Arthur Cerrik reached the blazing house after he called for help it was too late to enter. He shouted but no one answered his calls.

★ ★ ★

The quickly-spreading blaze was believed to have started from a coal heater.

Except for the father, the other members of the family slept on the second floor. Cerrik, a part-time woodsman, also operated a small farm on his own property.

State Police said the bodies of the eight victims have been recovered from the smoldering debris.

The bodies were removed from the rubble by Mackinac County Sheriff Leslie MacDonald, Coroner George Davis and two state troopers. Water was hauled for three miles to cool the debris before the bodies could be found.

The last bodies removed were those of the mother and the youngest child. The mother was holding the baby in her arms.

The bodies were taken to the Quinnell Funeral Home in Pickford.

★ ★ ★

The fire was described by officials as the worst of its kind in the history of the Eastern Upper Peninsula. A family of six died in a similar fire in the Soo area in 1953.

Fire Damages Estimate Upped

Furniture Store's Loss of $65,000 Is Mostly Covered by Insurance

Damage estimates of the fire that swept Orchard Furniture and Appliance Co., 164 Orchard Lake Ave., were upped today to $65,000.

★ ★ ★

According to James White, Pontiac Fire Dept. assistant chief, the blaze caused $45,000 damage to the contents and $20,000 to the building. Most of the loss is covered by insurance.

★ ★ ★

The fire marshal and city electrical inspector are trying to determine the cause today.

The blaze broke out at 11 a.m. and could not be brought under control for nearly two hours. It apparently started in the warehouse behind the store.

★ ★ ★

The warehouse, according to Murry Bloom, co-owner, was jammed with Christmas stock which had just arrived. His brother, Edward, tried to fight the conflagration with a chemical extinguisher but it spread too fast.

★ ★ ★

Even after the fire was believed out, the fire department made two more trips to the store. At 10 p.m. furniture began to smolder again, and at 2:45 this morning some mattresses thrown outside the building blazed up.

Molotov, Malenkov and Kaganvich were banished from high party circles.

NO NEWS

An announcement had been expected after reports that the Central Committee had been in session all Monday night and Tuesday morning. But there was none.

In Berlin, Soviet sources claimed today the Central Committee of the Soviet Communist Party has not yet decided whether to expel Khukov from the ruling party Presidium.

Zhukov's successor as defense minister, Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky, has appealed to the officers of the Soviet Armed Forces to accept the Central Committee's decision, the informants said.

They added that a purge of pro-Zhukov officers in the Army can be expected.

And in Vienna, radio announcements from several satellite capitals today made clear that a Red summit conference will be held in Moscow next week.

The Communist party bosses and premiers from throughout the Soviet bloc will meet in connection with the celebration of the 40th anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution Nov. 7.

PTA Names Group to Consider Curfew

A committee of five parents and three junior high school students will meet tomorrow afternoon to formulate a workable city curfew ordinance for teenagers which they will recommend to the city commission next week.

★ ★ ★

The committee, consisting of members of the Pontiac Council of PTA (Parent-Teacher Association), PTSA's (Parent-Teacher-Student Association) organizations in local junior high schools, was selected last night during a meeting of the presidents of the council.

They are Donnie Smith Jr., junior and senior high school counselor; John F. Perdue, principal of Bagley elementary school and youth chairman of the council; Mrs. William Mihalek, council president; Mrs. William Anderson, council first vice president, and L. D. McLaughlin, council juvenile protection chairman.

The three students will be appointed this afternoon.

The committee was formed following a plea in the form of a letter to the council from Smith and Perdue. They requested the council to promote an internal curfew to be set up by the parents themselves with the ultimate goal of revamping the unreasonable 1915 city ordinance. The present law orders youngsters under 16 years old to be off the streets by 8 p.m.

Smith said today that the committee intends to suggest a curfew time and the penalties which should be invoked if it is violated.

They also hope to decide who should be responsible for a curfew violation, the parents or the youngster, in their recommendations to the city commission.

He added that the council was "very receptive" to the idea of overhauling the old city ordinance to meet present day needs.

Committee Appointed to Study Streamlining of Oakland Government

A study committee to look into the possibility of streamlining Oakland County government was appointed today by Delos Hamlin, Board of Supervisors chairman.

Springfield Township Supervisor John L. Carey, who originally called for such a committee, was appointed chairman of the nine-member panel.

Serving with Carey will be Elmer Kephart, Bloomfield Hills supervisor; Charles B. Edwards Jr., Madison Heights supervisor, and Frank F. Webber, Addison Township supervisor.

John Austin, a member of the Board of Auditors, and Harry J. Merritt, corporation counsel, will also serve.

Three citizen - at - large members appointed are Mrs. Ann Rumsey of Franklin, former president of the Birmingham League of Women Voters; William F. Kalwitz, GMC Truck and Coach executive, and James Clarkson, executive vice president of Pontiac Federal Savings & Loan Assn.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Rumsey's position on the study committee will mark one of the few times that a woman has held a post on a county committee.

"I felt that a woman's viewpoint was needed on the committee," said Hamlin.

The group has an objective of streamlining the county government and coming up with recommendations for state legislative changes. Members are granted the right to go to universities for assistance in the work. They will serve without pay.

The Oakland County Lincoln Republican Club will elect 1958 officers at a 6:30 p.m. meeting, Nov. 4, at Kingsley Inn in Bloomfield Hills, retiring president George F. Taylor announced today.

Election Results to Be Canvassed

Only 11 Precincts Show Favorable Vote; Top in Turnout Was District 5

The City Commission will canvass the results of Monday's special hospital bond election at a meeting tomorrow night at 8.

The $950,000 general obligation bond issue was defeated by 3,530 to 2,150. It needed 60 per cent to pass.

Only 5,738 of an estimated 17,000 property owners eligible to vote turned out for the balloting.

Of the 43 precincts that reported, only 11 showed favorable votes on the issue. These were precincts 1, 3, 5, 7, 8, 30, 31, 36, 37, 38, and 40.

District 1, on the south side of the city, showed the most "yes" precincts with 5. District 2 and 3 had three each. The other four districts showed precincts all voting against the issue.

★ ★ ★

Precinct 34 (in District 1) at the Public Housing Commission office failed to post any returns when the machine was opened for a tally. It did show that 32 votes had been cast.

City Clerk Ada R. Evans was examining the machine this morning along with a representative of the manufacturers in attempt to determine the error.

She was also to seek an explanation why 26 votes in different precincts were made void. She theorized that curious voters lifted up write-in slots, thus making this action their vote, and preventing them from pushing the "yes" or "no" pointers down.

★ ★ ★

The error in precinct 34 was not the fault of the machine, but rather the result of precinct workers giving wrong instructions to voters or voters not following correct instruction, according to C. Harold Swanson, general foreman of the Automatic Voting Machine Corp.

★ ★ ★

He said it was the first time such an incident has happened with one of the machines.

The 26 votes, he said, resulted from the voting manner Mrs. Evans had described.

In total turnout by districts, commissioner John A. Dugas' District 5 was tops with 1,288. The others were: Ditstrict 1,441; District 2, 1,150; District 3, 765; District 4, 937; District 6, 601; and District 7, 556.

Supervisors OK Highway Proposals behalf of the county planning commission.

Goodspeed said that if Mackie decides to go ahead with the Oakland - Hastings expressway, traffic headed toward Oakland County would become heavily congested if the expressway were not continued north.

Mackie said a north-south highway through Oakland County would not be built in the first five-year plan announced recently, because of the funds committed to the extension of Northwestern Highway.

★ ★ ★

He added, however, that it would probably be in the second five-year plan beginning in 1962.

The other recommendations of the supervisors were:

1—The Northwestern extension be constructed as soon as possible. No date has been announced by the State Highway Commission for the start of this project.

2—In planning area highways, Mackie should follow the recommendations of the $750,000 traffic origin and destination study completed in 1956.

★ ★ ★

3—An east-west expressway be constructed in the vicinity of 10-Mile Road.

4—An east-west expressway be constructed eventually in the vicinity of M59, to relieve traffic congestion in Pontiac.

5—That the state provide funds for the purchase of future rights-of-way before areas are developed hindering completion of these projects.

★ ★ ★

6—That these last five recommendations be considered in Mackie's second and third five-year highway plans.

Pick Thomas Leonard for Welfare Board

Despite his offer to resign from the State Legislature, Rep. Lloyd L. Anderson of Waterford Township today was defeated in a bid for a post on the three-member Oakland County Social Welfare Board.

Anderson said he would give up his $5,000-a-year post as representative to take the $7,500 position, which the supervisors awarded to Thomas Leonard, acting manager of the Oakland County Convalescent Home. It was believed that Leonard will continue as manager of the Home, putting his combined salary at $12,000.

4 Other Officials Injured in Israeli Parliament

Grenade Wounds Ben-Gurion

JERUSALEM (AP)—Israel's social welfare minister was reported in serious condition today, a victim of a deranged young Jew who hurled a small grenade into the Israeli Parliament.

★ ★ ★

Premier David Ben-Gurion, Foreign Minister Golda Meir and two other Cabinet ministers escaped with minor injuries when the explosive went off last night near the speakers' dais.

But anxiety was expressed over the condition of Welfare Minister Moshe Shapiro, who was hit in the stomach, head and chest.

Police said the grenade was thrown from the rear of the public gallery by Moshe Ben Jacob Douek, 25, a former patient in a mental hospital. A maintenance employe nabbed him.

HELD A GRUDGE

Police quoted Douek as saying he had a grudge against Youth Alyah, an immigration organization which helped him migrate from Iraq to Israel several years ago.

★ ★ ★

In past years he reportedly claimed damages unsuccessfully for an injury received 10 years ago; wrote a threatening letter to the president of the Israeli Supreme Court, was confined to a mental hospital and then released, and tried to set fire to one of Israel's largest hospitals.

Ben-Gurion, the 70-year-old white-haired leader of Israel almost continually since its founding, was injured superficially on his hands and left leg by bomb splinters.

He was hospitalized overnight although he insisted on going home.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Meir, 59, former Milwaukee school teacher and foreign minister since June 1956 also was kept at the hospital overnight. She received a slight splinter wound in her right foot.

Communications Minister Moshe Carmel, who suffered a broken bone in the left arm, was also hospitalized.

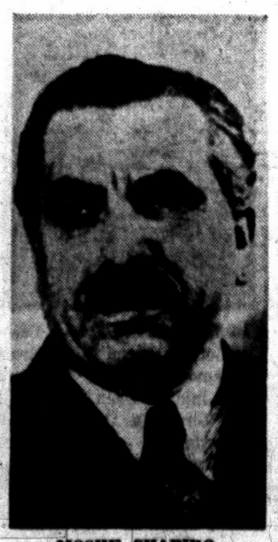

Mrs. Meir was addressing about half of Parliament's 120 members in a foreign policy debate when the grenade was thrown.

It landed between the speaker's dais and the government table, within two feet of where Shapiro and Carmel were seated.

There was a flash of fire, a loud report, and a cloud of smoke. Shapiro and Carmel sat still, blood spreading on the floor. Other ministers jumped up. Visitors in the gallery tried to flee but were held until police arrived.

Post Office Is Considering Need of Enlarged Space

BIRMINGHAM — Although they have been given no date, officials of the Birmingham post office have been assured that in the near future, a survey will be made to consider enlarging the post office area.

★ ★ ★

Postmaster Rolland Reese said immediate needs are for a parcel post annex of 5,000 square feet and off-street parking spaces to handle the increased number of new customers.

The past three years have seen annual increases of 2,000 new residents in the area served. An estimated 74,000 residents in the city and rural areas are now getting their mail through the Birmingham post office.

Reese said that he and Congressman William S. Broomfield have rejected the plan for converting the basement into work space.

Reese said this would be a waste of money, since it would greatly increase operational costs without increasing work efficiency.

He said it would be merely a stop-gap and would be outgrown in a short time.

The postmaster also pointed out that under the present conditions, the post office spends nearly $2,000 a year renting parcel post space for the Christmas rush. Reese feels that this expenditure would be far better if made on a permanent building of adequate size for immediate and future needs.

A 35-year-old Birmingham truck driver was seriously injured in Detroit yesterday when he was pinned between the rear of his truck tractor and a steel trailer containing 22 tons of slag.

The trailer tipped over on its side while Frank Sammut of 1389 Lake Park, was delivering the slag to a Detroit firm. He was pinned while standing between the tractor and trailer as workmen prepared to return the trailer to an upright position.

Col. Edward E. Hebb will entertain the Senior Men's Club at the Community House Friday. He will show motion pictures of his 4,000 mile trip through Africa.

Dr. John Phelps, organist at the First Presbyterian Church here, with his wife, will present a program of organ and piano music Nov. 6 when the Hammond Organ Club meets in Grinnells.

Mrs. Charles Edwards says the program will include several familiar numbers as well as some compositions by Dr. Phelps.

Mrs. Delia Simpson Chappell

Service will be at 3 p.m. Friday from the Manley Bailey Funeral Home for Mrs. Delia Simpson Chappell, 98, of 2647 West Walton Blvd., Pontiac.

Mrs. Chappell died Tuesday after a prolonged illness. A native of Southfield Township she had spent her entire life in this area.

She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Velma Clark, and a son, Lloyd Chappell, both of Pontiac.

Sentences 'Cat Burglar' to 7½-15 Years in Prison

Birmingham's so-called "cat burglar" was sentenced yesterday by Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty to 7½ to 15 years in State Prison of Southern Michigan at Jackson.

Ernest J. Morris, 42, no known address, who police credit with dozens of nighttime burglaries in Birmingham and Grosse Pointe, was apprehended Aug. 22 after being knocked out in a leap downstairs at a Birmingham home.

Shooting Victim Vanishes From General Hospital

Pontiac Police are searching for a Highland Township shooting victim who evidently decided to leave Pontiac General Hospital quite abruptly last night, according to a hospital spokesman.

The hospital reported to police that Mrs. June Lebel, 59, of 1001 Hickory Ridge Rd. disappeared from the hospital sometime between 8 and 8:15.

She had been hospitalized since an unknown assailant shot her Oct. 9. with a .22 gun, striking her in the mouth. She was described by a hospital official as wearing a light housecoat, and she had a wire through her lower jaw.

She was believed to have left the hospital with friends, after calling someone to come and get her.

Girl, Workman Die in Separate Mishaps

MONROE (AP) — A 10-year-old girl was accidentally shot to death at her home and a workman was killed in a job mishap yesterday.

Judith Duvall was the shooting victim—from a shot fired from a cased shotgun by her brother, Richard apparently triggered the gun while holding it in its soft, suede case.

Judith was sitting on a living room sofa and her brother in a chair across the room. Richard had the cased gun on his lap. The 12-gauge charge struck Judith in the head.

Angelo Cipriani, 66, employed on a Port of Monroe job, was killed by the swinging shovel of a crane that crushed him against a railway freight car.

The crane operator, J. Stanley Little, 56, said a mechanical defect sent the shovel out of control.

Bomb Scare Delays Plane at Willow Run

DETROIT (AP) — A bomb scare last night held up a United Airlines flight from Willow Run Airport to New York for two hours.

H. J. Fellows, district sales manager for United, said the flight was scheduled to leave at 9:30 p.m. but was delayed when an anonymous phone caller said a bomb had been placed aboard the plane.

A precautionary search of the baggage and cargo of the plane showed the call was a hoax, Fellows said.

Sees Epidemic Ending

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit's health commissioner, Dr. Joseph G. Molner, says he believes the city's flu epidemic may be over within two weeks, a month earlier than originally expected. He added, "However, a sharp change in the weather could cause an upsurge."

Firemen Given OK

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Fire Commission ruled Tuesday it was firemen's union to endorse political candidates for Detroit's municipal election. The endorsements were printed in the publication of the Detroit Fire Fighters Assn. College Man Shoots Wife, Father-in-Law

BELOIT, Wis. (AP)—A 21-year-old Beloit College student set fire to his home last night, shot and critically wounded his estranged wife and her 70-year-old father and fled to nearby Rockford, Ill., where police captured him early today.

Held in Rock County Jail at Janesville was Edward R. Burns, who was apprehended in Rockford about five hours after he allegedly shot his wife, Christine, 19, and her father, John Jacobson, 70.

Mrs. Burns, struck in the hip by a blast from a 12-gauge shotgun, and Jacobson, shot in the stomach and the groin, were in serious condition at Beloit Hospital.

Police said Mrs. Burns had been living with her father pending a divorce.

★ ★ ★

Dist. Atty. Joseph Forrestal said he would hold Burns on an open charge pending the outcome of the injuries to Mrs. Burns and her father.

AEC Staff Urges Plant Construction

WASHINGTON (AP) — The staff of the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) says that issuance of a construction permit for a nuclear reactor near Monroe, Mich., would mean no public hazard.

★ ★ ★

The AEC staff, urging simultaneous construction and research, takes the position that delay in construction would serve no purpose.

Proposed findings of fact and conclusions by the commission staff were filed yesterday in the hearing on the reactor project. Three labor unions have attacked the project on grounds of public safety.

The staff said that Power Reactor Development Corp. (PRDC) has the financial means to build and construct the power plant. PRDC is a group of private utilities headed by the Detroit Edison Co.

★ ★ ★

The International Union of Electrical Workers, the United Auto Workers and the Paper Workers said the construction permit should be revoked for reasons of safety and because of alleged lack of financial qualifications by PRDC.

Drummond Ferry Ordered to Drydock

DE TOUR (AP) — The county-owned ferry connecting Drummond Island with the mainland has been ordered out of service by the Coast Guard pending repairs to the steering gear.

Officials estimated the Drummond Islander would be back in service within a week or 10 days.

A Coast Guard inspector sent the ferry into drydock after it was found that repairs previously ordered had not been made.

The Drummond Dolomite Co. offered the use of its work boat "Chippewa" for ferry service until repairs are completed. More than 400 people live on Drummond Island and depend on the ferry for transportation to De Tour, a mile across De Tour Passage.

County officials said the ferry will be back in operation in time for the special deer season on Drummond beginning Nov. 15. The State Conservation Department has issued 450 permits to hunt does on the island.

Truman Going to LA to Deliver Major Talk

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—Former President Harry Truman arrives today for a $100-a-plate Jefferson-Jackson day banquet Friday night.

Truman said he will make a speech of "major significance," at the dinner. The other speaker will be California Atty. Gen. Edmund G. Brown, probable Democratic candidate for governor in next year's elections.

"Peeping Tom" was named for the man, Thomas, who peeped at the nude Lady Godiva riding a horse through Coventry, England, to force her husband, the Earl of Mercia, to lower an oppressive tax, so her ride gained its purpose.

Scientists Urged to Work Harder

One Says Researchers Don't Put in Enough Time to Beat Soviets

WASHINGTON (AP)—An American scientist says in effect that his colleagues must get up early in the morning — or stay up later at night — to beat the Russians in some fields.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Philip Abelson referred specifically to what he said was a Russian superiority in the study of earthquakes.

"Part of the answer is that our research people generally work from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.," the Carnegie Institution scientist told a symposium on Russian science last night. "The good Russian records were made at 3 a.m."

He explained that the crucial problem in detecting a distant earthquake disturbance is to minimize the background noise—such as the rumbling of trucks and other man-made ruckus — which would be picked up by sensitive seismographs. Then he added:

★ ★ ★

"The Russians have made a great effort to discover quiet sites and have studied the effects of time of day, weather and season (on lowering the background noise.)

"Thus," he said, "they have been able to achieve a vastly superior sensitivity of detection of distant disturbances amounting to as much as 50 decibels (units of sound) more than our best performances."

At the same symposium, several other scientists appraised known Soviet research in other branches of the physical sciences, and most of their comments were commendatory.

★ ★ ★

Abelson mentioned also geophysics — earth science — and said that in the Arctic, Russia's geophysical studies exceed those of Americans.

Paving Roller Slides Back, No One Injured

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) —George Rickett started up steep Douglas St., on an eight-ton paving roller, but quickly found the monster sliding back down — although the rollers still were turning forward.

"There wasn't much I could do," said Rickett, "These things don't have brakes; just clutches."

After backsliding one block, the roller cracked a telephone pole and hit two parked cars before stopping.

No one was hurt.

Nautilus Skipper Hails Findings of Ice Cap Probe

GROTON, Conn. (AP)—The skipper of the atom sub Nautilus says its probings under the arctic ice cap have produced 100 times more scientific information about that part of the world than all previous air or surface explorations.

★ ★ ★

Cmdr. William R. Anderson, who guided a party of Navy scientists to within 180 nautical miles of the North Pole beneath the sheet of ice that covers the top of the world, told this to a newsman last night. He added that the Navy scientists, headed by Dr. Waldo Lyons of the Naval Electronics Laboratory at San Diego, Calif., now know more than anyone else in the world about the oceanography and geology of the Arctic Ocean basin.

★ ★ ★

Scientists studied many things including special devices which are designed to solve the navigational problems met in the high latitudes.

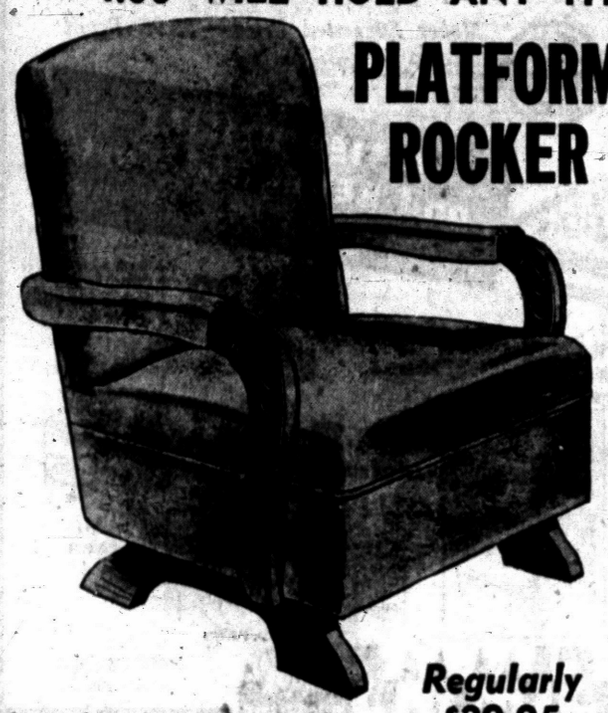

Anderson said he was unable to discuss specific findings because of security reasons.

Farms in the U. S. have about 4,250,000 passenger cars, and in addition own and operate 2,750,000 trucks.

58 FORD COMING NOV.7
Nothing newer

AROUND THE WORLD

The 58 Ford has been proved around the world. This is the most dramatic and most grueling test ever given a new car before its public announcement.

The whole world was used as a test track for the 58 Ford. The car drove through England, France, Switzerland, Italy, Yugoslavia, Greece, Turkey, Iran, Afghanistan, Pakistan, India, Malaya, Thailand, Cambodia, Vietnam, and finally back to the place it started—Detroit, Michigan, U.S.A.

The Ford powered over the great mountain ranges of three continents: from the Alps to the Himalayas and the Rockies. It crossed the great rivers of history: the Thames, the Seine, the Tiber, the Arno, the Tigris, the Euphrates, the Indus, the Ganges.

This car stood at Buckingham Palace, rolled up the Champs Elysees to the Arc de Triomphe, and paused at the Eiffel Tower. It was greeted by the great Paris couturieres at the famous fashion salons where its "sculptured in steel" styling was applauded by the most style-conscious audience in the world. It followed the historic Road to Rome, to stand in the square of St. Peter's before the Vatican. The drivers threw coins in the Fountain of Trevi. and went out the Appian Way to Venice.

The 58 Ford rode smoothly down the rugged, beautiful seacoast of Tito's country, to a festival in Dubrovnik, and into Greece to Athens, where this newest classic met such ancient classics as the Parthenon and the Temple of Poseidon.

Into Turkey: and the 58 Ford passed the great white lacework palaces of the Sultans along the Bosporus and the Golden Horn. It handled beautifully through the quaint, twisting old streets of Istanbul, over the Anatolian Plain to Ankara, and then into the rugged camel-country of Iran. Over earthquake-shattered roads, through fierce Persian desert sandstorms, the Ford then headed on to Tehran, and thence south to Meshed, the second Mecca.

The 58 Ford went where few but nomads travel, up into the hot days and chill nights of the ancient mountains of Afghanistan, all the way into the lilac-scented capital, Kabul, where the mountaineers invented polo many centuries ago. And thence this magnificently performing Ford rolled over the trail of history, along the route Alexander the Great followed with his chariots and elephants, to cross the historic Indus river.

On and on the Ford moved, down into the beauty and the heat of mysterious India, through New Delhi to the crystal-white beauty of the Taj Mahal, and to the great pink palace of the Maharajah of Jaipur for a welcoming parade of elephants, and through Banaras and on down to Calcutta.

This great new car met the challenge of the monsoons—rains that for centuries have stopped all road movement throughout Indo-China, but didn't stop the 58 Ford. It drove on to Penang in Malaya, and then north to Bangkok.

It forded jungle streams to stand beside the ancient golden Royal Barges of Siamese Kings. Then it plowed on to the jungles of Cambodia to reach the most fantastic temple of all, the strange ruins of Angkor Wat, eighth wonder of the world. Thence into Saigon, the Paris of the Orient, at the farthest tip of Southeast Asia. Finally, it powered across the great Rockies and plains of North America and back, at long last, to Michigan.

The 58 Ford . . . has been proved and approved around the world. A natural question arises. Why did Ford go to such great lengths with its 1958 model? Why spend so much money and time and go through all the problems of negotiations, customs, border transit, diplomacy in so many countries?

The answer: in the competitive automobile market of today, only the very best in all-around value can survive. And this torturous round-the-world road test of a plain stock Ford is the most decisive possible demonstration of the best.

The 1958 Ford is value: hard-dollar value. It is also style, power, performance, and a dozen great new features. But above all, it is value.

This is the car you've been waiting for. See it November 7—there's nothing newer in the world!

President Will Be Frank in His Talks to Nation

This nation heartily approves President EISENHOWER'S reports to the people on the state of the nation's defense, science and economy.

We are confident that the President will face the situation squarely and tell the people exactly where we stand. If we are lagging badly in some phases, the subject should be faced. Also, we should be told where we are out in front.

★ ★ ★

Sputnik is the psychological coup of the current decade. Had this nation produced the satellite first, the world would have accepted it in stride and stifled a yawn. But the fact it came from Russia, produces some mild international consternation.

The Press refuses to go along. We aren't awed a bit.

Just because the Reds have a 185 pound ball whirling mystically in outer space is no reason for panic or hysteria. Some people have been inclined to attach great significance and importance to Sputnik. Sputnik can't conquer a blessed thing by itself, and Russia has no burning desire to cross swords with the U.S. Furthermore, she knows any sign of hostilities will bring the whole free world on her neck. Her current practices and utterances have united the rest against her. This is part of the price she pays for clanking her sword in the role of global bully.

★ ★ ★

Nor does The Press seek to discount the Russians. We grant they stole a march on the world—and particularly on the United States with this ballistic triumph. They deserve the top scientific accolade of the moment.

The PRESS is satisfied that President EISENHOWER will appraise the whole situation clearly.

In the current circumstances, Sputnik is like a first down on your own 11 yard line. It isn't too important, but if the opposition hasn't done anything like it before, it suggests you tighten your own defense, put the first team on the field and go to town.

This country is well-equipped to do all three.

It Bridges More Than the Straits

Opening of the Mackinac Bridge marks the beginning of a new era in Michigan history.

Our two great peninsulas are now united geographically, which in most respects is the only way in which they ever have been really divided.

★ ★ ★

When the glaciers swept down this way, the terra firma in what now is our southern peninsula was so resistant that they were forced to divide around it, scooping out Lakes Huron and Michigan.

They left a strait five miles wide at its top.

Through the centuries of Indian rule this was a barrier, as it was to the early white traders who came to the area to barter with the red man for his furs.

The first white settlement in what now is Michigan was made across the straits in 1668, and the first in the southern peninsula at Detroit in 1701.

But it was not until more than a century later that Michigan was organized as a territory in 1805. It then included only the southern peninsula.

★ ★ ★

There was a hot border dispute between Michigan and Ohio and Indiana. This was settled in 1836 by Michigan giving up a strip a few miles wide, including Toledo, in exchange for the northern peninsula which had previously been included with Wisconsin. And we were admitted as a state of two peninsulas in 1837.

