Three New Mexico Dams Burst; 100 Families Flee

LAS VEGAS, N.M. (AP) — Three dams on the Gallinas River burst early today and an estimated 90 million gallons of water flooded homes above and below the city to a depth of up to 14 feet.

No loss of life was reported, although damage to livestock and property was heavy. National Guardsmen and lawmen evacuated hundreds of persons from riverbank homes. The river, swollen by heavy rainfall, was falling as dawn broke.

Police Sgt. George Shannon said many of the homes had been built along the normally trickling river during the past seven years of drought.

Las Vegas itself, a north-central New Mexico city of about 14,000 some 50 miles due east of the state capital of Santa Fe, escaped flooding. Shannon said the river banks held well within the city.

Northwest of the city in Gallinas and Montezuma canyons, where the reservoir dams were situated, more than 12 homes were hit by the flash of floodwaters released when the earth fill dams burst under pressure of heavy mountain rains. Water ran three and four feet deep there.

LAPPING AT EAVES

South of the city, the water spread to 25 feet from its normal channel on each side, running 12 to 14 feet deep through 25 to 30 homes there and lapping at the eaves of the roofs, Shannon said.

No immediate estimate of property damage could be made, he said.

A suburban area of 25 homes, a quarter of a mile south of town, was cut off for a time. It lay at the junction of the Gallinas and the normally dry Pecos Arroyo.

Floodwaters in the river and down the arroyo knocked out the only two bridges giving access to the area.

High-wheeled National Guard trucks brought out some of the

Ready Exhibits for Opening Tomorrow Night

Over 1,500 Oakland Boys, Girls to Have Part in Festive Show

This is the last day more than 1,500 county girls and boys have to manicure and groom their animals, finish exhibits and projects, and catch an extra 40 winks before setting up camp at the fairgrounds tomorrow for the first of a five-day 4-H county fair.

The fair should be ready for public inspection and enjoyment by 7 p.m. Tuesday following the busy afternoon.

This 17th annual fair will be held on the 10-acre site at N. Perry St. and Walton Blvd. It is sponsored by the Oakland County 4-H Leaders Association.

Nightly highlights of the entire fair include the crowning of the Fair Queen Tuesday; pig scramble and parade of clubs Wednesday; talent show and dress review Thursday and the 4-H Quiz Down Friday.

Tuesday one of eleven contestants will be crowned the 1957 Fair Queen by last year's winner Judy Crawford, of Milford.

The queen and her court of two will lead the parade of clubs Wednesday night. Approximately 15 of the 63 county 4-H clubs are scheduled to enter a float and participate in the colorful parade.

Thursday the female members of the county clubs will take over when they display one of their homemaking talents in the dress review by modeling the garments they made.

The county will be divided in two Friday. Two 4-H club members from the north and two from the south are slated to fight a battle of brains during the 4-H quiz down. Questions will be based on 4-H activities, membership and history.

Sen. George Mourned by Great and Humble

VIENNA, Ga. (AP)—The body of former Sen. Walter F. George lay in state today in the red brick Gothic First Baptist Church, where he often worshiped, while the great and the humble alike mourned his passing.

Organists played soft music as friends and neighbors filed past for a last glimpse of the Georgia tenant farmer's son who became special ambassador to NATO after a long and distinguished career as a Democrat in the U.S. Senate.

Others in this little south-central Georgia town of 2,000 strolled past the white frame house where the 79-year-old statesman died of a heart ailment at 1:52 a.m. (EST) yesterday or looked again at the statue the townsfolk erected in his honor seven years ago.

Mayor J. T. DeLiesseline issued a proclamation calling on the people to shut up shop at 2 p.m. today, just two hours before the start of simple funeral services in the church.

In Washington, the Senate planned to meet only briefly and recess out of respect for the courtly Southerner.

During his 34 years in the Senate, George twice was chairman of the powerful Foreign Relations Committee. He did much to develop a strong bipartisan foreign policy.

Head-On Collision Near New Hudson Takes Life of Muskegon Girl, 2

A two-year-old girl was killed and seven persons injured in a head-on collision Sunday on U.S. 16 about one half mile west of New Hudson, in Lyon Township.

Killed was Beverly McBride, 2, as the car driven by her father, Roger McBride, 34, of Muskegon Heights, collided with a car driven by Joseph McGee, 18, of Wyandotte.

Also injured in the McBride car was the child's mother, Lacenia, 34; her twin sister, Evelyn, 2; another sister, Carolyn, 11; her brother, Rochester, 13; and her father.

McGee and his companion, June Gishlar, 18, also of Wyandotte, also were injured. McGee is listed in satisfactory condition today as is the suriving McBride twin, at Ann Arbor's University Hospital. All others are in fair condition, said the hospital.

State troopers at the Brighton Post said McGee reportedly veered out across the center line, then swerved back, but was unable to return to his side of the road in time to avoid the collision.

Claim Military Spent for Frills

Investigators Tell About Fancy Structures Built by Armed Services

WASHINGTON (AP) — The armed services have been accused of getting away from military austerity and wasting money in building officers' quarters, barracks and other structures.

The charge was contained in a report by staff investigators for the House Appropriations Committee. The committee made public the investigators' findings yesterday as part of the record of hearings on defense financing.

The investigators said the Air Force wants to air-condition personnel quarters and to provide private baths.

They said the Air Force has designed officers' quarters "which are much more elaborate and expensive in layout and treatment than those previously constructed."

The Army and Navy also were included in the investigators complaints concerning increased use of such features as brick facings, aluminum windows, fireplaces, maple dance floors and window canopies.

Rep. Sheppard (D-Calif) said the staff report backs up repeated complaints that the military services will, as he put it, "spend every dollar they personally can."

These were among instances cited by the investigators:

Treasure Island Naval Base, California: Installation of ceramic tile wainscots on outside concrete block walls of enlisted men's barracks. Estimated cost—$50,000.

The Army's Ft. Benning, Ga.: Construction of a "monumental" boiler house with a rubbed finish concrete exterior to match the finish of the base hospital.

Kirtland Air Force Base, Albuquerque, N. M.: 21-foot ceilings in the lounge and ballroom of the airmen's club.

Waters at Kent, Cass Claim Detroit Men as Saturday Victims

Before cooling temperatures intervenened late Saturday, discouraging thousands of sweltering swimmers, two Detroiters drowned in Oakland County waters.

Dead are Benjamin Hitow, 40, of 3230 Waverly St., and James Reidel, 17, of 15367 Pierson St. Both drowned Saturday afternoon.

Hitow went down in Kent Lake, at Kensington Park, when his outboard motorboat capsized. Sheriff's deputies said he made too sharp a turn.

In the boat were Mrs. Hitow, 35; their 15-month-old daughter, Andrea; and their son, Richard, 12. Witnesses said Mrs. Hitow grabbed her daughter and held on to the overturned craft, as did Richard.

The accident took place about 200 yards from shore in about 17 feet of water. The victims were rescued by four boys on shore and a nearby boater. Hitow's body has not yet been recovered, deputies said.

IN CASS LAKE

Rudel drowned in Cass Lake while swimming alone. He was found floating near shore, face down, in about three feet of water, by Ray Williams, of 15463 Appoline St., Detroit.

It is believed he had been under about 10 minutes. An older brother, John who had been water skiing, was attracted to the scene by the crowd as Waterford Township firemen worked over Reidel with an inhalator.

Reidel was pronounced dead at the scene by deputy coroner Dr. Isaac Prevette shortly before 4 p.m.

Modern Air Age: One Dog Sent, 16 Dogs Arrive

BALTIMORE (AP) — When Raffles, an overgrown fox terrier, left [illegible]on, Tex., by plane Saturday, she knew she was in a family way. So did the pilot of the freight plane.

But neither the pilot, Capt. Peter Kooyenga, nor Raffles knew what was to come.

Raffles had to change planes in Chicago and that's where she gave birth to eight pups.

Between Chicago and Baltimore, Raffles produced seven more pups—a grand total of 15. All were doing nicely when the plane landed last night.

Slick Airways notified the Baltimore consignee, Dr. William C Brown, to expect not one fox terrier, but 16. It said there would be no extra charge.

Lansing vs. State in Road Fracas

LANSING (AP)—Arguments over whether a city or the State Highway Department has the authority to direct traffic on a state trunkline through a municipality were up for a court decision today.

For the last week the city of Lansing has defied the Highway Department by allowing two-way traffic on two trunklines running through the city—U.S. 16 and M 78.

Local merchants pressured for the two-way traffic, contending a one-way operation would hurt business. The Highway Department wants the streets one-way, claiming this would provide for a speedier and safer flow of traffic.

The state put up one-way traffic signs, but the city tacked two-way signs over them.

Motorists were mightily confused the first few days and city police had to herd them through the two highways. The traffic flow now has settled down to what police term "a smooth and normal operation."

John C. Mackie, state highway commissioner, was angered and issued a statement asking motorists to boycott the highways, terming the two-way traffic "hazardous and dangerous."

The Highway Department is asking Ingham County Circuit Judge Marvin J. Salmon for an injunction to forbid the city its control over direction of highway traffic.

HEARING TODAY

Judge Salmon refused to issue a temporary injunction last Monday, scheduling a hearing for today.

The Highway Department argument is that all state trunklines are under the department's jurisdiction and control. An opinion to this effect was issued two years ago by the State Supreme Court.

This case also involved U.S. 16. East Lansing city officials wanted to allow parking on the trunkline, fought for the right to the State Supreme Court and were overruled.

Lansing is basing its argument on the home rule theory that a city has the right to assume reasonable control over traffic on its streets.

It was thought probable that whatever the Circuit Court decides the case will be appealed to the Michigan Supreme Court.

CREATE HODGE-PODGE

"Just think of what a terrific hodge-podge it would create if every city in the state was able to make the traffic rules for state trunklines," commented John C. Monagle, long-time director of the Highway Department's Planning and Traffic Division and now with Michigan State University's Highway Safety Center.

"Suppose a city got mad at the Highway Department and wanted to make trouble," McMonagle said. "City officials could designate a trunkline as a one-way street or could force motorists to stop at every intersection. A ruling against the Highway Department would be a tremendous setback to throughway traffic operations in the state."

Hoffa Denies AFL-CIO Split

Teamster Leader Says He Has No Intention of Pulling Out Builders

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., (AP) — James R. Hoffa says he has no intention of leading the three million building trades unionists out of the AFL-CIO.

The labor leader, who hopes to succeed Dave Beck as president of the Teamsters Union, was here yesterday on the eve of a special one-day meeting of the AFL-CIO Building and Construction Trades Department.

Asked about the possibility of such a walkout, Hoffa said he has "no such thing in mind." He then referred newsmen to the president of the jurisdictional committee.

The Midwest Teamsters chief said "all issues will be resolved" at today's meeting, the first convention for constitutional revision in 40 years.

On Friday, Teamsters headquarters in Washington issued a vaguely worded statement which was interpreted in some quarters as signaling a renewal of warfare between the building trades and the predominantly industrial unions that were formerly in the CIO.

Today's convention hears a report on jurisdictional problems from a committee set up by AFL-CIO President George Meany. Peter T. Schoemann, head of the committee, has said the group will make no recommendations, adding that "any action is up to the convention."

Trowbridge, Bride Married Saturday

Adventurous Newlyweds Plan 4-Year Honeymoon

It will be an around-the-world cruise for Pontiac's Marie Charlotte Hickey who Saturday married a South African adventurer, Gerald F. L. Trowbridge.

The couple were united in an afternoon ceremony in the Webster Community Church, near Ann Arbor. They left for a visit to Canada after which they plan to sail the bridegroom's ketch, White Seal, on a leisurely four-year cruise.

Mrs. Trowbridge of Union Lake, is the former chief physio-therapist at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital. She met her husband while skiing at Huntsville, Ont., last winter.

The couple obtained a waiver of the three-day waiting period to wed. The quiet ceremony was witnessed by a few friends and the bride's mother, Mrs. Charlotte McLaughlin, of Panama.

Trowbridge came to this country as part of a world cruise which took him 21,000 miles from his native land.

World's Greatest Cellist, 80, Marries Music Student, 21

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) — The marriage of 80-year-old cellist Pablo Casals to a 21-year-old music student was disclosed today by the judge who married them here last Saturday.

Casals, acknowledged as the world's greatest cellist, left San Juan yesterday with his bride, Marta Montanez of San Juan, to arrange for his Prades music festival in southern France next year

The festival was not held as usual this year because Casals had a heart attack in April. Doctors said he recovered quickly.

Superior Court Judge Martin Almodovar of San Juan said he officiated at the quiet ceremony held in Casals' home just outside the Puerto Rican capital city.

Miss Montanez met Casals three years ago after winning a scholarship to study the cello with him at Prades. When she boarded the ship for France yesterday friends noticed she wore a ring on her left hand. In response to their questions she said: "Don't go jumping to conclusions."

Casals' wife died in 1955.

Nixon to Visit California

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Nixon said today he intends to spend a couple of weeks vacationing in California after Congress adjourns.

Nixon said he will spend a week in northern California and a week in the southern part of the state. Asked if he would talk any politics, he just grinned and didn't answer.

The Nixon visit is generally regarded here as in the nature of a check on the California situation which will be of major importance to him in his expected bid for the 1960 Republican presidential nomination.

Nixon obviously expects Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) to announce this fall his candidacy for the Republican nomination for governor of California next year. Knowland has scheduled a series of speeches in the state, beginning Labor Day, unless Congress is still in session then.

SIGNAL MOVE

If Knowland takes on Gov. Goodwin J. Knight for the state office nomination, the move will be regarded as signaling Knowland's intention to bid for the GOP presidential nomination two years later.

Knowland has said he will not seek re-election to the Senate. Beyond saying that he will have an announcement after he returns to California, the Senate's Republican leader has kept his future plans to himself.

If Knowland and Knight tie into each other in the 1958 state primary, Nixon is expected to preserve a highly neutral role although he might benefit by the elimination of Knowland from the national picture in such a contest.

The identification of Knowland and Nixon with the civil rights controversy now under way in Congress has given each of them an issue they believe will be helpful not only in California but nationally.

Gives Auto to Wren

ASHEVILLE, N. C. (AP) — Mrs. Frank Mann of Alexander is walking this week, having turned her station wagon over to a mother wren. The bird has a nest between the car's radiator and grill. Mrs. Mann said she drove around while the wren was sitting on the eggs, but called a halt when the family hatched and began demanding constant feeding.

Death Draws Even Split

Sen. Johnson Outfoxed Ike Strategists in Civil Rights Fight—May Do It Again

WASHINGTON (INS) — Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson is given full credit for outfoxing the Eisenhower administration's best strategists in the civil rights fight.

His friends think he'll do it again before the battle is over.

Efforts of the lanky Texan, who suffered a serious heart attack just two years ago, produced the votes which passed a jury trial amendment to the President's bill —a revision opposed by Eisenhower and civil rights advocates in both parties.

One Democrat who fought against the amendment said today: "We had it made and should have pressed for a vote last week. But while we were looking around for a few more votes, Lyndon went to work. When he finished, we were licked."

What the majority leader did, informed sources pointed out, was circulate versions of a jury trial amendment calculated to attract the support of "doubtful" senators.

HAD GOOD COUNSEL

Johnson was armed with the legal counsel of two former new deal legal whizzes—Ben Cohen and former secretary of state Dean Acheson, both top lawyers. He patiently "suggested" how sponsors might improve their brain-children.

The product which "clicked" was offered by Sen. Frank Church (D-Idaho), the Senate's youngest member, with 10 co-sponsors.

And these 10 included three previously "doubtful" Democrats —John F. Kennedy, Mass.; John O. Pastore, R. I., and Frank Lausche, Ohio. That started the slide which gave Johnson his 51 to 42 vote adopting an amendment assuring jury trial in all criminal contempt cases.

In addition to promoting a compromise amendment, the Democratic leader worked tirelessly to keep the Senate in a "reasonable" mold so that a southern filibuster or time-burning from the Republican side could be avoided.

The strain became so great that Johnson lost his own temper and sharply criticized GOP Leader William F. Knowland for making suggestions about Senate procedure without consulting him.

RECONCILED QUARREL

But this was patched up by both men, who must work closely in a body with a normal political division of 49 Democrats and 47 Republicans. One GOP vacancy in Wisconsin is to be filled on Aug. 27.

The day Wisconsin fills the seat of the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy will be Johnson's 49th birthday. The one-time school teacher and ex-House member is thinner than he was on July 2, 1955 when he collapsed with a severe heart attack. But except for the fact he no longer smokes, he is no less active or restless.

Thursday night, before the critical midnight jury trial vote, Johnson was feeling the effect of endless huddles and too little sleep. A man who worries about his health, he gulped half a dozen aspirins and stuck it out.

Now his task will be to apply the Johnson persuasion to Democrats who will decide the ultimate form of the voting rights bill when it gets into a House-Senate conference committee.

Republicans are freely predicting the bill will be deadlocked and the issue killed for this year. Johnson's intimates think otherwise.

They expect the team of Lyndon Johnson and House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Texas), both interested in keeping their party from flying apart on the racial issue, to pull off a miracle. They expect Congress to pass the civil rights bill.

Sees 'Security Risk'

Wilson Sides Against Ike on Appropriations Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) —Secretary of Defense Wilson and President Eisenhower are in disagreement over a proposal for changing the appropriations system. Wilson says it conceivably could endanger national security.

The proposal calls for a new system under which Congress would appropriate each year only funds to be spent during that year. The government would be given authority to sign contracts covering projects of longer duration, but cash would be provided only on a year-to-year basis.

At present, Congress makes appropriations to cover both immediate spending and needs stretching beyond a year. This leads to carryover of money from one year to the next.

Wilson's opposition to the plan, recommended by the Hoover Commission and supported by Eisenhower, was disclosed yesterday when the House Appropriations Committee made public the secretary's testimony on the subject.

Saying "I do not believe in partial financing," Wilson said that under such an arrangement "you start more things than you can finish with the funds made available and you have a lot of trouble if you engage in such a procedure."

Wilson said the partial financing plan could disrupt the entire defense program. Adoption of the plan, he said, might lead Congress to eliminate cash needed for immediate programs.

"Then we would really be in trouble," he said. ". . . That would just cause one of those big shifts in the military programs which have been so expensive in the past and waste so much money and possibly risk the security of the nation."

Thirty-eight members of the 50 member appropriations group are on record against the proposal, which has been passed by the Senate and has been approved by the House Rules Committee. The House has not acted on it.

Nation Mourns Death of Walter F. George

a statement that George's death was "a great loss not only to his native state of Georgia but also to the entire nation."

The President designated Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, to represent him at the funeral. A number of senators and representatives also were expected to attend.

GRAVELY ILL A WEEK

George had been gravely ill since last Sunday. He rallied occasionally and remained conscious until the last two days.

His wife, the former Lucy Heard, his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Heard George and his two physicians were in the room at the time.

George retired from the Senate last Jan. 3 after Herman E. Talmadge was elected to the seat. He had said he would run in May 1956, but withdrew reluctantly rather than carry on a strenuous campaign. His doctors spoke of health reasons at that time.

Later George accepted the President's appointment as special ambassador to NATO and spent some time in Europe.

In April he began suffering chest pains and a shortness of breath attributed to heart disease. On June 12 he entered Emory University Hospital in Atlanta and 12 days later went to Vienna, where he remained under doctor's care.

George was known as a conservative in domestic affairs but recognized as an internationalist in foreign matters. In addition to his important work on the Foreign Relations Committee, he served as chairman of the tax-writing Finance Committee during the World War II and Korean War years of record spending and high taxes.

1ST ELECTED IN 1922

He first was elected to the Senate in 1922 and only once faced major opposition. That was in 1938 when President Roosevelt, at odds with George over the New Deal, tried to "purge" him in favor of Lawrence Camp.

George accepted the challenge and defeated Eugene Talmadge, father of the present senator. Camp ran a poor third.

A few years later Roosevelt depended heavily on George for support of his lend-lease aid program to England and France.

George was born near Preston, Ga., and early planned to be a dentist. But his tenant farmer father regularly received the Congressional Record and George found himself turning to it more and more for reading matter.

He possessed a great natural talent as an orator and while at Mercer University at Macon, Ga., he won the oratorical medal four straight years. In 1947, the university named its law school after him.

He recalled later that one of his first public speeches was made from the back of a somewhat ancient mule when he rode into Preston. A pretty girl in the town saw him and laughed.

"This mule of mine is a worthy burden-bearer on our farm," he said. "He does his work most uncomplainingly. To laugh at me, miss, is a reflection cast upon this good animal."

The girl reddened and turned away. George rode off to get on with a career that carried him a long, long way from the back of a mule.

Know the Weather

Can you tell anything about the coming weather by observing the behavior of smoke from a nearby smokestack, or from a ship's stack?

Yes. The smokestack can be a weather sign. An ill omen is smoke that seems to curl downward and refuses to rise into the air.

That means rough weather ahead, for the normal tendency in fair weather is for the smoke to rise steadily into the sky.

Smoke that rises straight upward reveals little wind, good flying weather. If the smoke column slants one way, then another, and changes upward direction several times, this indicates that unstable and changing conditions are present — and could mean an approaching storm or rain.

Smoke combines with normal fog to make smog, because the soot particles act as moisture collectors and increase the density of the fog, or smog. Moist warm air and smoke very often turn into smog, close observation will reveal.

14 Die on Roads, 14 Die in Water

State's Warm Weather Doesn't Curtail High Toll of Fatalities

FROM THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Autumn-like weather which appeared Sunday wasn't soon enough to keep 28 persons from dying in Michigan over the weekend. Despite the cooling temperatures, 14 drowned in state waters and a like number died on the highways, including four in a single accident.

Included were several persons from outside the state who came to Michigan seeking vacationing pleasure.

The four persons were killed Sunday night in a two-car, head-on collision on U.S. 112 near Union.

Dead were Andrew J. Ringer, 20, Elkhart, Ind.; John E. Lambdin, 27, also of Elkhart; Willard Manns, 29, Edwardsburg, and his 8-year-old daughter, Nancy.

Police said the crash occurred when the car carrying Ringer and Lambdin tried to pass two cars, and hit the Manns car head-on.

Three men, one of them unidentified, drowned Saturday night while fishing in Lake George near Sault Ste. Marie.

