Wade Verdict Under Protest

To Annul Conviction on Conspiracy Charge Over Charity Funds

The conviction of Morrison T. Wade, 3402 Ward's Point Dr., West Bloomfield Township now serving four to 10 years in prison, is under protest in the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals at Cincinnati, Ohio.

A move to annul the conviction of the former head of the Society of Good Neighbors in Detroit, on a charge o' conspiring to cheat the public of $750,000 was announced yesterday.

Larry S. Davidow, Wade's counsel, said he gained a certification of probable cause from the court a week ago. This was after Frederal Judge Thomas Thornton denied a writ of habeas corpus in January.

The lawyer said he hopes to file briefs within 40 days. He said Wade's conviction is being appealed on three issues of procedure.

"These involve police tampering with the jury, perjury on the part of a woman juror and manipulation of the jury box to make certain the woman in question got on the jury," according to Davidow.

Wade's wife, Bessie Lou, also charged with conspiracy, drew a five-year probation term.

Wade was acquitted by a Detroit Recorder's Court Jury in 1950 on a charge that he influenced a witness who appeared before a one-man grand jury investigating the society in 1948.

He and his wife were convicted on four counts in September, 1951: Conspiring to cheat the public of $750,000 in funds donated to the charitable society, conspiring to obtain another $750,000 in funds donated to the charitable society, conspiring to obtain another $750,000 by false pretenses, defrauding the public of $75,00J and obtaining $75,000 under false pretense.

Area Defendant in Slaying Case Cleared by Jury

Deliberates 25 Minutes Before Reaching Verdict in Murder Trial

By PETE LOCHBILER

L. J. Rash, 52-year-old Rochester fatner of two, today was found not guilty of the fatal Nov. 26 shooting of his wife, Nina, 48.

A cheer rose in Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty's courtroom as a 10-woman, two-man jury returned its verdict at 11:50 a.m., 25 minutes after deliberations began.

Rash, in tears, immediately was embraced by friends and relatives, including the dead woman's mother and son, both of whom testified in his defense.

He was charged with shotgunning his wife to death as she returned to their home, 313 Woodward Ave., following a Sunday, in several Rochester taverns.

Rash admitted pulling the trigger in a "state of shock," when she laughed at his orders that she and four companions leave the Rash home, where they allegedly planned a party.

The jury followed Judge Doty's advice "not to give very serious consideration" to a verdict of guilty of first-degree murder. They also did not see fit to find Rash guilty of two possible lesser

To Oppose Oregon Official in Election

Charges Threat by Union Boss

WASHINGTON (AP) — Stanley W. Earl, Portland city commissioner, testified today that Clyde Crosby, Teamsters Union boss in Oregon, opposed his 1956 election because Earl refused to support a pinball licensing ordinance.

"He told me if I didn't support pinball licensing the Teamsters Union would oppose me in the election," Earl said.

Earl said the proposed ordinance was never passed.

Earl described himself as a lifelong member of various other unions.

The commissioner testified before the special Senate committee investigating racketeering in labor-management relations.

From James B. Elkins, a Portland gambler, the senators had received two days of testimony that some officials of the Teamsters Union and others tried to "muscle in" on rackets in Portland.

TRY TO OUST CHIEF

Elkins said this outside group tried to oust the police chief and succeeded in defeating the city's mayor.

Earl related that in the election he was actively opposed by the Oregon Joint Council of Teamsters, the Teamsters' newspaper, and by tavern operators and others who he said were influenced by the Teamsters.

But he said he continued to keep political support from "rank-and-file union members," although opposed by the Teamsters leadership.

Earl said he had been an active opponent of pinball machines in Portland for a number of years. He said the Teamsters Union displayed no interest in "organizing pinballs" until 1955.

Then, he said, Crosby came to him and asked support for a pinball licensing ordinance. He said the request was coupled with a threat of political opposition if he didn't.

"I guess he thought since I was from labor, I'd be their champion," Earl said. But he said he continued to oppose pinball licensing.

Earl said he had been a member of the Carpenters and International Wood Workers unions and now belonged to the State, County and Municipal Workers Union.

He said the Teamsters could have had no interest in pinballs from a membership standpoint because it would take less than 100 employes to service machines throughout Portland.

Earl was asked what reasons were advanced as to why the union wanted to organize the industry and get it licensed.

"What happened was they did organize the industry and they had to deliver, and what they had to deliver was an ordinance licensing pinballs," Earl said.

But "they just didn't have the votes" on the five-member City Council to get the ordinance, he said.

Retail Milk Price Drops on Friday

Farmers' Agreement Will Shave One Cent on Quarts Tomorrow

Retail milk prices in Pontiac will be dropped a cent a quart tomorrow morning, officials of the city's 4 major dairies said today.

Spokesmen for Borden's, the Detroit Creamery, Nye, and Maple Leaf said the new retail price would be 24 cents for single quarts of homogenized milk and 21 cents quart for volume sales.

The price-cut follows agreement yesterday by the dairies to accept a demand by dairy farmers for a wholesale price of $4.90 per 100 pounds of drinking milk.

The dairies have been paying $5.35 under contracts with the Michigan Milk Producers Assn.

The farmers agreed to the wholesale price-cut to meet the threat of cheaper milk from bordering states.

The MMPA is demanding a five-month contract, calling for $4.90 per 100 pounds, in March and April and $4.65 in May, June and July. Contracts expire tonight.

The MMPA said several holdout smaller dairies in Detroit must sign the five-month agreement before they can obtain milk Friday.

Detroit Creamery officials in Detroit said they were reluctant to commit their firms to the $4.65 price during the summer months—a time of heavy milk production.

Plan to Remove Troops Denied by Jerusalem

Officials Indicate Egypt Demands Unconditional Withdrawal

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Negative reactions from Israeli and Arab capitals today gave a dimmer tint to the rosy bloom of a reported agreement in Washington for withdrawal of Israel's occupation forces in the Gaza and Aqaba areas.

An Israeli government official cautioned against over optimism. He denied reports Israel had undertaken to withdraw her troops within 48 hours.

Official and unofficial Arab sources in Cairo expressed almost unanimous opinion that Egypt would agree to no formula except Israel's unconditional withdrawal.

Arabs made it plain it was not the reported concessions themselves that they objected to so much, as to the fact that there should be any concessions at all.

Officials in Lebanon and Iraq, more friendly to the West than some Arab leaders, declined comment until they learn more details.

The Washington plan was still vague in its details. But American, French and Israeli officials were reported to have agreed on a three-phase program:

TO RETAIN UNEF

1. Israel would withdraw its troops from the Gaza Strip as well as from the mouth of the Gulf of Aqaba in compliance with a U.N. resolution of Feb. 2. Units of the U. N. Emergency Force would replace them.

2. The United States, France and possibly other nations would issue interpretations of the resolution intended to give U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold latitude in keeping UNEF in the two hot spots.

3. France and other nations would reinforce U. S. declarations that the Gulf of Aqaba is in international waters, hence free to Israeli shipping.

At the United Nations, Omar Loutfi, head of the Egyptian delegation, still insisted U. N. troops can stay in Egypt only so long as Egypt wants them.

Many Tense Hours Circling Over Willow Run

High-Altitude Plane Repair Is Mighty Drama

DETROIT (INS) — A high and mighty drama in commercial airline operations which unfolded yesterday over the Midwest was listed on the log at Willow Run Airport today as a "minor emergency landing."

The dramatic story of a crippled Capital Airlines Constellation ended happily when all 27 persons stepped from the plane unharmed.

Flight 930 from Minneapolis made a three-point landing at Willow Run near Detroit after its stuck nose landing gear was repaired during five suspense-packed hours in the air.

Pilot William Richie, 39, of Minneapolis, said an airlock in the hydraulic system caused the landing gear to stick half way down. He said the crew pumped several gallons of water, coffee, cream, fruit juice and even the waste fluids from the washroom into the system.

LEAK IN LINES

Ralph Read, director of engineering for Capital, said "there apparently was a small leak in the hydraulic lines."

Commander Richey said the trouble was discovered almost immediately after takeoff from Milwaukee en route to Detroit and Philadelphia.

The craft circled Milwaukee for three hours before it was ordered to Willow Run. The marathon circling was done to consume some of its fuel and thus minimize the danger of an explosion if a crash-landing had become necessary.

Flight Engineer Edward Crowther, 29, of Hagerstown, Md., and Ed Henderson, 29, first officer, of Minneapolis, followed instructions radioed from the landing gear's manufacturer in Washington, D.C., to repair the landing gear.

PUMP COFFEE, MILK

The crew eliminated an airlock in the hydraulic system of the nose landing wheel by pumping coffee, milk and water into it. One of the passengers, W. J. Oldfield, 45, of Milwaukee, said the repair finally was accomplished by draining water from the lavatory into the hydraulic system.

Richey brought the huge plane to a halt at the end of a runway lined with ambulances, fire engines and emergency crash trucks.

Richey said that three minutes after he took off from Milwaukee for Detroit he radioed that his landing gear failed to work properly. He was ordered to continue to Detroit while repairs were attempted.

During the five hours the plane remained in the air, passengers and crew alike remained calm, said the captain.

The plane had little gasoline left when it landed. Fifteen minutes before the crewmen had completed their repair job.

Flight 930 rocked on its main wheels, then touched the nose gear to the runway. The gear locked in position. The plane coasted in.

Stewardesses Jennie Schelled, 19, of St. Paul, Minn., and Angie Sevcik, 20, of Minneapolis, served a two-hour belated lunch while the plane continued to circle.

Major Leroy J. Abt, 53, with the 10th Air Force at Selfridge Field, who boarded the plane at Minneapolis, said:

"Everyone took the information about the jammed wheel very coolly. But we really sweated it out until we learned the wheel had been fixed. I take my hat off to everyone. The crew was simply marvelous."

Sniper Hearing Slated March 27

Examination Postponed Pending Sanity Results for Royal Oak Man

A criminal examination charging Gary A. Taylor, Oakland County's confessed "phantom sniper," with assault with intent to murder has been postponed to March 27, Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem said today. The date originally was set for Feb. 27.

The 20-year-old factory worker, who admitted to wounding three girls with rifle shots, faces a sanity hearing March 22 in Circuit Court.

Said Ziem: "Of course, if the sanity hearing determines that Taylor is not sane and incapable to stand trial, the March 27 examination before Bloomfield Hills Justice Alva Richardson will be dropped. Criminal proceedings against Taylor would be put aside and he would be committed to an institution."

If Taylor is found insane, a warrant charging him with the shooting of Shirley Eland, 19, of 200 Hickory Ridge Rd., Bloomfield Hills, still will await him for possible prosecution when and if he is released from the institution, Ziem said.

One of the three doctors to examine Taylor and present their findings at the sanity hearing, Dr. Ivan LaCore, examined the sniper previously to determine whether a sanity hearing was justifiable. He said in his report:

"Taylor is dangerously mentally ill and should be hospitalized."

Blankets, Food Dropped

100 Marooned by Flood

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Food and blankets were dropped last night to 100 marooned by a flood in the little north central Washington town of Wilson Creek.

The remainder of the community's 275 residents found shelter in scattered outlying homes.

Three emergency drops to the men, women and children who took refuge in the town's high school and Presbyterian church were made from an Air Force helicopter sent from Spokane, 110 miles to the east.

The helicopter pilot reported the evacuees needed the blankets and food. He dropped enough food for supper and breakfast.

Several trucks were trying to find a high route into the area to carry more supplies.

Although the high school and church were high and dry, roads leading to the flooded town were cut. Some residents escaped before waters were too high or by way of railroad tracks into the village.

The town still lay under 7 to 15 feet of water which boiled into it yesterday from normally tranquil Crab Creek, overflowing with the runoff from melting snow.

Most areas in the Washington-Oregon-Idaho flood zone reported an easing of the situation or at least no increase in the threat. Water was high in a number of spots and a continuing runoff could cause further damage.

The major rivers of the area were not creating any great threat. Most of the trouble came from small streams that couldn't handle the heavy increase in water.

Idaho National Guardsmen, discontinued sandbagging duty at Shoeshone and Gooding as the Little Wood River hit its peak.

More rain fell in sections of the Southeast and there were scattered wet spots in west and north central areas but generally dry weather prevailed in most other parts of the nation.

Colder air swept into the Northeast from the Upper Ohio Valley into New England, ending a brief mild spell.

Hungarian Reds Shake Up Party

Regime Reorganization Apparently Designed to End One-Man Rule

BUDAPEST (AP)—The Communist party in Hungary, badly weakened by the anti-Russian revolt, today announced a reorganization apparently designed to end one-man rule.

The extent to which the party runs things, however, is still limited by the Russian occupation troops who crushed the revolt.

Under the new party setup, Premier Janos Kadar will head a five-man secretariat. The other members are Gyula Kallai, a former foreign minister known as a compromiser; Minister of State Gyoergy Marosan, a renegade Socialist sometimes called the strong man of the Kadar regime; Jenoe Fock, secretary of the government trade unions; and Karoly Kiss, a former leather worker who has become a power in the party.

The party organ Nepszabadsag said the Red leadership at a meeting Tuesday also named a 10-member Executive Committee and added 14 members to the 23-man Central Committee.

Central Committee resolutions emphasized friendly relations with "brother Communist and workers' parties" and made it plain that it considered Hungary a member of what the Communists call the "Socialist camp."

The only disagreements mentioned were with "the publicly expressed opinions of some leaders of the Yugoslav Communist party."

Delegates were bewildered by conflicting statements from Washington and Jerusalem on a reported agreement under which Israeli forces would withdraw behind the 1949 armistice line.

Suggest Methods of Surplus Disposal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Michigan congressmen today proposed different methods for allowing cities to obtain federal surplus property.

Rep. Chamberlain (R-Mich) proposed that city, county and township governments be allowed to buy such goods at listed prices before it becomes available for public sale.

Chamberlain said that cities prevented by law from buying at government surplus auction sales have bought bulldozers, automobiles office equipment and hundreds of other surplus items from junk dealers.

State Legislator Hits State Relics as 'Not Historic'

LANSING (AP) — Some of the historic relics on display in the state capitol are not historic enough, a legislator complained today.

Sen. Clyde H. Geerlings (R-Holland) declared in a resolution that "Some of the memorials and mementos do not properly reflect the rich heritage of the state of Michigan."

He proposed "to replace some of these items with historial materials relating to the whole history of the state of Michigan."

The Geerlings resolution was aimed at a collection of relics housed on the ground floor in the rotunda of the capital building.

Thousands of school children visiting the capitol view the exhibits yearly.

The relics at one time were removed and replaced with modern exhibits and graphs explaining state government but a chorus of protests led to the old collection being returned from a storage corner in the state historical museum.

Ike, Mollet See Mideast Solution

End Washington Talks With Hopeful Statement About Problems

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower and French Premier Mollet today expressed "common conviction" that a solution in the Middle East "can be achieved by peaceful means, in conformity with the principles of justice and international law."

Ending three days of talks aimed in large part at repair of Franco-American relations, Eisenhower and Mollet in a joint statement reaffirmed a United Nations declaration of last October calling for "free and open transit" through the Suez Canal "without discrimination."

The President and the French Premier made no reference in the communique to mounting hopes for withdrawal of Israeli forces from the Gaza Strip and the Gulf of Aqaba area without resort to U. N. sanctions against Israel.

Their statement devoted only one brief paragraph to the Middle East crisis.

"With reference to the Middle East, they stated their common conviction that solution to the problems of the area can be achieved by peaceful means, in conformity with the principles of justice and internatinnal law," it said.

The communique said Eisenhower and Mollet, together with their top advisers, had engaged "in a friendly exchange of views in an atmosphere which reflected the long-standing and friendly ties between the two countries."

The talks between the two men had been scheduled to end yesterday. They were prolonged by a day, however, apparently to review the latest developments in the Israeli troop withdrawal crisis.

Bill Would Change Michigan Holidays

LANSING (AP)—Under a bill filed in the Senate, four of the principal national holidays would be observed in Michigan on Mondays.

Sen. John B. Swainson (D-Detroit) proposed yesterday that:

Washington's birthday, Feb. 22, be renamed President's Day and celebrated the third Monday in February.

Memorial, or Decoration Day, now May 30, be observed on the last Monday in May.

Independence Day, July 4, hereafter be marked on the first Monday in July.

Thanksgiving Day be celebrated on the second Monday in November, rather than on the fourth Thursday.

Swainson said the proposal reflects a nationwide drive to regularize holiday observances and increase opportunities for getting the most recreation out of them.

Nothing was said in the bill about Christmas or New Year's.

Largest Airliner Forced to Land

SAN FRANCISCO (INS) — The Bristol Britannia, world's largest passenger airliner, was forced to land at the San Francisco International Airport last night after developing engine trouble on a test flight from Vancouver, B. C., to Honolulu.

The huge four-engine plane carried 45 airline officials and technicians on the shakedown cruise. It has accommodations for 130 passengers.

The pilot, Capt. Walter Gibb of Bristol, England, decided to land at San Francisco when an oil leak developed in one of the turbo-prop engines about 1,300 miles from Honolulu.

Peter Masefield, managing director of Bristol Aircraft, Ltd., makers of the plane, said of the incident:

"There was no excitement and no emergency. This happens in the airline industry quite often and you take it in stride."

Others aboard the plane included Graham McConnachie, president of Canadian Pacific Airways, and officials of Northeast and Transocean Airlines.

The money will go to the new Mackinac Island Health Center which was built as part of John Jacob Astor's American Fur Co. structures in the group.

Marriage No Solution

BOSTON (INS) — TV contestant Charles Van Doren, upon learning that he could save $20,000 of his potential quiz show earnings by getting married, exclaimed: "Sounds nice. But I have no plans. Someone mentioned it to me the other day and said: 'Wives cost more in the long run,' and I'm afraid I'll have to agree with them."

William G. Blumberg Suffers Heart Attack; Services Saturday

William G. Blumberg, 80, a contractor and life-long resident of Birmingham, died suddenly of a heart attack while conducting business in Pontiac yesterday. He made his home at 908 Pierce St.

Born on Nov. 16, 1876 in the toll-gate house at Woodward and 14 Mile Rd., he lived there with his parents, Theron and Alice Brace Blumberg, until his marriage to Bianche Hagerman in her home on Vaughn Rd., Bloomfield Hills on Jan. 20, 1909.

Mr. Blumberg, a member of the First Methodist Church, leaves his wife; a brother, Neil of Alva, Okla.; several nieces and nephews.

Hunting for Two in Child's Death

Woman and Youth Seen Near Lot Where Body Was Discovered

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Police seeking the identity of a slain boy whose body was found in a cardboard box on a vacant lot turned their attention today to a report that a woman and a male teenager "unloaded something" from a car near the lot.

Detective Lt. William Lovejoy said the lead was provided by a motorist who said he saw the two late Sunday afternoon.

The body of the boy, about 4 or 5, was found by a college student Tuesday. Dr. Joseph Spelman, the city's chief medical examiner, said the boy was beaten to death, and that he had been dead two or three days. The body was unclothed but wrapped in a blanket.

Lovejoy said that his informant described the woman as heavily built, of medium stature and between 40 and 50 years old. Her companion was 13 or 14 years old and as tall as the woman.

This tip came soon after the collapse of a theory that the unidentified boy might have been Steven Craig Damman, who was kidnaped at a Long Island, N.Y., supermarket in 1955.

Police speculated that the slain boy may have been taken from an orphanage or similar institution, possibly a refuge for mentally retarded children.

Four-Man Crew Captures Live Pilot Whale

PALOS VERDES ESTATES, Calif. (AP)—Marineland of the Pacific Oceanarium announced today a four-man specimen gathering crew has captured a black pilot whale just off Santa Catalina Island.

William Monahan, general manager, said the whale weighed about 1,500 pounds. It was loaded aboard a specially constructed rubber raft for the 15-mile tow to the Oceanarium.

He said the mammal would be transferred from the ocean to a holding tank at Marineland and eventually would be moved into a porpoise tank for exhibition purposes.

Senate Asks State Study of Smut Literature Laws

LANSING (AP)—Creation of a special legislative committee to study state laws governing the sale of obscene literature has been urged in a Senate resolution.

The resolution declared that a recent U. S. Supreme Court decision outlawing a Michigan statute governing such sales "cast a cloud" on the present system of regulation.

A study was proposed by three members each from the House and Senate to recommend revision of present laws governing such sale.

Singer Pleads Innocent in Slaying of Jo Ann

DETROIT (AP) — Philip J. Singer, 38, Detroit warehouse worker, pleaded innocent yesterday at his arraignment on a charge of first degree murder in the slaying of Jo Ann Gillespie.

Recorder's Judge W. McKay Skillman ordered Singer held without bond pending a pre-trial hearing Wednesday.

Singer is accused of raping and slaying the 13-year-old Detroit coed as she returned to her home from a neighborhood movie the night of Jan. 2, 1953.

The Day in Birmingham

'57 Roll Call Workers Reach Half-Way Mark

BIRMINGHAM—Nearly a thousand workers are contacting residents and business places in the annual roll call to raise $50,000 for the Community House operation. Mrs. Clarence Blenman, drive chairman, said that she believes this number of volunteer workers clearly indicated the position the House holds in the community. She added that the 127 captains have briefed their workers at coffees last week.

Speakers appeared before each group from the committee set up by Mrs. Harold Bickner. Already at the half-way mark, Mrs. Blenman said "proceeds in the first four days of the drive totaled about $25,000."

Mrs. Kathleen Birch and Mrs. Virginia Shafer will judge the roll call posters being prepared by students from Birmingham High School, Kingswood, Cranbrook, and Holy Name elementary school. These will be placed in store windows.

Mrs. Walter H. Jackson, board member, has arranged for a speech making program by high school students. They will appear before numerous organizations using house facilities.

The drive will continue until March 11.

FILL SWIM CLASSES

Birmingham Recreation Board this week announced all swimming classes for elementary through junior high school ages were filled with the exception of the advanced group. A waiting list is being taken for the other classes. The swimming program begins March 16.

Birmingham city officials have received an invitation from Ferndale mayor, Bruce D. Garbutt to attend the dedication ceremonies at 2:30 p.m. Sunday for the newly constructed fire station. The afternoon will include an open house and station inspection.

Find Rash Not Guilty in Shooting of Wife

ORDERS ACQUITTAL

Judge Doty ordered the prisoner acquitted and free to leave the courtroom with his friends.

Public opinion in Rochester had been aroused in sympathy with the accused man. Testimony during the 2½-day trial indicated Mrs. Rash had the reputation of being seen in local taverns in the company of other men.

Rash on the stand appeared still shaken by the shooting.

"She didn't deserve to be shot, nobody deserves that," he said. "The only thing I'm concerned about now," he said, "is that my children are taken care of."

Defense attorney Howard Bond, of Pontiac moved yesterday at the conclusion of testimony that the charge be reduced from first-degree murder. He maintained there was no evidence of "willfulness, maliciousness or deliberation" on Rash's part.

The dead woman's mother, Mrs. Mae Franklin, 76, with whom the family lived, and a son by a previous marriage, William Smith, of Rochester both testified as character witnesses for Rash.

"He never did anything wrong as long as I've known him," said Mrs. Franklin. "He was always a good provider and took wonderful care of the children," Nina Jean, 10, and Daniel, 8.

She said Rash had paid off the mortgage since the family moved in 11 years ago.

His employer, Lewis A. Mitzelfeld, plant manager of National Twist & Drill Tool Co., Rochester and fellow workers also testified. Rash has been a drill press operator there 11 years.

Judge Doty ruled out as evidence a petition signed by 34 Rochester residents asking that Rash retain his freedom. The petition was circulated by the victim's brother, Melvin Franklin, of Rochester.

Rash occupied the spotlight during yesterday's testimony. Cross-examination centered on the fact that Rash had loaded his shotgun.

"If I knew why I loaded it, I wouldn't be here now," the accused man said.

He testified he put three shells into the gun and then went downstairs when he heard a commotion outside.

"I didn't know my wife was there until I opened the door," Rash said.

He said there had been quarrels in the past over his wife having parties late at night in their home.

"She told me she was going to have people in and there wasn't anything I could do about it. She warned that if I interfered she would have her friends 'take care of me,' and that scared me a bit," Rash said.

He admitted an incident in a Rochester tavern three years ago. "I told my wife the only way she would stop drinking would be if she was shot. She said, 'Well, why don't you shoot?' But I don't consider that a real threat to her life."

Nixon Will Follow Ghana Ceremonies With Goodwill Tour of Northern Africa

WASHINGTON (INS) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon leaves this afternoon on a 17,800-mile good will trip to Africa which he hopes will help swing the Dark Continent's newly independent countries toward democracy and beyond Communism's reach.

Nixon and his wife, Pat, will be confronted with representatives from Russia, Red China and satellite countries during the inaugural ceremonies for the new nation — Ghana — formerly the Gold Coast.

This will be the second stop on the Nixon 22-day tour.

The vice president plans to handle any "confrontation" with Communist delegates only as perfunctory meetings, and it was emphasized that there will be "no conversations."

The ceremonies marking formal independence for the new country from Great Britain take place on March 6 — a week from today.

Once the U. S. accepted an invitation to send Nixon to the Gold Coast for the formal inauguration of Ghana, invitations poured in from other countries. The trip was extended.

FULL SCHEDULE

The vice president's first stop will be at Rabat, Morocco, on March 1. The Accra, Ghana stay is scheduled from March 3 to 7. He goes to Monrovia, Liberia, March 7-9; Entebbe, Uganda, March 10-11; Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, March 11-13; Khartoum, Sudan, March 13-14; Tobruk and Tripoli, Libya, March 14-16; Rome, Italy, March 16-18; Tunis, Tunisia, March 18-20; and then home via the Azores, arriving in Washington March 21.

Nixon's return is timed to coincide with President Eisenhower's departure for Bermuda for the conference with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

The visit to Italy was originally scheduled as a technical travel stop for a crew change, but it will include at least a luncheon with top Italian officials.

Nixon himself considers the Ghana visit as very important for the U. S.

The new African nation hopes to become the leader of the independent nations of the continent. It has twice as many people as the United States had when it declared its own independence in 1776. All of Africa — and Asia — is watching what happens in the new little country, and Nixon has long held that the U. S. has not been paying enough attention to Africa.

A PACK AT A PUFF — Here's the answer to any chain smoker who wants to smoke up a pack of 20 cigarets at once, as demonstrated in Chicago by French comedian Robert Clary. He found the gadget during a visit to the $250,000 antique pipe exhibit in the Windy City.

Port Huron Factory to Entice Industry

PORT HURON (AP) — City business leaders plan to build a factory in a move to attract new industry to Port Huron.

The project, believed unique in Michigan, will be promoted by the Industrial Development Corp. of the Port Huron-Marysville area.

George E. Billings, managing director of the IDC, said stock will be issued to those subscribing to a fund to finance the construction.

He said a factory with 10,000 square feet in floor space will be built on a model industrial site and offered for sale or lease to the tenant firm.

"Many other cities, although none in Michigan, are doing this as an inducement to new business," Billings said. "Industrial realtors assure us we should have no trouble in finding a tenant."

Cost estimates will await completion of plans for the stock issue, Billings said. He said subscribers would be sought in a campaign by the 64 business and industrial leaders who are members of the IDC.

Reflective Plates Urged for All Cars for Added Safety

ST. PAUL, Minn. (INS) — One bright hope for safer night driving is the reflective license plates now being adopted by a number of states, according to Earl M. Larimer, former Minnesota safety director.

But to save lives at night, Larimer said, the plates must reflect "at least five candlepower" — 20 times brighter than the Class B reflectors used currently as the minimum standard for rear-ends of cars.

The death rate per mile at night is three times worse than daytime, he said, and "surveys in three states show that more than a third of all night traffic accidents are directly related to lack of visibility."

In a paper prepared for the National Highway Research Board, Larimer described reflective plates as the only method that all 48 states could use to make certain that passenger cars are safely visible to other motorists at night.

"Since each state periodically renews license plates, a universal opportunity is provided to adopt a particularly effective and dramatic safety development through license plate reflectorization," he said.

He emphasized that the five candlepower rating was the least that would be effective, and pointed out that Minnesota adopted 10 candlepower reflective plates "to provide a more adequate margin of safety."

New Trailer Trouble

COVINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Marion Dixon shook his head in wonderment when the top of his trailer truck was sheared off as he drove beneath an underpass.

He had driven beneath it in the past without trouble. What was wrong?

Then he realized the trailer was lightly loaded and riding higher on its springs than it usually did. On previous trips the load was heavy enough to permit the trailer to pass without scraping.

Nautilus Is a Symbol of Superiority to Reds

One "peaceful" deterrent to world-wide Russian aggression lies in the two tremendous, atomic powered submarines which this nation possesses.

Two submarines, however powerful, could not materially affect a world war, but two submarines of the type we now possess are a challenging and significant symbol which the Russians regard with awe and respect. Their greatest significance at the moment lies in the fact that they bespeak a mechanical superiority, before which the Communists bow.

Our Defense Department grants the Russians have made great strides in engines of war. Some of this advancement came from their own scientists, some from the Germans and some from the information that traitors have peddled for small sacks of gold.

But with it all, the top level remains here.

This condition must continue, for the Reds have no respect for decency, honor of the tenets of God. They know and understand blasting, irrestible power. They recognize might. They bow before their military master — but they respect nothing else. Russian leaders are probably the closest thing to "civilized savages" that the world has ever had the misfortune to know.

The USS Nautilus has completed a 60,000 mile trip. She covered this tremendous distance on the amount of uranium that would be represented in size by an ordinary electric light bulb. Think of the incredible amount of coal, oil or what have you, to propel a boat of this size two and a half times around the world, under water. It staggers the imagination.

This, the beasts of the Kremlin comprehend.

They can't do it.

Unhappily, love doesn't rule the international world. We believe that some day it will. We believe the teachings of Jesus will ultimately become the law of the universe. Two thousand years have passed since his precepts became known and the progress has been discouraging and disappointing. Save for the two hundred million Russians and their negative influence, the world today might be well advanced toward Decency. But because of these international criminals, power and might and the sword must prevail for a time.

Fortunately for all mankind, our nation possesses the leadership in the destruction of all things, animate and inanimate. This carries its sobering and unpleasant connotations, but we feel the Lord has willed it so.

For All the World to See

A World's Fair, the first since the New York exposition in 1938, will be held in Brussels next year after more than three years planning.

This is to be not only an industrial and manufacturing fair but will stress culture and the contributions which industry and commerce have made to civilization. Its theme building will be an atomium with nine spheres representing the atomic structure of an iron crystal and tubular steel passageways representing the forces linking the atoms.

The U. S. exhibit will attempt to show in general the American way of life and how science, technology and industry have been utilized. This will be the first time our country has had an opportunity to present its cultural achievements at a world's fair on foreign soil where the Soviet Union is also represented.

While the Communists are spending $60 million, the U. S. has allocated $15 million, only $4 million of which has been appropriated to date.

In view of the fact that 35 million visitors are expected, we should make every effort to have our display attractive and meaningful. There'll never be a better opportunity nor a better time.

The Man About Town

Historical Shrine

Detroiter Sends Praise for Saving of the Wisner Home

The Great Divide: Reno.

There's a lot of satisfaction in a letter recently received from

Alfred Fontane

of Detroit, who writes that he was a Pontiac resident until a few years ago. He congratulates Pontiac and Oakland County on the preservation of

The Moses Wisner Home

on Oakland Ave. He says Detroit has allowed most of its landmarks to be commercialized, either with business blocks, filling stations or parking lots. Now the property of the this home was erected 110 years ago by Mr. Wisner who later became Governor of Michigan.

