U.S. Demands U.N. Force Israel to Withdraw

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (INS) The United States demanded today that the U. N. Security Council immediately call on Israel to withdraw its troops from Egypt.

U. S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge declared the 11-nation council has the "clear cut responsibility" to take action in the new Middle East crisis and secure the prompt withdrawal of Israeli forces behind their frontiers as soon as possible.

The council is taking up the new Middle East crisis today in an effort to prevent Israel's invasion of Egypt from erupting into all-out war.

President Eisenhower called for an urgent meeting of the nation body to consider the Israeli drive deep into Egyptian territory toward the Suez Canal.

The council already had been scheduled to meet at 3 p. m. to resume debate on Jordanian demands for U. N. sanctions against Israel for her Oct. 11 reprisal raid on Jordan.

U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold decided to intervene in the council discussion on Palestine after Israeli launched yesterday's invasion.

Meanwhile, the Western Big Three conferred on drafting a resolution to the council apparently calling for a cease-fire in Hungary and the withdrawal of Soviet troops.

The American, British and French ambassadors, along with other council delegates, also are considering possible "steps" to give fresh courage to the Hungarian freedom fighters and increase pressure on Russia to withdraw her troops.

As rumors spread through U.N. headquarters of an impending war in Palestine, Hammarskjold and Israeli representatives and with U. S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, British delegate Sir Pierson Dixon and French representative Bernard Cornut-Gentille.

U. S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge rushed out of the opening night of the Metropolitan Opera last night after receipt of the emergency message.

The new outbreak involved Israeli movements deep into the Sinai Peninsula inside Egypt.

An Israeli spokesman said the attack was in reprisal for Egyptian commando attacks which, he said, endangered Israeli land and sea communications.

There was general concern that the situation might have reached the breaking point and that the long-feared Arab-Israeli war was at hand.

Israeli Force Drives Into Egypt

TROOPS ON MOVE — Troops from Israel with trucks and armored cars halt "somewhere in the desert" enroute to an unknown destination in Egypt. Marilyn Quivers —From Fright— in Meeting Queen

LONDON (AP)—A nervous Marilyn Monroe was presented to Britain's Queen Elizabeth II last night and found the monarch a "very warm" person.

"She radiates a wonderful womanly essence and softness," said the actress.

The introduction came at the annual royal command performance where members of the royal family met a group of international film stars.

"How do you like living in Windsor?" the Queen asked Marilyn.

The startled actress blinked, said "What?" then hastened to add, "I thought we lived at Englefield Green."

"WE'RE NEIGHBORS"

"Oh, we're neighbors," said Queen Elizabeth, explaining that Englefield Green, where the actress and her husband, playwright Arthur Miller, have rented a large manor, is near Windsor Castle.

The Queen and the film star both 30, also chatted about the film Marilyn is making in England, "The Sleeping Prince."

Marilyn's nervousness was shared by other members of the movie group. Said veteran Joan Crawford: "I've never been so scared in all my life. Anyone want to buy a stomach cheap?"

Victor Mature reported he was so nervous he couldn't remember one thing the Queen said to him.

Pen 12-Hour Cease-Fire Ultimatum, Ready Plans to Take Over Canal

Security Council Orders Israel Withdrawal; Nasser Orders Total Mobilization to Resist Attackers in Sinai Peninsula

CAIRO (AP)—Egypt and Israel received a stern warning from Britain and France today to cease fighting in the Sinai Peninsula. The Western Powers threatened to occupy key positions in the Suez Canal zone unless there is a cease-fire within 12 hours.

The announcement come as Egyptian and Israeli forces were clashing deep within the Sinai Peninsula, which Israel invaded yesterday.

Prime Minister Eden said Britain and France have asked both sides to keep their forces 10 miles away from the canal.

At the same time, the United States asked the U. N. Security Council to order Israel to withdraw immediately from Egyptian territory.

Egyptian and Isaeli troops and airmen clashed deep within Egypt's Sinai Peninsula today. Egyptian President Nasser was reported to have ordered a general mobilization as the fighting looked more and more like war. Israel went on a war footing over the weekend.

Military spokesmen at Tel Aviv announced the capture of the Egyptian position of Qusaima, about 10 miles inside the Egyptian border and about 15 miles southwest of the El Auja demilitarized border area.

This action indicated the Israelis had struck at points scattered over a 70-mile front in their invasion of Egypt yesterday.

Earlier, a two-pronged attack from Kuntilla and the head of the Gulf of Oaqaba, far to the south, had been reported without confirmation to have driven almost across the peninsula to within 18½ miles of the Suez Canal.

A communique here said Egypt's counterattack "stopped completely" the Israeli advance. Military sources in Tel Aviv placed the Israeli columns at 30 to 60 miles from the canal.

A Cairo communique said the Egyptian air force shot down two Israeli aircraft, destroyed 12 Israeli armored cars and strafed Israeli troops.

These attacks were said to have taken place at El Themed, 30 miles inside Egypt from the Kuntilla jumpoff point, and against Israeli troops "before the Egyptian position at Qusaima."

The communique claimed Egyptians were engaged in "mopping up operations in the Sinai Peninsula."

Tel Aviv military spokesmen announced that the Israeli air force also had gone into action and had attacked Egyptian convoys.

Earlier, neutral diplomats in Israel had expressed the fear that if the fighting got into the air it would tip the balance toward all-out war. The Egyptian air force lately has been reinforced by the arrival of Soviet jet fighters and bombers. The Israeli air force has French jets.

Politics Reflect Crisis

Stevenson Hits Ike for Hiding 'Whole Truth'

BOSTON (AP) — Adlai Stevenson contended today that President Eisenhower has endangered the peace by withholding "the whole truth" about tragic developments abroad.

Stevenson cited the new crisis in the Middle East as an example.

He pursued this theme as he carried forward his final week's drive for votes with scheduled speeches in Maryland, New Jersey and Pennsylvania after a roaring reception last night in Boston's Mechanics Hall.

There, taking note of news that Israeli's military forces had struck across the Egyptian frontier toward the Suez Canal, the Democratic standard bearer said it was hard to speak "about today's ominous and confusing developments in the Middle East."

"But I must say this — and it is only to repeat what I have been saying throughout this campaign," he said. "The government in Washington has been telling us that all is well in the world, that there is peace, that there is — as the President announced only a few days ago — 'good news' from the Middle East.

"These reassurances — as today's news confirms — have been tragically less than the truth. The world we walk on is mined with trouble from Korea to the Straits of Gibraltar, and we're entitled to be trusted. "We've got to be trusted. We've got to be ready to meet our problems, to face them squarely and make the right decisions. How can we unless we are told the whole truth?

"Instead, during four years of critical history, we've been patted on the back and patted on the head and told that everything's all right. This is dangerous — dangerous to our very survival in a troubled world."

Americans Flee Hot War Area

But Many Are Stopped as Cairo Airport Is Closed to Traffic

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Fear of war in the Middle East today brought the hurried evacuation of hundreds of Americans from cities in the seething area.

Many poured into Beirut. Others arrived in Athens. They were expected to sit it out a few days to await developments following Israel's sudden strike into Egypt.

If the border situation goes back to normal, many are likely to return to their foreign residences. Otherwise, they probably will move on to places outside the Middle East.

The U. S. State Department urged Americans in nonessential positions to get out of Israel, Syria, Jordan and Egypt. They have not yet been advised to leave Lebanon. There are some 8,000 Americans in the four countries.

Some 400 American women and children were moving into Beirut from Syria and Jordan. Mostly families of men with U.S. diplomatic and relief missions, they were rushed from those areas by planes and automobiles.

A group of 61 American citizens landed at Athens aboard a U.S. military transport from Tel Aviv. They are relatives of U.S. operations missions members. A second group was expected later today.

Cairo's airport was closed to international traffic but U.S. authorities there pushed ahead with preparations to airlift American wives and children out of the Egyptian capital to Rome.

U.S. Embassy spokesmen in Tel Aviv said the American freighter Exermont had been ordered to stand by in Haifa Harbor for possible evacuation of Americans from Israel.

Ike, Top Aides Confer About Israeli Attack

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower conferred with top State Department advisers today on the crisis in the Middle East.

Called into this second White House emergency conference within 24 hours were Secretary of State Dulles, Undersecretary of State Herbert Hoover Jr. and Herman Phleger, legal adviser to the State Department.

Eisenhower had a meeting last night of military, diplomatic and intelligence agency officials. The White House announced afterward that the United States would stand by a 1950 pledge with Britain and France to aid any victim of aggression in the area.

Even as Eisenhower was talking with Dulles, the President's press secretary, James C. Hagerty, announced that Eisenhower had canceled plans for a flying campaign trip tomorrow to Texas, Oklahoma and Tennessee.

Hagerty said campaign plans were going on a "day-to-day" basis, and that he was unble to say whether Eisenhower would be able to carry out plans for a major political speech Thursday night in Philadelphia.

Eisenhower's whole schedule was being kept "flexible," Hagerty said, to give first priority to the situation resulting from the march by Israeli troops into Egyptian territory.

One of the callers whose appointment was placed on as-and-when basis was Edward T. Walles, American ambassador to Hungary. He presumably scheduled to report on the anti-Soviet uprising in Hungary.

Black Cats Blame Druids for Their First Black Eye

Pity the poor ole black cat!

What have these little, dark creatures done that they become the source of superstition on tomorrow's celebration of Halloween? And for that matter, the year round.

Why are they different from the grey and white or furry angora that adorns many a family home?

Well, Blacky, if you're still puzzled why all the world jumps to stay out of your path, blame it on the Druids, members of a Celtic religious order in France, England, and Ireland back in the medieval days.

They had you tagged as a desirable abode to deposit the souls of wicked sinners as they hoped to atone for their sins in this superstition ritual.

Because of this, the Druids believed that black cats were human beings who were transferred into animals for some misdeed.

Thus superstition took many forms, and later, cats were standard equipment for anyone who practiced witchcraft. Hence, the black cat trailing behind the long-haired witch eclipsing the moon on her broomstick.

For years, the black cat world has sought to ward off this tag of evil doing.

And on Halloween—the cats really jump to gather their sources to fight off the many mischievous "trick and treaters" who would love to get their hands on a black cat.

And kids, while you are having a time bobbing for apples and going from door to door, think of the little black cat in the neighborhood. It will be in hiding and exclaiming:

"Curses on the Druids. Why couldn't they have picked on someone else!"

Clouds to Dim Skies, Warmth to Linger

In downtown Pontiac last night the temperature dropped to 47. It rose to 70 at 2 p.m. today.

19 Debate Issues in State, County Contests

Candidates Trade Verbal Blows at Rally

By LAWRENCE S. MARTZ JR.

Nineteen candidates in next week's election traded verbal blows last night at a sparsely-attended political rally held by the League of Women Voters in Pontiac's Lincoln Junior High School.

The infighting, growing sharper as the election nears, climaxed last night in sharp exchanges between congressional candidates William S. Broomfield and Paul Sutton and Attorney General Thomas M. Kavanagh and his opponent, Richard C. Van Dusen.

Sutton, a Democrat, lashed out at U. S. foreign policy before an audience of 75, and called the current situation in Israel "the sputtering fuse of World War III."

"We can only pray that something will put out the fuse," Sutton said. But he implied such a happy ending would not be due to the Republican administration, which he said has made "an inconceivable mess" in the Middle East and "vacated moral principle" in its handling of Cyprus and the Suez crisis.

CITES CLASSROOM SHORTAGE

In a direct attack on Broomfield's federal aid position, Sutton said there is a current shortage of 375,000 classrooms in the United States.

"My opponent says we shouldn't ask for federal aid for education until we have found out we can't do the job ourselves.

"The time is long gone when we should realize that local and state agencies can't construct the schoolrooms we need."

Broomfield, speaking in rebuttal, told the audience:

"If you believe in federal aid as the answer to all our problems, don't vote for Bill Broomfield."

DULLES UNDER DEMS

He said Sutton has been criticizing Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, but pointed out Dulles held

Schedule Talk on Safety Group

Step Toward Formation Will Be Taken Nov. 8 at Birmingham

First step towards creation of an Oakland County Safety Council will be taken at 8:30 p.m., Nov. 8, at the Birmingham Community House.

Over 350 leaders from county communities have been invited to meet to start formation of such a group.

The invitations were issued by Gerald W. Shipman, executive secretary of the Michigan State Safety Commission, whose organization is campaigning all over the state for citizens' safety councils.

According to Clyle R. Haskill, chairman of the Pontiac Chamber of Commerce Safety Committee, plans for a county council here have been in the making over a year.

The need for action on the local level is evident from the 140 Oakland County traffic deaths last year, Shipman stated.

Greater effectiveness locally in the fields of safety engineering, education and enforcement result from such organizations, he said.

Shipman asked representatives to form committees in each county village, city and township for safety purposes.

The committees, in turn, would be helped by the county council, if formed, he explained.

Chairman of the formation meeting will be Mayor Howard K. Kelly of Royal Oak.

Politicos Await Farm Figures

Report of Latest Prices to Be Issued Today by Agriculture Dept.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department prepared for issuance today of a farm product price report which could add fuel to the final week's campaign battle for the farm vote.

The current report, one of a monthly series, is concerned with the level of prices farmers received for their products as of Oct. 15 and the level of prices which they paid for needed goods and services.

Its issuance comes amid political controversy over farm prices. President Eisenhower and Secretary of Agriculture Benson have been claiming that the farm price situation is looking up for the first time in over five years, thanks to Republican policies.

These claims are disputed by Adlai Stevenson and Sen. Estes Kefauver, Democratic candidates for president and vice president.

A similar report issued a month ago said farm prices declined about two-fifths of 1 per cent between mid-August and mid-September, but that the mid-September level was about 4.4 per cent above that at the start of the year and bout two-fifths of 1 per cent above that of mid-September 1955.

USUALLY DECLINE

In normal times—that is, when there is no war or other emergency demand—farm prices usually decline in the fall—the season for harvest and time of the year when crop and livestock supplies are at their peak.

Conversely, they tend to rise in the late winter and spring, seasons of declining supplies.

The monthly reports also give the department's calculation of the level of farm prices in relation to the parity price goal of farm programs. Parity is a standard for measuring farm prices declared by law to be fair to farmers in relation to their costs.

A month ago, farm prices were reported at 82 per cent of parity, unchanged from mid-August, but 2 per cent lower than a year earlier.

ROBERT LANGER

Appointment of Robert Langer, 27, former Army psychiatric social worker, as assistant director of the Pontiac Area United Fund and managing director of the Pontiac Community Chest was announced today by William B. Hartman, UF president.

Viennese-born, Langer fled with his parents from Austria in 1939 to Shanghai, where he lived until 1948. During the postwar period, he worked in China with the American Jewish Joint Distribution Committee assisting in refugee resettlement.

He came to this country in 1948, graduating from Brooklyn College in 1952 and earning a master's degree in social work at the Columbia University School of Social Work.

Langer worked with United Hias Services and the Stanford (Conn.) Community Council before entering the Army. He recently was separated from active duty at Ft. Gordon, Ga.

Langer is a member of the National Assn. of Social Workers and was a delegate to the association's first assembly.

He plans to live in Pontiac.

Nagy Promises 2-Party System

Calls on Russian Army to Get Out of Budapest Right Away

VIENNA (AP) — Premier Imre Nagy told the revolution-torn Hungarian nation today the one-party system imposed on the nation by the Communists has been abolished.

Nagy announced to the nation over Radio Budapest that he was calling on the Soviet army command in Budapest to begin the immediate evacuation of Russian troops from the city.

The announcement was broadcast. Throughout most of the morning, Radio Budapest had remained silent about developments in the capital. From other sources it was reported that fighting was continuing there, with the rebels seeking to evict the Russian troops.

Nagy said the Hungarian government would start at the earliest possible moment to negotiate with the Soviet government for complete withdrawal of the Russian army from Hungary.

A rebel-held radio at Miskolc said the street fighting erupted this morning. Reports from correspondents in the capital last night said some revolutionaries still were refusing to surrender their arms until the Russians leave.

Radio Budapest appealed to the capital's population "to be helpful" to the Russians in the promised withdrawal.

An earlier broadcast said the defiant young rebels in Budapest had reached an agreement with Premier Imre Nagy's government to lay down their arms by 9 a.m. and the Russians would leave within 24 hours.

Later the radio said "those armed groups which still are carrying out resistance should participate from 9 a.m. on, simultaneous with the cease-fire, in the re-establishment of calm and order."

The Budapest radio also called for all Communist party members in the city able to carry arms to assemble in party meeting places where new "protection units" were to be formed. This might mean the formation of a new Communist police force.

A broadcast also announced that all of Budapest's Danube River bridges "now can be used again by the population." The bridges had been under control of Russian units.

Doctors at University Clinic in Budapest estimated there were between 10,000 and 15,000 casualties—mostly wounded—in seven days of fighting.

Prof. Antal Babits, health minister in the new government, said reports up to two days ago from Budapest hospitals and clinics listed 3,500 casualties of whom 250 died. But he admitted this total was far below the actual figure.

Pepper Used in Wine

PARIS—Pepper was one of the earliest staple trading commodities between East and West. It came into Europe by the Ishmaelite caravans. It was prized as a stimulus to appetite, a preservative for meat, and as a medicine, being used in wine to ward off chest colds and in oil as an ointment.

30 Million Overpay Tax

WASHINGTON — During fiscal 1955 some 30,000,000 taxpayers paid too much federal income tax, either by overwithholding from pay checks or by over-estimation. Such overpayments accounted for $2,700,000,000 in refunds during the year.

had ordered general mobilization. There was no government confirmation.

Washington estimates are that 150,000 to 200,000 Israelis had been called up. Israel is believed capable of mobilizing an army of about 250,000.

Egypt, according to the estimates of outsiders, might be able to mobilize 500,000 men.

In a diplomatic aside to the general situation Egypt protested to Britain against the flight of two Canberra jet bombers over the Suez Canal area.

The protest followed reports from Port Said that Egyptian anti-aircraft guns had opened fire on unidentified planes high over the seaport.

Two mechanized Israeli columns crossed the border last night and advanced at least 75 miles into Egyptian territory. Israel said the expedition's purpose was to clean out bases of Egyptian commandos who have been raiding into Israel.

Iraq, Egypt's rival for leadership of the Arab world, offered troops to help the Egyptians. Iraqi forces already on the Jordan border could strike at Israel's northeast frontier at the opposite end of the country from the Egyptian front.

Sees Cure Soon for Common Cold

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — An official of the California State Health Department says science is close to control of the common cold.

Dr. Arthur C. Hollister Jr., chief of the Bureau of Acute Communicable Diseases, said the chief handicap to development of a cold vaccine is the many strains of virus involved in the cold.

"Many viruses appear in the laboratory when we start to take the common cold apart," Dr. Hollister told representatives of 150 southern California public health departments yesterday. "Where the polio vaccine had to deal with three strains, a cold vaccine may have to deal with as many as 10."

Mystery Treat Cards Pile Up

20,000 Will Be Ready to Receive Phone Calls on Halloween Night

Cards were still piling up in the Parks and Recreation office today from Pontiac school children seeking to qualify for tomorrow night's annual "Mystery Treat Contest."

Leonard T. Buzz, recreational director, estimated some 20,000 kids have indicated they would be home Halloween night awaiting the call from the city department.

The contest is sponsored by the department in cooperation with the Board of Education and the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The Jaycees contribute 67 prizes ranging from a new bicycle to radios, which go to the lucky children if their card is pulled in Wednesday night's drawings.

Buzz added yesterday that in addition to the many PTA-sponsored parties being held, an additional junior high Halloween dance program will be held at LeBaron School at 7:30 until 10.

Buzz said if children in the Pontiac school system failed to register for the contest, they could still do so up until noon tomorrow. Cards are available at schools.

Buzz reminded the senior high school students they must be at home at 11, junior high at 10:30, and grade school at 9, to qualify for the prizes.

The "meet and treat" hour will be conducted from 6 to 7 p.m.

Plane Crashes Tree in Takeoff on Farm

A Livonia man escaped injury when he crashed his small plane into a tree while attempting to take off from a Troy Township farm field this morning.

Barney Robb, of 11700 Arcola St., reportedly struck the limb of a tree just as he was leaving the ground, causing considerable damage to the aircraft.

He had landed in the field, which is part of the Edward E. Wilson farm at 19 Mile and Coolidge roads, the night before when he apparently got lost while returning to Big Beaver Airport at 16 Mile and John R roads.

Robb told investigators he was leaving to go back to the airport when the crash occurred.

Enters Innocent Plea to Charge of Cruelty

William R. Norman, 24, of 39 Mechanic St., pleaded innocent to charges of cruelty yesterday in Oakland County Circuit Court.

Norman, accused of beating the 10-month-old girl now is held in Oakland County Jail under $300 bond. Judge H. Russel Holland set no trial date.

The child, Janice Bishop, required hospitalization for treatment of facial injuries. Her mother, Mrs. Judy Bishop, told police Norman frequently beat the child when he was angry.

Mrs. Bishop said she sought police aid after Norman struck Janice in the face Oct. 17.

Objects to Ballet Visit

LONDON (AP) — The Daily Telegraph suggested today that Britain cancel a visit to Moscow by the Sadler's Wells Ballet as a protest against "the Soviet Union's present brutal interference in Hungary."

The Day in Birmingham

Redding Zone Discussion Turns to Terrace Plan

BIRMINGHAM — A zoning dispute that brought an overflow crowd to the city commission room last night dissolved with only short discussion when one builder indicated his willingness to switch plans from commercial to terrace buildings.

Samuel Frankel's communication indicated his withdrawing of the request for commercial zoning at Redding and Woodward, while A. L. Kassabian indicated he would return to the planning commission for talk on other plans.

Rezoning to business of a triangle at Eton Road and the railroad was approved by commissioners.

Retirement of Willard M. Brown after 31½ years of service with the city brought a recognition exercise at the start of last night's meeting.

Brown has been foreman of the street department at DPW.

Approvals were granted to the jury award of $36,000 for land at Ferndale; and on printing a pamphlet to inform voters on the forthcoming ballot on selling the sewage treatment sale.

Also okayed were the purchase of an air raid warning siren, acquisition of several lots along the Rouge River for flood plain area; and a new amendment in the rubbish ordinance.

The latter calls for a contractor picking up items placed at the curb. He may enter property to pick up things at the householder's request, but does it in private capacity and not as agent of the city.

The library budget request for an additional $5,000 was tabled to await study of the quarterly statement on Nov. 13.

The Children's Theater group presented the "Witches Lullaby" today at 10 and 2 for all Birmingham and Bloomfield elementary students, under committee work of Mrs. Robert Wyatt, Mrs. J. S. Greene and Mrs. H. A. Schweppe.

Marjorie Pound, sophomore at Carleton College, has been elected her class secretary.

Tomorrow's Halloween plans for the city have snowballed so that about 5,500 are expected, says Rollie Reese, chairman of the city plan.

A parade will form at 7 at Merrill and Martin areas, and will march at 7:30 p.m. At the Briggs parking lot, youngsters bearing school-issued tickets will dine on specially-cooked hotdogs and other refreshments.

School parties in various age brackets are planned, after the tiny tots return to their homes.

Baltimore, Camden, N.J., and Philadelphia.

He winds up the day with a major address at 9:30 p.m. on the University of Pennsylvania campus.

He found a receptive audience in Boston in the jam-packed hall where Democratic Sen. John F. Kennedy shared the platform with him along with Foster Furcolo, the party's candidate for governor.

Stevenson roused the party workers to cheers, whistling and foot-stamping with such criticism as his point that the Republicans are basing their campaign on the theme, "Don't Worry — Just Trust Ike."