Two of the bodies were recovered. They were identified as 1st Lt. Henry R. Jones, 24, Camp Lucas, and Billy J. Dozier, 23, Winfield, Ala.

Frances Carlisi, 15, Detroit, and her 12-year-old sister, Theresa, were drowned Sunday while wading in the St. Clair River at Marysville. Theresa apparently walked off a drop-off and pulled her sister in when Frances tried to save her.

Robert W. Spencer, 24, Brooklyn, Ark., drowned Sunday while swimming in Stern's Bayou in Grand Haven.

James Bell, 38, Detroit, was fatally injured Saturday when his car struck a utility pole.

Ervin Snyder, 16, Flint, was killed two miles west of Flint Friday night when his car smashed into an embankment at high speed while he was fleeing police.

William Kemp, 46, Lansing, was killed Friday night when his car missed a curve on M36 and overturned east of Pinckney.

Charles Simpkins, 4, Vandercook Lake Village, drowned Friday night in Vandercook Lake. He had gone into the water with an inner tube.

James E. Robinson, 50, of Detroit, was killed Saturday when his car hit a utility pole.

David Balaskas, 9 months, Chicago, was killed in a car-truck collision Saturday at an intersection near Niles. Police said the father drove through a stop sign and rammed a truck.

Robert Cohen, 19, Chicago, drowned in the Kalamazoo River near Saugatuck Saturday when he was struck by a boat while water skiing.

James Reidel, 17, Detroit, drowned Saturday in Cass Lake.

Ben Hiton, 40, Detroit, drowned Saturday.

Theodore Shelson, 38, Detroit, drowned Saturday after he dove into a lake in Montmorency County and failed to surface.

Dan East, 24, Richmond, was killed Sunday in a car-motorcycle accident at U.S. 25 and 23 Mile road in Macomb County.

Beverly K. McBride, 2, Muskegon, was killed in a two-car collision Sunday, one mile west of New Hudson.

Ozro Moon Jr., 35, Twin Lake, was killed Saturday in Muskegon when his car collided with another.

James Boltz, 19 Chicago, drowned Sunday while visiting friends at St. Joseph.

John N. Meyers, 43, Ocola, Fla., was killed Saturday night when he was run over by a freight train at Coloma.

Robert Leese, 18, Port Hope, was killed shortly before midnight Sunday when his motorcycle collided with a car near his home.

Just Another Rootin' Shootin' Woman Driver

Reports that someone was firing a gun from a parked car last night brought a swarm of armed officers to a quiet Birmingham residential street.

Converging with guns drawn on the mysterious auto on Yorkshire street, police from Birmingham, Troy and Clawson discovered—instead of a gunman—a frustrated woman driver trying to start her car.

Every time she got the motor going, she explained, it backfired.

Birmingham Youth First in Sports Guild Rodeo

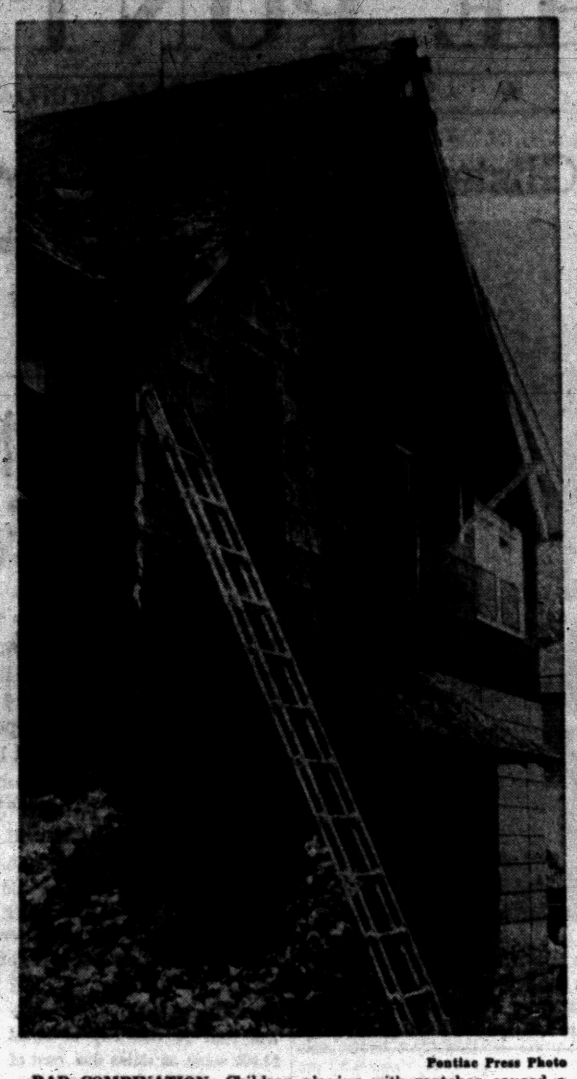

HAZEL PARK (INS) — Chuck Erlandson, 16, of Birmingham, today was the Sports Guild Rodeo champion for the second year in a row.

The young rider took four first places and finished second in the quarter-horse race for his age group at the eighth annual show at the Hazel Park Race Track yesterday.

Charlotte Sormeier, 12, took second place honors.

Rather Hunt Rattlesnakes

CHICAGO (INS)—Leroy Bradshaw wasn't a bit impressed when he pulled a 40-pound Buffalo carp out of the Lincoln Park lagoon in Chicago. The 23-year-old angler blighely commented: "I'd rather catch rattlesnakes any day than fish. Hunting rattlers is real sport."

BAD COMBINATION—Children playing with matches caused a fire at 30 Lorraine Ct. about 11:30 Saturday by setting fire to some boxes between two houses, firemen said. The five-family dwelling was evacuated and the fire department put out the blaze in 70 minutes. Damages are estimated at $1,500 to the building and $250 to the contents. A frame house next door, at 34 Lorraine Ct., suffered $400 damages as the heat blistered its paint.

Three Killed in Week

New York Police Alerted for Teenage Terrorism

NEW YORK (AP) — New York's 23,000 policemen are on a special alert to block any new outbreaks of teenage terrorism. Teenagers have killed two boys and a man in a little more than a week.

Acting Police Commissioner James R. Kennedy placed the force on special call Saturday night. A few hours later a gang of teenage toughs wounded two men in Brooklyn with a shotgun blast.

About the same time a squad of detectives mounted on bicycles broke up a brawl between two gangs in the Bronx. Police arrested 14 men and boys who were slugging it out with baseball bats, heavy leather belts and iron pipe.

The upsurge of juvenile gangsterism stirred action and comment from officials and others worried about the problem.

Gov. Averell Harriman called on his State Youth Commission to meet with city officials today. They will explore ways of ending the crime wave.

City Magistrate Hyman Korn said on arraigning the 14 Bronx brawlers yesterday: "It is my suggestion that perhaps a curfew of 11 or 12 midnight, whereby all youths under 18 would be off the streets, might provide a solution for this problem."

Deputy Police Commissioner Walter Arm said policemen are "almost helpless" in fighting spontaneous teenage violence.

In a televised interview, Arm said the situation is "far from an emergency." But he conceded it is "a critical situation that has been growing for the past two years."

Evangelist Billy Graham said at his crusade meeting in Madison Square Garden last night that "most of the trouble with teenagers comes from children reared in homes where prayer is neglected, the Bible is never opened and church attendance is spasmodic." Starting next Sunday, Graham will speak especially for teenagers for a week.

400 Participate in Water Show

Williams Lake First in 5th Annual Carnival Competition for County

More than 400 Waterford Township children and adults participated in the 5th Annual Water Carnival held at Pontiac Lake Recreation Area yesterday.

Williams Lake contestants piled up the most points during the afternoon and were awarded the big traveling trophy for this year. They accumulated 118 points.

Sponsored by the recreation department, 29 different events were scheduled. A water ballet show followed. Later a safety demonstration was presented and advanced swimmers of The Williams Lake Swim Club participated in a medley race.

Bleachers at the tournament site accommodated more than 250 spectators as 150 awards were presented to individuals.

According to Tom Belton, recreation director, this is the only event of its kind to be presented in the area. The main object, he said, is to promote three things: Swimming kills, an attitude of water safety and an appreciation of water for recreational purposes.

Six lakes were represented at the carnival and Crescent Lake was second with 62 accumulated points.

Lake Oakland had 56; Lotus Lake, 41; Elizabeth Lake, 35; and Watkins Lake, 30.

This concludes a seven week training course and was one of the most successful projects of the season according to recreation officials.

The Day in Birmingham

Board Is Expected to OK Two Hearings at Meeting

BIRMINGHAM — Two hearings, one the Quarton Lake Estates sewers, the other the rezoning of Derby road lots will come before commissioners this evenings.

It is expected that both will be accepted since written objections have been few.

The commission also will receive information regarding a claim for personal injuries issued by Wallace D. McLay on behalf of his client, Helen B. Cecil.

Mrs. Cecil of 1145 Pilgrim was injured June 26 when she stepped on a map hole cover at the Springdale Golf Course. The cover tilted throwing her to the ground.

She received severe injuries to her right leg and back. Her attorney has city make arrangements for a settlement of her claim.

Building report for July shows a total of 40 permits representing $182,425 building costs.

According to Andrew F. Butt, building inspector, this is a drop of $318,435 over buildings costs of the previous month.

Two Birmingham men were severely injured in automobile mishaps Sunday. John S. VanAlstyne III, 20, of 515 Kennesaw, a student at Michigan State University suffered the loss of leg and severe injuries to his other leg after he lost control of his car early yesterday morning on Lahser road just south of 14 Mile road.

Police said the car traveled about 300 feet, knocking down light poles and other highway signs. Authorities at Beaumont Hospital have described his condition as fair. His companion, Patricia Sherwood, 19, of 31800 Lahser Rd., was not seriously injured.

Forrest Hart, 1852 Holland was injured seriously in Pontiac yesterday as he attempted to hitch a trailer and racing car to the rear of his vehicle Hart said the trailer rolled forward crushing him against the other car. At St. Joseph Mercy Hospital it was reported that he was suffering from a broken hip.

Ida Simpson

Ida Simpson, 90, of 504 W. Brown St., died Sunday.

Surviving are three nephews, Lloyd and Merrill Smith of Birmingham and Henry Smith of Grass Lake. Service will be at 2 p.m. tomorrow from the Manley Bailey Funeral Home, with burial in Greenwood Cemetery.

Veto Threatens Civil Rights Bill

Ike Block Seen Unless Jury Trial Guarantee Is Limited to Voting Cases

WASHINGTON (INS)—The likelihood of a presidential veto over shadowed consideration of the civil rights bill today as the Senate moved toward passage of the measure this week.

It was expected that the upper chamber would adjourn after a brief session to enable senators to attend funeral services for their long-time colleague, former Sen. Walter F. George of Georgia.

A top administration official has said flatly that President Eisenhower will veto the civil rights legislation if the Senate-passed jury jury trial guarantee is not limited to voting cases.

This source charged the Senate amendment authorizing jury trials in all types of criminal contempt cases would "create chaos and raise legislative havoc" in the federal government.

According to Senate rules, no more amendments may be added to the measure. All that remains to be done in the upper chamber is a series of final speeches on the bill as it now stands, with passage due Wednesday or Thursday.

Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn), a strong advocate of the jury trial amendment, declared that the revised bill "will be acceptable to the House unless they want to make a political issue of it."

Kefauver, interviewed yesterday on television, said of President Eisenhower's statement condemning the jury trial provision: "The President at one time said he was no lawyer and he didn't understand the bill. In my opinion he still does not understand it if that is his opinion."

Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-NJ), although not critical of Eisenhower, also expressed the idea that further study of the jury trial provision might change the President's mind.

Little chance is seen of the House accepting the measure in its present form.

Women Inmates Strike Dehoco

100 Quit Laundry Jobs, Protest Isolation Cells for 2 Offenders

DETROIT (INS)—More than 100 women prisoners at the Detroit House of Correction went on strike today because two inmates were put in "isolation" cells.

The women walked out of the prison laundry at 8 a.m. and returned to their cottages.

An unidentified spokesman said the two disciplined were the strategists for a strike originally planned for last weekend. It was also disclosed two women prisoners escaped from Dehoco—one on Friday, another on Saturday—and are still at large.

Leo Goss, acting superintendent at the prison, reportedly was trying to negotiate with the strikers for a return to work. One guard said:

residents. The remainder waded the Pecos Arroyo when the water fell. They went to safety on a nearby high butte, Shannon said.

Radio calls from rescue workers further south of the city reported the flood crest had passed the village of Lourdes 18 miles from Las Vegas with no damage. A National Guard contingent had been dispatched there to warn residents of the tiny community.

Road communications in the area were partially disrupted as bridges washed out. Boulders "as big as desks" and giant pines ripped from their roots littered the highways.

Since the drenching rains that caused the flood fell in isolated mountain areas feeding the dams, no estimate could be made of rainfall amounts.

Shannon said no central point was set up for refuges, so it was impossible to tell how many persons actually were driven from their homes by warnings of the dam breaks.

Police became aware of the break after midnight and started routing valley dwellers from their beds. About 30 National Guardsmen, all sheriff's officers and city police took part in the warning and rescue operations, Sheriff Bob Martinez said.

Detroit Police Station Given Zoo Appearance

DETROIT (AP)— Detroit's Conner Precinct police station looked more like a zoo yesterday.

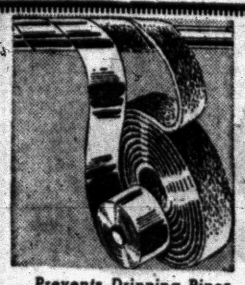

Officers first received a 15-pound turtle which a resident of the area found on his lawn. Next came a white goat which some boys found wandering about the street. Last were three stray dogs.

The turtle went to the Detroit Zoo. The dogs and goat are slated for the dog pound.

Poach of Different Color

HIROSHIMA, Japan (AP) — The Japanese Coast Guard has come up with a secret weapon against poaching boats — paint. The maritime safety agency said the paint is loaded into a special shell that splatters a high-speed poaching boat so it sticks out like a sore thumb. Patrol boats then sit back and wait for the poacher to run out of gas.

Bob Considine Says:

Peace-in-Freedom Called Best U.S. Goal

NEW YORK (INS) — With peace threatening to break out any minute, now that the Russians have agreed to give "consideration" to the latest American offer made at London, and Mr. Dulles fresh from his dip in the Bermuda surf, we might consider today former chairman Gordon Dean's foreword to Dr. Henry A. Kissinger's "Nuclear Weapons and Foreign Policy." Mr. Dean, a Democrat, could be AEC chairman again.

"There are those who believe that the principal objective of this generation should be peace at any price," Dean writes. "For such people the capacity of the Russians to bring on an atomic holocaust should not be particularly disturbing since peace can probably always be secured—on Russian terms.

"But for most of us the mere survival of ourselves and our children is not sufficient. We think more in terms of surviving in freedom, and we believe that on this fast-shrinking globe our freedom is somehow bound up with the freedom of all people and particularly of those who have it today or are determined to have it some day."

Dean then sets about to define Dr. Kissinger's premise. It is his own, too.

"For all practical purposes we have in terms of nuclear capabilities reached a point which may be called 'parity' . . . I do not mean necessarily parity in numbers of large bombs. Numbers become less important when the point is reached where both sides have the capability to annihilate each other.

"So long as this condition is coupled with a fear that any strong action on the part of the United States anywhere in the world may ignite a full-scale nuclear war, we find ourselves more and more reluctant to frame a strong foreign policy or implement it so as to preserve the vital interests of the free world.

"We fear force as never before, and we even fear economic and political measures which might lead to the use of it. In the meantime, however, the Soviet leaders do not seem to have been similarly deterred.

"They have spilled acoss the territories of free and uncommitted countries, capitalizing on unrest, using all the devices short of war to perform the acts of conquest — infiltration, incitement to civil war, threats of war, and supplying materials of war to anyone who will use them in the Soviet cause.

"This conquest has proceeded in spite of our ominous atomic stockpile which for various reasons we have been unable or unwilling to employ against conquests of the Soviet variety. This, then, is our dilemma."

STRONG ON WEAPONS

The former AEC head goes on to relate how months of study were given to the dilemma in question, and to Kissinger's findings. Today the United States has a spectrum of weapons ranging from the rifle bullet to the H-bomb. Then Dean says, rather surprisingly:

"The destructive power of some atomic weapons is less than that of some conventional high-explosive weapons. The destructive power of some thermonuclear weapons is less than the destructive power of some of our fission weapons."

He speaks of "rules of conduct" which recognize morality in one type of explosive and immorality in another. Dean would "convey to our potential enemies our determination that if we must use force it will be used with discrimination; that our objective always will be to restrict the area of conflict and to destroy military targets."

Dr. Kissinger would go further. He would have stronger communications with the potential enemy, outline our strength, acknowledge we have lost the asset of a deterrent. We should tell the Russian world, for example, that our objective is to end its aggression quickly by eliminating military targets lest we bring on an all-out thermonuclear war through a misunderstanding of our intentions.

Dean concludes: "Dr. Kissinger believes that if this message is not conveyed to the Soviet leaders we shall give ammunition to the advocates of peace-at-any-price who are ready to accept any fate which does not involve force. I share this thesis with him."

Junior Editors Quiz on FLOWERS

QUESTION: What is the largest flower in the world?

ANSWER: A three-foot large jungle plant known as Rafflesia Arnoldi, discovered on the Island of Sumatra in 1816.

This plant is without stem or leaves. Flesh-colored, it weighs as much as 15 lbs. and measures maybe a yard across. The huge petals are up to three quarters of an inch thick.

The flower has a round center which resembles an automobile tire, forming a hollow bowl which can hold two gallons of liquid. Before the petals open, Rafflesia looks somewhat like an outsize cabbage. Once the petals unfold and the flower reaches its full size, the plant decays within a day or two. Unlike many flowers, Rafflesia has a terrible smell — like spoiled meat.

FOR YOU TO DO: Observe the flowers in gardens near your home and learn the names of as many as you can from grownups and friends.

4 Color Sign System Makes Driving Safer

A new four-color system of highway signs is expected to make driving safer and easier for American motorists. The system is now in use in 12 states and is expected to be adopted as standard by all 48 states within the next few months.

The four-color-sign system works this way:

A sign with a red background and white lettering serves as a "stop" sign; the signs cautioning drivers about crossroads, curves, and other traffic obstacles are yellow with black letters; signs regulating speed are white with black lettering. Direction and mileage signs are green.

Two Men Uninjured as Car Hits Fence, Tree

Two men escaped serious injury Sunday night as the car they were driving was wrecked after leaving the road, striking a fence and tree.

Robert J. Maynard, 21, of 8874 Fremont St., Livonia, the driver, escaped with a few minor scratches, while his companion, Charles A. McCarthy, 21, of 19325 Bart Rd., Detroit, is in satisfactory condition at Pontiac General Hospital, being held for X-ray examination.

The car left Cass Lake road on a curve about one fourth mile south of Cass-Elizabeth Lake road, Waterford Township. It travelled 75 feet before striking and tearing up 50 feet of wire fence, and then veered another 120 feet before smashing into a tree, said sheriff's deputies.

Plan to Rezone Land at Meeting

County Gives Waterford Approval for Change in Township

Rezoning land from residential to commercial will be the main business when the Waterford Township Board meets at 7:30 tonight.

The Oakland County Zoning Committee has approved the change recommended by the township zoning board of a lot on Williams Lake and Hanford roads in Maceday Gardens Subdivision.

They also approved the zoning change of two acres and 17 lots in the triangle-shaped property at Scott Lake, Watkins Lake and Chevrolet roads.

Another area of one and a quarter acres off Walton Boulevard near Indian Wood Manor Subdivision has been recommended by the township zoning board for rezoning to commercial, but turned down by the county group because it would constitute spot zoning.

Other business will be the authorization of Treasurer Dorothy Olson to notify all Sylvan Shores property owners, delinquent in their special assessment payments, of a Sept. 1 deadline.

Mrs. Olsen said that out of the 106 assessed taxpayers, 36 are behind in their payments which will be placed on the property tax roll if they do not pay up by September.

The payments are for a $108,000 sewer system now being installed. The first installment was due Jan. 1, 1957, and all subsequent payments should be paid the first of each year through 1966, Mrs. Olson said.

Clerk James Seeterlin will be authorized to go ahead with the same procedure regarding delinquent water and sewer bills for the entire township. Deadline for these bills is also Sept. 1.

First Free Argentina Election Moves to Cut Dictator's Power

The citizens of Argentina voted in their first free election since 1946 to elect members to a Constituent Assembly aimed at revising the 1853 Constitution so as to curb the powers of the Argentine President.

From his exile in Venezuela, where he has been directing a well financed propaganda program, Gen. PERON issued orders to his followers to cast blank ballots in the Argentina election. He confidently predicted that 75 per cent of the voters would do as he said.

Fewer than 2,000,000 or about 25 per cent cast blank ballots. However, Argentina elections normally show 10 per cent blanks and in addition, Rightest parties also were directed to cast blanks.

Moderate democratic forces won a comfortable majority in the Assembly and the result will be that Provisional President ARAMBURU and his cabinet will get a revised Constitution. It is expected to reduce the power of the Executive and decentralize the government so that another Peron can't be elected President and then turn dictator.

Argentina provides a good example for other Latin-American countries. Its military leaders are working hard to establish a democracy and relinquish power. They are to be congratulated on their broad vision and statesmanship.

Report on Hungary Rejected by Ceylon

Prime Minister BANDARANAIKE of Ceylon has taken exception to the United Nations report on Russian actions in Hungary.

The report was unanimously approved by disinterested representatives from Ceylon, Tunisia, Australia, Denmark and Uruguay. Mr. BANDARANAIKE objects to the fact that the committee did not consider evidence from the Soviet or Hungarian governments. That is quite true but both governments refused to cooperate with the United Nations.

Mr. R. S. S. GUNAWARDENE of Ceylon, ambassador to the United Nations and to the United States and also a member of the committee, at first expressed skepticism that Hungarians were being deported to the Soviet Union. As evidence piled up, however, he was forced to admit that he was wrong. He points out that nobody challenges the truth of the report and the reaction of the people at large has been favorable even in India and Burma.

Locust Plague Result of Spite

According to the U.N. Food and Agriculture Organization, the worst plague of locusts in 30 years threatens food production in 19 countries of Asia and Africa.