Oakland County Historical Foundation,

With its four acres of land, the home was purchased by the foundation about ten years ago for $15,000. The land alone now is worth far more than that. The brick home, with its fireplaces and solid brick interior walls between rooms, in many ways is now as substantial as when it was erected. A restoration program is under way, with the idea of making it a historical shrine, and opening it to the general public.

Perhaps there's something to cogitate upon in a letter from

"Political Observer,"

who says: "Oakland County has too many 'self starters' in state politics. They don't get anywhere, and only succeed in tying the hands of the delegation from the second largest county in the state, so they are not in position to make deals that would do us some good."

Now at their winter home at Pasadena, Calif.,

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn C. Gillespie

tell me they like that section—but that no place in all their travels compares to Hawaii.

The sport of skiing has grown by leaps and bounds (literally) among Pontiac outdoor lovers this winter. A big impetus to it has been and his runs on Mount Holly, 20 miles up the Dixie Highway, where he manufactures snow when nature flunks on the job.

One of the dearest mothers of my acquaintance says she never talks about her children in company for two reasons.. Her listeners either have some of their own or haven't.

Now living in Toledo,

Rothwell Flowers,

formerly of Pontiac, has been back here on a visit. He recollects when it was open country west of Johnson Ave., woods and open fields covered the present Pontiac Motor and Fisher Body sites, the location of the GM Truck plant was "away out of town," and mill ponds occupied a good part of the downtown section.

Instead of running around evenings and doing themselves or anybody else no good, a few Pontiac young men conduct a watching for other cars with flat tires or other trouble, and helping them out. They tell me their greatest difficulty is in persuading their "customers" that they are not being held up.

The Secret Is Cooperation

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Explains Value of Five Senses

20 pt. cent bold & OL —Explains

Lars asks a very intriguing question. In college these answers are explained in the introductory psychology course. Which one of our five senses gives us most of our information? Which is the "Supreme Court" that overrules other senses? Which ones serve like modern radar? Which is Cupid's major ally?

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case U-316: Lars D., aged 20, is very much interested in psychology.

"Dr. Crane,' he began, "of our five senses, which is most important to our education throughout life?

"Or are they all equally valuable? Do you psychologists have data on this question?"

FIVE SENSES

If we are normal individuals, possessing good eyes, ears, smell, taste and touch, then vision is uaually the sense that gives us most of our impressions of the external world.

In fact, it has been estimated that as high as 65 per cent of our knowledge is thus derived from the eyes.

That leaves 35 per cent to be distributed among the other sense realms.

But various conditions alter these figures. And so does the matter of species.

A dog, for example, may rely far more on scent than on sight. At least that is true of Beagle hounds and bloodhounds. But greyhounds tend to use sight because of their greater speed.

An eagle, too, relies chiefly on vision, as do certain hawks and other predatory birds.

Among human beings, too, if blindness descends upon us, then we may compensate by paying far more attendtion to sounds.

"Isn't a blind person possessed of better hearing than a seeing person?" you may ask.

In general, we psychologists reply that his ear in itself may be no more sensitive to sound vibrations, but his attention has been directed for years to auditory sensations.

Thus, he has learned to pay closer heed to sounds than have the folks with good eyesight.

HEARING TEATS

For example, at a state school for the blind, the pupils can walk across a large room and reach out for a doorknot at precisely the right moment.

They don't overshoot the mark nor do they reach a foot or two in front of the knob.

Their timing and motion seem as expert in this respect as that of the people with keen eyesight. How do they do it?

Well, it has been discovered that they react subconsciously to the echo of their own footsteps.

For when they have been asked to remove their shoes and have then approached the familair door in stocking feet, they misjudge the position of the doorknob.

Sight, sound and smell are called our "distance" or "radar" senses, for they give us evidence about things that lie at some distance from our skin.

Taste and touch, however, require contact. And touch is actually the "Supreme Court" among our five senses. It doublechecks on other senses.

'PLEASE DO NOT TOUCH'

Thus, Art Museums often post signs which read:

"Please do not touch."

For when an artist produces an unusual sense of depth, we can't believe our eyes. So we fall back upon touch as the Supreme Court.

That, indeed, was why Doubting Thomas refused to believe either his ears or his eyes, and stated that he would not accept the risen Christ till he could touch the nail holes in the hands of Jesus.

Touch is also vital in such an emotion as love. We would have little romance, for instance, if we couldn't hold hands or kiss or embrace.

The sense of touch is thus Cupid's major ally.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Mother of Seven Advocates Having Babies at Home

One of the basketful of recent greetings—some of which, believe it or not, were anonymous—compensated for many blows dealt lately at the behest of commercial interests. Here it is:

"Sir:

"First let me throw you a bouquet—I think you are wonderful.

BRADY

I have been reading your column in our daily newspaper ever since I have been old enough to read, and I have absorbed so much of your good common sense that I am sure my six children (oldest is 12) have benefited very much from it. They are all healthy, happy kids!

"In about three weeks time we expect another "little stranger," and this is going to be a home delivery with the help of our fine village doctor.

"The first two were born in hospitals, the rest at home, and I would never have it any other way again. Our experience tells us you are so right in teaching that home is the best and safest place to have a baby.

"And now this letter has taken too much of your time. God bless you. Light your pipe and go back to your game on the bowling green.

Sincerely yours,
Mrs. R. A."

Thank you, Ma'am, but there's no game today, although it is a perfect June day in February.

One of many reasons why you do not find my column where it formerly appeared more or less regularly is that I keep telling people home is the best and safest place to have a baby.

If perchance you are expecting or even hoping to have a baby, it will do you no harm to delve occasionally into the pocket book, "Preparing for Maternity" — for which send me 35c and stamped, self-addressed envelope. If your baby is due now or has already arrived, then send for another pocket book, "The Brady Baby Book."

They are two of the volumettes of the $7.50 23-volumette, "Pocket Cyclopedia of Health," which I am sending with my compliments to the lady who threw me the bouquet. I hope she will find in its 1200 pages the good common sense a mother needs to keep seven kids healthy and happy.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Selling $2 Million Jewel Won't Be Quick and Easy

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—How would you go about selling a two-million-dollar diamond?

At the moment the only man alive who has this problem — at least publicly—is Harry Winston.

Out of a dull 426-carat stone scuffed from the earth of South Africa he has pared "Miss Nameless,' a 128½-carat tear-shaped diamond which he says has no equal anywhere in the world for purity and brilliance.

LIGHT BAUBLE

So he has hung a price tag of two million dollars on this shiny bauble which weighs less than an ounce—so light that even George Washington probably couldn't throw it across the Rappahannock in the middle of a drought.

Historians later may mark this offering such a diamond for sale as the high-water mark of 20th Century optimism.

Winston, known as the "Mr. Sparkle" of the international glitter merchants, doesn't feel that way at all. After all, in the last 40 years he has disposed of nearly 200 million dollars, in precious gems.

"Are there any other diamonds in the world valued that high?" I asked.

"Oh, indeed.."

"A thousand?"

"No, fewer than a dozen. The Nizam of Hyderbad has one."

PATIENCE HELPS

"A few years ago the maharajahs of India would have stood in line for a jewel like this," he mused.

"I sold the Jonker diamond to King Farouk in 193: for well over a million dollars. We've had the Hope diamond —it's blue, 44 carats and valued at a million dollars—for seven years now."

Obviously, in peddling big diamonds, patience helps You don't have to beat off the customers with pick handles.

LI'L ONES

Voice of the People

Increased Volume of Mail for VOP Column Brings Change in Current Policy

The Pontiac Press makes a sincere attempt to run every letter we receive addressed to the Voice of the People. We omit some entirely because they're too long. A few we omit because they are on subjects that are of no general interest, and a few because they are libelous.

Practically all letters are edited. This means we are compelled to cut them down in length to make room for the rest. Right now, the Letters to the Editor are running well ahead of our normal number.

In all usual circumstances, we try and publish each letter within a week of the time it reaches this office. Right now, we are considerably behind this schedule. Therefore, within the next week we will run an unusually large number of letters to "catch up" with our mail.

After that, we hope to resume our planned schedule of printing each letter within a week of the time it reaches us.

Letter Clarified by 'Band Parent'

In answer to Ex-Band Parent, when were all these news stories and photographs and glories in the band victories and honors printed —25 years ago?

I had no intention of criticizing The Pontiac Press. If you can't interpret the meaning of a letter, at least you ought to know that a newspaper will publish what it is asked to publish concerning social and school activities, and people must take the news to them, except sports, which are covered in person.

The newspaper, as you put it, doesn't follow any school activity around and chronicle everything they do, unless it's sports.

I happen to know that the Chamber of Commerce and merchants in other cities keep their bands in uniforms and also send several students each summer to the music camp at Interlochen.

Of course, there are more important things in the world, but I wasn't writing about world events. I would simply like to see the bands of Pontiac get as much recognition and air as other school activities.

Unions Seeking 5-Day Weekend

If you want the truth. I think the unions are really after the five-day weekend.

Small Time Employer

Urges Farmers to Stop Milk Bill

Farmers, wake up. That MMPA is trying to saddle us with a State milk control. I attended the meeting on this question at Michigan State University and not one farmer actually knew what this bill is. When the panel was asked for a copy, we were told we could get it at the Capitol.

All we actually found out is that it will cost us more money. We already have MMPA to which we all pay dues, and the Federal order. This is still the United States, not Russia.

For the first 50 members of a local, we are allowed one delegate and an additional delegate for each additional 25 members. The delegates are the only ones allowed to vote.

They also tell us that we have an increase in production in January, more class two milk and thus a lower blend price. This I have to see. I have lived on a farm nearly all my life for the 26 years milking cows, and I know that this time of year production is lower than at any other time. Why should we take less for the milk we produce? It doesn't lower in price to the consumer. And our expense for repairs, supplies and labor raises every day.

Farmers, don't be stupid jerks. Send a wire to the Governor to stop this bill and save yourself some dollars and a lot of headaches.

Farmer's Wife

'Most People Pray Only for Begging'

I wish you'd put a piece in the paper which tells the truth about a lot of people when they pray. They never pray unless they're in trouble and then they just pray for themselves. It really isn't praying, it's just plain begging. I don't think the Lord bothers much with those cheap beggars.

Sally

Reader Relates Shooting of Pet

I wonder how you would feel if someone shot and killed your pet as they did our dog. It was nice of two little boys to tell us about it or we would often wonder what happened to him. We sure hated to give him up after having him 11 years. He was the boy's dog and he is now in service. I will wait until he comes home to tell him. Hope it will be easier to explain by then.

Broken Hearted

Bit of Philosophy Given by 'Andy'

I don't know the author of this, but hope you agree.

"When you enviest the man who possesseth honors, when his titles and his greatness raise thy indignation, seek to know whence they come unto him, inquire by what means he was possessed of them, and thy envy will be turned to pity.

"If the same fortune were offered to thee at the same price, be assured, if thou were wise, thou wouldst refuse it. Pursue that which is honorable, do that which is right and the applause of thine own conscience will be more joy to thee than the shouts of millions who know not that thou deservest them."

'Don't Recognize Hungary Regime'

We should refuse diplomatic recognition to the present regime in Hungary, on the obvious ground that there is no true government in that country but only a foreign occupation.

Driver Criticizes State Policemen

Sunday my wife and I and daughter were on Telegraph road where traffic was quite heavy. I wonder if the two State Policemen thought it smart to turn around in front of us. The car behind them slammed on the brakes and I slammed on ours, practically knocking our little girl off the back seat. It almost caused a bad accident. It was no emergency because they didn't have their light flickering. Anyone else would have gotten a ticket and paid a stiff fine. They were also setting a bad example for young people who might have been driving there.

County Man Gives Courthouse View

It is pleasing to note the interest being taken by citizens in the County Building Program, erroneously billed as the Court House program.

Certain interests have been busy on the subject for the past few years, not for the benefit of the people of the county, but solely for their own aims and purposes. They have asserted that Pontiac has a vested right and the rest of us in the county are satellites.

I note with interest the claim that the citadel of county government belongs southerly in this county. This claim is justly supported by the facts.

There is no partisan element involved, and in view of the fact that we will pay 75 per cent of the costs, we certainly ought to be interested. I do not hesitate to say that I oppose any tall county building surrounded by parking lots and meters. Supervisor Harold K. Schone speaks well for me on the matter.

Questions Brought by Crackdown

The police crackdown has led us to ask some questions. If speed is the answer to the traffic toll, why is it that the Greyhound Company, "unsurpassed by no one for public safety," was named as being one of the real violators?

Could lack of attention cause more accidents than minor speed violations?

Does Secretary of State Hare plan to eliminate accidents by eliminating traffic? He has revoked 20,000 driving licenses and wants funds to increase his staff. Then how can we expect healthy automobile and truck sales?

Why is it that safety belts, acclaimed as the biggest safety factor, are being completely ignored in this effort to save lives?

Youths Beat Boy; Parents to Sue Rock 'n' Roll Show

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The parents of a 14-year-old boy who says he was beaten by other youths at a rock 'n' roll movie have sued a theater chain for $40,000.

Joseph G. and Katherine E. D'Angelo have taken the action in behalf of their son Joseph against the Stanley Warner Management Corp. The suit was filed in U.S. District Court yesterday.

It charges that Joseph was beaten "on the head, face, and body" by a group of other teen-agers and his nose broken while at the Orpheum Theater here last Dec. 16.

The suit said the beating was due to the "carelessness and negligence of the defendant in exhibiting a motion picture which the defendant knew or should have known would arouse its viewers to acts of violence, frenzy, and criminal and immoral conduct, imperiling and endangering the life and limb of other patrons."

The action said the movies were "Rock, Rock, Rock" and "Hot Cars."

Attack Followers of Peron

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Foreign Office sources said today Argentina will ask its neighbors to clamp down on followers of ex-dictator Juan Peron. This followed the government's announcement it had smashed a Peronista plot to invade Argentina simultaneously with an uprising.

The government said it had arrested 35 conspirators — former military men and civilians — over a 48-hour period. It asserted that the Peronista "high command" in Caracas, Venezuela, where Peron is in exile, had mobilized retired military and civilian backers for an uprising in Argentina.

Those arrested were reported to include generals and an admiral who were retired summarily after Peron was unseated.

The government of Provisional President Pedro Aramburu apparently was satisfied it had broken the back of any internal conspiracy, at least for the present.

No special security measures were ordered in the capital, and the country appeared peaceful.

An invasion by Peronista forces from "command posts" in Chile, Bolivia, Paraguay, Uruguay and Brazil was to take place along with the internal revolt, the government said.

Alert military forces were credited with nipping the alleged conspiracy. The Foreign Ministry has made no official comment on the situation, but informants close to it said Argentina likely will send documentary proof to the neighboring countries with the requests for tighter controls over potential Argentine troublemakers living in exile.

Argentine authorities say they know the names of leading Peronist conspirators in each of the five neighbor countries.

Aden Is Chief Port Between Suez, India

WASHINGTON — The port of Aden, on the tip of the Arabian Peninsula, was a nest of adobe houses with scarcely 500 inhabitants when occupied by the British in 1839. Today the Crown Colony holds some 4,400 Europeans and 134,000 Adenese, a modern oil refinery with a daily capacity of 100,000 barrels, and substantial trading firms. It is the only sizable port between the Suez Canal and India.

Ancient silk and spice caravans crossed Aden Protectorate, the National Geographic Society says. The area of 112,000 square miles of thinly populated tableland and desert shares vague borders with Yemen, Oman, and Saudi Arabia.

One of every six businesses in the U.S. is automotive.

Device Detects Rattle by Using Electronics

NEW YORK — A new electronic marvel locates elusive car rattles in a jiffy. A loose screw or bolt has a "natural frequency" at which it will vibrate or oscillate. It will occur at any multiple of that frequency.

The problem in detection is to create the rattle while the car is standing still. It is done with a vibrator that combines an audio-oscillator and a speaker. To duplicate the vibration, the audio-oscillator is adjusted to the "natural frequency" of the rattling object, and the speaker transmits the vibration to the car body.

Average lifetime of a car or truck today in the United States is 13.8 years with a mileage of about 122,000 miles.

Scientists Say Light Affects Tree Growth

Washington—Experiments by Agriculture Department researchers show that the growth of trees, like that of many other kinds of plants, is often much affected by the amount and quality of light they receive.

The scientists found that a tree's growth can be halted by restricting the amount of light it receives. When day length was limited to 8 hours of natural light, the growth of the majority of trees tested stopped within four weeks.

Species tested differed widely, however. The tulip popular stopped growth ater only 10 eight-hour-light days, but the elm continued growing for 140 such 8-hour days.

A Lapp was fined $28 at Kittilae, Finland, for driving a reindeer while drunk.

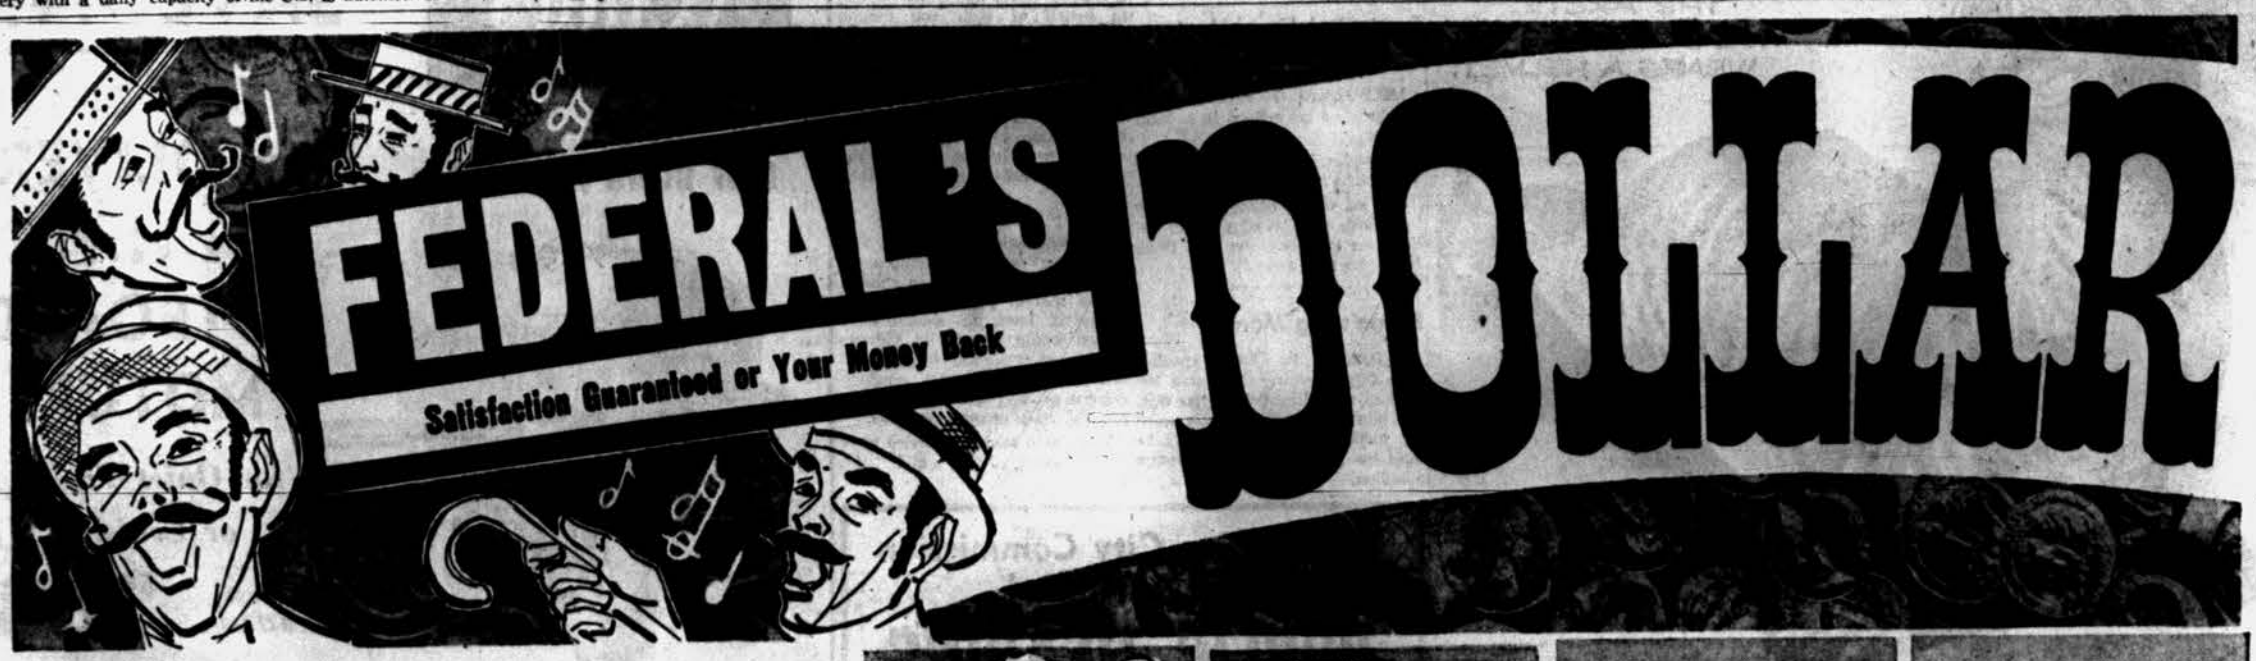

Communist Group Decides to Dissolve

NEW YORK (AP) — The Labor Youth League, an affiliate of the Communist party, says delegates to its recent convention here voted to dissolve the league.

The league said 50 convention delegates from 10 states decided "with great reluctance" to disband. The announcement indicated that league members would try to find places within Socialist youth organizations.

The league was ruled a Communist front in 1955 by the Subversive Activities Control Board. The league said it was organized in 1949, succeeding a group called American Youth for Democracy, also organized by the Communist party, which was dissolved in 1941.

Man Saves Bankroll by Foot Racing Train

OCALA, Fla. (AP)—Thomas Cummings beat a train to a railroad crossing and saved his bankroll.

Cummings said he had pulled his car off the highway to sleep a while and was wakened by a man who claimed to be a law officer demanding to see his driver's license.

Suspicious, Cummings ran. When he saw a train approaching on a nearby track he dashed across in front of it and hid in underbrush, watching the man search for him after the train passed.

He reported to the Florida Highway Patrol, which confirmed Cummings' suspicion that his pursuer didn't represent the law. A flashlight and overcoat were taken from his car.

The first passenger car assembled in Pakistan is being tested in Karachi.

Sees Big Job Ahead for U.S. Railroads

ANN ARBOR—"Railroads must continue to make use of technological advances to improve their operation and keep pace with industrial progress as a whole." Francis A. Gaffney, vice president and general manager of the Grand Trunk Western Railroad, Detroit, said in opening the Third Michigan Railroad Management Seminar here.

Because of the steady growth of our country's economy, the railroads will have to be prepared to meet the transportation needs of 190 million people and a gross national product of some 550 billion dollars by 1965, Mr. Gaffney said.

The U.S. Corps of Engineers said that 11 million visits were made in 1956 to the nine lakes it operates in Texas. The lakes are open for camping, swimming, fishing and picnicking.

Bible Now Screened by Nationalist Chinese

TAIPEI (AP) — A bookshop clerk today complimented the Nationalist Chinese government's attempts to keep out Communist and lewd matter but complained the screening program may be a bit too strict.

Set-Up A-Teams for New Duties

Begin 6 A-Commands to Form New Concept for Nuclear Warfare

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army will organize its first two atomic support commands March 1, it was announced today.

One command, designated "Air transportable," will be formed at Ft. Bragg, N.C. A Medium Atomic Support Command will be organized at Ft. Hood, Tex.

The Army had previously announced its intention to organize at least six atomic commands in line with its new concept for troop unit operations on nuclear warfare battlefields.

The Air Transportable Command will be organized around one battalion equipped with Honest John rockets which can fire either atomic or conventional explosive warheads.

The Medium Atomic Support Command will be considerably larger in men and missiles. It will be built around one battalion equipped with Corporal guided missiles and a maximum of four Honest John battalions.

The Army plans to cut the number of its regular divisions from 20 to 18 in order to speed the formation of the atomic support commands. After the Army has gained experience with its new atomic commands, they will be deployed with larger area or Army commands, such as those in Europe.

U.N. Rejects Charge of U.S. Aggression

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. General Assembly's Special Political Committee has overwhelmingly rejected a Russian resolution charging the United States with global aggression and subversion and intervention in the domestic affairs of the Soviet bloc.

Fifty-three countries voted against the measure yesterday. The eight Soviet bloc countries supported it, and 11 nations abstained. The committee's action will be reported to the Assembly, which can reopen the debate.

The United States said during the three-daye debate that Moscow trumped up the charges to cover the kickback from Soviet policies in Eastern Europe, especially Hungary.

Abstainers were Afghanistan, Burma, Ceylon, Egypt, Finland, Syria, Yemen and Yugoslavia.

Feathers Stir as Birds Herald Coming of Spring

WASHINGTON — Already, to the south, a stirring of birds heralds spring.

Like parade units in a staging area, different flocks and species are about to fall in line for their spring march up the North American continent.

Governed by an immutable schedule, each comes at its own time in the same order each year, the National Geographic Society says.

On the pampas of Argentina, on the islands of the Caribbean, in the forests of Central America, and in the southernmost sections of the United States, preparations for the migration can be seen in twittering flocks, excitement-filled before the annual trip home.

The first robin of spring, one of the earliest migrants to reach its breeding areas, will arrive this year, as it has for so long, when the temperature averages about 35 degrees Fahrenheit.

Not that the robin cares about the temperature itself. A few, with a good food supply, live through the winter in the northern states.

The birds time their arrival with another movement, measured in inches instead of hundreds of miles, but as much a migration as the robins' own.

Kishi Stays in Top Spot

TOKYO (AP)—The lower house of the Japanese Diet (Parliament) voted 251-145 today to defeat a motion by the opposition Socialists calling for the dissolution of the House and new elections. The motion followed designation of Nobusuke Kishi as prime minister.

Egypt Group Deposes Anti-Nasser Woman

CAIRO (AP) — Mrs. Doria Shafik has been ousted from the Egyptian feminist organization she founded, apparently because of outspoken opposition to the regime of President Nasser.

The board of directors of Bint el Nil (Daughters of the Nile) voted to strip Dr. Shafik of the presidency of their organization as well as of membership shortly after she ended a 10-day hunger strike protesting what she called the "dictatorial regime heading Egypt for bankruptcy."

A four-woman committee will take over functions of the presidency.

About seven per cent of U.S. farm households are headed by women.

Sal Mineo Moans Cost of Being Hollywood Star

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Teenage actor Sal Mineo says being a Hollywood star has its financial disadvantages.

Mineo, 18, told Superior Court yesterday he is going into debt unless he cuts his budget.

The former Bronx youth gets 2½ per cent royalties, under a new contract with Waxman Pictures, Inc. But he said he is spending $3,000 a month for business and living expenses — including wages for bookkeepers, personnel to handle his mail and a bodyguard.

Judge Clyde Triplett nevertheless ordered Mineo to set aside as a trust fund 15 per cent of his earnings.

About 70 per cent of the U.S. families own automobiles.

Jack Webb, Wife Part, Their Third Separation

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actor Jack Webb, 36, says he and his wife, Dorothy Towne, 26, have separated for the third time. They were married in Chicago Jan. 11, 1955.

"We haven't gotten as far as divorce talk yet or even to negotiations on a property settlement," Webb said yesterday. His wife notified him from Mexico, he added, she had decided on a separation.

Webb, best known as television's Sgt. Friday, formerly was married to singer Julie London, by whom he has two daughters.

Bermuda has been under the British flag for 344 years since the first British settlement was made there in 1612.

MAJESTIC SETTING: Although they are short of a fourth for bridge, the three men manning Alcan's weather post in British Columbia are long on beautiful winter scenery.

Grizzlies Liven Up Scene for 3 at Northern Outpost

KILDALA PASS, British Columbia (AP)—Up here where winds can blow 120 m.p.h. and grizzlies and wolverines keep you company, three hardy youngsters man one of the loneliest outposts in North America.

They operate a weather station 5,300 feet high in the snowy Coast Range Mountains and keep an eye on the 300,000-volt transmission line of the Aluminum Co. of Canada, Ltd. The line carries electricity from a powerhouse at Kemano, B. C., 50 miles north to Kitimat, where a smelter turns out aluminum ingot.

Mostly, the job of the weather station consists of taking regular readings on wind, cloud cover, humidity, visibility and temperature — and fighting off boredom and "cabin fever." But things can get lively.

Bruce Leyland, a college student from Lethbridge, Alberta, recalls the time he and Glenn McCourt spotted grizzlies eating their meat supply.

BEARS FIND BOX

"The meat was in a box, tied with rope, weighted with 12 x 12 timbers, and buried in the ground, Leyland says. "But the bears got the box out and were smashing it against the house. The noise woke us up."

"Glenn and I took some shots with our 30-06 rifle to scare them away — but they didn't scare. They chased us toward the ramp that leads into the weather station.

"Glenn was ahead of me as we roared up the ramp. He got inside and closed the door in my face! I managed to get it open, though, and slammed it in front of the bear. He took a swipe at the door as it closed. The claw marks are still there."

FIRST SENT CREW

Alcan first sent a weather crew to Kildala Pass in the winter of 1950-51, when the transmission line was being designed.

During the long winter months, the only link to the outside is the 2½ watt FM radio and the helicopters from Kemano. They make occasional visits to bring in fresh milk and meat and carry personnel and equipment in or out.

Arne Sabbe, who now works at Kemano, recalls the winter of 1954-55 at the weather station.

20 FEET OF SNOW

"We had an average of 20 feet of snow and the drifts were 50 feet deep in the hollows," he remembers. "The wind got up to 120 m.p.h.—the highest ever recorded there. It lasted all night, and the wind blew so hard it tore the cups off the anemometer. The temperature in the house sank to 30 degrees."

The normal winter crew of three goes up from Kemano to the mile-high station in November. It stays on duty until about mid - May, when the summer crew—usually two men — takes over.

The company figures that during the summer, when a man can ski or fly down to civilization at Kemano, a two-man crew is enough. But during the winter months, when the station is isolated, it's better to have three on duty.

"You need three people for company in the winter," Sabbe says. "Three are twice as many as two. It's more company for each man.

"I spent Christmas up there with only one other man, and you have to watch out for cabin fever. Little things about the other man begin to irritate you—even the way he cuts his meat. But we were well aware of the danger, and we didn't have any arguments."

Pay Labor 35 Cents Day —Still, Plant Loses Money

MADISON, Wis. (AP)— The State Board of Public Welfare has proposed closing the twine-making plant at the Wisconsin State Prison at Waupon.

Inmates started making twine in 1912 and since then the plant has turned back $2,295,307 to the state's general fund.

But officials, in their recommendation, said the twine market is so bad that even with 35 cents a day prison labor the plant now is losing money.

Shipment Is a 'First'

WILSON DAM, Ala. — Barges have delivered the first all-water shipment of phosphate pebble to this port on the Tennessee River. The 2,500-ton shipment left Tampa, Fla., in ocean-going barges, was transshipped to river barges at Port Sulphur on the Mississippi River, and delivered to the Tennessee Valley Authority's fertilizer plant at Wilson Dam.

Brazilian Trade Rises

RIO de JANEIRO — Brazil had a favorable trade balance of about $171,000,000 for the first half of 1956 compared with a deficit of $49,000,000 in the comparable period of 1955. The favorable result was obtained by an increase of 17 per cent in exports and a slash of nearly the same percentage in imports.

Call money, a familiar term in Wall Street, is a short-term loan; that is, "over-night money."

