State Decides to Meet Payroll This Thursday

But Release of Funds to 'Broke' Universities Left Dangling

LANSING (AP) — The State Administrative Board today formally agreed to meet tomorrow's $5,100,000 state payroll but put off a decision on setting aside $6,700,000 for universities.

Gov. Williams left little doubt that a sizable chunk of cash soon would be released to the University of Michigan, Michigan State University and Wayne State University.

"I think we'll have sufficient revenues for the payments," he said. "The question is whether we can start digging into the backlog."

The governor referred to arrears of $19,600,000 in payments by the State Treasury on 1958-59 operating appropriations to the three big universities.

He said further analysis of the treasury's capabilities will be made tomorrow in the light of more complete revenue data expected by then.

Thursday's major state payroll and a minor state payroll skipped May 15 after hearing a report from State Treasurer Sanford A. Brown.

The minor payroll, amounting to about $130,000, was withheld from state lawmakers, judges and legislative staff members.

Auditor Gen. Frank S. Szynman today cleared the way for meeting other bills by completing payments of $35,500,000 in primary school interest funds that have had first call on Treasury resources since last Friday.

The three universities, now owed nearly 20 million dollars in monies appropriated by the Legislature a year, asserted powerful claim to help Monday and Tuesday in 1959-60 budget reviews with Gov. Williams.

U. of M. and MSU officials said they have no place but the State Treasury to turn for money to meet month-end payrolls, and perhaps throw a financial bone or two to most pressing creditors.

MSU on May 1 stopped all payments to suppliers. The U. of M. has well over a million dollars in bills backing up to February, and has a $600,000 borrowing obligation to meet in June.

Brown said about $16,500,000 in tax receipts would be credited to the general fund balance today and tomorrow morning.

He said heavy receipts from the corporation franchise tax, due last Friday but still clearing through the state government fiscal machinery, had just about run their course.

But some more franchise money was due, and also a steady trickle of state sales tax receipts for about another week.

Williams' first stem-to-stern indictment of a use (sales) tax increase pumped new ammunition to Democrats as bipartisan negotiations on a compromise tax program crawled forward today.

From the outset of Michigan's tax war, the Democratic governor has pushed for a 140-million dollar personal income and corporation profits package as the answer to long-range revenue needs.

It's Golf Weather (Between Showers)

Golfers and gardeners will have to play and work between showers for the next few days. The weatherman predicts showers and thunderstorms through Saturday.

Partly cloudy, warm and a humid 65 degrees with thundershowers is the Pontiac area forecast for tonight.

For the next five days temperatures will average about three degrees above the normal high of 71 and normal low of 50. Thursday will be warm with a high of 80 but temperatures will cool somewhat late Friday or Saturday.

The average rainfall through Saturday will total about an inch. The lowest thermometer reading preceding 8 a.m. in downtown Pontiac was 66 degrees. The mercury climbed to 85 at 1 p.m.

Caution Urged on Secret Talks With Russia

France, West Germany Oppose Allies Rushing Phase of Berlin Debate

GENEVA (AP) — West Germany and France were reported today to be putting the brakes on U.S.-British enthusiasm for prompt opening of secret talks with the Soviet Union over the Berlin crisis and prospects for a summit conference.

Some cautious moves were apparently going on in the Big Four foreign ministers conference concerning the start of secret negotiations.

When these do take place they will almost certainly determine whether a summit conference will be held this summer.

Maurice Couve de Murville of France and Heinrich von Brentano of West Germany appeared less anxious to get quickly into secret talks than their two Western colleagues.

They were said to be taking the line with U.S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter and Britain's Foreign Minister Selwyn Lloyd that, since the Soviet Union created the Berlin crisis, the Soviets should take the lead in finding a solution.

Couve de Murville and Von Brentano are not opposed to secret talks, diplomats said, but insist the Western allies must enter into such discussions with the greatest care.

Debate over the rival and mutually rejected Soviet and Western proposals for a German peace settlement will continue possibly until the end of the week.

This means a delay in the schedule which Herter tentatively anticipated last week — that private talks with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko might get under way by today or Thursday.

Is State Really Broke?

County Gets $4,387,595

It must be difficult for Oakland County Treasurer Charles A. Sparks to believe that Michigan is broke.

In a week's time, he has received two checks from the state totaling $4,387,595. One check of $2,814,665 came in last week, destined for the county's Board of Education and many school districts.

Soon afterwards, Sparks received a second check from the state in the amount of $1,572,930. This represents Oakland's once-a-year share of primary school interest payments.

"It's unusual to get so much in one week," declared Sparks as he prepared to funnel out the money.

EARMARKED FUNDS — Sparks, a Republican, was quick to admit, however, that the money he received came from earmarked funds.

Oakland's interest payment check was the largest State Treasurer Sanford A. Brown dispatched to 23 more counties, leaving only Wayne and Westford to be paid.

Payments totaling $4,181,828 went out to counties listed alphabetically from Montcalm through Washtenaw. Some $5,924,743 remains to be paid, with all but $49,330 slated to go to Wayne County.

Brown expressed hope the remaining counties would be paid in time to allow release of state paychecks tomorrow.

He was ordered not to meet the $5,100,000 payroll for 26,000 state employees, until school obligations were met.

Officials in Lansing were confident the state employees could be paid tomorrow.

Brown said $8,900,000 will be credited to the general fund tomorrow. More was on the way. At least 2,000 franchise fees were received yesterday by the Corporation and Securities Commission. Sales tax money continued to come into the Revenue Department also.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The all-male Senate Judiciary Committee has voted 9-3 for equal rights for women, approving a proposed constitutional amendment.

The amendment would free women from the legal protection of men and would remove all restrictions on account of sex. If the amendment were enacted, Arizona courts, for example, no longer could forbid a woman from selling a foul-mouthed parrot that her husband liked. Such a case is in the committee's records.

Voting against the amendment were Sens. James O. Eastland (D-Miss.), Olin D. Johnston (D-SC) and Sam J. Ervin Jr. (D-NC).

Republicans gave themselves a 50-50 chance of success.

But Democratic leaders, with a big voting majority, predicted the defeat of lesser alternatives to their own wide-ranging program. It includes slum elimination, public housing, college and old-folks housing and liberalized FHA down payments.

The biggest test comes late today or Wednesday when the House votes on a substitute bill sponsored by Rep. A. S. Herlong of Florida, a Southern Democrat, but backed by the administration.

Herlong's bill calls for total spending of $1,300,000,000, compared with President Eisenhower's original suggestion of a 1,600,000,000 overall program and the $2,600,000,000 housing bill already passed by the Senate.

