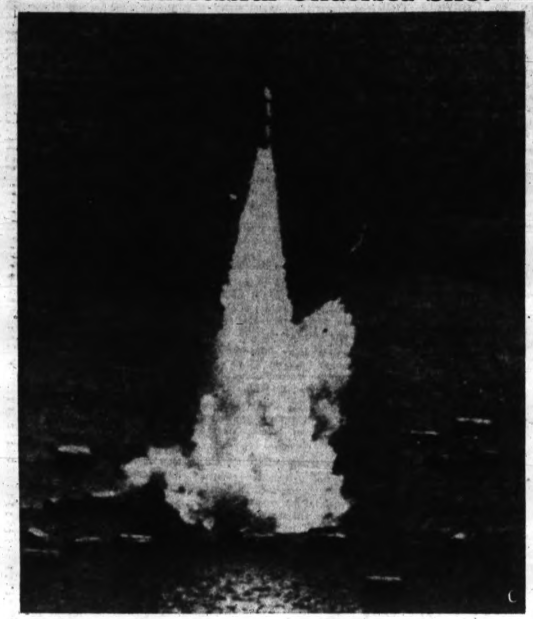
First Successful Undersea Shot



AP Photofax

POLARIS FIRED — Rising from a churned-up mixture of sea spray and flaming rocket exhaust, a Polaris missile is successfully launched from an undersea pressure chamber for the first time. The missile was driven up 1,800 feet in five seconds by its first stage rocket that ignited after the Polaris had broken through the surface of the water. When the first stage engine burned out, the rocket fell back into the sea as planned. Navy officers said the test brought submarine missiles closer to a combat readiness stage.

French Police Begin Manhunt for Kidnapers

Little Eric Is Dumped Near His Paris Home; Ransom Paid (?)

PARIS (AP)—French police today intensified a nation-wide manhunt for the kidnapers of Eric Peugeot and labeled a hoax one published report that the abductors had been captured.

Four-year-old Eric was home safe and sound, though "still upset." His abductors freed him on a Paris sidewalk early today, Paris time — presumably after payment of ransom.

The French news agency flashed a report that the kidnapers had been captured and even gave the names of two men and a woman. Later, however, the agency said it had "false information."

Eric was questioned by inspectors this afternoon after a good sleep but indications were that the boy was unable to furnish much information.

Earlier, another report that the kidnapers had been found swept through Paris after a police roadblock near Senlis, just north of Paris, opened fire on a speeding car.

The car's tires were punctured and it stopped by the side of the road. Two young men clambered out and were arrested. Police at Senlis said the two youths apparently had no connection with the Peugeot kidnaping but an investigation was started to make sure.

Blinking back tears, the boy's father, Roland, appeared to speak to hundreds of newsmen:

"I am very happy. I hardly think there is anything more to say.

Then, he led his wife and two sons, Eric and 7-year-old Jean-Philippe, before a battery of photographers for a few seconds. Little Eric snuggled in his mother's arms and appeared bemused. The father read a brief statement saying: "I acted absolutely alone."

Cite Facelifting Need to Merchants

'Let's Spruce Up Downtown'

The central business district needs a facelifting — urgently, the bulk of the downtown merchants and property owners were advised yesterday.

A spirited revitalization campaign was proposed to more than 50 downtown businessmen at a meeting arranged by The Pontiac Press, the Downtown Merchants Assn. and City Hall planners.

The first step: Modernization of store fronts.

The second: New merchandizing techniques.

The prize: Capture of what was described as a "tremendous" retail market potential within the Pontiac area.

Just as the two-hour pep session began, good tidings came from the city's two commercial banks.

One hundred per cent cooperation was promised by Robert R. Eldred, executive vice president of Community National Bank, and Milo J. Cross, president of Pontiac State Bank.

BANKER IN FAVOR

"There's nothing we'd rather see than a group of merchants march into the bank tomorrow for funds with which to modernize," said Eldred.

Sparking the rally were John A. Riley, James Dickerson, Assistant City Manager Robert A. Stierer, James Bates, city planning director, and David S. Geer, the city planning consultant.

Riley is advertising director of The Pontiac Press and Dickerson, manager of general advertising.

TWO POINTS STRESSED

These points were brought out about Pontiac retail market area:

1. In the past 10 years, the area has grown 64 per cent in popuhtion to an estimated 283,000 persons. And the growth is continuing.

2. Pontiac area families generally have a higher income than the national average. More than 52 per cent of the families here make more than $5,000 a year, while the national average is $3,400.

Downtown interests were urged to wage an all-out campaign to capture this desirable business potential.

"The concept that Pontiac is still just a factory town is no longer true," it was stated.

"People here are not interested in middle and low quality merchandise. They want quality, and they want variety. They want lots of good stores — not just a few — and they want to shop in pleasant surroundings."

The threat, merchants were told, continues to be the shopping centers, which provide the type of goods and atmosphere shoppers look for nowadays.

Manufacture's representatives from various building material companies demonstrated and explained new, inexpensive yet attractive products that are now available for facelifting store fronts.

Stierer and Bates outlined the urban renewal and loop highway plans, but insisted that these were long-range ventures that could only assist downtown in its revitalization.

Geer summed up the attitude of the speakers:

"No matter what the city does — even if it creates a perfect surroundings for you in the way of parking lots, malls, good traffic conditions — these won't mean a thing unless the downtown people themselves all pull together for their own sakes and the sake of the city."

Bee Line Helps 'Temporarily'; Fare 25 Cents

To Serve North Perry, Auburn, Elizabeth Lake, Orchard Lake, Huron

Beginning tomorrow morning, The Bee Line will make its buses available to Pontiac passengers within the city limits on more than 70 regularly scheduled runs along five main arteries weekdays and Saturdays.

The interurban company announced the service as "a temporary measure to help the citizens of Pontiac" while the city itself remains busless.

Elmer Ball, general manager of the company, said that plans were completed today.

He said Bee Line buses would pick up and discharge passengers along Auburn avenue, N. Perry street, Elizabeth Lake road, W. Huron street and Orchard Lake road at established bus stops and at a fare of 25 cents.

OK'D BY COMMISSION

Stopgap service such as this was authorized earlier this week by the City Commission on recommendation of the Mayor's transportation committee, headed by Commissioner Floyd P. Miles.

Miles said Greyhound Lines has been invited to do the same on Oakland avenue and Saginaw street and Great Lakes Transit Corp. on Saginaw street.

Ball said the company received approval from the Public Service Commission in Lansing to route buses on West Huron street, although it has not used this artery in the past.

★ ★ ★

But Orchard Lake and Elizabeth Lake road schedules will be maintained as usual, he said.

The Bee Line is headquartered in Keego Harbor. Privately owned, it operates 11 buses, transporting commuters between Pontiac, Sylvan Lake, Keego Harbor, Commerce, Oxford, Lake Orion, Lapeer, Caro, Michigan, State University Oakland, Auburn Heights and Rochester.

It also runs one bus daily between Pontiac and Ann Arbor. These trips also will be available for local Pontiac passengers, said Ball.

Road to Faith

Ever-Present Word Holds Cure to All Our Despair

By WILL OURSLER
Chapter Thirty-Nine

Out of the darkness and silence, out of despair and defeat, out of frustration and loneliness and rejection and emptiness, out of scorn, out of trying and failing and trying once again, out of the need for strength, out of weakness admitted, out of our foolishness and misunderstanding and groping and yearning—out of all the things of which we sometimes think ourselves guilty and sometimes not, we inwardly seek and find the Word of God, at once immediate and personal and all-encompassing.

"Then the Lord answered Job out of the whirlwind, and said,

"Gird up thy loins like a man; for I will demand of thee, and answer thou me.

"Where wast thou when I laid the foundations of the earth? Declare, if thou hast understanding.

"Hath the rain a father? Or who hath begotten the drops of dew?

"Out of whose womb came the ice? and the hoary frost of heaven, who hath gendered it?

We have learned bits and fragments of God's laws, but dominion we have not. The more we learn, the more elusive that dominion seems.

★ ★ ★

Out of our darkness comes the meaning and the Word that is not elusive, for it waits upon us and our willingness to understand.

Winds in downtown Pontiac were five miles per hour from the east at 8 a.m. today. The temperature reading was 53 at 2 p.m.

Yesterday's temperatures ranged from a low of 58 to a high of 76 with mostly cloudy skies and light rain.

Operating Figure $9.4 Million

Ready With School Budget

A $9,439,190 operating budget last night was adopted by the Pontiac Board of Education for presentation today to the Oakland County Tax Allocation Board.

★ ★ ★

The figure, in effect, is a comprehensive report of the total needs of the school system for 1960-61, according to Dr. Dana P. Whitmer, superintendent of schools.

"But," said Whitmer, "it is unrealistic that we will be able to finance this budget."

The Board of Education last year submitted a tentative budget of $9,298,291.

The final operating budget used by the school system in 1959 was more than a million dollars less than the original one presented to the Allocation Board—$8,043,864.

★ ★ ★

Two budgets were studied by the Board of Education prior to adoption. The "basic" budget maintained the status quo in terms of school operations, with allowance made for enrollment increases and cost of living adjustments.

The "improvement" budget, approved unanimously last night, provides improvements needed above the status quo to maintain a school system of "quality."

★ ★ ★

The school system is required to adopt an operating budget and notify the County Tax Allocation Board of its financial requirements by April 15 each year. The Allocation Board considers the budget to determine the school systems share within the 15-mill limitation.

"Preparing the original budget is always difficult," said Whitmer, "because on April 15 the school district does not know the income that will be available for the following fiscal year.

"Final adoption of the 1960-61 operating budget will be made after June 1 when income is definitely known. Revision of April estimates of costs then will be made in terms of available income."

Whitmer said the adopted budget provides for needs brought about by enrollment increases, the cost of living rise, full participation in the National Defense Education Act, further in-service education of teachers, curriculum development, instructional supplies and the school rehabilitation program.

★ ★ ★

"Not all of our needs were accommodated in the proposed budget estimates," said Whitmer. "These appeared in the Supplementary Budget and amounted to $415,537. It is unrealistic that we will be able to finance these supplementary items, although they are included in the total figure."

Whitmer said he assumes the allocated millage to the school district will remain at the present level (8.75 mills) and that the $415,537 of the supplementary budget estimates will have to be deleted prior to final adoption in June.

★ ★ ★

The superintendent said the proposed operating rate increase of 2.8 mills which will be voted on May 9 is required to finance the tentative budget.

If the tax hike proposal fails, he said, reductions in the operating budget estimates will have to be made prior to final adoption in June.

A decline in income from state equalized valuation or the tax allocation below what is anticipated would also require other reductions in the operating budget.

★ ★ ★

"If these things occur," Whitmer said, "there will result an erosion in the quality of the school program."

Census to Question Moving Population

By HARVEY ZUCKERBERG

Seems like they just can't leave a body alone.

It might come right in the middle of a Mulligan stew, a confidential tete-a-tete with the pigeons or just when a man's easyin' himself down nice and comfortable to collect his thoughts.

★ ★ ★

Fancy a man who has been going where his heart takes him being asked what's he doing here and how many bedrooms does he got and how many bathrooms does he got and when has he worked last.

"Floaters," as Oakland County District Supervisor of the Census W. C. Hintz calls them, will be counted Wednesday night.

Hintz said he is going to dispatch squads of picked crew leaders and census takers to fan out over the county to count people who don't have a fixed address.

"The census takers will visit missions, all-night theaters and city parks in this special effort to see that all residents of the area are counted," Hintz said.

"They will be included in the population of the place in which they are located by the census takers."

The census man said questions must be answered under penalty of $100 fine or 60 days in jail or both.

★ ★ ★

Some might figure to take the man up on his offer . . . a two month rest with good chow could refresh a body weary after being on the hoof all year.

Census officials also ask that those who haven't been counted contact the office at 53½ W. Huron St.

Leading Civic Woman Endorses Amendments

If Mrs. Socrates V. Sekles is typical, Pontiac women want a Police Department that works quietly and efficiently—without any of the turbulence that has characterized the force in the past three years.

"This is why I'm voting for the two charter amendments Monday, and why I believe most Pontiac women will do the same," said Mrs. Sekles, a prominent figure in women's and civic activities.

MRS. SOCRATES V. SEKLES

Mrs. Sekles has held a long list of offices with such groups as the Pontiac Foundation, the Greater Pontiac Community Council, the Oakland County Society for Crippled Children, City Federation of Women's Clubs and at present she is president of the Women's Assn. for the Pontiac Symphony Orchestra.

"If the two amendments are adopted, I believe there will be a better line of communication on the highest levels at City Hall," she said.

"There will be a better balance among the top officials, the policies which the people want the City Commission to adopt will be carried through, and there shouldn't be any more mixups.

"The commission and the manager will be able to deal with problems as they come up—and they should have the power to do this because the people hold them responsible when anything goes wrong."

Mrs. Sekles said that in her activities in women's groups recently she has discovered "a tremendous amount of interest and support" for the charter changes.

The first amendment would re-establish the validity of the present Police Trial Board with only some minor changes in procedure.

It would also separate the police chief from the trial board and put him directly under the city manager, to be dismissed or demoted "whenever such action may be necessary."

The second amendment would eliminate the department of public safety and raise the fire and police divisions to departmental status directly under the city manager.

Shot 5 Times, Burned to Death

Gas Station Attendant Victim of Grim Crime; Apparently Robbed

DETROIT (AP)—Gunmen pumped five bullets into the body of a service station attendant before they doused him with gasoline and set him afire in an apparent robbery on the outskirts of Detroit last night.

★ ★ ★

An autopsy showed the victim, Carl Perry Nickell, 42, was alive when set ablaze in the ghastly murder.

His still-smoldering body, burned beyond recognition, was found about 10 feet from the station. There was no trace of money normally carried by the attendant.

Officials who performed the autopsy here said Nickell was shot twice in the head, once in the right arm and once in the left hip.

Because of the condition of the body it was impossible to determine where the fifth bullet penetrated.

★ ★ ★

Detective Roy Tanner said Nickell evidently was robbed and then killed. He was believed to be carrying about $69. Only 84 cents in change was found by officers after a search of the area.

The body was lying beside a parked car. A rear fender of the car was scorched.

The body was found by Dale Dunson of Belleville, his father, Joseph Dunson of Canton, Ohio, and Richard Gano, 30, of Belleville.

At County GOP Convention

Nixon Will Get Okay

Only Richard Milhous Nixon can expect to come out of next Wednesday's Republican county convention in Pontiac with a "go-get-'em" endorsement from Oakland Republicans.

In there plugging for the vice president's bid for promotion to the White House will be Richard C. VanDusen, vice-chairman of the Midwest Volunteers for Nixon. VanDusen, a Detroit attorney from Bingham Farms, will keynote the 7:30 convention.

Local party leaders have called upon their younger counterparts — the "Young Republicans" — to add a little spice to the parley. The YR's have promised a hot combo and colorful decorations for the County Office Building, 1 Lafayette St.

Republicans from all around the county will converge on the supervisors' auditorium for the primary purpose of selecting 140 delegates to the May 13-14 state convention in Grand Rapids.

★ ★ ★

To keep delegates and alternates who attend the county gathering busy, party leaders have asked VanDusen to speak on the national level, Sen. L. Harvey Lodge on the state level, and Prosecutor George F. Taylor on the county level of politics.

But County Chairman Arthur G. Elliott Jr., of Pleasant Ridge, said no endorsements of candidates will be made at the convention prior to the August primary. Lodge, for instance, is opposed for re-nomination.

Nixon is different. He's apparently a shoo-in for the presidential nomination.

Lodge will talk on the 1960 legislative session and Taylor on the activities of his fellow county incumbent officeholders, all Republicans.

★ ★ ★

Meanwhile, behind the stage a resolutions committee will be hard at work. Besides one backing Nixon, others are expected to be taken on the hot constitutional convention question and the debate between a sales tax hike or state income tax, Elliott figured.

Kidnapers Return Eric to Parents

without the aid of the police" in obtaining the release of Eric.

★ ★ ★

He made no mention of the ransom and answered no questions about it. Some Paris newspapers said it was believed the ransom was paid in gold, but made no mention of the sum. The kidnapers had demanded $100,000.

★ ★ ★

The mystery surrounding the ransom led to speculation the father had promised the kidnapers to keep the details secret, in a nationwide television appeal two nights ago he promised to abide by instructions if he got his son back and also promised he would not press charges if the boy was safely returned.

WAS UNHARMED

The 4-year-old heir to a French automobile empire was found unharmed, crying on a sidewalk within half a mile of his home shortly before 1 a.m. today. He said he had been left there by two men, apparently the same pair who whisked him away from the playground at an exclusive St. Cloud Country Club Tuesday afternoon.

The newspaper France-Soir reported that Eric's father, Roland Peugeot, said he had paid a ransom to the kidnapers Thursday afternoon. The amount was not revealed, but the abductors had demanded $100,000 in francs.

★ ★ ★

Eric and his parents were in their sixth-floor apartment this morning, the drapes drawn and four police on guard outside.

"To get Eric released I scrupulously followed the conditions of the kidnapers," Peugeot was reported to have said. "I had to have confidence in them. They asked me to deliver the ransom to a specific place. I did it. Then there was nothing to do but wait. The last hours by the telephone were the most cruel."

Eric was examined by a doctor and pronounced in good health. Questioned closely, he said: "I didn't know the two men who took me away in a car. They didn't take me far. It was in a ground floor apartment. They had a television set. . . . They didn't hurt me."

★ ★ ★

Then, snuggling up to his father, he added, "I am very happy now."

Mrs. Godsey's husband, James, 30, died Saturday of five rifle wounds in the chest fired in their Clawson home.

She is being held in the county jail.

IN MOTHER'S ROLE — Mrs. Florence Willett, Birmingham's first woman Mayor, adjusts the tie of her youngest son, Gordon, 14. A 44-year-old grandmother, Mrs. Willett and her husband G. Howard, have two other children, Mrs. Ann Miller of Missouri, and Howard, 19, a college student. The Willetts live at 655 Pilgrim St., Birmingham.

Won't Crusade in Birmingham

Woman Mayor Talks Tots

By JIM LONG

Birmingham's new mayor would rather talk about her grandson than city business.

"Isn't he a cutie," said Mrs. Florence Willett, showing several pictures of her 10-month-old grandchild Eric in her home at 655 Pilgrim yesterday.

"My husband and I are leaving tomorrow for Missouri to see my daughter Ann and the baby," she said.

The attractive 44 - year - old grandmother was elected to the city's top executive post Monday by fellow city commissioners, all men, to serve a one-year term.

She is the city's first woman mayor and "the only woman holding a mayor's job in Michigan, I think," said Mrs. Willett.

'NO CRUSADER'

Mayor Willett claims she is no crusader.

"First, I don't think Birmingham needs a crusade with the city running so smoothly.

"In fact I think an all-out crusade by me to push a particular project would hurt the chances of other women interested in government.

"All I want to do is hold the trust of the people.

"Since there is no other woman mayor around I can't make a comparison to see what projects are being pushed along."

The mayor and her husband, G. Howard Willett, have been married 26 years. They have three children, Mrs. H. A. Miller, Howard, 19, a sophomore at the University of Michigan, and Gordon, 14, a student at Barnum Junior High School.

HUSBAND PATIENT

A member of the City Commission since 1955 when she defeated five men for the post, Mrs. Willett said her husband has been "patient and understanding these past five years."

"Howard would like to have me home more often, but he has been conditioned."

Two weeks ago voters put Mrs. Willett back in office for a three-year term. She led the ballot in total votes.

It was the third term she has won. In 1955 she was elected to a two-year term, followed by two 3-year terms.

"It's not too difficult now to get away, though, since the children have grown up, and experience has made it easier for me. I'm never away from home more than two nights a week."

Born in Springfield, Mass., Mrs. Willett said she moved to Huntington Woods when she was four years old.

"This area was nothing but a cow pasture then," she said.

Her father Raymond A. Jacobs was the village president and first mayor in Huntington Woods in the mid-1920s, she said.

Her youngest son, Gordon, hasn't quite decided his feeling on her appointment to the office.

"Well, I'm not all for it, and I'm not against it," is the way he summed it up.

Willett's feeling on his wife's new honor?

"As the mayor said, I've been conditioned over the past five years," he remarked.

He is the president of two firms, Incinerator Products and Standard Fuel Engineering, both in Detroit.

Potential Pontiac passengers can easily determine when the buses are scheduled to pass their neighborhood bus stops, said Ball.

On all routes, it takes only 10 minutes for the buses to travel from the city limits to downtown or vice versa, he said.

Offer $120,000 Salary Slash

Workers at Waterford Try to Convince Firm to Stay There

Union employes of the Dostal Foundry and Machine Co. in Waterford Township have offered to take an annual salary cut of more than $120,000 and eliminate nine men if the company will stay in the township.

Why the iron castings firm is going to consolidate with a Cleveland company and what profit margin was needed to keep it here were points in a six-hour meeting between union and company officials.

Russell Dostal, president of the 2500 Williams Dr. firm, said he would present the offer to the board of directors and stockholders at an April 29 meeting.

★ ★ ★

Norbert Ensault, president of union Local 457, AFL, said the offer would mean a 41 cent an hour pay cut for each of the 100 hourly paid employes and 25 clerical workers.

There are 270 stockholders in the plant which has operated in the township 10 years.

Officials say plans have been made for the Dostal company to merge with the Forest City Foundries — a firm that makes a variety of iron castings.

Incumbent Wood Faces Kirby in District 6 Race

In district 6 Monday, a one-term incumbent will be fighting efforts by a political newcomer to oust him.

Seeking a second two-year term on the City Commission is Wesley J. Wood, 53, of 137 Michigan Ave.

The challenger is Dick M. Kirby, 42, of 91 N. Edith St.

Wood, a Pontiac resident 35 years, has worked at GMC Truck & Coach Division 19 years, currently as a service followup man.

Closely associated with church activities, he is a member of United Missionary Church.

Kirby, a Pontiac resident 23 years, is a business representative for the tri-county building and construction trades council (AFL-CIO) in Detroit.

He has served on the Pontiac General Hospital Board of Trustees 1½ years.

Campaigning statements submitted to the Pontiac Press by the two candidates follow:

WESLEY J. WOOD

DICK M. KIRBY

"It has been my objective to follow up all the problems which have been presented to me by you, the folks in my district. I have given personal attention to these complaints. This, I believe, is one of the more important jobs a commissioner has to perform.

★ ★ ★

"I have consistently attended Commission meeting in the last two years. I may not have made a lot of noise, but I was elected to do a job, not put on a show.

"I am for continuation of a municipal construction program on a pay-as-you-go basis.

"Although the city as a whole voted down the much needed sewage disposal system expansion, I will still do all I can to get the additional sewage facilities for our district.

"I also favor continuing Huron street through Richardson Park and development of the park for recreational space. I would like to see additional recreational facilities acquired for our district.

★ ★ ★

"Remember, every public issue is a political issue. The government is your servant to carry out your wishes and local issues are just as important for you as state or national ones—perhaps more important. I would therefore urge everyone to get out and vote.

"Remember also to vote in favor of the two amendments on the ballot. This is a very important issue."

"I am under no obligation to any organized group and will play no favorites. If elected I will adopt an open door policy and welcome suggestions from the entire electorate of District 6.

"I have taken an active part in the Boys Club and Boy Scouts and am a firm believer that the boys and girls of the city of Pontiac should have increased facilities for recreational and character building activities.

"One of my most earnest desires is to carry forward the development of a project started many years ago—the civic auditorium. This would not only provide facilities for cultural and recreational activities for our youth and senior citizens, but for our entire community.

★ ★ ★

"My chief concern at the time is our transportation problem. To me this is humiliating for a city the size of Pontiac. I feel quite certain this problem could have been worked out some time ago had our present City Commission faced up to their responsibility to the people and the businessmen in the city.

★ ★ ★

"If elected to your City Commission, my utmost desire will be to represent the entire electorate of District 6. I will give you a fair unbiased representation on the Commission."

The Day in Birmingham

Minister Sends Ike Plea to Save Caryl Chessman

BIRMINGHAM — President Eisenhower was urged today to declare himself in favor of clemency for California's "Red Light Bandit" Caryl Chessman by the minister of the Birmingham Unitarian Church in Bloomfield Hills.

In a letter to the President, the Rev. Lester Mondale, said an appeal to the California authorities "will give them good reason for finding grounds to save Chessman from death May 2."

Mondale said yesterday that the mental suffering caused Chessman during his 12 years in San Quentin's death row was "cruel and unusual punishment that no dog catcher would think of perpetrating on the most vicious and incorrigible dog."

Chessman, who has escaped eight execution dates, was condemned to die in the gas chamber in 1948 for kidnaping and sexually abusing two Los Angeles women.

In his letter Mondale cited President Woodrow Wilson's 1917 appeal that secured clemency for labor agitator Tom Mooney.

WOULD HURT RESPECT

"To fail to ask for clemency now, after having secured the postponement of the execution to save you from embarrassment, would make ridiculous the free world's much publicized respect for the dignity and worth of the human being."

★ ★ ★

Mondale, who became pastor of the church in October of last year, said he plans to ask the minister of the Western Unitarian Conference at their meeting Tuesday in Stillwater, Minn., to draft a resolution asking the President to make an appeal for clemency.

"Now that the President has had his South American trip, and has been successful in his mission of good will, Chessman can proceed to his date with death," the Rev. Mr. Mondale said.

★ ★ ★

Only a few hours before the scheduled execution, Gov. Edmund G. Brown granted a stay of execution, presumably due to international public indignation at the time, particularly in South America.

In his letter, the Rev. Mondale said, "seven previous stays of execution won by Chessman were a result of his own legal efforts," however, the most recent one, Feb. 18, "was not one of his own making, but of the State Department's."

★ ★ ★

"This was done out of consideration for the message he had received from the State Department, and approved by White House staff secretary Brig. Gen. Andrew J. Goodpastor, to the effect that Chessman's execution would precipitate hostile demonstrations in Uruguay on your forthcoming trip of good will," Mr. Mondale wrote the President.

SAVED EMBARRASSMENT

"The stay did save you and the country you represented from embarrassment.

★ ★ ★

"During the days previous to that stay, Chessman lived through all the agonies of any man on Death Row as the final hours drew to a close.

"Now that your South American trip is over, the California authorities plan to go ahead May 2 with the postponed execution.

★ ★ ★

"So once again—a second time rather than once as it would have been had he not been granted a stay to save you from hostile demonstrations abroad—Chessman is to go through long and drawn out mental torture that are more painful than death itself."

Limit Set on Extension of Civil Service Lists

LANSING (AP) — City Civil Service commissions cannot extend the list of those eligible for police and fire department appointments beyond the two-year limitation provided by law, Atty. Gen. Paul L. Adams has held.

Adams said the limitation holds even though the list has not been exhausted. The opinion was sought by Rep. William Romano (D-Van Dyke) who said an unnamed city had extended its list to three years.

U.S. May Sell Polaris Abroad

Considers Offering It to Atlantic Pact Nations; Britain Asks Supply

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is discussing the possibility of providing Polaris missiles to some Atlantic Pact countries.

The State Department, in disclosing this Thursday, also reported that Britain has expressed interest in obtaining Polaris missiles separately.

Britain has been informed, the department said, that British needs will have to be weighed in relation to Atlantic Pact requirements.

A State Department spokesman stressed that the nuclear warheads of any missiles provided Atlantic Pact countries would remain in American custody in keeping with U.S. laws.

The missiles would be assigned to the Atlantic Pact high command which would decide where to station them. Warheads would be kept in a stockpile under American custody.

Press officer Lincoln White of the State Department stressed at a news conference, however, that discussions on this are in a "very early preliminary stage" within the Atlantic Pact.

Bomarc B Launching Fails for Eighth Time

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The Air Force failed again to launch a Bomarc B interceptor missile over a full-range course. It was the eighth unsuccessful Bomarc B flight in as many tries from this missile test center.

An announcement half an hour after launch reported that "preliminary telemetry data indicates that all test objectives were not met." There was no indication what went wrong.

Rocky to Hit (Political?) Trail

Governor Denies He Seeks Nomination, but Won't Endorse Nixon

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, still being mentioned as a possible Republican presidential nominee, will again carry the famed Rockefeller personality before voters in various parts of the nation.

* * *

He will embark next week on the first of a series of visits that will take him to Pennsylvania, Illinois and North Dakota. Other out-of-state visits will be scheduled soon.

Rockefeller steadfastly insists he is not and will not be a candidate for Republican nomination.

But he does not rule out a Rockefeller draft and he refuses to endorse his party's only candidate, Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

With the national convention a little more than three months off, Rockefeller's continuing refusal to support Nixon is feeding speculation the governor still has hopes of being nominated himself.

* * *

It is against this background that Rockefeller will resume the out-of-state tours he ended last December, when he withdrew formally from the presidential battles.

The forthcoming Rockefeller trips were not arranged officially to promote the governor's political fortunes.

Typically, Rockefeller will visit north-central Pennsylvania next Wednesday to campaign for a friend now running for Congress and meet with Republican leaders in the area. Two days later, he will speak at a meeting of a world affairs council in Philadelphia.

Heir to Throne of Belgium Born in Brussels

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — A salvo of 101 rounds told the Belgians today that a new prince is now second in line for the throne.

Italian-born Princess Paola, wife of Prince Albert of Liege, gave birth to a blue-eyed, blond son this morning at Belvedere Palace, their home on the outskirts of Brussels. The baby weighed 7 pounds 8 ounces.

* * *

An announcement said the 22-year-old Princess and her baby were doing well. He will be christened in the Roman Catholic faith.

* * *

The prince, who will be named Philippe Leopold Louis Marie, ranks in the line of succession after his father. Albert is a brother of 29-year-old King Baudouin, who is a bachelor. The baby will be known as Prince Philippe.

Princess Paola, a beautiful blonde, and Prince Albert were married last July 2.

Plane Fund Drive Headed by Haskill

Clyle R. Haskill, owner of a Pontiac photographic studio, was elected chairman Thursday of a committee seeking to raise funds for a local "people to people" project.

* * *

Other officers of the Spirit of Pontiac Committee are Gelston V. Poole, vice chairman, and Les Ware, secretary - treasurer.

The interdenominational group has been formed to raise some $30,000 for an airplane which will be given to a "sister city" in the Philippines this summer for missionary work.

Thursday's meeting was at the Haskill Studio, 1 Mt. Clemens St.

"LOVE THAT BUNNY" — Two-year-old Bridget Brunner can't seem to let go of the big Easter Bunny her aunt and uncle, the Robert H. Millers of Driftwood Dr., Milford, set up for the youngster. Bridget, like thousands of other boys and girls, can hardly wait for Easter morning to arrive to search for goodies that have been hidden by the legendary Bunny. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brunner of Jackson who visit the Miller home in Lake Sherwood.

House Group Looks Ahead

Prepares Ike's Pension

WASHINGTON (AP)—When President Eisenhower leaves office next January, the House Appropriations Committee wants to be sure his pension money is ready.

★ ★ ★

It recommended in a catch-all money bill Thursday an appropriation of $250,000 for pensions and office facilities allowed for three former presidents and two widows of former presidents under a law enacted several years ago.

★ ★ ★

Currently only two living ex-presidents are eligible for the $25,000 annual pension and $50,000 annual office allowance, while widows of two former presidents are eligible for $10,000 yearly pensions.

★ ★ ★

The former presidents are Herbert Hoover and Harry S. Truman. The widows are Mrs. Woodrow Wilson and Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt.

Fluoride Toothpaste Value Still in Doubt

CHICAGO (UPI) — There is no conclusive proof that fluoride toothpastes prevent tooth decay, a dental researcher said Thursday.

Dr. Francis A. Arnold Jr. of the National Institute of Dental Research, Bethesda, Md., said that at present one can only speculate regarding the value of fluoride dentifrices in controlling decay.

"The results of clinical trials made so far are as controversial as are those obtained by the use of other dentifrices," Arnold wrote in the current issue of Archives of Industrial Health, published by the American Medical Assn.

In 1958, horse racing produced $222,049,651 in revenue for all the states in the U.S.

Gangster to Stay Put for 6 More Months

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Detroit underworld leader Pete Licavoli was sentenced Thursday to serve another six months in prison.

The graying, 57-year-old gangster had been due to get out of the Atlanta Penitentiary next September. He is serving a 2½ year term for income tax evasion.

But Federal Judge Alexander Holtzoff slapped on an additional six months for contempt of Congress. Licavoli had been found guilty of wilfully refusing to show up before the Senate Labor Rackets Committee after it subpoened him to testify in July 1958.

The committee was investigating alleged Teamster and hoodlum attempts to muscle in on the Detroit coverall and laundry business.

Licavoli was named as one of three gangsters who would apply the pressure to get business for a new firm.

The walled terrances on Inca farms represented an investment of about $18,000 an acre in estimated terms of modern labor costs.

Carole Lips 'I Love You' to Dr. Finch

LOS ANGELES (AP) — When slim and chic Carole Tregoff met her doctor lover for the first time since their 11-week murder trial she cried and her lips silently formed the words, "I love you."

The court meeting Thursday between red-haired Carole and Dr. R. Bernard Finch was to clear up minor details prior to their retrial May 23. They are accused of the ambush slaying of Finch's estranged wife, Barbara, to prevent her from getting a large part of the doctor's fortune via a divorce settlement.

Miss Tregoff, 13 pounds slimmer than when she stood trial, didn't speak to the doctor. However, he whispered a few words to her before he was led back to jail.

Her attorney explained that Carole cried because "she is free and the doctor still has to stay in jail."

She was freed on $25,000 bail after the trial that ended with a deadlocked jury.

Easter Renews World Hopes

By The REV. ARVID E. ANDERSON

(Editor's Note: In keeping with our policy of publishing guest editorials from time to time, this year's Easter message has been written by the Rev. Arvid E. Anderson, Pastor of Christ Lutheran Church, Waterford.)

The frightening possibility of self-destruction through modern warfare makes 20th century man shudder at the thought of living on the "brink of war." Man has had his self-confidence shaken. He looks for a hope that will overcome his fear.

There was a point in history when man was placed on the brink of hope and peace. The event that brought man to this new hope was a victory that came without sword or bomb. It was the triumph of the Prince of Peace, who was Jesus, resident of Nazareth and frequent visitor to Jerusalem centuries ago.

★ ★ ★

His victory demanded giving up his life — a sacrifice he was determined to make for the world. It brought him to a nasty death on a cross with nails puncturing his hands and feet. But even this could not spell defeat to One who was born to bring hope.

★ ★ ★

The men and women who visited His tomb on the first Sunday morning after His death were startled by the news of victory. Death was not there — only Life! Evil had not conquered — God had! Jesus Christ was God's answer of hope to man's problem of fear, hate, war and death.

★ ★ ★

On that first Easter morning this victory was the best news of hope and peace man had ever known. If the life and teachings of this Victor could become the daily practice of people everywhere, man would have a new opportunity.

★ ★ ★

This hope has never become reality in the world, and time and time again the ways of war and evil rally for attack. Never has man been faced with a more fearful possibility for self-destruction than in our mid-twentieth century.

Our hope today is the one given of old—the life, death, and resurrection of CHRIST, the Victor. On Easter Day 1960 this CHRIST challenges a frightened mankind to follow His way of peace. The power of His resurrection can once again put us on the brink of Hope.

Sidney Lenz Was an Expert in Bridge

SIDNEY LENZ is dead.

This won't mean much to the modern bridge players, but it strikes a nostalgic note for the "old timers." Mr. LENZ was one of them. He stands as one of the early great players and no one exerted more influence during the formative period of contract bridge as distinguished from straight bridge.

★ ★ ★

Sidney Lenz was very articulate. He spoke and wrote graphically and commanded a wide audience. Perhaps he isn't much of a memory to the modern boys and girls, but they can thank Lenz for many of the current practices and procedures.

Will Britons Revive Old Art of Walking?

Britishers are stomping across the U.S., and they couldn't set a better example.

★ ★ ★

We don't know whether the two army sergeants will break the coast-to-coast record of 79 days, but anything that publicizes the ancient and disappearing art of just plain walking is good.