Can Copy Plane Motion

WEST LYNN, Mass — A cage-like test device used in a West Lynn plant for checking aerial-navigation aids can simulate banking, pitching, or complete turning of an aircraft. And it can duplicate the magnetic field of any point on earth.

Vienna, Austria, hopes to be chosen the seat on a new International Atomic Energy Commission, to be formed by members of the U. N.

Men May Sport Beard in Style

NEW YORK (NEA)—It hasn't quite reached the point where the razor blade companies are panicking, but there is a definite upward growth in beards these days. You see them on TV, in magazine ads and more and more you see them walking around the street.

Nobody knows for sure how many beards are loose, or why they're coming back. The Barber's Journal, trade paper of the field, used to estimate beards at around 140,000, but they've recently upped the figure to 200,000. That's still just a drop in the clean-shaven bucket, but it's a bigger drop than it used to be.

There are probably as many different reasons why men grow beards as there are types of beards — and there are around 100 types. (The most popular today is the delicate little Van Dyke; the least popular is the Rip Van Winkle, which isn't full-grown until it reaches the floor.)

Most beard wearers say they've let their whiskers grow because they've always wanted to. Some claim it's a business asset—they're easily remembered by customers—and others insist they just like the way the things looks.

A few claim their wives wanted them to cultivate a facefull of hair — like Broadway star William Johnson, whose actress wife, Jet MacDonald, says Bill's beard is "soft and warm, like kissing a cocker spaniel."

BEARDS COVER DEFECTS

But the cynical barbers think most men grow beards to cover some facial defect. Beards make fat-faced men look thinner, and make weak - chinned men look stronger. And if a man is both fat-faced and weak-chinned, a beard is almost as important as an upper lip.

Mitch Miller, on his CBS-Radio Show, invited a few distinguished beards to appear and bring their masters along. One guest was novelist Rex Stout, creator of Nero Wolfe, who is of the women-like beards school.

"I've taken a statistical count," Stout said, "and find that 87.2 per cent of the women have an uncontrollable desire to pull a man's whiskers.

On the program, the pros and cons of beard-sporting were discussed. Bearded Comdr. Edward Whitehead ("The Man From Schweppes") claimed his crew-cut cheeks kept the cold away in winter and the mosquitoes away in summer.

Miller confessed that his beard offered one distinct problem — it was a nuisance during sweet corn season.

"Hours after you've eaten corn," he says, "you smell like a dairy and realize that it's the butter which got left in the beard. But it's worth the trouble of washing it out."

LIFE NOT MADE SIMPLER

Washing out butter is only one way a beard must be cared for. Many beard boys claim their adornment makes life simpler—no razors, after-shave lotion or five o'clock shadow — but actually a beard must be kept under cultivation or it'll get to look like yesterday's shredded wheat.

To start with, a beard isn't an easy thing to acquire. It's not just a case of hair today, beard tomorrow. It takes a good six weeks before it looks like anything, and those can be six harrowing weeks, during which the beard resembles half - hearted fuzz.

Then the raw material must be tamed by comb, brush and water, otherwise it all grows in different directions. Once each whisker is behaving like a gentleman, the beard can be sliced and snipped into any one of the 100 accepted shapes, which bear exotic names like the Balzac, the Fleck, the Sforza (Mitch Miller's brand), the Shenandoah (Rex Stout's), the Presbyter (Ernest Hemingway's) and the Czar Nicholas (Whitehead's, the Shaker, the Patriarch and many more.

After the beard is built, it must be maintained. That takes a weekly trip to the barber shop for trimming, plus an occasional interim snipping of wayward whiskers by the board's keeper.

BARBERS APPROVE

Barbers, surprisingly, welcome the beard's revival. They hate to shave because they can't charge enough to make it worth while. But a beard-trim is a quicker operation, hence profitable.

The appearance of bearded men in TV, magazine ads, movies and other public places has done much to revive interest in hairy faces. Whatever the cause, the beard is definitely on its way back.

When it was planning to introduce its new electric razor on a TV show, one company (Ronsen) advertised for bearded men willing to be shaved on TV. They got more than 3,000 applicants, not including hundreds of wires and telephone calls.

They had figured maybe they'd get a few hundred. The surprisingly large response amazed them but it didn't frighten them; they went right ahead and introduced the razor.

Alien Assets Yield U.S. $52,000,000 During '56

WASHINGTON—The Office of Alien Property reports that it realized about $52,000,000 during 1956 from income and liquidation of enemy assets seized during World War II under the Trading With The Enemy Act. Except for the period of active vesting of enemy property—when large amounts of cash were being seized the sum realized was the largest collected by the office in any year from the income, sale, and liquidation of vested property.

Car Flies Beautifully —Landing Came as Shock

COEUR D'ALENE, Idaho (AP) — A. L. Wycoff of Spokane, Wash. rounded the corner of a building, drove up a slight grade, suddenly saw the nose of his car drop several feet with a spine-jarring crash.

He'd driven up the loading ramp of a building supply company while trying to find his bearings in the 2 a.m. darkness. His car landed with its front wheels on the ground, its rear ones still on the loading ramp.

Police called a wrecker and helped Wycoff get his car back to earth.

Brazil is a major republic of South America. It is the name also of a legendary island in the Atlantic Ocean, and the name of a town in Indiana.

Pups' Mom Sets Rule: Girls Will Dine First

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—A police dog here gave birth to 10 puppies—five male and five female—which created a feeding problem.

At feeding time, the mother dog nudges the females close to her while fending off the boy dogs. When she is sure the girls have had enough she pushes them aside and lets in the boys.

Security for You

Must Prove Marital Status Legal in State

The widow's application to the Houston Social Security office for monthly payments showed she'd been married twice. But, the application left one question unanswered.

The district manager wrote for the answer since he couldn't make any payments until he got it.

The question: "How was your first marriage ended?"

The reply: "In a divorce over me plowing the potatoes. He said it was too wet to plow."

Although he got his answer, the district manager wasn't actually interested in why the marriage ended. He was only interested in whether it was ended legally.

The reason for this interest is simple. A widow or a wife who's been married twice isn't eligible for Social Security payments unless she can show proof of a legal break of the first marriage. And, of course, the Social Security people have to have proof that the second marriage is legal.

In fact, all wives or widows who apply for payments based on their husband's Social Security record must show legal proof of marriage. It makes no difference whether the marriage is the first, second or fifteenth. In most instances, showing legal proof of a marriage is as easy as showing a marriage license.

But, since the separate states decide on the marriage requirements for their residents and the persons being married in them, the requirements can and do vary considerably.

Sometimes these varying requirements give the Social Security people headaches. What may be a legal marriage in one state, will not be considered a legal marriage in another.

COMMON LAW LEGAL?

For example: Nineteen states recognize common-law marriages, while the others don't. A common-law marriage is one without ceremony of any sort, but where a man and woman live together and consider themselves man and wife.

In 30 states, marriages between white and Negro persons are not considered legal. In almost all states, marriages between certain relatives are not considered legal.

To help meet the problems of the varying legal requirements of the states, the Social Security Administration has worked out a simple rule of thumb:

Generally, if a marriage is recognized in the state where the Social Security application is filed or where the husband dies, it will be recognized for the payment of benefits to a wife or widow.

Thus, in the 19 states where common-law marriages are recognized as legal, the Social Security people will recognize them and make payments to a common-law wife or widow. It will not do so in the states where common-law relationships aren't considered legal.

Persons who are in doubt as to whether their marriages are legal should try to clear up the doubt by discussing their situation with the nearest Social Security office or a good lawyer. Perhaps, if they discover that their marriages aren't legal, they can do something before Social Security payments are denied.

(You may write Ray Henry in care of this newspaper about your own Social Security or retirement problem. Please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 25 cents in coin.)

(Questions on Social Security problems may be addressed to "Social Security," in care of The Pontiac Press. Questions will be answered by mail from the Pontiac office of the Social Security Administration. There is no charge for this service.)

State Eyes Revenue

Fee for Parks? Many Residents Say Yes to Idea

A proposed bill in the Legislature calling for an admission fee to state parks is "a good thing," many area residents declared recently during a survey taken in downtown Pontiac.

Among the many persons interviewed, a man and a woman voiced disfavor of the plan.

The bill, submitted this month, was proposed by Sen. Elmer R. Porter (R-Blisfield). It is designed to add between $1½ to 2 million annually for the maintenance and expansion of state parks.

If approved, the bill would call for a $2 fee which would allow the fee-payer entrance into all state parks for one year. For 50 cents motorists could purchase car admissions good for one day only.

The purchaser would receive a sticker for his automobile under the measure.

Officials of the State Conservation Dept. said the parks, now open to the public without charge, are badly in need of new revenue.

LOSHINSKI

"This plan sounds like a good thing to me," said Carl A. Loshinski of Brighton. "It would mean that everybody that uses the parks would share in their maintenance."

Grafton Russell of 177 Fulton St., Pontiac, said: "This sounds like the answer to bring in that added money that people say is needed if we are going to keep our parks growing. And I don't think the fee would discourage users, either."

RUSSELL

MISS MAY

"This plan sounds like a pretty good idea to me," Miss Jean May of 563 E. Madison Ave. declared. "It would mean that the people that use the parks would be sharing in their upkeep, which is most essential."

George B. Sullivan of 2885 Garland Rd., Sylvan Lake, said he didn't favor the bill.

SULLIVAN

"I've been in some excellent Ohio parks, and they haven't asked for money," Sullivan stated. "There are other means available from which the state should be able to get the money."

"Couldn't they possibly get appropriations from some state gas and weight taxes?" he questioned.

WOOLSEY

Clifford R. Woolsey of 28 Tacoma Ct., Pontiac, had this to say:

"If this money would go toward fixing up the parks, it would be alright with me. Two dollars isn't very much money when you consider all the people that use the facilities free."

A second "no" vote was voiced by Miss Doris Wertheimer of 406 Pontiac State Bank Bldg.

MISS WERTHEIMER

"No, I don't think they should charge an admission fee to parks. Most Michigan residents have enough city and state taxes to pay right now. Charging would destroy the principle of the parks being open to the public free of charge."

Dick McLaughlin of 193 Mohawk St. said he would be willing to pay the fee. "I'm for anything that would improve our state parks, which I use often.

McLAUGHLIN

"I don't see anything wrong with charging the people that use them. They should be willing to support them."

"Two dollars isn't too much to ask anybody to pay," Miss Shirley Kingswell of Drayton Plains said.

MISS KINGSWELL

"If the money goes for the intended use, then I'm for it. It might be used for providing more equipment in the areas."

Ask Court Rule on Qualification

Engineers Say Mackie Is Ineligible for Post as Highway Chief

DETROIT (AP) — The Michigan Society of Professional Engineers (MSPE) planned to ask the Michigan State Supreme Court today to disqualify John C. Mackie of Flint as Democratic nominee for State Highway Commissioner on the grounds he is not a registered engineer.

The society said it will ask the court to order Mackie's name from the April 1 ballot and tell the Democratic State Central Committee to name a new candidate.

Mackie, Genesee County surveyor, was nominated Saturday at the Democratic state convention in Grand Rapids.

The Republican nominee for the highway job is George M. Foster of Lansing, a registered engineer.

In Lansing, Mackie said he would make no comment on the legal action itself.

"My attorney will speak for me in proper form at the proper time," he said.

"I welcome this legal action. I'm ready to meet in any arena this Republican attempt to defeat me," Mackie added.

TV Antenna Falls Into Tub —Near Electrocution

DALLAS (AP)—A TV fan narrowly escaped death when a portable video antenna fell into the bath tub with him last night.

Gilbert Nobel, 39, was found unconscious from electric shock. His wife, who weighs only 120 pounds, tugged her 180-pound husband from the tub.

Investigators said his wife's pulling probably started Noble's breathing again.

Senator Attacks Labor Rackets

Prober McClellan Primes for His Toughest Case

Committee Led by Ex-Lawyer

Kicks Off Investigation of Alleged Corruption in Nation's Unions

WASHINGTON (NEA) — A one-time small town trial lawyer from Arkansas is now primed for the biggest case of his life — the case against alleged corruption in the labor movement.

Actually he has been boning up for the task since the day he was admitted to the bar at 17 by a special act of the state legislature.

He's Sen. John L. McClellan, today the Senate's No. 1 investigator.

As chairman of a special committee launching a full scale investigation of labor rackets, McClellan is confident he has the goods to whittle union crooks down to size. And most experts agree that if anyone can pull this off, he can.

Behind McClellan's familiar horn-rim glasses and frightening scowl is a legal mind that combines brilliance with hard learned horse-sense.

SHREWD LAWYER

And like the shrewd country lawyer that he is, he's not tipping his hand until witnesses are before him.

"This is the toughest investigation I've ever undertaken," says the senator as he stands in his outer office with a sheaf of letters in his hands. His dry drawl seems to cut into every corner of the room.

The phone rings and his administrative assistant Ralph Matthews tells him that he has a long distance call.

"This is McClellan," he says grabbing the nearest receiver. He listens a minute and then rifles off several fast answers, politely but all business.

The call concerns the labor investigation and is referred to Robert Kennedy, committee counsel.

PEOPLE CALL

"People are calling about this business from all over the country," explains Matthews. "Of course the senator only has time to take a few of the calls. Most are sent directly to the committee staff."

"See all these letters," adds McClellan. "We're getting hundreds of 'em. Here's just one from a man who says he lost his job because of union racketeers."

Another call comes in for the senator.

"All he does is work, work, work, that's practically his whole life," continues Matthews. "I don't know of a Sunday when he hasn't come to the office, and every night he takes home a budging brief case.

WON'T RELAX

"We can't get him to do anything else. We wish he would relax and get a little exercise once in a while like golf. Go ask anybody about him. Ask McCarthy."

You'll remember that it was Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis) who traded verbal haymakers with McClellan during the bitter Army - McCarthy hearings. That's when McClellan was first noticed by the public.

"If you've ever watched me in operation, you know I don't use an iron fist," says McClellan, who broke with McCarthy but who maintains an amiable relationship with him today.

NOT TOUGH GUY

"I'm not a tough guy," he adds. "I treat every witness fairly according to his constitutional rights.

"But I'll take no nonsense," he exclaims, bristling with indignation at the mention of the four Teamsters Union officials who refused to answer questions recently before the Senate Investigations Subcommittee.

"They were in contempt of Congress and if we didn't call them short, we wouldn't have a leg to stand on with any future witnesses who claim we don't have jurisdiction."

Despite the grind of preparing for the investigation, McClellan looks in the peak of health and younger than his 61 years. His black hair with a few streaks of gray is thinning in front but tends to curl slightly in back.

WATCHES TV

Probably his only form of relaxation is to watch an occasional boxing bout over television at home. And that fits in with his personality.

SEN. JOHN McCLELLAN — No iron fist or nonsense.

State Revenues Form Issues

Legislature Ready for Highway Scrap

LANSING (AP) — The pattern for an impending legislative scrap over financing highway construction in Michigan was taking shape today.

It appeared there will be two main battlegrounds:

1. The level and distribution of revenues for road buildings, and

2. Whether a portion of revenues alloted to the State Highway Department shall continue to be guaranteed or certain specified trunkline routes enumerated in a 1955 statute.

On the second issue, Gov. Williams replied with an emphatic "yes" when asked yesterday where he stood.

Several legislative leaders on roads, including the chairmen of the House roads and bridges and the Senate highways committee, have taken a contrary position.

SENTIMENT DIFFERS

On the first issue, divergence of sentiment within the legislature was reflected with introduction of two bills yesterday for cutting the size of the state's six cents a gallon gasoline tax, and changing the basis for allocating revenues among the state, counties and cities.

Powerfully supported recommendations for changing the distribution formula without decreasing the gasoline tax were submitted last week by a joint legislative highway study committee.

One of the tax cut bills, by Sen. Robert E. Faulkner (R-Coloma), called for a half penny reduction, with all the resulting decrease in revenues to be taken from the share now tabbed for State Highway Department use.

PROPOSE CUT

The other bill, proposing a full penny reduction, was offered by Sen. Carlton H. Morris (R-Kalamazoo). Morris wants to cut the highway department, the counties and cities proportionately.

'Aunt Lib', 13th in Family, to Mark 100th Birthday

By REBA HEINTZELMAN
Of Our
Waterford Township Bureau

Thirteen is a lucky number for "Aunt Lib" Russell, of Waterford Township who will be 100 years old March 20th. She was the youngest child of a family of 13 children, and "every one of them are gone but me," she said.

Elizabeth Russell lives with a niece and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Keith, at 7214 Cooley Lake road. Her father and mother came from Ireland and settled on the edge of Cass Lake, when the nearest neighbor lived two miles away.

That's where Libby was born, raised, married and lived with her husband, Moses, for more than 45 years.

"I'm Irish clear to the backbone," she said. Her quick wit and humor belie her century-old existence.

TRUE IRISH SPIRIT

She is an example of happy living, conveying the true Irish spirit even though she has been blind for the past ten years. "By the time I was 90 I'd seen enough," she said.

Libby gets up in the morning, dresses herself and looks forward to every new day. Radio is her main source of entertainment, her preference leaning to the "soap operas," and particularly to "People Are Funny."

When the Cass Lake area was a wilderness, Elizabeth traveled with her father to Pontiac, then the main trading area. They would hitch up a team of oxen and the 10-mile trip would be an all-day journey, which the children looked forward to for months.

As to her activities when she was a youngster, Aunt Lib said: "Eighty-four years ago, we danced the same old-fashioned square dance the young folks do today, and the music is just the same."

Indicative of her Irish humor, Mrs. Russell maintains that she has the oldest set of false teeth in the United States, having used the same denture for the past 81 years. Matter-of-fact, her favorite candy is peanut brittle.

Mrs. Sun supports her husband and two children: May-Kwey (right), 2; and Tseng-Hai, 4, while hanging by her long hair. The total weight of the family is 320 pounds. It took years before the Suns could figure out a method of knotting mom's hair so the strain would be distributed equally all over her scalp.

By PHYLISS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS) — Lance Reventlow, the only tangible, embraceable souvenir Babs Hutton has preserved after six trips to the altar, has just received a birthday token of her adoration.

It is a mansion worth some $400,000 with hot and cold running bathing pond and waterfall, respectively. And yet it is — as we said — merely a token.

While people the world over are no doubt at this moment forming a choir of pious "tsk-tsks" that would swell into a loud sneer at the idea of a 21-year-old lad receiving a mansion, there is something to be said in defense of this mother.

Certainly it cannot be said that she ever has been notably wise; and Barbara, having long been ill from over-exposure to elements that we lucky normals with holes-in-the-pocket never need face, is trying in the best way she can to keep this only child from catching her own emotional disease.

You guess, when you look at Miss Hutton, that she probably long since has given up the idea of finding a solidity and peace within herself. She has not, I believe, lost hope that Lance will find security in her wealth, rather than disillusion.

This truth was easy to observer during the wedding ceremony between Babs and Porfirio Rubirosa.

This neurotic nuptial, which I attended in the home of the Dominican Republic's consul in New York, was abundant with Scotch, soda, glazed eyes and a hysterical sort of informality. Outside of the three reporters in incredulous intrusion, the only bewildered one without a glass in hand was Lance, then 16.

As the marriage contract was read to each of the principals, in the Dominican tongue, they nodded their "I do's." Then the officiating consul turned to the pudgy pink-cheeked teenager and began to read his part of the marriage bargain, as offspring and witness.

Suddenly Babs shuddered out of her dazed lethargy and stretched her hand toward her son.

"Oh no, darling, no," she whispered loudly. "I didn't want you to be dragged into this."

Lance smiled reassuringly at his mother and the ceremony went on, but Babs was bemused. At the finish, she kissed first her son and then most of the other gentlemen within reach.

Finally, "Rubi" remarked with cool amusement that she had married HIM. Dutifully, the new Mrs. Rubirosa acknowledged the fact with a peck on the cheek.

SAW THE DANGERS

It was at this point obvious that Miss Hutton had realized the dangers of dragging Lance into her personal life — a life she has seemed incapable of straightening out.

So she travels alone, with only her current husband for company (as of this writing, he is No. 6: Baron Gottfried Von Cramm), and leaves young Lance to make his own way, emotionally if not financially.

The fact that on his 21st birthday she presented him with a great house rather than a great hunk of cash would appear to indicate that what Lance wants, and she wants for him, is more security than "Mom" ever felt with all her 40 million dollars.

May we, who are better fixed every way but financially, be tolerant.

MOVING PICTURE — "Oh, my aching back" must be the joint complaint of these two Lebanese "moving men" as they struggle under the weight of heavy cabinets through the streets of Beirut. Lacking any equipment for handling furniture, these Arab workers rely only on their own strong backs to carry heavy household goods throughout the city on moving day.

Start Change of Telegraph to 6-Lane, Divided, in 1957

DEARBORN (INS)—State Highway officials have indicated work on the controversial multi-million dollar conversion of Telegraph Road into a six-lane divided highway will get under way this year.

State officials held a public hearing in Dearborn to inform residents along the right-of-way of their plans.

Assistant Chief Engineer Joseph E. Wilbur of the Highway Department explained the proposed $2,875,000 program to about 100 persons, mostly Dearborn residents, who attended the session.

Wilbur said present plans for the use of the existing 40 feet road bed, with the addition of curbs and gutters, on the east side as the Northbound lanes of traffic.

He added:

"A new 36 foot strip of pavement will be installed on the west side of the road bed for Southbound traffic with curbs and gutters. Both pavements will be divided by a green belt varying in width from 36 to 48 feet."

He said the expanded highway will run from Grand River (US 16 in Detroit) to Detroit's industrial highway requiring a right-of-way of 180 to 205 feet.

"Present facilities can not possibly handle a traffic increase expected along Telegraph Road," he added, "our expansion program along Telegraph will be spread over the next three years with construction scheduled to begin this year."

This Setter Isn't Setting; Busiest Dog at Large

VAN WERT, Ohio (AP) — Somewhere around here there's a setter who's working overtime.

The dog doesn't know when to quit, Sam Price and two friends from nearby St. Marys told the Van Wert Times Bulletin, appealing to other hunters to watch for the setter.

The trio said they got their limit in the first 10 minutes of the pheasant season, but the dog kept on going and disappeared.

CD Unit Schedules Radiological Course

Applications for a civil defense radiological monitoring course, April 1 - June 17, are still available from Robert A. Stierer, Pontiac's assistant CD director, and from the Oakland County CD office, 1 Lafayette St.

The classes will be held each Monday night from 7 to 10 p.m. at Pontiac High School.

Stierer said the course will be limited to members of civil defense organizations in the county, and to any persons who will make this training available to CD groups.

Says Teamwork Gives Strength to Rural Homes

EAST LANSING (AP) — Rural homes are stronger and more united than city homes because families "do things together," a farm conference was told.

Mrs. James D. Wyker of Mt. Vernon, Ohio, former president of the United Church Women, spoke at a Farmers and World Affairs Institute at Michigan State University.

"The rural home is more than a home," Mrs. Wyker said. "It is an industry where members of the family work together.

"There's nothing like the discipline of work," she declared.

Because of the atmosphere of teamwork and family cooperation there are fewer divorces in rural homes than city homes, the speaker said.

Navy to Test Landing Device

Push-Button System to Guide Carrier Planes Safely Onto Decks

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—The Navy said today it soon will begin sea tests of a "push-button" landing system designed to guide planes safely to a carrier's deck in blind flying weather.

The automatic carrier landing system—a combination of radio, radar and electronic brain developed by Bell Aircraft Corp. —has been put through more than 1,200 land tests with jet fighters, big transports and light commercial planes.

Sea trials aboard a carrier will be conducted by Cmdr. A. G. Russell.

Bell explained the system this way:

Radar locates the airplane and determines its altitude and position in relation to the carrier deck. An electronic computor does the rest, sending the necessary course corrections to a device which directs the airplane into the desired flight path.

The system takes into account the carrier's movement the instant the plane is too touch the deck.

Company engineers said the system could provide "completely automatic flight" under all weather conditions.

Navy fliers said the system could be used to bring in pilots who are wounded.

Bob Considine Says:

A-Sub Message Heralds New Era

NEW YORK (INS)—The passing show . . .

"Underway on nuclear power" is a message that probably will live in the annals of man alongside "What hath God wrought?" Mr. Watson, come here, I want you" and "The Italian navigator has landed and finds the natives friendly."

Each symbolizes the opening of an age, a way of life.

The first was Skipper Wilkinson's laconic method of announcing, from the atomic submarine Natulius on Jan. 17, 1955, that he was going down to the sea in the first vessel of the fission fleet.

The second and third, of course, were the primary words sent respectively by telegraph and by telephone by Samuel F. B. Morse and Alexander Graham Bell.

The last was the coded announcement to the Pentagon that Enrico Fermi's atomic pile, built in the squash court beneath the stands of Chicago's Stagg Field, had sustained the world's first chain reaction.

NOT UNDERSTATING

Wilkinson wasn't understating the case. His ship is now back in port for the first time to receive a fresh lump of uranium. On the first nugget it traveled 20,000 leagues. More than half of those 60,000 miles were traveled submerged at speeds never dreamed as possible in the past.

A ball of uranium hardly the size of a light bulb was the core of the power which made her voyage one of the most momentous in thousands of years of seafaring. It established human endurance, rather than the capacity of the fuel bin or tank, as the measure of how long a ship can stay at sea.

The Nautilus could have gone around the world again, perhaps on the billions of unsplit atoms still in that nugget. But, to be safe, not half safe, the Navy is replacing the bean with a fresh one.

The change also will provide personnel with the experience of refueling an atomic ship, so that they, in turn, may train others—for the curtain now has gone up on this new age of the sea.

The second atomic sub, "Sea Wolf," is somewhere at sea. A dozen and more other atomic ships big and small are in the works.

A voyage such as the Nautilus has just completed would have required, under pre-atomic circumstances, 720,000 gallons of oil—90 railway tank cars filled to the brim.

CAUSE FOR TEARS

Dr. Norman Jolliffe, director of the Bureau of Nutrition of the city of New York, and author of "How to Reduce and Stay Reduced," reduces us to tears with:

"Stress and strain, physical indolence, obesity, luxury living or tobacco play lesser roles in producing the fantastically high coronary rate in this country than the lifting from the plate to the mouth of the ton or so of food the average American consumes in his 1,095 meals a year."

If we don't start eating properly, Dr. Jolliffe warns, ". . . we will be defeated by a greater, more ruthless enemy than we have ever fought in any war." No coward, he, the doctor attacks one of the most treasured U.S. sentiments—Mom's cookin'.

"Mom's old home cookin' has got to be changed drastically and immediately, or more and more men and women are going to die unnecessarily of the fatty element (chloresterol) which is carried in the blood, gathers on the walls of the arteries, and gradually closes them off until the heart strangles."

Jolliffe is a big man for fresh and canned fish, tuna in oil, sardines and mackerel. He says to go to any part of the world where fish is a mainstay of the national diet, and you'll find the peoples there relatively free of heart disease.

EAT AND RUN

All righty, Doc, just let me finish this little old sirloin and the buttered baked potato and off we'll go to Bali, Happy Land of the Infidel.

German Patent Men Busy, Thanks to U. S. Inventors

MUNICH (INS) — American gadgeteers and do-it-yourselfers have played the biggest part in turning the West German patent office into one of the world's busiest.

If you are a hard to wake morning sleeper or if you snore at nights, you'll find plans for the proper gadget to cure you from these evils in one of the huge catalogues and filing cabinets in Munich.

Among the 1,000,000 inventions ranging from a candle splitter to a streamlined locomotive, you'll find such amusing gadgets as a special muzzle that'll keep you from snoring, or a hammer that gently knocks on your head if you fail to hear the alarm clock.

More than 60,000 patent applications are received each year from amateur American inventors

The inventions listed here have been broken down in 89 different categories with 500 subdivisions and 20,000 group headings. The most voluminous category is on inventions in the field of atomic science.

As there are few modern day Edisons and Marconis, pioneer inventions which would revolutionize modern life are rare. The vast majority of innovations accepted for patenting represent some correction or improvement of already existing inventions.

Since the likelihood of inventing a useable type of the long sought perpetuum mobile — a machine that works perpetually without the help of outside energy—or the "eternal match" is virtually nil, "typical inventions" look like these:

—A "wrinkle smoother," adjustable rubber straps to be worn around the neck for the purpose of "contracting" wrinkles around the eyes. To cover the gadget, the inventor — a retired German officer —suggests turtleneck sweaters and similar camouflage;

UMBRELLA WINDOW

—An umbrella with a plastic window "to prevent people from bumping into each other on rainy days;"

—An electrically heated nose cap to heat frozen noses in winter, the gadget being powered by a dry cell small enough to be carried in the vest pocket.

Other innovations include "charged" tooth brushes that eliminate the need of tooth paste, streamlined locomotives, illuminated pocket books for evening or smog wear, with head and tail lights.

To handle applications, the patent office has a vast army of experts, many of them gadgeteers and inventors in their own right.

Spain has granted independence to the million people of Spanish Morocco, which she has ruled as a protectorate for 44 years, Madrid reports.

Actions in Tennessee Point Up This Fact

Our Federal Courts Must Stop Short of Usurping States' Rights in Integration

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — It is a matter of news importance when the American Civil Liberties Union, known for its persistent defense of "liberal" causes, criticizes a federal court injunction in a "desegregation" case.

After the Supreme Court of the United States issued its order throwing out state laws that permitted segregation, the school authorities of Clinton, Tenn., interpreted this to mean they had to bring about a forced association of the races and they complied with the court's order.

LAWRENCE

But various people in the town spoke in criticism and some of them allegedly attempted to interfere with the school board's operation. A riot took place near the school grounds, which should have been handled by local police under state laws.

But the federal judge issued an injunction of such broad scope that the Department of Justice arrested 16 citizens and made them defendants on the ground that they had engaged in a conspiracy to violate the injunction. Some of them had merely criticized the injunction and the court decision. Others happened to witness the disturbance. One of them merely offered bail for a defendant and was promptly arrested as a co-conspirator.

"Mere advocacy, in the Clinton case," says the American Civil Liberties Union statement, "urging the ignoring of the law or judicial orders, should not be prohibited. As we said at the beginning of this statement, the ACLU supports the Supreme Court decision and urges all citizens to obey it. But if some citizens choose to oppose the decision by peaceful means, through speech, they have the constitutional right to do so.

Mere picketing to express a point of view, in the absence of intimidation, should not be enjoined. So we believe the blanket prohibition against picketing of the Clinton high school is invalid. Without direct incitement to definite acts of individual or joint obstructiveness or interference, coupled with a clear and present danger that these acts will take place immediately, the injunction is too broad and interferes with free speech.

"However, the prohibition in the injunction as to overt acts of 'hindering' or 'obstructing' the integration order is different. Such overt acts cannot claim the protection of free speech. Whether or not such acts have occurred is a matter of proof to be determined at the contempt hearing."

ABUSED POWER

This correspondent a few weeks ago called attention to this very defect in the court's injunction and also to the unlawful usurpation by a federal court of a duty and task that should be performed by local police agencies and state law.

There is no evidence that the persons arrested exercised any influence whatsoever on the school board or attempted to interfere with its operations in bringing about a forced association of pupils. All that the citizens did was to criticize the injunction and the Supreme Court decision.

When an altercation occurred some distance from the school building, it was certainly a usurpation of authority for a federal court to attempt to apply an injunction to every citizen in the school district as to what he might say in his own home to his friends in criticism of forced association in the schools.

CAN PASS LAWS

Under the Fourteenth Amendment, Congress is empowered to pass legislation to enforce the prohibition against abridgement by a state of the liberties and privileges of a citizen—the basis on which the Supreme Court denounced racial segregation in the schools. But Congress has never acted.