In debate Tuesday, Republicans openly cautioned that the Democratic-backed measure would meet a presidential veto.

And Rep. Howard W. Smith (D-Va.) told the House that passage of the big measure would mean the start of a "wild spending spree."

'We'll Never Fire the 1st Shot'—Nikita

By PRESTON GROVER
Moscow AP Bureau Chief

MOSCOW—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev told a group of Florida business and professional men Tuesday that the Soviet Union never will launch the first rocket against the United States.

But he said their grandchildren had better look out—the bug of communism will get them.

Khrushchev, evidently in a good humor, told them he was happy to see 45 Florida businessmen and after a 70-minute interview took them out into the Kremlin garden for photographs.

"I can assure you that we will not be the first to use our weapons against you," Khrushchev said.

Later in the talks he said: "Who can guarantee that your grandchildren years from now will have the same views that you do? We won't start a war. We will not strike first and you will not allow any crazy people to start a war."

THERE'LL BE NO WAR — "Therefore there will be no war but you are as afraid of communism as of the devil himself."

"The bacilli of communism may enter the brains of your grandchildren. Therefore take care of the brains of your grandchildren."

Khrushchev predicted the Geneva Big Four foreign ministers conference will be successful "or we would not have participated in the first place."

He declared the U.S.S.R. is willing to go a long way to get results. He repeated what he said earlier that he dislikes the package plan proposed by the Western powers.

"The Western powers have proposed a draft which calls for a united Berlin to be set up," he said. "In other words they proposed that the government of East Germany should give up its own capital, that of East Berlin."

"Is that government supposed to transfer its capital somewhere else? Is it supposed to transfer it to Mars or Jupiter? No reasonable person can hope for a solution on that basis."

Sen. Kennedy to Address Dem Dinner in Detroit

Massachusetts Sen. John F. Kennedy, reportedly out in front for the Democratic Party's 1960 presidential nomination, will journey to Detroit Saturday to help swell the treasury of Michigan Democrats.

Kennedy, who missed the vice presidential nomination by a whisker in 1956, will be in Detroit for the party's top fund-raising affair of the year—the Jefferson-Jackson Day Dinner. Among the many Oakland County and Pontiac Democrats planning to attend will be Howard M. Arnold, of 3704 Linwood Dr., Royal Oak, who will be honored at the dinner because his voting precinct recorded the highest percentage of Democratic votes in the 1958 spring election.

Immediate past president of the Royal Oak Democratic Club, Arnold is now serving his second term on the Oakland County Democratic Committee. A capacity crowd of nearly 3,000 Democrats who will pay $35 a couple for dinner, is expected to pack the Light Guard Armory at 6:30 for the dinner. The Armory is located at 4400 E. Eight Mile Rd.

Sen. Kennedy will warm up for his evening talk by participating in a panel discussion in the afternoon with Gov. G. Mennen Williams and Michigan Senators Philip A. Hart and Patrick V. McNamara.

Theme of the afternoon panel program, from 2:30 to 5 p.m., at the Armory, will be "Michigan Means Business."

The afternoon discussion, at which questions from the audience will be welcomed, will provide an interesting contrast between Kennedy, a man growing as presidential timber lately, and Williams, who according to pollsters is seeing his chances for the nomination slipping supposedly because of the state's financial troubles.

The Press Wins State Award for Sales Idea

The Pontiac Press won an award at a Michigan Press Assn. newspaper circulation conference for the best promotion idea of the year.

Announcement of the award was made yesterday. The Press kept track of all new homes under construction in its circulation area, then made certain a newspaper was delivered whenever a new family moved in.

Earl Treadwell, circulation manager of The Press, explained the policy at a meeting of circulation managers of the Michigan Press Assn. yesterday at the Kellogg Center, East Lansing.

"A Pontiac Press for each new home" has been the driving force of the policy as the circulation department kept close tabs on all new subdivisions and homes in the area.

The Press policy has been in effect for the past several years.

Would Retaliate if Tough Labor Measures Pass

Senators Say Proposal 'Just Crazy,' Peril to Congress and People

From Our News Wires

WASHINGTON — Teamster President James R. Hoffa has touched off new demands for tough labor legislation by threatening to combat a union antitrust proposal with a nationwide strike.

Sen. John McClellan (D-Ark.) urged Congress today to meet head-on Hoffa's threat to call a strike if labor unions are subjected to antitrust laws.

McClellan, chairman of the Senate racket probers, said he will introduce soon a bill he has talked about to apply the antitrust laws to transportation unions. He gave no further details.

Hoffa told a Brownsville, Tex. audience Tuesday afternoon that organized labor's answer to such legislation should be to have all its collective bargaining contracts expire on the same date, and then strike.

"We can call a primary strike all across the nation that will straighten out the employers once and for all," Hoffa said.

Hoffa has been working to organize a conference of various transportation unions, including his Teamsters, and longshoremen and rail unions.

He spoke at a district convention of the International Longshoremen's Assn., but indicated he was suggesting a strike by all labor unions.

The suggestion was quickly rejected by AFL-CIO President George Meany, who served notice Hoffa could not count on support from the federation's 12½ million members. The AFL-CIO has expelled the Teamsters on charges of corruption.

WOULD BE SUICIDAL — Sen. Pat McNamara (D-Mich.), a former Detroit union official, said a general strike "would be suicidal, just crazy," and added that "I think Hoffa has more sense than to do that."

He noted that Hoffa had said a strike could be called, not that it would be. But McClellan saw real danger in Hoffa's words, which he called a threat against Congress and the people. He said the (Continued on Page 2, Col. 6)

Board Again Okays Sewers

Two County Projects Get Under Way May 26 With Sale of Bonds

For what they hope will be the last time, the Oakland County Board of Supervisors met this morning and put its stamp of approval on the long-awaited and court-blocked Farmington and Evergreen sanitary sewers.

Construction on the $8,919,000 Evergreen sewer, to serve eight communities, and on the $5,748,000 Farmington sewer, to benefit four communities, will begin next Tuesday when the bonds to finance the sewers are scheduled to be sold.

Harold K. Schone, director of the Department of Public Works, assured supervisors today's approval of the two large projects "should be the last."

Today's session was called after an amendment was added to the state law, under which the sewers are being built, to assure four dissenting State Supreme Court justices that communities will not have to exceed the 15-mill constitutional limitation to pay their obligations to the county.

A long chain of legal blocks holding up the two sewers began in March 1958 when a West Bloomfield attorney filed suit contesting the constitutionality of the DPW Act passed in 1957.

With passage of the measure, Oakland County became the only one to have its own DPW for the establishment of sewer and water systems which individual areas could not have built on their own.

