

Truck Hits Car; 3 Lapeer County Girls Killed

DRAMATIC MOMENT — In a split-second, as Hiro Stankovic plunges a knife into his stomach, a Vancouver, B. C., detective races in and scoops up a sobbing Debbie Tans, who had been held at knife point for two hours last night at a downtown Vancouver intersection. The 42-year-old man, who claimed he is a Yugoslav citizen, allegedly stabbed a father and his son earlier in the day.

Manslaughter Investigation Is Under Way

Deputies Say Vehicle Crossed Center Line in Imlay Township

Three Lapeer County girls were killed early today in Imlay Township when their car was struck by a truck which sheriff's deputies said crossed the M53 center line.

Held in the Lapeer County Jail for investigation of manslaughter is the truck driver, Donald C. Harrison, 31, of Warren.

Killed in the 1:30 a.m. accident were Marcia A. Madeline, 19, of Attica Township; her sister, Margaret, 16; and Karen Rider, 15, of Imlay City.

Sheriff's deputies said that the car, driven by the older Madeline girl, was traveling south on M53.

The truck, heading in the opposite direction, collided with the car about five miles south of Imlay City.

DEAD AT SCENE

Deputies said that the Madeline sisters both were dead at the accident scene. The Rider girl was pronounced dead at Almont Community Hospital.

Harrison suffered only minor injuries. He was treated at the same hospital and then jailed pending the investigation.

According to deputies, Harrison said he recalled seeing lights coming toward him on his side of the road just before the impact.

Harrison said he stopped the first car that approached after the accident and asked the driver to call police. There were no witnesses.

MEET CANDIDATE — U.S. Senate candidate Jerome P. Cavanagh shakes hands with Miss OU, Kathleen Longway of Birmingham, during his visit to Oakland University yesterday. Making the introduction is Ken Weingarden of Detroit, past president of the OU Young Democrats Club, which sponsored the visit by Detroit's mayor.

OU Dems Hear Cavanagh Blast U.S. Foreign Policy

U.S. Senate candidate Jerome P. Cavanagh, speaking at Oakland University yesterday, urged a change in the nation's foreign policy so the war in Viet Nam can be ended and the military spending used to combat economic and social problems in this country.

The Detroit mayor said that the $33 million spent daily in Viet Nam could better be used for education and job training programs rather than on "jungle warfare schools."

"Spend it for peace, not war," Cavanagh a Democrat, told the 65 persons attending the public meeting sponsored by the Young Democratic Club at the university.

"Instead of new ideas and innovations, instead of a forward thrust into the future, much of our foreign policy is locked into the past," he added.

"This is the foreign policy which serves as the basis of our commitment in Viet Nam. It gives us no way out but to continue the uncertain conflict."

'A NEW WAY'

He said the time has come to search for a new way out.

It should provide a realistic and honorable way to end the war and establish a basis for foreign policy for the future, Cavanagh stated.

"Such a stand, I am convinced, can resist the spread of Communist aggression and at the same time provide the world with a truly democratic alternative."

Fire Suspect in Lansing Gets Away

LANSING (UPI) — A man charged with setting a hotel fire, which caused the death of a state senator and forced scores of other persons to flee for safety, walked out of a hospital late yesterday without being served the warrant for his arrest.

The fire at the Roosevelt Hotel forced 118 persons, including 20 Michigan legislators, into the street.

State Sen. William Romano, 55, collapsed on the sidewalk after awakening hotel residents and leading them through the smoke-filled halls.

The warrant against James McDaniels, 24, charged him with "carelessly and negligently setting fire to a hotel room."

The charge is a violation of a state law and carries a 90-day jail sentence or a fine. Fire Chief Mark Keeney said McDaniels apparently fell asleep while smoking a cigarette.

POLICE MESSAGE

Police said St. Lawrence Hospital authorities had instructions to notify them when McDaniels, who was admitted for treatment of "smoke inhalation and shock," was ready to leave.

But a doctor apparently signed his discharge papers, allowing him to go free before the police were notified. Police said they intend to find him and serve the warrant.

The hotel continued to operate today but the fifth floor, the scene of the fire, was sealed off.

The fire caused an estimated $25,000 damage to the hotel, including water damage to the fourth floor and smoke damage to the sixth and seventh floors.

After Holding Girl

Captor Stabs Himself

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP) — A man seized a girl, 7, last night as she was playing on the front porch of her home and held her at knifepoint for two hours at a downtown intersection.

He released her unharmed and plunged the knife into his own stomach. His condition is not critical, and he is expected to survive. Police said he had given his name as Hiro Stankovic, 42, and said he was a Yugoslav citizen.

Police said he seized the girl, Debbie Tans, after slashing a boy and his father with a knife. The boy was Teddy Kacser, 6, and the father Theodore Kacser.

Stankovic held the knife, with a six-to-eight-inch blade, against the girl's stomach as dozens of policemen watched.

A crowd estimated at more than 2,000 quickly gathered. People appeared on apartment building rooftops and watched from windows.

YELLS AT CROWD

The man started to harangue the crowd incoherently. He said he had lost a job in the Yukon and yesterday morning went to police headquarters to seek assistance.

He asked for a cigarette and a policeman threw a package to his feet. Detectives and uniformed personnel pleaded with him to release the child.

She whimpered softly most of the time. Police moved unobtrusively (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

New Road Signs in Works

New signs warning motorists about the temporary closing of Square Lake Road are being readied and will be erected next week, the district director for the State Highway Department said today.

John Wills said that the signs presently along southbound Telegraph and the Dixie Highway came under review by his office after numerous complaints from confused motorists.

Detour signs will not be installed along the route, however, according to Wills, because there is no nearby east-west roads adequate to handle all traffic formerly carried on Square Lake.

About 15,000 vehicles travel the Square Lake Road section between Telegraph and Woodward daily.

The link is closed until October 1 while the three-lane pavement is widened to a six-lane divided highway.

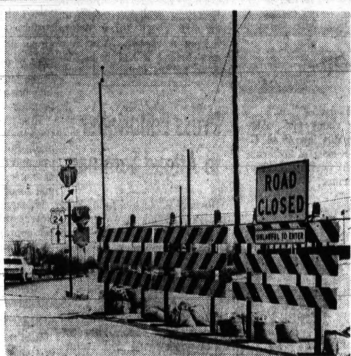

"Local motorists already are finding new ways to get around the construction," said Wills, "but it is difficult to advise the out-of-towners unfamiliar with the area."

through Pontiac and Long Lake and Maple in Bloomfield Hills and Bloomfield Township, according to Wills.

Left turns are allowed on Long Lake and Maple but are not being encouraged, particularly at rush hours, because of the dangers involved from long lines of cars backing up, Wills said.

Among the 20-25 new signs to be installed will be several just north of Square Lake on Telegraph advising motorists that the right turn exit to Square Lake is barricaded.

A number of near-accidents have occurred when motorists slow down to turn and discover the exit is blocked.

TRouble SPOT — The Michigan State Highway Department will place new signs on southbound Telegraph advising motorists that Square Lake Road is closed for construction and that the Telegraph exit is barricaded. The ramp has been the scene of a number of near-accidents caused by motorists not realizing until too late that it is closed.

Most Area Stores, Offices Will Close

Most area stores and public service agencies will be closed Monday, Memorial Day.

City, county, state and local federal offices, including the U.S. Post Office, will shut down for the holiday. Emergency services, such as police and fire, will be maintained, however.

A spokesman for the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce said most stores would close.

No Major Withdrawal From Europe—Rusk

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk has ruled out any major withdrawal of U.S. troops from Germany. He said European allies have been assured "our forces will remain there as long as they are needed and wanted."

Rusk also told a news conference Friday he hopes members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization can reach firm decisions soon on plans for removing NATO's military headquarters and bases from France.

He said ways to improve East-West relations will be discussed extensively when he and other allied foreign ministers gather in Brussels June 6 for a NATO Council meeting.

ALLIED MOVE

His comments came as an allied move was reported early in Europe to respond to Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei

A. Gromyko's call for a Pan-European security conference.

Denmark plans to broach the idea at the Brussels meeting. Qualified diplomats in London said the United States and various other allied countries reacted cautiously but not adversely when notified of the Danish intention.

Any conference of European security would center on the continued division of Germany

25 years after the start of World War II. West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard spoke of this division Friday when he said one of the great tasks of the Atlantic alliance is to begin a "real dialogue" with the Communist world.

"It is possible to ignore the displeasure of Germans over the division of their country," Erhard said. "It is not possible to ignore the contradiction of the world powers in central Europe which is bound up with this division."

THINNING OUT

Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield has proposed thinning out U.S. forces in Europe, and an Associated Press poll of 75 senators shows 44 favored some reduction in the 225,000-man U.S. force in Western Europe under NATO. Six U.S. Army divisions are in West Germany.

Rusk said the NATO military situation and possible threats against Western Europe would be reviewed in the Brussels conference, but declared of American forces in Germany:

"We have indicated that our forces will remain there as long as they are needed and wanted. And we have also indicated to the NATO Council that we do not anticipate withdrawing major units from NATO."

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-

Wash. whose National Security subcommittee has been holding hearings on NATO and the troop commitment issue, said he supports Rusk's views.

"Hopefully in time, there can be some reduction of American ground forces, but certainly this is not the time to discuss the possibility," Jackson said. "To reduce America's commitment to a token unit could bring NATO to the point of disintegration."

Castro Orders Pentagon Repudiates Story of Red Troops in Cambodia

Says He Is Sure U.S. Planning Aggression

HAVANA (AP) — Prime Minister Fidel Castro said last night he is convinced the United States is planning "armed aggression" against Cuba and ordered a state alert for Cuba's 100,000-man armed forces.

In a communique read over radio and television, Castro accused Secretary of State Dean Rusk of "practically threatening us with war" over armed clashes between U.S. and Cuban forces along the perimeter of the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo in southeastern Cuba.

President Osvaldo Dorticos immediately called in the ambassadors of Communist countries and asked for volunteers "willing to aid Cuba against the threat of aggression by Yankee imperialism."

The ambassadors present included those of Communist China, the Soviet Union and North Viet Nam and the representative of the Viet Cong guerrillas in South Viet Nam.

There was no report on the response to Dorticos' request.

Castro said the U.S. Defense Department lied in claiming that six Cuban soldiers provoked the U.S. base Monday and exchanged fire with American guards.

Rusk told a news conference yesterday the United States had protested the incident and demanded that such actions stop.

A Defense Department spokesman said as far as is known no one was injured in the exchange of gunfire.

Castro said the Pentagon version "does not contain the slightest element of truth" and likened it to lies which he said "always precede the aggression of Yankee imperialists."

He denounced the "chiefs of Pentagon" as "a gang of reactionaries, bandits, criminals without scruples and cowards."

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Pentagon has overruled one of its own generals, discounting his first-hand estimate of a possible 10,000 North Vietnamese regulars massing in Cambodia for raids into South Viet Nam.

With an assist from the State Department, Defense Department officials flatly denied the assertion yesterday by Maj. Gen. Stanley R. (Swede) Larsen that up to six regiments might be in Cambodia.