* * *

He complained again that Eisenhower's administration is made up of rich businessmen and declared: "Nowadays Abraham Lincoln wouldn't even rate a job in the Cabinet."

That remark brought a storm of applause and laughter.

Meanwhile, Stevenson revised his campaign schedule to include another trip to hotly contested Minnesota, where 11 electoral votes are at stake. He dropped plans to spend Sunday at Bloomington, Ill., his boyhood home, in favor of a Monday morning speech in either St. Paul or Minneapolis at a breakfast rally. He will fly from Chicago Sunday afternoon and return there Monday.

In his Boston speech he continued to argue that Eisenhower has virtually abdicated his leadership, but conceded his campaigning ability.

Departing from his prepared address, he said of Eisenhower: "As a campaigning politician, there is none better, but it is as a president who knows how to control his party, who knows how to grasp the reins of government that I believe he fails."

After he concluded his formal talk over nationwide TV, the audience called for more and he continued for another five to ten minutes.

New Zealand will spend $18,200,000 on new schools next year, a total of 100.

Hatch Act Political Ban Becomes a Sticky Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — The question whether election campaign stickers on automobiles of federal workers violate the spirit of the Hatch Act arose here today — and drew conflicting views.

Recently a memorandum was circulated in the Securities and Exchange Commission saying that while it is not unlawful, "it is regarded as contrary to the spirit of the law" which restricts political activity of government employes.

Sec. Chairman J. Sinclair Armstrong was asked about four pro-Republican stickers on his station wagon. After explaining that as a commissioner he is exempt from the Hatch Act, he added:

"Even if an employe is regarded as being "Hatched," I would not raise my voice if he had a sticker on his car in the agency garage."

A Civil Service Commission spokesman said the commission feels commuters who display car stickers are expressing an opinion rather than engaging in political activity.

Commission to Alter Zoning Map

Another step will be taken by the Pontiac Commission tonight to amend the city's zoning map by adding "personal service district" classifications to 64 lots in the Franklin boulevard area.

Last Tuesday, commissioners agreed to a Planning Commission recommendation to add this ninth type zone to Pontiac's zoning scale. It falls between Residential 3 and Commercial 1.

Lots to be rezoned are on the east side of Franklin boulevard from Pike to Orchard Lake, the west side of Franklin from Orchard Lake to Huron, and on the south side of Huron from Franklin to Palmer street.

The new zones will permit professional offices such as doctors, dentists, lawyers, realtors, architects, insurance firms, among others.

The following public hearings are scheduled for tonight's session:

Intention to construct storm drain in the Dixieland Subdivision.

Intention to construct curb, gutter, grade, gravel and related work on Orlando avenue from Monticello to Oakland.

On special assessment roll to finance public improvement work on Parkdale avenue from Woodland to Baldwin.

Other points to be considered will be two reports from the city attorney, bids on sale of city-owned house, a request to add space to a beer license in the city and a confirmation of a special assessment roll.

The campaign already has the support of Gov. Williams, Megel said.

Met Opening Profitable, Dull

Fiery Soprano Starts Season, Fails to Match Advance Raves

NEW YORK (AP) — One of the most opulent crowds in years, attracted by one of the most spectacular opera star buildups in years, saw the Metropolitan Opera begin its 72nd season last night.

It was the Met's biggest opening - night success financially, iwth seats sold out long in advance and a $75,500 take.

Yet neither the elegantly dressed audience from society, officialdom and the arts nor the debut of fiery Maria Meneghini Callas provided quite the excitement that had been expected.

Mme. Callas, born in Manhattan but appearing for the first time in the city, had been the subject of more publicity than any new Met singer in a decade.

But the fiery temperament and unique personality of her advance notices did not quite come through in her performance of the title role of Bellini's "Norma."

Associated Press Arts Editor William G. Rogers found her voice "sweet and touching" but lacking in "opulence" and "undernourished" — "a bit less the dramatic soprano than had been imagined."

Others in the top-flight cast were Fedora Barbieri as Adalgisa, Mario del Monaco as Pollione and Cesare Siepi as Orroveso.

There probably never has been a more richly dressed opening night attendance — with velvets, satins and brocades, chinchillas and minks, top hats and opera capes. A $150,000 collection of diamonds adorned one woman.

But it also was the least obstreperous audience, with the smallest proportion of publicity-seeking patrons, that the venerable opera house has had to contend with in years.

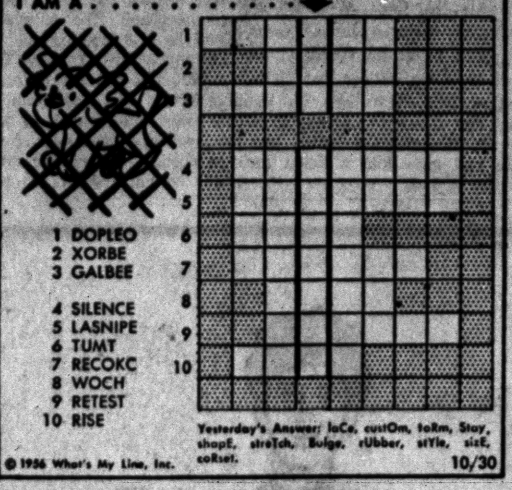

The glittering audience included Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney; dancer Vera Zorina; the former Margaret Truman and her husband, newspaperman, Clifton Daniel; United Nations Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge and Mrs. Lodge, New Jersey Gov. Robert Meyner with Miss Helen Stevenson; actress Marlene Dietrich; singer Gladys Swarthout; and actress Katharine Cornell.

Working in rugged country near Gisborne, New Zealand, three hunters in 10 days collected 1,737 strips of pelt. They were paid $605 for them.

Fishing Worm Capital

SAVANNAH, Tenn. (AP)—Visitors to this tennessee river town sometimes are startled when they tune in on the local redio station and the announcerd says "this is station W-O-R-M".

He's not kidding and there's a reason for the call letters. This little city of 4,200 calls itself the "fishing worm capital of the world." Its three big worm ranches and many smaller ones ship literally billions of wigglers all over the United States and to numerous foreign countries annually. One firm mails about a million and half worms daily.

U. S. Ally May Defect

Thailand-Reds to Trade Should Chinese Join U.N.

BANGKOK (INS) — Thailand, America's last staunchly anti-Communistic ally in southeast Asia, has set the stage for a booming trade with Red China if the mainland Chinese government is admitted into the United Nations.

The gates were lowered a bit a year ago September when a relaxation of import restrictions permitted a trickle of Red Chinese manufactured goods to enter Thailand from Hong Kong.

Thai exporters were led to the starting line for a dash northward in June when the Thai government dropped the embargo on strategic trade from Thailand to Communist China.

Thus far it has been understood direct trade with Red China is not entirely condoned. Premier Pibul Songgram said as much in a public press conference, and other Thai officials have said the same in other channels.

Therefore, despite the end of the trade embargo by the government in June, not a single Thai trader has to date made application for exports to the Communist mainland.

One foreign diplomatic official said it seemed apparent that Thailand is not yet ready to break its close relationship with the United States, but that Thailand is noting with envy the U.S. aid being received by other southeast Asian nations which in addition have opened direct channels with Communist China.

CO-OPERATES WITH U.S.

Thailand enforced a complete embargo on all goods to Communist China, one of the few Asian nations which have cooperated so fully with American policy.

In addition Thailand has been one of the most eager participants in the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization. SEATO headquarters have been established in Bangkok.

In return, U.S. military advisers have helped train Thai military forces and U.S. military supplies have bolstered Thai forces. Additionally, since 1951 the U.S. has poured $99.9 million in economic aid into the country.

While neighboring Asian countries have made peace with Communist China one by one Thailand has stood fast with the West.

Now, foreign diplomatic observers say, there is a shift in the wind. Thailand, too, is about ready to make her peace with Communist China it is felt, and in the process has taken an anti-American attitude in many of her dealings.

Chicago Negro Ministers Run 'Straight GOP' Ads

CHICAGO (AP)—A group of Negro ministers in the Chicago area, in full-page advertisements in two Chicago newspapers, have urged Negroes to "vote the straight Republican ticket" at the Nov. 6 election.

"We are not moved by partisan consideration," the ministers said in the open letter in the Tribune and Sun-Times. "If we vote for a Democratic President and a Democratic Congress, hopes for civil rights will be ended."

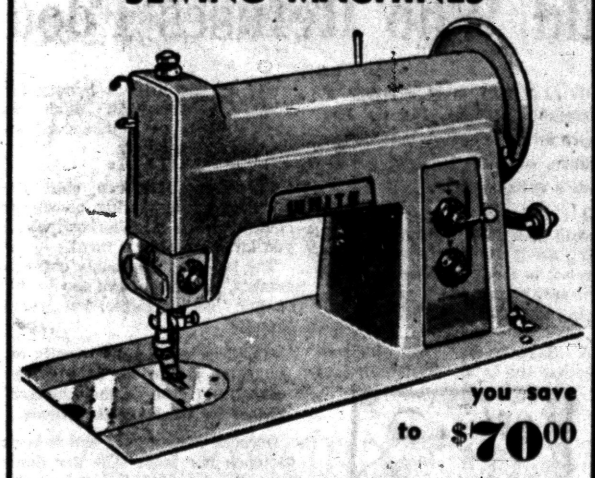

A weekly air service has started between Colombo, Ceylon, and Bangkok, Thailand.

Woodrow Wilson Award Goes to Gen. Marshall

Deserved new honor has come to a distinguished American, retired General of the Army George Catlett Marshall.

MARSHALL

It was the decision of the Woodrow Wilson Foundation that the award named for our late President, should go to Gen. Marshall. Symbolized by a bronze plaque, the award has been given from time to time to an individual or group for "meritorious service to democracy, public welfare, liberal thought or peace through justice."

Gen. Marshall was one of the architects of the Marshall Plan which enabled a prostrate Europe to recover so quickly from the ravages of World War II.

Millions of Americans will concur with the decision of the Foundation which this year is commemorating the 100th anniversary of President Wilson's birth. Now 75, our former Secretary of State has served brilliantly those ideals expressed in the Foundation's centennial anniversary theme "Freedom for man—a world safe for mankind."

Health and the Family

From Health Information Foundation of New York has come a worthwhile suggestion for a new way to evaluate the progress of medical science in fighting disease and death.

As the Foundation points out, it is only natural that we think of new medical advances primarily in terms of how they reduce pain and disability, shorten illness and prevent untimely death. The Foundation insists, however, that there is a less obvious side to better health—its important contribution to the happiness and well being of the American family.

A generation ago 16 per cent of all American children had lost by death one or more parents by the time they had reached the age of 18. In 1955, however, fewer than five per cent suffered such a loss. In actual numbers there were 6,400,000 children orphaned in 1920. Last year there were only 2,700,000.

This sharp decline is even more significant when considering the great increase in the number of children under 18. In 1955 there were a total of 55,500,000 and 40,000,000 in 1920.

One important result of this drop in mortality is that hundreds of thousands of families are now supported by wage earners who would not be alive if the mortality rates of a generation ago still prevailed.

Other results are not so easily measured. For, as the Foundation asks, who can calculate such imponderables as a happy home, loving parents and affectionate guidance? One thing, however, is sure, medical progress has brought not only better physical health but a happier, longer family life to millions of Americans.

Russo-Jap Agreement

After 16 months of negotiations in Moscow, Japan and Russia have completed an agreement declaring ended the war between them in which hostilities ceased 11 years ago.

The agreement provides for resumption of normal diplomatic relations and for return by Russia to Japan of two Kurile islands after the signing of a formal peace treaty. It also promises Russian support for Japanese membership in the United Nations, previously strongly opposed by the Kremlin.

While Japan is offered a most-favored-nation status, the details of trade relations are left to further negotiations. Among other things Russia waives reparations, which couldn't have been much of a struggle for the Kremlin since Russia entered the war only a few days before Japan surrendered. The USSR also promises the return of all Japanese war prisoners who can be found.

On its face this agreement appears to be considerably less than Japan wanted. It may be, however, that under pressure to increase exports the Japanese may feel that one more market thus will be opened to them. It also is possible that this pact will prove acceptable to Japan if there is no undue delay in reaching agreement on trade and peace treaties.

From letter to a psychiatrist: "My wife is abnormal. She sits for hours on end." Most people consider this an entirely normal way to sit.

Latest Figures on Poll Are Substantially Same Ratio

Halloween: When there should be more treats than tricks.

The 72 contacts made in our poll since the last report make but little change in the relative standings of the candidates. They were made at various points in Oakland and surrounding counties, both rural and in the cities and villages, and at luncheon clubs; also among the football crowds at Ann Arbor and some school teachers. Added to the figures last published, they make the present totals as follows:

Eisenhower	371
Stevenson	324
Cobo	353
Williams	340

Planning to retire at the end of his present term is

who has represented Commerce township on the board for 21 years. He is 71 years old—but it's a very spry 71. Jim has a good explanation for the fact that his appearance has changed very little in the past score of years. "I tell them," he says, "that the reason is that I began to look old when I was so young." He is a past chairman of the board and past president of the State Association of Supervisors.

Sweet Music Fills the Air

David Lawrence Says:

U.S. Needs a Soldier-President

WASHINGTON—These are dangerous times in the world. Little wars anywhere can involve America.

Under the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, for example, an attack on any one of the other 14 members must be considered the same as an attack on the United States.

Not only must there be military readiness, therefore, by the United States, but America must make clear its intention to fulfill its obligations.

America, unfortunately, failed to make clear in 1950 that she would fight to defend Korea, and that country was invaded by Communists.

COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF

Today, with the unsettled situations in Eastern Europe and in the Middle East, it is generally agreed America needs a calm, courageous leader. We must elect next week the man who will serve as commander-in-chief of the Army, the Navy and the Air Force.

Which of the two presidential candidates has the judgment and the experience to command such a tremendous organization?

Americans have the obligation to decide whether to keep in office an experienced commander or elect a new President who must necessarily depend on the advice and judgment of others.

Eisenhower was commander-in-chief of the allied armies in Europe during World War II and led the largest military force in history to victory. To organize and command one of the most hazardous expeditions in modern war—the Normandy invasion—was his task. He did this harmoniously and successfully.

After the war Eisenhower was summoned from retirement to organize, as supreme commander, the forces of America and its allies. He knows the statesmen of Europe by their first names. They respect his judgment.

Preventing war is as important as being able to fight it successfully if one should come. History records that many a war has broken out because of weakness or irresoluteness on one side or the other. Potential enemies of this country know today that Eisenhower, as a soldier-statesman, means what he says. A warning from him means business.

RESERVES CALLED

About 15 million Americans served in World War II. Tens of thousands of reserves—who had already fought in one war—were called back to fight in Korea from 1950 to 1953.

In the 1952 presidential campaign, the Korean War issue was due as much to the resentment of many of the 15 million Reservists that they might be called into service again as it was due to the feelings of the families and relatives of the more than 125,000 American casualities.

Which commander-in-chief of the Army, the Navy and the Air Force do Americans intend to elect next week? That's the decision the whole world is waiting to learn.

Defeat of Eisenhower could be interpreted abroad as a sign of weakness and uncertainty of purpose in America. Re-election would be taken to mean firmness and continued military strength—the best deterrents of war—have been reinforced by a vote.

It's an overriding question—more important than the petty squabbles of domestic affairs—because it can in the next four years affect the survival of the nation. Which commander-in-chief? That's the really big issue in the election.

Portraits

By JAMES J. METCALFE

As far as now my memory . . .
Can reach back through the years . . .
We have not known the sadness, dear . . .
Of any serious tears . . .
I mean the kind of tears I might . . .
Have caused to fill your eyes . . .
Or those you could have made me cry . . .
Without the least disguise . . .
Oh, there have been some passing tears . . .
That we have wept together . . .
Because of illness, injury . . .
Or just the rotten weather . . .
There have been disappointments small . . .
Of hopes and dreams and such . . .
But any tears we shed, my dear . . .
Did not amount to much . . .
No tears of lasting consequence . . .
Have come between us two . . .
Because you would not grieve me, dear . . .
And I would not hurt you.

LI'L ONES

"The house is too small for both of them since Junior got that outfit . . ."

Dr. William Brady Says:

Conquers Tobacco Habit With Help of Gentian Root

In a quarterly publication of the American Temperance Society, A. Maxwell Diamond tells why he quit smoking.

First his boss estimated that he took 1½ hours a day, at $2 an hour, to fill, light, and keep his pipe going. Then one day a hot pipe burned a hole in his coat, ruining a good suit.

Finally he "had to have two teeth extracted that had become abcessed from biting down on the pipe," and he almost lost all his front teeth when he had to stop his car suddenly and fell forward hitting his pipe on the steering wheel.

This fellow whose smoking on the job cost his employer $15 a week finally decided to quit smoking.

He tried to wean himself by chewing gum, sucking lozenges, etc.—with the usual result.

TRIED GENTIAN ROOT

Then one day he heard of the herb called gentian which, he said, leaves a dark brown taste like that of tobacco.

For a few days he kept some gentian root in his mouth constantly, and then used a little less every day for two weeks. After that, he said, he had no further desire for it or for tobacco. He has not used tobacco in any form in the past fourteen years.

Gentian root? In one of my notebooks, kept since the halcyon days of my internship, is this item:

Tobacco Chewing.—A good substitute which satisfies the craving for plug tobacco and is harmless as well:

Sassafras bark.
Gentian root.
Prickly ash bark, equal parts. Mix and add enough extract of licorice to bind together in a mass like plug tobacco. Have a chew whenever you want it.

EASY TO PROCURE

If you ask for these ingredients in a drug store, you'll get them without much difficulty. But if you ask for them in a miniature department store, for goodness sake don't mention my name. If they get mad enough at me, they may connive with the Food and Drugs Bureau to have these herbs marked "to be sold only on prescription," like certain home remedies I have recommended here, such as sodium citrate, boric acid, salicylic collodion (corn cure), and garnet red scales of iron-ammonium-citrate for whipping up a batch of blood tonic.

Frankly I doubt whether such monkey-business will break the tobacco user of hoggishness, but it can do no harm to try it.

As a reformed cigar smoker and an inveterate pipe smoker I know I get the greatest solace from tobacco by smoking only after the day's work is done.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Voice of the People

Admonishes Lax Parents for Failure to Discipline

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

A couple of weeks ago an incident occurred when a little girl about four threw dirt or a stone at me as I went by. She certainly was not being brought up correctly. I am not alone in my opinion that parents have a duty toward their children to teach them to conform at an early age to the demands of society, the society in which they live.

I can't think of anything more cruel than letting them grow up like the proverbial Topsy. That lax attitude of "don't do this or that, you bad girl" is not apt to instill good moral quality in a child. I have nothing but contempt for parents of this caliber.

As the great Webster said in a famous court scene, "$50 will not half express the contempt I feel for this court." Parents can do no better than to follow the oft heard quotation: "Bring up a child in the way he should go, and when he is old he will not depart from it."

'Stevenson Won't Give In to Others'

I think Adlai Stevenson is less likely to give in to pressure from outsiders. That's very important to the U.S. Truman was wound up in entanglements but Stevenson is an independent Democrat who isn't obligated. He's my boy.

'Ike Isn't Fooled by Other Powers'

One thing appeals to me in Eisenhower. He isn't fooled and bamboozled by foreign powers. Franklin Roosevelt was so awed and impressed by the British and the Russians he was putty in their hands. Truman didn't stand around in reverence like Roosevelt, but he couldn't figure out the angles.

Eisenhower realizes we are more important as a nation than the British and the Russians combined. He and Dulles negotiate accordingly. We are not sucked into new wars every few years at the convenience of a foreign nation. Stick with Ike. He's our hope and salvation.

Hal Boyle Says:

Wise Observer Can Tell the Boys and Girls Apart

NEW YORK (AP)—Some critics of this civilization say it is one in which men and women are getting too much alike.

There is no doubt the sexes are acting more alike every year as the result of modern woman's compulsion to share every right formerly held by man alone.

TURNABOUT TALK

They talk alike—if anything men are a bit more interested in household topics, while women lean more to baseball and politics; and often dress alike, particularly in their leisure hours.

Worst of all, men and women are even beginning to look alike, most markedly in the younger generation. Only a teen-ager today can look at another teen-ager and tell at a glance what gender it is.

Some pessimists say the similarity of the sexes has reached a point where half the time they can't be sure whether they're dealing with a man or a woman.

"It's particularly hard on picnics or a fishing trip," said one. "Then even grandmas dress like grandpas, and nobody but their own kids could be sure which is which."

However, there is no reason yet to get hysterical. A careful impartial observer can always distinguish between the sexes.

SOME METHODS

Here are a few ways in which you can tell whether any human being is a man or woman, no matter what it wears, what it says, or how it cuts its hair:

If it goes through a revolving door without lifting an arm, it's a woman. If it does its fair share of pushing, it's a man.

If in a poker game it says, "cover your cards, dope, I can see them," it's a man. If it can see every card in your hand and keeps right on looking, it's a woman.

If paying its bills gives it a sense of security, it's a man. If running up bills gives it a feeling of freedom, it's a woman.

If it always offers you a cigar, it's a man. If it always is asking you for a cigarette, then waits for a light, it's a woman.

SPIDER WATCHER

If it sees a fly buzzing in a spider's web and brushes the insect free, it's a man. If, instead, it watches to see how the spider operates its trap, it's a woman.

If it always takes the first seat offered by a restaurant headwaiter, it's a man. If it never accepts the first seat and is sure another location would be better, it's a woman.

If it always climbs into a taxi ahead of you, it's a woman. If it always pays the cab driver when it gets out, it's a man.

If it asks you to dance, it's a man. If it gets mad because you don't ask it to dance, it's a woman.

If it crosses its legs without noticing whether anyone is looking, it's a man. If it won't cross its legs unless someone is looking, it's a woman.

If it will give a two-bit handout to any seedy tramp, it's a man. But if it gladly spends its whole life cooking and raising kids for a no-good ungrateful bum, it's a woman—every time!

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Outbluff Child Who Refuses Food

Nanette is more clever than her parents for she makes them do what she wishes, whereas they can't make her follow their rules. She has become Queen of the Dining Room and compels them to indulge in table theatricals. So they must now outbluff her and regain the dominant role by the strategy outlined below.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case T-308: Nanette G., aged two, is an eating problem.

"Dr. Crane, she is driving us distracted," her worried mother confessed.

"For she will not eat new foods. In fact, she often refuses to eat anything we put on her plate.

"Because she is rather frail, we don't want her to miss a meal, so her daddy and I coax and plead and try to bribe her into taking extra bites.

"If we don't do that at the table, she may not even taste a bit of it. So what else can we do to give her a better appetite?"

TABLE THEATRICALS

Nanette is Queen of the Dining Room. She has found that she can dictate to her parents until they make a theatrical event out of dining.

And she outbluffs them. Since she is their only child and they consider her frail, she intimidates them.

In such a case, here are the psychological rules to follow. First, try to whet her appetite by seeing that she has plenty of outdoor play, especially of the romping type.

When a child runs, she burns up more energy than when she sits at a play table painting or assembling blocks. For the legs burn up more energy than do the hands, since the legs carry Nanette's entire weight.

A child who has exercised well should generate a healthy appetite. So if Nanette affects indifference to food thereafter, you can feel pretty sure she is either ill or trying to outbluff her parents.

A thermometer will indicate whether she is ill. If she shows a normal temperature range, and the body temperature varies during the day by almost a full degree, then stop the table theatricals.

NEW TABLE STRATEGY

At the next meal, give Nanette the normal servings of the various foods she should eat.

Then Daddy and Mother can converse and include her casually if she makes a bid to join the table talk. But don't spotlight her or comment about her failure to eat.

She will probably go on a hunger strike to get attention. She may drop her spoon on the floor or purposely flip food out of the dish.