Supreme Court Justices Visit Pontiac

EYE CHANGES IN LEGAL PROCEEDINGS — Michigan Supreme Court Chief Justice John R. Dethmers (center) and Associate Justices Eugene F. Black (left) and Thomas M. Kavanagh visited Pontiac and the courthouse yesterday to talk to Oakland County Circuit Court judges and attorneys about possible revisions in court proceedings. Under study was the proposed filing of cases and law and equity relief "in one single law action." About 50 members of the Oakland County Bar Assn. also heard University of Michigan Law School Prof. Charles W. Joiner, chairman of the committee looking into these changes, explain the reasons and answer questions about them.

Rail Speed Curb Urged for City

15-Mile-an-Hour Limit Proposed on Trains Through Pontiac

City commissioners have been asked to consider imposing a lower speed limit on Grand Trunk Railroad trains passing through Pontiac.

Commissioner Milton R. Henry's proposal for a 15-mile-an-hour speed limit will be taken up next Thursday at the Commission's informal meeting, it was decided last night.

Henry's proposal came after a report on the recent Public Service Commission's action leading to the railroad's present agreement to install protective gates at the W. Huron street crossing.

"We wanted gates installed at other crossings, too, but evidently the Public Service Commission is proceeding slowly," Henry observed.

"I suspect there will be some more people killed at crossings unless the city itself decides to take action."

Henry said the State Supreme Court recently upheld a Michigan ordinance limiting train speeds to 15 miles an hour within corporate limits.

"I believe a speed law here would be upheld in court and would materially contribute to reducing the number of accidents and their severity," Henry said.

Pontiac's last serious train-car accident was in March at the Saginaw street crossing. Though not fatally injured, the driver of the car is still in the hospital, recuperating from critical injuries.

In December, a four-year-old girl was killed in a train-car collision at the Baldwin avenue crossing.

Rain to Dampen Spring Spirits of Most of Nation

By The Associated Press

More rain and thunderstorms were in prospect for most sections of the country today after another outbreak of severe weather in some areas Tuesday.

The stormy weather erupted in the warm humid air covering wide areas in the midwest, Gulf and eastern section of the country. Tornadoes struck in Wisconsin as the stormy weather continued in midwest areas.

No injuries were reported in the twisters that skipped across the Lancaster area, in southwestern Wisconsin, and near Clinton, in the southeast part of the state.

Two tornadoes also were reported near Pensacola, Fla., Tuesday and tornadic winds, with hail and rain, lashed the area near Electra, Tex.

Hail stones as big as baseballs pelted the Prairie du Chien, Wis., area and hail also fell in parts of Iowa.

The wet areas during the night included most of the southeast, the northern Rockies southward and southeastward into the central plains, parts of the upper Mississippi valley eastward through the northern Great Lakes region and across New York state into central New England.

The warm moist air from the Gulf spread into the northern quarter of the country.

Dulles Clinging to Life Under Pain Killers

WASHINGTON (AP)—Pain relieving drugs are keeping John Foster Dulles generally comfortable as he clings to life.

The former secretary of state sleeps much of the time in his Walter Reed Army Hospital room.

The State Department said Tuesday Dulles, ravaged by cancer, continues to grow weaker. "He is receiving analgesics (pain killers) and in general is comfortable," the announcement added.

The 71-year-old Dulles is not in a coma, however, and members of his family are in frequent attendance.

Caution on Big Four Secret Talks Urged

cautioned the secret phase of the Big Four talks probably would not begin for several days.

Lloyd will have Von Brentano and other top West German leaders to dinner tonight.

Thursday night, the American diplomat, Herter, is giving a dinner for Gromyko, Couve de Murville and Lloyd.

A conference source said Gromyko told Lloyd Wednesday that he will make a new stab at getting Communist Poland and Czechoslovakia admitted to the conference. The Western foreign ministers rebuffed his earlier attempt to seat them.

The Western and Soviet foreign ministers were to continue their debate on their rival plans for Germany at another formal conference session today.

But Western diplomats say this debate has reached a dead end of disagreement, and the obvious objective of both sides in continuing the discussion is to make more propaganda.

While press and public are barred from the conference sessions, everything that happens inside the conference room is immediately reported to newsmen by press officers for the delegations.

Only about a dozen men—probably three from each of the Big Four countries—will attend the secret talks shaping up.

Little information about them is expected to emerge from day to day.

Joslyn Protests Stir Commission

Reviewing City's Assessment Policy

The city's special assessment policy is under scrutiny as a result of protest over private expense involved in the proposed paving of Joslyn avenue.

City commissioners will review special assessment financing at their next informal meeting, May 28, on motion of Commissioner Floyd P. Miles last night.

Immediately at issue is the $5.50-a-front-foot rate that would form the basis of special assessments on property owners involved in the paving of Joslyn, from Walton boulevard to Collier road at the northern city limits.

Commissioners declared completion of Joslyn paving a public necessity because the road is a secondary traffic artery that will connect with the Oakland County Expressway north of the city in 1961.

INSIDE OR OUTSIDE?

"Is this a public necessity for the people of Pontiac or for the people outside of Pontiac?" queried one of a dozen Joslyn residents who appeared at the meeting last night to protest the $5.50 rate.

"You're putting that road in for everyone's benefit—we shouldn't have to pay so much," said another.

Most of the Joslyn lots are large—100 feet wide—so many of the special assessments would range around $550.

The city could raise $27,994 in special assessments at the $5.50 rate, said City Engineer Lewis M. Wrenn, but an added $97,703 in city highway funds would have to be invested to meet the balance of the estimated $125,697 cost of the project.

The city is planning to lay only 22-foot wide pavement now, Wrenn added, so property owners would get an additional assessment of $2.50 a front foot whenever the street is widened and curbs and gutters installed.

Commissioner Milton R. Henry questioned whether the special assessment formula shouldn't be flexible where arterial roads are concerned.

Mayor Philip E. Rowston said flexibility would mean a change in the policy in effect the past eight years.

"We must have basic formulas, and must treat all streets the same to be fair, whether they are side streets or thoroughfares," he said.

Plane Hits Barracks, 3 Killed, 14 Injured

TOKYO (AP)—A transport plane crashed into an Air Force barracks in southern Japan today killing 3 and injuring 14, the Air Force announced.

The Air Force said the four-engine craft was trying to land with one engine out. It was returning from a flight to Iwo Jima.

The Air Force said few were in the barracks at the time. Personnel were at the dining hall. Names of casualties were being withheld pending notification of next of kin.

The plane was assigned to the 483rd Troop Carrier Wing at Ashiya, the air base in northern Kyushu, Japan's southernmost island.

