Cuba Flights, Blockade Suspended

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States aerial surveillance of Cuba, as well as its arms blockade, has been stopped for the two days during which Acting U.N. Secretary General U Thant is conferring in Havana.

Arthur Sylvester, assistant secretary of defense, announced at a Pentagon briefing shortly before noon the temporary suspension of the aerial surveillance. The blockade had been suspended at dawn.

"We are not continuing surveillance today," Sylvester said, then added that it was suspended for two days.

Thant left New York this forenoon for the critical negotiations in Cuba with Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

Sylvester had no report on the results of aerial reconnaissance flights carried out by U.S. planes Monday.

But he had a further explanation of the delay in analyzing the reconnaissance photographs.

He said he had talked this morning with top officials in charge of analysis of the pictures. Sylvester said he now could say: "Analysis of aerial pictures entails a meticulous review of the material disclosed and a painstaking comparison of that material with previously obtained material in order to obtain accurate findings. One has to be careful about making conclusions because there are certain evaluation procedures to be observed in order to insure accuracy of the results obtained."

U.N. Refuses Red China Seat

Margin Wider Than Defeat Last Year

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Red China suffered a resounding defeat today when the General Assembly rejected its latest U.N. membership by a bigger margin than a year ago.

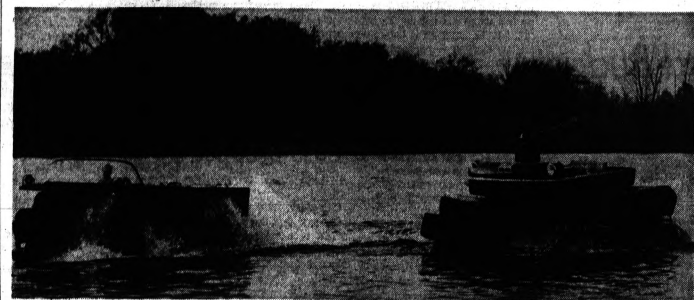

The vote was 42 in favor, 56 against and 12 abstaining. Last year, the result was 36 for, 48 against and 20 abstaining. In both cases it was far less than the required two-thirds majority.

The main switch was among some of the new African members.

The vote was seen as a big victory for the Western powers who had strongly opposed the seating of Red China. They argued that the Peking regime's military action against India demonstrated its unfitness for membership.

At the last minute, some of the African countries came out for a two-China plan under which both Red China and the Chinese Nationalists would get U.N. seats. They declined, however, to make a formal proposal.

India, as expected, voted for the Soviet resolution in spite of Indian charges that the Chinese Communists were carrying out premeditated aggression against Indian territory.

LAND-WATER CRAFT — Two of the Army's newest dual vehicles, a Land Vehicle Amphibious (left), and a Kristi were among nearly 30 troop carriers demonstrated on and around Galloway Lake yesterday. The demonstration was conducted by the Detroit Arsenal in Center Line to show the capabilities of these vehicles in remote areas.

150 Persons Witness Demonstration

Military and civilian personnel yesterday were given a long look at the newest production and experimental armed forces vehicles.

Nearly 30 vehicles from the size of a scooter to several-ton armored tractors were demonstrated to 150 persons at a testing site just east of the city limits and on Galloway Lake.

The purpose of the demonstration was to show the capabilities of vehicles being developed for use in remote areas — Korea, Viet Nam and southeast Asia.

The Research and Engineering Division of the Detroit Arsenal in Center Line put on the demonstration, which included the testing of a few Canadian vehicles and some developed for the Marine Corps.

"What we wanted to show was the ability of these machines to operate in swampy areas," an officer from the Arsenal explained. "I think we succeeded."

Land-water craft were demonstrated at Galloway Lake in the afternoon part of the program.

GM Profits Record High

DETROIT (AP)—General Motors Corp. reported yesterday record profits for the first nine months of this year.

The world's biggest manufacturing firm earned $962 million. The previous high was $913 million in the first nine months of the boom year of 1955.

Earnings per share in the first nine months of 1962 were $2.36, topping the 1955 mark of $2.31.

Sales for the first nine months this year also set a record. They totaled $10.45 billion compared with the previous record of $9.54 billion in 1955.

GM's worldwide payrolls totaling $2.84 billion for January through September set another record. The previous top was $2.50 billion for the first nine months of 1960.

This year's third quarter earnings of $186 million fell short, however, of the first and second quarters. The third quarter earnings came on sales of $2.76 billion.

But third quarter results were considerably ahead of the same period a year ago when a strike in September crippled GM's auto production.

In the first nine months last year earnings totaled $528 million or $1.83 a share.

GM's chairman, Frederic G. Donner, and president, John F. Gordon, said the company's 1962 volume "reflected a continuation during the third quarter of a high level of general business activity and of consumer confidence together with a strong customer preference for GM products, both automotive and nonautomotive."

Public response to 1963 automobile models was described as encouraging.

Ford Motor Co. last week reported a record nine-month profit of $350.4 million. Chrysler reported a net of $15.1 million.

Bundle Up, It May Freeze Here Tonight

Better bundle up tonight as temperatures are expected to hit a freezing 32 in the Pontiac area.

The U.S. Weather Bureau said tonight will be mostly cloudy and colder but tomorrow temperatures will hit a high of 48. Fair and cool is the forecast for Thursday.

Morning westerly winds at 10 miles per hour will become 10 to 25 m.p.h. late today and shift to northerly tonight.

From 10:15 yesterday morning until the same hour today, 2 of an inch in showers fell in downtown Pontiac. Prior to 8 a.m. the low recording was 38. The reading was 45 at 2 p.m.

India Turns Tables at Last, Attacks Chinese at Border

FROM OUR NEWS WIRES
NEW DELHI — Indian troops fought the invading Communist Chinese to a standstill today and went on the attack themselves at the eastern end of the disputed border.

A government spokesman disclosed a series of "probing" attacks by the Indians for the first time since the Red Chinese stepped up their invasion of the border region 10 days ago.

Battles appeared to be shaping up in the Himalayas as both sides poured in reinforcements.

For the first time the defense ministry told of Indian forces using mortars and holding their own against the Communists.

The only setback reported today was loss of one small military outpost on the Tibetan border in the center of the North East Frontier Agency.

Boasted by American and British weapons to be rushed here by air, a feeling of confidence swept the nation and shook it out of the despair created by a series of retreats since the Communists launched their offensive Oct. 20.

A high Soviet military source said in Moscow that the Soviet Union would ship no arms to India since it supports Red China's territorial claims. This source emphasized the Soviet Union considers India a friend.

Women Reach Their Goal; Hit 100.3 Pct.

500 Attend Victory Luncheon Today at Elks Temple

The Pontiac Area United Fund campaign has reached 45 per cent of its goal, with contributions totaling $318,496.48 to date.

Fred V. Haggard, campaign chairman, made the announcement today at a Women's Division victory luncheon at Pontiac Elks Temple.

The women's division has already surpassed its quota.

Haggard praised Mrs. Joseph Fox, women's division chairman, and her committee leaders for "having done an outstanding job in reaching their goal during the first 10 days of the campaign."

Some 500 women's division campaign workers attended the luncheon.

Mrs. Fox reported that the three groups in the division have surpassed their goal, having received pledges of $28,298 or 100.3 per cent of the total division goal of $28,214.

She thanked the women, noting that "the weather has been unfavorable but our women have never been daunted."

Both the Lake Avenue and Waterford Township groups reported victories while the Pontiac group reported it still had work to do to complete its quota.

Mrs. Earl White, Pontiac chairman, said her group has raised $15,549, or 96.1 per cent of its $16,180 quota.

The Lake Avenue group has raised $3,028 or 100.3 per cent of its $3,017 quota.

Waterford Township women under Mrs. Frank Rukowski reported $9,723 received to date — 101.3 per cent of the township's $9,687 quota.

Reports were also made on the progress of industrial, commercial and professional campaign divisions.

Boel Starr, plant chairman at Pontiac Motor Division, said the industrial division has raised $201,977 or 43.2 per cent of its quota.

Avon Divorcee Arraigned for Embezzling

A young Avon Township divorcee was arraigned yesterday in U.S. District Court, Detroit, on a charge of embezzling funds from her former employer, The Pontiac Co-op Federal Credit Union.

Mrs. Mamie Dale Ostrander, 26, 2772 Leach Road, appeared voluntarily on a charge of obtaining a fictitious loan from the credit union, 156 W. Huron St., where she was head bookkeeper until a week ago.

The FBI said that she was involved in embezzling $43,000 in the last two and half years, $23,000 of which has been repaid.

It was discovered just recently that the credit union had a shortage of funds totaling $20,000, said Ronald J. Wilde, treasurer — general manager of the credit union.

Mrs. Ostrander was charged specifically with embezzling $550 on June 16, 1960.

BEGAN IN 1959

The Federal Bureau of Investigation, following its investigation, said that Mrs. Ostrander, 2772 Leach Road, began in June 1959, to take proceeds from the credit union on loans that were made in the names of fictitious persons.

An employee of the credit union since December 1959, Mrs. Ostrander, the FBI said, had produced

GOP Aims for Lansing, Dems for Oakland

While Michigan Republicans hope for a change from 14 years of Democratic rule in the state capital, it's the Democratic party that's fighting to reverse things in Oakland County.

Birmingham attorney George J. Fulkerson is waging an energetic campaign to unseat Republican Congressman William S. Broomfield, who has represented the 18th District (Oakland County) in Congress since 1956 and is seeking a fourth term.

GEORGE J. FULKERSON

WILLIAM S. BROOMFIELD

The statement of George J. Fulkerson is as follows:

The overriding issue before Congress is medicare — the President's national health care program for the elderly, financed by the individual income tax on his working years through Social Security and recently expanded to cover those not now under Social Security by a special congressional appropriation.

Neither private insurance plans nor the current Kerr-Mills program can do the job.

Barely 50 per cent of our senior citizens have private health insurance of any kind and even fewer will be able to afford it if proposed increases go into effect.

As for Kerr-Mills, fewer than 2 per cent of Michigan's senior citizens were helped during the program's first year — and those who were forced to rely on it had to take what was virtually a pauper's oath.

We have heard cries that medicare is "socialistic" and that Kerr-Mills is a fine plan. Yet the charge of "socialistic" is much more applicable to Kerr-Mills, under which the individual has no choice of hospital or doctor.

Medicare, on the other hand, would allow him to maintain his dignity and his free choice by the simple means of contributing 25 cents a week while he is working so that he can meet his health care needs after he retires.

The statement of Congressman William S. Broomfield is as follows:

With the threat of the Cuban crisis hanging over our heads, this is no time for partisan political considerations.

We are relieved that, at last, action has replaced words on our foreign policy toward Cuba, and that the White House has met its responsibility head on and has left no doubt in the minds of Khrushchev and Company as to what our position is.

In the past, I have been critical of our policy toward Cuba because I thought it was too weak and vacillating to be effective.

In the House of Representatives, I was sponsor of a strong resolution to give the President broader power to resist the Russian threat in Cuba, unilaterally if necessary.

Although this strong resolution did not pass, I am happy to note that the President acted in the spirit of the resolution I sponsored as he should have, taking the lead rather than delegating our nation to a position where we were followers rather than leaders.

This is the type of leadership we have really needed in recent months, not only in our resistance to the growth of Communist military power in Cuba, but in areas other than those of the military in many parts of the world.

Before Broomfield, Republican George A. Dondro held the seat for 24 years, making a total of 30 years of uninterrupted possession of the post by the GOP.

The 36-year-old Fulkerson, who lives at 3109 Middlebury Lane, Bloomfield Township has concentrated his attack on Broomfield's positions on domestic issues, primarily medicare.

ON FOREIGN POLICY

Broomfield, however, is emphasizing his role in foreign policy. A member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, he says he is "one of the most ardent supporters of President Kennedy's bipartisan foreign policy."

He recently received a letter from a U.S. assistant secretary of state praising him for "all your help on the State Department's legislative program this past session."

Broomfield, 40, who lives at 1116 S. Lafayette, Royal Oak, when he's not in Washington, is a member of the Far East and National Security subcommittees of the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

His current concern, like that of most Americans today, is the Cuban crisis.

Fulkerson, however, accuses him of "obstructionism" for voting against a Sept. 27 congressional resolution authorizing President Kennedy to use force, if necessary, against Cuba.

But Broomfield explained that

The Pontiac Press today begins a brief discussion of the local candidates to appear on the Nov. 6 ballot. Candidates for Congress and the Michigan Senate are presented today. Others offices will be discussed later this week.

A House rule requires a no vote from anyone introducing a motion to send a resolution back to committee for changes.

Fulkerson, a strong supporter of President Kennedy's medicare program, says Broomfield refuses to take a stand on the medicare program.

He also accuses the Republican incumbent of waging "a program of public deception by spending taxpayers' money to of hypocrisy in writing letters of congratulations to high school graduates.

TAKES NO STAND

Fulkerson, a strong supporter of President Kennedy's medicare program, says Broomfield refuses to take a stand on the medicare program.

He also accuses the Republican incumbent of waging "a program of public deception by spending taxpayers' money to deluge Oakland County voters with questionnaires, polls and nonsensical fence-straddling opinions."

Meanwhile, he consistently votes "against the very programs which the people of the county need and have supported in his polls and questionnaires," Fulkerson claims.

Broomfield, whose campaign was abbreviated by a late adjournment of Congress, blames Democrats in the House and Senate for failure of federal aid to colleges legislation.

He said Democrats prevented a compromise between House and Senate after the Senate lacked on a scholarship program to the House bill that "would have wrecked the student loan program now in effect."

Fulkerson claims Broomfield is afraid to debate him.

Broomfield served eight years in the State Legislature, before his first term in Congress.

The father of three daughters, Broomfield was first elected to the State Legislature in 1948 as representative from the county's Fifth District.

During his six years as a state representative, he served as a speaker pro tem of the House, the youngest in Michigan history.

Fulkerson, a special assistant attorney general for the state, has practiced law since 1953, the last five years in Oakland County.

He was an unsuccessful candidate for county prosecutor two years ago and twice sought election to the Birmingham Board of Education.

He is a graduate of Pontiac Central High School, the University of Chicago and the University of Detroit Law School.

Statements by the two candidates are under their pictures.

Incumbent's Stand Disputed

Candidates Agree on Tax Solution

Tax reform in Michigan is getting a big share of the attention in the race for Oakland County's 12th District State Senate seat, and both candidates agree on the main solution — a state income tax.