For a child who is hungry for adult attention will often do naughty acts as a means of attracting the spotlight.

Sometimes you can shift the limelight to a visiting cousin or child from the neighborhood whom you invite over for a meal.

The latter will probably eat ravenously, so compliment the visitor on her "big" appetite, but ignore Nanette.

Children often eat normally in a social group, as at nursery school, but reserve their hunger strikes for the home theatricals.

Outbluff Nanette. If she refuses to touch her food, take her down from the table at the end of the meal and say nothing.

"But won't that hurt her health?" her mother protested.

No, it will not injure her health. In fact, at the Zoo the lions and many other creatures are starved for a full day just to improve their health and promote more activity.

At the next meal, go through the same routine. Nanette may still persist in her hunger strike, though most children break down within one or two sessions.

But if she refuses even her third meal, don't let her outbluff you. Stick to your guns. For she will surrender, if you don't. But if you give in, then it will be doubly hard to outbluff her next time.

For further advice on how to handle children properly, send for my 200-point "Tests for Good Parents," enclosing a stamped, return envelope plus 20 cents.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Dutch Are Denser

TOKYO — Japan's total area is 368,000 square kilometers. (A kilometer is nearly five eighths of a mile.) Japan's present population is 242.3 persons per squre kilometer. This compares with 20 for the United State, one for Canada, nine for Russia, 60 for China, 208 for the United Kingdom, and 200 for West Germany. The only countries with denser populations than Japan are the Netherlands (324 per square kilometer) and Belgium (288).

Viva, Capitalists!

WASHINGTON — According to the American Forest Products Industries, Inc., pulpwood companies own 6.1 per cent of the nation's commercial forest lands. But they depend on more than 4,400,000 small woodlot owners for the major portion of their pulpwood.

Elephant Too Puny

VANCEBURG, Ky. (AP) — Those good old days when an elephant could do the job are gone. A tractor-trailer truck of a circus caravan got stuck in a ditch near here. Motorists, their way blocked by the truck, watched expectantly as a circus elephant was paraded to the scene. The pachyderm huffed and puffed but couldn't budge the truck. Finally, a couple of wreckers arrived to do the job.

Watchful Cabbie Finds Watch-Full Briefcase

TOKYO (AP)—Taxi driver Shigeru Asahi today handed police a briefcase a passenger left in his cab last night. Inside were 420 swiss watches valued at an estimated $50,000.

The watches were wrapped in a Hong Kong newspaper dated April 17. Customs inspectors said they "must have been smuggled in."

Massive Food Bill

NEW YORK—In 1946, American consumers spent 42 billion dollars for food; this year the figure is expected to be more than 70 billion. Ten years ago supermarkets carried about 4,000 items; today it is not unusual for them to stock 7,000.

Thieves Return Again to Loot Summer Home

The second breakin within the last two weeks at a Springfield Township summer home netted thieves clothing, liquor, groceries, beer, wine, luggage, tools, and a TV set last weekend, according to Oakland County detectives.

Located at 4995 Iroquois Rd., the home is owned by the Rev. E. A. Mahoney of Detroit. He told investigators his sister had been the last person at the cottage two weeks ago when she also discovered a breakin.

Bay Containing $218 Stolen From Market

Pontiac police today are investigating a report that a bag containing $218.43 in bills and change was taken from the National Food Store at 984 Joslyn Rd. sometime Monday afternoon.

Thomas Parker, manager of the store, told police the money was taken from the store between 3 and 5 p.m. There are no suspects.

THE MIGHTY CHRYSLER FOR 1957

Here's the glamorous, low-priced 1957 Chrysler Windsor V-8

Announcing the most glamorous car in a generation!

You never looked or felt as good in anything before!

Other cars have changed models . . . this one changes motoring. Look at its rich, racy lines . . . at the long, low silhouette . . . at the dramatic upsweep of the rear fenders that plume back from the waist like the wake of a hydroplane. It's a streak of a car with the elegance of the boulevard and the spirit of the speedway.

Get into this car, drive it into traffic or out on the open highway and you enter a new domain of travel. In the 1957 Chrysler, with its new Torsion-Aire Ride, motion has a new "feel". And wait till you toe the throttle. A new Pushbutton TorqueFlite Transmission teams with a mighty airplane-type V-8 engine, developing up to 325 horsepower, to give you a new high-velocity getaway, matchless passing power when you need it.

Come in this week and visit our showrooms. See and drive the most completely new car of the year!

Torsion-Aire Ride
pours the road under you!

Try Chrysler's new Torsion-Aire Ride and you'll think some of the laws of gravity, motion and inertia have been suspended in your favor. No more rock and roll. No more pitch when you stop. Chrysler's new torque rod suspension and lower center of gravity give you a brand new ground-skimming "feel" of the road. The wheels ride the contours . . . but you don't. The road just pours under you.

Bob Considine Says:

Food Editors Get Paid for Eating Heartily

BRIDGETON, N. J. (INS)—Dear Boss: Make me the food editor. Those babes have been getting away with murder for years, I am now barely able to report. You've been paying them to eat, you realize?

Flew down here with a covey of eat page babes the other day to see Liz Seabrook, nee Toomey, a fine young newshen who has settled down to the role of farm wife since marrying a handsome young man of the soil named Jack Seabrook.

Liz and her sister-in-law Mae Seabrook, their jaws cherried by the radiance of the kitchen range, met us at the door of Mae's old farmhouse, where the victuals were to be demolished.

"You good people will jes' have to take a deal of potluck," farm wife Liz apologized, wiping her hands on a Christian Dior apron. The food babes made impatient clucking noises. It was getting nigh on to their cocktail time.

To compound the thirst, farmer Jack (who had put aside his jeans and pitchfork for an ascot topper and formal field clothes) had driven us across his fields in a black and gold coach-and-four, complete with pink-jacketed hornsman and a rearing lead horse named Charles.

SUCH FLOWERS!

We followed the grumbling eat editors into the exquisite living room of the old place and restrained several from assaulting the floral arrangements.

Never saw anything like such arrangements: White orchids fluttering up out of a fine deep green base which turned out to be a huge nob of broccoli imbedded in leaves of spinach.

Well, the old fashioneds began coming and coming and were washed down with creamed crabmeat tartlets, water chestnuts with bacon, pate de foie gras and pea puree tartlets, carrot sticks, olives and a delicious etc.

Dinner was a plain old buffet. The girls grumbled a bit about having to serve themselves but as one put it, philosophically, "Well, we walked into journalism with our eyes open, girls. You must expect the bitter with the sweet." She might have continued, but those open eyes suddenly lamped the grub:

Roast turkey with sausage and celery stuffing, country ham baked in beer and dark molasses, mashed turnips and potatoes, candied sweet potatoes, pea and onion casserole with Fordhook limas, creamed chopped spinach, golden cut corn with peppers and pimientos, baby whole okra fixed with a pinch of cayenne and one of black pepper, jumbo asparagus spears, sweet and sour cut wax beans, endive and spinach salad, relishes, Sarah's hot rolls, one crust apple pie (which occasioned a comment of "austerity!" from one of the babes), frozen squash pie, fresh coconut cake and coffee.

FARM-TYPE WINE

The wine was a nice old farm-type wine, traditional at such autumn sociables, Chablis les Preuses, 1953.

The girls rolled back to town around midnight in Carey Cadillacs and apparently since have shown up, boss, to collect their salary.

How 'bout that?—as Mel Allen likes to quip when talking to us red-blooded, clean-living fellows on the sports desk where there is aught but toil and seldom is heard an encouraging word.

Seabrook Farms, by the way, are the world's biggest vegetable farming and freezing operation. There are 54,000 acres, half owned by the Seabrooks and the rest by 1,000 highly independent Jersey farmers.

They produce 30 different vegetables and fruits, freeze them for 30,000 food stores and institutions. It's one of those up-from-nothing stories.

Once upon a time there was just grandpop A. P. Seabrook and 57 acres, icing a carload of his vegetables and shipping it to Philadelphia, Baltimore or New York. By 1930, his son, C. F., had joined with Clarence Birdseye in the revolutionary freezing program.

Today it's a 45-mile trip around the farms and the freezing and packing plants look like the Pentagon. Seabrook produced 90,000,000 pounds of vegetables and fruit last year. Which was just as well, boss, when the trencherwomen charged.

Ford Grant to Help Research at MSU

What's new in the new kind of Ford

Custom and Custom 300

Fairlane and Fairlane 500

NEW choice of sizes. These '57 Fords really make "big" a low-priced word. The new Ford Custom and the Custom 300 are lower, wider, than any Ford before and over 16 feet long. The Fairlane and the Fairlane 500 are even lower and longer . . . over 17 feet long! Ford is the only car in the low-price field that comes in two sizes. You'll find them all only roof high to a parking meter . . . and they're as easy to get in and out of as putting the coin in the meter slot! There are 20 beautiful new models to choose from.

NEW outsweep chassis design cradles passengers in a new kind of way for a leveler, smoother ride. It's a completely new chassis idea wherein the frame flares out so that the floor of the rear seat compartment is inside the frame girders. There's more inside room than ever. And there's full road clearance under the heavier frame.

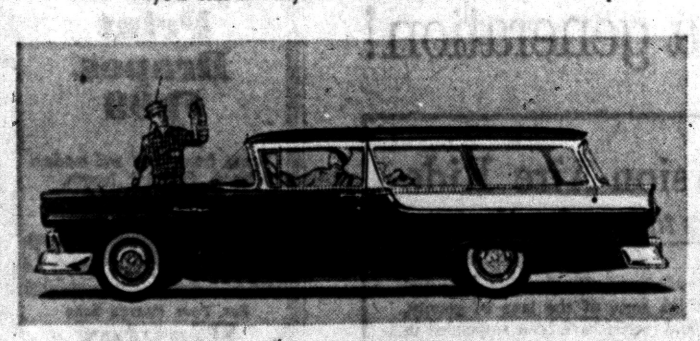

NEW forward-hinged hood—and new engines to go under it! There's a mighty Silver Anniversary V-8 to fit every horsepower need. And there's more power and economy in the new Mileage Maker Six!

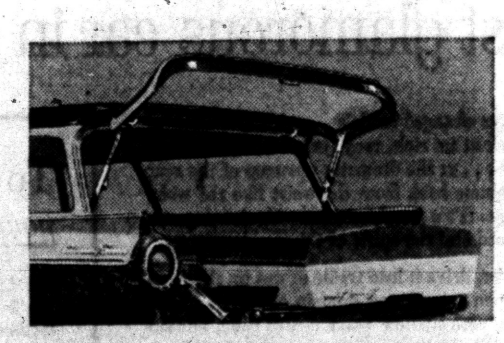

NEW hardtop styling in every Fairlane model! Now all Fairlane and Fairlane 500 sedans have strong, thin, new center pillars which are concealed by the trim bright-metal window frames. With the doors closed, you can hardly tell these sedans from hardtops.

NEW endurance and performance. In the most exhaustive test ever given an automobile, a '57 Ford traveled 50,000 miles in less than 20 days . . . an average speed of 108.16 mph—including all pit stops! Never before has anything built by man traveled so far in so short a time—by land or sea!

NEW low-sweep station wagon roof line. All five of Ford's new station wagons have even more of the beauty and love-for-duty that has continually made Ford America's favorite wagon. There are three with four doors, two with two doors . . . seating room for up to nine.

NEW wider wrap-around rear opening. A completely new liftgate provides greater vision, easier loading. In length and width there's enough room to load a 9-foot boat.

ST. JOSEPH ASPIRIN FOR CHILDREN

Incumbents in Majority

880 Candidates in Race for House, Senate Seats

WASHINGTON (INS)—A survey has disclosed that 880 candidates are seeking election to Congress in the Nov. 6 elections.

Of these, 68 are competing for 35 Senate seats and 812 for 432 House seats which are being filled November 6.

The great majority of incumbents are seeking re-election. They include 404 House members and 29 Senators. Twenty-one representatives and two Senators have voluntarily relinquished their seats, while six House members were defeated in primary elections.

Thus, there are 447 "outs" who are seeking to replace the "ins," but most of them stand little chance of success. There will undoubtedly be many new faces when the 85th Congress convenes January 3, but the freshmen will be far outnumbered by the veterans, if past elections are any precedent.

Actually, the odds are stacked against the newcomers. Even before the balloting begins, one-sixth of the House and almost one-fifth of the Senate seats up for election have already been filled.

This is because 75 Democratic and five Republican nominees for the House have no opposition in November. In the Senate races, six Democrats have no opponents. In Maine, the election for three House seats has already been held.

PAST MEMBERS RUN

Among the "outs" are 12 former members of Congress. Six are competing for the House and six for the Senate.

New York has the largest number of congressional candidates. There, 93 nominees are running for the House and two for the Senate.

But New Jersey has the record number in proportion to the number of seats to be filled. There are 45, or more than three for each of the 14 seats, and they represent a record number of parties—15.

New Jersey also has two brothers who are seeking election to the House on different party tickets in two adjoining districts. They are Rep. Hugh J. Addonizio, a Democrat, of the 11th district, and G. George Addonizio, a Republican, in the 10th district.

A somewhat similar "father and son" situation prevails in North Dakota, where veteran Republican Rep. Usher L. Burdick is seeking re-election, while his son, Quentin Burdick, is the Democratic candidate for the Senate.

In New York, Rep. James G. Donovan, a Democrat, is seeking re-election on the Republican ticket, while in Oregon, Sen. Wayne Morse, elected in 1950 as a Republican is running this time as a Democrat.

Ticket Draws Praise

SALT LAKE CITY (UP) — Was Chief W. Cleon Skousen mad when Special Officer Mildred Frazier gave him a ticket for overtime parking? In a letter of commendation, he wrote her, "Traffic laws allow police cars freedom from restriction only in cases of emergency," indicating he wasn't parked on any emergency.

Macomb Leery of Grand Jury

Wants Secret Hearings Before Naming Juror, to Protect Innocent

MT. CLEMENS (UP)—The Macomb County Circuit Court wants to conduct a secret preliminary examination of witnesses before making a final decision on the state's request for a one-man grand jury.

Presiding Judge Alton Noe and Judge James E. Spier refused yesterday to act on State Atty. Gen. Thomas M. Kavanagh's petition, terming it "too general."

They said the charges were so general they "could create false and ungrounded criticism of present officeholders."

Kavanagh, last Monday, charged in a 10-point petition that public officials had solicited and accepted bribes and conspired to violate the state election laws. He did not name the officials nor the communities.

Noe and Assistant Atty. Gen. Eugene Krasicky will confer tomorrow to set up the secret hearings.

Krasicky, who is in charge of a state investigation of the Macomb County communities of Warren township and St. Clair Shores, said he will provide a list of witnesses which the courtc an subpena.

First of the states to regulate the sale of securities was Rhode Island which passed the law in 1910.

Rider Asks About Her Obligations

Should She Offer to Share the Cost of Gas, Tolls?

BY EMILY POST

"I have just found out that one of my neighbors has a son who goes to the same boarding school as my son. The boy's sister has a car and she and the mother drive to the school to visit him every Sunday.

"I only visit my son every third week as I have to go on the train and it is a long tiresome trip. I was speaking to the sister of the other boy recently and she asked me if I would like to go with them in the car. I was delighted for the opportunity.

I would like to know if I should offer to pay for part of the gasoline and also the tunnel tolls. I don't want to offend them in any way, but do want to do the right thing. Will you please advise me?

Answer: If you go with them only on occasion, you don't. But if you go with them regularly, then you should very definitely offer to pay your share.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My husband has invited one of the men who works with him, and his wife, to our house for dinner. I have met this man several times when I have gone to the office and like him very much. But I do not know his wife.

What I would like to know is, must I telephone his wife and invite her to dinner or can her husband relay the invitation to her?

Answer: As this is the first time, you should call her on the telephone and invite her directly.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Is it proper, after talking awhile to a man I have met for the first time, to ask him if he is married? Comparatively few men wear wedding rings and so one cannot tell by looking at his finger whether or not he is married."

Answer: If it is a casual question such as "do you live in South Norwalk" there is no reason why you shouldn't ask him.

These Exercises Conserve Space

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

It is true that many of the valuable figure-molding exercises require a large space. When I taught classes there was only room for 18 pupils on a large floor, when they were doing certain exercises. I am sure that this discourages many women from making these motions for beauty at home.

* * *

In a small apartment some are impossible. In a large room these usually involve furniture moving. Even then you may skin your shinbone on a chair or find your head under the divan.

In the case of waist reduction many of the slimming exercises are bending exercises which take no room at all. Abdominal exercises require practically no space.

Lots of the most effective hip and thigh-reducing exercises do involve a lot of territory. However there are other fine ones which do not.

Today I want to give you a couple of exercises which you can do even if youl ive in a tiny apartment. The following one is good for the hips and abdomen: Lie on the floor on your left side. Place your right hand on the floor in front of you for balance. As you swing the right leg forward, swing the left leg backward. As the left leg swings forward, the right moves backward.

I call this one The Scissors because one leg swings forward as the other swings back. Once you start, keep this up and be sure to reach as far in each direction as possible and to keep your knees stiff. The swing comes from the hips.

TO REDUCE HIPLINE

This one will reduce the back hipline: Sit on the floor with your legs extending out in front of you on the floor. Lean back, lifting your legs from the floor until your body weight falls directly over the largest part of your hips.

Roll from side to side, catching yourself with your hands. Keep the knees straight throughout.

Here is another small-space exercise: Lie on the floor on your back with your arms on the floor, at right angles to your body. Palms cling to the floor as you roll from side to side. Keep the knees stiff and the entire body touching the floor.

If you would like to have my leaflet No. 30, "Exercises for Small Space," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Wild Rice Casserole Is Special

Newcomer Shares Grandmother's Idea for Gourmet Dish

BY JANET ODELL

Wild rice is the perfect accompaniment to all poultry and game dishes. The rice is rather expensive; but a cup will feed six to eight people.

Mrs. J. B. Clifford, a newcomer to the city, shares her grandmother's recipe with us. The Cliffords moved here from Minnesota in June. They have three small boys.

WILD RICE CASSEROLE
By Mrs. J. B. Clifford

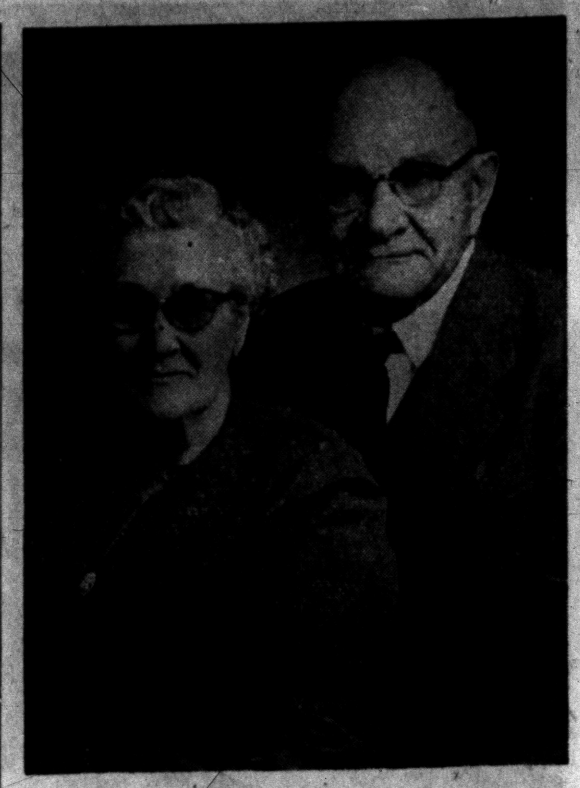

1 cup wild rice
1 large can mushrooms
⅓ cup butter or margarine
2 tablespoons flour
⅔ cup milk
½ teaspoon salt
Pepper

Wash rice by pouring boiling water over it in a bowl and letting it cool to lukewarm. Remove any hollow kernels or husks that float to the top. Repeat this washing three more times. Or soak rice overnight in water to cover.

Simmer rice in last rinsing water for about 20 minutes. Drain mushrooms, saving the liquid, and brown in butter. Add flour, milk and mushroom juice to make a cream sauce.

Mix rice and sauce in buttered casserole. Cover with buttered crumbs. Bake 30 minutes in a 375-degree oven.

Serve with game or poultry. If desired, add leftover pork and/or veal to the casserole for a one-dish meal. Serves 6-8.

Reader Suggests Ways to Entertain Child Guests

Hostesses Can Make Young Visitors Feel Welcome, Prevent Misbehavior

BY RUTH MILLETT

Would you like to know how to make happy, well-behaved guests out of the small children your friends bring along when they come to call?

One of my women readers, with three young children of her own, suggests that the reason children often misbehave when Mamma takes them calling is because there is nothing for them to do.

She writes: "A hostess who likes children well enough to go to a little trouble might invest five dollars at the dime store for a few items to entertain her young guests. After all, she would provide coffee, clean towels, cigarettes or anything else for adult guests' use.

"For babies under a year: Bright colored plastic clothespins, bright rattles, pan lids and a clean sheet to put on the floor for a 'play pen.'

"Ages 1 to 2: An old, discarded compact (minus powder), an old pocketbook (preferably one with a zipper) and blocks.

A PULL TOY

"Ages 2 to 3: A good pull toy or push truck to take out in the yard.

"Three to five-year-olds would love little picture books, a spoon to dig with and a spot in the yard in which to dig, small toys, blunt scissors and an old magazine to cut.

"For ages 5 to 10, why not a paper sack of 10-cent toys, from which a young guest could choose one to take home?"

My reader also has this to say: "It seems to me the art of friendship is lost when the house becomes too precious to include the child.

"But, all too often, we find houses that are only show places and devoid of a real welcome to the child, nowadays."

Clothes Need Fitting As Seasons Change

Every wardrobe has to be altered from year to year. Your favorite wool dress will need the hemline changed, your crepe will need adjustment at the waistline, your pet skirt will need to be taken in a little.

Don't put off the alterations. It detracts from an attractive appearance to wear clothes that aren't carefully fitted.

During the Middle Ages men slept propped up to an almost upright position — the easier to defend themselves against attack. Not very comfortable when compared to our stretch-out, supersize bedding.

Taxi Business Aids Busy Mothers

By ANNE HEYWOOD

One thing which successful people have in common, as far as I can see, is that they invariably do something about their difficulties, instead of merely complaining about them.

In fact, the energy most people expend on deploring the bad things in their lives is more than enough to change those bad things into good things.

Mrs. K. is an example of this.

Mrs. K. is a widow in her late 50s. Years ago, before she was married, she taught school and loved it. Then she married and raised four children of her own, all now grown and married.

Mrs. K. was terribly anxious to get back into teaching, but because of her age, it was impossible to do so.

Thats where a good many women would have left it — living frustrated lives and engaging in a perpetual dialogue about how unkind the school system is to the older woman.

NOT DISCOURAGED

But not Mrs. K.

"I decided there must be something I could do with children," she wrote.

"I sent for your pamphlet, 'Playing with Children for Profit.' None of the suggestions in it fitted my needs exactly, but they did start me thinking of services for children that our community might need.

"One day at a woman's club tea, I noticed that some of the young mothers looked exhausted.

"'I've been taxing the children around all day,' one of them told me. 'I'm nothing but a glorified chauffeur!'

"Another one had to leave the tea early to pick up her daughter at dancing school and drop her son off at the dentist.

TAXI SERVICE

"Then and there," Mrs. K. concluded, "I decided to start a children's taxi service!

"Oh, there were lots of things to get ironed out and it wasn't all smooth going. But I finally figured out what to charge and how to operate my business.

"I have a station wagon, kept stocked with toys and things. My hours are noon until 6 p.m., partly because that's when there's the biggest traffic in dancing and music lessons, shopping and dentist appointments.