★ ★ ★

Perhaps Dr. BARBARA MOORE, another Briton, will not be far behind in this pedal-extremity marathon. We won't know what touched off this sudden urge to span continents one step at a time, but walking is one of the most health-aiding exercises there is, and it has been on the decline for years.

★ ★ ★

Perhaps we should reciprocate, and send over a team to stride the length of England—sort of put our collective foot down on the whole thing.

A Pontiac Man Facetiously Launches Campaign for Job

Honest politician: One who who stays bought.

Granted a copyright on the expression,

Pontiac has a facetious candidate for that job. He is

He wants to be the Whig nominee, the word being the initial letters of "When Hope Is Gone," "Where Hope Is Gratified," and "We Have Improved Graft." If elected, Bob promises to abolish all taxes, and make U.S. senators pay for their haircuts.

David Lawrence Says:

Pro-Rockefeller? or Anti-Nixon!

WASHINGTON — Many people, among them some editorial writers, who haven't the slightest interest in the success of the Republican Party are nevertheless trying to tell that party it should turn down Vice President Nixon for the presidential nomination this year.

The wish is father to the thought, and the attempt right now is to use the name of Gov. Rockefeller—without his consent—to try to prevent the nomination of Richard Nixon.

LAWRENCE

The New York governor has said explicitly that he does not intend to become a candidate for either the presidency or the vice presidency. But the folks who don't like Nixon keep up the rhubarb as a means of discrediting the vice president.

Thus, every now and then, a movement to "draft" Gov. Rockefeller is squelched and then bobs up again. The other day one of these abortive attempts was wisely repudiated by Mr. Rockefeller himself. He saw it as an effort to involve him in a "stop Nixon" drive.

★ ★ ★

Why do these meddlers in Republican politics want to "stop Nixon?" They themselves wouldn't vote the Republican ticket anyway; as they are mostly "leftwingers" or so-called "liberals" or persons who still resent Mr. Nixon's part in catching Alger Hiss and other Communist stooges.

No candidate of the Republican Party this year—who, to win, has to rely on the support of a largely conservative strength—would throw such support away in a misguided effort to lure the imaginary strength of so-called "independents" or "liberals."

The Republican Party has enough potential votes on the conservative side to elect a president this year.

If, however, the so-called "liberal" or "leftist" group succeeds in influencing the selection for the Republican nomination of someone who is going to enter the campaign suspected of being at heart a radical or a "spender," many conservatives will be tempted to stay at home and let a full-fledged Democrat have the responsibility of steering the government as between liberal, radical and conservative practices.

RECENT RALLY

One of the reasons the Republicans have had a hard time getting their voters to the polls in recent years is that some conservatives have been alienated by the Eisenhower administration on particular issues.

In the last two years, however, many of these conservatives have rallied behind the President because of his policies at home, which have helped to stabilize the economy of the country, and his policies abroad, which have helped to keep us out of a nuclear war.

As for Gov. Rockefeller, he has played his cards well to date. He has an attractive personality and is rapidly getting worthwhile experience by his service in Albany. It will stand him in good stead in the future.

He would immeasurably aid the national ticket if the convention drafted him for the vice-presidential nomination, but only if the vast majority of the Republican voters were disabused of any idea that he is just another "left-wing liberal."

Gov. Rockefeller is the kind of man who, if he someday becomes president, would make a fine chief executive.

He is young yet, and if he accepts the vice-presidential nomination now and does all he can to try to elect the ticket in November 1960, he will be the logical choice of his party in 1964 should Mr. Nixon be defeated this time.

Mr. Rockefeller would then, of course, remain in office as governor of New York, as did Gov. Dewey after his national contest.

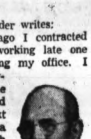
Dr. William Brady Says:

Plenty of Calcium Helps to Ward Off Lumbago

An Albany reader writes:

"Three years ago I contracted lumbago after working late one evening decorating my office. I did the ceiling myself, to speed the job. I developed a chill and next morning had a backache which never left me for two years.



DR. BRADY

"About a year ago I read in your column of your belief that such pains could possibly be caused by . . ."

(Please note that the man made his own diagnosis and chose his own remedy — he is simply telling me about it.)

". . . calcium shortage through the years. In reviewing my own diet for the past 10 years I realized that I had been getting very little calcium, as I never drank any milk to speak of.

"So I began taking 12 calcium capsules every day religiously. On only a few days during the year did I miss taking them. Occasionally when my supply ran low I took only nine a day for a few days.

"The result is that today I have absolutely no pain whatever, and I can get up in the morning without that nagging backache which used to be quite severe. There was a great deal of fatigue with it, which has also left. I have had no medicine at all and no medical treatment for lumbago.

"I am very grateful to you. I thought I was going to have lumbago for the rest of my life and I was very discouraged.

(Signed).....

Forty seems a decade or two too young for lumbago, but perhaps the correspondent, drinking little or no milk, is 10 or 20 years older anatomically and physiologically than he is chronologically.

Milk or skim milk or buttermilk or Bulgarian sour milk or Acidophilus milk or Yoghurt or cheese is the best food source of calcium. Every growing child or youth needs a quart of milk and/or the equivalent in other high calcium foods, such as cheese, whatever kind one likes, peas, beans, green leafy vegetables, turnips, beets, carrots, nuts and peanuts.

Calcium deficiency in persons of mature age is often responsible for pain in the lower back and for fracture of vertebrae in the lower portion of the spine from perhaps such slight injury, that the presence of fracture is scarcely suspected, and discovered only by x-ray examination of the lower spine.

The everyday diet of most Americans is poor in calcium.

It is well to remember that in any case the use of calcium to supplement the diet calls for the use of vitamin D at the same time, for vitamin D is essential for good utilizaton of calcium in the body.

Signed letters not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

The Almanac

By United Press International

Today is Friday, April 15, the 106th day of the year, with 260 more to follow in 1960.

The moon is approaching its last quarter.

The morning stars are Mercury, Mars, Jupiter and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1843, American and British novelist Henry James was born.

In 1861, President Lincoln sent Congress a message recognizing a state of Civil War and asked for 75,000 volunteers to join the Union forces.

In 1865, Abraham Lincoln, 16th President of the United States, died from an assassin's bullet.

In 1895, the play Trilby was staged in New York, leaving in its wake a maze of trilby hats, coats, waltzes, chocolates and children's names.

In 1912, after striking an iceberg shortly before midnight during the previous evening the luxury liner Titanic sank. Of 2,223 aboard, 1,517 were lost.

A thought for today: President Abraham Lincoln said: "Important principles may and must be inflexible."

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

So is he who lays up treasure for himself, and is not rich toward God.—Luke 12:21.

★ ★ ★

But Christian faith knows that wealth means responsibility, and that responsibility may come to mean only heavy arrears of sin.—H. P. Liddon.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Protect Your Most Essential Organ

The most essential organ in the body is the heart. Give it frequent vacations. Learn how to relax. Don't listen to frenzied radio broadcasts and thus keep yourself constantly agitated. Notice how my heart worked harder under emotional excitement than in strenuous physical exercise.

By GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE E—435: Joanna R., aged 19, is a college sophomore who wishes to be a physician.

★ ★ ★

"Dr. Crane, you have often mentioned that possibly half of medical practice is psychological.

"Can you give us some examples of how the body and mind interact?"

MIND VS. BODY

Recently, I was listening to a radio broadcast of a prize fight.

My feet were propped up on a hassock and I sat in an easy chair. In that position, when under no mental or emotional strain, my pulse rate is usually 68 beats per minute.

But I felt ex- DR. CRANE cited as the prize fight progressed, so out of curiosity I took my pulse. It was 120.

★ ★ ★

During the early summer I played some tennis. Being somewhat overweight and out of practice, I was puffing after 30 minutes of running around the tennis court.

So I took my pulse and found that it was 90. Notice the contrast between the strain upon my heart from emotional stimulation in contrast to that of hard physical activity.

DON'T DIE EARLY

While I was sitting in front of the radio, my heart raced at a speed of 120 beats. But strenuous physical exercise brought it up only to 90.

The blood pressure usually rises, too, when the pulse rate climbs, so my heart was not only beating faster but also against a greater resistance.

This example shows why business and professional men burn themselves out, so to speak, at an earlier age than the average longevity for Americans.

★ ★ ★

In "fronting" before the public and engaging in the keen competition of modern life, these men "race their motors" and thus wear out their hearts. So they begin dying of heart attacks in the early forties.

They don't exercise physically as much as manual workers but they prod their hearts in a possible ratio of 120:90 because of their greater emotional and mental strain.

Besides, their worries carry over into the evenings, for much of their social life involves business contacts.

A laborer stops with the quitting whistle but an employer or businessman carries his worries and professional work into his evenings.

★ ★ ★

There is zest in competition and most business or professional men enjoy the battle, but they should learn how to avoid some of this extra strain on the heart.

HEART VACATIONS

No vacation is completely effective, unless your heart is relieved of some of its strain!

But a shift from business duties or office worries, to simple physical work, will often lower your blood pressure and slow down your pulse.

Many high pressure business leaders, with blood pressures of 200, will go to Florida or California and soon find that their blood pressure falls to 170.

★ ★ ★

The essential thing in a vacation is to break your mental and emotional tension.

Getting away from your office or business, will help you forget the many stimuli which habitually prod your heart into its faster speed.

Fear is also one of the greatest cause of strain on the heart. If you carry adequate insurance to protect yourself in old age and if you have an abiding faith in God, you can relax and thus take a great load off your heart.

Clergymen, therefore, can often do more good for your hearts than we physicians. Few heart attacks ever occur in a church.

And don't work on the Sabbath! That's how I break my weekly tension. Regardless of my heavy schedule, I quit work on Sunday.

That relaxation may be a chief reason why God wanted us to cease our labors one day per week.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Wants 37½ From Uncle Sam

State Asking Millions for Lake, River Work

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Michigan group Wednesday asked a Senate appropriations subcommittee for nearly 37½ million dollars for water projects in that state.

Keith E. Wilson, director of the Michigan Waterways Commission, said President Eisenhower has budgeted about 32 million.

* * *

Wilson supported the budget recommendations for $732,000 for completion of work on Grand Marais Harbor, $30,000,000 for Great Lakes connecting channels, and $1,350,000 for the Poe Lock.

Other projects for which the commission asked appropriations were:

Au Sable Harbor, $40,000; Charlevoix Harbor, $260,000; Frankfort Harbor, $380,000; Grand Haven Harbor, $500,000; Grand Marais Harbor, (deferred maintenance), $300,000; Hammond Bay Harbor-of-Refuge, $450,000; Harbor Beach Harbor, $280,000; Holland Harbor, $230,000; Little Lake Harbor-of-Refuge, $450,000; Ludington Harbor, $280,000; Manistee Bridge, $75,000; Manistee Harbor, $250,000; and Muskegon Harbor, $235,000.

Also Port Sanilac Harbor, $50,000; St. Joseph Harbor, $600,000; St. Joseph River, $125,000; South Haven Harbor, $240,000; and Trenton Channel, $90,000.

* * *

The group called for funds for these studies:

Cedar River, $10,000; Cross Village, $15,000; Gladstone Harbor, $15,000; South Shore, Lake Huron, $15,100; Traverse City Harbor, $9,600; and Tittabawassee River, $26,300.

Wilson said his agency wants Congress to provide $3,000,000 annually for three years and $1,500,000 annually thereafter for maintenance of water projects in Michigan.

Two of the projects for which funds were asked have not been authorized by Congress. These are Trenton Channel and Manistee Harbor. Chairman Allen Ellender (D-La) suggested the Michigan backers should get these projects authorized before asking appropriations.

* * *

Robert Wilson, representing the Manistee County Board of Commerce, testified as to the need of harbor improvements and elimination of a bend in the Manistee Harbor.

C. T. Murphy, Detroit, vice president of McLouth Steel Corp., said a deepened channel is greatly needed. His company, he said, would like to expand but couldn't until larger ships can traverse the Trenton Channel.

The Michigan witnesses made the same requests during the after noon to a House appropriations subcommittee.

Medic Says Inspection Often Tops Probe of Humans' Medicine

WASHINGTON (AP)—A doctor testified today the government inspects some dog and cat foods more closely than it inspects medicines prescribed for ailing humanity.

Dr. Solomon Garb, of the teaching staff of Albany (N.Y.) Medical College, called the situation incongruous but true. He suggested that Congress provide for continuing government inspection of drugs rather than periodic checks of their purity and potency.

His testimony was prepared for the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee's drug hearings.

* * *

This is the last day of scheduled hearings in the current phase of the subcommittee's long investigation of alleged profiteering, monopoly practices and other abuses in the prescription drug manufacturing industry.

Dr. Garb said some brands of cat and dog food are produced "under continuous government inspection" by government inspectors stationed in the plants.

"By contrast," he said, "a physician cannot today prescribe U.S. government inspected drugs for a sick patient because there is no program of continuous government inspection of medication." He said the "U.S.P." (United States Pharmacopaeia label on medicines attesting to purity and potency "does not mean inspection or certification."

HEIRESS GAMBLE, HUSBAND ANDRE — Andre Porumbeanu escorts his bride to a beauty shop during their honeymoon trip in New Orleans Thursday. They arrived in a limousine hired for a tour of the French Quarter. Porumbeanu, 35, eloped with Miss Benedict, 19, in North Carolina last week despite objections of her family. Man Reuses Liquid Body Wastes

Space Survival Ability Test Ends

By FRANK CAREY

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—A seven-day test of life-sustaining space equipment ended today with the man who had re-used the water from his own exhaled breath and liquid body waste.

★ ★ ★

The test, aimed at developing techniques to enable men to live during space travel, took place at the Aero-Space Laboratory of the Air Force's Wright Air Development Division.

The "guinea pig" for the test was Courtney A. Metzger, 40-year-old laboratory engineer of Springfield, Ohio, who entered a nine-foot capsule on April 7 and remained inside until today.

Within the capsule, seven different devices had been engineered to operate in the weightless, airless environment of orbital flight. The equipment was sealed inside an air-tight, but not pressurized, capsule resembling the nose cone of an Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile.

Test during the period were a closed respiratory system and odor removal system, a waste-disposal system, a food-warming unit and storage system, food tubes and cleaning equipment.

According to Brig. Gen. Don Flickinger "the system is believed to be the first complete one of its type ever to be tested."

During the seven-day test, flight surgeons and engineers observed Metzger through a 20- by 31-inch window. Three technicians, upon whom had rested the decision to stop or continue the test, worked eight-hour shifts around the clock. In the meantime, Metzger relaxed by watching television through the window of the capsule or by reading.

His menu during the test consisted of "squeeze tubes" of liquids; semi-solids; solids in diced portions; some bite-size solids, and an assortment of dehydrated, frozen, and table articles kept at room temperature.

ITHACA (AP)— Residents of Ithaca by a margin of 299 to 226 voted in special election to merge Ithaca Township and Ithaca Village for the formation of Ithaca City.

Ithaca Village surrounds the township which is a four-square-mile area with an estimated population of 500 persons. The village has 2,500.

Sidewalk Bosses in New York Get Video Viewing

NEW YORK (AP) — New Yorks "sidewalk superintendents" really have it good now — they can watch high-level construction work on a new building by way of television sets on the ground.

The Western Electric Co. set up the closed-circuit TV system to let spectators keep tabs on the work of Mohawk Indians and others erecting steelwork high aloft on the 31-story building at Broadway and Fulton street.

Was It a Comedy?

FT. SILL, Okla. (AP)—An announcement in the Army newspaper at this artillery and missile center said a movie was to be shown "to all married military personnel." Title of the show was "One Day's Poison."

Hoffa Demands End to Monitors

Teamsters' President in Rage During Steps Toward His Trial

WASHINGTON (AP) — Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa stood up at a hearing and furiously demanded that court-appointed monitors agree to a special Union convention that would end their supervision of Teamsters affairs.

Hoffa raged at newsmen, witnesses and a rival attorney while depositions were being taken Thursday in preparation for an April 27 trial which could lead to his ouster as Teamsters president.

Later, he and other Teamsters officials formally asked the U.S. Court of Appeals to cancel Hoffa's trial on charges he has tried to thwart Union reforms and to misuse Union funds for his own benefit.

The trial is to be held before U.S. District Judge F. Dickinson Letts, who now is on a Caribbean cruise.

In another development, moves by some Teamsters members to remove chief monitor Martin F. O'Donoghue on grounds of conflict of interest were denied by the appeals court.

Hoffa's outburst came while pretrial statements were being taken in a courtroom. No judge was present.

'Give Me an Adequate Collections Staff'

Moore Fires Back at His Critics

Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore, under fire for his supervision of mental hospital collection procedures, shot a few return salvos of his own today at critical county supervisors.

★ ★ ★

"You've continually refused to give me the staff in order to keep a better check on these things," the veteran jurist said. "If I can have the staff to work with, I can run the whole thing."

Caught in the middle of the crossfire was Mrs. Mary W. Shanks, who instituted and has carried out this collection procedure the past five year.

Recently, her methods have stirred the ire of many Oakland County parents who have had to have their children committed to mental institutions.

COUNTY PAYS, COLLECTS

The county pays and collects for the first year of hospitalization.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Shanks, formerly associated with the Pontiac internal revenue office and now county reimbursement director, does the collecting.

County auditors, Judge Moore and some members of the State Mental Health Dept. have received letters highly critical of Mrs. Shanks means of collection. Judge Moore would only say there have been "many" complaints.

Letters accused Mrs. Shanks of using "obnoxious" phrases in trying to carry out her collections.

It also said the county officer, attached to the Board of Auditors, was deciding "what was to be paid, without Judge Moore's knowledge."

This Mrs. Shanks and Judge Moore emphatically denied.

Judge Moore, who is responsible for signing the commitment papers, summarized the problem, as Mrs. Shanks being "overzealous" in trying to determine the parents' ability to pay.

Mrs. Shanks, who was not at today's meeting of the Board of Supervisors' Ways and Means Committee, said afterwards she was willing to comply with any methods devised in order "to get down to a workable program and pattern which we haven't had before."

She declined an opportunity to answer specific charges about her alleged irregular tactics. "This would only complicate the picture," she said.

David Levinson, committee chairman, was critical of Judge Moore's supervision of the program. "You've got a person (Mrs. Shanks) with a lot of zip and who has just taken over. She's written her own rules," Levinson said.

★ ★ ★

Judge Moore, visibly upset, suggested a method separating investigation of ability to pay and collections by different departments.

When Levinson said welfare officials would oppose such a new obligation, Judge Moore said:

"That's just what's involved here. Nobody wants to do their part but they want me to take all the responsibility for the animosity that grows out of this program, and I don't have the time."

Levinson's committee, which called the unscheduled meeting to discuss the subject, decided that auditors should work with Judge Moore to devise a more definite and written set of collection rules, according to state law.

They'll discuss their suggestions next Friday with Henry C. Schroeder, deputy commissioner for the Michigan Department of Revenue. This department pays the bills after the county's first year obligation. Authority to collect now rests with this department.

J. M. Ginn Appointed Public Administrator

Appointment of James M. Ginn, 31-year-old Farmington attorney, as one of Oakland County's two public administrators was announced today by Atty. Gen. Paul L. Adams.

Ginn, of Franklin, was nominated for the vacant post at a March meeting of Oakland County Democratic delegates in Ferndale.

★ ★ ★

He replaces Jack Moskowitz, Hazel Park city attorney named by Gov. Williams in January to the Michigan Employment Security Commission Appeals Board.

A public administrator — Oakland's other is Pontiac attorney L. C. Burch — administers estates of persons who die leaving no known heirs or who have been missing at least seven years.

Sells TV Sets, of All Things

Teddy Nadler Has a Job

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Teddy Nadler, $264,000 quiz-whiz who failed an examination March 17 for a $13-a-day job as a census taker, has a job today selling television sets — at $15 a day plus commissions.

"I've been there since Wednesday," Nadler said, "and I haven't sold anything yet. I'm just learning."

Leonard Lewis, distributor for the television company, said Nadler was getting his salary because of his name.

"Most of our salesmen work on a straight commission basis," Lewis said.

'GOOD PUBLICITY'

"But let's face it, Nadler is good publicity and worth the salary. Besides, he could make as much as $200 or $300 a month more selling the sets."

Nadler has been jobless since 1958 when the $64,000 "Challenge" quiz program folded after the quiz show scandals.

He was not involved in charges of rigging and attributed his winnings to his "fabulous mind."

He flunked the census test because he could not comprehend "map reading problems."

"He apparently got mixed up on east and west," one census official said.

Earlier this week Nadler was quoted as saying most of his quiz money had gone for taxes and he had no future plans. Today he was all smiles over the new job.

REMEMBERS 'ANYTHING'

"I can remember anything," he said. "I'll be able to remember customers, accounts and all there is to know. The job should be fine.

★ ★ ★

"Wouldn't you know it? As soon as I took this job I got five or six more good offers. But I'm sticking by this one."

Court Gives Surety Firm Clean Slate

LANSING (AP) — State Insurance Commissioner Frank Blackford, saying he was "shocked and stunned," today planned a State Supreme Court appeal of a decision saving the Michigan Surety Co. from receivership.

This foreshadowed further legal wrangilngs in the bitterly contested Ingham County Circuit Court fight over control of the Lansing insurance firm.

Judge Louis E. Coash yesterday rejected Blackford's appeal for receivership. Coash held the firm solvent and ordered its assets returned to control of the directors.

Leland Door Firm to Be Sold for Debt

SUTTONS BAY (AP)—Leland Door Co. properties will be offered at public sale this month to pay creditors of the firm which has been closed nearly two months with its owners accused of fraud.

A suit filed in Leelanau County Ciruit Court at Leland by Manufacturers National Baank of Detroit seeks to reclaim $400,000 in loans made to Mr. and Mrs. Victor Purcell of Greilickville who head the firm.

The suit disclosed charges that the couple "fraudulently incurred the said obligations by means of false statements and records."

Sheriff Robert H. White was directed by court order to seize and attach property of the respondent pair and their firm, including a $45,000 airplane, $30,000 in Greilickville real estate and a $1,750 auto.

Leland Door Co. was the county's largest industry with 58 employes. Some Leelanau County businesses and the village of Suttons Bay are listed among creditors of the firm which closed in mid-February.

Grad Demand, Salary Offers Up at U. of M.

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Salaries, jobs and the demand for June college graduates in business and industry have passed last year's marks, University of Michigan placement offices report.

Evart Arids, director of appointments and occupational information, said nearly a thousand business and industrial firms have interviewed propective graduates so far.

Insurance companies have made the heaviest demand, with manufacturing industries offering managerial and administrative positions following next in line, he said.

The bureau's business division reported that the demand for specialisits in general business is not very large because companies are looking for broadly educated individuals who have potential for administrative or executive posts.

★ ★ ★

The engineering department reports a "very good demand, and higher than last year." Salaries have gone up about five per cent in this field, it noted.

Jimmie Rodgers' Wife Gives Birth to Girl

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Ballad singer Jimmie Rodgers' wife has given birth to a 7 pound 4 ounce daughter, their first child.

The baby, born Thursday, will be named Michelle Colleen. Rodgers is in Vancouver, B.C., for a nightclub engagement.

Meg's Rites Will Suffer Royal Snub

LONDON (AP) — The British royal family's haughty attitude toward the nuptials of other royalty in the past was blamed today for what amounts to a boycott of Princess Margaret's wedding by Europe's few remaining crowned heads.

★ ★ ★

The "so sorry" turndowns pleading previous engagements have brought embarrassment to Buckingham Palace.

Only Queen Ingrid of Denmark is known to have sent word that she is coming to Margaret's wedding May 6 to former society photographer Antony Armstrong-Jones.

Other royal houses have denied they are staying away because the princess is marrying a commoner —not uncommon among European royalty. The standard excuse is another engagement.

★ ★ ★

Foreign diplomats and others who keep a close watch on royal goings-on say a more likely reason is Queen Elizabeth's sometimes somewhat offhand treatment of her royal "cousins."

Status Uncertain for GOP Publicist

LANSING (AP)—The role of Frank Morris, salaried publicist, in Republican Party affairs may be threshed out at the GOP State Central Committee meeting April 23.

This was confirmed last night by Lawrence B. Lindemer, GOP state chairman, who said, however, that the matter was not now a settled item on the agenda.

Lindemer said he and some members of the Republican Senate Campaign Committee had talked of allocating a portion of the party's $100,000 legislative campaign budget to pay Morris' salary.

Morris, a long time Capitol newsman for a Detroit paper, was hired nearly a year ago for $15,000 a year as a publicist for the Republican Senate majority.

He was employed by an anonymous committee that reportedly includes John W. Cummiskey, Grand Rapids attorney.

The committee has no connection with the GOP State Central Committee, and at times Morris' endeavors have been at cross-purposes with state headquarters policy.

Some senators consistently avail themselves of his services. A few have rigidly refrained from doing so.

NO MARRIAGE FOR HER — Judging from her mail, there are a lot of fellows around the country who are in love with Jo Ann Castle, who plays a honky-tonk piano on the Lawrence Welk show. But if any of them hope to marry her they can save their postage. She wants to travel, and says, "I can't imagine myself settling down for at least five years."

Key Figure in Army Row With McCarthy to Retire

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army Thursday announced the impending retirement of Maj. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker, a key figure in the Army's great clash with the late Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis.)

★ ★ ★

Zwicker, 67, will retire at the end of the month from command of the 20th Army Corps with headquarters at Ft. Hayes, Ohio.

He will be succeeded in that command by Maj. Gen. Charles E. Beauchamp, now commander of the 1st Cavalry Division in Korea.

The Army-McCarthy controversy was in 1953.

KILMER COMMANDER

Zwicker, then a recently-promoted brigadier general, was commander at Camp Kilmer, N.J.

McCarthy, as head of a Senate investigating committee, was hunting Communists in the government and elsewhere. He accused the Army of "coddling" communists.

McCarthy's specific clash with Zwicker centered around the promotion and eventual honorable discharge of Maj. Irving Peress, a dentist who served at Camp Kilmer.

★ ★ ★

Peress refused at an appearance before McCarthy's committee to answer questions about communism. McCarthy called him a "fifth amendment communist."

Zwicker, a much-decorated combat officer during World War II, was called as a witness in relation to the Peress case.

In a heated outburst, McCarthy said Zwicker was "unfit to wear the uniform."

'INTEMPERATE ABUSE'

One count on which a Senate committee later recommended censure of McCarthy was that he had engaged in "intemperate abuse" of Zwicker.

This count was dropped before the Senate's final action in 1954 on a proposed censure resolution.

In the end, the Senate voted 67-22 to condemn McCarthy's conduct in relation to other senators and a Senate committee which investigated his financial affairs.

★ ★ ★

The Army said Peress had been drafted as a dentist, automatically promoted under a provision of law, and that Zwicker had little to do with the case except to sign some routine papers.

Evidencing its regard for Zwicker, the Army later promoted him to major general and gave him command first of the 24th Division and subsequently of the 1st Cavalry Division in Korea.

Zwicker took command of the reserve corps area in Ohio in 1958.

Case Opposed by Bob Morris

But Senator Is Favorite for New Jersey's Vote Next Tuesday

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — U.S. Sen. Clifford P. Case, a Republican liberal, is rated a favorite to fend off a growing conservative challenge to his renomination in the feature contest of New Jersey's primary election next Tuesday.

* * *

Case, finishing his first term in office, faces Robert Morris, one-time counsel to the U.S. Senate's Internal Security subcommittee, in the primary contest for the GOP Senate nomination.

* * *

Case started with a big lead in the campaign, but Republican party leaders say Morris has made up much ground. A minority contends Morris will pull off the biggest upset of the year so far and defeat Case.

Also involved in the election is voting for delegates to the two national conventions.

There will be no presidential preference voting and the convention delegate election results will indicate little. The Republicans plan to vote for Vice President Richard M. Nixon and the Democrats plan to cast a first-ballot, favorite son vote for the state's governor, Robert B. Meyner.

200 Negro Students Meet to Plan Action

By The Associated Press

More than 200 Negro college students from eight Southern states are expected in Raleigh, N.C., today to plan further action in the lunch counter sit-down demonstrations.

The students may recommend that Negroes begin a campaign of selective buying from approved merchants throughout the South.

* * *

The Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., Atlanta pastor who led the successful Negro bus boycott in Montgomery, Ala., several years ago, will address the Easter weekend conference Saturday night.

The meeting was called amid growing tension in the South. Sit-downs against segregated lunch counters spread to another Tennessee city Thursday, and advisory committees at Raleigh and Savannah, Ga., reported they were unable to agree on any solution to the protests.

Northern's Magazine Sale Nears Deadline

By JEAN ISBELL

The annual magazine campaign draws to a close Wednesday at Pontiac Northern High School.

Students will, no doubt, spend much of their time selling magazine subscriptions during the 6-day Easter vacation which began yesterday.

Final tabulations of sales will be made next Wednesday and the bevy of prizes will be awarded to high-selling students.

Among the prizes being offered are luggage, a stereophonic record player, jewelry case, tennis racquets and stuffed animals.

The highest-selling homeroom will attend a Tiger baseball game on school time and the second-high homeroom will be treated to a theater party.

TIGER GAME PRIZE

Individuals who have sold $100 worth of magazine subscriptions will also attend the Tiger baseball game.

Free ice cream from the cafeteria is being given to $10 salesmen on demand during each day of the magazine drive.

★ ★ ★

Northern hopes to reach a goal of $5,000 for the total magazine sales. Individual student quotas have been set at $5 and students who achieve their quota are eligible for the prizes drawn from the treasure chest.

Each day the high salesman receives three dollars. The second and third-high salesman receive $2 and $1 respectively.

To date, the highest selling homeroom is Sue Anderson's A-13, with Wallace Schloerke's homeroom B-1 in second place. Tom Stevenson A-13 is the highest-selling student.

The Pontiac Northern band recently played host to the Central Michigan University Wind Ensemble conducted by Norman Dietz. Students from Northern's band acted as ushers and distributed programs.

This year the band played at football games, pep assemblies, and two basketball games, including the Pontiac Coaches-Detroit Lions game.

GROUP ENSEMBLES

Under the direction of Eldon Rosegart, group ensembles are currently being formed. Each section of the band is required to meet outside of school at least once a week to increase skill in duets, trios and quartets.

Eagerly practicing for the spring concert to be held May 24 are Robert Travis, Audrey Ladd, Gary Lloyd and David Johnson who are members of a saxophone quartet.

★ ★ ★

Comprising a flute quartet are Pam Morris, Jo Ann Voynar, Kathy Murphy and Nancy Norberg.

The Northern band will sponsor a concert by the Michigan State University Band on April 29. Leonard Falcone will direct.

Adapted from the book by Maureen Daly, the play will be presented on May 21 and 22. The four students above won their parts during tryouts this week.

4 Named to Student Council

Walled Lake Fills Posts

By MIKE MILLER

In an exciting climax to a thrilling campaign, students of Walled Lake High voted Tuesday for the officers of next year's Student Council.

Elected were Jamie Harris, president; Jim Menton, vice-president; Carole Chabot, secretary; and Barb Sieckling, treasurer. All are juniors this year.

Students who participated in the election also gained considerable experience in the principles of government. The Commerce Township Board of Supervisors had kindly loaned to the school one voting machine for the day.

An election board, consisting of seniors Kathy Lundquist, Margie Lang, Jim Havel, Mike Miller and Frank Serratoni, helped instruct the voters and run the election smoothly.

Also on Tuesday at Walled Lake was the Michigan High School Forensic Association district contest. Mrs. William Duckwitz, speech instructor for Walled Lake, was general chairman for the event.

Representatives from Walled Lake placed in each of the five different divisions.

Dick Benninger, a sophomore, came through with first place in declamation. Second place winners were Sondra Forsyth, interpretative reading; Dodie Duckwitz, original oratory; and Jim Havel, extempore speaking.

All four qualified to compete in the regional contest to be held at Lansing Sexton within the next few weeks.

Terry Nicholson, a junior, tied for second in humorous reading, but lost on a percentage point basis.

★ ★ ★

Judges for the day were Mrs. Pegge Ann Charipar, Dr. Rupert Cartright and Thomas H. Usler. Other schools participating were Waterford, Southfield, Farmington and Pontiac Northern.

SCHOOL MODEL — Nancy Gray, Walled Lake High School senior, was one of seven models in the fashion show at the school sponsored by the Walled Lake Business and Professional Women's Club. The event was attended by senior girls and their mothers. Hubbell Department Store supplied the fashions.

Vacation Fever Doesn't Upset Avondale Pupils

By KAREN VOGEL

The word "vacation" didn't seem to affect activities planned for this three-day school week at Avondale High School. Monday afternoon, the lights dimmed and the stage was set for the showing of "Seventeen".

This hour-long movie was sponsored by the "Youth For Christ," a national organization of which Avondale's Bible Club became a member recently.

The girls and mothers of the Future Homemakers of America attended a Consumers Power Co. demonstration on kitchen planning recently.

The Future Nurses Club is planning a program especially for eigth-grade girls interested in nursing. Refreshments and a movie on nursing careers is scheduled.

Waterford Orators Score Big

By JOHN TEEUWISSEN

Waterford orators took 3 firsts and 1 second at the district forensic competition at Walled Lake High School on Tuesday.

Competing with the other schools in the Inter-Lake league, Waterford High won 3 out of a possible 10 firsts and seconds.

Charlotte Braden placed first in humorous reading, Barbara Nacovsky was second in declamation, John Teeuwissen won first in extempore speaking and Carol Saul captured first place in original oratory.

The first and second place winners go on to compete in the Regional forensic contests later in the spring.

The Rev. J. Douglas Parker of St. Paul's Methodist Church of Rochester was the guest speaker at the Easter Assembly Wednesday. The program also included two numbers by the a cappella choir.

ORDER RINGS

Sophomores were busy ordering their rings last week. The class of '61 chose a design called "The Crusader."

As the final copy for this year's Waterlog was sent to press, plans were started for the 1961 yearbook. Margie Walker will be editor of the book, assisted by associate editor Joellyn Prout. Work on the next Waterlog will begin in a few weeks.

★ ★ ★

Many Waterford sophomore and junior girls are expected to try out for next year's varsity cheerleading squad. Tryouts are scheduled for April 25.

Virginia Studebaker has been named chairman of the junior-senior event, the annual affair at which the juniors entertain the seniors at junior expense.

FDA Postpones Order Regulating Orange Juice

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Food and Drug Administration (FDA), faced with "a large number of objections," has postponed indefinitely a new order that would set standards for the orange juice industry.

The industry had complained in particular about a section of the order which would have required producers of frozen orange juice concentrates to tell customers, in a note on the label, when their products contained a water extract of orange pulp.

The order, issued March 1, was to have gone into effect June 1. But FDA officials decided that the number of protests warranted a public hearing.

Pontiac Press Photo

HIT THAT GOAL—April 20 is the deadline for the magazine sale drive at Pontiac Northern High School, and many students will use their six-day Easter vacation to campaign for the $5,000 goal. Posting students' efforts on a homeroom chart in the hall, Tom Stevenson chalks up another sale to the list with Janice Buehre. A number of prizes are being awarded to top salesmen.

Pontiac Symphony to Offer Final Concert of Season

Violinist John Dalley to Appear Here Tuesday

By MARJORIE EICHER
Women's Editor
The Pontiac Press

John Dalley, violinist in the Oberlin String Quartet, will appear as soloist Tuesday evening with the Pontiac Symphony in its final concert of the season.

No stranger to Pontiac audiences, he delighted members of Pontiac Tuesday Musicale two years ago with his performance of a technically difficult Tartini Sonata called "The Devil's Trill." Close to impossible to play, it is rarely heard in public performance.

★ ★ ★

The 23-year-old artist has received wide critical acclaim for his recitals in the East and Midwest. His musical family are equally well-known in concertizing as well as in music education. Their dedication to the advancement of community civic orchestras such as our own Pontiac Symphony has gained them nationwide respect.

John was sometimes maddeningly single-purposed about the violin from the time he acquired a quarter-sized instrument at the age of four, according to his mother, cellist Gretchen Dalley.