The Air Force gave no further details.

Retired Fire Engine 4 Scores Big Hit on City Playground

Old Fire Engine No. 4 is more popular now in retirement than during its 33 years of service to Pontiac.

Installed yesterday as a permanent playground attraction at Southwest Civic Park, the fire-scarred apparatus was the immediate delight of a score of youngsters.

They clambered up to its open seat, pulled gears and punched buttons, imitating loudly the sound of sirens and bells.

In youthful imagination, old No. 4 once again was racing to a fire.

GLAMOUR NOT GONE

In an age of rockets, jet planes and atomic power, No. 4 proved that the glamour of fire engines is not so outdated as to be absent from young hearts.

This is the first time that an elaborate piece of machinery has been installed in a playground in Pontiac.

"We hope to get other pieces of old equipment if we can get our hands on them at a low price," said David R. Ewalt, director of the Parks & Recreation Department.

"Kids love things like fire engines. They're good for play and they're educational, encouraging an interest in mechanical devices."

Replaced by new equipment and put out to pasture behind Fire Station No. 2, the 1926 fire engine was idly accumulating rust when Ewalt decided it could be put to use again on a playground.

The Southwest Civic Assn., which is undertaking a membership drive to raise more funds for the park and other recreational programs, welcomed its installation.

JOINT FINANCING

The park, at Howland and Nebraska avenues, was opened last year, financed jointly by the association and the Parks & Recreation Department.

Matching the association's initial $1,000 donation, the city so far has installed swings, a slide, a climber and a baseball field with backstop.

Under a three-year improvement program, the association and the city are scheduled to spend $5,400 more by the end of 1961 for fencing, play equipment, landscaping and a park shelter.

Mrs. Marie Johnson, publicity chairman for the association, said the drive for 2,000 new members will be kicked off at a brunch at 10:30 a.m. Saturday in the multi-purpose room of Bethune School.

Guest speaker will be Mrs. Lennie Ford, a Detroit lawyer and wife of the Green Bay Packers football star.

Mrs. Johnson said the association hopes to raise $1,000 for the park this year and $1,500 next year.

Irked Hoffa Threatens Big Retaliation Strike

Teamsters' chief "should not be allowed to get away with it."

McClellan said Hoffa was talking about a strike that would "shut down industry, stop the wheels of commerce, strangle the economy and challenge the supremacy of our government."

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr. (D-NC), a member of McClellan's committee and cosponsor of the hotly disputed Kennedy-Ervin bill, declared that Hoffa's speech finally has convinced him the McClellan bill is needed.

"It will be a tragic thing for the people if Congress knuckles down to Hoffa," Ervin said.

Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass), cosponsor of the Kennedy-Ervin bill, reserved comment until after he studies a text of Hoffa's speech.

BILL 'TOO SOFT'

Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.) said in a separate interview Hoffa's threat should bring swift action by the House to toughen up the Kennedy-Ervin bill, which he contends is "too soft."

Hoffa said a bill to apply the antitrust laws to unions would be introduced in Congress next week.

Its enactment, he added, "would leave us with the solution to have one solitary strike throughout the United States to tie up all employers across the nation at one time."

Trumans Get Good News in Duplicate

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—Mrs. Harry S. Truman and the former President have two reasons for rejoicing today.

Pathologists have determined that the tumor removed from Mrs. Truman's breast was not malignant.

And their second grandchild was born Tuesday in New York.

Truman was so elated he scheduled a press conference today to discuss fully his feelings about Mrs. Truman's operation and his new grandson.

The tumor was removed by surgery Monday. "Thank God," exclaimed the 74-year-old Mrs. Truman when she heard the report. "I did not want to go through the rest of my life having people feeling sorry for me."

Truman said "it's the best news in a long time."

Their daughter, Mrs. Clifton Daniel, was in Doctors Hospital in New York, where her second son was delivered, by caesarean section. The baby weighed 7 pounds 3 ounces.

The Day in Birmingham

Expect 200 at Workshop on Horticultural Therapy

BIRMINGHAM — Nearly 200 Southeastern Michigan women will attend the Horticultural Therapy Workshop Friday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Devon Gables.

Mrs. William Burlingame, well-known horticulturist and director of volunteer workers at Pontiac State Hospital, is in charge of the event.

She said Dr. J. F. Ennsroth, Birmingham psychiatrist, will talk on how to get along with mentally disturbed patients.

Mrs. Louis Colombo Jr. will talk on work with emotionally upset children at the Pontiac hospital.

Two speakers from Chicago will lead discussions on problems of handicapped children in public schools.

Mrs. Burlingame said the workshop is planned for volunteers to exchange ideas and techniques on working with these mentally disturbed and physically handicapped patients.

A pioneer in this field, she has established Oakland County as one of the leading spots for this work in the nation.

Thousands of volunteer hours are spent in area hospitals each year and the work has earned many commendations from leading doctors, she said.

Mrs. William Hyland is assisting in workshop plans. Members of the Pine Lake Women's National Farm and Garden Assn., under the chairmanship of Mrs. Carl Giese of Pontiac, will be hostesses at the luncheon.

Seven area youths are standing trial today in Bloomfield Hills Municipal Court charged with aggravated assault against a truck driver.

The youths include Douglas H. Datziger, 17, of 6325 Shearwater Rd. and Robert L. Barrett, 17, of 6014 Snowshoe Circle, both of Birmingham; Robert E. Hills, 17, of 1082 Stratford St., and Timothy A. David, 18, of 591 Woodway Ct., Bloomfield Hills.

The others are John W. Paige, 18, of 4300 Derry St., Bloomfield Township; John F. Jordan, 17, of 1148 Middle Belt Rd., West Bloomfield Township; and Thomas L. Fauco, 18, of 2335 W. Pine Center Rd., Orchard Lake.

They are accused of beating Harold C. Paterbaugh, 32, of 356 Choccolay St., Clawson, on March 12, following an argument at W. Long Lake and Lahser roads.

Paterbaugh was hospitalized with a concussion and internal injuries following the incident.

Members of the Birmingham VFW Post and Charles Edwards Post, American Legion, will conduct their annual poppy sale tomorrow.

Funds are used for the benefit of hospitalized veterans and for the aid of their families.

"Pussy Cat, pussy cat, where have you been?"

Mrs. Edward B. Powers of 1875 Stanley St. sent Birmingham Police searching for a laundry truck yesterday, believing her cat to be in a bag just picked up at her door.

By the time officers located the truck and searched the bag, Mrs. Powers found her cat safe at home.

