Record Budget Now in Hands of Legislature

Committees Make
No Major Cutbacks
in Romney Outline

LANSING (AP)—Recommended expenditures of $633 million for the 1964-65 fiscal year were delivered to the legislature yesterday by the budget-drafting committees of the House and Senate.

The total represents an all-time record, some $3 million more than appropriated for the current fiscal year.

But whether it is more or less than the amount sought by Gov. Romney appeared to be a matter of interpretation.

The figure of $633 million is about $10 million more than asked by the governor in his original Jan. 22 budget message, yet $5 million short of the grand total resulting from subsequent proposals.

Included in the total were several significant increases, particularly in capital outlay, and no major reductions in the spending plan as outlined by Romney.

CAPITAL OUTLAY

The Senate Appropriations Committee added $7 million more than Romney requested for capital outlay expenditures at various state institutions.

Lawmakers agreed to an additional $1 million for community college expansion and $4 million for capital area development.

Romney had asked $2 million for the colleges and $5 million for the capital area development.

The House Ways and Means Committee added $5 million to the original $2 million marked for paying off the Veterans' Trust Fund which the state borrowed during the 1959 cash crisis.

"It just goes to show what we've known all along," Reynolds said.

BIAS IN NORTH

"There are prejudiced people in the North as well as in the South."

Rep. John W. Byrnes of Green Bay, the Republican favorite son whose candidacy kept the GOP primary free of serious contenders for the presidential nomination, said, "I don't think this election

Warmer Weather Inching Its Way Into This Area

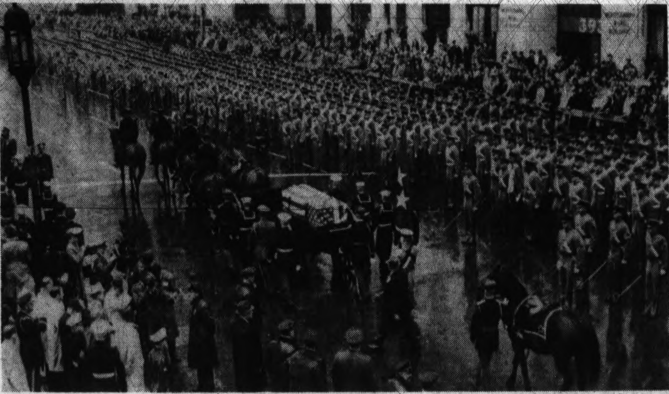

Warmer weather is inching its way into the Pontiac area.

The U.S. Weather Bureau predicts temperatures will be near, or slightly below normal for the next five days. Tonight's low will range between 25 to 34 with lies clear.

Mostly sunny and warmer with a high of 45 to 53 is tomorrow's forecast. Friday will be a little cooler but a warming trend will hit the area over the weekend.

Precipitation for the period will be less than two-tenths of an inch in showers Sunday or Monday.

Thirty-three was the low temperature in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. The mercury reading at 2 p.m. was 34.

2 Die in Head-On Crash; Children Hurt

An afternoon pleasure ride and a business trip ended in death yesterday for a Groveland Township mother of five children and a Centreville father of 10.

Injured in the head-on crash near Ortonville were the women's children. They are at Pontiac General Hospital.

Dead are Mrs. Kenneth (Beatrice K.) Shoenlein, 26, of 1345 Merkle, and James M. Kastner, 39.

Mrs. Shoenlein may have taken the children for a drive in the family station wagon while house-hunting for a larger dwelling, according to a relative.

It was known that Kastner, the sales manager of the farm implement division of Marvel Industries, Inc., Sturgis, had an appointment in Ortonville.

HILL COLLISION

The two cars collided on a hill crest on Grange Hall Road at 5:25 p.m. The accident scene is about two and a half miles east of Ortonville in Groveland Township.

Michigan State police from the Pontiac post are still investigating the crash to determine who was at fault.

They said the road curves where the accident occurred. The pavement was dry.

The injured children are Dawn, 6, head injuries and a fractured leg; Kenneth, 5, still must pass on the expenditures.

The Senate committee raised the $40,000 for preliminary plans for a classroom-office building at OU to $750,000, paving the way for a possible start of construction of the $2.5 million project this fall.

STRONG PLEA

He said he had registered a strong plea with the House Ways and Means Committee for the classroom-office structure.

Varner expected construction to begin Sept. 1, if the proposed expenditure stands, with completion set for the fall of 1965.

Plans for the building are still incomplete, he added, but he thought that it would contain a large lecture hall, faculty offices and perhaps specialized facilities for some study areas.

OU fared less favorably on plans for a proposed engineering building. Romney had recommended $40,000 for preliminary planning, but the appropriations committee deleted it entirely.

"Perhaps this is still a year away," commented Varner.

Race Riots Set Off in Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Cleveland faced its second racial crisis in less than three months today in the wake of a civil rights demonstration that left a Presbyterian minister dead and touched off an all-night wave of rioting and violence.

Civil rights leaders, whose demonstration yesterday halted construction at an East Side school site, scheduled a noon demonstration at the Board of Education's downtown office building.

The Rev. Bruce W. Klunder, 27-year-old white minister, was crushed to death under a bulldozer during the demonstration at the school site in a predominantly Negro neighborhood.

The protesting group felt that the new school, one of three to be built in the predominantly Negro area, would segregate more than 1,000 Negro pupils. These pupils from overcrowded Negro neighborhood schools are now bused to nearby schools with mostly white enrollments.

Fifteen other persons, 10 of them policemen, were injured.

Car and store windows were smashed. Police arrested 26 persons, including four juveniles accused of throwing rocks.

Police and civil rights leaders appealed without success to the crowd, which swelled to more than 3,000 to disperse.

Time and again during the afternoon and early evening, mounted police charged into groups that gathered to hurl taunts and missiles, sending demonstrators scurrying behind buildings along Lakeview Road.

Showdown Set Friday Over Work Rules

Union Spokesman Says Any Change
Brings Retaliation

WASHINGTON (AP)—The long railroad work rules dispute blossomed into another nationwide strike threat today and President Johnson moved promptly in an attempt to head it off.

Johnson directed Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz to call both labor and management to a conference tonight to discuss the new rail crisis, which grew out of a surprise strike against the Illinois Central Railroad before dawn today.

Industry spokesmen responded to the strike by announcing the immediate posting of disrupted work rules changes on virtually all of the nation's railroads, effective one minute after midnight tomorrow night.

Union spokesman A. F. Zimmerman said in Chicago "This would amount to a national lock-out" which would cause some $50,000 union members to strike against the nearly 200 railroads involved.

Apparently the only other development that might stop the impending showdown would be a court injunction to halt the strike against the Illinois Central.

WOULD COMPLY

Zimmerman, assistant chief engineer of the Independent Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, said the unions would comply with any such injunction.

The railroads twice last month obtained injunctions to prevent strikes against two other railroads, the Louisville & Nashville and the Southern Pacific.

Chief railroad negotiator J. E. Wolfe has said the industry would regard any strike against a single railroad as a strike against all railroads he represents in the national railway labor conference, that has been bargaining with the unions on a national basis.

A powerful Titan II rocket, which, until today, was fired only in military weapons tests, provided the thrust to hurtle the two-seat spacecraft into orbit.

Development Projects Are Handed Setbacks

Two major redevelopment projects proposed by Charles L. Langs, a key developer of Pontiac's urban renewal lands, were given a severe jolt last night.

A proposed $3.6-million high-rise apartment development, which Langs yesterday said was clear for action and approval by the City Commission, is plagued by problems that could delay local action a year or more.

Another project proposed by Langs—this an $850,000 shopping center—may be delayed indefinitely by the commission's refusal to act on a resolution concerning liability for the cost of relocating utilities.

Commissioners accepted Langs' plans and offer to buy land for the shopping center several weeks ago.

Both projects are proposed for similar sites. The shopping center site is bounded by South Saginaw, Orchard Lake and the west leg of the perimeter road (Cass extended southerly to Saginaw).

The high-rise site is located in an area bounded by South Saginaw, Auburn and the east leg of the perimeter road, with frontage on Auburn and the perimeter road.

Although Conmy said he did not know the nature of Scranton's thoughts, he pointed out that the governor wants to fulfill a promise that if he ever changes his position on the presidential nomination, he would make the announcement here.

MOTHERLESS — Three-year-old Katherine Shoenlein lies in a bed at Pontiac General Hospital today after a head-on crash killed her 26-year-old mother, Beatrice, and seriously injured a sister and three brothers yesterday. Secret Interview Blasts Korea 'Perfidy'

NEW YORK (AP)—A 10-year-old secret interview, published today, quoted Gen. Douglas MacArthur as saying he could have crushed the Communists in Korea but for "the perfidy of the British and... constant harassment and interference from Washington."

The New York World-Telegram and Sun published the account by Scripps-Howard correspondent Jim G. Lucas of an interview with MacArthur here Jan. 20, 1954.

"Jim felt honor-bound not to report any of it as long as General MacArthur was alive," the newspaper said in a story copyrighted by the Scripps-Howard newspapers.

Lucas wrote that MacArthur "said every message he sent to Washington and every message Washington sent to him was shown to the British by the State Department, and that, within 48 hours, was relayed by the British, either through India or through the Russian Embassy in London, to the Chinese Communists."

"Thus, he said, the Chinese Communists knew in advance every step he proposed to take. The Chinese Communists decided to come into the Korean War, he said, after being assured by the British that MacArthur would be hamstringed and could not effectively oppose them."

LET THEM CROSS

At the famous Wake Island conference with President Harry S. Truman in October 1950, MacArthur was reported as saying "He told President Truman that if the Chinese Communists intervened in Korea, he would let them cross the Yalu River and then bomb their bridges behind them, cutting their supply lines and causing them to starve a while before being destroyed."

Lucas said MacArthur planned to follow the defeat of the Chinese by saying "a five-mile-wide belt of radioactive cobalt—which he assured me 'we had in abundance'—along the Yalu, thus permanently sealing Korea off from China."

The account continued: "Gen. MacArthur frequently expressed bitterness when he spoke of Truman, but he paid him grudging respect as 'a man of raw courage and guts... the little honesty believes he is a patriot.'"

GUTTER FIGHTER

When North Korea invaded South Korea, MacArthur was quoted as saying Truman "reacted instinctively, like the gutter fighter he is, and you've got to admire him."

Lucas' report was in the form of a memorandum to his editors. The newspaper said it was publishing the account "believing it is an important historic document."

Cease-Fire at End, Says Malaysian

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP)—Malaysia's prime minister said today he considers the cease-fire with Indonesia at an end, the government television station reported.

Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman said British and Malaysian troops in Malaysia's Borneo territories would strike across the border into Indonesian Borneo in case of any large scale conflict.

The cease-fire, which took effect Jan. 26 but was never fully implemented, was negotiated by U.S. Aides Gen. Robert F. Kennedy after a week's tour of Indonesia, Malaysia and the Philippines, the three nations involved in the Malaysia dispute.

Rahman denounced the cease-fire after reports of four border clashes in the past week in which Malaysian security forces killed six guerrillas were killed.

Rahman said in view of the repeated incidents in Malaysian Borneo, he did not regard the cease-fire "to be in operation any more."

Colt Pitcher Dies After Cancer Fight

HOUSTON (AP)—Jim Umbricht, Houston Colt right-handed pitcher who last year made a remarkable comeback after having a malignant tumor removed, died today of cancer.

Umbricht, 33, entered a hospital March 16. Attendees at the University of Texas M.D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute had declined comment on his condition.

A high official of the National League Colts said there had been an agreement the Colts, the doctors and the family would say nothing about Umbricht's condition. It was known, however, that death was expected within hours or days.

Commissioners Discuss Problems of City Police

Problems in the Police Department came up for some of the prospects we do get, can't pass the minimum physical and mental requirements."

Commissioner Samuel J. Whittier started it by expressing concern over a report submitted to commissioners by Acting Police Chief William K. Hanger.

The report pointed to a marked increase in "serious crimes and accidents" and a decrease in police manpower spanning the years 1956 to 1963.

It had a familiar ring.

Former chief Joseph Koren submitted a nearly identical report last May 9 for the 1956-62 period.

REPORT SHOWS

Hanger's report shows there were 117 men in the department and 3,001 serious crimes and accidents in 1956.

Last year, Hanger reported, there were only 108 men and 2,726 crimes and accidents. He stressed the point that Pontiac's population has increased 9 per cent since 1956, and untrained personnel has dropped.

Koren, a year ago, made a similar plea for more men, but commissioners were faced with a tight cash position then, as they are now. They said they couldn't help the Police Department, but they did criticize it.

Last night, Whittier wanted to know what problems were hindering better law enforcement.

THE BUDGET

"Problem No. 1 is the budget," answered City Manager John F. Reineck. "We need more money."

"Problem No. 2 is getting new recruits in both the police and fire departments."

The starting salary is about $465 below other departments in Oakland County.

"This doesn't help us attract and when the State Supreme Court decided such costs should be paid by the governmental agency."

ESTIMATED COST

They estimated relocation of the gas lines under the two streets would cost only about $1,000. Estimates for relocation in the entire renewal project, however, ran up to $500,000 last fall.

Asked last night what he thought the cost might reach, City Engineer Joseph E. Neill replied, "Frankly, we're afraid to try to compute it."

Citizens Join Efforts for Millage Passage

BIRMINGHAM — Citizens here are combining their ideas and efforts to campaign for approval of a bond issue and millage request on the June 8 school election ballot.

Horace E. Sheldon, 3868 Woodlake Court, is heading the Citizens' Committee for Birmingham Schools.

The group is backing a $5.3-million building program and a $1.5-million increase in operational levy for the school district.

The board of education announced last week that it would seek the funds necessary to keep facilities in line with rapidly-expanding enrollments.

Sheldon has appointed as vice chairmen of the citizens' committee George Schmidt, 1432 Maryland, and Mrs. John H. Bryant, 423 Berwyn.

INFORMATION SUPPLY

Schmidt will be in charge of a door-to-door canvass, and Mrs. Bryant will process information to be supplied to block workers and to the public.

Leaders of the campaign all worked on the 30-member citizens advisory committee appointed by the board of education more than a month ago to study school needs and make recommendations.

John C. Siegemund of 315 Hupp Cross, Bloomfield Township, and Mrs. George Talburt, 520 Puritan, head a speakers bureau of the citizens' committee. They are looking for speakers for meetings of PTA's, church, service and civic organizations.

At the same time, block workers are being recruited and will begin training sessions next week.

The State Municipal Finance Committee has approved issuance of $239,000 in special assessment bonds for water mains in Bloomfield Township.

Dr. Joseph J. Jasper of Bloomfield Township, director of academic affairs for chemistry at Wayne State University, has been elected a fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Jasper, 459 Bassett, was honored in recognition of his contributions to science.

Red Envoy: China-U.S. Rift to End

WARSAW, Poland (AP)—Red Chinese Ambassador Wang Ping-nan declared today "We believe the differences now existing between China and the United States will eventually be settled."

The veteran diplomat made statements to reporters after his final session of talks with the United States that began nine years ago in Geneva. Wang is leaving his post as ambassador to Poland.

Wang said U.S.-Chinese ambassadorial talks will continue in Warsaw with a new Chinese envoy.

Wang met for two hours with U.S. Ambassador John M. Cabot. They set the next talk for July 29.

The long interval of three months is to allow the new Chinese representative to arrive here, Cabot explained at a separate meeting with reporters.

NOT RESPONSIBLE

Wang coupled his prediction of eventual U.S.-Red Chinese accord with the statement that "I regret to say we have not been able to get any result. But the responsibility is not on our side."

There had been speculation that Red China might use the departure of Wang as a pretext for breaking off the talks.

The theory was they might no longer feel the need of a channel to Washington now that they have opened diplomatic relations with France.

While results have been modest, U.S. policy is to keep the Washington-Peking pipeline open to prevent policy miscalculations.

U.S. diplomats also feel the line could be important in case of a Red-Chinese-Soviet Union break or in case of developing nuclear arms.

Wang did not elaborate on his remarks. He said he would leave about April 29 for Peking.

He would not say whether he might be assigned to another ambassadorial post.

Charge Eight Firms Fixed Steel Prices

NEW YORK (AP)—Eight steel companies including U.S. Steel, the industry's largest, have been indicted by a federal grand jury on antitrust charges.

They are accused of conspiring to fix prices in the $3.6 billion carbon sheet steel business.

EXECUTIVES NAMED

Two steel company executives also were named in the indictment, made public Tuesday.

The indictment traces to the clash between major steel companies and the late President John F. Kennedy in April, 1962.

When the companies posted an across-the-board increase of $6 a ton, Kennedy angrily denounced the move as inflationary and the companies rescinded the increase.

After the clash, the Justice Department—headed then by the late President's brother, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy—started a grand jury investigation of the steel industry's pricing methods. The original grand jury investigation died out. But the job was taken over last October by a new grand jury—the one that reported the indictment Tuesday.

Conviction could bring the eight defendant firms fines up to $50,000 each. The two indicted executives, if convicted, could be sentenced to jail for one year and fined $50,000 each.

Reynolds D 508,597 Wallace D 261,148 Byrnes R 294,724

In a state which has not produced a majority for a Democratic presidential nominee since the election of Harry S. Truman in 1948, the casting of more than 70 per cent of the vote in the Reynolds-Wallace fight showed that thousands of Republicans had taken advantage of the open primary to mark the other party's ballot.

OLD CUSTOM

Reynolds termed the crossover, which produced big Democratic totals in scores of solidly Republican areas, tremendous but added that it was "an old Wisconsin custom."

Byrnes said, "There is no more significance to the general crossover now than there was in 1960."

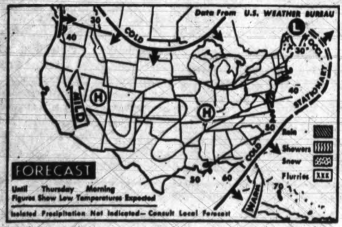

Four years ago, Kennedy won a majority of the delegates and a head start on the road to the White House when he whipped Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota in a similar primary, 476,024 to 396,753.

Rights Bill Popularity Clouded by 2 Vote Tests

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — There was conflicting evidence today from two significant Midwestern elections on the popularity of civil rights legislation, being debated in the Senate.

News Analysis

In Wisconsin, the segregationist governor of Alabama, George C. Wallace, piled up a substantial vote in a Democratic presidential primary he said he entered to demonstrate opposition to the bill.

In a Kansas City, Mo., municipal election, an unusually heavy turnout of voters approved by a slim margin a proposal to extend a non-discrimination ordinance of four years standing to include public transportation, meeting places, hospitals, trade schools and taverns.

Wallace, who gained national attention by his futile stand "in the schoolhouse door" in Alabama to prevent integration, ran in Wisconsin as an opponent of Gov. John W. Reynolds. Reynolds entered the presidential primary as a stand-in for President Johnson.

The Alabama governor's showing was attributed largely to the political backlash of opposition to desegregation of white residential areas of large cities such as Milwaukee and their suburbs.

Wallace's ability to corral substantial support in a state in which only about 2 per cent of the voters are Negroes seemed likely to encourage those who want to water down the provisions of the House-passed civil rights bill before the Senate finally votes on it.

Wallace, who attracted some relatively large crowds in his Wisconsin campaign, repeatedly told his audiences that a vote for him would be a protest against what he called the "civil wrongs" legislation.

How much his vote actually represented opposition to the bill, however, was difficult to assess. Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., and others had charged in advance of the balloting that Republicans were likely to cross over in the primary to register opposition to President Johnson.

In the Republican Primary, Rep. John W. Byrnes, R-Wis., won without opposition as head of an uncommitted Republican convention delegation.

Reynolds preserved Wisconsin's 46 Democratic convention votes as the party nominee in a state classed among the doubtful ones in the November election.

In Kansas City the new ordinance adopted by a small margin had the support of a wide range of civic, religious and political organizations. Tavern owners led the fight against it.

The outcome gave some encouragement to civil rights advocates in the Senate opposing the softening of provisions of the civil rights bill which would desegregate selective business serving the public.

This section has been under fire from Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen.

3rd Set of Twins for Family

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The third set of twins for the James Streho family since early 1961 arrived yesterday at University of Minnesota Hospital.

The two boys, 6 pounds, 4 ounces and 5 pounds, 10 ounces bring the family to a total of eight children, all under 6.

Streho, caretaker of a cemetery in Mankato, Minn., said he and his wife, 32, had been hoping for girls, "but we don't really care as long as they're healthy."

The other twins are Angela and Paul born Jan. 4, 1961, and Daniel and Douglas, born Jan. 8, 1962. Other children in the family are Helen, 5, and Michael, 4.

Committees Named

Planning for Health Fair

By LEE OLSON
Area News Editor

Committees have been named to coordinate all phases of planning for the Oakland County Health Fair to be held at Pontiac Northern High School May 15-17.

Representation has been drawn from a number of youth-serving agencies in the county which are cooperating in the joint sponsorship of the three-day program.

Heading the parent group called the Professional Committee for Cooperative Community Service is Dr. Lee W. Haslinger, director of physical education, athletics and recreation for the Pontiac Public Schools.

Haslinger said the main purpose of the fair is to provide citizens with information and knowledge of services available to help them lead safer and healthier lives.

To underline this aim, the sponsoring organization is planning to have experts in many fields of safety, health, sports and recreation on hand to give public talks on demonstrations.

Exhibits and displays also will be set up in the large gymnasium with the auxiliary gym to serve as a secondary exhibition area.

The movie room, Little Theater and outdoor areas also will be used as needed, Haslinger said.

Included among the youth-serving agencies working on this joint endeavor are the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department, Boys Club, YMCA, YMCA, Camp Fire Girls, 4-H Extension Services, Girl and Boy Scouts and the department of physical education, Pontiac Public Schools.

Serving on committees are Mrs. Ruth Montney, 4-H agent, and Mrs. Reba Netzer, YW executive director — publicity; Edwin Rydel, science consultant, Pontiac Board of Education — Science fair coordinator, and Leonard Buzz, supervisor of recreation, Pontiac Department of Parks and Recreation, and Cressy Larson, executive director, Pontiac Boys Club — floor exhibits.

OTHER WORKERS

Others are Jean Young, elementary supervisor of physical education, Pontiac Board of Education, and Mrs. Doris Beck, executive director, Pontiac Area Council of Camp Fire Girls — special programs; and Jack Worthington, 4-H agent, assisted by L. Donald Kratt, head of sheriff's department safety division — movie scheduling.

Ron Rafferty, physical director for the YMCA, is chairman of the student guides committee.

The health fair has the support and full cooperation of the Oakland County Medical Society with other participating agencies. These include the Pontiac police and fire departments, Oakland County and Pontiac City health departments and the Michigan Heart and Tuberculosis associations.

Also the Michigan Cancer Foundation, Oakland County Chapter of the American Red Cross, County Civil Defense Department, and Michigan Diabetes, County Pharmaceutical and Michigan Epilepsy associations.

Completing the list are the Division of Occupational Health, Alcohol Information Center, St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, sheriff's department, County Society for Crippled Children and Adults, Michigan State Police, Children's Leukemia Foundation and School Health Services.

Schools Host Open Houses in Rochester

ROCHESTER — The Rochester elementary schools are again serving as settings for open houses and art exhibitions this week and in the weeks ahead.

This is the 13th year for these evening events shared by the children, their parents and friends in which every child is represented by his work.

Principals, classroom teachers and members of the elementary art department act as hosts. Doors are open at 7 p.m.

The series began last night at Woodward School. It will continue tomorrow evening at North Hill.

The rest of the schedule is as follows: Hamlin, April 16; Meadow Brook, April 23; Baldwin, April 29; McGregor, April 30; and Avon and Brooklands, May 7.

Farmington Council Views Proposed Budget Increase

FARMINGTON—City councilmen now are mulling over a $400,216 budget recommended by City Manager John D. Dinan.

They are expected to set a public hearing at their April 20 meeting on the figure they will want taxpayers to accept for 1964-65.

The city manager's proposed figure is up some $14,000 from the current $466,000 budget.

Accounting for the increase is the request of the public safety department for $147,571, Dinan said.

An additional $17,000 over the present allotment is being sought by combination police and fire department for two new employees, general increment raises and some equipment.

NEW PERSONNEL
Dinan said the new personnel would include a patrolman and cadet to work on the desk.

Other categories are public works, $143,865; general government, $61,656; staff agencies, $37,475; welfare, $406; library, $14,250; and miscellaneous, $75,000.

Among items covered in the last category are insurance, land purchase, debt service, contingent fund, equipment reserve and pension fund.

The civic center site on which the new municipal building stands is to be extended northward. Councilmen have authorized Dinan to negotiate for the lot on the southeast corner of Liberty and Grand River.

LANDSCAPE PLANS
A substantial house on the lot will be leveled and the property will be landscaped, according to Dinan.

"This will open up the view from Grand River," he said.

The property, being sold by the National Bank of Detroit, carries a $13,500 price tag.