Back in 1954 at an international conference in Rome the nations of the areas involved agreed on a united campaign to wipe out the locust menace. Particular attention was to be paid to breeding places in central and southern Arabia. Considerable progress had been made in north and northeast Africa.

Operations came to a halt in May, 1956, because of a dispute between Great Britain and Saudi Arabia over the Buraimi Oasis which Britain claims belongs to the Sultanate of Oman and Muscat. King SAUD didn't think so and he retaliated by expelling from Arabia the control mission, made up mostly of Englishmen, and this year's plague is the result.

Locusts, several square miles of them, are moving in great hordes out of the Arabian desert in all directions, stripping all vegetation.

Thus by an ill considered and spiteful action the king has brought new hardships not only to his own countrymen but to Arab and Moslem neighbors for thousands of miles around.

The Man About Town

Grows Big Cukes

Pontiac Man Has Some to Beat the Missouri Product

Fahrenheit: A man who died 221 years ago, but still is loved and hated.

That two and one-half pound cucumber from Missouri that made the top of the first page a few days ago in a three-column picture causes a Pontiac man to produce evidence that beats it into a sour pickle. He is who has a 12x12 foot garden at 2932 Voorheis Road, in which are growing three cucumbers, all of which exceed that weight. Has Missouri anything else to brag about?

Twenty-eight years ago today the occupants of what now is the Pontiac State Building were getting settled in their offices, the law firm of being the first to hang out its shingle in the new building.

Born in a log cabin 86 years ago,

W. D. Greene

of Hadley has been a Pontiac Press reader most of his life.

At this season always come reports of potato vines with "tomatoes" on them. These are not tomatoes, but a reversion to the original manner in which the potato grew its seed.

In a package of beet seed last spring, of Walled Lake found a queer looking seed that he knew wasn't a beet. He planted it, and it has developed into a vine now 14 feet long, with no resemblance to anything he has ever seen. Its leaves are almost square, and it has no blossoms, and no ambitions to do anything but crawl, which it is doing at the rate of a foot a day.

Wishing to be of assistance,

Mrs. Carol MacArthur

of Birmingham, phones me about something about which I expressed ignorance, and says it is on television every day. But what's television? Never heard of it.

My old friend up Oxford way,

Chandler Morrison

still maintains that the best hot weather drink is cool water in which a teaspoon of rolled oats per glass has been mixed. That long has been a standard with farmers and other outdoor workers.

With a good supply of moisture at its roots, furnished by heavy rains,

Burridge Barkley,

Oakland Township farmer, reports that most of the growing corn goes through the heated period without much curling of the leaves, as is usually the case in hot weather.

The Sound and the Fury—They Huff and They Puff!

David Lawrence Says:

Congress Should Pass Rights Bill

WASHINGTON — All the talk about the Senate's "civil rights" bill being "weak" and as likely to be rejected by the House or possibly vetoed at the White House seems to have been largely the result of emotional pique or hasty judgment.

LAWRENCE

For if the House now accepted the measure — even without any changes—it would represent the biggest single victory in nearly a century for the proponents of a so-called "right to vote" bill.

It could, on the other hand, prove virtually the last chance to get such a bill into law. For opposition to the attempt to coerce the states in their handling of local problems is mounting everywhere. It is becoming apparent also to some of the labor union strategists that "civil rights" legislation can become a two-edged sword and legally inhibit many of the previous practices of labor unions.

It can, for instance, add momentum to the crusade in behalf of "right to work" laws so vigorously fought by the unions because it would break up their monopoly. For the right to keep a job without joining a union is as much entitled to the protection of the Constitution as is the right to vote.

There is one feature of the pending Senate bill, moreover, which transcends everything else in advantages to its sponsors. It is really worth more than a victory in the technical squabble over whether jury trials should or should not be granted in criminal contempt cases.

PITILESS PUBLICITY

It is to be found in the section of the bill which provides for the establishment of a national commission on civil rights with the power of "pitiless publicity." If the cause of the proponents is what they say it is and, if by subterfuge citizens of any race who are really eligible to vote are being prevented from doing so on a large scale, the open hearings of the national commission over a period of only a couple years would build up such a public opinion as would quickly bring about a legislative remedy of some kine.

The so-called "liberals" of the North have more to gain than lose by getting the House to approve a bill that the Senate will not filibuster against but will accept now.

The reported plan of House leaders to drop the measure at this session and try again next January is a piece of mistaken judgment which they some day will regret. For education on the trial-by-jury issue is increasing throughout the country, and the next bill may extend even further the scope of jury trials in "criminal contempt" cases.

There is no logical reason, for example, why juries should be limited merely to questions of fact in contempt cases when there are vital questions of law as well to be decided. Also, to argue, as some of the critics are doing, that the language of the Senate bill invades the anti-trust field, is to concede that, in the highly complicated matters of economic strife, a businessman can be sent to jail without a trial by jury for a technical violation of an injunction.

BUSINESS AND LABOR UNITED

Businessmen, when the issue is fully explained, will protest that they are citizens too, and deserving of the benefits of the so-called "civil rights" legislation. Business hitherto hasn't understood the issue, and if the debate can be extended through the next session of Congress, opponents of "judge-made law" may find a strong alliance of business and labor groups fighting them to insure jury trials in injunction cases.

Politically, the Republicans are attributing an exaggerated value to the "civil rights" issue. They are thinking only of Negro votes to be won over from the Democrats in the North, forgetting that the votes of most Negroes, like those of most everybody else, are influenced largely by economic issues. What goes into the pay envelope 52 times a year is likely to remain uppermost on election day rather than gratitude over some abstract issues related to the voting privilege itself.

The job of the national commission, if the pending bill becomes law, may interestingly enough be devoted to finding out not only why some people don't vote but why they don't even take the trouble to register.

The pending bill makes a start and those who want to wait for the perfect law before tackling this far - reaching problem are only playing into the hands of those members of Congress who prefer to kill all legislation on the subject.

Dr. Brady Says:

Physical Peak for Women Often Between 30 and 55

It may be anywhere between 30 and 55.

Some persons reach the peak before 30—physically, that is. I believe I'm competent to discuss the physical, physiological or health aspect of this question. I leave the mental, moral and spiritual aspects of human growth and development to others.

DR. BRADY

Some women are at their peak of loveliness, capacity to bear children, and to nurse and raise them, at 22 to 25 years of age. Others reach such perfection at 30 to 33 years of age.

Physically, I say. Some women attain their highest intellectual and spiritual development in their forties.

In Vol. IV of the Pocket Cyclopedia of Health, Preparing for Maternity, I say: "Records of childbirth in a large series of cases show that the healthy woman who bears her first child when approaching 40 may expect a normal delivery."

SOME OLD AT 30

Mind, I say a healthy woman. Especially one who has kept fit by regular exercise. Some women are physiologically as old at 30 or 33 as others are at 40 or 43.

Concerning this I remarked in this column that "anyone, who can still roll a somersault and come up smiling, can have a baby." Many readers 50 or 60 years old complained that they were rolling 'em every day, yet darn it . . .

All of us like to think that when we attain the peak we can stay up there. It is not just my idea, but the opinion of nutrition and health authorities, that we could stay up there for 20 or 30 years if we knew how to take care of our nutrition.

I'm thinking now of one of my bowling cronies. The man is 87, hard for even the best bowler to beat, never seems to tire and has all but one of his own teeth. For many years he has eaten a good daily ration of vitamins and minerals, as I recommend in the pamphlet Young Folks and Old Folks (for which send stamped, self-addressed envelope). He tells me that this keeps him on his toes.

Adults who resort to aspirin, cocktails, highballs, tranquilizers, barbiturates to keep going, begin to decline before they reach forty. After all, one in good nutritional condition enjoys good health and doesn't need or want analgesics, sedatives, narcotics, stimulants or hypnotics.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac Michigan.

The Country Parson

"I wish there were a way to get folk out to church on Sunday morning like we get them out on the highways Sunday afternoon."

Voice of the People

Readers Differ in Views About Prayers in School

If I had a voice in national affairs, it now would turn toward those bickering over whether children eating lunch in school should begin the meal with or without prayers.

I would remind them that founders of this nation had national peace and union in mind when they saw fit to separate the affairs of state from the pinions of religionism. Today, as always, religionism divides people into incompatible segments of mankind by branding people, like beef, into kinds and ownership.

Incompatible segments of mankind all over the earth, today as always, engage in such hot contentions over who is right that the poor little dove of peace finds no place to alight. We should make up our minds what we as a nation want to be and fight for that.

I have no voice in these affairs, just feelings of shame born of reading headlines that so openly advertise the chief national impuissance — a very antiquated religionism that is as unavailing as it is more sinful than the people it bleeds, badgers and blames for the ills of this world.

The great hope for mankind consists of the unalterable fact, by precious nugget of truth, that the correct concept of man first was visualized in the strengthening intellect before Jesus of Nazareth sustained the reality.

As a Christian parent I am in favor of grace before lunch in school, at work or wherever you are. Parents and children should at least have enough respect for God to repeat a little prayer before each meal. If this were practiced more, children would learn respect instead of taking everything for granted. My children repeat a prayer after the flag salute and before lunch at school, and I am in favor of it.

Former Canadian Tells of Discount

Michigander says that he will never spend another dime in Canada until the five per cent discount on American money is evened up. Apparently he doesn't visit Canada very often, so it's of no importance whether he spends another dime or not. American money has been on a discount basis only for a few months. A frequent visitor to Canada would know that from 1942 to 1951 Americans discounted the Canadian dollar 10 per cent.

I was in business in Canada those years and well I know. You say "we are the biggest, most powerful and most important nation in the world." The reason you think so is because apparently it has been 16 years since you were outside of it.

Two Letters Tell of Single Vacation

Sunday observe; think, when the bells do chime, 'tis angels' music; therefore come not late.—George Herbert.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Need 2 Women for Good Husband

Tommy's mother was a delinquent parent. Her bad behavior upset this boy and made him hang around the street until midnight. Another woman luckily saved Tommy from being a complete failure, so study this case carefully and discuss it at Mother's Clubs and Sunday School.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case V-355: Tommy R., aged 10, lived in an apartment house in our neighborhood.

He was a grade school classmate of one of our boys. Tommy's father was a prominent business executive.

DR. CRANE

But Tommy's mother had obtained a divorce and now lived with Tommy on the fifth floor of this big Chicago apartment house.

His mother drank and thus spent much of her time in cocktail bars and saloons (taverns).

Tommy would play out in the street until long after his proper bedtime because he was afraid to go up to the dark apartment alone, for his mother often would not come home till 11 p.m., or even after midnight.

Then she'd slap Tommy and scold him because he wasn't in bed.

When he'd get home after school he'd coax our son to go up to the apartment with him to hear his record player and see his toys.

Our son at that time didn't realize that this was a ruse which Tommy adopted so he wouldn't have to enter the apartment all alone.

CHILDHOOD TORTURE

For Tommy didn't want anybody to know that he was afraid. He thought it would label him as "sissy."

It wasn't until he was grown and married, that he later revealed these facts to our son.

Meanwhile, Tommy grew up and went to war. He became a problem case and was referred to an Army psychiatrist.

Then he was sent to a sanitarium and given shock treatment. For a long time it looked as if Tommy would be a derelict.

But he finally snapped out of his unhappy condition, partly because he met a fine girl with whom he fell in love.

After a few years at college, he married and became a successful salesman. In fact, he moved ahead very swiftly in business, and without any "pull" from his father.

Now he is the father of two youngsters and head of a business of his own.

TWO WOMEN

"It takes two women to make a good husband," is our usual axiom of applied psychology.

The first one should be his mother and the second one, his wife. Well, Tommy certainly has an excellent wife.

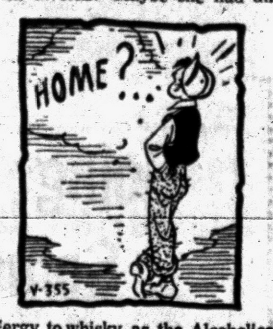

She is so good that she apparently has offset the bad influence of his delinquent mother.

For his mother went from bad to worse. She finally left Chicago and is in California. Tommy hasn't even seen her for years.

"She just had a yen for hard liquor," Tommy explained in later years. "My father seemed to be fairly good to her, as far as I could tell, though they divorced when I was about eight years old.

"But she couldn't stay away from taverns. Maybe she had an allergy to whisky, as the Alcoholics Anonymous group describe it."

Tommy's case illustrates a real childhood tragedy. His mother was far more delinquent than Tommy ever was.

And she forced her son into a very unhappy, fearful boyhood, which probably helped send him to the Army psychiatrist several years later.

Alcoholism is regarded as similar to a fire escape that leads from a burning building.

As long as alcoholic victims are tortured or "burning" with guilt or severe inferiority complexes and other emotional disturbances, they try to flee via the whisky flask.

See tomorrow's follow-up.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Instead Lists 8 of His Compositions as Tops

Berlin Won't Pick 'Favorite' Song

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
INS Staff Writer

Irving Berlin looks back on a 50-year songwriting career with justifiable pride, but you can't get him to pick his "favorite" song.

He has eight favorites.

The famous 69-year-old composer listed them for International News Service in the following order:

"ALEXANDER'S RAGTIME BAND." He wrote the words and music for this song in 1911, and it was his first big success. The peppy song swept the civilized world and made Berlin a celebrated personality in popular music. It wasn't his biggest money-maker, but it was perhaps his most colorful achievement.

"A PRETTY GIRL IS LIKE A MELODY." This one became the theme song for the "Ziegfeld Follies of 1919."

"ALWAYS." Berlin says this is his favorite ballad. He wrote it in 1925, a year before he was married, and he gave the song to his wife as a wedding present.

"OH, HOW I HATE TO GET UP IN THE MORNING." Berlin wrote the song during World War I when he was a sergeant of infantry at Camp Upton, Long Island. His personal dislike of getting up early inspired it.

"EASTER PARADE." This one is as timely and popular today as when he wrote it in 1933.

wrote it for a picture and it was introduced by Bing Crosby.

"I never dreamed it would become the most successful commercial song I have ever written," says Berlin. "It came out in August, 1942. We were at war and people were longing for peace. In many homes there was an empty chair. It became a peace song in war-time.

"This song is revived every Christmas. It is my most valuable copyright. You could go into the publishing business with 'White Christmas' alone.

"The song sold more than 4,000,000 copies of sheet music and approximately 22,000,000 records. Bing Crosby's recording of the song alone sold 12,000,000 records."

"GOD BLESS AMERICA." Actually, this song was written by Berlin in 1918, but he was not satisfied with it then. He laid it aside, soon to be forgotten.

Twenty years later, with Hitler on the march, Berlin re-wrote it and it swept the country. It is a song close to Berlin's heart and now appears to be securely established in the hearts of Americans.

INTRODUCED IN 1938

Kate Smith introduced it on Armistice Day, 1938. Berlin gave it to the Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts. He established a foundation so they could receive the royalties from the song. To date, "God Bless America" has earned $261,803.65 for the scouts' fund.

Berlin can never tell how long it will take him to write a song. Like a newspaperman, he does well writing under a deadline. Once for the show, "Call Me Madam," he wrote a song hit overnight. It was titled "You're Just in Love."

On the other hand, it took him two and one-half years to write "White Christmas."

Nostalgically, Berlin recalled that when he was a young man he was uninhibited, and would write "anything." It was in that period that he came up with "Alexander's Ragtime Band."

"Once you become too professional you're inclined to slow up your pace in writing songs," he said. "Maybe it's a good thing. A little self-criticism doesn't harm anyone."

Nowadays, Berlin is pretty much of a perfectionist, but he still can go at top speed—even around the clock, when necessary.

Pregnant Actress Elizabeth Taylor Back in Hospital

NEW YORK (AP)—Pregnant film star Elizabeth Taylor is back in the hospital.

Her husband, producer Mike Todd, took her to the Harkness Pavilion Saturday night. She had left there only last Thursday.

Miss Taylor was reported in satisfactory condition. During her previous visit to the hospital she was said to be suffering from premature labor pains. They disappeared later. She expects a baby in October.

Miss Taylor reportedly collapsed Saturday night at the dinner table in the Todd home at Westbury, Conn.

Her doctor was quoted as saying she will have to remain in the hospital until about Aug. 15. If necessary, a Caesarean section could be performed safely then.

New Techniques for Old Cases

Poll on Polio Aims to Help Handicapped

LANSING (AP) — An inventory of the crippling effects of polio over the years is being undertaken in Michigan as part of a nationwide project, it was announced today.

Paul Bagwell, state chairman of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, said the object is to compile information on disability so that new techniques may be applied to relieve or overcome it.

The canvass is to be completed by Sept. 1, he said.

Bagwell said pilot surveys show that there are thousands of polio-handicapped persons in the nation whose problems may respond to new rehabilitation techniques developed in recent years.

"We wish to find everyone who has had Polio, whether paralytic or non-paralytic," he said.

"We want to know what their special problems may be, so that they may be helped to regain useful lives, if humanly possible, even though it will take a considerable period of time."

Information sought for each patient includes whether he is employed or attends school, if he can climb stairs and dress himself, whether he receives regular treatment and if he uses respiratory aid.

County medical societies and interested state agencies are cooperating in the survey, Bagwell said.

18 Children Not Enough

TILNEY ST. LAWRENCE, England (AP) — Mrs. Trixie Grief recently gave birth to her 18th child, and says she wants at least one more. Only 13 of her children are living, and the 43-year-old laborer's wife says: "We can't possibly stop at such an unlucky number. We are a happy family and we don't want any ill-luck creeping in."

What's the Use!

SHERBOURNE, England (AP) — Firemen and their $15,000 engine were called out to put out a smudge in the stubble of a corn field. The engine caught fire and was destroyed.

Watch August Skies for Heavenly Shootin'

ANN ARBOR (AP)—August will be shooting star month in the heavens above Michigan, says a University of Michigan astronomer.

Prof. Hazel M. Losh says Perseid meteors (shooting stars) will be visible for two or three weeks, but will be most spectacular next Saturday and Sunday.

"Meteors may be seen darting across the night skies of August at a higher rate than any other time of the year," Miss Losh says. "Often from 50 to 70 per hour may be observed."

However, says Miss Losh, this year's show will not be as vivid as those of years past. She explains the full moon of Aug. 10 will obscure many of the fainter shooting stars.

"Although the meteors may be seen in any direction," she says, "their paths seem to intersect the Northeast where the constellation Perseus will be rising around 10 p.m. This accounts for the name given this annual shower."

The shooting stars are pieces of iron and stone and become visible upon entering the earth's atmosphere, where friction sets them buurning, Miss Losh says.

Miss Losh says the August skies also will be filled with planets. Saturn, Jupiter, Venus and Mercury will be visible to stargazers on earth.

Egyptian Authorities Blacklist Freighter

PORT SAID, Egypt (AP)—Egyptian authorities have blacklisted another ship, the Italian freighter Monte Pellegrino, for carrying cargo from Israel.

They announced yesterday as the ship entered the Suez Canal that it would not be sold supplies or fuel in Egyptian ports. The blacklisting does not bar it from using the canal, however.

The semiofficial Middle East News Agency reported, meanwhile that the British freighter Maltese Prince had arrived in Alexandria with the first British cargo received since the British-French invasion of the Suez last November.

A train ticket from the Atlantic to the Pacific Ocean costs only $1.25. This is on the railway which runs alongside the Panama Canal.

6-Alarm Pittsburgh Fire Under Control

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A six-alarm fire in a two-story business building on Pittsburgh's North Side was reported under control early today.

The blaze broke out about 11 p.m. in the basement of a building at Allegheny and Western avenues.

Flames swept through the basement and a part of the first floor, occupied by a wholesale bakery.

Police alerted nearby residents to leave their homes after it was learned there was about 300 pounds of gunpowder in storage on the second floor—occupied by the Pennsylvania Gunsmith School and the George L. Thacker Arms Co.

Four firemen were overcome by smoke and about half a dozen others suffered minor cuts and bruises.

The cause of the blaze was not immediately determined and there was no immediate estimate of the damage.

Antiburglar Pickle Trap Not Enough—$20 Stolen

YONKERS, N. Y. (AP) — Grocer William Polinsky is in a pickle—his antiburglar pickle trap has failed.

Every night at closing time Polinsky set a couple of open five-gallon jars of pickles on a trap door between the basement and main floor of his store. He hoped an intruder coming up through the door would be scared off by an avalanche of pickles.

But Saturday night a burglar scaled a back fence, broke into the basement and somehow opened the trap door without upsetting the trap. He stole $20.

Manufacture of automobiles and parts is carried on in more than 1,900 plants in the U. S., mostly in the general vicinity of the Great lakes.

Who Can Resist Chance to Win $2,000 in Pot?

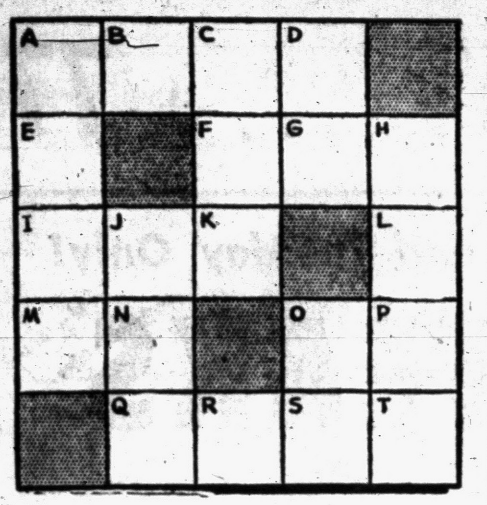

By this time there should be little need for urging anyone to try their luck at Pot-O-Gold. With $2,000 waiting to be hauled away by some crafty contestant, anyone with a minute to spare will surely want to give it a go. Good luck.

The new puzzle contains a series of squares which are alphabetically lettered and a corresponding list of sentences with two clue words. Each of the words is numbered. The object is to select the word which you think best fits the clue sentence. You then place the number of that word in the square which has the same letter as the clue sentence.

In other words, you will read the clue labeled A and decide which of the two words makes the most sense in the sentence. You then write the number of that word in the puzzle square marked A.

Do the same with all other squares. Read all the clues carefully and be sure the right numbers are in the right squares.

U.S. Approves Easing of Trade

Western Allies Decide to Expand Deals With Communist China

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has agreed under pressure from its allies to ease still further Western trade controls on shipments to Red China.