That's Pinpointing It

BRIGHTON, England (UP)—A letter from the London suburb of Romford was delivered without delay yesterday to this address:

Will Wash Subway Cars

NEW YORK (UP)—New Yorkers were promised they can see for themselves next month, or maybe in July, what color those subway cars really are. The Transit Authority announced it has ordered a car washing machine to scrub the cars' exteriors for the first time in 55 years.

Outside Offers Abundant

Luring U. of M. Faculty

LANSING (AP)—Job offers have been pouring in to University of Michigan faculty members from out-of-state schools, Gov. Williams was told yesterday.

"The word has gone out over the entire country that the universities in Michigan are in financial difficulty," said Marvin L. Niehuss, U. of M. vice president.

Niehuss appeared with a university delegation to plead for a budget increase for next year.

He read from several letters received by faculty members.

"By the way," said one, "have things in Michigan reached the point where you are considering moving?"

Niehuss said surprisingly few of the faculty had left as yet.

"But, it is absolutely essential to have strong salary increases next year," he said. "Failure to make substantial progress would be absolutely disastrous."

Niehuss said more than 200 jobs had been lopped from the staff this year. He said there had been no money for new building in the past two years.

Return Bill to Neighbor and Explain

By EMILY POST
"Dear Mrs. Post: A neighbor, who recently moved into the neighborhood, asked me to care for her pets while the family was off on a three-week vacation. On returning, she presented me with a box of candy with a five dollar bill tucked in it. The candy was all right but I think the money was an insult as I had no expense at all. Am I wrong in feeling this way, and would it be proper to return the money?"

Answer: You may quite properly return the money saying, "It was a pleasure having your adorable pets all to myself while you were away and I really can't accept any money for taking care of them."

"Dear Mrs. Post: One of the bridesmaids at my own wedding asked me to be a bridesmaid at her wedding, but has said nothing about including my husband in the wedding party. If her fiancé didn't know my husband that would be an excuse for leaving him out, but we have all been friends for several years. Do you think it proper to ask me alone, and if not, should I back out?"

Answer: Your friend showed no discourtesy to your husband in leaving him out of the bridal party. He should be invited not only to the wedding and reception but included in any parties especially given for the bridal party.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My husband gave me a diamond wrist watch for my birthday. What I would like to know is on what occasion is it suitable for me to wear it. My husband would like me to wear it at all times, while I feel that perhaps it is intended only for evening clothes, which unfortunately I seldom wear."

Answer: Your husband is right. In other words, you wear it exactly as you would wear one without diamonds.

Pontiac High 1919 Class Has Reunion Luncheon

Fortieth anniversary of the graduation of Pontiac High School class of 1919 was celebrated with a luncheon Saturday afternoon at Pontiac Central High School.

Students and teachers representing all classes who graduated between 1916 and 1920 joined the class of 1919 in their first reunion. Seventy-seven persons attended.

TEACHERS ATTEND

Former teachers present were Blanche Avery, Bessie Carpenter, Grace Heitsch, Mrs. Sophia Eaton Kelly, S. M. Dudley, Goodloe Rogers and Prof. Everett Phelps.

Class president William O. Armstrong was master of ceremonies and each of the teachers gave a short greeting to their former students.

Following a session of reminiscences and renewing old acquaintances the group reassembled on the steps of the auditorium for a group picture.

MRS. PAUL KERN

Mrs. Paul Kern, one of Pontiac's cultural leaders, poses on a couch that is a family heirloom and the one on which her father proposed to her mother.

City Cultural Leader Has Colorful Heritage

By LYDIA ROTHMAN

Concerned with the heritage of the past and an inheritance of the future, Mrs. Paul Kern of Long Pointe drive may rightfully be called one of the cultural leaders of Pontiac.

She was first to voice the idea of a Town Hall series for Pontiac with the idea of having its proceeds benefit Pontiac Symphony Orchestra and other cultural activities of the community.

She hopes someday that Pontiac can have an auditorium for lectures, art exhibits and musical events. She says, "we can share Michigan State University and Michigan State University Oakland's lectures and their students can enjoy what we will offer."

"Culture must be made easily available to people for them to take advantage of it," she says.

A resident of Pontiac since the 1920's, Mrs. Kern is a member of Tuesday Musicales, Tuesday Musicales Workshop, Pontiac Symphony Orchestra and Town Hall. She is also an accomplished pianist.

COMPILES HISTORY

Right now she is compiling a "History of Music from Samarian Times to the Present," to show how each period of music is a reflection of its times in history. "It may be my life's work," she says.

Mrs. Kern was born in San Antonio, Texas of Spanish parents. Her mother's family were Spanish conquistadors who settled in Mexico and her father's parents, also from Spain, settled in Texas.

Her grandfather was a scout for Sam Houston and a great personal friend of Geronimo, Apache chieftain.

Mrs. Kern has had a full and colorful life which has given her a deep understanding and sympathy of people and the world around her.

Her family believed in exposing her to everything. As a child she accompanied her parents everywhere even to their ranch worker's homes in times of crisis, knifings, births and deaths.

"Because I have been exposed to so much, both good and bad, I am rarely disillusioned," says Mrs. Kern. And she says this without a trace of bitterness or cynicism.

GAVE LECTURES

She has been back to Mexico some 40 times and at one time she gave a series of lectures on Spanish and Mexican arts, crafts and history. She was even commissioned by local merchants to bring back native crafts, silver and pottery for them from her trips.

So that her grandchildren will be aware of their inheritance, Mrs. Kern writes them letters telling of her own childhood. She is very concerned with the sheltered life of children today and feels it is important for them to know and have a feeling for their past so they will take a responsibility for the future.

taken by Gunnar George who took the graduation pictures in 1919.

FLIES FROM FLORIDA

Guests came from Hulbert in the Upper peninsula, East Ta-was, Jackson, Lansing and Detroit. Mrs. Celia Williamson Crum came the farthest. She flew from her home in Winter Garden, Fla., to attend the reunion.

In charge of the affair were Mrs. Paul Salzman, Mrs. Leon See, Mrs. Herbert Swingle, William O. Armstrong and Maurice Maule. They were assisted by Mrs. Allan Monroe and Mrs. Mark Williamson of the class of 1918.

PROM TIME

Even the shortest hair can go glamorous for festive occasions. With a good hair set, hairbrush and a bit of spray net (it's fun to have a scented spray at a time like this you can achieve wonders).

It is surprising the illusion that you can create. Have your short locks swirled back and upward. The appearance is long, thick tresses, easy to keep in place and flattering to most face shapes. Add a glamorous tiara of rhinestones or pearls for prom night.

Dear Abby ...

