Flanders Hits Letting Charges 'Go by Default'

Will File Objections if Senators Ignore Most McCarthy Accusations

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Flanders (R-Vt.) said today he will file a formal objection if most of the specific charges aimed at Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) "go by default."

There were indications for a time that that might happen in the rapid pace of a special Senate committee heading into the third day.

This investigation is based on Flanders' resolution to condemn McCarthy's official conduct. Then the picture changed a bit.

Flanders himself has filed 33 separate charges in support of his resolution. And he said in an interview:

"I would not be satisfied to let most of them go by default. I would appeal, and send my brief to the committee, even if it had recessed."

Senators Morse (Ind.-Ore.) and Fulbright (D-Ark.) have leveled an additional 13 charges against McCarthy. Some of the accusations overlap and the six-man committee investigating them has sifted them down into five general categories. The categories omit a number of accusations Flanders made.

In the first two days of hearings, the committee finished putting in evidence on three of the five main groups of charges, except for possible odds and ends, with McCarthy sitting by largely silent, leaving his case in the hands of Atty. at first that all the evidence on the Edward Bennett Williams.

That left two to go, and these are largely interlarded with the recent McCarthy-Army hearings and the divergent findings of the subcommittee that conducted them.

At Denver, Robert Lucas, editor of the Denver Post editorial page, was asked yesterday by a lawyer for Sen. McCarthy to "con-

Don't Let Your Holiday Trail Lead to the Cemetery

The Press has one BIG request to make of everyone that uses the roads Friday, Saturday, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

WILL YOU PLEASE DRIVE SLOWER THAN USUAL?

The awful death toll in this country every holiday is NEEDLESS. It's a sacrilege. It's a desecration of our duty and obligation to God.

Over the Fourth of July week-end, 35 were killed in the State of Michigan, and 348 died throughout the nation.

Let's protect ourselves and each other.

Let's play safe.

Nearly every serious accident, FINDS ONE OR BOTH OF THE CARS BREAKING A LAW.

Usually it is speeding.

The Press begs everyone that climbs behind the wheel of an automobile to allow an extra ten minutes, an extra half hour—OR AN EXTRA HOUR ON LONG TRIPS—to reach a familiar destination.

"REMEMBER, the life you save may be your own."

OR, it may be that of SOMEONE ELSE.

Someone else counts, too.

National Guard to Aid Weekend Highway Patrol

All Law Enforcement Groups Pool Efforts to Save Lives

By ARNOLD S. HIRSCH

In compliance with a state-wide order issued by Gov. G. Mennen Williams to head off impending highway disaster over the Labor Day weekend, a state of emergency has been declared in Oakland County, beginning at noon tomorrow.

The war on traffic accidents and fatalities will continue through midnight Monday, with city, county and state law enforcement officers and National Guardsmen waging it.

Sheriff Clare L. Hubbell and Pontiac Police Lt. Joseph Koren agree that the four days will probably see the heaviest volume of traffic in history.

In addition to all the available manpower of the Pontiac police force, the sheriff's department and the Pontiac State Police Post, at least 13 National Guardsmen will patrol local roads.

Spurred by state highway slaughter over the Fourth of July week-end, Gov. Williams for the first time offered the services of the state military to law enforcement agencies across the state.

Ten of the guardsmen will ride with state policemen.

Five cars will be on the road from 8 a.m. to midnight over the week-end, according to Cpl. Emmett Bradley. After midnight, two State Police cars will be on the roads.

No military vehicles will be used. One guardsman will ride with one policeman in the state cars. Bloomfield Township will use three guardsmen, but the sheriff's department will use none, Hubbell explained.

"The governor's offer was appreciated, but manned as we are we don't need the men. We'll probably have more men than we have radio-equipped cars available."

The sheriff's department will have 16 cars on the road, manned (Continued on Page 2, Col. 2)

Boost Cost to Oakland County

Outsiders Flock to Divorce Court Here

By ROBERT F. MAHER

Overcrowded dockets in Wayne County circuit courts and a state law requiring only ten days legal residence have results in a steady increase of divorce actions being filed here by out-county residents.

The county's three circuit court judges admit that many of the 2,128 divorce actions filed in 1952 were instituted by residents of other counties who established legal residence in this county, but they have no accurate figures on the total of such cases.

An average of 194 divorce actions per month have been filed so far this year with county taxpayers paying costs involved in tracking down husbands who become delinquent in alimony payments.

No county officials know exactly how many delinquent husbands from other counties have swelled the costs of financing operation of the Friend of the Court's office, but several have indicated there are "a great many."