While Wisconsin had no objection to giving up what was regarded as a worthless area, "with absolutely no future," it soon proved to have mineral deposits without peer in the then known world.

★ ★ ★

It also had unbounded wealth in primeval forest, and lake frontage that put our state first in the nation in that respect.

But we still were a geographically divided state.

The coming of the railroads and their car ferries, and the passenger carrying ferries, were a partial binder to bring the two great peninsulas into closer communion.

But the auto age, coupled with a remarkable growth in population on both sides of the straits, together with the ever increasing desire of man to move faster, has maintained the barrier aspect, although it never has been anything but a friendly one.

★ ★ ★

In recent years, the all-Michigan development as a top tourist state, has found the straits to be a growing barrier. Our visitors pointed to this as our only drawback. We knew it.

The bridge removes this last barrier. It will allow the same flow of traffic as any of our main highways. The time-saving element will run into millions of hours annually.

★ ★ ★

Michigan is to be united in the only way that it hasn't been united.

Yes, that $100 million beautiful composition of steel and concrete bridges more than the Straits of Mackinac.

Pheasants Seeking Relief From the Rural Cannonade

"He Hasn't Run That Fast Since '29"

David Lawrence Says:

Sputnik to Mean Increase in Budget

WASHINGTON—Everything adds up to more money—more government spending. There will soon be calls for more money for our allies to maintain their defenses — calls for more money for nuclear research and for missile development.

LAWRENCE

It now looks as if, despite the best intentions here to keep the Federal budget within $70 billion next year, the nation will be lucky to come out with a figure two or three billions higher than that.

CAUSED BY SPUTNIK

This new trend is the direct result of "Sputnik." Instead of burying the rivalries of the armed services, the episode has intensified them.

Nobody knows what day the Russians may turn up with some new weapon—so the emphasis now is on every kind of weapon of offense or of interception that can help protect the nation against attack or deter an enemy from starting a war. All this costs lots of money.

Politically, there is confusion today. The Democrats, who were crying out for economy a few months ago and for tax reduction, now are denouncing the Eisenhower administration for having been caught napping in the art of spinning "sputniks" around the globe.

WANT IT DONE

Presumably public opinion wants something done—so the only thing to do is to spend more money for research and intercontinental weapons generally, though there is as yet no department or bureau that can give birth overnight to more full-fledged geniuses in the missile game.

Basically the nation is paying a heavy penalty for divided government. With the Democrats in control of Congress and the President from the opposite party, disunity over public policy is the rule.

One would think that, in this most serious stage of the "Cold War," politics would subside, but the mimeograph machines in the party headquarters are working overtime as the senators and representatives get the headlines for their speeches attacking the failure of the United States to beat Russia on the "sputnik" front.

FACES CATASTROPHE

Some day, when the nation faces a catastrophe due to its dissension in government councils, there may be a demand for a responsible system whereby one party is given control and held accountable immediately for its errors. But the present division and the party conflict will continue at least until 1960.

Political demagoguery flourishes in a democracy largely because so many citizens are indifferent to what goes on in national and international affairs and are easily hoodwinked or misled. Today, for instance, President Eisenhower is being blamed for the fact that the Russians beat us on "sputnik."

Whether "sputnik" serves a useful military purpose, whether America was right in specializing in ballistic development and ignoring the spectacular launching of a satellite is being debated with more emotion than facts—as if someone here had deliberately neglected national security, and America had suddenly become helpless.

BRUSHED ASIDE

The speeches by our military leaders, telling of devices under development that can intercept missiles, and news that America could have also launched a satellite if it had been deemed the right thing to do from a military standpoint are brushed aside as apologetic.

Even a speech by a presidential assistant is ridiculed because he pointed out that, if America had launched the equivalent of a "sputnik," this country would not have gotten the expected prestige but would have been the victim of bitter propaganda assailing us as bent on war.

But now that most of the criticism has been digested, the net result is to demand that more money be spent by the government. The Macmillan-Eisenhower conference means more money to help Britain with her defenses—perhaps a new project to supply nuclear weapons. Also the NATO Council meeting in December means more money will have to come from the United States to help our allies.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Wait in Doctor's Office Trick to Impress Public?

Trick specialists and "clinic" racketeers use a simple artifice to impress their simple customers. They instruct everyone to be at the office at 10 a.m. or maybe 3 p.m. This gives each sucker the impression that the doctor must have a whale of a large practice—he finds so many other suckers waiting, waiting, waiting with him.

DR. BRADY

Most of them wait. Occasionally a customer with enough brain power to see through the charlatan's trick moves his freight out of there and goes to a doctor who has some respect and consideration for his patients' time.

This habit of having all customers come at 10 o'clock or 2 o'clock becomes routine with some medical merchants, and they do a tour of dispensary or out-patient service.

Thus the unfortunates who seek medical care in the out-patient departments or dispensaries of one of the largest county hospitals in the country are required to be there promptly at, say 8 a.m. or else they'll be excluded for the day.

LOSE WAGES

Some of them have to sit on hard benches for three or four hours or longer waiting their turn. Some must be brought by a member of the family who has to lose a day's time and wage.

The head man of the dispensary or hospital staff knows nothing about it. No one else dares to suggest that the patients be permitted to report at 8 or 9 or 10 or 1 or 4 o'clock. Out-patient departments and dispensaries are for the convenience of doctors — not for the comfort of patients.

Now I'm sure this bit of criticism will make me less popular than ever, if that is posible, with my colleagues. That doesn't worry me at all.

And so to the bowling green. The bowling green is no mere figure of speech. It is a real factor of health, vite and longevity. In my opinion, it is as important as (a) functionally efficient teeth, (b) somersaults and (c) the staff of life.

By the staff of life I mean — well, I do want to teach a little longer, so send me a stamped envelope bearing your addreess, for the pamphlet (WHEAT TO EAT.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Don't Belittle Teenagers' Music

"Mitch" Miller is really a great youth leader, for teenagers require a melodic outlet for their excess vitality. It is often a case of "music" vs. "mischief", so be grateful that kids develop their crazes for such a wholesome hobby. Music belongs with athletics as one of the most constructive aids for adolescence.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case W-333: "Mitch" Miller, aged about 42, is the dynamic Director of Columbia Records in New York.

"Dr. Crane, could you be a guest on my TV program," Mitch recently asked me via long distance phone.

DR. CRANE

"I'd like to focus attention on the value of music to the teenagers. What do you say?"

Well, I was quite pleased to appear with Mitch Miller, for he is one of the world's greatest youth leaders, and I say that advisedly.

For music is a great foe of juvenile delinquency. It acts as a legitimate outlet for the pent-up emotions, as well as the surplus energy, of teenagers.

Juvenile delinquents are not associated with music or sports:

Music and athletics thus are allies of morality and the effective agencies by which churches can channel youthful vitality into constructive pathways.

During youth, we have a great deal of excess energy. That's why lambs jump high in the air and run and romp almost constantly. Kittens and puppies do likewise.

And human children likewise simply must get rid of this pent-up vital force. If you compel a boy or girl to sit too long in school, his craving for a nervous outlet will even cause him to bite his nails or pick his hangnails.

So we offer recess periods in grade school deliberately, to give the kids a chance to run and romp on the playground, thereby letting off "steam."

Music, however, offers much the same effect that a grade school recess period does. It permits kids to beat time or dance and sing.

Even if they sit still, their muscles still keep flexing and thus burning up extra calories.

So the music crazes of modern youth are a normal physiological and psychological symptom of puberty. Don't belittle them, therefore, but be glad kids have this melodic outlet.

★ ★ ★

Otherwise, more of them would be violating the laws! For without music there'd be far more mischief!

Music is thus the policeman's ally and one of society's best agents for controlling youthful behavior.

JAZZ VS. WALTZ

Since young people bubble over with more energy than do middle agers, it is only natural that they prefer a faster tempo.

In the teens, we like jazz. After 50, we prefer waltzes.

For jazz demands a greater energy output. This suits youth, but is too exhausting for tired oldsters.

Young people also crave excessive loudness, whereas oldsters like softer, stringed instrumental music. Why?

Because loudness itself is also more exhausting. And kids crave anything that will more quickly tone down the "pressure" in their human boilers.

Just watch teenagers and you'll see that they usually turn up the volume knob on their radio or TV more than oldsters do.

That isn't because the hearing of teenagers is less acute. If anything, they are more sensitive to sounds than are middle aged folks.

★ ★ ★

But they crave a faster discharge of energy. The loudness is more fatiguing and so is the jazz tempo, which is why kids like both.

In many cases, too, music serves as a release from boredom, which is why modern business firms are now piping in music so workers can let their minds drift along melodic channels while they perform routine actions.

"Music," said John Erskine, "is the only language in which you cannot say a mean or sarcastic thing," so be grateful that your teenagers develop a craze for calypso or jazz or jitterbug or any other type of melody.

For it may either be "music" or "mischief," and music certainly is much to be preferred.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Voice of the People

Problem of School Buses Inspires Several Letters

Shouldn't all children be treated equally? Aren't all lives of equal value? Apparently not, or the children that are still walking in danger would have been put on school buses by now.

We appreciate the help of all those who signed petitions for them, and parents who refused to sign because they didn't have an immediate problem are a little selfish not to care about other's children.

Concerned Mother

You complain the world is advancing so fast you can't keep up with it. But it isn't passing; it's coming right to your door and all you must do is get out of your rocking chair and meet it.

If you don't have the initiative to fight for your children now, how much freedom of speech will these kids have? The children won't be hurt by speaking out against the dangers of unguarded pathways through woods and swamps. By joining the Waterford Township Independent Safety Association at the high school Nov. 5 at 7:30 you can help solve the problem.

If our school board can build modern schools and not transport these children, someone should be working on safe walking facilities. Let's put our children on buses until safe walks are built and give these elected officials something to do besides passing the buck with "My hands are tied."

Iris A. Hagen

This school bus situation is a serious matter and a statewide problem. If my information is correct, the state will withdraw all state aid from any child who is transported by school bus within the mile and a half limit.

This does not prevent the local district from carrying that child, but it incurs a heavier burden on the local taxpayer. The taxpayer pays the bill either way, but with state aid, the spread is over a wider area. Either the local district must assume the burden or the children will have to walk, as nothing can be done through the state to change the law until the Legislature meets in January.

The state and local districts can fight it out, but I'm on the side of the children. Children on highways are a menace to traffic and vice versa. There is one course. If you feel it's too dangerous for your children, keep them home. If the school forces attendance, it will have to transport them. If this be treason, make the most of it.

LeRoy Dean

Milford

As a nation we claim to have enough vehicles to transport the whole nation at one time, but we have difficulty getting our children to local schools. Factory workers solved this many years ago by organizing driving pools. Could this be done with school children or is it easier to sit back and squawk for bus service?

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower has decided that America's first atomic-powered merchant ship will be named the "NS Savannah." The NS will stand for nuclear ship.

★ ★ ★

The 39-million-dollar ship, on which construction will start soon, is being named for the SS Savannah, which on May 22, 1819, left Savannah, Ga., on the first Atlantic crossing by a steamship. The old Savannah crossed to Liverpool, Eng.

The new 21,000-ton Savannah will be the first vessel, the White House said, with the designation "NS" preceding its name. The ship is scheduled to be completed in 1960.

★ ★ ★

The Navy already has two nuclear-powered submarines in commission, but there is no official nuclear designation preceding the names of the two boats—the Nautilus and the Seawolf.

Construction bids on the new Savannah have been submitted to the Maritime Administration and the Atomic Energy Commission. The bids are to be opened soon.

The appropriation of 39 million has 18 million earmarked for the Maritime Administration and 21 million for the AEC.

★ ★ ★

The Savannah will be 598 feet along and 79 feet wide at the beam. It will have accommodations for 60 passengers and be able to carry 9,600 tons of cargo at a top speed of 21 knots.

San Francisco, the "City That Was" following the earthquake and fire of 1906, quickly rose from the ruins. At the time, huge billboards proclaimed the shattered city's spirit: "Don't talk earthquake. Talk business."

Economy Is Big Pitch in '58 Cars

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

DETROIT — Auto industry's hucksters are trying to pull off a real selling toughie this year.

They're out to sell the most expensive line of cars ever made with a sales talk pitched to economy.

At least the Big Three—Ford, Chrysler and General Motors—find themselves in this unique position.

American Motors with its economy Ramblers and Studebaker-Packard with its low-priced Scotsman can sell economy without qualification. And the foreign car dealers will continue their all out efforts to penetrate the U.S. market, which they began with such spectacular success earlier this year.

The cause of the Big Three's problem is a sudden mushrooming of interest in cheaper driving. Ever since the U.S. auto industry's opinion samplers discovered it they've been trying to determine just how deep this penny-pinching penchant goes.

★ ★ ★

Has the horsepower, chrome and fin race in cars gone too far for American tastes? Do Americans fear a recession coming up? Has the high cost of living forced Americans to worry about cheaper driving?

The industry's consumer researchers found there was a more or less affirmative response to all of these queries. Just how strong this feeling runs they still don't know. But the industry thinks it's strong enough to make a major advertising concession to it this year. And where it has been possible, economy features have been introduced on the '58s.

"FORTY MILES TO THE GALLON? But that makes it so terribly long between windshield washings!"

For example, Ford is announcing a new engine, an axle-engine ratio arrangement and an optional Cruise-O-Matic drive which combined, is expected to give 15 per cent added fuel economy.

Although the Ford line has had drastic restyling, the big sales effort will be on Ford's new gas economy. A new system of inspecting cars coming off the production line is being talked up as a great saver on serivce charges

Promotion of all the cars in the Chrysler line is also heavily larded with economy claims.

★ ★ ★

And the fact is, the '58s will be somewhat cheaper to operate as a result of the efforts of the industry to build this factor into the new cars.

General Motors, celebrating its 50th anniversary with its biggest advertising campaign in history, will also play up economical driving as a prime advantage of all of its new lines.

What really has the Big Three scared is whether they have done enough, soon enough, to satisfy the public demand for cheaper driving. It could be a bad year for the car industry if they haven't.

★ ★ ★

As the Big Three unveil their new cars, industry reports indicate that there has been no let-up in the public interest in cheaper motoring, with the feeling growing stronger, if anything. Here are some of the indicators:

The new Edsel was introduced this year by Ford to claim a larger share of the medium-price car market. Sales figures toward the end of October were disappointing.

Edsel officials are hopeful this is only because buyers are waiting to see the other new cars before making up their minds to buy.

The small, cheap foreign car sales are booming right through the period of introduction of the '58s. British imports have taken over sales leadership from Volkswagen.

★ ★ ★

During the last quarter sales of '57 models there has been a heavy interest in six cylinder engines in the low-priced lines.

Each week sales reports on the cheaper, smaller American Motors and Studebaker-Packard cars give evidence that both of these firms could get in the black this year for the first time in many years.

"But they're all meaningless straws in the wind," says a Chrysler official. "When the public sees all of the big '58s, buyers will get the same fever for the big, fancy ones they've always shown."

Harlan Electric Co. Chief Gets State Post

LANSING (AP) — Gov. Williams yesterday swore in C. Allen Harlan as a member of the State Board of Agriculture without ever having publicly announced the appointment.

Harlan, 50-year-old president of the Harlan Electric Co. of Detroit, replaces William E. Baker of Mesick on the governing body of Michigan State University. Both men are Democrats.

Baker resigned the job to become office manager of a State Highway Department district office. Harlan will serve out the remaining four years of his term.

Williams, piqued because of the news leak, declined to confirm the appointment, electing to go ahead with the swearing-in without any announcement.

Lawrence Wins Fermi Award

Inventor of Cyclotron Cited to Receive Prize of $50,000 From AEC

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Ernest O. Lawrence, inventor of the cyclotron atom smasher, Tuesday was named winner of the Atomic Energy Commission's $50,000 Fermi award for 1957.

Dr. Lawrence, noted scientist and director of the University of California radiation laboratory at Berkeley, was cited not only for the cyclotron development but "for his many other contributions in nuclear physics and atomic energy."

The award was established under authority of the Atomic Energy Act of 1954 "for especially meritorious contributions to the development, use or control of atomic energy." Lawrence is the third scientist to win the award.

First winner, in 1954, was the late Enrico Fermi, one of the great pioneers in the atomic field. After his death, the general advisory committee to the AEC decided that henceforth the award would be named in honor of Fermi. The second winner, in 1956, was the late Dr. John von Neumann, a member of the AEC.

The AEC said the 1957 award will be presented Dec. 2, the 15th anniversary of the day when Fermi and his associates proved that nuclear fission could be self-sustained and controlled. It was this discovery that led to the development of the first atom bomb.

The award to Lawrence was recommended by the AEC committee which said in a letter to AEC Chairman Lewis Strauss that Lawrence has achieved worldwide recognition as a truly great leader in the field of nuclear physics.

"Without the development of the cyclotron," said the committee, "it is hard to see how the development of nuclear physics to its present advanced state could have taken place."

The award includes a medal.

The pilot, Capt. Bobby Hodges, 35, of Okolona, Miss., parachuted safely. Those killed were Capt. Bernard Rinebold, 33, of Macedon, N.U., and Capt. Harold Horry of Wichita Falls, Tex.

The cause of the crash was not determined immediately. The Air Force said the plane had been in the air about an hour on a routine training flight from Schilling.

Perfect Set of Carbon Papers New Clue in Gardner's Proxy Murder

THE STORY SO FAR: Jerry Conway is alarmed by an advertising campaign Gifford Farrell, a discharged employe, is conducting to obtain proxies and oust Conway at a stockholders' meeting. In a mysterious telephone call a woman calling herself Rosalind offers to supply Conway with a list of the proxies Farrell has acquired. Though he suspects a trap Conway agrees to follow her cloak-and-dagger directions. Asking the hotel clerk for a message for Gerald Boswell he obtains a key to a hotel suite for the meeting, but instead of finding Rosalind there's a young woman, scantily attired and with a mud pack on her face. She points a gun at Conway, which he takes from her. Since the gun has been fired, recently, Conway suspects a frame-up and calls Perry Mason, attorney. Mason looks over the gun and asks for the key to the hotel room. Detective Paul Drake convinces the clerk he is Gerald Boswell, and with Mason, finds a woman murdered in the suite. Mason traps Evangeline Farrell into admitting she is Rosalind. She is getting a divorce from Gifford, and wants to help Conway, to protect her own investment in the company. She didn't ask Conway to go to the hotel but she shows Mason a picture taken in Farrell's bedroom while Mrs. Farrell was in New York. The subject is Rose Calvert, an employe in a brokerage firm that handles accounts for Gifford.

Chapter 15

Mrs. Farrell said, "I got the list of proxies, Mr. Mason, after I located this Rose Calvert. I became interested in her comings and goings. A couple of days ago, Rose Calvert was closeted in her apartment. It was one of the rare intervals when she was home for a fairly long period of time, and she was pounding away on a typewriter.

"I have a firm of detectives that seem to be very competent indeed. The man who was on duty managed to inspect the wastebasket at the end of the corridor from time to time hoping that Rose Calvert would perhaps have made some false starts and he could find enough torn scraps to find out what she was writing.

"As it turned out, he did far better than that. Rose Calvert was evidently writing a very, very confidential document for my husband. She was instructed to make as many copies as possible and to use fresh carbon sheets with each copy.

"You know how a carbon sheet retains the impression of what has been typed, particularly if you can get the new carbon used in the first copy and there is nothing else on the sheet.

"The detective produced the sheets and I found that I had a perfect series of carbon papers showing the typing that Mrs. Calvert was doing for my husband."

★ ★ ★

"Mrs. Calvert?"

"That's right. She's married and separated. Her husband lives out in the country somewhere."

★ ★ ★

"Know where?" Mason asked casually.

She shook her head "I've heard the place. It's out towards Riverside somewhere. Would you like to see the carbons, Mr. Mason?

OH, THAT CARBON!

"Very much," Mason said.

She put down the drink and again twisted out of the chair with a lithe, feline motion. She walked over to a desk, opened a drawer and took out several sheets of carbon paper.

"As nearly as I can tell these are the carbon papers used in making the first copy," she said. "She was making an original and seven copies. So, of course, there were a lot of duplicate sheets of carbon paper. I carefully segregated the different sheets."

"Have you copied them?"

"I haven't had time. I've had them photostated. I intended to give Mr. Conway one of these complete sets of carbon paper. Since you're here and are his attorney I'll give it to you."

"Thanks," Mason told her. "Thanks very much indeed."

She glanced at him archly. "Don't mention it. Perhaps you can do something for me someday."

"Who knows?" Mason said.

"You'll have to protect me, Mr. Mason. I don't want anyone, least of all Mr. Conway, to know where those carbon copies came from."

'YOU CAN TRUST ME'

"You can trust my discretion," Mason said. "However, I'm going to have to ask a favor. I want to use your phone."

"It's in the bedroom. Help yourself."

Mason put down his glass, went to the bedroom, picked up the phone.

"Number, please?" the operator asked.

"Give me an outside line, please," Mason said.

"You'll have to give me the number. I'll get it for you."

Mason lowered his voice, gave the number of the Gladedell Motel. When the number answered, he said, "Can you ring Unit 21?"

"Surely, wait a moment please."

Mason waited for several seconds then the voice said, "I'm sorry, that phone doesn't answer."

"Thanks," Mason said, and hung up.

He returned to the other room.

Mrs. Farrell was stretched out on a chaise longue, her curves showing to advantage through the embroidered lounging pajamas.

"Get your party?"

"No. He didn't answer."

"There's no hurry. You can try again—later."

★ ★ ★

Mason sat down, picked up his drink, took a hasty swallow, said, "This is really loaded."

He looked at his watch.

Her laugh was throaty.

"You're now terribly impatient. You want to hurry through your drink. Now that you have the information you want, the documents you want, you are giving every indication of being in a hurry to be on your way. Am I that unattractive?"

Mason said, "It isn't that. It's simply that I have a lot of work to do tonight."

She raised her eyebrows. "Night work?"

"Night work."

"I was hoping that while you were here you would relax and that we could get acquainted."

The chain was removed and the door swung open.

Mason said, "Perhaps your husband is having your apartment watched. He might suggest that you were entertaining men in your apartment."

Again she laughed. "Always the lawyer! — Now please, Mr. Mason, don't tell anyone about the identity of Rosalind. I'm leaving it to you to protect me."

"And," Mason said, "I suppose I'm not to say anything about these pictures?"

"Not for awhile," she said.

"What are you going to do with them?"

She said, "When I get done, I'm going to see that Mrs. Calvert has plenty of publicity. If she's an exhibitionist, I'll let them publish her picture where it will do the most good."

'YOU ARE VINDICTIVE'

"You seem rather vindictive," Mason said. "Do you feel that she stole your husband?"

"Heavens, no!" she said. "But I'm vindictive just the same. I feel toward her the way one woman feels toward another who . . . I don't know—she cheapens all of us. Before I get done with her, she'll wish she'd never seen Gifford Farrell.

"All right," she went on, laughing, "don't look at me like that. I'm a cat! And I have claws, Mr. Mason. I can be very, very dangerous when I'm crossed. I'm never lukewarm."

Mason said, getting to his feet, "I'm sorry, but I have to leave."

Abruptly she arose, gave him her hand. "I won't try to detain you. Good night."

Mason eased himself out into the corridor, carrying the sheets of fresh carbon paper in a roll.

"Good night—and thanks," he said.

"Come again some time," she invited.

Mason stopped at a telephone booth and called Paul Drake.

"Anything on the gun, Paul?"

"Hell no! We're just getting started."

"Any identification of the corpse?"

"None so far. The police are grubbing around the hotel and can't seem to get anywhere. The clerk swears he's never seen her. They got the day clerk up there, and he couldn't make an identification. One of the elevator operators thinks she's seen her before but isn't too certain."

★ ★ ★

Mason said, "I'm on the track of something, Paul. I'm going to have to take a chance."

"You take too many chances," Drake told him.

"Not too many," Mason said. "I take them too often."

"Well, that's the same thing, only worse."

THE LAW OF AVERAGES

"According to the law of averages, it's worse," Mason told him. "Now look, Paul, I'm going out to the Lane Vista Apartments. I want to see a Rose Calvert who is in Apartment 319. For your information, she's probably going to be named as corespondent in a divorce suit by Mrs. Gifford Farrell."

"What's the lead?" Drake asked.

"Probably more of a lunch than anything else right now," Mason told him. "The point is that there may be a private detective sticking around trying to get a line on her."

"Can you have one of your men get out to the Lane Vista Apartments, scout the territory and see if he can find someone who looks like a detective?"

"Sure. What does he do if he finds this guy?"

"I'll be out there," Mason said, "inside of thirty minutes. I can make it from here in about fifteen minutes and your man should be able to make it in fifteen minutes. I'll give him fifteen minutes to case the place."

"I can't guarantee anything," Drake said. "My operatives are pretty clever at spotting men who are waiting around like that, but you just can't tell what the setup is, and . . ."

★ ★ ★

"I know," Mason said, "I don't want the impossible. I just want to know whether the place is being watched."

"And if it is?" Draked asked.

"I want to find out about it."

★ ★ ★

"All right," Drake said," I'll have a man there in fifteen minutes. I have a man sitting right here in the office who's good. I'll put him on the job."

"Does he know me?" Mason asked.

"He knows you by sight. He'll pick you up all right."

"All right. I'll be there within thirty minutes. I'll park my car a block or two away and walk past the entrance to the apartment without looking in. Have your man pick me up and brief me on the situation. Can do?"

"Can do and will do," Drake said.

"How long you going to be there Paul?"

"Probably all night. At least until something definite breaks."

"Okay, I'll be calling you."

'KEEP YOUR NOSE CLEAN'

"You'd better keep your nose clean," Drake warned. "If any good private detective is out there, he'll recognize you the minute he sees you."

"That's why I want to know if he's there," Mason said and hung up.

Mason looked at his watch, noted the time, drove until he found a hole-in-the-wall restaurant that was open, sat at the lunch counter and had two leisurely cups of coffee. He paid for the coffee, entered the phone booth, called the Gladedell Motel and this time got Gerald Conway on the line.

"Where you been?" Mason asked.

"Nowhere. Why?"

"I called you and you didn't answer."

"Oh. I just ran out to a drugstore for shaving stuff and a tooth brush. What did you want?"

"I wanted to tell you I have what I think is a complete proxy list. It doesn't look too good. I'll see you after a while."

"When?"

"I don't know. It'll be quite late. Sit tight. I can't tell when I can get there. I'm busy. Goodby."

Mason hung up and drove to a point within two blocks of the Lane Vista Apartments, where he parked his car at the curb, got out and walked along the sidewalk, walking directly past the entrance to the apartment house without hesitating.

Halfway to the next corner, a figure detached itself from the shadows and fell into step by Mason's side.

"Paul Drake's man," the figure said without turning his head.

"Let's take a look," Mason told him.

"All right. Around the corner."

"Anyone sitting on the place?"

"Uh-huh."

"Okay," Mason said, and the two walked around the corner until they came to the mouth of an alley.

The man paused, took a folder from his pocket containing his credentials and a small fountain pen flashlight.

★ ★ ★

Mason studied the credentials, said, "Okay, tell me about the stake-out."

"I know the guy who's waiting," the detective said. "He's from the firm of Simons & Wells. They make a specialty of serving papers."

"Did he notice you?' Mason asked.

"Hells bells!" the man said. "I walked right into it with my chin out."

"What do you mean?"

"I know the guy who's sitting on the job. I started to case the joint. This guy was on stake-out. He knew me and I knew him."

"You talked with him?"

"Sure. He said hello, and wanted to know what I was out on, and I asked him if he was waiting to serve papers and he said no, he was just making a preliminary survey. I asked him if I could have one guess as to the initials of the party, and we sparred around for awhile. Then he admitted he was there to tail Rose Calvert. Seems like her middle name is Mistletoe." The operative chuckled. "Some name!"

"Okay," Mason said, "what about Rose Calvert? Is she in her apartment?"

SHE CALLED A CAB

"Apparently not. Hasn't been in all afternoon. She was reported to have been in yesterday. A little before noon today she called a cab, loaded a bunch of baggage and went away. She hasn't come back."

"Dolled up?" Mason asked.

"Not too much."

"Taking a powder?"

"She could have been taking a powder all right. Quite a bit of baggage. There's a letter in the mailbox outside the apartment, according to what this guy tells me."