"I have a sliding scale and charge a flat weekly fee for the regular weekly appointments which any child has.

"I don't make much profit, but my afternoons are so full and it is such fun. And the mothers are so grateful, it does my heart good!"

If you like children, and are having trouble getting a regular job working with them, send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope care of The Pontiac Press, and I'll send you my pamphlet, "Playing with Children for Profit."

Meet at Clarkston High

225 Secretaries Convene

Clarkston High School was the scene of the all-day meeting of Oakland County Association of Educational Secretaries held Monday. Two-hundred and twenty-five attended the meeting.

* * *

L. F. Greene, superintendent of Clarkston schools, gave the welcome and divided the group into discussion units.

A discussion on child accounting was led by Robert Morgan of Oakland County schools. Dr. Helen Green of Michigan State University led a discussion on office shortcuts.

A demonstration of office machinery was presented by a national company.

Several Clarkston High School students presented a program following the luncheon.

Dr. Green chose the topic, "Make the Most of Your Day," when she spoke after the business meeting. She stressed four points in her talk. They were: Competency, organization, right relations and new outlook.

The angular figure should avoid the squarely tailored silhouette and take advantage of the femininity in the new fashions.

You can start on the best looks of your life in this season's fashions: The belted suit in unsevere black, brimmed, side-pulled casual hat that hasn't been seen in years.

Phyllis Smith Wins Music Scholarship

House Painter Guilty of Working on Sunday

NEW YORK (AP) — A 36-year-old photographer who painted his mother-in-law's house on a Sunday has been found guilty of violating the sabbath law.

Magistrate George Postel gave Darwin Deen a suspended sentence on the charge.

Postel said the law prohibits all work on Sunday except "for charity or necessity." He said that even if Deen owned the house "and did such work, it comes within the confines of the sabbath law."

Deen's lawyer, an American Civil Liberties Union counsel, said he would appeal the conviction.

A PUMPKIN IN THE WINDOW

In ancient times, Halloween became a night specially connected with witches and evil spirits. To scare them away people put lighted pumpkins, cut to look like faces, in their windows. Although we do not believe in witches any more we still practice this old custom of cut-out pumpkin faces.

Black cats are also part of the old Halloween tradition. Every witch was supposed to have a big black cat as companion.

Here is a pumpkin and a cat for your window. Color the framework of the pumpkin brown and paste the picture down on thin cardboard or stiff paper. The tab at the top is for hanging it up, or fastening it to the window pane. Cut away all the dotted gray portions in the pumpkin so that the framework is left, and also cut out the white of the cat's eyes.

Behind the cat's eyes paste green tissue or crepe paper. Cut a piece of orange paper the size of the pumpkin and paste it behind the framework. Then very carefully cut away the line portions of the eyes, mouth and nose and paste clear yellow paper over the back of these openings.

Brownell Promises Safeguards at Polls

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Brownell said today his department is prepared to "act expeditiously and vigorously in every case" of reported election irregularity falling within federal jurisdiction.

"No responsible complaint of discrimination, ballot-box tampering or other possible federal violation will be disregarded," he said in a statement.

"All violations will be dealt with as speedily and as effectively as the law allows."

Brownell said primary responsibility for the conduct of elections rests with the states, and that the federal government has no authority generally to supervise the voting.

However, he asserted:

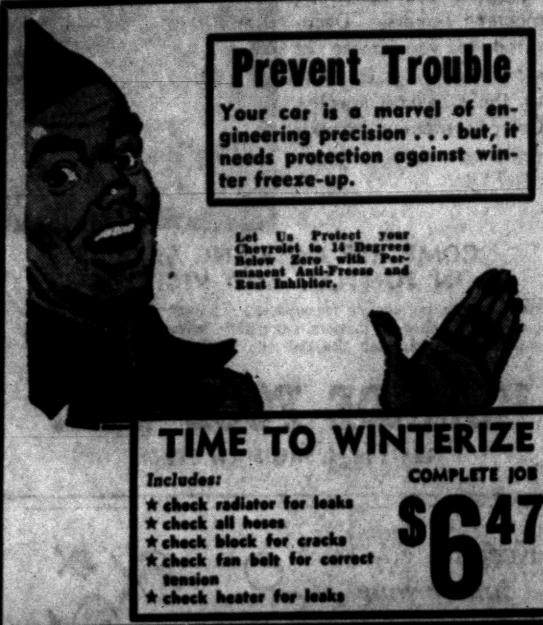

"Where federal jurisdiction does exist, the Department of Justice will act expediciously and vigorously in every case."

Brownell's statement said:

All United States attorneys have been directed to be particularly vigilant and prepared to act upon any allegations or reports that voters have been intimidated, threatened, coerced, or prevented from voting for nominees of their own choice."

Why? LET'S ASK PAUL SUTTON'S OPPONENT WHY!

Maybe you got one of those letters from Washington, on stationery printed at Government expense, stressing the "experience" of Paul Sutton's opponent. Maybe you've even heard this candidate himself talk about his "record."

Let's look at this "Record" as a State legislator that he brags about!

Look at the actual harm he's done to every group in our country!

CONSUMERS AND FARMERS WERE HURT

when Broomfield voted against improved procedures on public utility rate hearings . . . against grade and "seal of quality" labeling to promote the sale of Michigan farm products, and for a sales tax on used cars which means a double sales tax on cars.

Why? . . . Ask Broomfield!

BUSINESSMEN WERE HURT

by loss of purchasing power caused by Broomfield's many votes against adequate unemployment insurance, and for a business receipts tax favored only by big corporations.

Why? . . . Ask Broomfield!

MINORITY GROUPS WERE HURT

when Broomfield voted against FEPC consistently for 6 years, and only voted for it when passage was assured.

Why? . . . Ask Broomfield!

TEACHERS WERE HURT

when Broomfield voted against an assured pay increase for them.

Why? . . . Ask Broomfield!

SCHOOLS AND SCHOOLCHILDREN WERE HURT

by Broomfield's action on bills robbing local government of income to be used for schools, and by his failure to support enforcement of public school fire, safety and sanitation inspection.

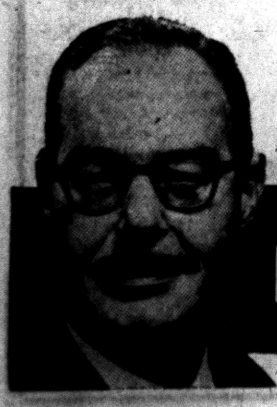

Why? . . . Ask Broomfield!

SICK PEOPLE AND HANDICAPPED CHILDREN WERE HURT

by Broomfield's vote against funds for chronic disease research and care, against adequate Workmen's Compensation, and against purchase of the Oakland County TB Sanatorium for the care of retarded children.

Why? . . . Ask Broomfield!

We can't afford to be represented in Congress by a man with a State record like Broomfield's . . . a man who admits he knows little or nothing about international and national problems.

THE BLONDE DIED DANCING

by KELLEY ROOS

SYNOPSIS

Connie Barton's husband of almost five happy years has made her suspicious lately by his Wednesday night absences: his alibis for going out these evenings have worn thin. So Connie concludes Steve must be having blonde trouble. She resolves to fight fire with fire. She has her jet black hair dyed the blondest blonde and seeks to allure him into staying home. But Steve laughs at her new hair-do and goes out again. Furious, Connie follows him covertly. The trail leads to the fourteenth floor of an office building . . .

Chapter 3

The first thing I saw when my feet hit the soft, luxurious carpeting of the fourteenth floor was an incredibily beautiful blonde talking to an incredibly svelte brunette with glamorous eyeglasses. The first thing I heard was muted, dreamy music. It was more than I could stand.

I turned back toward the elevator bank and, out of the corner of my eye, I saw Steve bouncing jubilantly down a corridor. He opened a door and disappeared. A down car stopped beside me and I stepped into it. Then I stepped back out again.

Gritting my teeth, I walked through the room, on into the corridor, on toward the door. I put my hand gently on its knob to ease it open just an inch, and I found myself staring through a square glassed peephole into the room beyond.

Standing in the center of the room was Steve. His back was to me and he was facing a tall, willowly, ravishing female. Her wide blue eyes were flattering Steve with a heated welcome. Her luuscious bright red mouth was not only generous, it was inviting.

Her figure couldn't have been real, but I was afraid it was . . . and she was a blonde! Very blonde, very, very. But not as blonde as I! My woman's intuition had led me to victory on that point. Otherwise I could see, I was not doing well at all.

Steve moved closer to her, put his arms around her. She shook her flamboyant head at him and he held her tighter. She freed herself and stepped back; she spoke to him with her lips and with her eyes. He held out his arms and she moved expertly into them. They swayed together and Steve stepped on her foot.

I almost cried aloud. I shut my eyes and leaned my forehead against the door. Steve Barton was taking dancing lessons.

He was doing this for me. He was learning to dance for me. When he took me to the Rosewood Room for our anniversary party we wouldn't sit out the evening like a pair of bumps on a log. We would dance!

I opened my eyes and looked again. Steve and the sensational young lady were gliding around the room. His jaw was set with a fierce determination, his forehead was wrinkled in a scowl. He wasn't having fun; he wasn't even enjoying being in the arms of a female like that. He was having a lousy time, he was having a dancing lesson . . . because of me.

He loved me.

I watched the two figures whirl across the floor, and then my heart sank. Steve was waltzing, he was learning to waltz . . . and perhaps that was all he was learning. Perhaps he had insisted on that, not realizing that the number of waltzes a dance band played was next to nil. As a favor to him I would stick around and speak to his teacher after school. I wanted his surprise for me to be perfect.

And then, it wouldn't hurt to let the blonde know that Steve had a wife, also blonde. Just in case she was getting any ideas about him, I'd let her see what long fingernails I had.

I went back to the reception room and sat quietly in a corner. I didn't want the receptionist to notice me and make it necessary for me to explain why I was here. She had enough to do without listening to a lengthy, embarrassed explanations from a suspicious wife. I lit a cigarette and watched this smoothie with the hopped-up spectacles go about her business. She assigned studios to teachers and pupils, directed new students to the head of the school, answered the phone and made entries in the appointment book on her desk.

The girl was not only the most efficient receptionist in town, but it was a good bet she was the most charming. She was a big sister to all the women, but she wasn't that to any of the men.

I could see that she made each man feel that this business was being run solely for him. She had a touch, a very personal touch. She made me wonder if I, in spite of my 20-20 vision, shouldn't invest in a pair of those gold-bedecked odd-shaped glasses.

Looking at her, thinking of Steve's teacher and the other gorgeous faculty members I had spied upon, I realize that my husband certainly knew how to pick a dancing school.

The pupils for the eight o'clock classes were beginning to swarm in now. They were young and old, fat and lean, tall and short. Dancing, it seemed, was here to stay. Suddenly there was nothing in the world I wanted to do so much as dance. Steve was still that way about me.

It was just about eight. I put down the elaborate brochure that made it quite clear that the Crescent School of Dancing was something terrific and watched the reception room fill up with the next period's pupils. I watched a shy, awkward newcomer taken in tow by the receptionist. She led him down one of the three corridors that spoked from the waiting room, led him toward the processing that would make him, too, socially acceptable. And then it was eight o'clock.

In a moment I saw Steve come out of his room and hurry up the corridor. I lost sight of him as he moved into the crowd headed for the elevators. I kept my eye on the door of his studio; I didn't want his teacher to elude me. I waited until I was sure Steve had left the reception room before I started on my errand. I opened the door marked Studio K and went in.

The room was filled with music, a gay, lilting waltz. It was old Vennia, bright uniforms and flashing sabres, long swirling dresses and arch smiles. Steve's teacher had neglected to turn off the music.

She lay still, as still as death, sprawling grotesquely on the smooth shining floor. In her back just below her left shoulder was a small round hole. Her white blouse was slowly turning crimson.

"I dropped beside her, reaching for the piece of paper."

I dropped to my klees beside her, reaching for her wrist. The fingers of her hand were curled around a small, curiously shaped piece of heavy black paper. Her arm was extended almost as if she were handing the paper to me. I took it from her.

It was a cut-out, a silhouette of a beautiful girl's profile . . . and her head was twice pierced by a large, big-eyed darning needle. The needle gleamed wickedly against the black of the silhouette. There was no mistaking the macabre artist's subject. It was the girl who lay sprawled on the floor, her eyes glassy with the horror of sudden death.

I stumbled to my feet and started out of the room. Her murderer was somewhere near, very near. There had only been a minute's time since Steve had left this studio and I had entered it. There had been only a minute for the murderer to slip in through the door and . . .

My legs stopped moving and I stood facing the door, afraid to open it, afraid to turn from it. I had watched that door from the reception room. I had seen Steve come through it, close it behind him. It had not been opened or closed again until I had turned the knob.

I forced myself to turn around, to find the other entrance through which the killer had come, through which he had made his escape.

Four mirrored walls, shining, solid, met my eyes. There was only one means of entrance to this room . . . the door behind me, the door that Steve had used.

I had seen Steve with this girl, and she had been alive. No one but Steve had been in this room with her . . . and now she was dead, murdered.

Chapter 4

Then I was standing in the still crowded reception room, grasping at the edge of the desk for support. The waltzing music was still ringing in my ears, the dead girl's eyes still staring into mine. Beneath me the big desk seemed to roll, the telephones, the stacks of papers, the open register.

It was seeing the name in black and white that snapped me out of it. The letters swam, then straightened themselves.

Steven Barton, they said 7:00—8:00, Anita Farrell, Studio K. It was there in front of me, on the records . . . the name of Anita Farrell's last pupil, the name of Anita Farrell's murderer.

I glanced around. No one was paying me any attention. I reached for the book. My fingers still clutched the cardboard silhouette that I had taken from the teacher's hand. I tucked it between two pages and closed the book. I slipped it under my coat and folded my arms across it. I moved away from the desk and, being unobtrusive, got into an elevator that was headed down.

It was nearly eight-thirty when I reached home. The apartment was empty, but Steve had been there. He had changed into an old pair of more comfortable shoes and gone out again, possibly to look for me. I slid the register under a love seat cushion in the living room and started out to look for him.

He wasn't, and hadn't been, at any of the places where we ate and drank.

At nine-thirty I phoned home. There was no answer. Buy ten-thirty I had been in every bar and restaurant in our neighborhood at least once. I had phoned all of Steve's better friends; I had done everything I could think of to find him. At ten I saw the headlines on the papers:

DANCING TEACHER SLAIN
POLICE SEEK WALTZER

By the light of a street lamp I read the story. The body of beautiful Anita Farrell had been discovered a minute or two after eight o'clock by her eight o'clock pupil at the Crescent School of Dancing. The music for the victim's last lesson, a waltz, was still playing.

The engagement book was missing, but it would only be a question of time before the murderer's identity was discovered. The fact that he had stolen the book proved conclusively that Miss Farrell's killer was her last pupil, the waltzer.

I tucked the newspaper under my arm and started slowly for Lexington Avenue and home. I unlocked the door and went into the living room. Folded up on the love seat lay the Waltzer. He was sound asleep.

I shook him.

"Steve," I said, "Steve, wake up!"

Without opening his eyes he smiled at me. "Hiya, Blondie, where you been? When you weren't home I went to a movie."

"Steve," I said, trying to keep my voice steady, "Steve, you're in trouble . . . terrible trouble."

He opened one eye. "Huh?"

"Your dancing teacher . . . Anita Farrell . . . the Crescent School, Steve . . ."

"Oh." He was still smiling sleepily at me, amused by my new color scheme. "You know about me dancing. Well, I'll tell you, I can explain everything . . ."

"Steve, wake up! There's been a murder! And the police are looking for you!"

"The police . . . looking for me?"

"It was your teacher who was murdered. The police think you did it. They're looking for you because they think you're the killer."

He stood up. He was wide awake now. "Did you say Anita Farrell was murdered? That I . . . I'm the murderer?"

I handed him the newspaper, waited until he had read the story. Then I told him my story, starting with my trailing him downtown, ending with my reading in the paper that only he could be the Waltzer. I showed him the silhouette I had taken from the dead girl's hand. I listened silently to it all.

* * *

"The police," he said, "don't know yet that I'm the Waltzer."

"No, because I stole the appointment book."

"But they'll soon know. There must be other records at the school."

"Yes, I said. "It's only a question of time. They'll know . . . and they'll be coming after you, Steve?"

"Yeah?"

"I know you didn't kill her."

"Thanks."

"Deep down in my heart I know you're not a murderer."

"Thanks again."

"But . . ."

"But what?"

Suddenly it was all too much for me. I collapsed into a blubbering heap.

My eyes were streaming tears, my shoulders shaking, my hands trembling as I implored my husband to assure me, though it wasn't at all necessary . . . but just for the records, to please say out loud for me to hear that he had not killed Anita Farrell.

"Connie," he said and sat down beside me on the love seat. "Connie," he said, "I went through grade school, high school and a certain amount of Sunday school without rubbing out any of my teachers. With an enviable record like that how can there be any doubt that I could do the same with dancing school."

He dried my tears. He got up and walked around the room, then sat down again, this time on the arm of a love seat. He was thoughtful, wondering, and mostly worried.

"She was alive when I left her," he said. "Somebody got into that studio between the time I left and when you went in and found her dead."

"No," I said dismally, "nobody did. I was watching all the time."

"Connie, somebody . . . somehow, got in there and put a bullet in her back."

"How, Steve? There's only one door, no windows."

"Could anyone posisbly have got through that door without your seeing him? Couldn't you possibly be wrong about that? Think hard, Connie!"

I thought hard; I prayed that I could be wrong about it. I said, "I never took my eyes off that door. Nobody opened it between the times you and I did."

"Well," Steve said, "that's that."

"No, there's an answer to this. We've got to find it."

Steve roamed the room as though he were physically searching for that answer. I stayed where I was. Neither of us was using the right method. The silence of our frustration lengthened into minutes. At last Steve dropped desperately into the love seat opposite me. He looked at the silhouette on the coffee table. He picked it up, studied it.

"Yes," I said, "and what about that!"

"The killer probably put it in her hand after he shot her."

"But why, Steve?"

"I don't know . . ."

"Steve," I said, and what I was thinking sent chill through me. "Steve, it's like voodoo, isn't it? That needle through her silhouette is like a needle through a doll's heart . . . a hex.

Maybe the murder handed it to her before he killed her, let her get the significance of it. Maybe he wanted her to suffer for a horrible moment before she died."

A policeman is knocking at Steve's door as "The Blonde Died Dancing" continues tomorrow.

Navy Cancels Visit, Sails for Secret Point

THE HAGUE (AP)—An American naval force today was ordered to break off a visit to the Netherlands and leave at noon for a secret destination, a U.S. Embassy spokesman announced.

The ships are those of the U.S. Atlantic Fleet's Hunter Killer Group No. 2. They include the aircraft carrier Antietam, six destroyers, two submarines and a tanker.

Because of the current Middle East crisis, there was immediate speculation that the ships had been ordered to join the U.S. 6th Fleet in the eastern Mediterranean.

Four Candidates From Area State Election Qualifications

(Editor's Note: This is the first of three articles outlining the qualifications and policies of Oakland County candidates for local, state and national offices. Future articles will include candidates for the Michigan legislature and for county offices.)

William S. Broomfield, Republican, opposes Democrat Paul Sutton for election to the U.S. House of Representatives from Oakland County, Michigan's 18th Congressional District.

Republican L. Harvey Lodge faces Fred Elias in the Oakland County race for election as State Senator from the 12th Senatorial District.

WILLIAM S. BROOMFIELD

Now State Senator, Broomfield, 34, of Royal Oak, seeks election to replace retiring Rep. George A. Dondero, Oakland County's Representative for 24 years.

Broomfield, who carries Dondero's endorsement, has served three terms in the Legislature and one term as senator. He was the youngest man in Michigan's history to serve as speaker pro tem of the House.

An Air Force veteran, Broomfield attended Royal Oak schools and Michigan State University. He is married and has two children.

His statement:

"I pledge my fullest support to President Eisenhower and the policies of his administration. I support the President's proposal for a tax cut for small businessmen, and I pledge fair consideration for all proposed legislation which would affect the working man.

"I will seek federal assistance in working out Oakland County's water, road and drain problems, but I believe we should not ask for financial aid until we have examined and exhausted our own resources. In the long run, federal aid is too exorbitant.

"I believe the same policy should apply to education. I will support federal aid to schools in needy areas if local control of the schools is assured.

"If elected, I will maintain two offices to better serve my constituents in the north and south ends of Oakland County, providing direct contact with my Washington office."

PAUL SUTTON

Paul Sutton, 45, of Royal Oak, fleet sales director for a trucking firm, won the Democratic primary in 1954 but lost to Rep. George A. Dondero.

Sutton, active in the party since 1927, is a past chairman of the Royal Oak City Democratic Committee.

Born in New Mexico, Sutton served in the Army during World War II and has lived in Oakland County since 1951. His professional experience has included radio, television, newspaper and motion picture industries.

A past commander in the American Legion, Sutton is married and has two children.

His statement:

"In Washington, I will work to the limits of my ability to bring back to Oakland County a fair share in the return of our taxpayers' dollars.

"We have never gotten our share of the federal tax dollar; instead, our money has gone to pay for projects in other states.

"Local projects, such as the Twelve Town Drain, cannot be completed without federal aid. The current deadlock in the Twelve Town Drain illustrates the intolerable tax burden imposed on local communities if they are forced to carry the whole load.

"I will also work to take foreign policy out of politics, and restore the bipartisan approach to our relations with other countries. At present, we have no foreign policy.

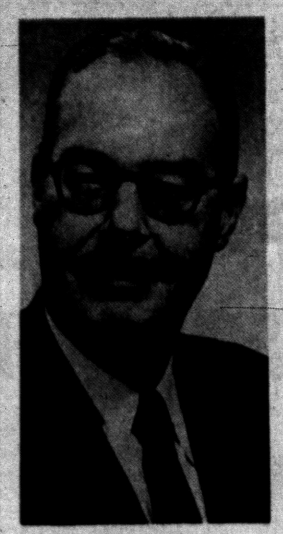

"The present shortage of 375,000 classrooms is a national disgrace. We must have federal aid to education, and I pledge myself to try to get it."

FRED ELIAS

L. HARVEY LODGE

Seeking election as state senator from Oakland County, Republican L. Harvey Lodge, 43, of Drayton Plains, is a Pontiac attorney and former Michigan assistant attorney general.

Lodge has been Oakland County Prosecutor, Pontiac's state representative, and director and twice president of the Michigan Children's Aid Society. He has also served on the Pontiac Housing Commission, and been a board member for the Clinton Valley Council of Boy Scouts of America.

A graduate of the University of Michigan, Lodge took his legal training at the University's law school.

He is a member of the local, state and national bar associations, Elks, Masons, and the Michigan Union, and holds honorary memberships from Lake Orion Lions Club and the Railroad Cooperative League of Michigan.

Married, Lodge is a lifetime resident of Oakland County.

His statement:

"I will use my extensive education and experience to secure legislation to help Oakland County solve its many problems. I am particularly concerned with those including roads, water supply, drains and sewers, and education.

"We need not only four-lane divided highways, but improvements in our woefully neglected secondary roads.

"We must have plentiful water at a minimum cost, and we must control the supply and the cost without interference from other government units.

"Drainage and sewage disposal, essential to public health and welfare, must be provided on the same terms.

"Suitable educational facilities and personnel must be provided for our children and for a more advanced system of adult education."

FRED ELIAS

Hazel Park restauranteur Fred Elias, 42, also seeks election as Oakland County state senator.

Part owner of six drive-in restaurants in the Detroit suburban area, Elias was the Democratic nominee for the post in 1954.