The amendment is not self-executing but contains a specific grant of power to Congress. Hence until Congress does act, neither the Supreme Court nor any lower court can do any legislating and at the same time obey the spirit of the Constitution itself. It is the obligation of the states to preserve order, and they have ample means to do so.

Crossing Delay Costly

JACKSON, Mich. (AP) — A traffic count showed that trains at a busy crossing in downtown Jackson block some 1,040,000 cars an average of 624 hours a year. City engineers say the dollar loss in man hours over the years would approximate 20 times what a grade separation would cost.

Envoy Wears Mantle of Experience

WASHINGTON (AP)—David Kirkpatrick Este Bruce is a rich man with a flair for doing the dramatic and making people like him.

Tall, spare, gray and grave, he has been in so many things in his 59 years the list sounds like the old children's game of count-the-buttons. But instead of doctor, lawyer, Indian chief, it goes:

Soldier, diplomat, lawyer, farmer, businessman, lawmaker, public official, counter-spy, historian, art patron and now — diplomat again.

It undoubtedly is a tribute to Bruce, just nominated by President Eisenhower to be ambassador to West Germany, that the only criticism so far has been that he gave $1,000 to the Democratic party.

Sen. Watkins (R-Utah) complained yesterday that Bruce's $1,000 contribution to the 1956 Democratic campaign coffers "raises a question in my mind whether he supports the Eisenhower foreign policies."

Democrat Bruce presumably had a strong personal interest in the 1956 campaign. His old boss, New York's Gov. Harriman, was an active figure in it, especially in pre-convention skirmishing for the presidential nomination.

Bruce has been quietly clipping his investment coupons during the last two years at his 4,000-acre farm, Staunton Hall at Brookneal, Va. But he would carry to the West German post a strong diplomatic background, including one year as under secretary of state, three years as ambassador to France, about a year as vice consul at Rome and two years as special U. S. representative to the European coal-steel community.

He was born in Baltimore on Lincoln's birthday in 1898. Father William Cabell Bruce was a lawyer, writer and Democratic U.S. senator from Maryland during 1923-29. Mother Louise Este Fisher Bruce, member of a prominent industrial-financial family, was a civic leader in Baltimore.

World War I lured young Bruce away from his studies at Princeton, just as World War II dropped him out of public life into the hush-hush of the super-secret Office of Strategic Services.

He was decorated in both wars—the first one as an artillery captain and the second as an Air Force colonel and later chief of the OSS operation at London.

After World War I, Bruce studied law at the Universities of Virginia and Maryland. He has divided his loyalties between the two states ever since. He served in the legislatures of both states. Maryland claims him, since he was born there, but his legal residence is Virginia.

During 1929-39, as businessman and gentleman farmer, he became associated with the brokerage house of W. A. Harriman Co. as well as the boards of 25 big corporations.

In July, 1947, Bruce became assistant secretary of commerce when Harriman was secretary. A year later he was roving ambassador in Europe to put across the Marshall Plan aid program which Harriman headed.

Bruce married Andrew Mellon's daughter Ailsa in 1926. She bore him a daughter, Audrey. They were divorced in 1945 and on April 23 of that year Bruce married the former Evangeline Bell, daughter of the late Edward Bell. He had been a foreign service officer stationed at Peiping. The Bruces have three children — Alexandra, David and Nicholas.

Ex-Auditor Hodge to Give Up Holdings

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Sale of ex-state auditor Orville Hodge's Esquire Apartment Hotel at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., to a Detroit firm for $522,500 was authorized Tuesday.

Circuit Judge DeWitt Crow gave former state auditor Lloyd Morey, as trustee, permission to sell the hotel and furninshings to the Michigan Typesetting Co.

Proceeds will be used to retire the indebtedness of ex-auditor Hodge to the state for money he embezzled. Hodge is serving a prison term.

Morey also received permission to dispose of 160 shares of Paramount Fire Insurance Co. stock. Hodge owned this and the hotel jointly with his wife, Margaret C. Hodge, who must sign quit claim deeds to permit the transfer. Judge Crow said her attorney has said she will sign.

The hotel is encumbered with a $193,982 mortgage.

Lassen Peak in northern California was the most recent active volcano in the United States. It has been a national park since 1916.

THE FLYING HOUSE—4

An Unplanned Landing

The Flying House had reached a land of strange, sharp mountain peaks such as Bill and Jill had never seen before. Each had a capping of snow like marshmallow sauce on a dish of chocolate ice cream.

Farther down, the mountain sides were green with fir trees. In the deep valleys, blue rivers wound in sweeping curves. There were no houses to be seen and no people, but Bill and Jill had never been in such a noisy place. Hundreds of big green parrots were sailing through the air, screaming. It was deafening! Bill and Jill were so interested in the birds they forgot everything else until — suddenly there was a crunchy bump.

The Flying House was stuck on one of the sharp mountain peaks. Bill turned every dial, and pressed every button, but nothing happened. They'd have to ask the Wishing Well for help this time, and Jill had two pennies all ready. Then there was a rush of bright green wings all about the Control Room. The parrots closed in, each bird carrying a line. These lines they began fastening all over the house. After that, they all tugged at once. It was a ticklish moment! What if the house pulled apart? But the good old Flying House held together, began to move a little, and suddenly was free of the peak. Bill and Jill drew deep breaths of relief. They were flying again!

Color and add this drawing to your collection about the Flying House.

Mutual Savings Banks Date Back to 1816 in U.S.

BOSTON—The first mutual saving bank in the United States was founded in Boston in 1816. Before that time there were no banking facilities for persons who wished to save money in small amounts. Connecticut followed with its first mutual savings institution in 1819 and New Hampshire entered the field in 1823.

Today there are 384 savings banks in New England, with assets of nine billion dollars and nearly 6,000,000 depositors.

People in the United States consume about 475 million tubes of toothpaste a year, an average of three per person.

Wilson's Frank Speech Stirs Up Cyclones

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Wilson doesn't talk too much. He talks little. But what he says sometimes makes people more upset than if they had just been buzzed by a comet.

But Wilson's frankness is like a fresh breeze in this town where high government officials pick their way through the English language like a night watchman making his rounds in an egg factory.

This week a few words by Wilson, apparently not well chosen, had the Army running after him with an eraser. This week he told a news conference the Army's Jupiter missile program "is canceled."

Yesterday the Army issued a statement saying no final decision had been made on Jupiter and Wilson later confirmed that the decision "will be made at a later date."

The day before, top Air Force officials tried to explain to senators a cutback in projected Air Force expansion. They said that at one time they thought the Russians were outproducing the United States in heavy jet bombers but now the estimates have been changed.

Wilson, asked about this at his news conference, said re-evaluation of intelligence is customarily made this time of year. This happens to be the time of year when Wilson's department tells Congress what it needs and why.

His statement made some eyebrows go up. Did he mean the Defense Department puts its intelligence reports in a suitcase until this time of year and then starts to think about them? He probably meant no such thing.

This was all minor league stuff compared with the fire he started earlier this year when he said the National Guard was a refuge for draft dodgers during the Korean War.

Eisenhower later called the remark "unwise". Mrs. Wilson promptly chided Eisenhower, saying the slap at her husband was "uncalled for."

Meanwhile, Wilson, who had been called to the White House, made this statement to reporters who asked him for a statement when he came out: "This is not my dunghill. Anything to be announced, somebody else ought to announce."

Wilson may regret — because it's been thrown at him so often —that he once said back in 1953 when he was telling senators why he ought to be secretary:

"For years I thought what was good for the country was good for General Motors and vice versa."

But the statement which got him into the hottest water was made Oct. 11, 1954, in the final month of a congressional election campaign. Discussing unemployment with reporters in Detroit, he said:

"I've got a lot of sympathy for people where a sudden change catches them. But — I've always liked bird-dogs better than kennel-fed dogs myself. You know, one that will get out and hunt for his food rather than sit on his fanny and yell."

Wayne State University Gets $478,450 in Gifts

DETROIT (AP) — The board of governors of Wayne State University last night accepted gifts totaling $478,450.

The largest single grant of $54,840 was contributed by the U.S. Public Health Service for continuing the cyto-diagnostic screening survey in cervical cancer.

Also accepted was a $10,000 Ford Foundation grant to establish a memorial library of retailing. The gift was made in memory of James B. Webber, executive vice president of J. L. Hudson Co., for whom the library will be named.

Sewage 'Top Secret'

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—A newsman checking on the county sewage situation asked a Camp Pendleton public information officer for the volume of sewage handled by the big Marine base. "That's classified," replied the officer. He explained it would "tend" to reveal the number of personnel at the base.

Just Couldn't Find Electrical Connection

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A man telephoned the U.S. Department of Commerce office here to ask about regulations on mailing an electric toaster to Europe.

After the rules had explained, the man was told to put on the outside of the package: "General license—gift."

"No, no," he said, "not general license. General Electric."

IT WALKS — Since "perambulate" means to walk about, a Swedish inventor has come up with a perambulator that really does walk. As seen above, during demonstration in Stockholm, Vilhelm Peterson's pram has, instead of wheels, 20 metallic feet, fixed to the axel in spoke fashion. It "walks" up and down stairs and, on flat surface, the "feet" impart a rocking rhythm to the carriage, which should act like a lullaby.

Police Claim Confession

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—Lantern-jawed Joseph L. Taborsky, who was freed in 1955 from a state prison death cell, and an ex-convict buddy were held today as the execution killers of six persons in petty cash holdups since Dec. 15.

State Police Commissioner John C. Kelly said one of the two confessed the killings yesterday. Kelly refused to say which one confessed "because our investigation is not yet completed."

The money taken in the holdups was little in contrast to the brutality of the slayings, State Police said.

In all the killings but one the victims were shot in the head. In two holdups, four victims were forced to kneel on the floor and shot in the heads. This is a method of execution used by the Chinese.

When Taborsky and his buddy, Arthur Culombe, 33, of Hartford, were picked up Saturday police recovered eight guns from them.

Taborsky, 33, who moved to Brooklyn, N. Y., after his release from prison, was convicted of killing a package store dealer in June 1951. The state's case was based on evidence given by Taborsky's brother, Albert, who admitted he drove the get-away car.

But Albert was adjudged insane in prison and Taborsky's appeal that the brother's testimony at the trial was groundless was upheld by the state Supreme Court. A new trial was ordered, but the state dropped prosecution because its only case rested with Albert. Taborsky went free after four years in a death cell.

These are the crimes which Kelly said the one ex-convict admitted:

Dec. 15 — Slaying of Edward Kurpewski, 30, and Daniel J. Janowski, 30, in a New Britain filling station.

Dec. 26 — Slaying of Samuel Cohn, 65, in an East Hartford package store.

Jan. 5 — Slaying of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard J. Speyer of Meriden in a North Haven shoe store.

Feb. 10 — Slaying of John Rosenthal, 68, in his Hartford drug store.

Polynesian Navigators Explored Pacific Isles in Outrigger Canoes

WASHINGTON — Even in the age of radar and loran, the early Polynesian holds his own as one of the world's great navigators.

Guided by stars, trade winds, and ocean currents, the vikings of the mid-Pacific sailed their canoes thousands of miles over the open sea to colonize atolls and volcanic isles, many mere specks on the broad, trackless expanse of the Pacific.

War and overpopulation in remote times probably forced early adventurers to hollow out tree trunks with stone tools, load aboard their wives, children, and food plants — and set off into the blue.

Many journeys were drift voyages, no doubt, perhaps ending in tragedy. However, the success with which Polynesians spread out over the central Pacific leaves no doubt that they made deliberate, well-planned trips of exploration and settlement. Some Polynesian authorities believe an early hero, perhaps unwittingly, made a 4,000-mile voyage to South America and returned with the sweet potato.

All this happened long before invention of the mariner's compass in the 14th century freed European seafarers from the bondage of the shore line, which had been regarded as the only safe guide for navigation.

While the Polynesians possessed a superb sense of astronomy and the sea, they are known to have had some simple aids. They used stone anchors to lie into storms and light anchors to gauge currents. They contrived charts — frames laced with fiber strips and with shells at intersections to represent islands and reefs.

GIANT CRAFT

No primitive peoples ever built more seaworthy craft. The outrigger offset the instability of a slim log hull. Their larger transports were double canoes, formed of two hulls connected by crossbeams, often with a hut built on the platform. Some were huge.

A double canoe built in Samoa could carry 500 to 600 people — as compared to the Norsemen's famous longboats which accomodated 100 to 200 men.

The Pacific wanderers carried food for three or four weeks: cooked breadfruit, pandanus flour, dried coconut meat and sweet potatoes, dried fish and shellfish. Water was bottled in coconut hulls, gourds, and lengths of bamboo. Sand beds provided a place for fire.

Age-Old Fossils Help Industry

Get Oil, Coal, Limestone From Skeleton, Animal, Vegetable Remains

WASHINGTON — Many modern industrial processes are made possible by age-old fossils.

Not skeletons that loom gauntly over museum visitors, but remains of animal and vegetable life transformed by earth pressures into petroleum and coal. Another fossil product, limestone, is necessary in the production of iron and steel.

In fossil hunting, science and industry have become partners, each helping the other.

Decades of "pure" research turned into dollar-producing knowledge when prospectors learned to locate oil deposits by the presence of tiny fossils called foraminifera.

Dr. William E. Wrather, retired director of the United States Geological Survey says: "Scientists had studied . . . with no thought of economic advantage. "Micropaleontology was there, a pure science, waiting for someone to put it to commercial use.

"But it didn't happen overnight. I can remember when oil men hooted at anyone who examined drill mud with a microscope. Then came a day when Gulf Coast driller wouldn't set pipe without a fossil expert at their elbow."

The relationship is simple: petroleum is formed of animal and vegetable remains collected eons ago in sea bottoms. Fossil foraminifera litter the floors of those ancient seas.

Coal is the solidified remains of fantastic plants that grew and fell in swamps before men were on earth. These plants captured energy from the sun, as plants do today. When coal is burned, that energy is released. Limestone is simple an accumulation of skeletons of marie invertebrates.

Buy Smoked Picnic Ham This Week for Good Meal

Whether March begins in a mild or blustery way, shoppers will be busy selecting the family's food. Meat choices are easy for a wide variety is offered at attractive lows for the season. Fruit and vegetable supplies are much the same as last week. Cake mixes, canned and frozen foods are sale items the homemaker may wish to check against her present supplies.

MEATS — If the family likes pork, this is a good time to try smoked picnic from the front shoulder, or ham from the back leg. Smoked pork shrinks less when roasted at 300 degrees. If a meat thermometer is used it should read 160 degrees when ham is done; 170 degrees when a picnic is done.

Wholesale sausage materials were down last week, resulting in lower tags on sausage for today's market basket, reports the Consumer Marketing Agent, Mrs. Josephine Lawyer.

Beef eaters can find good values in round steak, corned beef, ground beef, blade chuck, and rolled rump. Rolled rump is as much as 10 to 13 cents less per pound than a month ago.

Poultry contributes variety at reasonable prices. Fryers are a featured choice in many meat departments. Many turkeys are available at about 50 cents a pound, while the tiny one-pound rock cornish hens are specially marked at 10 to 20 cents less than usual in some places.

Although there is little change in the lamb market, there are some sales highlighting lamb. A roast leg of lamb is the more elegant choice, while a shoulder roast or chops are thriftier. Barbecued riblets or lamb shanks are other economy buys.

Within the reach of every budget are frozen fillets of ocean perch and haddock.

EGGS — The larger the size, the better the buy, is the general rule at the egg counter. Check to see which size gives the most for the money. Each size weighs 3 ounces more than the size below it. Jumbo is the largest, next extra large, large medium, and small in that order.

FRUITS AND VEGETABLES — Fresh vegetable selections seem almost unlimited.

Crisp sweet carrots will provide a serving of yellow vegetable for just a few pennies per person. Team them with a serving of the daily stand-by, potatoes. For dark green vegetables consider fresh cabbage and spinach or frozen peas.

As head lettuce supplies increase, the price goes down. Quality is high. Let bright green heavy heads be the guide when buying.

Recent Florida rains are responsible for a slight increase in tomato and cabbage costs.

Citrus fruits and spot features of bananas are musts for the fruit bowl. Notice that more Florida Valencia oranges are arriving in local markets.

OTHER FOODS — Many other items are marked to gain the shopper's attention. Cake mixes; canned peaches, pears, juices, and soups; frozen strawberries and fish sticks will be easier on the food dollar in some markets.

C. of C. Urges Return of All Questionnaires

The Centennial Committee of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce is still awaiting some 68 questionnaires needed for a survey to guide the committee in planning for the city's first civic auditorium.

"We are anxiously awaiting last minute organizations who have not had a chance to meet as yet," said Ralph T. Norvell, committee chairman.

He said 51 out of 199 questionnaires have been received.

These were studied recently by 10 members of a sub-committee of the Centennial group.

"The only trend so far is the distinct need for many conference rooms," Norvell said. "Besides that, we are pleased to find that everybody is 100 per cent behind us."

After all questionnaires are returned, he said, a final report will be submitted to help architects know what local community needs are for the proposed building.

The committee is shooting for May 1 when the scale model and preliminary plans will be submitted. It hopes the building will be completed in time for a 1961 dedication — the city's 100 anniversary.

Ingrid Won't Attend Oscar Presentations

PARIS (INS) — Ingrid Bergman plans to be sound asleep in Paris when Hollywood presents its Academy Awards next month, even though she is favored to win the "best actress" Oscar.

The stunning Swede said she had no plans to go to Hollywood for the presentation and that she didn't intend to be up at dawn, which is about the time Paris will learn who won what at the film capital's annual biggest night.

"I don't even know if I'm getting one," she added.

Miss Bergman, who made her first trip in seven years to the U.S. last month to accept an award from the New York film critics, said her theater commitments would prevent her from being in Hollywood March 27, even if she wanted to be there.

Must Earn Part of Cost Themselves

40 Boys to See Alaska, Canadian Rockies

By REBA HEINTZELMAN
Of Our Waterford Bureau

A young man in Waterford Township is determined to carry on a project started by a wealthy Detroit philanthropist years ago.

Edward Kuhn, 32-year-old Redford teacher, plans on taking as many boys as possible on an 8,000-mile trip across the United States, into the Canadian Rockies and on to Alaska, this summer.

This idea was promoted by George E. Buchanan of Detroit 35 years ago, when he organized On-To-Alaska-With-Buchanan.

He theorized that if the boys could see stirring parts of America, their horizons would be broadened and they would be vitally inspired.

Since Buchanan's death in 1939, the wonderful opportunity for boys to see the world has lain dormant —that is, until now—when Kuhn once again has taken over the job of showing boys the wonders of horizons outside their local scope.

Kuhn is not a wealthy man, and will not profit from the trip, therefore the boys must pay their own expenses for the trip—which has been expertly planned "to get the most for the least."

Having studied for two years at the University of Alaska, Kuhn has made the trip several times.

The boys must earn at least one-third of their trip money by their own efforts. This, according to Kuhn, teaches them thrift, self-reliance and a definite purpose in the use of money they earn and save.

Parents may pay the balance of the fare, and the full amount of $370 for boys under 12 and $550 for boys over 12.

The boys three-week tour will leave Detroit, July 12 at 8:30 a.m. by train to St. Paul, Minn., where they change trains headed for Banff Springs Hotel in Canada. Guides and tours have been planned for the boys at various points along the way.

They will visit Chateau Lake Louise in the Canadian Rockies, then to Vancouver where they will board the S.S. Princess Louise headed for Alaska.

The return trip home will bring the boys down through Washington and Oregon, after having taken many side-trips such as Bonneville Dam, Rainier National Park and a trip on White Pass up the "Trail of '98." They will arrive back in Detroit July 31st.

HEADING FOR ALASKA — Edward Kuhn, 33, of 2295 N. Lake Angelus road in Waterford Township looks over his array of treasurers, collected during his many trips to Alaska. He plans on taking 40 boys with him next summer, a project similar to one promoted by George Buchanan of Detroit more than 35 years ago.

Loses Wallet Abroad, Gets Papers, Apology

RACINE, Wis. (AP) — Larry Lowe of Racine, back from a trip to the Far East, received by mail some important papers that had been in a wallet which was either lost or stolen in Hong Kong.

This letter accompanied the papers:

"Dear Mr. Lowe: Me very sorry me find you wallet in street. Me feel very sorry to not return your wallet, so me only take you wallet and you money, and return you important things. Hope no get angry to me.

"Me very poor man. Me need money for food. After all, what is US $9 for you?

"You papers is worth more, so me say again no get angry to me.

Good Bye,
A Friend

"P. S. This is Christmas gift from me."

3-State Milk Boycott Slows Down

NEW YORK (AP)—A producers' milk price boycott over a tristate area appears to be losing momentum as a result of state police and court action and a lack of backing by big dairy farmer groups.

Developments yesterday put a damper on the four-day-old stoppage of milk supplies called by the Tristate Master Dairy Farmers Guild, an organization of about 3,500 producers. The guild seeks the cooperation of the 44,500 producers in New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey. The federal milk marketing administrator said 5,600 producers are taking part and 58 out of 381 milk processing plants have been affected.

State police in the three states put a check on violence with milk plants and their truck drivers.

In Allegany, N.Y., a local official of the striking dairymen's organization predicted the strike in Western New York would be over by today.

ALMOST CLEANED UP

"When the troopers moved in and escorted the trucks into the plants, that just about cleaned us up," he said.

In Albany, N. Y., last night the Dairy Farmers of America — which claims a membership of more than 3,000 farmers in New York, New Hampshire and Vermont—voted to stay out of the current milk stoppage.

At Syracuse, N.Y., Edmund F. Cooke, general manager of an 8,000-member milk cooperative, said intimidation was the main reason for the withholding of milk by farmers. Cooke, of the Mutual Federation of Independent Cooperatives, said in a statement: "As near as we can ascertain, there is no spontaneous movement on the part of producers to strike."

The board of directors of the Eastern Milk Producers Cooperative said that violence and bloodshed are not the answer to the farmer's problem—how to get a higher price for their milk.

Eastern, claiming to have 11,000 members, describes itself as the largest dairy bargaining cooperative in the Northeast.

PATROL FOUR COUNTIES

In New Jersey yesterday, some 200 extra state troopers patrolled highways in four counties where more than 300 pickets were active.

In other developments yesterday:

A Superior Court order was issued in Newark, N.J., barring strikers from hampering delivery of milk to creameries or destroying property or picketing.

The Tristate guild called off a projected march on the state house in Trenton, N.J., set for today.

At Branchville, N.J., a guild spokesman said the projected march "would be just a futile gesture," adding that, "The men are tired . . . and decided to conserve their energy."

There was no noticeable shortage of milk yesterday in New York City, which normally uses about 10 million quarts of milk daily. Convoys of up to 40 trucks sped into the city under state police escort.

The current government-regulated minimum farm price for milk is about 9.8 cents a quart. The strikers contend it costs dairy men 12.2 cents a quart to produce the milk. They are demanding 12.4 cents a quart from the processors.

U.S. Auction Markets Slate June Convention

The annual convention meeting of the livestock auction markets of the nation will be held at the resort center of Excelsior Springs, Mo. June 20, 21 and 22, it was announced this week by E. W. Alberding, Kiowa, Kans., president of the American National Livestock Auction Assn., from offices of the Association in Kansas City.

Special invitations are being issued to the presidents and secretaries of all national and state livestock producer and feeder organizations, it was stated by C. T. "Tad" Sanders, executive Secretary. The program planned is of special interest to these groups because of the attention directed toward marketing, he said.

Ed Buckner, Mexico, Mo, is chairman in charge of convention arrangements and will be assisted by specially appointed members of the Missouri Livestock Auction Assn.

Excelsior Springs was selected as the site for the convention because of its resort facilities and excellent guest accommodations, Alberding said. Convention headquarters will be the Elms Hotel.

A special program has been arranged for the wives and families attending. A newly constructed swimming pool will provide fun for children and grownups. Tennis courts and an excellent 18-hole golf course will be at the disposal of convention-goers.

More Demand Next Season?

Michigan Apples 1956 Money Makers in U.S.

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Michigan's apples are tinkling cash registers wherever they appear on the national market, according to unofficial observers and official sources.

A Grand Rapids area orchardist, recently returned from a Florida trip, said Michigan apples were bringing primium prices under their own banner this year in the sunshine state.

He said it was a marked reversal from previous year when Michigan apples sometimes were marketed in Florida under other names.

Meanwhile, a Michigan State Apple Commission executive reported upon his return from the recent United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Assn. meeting:

"Everybody that handled Michigan apples this past year made money."

H. F. Patterson, secretary-Manager of the commission, commented on the wholesale trade's reaction to the 1956 Michigan Apple Marketing season. He compiled his observation at the UFFVA convention in Philadelphia.

"And this means they're going to be back wanting Michigan apples next season," Patterson adds.

He says the convention afforded him a chance to review the widespread distribution of Michigan apples and promotional material provided by the commission. It covers nearly all of the United States, except California.

Patterson added that several dealers from Los Angeles told him they would like to be able to sell Michigan's Jonathan apples, but California quarantines bar Michigan apples and most fruits from all other sections of the United States from entering that state.

Parents Plead for Girl's Return

Child Thought Kidnaped While Playing in Yard of New Jersey Home

BELLMAWR, N.J. (AP) — Police said today they were working on several leads but that there were no hard developments in their search for little Mary Jane Barker, believed to have been kidnaped.

The 4-year-old child disappeared last Monday morning while she was at play in a yard near her home in this southern New Jersey town of about 5,500.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barker, appealed yesterday for her safe return.

The distraught mother asked newsmen to give the widest circulation to her request that Mary Jane "be left at any church."

"We promise from the bottom of our hearts to do all that we can to keep you from harm," the mother said, addressing herself to the one she feels sure abducted the youngest of her three childrn.

The father, a department store radio and TV manager, joined in the prayerful appeal.

The grief of the Barkers was especially acute yesterday. It was Mary Jane's birthday — her fourth. And today is the father's birthday. It was to have been a fine week, with a joint celebration.

Mrs. Barker, weeping, emphasized there is still time to get the child home for a celebration.

"Won't you please give us the only birthday present we want?" she pleaded. "Won't you please bring Putzey back?"

Police said they could find no ready motive for kidnapping.

No ransom note has been received; no demand of any kind has been made.

State House Floor Gets Pay Raise Bills

LANSING (AP) — Bills to raise the pay of the governor and all but one member of his administrative board moved to the house floor today.

The House Ways and Means Committee yesterday recommended passage of the measures, which would mean $5,000 annually to state officials affected.

The governor's pay would move from $22,500 to $27,500. The attorney general state treasurer, auditor general and others on the administrative board would collect $17,500 instead of the present $12,500.

The house committee, headed by Rep. Arnell Engstrom (R-Traverse City), also recommended that pay raises for state superintendent of public instruction and highway commissioner take effect next July 1 when men chosen for those two posts at the April election take office. Other increases would become effective Jan. 1, between $3,000 to $4,000, would be paid from the city's planning and contingent funds.

City Groups Decide to Put Planning in Hands of Geer of Birmingham

The City Commission and City Planning Commission last night agreed to engage the Birmingham firm of Geer Associates as planning consultants for Pontiac.

City Manager Walter K. Willman said the firm's job would be twofold: first to review the city's "planning guide" (master plan adopted in 1948), and secondly, to assist the city in a proposed urban renewal project.

Formal action approving the hiring of the planning firm is expected Tuesday night before the City Commission.

Willman also mentioned that the firm might be asked to review the citys zoning ordinance.

Both commissions heard Willman review the background of Geer Associates. It included present city planning for the Avon-Rochester Clawson, Oak Park, Mt. Last Glimpse of Grandeur

NEW YORK (NEA)—The executors of the will said it was all right. So they opened the doors of New York's last great mansion for two days. And in the twilight of opulence, the public peered into the oak-paneled past, climbed the circular staircase, fingered the tapestries and sat on the brocaded chairs of the late Mrs. John E. Rovensky.

Some of the people came by bus up Fifth Avenue, past Cartier's, past Tiffany's, past the Plaza. Some came through Central Park at 86th Street, past the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

Numbers of people came in their chauffeured limousines from duplex luxury on the east side of villas in Westchester County.

It was the last time to settle old business before the household was removed to the Parke-Bernet Galleries for public auction.

A young housewive from New Jersey knelt to feel the gold spigots at the sunken bath tub, "My father used to work for Mr.n Rovensky," she said. "I just wanted to see how he lived."

While Rovensky is wealthy in his own right, he merely shared this mansion and most of its furnishings for the two years of his marriage.

The house itself belonged to his wife—a monument to her second marriage. The decor was a celebration of her third.

An old, old lady in a black cape leaned heavily on her cane and surveyed the Meissen porcelain. There were, you could tell, similar treasures in her home. "It's not right," she said, "to let people touch the things of that poor, dead woman."

Mrs. Rovensky was born Mae Cadwell. Her first marriage to Selden B. Manwaring ended in divorce in 1914 and she married Morton F. Plant and lived at 52nd Street and Fifth Avenue.

Fashionable New York was moving uptown, however, and the Plants moved with them. They sold their house to the jewelry shop of Cartier for a sum of money and a pair of necklaces worth one and a half million dollars and built the mansion at 86th street.

It was completed in 1917. But Plant lived only one year longer.

A woman, heavy with mink, leaned against the Elizabethan carved oak paneling of the Lord Nelson Room and advised an attendant: "We must see the kitchen. My cook and I have come expressly to see the kitchen."

In June, 1919, she was a bride again: Mrs. William Hayward. Her son, Phil Plant, was establishing a reputation as a playboy. And she was establishing one of the finest art collections in New York.

In the 25 years of her third marriage, she acquired paintings by Watteau, Boucher, Reaburn, Romney. And Chelsea, Minton and Worcester porcelains. And the Ashburnham gilded silver toilet service. And Oriental rugs, gold snuff boxes, Chippendale chairs, Hepplewhite settees, and clocks and bowls and vases and urns and candelabra.

On the third floor in the Chinese Room, a graying man said to a woman who wore too much lipstick: "No, my dear. People like these don't make money. They have money."

Col. Hayward died in 1944 and it was 10 years before his widow married again. She lived only two years after her marriage to Rovensky, leaving him and J. P. T. Armstrong and the United States Trust Co. to execute her will.

Her mansion and the two adjacent houses will be sold as a real estate parcel. Her home in Newport will be sold. Her collection of art, her household, her rare furnishings will be sold. And for the most part, her money will go into a fund.

At the gilded grand piano, decorated with classical vignettes, a small tweedy woman said to her small, tweedy friend: "I hear they have a magnificent bathroom here, too. Even better than the one we saw when they opened that old house on 90th Street."

According to officials at the Parke-Bernet Galleries, the auction of the Rovenksy collection will be held in four parts: The art from the house; the art from Newport and other art; the jewelry; and the library.

The gallery expects that sales will exceed one million dollars.

And to that end, the doors at 1051 Fifth Avenue have been closed on the last public visitor —a wizened old man who said that he had been at the house in another time. And inside they were beginning to take the pictures from the walls and roll up the Oriental rugs.

'Dearborn in Florida' Issue on April 1 Ballot

DETROIT (AP) — Suburban Dearborn voters will have the chance to pass approval on Mayor Orville Hubbard's proposal for a "Dearborn in Florida" on the April 1 election ballot.

Circuit Judge Horace W. Gilmore said yesterday that the question could be placed on the spring election ballot.

Judge Gilmore's decision defeated a petition to keep the question off the ballot. The petition was submitted by attorney James Thomson, longtime foe of Hubbard.