"This operative has been ringing Rose Calvert's bell?" Mason asked.

"No. He found out she was out. He's waiting for her to show. However, he goes off duty at 2 a.m. He didn't start working until seven o'clock this evening. There's no relief coming on."

"You take a look at the letter in the mailbox?"

"No. My friend told me about it."

"What did you tell your friend?"

"Told him I was interested in another case."

"Did you give him any names?"

"No, but I don't think I fooled him any."

"What about this letter?"

ADDRESSED TO CALVERT

"It's in an envelape addressed to Rose M. Calvert and it's got a return address in the upper side from Norton B. Calvert. The address is 6831 Washington Heights, Elsinore."

"You didn't take a peek at the letter?" Mason asked.

"Helt, no! I'm not monkeying with Uncle Sam. I didn't even touch the envelope. I got my data from my friend."

"Stamp canceled and postmarked?"

"That's right. Postmarked Elsinore yesterday."

"How is the letter? Typewritten or ink?"

"Written in pencil."

"From Norton B. Calvert, eh?"

"That's right."

"Who is this Norton B. Calvert? Husband? Son? What?"

"I don't know. She's pretty young to have a son living away from home. Around 27, as I get the impression."

"Know how she was dressed?" Mason asked.

"Yes, she was wearing a tight-fitting, light blue sweater, straight matching blue skirt, nylons and high-heeled shoes."

★ ★ ★

Mason digested the information in thoughtful silence.

"That mean anything to you?" the operative asked.

"I think it does," Mason said, looking at his watch. "I'm going to play a hunch. What's that address in Elsinore?"

"6831 Washington Heights, Elsinore."

Mason said, "Let's see. It's about an hour to Corona and then about 30 minutes to Elsinore. That right?"

"I believe so. That won't miss it very far."

"Ring up Paul's office," Mason said. "Tell Drake to stick around until he hears from me. Have him tell Della Street to go home. Do you think this detective connected you with me?"

★ ★ ★

"Sure he did. Naturally he's dying to find out what my angle is. When you came along he would have been all eyes and ears. I let you go as far as I dared before I cut in on you, but I'm satisfied he was where he could watch us. He goes off duty at two in case you want to call without being seen. She may be in by then."

"Okay," Mason said. "Go back and watch the place so this detective can't say you quit as soon as I showed up. Try to give him a line before he leaves. Tell him you're going to be on duty all night as far as you know. When he quits at two o'clock wait ten or fifteen minutes to make certain he's gone, and then high-tail it back to Drake's office."

"Suppose she shows?"

"She won't."

"You're sure?"

"Pretty sure. If she shows it won't make any difference. I just want to keep from giving this private detective any blueprints of my plans."

Mason swung away from the man, walked around the block, went to where he had parked his car, got in, filled the tank with gas at the nearest service station, and took off down the freeway.

From time to time he consulted his watch, and despite the last cup of coffee, found himself getting sleepy. He stopped at Corona for another cup of coffee, then drove on.

NO LIGHTS ANYWHERE

When he got to Elsinore, he found the town completely closed up. The police station and fire station had lights. Aside from that there was no lights anywhere.

Mason drove around trying to get the lay of the town. He saw a car turn into a driveway. A family who had evidently been to one of the neighboring cities at a late show got out of the car.

Mason drove up.

"Can anybody tell me where Washington Heights is?" he asked.

The man who was evidently the head of the family detached himself from the group, came over toward Mason's car.

"Sure," he said, "You drive straight along this road until you come to the first boulevard stop, then turn right, and climb the hill."

Bob Considine Says:

Scandinavian Planes to Carry Along Chefs

NEW YORK (INS) — By chance, three separate items from the airlines descended on our desk simultaneously, and each fitted as neatly as if part of a jigsaw.

The man from Pan-Am told of what international flying was like just 30 years ago. The man from TWA, remembering a piece I wrote years ago about the bum who tilts his airline seat back so far that you get him in your lap, forwards material about his line's roomy new "siesta" seats.

CARRY CHEFS

The man from Scandinavian Airlines System rushed the news that beginning late this month, its DC-7C's flying to Europe from New York and Los Angeles will carry chefs, complete with tall hat and apron.

The way aviation is progressing, we'll soon see a day when the airlines will give you back your baggage in less time than it took you to fly to your destination.

Thirty years ago, the Pan-Am man said, it was like this:

★ ★ ★

The lone U.S. overseas route was from Key West to Havana. The 6-passenger tri-motored Fokker had a rather irregular schedule. It took off from Key West wherever the mail train chose to show up. Sometimes it took off on schedule.

At other times it was more than five hours late, because the train bearing the mail was. The first flight came on Oct. 28, 1927, with 772 pounds of mail as payload.

The first passengers came two weeks later. They were Juan Trippe, president of the little effort, and Jorge Ponce, Cuban consul at Key West.

FLEW BY INSTINCT

Pilots flew by instinct, or by wetting fingers and holding them up to the wind. "The route was full of heavy clouds between 3,000 and 7,500 feet," a flight log of Nov. 22, 1927, notes. "About 30 miles from Key West the plane struck a heavy wall of clouds hanging low and it was necessary to fly 10,000 feet to jump over it. Key West was overcast at 7,500 feet. The plane came out of the clouds through an opening due to good navigating. The plane hit Key West, although there were many chances to miss it."

Fares were $100 round trip, three times as much as it now costs to fly between Miami and Havana, more than twice the original distance. The first paying passengers were Charles Payson and Mrs. Charles Whitney Payson, Kenneth O'Brien and Katherine Leslie—plus Trippe.

It was the rage and frustration caused by the lackadaisical mail train that prompted Trippe to move his peanut operation to Miami, now one of the world's great airports.

TRAINS BETTER

The trains did better at Miami. So did Trippe, whose 110-mile route has expanded to 67,000, plus 22,000 employes and 150 four-engined clippers, to be joined next year by the first of the American jetliners, the Boeing 707.

As for the "siesta,"—horray. As for the airborne chem, he may liberate us all from the pre-fabricated airline steak and the embalmed egg.

My friend Peter Donald, the authentic wit, has been missing from his New York haunts for two months. From Nassau he writes, "Give my regards to Broadway, remember me to Lester Shurr. I'm working here and not doing a Luciano lammo.

"I'm with the biggest civilian airlift in the history of sales incentive. The Fedders Quigan Corporation is a company that makes air-conditioners and money.

"A few years ago it was earning about $17 million per annum. Then it started this 'win-a-trip-and-take-the-family' pitch. The first year the lucky winners numbered about 250. This year we're flying in to Nassau more than 5,500 dealers, distributors and their kin, and the company is grossing $74 million, give or take a ruble. Man, that's coffier coffers!

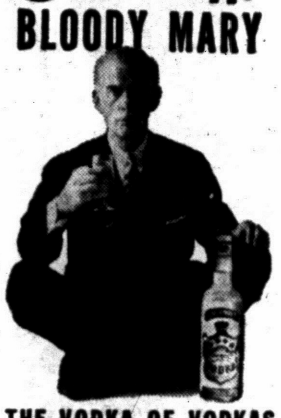

"I'll stay here through the international sports car trophy races in December to present my cup. I haven't decided whether to race my 1912 Hobart-Bosworth or my 1939 Nova Pilbeam. The Alva Johnson is in the shop. Walter Cronkite is coming down to race a Tullio Carminati, so it should be a hot contest. Your Bahamian correspondent for Conch-fidenftial."

Here's the latest war communique from Yorktown, where a few days after the queen's visit there was a restaging of the battle that did in Cornwallis. It comes from Lon Dill, of the Jamestown-Williamsburg-Yorktown Celebration Commission:

"We fit the battle of Yorktown before about 15,000. Nobody stumbled and swallowed his fife, and we won it in time for tea."

The next communique will come from Little Big Horn. Don't miss it.

Hubby's Job Satisfaction Top Concern to Wives

By JACK SHANAHAN

ANN ARBOR (INS) — Guess what, men!

Most wives aren't after your pay check!

That's what a Detroit-area study by the University of Michigan's Institute of Social Research shows.

Of 700 interviews with families, about half the women said job satisfaction was the important aspect of their husband's work. Nearly a fourth indicated the prestige of a particular job is most important to the wife.

The rest admitted income was their paramount concern with the husband's job.

However, men took a different view. About 37 per cent said what they earn was important to their wives.

The study also showed about 90 per cent of working women believe a wife's decision to take a job disrupts her husband's home life, hurts his pride or makes their interpersonal relations more difficult.

However, two out of three working women said they would continue working, even if they didn't have to.

One in 20 families stated a wife's job has "no effect" on her husband, but about one of seven husbands cited extra income as a positive result of having a wife who works.

★ ★ ★

The researchers asked families why women worked. One 33-year-old engine designer commented:

"I think mostly to occupy their minds. They have too much time on their hands, especially if they have no children. They feel that they are stagnating at home with no outside interests."

A 24-year-old mother who was employed as a clerk-typist said: "Women work because they haven't enough money to get the things they need for the family, and some have jobs because they don't like housework."

★ ★ ★

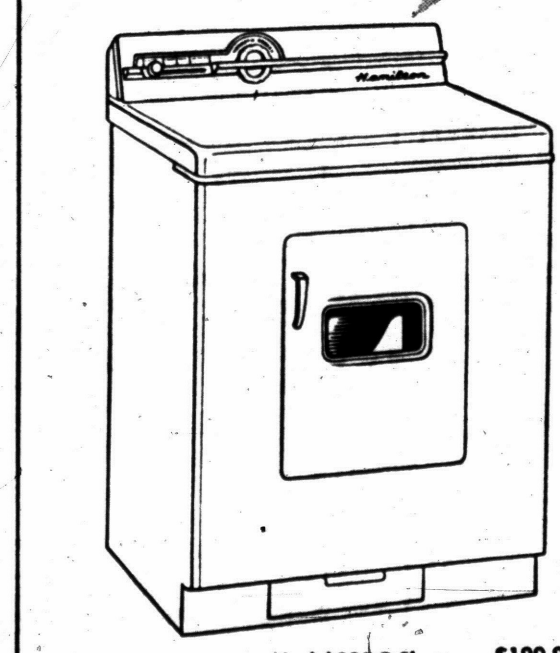

A 41-year-old engineer added it depends on the age of the women. "If they have just married, they're probably buying a home. Older women look for companionship and activities outside the home once their children are grown up."

Texas is larger than the areas of Michigan, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana and Wisconsin combined.

Holiday Party Dresses Star Luxury, Elegance

By JUDITH L. CLEMENCE
Women's Editor, Pontiac Press

The holiday season is not far away and New York fashion designers are creating party dresses with great luxury and elegance for the dazzling whirl ahead. Silk is the favored fabric.

★ ★ ★

Silk satin and warp print appearing in leading designer collections are just two of the exciting fashion stories. Emerging as the most important color for after dark is emerald green.

FOR EVERY WOMAN

There's a length and a type of gown for every woman in the new after-dark fashions.

★ ★ ★

Whether there is a huge sweeping coat to adorn your gown, or a simple jacket, you'll feel elegant in the new styles.

If it's the ball gown you're looking for, Jane Derby has designed one in warp-printed antique silk taffeta that is a true beauty. It features a waist-dipping bodice and huge tiered puffs ending in a panel train.

★ ★ ★

If you want a cocktail dress, you'll find the one Karen Stark designed for the Harvey Berin holiday collection just right. In emerald green silk satin, the molded bodice has a surplice effect and dips low in the back. The softly draped neckline is flattering to almost everyone.

TREMENDOUS COAT

Ben Zuckerman couldn't stop with his magnificent suit and coat collection. It just followed that he should design the tremendous coat at left. He tops it off with sable trimming at the shoulders.

★ ★ ★

A minimum of jewelry is required with the holiday dresses, and pointed-toed, dyed-to-match shoes will be most effective.

From the Ben Zuckerman collection is this "split-level" costume for formal wear. Over a short slip of a dress, a sweeping coat touches the floor and is trimmed at the shoulders with sable.

This elegant scissor-skirted dress of emerald green silk satin was designed by Karen Stark for Harvey Berin. The molded bodice has a surplice effect and dips low in back.

Jane Derby designed this elegant winter-blooming print in warp-printed antique silk taffeta. Setting off the waist-dipping bodice are tiered puffs gathered in under front hip draping. The last tier forms a brief panel train.

Washington Womenfolk Speak Up

Wives of Envoys and Officials Study Art of Public Talk

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON — Wives of diplomats and foreign officials here are following an old American custom — they're learning to express themselves effectively in public.

★ ★ ★

Their husbands feel that this is one way their womenfolk can help them in the delicate task of building goodwill abroad.

The bell already has rung for this year's Capital Public Speaking Class. Some 25 Embassy Row and government wives are enrolled for two-hour sessions for 11 consecutive weeks.

250 GRADUATES

Mrs. Hester Beall Provensen, socialite assistant professor of speech at the University of Maryland, has been conducting the classes since 1949. About 250 women from all parts of the world have been graduated.

★ ★ ★

These women have formed a graduates' club, now headed by Mrs. Everett Dirksen, wife of the Republican senator from Illinois.

Mrs. Peter Garran, wife of the commercial minister of the British Embassy, is first vice president.

"The principle purpose of the class is to teach women to speak in public, and to organize their thinking and present their material effectively," said Mrs. Provensen.

HOW TO PERSUADE

They also learn methods of sustaining audience interest, how to make informative, persuasive and entertaining speeches, and speeches of welcome, presentation and acceptance of a gift.

★ ★ ★

They learn proper dress and deportment for platform appearances. They learn to listen.

"But most important to them is the facility they gain in expressing their own ideas in personal conversation," Mrs. Provensen went on.

★ ★ ★

"Most women are reticent and shy when they first come to the capital. If they talk to 10 or 15 in a class they gain confidence and poise."

FOREIGN ACCENTS

No training is given in voice or speech. Some women are embarrassed about their foreign accents.

★ ★ ★

But every woman speaks at every session and, because they've "all suffered together," they become good friends.

Luncheons to Precede Talk, Tea

Hills Garden Club to Hear Lecture on Yule Motifs

Several members of the Bloomfield Hills Branch of the Women's National Farm and Garden Association will entertain groups of their friends at luncheons before the lecture and tea to be sponsored by the branch Monday at the Cranbrook Institute of Science.

★ ★ ★

George Tolbert, internationally recognized lecturer on the art of flower arrangement, will speak on "Holiday Arrangements," using his own creations as illustrations.

TO ENTERTAIN

At her Charing Cross road home Mrs. Kingsley M. Brown will entertain Mrs. Edwin M. Beresford, Mrs. George Wellington Smith, Mrs. Leslie M. Green, Mrs. Charles Taylor, Mrs. Walter D. Appel, Mrs. Ralph Bateman, Mrs. Percy K. Loud, Mrs. Frederick G. Weed, Mrs. Herman D. Scarney and Mrs. Roy Michele of Detroit.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Carl E. Larson of Ardmoor road will hostess a luncheon for Mrs. Frederick Murray, Mrs. James Roche, Mrs. Russell Olin, Mrs. Frederick Schuman, Mrs. George Mason, Mrs. Leroy G. Vandeveer and Mrs. Eli Alexander.

TO BE GUESTS

Mrs. Ronald Ballantyne, Mrs. Howard C. McDonald, Mrs. Russell N. Wright and Mrs. George Glover will attend a luncheon at the home of Mrs. Horace P. Shaw on North Woodward avenue.

★ ★ ★

Guests of Mrs. Edward S. Wellock of Kirkway road will be Mrs. Clark Andreae, Mrs. Orville Beardsley, Mrs. Vincent Blair, Mrs. Edward N. Cole, Mrs. Harold DeWindt, Mrs. Leroy Kiefer, Mrs. William Newberg, Mrs. William D. Singleton, Mrs. H. B. Stubbs and Mrs. Preston Weir.

Breakfast to Begin Women's UF Drive

A breakfast, highlighted by a fashion show, for over 300 women will officially kick off the door-to-door solicitation by the Geographic Division of the Pontiac Area United Fund Friday morning.

The Geographic Division, under the chairmanship of Mrs. George R. Eldred, will attempt to top its goal of $21,548 between now and the campaign closing date, Nov. 26.

The overall United Fund goal for the support of its 55 health, welfare, counseling and recreational agencies has been set at $812,000 by the UF's board of trustees.

TWO GROUPS

The residential solicitation has been broken down into two groups, one for Waterford Township and one for Pontiac. Mrs. Donald White, as Waterford cochairman, will direct the door-to-door solicitation within the township limits. Some district captains and approximately 375 solicitors will aid her in this task.

Similarly, Mrs. Ralph T. Norvell will chairman the Pontiac geographic solicitation. Eighteen district captains will work under her supervision.

The breakfast, scheduled for 8:45 at the Devon Gables, is being sponsored for the second consecutive year by the Pontiac State Bank.

★ ★ ★

A brief solicitor training session will be held in conjunction with the breakfast and fashion show. Richard Fell, volunteer training director, will conduct the session. In the past few weeks he has prepared hundreds of PAUF solicitors for their vital role in the forthcoming campaign.

St. Joseph Alums Plan Benefit Ball

Rochester Golf and Country Club will be the setting for St. Joseph Mercy Hospital Alumnae annual benefit ball on Nov. 9. The semi-formal event will be headed by chairman Mrs. Robert Stoner and cochairman Mrs. James Green.

Patrons for the dance are Mrs. Charles Lawson, Mrs. John Chappell and Mrs. Robert Stoner. In charge of decorations are Mrs. Robert Meyers and Mrs. Edward Barraf. Music wil be furnished by a Detroit orchestra.

Proceeds from the ball, which is open to the public, will be donated to the building fund.

Love Renounced 2 Years Ago

Will Princess Margaret Meet Townsend Again?

By CHARLES A. SMITH

LONDON (INS)—Two years ago on Friday, Princess Margaret rocked the world by dramatically announcing she had decided not to marry handsome flying ace Peter Townsend.

★ ★ ★

In an unprecedented personal message from her London home, at 7:21 on a misty, moonlit fall evening, the then 25-year-old "problem princess" told a tense and bewildered nation she had decided to put duty before marriage to a divorced commoner.

REMARKABLE STORY

It was the end of a remarkable love story between princess and pilot which had begun 12 years before, had lasted through two grim years of separation, and seen its last act worked out amid 18 days of searing publicity and almost worldwide controversial debate.

★ ★ ★

Princess Margaret went back to the royal round, Capt. Peter Townsend to lonely exile in Brussels. Each had an aching heart, but neither ever again referred to their love affair in public.

Then, last year, Townsend quit the Royal Air Force and went off on a world tour by automobile, some said to try to forget.

★ ★ ★

Today, two years afterwards, there still are many in Britain who believe that the torch Margaret carried for Townsend from her teens into womanhood has not been extinguished.

A HAPPY ENDING

There are also many people here who strongly continue to believe that some day there may be a happy ending for the princess and the flier.

★ ★ ★

But around "the court," it is suggested that whatever her feelings for Townsend may be after two years, Margaret will abide by her decision not to marry him. She is said to be well aware of the impossibility of such a marriage, and the complications it could cause for herself and for the throne. Her sense of "duty" apparently remains as strong as it was two years ago.

There is not the same feeling of certainty in these circles about whether Margaret interprets her act of renunciation to mean that she should never again see Townsend. The flier is now nearing the end of his world tour and there is some suggestion that he may come to London in the next few weeks.

★ ★ ★

If he does, and Margaret should meet him as an old friend, it could instantly create renewed difficulties for the royal family and revive the deep split which divided the nation during those fantastic 18 days two years ago.

For despite all the denials, half Britain still likes to believe that Margaret was prevented from marrying Townsend by a shrewdly managed "plot" during which acute pressures were brought to bear upon her by a group which included the Anglican Church.

Any meeting between the princess and the pilot, however innocent, would be bound to be misinterpreted. Stories that Margaret has said she will never marry circulate at frequent intervals and have kept alive the sympathy a great many Britons continue to feel for Margaret.

Those at court, who are aware of the problems a "reunion" between Margaret and Townsend could create for the royal family, hope they will never meet again.

★ ★ ★

But they emphasize that Margaret always has been unpredictable and that the princess is today more strong-willed than ever.

Criticizes Dabbing On of Perfume

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (INS) — Paris fashion designer Elsa Schiapparelli believes American women are being much better educated in their choice of perfumes but still don't know how to use them properly.

★ ★ ★

Arriving in Beverly Hills after a six-week tour of the Orient, she said:

"Your women touch the perfume to their fingers and then dab it behind their ears. I don't know why they do this, but it is wrong. Perfume should be sprayed.

USE IT REGULARLY

On the good side, said Mme. Schiapparelli, "now even your young schoolgirl is aware of the proper selection of perfume."

★ ★ ★

The fashion designer had this advice for women:

"A woman should not change her perfume too often. She should find the one that suits her and then use it regularly.

"It is all right if a woman sometimes changes her perfume with the season, or when she is in the country, but she should not change it as a matter of fashion."

Many Shoes Best

There's a sound reason for having a wardrobe of shoes. They give you better service and longer wear if they're given a day's rest after each wearing. And, of course, you'll want many heel heights and colors.

Dance Satirist to Stage Waterford Performance

Civic Music Association to Sponsor Iva Kitchell on Saturday Evening

Iva Kitchell, dance satirist, will appear Saturday at 8:30 p.m. in Isaac E. Crary Junior High School under the auspices of Waterford Township Civic Music Association.

Miss Kitchell's performance is the only one of its kind. It includes caricatures in dance and comments by Miss Kitchell, who dances in several styles—ballet, modern and folk.

At least 600 concert audiences in the United States and Canada have responded to "Impish Iva's" bubbling humor.

★ ★ ★

One feature of Miss Kitchell's performance is her gift of mimicry and impersonation. She is said to toss off one character and appear in another as lightly as most dancers would change a scarf.

Her style and personality undergo lightning changes with each member, so that though she supposedly puts on a one-woman show, you seem to have seen a number of different persons on the stage before the show is over.

★ ★ ★

State Officers of Sorority Due to Visit Pontiac

★ ★ ★

On Saturday Miss Dixson and Mrs. Kessler will attend a birthday luncheon to be held jointly by Alpha Beta and Alpha Gamma Chapters. During their visit they will stay at the Auburn avenue home of Ora Hallenbeck.

U.S. Families Are on the Go

CHICAGO (INS) — America really is on the move.

According to the president of a moving van line, changing addresses every year has become a way of life for two out of nine Americans.

★ ★ ★

Louis Schramm Jr. reports that larger families and an increasingly higher standard of living account for local moves, while most interstate moves are the result of company transfers.

This year, Schramm's firm has chalked up an interstate moving shipment rate that promises to set a new record for 1957.

During the first six months, its movers hauled 56,495 shipments interstate, compared with a previous record of 50,419 for the same period in 1956.

Try Exercises for Better Respiration

Deep Breathing Promotes Health

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

We take so many miracles for granted! Those connected only with the working of our own bodies are enough to amaze us.

★ ★ ★

Today I am thinking of our respiration. The fact that we breathe without volition, even when asleep, is as wonderful as the fact that our hearts never stop beating. If we had to remember to breathe, or to command our hearts to beat, we could not afford to be diverted by life for even a minute.

Breathing is necessary in order to nourish the body and to carry off waste materials. Our blood carries food to our tissues but that nourishment would do little good if the blood did not also carry oxygen.

The foodstuffs we eat cannot be turned into energy without combustion, or burning, and oxygen is needed for that. Without oxygen life would be impossible.

★ ★ ★

Did you know that the lungs are not hollow spaces but contain many many small compartments? Therefore they have a huge surface area 30 times as great as the entire surface of the body, or about 100 square yards. The reason for this is that only the air which touches the inside surface of the lungs can pass into the bloodstream.

DEEP BREATHING

We only use a small portion of our lungs when we breathe. Some folks use an extremely small part because of poor posture and the habit of extremely shallow breathing. Deep breathing has long been used as an aid to better health and nutrition, relaxation and good looks.

Here's a good deep-breathing exercise: Raise your heels from the floor, bring your arms up, and breathe in. Exhale as you bring your arms down and return heels to floor.

Today I would like to give you a few deep-breathing exercises. You will find them most relaxing also. Many people find that deep-breathing and stretching exercises rid them of tenseness and insomnia.

1. Lie on the floor on your back with your knees bent and your feet flat on the floor. Arms rest on the floor at your sides. Straighten your spine. Take a deep breath, feeling the muscles of your back press against the floor. Hold while you count to 10 slowly. Exhale slowly and repeat several times.

Again breathe in deeply and hold for 10 counts. This time exhale the air in 10 short, separate pushes. Repeat this several times.

2. Stand tall with your feet comfortably separated. Raise the arms sideward-upward as you raise your heels from the floor and breathe in. Exhale as your arms return sideward-downward to starting position and your heels return to the floor. Repeat slowly, several times. Reach high and feel the stretch.

PANT VIGOROUSLY

3. Lie on the floor on your back with your knees bent and your feet flat on the floor. Pant deeply and vigorously as thou you had just had a hard run. Exaggerate this.

If you would like to have my leaflet about breathing exercises, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 26 "Fountain of Youth." Address Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Overweight Child Needs Special Diet

But First Discover Emotional Cause of His Overeating

By DOROTHY V. WHIPPLE, M.D.

An overweight child needs a special diet.

★ ★ ★

He probably needs other changes in his life, too. Obesity in children is often basically an emotional problem. Some unhappy youngsters find solace in eating.

When such is the case, nagging the child to stop eating is apt to make him more unhappy and increase his desire to drown his sorrows with food.

Therefore before you attempt a low calorie diet for a fat child, do take him to your doctor for a thorough physical examination and an investigation of his emotional status.

★ ★ ★

But let us assume that the emotional aspects of your child's overweight have been investigated and that your problem at this time is to plan a diet low in calories but adequate for growth and well-being.

CUT DOWN FATS

To reduce unneeded calories you must reduce the fat in the child's diet. Many people think that it is starches and sugars that add the calories to a diet. But the truth is fat adds many more calories than starches and sugar.

★ ★ ★

One teaspoonful of fat gives more than twice as many calories as a spoonful of sugar or potato or other starchy food. Sweets may need to be limited somewhat, but it's fat that adds most of the unwanted calories.

Milk is often the largest source of fat in a child's diet. A child doesn't really need the cream on the milk, though he does need the rest of the milk.

If the child is only slightly too fat shifting from whole milk to skimmed milk may be the only change you need to make.

★ ★ ★

If you need to limit further, the next items to be very careful with are butter (or margarine), peanut butter, mayonnaise, fat on meat, gravies, foods which have a high fat content, such as salted nuts, potato chips, doughnuts, fried foods, ice cream.

BETWEEN MEALS

Usually a child who is overweight eats a good deal between meals and the foods eaten at these odd hours are apt to be high calorie foods. They may be some of the ones mentioned above or they may be cookies, cakes, pastry, candy.

All of these foods have a good deal of fat used in their making. It is the fat rather than the sweet that makes these foods high in calories.

If you can, substitute fruit, raw vegetables or even meat for the between - meal snacks that are so dear to the heart (and stomach) of overweight children.

But don't forget that diet alone will seldom solve the problem of obesity in children. You must look to the reason why a child needs the solace of constant eating.

Newest Gloves Are Washable

NEW YORK (NEA) — American women are practical about fashion. Most of them are accustomed to handling money and know the value of a dollar.

★ ★ ★

Therefore, when they shop for fashion, they ask questions. Will it wash? Will it dry clean? How will it wear? Will it really hold its shape after washing?

It's this streak of practicality that will make them appreciate the new gloves to be found at their glove counters this fall. These are the washable leather gloves that are colorfast.

The gloves themselves are high fashion, are cut from luxuriously thin leather. And each pair carries a guarantee.

★ ★ ★

Glove colors for daytime wear stress the rich, deep tones: Cherry red, moss green, a true brown, pewter gray, russet and merino (a new taupe with a brownish cast).

Important lighter colors are scarlet, wicker tan, nougat and cottonwood, a light, creamy beige.

★ ★ ★

Then there are the winter pastels (pale gray, pink, blue, gold) and the perennials: White, black and navy.

Hard water, especially, has a drying effect on the skin. Witch hazel helps to keep hard water from stealing necessary body oils. Follow a bath with a beauty oil rubdown for even better results.

Arrange Kitchen for Easier Work

Rearranging your kitchen can ease your work load.

Coral Morris, home management specialist at Michigan State University, offers this plan.