★ ★ ★

The Oberlin Conservatory considers his record of study outstanding. Prior to the moment as a high school junior when he auditioned for admittance to Curtis Institute in Philadelphia, he studied with famed Ottaker Cadek, one-time first violinist of the New York String Quartet.

His initial instruction (from kindergarten through junior high years) was with David Robertson, now head of the Oberlin Conservatory. "His teachers laid out a long-range plan, providing him the opportunity of rapid and solid development," according to his father, Orien Dalley.

A music educator himself, Orien Dalley is best known locally as administrator of Interlochen's All-State program and conductor of the Michigan Youth Symphony. He is also the brother of Pontiac dentist, S. J. Dalley and lectures at the University of Michigan's School of Music and is music coordinator of its radio station WUOM.

In spite of this rich musical background, a younger sister is a concert cellist, his brother, a respected French horn player, and another sister a flutist there never was a time, according to his father when anyone ever said to John "you're going to be a fiddler."

His Curtis experience was brilliant. Auditioning for entrance before the faculty, he so impressed world-renowned Efrem Zimbalist that the violinist came out of retirement to take John as a pupil. The influence of the Zimbalists has been profound and continuous, according to his father.

★ ★ ★

John represents a new American breed of artists, observers believe. He is the product of the public schools. His teachers were educators as well as musicians.

★ ★ ★

He is an educator himself, as well as a concertizing soloist.

Now on the faculty of Interlochen, he literally grew up on the campus of the celebrated music camp where he was the only student ever to be winner of the Concerto auditions four years.

Of his National Music Camp experience, he says he gained much for his professional life in the camp's sight-reading and seat tryout situations.

"If you can go through that," he grinned, "you can survive anything."

Concertgoers who linger for the reception which follows Tuesday's concert will have an opportunity to meet John and his pretty wife Nancy, flutist and teacher at Oberlin.

Meg Snubs Beauty Rival Grace in Doling Out Wedding Invitations

LONDON (UPI) — Princess Margaret has not invited her chief rival for the title of the prettiest princess in Europe—Princess Grace of Monaco—to her wedding May 6.

A court source said tonight that Prince Rainier was a very distant relative of the British royal family and that it was in accordance with custom not to invite him to what essentially would be a Windsor family affair.

★ ★ ★

But he agreed that Princess Margaret had let slip an opportunity to add some glamour to a wedding which is beginning to need it.

The beautiful former American film star and her handsome husband are the best looking heads of state in Europe.

With most other continental royalty rejecting invitations, the presence of the Monacan couple would have provided street crowds and television viewers with an added attraction.

★ ★ ★

One newspaper, the Evening Standard, returned to the royal defections today and in a Paris dispatch said a check of royal and embassy sources there showed that European royalty felt it frequently had been snubbed by the Windsors.

The British royal family, the dispatch said, had attended only four out of thirteen post-war royal weddings.

There was another surprising development today in a wedding of surprises. The House of Commons decided to sit in its usual session on May 6, convening at 10 a.m., its usual hour, which happens to be the time Princess Margaret will leave Clarence House for Westminster Abbey.

Oddly enough it was the Conservative government of Prime Minister Harold Macmillan which decreed that the House should sit because only 100 of its members would be across the street in the Abbey. The Labor Party wanted to take the day off.

Dear Abby Says: There Are Ways

Set Good Example, Honey

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I know I shouldn't write this letter but; Abby, I have to be honest with myself.

ABBY

What can I do about being ashamed of my parents? Both my father and mother are fat and my mother does not have any idea about how to dress. I am really ashamed to have my friends meet them.

Help me Abby, I have tried to tell them in a nice way, but it is hard for a 16-year-old girl to correct her parents.

ASHAMED OF PARENTS

DEAR ASHAMED: You can surely tell your parents that if they trimmed off the extra poundage they would feel better and live longer.

(If you can get them to a doctor for a "checkup" — HE will tell them.) As for mother's clothes: If she is stylecconscious and receptive to suggestions, go shopping with her and help. If she isn't—don't worry about it. Let her wear what she wants. What your mother has "against her" won't be held against YOU.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: Three weeks ago a fellow I work with asked if I could lend him a five until pay day. I gave it to him and nothing has been said about it since. Do you think he has forgotten?

SOFT TOUCH

DEAR SOFT: Not yet. But give him time and he will.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: You had a letter in your column from a secretary who complained because her boss expected her to dust his desk and the filing cabinets. I clipped this piece from a set of office rules. They were in effect in a Carriage and Wagon Works, in 1872.

"Employes shall daily sweep the floors, fill lamps, clean chimneys, whittle pen nibs to individual taste, take off one night a week for courting, and if they are thrifty, faithful, faultless, attentive to religious duties, and stay out of jail, they will be given an increase of five cents per day after five years. That is, if profits justify it."

S. H. J.

DEAR ABBY: I have been a widower for four years. I met a fine respectable widow and we plan to be married in the near future. My children are married. They have met this woman and like her very much.

When I invited my children to the small dignified marriage ceremony we plan to have, they refused saying it was nif "proper" for them to attend. Are they correct? Or am I wrong for feeling slighted by their attitude?

EMBARRASSED FATHER

DEAR EMBARRASSED: It is not considered "improper" for children to attend the marriage ceremony of a widower-father who has chosen to remarry. But your children probably have "mixed emotions" — which are understandable. So excuse them, and don't feel even slightly slighted.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: After reading the letter from GOSSIP HATER, I want to put in my nickel's worth;

When I married Pete (not his real name) his whole family hated me because Pete was the family bread-winner, and they all had to go to work to support themselves.

They tried everything to get him back. His sister started the dirtiest rumor about me, and it went through the town like wild fire. With God's help and my prayers, I am still trying to live it down. But don't think for a minute that plenty of people aren't ready to believe everything they hear. And the dirtier the gossip—the quicker they believe it.

Coffee and Cocoa Blend in Rich Nut Cake Recipe

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Today's recipe is for a mocha flavored cake. Mrs. Richard Justice of Rochester who shares the recipe with us says it makes a very large loaf cake or three layers; and that it stays fresh longer than any other cake she has ever seen.

Mrs. Justice is an active young homemaker with one small daughter. She belongs to PEO and to the Farm and Garden club. One of her chief hobbies is sewing, both for her daughter and herself.

Housewife's Duties Demand an 'Office'

By RUTH MILLETT

Years ago I wrote that it was a crying shame that in most homes the housewife doesn't have a desk and file cabinet or any place to put one.

★ ★ ★

At long last the decorating magazines have come to the same conclusion and are now stressing the fact that somewhere in the home, in the kitchen, master bedroom, living room or hallway — a woman who runs a home and keeps track of a thousand and one details of family living ought to have a desk to call her own.

★ ★ ★

Running a home is a business and the woman who is responsible for seeing that it runs smoothly is an executive.

How can she expect to be businesslike — if she doesn't have some kind of a businesslike setup?

NEEDS FILE SYSTEM

Along with the desk where she can sit down to make her telephone calls, write out menus and grocery lists, keep up with her correspondence, pay bills and balance the check book she needs a good filing system.

Who else but mama is going to keep track of the children's visits to doctor and dentist, their shots, their childhood diseases, and so on?

Who else but mama is going to keep track of guarantees on household equipment, instructions for the use of such equipment, receipts for bills paid and the like?

★ ★ ★

And who but mama is going to keep a record of social engagements, family birthdays, gifts given to relatives so they won't be duplicated in the future, a Christmas card list, party menus, etc.?

Without some kind of businesslike setup a wife clutters up her mind with endless details, is always searching through bureau drawers and old handbags for important papers and memoranda.

In general, she works under a handicap no man would tolerate.

Beautifying Pontiac State Hospital grounds is a major project of the Better Home and Garden Club this spring. Admiring a freshly-planted juniper, at left, is President Mrs. Louis B. Livingston of Woodbine drive, Waterford Township. The lady with the shovel is Mrs. Walter Seaks of Cooley street, civics chairman. Mrs. Fred L. Tucker of Myers road, Independence Township, finance chairman, at right, is mentally computing the number of shrubs and trees which will be bought with proceeds from the club's April 20 rummage sale in the CAI Building, Waterford.

Local Man Will Head Brown Fund

Charles Gaffney of Sylvan Shores drive has been named a regional class agent for the Brown University fund for his class of 1938.

The fund, one of the oldest programs for annual alumni giving, supports increases in faculty salaries and student aid. Alumni last year contributed more than half a million dollars to the university through the fund.

★ ★ ★

In announcing the appointment, J. Angus Thurrott of class of '31, national chairman, said that class participation will be stressed in this year's fund drive. Last year Brown ranked second among all independent gift-supported universities in the country.

★ ★ ★

In the same study the Brown fund earned fourth place among Ivy League colleges in its average alumni gift.

The fund also helps defray operating expenses of the university's research equipment.

More than 400 alumni have been enlisted as regional class agents in all areas of the country.

Hospitality Comes From One's Heart

By EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: The other evening we were entertained by my husband's employer, who is naturally in altogether different financial circumstances than we are. As my husband and I could never hope to entertain in the way they are accustomed to, I am wondering if it is proper to return the invitation.

Answer: Strictly speaking, it is never expected that an employe make a return for an employer's invitation. But this does not mean that he may not make a return if he would like to.

For example, when employer and employe are friendly — particularly when they are near the same age and congenial, it would be natural to return often repeated hospitality from time to time.

The fact that the return is not at all "in kind" has nothing to do with the case, since one is never expected to make more of a return than one can. Also, people who have most themselves are least exacting. But, as already said, if in your own situation, you don't feel like inviting your husband's employer to anything, there is no obligation whatever to do so.

Dear Mrs. Post: When one stops at a service station for gasoline and an attendant cleans the windshield of your car, is it necessary to give him a tip? I say "no" but a friend of mine thinks he should be given a tip for courtesy.

Answer: Cleaning the windshield is a courtesy service offered by many service stations to their customers, and no tip is necessary.

Dear Mrs. Post: The other day I had several women friends in to lunch. While we were seated at table, one of the guests picked up a plate and turned it over to see what kind of china it was.

I was quite taken back by this as she is a person who is a stickler for good manners and I certainly don't think what she did could be classified as such.

Answer: If she turned the plate over in obvious admiration of its beauty, it was a compliment to you, but if she did it out of curiosity, it was certainly not an example of good manners.

Serious West Berliners Cover Up by Wisecracking at Civic Things

By GAY PAULEY

BERLIN (UPI) — Berliners impress the tourist as a people not much impressed by anything imposing.

* * *

They are deft at deflating pomposity, skilled at finding a new and usually unflattering, but fitting, name for some new and costly edifice.

And if something moves them, they often cover their feelings with a flippant or impertinent remark.

* * *

Every West Berliner I met mentioned the gratitude the city felt for the fuel and food flown in in 1948-49 in the famous airlift. Yet they named the airplanes which saved the city from Communist conquest "Raisin Bombers."

* * *

Berliners thought it altogether fitting that the first large office building constructed after World War II housed an aspirin company, which exports many of its headache pills to the United States.

* * *

The tallest building, which houses the municipal administration, is called the "Civil Servants' Silo." A towering new white apartment house is known as the "Eye Tooth."

* * *

The new Congress Hall, designed by the American architect H. H. Stubbins, is a marvel of modern architecture—with ample mid-section and a sweeping, white convex roof. Residents refer to it either as the "Pregnant Oyster," or the "Big Jaw" for all the "jawing" done during international meetings.

* * *

The modern glass and steel quarters of Berlin's outwear industry is called "Bikini House," for the open mid-section dividing the base from top.

* * *

The nude statue of an Olympic runner is "Berlin's Last Taxpayer."

* * *

A large bronze monument of abstract design in one park goes under the name of "Hopeless Case" because many residents find its symbolism obscure.

Those Pads of Fat Below Waistline

Gals Have This Trouble

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Q. "There are several of us girls in this office who have the same problem. We are all about the right weight for our height, but our problem is this: Each of us has a pad of fat right below the waist on each side in the back. Can you give us exercises for that?"

A. This is a usual figure problem. Many women have it. Do the following exercises faithfully every day.

If you cannot bend down this far, go as far as you can. Raise your trunk and bend to the right, trying to touch your right knee with your right elbow. After practicing this exercise for a while you will be able to bend much farther down.

2. Lie on the floor on your back. Bend both knees up close to your abdomen and hold the knees there. Your arms rest on the floor, shoulder level, palms toward the floor. Roll from side to side. You will feel the weight roll off the upper hips.

Q. "In your column last night you say that dryness is one of the main factors in aging. I am 34 years of age but look younger. Approximately, at what age should a woman begin using member Mrs. Elmer Garvin tied for the week's greatest weight loss. creams for face and around eyes?"

A. This is a difficult question to answer since women vary so. Some may have naturally dry skins early in life — in their twenties. Others may start out with oily complexions. Some women profit by the use of lubricating creams and eye creams from maturity on while others may not need them until their mid thirties or forties.

I think that from 30 on most women should use them as preventive measures even if the skin does not seem especially dry. Of course this does not apply to the woman who has an oily skin problem.

Q. "I would like to know why it is that when a person gets fat her legs remain small. Is there any kind of skin food or lotion or exercise that will make them larger?"

A. There is no special food which will make any special part of the body larger. Food will make you larger all over if you eat enough of it. However, the distribution of weight varies with the individual. The very thin legs with the overweight torso is a definite type. The only way you can increase the size of your legs is by exercising to develop the muscles in the calves of the legs.

Trying to touch elbows to the knees is a good remedy for the pads of fat right below the waist on each side of the back. Bend to the left and to the right.

Study Compares Ideas of Teens and Parents

(Editor's Note — The following article was written after a study of the statistical results of a poll of some 1,000 junior and senior high school students and adults in the Rochester Community School District on teen-age social behavior and teen-age-parent social responsibilities. The questionnaires were circulated by the Rochester Area Youth Guidance Committee and were tabulated on the basis of the students' age, sex and grade in school. Presented are the highlights of the combined results of the students' and adults' answers.)

By LEE WINBORN

ROCHESTER — Eighty-five per cent—and in most cases more—of the adults who filled out the Rochester Area Youth Guidance questionnaires agreed with every premise presented to foster acceptable parent-teen cooperation.

On the other hand, the teen-agers themselves favored a large majority of the 54 statements made, although in varying degrees.

They did take exception, however, to five in particular which they evidently felt didn't express their views on acceptable practices.

The one drawing the highest percentage of disagreement was that regular home study periods should be established by the parents for the teen-agers. The tabulation was 55 to 37 per cent against.

★ ★ ★

Almost as close a vote of disagreement was registered about the statement that "no one under 18 should be allowed to smoke." The vote was 52 to 39 per cent against it by the teen-agers.

★ ★ ★

The adults, too, were a little more divided on this premise than almost any other. They only agreed with it by a 62 to 23 per cent margin.

Closely related was the two-fold statement that "smoking by those under 18 is prohibited by state law—this law has not been enforced and should be changed."

To this the teen-agers were almost equally divided—47 for it and 41 against. Likewise, parents could not see eye-to-eye. They, too, were split, 48 in agreement, 38 against.

Another proposition that failed to get whole-hearted student endorsement was that parents and teens should know where the other is at all times.

The vote was 49 per cent against it to 41 per cent who agreed.

Adults, on the other hand, were for it 90 to 8 per cent.

Another statement, that "parents have an obligation to supervise their working teen-ager's expenditures — this helps the young person learn how to handle money properly," also drew a larger portion of disagreement than favor. It was opposed 48 to 44 per cent.

The adults were less enthusiastic about this premise than others, too. They only favored it 78 to 15 per cent.

★ ★ ★

The only other subject that drew negative comment from the young people was that home should be the center of teen-age activity.

While the parents favored it 85 to 10 per cent, the teen-agers were against it by a close margin, 46 to 42 per cent.

Two other premises drew a close vote by the teen-age group.

DATING BEHAVIOR?

One was that dating behavior, such as parking, kissing, should be discussed between teen-ager and parent before the youth begins to date. Students agreed only by 44 to 42 per cent.

By contrast, the adults were in nearly full agreement, 97 to two per cent. (In cases where figures didn't total 100 per cent, a "no opinion" factor existed.)

The other close vote was that "come one—come all parties" should be avoided. Students favored this by a scant 46 to 42 per cent, while the adults agreed 88 to 9 per cent.

★ ★

In a poll of hours that parties should end or students should be home, typically the parents picked the earlier hours and the teen-agers the later ones on every grade level.

The only exception was on the time that formal parties should end. The majority of teen-agers and parents both agreed that midnight was the proper hour.

The results of the survey conducted among 1,000 teen-agers and adults in the Rochester Community School District formed the basis for a guide for parent-teen cooperation prepared by the youth guidance committee.

Entitled "We Can Agree," the guide has the endorsement of the Village of Rochester, Avon and Oakland townships, the executive board of the Rochester PTA Council, the Rochester Board of Education and the Rochester Ministerial Assn.

Purpose of the guide is to outline areas of parents and teen responsibilities which make for healthier family living.

CAN STIR DISCUSSION

Rather than substitute for family-made rules, it should "stimulate discussion on issues where there are differences and serve as a springboard, from which family agreements may be reached," the guidance committee stated.

Copies of the guide have been sent to 1,300 families of junior and senior high school students in the school district.

The basic rule in the guide is that parents should know where and with whom their young people are while away from home. Also that parents should know what time their young people are to return home.

Under family relationship, the guide recommends that parents take an interest in their children's hobbies, companions and achievements in school.

It also points out that spending time together is important.

★ ★ ★

On the subject of smoking, the guide says parents have a responsibility to control smoking by young people.

On school nights teen-agers, regardless of their age or grade, should be home by 10 p.m., the guide suggests.

It further recommends that junior and senior high school students should not be allowed out on school nights unless attending recognized school or community functions.

Other subjects covered in the guide are general dating, home entertaining, drinking, religious participation and parent-youth planning.

In conclusion, the guide states, "as young people mature they desire more freedom. They usually welcome parental guidance but resent arbitrary orders. By setting up desirable and acceptable standards of behavior, parents and young people can help avoid later problems."

Some Groups Not Charged

Avondale Board Sets Building-Use Policy

The Avondale Board of Education has adopted a building-use policy members believe is "workable and uniform" for every organization in the school district.

The school officials say they want to encourage the use of school facilities by groups and organizations whose purposes and objectives contribute to the school program or the community.

The policies set up cover the groups who may use the facilities without charge, scheduling limitations, special provisions and building-use rates.

No building rental will be charged the Avon Youth and Recreation Assn., PTA, authorized scout organizations, Boys Club or other similar groups.

★ ★ ★

Local clubs staging special event for the benefit of the community such as Halloween or Christmas parties also will be exempt from rental charge.

Another category not subject to charge includes all school-sponsored student groups or students organizations.

Any group or organization wanting to use school facilities must obtain the standard application form from the principal to be returned two weeks prior to the planned event.

★ ★ ★

Public school functions are given priority in use of all school facilities. The buildings also are rented on Sunday only to church groups or for lectures, conferences or concerts.

Six months is the limit on school building use for regular religious services, allowed only in cases of emergency.

The policies specify that a school custodian be on duty to supervise the building and equipment and that his overtime pay be charged against all nonstudent groups at time-and-a-half except Sunday which will be double time.

Outside school organizations raising funds for student scholarships through the promotion of a particular activity which requires the use of school facilities will be charged the nonprofit rate.

A further proviso is that a permit holder be fully responsible for all loss or damage to school property including that of pupils and employes, and for the conduct of the persons in his charge.

The rate for the gymnasium is $5 per hour or after five hours the maximum is $35; for multi-purpose rooms, $4 per hour; and for classrooms, $2.25 per hour.

For the use of a cafeteria there is a $10 minimum charge of $5 per hour, whichever is greater.

According to Schools Supt. LeRoy R. Watt, copies of the complete policies are available at the Board of Education office.

Lapeer Legislator to Retire at Age 84

Michigan's oldest legislator, Rep. Louis Cramton, 84, (R-Lapeer) said today his failing hearing prevents him from seeking another term in the House.

He announced yesterday that he will not be a candidate for re-election.

"Not that I'm too old," he said firmly as he packed his bags at the Hotel Olds for the trip home. "I'm the same age as Konrad Adenauer and about the same as Syngman Rhee—and my health is still generally good.

"But even with a hearing aid I can't hear all that's going on in the House. I can't be as effective as I want to be."

Retirement will close a long and varied career in lawmaking that began with election to the House 51 years ago.

FATHER OF FEPC

A long-time champion of civil rights, he became known as the father of Michigan's Fair Employment Practices Commission after steering the enabling act through the Legislature in 1955.

★ ★ ★

Cramton first set foot in the Capitol in an official capacity in 1903 as law clerk of the Senate. Four years earlier he had graduated from the University of Michigan law school.

★ ★ ★

Elected to the House in 1909, he was author of a bill that gave Michigan women property owners voting rights on bonding proposals.

In 1912 he ran successfully for Congress in the Seventh District and served nine straight terms.

After two years as an attorney to the secretary of interior, he returned to Michigan and was elected a circuit judge in 1931.

His eight-year stint on the bench gave him the "Judge" title he has carried ever since.

Lapeer County voters elected him their state representative in 1948 and have re-elected him every two years since then.

Besides the FEPC Act, legislation in which he played a major role includes Michigan's one-man grand jury law and a constitutional amendment replacing biannual sessions of the Legislature with a yearly meeting.

In contrast to his actual years, Cramton occasionally picked up the label of "Young Turk" for voting against Republican House leadership. That included a vote for a personal income tax when a Republican proposal for a statewide vote for a sales tax raise had been beaten.

★ ★ ★

More than once in last year's marathon session he scolded members of both parties for failing to come to grips with the state's financial crisis.

When "The Judge" spoke, lawmakers listened.

No others among them could claim the long experience and tested knowledge of Michigan's Grand Old Man of lawmaking.

Chief of Police Resigned Two Weeks Ago

BeGole Decides to Return to Novi

NOVI — Lee BeGole has decided to return here as police chief. For the past two months he has been heading the Cheboygan Police Department.

BeGole, yesterday said he would submit his resignation to officials of the northern Michigan city today.

It was only two weeks ago that BeGole formally resigned as police chief in Novi. The Novi Village Council had given him an indefinite leave of absence in February so he could take the job in Cheboygan.

★ ★ ★

While he was gone Novi was sending BeGole his salary in hopes that he would return.

★ ★ ★

BeGole had taken over the seven-man department in Cheboygan because of dissatisfaction with his job in Novi.

Yesterday BeGole said he would return to Novi on or before May 1 "depending on whether Cheboygan accepts my resignation," he said.

"I like it here very much," he said, "but all my family ties are in the Detroit area."

★ ★ ★

"I've been traveling to Detroit to visit my parents every weekend since I've been here."

★ ★ ★

He said that he had been told by Village President Joseph Crupi on one of his visits that he could expect a raise in salary if he returned.

★ ★ ★

"I can't forget all the seniority I have in Novi. Besides Novi is a growing community and I would like to go along with it."

BeGole, 38, will head a five-man department when he returns to Novi.

★ ★ ★

"That's one more man than I had when I left," he remarked.

"It will mean more responsibility but I've been assured that I will have more say-so in running the department."

Contract Awarded on Rochester PO

ROCHESTER — Frank R. Chapman Jr. of Rochester and Clair Ditchy Associates of Royal Oak have been awarded the contract for modernization of the Rochester Post Office.

★ ★ ★

Negotiations also are under way to purchase the Earl Dean property at 408 Walnut St. for the new addition. It is adjacent to the present post office building.

According to U.S. Rep. William S. Broomfield (R-Oakland), construction cost will be between $300,000 and $350,000.

Improvements will include complete air conditioning, a new lobby and an addition to the existing building and driveway, he said.

★ ★ ★

Rochester's Postmaster Cole Neumann states that the addition will be one story, of the same brick as the present building and will house a work room for clerks and carriers.

★ ★ ★

The lobby enlargement program will make room for more lock boxes, he said.

Work drawings and specifications will be completed before Sept. 2, Broomfield reports.

Ask Farmington to Show Cause on Home Block

FARMINGTON — City officials have been asked to show cause in Circuit Court April 25 why they will not permit builders to construct homes with basements in an area near the Rouge River.

★ ★ ★

The suit was filed by land developers Twin Valley Corp. and National Home Builders.

They want to build homes on 15 lots in a valley west of Farmington road, between Shiawassee and 10-Mile roads.

Council in December voted 3-2 to refuse the permits, arguing that the site would flood if the river overflowed in heavy rains.

★ ★ ★

An engineering report from the builders claims flooding would be impossible.

Last week, Council granted a permit to one lot owner after he submitted a letter to them that would hold the city blameless if the basement of the proposed home flooded.

W. Bloomfield in Debate Finals

ORCHARD LAKE — Two students from West Bloomfield High School will be finalists in the state champion debate competition April 23 at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor.

They are among the handful of survivors of the state elimination schedule which began for 160 teams in February, sponsored by the Michigan High School Forensic Assn.

Debating the topic in the affirmative for the West Bloomfield school will be Donald Cole, 5011 Elmgate Dr., Orchard Lake, and Sheila Murphy, 3054 Summere Ave., Keego Harbor.

They will debate with a team from Swartz Creek High School on the topic "Resolved: That the Federal Government Should Substantially Increase Its Regulations of Labor Unions."

★ ★ ★

A class B team, the West Bloomfield students will meet at 10 a.m. at the Rackam Auditorium of U. of M. under the direction of Dean Roger W. Heyns of the college of literature, science and arts.

In another debate at 3 p.m. on the same topic, the class A teams from Muskegon Heights and Ann Arbor will meet.

Each of the four teams will receive a large trophy presented by the University.

★ ★ ★

At 1:45 p.m. six individual debaters from regional championship teams will engage in their final contest for scholarship prizes.

The first three places are worth $1,200, $800, and $500. The three other finalists will receive $100 saving bonds.

Road Chloriding Sought in Avon

Residents Filling Out Petitions for Levy of Half a Mill

AVON TOWNSHIP — Property owners in most Avon Township subdivisions currently are circulating petitions on a proposal to levy half a mill for chloriding roads.

★ ★ ★

The Township Board authorized this procedure to implement a motion passed to this effect at the annual meeting April 2.

The motion favored the spread on the half-mill tax per $1,000 of equalized valuation on properties outside the Village of Rochester for the chloriding program.

A notide of public hearing will be published. Ten days later, the hearing will be held.

ASK OTHER CORRECTIONS

If there is no dissention, the half mill will be levied and the roads will be chlorided this year, township officials said today.

Four petitions also have been presented to the Township Board requesting action to correct other road and drainage problems.

One concerns Bendelow road, south of Auburn road; Michelson road, south of John R, and Vardon road, south of Michelson.

★ ★ ★

Residents on Corintia, Walsh, Woodelms and Bagley streets also were petitioners.

Persons in John R. Highlands want to have an open ditch closed and petitions requesting that the Brooklands area be made a drainage district will be forwarded to the Oakland County Drain Commission.

The other petitions also will be channeled to the proper county agencies for action on the matter of flooding in the areas which have been especially plagued during the recent thaw.

75 Pct. of Shelby Group Favors Annexation to Utica

UTICA—Results of a poll taken by the Shelby Manor Civic Assn. show that 75 per cent of the organization's paid-up membership favor Mayor Edward Church's plan for annexation to Utica.

The association members who answered the questionnaire live in the area bounded by Hall road, Messmore, Klingkammer and Sterritt streets.

Utica city attorney Hugh Neale now is working on the legal technicalities necessary to draw up petitions which must be circulated before the city can take official action on the annexation plan.

He already has submitted a rough draft to Police Chief Hazen Anderson, who is working closely with the mayor on the program to expand Utica to include eight square miles and 10,000 residents.

★ ★ ★

Although the boundaries have not been set, the area tentatively considered for annexation is from Schoenherr road to Mound road, between 19- and 21-Mile roads.

The exact boundaries must be set before the petitions are prepared, and maps must be made. At least one per cent of the population in the effected area must sign the petitions, and each one must be a qualified and registered voter.

When completed, the petitions will be turned over to the Macomb County Board of Supervisors and an election will be set within 90 days.

★ ★ ★

A majority of the people in the area of proposed incorporation and the City of Utica will decide the issue.

In the meantime, Chief Anderson and city engineer James Hubbel have made a survey of the general area in preparation to drawing up the final plans.

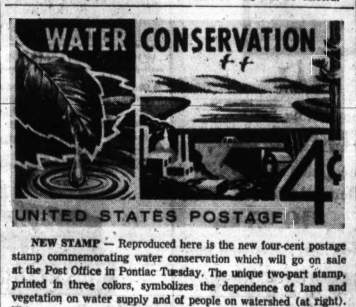
Wixom PTA Will Hear Talk on Responsibility

WIXOM — Guest speaker at the Wixom PTA meeting Tuesday at 8 p.m. will be the Rev. John Taxis of the Northville Presbyterian Church.

He will discuss "Parents Responsibility to Their Children."

Officers also will be elected.



NEW STAMP — Reproduced here is the new four-cent postage stamp commemorating water conservation which will go on sale at the Post Office in Pontiac Tuesday. The unique two-part stamp, printed in three colors, symbolizes the dependence of land and vegetation on water supply and of people on watershed (at right). Water conservation is achieved through proper management of farms and forests and the building of dams and reservoirs.

Charged in Daughter's Delinquency

Bev's Mom Jailed—'I'll Sue'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "I haven't done nothing—I'll sue for false arrest," declared the angry mother of 17-year-old Beverly Aadland as she was led off to jail on charges of contributing to her daughter's delinquency.

Police found Florence Aadland expecting them when they arrived Thursday at the apartment she shared with Beverly, last mistress of the late Errol Flynn.

★ ★

It was the apartment in which William Stanciu, handsome aspiring actor, was fatally shot last Saturday. Beverly told detectives that Stanciu was accidentally hit while they struggled nude on a bed for his revolver.

Beverly has been in juvenile custody since the shooting. The district attorney issued a complaint against her ex-showgirl mother after viewing pictures of a wild party at the Aadland apartment.

★ ★ ★

The pictures, taken by one of the guests, show Beverly wearing just a pajama top and her mother in flowered pajamas in lurid poses with Stanciu and another young man-about-Hollywood.

Before traipsing off to jail in a flowered shirt and grey slacks, Mrs. Aadland, yelling curses and vulgarities, said:

"I was sick at the time (of the pictures) and almost unconscious because of the pills I was taking. Those pictures were staged. . . ."

Then she leveled this parting shot at reporters who had waited at the apartment:

"And quit saying I'm 53, because I'm not. I'm only 46."

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Aadland is charged with permitting Beverly to drink; appearing intoxicated in Beverly's presence; with occupying a bed with a man in her daughter's presence; of permitting Beverly to occupy a bed with a man; and exercising no little supervision that Beverly was left alone when the mother went to a hospital for six days, during which the shooting took place.

It's Their Only Trip to Church

Hypocrites Bloom at Easter

BY PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK — The celebration of Easter has, alas, become so commercial that it must be difficult for ministers and priests to control a feeling of ecclesiastical cynicism.

In fact, some of them don't bother to hide a sense of suspicion of the crowds of dapper devouts who jam the sacred aisles on Easter Sunday.

Two years ago, at a famous New York church, I was surprised to hear the rector announce firmly: "I want to have a paper offering today. I do not want to hear any silver clinking in the collection plates."

He pointed out solemnly that there was a year of tithes to be made up by the "Easter annuals" among us, in the congregation.

This may seem either shocking or amusing to the layman.

But surely it is understandable.

IT'S DISCOURAGING

When the leader of a church becomes accustomed at this season to observing a sea of curious, unfamiliar faces in pews that may be half-empty on 51 other Sundays of the year, he must do a lot of wrestling with his mortal adrenalin glands.

It must occur to him—"If the woman in that hat of many colors could give one-tenth to God what she gives to Mr. John . . ."

★ ★ ★

Or, he must fight back the thought—"This is the season of eternal life, not living it up . . ."

One Presbyterian minister described the Fifth Avenue Easter parade — which some people consider the very essence of Holy Week joy—as a commercial distraction from the true meaning of this happiest Christian celebration.

★ ★ ★

"We've tinseled it," he said, "packaged it in purple and yellow, and crowded it with bunny rabbits and colored eggs. Our world has become a neighborhood, but not a brotherhood. Although we have knowledge, we do not have wisdom."

Last Christmas, a survey was conducted among dozens of children aged five and under. They were asked, "Why do we celebrate Christmas?" Only one child knew it was the day of the birth of Christ. Next closest answer: "Santa Claus's birthday."

Wonder if the same children were asked about Easter what they would answer. I suspect they would be divided in their theories, and it's hard to tell which, in importance, would come first—the rabbit or the egg.

MERE STUPIDITIES

These are the attitudes and stupidities that commercial civilization has endowed us with; and after we outgrow eggs and rabbits, we inherit flower hats and yellow four-in-hands and Easter brunch as our holiday tradition.

★ ★ ★

Of course, there are millions—make that thousands—of truly devout Americans to whom this day of rebirth is truly a cause for spiritual celebration.

But this column is about the people in the fancy hats, with their children bearing fancy bunnies, who are sitting new and fresh and spankingly strange in the congregation of a minister who remarks, amiably, at the close of his service: "Well, see you next year."

May God and the clergy be tolerant.

No New Leads in Coors Hunt

Nine Weeks Pass By Since Rich Colorado Executive Disappeared

GOLDEN, Colo. (AP)— Renewed search in mountain country west of Denver apparently has failed to turn up any new evidence in the strange disappearance of Adolph Coors III, wealthy brewery executive.

★ ★ ★

More than nine weeks have passed since the 44-year-old Coors dropped from sight only two miles from his ranchtype residence close to the foothills.

Left behind were his station wagon with blood on the seat, bridge railing and Coors' glasses and car, found on a stream bank below the bridge.

Sheriff Arthur Wermuth said Thursday a new area was searched by his deputies last week without turning up any leads. Sheriff's officers in higher mountain country also have searched river banks and side canyons without any reported success.

★ ★ ★

The FBI aid it had nothing to report in its nationwide search for Joseph Corbett Jr., 31 who disappeared from his Denver apartment Feb. 10, the day after Coors vanished. The FBI has not officially linked Corbett with the case, saying Corbett is sought as an escaped California murderer. He escaped nearly five years ago.

Water, Sewage Plans Nixed Near Bay City

BAY CITY (AP) — The suburban community of Hampton Township Wednesday turned down two bond proposals for water and sewer projects.

The voters rejected 801 to 331 a million-dollar bond proposal for construction of a water system to tap into Bay City.

They also rejected 764 to 336 a two-million-dollar bond issue to acquire an independent sewage treatment plant.

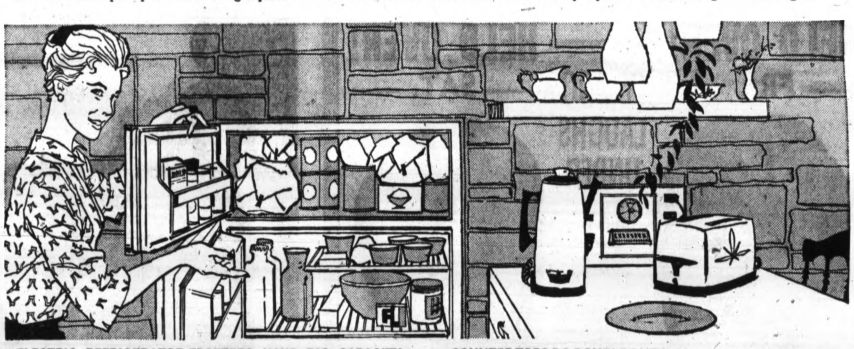
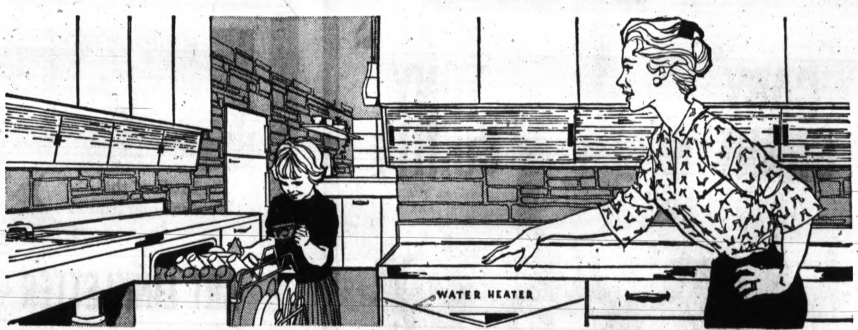
ELECTRIC KITCHEN

ELECTRIC COOKING IS CLEAN, COOL, QUICK. All the heat goes into the food from direct contact electric elements, none escapes into the air. Super speed units bring liquids to a boil in seconds. You never see blackened pans in an electric kitchen for electric cooking is white-glove clean. Choose from built-in counter top units and ovens or from many styles of free-standing electric ranges.