A member of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors, Elias serves on the board of directors of the Michigan Restaurant and Caterers' Association. He is a past president of the Michigan Drive In Assn. and the Hazel Park Businessmen's Association.

A county resident for 15 years, Elias is married and has three children.

His statement:

"I support Governor Williams efforts to 'build Michigan,' and I am anxious to get results on such important issues as highways, taxes, unemployment, fair employment practices, old age needs, water problems, schools, civil defense and the many other pertinent affairs of the people of Oakland County.

"My main objective in seeking election as state senator is to fairly represent all of the people of Oakland County, and not just giant corporations and or special interests.

"I feel it is everybody's right to have a good home, a good job, a family, individual liberty and security."

CAT-A-PULTING—Speed and grace are combined as this cat leaps across the space between him and his dinner, perched on top of a car beside a weatherbeaten ranch building near Billings, Mont. The photographer, rancher Palmer M. Federson, waited patiently for the cat to close the gap, clicked his shutter as the animal leaped, and then set out to talk the puss out of it. The shot recently won an award in a national contest sponsored by a national photography magazine.

First Time in 14 Years

West Virginia May Send Republican Senator to Washington

By HARRY W. BALL

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—For the first time in 14 years, West Virginia Republicans are rated a fairly even chance of sending a senator to Washington.

This is in a state that has been heavily Democratic since the Roosevelt sweep of 1932.

West Virginians have supported every Democratic presidential candidate since then and have elected Democratic governors.

The only Republican breakthrough in the Senate occurred when Chapman Revercomb, Charleston attorney, defeated Matthew M. Neely in 1942.

Revercomb, now 61, is up for the third time to try to regain the Senate seat. He has been unsuccessful in two previous attempts since 1949.

His opponent is William Casey Marland, 38, winding up a four-year term as the youngest governor in the state's history.

The two are seeking the remaining two years of the Senate term of the late Harley M. Kilgore, who died unexpectedly last Feb. 28.

Marland moved quickly into the situation after Kilgore's death. He named an old college chum, politically unknown William R. Laird III of Fayetteville, as "stand-in" senator while he busied himself getting nominated in the May 8 primary.

The primary built up an intra-party head of steam which blew off when former Gov. Okey Patteson apologized in a statewide radio speech for hwat he said was his poor judgment in backing Marland as his successor.

Marland won his own primary race by 13,290 votes but the state-house-backed candidate for governor, Milton Ferguson, lost out to Rep. Robert H. Mollohan, supported by Sen. Neely in a mild party rift.

Democratic politicians made the usual ostentatious motions of binding up the primary wounds, but there have been mutterings about this or that party stalwart "taking a walk."

In fact, there is a full-fledged organization of Democrats headquartered in a Charleston hotel working for the election of President Eisenhower, Revercomb and Cecil H. Underwood, the Republican opponent of Mollohan for governor.

Democrats also are bothered by a public clamor over a so-called "flower fund."

This is a device, acknowledged for the first time publicly in the Democratic primary, by which certain state employes are tapped for a percentage of their earnings to support the political campaign.

An offshoot was the arrest of Henry McKinley, business manager of the state-s biggest mental hospital, charged with illegal solicitation of staff employes for political funds. His case is pending.

Such are some of the minus signs on the Democratic ledger.

On the plus side is the Democrats' continuing one-sided majority on the registration books, numbering presently about 254,000. Another cornerstone is the labor vote, although no longer the potent deliverable bloc it was back in the '30s and '40s.

Some Democrats say they would rate Maryland's opponent better odds if it were anybody but Revercomb.

They cite Revercomb's ultra-conservative record during his six years in the Senate, his inability to generate warmth as a campaigner and to inspire wholehearted enthusiasm within his own party.

agree that Marland may be on shaky grounds — he was elected governor by just 27,000 majority—but they are counting on the "ticket" to put him across.

Study Sea Water Conversion

U. S. Government Needs Beach for Saline Water Experimentation

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government is about ready to take its salt water conversion program to the seashore.

One difficulty is that the Interior Department's office of saline water has no beach it can call its own.

"We need an experiment station by the sea," said David S. Jenkins, government scientist coordinating research to find an economical method or methods of converting sea water into fresh water for industrial, domestic and specialized agricultural use.

"We have three processes now, and expect to have others developed in laboratories, that we have to take to the seashore where we can have an unlimited supply of sea water to work with. But there is no place to go.

"The result is that we are having to beg and borrow facilities."

Negotiations now are under way for the use of an industrial plant on the North Carolina coast to house a long tube vertical evaporator of the type used by the salt industry.

In this case, however, W. L. Badger of Ann Arbor, Mich., has worked out what Jenkins describes as "one of the best looking processes" for the use of the evaporator to take salt out of water.

"Badger believes," Jenkins said, "that it is possible to obtain water by this method at a cost of $100 to $125 an acre foot, if only the formation of scale in the equipment can be eliminated."

HUGE ALLOCATION

The prospects are so favorable that the saline water office has allocated $135,000 of its $550,000 appropriation for this year to set up one operating model 30 feet high at a seaside location. More money will be needed next year if this year's tests are successful.

"It will operate on sea water under various conditions to determine the best means of controlling scale," Jenkins said.

In the four years of the government-sponsored program to date, research has been confined largely to contract work in universities, private scientific laboratories and industrial institutions.

One such experiment under way now by contract with a refrigeration equipment manufacturer is a freezing process which Jenkins said "looks very good if one or two technical obstacles now being investigated can be overcome."

The final outcome of the research, he said, is not likely to be the selection of one process to the exclusion of all others, but possibly the development within 5 to 15 years of several methods each adaptable to a specific purpose.

Mere Facts Can't Brush Away Stardust

No Logic Discourages Would-Be Actress

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS) — The girl wants to be an actress. And that —no use trodding on the dream, kindly counselors—is that.

You wonder: What strange bombardment of moon-spots, what lovely visions of glory, what inner need for an outward expression of love, makes a girl decide that this is the only thing she wants? Life on the wicked stage or immortalization on a wide screen scale.

The only thing to do is face it. This is the career that, at one time or another, nearly every girl with her head above the clouds of adolescence is going to proclaim is the only life for her.

Actress Shirley Booth once said, "It's the way to get over a deep inferiority complex, being onstage; you become another person and shed your own frightened personality." Marilyn Monroe, unthinking, has achieved this same satisfaction on screen.

Other girls take up acting because of a need to be loved. In the midst of all the insecurities and uncertainties of the acting profession, they find immense security and certainty in the adoration of an audience.

FEELING OF FRUGALITY

Jayne Mansfield, like hundreds of other girls, we wager, took up acting out of an inborn feeling of frugality. You don't put good legs under a desk or weaken great, expressive eyes, with over-reading. It's a waste.

Whatever the reason girls want to be actresses, the fact is clear that there is no point trying to talk them out of their cravings. A girl with ambitions to be a nurse may be disillusioned by physical tests showing she is unfit for the stress.

A potential writer may be discouraged by a poor showing on aptitude tests. A would-be wife sometimes may be talked out of domesticity by a man who can sell an acre of primrose path.

But a drama-minded girl must talk herself out of her whimsy, for a desire for glamor is an ephemeral thing which cannot be erased by such a stodgy professor as logic.

Of millions of teenagers who want to be "in lights" one day, a handful persist long enough to pick up a paycheck. One of these is Dorothy McGuire, a girl who everyone in Omaha, her home town, would have figured for a housewife or schoolteacher.

GLAMOR SHUNNED

She never indulged in glamor, was naive as a school girl, attended a convent school and never forgot to be ladylike, achieved success at an early age merely by refusing to consider any other profession but acting.

"The fates," she believes, "looked down on me and said, 'This girl will never get anywhere without plenty of help.'"

So saying, they had her walk casually into the office of Producer John Golden one day and say, in a voice that expressed both innocence and ignorance: "My name is Dorothy McGuire. Somebody told me you were casting a play."

Golden, who was looking for a combination of innocence and ignorance, cast her an hour later as "Claudia" in the Rose Franken play of the same name. From that moment on, Miss McGuire survived more than 15 years in Hollywood as the sweet, clean-cut movie queen.

"I don't know what the moral to that is," she says gently. "Unless it could be 'life is what luck makes it.'"

We have a different idea. Consider Miss McGuire, you would-be actresses, and abide by Ira Gershwin's immortal advice — "Live clean, don't have no faults."

Rheumatic Fever Worst Up to 20

Chances for Survival Grow Better With Age, Survey Shows

CINCINNATI (AP)—Age 20 appears to be a magic age for persons with a history of rheumatic fever, the American Heart Association (AHA) was told yesterday.

Two New York researchers told the association's annual scientific meeting that children who have had rheumatic fever and who reach their 20th birthday with only moderate heart enlargement or moderate leakage of a heart valve may look forward to a life almost as long as any of their non-affected contemporaries.

Dr. May G. Wilson and Dr. Wan Lim, reporting the longest follow-up of rheumatic fever patients on record, told this story:

Review of the history of 787 out of 1,042 children observed during a 40-year period who reached the age of 20 or more produced the following findings:

1. Outlook for survival was primarily determined by the extent of heart damage sustained in the first two decades of life.

2. In four-fifths of the patients surveyed, only moderate heart enlargement was noted; and in more than one-half, damage to heart valves could be considered minimal.

3. Recurrence of active rheumatic inflammation of the heart —which may increase heart damage—took place in less than three per cent of cases after the age of 20.

4. In general, adults with rheumatic heart disease have a more favorable outlook for survival than children. Among patients 20 to 52 years old, the average annual death rate was just about one-half that found among patients under 20.

The doctors said that survival curves for the entire group of patients who reached the age of 20 indicated that more than four-fifth would live to be at least 45.

Erie Water Director Keeps Eye on Illinois

CLEVELAND (AP) — John H. Byrne, executive director of the Lake Erie Watershed Conservation Foundation, says he will try to find out whether a measure to divert water from Lake Michigan is only "temporary."

Byrne referred to reports the Army Corps of Engineers has agreed to increase the amount of water diverted from Lake Michigan from 900 to 2,600 cubic feet per second, for 10 days. The water goes into the Illinois Waterways System.

The purpose of the change is to correct a low water condition which curtails river navigation and threatens coal hauling and other fuel in the St. Louis area.

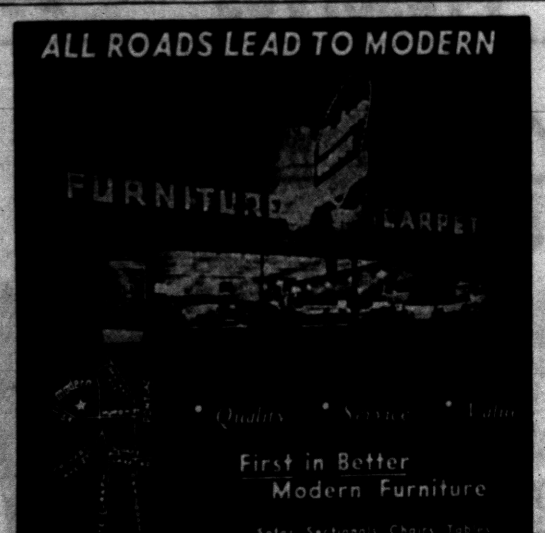

"They say it is a temporary measure," Byrne said, "but is it?"

He said continuing action of this nature "could ruin our plans for piping Lake Erie water to the southernmost parts of our watershed into Lorain, Summit, Portage, Lake, Ashtabula, Geauga and Medina Counties to provide for the growth of those areas."

County Teachers Attending Institute

Oakland County teachers finished their two-day session of Fall Institute meetings today with two general sessions with St. Clair and Macomb county teachers at Masonic Temple in Detroit today.

Top speakers at the two sessions included Clair L. Taylor, state superintendent of public instruction; Adm. Ellis Zacharias, retired from the U.S. Navy; The Rev. William H. Alexander, minister of the First Christian Church, Oklahoma City, Okla., and Francis W. Beedon, president of the Michigan Education Assn.

Over 330 Oakland County teachers attended the luncheon meeting yesterday at Madison Junior High School, which was interspersed between some 50 small group meetings scattered in schools throughout the city.

Beedon addressed teachers at the luncheon, telling them of the National Education Assn. plans for its centennial celebration scheduled for April, 1957.

Beedon said the Association would seek a special stamp to be issued by the Postal Department to honor teachers and educators in the United States and "the hundred years of service of NEA."

Beedon stressed NEA life membership to the Oakland County teachers and explained the dues of the group.

Presiding over the session was Bonita Wentland, Ferndale teacher at Lincoln High School, and NEA director from Region 7.

President of the county group is Mrs. Mildred Williams, homebound teacher for the Oakland County school system.

U.S. Demands Recall of Russian U.N. Aide

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — The United States has accused the second secretary of the Soviet U. N. delegation of helping to spirit little Tanya Chwastov out of America and has demanded his recall.

Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., chief U. S. delegate to the U. N., delivered a note to the Russian delegation saying that the actions of Second Secretary Konstantin P. Ekimov "constitute an abuse of the privilege of his residence in the United States."

The note continued that Ekimov's actions "were outside the scope of his official capacity . . . and therefore in violation of the provisions of the headquarters agreements between the United Stats and the United Nations."

Russia in the past has complied promptly with such requests.

Tanya, 2½ years old and born in America, was taken to England Oct. 3 by her Russian-born father Alexei Chawstov over the protests of her mother, Mrs. George Dieczok of Detroit. Chwastov aws trying to take the child to Russia, but a custody suit brought in England by Mrs. Dieczok halted the flight in London. The child is being held there as a ward of the court until the suit is decided.

A large houseboat will form India's border post at Bihari-Khal on the West Bengal, East Pakistan border. The post is 36 hours' trip from Calcutta.

Late Hymn Singing Headed for Legal Test

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) —Nighttime hymn-singing appears headed for a circuit court test. Householders told a county prosecutor their rest was disturbed by singing up to 11:30 p.m. and sometimes till midnight, three times a week, in a West Hollywood church.

The Rev. E. M. Muncy, pastor of the West Hollywood Church of God, said group singing was the manner in which the rites of his church are conducted "throughout the world." Asst. County Solicitor Richard Cory said he would recommend a suit for a temporary injunction be filed "to stop the singing or bring about some measure of relief for the neighbors."

Water Plans Bubble Toward Million Dollar Mark

Troy Voting on Water Aid

Retake on Procedure Required; Vote Taken Is Unanimous

TROY—Forced to go through legal procedures that initially took all summer, city commissioners last night took one major step toward arranging for water main installations that may cost close to $375,000.

There will be 21 special assessment districts in the new plan, instead of a lumped-together plan or originally used.

Totaling the figure made bonding attorneys balk early this month, throwing out the lengthy hearings and readying for bonding for the plan to provide water for residents now using individual wells or building new homes.

"I'm afraid we won't have the work started this fall," said Lawson Lockhart, city clerk, but he expressed optimism on progress to have the project under way by spring.

Last night's step was a hearing of necessity, with all 21 units carried with no objections. Some units are for streets, others for subdivisions.

The city is asking bids for Nov. 7 at 10 a.m., when they will be opened, for tap service from residences to water mains, for the next six month term.

Low bid of $2,225 plus three trade ins was accepted for two new cars, one for police and the other for city use, from Paul Riemenschneider, Pontiac auto dealer. The cars, Plymouths, are one eight, and one six cylinder vehicles.

Freed From Jail to Vote for Dems

DETROIT (AP)—Eddie Brown, 40, of Midland, serving 30 days for drunkenness, won a reduction of sentence from a Detroit judge. He said he wanted to vote for the Democrats again.

Recorder's Judge Joseph A. Gillis said in suspending sentence: "Far be it from me to stand in the way of a Democratic vote."

Brown had written Judge Gillis a penciled note saying, "Please, Your Honor, will you be kind enough to reduce my sentence and let me out of prison in time to vote in Midland Nov. 6."

Ordered back to court, Brown told Gillis that he voted for Stevenson and Michigan Gov. Williams in 1952. He said he would do it again, if released. Gillis had sentenced Brown to 30 days for drunkenness, Oct. 20.

Tornado Warning Idea Wins $25 for Fireman

DETROIT (INS) — A Detroit fireman has won $25 for an idea which will benefit city residents if a tornado ever hits.

Fireman Robert E. Flaherty, 35, suggested a special telegraphic signal to alert all fire units to stand by for orders over the fire department radio system in event of a tornado or other emergency.

THEIR FIRST JACK-O-LANTERN—Toshiko Okitsu, a Japanese student at Milford, and a black cat, look forward to the pranks of Halloween. Toshiko and the young cat investigate the first carved pumpkin they've met firsthand.

A Novice at Halloween

Pumpkins, Broomsticks Puzzling Japanese Girl

By REBA HEINTZELMAN
Milford Correspondent

MILFORD — "What is Hallowe'en?"—that is the question that Toshiko Okitsu, Milford's first Japanese exchange student, would like to know. She is sponsored by the American Field Service.

For weeks she has been completely baffled by all the preparation that goes to make up this one gala night in the year, especially for youngsters.

Every store window on Main street in Milford is completely covered with grotesque goblins, ghosts, witches on broomsticks and spooky owls sitting in front of pale moons. Elementary school children painted the windows Monday, and prizes were awarded for the best.

This year a bumper crop of bright pumpkins are for sale along the highways and the various faces that are cut in the vegetable, make Toshi more curious than ever.

Orange and black decorations fill the stores and there seems to be no limit as to the "trick or treat" business. All this is very confusing to the pretty teenager from "the land of the setting sun."

Toshi is a quiet-spoken student who was born and raised in Tokyo, Japan, 17 years ago. She has three sisters and a brother and her father is the factory superintendent of one of the largest automobile assembly plants in the Far East.

Although she speaks the English language very well, Toshi has trouble understanding Americans. She studied English for nine years of her schooling from a nun at a private Mission in Japan. "English—not American," she stressed—"They are quite different, you know."

Tomorrow night Main street will be closed and children of all ages will parade through the town in every conceivable costume.

Hundreds of youngsters from all over Oakland County are expected to be on hand for the free cider, apples and prizes for all.

A big dance at the Teen Canteen will climax the evening, and when it is all over, Toshi will be able to say, "Now I know what this American Hallowe'en is—and it's FUN!"

Pie and coffee will be served.

Registered Voters Total 43,641 in City

There are 43,641 registered voters in Pontiac qualified to vote in the Nov. 6 election.

Pontiac City Clerk Ada R. Evans revealed this finalized figure yesterday after her office counted some 2,000 cancellations of registration.

The cancellations come in from other townships and voting areas where former Pontiac residents have moved, she said.

There were 43,006 registered for the general election in 1953.

Oak Park Plans Bonding Half Million for Water

OAK PARK—Tentative approval to borrow $550,000 in bonds to help finance a water works project was given at an executive session of council here last night.

Water Supt. Joseph Johnson said this morning that approval was also given to use approximately $100,000 of service funds from the water department for the project.

Improvements will include a 4-million gallon reservoir and two pumping stations.

Slate Meeting in New Church

St. Andrew Men Plan to Hear Finance Talk at Williams Lake

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — The Rev. I. C. Johnson, rector of St. John's Church of Detroit and finance chairman of the Michigan diocese, will speak tonight at 8, to a gathering of men of St. Andrews Episcopal Church, Drayton Plains, at the Wililams Lake School, at Airport and Hatchery Roads.

The meeting will be adjourned to the new building, and will be the first men's gathering there, at 5301 Hatchery Rd. The building, practically completed, is having its piano and stove moved in today.

St. Monica's guild, new social service group, will serve a dessert at 7:30 p. m.

The session is in preparation for the annual, every-member canvas set for Sunday. Carl H. Methner and F. J. Mansfield are co-chairman of the drive.

The Rev. Mr. Johnson will be introduced by the Rev. Waldo R. Hunt, vicar of the church, as well as possibly Dr. Paul Rusch of Japan, a missionary.

Deer Hits Cities but Disappears Without Trace

A creature of the wild—a graceful deer—decided to take in a little city living yesterday and went visiting busy Berkley and Huntington Woods.

But life was a little different with all those people around. A combination of police, traffic, a few buildings and the local dog catcher confused the deer.

Patrolman LeRoy Snider of Huntington Woods said the animal was headed toward the Detroit Zoological Park in Royal Oak. A check there disclosed the zoo's deer herd complete.

Jonathan A. Truxton, assistant director of the Detroit Zoo, said the deer was not one of theirs. "Where it came from, or where it went, no one seems to know."

Witnesses said the deer (whether it was a buck or doe, no one agrees) romped through a few backyards and down a few streets.

Mrs. Albert Gresko, 814 Mohawk, Royal Oak, said she was stopped at the light at Twelve Mile and Woodward when she spotted the deer "running bewildered and confused back and forth near the entrance of a cemetery."

She started up her car when the deer jumped in front of it. "It rolled over and over and was nearly hit by another car," Mrs. Gresko said. "Then it got up and ran toward the protection of some houses."

Mrs. Gresko reported a damaged headlight on her auto.

A police search spotted the animal about a half hour later but that was the last report.

Troy PTSA Sets Teenager Party

2nd Halloween Event at 7 P.M. Wednesday in Gymnasium

TROY—The Troy High School PTSA will present its second annual Halloween party Wednesday, from 7 until 9:45 p. m., in the high school gymnasium for all Troy High students.

General chairman in charge of the affair is again Lawrence Lage. "There is no charge for admission or refreshments," Lage said. "Everything is free. In addition, a wide variety of games and prizes will be offered."

"This is PTSA's way of keeping our kids off the streets where they can get into mischief," Lage explained. "The cooperating sponsorship of local merchants and industries through their donations of merchandise and cash makes this sort of activity possible," he continued. Last year's party was a great success, with more than 400 young people in attendance. The PTSA expects an even more successful affair this year, according to Lage.

Helping with games, prizes and refreshments at the high school Wednesday will be Mrs. Barbara Hammond, Ann Radwanski, Mrs. Sally Morrow, Mrs. Jean Osborne, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Willcock, William Decker, Robert Nyquist, Donald Hill, Noble Culp and Jack Muir.

Student entertainment committee, under the direction of Rev. Robert Ward, chairman, includes Jeff Osborne, Betty Kujala, Adda Mae Akin, Lucille Koehler, Connie Kramerich and Bonnie Pirkle. Clark Gill is chairman of the collections commitee; assisting him have been Mrs. Jean Osborne, Mrs. Libby Ford and Mrs. Lorraine Halsey.

Doctor Tells Why Housewives Tire Faster Than Men

CINCINNATI (AP) — Housewives burn up more energy than most hubbies do on their jobs, a Cleveland heart specialist says.

Dr. Herman K. Hellerstein of Western Reserve University's School of Medicine said the average housewife burns from three to five calories of energy per minute.

This, he said, is more than is burned up by men on most jobs, except such occupations as "foundry workers, farmers, jobs entailing manhandling of materials and dock workers."

Britain Sends Fleet to Mideast

Joins France and U.S. in Emergency Talks on Israel-Arab Crisis

LONDON (AP) — Britain sent a massive fleet churning through the eastern Mediterranean today and began emergency talks with the United States and France on the new fighting in the Middle East.

Both Prime Minister Eden and French Premier Mollet held special Cabinet meetings, and Mollet and Foreign Minister Christian Pineau arranged flights to London today to meet with Eden and Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd.

Eden was expected to discuss the Middle East crisis in Parliament later today.

Both governments were in frequent contact with the State Department in Washington. Informants said an early meeting of Lloyd and Pineau with U.S. Secretary of State Dulles was possible, to seek agreement on a Western approach to the crisis produced by Israel's lightning stab into Egypt toward the vital Suez Canal.