"Put things where they will be used first with things you use most often within easy reach," she said.

For example, serving dishes, pots and pans are used first at the range center and serving area; dishes, potatoes, onions and dishwashing equipment belong at the sink and clean-up area.

The eating area is a good place, said the teacher, for storing tablecloths, napkins and waffle irons. Baking equipment and ingredients are most convenient at the refrigerator-mixing area.

More specifically, Miss Morris cited the sink area. Dishes should be stored to the left of the sink for right1handed homemakers. Towels, too, are best stored — at least in a limited supply — to the left of the sink.

"You don't have to replace your kitchen equipment," added Miss Morris, "just rearrange it a bit."

Lifetime Oakland County residents, they have one son, Ray of Ann Arbor, and four grandchildren. Mr. Cross had been a city postman for 38 years before retiring in 1948.

Carefully Choose Washer Location

Put your automatic washer where you will get full value from the time and energy-saving advantages which it offers. To save steps, your laundry center should be near the place where most soiled laundry collects and (or near) another work area. For economy, it should be near another plumbing installation. Consider a location near the kitchen or the bedroom-bathroom area.

Try wrapping your lettuce in aluminum foil. It will not turn dark and will keep longer.

Money Hampers Many Careers

By ANNE HEYWOOD

There's a cynical wisecrack to the effect that money may not be the only thing in the world, but it's way ahead of whatever is in second place.

★ ★ ★

However that may be, I do know one thing: Money, and problems about money, are stumbling blocks to a lot of careers.

TYPICAL QUESTIONS

Here are typical questions that I get in any given week's mail:

"How do you handle the subject of money on a job interview, if the employer won't name the salary and asks you to do so?"

★ ★ ★

"What's the best way to ask for a raise?"

"What can you do if the job you really want, that really has a future, doesn't pay, at the start, enough to live on?"

★ ★ ★

First and foremost, try if you humanly can, to have a nest egg.

NOT SO BAD

If you have a little money put away, none of these financial dilemmas is so bad.

It's when you're flat broke that the business of negotiating for a starting salary, asking for a raise, or starting for little, becomes a nightmare.

★ ★ ★

Incidentally, for advice on budgeting, which will help you to get this nest egg, send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope and I'll send you a list of good books on women and money.

After that, here are some specific pointers for the above-named problems.

★ ★ ★

1. Try, if at all possible, to get the employer to name a salary. It's his job and he should name the price.

JUST AN ACT

Sometimes his coyness is just an act, so that if you look him in the eye and say, "Seriously, what salary have you in mind?" he'll answer.

★ ★ ★

If he absolutely won't, and wants you to, it may be a sign that he's a bargain hunter. In that case, think twice before taking the job. You might have trouble with him about money forever.

But it may just be his manner. If so, you'll have to name a salary.

★ ★ ★

The best way to do this is to say, "I've been making so much," and name the figure. "Naturally, I'd want to do somewhat better in making a change."

Trust to him after that—which is all you can do.

DO GOOD JOB

2. The only way to ask for a raise is to be sure, first, that you're doing a good job and deserve a raise. Then ask for it.

★ ★ ★

If the boss says No, with a good reason—business is bad, for example, when it really is—that's fine. But if he says No simply because you've reached the ceiling on that job, or he doesn't value you, or isn't willing to reward you, be willing to leave.

To keep asking for raises you deserve and not getting them but staying anyway is suicidal.

★ ★ ★

3. If it's really a dream job, then stick with it—even if the starting salary is low. You'll make more money in the right job than the wrong one.

In order to do this, economize to the hilt and even take a Saturday or evening job for awhile to weather the "hard times."

Alaskan Seal Regains Favor

CHICAGO (INS)—Alaskan seal, a fur more flattering to feminine skins than velvet, may take many a young woman's fancy this fall.

The fur bears little resemblance to the heavy, bulky coats women wore in the early 1930s.

It is pounds lighter and, for the first time in 20 years, there is a new color. It is a chameleon-like shade of charcoal gray that looks bluish in daylight and black at night.

The new color, called "Kitovi," was previewed in Chicago recently along with black and brown in all sorts of styles for all sorts of purposes.

★ ★ ★

Besides stylish, full-length coats, there were dramatic full-length capes, trimmed with mink or Russian sable; jackets in 23-inch bolero and hip lengths, and tunics.

Many featured push-up or three-quarter-length sleeves.

Steady Pairs Wear Matching Clothes

Texas teenagers like "showy" evidence that they are going steady.

When a girl buys material for a dress, she also buys enough for a matching shirt for her "steady."

Big plaids are popular, but the boys are wearing anything the girls choose for them — prints, small gingham plaids and solids.

Dainty little clothes for tiny family members. Each item is easy to sew, requires very little fabric—just a yard of 45-inch or less for each.

No. 8151 with Patt-O-Rama is in sizes 6 mos., 1, 2, 3 years. Size 1, dress, 1 yard of 45-inch; slip, ⅝ yard; romper, ⅞ yard.

For this pattern, send 35c in coins, your name, address, size desired and the pattern number to Sue Burnett, The Pontiac Press, 372 W. Quincy St., Chicago 6, Ill.

Mother Right to Wait Up for Her 15-Year-Old Son

It's Really Unfair of Parent to Grant Man's Freedom to Teenage Boy

By RUTH MILLETT

"My 15-year-old son claims I am the only mother he knows who sits up and waits for him to get home at night," a reader says.

"Even his Dad thinks it is a little foolish of me not to go on to bed and hope he gets in all right at a decent hour.

"But I feel that 15 is too young to be turned loose with a latch key and a car. What do you think?"

That if there were more parents like you there wouldn't be so many boys roaming the streets in the morning and getting into trouble because they have nothing to do, but don't have to go home.

That parents who can go to sleep not knowing or caring where their teenagers are shouldn't cause more conscientious parents to wonder if they are just being "old-fashioned."

★ ★ ★

That giving a boy a man's freedom is really being unfair to him. If the boy misuses the freedom he is the one who gets in trouble.

That, though kids talk big about being able to look after themselves, for all their rebellion most of them feel more secure knowing that they have to abide by a few rules.

That the worst mistake a parent can make is being too lax with his children, simply because they pull the old line, "None of the other kids has to do such-and-such" or "All the other kids get to do thus and so."

★ ★ ★

That you are absolutely right. When he is a little older, your son will realize it.

Use Clever Idea to Save Storage Space on Shelf

Many homeowners have a cluttered-up back porch they hide from relatives and visitors if at all possible, and many of those back porches or rooms have cluttered-up home-made shelves.

There isn't much that can be done about the porch usually, but among the handy ways to arrange shelves is a device to store nails and other small odds and ends.

Simply take a used glass jar with a screw-on lid and nail the lid to the underside of the shelf space. The jar itself can then be screwed into the lid in the same manner as changing a light bulb.

It's a good idea to strip any paper from the jar so the contents can readily be seen. Such an arrangement appears neat, is readily accessible and leaves more actual shelf space

Hosiery Wardrobe Advised for Milady

14M — HOSIERY WARDROBE

Buying three pairs of hosiery in one shade may be thrifty but this year it isn't fashionable unless you can buy several shades in three's.

A "hosiery wardrobe" is advocated by a Texas specialty store which now has on its shelves 16 different shades.

The right color for the right costume should be chosen and not just a beige shade with everything.

"That dress looks perfect for our Sadie Hawkins dance Saturday night," is what Judy Dunham (left) seems to be saying to Sharon Daniels (center) and Gail Sedrick. All three girls live on East Mansfield avenue and are members of Trabajamas Club. The group's dance will be held in Roosevelt Temple.

Sunglasses Helpful on Bright Washdays

Sunshine is good for damp laundry. It makes wet pieces dry faster, smell fresher — but it can be harmful to your eyes. To avoid last-minute hunting for sunglasses on bright wash days, fasten an extra pair to your clothesbasket or clothespin bag. Then they'll be right at hand when sudsing time coincides with a fine, breezy, outdoor drying day.

Mink-Lined Tweed

Tweed takes on a dash and gets a lot more expensive in the Paris collections when it's given a lining of mink.

Fossiles to Fare —on Wallpaper

You don't have to be a rockhound to have fossils on your living room wall—they're now available on a hand-screened wallpaper.

The wallpaper was designed by Inez Croom of New York, who got her inspiration from rare Texas shell stone, a dirtyish yellow limestone embedded with crustaceans from centuries ago.

A Texas friend sent Miss Croom a one-ton slab of the stone after she had admired it in the San Jacinto monument. She followed the design closely in making the wallpaper because she believes the aged pattern gives a mellow effect to contemporary or period settings.

Must Cards Be Mailed to Relatives?

Husband Criticizes Leaving Greetings in Apartment Box

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: My husband and I live in a six-family apartment house. A cousin of mine, along with her husband and two children, lives in this same apartment house but on another floor. I always remember each of them on their birthdays and anniversaries by sending greeting cards.

"Instead of sending these cards through the mail I put them in their mail box down in the lobby fully addressed but unstamped. My husband has criticized me for this saying that it is not only improper but very cheap.

"I think it is very practical and can't see anything wrong in it. Furthermore it saves me from having to walk two blocks to a mail box in order to mail the cards. I would very much like to know what you think of this practice?"

Answer: I think your husband is being overfinicky and that there is nothing wrong in your putting theses cards in the mail box as you do.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My boy friend and I would like to announce our engagement soon. However we will not be able to be married for at least a year.

"My mother thinks that long engagements are socially incorrect and that we should wait until two or three months before the wedding to accounce it. Will you please tell me the proper time to announce an engagement?"

Answer: Although it is not usual to announce an engagement a year before the wedding you may properly announce yours now if you want to. In fact I advise you to because your frankness in doing so will clear your situation in relation to all those about you.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My husband and I disagree on what he should call my mother. He refuses to call her Mom or Mother. He feels that his mother alone has the right to these titles. Is it not traditional for a son-in-law to call his wife's mother Mom or Mother?"

Answer: Your mother should not feel slighted because your husband refuses to bestow on her the name reserved for his own mother.

The old-fashioned name for a mother - in - law was "Mother Brown" and "Mother - law" was sometimes used. A name that means Mother in another language like "Mater" would be a good solution.

MR. and MRS. JOSEPH LIVINGSTON

Married Saturday morning were Catherine M. Blanzy and Joseph P. Livingston. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Pearl H. Blanzy, and the bridegroom is the nephew of Mr. and Mrs. William Curan.

Catherine Blanzy Speaks Vows in St. Michael Rite

Vases of bronze and gold chrysanthemums banked the altar of St. Michael Church for the Saturday morning wedding of Catherine Marie Blanzy and Joseph Patrick Livingston of Oxford. The Rev. Norman Thomas performed the wedding before 150 guests.

★ ★ ★

The bride's mother is Mrs. Pearl H. Blanzy of Baldwin avenue, and the bridegroom is the nephew of Mr. and Mrs. William Curan of Ortonville.

For her wedding the bride chose a gown of white slipper satin fashioned with a mandarin collar, a nylon lace bodice and a chapel train. Her fingertip veil fell from a sequin and pearl tiara. The bridal bouquet was an arrangement of white sweetheart roses and trailing ivy on a white prayerbook.

Carolyn Ann Mersino of Oxford was maid of honor wearing a bronze crystalette ballerina-length gown with scoop neckline, tucked midriff and full gathered skirt featuring a floating back panel. She wore a matching braided crown headpiece with pearl trim and veil.

★ ★ ★

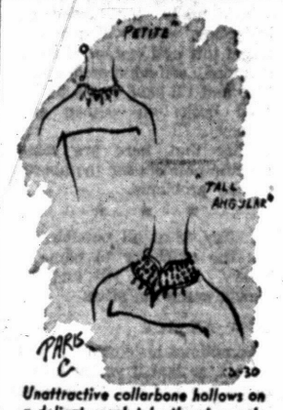

Bridesmaids Mrs. Francis J. Blanzy of Ortonville and June Knickerbocker wore dark green crystalette gowns with matching headpieces styled like the honor attendant's. All carried arrangements of butterscotch chrysanthemums and talisman roses on yellow fans.

Serving as his brother's best man was Thomas G. Livingston. Francis J. Blanzy and George Huff of Ortonville seated the guests.

For a reception in Gingellville Community Hall following the ceremony Mrs. Blanzy chose a brown wool tweed dress with a butterscotch chrysanthemum corsage.

★ ★ ★

The couple will live on North Perry street.

Unattractive collarbone hollows on a delicate neck take the airy necklace while the Venus-built woman hides scrawny neck in more elaborate bib.

The bib feeling is expressed with lightness in glamorous necklines inspired by traditional court jewelry. There is also jewelry with a heavier look which the tall, angular woman should choose to match her strength.

Know Your Type Before You Shop

NEW YORK — If you often spend a whole day shopping and end up with nothing for your efforts, you've probably been trying on the wrong fashions because you don't know which are the right ones for you. Tall, slim girls should look for large-scale patterns, full skirts, wide belts in contrasting colors, noticeable accents and large handbags and chunky jewelry.

Tall and not thin girls should try small all-over patterns or deep solid colors — charcoal, taupe and garnet are as good as black, brown and navy. Short girls should shop for vertical stripes, button-front dresses and daintily detailed fashions, and accessorize with quick flashes of color and carefully chosen small jewelry.

Bag Lightens Load

NEW YORK — Girls who set out for school armed with handbag, notebook, school books and even lunch can lighten the load this year. A specially designed Note-Tote doubles as handbag and notebook, and has an extra outside pocket besides. It's made of grained plastic in bright red, the most important accessory color for fall.

U.S. Desire to Look Prettier Doubles Cosmetics Business

NEW YORK (AP)—The urge to look prettier than nature made you has doubled the cosmetics industry's business in the last 10 years.

★ ★ ★

American women—with a big assist from the men—will shell out some 1½ billion dollars this year for cosmetics and toiletries.

Sales even rise in the years when business in general isn't so hot.

OTHER INDUSTRIES

The increasing desire to look prettier and younger has spurred sales in other industries too, all the way from fashion apparel and wonder drugs to dietetic foods and low calorie beverages.

★ ★ ★

A large part of this trend is credited to the progress in medical science that has added years to the life of millions of people, most of whom appear bitten by the yen to look younger and feel younger.

But the sales increase is also marked at the other end of the life span.

★ ★ ★

"Direct purchases by teenagers alone account for 15 per cent of our sales," says Willard Gidwitz, president of Helene Curtis industries. "And we are bringing out a line of toiletries now aimed at girls in the 5 to 12-year age group."

MEN INCLUDED

Men have given the sales chart a big boost since the Korean War. In addition to the new shaving creams and hair preparations, they are now buying more lotions, masculine deodorants and colognes.

★ ★ ★

A fifth of the industries sales last year, or some 250 million dollars, was for male use. Man's increasing drive to look well groomed is boosting sales this year above 300 million dollars, industry spokesmen estimate.

Competition between companies grows keener. One aspect is frenzied promotion and distribution drives, with advertising costing more than 500 million dollars this year.

★ ★ ★

Another is the search for new products. Still another is a merger trend or the purchasing of smaller lines by the large firms.

HOLD THEIR OWN

In the big push for sales the beauty salons seem to have more than held their own. In 1927 there were some 18,000 of them. Today there are 173,000, doing about 500 million dollars of business this year.

★ ★ ★

Much of the big boom of late is believed traceable to public psychology in this era of good times.

Rising wage scales and the general trend toward pampering oneself with everything available to make life more pleasant, relieve tensions and improve appearance has loosened pocketbooks, Gidwitz says.

★ ★ ★

All of which delights the industry — if only competition weren't so unrelenting.

Men's Hats Get New Silhouette

NEW YORK (INS) — The "shape" of fashion usually makes news in women's clothes, but the latest "shape" involves men's hats.

★ ★ ★

The big hat makers have decided it's about time Mr. Consumer had something stylish in silhouettes each season, so they're launching the "Tela-Pinch" for fall.

The "Tela-Pinch" is a new hat shape, combining a telescope crown with a pinched-front.

The "Tela-Pinch," which will pop up in some 20,000 hat stores this season, retains the conservative shape most men like. But the snap-brim is narrower, and the ribbon's bow is at the back.

★ ★ ★

The new hat shape, by the way, is pre-blocked. The claim is this means it can't get out of shape when hatcheck girls snatch it up. The pre-blocking exactly follows the pinch-shape that most men crease into their hats.

Sour Cream and Cheese Top Beans

Mrs. Baker's Dish Browned in Broiler Just Before Serving

By JANET ODELL

No longer is the woman who "cooks with a can opeener" the butt of many jokes. It is recognized that imaginative use of canned foods is to be applauded, rather than despised.

Green beans are excellent vegetables. But once in a while they can stand some dressing up. Fixed in the manner suggested by Mrs. H. T. Baker, they are delicious. Mrs. Baker enjoys membership in a child study group and in several bridge groups.

GREEN BEANS SUPREME
By Mrs. H. T. Baker

⅓ cup sliced onion
1 tablespoon minced parsley
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon grated lemon peel
1 cup sour cream
3 cups canned or cooked green beans, drained
½ cup grated American cheese
2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
½ cup dry bread crumbs

Cook onion and parsley in 2 tablespoons butter until tender, but not brown. Add flour, salt, pepper and lemon peel. Add sour cream and mix well. Stir in beans; heat and stir.

Turn into greased 10x6x1-½-inch baking dish. Top with grated cheese. Combine melted butter and bread crumbs; sprinkle over beans. Broil at low heat until cheese melts and crumbs brown. Makes 6 servings.

Future Clothing May Treat Ills

LOS ANGELES (INS) — The newest wrinkle in the fight against disease may be "cure as you wear it" clothing.

★ ★ ★

And before long manufacturers may be turning out material that can be used effectively in the treatment of such skin ailments as furunculosis, ammonia dermatitis and diaper skin disorders.

Dr. C. A. Lawrence, of the University of California at Los Angeles Medical School, and Dr. A. J. Maffia, of the New York Medical College, have conducted an extensive survey in this method of of combatting skin disorders.

They reported in a recent issue of "Bulletin of American Society of Hospital Pharmacists" that blankets as well as clothing could be impregnated with special disease-killing chemical agents.

They said evidence also indicates that respiratory diseases and streptococcal infections can be decreased by this method.

Dr. Lawrence reports that certain four-element compounds known as "quats" have been the most successfully used antiseptics for this purpose.

Suds Them Often

If you buy foundation garments in the bright gay colors that are new this season, suds them often—but suds them separately from your white nylon corsets and bras which may pick up tints.

Youth to 'Trick or Treat' for Sick, Hungry Children

The Youth Fellowship of Oakland Park Methodist Church has decided to combine Halloween fun with service to others by "Trick or Treating" for the world's hungry children through CROP (Christian Rural Overseas Program of Church World Service).

★ ★ ★

Donations will be asked for instead of the usual items of food. All who request donations will wear identification tags. The money will be used to buy government surplus food and send it through this interdenominational agency.

Each penny given will send over two pounds of food to undernourished children, mothers, and refugees.

The young people of Oakland Park will canvass in the church and Mark Twain school areas from 7 to 8:30 p.m. The evening will close with a party in the church parlors.

Central Methodist

The Intermediate Youth Fellowship of Central Methodist Church will join thousands of other youngsters Halloween night in collecting for children around the world.

The youth of America started this program of sharing instead of scaring. The only trick is to treat the hungry and sick children everywhere.

★ ★ ★

According to the Rev. Calvin Rice, associate pastor, five cents will provide enough penicillin to cure a child of yaws; one cent provides vaccine to inoculate a child against tuberculosis. One cent will also provide five glasses of milk.

★ ★ ★

"When a youngster comes to your door with an orange and black container, Trick or Treat, for United Nations Children's Fund, just consider what one dollar can do," said the Rev. Mr. Rice.

Light Is Fastest Thing in the Sight Process

When the hero of a blood-and-thunder Western story draws his six-shooter with the "speed of light," that cowboy really is moving. The fastest action in the process of seeing is the speed of the light that travels to your eyes. A flash of light, which travels at the rate of 186,000 miles per second, could move around the world more than 12 times between eye blinks.

Let Goldfish Live in Big Crystal Dish

Give your goldfish a new home in a sparkling crystal fish.

That's what one San Francisco florist tried and now his fishbowls are almost as much in demand as his roses.

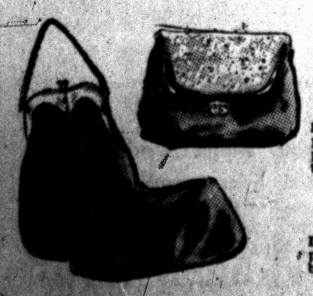

Made in two sizes, the graceful glass fish rests on the tail and two lower fins with heads high and mouths wide open. The 20-inch fish is roomy enough for a small finny family with space for fern and bright pebbles.

For the bachelor apartment and fish, there is a 12-inch model which can decorate a coffee table or a bookshelf.

U.S. Women Can Choose Cosmetics

Have Wide Choice, but Are Inexpert at Applying Them

No women in the world have as many cosmetics to choose from as American women. Yet many American women are inexpert at applying cosmetics. Rouge goes on in hard, round spots. Lipstick is a red smear. And powder often doesn't match the skin tones and has been scrubbed into the pores rather than fluffed on. The result isn't what it should be: pretty. The best way to get results with the cosmetics at your command is to practice.

★ ★ ★

You should be able to do a complete make-up job in five minutes once you get the technique. Remember, the point of make-up is that it should be subtle. It should imitate nature's own coloring. To this end, rouge should be applied to resemble a very delicate flush of color.

Powder should be applied with a fluffy puff to look nearly invisible. But it should be there. And lipstick should go on with the aid of a steady, sure hand in a mouth outline that may or may not be your own but that is flattering.

Did you ever hear a recording of your own voice? Were you shocked? Most likely. You probably couldn't believe that you sounded like that, high, rasping and shrill.

That's because most of us never pause to listen to our own voices. Yet a soft, low voice can be one of the loveliest qualities in a woman. Without it, she can ruin the remainder of her beauty and make it a minus quality. How can you achieve a soft, low voice?

By practice. By really listening to yourself and others. By deliberately lowering your voice a notch or two. And possibly by making recordings of your voice that will show you your errors and thus teach you best how to improve.

To relax yourself and your feet, try going about your home in the evening either barefoot or in your stocking feet. And when you sit, put your feet up.

★ ★ ★

You'll find it's good for both circulation and relaxation while you read or watch TV. Wiggle your toes, stretch your legs and generally give your feet and legs a good rest. Several times a week, give your feet the luxury of a good soaking in warm soapy water. Follow by a dash of cold water and a brisk rubbing with a terry towel. This, too, does wonders for your tired feet.

Displaying their wares for the Harvest Dinner and bazaar to be held Nov. 8 at St. Paul Lutheran Church are members of the Ladies' Guild. Mrs. James Cottrill shows a poster inviting parishioners to attend the affair to Mrs. Jack McDaniel, Mrs. Wells Hogan and Mrs. William J. Fisher (left to right), who appear eager for the big event to get under way.

Blackheads Give Women Trouble

Many women with no other skin problems are plagued by blackheads. Usually, they show up in one or two areas: around the nose or on the forehead.

★ ★ ★

The reason for blackheads is oil gland secretion. Without this secretion, a woman of 30 would be completely wrinkled so it's a boon, too. It causes trouble in the form of blackheads only when it doesn't reach the skin surface. Then it dries and hardens, forming a fatty plug and gradually turning black.

To get rid of blackheads, you must remove excessive oil from the surface of the skin. The simplest way to do this is with soap and hot water. You may use either a soft brush or a washcloth.

Before you try to remove the blackheads, steam the pores for 10 or 20 minutes.

★ ★ ★

Dip a heavy towel into hot water and wring it out, holding it by the ends. Apply the steamy part to the skin as a compress. Repeat the process for about 15 minutes. Then remove the blackheads with a sterile blackhead remover.

Dinner, Bazaar Set by St. Paul Church

Turkey will be the choice item on the menu when members of St. Paul Lutheran Church gather for the Harvest Dinner and bazaar scheduled by the Ladies Guild Nov. 8.

Chairman of the affair is Mrs. Wells Hogan.

★ ★ ★

Featured at the bazaar will be a baked goods counter supervised by Mrs. Louis Clauson and Mrs. Bert Smith, and a fancywork booth directed by Mrs. Donald Tinson, Mrs. Robert Gardner and Mrs. Marge Turnbull.

The traditional fish pond will be supervised by Mrs. William Fisher and Mrs. Kenneth Bixby, while a Christmas novelties booth will be managed by Mrs. Lester Kasten and Mrs. James Cottrill.

The Altar Guild of the church will sponsor a booth with Christmas cards and religious books.

★ ★ ★

Kitchen chairman for the dinner is Mrs. H. E. Earhart; Mrs. Jack McDaniel will manage the dining room.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Hogan is in charge of tickets and publicity for the affair.

Shoulder Bugs Are Latest Fad

NEW YORK (INS)—New York's latest fashion fad is for bugs on the shoulder.

★ ★ ★

Two bugs at least, and on the left shoulder only.

Jeweled insects, the size of real bugs, are the latest costume trim. You pin them on casually, as if they landed at random just under your shoulder seam, but you don't use matched bugs.

★ ★ ★

A lady bug is okay with a butterfly, a beetle with a dragonfly, etc. The only other rule is that the bugs have to be glittery—pearl and colored stones on gold, if possible.

Fear Can Turn 'Bad' Words Into Tyrants

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

When I was a child, I had a friend named Ina whose father's ill health made it hard for him to keep a job. The struggle to make ends meet had turned her mother into a very anxious woman.

★ ★ ★

One day, invited to supper, I arrived to find Ina and her mother in tears. Her father had lost another job. But Ina's mother shook her head when I offered to go home.

"No," she said nervously, "we've got to behave as though nothing bad had happened. Remember, not a word of what I've told you to Father. It would only make things much, much worse."

I felt such sympathy I nearly cried myself.

But at supper when there came a little lull in the conversation, I said to Ina's father, "Oh, Mr. Miller, I'm so sorry you lost your job again."

Then, of course, I wanted the earth to open and swallow me.

I was not being defiant. I was just being so scared of saying the forbidden thing that I went ahead and said it.

INTENSELY CRITICAL

I recall this experience for a mother who writes, "My mother-in-law is intensely critical of our 11-year-old daughter's habit of saying 'Drop dead.' Though I've repeatedly asked her to watch her tongue when her grandmother's here, she defies me. She seems to go out of her way to use the phrase more often when her grandmother's around. . . "

★ ★ ★

The more anxious we are when we forbid objectionable expressions to children, the more apt they are to go on using them.

Like Ina's mother, we can make such a point of the words' offensiveness that the child takes on our fear of them. Then the words may become tyrants, taking over control of his tongue.

Though we can't afford to condone objectionable expressions from children, neither can we afford fear of them. For the intense feeling behind our anxious reproof make the offensive words so impressive that the child can't get them out of his head.

Then, like myself or this 11-year-old youngster around her critical grandma, when he finds himself in a strained situation, the forbidden words may rush from his head to his tongue.

Which is why child-guidance experts ask us not to make big, shocked productions of reproving youngsters' offensive language.

The Proxy Murder

By ERLE STANLEY GARDNER

★ ★ ★

"Thanks," Mason told him, leaning slightly forward with his head to one side so his hat brim would be between his features and the other man's eyes. "Thanks a lot!"

★ ★ ★

Mason pushed his foot gently on the throttle, eased away from the curb.

Mason located the sixty-eight hundred block on Washington Heights, but missed sixty-eight thirty-one the first time he went down the block. It was only after he turned and came back that he found a little bungalow type of house setting back from the street.

Mason stopped his car, left the parking lights on, and his feet crunched up the gravel walk, leading to the house.

A neighbor's dog began barking with steady insistence.

Mason heard annoyed tones from the adjoining house telling the dog to shut up.

The lawyer climbed up on the steps of the small porch and groped for a bellbutton. Unable to find it, he knocked on the door.

There was no answer from within.

Mason knocked the second time.

Bare feet thudded to the floor in the interior of the house. The dog in the neighboring house started a crescendo of barking and then abruptly became silent.

At length a porch light clicked. The door opened a crack, held from opening farther by a brass chain which stretched taut across the narrow opening.

A man's voice from the inside said, "Who is it?"

"I'm an attorney from the city," Mason said. "I want to talk with you."

"What about?"

"About your wife."