ELECTRIC REFRIGERATOR-FREEZERS HAVE BIG CAPACITY. Two wonderful appliances in one! Refrigerator and freezer. The freezer compartment is big enough to hold worthwhile quantities of food. Buy foods at seasonally low prices and safely store them. Save time by preparing foods ahead—make three pies and freeze two. New frost-free refrigerator-freezers eliminate defrosting entirely.

COUNTER TOPS DO DOUBLE DUTY with an electric appliance center. Pullout extension cords and extra outlets, all on one central panel, give you Housepower at your fingertips. Simultaneous operation of many counter top appliances—waffle iron, fry pan and coffee maker, for example—is possible without blowing fuses. Automatic timing is another feature. All together, it's just like having extra range capacity.



DOING THE DISHES WAS NEVER SO EASY. The process is simple—toss food scraps into the disposer. They just grind up and wash away, never have to be handled or wrapped. Then slip dishes, glasses, flatware, pots and pans into the dishwasher. Everything comes out sparkling, and much cleaner than you can wash them because most dishwashers use hotter water than your hands can stand.

PLENTY OF HOT WATER where and when you need it. What better place for a water heater than in the kitchen where you use lots of hot water? A tabletop model fits flush with counter top, or it can be placed in a hard-to-use corner of the kitchen cabinets. This is the water heater without flame or flue, so you put it where it's most convenient. The 50-gallon size supplies normal hot water needs of 4 out of 5 families.

Pope Washes Priests' Feet

Church History Made as Christ-Like Rite Is Interracial

ROME (AP) — Pope John XXIII, a towel wrapped around his waist, bent low today to wash and kiss the feet of 13 student priests in a humble Holy Week ceremony.

★ ★ ★

For the first time in the 2,000-year history of the Roman Catholic Church, the young priests included Negroes, a Japanese, an Indian and a Polynesian as well as several Caucasians.

Thousands of people, including pilgrims from many nations, stood in silence as the 78-year-old supreme ruler of the Church bent low, washed the right foot of each young priest, rubbed it dry with a towel and then lifted it to his lips for a kiss.

Vatican sources said the Pontiff, commemorating Christ's washing of his apostles' feet at the Last Supper, had chosen this means not only to demonstrate the Church's brotherhood and world-wide character, but as a rebuke to current racial intolerance.

★ ★ ★

The ceremony took place at Rome's Basilica of St. John Lateran, the Pope's see as bishop of Rome. Twenty-six cardinals, numerous archbishops and bishops attended.

Storer Broadcasting Gets 6 New Directors

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Six new directors were named yesterday to the Storer Broadcasting Co. board, bringing its strength to 15.

Stockholders authorized the board to set up a stock option plan designed as an incentive for company officials and key employes.

★ ★ ★

The new directors are Stanley L. Willis, president of the Standard Tube Co., Detroit; James P. Storer, Philadelphia, the broadcast chain's national sales manager; Peter Storer, managing director of station WSPD-TV, Toledo, Ohio; Bill Michaels, Detroit, company vice president; Lionel F. Baxter, the chain's radio director; and Hugh Parks Rusk, vice president who also is publisher of the Miami Beach Sun.

$18,000 Grant Will Help Found Science Island

WASHINGTON (AP) — The dream of Science Island is closer to reality.

★ ★ ★

In the office of Rep. James C. Oliver (D-Maine) Wednesday, the National Science Foundation awarded an $18,000 grant to help establish the youth center on an island in Casco Bay near Portland, Maine. High school pupils would meet with scientists there and discuss scientific studies.

The grant was received by Dr. Roger C. Gay, president of Nasson College, which will administer Science Island.

Renault Introduces Light Truck to U.S.

NEW YORK (AP) — Renault, Inc., U. S. marketing subsidiary of the French automobile and truck manufacturer, has introduced the first light truck offered in this country by the firm.

★ ★ ★

The company said the trucks, with gasoline mileage of 23 miles per gallon, makes possible lower ton-mile costs than ever before available in U.S. commercial vehicles.

The trucks have maximum payload of 1,850 pounds, an over-all length of 161 inches, a 15-foot turning radius and a four cylinder, 32-horsepower engine adapted for front-wheel drive.

Engines can be replaced in minutes, lessening nonoperating time.

To Build Fertilizer Plant in Indian Town for 1962

LONDON (UPI) — The Simon-Carves Engineering Group has contracted to build an $8,400,000 fertilizer factory near Madras, India.

Scheduled to come into production in 1962, the factory will turn out some 51,000 tons of ammonium phosphate each year.

Underground Blast Team OK'd by Reds

GENEVA (AP) — The Soviet Union agreed Thursday that an East-West group of scientists should meet next month to work out a research program to improve detection of underground nuclear blasts.

The big three nuclear test ban talks then went into recess until April 25 to permit the delegates to consult with their governments.

The scientific group was suggested Tuesday by U.S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth. It would concentrate on bettering detection methods, a western condition for a moratorium on small underground tests.

The four fastest growing consumer product businesses in the past 12 years have been air-conditioning, television appliances, clothes drying appliances and boating industries, says a U.S. government report.

Promises More Labor Hearings

McClellan Gets Many Letters Telling Him of Racketeering

WASHINGTON (UP)—Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark) says there will be new Senate hearings on labor racketeering but that no detailed program has yet been set up.

★ ★ ★

He told a reporter he gets a "fairly constant" stream of letters and telegrams alleging continued or new wrongdoing in the labor-management field.

Any of these could result in public hearings by his Senate investigations subcommittee at any time, he said, if staff investigators find evidence to warrant them.

McClellan said the investigations subcommittee will use actively its new authority to investigate labor racketeering.

★ ★ ★

In a personal victory for McClellan and Sen. Karl E. Mundt (R-SD) the Senate Monday shifted to the subcommittee the now defunct special Senate Rackets Committee's powers and its files of evidence.

Some senators had wanted the powers to go to the Senate Labor Committee.

McClellan was chairman and Mundt vice chairman of the Rackets Committee whose authority expired March 31. McClellan heads the permanent investigations subcommittee, and Mundt is its senior Republican member.

The subcommittee is under the Senate Government Operations Committee of which McClellan is also chairman.

'Utter Stupidity' Major Problem in Boat Safety

LANSING (UPI) — "Utter stupidity" in overloading and overpowering ranks as a major problem in boating, the Water Safety Commission was told.

★ ★ ★

A State Police report presented at the commission meeting said "a whale of a lot of education" is needed to prevent boating accidents.

★ ★ ★

Commission Chairman George Clay, Grand Rapids, said the group's most immediate concern was early-season swimming.

"Too many people try to swim long distances in May before they get in condition," Clay said.

There were 29 drownings in May last year.

Canadiens Win 5th Straight Stanley Cup

Cubs Dump Giants as Dodgers Win

Trio Shares 1st Place in NL

By The Associated Press

So it's early yet and it may not mean a thing, but Duke Snider and Gil Hodges, too old to do it again, and Ed Roebuck, a forgotten reliever, have the Los Angeles Dodgers in first place at the moment.

Snider belted a home run, his first hit of the season, and Hodges triggered a two-run ninth that gave Roebuck his first victory since 1957 in a 3-2 decision over winless St. Louis Thursday night. That hoisted the world champs into a share of the National League lead with San Francisco and the Chicago Cubs, who handed the Giants their first loss, 6-5, with a walk and wind-blown double in the ninth.

★ ★ ★

The Milwaukee Braves blew a three-run lead and lost 5-4 in 10 innings to the Philadelphia Phillies, left without a manager when Eddie Sawyer called it quits earlier in the day. The Pittsburgh Pirates walloped Cincinnati 13-0 behind Vern Law's seven-hit pitching.

A bases-loaded wild pitch by losing reliever Bob Duliba won it for the Dodgers. Hodges, 36, who with Snider helped slug Los Angeles to the pennant last season, came in with the clincher. His triple had tied if 2-all after a lead-off single by pinch-hitter Chuck Essegian.

★ ★ ★

Snider, a risky 33 because of chronic knee trouble, hit his homer in the seventh off starter Ron Kline, who had blanked the Dodgers on two hits for six. Then Roebuck, reduced from bullpen ace status to the minors by arm trouble, got starter Johnny Podres out of a jam in the eighth.

The 28-year-old right-hander got Ken Boyer, who homered for the Cards' first run, on a double play ball with one out and runners on first and third in the eighth before giving up a run on singles by Bill White and pinch hitter Carl Sawatski in the ninth.

★ ★ ★

The Giants, who overcame Ernie Banks' third-inning grand slam homer with home runs by Willie Kirkland and Willie McCovey, were beaten when reliever Billy O'Dell, the young lefty obtained from Baltimore, walked Bob Will in the ninth and Thomas lofted a two-out fly ball. The ball dropped for a double behind short and Will was home. Don Elston, second of four Cub pitchers, won it in relief of starter Seth Morehead, who gave up a third Giant homer to Orlando Cepeda.

★ ★ ★

The Phillies, directed by coach Andy Cohen while awaiting the arrival of new manager Gene Mauch from the Minneapolis Millers of the American Assn., chased Milwaukee starter Carl Willey with three sixth-inning runs on homers by Bobby Del Greco and winning reliever Don Cardwell. In the 10th, Del Greco walked, stole second against losing reliever Juan Pizarro, and scored on Joe Koppe's single.

Hank Aaron and Joe Adcock hit home runs for the Braves in a three-run first against left-hander Curt Simmons, trying for a comeback with the Phillies. Al Dark put away the 2,000th hit of his career with an infield single for the Phils, who drew 32,038 in their home opener—their largest crowd in two years.

★ ★ ★

Law, Pittsburgh's top winner last year, didn't walk a man and struck out two. The Bucs, drawing 34,064 for their home opener, rapped Cal McLish, a Cleveland ace last season, for five extra base hits and a 5-0 lead in three innings. Bob Clemente, 3-for-3, drove in five runs and Bill Mazeroski, who homered, drove in four as Law won his fifth in a row against the Reds at Forbes Field since 1956.

In the American League, still playing exhibitions, Baltimore beat Kansas City 3-0, Cleveland defeated Boston 5-1, Detroit smacked Washington 8-3 and the New York Yankees out-slugged their Richmond farm club in the International League 15-10.

Match Detroit Sweep of 1952 on 4-0 Victory

Montreal May Have Greatest Hockey Team in History

TORONTO (AP) — The Montreal Canadiens were hailed today as the greatest all-round team in the history of professional hockey following the winning of the Stanley Cup for an unprecedented fifth straight year.

The power - packed Canadiens wrapped up the National Hockey League's post-season competition last night with a 4-0 victory over the Toronto Maple Leafs.

The triumph gave the league champions a sweep of the two playoff series—a feat accomplished only once before. That was by Detroit in 1952.

★ ★ ★

Enroute to the finals, the Canadiens eliminated the Chicago Black Hawks in four straight games with goalie Jacques Plante turning in two shutouts. Last night's shutout was his only one in the four games with Toronto.

Counting the last two victories over Toronto a year ago, the Canadiens have won 10 straight playoff games. And they have been in the post-season competition for 10 straight years.

There were some experts who predicted the reign of the Canadians will go on-and-on. They have been the scotfge of the other five clubs in the league for years and have farm clubs that regularly produce youngsters of big-league caliber.

★ ★ ★

This year's championship team is studded with youth and experience, Maurice (The Rocket) Richard, 38, and defenseman Doug Harvey, 35, are the old men of the team.

This could be the Rocket's last year, But he was noncommittal last night as the Canadiens clomped into their dressing room, shouting congratulations.

"We'll wait 'til summer and see," he said.

Actually, the Canadiens, veterans and youngsters alike, took the victory in stride.

★ ★ ★

"Well,' said Harvey who scored one of the four goals, "when you win 4-0 and in four games and after four Cup titles you dont get too excited."

Montreal Coach Toe Blake was asked what was next after his fifth straight title.

★ ★ ★

"I like odd numbers," he replied. "After six comes seven."

Toronto Coach Punch Imlach, who before the final series started was willing to wager all the money in New York that Montreal wouldn't take four straight, gave the Canadiens due credit.

★ ★ ★

"But we had two sure goals in the second period and we goofed both times. How can you win on that kind of luck? The breaks just didn't come our way tonight. Didn't in the whole series for that matter."

★ ★ ★

Jean Beliveau, at 29 one of the great stars of the power-packed club, was the leading scorer in the final game. He scored the first and last goals. In between Harvey and Henri Richard tallied.

Tigers End Slump, Blast Senators

Kuenn, Chrisley Batting Stars in 8-5 Romp

Each Get Three Hits in Assault on Ramos; Foytack on Spot

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)—The Detroit Tigers rapped out 13 hits yesterday and it brought the batting average for the whole team up six points.

★ ★ ★

The Tigers, having their hitting troubles while losing six of their last eight starts, slaughtered Washington 8-3. The victory broke a four-game losing streak for Detroit and left the club at 12-16 with two exhibition games left.

The Tigers play Kansas City Saturday and Sunday, then open the American League season Tuesday against Cleveland.

Righthander Pedro Ramos gave up all the Tiger runs in the fourth and fifth innings. Harvey Kuenn and Neil Chrisley led the assault with three hits each.

The blows ran Kuenn's average to .396 for the spring and Chrisley's to .319.

★ ★ ★

Lou Berberet rapped a bases-loaded double off Ramos for the Tigers' first two runs in the fourth.

Charlie Maxwell slugged a two-run double with the bases loaded in the fifth. Then Steve Bilko and Eddie Yost drove home pairs of runs with singles.

In the sixth, Kuenn doubled and the bases were loaded after Chrisley singled and Maxwell walked. But Bilko flied out and Fernandez tapped into an easy double play to kill a rally.

Jack Kralik served a walk and Chrisley's third hit in the eighth put two men on. But Kralik retired Maxwell and Bilko, He had fanned Kuenn earlier.

Frank Lary held the Nats to five hits in seven innings. Then Hank Aguirre granted one more hit to wrap up Lary's second spring victory.

Don Mincher homered off Lary in the sixth for two runs. The Senators' other run came in the third inning on a double by Billy Consolo and a single by Billy Gardner.

Aguirre and catcher Mike Roarke, working with Detroit while on Denver contracts, signed Major League pacts yesterday. The Tigers have 29 men and one must go by Monday. Shortstop Coot Veal appears the most likely candidate.

Pitching coach Tom Ferrick says Paul Foytack must "show me something" in Saturday's exhibition with the Kansas City Athletics at West Palm Beach.

Foytack has given up 12 runs in 19 innings this spring after reporting with a sore shoulder. He had a 14-14 record last year.

Sawyer Move Diamond Mystery

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Did Eddie Sawyer quit because he was tired of managing or because he read the handwriting on the wall?

This was the question everyone tried to get answered Thursday night before the Philadelphia Phillies, under acting manager Andy Cohen beat the Milwaukee Braves, 5-4 in 10 innings at Connie Mack Stadium.

The unexpected resignation of the 49-year-old Sawyer and immediate appointment of Gene Mauch as his successor landed on the Philadelphia sports scene like a bombshell.

★ ★ ★

"I just don't care to manage a major league club, or any club," asserted Sawyer Thursday in giving up one of the 16 coveted major league managerships.

Phillies' owner Bob Carpenter and General Manager John Quinn said they were shocked over Sawyer's decision.

"He'd still be managing if he wanted to," Quinn said.

"I'm disappointed in Eddie," commented Carpenter who brought Sawyer back in mid-season of 1958, for his second term as manager. Carpenter at that time expressed the hope Sawyer could take the youngsters budding in the Phillies' farm system and develop them into a pennant winner in the same manner he did in the late 1940s.

★ ★ ★

Asked point blank if Sawyer gave up the ghost because he was being told from the front office whom to play, Quinn said, "I never told a manager whom to play, and I never will.

"Sawyer had a free hand on the field. Certainly we discussed the merits of players, their condition, etc., but I never interfered with him."

It has been widely speculated that although Quinn and Sawyer were good friends, the one-time college professor was not Quinn's type of manager. It has been felt in some quarters that Sawyer wouldn't last the season in this graveyeard of managers. The 34-year-old Mauch will be the Phillies' sixth skipper since 1950.

★ ★ ★

The speed with which Quinn brought in Mauch from Minneapolis indicated the G.M. had been thinking in terms of the American Assn. manager as a possible replacement for Sawyer. Quinn says he had several men in mind, but Mauch was the first he asked to take the job. It was Quinn incidentally who recommended Mauch for his first managerial post at Atlanta seven years ago. Mauch reported here today.

Whether Sawyer left because he was fed up with the game, or whether he decided not to wait around to be the goat for a last-place club, is known only to the principles in the case. But one thing seems sure, Sawyer set some kind of record for timing. He is the first manager to quit after only one game.

BIDS GOODBY — Gene Mauch, former manager of the Minneapolis Millers, bids goodby to his buddies Thursday before leaving for his new job as manager of the Philadelphia Phillies. The 34-year-old Mauch was signed to a two-year contract after Eddie Sawyer resigned as the Phils' pilot.

From The PRESS BOX

Mike Magill of Haddonfield, N.J., who was burned badly in a four-car pileup in last year's 500-mile auto race at Indianapolis, Ind., was nominated Thursday for the 44th Memorial Day race.

★ ★ ★

Good weather may swell the Detroit Tigers' home opener attendance over the 40,000 mark, the ticket department said today. Billy Loll, Briggs Stadium ticket director, said the advance sale for the April 22 opener with Chicago has passed the 26,000 mark.

★ ★ ★

General Manager Nick Kerbawy said today the Detroit Pistons are "committed to a program of trading." He said the club is close to completing one major deal and is talking with several other clubs about possible trades. Kerbawy said coach Dick McGuire is in favor of a near-total revamping of the Pistons.

Tournament bowling resumes here this weekend as the Elks Mixed Doubles and Howe's Lanes Singles events continue Saturday and Sunday.

Clint Courtney's Injured Finger Complicates Deal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Catcher Clint Courtney's injured finger signaled today hard bargaining between the Washington Senators and the Baltimore Orioles.

If Courtney is unable to play next week for the Orioles, the Senators may not be able to keep second baseman Billy Gardner.

Washington traded Courtney and infielder Ron Samford to Baltimore nearly two weeks ago for Gardner in a key move to strengthen the Senators' conspicuously weak defense. The deal, however, was conditioned on healing of a finger infection on Courtney's right hand.

General Manager Lee MacPhail of the Orioles told Washington President Calvin Griffith Thursday that Baltimore physicians reported Courtney would not be ready for another two weeks or longer.

Wood, a left-handed professional from nearby Asheboro, led the pack of 128 after a first round 66, five under par.

Woodward, a hungry 27-year-old Sydney, Australia pro, was one stroke back, tied with Dow Finsterwald of Tequesta, Fla., last year's winner.

Miteff Meets Warner in Place of Machen

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Alex Miteff, the No. 8 heavyweight contender, faces unranked Don Warner of Philadelphia tonight in a 10-round match at Convention Hall. Miteff, a sturdy Argentine, is substituting for Eddie Machen who withdrew because of his mother's illness.

The scrap gets the usual Friday night network (NBC) radio and television treatment, starting at 10 p.m. (EST). The referee will be the only official.

Despite his solid ranking, Miteff had some troubles in 1959 when he lost three of six. In his last two starts last year he was stopped by Billy Hunter and lost a decision to the same man. However, he has won two fights this year, both by knockouts for a 21-5-1 lifetime record.

With Traffic, Heat, Lights

New Park Has Troubles

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The first baseball game under lights at Candlestick Park brought out a crop of first-time troubles: a monumental traffic jam, radiant heating that didn't heat and a few tower lights that didn't burn.

★ ★ ★

And the San Francisco Giants lost their first game in their new park after winning two, a 6-5 cliff-hanger to the Chicago Cubs.

The huge traffic snarl caused many fans to arrive late for the game. Traffic officers blamed the jam on fans' failure to use public transportation to the park.

Police Lt. Edward Cummings, head of the traffic detail at Candlestick, said the 8,300-car stadium parking lots were completely filled and all available street parking in the area was gone by 8 p.m. the game started at 8:15. Cummings estimated 1,000 to 1,500 cars couldn't find parking.

The radiant heating, installed under 20,000 seats in the box, reserved and lower level general admission sections, was not apparent to the spectators.

But architect John Bolles, who designed the stadium, said the $125,000 heating system just wasn't turned on soon enough. By 9 p.m., he said, it was performing satisfactorily.

About a fifth of the tower lights failed to go on when the switch was thrown. Ladder men got most of them going by game time. After the game, players on both teams said the park lighting was the best they had ever seen.

Injured College Boxer Mohr Still in Coma

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Charlie Mohr, 22-year-old Wisconsin boxer who suffered a brain injury last Saturday while defending his NCAA 165-pound division title, remained in a coma today.

★ ★ ★

Attendants at University Hospital said that the condition of the young fighter was "still very critical." Mohr has been unconscious since shortly after the fight that was stopped in the second round when he was knocked down.

Shortly after the fight between Mohr and Stu Bartell of the San Jose State team, Mohr underwent surgery for removal of a blood clot on the right side of his brain.

★ ★ ★

The young fighters' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mohr of Merrick, N.Y., and his two sisters and close friends continued their vigil at the hospital.

The youth has been given the last rites of the Roman Catholic Church.

Doctoring Your Golf

By DR. CARY MIDDLECOFF

PATIENT'S COMPLAINT: "I never hit the ball solid."

DIAGNOSIS: Trying to murder the ball.

TREATMENT: I change my opinion from time to time about what is the most prevalent fault in golf. But trying to hit the ball too hard is always high on the list of candidates.

As today's illustration shows, this man has not swung at the golf ball. He has reared back and flailed at it like a woodchopper. Also, as the drawing indicates, he is apt to get a very small piece of the ball on the face of his club as he hits through it.

You will note that one result of this mighty effort is that the player's weight is all back on his right side—right where it shouldn't be.

Controlled power is what we want in a golf swing. Swing hard, sure, because you have to get the ball on out there with distance to score well. But you defeat your own purpose when you swing so hard that you can't meet the ball solidly.

(I had the artist decapitate the player to spare you the sight of the contorted grimace that always accompanies a swing like this one.)

Another good point to remember in your swing is that your left arm is your "direction" arm—it guides your swing along the intended path of flight.

Gene Dixon Tops Meet

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Gene Dixon, a chubby Memphis State senior, held a three-stroke lead today as the third round began in the sixth annual National Intercollegiate Invitational golf tournament.

★ ★ ★

Starting with an eagle three on the first hole, Dixon scored a four-under par 68 second round Thursday for 139 at the halfway mark of the 72-hole tournament.

★ ★ ★

Three strokes back were two University of Houston sophomores, Larry Beck and Homero Blancas. Beck had 73-69 — 142. Blancas 72-70—142.

The Houston foursome that also includes Jack Cupit and Tony Marimon, two members of the school's 1959 NCAA championship team, scored a tournament record 279 second round while boosting its team medal lead to 22 points over Louisiana State.

★ ★ ★

The nine-under-par 279 broke the old mark of 281 set by Houston in 1957 and gave the Cougars a 36-hole 575.

Louisiana State had 597, North Texas held third place at 608.

Cupit held fourth place in individual medal with a 75-68—143. Don Essig, the 1959 champion from LSU, had a 74-70—144, while Marimon had a 76-72—148.

★ ★ ★

Team match semifinals today placed Houston against Texas A&M and LSU against North Texas.

The bout, originally set for April 29 at Boston Garden, was put off because of a bursitis spur on Pender's right heel.

Majors Warned by Counsel to Be Cooperative

New Loop Threatens Plea to Congress to Stop Interference

NEW YORK (UPI)—The surging Continental League today gave organized baseball an October deadline to "do something affirmative or get flattened."

"There are two alternatives if the established Major Leagues don't change their attitude on players and territories," said William A. Shea, aggressive Continental League legal counsel. "We can get help from Congress or take affirmative steps of our own."

Shea refused to expand in the latter course but, from the manner in which he said "we are ready to put on two pairs of brass knuckles," it was indicated that the proposed new league might be ready to ignore baseball's long-attached reserve clause contracts and bid for any and all players.

"We are tired of lip service for monopolistic reasons," he asserted. "It is time that the individual owners realized that they owe a debt to baseball and to the public and sit down with us honestly with a real desire to settle this situation."

Shea said that the organized Major Leagues "haven't done one thing to help" and that, while he had nothing personal against baseball commissioner Ford Frick, he was "dead against Frick lip service to Congress without making one single overt attempt to help."

★ ★ ★

The husky black-haired attorney admitted that he felt the proposed third Major League's position had been strengthened by impending approval of construction of a new stadium in New York.

"It is very definitely the key factor," he explained. "It gave us substance and now the rest of our cities can put on full steam ahead."

These cities are Atlanta, Dallas-Fort Worth, Houston, Denver, Minneapolis-St. Paul, Toronto and Buffalo.

Admitting that "something will have to be done by October" if the new league is to get into operation by its planned 1961 target season, Shea insisted that the Continental League was completely willing to cooperate.

★ ★ ★

"We dont want players off their rosters," he said. "But we want a chance at the players being held back in the minors. Yet it seems apparent that the 16 Major League owners selfishly insist on dividing up the United States and don't want anybody else in their private club."

Walled Lake Beats 'Jays on Track

Waterford Drubs Huskies

Waterford' Skippers and Walled Lake's Vikings ran roughshod over Inter-Lake opponents in yesterday's opening loop track competition at Pontiac Northern High and on the Walled Lake field.

The Skippers won seven events, tied anothr, for a 76 2/3-32 2/3 victory over the Huskies. Vikings dumped Southfield 73-38, with 11 firsts.

In another dual meet, at Cranbrook, the Cranes were edged 56-53 by Ann Arbor High, in a test decided by the mile run, in which Crane's John Ogden and Ann Arbor's Carl Allen finished in a tie at 4:37.5. A year ago Cranes lost to the same team by some 35 points.

Skippers' Yarber was a double winner, taking the 100, the 220 and leading the winning 880-relay team.

Gary Wilkoff (hurdles and broad jump, 880-relay) and Norm Smith (100, 220, tie, and 880-relay) were triple winners for Vikings. One record was set, by WL's George Beeman in the mile at 4:44.

Todd Williams set a school record in the high jump at 5-11¾ but finished 2nd to Ann Arbor's Jess Campbell at 6-2. Campbell also won the high sticks, was 3rd in lows, for 11 points. Williams had 11, on 2nds in high jump an high hurdles and first in the lows. Larry DeWitt had two firsts for his 11¾ points and Barney Crouse 10¼.

★ ★ ★

Farmington also got off to a good start in IL action, edging Berkley 59-50 in a meet decided when Berkley's Steve Meyer dropped the baton on the anchor leg of the 880-relay. Mike complied 15 points on wins in the 100, 220 and broad jump. Mike Tilder's 11 was winners' best.

In baseball Thursday, Lake Orion held off a late Clarkston rally to win its second straight outing, 3-2. Winner Dean Callison was among three Dragons with two hits apiece.

★ ★ ★

Down 3-0, Clarkston scored two in the 6th and had a man on 3rd with only one out in the 7th before a missed squeeze bunt ruined the threat. Bill Powell was impressive in relief of Dick Caverly. Don Marsh had two hits for the Wolves, who are now 2-2.

Bielat Signs With Pro-Grid NY Titans

NEW YORK (UPI) — Michigan State quarterback Larry Bielat has joined three other Spartans who have signed to play with the New York Titans of the American Football League.

Bielat, a strong passer, played in the annual Copper Bowl game at Tucson, Ariz., in January.

Ed Arcaro Gets Grounded, 'Shoe' May Join Him

NEW YORK (AP) — Jockeys Eddie Arcaro and Willie Shoemaker, the best of friends, could have plenty of time to play golf next week.

★ ★ ★

Arcaro was set down for 10 days by the Aqueduct stewards Thursday for careless riding in the fifth race Wednesday. That means Eddie will not be up on the Maine Chance Farm's highly regarded Never Give In when the $75,000 Wood Memorial is run April 23.

Big Klu, Shoemaker's horse in Thursday's fifth race, was disqualified after Arcaro charged his mount, Tufanhai, was interfered with at the three-eighths pole.

★ ★ ★

The stewards will review the race today and if they find Shoemaker at fault, then Willie likely will join pal Eddie on the ground for 10 days.

They both like to play golf.

The Penn State football team went unbeaten in 30 games between 1919 and 1922.

Oakland Grid Team Changes Nickname Fast

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Since the nickname 'Senors went over with a dull thud, the Oakland club of the American Football League Thursday changed it to Raiders.

Even the city council had passed a resolution lamenting the choice of Senors, which misspelled seniores.

"Public sentiment was too strong for us to uphold and defend the name 'Senors,' " said Gen. Mgr. Chet Soda. "We bow to our public."

Avila Assigned to Home Area

Milwaukee Holdout Joins Mexico City on Option

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—Holdout Bobby Avila meant it when he vowed to stay home all summer.

The 33-year-old Mexican native has been optioned to the Mexico City Tigers of the Mexican League after failing to reach a salary agreement with the Milwaukee Braves.

Avila arrived here Wednesday night and said the optioning was done at his own request.

Winner of the American League batting title in 1954 when he hit .341 for Cleveland, Avila spent 12 years in the major leagues. He played with Baltimore and Boston as well as Cleveland and Milwaukee.

Avila, used chiefly as a pinch hitter last season with the Braves, was placed on the major league restricted list recently when he did not sign his contract with Milwaukee. The Braves then agreed to assign his contract to Louisville of the American Association, from where he was optioned to Mexico City.

Game Men View Possibility of Heavy Deer Loss

LANSING (AP)—The weather in the next week or so will decide the extent of the winter and early spring deer starvation toll, conservation department game men report.

Only a week ago, it was predicted the toll would be just a fraction of the 500,000 to 600,000 deer herd.

But the picture changes daily and a heavy loss now is possible—particularly in the Upper Peninsula.

Maximum snow depths range about two feet in the Upper Peninsula and deer are in or near their winter yards. Exceptions are Dickinson and Menominee counties.

Game men recently found 29 starved deer in a 20-acre tract near L'Anse. Deer in other areas are in a weakened condition.

Spartan Eleven Banging Heads

EAST LANSING, Mich. (UPI)—Michigan State football coach Duffy Daugherty had his squad banging heads yesterday for the first time.

* * *

After the session, Daugherty only observed the players were perhaps a little faster than last year and were working hard but couldn't evaluate the potential of his crop of freshmen who would move to varsity status next season.

Daugherty watched closely as Mitch Newman, a junior fullback from Detroit Denby, crashed the line for sizable gains. Newman weighs only 163 pounds and is just five feet, seven.

Daugherty planned to scrimmage his squad by halves in two sessions tomorrow.

Matthews Gets Job as 'Take Charge Guy'

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Hard-hitting Eddie Mathews has a new job with the Milwaukee Braves today.

Manager Charlie Dressen named him as the "take charge guy" on defense in the infield.

Dressen said that when he played third base he was the "policeman" of the infield and he wanted Mathews "to do the same for us."

* * *

Red Schoendienst, veteran second baseman who has made a comeback after being out a year with tuberculosis was the infield director in 1958. But Dressen believes "he's got more things to do and look out for at second base."

"That's why I'm picking Mathews for the job," Dressen said. "He doesn't have as much to worry about at third.

"I talked it over with Eddie the other day and told him what I'd like to have him do.

* * *

"As an example, say the pitcher has to run a long ways on a little grounder, to beat the runner at first. I'd like to have Mathews come to the mound, talk things over and give the pitcher a chance to get a little rest. He'll be valuable on things like that."

Dressen's decision to make Mathews the infield leader was greeted with pleasure by catcher Del Crandall.

"I think Eddie is a leader," Del said. "He has a great deal of respect from all of us on the team.

* * *

"He isn't what you call a holler guy, but he's a leader just the same—he leads by example and is in there playing hard all the time.

"The guy has an all-around personality that commands respect and he's sacrificed himself personally more than once for the good of the club."

Maples Send 15 to Big Track Test

24 Chiefs at Mansfield

Under an overcast sky that dripped moisture all last night and this morning, Pontiac Central High's squad of 24 young athletes, and their coaches, at noon headed for Mansfield, Ohio, and the big nationally-rated Mansfield Relays. Chiefs won that meet once, during Hayes Jones' heyday as a prep star.

Looking at the possibilities in tomorrow's events, PCH Coach Dean Wilson said today, "I believe we will do a pretty good job down there. This squad is stronger all-around than the one that took the honors some years back. It's my opinion that this bunch of youngsters is the best we have ever taken to Mansfield."

When the squad left today, in a fleet of six new Pontiacs, there was one unusual situation. Chiefs have probably the three best prep shotputters in state circles. With all three shoving the iron ball out beyond the 55-foot mark, Wilson finally decided to take all three, with Brendell (Bill) Pritchett sure to start, after his 57-foot 8-inch toss last night, and the other starter to be named on the field, Saturday morning.

Charley Kimbrell goes too, as an alternate in the high jump.

Bill Ratcliff, sprinter, who took off some weight early this spring, and has shown marked improvement in the last week, Thursday afternoon was caught by three watches in one century run at 09.8 He won the 65-yard dash over a fast field at CMU a week ago and hit :10.3 in the 100-yard sprint Tuesday at Flint Central.

Among other Michigan teams entered for the meet are Birmingham Seaholm and Flint Northern. Flint Central, with a "down" squad this year, will not take part.

Farmington will have 15 boys in the meet.

Coach Kermit Ambrose of the Maples took 15 boys. His crew will be minus several seniors who are on the annual senior class trip to Washington. Maples' strength is mainly in the four relays.

Pontiac Central's squad includes:

High jump, Harper and Lee; broad jump, Walker and Joe McCauley; pole vault, Shorter; shotput, Pritchett, Brown and Rush; high hurdles, Prentis and Terry; 100-yard dash, Ratcliff; mile, Anderson; two-mile relay, Nelson, Lee, Ken R. Byrd and Johnson; shuttle-hurdle relay, Howes, Terry, Walker, Prentis (rated by coach Wilson as the best team Chiefs have had in the event); 220-yard dash, Ratcliff; 440-yard relay, Dick McCauley, Lacore, Howes and Ratcliff; low hurdles, Prentis and Terry; mile relay, Yocum, Mattingly, Lindsay and LaCore.

Birmingham's squad includes—broad jump and 220, Jacobson; hurdles, Mayhew; mile relay, Purvis, Andrus, Keller, Rathbun; two-mile relay, Stone, Keller, Harrison, Heydon; 880-relay, Purvis, Kulow, Simmons, Jacobson; medley relay, Green (880), Jacobson (220), Simmons (440), McPhee (mile).

Wayne Staters Blow 13-3 Lead, Lose 17-16 Tilt

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (UPI) —Wayne State's baseball team, humiliated in its opener with a 16-0 loss to Michigan, took a 13-3 lead over Bowling Green yesterday and then lost the game.

The Tartars finished on the short end of a 17-16 score in a slugfest which included six home runs—three by each team. Three of the homers were grand slams.

The Ohio squad trailed all the way to the eighth inning when Ron Moore hit a grand slammer deep into centerfield to finish the scoring. Bowling Green had to pick up 13 runs in the seventh and eighth innings to pull it out.