Tell Child Life's Facts Now, Watermelon Time Will Pass

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: My little four-year-old grandson pointed out a pregnant woman who was walking around the supermarket in a pair of short shorts. (Yes, Abby, short shorts!) She must have been seven or eight months along. He asked me why she didn't put her watermelon in a cart and I didn't know what to tell him. Don't you think it is too soon to tell the boy the true facts? GRANDMA
DEAR GRANDMA: The time to tell a child "the true facts" is when he asks. What will he think when watermelon season has passed?
DEAR ABBY: You sure gave that girl a bum steer when she wanted to know if she should accept an engagement ring by mail. I was overseas in '42 and wanted to nail my girl down with an engagement ring, so I sent it to my best buddy at home and asked him to slip it on her finger for me. He did. But he didn't stop there. He ended up by marrying my girl.

VOICE OF EXPERIENCE
DEAR VOICE: That was your fault. You should have known better than to send a rabbit to the store to bring home carrots.
DEAR MRS. G. S.: With pleasure. Here it is: DEAR ABBY: We have two daughters, 15 and 17, and all we hear from them is that when they reach the age of 18 they will be their own boss. I think a girl is not her own boss until she reaches the age of 21. I would be grateful to you, Abby, if you would settle this matter of when a girl is her own "boss."
A MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: In order to be one's own boss (in my opinion), a girl has to be able to leave her parents' home, pay her own bed-and-board, buy her own clothes, pay for her own entertainment, insurance and medical care, and pay for the continuance of her own education. THEN, she has the privilege of choosing her own company, making her own decisions and being her own "boss."

DEAR ABBY: I've been married to a churchgoing hypocrite for nine years. I made my first mistake when I agreed to live with his mother. She's divorced, has a large comfortable home and my husband is her only child. She calls herself a Christian but is cruel beyond description. She told me she wished God would take her son as he'd be better off dead than married to a woman who can't give him children. The doctor says I've kept having miscarriages because I am in a constant nervous state. I'd dig ditches or scrub latrines if I could move out of this house, but my husband feels he owes his mother more than he owes me and he likes the money we're saving. What would you do?

LAST STRAW
DEAR LAST: A man should not be forced to choose between his wife and his mother, but in this case I'd throw the book at him. The Bible. "Therefore shall a man leave his father and his mother and shall cleave to his wife." (Genesis II, 24.)
DEAR ABBY: My husband served time in a Federal Penitentiary. He is free now. His favorite sport was hunting. What I want to know is, is he allowed to get a permit to own a gun? Some say "yes" and some say "no." I'd appreciate an answer.
EX-CON'S WIFE
DEAR WIFE: The law varies in different states. (It's easier to own a gun in Texas than it is in Illinois.) Get in touch with your District Attorney and let him acquaint you with the local law.

To get Abby's booklet, "What Every Teenager Wants to Know," send 25 cents and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, in care of this newspaper.
For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of this paper. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

No Easy Way

Still Must Count Calories

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Some of the craziest ideas possible have to do with reducing. I still hear about many of them through the mail.

The notion that standing up for 20 minutes after meals is reducing still is floating about. Some believe that certain foods will decrease or increase certain parts of the body. The old idea that drinking vinegar is slimming still exists. (Incidentally I do not know who started the theory that eating fish will increase brain power. No doubt somebody who was selling fish!) It would be lovely to know that pie a la mode increases the bust measurement or that eating fish makes us smarter. However, I am sorry to say that my shrimp and filet of sole haven't made me a bit brighter — and the only thing I can imagine the consumption of large quantities of vinegar could do would be to give one indigestion.

NOON-MEAL THEORY

Another die-hard idea is that it is reducing to eat your largest meal at noon and a light meal at night. The only basis I can find for this theory is that most people are not as hungry at noon as they are at night, that is, if they have eaten an adequate breakfast.

Also few folks have time to linger at the table at noon. This might be a good idea if one is troubled with indigestion. A light meal at night probably would promote a better grade of sleep.

There's no profit in using sophistry! You only will be kidding yourself and putting off that fatal day when you have to count calories. The only way to lose weight is to cut down on your food intake. It is just as simple as that. However, the more restricted your diet is the more careful you should be to get all of the essentials necessary for health.

Women often become discouraged because after a successful loss of pounds (when they still have more to lose) they come to a standstill. Although they still are counting calories faithfully they fail to lose any more.

One reason for this standstill of the scales is that we must support our fatty deposits as well as the rest of us. In other words, suppose you reduce your daily calorie intake four or five hundred calories below what you are accustomed. You will lose weight, but there comes a time when you have reached the point when you need all you are eating to support you and the fat you have left. Then you must decrease your calorie intake further.

Well, most of us are in the same boat. We either are struggling to lose or to gain weight. I have never yet met a woman who was completely satisfied with her figure.

Tomorrow: "Many Opportunities in Large Field of Health."

Herter May Find Post Requires Only Following in Dulles' Footsteps

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Christian A. Herter's job as secretary of state is a position of high honor but it may become for him, before he's through, a lonely and colorless post.

There are several reasons for thinking so, now that the approaching death of his predecessor, John Foster Dulles, fastens attention upon the task Herter has inherited:

1. He has very little time to develop new ideas. His job ends 20 months from now—when the Eisenhower administration goes out of office—unless the Republic-cans win in 1960 and want to retain him.

2. No one is really expecting from him any change in American foreign policy as it was laid down and pursued by Dulles, with President Eisenhower's blessing. It is now long-established and more or less accepted by American public opinion.

3. The shadow of Dulles will lie across every move Herter makes. It will be a yardstick for comparison between the two men. It cannot help but make Herter self-conscious about his own performance, since Dulles was such a dominant figure.

4. He gives no sign of having any of Dulles' flamboyance—for instance, Dulles' startling phrase-making which agitated both friends and foes—and apparently has very little of Dulles' ego or forcefulness.

At the foreign ministers meeting, now being held in Geneva, Herter's performance has been correct but because he is a quiet kind of man he has by no means dominated the conference as Dulles would have done, inside and out.

PROSAIC STATEMENTS

His statements at Geneva—where so far the meeting has been simply a propaganda contest between the West and the Soviets—already have been criticized as too prosaic and legalistic and lacking in public appeal and understanding.

The Dulles-Eisenhower foreign policy has several basic elements: Yield nothing to Soviet protestations of goodwill unless accompanied by performance; preserve America's system of military al-productivity without raising chances to keep the Soviets and Chinese Communists standing still; discount agreements with Moscow unless there is enforcement, that is, a check system to prevent cheating.

This policy has become so much of American thinking that Herter, even if he wanted to, could not deviate from it without subjecting himself to critical examination by Congress and the public.