While the diplomats conferred, a huge British fleet steamed through the eastern Mediterranean toward the trouble zone. An admiralty spokesman said it was engaged in "a full-scale replenishment and communications exercise."

The fleet left Malta yesterday. It included two cruisers, two fleet aircraft carriers, destroyer and frigate squadrons, submarines, marine transports and supply ships.

But Walled Lake Ironing Them Out

Rapid Growth Brings Many Problems

Editor's Note: This is the second in a series of articles describing the rapid growth of Walled Lake and its surrounding area.

George A. Shaw, city manager, came to Walled Lake only a little more than a month ago. He had previously been assistant manager at Mexico, Mo. He admits frankly that Walled Lake's rapid growth has brought many problems.

"One of our big tasks is to get the city's new municipal organization established and functioning properly," he pointed out.

"Probably our biggest single problem is a badly needed sewage disposal system," he added. "Everyone in Walled Lake is served by septic tanks. Novi township is now working on a project to provide for sewage disposal there, and there is a possibility that we may join with them.

"We have our own police department with three officers including Chief James Decker. We have two police cars, which are radio controlled through the sheriff's department.

"We have a volunteer fire department in charge of Acting Chief Ray Price and Assistant Chief Art Graham. We took over the fire hall from Novi Township and bought a 750-gallon pumper. We are remodeling the fire station and plan to move some of our municipal offices there when that work is completed.

"We are working on a new zoning ordinance to replace the Commerce Township ordinance which we worked under temporarily.

"We are working on a program to blacktop three major streets and one subdivision street, but the actual blacktopping will have to wait until next spring. That program will be financed by special assessments, with the city bearing part of the cost.

"We look forward to the time when the city may have a central water system. Thus far public water is provided in two subdivisions. These two water supplies have been turned over to the city by the developers of the subdivisions.

"One of our big problems of course is that the rapid growth of our population means more people to serve, with the inevitable lag between the need for municipal services and the receipt of the additional tax funds.

"Another problem we now are discussing is the revaluation of all the property in the city to reduce the present high equalization factor. Our total valuation for 1956 was $2,574,270, including both real and personal; but our equalized valuation was over five million dollars. Our tax rate is $15 a thousand."

Walled Lake's rapid growth is pinpointed by the increase in the number of registered voters. Only 600 registered to vote on the first attempt at incorporation in 1952. Today 1,383 voters are registered. This is an increase of 401 over the special election only a year and a half ago when incorporation was approved.

Clare Riley, president of the Walled Lake Chamber of Commerce, doesn't have to use any superlatives to describe the area's growth.

"Our surveys showed we had 62 business firms in Walled Lake seven years ago," he said. "Today we have 85 in the city alone and some 142 counting all of Commerce Township.

"We are seeking to promote better relations and improved conditions in the city and the surrounding area. We joined in a University of Michigan survey and are trying to carry out its recommendations. We are cooperating with the city to make this a better place in which to live.

"We are trying to eliminate scavenger organiaztions from coming in to fleece the public, people with no licenses and no local business establishments.

"We are proud of the Midwest Ski Meet we put on last summer. We had competitors from 13 states. It was the biggest such event ever held in this whole section of the country.

"We have 45 members in our chamber at present without any real campaign for new members this year. We keep in mind that Walled Lake has three business districts, and we try to sponsor promotions that will help everybody. We hope to decorate the city this year for the Christmas holidays.

"The Sinclair Refining Co. made a survey of this area recently. Using this survey as a basis, we expect the city to double in population in the next five years. Today it has double its population of 10 years ago. Two big factors noted in the survey were the new Lincoln plant and the St. Lawrence Seasay."

Ward Richards, manager of the Walled Lake Branch of Community National Bank, translates the community's growth into dollars.

"Our total footings have increased two million dollars in the last five years," he said "They are $4,400,000 today. We had 3,851 accounts in 1951. Today we have 6,097.

"We had to remodel our building last spring to care for the increased business. We formerly had five tellers' windows. Now we have 13. Nine years ago we were serving some 5,000 people in our whole area. Now we serve 20,000 within a 10 mile radius.

"The Post Office has had the same experienece. It had three mail routes then. Now it has five."

Richards cited new industries as a big factor in the community's growth, together with the steady move in population outward from Detroit.

He mentioned the increased price of land as one of the noticeable results of the growing population, as builders and developers plan new subdivisions. As late as 1953, one could buy land for from $200 to $250 an acre near Walled Lake. Today it brings from $1,000 to $1,500 an acre.

"I would estimate that between 300 and 400 new homes are being built in the area this year," Richards said.

Williams, Cobo Slug It Out

With Election Day Only One Week Off, GOP, Dems Step Up Campaign Tempo

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

One week from today Michigan goes to the polls.

And both the Republicans and the Democrats are stepping up the campaign tempo.

Gov. G. Mennen Williams, seeking a fifth term on the Democratic ticket, began his day at 5:45 a.m. shaking hands at the gates of the first of six Lansing factories he was to visit.

Williams also planned swings into Mason, Holt and New Delhi Township before ending his day with a speech to a Democratic dinner in Port Huron tonight.

Detroit Mayor Albert E. Cobo, attempting to unseat Williams as the Republican nominee, concentrated in populous Wayne County in the hopes of cutting down on past majorities Williams has rolled up there.

The mayor had luncheon with a group of Catholic priests in Birmingham, then swung back to Detroit to pump hands. He has a telecast scheduled for 7:30 p.m., will address a Spanish-American rally at Detroit's downtown riverside hall at 8 p.m., then go to Plymouth for a speech at the Veterans of Foreign Wars hall.

PATHS CROSS

Cobo's and Williams' paths crossed yesterday in Detroit, where Cobo addressed the Economic Club and Williams did a statewide telecast.

Cobo described the Republican party's concept as one in which the business of government is conducted so that the people "know what the next move will be."

He said there was "proof of unrest and lack of confidence" in the Williams administration and accused the governor of advocating liberal programs which Cobo said cannot be carried out.

"That," the mayor said, "is one of the oldest forms of political maneuver, but unfortunately it does not produce anything."

TWO CONCEPTS

Williams dwelt upon what he said were differences of concepts between the GOP and the Democratic Party in his telecast, saying:

"Some have put it in historical terms — the difference between Alexander Hamilton, who wanted rule by the rich and the wellborn because he didn't trust people, and Thomas Jefferson, who trusted the people, believed in their collective wisdom, and wanted them to run their own government.

"But in modern terms, right here in Michigan, I think the difference is this: One party sees Michigan as a place on the map, as a lot of big buildings, and as a column of figures.

"The Democratic Party sees Michigan as seven million people —seven million human beings— whose safety, prosperity and well-being are the sole reason for the existence of government."

HITS AT WILLIAMS

Cobo said that Williams' administration "lives and thrives on criticism and does not want the cooperation of the Legislature," which is Republican-dominated.

The mayor said that the governor operates on the theory that "If everybody has less you can offer more and more to people."

Williams countered in his telecast that "it makes a lot of difference whether those in charge of government rate people or dollars as first in importance," adding:

"Here in Detroit, they built some magnificent expressways. But the men who were building those expressways were thinking only about cost figures and traffic counts. They forgot that these expressways were built for people to ride on. They failed to make the center island wide enough between the traffic lanes to prevent headon collisions.

"Now, after 10 deaths, they are going to put up steel barriers— the barriers that cost too much in proportion to human safety."

TO WELCOME NIXON

Citizens for Eisenhower and Nixon, meanwhile, laid plans for a Downtown Detroit parade to welcome Vice President Nixon tomorrow. Cobo will introduce the vice president at a Veterans Memorial Building rally of party workers.

Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn), the Democratic vice presidential nominee, is scheduled tomorrow for a swing through Battle Creek, Flint and Bay City.

No Terror, but Terrific Is the Modern Halloween

Halloween, once a terror for householders worried about children's pranks, has become terrific, say the parents who are guiding their offspring in taking up UNICEF pennies.

The collection for the United Nations Children's Fund, successful in many areas in other years, has been taken up in numerous locales in southeastern Michigan.

Waterford

Y-Teens have slated a clothing drive for UNICEF for tomorrow night, with contacts throughout the townships from 3 until 9 p.m.

Mrs. Edwina Isaacson is advisor for the group of senior high teenagers who'll be asking donations of any wearable clothes, shoes, and toys for shipping abroad.

Westacres

Ringing doorbells for the UNICEF tomorrow night will be members of the Junior High Westminster Fellowship of the Orchard Lake Community Church.

Last year this group collected over $180, and hopes for more this time.

The young people will be calling early in the evening, for a 7:30 session of games and refreshments is planned for them.

MacRae Claims Singing Defeats Nervous Tension

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Gordon Macrae has his own prescription for release from nervous tension: Sing!

It's as simple as that. Forget the tranquilizers and self-help books. Just sing.

Macrae realizes his formula sounds revoltingly simple and even a little Pollyanna-ish. But he claims it has worked for him.

"I'll never forget one day when I was a kid, I was singing on my way home," he recalled. "My dad was on the porch and he heard me singing all the way down the block. He told me, 'Son, as long as you can sing like that, nothing can ever bother you.'

"I've always remembrd that. When I work too hard and things start getting tense, I start singing. It seems to clear my mind and give me strength.

"Most people sing in the bathtub or the shower. Why? Because they feel good; they're getting a fresh, clean start on the day. If they would sing at other times too I think they could retain that attitude."

He cited his idol Bing Crosby as an example of the therapeutic value of song. One of Hollywood's most relaxed men, Bing is always bursting into song, largely for his own amusement. Another off-stage singer is Perry Como. You can't get much more relaxed then Perry and remain conscious.

But you don't need the vocal talent of a Crosby or Como, Macrae agrued. Anybody can do it.

"The trouble is that we've gotten out of the habit of singing," he said. "I suppose that's because we have so much radio and television to listen to. There isn't enough quiet in the house to provide time to sing."

Plan Children's Home

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — A $1,425,300, five-year expansion program has been announced for Pine Rest Christian Assn. Nursing Home and Sanatorium facilities at nearby Cutlerville. C. A. Van Hattem of Chicago, newly elected president of the facility's board of trustees, said the first project will be children's retreat school building for 120 children.

"TEA and SYMPATHY"

Oakland ★ Starts Thursday!
Almost any story, even the most daring, can be brought to the screen with honesty and good taste.

M-G-M has filmed the famed stage sensation "Tea and Sympathy," about a young student and the housemaster's wife who knew he was more of a man than any of those who called him "Sister Boy"...even before she helped him prove it!

Deborah Kerr, John Kerr and Leif Erickson play the roles they created on Broadway. And the greater fluidity of the screen medium has enabled them to attain an even more powerful crescendo as each of these intimately interlocked characters moves toward the most talked-about dramatic climax of our day. Those who said Robert Anderson's astounding play couldn't—even shouldn't—be filmed will probably be the first to cheer the stars' delicate yet passionate portrayals.

"Years from now," Laura was saying softly, "when you talk about this—and you will—be kind..."

Everybody knows a Tom Lee, but not every Tom Lee is lucky enough to know a Laura Reynolds. Shining with the radiance of Miss Kerr, she is a woman quick to sense the sensitivities of others, one who will find it difficult to adhere to the other faculty wives' advice: "Don't get emotionally involved with the boys' problems; all you need give them is a little tea and sympathy."

At first Laura is amused and touched by Tom's puppy-love for her. But what is Laura to do when her attempts to escape his dependence on her are interpreted by Tom as betrayal? Does she do right? Every viewer must decide this in the solitude of his own heart.

Producer Pandro S. Berman and director Vincente Minnelli capture every rapture, every stinging and compassionate observation in the best imaginable taste. Now filmed in CinemaScope and Metrocolor, Anderson's script faithfully preserves, and often enhances, every sudden turn and turning-point of his own long-run play.

And M-G-M has made certain that the electric tingle that ran down Broadway on opening night now runs down your spine when you see "Tea and Sympathy!"

Now is the time to presume that all sportswriters who stuck with Michigan State instead of Oklahoma are supposed to eat their words.

At least the pro-Oklahoma fans think so and they are shoving the column we wrote a week ago down our throats.

We scoffed at Oklahoma's right to the top spot on basis of schedule and competition. There were 40 to 50 other writers who felt the same way in their voting for the past two years.

Another 65 to 70 stayed with Oklahoma and the remainder of the average 160 who participated in the poll gave their votes to other teams.

So, Oklahoma tramples Notre Dame and Michigan State gets beat by Illinois, and the mail pours in to lambast we who took the Spartan side of the ledger.

And the readers now have the right to be heard:

Dear Sir:

Enclosed is your column of last week. Surely you could have waited one week until the outcome of the Notre Dame-Oklahoma game before printing such bunk. It looks like you will have to eat those words, considering lowly Illinois beat Michigan State. If Oklahoma was in the Big Ten, its unbeaten record would go unblemished for the remainder of the season and possibly next.

Clifford Woolsey
Pontiac

Dear Clifford—We doubt very much that Oklahoma would be unblemished for two seasons in the Big Ten. It's a common expression and quite true that on any given Saturday, any Big Ten team can beat any other Big Ten team. What do some of the Big Seven schools admit?—It would be Oklahoma's undoing to get out of the Big Seven.

Dear Mr. Kearns:

The joke is on you. If Oklahoma didn't convince you Saturday that it is better than Michigan State then you ought to tell us who is the number one ping pong team in the country.

J. R. Watkins
Commerce Township

Dear Mr. Watkins—Oklahoma was very impressive Saturday. But the joke really is, they are going on the laurels of beating Notre Dame which is being beaten by everyone. Recall the same high and mighty Oklahoma teams of 1952 and 1953? Remember what Notre Dame did to the Sooners?

Dear Mr. Kearns:

Let me give you a little advice about Oklahoma. They are as good as they are said to be. In 1955 they were four touchdowns better than Michigan State, Ohio State or Michigan, and they would have beaten any team in the Big Ten worse than they did Maryland. This year OU is still three touchdowns better than anything in the Big Ten. I'm going to look for your retraction after Saturday.

"The Greek"
Pontiac

Dear "Greek"—Writers can go overboard for a team, but so can fans. If we were off base calling MSU a better team than Oklahoma, then you must admit that it's also going to extremes calling OU three and four touchdowns better than any Big Ten team.

Dear Sir:

Is your face red? And what happened to Michigan State? In case you didn't hear, it was Oklahoma 40 Notre Dame 0, and Illinois 20 Michigan State 13. Now who's the number one team in the country.

Mickey Martin
Clarkston

Dear Mickey—Red? My face is purple. Not because Oklahoma won and Michigan State lost, but because Notre Dame lost and Illinois won.

Hi Smart Alec:

How about some more enlightening news about who is better, Oklahoma or Michigan State. And what happened to that great depth Michigan State was supposed to have? It took one man to beat the Spartans while Oklahoma practically started its second team against Notre Dame. How are you voting this week?

J. G.
Waterford

Dear J. G.—Disgustedly, but humbly we bow our head and cast our vote for Oklahoma, for the first time in two years. Now, of course the Sooners will stay as the top team in the country, especially since they play such a pressuring schedule for the next few weeks with "powerful" Colorado, Iowa State, Missouri and Oklahoma A&M.

What say you Michigan Staters? Do you concede that Oklahoma is still the best team in the country? And do you figure the Sooners three touchdowns better than MSU, or any Big Ten team?

Injuries Wreck Many Hopes for Top Grid Rates

Peaks, Okla. Line Aces, Baylor's Traylor Among Those Hard Hit

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Injuries like the one which ended the college football career of Michigan State halfback Clarence Peaks are wrecking many an All America aspiration and team record these days.

The versatile Peaks, prime mover of the Spartans' multiple offense, suffered a torn cartilage in his left knee during Illinois' 20-13 upset last week and must undergo surgery.

How Michigan State, rated fourth in the latest Associated Press poll, will fare without him is uncertain though the talent at East Lansing is plentiful. It is sure, however, that the injury robbed one of the nation's finest backs of All-America consideration. A full season is necessary to judge a player's ability under all conditions.

* * *

Among other victims of the gnomes who snap shoulders, wrench knees and twist ankles on crisp autumn days are Oklahoma linemen Wayne Greenlee and Ken Northcutt, Vanderbilt quarterback Don Orr, Army halfback Gene Mikelonis, Baylor's Doyle Traylor and California end Ron Wheatcroft.

At the same time, Jon Arnett of Southern California and ex-UCLA ace Ronnie Knox are victims of the Pacific Coast Conference ruling limiting certain seniors to half a season of competition.

Kramer Groomed to Take Barr's Spot

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Ron Kramer, an All-America candidate at end, may make his debut as Michigan's right halfback this week against Iowa.

The huge wingman who has been the Wolverines' best pass receiver this season, will work out at the spot vacated by the injured Terry Barr during practice sessions, according to coach Bennie Oosterbaan.

Barr's injury has left the Wolverines strapped for a suitable wingback and though Kramer hasn't actual game experience at the post, he spent much of spring practice in the backfield.

The regular right half, who has been an inspirational leader for the Wolverines, seriously sprained his left ankle, as he scored Michigan's only touchdown against Minnesota last Saturday on a 16-yard jaunt.

Barr was hit hard as he tumbled into the end zone and hobbled from the field, and never returned to the game.

"It's extremely doubtful if Barr will be ready for Iowa," Oosterbaan said. "I'll use Ed Shannon and Mike Shatusky and in an emergency I'll shift Kramer to right half. It all depends on the situation during the game."

That Kramer would be capable of playing an adeuate game in the backfield, is borne out by the statistics.

From his end position, he has occasionally been used as a ball carrier, having run three times this season for 11 yards, an average of almost four yards a carry. He has passed twice, completing one toss for a 23-yard gain.

Moving out of Michigan's basic single wing, Kramer's vicious blocking would enhance the attack.

Kramer runs fast for a man his size, 216 pounds and 6-foot-3, but he isn't nearly as rapid as the fleet and quick-starting Barr. But what is lost in speed would be made up in brawn, Oosterbaan feels.

It was Oosterbaan's plan during the spring sessions to give Ron a trial at wingback. He looked capable there, but was returned to end when Barr successfully underwent an operation for a chronic knee injury.

Barr's play has been acclaimd as sensational at right half, which ironically was also a new position for him. He was a left half back for his 1st two seasons on the Wolverine varsity.

"Barr is the most underrated player in the Big Ten," coach Duffy Daughterty of Michigan State said, after his Spartans had defeated the Wolverines early this season. That opinion has been echoed by opposing mentors all year.

TOP TRIO IN 800 — Experts say it will take a good man to beat Tom Courtney, left, of the Army and Arnie Sowell, right, of Pitt, in the 800-meter run in the Olympic games at Melbourne, Australia. Waiting for one misstep by the slim stylist Sowell or the former Fordham star Courtney will be Roger Moens, center, the Brussels cop who holds the world record of 1:45.7 for the distance.

5 Area Schools Stay Clean

The 1956 football season continues to take its toll of undefeated, untied high school teams in the Oakland County area.

There was only a single casualty last weekend, but that was a big one.

The lone victim was Class A Waterford, which dropped a 12-7 decision to Walled Lake in their Inter-Lakes Conference hair-raiser last Friday at Walled Lake.

Victory enabled the Vikings to win the Inter-Lakes title and maintain their perfect record. It was Waterford's 1st setback in seven starts.

Walled Lake, boasting a spotless 7-0 slate, is now one of five teams still carrying unblemished marks as the season nears its end.

Joining the Vikings in the select circle of perfect record teams are East Detroit, Romeo, Lake Shore and Orchard Lake St. Mary.

The Eaglets from Orchard Lake, who clinched the Suburban Catholic League title Sunday, have a 6-0 record to their credit. All the others own 7-0 marks.

Almont and New Haven, Southern Thumb League powerhouses, are unbeaten, but each has a tie to mar the schedule. Almont has won six games, New Haven five.

Six area squads have yet to taste victory. These include Mt. Clemens, Brown City, Capac, Millington, St. Frederick and Fitzgerald.

Arnett, Other Seniors Make Strong JV 11

LOS ANGELES (AP) — They're saying on the USC campus that the Trojans' junior varsity team, the Spartans, now is one of the strongest teams in the country.

The reason is that star left halfback Jon Arnett, quarterback Frank Hall and four other seniors joined it yesterday. They'll scrimmage against the first team for the rest of the season.

The six seniors were among those limited to five games this season, and they chose to play the first five — a quota reached last Saturday. The restriction was among penalties imposed on USC by the Pacific Coast Conference for alleged illegal aid to athletes.

Boss of 49ers After Bell's Hide

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Tony Morabito, co-owner of the San Francisco 49ers, today said he would try to get Bert Bell, the missioner, fired when the league meets in January.

"I don't know how far I'll get," Morabito said, "but there are other directors I'm sure, who feel the same way I do, although I fully realize I can't speak for them."

After the 49ers lost 38-21 to the Chicago Bears Sunday, Morabito called Bell an "incompetent dictator." The 49er owner was incensed about the officiating, although he said the Bears were a superior team.

In Philadelphia, Bell told the San Francisco Chronicle "the only way in the book to fire me is for moral turpitude . . . and it would cost $400,000 to buy up my contract.

"I don't know of any other owners threatening to get my job. Not since 1946 when I became commissioner has any owner ever threatened to do so.

"I have 10 years to run on a 12-year contract. I get a salary of $30,000 a year plus $10,000 a year that's placed in trust."

Morabito, insisting he was going after Bell's job, said he would bring the subject up at the directors meeting in January.

U. S. Team Gets Support

Wilson Cites Olympic Aid

CHICAGO (AP) — Kenneth L. (Tug) Wilson, president of the U.S. Olympic Committee, says America's Olympic Team "will be the best we've ever sent" and "we'll have enough money to send our team to Melbourne in style."

Speaking at the Quarterback Club yesterday Wilson said "the bright spot of the Olympics is how the fans have rallied behind it." Wilson said when all the contributions are in the fund will go over the million dollar mark.

"There have been thousands in contributions," he said. "They've come from youngsters enclosing a dime or quarter, they have come from contributions at football games, from Olympic Tryouts and corporations."

Wilson gave the following breakdown of some of the donations: $168,000 from track and field tryouts; $45,000 from swimming tryouts; $360,000 from contributions at last year's football games, and $160,000 from a razor manufacturing firm.

"Contributions from this year's football games and other collections should put us over the million dollar mark," added Wilson, who is Big Ten athletic director.

Lindsay Still Leads Scoring

Red Wing Star Heads NFL Race for Honors; Howe in 2nd Place

MONTREAL (AP)—Ted Lindsay of the Detroit Red Wings bagged a goal and four assists last week to hang on to the National Hockey League scoring leadership with 11 points.

A four-way tie for runner-up was broken and it was Gordie Howe of the Wings who moved in behind his teammate. The league's official statistics show Howe collected two goals and two assists to boost his total to nine.

Tod Sloan of Toronto counted three assists, but no goals, and now is tied for third place with Jean Belvieau of Montreal. Each has eight points.

Beliveau, last season's scoring champion, managed to collect two goals and two assists.

In fifth place on the scoring list, one behind Sloan and Beliveau, is Norm Ullman of Detroit who dropped behind teammates Lindsay and Howe with only one goal and one assist.

In the race for goaltending honors, Lorne Worsley of New York and Glen Hall of Detroit are tied for the lead with a goals against average of 1.57 a game.

State Hunters Heading for Record Gun Accident Total

LANSING (INS)—It seems apparent that Michigan's small game hunters are relieving the hunting pressure in the state in their own way. They are shooting each other off!

Conservation department statisticians are racking up what looks like a record number of hunting accidents.

Before the first shot was fired this season it was forecast that 300 Michigan hungers would be carried home — some dead, some wounded, some suffering heart attacks and others injured from falls, being lost and exposure. That gloomy prediction is fast becoming a true story.