Also slapping grand slammers were Bowling Green's reserve second baseman Bob Boulton in the seventh and Wayne State's Larry Thow in the eighth.

Indians Drop Locke, Rookie Making Limit

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The Cleveland Indians were down to 28 men today—roster limit for the first month of the regular season. The squad has 14 pitchers, two catchers, five outfielders and seven infielders.

* * *

Latest to be dropped were right-handed pitcher Bobby Locke, optioned to Indianapolis on a 24-hour recall basis, and rookie infielder Mike de La Hoz, sent to Toronto.

TOLEDO, Ohio (UPI) — Good Friday recess was called today in the American Bowling Congress tournament here, but minor action resumes tonight with two more booster teams competing.

High team was Reiter Rogers Insurance of Napoleon, Ohio, with 2714.

The only regular ABC tournament action before Sunday night is a squad rolling in singles tomorrow.

Determine Seasons on Basis of Complaints

ALLEGAN (UPI)—Charles Friley, biologist at the Swan Creek Wildlife Experiment Station, says crop damage complaints will continue to determine the area included in Allegan County's special any deer hunting season.

Territory was added to the deer hunting area on the south and east last year because of complaints, Friley said. He emphasized the deer problem in the southern 40 per cent of Michigan's Lower Peninsula was different from the rest of the state.

SHORT RECORD — Chris Von Salza of the Santa Clara, Calif., Swim Club, is en route to tying the American and meet record for the 200-yard backstroke in the women's national AAU indoor championships at Bartlesville, Okla. Her time was 2:19.8 in a qualifying heat. Moments later teammate Lynn Burke bettered her effort with a record time of 2:17.5, breaking the mark set by Carin Cone in 1958.

Women Swimmers Set 4 U.S. Records at AAU

BARTLESVILLE, Okla. (AP)—Another onslaught on the records was expected in the National AAU women's indoor swimming and diving championships today.

The pattern was firmly established in Thursday's opening event and officials were confident that more records would be washed away today.

The nation's best swimmers, all eyeing the Olympic trials in Detroit, set four American records in as many swimming events. The three-day competition ends Saturday night.

Preliminaries were scheduled this afternoon in the 100 yard butterfly, 500 year freestyle, 100 yard breaststroke and the 400 yard freestyle relay, with finals in these same events tonight.

The record shattering activity Thursday was dominated by three Westerners—Chris Von Salza and Lynn Burke of the Santa Clara, Calif., Swim Club, and Sylvia Ruuska of Berkeley, Calif. A lone Easterner, Susan Rogers of Gardner, Mass., eased into the spotlight with a surprising record performance in the 250 yard breaststroke.

Little Men Named Among Nation's Top Prep Cagers

NEW YORK (AP) — The good little man—that is, one who stands six feet or under — hasn't disappeared entirely from the basketball scene. At least not in high school.

Of the 30 crack schoolboy stars who compromise the 1960 All-America high school basketball squad, three are six feet or under. The rest range all the way up to John Thompson (Archbishop Carroll High of Washington, D.C.), who stands 6-11.

The all-stars, representing 20 states and the District of Columbia, were picked by Scholastic Magazines, the national educational weeklies. This marks the fifth annual selections.

The shortest member of the squad is 5-10½ Doug Hatton of Clinton, Miss. George Leftwich, who teamed up with Thompson to lead Archbishop Carroll to post-season championships in Washington, D.C., and in Newport, R.I., is a six-footer who was voted the player of the year in the nation's capital for the second year in a row.

Six-footer Don Kessinger of Forrest City, Ark., is the other little man by basketball standards.

Crab Grass Will Soon Be Extinct

"New chemicals kill seedlings and keep crabgrass out of lawns permanently!" says William H. Daniel, Purdue University turf specialist, in the March issue of The American Home magazine.

In his article, "Farewell To Crabgrass," Daniel tells about the new materials that can prevent crabgrass. One application any time before crabgrass gets started will keep the pest out of good grasses for the season, he says.

All a lawn owner has to do is spread toxic concentrations of the proper materials uniformly over a lawn, and crabgrass seedlings will be killed soon after they germinate. Established grasses (those already growing) won't be seriously affected, so only the crabgrass will be selectively prevented.

This is known as pre-emergent treatment. The other and more familiar way to control crabgrass is to kill the plants after they have grown by applying chemicals to the foliage. This post-emergent method currently requires a minimum of two applications, usually made in mid-summer.

Observe common-sense rules and precautions when storing and using crabgrass preventives. Follow the instructions on the package just as you would for any other garden chemical. Research men and product distributors have found no evidence of harm to pets or children.

Don't put crabgrass preventers on unless a lawn is established. On old lawns apply either in autumn or very early spring. If a new lawn was started from seed last fall, it may be treated early this spring. Lawn grasses should be big enough to have been mowed twice; their larger size and deeper roots increase their resistance.

Get Busy Right Away on 'Snow Mold' Problem

Each year 'Snow Mold' causes considerable damage to home lawns, especially where large snow drifts occur in shaded areas. Typical symptoms are white or pink patches of dead grass which develop, just as the last snow melts. Continual water seepage from snow drifts seriously aggravates this problem.

The normal control practice consists of spraying these annual trouble spots in January or early February on bare ground, and again as the snow melts in late March. One of the mercury materials will check further development

Efficiency Goes With Labels, Lists

You can make labels an important part of your maintenance program. Every time you oil a motor or some small appliance, make a note of it. A tag on each of the larger items is an excellent reminder, and one that's not likely to get lost.

Put a lawn mower check list in the garage. On it, note when mower was last sharpened, adjusted, oiled and greased.

Near your garden tools hang a master list showing every tree and shrub in your yard. Note when you fertilize them, how much of what kind of fertilizer you used, and what insecticides you applies.

Better than little sticks in the ground with names on them, is a list of your tulips and where they're planted. It will prevent the tragedy of accidentally digging them up.

And it will help you to identify them when they come up again in the spring.

Inside Garden Joins Forces With Outside

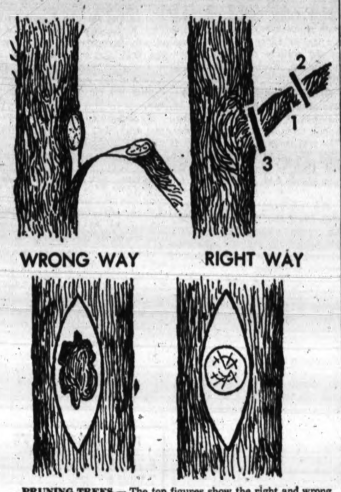
One pleasing effect which can be gained by the use of an indoor garden, is to build it adjoining a flower bed outside the window. This gives the appearance that the garden continues in an unbroken indoor-outdoor pattern.

In places where picture windows or window walls do not extend all the way to the floor, the same effect can be achieved by placing a window box on the floor and hanging another outside at the same level.

The primary purpose of a window garden is to add a touch of color to the room and at the same time create a pleasant setting when viewed through the window.

For this reason some care should be taken to see that flowers are properly arranged so they become attractive from both indoors and out.

It's always a good rule-of-thumb to keep any varieties which grow tall and bushy off to one side and away from the glass. Although pretty, they can spoil the view and block a lot of sunlight if planted in the center of the window.



PRUNING TREES — The top figures show the right and wrong way to prune trees. Step by step method prevents tearing of bark. Bottom figures show how bark should be trimmed around cuts and wounds and then covered with a protective shellac, tar or tree wound dressing. From the Golden Garden Guide, edited by John Strohm, published by Golden Press, Inc.

Golden Garden Guide Advises Homeowners

Every summer more and more families are living in the out-of-doors around their homes — on patios, porches, lawns and yards. Since the outdoor room has become the center of family fun, its decor is now quite as important as that of its inside counterparts.

As an aid to planning outdoor living areas, Golden Press published on March 28th, The Golden Garden Guide edited by John Strohm and prepared in cooperation with the Ford Motor Company. The book has been designed as a handbook of gardening and outdoors living and it guides the reader from the first important stages of planning to the completion of his outdoor living room. Included are detailed tips and instructions on lawns, trees and shrubs, building a patio or terrace, growing flowers outdoors — and indoors to move outdoors — lighting, tools, furniture and cooking equipment.

Designed primarily for the gardener who is not an expert, The Golden Garden Guide will enable anyone to transform his grounds into a beauty-filled living area. Helpful temperature maps show when to start planting in any section of the country. Charts assure perfectly planted bulbs, show selections of mulches and indicate correct growing conditions for indoor plants. Four-color photographs illustrate beautiful outdoor areas to give the reader ideas and show what can be accomplished with a bit of imagination.

In addition, special regional sections have been prepared by well-known gardening authorities. Since gardening activities vary somewhat with climate, these regional sections present the techniques described in detail elsewhere in the book in terms of specific areas of the country.

Frederick R. Rockwell, author of numerous gardening books and senior editor of Flower Garden magazine has edited the section on the Northeast. Charles J. Hudson, writer and broadcaster on gardening subjects, is the editor of the chapter on the South, and the West and Midwest have been covered under the supervision of Richard D. Westcott and Dr. Milton Carleton respectively.

Also included are chapters devoted to vegetables, fruit trees and plants, soil improvement and tools. This latter has been edited by William L. Meachem, a specialist in garden equipment.

The Golden Garden Guide is designed as a companion volume to the Ford Almanacs, which are also edited by John Strohm and published each year by Golden Press.

Artificial Light Will Help Plants

An increasing number of home garden enthusiasts are learning the advantages of fluorescent and incandescent lights as an aid to plant growth.

* * *

Arrangement for gardening by artificial light range from the use of an ordinary table lamp to specially-constructed planters with built-in lighting that is automatically trimmed.

To help your plants stay vigorous follow these simple rules:

1. Use both fluorescent and incandescent lighting alternately. Experts agree that plants grow better when they receive both types of light.

2. Whether potted plants are grouped on a shelf, tray, or in a planter, see to it that they are all the same distance from the light source. This can be done by placing an inverted clay pot or a block of wood under the smaller pots.

3. When using incandescent light, a 75-watt bulb or larger is recommended. It should be situated no closer than two feet from the plants, and no farther than four feet.

4. One 85-watt fluorescent tube, or two 40-watt tubes, will be sufficient for this type of lighting. These tubes can be placed closer to plants than an incandescent bulb because they burn cooler.

5. Remember that plants generally require a daily light exposure of 16 hours.

Use Power Mower Right to Aid Grass

LANSING, Mich. — Don't smother your grass!

It's possible.

To avoid "killing" new grass, use a power mower on new and old lawns in the right way.

For healthy, growing new lawns, the power mower operator should cut the grass in a clockwise pattern, thus enabling the clippings to be thrown on the uncut area and then recut as you follow this pattern.

It is important in the development of a new lawn to allow room for each new blade of grass to grow freely and not be smothered by clippings.

On firmly established lawns a power mower should be operated in a crisscross pattern. This allows the old grass to form a mat, thus choking out weeds or quack grass which might form. Missed blades of grass also would be snipped.

Don't worry about older blades of grass being hit several times by a cutter, because the old blades can survive where the younger ones would die.

Flower Kits Bring Color Indoors

Living color can be a part of your interior decorations. This year you can decorate with colorful flower kits that actually bloom indoors in 7 to 10 weeks. You'll find that fresh, growing flowers not only add warmth and atmosphere to your home, but provide that spot of bright color wherever you need it.

Now, plastic seed kits that actually bloom indoors during every season are available at local stores. You can choose the brilliant red and white dwarf Pinks to blend with the living room drapery, or pure lemon-colored Marigolds for the mantle.

It's easy to grow these kits for rooms that need a spot of color. The kits will grow best on your window sill but for special occasions they can be used as centerpieces or wherever you want to add living color to your rooms.

Bright-hued Coleus plants are colorful from the day they come up. Fresh green Parsley will add that summer-time look to any kitchen. Blooming Lemon-drop Dwarf Marigolds and Dwarf Peppermint Pinks are perfect for the living room.

Of course, these plants will need extra fertilizer when they are six to eight weeks old, but they come fertilized and ready to grow in colorful plastic kits.

Yard Care Begins With Good Tools

Without attempting to evaluate every new product that comes along — many of which may have considerable merit — it's still safe to say that the tools needed to make and maintain a fine stretch of grass are few, simple and relatively inexpensive.

With a mower, spreader, hose, sprinkler and a couple of rakes you're set to work. Add a pair of grass shears to give a well-barbered look.

Other tools are available. Those are basic.

You could let other tools go to pot and no one would ever know. Allow your lawn tools to get out of shape and everyone will spot the evidence of their poor condition in the job they do, right out in front of your home.

Follow a regular program of maintenance and inspection. If you hauled your tools out of the garage this year without getting them in order, you're working harder right now than you should have to. And right about the middle of the summer they're going to give out.

* * *

The lawn mower needs the most attention. Even normal use will cause it to get dull, in time.

Oil moving parts often. Several times during the summer, remove the wheels of your hand mower and grease gears and gear track. Don't just set the cutting height once and forget it. Check it frequently.

When you raise or lower the wooden roller, make certain the adjustment is identical at both ends.

Keep the knife in adjustment. The blades should just touch it as they revolve. You can sharpen a hand mower by moving blades in reverse against the knife, which has been coated with emery paste.

If you have a power mower, clean the air filter often. Check the spark plug at regular intervals. Follow the manufacturer's directions for lubricating.

Have reel-type mowers sharpened professionally. The blade of a rotary mower can be sharpened at home, after removal from the mower. It can be placed in a vise and filed, carefully, to preserve its balance. Be sure blade is snugged down when you replace it.

Used even more frequently than the mower is the hose. No moving parts, nothing to wear — and still it wears out. Hoses can be expected to give out when they get good and old, but don't shorten their lives.

Don't drag a hose, especially over cement. Put the hose away after every use. A hose filled with water and left in the hot sun won't last long. The heated water breaks down the hose. If a hose springs a leak, don't throw it away. Cut out the bad spot and rejoin the ends with a hose-mender. You can buy one in any hardware store.

Hose washers are inexpensive. Replace them often. You'll avoid puddles around every connection. A drop of oil will make nozzles and sprinklers work easier.

With fertilizer to spread frequently, plus a host of substances to attack weeds and insects, the spreader has become an important piece of equipment.

Not only does it make the spreading job easier, but more efficient and economical as well.

Oil moving parts — the wheels and the mechanism that opens and closes the spreader.

Empty the spreader when you've finished using it. Easiest way to do this is to open the spreader to its largest opening and push it back and forth a few times. Put the spreader away dry and clean.

Rakes and grass shears should be kept clean, free of rust. Wipe metal parts with an oily cloth. Sand wooden handles.

Vary Lines of Plantings in Planning Landscape

There's nothing like a new hat or hair-do to boost a woman's morale. Likewise, your home and grounds can take on a new look with the help of landscape planning.

A practical and functional, yet attractive, approach is the aim of landscape planning, says Joseph Cox, extension specialist in landscape architecture at Michigan State University. Part of this effect is achieved through the use of "line."

When planning a landscape, whether for a brand new home or redeveloping an older building, much consideration is devoted to the line of the plantings.

Cox says "good" use of line will make any portion of the landscape more pleasing and attractive.

Uncomplimentary lines which repeat the lines of the building may become monotonous or distracting. A row of plants following the same line as a sidewalk may draw too much attention to the walk itself, and not enough to the doorway it leads to.

If your home is composed of predominantly straight lines, curved walks and plantings will be more pleasing. To create interest, it is best to combine and blend straight and curved lines, Cox advises.

The landscape specialist adds that the lines of your home and the existing walks, driveway and plants can give hints for additional landscaping ideas.

Plants should be about 1 or 1½ times their mature spread away from the building. For instance, a fully grown shrub with a spread of four feet should be planted four to six feet away from any structure, measured from the center of the plant. This protects the plant from roof-drippings and gives it more sun and rain.

Large spaces between plantings can be covered with smaller plants or flowers. Shrubs should be varied with different plants, always trying to maintain a pleasing balance.

Good plantings don't have to stand out. If they are well done they will look natural and not forced. The aim of using plants is to achieve harmony between the structure and its surroundings.

House Rejects Budget for Colleges by Big Vote

LANSING (UPI) — The House rejected a compromise higher education budget plan by an overwhelming margin today as hope dwindled for a routine windup of the 1960 legislative session by this evening.

Also a Senate-House bargaining team agreed shortly before noon to recommend a hike of $1,250 in pay and expenses for lawmakers, down from the original plan of $2,500. But there was a possibility of rejection by both Houses.

The GOP-dominated Senate voted 30-13 along party lines to accept a conference committee's plan for around 100 million dollars for higher education.

But the House vote was 12-63 for the report, with 56 needed for adoption.

The House immediately renamed its same conferees and the Senate indicated it would do the same.

By 11:30 a.m., the Senate had rejected compromise suggestions on two relatively minor proposals, thus increasing the workload during what were to be the final hours of the regular session.

The possibility of extending the session another day was raised by House Republican Leader Allison Green, (Kingston).

"If we aren't through by midnight, we may come back tomorrow," Green said.

Easter Services Flood Moscow

Russian Churches to Be Crowded; Foreign Clergymen in City

MOSCOW (AP) — The Easter season is generating an unusual flurry of religious activity in this citadel of communism this year.

The Eastern Orthodox church's observance of Easter this year falls on the same day as that in the Western world, and Soviet Union churches in Moscow will be crowded. The foreign colony is attending services led by four foreign clergymen, an almost unheard of number to be officiating at one time in Moscow.

American Roman Catholics attended a midnight adoration of the Eucharist in "Our Lady of Hope" chapel, which the Rev. Louis Dion maintains in his Moscow apartment. Father Dion, from Worcester, Mass., arrived here just a year ago as the American priest the Soviet government permits to serve the American colony.

A candlelight communion service for Protestants was held Thursday in the American Embassy by Capt. Thomas L. McMinn Jr. of Odenton, Md., an Army chaplain who is on a two-week visit to friends. He also scheduled Good Friday services and an Easter service Sunday at Spaso House, the residence of U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson.

★ ★ ★

In Moscow's only Roman Catholic church for Soviets, Polish-born Father Broninski is holding services.

Orthodox churches in the Soviet capital are always thronged for Easter, with older people still faithful to their religion despite the teaching of communism. The highlights will be great candlelight processions in Zalgovechensky Cathedral, the seat of Metropolitan Nikolai, and at Nonodevichi Monastery.

Auto Sales in April Ahead 11 Pct.

DETROIT (AP)—Ward's Automotive Reports said auto sales in the April 1-10 period totaled 160,420.

The statistical agency said yesterday the sales — up more than 11 per cent over the same period last year — represented "a most creditable showing for this time of year."

J. O. Wright, Ford Motor Co. vice president and Ford Division general manager, commented that the spring upturn in sales has arrived in the auto industry.

Wright said sales of Ford cars and trucks during the first 10 days of April were up 20 per cent over the comparable period of March.

Ward's said the total April 1-10 sales "topped the year-ago period by 11.1 per cent, bringing purchasing since Jan. 1 to 12.8 per cent above last year."

COMPACTS GET 26.1 PCT.

The agency said the six U.S. compact cars claimed 26.1 per cent of the domestic sales in the April 1-10 period. This compares to 22 per cent in February.

For the April 1-10 period, General Motors sold 45.7 per cent of the autos; Ford 28.9 per cent; Chrysler 15.5 per cent; American Motors 8.3 per cent; and Studebaker-Packard 1.6 per cent.

Meanwhile Automotive News said today domestic car output is estimated at 143,685 units this week with the six compacts taking 26.5 per cent of total production.

This week's output compares with 133,299 units last week and 136,101 units during the comparable week last year.

Partisan Row No Picnic for Mayor Miriani

DETROIT (UPI) — Louis Miriani, nonpartisan mayor of Detroit, was in the middle of a partisan ruckus today following an announcement that he is an honorary cochairman of a fund-raising picnic honoring Sen. Pat McNamara (D-Mich).

Rep. Alvin M. Bentley (R-Mich), who hopes to unseat McNamara in the November election, was upset by the announcement.

Miriani, vacationing in Phoenix, Ariz., told his executive secretary by phone last night he didn't know the picnic was a fund-raising affair.

School Lunches Cost Least in City, Lyon Twp.

The Pontiac and Lyon Township school systems provide the over-all lowest price lunches for pupils, out of 24 school districts in Oakland County.

★ ★ ★

Figures were reported to the Board of Education last night by Dr. Otto C. Hufziger, assistant superintendent of schools.

A uniform lunch rate of 25 cents is charged in the Pontiac and South Lyon elementary, junior and senior high schools.

The Hazel Park school system is the highest, charging 40 cents per plate in the senior high school.

★ ★ ★

A number of other school systems charge 35 cents per plate at the senior high level. Royal Oak lunches in the senior high school cost 38 cents.

Convicted Woman Clouts Photographer

LANSING (AP)—An irate Lansing housewife smashed twice at a photographer with her umbrella today as she appeared for sentencing after conviction of theft of a 16-cent greeting card.

Mrs. Mary K. Siegrist, 45, was sentenced to two years probation and ordered to pay $200 costs by Circuit Judge Louis E. Coash.

The charge was larceny from a building with a possible maximum sentence of four years in prison and $1,000 fine.

T. E. Lawrence's Pal Eric Kennington Dies

READING, England (AP) — Eric Henri Kennington, 72, artist and sculptor and longtime intimate of Lawrence of Arabia, died today after a seven-month illness.

Kennington carved the bronze head of T. E. Lawrence now in St. Paul's Cathedral in London and did most of the drawings for Lawrence's famous book, "The Seven Pillars of Wisdom."

He was an official war artist from 1916 to 1919 and again in World War II between 1940 and 1943.

HOODED NEGRO — This South African political leader wears a hood to conceal his identity in an interview on a British TV show. Meanwhile, Prime Minister Verwoerd is reported to be making progress although he still carries two assassin's bullets in his head. Police continue to crack down on the strife-torn nation.

Castro Leads Men Against Insurgents

LAS MERCEDES, Cuba (AP)—An insurgent former officer of Fidel Castro's army today continued to elude crack government mountain troops in a chase over the soggy pinnacles of east Cuba's Sierra Maestra.

Castro is directing operations in the ninth day of an intensive manhunt for ex-Capt. Manuel Beaton and his band of armed guerrillas, believed to number about 50 men. Fidel's brother Raul, the armed forces chief, and other top commanders also are in the field.

Boycott Hangs Over Africa

Negroes Told to Stay Away From Jobs for One-Week Strike

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—South Africa's government braced today to meet the threat of another crippling Negro work boycott protesting the white regime's stern racial policies.

Police kicked off a new series of raids against "inciters and agitators," rounding up 100 persons in the African settlement of Orlando, on the outskirts of Johannesburg.

★ ★ ★

The outlawed African National Congress' emergency committee circulated pamphlets through Orlando and other Johannesburg Negro settlements Thursday calling for a one-week work boycott beginning Monday.

★ ★ ★

Deputy Police Commissioner C. J. Lemmer warned that "the hundreds of thousands of law abiding Africans must not stay away from work."

"They must ignore the pamphlets if they have received them. They must not allow themselves to be intimidated," Lemmer declared, adding that "police will be on duty in full force and will be able to provide all the protection needed."

The government of wounded Prime Minister Hendrik F. Verwoerd clearly planned to take all necessary measures to prevent a repetition of the no-work campaign—a potent economic weapon in this country where three million whites lean heavily on the labor of 10 million Negroes.

Show in New York Saturday

Foreign Cars Battle to Hold U.S. Market

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Automotive Writer

NEW YORK — Foreign cars, fighting a desperate battle to keep a foothold in the United States market, will open their most extensive American display at New York's Coliseum Saturday.

More than 80 makes will crowd into 230,000 square feet of exhibition space for an eight-day run of the largest auto show ever staged in this country.

But right along with the impressive array of imports will be the six domestic compact cars which are causing nightmares among many import car dealers — the Falcon, Rambler, Corvair, Valiant, Lark and Comet.

Last year's sales of American compact cars about equalized the sales of foreign cars in this country. So far this year the U.S. margin is about 2½ to 1.

★ ★ ★

For the first time since foreign cars became a factor in the U.S. market their sales have tapered off. A survey by Automotive News of the major import centers such as Los Angeles, Miami and New York shows registrations running well behind last year's figures. And in almost every case the dealers are placing the blame directly on the Detroit compacts.

★ ★ ★

Latest national registrations of the volume imports show only Volkswagen and Renault equaling or bettering last year's performance. Other lines with the exception of strictly sports cars and luxury models are off slightly to seriously.

Most recent estimates show that about 1,400,000 foreign cars are registered in the United States. More than 40 per cent of these were bought new last year and more than one million of them are less than three years old.

Chevrolet, Ford and Plymouth say that possibly because of this foreign car trade-ins on the Corvair, Falcon and Valiant so far have been insignificant.

But Ed Cole of Chevrolet quickly points out Corvair sales are best in what have been regarded as the foreign car citadels—such as Los Angeles.

Big Three officials feel their smaller cars are attracting buyers who otherwise would have gone to imports. Dealers offering both a domestic make and a foreign car find themselves under increasing pressure to push the domestic brand. And these dealers account for some 12,000 of the 15,000 foreign car outlets.

William Henry Harrison, the ninth president of the United States, was the first chief executive to die in office.

Rigid Passports Could Slash Castro's Income

Ike May Halt Tourists Going to Cuba

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON — A group of powerful U.S. senators is preparing to urge that President Eisenhower slap rigid passport restrictions on American travel to Fidel Castro's Cuba.

★ ★ ★

Chairman Styles Bridges of the Senate Republican Policy Committee is rallying support for the precedent - shattering limitation that would prohibit practically all Americans from setting foot on the Red-tinged island off our Southern coast.

Historically, except during the two world wars, Americans have traveled to Havana with virtually the same ease as a New Yorker goes to Chicago.

No documents or passports are required, and about the only delay is experienced at the customs counter, where travelers declare their purchases.

IN RUSSIA'S CLASS

All of this would now be changed if the high-ranking senators have their way. Anyone wishing to visit Cuba would have to apply for a passport, just as he does to Russia or Germany, but the criteria for travel would be far harder to meet.

The Bridges group wants the State Department to refuse all applications, unless the person has urgent business interests in Cuba—and can prove it.

No new legislation is needed to put the drastic travel restrictions into operation. A law passed in 1952 makes it unlawful for any citizen to depart or enter the United States without a valid passport, during wartime or a state of national emergency.

★ ★ ★

The President is permitted to make exceptions, and a few days before leaving office President Truman exempted all of Latin America.

The state of national emergency declared at the outbreak of the Korean War is still in effect, which means that the President or secretary of state could issue a simple order requiring passports for Cuba, and establishing certain criteria.

This step would place Castro's Cuba in highly exclusive company. The only other nation on which the State Department places hard-to-meet travel restrictions is Communist Hungary. Three others—Communist Viet Nam, North Korea and Red China—are completely out of bounds to American tourists.

★ ★ ★

Cuba, once our warm friend and ally, has maintained its economy for many decades by virtue of two priceless commodities—sugar and the American tourist trade.

Now that the bearded Castro is conducting a ceaseless hate barrage against the United States, and openly making deals with Russia and Red China, both assets are seriously threatened.

Democratic Sen. George Smathers, as well as Bridges and several other leading spokesmen of both parties are urging that we cease paying Cuba a sugar subsidy, and consider revoking its quota allotment.

Tourist travel to the strife-torn island has fallen off so alarmingly in recent months that five waiters frequently hover over one customer in hotel dining rooms. About the only people at the once-thriving gambling tables are hired croupiers.

With the Cuban economy bordering on a state of collapse, Castro launched a multi-million-dollar advertising campaign to lure U.S. tourists to Havana.

Instead of risking their lives in Cuba, however, Americans flocked to other nearby Caribbean islands in record-breaking numbers. The outcome: The neighbors whom Castro despises have never had it so good.

Says Lawyer Fees Lag Behind in Long Run

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—John C. Satterfield, president-elect of the American Bar Assn., claims a lawyer must charge his clients at least $20 an hour to attain take-home pay of $15,000 a year.

Satterfield, of Jackson, Miss., told a lawyers' meeting yesterday attorneys' incomes have failed to increase as fast as those of other professions. He said physicians are getting 157 per cent more than they got 25 years ago while lawyers are only making 38 per cent more.

Mother Time Won't Let HST Play Politics

NEW YORK (AP) — Harry S. Truman doesn't have any personal dark horse notions at the Democratic convention.

Asked by a reporter if he might be available in event of a deadlock over the presidential nomination, the ex-president said:

"There's an old woman who keeps following me. Her name is anno domini, and she is going to count 76 on me this May. "If she'd only turn the clock back 15 years.

In New Mexico the dog was the Indians' only domesticated animal until they were introduced to sheep and horses by 16th Century Spanish colonists.

New York Committee Wants Million Names for Convention

NEW YORK (UPI)—A new Stevenson for president committee hopes to get more than one million signatures from the New York City area alone backing the 1960 presidential candidacy of Adlai Stevenson, its founders said today.

★ ★ ★

David Garth, television producer and committee chairman, said his group intended to bring their petitions to the Democratic nominating convention in Los Angeles in July to show the "grass roots" support for Stevenson.

Garth said there appeared a good chance the convention would be deadlocked and that Stevenson would then be the obvious choice.

He said his committee had not contacted Stevenson who has said he is not a candidate but has avoided ruling out a draft.

★ ★ ★

There are 24 similar but separate groups throughout the country, Garth said. The New York committee, founded only last Monday, has already drawn almost 300 volunteer workers and it will cooperate with other Stevenson groups, he said.

Third Man to Fly Dies in N.Y. at 95

NEW YORK (AP) — Dr. William Whitney Christmas, credited with being the next man to fly an airplane after the Wright Brothers' success, died Thursday in Bellevue Hospital.

On March 8, 1908, he flew a powered, heavier-than-air machine—the third man to do so.

He would have been 95 Sept. 1.

Dr. Christmas, an aeronautical scientist, also is credited with inventing the aileron, a part of the trailing edge of a wing which helps a plane maneuver.

He developed a plane in 1918 known as the Christmas bullet, said to have been the speediest craft of its day.

Dr. Christmas held patents on more than 300 inventions.

SORRY, KIDS, NO EASTER — The Easter Bunny is in jail. All over the county is heard the mournful cry of disappointed, disillusioned children. "We caught him trying to skip town after dirupting traffic," says Battle Creek State Police Trooper Robert Pomeroy. "It was with a tear in my eye and a sob in my throat that I took him into custody. I would hardly believe the furry fellow could have gone astray if I hadn't seen him." (Had you scared kids? We were only foolin'.)

Newest 'Summer' Sport

BOYNE FALLS (AP) — Die-hard Boyne Mountain Lodge Thursday reported 4 to 4½ feet of corn snow base and announced it will be open Saturday and Sunday for skiing.

It is believed the only Michigan winter resort still operating.

President Everett Kircher announced work soon will start on two new double chair lifts for the resort. Completion by next season will give Boyne Mountain five double chair lifts.

28 Million Acres of Land Retired

8 Per Cent of Farm Acreage Is Set Aside Under Soil Bank

WASHINGTON (AP) — Contracts signed by farmers this year brought to 28,432,186 the number of acres of cropland retired from production under the conservation reserve part of the soil bank program. This is equivalent to about 8 per cent of the nation's total cropland.

★ ★ ★

The program is designed to help cut overproduction by idling land which otherwise would add to top-heavy crop surpluses.

The Agriculture Department reported that 6,317,946 acres were added to the retirement program this year. Owners will get rental payments averaging $13.50 an acre to offset returns they otherwise would get rom the land. The 1960 signup exceeded the department's goal by slightly more that one million acres.

Approximately 80 per cent of the farmers placing new land in the program for 1960 elected to come in on a "whole farm" basis—that is, to place all their cropland under contract. This means the entire farm is withdrawn from crops and usually from livestock production as well.

★ ★ ★

The five leading states in retiring land this year are Kansas, North Dakota, Oklahoma, South Dakota and Texas. Significantly, all are wheat states. Wheat is the No. 1 surplus problem.

Modern Woes Shackle Mail

Pony Express Sputters

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—A modern Pony Express, beset by problems the original never would have dreamed of, headed for San Francisco today by truck and horse.

Rider Jack Nolan arrived in the state capital Thursday on a tired horse and without the mail.

A shortage of riders, tired horses, an unexpected snowstorm and a disabled truck made the arrival a day late.

"We burned out the valves of the truck engine on the Austin (Nevada) summit," explained driver George Launder.

★ ★ ★

"Not enough horses and riders," said Nolan, who also lives in Culver City, Calif.

The real Pony Express, which carried the mail from St. Joseph, Mo., to Sacramento in 1860-61, used 70 riders who switched horses regularly during the 1,966-mile gallop.

Nolan, a gunsmith, alternated riding with Bill Cower, a driving instructor. They had four horses.

The original Pony Express started its first run April 3, 1860, and arrived in Sacramento April 13. From here, the mail went on down the Sacramento River to San Francisco by steam boat.

The modern-day version drove in from Placerville, Nolan riding his tired horse only from the city limits.

CBS Aids Philharmonic to Extend Summer Tour

NEW YORK (AP)—The Columbia Broadcasting System says it is giving the New York Philharmonic Orchestra money to help pay for a tour of 26 cities, including Detroit, this summer.

The amount of money was not disclosed. The orchestra planned a three-week tour, but the extra money will enable it to spend seven weeks on tour.

Cancer Foundation Offers April Education Crusade

Interested groups may borrow films on cancer from the North Oakland Branch of the Michigan Cancer Foundation, 66 W. Lawrence St.

★ ★ ★

Use of the films is promoted by the branch as part of the organization's 1960 educational crusade during April.

A speaker will present the film free of charge to those requesting it. A doctor may also attend the sessions to answer questions.

The foundation, a member of the Pontiac Area United Fund, Inc., is not soliciting funds during this crusade.

KNOWLEDGE, PURPOSE

Its purpose is to educate citizens about the disease, according to Ralph Norvell, crusade chairman.

The local information center will assist those who want to know more about the services and purpose of the Foundation.

"Knowledge is power," said Norvell. "Only by knowing the facts about cancer . . . its symptoms and treatment and what to do about controlling it . . . can an individual protect himself against attack."

★ ★ ★

The educational films are on loan for 16 mm projectors. They may be used before clubs and organizations, schools, business and industrial groups and similar assemblies, Norvell said.

The films run from 10 to 30 minutes.

The slogan for this ninth annual crusade is, "Don't Just Hope . . . Be Sure, Get a Cancer Checkup."

Jack's Not His Man, Yet

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — "Absolutely not true," Gov. Edmund G. Brown said Thursday of reports he had pledged his support to fellow-Catholic John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) for the Democratic presidential nomination.

FIRE the Chief of Police!

Make the City Manager a DICTATOR!

EVADE the Circuit Court Decision!

Put the Police Chief in POLITICS!

THROTTLE Justice and Fair Play!

That's What Charter Amendment No. 1 Does!

IS THAT WHAT YOU VOTERS WANT?

That's what five of your City Commissioners and the City Manager want. The five man "click" of Commissioners Donaldson, Dugan, Miles, Rowston and Wood voted to put this vicious charter amendment on the ballot.

They want to be able to FORCE the City Manager to FIRE a Police Chief at will, without notice or without cause and without a Trial Board hearing, for any personal reason whatever. Below, is exactly the way it reads, just as it appears in the Amendment —

"The Manager may dismiss from the service or demote to lower rank, the Chief of Police, whenever in his opinion such action may be necessary."

CONTROL THE CHIEF

Is that what you citizens want? Do you want to make it possible for any future body of city commissioners and any city manager the commissioners might appoint, to CONTROL the Police Chief, body and soul. The Chief could be made to do their bidding or be fired without even stating a reason.

WHY CREATE A POLITICAL PLUM

Our present city manager, who has publicly stated that he knows nothing about a police department or police work is to be GIVEN DICTATORIAL POWER AND ABSOLUTE CONTROL to fire a police chief. WHAT HAPPENS IF YOU GET AN INCOMPETENT OR DISHONEST CITY MANAGER?