Republican Farrell E. Roberts, seeking his second term in the senate post, voted for an income tax in the last session.

His challenger, Leland H. Smith, a Highland Park Junior College political science instructor, doesn't agree, however, that Roberts supports an income tax for the state.

Smith points to Roberts' later vote to reconsider the tax and says, "In view of my opponent's decisive retreat, his current 11 p vote to fiscal reform has a hollow ring."

Roberts says his changed vote was dictated by parliamentary strategy. He did not want the income tax to pass without other parts of a total tax reform package and there weren't enough votes to pass the package, he explains.

He voted to reconsider because a move to pass the total package could be made again when sufficient support was available, Roberts says.

Roberts, 40, of 2496 Lafayette Drive, West Bloomfield Township, also sees the proposed new constitution as a crucial issue.

He says the document is far superior to the state's present constitution and claims Democratic opposition is strictly partisan.

The 36-year-old Smith, who lives at 23014 Oak Crest St., Oak Park, considers the State Senate apportionment issue important.

"Oakland County desperately needs senate reapportionment," he says.

Roberts served four years in the state house of representatives before he was elected to the senate two years ago.

When not in Lansing, he shares a Keeto Harbor law office with West Bloomfield Township Justice of the Peace Elmer C. Dietler.

An enthusiastic supporter of George W. Romney for governor, Roberts served as an assistant prosecutor in Oakland County after military service from 1950 to 1952.

He is a graduate of the U.S. Naval Academy and has a law degree from the University of Michigan.

CONGRESSMAN BILL BROOMFIELD CONFERRING WITH SECRETARY OF STATE RUSK

CUBA! WHO STOOD FOR ACTION?

Congressional Record—House, September 26, 1962

MR. BROOMFIELD. — President Kennedy, in a speech as a candidate at Johnston, Pa., October 15, 1960, said that—

If you can't stand up to Castro, how can you be expected to stand up to Khrushchev?

As President, he stated in his inaugural address that—

Let all our neighbors know that we shall join with them to oppose aggression or subversion anywhere in the Americas. And let every other power know that this hemisphere intends to remain the master of its own house.

Mr. Chairman, I hope every Member of this body joins me in supporting a recommitment motion stating simply this—that the Monroe Doctrine has been violated, and that we are solidly behind the President in any action he may take in enforcing the Monroe Doctrine. A loud and clear congressional voice to this effect will go far in strengthening the hand of our President and expressing to the entire world the feelings of every American on this subject.

MR. GRIFFIN. Mr. Chairman, will the gentleman yield?

MR. BROOMFIELD. I yield to the gentleman from Michigan.

MR. GRIFFIN. I wish to commend my colleague from Michigan for the work he has done on this resolution and for his courage in offering a motion to recommit, which would amend this resolution.

As I understand the recommitment motion, it will involve several small amendments, but very important ones. I should like to ask the gentleman if I am correct in that two principal points are involved: First, the resolution amended by the gentleman's recommitment motion would recognize that the present Communist buildup in Cuba is a violation of the Monroe Doctrine, and the resolution reported by the committee does not; and second, it would add a new section to this resolution providing that this Congress supports the President in any such action he may take to implement and enforce the Monroe Doctrine throughout this hemisphere. Is that correct?

MR. BROOMFIELD. That is correct.

MR. GRIFFIN. Again I commend the gentleman for offering it, and I intend to support it.

MR. CRAMER. Mr. Chairman, will the gentleman yield?

MR. BROOMFIELD. I yield to the gentleman from Florida.

MR. CRAMER. I join in expressing my congratulations to the gentleman for proposing a motion to recommit, that I think fills the gap that exists in the present resolution and gives it some real teeth. In reading the resolution, the committee hearings, and all other available information on the resolution presently before us I am led to the conclusion that the resolution as presented would give the stamp of approval in that it is not drafted in terms of what has already happened in Cuba, to the armed buildup that everyone admits exists. I may say to the gentleman that the gentleman from South Carolina (MR. RIVERS), on the floor a few minutes ago, told me some facts with regard to the buildup in Cuba I had not been aware of before, the extent to which long-range missiles are available in Cuba. I say that the military buildup is unquestioned, and that in itself is a violation of the Monroe Doctrine.

Seeking Board Approval for Plans of New Schools

The Pontiac Board of Education will be asked to approve architectural planning for a new junior high school and a new elementary school at its 7:30 p.m. meeting Thursday.

The session will be held in the board offices, 40 Patterson St.

The construction of the new schools — to cost an estimated $2 million — was recommended for board study by Supt. Dana P. Whitmer at the last board meeting.

The $1.5-million junior high school would be constructed, for 600 students, at a site on the east side of Baldwin Avenue just south of the Pontiac city limits.

A site for the 10-room elementary school exists east of Cottage Street and north of Murphy Park. The school is expected to cost an estimated $457,000.

A study is also being made to expand the Irving School building at 1338 W. Square Lake Road, to accommodate library services, physical education, music programs, noon lunches and meetings for parents and pupils, Dr. Whitmer announced.

No such facilities are available at the school now. An exact recommendation is being prepared for board consideration, Whitmer said.

OTHER BUSINESS

In other board business, members will be asked to discuss two requests from district teachers.

One asks payment of all accumulated sick leave to the estate of a deceased teacher. The other asks for providing sabbatical leaves of absence.

An independent audit of the school district's books also will be presented at the meeting.

Asst. Supt. William Lacy will present a report on educational television and the school district's plans for its use.

County Seeking a Prosecutor

Experienced Lawyer Needed to Fill Staff

Wanted: One experienced trial lawyer to prosecute law violators on behalf of the people. Wanted badly.

Oakland County Prosecutor George F. Taylor wants him for his staff of assistant prosecutors.

Taylor's staff has been one man short of its authorized strength of 13 assistant prosecutors since Oct. 19 to enter private practice in Birmingham.

"I am unable to get an experienced trial lawyer for the salary the county pays," Taylor said. He indicated the salary would be from $5,000 to $7,500, depending on experience.

He said he needed an experienced lawyer because he does not have the time to train one in criminal trial procedure.

His office is in bad shape because the vacancy persists, he said.

Two prospects he was sure would join his staff changed their minds and newspaper want ads have failed to produce any results.

Unemployed lawyers may contact Taylor at the County Court house.

FARRELL E. ROBERTS

LELAND H. SMITH

The statement of Sen. Farrell E. Roberts is as follows:

The constitutional convention was a mandate of the people with many important citizen organizations actively supporting a calling of the convention.

Democrats insisted that it be based on partisan lines. Today, because they couldn't scuttle the sound recommendations of the delegates, they claim that con-con goaled.

Because Republicans were responsible for writing this superior document, the Democrats are opposed to it.

I had the most consistent voting record for tax reform in the Senate this year. The tax package this last session consisted of more than a dozen bills.

We passed the income tax with only 18 votes and thought the rest of the package would follow. But Haskell Nichols announced that he could not support the rest of the package.

We were not about to loose a quarter of a billion dollar income tax into the blue all by itself. I voted to reconsider the tax because we could move again at a later date.

Republicans have established two legislative study committees on performance audits and the use of a business consultant firm to study state government structure.

The new constitution would allow the governor to replace 120 commissioners with 20 streamlined departments. These combined operations can save the taxpayers millions of dollars.

The statement of Leland H. Smith is as follows:

Comprehensive fiscal reform is imperative. Tax relief for both business and consumer is long overdue.

In line with the recommendations of many fiscal experts, I will work for repeal of the business activities tax, the personal property tax on machinery and tools, and the sales tax on food and drugs.

Other business taxes must be adjusted. To make up for lost revenue we must create a flat rate income tax on both personal and corporate income.

Oakland County desperately needs senate reapportionment. I wholeheartedly applaud the recent decision of the Michigan Supreme Court which upset our present system of frozen senatorial districts.

The people of Oakland County who presently make up 8 per cent of the state's population and pay over 11 per cent of the state's taxes are entitled to 3 senators.

I cannot accept the argument that the voters of this county are either less able or less reasonable than those from other sections of the state.

The voters of the county voted against malapportionment in the election of 1952 which permanently fixed the boundaries of our present unequal districts.

Surely nothing has happened in the past 10 years to make government by an outstate minority more palatable to the people of the county.

The owner of an Addison Township farm home that burned to the ground in July 1961 has been acquitted of arson charges by a Circuit Court jury.

Marvin B. Lee, 26, had been charged in connection with a fire that destroyed his eight-room frame house at 2435 Dexter Road.

James L. Spencer, 21, of 1405 Main St., Lakeville, an employee of Lee, at the time of the fire was found guilty by the jury. But the charge against him was dismissed by Circuit Judge H. Russell Holland.

Judge Holland granted a motion to dismiss by assistant prosecutor Richard Condit, who said insufficient evidence was presented.

Also on tonight's lengthy agenda will be the introduction and first reading of a proposed amendment to the city's ordinance controlling opening and closing hours for bowling alleys.

The amendment would allow bowling alleys in the city to remain open later weekdays and open earlier on Sundays than the present ordinance allows.

The extended hours were recommended by the city council.

BLOCK HOUSE—Joseph N. Blair works on a model of a building constructed of blocks in Detroit, an invention of his to get residents of Africa out of its mud huts. He claims his system would allow two unskilled men to construct a five-room house in eight hours at one third the conventional cost.

Sheriff Candidate Slams Incumbent

Kenneth G. Hirt, Democratic candidate for Oakland County sheriff, today accused his incumbent Republican opponent, Frank Irons, of conducting a "whisper campaign" against him.

"He has had some of his deputies going around the county telling people that he can arrest me any time he wants to," Hirt charged.

He doesn't accuse me specifically on anything. He knows my record is excellent."

Hirt also accused Irons of using prisoners at the county jail for building and painting political signs.

Hirt said this was done when he was employed by the sheriff's department and has been done this year.

Irons said the charge was "absolutely false." He said he has not made any new campaign signs this year, but is using signs left over from previous campaigns.

Hirt claimed he was asked to bring prisoners downstairs to work on the signs when he worked at the sheriff's office. Hirt left the sheriff's department about a year and a half ago.

Irons would not say why Hirt left the department.

Hirt also proposed a four-point program for making the county's antiquated law enforcement system adequate to the needs of the mushrooming area.

He urged creation of a juvenile division, a vice squad, a central filing system and some form of civil service.

He said the department has just one man designated as juvenile and water safety officer, and he does a good job on water safety.

Hirt said there also was only one man assigned to control vice.

Another Wise Choice Important to France

President CHARLES DE GAULLE won the first of two elections upon which the fate of political France may rest.

His personally backed referendum on a constitutional amendment liberalizing voter eligibility in presidential elections received nearly 62 per cent approval of the voters.

The change in electoral procedure, with democratizing effect on the constitution, makes all voters eligible to vote in presidential elections. It supersedes the present restrictive electoral college of some 50,000 which holds sole voting power.

Ahead lies parliamentary elections set for two dates in November. These will determine the fate of the DE GAULLE-supported government of Premier GEORGES POMPIDOU. A defeat could well produce internal crisis in France, with the fate of the Fifth Republic hanging in the balance.

It is to be hoped that the French, having shown admirable discernment in their referendum balloting, will exhibit similar sound thinking in the even more important elections next month.

Never a Dull Moment in Theatrical Business

To our lay minds, the convolutions of the legitimate theater are perplexing and a bit terrifying.

The economics, agonizing and uncertainty of success attendant upon the conception, development and launching of a stage production are of a soul-searing nature.

Financially, the ratio of successes to failures is appallingly low. The great majority of show backers — "angels," as they are called in the trade — lose most or all of their investments. Many shows run an entire year on Broadway without so much as meeting initial costs.

Technically, stagecraft is probably the number one ulcer producer known to man.

The original opening-night pattern of a production often is unrecognizable a year later.

During the tryout period, playwright, producer, director and cast usually enter upon a frenzied period of rewriting, shortening, improvising, strengthening and unending rehearsing — which they hope will remedy the manifold weaknesses revealed and make the embryonic vehicle acceptable to Broadway.

Meanwhile, all concerned have been slowly but surely going nuts.

There could be no better example of the inherent inconsistency of the business than the musical, "Mr. President," which had its premiere in Washington and was attended by a body of the social elite topped by the KENNEDY clan.

The book was written by HOWARD LINDSAY and RUSSEL CROUSE, authors of many Broadway hits; the director is JOSHUA LOGAN, of equal rank; music and lyrics were composed by IRVING BERLIN, another top talent; the cast was headed by two of the best: ROBERT RYAN and NANETTE FABRAY.

What was the opening-night verdict of critics and public? . . . "Sorry," "soggy," "a timid bore." Despite the dismal reception, however, the fame of producers and cast had ballooned advance ticket sales for the show's New York appearance.

The impresarios, who have been furiously rewriting and retuning the show, wave aside the disdain evidenced and express complete confidence in the future of the production. Says IRVING BERLIN, "We've got a hit—we don't know yet how big a hit."

Yes, sir. There's no biz like show biz.

The Man About Town

An Arty Story

Local Painter Makes Time With TIME Correspondent

By HOWARD HELDENBRAND
One of the MAT's favorite guy friends is Mrs. John D. Mills of 206 Chippewa Road. (If the MAT's wife sees this, he was misquoted.) But aside from sentimental leanings, is a high regard for her artistic talent which not long ago, had, you might say, international recognition.

It was like this. Recently resuming seriously an early interest in painting, for many years shelved as domestic and family responsibilities took precedence, she saw a photo in TIME that caught her fancy.

It accompanied a report from the magazine's foreign correspondent and showed a group of Tibetan children — destitute and tragically old-looking for their years — the elder carrying the younger.

Our artist painted an oil from the photo and then, because of so much local interest, with offers to purchase, she wrote photographer Donald S. Connerly for permission to sell (customary procedure in such cases) enclosing a photo of her painting of this photo . . . I didn't lose you there, did I?

Well, sir, after an exchange of several letters via the magazine's New York office, the correspondent, who was graciousness itself and most complimentary of the work, ended up buying the painting himself!

A column salute to the painter, and best wishes for continued enjoyment and profit from her avocation.

"Ever see fresh home grown sweet corn sold as snow swirled in around the roadside stand?" asks the Press circulation department. After a head shake of unbelief, he vowed that Oakland County provided such a rare sight one day last week at the Beaumont farm roadside stand on Orchard Lake Road, and that sales at 50¢ per doz. were just as brisk as the weather.