Larsen said he based his view on intelligence gleaned from prisoners and other sources.

Five hours after Larsen gave Pentagon newsmen his view, a Defense Department spokesman said there were only "unconfirmed reports" of North Vietnamese activity in Cambodia.

In the interim, Secretary of State Dean Rusk told a news conference he had no such information on North Vietnamese troop strength in Cambodia.

AT SAME TIME

But at the same time Rusk urged strengthening of the International Control Commission to prevent Cambodia from becoming a base for Communist operations in South Viet Nam.

The Pentagon correction of Larsen's estimate apparently reflected administration feelings that U.S. relations with neutral Cambodia were already difficult enough.

Relations have been strained since an incident earlier this month when American troops fired across the Cambodian-Vietnamese border in answer to what officials believed was Communist gunfire.

Larsen later acknowledged that he stood "corrected" because the Defense Department had more information than he had. He said he had not been dressed down for his remarks which included:

• His belief that from four to six North Vietnamese regiments were massing in Cambodia, identifying two of them as the 33rd and 66th North Vietnamese regiments.

• His assessment that present American forces could handle "anything they throw at us" since the Cambodian troop force was more likely to be used for raids rather than a sustained attack.

NOTHING REPORTED

While Larsen indicated the estimates of North Vietnamese troops in Cambodia were "possible," the Pentagon statement said:

"Intelligence officials carry enemy forces as 'confirmed,' 'probable,' and 'possible.' There is today no North Vietnamese regiment carried in Cambodia in any of these three categories."

A portion of the difference between the Pentagon's view and Larsen's statement could be explained by the semantics of the intelligence reporting system.

However, during the time Larsen spoke to newsmen at the Pentagon a Defense Department public information officer did nothing to stop the general from giving his estimates.

BACKING AWAY

It was not until the State Department had talked to the Pentagon that the statement backing away from Larsen's view was issued.

It said in part:

"On several occasions during the past few months, reports have been received from the field indicating that North Vietnamese regiments were stationed in Cambodia. Investigation of these reports, however, has not substantiated them."

"It appears that units of North Vietnamese army which are fighting in the central highlands of South Viet Nam may occasionally pass across the ill-defined border that lies between Cambodia and South Viet Nam in that region."

"The occasional reports of North Vietnamese regiments permanently stationed in Cambodia apparently can be traced to the movements of North Vietnamese units fighting in South Viet Nam."

Dr. Glas, an Ann Arbor surgeon, was shot to death in what Russell contended was his attempt to make a citizens' arrest for what he termed reckless driving.

Russell claimed the doctor attempted to run him down with his car.

Russell claimed his pistol fired accidentally. He also contended Dr. Glas had been driving recklessly before he was shot when stopped at a traffic light.

The state produced witnesses who testified Russell, not the surgeon, had been driving recklessly and that Dr. Glas' car, not Russell's, twice had been forced off the road because of it.

The jury deliberated only an hour and a half today before reaching a verdict. After five hours Friday it had been dismissed for the night.

Captor Holds Program Set After School Picketing

Pontiac school officials yesterday afternoon agreed to implement a nine-point program at Eastern Junior High School, scene of a parent-student demonstration earlier in the day.

Heading the list of requests was the placement of a monitor inside the school to see the remainder of the term.

Schools Supt. Dr. Dana Whitmer said he needed time to deliberate on the appointment of a monitor.

However, he agreed to assign John Perdue to the school until a decision is reached.

Perdue, Jefferson Junior High School principal earlier this year was appointed community and human relations director for the school system, effective July 1.

CHARGE MANHANDLING

Parents said they were seeking appointment of a monitor to prevent a recurrence of the incident which sparked yesterday's demonstration.

Parents and students allege that Eastern Principal Theodore Wiersma "manhandled" a 16-year-old Negro girl while breaking up a fight Monday. He denies doing so.

Some 175 Negro youngsters walked out of classes to picket the school for over an hour yesterday morning.

Whitmer and School Board President Monroe Osmun met yesterday afternoon with representatives of the parents, the NAACP, the Oakland County Ministerial Fellowship and the Pontiac Area Urban League.

MAYOR IN ATTENDANCE

Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. also attended the one-and-a-half-hour session.

Among points agreed to by the school officials were several on procedure and notification of expulsion, establishment of a student human relations group, curriculum inclusion of Negro contributions to American history, and initiation of extracurricular programs now being held at other junior high schools.

Draft Overhaul Urged

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A special Pentagon committee has advocated overhaul of the Selective Service system so that in normal peacetime, only 19-year-olds would be drafted. Beyond that age, the average youth would not be called under ordinary circumstances.

The Buddhists and their followers ignored Vietnamese government threats to use vomit, diarrhea and stunk gas on them.

The paratroopers and riot police dodged rocks and torches tossed at them by the demonstrators from behind hastily erected barricades. They moved into the crowds and ripped up the banners.

The robber reached down and started picking up the money, cramming it into pockets and his shirt. He then turned toward the teller's cage in the hope it would distract the robber.

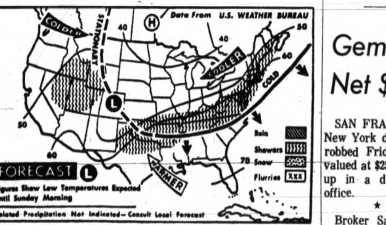

The robber then ran out the front door. He dropped money as he ran down an alley and police later recovered $460 picked up by neighborhood children.

Police said witnesses told them the bandit escaped in a white Mustang parked a block away from the bank. They described him as a Negro about 30 years of age.

Baptists End Detroit Rally

Delegates Firm on Staying Independent

DETROIT (AP) — Nearly 11,000 delegates (messengers) to the Southern Baptist Convention were homeward bound today after a lively four-day session in which they made it plain they would not surrender an inch of traditional Baptist independence.

The 109th SBC was a fairly routine affair with no major floor fights on civil rights as was the case last year.

The Rev. Herschel Paschall of Tennessee, newly elected president of SBC, said the Southern Baptists would be willing to discuss ideas of other churches, but added that he saw no place for Southern Baptists in any federation of churches.

The most widely discussed issue of the convention involved a man who was not there, and it did not reach the floor until the dying hours of the meeting. He was Bill D. Moyers, White House press secretary and administrative aide to President Johnson.

WATUSSI DANCE

Moyers, an ordained Baptist minister, had been slated to receive a convention award for outstanding work in the field of communications. Some Baptist ministers in Texas and Oklahoma questioned the award when it became known earlier this month that Moyers had danced the Watussi at a Washington charity affair.

Moyers asked that his name be withdrawn, but the SBC Radio and Television Committee let the nomination stand.

The Rev. Paul Stevens, executive secretary of the commission, expressed belief that most of those who opposed the nomination actually were reflecting their attitude toward Moyers. He said the award would be presented in October, probably at the White House.

There were persistent rumors that various small groups of ministers planned to bring the Moyers affair to the convention floor and the Rev. Hugo Lindquist, a Baptist minister from Oklahoma City, raised the issue Friday.

Delegates applauded when Chairman Dr. Wayne Deberry ruled the item was not a proper one for the convention to consider.

Legislator to Try Again on Vets' Bill

LANSING (AP) — The veterans' property tax exemption issue, kicked back and forth by Democratic legislators and Gov. George Romney, is to receive one more kick next week.

Rep. Harry DeMase, R-Battle Creek, said he would move next Tuesday to have a veterans' exemption bill brought out of the House Taxation Committee for consideration on the House floor.

He conceded the odds were against him.

Romney told legislators last week that it was the final week for action to give veterans higher exemptions this year. Democrats replied that Romney, who vetoed two exemption measures, should have cooperated earlier.

House Speaker Joseph Kowalski, D-Detroit, said Thursday that Democrats had given up on the matter for this year because it was too late to put new exemptions on 1966 tax rolls.

6 Jet Crashes Probed

HUELVA, Spain (AP) — The crash of six French jet fighters in southwestern Spain Friday touched off an immediate investigation by Spanish and French officials.

All six pilots parachuted to safety before their Mystere IV planes crashed in a swampy pasture area near this Atlantic port 280 miles southwest of Madrid, authorities said.

French consular officials in Sevilla, the intended destination of the 580-mile training flight from Bordeaux, France, said none of the pilots was seriously hurt and they would be returned today to their French base.

The French Defense Ministry said the unarmed $600,000 jets became lost in flight "for an undetermined reason" and had not been able to land at Sevilla, probably because of bad weather. They crashed later due to lack of fuel, the ministry said.

CLOUDY SKIES

One pilot, Capt. Bertrand Olivier, 27, said the men lost their way because of cloudy skies over Sevilla Province and lost radio contact with San Pablo airport at Sevilla, less than 25 miles away.

Investigators were expected to ask why the pilots abandoned their planes near Huelva, 50 miles west of Sevilla, instead of trying to land at two well-equipped airports not far away: the U.S.-Spanish base at Moron, 45 miles southeast of Sevilla, or the U.S.-Spanish base at Rota, on the Atlantic 55 miles southwest of Sevilla.

French officials said that because the planes had been on a navigational training flight, they were not armed. The jets had been en route to joint French-Spanish air maneuvers in this Andalusian area north of Gibraltar and east of Portugal.

In the last major air incident in Spain, a U.S. B52 jet bomber carrying four H-bombs collided with a tanker Jan. 17 and crashed on the Mediterranean coast near Almeria, about 250 miles east of Huelva.

Seven airmen were killed in that incident and eight parachuted to safety. All four of the unarmed bombs were recovered, including one that was found last month after it had been missing deep in the Mediterranean for 80 days.

Osteopathic College Attack Unjust

It is hard to comprehend the strong opposition on the part of the Oakland County Medical Society to the establishment here of an osteopathic college.

The overriding fact is that the Nation needs more doctors, the State needs more doctors, the Pontiac area needs more doctors.

In a recent statement, the president of the MDs said "If we spend $60 million for an osteopathic college and another $5 million it would take annually to run it, the other schools will suffer." Better, he added, to give additional support to the three established state medical schools for their expansion.

The spokesman also decried the lack of university affiliation offering a curriculum of social and cultural studies, which the proposed exclusively medical college would lack.

The statement contains misrepresentations that should be cleared up.

The State would NOT spend $60 million to build the osteopathic college. In fact, it would not spend one penny for that purpose. The cost of construction has been underwritten by a combination of private financing and matching funds by the Federal government. The assertion that annual State support of $5 million would be needed to operate the school is also erroneous. Actually, but $3 million in such support is envisioned for the first years of operation.

As for the lack of "cultural environment" students would suffer at the proposed facility, it should be realized that premedical study is identical for MDs and osteopathic physicians. They usually matriculate for four years at any university and graduate with either B.A. or B.S. degrees as a prerequisite to entering a school of medicine for another four-year term.

It is interesting to note that of the 86 medical schools for MDs in the country, 12 have no university affiliation, and in many situations the "affiliation" is many miles away. Cornell's medical school, for instance, is 300 miles distant from the university.