American representatives, acting under State Department instructions, approved this move at a meeting last week of 15 key trading nations in Paris.

The action frees limited quantities and types of machine tools, ships, transportation equipment, chemicals and metal products for shipment to the China mainland.

The United States government will continue to ban all American trade with the Chinese Reds, however, under its existing economic-diplomatic boycott of the Peiping regime.

Responsible officials who disclosed the action stressed that this government had no alternative but to agree. The move, they said, was an inevitable follow-up to Britain's decision last May 30 to put China trade controls on a par with those guiding shipments to the European Communist bloc.

The Paris meeting which started some three weeks ago, they said, set quotas for the remainder of the year on some 25 important trade items previously banned from China trade since the Korean War.

No sharp increase in Chinese Communist trade with Western countries is foreseen by American officials because of the limited funds which are available to the Peiping regime for such outside purchases.

New Refrigerator Escape Doors Required in 1958

WASHINGTON (INS)—The government has set Oct. 30, 1958 as the date on which all refrigerators placed on the market must have safety doors so that children trapped inside can escape.

An order by the Commerce Department requires new refrigerators to have an inside knob which will turn easily or a door which will open when a force of less than 15 pounds is applied from the inside.

The safety regulations were drawn up after observation of children who volunteered to be locked inside refrigerators.

Tests were conducted by the Bureau of Standards and the Children's Bureau in cooperation with the National Electrical Manufacturers Association.

Concern over the situation brought Congressional action after deaths at about the same time of several children entrapped in abandoned iceboxes.

The regulations will provide greater safety on new refrigerators, but the Commerce Department pointed out that the problem of abandoned iceboxes and refrigerators is one of state and local laws and enforcement.

Search for Family With Dying Baby

ST. JOSEPH (AP)—A four-month-old baby who will die unless he gets medical attention soon and his migrant farm worker parents were the objects of a widespread police search today.

A St. Joseph Hospital nurse said the child was suffering from extreme dehydration which brings on strong fever and eventually death.

The nurse told police the unidentified couple appeared at the hospital Friday night to seek care for the child. She said she left the family alone for a few minutes and when she returned they had disappeared.

Officers said the nurse told them the couple identified themselves as migrant farm workers but refused to reveal their names. She said they were riding in an old model blue Oldsmobile sedan.

Great Lake Vessels Make More Sailings

CHICAGO — The 26 steamship lines operating between the Great Lakes and foreign ports have scheduled 450 sailings during 1957.

Last year there were only 23 lines with 384 sailings. In 1946 the two lines in business then had only two dozen sailings.

They Play It Cool at Lake

Ellix Okkonen of West Hopkins street watches as Frank Sisson of East Mansfield street cleqns out his boat. They were at Cass-Dodge Park.

After ten minutes of coaxing Wayne Myers of Kohler avenue finally decided to play with his water "seal" at Pontiac Lake.

Contrary to popular hearsay, newspaper people are NOT immune to the heat. So one of our reporters and a photographer played hooky for a few hours at some area lakes — in an attempt to beat the heat. It was not too surprising that they found many people at the various beaches.

It's quite interesting to note the way different people "beat the heat." Our "crew" found everything from beach parties to card playing. But those most oblivious to the 90-degree-plus temperatures were the small children who spent their hours in the water or playing on the beach.

The Press staffers we sent out came back exhausted and extremely warm after trudging through sand to get the picture on these pages. They evidently didn't heed the weatherman's advice to "take it cool on these hottest days of the summer!"

But after all their efforts our staffers' work was all for naught — it turned cold and now everyone is interested in keeping warm!!

Third Reunion Held

The third annual English-Cronk family reunion was held Sunday and today in Hillman. Attending from Pontiac were the families of Lloyd English of South Sanford street, Lester English of East boulevard, Earl English of North Sanford street, Robert English of North Sanford street and Walter Williams of Pine Grove avenue.

Brenda Napier (right) and Charles Terry of Jackson, Ky. wait as Jerry Ely of Walce deals them gin rummy hands. Sylvan Lake holds an attraction for out-of-state vacationers as well as Michiganers.

Phoning up some friends to come out and join the beach party at Dodge Park is Nancy Pyke of Birmingham. Waiting for her to finish the call is Dolly Stonehouse of Auburn Heights.

Gals Want Suit Skirts to Be Slim

NEW YORK (INS)—American women want a slim skirt in their suits, a noted suit expert reported today, and that's exactly what they'll get this fall.

Alvin Handmacher said 81 per cent of thousands of women surveyed by his firm voted for the slim suit skirt. Only 18 per cent favored a "moderately eased" skirt, and exactly 1 per cent wanted a full, full skirt.

DEFINITE IDEAS

The customers also have definite ideas on suit colors, the head of Handmacher-Vogel noted. Color preferences for 1957 show gray, brown and green on top, black in the middle and medium blues and reds on the bottom.

Handmacher intends to give the ladies exactly what they want. Skirts in his fall suits are slim or eased by gores, with back kick pleats for comfortable walking.

Jackets are either classic or the new short unbuttoned Chanel-type — with '57 feminine touches, like tiny 1-inch bows on collar tabs and buttons graduating in size from top to bottom.

The collection also offers some belted, bloused suits, but always with slim skirts.

Mrs. Billy Brazel of Waterford Township and her daughter, Becky Ann, look on as Ralph is most disconcerted with the "sandy situation" at Pontiac Lake.

Criticism of Royal Family Wrong Even if It's Right

LONDON (AP) — Some British newspapers suggested this morning that Lord Altrincham was right in complaining that Buckingham Palace is not in tune with the times.

But most papers agreed that the 33-year-old peer was insulting in his personal criticism of Queen Elizabeth II and her platform personality.

Altrincham, who edits the scholarly weekly the English and National Review, wrote that the Queen needed some new advisers to replace "a second-rate lot." He said her speaking style "is frankly a pain in the neck" and her speeches make her sound like a "priggish schoolgirl."

If dueling were still legal in Britain, Altrincham undoubtedly would have been pacing the grass at dawn today. Noblemen who rank as court advisers responded to the article with strong denunciation of the young Etonian.

QUEEN IS SILENT

In the best royal tradition, the Queen herself gave no hint that she was aware of the storm breaking around the palace.

The London News Chronicle suggested Altrincham may not be all wrong. It said the "fact that some of the critic's expressions are in bad taste does not invalidate either his right to criticize or the force of some of his observations . . .

"Many people who are staunch loyalists and warm admirers of the present royal family are worried because they believe the palace does not willingly move with the times."

The London Daily Mirror said Altrincham's personal remarks about the Queen were unfair but suggested his "strictures on the court and the 'tight little enclave of British ladies and gentlemen' who compose it are legitimate."

WHAT MANY THINK

Altrincham, said the Socialist Reynolds Sunday News, "has said out loud what many people are thinking — Buckingham Palace is not in tune with this Britain of 1957."

"Young Altrincham is a bounder who should be shot," fumed a cousin of the Queen, the Earl of Strathmore. "I would even do the job myself but he's not worth it."

Success Rests on Personal Factor

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Try though we will, we can't get away from the personal factor in business success.

Over and above the know-how, capitalization, good location, clever advertising, sound product — over and above all these things is the personal factor which determines success or failure.

A very important part of this personal factor is the original motive, the reason for entering the business in the first place.

Of course, people enter a business for profit.

MORE MONEY

They start a business of their own because they want to make more money than they can make on a salary, they don't want to share the billing with anyone else.

But if that's the only motive, chances are they won't be very successful.

The most successful businesses I know were begun by a person who really loved that business, really felt he would be making a contribution to the world and really believed that his product, or service, was the most wonderful in existence.

If you're thinking of starting a home business, do give some consideration to your feelings about it, in addition to all the practical and businesslike considerations.

Do you really love the product? Will you get a big charge out of dealing with the kind of customers who will buy your product?

My favorite example of this is a lady who does hand-monogramming. I met her when I bought a tablecloth which I wanted to have monogrammed.

She did a perfectly beautiful job. You could see that she loved her work and that she did it easily and profitably. She worked about half a day, on her own schedule, and cleared a nice profit.

When I asked her how she got into this work, she smiled.

"It's because I was the youngest of seven!" she said.

"We were always poor, so my clothes were always hand-me-downs. Even after I went to work, at 14, and bought my own things, there still wasn't any privacy or respect for private property.

"My sisters would borrow my slips and hankies. The first thing you knew, they'd be lost in the crowd.

AS A SAFEGUARD

"So I began to monogram them, just as a safeguard! Then I found that monograms could be awfully good-looking, so I began to take more pains with them."

Everybody doesn't have so intense a motive. But behind every successful home business or service, there is this personal factor, a conviction that this business is a pretty important one!

If you are thinking of setting up a home service, send me a stamped self-addressed envelope, care of The Pontiac Press, and I'll send you my pamphlet on the subject.

Visit to Married Child Isn't Restful

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

The Boyds' married daughter Lida lives three states away.

Last summer Mrs. Boyd got Mr. Boyd to make their vacation visit to Lida. He wanted a leisurely auto trip through good fishing country but Mrs. Boyd said they'd break Lida's heart if they didn't come to see how the children had grown.

And indeed Lida and her family were very glad to see them.

But on the fourth day, something happened. Mrs. Boyd had just begun to scrape carrots for dinner when Lida returned from shopping.

Entering the kitchen, she said sharply, "Why are you scraping those carrots, Mother? The skins are full of vitamins. I never scrape my carrots!"

Then, averting her face, she put down her packages, adding, "Why don't you go out and sit on the porch with Dad? You didn't come here to work, you know."

SO MUCH TO DO

"But you have so much to do, dear!" protested Mrs. Boyd. "How can I just sit when I see how overworked you are?"

There was a little pause. Then Lida said too pleasantly, "The scraper goes in the other drawer, Mother. And I am not overworked. I know you want to help—but, please, Mother, go out and relax on the porch with Dad."

But out on the porch Dad was anything but relaxed. The moment his wife sank down in the chair beside him, he growled, "How the Sam Hill long is this going on? I can't look at television all day as well as all night. When I think of those trout flies in the car . . . "

Near tears, Mrs. Boyd murmured, "Oh Jim, aren't you glad to see the children?"

"I've seen them," retorted her husband.

At the week's end, the Boyds told Lida and her husband that they had decided to take the fishing tour after all.

And a very sensible, self-protective decision it was.

A vacation is relaxation of tensions. Spending one with a busy married child can increase our tensions instead of reducing them. Lida feels obliged to reject our help — and the habit of years obliges us to feel we must give it. This conflict is as natural as it is hard to resolve.

Our vacation is our time, not for struggling with conflicts, but for replenishing our sense of peace.

'Character' Needed

The secret of a good cottage cheese sandwich is to use bread with lots of "character." Rye, pumpernickel, Boston brown bread or a fruit and nut bread make delicious sandwiches. Just combine the cheese with any kind of jam or marmalade or with chopped chive or watercress or with chopped nuts or olives.

Appliances Cost More at Friend's

Is Couple Obliged to Buy Product at His Store?

BY EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: A friend of ours has a store in which he sells all sorts of household appliances. We are in the market for one of the appliances that he sells. I have been shopping around and find that I can get the item we want for quite a bit less than this friend sells it for.

"Are we obliged, because of friendship, to buy this item from him? My husband thinks we are and that this friend would be justified in feeling hurt if we bought it elsewhere.

"I disagree with him and see no reason why we shouldn't save some money if we can. I'm sure our friend would understand. We would appreciate having your opinion on this matter."

Answer: Tell him frankly that while you would rather buy from him, you can get the item you want for such and such a price. Then if he can equal that price, buy from him.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Is six months after the wedding too late to send a wedding present? The daughter of a friend was married six months ago and at the time I was occupied with other things and never got around to buying her a present.

"I feel terrible about this and would like to send her a present now if it is proper. My husband thinks since so much time has elapsed it would be better to forget it. Will you please give me your opinion?"

Answer: Since a present is always welcome and you can always find a reason why it was not sent sooner, I would send it if I were you.

"Dear Mrs. Post: When talking to a man in his office and there is a brief interruption caused by the entrance of his secretary or any other woman in the company, is a visiting man supposed to stand?"

Answer: If he is introduced to her, yes. If she merely hands her employer some papers or speaks briefly to him, it is best not to add to the interruption.

Don't burden yourself with hard-to-keep-clean furnishings, when in expensive washable materials are so easy to use, so effective in creating a cheerful atmosphere.

Eight Week Marathon Can Be Your Guide

Now Is Time to Start Improving Self

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

It can happen to you! Unless you take steps to avoid it you are almost certain to become trapped by the myriad details of daily living, by your responsibilities and what others expect of you.

You'll wonder what happened to your plans for self-improvement and self-expression. What happened to the courses you wanted to study, the things you meant to do?

What happened to the books you planned to read, the exercises you meant to take, the skin care you were going to give yourself? What happened to those pounds you were determined to lose?

It is admirable to take our responsibilities seriously and to be helpful to others but we also owe ourselves something. We have an obligation to ourselves to take care of our health, to develop our personalities, to improve our looks, to have some time alone, to delay all of the processes of deterioration for as long as possible.

Nothing so graces the world or a home as a healthy, charming, lovely-looking woman. So in saving a little time for yourself you actually have more to give others.

You have more in beauty and graciousness, in humor and self-confidence. Even the most sparkling personality can be dulled by fatigue and physical disability while a vibrant outlook builds health.

A RUT OF HURRY

All women want to remain attractive and even to improve on what nature gave them. It is just that they get into a rut of hurry and responsibility and hecticness. They keep planning to begin tomorrow what they probably will never begin unless they start today.

I think the fact that self-improvement may seem very vague is another reason for procrastination. It is discouraging to start out unless you know what you can reasonably expect to accomplish in a given length of time, and unless you understand how to go about it.

A reader was so pleased with the way she looked and felt after the Eight-Week Self-Improvement Marathon that . . . "I began accepting invitations which I had avoided before."

As most of you know I run my Eight - Week Self - Improvement Marathon each January for this very reason, to give you an incentive and all the help you need. At this time each year I publish some of the letters from Marathon winners in order to encourage those of you who may have procrastinated.

I do this because these letters are not only full of human interest but it is always encouraging to learn how others have solved problems which are similar to our own.

Here is one: "Dear Mrs. Lowman, I joined your Marathon this year. I had been planning to for at least eight years but every year I would forget to write for the booklet or just lose my determination. This year I really stuck to the routine of diet and exercise.

A BIG DIFFERENCE

"I am writing to tell you what a big difference it has made in my life. It has changed my whole outlook and rejuvenated my marriage. I lost 18 pounds in those two short months and inches and inches.

"I realize now that I had become careless about my appearance since I could no longer wear the smart clothes I always had liked. I even was careless about my grooming so far as hair and skin care are concerned.

"At the end of my Marathon I bought some new spring clothes and could hardly wait to have a new hair-styling. As a result of the improvement in my looks I began to have more pep. I felt gayer than I had in years. I began accepting invitations which I had avoided before.

"You can imagine what such a change in me would do to my husband. He is so proud of me and thinks I am beautiful. Guess I am by contrast! He recently admitted to me that he had decided that I was no longer in love with him since I didn't seem to care how I looked.

"Never again will I let that situation creep up on me. That is just what it did before."

Well, that gave us a peep into one woman's life which could be duplicated all over the country!

SEND FOR MARATHON

If you would like to have my Eight - Week Self - Improvement Marathon to see how much you can improve yourself in eight weeks, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Don't Let Hair Look Seaweedy After Beach Fun

When you head for the beach, you've more to think about than sun, sand and water. Unless you want to look like a pile of seaweed the next day, you've got to give some thought to good looks.

Wind, sun and sand are wonderful, but not for the hair. Therefore, equip yourself with kerchief or beach hat.

The same elements will roughen your skin unless you massage cream into it when you get home at night. (We're assuming, of course, that you'll use a suntan cream at the beach.)

After your shower or bath at night, use a lanolized talcum powder to soothe your skin. It will prevent chafing that might be caused by a combination of sand and your damp swimsuit.

Useless Clothes Will Dent Budget

Best way to dent your clothes budget and end up with a lot of useless things is to wander through a store buying things on impulse because they look pretty.

Never add to your wardrobe unless it's something you know you need and will wear. No one wants a closet filled with white elephants.

Ease Situation Once

If you say the wrong thing and realize it immediately, try to fix things up by saying something to ease the situation. But whatever you do, don't keep referring to the faux pas and trying to explain it away.

First Presbyterian Church of Birmingham was the setting for the Friday wedding of Doris Louise Lottner and Richard C. Aldrich. The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lottner, and the Fred Aldriches are the bridegroom's parents.

MR. AND MRS. R. C. ALDRICH

Doris L. Lottner Speaks Vows in Birmingham Rite

Two-hundred guests witnessed the marriage of Doris Louise Lottner and Richard C. Aldrich at 7 p. m. Friday in the First Presbyterian Church of Birmingham. The Rev. Robert Gibson performed the ceremony.

The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lottner of Lakeside drive, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Aldrich of Keego Harbor.

For her wedding the bride wore a ballerina-length gown with a Queen Anne collar, fitted bodice, pointed sleeves and bouffant skirt. The gown was of Rose Point embroidered tulle over white satin encrusted with sequins and seed pearls.

The bride carried a cascade of dark red roses and white carnations with white forget-me-nots.

The bride's sister, Jean Lottner, attended her as maid of honor wearing a dress of white lace over yellow taffeta trimmed in yellow nylon. She carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations and yellow roses with yellow ribbon and she wore a lace headpiece of yellow twisted satin trimmed with lace and ribbons.

Shirley Kuenzer and Elaine Finkbeiner, the bridesmaids, wore blue gowns similar to that of the honor attendant.

Richard Reynolds served as the best man. James Lane and Wayne Allen of Keego Harbor were the ushers.

A reception was held at the Knights of Pythias Hall.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Lottner wore a dress of shrimp-colored lace and tulle over taffeta with white iridescent accessories and a white camellia corsage.

The bridegroom's mother wore blue crystallette with white accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

Refrigerator Dessert Is Yummy

Mrs. Nordman's Recipe Calls for Marshmallows

By JANET ODELL

Don't you just love refrigerator desserts at this time of the year? They're so easy to prepare and can wait until you're ready to serve them. This recipe calls for a can of fruit cocktail, but it can be made with strawberries in season.

Mrs. Robert Nordham is today's cook. She has two preschool youngsters and one in school. Her only club affiliation is with the Junior Chamber of Commerce Auxiliary. In leisure hours she likes to play Bridge.

REFRIGERATOR DESSERT
By Mrs. Robert Nordman

32 marshmallows
½ cup milk
½ pint cream, whipped
15-ounce can fruit cocktail, drained
½ pound graham crackers
¼ cup melted butter or margarine

Melt marshmallows in milk. Allow to cool. Fold cooled mixture and drained fruit into whipped cream. Roll crackers into fine crumbs. Mix 2/3 cup of crumbs with melted butter or margarine. Line 9x13-inch pan with crumb mixture. Pour in fruit and whipped cream and sprinkle remaining crumbs on top. Chill several hours in refrigerator. Serves 16-20.

To bake potatoes quickly, first put them in boiling salted water for 10 minutes; then take them out and place them in the oven.

If you want taller look avoid below-waist contrast. Keeping contrast-top above or at the waist, you add leg length so essential to height.

Jackets ranging from above the waist to hipbone length are best for the short girl and this season there is a greater variety of these short jackets to go over slim or full skirts or won over sheath dresses.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery

Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain—without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne*)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called *Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

Gave Ultimatum to Fishmongers

European Portrait Artist Paints Royalty of Britain

LONDON (NEA)—A sleek, black Daimler pulled up in an alley in London's South Kensington recently and out jumped Princess Margaret. Picking her way between garbage cans, Her Majesty climbed to a top studio flat with a neat white card pinned to the door: "Pietro Annigoni."

PIETRO ANNIGONI: An ultimatum to the Fishmongers.

The princess had come for her last sitting to Europe's most fashionable portrait artist. But for Pietro Annigoni, the swarthy, 46-year-old Italian artist with the long side-burns, the visit marked a subtle change in status.

To paint Queen Elizabeth's portrait, Annigoni had had to go to Buckingham Palace and wait upon the Queen's pleasure. That was three years ago. Now, Annigoni's fame had brought Princess Margaret to his own untidy studio.

The painting, itself, when completed, will break with tradition. For instead of picturing her in robes of state, it will show Princess Margaret in a simple frock, her hands folded in her lap. Annigoni has focussed attention on her eyes, which he considers to be, quite simply, beautiful.

It was Annigoni's portrait of Queen Elizabeth, however, commissioned by the Worshipful Company of Fishmongers, that put him on the art map.

Queen Elizabeth proved to be one of the best models Annigoni has ever worked with. He was nervous about the first sitting, but when the Queen entered the Yellow Room at Buckingham Palace she immediately put him at his ease.

Standing by the window, Her Majesty pointed to the sightseers below. "I can remember how, as a little girl," she mused, "I used to love to watch the people and the traffic go by."

And as she spoke her face lit up with the exact expression — youthful, almost child-like—which the artist sought. And this, no doubt, explains why the Queen's portrait is rated Annigoni's most successful to date.

Not without tears was the Queen's portrait completed, however. When Annigoni discovered that under British law the copyright of a painting for reproduction purposes rested with the owner and not the artist, he threatened a slow-down strike.

"All right, I am legally wrong," he said, in effect. "But remember, I am the only one who can say when the portrait is finished, and it may be that some small detail of the Queen's dress will take me 5, 10 or even 15 years to complete."

Faced with this ultimatum, the Fishmongers caved in, retaining only the British Commonwealth rights to reproduction and giving Annigoni the copyright for the rest of the world.

Annigoni stands to gain $30,000 from the reproduction rights alone of the Queen's portrait for calendars, Christmas cards and framed prints.

His Court Visitors 'Face the Music'

DEARBORN (INS) — Visitors to the violation bureau of Dearborn's Municipal Court are really going to "face the music."

Judge George T. Martin is having classical music and popular standard songs piped into the bureau over the high-fi speakers from local FM radio stations.

The judge explained:

"We get everything in here from people paying traffic tickets, to family squabbles, to complaints about barking dogs.

"The people usually take their complaints out on the girls who work in our office.