Thomson had argued that no state was permitted "extra territorial holdings" in another state.

Cheese on Potatoes Is Combo to Please

Teenagers, being experimentalists, love this one. It's a "combo" that's bound to "rock" the young basketball player or glee club soloist after a "simply starving" afternoon.

Cook Potatoes in Sour Cream

It's fashionable these days to use sour cream in potato cookery. If you're a sour cream man or woman, you'll find the two foods go together like cheese and crackers.

A big factor, of course, is that the light sour cream sold by modern dairies is tangy but only mildly "sour."

Some cooks merely spread sour cream over mashed or baked potatoes like gravy and top it off with a sprinkling of chives.

Others add chopped onions to their mashed potatoes and whip the dish into fluffy consistency with sour cream.

HERE'S RECIPE

An easy way to serve four persons with the potatoes-sour cream combination calls for two pounds of potatoes, a small onion, minced, a teaspoon of salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper, a quarter cup of sour cream, paprika, and two springs of parsley chopped.

Peel the potatoes and cut them in three-quarter-inch cubes. The potatoes go into the skillet with onion, salt, pepper and half a cup of boiling water.

Bring to boil; cover, and simmer for 15 minutes, or until tender. Do not drain. Add the sour cream, for 15 minutes, or until tender, and toss lightly with a fork.

Put in a hot serving dish and sprinkle with paprika and parsley.

Our new store at 1964 Southfield joins in a Giant Value Parade . . . to proof that YOU SAVE MORE with Tom's NO STAMP POLICY! We learned this arithmetic lesson in the first grade . . . TWO PLUS TWO ALWAYS EQUALS FOUR!

That's elementary of course. No one would try to convince you as an intelligent thinking person, that there could be another answer. Yet . . . Why is it that so many food stores try to come up with a "TRICK ANSWER" when it comes to saving stamps? Why kid the public . . . OUT WITH THE FACTS, WE SAY . . .

Those Stamps aren't FREE . . . because the consumer must pay for them in hidden marked up prices. To those women who think that food costs have taken a rise recently, we say NONSENSE . . . just check our shelf prices and see why it pays to SHOP AT TOM'S where you SAVE DOLLARS INSTEAD OF STAMPS.

Recently Governor Williams' Study Commission on Small Business had this to say on the trading stamp menace. "Trading stamps are gimmicks which victimize not only the small business man, but also the customers of all business, big and small."

Milk Is Bargain in Essential Nutrition

One quart of food bargain is what the shopper finds in every quart of milk. Milk has something for everyone, suggests the Consumer Marketing Information Service.

For meal planners, milk can be served at any time of the day or night, in any part of the meal and in a multitude of different ways.

When it comes to nutrition, milk has no competition as an almost perfect food.

It's the calcium in milk that causes nutrition experts to stress eating and drinking milk. Poor teeth and bones result when people fail to get enough milk. A quart for children and at least three cups for adults each day will make the best contribution to good health.

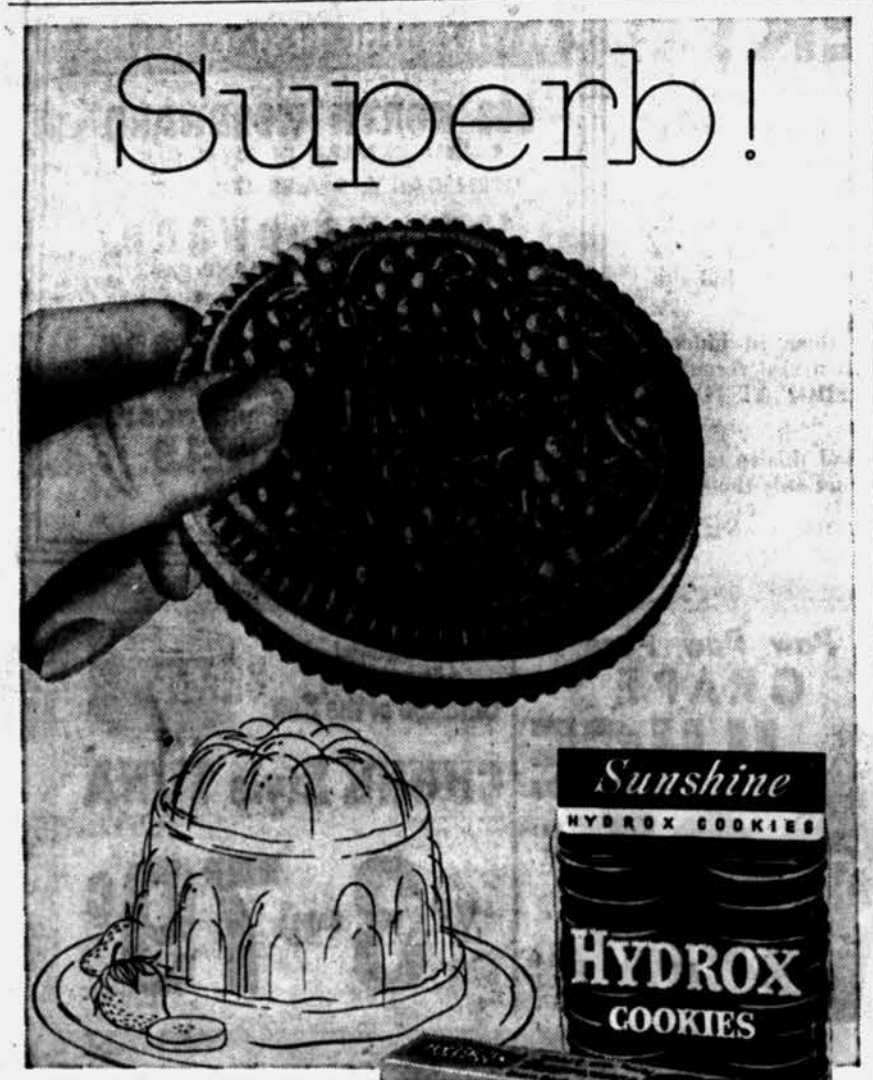

Try adding a dash of cinnamon and nutmeg to a glass of milk for an extra small-fry treat.

Start With Chicken

The meat of an older chicken, stewed or steamed until tender, cooled in the broth and cut from the bones, is the start for a variety of good dishes. You may like it a la king, in a loaf or croquettes, as souffle or in chicken chop suey.

Separate ground beef during cooking with a potato masher when making chili, browning meat for casserole dishes, etc.

Superb!

The SKILLET CLUB FOR MEN

By Frank Kohler

"Here is my favorite recipe, that I like to fix myself. Yes, it's another SPAGHETTI recipe," says Sheridan C. Lohrey, Buffalo Courier & Express Chapter. But there's a difference.

- 2 tablespoons salad oil
- 1 large green pepper, chopped fine
- 1 large onion, chopped fine
- 2 large stalks celery, chopped fine
- 2 cloves garlic, minced
- ¼ pound sausage meat
- ½ pound ground beef
- 1 No. 303 can tomatoes
- 1 can tomato paste
- 1 can tomato sauce
- ¾ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- 1 tablespoon grated Parmesan cheese
- 1 cup water
- 1 pound spaghetti
- 3 tablespoons olive oil

Heat oil in skillet and stir in green pepper, onion, celery, garlic and meat. Cook until lightly browned. Add tomatoes and cook until mixture is pink.

Put mixture in a 3-quart saucepan; add tomato paste and tomato sauce, salt, pepper, cheese and water. Simmer 4 hours, stirring occasionally, and adding water as needed.

Cook spaghetti in boiling salted water until limp, or "al dente," then mix in olive oil and cook until spaghetti is tender. Remove spaghetti with a fork, drain excess water and place in heated bowl. "Don't put in colander or strainer," says Mr. Lohrey.

He serves sauce and spaghetti separately so each guest can mix as desired. Grated Parmesan cheese on the side.

"I've been fixing this for years and every time, it scores a hit. Enroll me in your Skillet Club!" says Mr. Lohrey. You are enrolled sir, and welcome!

AEBERLY COFFEECAKE is from Mrs. John J. Aeberly, Chicago Daily News Chapter. An old family favorite at her home, and we like it too.

- ½ pound butter
- 4 cups flour
- 1 cake household yeast

Crumble all together like pie dough—no water with yeast.

- 1 cup lukewarm water
- 2 eggs
- 4 tablespoons sugar

Mix well, and add to above flour mixture. Let stand in refrigerator overnight, and in the morning, divide into 2 parts and roll each out approximately 14x20 inches. Make the following filling:

- 2 cups brown sugar, lightly packed
- 1 cup rolled graham crackers
- ¾ cup chopped pecans

Mix filling well, and divide into 2 parts. Spread 1 part evenly over each piece of dough and press it in, then roll up the dough by hand into 2 cakes, like a jelly roll. Let rise for 1 hour.

Put both cakes on a cooky sheet and bake at 375 degrees for 35 minutes. Cakes may be dusted with powdered sugar, or given a sugar frosting.

Keep Cooker Clean

Cleanliness is the first rule in the care of a pressure cooker, declare MSU equipment specialists. At each washing look to see that the vent tube is clear — a pipe cleaner is a help in cleaning it.

Hold a small damp sponge in palm of hand while unwinding a plastic clothesline. You will wipe the line clean while putting it up.

Fry Extra Bacon for Zesty Treat in Sandwiches

Fry some extra bacon at breakfast time to use in sandwiches for school or work lunchboxes. Crisp-fried, well-drained bacon makes a hearty sandwich filling, either in strips or crumbled with a filling mixture. Here are some suggestions for using bacon in sandwiches:

1. Place bacon strips between slices of cracked wheat bread spread with apple butter.
2. Mix crumbled bacon with chopped egg and salad dressing and spread on rye bread.
3. Place bacon strips between buttered slices of Vienna bread with chili sauce or catsup.
4. Mix crumbled bacon with peanut butter and mayonnaise and spread on whole wheat bread.
5. Place bacon strips on cracked wheat bread spread with butter or mayonnaise. Place a leaf of lettuce in a separate wrapper for adding at lunch time.

Baked apple and sausage cakes are delicious. Mix 1 pound pork sausage with 1 slice of bread, crumbled. Add 1 egg, ½ cup grated apple and ½ teaspoon salt. Shape into cakes and bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven for 1 hour.

Bland Foods Need Peppy Sauces

VEGETABLES FOR LENT — Making a good white sauce is a trick that any cook can master — and a handy one. Tabasco adds zip to ordinary white sauce. Use such a sauce, or its variations, on vegetables and other Lenten dishes.

Looking for Lenten recipes? Search no further because a basic white sauce for fish, eggs, vegetables will see you through the season with meatless wonders. Tabasco, a piquant liquid red pepper seasoning, gives a lift to white sauces and all the dishes they adorn. Lenten meals especially need Tabasco because fish, cheese and macaroni, and eggs are bland foods.

A good medium white sauce includes 2 tablespoons of butter, 2 tablespoons of flour, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon Tabasco, and 1 cup milk. For a thin white sauce, halve the amount of butter and flour—for a thick white sauce, double the butter and flour, keeping amounts as in a medium sauce.

Go on from here to make the cheese sauce for vegetables, and try these other standbys better because of their Tabasco-flavored cream sauce bases:

Cheese Sauce for Vegetables

2 tablespoons butter
¼ teaspoon Tabasco
2 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup milk
½ to 1 cup grated American cheese

Melt butter over low heat; stir in Tabasco. Add flour and salt; stir to a smooth paste. Gradually add milk and cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and comes to a boil. Add cheese; stir until melted. Serve over cauliflower, green beans, broiled tomatoes, broccoli or asparagus. Yield: Approximately 1¼ to 1½ cups.

Macaroni Bake

2 tablespoons butter or margarine
½ teaspoon Tabasco
2 tablespoons flour
¾ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon dry mustard
2 cups milk
2 cups grated American cheese, divided
½ package (8 ounces) macaroni, broken and cooked
2 tablespoons minced parsley
2 tablespoons diced pimiento
¾ cup soft bread crumbs
1 tablespoon melted butter
Paprika

Melt butter; add Tabasco. Add flour, salt and mustard; stir to a smooth paste. Add milk and cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and comes to a boil. Remove from heat; add 1½ cups of the grated cheese. Stir until melted. Stir in hot cooked macaroni, parsley and pimiento; toss lightly.

Turn into a 1½-quart casserole; sprinkle with remaining cheese. Add bread crumbs to melted butter; sprinkle on top of casserole. Sprinkle with paprika. Bake in a moderately hot oven (400 degrees). 25 minutes. Yield: 6 servings.

Seafood Croquettes

6 tablespoons butter
¼ teaspoon Tabasco
6 tablespoons flour
½ cup teaspoon salt
1½ cups milk
2 cups flaked cooked seafood (crabmeat, lobster, tuna or salmon)
1 teaspoon grated onion
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 cup soft bread crumbs
⅔ cup fine dry bread crumbs
1 egg, slightly beaten
2 tablespoons water

Melt butter, add Tabasco. Add flour and salt, stir to a smooth paste. Add milk and cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and comes to a boil. Remove from heat; measure 1 cup of the sauce. Add to flaked seafood with onion, lemon juice and soft bread crumbs; mix well. Reserve remaining sauce.

Line freezing tray with waxed paper. Turn seafood mixture into tray; chill in freezing compartment 1 hour, turn out and divide mixture into 6 or 8 portions. Shape into balls or cones.

Dip croquettes first in dry bread crumbs, then in egg and water mixture, then in crumbs again. Deep fat fry when thermometer reaches 290 degrees for 2 minutes. Serve with Sauce Savory.

Sauce Savory

To the remaining sauce, add ¼ cup mayonnaise, ¾ cup milk, ¼ cup white table wine, chopped parsley and ¼ teaspoon salt. Heat to serving temperature. Serve with croquettes. Yield: 1¼ cups.

Make Refreshing Salad

For a refreshing salad that's light but satisfying start with 2 to 3 unpeeled red eating apples, cut into bite-sized pieces. Add 1 cup shredded Swiss cheese, ½ cup chopped dates, ½ cup chopped celery and 1 cup shredded cabbage. Combine 1 tablespoon horseradish with ⅔ cup mayonnaise and toss gently into the salad. Serve on crisp greens. Serves four.

Homemade Gelatin Has Orange Flavor

Homemade fruit-flavored gelatin dessert.

Homemade Orange Gelatin

2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
½ cup cold water
1½ cups boiling water
¾ cup sugar
Salt
2 teaspoons grated orange rind
3 tablespoons strained lemon juice
1½ cups strained orange juice

Sprinkle gelatin over cold water to soften. Add boiling water, sugar and a pinch of salt; stir until gelatin and sugar are dissolved.

Stir in orange rind; cool. Stir in lemon juice and orange juice. Turn into mold; chill. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Ripe Cherries in Pink Fluff

Cherries are ripe, plump, and full-flavored — frozen in heavy syrup or with sugar added—waiting for you to pluck them from the frozen food display case of your food store. Buy them for fun with gay, flavorful cherry-accented desserts.

Luncheon guests will praise this pink fluff which has hidden in its depths the frozen natural-flavored cherries.

Cherry Fluff

1 20-ounce can or package or 2 16-ounce cans (2½ cups) frozen pitted red tart cherries in heavy syrup or with sugar
2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
Juice from cherries plus enough water to make 1 cup liquid
½ teaspoon salt
3 egg whites
½ cup granulated sugar
1 cup heavy cream

Defrost cherries and drain. Measure juice and add water to make 1 cup liquid. Use ¼ cup of the liquid for softening the gelatin. Sprinkle unflavored gelatin into ¼ cup of the liquid and let stand to soften.

Bring remaining liquid to boil and add salt to it. Stir softened gelatin in hot liquid to dissolve. Place in refrigerator until partially jelled.

When mixture is consistency of soft jelly, prepare egg whites. Beat egg whites until frothy, then add sugar 2 tablespoons at a time while continuing to beat. Beat egg whites until meringue consistency (when froth stands in soft peaks). Whip cream.

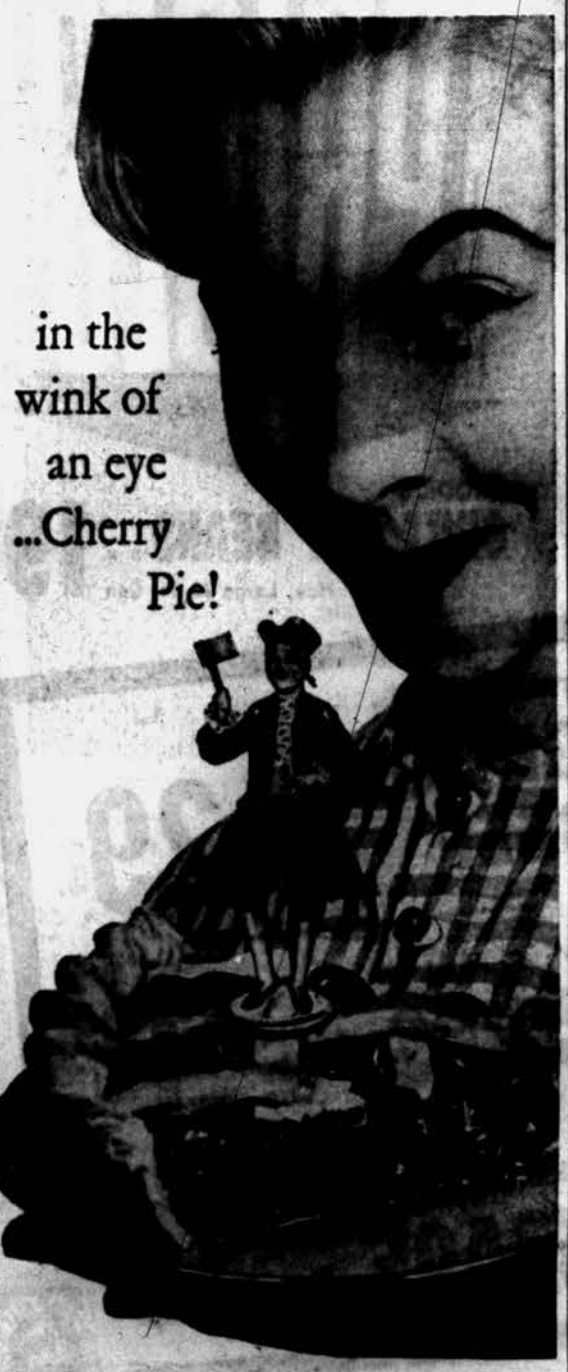

Combine whipped cream, beaten egg whites, jelled cherry mixture, and cherries, and fold all together evenly. (Reserve a cherry to top each serving). Place in refrigerator to become firm.

To serve, pile in chilled sherbet glasses, topping each serving with a red cherry. If desired, sprinkle with chopped almonds. Serves six or eight.

Chilled refrigerator cookie dough may be cut more easily with a wire cheese cutter rather than a knife, suggest Michigan State University home economists.

Cereals Offer Variety, Save Time, Cost Little

The average cost per serving of uncooked cereal is about 1½ cents. Ready-to-eat cereals vary from 1½ to 4 cents per serving. The puffed and sugar coated or "high styled" individual variety packs generally come in the higher price range, reports the Consumer Marketing Information agent Mrs. Josephine Lawyer. Keep in mind personal preference for menu variety, convenience, and time saving as well as cost when choosing cereals.

Go ahead, lady, cut it out!

Whether you snip it, clip it, or just plain rip it, doesn't much matter. As long as you and millions of other shoppers keep cutting out advertisements from your daily newspapers, you're showing your dependence on advertising.

Think how much advertising means to you. Without it you'd waste untold hours wandering from store to store searching for your needs. Without it you'd be unaware of new products, of price changes, of sales. But most of all, without it, you'd be paying higher prices because advertising creates demand which means more and cheaper production which, in turn, means lower prices.

Advertising has helped to bring you and other Americans the highest standard of living to be found anywhere in the world. You are the one who profits most from the good job advertising does so well.

Advertising Benefits You!

Try It Friday: Real Perch Pie

When somebody suggests perch pie for dinner, you don't need to inquire if she's talking with a TV comedienne's accent. It's possible that she may not mean "peach," as you thought at first; she may mean "perch," just as it sounds.

Ocean perch is one of the most popular salt water fish, and it happens that there's a generous supply of it on the market this winter—such a generous supply, in fact, that the U.S. Department of Agriculture lists ocean perch as a "plentiful food" along with eggs, beef, potatoes and other foods with which most of us may be more familiar.

Another branch of the Government, the Fish and Wildlife Service, has home economists who think up ways of cooking and serving fish. And one of their favorite ways with ocean perch is in perch pie.

As you might imagine, perch pie is a main course dish, not a dessert. You start with frozen fillets of perch, boiled for a few minutes and then flaked.

Use about two cups of flaked perch; 2 cups of diced cooked potatoes, ¾ cup of cheese, a large onion, sliced, and 1½ cups of milk. Cook the onion slices in butter until tender. Blend in some flour, salt, and pepper, add milk gradually and cook until thick, stirring constantly.

Then put in the fish, potatoes, and cheese, and pour the whole mixture into a greased casserole. Top with a crust made from any good pastry mix or your own recipe. Bake in a hot oven, 540 degrees, about 20 to 25 minutes. This recipe serves 6 people.

Add dry milk powder to fluid milk when you are preparing milk shakes for children if you want to offer extra food value. Sprinkle the dry milk over the fluid milk, then beat with a rotary egg beater or shake in a tightly covered container. Flavor as desired.

Let's Get Vegetables Out of the Winter Rut

Let's get winter vegetables out of their hot-cooked rut and into adventurous salads that have plenty of color, tastiness and nourishment. Here are some of the refreshingly different recipes developed by the United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Association.

Fresh Winter Vegetable And Ham Salad

1 cup grated fresh raw carrots
½ cup grated fresh raw turnip
1 cup finely shredded cabbage
1½ cups diced cold, cooked ham
1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice
¼ cup mayonnaise
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon ground black pepper
½ head lettuce
Cold cooked sliced beets

Combine all ingredients except lettuce and beets. Toss lightly. Serve on lettuce. Garnish with cold cooked sliced beets. Yield: 4 to 5 servings.

Cooked broccoli buds marinated in French dressing, and added to a hearty winter salad makes the main course for Sunday supper. Complete the menu with waffles and coffee.

Fresh Broccoli Salad

1 bunch chilled cooked broccoli
½ cup French dressing
Head lettuce
½ cup mayonnaise
¾ teaspoon fresh lemon juice
Anchovy fillets

Marinate cold, cooked broccoli in French dressing 1 or more hours. Just before serving, arrange head lettuce on salad plates over which place stalks of marinated broccoli.

Combine mayonnaise with fresh lemon juice with which top each salad. Garnish with anchovy fillets. Yield: 5 to 6 servings.

Roast Potatoes This New Way

Ever been disappointed by a batch of dry, underdone, oven-roasted potatoes? We have, alas. So here's a pan-browning "system."

For years we wondered why "oven-roasted" potatoes eaten in a restaurant were apt to be so much better than those made at home.

We finally discovered, by artful asking, that chefs get their fine pan-brown results right on top of the stove!

They use freshly boiled potatoes, peel them and brown them in hot fat in a skillet to make a rich crust. To give potatoes the delicious flavor of the meat, these wise men simply put them next to the roast, briefly.

Potatoes, new or old, done this way, are perfect with any roast of meat.

Drop unpeeled potatoes into an inch of boiling, salted water and cover tightly. Boil until just Yankee tender.

Drain these fine potatoes, then. Spear them onto a kitchen fork, just so you don't burn your fingers.

While still hot, the potatoes should be peeled with a sharp knife to remove only the tissue outer skin.

Keep giving them your best attention as you place these tender potatoes on a piece of paper towel, and salt 'em delicately. Turn with fingers to salt them all over. Don't let them stand around and get cold!

Next melt one-quarter cup of butter, margarine, or drippings in the skillet over moderate heat.

Sponge Rubber Pad Anchors Small Rugs

WILMINGTON, Del. — A new sponge - rubber underlay has been developed by a Wilmington concern to make small rugs stay in place. The new "rug anchor," said to be one fourth cheaper than an original product introduced by the same firm more than 30 years ago, is claimed to be more durable without sacrificing nonskid properties.

Good Eating: Thick Broiled Lamb Chops!

Without a doubt, broiled lamb loin chops top many lists of favorite meat cuts. They're wonderful eating any time—and they take such a few minutes to prepare.

Though recognized as being a favorite broiler meat cut, lamb chops may also be panbroiled, panfried, or braised for variety according to home economists.

It's a good rule to remember that chops used for broiling should be at least ¾ to 1 inch thick while the thinner chops are best if panbroiled.

To produce thick, savory lamb loin chops just follow a few easy directions. Set the regulator of the range for broiling. Place the chops on the broiler rack. Insert the broiler pan and rack so the top of 1 inch chops is 2 inches from the heat.

When one side is browned, season and turn and finish cooking on the second side. Chops cut 1 inch thick require 10 to 12 minutes.

Kid Quadruplets Born

DALLAS (AP) — Sugar, a Nubian goat owned by Harry Powell who lives west of nearby Duncanville, is the proud mother of quadruplets. Mrs. Powell said quadruplets among goats are about as rare as human triplets, about one in 670,000 births. Goats normally have twins, she said. The quads included two nannies and two billies.

Sea Food Dish Has Extra Dash

Party loving Washington is buzzing these days about the newest arrival in town!

It's a dish with dash that the diplomats love—a rare sea bottom delicacy of crab and shrimp. Served daily in the famous lounge of The Mayflower Hotel, where the politicos gather for luncheon, it has a light, spicy air—delightful with white wine!

Chef Marchitelli of The Mayflower declares it's the perfect casserole for a spring buffet party. Simple to make perfect with broiled tomato halves, topped with bread crumbs.

Triton's Triumph

1 cup mayonnaise
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
2 teaspoons capers (optional)
¼ cup sherry wine
Dash cayenne pepper
¼ teaspoon curry powder
1 tablespoon parsley flakes
½ cup finely chopped onion
½ cup finely chopped celery
1½ cups shredded bread
⅔ cup water
2 cans (5 to 6 ounces) crab meat
2 cans (5 to 6 ounces) jumbo shrimp

Combine mayonnaise, Worcestershire sauce, nustard, capers and wine. Add other ingredients and mix gently. Season with salt as needed. Place in greased casserole. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) about 30 minuts, until heated.

Let Guests Add Own Garnishes to Soups

Serve that steaming beef broth black bean soup or bisque in heated bowls. Provide a few garnishes at table, like minced parsley, lemon wedges or hard - cooked egg slices. Sort of a trim-your-own invitation.

Then let each guest pour and add his own dry sherry or other wine at table . . . a modern restaurant technique that brings surprise and satisfaction.

A recent survey showed that 66 per cent of the shoppers go to the market with only a mental grocery list instead of a detailed, written memo. Almost two-thirds of the grocery shopping is impulse buying.

Spring Hats Hark Back to Roaring 1920s, Garbo

By JUDITH L. CLEMENCE
Women's Editor

Remember the roaring '20s? Well, it looks like they're roaring again. More than one milliner has looked to fashion magazines of the '20s to come up with this year's latest fashion tricks.

Although many false values have been associated with this era such as bathtub gin, speed, gangsters and flaming youth, this also was a period of immense creativeness.

Literature produced some of its all-time greats, and the films gave us Garbo and Swanson. Perhaps no other person has had such influence on the appearance of a whole generation as the "Great Garbo."

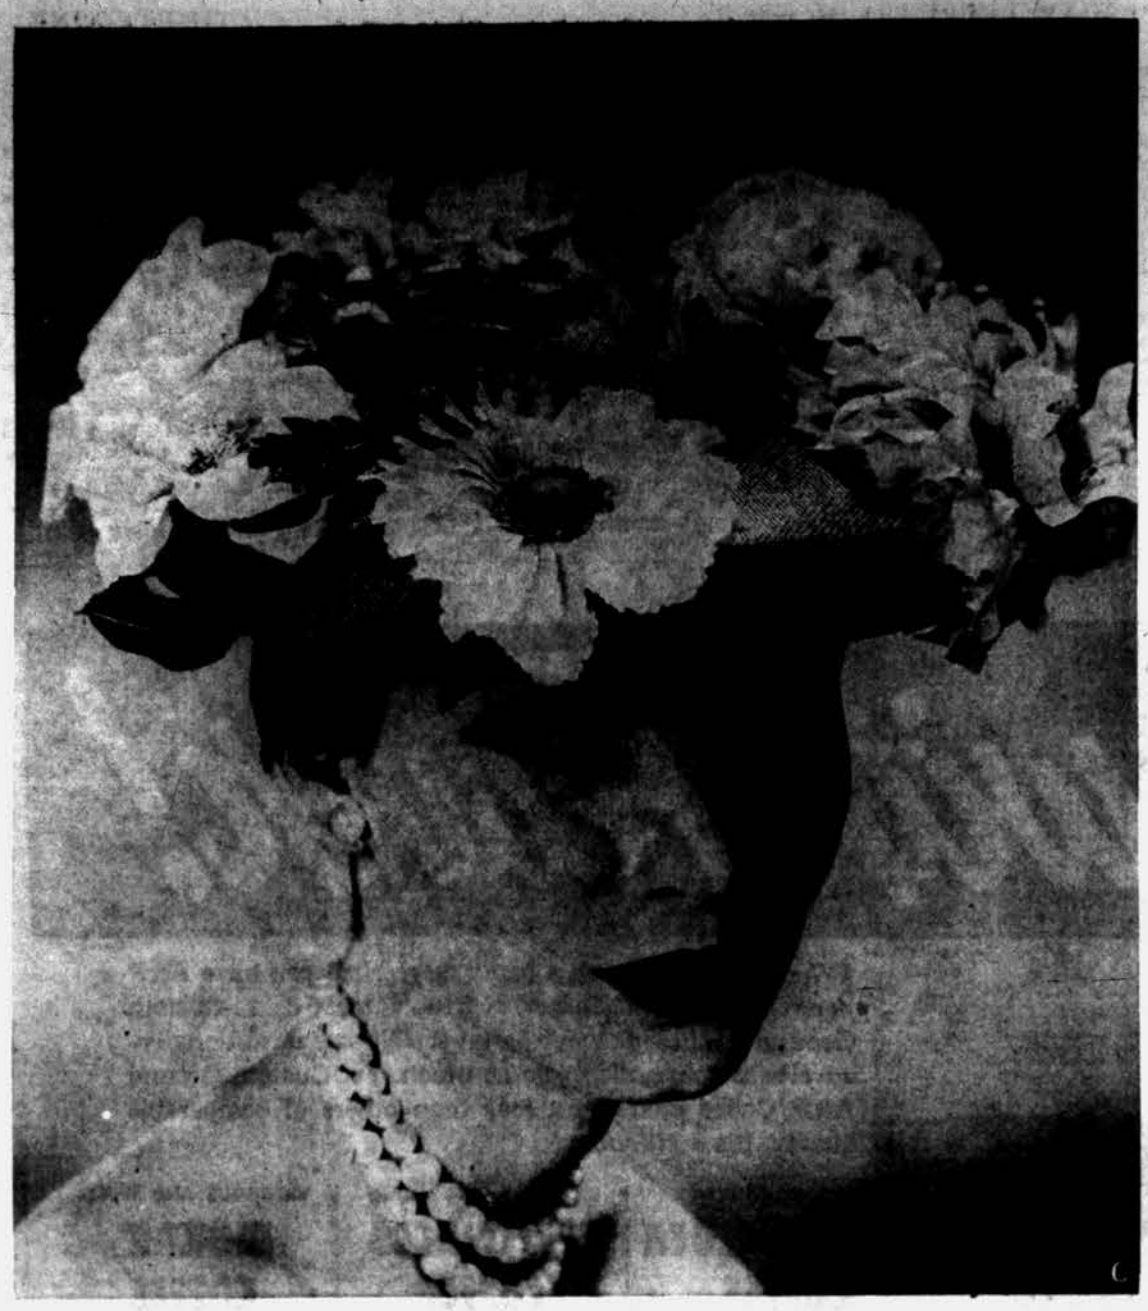

She had an innate flair for what was fitting for her and was an important factor in the tone of a whole period. Her slouch-brimmed felt hats, low-heeled shoes and casual coats have become legend.