"My wife?"

"That's right. Rose Calvert. She's your wife, isn't she?"

"You better ask her whose wife she is," the man said.

Mason said, "I'm sorry. I don't want to discuss the matter out here where the entire neighborhood can hear. I drove down here to see you because I feel it's important."

"What's important?"

"What I want to see you about."

"Now you look here," the man said. "I'm not going to consent to a single thing. I'm hoping Rose will come to her senses. If she does, all right. If she doesn't I'm not going to make things any easier for her or for that fellow who has her hypnotized, and that's final!"

He started to close the door.

"Just a moment," Mason said. "I don't want you to consent to anything. I just want to get some information."

"Why?"

"Because it's important."

"Who's it important to?"

"It may be important to you."

IT IS URGENT

The man on the other side of the door hesitated, then finally said, "Well, all right. You can come in. This is a great hour of the night to get a body up to start asking questions."

"I wouldn't do it if it wasn't urgent," Mason said.

"What's urgent about it?"

"I'm not sure yet," Mason said, "and I don't want to alarm you until I am sure. I'm an attorney, but I'm not representing your wife in any way. I'm not representing anyone connected with the aspect of the case in which you are interested. I just want to get some information, and then perhaps I can give you some."

"Well, come on in."

The chain was removed and the door swung open.

The man who stood, tousled-haired and bare-footed, in the entrance hallway, was wearing striped pajamas. He was nearly six feet tall, slender, about thirty with dark, smoldering eyes and long, black hair which had tumbled about his head.

"Come on in," he said, yawning.

"Thanks," Mason said.

Munro Views Mideast Crisis

U.N. Assembly Chief Willing to Hold Private Talks to Solve Issues

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. —(AP) The president of the U. N. Assembly, Sir Leslie Munro, says he also is willing to try to solve the Turkish-Syrian crisis through private talks.

★ ★ ★

The blunt-spoken diplomat from New Zealand, who is presiding over the bitter Middle East debates, said in an interview yesterday that he—like his predecessors in the top assembly post—is ready to go outside the meeting halls to aid in solving problems facing the world organization.

In the present crisis, he asserted, "quiet diplomacy can play an important role," and the Assembly president can help by conferring privately with the "principal protagonists and discussing the problem with them."

★ ★ ★

"I am willing to take part in any way I can," Munro declared.

There was a growing belief in the U. N. that the necessary two-thirds majority could not be mustered for either of the two suggestions made informally to the Asseembly—that Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold mediate, the Western proposal, or that a special investigation commission be sent to the trouble area, a Syrian suggestion backed by the Russians.

★ ★ ★

Munro, known for usually saying what he thinks, refrained from taking sides on the Middle East controversy.

He said he feels it is imperative for the president of the Assembly to build up a reputation for impartiality, fitting him for taking part in "quiet diplomacy" on issues before the U. N.

Damascus, capital of Syria, is believed to be the oldest continuously inhabited city in the world. It is mentioned in the book of Genesis, but its origin is unknown.

ARTHRITIS PAINED SO FIERCE IT MADE ME CRY

I'll recommend O-Jib-Wa Bitters for Rheumatism and Arthritis as long as I live, says Mrs. Margaret Standridge, Flint.

"I was crippled with arthritis since the Spring of 1950. It was in my right arm, shoulder and neck and you just can't imagine how much suffering I went through. There wasn't a night went by that I didn't go to bed with tears in my eyes. I'm telling you, I really suffered. My arm was stiff, and burned like someone was holding a torch under it. One day my husband was cutting wood up North, and the man he was working with had to be carried out of the woods due to a severe attack of arthritis. He was so bad that his wife had to turn him over in bed by pulling on his sheets. He used O-JIB-WA BITTERS and three weeks later, was better and back working. After his experience, I decided to try O-JIB-WA too, but after 5 days I gave up, as I foolishly expected immediate relief. Well, the pain just went on, and for a whole year I couldn't move my arm. My knuckles were swollen to twice their normal size, and I couldn't pick up a thing without dropping it. Why even my chest pained fiercely, so last December, I decided to give O-JIB-WA a fair trial this time. I followed directions carefully, and in just 10 days the pain suddenly stopped, and the swelling and stiffness began going away. I know it was the O-JIB-WA that did it, as I hadn't tried anything else for quite some time. I can use my arm again now and do my housework, painting and everything I couldn't do while suffering with arthritis. The pain, stiffness and swelling are all gone and have not returned. I'm so thankful for this wonderful medicine that I will never be without it. I'LL RECOMMEND O-JIB-WA BITTERS AS LONG AS I LIVE."

Hal Boyle Says:

Anastasia Killing Disgraces Assassination

NEW YORK (AP) — Here in the city beautiful that nearly every day can greet a dawn with a homicide, there came a sudden death that gave the millions pause.

It was a different death. It was not a routine death in a city where many strange ways of death are routine.

★ ★ ★

His death may be justice but it is not law. Police officials announce 100 detectives have been assigned to search for the killers, but very few of the 8½ million people who live here think the 100 will ever bring the two killers to successful trial; nor do they worry much.

As an observer of death on many fronts, however, some artistic and some inartistic, I must say the two-man execution of Anastasia marks a postwar low in the art of public assassination.

The whole picture is one of self-doubt, not only from the viewpoint of those who fired but from the standpoint of those who ordered the triggers pulled. They belong in lime — those who pulled the triggers. And those who gave the orders belong in the electric chair.

They must have been nervous, and that is bad. First, as their victim is sitting in a barber chair, they start talking to the barber. By the time they say the first word they are late to the job.

Then they fired 10 shots at close range and were lucky that some of the five hit, according to the papers.

This percentage of target inaccuracy illustrates the danger of conversation during business hours. In wartime I have met able, disciplined soldiers who would hang their heads at this kind of a performance.

But the two must have had a well-organized plan, for the way I look at it they had flanking protectors and blockers outside the shop to take care of the outside possible interrupters. And I rather doubt that the men who shot Anastasia ran for a subway.

It would be so much simpler to stroll to an elevator and go upstairs and eat food in quiet in a room registered by another man, and enjoy television in peace. Let the second stringers dispose of the guns.

★ ★ ★

I realize this theory requires the employment of at least five men to kill one. But it is hard to figure how they could have used fewer and been sure of coping with the traffic problem.

Beauty in Grand Rapids

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Marilyn Vanderbur, Miss America for 1957, visited Grand Rapids Monday night in connection with premiere showings of a new automobile. Miss Vanderbur is scheduled soon to return to her home in Denver for homecoming festivities at University of Colorado, where she is a music student.

Health Department Big

GRAND HAVEN (AP) — A silver anniversary report on the Ottawa County Health Department, organized by Dr. Ralph Tenhave, its present director, shows a growth from a staff of four and a $12,000 budget in 1931 to more than 15 staff members and a 1958 budget of $92,667.

The men have been appointed as co-conferees to the second World Metallurgical Congress which meets Nov. 2-8 in Chicago.

Farmers Almanac Labels 1958 a Sad Year

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS) — If one is a sentimentalist of superstitious, one must face it — this is going to be a miserable year.

Realists can live from day to day, and not realize until nightfall what a serene or difficult morrow awaits him.

TAKE CUES

But the sentimentalists and superstitious, they are the ones who take their moody cues from horoscopes and "The Old Farmer's Almanac," from woolly worms and groundhogs. So it is they, today, who must know that 1958 will be "ferly and surely, a real humdinger."

So today the prediction, weatherwise, must be reported for the coming year of Our Lord 1958. The salient, sobbable truth comes from the 166th annual Farmer's Almanac, which once again has been compiled with great heart and mild intution.

★ ★ ★

The holiday weather follows:

New Year's Day — stormy.

Lincoln's Birthday — rain.

Washington's Birthday — snow.

Bunker Hill Day (celebrated June 17 in Suffolk, Mass.) — fog.

Columbus Day — storm.

Election Day — Flowery. (This refers to clouds, not necessarily candidates.)

Thanksgiving — stormy.

Christmas — white.

★ ★ ★

The Almanac points out also that 1958 will be a fairly distressing annum for holiday vacations. To take a lot of long weekends next year, one must either be the boss, marry same, or say the heck with him.

"Only two good bets for long weekends," we quote, "are the holidays of May 30 and July 4." (Those holidays fortunately fall on Fridays — but you won't like the weather!)

"New Year's and Lincoln's Birthday in 1958 will be Wednesdays," which louses up the non-working works, "and Washington's Birthday is a Saturday, and Columbus Day a Sunday." Dandy, eh?

★ ★ ★

As for Veteran's Day and Thanksgiving and Christmas, they're all on Thursday; and "quick rundowns of individual state holidays is not much more encouraging in this regard."

Not wanting to be thoroughly pessimistic in this column, we have scanned the outlook, week by week, for the coming year, and hereby report the good news that a few seven-day periods augur well for the human race. You could plan a picnic, maybe . . .

There is no good weather foreseen, apparently, until Jan. 20, when it will be "nice-then thaw." The next peak comes in the week of Feb. 26, "fair and cold."

Skip March for pleasantry, and consider the 3rd to 9th of April — "fair but cool."

After that, there will be roughly 23 pleasant days before Christmas.

Of course, it's ridiculous to take groundhogs and caterpillars' backs and ancient almanacs too seriously. I mean, anybody will tell you — how can they possibly know?

But, just in case there's something to it, I'd suggest carrying your rabbit's foot to work March 11, as a protection against a tornado. It might just blow a black cat across your path.

State Economic Picture Brighter Because of Chemical Industry

By ROGER LANE

LANSING (AP) — A surge of growth in the chemical industry is brightening the Michigan economic picture, lately a subject of gloomy controversy.

Chemical plants of wide variety are flourishing, and more are coming in to boost the worth of the state's chemical production, already valued at over one billion dollars annually.

LARGE EMPLOYER

The industry is the state's sixth largest employer, providing jobs for nearly 40,000 persons; ranks sixth in payrolls and sixth in value of production.

The state economic development department describes the potential for continued expansion as "tremendous." Gov. Williams recently called the industry's growth "one of our great success stories."

Nobody is sure exactly how many medicines, bleaches, insecticides, plastics, cleaning agents, preservatives, nutritional aids and industrial chemicals are made here, but they are known to run into the several hundreds.

REPUTATION HIGH

Basically, Michigan owes what has happened so far and the rosy promise of the future to natural advantages that have built its reputation near and far as "the nation's salt cellar" and a "water wonderland."

And the beauty of it is, nearly everywhere there is abundant water within reach to support salt recovery through brine extraction methods, and processing operations.

The prime mover of the big development at Montague, near Muskegon, is the Hooker Electrochemical Co. of Niagara Fals, N. Y.

STARTED THINGS

Hooker started things off in 1954 with a 15 million dollar caustic soda and chlorine plant. Tagging along right behind was the Dupont Co., which built nearly a 15 billion dollar neoprene acility.

Union Carbide and Carbon Co. then established in the same Montague-Whitehall district its three million dollar Linde Air Products plant to furnish another component, acetylene.

Elsewhere recently, the American Agricultural Chemical Co. of New York opened plants at Bay City and Kalamazoo. The American Nitrogen Corp. built in Traverse City and Cowles Chemical of Cleveland has acquired a site for a new plant near Monroe.

* * *

Of course, the backbone of the chemical industry in the state long has been Dow Chemical Co. at Midland, which employes 10,500 persons, and a group of other established firms, such as Wyandotte Chemical Co., Parke, Davis & Co., the Upjohn Co., International Salt Co., Morton Salt, Union Carbide and Carbon and the Diamond Crystal Salt Co.

Some of these are undertaking major new developments.

Dow plans a two million dollar new catalyst plant at Ludington and a petrochemical plant in Bay County, as well as a half-mile long new headquarters at Midland, all within the next two years.

This chemical giant, which now has 15 plants in 10 states, also is preparing for major expansions elsewhere.

All told, the chemical industry now has about 400 establishments—about 240 of them in the Detroit area and most of the rest scattered about in the southern half of the Lower Peninsula, although Union Carbide and Carbon is an old time resident of Sault Ste. Marie.

* * *

The latest figures available from the U. S. Census of Manufacturers show that between 1947 and 1954 employment in the Michigan segment of the chemical industry increased 15 per cent — by about 5,200 persons.

During this period, nearly 44 million dollars was spent in the state on new plants, equipment and other expansion items.

These rates have held up or even spurted beyond in the last three years.

* * *

Since salt deposits play such an important basic role, it is interesting that only a small fraction of Michigan's production from this resource is dried and evaporated for table use.

The bulk of salt recovered goes largely into industrial chemicals, dust and ice control, food processing, meat packing, textile production and water softening.

About two-thirds is used in the form of brine by chemical plants. All told, salt is estimated to have about 14,000 uses.

Ranking first in salt production, Michigan is second in output of bromine and magnesium compounds.

* * *

Bromine is used in the manufacture of dyes, in medicine, metallurgy and in chemical operations as a disinfectant.

3 Win in Hair Contest

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Dee Fornasero, Muskegon; Mrs. Frank Buzzelli, Detroit, and Judy Jedrezak, also of Muskegon, took the top three prizes Monday night in a hair coloring-styling contest at Grand Rapids, sponsored by a cosmetics manufacturer for west Michigan beauty operators.

4 Men, 1 Boy, 14, Admit 37 Thefts

Burglaries Include Try at Safecracking Which Caused $200,000 Fire

SAGINAW (AP) — Saginaw County Sheriff Clarence A. Kackmeister said yesterday four young men and a 14-year-old boy have admitted 37 burglaries in Saginaw and Tuscola Counties including a safecracking attempt in Reese, Mich., that resulted in a $200,000 fire. The sheriff said they also admitted nine attempted burglaries.

* * *

The four men are held in the Saginaw County Jail. The boy is held at the Juvenile Home here.

The sheriff said warrants for the men were issued in Tuscola County in connection with the break-in at Massoll's Sales Agency and garage in Reese Sept. 20. Fire destroyed the building. The sheriff said the blaze broke out when burglars attempted to break open the safe with a cutting torch.

The sheriff said eight of the burglaries were in Tuscola County, 16 were in the village of St. Charles, Saginaw County, and 13 others were in Saginaw County.

* * *

A girl implicated by statements of the five is being held in Saginaw County Jail for questioning, the sheriff said.

Two men are being held in the county jail at Lapeer, the sheriff said, for questioning about burglaries in Lapeer County. The sheriff identified them as David Griffith, 20, and Eden Frasier Jr., 21, both of St. Charles.

Those held in the Saginaw County Jail were listed as Francis Frasier, 20, William St. Charles, 18, Harry Frasier, 20, and Carl McPherson, 18.

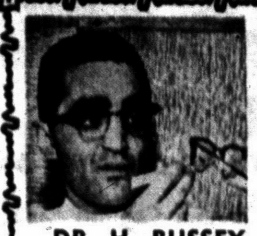

* * *

The arrests were made in the past five days. Sheriff's deputies got their first lead after two men were picked up for questioning about the theft of gasoline from cars in Saginaw.

The Simplon tunnel through the Alps between Switzerland and Italy is 12 miles long.

Skeleton Is Identified

CADILLAC (AP) — State police said Tuesday that a skeleton found north of Manton four days ago has been tentatively identified as that of Gerald McGuire, 47, of Flint. Two boys hunting near Manton made the discovery. Papers in a billfold nearby led to the tentative identification, officers said. State pathologists are conducting tests in attempts to determine a cause of death.

Honeymooning in Canada

Oehler-Roddewig Rites Read in Royal Oak

Following their noon wedding Saturday in Shrine of the Little Flower, Royal Oak, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry V. Roddewig received guests in the Hillside Room at Devon Gables. Upon their return from a Canadian honeymoon, they will reside in Berkley.

The bride, the former Phyllis Ann Oehler, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Oehler, 2224 Linwood Ave., Royal Oak. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Gil F. Roddewig, 5730 Clinton River Dr., Pontiac.

Wearing a gown of pure Italian silk with a scoop neckline outlined in seed pearls and iridescent sequins, dropped waistline and chapel-length train, the bride wore a matching headpiece to secure her fingertip veil of illusion. She carried a cascade of white rosebuds and English ivy.

Her attendants were Sandra Johnson of Berkley, Mrs. William S. Lorimer of Royal Oak, Mrs. William J. Hazell of Detroit and Susan Oehler, sister of the bride.

Best man for the occasion was William J. Hazell of Detroit. Other attendants were James and William Roddewig, brothers of the bridegroom.

Lake Orion to Dedicate School

A Tribute to United Efforts of Far-Sighted Community

By LAOMA SANFORD
Lake Orion Correspondent

ORION TOWNSHIP — The dedication of the Lake Orion Community High School next Sunday will be a tribute to the united efforts of a community and the belief that, through the public schools, democracy will be preserved.

The program at 3 will be keynoted by a talk by Dr. Donald Leu, educational consultant for MSU. The band and glee club will participate.

At 2 p.m., tours of the building will be conducted by National Honor Society members. Following the program refreshments will be served.

The dedication is a culmination of action taken by farsighted citizens who decided five years ago that the area must be consolidated to have a system large enough to support a school adequate for their children; the Citizens Group, which spent uncounted hours amassing information; the Parent Teacher Associations, whose members followed with a block campaign that passed the bond issue vote on May 9, 1955; the school board members who ironed out construction wrinkles; and finally the faculty, whose members mapped out department needs.

40 ACRE SITE

The school, built on a 40 acre site donated by the late A. F. Greiner, his wife, and Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Markwood, is blended into the rolling landscape, leaving an oak grove in the circular drive. Only a small portion for an athletic field has been leveled, and landscaping is incomplete.

At present, 726 students attend the school which was built to house 900, with expandable plans to accommodate 1200. The 78,172 square feet of space provides 30 teaching stations; administrative offices for the system; library; music rooms and gymnasium. The total cost was $1,312,713.58.

Public dedication of the school is but a beginning of its service to the community. It represents unprecedented cooperation — a monument to the future of a community awakened to its possibility of achievement.

Bids to Come This Winter

Discuss M24 Paving

State Highway Department officials yesterday announced that they would probably take bids "some time this winter" on paving for relocation and expansion of M24 from Lake Orion north to Lapeer County.

★ ★ ★

The revelation was made at a public hearing held in Oxford's Veterans Hall, which was attended by some 100 persons. There was no dissension among those present, only curiosity as to when the widening would be started.

★ ★ ★

Present at the meeting from the State Highway Department in Lansing were Joseph Wilbur, who acted as chairman; Duane Russell and Stanley Roman.

★ ★ ★

The divided highway with limited access, will be paved 2½ miles south of Oxford and 5.5 mile north of town, to Brauer road.

Officials predict that in 1975 the road will be traveled by 21,000 persons per day. A recent tabulation showed that 9,000 vehicles per day used the road between Oxford and Orion.

Scout Leaders Trained

IMLAY CITY — Mrs. William Knight is conducting a training course for Girl Scout leaders each Wednesday evening in the scout rooms. The group attended the recent craft display held at the Potter School in Flint. The course will run for eight weeks.

W. Bloomfield Baptist Elects Dwight Butler

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP—Dwight W. Butler recently was elected superintendent of the Bible School of the West Bloomfield Baptist Church, 4900 Orchard Lake Rd.

Big Fullback Linked With Trouble Within Detroit Lions

Leon Hart Center of Controversy

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Lions are having more trouble among themselves than they are with their National Football League opponents, and players and coaches alike agree the trouble originates with large Leon Hart.

The former All-America end from Notre Dame, now in his eighth season with the Lions, has been the target of criticism almost from the day he stepped off the college campus into a handsome three-year contract with the Detroit club.

Though at times Hart — always a popular figure with Lions' fans — has been a standout performer both on offense and defense, he never has had a friendly relationship with most of his teammates. Over the last couple of seasons coaches have developed a strong dislike for the 6-foot-5, 250-pounder from Turtle Creek, Pa.

What makes the situation so touchy is that Hart has managed to stay on solid terms with Edwin J. Anderson, the club president. Today Anderson finds himself in the middle of a situation that coach George Wilson said last night, "must be corrected —soon."

★ ★ ★

Almost everyone but Anderson says the club, currently tied for second place in the Western Conference, would be better off without Hart.

Hart pulled a hamstring muscle late last summer during pre-season drills. He appeared infrequently during the six exhibition games. He has missed some of the Lions' five regular season games altogether and appeared briefly in others.

Hart has been a holdout the past two seasons, both times failing to reach terms with general manager W. N. Kerbawy. Both times he settled after huddling with Anderson. Kerbawy and Hart have not always been on the friendliest terms.

★ ★ ★

During Hart's latest holdout several directors urged Kerbawy—in the presence of a newsman—to "see that Anderson doesn't give in to Leon."

But Anderson signed him and Hart says the contract — which calls for a salary of $12,000 — contains a clause that prevents the club from trading, selling or releasing him. Anderson insists that isn't the case and the coaches and players, and even the general manager, are not certain just what the contract does specify.

★ ★ ★

Wilson and the other coaches have told reporters "Hart can help us, but only if he makes up his mind that he wants to." They and the players openly suggest the big fellow has been "dogging it."

Hart has said all along that "I'm giving my best. I know better than anyone else how I feel."

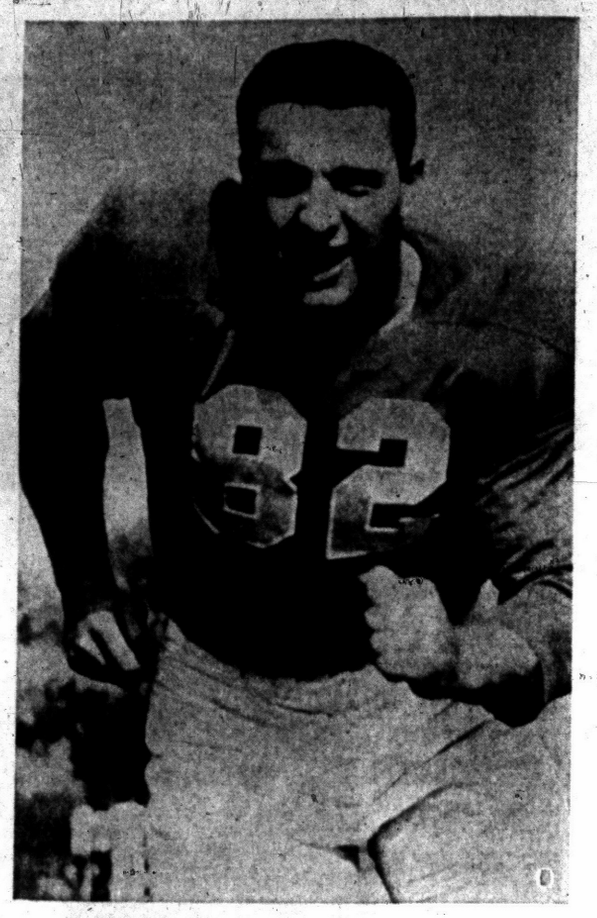

Buddy Parker himself said before he departed that 'Hart could be another Bronko Nagurski if he wanted to but he doesn't.' Wilson has said much the same thing and at least two assistant coaches are known to have asked club officials if there is some way the Lions can get rid of Hart.

They and the players suggest Hart is more interested in outside business activities — which are several—than he is in playing what undoubtedly will be his final season of professional football.

The resentment against Hart has been no secret for the last several seasons, but broke wide open after last Sunday's 35-17 defeat at Los Angeles.

"Why should we knock outselves out 12 games a season when this guy loafs around for all but two or three games a year and gets a lot more money?" asked one veteran linebacker.

Anderson was at Palm Springs, Calif., and not available for comment. Kerbawy, too, was unreachable. But Wilson said "something has to be done soon for the good of the team." He made the statement in a telephone interview from Pasadena, Calif., where the Lions are working out before taking on the San Francisco 49ers Sunday.

CENTER OF CONTROVERSY — Big Leon Hart has become the center of controversy and reported dissension on the Detroit Lions' football team. The fullback has not been the most popular player on the team.

Black Hawks Defeat Wings Again, 1-0

Chicago Posts Second Straight Over Detroiters

Hall Flawless in Net in Gaining 3rd Shutout of Season

NEW YORK (AP) — The Detroit Red Wings were in New York today still looking for a winning combination after being edged by the Chicago Black Hawks 1-0 last night when a Hawk got his first goal in two years.

Detroit, now with five loses against three victories, meets the Rangers tonight in a continning road trip that carries them on to Montreal for a contest Saturday night.

The Hawks' Jim Thomson, who hadn't scored a goal since 1955, drove home his counter from the blue line in the third period as the Hawks were posting their second successive shutout of the Wings.

Again, as in the 3-0 victory of the Hawks over the Wings in Detroit last Sunday, the Chicago triumph was a feather each for the hats of goalie Glenn Hall and forward Ted Lindsay.

Revenge - minded Lindsay, who was traded with Hall to the Black Hawks before the season, did not figure in any scoring. But he was his prominent aggressive self. He got a penalty for sticking.

Hall, getting his third shutout in nine games of the young season, was flawless in the nets.

The light - scoring Thomson lofted in his shot with seven minutes remaining of the game. A knot of players in front of Terry Sawchuk screened the shot from the Detroit goalie. This was only Thomson's 16th goal in 721 NHL games. He played 11 years for the Toronto Maple Leafs before going to Chicago.

Chicago's victory boosted the Hawks into a tie for third place with the Boston Bruins. Detroit stayed in fifth place.

Sauer's Comeback NL's Best

Writers Rate Hank Tops

NEW YORK (AP) — Big Hank Sauer, who hit 26 home runs to give the Giants a needed lift in their last season in New York, made the National League comeback of the year in 1957.

This was the verdict of the members of the Baseball Writers' Assn. of America who participated in the Associated Press annual poll.

Sixty-four of the 139 participating writers felt that Sauer's recovery from a poor season in 1956 was the most noteworthy. Cincinnati third baseman Don Hoak was second with 29 votes.

Far back in third place was Giants' pitcher Ruben Gomez with seven votes. He was followed by first baseman Stan Musial of St. Louis with six and Brooklyn pitcher Johnny Podres with five.

Sauer embellished his 1957 home run output with 76 runs batted in. He batted .259 in 127 games. His 26 circuit blows increased his total for 13 big league seasons to 275.

The 38-year-old resident of Inglelional release by the St. Louis Cards at the close of the 1956 campaign. He was picked up by the Giants as a free agent.

Sauer's 1956 batting average was .298. But he played in only 75 games, many of them as a pinch-hitter, and managed only five homers and 24 RBI's.

Hank's best year was 1952 when he led the National League with 37 homers and 121 runs batted in for the fifth-place Chicago Cubs. For his fine showing, he won the most valuable player award. He is the only member of a second-division club to have done so.

Hoak also was helped by a change of uniform. In 1956 he hit only .215 for the Cubs. With the Redlegs he had a .293 average along with 19 homers and 90 rbis. In 10 previous professional seasons —major and minor league—Don never hit more than seven home runs.

Gomez, who compiled a 7-17 record last year, won 15 games and lost 13 in 1957. He was the Giants' biggest winner.

San Diego Golf Tourney Starts

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—A field of 144 players, including many of the top Professional Golf Assn.'s leading money winners, start play today in the first round of the 72-hole San Diego Open at Mission Valley Country Club.

Single rounds in the PGA co-sponsored $20,000 tournament will be played tomorrow, Friday and Sunday. There will be a $2,500 pro-amateur tourney Saturday.

Heading a strong San Diego contingent are Dick Mayer, the leading money winner with $68,835 so far this year; Bill Casper, who only last week won $12,000 in television matches, and Gene Littler, who sports writers give a good chance of taking the $2,800 open first prize.

MSU-Oklahoma May Play but Not Before '61

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Some day Oklahoma and Michigan State may play a football game.

They have been talking about it, and Oklahoma coach Bud Wilkinson is "very hopeful." But nobody is guessing just when it might come about.

Wilkinson said last night "we are very hopeful" that a Sooner-Spartan series could be worked out. He said his school and State have been talking of it for four years.

Wilkinson said the problem is in finding a mutual open date. Oklahoma is scheduled through 1960.

★ ★ ★

At East Lansing, athletic director Biggie Munn of MSU said in comment that the Spartans have been considering a date with several schools, including Oklahoma, but that MSU is also tied up through 1960.

PHS Sights Set on Northern

Even with a week's rest, Pontiac's grid forces won't be in the best of health when they tangle with Saginaw Valley Conference defending champion Flint Northern in Flint Friday night.