"We figure the music will help soothe our employes and calm down men and women when they make their complaints."

Storm Victims Get Five Homes

AFL-CIO Crews Start Building Bee in Region Hit by Hurricane

CAMERON, La. (AP)—Five modest houses are ready for survivors of Hurricane Audrey after organized labor's first weekend building bee.

More than 150 volunteer AFL-CIO members moved into Cameron Parish (county) Saturday morning. When they left late yesterday the houses were finished.

The labor men plan several more weekend projects as their contribution to rebuilding the area ravaged in June by the disastrous hurricane that claimed 500 lives.

A crew from Alexandria built the largest house, at Creole, for Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Richard and their four children. A Shreveport crew built two houses at Grand Chenier for Mrs. Clarise Broussard, 64, and Mrs. Frances January, 65, both widows.

A New Orleans crew worked at Cameron, where it built a house for Gilbert LaSalle, a 32-year-old man, and his surviving child. LaSalle lost his wife and four children in the hurricane.

A crew from Baton Rouge built a home at Creole for Vian Richard, a 51-year-old disabled bachelor.

The union men, working with materials furnished by the Red Cross, plan to build 25 homes during the weekend building bees. Each crew is a self-contained unit of 35-50 men complete with carpenters, electricians, plumbers and other specialists.

The crews spent Saturday night in National Guard tents and were fed by a Red Cross mobile kitchen unit. The Red Cross also supplied furnishings for the completed homes.

Many of the homesites were surrounded by debris from the hurricane.

W. A. Polk of New Orleans, a Greyhound bus driver who brought in the New Orleans crew, took one look at the area, then traded his uniform for work clothes and pitched in.

Michiganders May Still See a Northern Lights Display

EAST LANSING—If you missed the brilliant display of Northern Lights visible in Michigan and many other parts of the country on the night of June 30, you are likely to have another chance to see them during the rest of the year, according to Dr. James Stokley, associate professor at Michigan State University.

Displays of these lights, known to scientists as the aurora, have long been known to be associated with activity on the Sun, and this varies over a cycle of about 11 years, he pointed out. At present solar activity is at a maximum, so many more auroral displays are likely.

CAUSE IS MYSTERY

"The cause of the aurora is not fully understood," stated Dr. Stokley, "but it is believed that streams of electrified atomic particles are shot at us from the Sun, particularly from sunspots. Some enter our atmosphere. As they hit atoms of oxygen and nitrogen at heights of 65 miles or more, they cause these gases to glow."

Such particles are affected by the magnetic field of the Earth; hence auroraeare most frequent in the general region of the magnetic poles, both north and south, he said.

In the northern hemisphere they occur most often above a line that runs along the north coast of Alaska, across the Yukon and the Northwest Territories of Canada, Hudson Bay and Labrador.

Then the line goes over the North Atlantic, south of Greenland and Iceland. It skirts the north tip of Scandinavia and then goes over the Arctic Ocean just north of Europe and Siberia. Along this line, he said, the aurora is visible nearly every clear night.

Residents of Michigan and other northern states have considerably more opportunity to see auroral displays than people at similar latitudes in Europe, who are much farther from this line.

Along the northern shore of Lake Superior they occur about three times as often as in southern Michigan, at about the same rate as in northern Scotland, he noted.

Aurorae have many different forms. A common one, he explained, is a pale green arch, low in the northern sky. This is really a sheet of glowing gases, about 65 miles high, which curves with the Earth's surface. Seen on edge from a more southerly point, it has the appearance of an arch. Sometimes such arches climb higher into the sky, and they may seem to pulsate. Another form is that of streamers, like searchlight beams, or of luminous curtains, which may appear to wave as if in the wind.

Supply Radar Men Through Northwest Passage

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (AP)—The fabled Northwest Passage is going to be the sea route by which the United States will supply its cold war outposts on the Distant Early Warning (DEW) radar line.

Some 50 American supply ships will ply the tricky passage high above the Arctic Circle this summer, bringing supplies and charting courses among the icy islands of the Canadian far north.

The Northwest Passage, sea route around North America, was the goal of countless expeditions ever since Europeans first realized the American continents blocked their path to the riches of the Far East.

It was first negotiated by the Norwegian explorer Roald Amundsen, who spent the better part of three years (1903-06) wandering among the desolate islands in his 47-ton sloop Gjoa.

But it was only two years ago that the Canadian Navy's icebreaker Labrador plowed her way through the passage to prove the route practical for large ships.

FOUND TRIP EASY

The 6,500-ton Labrador draws 29 feet of water—almost as much as the ocean-going liner Queen Mary—yet she had little difficulty making the trip.

The route the American supply ships plan to follow is not known, but United States officials have indicated they will employ a few original routes and follow the Labrador's chart to some extent.

The Labrador followed an east-west course up Davis Strait to Lancaster Sound and thence through Barrow Strait, Melville Sound and McClure Strait. Its route is shown on the accompanying map.

Amundsen's wanderings took him through Lancaster Sound, down the west side of the Boothia Peninsula and then along the coast of the Canadian mainland.

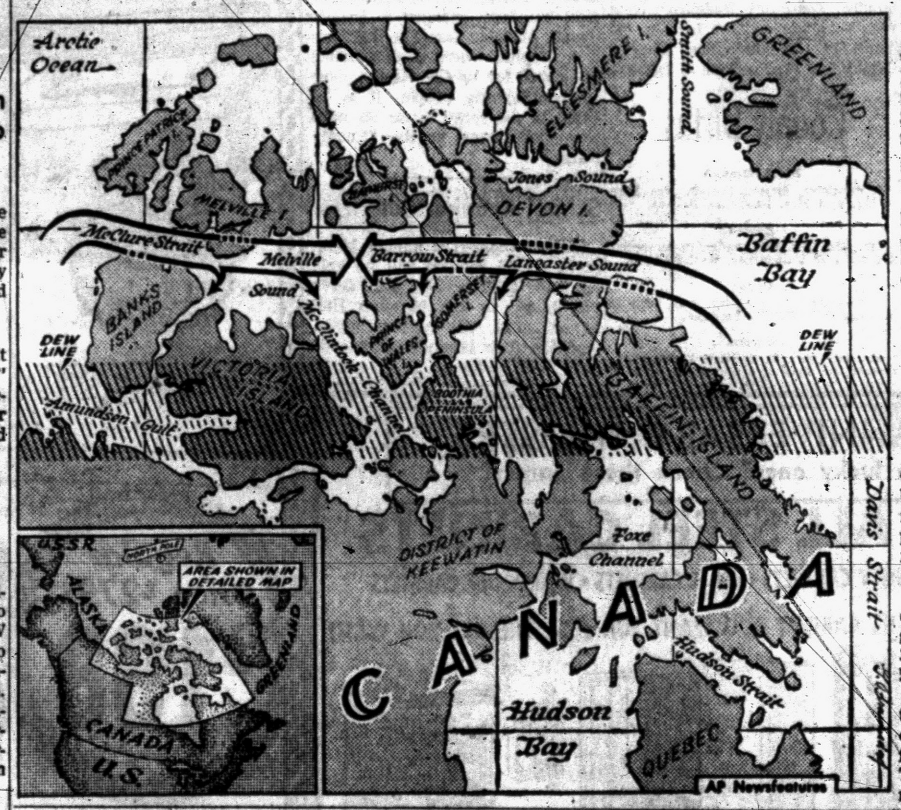

American ships plan to enter the passage at both ends, meet in the center and discharge their supplies to the DEW outposts, which stretch in an irregular, 3,000-miles long line some 250 miles north of the Arctic Circle.

In addition to carrying supplies, Cmdr. Charles W. Smith of the U. S. Military Sea Transport Service has indicated the ships will explore the area for the safest routes.

The fleet — including icebreakers, repair and salvage ships, cargo vessels and tankers—will carry 300,000 tons of "dry cargo" and 3,500,000 barrels of gasoline.

The icebreakers will be close to the supply ships at all times because the Northwest Passage is filled with ice the year around. The ice sometimes forms a solid mass for miles.

K on Road Again but Not With B

Red Premier's Political Health May Be Failing After Purge Epidemic

By THOMAS P. WHITNEY
AP Foreign News Analyst

It looks as if the famous Kremlin traveling circus of "B and K" has lost its "B."

Premier Nikolai Bulganin is not traveling with Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev, at least for the time being. He's staying home. Khrushchev went without Bulganin to Romania last week to meet with Yugoslav President Tito. He's going to Easy Germany soon for an official visit — also without Bulganin.

Has Bulganin's physical health suffered recently, forcing him to take a rest cure, or is his political health poor?

After Khrushchev purged V. M. Molotov, Georgi Malenkov, Lazar Kaganovich and Dmitri Shepilov from the Soviet Communist party leadership in late June, rumors circulated that Bulganin had not been very firm in support of Khrushchev during the crisis.

Quite possibly if Bulganin thought things were going against Khrushchev, he went over to the opposition temporarily, later backtracking in time to save his job for the time being.

Perhaps significantly, Soviet press reports of the speeches at the meeting of the Moscow party organization following Khrushchev's purge gave no space to any remarks by Bulganin. These reports grouped the Premier with M. G. Pervukhin, who had suffered demotion in the purge, as those who "also spoke."

Americans who have studied films taken of the Khrushchev-Bulganin visit to Czechoslovakia last month reported that Bulganin seemed to be acting as if he were definitely on the outside of things.

It may be that Bulganin, 62, is simply not vigorous enough to keep up with the bouncy Khrushchev, 63. As Moscow dispatches suggest, the Premier may be tired.

But it also may be that Khrushchev is getting ready to dump his old traveling partner and get a new one. If he does, it will not be much of a surprise.

Probers Trying to Trail Charter

Authorization for Union Allegedly Bounced to Favored Persons

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate rackets investigators try to trace today how a union charter bounced about among what they called "a succession of favored individuals."

"We want to see how often it bounced and where it landed," Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) said, referring to a charter issued for New York Local 228 of the old United Automobile Workers.

McClellan is chairman of the special Senate committee now investigating improper labor-management practices in the New York City area.

The group has received testimony that racketeer Johnny Dio controlled some locals of the UAW which later changed its name to the Allied Industrial Workers Union, and of the Teamsters Union.

"I think we have clearly demonstrated that some of these charters have been granted for purposes of exploitation," McClellan said.

McClellan said the committee, in four days of hearings scheduled for this week, plans to hear 40 to 45 witnesses in its efforts to uncover the extent to which racketeers have milked union members and shaken down employers.

So far, he said, the committee has shown "only a small part of the picture of what can and does happen when this unwholesome element gets in charge of unions and their actions are condoned by higher union officials."

115 Dead, 37 Missing in Korean Flooding

SEOUL (AP)—Police today reported 115 persons have been counted dead and 37 missing in the Naktong River flood. More than 100,000 were reported homeless in the river basin, 20 miles north of Seoul.

The river broke its banks Friday after a 16-inch rain and flooded nearly 85,000 acres of farmland. Food and clothing were rushed to the stricken area, and the Cabinet organized a flood relief committee.

Toni Arden Adds Bounce in Quest for Hit Record

By DICK KLEINER
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (NEA)—Hot weather got you down? Be patient. If you need proof that winter is coming, word has just been received that the first Christmas album of the season has already been recorded.

For the record, it was Sammy Kaye, recording for Columbia an album to be called "I Want To Wish You a Merry Christmas."

And a joyeux Labor Day.

You may have noticed a bit more lilt and bounce in Toni Arden's latest records. First there was "Without Love," which sold around a half-million. And now there's a two-sided new release, "It Takes Only One" and "Good Morning, Mr. Love."

TONI ARDEN

All three of these Decca discs are a far cry from the tender ballads which used to be the trademark of the beautiful little singer with the emotional contralto voice. A couple of them have marked rock-and-roll feeling, the other is a distinct rhythm tune, with a little country flavor.

With Toni, it's a case of "if you can't beat 'em, join 'em." She wants a gold record. She wants it badly enough so she'll sing a complete new style, try an alien rhythm, in order to get it.

It's a strange situation, because Toni Arden is one of music's big successes, even without a million-seller record. She's currently headlining at New York's Copacabana, she plays only the top hotels and nightclubs, she commands a big salary.

"But," she says—and it's a big, financial but. "But if I had a gold record, I think my earnings would automatically go up 20 or 25 per cent. I'd play the same clubs, but they'd have to pay me more."

That's the power of records in show business today. It's the record stars who get the big money, because they attract the biggest crowds. Toni attracts crowds because she puts on a terrific show, but chances are she'd attract even bigger ones after a smash hit record.

She came up to the status of headliner the hard way—by singing in clubs and getting good reviews. If she'd had a hit record, she would have been a headliner years before.

"The way I did it," she says simply, "is, I think, more substantial. I have the training now I can always get a good booking. A gold record would be frosting on the cake, but at least now I have a good cake."

Some of today's record stars have only a big mess of frosting.

It looks like Nat "King" Cole's "Send For Me" will be his biggest record in some time. And there's a strange story behind the song.

NATE COLE

Cole called publisher Marvin Cane, an old friend who used to manage Vic Damone. He said he wanted a rhythm and blues number. Cane said he didn't have one, but that never stops a publisher. He said he'd have one written. He called Ollie Jones, a songwriter who is one of Billy Williams' quartet, and Jones wrote it that night. The next morning Cane flew out to the coast with the song and it was recorded that afternoon, released the next day.

It may be an all-time record for catch-as-catch-can songwriting.

DICK'S PICKS: Perry Como has a hit in "Marching Along to the Blues" (RCA). Others: "Soft Sands" (Dorothy Collins, Coral, and The Voices of Walter Schumann, RCA; "There's A Gold Mine in the Sky" (Pat Boone, Dot); "Hula Love" (Buddy Knox, Roulette); "Please Mr. Brown" (Sarah Vaughan, Mercury); "Very Nice Is Bali-Bali" (Patience and Prudence, Liberty); "On My Mind Again" (Gale Storm, Dot; "No Hu Hu" (Bonnie Alden, Roulette); "When You Return" (Tony Williams, Mercury).

Some good recent jazz albums—Tony DeFranco and his clarinet on "The Progressive Mr. DeFranco" (Norgran); pianist Lou Levy and his trio in "A Most Musical Fella" (RCA); saxman Sam Taylor and organist Dick Hyman with "Rockin' Sax and Rollin' Organ" (MGM); Johnny Wiggs and his band in "Dixieland of Old New Orleans in Modern Hi-Fi" (Golden Crest); Shorty Rogers and His Giants in "Shorty Rogers Plays Richard Rodgers" (RCA).

Two late classical albums featuring the warmth and beauty of a lovely violin concerto—on Epic, Arthur Grumiaux plays Tchaikovsky's Concerto in D-Major and Bruch's Concerto No. 1 in G-Minor; on Angel, Johanna Martzy plays Mendelssohn's Concerto in E-Minor.

Fail to Match City's Growth

Teen Recreational Facilities Lag

(Editor's Note: This is the first in a series on official reactions to the recreation problem.)

By SYLVIA deSTEIGER

Pontiac has continued to grow in size, wealth, industry and beauty but, at the same time, it has failed to provide sufficient recreational activities and facilities for its ever-increasing youth.

TEENS WROTE

That complaint, originating from "Two Restless Teenagers" who wrote The Press several weeks ago charging they have no proper place to meet with the opposite sex during the summer, holds water.

In fact, a solution to the problem is not even found when school resumes although the situation is worse in the summer.

In a nutshell, this is what leaders of local youth organizations, law enforcers assigned to work with juveniles and recreation directors think.

Comments from them indicate Pontiac has outgrown its present youth facilities. The organizations are handicapped. They can't provide adequate recreation for all teens. The teens not being reached by them are the ones who need it most and teens have a reason to complain.

EWALT AGREES

David R. Ewalt, director of the Pontiac parks and recreation department, agrees Pontiac lacks sufficient recreation. He stressed a definite need for a community building, swimming pool, artificial ice rink plus general park recreation improvements.

"I don't feel a teen center as such is needed. A community building, centrally located in a park, where citizens, young and old, could meet and enjoy their leisure time, is what we need," he explained.

He thought the multiple purpose room to be used in the school this fall will temporarily help the teens recreation problem.

"When the people are willing to get behind such improvements, Pontiac will have them. We can only think, plan and tell our bosses—the city commissioners," Ewalt said.

His department sponsored approximately 15 to 20 free teen dances per week the past school year.

"We discontinued dances in the summer because we found as soon as spring comes teens want to be outside. This spring, we held one experimental dance at Emerson school after other school dances had closed for the season. The turnout was very poor. We'll try another section of town next year," he said.

OUTDOORS BAD

Suggested outdoor dancing was shunned by Ewalt. He claims previous experience has proved, if a dance is not blocked off by gates, it becomes unmanagable.

Summer dances, unless outside, should be held in air conditioned buildings which are not available now, he said.

The two swimming pools in Pontiac, in the YMCA and Pontiac High School, are not available for public use in the summer. The Y is tied up on a rigid schedule. The high school pool can't be used due to construction of the pool—the school has to be heated to operate the pool, Ewalt believed.

The department supervises nine city parks which offer numerous sports equipment and activities including lighted tennis, shuffleboard and horseshoe courts and archery instructions.

Teens can participate in city baseball, basketball and hockey tournaments plus fencing, volley ball and square dancing.

During the school year, evening community centers are conducted at 11 schools. Crafts, ping pong, dancing, gymnastics and tumbling are available.

Teenage interest in the city's summer recreation program is "picking up" but the facilities are not being used to the maximum," Ewalt added.

Methodist Minister Dies at 86

Rev. Collycott Succumbs

REV. WILLIAM COLLYCOTT

ROCHESTER — After 42 years a minister in the Rochester area, the Rev. William H. Collycott, 86, of 620 W. Fifth St., died suddenly yesterday morning at his home.

A native of Beralston, England, he came to the United States at the age of 19. Rev. Collycott's first parish assignment took him to Iron River and his second to Osceola, both in the state's Upper Peninsula.

Coming to St. Paul's Methodist Church here in 1915, he served until the time of his retirement in 1942, but continued to perform special services. He recently stated that he had married more than 1,600 couples, baptized about 1,800 persons and preached more than 4,600 sermons.

For seven years after his retirement here he supplied the Goodison Methodist Church, as pastor. A life member of F & A. M. Lodge No. 5, Rev. Collycott served as chaplain of that organization for the past 30 years.

Survived by his wife Kathleen and two neices. His body will be at the Pixley Funeral Home until Wednesday noon. Rev. Collycott will lie in state from noon to 2 p.m. at St. Paul's Methodist Church where service will be conducted by the Rev. J. Douglas Parker assisted by Bishop Reid and Dr. Arthur Smith. Pallbearers will be selected from ministers in the Methodist Conference. Burial will be in Mt. Avon Cemetery.

Sells Goat Milk Quart, 45 Cents

Urges Small Farmers to Investigate Details of Raising Goats

Want to market your milk for 45 cents a quart—and be your own milkman?

The Crooked Creek Goat Farm in Kent County does it. Just ask Francis W. Smith. "Goats are pets that pay their own way," he says.

Smith, who operates the 30-acre farm, sells goat milk at 45 cents a quart right from his front door. The Smiths specialize in breeding French alpine goats.

And they have it pretty good. The 12 doe herd has neat quarters in a wing of the Smiths' ranch-style home while a spotpen for growing doelings conless milk and feed room with a hects the stable to a breezeway attached to the couple's main living quarters.

Mrs. Smith says she's in a quandary as to the failure of families living on small or part time farms to investigate the opportunities for raising goats to furnish milk for household drinking and cooking purposes.

"I'm sure a family with children could save quite a bit by keeping a goat or two for the milk," she says. "Most any child can care for their needs and a goat doesn't need much space."

The eight pounds daily milk output of one of the Smith's 125-pound goats compares favorably with the dairy production of a good cow weighing 10 times as much and eating more in the same ratio.

To the Smiths, goats are just a hobby, though. "We make a small profit, but of course, our costs are pretty high compared to what a commercial operator's would be," said Smith, who works as a foreman at the Corduroy Rubber Co. plant in Grand Rapids.

And goat's milk is naturally homogenized, too.

Headaches for Farmers

To Speed Up Food Crops

WASHINGTON (INS)—An Agriculture Department packaging expert says the revolution in handling fresh produce will help speed food crops to consumers but may have some headaches for farmers.

Donald R. Stokes, who heads the department unit specializing in finding new ways to handle fruits and vegetables, believes that the time when most fresh products are packed near the farm into consumer-sized packages is already in sight.

The major exceptions will be products that are already packaged by nature, like melons and squash.

For the housewife, modern packaging will bring fresher, higher-quality produce. For the farmer, it will bring more standardization and sometimes more risk.

One program now underway involves test shipments of tree-ripened peaches in small cardboard cartons instead of traditional bushel baskets.

The tree - ripe peaches are snapped up by housewives even at premium prices, but farmers are finding new problems in hiring labor to pick the fruit exactly at the right moment, instead of picking it green. Stokes expects that it will be another 10 years before the peach cartons have made large inroads in the peach market.

Modern packaging is also apt to bring increased use of brand-names by big produce shippers, putting the small truck farmers at a disadvantage.

In many cases, they may be able to meet this threat with cooperative marketing.

The next items apt to appear largely in pre - packaged form, Stokes believes, are grapes and cauliflower. Another likely development is the pre-packaged salad selection or vegetable mix, already being packed by retail stores in many areas.

Lettuce still eludes the pre-packagers. There seems to be no way to keep the outside leaves from silting inside the package.

Another factor holding up development of pre-packaging is the tendency of the film covering to collect moisture from the produce and present a foggy appearance on grocery counters.

Ellender Urges 2-Price System on Rice Sales

WASHINGTON (INS) — Senate Agriculture Committee Chairman Allen J. Ellender (D-La), has again urged the Agriculture Department to set up a two-price system for rice.

Ellender believes that such a system on rice would give valuable information about how a two-price plan would work for cotton and other crops.

He said under Secretary of Agriculture True D. Morse promised a departmental decision on the matter later this fall to apply to 1958 crops.

Water Wonder: Second 'Gator Caught in County

The "wonder" in Michigan's Water Wonderland was accentuated once again this weekend as Oakland County waters yielded their second alligator in about a month.

Reports of another scaly creature in the north end of Susan Lake, Springfield Township, caused sheriff's deputy Charles Rahn to organize his own secret safari, last Thursday.