Hoping to throw some light on a recent inquiry about a Wilson's Phanerope,

Mrs. Joseph Wilson of 4470 Dickerson, reported that since summer a pair of gray-brown birds, long bills and long legs, has been appearing from a nearby marsh to be fed. Their cry was a shrill scrawl, noticed particularly in the male. (Seems as though most of the noise created in the world originates with the masculine gender.)

This fall, the proud parents presented five babies — but they were all jet black . . . I wonder how Mama squealed herself out of that one!

Comparison of birds and coloring with Lind book specimens pointed to a Wilson's Snipe.

And apropos birds, we learned at the lawyers' luncheon table at The Elks (where many pearls of wisdom are dropped, and a few picked up) that pheasants were not indigenous to Michigan.

Ring-necked Chinese birds were imported and protected for ten years, exposed to hunting in 1921.

(In case any authority differs with this and wants to make a Federal case out of it, I've got a table-full of lawyers to defend me.)

'Victory' in Cuba Hollow and Sad

WASHINGTON — It's a hollow "victory"—if, indeed, it turns out to be a victory at all.

It's Nikita Khrushchev who now is established as the man in charge of Cuba.

It's he who is dealing for Cuba with this country and with the United Nations, and it is he who will argue whether certain weapons in Cuba are "defensive" or "offensive."

It is the Soviet LAWRENCE premier who shipped the missiles into Cuba in the first place to threaten the United States. Yet, when he promises to withdraw them, President Kennedy calls this a "statesman-like decision."

If a would-be murderer points a gun at you and then suddenly decides not to kill you, does he immediately become a "statesman?"

So far as the Monroe Doctrine and the "traditions of this hemisphere" are concerned, however, even as the President and Premier Khrushchev were exchanging subtly phrased notes about "peace" and the protection of Cuba against "invasion," agents of the Soviet government operating from Cuba were engaged in dynamiting four electric power stations in Venezuela, and was sabotaged a substantial part of the oil production of that country.

First reports said it will cost at least $1.1-million a day until repairs can be completed.

The United States government, moreover, has sacrificed an opportunity to liberate the Cuban people.

The American quarantine or blockade of Cuban ports is to be dispensed with on the assurances of Khrushchev that his "officers" and "instructors," as he describes them, will change the missile bases so they will no longer be "offensive."

A United Nations inspection team doubtless will take plenty of time to make sure it is distinguishing between the offensive and defensive character of any military projects already set up in Cuba by the Soviets.

NIKITA STAYS
For the plain fact is that Khrushchev has not agreed to get out of Cuba. The United States, on the other hand, has backed away from the Monroe Doctrine and has not insisted that all the Soviet arms be removed from Cuba.

The latest letter from the Soviet premier implied that "defensive" arms supplied by the Soviets would remain in Cuba.

So who has come out with a net gain? The United States, in effect, has recognized the Soviet right to run Cuba and is not to challenge it by invading Cuba, as is required by an application of the Monroe Doctrine and as other American presidents in the past have interpreted it.

Thus Khrushchev stays in Cuba. He says in one of his two notes that he will defend Cuba and will interpret the actions of the United States from time to time in his own way.

Dr. Brandstadt's Mailbag:

Rest Seems Best Cure for 'Jerking Leg' Malady

Q — At night along about 10 o'clock my legs get to jerking. This is a very uncomfortable feeling. What causes it and what should I do?

A — The cause is not known but it is fairly common in persons who are past 40. As is the case with many other conditions cutting out cigarettes BRANDSTADT has been advised.

Although this may benefit a person in many ways it has not been shown definitely to help jerking legs. A wide variety of drugs have been used but with poor results. The best results are usually obtained by stretching out in bed, relaxing and going to sleep.

Some persons who have this trouble have complained that the jerking persists even after they get to bed but since it never wakes them up after they have gone to sleep and since they never have it in the morning when they are rested I can't help but believe that rest is the best treatment.

Q — I am 39 years old. Fourteen months ago I was stricken with sciatica. What can be done for it?

A — Since sciatica is not a disease but a symptom common to different diseases, you must first have your doctor make tests to determine the cause. This may be pressure on the sciatic nerve resulting from changes in the bones or joints near where it passes out of the pelvis. Pelvic tumors may also cause such pressure.

If the cause can be found the treatment is directed at correcting it. Rest, heat and pills to relieve the pain are mere stopgap measures. Mustard plasters, liniment and massage may be harmful and should be avoided.

Sometimes removal of an infected tooth or other chronic infection will cure sciatica. Injection of the nerve high in its course may give lasting relief, but because it doesn't remove the cause, a recurrence can be expected.

A study by your doctor of your posture while you are walking, standing, sitting and lying down may give a valuable clue to a nerve strain and may lead to corrective measures.

Q — I suffer from low blood sugar. Aside from diet do you know of any tablet that would gradually dissolve and keep the blood sugar at the proper level?

A — Several years ago, the weakness, tremor and sweating characteristic of the sinking of the blood sugar level to a critical point was treated by giving quick-energy foods.

The treatment now recommended is a high-protein, low-carbohydrate diet with enough fat to give the required calories.

Dr. Crane's article regarding the feeble-minded was most objectionable. His scientific knowledge is outdated and his attitude toward humans is no better than Hitler's. I am surprised The Press would publish his column for what it is.

In Washington:

JFK's 'Reasons' Weren't Political

By PETER EDSON
WASHINGTON (NEA) — The first, cynical reaction that President Kennedy took his precipitous action calling for a blockade of Cuba for purely domestic political reasons — to influence the election — now has been pretty well dissipated.

The overwhelmingly convincing evidence of Russian missile base build-up on Cuba leaves EDSON no room for argument against the rightness of his decision, whatever the motive.

There was considerable gloom in Republican circles the day after Kennedy made his broadcast on Cuba. The initial impression was that it could only mean a loss of Republican seats in the next Congress and a Democratic gain.

There was also some Republican resentment that GOP congressional leaders were called back to Washington from their campaigning to be told what the policy was going to be.

The President's speech had already been drafted. There was no White House consultation with GOP leaders on a bipartisan or nonpartisan policy. It was handed to them cold on a take-it-or-leave-it basis and they had to take it.

Since then, however, the Republicans have been picking themselves off the floor. The President's new policy was, after all, just what they had been advocating for some weeks. It was the initiative of GOP Senate leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, that was primarily responsible for the congressional resolution supporting a firm stand on Cuba.

Voice of the People:

'U.S. Funds Don't Exist; Money Belongs to Us'

Let's do away with the expression "at government expense" or paid for by "federal funds" and similar phrases.

Newspapers report on some project which the "government" will pay for. Quite often a politician will explain that the new bridge, highway or municipal building will not cost taxpayers anything but a simple fee. "The big expense," he tells the audience, "will be taken care of by federal funds."

Except for their own contributions through personal tax, politicians don't spend their own money. When the President or the Congress approves a gift or loan the money being spent doesn't belong to them. It is the taxpayers'.

I suggest the phrase "federal funds" be changed to "taxpayers' money." The people who come up with the money should get proper credit.

Federal funds? Nuts. That's our dough.

Crane Criticized for Recent Article

It is essential that certain of Dr. Crane's fabrications be exposed. Such statements as "Idiot, moron and feeble-minded," make an effort to prove that our society is menaced by these individuals. His article says: "We now have millions of actual feeble-minded in this country! They help zoom our welfare rolls."

Would Dr. Crane advocate we shoot or eradicate the 300,000 mentally-retarded children and adults in Michigan or the 200,000 who live in Oakland County? Does he propose in the interest of reducing welfare costs, elimination of those unfortunately born with mental deficiency?

He makes the statement that thousands of mentally-retarded are "herded," to polling places in the United States. I defy him to prove the existence of this practice. The article claims that mentally deficient people vote in great numbers and, therefore, cause tax increases. We may not agree on the best method for meeting the problem of the mentally deficient, but we can agree as men of good will that our best efforts ought to be directed to basic Christian principles in dealing with the less fortunate members of society. I hope that the readers have rejected this column for what it is.

One further grain of satisfaction which the Republicans can claim as a result of Cuban developments is that the President's call for action in place of delay demonstrates the value of an active "loyal opposition" to administration foreign policies, to criticize them and egg him on.

Nobody really knows what the effect of all these recent developments is going to be on the actual election results. Anybody who says he does or thinks he does is just guessing. The situation is too fluid. It can change, day to day.

What happens next in the Caribbean, at the United Nations, in Berlin, Moscow, Havana or Washington still matter to election day and still materially change the outcome of even local elections.

If the new crisis ends reported voter apathy and brings out a record mid-term vote, that will be one net national gain.

On the other hand, if bombs are falling on Nov. 6 and people can't get to the polls, the next Congress will be elected under a big fallout shelter building program so that voting booths can be installed in them before 1964.

The fact that the President took himself out of the campaign after his Cuba broadcast did not mitigate the situation.

He obviously stands to gain more — politically — from taking a firm stand against Russian missiles in Cuba in his campaign for re-election than he does in his campaign for peace.

Where the President will be missed most by Democrats, Republicans, Communists, Catholics, Protestants and other key states where he had been scheduled to speak in the closing days of the campaign is at fund-raising affairs.

WILL AMERICA BE

OUT OF LUCK?

Industry and hard work brought America luck and leadership in business and trade, in science and living standards and in moral influence. How long can this last?

The future will tell. Leadership calls for leaders, and America will fall behind unless its colleges develop enough men and women with the special training today's problems demand.

But our colleges are in a squeeze. Some face shortages and in 10 years applicants will double. We need more and better laboratories, new facilities and, above all, many qualified teachers.

Junior Editors Quiz on INDIANS

QUESTION: How were arrowheads made?

ANSWER: When early man found he could split pieces of one rock off with another and get a cutting edge, he had taken a tremendous step in weapon making. Now he could make axes, spearheads, scrapers for softening hides, knives, and later, when the bow and arrow was discovered, arrowheads.

Stone arrowheads were used, not only by Indians but by primitive people in many parts of the world. Certain hard stones, such as flint and obsidian, have a natural tendency to flake off. The first step in making an arrowhead (1) would be to use a "hammer stone" to knock pieces or "blanks" off a good bit of material.

Many might be close to arrowhead shape. Often they split with one flat side. Mr. Stone Age Man would take a pointed bit of bone and peck around the edges until the blank was arrow-head shape.

Then (2) he would press with his tool along the edge. If this was done just right, a flake would drop off. By going all around the flint, breaking off chips, the arrowhead could be made razor sharp. With their wonderfully made arrow heads, Indians could kill the largest game.

FOR YOU TO DO: Start a collection of arrowheads.

What's Become of Khrushchev's Big Talk?

BY PHIL NEWSOM

UPI Foreign News Analyst

At a Moscow diplomatic reception a little more than a year ago, First Deputy Anastas Mikoyan remarked that the Soviet Union's greatest secret weapon was Nikita Khrushchev's tongue.

And, indeed, the fast-talking Khrushchev was riding high.

He held the initiative in Berlin and used it to threaten to squeeze out the Western allies through a separate peace with East Germany.

With his declared policy of peaceful coexistence, his call for immediate freedom for all colonial peoples and for immediate and complete world disarmament, he sought to picture himself as a champion of peace standing against Western aggressors.

Using Soviet missile and nuclear successes as his propaganda springboard, he sought at the same time to spread fear of Soviet power among small or wavering nations and the neutrals. Western peace organizations also became vehicles for his propaganda.

In 1960 he reached a peak.

In that year, at the abortive summit conference in Paris, he tongue-lashed the President of the United States.

He demanded the resignation of United Nations Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld for policies frustrating to the Soviet Union in the Congo.

CHINA 'CORPSE'

He declared Nationalist China a "corpse" which should be thrown out of the U.N.

More important to the present, in that year he had his emotional meeting with Fidel Castro at the United Nations and in that year declared:

"We consider that the Monroe Doctrine has outlived its time... has died..."

In July 1960, he warned that the Soviet Union would use rockets against the United States if the U.S. intervened militarily in Cuba.

He repeated the threat in April sample of one Soviet step backward in order to take two forward.

He made it clear he had no intention of releasing his hold on Cuba, a hold which now extends into every walk of Cuban life. Nonetheless, events of the last few days could be enough to cause Khrushchev trouble at home. His failure after four years to settle the Berlin problem and now the unfavorable events in Cuba might provide just the ammunition needed by the Stalinists and others who oppose his brand of personal diplomacy.

These are the statements which may come back to haunt Khrushchev and which contribute to one of the great imperfections in the present crisis.

Historically, the Kremlin has preferred to let others fight its wars and to avoid war itself. Khrushchev's a n o u n c e m e n t that he is ordering his missiles in Cuba dismantled and shipped back home is a major retreat but not yet a retreat of historic dimensions.

Light Editorials on Nehru, Castro, Thant

By BOB CONSIDINE
NEW YORK — How now, Nehru? The Indian prime minister was busy over the weekend begging military aid on the one hand and, on the other, condemning his long-time friend Mao Tse-tung's arrogant aggression.

While his troops were being rolled back like a cheap Indian rug, Nehru specifically asked for help from the U.S. and Russia — and at such an outlandish moment in history?

ONE AGAINST OTHER

He has been using one great power against the other for such an extended period that neither side seemed eager to pull his chestnuts from the fire emanating from the dragon's nostrils.

India's plight is a sad one and worthy of the world's sympathy. But support of the nation's teeming hundreds of millions is made more difficult in the U.S. at least by the very identity of those who entreat it.

Nehru and his surly advance man, Krishna Menon, have been so consistently opposed to what America stands for in the world that there is little compassion for them in their crisis, and co-incidentally only modest interest in what happens to their poor subjects.

For years, India took the lead in proposing Red China for membership in the United Nations.

Nehru has accepted billions of dollars in aid from America on the one hand and has used the other to aim consistent blows at Uncle Sam's whiskers.

Nehru has an alert and agile mind, and accepts no peer as a humanitarian. But it took him 13 days to utter even a "Teh Teh" in respect to Khrushchev's orders to the Red army to go into Budapest and mow down the Hungarian resistance movement.

He asked for what his treacherous ex-pal Mao is giving him.

One encouraging aspect of the continuing crisis is the high regard all sides have shown for U Thant, the quiet, gutty, cigar-chomping acting secretary general of U.N.

The President finds it expedient to let the Burmese diplomat know precisely what the United States is doing and prepared to do if Castro's bases are not junked. That's to be expected of an American president.

HAS SPECIAL WAY

But Khrushchev has been almost equally cooperative with Thant, and now Castro has invited Thant to Havana.