Members of the Board of Supervisors' Ways and Means Committee have been aware of the problem for some time and have been trying to devise some means of combating too high an influx of divorce requests from surrounding areas.

Operating costs of the Friend of the Courts office have been set at $100,000 annually, a gradual increase over preceding years. The $100,000 figure is for complete operation of the office with $7,500 being spent for payment of deputies fees and expenses accrued in seeking out delinquent husbands.

About $2,000,000 was collected by the office last year in alimony payments, a high figure but by no means unusual, according to W.

Cadman Prout, Oakland County Friend of the Court.

Wives and children left in want by lax husbands are usually cared for by county or state agencies.

In such cases dependents in other counties are cared for there, even though the divorce may have been granted in Oakland County.

It is the opinion of Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty and H. Russell (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

Puerto Rican, Two Other Skeeters Register 100's

By H. GUY MOATS

Bombardment in the 15th annual National Skeet Shooting Association championships at Oakland County Sportsmen's Club today increased in intensity, with the big field getting into the high over-all swing after three days of blasting with the little guns.

Only event today, outside of the shoot-off for the "Champion of Champions" title, is the national 20-gauge championship.

Less Marx on Menu

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—Communist Yugoslavia lately has been turning back to private enterprise many of the small eating places and inns taken over a few years ago as state enterprises. Some of the customers had complained that the establishments under state operation knew more about Marx than menus.

There are strong fields in all five divisions of this important event—women's, seniors, sub-seniors, juniors and 2-man teams.

Champion of this event gets possession for one year of the NSSA President Frank J. Trucks' trophy. He also gets a personal trophy. Class champions receive trophies and coveted brassards. Friday is the first really BIG day. All-gauge tests get under way at 9 a.m.

In today's shooting, early leaders included the youngest member of the San Juan, Puerto Rico, police team. Jaime Loyola fired 100x100 for one of three perfect rounds so far today.

Others shooting 100s were George Morin of Fairchild, Wash., and George B. Hodges of Jacksonville, Fla., whose card was the first 100 (Continued on Page 2, Col. 2)

Mexico Claims Commies Don't Pose Problem

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Communists are not considered a government problem in this country on the southern flank of the United States, and no official action is being taken to control their activities. Nevertheless, various police organizations keep a close watch on the Reds and sometimes lock them up to head off trouble.

The official attitude of the Interior Ministry—which controls the federal police—is that there are not enough Communists in Mexico to "interfere with the normal processes of democratic government."

The Communists are not registered as a party. The Interior Ministry says they cannot muster the 75,000 members a group needs to qualify as a party. And Mexican laws ban political activity by any group which "has links with any foreign organization, if these imply subordination of the Mexican group."

While the Communist party is small—the best estimates are 30,000 members in a population of 25 million—the Popular party follows the Communist line. It polled some 60,000 votes—6 per cent—in the 1952 presidential elections.

In applying for new registration, the Popular party claimed 120,000 members. Activity in the party is sufficient to bar a Mexican from the United States.

7 Are Arrested in Narcotics Raid

Seven persons were arrested and an ounce of heroin was confiscated by Pontiac Police vice squad in a raid here last night.

Acting on an anonymous tip, the raiders swooped down on a room at 234 Wesson St. where they arrested three occupants for investigation of illegal possession of narcotics and the other four on violation of federal narcotic laws.

Being held for investigation in Oakland County Jail are William Walker, 30, of 310 Wilson Ave.; Mrs. Lucille Lewis, 32, of 234 Wesson, Miss Lucy Hill, 22, of 9106 Russell, Detroit; and Leon Hendrix, 25, also of 234 Wesson.

Charged with illegal possession of dope are Hensel Herbert, 30, occupant of the room; William Thomas, 30, no known address; and Thomas Jones, 29, of 127 Bagley St.

Detective Sgt. Raymond Megitt, who led the three-man raid at 8:30, said their investigation of the case goes back to February. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

3.5 Million Without Power

Crews Working Feverishly to Repair Storm Damage

BOSTON (AP)—Repair crews and public health experts worked feverishly today to avert further perils to health and safety as the aftermaths of Hurricane Carol, which gave New England a multi-million-dollar battering Tuesday.

Other workers and volunteers searched for missing persons, many of them children.

Fifty-four persons were known to have been killed.

Nineteen were listed as missing, including a 10-month-old baby girl swept from the arms of her mother, Mrs. Robert M. Crosby, 25, of Brockton, Mass.