Moreover, it can be said that sponsors of the Pontiac osteopathic college report progress toward establishment of a university affiliation in the area.

One-third of Michigan's population is served by osteopathic physicians and surgeons. To say that a profession that so widely serves the State should be deprived of training facilities for those who would adopt it is an affront to reason and unworthy of the Oakland County Medical Society.

The POWER of FAITH By WOODY ISHMAEL

No Man is an island, entire of itself;
Every man is a piece of the Continent, a part of the main;

—John Donne

This oft-quoted phrase by John Donne is typical of one of his great themes in life, man's relation to his fellow man. An English poet, theologian and preacher, Donne had a faith that would not permit him to take an oath which probably kept him from getting his degree at Oxford University. He studied law at Lincoln Inn, then the Humanities. Noting his brilliance, King James I urged him to enter the Anglican clergy. He had been raised a Catholic; after much thought and years of theological study Donne entered the Anglican church in 1615.

He was made chaplain to the King, and divinity reader at Lincoln Inn. In 1626 he became dean of St. Paul's Cathedral. He preached to the King and nobility, but was also popular with the people. In a time of great preachers Donne's sermons were unexcelled. They are still read today, and he has perhaps reached his greatest acclaim in the Twentieth Century.

Voice of the People:
Citizen Points Out Error
in Memorial Observance

On May 30th we will remember those who have given their lives to preserve our freedom. The public and the government will fly our national flag at half mast from sunrise until noon as a symbol of national mourning. At noon it is raised to full mast to show the world that our country lives.

World Books Encyclopedia states: "By tradition the national flag flies at half mast when the entire country mourns. It is not lowered to half mast for occasions of local mourning." If local flags are flown at half mast, the national flag may be flown at full mast with them.

Why then does Pontiac show so little respect for the national flag; lowering it to half mast when City employees die? Does the City believe that City employees are more important than our national heroes? We can honor dedicated City and State employees by lowering the State flag, not the national flag.

Oppose Establishment of Museum Park

We, the residents of South Wixom, would like to state our opposition to the proposed Pollard Museum project.

At the public hearing Mr. Pollard stated that he plans to include a restaurant and amusement park rides for adults and children. We are concerned that this may turn into an amusement park. Mr. Pollard has estimated 5,000 cars per weekend will enter and exit via our residential streets. We are concerned about our children as there are no sidewalks and very narrow shoulders which necessitates walking on the road. At an earlier meeting the Planning Commission voted unanimously that this land was more suitable for residential development.

Our sites in the south end of Wixom lend to a country atmosphere. Some of us are city people who bought acreage rather than buying on one of our lakes. Are people selfish who care and are concerned with what develops in their residential section? If so, then we are selfish.

Man Looks in Water in His Thirst for Benefits

Exploration of the ocean depths may prove more fruitful than exploration of outer space. There are limits to the amount of sustenance that can be drawn from the 25 percent of the earth's surface which is dry land. But the vast, mysterious oceans contain untold food and mineral riches. The problem is to find ways to extract them.

This question is undoubtedly high on the agenda of the second International Oceanographic Congress that opens in Moscow Monday.

Man is as ill-adapted to an underwater environment as he is to outer space. While prolonged weightlessness and solar radiation are the cardinal hazards of space flight, water pressure is the chief barrier to deep undersea voyages.

JACQUES-YVES COUSTEAU, the noted French oceanographer, has tried to get around the pressure problem by constructing underwater communities. Five men lived for a month in a four-story "village" built by COUSTEAU beneath the surface of the Red Sea.

Such communities may someday permit exploitation of the oceans' treasure.

The continental shelves alone are believed to contain 30 million cubic miles of oil-bearing sediments. And Ritchie Calder, professor of international relations at the University of Edinburgh, feels it is possible to train dolphins, manatees and dugongs to tend Texas-sized "sea ranches, sea pastures and sea stud farms."

JULES VERNE, author of the "visionary" Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea, was just born a century too early.

Confident Living:

Conquer Crippling Resentments

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

One simple thing may quite often be the big obstacle holding people back from successful performance in life. The human mind works in devious ways and often tries to shield you from some hard fact that may be getting in your way. The mind uses the doubtful faculty of rationalization. Dr. PEALE is rational in trying to make the irrational appear to be rational — which, of course, is impossible.

A man once cornered me. "I'm in terrible shape and want five minutes of your time," he said. It turned out to be a long five minutes. A half-hour later the man was still telling a long, involved story of a lot of misdeeds that was causing his miserable state of mind.

Finally, I interrupted the tale of woe. "Now look," I said, "Probably there is some one thing that is the crux of your troubles. Determine what that is and deal with it. Then your difficulties will probably resolve themselves." I told him something I once heard from an old lumberjack in the Northwest. When fresh-cut logs are floated down streams and rivers to the sawmill, log jams develop; but there will often be one log that is the key to the whole enormous tangle.

Find which one it is, dislodge it and the rest of the jammed logs slide free and float on down stream. "So," I urged, "quit griping and start thinking and find the key log in your problem. Get that untangled and you will be surprised how different everything will be."

A few weeks later the man called me. I thought you would like to know I found that log," he said. "I've got to admit that when I talked with you I was kidding myself about a lot of things. When you told me about the key log in the log jam I felt a sneaking suspicion that the key log was in me. I took a rational look at the mess I was in and I could see as plain as day what the difficulty really was.

"You see, a while back I had a big fight with a man in our company. We got mean; tried to undercut the other's reputation, traded insults and called each other dirty names. From then on, we hated each other like poison. And as I see it now most of my troubles seemed to have developed after this personal feud began. I knew that I must get that hate out of me because it had me completely disorganized.

"I'm glad to say I'm now completely rid of it. I really have good will for that guy, and we seem to be getting reconciled. As for the other difficulties in my picture, I'm not saying everything's all sweetness and light, just yet — it never is that — but some complications are beginning to straighten out."

It is indeed a fact that resentment can be the real root of many problems. Long-harbored resentment can gradually give rise to a whole mass of unhappiness and misfortune.

The main steps in riding oneself of the log jam of resentment are:

1. Stop deluding yourself that your resentment is justified. Maybe you have reason aplenty to feel aggrieved. But nothing justifies continued hatred or ill will, and by nursing these feelings you just

Idea Proposed to Replace Guidelines

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON (AP)—If the administration's wage-price guidelines are on the skids, as many contend, what's to replace them as a better device for curbing inflation.

One idea is understood to be getting serious study by President Johnson's Labor-Management Advisory Committee.

A rough outline of the proposal is that the government should give up trying to review individual wage boosts and price increases, and quit trying to apply rollback pressures against those which it believes "violate the guidelines" or are "against the public interest."

Instead, it should identify a few major sectors of the economy which are, or are likely to become, serious bottlenecks because of scarcity of materials or capacity.

In each such sector it should develop in detail policies "to mitigate inflationary pressures by increasing supplies and constricting demands" with the "close collaboration of labor, management and operating government agencies at the state and federal levels."

HARVARD ECONOMIST

The quotations and the proposal itself were made by John T. Dunlop, Harvard University economist, who has first-class credentials as a labor relations expert, mediator, and former wage stabilization official.

Labor sources suggest there is reason to believe Dunlop's ideas were told over in advance with administration policy makers. His paper, delivered April 27 in a conference at the University of Chicago, contains one scrap of evidence to that effect.

The changeover in stabilization policy, said Dunlop, "should be developed through a reconstituted president's committee on labor-management policy."

He spoke shortly before Johnson did revive the committee and asked it for advice on how to "cope with the threat of inflation in the coming year."

WILL MEETING JUNE 3

The committee will meet again June 3. A six-man task force—two each from labor, management and the public—will bring in its recommendations, if any, for study by the full 21-member body.

Dunlop contends the guidelines, which have been repudiated by labor and attacked in other quarters, have some usefulness in a slack economy but won't work in the pressures of a full employment economy.

Any alternative policy chosen, he continues, must have the respect and allegiance of both labor and management if it is to function. Both sides, therefore, must have a role in formulating the policy.

So far, that's the route Johnson has tried to follow.

In fact, the whole proposal is akin to the informal, emergency bottleneck-breaking machinery he has set up under the coordination of special presidential assistant Joseph A. Califano Jr. It works by such devices as unblocking stockpiled materials, curbing exports and encouraging imports.

Washington Notebook:

LBJ Lost in Crowd at Reception

By WASHINGTON STAFF

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Two years ago, President Johnson threw open the White House's south lawn to families of Washington newsmen. This sort of reception has not been tried since — for good reason.

The President was almost crushed by the crowd. Several toddlers nearly met disaster in the swarm around the refreshment tables. Numerous children lost their parents.

Leaving the White House, one reporter shepherded his covey of six to a drive-in for hamburgers. Later he asked the kids to tell their grandparents where they'd been that day. The answer: "We went to McDonald's!"

Striving to illustrate that the U.S. economy is a pretty difficult concept to convey to a foreigner, Vice President Hubert Humphrey resorted to the question approach in a recent speech.

"How do you explain Delaware," he asked, "the smallest state in the country, but the home of nearly every major corporation? How do you explain Nebraska..."

He intended to continue, "where everybody preaches free enterprise but where every utility is owned by the public" but he lost his place. The question was left hanging for several seconds.

During the pause, a reporter barked out: "Sounds like a valid question to me!"

Over the years, the Post Office Department has received thousands of letters protesting slow mail service. About once every 40 years, someone complains about speedy deliveries.

One such letter was from a Shattbury, Va., man who griped that a letter postmarked 4:30 p.m., March 14, in New Bedford, Mass., was delivered to him that day:

"Overnight from such a distant city to our place in the woods is fantastic. Such efficiency must cost the mischief. And we know of no one who needs such service."

"We certainly hope no more money will be spent to keep up such speed over the roads, let alone spending money to better the record."

A leading Michigan Democrat thinks that, even if Republican Gov. George Romney wins big in his third term bid this fall, he will find his presidential prospects dimmed by the mounting difficulties which plague any big state governor.

Waving his hand toward the Michigan capital in Lansing, the Democrat said:

"That's a swamp over there. A governor pulls one foot out of mental health problems and sets it right down in water pollution."

A teen-ager overheard a discussion among her elders of the Aug. 2 Michigan primary race for the U.S. Senate between former Gov. G. Mennen (Scowey) Williams, 55 and Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh, 37.

Declared the girl:

"Is that guy Scowey running? Why, he's old! He must be as old as (General) Eisenhower! I'll bet he's over 30!"

Birthday of the Church

'Go Ye Into All the World'

The festival of Pentecost will be observed in services of Catholic, Orthodox and Protestant churches tomorrow.

Pentecost is the anniversary of the bestowing of the Holy Spirit and it is also the birthday of the church.

Pentecost was the day on which Jesus' promise was fulfilled that He would send His disciples, the Comforter.

The Apostles learned this on the feast of Pentecost when they were assembled in Jerusalem waiting for the spiritual impulse which was to send them to the four corners of the earth bearing witness to Christ.

Something happened that day and the best way they could describe it, was to say it was like a rushing, mighty wind accompanied by tongues of fire.