All the little tucks, pleating, ribbons and buckles of the '20s are here to make you feel either nostalgic for those hectic days, or regretful because you weren't around then!

But flowers, synonomous with springtime, are not forgotten in the spring millinery scene. These beautiful garlands are worn on large, droopy straw brims, or they might adorn brims of handmade Irish lace.

The finest milliners today bring a feeling of softness to their collection. There's softness of line, manipulation and materials — to make a woman look truly feminine.

One of the nation's favorite milliners, Lilly Dache, has designed a versatile group of hats for spring. This bumper beret of wheat-colored straw strewn with white and yellow poppies is a far cry from the severe fedora opposite.

Let's go back to the Garbo era and dream a little. This printed coffee silk in a curved-brim fedora, which reminds us so much of the glamorous Garbo style, is banded and bowed with black grosgrain.

Givenchy Emphasizes the Hipline

French Designer Ignores Bosom and Waistline

PARIS (INS) — Designer Hubert de Givenchy, the "boy wonder" of Paris fashions, is ignoring bosoms and waistlines completely in his 1957 line. Instead, he wants all figure emphasis on the hips.

The 28-year-old, 6 - foot - 7 Givenchy, showed his line to the press only last week, although most other big name French designers presented their ideas a month ago.

Where other experts restored waistlines and emphasized "free" silhouettes, Givenchy offers a definite but controversial silhouette in which everything is simple down to the navel, and then decorated at hip level.

His baggy daytime dresses completely skip waistlines. They have several simple tops with broad round shoulders and skirts caught in knee-hobbling cuffs. Buttons, bows, drapes and even jewel pins are all around the hips.

Givenchy's suits are even more eye-popping. They've got aprons in front that come right out of the jacket. These apron panels, in front only, are cut in one piece with the suit jacket front. In back, and at the sides, the jackets remain wrist-length.

Apron panels also show up on some Givenchy dresses which look exactly like straight bags. The aprons, oval or rectangular, sometimes are accompanied by double-breasted buttons on the front of the dress.

Professor From Chicago to Speak Here Saturday

International Peace, Freedom League Schedules Dinner Meeting

Professor Hy Fish, a faculty member of Roosevelt College in Chicago, will speak Saturday evening before the Oakland County Branch of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom. Prof. Fish's topic will be "Preparing Peoples for Progress—The Human Aspect of Technical Assistance."

The occasion is International Night, which will be held at the Pontiac Federal Savings and Loan Building. The international theme of the evening will be carried out in the buffet dinner prepared from United Nations Cookbook recipes. There will be dishes from Italy, China, Bolivia and Cuba.

PROFESSOR HY FISH

Prof. Fish is an international productivity expert, having spent one year as chief of a mission in India, where he helped establish India's National Productivity Center and designed a program for future activities.

He has been in Israel on four different missions since 1950 as adviser to the government of Israel on productivity.

Reservations for dinner may be made in Pontiac through Mrs. John Houston of Glenwood avenue and Mrs. Fred Haushalter of Scott Lake road and in Birmingham with Mrs. Robert Applegate of Eton road and Mrs. Harold Chalk of Big Beaver road.

The precisely sculptured crown with newly proportioned depth makes a stunning spring hat for milady. Executed in natural pebble straw, the contrasting trim is toast grosgrain.

Bench Plays Major Role in Modern Home Decor

NEW YORK (INS)—Benches are as old as furniture, but they play a more important part than ever today in ultra-modern decor.

The popularity of the backless, straight-lined bench is due to its unobtrusive nature. It just sits there quietly, not getting in the way or cluttering up a room. But pull the bench out and it provides extra seating at the drop of a cushion.

The cushions are a necessary item, since they not only add considerably to soft seating comfort, but also can provide a gay splash of color in a somber room.

One of the favorite places to stash benches is under the window. They make lovely window seats, particularly with spring coming and warm weather ahead. When company comes, you just pull them toward the center of the room to form a friendly circle.

You can also combine a bench and coffee table arrangement, setting the piece of furniture up as a table when that's what you need for serving or holding things. Just take the vase, ashtray, etc., off the top to turn it into a handy bench for watching television.

A window seat bench in the bedroom can be turned into a bedside night table when someone is sick and wants to surround himself with magazines, tissues and medication near at hand. Or a chest can serve as a combined bottom-of-the-bed bench and footlocker for storage purposes.

Town Black Emphasized for Summer

Designer Simpson Casts Her Vote for Cool Elegance

NEW YORK (INS) — Town black will be as elegant this summer as it is in every other season of the year, according to designer Adele Simpson.

Mrs. Simpson is giving pastels only passing attention for summer. Her wholehearted vote goes to black with white icing for a cool but elegant effect.

She features smooth sheaths in black linen with touches of white at the throat, or with little black - and - white checked toppers. For example, a plain black linen scoop-neck sheath is covered by a cape-sleeve jacket of black and white checks.

Mrs. Simpson also likes "floating" black cottons, so sheer they look like chiffon, for dressy summer frocks. She trims these, and some of her afternoon black linens, in black satin.

There are also several black silk crepes, and pure white silk crepes, with bias-cut flaring skirts and cowl necks. Otherwise, silhouettes are simple for summer comfort.

In fact, Mrs. Simpson manages to give the wrapped cummerbund effect with fake "boleros" on one-piece dresses without making you really bind your midriff on a hot day.

City PTA Council to Meet Thursday

A public meeting will be held in Pontiac High School auditorium Thursday at 8 p.m. by the Pontiac Council of PTA.

Dr. Dana P. Whitmer, superintendent of schools, and Dr. Otto Hufziger will present architects who will explain planning for the new senior high school.

Don't tell the man that you take a 5½AA when you go to buy shoes. Let him measure your foot each time, just to be sure there's been no change in your foot size.

For summer parties, teenagers will wear this pretty bare-armed dress. The dress, with square neck and touches of lace and velvet, is of striped cotton pique.

But Movie Star Has No Time to Visit Birthplace

Philippine Beauty Yearns for Denver

MANILA (INS) — Glamorous Gloria Romero, the hottest attraction in Philippine movieland, can have just about anything except her heart's fondest desire—to return to Denver, her birthplace.

To most Americans, Gloria's name doesn't mean a thing. But to Philippine movie fans she is the queen of the screen.

She is the highest paid, busiest, most appealing and versatile actress in the islands. She is a first rate comedienne and a finished tragedian.

The 24-year-old beauty, undisputed sweetheart of the Philippines, averages six pictures a year, all in roles calling for artistry on the highest level. She packs 'em in wherever the movies are shown.

And that's the big problem. She can't find the time to break away to visit the Mile High City, which she left when she was 3 years old.

"I could very well pack up this very minute and book passage for the U.S. and take that sentimental journey to Denver," she said today, "but I am committed to do five more pictures this year."

She added wistfully:

"Maybe I can make it next year . . . oh, you don't realize how much a trip would make my life complete."

Gloria has an added reason for making the journey; she hopes to find her mother's relatives who still live in Denver.

The 5-foot-6-inch film star was born to an American mother and a Filipino father. Three years later the family left Denver to settle in northern Luzon, where her father had a farm.

Her mother, the former Mary Borrego, died shortly after the Americans liberated the Philippines in 1945.

Gloria's first big break in films came when Sampaguita studio bosses picked her from a group of extras for a supporting role in a movie titled "Madame X." She stole the picture from veteran stars, and from there on she climbed steadily to the top.

Every one of her 24 pictures has been a hit, not only in the Philippines but in Asia.

Local critics, consistently caustic and cynical on films made in the Philippines, just love her.

So do the gay young blades, but Gloria has remained Philippine movieland's most eligible bachelor girl despite her scores of admirers.

She said she is too "frustrated" over that visit to Denver to think of marrying.

But Bible Rates Quite Low With Young People

Teenagers Don't Limit Their Reading to Classroom

By EUGENE GILBERT
President Gilbert Youth Research Co.

Do teenagers forget their reading habits the minute they step out of a classroom?

The answer is no. A nationwide survey of young people reveals that 78 per cent read books not connected with school work, 76 per cent regularly read a daily newspaper and 72 per cent read magazines each week.

Forty-seven per cent say they read more than 10 outside books each year.

The survey turned up one disappointing fact—that only 46 per cent of the teenagers read the Bible. And of these, only 20 per cent read it regularly while 80 per cent read it seldom or almost never.

"Why should I bother to waste my time reading the Bible?" asked a young man. "I'll have centuries and centuries of eternity to study it. Man, I've got plenty to do now."

HISTORIC INTEREST

But a 16-year-old girl said:

"It's thrilling to learn about our earliest history. The Bible can tell us a lot about how people dressed and lived and thought as far back as anyone can go."

* * *

Sixty-seven per cent of the Bible readers said the book is not hard to read.

"I can get through it all right," said a 13-year-old Minnesota girl.

And a 14-year-old boy said: "I always figured that reading the Bible was for squares. But it's good stuff. Sometimes you find a chapter that just hits the spot."

The movies apparently influence what books young people read, because many they listed as "their favorite recent book" have been made into motion pictures in the last two years.

But the winner, while in the category of a great movie, certainly isn't a recent one. And the most notable thing is how many weighty books and films are listed among the favorites.

"Gone With the Wind" barely edged "War and Peace" as the most popular book.

Others in the "top 10" were "Marjorie Morningstar," "East of Eden," "Jane Eyre," "The Man in the Grey Flannel Suit," "Moby Dick," "Crime and Punishment," "Not as a Stranger" and "Magnificent Obsession."

"I've gone through 'Gone With the Wind' four times during the past four years," a 17-year-old girl said. "What a romance!"

The teenagers liked adventure stories best, with 32 per cent giving this category a huge first place margin.

Next came love stories, 20 per cent; sports stories, 18; mysteries, 16, and science fiction, 9. The remaining 5 per cent liked other categories or a combination of the above.

A typical comment of those who don't read books was this from a Newark, N. J., boy:

"Who has time for long books? I stick to short stories when I have time for extra reading. A book takes a month to finish—a short story goes in an hour."

NOVELS ARE FUN

In reply, a girl who is a constant reader said: "Short stories are the tightest form of fiction—naturally, because they are short. But nothing compares to the fun and satisfaction to be gained from reading a novel and sort of getting to know the characters."

* * *

The young people also showed they are interested in what is going on in the world by listing front page news as that which they like most to read in newspapers.

A New York boy, one of the 36 per cent who listed front page news as his choice, said:

"I like to keep up to date on happenings in the world. You'd be surprised at the interest teenagers are taking in the news these days. What is going on now may determine if we have to fight a war when we finish high school."

The boys and girls named comics and cartoons second to front page news, with 23 per cent of the vote, followed by sports news, 17 per cent, society news, 8 per cent and movie, radio,. television and news columns, 6 per cent.

Asked what they liked least about newspapers, 27 per cent of the teeners named too many advertisements. The runner-up was editorials, with 14 per cent.

MEAN NOTHING

"The advertisements just don't mean anything to me now," a 15-year-old Milwaukee girl said. "Maybe when I get a little older they will."

This would seem to pose an important challenge to advertisers to make their layouts more appealing to the youngsters who will be the buyers a few years hence—and who even now have great influence on what products sell.

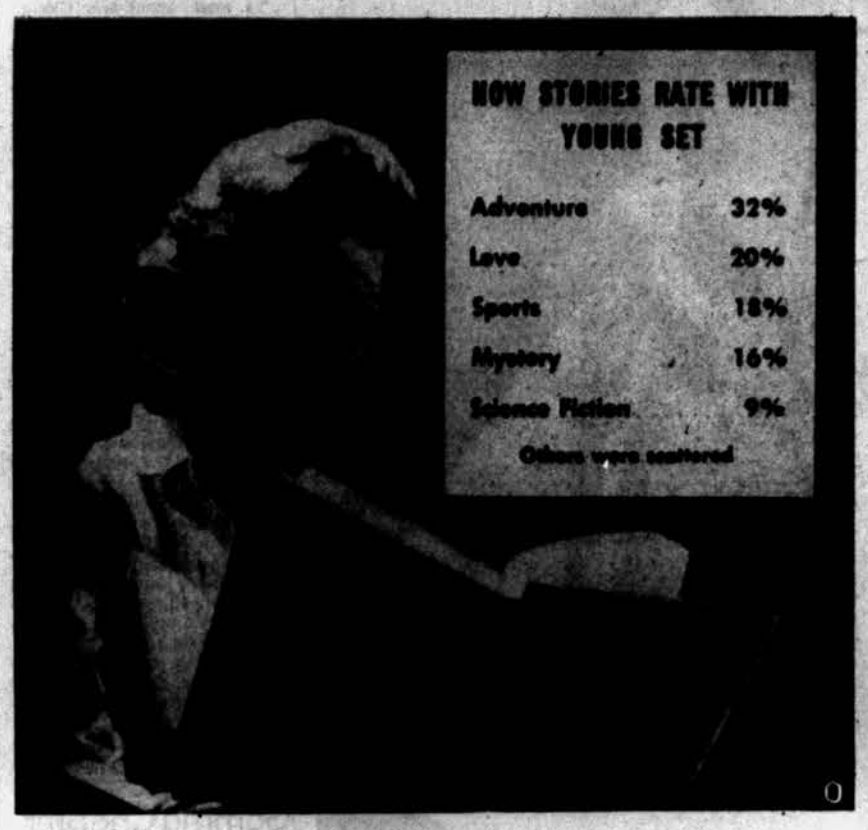

The teens selected interesting stories about important people as their No. 1 choice for liking magazines. Thirty per cent voted this way.

Next came better articles, features and short stories than other media, 27 per cent; good pictures, 16; fiction and non-fiction stories, 15, and stories on fashion and etiquette, 13.

Too many advertisements again ran off with the honors when the young people were asked what they liked least about magazines. Forty per cent picked this category.

Trashy stories was a distant second with 9 per cent of the vote.

This is how reading for enjoyment stacked up for young people.

Don't Let Carelessness Mar Appearance

Grooming Tip: Watch 'Little Things'

When the same amount of care is taken with every phase of good grooming—from the bath to the final touch of perfume—the trim, chic you that steps into the public eye proves the effort to be well worth while.

No woman, however lovely of face and figure, achieves the full effect of her beauty unless she knows that every detail of her appearance has been checked and approved.

It's the small things that make a world of difference in the way we look to others. A small chip in bright nail polish can make your hands unattractive. A crooked stocking seam can detract from the trimness of your legs. And they both give an impression of carelessness in the small but important details.

A job sometimes "put off till tomorrow" is the removal of unsightly leg hair. And this should be watched diligently since the hose we wear are so sheer and filmy.

If you find that your present hair removal method is irritating to your skin, you might try a new electric razor now on the market.

Its makers claim that it can't cut or scrape, and that the round head and rotary blades get all the hairs the first time without pulling.

It's useful, too, for trimming straggly hairs at the nape of the neck between trips to the hair dresser, and it's pretty enough to stand on your dressing table.

There are many phases of good grooming that are easily overlooked. Shoe heels should be checked at frequent intervals, for run-down heels are unattractive and uncomfortable to walk on.

Another "must" is a few seconds spent with a clothes brush before leaving the house — particularly with dark clothes that so easily pick up lint.

Most of us are careful about the obvious efforts necessary to achieve good grooming, but the small, equally important ones can spoil the finished picture if they're forgotten.

Utilize Oven Heat

If you're going to use your oven, it's economical to use the broiler at the same time. Thus, if there's a roast and a casserole in the oven, you might put a broiling chicken into the broiler at the same time. Then you've cold chicken to serve the next day.

He Writes Book He Couldn't Find

By ANNE HEYWOOD

There is more than one way of getting a dream job, but the way Thomas P. Murphy managed it is the strangest I've ever heard of.

Tom Murphy was in a job he didn't like, so he toyed with the idea of starting his own business.

You know how it is—you hate your job, you aren't making enough money, you're taking too much from the man in the corner office—so you decide to be your own boss and start investigating the possibilities.

When Tom Murphy began to look around, he found that there wasn't any book which really answered all the questions he wanted answered. So he decided to write such a book!

He took his savings and embarked on a project of interviewing hundreds of people who had started businesses of their own. He kept copious notes and succeeded in gettinng extremely good material.

"I wanted my book to be really complete," he told me, "and I wanted it to be practical. My book would not assume that people have thousands of dollars to invest in a project.

"I learned just as much from the people who had failed as I did from those who had succeeded. But most of all," he continued, "I learned that I really enjoyed interviewing top executives and getting information from them.

"I had no trouble getting to see even those who were supposed to be extremely difficult. And in the process of doing the research, I interivewed so many top executives that I decided I enjoyed interviewing them more than I would enjoy having a business of my own!"

Well, you can probably guess the ending.

Tom's book, A Business of Your Own, was published and very well received. Armed with it, he got a job as reporter-researcher on a magazine devoted to business!

EXTREME CASE

This is, admittedly, an extreme case. But most of the "lucky" breaks and unusual success stories I encounter have this common denominator:

People pursue a thing because of their own interest in it, with no regard to the after-effects. And the after-effects are stupendous!

If you'd like information on where to buy Tom Murphy's book, A Business of Your Own, send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope care of The Pontiac Press.

Be Sure to Scrub Car Safety Belt

Safety engineers, who have studied the growing use of safety belts as a means to reduce injury in auto accidents, report that keeping the belts clean is an all-important factor in their use.

Men and women are prone to neglect fastening dirty belts lest they soil clean suits or dresses.

Fortunately, these belts are made of sturdy webbing and can be removed for washing by machine. Or they can be scrubbed with a stiff brush in hot soap or detergent suds to remove embedded dirt.

Convention Planned by Pythian Sisters

Committees working on the Pythian Sisters convention to be held in Pontiac in May reported at the recent meeting of Mispah Temple Seven, Pythian Sisters.

Mrs. Ray Harrington, ways and means chairman, submitted plans for the year that include a luncheon and card party on March 7. Mrs. Clifford Neville was elected lodge protector.

Don't Let Your Husband Grow Old With Boredom

Help Him to Enjoy His Life Today and to Plan Happily for Tomorrow

By RUTH MILLETT

If you don't want to be a widow, better see to it that your husband doesn't get bored.

That's something wives should be able to figure out for themselves from a recent statement of Dr. Edward L. Bortz, Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia.

The doctor didn't actually tell women that. What he said was: "The major dilemma of today's 'young man of 65' is that he becomes old because he is bored."

But any woman knows that a wife has a great deal to do with whether or not her husband gets bored with living.

A man isn't likely to get bored if his wife isn't willing to settle down to a dull, routine existence.

To keep a man from slipping into boredom a woman should begin to make things happen when the couple is still young.

She should always be full of some bright dream for the future. She should be an enthusiastic supporter of his ideas, instead of a wet blanket. She should be willing to take an occasional chance.

REFLECT INTEREST

She shouldn't be disinterested when he asks her to go fishing with him or to accompany him on a business trip. She should reflect his interest when he gets enthusiastic over anything from hi-fi to setting up a home workshop.

Perhaps, instead of talking about the day when he can retire and loaf, she should be talking of the day when they can do some of the things they've always wanted to do but haven't had time for.

Above all, she should see to it that, even though her husband has to work hard to support the family, he never settles down to a treadmill existence.

He won't if she widens their circle of friends and encourages him in hobbies and outside interests.

It's important that she shares his interests when he wants her to and leaves him free to develop some interests on his own. By her own enthusiasm she must get him to share some of her activities.

Why let a husband grow old from boredom if you can keep him young by keeping him happily busy enjoying today and planning for tomorrow?

Follow Advice of Physician

Exercise After Your Baby Arrives

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

It is too bad for a young woman to allow herself to be burdened by overweight simply because she has had a baby! All of the alibis of the past have been taken away from her. Many of today's most glamorous women have several children.

If you are not interested in reconditioning for your own sake do it for your husband's. Many a young man has been somewhat bewildered to see his slim young bride turn into a matronly looking woman, 12 months, 1 baby and 25 pounds after the marriage ceremony.

You should follow your physician's advice concerning exercise after your baby arrives. Cases differ. Usually doctors allow exercise about six weeks after delivery. Today I want to give you some easy onts to begin with. Ask your doctor when.

1. Lie on the floor on your back with your arms resting on the floor overhead and your legs straight. Raise your right arm and leg and touch the fingertips to the foot, ankle or leg, whichevtr you can. Lower arm and leg to the floor.

This time raise your left arm and leg and touch. Lower arm and leg to the floor. Continue, alternating right and left. Keep the knees straight throughout the exercise.

2. Lie on the floor on your back. Bend both knees and place the feet on the floor. Place a book on your abdomen. Slowly push the book toward the ceiling, as high as you can. Slowly lower book and pull it down toward your backbone. Your hips remain on the floor. Let your abdominal muscles do the work.

Here's an exercise to take after you've had your baby: Touch the fingertips to the foot, ankle or leg, whichever you can.

3. Again lie on the floor on your back. Bend the left knee up close to the abdomen. Return left leg to floor. Bend your right knee up close to your abdomen. Return right leg to the floor. Continue, alternating left and right.

4. Lie on the floor on your back. Bend both knees up to the abdomen. Return legs to the floor. Continue.

After a few weeks you can make these exercises more strenuous by lifting and touching and then lowering both arms and both legs simultaneously in the first exercise, by placing a heavier book on your abdomen in the second, by bending one knee as the other straightens (and not touching the floor after beginning the exercise) in the third exercises, and by stretching the legs toward the ceiling before slowly lowering them to the floor, in the fourth.

If you would like to have my leaflet "Care During and After Pregnancy," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 21, to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Tomorrow: "'Walk Up the Wall' to Improve Posture."

'Tinted Light' Is Tricky

MADISON, Wis. (INS)—The new tinted light bulbs are flattering but there should be some advance thought by the homemaker on when and how to use them.

The tinted bulbs give a softer light but the coloring cuts down on the amount of light.

Generally, tinted bulbs result in a 25 per cent loss of light.

To use them properly, use the blue, aqua, pink or yellow tinted bulbs to brighten related colors in a room. For example aqua bulbs will accent cool colors like blue and green but tend to subdue warm reds and yellows.

With a warm color scheme, the yellow gives a warm, sunny effect. Pink bulbs highlight warm red, orange or brown and tend to flatter skin tones but will "gray" cool colors.

Colored light bulbs do tricks to food, too. "A pink tinted light in the dining room makes the red foods more colorful, but green or yellow foods look gray and less appealing.

Green vegetables show up attractively with aqua light, but the red or yellow foods are off color. Yellow enhances yellow or brown foods," she said.

Colored bulbs are basically decorative—a white light is better for reading and sewing.

Every woman should have one pretty pair of lounging slippers in her closet. If you're strong for comfort, fine, but try to keep one pair of glamor slippers to wear when guests drop in.

Rain and Snow Do Not Hurt Fur if Properly Dried

Keep Furs Clean, Cool for Extra Wear

Who ever saw a muskrat or a mink with an umbrella? But nobody ever heard of Milady's furs living in steam heated quarters. Rain and snow will not hurt fur; heat will.

If you, who are buying new furs will follow these few simple hints on taking care of your furs, you will get seasons of extra wear from them.

If your fur is wet, or just damp, never place it near heat because intense heat of any kind causes furs to become brittle and dry. Shake the fur vigorously and hang it to dry naturally in cool, circulating air. Heat is the arch enemy of furs; it dries out natural oils.

Red poppies pressed against the crown trim this snow-white toyo cloche.

That is why cold storage in summer is a necessity. You can't get away from seasonal heat, although you might succeed in keeping the moths away. Play safe, take care, store your furs in summer. Exposure to summer heat will shorten the life of your fur coat by many seasons.

Treat your coat with respect. Put it on a good clothes hanger in an unheated closet, allowing plenty of room. Always give it a gentle shake both before and after wearing. This keeps the fur fluffy and clean in day-to-day wear. But grime still has a tendency to collect between the fine thick hairs. You send much less expensive articles of wearing apparel to be cleaned regularly. How much more important that you keep your furs clean.

GOOD FURRIERS SAVE MONEY

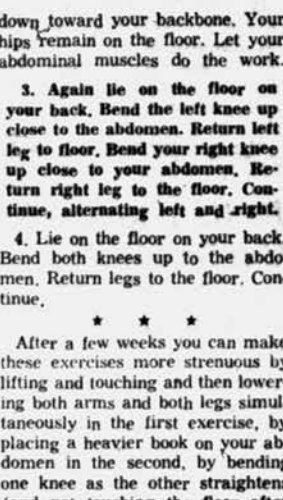

An experienced furrier has both knowledge and equipment to correctly clean furs. A thorough cleaning once a year should keep furs in excellent condition.

When you bring your furs to your furrier for storage, they are thoroughly inspected, brushed and air-blown before being placed in vaults, scientifically cooled to prolong their lives. The moderate cost insures you more service from your furs.

When sitting, unfasten the loops so that there is no strain. Also, be careful that your coat is not bunched up under you. If you drive a car, try to keep away from continuous friction at one spot.

Small rips and tears, cared for in time by your furrier, will also contribute to satisfactory wear for your furs because neglect may necessitate new skins which are expensive. A stitch in time prevents a small rip or tear from beginning a big jagged tear.

Never attempt to brush or comb your furs. Shake your furs well in order to "fluff up" the fur before wearing time.

Advice to Cold Victims

Don't Just Suffer — Primp!

NEW YORK (INS) — You can look better than you feel when suffering those well known "cold miseries," simply by taking a few beauty precautions.

First, keep as warm as possible, since heat will help keep your cold from becoming worse, and in addition will add a falsely healthy—but attractive—Flush to your cheeks.

Eyes are often a victim of colds. To prevent them from becoming bloodshot and sick-looking, bathe frequently with pads of cotton and cold ice water.

If you are brave and go to work, you can bring an eye cup and wash to the office.

To keep lipstick intact and unsmeared despite frequent nose-blowing, wear less. Apply carefully, allow to set for about 15 minutes, then blot more than usual.

At night a smearing of camphor ice, silicone and antiseptic lip ice will help prevent cracking and cold sores.

To remain as little red-nosed as possible, use a soothing ointment, well-rubbed in, around the nose.

You can "wash" your hair with cologne and cotton to keep it in shape.

A steaming hot bath before bed helps both beauty and health, and performed bath salts and soap can do much for morale. And you'll smell nice to others, even if your cold prevents you from sniffing it yourself.

Perle Arranging Party From 3,000 Miles Away

By LEE BELSER

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — That big wing-ding for Hungarian relief that Perle Mesta is flinging in Philadelphia next week will cost her 200 phone calls, 22 powwows and at least 3 headaches.

It's the first time the hostess with the mostest ever masterminded a party from 3,000 miles away.

"It's been difficult," she admitted, "but that doesn't mean I'd never attempt it again."

Mrs. Mesta breezed into Hollywood three weeks ago to okay her life story for a television show.

"And then," she said, "the Sheraton Hotel people asked me to arrange this party. At first I said I wouldn't do it and then I decided I would."

The former minister to Luxembourg was talking with a telephone receiver in one hand and a fork in the other and between bites of toast and poached egg directed a few reproachful remarks to a committeeman who was trying to tack a fashion show onto the Philadelphia party.

'WON'T HAVE IT'

"They can't do that to me," she snapped, "I won't have it."

And the last we heard — they didn't.

The party, slated to shiver the timbers of the new Sheraton Hotel Monday, is expected to raise between $50,000 and $100,000 for Hungarian relief.

On the bill, along with 3 orchestras, 15 Hungarian waiters, and banquet tables laden with exotic dishes, will be such celebrated entertainers as Eddie Fisher and Debbie Reynolds, Anna Maria Alberghetti, Gene Nelson and George Jessel.

And there'll be enough imported champagne to fill a Hollywood swimming pool.

"I guess somebody will try to crash the party," Mrs. Mesta declared, "but it's almost impossible. The only time it ever happened was at the Democratic convention party in Chicago last August.

HARVARD BOYS

"Two boys from Harvard got into the kitchen, grabbed a couple of trays and started serving the guests. At the same party two girls sent their fur stoles in ahead of them and then sneaked in a side door."

The famous hostess is returning to Philadelphia this week by train —"so I can get some rest."

"What I like best about a party," she grinned, "is the party. I just relax and have fun."

Women's Society Meets

Monthly reports were heard at the recent luncheon meeting of the Women's Society of Bethany Baptist Church. Mrs. Frank Marsh was program chairman for the day, and musical selections were presented by Mrs. Martin Wolf accompanied by Elda Sutter.

Mrs. J. P. McCormick of Highland Park spoke on "My Three Years in Japan." Mrs. McCormick lived in Japan while her husband was a Fulbright Scholarship student. She accompanied her talk with colored slides.

Group of the Women's Society met at members' homes this week. Ruth Circle met with Mrs. W. R. Shirley of Seminole avenue and Martha Circle gathered at the home of Mrs. James Amburn of Pontiac drive, with Mrs. Omar Lewis assisting.

Mrs. Leon McMillen of Osceola drive, with Mrs. Della Allen as co-hostess, opened her home to Esther Circle. Mrs. Margaret Parks of Thorpe street entertained members of Lydia Circle with Mrs. Harvey Sanborn and Mrs. Claude Evans serving as co-hostesses.

Homemakers Club Conducts Meeting

Mrs. Kenneth Anderson opened her home on Wenonah drive to members of Modern Homemakers Extension Club Tuesday evening. Mrs. Harold McAllister assisted the hostess.

Dinner preceding the meeting was prepared from recipes received from a previous meeting on "Quick and Thrifty Meals."

When cleaning out your sewing machine, place the screws, bolts and tiny parts in order of removal on the sticky side of some adhesive tape, making the machine easy to put back together.

Asks How to Announce Separation

What Is Best Way to Break News to Casual Friends?

By EMILY POST

A reader asks: "Will you please help me with a problem that I don't quite know how to handle? After 15 years of marriage, my husband and I have decided to separate. This will come as a shock to our friends and acquaintances as my husband and I have both tried to conceal our estrangement from them.

"Our close friends will know almost at once but I do not know how to let more casual friends know. For instance, when I happen to meet them and in parting they ask to be remembered to John, what should I say? This is rather an embarrassing position to be put in and I will be most grateful for your help."

Answer: The more quickly you establish the truth of your separation, the simpler it will be to meet it. When friends ask to be remembered to John say, "I'm sorry to have to tell you that John and I have separated."

"Dear Mrs. Post: I am a woman executive in a large company, and very often it is necessary for me to take men customers to lunch. The men always seem embarrassed to have me pay the check and often try to pick it up themselves. This creates a very awkward situation. Can you offer a solution to this problem?"

Answer: You say to your men guests, "No, let me pay the check because you are the guests of my company and they want me to put it on my expense account."

Dear Mrs. Post: What acknowledgment is one expected to make of a relative's engagement? The girl is a stranger to us, but her engagement to my cousin has been announced and I wondered if there is anything we should do."

Answer: Definitely you must either write or telephone her at once to welcome her into your family and ask when it will be convenient for you to go see her. Of course, if you are of an older generation you would ask your cousin to bring his fiancee to a meal at your house — or at least to see you.