In other action, the City Council approved creation of a new election precinct, amended the city code to require performance bonds of remodelers and changed the board of review hours for next year.

$50 DEPOSIT
The city's building department sought the performance bonds to curb the problem of debris left on the sites of remodeling and garage building projects. A $50 deposit now will be required of those undertaking such work.

The deposits, similar to the $100 bonds required of home builders, will serve as guarantee that the sites will be cleaned up.

Farmington's fourth election precinct has been formed to keep up with anticipated population growth.

State law requires that such precinct have less than 1,600 voters. Total for the city now is over 3,500 and growing rapidly, Dinan said.

Board of review hours next year will include an evening session.

Young-Ashley Rites

Honeymoon in Canada

OXFORD — A honeymoon in Canada followed the Saturday evening wedding of Phyllida Ruth Ashley and Ernest G. Young who exchanged their vows in Oxford Methodist Church.

Rev. Fred Clark of Oxford Methodist Church and Rev. Anthony Nelson of Immanuel Congregational Church performed the 8 p.m. nuptials.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Clifford J. Ashley, 78 Dennison. The bridegroom of 86 Glanworth, Lake Orion, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Young of Fort Myers, Fla.

The bride wore a traditional gown of hand-clipped chantilly lace. It featured a floor-length skirt that swept into a full chapel train.

A pearl tiara held her fingertip, veil of silk illusion. She carried a cascade of red roses and ivy centered with a white orchid.

Mrs. William Hubble was matron of honor with Mrs. James Van Wagoner and Mrs. William Yeates attending as bridesmaids.

Junior bridesmaids were Martha Rickets of Oxford and Nancy Sundell of Okemos, cousins of the bride.

Serving as best man was Frank Stevens of Ulica. Ushers were Earl Tate of Detroit, Carl Sundell of Okemos, cousin of the bride, and Fred and Sam Ashley, brothers of the bride.

Another brother, Dean Ashley, was ring bearer and Dawn Bradford of Pontiac, cousin of the bride, was flower girl.

WALLED LAKE — Mr. and Mrs. David R. Roberts of 1960 N. Pontiac Trail announce the engagement of their daughter Betty J. to David F. O'Brien.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank O'Brien of 2880 N. Pontiac Trail are parents of the prospective bridegroom. No wedding date has been set.

SHOT IN HEAD
The holdup man had shot La Benne in the back of the head, and looted the station cash register of $200.

Kenneth La Benne, who was to have been best man at his brother's wedding, is a Southfield policeman.

He was on duty at the dispatcher's desk when reports of the shooting came in.

In addition to working alternate nights at the gas station to earn money, La Benne attended Battle Creek Community College on alternate nights, studying for a degree in architectural drafting.

AT BEDSIDE
Miss Rinderspacher rushed to the hospital when notified her fiancé had been shot, and she was at the bedside when he died.

She has put aside her wedding dress and her dreams, and her lilted smile has faded.

Instead, she will wear black at funeral services for the man she was to have married.

MRS. ERNEST G. YOUNG

Her Dream Is Shrouded in Black

BATTLE CREEK (UPI) — A funeral instead of a honeymoon lay ahead today for Nancy Rinderspacher, 21, of Southfield.

Nancy's fiancé, Airman 3C, Vernon La Benne, 21, died yesterday at Battle Creek Community Hospital of a bullet wound in the head inflicted by a hold-up man.

The couple had planned to be married May 2 after being postponed last fall so that La Benne's brother, Kenneth, then in Italy, could be best man.

Vernon La Benne was a jet aircraft mechanic at Custer Air Force Station here, but held a part-time job at a gas station near I-94 because he wanted to earn $400 extra money for a honeymoon and a trailer in which the couple planned to live at the Air Force base.

He reported at his job in the gas station Monday night, and his boss, Ward Curry, departed about 9:45 p.m. Half an hour later, he was discovered lying wounded in the back room of the station by a motorist who had stopped for gas.

DORIS ANN BENNETT

Mr. and Mrs. Jack P. Bennett, 408 East Road, Holly, announce the engagement of their daughter, Doris Ann, to Anthony W. Blagg, son of Mrs. Harry Blagg of Homer and the late Mr. Blagg. An Aug. 1 wedding is planned.

To Outline Program for Avondale Youth

AUBURN HEIGHTS — Summer activities available to Avondale youth will be described at tomorrow's 8 p.m. meeting of the Avondale Junior High School PTA.

Representatives from different clubs which sponsor vacation recreation will outline their respective programs.

A Camp Fire Girls choral group also will present several musical selections. Another feature of the program will be election and installation of PTA officers.

Troy Family Group to Hold Hobby Show

TROY — The Livewire Family Fellowship group is sponsoring a hobby show in Fellowship Hall of Troy Methodist Church Saturday at 7 p.m.

Persons interested in displaying their hobbies should contact the Byron Kunzler, 600 Triway. Admission will be one or more white elephants for a "painless" auction.

The Avondale School Board has agreed upon a new indexed teacher salary schedule and a proposed $1,327,835 budget for the 1964-65 academic year.

Teachers with a bachelor's degree will begin with pay $150 higher next year under terms of the new scale.

All Avondale staff members will have their salaries, determined by the index, which is based on a starting salary of $4,850 for teachers with four-year degrees.

Maximum for bachelor's degree holders has been upped from $7,000 to $7,275.

Those with a master's degree will start at $8,194 and reach a maximum of $7,500 after 10 years. This year's schedule call for a minimum of $5,000 and maximum of $7,300.

PRINCIPALS' SALARIES
Salaries of elementary school principals will range from $8,487 to $9,700 under the new system, while income of the high school and junior high school principals will be slightly higher on the index scale.

Other employees given pay boosts by the board are the secretaries, custodians and bookkeepers.

The teacher raise and the addition of several new staff members is one significant reason for a proposed budget increase of $81,273.

This year's disbursements are expected to total $1,246,562.

MAINTENANCE COSTS
Another factor necessitating the budget hike is the need for added maintenance expenditures, due to the additions of new facilities at several of the district's schools.

Also needed next year will be a program of preventive repairs on the water system and a new bus, Schools Supt. George E. Shackelford said today.

Distribution Points for Polio Vaccine

TROY — The polio vaccine to be distributed here April 19 and June 14 will be given out in clinics at Troy High School and the Troy Drive-in theater.

Hours of the clinics are 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. on each of the dates.

The polio vaccine, to be given out on sugar lumps, was originally scheduled to be distributed at the Troy High School and Troy-Clawson Elks Club.

The immunization program is part of a triconty effort against polio.

PTA to See New Program

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — The Junior Great Books program will be demonstrated at tomorrow night's meeting of Green Elementary School PTA.

Mrs. John Hoover and Mrs. George Francis will lead fifth through eighth graders in a literary discussion.

Also on the agenda for the 7:30 p.m. meeting is election of PTA officers for the 1964-65 academic year.

TALK OVER PLANS — Three committee chairmen discuss arrangements for the Oakland County Health Fair May 15-17. They are (from left) Publicity Cochairman Mrs. Ruth Montney, 4-H Club agent; General Chairman Dr. Lee W. Haslinger, director of physical

School Budget Ok'd in Rochester

ROCHESTER — A tentative budget of $2,666,817, up 6.9 per cent from this year's anticipated spendings, has been approved by the Rochester School Board for the 1964-65 academic year.

The proposed 6.9 per cent hike compares to an expected 5.4 per cent enrollment increase. In money, it is $171,270 higher than this year's expenditures.

Main factor behind the boost is increased instructional costs of $103,729.

Included in this category are the additional teachers necessitated by the 300-pupil enrollment jump, as well as cost of more sick leave days for teachers.

Contributing to the over-all expenditure hike are increases in overtime pay and mileage for custodial help and a new shared insurance program for all full-time employees.

SAME SALARIES
Teacher salaries will remain basically the same next year.

No increase is anticipated in the administrative portion of the budget.

Funds allocated to the health and transportation category are hiked 2.5 per cent under terms of the new budget, mainly for the purchase of nine new buses.

The tentative 1964-65 budget, to be submitted to the county allocation board, is based on renewal of a 2-mill levy which expired this year.

BOND ISSUE
Last month the board resolved to request the renewal, as well as a $1.5-million bond issue, on a special May 4 election ballot.

Neither of the proposals will ask district residents to pay out additional money. School taxes will remain the same.

Presently the tax rate is $28.86 per $1,000 of assessed state equalized valuation here.

The levy would remain at that figure because the bond issue could be financed with money from increased valuation of the district and debt retirement funds.

Additions to the high school, West Junior High and four elementary schools are planned with money from the bond issue.

Since 1950, milk production in the United States has increased from 117 billion pounds to about 126 billion pounds, a jump of eight per cent. Production per cow rose from 5,300 pounds to 7,300 pounds.

Rochester 'Y' Sets Program for Spring

ROCHESTER—Swimming for youngsters and self-defense for women are two of five classes highlighting the Rochester YMCA's spring program this year.

Judo instruction for men and boys, ladies' Slim and Swim, and boys gymnastics round out the list of scheduled courses.

The "Y's" Tiny Tots Swim Class will be for boys and girls 4-7 years old. No registration is necessary prior to the first class, at 7 p.m., April 15 in the Pontiac YMCA pool.

A variation of judo will teach self-defense to women 15 years old and up, starting with an introductory lesson at West Junior High April 15, also at 7 p.m.

Preregistration for this class is a must. It will be held only if at least 10 persons enroll.

JUDO INSTRUCTION
Full-fledged judo instruction for men and boys, at the beginner's level, will be taught by former U.S. Air Force instructor Don Walker.

Lessons will begin Monday at West Junior High and continue on subsequent Mondays until June 8.

Boys, ages 8-15, will meet for one hour at 7 p.m., followed by the men's class at 8 p.m., for all those over 15.

Registration can be completed at the Rochester "Y."

SLIMMING CLASSES
The local ladies will be able to enjoy taking off the pounds at the Slim and Swim classes Monday mornings.

First for Facts, Then Ideas

Try Your Skimming Skill on This Column

ing of this column and compare your speed with that indicated at the end. The expected speed assumes a daily 5 per cent improvement.)

By The READING LABORATORY, INC.
 Written for Newspaper Enterprise Association

Prefreading tells you what to read and just as important, what not to read.

Looking for a date in the Revolutionary War? Then skip Washington's family history. What authorities were cited? Skip the charts and that column of numbers.

Add to skipping, our drills for greater eye perspective and you're a fast skipper.

Now we come to skimming. You certainly don't skip and skim through poetry, drama, classical novels or even Perry Mason, but you do use it in what we've been calling practical prose.

SKIMMING FOR FACTS

Here's where your phrase-reading and enlarged eye span really help. If the column you're reading is a news column (about two inches wide), one fixation per line is plenty.

Now zigzag your way down the column. Use a pencil in the early practice stages. Look to the left of the pencil on the first line, to the right of the pencil on the second line, back to the left on the third, and so on down.

After awhile, practice will make the pencil unnecessary.

Now try the wider columns of your text book. The technique is the same, but you'll need two fixations per line. Drawing the pencil down the middle, fixate to the left of the pencil on the first line, then to the right on the same line, and so on down the page.

BETWEEN THE LINES

So that individual words will not distract you, read between the lines as we practiced in the preceding column.

As you skim your way down the page, that name, that date, that number will leap out at you — IF you are very sure in your mind what you are skimming for.

A note of caution: In the early stages of skimming, you may start out looking for something, trying to skim as we've explained it.

First thing you know, you're concerned with how you're skimming and you forget what you were looking for.

PRACTICE PERFECTS

That's natural and practice overcomes it. At first, pick out narrow columns only and skim for as many proper names as possible.

You've skipped till you arrived in the neighborhood where you know the idea should be. Read the first sentence of the paragraph.

SKIMMING FOR IDEAS

This adds one simple step to skimming for particular facts. Big ideas won't be written in one word or in capital letters. They will take a paragraph or more. Do it this way.

That should be plenty; if not, read the second. Skim through the rest of that paragraph, and read the first sentence of the next. Haven't found it?

Ski through the rest of the second paragraph. This is what will happen. Either the first sentence of a succeeding paragraph will tell you that you're "home," or else a sentence in a later paragraph will tell you that you passed "home." Either way, you found it by skimming. (You should have completed this reading in 65 seconds.)

Russia's Cuba Pullout Leaves Doubt in Wake

From reliable sources come reports that KHRUSHCHEV has figuratively painted himself into a corner—of Cuba, that is.

Indications are that he will hand over his surface-to-air missiles there to FIDEL CASTRO around May 1. The Soviets set up a comprehensive training program over a year ago to qualify Cubans to take over operation of the air-defense system which was installed just before the ill-fated effort to install Russian ballistic missiles on the island.

Now the Russians are making obvious moves toward withdrawal of their knowledgeable personnel and the advanced and secret equipment of the radar warning net has been replaced with equipment of an earlier type, probably for reasons of security.

But, ironically, there are feelings of anxiety in Washington over the pull-out. Although it was upsetting to have Soviet soldiers deployed in Cuba, it is even more so to think of Castro's Cubans taking over management of the missile hardware.

The whole island is dotted with SAM's, the Soviet surface-to-air missile capable of shooting down American observation planes.

U. S. air reconnaissance of Cuba by regular U2 flights meanwhile continues, with tacit Kremlin toleration. And there is little doubt that, after control of the weaponry is handed over to Castro, the Kremlin would want its bearded colleague to avoid conflict with America by continuing to ignore overflight by the U2s.

But will Castro follow the line? Our officials think he will, but there can be no certainty about what the impulsive firebrand might do. For once, the Russian Bear and Uncle Sam are on the same side of a question and doing a little bilateral worrying.

Fathers DO Suffer Childbirth Anxieties

Now it's authentic.

Scientists report that among a South Pacific tribe, an expectant father experiences all the anxieties of childbirth while sympathetic friends attend his bedside. The wife is ignored.

If you think this is merely an odd-ball tradition of an ancient people, we give you contradictory statistics of an English psychiatrist.

He says that out of 500 men interviewed, 327 disclosed that they suffered morning sickness, backache, lack of appetite or toothache in empathy with their wives.

Is there reason, do you think, to amend the conventional blessed-event assurance to "Mother, FATHER and child are doing nicely?"

Can't Hide Behind Pen Says Handwriting Pro

An old legal warning is "Don't put it in writing if you can avoid it."

The hazard of so doing is pointed up by an address by a foremost graphologist before the American Academy of Forensic Sciences.

Declaring that there are only about a dozen people in the U. S. truly qualified to deduce character from script, the speaker said that the rest merely practice "parlor games" dealing with crossing "i's" and dotting "t's"—unversed in the complex analysis of 21 handwriting elements.

The science of graphology descended from a German professor who claimed that every human movement—gait, facial expressions, handwriting—had to be considered as significant gestures from which distinctive personality traits could be deduced.

The expert added that it had been proved by various experiments that, if a person writes with his right or left hand, or even with his mouth or foot—provided he has attained complete fluency in writing with these organs—the writing will show the same characteristics, as they are the expression of one and the same personality.

So, if you must write, observe another old admonition: Mind your "p's" and "q's."

MacArthur Story Is Fascinating

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON—When the definitive biography of Gen. Douglas MacArthur is finally written, it will be one of the fascinating stories of American history.

By his very nature—the drive for success and domination, the sensitivity to criticism, the intense opinions, the sense of drama—he was born to attract and repel. And he did.

He had admirers and critics all his days, some of them intense, too.

His command of the language was probably better than that of any other military figure of his time. But even here, in the use of it, he forced people to choose sides.

Among other things he diluted his rhetoric with sentimentality. Example: When he told Congress, after being dismissed from his Korean command, that old soldiers fade away and he was about to. Some wept. Some felt distaste.

MacArthur, after saying he would fade away, did the opposite. He toured the country attacking the administration of President Harry S. Truman who had fired him. An aide said this was a crusade to save representative government.

THUNDEROUS OVATION

Nevertheless, MacArthur got thunderous ovations everywhere. But if he had presidential hopes—he said he didn't—he soon found the acclaim he got was for his heroic military services and went no further.

He was a controversial figure at a time when Americans were getting sick of controversy: sick of the Korean war and sick of the divisions wrought by McCarthyism with all that meant in distrust, anger, hate.

There was talk at MacArthur for president but not much at that particular time, which was 1951, a year before the 1952 presidential race.

In 1948, MacArthur had said he would accept the Republican nomination if it was offered to him. He let his name be entered in the Wisconsin primary and was badly beaten. After that he said he had no political aspirations.

NOT RIGHT PERSONALITY

Truman said MacArthur told him in 1950 the politicians had made a "chump" of him in 1948. But at least at that particular time MacArthur didn't have the kind of personality that appealed to politicians.

Instead, in 1952 the Republican politicians turned to a completely different type: the placid, friendly, extroverted Dwight D. Eisenhower. Nevertheless, MacArthur's name was put in nomination.

Like MacArthur, Eisenhower was a war hero but, unlike MacArthur, he would make an ideal smotherer of the troubled waters of these times. MacArthur has been quoted as calling him derisively "the best clerk I ever had."

But, while MacArthur got only four convention votes, Eisenhower got 845 and the nomination. From then on MacArthur faded out of public life.

David Lawrence Says:

Soviet Economic Power a Myth

WASHINGTON—There seems to be a curious difference of opinion between Premier Khrushchev and Sen. J. W. Fulbright as to who the "devil" really is in the world today.

Not long ago, the Arkansas senator, who is chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said that the American people must overcome "the myth that trade with Communist countries is a compact with the devil."

Now Premier Khrushchev says in an extemporaneous speech in Hungary:

"I, as prime minister of the Soviet Union, am ready to take credits from the devil himself if the rate of interest is advantageous to my country. But I won't deviate one millimeter from our position."

There is no question but that the Soviet premier was referring to credits from the United States, as the news dispatches plainly indicated.

It is a coincidence that this very week "U.S. News & World Report" published a copyrighted interview with Prof. G. Warren Nutter, head of the economics department at the University of Virginia, who, after a tour of Russia in 1957 and in subsequent studies, has steadily exposed the myth of Soviet economic power.

OTHER PREDICTIONS

He did this at a time when others were predicting that the Russians not only were going to catch up with the United States, but would overcome our lead in various fields.

Prof. Nutter in his interview stated flatly that the Russians are deep in economic trouble today, particularly as a result of the gamble they made in 1955 when they embarked on a heavy military and space program, believing at that time that the agricultural problem somehow has been solved.

But the gamble, according to Prof. Nutter, has plainly failed, and he added:

"I think that their internal problems are really quite serious, very serious. Their problems in relations with the East European satellites are serious and becoming more and more aggravated all the time."

During the war years, they've got the problem of China and the whole splitting of the Communist bloc."

"I don't think we should help them out of their current economic difficulties without, at the same time, getting some change in either the political climate or their internal system...."

"Now, the alternative they'd like to use, I think, is to get a nice gift from Uncle Sam."

"They'd like to get some outside help to tide them over their troubles, so they can patch things up and have enough time to make adjustments that might ease things for a while."

Premier Khrushchev's speech in Hungary was also significant in relation to the whole controversy between the East and the West and the "foreign aid" program.

He warned the members of the East European Communist bloc that the Western "imperialists" were trying to run the world by offering "a place of bacon or gulash" in the form of credits.

He told his allies to be careful not to involve themselves too deeply with the United States, but said, in effect, there was no harm in taking something for nothing—as he himself would do.

From the Soviet point of view, it seems easy to satisfy merely with increased trade some of the would-be spokesmen for America, especially those who are ready to "do business with Khrushchev" in the 1960's as so many Westerners were ready to "do business with Hitler" in the 1930's.

Fulbright Policy Speech Focuses Attention on Post

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON—The seismic shock wave generated in official circles by Sen. William Fulbright's myths-and-realities foreign policy speech (Be sweet to Panama; don't be beastly to Castro—Cuba) focuses renewed attention on the high office that he holds.

Because the House has no constitutionally role in approving treaties, the chairman of the MONTGOMERY Senate Foreign Relations Committee has the single most important congressional voice in foreign affairs.

The powerful Foreign Relations chairmanship has boasted a string of fascinating occupants in recent times.

Fulbright's immediate predecessor was Theodore Francis Green, the oldest man ever to serve in Congress, who will be 97 years old this year.

Although a multimillionaire, bachelor Green used to travel by director to keep his dates with famed Capitol dowagers.

COURTLY GEORGIAN

Green succeeded good, gray Sen. Walter George, a courtly Georgian who always called his wife "Miss Lucy."

During the Republican 83rd Congress, the Foreign Relations chairman was Sen. Alexander Wiley, a staunch isolationist until he began courting a British widow. Then he suddenly became an internationalist.

Wiley's abrupt switch from isolationist to internationalist was reminiscent of a similar switcher by a far more astute legislator, the late Sen. Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan, who had also formed a warm friendship with an attractive British lady during the war years.

Perhaps the most powerful Foreign Relations chairman of the Twentieth Century was Henry Cabot Lodge, grandfather of our present ambassador to Viet Nam, who almost single-handedly blocked U.S. entry into the League of Nations at the end of World War I.

It is a powerful post that Fulbright of Arkansas now occupies.

Any such chairman has a right to speak his mind about the conduct of our foreign affairs, but it is little wonder that the administration flinches when he openly contradicts our stated policies.

Freedom of Press

The Saturday Evening Post

The Supreme Court of the United States struck a great blow for freedom of the press by unanimously reversing the $500,000 libel judgment against The New York Times and four Negro ministers.

The case stemmed from an advertisement published, signed by the four Negro ministers (among others), charging that Negro student demonstrations in the South had been "met by an unprecedented wave of terror."

The ad said that "trucks loaded of police armed with shotguns and tear gas ringed the Alabama State College campus," and alleged that Dr. Martin Luther King had been arrested seven times on a variety of inconsequential charges.

The advertisement did not mention any public official by name, but a city commissioner of Montgomery used the Times and the Negro ministers. A Montgomery County jury awarded him $500,000, and the judgment was upheld by the Alabama Supreme Court.

In its decision the Supreme Court held that the Times case had to be considered "against the background of a profound national commitment to the principle that de-

More Support Editorial on Church Attendance

The negative letters concerning The Press editorial "Easter Sunday Brings Forth Twice-a-Year Christians" certainly emphasize the variety of ways people rationalize their not attending church. The Press has made it possible for them to expose their fallacious reasoning and thereby their stupidity. Congratulations! 2554 McClintock Arlene P. Stein

I agree with The Press editorial on "Twice-a-Year Christians." Surely, Mr. Dean does not study his Bible or he would know we are not judged by what the prophets of old did.

Christ's death on the cross did away with the law judging the old prophets. Mr. Dean should read Acts 2:45 and Acts 28:7 and Hebrew 10:24-25. Christ met with the disciples after His resurrection and the following first day of the week proving to "doubting Thomas" who He was.

These are just a few examples of why we should attend church. I agree this alone does not make Christians and I agree with Mr. Dean's Easter and Christmas explanation.

Constant Churchgoer

Harry Dean stated "Church attendance does not make Christians." He is quite right. Then he stated, "Sunday church attendance was never commanded or recommended in the Bible, or the life of Christ." The Bible does admonish church attendance, particularly for Christians.

Christians need to attend church regularly as a means of normal spiritual development and for a united effort for the proclamation of the gospel of Jesus. When Jesus was twelve, He was taken to the temple by his parents. And when He had grown to manhood, it is recorded: "He came to Nazareth, where He had been brought up; and as His custom was, He went into the synagogue on the Sabbath day."

Mr. Dean is correct when he mentions that Easter and Christmas are of pagan origin, and there is no Good Friday. Jesus was crucified on Wednesday, And Jesus Himself said, "The Son of man shall be three days and three nights in the heart of the earth." By no calculation can three days and nights be crammed between Friday afternoon and Sunday morning. Good Friday is the figment of an imaginary tradition. Jesus' own statement contradicts Good Friday.

Offers Thought to Relieve Traffic Tieup

With a line of cars waiting for the green light, often the leader merely inches forward a foot or so and sits until the light changes to red when he hurries to the center of the street and makes his turn.

When that same driver received the green light, if he advanced to the middle of the street or even a foot or two beyond and turned slightly, he would make room for a car directly behind and a third could advance sufficiently to make the turn on the next change.

Thus, three cars relieve the congestion instead of one. Does anyone in the traffic department say this is wrong?

The Johnson Administration's decision to forego foreign travel in the absence of a personage in the Vice Presidency is one of due caution and wisdom.

The absence of a Vice President of the United States creates a "gap" far more serious and worrisome than most people realize.

President Johnson represents that "one heartbeat" the historians concern themselves with. There are more than enough issues, both foreign and domestic, to occupy the President in his White House office.

To stray abroad, except in an emergency, for political or diplomatic reasons seems as though necessary and uncalculated for this time.

It is a verity, in any event, that the number of problems confronting the Presidency at this time are in ample supply.

Travel abroad attempting to settle still more would add nothing to the alleviation of major issues which remain unresolved.