What might be wrong in the Police department, can't be solved by making the Police Chief's post a "POLITICAL PLUM". This newspaper, The Chamber of Commerce and even the very few disgruntled policemen should know this. City department heads have been fired without sound reason at the insistence of a city commissioner and the city manager knows this is true.

WHY ONLY THE POLICE CHIEF?

The Fire Dept. Chief can't be fired without filing formal charges and a public civil service hearing. It takes a five man majority of city commissioners and a formal public hearing to fire our City Manager. WHY THEN SINGLE OUT THE POLICE CHIEF? Why make it possible for the manager to CONTROL THE POLICE CHIEF? Why make it possible to exert POLITICAL PULL? Why return to the day of "ticket fixing", and "special favors", and "gutter politics".

EVADE THE COURT—"GET STRALEY"

Stop and think—this is an effort pure and simple to "get Straley". It's an effort to EVADE the COURT DECISION. They want to THROTTLE FAIR PLAY and JUSTICE. Let's keep the Police Chief OUT OF POLITICS. He can be fired now, under the charter, for just cause. But he cannot be fired for enforcing all the laws and the rules and regulations of the police department. Nor, can he be fired because he may not be liked personally.

ALL NEIGHBORING CITIES PROTECT THEIR CHIEF

Why don't they be honest about it and tell you that more than 28 major Michigan cities all give this protection to their Police Chief. Every sizable city near Pontiac, including Birmingham, Ferndale, Royal Oak, Detroit, Flint, Dearborn and the Mich. State Police provide either civil service or a public-hearing body to KEEP THE POLICE CHIEF OUT OF POLITICS.

LOOK TO THE FUTURE

Should Pontiac do less? Can't we trust a responsible trial board of upstanding citizens? Do you want gambling and vice interests to someday capture control of city government? What would happen then? Can we afford to take that chance ment? They could you know, and they keep trying. What just to satisfy the "five man city hall click" now, that refuses to accept and abide by the Circuit Court decision?

VOTE AGAINST AMENDMENT NO. 1

There is but one way to KEEP THE POLICE CHIEF OUT OF POLITICS, regardless of who is Chief. That's for YOU Mr. and Mrs. Voter to DEFEAT Charter Amendment No. 1 next Monday at the City Election. Vote AGAINST THE AMENDMENT . . . Vote NO.

Be Sure -- On Charter Amendment No. 1

Alaskans Await Gambling Game —Ice to Crack

NENANA, Alaska (UPI) — At some instant within the next few weeks, the ice of the frozen Tanana River here will crack and begin to move.

That moment, precisely recorded by an electronic device attached to a tripod in the center of the river, will make somebody rich. It also will mark the first legalized Nenana ice pool in Alaska history.

The object of this frontier gambling game is to guess the day, hour and minute that the river ice gives way to spring.

The big game is to Alaskans what the Irish Sweepstakes are to Ireland. The ice pool, which has reached $150,000 proportions in recent years, has been an annual event since 1913 when a group of engineers initiated the game as an exciting way to signal the arrival of spring.

Until this year, the Nenana ice classic has gone its own way with Alaskans looking the other way lest they spot any legal obstacle. The 1960 Alaska Legislature decided, nothwithstanding the new state's antigambling law and Gov. William Egan's veto, to sanctify the ice lottery with a statue which also legalizes bingo games and raffles.

LANSING (UPI) — Wrangles over spending on college operations, state buildings and pay raises for public servants stood today between Michigan lawmakers and a speedy windup of their 1960 session.

★ ★ ★

A first Senate-House conference to compose differences on the 109-million-dollar bill for state college and university operations appeared doomed to failure.

Harmonizers split along political party lines, with the four Republicans outvoting two Democrats to shave $1,424,820 from the House version.

Generally, Republicans aimed to push back a rising general fund budget tide that lapped over the 420-million-dollar mark as against estimated 1960-61 revenues of 409 millions — not to mention a 70-millions-plus accrued deficit.

★ ★ ★

"I'm not going much above the governor's estimate (409 millions) whether he's right or wrong," said Sen. Elmer R. Porter of Blissfield, the Senate's 71-year-old Republican finance chief.

By a four to two vote, Porter said, the conference on the higher education bill decided to reject a one-million-dollar increase put on in the House for Wayne State University.

The extra money was approved at the height of a squabble between Wayne and University of Michigan over apportionment of state cash for education.

MORE CUTS

Porter said it also was agreed to rule out $95,820 additional for Northern Michigan College, $129,000 extra for Michigan Tech and a $200,000 increase for adult education, all granted by the House.

The report also called for a prohibition against hiring by the schools, without legislative sanction, of a "chancellor or coordinator." The schools vowed last week to hire a $25,000-a-year "fastfinder."

Instead, the report directed engagement of an employe of the Legislature to collect statistical information on college needs, analyze it and report to the Legislature.

The best guessing appeared to be that after House rejection of the first higher education conference a second, acceptable compromise could be devised granting Wayne between $200,000 and $500,000 more than favored by the Senate, and smaller amounts for the other Senate-disapproved items.

★ ★ ★

The Senate, after some hesitation, drew the lines on another disagreement yesterday focused on three items in the public health appropriations bill.

By a 27 to 3 margin, Senators disapproved $150,000 to finance free polio vaccinations for beginning school children, $1,500,000 for hospitalization of afflicted and crippled children, and language that would finance lying-in expenses of unwed mothers under 21.

Cashier's Stall Foils Gunman

Detroit Woman Spins Safe Dials as Police Hurry to Office

DETROIT (UPI) — A Montreal gunman was held today in lieu of $50,000 bond on a charge of attempted armed robbery of a savings and loan company thanks to a cashier who stalled long enough for police to trap the man.

★ ★ ★

Robert Fischer, 47, pleaded innocent yesterday when arraigned before Federal Judge Theodore Levin.

Cashier Mrs. Caroline Van Gorder, 30, said she attracted the attention of two other employes who were outside. They called police who caught Fischer watching Mrs. Van Gorder spinning dials on a safe she didn't know how to open.

Fischer shot at patrolman Michael Wolner with a pellet gun when Wolner and his partner entered the office with drawn pistols to make the arrest.

★ ★ ★

Wolner did not shoot back because Mrs. Van Gorder was standing next to Fischer who dropped his gun after firing one shot.

Fire Not Set but Manager Still in Jail

BURLINGTON, Vt. (UPI)—A U.S. district court jury ruled Thursday that a 1958 Brattleboro fire which a man is serving a life sentence was not of incendiary origin.

Frank Brown, 55, of Brattleboro, was convicted by a Windham County court jury last Nov. 5 of arson resulting in the death of Lyman Streeter. Streeter, a 74-year-old retired barber, lived in an apartment above the drug store which Brown managed.

The federal jury, which deliberated more than nine hours, awarded a judgment of $41,275 to the Soffer Drug Co. of Brattleboro in its suit against four insurance companies for losses in the day-after-Christmas fire. The jury said it found that the fire was not of incendiary origin.

Att. Gen. Thomas M. Debevoise said today's decision would have no effect on Brown's conviction.

He said the jury had to allow that the fire was not of incendiary origin in order to award a judgment to the drug company to recover some of its losses and pay its creditors.

★ ★ ★

The insurance companies claimed they were not liable for losses since Brown, who they maintained was the operator of the store, was convicted of setting the fire.

Brown has filed an appeal with the Vermont Supreme Court.

Watchman Wounds Young Prowler

FLINT (UPI) — Leon D. Allen, 18, of Grand Blanc, walk shot and wounded critically early today by a night watchman at an auto dealership in Linden south of Flint.

The watchman, DeLoss Badgero, 61, said he spotted the youth prowling around the second floor of the Close Chevrolet sales building.

Badgero said that when he ordered the youth to halt the youth attempted to run down a flight of stairs.

The watchman said he fired a blast from a double barreled 16-gauge shotgun, striking the youth in the back.

A companion of the youth, Homer C. Mommay, 17, also of Grand Blanc, was held by the watchman until police arrived.

Highland Man Injured When Car Leaves Road

Robert L. Hoyt, 21, of 1714 N. Hickory Ridge Rd., Highland Township, is in fair condition at Pontiac General Hospital with injuries suffered when his car ran off M-59 in Highland Township this morning.

Hoyt told sheriff's deputies he "must have fallen asleep at the wheel." His car careened through a fence and into a field a mile west of Milford road.

He suffered a broken nose and multiple face and head cuts.

Bitter Gabby Stole Pennies

'Jail' Crooked Machine

DETROIT (AP)—The post office here has put a talking stamp machine in solitary for embezzlement.

★ ★ ★

The machine was installed in May 1956. When customers put in a coin and set the dials for the stamps they wanted, the machine returned change and, via tape recording, thanked the customers and added such things as:

". . . Introduce me to your friends. I like new customers."

". . . Send a letter to a loved one . . ."

"I'm another example of streamlined postal savings."

But last winter, post office workers in the main branch noticed the machine was repeating itself, becoming too profuse in its thanks and overly eager to have people write letters home.

WOULDN'T QUIT

It talked to itself at night when there were no customers in sight.

Emile Asa, post office administrative assistant, called it "inflammation of the tapes" and turned off the voice.

The machine apparently turned bitter. Last week there were many complaints that the machine was embezzling a penny on every purchase, shortchanging customers.

★ ★ ★

So the Post Office Department shut the machine off completely and stashed it away in a box.

Asa says the post office has written the factory in Milwaukee for parts to put the mechanical clerk back in shape.

Charges Milk Plot on Small Business

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A House Small Business subcommittee says it has turned up evidence of attempts all over the nation to drive small dairies and independent businessmen out of the milk business.

A report by a subcommittee investigator was made public by Rep. John W. McCormack (D-Mass), who called it "evidence of chaotic and deplorable conditions in the dairy industry."

The report cited Detroit and Flint, Mich., all of Indiana and "practically the entire southern half of Illinois" as areas of chaos in the milk business.

The investigator, Brooks Robertson, told the subcommittee that a check in the Detroit and Flint areas showed supermarkets and other retail stores selling milk for as little as 19 cents a half gallon.

"At the same time," he said, "routemen were being charged from 35 to 41 cents per half gallon by the same wholesale suppliers, thus making an obviously impossible competitive situation."

Are, a Swedish village noted for its skiing, is prounced oh'rue.

Labor Neutral on City Charter

Council Shifts Stand on Police Changes Since Modification

The Oakland County AFL-CIO Council has taken a neutral stand on the two proposed charter amendments to revamp Police Department administration.

★ ★ ★

This represents a shift from the council's original opposition to the changes, expressed while the changes were still in their formative stage.

In other developments prior to Monday's municipal election, the council has endorsed three City Commission candidates.

Council delegates voted down a proposal by the organization's Board of Directors that the council go on record opposing the amendments as they will appear on Monday's ballot.

★ ★ ★

Several months ago, the council vigorously opposed the initial changes suggested by the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce. So did the Police Trial Board.

But the changes were modified before the City Commission decided to put them on the ballot.

Endorsed by the council were incumbent John A. Dugan in District 5; challenger Winford E. Bottom in District 4; and challenger Dick M. Kirby in District 6.

Plan Dental Clinics

ST. CLAIR (UPI)—A series of dental clinic conferences sponsored by the State Health Department and Michigan State Dental Assn. will start here May 23. Others will be at Alpena, May 24; Traverse City, May 25; Ludington, May 26; and St. Joseph, May 27.

Set Easter Services Indoors, Outdoors

By The Associated Press

The resurrection of Christ, the most glorious of all Christian holidays, will be celebrated Easter Sunday with prayer and song and story from mountain top and valley and from coast to coast.

The most spectacular services are planned for out-of-door arenas. But millions of Americans will celebrate the Holy Day to the ring of Psalms and the tang of incense in the privacy of their churches.

★ ★ ★

Before and after religious services, traditional Easter parades will give worshipers a chance to display spring finery. The greatest of these is New York's annual Fifth Avenue parade, when tens of thousands turn the normally busy artery into a mall. Police headquarters has ordered advertising and other commerical features barred from the parade.

★

Manhattan's other major Easter event will be the 41st annual Easter dawn service which is expected to draw a capacity 7,000 to Sixth Avenue's Radio City Music Hall. The congregation will be asked to pray that Christ's influence be felt at the impending summit conference of the Big Four nations.

SUNRISE SERVICE

On the West Coast, Yosemite National Park in California boasts the latest sunrise Eastern service in all the 50 states. The sun does not pierce the shadow of half dome mountain to bring dawn to Mirror Lake until 9:15 a.m. A College of the Pacific choir will greet this belated sunrise from a split of land on the shore of the lake.

★ ★ ★

Worshipers in San Francisco will climb the city's highest hill for services at the foot of a giant cross atop Mount Davidson.

Elsewhere in California, Vivienne Della Chiesa will be guest solist at the 40th annual sunrise service expected to draw 20,000 to the Hollywood Bowl. Other major observances will be held at the Rose Bowl in Pasadena, Mount Helix near San Diego, and on a bluff above Avalon Bay on Santa Catalina Island.

Seek to Commit Murder Suspect

New Petition Follows Inconclusive Testing of Farmington Twp. Man

Prosecutor George F. Taylor will file a petition today seeking to have Lawrence E. Rabey committed to Ionia State Hospital as a criminal sexual psychopath.

★ ★ ★

Rabey, 22, of Farmington Township, admitted he fatally knifed his wife, Delores, 20, to death in their home in February because he "had an urge" and "wanted to become a woman."

Jerome K. Barry Jr., senior assistant prosecutor, said a new petition would be filed in Circuit Court this morning asking for the appointment of three psychiatrists to determine if Rabey is a criminal sexual psycopath.

This is another form of a sanity hearing, Barry explained. Earlier examinations by three psychiatrists to have the former hospital orderly committed as insane, proved inconclusive, he added.

★ ★ ★

If the new tests show the illness, Barry said, Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams will set a hearing at which time these findings are revealed as well as evidence presented by the prosecutor substantiating the Feb. 24 slaying.

Rabey could, under the rarely used Goodrich Act, ask that a jury hear this testimony, Barry said.

Meanwhile, the slender, bespectacled Rabey is held without bond in the county jail charged with first-degree murder.

GMC Adds Advanced Diesel Truck Engine

An advanced V8 diesel truck engine that promises to set new performance standards in over-the-road trucking operations has been added to GMC Truck's complete "V" type engine family, Calvin J. Werner, vice president of General Motors and general manager of GMC Truck and Coach Division, announced today.

★ ★ ★

The new two-cycle 8V71 diesels will be installed in three heavy-duty GMC tractor models in 1960, Werner said.

The three models will be 48-inch BBC aluminum tilt cab designs. The single axle model, DF 7100 and tandem axle model DFW7100, will have conventional leaf springs, while the DFR-810 will have air suspension.

All are rated at 76,800 lbs. GCW.

Addition of the new diesels brings the GMC Truck family to eight basic powerplants.

Other diesels consist of a 6V71 and an "in-line" 6-71. Gasoline engines include three basic V6s, a V12 twin six and an in-line 6.

"Prolonged dynamometer and highway tests indicate these V8 diesels have durability factors that will have a marked effect on diesel operating economies," Werner said.

"Just like our V6 and twin-six gasoline engines, they are designed for lasting service under the most severe operating conditions."

Home Building Up Despite Bad Weather

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Home building made seasonal gains in March in spite of unseasonably bad weather, the Commerce Department reports.

Builders started 97,000 new dwellings, some 20,000 more than in February. Federal Housing Administrator Norman P. Mason hailed the showing as evidence that "the upturn in homebuilding has begun."

★ ★ ★

The annual rate remained at 1,115,000 new private starts annually. This was the same as in February, after allowing for normal seasonal trends.

The rate was low by the standards of recent years, but was better than Mason had predicted would be possible under the conditions which builders faced.

First Lady Also Fears Planes

Mrs. Doud Is Very Sick; Mamie Will Stay in U.S.

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON — The White House will probably wait until next month to make the official announcement, but First Lady Mamie Eisenhower has virtually determined not to accompany the President to Russia, Siberia and Japan.

This is the word from a close family friend who has talked with her about it. The informant explained that Mrs. Eisenhower's reasons are twofold:

—She has a "mortal fear" of flying, and is consequently "in agony" throughout any airborne trip.

—Her aged mother has been hovering between life and death for many months, and Mamie cannot forget that Mrs. John S. Doud was visiting her in Paris nine years ago when her 80-year-old father died in Denver.

★ ★ ★

Ike was supreme allied commander of NATO at the time that word reached them of Mr. Doud's death. The two women immediately flew to Denver, but the trip was so sad and time-consuming that Mamie does not want to risk a repetition of that heartbreak.

Physicians attending Mrs. Doud are frankly amazed at her stamina, but have advised the first family to prepare themselves for the inevitable.

Because Mrs. Eisenhower realizes the importance of her husband's good will mission, she does not want to disrupt it in the event that she would have to return suddenly to Denver.

COLLEGE FUND DRIVE — Three committeemen to spearhead a Pontiac fund drive to help finance 33 privately supported Negro colleges were named by Earl A. Maxwell (seated), Pontiac chairman of Michigan's 1960 United Negro College campaign. Those appointed were (from left) Howard H. Fitzgerald, vice president and business manager of The Pontiac Press; Everett C. Spurlock, executive secretary of the Pontiac Urban League; and E. Curtis Matthews, president of Matthews-Hargreaves, Inc. Purpose of the drive is to provide low cost higher education to some 25,000 Negro students, most of whom could not otherwise attend college. The 33 colleges receive no public tax support.

Army Touting Its Nike-Zeus

Still at Odds With Defense Department on Missile's Value

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army still says its Nike-Zeus antimissile missile could protect the United States against intercontinental attack. But the Defense Department is still doubtful.

★ ★ ★

The long dispute over the Nike-Zeus broke out again in closed door testimony before a House Appropriations subcommittee. The transcript of last month's hearings, heavily censored in spots, was made public today.

The Nike-Zeus system, still being developed, would combine radar to spot an enemy intercontinental missile and a killer weapon to erase it with a nuclear blast high in the air.

Lt. Gen. Arthur G. Trudeau, the Army's chief of research, told the subcommittee he is confident the Zeus "can and will be successfully developed to meet and master the ballistic missile threat of the Soviet Union."

★ ★ ★

But Herbert F. York, research director for the Defense Department, which has the last word, told the same group, "I think fallout shelters are a more effective way of saving lives in a ballistic missile attack than Zeus."

They testified at different hearings. Told of York's expressed opinion, Trudeau said it would be "completely wrong" to consider shelters the only answer.

★ ★ ★

"You need a passive defense in this country and you need an active defense," Trudeau said. "Nike-Zeus is the only thing that has got a chance of doing it before 1970."

Probers Will Check on Pipeline Contacts

WASHINGTON (AP)—House investigators will look into the activities of all major U.S. gas pipeline companies to determine the extent of off-the-record contacts with the Federal Power Commission.

★ ★ ★

This was disclosed today by a source who asked not to be identified. He said an effort will be made to determine whether such contacts are accepted practice in the industry.

★ ★ ★

"The only way you can find out whether improper influence actually has occurred is to determine whether there is a pattern to all this," he commented.

He said the broadened inquiry would extend to all major pipelines engaged in interstate transmission of natural gas under FPC jurisdiction.

Religion, Specials, Sports---TV Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Religious observances, a freshet of specials and the beginning of the baseball season bid to make the next seven days especially rewarding to television viewers.

★ ★ ★

Tonight, alas, there is a conflict. A Jerry Lewis romp on NBC starts at 8:30 (Eastern Standard Time) while CBS has "The Man in the Funny Suit," a dramatization of Ed Wynn's show business comeback, starting at 9.

★ ★ ★

Saturday is notable for the opening game in NBC's major league baseball series, starting at 1:30 p.m. That evening there will be a musical fantasy, "The Man in the Moon," on NBC (8:30-9:30) starring Andy Williams, and followed by a World Wide 60 documentary, "The Way of the Cross," recounting the last week in the life of Christ.

★ ★ ★

Easter morning brings Protestant and Catholic services on both NBC and CBS. "Frontiers of Faith (NBC, 1:30-2 p.m.) will be a drama with an Easter theme. CBS' Twentieth Century (6:30-7 p.m.) recaptures the flavor of "Paris in the Twenties." On Easter Eve (8-9) NBC will broadcast a program of religious music from the Mormon Temple in Salt Lake City. And instead of the Dinah Shore Show (NBC, 9-10) there will be a program performed by some 200 children.

★ ★ ★

The June Allyson Show (CBS, 10:30-11) Monday night will star Myrna Loy in one of her rare TV appearances in a drama called "Surprise Party." A pep rally designed to bring out the November vote will occupy NBC's Startime (8:30-9:30) Tuesday night, with appearances by rafts of political and show business luminaries.

★ ★ ★

"Ninotchka," will be done over as an ABC special Wednesday evening (8:30-10) with Maria Schell in the Garbo role. Gig Young and Zsa Zsa Gabor. In addition, Bob Hope winds up his season (NBC, 9-10) and CBS's Steel Hour (10-11) has a mystery called "The Girl Who Knew too Much."

★ ★ ★

CBS' Show of the Month on Thursday night (8-9:30) is a TV adaptation of Ruth Gordon's autobiographical play, "Years Ago." Stars are Sandra Church and Robert Preston. At 10 that night CBS Reports will talk with Dr. Tom Dooley on "The Biography of a Cancer."

'Paris by Day' Musical Pat's Usual Top Treat

By FRED DANZIG

NEW YORK (UPI)—"Paris by Day," Pat Boone's taped-in-France musical half-hour, made the French capital seem every bit as alluring as those eye-filling travel posters do.

The ABC-TV program was filled with charming, excellently conceived camera designs and a number of diverting songs.

★ ★ ★

Pat's guests included Gilbert Becaud, Jacqueline Boyer and the little singers of Paris, all of whom performed before picturesque outdoor settings. Becaud was described as a singing idol of French teenagers.

If this is so I'd say the French youngsters display good taste, even though Becaud's display of temper during a simulated traffic jam sequence seemed a bit too genuine.

The weather was on the breezy side, which detracted un petit pen from the effect of serenity that was sought. And some of the sound track was so battered that I figured it must have been shipped home by way of Algeria.

Nevertheless, Director David Geisel's imaginative use of those portions of the town that were available was a treat.

Another treat, besides those fetching architectural landmarks, the River Seine, the trees and the many steps, were the gawkers at the sidewalk cafes. Those faces — c'est formidable.

★ ★ ★

"76 Men and Peggy Lee" was filled with the old college spirit.

(Maybe they should have called it, "The Spirit of 76.")

Anyhow, this was one CBS-TV Revlon variety hour that succeeded. The hour was crammed with music, music, music — all of it enjoyably performed — and was almost entirely devoid of dialogue, I doubt if there were 76 spoken words in the whole show.

Miss Lee, who has been having a whale of a TV season, was at her ardent best both as a soloists and in her duets with Mel Torme, the male Peggy Lee.

★ ★ ★

In addition to Torme (Male No. 1) the show included the aforementioned dancers and chorus boys (I counted 22 as they flitted by), the Newport Youth Band (18 teenage musicians, all males) who lined out a brisk instrumental number in excellent style, the Vagabonds (5 more men), a slick comedy group whose nutty routines came off with good effect. (They would have come in handy on last week's "Night Clubs, New York" format).

★ ★ ★

We also had the Yale Glee Club (61 men), the Yale Whiffenpoofs (12 men) and the Chad Mitchell Folk Singers (3 men.)

Adding up the score, I get a total of 122 men and Peggy Lee.

Whoever figured out that "76 Men" title would do well to recheck his addition — especially on his income tax form.

But regardless of the score, it was a pleasant program. And that's all we really count.

THE CHANNEL SWIM: "The Dinah Shore Show" returns to NBC-TV next fall, same time slot, same sponsor (Chevrolet), thereby ending speculation about the show's future. Dinah launches her 10th season on TV on Oct. 2.

The controversial Sam Snead-Mason Rudolph "extra club" golf match is being rebroadcast by NBC-TV this Sunday.

"Music on Ice," moves into NBC-TV's "Sunday Showcase" time slot on May 8 . . . Arthur Godfrey, who elected to spend Easter in Korea entertaining servicemen, now schedules his return for April 22.

400 Television Voices Belong to Same Man

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Would you ever suspect that 400 different voices you hear in TV commercials in one week come out of one throat?

WILSON

That's Allen Swift's estimate of the number of voice switches he does—and it may be low. When Arthur Godfrey was so hot, an ad agency had a prospective sponsor who wanted a sample commercial spoken by Godfrey—who was too busy.

"I did a sales pitch in Godfrey's voice—imitated Tony Marvin doing the commercials, too. The prospect bought it and never knew Godfrey didn't do it," Swift told me.

"Mickey Mantle, Dr. Cary Middlecoff and some other athletes photograph well on cigaret commercials, but didn't get enough 'sell' in," Swift said.

"I put a smile and a little more 'sell' in their voices—with their permission, of course."

On a documentary several year ago, concerning the UN, Swift did the voices of FDR, Churchill and Harry Hopkins.

Swift, only 36, a boy from Washington Heights who moved to Brooklyn because he wanted to be a comedian, must be the most heard man on the air. He does — in different voices — commercials for five cigarets, nine gasolines, approximately 20 beers—and about a million soaps."

No Bum Steer, Says Expert

'Back-Seat Drivers Needed'

DETROIT (AP)—Even if it's a mother-in-law in the back seat, "every driver needs a good co-pilot," a traffic safety expert said here today.

* * *

And a medical expert told the same gathering that a person who resents a back-seat driver is accident prone.

Russell I. Brown, president of the Insurance Institute for Highway Safety, told a Michigan Safety Conference meeting that "I think any man would rather have his wife call attention to a dangerous traffic situation than keep still and let him get killed."

"With so many cars on today's roads and with enforcement officers spread very thin," Brown said, "the driver often faces situations too complicated to handle all by himself."

ANGER DISCOURAGED

And J. M. Hege, medical director for the Ohio Oil Co., advised against becoming angry with those who offer suggestions from the back seat. Those who get angry, he added, shouldn't be driving.

* * *

"Accidents seem to occur most frequently," Hege said, "to individuals who depend on passive dependent attitudes as one of their means of adjusting to the stresses of life."

In advocating "copilots," Brown emphasized he didn't mean to defend "busybody passengers," men or women, "who gasp or scold or call names."

* * *

"A good back-seat driver must be as calm and alert as the driver, one who can be trusted," Brown continued, then told his audience, which included the Women's Division of the Michigan Safety Conference:

* * *

"Please don't rush home and tell your husbands that I said they are bad drivers and that they can't get along without you as a back-seat driver, a worrisome passenger, that is. Please help me prove the point that good back-seat driving is good sense."

Check on Letts, Roosevelt Asks

Says Monitors Hinder Teamsters' Efforts to Oust Hoffa From Office

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. James Roosevelt (D-Calif.) wants a congressional investigation of the way Federal Judge F. Dickinson Letts handled the Teamsters Union-monitors case.

Roosevelt suggested that an impeachment might be in order.

He said Letts' procedures have denied justice to the rank and file members of the Union who want to oust Teamster President James R. Hoffa.

An investigation also was proposed by Rep. John H. Dent (D-Pa.).

Other congressmen joined in criticizing the situation whereby three court-appointed monitors under the jurisdiction of Letts watch over the affairs of the huge union.

Dent touched off the House discussion with a speech declaring that perpetuation of the monitors system violates the rights of Union members to elect their own officials.

The monitors were originally appointed as part of a compromise settlement of a suit brought by a small group of rank and file Teamsters against Hoffa. They charged his election as president was rigged and demanded he be prevented from taking office.

Under the settlement approved by Judge Letts, Hoffa was permitted to take office provisionally with the monitors authorized to direct a union cleanup campaign prior to a new election.

Differences between the monitors and adroit legal maneuvering by Hoffa have blunted the effectiveness of the plan. The chief of the monitors charges that Union officers refuse to cooperate in a cleanup.

Detroit to Ask for Rehearing

Two Murder Convictions Set Aside; Prosecutor Protests Action

DETROIT (AP)—The Wayne County prosecutor's office says it will ask the State Supreme Court to rehear two Detroit cases in which murder convictions were set aside.

* * *

Prosecutor Samuel Olsen said the two decisions handed down Monday "were two of the most vital cases concerning law enforcement in Michigan in the last 20 years."

The cases involved Maurice Hamilton and John Thomas, both convicted in love-triangle slaying cases.

The court held that Hamilton's civil rights were violated. The opinion said Hamilton, who confessed slaying a grocer, was improperly refused the right of attorney and held four days before he was arraigned.

* * *

In the Thomas case, the court held that the three-year-old testimony of a witness, Joyce Dance, should not have been read to the jury.

The woman was unable to repeat her testimony from memory. It implicated Thomas, who was not arrested for more than three years after the crime.

Famous Sauk Centre to Be Lewis Memorial

SAUK CENTRE, Minn. (AP) — A three-member committee has been appointed here to work out plans for buying the boyhood home of the late Sinclair Lewis, Nobel Prize winning novelist, to provide a permanent memorial.

Lewis made Sauk Centre famous as a setting for his most successful novel, "Main Street."

Government Says Balance Needed

Africa Boosting White Immigration

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) — The South African government has taken a calculated risk with a new campaign to boost white immigration, political sources said today.

While attempting to offset the three-to-one population advantage of the nonwhites, the government is taking a chance that immigrating whites might oppose South Africa's racial discrimination policies.

Interior Minister J.F.T. Naude said that it was "urgently necessary in the present circumstances" to attract more Europeans to this country.

The opposition United Party has pressed for a long time for increased immigration but the ruling Nationalist Party of Prime Minister Hendrik F. Verwoerd resisted this partly in the belief that most immigrants would oppose the Nationalists.

* * *

The government apparently feels now the disadvantages are outweighed by the need for more skilled workers and more whites to balance the Africin population.

* * *

The interior ministry was believed to have enough power to change immigration regulations without asking parliament's approval.

Naude, speaking at Cape Town, warned farmers they could not depend indefinitely on nonwhites to carry the burden of agricultural labor.

He said the time would come when Africans would disappear from the farms. There have been some suggestions that South Africa be partitioned between whites and Africans.

Naude said some of the immigration concessions made to Britons should be extended to certain other British Commonwealth countries. One problem, he said, was that many immigrants were not suitable to do farm work.

Kidnapers Release Eric

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

AP Photofax

HE'S SAFE AT HOME — Little Eric Peugeot, 4, appears none the worse for his experience in the hands of kidnapers as he is held in his mother's arms today at their Paris home. The wealthy papa, Roland Peugeot, French automobile empire executive, looks on during the reunion. Eric said the men didn't hurt him.

Didn't Hurt Me, Four-Year-Old Tells Parents

French Boy Is Left on Street Near Home but Dad Mum on Pay

PARIS (AP) — Amid reports that his kidnapers were being run to earth, 4-year-old Eric Peugeot was home safe and sound today, although "still upset."

His abductors freed him early this morning on a Paris sidewalk not far from home — supposedly after payment of ransom.

At one point the French News Agency reported two men and a woman had been arrested in Paris as the boy's kidnapers.

★ ★ ★

But within minutes National Police Headquarters denied the story.

Earlier, another report that the kidnapers had been found swept through Paris after a police roadblock near Senlis, just north of Paris, opened fire on a speeding car. The car was a black sedan like the one used in the kidnapping.

The car's tires were punctured and it stopped by the side of the road. Two young men clambered out and were arrested. Police at Senlis said the two youths apparently had no connection with the Peugeot kidnaping but an investigation was started to make sure.

Police questioned the Peugeot family.

★ ★ ★

Blinking back tears, the boy's father, Roland, appeared to speak to hundreds of newsmen:

"I am very happy. I hardly think there is anything more to say.

Then, he led his wife and two sons, Eric and 7-year-old Jean-Philippe, before a battery of photographers for a few seconds. Little Eric snuggled in his mother's arms and appeared bemused. The father read a brief statement saying: "I acted absolutely alone.

POLARIS FIRED — Rising from a churned-up mixture of sea spray and flaming rocket exhaust, a Polaris missile is successfully launched from an undersea pressure chamber for the first time. The missile was driven up 1,800 feet in five seconds by its first stage rocket that ignited after the Polaris had broken through the surface of the water. When the first stage engine burned out, the rocket fell back into the sea as planned. Navy officers said the test brought submarine missiles closer to a combat readiness stage.

Road to Faith

The Word Is With Us If We Try to Listen

By WILL OURSLER
Chapter Thirty-Nine

Out of the darkness and silence, out of despair and defeat, out of frustration and loneliness and rejection and emptiness, out of scorn, out of trying and failing and trying once again, out of the need for strength, out of weakness admitted, out of our foolishness and misunderstanding and groping and yearning—out of all the things of which we sometimes think ourselves guilty and sometimes not, we inwardly seek and find the Word of God, at once immediate and personal and all-encompassing.

"Then the Lord answered Job out of the whirlwind, and said,

"Gird up thy loins like a man; for I will demand of thee, and answer thou me.

"Where wast thou when I laid the foundations of the earth? Declare, if thou hast understanding.

"Hath the rain a father? Or who hath begotten the drops of dew?

"Out of whose womb came the ice? and the hoary frost of heaven, who hath gendered it?

We have learned bits and fragments of God's laws, but dominion we have not. The more we learn, the more elusive that dominion seems.

★ ★ ★

Out of our darkness comes the meaning and the Word that is not elusive, for it waits upon us and our willingness to understand.

★ ★ ★

"And when thou prayest," Jesus told His followers, gathered before Him for the Sermon, enter into thy closet, and when thou hast shut thy door, pray to thy Father which is in secret; and thy Father which seeth in secret shall reward thee openly.

"But when ye pray, use not vain repetitions as the heathen do: for they think that they shall be heard for their much speaking.

"Be not ye therefore like unto them: for your Father knoweth what things ye have need of, before ye ask him."

Your Father knoweth.

Here in the darkness that is

Bee Line Helping Out on Five Main Streets; Fare 25 Cents

Beginning tomorrow morning, The Bee Line will make its buses available to Pontiac passengers within the city limits on more than 70 regularly scheduled runs along five main arteries weekdays and Saturdays.

The interurban company announced the service as "a temporary measure to help the citizens of Pontiac" while the city itself remains busless.

Elmer Ball, general manager of the company, said that plans were completed today.

He said Bee Line buses would pick up and discharge passengers along Auburn avenue, N. Perry street, Elizabeth Lake road, W. Huron street and Orchard Lake road at established bus stops and at a fare of 25 cents.

OK'D BY COMMISSION

Stopgap service such as this was authorized earlier this week by the City Commission on recommendation of the Mayor's transportation committee, headed by Commissioner Floyd P. Miles.

Miles said Greyhound Lines has been invited to do the same on Oakland avenue and Saginaw street and Great Lakes Transit Corp. on Saginaw street.

Ball said the company received approval from the Public Service

Suspect Theft in Torch Death

Willow Run Airport Area Service Station Man Burned

YPSILANTI (AP) — An attendant at a service station three miles east of Willow Run Airport was burned to death last night in what police believed to be a robbery.

★ ★ ★

The body of Carl Perry Nickell, 42, burned beyond recognition, was found about 10 feet from the station. There was no trace of money normally carried by the station attendant.

State Police theorized Nickell was murdered by bandits who doused him with gasoline and set him afire.

The body was still burning when State Police arrived after being called by a customer.

★ ★ ★

Detective Roy Tanner said Nickell evidently was robbed and then killed. He was believed to be carrying about $69. Only 84 cents in change was found by officers after a search of the area.

★ ★ ★

The body was lying beside a parked car. A rear fender of the car was scorched.

The body was found by Dale Dunson of Belleville, his father, Joseph Dunson of Canton, Ohio, and Richard Gano, 30, of Belleville.

Auto Sales in April Ahead 11 Pct.

DETROIT (AP)—Ward's Automotive Reports said auto sales in the April 1-10 period totaled 160,420.

The statistical agency said yesterday the sales — up more than 11 per cent over the same period last year — represented "a most creditable showing for this time of year."