They lost no time. They went out immediately to preach Christ and baptize converts into the kingdom of God. It was the formal launching of the Church upon its worldwide mission.

Memorial Day will be celebrated in services of many churches as the congregation remembers who died during the past year and those who gave their lives in service to their country.

The aim of reading the Pentecost is not only to remember the birth of the church long ago, but also to stimulate its rebirth by divine power, Dr. Kontz said.

CHRIST CHURCH—The Rev. Gerald B. O'Grady Jr., rector of Christ Church Cranbrook, views the needlepoint cushions made by women of the church. The Rev. Mr. O'Grady holds the cushion on which the seal of the Council of Churches is worked. At the bottom of the picture is one of the long Communion rail cushions depicting God's call to His people and the people's response. The cushions will be dedicated during the 10:45 morning service tomorrow.

To Be Dedicated Sunday

Women Work Needlepoint for Church

Christ Church Cranbrook will receive some magnificent new needlepoint for the chancel area when the cushions are dedicated during the 10:45 morning service tomorrow.

Coming from the Church of the Redeemer in Baltimore to participate in the dedication will be the Rev. Robert Patterson, former associate rector of Christ Church, who worked with the committee during the development of designs.

Mrs. Robert Flint and Mrs. Edwin Beresford, cochairmen of the needlepoint committee, were assisted in the work by 35 workers and 63 donors.

The project involved kneeling cushions for the side seats inside the altar rail, kneeling cushions for the altar steps, a center mat for the altar basin and cushions across the Communion rail.

The basin mat includes symbols of the various areas of knowledge and work of man.

The cushions on seats within the rail area include seals of the Episcopal Diocese of Michigan, the World Council of Churches and crossed keys on the bishop's chair.

Overall theme of the Communion rail cushions is "The People of God," depicting God's call to His people and the people's response which they offer at that rail.

Scenes showing the four main areas of life — family, vocation, community and leisure — represent man's dedication of all aspects of life to the service of God and man. The figures represent "all sorts and conditions of men" with variety of races, nations and cultures. Designs in vivid colors are worked against a mauve background.

A detailed guide to the symbolism is being prepared for the dedication service.

No man can ever know his own garden who is always looking over the wall.—Bishop Fulton J. Sheen.

Plank And Beam Ceiling Highlights Family Room

By JODY HEADLEE
Home Editor, The Pontiac Press

With the help of William Wieland of Wieland Interiors, Birmingham; the D. E. Kresslers of Sagamore Estates have combined heirlooms and traditional and Italian Provincial pieces in their formal living section.

Mrs. Kressler chose a sand-beige wall background and a carpeting to complement the room's Egret wall mural in shades of green and white.

Switching the emphasis to informality is the adjoining family room with its cathedral-planked ceiling and open kitchen area.

Displayed on the slate fireplace hearth are black iron antiques.

"The teakettle boiled water all the way to California during the days of the gold rush," said Mrs. Kressler. "It was given to us by my husband's aunt, Mrs. Addison Cary of Rochester."

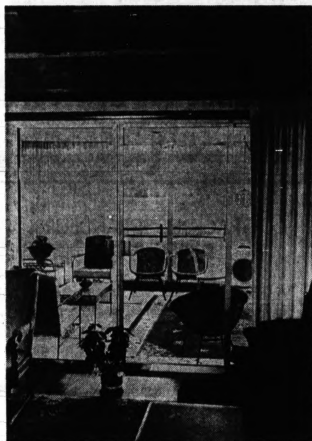

Paintings done by Paul Merckenich and his daughter, Melanie, Mrs. Kressler's uncle and niece, are grouped on the room's end wall.

"The center painting, said Mrs. Kressler, "represents the conflict of the crusades."

"Uncle Paul was born in France, and in all of his paintings, he remained true to his native land and painted in the tri-color flag of France."

"That is, until his final trip to France, in the 1920's. When he came back, he said that everything had changed so over there, he was no longer a Frenchman but an American."

Suggestions Numerous for Adding Storage Space

Who's ever heard of the house with too much storage space? As someone so aptly put it, "This is an age of plenty — plenty of everything except the space to store it." The problem with storage is that it's a private affair. To be workable, storage facilities must be located in precisely the right place and tailor-made for their contents.

In other words, what works for the Joneses may not always work for the Smiths.

However, ideas are always adaptable, and a booklet well worth having for the storage-poor family is one recently published by the Western Wood Products Association.

Colorfully illustrated with 27 photographs, the booklet outlines a multitude of distinctive and useful approaches to storage.

BOOKCASE UNITS

For example, it shows how slender bookcase units can be built between narrow panels of floor-to-ceiling glass to provide shelving for the library and art objects, at the same time giving a touch of distinction to window design.

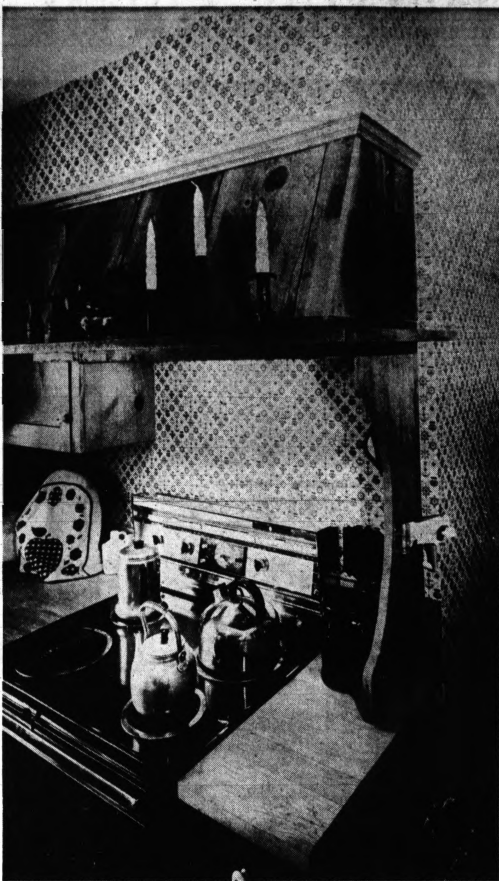

Another window-shelving unit provides practical storage of kitchen counter tops in a handsome manner.

A child's small bedroom is shown outfitted with an excellent closet, drawer and cupboard unit in seemingly impossible space and an ordinary bathroom is pictured bedecked with rich pine paneling and exquisitely detailed storage cabinets.

A movable storage divider wall, which rolls around on casters, is described.

Built to ceiling height and in four vertical compartments, the unit provides tailored space for a drop-down writing desk, roll-out typing stand, pigeonholes, and drawers and cupboards for stationery supplies and family record filing in on of its 36-inch wide compartments.

The booklet containing these intriguing and useful ideas is simply entitled "Storage." A copy may be obtained for 10 cents by writing Department 519-P, Western Wood Products Association, Yeon Building, Portland, Oregon 97204.

NOVEL HOOD — Weathered barn siding covers the kitchen exhaust system in the Jack Wignall home, 7300 Dixie Highway, Independence Township. White candles in pewter candlesticks add to the kitchen's Early American decor. Work counters are solid oiled maple.

Purpose of Grooves on Ceramic Tile Back

The grooves on the back of place and outlast the home in ceramic tile are there to make which it is installed.

Top grade domestic ceramic "The Star-Spangled Banner" tile will in most cases stay in was written Sept. 13, 1914.

Many development houses provide eating space in the kitchen merely by eliminating a bank of cabinets on one wall.

The space thus devised is inadequate, to say the least.

And it's uninviting, being located on the inside wall and offering a view only of the kitchen sink.

Top home designers offer this solution: first, press the adjoining family room dining table into full-time service, giving up the kitchen eating area entirely.

Next, build cabinets and work counter on the kitchen eating area wall — where they are needed and should have been built in the first place.

IDEAL SPOT

This is an ideal spot for a full-sized china closet, say the designers.

And the china closet's design can be used as a decorative accent in the kitchen. It needn't match other kitchen cabinetwork.

Suggested are cabinets built of solid lumber — fir, pine, western hemlock — with tongue-and-groove boards for door fronts on base cabinets.

For upper cupboards, use clear glass doors to show off treasures, or colored pebbled glass.

Plastic in a rice paper pattern which is set window-style in wood frames could be used for a modernistic touch.

Prize-Winning Story Described Unknown Soldier's Burial in Washington, D.C., in 1921

(EDITOR'S NOTE - The Unknown Soldier of World War I was buried in Washington, Nov. 11, 1921. An account of that event, written by Kirk L. Simpson of the Associated Press, won the Pulitzer Prize and became one of the classics of journalism. It is reproduced, in major portion, at the suggestion of a newspaper editor.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11, 1921 - by The Associated Press - Under the wide and starry skies of his own homeland America's unknown dead from France sleeps tonight, a soldier home from the wars.

Alone, he lies in the narrow cell of stone that guards his body; but his soul has entered into the spirit that is America.

Scrolled across the marble arch of the memorial raised to American soldier and sailor dead, everywhere, which stands like a monument behind his tomb, runs this legend: "We here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain."

"The words were spoken by the martyred Lincoln over the dead at Gettysburg. And today with voice strong with determination and ringing with deep emotion, another president echoed that resolve over the coffin of the soldier who died for the flag in France."

HIGH PURPOSE

Great men in the world's affairs heard that high purpose reiterated by the man who stands at the head of the American people. Tomorrow they will gather in the city that stands almost in the shadow of the new American shrine of liberty dedicated today. They will talk of peace; and of the curbing of the havoc of war.

And in their ears when they

PLAYED THEIR PART

Soldiers, sailors and Marines - all played their part in the thrilling spectacle as the cortege rolled along. And just behind the casket, with its faded French flowers on the draped flag, walked the president, the chosen leader of a hundred million, in whose name he was chief mourner at his bier. Beside him strode the man under whom the fallen hero had lived and died in France, Gen. Pershing, wearing only the single medal of victory that every American soldier might wear as his only decoration.

After President Harding and most of the high dignitaries of the government had turned aside at the White House, the procession, headed by its solid blocks of soldiery and the battalions of sailor comrades, moved on with Pershing, now flanked by Secretaries Weeks and Denby, for the long road to the tomb.

STRONG EMOTION

Mr. Harding showed strong emotion as his lips formed the last words of the address. Then the foreign officers who echoes of the guns, a bugle lifted the old, old notes of Taps, the lullaby for the living soldier, in death his requiem.

The guns roared out again in the national salute. He was home, the Unknown, to sleep forever among his own.

Boy Scouts, Buddhist Style

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The mob of banner-waving youths surges into the street, shouting anti-government and, at times anti-U.S. slogans.

The shrill sounds of whistles help to guide and control the movement of the demonstrators. Some of the whistles are held by young Buddhists in their gray, brown, yellow or orange robes. Others are worn by men dressed in the campaign-type hats of World War I, blue shorts and blue, khaki or gray shirts adorned with various emblems.

The latter are the so-called Buddhist Boy Scouts, members of a militant arm of the Buddhist organization and in fact neither boys nor scouts.