Johnson Makes Surprise Visit to AFL-CIO Meeting

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington: "GREATEST GOOD:" President Johnson dropped in on an AFL-CIO meeting Tuesday night and told the labor union officials "the government has but one purpose—the greatest good for the greatest number."

Johnson made his surprise visit at the dinner meeting of the labor organization's industrial union department after turning up at a National Press Club reception saluting new White House press secretary George Roedy.

In his brief remarks at the union meeting, Johnson said "we have much to protect and much to preserve and we are going to do that through the free collective bargaining system."

GOP-PANAMA: A Republican Citizens Council headed by Milton S. Eisenhower, has urged

U.S.-Panamanian agreement on a "wholly new treaty" within 25 years for a second, sea-level canal.

Declaring that the present canal will be unable to handle the growing maritime traffic in about 25 years, the council said the United States and Panama should agree on a number of interim reforms helpful to both sides.

These would involve revising the present treaty, raising canal tolls by perhaps 30 per cent and increasing Panama's yearly canal receipts to $15 million from $1.9 million.

The council, made up of 24 prominent Republicans, singled out the Panama issue for the first of a series of proposals it plans to bring out each week until the Republican National Convention beginning July 13.

Weinstein of Boston told newsmen: "We asked the secretary to use the government's good offices to make known to the Soviet government our grave concern for the situation and status of the 3 million Jews in the Soviet Union."

A State Department spokesman said Rusk "indicated that he would consider further steps the U.S. government might take to be helpful in the matter."

Picket Lines, Firings Are Prospects

Detroit Teacher Dispute Near Explosion

By GENE SCHROEDER
Associated Press Writer

DETROIT—A three-way dispute involving Detroit's Board of Education and two rival schoolteacher organizations is threatening to explode into picket lines and the mass firing of teachers.

At issue is the question of collective bargaining methods and rights for some 10,000 public school teachers.

The struggle pits the AFL-CIO Detroit Federation of Teachers (DFT) against the Detroit Education Association (DEA), an affiliate of the National Education Association.

It parallels similar disputes in other cities, including Chicago, Cleveland, Milwaukee, Minneapolis and New York.

In Milwaukee, a showdown vote in a collective bargaining election recently brought victory for the teachers education association over the AFL-CIO American Federation of Teachers.

BACKGROUND OF THE NEWS

SPECIAL REPORT

Auto Workers President Walter Reuther, who headed the AFL-CIO's drive to unionize the teachers in a basic philosophical clash with the National Education Association.

Reuther contends the association—which considers itself a professional organization rather than a union—neglects the economic well-being of the teacher and concentrates on school administration problems.

National Education Association spokesmen, however, say their organization is interested in both but believes in taking what they call "sanctions" rather than strike action to gain improved standards for teachers. Sanctions can include refusal to sign annual contracts.

Complicating the Detroit picture is a state law which bans strikes by public employees and which until recently was interpreted as prohibiting the naming of any one bargaining agent for them.

STRIKE BAN

Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley reaffirmed the strike ban in a new opinion issued last month but said the board could, in its discretion, deal with a single organization representing the teachers.

Under the law, known as the Hutchinson Act, any government employee who engages in a walkout "shall thereby abandon and terminate his appointment or employment and shall no longer hold such position."

The dismissed employee could be rehired, but only with the loss of pension and seniority rights, with no pay raise for one year and with probationary status for two years.

Despite these stiff legal penalties, the Detroit Federation of Teachers voted 2,100-387 to strike if the Board of Education does not back down in its refusal to hold a collective bargaining election. Later, it set April 15 as the strike date.

7,000 SIGNATURES

The union presented the board with petitions last May requesting the election. Nearly 7,000 teachers had signed.

The strike vote was deplored by the rival Detroit Education Association, which challenges the federation's claim that its membership represents a majority of the Detroit teachers.

Patrick Basile, Detroit Education Association executive secretary, says his group is unequivocally opposed to any strike.

Basile says that if the federation carries out its strike threat, teachers in his organization will walk through the picket lines to report to their classrooms.

BOARD PLAN

Meanwhile, the Board of Education has a plan it hopes will solve the dispute.

Under the proposal, teachers would be represented jointly by delegates from the two organizations on an 11-member bargaining panel to be called the teachers representative committee.

Membership would be decided by an election in which teachers indicate which organization they prefer to speak for them, if any. There would be one committee member for about every 1,000 teachers.

In case of a deadlock in negotiations between the entire committee and the board, a conference committee would be appointed, if that failed, a special mediation committee would take over.

CHANCE TO PARTICIPATE

Leonard Kaske, school board president, says the board wants to do everything it can to grant teachers a chance to participate in the policy areas of status, salary, teaching conditions and personal welfare.

The plan is similar to one which has been in effect for about a year in the Detroit suburb of Dearborn.

There a 12-member committee has been established with representatives of the Dearborn Education Association and the AFL-CIO Dearborn Federation of Teachers.

Spokesmen for both sides have some criticism of the Dearborn system but are continuing to go along with it in what, in effect, is a truce between the rival groups.

How Do You Serve Avocados?

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

For perfect eating, an avocado should be just beginning to soften. Usually you buy this fruit somewhat firm and let it sit at room temperature until ripe. This takes only a few days.

When shaken, the stone of a ripe avocado will rattle slightly. Then refrigerate until needed.

One of the simplest ways to serve this butter-tasting fruit is to halve it and fill the cavity with tart french dressing. Place on lettuce and present as the salad course.

If you want more fruit, add grapefruit wedges which are an excellent foil for the bland avocado.

For a most unusual soup, experiment with the following recipe. You start with condensed cream of chicken soup.

Mushroom-Avocado Soup
1 can (10½ oz.) condensed cream of chicken soup
1 can (3 oz.) chopped broiled mushrooms
¼ cups milk or light cream
2 teaspoons finely grated onion, or 1 teaspoon dehydrated onion flakes
2 medium-sized, well-ripened avocados, mashed salt
pepper

Place contents of can of soup, broth from mushrooms, and milk or cream in the top of a double boiler over direct heat. Beat until well-mixed. Finely chop mushrooms and add, with the onions. Heat thoroughly, stirring often. Blend in mashed avocado.

Place double boiler top over gently boiling water and allow to heat thoroughly. Season with salt and pepper to taste. Serve immediately. Makes 4 servings.

For chilled soup, refrigerate, and immediately before serving, blend in 1 cup milk or light cream. Makes 4-5 servings.

Add your own original touch by garnishing with something a little different.

Warm Water Helps

Unmold Gelatine

Unmolding the mold . . . A handsome molded dish — an aspic, mousse, snow, whip or gelled salad — adds excitement to the spring menu. These dishes are based on reliable unflavored gelatine, and the recipes are standard — but many a home-maker isn't sure how to unmold these gelatine favorites.

Dip mold in warm (not hot) water to depth of gelatine. Loosen around edge with the tip of a paring knife. Place serving dish on top of mold and turn upside down. Shake, holding serving dish tightly to mold. If gelatine does not unmold readily, repeat.

If your cake tends to crumble, brush it with beaten egg white a few minutes before icing and there will be no crumbs.

such as a few thin radish slices, watercrest, chives, or carrot curls.

For a hearty luncheon salad, here's another suggestion. This one is exceptionally colorful.

Avocado-Ham-Apple Salad
2 apples, cubed
1 ripe, cubed avocado
2 tablespoons lemon juice
¼ cup mayonnaise
¼ cup light cream
1 teaspoon minced onion
¼ cup crumbled American blue cheese
2 cups cooked, cubed ham

Sprinkle apples and avocado with lemon juice. Combine mayonnaise with cream. Add onion. Toss avocado, apples, American blue cheese and ham with cream dressing. Chill. Serve on lettuce leaves. Makes 6 servings.

If dessert is on your mind, make it Avocado Ice. If the color doesn't please you, add a bit of green food coloring.

Avocado Ice
2 ripe avocados
one-third teaspoon salt juice of 3 limes
1 tablespoon lemon juice grated rind of ¼ lemon
one-third cup strained honey

3 Dozen Bars Baked at Once

Molasses bar cookies are full of raisins, nuts and coconut. Brush them while warm with a sugar glaze.

Molasses Coconut Bars
¼ cup shortening
¼ cup sugar
1 egg
¼ cup unsulfured molasses
2¼ cups sifted cake flour
1½ teaspoons baking powder
¾ teaspoon baking soda
1 cup raisins
1 cup chopped nuts
1 cup flaked coconut
½ cup sifted confectioners' sugar
2 teaspoons water

Cream together shortening and sugar. Add egg and molasses; mix well. Sift together flour, baking powder and salt; blend into molasses mixture. Stir in raisins, chopped nuts and coconut. Turn into a greased and floured 13x9-inch baking pan, spreading carefully with spatula. Bake in a 350-degree oven 25 to 30 minutes.

Blend together confectioners' sugar and water. Brush over cookies while warm. Cool. Cut into approximately 3x1 inch bars. Yield: Approximately 3 dozen.

To Spread on Crackers

Combine undrained crushed pineapple with marshmallow cream from a jar until good spreading consistency. This makes a new and delicious tasting spread for graham crackers or the round salty ones.

Press the pulp of the peeled avocados through a coarse sieve or strainer. Add all remaining ingredients, blending thoroughly.

Turn into refrigerator tray and freeze about 3 hours, stirring once when mushy. Serve in sherbet glasses. Makes 4 servings.

Cook a Cheese Loaf in Oven Rotisserie

An "unusual" rotisserie sandwich" idea comes from the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association: To prepare it, you need an 8- or 10-inch loaf of Italian or French bread. Cut it partially through the loaf into ¾-inch slices.

Brush barbecue sauce between slices, sprinkle with grated Parmesan cheese and place a slice of Swiss or cheddar cheese between each slice. Run the spit through the loaf lengthwise and bake in your oven rotisserie for 10 or 15 minutes. When the cheese has melted, remove the loaf from the spit and break slices into servings.

Sprinkling sugar over cake layers before icing will prevent the frosting from being absorbed by the cake.

Salt Before Mashing

For extra-flavorful mashed potatoes, after boiling until tender, drain thoroughly, then sprinkle with salt from a shaker and place pan containing potatoes over moderate heat, shaking vigorously until potatoes are meaty-dry. The salt draws out excess moisture, points up potato flavor. Next, add butter and milk in usual way, beat until fluffy.

Make Seafood Dish, Freeze for Future

Here's a recipe for Seafood Newburg that can be whipped up any day and put into the freezer until ready to use (at least a month, if you like).

In saucepan, heat a 10-ounce can frozen condensed cream of shrimp soup and ¼ to ½ cup milk until soup thaws. Add 1 cup flaked cooked lobster and 1 tablespoons maitre d'. Heat a few minutes, stirring now and then. Serve over rice. Makes 4 servings. (When reheating from the freezer, just pop into a double boiler for 30 minutes.)

Save the bother of rolling dough and cutting biscuits by forming a two inch roll of biscuit dough on waxed paper, then slicing off in ½-inch circles as you would cut sausage.

KC Affirms Antibias Law

Voters Flock to Polls
in Rights Referendum

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—In an amazing surge of votes but by slightly less than 1 per cent, Kansas City voters affirmed Tuesday an expansion of its ordinance forbidding racial discrimination in establishments which trade with the public.

The unofficial count was 45,476 to 43,733—a margin of 1,743 in a total vote of 89,209. This represented 42 per cent of the registered voters.

Only once before, in 1950 on a school bond issue, have so many turned out in a special election. Only 68,196 voted last December after a strident campaign which led to adoption of a municipal tax on earnings.

Robert P. Lyons, cochairman of the People for Public Accommodations, said, "I think it is significant that our citizens voted in greater numbers on a matter of human rights than on something that affected their pocketbooks."

DISCRIMINATION BAN

The new ordinance provisions prohibit racial discrimination in taverns, amusement places, recreational facilities, meeting halls; stores, transportation facilities, hospitals and other businesses open to the public.

Excluded were barber shops, beauty parlors, other places offering personal services, rooming and boarding houses and rented apartments.

Kansas City has had a public accommodations ordinance covering hotels, motels and restaurants since April 1962. The City Council expanded it in September 1963, but it was forced to an election in a petition campaign sparked by the Tavern Owners Association and the Association for Freedom of Choice.

Negroes number about 80,000 of Kansas City's 475,000 population and 30,000 of its 200,000 registered voters. The wards where they live gave the new rules heavy margins. It was 4,327 to 199 in the 2nd Ward, 4,948 to 129 in the 14th and 5,205 to 770 in the 17th.

The ordinance lost in 15 of the 24 wards, by 2-to-1 or more in the new suburbs Kansas City has annexed to the south, east and north.

The Finnish government predicts that by the end of this year approximately 7,000 miles, or one-fourth of the most important roads in Finland, will have been surfaced.

Junior Editors Quiz on ETIQUETTE

QUESTION: Why do we need etiquette

ANSWER: Etiquette simply makes living with other people more comfortable. The word 'etiquette' comes from an old French word meaning 'ticket'.

It later came to mean a particular routine of behavior, especially at the courts of kings; Charles I and II of England copied the rules from the French and these rules then spread to the rest of the world.

Most rules of etiquette have good reasons behind them, but in some cases the reason has disappeared, such as in shaking hands.

In the Middle Ages, when two men met, they extended their right hands and shook hands to show they would not use their swords. Today the handshake remains as a gesture of courtesy.

Etiquette between men and women is also based on good reasons, some of which also disappeared with time. When women wore long flowing skirts, it was difficult for them to get out of a carriage.

Today it is polite for a man to be ready to help a woman out of a car, even though she doesn't have a long skirt. Other rules are based on so-called "good taste." These things we do not do because they would offend other people.

Many table manners are based on good taste—we don't talk with our mouths full or eat with our fingers.

FOR YOU TO DO: Give the idea of looking out for the other fellow's interests a try and see if your friends don't like you even better than before.

Bootlegging Part of Past

Oklahoma Marks 5th
Year as a Wet State

By STELLA ROBERTS
OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla.
(AP)—The bootlegger has become part of Oklahoma's nostalgic past.

Whisky, never really hard to find in this state, observed its fifth legal birthday yesterday. In a special election on April 7, 1959, Oklahoma voters repealed prohibition and put 2,500 bootleggers out of work.

Since then, legalized liquor has grown into a $50-million business in Oklahoma and has produced $33 million in tax revenue.

DRYS ALWAYS WON

Prohibition was written into the State Constitution when Oklahoma became a state in 1907. There were a half dozen repeal elections. But the drys always won.

Their only concession came in 1933, when 3.2 or low-point beer was legalized.

Then in 1958, J. Howard Edmondson, Democratic candidate for governor, promised to crack down on the bootlegger and push for repeal.

When Edmondson took office in 1957, he ordered law officers to dry up the state. Police didn't eliminate illegal whisky, but they made it harder to get—and more expensive.

CALL FOR REPEAL

The 1959 legislature followed up with a call for a repeal election, and the wets won by 85,000 votes.

Prohibitionists claim that Oklahomans now buy and drink more whisky than ever before.

Roy Parham, director of the State Alcoholic Beverage Control Board, concedes that liquor sales have risen since repeal, but claims there is less public drunkenness and crowds are less lecherous.

Some remnants of Prohibition still remain in Oklahoma. It's still illegal to drink in public. Numerous private clubs have sprung up. For a nominal fee—and your own bottle—you can become a member.

Many Oklahomans still tote a flask or bottle to the restaurant for a before-dinner drink.

It's Not a Mistake; They Built It That Way

NEW YORK (AP) — At first glance it looks like a mistake. The two 690-foot steel towers that hold up the Verrazano Narrows Bridge connecting Brooklyn with Staten Island are 1½ inches farther apart at the top than at the bottom.

But according to Steel Facts, published by American Iron and Steel Institute, this is deliberate. It was done to compensate for the curvature of the earth. Each tower to be truly vertical must have its axis point to the center of the earth.

Tax Tips

(EDITOR'S NOTE — The following income tax information is supplied by the Internal Revenue Service as a public service.)

Q: I have most of the Forms W2 from my employers. Can I file my return now and send the remaining W2's later?

A: No. You may not file until you have all the information necessary to submit a complete return. The income tax return which you sign and submit must be both accurate and complete. Your employer should furnish you with your withholding statement, Form W2, on or before Jan. 31, 1964. However, if for some reason you have not received all of your W2's, contact your local Internal Revenue Service Office for advice.

For the answer to YOUR question call your local Internal Revenue Service Office.

Area Crackdowns Usually Mean Fewer Accidents

By JIM LONG

Traffic is the number one problem of area police.

Concern over the situation, which police readily admit is their most serious dilemma at present, has prompted crackdowns from most departments.

In the majority of these cases, the increased enforcement has reduced injury accidents to some extent.

Police explain that the decline is due to the increase in the number of hazardous driving tickets being given to traffic violators.

"A person who gets a ticket usually thinks twice before making the same mistake," said one traffic safety officer, and then added, "at least for a while."

NOT FINAL ANSWER

The issuance of more tickets is not the final answer to the problem, police said, but the more severe surveillance has improved the driving habits of "many who were taking their driving for granted."

The effectiveness of a crackdown is best shown locally in Pontiac where about half as many tickets for serious offenses have been given in the first three months of 1964 as in all of last year.

During the first two months of this year, 2,235 tickets for moving violations were issued, 1,344 more than the same period in 1963.

While figures were not immediately available, Acting Police Chief William K. Hanger estimated that some 1,200 were issued in March.

DOWN SEVEN PER CENT

Traffic injuries are down about 7 per cent over the first few months of a year ago, according to Hanger.

The radar unit, in operation in Pontiac since January, has been responsible for about 25 tickets a day.

Hanger said he did not believe that Pontiac would get a reputation of being a speed trap because of the increased enforcement.

"We are really only bringing up our enforcement to the standards set by the National Safety Council," said Hanger. "For the past several years, traffic enforcement in Pontiac has been way below par."

Currently, Pontiac police are writing an average of 13 traffic tickets to each traffic injury accident recorded.

Ideally, according to the National Safety Council, the ratio should be 20 to 1.

In January and February of last year, the ratio was 2 and 3 to 1.

CHIEF AIM

"Our chief aim is to protect the public, and I sincerely believe our policemen are giving this protection," said Hanger.

In Waterford Township, Police Chief William Stokes said traffic enforcement is up "substantially," pointing out that 218 tickets were issued in March compared with 37 and 51 in January and February.

A six-day work week for police in March was partly responsible for the increase in tickets. The longer workweek, approved by the Township Board, will continue in the foreseeable future and will provide an average of four patrol cars on the road.

Stokes, who considers traffic as the department's main problem, said that despite additional enforcement, the number of accidents so far this year is slightly higher than the same period a year ago.

SPEED TRAP

Ten years ago last month, when the Waterford Township cracked down on violators and was subsequently branded as a "speed trap," police issued 548 tickets. Five years later only three tickets were issued in March.

The Pontiac post of the Michigan State police just ended a month-long, six-day week for its troopers. The longer workweek was ordered by the governor in an effort to reduce serious accidents.

Sgt. John Amthor, post commander, said the safety program "worked out well and personally I wish it could continue."

Last month the Pontiac post issued 835 tickets and 1,062 verbal warnings, as opposed to 532 tickets and 719 verbal warnings in March last year. The comparison is good, according to Amthor, because the six-day week was in effect during March of both years.

NO FIGURES AVAILABLE

No statistics were immediately available on injury accidents last month, but Amthor said it was his observation that there was a reduction.

"Traffic is our biggest problem," said Amthor, "and it's getting worse. There are more cars and less police."

The Sheriff's Road Patrol also was busy last month, writing 40 tickets and handling 79 personal injury accidents, compared to 300 tickets and 101 injury accidents the preceding month.

The pattern of more tickets-less injury accidents varied in January, however, when less than 300 tickets were issued and 82 personal injuries were recorded.

Whitmer's figure assumes the continuation of the present state aid, the present allocated millage and a state equalized valuation of $370 million.

In fact, in January and February of 1963 a total of 421 tickets were issued and each month averaged only 50 injury accidents.

Changes in any one of these factors would require readjustment of the proposed budget, according to Whitmer.

Final adoption of the budget will occur sometime in June when income can be calculated.

In other business, bids will be tabulated on a five-room addition to Mark Twain Elementary School.

Also, the board will consider a lengthy list of teachers recommended for tenure.

Tomorrow's meeting begins at 8 p.m. in school board offices, 40 Patterson St.

EDWARD F. BARKER

Saw Courage in MacArthur

Bank Exec Assigned to Staff of General

General Douglas MacArthur's greatest quality, according to one of the men who accompanied him on his famed return to the Philippines, was his moral courage.

Much has been said about the general's personal disregard for danger.

One who remembers is Edward E. Barker Jr., vice president and director of Pontiac State Bank.

He was one of a dozen officers assigned to Gen. MacArthur's staff during the crucial years of 1942-45.

"The general's great moral courage was attested to by the fact that he never once raised even a hand to correct the false impression many had of him as a showboat," Barker said.

UNJUSTLY ACCUSED

"Unjustly accused, he never bothered to defend himself—this was one of the quiet things that bespoke the stature of the man."

"He had a feeling for history in the making... and he had a natural color that no one could take away from him."

"Every inch of Douglas MacArthur was as natural as could be."

"You always heard of MacArthur the soldier, MacArthur the statesman, but to my mind he was a great human being; a soldier's soldier who had a great personal concern for those who served under him."

TENACIOUS LOYALTY

"He inspired a tenacious loyalty because he had the same tenacious loyalty to his men."

"He was a terrific salesman who got the best out of his men because he expected it and never had to shove them."

Barker is convinced that the general forced President Truman to fire him for insubordination.

"Both the general and Truman knew this was the case," Barker said.

BEST WAY

"Douglas MacArthur saw this as the best way to once again bring an important message to the American people—that you've got to be willing to fight all the way for freedom."

Unofficial Hemophilia Center

St. Joseph's Special Service

Treatment of hemophilia has become an unofficial specialty at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

Because of the clinical facilities and staff, the local hospital has become an unofficial center for hemophiliacs, attracting patients as far away as Detroit.

Uncontrolled internal bleeding is the big danger in hemophilia or bleeder's disease, according to Dr. Julius Rutzy of St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

Hemophilia is characterized as a disease of the blood in which a vital coagulation factor is missing. This usually results in a prolonged clotting time.

Rutzy, director of clinical laboratories at the hospital, explained that, when examined in a test tube, normal blood clots within 15 minutes. The hemophiliac's blood may take an hour or more to clot.

NOT FINAL ANSWER

However, this delayed clotting is not the final answer to why the hemophiliac bleeds, he said. And why not?

Rutzy said that roughly one hemophiliac in four has a normal clotting time. Thus, more elaborate tests must be used to detect these patients.

Destroying some common misconceptions, the Pontiac physician pointed out that the hemophiliac may not bleed any more easily than the average person in some instances.

He quickly added that the slightest injury may cause pronounced hemorrhage on other occasions.

READILY CONTROLLED

In addition, he noted that minor bruises and scratches frequently can be readily controlled. For example, pressure applied directly to a cut for a half hour or so may stop some superficial bleeding.

There have been many cases where a mild hemophiliac was not discovered until he had a tooth extracted or had surgery, according to Rutzy, said that in such instances more severe provocation is required for the mild hemophiliac to reveal his tendency to bleed.

The biggest danger is internal bleeding.

"They may actually bleed to death within themselves," he said, "without appropriate medical intervention."

With internal bleeding, Rutzy said, blood will collect at a particular point and cause swelling. When this happens, it is quite painful and transfusions are necessary, because of the difficulty in applying pressure internally.

DAILY TRANSFUSIONS

Four-to-six transfusions a day for a week or more may be necessary to check some types of internal hemorrhaging. He said this might be typical of brain or kidney hemorrhaging.

Hemophiliacs, according to Rutzy, receive several types of blood and plasma in transfusion, but fresh frozen plasma and whole blood are the most common blood components used.

Although the disease is inherited, the doctor emphasized that there often is no previous family history of it.

During 1963 the hospital treated 21 individuals for a total of 261 hospital days. Some 283 transfusions were administered.

"In other words," Rutzy explained, "we had one patient in the hospital almost all the time, which is unusual for a disease that is considered rare."

Rutzy, who shuns the "expert" label, said he acts as a consultant on hemophilia cases. He teaches diagnosis and management of blood clotting disorders to medical students at Wayne State University where he is an assistant professor of pathology, and associate in pediatrics.

Hemophilia in its deepest sense can mean crippling and even death. There is a constant danger, he added.

The local physician said that internal bleeding, particularly in the joints, can be a severe cripple. However, good home care and proper medical attention can give the hemophiliac a long and useful life.

While hemophilia used to be thought of as a male disease exclusively, one variety can be found in females, Rutzy said.

He estimated that one or two hemophiliacs are found in every 100,000 people. Figures from the National Hemophilia Foundation show more than 100,000 suffer from this bleeder's disease in the United States.