Thant's predecessors, Trygve Lie and Dag Hammarskjold, were generally in hot water with one or another bloc inside U.N. Lie was forced out of his position by the boycott of the Soviet Union and its satellites, a boycott born of Lie's determination to defend Korea.

Hammarskjold was under severe personal attack, including that master of invective Khrushchev himself, during much of the last year before his untimely death in Africa.

But Thant seems to have a special way of doing things fairly and squarely without antagonizing. His term of office and go back to work performance has quieted one of for Burma.

the noisiest discords in U.N. history, the demand of the Soviet Union for "troika" rule of the Secretariat.

Perhaps the secret of his strength is his often-expressed wish to finish out Hammarskjold's term of office and go back to work performance has quieted one of for Burma.

Mental Health Record Backed

LANSING (U) — Sen. Frank D. Beadle, R-St. Clair, yesterday defended the record of the legislature in mental health appropriations.

Beadle spoke as a member of a Republican "truth team" that has been answering Gov. Swainson's comments on the legislative record. Swainson had criticized the legislative mental health appropriations record.

Beadle said the legislature has appropriated an average of $76.3 million for mental health for the past three years. Appropriations for the purpose have more than doubled since 1949 and have increased an average of $2.15 million a year, he said.

The future of Michigan's mental health program is not a matter of politics but of better management, Beadle said.

"It is interesting to note that the governor's great concern for mental health is not reflected in his own legislative record," Beadle said. "He did not sign his name to a single piece of mental health legislation during the entire period he served in the legislature."

Wonder how Fidel Castro's supporters — and, incredibly, he still has some in Cuba and elsewhere through Latin America — felt when Khrushchev made it abundantly clear that he, not Fidel, is in charge of Cuba?

NIKITA DID IT

Castro did not propose that the missile sites be ripped from his soil at the same time similar sites were to be destroyed in Turkey.

Khrushchev said that. He said it 6,000 miles from Castro's headquarters, and without consulting Loco, as Castro's classmates at the University of Havana so appropriately nicknamed him.

Castro did not suggest that if such a deal was accepted by President Kennedy a U.N. observation team might come into Cuba to confirm the elimination of the sites.

Khrushchev made that decision, which was diametrically opposite Castro's threat to shoot any U.N. group sent to the island.

Khrushchev wouldn't treat his dog like that.

One encouraging aspect of the continuing crisis is the high regard all sides have shown for U Thant, the quiet, gutty, cigar-chomping acting secretary general of U.N.

Oil Tank Hit by Lightning

GRAND CHENIER, La. (AP)—Fires at an oil tank farm, caused when lightning struck a tank of distillate, burned out early today. There were no casualties.

"The lightning came straight down and the whole sky seemed to turn red," said Clyde Miller, an employee for Natural Gas and Oil Co., tank farm.

The 6,000-gallon capacity tank exploded, spewing distillate over a wide section. The tank was owned by Sohio. Three other Sohio tanks caught fire, as did one owned by Natural Gas, which adjoins the Sohio tank farm.

Deputies Seek Dog Pack in Ottawa County Raids

HOLLAND (U) — Ottawa County sheriff's deputies have entered a "wild dog" hunt in an effort to stop marauders on area poultry farms.

One operator of a turkey farm some five miles northeast of Holland claimed 785 birds, valued at $1,800, have been slain by dog packs.

Well, GEORGE ROMNEY, what are you going to do about the mess in Lansing?

First, let me say that only the people lose from all the bickering in Lansing. All the people.

Why all the bickering? The answer is that there is no leadership in Lansing. The legislature cannot lead. No committee can lead. Only the man in the governor's chair has the authority and the responsibility to lead the state government.

But no man, regardless of his authority and responsibility, can lead unless he has developed the ability to get people thinking and acting together. He certainly cannot get cooperation by blaming the other fellow when things go wrong and taking all the credit when things go right.

We all lose when there is no leadership. We either get lop-sided legislation which suits no one, or we get deadlock. The people can't win when we have deadlock and division in Lansing.

LEADERSHIP is necessary to get all sides working together to provide a government that can get things done for all the people of Michigan. I'd like to put my experience in leading people with diverse ideas to work for you.

Will you give me a chance to PROVE what a new team in Lansing can do?

George Romney

Two Barn Blazes Cause $75,000 Damage in Area

Two spectacular blazes yesterday destroyed two barns and gutted a third causing a total estimated damage of over $75,000 on two farms, both north of Pontiac.

Both fires started from undetermined causes.

An estimated $50,000 damage was caused by fire which started around 11 p.m. yesterday at the Douglas Caldwell farm at 1251 Taylor Road, Pontiac Township Fire Chief Carl Schlegel said.

Five trucks from Pontiac Township and one from Waterford Township fought the blaze which eventually leveled one barn and gutted another before it was extinguished at about 4 a.m. this morning.

In addition to a new tractor and wagon that were lost, thirty-two head of cattle died in the flames, according to Schlegel. Fifteen hundred bales of hay and straw also were destroyed.

Firemen threw out most of the hay by hand before flames gutted the second barn, he said.

Firemen were notified of the blaze by neighbors who saw the flames from half a mile away. When they arrived at the farm no one was home.

Schlegel said over 35 firemen battled the blaze for the five hours it raged.

Billy B. Brown operates the farm.

Fire on the Buckner - Wood Farm, located on 5030 Granger Road, midway between Oxford and Ortonville, was reported to the Oxford Fire Department by Claude Wood, manager of the farm, at 5:40 p.m.

Oxford firemen arrived along with the Brandon Township Fire Department at 5:50 p.m. to find one of the larger of the farm's six barns blazing.

Firemen from Lake Orion and Independence Township later joined them.

Eight fire trucks battled the blaze, and eventually confined it to a 40-by-80-foot combination cattle-hay barn.

The fire could have easily spread to other buildings on the estate, according to Brandon Township Fire Chief William Buckingham.

USE LAKE WATER

Firemen initially battled the blaze from their trucks, then used a booster pump to make use of the water in an artificial lake 1,500 feet from the burning barn.

The fire was brought under control around 8 p.m., according to Norman Buckner, 2729 Pine Lake Road, Orchard Lake, owner of the farm.

Buckner lauded the efforts of the volunteer firemen.

"Except for the splendid heroic work and efforts of these volunteer fire departments this would have been an even more disastrous fire," he said.

Damage on the Buckner-Wood farm was estimated at $10,000 for the building and $6,000 for contents, by Buckingham. Forty-four head of cattle were removed from the barn during the blaze.

Buckner said the damage is partially covered by insurance.

Hatcher-Kuklaw Rite

MRS. DURAND C. HATCHER

INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP — Play Lenore Kuklaw became the bride of Durand C. Hatcher in a double ring, candlelight ceremony Saturday evening at the Sashabaw Presbyterian Church. Rev. Donald Sinclair officiated.

Parents of the bride are Mrs. William W. Porter of 6244 Pine Knob Road and F. E. Kuklaw of Detroit. The bridegroom's parents are Mrs. Chester Kilburn of Southfield and D. C. Hatcher of Farmington.

For her wedding the bride chose a princess-style gown of flowing chiffon over satin with a chiffon cummerbund and bodice of pearl seeded chiffon. A fitted jacket of silk lace with scalloped neckline and long, snugly fitting sleeves completed the ensemble.

Her fingertip veil of illusion flowed from a small white pearl studded crown and she carried a bouquet of cascading white carnations and Stephanotis.

Appoint Five to Finance, Build Southfield Center

SOUTHFIELD — A five member authority was appointed by the city council last night to build and finance the first phase of Southfield's proposed $7-million civic center.

City officials appointed to the authority include Associate Municipal Judge Thomas Costello, Administrator Donald V. Smith and Building Inspector Clayton Deibel.

The other two members are Robert Fay, former member of the civil service advisory committee and a certified public accountant, and Richard Frey, assistant general manager of Northland Center, Inc.

Plans for the civic center on a 16-acre site at 10 1/2 Mile and Evergreen roads have been under way for nearly two years.

The city is seeking federal matching funds to help pay the Car, Bus Crash, 9 Are Injured

TROY — Six schoolboys and the wife of the Troy police chief were among the nine persons injured in a car-school bus collision at 3:10 p.m. yesterday on E. Maple near Eastport.

The boys were in a bus taking them home from Poppleton Elementary School, 1400 W. Big Beaver Road, where they attend classes for handicapped children.

Mrs. Leota Grattop, 55, wife of Police Chief David E. Grattop, was driving the bus when it collided head-on with a car driven by Mrs. John Powers of Clawson.

Mrs. Grattop, of 272 Fabius St., is listed in critical condition in St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital, Pontiac, with head, chest and knee injuries.

According to police reports, Mrs. Powers, an expectant mother, said she was going west when the car in front of her stopped suddenly. She said she cut left to avoid hitting the halted vehicle.

Police said her car cut into the left lane of the two-lane highway, colliding head-on with the eastbound school bus.

FORCEFUL IMPACT

The impact of the collision was of such force that Michael Cook, 15, of 850 Hartland St., was

Denies Order for Osteopaths

Judge Nixes Injunction to Clear Hospital Plans

SOUTHFIELD — Circuit Court Judge Clark J. Adams yesterday denied a request for a temporary injunction by the Detroit Osteopathic Hospital Corp. to permit work to proceed on plans for an osteopathic hospital in Southfield.

The hospital sought to prevent the City of Southfield from entering with plans to build a 200-bed, $3-million hospital near 18-Mile and Evergreen roads.

The Southfield City Council refused approval for the hospital on the residentially zoned land Oct. 16 after protests against it by some 75 residents at an earlier council meeting.

Hospitals may be approved in the zoning category under the city's zoning ordinance by the council "upon a finding that the use will not be injurious to the surrounding neighborhood."

Approval was recommended by the city planning commission. The hospital's suit contends the decision by the city council was "arbitrary and capricious." Its court action seeking a permanent injunction will be decided by Judge Adams at a later date.

Trick or Treat 'Bandits' Coming

'Invasion' of City Nears

EXCLUSIVE: — Pontiac Civil Defense Director David S. Teel today warned citizens that "invasion" of the city is imminent.

Teel said the invasion is expected to come about sundown tomorrow. All available police have been mobilized for the "invaders," many of whom will be bearded, "Teel said.

Members of this task force will be easily identifiable. Teel added, by their inherent war cry: "Trick or treat."

The warriors are small-sized. Although some witches and goblins may be included in their ranks, their demands will be relatively simple.

They will pass through neighborhoods taking an apple here, a candy bar there, and then be gone as if by magic.

In fact, it is magic. A magic called Halloween.

CITY HALL LOOKS ON

City Hall will keep a close eye on the bizarre little invaders. Head of the city's Halloween master intelligence bureau is David R. Ewalt, Parks and Recreation director.

ASTHMA & BRONCHITIS
Thousands of men, women and children are now finding a simple, new way to combat difficult breathing, coughing, wheezing and asthma. This is by taking new improved, quick-acting MENDACO. Acts fast to combat asthma, bronchitis, colds and help remove throat, congestive mucus. This quickly eases breathing, eases, eases, eases, this soothes tender throat, eases MENDACO, it eases, eases, eases and feel better fast.

governmental observers give fancy names to tropical storms, these secret intelligence agents have decided to name the invasion "Trick or Treat Hour."

It is strategically slated for 6-7 p.m.

The city officials are cooperating with Parent-Teacher Association and community groups in plans to contain the invading forces at local schools.

The method? Entice them with parties and entertainment.

City officials recommend that all elementary age parties run from 7-8:30 p.m., so these mysterious little visitors may vanish by 9 p.m.

COUNTER ATTACK

Junior and senior high school parties will run from 8-10 p.m., with all older invasion units scheduled to be deactivated by 11.

In a counter attack to begin at 9, the intelligence bureau, with heavy artillery support from secret service agents (the Pontiac Area Junior Chamber of Commerce) will initiate some magic of their own.

This operation they fondly refer to as the "Citywide Mystery Treat Contest."

The secret service agents, in snappy military jargon known as Jaycees, will draw names from a large basket of registrations marked "Elementary Division" at 9 p.m.

Phone calls will be made to these invaders and if they are home and deactivated, they will win prizes.

First place winner gets a bicycle, a radio is second prize and whoever finishes third gets five silver dollars.

There are also to be three winners of one silver dollar each at every elementary school in the Pontiac School District.

The same strategy will be initiated at 10:30 for junior high schools and at 11 for the senior high division.

Prizes for old soldiers will be a wrist watch, first; pen and pencil set, second; and $5, third.

All of the 102 prizes to be awarded have been donated by the Jaycees.

During the height of the invasion, police will appear in force on city streets in an effort to assure a bloodless battle.

City officials have appealed to motorists to drive with care to tomorrow evening. All precautions are being taken to protect the scurrying little invaders regardless of how "menacing" they look. Behind the masks are very precious visitors.

40 Students to Be Paid to Fall Asleep in Class

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — Forty students from the University of Florida will be paid $10 a night for sleeping eight hours on a comfortable bed.

The students will participate in an Air Force study of ways to prepare pilots for long trips in space. They will be isolated in soundproof rooms and wired for brain study.

1 of Stickney Quads Dies in Coldwater

COLDWATER (AP) — One of the four quadruplets of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Stickney died Saturday at the Community Health Center.

The quads — all boys — were born Friday.

The parents so far haven't named the babies. The one that died was designated baby "B". Weighing 5 pounds 6 ounces, he was the largest.

The hospital reported babies A, C and D holding their own. One month premature, they are being cared in incubators.

A post mortem examination Sunday showed baby "B" died of an illness of the lung membrane which occurs in premature babies.

'Statehood for Moosylvania'

Couple of Nuts Loosed Upon Nation

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD—Hide the kids, lock your doors and windows and put in a quick call to the nearest strait jacket dealer—you are about to be invaded by a couple of self-confessed nuts.

During the next month, from California to Washington, D.C., a multicolored truck will roll into scores of cities bleating for statehood for the Territory of Moosylvania.

"This campaign is a big deal,"

Ward said with hot-eyed political partisanship. "Our enemies have spread the vile calumny that this is a publicity stunt for the show."

Asked precisely why he advocates statehood for Moosylvania, Ward said blandly, "Don't ask me, you've come to the wrong party."

Ward transcends the zany. He's as mad as a hatter and proud of the distinction.

SEE ROUGH ROAD

"Our truck is full of sweat-shirts for Moosylvania ambassadors we select along the route—also campaign buttons, balloons and other goodies," he rambled on. "We have a loud speaker that can be heard for two miles."