Most of them appear to be in their middle or late 20s. Some are younger, but some look even older, wise and hardened in the ways of demonstrations in the streets.

OUTING RESTRICTIONS
Despite the war and other trials, Viet Nam has a regular Boy Scout organization that is affiliated with the international Scouting movement. These youngsters engage in the activities of Scouts everywhere, except for restrictions on extended

Plane Innovator Dies

YELLOW SPRINGS, Ohio (AP)—Constantin D. Bardulesco, 78, a native of Romania who is generally credited with the basic patents to make blind flying and the automatic pilot possible, died Thursday. outings because of danger from the Viet Cong. They are not associated with any of the political movements or street demonstrations.

The "Buddhist Boy Scouts," as they call themselves, are something else. Working with the monks who take part in street demonstrations, they serve as cadres for the motley crowds that collect when the banners are taken into the streets.

They can be seen dashing out, whistles going full blast, their arms waving demonstrators ahead or cautioning them to hold back when police or troops begin to lay down barrages of tear gas.

The "scouts" some are active in first aid work, some of it theatrical, as they move through the crowds or ride in the front of a vehicle used as an ambulance with their whistles piping and a Red Cross flag waving.

Membership in the Buddhist scout movement seems to be loosely defined; there are no hard rules or requisites for belonging. There also are no accurate estimates of their number. The total appears to be relatively small, but as with many militant groups, relatively effective.

Moonwalker Makes Cripple Child Mobile

By Science Service
EL MONTE, Calif. — Amputee and paraplegic children may be able to keep up with an adult walking at a leisurely two miles an hour.

An eight-legged "walking chair" based on a discarded "Moonwalker" vehicle, originally proposed for lunar exploration, is being evaluated by the Child Amputee Prosthetics Project of the University of California's Rehabilitation Center at Los Angeles.

Still called a Moonwalker because of its appeal to children, the chair can move forward or backward, climb or descend a curb, and travel over dirt, grass, low shrubs and loose sand. Its eight mechanical legs operate as four independent sets of two.

Vicious Bees on a Rampage in S. Africa

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa — Notoriously vicious bees, apparently irritated more than usual by hot weather, have terrified South Africans with angry attacks in the last six months.

Five people were stung to death. Hundreds of others suffered painful stings. Pet dogs and other animals died in the onslaught.

People fleeing in panic before swarms of bees in several cases dived into swimming pools or public fountains to escape the invaders.

A Johannesburg family and guests who were having drinks in their garden spent two hours in their private pool, surfacing only for air.

GOLFERS FLEE
Golfers Jack Nicklaus of the United States and Gary Player of South Africa had to abandon part of one match when attacked and stung by bees on a Pretoria course during their $50,000 challenge series.

A 45-year-old man was stung to death when he tried to rescue his dog. Other fatalities included a man who tried to drive away a swarm which took over his home.

Alec Papageorge, of the South-

African Council for Scientific and Industrial Research, suggested that the bad temper of local bees can be traced to an age-old struggle for survival.

The Thomas H. Wilsons of Clement Road announce the betrothal of their daughter, Patricia Hunter, to Jerry L. Hridel of Maple Heights, Ohio, son of the Jerry Hridels of Cleveland, Ohio.

PATRICIA HUNTER WILSON

Patricia H. Wilson Will Be a Bride in Fall Ceremony

A September wedding is being planned by Patricia Hunter Wilson, daughter of the Thomas H. Wilsons of Clement Road, Springfield Township, and Jerry L. Hridel of Maple Heights, Ohio, son of the Jerry Hridels of Cleveland.

GRADUATE STUDY

The bride-elect, a graduate of Kingswood School Cranbrook, and Lake Erie college, Painesville, Ohio, is in graduate study at Western Reserve University, Cleveland.

She also attended the University of Dijon in Dijon, France.

Her grandparents are the late Mr. and Mrs. Oliver L. Beaudette of Pontiac.

Mr. Hridel is an alumnus of the University School, Shaker Heights, Ohio and the Babson Institute, Wellesley, Mass.

He attended Western Reserve University graduate school and is a member of Tau Alpha Upsilon fraternity.

Close Bar to Indicate Party's Over

By ELIZABETH L. POST

Dear Mrs. Post: What is the simplest and politest way to get guests to leave after a cocktail party?

My husband and I don't want to offend anyone, but sometimes these hangers-on drive us to the point of not caring what we say or do—Frances and Joe.

Dear Frances and Joe: Start out by wording your invitations, "Cocktails, 5 to 7," not just "Cocktails at 5." This should at least drop a hint. Then, the most effective way I know to get rid of the late stayers is to close the bar.

It may take a little while for them to get the idea, but it shouldn't be long before they give up!

FATHER'S DAY

Dear Mrs. Post: My father and mother are divorced and my mother has remarried. I live with my father but I do spend quite a lot of time with my mother and stepfather.

I would like to know if it would be proper to send my stepfather a present or a greeting card on Father's Day or might this in any way show disloyalty to my own parents?

I wouldn't want to hurt my father—June H.

Dear June: To send a card or small present to your stepfather would in no way indicate less affection for your own father and would undoubtedly please your mother very much.

August Vows Set by Pair

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond F. Bush of Grand Rapids announce the engagement of their daughter, Donna, of Downey, Calif., to Joseph Krueger of Pico Rivera, Calif., son of Mr. and Mrs. S. Thomas Becroft of Milford.

Both Miss Bush and Mr. Krueger were graduated from Michigan State University. They plan to be married Aug. 20 in Grand Rapids.

Albion Cites Mrs. Kuhn for Award

She was the youngest woman ever elected to the presidency of the Foreign Missionary Society of the Metropolitan Methodist Church.

Consult With Son's Doctor Then Take Him to Nuptials

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter is planning her wedding. She wants a big church wedding and we want her to have one. Our son who is in his teens is an epileptic (petit mal), and this may shock you, but we don't want him at the wedding.

I feel it might embarrass both sides of the family if he has a seizure in church. I'm afraid I will faint just worrying about it during Mass.

The last attack he had was almost a year ago. It occurred at a family gathering and it shook up the entire family. What can we do about this terrible problem, Abby?

I know our son will be terribly hurt if we tell him he can't attend his sister's wedding, but we have always put this epileptic child first when he was younger, and now we have to think of his sister, don't we? She is as nervous about this as I am, and it's not fair to her.

ABBY

I realize his absence will raise questions, but we would say he is "ill." Please tell us what to do.

NO NAME OR CITY PLEASE

DEAR NO NAME: First, talk this over with your physician. Ask him if there is a medication that could control or calm the boy, and lessen his chances for a seizure during those few hours.

Sacrifices are being made daily in the interest of dear ones who thru no fault of their own are handicapped.

If a wedding is a big "performance" to impress an audience, then by all means "hide" the unfortunate boy who might mar it. But if it is a sacrament to unite a couple in the bonds of holy matrimony in the presence of those they love, include your son and take your chances.

DEAR ABBY: My parents were both killed when I was three years old. At least that is what I have been told. I have lived with my grandmother ever since.

I don't remember a thing about my parents so I have asked my grandmother questions about them, and every time I do, she says, "Go do your homework." Or, "Isn't it past your bedtime?" I wonder why she doesn't want to talk about them?

I am almost 14 years old, and I have never even seen a picture of my mother or father. Why do you think my grandmother is avoiding the subject?

CURIOUS

DEAR CURIOUS: I don't know, but I'm sure she has a good reason. Perhaps it still makes her sad to talk about it. Trust her, honey. Be patient and don't press for answers. In time all your questions will be answered.

Troubled? Write to Abby, care of The Pontiac Press. For a personal reply, inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Opera Draws Area Women for Activities

By SIGNE KARLSTROM

This is a month of meetings. Organizations are closing their year's activities and this week the Metropolitan Opera with its seven performances at Masonic Temple plus all the festivities connected therewith has drawn thousands of Birmingham-Bloomfield Hills area women (husbands, too) into Detroit.

On Thursday at the seventh annual opera luncheon in the Women's City Club were Mrs. Anthony Mailou and her daughter Mrs. J. Merriam Barnes as co-chairmen for the day.

Among those attending were Mesdames: Lynn Townsend, Max Fisher, Philip Moses, S. J. Lang, Edward N. Cole and Walker A. Williams. Mr. and Mrs. Williams returned to their apartment in the Burlington Arms last Sunday to be here for opening night at the opera.

They spent the winter in their home at Hillsborough Beach, Fla. and visited their son and daughter-in-law Mr. and Mrs. John H. Williams and two-year old son John W. in Orlando Calif. before returning to Birmingham. John Williams received his master's degree from Armstrong College at Berkeley where he is also on the business administration faculty.

OLD FRIENDS DINE

Following the performance on Tuesday evening, Mrs. Sam B. Williams (the former opera singer Barbara Gibson) together with her mother-in-law Mrs. Clyde Williams of Columbus, Ohio and the Frederick Olivers (formerly of Birmingham) dined with their friend of many years Lorenna Alvary at the Sheraton Cadillac hotel. Mr. Alvary played the part of Surin in the opera.

There was much news to catch up with in both families and to hear about Mrs. Oliver's new gift shop in Detroit named "Unusuals" which according to rumors, has all the unusual gifts you may desire.

Mrs. Robert C. VanderKloot is busy with a tea honoring the auction committee of the Archives of American Art. This takes place on Wednesday in Lovett Hall, Henry Ford Museum.

OPEN HOUSE

Mrs. George Cary, president of the board of trustees of St. Anne's Mead has invitations in the mail for an open house and tea between 3 and 5 p.m. at the Episcopal Retirement Home on 12 Mile Road in Southfield on June 3th and June 12.

me three little words with which the Lord has blessed and preserved me through dark nights and long days. 'Trust and obey.'

Miss Hudson wrote her first book, "O Ye Jigs & Juleps!" when she was a precocious 10-year-old child. It was saved in the family trunk and published after her death, immediately becoming a best seller.

The same style on an adult level made her personal correspondence so amusing to those who received it that Mrs. Mayne finally decided to publish excerpts from her late mother's letters to her in "Flapdoodle, Trust & Obey."

Patio Party for WNFGA

Cranbrook branch, Woman's National Farm and Garden Association, is sponsoring a subscription luncheon and patio party, June 6, at the Detroit Athletic Club. Mrs. Dean K. Johnson is chairman.

Following the noon luncheon, Marian Ryan, director of the Electric Living Division will give a program on garden lighting and outdoor cooking at The Detroit Edison Company Building in Detroit.

On Thursday, a dessert bridge in the home of Mrs. Charles A. Pfister on Lane Lake convinced the year's tournament. Proceeds from this project were given to scholarships. Mrs. Henry C. Botsford and Mrs. William H. Pettibone were cochairmen.

SUE MARIE RACE

That's the Washington Way

Three for Price of One

Esther Van Wagener Tuffy

WASHINGTON — The Republican leader of the House of Representatives and Mrs. S. Gerald R. Ford decided it was about time to throw a big party, but this immediately presented problems.