The Chiefs have been idle since the homecoming celebration against Saginaw October 19th, but in workouts this week several players, including starting guard Willie Duncan, will be out of action against Northern.

Duncan reinjured his knee Monday and it could even keep him out of action for the remainder season.

Another player who will be out this week because of a knee injury is end Tom O'Brien, who was a starter for the Chiefs when regular end John Phlegm was out with the flu.

★ ★ ★

Flint Northern, the number one team in the state last year, also had an open date last week, after suffering its first loss in 13 games to Muskegon, 13-6.

Pontiac Press Photo

LOST — A knee injury may have sidelined PHS guard Willie Duncan for the season. Duncan, a regular all year, reinjured his knee in Monday's workouts.

The Vikings, now 3-1 for the season, have 14 seniors and 15 sophomores on the 45-man squad, including a sophomore quarterback Vic Urick.

Northern started the season by romping Detroit DeLasalle, 41-0. In the next game, an 87-yard run was the only tally as the Vikings defeeated Grosse Pointe 7-0. Saginaw, which defeated Pontiac in the last outing, 27-14, gave Northern a bad time before falling, 14-7.

★ ★ ★

The game against Grand Rapids Catholic was called off because of the flu.

"We did everything but win the Muskegon game," said Northern coach Andy MacDonald, who was honored as the "prep coach of the year," last season.

"We aren't taking Pontiac lightly," MacDonald added, "they can be tough if they want. They were tough against Arthur Hill and they played hard in the second half against Saginaw."

★ ★ ★

The Chiefs will have three sophomores starting Friday. George Graves, a 160-pound guard will take Duncan's place in the lineup. Another soph at the other guard post is Charley Brown, whom coach Jesse MacLeay has lauded for outstanding performances.

Soph quarterback Fred Staley will call the signals with big Dick Whitmer back at fullback. Whitmer has done an outstanding job for the Chiefs at fullback and defensively since he was switched for the Arthur Hill game from quarterback.

Bob Manning and Jim Kellar will hold down the starting halfback posts.

58 State Prep Squads Hold Perfect Records

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

There are 58 undefeated and untied high school football teams in Michigan.

An Associated Press check shows that nine teams were bounced from the list of teams with unblemished records last weekend. Falling out of the elite group were Bay City Central, Lansing Eastern, South Haven, Berrien Springs, Lawrence, Bloomingdale, Brown City, Grand Rapids, Rogers and Lakeview.

★ ★ ★

Lakeview, the Montcalm county team that won the state Class C basketball title last spring, was bounced in the most decisive fashion. Edmore did the trick by a 38-6 count.

Lansing Eastern bowed to Ann Arbor by three touchdowns, South Haven was upset by Paw Paw by one and Lawrence lost the first game in its gridiron history, 33-20 to battle Creek Pennfield. Lawrence just started the sport last fall, played only one game and came off a 13-0 winner.

★ ★ ★

Unless the flu intervenes, there and two games scheduled this weekend involving teams with perfect records. Detroit Denby and University of Detroit High clash in Detroit and Lake Orion, ranked seventh in this week's Associated Press Class B ratings, takes on Troy at Lake Orion.

The flu has caused the postponement or cancellation of more than 100 scholastic contests this fall.

Akins Gets Champ's Belt

UNION GROVE, Wis. (AP)—An elimination tournament is the fairest method of selecting a champion for a vacated title, Gilbert Jackson, President of the National Boxing Assn., said last night.

Jackson made his remarks after Virgil Akins had knocked out Tony DeMarco in the 14th round of a scheduled 15-round welterweight bout in Boston.

The bout precipitated rival claims in the boxing world. Jackson had said before the fight that the NBA would not regard the meeting as a championship bout but only as an elimination in a tournament which ultimately would name a successor to Carmen Basilio.

The Massachusetts and Illinois boxing commission, among others, however had agreed to recognize it as a title match.

After Akins' victory he was given a championship belt by Henry Lamar of the Massachusetts Boxing Commission.

Jackson said the NBA tournament would continue with Akins being moved up into the select company of Isaac Logart, Gil Turner and Vince Martinez. He said the last three, plus DeMarco, had been named by the NBA convention at Denver last September as outstanding contenders for the welterweight crown then worn by Carmen Basilio.

CHICAGO (AP) — Kenny Lane, a top lightweight contender for Joe Brown's title, meets Cuba's Orlando Zulueta in a nationally televised 10-round bout at Chicago Stadium tonight with hopes for a shot at the championship.

Lane, 25, of Muskegon, Mich., is a 3-1 favorite to run his victory string to 16. Lane has won 49 and lost only 5.

The 4 foot, 11 inch County Mayo native starts a year's trial which could make him contract rider for Greentree Stable.

The job was vacant after Ted Atkinson, who filled it for 11 years, yesterday ended his association with the stable. Atkinson had succeeded Arcaro at the stable.

Gacki Way Ahead in Area With 97

Drake Increases County Scoring Lead

By CHUCK ABAIR

Steady scoring halfbacks Jim Drake of Lake Orion and Larry Gacki of St. Benedict continue to reign as the Oakland County and area point-getting leaders, respectively, with the prep football season heading into its 7th weekend.

Drake bounced back to tally three touchdowns last Friday after being held scoreless by Clawson to boost his total to 73 points in five games.

Co-runnerups Jack Lyon of St. Frederick and Bill Tunnicliff each scored two TDs Sunday only to drop further behind Drake. They have 60 points apiece.

A big gainer in the county ranks last weekend was Cranbrook sensation Stu Clark. He scored three touchdowns to take over 3rd place with 53 points in only three games.

Ortonville's Chuck Graves trails Clark by one point, while Tom Underhill of South Lyon completes the top five with 43, seven on extra point conversions.

One of the biggest surprises in recent weeks has been the sudden rise of Southfield back Joe Moore. Scoreless in the 1st three contests, he has moved up from the bottom to a tie for 12th place by scoring 30 in three outings since.

Two members of the top 25 have finished their seasons. They are Bob Bogues, tied for 6th with 42, and Jerry Sylvain, who has 26. Both played for Madison Lamphere in its 1st try at the sport.

★ ★ ★

It will take a lot of doing to catch Gacki in the area race. His 97 points in five games gives him a 37-point edge over Almont star Frank Hartway.

Speedy Dick Biery of Northville and Larry Ostrander are deadlocked for 3rd there with 54 digits apiece, last year's winner Gary Ballman has 50 and Ed Thompson of Armada 59. Thompson has gone scoreless in his last two starts after ranking 2nd.

Ray Rinke of Romeo turned in the best one-man scoring performance among the area elevens last weekend with three tallies. He is tied with teammate Bud Dodge for 11th with 30. Another Bulldog, Dave Proper, is 6th with 47, including 11 extra points.

Unbeaten Orion Seeks Oakland B Grid Title

By BILL CORNWELL

A football coach always enjoys a "breather" once in a while, especially Ted Sela at Lake Orion.

★ ★ ★

Sela spent 48 nerve-wracking minutes two weeks ago as his Orion gridders squeaked out a 12-8 victory over previously undefeated Clawson in their all-important Oakland B League scrap at Orion.

The Dragons relaxed last week end coasted to a 43-19 route of Avondale. Now the "breathing" spell is past.

Sela's unbeaten-untied charges barely had time to catch their collective breaths before they realized that another Oakland B giant, Troy, was coming to Orion this Friday night for a 2nd league showdown.

★ ★ ★

So there can be no letdown for Lake Orion, voted Michigan's 7th best Class B high school team in this week's Associated Press poll.

★ ★ ★

With five straight triumphs tucked away, in league play, Orion can win the Oakland B crown outright by turning back Troy, its final loop foe.

A Troy victory, on the other hand, would probably result in a three-way tie for the title. Troy could gain a share of the honors by beating Avondale while Clawson would get into the act with wins over Avon and Madison.

The Colts had an unblemished record until last Friday when they bowed to Clawson, 7-0. They have an overall mark of five wins and one loss and a 2-1 conference slate. Clawson's league record is also 2-1.

★ ★ ★

Orion will have to regard Troy as a serious threat to its title ambitions. The Colts have one of the county's best quarterbacks in Wayne Figley, a bruising fullback named Dave Stokes and a forward wall averaging 180 pounds, led by Ben Burkland, 215-pound guard, and tackle Leo Valko.

The Dragons, outweighed nearly 15 pounds per man up front, will be forced to rely on its speed and explosiveness, headed by halfback Jim Drake, the county's leading scorer, and quarterback Nick Niera, a dangerous aerial artist.

Lake Orion, with its 1st Oakland B crown in history as the incentive, must be considered a slight favorite.

★ ★ ★

Clawson will be heavily favored to defeat winless Avondale Friday night at Avon in the other league game. Madison visits Garden City and Fitzgerald goes to Royal Oak Kimball for non-loop contests.

2 Game Speed-Up Proposals to Be Studied by NBC

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — Two proposals to speed non-pro baseball tourneys will be considered by the board of commissioners of the National Baseball Congress in Chicago, Feb. 2-4.

The proposals, which congress president Ray Dumont predicted will be approved, include:

Elimination of pre-game warm-ups and infield practice before each game. This, Dumont said, proved popular in the recent global series in Detroit, and will save 30 to 45 minutes nightly.

Ending of tourney games in the 7th inning if a team leads by six or more runs, instead of the eight runs now the rule.

Dumont said the congress plans to franchise more than 300 qualifying tourneys before the February meeting, qualifying teams toward its 24th annual national tournament in Wichita next August.

'Bones' Lyles Grid's Fastest

Louisville Ace Is Rated at Top for Small Colleges

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — "The fastest man in football," that's the way the University of Louisville bills its ace back, Leonard "Bones" Lyles.

The fleet, 198-pound halfback has been clocked at 9.5 for 100 yards and has done it in 9.9 in full football gear.

This speed, plus what Coach Frank Camp calls "change of pace and excellent balance" have led him to be ranked nationally among small college players by the NCAA.

In last week's report the NCAA listed Lyles as the nation's leading small college scorer with 70 points—10 above his nearest rival. Since then, he has added 20.

Adopt such an attitude with your first ball and you'll see it moving into the pocket a lot more often, as we show in today's drawing.

Keego Harriers Close Season With Victory

West Bloomfield's cross-country squad has enjoyed a fine season, closing out its fall activities yesterday with a 26-31 win for a 1957 mark of 3-1-1.

The Keego runners placed six of the first 10 against Waterford's Skippers in the meet held at Waterford. Individual winner was Skippers' Jim Devine at 11:34, with teammate Ed Bartles close behind. Next four places were taken by Keego's Pat Willis, Dick Thies, Steve Rogers and Tom Pitser.

Jim Warnecke of Waterford was 7th, Jim Asquith and Lou Barrrett of KH were 8th and 9th, and Skipper Ray Robison was 10th.

Marshall Tops in 'B'

By DAVE DILES
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

For the third straight week, the Marshall Redskins are the No. 1 Class B high school football team in Michigan.

The Redmen strengthened their hold on first place in the weekly Associated Press ratings and their bid for the 1957 Twin Valley conference title last weekend by downing Battle Creek Lakeview 24-14. It was the fifth straight success for coach Maynard Clark's crew.

PLAY FOR DADS — Guard Bob Birchmeir (left) and end Ron Call will be in St. Michael's starting lineup Saturday night when the Shamrocks meet Royal Oak St. Mary in the annual Dad's Night-Homecoming football game at Wisner Stadium. Birchmeir is a 155-pound senior while Call is a junior weighing 145.

The AP's panel of sports writers did not change the top five teams in the sixth weekly rankings, leaving Charlotte, East Lansing, Manistee and Dowagic in that order behind the pacesetting Marshall team.

South Haven, No. 6 last week, suffered a 13-7 upset at the hands of Paw Paw and dropped to ninth place as Grand Blanc, 32-19 winner over Flint Kearsley, took over the vacated position.

Lake Orion, riding a five-game winning streak, skipped into seventh place just a single point behind Grand Blanc. Fremont, also boasting five straight triumphs, held down eighth place. Flushing, loser only to Grand Blanc in six starts, rounds out the "top ten."

Alma, tied for eighth place last week and a member of the elite group for five weeks, dropped out of sight after losing 18-7 to Saginaw St. Andrew.

Here's the way the AP panel ranks the top ten in Class B, along with won-lost-tied records:

1. Marshall (5-0)
2. Sharlotte (6-0)
3. East Lansing (4-1)
4. Manistee (5-0)
5. Dowagiac (6)
6. Grand Blanc (4-0-2)
7. Lake Orion (5-0)
8. Fremont (5-0)
9. South Haven (4-1)
10. Flushing (4-1-1)

Other teams receiving considerable support: Kalamazoo University High, Monroe Catholic, Warren, Lansing Resurrection, Saginaw St. Andrew, Clawson, East Grand Rapids, River Rouge, Northville, South Lake, Flint Tech, Garden City, Algonac.

Quits Senators for LA Dodgers

Bums Hire Dressen

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Baseball's Charley Dressen today was back in the type of job he knows and likes best—on the field, and with his home town club, the Los Angeles Dodgers.

"We hired Dressen because we believe he is the best coach in the business," said Dodger Vice President E. J. "Buzzy" Bavasi, who annouced the signing at a press gathering yesterday.

★ ★ ★

Dressen's salary was not disclosed. However, the veteran base ball figure last week resigned his $25,000-a-year front office job with the Washington Senators of the American League.

Dressen said he quit because he wanted "a more active job in baseball."

Well, the cagey sign-stealer and sideline heckler has one. Manager Walt Alston said he plans to station Dressen at third base next season.

Dressen said he wanted to make it clear right off the bat that he has no ambitions to manage the Dodgers—a chore he did ably in 1951-52-53.

"I hope Alston manages the Los Angeles Dodgers for the next 40 years," he told the news conference.

Bavasi concurred that the club doesn't plan to ease Dressen into Alston's job.

"However, if at anytime any club wants to hire Dressen as manager we will not only agree, but we will push him," Bavasi added.

To make room for Dressen the club juggled its coaching staff. Billy Herman and Jake Pitler become scouts. Joe Becker, who has been with the team several years, and Greg Mulleavy, who joined the Dodgers this past season, were retained.

★ ★ ★

As a Dodger manager, Dressen won two National League pennants. He quit after the 1953 season when President Walter O'Malley refused to give him more than a one-year contract.

Dressen said Milwaukee and another club he did not identify made him offers. He did not say what the offers involved.

Walters Is Top Lineman

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Les Walters, Penn State end, was named Lineman of the Week today. There's a nice little story to go with it.

A year ago Syracuse beat Penn State, 13-9. Walters considered himself the goat because he dropped a forward pass late in the game that might have turned defeat into victory for Penn State.

Last Saturday the Nittany Lions again played Syracuse. This time Penn State upset the Orange 20-12. Who was the big star? Walters, of course. He caught two touchdown passes and helped to set up the other by tackling Syracuse's Tom Stephens on the Syracuse one after a poor pass from the Syracuse center on fourth down.

It was for these feats that Walters was voted Lineman of the Week in the weekly Associated Press poll of sportswriters and broadcasters.

Hawkeyes Still Trying to Win at Ann Arbor

Wolverines Have Been 'Ogres' in Life of Evashevski

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP) — Iowa's undefeated football forces Saturday head into huge Michigan Stadium — a dean of disappointment for the Hawks in the past.

For three straight years starting in 1953 Iowa marched into the Wolverines' jinxed stronghold only to lose a game it might have won except for bitter, breaks.

A year ago Michigan made one of its infrequent trips to Iowa City and won 17-14 on an 80-yard drive that ended 66 seconds before the final gun. So Michigan remained the ogre in Iowa's football life.

Iowa has only two victories and a tie in 18 games with Michigan. Iowa won the series opener in 1900 by a 28-5 count and got a 9-2 triumph in 1924. There was a scoreless duel in 1929.

★ ★ ★

The loss to Michigan was the only blot on the Iowa record last fall. The battered Hawks recovered and went on to win the Big Ten title and the Rose Bowl game.

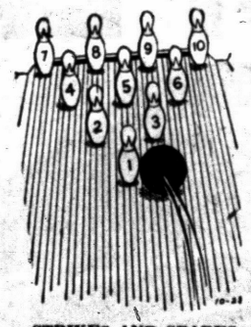

There is a striking similarity now to early November of 1956. Iowa will go against Michigan unbeaten in five games — just like last year. Michigan again is a top contender for the Big Ten lead held jointly by Ohio State and Iowa with 3-0 marks.

This again is the game coach Forest Evashevski, once a Wolverine great, would rather win than any on the schedule. Since he came here in 1952, Evy has directed Iowa to the football heights. Personally, he has won coach of the year honors. He has enjoyed the pleasures of a conference championship and Rose Bowl honors. But, through no fault of his own he hasn't beaten Michigan.

★ ★ ★

Saturday may be the day.

The Hawks' hope the day will be bright and clear and the track fast. They want no more of the snowy, muddy conditions such as last Saturday when they were fortunate to escape with a 6-0 victory over Northwestern.

STRIKES AND SPARES
By Joe Wilman

Ever notice how much more accurate your second ball generally is than your first ball in a frame? That holds true for most bowlers. If you could just roll that second ball first, everything would be all right.

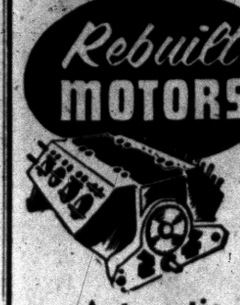

Well, you can apply the same principles to that first ball that you use with the second. Your spare-shot ball and delivery are usually more natural. You're just concentrating on knocking over whatever pins remain up, and you're not trying to overpower the pins. In other words, you're just rolling the ball and letting it do the work for you.

Try to make your first ball as easy and natural as your second. Just imagine you're shooting at the 1-3 pins only and try to get your ball smack into that pocket. Deliver the ball easily without force or extra speed. Just concentrate on hitting through those two pins.

Daugherty Still Not Satisfied

MSU Gridders Bang Heads

EAST LANSING (AP) — Coach Duffy Daugherty banged some heads together at Michigan State yesterday in an effort to sharpen the Spartan football attack.

It was the first time this fall since the pre-game practices that the varsity has been ordered to scrimmage in mid-week.

The first two teams were sent against a select group of rugged and fired-up freshmen using the nine man defensive line that has slowed the Spartan attack the last two Saturdays.

Purdue used the defense for a 20-13 upset and Illinois nearly did the same before MSU eked out a 19-14 decision.

After a slow start, the regulars got rolling, but Daugherty was still not satisfied.

A sideliner remarked that Dave Kaiser was kicking his extra points while using a kicking tee again. Kaiser made all his attempts in contrast to frequent misses without the tee.

"You have to make touchdowns to try for extra points," Daugherty growled. "the way they were operating, I wonder if we will make any."

Daugherty was asked if there would be any more live scrimmage before the Wisconsin game Saturday.

"We can't afford to," he declared. "we have half a dozen boys in the hospital now. People have been talking about our great depth, but I'd like to know where it is now."

Several injuries resulted from the roughhouse. Don Arend, second string fullback, went out with a knee strain and Ron Rickens, third string guard, was down with a twisted ankle. Both were hospitalized overnight for a check on the seriousness of the injuries.

★ ★ ★

Quarterback Mike Panitch, end Bob Jewett, guard Cliff LaRose and halfback Don Zyk were due back today after a siege of bad colds. Art Johnson still was on the sick list along with guard Russ Kelly.

The first team, directed by quarterback Jim Ninowski, was stopped momentarily by the frosh until Ninowski uncorked a scoring pass to end Sammy Williams. Once the stopper was pulled, halfback Walt Kowalczyk scored on several long runs.

Dean Look, running with the second team at right half, caught a pass from Greg Montgomery, understudying for Panitch, for one touchdown and broke loose for another. Little Henny Young, the pint size fullback, made the third team look good with two scoring escapes.

LeBaron, Wilson Lead NFL

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Little Eddie LeBaron, Washington quarterback, and Tommy Wilson, hard running Los Angeles Rams back, are running away from their opposition in the passing and running departments in the National Football League.

★ ★ ★

The latest league statistics showed today that LeBaron, topped the passers with a 10.96 average per pass. The Redskins ace has completed 44 of 67 attempts for 734 yards, seven touchdowns and a pass completion percentage of 65.7 per cent.

★ ★ ★

Wilson, in his second year of pro football, increased his ground gaining lead to 106 yards over runnerup Hugh McElhenny of San Francisco. The Rams runner has gained 450 yards on 88 attempts for a 5.1 average. McElhenny has 344 for 72 and a 4.8 average. Third is Ollie Matson of the Chicago Cardinals with 305 for 59, a 5.2 average.

Tommy O'Connell of the Eastern Conference leading Cleveland Browns, is second to LeBaron with 27 completions for 47 throws good for 425 yards, three touchdowns and a completion percentage of 57.4. Lamar McHan of the Cardinals is third with 34 for 70, 675 yards gained, five touchdowns and a 44.7 percentage. LeBaron and O'Connell each have had three passes intercepted and McHan has lost 5.

Coast Fullback 'Back of Week'

SEATTLE (AP)—James Ray Jones 22, is a quiet, modest student of dentistry who spends his Saturday afternoons knocking people loose from their teeth.

★ ★ ★

When he was told last night he had been named the Associated Press Back of the Week, fullback Jimmy turned on a slow and bashful smile:

"That sure makes me feel good."

The University of Washington football squad was a lot noisier when head Coach Jim Owens called his players together and announced Jones' selection.

★ ★ ★

They clapped and yelled and slapped Jones on the back until he was embarrassed no end.

Out-State Ticket Promotion Office Set Up by Tigers

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Tigers today announced the creation of a ticket promotion department to expand ticket sales activities in Detroit and through out-state Michigan.

Robert J. Steinhilper has been named ticket promotion manager. Steinhilper, a former newsman, formerly was business manager for the Charleston farm club in the Triple-A American Association.

Hoosiers Break Rules

Two Starters Dismissed

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP)—Indiana's football squad has dropped two first-stringers for breaking training, only a week after squelching rumors that some players were ready to quit.

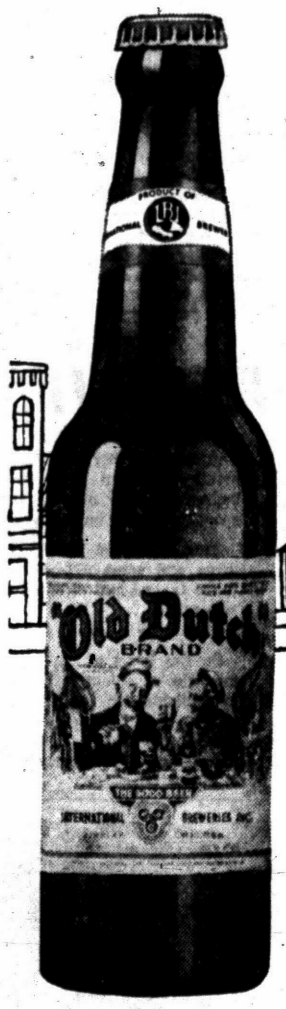

The Hoosiers' morale got a big boost Saturday when they beat Villanova, 14-7, for their first victory, but the celebration was grief for two sophomores.

Victor Jones of Clearfield, Pa., who started four games at tailback, and end Ted Aucreman of Lancasted, Ohio, who started against Vilanova, were dismissed Tuesday. Coach Bob Hicks didn't describe the infractions but said the two had been warned previously.

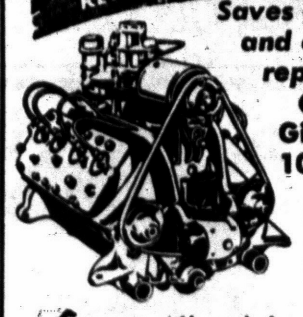

Hicks said there was no connection between the dismissals and the absence of two players from a practice session last week.

★ ★ ★

Hicks asked and received expressions of support from students and alumni when Hoosier morale hit a low point last week with rumors that several players were planning to quit.

BIGGER 'N' BIGGER — That's the way the current Pontiac Press "pheasant derby" is going. Leading entries hang on but briefly, like the 3-pound, 7-ouncer of Jesse King, tops yesterday, but today an also-ran. A 17-year-old Walled Lake H. S. boy, Gary Salminen, downed the 3-pound, 7½-ounce rooster displayed by his dad, Elmer, above. Gary got his big one late Monday afternoon at a state land area near Walled Lake.

Albinism Unusual, Not Rare

Caused by Absence of Pigmentation

By H. GUY MOATS

For some inexplicable reason there has been an unusually large number of albino birds reported this fall among the several game species for which shooting is now under way in Michigan.

Albinism is an unusual condition at any time. But it is far from a rarity, except in unusual breeds of animals, or in some divisions of the human race.

The condition is described as a partial or complete lack of coloration, or pigmentation, in hair, eyes, skin or other normal characteristics of plants, birds, animals, reptiles or humans.

First albino pheasant rooster in years was brought to this department first of the week. It was a 2-pound, 4-ounce bird that had a white head, an expansive ring (where the normal one is a narrow band) and its legs were white. Flight feathers in the wings, while well-colored on the outside, were white beneath. Considerable areas of white feathers were noted all over the body. Normal pheasant head coloration is a dark bluish-green or purple with red eye markings.

This specimen, which will be mounted by the hunter, Roger H. Davis, 484 4th Ave., Pontiac, is one of a number reported, but was the first brought in for inspection. It was apparently a young bird, 28¼ inches long, downed on Davis' property on M59.

Pontiac Press Photo

ALBINO ROOSTER — When Roger H. Davis, 484 4th avenue, Pontiac, saw the unusually marked bird (above) get up while hunting on Sunday, he wasn't sure what it was. But he downed it with one shot after noting the color on the head. Examination revealed the bird was a partial albino, an unusual condition for this species. Its legs are white. The usually dark-colored head and shoulders are also white or grayish. "At first I thought it was a chicken, but that long tail set me right," Davis reported.

Hunters Hear Deer Outlook

A panel discussion regarding the outlook for the coming Michigan deer season is the top feature for tonight's OCSC membership meeting in the clubhouse at Waterford.

L. A. (Curly) Davenport, state habitat man, deer investigation head I. H. Bartless, Ted Fairbanks of Holly Recreation area, and Herman Haedicke of Imlay City district game headquarters, comprise the panel.

All area sportsmen are invited to take part in the question-answer program, which begins at 8 p.m. Hunting and outdoor color films will be shown also.

Shelley Presents Wildlife Pictures

Two fine color films of the outdoors will be shown tonight at 7:30 at Eastern Junior High School, under auspices of the Oakland County UAW Recreation Council.

Films are entitled "Pine Portage Holiday" and "Hunters' Moon," made by Pontiac's Howard Shelley and Mrs. Shelley on hunting trips in Michigan and Ontario.

There is no charge for admission and all interested in the outdoors are invited.

Duffy's Got Support

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Pressure-plagued Duffy Daugherty Michigan State football coach, says he got this wire from an alumnus just before the Homecoming Day football game against Illinois Saturday:

"Remember, coach, we're all behind you, win or tie."

State Official Discusses Water Safety Regulations

The critical question of jurisdictional rights in the regulation of water activities was the subject of a recent speech by assistant attorney general Nicholas V. Olds before Governor Williams' Water Safety Study Commission at the Kellogg Center in East Lansing.

At the close of the meeting, Olds left for a conference of state and federal authorities in Washington, armed with a commission resolution urging approval of the states retaining jurisdiction over water regulations.

The Council of State Governments, to which Olds has been appointed as a consultant, met Friday in Washington with federal officials to determine rights and responsibilities of the various states in enforcing and regulating water activities.

"There is a pressing danger of all states in the union losing their rights to control their own waterways", stated Olds. He added that if recommendations had been passed by Congress during the last session, then all states rights on the regulation of water activities would be negated and declared void. This would mean the federal government would control regulations on all navigable waters of the United States, which would include all Michigan rivers but one (near the Wisconsin line in the U. P.) and many of its large lakes.

It was the opinion of the Water Safety Study Commission that local water regulation and enforcement problems can best be handled on a local level.

Next meeting of the Commission was set for Thursday, Nov. 7, to hear a report from Olds on the meeting of federal and state officials.

Hunters Told Dangers Lurk in Oil Fields

LANSING — Signs are being posted by oil companies in various parts of Michigan, warning hunters of the dangers of hunting or camping in oil fields.