This is the awful black mark against our oldest sport. This is the story that non-hunters and worried wives and mothers point to and say, "See, I told you!"

One pheasant hunter was shot to death by his 12-year-old son, a 16-year-old Clinton County boy died when his shotgun fell from a car and fired, and 63 others were injured in only the first nine days of this season.

Last year from a total of 1,151,600 hunters, 15 were killed and 158 were injured while after small game. Small game hunting last year was more tragic than the deer season when 10 were shot to death and 42 were injured.

The worst accident year during any small game season in Michigan recorded history was in 1945 when 21 lost their lives and 118 were injured. In 1950 there was an odd twist. Only seven small game fatalities were reported — Smallest number ever—while 18 deer hunting deaths were chalked up—one of the highest numbers ever. There was a similar number of big game deaths in 1943.

SPARTANS' LOSS — Husky MSU halfback, Clarence Peaks (above) has been lost to the Spartans' football squad for the balance of the season. The speedy star was injured in Saturday's upset loss to Illinois (20-13) and State's team doctor says he will not be back in shape this season.

Arthur Hill Skids to Ninth in AP Poll of Schoolboy Elevens

By DAVE DILES
Michigan AP Sports Editor

A week of inactivity on the high school football front failed to shake Flint Northern's drum-tight grip on 1st place in the Associated Press Class A poll.

The Vikings, who had an off date before tangling with fast-skidding Saginaw Arthur Hill, remained atop the schoolboy heap for the 4th straight week, this time with a 13-point bulge over 2nd-ranked Bay City Central.

Arthur Hill, which bowed 48-0 to Bay City for its 2nd setback, plunged from 5th to 9th place and Grosse Pointe, which made a brief appearance in 10th place last week, dropped out after taking a 20-0 scalping from Dearborn Fordson.

The undefeated Dearborn crew climbed to 5th place with its 7th successive triumph.

All top ten teams are in action this weekend.

Big Ten Policy Group at Work

Expect Announcement Today Concerning New Athletic Code

CHICAGO (AP) — The Big Ten was expected to make an announcement today concerning a new athletic code on recruiting and subsidization.

A special six-man committee began work on the code yesterday and was expected to complete the job today.

Action for a new code was the direct result of a recent Big Ten report calling its work-aid program for athletes an "invitation to hypocrisy and deceit" and that financial help to athletes had reached "staggering proportions."

The new code would standardize aid to athletes on the basis of need. The amount of aid needed would be determined by a research agency.

* * *

The new plan will be presented to the conference at its winter meetings in December and will become law if it receives unanimous approval.

Almont Sets Sights on Share of Title

With the defending Southern Thumb champions, New Haven, already finished with their league play, Almont this week shoots for a share of the title. New Haven is assured of a tie, with a 5-0-1 mark. Almont, which pins its hopes on a victory in Friday's tilt with Memphis, has 4-0-1.

The ties were against each other. New Haven dumped Memphis to clinch its place.

Pontiac Boxers Share Top Spot

In a nephrosis benefit boxing show at Alpena, over the weekend, Pontiac boxers broke even with fighters from the Alpena Air Force champions. Larry Lamphere may be the headliner for this show, if his injured thumb is healed.

Among the Alpena show's top matches were those involving Bob Fleury, DuWaine Raatz of Pontiac Boys' Home (a hot draw); the split decision against Harry Dunnigan for Glen Phelps (165); Larry Bolt's close one over Jimmy Smith of Boys' Home; tight fight won by Alpena's Earl Roth over Pontiac's Bob Henderson; TKO for Carlos Rodriquez of Alpena over Boys' Home's Dave Graves; a fine win for PBH's Quentin (Hurricane) Dunigan, over AAF's Ernest Webb and Alvin Farnsworth's TKO over AAF boxer Mike Barnak in the 1st round.

LA Rams Try Television to Assist Grid Strategy

LOS ANGELES (AP) — First it was short-wave radio coaching of quarterbacks equipped with receivers in their helmets. Now comes coaching by television to the sidelines.

The professional Los Angeles Rams football team is trying it. The Rams' pass defense coach, Jack Faulkner, explained it this way today:

"It's the Rams' new 'closed circuit' TV gimmick. With this, an assistant coach, located up in the press box, can diagram plays and make adjustments down onto the field, where they are picked up on a 17-inch monitor.

"The players gather 'round and see the whole picture in a nutshell — or in .. mahogany case, to be exact.

"Not only can the press box coach talk to the players on the field as he diagrams changing coverage, but the players watching the picture as it comes over their TV screen can ask questions by way of a two-way audio.

"So far as I know it's the only set of its kind in operation in the league."

Iowa Team Drills in Privacy Again

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP)—For the 2nd straight week, coach Forest Evashevski still shielded his Iowa football team's practice sessions from public view as the Hawks prepared for Saturday's homecoming game against Michigan here.

Iowa's 37 man traveling squad returned from a 21-20 victory over Purdue in good shape. Guard Hugh Drake as the only casualty, with a slightly bruised knee, but was expected to keep up with daily practice.

Evashevski's only comment was: "These Iowa boys have character and are coming along better each week. They are not a great ball club. They have done more with what they possess than I ever imagined they would"

Greenberg to Talk With Leo Durocher

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Cleveland General Manager Hank Greenberg expects to talk today to Leo Durocher about a proposal that Leo manager the Indians next year.

"I want to find out whether Leo wants to come back to baseball," Greenberg said after arriving here by plane yesterday.

Durocher resigned as manager of the New York Giants at the close of the 1955 season and is now a National Broadcasting Co. executive in Hollywood. As such he is earning "close to $100,000 a year," an NBC official said recently.

Two Ex-Chiefs Sparkle

Former Pontiac High and U. S. Army track and football star, Walter Beach came through in great style for the Central Michigan "Chips" Saturday . . . Walt's great speed figured in the three TDs he compiled in CMC's 67-12 win over Milwaukee State, Saturday. Another former Chief speedster, Phil (Oodie) Officer bagged another of the Chips' tallies. Both are halfbacks, although Beach has been used in the fullback spot occasionally by Coach Bill Kelly.

Connelly Not Disturbed by Weight Rule

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Harold Connelly, whose mighty toss Saturday won't count because his hammer was too light by perhaps the weight of an insect, says:

"It doesn't matter to me. I'll break the record again Thursday."

He and other members of the U. S. Olympic Team hold their last practice meet then before leaving for the Games in Australia.

Connelly hurled the hammer 224 feet, 8¼ inches during a practice meet at nearby Santa Ana, bettering the 220-10⅝ mark made last week by Mikhail Krivonosov of Russia.

The hammer was weighed yesterday on a Los Angeles Department of Weights and Measures scale and found to be five-eighths of an ounce light.

Hungarians Depart for 1956 Olympics

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (AP) — The Hungarian Olympic team has left Budapest by plane en route to the Games at Melbourne beginning Nov. 22, the International Olympic Committee announced today.

The committee yesterday had appealed to Hungary through the Swiss legation in revolt-torn Budapest to arrange an "Olympic truce" to permit the athletes to leave for Melbourne with safe conduct from both the government and the rebels.

According to previous information, the Hungarian squad is scheduled to arrive in Melbourne on Nov. 10.

Bass Rated With Matson

STOCKTON, Calif. (AP) — Fleet sophomore Dick Bass is living up to his pre-season billing as one of the most elusive ball carriers ever to play football on the Pacific Coast.

Jack (Moose) Myers, the College of Pacific coach, in fact, says the 19-year-old speedster is so good it's just about impossible to compare him with any other player. Although Bass still has two years of college ball left, Myers said he'd put him in a class today with, say, Ollie Matson of the pro Chicago Cardinals.

Bass, a 185-pound, 5-10 Vallejo, Calif. Negro, has carried the ball this season 79 times for 518 yards, averaging better than six yards a try. He's scored eight touchdowns in five of the six COP games in which he played.

How valuable his 518 yards have been is indicated by the fact the Tigers have gained 1,159 yards in all on the ground.

Oklahoma's one-week exile from the top spot in college football is over. To the surprise of no one, a 40-0 walloping of whipping boy Notre Dame coupled with Michigan State's loss to Illinois regained for the powerful Sooners the No. 1 ranking in the weekly Associated Press poll.

The weekend activities, in which form suffered its worst relapse of the season, drew out the heaviest vote of the year from the nation's sports writers and sportscasters.

Roughly 77 per cent, 143 out of 186, named Bud Wilkinson's Sooners first. Among other contenders, only Georgia Tech, which moved up to second, and Tennessee, now third, got more than a handful of first-place support.

Tech was named first on 31 ballots after making Tulane its fifth straight victim 40-0. Tennessee, also 5-0, drew eight first-place votes.

Michigan State, which displaced Oklahoma a week ago as the national leader after a 47-14 whacking of Notre Dame, slipped back to fourth place with nary a top vote. Last week, the Spartans had 96.

On the basis of 10 for first, 9 for second, etc., Oklahoma wound up with 1,768 points, Georgia Tech with 1,614, Tennessee with 1,302 and Michigan State with 1,029.

Behind them the shuffling continued as a result of Texas A&M's 19-13 victory over Baylor, Ohio State's 21-0 victory over Wisconsin, Iowa's 21-20 squeaker over Purdue, Minnesota's 20-7 upset of Michigan, Miami of Florida's 14-0 victory over TCU and Stanford's 27-19 victory over Southern California.

Seeks Lacking Punch

MSU Tries Out Sophomores

EAST LANSING (AP)—Michigan State is moving up some of its sophomores in a search for the punch that was lacking when the football Spartans were upset, 20-13, by Illinois last Saturday.

Art Johnson, sophomore sprinter from Flint, was running from right half with the 1st string backs in practice Monday afternoon as coaches did some shaking up of assignments.

Walt Kowalczyk and Jim Wulff, juniors who have been numbers one and two at the spot, were alternating behind Johnson who had the best yardage from the position against the Illini.

Dennis Mendyk, senior from St. Charles, is in as No. 1 at left half now that Clarence Peaks is through for the season because of his knee injury.

Blanche Martin, sophomore from River Rouge, is behind Mendy. Martin also is being groomed for the punting chores, handled by the versatile Peaks all season.

Coaches bore down hard on their charges and the usual quips were absent from the gloomy Monday workout.

Final plans will also be announced at this time for the new membership drive and the annual hunters' banquet on Nov. 1. President Lloyd Sibley of Clarkston will make these announcements.

'DEADEYE DICK' — And that monicker is no joke. For 11-year-old Dickie Dewese shown with his trusty .22 and a fat, 21-pound female raccoon, bagged the masked creature all by himself. Dickie was hunting in the woods in the Sashabaw area with his father, Willard, (694 Joslyn Road) when he spotted the coon in a tree. Dickie dropped the raccoon with one shot. Dickie attends McCarroll school. There was no school Monday, so the boy and his dad took to the outdoors.

One-Year Contract

Lopez OK's Chisox Offer

CHICAGO (AP) — Al Lopez, ex-Cleveland manager who made a career of finishing second to the New York Yankees, and the perennial third-place Chicago White Sox, joined forces yesterday.

LOPEZ

Lopez accepted a one-year contract offered by Vice President Chuck Comiskey to manage the White Sox in 1957. Lopez resigned as Cleveland manager Sept 29 after guiding the Tribe to second place five times since 1951.

The Tribe won the pennant under Lopez in 1954 with an American League record of 111 victories.

Lopez, one of baseball's "nice guy" managers, succeeds Marty Marion, who bowed out last week as manager of the White Sox.

Meanwhile, Cleveland boss Hank Greenberg went to Los Angeles to talk with Leo Durocher, former manager of the New York Giants, Durocher, who once said "Nice guys don't win pennants," has indicated he'll manage Cleveland if the price is right.

Eventually Sickert will be joined by nine experts who will help in the timing.

NEW YORK (AP)—Herman Hickman, onetime Yale coach and now a TV and radio football commentator, has been named winner of the Touchdown Club's award for 1956.

The award was made yesterday.

It is given annually to the person judged by the past presidents of the club to have done the most for football over a period of years. H. O. (Fritz) Crisler, director of athletics and former coach at Michigan, was the winner in 1955.

Norway's Ace Runner Goes to Melbourne

OSLO (AP) — Norway's able middle-distance runner, Audun Boysen, will go to Melbourne, after all.

Boysen, 27, said earlier this year he would not compete in the Olympic Games. He said his reasons were private and his decision final.

Today Boysen notified the Olympic committee he had changed his mind and asked to be put on the team. His request was granted.

Gophers' Brash Football Ousts Old 'Crunch' Style

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—A new kind of Minnesota football, brash as well as beefy, has shouldered the unbeaten Gophers back into the Big Ten's upper echelon after years of hopeful plodding.

The play-it-by-the-book that so long was the Minnesota trademark has yielded to the unpredictable capers of quarterback Bobby Cox and the willingness of Coach Murray Warmath to give his green No. 2 platoon plenty of action.

With a line averaging better than 215 pounds and a mine of fullback talent, Minnesota remains basically a power team. But where the Gophers once were all crunch, they now go in for calculated gambling and some occasional cuteness.

The combination has brought Minnesota four victories and a tie and has made it a powerful candidate for the Rose Bowl.

Against Michigan last Saturday, Cox ran for it on fourth down twice near midfield, and made it both times.

In the second half he worked like a carnival hustler keeping a "quick huddle" Gopher offense rolling at break-neck speed.

Oddly, Cox has energized Minnesota without doing much passing, for which he drew acclaim as a sophomore at Washington two years ago.

Cass City to Stage Yule Pageant of Christ's Birth

CASS CITY (AP)—Wise men and shepherds again will be seen here when the second annual pageant depicting the birth of Christ unfolds on a hillside overlooking this Tuscola County village.

The outdoor Christmas presentation features the journey of Mary and Joseph to Bethlehem. Scores of townspeople will take part in the pageant framed against a backdrop of a replica of the town where Christ was born.

The pageant attracted thousands when it was first presented two years ago. It was dropped last year, but so many requests were received to have it made an annual feature that the Cass City Pageant Assn. was formed.

Dates for this year's performances have not been set but the ancient drama will be presented several times during the Christmas holidays.

Clubs, churches and schools will cooperate in the colorful show.

Agriculture Department to Survey Sugar Needs

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department will hold a public hearing here Nov. 26 on the nation's sugar requirements for 1957.

Its findings will form the basis for establishing domestic marketing and import quotas under a sugar control program designed to help stabilize prices and supplies.

Quotas for this year total 8,775,000 tons.

Chemist Predicts 100,000 Miles for New Tires

LOS ANGELES (INS)—A southern California chemist has predicted that passenger cars soon may blossom with rugged, rainbow-hued tires that will last 100,000 miles—the lifetime of an ordinary automobile.

The prediction was made by Dr. Harry L. Fisher, recently retired director of the Rubber Technology Foundation and former president of the American Chemical Society.

Dr. Fisher, writing in the November issue of Scientific American, said these new tires will be available in any color because carbon black is not required to make them. He said foam rubber now used for upholstery, mattresses and insulation will make tire treads giving the long wearing qualitites.

The chemist said that natural rubber is fast being replaced by a large variety of synthetics.

Grains Waver at News of War

CHICAGO (AP)—Grains started out strong and then retreated in very active dealings on the Board of Trade today.

Commission houses had large buying orders on hand at the opening in the market's first reaction to the news an Israeli Army had invaded Egypt.

This opening demand pushed prices up for gains extending to around 3 cents in soybeans and rye, the two strongest cereals. Wheat and corn jumped more than a cent.

Then a reaction set in and gains in most cereals were shaved substantially from opening levels. In wheat several futures dipped below the previous close. Dealings continued active with quick changes in the market direction.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was ⅛ to ⅝ higher, December $2.35; corn ⅝-¾ higher, December $1.37¾; oats ⅛ lower to ¼ higher, December 79⅞; rye ¾-1⅛ higher, December $1.58; soybeans 1½-2 higher, November $2.43¼, and lard 10 to 28 cents a hundred pounds higher, November $11.37.

Own Son Rescued by Good Samaritan

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—W.W. Pettit always keeps his eyes open for motorists in trouble since the time five years ago when he was pinned in a wreck for nearly four hours.

So, when he saw tell-tale skid marks leading off a road in Colusa County he stopped to investigate. In an overturned pickup truck, 20 feet down an embankment, he found three men.

One of them was his own son, Jerry.

The three were dazed but not seriously hurt. Coming home from a hunting trip, they had gone off the road when blinded by another car's headlights.

Jack Webb Divorce Costs $135,000 Plus

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Actor Jack Webb, who made a divorce settlement of about half a million dollars on his first wife, is settling with his second for $135,000 cash, an automobile and other items, says her attorney.

Actress Dorothy Towne, 26, filed her expected divorce suit yesterday against the 36-year-old Sgt. Friday of the radio and television Dragnet series. She accused him of causing her mental pain and suffering.

Miss Towne and Webb were married Jan. 11, 1955, in Chicago. Thirteen months earlier he was divorced by singer-actress Julie London, mother of his daughters Stacy, 6, and Lisa, 4.

Threat of War Drops Market

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market retreated further on news of the Israeli-Egyptian strife today but in early trading began to cut its losses.

The market was lower at the opening then turned mixed. The Paris and London stock markets backed down on uneasiness over the Middle East.

The high-speed ticker tape was two minutes late in reporting the heavy rush of sell orders but it caught abreast within 15 minutes of opening.

Some steels, motors and aircrafts rose as defense stocks were emphasized in view of war fears.

OILS SLIP

International oils, hit hard late yesterday on the news from the Middle East, were mixed or higher, Gulf Oil and Royal Dutch advanced fractionally after some hesitation.

Rails showed fractional losses for the most part.

Bethlehem, U. S. Steel and Lukens Steel were up around a point or so. Chrysler gained around two. General Motors eased, Ford was steady.

Boeing and United Aircraft were up around a point each.

Losses were taken by Goodrich, American Smelting, Dow Chemical, International Paper and National Distillers.

Claims Bulganin Didn't Consider Political Angle

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Foreign Minister Dmitir Shepilov says Premier Bulganin didn't mean to interfere in the U. S. election with his letter to President Eisenhower suggesting a ban on H-bomb tests.

Shepilov told Western correspondents at a reception:

"We did not connect it with the American election. The message raised the question of banning nuclear explosions. I believe that Mr. Bulganin did not think of either the donkey or the elephant."

* * *

Adlai Stevenson had been advocating suspension of H-bomb tests when the Bulganin letter arrived 10 days ago. Eisenhower, who opposes ending the tests until an over-all disarmament accord is reached, fired back an answer to Bulganin accusing him of "interference in internal affairs of the United States."

Anyway, Shepilov said, what's said in Russia should not affect the voting in the United States.

Six Enter Guilty Pleas to Getting Funds Under False Pretense

JACKSON (AP)—Six of 10 persons indicted by a one-man grand jury for obtaining money under false pretense in livestock deals awaited sentencing today.

They pleaded guilty before Circuit Judge John Simpson yesterday and he set sentencing for Nov. 27.

The six are Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Rowlson of Addison, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Xalewski of Lansing, Roy Donald of Mason and Lawrence Wood of Rives Junction.

Four indicted as co-conspirators but not made defendants did not appear yesterday. They are Mr. and Mrs. Gervis Crenshaw of Jackson, Roscoe Rogers of Columbia, Tenn., and Hugh Keegan of Oakwood, Ohio.

The six who pleaded guilty admitted they had participated in a check-swapping scheme over the last five years, buying cattle, giving checks, selling the cattle and attempting to cover upcoming checks with deposits.

They were indicted in September by Circuit Judge Harry D. Boardman, sitting as a one-man grand jury. He acted as a magistrate yesterday as they waived examination and he sent them to Judge Simpson.

Prosecutor Kenneth Johnson said the dealings reached a climax in April, when, he estimated, six million dollars in checks were "floating" between deals of the 10 involved.

UM Survey to Help Elderly in Michigan

ANN ARBOR (AP)—University of Michigan researchers have launched a statewide survey designed to lead to stepped up activities and self-help for elderly patients in hospitals and convalescent homes.

Directed by Wilma T. Donahue of the UM Institute of Human Adjustment, the survey is expected to help find cases who will profit from vocational rehabilitation.

Another result would be learning the characteristics of Michigan's county medical care facilities in order to plan improvements in them.

The survey also is expected to tell authorities how much professional and service workers are needed to care for the aged and what special institutes and programs are necessary.

There are 35 county medical care facilities and convalescent hospitals in Michigan operated by county boards of social welfare, Miss Donahue said. They house about 3,300 patients, but "they do not, to any degree, provide medical rehabilitation service or vocational retraining" for the aged, she said.

* * *

Her survey is being financed by a $13,000 grant from the Legislature.

According to Waterford police, Putnam was having his car serviced at Frank's Mobile Station, 4805 Dixie, and was standing in front of the vehicle when it rolled forward into him.

Balks at S-P Merger Plan

Stockholder Requesting Injunction to Prevent Use of Proxies

DETROIT (AP)—A suit asking an injunction to restrain the management of Studebaker-Packard Corp. from using its proxies at a stockholders meeting Wednesday, was filed in U.S. District Court here yesterday.

The meeting has been called to get stockholders action on an alliance of Studebaker-Packard with Curtiss-Wright Corp.

Seeking the injunction are Sol A. Dann, Detroit attorney; John H. Neville of New York, and Mrs. Louise A. Turek of Chicago. Defendants named, besides the corporation, are Harold E. Churchill, president of Studebaker-Packard, and Hugh J. Ferry and A. J. Porta, directors.

Studebaker-Packard Corp. has been operating under what its spokesman call an "advisory management" program. The company management is asking stockholders to approve a plan to offer Curtiss-Wright Corp. five million shares of Studebaker-Packard stock at $5 a share. The stock has been selling at around $5.50 a share.

Dann is holder of 300 shares of S-P stock. He says he represents a 15-member group which objects to the arrangement with Curtiss-Wright. He has submitted to the scheduled stockholders meeting options to dissolve the Studebaker-Packard Corp., to authorize him to examine the company's books from January, 1950, to date, and to get the company to furnish him a complete list of stockholders.

Pontiac Dealers Near End of '56 Clean-Up

A successful clean-up of 1956 model Pontiacs by U.S. dealers has been reported by Frank V. Bridge, general sales manager of the Pontiac Motor Division.

With the 1957 model announcement date two weeks away, new-car stocks currently average less than four cars per dealer, Bridge said. Many, he reported, are already sold out of the 1956 models.

The sales head attributed the fast clean-up to "good trade-in allowances" made by dealers at the end of the model year.

The 1957 models will go on sale Nov. 9.

Receives Back Injury in Two-Car Collision

David Taft, 71, of 52 Gladstone St., required doctor's treatment for a minor back injury following a two-car accident at Huron and Union streets last night.

He was the driver of a car which police say was struck by a vehicle operated by Jerry Orr, 16, of 674 Emerson St. The impact of the collision forced the Taft car off the road and into a tree.

Taft told investigators he had stopped for a stop sign and was proceeding through the intersection when he was hit. Orr said he was driving about 40 miles an hour when the accident happened.

Hoover Cites Nation's Needs

Voters to Be Happier If They Support GOP, Says Ex-President

NEW YORK (AP)—Former President Herbert Hoover says the nation's voters will be "happier" if they vote for President Eisenhower, Vice President Nixon and a Republican Congress.

In a five-minute national television speech last night in behalf of the GOP, Hoover said the American people have six basic needs. He said the Eisenhower administration "has already succeeded or is driving toward these objectives."

Hoover listed the six needs as:

"Advancement of peace in the world and preparedness for defense in the meantime.

"Maximum employment and an ascending standard of living.