Armed with a .22 calibre rifle he rowed out into the lake. Before long he spotted the gator's snout breaking water and from 40 feet took careful aim, shooting at one eye, the gator sank upon being hit.

Rahn returned to the spot Sunday and found his catch floating there, shot through the head. State troopers reported it reached a length of 4 feet 2 inches and weighed about 16 pounds. Serpentariums in the area denied losing any 'gators in recent months.

Brothers Admit Pact to Kill Dad

Youngest of Trio Says He Fired Fatal Shot at Minnesota Farmer

CROSBY, Minn. (AP) — Three young brothers confessed forming a pact to slay their father and the youngest of the boys admitted it was he who fired the fatal rifle shot, Sheriff Roy Wickland said.

Held without charge in the county jail at Brainerd were Ira Aamodt, 10, and his brothers William, 13, and Richard, 15.

Wickland said the boys signed statements saying they entered into the pact because their father Ole Aamodt, 55, had beaten and kicked them. Aamodt's bullet-pierced body was found in heavy timber near his northern Minnesota farm July 27.

Wickland said the boys planned their father's death after he kicked them and beat them with his fists last spring at corn-planting time. The youngsters said they took a .22 high-power rifle from their home the morning of July 26 stacking hay.

When the older boys prepared to return to the house, the statements said, they left Ira with instructions to shoot their father if he came to the field. They said Aamodt had abused them the day before because they had not finished the stacking job.

Ira, a slightly built child, walked to the top of a hill and shot his father in the back from about 100 feet, Wickland said.

The next day Mrs. Aamodt told neighbors her husband was missing and authorities were notified. Richard and Ira then reported they had discovered the body and led officers to it.

Questioning of the boys began, the sheriff said, after ballistics checks showed the rifle found in the family home was the one from which the fatal bullet was fired.

Mrs. Aamodt, 36, also held at Brainerd, was to be questioned further today by County Atty. Carl Erickson. No charges have been filed.

Laguna Beach Shows Gains for Art and Itself

By BOB THOMAS

LAGUNA BEACH, Calif. (AP) — The citizens of this jewel-like seaside town have shown the world what a community can do for art—and itself.

For 30 nights, tourists and townspeople sit under a starlit sky, silent except for an occasional high-flying jet heading out to sea, to watch living masterpieces. The curtains of the stage at Irvine Bowl part and you see three great paintings of the Huntington Library—Blue Boy, Tragic Muse and Pinkie.

Only the slightest wavering of one of the characters in the frames proves to you that the paintings live.

Later you see Actaeon and Diana, two nude dancers in graceful poses . . . The Manassa Mauler standing over his victim in Dempsey-Firpo by Bellows . . . Discobolus, the symbol for the Olympic Games . . . . A ballet scene by Degas and a magazine cover by Norman Rockwell.

Above the stage is a great basrelief of 20 great men portrayed on the Albert Memorial in London. Silhouetted against the sky, Marines from a nearby base re-enact Joe Rosenthal's classic photo of the flag-raising on Iwo Jima. The finale is a re-creation of Da Vinci's The Last Supper.

With a musical score and a sprightly narration, the show makes great entertainment. It's all due to the cooperative enterprise of the community.

For 30 nights, salesgirls, bankers, artists, lawyers, house-wives, school kids and lifeguards donate their services to add to the glory of Laguna Beach. Over a million people have seen the Pageant of the Masters since its start in 1934.

With its rocky coves and rugged hills, Laguna Beach was a natural magnet for artists. They started coming in the early part of the century. In 1918, the first gallery of the Laguna Beach Art Assn. was opened.

The Festival of Arts began 25 years ago with a summer showing of local art. In 1934, the first Pageant of the Masters was given, featuring living pictures. Now the whole town pitches in for the annual event.

Last year the Festival, which also features art exhibits by local creators, brought in over $100,000. Half is used for civic improvements, half goes to next year's expenses. So everyone profits, including art.

Airman Acquitted of Murder Charge

KISARAZU, Japan (AP)—A Japanese District Court today acquitted Airman 1.C. Benjamin B. Owyang of Sacramento, Calif., of a murder charge resulting from the death of a Japanese man in a scuffle.

Judge Seisaburo Furukawa ruled that the prosecution's evidence was inadequate.

Testimony during the trial brought out that last Jan. 9 Owyang was riding a bicycle through Kizarazu and became involved in an argument with three young Japanese men.

In the ensuing scuffle one of the Japanese was stabbed with a souvenir letter opener and died. Owyang denied ever having seen the weapon.

Senators Win Home Run Barrage, 8-4

Lary Is Victim as Washington Sweeps Series

Lowly Senators Pull Tigers Down to Size With 4 Roundtrippers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Detroit Tigers and Pitcher Frank Lary never had it so bad.

Detroit's 8-4 loss to lowly Washington yesterday was the third straight to the Senators (who are second from the bottom in the American League standings and 32 games behind league leading New York) and its seventh of a 13-game eastern road trip which closed at Washington.

Lary, the biggest winner in the league last year with 21 victories, lost his eighth straight game and his 15th of the season. He has failed 11 times this season in an effort to notch his fifth decision.

Yesterday's battle subjected Griffith Stadium to its biggest home run bombardment in history as Washington scored four roundtrippers and Detroit three.

Sievers had hoped to set a new league record for homers in consecutive games. He tied the mark of six Saturday which was shared by Ken Williams of the 1922 St. Louis Browns and the late Lou Gehrig of the 1931 New York Yankees, but had to settle for one single yesterday in five times at bat.

Lary managed to hold the Senators scoreless the first two innings, but Pete Ramos came up in the bottom of the third and belted a three-run homer. Milt Bolling added a solo homer later in the inning to put Washington ahead 4-0. Lou Sleater replaced Lary at this point.

Detroit picked up one run in the fourth when Ray Boone doubled and scored when Al Kaline grounded out. Washington shelled Sleater for three more runs in its half of the inning to go ahead 7-1.

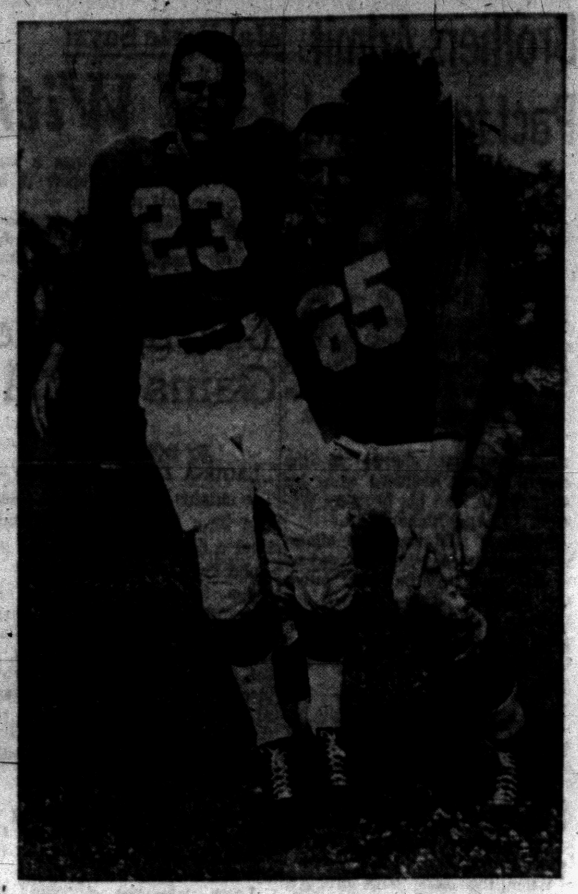

Bill Tuttle blasted a homer into the left field stands for his fifth of the season with no one on base to make it 7-2. Boone and Kaline both hit homers with nobody on base in the sixth to pull Detroit within three runs of Washington, but that was the end of Detroit's scoring.

No Cuts Planned Before Browns' Game

Lion Rookies Bid for Jobs

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Rookies at the Detroit Lions' training camp at Cranbrook will go into the make-or-break stage of their pro football careers in the next 10 days.

Unless some of them leave of their own accord, the Lions won't be planning any cuts until after the first pre-season game against the Cleveland Browns in Briggs Stadium, Wednesday August 14th.

The squad is now down to 49 players and several rookies are making strong bids for regular berths on the squad.

"This is a real good rookie crop," said coach Buddy Parker," and we want to be sure we get a good look at all of them."

The Lions will be depending heavily on some of the newcomers, but if this fails, Parker is prepared to make some switches of positions among the veterans.

With Ollie Spencer now at Green Bay, the search is on for an offensive tackle. The Lions had high hopes on Bill Glass, the Baylor All-America who was the number one draft choice, but he is playing his football in Canada.

John Gordy of Tennessee is with the All-Stars and he will be in camp on Saturday. Tackles Ken Russell of Bowling Green, Mike Shill of Furman, Dave Liddick of George Washington and Charles O'Brien, a 285-pounder from Valparaiso are among those battling for the line position.

With a change in the offensive system in which Parker has done away with the slotback position, the search is on also for another end.

Dave Middleton, who will not report until September because he is attending medical school, Dorne Dibble and Jim Doran are the veterans at the terminals.

But with long throwing Tobin Rote on the squad, Parker is hoping to find a speedster who can get down field in a hurry.

Steve Junker, 6-3 end from Xavier, is with the All-Stars in Chicago and presently Tom Rychlec 6-4, 220 pounder from American International, and Bob Gunderman, 6-3, 220-pounder from Virginia are leading prospects.

If none of the rookies are able to make the grade, fullback Lew Carpenter who returns from the service next month may be used as an end.

The Lions' defensive backfield made up of all-league choices, Jack Christiansen, Yale Lary and Jimmy David, should be one of the stronger points. Added strength comes from Ed Joe Walker, rookie Doug Peters of UCLA and another prospect Terry Barr who will also play in Friday's All-Star game.

Tickets for the Aug. 14th clash can be obtained by calling the Lions' offices on Michigan Avenue.

DOUBLE WINNERS — This trio of swim stars shattered one record, tied another and broke three meet records as each scored double wins in the National Men's AAU Swimming and Diving championships in Philadelphia. George Breen (left), Frank McKinney (center) and Dick Hanley of the University of Michigan, were outstanding stars.

U. of M. Swimmer Wins Two Titles in AAU Meet

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — University of Michigan's Dick Hanley was a double winner over the weekend in the national Men's AAU swimming and diving championships.

Hanley, swimming for the Detroit Athletic Club, won the 200-meter freestyle title Saturday with a time of 2:08.4 and picked up the 100-meter freestyle crown Sunday in 51.3.

Hanley, a junior, came from behind in the final 25 meters to beat out Bill Cass of the Indianapolis A. C. by 2-10ths of a second for the 100-meter title. The victory enabled him to retain the title he won last year at Cuyaho Falls, Ohio.

The Michigan swimmer, fifth in the 100-meter freestyle in last year's Olympic games, withstood a late challenge Saturday night by Hawaii's George Oneka Jr., to take the 200-meter.

Cyrus Hopkins of Ann Arbor, Mich., finished fifth yesterday in the 100-meter breaststroke and third Saturday in the 200-meter breaststroke. Joseph Gerlach, also of Ann Arbor, placed fourth Sunday in platform diving.

Detroit A. C. finished ninth in the final team standings with 14 points and Detroit Parks and Recreation finished in a two-way last place tie with one point.

The outstanding newcomers were Gary Heinrich, 17-year-old medley swimmer from the Bay-O-Vista S.C. of Hayward, Calif., and Ron Smith, Houston, Tex., diver.

Heinrich surprised by wresting the 400 meter individual medley title from Bill Yorzyk, Springfield (Mass) College teacher, in American and meet record time of 5:15.6, two-tenths of a second off the world record.

Smith, a Southern Methodist university student who never before won a major crown, took the 3-meter springboard diving over favored Gary Tobian of Los Angeles.

Champions who repeated were George Breen, Buffalo A.C., in the 1,500 and 400 meter freestyle events, Bob Hughes, Manhattan Beach, Calif., 100 meter breast stroke; Frank McKinney, Indianapolis A.C., 200 meter backstroke; Al Wiggins, Cincinnati C.C., 100 meter butterfly; Tobian, platform diving; Yorzyk in the 200 meter butterfly, and the 800 meter New Heven S.C. relay team.

Fangio Winner of Grand Prix

ADENAU, Germany (AP) — Victory in the Grand Prix of Germany has clinched for Argentina's Juan Manuel Fangio his fifth and probably last world driving championship.

There were strong indications today that Fangio, 46, would retire from championship driving after this year. The champion himself said "ask me in December," when newsmen queried him about reports he would quit. Fellow drivers said flatly this would probably be Fangio's last year.

Nine of his 34 points resulted from yesterday's race, eight for Fangio's victory in his three-liter, Italian-made Maserati and one bonus point for setting a lap record of 92 m.p.h.

His time for the 318-mile course was three hours, 30.38.3 minutes, an average of 90 m.p.h.

Slaughter Shows 'Em How

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Enos Slaughter, 41, the hustling "Country Boy" who is the oldest active player in the American League, is showing the younger New York Yankees how the game is played.

Five hits in Sunday's double victory over Cleveland boosted Slaughter's lifetime total to 2,301 in a career dating back to 1938 when he broke into the majors with the St. Louis Cardinals.

Slaughter's single tied the score and his three-run homer off Johnny Gray sewed up the 5-2 first game. After Jerry Lumpe's scratch pinch single had tied the score in the ninth inning of the second game, Enos came through with a looping single to center, that gave the Yanks their eighth straight 6-5.

The sweep stretched the Yankee lead to 6½ games over Chicago which battered Boston pitching for 19 hits and an 11-6 decision in a single game. Cleveland dropped into a fifth-place tie with Baltimore 19 games off the pace. The Orioles handed Kansas City its seventh straight defeat 5-0 on Billy Loes' five-hitter and Washington thumped Detroit 8-4 as the two clubs set a Griffith Stadium record with seven home runs.

While Slaughter was strutting his stuff at Yankee Stadium, his old St. Louis mates saw their National League lead reduced to a half game. After bowing to the brilliant relief pitching of the Phillies' Harvey Haddix in the 12-inning opener 5-4, the Cards won the second game 4-1 on Lindy McDaniel's steady nine-hitter.

Milwaukee moved within a half game of St. Louis by holding off a late Brooklyn spurt for a 9-7 victory with the help of homers by Eddie Mathews, Del Rice, Johnny Logan and Henry Aaron.

Cincinnati split a pair with New York, losing the first in 14 innings 7-6 when Willie Mays hit two homers and a triple. The Redlegs pulled out the second game 3-2 on a six-hitter by rookie Vicente Amor. Chicago climbed out of the cellar by beating Pittsburgh twice 6-0 behind Moe Drabowsky and 3-2 on Jack Littrell's pinch double in the 11th, spoiling Danny Murtaugh's debut as Pirate manager.

Slaughter drove in four runs off Gray while Whitey Ford rolled to his seventh win on a six-hitter. After Tommy Byrne blew a 4-1 lead in the second game, it was Slaughter's hit that finally hung a 10th defeat on relief man Bob Lemon.

Although Mickey Mantle had five hits in the doubleheader, sending his average to .368, he still was far behind Boston's Ted Williams who moved up to .389 with three singles in four trips against Dick Donovan of Chicago.

Donovan went all the way for the fourth straight time to win his 12th despite 14 Boston hits.

Loes' shutout was his fifth victory over Kansas City among his 11 wins. He struck out eight and didn't walk a man.

St. Joe Skippers Get Top Honors

CHICAGO (AP)—Two St. Joseph, Mich., skippers won top honors yesterday in the Midwest Lightning regatta at the Burnham Park Yacht Club.

In all, 29 boats competed and were hampered by strong winds.

Will Campbell, whose boat named No. 662 won all three races in the two-day event, finished first and Joe Stueland was second. Both are from St. Joseph.

Laughs at "Mad" Reference

Rademacher Snubs Critics

COLUMBUS, Ga. (INS) — Pete Rademacher just smiles gently when critics call him "mad" for agreeing to fight heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson.

The 28-year-old Olympic champion is giving up his amateur status to meet the man who butchered Tommy (Hurrican) Jackson only a week ago.

His decision to meet Patterson for the title Aug. 22 in Seattle has been called "insane," but Rademacher takes the criticism in good grace. Why?

"Because I expected it for one thing," Rademacher explains, "and also because a lot of people just have the wrong impression."

Rademacher, who left Columbus last night for Washington, believes many people, even some in the know, are misled by the word "amateur."

The amateur king quickly admits that, generally, amateurs aren't as good as professional boxers.

"Most pros, excluding Hurricane Jackson, are better schooled," he observed. "They're usually more mature, train more extensively and engage in keener competition.

"However, this doesn't mean all amateurs can't hold their own," he said, adding, "I've been just as well prepared for this fight as any professional."

Rademacher had 79 amateur fights, won 72 of them—35 knockouts— and of the seven he lost, five were reversed in subsequent matches.

The six-foot-one, 210 pounder has been called the hardest hitting amateur in the heavyweight division and he considers himself "very fast" for a man his size.

The big question asked of Rademacher is, "If you're ready for the top now, how come you never turned pro before?"

"I'd been thinking of it in '53," he explained, "but I don't know, just one thing after another came up, and I never got around to it."

Water Skier Killed

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—Former collegiate boxing champion Gil McLane, 21, was killed yesterday in a water-skiing accident near here. A native of Eunice, La., McLane won the 147-pound NCAA championship in 1956 while boxing for Louisiana State University.

Jewelers Back Into Top Spot

Giants' Default as Griffs Take Two in Weekend Action

It was an easy way Shaw Jewelers took to regain Class A City Baseball League top spot, Sunday. When Michigan Giants, who lost to Griff's Grill on Saturday, failed to field a team at Wisner field, Shaw's were credited with a 7-0 win. It was supposed to have been Shaw's last regular season game.

Griffs dumped the Giants on 12-1 count Saturday, icing the victory in the first frame when Dave Zittle and Jim Berg tallied. Giants' only counter came in the 2nd when Bill Maguire scored on a pair of errors.

CIO grabbed an early three-run lead Sunday, but couldn't make it stand up against a pair of runs in each of the last two frames by Griffs who won 5-4. Tying run in the bottom of the 7th was fallied by Jim Jones on a walk, stolen base, and a sacrifice. Then Bill Graham came through with the winner on a sacrifice, single and an error.

Watkins Lakers Get Double Dose of Sunday Racing

Racing both morning and afternoon, Watkins Lake Yachting association enjoyed a double dose of sailing Sunday, with Chuck Morris and Frank Fleck grabbing both ends of the snipe event. Alternating as skippers the pair sailed Byaes home ahead of the field. Morning ace was a "makeup" of postponed events of a week ago.

The Bredes (Bruce, Fred Jr., and Fred Sr.) sailed the Busy-Bees to a morning win in the lightning class, were third in the afternoon, with Fred Jr. and Rev. Lauder aboard. Don Zanoth's Seaweed won the morning Thistle race, with a new boat sailed by Norm Ledwin, second.

Joe-Dee, skippered by Glen Fries crewed by his wife Jo, took the afternoon lightning test, was third in the morning.

Doyle Wins Feature

Share Speedway Honors

With the absence of Joy Fair, all the honors were shared in the Pontiac Speedway races Sunday night.

Joe Doyle won the 30-lap feature in 8:56.63 and Don Graham captured the 15-lap semi-finals in a time of 4:55.40.

Chuck Partello took the honors in the time trials in '16.59 and John Wallace was the winner of the Australian Pursuit in 2:57.90.

Williams Needs 'Legs' to Help Him Hit .400

BOSTON (AP)—Boston's Ted Williams, enjoying one of his greatest seasons with the Red Sox while approaching his 39th birthday, doesn't think he can hit .400—but don't bet against it.

The last of the "400" hitters, feeling good and acting at times with the enthusiasm of a rookie, is on a tremendous batting spree that has boosted his average 46 points to .389 since the All Star game.

Despite that surge, Williams thinks that his aging legs will prevent him from reaching the coveted .400 mark—which he surpassed with a .406 mark in 1941.

"If I had the speed I would have a chance to do it," Ted said. "You have to have the legs to beat out a few hits during the season."

Williams said a player needs three things to hit .400: (1) He has to have a good year. (2) He has to get the breaks. (3) He has to have the legs.

Williams said he thought he could hit .400 the second time in 1948—between his hitches as a Marine flyer in World War II and the Korean conflict.

"It was about this time of the season," he said, "I was hitting about .380 and felt real good. Then one little thing went wrong, then another and then another and I finished with .369."

Since the break for the All Star game July 9, Williams has collected 38 hits, including 10 homers, one triple and seven doubles, in 72 times at bat—a .528 clip.

Ted, who will be 39 Aug. 30, credits a couple of days in bed for the lift he needed to pull far ahead of New York's Mickey Mantle in the American League batting race.

During his hitting rampage, Williams collected 24 walks to boost his total to 84. Of that number, 25 have been intentional—eight more than his American League mark for a season set in 1955 and one less than the major league record by Brooklyn's Duke Snider.

Pancho Wins $2,500 by Beating Sedgman

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Richard "Pancho" Gonzales was $2,500 richer today after giving Frank Sedgman and some 3,200 Tennis Club fans a convincing reminder that he is the best player in the business.

Big Pancho was masterful in winning Jack Kramer's round robin pro tennis tournament yesterday over Sedgman 6-1, 3-6, 6-1.

Gonzales picked up the winner's share of $2,500. Sedgman finished in a second place tie with Ken Rosewall and Pancho Segura. Each collected $1,083.33.

Lane Step Closer for Shot at Title

MUSKEGON (AP)—Fighter Kenny Lane of Muskegon was a step closer today to his goal — the lightweight championship of the world.

The No. 1 contender for champ Joe Brown's crown easily outclassed veteran Teddy (Red Top) Davis of Hartford, Conn., here Saturday night. Lane, weighing 135 won every round, scoring heavily over Davis, a former ranking featherweight. Davis was two pounds heavier. It was the Muskegon mauler's 15th victory in a row and his 50th in 55 professional fights.

Ten Birdies in Row

NEW KENSINGTON, Pa. (AP)—John B. Hafera went out to Hill Crest Country Club yesterday and shot 10 birdies in a row. He did it the hard way too — one-putting each green. He ended up with a six-under-par card of 33-32—65, one stroke above the course record.