Mrs. Crosby said her baby, Sharon Eleanor, was torn from her arms as she tried to escape from the wind-buckled cottage on Onset Island, Mass.

No trace was found of the baby up to early today. Nor was there any trace of the three Winick children, Paula, 7, Elsie, 5, and Neal, 2, who are feared drowned in Falmouth.

Their mother, Mrs. Martha Winick, 33, and her sister, Judge Golda R. Walters, 46, of the Ayr District Court, perished when their cottage was swept into Great Pond. Their bodies were found on the beach.

Fully one-third of New England was reported without electrical power early today, posing a mammoth health problem since an estimated 3.5 million people were without power. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 6)

Hint Early Nato Confab on German Defense Role

WASHINGTON (AP)—United States officials tend to favor an emergency meeting of the North Atlantic Allies' foreign ministers at New York late this month to seek agreement on West Germany's role in the defense of Western Europe.

The most workable solution now available, in the opinion of top officials here, is for the 14 members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization to make Germany a member with some safeguards to prevent a revival of German militarism along with German rearmament.

Capitals of the Western nations have thrown out a series of suggestions for dealing with the German problem since the French Assembly buried the European Defense Community project under a heavy vote Monday.

There is no thought in Washington, and apparently none in London, of making any effort to revive EDC. Nor is there any real interest here in trying to put over some watered-down version such as Mendes-France might suggest.

Plans for an emergency NATO session are just being developed.

Reward Is Boosted for Dog Torturer

An additional $25 has been added to the $50 reward offered yesterday for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons involved in cutting off the tongue of a tiny Chihuahua.

Mrs. Martin J. Davis, of the Michigan Animal Rescue League, said that a member of the league, incensed at the cruel act, added the $25 to the reward offered by the league.

Meanwhile, a team of Pontiac detectives is continuing to investigate the case.

At a veterinary hospital today, the five-year-old dog, Sandy, was reported improving by Dr. Kenneth W. Soncrante.

"He's learning to drink water and eat food without using his tongue," Dr. Soncrante said. Sandy is owned by Mrs. Elizabeth Hodge of 121 Ogden Rd.

Puerto Rican Police Team at Skeet Shoot

Crime Expert Attributes Cause to Parent Faults

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — The old saying that "there's a little larceny in the best of us" was underscored by Edwin J. Lukas, former executive director of the National Society for the Prevention of Crime, in a speech here.

Lukas said that our children are savages, the majority of parents are not fit to be parents when their children are born and "unconsciously we don't want to prevent crime."

"Actually," he added, "we are titillated by it."

"That is larceny, pure and simple," he said. He claimed the child does not become law-abiding until exposed to civilized society, but sometimes the exposure is insufficient because the "vast majority of parents are emotionally unfit to have children."

Lucas claimed the home is source of the crime problem. The solution is providing a feeling of "being wanted" in children.

Colonial Coin Worth $100

Early Value Unknown; Turned Out in Boston in 1652

FALL RIVER, Mass. — Joseph Sylvia, ground keeper at the U. S. Naval War College at nearby Newport, R. I., picked up a dirty penny. He offered it to a fellow worker who refused it.

Sylvia figures that was a break because cleaning revealed the date 1652. It is one of the earliest coins in this country.

It apparently came from a mint established in Boston in 1651 or 1652 under authority of the Great and General Court of Massachusetts. (That still is the official name of the Massachusetts legislature.)

John Hull was in charge of the mint and is said to have become wealthy turning out three and six pence pieces and silver shillings like this one—receiving as pay one shilling for each 20 minted.

Sylvia, a World War II veteran, has been offered $100 for the coin and turned it down, hoping for better offers—enough to put with his present modest nest egg to make a down payment on a home under the GI bill.

One numismatist, Oscar Schilke of Beacon Falls, Conn., recommended Sylvia accept the $100. The coin bears on its face the uneven lettering "Ano New England" around the rim. In the center is the Roman numeral "VI" and the date "1652." The reverse bears a pine tree, one of three designs common to early Massachusetts coins, and around its edge some of the letters of the words "In Massachusetts."

Either the stamp was off center or someone shaved off some of the silver, a custom that was not too unusual in those days.

Donald Gibbs of the Redwood Library says the date "1652" does not necessarily mean the coin was minted then, since dies of that time were unchanged for about 30 years.

"Still," says Gibbs, "30 years doesn't mean much when you go back 300."

College Finds TV Is Big Help in Registration

CHICAGO (UP) — Television was employed at the registration of students at Chicago Teachers College in a way that saved long hours and aided in the signing up of students for classes.