Press agent Brandy was beside himself with fervor. "We'll probably spend more time in jail than on the road," he said.

"We are going to keep our eyes open for guys with nets, too," Ward put in. "Maybe we can claim diplomatic immunity. In 30 cities we are holding the biggest contest in years."

"We are going to judge each town on the kind of parade it puts on for us. The prize goes to the city that gives us the worst parade. First prize is a ferocious live bull moose."

"There might be some organizational problems there. But the reception by our NBC-TV station managers across the country has been unanimous—they are all leaving town."

Ward is convinced devious forces are at work against his proposition for making Moosylvania the 50th state.

"Our chances of making the grade are so slim we are leaving the 51st position open to anyone who might get in ahead of us," he said.

He also has a ready explanation for the vague boundary lines of Moosylvania: "Them surveyors kept getting swallowed up by quiksand."

Letters to the White House and members of Congress urging the statehood issue have been met with silence. But local officials on the tour may be forced to take some kind of action—especially when Ward and Brandy disembark from their truck wearing Napoleonic uniforms.

Only Family Sees Mrs. Roosevelt

NEW YORK (AP)—A family spokesman said Monday that Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt was "holding her own" but still seriously ill.

Mrs. Roosevelt, 78, suffering anemia and a lung infection, was taken home from a hospital 12 days ago. Only members of her immediate family are allowed to visit her.

W. Germany to Help India

BONN, Germany (U)—The West German government yesterday promised support for India in its clash with Red China.

This was done after Chancellor Konrad Adenauer received a letter from Prime Minister Nehru on the border fighting.

Press Chief Karl Guenther von Hase declined to specify what form the support would take.

"It is too early for that," he said.

The press chief reported Nehru described the conflict with the Chinese troops as a threat to India's security and the peace of the world.

Story of Cuba Far From Finished

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON — The absence of public gloating by the Kennedy administration over Premier Khrushchev's retreat on Cuba is understandable. There could be worse than Khrushchev.

There are also two other good reasons for something less than wild rejoicing: Khrushchev still has to make good on his promise to pull his missiles out of Cuba; and the trouble with Fidel Castro hasn't been settled at all.

If right now there is Kremlin conflict over the Soviet blunder and embarrassment in Cuba, open glances by American officials might be enough to tip the scales in favor of Khrushchev's tougher line opponents and thus wreck him.

MORE HUMAN

Over the years he has made noise, been a pain in the neck, and often been dangerous. But because he was more human and flexible than Stalin, he was an improvement on the old tyrant. For example, when Stalin got the notion to drive the Allies out of Berlin, he blockaded the city. This eventually failed, but it could have meant war. Khrushchev wants to seal off Berlin, too, but he has stalled for four years in trying it.

If Khrushchev should lose out now in a power struggle because of his backdown in Cuba, it seems certain his successor would be a hard-nosed Communist more like Stalin than Khrushchev.

It was sheer clumsiness for the Soviet Union to put missiles in Cuba and not be prepared for something more impressive than a complete cave-in if the United States forced a showdown, as it did.

That there is conflict in the Kremlin over this blunder seems likely. Ovious confusion and indecision showed up in the contradictory messages Khrushchev sent President Kennedy before finally giving in.

RED STRUGGLE

Just because an internal Soviet leadership struggle may be going on now, Khrushchev's promise to take his missiles back home can't be accepted as fact until he actually does it. This is sufficient reason for the Kennedy administration to keep its fingers crossed until the missiles are gone. Khrushchev has handled Castro in all this as if he were a nobody. Yet, just because the Soviet Union has been his main source of supplies and his only real hope of survival, Castro can hardly afford a break with Khrushchev.

The Russian made no promises to keep Castro quiet. And Castro hasn't been. So long as he bosses Cuba he will be a menace to the rest of the Latin American countries through the internal trouble he can create for them.

While Kennedy promised—if the missiles were withdrawn—that the United States would not invade Cuba, this did not say this country and other American republics would not work for his downfall. Their problem is how, without a direct American invasion. Yet, they can't sit idly by while Castro, through his agents and local Communists, tries to wreck the Latin American country after another. Since Castro couldn't survive without Soviet supplies—for instance, oil—then any subversion he attempts against his neighbors must be considered Soviet subversion as much as it is Castro's. Therefore the withdrawal of the Soviet missiles, instead of being the end of a chapter, was like a printer's error in a story only partly written and far from finished.

May Deny U.S. Aid to Lebanon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government legal experts are considering possible suspension of U.S. economic aid to Lebanon because a Lebanese-registered ship carried Soviet cargo to Cuba.

State Department and Agency for International Development officials said that no decision has yet been reached on the case of the Lebanese ship Maruca which was intercepted last Friday by U.S. naval craft in the arms blockade of Cuba.

The ship was permitted to complete its trip when no offensive weapons were found aboard.

Any decision in the Maruca case also may apply to Turkey, a major recipient of U.S. economic aid.

The White House last night said two Turkish vessels, the SS Israfil and Bingol, are carrying a declared cargo of wheat from Russia to Cuba.

Under foreign aid legislation enacted last week there is a provision which declares:

"No economic assistance shall be furnished to any country which sells, furnishes or permits ships under its registry to carry items of economic assistance to Cuba so long as it is governed by the Castro regime."

However, the new act gives President Kennedy the right to continue economic assistance if he decides that withholding it would be contrary to the national interest of the United States.

Chile, Venezuela Foil Cuba Saboteurs

From Our News Wires

SANTIAGO, Chile — Castro sympathizers planning a stepped-up sabotage campaign throughout Latin America were foiled from bombing American establishments in Santiago and communications facilities in Venezuela, authorities reported.

Pro-Castro demonstrators succeeded in burning an American flag and stoning government headquarters in Uruguay before an estimated 1,000 machine-gun-wielding soldiers and policemen scattered the mob Monday night.

In Havana, the Castro regime went all out to regain some of the prestige it lost when the Soviet Union went over Cuba's head to negotiate the Cuban crisis with the United States.

Government-controlled newspapers, radio and television stations sought to convince their audience that "everyone" in Cuba and abroad supported Premier Fidel Castro in the showdown with the United States, in which Russia agreed to dismantle its Cuban missile bases.

The Castro propaganda machine also pushed for public acceptance of Castro's five minimum demands for ending the Cuban crisis, including U.S. withdrawal from the Guantanamo naval base.

Army chief Raul Castro, Fidel's younger brother, said in a statement intended for other Latin American nations, "To those people who have made our cause their own, we say Cuba will not fail them."

PLEDGE TO KEEP UP
Latin American experts regarded this as a pledge to continue Communist agitation in the Western Hemisphere no matter what the outcome of the current crisis.

Spurred by the dynamiting Sunday of vital Venezuelan oil installations, Latin American internal security officials were reported ready to tighten measures against subversive acts allegedly directed by Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

The premature blast of a bomb being assembled in a downtown apartment led to the discovery here Monday of a cache of explosives and a list of bomb targets. Police said the list included the U.S. Embassy, U.S. firms and Chilean government buildings.

Four persons were arrested. Among them was July Armando Suardo, president of the leftist Progressive Social Movement and a former candidate for Congress.

Motor vehicle accidents account for about 5,300 deaths or 45 percent of the total accident mortality among residents of farms.

HELPS ROCKY — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and New York's Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller ride through the streets of Syracuse en route from the airport.

Ike Aids Rocky Campaign

'GOP Beefed Up Forces'

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower says Republicans had a major role in giving the United States the armed strength that enabled it to take a strong stand against the Soviet Union in the Cuba crisis.

Eisenhower also told 10,000 cheering Republicans at a dinner Monday night that GOP leaders had helped spur President Kennedy to forceful action.

Although tensions are now eased, the Republican leader said, "We have no reason to relax" and the Soviet threat "we will bury you" still stands.

Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, seeking re-election, shared the platform at the Syracuse War Memorial Auditorium with Eisenhower, who has been campaigning through the country in support of GOP candidates.

Eisenhower endorsed Rockefeller as a man of integrity, sharpness of mind, energy and moral courage.

DOMESTIC WOES

In addition to giving Republicans much credit for laying the groundwork for Kennedy's Cuban policy, Eisenhower again sharply attacked domestic policies of the Kennedy administration.

He hit at Edward M. Kennedy, the President's youngest brother who is Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate for Massachusetts, saying he was implying he has "free entry through all doors in Washington."

Eisenhower's 21-minute speech, interrupted 17 times by applause, appeared to be designed to crack down Democratic efforts to monopolize credit for the Cuban developments.

The former president had these comments:

"Through eight years of a Republican (Eisenhower) administration, Americans ceaselessly worked to transform their armed forces from World War II patterns into an effective, modern instrument of defense. The present military readiness of the nation would not exist were it not for the work of those eight years."

GOP RECOMMENDATION

"It was a recommendation of the Republican leaders of the Congress that first inspired the joint congressional resolution under which the President was able to act in this latest crisis forcefully and with congressional approval of his acts."

"So our commander-in-chief, sure of his ready military strength, fortified by the tradition of American unity in foreign crisis, proclaimed our determination. Thereafter, the men in the Kremlin seemed to have some somber, second thoughts."

Eisenhower did not mention the President by name at any time during his speech.

Siren Sounds, Family Flees

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — At the sound of a siren in the pre-dawn darkness, an alert Memphis mother woke her husband, two children and the dog.

They hustled to a basement shelter well-stocked with emergency supplies.

The mother, who prefers to remain anonymous, hurriedly flicked on a portable radio to hear the news. After 10 minutes of rock 'n' roll music in the dark, she realized the siren had been from a passing fire truck.

Hush Puppy Issue Slows Scribe Down

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — It is beginning to appear that I will never be able to finish my lectures on "great dishes of the Western world." (No applause please.)

Each time that I sit down to compose a new canto, I am forced to stop and defend myself from attacks from people who want to fight about hush puppies.

Not only have they denounced my recent treatise on the origin of hush puppies; one reader went so far as to question whether hush puppies were food at all. He claimed they were a type of shoe.

I thought the same thing the first time I ate one. But if you ever step on a hush puppy with bare feet you will quickly conclude that they are better eaten than worn.

Mrs. J. W. Willis of Manchester, Ga., writes that my version of how the hush puppy was discovered, and the amended version submitted by Mrs. Edna B. Russell of Smyrna, Del., both conflict with her "family dogma."

DISCOVERED BY HUSBAND? She insists that hush puppies were discovered by her husband, who as an infant accidentally consumed some raw cornmeal balls that his parents were using for dogfish bait.

I am willing to admit that Mrs. Willis' story sounds plausible. On several occasions when I have been served hush puppies, the cook didn't even bother to remove the hook.

Mrs. Willis also has an interesting theory on the origin of collard greens. She claims that they grew in the Garden of Eden and that Adam and Eve were them instead of fig leaves when they wanted to dress for dinner.

I have been unable to verify this elsewhere, but I do have here a letter from J. K. Mumford of Los Angeles in which he describes hush puppies as "the nectar of the gods."

Mumford, personnel director of Motorola and a self-styled Yankee expert on hush puppies, expressed this sentiment to David Duncan, publisher of the Culver City, Calif., Star News, who passed it along to me.

INSTANT MIX

Duncan also passed along a proposal that he and Mumford and I get together and form a company to market an instant hush puppy mix.

The plan calls for Mumford to furnish the money and recipe and for Duncan to serve as first chairman of the board. My duties were not defined, but I assume I will be allowed to hire the secretaries.

There already are several hush puppy mixes on the market, but I know a way to make our product vastly superior. Just add a cup of greasy kid stuff and you've got a dish that will keep your stomach in place all day.

Michigan Guard Pushes Recruitment

LANSING (AP) — The Michigan Army National Guard will begin a recruiting drive Thursday to beef up its strength in the state.

The drive, called "Operation Michigan," will aim at increasing guard forces to full authorized strength of 11,636. On Sept. 30, the state guard numbered 10,306.

Major Gen. Ronald D. McDonald, adjutant general of Michigan, said "In these times it is imperative that the Michigan Army National Guard achieve and maintain full authorized strength" in announcements the recruiting drive.

Stony won with the king. He had to lead, and all leads looked bad. But he came up with the only winning play when he led a low diamond. Dummy's jack held and South discarded a club, but he still had to take another club finesse and Stony's jack set the contract.

Hunter-Criss Rites

Vows Exchanged

Geraldine Bernice Criss of East Pike Street exchanged wedding vows with Thomas Ellis Hunter in a small family ceremony Saturday in St. Benedict's Church. The bridegroom's cousin Rev. Lawrence Parkhurst of Lansing officiated.

Daughter of John Frederick Criss of Dearborn and the late Mrs. Criss, the bride wore street length ivory peau de soie and a bouffant veil secured by a rose headpiece. She carried her great-grandmother's satin-covered misal topped with white roses and ivy.

Mrs. Jack Lawrence of Ypsilanti, who was matron of honor, appeared in a royal blue peau de soie sheath dress with overskirt, worn with matching hat. She held a crescent of yellow carnations.

Daniel J. Hunter of Ann Arbor stood as best man for his twin. They are the sons of the Nelson K. Hunters of West Irons Road.

The new Mrs. Hunter is a graduate of Hillsdale College and member of Pi Beta Phi social sorority. Her husband, an alumnus of the University of Michigan law school, is affiliated with Delta Sigma Phi Fraternity.

After a family luncheon in Kingsley Inn, the couple left for a honeymoon in Canada and the New England States. They will live in Pontiac.

Sorority Plans to Do-Si-Do

Zeta Zeta Omega Sorority will present its annual square dance, "Hillbilly Hoedown," Saturday 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. at Knights of Pythias Hall on Voorheis Road. A four-piece band led by Stanley Weyer will be featured.

Meet Man; Then Go on Foursome

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: A friend of mine called me last evening and said that her boy friend's cousin, who lives out of town, was visiting him for a few days and she wanted to know if I would like to go out with him some evening along with her and her boy friend, making it a foursome. I said I would.

My mother thinks I was wrong to accept a date with a man who is a total stranger to me and said that the man will think me very cheap. What is your opinion on this?

A: Your mother is right, you should at least have met this man before accepting an invitation to go on a foursome for the evening with him.

Q: My brother is going to be married next month. The ceremony will take place in church and afterward the immediate families are going out to dinner. No aunts, uncles, cousins or friends are invited.

I had planned on giving my brother's bride-to-be a shower but I have been told that it will not be proper to do so as they are not having a "real wedding." I don't see what one has to do with the other. I would like your opinion concerning this matter.