The major three: how to restrict the guest list and not make enemies; how to give a Washington-type but not lavish reception (a GOP leader must be and look economy-minded); and where to hold the party preferably not in a hotel-atmosphere.

It was a fun-party because everyone knew professionally or socially, or both, nearly everyone there. Hostess "Betty" Ford as usual looked stunning in a white glittering summer suit with brilliant buttons.

When VIPs are models at the many fashion shows staged to raise charity-funds, Betty Ford is a favorite and again it was easy to see why.

The first was solved by holding three not one party and limiting the guests to Republican House members and their press friends. The congressman settled the second by using his wife's club (the Congressional Club to which belong the feminine members of a congressman's family).

The Juror 'Rests'

ASHLAND, Ky. (AP) — When Ralph Downs received a certified letter containing a summons for jury duty his mother, Mrs. J. B. Downs, expressed doubt that he could report. "I don't think he will be able to serve," she declared. "It would interrupt his afternoon nap." Her son is four years old.

Fall vows are planned by Kathleen Anne Murray of Mt. Clemens Street, daughter of the John Murrays of Spring Valley, N.Y., and William J. Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Davis of Baldwin Avenue. She is a junior at Michigan State University where here fiance received his degree.

The Don C. Claphams of Andersonville Road announce the engagement of their daughter, Barbara Jean, to Lawrence James Hladun, son of Dr. and Mrs. Walter A. Hladun of Grosse Pointe Shores. Both attend Ferris State College.

Mary Jo Stein Wed Today in St. Hugo

The Henry Rohrs Healeys (Mary Jo Stein) greeted their guests in the Detroit Athletic Club after exchanging vows today in St. Hugo of the Hills Church.

PAPAL BLESSING

A Papal blessing was extended to the couple whose parents are the Don J. Steins of Bloomfield Village and the Louis A. Healeys of Pelham Woods, N.Y.

Seed pearls and crystals accented the bride's Blanche gown and Watteau train of ivory antique silk and formed a princess crown for her cathedral-length illusion veil. She carried Calla lilies.

The bridegroom's sister, Mrs. John P. Livezey Jr., West Redding, Conn., and the bride's sister Justina, were honor attendants.

Judith Allston, Nancy Colaizzi and Margaret Metzger were bridesmaids and Libby Stein, her sister's junior maid.

With John P. Livezey Jr., best man, were ushers Don J. Stein Jr., George H. Rohrs Jr.

of New York, Jerome C. Neyer, Ronald F. Reynolds and Michael F. Caton.

The couple who are alumni of the University of Detroit will live in Birmingham.

Mary Jo Stein, daughter of the Don J. Steins of Bloomfield Village and Henry Rohrs Healey, son of the Louis A. Healeys of Pelham Woods, N.Y., were wed today in St. Hugo of the Hills Church.

MRS. HENRY ROHRS HEALEY

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Aldrich of Perry Street announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary Louise, to Michael Lee Ferrand, son of the Clarence Ferrands of Colorado Street, Avon Township. Both are attending Spring Arbor College, and are planning a summer wedding in 1967.

September vows are being planned by Rosemary Zawacki, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence J. Zawacki of Independence Drive, Independence Township and Duane R. Davison, son of Mrs. Hazel A. Moore of Oak Park Drive, Independence Township.

December vows are planned by Rose Mary Burmeister and Richard H. Cooper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cooper Jr. of Highland Boulevard, Highland Township. The bride-elect is the daughter of Mrs. William Marohn of Anders Street and Clarence Burmeister of North Cass Lake Road.

Travel East After Friday Nuptials

The Wilbert Triplets (Diane Hedges) left for a trip to Washington D. C. and Virginia after their wedding reception Friday in the Kingsley Inn.

Parents of the couple who were wed in St. William's Catholic Church, Walled Lake, are Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hedges, Green Lake, and the Robert Triplets, North Pontiac Trail, Commerce Township.

ORGANZA COAT DRESS

A petite organza pillow and floor-length mantilla bordered with Chantilly lace complemented the bride's Blanche coat dress of veiled silk organza over peau de soie.

MRS. TRIPLETT

Lilies of the valley cascaded from her mother-of-pearl prayer book from the Holy Land.

With Mrs. Patrick Fitzgerald of Milford, honor matron, were the bridesmaids, Susan Gervais, Mrs. John Laffrey, Linda Baker, Mrs. David Asbel and Mrs. Thomas Bruner.

Thomas Bruner was best man. Ushers included David Rickard, David Asbel, John Anderson, Charles Sidaway and William Marks.

CONTINUE STUDIES

The couple will reside in Ann Arbor this fall where she attends the University of Michigan. He will continue studies at Eastern Michigan University.

Silk Scarves Keep Beauty Undisturbed

With white and soft pastels being dominant fashion colors of the season, do you know how to pull the new tight turtleneck sweaters and high-neck dresses over your head without smudging the necklines and ruining your coiffure and make-up, asks beauty authority Max Factor?

The big fashion trick is practiced by models dozens of times each day, and is of prime importance in maintaining a well-groomed appearance. All you need is an inexpensive, gossamer silk scarf which will allow other materials to slip over it easily and quickly. Choose the thinnest, slickest, shiny silk possible.

Cape scarves are rough and do not have the "slip" required for easy pull-offs and pull-ons.

ON HEAD

Before taking a garment off or putting it on, place the center of the scarf at the top of your head and let the four corners fall around your shoulders. Then, grasp the two corners of the scarf that fall over your back, bring them toward the front of your neck and loosely tie them just under your chin.

Now, carefully and slowly pull the garment over your head. Remove the scarf, and see the miracle of real fashion know-how.

Carves Name for Herself

KRESS, Tex. — Mrs. Hatlie Rawls is a picket knife whittler who uses everything from a soapstone to alabaster to a rare piece of myrtlewood from Palestine. She carves icons, Indians, walking canes, a dining table and many more small items.

One of the canes she carved depicts the life story of her late husband, with dates, events and animals which played an important part in his life. A family horse, a copy of the saddle he used and a mule pulling a plow are part of the whittling.

Now 79, Mrs. Rawls started whittling about 40 years ago. "I can't draw or paint but I know what I want from a piece of wood and just start to work."

MRS. M. F. PIETZAK

Joanne Tenuta Wears Organza, Lace

The Michael F. Pietrzaks (Joanne Lucie Tenuta) who were married today in St. Michael's Catholic Church will honeymoon at Niagara Falls.

A gown of white organza and Chantilly lace over tulle for the daughter of the Michele Tenutas of North Saginaw Street, was styled with detachable Watteau train.

JEWELLED TIARA

An illusion veil with jeweled tiara and bouquet of white orchids and Stephanotis completed her ensemble for the rite performed by Rev. F. Charles Rooney.

With Mrs. John Denihan, her sister's honor matron, were bridesmaids Rita Zimmerman, Brenda Lawrence, and Rosemary Pietrzak, Katherine Denihan and Paul Pietrzak.

Claims Mild Correction Halts Child's Aggression

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Professor Elliot Aronson says you don't necessarily spoil the child when you spare the rod.

Aronson, a University of Texas professor writing in Washington University's "Transaction," a journal, said harsh punishment doesn't work as well as mild correction.

"Studies in child development suggest clearly that parents who use severe punishment ment to stop a child's aggression do not succeed in curtailing it," Aronson said.

GROW AGGRESSIVE

"In fact, aggressiveness in children increases directly with the severity of parental punishment.

"The more harshly a parent treats a child the more aggressive he becomes, at least outside the home."

Aronson reported he had tested a group of children and found that the half given a stern warning refrained from a forbidden act only until an authority left the room.

The other half of the group, given only a mild warning, were found more likely to resist the forbidden act altogether.

"We reasoned that if you threaten to punish a person for a particular action, the more severe the threat, the greater the likelihood that he will refrain from the activity — while you are there watching him," wrote Aronson.

INDUCE DISLIKE

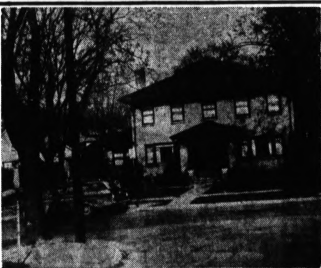

He continued, "But, if you reduced the threat, you might succeed in producing a more permanent change in behavior through inducing a dislike of the activity."

Pots Bloom in Cotton

To give potted plants a bright new look, cover containers with flower-splashed cotton fabrics.

The National Cotton Council suggests you also might decorate an empty flower pot with a pretty floral cotton, then use the colorful pot to display matching cut flowers.

For instance, put fresh-cut daisies in a small water-filled container, and set it in a flower pot covered with a daisy-printed cotton.

Cosmetics May Harm Fabric

Here are some particular clothing care tips for particular people from the National Institute of Drycleaning.

Protect your clothing from cosmetics. For instance, be sure deodorants are dry. And don't apply perfume or cologne directly to a garment.

The Institute's analysts explain that alcohol in perfumes and colognes will bleed the dyes in some fabrics, especially acetate.

Deodorants contain chlorides that can damage silk fiber and can also cause color change in fabrics, principally acetate dyes.

Vets Threaten Hotel Boycott

Wounded Men Kept From Show at Hilton

MUNDELEIN, Ill. (AP) — A threatened boycott of a Hilton hotel by veterans has arisen because a Hilton official shunted away a group of wounded veterans he feared might depress regular nightclub patrons.

Andy Borg of Superior, Wis., president of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, threatened Friday to withdraw the VFW's national convention from the New York Hilton Aug. 19-26 unless an apology is made.

The American Legion's national commander, L. Eldon James, who is in Europe, said he was "deeply distressed to learn that the sacrifice on the part of our young men and women in Viet Nam might make them unwelcome anywhere in America."

Porter Parris, manager of the Conrad Hilton Hotel in Chicago which features an ice skating show in its fashionable Boulevard Room, said Thursday he did not want a party of some 70 wounded veterans to attend the regular show because their presence might depress other patrons.

MADE OFFER

He offered to put on a special matinee for 600 veterans. Residents of Mundelein, a suburb northwest of Chicago, sponsors of the servicemen's entertainment, declined the invitation.

At a news conference Friday, Parris said he had been misquoted, then said, "I consider this a public apology," but added later that he "would issue an apology only if necessary."

"This unfortunate incident has grown out of the fact that I was misquoted by the gentleman who called my office last Tuesday to make reservations at the Boulevard Room," Parris said.

HOSPITAL PATIENTS

The veterans, all patients at the nearby Great Lakes Naval Hospital, still had a party. They were taken to a movie and entertained at the Ivanhoe, a North Side restaurant. The party was organized by Mayor Paul Foss of Mundelein and Ralph Shields, a township tax assessor.

"I've never seen anything so fantastic as what those people in Mundelein did for us," said Henry Hartman, 21, a Marine corporal from Chicago. Hartman was not in Viet Nam. He landed in the Dominican Republic in 1965 with the 6th Marine Regiment.

"I didn't know about the hotel thing until this morning," he said. "I'll tell you this. It's a rotten job over there. No one likes to be wounded. People here care less until they are personally involved."