BATHTUB? — Loren Baylis, 8, of 1761 Schoenhilf Lane, Bloomfield Township, visits "the bathtub" at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital three times a week. The physiotherapy is a program to help the youngster's stiff knee joint, which stiffened from internal bleeding. Loren wore a leg brace for more than a year.

Teacher Group Supports Duty-Free Lunch Periods

A proposal for duty-free lunch periods for teachers has received the support of one of two local teacher groups.

The Pontiac Federation of Teachers (PFT) has requested an appointment with the school board to discuss the question of duty-free lunch periods. It will be discussed at tomorrow night's meeting of the board.

A proposal that elementary teachers be relieved of lunchroom supervision and after-school playground duty was presented to the school board last month for the third straight year.

School officials estimate that it would cost about $40,000 a year to give all grade school teachers duty-free lunch periods.

Although board members generally favored the idea, no decision was made on the question when it was raised.

SCHOOL NEEDS

Duty-free lunch periods are on the lengthy list of school needs not met in the current budget.

Also tomorrow night, the school board must adopt a 1964-65 operating budget for submission to the County Tax Allocation Board by April 15.

Supt. Dana P. Whitmer will present a recommended budget of $11,233,163 for the coming school year, incorporating a $200,000 contingency fund.

Whitmer's figure assumes the continuation of the present state aid, the present allocated millage and a state equalized valuation of $370 million.

READJUST BUDGET

Changes in any one of these factors would require readjustment of the proposed budget, according to Whitmer.

Final adoption of the budget will occur sometime in June when income can be calculated.

In other business, bids will be tabulated on a five-room addition to Mark Twain Elementary School.

Also, the board will consider a lengthy list of teachers recommended for tenure.

2 City Men Sentenced in Robbery

Prison was the fate of one and probation the sentence of another yesterday as two Pontiac men were sentenced for their part in a Jan. 11 robbery of a policeman at knife point.

James Gibson, 23, of 520 Franklin Road was given a 2-to-15-year term at the state prison in Jackson by Circuit Judge James S. Thornburn.

Major Finley, 18, of 49 Chapman was placed on 1-year probation and ordered to pay $150 court costs.

Gibson was on probation for larceny at the time of the robbery. Finley had no past record.

The two pleaded guilty March 18 to assault with intent to commit unarmed robbery. They originally had been charged with armed robbery.

They were accused, along with Robert A. Miles, 23, 184 Prospect, of stopping the car of Pontiac police officer Norman Kilmer, 23, in the Bagley-Wessex area and taking his wallet.

Kilmer drew his revolver and ordered a halt as the men fled. Miles stopped, was arrested, later pleaded guilty to armed robbery and is now in prison. Finley and Gibson were arrested later.

Pontiac City Affairs

Commission OKs Housing Project Expansion

The way was paved last night for expansion of Pontiac's federal public housing project.

City commissioners approved an amendment to a 1955 ordinance, which would permit expansion of Pontiac's lone public housing project.

Lakeside Homes, 535 Branch, is now free to expand. However, the ordinance still prohibits any other federal public housing projects.

In other business, the City Commission okayed rezoning of property at 436 Mount Clemens to Residential-3 from Residential-1.

Construction of a two-story, 15-unit apartment complex for Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital interns and employees is slated for the site.

HOUSING PROJECT

Rezoning for a multiple-housing project near Bethune School was passed by a 5-2 vote of the commission.

Developer Charles L. Langs requested that some 15 acres south of the school be zoned Residential-3 to allow for a 175-unit housing project.

Commissioners Dick M. Kirby and William H. Taylor voted against the rezoning.

"Personally, I can't see this," Taylor explained. "If it were to get rid of the war housing I might be for it, but many people in the war housing project won't be able to afford this."

DISAGREES

Commissioner Samuel J. Whithers disagreed.

He said the large majority of people there were factory workers and their wages were too high to qualify them for public housing.

An ordinance amendment to permit the sale of liquor after midnight on Sundays until 2 a.m. was tabled by the City Commission. Requested by Commissioner

Kirby, the amendment would have brought Pontiac in line with the state law on the sale of liquor in Class C establishments after midnight on Sundays.

OKAY REBATE

In other business, the commission approved a rebate of $7,752 to Lloyd Realty Co. on the costs of a sanitary sewer on Oakland.

The rebate, which would not be actual cash but nonconcession of that amount, results from a change in the cost of the sewer project.

PUBLIC HEARINGS

The Public hearings were held on the vacating of a street and alley. The alley is east of Perkins. The vacating of Allred Court was the subject of the second hearing.

Several small parcels of land along South Saginaw at Judson and Whitmore were rezoned to Commercial-2.

The rezoning was requested by the city planning staff in order to provide for uniform zoning in that area.

Commissioners amended the city's disorderly persons ordinance to include minors.

Effective in ten days, the ordinance classifies any person under 21 who should have alcoholic beverages in his possession or who should exhibit indications of having consumed such beverages as a disorderly person.

In still other business, the City Commission okayed advertising for bids for construction of water mains and sanitary sewers in urban renewal R-44 and R-20 lands.

Bids must be submitted by 2 p.m. May 4.

In similar action, bids will be received on the sale of part of Lot 1 AP 102 at the corner of Joslyn and Columbia. The bid deadline was set at 2 p.m. on April 29.

FINAL APPROVAL

Final approval was given to transfer the C and SDM license at 1650 N. Perry to Harold Palian and Mrs. Goldie Hargaves.

Last night, the City Commission voted to deny two rezoning requests upon the recommendation of the City Planning Commission.

The first rezoning called for property at 592 Oakland to be rezoned from Residential-2 to Commercial-1. The request came from Lyle A. Finkle, 339 S. Saginaw.

Finkle planned to transfer his Finkle Auto Sales to the Oakland address.

HEALTH STUDIO

Rezoning was also denied a personal service zoning on property at 707 W. Huron. The property holds the Paderewski's Chiropractic Health Studio and is presently zoned Residential-2.

Surrounding residents in the Seminole Hills Subdivision objected to the rezoning.

Action on the purchase of Lot 149 and part of Lot 148 from S. B. S. Builders was tabled. The land was offered to the city for $1,850.

Tabulation of bids for demolition of the city's electrical shop and storage building on Water behind the main library was accepted by the commission.

Wolverine Wrecking Co. of Pontiac submitted the low bid of $1,850, the lowest of six bids on the job.

Bandit, 17, Pleads Guilty to Robbery

The younger of two bandits arrested for a March 6 holdup in Avon Township pleaded guilty in Circuit Court Monday to an armed robbery charge.

Seventeen-year-old Dale J. Courmoyer of 27061 Osmon entered his plea before Judge James S. Thornburn. Courmoyer will be sentenced May 5.

Courmoyer who was only 16 at the time of the crime, was charged as an adult after juvenile court granted a waiver.

He and 22-year-old Jack A. Hewitt, also of Madison Heights, were Rochester, Hewitt pleaded guilty to armed robbery and is serving a 2½-to-15-year prison term.

More than seven million families have occupied federally-subsidized housing at one time during their lifetimes, according to the Public Housing Administration.

14 From Area Lose Licenses

Ordered Off Roads
by Agency of State

Drivers licenses of 14 area motorists were suspended or revoked recently by the Michigan Department of State.

Dennis R. Thomas, 573 Pearl, was ordered to show proof of financial responsibility after conviction of negligent homicide.

Ordered to show proof of financial responsibility due to conviction of drunk driving was Richard T. Hall, 4395 Sly, Bloomfield Township.

Earl E. Ash, 457 Emerson; Earle T. Sing, 281 Hughes; Gary A. Inch, 25744 Springbrook, Farmington Township; Russell D. Linebaugh, 2515 Mann; Waterford Township; Alan H. Margolin, 1237 Charington, Bloomfield Township; David G. Miller, 5776 Hatchery, Waterford Township; Anthony L. Pittman, 416 Helen, Rochester; and Harold York, 397 Clayburn, Waterford Township.

Ordered to show proof of financial responsibility due to unsatisfactory financial judgments against them were:

Pierre A. Dietrichstein, 3730 Cottage Grove, Violet F. Grand, 6701 Lanman, both of Waterford Township; and Richard F. Greenwood, 177 Danforth, White Lake Township.

Henry A. Grady, 115 Henderson, was ordered off the road for driving with a suspended license.

'Turtle' May Aid in Development of Ocean Cities

SUNNYVALE, Calif. (AP)—A man-made "turtle" may provide the information necessary to allow man to live in communities deep in the sea.

That's the hope at Lockheed Missiles & Space Co., where a lens-shaped underwater vehicle called the "turtle" by its designer, Dr. Willy Fiedler, is undergoing tank tests. "Settlements beneath the sea are not improbable," said Fiedler, "but before any such steps can be taken, we must investigate the potentialities and explore the unknown regions." Such exploration has been impossible in the past because of the lack of a versatile underwater vehicle, said Fiedler, who helped develop the Navy's submarine-launched Polaris missile.

U.S. Urges More European Backing

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is determined pressing its divided European allies to provide more backing and support for its fight against Communist aggression in Southeast Asia and Latin America.

The diplomatic strategy being followed by the Johnson administration on this and other disputed issues within the alliance is to bypass countries like France or Britain on questions where major disagreements exist and to form a united front with all the countries which are willing to cooperate.

These points of U.S. policy and strategy toward the North Atlantic Treaty Organization emerged clearly from a speech delivered to the Overseas Press Club in New York Tuesday night by Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

Rusk also sharply reminded the European allies who have tended to pull apart among themselves and from the United States as cold war tensions eased, that "massive Soviet ground and nuclear forces are still arrayed against Europe."

AIMED AT EUROPE

The Soviet Union, in fact, has "many more missiles" aimed at Western Europe than at the United States, he said. In these circumstances, he declared, "it would be foolhardy to dismantle the military strength of NATO."

Rusk did not give missile figures, but a highly authoritative estimate puts the total of Soviet intermediate and medium range ballistic missiles at 800, most or all of which are believed to be targeted on European objectives.

Against the United States the Russians have an estimated 100-plus intercontinental missiles, and up to 100 seaborne missiles. The United States has about 670 ICBM's in place and 192 seaborne Polaris.

Rusk said that on the military side NATO should increase its non-nuclear capacity for fighting limited wars. That is a frequently stated U.S. objective which the European allies usually ignore. Europe should also join in forming a strategic nuclear force, he said.

PROGRESS MADE

He reported the U.S. government and some other allies have in fact made "substantial and encouraging progress" in working out the problems involved in forming a seaborne fleet of 200 Polaris missiles. France has rejected this whole project and the British government is cooperating reluctantly. However, Britain is working with the other interested allies in a test ship project.

What is needed beyond shoring up the military defenses, Rusk said, are "new patterns of collective action," especially for dealing with Communist expansion campaigns in Asia, Latin America and Africa.

"I have in mind," he said, "especially such countries as Laos and South Viet Nam, which are targets of aggression by Hanoi, with the support of the Chinese Communists, and Cuba, which is engaged in the export of arms, subversive [other Latin-American nations.] lantic nations should recognize that these aggressions are agents, and guerrilla leaders to We believe that the North At- a common interest in seeing brought to an end."

MacArthur Was Either Liked or Disliked, No In-Between

(EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the second of a four-part series on Gen. Douglas MacArthur by Reiman Morin, Pulitzer Prizewinner. It describes MacArthur the man, whom "The Old Man" was like.)

BY REIMAN MORIN
Associated Press Writer

Gen. Douglas MacArthur was a strong man and he stirred strong feelings, pro and con, about himself.

*Very few people really know

Douglas MacArthur," wrote Gen. George C. Kenney, his Air Force commander in the Pacific war. "Those who do, or think they do, either admire him or dislike him."

MacArthur's close associates were fiercely loyal, intensely partisan. Their affection for MacArthur often bordered on idolatry. They may have disagreed with him in private. But outside the star chamber, they would tolerate no criticism of "The Old Man."

His critics were equally positive.

They called him a megalomaniac and a show-off. They said he was consumed with ambition and aiming at nothing less than the office of president of the United States. They seldom questioned his genius as a soldier. But they seriously questioned some of his political judgments. Toward the end of his career, the feeling about him in Washington was a mixture of worry, bewilderment and fury.

About the only neutrals were newsmen who generally tend to look at the great and near-great with a slightly sardonic eye.

Sitting in a room with MacArthur, this is what you saw—Even when he was 70, he was still a handsome man. He looked much younger. Little or no gray streaked his jet black hair. He had a chiseled profile, with a high forehead, a large aquiline nose and a square chin. His eyes were large and dark. On the battlefield, or pondering a problem, he often squinted until they became slits.

SEEMED TALLER

In his youth, he had been an athlete and all his life he walked with a smooth, swinging stride. He held himself erect and seemed taller than he was. Sometimes, in his office, he would sit with one leg dangling over the arm of a chair as he talked. But when he became unusually interested in the discussion, he often would pace the floor, emphasizing his points by jabbing the air with the stem of a cornucop pipe.

A tray of smoked-out cornucops usually was near his desk. Less frequently, he smoked cigars and cigarettes.

His voice was deep and in making a public speech he would pitch it to an even lower key. Then he often sounded like the old-fashioned, voice-of-doom orator. He was more effective in a small room than on the public platform.

COMMAND OF LANGUAGE

MacArthur had an astonishing command of language. He talked fluently, seldom stumbling or pausing to reach for a word. He would analyze a complicated political or military situation in clear, simple language, moving logically from point to point as though he were reading.

However, not all his statements were couched in simple language.

For example, when his name was advanced as a possible candidate for president, MacArthur said he would not actively seek the nomination.

Then he added: "I would be recreant to all my concepts of good citizenship were I to shrink, because of the hazards and responsibilities involved, from accepting any public duty to which I might be called by the American people."

RELIGIOUS REFERENCES

Religious references appeared frequently in his wartime communications and pronouncements. Of the troops lost in the defense of Bataan, he said: "To the weeping mothers of its dead, I only say that the sacrifice and halo of Jesus of Nazareth has descended upon their sons and that God will take them unto Himself."

On another occasion, he said: "Let no heart be faint. Let every arm be steered. The guidance of Divine God points the way. Follow in His name to the Holy Grail of righteous victory."

On another occasion, he said: "Though I am a Caesar, I rendered unto God that which was His."

One of MacArthur's confidantes, Maj. Gen. Courtney Whitney, said MacArthur was a deeply religious man, a practicing Episcopalian.

MacArthur worked every Sunday and did not attend church, but Whitney wrote: "Eight a.m. was the time for family prayers. They were led by Mrs. Phyllis Gibbons. She conducted the service from the Anglican book of common prayer, with MacArthur reading the Bible passage."

SPORTS NEWS

On reaching his office in the morning, Whitney reported, MacArthur first read the messages that had come from the United States during the night—and the first of these invariably were those bringing baseball or football scores.

Whitney said the former head football coach at West Point, Earl Blaik, wrote MacArthur regularly about the team and frequently consulted him about tactics. MacArthur remarked to Whitney on one occasion: "I see Army started its second string backs yesterday. That's good generalship."

Of all the many facets of MacArthur's extraordinary personality, one of the most impressive was his marble calm.

Apparently it never cracked. For example, during the first months of the Korean War, news from the front was consistently gloomy. American and South Korean troops kept falling back until only a tiny corner of southeastern Korea still was in non-Communist hands, the Pusan perimeter.

OPPORTUNITY LOST

Months before that, however, MacArthur coolly announced

New Clash Threatens Cyprus

NICOSIA, Cyprus (UPI)—United Nations officials took urgent diplomatic steps today to head off a threatened clash between Greeks and Turks on Cyprus over the reopening of the key Nicosia-Kyrenia Highway.

The highway issue, involving 650 Turkish troops, created the danger of immediate intervention by Turkey and Greece in the simmering crisis between Turkish and Greek Cypriots.

attacked the Turkish Army contingent already there.

The chain of warnings began with Makarios' unilateral cancellation last weekend of the treaty of alliance which was signed when Cyprus gained independence from Britain in 1960. Makarios said he took the action because Turkey refused to withdraw its troops from the strategic Nicosia-Kyrenia Highway.

The government's action in cutting off gasoline supplies was aimed at paralyzing the movements and armored support of the Turkish unit.

Tensions on the island were the highest in weeks, and the 6,500-man U.N. force was under heavy strain to safeguard a ceasefire in the southwestern region where communal fighting flared earlier in the week.

Makarios said "it is a matter of urgency" to open the Nicosia-Kyrenia Highway.

He said the government would use force to get the Turkish troops out "if all other methods fail."

The highway runs north from Nicosia to the important Port of Kyrenia and to Turkish Cypriot strongholds along the coast.

The road is controlled by Turkish Cypriots and Turkish Army troops who have been dug in along the highway since the crisis began Christmas week.

In an effort to avert a major clash, the U.N. peace force commander, Lt. Gen. Prem Singh Gyani, planned a call on President Makarios to present Turkish counter-proposals to Makarios' move to oust the Turkish troops from their highway positions.

Makarios, leader of the Greek Cypriot community, yesterday threatened to use force to shift the Turkish troops from the Nicosia-Kyrenia road.

He also cut off gasoline supplies and other facilities to the regular Turkish Army contingent on this Mediterranean island.

TURK WARNING

Turkish Premier Ismet Inönü warned Makarios Turkey would take "all necessary steps in the face of any action or aggression to deprive" it of rights under the 1960 treaty of alliance which permits Turkish and Greek troops in Cyprus.

In Athens, government sources said Greece warned Turkey troops would be landed on the island if Greek Cypriots Recommend OK of City Vote in Royal Oak Twp.

Approval of an election in Royal Oak Township on whether to incorporate as the city of Medgar Evers has been recommended by the boundaries committee of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors.

The board at its next meeting, April 14, will be asked to set an election in the township June 2.

A petition for the election has been signed by 85 residents of the township. They are seeking to incorporate the township as a home rule city.

The petition was validated yesterday by the committee on the advice of County Corporation Counsel Robert Allen.

Medgar Evers is the Mississippi NAACP leader who was slain from ambush. He is now recognized by Negroes as a martyr for their civil rights cause.

Destructive Insect 'Shanghaied' by U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The crew of a ship which docked recently at Seattle, Wash., had its pet shanghaied by the U.S. government.

Sharp-eyed inspectors spotted it in the crew's quarters, the Agriculture Department disclosed, and swiftly confiscated it after identifying the pet as a particularly destructive species of Oriental grasshopper.

Belgium Has Plan to Draft Doctors and End Nationwide Strike

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP)—The Belgian government readied plans today to call the nation's striking doctors into the army if their eight-day-old walk-out continues much longer.

Most of the younger doctors hold commissions in the army reserve.

The nation's 10,000 doctors and 3,000 dentists struck April 1 against legislation changing the state health insurance plan to limit their fees and open their medical treatment records to government inspectors. The insurance fund has a $20-million deficit.

The strikers demanded that the government scrap the legislation, which they claim would prevent adequate performance of their professional duties and make them and their patients the prey of government snoopers.

The doctors also complained because they would not be allowed to stay out of the government plan, as British doctors can abstain from their country's nationalized health program.

There were signs of some confusion in the strikers' ranks. Newspaper editorials and comments of ordinary Belgian citizens revealed that the doctors were losing popularity.

RESUMED CALLS

In Brugge, the doctors decided to resume house calls. In other urban areas, doctors still refused to make such visits.

The strikers are participating in an emergency system under which serious cases are taken to hospitals for treatment.

They threatened to discontinue the emergency system if doctors were victimized or if hostility against them increased. Some physicians reported receiving anonymous threats.

Others said their homes had been smeared with tar and paint.

Interior Minister Arthur Gillson claimed that emergency medical arrangements for the Brussels area were inadequate.

Joseph Cardinal Suensens, Roman Catholic archbishop of Belgium, urged Lefevre and the doctors to get a settlement at once. He requested that "absolute priority be given to the adequate treatment of sick people."

Did Hirohito Make Offer of Christianity?

TOKYO (AP)—Japanese officials expressed surprise today at evangelist Billy Graham's report that Gen. Douglas MacArthur told him Emperor Hirohito offered to make Christianity Japan's state religion.

This is the first we've heard of such a thing," said an official of the imperial household.

He added that no Japanese officials were present during MacArthur's meeting with the Emperor Hirohito and that, in the absence of written records and the unavailability of the emperor for comment on such matters, it was impossible to know what was said.

Graham said MacArthur told him he informed the emperor: "No nation must be made to conform to any religion. It must be done voluntarily."

Japanese newspapers ignored the report.

While Watchdog Is in Hospital, Robbers at Work

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Jewelry valued at $100,000 was stolen Tuesday from the apartment of tobacco heir Richard J. (Josh) Reynolds, whose Doberman Pinscher watchdog was in a hospital for a tonsilectomy.

The daylight burglary occurred at the exclusive Racquet Club where gunmen slugged actress Eva Gabor and robbed her of $25,000 in diamonds three months ago.

The burglar overlooked a $125,000 bracelet in a lingerie drawer. Police said the thief apparently entered the apartment with keys.

Reynolds and his wife discovered the burglary when they returned home about 6 p.m. Reynolds said only two pieces, valued at about $15,000 were insured.

Fire Destroys Hotel Section; 2 Firemen Hurt

LAKEWOOD, N.J. (AP)—A pre-dawn fire destroyed the west wing of the 300-room Laurel in Pines Hotel today, forcing 300 guests to flee.

Police said two firemen suffered minor injuries battling the blaze, but none of the guests was hurt.

About 16 rooms were in the burned-out section of the hotel, a four-story brick structure.

Flames threatened nearby homes, but none was damaged.

The hotel was quickly evacuated when the first alarm was sounded at 2 a.m. Guests were taken to nearby motels.

Heiress Hutton Weds 7th Time

Marries Viet Prince at Villa in Mexico

CUERNAVACA, Mexico (AP)—Barbara Hutton is a bride for the seventh time and a princess for the third. She married Vietnamese-French Prince Doan Vinh Tuesday night.

The 51-year-old, Woolworth heiress wore a green Southeast Asian gown with gold trimmings and had her feet painted red in deference to her bridegroom, a tall, 49-year-old chemist and artist.

About 30 guests were invited to the twilight ceremony at Miss Hutton's $3-million, Oriental-style home at nearby Jiutepec, an Indian village about 60 miles south of Mexico City.

BRIDE'S SON

The bride's son, Lance Revell, 27, came from California for the wedding.

Mayor Felipe Castrejon Castro of Jiutepec conducted the civil rites.

The only news photographer allowed inside the estate said the blue-eyed millionairess, who was known in childhood as the poor little rich girl, looked "lovely and young." She has been plagued by ill health in recent years.

The couple reportedly plans to leave next week for a honeymoon in Honolulu, where Miss Hutton has another mansion.

ONCE MARRIED

Doan, a lean, athletic-looking man, said he had been married and divorced once but gave no details. Miss Hutton was divorced from husband No. 6, German-born Gottfried von Cramm, in 1960.

The bridegroom's mother was French and his father a Vietnamese viceroys in what was French Indochina. He said his title of prince came through adoption into the family of former Laotian Premier Prince Boun Oum Na Champassak.

A Buddhist, he said his bride "is very favorable to this religion."

Inquest Is Ordered in Youth's Death

MANISTEE (AP)—Details of the fatal shooting of a 20-year-old Frankfort youth in a gun battle with Benzie County Sheriff Jerry Pelton go before a coroner's inquest here Friday.

The development was announced Tuesday by Manistee County Prosecutor David Bailey.

Killed March 22 after a high speed chase was William R. Gates, Pelton, 55, said the youth fired first with a 12-gauge shotgun after being stopped near Manistee to end the chase that started in Frankfort.

Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt Says:

From Any Angle, Women Are Stronger

In any population there are always a few more boy babies born than girl babies. But the death rate for boy babies is also a little higher than that for girls.

As children grow, girls equal boys in muscular development until the age of puberty. That is BRANDSTADT why many girls come to be known as tomboys in their early years.

With puberty, the boys in general show greatly increased muscular development and the girls settle down to a quieter way of life.

But which sex has the greater staying power? Any statistician will tell you that the number of wives who are widowed by the time they reach age 45 is about twice the number of husbands widowed by that age.

There are several reasons for this. Not only is the death rate from diseases of the heart and blood vessels higher in men than in women — it is also increasing at a greater rate. Death from peptic ulcers show a similar trend.

NERVOUS TENSION

Both categories of disease are aggravated by nervous tension. Women give vent to their emotions more freely than men and thus have less tendency to get high blood pressure or a heart attack.

Lung cancer is another disease that has shown a growing preference for men. Air pollution may play a part in causing this disease but, whereas the exposure to polluted air is about the same for men and women, men more deeply and smoke more of each cigarette before discarding it.

Scientists are searching for other reasons for the increasing death rate in men at the prime of life.

Many men now do jobs with the aid of machinery that used to be done with their muscles. If they do not counteract this lessened muscular activity by taking up golf or some other sport they will become early victims of hardening of the arteries.