A: The fact that there will be no reception will not make the giving of a shower for the bride-to-be improper. It would, however, be more appropriate if this shower could be given by one of her immediate family members.

Q: Are monogrammed shirts in good taste for a man? I just recently bought myself two of them and when my brother saw them, he said that monogrammed shirts are ostentatious and not worn by men of good taste. Will you please tell me if this is true?

A: Men's shirts with an inconspicuous monogram small enough to be completely hidden when covered by a one-cent piece, are not ostentatious and are worn by many men of good taste.

And They Are All Different

Men Have Their Reasons

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Somebody cut out your column about the man who drove that jalopy to work every day while his wife drove the good car. Yes, that is our family all right! I leave the GOOD car for my wife because I think she and the children are safer in the "good car."

THOUGHTFUL HUSBAND

DEAR ABBY: You can tell my nosy neighbors that the reason I leave the "good" car for my wife is because it is bigger, heavier and in much better condition.

If she ever got hit in that car she would have a chance, and the way my wife drives, she needs all the protection she can get.

DRIVES THE OLD ONE

DEAR ABBY: The man who drives the old wreck to work and leaves the new car for his wife must be off his rocker. I drive the new car because my wife uses a car only to haul a load of kids in their full football regalia plus assorted athletic gear according to the season.

Or else she's got the younger ones in there with taffy apples and ice cream cones. Not to mention those trips to the vets with our dogs.

If I let her use the new car for her daily errands, in two weeks it would look worse than the old one.

NO FOOL

DEAR ABBY: Since my neighbors want to know why I drive the rattle-trap to work and leave the "good" car for my wife, please print this:

I am a mechanic (not by trade — old cars happen to be my hobby). I like to fix them up. What's more, I live quite a distance from work and I get better gas mileage from my old car than I do from the new one.

RUPERT

DEAR ABBY: I wish our neighbors would mind their own business. But since they are curious as to why I drive the old car to work and my wife drives the new one, please inform them that I drive my old car only to the home of a co-worker. I park it there and ride to work in HIS car. HIS car is new. He leaves the OLD one for his wife, and if they want to know why, they should ask him.

GORDON

DEAR ABBY: My father tells us kids to pick up our things. If we get careless, he goes around and picks up everything that is out of place and keeps it. We don't get it back either. But HE leaves his ties on the doorknobs, shoes under the table and underwear on the floor—even after three years in the Air Force. How can we make him practice what he preaches? I am 13 and my brother is 16.

NOT NEAT

DEAR NOT: Your father outranks you, so don't point out his carelessness. Maybe if you left this column around where your Air Force Daddy would see it, he might straighten up and fly right.

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Alice Mayes Speaks Vows in East

Miami Miss Weds Ens. Schirmer

Ens. Robert Hamilton Schirmer of Bloomfield Hills claimed Alice Louise Mayes as his bride Sunday afternoon in the Church of Our Lady of Perpetual Help, Bernardsville, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Garland Mayes Jr. of Miami, Fla.,

parents of the bride, were hosts at the wedding dinner in the Old Mill Inn.

A veil of imported English illusion attached to an open pillbox of taffeta and lace fell over the bride's gown of pale ivory bouquet taffeta.

Re-embroidered Alencon lace accepted the bodice and bouffant skirt styled with a court train. The carried baby or-chids, stephanotis and ivy.

Attending their sister were Helen Mayes, maid of honor, and Barbara Mayes who served as bridesmaid with Mrs. Leslie C. Iles, Columbus, Ohio; Mrs. T. B. Brien, Adelphi, Md.; and Sandra Staff of Milwaukee, Wis.

AUTUMN GOLD

They were autumn-gold in and carried cascades of bronze tone pompons and Fuji chrysanthemums.

Ensign John Schwabacher of Sarasota, Fla., was best man. Ushers included Michael Schirmer, San Francisco; Michael Underwood, North Olmstead, Ohio; Peter Knight; Binghamton, N. Y.; Carleton Finkbeiner, Toledo, Ohio; and Robert de Vore, Indian River.

The newlyweds are both graduates of Denison University, Granville, Ohio. Ensign Schirmer received his Navy commission on Friday. They will reside in Key West after a honeymoon at the Burt Lake summer home of his parents, the Edward A. Schirmers of Bloomfield Hills.

Gals in Politics... Good!

By MRS. JEROME A. SCHACK, PRESIDENT
League of Women Voters of the City of New York
NEW YORK (UPI) — Why should women go into politics, you ask. Why, indeed:

This is a question well calculated to raise the hackles of modern woman. Women MUST go into politics. And, let it be said, so must MORE of the men.

This country needs all the brain power it can command. It needs a citizen body that not only can, but will, understand the problems with which the country must deal and then seek and support logical solutions.

Politics determines the character of our government and the government, in turn, affects almost every aspect of our lives.

Only the unconstructed feminist wants to be dealt with as a woman when it comes to politics.

MUST BE HEP
Today's woman has learned that she must be politically "hep" if she is to be effective. She is learning who and what makes the wheels of government turn and how to put the heat on when necessary.

Today's woman wants to be and is becoming a politician. She wants to be regarded as an intelligent citizen and neither wants nor expects special treatment because of her sex.

It cannot be said that the old line politicians have greeted this attitude of women with great delight. It's doubtful, however, that they would be any happier if large numbers of men suddenly took an interest in political affairs.

GET GONE
The old-fashioned political leader welcomes the "green horn," the "do-gooder," and women during the heat of the campaigns, but hopes they will disappear immediately after election day.

In recent years, women have not retreated at the end of election campaigns to traditional female concerns.

Instead, they have stayed in the club houses, have fought for, and in some cases, won the right to participate in political decisions.

Others have joined such organizations as the League of Women Voters and have fought for, and in some cases won, major governmental reforms.

None of this has been easy.

Eat Apple Each Day

By POLLY CRAMER
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
DEAR POLLY — While working for a dentist, I learned his favorite point to mothers: "If you can't get your child to brush every meal, eating an apple is ALMOST as good."
Of course, nothing is as good as brushing. However this is both cleansing and refreshing. An apple a day can help keep the dentist away, too.

DEAR POLLY — Attach notebook rings to the zipper tabs on youngsters' boots. Will not only give a better grip but will permit the boots to be hooked together for safe storage at school.

Bringing Up Baby.

Toddlers are by nature inquisitive and acquisitive. (Ever know one who didn't want everything he could lay his hands on?) And somehow, your favorite "what-nots" are always most desirable. A few helps to satisfy baby's curiosity . . . spare your breakables and your patience:

• Let baby have safe things to inspect. Pots 'n' pans have great play and put-together value.

• It's wise to remove non-touchables before baby sees them. Be surprised how this cuts down "no-no's."

• Shoes, too. Toddlers dearly love to do things with their hands. Why not give your pet a pair of outgrown shoes to play with? He'll have fun trying to lace 'em, acquire dexterity to boot.

Thumbs down. You can cut down excessive thumbucking if you: (1) provide toys and play 2-way games that require the use of both hands; (2) distract your toddler with a finger-food snack.

Now, nutritious snack or main course: Gerber Meat Sticks . . . the fine-and-dandy finger food for toddlers. These delicious baby sausages are made from selected

Tips for Older Women

Put Color in Clothes

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN
Eddie Senz, of New York City, is a truly great make-up artist. His skill has played an important part in many television, movie and Broadway successes.

Sooner or later virtually every famous woman in television, the theater, the movies or the opera, consults him, as well as thousands of more average women who want to look their best.

During a recent visit I had with him, he said, "To look her best the mature woman should say goodbye forever to severely straight hair, hairdos which move downward and harsh make-up lines and colors that emphasize wrinkles and puffiness."

THE KEYS
Eddie feels that color in clothes and softness in make-up are the keys to good looks for the older woman. He is on my side in a crusade I have been waging for years, trying to get middle-aged women out of black.

Black is chic, and every woman needs one or two black costumes in her wardrobe, but I have always felt that color does so very much for any woman and especially for one who is past early youth.

Eddie had this to say: "Color is more flattering to the mature woman than black. She should select hues that give her an emotional lift, a feeling of well-being. When you feel well, you look well. A woman should learn which colors do something for her instead of relying on seasonal color fads. She need no longer rely on black to be chic."

In the past, one almost felt like the country cousin in town for the day when attired in anything but a simple little black number, no matter if it did make the skin look sallow and the eyes dull. Color can do marvelous things for you. If you do not believe it, buy a suit or dress in a flattering shade, and listen for the compliments.

In make-up, Eddie Senz thinks that softness is vital and notes that most older women make mistakes with either eyebrows or lipstick.

Tomorrow: How a Professional Makes Up Eyes and Lips.

If you would like to have my leaflet, "What's Going On?" send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 50 to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Midland High is on the verge of winning a "paper" championship in the Saginaw Valley Conference football race. All the Chemics have to do is get past weak Arthur Hill Friday and they'll be "in."

Should Midland win the title outright, and this is a definite possibility, it will be the first time in SVC history that a team has won "on paper" but not on the athletic field.

Reason for all this, of course, is Bay City Handy forfeiting its wins over Arthur Hill and Midland. If there had been no forfeits, Midland's record SVC would stand 4-3 instead of 5-2.

Midland is in first place, a half game ahead of Flint Southwest and Bay City Central.

BC Central has stiff Valley tests against Flint Northern and Handy. Southwest could stumble against Saginaw or Pontiac Central.

General feeling around the Valley is that Michigan High School Athletic Association director Charles Forsythe passed the buck to SVC officials in the Handy case.

The Valley Principals Association acted on the case, but Guy Houston of Flint Northern, president of the group, pointed out that "this action doesn't form a Valley policy in these matters." Houston said he would urge that a policy be defined for such circumstances in the Valley before next fall.

"NO CONTEST"
The MHSAA has made a decision in the time mixup that resulted in Country Day claiming a forfeit from Emmanuel Christian.

Emmanuel officials said the game was scheduled for the afternoon while Country officials said they had approval from the Pontiac school for a morning starting time.

The state association has ruled "no contest" in a letter to both schools.

The football outlook is promising for Milford in the next year or two. The Milford junior varsity under coach Jim Koresky has completed an unbeaten season.

The JV's were rolling toward an unbeaten year in 1961 until quarterback Gary Newcomb was tapped for varsity work. The little Redskin then lost their last two.

This season's wins were over Holly, Clareville, Clarkson twice, Brighton and Bloomfield Hills. There was a tie with Northville. There were nine fresh and two soph in the starting lineup.

Koresky had special praise for the play of Mike Yager.

Oak Park defensive halfback Don Dalby fractured a leg in a preseason scrimmage. He made his first appearance 10 days ago against Lamphere and intercepted three passes in the 19-0 victory.

Lamphere and Immaculate Conception have "mutually agreed" to call off this week's game. The season is now ended for both schools.

Puerto Rico in Doubt

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP)—The San Juan Star said Monday night Puerto Rico probably will have to give up the 1966 Central American and Caribbean games because of lack of proper facilities.

He beat outfielders Floyd Robinson of the Chicago White Sox, Chuck Hinton of Washington, Carl Yastrzemski of Boston, Lefty Thomas of Los Angeles, and pitcher Claude Osteen of the Senators for the soph award.

Neither did well in the World Series, eventually lost by the Giants to the New York Yankees. Willie started fast, hitting safely three times in the first game but didn't live up to his slugging reputation thereafter, though performing well in the field.

Cepeda, a 25-year-old brawny Puerto Rican first baseman with a ready smile, says a doctor has told him he has a cataract on his right eye, a condition that produces a haze over the lens. He reiterated Monday night his earlier statement that the condition came to light when he took a driver's test.

"Then the doctor told me I have a cataract. I don't know. I feel okay. My right eye is kind of fuzzy. But I can see, like when I close my left eye, which is fine."

Between them, Mays and Cepeda drove in 255 runs during the 1962 National League season and hit 84 home runs. Mays led the majors in homers with 49. He had 141 runs batted in. Last year Cepeda led his league in homers with 46 and RBI with 142.

In 1962, over the first 102-game National League schedule, plus a three-game pennant playoff with Los Angeles, Mays hit 294 and Cepeda 306.

He missed in the dugout in Cincinnati's Crosley Field on Sept. 12 and was unconscious for several minutes. He was hospitalized, missed four games but then he sparked the club in his pennant playoff victory.

Mays planned to enter Mount Zion Hospital after noon today to start a complete series of physical tests. His doctor, Harold Ro-senblum, said the results would be known about Friday or Saturday.

Tokyo Flyers Tie Tigers 3-3

2 Singles Even It Up Before Game Called

TOKYO (AP)—The Tokyo Flyers of the Japanese Baseball League scored single runs in the seventh and eighth innings today to come from behind and tie the touring Detroit Tigers of the American League 3-3. The game was called after nine innings by agreement of both teams.

The Flyers scored their final two runs off Ron Kline, who took over from Hank Aguirre in the sixth inning. The Tigers had begun their 17-game tour of Japan with a rousing 12-1 victory Saturday over the Daimei Orions.

They play Wednesday against the strong Yomiuri Giants in Korin Stadium here.

BOROS HOMERS
Steve Boros' two-run homer in the second inning gave Detroit a 2-0 lead. The Flyers cut this by a run in the fourth inning when Akio Saionji scored on a wild throw.

Detroit's final run came in the sixth inning when the Flyers caught Norm Cash in a rundown between first and second base on an attempted steal. Al Kaline, on third at the time, easily scored.

The Flyers outthrew their American League opponents 10-5 and committed only one error while the Tigers were guilty of two.

Twins' Sparkplug Takes Soph Award

NEW YORK (AP)—Richie Rollins spent so much time on the Minnesota Twins' bench in 1961 that he lost a chance to be picked the American League rookie of the year during the past season.

But the baseball-savvy he gained with the Twins probably games than made up for any rookie honors and helped him get the 1962 sophomore of the year designation today, as selected by members of the Baseball Writers Association of America, voting in The Associated Press' annual poll.

Rollins, who played in only 13 games during the 1961 season but was with Minnesota more than the maximum of 45 days required of rookie candidates, was the sparkplug of the surprising Twins' second-place finish this year.

He beat outfielders Floyd Robinson of the Chicago White Sox, Chuck Hinton of Washington, Carl Yastrzemski of Boston, Lefty Thomas of Los Angeles, and pitcher Claude Osteen of the Senators for the soph award.