Detroit Skeet Shooter Fires Perfect Score

RENO, Nev. (AP)—A Detroit man and two other shooters fired perfect scores yesterday in preliminary activity to the National Skeet Tournament.

Howard Confer of Detroit and Marine Capt. George A. Young from Parris Island, S. C., both shot 100x100 scores in the double A class. S. H. Gripp of Houston Tex., did the same in the B class.

Tigers Sign 3 Pitchers

DETROIT (AP) — Three pitchers were signed to 1958 minor league contracts by the Detroit Tigers yesterday.

Signed were righthander Carl Smid of Cleveland and lefthanders Gary Kimmel of Montpelier, Ohio, and Don Kuodis of Chicago.

deVicenzo Holds Lead at Tam

CHICAGO (AP) — South American Robert de Vincenzo is a realist. He holds a four-stroke lead over the field entering today's final round of the $25,000 all American golf tournament but thinks he can lose.

The husky pro, who now registers out of Mexico City, seems to be haunted by his blowup in the recent National Open when he was third entering the final round then fired a 33 and soared to 43 for a 76 to be grouped with the also-rans.

Roberto, who can become the first foreign winner at Tam O'Shanter since South African Bobby Locke's victories in 1947 and 1948 shot a close-to-the-vest 70 in yesterday's rain delayed third round for a 54-hole tally of 203. This represented 13 strokes under par.

In second place, coming up with a rush, was 45-year-old Sam Snead who booked on a sizzling 66 for 207. Paul Harney, among the non-exempt pros who had to qualify for the All American prelude of this week's grandaddy money tourney of them all—the $101,200 "world championship"—carried most of the hopes of the younger set with 72 for 208.

Harvey, 28, is from Worcester, Mass., and is a solid choice among the oldtimers to make a mark for himself in the "world" meet which carries a first prize of $500,000 and an equal amount for an exhibition contract.

Two other comparative youngsters, Bill Casper, 26, and Dow Finsterwald, 27, were in at 210 entering the final round. Grouped with them was veteran Jimmy Demaret.

Three Michigan men were in the race for money at the end of the third round.

Jack Fleck of Rochester was in a five-way tie for 8th place at 212 after 54 holes. Walter Burkemo of Franklin and Tom Talkington of Ypsilanti were tied in 10th with six others at 214.

Jackie Pung captured outright possession of the women's pro lead with a 79 for a 226 tally. Fay Crocker and Patty Berg were second with 227.

Crooner Don Cherry carded a 73 to share the 54-hole lead in the men's amateur bracket.

18-Year-Old Is Publinx Champ

HERSHEY, Pa. (INS)—The 32d annual National Public Links golf championship boiled down to a simple case of L. S. U. vs. S. M. U. and Louisiana's Don Essig was the winner.

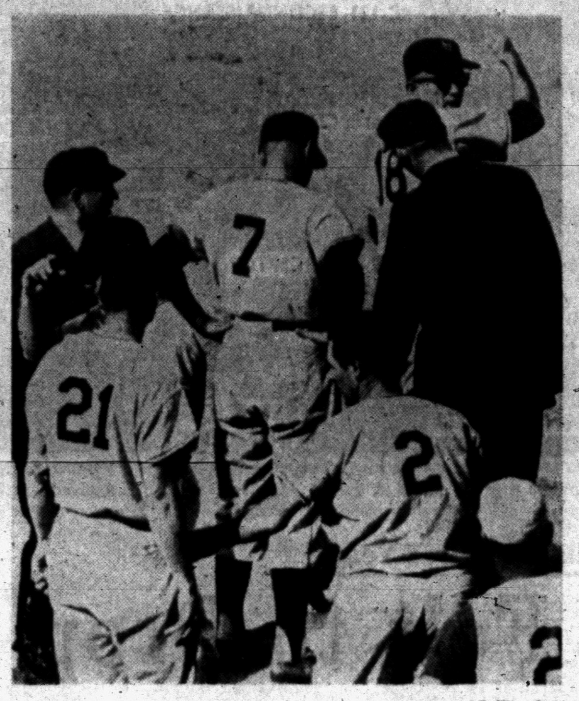

Essig, an 18-year-old student from Indianapolis who is a sophmore at Louisiana State University, defeated 23-year-old Gene Towry, 6 and 5, in the 36-hole final Saturday at the Hershey Park Golf Club.

Towry, from Dallas, is a senior at Southern Methodist University, and a former professional.

Essig was in complete control after taking the lead on the second hole with a sensational birdie. Essig was four up after the first 18 holes.

Playoff Favorites Win

Four close, exciting softball contests marked the beginning of City League playoffs yesterday, with the favorites coming through as expected.

Winners of the six game session at Beaudette and North Side park included Stadium Inn which took a thriller from Birmingham in Class A, 2-1; Elks, with a 1-0 shutout over Bicmar also in Class A; Richard's Tavern final inning win, 5-4, over CIO No. 653, and Louie's Tavern slaughter of Eddie's Bar, 16-8 in Class B; Police 6-1 win over Franklin Products and Deni' 4-3 squeaker over Pontiac State Hospital 4-3 in Class C (Internationals). All competition is double elimination and the losers get another chance tonight.

A great deal of interest surrounded the Police-Franklin contest in which the "coppers" continued their domination of the Products club.

Stadium got its winner on a 3rd inning tally by Wilson, on a sacrifice passed ball and error, after scoring one in the opener. Birmingham got its only tally in the 5th. Stadium's Sheldon fanned seven, gave up seven hits to only three off Reynolds for the losers.

A 5th inning run on an error and a single, sent Don Hill home for Elks' 1-0 victory. Hill also did a fine pitching job, giving up only three blows, while fanning eight. Bicmar got few runners on, its last chance in the 7th fizzling when Jack Ganzel was stranded after getting on at the start.

Richards' win was a two-run bottom of the 7th rally to wipe out a 4-3 lead for CIO, Volk and Harper scoring. Errors helped Deni's win over Hospital by a 4th inning single that wiped out a 3-all tie.

Tonight's schedule—Stadium vs. Elks (Class A) Beaudette 6 p.m.—Richards vs. Louies' (Class B) Beaudette, 9:30 p.m.; Deni's vs. Police (Class C) Beaudette, 6:30 p.m.

Class C—State Hospital vs. Franklin tonight (Northside 6:30) CIO vs. Eddie's (Northside 9:30) Class B; Birmingham vs. Bicmar (Class A) (Northside 8 p.m.)

Chicago Boy First in 3 Yacht Races

BAY CITY (AP)—A 16-year-old Chicago boy was first in all three heats this weekend to win the International 110 District 3 yacht race on Saginaw Bay.

Dayton Carr, skipper of the Triki, clinched the title yesterday when he placed first in the third and final heat after scoring firsts in the first and second heats earlier in the weekend.

Bob Maier of Bay City placed second and John Keagle of Battle Creek was third.

Tourists Told to Shun Bears in State Areas

LANSING — Summer can be a time of trouble with bears in northern Michigan and travelers are advised to keep their distance from all bears in the wild.

Tourists trying to feed similwild bears at northern garbage dumps often brush with trouble when they get too close.

Bears are not trustworthy and have prodigious strength, a combination that can easily lead to tragedy.

Recently, two men from Ironwood went fishing in the nearby Carp River and hung their packsacks in a tree.

When they returned, a bear or bears had stolen one sack and the other was torn open and the contents scattered.

John Kobs in baseball, Fendley Collins in wrestling and Ben Van Alstyne in golf have a combined service record of 35 years as coaches at Michigan State.

Out-Stater Wins Top O' Michigan

TOPINABEE (AP) — An out-of-state invader has carried off the class D title of the ninth annual Top O' Michigan marathon outboard motorboat race.

Eddie Toms of Fort Wayne, Ind., zipped around the 87-mile course in 1 hour, 55 minutes and 8 seconds yesterday to capture the crown.

Latozas Top Medal Qualifier

Walt Latozas, veteran linksman of the Pontiac area led a strong field of qualifiers for the annual City Medal Play tourney with a sparkling 37-32—69 round Saturday. Twenty-one qualified for the event, which takes place next weekend with 18-hole rounds Saturday and Sunday.

Latozas' round was even par—although his back nine 32 was three under, the day's best single round.

Rube Wideman, who finished in a 3rd place tie at 71 with two others, had a big chance with his 33 first round. But a bogey on No. 7 followed by a final hole seven killed it. An out-of-bounds penalty didn't help on that hole.

Joe Burgdorf and Bill Pembroke divided runnersup spot with 70s. Others in the 71 bracket with Wideman were Dick DeWitt and Hud Powers.

VICTORIA, B. C. (AP) — Four swimmers out of 17 starters stroked wearily toward the American shore today, nearly 12 hours after they took off from Victoria in quest of $10,000 in prize money offered for the chilly 18½-mile crossing.

Myra Thompson of San Francisco was in front, with Amy Hiland of Long Beach, Calif., about 600 yards back and Ben Laughren and Miss Billy Benedict of Victoria another mile to the rear.

The leaders still had about 7 miles to go and swim officials were doubtful they could make it. In the past, only five swimmers have been able to stay in the water more than 11 hours.

Tito Pictured as Link to West

Key Man for Soviets With Non-Communist Socialist Parties

BELGRADE (AP) — Yugoslavia's President Tito was pictured here today as the spearhead of a new Soviet drive to forge closer links with the non-Communist Socialist parties of the West.

Experts on Yugoslav relations indicated this was a major result of Tito's surprise meeting in Romania last week with Soviet Communist party chief Nikita Khrushchev.

Moscow radio described the meeting as the firming up of an agreement on "concrete forms of cooperation" between the Communist parties of Russia and Yugoslavia.

Experts here believe Khrushchev went further and agreed to a "new relationship" among Socialist parties of the world—non-Communist as well as Communist.

They said Khrushchev showed willingness to permit "a greater degree of freedom" for some East European countries and stressed his recognition of the Yugoslav Communist party's full independence from Moscow dictation.

The Tito-Khrushchev meeting was their first since the Soviet boss won his power struggle with Georgi Malenkov, V. M. Molotov and other Soviet leaders. One of the counts against the Malenkov-Molotov group was that they opposed the reconciliation with Tito.

Observers here saw the new Khrushchev-Tito accord as a move by the Soviet party chief to allay suspicions held by foreign Socialist parties of the Kremlin.

TORONTO — The total civilian labor force in Canada totaled 5,741,000 at the start of 1957, a 2.7 per cent increase over the beginning of 1956. Unemployment, at 186,000, was 7 per cent less than at the start of 1956.

Pilot Couldn't Forget in a Hundred Years

How It Felt to Drop First A-Bomb

A new weapon of awesome destructive power hurtled out of the bomb bay of a B29 onto Hiroshima a dozen years ago—it was Aug. 6 in Japan, Aug. 5 in the U.S. because of the time difference. The pilot of the plane was the then Capt. Robert A. Lewis, and in the following article he described the flight and his sensations.

By MAJ. ROBERT A. LEWIS U.S.A.F. (RET.)

Twelve years ago today, I played a part in the opening of a new era. I was the pilot of the "Enola Gay," the B29 that was selected to deliver the first atomic bomb on the headquarters of the Second Imperial Japanese army, in the city of Hiroshima.

At the time, I kept a small private log, a diary of my thoughts. On the way back to Tinian after dropping the bomb, I wrote, "If I live another hundred years I'll never get these few minutes out of my mind."

I've lived twelve of those hundred years, and I know I was right about what I wrote. I haven't been able to get those few minutes out of my mind. Because I'd looked down and I'd seen a city boiling and seething, being destroyed before my very eyes.

There are a few misconceptions about the Hiroshima bombing I'd like to clear up. One of them is that we didn't know what we were doing, we didn't know anything except that we were carrying a new kind of bomb. That isn't quite true. There were at least a dozen of us, in addition to the scientists and top brass, who certainly know.

We'd been trained — the whole 509th composite group—had been trained for this one mission. It is true that most of the time we didn't know what it was for, and until the news was let out, even most of the 509th composite group didn't know. We knew it was for some kind of special weapon; we used to call it "The Gimmick."

SHOWN FILMS

But three days before the Hiroshima mission, we of the crew who were to deliver the bomb, were shown films of the first atomic explosion, two weeks earlier at Alamagordo, N. M., and the atomic scientists there on Tinian Island (in the Marianas) explained to us what they thought would happen. They couldn't be sure, of course. Only one controlled atomic explosion had ever taken place; no atomic bomb had ever been dropped from a plane.

They told us they thought we'd have time to get away from the blast and we'd be safe from radiation afterwards.

Captain William S. Parsons, a Navy technician, had come along to "arm" the bomb in flight. It was an eerie feeling, after he'd completed his work, to know that the big, ugly object taking up the whole bomb bay, just a few feet from us, was now "live" and had, so to speak, a life and will of its own.

We all prayed in our own fashions, that it would behave according to the scientist's schedule.

It did. The bomb exploded exactly 43 seconds after we dropped it, and fifteen seconds later, we got the first shock wave. In that minute, we had turned and lost a couple of thousand feet, gladly trading altitude for speed, and were getting away as fast as we could.

But we had to turn and look, and I saw the sight I'll never quite forget.

I've often been asked how I feel about the use of the atomic bomb. The answer is simple, but in two parts: I believe that it shortened the war, and that way in the long run, probably saved many lives, American and Japanese. I also hope, fervently and devoutly, that it is never used again.

I don't mean by that last statement that I think we should stop working on atomic or hydrogen bombs. I feel we must keep on making and improving them until we reach an iron-clad, enforceable agreement with other nations so that it will be impossible for anyone to use this great force as a weapon.

Twelve years ago, we were at was and I was one small cog in the huge machinery of our armed forces—but I had something happen to me, I was chosen to be one of a small group that was in on the beginning of something. Something that can be terrible or wonderful for mankind.

Now, I work in an office, for the firm I worked for before the war. Like millions of other men, I look forward to going home (to New Jersey) in the evening and spending some time with my wife and four children.

In my spare time, what there is of it, I've been working on a book, a fictionalized version of what happened, or might have happened, at Hiroshima.

I haven't been able to get those few moments out of my mind. And I feel strongly that if some of the heads of states could have seen what we of the "Enola Gay" saw that day twelve years ago, they'd redouble their efforts to see that the power of the atom is used for mankind, not against it; if they'd seen what we saw, they wouldn't rest until they made sure of it.

Bob Stack Off the Pan, Happy at 'Our Love' Role

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Thank goodness Bob Stack is off suspension at 20th Century-Fox, and all smiles and happy again. With Anthony Franciosa out of "Our Love" (formerly "Sentimental Journey") Bob was given this highly desirable role, and accepted it with alacrity when Buddy Adler told him about it.

As originally planned, Lauren Bacall, who was with Bob in "Written on the Wind," one of his best pictures, is the femme star.

She reports in three weeks to director Jean Negulesco.

Said Bob when telling me about the role, "What makes me particularly happy is that I'm going to work with Charles Brackett. I made two comedies with him, and am glad this is a straight part. I was a hopeless drunk in both 'Written on the Wind' and 'Pylon' and didn't want to end up playing maniac."

Something that should make Louis B. Mayer happy these days is that Alan J. Lerner and Frederick Loewe, the two fine writers who gave us the "My Fair Lady" music, will write four additional songs for "Paint Your Wagon."

Lerner and Loewe arrive in town tomorrow morning and immediately report to Jack Cummings and William Ludwig, head of the new Jack Cummings Production Company, which, in conjunction with L. B., will produce "Paint Your Wagon."

I am told that John Lee Mahin's script is so much better than the stage play, they're not to be mentioned in the same breath.

Lerner and Loewe have been in Paris working with Arthur Freed on the cast and working on the music for "Gigi."

Jean Simmons is spending all her spare time on the set of "The Big Country" on location in Stockton, listening to a recording with a Texas accent. She's trying to turn that English accent into a southern twang qust as Vivien Leigh did in "Gone With the Wind." Jean also brought her own horse to the location spot for exercise.

She says that she and Stewart Granger leave before the first of the year for London where they will co-star in "The Night Comers" for Romulus Productions.

She hasn't been back to her native England for a long time, but I believe she now calls the U.S.A. her home. However, she and Stewart wanted to be together and this offered them the opportunity—also a chance to see their families.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: There's no truth that Anna Magnani married Gabrielle Tinti, Italian actor, in Nevada when she was on location. This was a hot rumor out of Italy.

Nancy Sinatra, who looks mighty well these days, was again escorted by Hugh (Wyatt Earp) O'Brian to the Cocoanut Grove to hear Nat "King" Cole.

The Girl Vivian Blaine's ex, Manny Frank, was buying dinner at Sportsman's Lodge, was Rosemary Ace, a dead-ringer for Vivian.

I'd like to be the first to wish C. B. deMille a happy birthday, even though he doesn't celebrate his 76th natal day until Aug. 12. What a wonderful thing to be as active as he is, do as much good work and as many good deeds. Same day he celebrates his 55th wedding anniversary to one of the loveliest ladies in Hollywood.

Accidents in Spain Claim Lives of 25

MADRID (AP)—Two accidents, a train crash and a truck wreck took 25 lives yesterday and injured at least 64 persons in Spain.

Four cars of a troop train were destroyed five miles south of Madrid when the train hit a locomotive. Seventeen soldiers returning from maneuvers were killed and at least 64 injured.

A truck carrying 20 women back to Pamplona from a nearby religious sanctuary overturned, killing eight. Most were nuns of the Good Shepherd order.

Weight Tells Tale of Child's Health

The best barometer of a child's health is the tale of the scales. A sudden drop in weight is often the first indication that something serious may be wrong.

Doctors recommend early weight-checks as a preventive step against the hazards of over-weight later in adult life.

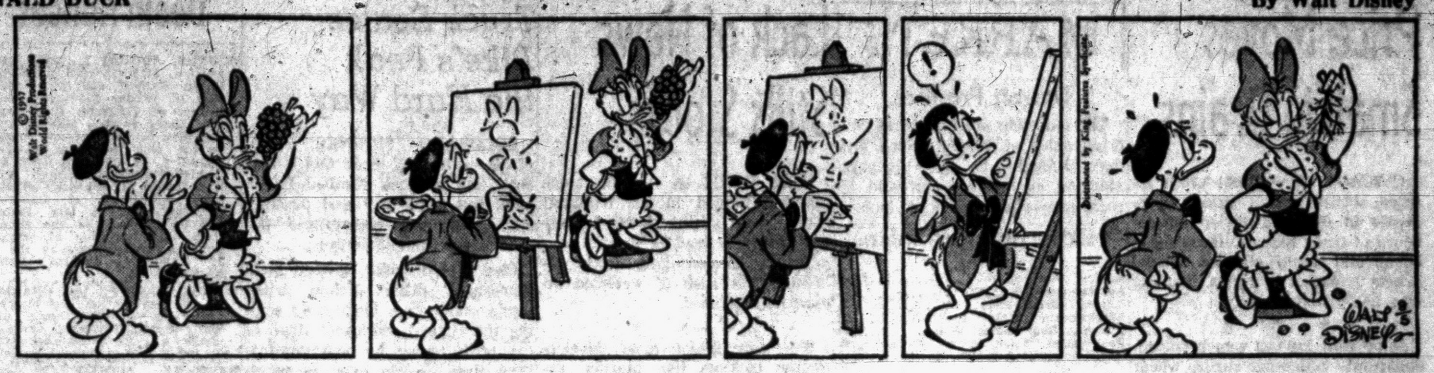

A junior scale, made especially for youngsters 2 to 10, is a colorful version of the precision family scale. It comes with an attractive wall development chart. This helps youngster keep track of growth in added inches pounds.

This year marks the 21st anniversary of the election of the first woman deputy to Turkey's Grand National Assembly in Ankara. She was Mrs. Sati Kadin, now retired. There have been as many as 21 women members at a time.

Price Moves Small in Grains

CHICAGO (AP) — Most grain futures showed small price movements in either direction on the board of trade today, although soybeans and wheat climbed around a cent a bushel at times. Trading was fairly active early.

Some mill buying was reported, apparently reflecting spring wheat flour sales, but the volume was not up to recent heavy business.

Strength in soybeans largely reflected higher prices for soybean meal at the start, brokers said.

Near the end of the first hour, new style wheat was ¼ to 1 cent higher, Sept. $2.17⅞; corn was ⅛ to ⅜ higher, Sept $1.31¼; oats were unchanged to ⅜ higher, Sept 65; ¾ rye was ½ to 1¼ higher, Sept $1.35¼; soybeans were ¾ to 1¾ higher, Sept $2.46¾; and lard was 5 to 15 cents a hundred pounds higher, Sept $13.30.

Submarine Fan on the Way Up; Had Its Downs!

GROTON, Conn. (AP)—A fan system developed for air conditioning and ventilation aboard atomic submarines is being applied to an airliner, General Dynamics Corp. announced today.

The slotted-blade vaneaxial fan first was installed in the Atomic submarine Skate, launched May 16 by General Dynamics' Electric Boat Division here.

Now General Dynamics' Convair division is providing the same unit to the Hamilton Standard Division of United Aircraft Corp. for the air conditioning system of the Convair 880, a four-engine jet transport under construction at Convair's San Diego, Calif., plant. Its first flight is scheduled for January 1959.

General Dynamics said the fan's advantages are in its low weight and size—7½ inches in diameter and 22 pounds, including a 10 horsepower motor.

Slotted blades provide quieter and more efficient operation, General Dynamics said.

Robber Works Hard for Profit of 8 Dollars

A robber who does things the hard way was reported to the Pontiac Police by Donald Johnson of Sylvan Lake.

Johnson said that he and his wife were entering their car at the rear of the Elks Temple in Pontiac at midnight Friday when a man grabbed him and wrestled him to the ground. During the struggle, the man tore Johnson's wallet out of his pants pocket and fled on foot.

The wallet contaned $8 and a variety of papers.

Blames Killings on Stolen Kiss

Hefty Young Handyman Stabs His Neighbor and Her 2 Children

BRENTWOOD, N. Y. (AP)—A hefty young handyman says a stolen kiss sparked the knife-slaying of his pretty next-door neighbor and her two children.

Eugene Michael Harty, 22, told police he stole a kiss from the woman while they sat on a couch in her living room. She slapped him and said: "You are nothing but a dope."

"I just blew my top," he said later.