OTHER FACTORS

Add to this the higher death rate for men from venereal disease, alcoholism, homicide and accidents and the constant lowering of the death rate from childbirth and women's diseases. It becomes evident that the modern wife will have to co-operate with her husband's physician in keeping her spouse alive if she doesn't relish the idea of widowhood.

She can do this by encouraging him to have a physical gets proper rest and nourishment checkup every year, by providing a peaceful home atmosphere and by seeing that he

STERLING ENCLOSURE

CENTURIES OLD—A 3,000-man team begins the job of cutting these 32-century-old temples of Abu Simbel, including statues of King Rameses II and Queen Nefertiti into 30-ton blocks for removal to a new site to escape the waters of the Nile River to be embounded by the giant new Aswan dam of Egypt. A German engineering firm is heading the job of saving the historical gem.

Three Held in Flint on Dope Charges

FLINT (AP) — Three Port Huron persons were held Tuesday on charges of possessing and selling narcotics.

Genesee County Prosecutor Robert F. Leonard said William J. Isabel, Melba M. Washington and Mildred D. Moore were arrested Monday night by federal agents, state police and Flint police.

Leonard said he has asked a warrant charging Isabel with the sale and possession of narcotics. Possession charges were placed against the two women.

House Floor Leader to Head Wayne GOP

LANSING (AP) — Rep. Robert Waldron, R-Grosse Pointe, the House GOP floor leader, has been named acting chairman of the Wayne County Republican organization.

Waldron will serve out the unexpired term of Peter Spivak, who resigned as Wayne County GOP chairman last week after Gov. George W. Romney named him chairman of the Michigan Public Service Commission.

To Escape Aswan Dam Waters

Egypt Temples Being Cut Up, Moved

ABU SIMBEL, Egypt (AP) — The towering temples of Abu Simbel, untroubled for 32 centuries, look down with majestic disdain today on a group of men preparing to cut them into countless pieces.

The men belong to a five-nation construction team with the task of dismantling the ancient monuments and restoring them on high ground — out of reach of waters to be dammed up by Egypt's new Aswan Dam.

With electronically guided saws, the archeological surgeons plan to cut King Rameses II, his pretty Queen Nefertiti and an assortment of Egyptian gods into 30-ton blocks.

Engineers of West Germany's Hochtief construction firm are measuring Rameses with precise instruments.

HOLD RISING WATERS

At the side of the Nile, a huge crane swings back and forth unloading steel rods from Britain. It will be used to build a cofferdam, 1,200 feet long and 111 feet high, to keep back the rising waters.

The engineers are working in three shifts—under the hot Nubian sun by day and floodlights at night.

The project will require 3,000 workers when it gets into full swing in about two weeks. Already 1,000 men are on the spot. Only a few are working near the temples. The rest are in the rear of the Abu Simbel escarpment, paving a road and building a small workers' city.

PROJECT MANAGER

The project manager, West German Prof. Walter Jurecka, says:

"The cofferdam is the first and easiest stage, but it is vital. We are racing against the rising waters of the new Aswan Dam which is expected to flood this area next September. And unless the dam is finished by then, the whole project will be useless."

"We are confident that this great heritage will be saved. The dam will be ready in less than five months and the cutting will then start immediately."

Before the statues and stones are cut up, the twin temples will be covered with sand and timber for protection. Then the rock mountain above them is to be cut and moved away.

When the temples get their new home on the banks of a huge new lake, they will be near a tourist hotel, a small port, a hospital, a swimming pool, a museum and, of course, a tourist bazaar where you can purchase models of the temples, made in Cairo.

"When reassembled," Jurecka said, "the temples will retain the characteristic they have at the present. They will continue to face the east bank of the river, allowing the rays of the rising sun to penetrate their corridors and rooms every morning."

Saving Abu Simbel is a UNESCO project and 47 countries agreed to put up most of the $36 million needed. The United States and the United Arab Republic are the biggest contributors.

Some Chief Executives Make Job Harder

Presidential Security Stays in National Focus

Editor's Note—The security around the President has been increased since the assassination of John F. Kennedy. In the following article the difficulties of protecting chief executives is discussed by an Associated Press newsmen who has been covering the White House since the days of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL, WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson walked in the funeral procession of President John F. Kennedy against the advice of the Secret Service and reportedly told an agent: "I'd rather give my life than be afraid to give it."

This profession of courage points up an ever-present, insoluble security problem — a problem that has become increasingly difficult now that an election campaign is under way.

Precautions have been increased since the assassination of Kennedy. But the Secret Service, as one veteran put it, can only provide the safeguard. It can not compel the President to use them.

When Johnson was asked in a television interview March 15 whether he always follows instructions of the security agents he said:

"Yes, with rare exceptions now and then, like marching in the funeral procession and occasionally they prefer to have two or three policemen between me and the crowds, and I ask them to move out, so I can see some of the people."

TALK TO PEOPLE

"I want to be a people's President, and in order to do so, you have to see the people and talk to them and know something about them and not be too secluded."

"I think they would feel better if the President kept 100 yards distance from every human being, but that is not practical."

Besides, human beings vote. And, increasingly, Johnson will be making political expeditions. Already he is pushing into every chance he gets—even at church, although he contends he should be allowed to worship in private.

POLITICAL TRIP

Kennedy was on a political trip to Texas Nov. 22. He wanted to see and be seen by throngs of people. His motorcade route was advertised in advance for the people of Dallas—and for accused assassin Lee Harvey Oswald.

A week before, Kennedy had insisted on driving through New York without the customary police escort and with stops at every red light.

Things changed after Dallas. In New York and in all cities, swarms of police turn out along streets and peer down from windows, rooftops and bridges.

Helicopters hang overhead. For the President, himself, there is far more reliance on helicopters than on motorcades to get him into the centers of cities.

ARMORED CAR

When Johnson does move by car in urban areas, it is in four-ton armored car with bulletproof glass on loan from FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover.

The Lincoln bubbletop limousine in which Kennedy was shot is being overhauled and having armor added before it comes back to the White House fleet. In motor processions now, motorcycle police form a tighter cordon around the President.

The White House physician is only a car or two away. In the open Secret Service car right behind Johnson, an agent sits backward on one of the jump seats, since Kennedy was hit by shots from behind.

NO GUARANTEE

The White House Secret Service detail hasn't been increased substantially, because manpower isn't a guarantee of presidential safety. A determined, crafty crackpot can kill any man.

Furthermore, on occasion, Johnson gives the Secret Service no notice where or when he intends to go some place—as was the case also with Kennedy at times. Unlike Kennedy, he also banishes Secret Service men from his car on occasion.

He did this while scorching the roads with a car full of newsmen during his Easter vacation in Texas. He did it here when he attended church with his family last Sunday.

DASHING OFF

But then Franklin D. Roosevelt used to go dashing off in his Ford touring car alone, cutting through swamp areas on the family estate, at Hyde Park, N.Y., and chucking merrily when a heavy Secret Service car bogged down.

Presidential protection in some ways was easier in those days. Because of his crippled legs, Roosevelt couldn't get out and mingle with crowds. He couldn't make sudden, unannounced moves.

President Harry S. Truman was somewhat more of a problem, with his morning walks. But few people were out then, and routes changed. Security was tightened around him, too, after an attempted assassination while he was occupying Blair House during the renovation of the White House.

FRIENDLY WAVE

President Dwight D. Eisenhower had that warm smile and friendly wave but he didn't often mix with crowds, either, the way Kennedy did and Johnson does.

Eisenhower's Secret Service driver crashed the legal speed barrier at times on the way to the Eisenhower farm at Gettysburg, Pa.

The question of presidential speeding has drawn attention once again—especially with a vacancy in the vice presidency.

Alabama has 7,000 square miles of coal fields, enough to supply the U.S. at current rates for 175 years.

County Permit Hikes Waterford Building

A permit of $720,498 for the Oakland County Children's Village swelled the March building permit valuation total in Waterford Township to nearly $1 million over March, 1963.

Last month the building department issued 80 permits valued at $1,406,387 compared to 48 at a valuation of $458,353 during the same month last year.

Permit valuation for the first three months this year totals $1,520,498 compared to $758,994 for the same 1963 period.

Besides the Children's Village project at the County Service Center, an upswing in residential building permits contributed to the high March total.

A valuation of $605,628 was set on the 35 such permits issued last month.

20 PERMITS
This compares to a $355,940

valuation on 20 housing permits issued by the building department in March, 1963.

The upward trend extended to the category of home improvements.

Last month 19 permits were issued for additions and remodeling at a valuation of $36,211.

This compares to 13 such permits in March, 1963 at a valuation of $26,873.

Amy Krueger Creates Beauty in Silver

By MADELEINE DOEREN

The sound of the hammer is heard in the land when Amy Krueger's silversmithing class goes into action!

No ordinary hammers are these for they are known as ball-peen hammers. They pound out flat sheets of silver placed over small sandbags. A spoon, a bowl or piece of jewelry soon takes shape.

What motivates this little class of seven which gathers for three hours on Monday evenings in the craft shop behind the YWCA building on Franklin Boulevard?

"It's their desire for creativity and self-expression," says their teacher, Amy Krueger. "Besides perseverance and imagination, my pupils need a good strong right arm (or even a left one for that matter). We aren't fussy."

SWAN SONG

Before long, Pontiac will lose Miss Krueger, who has been teaching at the Y for four years, and her sister Cora. They plan to return to their girlhood home built by their father 40 years ago in Charles City, Iowa.

It wasn't easy to connect a sociology major and former YW executive with metalworking which Miss Krueger insists is "just a hobby started in desperation." "Evenings were long when I was in Y club work down in the anthracite area in Pennsylvania, so I signed up for an adult education art class in Hazelton."

During her 10 years in Pontac, Miss Krueger has been president of the Pontiac branch, League of Women Voters, and has retired as vice president of the YWCA although she is an honorary member of the board.

She digressed from hobby talk to speak of her graduation in sociology from Charles City College, followed by work on her master's degree at the University of Chicago. She also studied short story writing at Columbia University.

NEW YORK JOB

High point of her 44 years in Y work was her position as Metropolitan Industrial Secretary of the Brooklyn (N.Y.) YWCA. Her duties there included club work and overseeing working conditions of girls from some 10 area branches.

There were Syrians, Spanish, Polish, Scandinavian and Italian girls. One of these is presently in the State Labor Department in New York City.

Since her retirement, Miss Krueger has been studying silversmithing under Richard Thomas at the Cranbrook Academy of Art.

The free-form silver bowl which rests on a cast crown base was hammered from a flat sheet, as were the sauce boat and spoon whose handle is trimmed with horizontal filings.

The coffee service, also on a spun silver tray, is fabricated or assembled. The handles were cast and have ivory tips.

WON ACCLAIM

These have been exhibited in the Cranbrook student shows and have been sent by the school to other cities as examples of outstanding student work.

The large bowl also appears in the R. G. Hills silver catalogue published in Detroit for the jewelry trade.

Miss Krueger's jewelry was a Wedgwood blue brooch set in sterling silver and a Japanese black pearl set in a gold ring. She also has a baroque amethyst 'tumbled' to polish, set in silver. Both rings were cast from molten metal.

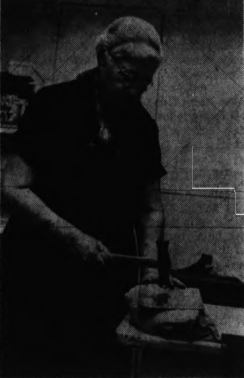

"Metalworking cannot be mastered in one easy lesson as you can readily see," Miss Krueger told us.

Miss Krueger also does copper and silver enameling and has several pieces of "plique a jour" which is semi-transparent like stained window glass.

She can think of quieter pursuits but the hammering and annealing is music to her ears. She hopes to teach her craft when she returns to Charles City.

Hammering brings out the beauty of this contemporary-style silver coffee service which is 'fabricated' or assembled with cast silver handles and ivory tips. It has been exhibited at the Cranbrook Academy of Art and has been shown as student work in various cities.

Miss Krueger shows her pupils at the Pontiac YWCA silver classes how she uses a ballpeen hammer to shape a flat sheet of silver on a sandbag.

Sororities Choose New Officers

Xi Alpha Nu

Officers for 1964-65 were elected at the Tuesday meeting of Xi Alpha Nu chapter of Beta Sigma Phi.

Mrs. Edward Markham is the president; Mrs. Robert Pritchett, vice president; Mrs. Richard Benham, treasurer; Mrs. Richard Ferris, recording secretary; Mrs. Arthur Ellis, corresponding secretary; and city council representative, Mrs. Elwyn Hall.

Mrs. Willard Sovey presented a program on outstanding women in moving pictures at the meeting held in the Starr Street home of Mrs. Pritchett.

Xi Beta Theta

Special events slated for this spring were discussed at the Monday evening meeting of Xi Beta Theta chapter of Beta Sigma Phi.

On April 29 the group will hold a Founder's Day banquet at the Edgewood Country Club. A Mother's Day tea will be held May 9 and installation of officers will take place on May 18.

The meeting was held in the Scott Lake Road home of Mrs. Paul Deschaine.

Zeta Eta

Installation of new officers highlighted the Tuesday meeting of Zeta Eta chapter of Beta Sigma Phi in the Shools Drive home of Mrs. Duane LaTurneau.

Mrs. Dennis Lowes is new president; Mrs. Jack Barker, vice president; Mrs. John Ward, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Byron Barnes, recording secretary; and Mrs. Clifford Wilcox, treasurer.

Mrs. Thomas Bickley served as cohostess for the meeting.

Beta Chi

George Caronis, Pontiac youth director, spoke at the

LADY BIRD JOHNSON
SUBJECT

Monday meeting of Beta Chi chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha.

Officers for the coming year were selected. Mrs. Edgar Plympton is the president; Mrs. James Vincent, vice president; Mrs. John Christoff, recording secretary; Mrs. John Orosy, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Dale Girdler, treasurer.

The meeting was held in the Dwight Street home of Mrs. Jean Safford. She was assisted by Mrs. Gordon Carlson and Mrs. Jerry Strang.

Pontiac Artists Plan Exhibit at Mall in May

Plans for the Pontiac Society of Artists' Annual Exhibit in May will be completed at the group's Friday meeting at 8 p.m. in the Community Services building.

Mrs. Leslie Hearn, chairman, will distribute invitations for the exhibit.

The conference room at the Pontiac Mall will be the scene of the exhibit from May 1-5. A public reception will be held for all guests and members on May 3 from 2 to 7 p.m.

Judge this year is Robert Kinsman, associate curator of contemporary art, Detroit Institute of Art. More than 100 paintings and pieces of sculpture will be on exhibit.

WCTU to Meet

The Dora B. Whitney Union of the Women's Christian Temperance Union will meet Friday.

Also meeting for the 12 noon cooperative dinner at the First Baptist Church will be the Anna Gordon Union.

RUTH MONTGOMERY

Columnist Writes About Mrs. LBJ

By JANET ODELL

Pontiac Press Women's Editor Lady Bird Johnson once prayed that she wouldn't be tops in her high school graduating class and have to make a speech. Now she is called "The best feminine campaigner in the Democratic stable."

Ruth Montgomery in her biography of Mrs. Johnson, "Mrs. LBJ," (Holt, Rinehart and Winston, $3.95) takes the reader back to childhood days of the First Lady.

PRESS WRITER

The author, a syndicated Washington columnist whose articles appear in The Pontiac Press, has known the Johnson family for 20 years. A fellow Texan, she has covered every political convention of both parties since 1948.

Claudia Alta Taylor Johnson was reared by a spinster aunt in a plantation home in East Texas. A product of a one-room schoolhouse, she went on to the University of Texas to earn a graduate degree in journalism. Then she met Lyndon B. Johnson.

After a whirlwind courtship, marriage and a honeymoon in Mexico, the pair settled down in a small Washington apartment. Although Lady Bird was a sturdy self-reliant individual with many tastes widely different from her husband's, she chose to accommodate herself to him.

STAYS HERSELF

"A woman with less character could have become a mere shadow of such an overwhelming man as Lyndon Baines Johnson, but Bird has managed to retain her own perspective and personality," says the author.

Through the author's words we see Lady Bird grow in stature.

We see her assuming responsibility for her husband's office when he went off to war. We see her following him back and forth between Washington and Texas.

We see her campaigning for the Democratic party. We see her as a loving mother, showering on her daughters all the affection built up in 10 years of longing for children.

One is reminded somewhat of the frantic pace Mrs. Roosevelt kept.

Nov. 22, 1963 catapulted her into the White House.

ACCEPTED ROLE
"Now she was in charge of an historic mansion, which had become the crossroads of the world. It was a role that she had neither sought nor desired, but she brought to it unique capability, sweetness and devotion. She had married a man of destiny, that she knew and accepted."

The presidential couple has only words of praise for one another. One chapter is devoted to their thoughts about each other.

The President calls his wife "The most enjoyable woman I have ever known."

EXPECTS MUCH

Of the man she has followed devotedly for three decades, Lady Bird says, "He always expects more of you than you're really mentally or physically capable of putting out. Somehow that makes you try a little bit harder and makes you produce a little more. It is really a very good fertilizer for growth; it's also very tiring."

This book is delightful reading. Confronted with a subject that interests the whole nation, Ruth Montgomery writes a simple, sensitive biography. Interestingly enough, Lady Bird Johnson herself, wrote the foreword.

Banquet Date Set

Oakland County Council of Past Commanders and Past Presidents of the Veterans of Foreign Wars will attend their annual banquet Saturday at 6:30 p.m. in the CAI Building. Mrs. Lia Busch is chairman of the event.

The council, formed in 1931 represents 23 auxiliaries.

Pontiac Press Photos

"These are a few of my favorite things," Miss Amy Krueger appears to be saying of a free-form silver bowl with cast base, the oval sauce boat with spoon, and the coffee service on a spun silver tray.

Might View 'Go-Between for Boyfriend Party as Interfering

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: Several months ago the husband of a very dear friend passed away after a long illness, leaving her with three small children.

His illness drained their savings and I know she is struggling to make ends meet. I would like to give a card party at a local hall and sell tickets to all her friends and relatives as well as mine, turning the proceeds over to her.

I would very much like to know what you think of this idea and whether or not it would be proper.

A: While your intention is kind, I would not advise your doing anything about this without first discussing it with her, as she might seriously resent being made the recipient of charity.

Q: I run my own house, that is I do my own cooking, cleaning and serving. When I have guests in to dinner I find it easiest to put the serving dishes on the table and pass them around from hand to hand for guests to help themselves.

When it comes time to remove the plates for the next course, invariably one or two of the women guests at table will get up to help me carry the used plates into the kitchen.

I know they mean to be helpful but it annoys me very much. I think it is disconcerting to have guests popping up and leaving the dinner table. Will you please let me what I can do about this without hurting anyone's feelings?

A: The only thing you can do is to say politely, but firmly, "Please don't anyone get up; I can do it very quickly alone."

Details concerning the announcing and christening of a baby are described in the Emily Post Institute booklet entitled, "The New Baby."

To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Emily Post Institute, in care of The Pontiac Press.

Go-Between for Boyfriend

Girl Is in Middle on Mail

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Several days ago a letter came to our home addressed to a 15-year-old boy our daughter knows.

It was sent in care of our daughter. My husband saw it and started to question her.

He wanted to know what right the boy had to instruct someone to send him mail in her care. She said she did not know anything about it and didn't see where it was any of her father's business.

I sided with my daughter. Her father allowed her to give the letter to the boy, but he instructed her to tell him that it was not to happen again.

What is your opinion on this? We can't judge the boy as we hardly know him.

MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: I think your husband was right. But he didn't go far enough.

He should have asked his daughter to bring the boy around so he could become acquainted with him, gain his confidence and learn why the boy can't receive mail at home.

Fifteen-year-olds need all the help and understanding they can get.

DEAR ABBY: Re: the letter from the person asking what you thought about folks whose Christmas cards arrived after Christmas, I was pleased with your reply: "Better late than never. Who counts?"

Bravo, Abby! What has happened to the spirit of Christmas? I shall never forget a Christmas gift I once received.

It was a bottle of homemade perfume that smelled strangely like vanilla extract. It was crudely wrapped in Christmas paper that had obviously been used on another

SEW SIMPLE By Eunice Farmer

Dear Eunice: I just finished an overblouse with a deep 'V' in back, and instead of laying nice and flat next to my back, it gaps out and looks very unattractive. Can I correct this?
Mrs. A. G.

Dear Mrs. A. G.: Since you didn't mention using interfacing at the neckline, I have a sneaking suspicion that you didn't, and consequently, you have probably stretched the neckline when applying the facing.

Since the "V" neckline is cut on the bias, it is very easy to stretch. My suggestion, which works beautifully, is to baste a piece of hem tape on the wrong side of the fabric, just over the seamline. Pull this tape slightly as you baste; easing the back neckline into the tape.

Before sewing it, try it on and be sure it lays nice and close to your back if not, take the tape off and ease up a little extra fabric onto the tape. Next machine-stitch the tape to the neckline before applying the interfacing and facing.

This might be a good place to mention that all necklines should be interfaced with a wavy-type interfacing. Cut the interfacing the same as your facing pattern. If you don't have a facing pattern, use the outer edge of your pattern as a guide and cut the interfacing about three inches wide.

Always baste to the wrong side of your garment, not to the facing itself. Then pin facing to garment and machine stitch the three layers at once.

TAILOR TRIX WINNER

As a third-generation rug braider, here is my hint for making braided rugs lie flat. You must allow fullness in the braid that is being joined to the rounded part of the rug.

As a test, each time you sew a curved area, lift the rounded portion of the rug and let it fall. If the rug 'cups' you haven't allowed enough fullness on the braid that was joined. If the rug 'ripples,' too much fullness has been allowed. It just takes a little practice to get the feel of it! - Mrs. C. L. Malaney, North Miami, Fla., is this week's winner of a Tailor Trix Pressing Board.

Dear Eunice: Won't you please ask your readers to come forth with some helpful suggestions to that age-old problem of perspiration! Now with warmer weather coming on, I simply dread putting on anything good at all because I ruin it the first time I wear it.

To my knowledge, I have tried everything on the market, but two heads are better than one, so any suggestions will be appreciated. Also, what do you do with garments that have been ruined?

Mrs. L. B.

Dear Mrs. L. B.: Our readers have always helped out before.
I know they will come to the rescue this time. Please send your suggestions to Sew Simple today! Perhaps your remedy will win a Tailor Trix Pressing Board for you.

KNIT NOTES: When knitting involves sewing, then it's a must for Sew Simple. Many of you have asked how yarns and fabrics can be attractively combined?

Here's one that is a little different and very appropriate for this time of the year.

Use one of the new linen type yarns and knit a shell overblouse to match a solid colored linen or Italian silk suit.

Knit a strip of yarn on the bias about two inches wide and apply to the front edges of your jacket.

Dear Eunice: To make convertible cuffs for your husband's shirts, so that he can choose whether to wear cuff links or not is a simple thing to do.

Take your standard shirts, remove the button, and make a machine buttonhole beginning where the button was sewed on.
Sew the button back on again, and he'll think you're so smart!
Just like the ready made shirts.

Son Determined to Get Dad's Attention

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Dear Mrs. Lawrence: Our younger boy is my husband's pride and joy. He is a bright, 8-year-old, full of life and self-assurance — the exact opposite of his brother, George.

It is George I am writing about. He is the retiring type and has always been shy with his father.

Now his whole attitude is changing. He goes out of his way to provoke his father, making him wait for answers to questions and dawdling over obedience until his father gets wild.

I can't get anywhere with him by talking to him.

ANSWER: I guess George has decided to force his father to give him some attention.

He's succeeding too, isn't he? By refusing to answer his father's questions promptly, he is forcing him to give time.

When he delays his obedience, he compels his father to notice him. This angry attention he is commanding from his father is certainly not the kind George wants from him.

But I expect he's given up hope of the kind he wants — the "pride and joy" kind his brother gets from his father. Rather than trying to get by with no attention at all, George has chosen to settle for the angry kind.

More power to him. He's a brave child. He's not going to let himself be obliterated in his home by his father's indifference to him. He's fighting for his life, George is — for a space, for room in his father's awareness that he must have if he is to know himself as human substance.

And that's not esoteric, either. Knives and bullets are not the only weapons by which we destroy each other. Indifference to our existence can kill us. Our mental hospital are jammed with distraught people to whose existence other people have been indifferent.

Your brave child is refusing to accept his father's destructive indifference. He is fighting for the involvement that occurs between him and his father when he can arouse his anger. He is sick and tired of the dead distance that has developed between them.

"We can grow only WITH others in love and in friction," writes the noted psychoanalyst Karen Horney. Up to now your husband had denied George his right to grow. He has refused to be WITH his son either in love or friction.

Well, George isn't letting him get away with it. And I hope he keeps up this provocative behavior until he steams up enough anxiety in his father to make him ask himself: "How have I contributed to this? What does this son need from me that I have refused to give him?"