By employing a closed circuit, registration clerks and school officials could see immediately which classes were closed, which had space and just how many students the classes could hold.

School authorities reported that in previous registrations, students went through the tedious process of filling out cards and in many cases learned by mail the classes were full. This necessitated substituting of classes, dropping of others and much unnecessary paper work.

In the new way, a camera is focused on a bulletin board in the library where class enrollments are tallied and flashed to TV screens in other rooms where the students fill out their programs.

The college also uses closed circuit TV in classroom work where one instructor can give a visual lecture-demonstration to several rooms at the same time.

Canvassers OK Wording of Proposed Amendments

LANSING (AP)—The wording of four constitutional amendments to be placed on the Nov. 2 ballot today was approved by the State Board of Canvassers.

The proposal included wording of the proposal to legalize charity lotteries, although the Michigan Council of Churches has threatened legal action to keep it off the ballot.

The council has until Sept. 14, when the official ballot is certified to county clerks, to start the action.

The proposals as they will appear on the ballot are:

No. 1 Shall Section I, Article III of the Constitution be amended to allow an elector who has removed to another city or township within this state during the 30 days next preceding an election, to vote at such election in the city or township where registered and from which last removed?

Bambagi, of 161 Pingree St., is charged with the stabbing of George Spencer, 30, July 17 in Orion Township. The stabbing, according to witnesses, followed a drinking party and a quarrel over Bambagi's wife Lulie Mae, 31.

LONDON (INS)—Many familiar sights in London are disappearing, among them to shoeblack's pitch. London's oldest shoe shine "boy"—70-year-old Jim Pearce—claims it is all because of changing fashions and "new-fangled shoes."

Said Jim: "Soon there'll be no shoeblacks left. There used to be a thousand of us in the city and West End and now we are down to 23. A shoeblack would starve outside the Stock Exchange, which used to be the best pitch."

PHENIX CITY, Ala. (AP)—The National Guard commander in this vice-ridden city, now under martial law, has turned thumbs down on a "sin-killing" Billy Graham revival.

Diver Returns Glasses Lost 3 Years in Water

MICHIGAN CITY (AP)—Peter Dalman, pumping gas for a customer, found the man was an amateur diver, and remarked: Too bad you weren't around three years ago when I lost my glasses in the yacht basin."

Dalman said they were his.

London Bobbies Asked to Mind Their Manners

LONDON (INS)—Confidential instructions have been sent to all metropolitan police stations urging the London bobby to be "more polite."

A personal order from Commissioner Sir John Nott-Bower advised the police against using "sarcastic, dogmatic or rude language" when addressing members of the public.

The Commissioner, it revealed, was "very perturbed" by an increase recently in complaints from the public about incivility.

The instruction sternly warns against "bullying methods of talk." It demands "more tact and diplomacy" in dealing with individuals as well as crowds.

Break Ground for New School at Rochester

Moving Forward on Street Project at Rochester

ROCHESTER—Four of the ten village streets recently approved by the council for sealcoating have been completed.

Romeo street to the village limits on the east, Fourth from Walnut to Taylor, and Wesley and Castell are done.

The work is being done by the Village Highway Department at a cost of $7,000.

Village Manager Robert Slone has advertised for bids for resurfacing Ludlow from West Fifth to the New York Central Railroad. Bids will be opened on Sept. 13, at the regular council meeting.

High Enrollment at Walled Lake

Expect 10 Pct. Increase for District's Schools Opening Sept. 9

WALLED LAKE — An enrollment increase of 450 students is expected for the opening of the district's schools Sept. 9. The enrollment was just over 4,000 at the close of school in June.

Senior high pupils and those fifth and sixth grade students assigned to the new high school building will begin classes at 7:30 a. m. Until the new building at Oakley Park and South Commerce Rds. is completed early in October they will meet in the junior high building in Walled Lake.

Junior high students and those fifth and sixth grades assigned to that building will attend from noon until 4:30 p. m.

Parents of all fifth and sixth grades have been informed by mail of the session their children are to attend, according to Clifford H. Smart, superintendent of schools. Classes will start at 9 a. m. for all other elementary students at Commerce, Glegary, Union Lake, Twin Beach, Walled Lake and Wixom Schools.

Junior and Senior high school students are expected to have their books and be prepared for a regular day of school, Supt. Smart said.

SPADE WORK—Turning one of the first spadeful's of earth for the new North Hill Elementary School yesterday is Board of Education secretary Lewis Arscott, who followed board president L. G. Harding in the ceremonial rite. Excavation for the new buildings will get under way in the near future.