Geneva Full of Complexities

Politics, Trade, War Potential, Personalities All Figure In

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

There are a vast number of factors of varying importance which, remembered from day to day, help in assessment of the Geneva proceedings.

First and foremost, of course, are the fundamental beliefs of the two opposing sides.

Western nations can never feel secure as long as the Soviet Union combines traditional expansionist policy with a revolutionary economic concept which demands universality.

The other side of the coin is that the Communists believe the West is just as intent on the universality of their brand of democracy, and that their motive is to wipe out the competition of communism.

Driven by the expansionist and revolutionary concepts, coupled with a very real fear of renewed attack by Germany and of attack by the Western world if it feels itself losing the cold war, the Soviets will not abandon the aggressive posture which created the cold war in the beginning.

There are a vast number of situations incidental to this major conflict.

The presence of American troops in Berlin, as in West Germany itself, is a part of the guarantee to Europe that it can resist Soviet pressures in the full knowledge that an attack in Europe will be an attack on the United States.

The United States also appears in the front line in the Far East and adjacent to the Middle East—as demonstrated in Lebanon—as a deterrent resulting from the belief that the last two world wars would not have started if the United States had been believed ready to fight.

There are signs of a new power developing in Western Europe, through various European unity moves such as NATO and the European commercial community, which promises changes in the present world division of power with a new role for Germany.

There is world sympathy for the people of the Eastern European satellites, and an urgency on the part of the Soviet Union to solidify her position there. The picture of thousands of East Germans fleeing into West Germany is a disturbing influence throughout the Soviet bloc.

The Western Allies are trying to give Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev every opportunity to back away from his threatened crisis over Berlin, which he now knows could produce a war.

The acceptance of the East German regime which Khrushchev is trying to force upon the West is something of a symbol for something he needs himself. The more the West accepts Khrushchev as an entity with which to deal, the more he parades as a great power before the politically immature peoples.

This list only scratches the surface.

Of eight major industrial states, Michigan ranked lowest during 1956 in the percentage of total man-days lost because of work stoppages.

Money Woes, Dizziness Go Hand-in-Hand

DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — A specialist on problems of the aged says there may be a link between dizziness and income.

Dr. Juan A. Pons told a seminar on old age here Tuesday that 54 per cent of a test group of 200 volunteer subjects, all 60 or over, complained of frequent dizziness.

He found that sex, race and age had little or no relationship to the ailment. But he did note that more people in low income brackets suffered from dizzy spells than those who had earned more money.

Dr. Pons, former secretary of health for Puerto Rico and now a senior fellow in geriatric psychiatry at Duke University, said many people in the low income group were plagued by insecurity feelings and financial problems throughout their lives.

He also said those who complained of dizziness tended to be worriers about their health, and were sick more often than those free from dizziness.

Nixon Will Start '60 Drive Soon

Hires Press Relations Man; Will Exploit Trek to Moscow in July

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon will decide after his July trip to Moscow on the scope of the active campaigning he will begin this fall for the 1960 Republican presidential nomination.

Nixon added a veteran campaigner to his staff Tuesday in Herbert B. Klein, editor of the San Diego, Calif., Union.

A knowledgeable operator in the field, Klein will serve as a special assistant in charge of press relations. He filed a similar job when Nixon campaigned for congressional candidates in 1958 and was an assistant in the 1956 campaign.

Klein is understood to have enlisted for the duration of the drive for the 1960 nomination and afterward — if all goes well from Nixon's standpoint.

Klein will accompany the vice president on the Moscow trip, which is being viewed by Nixon's associates with some cautious political optimism.

If he has an expected meeting with Nikita Khrushchev and something tangible comes from this conversation, there is speculation that the vice president might give the nation a television accounting on the prospects of some agreement with the Soviets to ease world tensions.

While they believe that what happens in Moscow may go a long way toward shaping Nixon's full campaign course, the vice president's associates also are keeping a wary eye on the activities of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York.

At this point they are convinced that Rockefeller's acceptance of an invitation to be honor guest at a June 11 picnic here of the Capitol Hill Club indicates the New York governor may become more active as a potential rival for the 1960 nomination.

As matters stand, if the Moscow visit gives him some good reason to do so, Nixon is prepared to exploit any political advantages that might come his way. If Rockefeller shows signs of moving in, the Nixon activities will be speeded up to meet this threat.

WASHINGTON CROSSING — A four-foot George Washington, bewigged 11-year-old Raymond Teller of Philadelphia, Pa., carries on his duties as a school crossing guard at an intersection near his home. Seems George, or rather Raymond, a fifth grade student, was appearing in a school play so he donned his costume at home, put his guard belt over it, and went off to watch his corner.

She Might Drum Up Trade Warden's Wife Excused

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (AP) — Irene Randolph was hastily excused from federal jury duty.

One of 71 persons on the panel, she rose and said: "My name is Irene Randolph; I live in Chester, Ill.; I am a housewife and my husband is warden of the Illinois State Penitentiary at Menard."

Amid a laughter-filled courtroom, defense and prosecuting attorneys and Judge William G. Juergens all agreed that the warden's wife should not sit on a jury trying Gordon Foster, a relative of East St. Louis racketeer Frank Buster Wortman.

Earns Praise of Many Europeans Russians Find Sec. Herter Tough, Too

GENEVA (UPI) — Europeans said Christian A. Herter has handled himself well in his first skirmishes with the Russians as secretary of state. The Russians find him tough.

The West Germans and Italians were particularly full of praise for Herter. The British admired his ability to simplify complicated matters. The French expressed approval but were waiting to see how he fared in brass tacks negotiations with the Russians.

Herter has worked hard ever since his arrival in Geneva, even making an official side trip to Italy Saturday.

Italian newspapers, including those usually critical of U.S. foreign policy, praised the busy secretary of state for making the trip and said it would have far-reaching effects toward cementing Italian-American relations.

The East German Communists put out a feeler to test Herter against his predecessor, John Foster Dulles. They invited him to visit East Germany. Official American sources said that since the United States does not recognize an East German government, Herter would not even reply.

The Russian delegates have offered no direct comment on Herter personally, but Soviet delegation sources have said privately they are "disappointed" to find him as tough as Dulles on basic points of principle... although he handles them with less abruptness than his predecessor did.

The 64-year-old secretary, despite an excellent initial impression on west Europeans, still is on trial in the eyes of diplomats, politicians and press.

Most of them feel that his real test will come when the big four foreign ministers' conference gets down to the tooth-and-nail stage in a week or two.