Senate Unit OKs Extra Millions for Education

LANSING (AP) — The Senate Appropriations Committee Tuesday authorized spending for higher education, exceeding by millions of dollars even Gov. George W. Romney's record request.

The committee increased by more than $1 million his request for the operation of state education institutions, and by more than $3 million their capital outlay program budget requested by Romney.

The action, if approved by the Senate and House, means building projects at several universities can be accelerated.

Sen. Stanley Thayer, Romney's chief Senate spokesman and a member of the committee, said the action represents "without doubt the biggest single increase in spending for education in Michigan's history."

DUAL RECOGNITION

"It is a recognition of two things: the school-age population explosion, and the fact that education is the great source of opportunity for the people of our state," said Thayer, under whose name the two measures were introduced.

Michigan State University got a slight increase, to $39,641,813, in its over-all operating budget recommendation, despite the loss of a $100,000 item for a new police academy.

The committee itemized part of MSU's spending for next fiscal year, earmarking funds for the agricultural extension service, the agricultural experiment station and pesticide research. The building expenditures for education were part of the over-all capital outlay request, which was boosted by about $7 million over Romney's $51 million request for acquisition and construction of new facilities for state institutions.

CONSTRUCTION FUND

The committee authorized $29.94 million for construction in the education field, with all of the $3 million increase going to universities.

The committee doubled to $4 million the request for continuing construction of Michigan State's $9 million power plant, but cut in half requests of $1.5 million each to start construction of a conservation-forestry building and a food science building.

For Wayne State, the committee scratched a $70,000 item to start planning library, classroom and office facilities but wrote in new allowances for $1 million in land acquisition for new construction at Grand Valley State College by deleting a $30,000 request for planning an academic complex for 1,000 students.

Ferris State College got the committee's go-ahead for a start of construction in its $1.35 million library and study center and its heating plant expansion program.

These items had been down for a total of $32,000 for preliminary plans only, but the committee's recommendation is for $652,000, boosting Ferris' overall spending proposal over the $2 million mark.

For Michigan Tech, the committee wrote in a new $30,000 item for preliminary plans on a forest and forest products research center expected to cost $1.27 million, with federal funds paying half.

Another new item was written into the Northern Michigan University request, allowing $150,000 to finish construction of its $2.65 million practical and fine arts classroom building.

But for Northern, a $45,000 request for a start of a learning resources center was scratched.

For Western Michigan University, a new $30,000 item for a start on library expansion was substituted for a $10,000 request for heating plant expansion, boosting Western's building budget to $1.4 million.

The committee wrote in a specific prohibition against any of the current appropriation being used "for any institution of higher learning to establish any new branch institution away from its campus."

Thayer said he did not believe this in itself would stop U of M from expanding in Flint because funds appropriated to constitutional bodies for operations may be distributed at the discretion of the institution's governing board.

Other committee changes in the Romney education proposals include:

—A boost from $3 million to $4 million in the capital outlay matching fund for community colleges.

—Boosts from $14,000 annually to $15,500 for salaries of directors of the two schools for the deaf and blind.

—Cuts in the salaries of top officers in the historical commission.

—A cut in the operating budget of the Civil War Centennial Commission from $12,500 to $7,500.

Dirksen Changes May Provide 1st Rights Bill Tests

Gets Prison Term for Stealing Auto

WASHINGTON (AP)—Important civil rights bill test votes appeared today to be within reach at last, as the marathon

Senate debate entered its 25th day. Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen unveiled today the general nature but few exact details of amendments he will offer to the bill's equal employment opportunity provisions. He said he would ask his GOP colleagues at a conference tomorrow to support them.

sen leaders who piloted the bill through the House before he commented. Sens. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., and Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., floor managers and defenders of the equal employment opportunity provisions, didn't even mention Dirksen's suggested amendments in speeches prepared for today's debate.

The Senate planned a two-hour recess this afternoon to permit members to pay tribute at the casket of General of the Army Douglas MacArthur when his body is brought to the Capitol to lie in state.

The senators then will resume the debate.

For helping steal a car parked in an employee parking lot at the Fisher Body plant, 24-year-old Michael Rivenburgh of 119 Summit was sent to prison yesterday for two to five years.

Rivenburgh was sentenced by Oakland County Circuit Court Judge Philip Pratt. He was convicted by a jury March 19. The theft took place last August.

Police said Rivenburgh and another man pushed the car out of the parking lot but fled when they saw police. Rivenburgh, who has a record of larceny and burglary convictions, was arrested later.

Dirksen said they involved about 40 changes, many just "technical," and only eight or nine of major importance.

Declaring they are intended neither to "water down nor emasculate" the bill, Dirksen announced plans to call up some of the amendments next week for Senate consideration.

The move would mark the first real break in the often repetitive debate and would set the stage for test votes expected to give some clue to the bill's ultimate fate.

SUPPORTERS, OPPONENTS
Both supporters and opponents of the bill approached Dirksen's move gingerly.

But the man who guided the rights measure to approval in the House, Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., warned last night that the House would not "embrace any lethal or distorting amendments" to the bill.

Celler's remarks, made to a meeting of the AFL-CIO's industrial union department, were promptly answered before the same forum by assistant Senate Democratic Leader Hubert H. Humphrey.

"We have no intention at any stage of the game of letting you down, selling you out, or in any way weakening... the scope of the bill you sent to the United States Senate," Humphrey said, adding: "I know I speak now for a majority of the Senate."

GOOD BILL
Earlier, Humphrey had commented: "I believe Sen. Dirksen is trying to be constructive. But my general position is that we have a good bill and like it as is."

Humphrey said he intended to check details of Dirksen's amendments with the Justice Department and the bipar-

'Not Really Upset'

Night Sister Is a Mister

MAIDSTONE, England (AP)—Richard Hulbert has been appointed assistant matron at Maidstone's Oakwood Hospital.

Michael Curtins is Oakwood's new night sister, as British hospitals call their head ward nurses.

"I'm not really upset about being called matron, said Hulbert. "But I suppose I could be called something more suitable."

"People find it a bit hard to explain that a man is a sister," said Arthur Akers, general secretary of the Health Service Union, "but it really isn't easy to think of anything new."

Akers said most British hospitals give their nurses badges showing their rank.

NEED BADGES
"We've now reached the stage," he said, "where they need badges to say whether they're men or women."

Especially in Oakwood. It's a women's hospital.

2 Killed in Crash Near Grand Rapids

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Two persons were killed and three others injured today in a collision involving three vehicles in suburban Wyoming.

Identities of the victims were not immediately made known, but police said one was a Wyoming man and the other a Grand Rapids woman.

Police said the accident took place when a car apparently collided with a truck and a second auto rammed the wreckage.

Illinois Central Railroad Hit by Strike

CHICAGO (U)—Some 7,200 employees of four unions went on strike against the Illinois Central Railroad at 5:30 a.m. EST today in protest against a contract settlement, a spokesman of the four rail operating unions said. Engineers, firemen, conductors and trainmen struck over unsettled demands for paid holidays, adequate overtime, expenses at away-from-home points, shift differential pay and other requests in what the spokesman called a four-year effort to gain modernization of work rules. The 6,600-mile Illinois Central serves 14 states and such major points as Chicago, Council Bluffs, Louisville, Memphis, Birmingham and New Orleans. Striking were the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, The Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, The Order of Railway Conductors and Brakemen and the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

Judge Doesn't Have the Feminine Touch

WICHITA, Kan. (U)—State Court Judge James V. Riddle Jr. had been in his office in the new courthouse four years when he decided he should have curtains for the office windows. Checking for a place to install the curtains, he pulled back a narrow drape at a window and found that draw drapes were already in place, installed when the office was furnished.

More than 300,000 pools will be built in this country during 1964.

WITH "Super-Right" PORK LOINS!

The EAT in the MEAT that you get in a "Super-Right" pork loin begins way back with the selections of A&P expert buyers. Only tender, young, corn-fed porkers will do. Heavy hogs are too wasteful. Then there's the "Super-Right" method of cutting pork loins that insures full value. No center meat is ever removed from half loins. Center cuts are just that—only choice center meat. And you never get just "ends" if you buy less than a half loin. You get full rib or loin portions with plenty of EAT in the MEAT. This same care goes into our beef, lamb, veal and poultry, as well as pork. That's why every cut is guaranteed to please you—or your money back! Cavanagh Gets Support on Tax Plan Stand LANSING (AP) — The mayors of three outstate cities joined Detroit's Mayor Jerome Cavanagh Tuesday in calling for defeat of legislation aimed at restricting the power of cities to tax income.

Opposition to the proposals was voiced in a Senate Tax Committee hearing by mayors

G. Stewart Franke of Saginaw, George Poulos of Flint — both of whose cities have income taxes — and Millard Vandervoort of Battle Creek.

All four criticized a provision of the House-approved legislation that would require any city planning to tax income to obtain approval of voters.

They argued this provision is a potential threat to the economic welfare of cities and would unnecessarily restrict the right of elected officials to make decisions.

CALLED THREAT

Poulos called it "a threat to the right of home rule cities to have home rule. This means allowing the local officials the fiscal independence to solve their own problems," he said.

Vandervoort said the state "should let cities administer taxes as they see fit. We don't want to see the income tax right taken away by a referendum clause."

The referendum provision is part of a bill to set uniform state standards for local income taxes, including limits of 1 per cent on residents and one half per cent on non-residents.

The bill and a companion proposal to bar local units of government from imposing any excise taxes except on income are backed by Gov. George W. Romney. However, the governor opposes the referendum requirement which was added on the House floor in an amendment sponsored by Rep. Wilfred Bassett, R-Jackson.

Cavanagh said the bills are "potentially the most destructive legislation to local financial stability and to the concept of home rule...in a long time."

The Detroit mayor said the referendum requirement would force the city to submit its tax, in effect since July 1, 1962 to a vote.

Furthermore, Cavanagh said, the bill's provision that a tax must become effective on Jan. 1 and a vote must be held at least 60 days prior, would appear to preclude Detroit from assessing its tax at all in 1965.

FAVOR BILLS

Southfield Mayor James Clark, who doubles as attorney for the Vigilance Tax Committee, and the group's chairman, Mayor George Kahn of Berkley, testified in favor of the bills Tuesday.

Kahn said, however, he would prefer that the bills be amended to bar all taxes on nonresidents instead of limiting them to one half per cent.

Others testifying included Rep. William Hayward, R-Royal Oak, and Sens. John Bowman, D-Roseville, and William Ford, D-Taylor.

Sen. Clyde Geerlings, R-Holland, chairman of the tax committee, said he expected his committee to discuss the bills late today and probably vote before Friday on whether to report them out.

"I have always said you should live your life so that on your dying day you can look back with no regrets—not even about your mistakes," he commented. "The important things to have are a sense of humor, and love and friendship."

"We know our marriage won't last for 50 years. But we're going to enjoy it as long as we can."

Highway Work Begins ed work to modernize more than three miles of M37 at LANSING (AP) — The State Highway Department has started work to modernize more than three miles of M37 at Lansing. The project is due to be completed in June, 1965.

Melchior Muses on Life, Coming Vows

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD — "I have lived alone for a year and I have not liked it. So I thought I should have a companion for my sunset years."

Lauritz Melchior was talking at his mountaintop chalet about his marriage May 23 to Mary Markham, 40-year-old television producer who was once his secretary. A pretty, personable blonde, she was at his side beaming at her future husband, once again helping answer his mail.

THOMAS
Melchior, 74, seems a long way from sunset. His girl is still Wagnerian — both he and his future bride agree he is dieting — and his rich tenor can still ring the rafters.

Further evidence of his youthfulness was offered by Miss Markham with mock complaint: "We'll have a week's honeymoon in Hawaii and then he's going to leave me to hunt ice bear in Norway and Greenland."

AFTER THE HUNT
Melchior added: "After hunting ice bear, I look forward to coming back to a warm home."

He is now involved in plans to refurbish his Mulholland Drive home, a showplace which features his hunting trophies, as it will fit his new family. His bride-to-be has a 3-year-old son by a previous marriage, also named Lauritz.

"The boy and I get along fine," said Melchior, himself a grandfather, "but then, I have always liked children."

Melchior's singing activity has slowed down in recent years and he has earned his rest. He began singing opera in 1913 and his work load has matched the size of his voice and build. At the Metropolitan Opera House alone he performed 512 times, missing only three engagements.

STARTED AT 9
"Actually, I started singing at 9 in the choir of my church in Denmark," he said. "But I didn't sing professionally until I was full-grown, and I am glad that, I think it is wrong for young people to start singing before audiences at too early an age. They usually burn themselves out."

"It is better for a singer to wait until he has matured, both in body and mind and personality. Ah, that is the key: personality. In our business success is 10 per cent voice and 90 per cent personality. Anyone can have a voice. But if he cannot communicate it to others, it is worthless."

"I have always said you should live your life so that on your dying day you can look back with no regrets—not even about your mistakes," he commented. "The important things to have are a sense of humor, and love and friendship."

Explosion Hits Struck Plant

HILLSDALE (AP) — An explosion punched a hole in the roof of the Essex Wire Corp. plant at midnight with a concussion that smashed 40 to 50 windows, the latest episode surrounding a violence-marked strike.

There were no injuries, although four persons were working near the area of the blast. Damage was confined to the roof and windows. Hillsdale policeman Ralph Strait said. The blast cut a 10-inch hole in the roof.

Police were questioning members of the striking Local 810 of the International Electrical Workers Union after three IUE pickets were reported in the area at the time, Strait said.

The explosive "was thrown from the ground onto the roof," Strait said. Fragments were sent to the state police crime laboratory at Lansing for analysis. Essex officials said it appeared to be dynamite.

NEGOTIATIONS in the strike had been scheduled to resume today after being in recess since last Thursday.

Tuesday, police intervened in a picket line incident. A job applicant was booted. Officers said there was "some shoving" on the picket line.

The company has advertised it has jobs open and has continued operations during the strike. The 180 members of the IUE have been on strike since Feb. 26 over terms of an initial contract. The IUE replaced the Teamsters Union in a bargaining rights election last year, but had worked without a contract until the strike.

The explosion was the latest in a series of violent incidents which have caused injuries to two persons and damage to plant property.

Canada exports of fats, oils and oilseeds last year totaled 578 million pounds.

Red Wings Turn Big Guns on Black Hawks for 7-2 Triumph

SCORING GATES OPEN — Norm Ullman of Detroit led a personal assault against the Chicago Black Hawks last night at Olympia Stadium in Detroit, scoring three goals and picking up two assists as the Red wings blitzed the Hawks, 7-2.

Ullman notched his first goal on this first-period play, slapping the puck over fallen Hawks' goalie Glenn Hall. Al MacNeil (11) defends for Chicago while Floyd Smith of Detroit tries to clear a path for Ullman.

Expect Tigers to Be Fourth

Yankees Favored in AL

NEW YORK (AP)—As impregnable as Fort Knox and almost as rich, the New York Yankees are so far superior to the rest of the American League it is conceivable they could wrap up their fifth consecutive pennant in record time. The big battle figures to be for second place. Four teams—Minnesota, Baltimore, Chicago and Detroit—will probably knock each other's brains out for the runner-up spot.

Of the others, only Cleveland appears to have a chance to sneak into the first division. The immediate future bodes ill for Boston, Los Angeles, Washington and Kansas City.

How can the other clubs stop the Yankees with a healthy Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris? Even without them for half a season, the Yankees ran off with the 1963 championship by 19 games.

The possible order of finish:

1. New York
2. Minnesota
3. Baltimore
4. Detroit
5. Chicago
6. Cleveland
7. Boston
8. Los Angeles
9. Washington
10. Kansas City

Yogi Berra, the new manager, claims the Yankees are stronger than last year. His argument is simple and direct.

"Our outfield is the best, our infield is the best and our catching is the best," he said. "And our pitching is better than it was last year."

RANKS HIGH

The Yankee outfield trio of Mantle, Maris and Tommy Tresh, and the infield of Joe Peptide, Bobby Richardson, Tony Kubek and Clete Boyer rank tops in the league.

Catcher Elston Howard, the league's Most Valuable Player of 1963, is in a class by himself. The Twins compare favorably with the Yankees in power. They have good, if not outstanding pitching, but lack the tight defense so vital to a pennant winner. They were eighth in fielding last year and the switch at first from Vic Power to Bob Allison doesn't figure to eliminate that weakness.

Manager Hank Bauer has installed some aggressiveness in the Baltimore line-up, which figures to be strengthened by newcomers Norm Siebern and Willie Kirkland. The pitching is strong and could rate with the best if Chuck Estrada's apparent recovery following an elbow operation is no myth.

Al Lopez, manager of the White Sox, maintains his perennial optimism but Pete Ward, his slugging third baseman, continues to suffer from a chronic back ache, diagnosed as a pinched nerve.

Detroit has improved its infield and outfield by the acquisition of second baseman Jerry Lumpe and center fielder Don Demeter. Larry Lary, the ailing right-hander, has pitched encouragingly this spring but Manager Charlie Dressen has been unable to come up with a replacement for the departed Jim Bunning.

GOOD PITCHING

The Indians have strong pitching but the infield and outfield situations are unsettled. They also are bound to miss Manager Burt Reynolds, hospitalized with a heart attack.

The Red Sox do not appear to have improved over last year when they were short of pitching, catching and outfield strength.

Los Angeles has gone back to a rebuilding program.

The brightest spots on the Senators are at first base and shortstop. Bill Skowron has been hitting splendidly all first and Ed Brinkman has shown tremendous promise at short.

Only a handful of home runs by Rocky Colavito and Jim Gentile will take the minds of the Kansas City fans away from the team's atrocious pitching.

League Fines Sid Abel $500

Coach Repeats Blast for NHL President

DETROIT — Coach Sid Abel of the Detroit Red Wings was a winner and a loser last night. Twenty minutes before the Wings moved onto the ice to open the game against Chicago, Abel lost a financial decision to National Hockey League commissioner Clarence Campbell.

Campbell fined a $500 fine on Abel for the coach's comments after the game Sunday which the Wings lost 3-2.

Abel was burning over a call by referee Frank Udvari that led to the tying goal in the game and used the phrases "greatest steal in 30 years; guileless; choked up" in describing Udvari's performance.

REPEATED REMARKS

Campbell launched an investigation to determine if Abel had in fact voiced the comments. Abel assisted the league office by repeating the remarks. In his statement, Campbell said:

"It is quite permissible to criticize an official for an alleged error in judgment or observation in the discharge of his duties, but these statements constitute one of the most serious accusations that can or ever have been made against any NHL official."

The Wings soothed Abel's financial loss somewhat by bombing the Chicago Black Hawks, 7-2.

Net Debut Is Spoiled

A close three-set doubles match was the deciding factor yesterday as Waterford Kettering dropped its first varsity tennis match, 4-3, at Wallied Lake.

The Captains marked the school's newest sport by splitting the four singles matches behind senior Larry Bowker and sophomore Bob Crawford.

Hitters Favored in Masters Golf

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — "On a dry course we spot them six strokes. When it's wet, it's eight."

So estimated Billy Casper, former Open champion and one of the golfers rated a chance to cut down long-hitting Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer in the 28th Masters Golf Tournament beginning Thursday.

Casper finished his first practice round over the Augusta National Course Tuesday and said:

"If ever a golf course was built for Nicklaus and Palmer, this is it. And when it's wet it's more so."

MORE SHOWERS

The course was soaked Monday. A muggy, overcast Tuesday didn't do much to put any rain back in the fairways. More showers were expected today.

Anything can happen for the tournament, since the locals say "we usually get one day of rain, one day of sun, one day of wind and one nice one, but not necessarily in that order."

Under the best of conditions the course, which is just a short chip shot under 7,000 yards, is a hacker's nightmare and a short hitter's Hades. When it's wet, the bunters might as well stay home.

Little Jerry Barber, former PGA champion who hits more fairway woods in a round than Nicklaus does in a year, said "this is the kind of course that if you aren't good, you can expect to go down under and play every hill when you die."

UPHILL DRIVES

The tees are usually placed so that drives must carry uphill. On a dry day, the short hitters hit, and hope the ball will roll to the top. On a wet day they just hope.

The big, straight hitters—meaning Nicklaus and Palmer—can paste the ball to the top of the hill on the fly. And they get extra roll when they get there.

An invited field of about 90 players will tee off Thursday in pursuit of Nicklaus, the defending champion. The big, blonde Ohio Golfer Bear is aiming to be the first player ever to repeat.

He was the youngest player ever to win the Masters last year. If he repeats at the age of 24 he will be the second youngest, too.

Byron Nelson won in 1937 at the age of 25.

EX-CHAMPS BACK

For the first time in many years, all the living past champions are on hand. Ralph Guldahl, the 1939 winner and one-time undisputed king of golf, is on hand for the first time since 1947.

Old Sam Snead, 51, runner-up to Guldahl in 1939 and winner in 1949 and 1952, is rated a genuine chance. He shot a 69 in a Tuesday practice round.

Palmer had a 72, and admitted he hit some drives farther than any he ever hit before. Nicklaus had a 71, as did Casper.

Mason Rudolph of Clarksville, Tenn., who is a possible title threat, also had a 69.

TROPHY CATCH — Bruce Wilson, 74 Alice, stands beside the white marlin he caught recently while fishing out of Fort Lauderdale, Fla. The 7-foot 5-inch marlin weighed 85 pounds.

TUNA CLIPPER — A 14-pound black fin tuna was taken off North Miami Beach, Fla., by John E. Buckley, 4073 Cambrook, Waterford Township. The fish was entered in the Miami Fishing Tournament.

FIRST CATCH — Nathan Bressler, 715 Auburn, made seven trips to Acapulco, Mexico, before deciding to try the fishing. This 9-foot 1-inch sailfin was the result of his first fishing excursion.

Support for Elk Season

Most landowners in the northern Lower Peninsula's Pigeon River area feel the time has come to control elk numbers, results of a Conservation Department survey indicate.

The poll reveals that two-thirds of the area's responding residents would like to see the elk herd held at its present level or below.

Of 884 people who filed completed questionnaires, 23 percent said they wanted these animals eliminated.

Nearly three of every five owners reported elk damage to their crops, trees, fences or other property within recent years.

When asked to list the greatest number of elk ever seen on their property at one time, 190 owners replied 1 to 10.

Other sightings ranged from 11 to 25 elk among 95 landholders, and from 51 to 100 for 33 owners. Seven residents reported observing concentrations of over 100 animals.

Flood Lights Turned On

Smelt Run Under Way at Beulah

When the floodlights were turned on in Beulah last night, smelt dippers started wading their nets in Cold Creek for the first time since 1956.

Smelt started running upstream out of Crystal Lake to spawn Sunday night.

The dipping area runs for three blocks through the community. This is where the Chamber of Commerce turned on floodlights each spring until 1957 when the stream was closed to dipping because of a decline in the annual harvest of silvery fish.

Lights will be on each night for the duration of the run, expected to last from 10 days to two weeks.

Cold Creek gained fame in the 1920s as the location of Michigan's first major smelt run.

This year it has the distinction of being the first stream to have a run report.

Once the water temperature reaches 42-43 degrees, the smelt will begin moving up other streams along the Great Lakes shoreline. These other waters are expected to begin producing within the next five to 10 days.

PEAK PERIOD

The peak of Michigan's run should be April 15-20.

Rainbow fishermen who opened the season last weekend on three Lower Peninsula streams and 45 above the Straits had slim pickings.

Over 150 fishermen clogged the area around the Whitney Drain at the Singing Bridge south of Tawas. The only reported catch was a 5½-pounder.

General consensus was that the rainbows were not moving upstream yet. Results were slightly better on the Thunder Bay River below the dam in Alpena.

Fishermen opening the season in the U. P. were hampered by cold and ice-clogged streams. Fishing in the Upper got off to a slow start last spring and the same appears certain this month.

The regular trout season opens April 25.

Sucker fishing picked up after a brief lull because of cold weather.

Dipnetters along the Rifle River at Ormer are taking good catches at night.

Some large suckers are being caught on the Clinton River near the outlet in Lake St. Clair. A few suckers have started spawning runs up the Clinton out Cass Lake.

Perch are biting along Saginaw Bay, when the weather permits fishermen to get out in boats. Action has slowed up on the lower Detroit River.

Although all Oakland County lakes are clear of ice, fishing activity has been practically at a standstill.

The first major assault will come opening of the trout season on area lakes containing rainbows.

AP Photo/Ex

ALMOST TIME — Smelt will soon be running upstream along the Great Lakes. Dippers who know where to go, and are there at the right time, will get a good haul, as this group did last spring.

House Bill No. 89 Fails in Close Vote

John Meyers, 17, fired 80 rounds and wound up with a score of 776 out of a possible 800.

Robert White of New Boston, a 31-year-old chemist employed by Wyandotte Chemical, picked up the open championship with a score of 1,582.

White dethroned five-time champion Denny Wu of Ann Arbor who finished with a score of 1,570.