Attend Funeral

Pat Nixon, wife of the vice president, displays a new spring suit, one of many articles in her wardrobe that have established her as one of Washington's best-dressed women.

Pat Nixon Acquires High Style

U. S. Second Lady Is Being Acclaimed for Excellent Taste

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON — A second look is due the Second Lady of the land.

Pretty Pat Nixon, wife of the vice president, already has won admiration as a model homemaker, wife and mother. Now she's being acclaimed for her unerring fashion sense as well as her poise, stamina and charm.

Housekeeping comes naturally for some women, as does the art of being an understanding and helpful spouse or an understanding and wise mother.

Some are born clothes horses and endowed with all the attributes to stand them in good stead in public life. Few women encompass all these desirable virtues, Pat does.

Mrs. Nixon's boundless energy, equilibrium and unfailing good humor have been demonstrated over the past year and a half with the ever-widening scope of her husband's office.

ASSISTS MAMIE

In addition to her own heavy schedule, she began taking some of the load off Mamie Eisenhower shortly after the President's heart attack, filling in for her at luncheons and teas. With the vice president she has presided over numerous important official functions.

Since 1952, when her husband was elected to be second top man in the government, she has traveled with him to 32 countries — to the Far East in 1953, to Latin America in 1955

Through all this she has managed to keep a smoothly-run household and a close and happy relationship with her daughters, Patricia, 10 and Julie, 8.

What's more, she does laundry cooking, mending and some of the sewing for the children.

She used to make some of her own clothts and practiced economy to such extent she was wearing her "last year's" cloth coat among the minks of other official wives long after her husband became vice president.

NEW SMARTNESS

Always dressing with taste and a feeling for what was right for her slender, patrician type, Pat Nixon has now added a new chic to her appearance, as well as some "Republican prosperity" furs.

Her husband gave her a mink wrap for Christmas. She wears an ermine stole with her new wardrobe of evening clothes.

Replacing the cloth coat for daytime is a simply fashioned coat of Afghan lamb pelts, given to her by the Queen of Afghanistan.

Eye Makeup Not Thing for Teenager

Almost every teenager gets the urge to fiddle with eye makeup. The usual result is an apparition not unlike the raccoon.

Actually, there's no harm in experimenting within the limits of bedroom or home. But better not take it beyond that unless you want to end up as a wall-flower. You'll frighten away the boys and send your best friends into giggles.

Not even the high fashion models goo themselves heavily with eye makeup for street wear. They use it for pictures only, for eye emphasis.

When they're through with a day's posing, off comes everything but a light dab of powder, rouge and lipstick.

If you have a good brow shape and reasonably thick or curly lashes, just be grateful. You needn't touch a hand to them except for a bit of cold cream before retiring at night.

The one-eyelet tie shoe, slim and graceful, is back for spring and summer. It's poised on a shaped mid-heel.

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

ST. PETERSBURG—Most of the activity with the two major league teams in this Florida city came out of the front offices yesterday.

At the Soreno Hotel where the New York Yankees are making their headquarters, all the news concerned Don Larsen, who is still at odds over his contract. Larsen walked out of his conference with Lee MacPhail with the comment that the offer he received was "puny."

Meanwhile at the St. Louis Cardinal training camp at Al Lang Field, the Cards were busy saying goodbye to Whitey Lockman who was traded back to the New York Giants for his hometown buddy Hoyt Wilhelm.

Lockman was all smiles as he carried his gear from the clubhouse. Under one arm he tugged his favorite war club, the one which he had when he came to the Cardinals from the Giants.

The big blond learned of the trade in an odd way. He had just made a great catch of a line drive in a Tuesday morning session and when he approached manager Fred Hutchinson near the infield he was told of the trade.

"Guess I was ordered to report to spring camp early to get in shape for the trade," he laughed as he stood near the backstop at Lang Field, "but I'm happy to be back with the Giants."

"Maybe I'll pass Wilhelm up on the road," he jested. Lockman and Wilhelm are home town buddies from Charlotte, N.C. Hutchinson said Wilhelm would give the Cards some much needed bull pen strength.

At Miller Huggins Field the Yanks broke rookie camp with most of the rookies returning home for further assignment.

Larsen sat on the sidelines as the Yankee batterymen went through bunting and fielding drills. His appearance at the field Wednesday snuffed rumors that he checked out of town after the contract huddle.

MacPhail told newsmen that he and Larsen were not too far apart, but there was reason to believe that the Yankee co-owner was not ready to concede to Larsen with the inference that Larsen was using his world series heroics to account for his entire 1956 season.

Wednesday was probably the end of loafing period for most of the major league "regulars." All the top stars of the teams in Florida, along with newsmen and radiomen were competing in the annual golf tourney which was started by the late Babe Zaharias across the river from St. Petersburg in Tampa.

DITTOS FROM THE PRESS BOX

Fred Delodder, formerly one of the best tennis coaches in Detroit, is now a motel owner in St. Petersburg.

Today we move into Lakeland where the Tigers get spring training officially underway Friday.

Giants Called Bad Luck Club

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—There's no luck like bad luck So the New York Giants were discovering today in the wake of a year-long string of misfortunes culminating in the personal tragedy of catcher Bill Sarni.

Losing Sarni—who suffered a heart attack at the opening of training Monday and will never play pro baseball again—was the latest in a string of bad breaks that surely earn the Giants the title of the hard luck club of this and probably any other year.

They might have seen the handwriting on the wall in 1955 when second baseman Davie Williams went out with a bad back. Everyone at the Polo Grounds had high hopes for Williams, but still, the Giants held on to third place.

But in 1956, troubles came, as Shakespeare said, in battalions. Off went five young hopefuls to the Army:

Add Sarni and you have six—more than all the other clubs in the National League together. That's going to make it a long, hard pull back from sixth place, where the Giants now recline.

Pontiac Wrestlers Trounce Fitzgerald

Five pins, three of them in succession, gave Pontiac High School's wrestlers all the points they needed in a 34-14 trouncing of Fitzgerald yesterday afternoon.

Speedy Dave Payne, 120, 133-pound Mel Nosenchuk, and big boys John Herron, Duke Reilyea and Willie Duncan copped the pins to make things easy for the Chiefs in gaining their 2nd straight win and 3rd in the last four starts.

The summary:

95-pound—Mel Mercier (F) defeated Jack Keller (P) 8-0.
103-pound—Bill Stephens (P) downed Bob Kelch (F) 2-0.
112-pound—Dick Parker (P) trounced Martin Chalsson (F) 10-3.
120-pound—Dave Payne (P) pinned Dan Brown (F), 2:40.
127-pound—Bill Coille (F) won over Jim Powell (P) 9-2.
133-pound—Mel Nosenchuck (P) pinned Paul Sims (F), time 1:57.
138-pound—Jim Burkhalter (F) pinned Jim Shorter (P), time 3:50.
145-pound—Bill Cowle (F) defeated Charles Radcliff (P) 4-2.
154-pound—Scott Campbell (P) edged Les Kubealak (F) 4-3.
165-pound—John Herron (P) pinned Bill Shadowski (F), time 55 seconds.
175-pound—Duke Reilyea (P) pinned Pete Bizoni (F), time 1:26.
Heavyweight — Willie Duncan (P) pinned John LaForest (F), time 4:53.

Pontiac Women Named to Posts in Elk Pin Assn.

Two Pontiac women were named to state offices at a recent election of officers held by the Elks Ladies Michigan Bowling Association in Battle Creek.

Peggy Bender, secretary of the Pontiac Women's Bowling Association, was appointed 4th vice-president and Mary Johnson was selected to serve as sergeant. Lila Moore of Port Huron is the Elks president and Fran Buttermore of Farmington was chosen 1st vice-president.

Port Huron was awarded the Elks Ladies tournament for 1958. It was voted to hold the event in Jackson in '59.

Press Bowlerama Set for Early April

By CHUCK ABAIR

A big, new bowling tournament will be staged for the 1st time in the Pontiac area in early April when The Pontiac Press Bowlerama is held at four local alleys.

Qualifying dates for the singles event, sponsored by The Press with the co-operation of the Bowling Proprietors Association of Greater Pontiac, have been set for April 6-7 with the finals the weekend of April 13-14.

Guaranteed cash awards of $400 for the men's champion and $200 for the outstanding woman bowler top a long list of prizes to be presented the top finishers in the meet.

Set cash prizes have been fixed for the 1st six places for both men and women with the remainder to be divided on the basis of an award for every 10 entries. A heavy list of entries would greatly increase the prize money in both divisions.

Bruno Kearns, Press sports editor, is general chairman of the tournament. Well - known local bowler Les Rothbarth will serve as secretary-manager.

The deadline for entries is midnight March 31. They should be mailed to Rothbarth in care of The Pontiac Press sports department.

Entry blanks may be obtained in the near future at any bowling establishment in the county. A copy of the blank will also be printed in The Press from time to time. This blank may be clipped out and mailed to the manager.

Qualifying rounds will be held at the Auburn Lanes, Dixie Recreation and Land-O-Lakes Recreation on the 1st weekend with the finals set for the Huron Bowl. Qualifying will consist of three games on the same alleys, while the finals will be three games across six alleys.

Only keglers who are residents of Oakland County and sanctioned with the ABC or WIBC are eligible. Entry fees are $4.50.

SPORTS SHOW ATTRACTION — With the emphasis on boats, motors, and other outdoor materiel, Pontiac's annual sports show opened today with some unscheduled attractions (above). The lovely sailors perched on the sleek craft, at Pontiac Motor Retail store, 63 Mt. Clemens street, are (left) Mrs. Ann Harrington, 1899 S. Telegraph road, and Beth Smith, 119 State avenue. Public is invited and there is no charge. Show opened at noon today, runs each day through Sunday from 1 p. m. to 9 p. m.

Keg Meet March 9

A record field headed by 173 teams has entered the 24th annual Women's City Bowling Tournament scheduled to start March 9, it was announced today by Mrs. Peggy Bender, Secretary of the Pontiac Women's Bowling Association, Inc.

Event will be run off on four consecutive weekends at the Dixie Recreation alleys located on the Dixie Highway in Drayton Plains.

A total of 222 doubles duos, 444 in singles and 321 to compete for all-events honors complete the list of bowlers scheduled to appear in reputedly the biggest women's tourney ever held here. It is sanctioned by the Women's International Bowling Congress.

Majority of competitors are Pontiac residents but several other areas will also be represented.

Some of these are Lake Orion, Union Lake Village, Drayton Plains, Milford, Keego Harbor, Walled Lake, Oxford, Cooley Lake, Rochester, Utica, Clarkston and Waterford.

Other keglers will come from Birmingham, Wixom, Madison Heights, Orchard Lake, Auburn Heights, Warren, Clawson, Troy, Farmington and Washington.

All 1956 champions will defend their titles.

Ward's Furniture of Pontiac won the team award last season with 3054 and city resident Shirley Pointer swept singles and all-events prizes. Her singles series was 717 and she finished with 1690 actual pins in all-events.

Returning for another shot at the coveted doubles crown is the combination of Doris Lanktree of Rochester and Pontiac's Viola Cargal. They rolled 1335 to win the 23rd annual in '56.

St. Mike Wins, 58-45

St. Michael's basketball team spotted St. Agatha five quick points, then roared back to win going away, 58-45, in the St. Mike gym last night.

After giving the Detroiters their 5-0 advantage, Chuck Brown swished two field goals and Ken Halpin potted a pair of foul shots to put the Mikes ahead, 6-5, and they led the rest of the way.

Brown departed from the scene at the end of the 1st quarter with an injured ankle. He is expected to be ready for Friday night's game with Redford St. Mary at Pontiac High.

Dan Dropps paced the Shamrocks with nine field goals and six free tosses for 24 points, his finest effort of the season. Mike Lyons chipped in with 10, also his top performance.

Bob Blackwell scored 24 points for St. Agatha, which bowed to the Shamrocks for the 2nd time this season. It was St. Mike's 9th victory in 14 starts.

Major College Scoring Battle Still Unchanged

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The battle for the major college basketball individual scoring title remained unchanged Wednesday night, when Seattle's Elgin Baylor scored only 28 points to hold third place.

Baylor dropped .03 of a point in tallying 11 field goals and six fouls in Seattle's 95-81 victory over Portland. His average is now 30.00.

Columbia's Chet Forte, in fifth place, boosted his average to 29.14 when he hit for 33 points, as the Lions defeated Cornell 80-62.

All other leading contenders were idle. Grady Wallace of South Carolina is first with a 3048 average; Joe Gibbon, Mississippi second, 30.25 and Wilt Chamberlain, Kansas fourth, 29.20.

NHL Goalies' Nightmare

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

When goalies have nightmares, they dream of games like last night's 6-6 tie between New York and Chicago in the National Hockey League.

It was a night to forget — from the viewpoint of Ranger goalie Cump Worsley and his Chicago rival, Al Rollins. The 12 goals scored during the cleanly played scramble were the highest game output of the NHL season.

Fans didn't dare light a cigarette for fear of missing a scoring play. At one point, goals were being scored at the rate of one every two minutes. The burden was heaviest on Worsley, who had bitter memories of the seven Chicago goals scored against him when the Hawks beat the Rangers 7-2 in their last visit, to Madison Square Garden.

The goalies suffered but their teammates' scoring records prospered. Hec Lalande of Chicago added three goals to his season's tally, and his final score earned the Hawks the tie. Ranger Camillo Henry continued his scoring splurge with a pair of goals and teammate Andy Bathgate contributed two. Eddie Litzenberger helped keep the Hawks in the chase with 2 goals, running his season's total to 25 goals, 9 of them in the last six games. Adding to the goalies' dismay were scores by the Rangers' Danny Lewicki and Ron Murphy, and the Hawks' Johnny Wilson.

The tie in the league's lone action of the night brightened the Rangers' playoff prospects, giving the New Yorkers a six-point margin over the fifth-place Toronto Maple Leafs.

Watson Picks Howe and Hall on All-Star Six

NEW YORK (AP) — Phil Watson, fiery coach of the New York Rangers, today named Detroit's Gordie Howe to his personal National Hockey League all-star team, but he said his own Andy Bathgate "will run Howe off the all-stars in a year or so."

"Not only is Howe the best right winger in the league in my opinion, he's also the most valuable player," said Watson. "But Bathgate is improving every year and will be a better player than Howe before long."

Others Watson singled out for his first all-star team were goalie Glen Hall of Detroit, defenseman Doug Harvey of Montreal and Bill Gadsby of New York, center Jean Beliveau of Montreal and left winger Ted Lindsay of Detroit.

Duke and Wake Forest first met in a basketball game in 1906. Duke then was known as Trinity.

Ranked Fives Move On

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Waste not, want not, that's Don Bab's motto.

Bab, a 6-4 senior, had only one field goal try in last night's Ivy League basketball thriller between Yale and Dartmouth. He batted 1.000.

His goal, dropping in just as the final buzzer sounded, gave Yale the two points it needed to nip Dartmouth 57-56 and step into sole possession of first place in the Ivy scramble with a 9-2 record. Dartmouth slipped to second at 8-3.

While Yale squeaked through to victory, other leading college lights had easier times. Seattle, sixth-ranked in The Associated Press weekly poll, trampled Portland for the second night in a row, this time by 95-81. Eighth-ranked Louisville had an easy time with DePaul, 97-76. Dayton bound for the National Invitation Tournament, found Toledo no obstacle, winning 90-47, and another NIT selection, Xavier of Ohio, downed Western Kentucky 77-71.

Two Prep Titles Undecided

Two league championships remain to be decided as Oakland County high school basketball teams swing into the final round of the regular season Friday night.

The Inter-Lakes and Wayne-Oakland titles are still up in the air, but the outcomes are almost foregone conclusions.

Walled Lake and Berkley, deadlocked for the lead in the Inter-Lakes Conference, seem sure bets to stay that way. The Vikings entertain weak Van Dyke and Berkley plays host to oft-beaten Southfield.

Both schools will be heavily favored to win and divide the crown.

Clarkston has already clinched the Wayne-Oakland title and is finished with its league slate. Northville can share the crown with the Wolves by downing West Bloomfield tomorrow night and the Mustangs will be a strong choice to do just that.

All other league championships have been claimed—Pontiac in the Saginaw Valley, Avondale and Troy in the Oakland B, East Detroit in the Eastern Michigan, New Haven in the Southern Thumb, Imlay City in the South Central and St. Benedict in the Suburban Catholic.

Celtics Can Clinch 1st Title Tonight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Boston Celtics can clinch their first Eastern title in the National Basketball Assn. with a victory tonight over the New York Knickerbockers. That is, assuming the second-place Philadelphia Warriors lose to Minneapolis.

But a Boston win tonight and another tomorrow against the Warriors at Boston would salt the championship away for the potent Celtics.

WHO WILL IT BE? — Gene Conley, Rochester basketball coach, wonders what team will oppose his Falcons in the approaching district tournament as he picks from the hat at yesterday's drawing at Pontiac High. Holding the hat is Herb Sanford, PHS faculty athletic manager. Other anxious coaches looking on are bespectacled Dick Bye of Avondale and St. Michael's Bob Mineweaser. The tourney begins next Wednesday in the PHS gym.

Tourney Pairings Are Determined

Groundwork was laid for the 1957 district basketball tournaments yesterday when drawings and pairings were determined at various Oakland County sites.

Pontiac and Waterford also learned their Class A regional tourney foes in Wednesday's drawing at Flint.

The luck of the draw, which has decided the fate of more than one basketball team, played its vital role at Flint yesterday for Pontiac's Saginaw Valley champs.

The Chiefs wound up in the toughest bracket of the eight-team Flint regional, which gets under way Wednesday, March 12.

Pontiac will face rugged Lansing Sexton in its 1st test on Thursday, March 13. In the same bracket is the Flint Northern-Lansing Eastern duel.

Waterford meets Owosso in its opener on March 12 opposite the Flint Central-Port Huron pairing. Semifinals are scheduled March 14 and finals the following night.

Avondale and Lake Orion are paired in the 1st Class B game at Pontiac High on Wednesday, March 6. Oxford plays Rochester on March 7 and Clarkston meets the Avon-Orion winner March 8.

St. Michael drew South Lyon in the Class C district at PHS while Almont landed Farmington Our Lady of Sorrow for March 6 games. St. Frederick and Mt. Clemens St. Mary drew byes. Both B and C finals are slated March 9.

The four-team Class B district tourney at Walled Lake matches Northville and Milford in the opener, followed by the Brighton-Walled Lake clash. This tourney is scheduled March 8 and 9.

Orchard Lake St. Mary drew West Bloomfield and Oak Park is matched with Bloomfield Hills in the 'B' district at Bloomfield Hills March 6, 7 and 9.

Farmington squares off against Redford St. Mary and Clarenceville received a bye in the Class B district tournament at Farmington. The B and D pairings at Troy will be made tonight at 8 o'clock.

Imlay City, Armada and Capac will take part in the Class C district at Port Huron.

Bowhunter Downs African Elephant

GRAYLING (INS)—Bow hunters, long kidded about their equipment, are riding high on the news that a San Antonio oilman has reportedly killed, not one, but two elephants with a bow and arrows.

Texan William Negley sent his wife a cable message from the Belgian Congo informing her of the news.

The kills settle a $10,000 bet Negley had with a friend, William K. Carpenter of Wilmington, Del. the wealthy Texan wagered $1,000 to $10,000 that he could down an elephant with his powerful archery equipment, built by Fred Bear of the Bear Archery Company of Grayling.

The 42-year-old Negley said before he left for Africa he was pinning his hopes of winning the bet on his five-foot, four-inch "hard rock" two-layered maple center bow. The piece has a 102-pound pull.

Bear said the bow string was made of 30 strands of dacron and shoots 33-inch arrows of compressed cedar impregnated with plastic for extra weight and pointed with hand-sharpened heads.

The Michigan archery maker said before Negley even arrived in Africa he was sure he would win the bet.

Bear said Negley may travel to Grayling late in March to discuss the details of the hunt. Otherwise, there was no other information available on where the arrows hit and how the animals reacted.

Dove Top Game Bird

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The champion game bird of the United States, statistically speaking, won its title despite a considerable handicap. In more than a third of the states the mourning dove is considered to be about as much of a game bird as a canary.

Yet in the 29 states where it is hunted, the mourning dove bag annually is something like 50 per cent greater than the number of ducks of all species killed in all states.

Like ducks, the dove is a migratory bird and hence under federal supervision. And also as in the case of ducks, the federal authorities permit a season in any state but with the same proviso — the states can't liberalize federal regulations, but they can further restrict them.

And they do. The restrictions range from a simple closed season to the inclusion of the mellow-voiced traveler on the lists of song birds.

This double life of the dove creates considerable unhappiness among the people who esteem him —either as part of the scenery, as a wonderfully difficult target or as a tasty broiled morsel.

In the northern states, where most of the protection is exercised, hunters wail for a chance at the feathered missile which keeps the gun barrels of their comrades in the South too warm to touch during the season.

And on the other hand, in some of the states where dove shooting is a major sport, there are constant movements afoot to close the season.

California—second in dove harvest tabulations, trailing Texas but leading Georgia, Florida, Alabama and Mississippi — currently is in the midst of such a controversy.

While many game bird populations are declining, the continental dove population remains high, and in the words of the U.S. Bureau of Wildlife, "can support present hunting pressure and probably additional pressure."

Hunting doves, however, does not necessarily mean bagging doves, as converts to the sport discover in their first try at pass shooting.

Rice, Maryland and Clemson will replace Southern Methodist, Pittsburgh and Tennessee on the 1957 Duke football schedule.

Who's on 1st for NY?

Casey Studies 3 Hopefuls

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (INS)—The annual "who's on first" game played by the New York Yankees won't be too involved a contest this spring.

Casey Stengel, who usually has six to eight candidates for first base, says — at the moment — that he is considering three hopefuls, Bill Skowron, Joe Collins and Marv Throneberry.

Skowron, the regular first sacker for most of last season, batted a commendable .308 in 134 games and hit 23 homers while driving in 90 runs. Collins, the veteran "reserve," was used at first, in the outfield and as a pinch-hitter.

The master platooner has informed the world that he has big plans if the 23-year-old Throneberry can make the varsity.

"If the young feller (Throneberry) wins first base I can shift Skowron to third. That'll give me Mantle and Berra and some more long ball hitting at first and third," the manager said.

Skate Singles on Tap Today

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., (INS)—Men's compulsory figures competition and women's free skating, both singles events, highlight today's session of the world's figure skating championships at Colorado Springs.

A 21-year-old Colorado Springs student, David Jenkins, is favored to win the singles crown as men cut the ice for the first time in tourney competition.

Carol Heiss of Ozone Park, N.Y., was well on her way to a second title after capturing the women's compulsory event yesterday. The 17-year-old defending champion totalled 777.4 points which count toward 60 per cent of the final tally. Free skating comprises the remaining 40 per cent.

Top Area Matmen in Final Matches

Oakland County's two top wrestling teams conclude their regular season schedules tonight and Friday in tuneups for the forthcoming regional tournament.

Berkley, smarting from a recent defeat by Hazel Park, hopes to end hostilities with a 9-2 record by whipping Port Huron in a home battle set for 7:30 tonight.

Hazel Park can wrap up its campaign successfully by repeating a trouncing of Melvindale in the season opener.

MVC Seeks Truth About Cage Gambling Charges

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The Missouri Valley Conference has called a meeting of its committee on officials to investigate rumors linking a basketball referee to gamblers.

"We have found no truth to any of the rumors," declared the Rev. Charles L. Sanderson of St. Louis University, president of the conference.

"It seems impossible to pin down the rumors. We are running into stone walls and we don't know where all of this will lead."

The Des Moines Register reported last week Minneapolis gamblers were suspicious of basketball games worked by one Missouri Valley referee. The newspaper reported the gamblers suspected the official of using his whistle to control the point margin by which games were won, thereby setting up betting coups.

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Ross Childs of Michigan leads the Western Intercollegiate Hockey League goalies' race with 2.9 goals per game in seven contests.

Bob McManus of Michigan Tech with 3.3 in 16 games is third.

Detroiter Scores 2 KO's to Reach Gloves Finals

CHICAGO (AP) — Two free-swinging heavyweights stopped two opponents each last night for the right to clash in the finals of the Golden Gloves Tournament of Champions next Wednesday.

They are Joe Hemphel of Rockford, Ill., and Osee Groom of Detroit.

Hemphel, 20, was a European all-service champion in 1954 and 1955 while in the U. S. Air Force. He knocked out Jerry Buchanan, Kansas City, and Ben Marshall of Tulsa. A sizzling left to the stomach stopped Marshall in the second round.

Groom stopped Lee Cotillier of Fond Du Lac, Wis., and James O'Keefe of Louisville.

Their bout will be a rematch. Groom defeated Hemphel in the quarter-finals of the National AAU matches last year.

Twelve knockouts featured the 42 amateur boxing matches that disposed of the quarter-finals and semi-finals of the heavyweight, light heavy, middleweight, welterweight and lightweight divisions.

Detroit has 9 points, Grand Rapids 12, one back of Kansas City and Kenosha, Wis.

Tigers Refuse to Trade Tuttle

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)—The Detroit Tigers today turned down a trade proposed by the Cleveland Indians which would send outfielder Bill Tuttle to the Indians for one-time Tiger pitcher Art Houtteman.

John McHale, director of player personnel for Detroit, said Hank Greenberg of the Indians had suggested the trade after failing in earlier efforts to lure catcher Frank House from Detroit.

"He's (Greenberg) real honest, anyway," McHale said. "He starts right off by telling you he's going to get the better of the deal. We just sit here and try to figure out a way to break even."

McHale said he expects to talk contract today with newly-wed Billy Hoeft, the Tigers' finest southpaw since the days of Prince Hal Newhouser.

Hoeft was expected in camp today. He was married in Bethesda, Md., Monday.

McHale said Hoeft is "due for a pretty good raise. He may well want more than we're thinking about giving him, though."

Hoeft received about $22,000 last season when he won 20 games. That's the most victories by a Tiger lefthander since Newhouser.

McHale said he expects no serious trouble in signing Hoeft or any of the three other unsigned Tigers—Gil Coan, Ed Robinson and Roy Hawes.

Last year the Tigers had two definite holdouts — Harvey Kuenn and Earl Torgeson. Neither were signed when the camp officially opened.

Don Lund's "stripes" edged Billy Hitchcock's "Blacks" 2-1. Hal Woodshick, Jack Crimian and Larry Donovan worked for the winners, giving up five hits.

Crimian, obtained from Kansas City, showed a good slider as he yielded two hits and no runs in three innings. Donovan, from Ionia, allowed one hit and no runs in the two innings he worked.

Triple Tie for 1st in Waterford Loop

Davis Machinery of Ortonville handed Philgas a 57-50 setback last night at Isaac Crary Junior High to throw the Waterford League basketball race into a three-way tie for 1st place.

Philgas, Davis Machinery and Drayton Drug are now deadlocked for the lead in the topsy-turvy title chase with 10-3 records. The hectic campaign ends next week.

Davis led Philgas all the way, although the margin was always slim. Bob Mills collected 22 points for the winners while Bob Hobson topped Philgas with 18.

Racing Group May Drop Tropical Track

NEW YORK (INS) — Tropical Park, already being investigated by the Flordia state racing commission, faces the possibility today of being expelled from the Thoroughbred Racing Associations.

TRA president James D. Stewart announced last night that the TRA's board of directors discussed Feb. 21 the question of continuing Tropical's membership in the organization.

He said it was decided then that a special board meeting would be called at the end of the Flordia commission hearing. Steward said the special meeting would consider whether to cancel Tropical's TRA membership.

Calumet made it four yesterday when Amoret annexed the $36,600 Black-Helen Handicap in the mud. That tied the record of four set in 1955 by Hasty House Farms.

Shaw's, Griff's Rule Again

The adult City League basketball season officially closes tonight and the campaign is ending just the way it began — with Shaw's Jewelers in front of the American division pack and Griff's Grill heading the National loop.

Griff's wrapped up the National division title last night with a 67-54 victory over Bestway at Pontiac High. Ron Woodhull fired 24 points for the Grill quintet and Bestway's Gene Spangler matched that number.

Shaw's walloped the Lakeside Royals, 78-46, for its 13th consecutive win. Don Quayle led the Jewelers with 17 points while Jim Pembroke notched 13 for the Royals.

Class D action, which has one more week to go, saw the Celtics turn back the Northerns, 39-31; Central Christian trim Coca Cola, 33-22, and the Doodlebugs gain a forfeit triumph from the Blue Devils.

Shaw's meets Boys Club tonight at 7 o'clock in the Pontiac High gym in the final game of the regular season schedule.

Late Syracuse Bid Hits Knicks' Hopes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The late drive of the Syracuse Nationals not only has all but eliminated the New York Knickerbockers from the race in the National Basketbal Assn. but also threatened Philadelphia's hold on second place in the Eastern Division.

The Nats chalked up their sixth victory in their last seven games last night with a 108-93 victory over St. Louis to move within a half-game of Philadelphia. At the same time they stretched their margin over the last place Knicks to 2½ games with the end of the season only two weeks away.

Giants Short on Catchers After Heart Attack Ends Sarni's Playing Career

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Baseball today faced a long list of problems a day before the opening of spring training — and chief among them was a catcher for the New York Giants.

Staggered by the sudden ending of Bill Sarni's active career because of a heart attack, the Giants were appraising a list of available receivers of major league caliber to bolster their weak backstopping corps. Cincinnati's hard-hitting Forrest Smoky Burgess was reported to be the No. 1 choice.

Other major league clubs, including the world champion New York Yankees, were faced with an annual problem — unsigned stars.

Sarni's four-year major league career was ended yesterday when doctors said the 29-year-old catcher had suffered a heart attack in Monday's opening workout.

Giant President Horace Stoneham said that Sarni likely will be kept on as a coach to insure his getting a five-year pension. He is two thirds of a year shy of qualifying.

Burgess—often traded verbally, but still a Redleg—was being sought by New York as a first-string catcher. The Giants now are down to two, the veteran Wes Westrum and Bob Schmidt, a rookie from Dallas of the Texas League. Most often mentioned as becoming a Redleg is pitcher Ruben Gomez.

The Yankees signed Tommy Byrne, the veteran left-hander, and infielder Bill Skowron — but Don Larsen remained unsigned. He is reportedly seeking $23,000, about a 50 per cent raise over his 1956 salary.

The Boston Red Sox had five headaches — outfielders Jim Piersall and Gene Stephens, infielders Ted Lepcio and Billy Klaus and catcher Sammy White. Ted Williams and Mickey Vernon reported to camp and pitcher Rudy Minarcin agreed to terms.

Philadelphia collared fleet Richie Ashburn. Pitcher Art Houtteman signed with the Cleveland Indians.

THE BAD NEWS—Manager Bill Rigney of the New York Giants tells newsmen that catcher Bill Sarni has suffered a heart attack. At the dugout conference at Phoenix, Ariz., Rigney said Sarni's playing career is over.

Middlecoff Missing as Rouge Open Begins Play

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — National Open champion Cary Middlecoff was absent today as the $15,000 Baton Rouge Open got underway on a discordant note.

The fidgety ex-dentist from Memphis, now playing out of Dallas, claimed he was "tired and underweight." His next start, he said at his Memphis home, would be in the St. Petersburg, Fla., Open, the next stop on the winter tour.

Tournament officials said Middlecoff had signed a commitment indicating he would enter the sixth annual 72-hole affair here. A PGA committee will study the matter and ask Middlecoff why he didn't enter.

Four players already have been fined, tourney spokesmen said, under a new system for regulating tournament play. Two were fined for failing to play at Los Angeles, one for throwing a golf club and another for using profane language.