Cpl. Ed Anderson of Kansas City, Mo., wounded in the right leg, said, "The Hilton will never see my money."

BULLET IN FACE

Sgt. John Ross, 21, Bay City, Mich., a four-year Marine veteran, has been hospitalized six months since taking a bullet in the face.

"As far as I'm concerned," he said, "I didn't think there were people like that. I've never met finer people than the ones in Mundelein, but I don't know about the Hilton."

One Marine corporal, his leg paralyzed by a bullet in Viet Nam, viewed the bawling with this comment:

"It's like they said, 'Sorry about that, we don't need you.'"

"What we do over there (in Viet Nam), we do out of pride," Cpl. John Raines, 21, of Detroit said. "Then you come home and this happens. You feel no one gives a damn."

Viet Critics Not Using Heads, Says Nixon

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Those who advocate making concessions for peace in Viet Nam are following their hearts, not their heads, Richard Nixon said Friday night.

"We must do what is necessary militarily to convince the enemy in Viet Nam that he cannot win the war. You can only negotiate at the conference table what you win at the battlefield," Nixon said.

Speaking to the Association of American Editorial Cartoonists, Nixon repeatedly referred to —dissenting Democrats who "by constant criticism of the United States, indicate to the enemy that the United States is divided."

"It only has the effect of encouraging the enemy and prolonging the war," Nixon said.

ANY PRICE

"If we reward aggression at the conference table we would end the war at this cost: We would indicate that the United States will pay any price for peace but would find out it is only an installment payment for war. The credibility of the United States would be forever damaged. The aggressors would be encouraged to try again."

He referred to Sen. J. W. Fulbright of Arkansas and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy of New York as dissenting Democrats and said: "No one questions the patriotism of these men. What is in question is not their hearts but their heads."

Nixon said we should use American sea and air power against North Viet Nam, striking all military targets and mining the harbor at Haiphong.

In a question and answer session, Nixon said the current military draft could become a national scandal.

Athletics Use Player Traded to White Sox

Deal Wayne Causey for Cater; Announce Swap During Game

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Kansas City traded Wayne Causey to Chicago for Danny Cater, announced it during a game with Baltimore, then played him against the Orioles 90 minutes later — possibly an unprecedented move.

"Sure, it's legal because we had an agreement with the White Sox we could use Causey in this game if we needed him," said Ed Lopat, Executive Vice President of the A's. "There is a two-hour time difference between Kansas City and Chicago, and we wanted to be fair to our writers and broadcasters."

Causey's play Friday had no effect on Baltimore's 42 victory. He walked as a pinch hitter in the eighth and played shortstop in the ninth.

But there was much speculation on what might have happened if Causey had homered to win the game — or thrown it away with an error.

"This is the first time I've ever seen it done or heard of being done," said Alvin Dark, A's manager. "But I see nothing wrong with it since we had an agreement with the White Sox."

Of course, the announcement could have been delayed until after the game. No doubt this has happened many times with other players' knowledge of the trade.

WINTER JOB

"I knew it was coming, but I hated to see it," said Causey, 29-year-old team captain of the A's. "I hate to leave my friends and my home here."

Causey probably was the No. 1 favorite of the fans and players and oldest in years of service on the club. The A's obtained him Jan.

Is 'Gilligan's Island' Crazy?
You Bet, Says Bob Denver

By GENE HANDSAKER
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — A stranger told Bob Denver, the lanky, fumbling star of television's "Gilligan's Island": "That's the most ridiculous show I've ever seen."

"Thank you, sir," replied Denver.
"What do you mean?"
"That's what I'm aiming for."

FLIP AND BREEZY
Robert Osborne David Denver, 31, is flip and breezy and talks in short, rapid bursts like Gilligan. His great-grandfather was James William Denver (1817-1892), territorial governor of Kansas, in whose honor Colorado's mile-high capital city was named.

Bob, born in New Rochelle, N.Y., started out studying to be a lawyer at Loyola University of Los Angeles. After classes he was house manager for the campus drama group.

"I swept the floor and gave out programs," he says. "You couldn't have got me onstage with a pointed stick."

"But they finally convinced me I should read the comedy relief part in 'The Caine Mutiny.' I'd never been in front of an audience my whole life, but when I got a couple of laughs on opening night that was it. From then on I acted in everything I could get my hands on."

BEATNIK PAL
Bob finally landed the part of Dwayne Hickman's gawky, beatnik pal, Maynard Krebs, in the "Dobie Gillis" TV series, which ran four years. "Gilligan's Island," in the top 10 to 15 shows in audience ratings, is filming for its third season.

It pursues a preposterous premise: the 35-foot power cruiser Minnow, owned by skipper Alan Hale, goes sailing with millionaire Jim Backus, his wife, Natalie Schafer, movie star Tina Louise, Prof. Russell Johnson and Iowa farm girl Dawn Wells. Denver is the bumbling first mate.

A storm wrecks the boat on an island, where outlandish adventures befall the principals each week. On a recent day Denver was in Count Dracula setup for a dream sequence where he plays the Bela Lugosi vampire, popping from a coffin that converts to a parlor bed.

Said Denver of "Gilligan's Island": "It's silly, yes, but children laugh and adults can if they want to. It's aimed at the vast everybody."

SAVES HIS MONEY
Denver is married, with three children, and saves his money in hopes of buying a ketch in which to sail the world.

Isn't he afraid of being typed as the hapless Gilligan, a character he describes as "kind of a shnook?"
"Who cares?" he said. "Life's too short."

Trooper, Dog Aid in Arrest

Detroit Charged in Attempted Burglary

Trooper Richard Chartier of the Pontiac State Police post and his tracking dog, Hans, aided Beverly Hills police early today in the arrest of a burglary suspect.

Held in the Berkley jail awaiting arraignment on a burglary charge is Roy Wilkins, 35, of Detroit.

Detective James Davis of the Beverly Hills police said that Wilkins was arrested in connection with the attempted burglary of a model house at 13½ Mile Road and Lahser. The furnished house was owned by the Craftsman Construction Co.

Davis said that several men fled when a village patrol car approached the house at 3:30 a.m. A rented truck was alongside the rear of the house, Davis added.

A refrigerator was in the truck and other furnishings had been moved to a large family room next to where the truck was parked, according to the detective.

Chartier and his dog arrived about 45 minutes after the men fled and immediately led police to Wilkins, Davis said.

Police are still seeking the other men.

Noted Father Coughlin Quits

ROYAL OAK, Mich. (AP)—Millions once heard his aggressive voice heave inoperative on the national bankers, Communists and President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

But Friday the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin was the picture of a quiet parish priest as he chatted with reporters about his retirement from saying he had no plans to retire.

Had he made the decision to retire from the pastorate of his church, the Shrine of the Little Flower?

It was my decision in the little time I would have to live a little time to enjoy with my children and the good things in life," he replied.

Earlier in the day the Most Rev. John F. Dearden, Roman Catholic archbishop of Detroit, announced that Father Coughlin had asked to be relieved of his parish duties because of "impaired health."

Mystery Cloaks Death of Nevada Deputy Sheriff

BATTLE MOUNTAIN, Nev. (AP)—Deputy Sheriff Fred Nelsen was a nice-looking, well-liked young man who had done a good job in his three weeks as an officer.

Only his name wasn't Fred Nelsen. It was Michael Leroy Williams. Lander County Sheriff Don Maestretti says he has run into blank walls trying to find out more than the name since Tuesday, when the deputy died in a traffic accident.

"There's nothing; not even so much as a postcard," Maestretti said.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation notified Maestretti Friday that Nelsen's fingerprints belonged to a man named Michael Leroy Williams. The body lies unclaimed in a Winnemucca mortuary.

Nelsen had been around Battle Mountain six to eight months, mostly working as a cook. Maestretti said he did not check references when Nelsen applied for the deputy's job.

"We desperately needed help," he said.

Battle Mountain, a town of 2,000 in northern Nevada, is enjoying a copper mining boom and is jammed with newcomers.

Nelsen was on a routine run Tuesday when his patrol car went off the highway and overturned. Maestretti began to wonder when he found a Social Security card on the body that had another name. Nothing in Nelsen's motel room gave a clue to his identity.

Nelsen, or Williams, was 32, about 6-foot-1, weighed about 175 pounds, had brown hair and was balding. Maestretti has no photos of him.

MEMORIAL DAY

Each of us will celebrate Memorial Day in ways that touch us intimately. Servicemen who fell in battle will be remembered, gloriously; parents who fought the good battle for their children and society will be eulogized. Our every deed, act, attitude is a message to a yesterday. J. L. VOORHEES

Warning Issued Against Paint Gypsters . . .

Now is the time to watch out for the fly-by-night paint gypsters who roam the countryside offering to paint houses and barns at fantastically low prices.

Each year thousands of homeowners are victimized by these itinerant operators whose extravagant promises about the quality of their paints fail to materialize.

Talk first with a reputable paint dealer and tell him of your needs. He will be able to offer concrete suggestions—helpful when planning with contractor.

Deal with a locally known contractor. A reputable painter will specify in writing exactly what he will do and what paint he will use.

Be at home when your painting is done, and check to see that it concurs with your contract.

Remember that you get what you pay for—cheap paint or a cheap job will most certainly cost you more in the long run.

Evers Urges Calm After Negro Is Shot

FAYETTE, Miss. (AP) — Civil rights leader Charles Evers, appealing for calm in the wake of the shooting of a Negro youth by a white man, said Friday night the Negro community would not retaliate.

"But this is the last time," Evers told followers at the climax of a protest march to the red brick courthouse.

"From this night on, we are not going to have any more white people shoot Negroes and us not do something about it," said Evers, state field director for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Charles Knight, 16, remained in satisfactory condition at Jefferson County Hospital with gunshot wounds on his left side just below the waist.

MAN CHARGED
Sheriff Celia Pritchard said K. F. Dennis, 59, of Fayette was arrested following the Thursday night shooting and charged with shooting with intent to kill.

Mrs. Pritchard said Dennis had been drinking.

Dennis was ordered bound over to the grand jury, which meets Sept. 19, by Peace Justice Carl A. Brown. Dennis posted a $5,000 bond and it was learned that he left town on the advice of authorities "until things cooled down."

Chief Deputy Sheriff R. T. Pritchard, the sheriff's husband, said Dennis admitted the shooting.

It's Go for Gemini Spacemen - Even if Target Fails to Orbit

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — If their target satellite fails to orbit next Wednesday, the Gemini 9 astronauts will be launched anyway so that Navy Lt. Cmdr. Eugene A. Cernan can gain vitally needed space walk experience and to keep the Gemini program from slipping behind schedule.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration decided this Friday after the launching was postponed 24 hours to give a launch team more time to ready the Atlas that is to boost the target vehicle.

Meanwhile, preparations moved ahead smoothly for Monday's scheduled launching of a Surveyor spacecraft toward a soft-landing on the moon. "We'll get off one of these days," quipped the Gemini-9 command pilot, Air Force Lt. Col. Thomas F. Stafford, referring to the postponement.