They don't know yet whether he will be able to assume the role of a "take charge" operator when the going gets tough and provide the dynamic kind of leadership Dulles gave the Western coalition.

Would Pay Hike Spur Inflation? Steel Dispute Out in Open

NEW YORK (AP) — Contract negotiations in the basic steel industry argued in the open again Tuesday over whether wage increases would spur inflation.

The two top men in the talks agreed two weeks ago to quit airing their differences in public.

However, they spoke at a joint news conference Tuesday in sharp disagreement about their deadlock on basic economic issues.

The debaters were David J. McDonald, president of the United Steelworkers Union, and R. Conrad Cooper, chief industry negotiator and executive vice president of the United States Steel Corp.

Four-man teams resume negotiations today in an effort to prevent a strike by 500,000 workers when current three-year contracts expire June 30.

The union is seeking substantial but unspecified wage increases. It also wants a cut in the 40-hour work week and other benefits. The 12 largest steel companies represented in the negotiations want a wage freeze. The average basic wage is now $3.03 an hour.

Cooper said at the news conference that inflation is "our No. 1 problem in this country." Offering figures designed to support his contention, he said the best way to combat further steel price rises is to freeze wages.

McDonald said in reply that "inflation is a fictitious monster created by the American steel industry." Offering his own set of statistics, he pressed the union's argument that profits — not wages — are responsible for higher steel prices.

Wife Hired Murder, He Takes Her Back

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — "I don't know anybody in the world who would take a woman back after she paid someone to kill him," said the judge.

His words were spoken Tuesday to Beatrice Gurley, 41, who offered a detective $1,000 to kill her husband. At her side stood the husband, Dave, his arm around her waist.

Judge Ben Willard freed her despite her plea of guilty to a charge of attempted murder. "You're not uneasy sleeping out there in the same house with her?" the judge asked Gurley. "Not a bit," replied the husband. "Well, I just hope you know what you're doing. If you can sleep out there without fear, it's all right with me."

Mrs. Gurley made the deal for her husband's death with Ralph Metcalf, a detective who posed as a killer for hire. Gurley told the court his wife "just got mixed up."

Today's African Traveler Had Better Bring Money

By GEORGE McARTHUR

ABIDJAN, Ivory Coast (U)—The traveler in Africa no longer needs bush jackets, pith helmets and elephant guns. He just needs money.

The days of the big white hunter are fading fast. His place is being taken by the oil prospector, traveling salesman, businessman and occasional camera-laden tourist.

This new traveler is discovering life in Africa is expensive if you try to keep to home standards.

There is little middle ground for the moderate spender. You either take a taxi at exorbitant rates or clamber aboard a packed African jitney and take your chances.

Dotted along the African travel routes are many modern hotels—some as nice as any in the world. The prices are as fancy as any in the world also. And the good hotel is often the only one in town.

French Africa has instituted another financial method to strip the traveler. A special African franc is worth half as much as the French franc. Yet the prices are the same as in France. The traveler discovers his wealth has been cut in half.

The soft, city-bound Western businessman drinks a lot of water. It has to be bottled water in many places, at about a dollar a gallon. In sleepy Bamako, in the French Sudan, where manpower is dirt cheap, the shocked traveler will find himself paying $2 for a five-block taxi ride.

At Conakry, in Guinea, the staple whisky and water will be another $2, not counting the 15-per cent tip.

The camera addict had better bring his film with him. The price mounts steadily as one progresses south from Dakar.

In sleepy Monrovia, where the economy is a topsy-turvy affair dependent on the Firestone rubber plantations, a wayfarer can resign himself to either living in the brush or spending $25 daily for a bare hotel room and meals.

This postwar African inflation-for-the-outsider has been fed by businessmen on expense accounts, technicians getting living allowances from the home firm plus the high transportation costs for European or American goods.

In pounds, dollars, francs, marks and lira, it now amounts to a tidy income for African territories and states.

Unique Shoe Factory Located in Michigan

HOLLAND—The nation's only wooden shoe factory is located in this Western Michigan community.

The factory, which employs four men throughout the year and has a branch on the outskirts of town, sells most of its wooden shoes during the famed Holland Tulip Festival each May.

But it receives orders from throughout the U. S. from persons who want them for costume parties, dance studios where Dutch dances are taught and from farmers in the barns and fields.

Several industries also use wooden shoes—the Dutch call them Klompen shoes—in departments where certain chemicals are used.

'Goat Sense' on Weather Never Wrong

ROSEBURG, Ore. (AP)—Oregon State College professors are taking an interest in the goats who forecast Roseburg's weather. These goats roam wild on Mt. Nebo above Roseburg. Residents watch their movements closely.

"The goats are up" is a heartening cry in Roseburg. Picnics are planned, golf dates are made and fishing trips planned. Invariably the sun shines.

But when the goats come down from Mt. Nebo to the shelter of shallow caves, bad weather inevitably follows.

How do they know what the weather will be?

That's what OSC professors want to know. Stephen Shou, Oregon State College librarian, has written asking for extra copies of a recent Roseburg newspaper story on the goats. He said a number of professors are interested in knowing why townspeople remarked "the goats are down" last Sunday.

The people here know why. It rained Monday.

Michigan Could Bathe All of Us

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich.—Using a slide rule, Manufacturing Executive Fred H. Baker came up with some interesting statistics on Michigan's unlimited supply of fresh water.

Baker said Michigan water could be used to fill a bathtub for every person in the world and the level of the state's 11,036 inland lakes wouldn't go down an inch.

In addition to its inland lakes and 36,350 miles of streams, Michigan is bordered by four of the five Great Lakes. Its 3,121-mile shoreline is the second longest in the U. S., surpassed only by Alaska's coastline.

No Michigan community is more than six miles from an inland lake or stream or more than 85 miles from one of the Great Lakes and Michigan has the greatest supply of fresh water of any area of similar size.

Woke Up a Bit Late

MATSUYAMA, Japan (UPI)—A speeding truck crashed into a car, sliced off part of a house, knocked over a fence and two telephone poles and smashed into a store window. At that point, the driver, Tatsuo Shimizu, 28, woke up.

Solon Assails Frills of New Air Force Base

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A Democratic congressman charged Monday that the Air Force plans a squash court, massage facilities and other "frills" for a new Wisconsin air base.

Rep. Henry S. Reuss (Wis) told the House that plans for Bong Air Force Base at Kansasville, Wis., are "shot through with waste, frills and extravagance."

Latest estimates placed the cost of Bong at $83,464,000, Reuss said. He said it was time to "put on the brakes" on spending.

"Billions for defense but not one cent for squash courts," he declared.

The world's biggest bean elevator is located at Saginaw.