Harty was charged with second-degree murder yesterday in the deaths of Mrs. Margaret Patricia Skiffington, 30, and her two youngsters, Maureen, 8, and Robert Jr., 5. The crime, detectives said, apparently was not premeditated.

Police said Harty admitted the killings and showed no remorse. They took him to Central Islip State Hospital for mental observation.

The victims lay undiscovered for 12 hours in their small ranch-style home in this Long Island community about 50 miles east of Manhattan.

Then on Saturday afternoon Harty's mother, Rose, 50, became puzzled by the strange silence around the house next door. She, her husband and son went over to investigate and found the bodies.

The elder Hartys told police later their son wasn't upset at the gruesome discovery.

The slayings followed a friendly get-together at a neighborhood tavern Friday night. Harty, his parents and Mrs. Skiffington made up the party. The slain woman's husband, Robert, 39, was spending the night in Brooklyn where he works as a cook in a hospital.

Police said Harty told them after the foursome returned from the tavern at 2 a.m. his parents went home to bed and he went next door to the Skiffington house.

Mrs. Skiffington was wearing bedroom slippers and a housecoat. Harty said he threw his arms around her and kissed her — the first girl he ever kissed. She slapped him and ran for the front door.

He clutched her and they wrestled. She broke free and ran into a bedroom in the 4½-room house, slamming the door behind her.

Harty rushed into the kitchen and grabbed a nine-inch hunting knife. He shoved open the bedroom door while the mother leaned against the other side.

Then he repeatedly plunged the knife into her chest. Her cries woke the children.

With the bloodstained knife in his hand, he turned and saw the children staring at him. He said he killed them because they knew him and he "had to keep them quiet."

Lack of News Stills Stocks

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market moved in an irregular course, with slightly lower tendencies, in early trading today.

Trading moved along slowly after the first rush of weekend orders had finished.

With any major news developments lacking, the market appeared to be continuing its dull performance of last week.

Price changes were held to small fractions in most cases.

Motors and utilities were a shade better, steels and rails were mixed, and oils were lower.

Loew's, Friday's most active stock, was fairly active again and off a fraction. The company, which is the subject of a control fight, reported a sharp drop in earnings for the 12 weeks ended June 6.

Pan American World Airways pushed ahead a fraction after announcing it will open direct routes from the west coast to Europe via the North Pole.

Zenith gained about a point, while other smaller gainers included Youngstown Sheet & Tube, Chrysler, Caterpillar, Anaconda, Allied Chemical and Atlantic Coast Line.

Eastern Airlines was down a major fraction. Also lower were Republic Steel, Ford, Boeing, American Telephone, General Electric, Illinois Central, Standard Oil (New Jersey), Gulf Oil and U.S. Gypsum.

Charlie Off to Cowes

COWES, England (AP) — Prince Philip, who wants to make Charles a real outdoor boy, brought him here today for Cowes race week. This will be Charles' initiation into sailing—he already has been taught the rudiments of cricket and polo by his sportsman father.

Truck Scales Pike's Peak the Hard Way

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (INS) — It took three and a half days, but a truck climbed Pike's peak the hard way and possibly started a new competitive fad among auto manufacturers.

Chevrolet officials claimed their four-wheel drive pickup truck made automotive history by scaling the rugged southwest slope of the peak under its own power—"the first vehicle ever to reach the 14,100-foot summit without using the famous Pike's Peak roadway . . ."

Previous competition has been confined to speed tests up the 12-mile roadway on the north side of the mountain.

The nearly four-day struggle to the summit was made up steep slopes, through boulder fields, over fallen timber and along sheer drop-offs. In a few places the truck's winch was the only means of progress.

Without a winch any vehicle would have to be part helicopter to complete the climb, previously made only by foot or by pack mule.

Soil Bank Plan Has New Curb

To Get $500 Million, Total Harvested Land Must Be Reduced

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government is offering farmers 500 million dollars to reduce acreages of surplus cotton, wheat, corn, rice and tobacco next year under the soil bank retirement plan. But there's a new string attached.

To get this money, farmers will have to cut their total harvested acreage below the average of the past two years. There was no such requirement for the program this year under which 614 million dollars in payments were committed.

This new restriction, announced by the Agriculture Department yesterday, is designed to prevent the shifting of cropland from surplus crops to other crops. The department said such a practice would soon create new surpluses and add to the total oversupply of farm commodities.

The 500 millions which Congress authorized for the soil bank in the Agriculture Department appropriation bill passed Thursday will be apportioned among the five surplus crops.

Wheat's portion, the only one announced at this time, will be 178 million dollars compared with 231 millions obligated under this year's program.

The department said wheat farmers would earn an average of $20 a bushel on retired wheat land compared with $20.04 this year. Rates for other crops will be announced later.

The wheat program was set up at this time because much of this grain crop will be seeded in the fall. The others will be planted next spring.

Congress has set a limit of $3,000 on soil bank payments to any one producer next year. Last year there was no such limitation. This payment ceiling will be the only limit on the number of acres a farmer may agree to retire next year.

To limit shifting of land from one set of crops to another, the department will set up a soil bank base for farmers participating in the program, generally speaking, this base will be the average of all crops, except hay, harvested on a farm in 1956 and 1957.

A farmer would have to limit his 1958 harvested acreage of all crops to his soil bank base, minus the number of acres he agreed to take out of cotton, wheat, corn, rice and tobacco, or any combination of them.

New Sales Manager Appointed at Chrysler

DETROIT (INS) — Chrysler Corp. announced today Charles E. Sumrall has been appointed new vehicle sales manager of the company's central area.

Sumrall was formerly Detroit zone manager for the firm's group marketing. He is succeeded by Arthur G. Kirchner, Jr.

The area's director, E. M. Braden, said E. J. Newton was appointed as Dodge regional manager for the motor city.

G. B. Price Appointed to Second Ford Post

DEARBORN (INS) — Ford Division has announced the appointment of G. B. Price as executive assistant to the general manufacturing manager, W. A. Folsom.

Folsom stated Price would retain his position as associated operations manager for the division and supervise its facilities at the plant in Highland Park.

Seeks Hearing Before Probers

Labor Relations Man Marshall Miller Wants to Answer Testimony

NEW YORK (AP) — Marshall M. Miller, ousted New York legislative labor relations consultant, is demanding a hearing before U.S. Senate probers to answer testimony against him.

Miller also is seeking a hearing before the New York Joint Legislative Committee on Industrial and Labor Conditions, which has dropped him as a consultant.

Miller, who called a news conference yesterday, denied he made collusive deals with employers while he was an organizer for the Upholsterers International Union. He challenged testimony given before the Senate Rackets Committee Friday by John McNiff, executive secretary of the Association of Catholic Trade Unionists.

Another denial of testimony before the committee Friday was made yesterday by Ned Grossberg vice president of the Century Products Works, Ind., New York City.

Bertha Nunez, a native of Honduras, told the Senate probers that the Century firm was linked to a deal with a union local run by labor racketeer John (Johnny Dio) Dioguardi. The witness was an employe of the firm. The Senate committee, headed by Sen. John McClellan (D-Ark), was told that under the alleged deal with the union, employers enjoyed a Jowpay contract while legitimate unions were kept out.

Peter M. McGavin, an assistant to AFL-CIO President George Meany, said he would head a concerted drive against labor rackets here. The main target is racket-run unions that make deals with employers at the expense of the workers.

Discharge of Miller as a consultant to the joint committee of the Republican-controlled Legislature was announced Saturday by the chairman, Assemblyman John L. Ostrander, Saratoga County Republican. The testimony in Washington was given as the reason.

Red Skelton, Son Back in New York

NEW YORK (INS) — Comedian Red Skelton and his leukemia doomed son returned today from a European trip taken so the youngster could "see the world" during the waning days of his short life.

The fun-maker bounced off a four-engine Pan American Airways stratocruiser with nine-year-old Richard at New York's Idlewild Airport.

They were accompanied on the flight from London by Mrs. Skelton and the couple's daughter, Valentina.

If the pale, freckle faced boy were tired from the 13-hour overseas flight he showed no signs of it.

Richard was all smiles, as he showed off his Swedish hunting cap, decorated with medallions.

No Feline This Time to Supply Actor's Alibi

MALIBU, Calif. (AP)—Actor Allen Jenkins faces a Municipal Court arraignment on a drunk driving charge today—and this time he can't say his pet cat was driving.

The cat, Smiley, wasn't along when Jenkins was arrested yesterday. The California highway patrol said the 57-year-old actor backed his car out of the driveway of a Malibu Beach home and collided with an oncoming car.

Nine years ago, after he was picked up on a similar charge, Jenkins told police Smiley the cat was driving while he lounged in the back seat. Later he indicated he was kidding and said he would "take the rap for the cat" in a jury trial. He was acquitted.

Old Rancher Still Defying Army Orders

ALAMOGORDO, N.M. (INS)—The Pentagon has done nothing with the result grizzly old John Prather and his cattle still sit on a 32,000 acre ranch south of Alamogordo.

Prather had until midnight last night to abide by a federal court order and get off his own land in the interest of national security, or face penalties.

But the still defiant 82-year-old Prather stayed and continued to take verbal pot shots at anything in uniform with remarks such as he made in a letter to the Army last June:

". . . If they move me off my land, they'll have to carry me in a pine box, and I'll take some of them generals with me . . ."

So far none of the generals have indicated they wanted to take the trip, even though the Pentagon desires Prather's land, part of which would be used for an addition to a guided missile test range north of El Paso, Tex.

For more than a year Prather has fought from his land which he helped homestead 74 years ago. He refused a government offer of $100,000 for the property.

Recently the Army said he could stay if he would only move the cattle off the property which is described as some of the best grazing land in New Mexico.

Prather still herds his livestock from a horse, however, and does not want to quit the job.

He says he wants to die on the land.

Col. Robert E. Cron of the Albuquerque district engineer office says the Pentagon has not yet replied to Prather's most recent letter, adding:

"We're just real estate agents. We'll let the pentagon carry the ball."

Ex-President of Brazil Pereira de Souza Dies

Pereira de Souza was overthrown by the late Getulio Vargas in 1930 and fled into exile. He returned to Brazil in 1947.

Parental Failure to Blame for Teenage Crime: Graham

NEW YORK (AP) — Evangelist Billy Graham says parents are to blame for juvenile delinquency.

He said last night "we are beginning to reap what has been sown" in parental failure to discipline children and teach them religion.

"Most of the trouble with teenagers," he said, "comes from children reared in homes where prayer is neglected, the Bible is never opened and church attendance is spasmodic."

Graham talked about teenage problems at his New York crusade meeting in Madison Square Garden. He told a capacity crowd of 19,200 that he will speak especially for teenagers for one week starting next Sunday.

The evangelist said "every thinking New Yorker is distrubed and deeply concerned" over juvenile delinquency. He spoke against a background of rising youth violence that has claimed three lives in the city in little more than a week.

Graham said today's teenagers "have been taught the philosophy of the Devil, who says 'Do as you please.'" He offered parents this six-point program for properly rearing children:

Take time with your children; give them ideals, moral and spiritual principles; set a good example; plan activities together as a family; discipline them and teach them to know God through Bible reading in the home; have family prayers and regular church attendance.

In addition to the 19,200 persons inside the Garden, 1,500 more gathered outside. At the end of the meeting 485 persons stepped up to make "decisions for Christ."

Saturday night Graham's aides announced an extension of his New York crusade to Sept. 1. The crusade began May 15 and was originally scheduled to end June 30. Later it was extended to July 10 and then extended again to Aug. 10.

The latest extension will make the New York crusade the longest in Graham's experience. It will top by 3½ weeks his 12-week London crusade in 1954.

Tonight is "rest night" for the Graham team. There will be no service in the Garden. The crusade will resume tomorrow night.

"LONDONTOWN" — That's what Julie London is making of Hollywood these days. After a pair of unsuccessful attempts at a film career, Julie hit the top in the pop record field and now has taken filmdon by storm in her third attempt. She not only sings on film, she turns in some fine acting jobs.

SANTA CRUZ, Calif. (AP)—A big breaker slammed a swimmer into Walter Hicks with such force that Hicks suffered a compound leg fracture. Doctors said he would not be able to work for at least three months.

In Confidential Trial

Jury Selection Continues

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Selection of a jury for the Confidential magazine libel trial continues today.

There was speculation that the lawyers might be lucky to finish the job before sundown. They began the task last Friday, and eliminated 11 of the first 23 prospective jurors.

But finding jurors is not the only worry. The attorneys can't even agree who is on trial.

Arthur J. Crowley, lawyer for the defense, claims Hollywood Research, Inc., and its operators, Fred and Marjorie Meade, are the only defendants. Hollywood ReSearch is a West Coast agency of Confidential.

The state, on the other hand, claims Confidential and Whisper magazines and the Publishers Distributing Corp. also are on trial.

The prosecution has the advantage of court backing in this dispute.

Confidential, Whisper and the distributing firm don't even have counsel in the court, but the state says it will prosecute them anyway.

The defendants are charged with criminal conspiracy to commit libel and publish obscene material — much of it about Hollywood stars. Personalities subpoenaed by the defense include Lana Turner, Gary Cooper, Walter Pidgeon, Tab Hunter, Rory Calhoun and Clark Gable.

Mayflower Visit to Lakes Endorsed

WASHINGTON (AP) — If the Mayflower II sails up the route of the St. Lawrence Seaway to visit Great Lakes ports, it will do so with the blessing of the state department.

But the future owners of the vessel wonder who is going to pay for the voyage.

Sen. Charles E. Potter (R-Mich), who last month proposed the seaway trip for the replica of the pilgrim ship, Saturday released a letter from Christian A. Heter, Undersecretary of State, endorsing the idea.

"The international good will aspects of such a trip as you propose would be most desirable," Herter said.

Made TV Debut in 1943 Drama

Jimsey Somers Now Plays Teenage Role in Daily Radio Serial

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—One of the distinctions of Jimsey Somers is that she made her television dramatic debut in 1943. That's right, 1943, starring in the first televised NBC-TV drama, "Miracle of Alice Lorraine."

The other day when a man questioned how many TV sets were in existence then, Miss Somers said, "Quite a few. They were in bars somewhere. I played a French war orphan. Frances Dee was my mother. Fred Coe (who became a distinguished TV producer) moved the furniture around the floor."

As a matter of fact, if old-time viewers will think back, Jimsey Somers was the first and best-known child star of television, a Shirley Temple of the pioneer home screen.

Currently she is playing the 17-year-old daughter of Madeline Carroll in "The Affairs of Dr. Gentry" series on NBC radio (weekdays, 1:45 p.m., EST). She also has frequent dramatic roles in TV dramas—as a teen-ager, to her regret.

Well Jimsey has grown up. She is, as the French say, "petite," and also, as the French say, "tres belle."

"Just between us," she asked the other day, "don't I look 21?"

"Just between us," said this man who is approaching middle age, "no, You look 18."

"You depress me," she said.

Why is she in a hurry to grow old?

"I'm not," she said. "I just want to play roles other than teen-agers."

She feels that her teen-age role in "The Affairs of Dr. Gentry" is intelligently developed. But she believes that TV dramas are tending to develop a cliche type of character in teen-age roles: Ponytail hair-do, a squeaky voice, a jittery manner.

Jimsey took a long vacation from television and the stage after a truck knocked her off a bicycle when she was 13. For five years she attended the Brearley School and then studied acting for a time. "I was a has-been at 18," she says.

For a "has-been," however, she's doing very well at the advanced age of 21.

Inmates' Council Sends Apologies for Prison Riot

POINT OF THE MOUNTAIN, Utah (AP)— The inmates' advisory council of the Utah State Prison publically apologized yesterday for a group of prisoners who held 20 hostages in Friday night's riot.

Today, 16 inmates will face a board of inquiry into the riot at the state institution 20 miles south of Salt Lake City.

Last Feb. 6, 500 prisoners rioted at the compound for 12 hours

Fourteen of the 20 hostages in the recent outbreak were members of the Kitchen Rythmettes, a women's novelty band from Price, Utah. The riot started near the end of a variety show presented by the band.

A letter from the inmates was addressed to "the Kitchen Rythmettes, our many friends and people of the State of Utah." It read in part:

"We the inmates of the Utah State Prison are without adequate words to express our deep regret and sincere apologies for the indignities which you were subjected to on the evening of Aug. 2, 1957.

"The conduct of those few responsible was degrading in character and shamefully inexcusable. Such actions do not reflect the true attitude, feelings or convictions of the inmate body."

The letter went on to thank the women's novelty band for presenting their show at the prison.

Studio Will Subdivide Hollywood Movie Lot

HOLLYWOOD (INS)—Twentieth Century-Fox Studios has announced plans to subdivide most of its 262-acre movie lot into apartment houses, office buildings and retail stores valued at more than $100 million.

The plan was revealed yesterday by Welton Becket and Associates, architects and engineers, in a letter to the City Planning Commission.

Under the plan, the company would retain a corner of its property for its film-making activities.

The Rainbow Bridge which crosses the river gorge between the United States and Canada just below Niagara Falls is the eleventh bridge to cross there since the first one was opened in 1848.

Claims 'Whisky' Smile Surpasses 'Cheese'

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Playwright Arthur Miller told friends he hopes some day soon "the Government will get off my aching typewriter" . . . Leona Gage doesn't say "cheese" to make herself smile for photographers. A friend in Long Beach convinced her that she should say "whisky"—it's a wider smile. (So try it already!)

The thing that's driving big league baseball to Nome, Alaska, and West Hangnail, Ark., is the announcer who says "Out No. 3" instead of "third out" and bottom of the second" instead of "last half of the second," complains purist Sidney Piermont. "Who does that?" I asked him. "ALL OF THEM!" he roared. My own gripe is the night club m.c. who tells us that "a wonderful little singer of songs is now going to do a number that goes something like this." What is a singer supposed to sing is not songs — advertisements?

Cubans Warned to Return to Work

HAVANA (AP)—Claiming to have crushed rebel plans for a general strike, Cuban President Fulgencio Batista warned workers to get back on the job today or face dismissal.

Batista ordered a crackdown on strike agitators and saboteurs as army and police searched the capital for nine men charged with masterminding the strike move.

Authorities warned that anyone caught carrying arms or trying to impede operation of business would get the same treatment as rebels fighting with Fidel Castro in the Sierra Mountains of Oriente province.

The crackdown appeared to have blasted rebel hopes of staging a strike that could have split the armed forces and toppled the government.

Reports yesterday from Santiago de Cuba, center of anti-Batista feeling in the eastern province of Oriente, indicated workers were trickling back to their jobs.

Marion Marlowe Ailing From Virus, Not Heart

NEW YORK (AP)—Singer Marion Marlowe is reported suffering from a virus infection and not a heart ailment as first feared.

Miss Marlowe, onetime member of the Arthur Godfrey TV and radio troupe, was taken to Doctors Hospital Saturday after complaining of chest pains.

Her husband, TV producer Larry Puck, said she was in an oxygen tent but "resting comfortably and showing signs of definite improvement."

Macmillan Ends First 7 Months

Chalks Up Fairly Good Record as Successor to Anthony Eden

LONDON (INS) — Harold Macmillan, the man who dresses like an Edwardian dandy and who took over from Sir Anthony Eden after the Suez fiasco, can chalk up a fairly good record in his first seven months as Prime Minister.

But even with Parliament rising today for a vacation until Oct. 29, he cannot relax too much. Many tough problems are ahead.

The man who looks and behaves just as a traditional British Prime Minister should, still obviously enjoys his job. The heavy burdens have made no inroads on his health. His confidence and buoyancy remain.

In a few short months he has launched his country on a most ambitious nuclear industrial revolution. He has made Britain a hydrogen bomb power and has revolutionized defense strategy by putting virtually all the nation's defense eggs into a nuclear basket.

He has boldly tackled the controversial local questions of subsidies and rent reform without fear of courting unpopularity. He has continued the Conservative Party tradition of restoring greater freedom to individuals and reducing taxation.

OUT OF THE STORM

More important perhaps he has piloted his party out of the Suez storm into calmer waters and in the process has restored more harmonious relations with the United States and patched commonwealth misunderstandings.

The political waters are calmer, but not placid. Inflationary winds threaten a gale. Trade union militancy foreshadows heavy thunder.

The situation in rebellious Oman still can cause dangerous repercussions in the Middle East and the issue of a European free trade area is a real challenge.

Macmillan must show himself a good European while at the same time demonstrating that an expanding British Commonwealth forms the heart of his policy.

Britain is outside the six-nation European common market because of the commonwealth preferential tariff system, but is trying to create a contributing so-called European free trade area.

Oldest Captive Gorilla Celebrates Anniversary

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Bamboo, oldest gorilla in captivity, celebrates his 30th anniversary at the Philadelphia Zoo today.

When he arrived here in 1927, Bamboo was small enough to be carried in a suitcase. Experts gave him only a few months to live. Today, he stands six feet and weighs over 400 pounds. His age is estimated at 31, equivalent to 62 in human life.

Norway is getting bids on oil storage facilities built in rock, Oslo reports.

Last Rites Administered for Plane Victim

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Last rites were conducted yesterday for Saul F. Binstock, victim of a mysterious explosion aboard a Las Vegas, Nev., to Los Angeles airliner July 25. He will be buried at Pittsburgh, Pa.

The 62-year-old retired jeweler was in the plane's lavatory when a blast tore open a large hole in the fuselage. His body was found in a desolate area near Daggett, Calif.

Prisoner Gets Stuck Crawling Through Pipe

JACKSON, Mich. (AP)—A freedom bid by two Southern Michigan Prison inmates failed because one was too fat.

Robert E. Crouse, 23, and Cletus R. McKeon, 24, tried to escape from the world's largest walled prison yesterday by crawling out through a narrow pipe hole in the basement wall. McKeon made it, but Crouse got stuck halfway. His yells for help brought guards running.

Latin America Houses 37 Pct. of Catholics

RIO DE JANEIRO—Latin America has 37 per cent of the world's Roman Catholics, but only 9 per cent of the priests. Belgium, with only 2 per cent of the world's Catholics, has 4.5 per cent of the Catholic clergy.

In Belgium there is one priest for every 574 inhabitants; in Argentina, one for 4,631; in Brazil, one for 6,741; in Cuba, one for 7,786; in the Dominican Republic, one for 12,701; in Guatemala, one for 28,801.