Present at the function were (l-r) Herbert Erickson, Mrs. Dick Jerome, Mrs. Hudson Hill, Mrs. Lois Thompson, Supt. of Schools D. C. Baldwin, Arscott, Assistant Superintendent Richard Huizenga, Harding, Dr. Eve Schlechte, and Douglas Land.

Building to Have 7 Classrooms

L. J. Harding Spades 1st Earth, Gives Address at Tienken Road Site

ROCHESTER — School officials and community leaders gathered yesterday to break ground for the new elementary school on Tienken road.

"As president of the Board of Education of the Rochester Community District, I consider it a privilege to turn the first spadeful of earth which will lead to the eventual completion of another fine building," said Leonard J. Harding.

"It will be dedicated to the education of the children in this area," he stated.

"Before this ceremonial act of ground breaking I would like to acknowledge the gift of the property from H. L. McGregor and the National Twist Drill Co. This is another of the many fine contributions to the welfare of this community," he added.

Appreciation was also expressed by the board of education president to the members of the original planning committee, which paved the way for the construction.

Named the North Hill Elementary School, the building will contain six classrooms, a kindergarten room, a kitchen, and a multi-purpose room.

Herbert Erickson, of the Shurrer Construction Co., stated that the roadways of the $235,334 building would be put in soon, and excavating started as soon as possible.

Grows Rapidly*Many Industries Now Employ Chemical; Auto, Clothing Are IncludedNEW YORK (NEA) — The next time you get sand in your eyes or shoes, don't fuss. For this upper-crust substance of Mother Earth is the basic ingredient of a new chemical that's making life easier and better for you these days.
From the sand comes silicon and from the silicon—mixed with coal and oil—comes the newcomer, "silicone."Silicones are being used with remarkable success in 30 major areas producing industrial and consumer items. For instance, this versatile material is helping to reduce vibration in automobiles, and it is also being used in completely unrelated products such as skin creams, which have worked wonders on things like diaper rash.Once regarded as a post-war curiosity, silicones are fast moving into a vast new industrial and consumer end-use pattern. In fact, the industry has expanded 25 times in the past nine years, and forecasts predict it will treble in the next five years alone.Several major companies are experimenting with silicone. General Electric, for example, began research on organic compounds of the material back in 1932.
Why is an electric company in the chemical business? Well, G. E. has been producing chemicals for their own use for many years, and occasionally they come up with a product that looks good for the consumer market. They figure silicone is a cinch to help the public get their money's worth when they make a purchase.Take textiles. Fabrics treated with silicones shed beverages and many food-stuffs without being stained. They are also provided with a durable water-repellency, often for the life of the garment, and have an excellent wrinkle recovery.Recently, the Cravanette Co., of Hoboken, N. J., completed extensive tests on silicone-treated garments. Officials there say nonoily spots may easily be removed from a suit by simply sponging with a damp cloth. And oily spots can be eradicated by regular dry cleaning or laundering.Even though it will cost approximately five or six cents to treat a garment with three yards of cloth, textile manufacturers are enthusiastic about the new process.
Dr. Charles Reed, general manager of the silicone products department of G. E., puts it this way:
"The textile manufacturers feel they can increase their sales by giving the consumers a superior garment. We estimate one out of every four persons will buy a garment treated with silicone in 1954."The glassware industry is reaping fine benefits from the use of silicone. Bottles treatedSILICONE AT HOME: Housewife's party dress, treated with sila remarkably low breakage per-normal 0.3 per cent breakage to

Sensitive About
'Gelignite Joe'LONDON (INS) — Any mention of "gelignite" to a London cop is liable to make him blow up.London's "hobbies" are usually well-known for their good temper, but not since the advent of "Gelignite Joe." He has Scotland Yard officials tearing their hair out over his ability to plant sticks of gelignite around London and get away with it."Joe" has been sprinkling sticks of gelignite in London mailboxes, buses and even a department store.Good-natured "Joe" then telephones Scotland Yard and says:"This is Joe-Joe, there's a stick of gelignite at . . ."The alarm is given and explosive experts and part of London's depleted police force is sent chasing off to the spot named to douse the gelignite in water.Reading of "Joe's" exploits, some Londoners have joined in the "bomb plot" game by telephoning Scotland Yard reporting "explosives" at various places.One such report sent a squad of police into a main London subway station where a frantic search produced only weary, red-faced and irate policemen.To police consternation it seems that the "bomb" planting has spread beyond London.Police reported that a "time bomb" had been fixed to the pylon of a high-voltage power line in Devonshire. After the "bomb" had been disconnected detectives kept a night-long watch on the pylon.Explosive experts from the Royal Navy were called and examined the "bomb." They found a cannister marked "explosive" containing what looked like dynamite but which in fact were pieces of wood. There was also a clock device timed to "explode" at midnight.A police official said:
"We are quite satisfied it's a hoax."MAKE OVER PAPES

Twin Sergeants Double Trouble Give Marines

KANEHOE MARINE CORPS AIR STATION, T. H. (UP).—The men in personnel section of Marine air base squadron 13 are beginning to smile. Even the squadron sergeant major is in better humor.