J. O. Wright, Ford Motor Co. vice president and Ford Division general manager, commented that the spring upturn in sales has arrived in the auto industry.

Wright said sales of Ford cars and trucks during the first 10 days of April were up 20 per cent over the comparable period of March.

Ward's said the total April 1-10 sales "topped the year-ago period by 11.1 per cent, bringing purchasing since Jan. 1 to 12.8 per cent above last year."

COMPACTS GET 26.1 PCT.

The agency said the six U.S. compact cars claimed 26.1 per cent of the domestic sales in the April 1-10 period. This compares to 22 per cent in February.

For the April 1-10 period, General Motors sold 45.7 per cent of the autos; Ford 28.9 per cent; Chrysler 15.5 per cent; American Motors 8.3 per cent; and Studebaker-Packard 1.6 per cent.

Meanwhile Automotive News said today domestic car output is estimated at 143,685 units this week with the six compacts taking 28.5 per cent of total production.

This week's output compares with 133,299 units last week and 136,101 units during the comparable week last year.

Operating Figure $9.4 Million

Ready With School Budget

A $9,439,190 operating budget last night was adopted by the Pontiac Board of Education for presentation today to the Oakland County Tax Allocation Board.

The figure, in effect, is a comprehensive report of the total needs of the school system for 1960-61, according to Dr. Dana P. Whitmer, superintendent of schools.

"But," said Whitmer, "it is unrealistic that we will be able to finance this budget.'

The Board of Education last year submitted a tentative budget of $9,298,291.

The final operating budget used by the school system in 1959 was more than a million dollars less than the original one presented to the Allocation Board—$8,043,864.

Two budgets were studied by the Board of Education prior to adoption. The "basic" budget maintained the status quo in terms of school operations, with allowance made for enrollment increases and cost of living adjustments.

PROVIDES IMPROVEMENTS

The "improvement" budget, approved unanimously last night, provides improvements needed above the status quo to maintain a school system of "quality.'

The school system is required to adopt an operating budget and notify the County Tax Allocation Board of its financial requirements by April 15 each year. The Allocation Board considers the budget to determine the school systems share within the 15-mill limitation.

"Preparing the original budget is always difficult," said Whitmer, "because on April 15 the school district does not know the income that will be available for the following fiscal year.

"Final adoption of the 1960-61 operating budget will be made after June 1 when income is definitely known. Revision of April estimates of costs then will be made in terms of available income.'

Whitmer said the adopted budget provides for needs brought about by enrollment increases, the cost of living rise, full participation in the National Defense Education Act, further in-service education of teachers, curriculum development, instructional supplies and the school rehabilitation program.

★ ★ ★

"Not all of our needs were accommodated in the proposed budget estimates," said Whitmer. "These appeared in the Supplementary Budget and amounted to $415,537. It is unrealistic that we will be able to finance these supplementary items, although they are included in the total figure."

Whitmer said he assumes the allocated millage to the school district will remain at the present level (8.75 mills) and that the $415,537 of the supplementary budget estimates will have to be deleted prior to final adoption in June.

The superintendent said the proposed operating rate increase of 2.8 mills which will be voted on May 9 is required to finance the tentative budget.

If the tax hike proposal fails, he said, reductions in the operating budget estimates will have to be made prior to final adoption in June.

A decline in income from state equalized valuation or the tax allocation below what is anticipated would also require other reductions in the operating budget.

"If these things occur," Whitmer said, "there will result an erosion in the quality of the school program."

Census to Question Moving Population

By HARVEY ZUCKERBERG

Seems like they just can't leave a body alone.

It might come right in the middle of a Mulligan stew, a confidential tete-a-tete with the pigeons or just when a man's easyin' himself down nice and comfortable to collect his thoughts.

Fancy a man who has been going where his heart takes him being asked what's he doing here and how many bedrooms does he got and when has he worked last.

"Floaters," as Oakland County District Supervisor of the Census W. C. Hintz calls them, will be counted Wednesday night.

Hintz said he is going to dispatch squads of picked crew leaders and census takers to fan out over the county to count people who don't have a fixed address.

"The census takers will visit missions, all-night theaters and city parks in this special effort to see that all residents of the area are counted," Hintz said.

"They will be included in the popufation of the place in which they are located by the census takers."

The census man said questions must be answered under penalty of $100 fine or 60 days in jail or both.

Some might figure to take the man up on his offer . . . a two month rest with good chow could refresh a body weary after being on the hoof all year.

Census officials also ask that those who haven't been counted contact the office at 53½ W. Huron St.

Leading Civic Woman Endorses Amendments

If Mrs. Socrates V. Sekles is typical, Pontiac women want a Police Department that works quietly and efficiently—without any of the turbulence that has characterized the force in the past three years.

"This is why I'm voting for the two charter amendments Monday, and why I believe most Pontiac women will do the same," said Mrs. Sekles, a prominent figure in women's and civic activities.

MRS. SOCRATES V. SEKLES

Mrs. Sekles has held a long list of offices with such groups as the Pontiac Foundation, the Greater Pontiac Community Council, the Oakland County Society for Crippled Children, City Federation of Women's Clubs and at present she is president of the Women's Assn. for the Pontiac Symphony Orchestra.

"If the two amendments are adopted, I believe there will be a better line of communication on the highest levels at City Hall," she said.

"There will be a better balance among the top officials, the policies which the people want the City Commission to adopt will be carried through, and there shouldn't be any more mixups.

★ ★ ★

"The commission and the manager will be able to deal with problems as they come up—and they should have the power to do this because the people hold them responsible when anything goes wrong."

Mrs. Sekles said that in her activities in women's groups recently she has discovered "a tremendous amount of interest and support" for the charter changes.

The first amendment would re-establish the validity of the pres-

Businessmen Hash Over Ideas

Downtown Facelifting Suggested

The central business district needs a facelifting — urgently, the bulk of the downtown merchants and property owners were advised yesterday.

A spirited revitalization campaign was proposed to more than 50 downtown businessmen at a meeting arranged by The Pontiac Press, the Downtown Merchants Assn. and City Hall planners.

The first step: Modernization of store fronts.

The second: New merchandising tehniques.

The prize: Capture of what was described as a "tremendous" retail market potential within the Pontiac area.

Just as the two-hour pep session began, good tidings came from the city's two commercial banks.

One hundred per cent cooperation was promised by Robert R. Eldred, executive vice president of Community National Bank, and Milo J. Cross, president of Pontiac State Bank.

BANKER IN FAVOR

"There's nothing we'd rather see than a group of merchants march into the bank tomorrow for funds with which to modernize," said Eldred.

Sparking the rally were John A. Riley, James Dickerson, Assistant City Manager Robert A. Stierer, James Bates, city planning director, and David S. Geer, the city planning consultant.

Riley is advertising director of The Pontiac Press and Dickerson, manager of general advertising.

TWO POINTS STRESSED

These points were brought out about Pontiac retail market area:

1. In the past 10 years, the area has grown 64 per cent in population to an estimated 283,000 persons. And the growth is continuing.

2. Pontiac area families generally have a higher income than the national average. More than 52 per cent of the families here make more than $5,000 a year, while the national average is $3,400.

Downtown interests were urged to wage an all-out campaign to capture this desirable business potential.

"The concept that Pontiac is still just a factory town is no longer true," it was stated.

"People here are not interested in middle and low quality merchandise. They want quality, and they want variety. They want lots of good stores — not just a few — and they want to shop in pleasant surroundings."

★ ★ ★

The threat, merchants were told, continues to be the shopping centers, which provide the type of goods and atmosphere shoppers look for nowadays.

Manufacturer's representatives from various building material companies demonstrated and explained new, inexpensive yet attractive products that are now available for facelifting store fronts.

Stierer and Bates outlined the urban renewal and loop highway plans, but insisted that these were long-range ventures that could only assist downtown in its revitalization.

★ ★ ★

Geer summed up the attitude of the speakers:

"No matter what the city does — even if it creates a perfect surroundings for you in the way of parking lots, malls, good traffic conditions — these won't mean a thing unless the downtown people themselves all pull together for their own sakes and the sake of the city."

At County GOP Convention

Nixon Will Get Okay

Only Richard Milhous Nixon can expect to come out of next Wednesday's Republican county convention in Pontiac with a "go-get-'em" endorsement from Oakland Republicans.

In there plugging for the vice president's bid for promotion to the White House will be Richard C. VanDusen, vice-chairman of the Midwest Volunteers for Nixon. VanDusen, a Detroit attorney from Bingham Farms, will keynote the 7:30 convention.

Local party leaders have called upon their younger counterparts — the "Young Republicans" — to add a little spice to the parley. The YR's have promised a hot combo and colorful decorations for the County Office Building, 1 Lafayette St.

Republicans from all around the county will converge on the supervisors' auditorium for the primary purpose of selecting 140 delegates to the May 13-14 state convention in Grand Rapids.

★ ★ ★

To keep delegates and alternates who attend the county gathering busy, party leaders have asked VanDusen to speak on the national level, Sen. L. Harvey Lodge on the state level, and Prosecutor George F. Taylor on the county level of politics.

But County Chairman Arthur G. Elliott Jr., of Pleasant Ridge, said no endorsements of candidates will be made at the convention prior to the August primary. Lodge, for instance, is opposed for re-nomination.

Nixon is different. He's apparently a shoo-in for the presidential nomination.

Lodge will talk on the 1960 legislative session and Taylor on the activities of his fellow county incumbent officeholders, all Republicans.

Meanwhile, behind the stage a resolutions committee will be hard at work. Besides one backing Nixon, others are expected to be taken on the hot constitutional convention question and the debate between a sales tax hike or state income tax, Elliott figured.

The Pink Ones Will Cure You, If You Believe

That kind of medical buildup, an expert on anesthesia said today, will make the pink pills an effective painkiller for 35 per cent of all patients, even if the pills are made of nothing more than table salt or baking soda.

Henry K. Beecher, Dorr professor of research in anesthesia at Harvard University, said placebo effect plays a powerful role in management of pain.

IN MOTHER'S ROLE — Mrs. Florence Willett, grandmother, Mrs. Willett and her husband G. of her youngest son, Gordon, 14. A 44-year-old Birmingham's first woman Mayor, adjusts the tie Howard, have two other children, Mrs. Ann Miller of Missouri, and Howard, 19, a college student. Won't Crusade in Birmingham

Woman Mayor Talks Tots

By JIM LONG

Birmingham's new mayor would rather talk about her grandson than city business.

"Isn't he a cutie," said Mrs. Florence Willett, showing several pictures of her 10-month-old grandchild Eric in her home at 655 Pilgrim yesterday.

"My husband and I are leaving tomorrow for Missouri to see my daughter Ann and the baby," she said.

The attractive 44 - year - old grandmother was elected to the city's top executive post Monday by fellow city commissioners, all men, to serve a one-year term.

She is the city's first woman mayor and "the only woman holding a mayor's job in Michigan, I think," said Mrs. Willett.

'NO CRUSADER'

Mayor Willett claims she is no crusader.

"First, I don't think Birmingham needs a crusade with the city running so smoothly.

"In fact I think an all-out crusade by me to push a particular project would hurt the chances of other women interested in government.

'All I want to do is hold the trust of the people.

"Since there is no other woman mayor around I can't make a comparison to see what projects are being pushed along."

The mayor and her husband, G. Howard Willett, have been married 26 years. They have three children, Mrs. H. A. Miller, Howard, 19, a sophomore at the University of Michigan, and Gordon, 14, a student at Barnum Junior High School.

HUSBAND PATIENT

A member of the City Commission since 1955 when she defeated five men for the post, Mrs. Willett said her husband has been "patient and understanding these past five years."

"Howard would like to have me home more often, but he has been conditioned."

Two weeks ago voters put Mrs. Willett back in office for a three-year term. She led the ballot in total votes.

It was the third term she has won. In 1955 she was elected to a two-year term, followed by two 3-year terms.

"It's not too difficult now to get away, though, since the children have grown up, and experience has made it easier for me. I'm never away from home more than two nights a week."

Born in Springfield, Mass., Mrs. Willett said she moved to Huntington Woods when she was four years old.

"This area was nothing but a cow pasture then," she said.

Her father Raymond A. Jacobs was the village president and first mayor in Huntington Woods in the mid-1920s, she said.

Her youngest son, Gordon, hasn't quite decided his feeling on her appointment to the office.

"Well, I'm not all for it, and I'm not against it," is the way he summed it up.

Willett's feeling on his wife's new honor?

"As the mayor said, I've been conditioned over the past five years," he remarked.

He is the president of two firms, Incinerator Products and Standard Fuel Engineering, both in Detroit.

Kidnapers Return Eric to Parents

without the aid of the police" in obtaining the release of Eric.

★ ★ ★

He made no mention of the ransom and answered no questions about it. Some Paris newspapers said it was believed the ransom was paid in gold, but made no mention of the sum. The kidnapers had demanded $100,000.

★ ★ ★

The mystery surrounding the ransom led to speculation the father had promised the kidnapers to keep the details secret. In a nationwide television appeal two nights ago he promised to abide by instructions if he got his son back and also promised he would not press charges if the boy was safely returned.

WAS HARMED

The 4-year-old heir to a French automobile empire was found unharmed, crying on a sidewalk within half a mile of his home shortly before 1 a.m. today. He said he had been left there by two men, apparently the same pair who whisked him away from the playground at an exclusive St. Cloud Country Club Tuesday afternoon.

The newspaper France-Soir reported that Eric's father, Roland Peugeot, said he had paid a ransom to the kidnapers Thursday afternoon. The amount was not revealed, but the abductors had demanded $100,000 in francs.

★ ★ ★

Eric and his parents were in their sixth-floor apartment this morning, the drapes drawn and four police on guard outside.

★ ★ ★

"To get Eric released I scrupulously followed the conditions of the kidnapers," Peugeot was reported to have said. "I had to have confidence in them. They asked me to deliver the ransom to a specific place. I did it. Then there was nothing to do but wait. The last hours by the telephone were the most cruel."

Eric was examined by a doctor and pronounced in good health. Questioned closely, he said: "I didn't know the two men who took me away in a car. They didn't take me far. It was in a ground floor apartment. They had a television set. . . . They didn't hurt me."

Then, snuggling up to his father, he added, "I am very happy now."

Bee Line Buses Start Saturday; Fare 25 Cents

Commission in Lansing to route buses on West Huron street, although it has not used this artery in the past.

★ ★ ★

But Orchard Lake and Elizabeth Lake road schedules will be maintained as usual, he said.

The Bee Line is headquartered in Keego Harbor. Privately owned, it operates 11 buses, transporting commuters between Pontiac, Sylvan Lake, Keego Harbor, Commerce, Oxford, Lake Orion, Lapeer, Caro, Michigan State University Oakland, Auburn Heights and Rochester.

It also runs one bus daily between Pontiac and Ann Arbor. These trips also will be available for local Pontiac passengers, said Ball.

TERMINATION POINTS

Trips into Pontiac on all lines terminate at the northeast corner of Saginaw and Huron streets and at the Greyhound bus station. All trips out of Pontiac originate at the bus station.

Potential Pontiac passengers can easily determine when the buses are scheduled to pass their neighborhood bus stops, said Ball.

On all routes, it takes only 10 minutes for the buses to travel from the city limits to downtown or vice versa, he said.

★ ★ ★

"Pontiac persons who want to use the emergency service have only to know the times the buses are scheduled to enter the city — or to leave downtown — depending on which way the passenger wants to travel — then allow just a few minutes for the bus to reach their stop."

Schedules are available on all buses and at the bus station, he said.

The schedules (Monday through Saturday):

AUBURN AVENUE

Leaves Opdyke and Auburn for downtown at 7:35 a.m., 8:35, 10:05, 11:50, 1:20 p.m., 2:50, 3:50, 5:30 and 6:35.

Incumbent Wood Faces Kirby in District 6 Race

In district 6 Monday, a one-term incumbent will be fighting efforts by a political newcomer to oust him.

Seeking a second two-year term on the City Commission is Wesley J. Wood, 53, of 137 Michigan Ave.

The challenger is Dick M. Kirby, 42, of 91 N. Edith St.

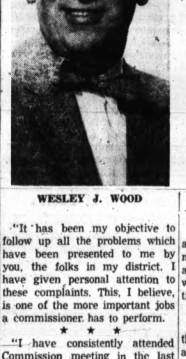
Wood, a Pontiac resident 35 years, has worked at GMC Truck & coach Division 19 years, currently as a service followup man.

Closely associated with church activities, he is a member of United Missionary Church.

Kirby, a Pontiac resident 23 years, is a business representative for the tricounty building and construction trades council (AFL-CIO) in Detroit.

He has served on the Pontiac General Hospital Board of Trustees 1½ years.

Campaigning statements submitted to the Pontiac Press by the two candidates follow:



WESLEY J. WOOD

"It has been my objective to follow up all the problems which have been presented to me by you, the folks in my district. I have given personal attention to these complaints. This, I believe, is one of the more important jobs a commissioner has to perform.

★ ★ ★

"I have consistently attended Commission meeting in the last two years. I may not have made a lot of noise, but I was elected to do a job, not put on a show.

"I am for continuation of a municipal construction program on a pay-as-you-go basis.

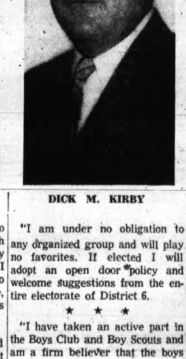
"Although the city as a whole voted down the much needed sewage disposal system expansion. I will still do all I can to get the additional sewage facilities for our district.

"I also favor continuing Huron street through Richardson Park and development of the park for recreational space. I would like to see additional recreational facilities acquired for our district.

★ ★ ★

"Remember, every public issue is a political issue. The government is your servant to carry out your wishes and local issues are just as important for you as state or national ones—perhaps more important. I would therefore urge everyone to get out and vote.

"Remember, also to vote in favor of the two amendments on the ballot. This is a very important issue."



DICK M. KIRBY

"I am under no obligation to any organized group and will play no favorites. If elected I will adopt an open door policy and welcome suggestions from the entire electorate of District 6.

★ ★ ★

"I have taken an active part in the Boys Club and Boy Scouts and am a firm believer that the boys and girls of the city of Pontiac should have increased facilities for recreational and character building activities.

"One of my most earnest desires is to carry forward the development of a project started many years ago—the civic auditorium. This would not only provide facilities for cultural and recreational activities for our youth and senior citizens, but for our entire community.

★ ★ ★

"My chief concern at the time is our transportation problem. To me this is humiliating for a city the size of Pontiac. I feel quite certain this problem could have been worked out some time ago had our present City Commission faced up to their responsibility to the people and the businessmen in the city.

★ ★ ★

"If elected to your City Commission, my utmost desire will be to represent the entire electorate of District 6. I will give you a fair unfiased representation on the Commission."

Offer $120,000 Salary Slash

Workers at Waterford Try to Convince Firm to Stay There

Union employes of the Dostal Foundry and Machine Co. in Waterford Township have offered to take an annual salary cut of more than $120,000 and eliminate nine men if the company will stay in the township.

Why the iron castings firm is going to consolidate with a Cleveland company and what profit margin was needed to keep it here were points in a six-hour meeting between union and company officials.

Russell Dostal, president of the 2500 Williams Dr. firm, said he would present the offer to the board of directors and stockholders at an April 29 meeting.

★ ★ ★

Norbert Ensault, president of union Local 457, AFL, said the offer would mean a 41 cent an hour pay cut for each of the 100 hourly paid employes and 25 clerical workers.

There are 270 stockholders in the plant which has operated in the township 10 years.

Officials say plans have been made for the Dostal company to merge with the Forest City Foundries — a firm that makes a variety of iron castings.

The Day in Birmingham

Minister Sends Ike Plea to Save Caryl Chessman

BIRMINGHAM — President Eisenhower was urged today to declare himself in favor of clemency for California's "Red Light Bandit" Caryl Chessman by the minister of the Birmingham Unitarian Church in Bloomfield Hills.

★ ★ ★

In a letter to the President, the Rev. Lester Mondale, said an appeal to the California authorities "will give them good reason for finding grounds to save Chessman from death May 2."

Mondale said yesterday that the mental suffering caused Chessman during his 12 years in San Quentin's death row was "cruel and unusual punishment that no dog catcher would think of perpetrating on the most vicious and incorrigible dog."

Chessman, who has escaped eight execution dates, was condemned to die in the gas chamber in 1948 for kidnaping and sexually abusing two Los Angeles women.

In his letter Mondale cited President Woodrow Wilson's 1917 appeal that secured clemency for labor agitator Tom Mooney.

Mondale said Wilson was concerned at that time over hostile demonstrations before American embassies abroad.

WOULD HURT RESPECT

"To fail to ask for clemency now, after having secured the postponement of the execution to save you from embarrassment, would make ridiculous the free world's much publicized respect for the dignity and worth of the human being."

★ ★ ★

Mondale, who became pastor of the church in October of last year, said he plans to ask the minister of the Western Unitarian Conference at their meeting Tuesday in Stillwater, Minn., to draft a resolution asking the President to make an appeal for clemency.

"Now that the President has had his South American trip, and has been successful in his mission of good will, Chessman can proceed to his date with death," the Rev. Mr. Mondale said.

★ ★ ★

Only a few hours before the scheduled execution, Gov. Edmund G. Brown granted a stay of execution, presumably due to international public indignation at the time, particularly in South America.

In his letter, the Rev. Mondale said, "seven previous stays of execution won by Chessman were a result of his own legal efforts," however, the most recent one, Feb. 18, "was not one of his own making, but of the State Department's."

★ ★ ★

"This was done out of consideration for the message he had received from the State Department, and approved by White House staff secretary Brig. Gen. Andrew J. Goodpastor, to the effect that Chessman's execution would precipitate hostile demonstrations in Uruguay on your forthcoming trip of good will," Mr. Mondale wrote the President.

SAVED EMBARRASSMENT

"The stay did save you and the country you represented from embarrassment.

★ ★ ★

"During the days previous to that stay, Chessman lived through all the agonies of any man on Death Row as the final hours drew to a close.

★ ★ ★

"Now that your South American trip is over, the California authorities plan to go ahead May 2 with the postponed execution.

★ ★ ★

Foreign Athletes Irk Legislators

Michigan Men Dislike Higher Age Level at State Colleges

LANSING (AP) — Growing numbers of foreign athletes brought to Michigan colleges on scholarships have irked some state legislators.

The University of Michigan and Michigan State University were special targets.

Rep. Andrew J. Cobb (R-Elsie) has proposed to ban scholarships to foreign athletes older than their classmates.

★ ★ ★

"These fellows are professionals, let's face it," he said. "I'm not opposed to them as such, but they should not be paid to come here."

Track, swimming, soccer and hockey teams especially are sprinkled with foreigners, he said.

"The only country not represented is Russia," he added.

Rep. George F. Montgomery (D-Detroit) complained that foreigners come to Michigan schools at the age of 23 and 24 to compete with 18-year-olds.

★ ★ ★

Rep. James F. Warner (R-Ypsilanti) told Cobb his plan wouldn't work. Scholarships are financed from athletic funds not controlled by the Legislature, he said.

"I'm beginning to wonder if we should secede from the Union," snapped Rep. George Edwards (D-Detroit). "Just because we have a fine educational system it seems we are to refuse the facilities to students from other lands."

The proposal was beaten 19 to 69.

Adopts Voluntary Hunter Training

LANSING (UPI)—The State Conservation Commission has adopted a voluntary program of hunter safety training for youthful gunsmen to be carried out by existing Conservation Department personnel.

Both the commission and the Legislature have considered plans which would make it mandatory for all those under 17 to take a course in safety before obtaining hunting licenses.

The legislative proposal died.

Conservation Director Gerald Eddy said he would ask that a mandatory program be initiated if the voluntary program fails.

He said department men will work with local authorities in setting up the voluntary programs.

Army Device Would Prevent Most Collisions

Find Mid-Air Crash Cop

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army said Thursday it has found a low-cost radio system that could eliminate 99 per cent of mid-air collisions.

★ ★ ★

More than that, the service said the system also would perform navigation and traffic control chores. It reported the proposed setup would pave the way for eventual automation of flight control.

If airliners had been equipped with this system four years ago, the report said, the Grand Canyon collision which claimed 128 lives in June 1956 wouldn't have happened.

Three scientists at the Diamond Ordnance Fuse laboratories here evaluated a number of proposed collision-avoidance systems. They endorsed one called NATCAS, which is short for navigation, air traffic control and collision avoidance system.

★ ★ ★

They said NATCAS operates under all weather conditions, is low in cost and simple in design, preserves military and security and is suitable for all sizes of aircraft.

NATCAS would enable traffic controllers on the ground to keep a constant check on all planes aloft. Planes also could be controlled by automatic signals from unattended radio devices on the ground.

The system would warn a pilot of the danger of collision and indicate what action to take. The report said the success of the system would hinge on pilots heeding the warnings.

★ ★ ★

"Pilots must be penalized for failing to react to the indicated maneuvers," the scientists said. They added that controllers on the ground would be aware of any near miss caused by one pilot's failure to act and would immediately be able to identify the offending plane.

★ ★ ★

While all planes would have to be NATCAS-equipped to reduce collisions by 99 per cent, the report said 93 per cent could be avoided if 90 per cent were equipped, if pilots performed 90 per cent of the indicated maneuvers and if 90 per cent of the NATCAS installations were in working order.

With a plane's altitude, it tunes in other aircraft flying at adjacent altitudes and computes the direction of both planes.

NATCAS involves transmissions on a radio frequency which varies

Sells TV Sets, of All Things

Teddy Nadler Has a Job

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Teddy Nadler, $264,000 quiz-whiz who failed an examination March 17 for a $13-a-day job as a census taker, has a job today selling television sets — at $15 a day plus commissions.

"I've been there since Wednesday," Nadler said, "and I haven't sold anything yet. I'm just learning."

Leonard Lewis, distributor for the television company, said Nadler was getting his salary because of his name.

"Most of our salesmen work on a straight commission basis," Lewis said.

'GOOD PUBLICITY'

"But let's face it, Nadler is good publicity and worth the salary. Besides, he could make as much as $200 or $300 a month more selling the sets."

Nadler has been jobless since 1958 when the $64,000 "Challenge" quiz program folded after the quiz show scandals.

He was not involved in charges of rigging and attributed his winnings to his "fabulous mind."

★ ★ ★

He flunked the census test because he could not comprehend "map reading problems."

"He apparently got mixed up on east and west," one census official said.

Earlier this week Nadler was quoted as saying most of his quiz money had gone for taxes and he had no future plans. Today he was all smiles over the new job.

REMEMBERS 'ANYTHING'

"I can remember anything," he said. "I'll be able to remember customers, accounts and all there is to know. The job should be fine.

★ ★ ★

"Wouldn't you know it? As soon as I took this job I got five or six more good offers. But I'm sticking by this one."

Mansura, La., was founded 100 years ago by ex-soldiers of Napoleon. The flat prairies of central Louisiana reminded them of Mansura, Egypt.

Western Union Profit Takes Drop From '59

NEW YORK (AP) — Earnings of Western Union Telegraph Co. for the first quarter fell to about $2,650,000 or 41 cents a share, from $3,500,000 or 55 cents a share in the same three months a year ago, President Walter P. Marshall told the annual meeting Wednesday.

"So far the 'Soaring 60s' have not soared very high," he declared. "The level of general business in the first quarter has not measured up to earlier expectations of the economists."

As a result of this situation, he said, there has been a drop in telegrams sent.

Running counter to the downtrend, however, have been leasing of private wire, data processing and facsimile systems which are major growth areas of Western Union.

"I am glad to report our sales of these services are continuing to expand at a satisfactory rate," Marshall said.

Heavy winter storms and increased charges for depreciation and amortization and the rising cost of pensions are other factors which adversely affected first quarter earnings, Marshall said.

The scarlet tanager, with black wings and tail, is also known as the fire bird.

Acts for Retired GIs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Armed Service Committee has unanimously approved legislation to give 118,000 retired servicemen pay boosts ranging from $4 a year for former privates to $4,586 for former chiefs of staff.

NOW IN MY DAY — Bishop John Wright of the Pittsburgh Roman Catholic Diocese shows pitcher Paul Giel (1) of the Pittsburgh Pirates how he used to grip a fast ball in his day. The scene took place yesterday in the Pirate dugout before Pittsburgh walloped the Cincinnati Reds, 13-0. Pirate hurler Joe Gibbon looks on.

Matthews Gets Job as 'Take Charge Guy'

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Hard-hitting Eddie Mathews has a new job with the Milwaukee Braves today.

Manager Charlie Dressen named him as the "take charge guy" on defense in the infield.

Dressen said that when he played third base he was "policeman" of the infield and he wanted Mathews "to do the same for us."

★ ★ ★

Red Schoendienst, veteran second baseman who has made a comeback after being out a year with tuberculosis was the infield director in 1958. But Dressen believes "he's got more things to do and look out for at second base."

"That's why I'm picking Mathews for the job," Dressen said. "He doesn't have as much to worry about at third.

"I talked it over with Eddie the other day and told him what I'd like to have him do.

★ ★ ★

"As an example, say the pitcher has to run a long ways on a little grounder to beat the runner at first. I'd like to have Mathews come to the mound, talk things over and give the pitcher a chance to get a little rest. He'll be valuable on things like that."

Dressen's decision to make Mathews the infield leader was greeted with pleasure by catcher Del Crandall.

"I think Eddie is a leader," Del said. "He has a great deal of respect from all of us on the team.

★ ★ ★

"He isn't what you call a holler guy, but he's a leader just the same—he leads by example and is in there playing hard all the time.

"The guy has an all-around personality that commands respect and he's sacrificed himself personally more than once for the good of the club."

Indians Drop Locke, Rookie Making Limit

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The Cleveland Indians were down to 28 men today—roster limit for the first month of the regular season. The squad has 14 pitchers, two catchers, five outfielders and seven infielders.

★ ★ ★

Maples Send 15 to Big Track Test

24 Chiefs at Mansfield

Under an overcast sky that dripped moisture all last night and this morning, Pontiac Central High's squad of 24 young athletes, and their coaches, at noon headed for Mansfield, Ohio, and the big nationally-rated Mansfield Relays. Chiefs won that meet once, during Hayes Jones' heyday as a prep star.

Looking at the possibilities in tomorrow's events, PCH Coach Dean Wilson said today, "I believe we will do a pretty good job down there. This squad is stronger all-around than the one that took the honors some years back. It's my opinion that this bunch of youngsters is the best we have ever taken to Mansfield."

When the squad left today, in a fleet of six new Pontiacs, there was one unusual situation. Chiefs have probably the three best prep shotputters in state circles. With all three shoving the iron ball out beyond the 55-foot mark, Wilson finally decided to take all three, with Brendell (Bill) Pritchett sure to start, after his 57-foot 8-inch toss last night, and the other starter to be named on the field, Saturday morning.

Charley Kimbrell goes too, as an alternate in the high jump.

Bill Ratcliff, sprinter, who took off some weight early this spring, and has shown marked improvement in the last week, Thursday afternoon was caught by three watches in one century run at :09.8 He won the 65-yard dash over a fast field at CMU a week ago and hit :10.3 in the 100-yard sprint Tuesday at Flint Central.

Among other Michigan teams entered for the meet are Birmingham, Seaholm and Flint Northern. Flint Central, with a "down" squad this year, will not take part.

Farmington will have 15 boys in the meet.

Coach Kermit Ambrose of the Maples took 15 boys. His crew will be minus several seniors who are on the annual senior class trip to Washington. Maples' strength is mainly in the four relays.

Pontiac Central's squad includes:

High jump, Harper and Lee; broad jump, Walker and Joe McCauley; pole vault, Shorter; shotput, Pritchett, Brown and Rush; high hurdles, Prentis and Terry; 100-yard dash, Ratcliff; mile, Anderson; two-mile relay, Nelson, Tee, Ken F. Byrd and Johnson; shuttle-hurdle relay, Howse, Terry, Walker, Prentis (spied by coach Wilson as the best team Chiefs have had in the event); 220-yard dash, Ratcliff, 880-yard relay, Dick McCauley, Lafore, Howse and Ratcliff; low hurdles, Prentis and Terry; mile relay, Yocum, Mattingly, Lindsay and LaCore.

Birmingham's squad includes—broad jump and 220, Jacobson; hurdles, Mayhew; mile relay, Purvis, Andrus, Kettler, Rathbun; two-mile relay, Stone, Kelley, Harrison, Heydon; 880-relay, Purvis, Kulow, Simmons, Jacobson; medley relay, Green (880), Jacobson (220), Simmons (440), McPhee (mile).

Determine Seasons on Basis of Complaints

ALLEGAN (UPI)—Charles Friley, biologist at the Swan Creek Wildlife Experiment Station, says crop damage complaints will continue to determine the area included in Allegan County's special any deer hunting season.

Territory was added to the deer hunting area on the south and east last year because of complaints, Friley said. He emphasized the deer problem in the southern 40 per cent of Michigan's Lower Peninsula was different from the rest of the state.

Wayne Staters Blow 13-3 Lead, Lose 17-16 Tilt

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (UPI) —Wayne State's baseball team, humiliated in its opener with a 16-0 loss to Michigan, took a 13-3 lead over Bowling Green yesterday and then lost the game.

The Tartars finished on the short end of a 17-16 score in a slugfest which included six home runs—three by each team. Three of the homers were grand slams.

The Ohio squad trailed all the way to the eighth inning when Ron Moore hit a grand slammer deep into centerfield to finish the scoring. Bowling Green had to pick up 13 runs in the seventh and eighth innings to pull it out.

Also slapping grand slammers were Bowling Green's reserve second baseman Bob Boulton in the seventh and Wayne State's Larry Thow in the eighth.

Steals Mikoyan's Thunder in Iraq

Lively 'Corpse' Ruins Funeral

BAGHDAD, Iraq (UPI)—The corpse that walked shoved visiting Soviet super salesman Anastas Mikoyan off the front pages of Iraqi newspapers.

★ ★ ★

The corpse was Kassem Shakhnub, 50, resting in a coffin, with a mile-long funeral procession and Arab women mourners who shrieked and rent their clothes in grief—for pay.

The incident, inspired by Communists during the visit of the Soviet first deputy premier, gave pro-Nationalist newspapers a chance to report gleefully today how it backfired.

Communist union agitators called a sit-down strike Wednesday at the Iraq Cement Co. south of the capital and armed troops were sent there to break it up.

FAINTS IN EXCITEMENT

Striker Shakhnub fainted in the excitement. Some 150 strikers hoisted him on a stretcher and began a mile-long march through the city to the minister of defense, shouting that he had been killed by police bullets.

Somewhere along the way they obtained a coffin and placed Shakhnub into it. En route, a long line of women joined the mourners.

Police halted the procession a few blocks from the ministry of defense and Shakhnub scrambled out of his coffin and looked around at the excitement. Police arrested him with the strike leaders.

★ ★ ★

Shakhnub claimed he was the victim of an epileptic fit and did not know he was being used as a martyr.

But the moderate leftist newspaper Al-Zaman said the Communists paid him five dinars (about $14) to play dead and the women mourners about $1.50 each.

The cement workers returned to their jobs when police ejected the Communist strikers.

Boycott Hangs Over Africa

Negroes Told to Stay Away From Jobs for One-Week Strike

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—South Africa's government braced today to meet the threat of another crippling Negro work boycott protesting the white regime's stern racial policies.

Police kicked off a new series of raids against "inciters and agitators," rounding up 100 persons in the African settlement of Orlando, on the outskirts of Johannesburg.

★ ★ ★

The outlawed African National Congress' emergency committee circulated pamphlets through Orlando and other Johannesburg Negro settlements Thursday calling for a one-week work boycott beginning Monday.

★ ★ ★

Deputy Police Commissioner C. J. Lemmer warned that "the hundreds of thousands of law abiding Africans must not stay away from work."

"They must ignore the pamphlets if they have received them. They must not allow themselves to be intimidated," Lemmer declared, adding that "police will be on duty in full force and will be able to provide all the protection needed."