Carelessness or vandalism in oil fields is both dangerous and destructive, explained H. A. Young, supervisor of oil hazard reduction for the Michigan Conservation Department. One foolish act may endanger all other persons in the area, and also can ruin wildlife habitat.

Hunters are cautioned particularly about the use of firearms in oil fields. During deer season last year, a number of oil and gas pipelines were ruptured by rifle bullets — creating hazardous conditions.

The hunter who shoots a pipeline or other oil field equipment threatens human lives because of possible fires or explosions. Fire and pollution also may damage nearby hunting areas and fishing waters.

Conservation Body in Session Nov. 7-8

LANSING — The next monthly meeting of the state Conservation Commission has been scheduled for Nov. 7-8 at the Conservation Department's Lansing offices.

The informal session will begin at 3 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 7, and the formal session will open at 9 a.m. Friday, Nov. 8. All meetings are open to the public.

Coyote Trees Pair of Area Hunters

By JACK PATTERSON

Perils of the Wild Dept: It has come to this column's attention that Dexter Kennedy of Pontiac and Si Pearlman, Birmingham, were recently treed by a coyote up at the Oakland Hunt Club. We can only hope that this season's hatch of pups wasn't lying back in the ferns tee-heeing at the spectacle of 30-pound papa putting the intrepid woodsmen to flight. Otherwise the small brush wolves might get the idea that they are really man-eaters by nature and gobble up thousands of deer hunters come Nov. 15. Various courts have upheld the privilege of the newspaper writer to refuse to name sources of information. In this case we see no reason to employ this useful gimmick. The report of harrowing goings-on north of the Au Sable came to us via Dr. Bruce Hubbard:

PATTERSON

Should Have Been Here Yesterday Dept: A quick glance at the calendar reveals that of the last 29 days we have spent approximately 22 tramping the uplands, beating the forest thickets, slogging the marshes or congealing in duck-blind or sneakboat.

The toll of feathered species to date wouldn't make the most adrent conservationist bat an eye. Creaking joints and jaundiced eye aside we lay this to the weather, more particularly to the U.S. Weather Bureau.

Cases in point: (1) The time: Three days last week. The place: Muscamoot Bay. The cast: Geo. Zimmerman, L. H. Cole, R. B. Oliver, D. E. Edstrom, the writer. The plot was very simple. Wednesday it rained so hard the guide had the rig picked up by the time we got there. Thursday an unnamed but virulent hurricane forced abandonment of the project at 0930.

Too rough to sneak, too miserable in the blind, no ducks strong enough to withstand the elements. Friday, a perfect sneak day. Ducks beginning to move in force. Had to secure operation at noon in order to make a do up at the buggy works in the North End.

Best guideline of the deal: "We really slaughtered them earlier in the week. Should have been here" . . . well, you know.

(2) Although we have long since vowed never to hunt Saginaw Bay on the weekend and red-eyed (from the wind) though we were, we were like the girl in "Oklahoma" who couldn't say no when "C" Patterson called us Saturday night and suggested a Sabbath decimation of redheads at the Bay. Well, we never liked getting up at 4 a.m. but we did. We never liked sitting offshore in a stiff north wind for the better part of a day for two bluebills, but we did. As Jack Pflug, Birmingham, who also shared this notable venture put it, it was a fine day to be somewhere else.

★ ★ ★

The perch fishermen were our sternest test until we got in.

Ran into John Donaldson and Ben Jerome at Rose Island and they reported defeat by the Weather Bureau, too.

Local pheasants, according to Bill Brown, are much more plentiful than last year. Bill has been cutting short their derisive cackles up around Oxford.

Waterfowl Begin to Move

Flight Ducks Head South

LANSING (AP) — The first big movement of waterfowl crossed Michigan during the past week, and there may be more to come, state game men reported today.

Huge flights of ducks, mostly of the "diver" species, were reported by hunters at scattered areas, but flights so far have been below expectation.

Generally, however, hunter success slightly improved over last year. After a better - than - usual opening day, shooting sagged with the onset of mild weather, then picked up last week.

Falling temperatures froze the marshes along Saginaw Bay and farther north during the weekend, keeping ducks in deeper water and holding down shooting opportunities close to shore, reports indicated.

At Pointe Mouillee along the Lake Erie marshes, where tabulations are kept, the total bag is down about 10 per cent from last year.

Geese hunters at Fennville and Swan Creek game areas in Allegan county have had considerably better success than they reported at this time last year. State game experts estimated there are about 3,000 geese in the area now.

Aerial surveys through the state are expected to provide hunters with a more accurate account of waterfowl movements by the end of the week.

Tagged Walleye Caught After 200-Mile Swim

MIO — A tagged walleye pike from southern Ontario traveled approximately 200 miles in 63 days this year before being caught in Saginaw Bay, north of Pinconning.

★ ★ ★

The fish was tagged and released by Canadian fisheries workers March 22 in the Thames River, which flows into southeast Lake St. Clair. The migrant walleye then was caught by Carl Schank of Pinconning on May 24.

TWO-TIMED MOOSE — The 1,050 (dressed) pound bull moose, whose 40-inch-wide rack is displayed above by Pontiac merchant Frank Slaybaugh, actually was "two-timed" in the Canadian woods at Batchawana Bay, Ont. Slaybaugh and picture-man Jerry Wooliever collaborated to bring down the trophy. It was Slaybaugh's 1st Canadian hunting trip, his 1st moose. The Pontiac pair spent 12 days on their trip.

This Moose Tough to Get

Two Pontiac moose hunters got their moose — one bull moose — on a recent trip to northern Ontario. That's right, the TWO hunters bagged ONE moose, and they had a tough time doing it, too.

Frank Slaybaugh and Jerry Wooliever spotted the big animal in a thicket along Batchawana Bay. Frank took the first shot, and connected. The bull went down, but not for long. While the pair looked on, surprised, the bull scrambled to its feet and took off. It went clear around the small bay, before Wooliever caught up.

Here's where the "big moment" came in, Jerry reported. "I was looking in the brush at him, when all of a sudden he charged me. I got in a shot, and he tumbled into the lake."

Jerry says the bull was Frank's, and he (Jerry) is going back Nov. 1 to get one for himself.

Experts Say GL Fishing Fine

ANN ARBOR — Fishing in the Great Lakes couldn't be better!

Oh, there might be a slight shortage of the big ones, but fish experts at the Institute for Fisheries Research located at The University of Michigan agree that walleyes, smallmouth bass and many other game fish are in abundance in the Great Lakes.

And they should know, because recently the Institute began a study of walleyes and smallmouth at Bay De Noc on the northern edge of Green Bay.

The Institute, a branch of the Michigan Department of Conservation, is currently investigating fishery problems in several areas of the state in conjunction with studies of the hated game fish killer — the sea lamprey — which has all but wiped out lake trout in several areas.

Walter Crowe and Carl Latta, both biologists at the Ann Arbor office, spent two weeks in the Bay De Noc region recently, tagging the walleyes and smallmouth bass. They were accompanied by Leonard Joeris, also a biologist, from the U.S. Fish and Wildlife station here.

Crowe says: "We'd like to encourage Great Lakes fishing, especially among sportsmen. Our studies have shown that many fish die from natural causes than on the end of an angler's hook."

Bay De Noc, known widely as a commercial and sports fishing center, was selected for study by Crowe and Joeris because of the apparent lack of specific information in the area.

Latta joined the research team to learn more about the smallmouth bass and to compare the smallmouth of Bay De Noc with those which he studied for four years at Waugoshance Point (just west of Mackinaw City).

Their objective? To investigate the area and formulate recommendations which could ultimately lead to conservation department policy in the area.

As Crowe explains it: "All previous information from the area concerning fish populations was gained from commercial fishermen and hearsay from anglers, and you know how they can tell 'fish stories.'"

The fish experts hope to determine the amount of exploitation of walleyes and smallmouth near Bay De Noc and they have devised a simple, yet apparently accurate, method for such an undertaking, similiar to that used by orinthologists in studying bird populations.

★ ★ ★

For two weeks the biologists trapped, weighed, measured, scale sampled (to determine age), and jaw-tagged fish of both species.

The legal minimum size for a walleye is 15½ inches for commercial use and 13 inches for anglers. Thus, most of the fish studied were undersized specimens netted by commercial fishermen. The smallmouth minimum legal size is 10 inches and they may be taken by sportsfishermen only, Latta says.

Result? More than 750 walleyes and some 371 smallmouth were tagged and released by the scientists.

★ ★ ★

On the basis of earlier studies, the trio of scientists recommend more fishing in the Great Lakes, pointing out that the fish, for their weight, are fatter and in better physical condition than those found in inland lakes.

'Derby' Leader Wants Career as a Forester

Young Gary Salminen, 17-year-old Walled Lake High school student wants to be a forest ranger. That's what the outdoors - minded leader of The Preess "heavy bird" contest division, hopes to become.

★ ★ ★

Says his father, Elmer, 1215 Oakley Park road, Walled Lake:

"Gary is a fine boy. He loves everything about the outdoors, hunting, fishing, everything. He has been hunting for four years, and he's good at it. We plan to hunt deer together at Munising, in November."

Gary's 3-pound, 7½-ounce pheasant yesterday took over the contest top spot. He has downed two others so far.

Forest Fire Hazards Reduced by Rainfall

LANSING — Michigan's autumn forest fire hazards eased somewhat this week as rainfall was reported over much of the state.

During the preceding week, 21 fires damaged 44 acres of state and private lands.

Heaviest loses were recorded in the Upper Peninsula where 11 fires burned 30 acres.

Coturnix Lacks Hardiness

Isn't Suitable for State

Michigan Conservation Department's game biologists aren't convinced the European migratory quail, known as the cortunix, could establish itself in this state. Rather, they believe, it lacks the hardiness necessary to survive the rough winters here. It's unlikely, the experts say, that it would survive.

State men have been studying the experiments with the quail, many of which were released some time ago by the Tennessee Conservation Department. Several states are testing the birds, which do not collect in coveys, like the Michigan bobwhite.

Comment regarding the cortunix followed a recent report of one wearing a Tennessee leg band being shot by a hunter in the Upper Peninsula, north of the Seney Wildlife Refuge.

Benzie Lake Spearing Date Moved to Nov. 15

LANSING — A change in spearing regulations on popular Crystal Lake in Benzie County will be in effect this year.

★ ★ ★

Spear fishermen will be allowed to take whitefish, ciscoes, suckers and carp from Crystal Lake during a Nov. 15-Feb. 28 season.

This season formerly opened Nov. 1, but the state Conservation Commission recently established the later opening date to give added protection to lake trout in Crystal Lake during the early part of November.

Solunar Tables

For planning days afield, either hunting or fishing, so that the hunter or angler will be in good territory, or in good cover, area sportsmen are invited to look over the solunar tables, below. These periods were prepared by John Alden Knight, especially for this area. Major periods last for an hour to an hour and a half, while minor periods are somewhat shorter.

NEW AND EXPANDED STATION WAGONS — Ford offers an extended line of station wagons for 1958. New to the line is the six-passenger Fordor Ranch Wagon (above), one of Ford's six new models built on body shells entirely separate from the Ford passenger cars. Ford spent $185,000,000 on changes, including safety dual headlights, new jet intake grille and massive bumper, sculptured metal treatment throughout the car's exterior, and twin safety taillights as well as a completely new power train from engine to axle, all-new Cruise-O-Matic drive and optional Ford-Aire suspension.

SWEEPING CHANGES IN FORD STYLING — The Fairlane 500 Town Victoria (right) and Fairlane Club Victoria (left) share with all new Fords such dramatic styling changes as new safety dual headlights, corrosion-proof anodized aluminum grille, power flow hood, slip stream roof, sculptured inverted V trunk lid and twin safety taillights. Engineering advances include new engines, new Cruise-O-Matic transmission and optional Ford-Aire suspension. The new Ford car line will be on display at Ford dealerships on Nov. 7. Dealer in Pontiac is Cy Owens, Inc., 147 S. Saginaw St.

'58 Cars Go on Display on Nov. 7

New Styling, Engineering for Ford

DETROIT — The cars with which Ford will try to hold the No. 1 spot in industry sales next year will present numerous major styling and engineering changes.

Ford says it spent 185 million dollars to achieve the changes, despite the fact its 1957 models were wholly new and represented a 246 million dollar investment.

Dealers will display the new line beginning Nov. 7.

★ ★ ★

Styling innovations are: A massive wraparound one-piece bumper with anodized aluminum grille, dual headlights, redesigned front fenders, new room with seven front-to-rear grooves, a "V" sculptured trunk lid flaring into oval twin taillights and what Ford calls a power flow hood.

Taillight assembly is unusual. A white backup light is placed between two horizontally-positioned oval lights on each side of the rear.

The oval housing of the lights is split by each side edge of the rear deck. This leaves one red light in the rear of each fender and one read and one white light at each side edge of the trunk lid.

★ ★ ★

In over-all styling the sculptured-in-metal motif is retained as are the canted rear fenders.

The Fairlane and Fairlane 500 have an overall length of 207 inches; the custom, custom 300 and the station wagon 202 inches.

Ford has four engines, ranging in power output from 145 in the six cylinder unit with 8.6 to 1 compression ratio, to 300 horsepower with 10.2 to 1 compression ratio in the top V-8.

★ ★ ★

A new automatic transmission called Cruise-O-Matic coupled with two top rated V-8 engines and a low rear axle ratio provides a new power train. It is described as combining overdrive economy with automatic transmission convenience, and up to 15 per cent greater fuel mileage.

An optional, extra cost feature is air suspension, offered for Fairlane and Fairlane 500 models and station wagons with V-8 engines and automatic transmissions.

A ride leveler is operated by switches on the car doors. These switches control valves that adjust height and balance when passengers enter or alight.

★ ★ ★

Other optional, extra-cost equipment includes seat belts, padded instrument panels, sun visors, various forms of power assists, two models of transistorized radios, two models of air conditioning units and two types of heaters.

There will be 21 body styles for 1958, from 56.2 to 58.6 inches in height. Wheelbases are 116 and 118 inches.

Better Start Those Packages Now!

GI Christmas Boxes Go Early

If you want to remember them over there at one of the most important times away from home, you'd better get to work and start packing now.

★ ★ ★

This is the advice of postmasters throughout the country including Leslie H. Dean Sr., acting postmaster for Pontiac, regarding the mailing of Christmas parcels to members of our Armed Forces overseas.

Friday has been designated as the beginning of the period for mailing your G.I. friends and relatives their gifts. To insure they will receive them in time, November 20 is the deadline for mailing parcels aboard ship.

December 1 to December 10 is the schedule for mailing air mail packages.

A maximum weight of 70 pounds has been placed on surface mails with the exception of certain overseas destinations addressed through New York, N.Y. The maximum at these locations which can be determined at your local post office, is 50 pounds, according to Dean.

The airmail maximum weight is two pounds. Thirty inches is the maximum length and girth combined.

Senders are requested to pack the gifts in boxes of wood, metal solid fiberboard or strong double-faced corrugated fiberboard to make sure they will reach their designation intact.

American Airlines to Buy Turbojets

NEW YORK (INS) — American Airlines announced plans today to purchase 40 turbojet aircraft and related ground equipment to cost a total of $200,000,000.

C. R. Smith, company president, said the program meant conversion of American's operations to turbine - powered planes by 1961. He emphasized that the step would be "the first virtually complete conversion to turbines" by a U. S. airline.

Smith said, however, the conversion hinged on two factors — American's annual earnings of $25,000,000 and a 15 per cent increase in airline fares.

The executive said that in speed the turbojets will jump air travel from the 350-mile-per-hour level to the 575-mile-per-hour range.

157 Ships in Japan Tied Up by Walkout

TOKYO (AP)—The biggest shipping strike in Japan's history today tied up 157 Japanese vessels in 60 ports throughout the nation. No foreign ships were involved.

The 84,000-member Seamen's Union went on a five-day strike Monday, demanding an average pay raise of 20 per cent over the current monthly average of $77.64.

Biggest Synthetic Tires Being Tested by Army

AKRON, Ohio — An Akron concern has produced what it claimed to be the largest synthetic tires ever manufactured — size 24.00.25. They were presented to the Army Ordinance Corps for testing.

The tires are made of a synthetic that is said to have most of the desirable qualities of natural rubber and to be superior to it in some respects. The tires offered for testing are for heavy-duty truck use.

Total Toll on Turnpikes

WASHINGTON — According to the American Automobile Association, it would cost $31.68 in tolls to drive all the major turnpikes in the United States, covering about 2,190 miles. Turnpike rates for passenger cars range from 1.08 cents a mile on the Pennsylvania Turnpike to 2.22 cents a mile on the Miami-Fort Pierce Turnpike in Florida.

New York port has 650 miles of water frontage.

NATO Announces Summit Conference

PARIS (AP)—The North Atlantic Treaty Organization officially announced today that the government chiefs of its 15 member nations will attend its December council meeting in Paris.

An announcement was expected from the White House in Washington today that President Eisenhower would lead the American delegation to the summit conference, an outgrowth of the President's meeting with British Prime Minister Macmillan in Washington last week.

Both Eisenhower and Macmillan had withheld announcement of their plans to attend the December council until the NATO notification but it was generally known they would be on hand.

The meeting was suggested to the two Allied chiefs in Washington by Paul-Henri Spaak, the NATO secretary general. Both Eisenhower and Macmillan enthusiastically approved Spaak's suggestion.

U.S. Urged to Take Education Seriously

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Dr. Nathan M. Pusey, president of Harvard University, says the American people must take education more seriously and that means putting more money into it.

★ ★ ★

He told a Harvard fund raising drive last night the Russians spend about as much on education as we do but they have only one-third our gross income, indicating they attach more importance to education than we do.

Of all persons 65 years or older in the United States, it is now estimated that at least 36 per cent have no income of their own to maintain them.

For About Half of Our Nation

'Aching Feet' a Problem

DENVER (INS) — One of the most frequent complaints heard is "oh, my aching feet."

In fact, the Colorado Medical Society says about half of all Americans suffer from some kind of foot problem. But a large proportion of foot ailments can be preventable or corrected.

★ ★ ★

The society advises if you have a foot problem—whether it be a congenital deformity like clubfoot or a simple pressure corn—you should have your family doctor check it.

The butt of many jokes, the flat foot, is a heriditary condition for which there is no real cure. Anyway, the medical society notes flat feet often have no relationship with foot pain or trouble.

In rare cases a person may suffer a "traumatic flat foot," that is, fall flat on his feet and injure ligaments. This condition can be cured with a plaster casting.

FALLEN ARCH A MYTH

Otherwise, the fallen arch is a myth. Arch support in shoes has no curative power for flat feet though it can relieve discomfort.

Arch supports are used in treating other foot ailments by readjusting the way in which the feet bear weight. An effective arch support should always be made from a plaster cast of the foot so it is tailored exactly to the individual foot's need.

The society warns a person should no more buy ready-made arch supports than buy ready-made glasses.

About 90 per cent of foot troubles result from ill-fitting shoes and stockings. Shoes without heels relax the muscles of the foot and often result in pain because of the shifting of weight and muscle and ligament tension. And if a shoe doesn't lace, the medical society says you might as well be going barefoot.

Corns are caused by shoes and stockings that are too short. Your toes need ample wiggling room. Another curse on feet—bunions—results from weak ligaments, particularly those between the big and second toes. Special shoe designs are often needed to get rid of troublesome bunions.

Many foot troubles are really skin ailments. The society says a normal foot sweats and is warm—a perfect breeding place for various fungus infections usually lumped under the name of "athlete's foot."

Fungus infections should be kept dry and clean as possible with the use of foot powder and frequent changing of stocking.

More Cars Provided for Driver Instruction

NEW YORK — An increase of 1,441 cars in the number lent by dealers for student practice-driving instruction made it possible for 745 additional schools in the United States to offer complete courses and helped expand teaching programs to reach more eligible students during the 1956-57 school year.

In all, new-car dealers provided high schools with an all-time high of 10,694 cars for this purpose during the year.

Hollywood Headlines

Role as Wife of Durante Possible for Vivian Blaine

By DOROTHY MANNERS
(For Louella Parsons)

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — If you saw Jimmy Durante and Vivian Blaine on TV together you know they work wonderfully well as a team. Now director Mike Curtiz is talking to Vivian about playing Jimmy's wife in "Schnozolla," the screen version of Durante's life.

The part calls for a good actress who can also sing (the late Mrs. Durante was a singer when Jimmy married her), and Vivian is just the girl who can do both.

When she finishes her Tropicana stint tomorrow night in Las Vegas, she's planning an Acapulco vacation and she's been offered the London run of "A Hatful of Rain." But I bet the Durante movie would take precedence.

Redheaded Cara Williams (Mrs. John Barrymore Jr.) was on the train en route to Hollywood when she received a wire from U-I telling her she gets the part of the model in "Never Steal Anything Small."

It was a surprise because Cara had just seen Jimmy Cagney in New York and he told her he was starting to work there on the same picture.

The answer to this is that Cara doesn't work in the New York sequences and catches up with Jimmy, writer-director Charlie Lederer and producer Aaron Rosenberg when the company returns to Hollywood.

★ ★ ★

Both Cara and Shirley Jones, the other leading lady, will have wardrobe fittings and bone up on the script while waiting.

Louella Parsons reporting from New York: "After lamenting that I couldn't possibly see all my old friends in New York in my limited time here, Jimmy McHugh took over the Harwyn Club and with Ed Wynn gave me a cocktail party that was a party! I can't begin to tell you all the people who were there.

"Ethel Merman came with Benay Venuta, and broke another date to do it. I had no more than greeted them when in came Elsa Maxwell, Anita Loos, Greer Garson (who is getting her wardrobe ready for 'Auntie Mame'), Ernie Kovacs and his attractive wife Edie Adams, Rod Steiger, looking much thinner, and Fernando Lamas and Arlene Dahl.

"And more—Mr. and Mrs. Joe Ghormley (Jimmy McHugh's sister from Boston), the Peter Ustinovs, Georgia Gibbs, Ricardo Montalban, who opens in 'Jamaica' this week.

★ ★ ★

The Ames Brothers, Red Buttons, Bob and Millie Considine, J. D. Gortatowsky, the Paul Schoensteins, George Delacorte and the David Myers were all there.

Also, Rosalind Russell with Freddie Brisson, and Irene Dunne and Dr. Frank Griffin arrived late and took us to dinner where we celebrated Roz and Freddie's 16th anniversary."

Hollywood in shorts: Kathy Grant Crosby, all done up like an Indian girl, was at Columbia today to test for "Gunman's Walk" with Van Heflin and Tab Hunter. If she does this role her tour with "Operation Mad Ball" is out.

★ ★ ★

Cary Grant, supposed to have left for London over the weekend, didn't. When he learned Ingrid Bergman had received a 10-day delay in starting "Kind Sir," he asked for the same and got it.

Seven-year-old Evelyn Rudie is so good in "Gift of Love" that when she finished the 20th picture producer Charles Brackett gave her a gold bracelet and director Jean Negulesco a life-size painting of herself, little gifts of love (plug).

Looks as if Geraldine Gleason, Jackie's daughter, is following in her old man's footsteps. She has the comedy lead in "Roberta" at Marymount College.

★ ★ ★

No horses for Larry Finley. When he heads the Western Week parade in Palm Springs Nov. 9, he'll be the only grand marshall who ever rode in an automobile.

That man who always helps out, and I do mean Jack Benny, will M.C. "The Helpers" charity dinner Thanksgiving-eve at the Beverly-Hilton to aid the Reiss-Clinic for children and also local veteran organizations.

Vice Squad Eyes Elvis Throwing About His Pelvis

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Elvis Presley, quiver-lipped hero of the fainting set, performed under the scrutiny of vice squad officers last night. They said they found nothing wrong iwth the show, from a standpoint of propriety at any rate.

★ ★ ★

The officers were dispatched to the Pan-Pacific Auditorium because of complaints about the previous night's proceedings. It was then that about 10,000 of Presley's constituents went insane over their idol's unique brand of song and dance.

★ ★ ★

Many parents who accompanied their offspring to the production claimed Presley was manipulating his hips in a manner that was most vulgar, to say the least.

Chinese aid offered to Nepal is "no nectar for heaven as some people seem to think," said Bharat Shamsher, party leader in Nepal, at Katmandu. He indicated that aid from India, "our neighbor", would be more welcome.

Social Security Hike in Canada Effective

OTTAWA, Ont. (INS) — Prime Minister John Diefenbaker announced today that the increases in Canada's social security payments will become effective on Nov. 1 even though parliament has not completed action on them.

Old age pension, payable without a means test to all residents of 10 years standing who are 70 or over, will rise to $55 from $46 to which it was increased from $40 last July 1.

There wil be similar increases in old age assistance from age 65 to 70 on a means test basis, increases in pensions to the blind and disabled.

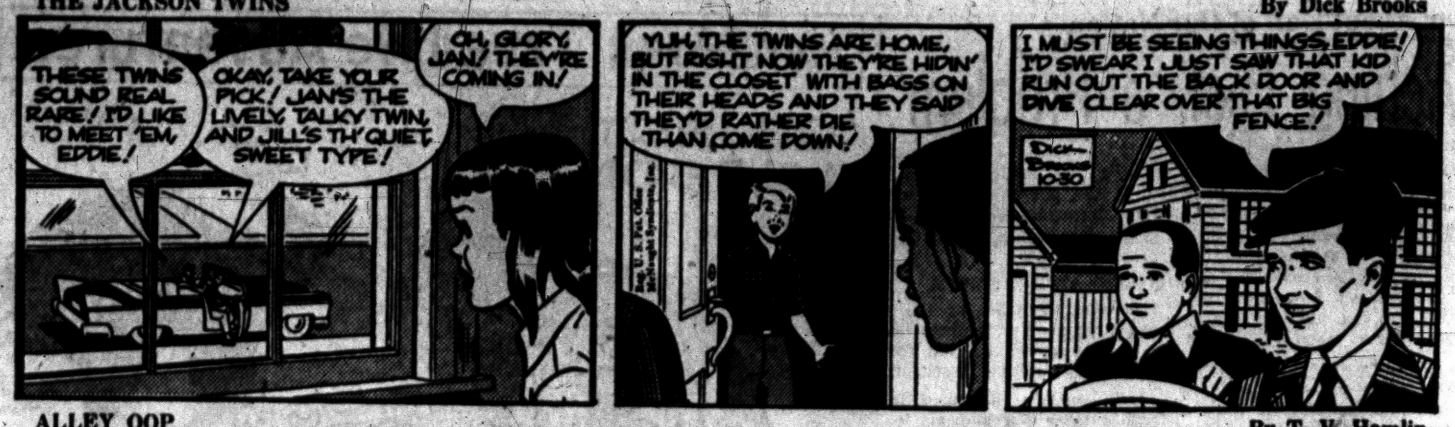

Canada's social security program is financed by the 2-2-2 formula, two per cent on income tax, two per cent on the wholesale sales tax and two per cent on the corporation tax.

Grains Steady in Light Trade

CHICAGO (AP)—Grain futures were mostly steady in a light mixed trade on the board of trade today.

★ ★ ★

There was fair demand for wheat on resting orders and a firm cash wheat market. Inquiries by Poland for additional amounts of the bread grain also was a bolstering influence.

★ ★ ★

Trading in corn futures was active and mixed. With corn prices at the season's lows, there was a fair amount of buying in early dealings. Overnight shipments of corn out of Chicago were reported heavy, along with light offerings in the country.

Scattered offerings in soybeans were well taken. Around 350,000 bushels of beans were received at Chicago terminals overnight.

★ ★ ★

Near the end of the first hour, wheat was unchanged to ⅛ lower, Dec. $2.17⅝; corn ¼-⅜ lower, Dec. $1.18⅛; oats ⅛ to ¼ lower, Dec. 67⅜; rye ⅜ to 1¼ lower, Dec. $1.28½; soybeans ¼ to ⅝ lower, Nov. $2.26⅝; and lard was 5 cents lower to 5 cents higher per hundred pounds, Nov. $11.40.

Drives Car From Lot Without Knowing How

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Julian Torres, 38, went to a used car lot to buy a car. An obliging salesman told Torres to "try out" a 1951 model.

Police reported Torres drove into a fence near the lot, then went a few more blocks before smashing into a building.

★ ★ ★

Investigation showed it was the first time Torres ever had driven a car.