Neither did well in the World Series, eventually lost by the Giants to the New York Yankees. Willie started fast, hitting safely three times in the first game but didn't live up to his slugging reputation thereafter, though performing well in the field.

Teacher of 40 Years Says Golf Easy Game

Accordingly, a major portion of "Golf Can Be An Easy Game" is devoted to a detailed and exhaustive study of the only thing that really matters in golf —the basic swing.

Joe Novak explodes three widely held misconceptions: the old idea that each of the clubs in the golfer's armory requires a separate

'63 License Tags to Go on Sale Here

Green and white 1963 vehicle license tags will go on sale at secretary of state branch offices Thursday.

Willis M. Brewer, manager of the Pontiac branch, 30 E. Huron St., reminds motorists that they must have their titles of ownership with them when they apply for the new tags.

For the first time in several years, commercial vehicles must be reweighed before new tags will be issued, said Brewer. This does not include trailers under 450 pounds.

The color combination of the tags, white lettering on a green background, is just the reverse of the full-size 1962 plates.

Afghanistan Minister Talks With Gromyko

MOSCOW (U-P) — Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko yesterday conferred with the foreign minister of Afghanistan, Sardar Mohammed Naim.

Tass said the conference took place in a "friendly and cordial atmosphere." There was no mention of what they talked about, but it was considered likely the Chinese-Indian conflict was a prime topic.

100 Area AF Reservists Leading 'Double Lives'

The next 12 months will be a time of mixed feelings for 100 Oakland County Air Force reservists. They are the men of the 403rd Troop Carrier Wing at Selfridge Air Force Base who are caught between national duty arising from the Cuban crisis and their everyday responsibilities at home.

The county reservists represent 10 per cent of the 1,000 southeastern Michigan airmen called to active duty Saturday by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

In all, more than 14,000 reservists across the nation were affected by the order.

Final processing of the members of the 403rd was completed yesterday. This includes short, renewal of papers and the issuance of identification tags.

An Air Force spokesman said the activated group will just have to "sit tight" at the base, on alert until further orders are received.

"There has been nothing to lead us to believe we will be sent anywhere," the spokesman said.

He explained that the activated reservist, while ready to go on a minute's notice, will work an eight-hour day at the base and then be allowed to go home to his family if he lives in the area.

For those who do not live within driving distance, the spokesman said, living quarters have been set up at the base.

The length of duty will depend on world developments.

Shades of 'South Pacific,' but All Good Things End

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—The small island gleamed like a green jewel in the twilight as we sailed through the South Seas toward it. There were six of us in the small vessel—and naturally I was the leader.

"Have your guns ready, men," I warned them. "You never know what devilry may be afoot here."

BOYLE

But as we landed in a small cove, 30 tall young lovely dusky damsels in sarongs came singing out of the woods, bearing baskets of grapes and pomegranates on their graceful heads.

After our long and lonely voyage, they were a sight for sore eyes—and that's for certain.

"Do you suppose it's a trap, cap'n?" asked one of my men anxiously.

"Well, if it is they sure picked the right kind of bait," I told him. It quickly became apparent, however, there was no trickery involved.

NO HIDDEN WEAPONS
The girls showed their intentions were entirely peaceful, and we could see at a glance they couldn't possibly be packing any hidden weapons.

LONDON (U)—Britain's two biggest nudist groups have united in a campaign to get on to more public beaches.

"We have had differences in the past," said Douglas Gibson, spokesman for the British Sun Bathing Association, "but we are now united. We will now be stronger in approaching local councils for the acquisition of public beaches."

The other organization is the federation of British Sun Clubs.

2 Take Bows on Cuba Stands

Staebler, Bentley See JFK Action Differently

DETROIT (UPI)—Neil Staebler and Alvin Bentley are both taking bows over apparent solution of the Cuban crisis even though their stands have differed sharply in the past month.

The two candidates for congressman-at-large dwelled at length on the Cuban situation during an hour long debate at an Economic Club of Detroit luncheon yesterday.

Staebler said President Kennedy's action "has resulted in the most crushing defeat to Nikita Khrushchev since the cold war began."

The Democratic candidate said Kennedy's success in getting the Russians to withdraw their missiles from Cuba was "a victory without armed conflict and is positive proof that his policy in this grave matter was right all along."

"When rash and reckless men were demanding a course of action that could have led to war, President Kennedy kept cool. When the time came for action, he acted," Staebler said.

Bentley claimed his policy, contained in a telegram sent to Kennedy a month ago, was vindicated by the President's action and the ensuing Russian agreement.

The Owosso Republican argued in favor of a continued strong stand against Cuban dictator Fidel Castro because "we are still committed to bringing him and pomegranates and fed them to us with delicate fingers.

"Do you reckon it'd be okay if we stayed here overnight, cap'n?" ventured another one of my men.

"We're powerful tired of sailing that air endless sea on short rations,"

"Where're the men?" "Well, I'll try a little palaver with 'em," I replied cautiously. Then, addressing the leader of the girls, Sowhatee, the prettiest among them, I asked her in her native tongue:

"Off stealing pearls from another tribe far away," replied Sowhatee. "They always stash us on this lonely island when they go on a raid. They've been gone for a month, and they won't be back for weeks and weeks."

"Mind if we stay on for a while?" I inquired offhand.

"Speaking for all of us girls," said Sowhatee, lowering her eyes, "We'd love it."

Well, the grape peeling grew more furious after that. Finally, Sowhatee said:

"Don't you think it's a bit crowded here? Come with me, captain. I know a little forest glade where we can talk alone—while I weave fragrant blossoms in your hair."

Hand in hand, we strolled into the forest and then... And then I felt a firmer hand shaking me by the shoulder and the voice of my wife, Frances, whispering in my ear:

"Wake up, Rover, and start earning me a living again."

"What a time to interrupt a dream!" I exclaimed testily.

"Well, you've had a week's vacation," said my housewife. "Aren't you glad to be going back to work?"

"Without a single frangipani blossom in my hair?" I asked sleepily.

"What are you—some kind of a nut or something?" said Frances, new.

Actually I don't mind going back to work. I had a wonderful vacation watching the seasonal change of colors at Tom Alexander's isolated Cataloochee Ranch high in the Great Smoky Mountains in North Carolina. No radio, no television, no newspapers, no contact at all with the frightening world outside.

Tell me, did anything important happen while I was gone? What's new?

Blockade Lifted...for Now

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States temporarily lifted its arms blockade of Cuba today while U.N. officials undertake delicate Havana negotiations with Fidel Castro on dismantling Soviet missile bases in Cuba.

U.S. officials awaited analysis of new reconnaissance photos that may tell whether Soviet technicians have started pulling down those bases which almost brought American military action.

The Navy's ships and planes suspended the six-day-old blockade for two days as dawn broke across the wide area they are patrolling in the Atlantic around Communist Cuba.

The blockading force remained on station, ready to resume the quarantine if ordered to do so.

The White House announced the suspension Monday night and said it was being done at the request of U.N. Acting Secretary-General U Thant. The U.N. official headed for Havana for talks with Fidel Castro on proposed U.N. supervision of the missile removal as agreed to by Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

As a practical matter, the lifting of the quarantine for the time being means little. No Soviet ships were reported near the quarantine zone, and the Defense Department indicated that all those suspected of bearing offensive weapons to Cuba had already disappeared from the scene.

Informed government sources reported Monday night that U.S.

destroyers and aircraft had detected and trailed more than 20 Soviet submarines for about two days last week in the quarantine area.

TRAVEL SEPARATELY

The Soviet craft were trailed until they surfaced and recharged their batteries, then went their way without incident, the sources said. The Soviet subs were traveling separately, informants indicated.

viet acent, but in all likelihood they were detected with sonar devices which spot the sounds of submarine engines.

With a Soviet fleet of some 400 submarines roaming the world's seas, it is not unusual for American naval units to make contact with them, particularly in Atlantic waters off the U.S. East Coast. However, it was certain the antisubmarine warfare units of the fleet were even more vigilant than usual last week when it was uncertain whether the Russians

Thant Off for Cuba, Hopeful of Success

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—U Thant, acting secretary general of the United Nations, left for Cuba today on a mission dedicated to "a speedy and peaceful settlement" of the situation which brought a world-alarming crisis between the United States and Russia.

Smiling and seemingly confident, Thant and an 18-man U.N. team took off by chartered jet at 10:18 a.m. The plane was due in Havana at 1 p.m.

He paused to make only a brief statement before boarding the jet at Idlewild Airport. It was in response to a single question as to whether he was confident of the success of his mission.

"I am looking forward to a fruitful exchange of ideas with Cuban Premier Fidel Castro and other Cuban leaders with a view to achieving a speedy and peaceful settlement of the problem," he said.

Thant was accompanied by a U.N. team as he left to set up machinery for a U.N. check to make sure Soviet Premier Khrushchev keeps his pledge to remove Soviet missile bases from Cuban soil.

In preparation for his trip, Thant held another round of talks Monday with top diplomats of the United States, Soviet Union and Cuba.

TO LIFT BLOCKADE

The way for Thant's visit was smoothed by the White House announcement that at the secretary-general's request it would lift the U.S. naval blockade during his stay.

Thant released a letter he sent Khrushchev Sunday expressing belief the situation in the Caribbean area would be normalized when the missiles are pulled out and the bases dismantled.

'No U.N. Seat for Red China'

Allies See Less Chance Than in '61; Cite India

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI)—Western diplomats predicted that Russia's effort to get Communist China into the United Nations would be defeated today by a heavier vote than last year, partly because of Peiping's border war with India.

The only proposition before the 110-nation General Assembly was a Soviet draft resolution almost identical to the one rejected last December by a 48-35 vote.

It demanded that the assembly expel Nationalist China and seat Communist China in its place. Advance estimates of the vote against the Russian proposal this year ranged from 50 to 55. About 40 members were expected to vote with the Russians and the rest to abstain.

The China debate began eight days ago but ran into delays because of the United Nations' preoccupation with the Cuban crisis last week.

Even many of the delegations which believe Red China should take its place in the United Nations are cool to the idea at this time because of Peiping's frontier battle with India.

Women Reach Their Goal; Hit 100.3 Pct.

500 Attend Victory Luncheon Today at Elks Temple

Speaking at the Women's Campaign Victory luncheon this noon at Pontiac Elks Temple, Fred V. Haggard, Pontiac Area United Fund campaign chairman, announced the UF drive had reached $318,496.48, or 45 per cent of the campaign goal.

Haggard praised Mrs. Joseph Fox, women's division chairman, and her committee leaders for "having done an outstanding job in reaching their goal during the first 10 days of the campaign."

Some 500 women's division campaign workers attended the luncheon.

Mrs. Fox reported that the three groups in the division have surpassed their goal, having received pledges of $28,238 or 100.3 per cent of the total division goal of $28,214.

She thanked the women, noting that "the weather has been unfavorable but our women have never been daunted."

Both the Lake Angelus and Waterford Township groups reported victories while the Pontiac group reported it still had work to do to complete its quota.

Mrs. Earl White, Pontiac chairman, said her group has raised $15,549, or 88.1 per cent of its $17,650 quota.

The Lake Angelus group has raised $3,028 or 109.3 per cent of its $2,768 quota.

Waterford Township women under Mrs. Frank Rulkowski reported $9,723 received to date—101.3 per cent of the township's $9,597 quota.

Reports were also made on the progress of industrial, commercial and professional campaign divisions.

Buell Starr, plant chairman at Pontiac Motor Division, said the industrial division has raised $201,977 or 43.2 per cent of its quota.

Avon Divorcee Arraigned for Embezzling

A young Avon Township divorcee was arraigned yesterday in U.S. District Court, Detroit, on a charge of embezzling funds from her former employer, The Pontiac Co-op Federal Credit Union.

Mrs. Mamie Dale Ostrander, 26, appeared voluntarily on a charge of obtaining a fictitious loan from the credit union, 156 W. Huron St., where she was head bookkeeper until a week ago.

The FBI said that she was involved in embezzling $43,000 in the last two and half years, $23,000 of which has been repaid.

It was discovered just recently that the credit union had a shortage of funds totaling $20,000, said Ronald J. Wilde, treasurer-general manager of the credit union.

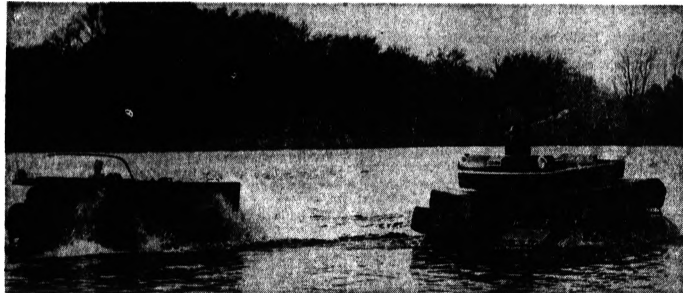

Mrs. Ostrander was charged specifically with embezzling $850 on June 16, 1960.

BEGAN IN 1960
The Federal Bureau of Investigation, following its investigation, said that Mrs. Ostrander, 2772 Leach Road, began in June 1960 to take proceeds from the credit union on loans that were made out in the names of fictitious persons.

An employee of the credit union since December 1959, Mrs. Ostrander, the FBI said, had processed 24 loans of this type, totaling $43,442.

She had access to nearly all of the records and was therefore able to obtain the loans without

GM Profits a Record High

DETROIT (AP)—General Motors reported yesterday record profits for the first nine months of this year.

The world's biggest manufacturing firm earned $963 million. The previous high was $913 million in the first nine months of the boom year of 1955.

Earnings per share in the first nine months of 1962 were $3.26, topping the 1955 mark of $3.21.

Sales for the first nine months this year also set a record. They totaled $10.45 billion compared with the previous record of $9.54 billion in 1955.

GM's worldwide payrolls totaling $2.84 billion for January through September set another record. The previous top was $2.50 billion for the first nine months of 1960.

This year's third quarter earnings of $186 million fell short, however, of the first and second quarters. The third quarter earnings came on sales of $2.76 billion.

But third quarter results were considerably ahead of the same period a year ago when a strike in September crippled GM's auto production.

In the first nine months last year earnings totaled $528 million or $1.83 a share.

GM's chairman, Frederic G.

Donner, and president, John F. Ford, said the company's 1962 volume "reflected a continuation of general business activity during the third quarter of a high level of general business activity and of consumer confidence together with a strong customer preference for GM products, both automotive and nonautomotive."

Public response to 1963 automobile models was described as encouraging.

Ford Motor Co. last week reported a record nine-month profit of $550.4 million. Chrysler reported a net of $15.1 million.