Roxanne Waugh of Lansing, second to Meyers in the junior competition, grabbed the ladies open crown with a 1,555 performance.

TEAM CHAMPION

A team from Notre Dame High School in Detroit piled up a score of 1,481 to nail down the junior team title.

On the team were Dennis Farrell, Richard Figlak, Dave Sartorera and Don Schoner.

Second in team competition was an Oakland County squad of Greg Fallon, Ken Netchey, Art Perry and Greg Walters.

On April 25 and 26 the NRA National-Sectional Open Indoor Pistol Tournament is to be fired at the Oakland County Sportsman's Club indoor range.

This tournament is open to civilian, service and police competitors. The deadline for entries is Monday April 20 and may be mailed to The Oakland County Sportsman's Club, Waterford.

Entries are limited to 300 which is the capacity of the range for the time allocated.

Pontiac Paired With Union City

Pontiac has been paired with Union City in a reshuffling of May 13 Mayor Exchange Day plans for Michigan Week.

The Greater Michigan Foundation said the change, and others involving area communities, were made to meet requests for shorter distances and provide partners for towns whose original pairings dropped out.

Among new listing are Farmington-Reed City; Holly-Marine City; Lake Orion-Carson City; Lathrup Village-Mt. Pleasant, and Ulice-Holland.

City Students Win Awards

Industrial Art Work Earners Six Firsts

Industrial arts students from Pontiac garnered nearly two dozen awards in the Region 7 Michigan Industrial Education Awards program recently.

The winning projects will be exhibited at the state meeting of the Michigan Industrial Education Society tomorrow and Friday in Muskegon.

Six first place awards were won by local students. Pontiac Central High School dominated the awards.

Winners in the architectural working drawings division were John Hickley, Phillip Cambell and Arian Tannehill, all of Central High, who finished one, two and three respectively.

A similar finish was recorded by Richard Starnes, Russell Hickson and Floyd Treece, also of Central, in the mechanical detail and assembly drawing division. Tom Perkins of Central also finished third in this division.

NORTHERN WINNER
David Gruber of Pontiac Northern High School also picked up a first place award in this division.

In the architectural presentation drawings division, Richard Nesbit of Central received a third place award.

The top three spots in the beginning mechanical drawing division went to Michael Valvet, Duane Ellsworth and Arthur Arellano, all of Central, while Phillip Andrews received an honorable mention.

Again in the detail development division, Pontiac Central students — Michael Vallier, Thomas Byers and William Garcia — dominated the top three spots. Michael Gentry, also of Central, added an honorable mention award.

In the wood turning division, two Pontiac students won awards. Peter Pratt of Eastern Junior High School received a first place award, while Gregory Arnold of Central finished third.

No Delay Likely for Civil Service Pay Hike Funds

LANSING (AP)—The future of a $6.5-million pay increase for nearly 32,000 state civil service employees appeared bright Tuesday.

House and Senate appropriating committee members have indicated they will provide funds to state agencies to cover the cost of the raise, ordered by the State Civil Service Commission last December.

Some members of the House Ways and Means Committee earlier this year discussed the possibility of appropriating no additional funds, forcing state agencies to cut back on personnel in order to grant the raise.

Minuteman Registers 11th Straight Success

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—A Minuteman intercontinental range missile registered its 11th straight test flight success Tuesday night, streaking 5,000 miles from Cape Kennedy to a target in the South Atlantic Ocean.

The Air Force reported the slip-launched weapon performed flawlessly.

Wallace Scores Big in Rights Test

New Cleveland Crisis

Race Violence Rages

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Cleveland faced its second racial crisis in less than three months today in the wake of a civil rights demonstration that left a Presbyterian minister dead and touched off an all-night wave of rioting and violence.

Civil rights leaders, whose demonstration yesterday halted construction at an East Side school site, scheduled a noon demonstration at the Board of Education's downtown office building.

The Rev. Bruce W. Klunder,

27-year-old white minister, was crushed to death under a bulldozer during the demonstration at the school site in a predominantly Negro neighborhood.

The protesting group felt that the new school, one of three to be built in the predominantly Negro area, would segregate more than 1,000 Negro pupils.

These pupils from overcrowded Negro neighborhood schools are now bussed to nearby schools with mostly white enrollments.

Fifteen other persons, 10 of them policemen, were injured. Car and store windows were smashed. Police arrested 26 persons, including four juveniles accused of throwing rocks.

LEADERS APPEALED

Police and civil rights leaders appealed without success to the crowd, which swelled to more than 3,000 to disperse.

Time and again during the afternoon and early evening, mounted police charged into groups that gathered to hurl taunts and missiles, sending demonstrators scurrying behind buildings along Lakeview Road.

A grim mayor Ralph S. Locher, who attends the Church of the Covenant where the Rev. Mr. Klunder was assistant minister, said the city would use injunctions and fences to block further demonstrations at school sites in the Glenville area on the east side.

Civil rights leaders, on the other hand, called for greater militancy in speeches at a rally at Cory Methodist church Tuesday night.

TO RISK LIFE

A few hours before he threw himself into the mud behind the bulldozer, the Rev. Mr. Klunder had told another minister he was prepared to risk his life for civil rights.

2-Car Crash Fatal for Two

Five Children Injured
East of Ortonville

A Groveland Township mother of five children and a father of 10 were killed yesterday when their cars collided head-on near Ortonville.

The woman's children, riding with her in the family station wagon, were injured seriously. They are in the Pontiac General Hospital.

Dead are Mrs. Kenneth (Beatrice K.) Shoelstein, 26, of 1345 Merkle; and James M. Kastner, 39, of Centerville. Kastner was alone in the car.

The injured children are Dawn, 6, head injuries and fractured leg; Kenneth, 5, fractured arm; Katherine, 3, head injuries and facial lacerations; Wayne, 2, and Forrest, 8 months, both head injuries.

The accident happened on Grange Hall Road in Groveland Township about 2½ miles east of Ortonville.

Michigan State Police from the Pontiac post are still investigating the 5:25 p.m. crash to determine who was at fault. The cars collided at the crest of a hill where the road curves, according to state police. The pavement was dry.

Besides her husband and children, Mrs. Shoelstein is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Snyder of Gardena, Calif.; two sisters, Mrs. Joy Ann McCullough of Pontiac and Mrs. Maxine Swanson of Indiana; and one brother.

Service will be held 2 p.m. Friday at C. F. Sherman Funeral Home, Ortonville.

Service arrangements for Kastner are being made for Friday by Palmer-Bush Funeral Home in Lansing.

Record Budget Now in Hands of Legislature

Committees Make
No Major Cutbacks
in Romney Outline

LANSING (AP)—Recommended expenditures of $633 million for the 1964-65 fiscal year were delivered to the legislature yesterday by the budget-drafting committees of the House and Senate.

The total represents an all-time record, some $83 million more than appropriated for the current fiscal year.

But whether it is more or less than the amount sought by Gov. Romney appeared to be a matter of interpretation.

The figure of $633 million is about $10 million more than asked by the governor in his original Jan. 22 budget message, yet $5 million short of the grand total resulting from subsequent proposals.

Included in the total were several significant increases, particularly in capital outlay and no major reductions in the spending plan as outlined by Romney.

CAPITAL OUTLAY

The Senate Appropriations Committee added $7 million more than Romney requested for capital outlay expenditures at various state institutions.

Lawmakers agreed to an additional $1 million for community college expansion and $4 million for capital area development.

Romney had asked $2 million for the colleges and $5 million for the capital area development.

The House Ways and Means Committee added $5 million to the original $2 million marked for paying off the Veterans' Trust Fund which the state borrowed during the 1959 cash crisis.

ADDITIONAL TROOPERS
The committee also approved the use of $750,000 for 100 additional state police troopers for the general fund.

The recommendation kept intact the state trunkline fund from which Romney has proposed appropriating $1.3 million for a state police freeway patrol.

The House committee made an additional $170,000 appropriation for general government spending, of which $150,000 was for a public service and training program for juveniles, $20,000 for a park land purchase at Beaver Island.

CHIEF WALLACE — Wearing an Indian headdress presented by the consolidated tribes of Wisconsin, Alabama Gov. George Wallace receives a congratulatory call after garnering more than 200,000 votes in yesterday's Democratic presidential primary. The Indians named Wallace "Chief of the Hemisphere."

Nets Quarter of Wisconsin Primary Votes

Favorite Sons Sweep Party Delegations to National Conventions

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, who said he would "shake the eye-teeth" of both parties' leaders if he attracted more than 25,000 Wisconsin votes in his campaign against the civil rights bill, won 10 times that many in yesterday's presidential primary.

But Wisconsin Gov. John W. Reynolds, who headed a favorite-son delegation as the personal choice of President Johnson, won all of the state's 46 Democratic National Convention votes.

In the process, Reynolds topped the late President John F. Kennedy's record for the most votes ever won by a Democrat in the primary test.

The Southern segregationist's triumphant assertion that winning nearly 25 per cent of the total vote cast in the traditionally progressive Badger state constituted a grass roots referendum that "will send a good message both to the Congress and to the two national parties" was immediately challenged by the other principals.

"It just goes to show what we've known all along," Reynolds said.

BIAS IN NORTH

"There are prejudiced people in the North as well as in the South."

Rep. John W. Byrnes of Green Bay, the Republican favorite son whose candidacy kept the GOP primary free of serious contenders for the presidential nomination, said, "I don't think this election proves anything at all about the civil rights bill."

In final unofficial returns, with 3,489 of the state's 3,552 precincts reporting, the vote was:

Reynolds D 508,597
Wallace D 261,148
Byrnes R 294,724

In a state which has not produced a majority for a Democratic presidential nominee since the election of Harry S. Truman in 1948, the casting of more than 70 per cent of the vote in the Reynolds-Wallace fight showed that thousands of Republicans had taken advantage of the open primary to mark the other party's ballot.

OLD CUSTOM

Reynolds tested the cross-over, which produced big Democratic totals in scores of solidly Republican areas, tremendous

Appropriations Committee OKs Funds for OU Building

Funds for a new classroom office building at Oakland University were among the high-education expenditures boosted yesterday by the Senate Appropriations Committee.

The committee increased by more than $1 million Gov. Romney's request for the operation of state institutions, and boosted by more than $3 million their capital outlay budgets requested by Romney.

Both the Senate and House still must pass on the expenditures.

The Senate committee raised

the $400,000 for preliminary plans for a classroom-office building at OU to $750,000, paving the way for a possible start of construction of the $2.5 million project this fall.

STRONG PLEA

He said he had registered a strong plea with the House Ways and Means Committee for the classroom-office structure.

Varner expected construction to begin Sept. 1, if the proposed expenditure stands, with completion set for the fall of 1965.

Plans for the building are still incomplete, he added, but he thought that it would contain a large lecture hall, faculty offices and perhaps specialized facilities for some study areas.

OU fared less favorably on plans for a proposed engineering building. Romney had recommended $400,000 for preliminary planning, but the appropriations committee deleted it entirely.

"Perhaps this is still a year away," commented Varner.

Development Projects Are Handed Setbacks

Two major redevelopment projects proposed by Charles L. Langs, a key developer of Pontiac's urban renewal lands, were given a severe jolt last night.

A proposed $3.6-million high-rise apartment development, which Langs yesterday said was clear for action and approval by the City Commission, is plagued by problems that could delay local action a year or more.

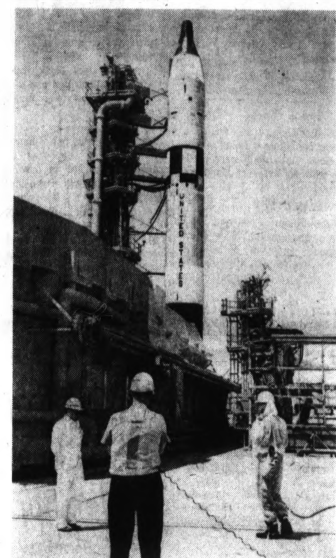

Another project proposed by Langs—an area bounded by South Saginaw, Auburn and the east leg of the perimeter road, with frontage on Auburn and the perimeter road.

Commissioners accepted Langs' plans and offer to buy land for the shopping center several weeks ago.

Both projects are proposed for similar sites. The shopping center site is bounded by South Saginaw, Orchard Lake and the west leg of the perimeter road (Cass extended southerly to Saginaw).

The high-rise site is located in an area bounded by South Saginaw, Auburn and the east leg of the perimeter road, with frontage on Auburn and the perimeter road.

CAPE KENNEDY (AP)—An unmanned Pontiac Gemini capsule rocketed into orbit today, scoring a resounding success for the United States on the opening shot of its second man-in-space program.

summer will be a determining factor in reaching that goal.

The nation's 29 astronauts and many key space officials observed today's critical firing.

A powerful Titan II rocket, which, until today, was fired only in military weapons tests, provided the thrust to hurl the two-seat spacecraft into orbit.

The launching was the first of two unmanned missions planned to perfect the rocket and spacecraft for a three-orbit flight by two astronauts late this year.

They will ride together in a capsule duplicating, in weight and exterior features, the one tried out today.

READY FOR SWIMMERS — The balmy weather of the last two days encouraged the appearance of bright floats, rafts and docks on area lakes. Robert England got into his skin-diving outfit to help his father, Donald

Warmer Weather Is Inching Back

Warmer weather is inching its way into the Pontiac area.

The U.S. Weather Bureau predicts temperatures will be near, or slightly below normal for the next five days. Tonight's low will range between 25 to 34 with skies clear.

Mostly sunny and warmer with a high of 45 to 53 is tomorrow's forecast. Friday will be a little cooler but a warming trend will hit the area over the weekend.

Precipitation for the period will be less than two-tenths of an inch in showers Sunday or Monday.

Thirty-three was the low temperature in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. The mercury reading at 1 p.m. was 37.

8 Steel Firms Charged With Price Fix

Two steel company executives also were named in the indictment, made public Tuesday. The indictment traces to the crash between major steel companies and the late President John F. Kennedy in April, 1962.

Byrnes said, "There is no more significance to the general crossover now than there was in 1960."

Four years ago, Kennedy won a majority of the delegates and a head start on the road to the White House when he whipped Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota in a similar primary.

Richard M. Nixon, unopposed in 1960 as Byrnes was yesterday, trailed with 389,383, but carried the state in the general election, 885,175 to 830,805.

Yesterday's vote total, however, was short of the 1960 record of 1.2 million.

Wallace's share of the vote was remarkably even across the state's varied political terrain.

Observers who expected him to run strongly in the old strongholds of the late Republican Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy found that he ran a poor third in McCarthy's home area—which also covers the home towns of both Kennedys and Byrnes.

Wallace and supporters at his downtown Milwaukee headquarters last night that their showing was a victory over administration Democrats "and they know it."

Commissioners Discuss Problems of City Police

Problems in the Police Department were discussed by the Police Commissioners and the City Commission yesterday.

Commissioner Samuel J. White, who started his term as Police Commissioner yesterday, discussed the problems of the Police Department with the City Commission.

The report presented to the City Commission was a marked increase in "serious crimes and accidents" and a decrease in police manpower during the year 1963.

There was no scramble at the commission table to support such an offer.

Bottom didn't quite agree with White.

"I don't feel it's so much a money problem," Bottom said. "The problem lies in the need to have our requirements in physical and mental examinations and I'd suggest we look into revising them."

"I know a number of men who were turned down by the city and later hired elsewhere. In fact, one of them is chief of police in Kings Harbor," Bottom said.

CAN'T PASS TESTS

Bottom also claimed that the lack of firemen was the direct result of standards. "We have the money in the budget, but no one can pass the tests," he said.

Commissioner Charles H. Bottom objected to police working outside jobs.

He specifically pointed to the "Merchant's Group Credit Bureau," a private police force operated by Sgt. Herbert C. Cooley and Detective Orville Johnson.

"This isn't allowed in Flint, Detroit or other area cities," Bottom said. "Why can they do it here?"

He felt it represented a conflict of interests.

Over three-fifths of today's dwellers — 13 per cent of total world population — live in cities of 100,000 or more.

This doesn't help us a bit.

Advice Sought on Tie Vote

Bloomfield Hills to Seek Clarification

Working on its very first election, Bloomfield Hills' board of canvassers is stuck with a tie vote, unperfected results and conflicting laws.

Leaders of the campaign all worked on the 30-member citizens advisory committee appointed by the board of education more than a month ago to study school needs and make recommendations.

The four members of the bipartisan board required under the new State Constitution adjourned their first meeting last night to seek the advice of a lawyer.

John C. Siegmund of 315 1/2 Ave. C, Bloomfield Township, and Mrs. George Talburt, 530 Puritan, head a speakers bureau of the citizens' committee. They are looking for speakers for meetings of PTA's, church, service and civic organizations.

At stake is a two-year term on the City Commission.

At the same time, block workers are being recruited and will begin training sessions next week.

Incumbent James A. Berard and George H. Webb, a sticker candidate running on the "Story" slate, each were credited with 395 votes in Monday's election.

The State Municipal Finance Commission has approved insurance of $239,000 in special mains in Bloomfield Township, assessment bonds for water mains in Bloomfield Township.

Webb, Robert Frye and Ross Pierce ran in protest to the commission's approval of a new zoning ordinance allowing 15-story apartment residences to be built in the city.

Dr. Joseph J. Jasper of Bloomfield Township, director of academic affairs for chemistry at Wayne State University, has been elected a fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Frye was whisked into office by 355 votes. Pierce, the second sticker candidate, lost to incumbent John Blanchard in the race for a one-year term.

Jasper, 159 Bassett, was honored in recognition of his contributions to science.

Russia Riled Over China Border Stir

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union accused Red China today of systematically violating the Soviet-Chinese border.

A statement issued by the government news agency Tass said: "The Chinese side has for some time continuously and systematically been violating the Soviet-Chinese border, often in a crude and provocative form."

The Russians thus once more brought into the open one of the great Soviet-Chinese problems — the long border from Central Asia to Korea. Some portions of the border were fixed after czarist conquests and never accepted by the Chinese.

TASS CLAIMS

The Tass statement declared that the border was created "historically." But Tass said certain unspecified adjustments must be discussed.

The full Tass text on this point: "It is known that there are no territorial questions between the U.S.S.R. and the Chinese People's Republic and that the Soviet-Chinese border was formed historically."

The only question involved is certain necessary adjustments."

UNDER DISCUSSION

Soviet officials recently said the Soviet-Chinese commission is discussing certain aspects of the border, but exactly what has not been revealed. Nor has there been any indication of progress, or whether the talks still are under way.

U.S.-Panamanian agreement on a "wholly new treaty" within 25 years for a second, sea-level canal.

Declaring that the present canal will be unable to handle the growing maritime traffic in about 25 years, the council said the United States and Panama should agree on a number of interim reforms helpful to both sides.

These would involve revising the present treaty, raising canal tolls by perhaps 30 per cent and increasing Panama's yearly canal receipts to $15 million from $1.9 million.

The council, made up of 24 prominent Republicans, singled out the Panama issue for the first of a series of proposals it plans to bring out each week until the Republican National Convention beginning July 13.

JEWELRY: Secretary of State

Dean Rusk is reported willing to consider steps the U.S. government might take to try to dissuade the Soviet Union from religious persecution of Russian Jews.

A delegation from the American Jewish Conference on Soviet Jewry conferred with Rusk for some 90 minutes Tuesday. Afterward spokesman Lewis H. Weinstein of Boston told newsmen: "We asked the secretary to use the government's good offices to make known to the Soviet government our grave concern for the situation and status of the 3 million Jews in the Soviet Union."

A State Department spokesman said Rusk "indicated that he would consider further steps the U.S. government might take to be helpful in the matter."

Arbo Crackdowns Usually Mean Fewer Road Deaths

By JIM LONG

Traffic is the number one problem of area police.

Concern over the situation, which police readily admit is their most serious dilemma at present, has prompted crackdowns from most departments.

In the majority of these cases, the increased enforcement has reduced injury accidents to some extent.

Police explain that the decline is due to the increase in the number of hazardous driving tickets being given to traffic violators.

"A person who gets a ticket usually thinks twice before making the same mistake," said one traffic safety officer, and then added, "at least for a while."

NOT FINAL ANSWER

The issuance of more tickets is not the final answer to the problem, police said, but the improved driving habits of "many who were taking their driving for granted."

The effectiveness of a crackdown is best shown locally in Pontiac where about half as many tickets for serious offenses have been given in the first three months of 1964 as in all of last year.

During the first two months of this year, 2,235 tickets for moving violations were issued, 1,344 more than the same period in 1963.

While figures were not immediately available, Acting Police Chief William K. Hanger estimated that some 1,200 were issued in March.

DOWN SEVEN PER CENT

Traffic injuries are down about 7 per cent over the first few months of a year ago, according to Hanger.

The radar unit, in operation in Pontiac since January, has been responsible for about 25 tickets a day.

Hanger said he did not believe that Pontiac would get a reputation of being a speed trap because of the increased enforcement.

"We are really only bringing up our enforcement to the standards set by the National Safety Council," said Hanger. "For the past several years, traffic enforcement in Pontiac has been way below par."

Currently, Pontiac police are writing an average of 13 traffic tickets to each traffic injury accident recorded.

Ideally, according to the National Safety Council, the ratio should be 20 to 1.

In January and February of last year, the ratio was 3 and 3 to 1.

CHIEF AIM

"Our chief aim is to protect the public, and I sincerely believe our policemen are giving this protection," said Hanger.

In Waterford Township, Police Chief William Stokes said traffic enforcement is up "substantially," pointing out that 218 tickets were issued in March compared with 57

Teacher Group Supports Duty-Free Lunch Periods

A proposal for duty-free lunch periods for teachers has received the support of one of two local teacher groups.

The Pontiac Federation of Teachers (PFT) has requested an appointment with the school board to discuss the question of duty-free lunch periods. It will be discussed at 10 o'clock tonight's meeting of the board.

A proposal that elementary teachers be relieved of lunchroom supervision and after-school playground duty was presented to the school board last month for the third straight year.

School officials estimate that it would cost about $40,000 a year to give all grade school teachers duty-free lunch periods.

Although board members generally favored the idea, no decision was made on the question when it was raised.

SCHOOL NEEDS

Duty-free lunch periods are on the lengthy list of school needs not met in the current budget.

Also tomorrow night, the school board must adopt a 1964-65 operating budget for submission to the County Tax Allocation Board by April 15.

Supt. Dana P. Whitmer will present a recommended budget of $11,233,163 for the coming school year, incorporating a $200,000 contingency fund.

Whitmer's figure assumes the continuation of the present state aid, the present allotted millage and a state equalized valuation of $370 million.

READJUST BUDGET

Changes in any of these factors would require readjustment of the proposed budget, according to Whitmer.

Final adoption of the budget will occur sometime in June when income can be calculated.

In other business, bids will be tabulated on a five-room addition to Mark Twain Elementary School.

Also, the board will consider a lengthy list of teachers recommended for promotion.

Tomorrow's meeting begins at 8 p.m. in school board offices, 40 Patterson St.

Prison was the fate of one and probation the sentence of another yesterday as two Pontiac men were sentenced for their part in a Jan. 11 robbery of a policeman at knife point.

James Gibson, 23, of 820 Franklin Road was given a 2 to 15-year term at the state prison in Jackson by Circuit Judge James S. Thorburn.

Major Finley, 19, of 59 Chapman was placed on three years' probation and ordered to pay $150 court costs.

Gibson was on probation for larceny at the time of the robbery. Finley had no past record.

The two pleaded guilty March 18 to assault with intent to commit unarmed robbery. They originally had been charged with armed robbery.

They were accused, along with Robert A. Miles, 23, 184 Prospect, of stopping the car of Pontiac police officer Norman Kilmer, 24, in the Bagley-Wessan area and taking his wallet.

Kilmer drew his revolver and ordered a halt as the men fled. Miles stopped, was arrested, later pleaded guilty to armed robbery and is now in prison.

Finley and Gibson were arrested later.

Pontiac City Affairs

The way was paved last night for expansion of Pontiac's federal public housing project.

City commissioners approved an amendment to a 1955 ordinance which would permit expansion of Pontiac's lone public housing project.

Lakeside Homes, 535 Branch, is now free to expand. However, the ordinance still prohibits any other federal public housing projects.

In other business, the City Commission okayed rezoning of property at 456 Mount Clemens to Residential-3 from Residential-1.

HOUSING PROJECT

Rezoning for a multiple-housing project near Bethune School was passed by a 5-2 vote of the commission.

Developer Charles L. Langs requested that some 15 acres south of the school be zoned Residential-3 to allow for a 175-unit housing project.

Commissioners Dick M. Kirby and William H. Taylor voted against the rezoning.

"Personally, I can't see this," Taylor explained. "If it were to get rid of the war housing I might be for it, but many people in the war housing project won't be able to afford this."

DISAGREES

Commissioner Samuel J. Whittier disagreed.

He said the large majority of people there were factory workers and their wages were too high to qualify them for public housing.