The reason is that the squadron is getting rid of a 370-pound problem—the McKaskle twins, Olan and Nolan of Winsboro, La. They're being transferred to the Marine training center at Twenty-Nine Palms, Calif., where—as one of them put it—"we'll spend a couple of years in someone else's hair."

It's been double trouble since the McKaskle boys arrived at this station in June, 1932. The confusion they have caused is understandable. They look alike, each weighs 185 pounds and they have the same measurements. There's only one difference—Olan's a master sergeant, Nolan a technical sergeant.

Olan joined the Marines in 1933. Nolan enlisted in 1940. Except for one five-year period, they've served together all the time. They saw action together in World War II and the Korean war. And by now they're quite used to being the victims of circumstances.

Officers have accused Nolan of impersonating a master sergeant. It always turns out they've mistaken him for his brother. Once in Korea, Olan drew three months' advance pay, which had to be reimbursed in a set time. The disbursing section mistakenly charged it to his brother's pay account. It took two years to straighten it out.

At the moment, Nolan is looking forward to becoming a master sergeant like his brother. Olan doesn't think it's such a bad idea either.

"When he starts wearing six stripes, I'll be able to borrow his uniforms," said Olan.

The Southern Hemisphere accounts for only 2-per cent of the world's fish production.

Show Business

Dancer Doris Day Leaves Hospital to Become Popular Singing Star

By EDDIE CANTOR

It takes a special kind of fortitude in a gal to have a promising dancing career interrupted by an automobile accident—spend two years in bed—and then become one of the country's most popular singing stars. I'm referring to Doris Kappelhoff—Doris Day to you.

That name switch was the result of her first singing engagement with Barney Rapp's orchestra. Barney told her she'd have to do something about "Kappelhoff" and after hearing her first number—"Day after Day"—suggested the two "D's" would go well together.

I would have been in a fix if they'd changed my name to the title of the first song I ever sang—"Harrigan!" I don't think it fits. Can you imagine my wife signing her name, "Ida Harrigan"? The butcher would never believe it.

This Day dream is a student of the Bible, and she's bringing up her young son the same way. Doris told me that when Terry was several years younger, she taught him that his prayers would be understood if he just said what was in his heart.

One night, she peeked into his room—saw the little figure on his knees by the bed—eyes closed—and going into the longest lingo she'd ever heard. Doris interrupted him. "Son," she said, "I think you misunderstood me."

Success stories in show business usually include years of hard work. Doris is no exception. She struggled to get to the top, and is on the job every minute to stay there.

One afternoon at Warner Brothers Studios, where Doris was starting a new picture, I heard one of her friends say: "Doris, you work too hard. Why worry so much about the future?" Doris laughed—"I'm interested in the future because I figure that's where I'll spend the rest of my life."

Bids Will Be Opened on Marquette Cellblock

LANSING (AP)—Michigan's prison building program moved a step forward today with announcement that bids would be opened Sept. 28 for a new 162-man cellblock at Marquette Branch Prison.

said that the three-tier building has been designed with a steel framework and masonry walls. Estimated cost of the new building is $950,000. The 1933 Legislature appropriated $400,000 to start the project. The 1935 Legislature will be asked to appropriate another $450,000.

Here's How to Put Paint Over Paper

By HUBBARD COBB

Very few people, if any, enjoy removing old wallpaper from walls. In view of this fact our piece for today deals with how to prepare a papered wall for paint without having to first remove the paper.

Needless to say, you don't want to paint over a papered wall unless the paper for the most part is in good condition and is securely attached to the wall.

If it seems to give any indication of wanting to come off, better take it off because the weight of the paint may be all that's needed to pull it off.

If the paper seems in pretty fair shape, repaste any loose corners or edges. Don't tear the loose paper off for this will leave an area that will show up poorly after the paint has been applied.

If the paper has torn along the corners, and this is a common occurrence, remove an inch or so from each wall and cover this seam with tape.