The government of wounded Prime Minister Hendrik F. Verwoerd clearly planned to take all necessary measures to prevent a repetition of the no-work campaign—a potent economic weapon in this country where three million whites lean heavily on the labor of 10 million Negroes.

Foreign Cars Battle to Hold U.S. Market

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Automotive Writer

NEW YORK — Foreign cars, fighting a desperate battle to keep a foothold in the United States market, will open their most extensive American display at New York's Coliseum Saturday.

More than 80 makes will crowd into 230,000 square feet of exhibition space for an eight-day run of the largest auto show ever staged in this country.

But right along with the impressive array of imports will be the six domestic compact cars which are causing nightmares among many import car dealers — the Falcon, Rambler, Corvair, Valiant, Lark and Comet.

Last year's sales of American compact cars about equalized the sales of foreign cars in this country. So far this year the U.S. margin is about 2½ to 1.

★ ★ ★

For the first time since foreign cars became a factor in the U.S. market their sales have tapered off. A survey by Automotive News of the major import centers such as Los Angeles, Miami and New York shows registrations running well behind last year's figures. And in almost every case the dealers are placing the blame directly on the Detroit compacts.

★ ★ ★

Latest national registrations of the volume imports show only Volkswagen and Renault equaling or bettering last year's performance. Other lines with the exception of strictly sports cars and luxury models are off slightly to seriously.

Most recent estimates show that about 1,400,000 foreign cars are registered in the United States. More than 40 per cent of these were bought new last year and more than one million of them are less than three years old.

Chevrolet, Ford and Plymouth say that possibly because of this foreign car trade-ins on the Corvair, Falcon and Valiant so far have been insignificant.

But Ed Cole of Chevrolet quickly points out Corvair sales are best in what have been regarded as the foreign car citadels such as Los Angeles.

Big Three officials feel their smaller cars are attracting buyers who otherwise would have gone to imports. Dealers offering both a domestic make and a foreign car find themselves under increasing pressure to push the domestic brand. And these dealers account for some 12,000 of the 15,000 foreign car outlets.

William Henry Harrison, the ninth president of the United States, was the first chief executive to die in office.

The pack is sponsored by Avondale Metropolitan Club, Spirit 83, and cubmaster is Jack Goodchild. There are 1,300 students from Turkey enrolled in different American universities and colleges.

Rockets Will Get $277.6 Millions

But Agency Told to Go Slow on Building and Higher-Paid Staff

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Appropriations Committee Thursday approved every penny sought by the federal space agency for rockets and space shots. But it told the agency to cut down spending on bosses and buildings.

The committee granted the full $277,608,000 requested by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) for rocket development in the new fiscal year starting July 1. Included was money for Saturn, the 1,500,000-pound-thrust super-rocket expected to make its first operational flight in 1964.

The United States is counting on Saturn to help it overcome a lead in rocket power which has enabled Russia to score more spectacular, if less scientifically rewarding, space shots than this country.

NASA requested $876,015,000. The committee cut this by $38,985,000. It said NASA's headquarters was overstaffed with higher-paid personnel and eliminated 373 of 5,989 planned new positions.

★ ★ ★

The committee also ordered NASA to pay closer attention to the costs of research and development contractors. It said contractors' costs were an area "that invites the most waste."

★ ★ ★

Funds for NASA were part of an $8,149,167,400 appropriations bill approved by the committee for 18 independent government agencies in the new fiscal year. In all, the committee cut $270,729,000 from President Eisenhower's requests.

Even so, this was $1,108,360,200 more than agencies received in the current fiscal year.

In other actions, the committee:

★ ★ ★

—Granted the federal communications $2,000,000 to build two ultra-high frequency television stations in New York to find out whether UHF-TV will work effectively in big cities. The FCC had asked $2,250,000 for the experiment.

★ ★ ★

—Rejected a request for $3,800,000 to start building emergency headquarters 100 to 150 miles outside of Washington for use by the government in case of nuclear attack.

—Added $5,000,000 for a pilot program on housing for older persons. The administration did not request any funds for this.

Output of Compacts Hits Top This Week

DETROIT (UPI) — Compact car production will reach a new high of 40,981 units this week, Automotive News said.

The trade paper said the compact output would help boost overall car production this week to 143,685 units, a jump of more than 10,000 over last week's output of 133,299, low point for the year. In the same week a year ago the industry turned out 136,101 units.

The 40,981 compact cars to be produced this week compares with output of 40,073 in the week ended April 2, the previous high.

Truck output this week was estimated at 25,345 units, compared with 27,750 last week and 26,447 in the same week a year ago.

Canadian manufacturers will close down tomorrow for Good Friday and output was expected to drop from 9,959 cars and trucks last week to 8,285 this week. A year ago Canadian makers turned out 10,341 cars and trucks.

Test Madonna's 'Tears'; Prove to Be Not Human

NEW YORK (AP)—A sample of fluid dripping from the eyes of a Madonna picture in a Long Island home differs from human tears, an analysis laboratory said today.

The company said the fluid was of an oily nature and contained only a trace of chloride, whereas tears have a large chloride content.

It concluded that the substance, which was not further identified, "could not be said to resemble human tears."

A sample of the fluid was obtained from the picture by the World Telegram & Sun and the analysis was conducted by the New York Testing Laboratories, Inc.

★ ★ ★

The manifestation occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Koulis, of 2832 Oceanside Rd., Oceanside, N.Y., a Greek Orthodox family. The picture is a colored print about 8 by 10 inches, set in a glass-covered frame.

It has attracted hundreds of visitors since Koulis first noticed the fluid formation on Tuesday.

The Rev. George Papadeas, pastor of St. Paul's Greek Orthodox Church in nearby Hempstead, aided a reporter who took a sample for the laboratory test.

★ ★ ★

The clergyman said he and heads of the church "welcome any effort" to determine scientifically the nature of the phenomenon.

"The droplets continued to form when the picture was removed from the glass-fronted frame," the World Telegram & Sun said. "Examination of the picture, the cardboard backing to which it is pasted or glued, and the edges of the assembly, did not reveal any evidence of tampering immediately visible to the naked eye."

Capital Proposes Cut-Rate Fares to Lure Tourists

WASHINGTON (AP)— Capital Airlines has proposed to offer a special low fare this summer, designed to encourage tourists from overseas to visit cities on Capital's system.

The round trip excursion fare from New York would provide a reduction of 25 per cent on first class ticket and 18 per cent on air coach fares.

Capital said this would "bring the cost of air travel down to a level comparable to rail and bus transportation," and would enable foreign visitors to take advantage of substantial reductions in travel costs between New York and 48 other cities.

The United States uses enough wood in manufacturing paper to build a bridge of logs to the moon each year.

Merchant Calls for Rapid Change

Sees Bleak Downtown Future

By PETE LOCHBILER

Assailing what he called "a do-nothing" attitude among downtown interests, the head of the Downtown Merchants Assn. today warned that "a break future" threatens downtown Pontiac.

★ ★ ★

George Richman, a West Huron street merchant, issued the warning a few hours before the association, downtown property owners and city planning officials were to gather at the invitation of The Pontiac Press to consider a crash program aimed at revitalization.

The first step of the crash program involves modernization and facelifting of store fronts.

★ ★ ★

Pointing to 14 vacant stores on downtown Saginaw street, Richman stated bluntly:

"The central business district is deteriorating at an alarming rate. Unless the downtown merchants are made really aware of the seriousness of the situation, retail conditions will become much, much worse before they show any signs of an upturn."

Richman was firm in his belief that "definite steps forward must be taken now."

★ ★ ★

He said downtown could not wait for a broad program of improvement to be undertaken in connection with urban renewal, construction of the downtown loop highway and long-range revitalization plans.

★ ★ ★

"We cannot afford to wait five or so years without doing anything to compete—really compete—with the fringe area shopping centers that are now enjoying the business that used to be transacted downtown."

★ ★ ★

Raising the standards of living, he said, is a problem "of staggering dimensions"

"Just to keep pace with the rising population is truly a formidable task," the governor said. "Yet I am confident that the goal is attainable.

"Left unsolved, these problems can only lead to explosions — explosions which will open the way to acceptance of totalistarian domination from outside the hemisphere."

★ ★ ★

NEW YORK (AP) — The United States Court of Appeals ruled today that wiretap evidence is admissible in criminal trials in state courts. Such evidence is barred in federal court trials.

Money Fuss Dims Hopes of Quick Windup for Solons

LANSING (AP) — Wrangles over spending on college operations, state buildings and pay raises for public servants stood today between Michigan lawmakers and a speedy windup of their 1960 session.

A first Senate-House conference to compose differences on the 109-million-dollar bill for state college and university operations appeared doomed to failure.

Harmonizers split along political party lines, with the four Republicans outvoting two Democrats to shave $1,424,820 from the House version.

Generally, Republicans aimed to push back a rising general fund budget tide that lapped over the 420-million-dollar mark as against estimated 1960-61 revenues of 409 millions — not to mention a 70-millions-plus accrued deficit.

★ ★ ★

"I'm not going much above the governor's estimate (409 millions) whether he's right or wrong," said Sen. Elmer R. Porter of Blissfield, the Senate's 71-year-old Republican finance chief.

By a four to two vote, Porter said, the conference on the higher education bill decided to reject a one-million-dollar increase put on in the House for Wayne State University.

The extra money was approved at the height of a squabble between Wayne and University of Michigan over apportionment of state cash for education.

MORE CUTS

Porter said it also was agreed to rule out $95,820 additional for Northern Michigan College, $129,000 extra for Michigan Tech and a $200,000 increase for adult education, all granted by the House.

The report also called for a prohibition against hiring by the schools, without legislative sanction, of a "chancellor or coordinator." The schools vowed last week to hire a $25,000-a-year "factfinder."

Instead, the report directed engagement of an employe of the Legislature to collect statistical information on college needs, analyze it and report to the Legislature.

The best guessing appeared to be that after House rejection of the first higher education conference a second, acceptable compromise could be devised granting Wayne between $200,000 and $500,000 more than favored by the Senate, and smaller amounts for the other Senate-disapproved items.

★ ★ ★

The Senate, after some hesitation, drew the lines on another disagreement yesterday focused on three items in the public health appropriations bill.

By a 27 to 3 margin, Senators disapproved $150,000 to finance free polio vaccinations for beginning school children, $1,500,000 for hospitalization of afflicted and crippled children, and language that would finance lying-in expenses of unwed mothers under 21.

First Lady Also Fears Planes

Mrs. Doud Is Very Sick; Mamie Will Stay in U.S.

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON — The White House will probably wait until next month to make the official announcement, but First Lady Mamie Eisenhower has virtually determined not to accompany the President to Russia, Siberia and Japan.

This is the word from a close family friend who has talked with her about it. The informant explained that Mrs. Eisenhower's reasons are twofold:

—She has a "mortal fear" of flying, and is consequently "in agony" throughout any airborne trip.

—Her aged mother has been hovering between life and death for many months, and Mamie cannot forget that Mrs. John S. Doud was visiting her in Paris nine years ago when her 80-year-old father died in Denver.

★ ★ ★

Ike was supreme allied commander of NATO at the time that word reached them of Mr. Doud's death. The two women immediately flew to Denver, but the trip was so sad and time-consuming that Mamie does not want to risk a repetition of that heartbreak.

Physicians attending Mrs. Doud are frankly amazed at her stamina, but have advised the first family to prepare themselves for the inevitable.

Because Mrs. Eisenhower realizes the importance of her husband's good will mission, she does not want to disrupt it in the event that she would have to return suddenly to Denver.

EDUCATING CONSUMERS — Fred V. Haggard, (left) president of the Oakland County AFL-CIO Council, welcomes Dr. Daniel Kruger of the Labor and Industrial Relations Center, Michigan State University, who spoke last night at the first consumer education class sponsored by the Council in cooperation with the Pontiac Area United Fund. On the right is Karl Bradley, PAUF executive director. The classes, open to the public, will be held Thursday evenings at the Community Services Building, 132 Franklin Blvd.

Bitter Gabby Stole Pennies

'Jail' Crooked Machine

DETROIT (AP)—The post office here has put a talking stamp machine in solitary for embezzlement.

★ ★ ★

The machine was installed in May 1956. When customers put in a coin and set the dials for the stamps they wanted, the machine returned change and, via tape recording, thanked the customers and added such things as:

". . . Introduce me to your friends. I like new customers."

". . . Send a letter to a loved one . . ."

"I'm another example of streamlined postal savings."

But last winter, post office workers in the main branch noticed the machine was repeating itself, becoming too profuse in its thanks and overly eager to have people write letters home.

WOULDN'T QUIT

It talked to itself at night when there were no customers in sight.

Emile Asa, post office administrative assistant, called it "inflammation of the tapes" and turned off the voice.

The machine apparently turned bitter. Last week there were many complaints that the machine was embezzling a penny on every purchase, shortchanging customers.

★ ★ ★

So the Post Office Department shut the machine off completely and stashed it away in a box.

Asa says the post office has written the factory in Milwaukee for parts to put the mechanical clerk back in shape.

Cashier's Stall Foils Gunman

Detroit Woman Spins Safe Dials as Police Hurry to Office

DETROIT (UPI) — A Montreal gunman was held today in lieu of $50,000 bond on a charge of attempted armed robbery of a savings and loan company thanks to a cashier who stalled long enough for police to trap the man.

★ ★ ★

Robert Fischer, 47, pleaded innocent yesterday when arraigned before Federal Judge Theodore Levin.

Cashier Mrs. Caroline Van Gorder, 30, said she attracted the attention of two other employes who were outside. They called police who caught Fischer watching Mrs. Van Gorder spinning dials on a safe she didn't know how to open.

Fischer shot at patrolman Michael Wolner with a pellet gun when Wolner and his partner entered the office with drawn pistols to make the arrest.

★ ★ ★

Wolner did not shoot back because Mrs. Van Gorder was standing next to Fischer who dropped his gun after firing one shot.

Fire Not Set but Manager Still in Jail

BURLINGTON, Vt. (AP)—A U.S. district court jury ruled Thursday that a 1958 Brattleboro fire which a man is serving a life sentence was not of incendiary origin.

Frank Brown, 55, of Brattleboro, was convicted by a Windham County court jury last Nov. 5 of arson resulting in the death of Lyman Streeter. Streeter, a 74-year-old retired barber, lived in an apartment above the drug store which Brown managed.

The federal jury, which deliberated more than nine hours, awarded a judgment of $41,275 to the Soffer Drug Co. of Brattleboro in its suit against four insurance companies for losses in the day-after-Christmas fire. The jury said it found that the fire was not of incendiary origin.

Att. Gen. Thomas M. Debevoise said today's decision would have no effect on Brown's conviction.

He said the jury had to allow that the fire was not of incendiary origin in order to award a judgment to the drug company to recover some of its losses and pay its creditors.

★ ★ ★

The insurance companies claimed they were not liable for losses since Brown, who they maintained was the operator of the store, was convicted of setting the fire.

Brown has filed an appeal with the Vermont Supreme Court.

Labor Neutral on City Charter

Council Shifts Stand on Police Changes Since Modification

The Oakland County AFL-CIO Council has taken a neutral stand on the two proposed charter amendments to revamp Police Department administration.

★ ★ ★

This represents a shift from the council's original opposition to the changes, expressed while the changes were still in their formative stage.

In other developments prior to Monday's municipal election, the council has endorsed three City Commission candidates.

Council delegates voted down a proposal by the organization's Board of Directors that the council go on record opposing the amendments as they will appear on Monday's ballot.

★ ★ ★

Several months ago, the council vigorously opposed the initial changes suggested by the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce. So did the Police Trial Board.

But the changes were modified before the City Commission decided to put them on the ballot.

Endorsed by the council were incumbent John A. Dugan in District 5; challenger Winford E. Bottom in District 4; and challenger Dick M. Kirby in District 6.

Charges Milk Plot on Small Business

WASHINGTON (AP)— A House Small Business subcommittee says it has turned up evidence of attempts all over the nation to drive small dairies and independent businessmen out of the milk business.

A report by a subcommittee investigator was made public by Rep. John W. McCormack (D-Mass.), who called it "evidence of chaotic and deplorable conditions in the dairy industry."

The report cited Detroit and Flint, Mich., all of Indiana and "practically the entire southern half of Illinois" as areas of chaos in the milk business.

The investigator, Brooks Robertson, told the subcommittee that a check in the Detroit and Flint areas showed supermarkets and other retail stores selling milk for as little as 19 cents a half gallon.

"At the same time," he said, "nonfarmers were being charged from 35 to 41 cents per half gallon by the same wholesale suppliers, thus making an obviously impossible competitive situation."

GMC Adds Advanced Diesel Truck Engine

An advanced V8 diesel truck engine that promises to set new performance standards in over-the-road trucking operations has been added to GMC Truck's complete "V" type engine family, Calvin J. Werner, vice president of General Motors and general manager of GMC Truck and Coach Division, announced today.

★ ★ ★

The new two-cycle 8V71 diesels will be installed in three heavy-duty GMC tractor models in 1960, Werner said.

The three models will be 48-inch BBC aluminum tilt cab designs. The single axle model, DFE 7100 and tandem axle model DFW7100, will have conventional leaf springs, while the DFR-810 will have air suspension.

All are rated at 76,800 lbs. GCW.

Addition of the new diesels brings the GMC Truck family to eight basic powerplants.

Other diesels consist of a 6V71 and an "in-line" 6-71. Gasoline engines include three basic V6s, a V12 twin six and an in-line 6.

"Prolonged dynamometer and highway tests indicate these V8 diesels have durability factors that will have a marked effect on diesel operating economies," Werner said.

"Just like our V6 and twin-six gasoline engines, they are designed for lasting service under the most severe operating conditions."

State Colleges Group to Hear Time President

DETROIT (UPI)—Roy E. Larsen, president of Time, Inc., will address the 10th anniversary banquet of the Michigan Colleges Foundation here May 5.

The foundation, formed to raise money for Michigan's private colleges, has contributed about $2,500,000 toward the 15 member colleges in the past 10 years.

The member colleges are Adrian, Albion, Alma, Aquinas, Calvin, Emmanuel, Hillsdale, Hope, Kalamazoo, Madonna, Marygrove, Mercy, Nazareth, Olivet and Siena Heights.

COLLEGE FUND DRIVE — Three committeemen to spearhead a Pontiac fund drive to help finance 33 privately supported Negro colleges were named by Earl A. Maxwell (seated), Pontiac chairman of Michigan's 1960 United Negro College campaign. Those appointed were (from left) Howard H. Fitzgerald, vice president and business manager of The Pontiac Press; Everett C. Spurlock, executive secretary of the Pontiac Urban League; and E. Curtis Matthews, president of Matthews-Hargreaves, Inc. Purpose of the drive is to provide low cost higher education to some 25,000 Negro students, most of whom could not otherwise attend college. The 33 colleges receive no public tax support.

Set Easter Services Indoors, Outdoors

By The Associated Press

The resurrection of Christ, the most glorious of all Christian holidays, will be celebrated Easter Sunday with prayer and song and story from mountain top and valley and from coast to coast.

The most spectacular services are planned for out-of-door arenas. But millions of Americans will celebrate the Holy Day to the ring of Psalms and the fang of incense in the privacy of their churches.

★ ★ ★

Before and after religious services traditional Easter parades will give worshipers a chance to display spring finery. The greatest of these is New York's annual Fifth Avenue parade, when tens of thousands turn the normally busy artery into a mall. Police headquarters has ordered advertising and other commerical features barred from the parade.

★ ★ ★

Manhattan's other major Easter event will be the 41st annual Easter dawn service which is expected to draw a capacity 7,000 to Sixth Avenue's Radio City Music Hall. The congregation will be asked to pray that Christ's influence be felt at the impending summit conference of the Big Four nations.

SUNRISE SERVICE

On the West Coast, Yosemite National Park in California boasts the latest sunrise Eastern service in all the 50 states. The sun does not pierce the shadow of half dome mountain to bring dawn to Mirror Lake until 9:15 a.m. A College of the Pacific choir will greet this belated sunrise from a split of land on the shore of the lake.

★ ★ ★

Worshipers in San Francisco will climb the city's highest hill for services at the foot of a giant cross atop Mount Davidson.

Elsewhere in California, Vivienne Della Chiesa will be guest soloist at the 40th annual sunrise service expected to draw 20,000 to the Hollywood Bowl. Other major observances will be held at the Rose Bowl in Pasadena, Mount Helix near San Diego, and on a bluff above Avalon Bay on Santa Catalina Island.

Seek to Commit Murder Suspect

New Petition Follows Inconclusive Testing of Farmington Twp. Man

Prosecutor George F. Taylor will file a petition today seeking to have Lawrence E. Rabey committed to Ionia State Hospital as a criminal sexual psychopath.

★ ★ ★

Rabey, 32, of Farmington Township, admitted he fatally knifed his wife, Delores, 20, to death in their home in February because he "had an urge" and "wanted to become a woman."

Jerome K. Barry Jr., senior assistant prosecutor, said a new petition would be filed in Circuit Court this morning asking for the appointment of three psychiatrists to determine if Rabey is a criminal sexual psycopath.

This is another form of a sanity hearing, Barry explained. Earlier examinations by three psychiatrists to have the former hospital orderly committed as insane, proved inconclusive, he added.

★ ★ ★

If the new tests show the illness, Barry said, Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams will set a hearing at which time these findings are revealed as well as evidence presented by the prosecutor substantiating the Feb. 24 slaying.

Rabey could, under the rarely used Goodrich Act, ask that a jury hear this testimony, Barry said.

Meanwhile, the slender, bespectacled Rabey is held without bond in the county jail charged with first-degree murder.

Home Building Up Despite Bad Weather

WASHINGTON (AP)—Home building made seasonal gains in March in spite of unseasonably bad weather, the Commerce Department reports.

Builders started 97,000 new dwellings, some 20,000 more than in February. Federal Housing Administrator Norman P. Mason hailed the showing as evidence that "the upturn in homebuilding has begun."

★ ★ ★

The annual rate remained at 1,115,000 new private starts annually. This was the same as in February, after allowing for normal seasonal trends.

The rate was low by the standards of recent years, but was far better than Mason had predicted would be possible under the conditions which builders faced.

Army Touting Its Nike-Zeus

Still at Odds With Defense Department on Missile's Value

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army still says its Nike-Zeus antimissile missile could protect the United States against intercontinental attack. But the Defense Department is still doubtful.

★ ★ ★

The long dispute over the Nike-Zeus broke out again in closed door testimony before a House Appropriations subcommittee. The transcript of last month's hearings, heavily censored in spots, was made public today.

The Nike-Zeus system, still being developed, would combine radar to spot an enemy intercontinental missile and a killer weapon to erase it with a nuclear blast high in the air.

Lt. Gen. Arthur G. Trudeau, the Army's chief of research, told the subcommittee he is confident the Zeus "can and will be successfully developed to meet and master the ballistic missile threat of the Soviet Union."

★ ★ ★

But Herbert F. York, research director for the Defense Department, which has the last word, told the same group, "I think fallout shelters are a more effective way of saving lives in a ballistic missile attack than Zeus."

They testified at different hearings. Told of York's expressed opinion, Trudeau said it would be "completely wrong" to consider shelters the only answer.

★ ★ ★

"You need a passive defense in this country and you need an active defense," Trudeau said. "Nike-Zeus is the only thing that has got a chance of doing it before 1970."

Probers Will Check on Pipeline Contacts

WASHINGTON (AP)—House investigators will look into the activities of all major U.S. gas pipeline companies to determine the extent of off-the-record contacts with the Federal Power Commission.

★ ★ ★

This was disclosed today by a source who asked not to be identified. He said an effort will be made to determine whether such contacts are accepted practice in the industry.

★ ★ ★

"The only way you can find out whether improper influence actually has occurred is to determine whether there is a pattern to all this," he commented.

He said the broadened inquiry would extend to all major pipelines engaged in interstate transmission of natural gas under FPC jurisdiction.

She was granted custody of the couple's two children, Anita, 6, and Kathryn, 3. The Mays were married in 1953 and separated last January.

Religion, Specials, Sports---TV Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Religious observances, a freshet of specials and the beginning of the baseball season bid to make the next seven days especially rewarding to television viewers.

★ ★ ★

Tonight, alas, there is a conflict. A Jerry Lewis romp on NBC starts at 8:30 (Eastern Standard Time) while CBS has "The Man in the Funny Suit," a dramatization of Ed Wynn's show business comeback, starting at 9.

★ ★ ★

Saturday is notable for the opening game in NBC's major league baseball series, starting at 1:30 p.m. That evening there will be a musical fantasy, "The Man in the Moon," on NBC (8:30-9:30) starring Andy Williams, and followed by a World Wide 60 documentary, "The Way of the Cross," recounting the last week in the life of Christ.

★ ★ ★

Easter morning brings Protestant and Catholic services on both NBC and CBS. "Frontiers of Faith (NBC, 1:30-2 p.m.) will be a drama with an Easter theme. CBS' Twentieth Century (6:30-7 p.m.) recaptures the flavor of "Paris in the Twenties." On Easter Eve (8-9) NBC will broadcast a program of religious music from the Mormon Temple in Salt Lake City. And instead of the Dinah Shore Show (NBC, 9-10) there will be a program performed by some 200 children.

★ ★ ★

The June Allyson Show (CBS, 10:30-11) Monday night will star Myrna Loy in one of her rare TV appearances in a drama called "Surprise Party." A pep rally designed to bring out the November vote will occupy NBC's Startime (8:30-9:30) Tuesday night, with appearances by rafts of political and show business luminaries.

★ ★ ★

"Ninotchka," will be done over as an ABC special Wednesday evening (8:30-10) with Maria Schell in the Garbo role, Gig Young and Zsa Zsa Gabor. In addition, Bob Hope winds up his season (NBC, 9-10) and CBS's Steel Hour (10-11) has a mystery called "The Girl Who Knew too Much."

★ ★ ★

CBS' Show of the Month on Thursday night (8-9:30) is a TV adaptation of Ruth Gordon's autobiographical play, "Years Ago." Stars are Sandra Church and Robert Preston. At 10 that night CBS Reports will talk with Dr. Tom Dooley on "The Biography of a Cancer."

'Paris by Day' Musical Pat's Usual Top Treat

By FRED DANZIG

NEW YORK (UPI)—"Paris by Day," Pat Boone's taped-in-France musical half-hour, made the French capital seem every bit as alluring as those eye-filling travel posters do.

The ABC-TV program was filled with charming, excellently conceived camera designs and a number of diverting songs.

★ ★ ★

Pat's guests included Gilbert Becaud, Jacqueline Boyer and the little singers of Paris, all of whom performed before picturesque outdoor settings. Becaud was described as a singing idol of French teenagers.

If this is so, I'd say the French youngsters display good taste, even though Becaud's display of temper during a simulated traffic jam sequence seemed a bit too genuine.

The weather was on the breezy side, which detracted un petit peu from the effect of serenity that was sought. And some of the sound track was so battered that I figured it must have been shipped home by way of Algeria.

Nevertheless, Director David Geisel's imaginative use of those portions of the town that were available was a treat.

Another treat, besides those fetching architectural landmarks, the River Seine, the trees and the many steps, were the gawkers at the sidewalk cafes. Those faces — c'est formidable.

★ ★ ★

"76 Men and Peggy Lee" was filled with the old college spirit.

(Maybe they should have called it, "The Spirit of 76.")

Anyhow, this was one CBS-TV Revlon variety hour that succeeded. The hour was crammed with music, music, music — all of it enjoyably performed — and was almost entirely devoid of dialogue. I doubt if there were 76 spoken words in the whole show.

Miss Lee, who has been having a whale of a TV season, was at her ardent best both as a soloists and in her duets with Mel Torme, the male Peggy Lee.

★ ★ ★

In addition to Torme (Male No. 1) the show included the aforementioned dancers and chorus boys (I counted 22 as they flitted by), the Newport Youth Band (18 teenage musicians, all males) who lined out a brisk instrumental number in excellent style, the Vagabonds (5 more men), a slick comedy group whose nutty routines came off with good effect. (They would have come in handy on last week's "Night Clubs, New York" format).

★ ★ ★

We also had the Yale Glee Club (61 men), the Yale Whiffenpoofs (12 men) and the Chad Mitchell Folk Singers (3 men.)

Adding up the score, I get a total of 122 men and Peggy Lee.

Whoever figured out that "76 Men" title would do well to recheck his addition — especially on his income tax form.

But regardless of the score, it was a pleasant program. And that's all we really count.

THE CHANNEL SWIM: "The Dinah Shore Show" returns to NBC-TV next fall, same time slot, same sponsor (Chevrolet), thereby ending speculation about the show's future. Dinah launches her 10th season on TV on Oct. 2.

The controversial Sam Snead-Mason Rudolph "extra club" golf match is being rebroadcast by NBC-TV this Sunday.

"Music on Ice," moves into NBC-TV's "Sunday Showcase" time slot on May 8 . . . Arthur Godfrey, who elected to spend Easter in Korea entertaining servicemen, now schedules his return for April 22.

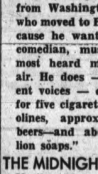
400 Television Voices Belong to Same Man

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Would you ever suspect that 400 different voices you hear in TV commercials in one week come out of one throat?

★ ★ ★

That's Allen Swift's estimate of the number of voice switches he does—and it may be low. When Arthur Godfrey was so hot, an ad agency had a prospective sponsor who wanted a sample commercial spoken by Godfrey—who was too busy.



WILSON

"I did a sales pitch in Godfrey's voice—imitated Tony Marvin doing the commercials, too. The prospect bought it and never knew Godfrey didn't do it," Swift told me.

"Mickey Mantle, Dr. Cary Middlecoff and some other athletes photograph well on cigaret commercials, but didn't get enough 'sell' in," Swift said.

★ ★ ★

On a documentary several year ago, concerning the UN, Swift did the voices of FDR, Churchill and Harry Hopkins.

SWIFT

Swift, only 36, a boy from Washington Heights who moved to Brooklyn because he wanted to be a comedian, must be the most heard man on the air. He does — in different voices — commercials for five cigarets, nine gasolines, approximately 20 beers—and about a million soaps."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . . Marilyn Monroe missed her L.A.-bound jet, though the airline held up its departure for 15 minutes. She arrived a half hour late and pouted: "I'm going to write a stern letter to Gov. Rockefeller and Mayor Wagner about the traffic!" . . . Audrey Meadows is opening a travel agency.

Bbardot's husband Jacques Charrier and her ex, Roger Vadim, had a loud hassle in a Paris theater . . . Louis Armstrong marks his 60th birthday July 4 . . . Hope Hampton'll wear a $1,000,000 gown — studded with jewels—on the Merv Griffin TV show April 29.

No Bum Steer, Says Expert

'Back-Seat Drivers Needed'

DETROIT (AP)—Even if it's a mother-in-law in the back seat, "every driver needs a good co-pilot," a traffic safety expert said here today.

★ ★ ★

And a medical expert told the same gathering that a person who resents a back-seat driver is accident prone.

Russell I. Brown, president of the Insurance Institute for Highway Safety, told a Michigan Safety Conference meeting that "I think any man would rather have his wife call attention to a dangerous traffic situation than keep still and let him get killed."

"With so many cars on today's roads and with enforcement officers spread very thin," Brown said, "the driver often faces situations too complicated to handle all by himself."

ANGER DISCOURAGED

And J. M. Hege, medical director for the Ohio Oil Co., advised against becoming angry with those who offer suggestions from the back seat. Those who get angry, he added, shouldn't be driving.

★ ★ ★

"Accidents seem to occur most frequently," Hege said, "to individuals who depend on passive dependent attitudes as one of their means of adjusting to the stresses of life."

In advocating "copilots," Brown emphasized he didn't mean to defend "busybody passengers," men or women, "who gasp or scold or call names."

★ ★ ★

"A good back-seat driver must be as calm and alert as the driver, one who can be trusted," Brown continued, then told his audience, which included the Women's Division of the Michigan Safety Conference:

★ ★ ★

"Please don't rush home and tell your husbands that I said they are bad drivers and that they can't get along without you as a back-seat driver, a worrisome passenger, that is. Please help me prove the point that good back-seat driving is good sense."

Detroit to Ask for Rehearing

Two Murder Convictions Set Aside; Prosecutor Protests Action

DETROIT (AP)—The Wayne County prosecutor's office says it will ask the State Supreme Court to rehear two Detroit cases in which murder convictions were set aside.

★ ★ ★

Prosecutor Samuel Olsen said the two decisions handed down Monday "were two of the most vital cases concerning law enforcement in Michigan in the last 20 years."

The cases involved Maurice Hamilton and John Thomas, both convicted in love-triangle slaying cases.

The court held that Hamilton's civil rights were violated. The opinion said Hamilton, who confessed slaying a grocer, was improperly refused the right of attorney and held four days before he was arraigned.

★ ★ ★

In the Thomas case, the court held that the three-year-old testimony of a witness, Joyce Dance, should not have been read to the jury.

The woman was unable to repeat her testimony from memory. It implicated Thomas, who was not arrested for more than three years after the crime.

Famous Sauk Centre to Be Lewis Memorial

SAUK CENTRE, Minn. (AP) — A three-member committee has been appointed here to work out plans for buying the boyhood home of the late Sinclair Lewis, Nobel Prize winning novelist, to provide a permanent memorial.

Lewis made Sauk Centre famous as a setting for his most successful novel, "Main Street."

Government Says Balance Needed

Africa Boosting White Immigration

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) — The South African government has taken a calculated risk with a new campaign to boost white immigration, political sources said today.

While attempting to offset the three-to-one population advantage of the nonwhites, the government is taking a chance that immigrating whites might oppose South Africa's racial discrimination policies.

Interior Minister J.F.T. Naude said that it was "urgently necessary in the present circumstances" to attract more Europeans to this country.

The opposition United Party has pressed for a long time for increased immigration but the ruling Nationalist Party of Prime Minister Hendrik F. Verwoerd resisted this partly in the belief that most immigrants would oppose the Nationalists.

★ ★ ★

The government apparently feels now the disadvantages are outweighed by the need for more skilled workers and more whites to balance the Africin population.

★ ★ ★

The interior ministry was believed to have enough power to change immigration regulations without asking parliament's approval.

Naude, speaking at Cape Town, warned farmers they could not depend indefinitely on nonwhites to carry the burden of agricultural labor.

He said the time would come when Africans would disappear from the farms. There have been some suggestions that South Africa be partitioned between whites and Africans.

Naude said some of the immigration concessions made to Britons should be extended to certain other British Commonwealth countries. One problem, he said, was that many immigrants were not suitable to do farm work.

Mayor Tries to Avoid It; He Gets Ticket Anyway

HOBBS, N. M. (AP) — Mayor W. W. Yoakum parked his car in front of city hall with extra care. He even checked to make sure he was within the white parking lines.

Minutes later he had a ticket — for parking diagonally in a parallel parking zone.

Check on Letts, Roosevelt Asks

Says Monitors Hinder Teamsters' Efforts to Oust Hoffa From Office

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. James Roosevelt (D-Calif) wants a congressional investigation of the way Federal Judge F. Dickinson Letts handled the Teamsters Union monitors case.

Roosevelt suggested that an impeachment might be in order.

He said Letts' procedures have denied justice to the rank and file members of the Union who want to oust Teamster President James R. Hoffa.

An investigation also was proposed by Rep. John H. Dent (D-Pa).

Other congressmen joined in criticizing the situation whereby three court-appointed monitors under the jurisdiction of Letts watch over the affairs of the huge union.

Dent touched off the House discussion with a speech declaring that perpetuation of the monitors system violates the rights of Union members to elect their own officials.

The monitors were originally appointed as part of a compromise settlement of a suit brought by a small group of rank and file Teamsters against Hoffa. They charged his election as president was rigged and demanded he be prevented from taking office.

Under the settlement approved by Judge Letts, Hoffa was permitted to take office provisionally with the monitors authorized to direct a union cleanup campaign prior to a new election.

Differences between the monitors and adroit legal maneuvering by Hoffa have blunted the effectiveness of the plan. The chief of the monitors charges that Union officers refuse to cooperate in a cleanup.