Italian Police Nab Young Bike Thieves

CUNEO, Italy (U.P.) — Police in this north Italian city finally caught all of a band of bicycle thieves who had stolen 60 bikes in little more than a month.

The band, police said, was composed of 10 boys between nine and 11 years old. They had avoided being caught sooner because they stripped the bikes of tires and accessories, which they sold, and threw away the bike frames.

The Sheriff's Road Patrol last issued 332 tickets and 1,062 verbal warnings, as opposed to 523 tickets and 719 verbal warnings in March last year. The comparison is good, according to Amthor, because the six-day week was in effect during March of both years.

NO FIGURES AVAILABLE

No statistics were immediately available on injury accidents last month, but Amthor said it was his observation that there was a reduction.

"Traffic is our biggest problem," said Amthor, "and it's getting worse. There are more cars and less police."

EDWARD F. BARKER

Bank Exec Assigned to Staff of General

General Douglas MacArthur's greatest quality, according to one of the men who accompanied him on his famed return to the Philippines, was his moral courage.

Much has been said about the general's personal disregard for danger.

One who remembers is Edward E. Barker Jr., vice president and director of Pontiac State Bank.

He was one of a dozen officers assigned to Gen. MacArthur's staff during the crucial years of 1942-45.

"The general's great moral courage was attested to by the fact that he never once raised even a hand to correct the false impression many had of him as a showboat," Barker said.

UNJUSTLY ACCUSED

"Unjustly accused, he never bothered to defend himself—there was one of the quiet things that bespoke the stature of the man."

"He had a feeling for history in the making... and he had a natural color that no one could take away from him."

"Every inch of Douglas MacArthur was as natural as could be."

Unofficial Hemophilia Center

St. Joseph's Special Service

Treatment of hemophilia has become an unofficial specialty at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

Because of its clinical facilities and staff, the local hospital has become an unofficial center for hemophiliacs, attracting patients as far away as Detroit.

Uncontrolled internal bleeding is the big danger in hemophilia or bleeder's disease, according to Dr. Julius Rutzky of St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

Hemophilia is characterized as a disease of the blood in which a vital coagulation factor is missing. This usually results in a prolonged clotting time.

Rutzky, director of clinical laboratories at the hospital, explained that, when examined in a test tube, normal blood clots within 15 minutes. The hemophiliac's blood may take an hour or more to clot.

NOT FINAL ANSWER

However, this delayed clotting is not the final answer to why the hemophiliacs bleed, he said. And why not?

Rutzky said that roughly one hemophiliac in four has a normal clotting time. Thus, more elaborate tests must be used to detect these patients.

Destroying some common misconceptions, the Pontiac physician pointed out that the hemophiliac may not bleed any more easily than the average person in some instances.

He quickly added that the slightest injury may cause pronounced hemorrhage on other occasions.

READILY CONTROLLED

In addition, he noted that minor bruises and scratches frequently can be readily controlled. For example, pressure applied directly to a cut for a half hour or so may stop some superficial bleeding.

Hemophiliacs, according to Rutsky, receive several types of blood and plasma in transfusion, but fresh frozen plasma and whole blood are the most common blood components used.

Although the disease is inherited, the doctor emphasized that there often is no previous family history of it.

During 1963 the hospital treated 15 individuals for a total of 350 hospital days. Some 283 transfusions were administered.

"In other words," Rutzky explained, "we had one patient in the hospital almost all the time, which is unusual for a disease that is considered rare."

Rutzky, who shuns the "expert" label, said he acts as a consultant on hemophilia cases. He teaches diagnosis and management of blood clotting disorders to medical students at Wayne State University where he is an assistant professor of pathology, and associate in pediatrics.

Hemophilia in its deepest sense can mean crippling and even death. There is a constant danger, he added.

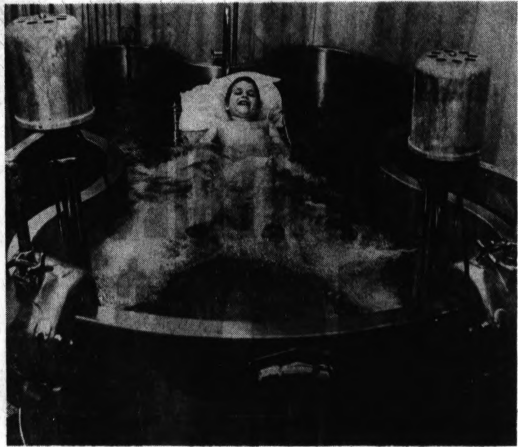

The local physician said that internal bleeding, particularly in the joints, can be a severe crippling. However, good home care and proper medical attention can give the hemophiliac a long and useful life.

While hemophilia used to be thought of as a male disease exclusively, one variety can be found in females, Rutzky said.

He estimated that one or two hemophiliacs are found in every 100,000 people. Figures from the National Hemophilia Foundation show more than 100,000 suffer from this bleeder's disease in the United States.

The local physician said that internal bleeding, particularly

BATHTUB — Loren Baylis, 8, of 1761 Schoenheit Lane, Bloomfield Township, visits "the bathtub" at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital three times a week. The physiotherapy is a program to help the youngster's stiff knee joint, which stiffened from internal bleeding. Loren wore a leg brace for more than year.

Child Bleeder Is Cheerful Despite Pain

By L. GARY THORNE

"Mommy, why did God pick me?"

This is the unanswerable question that comes often to the lips of 8-year-old Loren Baylis, who years for a bike he will never have.

And behind the question, are bright eyes, asking in honest wonderment, probing without malice.

"I know," he answers quickly. "I'm a bleeder."

Young Loren is a hemophiliac. He knows it and accepts it, submitting to long periods of hospitalization, pain and needles.

CAN FORGET

Still, 8-year-olds forget.

Loren has been in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital since Saturday. His left hand is swollen from a cut finger.

How did he cut himself? "With a knife," he replies with an impish laugh.

The son of Dr. and Mrs. Shelby Baylis, 1761 Schoenheit, Bloomfield Township, Loren has made over 50 visits to the hospital since hemophilia was discovered at the age of 3 months.

The Bloomfield Township youngster has had two narrow escapes from death due to his disease. The first came when he was a year old, while the second was as recent as last fall.

Loren was confined from Labor Day to Thanksgiving last fall with a broken leg.

However, the 8-year-old remains unbowed. Despite the almost uncomprehensible pain, his spirits remain buoyant.

Gleeful giggles and quick smiles punctuate his rapid-fire conversation, which runs as steadily as a water faucet.

WHAT IT MEANS

To Loren, hemophilia means he can not play during recess at Walnut Lake School where he is in the second grade. It means frequent absences from school, although he is often able to keep up.

It further means he must check his inclination to run, substitute chess and sit-down games for climbing trees and sports activity, and, of course, no bike.

Perhaps more than anything, hemophilia means needles. Since 8-year-olds don't cry, Loren now takes the many needles that accompany each hospital trip like a pro.

TERROR MEMORY

When he was younger, the smallest injury terrified him because it meant the hospital and more needles.

For his parents, hemophilia means a constant fight to keep a scrappy hell-raiser down. A great effort must be made to spread their attention among their six other children.

It means a direct, orderly response to a cut or bruise. Dr. Baylis, who admitted his wife resists panic better than he does, outlined the procedure.

Ice is applied to any injury. Loren is made to lie down or sit quietly and an elastic bandage is put on the slightest cut.

YOUNGESTER FORGETS

The worry is constant. Dr. Baylis said, for a youngster forgets "that death lurks all the time."

More than anything, however, hemophilia means questions, like, "Why does God give me hemophilia?"

Bandit, 17, Pleads Guilty to Robbery

The younger of two bandits arrested for a March 6 holdup in Avon Township pleaded guilty in Circuit Court Monday to an armed robbery charge.

Seventeen-year-old Dale J. Cournoyer of 27601 Osmon entered his plea before Judge James S. Thorburn. Cournoyer will be sentenced May 5.

Cournoyer was only 16 at the time of the crime, was charged as an adult after juvenile Court granted a waiver.

He and 22-year-old Jack A. Hewitt, also of Madison Heights, were accused of attacking a gas station attendant with a beer bottle and oil can and taking about $100.

The robbery took place at the Oak Gas Station at Auburn and Rochester. Hewitt pleaded guilty to armed robbery and is serving a 24- to 15-year prison term.

More than seven million families have occupied federally-subsidized housing at one time during their lifetime, according to the Public Housing Administration.

Requested by Commissioner

OKAY REBATE

In other business, the commission approved a rebate of $7,732 to Lloyd Realty Inc. on the costs of a sanitary sewer on Oakland.

The rebate, which would not be actual cash but remission of that amount, results from a change in the cost of the sewer project.

Estimated cost was put at $21,406 and the assessment roll prepared to collect that amount. However, the actual cost amounted to $13,653.

Thus, the commission authorized collection of $13,653.

Presidential Security Stays in National Focus

Editor's Note—The security around the President has been increased since the assassination of John F. Kennedy. In the following article the difficulties of protecting chief executives is discussed by an Associated Press newsmen who has been covering the White House since the days of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson walked in the funeral procession of the late John F. Kennedy against the advice of the Secret Service and reportedly told an agent: "I'd rather give my life than be afraid to give it."

This profession of courage points up an ever-present, insoluble security problem—a problem that becomes increasingly difficult now that an election campaign is under way.

Precautions have been increased since the assassination of Kennedy. But the Secret Service, as one veteran put it, can only provide the safeguard. It can not compel the President to use them.

When Johnson was asked in a television interview March 15 whether he always follows instructions of the security agents he said:

"Yes, with rare exceptions now and then, like marching in the funeral procession and occasionally they prefer to have two or three policemen between

me and the crowds, and I ask them to move out, so I can see some of the people.

TALK TO PEOPLE
"I want to be a people's President, and in order to do so, you have to see the people and talk to them and know something about them and not be too secluded."

"I think they would feel better if the President kept 100 yards distance from every human being, but that is not practical."

Besides, human beings vote. And, increasingly, Johnson will be making political expeditions. Already he is pushing into crowds and grabbing hands everywhere he goes—even at church, although he contends he should be allowed to worship in private.

POLITICAL TRIP

Kennedy was on a political trip to Texas Nov. 22. He wanted to see and be seen by throngs of people. His motorcade route was advertised in advance for the people of Dallas—and for accused assassin Lee Harvey Oswald.

A week before, Kennedy had insisted on driving through New York without the customary police escort and with stops at every red light.

Things changed after Dallas. In New York and in all cities, swarms of police turn out along streets and peer down from windows, rooftops and bridges.

Helicopters hang overhead. For the President, himself, there is far more reliance on helicopters than on motorcades to get him into the centers of cities.

ARMORED CAR
When Johnson does move by car, in urban areas, it is in four-ton armored car with bulletproof glass on loan from FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover.

The Lincoln bubbletop limousine in which Kennedy was shot is being overhauled and having armor added before it comes back to the White House fleet. In motor processions now, motorcycle police form a tighter cordon around the President.

The White House physician is only a car or two away. In the open Secret Service car right behind Johnson, an agent sits backward on one of the jump seats, since Kennedy was hit by shots from behind.

NO GUARANTEE
The White House Secret Service detail hasn't been increased substantially, because manpower isn't a guarantee of presidential safety. A determined, crafty crackpot can kill any man.

Furthermore, on occasion, Johnson gives the Secret Service no notice where or when he intends to go some place—as was the case also with Kennedy at times. Unlike Kennedy, he also banishes Secret Service men from his car on occasion.

He did this while scorching the roads with a car full of newsmen during his Easter vacation in Texas. He did it here

DASHING OFF
But then Franklin D. Roosevelt used to go dashing off in his Ford touring car alone, cutting through swamp areas on the family estate, at Hyde Park, N.Y., and chucking merrily when a heavy Secret Service car bogged down.

Presidential protection in some ways was easier in those days. Because of his crippled legs, Roosevelt couldn't get out and mingle with crowds. He couldn't make sudden, unannounced moves.

President Harry S. Truman was somewhat more of a problem, with his morning walks. But few people were out then,

and routes changed. Security was tightened around him, too, after an attempted assassination while he was occupying Blair House during the renovation of the White House.

FRIENDLY WAVE
President Dwight D. Eisenhower had that warm smile and friendly wave but he didn't often mix with crowds, either, the way Kennedy did and Johnson does.

Eisenhower's Secret Service driver crashed the legal speed barrier at times on the way to the Eisenhower farm at Gettysburg, Pa.

The question of presidential speeding has drawn attention once again—especially with a vacancy in the vice presidency.

County Permit Hikes Waterford Building

A permit of $720,496 for the Oakland County Children's Village swelled the March building permit valuation total in Waterford Township to nearly $1 million over March, 1963.

Last month the building department issued 30 permits valued at $1,496,387 compared to 48 at a valuation of $458,353 during the same month last year.

Permit valuation for the first three months this year totals $2,529,048 compared to $758,994 for the same 1963 period.

Besides the Children's Village project at the County Service Center, an upswing in residential building permits contributed to the high March total.

A valuation of $605,628 was set on the 35 such permits issued last month.

20 PERMITS

valuation on 20 housing permits issued by the building department in March, 1963.

The upward trend extended to the category of home improvements.

Last month 19 permits were issued for additions and remodeling at a valuation of $36,211.

This compares to 13 such permits in March, 1963 at a valuation of $26,873.

TOTAL HIGHER
A total of 14 permits were issued last month for garages and breezeways compared to just eight in the same month a year ago. Valuations were $25,700 and $12,500 respectively.

The Children's Village now under construction will be tax exempt.

Secret Talks Between U.S., China at Turning Point

By GENE KRAMER

WARSAW, Poland (AP)—The secret ambassadorial talks between the United States and Communist China reach a turning point today in Warsaw, nine years after they began in Geneva.

Wang Ping-nan, the veteran Chinese diplomat who began the meetings in Geneva, is leaving his post as Peking's ambassador to Poland.

His meeting today will be his last in Warsaw with U.S. Ambassador John M. Cabot.

There are three possibilities—that the U.S.-Chinese talks will be moved to some other capital, that they will continue in Warsaw with a new Chinese envoy, or that they will be discontinued.

PRETEXT FOR END

Some diplomats speculated that the transition might be used as a pretext for ending the talks—particularly if the Red Chinese feel no need for a channel to Washington now that they have opened diplomatic relations with France.

U.S. policy is to keep the talks going despite their modest results so far. U.S. diplomats feel a Washington-Peking pipeline is useful in preventing miscalculations and could become important in event of a final break between Communist China and the Soviet Union, or if the Chinese get nuclear weapons.

Both sides are noncommittal about what is said over the green-covered table in Warsaw's Mysliwiecki Palace. The explanation is that complete secrecy encourages frankness and increases the usefulness of the meetings.

It is obvious, however, that the meetings played a part in easing the 1954 and 1962 crises in the Formosa Strait and in repatriating some of the many Americans once detained on the Chinese mainland.

TALKS BOG DOWN

Wang held the first ambassadorial level meeting in Geneva in 1955 to discuss the repatriation of Chinese and Americans in each other's territory, and other subjects. The talks bogged down after 73 Geneva sessions.

They resumed in Warsaw at the height of the 1958 Formosa Strait crisis, when the Communists opened a heavy artillery shelling of the Nationalist offshore islands, Quemoy and Matsu.

Those still held, convicted by Peking of espionage, are: Bishop James E. Walsh, Cumberland, Md.; Richard George Fecteau, Lynn, Mass.; John Thomas Downey, New Britain, Conn.; and Hugh Francis Redmond, Yonkers, N.Y.

frequently and with little success, repeats U.S. demands for return of all Americans still detained.

Hungary Factory Workers Hear Khrushchev Pitch

BUDAPEST, Hungary (UPI)—Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev, backed up by new attacks on Communist China in the Moscow press, today took his public relations campaign for the Soviet brand of communism to Hungarian factory workers.

Khrushchev's speech-making plans were not known, but in previous stops at factories and farms since his arrival here March 31 he has passed up few opportunities to condemn the militant Peking policies and tell Hungarians that loyalty to Moscow will bring them peace and prosperity.

Polish editor Adam Kruczkowski, in an article published in the Soviet Communist party newspaper Pravda today, stressed this same theme: "The leaders of the Communist party of China come out against the aspirations and demands of the peoples of the world."

He praised Khrushchev's peaceful coexistence with the West as "the only correct policy," and said this policy, which is condemned as a sellout to capitalism by the Chinese, "offers a concrete opportunity for the victory of socialism in conditions of peace."

DANGEROUS ROAD

"By denying this, by declaring war to be the sole means of settling social conflicts, the leaders of the Communist party of China take to the dangerous road of adventures," he added.

Khrushchev has been expressing the same thoughts in simpler terms to his worker and peasant audiences.

Soviet communism, he has told them, will bring full plates of goulash, new clothes, hospitals, schools and colleges.

Chinese communism, on the other hand, risks war through its militant plans for expansion, and "only an idiot" would do this.

EASE ATTACKS

Moscow's propaganda organs eased off on their personal attacks on the Chinese leadership yesterday to appeal once again for unity between the two warring parties.

Peking has warned the quarrel is only helping the West. "If the leaders of the Chinese Communist party have not finally lost the awareness of their international responsibility, they must at least understand that their actions divert forces and attention... from the accomplishment of the vital task of Socialist construction, complicate the struggle against imperialism, prejudice the entire anti-imperialist front," the theoretical journal Communist said.

Communist called again for a summit meeting of the world's Communist parties.

But Western experts in Moscow said that the only outcome of such a meeting now would be to put a formal and permanent stamp on the split.

No such summit is planned before next fall.

In the meantime, the experts said, both Moscow and Peking will try to avoid blame for the division of the world Communist camp.

India Releases Kashmir Chief

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Sheik Mohammed Abdullah, Moslem leader of the independence movement in Kashmir State, was set free today after 11 years of imprisonment by Prime Minister Nehru's government.

Abdullah, the "Lion of Kashmir" who had been prime minister of the state until Nehru integrated it into India, was released in the town of Jammu, in the southwestern section of Kashmir, the government radio said.

Also set free were 13 other men arrested in 1953 on charges that they worked to break the state away from India and join it with Moslem Pakistan or to form an independent state. A huge cheering crowd welcomed the 14 freed men, throwing garlands around their necks and shouting, "Long live Moslem-Hindu unity," the radio said.

Abdullah languished in jail nine years before he was brought to trial. The trial dragged on inconclusively and Abdullah's case became a cause around which neighboring Pakistan and dissatisfied elements within Kashmir rallied.

The Indian government announced on April 1 the charges against the imprisoned nationalists would be dropped and that they would be released to stabilize the tense political situation in Kashmir.

Personal Debts Grow

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—

Americans are salting away a record amount in various types of savings. They are seeing the mar-

some forms of their past savings increase markedly.

But personal debts also are soaring. Yet their total savings after subtraction of the record debts is riding around the trillion-dollar mark.

Much of this thousand billion dollars of savings, however, is not liquid—that is, it isn't readily available to pay debts or meet emergencies.

Personal debts are rising at a faster rate now than are liquid savings. This causes

some fretting about what might happen if the anticipated business boom proved to be short-lived. Would failing personal income make some debt loads unbearable?

Installment debt jumped in February by the greatest amount in more than four years. Many consumers are supposed to have reasoned they could take on monthly payments because of the foreshadowed windfall of the cut in their federal income taxes. The rise in take home pay didn't show up until March. And this may have encouraged still others to increase their installment debts.

HIGHER DEBTS

On-the-cut credit rose by $79 million in February to a total of $55.5 billion. This was $3.7 billion higher than February 1963. The noninstallment

charge accounts, service credit—rose by $146 million to $15.2 billion. So the total of all forms of consumer debt standing came to $68.8 billion.

Finance companies point out that the rise in installment debt is not necessarily a bad thing. It shows that consumers are confident about the future.

ploring Earth's mountains, des-

These predictions may appear bold," commented the GM executives, "but the opportunity is likely to appear true."

eration or two hence."

defaults on monthly payments held at the same rel-

From this they argue that risking personal incomes make

Americans able to take on more debt comfortably.

Mortgage debt is the largest item of all, and it has been moving up fairly steadily for years, in good times or bad.

The total is now over $175 billion. Some regions have reported increasing defaults and foreclosures. But lenders say the over-all one is still good.

Stock market credit also has been rising, up about $2 billion in 1963. If the return of the public to the stock market picks up any speed, this form of debt

also should rise more this year.

SAVING MORE

To meet payments on their installment debt and mortgage debt, individuals are putting aside more and more dollars of their after-tax income in almost every year. This trend has risen sharply since the last dip in mid-1962. Merchants have to reckon with the fact that much of the rise in personal incomes may be absorbed by repayments, leaving less new money to be spent in the stores.

While liquid assets—cash,

government securities, bank and similar savings accounts—top consumer, mortgage and stock market debts by a considerable margin, many note that debt has been growing faster since 1959 than have liquid assets, now put at around $400 billion.

Americans' total savings at the end of 1963 are broken down

this way: Cash and demand deposits $91 billion, securities holdings valued at $653 billion in today's market; $113 billion in savings deposits; $112 billion in life insurance; $98 billion in savings and loan shares. All included as savings are uncor-porated business, trust funds, nonprofit institutions and pension reserves.

Increases in most of these have been noted in the first months of this year. That is why the total, including all the types, is now put at around a trillion dollars—or the figure 1 and 12 zeros.

GM Previews the Future in World's Fair Exhibition

General Motors Corp. today opened the doors to its Futur-ama exhibit at the New York

World's Fair and invited newcomers to take a trip into the future.

Covering an 8½-acre site at the Flushing Meadows fairgrounds, the exhibit is one of the biggest in the show, and could be as prophetic as GM's display at the 1939-40 exposition.

A quarter century ago, the company predicted the superhighways that now cross the country and other then-starting ideas.

Besides displaying its wide product range from home appliances to heavy industrial and transportation equipment, GM also reviewed four experimental vehicles which will be seen when the fair opens April 22.

They included three streamlined autos: the GM-X, a two-passenger, high-performance coupe; Firebird IV, a four-seat or touring cruiser; a three-wheel town car; and the turbine-powered Bison for highway freight.

In a joint statement, GM

Chairman Frederic G. Donner

and President John F. Gordon said the World's Fair "should be more than an international trade show or bazaar.

"It may signalize past and present accomplishments, but its even greater interest is its focus on the future," they said.

The corps of reporters then were seated three abreast in sound-equipped lounge chairs for what Donner and Gordon termed three-dimensional concept of the future.

Plane Mishap Hospitalizes 15

No Deaths Reported in Landing Accident

NEW YORK (AP)—A Jet

liner carrying 136 passengers and a crew of nine bounced into a swamp and cracked open while trying to land at John F.

Kennedy International Airport Tuesday night.

At least 48 persons submitted to medical treatment, with 15 taken to hospitals. Three of the latter group were released with no findings announced. Injuries ranged from cuts and bruises to dislocated and broken bones.

One male passenger was treated for a heart attack.

The Boeing 707, a Pan American World Airways flight from San Juan, Puerto Rico, was landed in light fog when it bounced off the end of a runway and plowed into a marshy field.

There was no fire. Foam was spread to reduce that possibility.

CREW HELPED

The crew helped passengers into two life rafts, but some stepped from the plane directly into about two feet of mud and water.

"I believe it was the mud that saved us," said Mrs. Sidney

Seidman of Lawrence, N.Y.

There was no panic," said her husband. "The crew did us an excellent job. They guided us out. After the plane hit, some people screamed, but that was all."

A Pan American official declined to speculate whether the plane had overshot its landing or couldn't stop after landing because of the wet, slick runway.

CUT FENCE

The jet came to rest about

1,000 feet from the end of the runway and about 100 feet from Rockaway Boulevard in Queens.

A wire fence that surrounded the airport was cut by police at the point to allow passengers to reach dry ground.

The plane at first had been reported missing and all operations at the airport were suspended while emergency vehicles searched the huge airport.

Most passengers got out of the plane via escape hatches.

The fuselage snapped about

75 feet from the nose end, and the disjoined end bent at a 15-degree angle.

Sellers Still Is Critical; Holds Own

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—English actor Peter Sellers held his own today as modern science battled to save him from a heart seizure that had carried him to death.

The actor was "awake and alert" after a night's rest and attending physician said there were no complications during the night.

Doctors were hopeful for Sellers' recovery from the seizure that struck him down

Monday while he was re-filming a movie.

There were signs of encouragement last night when a blood test that had lodged in a vital section of the heart had partially dissolved.

It had caused a blockage and called for emergency measures to maintain the flow of life-giving blood while anticoagulants

"VERY CRITICAL"

The 38-year-old comedian's condition still was "very, very critical," a spokesman said at Cedars of Lebanon Hospital, because while the clot still is presented, there is a passage for the beating blood.

"His chances are good if he gets past the next hours," the spokesman said.

A battery of physicians and attendants was constantly at the English star's bedside during the long crisis.

The metropolitan area's newest college, it is located in build-