Should there be any spots where some of the wallpaper has been torn off, patch these with a piece of wallpaper. This patch should be torn to size—not cut—so it will have a feathered or tapered edge.

Holes and cracks in the wall should be filled with spackle and when the spackle is dry, sanded smooth and primed.

If the paper has a very pronounced pattern, it will probably take two coats of paint to hide. This is especially true with water-thinned paints.

On the other hand, some very interesting effects have been achieved with one coat of paint which allows just a suggestion of the pattern to show through.

When a water-thinned paint is used, try some in a small out-of-the-way spot to be sure that the dye used in the paper does not bleed through the paint. Should this occur, a wall primer and sealer will have to be applied.

Husband Beset by Fear of Invalidism

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Here are some questions from wives who are worried about their husbands.

"My husband faces retirement in five years, when he will be 60. He is in good health now and his doctor is pleased, but he is always worrying about getting older and possibly being an invalid."

"This happened to an uncle of his, and he never forgot it. He's growing more worried and irritable all the time, and won't make any real plans with me about what to do when he retires."

"Can you suggest a book which would encourage him, and keep him from believing that it doesn't matter what he does when he retires because he'll probably be an invalid anyway?"

"Add Life to Your Years," by Dr. Ernst Boas, is a very good book. It discusses the precautions which can make the later years as healthy and productive as ever.

And do continue trying to persuade your husband to think over retirement projects. Keeping his mind occupied is the best way to keep his body healthy.

Second Question: "My husband was in the Army longer than most men his age, with the result that he is not nearly as far ahead now in business as most of our friends."

"This embarrasses him a lot, since he is still sort of a glorified clerk, while his friends are all junior or senior executives."

"At parties, it is very awkward when everybody talks shop, because he just sort of sits there with nothing to say."

"To make matters worse, I have a wonderful job which I love, and I think this irritates him."

"What can I do to make matters less embarrassing all around?"

It seems to me that much of this problem is your fault. Men don't feel ashamed of themselves, really, unless they feel that their wives are ashamed of them.

If I were you, I'd start letting him know that you do value much that he does, and emphasize, in your thinking as well as your talking, his good accomplishments.

And I'd stop talking so enthusiastically about my own job. Somehow, women shop-talkers are always a bore and a thorn in the side of men.

Probably without even knowing it, you contribute to the whole trouble by remarking on his friends' accomplishments, listening to the executives' shop talk, with dewy eyes, and, in general, making your husband feel that you do consider him "just a glorified clerk."

Mom Wants Girl to Vary Her Dating

Best Beau Objects to Sharing Sally's Time With Others

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

"Dear Miss Woodward: I'm 17 and have been going steady with Sally since last spring. Now we're told that we're too young to be getting serious."

"We like each other very much. But I'm faced with the problem that Sally's mother doesn't approve of her going out with me."

"Sally and I have talked to her, but we don't seem to be able to make her see our side. She just remarks, 'Variety is the spice of life,' and says that Sally should see as much of life as she can while she's young. Neither Sally nor I feel that way at all!"

"Not wanting to aggravate the situation, I told Sally to go out with someone else every once in a while. But it hurts when she does. And her mother wants it to happen more often."

"I myself can't go out with anyone else, because I don't think it would be fair either to the girl or to myself, knowing how I feel toward Sally."

"Her mother approves of me, and I think highly of her also. But am I wrong, or should I try to convince her that we ought to be able to go out with just each other?"

There seems to be no room in your thinking for anything but the wondrous fact of your romance with Sally. She is the center of your universe. But you're just a touch selfish in wanting to keep her all to yourself.

You know what influence Sally has on you. You know how much you care how she feels, what she thinks. Your own reactions are keyed to hers. And her personality is similarly influenced by what you think and feel.

At your age, one's personality shouldn't be subjected so exclusively to just one other personality. Sally's experiences are limited. She has no knowledge on which to base comparisons.

You are virtually the only boy she knows well. And though you both think you're content to have it so, there's much to be said for her mother's broader perspective.

Her mother is not asking that you stop seeing each other entirely. She wants you to vary the routine, that's all. She's willing that you should be together often, because you like each other best. But she wants Sally to shift her sights a bit.

To have occasional dates with other girls would not play false to your affection for Sally. Not when you both understand how casual such dates can be.

An evening at the movies with another attractive girl won't put the blight on your real love. It's just a pleasant evening, that's all. No question of being fair to the girl, or disloyal to Sally. Try it and see.

Should your romance stand up under these "pinches of spice," perhaps mother can be convinced.