A host of top golfers, including the winners in the eight previous events of the winter tournament trail, will be shooting at the favorites, Jay Hebert, Doug Ford and Arnold Palmer.

Logart Wants Shot at Title

NEW YORK (AP) — Isaac "Kid" Logart thinks it's about time a new face in boxing got a crack at the welterweight title now held by Carmen Basilio. The "Keed" from Camaguey, Cuba, no shrinking violet, nominates one Isaac Logart for the honor.

"For nearly last three years Johnny Saxton, Tony DeMarco and Carmen Basilio, fight among themselves for the title," said the 23-year-old contender from Kid Gavilan's old hometown. "Nobody else gets chance. That's no good.

"Now Basilio he beat Saxton two out three and DeMarco two straight. He thinks he clean up welterweights and wants to fight winner of middleweight title fight between Gene Fullmer and Ray Robinson.

"I not want to keep Basilio from big payday but he can make big one with me," added Logart.

"We will guarantee Basilio $50,000 to fight Logart and he can name the place — including his hometown of Syracuse," chimed in Manager Eddie Mafuz.

Northern Michigan Accepted by NCAA

MARQUETTE (AP) — Northern Michigan College has been accepted as a member of the National Collegiate Athletic Assn., athletic director C. V. (Red) Money said Wednesday.

"NCAA membership will give Northern Michigan's athletic program a great boost," said Money. The college has a new $1,400,000 field house scheduled for completion by the fall of 1958.

Money said the college would continue its membership in the National Assn. of Intercollegiate Athletics, the small college counterpart of the NCAA.

Calhoun Wins Split Verdict Over Cotton

DENVER (INS)—Rory Calhoun of White Plains, N. Y., won a close split decision over Charley Cotton of Toledo, O., last night in 10 fast rounds nationally-televised from Denver.

Both judges scored for Calhoun, 48-43 and 49-46, but referee Ray Keech disagreed and gave the nod to Cotton, 48-47.

Calhoun, at 160 pounds, scored heavily with stiff jabbing and a relentless body attack. The winner was cut over the left eye early in the bout and in the ninth suffered a cut on the left cheek.

Cotton, who weighed 155½, was unmarked. There were no knockdowns. The win was Calhoun's 26th and second over Cotton.

Sets Bronco Record, but Loyola Is Victor

KALAMAZOO (AP) — Jack Smith's 12 points gave him a Western Michigan individual scoring record last night as the Broncos went down to an 88-66 defeat by Loyola University of Chicago.

Smith's output boosted his three-year total to 1,110 points. The previous record of 1,099 was set by Don Bovin in a four-year period ending in 1949.

Viking Matmen Win

Hazel Park romped to its 4th straight wrestling victory and the 9th of the season yesterday with a convincing 41-11 walloping of Davison as seven different Vikings scored pins. Top performers were 95-pound Ruford Black and Ron Pierce, 133, who are unbeaten in 12 matches, and Bruce Porter, 133. Porter won in 33 seconds.

'1-2 Punch' in Finale

Scoring Crown at Stake

STATE COLLEGE, Miss. (AP) — The greatest one-two punch in college basketball lands its final blows tonight when surprising Mississippi State invades Mississippi for the game that could settle the national scoring championship.

State staggered 16 of 24 opponents with the spectacular scoring power of senior guard Jim Ashmore and sophomore forward Bailey Howell, who have combined to average 53.7 points per game.

But the fearsome pair breaks up after tonight's season-ending game with the graduation of Ashmore, a set shot and drive-in artist who has scored 1,881 points for State. He ranked sixth nationally in the latest figures with an average of 28 points per game this year.

State was picked to finish near the bottom of the Southeastern Conference this year, with Ashmore's one-man show not enough to overcome the multi-pronged offenses of other teams.

Then Coach Babe McCarthy plucked Howell from the talent graduating from the freshman team and promptly set the SEC on its ear.

Misfired Raid Brings Probe

Search for Evidence of Sources for Stories in Scandal Magazines

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Conflicting versions of a raid that misfired are in the record as a State Senate committee continues today its search for the sources of sensational stories appearing in scandal magazines.

Marilyn Monroe was the objective of the raid, in which investigators invaded the wrong apartment. But most of the testimony in yesterday's opening session concerned this point: Did Frank Sinatra actually take part in the fiasco?

The issue never was resolved. Also left unanswered were these questions:

How did the raiding party happen to smash the wrong door at a small apartment house where Marilyn was helping a girl friend wash dishes?

Why did Joe DiMaggio, the famed home run slugger, insist upon the raid two weeks after Miss Monroe had divorced him?

And was Sinatra merely a reluctant chauffeur for DiMaggio or an active participant in the raid?

Sinatra led yesterday's parade of witnesses before the hearing, called originally to investigate the methods of some collection agencies.

The inquiry was expanded, however, after Confidential magazine printed the story of the raid. The committee wants to know if some private detectives have sold their investigation reports to the so-called scandal magazines.

Philip Irwin, a private investigator, followed Sinatra to the stand and labeled the crooner's testimony false. Sinatra had said that he only drove DiMaggio to the general area of the apartment house and waited in the car while the raiders practically scared an innocent tenant out of her mind.

Will Close Post Office

BENNETT, N.M. (AP)—This little southeastern New Mexico community is losing its postoffice. The postmistress, Mrs. Doris H. Rose, resigned because of ill health and the Post Office Department figured it would be $1,289.23 a year cheaper to put Bennett's 98 population on a star route and close the postoffice.

Fined for Drunk Flying

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP)—For drunk and reckless flying over San Francisco's International Airport, Lester E. Trapeur was fined $500, put on probation and forbidden to pilot a plane for two years. He pleaded guilty in Municipal Court.

Will Teddy Be Forced to Give Back $32,000?

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—I hustled around asking a few questions of one of those famous Quiz Kids—Theodore Nadler.

It wasn't any fun. The little $70-a-week St. Louis laborer with the photographic memory was in danger of blowing a fortune for speaking one word too much.

TEDDY

"I should have kept my mouth shut—I talk too much," he was muttering backstage at "The $64,000 Challenge," where he with his eighth grade education had been knocking off Ph.D's.

Viewers were phoning in that, though he'd supposedly defended his title on the show, he'd actually erred when he said Beethoven's Fourth was in B-flat minor.

"The guy has only got to say B-flat and that's enough — but he says B-flat minor and they start phoning in saying it was B-flat major," a fellow explained.

"They're being pretty technical if you ask me," said Teddy Nadler, leaning against the door in the only suit he brought to New York.

"What'll you do?" I asked Steve Carlin, owner of the show.

"It's a wonder we have any linings left in our stomach," he answered.

"We'll play the kinny back to see what was said. Then we'll ask our music authority — Leonard Bernstein whether the answer was wrong.

"If it was," he shrugged, "then Dr. Gore" — Dr. Richard D. Gore of Wooster College — "is the champ in music and we'll continue to play out the baseball and civil war categories. But we won't throw any more challengers in at him."

Teddy Nadler looked at the $32,000 check he'd got that night, a little gloomily, seeming to wonder if he'd have to give it back. Then he joined a few friends and went to Lindy's where the gossip was that he was an amazing little man completely without small talk or anything at all to say.

GOP Prospects Better in Texas

Bill to Require Runoff Between Top Men Lost; Dem Vote Badly Split

DALLAS (AP) — Republican chances of recapturing control of the U.S. Senate by winning Texas' special senatorial election were considerably brighter today after the State Senate in Austin virtually killed a bill designed to insure a Democratic victory.

Thad Hutcheson of Houston, the lone GOP candidate in the 12-man April 2 election, said he considered the Senate action had killed the bill. He called it a "victory for the people of Texas over political bosses."

The Senate's action was a refusal to suspend the rules to take up a measure by Rep. Joe Pool of Dallas. Pool's bill would require a runoff election between the top two candidates if no candidate gets a majority over his combined opposition.

The bill was almost unanimously supported by Democratic leaders, who fear their party's votes would be split among the large Democratic field, enabling Hutcheson to win with his virtually solid GOP backing. Under present state law, the high man wins in a special election.

A victory by Hutcheson could mean reorganization of the U.S. Senate under Republican control. It would give the GOP 48 seats to 48 for the Democrats and Vice President Nixon could cast the tie-breaking vote.

Democrat William Blakley is serving as interim senator pending the election. He was appointed by former Gov. Allan Shivers to fill Price Daniel's seat when Daniel resigned to become governor.

Suggests Carpenters Use Rubber Hammers

BRIGHTON, Colo. (AP) — Dist. Judge Christian D. Stoner halted a murder trial yesterday and asked his bailiff to "tell those carpenters to pound quietly."

"I have a rubber hammer I'll bring tomorrow."

Leigh, Olivier in H'wood for Movie Conferences

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Sir Laurence Olivier and his wife, actress Vivian Leigh, are in town for six days of conferences on two movies in which they will costar later this year.

Upon arrival yesterday, Olivier said Marilyn Monroe, with whom he did "The Prince and the Showgirl" in England, is "very easy to work with, but she was a very sick girl all the time, poor kid. I think she was suffering from exhaustion."

Hollywood Headlines

Wayne Morris Is Hoping Career Will Bloom Again

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Wayne Morris is getting set to play a deep-dyed heavy, and he hopes that it will end a three-year frost on his Hollywood career.

Morris leaves soon for Munich where he'll appear with Kirk Douglas, Ralph Meeker and Adolphe Menjou in "Paths of Glory" for Douglas' Byrna Productions. It's the story of the French army in World War I, and Morris plays a cowardly lieutenant.

It appears he is taking his new role seriously. He is grizzled with a beard of several days' growth.

"A lot of the men wore beards in that period," he explained. "So they told members of the cast to grow 'em, just in case they're needed."

Wayne is more than eager to cooperate. He's counting on the part to revive his career.

"I'm 43 now and I've got to make the transition from leading men into characters," he said. "This might do it for me."

He spoke frankly about his career and admitted it had not been flourishing in recent years. He's a native Angeleno and was signed by Warners in 1935 a month before he graduated from the Pasadena Playhouse.

He was hailed as a sensation when he appeared as "Kid Galahad" with Bette Davis. He was one of Warners' busiest actors in the '30s.

"I went into the Naval Air Corps a year before the war began," he said, "and I didn't get out until 1945. That was a big chunk out of my career.

"When I came back, I signed with Warners again. Then I didn't do a picture for 13 months. I was six years off the screen!"

After four years, he left Warners and signed with Allied Artists.

"It was a sweet deal," he remarked. "I got good money and made four pictures a year. Some of them gave me a percentage of the profits and I'm still getting checks from them.

"Despite all this, the Allied Artists deal wasn't good for me. The other producers pigeon-holed me as an Allied Artists actor and I couldn't get jobs in big pictures."

In the last three years, Wayne has been able to pick up some pictures in England and has been hosting an adventure show on local TV. He lives with his wife and his two daughters on an avocado ranch at Fallbrook, near San Diego, and keeps a small house here for use when he's working.

Extremes in Urgency—No Water—Then Flood!

MOUNT STERLING, Ky. (AP) — Montgomery County High School closed Tuesday because of a water shortage in the city and nearly had to close yesterday because of a flood in its science room.

Someone opened the faucets while the water was off, then forgot to close them. When the water pressure was restored, basins overflowed and flooded the room.

French Gasoline Still Brews Potent Result

PARIS (INS)—The meager gasoline ration for French pleasure drivers has fanned the Gallic flair for ingenuity.

In Lille, a motorist who sought means to stretch his allotment, met with surprising results.

He prepared a mixture of 20 parts gasoline, 30 parts alcohol, and 50 parts ether; filled the tank and turned on the switch.

The engine head went through the hood AND the garage roof. The steering wheel was found in a tree. Miraculously, the modern "alchemist" was unhurt.

Collector Can't Take Conscience Money Tax

GREENSBURG, Pa. (AP)—Albert Booth, tax collector of Hempfield Township, reported yesterday a woman who hid her face came into his office, left an unmarked envelope containing $50 and a note which read:

"For conscience money tax of 1956."

Booth says there's no law permitting him to accept such funds and he's hoping the woman will come back for her money.

TOKYO (AP) — Tanzan Ishibashi, who resigned as Japan's prime minister Saturday because of ill health, entered a hospital today for a thorough checkup.

Queenly Feet Rest Content on Brass Rail

LONDON (AP)—Queen Elizabeth II relaxed contentedly in a front-row theater seat last night, put her feet up on the brass railing and joined the audience in some happy, unrestrained singing.

"Mud, mud, glorious mud . . . nothing quite like it for cooling the blood," roared the audience and the royal party. It was one of the zany songs from London's current hit, a two-man revue called "At the Drop of a Hat."

The young Queen—sitting with her husband and Earl and Lady Mountbatten — made no attempt to hide her delight. She slipped her blonde mink jacket off her shoulders, eased down into her seat and planted her black sandals firmly on the rail around the orchestra pit.

The Queen passed up the usual royal box high in the theater and chose regular front-row seats instead.

DDT Plant for India

Wait for Spring to Do the Job

Sidewalk Repairs Up to Owner

If you have a cracked sidewalk in front of your home, or have blocked sewers, it's your responsibility, and not the city's to correct them, T. B. Robertson, city sidewalk and sewer inspector, warned.

But he warned property owners not to attempt to have sidewalks repaired during freezing weather. "Wait until warmer weather," he advised.

If by chance someone stumbles on that broken, raised, or lowered sidewalk section, you are liable for damages, and not the city, Robertson said.

You have two alternatives to sidewalk repairing. You can do the work yourself, or hire a licensed sidewalk contractor. If you do it yourself, all you need is a permit from the city's Building Inspection Dept. The contractor must also take out a permit.

"There are many sidewalks throughout the city that need repair," the inspector said. The city repairs many badly damaged sidewalks and bills the owner for the work.

Property owners have the responsibility of clearing out blocked sewers from the main line to the house, Robertson said. "We care for all mains and the rest is their responsibility," he said.

Sewer cleaners must also be licensed and take out a permit.

City ordinance number 923 prohibits any individual, other than licensed sewer men, from "laying, altering, or repairing" any city sewers. "This doesn't prevent him from cleaning the sewer by running a plumber's cable through it," Robertson explained.

He said the major difficulty causing stopped-up sewers are roots that break through the pipe.

Hunters Fair Game for Army Artillerymen

HOPKINSVILLE, Ky. (UP) — Dr. J. H. Young and his friends received a warm reception while hunting on the artillery range at Fort Campbell. Authorities who had given them permission to hunt had no idea the big guns would cut loose. But there was a change in the Army's plans. And the change in plans by Dr. Young & Company was immediate. They ran for cover just like the small game they had been hunting.

Oils, Aircraft Up Others Slip Little

NEW YORK (AP)—Some oils and aircrafts aroused buying interest as the stock market moved moderately higher early this afternoon.

Pivotal issues rose from fractions to a point for the most part. Some stocks made wider gains but there was also an assortment of losers.

The market was higher at the start and active. But turnover slackened and prices at mid-session were not at their best of the day.

Hopes for settlement of the Middle East problem seemed to buoy the list as a whole in early transactions but prices backed away later on news that the Asian, Arab and Soviet bloc countries would press for sanctions against Israel despite continuation of private talks in the United Nations and at Washington.

Republic Aviation was a feature on the upside on reports the air force plans to order mass production of the firm's newly-designed F-105 fighter bomber.

Moderate Drop on Grain Prices

CHICAGO (AP) — With demand restricted by uncertainty over the amount of cash grain which will be delivered on March futures grain prices declined moderately on the board of trade today.

There was no heavy pressure on the market and losses usually amounted to small fractions. Corn held up well after its weakness so far this week, partly on technical grounds. New crop soybeans were off most.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was ⅛ to⅝ lower, March $2.31¼, corn unchanged to ⅜ lower, March $1.27¼, oats ⅛ to ⅝ lower, March 74¼, rye ½ to 1 cent lower, March $1.34⅜, soybeans ½ to 1½ lower, March $2.42¾, and lard 7 to 10 cents a hundred pounds lower, March $14.57.

Export business was small overnight, being confined to purchasers of corn by Ireland. The Commodity Credit Corp. rejected all bids for its corn from exporters, a fact which helped stabilize corn in early dealings.

Hits Extension of Annual Wage

U.S. Chamber Official Says Act Would Have Inflationary Effect

WASHINGTON (AP) — A spokesman for the U. S. Chamber of Commerce said today the proposed extension of the minimum wage law to cover some retail and service employes "will have an inflationary impact."

Eugene B. Sydnor Jr., of Richmond, Va., president of a chain of department stores, told a Senate Labor subcommittee in prepared testimony that proposals to extend the coverage "are particularly untimely."

"In retailing, hourly earnings already are increasing at a faster rate than is productivity. In the period 1948-1956, real average hourly earnings increased at a rate of 3.1 per cent per year, whereas output per man-hour in retailing increased at a rate of only 2.5 per cent per year in the same period," he said.

The administration has proposed extending the minimum wage law to cover employes of large retail and service firms, and some other groups. This would bring an estimated additional 2½ million workers under the $1 minimum wage.

Sydnor said extending the coverage to large firms "will have sufficient indirect impact among the small stores to contribute to still more small business failures."

He said the smaller businesses would have to compete in the local labor market with covered businesses.

"This means that the uncovered businesses may also have to raise the wages of their employes to retain the type of employes they need," Sydnor added.

Mud Shuts School, Set Debate Tonight

Disturbed over the closing of Eastover School in Bloomfield Township Tuesday, due to a reported impassable road, members of the school's Parent-Teacher Organization have called a mass meeting for 8:30 tonight in Bloomfield High School to seek a remedy.

According to Mrs. Robert Clark, a PTO member, the parents will seek aid in improving Westview Road between Adams and Squirrel roads., which she described as a "sea of mud."

Mrs. Clark said several parents using the school for a Cub Scout pack meeting Monday evening were unable to drive away and had to have their cars towed out.

Expected at the meeting tonight are Superintendent of Schools Eugene Johnson; Principal William McGuire; township officials, and a representative of the Oakland County Road Commission.

Rail Heads See Bright Prospect

Statesmanship Needed for Private Ownership to Develop Systems

ANN ARBOR (AP) — William R. Main of New York, director of passenger service of the New York Central Railroad system says the future is "bright for railroad passenger service, provided it remains under private ownership."

"But," Main told the third Michigan Railroad Management seminar at the University of Michigan yesterday, "governmental agencies must show statesmanship in handling the long-rang problems of transportation."

Seventy-seven railroad and industrial traffic officials from Michigan, Ohio, Illinois, Indiana, and New York are attending the two-day conference, sponsored by the Michigan railroads and the University Transportation Institute.

David E. Smucker of Dearborn, Mich., President of the Detroit, Toledo & Ironton Railroad said "there's a fine future for railroad freight service."

"The roads now are recovering a large percentage of steel tonnage that used to move by truck," Smucker said.

Anthony F. Arpaia of Washington, a member of the Interstate Commerce Commission said:

"Railroads have a brilliant future, provided they take the leadership in developing a co-ordinated system of transportation."

Pilot Hungry After 5 Nights in Remote Area

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—"Hungry" was Richard (Mickey) Dunbaden's principal reaction to being stranded four days and five nights in the remote northern Arizona flatlands after an airplane crash landing.

"I drank out of mud puddles but I didn't have anything to eat the entire four days," the 23-year-old student flier said after he was rescued yesterday and flown here.

Hot soup attracted the flier almost as much as the reunion with his wife, Gail. He is a Bonanza Airlines mechanic here and his troubles developed while he was on his first cross-country solo flight, from Las Vegas to St. George, Utah, last Friday.

He said he got lost and crash-landed his single-engine light plane near Tuweep, Ariz., a spot on the map in the desolate country west of the Grand Canyon. He escaped serious injury, but his plane was badly damaged, Dunbaden related.

Yesterday a search plane spotted Dunbaden. The pilot dropped a note telling him to stay where he was. He waited until a posse reached him.

City Man Gets Sentence for Indecency With Girl

Municipal Judge Cecil McCallum sentencer Davis Fletcher, 25, of 201 Nebraska St., to 50 days in jail Wednesday after he was found guilty of an indecency charge involving a 12-year-old girl.

Fletcher was arrested by Pontiac Police Tuesday after a complaint was signed by the child's mother. He was given the longer term after he failed to pay $100 with a 30 day sentence.

Relations Better, Says Mansfield

Notes Less Bitterness Over Partisan Policy Previously Charged

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont) said today there has been a "marked turn for the better" in relations between Secretary of State Dulles and some Democratic senators who have complained of a lack of bipartisanship in foreign policy.

Mansfield, assistant Senate Democratic leader, attributed this in part to daily telephone calls Dulles has been making to Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the majority leader, to keep Johnson abreast of developments in the Israel-Egypt crisis.

The Montana senator added in an interview that due to the efforts of Dulles, Johnson and Sen. Knowland of California, the Republican leader, "a better feeling exists between the two branches of government and the prospects for a better sense of responsible cooperation may well be one of the fortunate aspects of the unfortunate happenings of the last few weeks."

Sen. Bush (R-Conn) told the Senate yesterday there had been "saveage and intemperate attacks" on Dulles. He also spoke of apparent "tactics of delay" in considering the administration's Middle East resolution.

Mansfield said bipartisan conferences with President Eisenhower and with Dulles had gone a long way toward washing out complaints by Democrats that members of their party were not being consulted in the formation of policy.

5 Other Appointments Confirmed

Blackford Gets 30-0 Vote as Liquor Control Head

LANSING (AP)—Frank Blackford, controversial chairman of the State Liquor Control Commission, is sure of his job until Dec. 15, 1958, at least as far as the State Senate is concerned.

He was confirmed for another 22 months in the position he has occupied since 1954 when opposition collapsed yesterday in the Senate.

Approval came on a vote of 30 to 0, with three Senators, all majority Republicans, failing to answer the roll call.

Last year and in 1955, the Senate sat on its hands when Blackford's reappointment was sent up by Gov. Williams, although he was confirmed once before that. The effect was to let him continue to serve.

Last summer, the Senate investigated his agency but turned up nothing of consequence. In recent weeks, there was grumbling from some Senators that he was too "political" in the handling of his job, too "strict" or that his personality left something to be desired.

SQUELCHES BRIBE

On Monday, two alleged bribers approached Blacford in his office with an offer of $1,000 to help get them a liquor license. They were promptly arrested and jailed.

Several Senate members agreed that the incident had the effect of silencing the opposition to the $9,000 a year appointee, once an aide to the governor.

There was no discussion or debate when Blackford's name came up, nor was there any when the Senate approved Kenneth J. Daniels of Jackson as a liquor commission member and rejected Joseph J. Pernick of Detroit as a commissioner hearing examiner.

Gov. Williams said he was "grateful" about Blackford's approval. He called him an "outstanding" public servant.

"It's incomprehensible to me why Joe Pernick was not also confirmed," the governor added.

Sen. John B. Swainson of Detroit, Democratic minority leader and a law partner of Pernick, said he believed that some Senators who wanted to vote against Blackford but felt this was politically inexpedient "took it out on Pernick."

Pernick was appointed last July as successor to Frank S. Szymanski, named state auditor general by Williams.

Swainson said he had been "criticized from both sides," by the Detroit police because he was too lenient with liquor licenses and by the licensees because he was too "harsh" in assessing penalties for liquor law infractions.

Clinton B. Fitch of Lansing to be a member of the Electrical Administrative Board; and Dr. Robert F. Willson, Detroit, Dr. F. M. Lamoreaux, Grand Rapids, and Nyle Katz, Marshall, all as members of the State Board of Veterinary Examiners.

'Leave' Papers Help Sailors to Stay—Alive

NEW YORK (AP) — Patrolman Walter Lynch pleaded with a 19-year-old Navy seaman to come down off a girder of Manhattan bridge, 100 feet above the pavement.

The pleas to Seaman James Casali didn't work.

Casali, who had threatened to jump to his death yesterday, automatically reached for his wallet and said, "I've got them right here."

Lynch, who had been within a few feet of the sailor, grabbed him and brought him to safety.

Casali gave no motive for his actions. He was taken to St. Albans Naval Hospital.

Stassen to Give Way to State Department?

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Herald Tribune said today it had learned that the State Department will take over Harold E. Stassen's disarmament division March 1, ending its brief existence as a separate branch of government.

A Washington dispatch to the newspaper also said that, despite the new status, Stassen will lead the U. S. delegation in the London disarmament talks beginning March 18 but will resign shortly thereafter, probably in the summer.

Stassen, it added, has told friends that he will pursue a political career after his resignation and is sticking by his ambition to run for governor of Pennsylvania.

Stassen and State Department disarmament sources were not available immediately for comment on the story.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Byrd Hits Spending Clause in Ike's Mideast Resolution

By ERNEST B. VACCARO

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Byrd (D-Va) said today President Eisenhower's Middle East resolution would open up "an entirely new area of spending" and cost American taxpayers "billions of dollars."

Byrd, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, urged support of a proposal to strip the resolution of a section that would give the President a virtually free hand in spending up to 200 million dollars in available funds on military and economic aid to Middle East nations.

In a speech prepared for Senate delivery, Byrd said he favored that part of the resolution expressing readiness to use U. S. military forces to resist any open Red aggression against a Middle East nation, if the President decides such action is necessary.

"But let us not initiate a superimposed program of economic aid that is of interminable duration and of indeterminate amount," Byrd added.

He said the language of the military-economic aid section of the resolution could be cited in the future as representing "the first step down a road from which we cannot turn back."

Saying Congress hasn't been given any indication where the money will be used, Byrd declared, "We could well afford to wait and insist upon a bill of particulars."

Meanwhile, Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-NJ) told newsmen the President will need "overwhelming support' from Senate Republicans to reject the amendment which would eliminate the military-economic aid provisions from the resolution.

The amendment is sponsored by Byrd and Senators Russell (D-Ga) and Stennis (D-Miss).

Eisenhower and Dulles have contended the aid and antiaggression provisions are both vital.

Wilson Clarifies Jupiter Remark

Explains Army Tests on Ballistic Missile Will Not Be Halted Yet

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Wilson says that "for the time being" testing "will go forward" on both the Army's Jupiter intermediate range ballistic missile and the Air Force's Thor IRBM.

Wilson said this last night in a statement intended to clarify his Tuesday news conference remark that the Jupiter project in effect "is canceled."

"Selection of the missile to be employed will be made at a later date," Wilson said.

The Army and Air Force have been racing to develop an operational missile capable of carrying a nuclear warhead to targets 1,500 miles away. The Army has conducted one successful test firing of the Jupiter. The Air Force's first test of its Thor failed.

Wilson's news conference statement about the Thor lit a new fire under the Army-Air Force rivalry, and the Army yesterday put out a statement saying that "headline stories stating that the Jupiter is canceled are misleading." The Army said no decision had been made.

After the Army had complained to Wilson, the defense secretary said formally that "perhaps" his statements about the Jupiter "had been somewhat misinterpreted." He said he had "intended to convey" that only one IRBM will be considered for operational use.

He said the "previously contemplated program of producing two missiles had been changed with the cancellation of one from the program, and further that the Air Force would be responsible for planning the production and employment of the final missile."

Network Boasts 2 Top-10 Shows

New Hitchcock Series Will Feature 40 Hours of Drama

By JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK (INS)—Gleason's return to a "live variety show this season lost the Fat One $1,000,000 in residual rights from the films he abandoned...Many of Gleason's staff are looking around for next-season jobs already...

"Perry Mason," an hour-long mystery spectacular, may get the Gleason time...

The ABC-TV network is even hotter than people think—"Wyatt Earp" No. 3 in February's Trendex top 10, giving it two programs in that exclusive club ...(The other's Disneyland, of course)...

NBC has only one, Perry Como (tied for fourth and fifth places) who nudged Gleason clear out of Trendex' top 25 and then some.

Alfred Hitchcock's fabulous new NBC series will feature 40 hour-long dramas, 10 of which the master of malevolence will personally produce and direct. Ten of the others will be turned out by a film of which Hitch is major owner...

All of this does not finish the "Alfred Hitchcock Presents" half-hours so successfully tripping over high Trendex ratings each week at CBS-TV.

WHICH NETWORK?

A new "Gisele Mackenzie Show" has been bought by an ad agency. Now the only problem is—which network gets it?

The raiding season is on—looks as if NBC will get "Rin Tin Tin," but Lawrence Welk probably will stay at ABC—with a neat raise caused by NBC's highly negotiable interest.

You're on Your Own" goes off TV March 16 despite rising ratings...

"Closeup," Tex and Jinx' new afternoon NBC-TV interview show, seems to be trying to out-lens Mike Wallace's "Nightbeat,"...

Its closeups are consistenly more intimate and visually revealing, but questions aren't...Outside of a few swipes at cautious sensationalism, the queries drip sweetness but little light...

MOST TRANSPARENT

"Hold That Note" is the most transparent quiz on TV...

Latest Nielsen report shows NBC-TV is No. 1 network in "average afternoon audiences."...and moving up nicely in other daytime shows...

One of NBC's interviewers, reaching too far for "the Mike Wallace effect," asked a famous artist is he were born legitimately...

E. R. Murrow's now-being-negotiated contract is on the line as a result of having his editorial knuckles rapped by his NBC bosses...

U. S. Coast Guard Court-Martials 2 Men for Fraud

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Coast Guard is court-martialing two guardsmen it charges tried to collect travel allowances for each other's wife after they started a wife swap.

Each couple had obtained an interlocutory divorce decree in Oakland, Calif., last May, using the same lawyer and the same plea—extreme cruelty.

Cmdr. R. R. Smith, Coast Guard district legal officer, said each man planned to marry the other's former wife.

Yesterday Boatswain's Mate 1C James H. Pritchard pleaded guilty to falsely claiming travel allowance for the former Mrs. Miller. He was fined $40 a month for six months and reduced to boatswain's mate second class.

Today engineman 1. C. William Miller faces the same charge. He wants to marry the former Mrs. Pritchard, Smith said.

The travel claims were made after Miller's transfer to Humboldt Bay life boat station and Pritchard's transfer to Fresno. Each put in a claim for travel allowance from Alameda, Calif., to his new station for a wife. The Coast Guard protested that neither was married at the time of the transfers.

Swedes Oust Israeli

STOCKHOLM (AP)—The Swedish Foreign Office announced today it has expelled an Israeli diplomat in connection with the trial of two Finnish citizens charged with spying against Egypt. A spokesman identified the Israeli official as Moshe Bar-or, an attache at Israel's legation here.

Oakland Planners to Meet in Detroit

Legal aspects involved in community planning will be one question posed today at a Regional Planning Commission conference in Detroit.

George Scrubb, director of the Oakland County Planning Commission, will head a three man panel of legal experts at 2 p.m. in the Veterans Memorial Building.

On the panel will be Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams; Hobart Taylor, chief of the Civil Division, Wayne County Prosecutor's Office, and Carl Forsythe, attorney for the city of Oak Park.

The Regional Planning Commission embraces Oakland and four other southeastern Michigan counties.

School Board Sets Waterford Meeting

A "thin agenda" is planned for tonight's regular Waterford Township school board meeting, according to William Shunck, superintendent.

A recommendation by the superintendent relative to replacement of teaching personnel for this school year and some requests for release from contracts and leave of absences will be presented.

Other main business to be transacted will be the financial report for the month of January.

State Savings Bond Quota Is $315 Million

Michigan's goal for sales of Series E and H United States Savings Bonds has been set at $315,000,000 for 1957, says Delmar V. Cote, state director for the Treasury's U.S. Savings Bonds Division.

The 1957 quota exceeds by approximately $2.2 million actual purchases of the two popular series by Michigan residents in 1956.