"Economy in government, reduction of taxes, a balanced budget and, therefore, protection of the purchasing power of the government.

"The care of the sick, the disabled veterans, the aged, the children, and public improvements which the people or the states cannot accomplish for themselves.

"Integrity in government —both financial and intellectual.

* * *

"Among the great issues of mankind today is the encroachment of governments in the mastery of men's lives. This issue has many fronts. Vital to free men is free enterprise in social and economic life, which, of course, must be regulated to prevent abuse."

19 Candidates State Issues at City Rally

a policy-making State Department position under the Democratic administration.

"I don't claim to know all the answers to our foreign policy problems," Broomfield said. "The men in Washington who have studied the problem for years don't claim to know all the answers.

"I will support the Eisenhower administration in foreign polidy, which is primarily the job of the President and the State Department. America is at peace now."

Broomfield proposed a federal coordinating program for medical research on deadly diseases like leukemia and cystic fibrosis.

KAVANAGH LAUDS GOVERNOR

Kavanagh, Democratic attorney general of Michigan, reviewed his accomplishments in office and lauded Gov. G. Mennen Williams, who he said "got the highway bill not because of, but over the heads of, almost every Republican in the Legislature."

Van Dusen, his Republican opponent, said Williams has "failed to produce roads" and has obstructed the Legislature's attempts to build them.

Williams, he said, has repeatedly quarreled with Republican Highway Commissioner Charles Ziegler. He pointed out Williams has the power to remove Ziegler from office.

"But he has preferred to keep him — whether because of his qualifications as a highway commissioner, or his qualifcations as a scapegoat, I do not know."

'HOSTILE TO BUSINESS'

Van Dusen said although Williams "claims he is a friend of the working man, actually he has ony been hostile to business."

Pointing to the recent closing of Michigan plants of Packard Motor Co., Hudson Motors and Philco radio, Van Dusen said as a result of Williams' "hostility" . . . "he has driven jobs out of Michigan and destroyed the confidence of Michigan businessmen."

Other candidates who spoke included L. Harvey Lodge (R) and Fred Elias (D) running for state senator; Lynn D. Allen (R) and Odin H. Johnson (D), for county clerk; Wallace E. Rice (D), for drain commissioner; B. Jack Habel (D) and Daniel T. Murphy Jr. (R) for register of deeds.

Others were David E. Utley (D) and Frederick C. Ziem (R) for prosecuting attorney; George D. Hicks (D) and Frank W. Irons (R), for sheriff; Steven J. Kolar (D), for representative from district 1; Leslie H. Hudson (D) and Robert C. Miller (R), for representative from district 2.

Theodore F. Koella spoke for County Treasurer Charles A. Sparks, a Republican.

Goblins Aid UNICEF

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Trick or treat Halloween excursions by more than 1,000 Grand Rapids children tomorrow night are expected to result in funds for the United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF). A similar effort last year collected $1,000 for the fund which aids needy children throughout the world.

Navy Set to Go on A-Carrier

Largest Warship Ever Awaiting Appropriation From Congress

NEW YORK (INS)—Navy Secretary Charles S. Thomas revealed last night the United States has completed plans for a giant atomic-powered aircraft carrier that will be by far the largest warship ever built.

The 85,000-ton vessel, expected to cost more than 400 million dollars, is to have a top speed of 33 knots (38 m.p.h.) and an almost unlimited cruising range.

Thomas made clear that the plans have been approved by the administration. He said: "The next fiscal year will see the commencement of its construction if Congress appropriates the funds."

Thomas, in a speech loaded with information about Navy preparations for a completely atomic-powered war fleet, also unveiled plans for a mammoth nuclear submarine that will be able to fire guided missiles against targets 1,200 to 1,500 miles away.

NO PLACE IS SAFE

"This submarine will have a missile hangar which, by itself, is nearly as large as an entire submarine of World War I," Thomas said. "There is virtually no place in the world that it couldn't hit."

Thomas gave no figure for the cost of the "super-super" aircraft carrier, but the Defense Department said the cost of the hull without powerplants will be close to the price tag of the 60,000-ton carriers already built—about 200 million dollars.

Truman Charges Foreign Policy Confusing Allies

SALEM, Mo. (AP)—Former President Truman says the leaders of other nations don't know what the United States foreign policy is and the present government "has broken up every friendship the U.S. ever had."

"We ought to know where we are going and explain it to our allies," he said last night at a campaign rally.

The Republicans say they are for the little man and have brought 50 antitrust suits to prove it, but to this day, not a one has been prosecuted," Truman declared.

* * *

He contended more persons have gone broke under the Eisenhower administration than in his entire eight years in office. He charged the GOP with "giving away enough offshore oil to support our school system a long time."

Police Seek Thieves of $1,000 in Items

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Police here are employing a fingerprint check and other means in hopes of locating the thieves of about $1,000 worth of housewares and money from the Paul Baughan home, 1955 Squirrel, last weekend.

The family have totalled losses, which police chief Clark Green says indicate that another family might be setting up housekeeping with the stolen items. He says also, that small tracks indicate that one of the two who broke into the home was a woman.

Thefts of items included blankets, babywear, jewelry, a toaster and bedding and towels.

More Light on Detroit

DETROIT (INS)—The Detroit Public Lighting Commission today recommended a program calling for the outlay of nearly $5 million in fiscal 1957-58 to improve the system. The proposed capital improvement budget was adopted yesterday.

India will enter the World Team Chess Championship to be played in Moscow this year.

Bloomfield Chief Stresses, 'No Hunting'

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Stressing that hunting is outlawed in this township, Chief of Police Clark Green today said his staff is watching closely for offenders.

One man, caught hunting with one squirrel already bagged, the Chief says, is Herbert C. Hicks, 25, of Detroit.

The no-hunting ruling became law with a legislature measure last year, but the township had the year previously already banned it.

Walled Lake Youth Tossed Off Scooter

Robert O'Oconnor, 13, of 3067 Brookneal Rd., Walled Lake, is in critical condition at Pontiac General Hospital today with injuries received Monday when he was thrown off his powerless motor scooter landing headon against a passing car.

The youth is under treatment for multiple bruises, cuts of the head and left leg, and possible internal injuries. The car involved was operated by Mable Bisbing, 69, of 3292 Mandrake St., Commerce Township.

According, to Oakland County Sheriff's deputies, O'Connor was being towed by a motor scooter operated by George Marks, 14, of 9405 Commeroe St., Commerce Township, when the incident occurred at the intersection of Mapledale and Pittsfield roads in Commerce Township.

Officers Gordon Misenar told the Press the scooter operator saw the car approaching and made a sharp turn off the gravel road which apparently pulled 'OOconnor's scooter out from under him and sent him flying into the side of the Bisbing car.

Depends on President

Race in Pennsylvania Is Muddled

HARRISBURG, Pa. (INS) — Pennsylvania's U. S. Senate race is tied closely today to the outcome of the Presidential battle and the margin rolled up for the victor.

And the results of the Presidential voting will show whether Pennsylvania still is gripped by a Democratic tide that began rolling over the state two years ago or is reverting to what Republicans call its normal GOP status.

A victory for Democrat Adlai Stevenson will insure the election of Joseph S. Clark Jr., 55-year-old former Philadelphia mayor.

By the same token, a win for President Eisenhower should mean victory for the second term bid of Republican incumbent James H. Duff.

But there are persistent reports that the 73-year-old Senator is in trouble.

Just how much cannot be evaluated from skimpy political intelligence. His friends, and they are many, say none. His enemies, they are not uncommon, say plenty.

Duff, so the story goes, is to be cut from the ticket in the Nov. 6 general election by many voters. The job will be done, some Republicans will tell you, by those GOP workers who remember his rough - and - ready tactics while Governor in 1946-50 and the political donneybrook he stirred up six years ago when he ran for the Senate against the old guard's wishes.

They'll go to the polls, the reports insist, and vote for Ike and other candidates of GOP's stripe but they'll ignore Duff.

A successful ticket cutting operation would be disastrous to Duff if Mr. Eisenhower fails to take the state handily. There are some Republicans who believe Eisenhower may do even better this year than the 269,000 margin polled in 1952.

Democrats freely predict Duff's political demise. They have hammered Senate roll calls and called him the advocate of big business.

Duff denies the allegations and then reminds voters that Clark is on the Executive Board of the Americans for Democratic Action which is regarded in some circles as a left wing organization.

The "ADA Line," says Duff, is to work toward one world where America's Constitutional Government would be endangered. This campaign talk goes over big in the rural sections of Pennsylvania.

Clark is counting heavily on the Democratic strength in Pittsburgh and Philadelphia to offset the GOP power usually felt in the rural sections.

The Presidential and Senate results probably will be dictated by about 300,000 Pennsylvania voters who make up the so-called "floating bloc" which moves back and forth from election to election between Democrats and Republicans. They gave Pennsylvania to the Republicans in 1948 and again in 1952 but turned against the GOP in 1945.

ARE YOU THINKING OF TRADING YOUR OLD HOUSE IN ON A NEW HOME?

NATURALLY you would like to get as much as you can for your old house. There are several ways this can be done. Let's see which way is best suited to you and the old house you wish to convert to a new home.

WHETHER YOU WISH TO BUY OR BUILD WE CAN HELP YOU AS WE HAVE SO MANY OTHERS

Here Is One Example:

TRADE — This large attractive 3 bedroom brick ranch home, uniquely designed with a beautiful ledge rock front wall fireplace, surrounded by two exceptionally large picture windows in living room, is outstanding with its combination of brick veneer, glass and wood. The floor plan is well arranged to meet the spacious requirement of the most particular family. The front entrance hall, as well as the center hall, is so designed that it will allow you to go from one room to another without passing through the other rooms. It has two beautiful fireplaces, one in the living room and one in the recreation area in the basement. The tiled ceramic functional two bath is new, unique and yet extremely practical. A 12x14 master bedrm. with 2 closets and built in vanity. The big kitchen has large window (almost a picture window) and grouped around it is an unusual amount of birch U-shaped cabinets. There is plenty of space for dining. Full basement, gas perimeter heat and large 2-car plastered garage. Custom, 2 large lots with a Y type turn around drive so that you can head into your garage and head out onto the main highway. This truly must be seen to be appreciated.

Zane Grey's Widow Handles His Writings

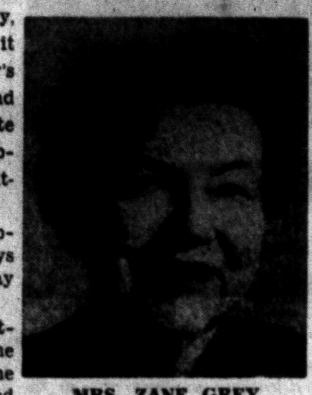

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — "Mrs. Zane Grey's in town," a man said. "Would you like to see her?"

Zane Grey's widow! It was startling, as though another literary hero of my youth, Horatio Alger Jr., had phoned to invite me to a pizza party.

A peppery, businessy lady of 73 who married the famous western story author when he was a New York dentist, Mrs. Grey has survived him by 17 years and lived to see TV scrambling for his 78 novels—a few still unpublished.

"Zane," said Mrs. Grey, "couldn't stop writing — it poured out of him. Harper's published about one a year and he wrote two a year. He wrote in a Morris chair on a lapboard. I did most of the editing."

MRS. ZANE GREY

"Ben Hecht writes on a lapboard," I mentioned. "He says that way he can throw it away easier."

Mrs. Grey smiled a great-grandmotherly smile. "Zane didn't throw it away — he threw it at me. If he'd messed with editing, he wouldn't have done so many.

"I tended to the business, too. Even before he died, in 1939—it was his heart—they were putting TV rights in book contracts and I'd struggle with might and main to elude them."

Grey wrote his first book, "Betty Zane," on a kitchen table at 100 W. 74th St. around 1900—gave up dentistry and moved to Lackawaxon, Pa., near Port Jervis—and soon was tearing off best sellers about the purple sage by the bale.

At first he wrote about his grandfather, Col. Ebenezer Zane, a surveyor with George Washington, for whom Zanesville, O., was named.

Eventually he was traveling the world looking for material, but they settled in Altadena, Cal., where Mrs. Grey and her son Romer now run Zane Grey, Inc. Son Loren teaches educational psychiatry at Southern Cal.

"Zane and I met in 1900 when he was already out of the University of Pennsylvania and I was getting ready to go to Hunter College," Mrs. Grey said.

"It was long ago. Grandmother said when she was young the family used to go up to 65th St. for a vacation. It was country—with Indians.

"Now," she said, "they tell me it's getting to be television neighborhood."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

The draft board told Elvis not to worry about November and go ahead and book engagements . . . Dorothy Lamour'll unveil her cafe act . . . Jack Parr, now on ABC radio, told Ike at a Wash'n dinner, "When people go into the booths nowadays, you don't know who's going to win — Edward G. Robinson or Vincent Price."

Steve Allison, the Philly disc jockey, had a big radio deal set here when he got in that jam . . . Danny Scholl tested for a Screen Gems series . . . Ed Sullivan's filming a "Sgt. EARL'S PEARLS . . .

"Speaking of school kids, though many come to class, they are not there"—Louis Ginsberg.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Joe E. Lewis told the Copa crowd "Whisky isn't bad for you. My grandfather drank all of his life and lived to be 90-proof."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: "There are only two kinds of parking nowadays — illegal and No!"—Atchison, Kan., Globe.

Como Signs Up Nat and Giselle

Johnny Ray, Nanette Become Stars Despite Hearing Problems

By JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK (INS) — Elvis Presley's draft board said the Pelvis is safe for civilian duty for at least six months and "probably a year" . . . His local Memphis draft board (No. 83) now is calling up 22-year-olds and Elvis still is 21 . . .

Perry Como signed a powerhouse pair as his Saturday guest stars: Gisele MacKenzie and Nat "King" Cole . . . Did you know Gisele's square Canadian monicker is Gisele LaFleche? — Her family decided it was "too theatrical for show business."

Both Johnnie Ray and Nanette Fabray of Thursday's "Shower of Stars" have done nittily despite hearing problems.

Omaha, Neb., where the tall torch songs grow, hired both Julius LaRosa and the McGuire sisters for its auto show.

Mel Torme's "Mountain Greenery" record is in Britain's top 10 . . .

MYRT COLLAPSES

Myrt Power, the $64,000 baseball whiz, took to her Buford, Ga., bed after Brooklyn lost the World Series out of sheer (or cheer) fatigue. Says she'll be up and shouting in time for spring rooting . . .

Ben Hecht will try TV again with a "Ten Commandments" script . . .

We have a fine nasty note from a reader asking why we now find Ernie Kovacs funny when we didn't four years ago. Simple enough: Ernie finally got good and funny . . . as his steady NBC jobs attest . . . Ernie was TV's wonderingest Hungarian gypsy for years . . .

On the Lawrence Welk Show the commercials get bigger, more elaborate production than the show proper . . .

The ABC-TV network will spend $60,000,000 to insure its already great strides.

EDIE EYES DEAL

NBC and Edie Adams are talking a three-year TV exclusivity.

Capitol Records' Lonnie Sattin certainly is starting out like Perry Como: He sings well and used to be a barber . . .

Mike Levin's ABC-TV show, an elaborate entertainment documentary about recent history, has been called off . . .

Isn't it a shame Ella Fitzgerald is the very best all-purpose pop singer in the world and hasn't a TV show?

Estes Says Mideast War Belies GOP Peace Claim

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—Sen. Estes Kefauver says that Israel's military thrust into Egypt "knocks into a cocked hat the peaceful slogan of the Republican campaign."

The Democratic vice-presidential candidate, commenting last night on the Middle East crisis, also said that what he called "zigzag policies" of Secretary of State Dulles contributed "to the conditions from which the present conflict results."

Meanwhile, Kefauver carried his campaign into Illinois, still hammering on the theme that H-bomb tests should be suspended as soon as possible and that the Eisenhower administration, as he puts it, is riskily ignoring possible radiation danger to future generations.

Kefauver got a boisterous, good-natured greeting from University of Illinois students when his Mainstreeter campaign plane landed after midnight.

The majority of the welcoming party wore paper coonskin caps, one of which was presented to the candidate, and held up pro-Stevenson signs. Kefauver and Sen. Douglas (D-Ill), who also was in the welcoming party, exchanged wisecracks with the students while a leather-lunged minority group chanted "We like Ike."

His talk at the university today is the first political speech, campaign aides said, to be permitted on the campus since 1890. Regulations against political appearances recently were relaxed to allow presidential and vice-presidential candidates to appear.

Kefauver said in his prepared talk that the Eisenhower administration has tried to suppress and hold back the disturbing reports that have come in from various medical laboratories" about the dangers of strontium 90, one of the by-products discharged into the air when nuclear weapons are tested.

"We may now already be close to the danger zone," he said. "You can see that we may already have gone too far with our reckless testing of nuclear weapons."

Describing what he said were the cancer-producing effects of strontium 90, Kefauver said:

"The unimaginative, inflexible Eisenhower policy of having military security built upon bigger and bigger and more numerous kinds of nuclear weapons is bringing to all mankind the risk of a worldwide plague of illness from radioactive poisons."

He had on hand charts he said were prepared by the Atomic Energy Commission showing increased concentrations of strontium 90 in Wisconsin cheese, Chicago milk and the bodies of stillborn babies. The locations, he said, are not significant, but "the same general picture" would emerge from similar tests made anywhere.

"They have tried to present this story in a reassuring manner, but I do not find it reassuring and neither will you," Kefauver said. "Recent information indicates that the concentrations of strontium 90 now present are much closer to the maximum permissible concentration than the scale on this chart seems to say."

Nixon Cites Puppet Riots as Results of GOP Policy

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Vice President Nixon winds up his campaigning in California today after asserting that re-election of President Eisenhower is the best way to encourage anti-Russian moves in satellite countries.

Nixon, speaking at Occidental College last night, said that "for the first time the Iron Curtain shows real evidence of cracking," then declared that the Eisenhower administration has steadfastly pushed liberation of the satellites.

However, he made no direct claim that administration policies in this field caused the riots in Poland and Hungary.

Nixon is to fly from Long Beach to San Diego in the late afternoon and make the major speech of his California tour tonight over a statewide television network.

Nixon used the occasion last night for the most extended treatment he has given so far to the Polish and Hungarian riots.

He praised Eisenhower as a "symbol of peace and freedom" whose "world stature and prestige is such that he will be able to mobilize the great moral force of free men everywhere and of those behind the Iron Curtain who want to be free."

By contrast, he said, Adlai Stevenson is a "confused, weak and vaculating man" who "has scoffed at and belittled the liberation postion of the administration."

The Democratic presidential nominee last week assailed members of a Republican "truth squad" for claiming that administration liberation policies had encouraged the anti-Russian riots.

The outbreaks in Hungary and Poland "mark a great turning point in the struggle between communism and freedom," Nixon said.

"The low point in that struggle was reached during the seven years of the Truman administration when 600 million people went behind the Iron Curtain.

* * *

"During the four years of the rising tide of Communist conquest has been checked and the free world has been strengthened to the point that the men in the Kremlin realize that if they embark on aggression any place in the world they will be met by superior strength based on our advantage in the field of atomic weapons."

Gas Fight Rebounds in Michigan PSC

LANSING (AP) — A hotly disputed fight between two utilities over natural gas markets landed today back in the lap of the Michigan Public Service Commission.

It was sent back to the commission by Circuit Judge Marvin J. Salmon for a review of voluminous testimony gathered in lengthy hearings.

The agency was given 15 days to modify, alter or cancel an order issued in August granting new sales rights to Panhandle Eastern Pipeline Co.

Panhandle, which is bulk supplier to Michigan Consolidated Gas Co., has been trying for years to crack the direct sales field to industry and was given the right to serve the McClouth Steel plant at Gibraltar.

Michigan Consolidated, which previously sold to McClouth, appealed the commission's order to Salmon.

He refused to become involved in a Panhandle petition seeking to prevent Commissioner James Lee from sitting in on the testimony review.

Dr. J. T. Cheng of the Oakland County Tuberculosis Sanatorium will be guest speaker at the Methodist Men's Dinner at 6:30 tonight at the Central Methodist Church.

Dr. Cheng was raised in China and educated in the Methodist missionary schools.

He received his medical education from Northwestern University and then returned to China where he practiced medicine for 20 years only to be driven out by the Communists.

Dr. Cheng will speak on "Conditions Behind the Iron Curtain."

Schooner Faces Torch

DETROIT (AP) — A lot of memories will go up in smoke Saturday when the schooner J. T. Wing will be burned at a public bonfire on Belle Isle. STRAIGHT-SHOOTING — Showing it's not the game but where you play it that makes the difference, Larry Gwin, 72 N. East Blvd., sights a hard shot at the Pontiac Boys' Club. Harold Singleton, of the same address, is with him. While they enjoy themselves, the boys also are learning good citizenship as they mix in the adult-guided club life. Nearly 2,000 boys belong to the Pontiac Area United Fund supported club.

UF Funds Aid in Character Building

By PETE LOCHBILER

Part of your Pontiac Area United Fund contribution goes to build better boys.

These are the youngsters, age 7 to 19, who are dollar-a-year members of the Pontiac Boys' Club, 530 E. Pike St.

They say they belong to "the most inclusive club in town."

Your contribution is money-in-the-bank as far as eastside juvenile delinquency is concerned.

Before the boys' club started 12 years ago, the area was one of the city's worst delinquency centers, police say.

Boys were growing up on the wrong side of the law. They had hoodlums for companions, pool halls for hangouts. Young lives were becoming twisted, permanently.

Civic leaders pitched in to build the boys' club. The weapon against delinquency was aimed at boys' hearts. The theory was simple: create and encourage natural, satisfying experiences under the sympathetic leadership of young men.

The major battle was won a long time ago. Eastside juvenile delinquency has ceased to be a major problem, police say. Your UF contribution keeps it that way.

The club normally operates with a membership of about 1,400. Right now, there are close to 2,000 who enjoy its facilities after school and evenings weekdays and all day Saturday.

Extensive club facilities and a staff of 11, headed by executive director William V. Coulacos, are paid 85 per cent by the UF. Next year, the club will run on a $45,000 budget.

Coulacos points out that boys based on race, creed or color. Any boy who wants good friendship and solid leadership is eligible.

Staff members feel this definition fits every boy. That's why they say theirs is the most inclusive club in town.

The Boys' Club is one of 54 community service agencies supported by this year's UF drive.

And He's Still Gaining

Fattest Man in Country Tips Scale at 1,041 Lbs.

FISHHOOK, Ill. (AP)—Robert Earl Hughes, who claims to be the world's fattest man, has returned home from a summer tour with a circus where he fattened up to 1,041 pounds.

Because of his great bulk, the 30-year-old Hughes gets weighed only infrequently. He usually is brought to commercial scales in Fishhook aboard a truck from his farm home near this town in west-central Illinois.

Hughes' heaviest weight before the summer tour was 946 pounds. Brought to town several days after his circus stint Hughes weighed 1,041 pounds, a net gain of 95 over his previous bulk.

Nobody thought to take his measurements at his latest weighing. But at 946 pounds, Hughes' waist was an almost unbelievable 115 inches.

Other members of Hughes' family, including his father and two brothers, are average size persons. Hughes attributes his great bulk to a siege of whooping cough. He believes the paroxysms of coughing somehow upset nature's balance and a glandular disorder resulted.

Around 11 pounds at birth, Hughes was up to 550 pounds when he was 10 years old.

Hughes is 6 feet tall but because of his huge girth appears shorter.

The American Medical Assn. said the biggest man in medical records was a 7-foot, 8-inch giant who scaled "over 1,000 pounds." The exact weight of the man, who was born in North Carolina, was not given.

Twins, identical even to their heart ailment, were operated on in Melbourne, Australia.