Manners MAKE FRIENDS

It is quite all right to call a waiter's attention to the fact that he has made a mistake in your order. But don't act upset about it. If you bawl him out you'll ruin your own meal and that of anyone eating with you, and you'll get the waiter in a bad mood. Getting ham instead of roast beef isn't that important, is it?

U.S. Scientist Studies Sea 1,700 Feet Below Surface

WASHINGTON — An American scientist has observed first-hand one of the sea's mysterious phenomena, the "deep scattering layer," from the French Navy's bathyscaphe submerged 1,700 feet below the Mediterranean's surface.

Ten miles off Toulon, France, Dr. Harold E. Edgerton of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and Commandant Georges Houot of France's Marine Nationale guided the diving submarine into the "phantom" stratum that rises by night and sinks by day between the surface and the sea floor.

It was the first time the bathyscaphe, which took, Comdt. Houot to a world record depth of 13,287 feet last February in the Atlantic, was stationed at a fixed distance above the bottom, says the National Geographic Society.

Dr. Edgerton has not yet assessed all the data gleaned during the nearly three hours he was submerged in the dark abyss. But he had reported seeing many argyrolepae, tiny fish that "danced around like little mirrors."

On his way past the 1,150 feet level he observed "a great many dead shrimps or discarded shrimp skins" hanging in the water. Solitary jellyfish and hundreds of transparent creatures were seen at many depths.

The scientist said, "The bathy-scaphe is one of the most significant developments in underwater research. Up to now the number of photographs taken in the oceans below 3,000 feet could be counted on your fingers. With the bathyscaphe thousands of depth photos can be made under direct control of the observer."

The deep scattering layer, occurring in all seas, has puzzled oceanographers since the 1930s when echo sounders discovered it. Some scientists think the stratum results from markedly different temperatures or salinity. Others theorize it is a layer of ocean creatures reflecting echo sound beams.

However, Dr. Edgerton, lowering his cameras from the surface craft in the Mediterranean, has already found that animal population is as thick above and below the zone as in it.

Potash-Crop Growth Relation a Mystery

OMAHA (INS) — Potash, recognized for hundreds of years as vital to the growth of crops, is still a mystery chemical.

Agronomists know that a 100 bushel per acre yield of corn requires at least 125 pounds of potassium. But the exact use of potash by the plant is unknown since it does not become a part of the plant structure and readily washes out of the tissue after the plant is cut or dies.

Scientists also have found that some top soil contains as much as 40,000 pounds of potassium per acre — enough to nourish the field for more than 300 years. But they have not been able to release the potash from the soil in a form that can be used by plants.

Efficient Judge Honored

DEARBORN — Dearborn Municipal Judge George T. Martin was given first place award yesterday by the American Bar Assn. for operating the most efficient traffic court for cities of 50,000 to 100,000 population. During the past year, Judge Martin's court handled 6,121 traffic violations. He handles criminal cases in the morning, traffic cases in the afternoon.

Hail seldom falls at night, for the same reason that it seldom falls in cool weather. The earth, being cooler at night, does not then furnish enough rising air currents to force raindrops to a sufficient height to freeze them.

Prince Wins Battle Over 'Silly' Bonnet

LONDON (INS) — Prince Charles has no love for the jaunty little round hat that sets off his new sailor suit.

The long pants are fine and the jaunty jumper sets off a feller's shoulders — but that hat is "out."

Palace informants said the first time it was placed on the fabled young royal head, Charles immediately threw it on the floor and told his nurse scornfully that it was "a silly hat."

The battle of wills between Prince and nurse lasted until the royal yacht Britannia put into Gibraltar on the homeward voyage of the Royal Commonwealth tour. Charles was photographed

Announce Completion of Kennett Road Recap

The recap of Kennett road from Baldwin to Oakland avenue was completed yesterday, according to Assistant City Engineer James N. Carlisle.

The crew today is preparing to recap Paddock street from the Michigan Airline Railroad to South Jessie street, he said.

The United Nations' Children's Fund estimates that two-thirds of the 900 million children in the world do not have adequate food, clothing, shelter, sanitation or medical protection.

DETROIT (UP) — Harold Coulter, 46, a construction foreman from Royal Oak, died at Saratoga General Hospital early today of burns he suffered when welding equipment exploded.

Coulter and a woman passer-by, Mrs. Mary Auty, were showered with hot lead as a result of the blast. Both were hospitalized in critical condition Wednesday afternoon and died today at 2:45 a. m.

The welding equipment was being used by two workmen repairing a water line in suburban Harper Woods.