Plane Forced to Turn Back

50 Passengers, 9 Crew Safe After Engine Fire 3 Hours Over Atlantic

BOSTON (AP) — A runaway propeller, causing a fire in the engine and teeth-chattering vibration, gave 50 passengers and nine crewmen a nervous three hours aboard a Scandinavian Airlines DC7C over the Atlantic last night.

The four-engine liner turned back and landed safely at Logan International Airport here after dropping the burning engine. No one was hurt.

★ ★ ★

The plane, carrying some 20 women and children, including three infants, left Idlewild International Airport, New York, at 3:16 p.m., EST, bound for Glasgow and Copenhagen.

The propeller on the left outboard engine began to race out of control when the liner was two hours beyond Nantucket Island. Attempts to "feather" the prop—stop it—failed.

Capt. Knox Jerefjord, 38, a flyer 16 years, turned back to Boston because that city was 120 miles closer than New York. Jerefjord jettisoned 20,000 pounds of fuel and reduced altitude from 21,000 to 6,000 feet. The other three engines were turned up to full power and passengers were moved to the rear of the plane for better balance.

Capt. Jerefjord, father of two children, said the passengers accepted the situation wonderfully.

Nine passengers spent the night at a hotel. The rest waited for a replacement plane Scandinavian dispatched from New York.

Judge Goes Limit, Too Why Stop on 1 Violation?

HANCOCK, Md. (AP)—The $800 levied against Wilbur S. Brown of Paw Paw, W. Va., was one of the heaviest fines ever imposed in Washington County.

Magistrate Edward T. Fost found Brown guilty of drunken driving, failure to stop after an accident, failure to keep to the right side of the road and driving on a revoked license.

Market Edges Slightly Higher

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market moved slightly to the upside in quiet early trading today.

Key issues showed gains ranging from fractions to a point or so, but most changes were narrow. There was a scattering of losers in about the same range.

★ ★ ★

While record earnings were reported by two corporate giants, U.S. Steel and Standard Oil (New Jersey), this news was modified by less bullish factors. "Big Steel's" board chairman predicted steel industry operations would edge down somewhat.

Although Jersey Standard's nine months earnings hit a new high, its third-quarter net showed a decline from a year ago. Meanwhile, American Telephone traded about unchanged as its quarter-billion-dollar bond issue went at the highest interest rate paid by the big utility in 27 years.

U.S. Steel was off fractionally after its one-point rise yesterday. Jersey Standard was steady. Coppers, still riding on reports of improving conditions in the industry, went ahead. Kennecott advanced more than a point.

★ ★ ★

Gains of around a point or so were made by United Aircraft, International Paper, American Tobacco, Texas Co. and Gulf Oil.

Goodrich dropped more than a point. Goodyear, American Can and Allied Chemical were slightly lower.

Opening blocks included: U.S. Steel off ⅜ at 55⅝ on 5,000 shares; Deere off ½ at 28⅛ on 3,500; and Royal Dutch up ¼ at 44¼ on 1,000.

Elkton School Bus Overturns in Ditch

ELKTON (AP)—A school bus carrying 44 pupils overturned today in a ditch near this Huron County community in the Thumb area. All escaped injury.

★ ★ ★

The bus, driven by William Haller, was bound for the Elkton Community School.

The driver told sheriff's deputies he swung over to the edge of the narrow road to permit another car to pass and his right wheel sank into a soft shoulder, causing the bus to roll over on its side.

Military to Pay Bills on Time

Secretary of Defense Blames Misconception for Contrary Reports

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department will pay its bills when they come due—apparently even if it breaks through its 38 billion dollar spending ceiling for the year.

Secretary of Defense McElroy blamed an "apparent misconception" for reports of delayed payments and said last night the Army, Navy and Air Force should "make it clear they will of course pay bills as they fall due under the terms of contracts" with suppliers of equipment.

His memorandum was addressed to the secretaries of the three services. Its phrasing indicated that the "misconception" may have been on the part of the military services. By far the greatest proportion of defense contracts are those of the Air Force.

★ ★ ★

Defense contractors have complained strongly in recent days that they had been informed full payments could not be made immediately as all bills fell due. This the contractors argued, meant that the government was forcing the companies to assume some of its financing burden.

In his memorandum, McElroy told the service secretaries that "although the 38 billion dollar current budget objective must be kept in mind at all times, I expect you to advise me whenever you find that specific cuts that may appear necessary to meet these expenditures objectives will jeopardize essential programs."

Pontiac City Affairs

Can Arrest Motorists on Lots

Motorists caught driving recklessly or while under the influence of liquor on parking areas in Pontiac will be prosecuted under a new amendment to the city's traffic ordinance 926.

According to City Attorney William A. Ewart, persons committing such offenses in these areas in the past were immune from arrest.

"A motorist can be just as reckless in a parking lot as he can be on a highway," Ewart said.

He told the City Commission last night, before its acceptance of the measure, that the amendment to the law brings it in line with state law.

The proposal passed in a roll call vote 7 to 0. It will take effect Nov. 8.

Most other business taken up by the Commission involved setting assessment payments for 11 public improvement projects in the city.

No citizens were heard during three public hearings on similar projects.

The city agreed to deed to the Borden Creamery Co. two feet of an alley near their warehouse at 256 Norton Ave. for use in construction of a conveyor ramp.

★ ★ ★

Commissioners heard two complaints from citizens regarding assessments for street improvements. In both instances they refused to budge, after lengthy discussions, on their assessment formulas covering the work.

District 4 Commissioner Floyd P. Miles promised Reuben C. Destrom, of 785 Orlando Ave., and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Panter, of 5 Pingree Ave., that the assessments would be examined further.

1958 Auto License Plates on Sale Friday in Pontiac

Your new black and gray license plates for 1958 will be available at the Pontiac branch of the Secretary of State's office beginning Friday.

★ ★ ★

Willis M. Brewer, branch manager, once again reminded motorists that the deadline is Feb. 28, 1958, "and not to wait until the last day."

The office will be opened daily from 9 a.m. until 5 and on Saturdays from 9 until 1 p.m. It is located at 53 N. Parke St.

This year a new policy will be in effect in the state, whereby new plates will remain with the individual purchaser rather than go with the car if it is sold.

"The seller should remove the 1958 plates and put them on his new car," Brewer said. "If he doesn't buy a new one, the plates must be surrendered to the Secretary of State office."

"Because of this new procedure," Brewer continued, "it is especially important that titles be transferred immediately." There will be a $5 fee if the title transfer is not completed within 10 days of the transaction, Brewer added.

The new plates, of which the Pontiac office has 70,000 on sale, will have black numerals on a light gray background.

Another reminder from Brewer is that motorists not forget to bring along the titles to their vehicles and the applications for the 1958 plates. Additional applications are available at the office.

Senators Probe Mattress Firm

Check on Story That Shefferman Interfered in Union Drive

WASHINGTON (AP)— Senate rackets probers check today a story that Nathan Shefferman interfered in a union drive at a plant of the Englander Co., big mattress firm.

★ ★ ★

The special investigating committee called Michael Katz, an international organizer for the Upholsterers Union, and Chicago lawyer Sidney Korshak for questioning after hearing the story from Joseph M. Dillon of the Teamsters Union.

The committee headed by Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) is exploring Shefferman's dealings with labor union officials and what chief counsel Robert F. Kennedy contends has been Shefferman's career of hiring out to employers as a professional "union buster."

★ ★ ★

The hearings switched yesterday from Shefferman's antiunion efforts as a consultant to Sears, Roebuck & Co. to his work for Englander.

Kennedy said the committee may launch Thursday its hearings on the Mennen Co., big toilet goods manufacturer. Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan is a stockholder in the company, but the committee said it has no plan to call him as a witness.

★ ★ ★

Dillon testified Shefferman had asked him in 1951 to call off a Teamster picket line at the Englander plant and "indicated he had talked with Mr. Beck." Dave Beck is the retiring Teamsters president and a close associate of Shefferman.

At the time, Dillon said, the Teamsters and Upholsterers Unions were trying jointly to organize the plant, with each to take a different group of workers.

Dillon testified the Teamsters won the collective bargaining contract.

★ ★ ★

The Sears phase of the inquiry wound up after the committee produced evidence that the big mail house had paid Dave Beck $78.75 in expenses to attend the funeral in 1955 of Dan Tobin, whom Beck succeeded as Teamster president.

Wallace Tudor, Sears vice president in charge of personnel, told the committee this was arranged by Shefferman and probably was charged up as an entertainment expense.

★ ★ ★

Tudor said Sears also paid $17.75 to send Shefferman to the funeral, and that it wouldn't be surprising if later evidence shows that Shefferman charged all of his 300 clients for the trip.

In some vigorous exchanges with Kennedy, Tudor acknowledged anew that "disgraceful" antiunion practices had been employed at Sears' Boston area stores in 1953, but insisted this had been contrary to general policy.

He said Kennedy was "definitely wrong" in contending that unfair antiunion tactics were general Sears policy.

Eager Car Buyer Faces Hard Decision Over '57 Model or Brand New 1958

By DOUGLAS LARSEN

DETROIT (NEA) — This is the time of year when the eager car buyer faces an agonizing decision. BUY '57

★ ★ ★

With all the new models coming out at this time should he buy a '57 model and save money?

Or should he buy a slick, new '58 right now and be driving the latest model car for at least a year?

This states the basic sides of the case. It's a question of whether the buyer is more interested in a shrewd deal than driving prestige.

At mid-October there were about a half-million new '57 models on dealers' floors, an all-time high for this time of year. There is no panic about this figure among dealers, however, the experts claim.

GETS REBATES

Dealers know that an increasing number of customers wait to the end of model year to make the best deal. It's getting less difficult to clear their show room floors after the new models arrive. And the dealers get rebates from the factories of about five per cent on unsold last year's models.

Here are the main factors which weigh on the side of buying a '57 model, as explained by this town's car marketing experts:

Car for car, model for model, the '58s are more expensive than the '57s. This is the start of your potential savings.

★ ★ ★

You'll be able to get a better price from the dealer on a '57 because he is anxious to dispose of this old stock and start pushing his '58s, and he gets that factory rebate on the left-over '57s.

On top of this a dealer usually has not incentive to make a "deal" on a new model. Demand is usually heavy for them and deliveries from the factory are usually delayed for the first month of a model run.

Your present car is one model year closer to the '57 than the '58. This means that the dealer will give you a far greater allowance on your present car for the purchase of a '57.

★ ★ ★

If you want to upgrade yourself as a car owner — go from a low-price line to a medium-price car, for example — the easiest, cheapest way to do it is now, by buying a '57.

Finally, there's the old argument that the last cars of a model run have all the "bugs" removed. This is a factor, although most of the "bugs" have been removed within at least six months after a new model has been in production.

Here is the list of reasons given by the experts in favor of buying a '58:

The moment you drive a '57 out of the show room you lose the value of a model year, in comparison to buying a '58, for trading in later.

★ ★ ★

Every new model is offered with numerous engineering improvements. This year, for example, air suspension and economy of operation are the chief improvements being ballyhooed. Generally, cars are improved mechanically each year. This is especially true if the model is a so-called facelift.

Theoretically, car styling improves each year. So by buying a '58, or any new model as soon as it appears, you are getting a better looking car for your money.

In spite of the numerous economy advantages of buying a car after next year's models are out,

★ ★ ★

The professional car purchasers by the new cars right away. The big fleet buyers usually wait one month before beginning to place their orders. And they seldom buy new cars after May 31.

★ ★ ★

The main reason for this is that their mass purchasing gives them a bargaining position which the average car buyer doesn't have. His best bargaining position is now, on a '57 model.

Inmates Give Up After 9 Hours

Ex-Guard Blames Politics for Mental Hospital Revolt

MEDICAL LAKE, Wash. (INS) —Rock Hutchings, whose dismissal as guard captain at the Eastern State Mental Hospital in Medical Lake sparked a nine-hour revolt, charged today that "politics" were behind the situation.

★ ★ ★

Between 15 and 20 inmates of the hospital's maximum security ward seized control of the ward yesterday by threatening guards with a pair of scissors.

The inmates, judged criminally insane, gave up the revolt last night and released 36 guard hostages unharmed after State Institutions Director Dr. Garrett Heyns made a dramatic radio broadcast.

Heyns, at the insistence of the inmates, went to station KREM in Spokane, near Medical Lake, and broadcast an assurance that the treatment program for the mentally ill in the ward would be continued.

★ ★ ★

Hutchings, who submitted his resignation as guard captain of the hospital Monday at the request of Heyns, said he believes the revolt could have been avoided if he could have explained to the inmates why he was leaving.

Hutchings said he thought Heyns' refusal to let him make the explanation was to prevent "political repercussions."

Hutchings added that he felt "politics" was behind Heyns' request for his resignation, which, he said, was approved by Gov. Albert D. Rosellini.

★ ★ ★

The former guard captain, who was popular with hospital inmates, declined to elaborate on his charge.

Plates to Honor Wayne State

Hare Yields to Urging of Alma Mater About 1959 License Tags

LANSING (AP) — With a tip of his hat to his alma mater, Secy. of State James M. Hare is planning on green and gold vehicle license plates for Michigan in 1959.

Green and gold are the colors of Wayne State University. Editors of the school's student newspaper, in a front page editorial Friday, urged those colors for the 1959 plates in commemoration of Wayne's 90th birthday anniversary.

★ ★ ★

"Why not?" responded Hare, a 1932 graduate of Wayne, who asked the state's division of prison industries to turn out a few green and gold plates for visibility tests.

If they can be easily read at a goodly distance and if no neighboring state has made definite plans for green and gold plates in 1959, Hare said those are the colors they'll be.

What's more, he added, school colors of other state colleges and universities might be featured in subsequent years if they pass visibility tests—maroon and gold for Central Michigan College, green and white for Eastern Michigan, olive green and gold for Northern Michigan and brown and gold for Western Michigan University.

Maize and blue, University of Michigan colors, were carried in 1954 and Michigan State's green and white were featured in 1955 for the school's 100th anniversary, and again in 1956.

★ ★ ★

Colors for the 1958 plates: black and gray.

They'll go on sale Friday at Secretary of State branch offices around the state.

Teamsters Must Make a Choice

Union's Executive Unit Will Meet Tomorrow on AFL-CIO Suspension

WASHINGTON (AP)—Suspension from the AFL-CIO put the big Teamsters Union in the position of a naughty little boy put in a corner — he's got to decide whether he's going to be good or bad.

The Teamsters executive board meets here tomorrow to decide what to do.

Among rumors on what might happen are that Teamster boss James R. Hoffa may agree to step out or that the union may decide to hold another convention to elect new officers.

In Chicago yesterday, Hoffa pledged that his giant union will continue to support other AFL-CIO unions despite its recent suspension from the Federation.

Hoffa added that he hoped the Teamsters would be allowed to stay in the parent organization.

Except perhaps for some wounded pride, nobody's been hurt yet in labor's corruption cleanup drive.

★ ★ ★

But the parent federation is ready to wield a spanking, in the form of outright expulsion in December, unless the truck driver union agrees to mend its ways and oust its president-elect James R. Hoffa.

Both the Teamsters and George Meany, the AFL-CIO's president and the man calling the federation's shots in handling the Teamsters situation, have avoided doing anything so far that would end all hope of healing the breach.

★ ★ ★

But so far the effect of the Teamsters suspension status has been to give the union's leaders time to decide their own fate so far as the AFL-CIO is concerned.

Try to Identify Object Bearing Russian Letters

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Police and military officials are trying to identify a weird metal object bearing fins and Russian lettering. From what they've found out so far, it could be a whatnik or a hoaxnik.

★ ★ ★

Robert J. Brown, 32, aircraft company calibrator, told police yesterday he was driving in the mountains the night before when he saw a phosphorescent flash. Investigating, he found the thing near the roadside, he said.

★ ★ ★

Col. Dean Hess of the Air Force Information Service told newsmen last night it was his personal opinion that the object was "99 per cent hoax."

Jurors Chosen for UAW Case

Claims Union Violated Corrupt Practices Act in '54 Campaign

DETROIT (AP) — Ten women and two men jurors now are hearing the corrupt practices act case against the United Auto Workers which grew out of the union's television broadcasts of the 1954 Congressional election campaign.

★ ★ ★

The jury was chosen yesterday in U. S. District Court. Two alternate jurors, both women, also were chosen.

Both the government and the UAW indicated in opening statements they would pursue original arguments in battling out the case. The ultimate decision may set precedent in federal law.

George E. Wood, chief assistant U. S. attorney, said the union's telecasts were "calculated to elect a given candidate over another."

★ ★ ★

On the other hand union attorney Joseph L. Rauh said the UAW was "proud" of presenting the telecasts as a public service. He denied the telecasts were presented to support any candidate.

★ ★ ★

A union expenditure of approximately $5,900 in paying for the telecasts is at the root of the dispute.

There is a clash over interpretation of the law. The case is at trial at express order of the U. S. Supreme Court.

The government charges the UAW violated the corrupt practices act by using money from its general fund—coming from members' dues—in paying for the telecasts.

★ ★ ★

The union says it used money from its convention-approved educational fund and that its constitutional right of freedom of speech is at issue.

Bank Let Scott Use Wife's Deposit Box

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A prosecution witness in the L. Ewing Scott murder trial says Scott gained entrance to his wife's safe deposit box three days after she disappeared.

★ ★ ★

With the testimony of former bank clerk Lois Meinel, the prosecution began its examination of the manner in which Scott handled his missing wife's $600,000 estate.

Mrs. Scott, 63, vanished from her gay world of parties and ocean voyages on May 16, 1955. Scott is accused of murdering her to get control of her estate.

Mrs. Meinel testified yesterday that Scott appeared at the bank May 19, 1955, with a card signed by his wife making him a co-renter of the safe deposit box, which had been in her name until then.

★ ★ ★

The witness said the procedure was highly irregular but that it was finally approved by an assistant manager and Scott was given his wife's box.

Mrs. Scott's disappearance did not come to light until nearly a year later, at which time authorities opened the safe deposit box and found it contained only two envelopes filled with sand.

In the grand jury investigation that led to Scott's indictment, a witness testified that the card Scott used to enter his wife's box was a forgery.

Two Alleged Depots for Numbers Raided

Two alleged numbers depots were raided yesterday by the Pontiac police vice squad and two men arrested.

A police officer in plain clothes placed several bets with Michael Curtis, 65, at Steiners Hat Cleaners, 12 Mt. Clemens St., yesterday morning and Curtis was taken into custody, according to Lt. William Nesbitt, head of the vice squad.

★ ★ ★

Information found during the raid then led the officers to a house at 66 Branch St. where Clarence Brown, 54, was arrested and an adding machine, coin wrappers, envelopes and blank policy books seized, Lt. Nesbitt said.

Both men were charged with violation of the state gambling laws and arraigned in Municipal Court.

★ ★ ★

Curtis pleaded guilty before Judge Cecil B. McCallum and will be sentenced Nov. 13. Brown stood mute and trial was set for Nov. 13.

Senators Seek Missiles Race

Dirksen Says Country Willing to Spend Funds to Surpass Reds

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Dirksen (R-Ill) said today the country is willing to pour any amount of money that can be spent usefully and constructively into missile development to surpass the Russians.

★ ★ ★

Dirksen, the assistant Republican leader, said public reaction to the Soviet Sputnik is likely to bring a determined drive in the next session to increase defense expenditures.

Assessing the same reaction, Sen. Morse (D-Ore) called in a separate interview for a crash program of missile development. He said it ought to be directed "by the nation's top scientists and not by the politicians."

★ ★ ★

A number of other senators of both parties have called for a speedup in missile development and have deplored rivalry among the services.

But Dirksen said that as a member of the Senate Appropriations Committee he will combat any tendency to provide defense agencies with more funds than can be used by the competent, trained manpower available to them. He said lack of such manpower may be a critical element in speeding up the program.

If it is, Morse said it will be "because this administration has discouraged the scientists at every turn."

★ ★ ★

President Eisenhower has held firm thus far on a 38 billion dollar outlay for defense in the current year, ending next June 30.

Secretary of Defense McElroy has canceled a 170-million-dollar cutback in research and development funds, and there were signs yesterday that spending may be allowed to exceed the 38 billion ceiling.

But these moves are not likely to satisfy some of the senators who will be armed soon with ammunition from an Armed Services Committee staff investigation of the missiles program. That investigation was launched a short time after the Rusians surprised the world by launching a satellite last Oct. 4. Since then, the United States has reported a number of new scientific achievements.

★ ★ ★

The Russian satellite ended its 25th day aloft yesterday a full lap behind the rocket section which launched it. The Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory at Cambridge, Mass., said the rocket passed the satellite over the South Pacific at mid-afternoon—in broad daylight when they could not be seen.

With ferries for transporation it took 53 minutes to make the trip, plus 45 to 105 minutes waiting for a boat.

Wife of Sousa III Obtains Divorce

LOS ANGELES (AP)—John Philip Sousa III, grandson of the noted bandmaster, "wanted freedom to come and go as he pleased," his wife testified in obtaining a divorce.

★ ★ ★

The decree was granted yesterday after Mrs. Dorothy LaFollette Sousa informed Superior Judge Harold P. Huls: "Mr. Sousa told me many times he never should have married."

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Sousa, 36, member of the Wisconsin LaFollette family, married Sousa, 43, in 1944, while both were employed by Time, Inc. Sousa now is a Time executive and Mrs. Sousa has become an attorney in Beverly Hills. They separated in 1953.

★ ★ ★

The couple has a son, John Philip IV, 10, for whom Sousa has been paying $200 monthly support.

Calls Chicago's Michigan Avenue 'Most Elegant'

CHICAGO (AP)—Chicago's Michigan Avenue was described last night by a nationally known authority on city planning as the nation's "most elegant" street.

★ ★ ★

Christopher Tunnard, associate professor of city planning at Yale University, said Michigan Avenue has surpassed New York's Park Avenue as the most beautiful street in the country.

★ ★ ★

Tunnard, who spoke at a meeting of the Greater North Michigan Avenue Assn., said of Michigan Avenue: "You get an impression of grandeur and beauty. It is the most elegant of American streets."

Throws Hat Into Ring

KALAMAZOO (AP) — Dr. Samuel Clark, associate professor of political science at Western Michigan University, will seek the Democratic nomination for Congress in the Fourth District next year. He disclosed his intention in a letter from India, where he is now on a study mission for the Ford Foundation. He was the Democratic nominee last year but was defeated by Rep. Clare E. Hoffman, the Republican incumbent.

There's one adult western on TV on which the hero doesn't play guitar while singing—he has an accompanist . . . It's great to have your feet on the ground — but keep them moving. —Earl Wilson.

Occupy Suite of Kings by Misunderstanding

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—The oil of Wilson and his B.W. snoozed this morning in the Waldorf Towers' famous Suite 28-A, which had Ike, Mamie, Queen Liz and Philip as guests earlier this week, perhaps in the very beds slept in by kings.

★ ★ ★

The B.W. and I happened to be at the Waldorf's big Anna Maria Alberghetti opening when I chanced to ask:

WILSON

"Is 28-A occupied tonight?"

I merely meant, "What crowned head's in there now?"

Somebody misunderstood my meaning quickly said, "It's available for you, sir, and you won't be cramped . . . it has four bedrooms."

Now I was not about to rent a $150-a-night suite inasmuch as I already have a West End Ave. apartment, but this party began hustling me to sign in and was also asking for my luggage.

★ ★ ★

"Do you think," I stammered to the B.W., seeing we were caught, due to my big mouth, "we have enough money to tip the servants of a four-bedroom suite—and who are we going to have in the other three bedrooms, anyway?"

In a few minutes I was tearing from the first bedroom to the fourth trying to find a phone that was ringing—when I spotted a plaque which listed the other guests who'd bunked there:

Ready? Juliana, the Churchills, Prince Felix, Prince Faisal, Harry Truman, the Earl of Halifax, Miguel Aleman, King Paul, the Windsors, Haile Selassie.

★ ★ ★

"Some class to us," I couldn't help observing, opening the door of a closet to hang up my jacket. The closet was bigger than our apartment.

Junior Editors Quiz on BLACK CATS

QUESTION: Why is a black cat considered unlucky?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: In literature, legend and superstitions, the color black has always been associated with evil, death and darkness, while cats have usually been pictured as wily, graceful and somewhat mysterious animals. The combination of the two made the black cat a feared animal in olden days when people were more inclined to be afraid of the dark, more likely to be superstitious. In the Middle Ages, for instance, people had the absurd belief that cats spoke English and associated with witches. Even today you find people who are afraid of black cats, particularly if one happens to cross their path. This, of course, is only superstition. Black cats make excellent pets. As a matter of fact, some people now regard black cats as bringing good luck. The old belief, however, still prevails in a humorous sense at Halloween time, when black cats play a prominent part in decorations, costumes and colored party napkins and tablecloths.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: For your scrapbook or as a Halloween decoration, cut out this picture, mount it on cardboard, color with your crayons and make it stand by folding along the indicated lines.

No. 1 California Dem Tells Plans Today

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Atty. Gen. Edmund G. Brown today answers the big one: Will he seek the Democratic nomination for governor next year?

His answer, to be given at a news conference, is expected to be a loud and unqualified "yes."

If Brown, the State's No. 1 Democrat, wins the nomination — and he appears to be a shoo-in — he will face Gov. Goodwin J. Knight or U.S. Sen. William F. Knowland, both announced candidates, in the general election.

Some Republican leaders have hinted Knight may drop out of the governor's race to seek Knowland's Senate seat or to take a high federal post. Knight has denied this.

3,000 or More Try Out Yearly

Casting Director Finds Talented Performers in The Minority

By WILLIAM GLOVER

NEW YORK (AP) — Bob Martin has one of television's oddest assignments—running a non-stop talent marathon.

★ ★ ★

As casting director for CBS-TV, Martin steers a weekly audition operation which gives a chance to 3,000 or so eager singers, dancers, comics and actors each year.

There is no screening process, no one to know in order to receive an invitation to the blue-walled studio where hearings are held.

"If a person has a burning desire to be heard, is persistent enough and has something to offer, he will be heard," says Martin.

★ ★ ★

That "something" need not be very remarkable.

STAR TALENT

"About two a year come by with potential star talent," estimates Bob, "and about 100 who can make a living in the entertainment business."

The toughest part of the work is listening to those with lesser skills.

"The worst thing is seeing youngsters who have been given a false buildup on their abilities," he explains.

"Also, being just good is not enough. So many individuals with the wrong measurements are blessed with the right amount of talent."

★ ★ ★

For those who favorably impress Martin and his aides, introductory bits on the air are sought with Garry Moore, or on various of the early Sunday drama programs.

THE SUCCESSES

Among those who have come through the CBS audition room are Carol Burnett, who rocketed to success singing about John Foster Dulles; Jonathan Winters, Eva Marie Saint, Rita Gam and the late James Dean.

Any system "that just tries to bring a little order into the talent business" is susceptible to error, Martin good-naturedly concedes.

"A few years back a young actor tried out and got one of the worst markings ever scored," he recalls.

★ ★ ★

Asks $11,300 for Fall From Pogo Stick

PROSSER, Wash. (UP)—A suit seeking $11,300 damages for injuries allegedly suffered in a fall from a pogo stick was filed in Superior Court at Prosser.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Loin E. Hicks of Richland, Wash., brought the action Monday against Mr. and Mrs. Marion Lee, also of Richland. Mrs. Hicks claims she suffered a ruptured disc and other injuries when she fell from a pogo stick at the Lee home Sept. 11, 1955.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Hicks said in the suit the "pogo stick was defective and had a worn rubber tip."

★ ★ ★

She said she was invited to use the stick which belonged to the Lee children.

Mrs. Hicks asked $10,000 general damages and $1,300 special damages.

Dog Barks Call Rescuers to Lost Deaf-Mute Tot

REDDING, Calif. (UP)—The barking of her little dog led searchers to Sarah Ann Dobbs, a 3-year-old deaf-mute lost overnight in a hilly, wooded canyon.

The child was found yesterday snuggled up to the puppy, dozing.

She was clad only in a light T-shirt and panties. She apparently had stumbled into a creek and removed her wet jeans.

Several hundred men, with bloodhounds and assisted by the Civil Air Patrol had searched the area.

The government of Nepal charges admission prices to climb a mountain, says the National Geographic Society. For instance you must buy a ticket costing $630 before being permitted to attempt to climb the 29,028 foot Mount Everest. Cut-rate tickets are offered for lower peaks.