India Turns Tables at Last, Attacks Chinese at Border

FROM OUR NEWS WIRE

NEW DELHI — Indian troops fought the invading Communist Chinese to a standstill today and went on the attack themselves at the eastern end of the disputed border.

A government spokesman disclosed a series of "probing" attacks by the Indians for the first time since the Red Chinese stepped up their invasion of the border region 10 days ago.

Battles appeared to be shaping up in the Himalayas as both sides poured in reinforcements.

For the first time the defense ministry told of Indian forces using mortars and holding their own against the Communists.

The only setback reported today was loss of one small military outpost on the Tibetan border in the center of the North East Frontier Agency.

Bolstered by American and British weapons to be rushed here by air, a feeling of confidence swept the nation and shook it out of the despair created by a series of retreats since the Communists launched their offensive Oct. 20.

A high Soviet military source said in Moscow that the Soviet Union would ship no arms to India since it supports Red China's territorial claims. This source emphasized the Soviet Union considers India a friend.

Major battles appeared to be shaping up near the Buddhist monastery town of Towang and at Walong, 250 miles to the east near the Burma border.

HELD ON ALL FRONTS
The Indian army chief of staff earlier told his embattled forces that the invaders were being held "on all fronts."

Observers also noted the slowing up of the Chinese drive, possibly as the Reds regrouped for further attacks.

The spokesman announced that

150 Persons Witness Demonstration

Military and civilian personnel yesterday were given a long look at the newest production and experimental armed forces vehicles.

Nearly 30 vehicles from the size of a scooter to several-ton armored tractors were demonstrated to 150 persons at a testing site east of the city limits and on Galloway Lake.

The purpose of the demonstration was to show the capabilities of vehicles being developed for use in remote areas — Korea, Viet Nam and southeast Asia.

The Research and Engineering Division of the Detroit Arsenal in Center Line put on the demonstration, which included the testing of a few Canadian vehicles and some developed for the Marine Corps.

"What we wanted to show was the ability of these machines to operate in swampy areas," an officer from the Arsenal explained. "I think we succeeded."

Land-water craft were demonstrated at Galloway Lake in the afternoon part of the program.

Waterford OKs Record Budget

A record $643,000 budget for 1963 the over-all tax rate remains the same in the township.

Next year's budget is based on a township millage rate of 1.42 which, when equalized, amounts to $3.17 per $1,000 assessed valuation.

Despite an increase of $61,000 over the current $582,000 budget.

It represents an increase of .32 mills over the 1961 rate of $2.85.

This increase balances out a decrease of .32 mills in the county and school tax rates resulting in a total 1962 Waterford Township tax rate of $73.59, including township, county and schools.

Following an hour-long regular session, board members then discussed the proposed budget three and a half hours before agreeing to accept total disbursement and estimated revenue figures as proposed.

Estimated receipts for the calendar year 1963 were set at $667,777.28 and disbursements were established at $643,230.26, leaving an estimated balance of $24,546.90 at the end of 1963.

Township Supervisor Elmer Johnson at an earlier session on the budget pointed out that ideally this balance should be higher. The estimated balance at the end of this year is $61,367.26.

LIBRARY FRIENDS

Mrs. John Naz and Mrs. William Shumck, representing the township's Friends of the Library, were present at the hearing and generally assented to the board to allocate at least a token grant to the proposed public library in 1963.

Both women expressed concern about the door being closed on any library appropriation since such an amount wasn't specified in the budget. But they were assured that funds could be given to the library from the general fund during the course of the year.

Clerk James Seeterlin said that many questions pertaining to the possible establishment of a public library remained unanswered. He added that replies to correspondence seeking these answers should be available within a month.

The Friends of the Library had proposed recently that the existing library at the Community Activities, Inc. building be converted to a public library.

This launched the forming of a township board library committee which is currently in the midst of a study on the feasibility of establishing a public library.

Wildie said that the credit union, established in 1948, is covered by a 100 per cent blanket surety bond up to $1 million and that the loss is covered by the bonding company.

He said that the shortage will not in any way jeopardize the members' savings, the earnings of the credit union or the dividends on savings.

The loans, according to the Fire, were used to make a down payment on an automobile, to purchase various household items and to make payments on previous fictitious loans.

Mrs. Ostrander, mother of a five-year-old son, made no plea at her arraignment.

She was released on a $5,000 personal bond. Examination was set for Nov. 13.

Hopefuls Tear This Last Week

By The Associated Press

Republican George Romney's political motorcade raced through Western Michigan yesterday, covering a wide territory in his campaign for the governor's election one week from today.

Democratic Gov. John B. Swainson was just as busy in a more concentrated area in Detroit where his party has its biggest following.

At Muskegon Monday night, Romney declared: "I sense victory in the air. It is the clean, fresh air of victory—not for the Republican party—but for the people of Michigan."

He voiced his optimism at a news conference after touring traditionally Republican rural areas.

Campaigning in Detroit area, Swainson said President Kennedy's name "is not on the ballot, but his program is before us in this election—particularly in the election of congressmen."

Swainson spoke at a luncheon sponsored by the district's Democratic congressman, John Lesinski.

Romney told a Muskegon rally "there is a growing evidence of disorganization and confusion" in the Democratic campaign. He said this was shown by a Democratic attack during the week on the Committee for Honest Elections formed by a nonpartisan group in Detroit to check on registrations and prevent fraudulent voting.

"THEY'RE AFRAID"

Romney said, "Such near hysterical reaction by the opponent's camp is not evidence of confidence and self assurance. They are on the verge of losing this election, and they're afraid of losing."

He predicted Democrats "will frantically push more extreme panic buttons" before election day.

Swainson told a rally sponsored by the Oil and Chemical Workers Union in Wyandotte there is nothing wrong with Michigan's business climate.

"Michigan can match any state," he declared. "Sometimes it gets me a little exasperated to hear my opponent talk about jobs. I think what he is really interested in is my job and perhaps President Kennedy's job."

In a speech to a group of public school teachers, the governor said he strongly favors federal aid to education and pledged he will work for higher pay for teachers.

Pair Swindles Woman, 72, of Life Savings

Police today were looking for two men who swindled an elderly Pontiac Township woman of her $3,300 life savings.

Mrs. Barbara Plesha, 72, of 682 S. Squirrel Road, told sheriff's deputies that she was introduced to a man yesterday who said that her deceased husband had given her father $500 and he wanted to repay it with interest.

He first insisted that he see her money. She went to the Pontiac State Bank branch in Auburn Heights and withdrew everything she had.

Her money, along with the man's money, supposedly $26,000, he had shown her earlier, was wrapped in handkerchiefs and placed in a wooden box in a living room.

She, along with another woman, had introduced them. They were going to the bank, saying they were going to get money.

They didn't return yesterday evening she went to the cabinet and took the handkerchiefs out of the wooden box. The handkerchiefs contained only newspaper, cut to the size of currency.

Mrs. Plesha, who operates a grocery next to her home, told police that the men drove away in a car with Ohio license plates. She described them as both being about 66 years old.

Disneyland for Nikita?

BARSTOW, Calif. (AP)—

A suggestion that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev be allowed to visit Disneyland as a reward for helping ease tensions in the Cuban crisis was offered today by newspaper publisher Charles K. Dooley.

Dooley, who publishes the Desert Dispatch at this southern California desert city, made the suggestion in a telegram to President Kennedy and Rep. Harry Sheppard, D-Calif.

"In view of Khrushchev's decision to take a sensible attitude in regard to the Cuban crisis, the Desert Dispatch believes that he should be allowed to attend Disneyland with his wife with the full protection of the U. S. armed forces," the telegram said.

By all the signs, the U. S. action has been fully successful in checking off the flow of any more Soviet missiles, bombers, or other offensive weapons into Castro's Cuba.

TO GATHER EVIDENCE

These flights were intended to gather photographic evidence of whether the Russians yet are living up to Khrushchev's pledges to take down the missile bases menacing the United States.

Asst. Secretary of Defense Arthur Sylvester told reporters late Monday that all aircraft had returned safely from flights made during the day. Last Saturday a U. S. reconnaissance plane and its pilot were lost, presumably to Cuban anti-aircraft fire. The plane apparently was a U2.

Asked whether the reconnaissance flights will continue until a U. S. team takes over the monitoring of missile base dismantling, Sylvester said: "I wouldn't make any assumptions that they won't."

Edwin F. Lau of 2745 Ayrshire Drive, Bloomfield Township, has been elected to the board of directors of the National Association of Sugarcane Growers.

Lau, superintendent of pharmaceutical manufacturing for Parke, Davis & Co., has been chairman of the company's sugarcane committee since 1957.

County to Send Aid to Colombia

Broomfield Announces New Kind of Program

U. S. Rep. William S. Broomfield, R-Oakland County, last night announced a new kind of foreign aid program that would send Oakland County leaders to South America.

Oakland County would "adopt the community of Cali, Colombia, in the program which has received preliminary approval from the federal government."

Broomfield announced the program, the first of its kind, at last night's meeting of the Pontiac League of Women Voters at Pontiac Northern High School.

He outlined the plan to assist Cali, a city of more than 400,000 and "a community just beginning to experience growing pains similar to those we had here in Oakland County."

Broomfield said today the officials of Colombia have been contacted informally and have expressed approval of the plan.

HOPES TO SET PATTERN

He hopes the Cali project will "set the pattern for the Alliance for Progress throughout Latin America."

He said he worked out the program with the Agency for International Development during the past year because the Alliance was "unable or unwilling to move from broad generalities to specifics" and overseas assistance "simply isn't getting down to the people it is supposed to help."

Under the plan, Oakland County would supply Cali with land planners, engineers, architects, public administration, education and labor leaders as technical consultants.

They would help Cali prepare plans to cope with its future growth, Broomfield said. The population of Cali and its suburbs is expected to double within the next few years.

The program would be organized and coordinated by Broomfield. County leaders would spend from a few weeks to a few months in the South American community.

Broomfield said the area is rich in natural resources that are not being utilized properly.

He said economic growth must emanate from local areas, not from a central government where foreign aid funds currently go.

He said the program would not cost very much.

The Cali project would be "a direct attack to eliminate a breeding ground of Communism," he said.

India Attacks Red Chinese

The Indian forces had moved into a limited offensive against the North East Frontier Agency (NEFA).

The use of heavy mortars in this and other actions marked the first time that the Indians apparently had been able to match the Chinese in firepower.

Previous reports indicated that the use of heavy mortars by the Reds had been instrumental in the success of their initial drive through the Himalayan border region.

The government spokesman's announcement indicated that the Indians now were turning the Chinese tactics to their own advantage.

Strong Indian forces were being sent to the 24-mile-long Se Paas to try to blunt a Chinese thrust in the heavily populated area. The Indians captured Jang, four miles east of Chinese-held Tawang, which put them in a better position for defense of Assam.

Wet, Cool Spots Spoil Generally Fair Picture

By The Associated Press

There were some wet and cool spots in the eastern quarter of the nation today but generally pleasant weather was reported in most other sections.

Showers sprinkled the upper Gulf Lakes region and along the Gulf Coast. Light rain, with areas of dense fog, spread from the northern Mississippi Valley through the Ohio Valley into a central Atlantic state.

Considerable fog blanketed areas along the Pacific Coast but fair weather prevailed in most of the western half of the country.

Shades of 'South Pacific,' but All Good Things End

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—The small island gleamed like a green jewel in the twilight as we sailed through the South Seas toward it. There were six of us in the small vessel—and naturally I was the leader.

"Have your guns ready, men," I warned them. "You never know what devilry may be afoot here."

But as we landed in a small cove, 30 tall, young lovely dusky damselfish in sarongs came singing out of the woods, bearing baskets of grapes and pomegranates on their graceful heads.

After our long and lonely voyage, they were a sight for sore eyes—and that's for certain. "Do you suppose it's a trap, cap'n?" asked one of my men anxiously.

"Well, if it is they sure picked the right kind of bait," I told him. It quickly became apparent, however, there was no trickery involved.

NO HIDDEN WEAPONS

The girls showed their intentions were entirely peaceful, and we could see at a glance they couldn't possibly be packing any hidden weapons.

They welcomed us ashore with glad cries, and spread fair shimmering cloths upon the sands. We sat down upon the cloths with them—six worn seafarers among the 30 beauteous damselfish—and they peeled grapes and pomegranates and fed them to us with delicate fingers.

"Do you reckon it'd be okay if we stayed here overnight, cap'n?" ventured another one of my men. "We're powerful tired of sailing that air endless sea on short rations."

WHERE'RE THE MEN? "Wait'll I try a little palaver with 'em," I replied cautiously. Then, addressing the leader of the girls, Sowhatee, the prettiest among them, I asked her in her native tongue:

"Where in tarantion are all your menfolk?" "Off stealing pearls from another tribe far away," replied Sowhatee. "They always stash us on this lovely island when they go on a raid. They've been gone for a month, and they won't be back for weeks and weeks and weeks."

"Mind if we stay on for a while?" I inquired offhand. "WE'D LOVE IT!" "Speaking for all of us girls," said Sowhatee, lowering her eyes. "We'd love it."

Well, the grape peeling grew more furious after that. Finally, Sowhatee said:

"Don't you think it's a bit crowded here? Come with me, captain, I know a little forest glade where we can talk alone—while I weave fragrant blossoms in your hair!"

Hand in hand, we strolled into the forest and then... And then without armed conflict and I felt a firmer hand shaking me positive proof that his policy in my wife, Frances, whispering in my ear.

"When rash and reckless men were demanding a course of action that could have led to war, President Kennedy kept cool. When the time came for action, he acted," Staebler said. This was a reference to Bentley, who had called for a naval blockade at a time when Staebler said that to do so would be inviting war.

Bentley claimed his policy contained in a telegram sent to Kennedy a month ago, was vindicated by the President's action and the ensuing Russian agreement.

"Wake up, Rover, and start earning me a living again." "What a time to interrupt a dream!" I exclaimed testily. "Well, you've had a week's vacation," said my handmaiden. "Are you glad to be going back to work?"

"Without a single fragrant blossom in my hair?" I asked sleepily.

"What are you—some kind of a nut or something?" said Frances new

Actually I don't mind going back to work. I had a wonderful vacation watching the seasonal change of colors at Tom Alexander's isolated Cataloochee Ranch high in the Great Smoky Mountains in North Carolina. No radio, no television, no newspapers, no contact at all with the frightening world outside.

Tell me, did anything important happen while I was gone? What's new?