The Gemini 9 flight originally was called off May 17 when the Agena with which the astronauts were to have docked their ship failed to reach orbit. The Atlas rocket that was boosting the Agena went off course when a short circuit fouled one engine. Except for the behind-schedule work on the Atlas pad, everything was progressing toward a Wednesday firing. The launch crew got behind because of new test procedures instituted after the May 17 Atlas fizzle.

Another Agena was not available for the quick reschedule so a substitute satellite was selected. Called an augmented target-docking adapter—ATDA, it is smaller and less sophisticated than the Agena. A space agency spokesman said that if the ATDA also failed to orbit, Gemini 9 would be launched by a Titan 2 99 minutes later as planned.

On the phantom exercise, Stafford and Cernan would aim for a certain spot in the sky where they would imagine a satellite was flying. Such a plan might shorten the flight from three to two days.

25 minute space walk, propelling about on a 150-foot tether line with a rocket-powered backpack. He will try to determine how well a man can operate outside an orbiting spacecraft for a long period. Surveyor is to start the big space week at 10:40 a.m. EDT Monday atop an Atlas-Centaur rocket on an intended 63-hour trip to the moon. The target will be the Ocean of Storms, a possible landing spot for future American astronauts. If Surveyor performs well, it will transmit hundreds of close-up pictures from a tating camera and will provide information on the hardness of the surface. Sicilians Check Graves for Overlooked Value ENNA, Sicily (AP) — The Sicilian superintendency of antiquities has authorized new excavations at Montagna Di Marzo — Mountain of March. Scientists want to see whether grave looters who illegally dug up 2,500 ancient tombs there many years ago may have overlooked other finds of archaeological value.

U.S. Probes Farm Plan Data Leak

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agriculture Department officials are investigating the premature disclosure of a decision to postpone possible reductions in rates the department pays for storing government grains.

This is the second investigation launched this week by the department into leaks of official government announcements.

The latest leak occurred Thursday. Secretary Orville Freeman's announcement concerning government grain storage rates was not given to newsmen in Washington until after 3 p.m. that day in an apparent move to avoid any possible influence on grain markets before they closed for the day.

It was learned, however, that the decision became known in North Dakota several hours before the announcement was made public in Washington.

DOUBT ADVANTAGE

Department officials said they doubted premature disclosure of the decision in North Dakota could have been used to an advantage in the commodity markets.

But they said this does not hold true with regard to the securities markets.

Stocks of many companies in the grain storage business are traded on these markets. The storage decision information became known in North Dakota while these markets were open. The decision could have been expected to have a bullish effect on prices of such stock because it indicated a higher return from grain storage than would have been possible had the rates been reduced.

It could not be determined immediately, however, if trading of grain storage company stock reacted significantly to premature disclosure of Freeman's announcement.

LEAK COMPLAINT

Two days ago it was reported the department's office of inspector general was investigating a complaint of a premature leak of government plans to increase soybean production this year.

This complaint claimed that a commodity market trader, whose name was not disclosed, had made "a pile of money" by using this advance information in soybean trading.

Elder Kennedy's Grandchildren to Have New 'Toy'

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP) — Within the month, 20 or so of former Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy's grandchildren will descend on the Kennedy compound for another summer in the sun and the sea.

In the roomy side yard of the summer home of the late President John F. Kennedy they'll find a new plaything — an airplane.

It is a reconditioned two-passenger World War II observation monoplane. It arrived Friday, towed backwards all the way from Colts Neck, N.J., its wings demounted and carried on top of the truck.

The plane was reconditioned by Kurt Wagner of Shore Air Service Inc., on orders of Kennedy, as a surprise for his grandchildren.

The engine has been deactivated, but some of the instrument dials are in place, and the control stick and rudder pedals are in working order.

Truck Hits Car; 3 Lapeer County Girls Killed

Fidel Orders War Alert

HAVANA (AP)—Prime Minister Fidel Castro said last night he is convinced the United States is planning "armed aggression" against Cuba and ordered a state of alert for Cuba's 100,000-man armed forces.

In a communique read over radio and television, Castro accused Secretary of State Dean Rusk of "practically threatening us with war" over armed clashes between U.S. and Cuban forces along the perimeter of the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo in southeastern Cuba.

President Osvaldo Dorticos immediately called in the ambassadors of Communist countries and asked for volunteers "willing to aid Cuba against the threat of aggression by Yankee imperialism."

The ambassadors present included those of Communist China, the Soviet Union and North Viet Nam and the representative of the Viet Cong guerrillas in South Viet Nam.

There was no report on the response to Dorticos' request.

Castro said the U.S. Defense Department lied in claiming that six Cuban soldiers penetrated the (Continued on Page 2, Col. 1)

Manslaughter Investigation Is Under Way

Deputies Say Vehicle Crossed Center Line in Imlay Township

Three Lapeer County girls were killed early today in Imlay Township when their car was struck by a truck which sheriff's deputies said crossed the M53 center line.

Held in the Lapeer County Jail for investigation of manslaughter is the truck driver, Donald C. Harrison, 31, of Warren.

Killed in the 1:30 a.m. accident were Marcia A. Madeline, 19, of Astoria Township; her sister, Margaret, 16; and Karen Rider, 15, of Imlay City.

Sheriff's deputies said that the car, driven by the older Madeline girl, was traveling south of M53.

The truck, heading in the opposite direction, collided with the car about five miles south of Imlay City.

DEAD AT SCENE

Deputies said that the Madeline sisters both were dead at the accident scene. The Rider girl was pronounced dead at Almont Community Hospital.

Harrison suffered only minor injuries. He was treated at the same hospital and then jailed pending the investigation.

According to deputies, Harrison said he recalled seeing lights coming toward him on his side of the road just before the impact.

Harrison said he stopped the first car that approached after the accident and asked the driver to call police. There were no witnesses.

MEET CANDIDATE — U.S. Senate candidate Jerome P. Cavanagh shakes hands with Miss OU, Kathleen Longeway of Birmingham, during his visit to Oakland University yesterday. Making the introduction is Ken Weingarden of Detroit, past president of the OU Young Democrats Club, which sponsored the visit by Detroit's mayor.

OU Dems Hear Cavanagh Blast U.S. Foreign Policy

U.S. Senate candidate Jerome P. Cavanagh, speaking at Oakland University yesterday, urged a change in the nation's foreign policy so the war in Viet Nam can be ended and the military spending used to combat economic and social problems in this country.

The Detroit mayor said that the $33 million spent daily in Viet Nam could better be used for education and job training programs rather than on "jungle warfare schools."

"Spend it for peace, not war," Cavanagh a Democrat, told the 45 persons attending the public meeting sponsored by the Young Democratic Club at the university.

"Instead of new ideas and innovations, instead of a forward thrust into the future, much of our foreign policy is locked into the past," he added.

"This is the foreign policy which serves as the basis of our commitment in Viet Nam. It gives us no way out but to continue the uncertain conflict."

'A NEW WAY'

He said the time has come to search for a new way out.

It should provide a realistic and honorable way to end the war and establish a basis for foreign policy for the future, Cavanagh stated.

"Such a stand, I am convinced, can resist the spread of Communist aggression and at the same time provide the world with a truly democratic alternative."

Fire Suspect in Lansing Gets Away

LANSING (UPI) — A man charged with setting a hotel fire, which caused the death of a state senator and forced scores of other persons to flee for safety, walked out of a hospital late yesterday without being served the warrant for his arrest.

The fire at the Roosevelt Hotel forced 118 persons, including 20 Michigan legislators, into the street.

State Sen. William Romano, 55, collapsed on the sidewalk after awakening hotel residents and leading them through the smoke-filled halls.

The warrant against James McDaniels, 24, charged him with "carelessly and negligently setting fire to a hotel room."

The charge is a violation of a state law and carries a 90-day jail sentence or a fine. Fire Chief Mark Keeney said McDaniels apparently fell asleep while smoking a cigarette.

POLICE MESSAGE

Police said St. Lawrence Hospital authorities had instructions to notify them when McDaniels, who was admitted for treatment of "smoke inhalation and shock," was ready to leave.

But a doctor apparently signed his discharge papers, allowing him to go free before the police were notified. Police said they intend to find him and serve the warrant.

The hotel continued to operate today but the fifth floor, the scene of the fire, was sealed off.

The fire caused an estimated $5,000 damage to the hotel, including water damage to the fourth floor and smoke damage to the sixth and seventh floors.

Captor Holds Girl, Stabs Self

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP) — A man seized a girl, 7, last night as she was playing on the front porch of her home and held her at knife point for two hours at a downtown intersection.

He released her unharmed and plunged the knife into his own stomach. His condition is not critical, and he is expected to survive. Police said he had given his name as Hiro Stankovic, 42, and said he was a Yugoslav citizen.

Police said he seized the girl, Debbie Tans, after slashing a boy and his father with a knife. The boy was Teddy Kacser, 6, and the father Theodore Kacser.

Stankovic held the knife with a six- to eight-inch blade against the girl's stomach as dozens of policemen watched.

Police headquarters to seek assistance.

He asked for a cigarette and a policeman threw a package to his feet. Detectives and uniformed personnel pleaded with him to release the child.

She whimpered softly most of the time. Police moved unobtrusively. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

Most area stores and public service agencies will be closed Monday, Memorial Day.

New Road Signs in Works

New signs warning motorists about the temporary closing of Square Lake Road are being readied and will be erected next week, the district director for the State Highway Department said today.

John Wills said that the signs presently along southbound Telegraph and the Dixie Highway came under review by his office after numerous complaints from confused motorists.

Detour signs will not be installed along the route, however, according to Wills, because there is no nearby east-west roads adequate to handle all traffic formerly carried on Square Lake.

About 15,000 vehicles travel the Square Lake Road section between Telegraph and Woodward daily.

The link is closed until October 1 while the three-lane pavement is widened to a six-lane divided highway.

"NEW WAYS" Local motorists already are finding new ways to get around the construction," said Wills, "but it is difficult to advise the out-of-towners unfamiliar with the area."

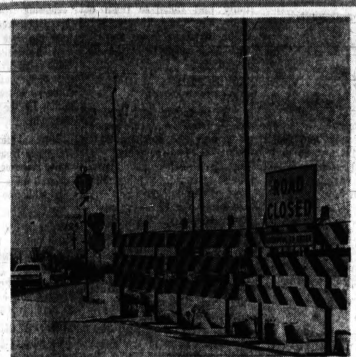

Much of the east-west traffic is now being handled by Huron and Orchard Lake roads through Pontiac and Long Lake and Maple in Bloomfield Hills and a Bloomfield Township, according to Wills.

Left turns are allowed on Long Lake and Maple but are not being encouraged, particularly at rush hours, because of the dangers involved from long lines of cars backing up, Wills said.

Among the 20-25 new signs to be installed will be several just north of Square Lake on Telegraph advising motorists that the right turn exit to Square Lake is barricaded.

A number of near-accidents have occurred when motorists slow down to turn and discover the exit is blocked.

TRouble SPOT — The Michigan State Highway Department will place new signs on southbound Telegraph advising motorists that Square Lake Road is closed for construction and that the Telegraph exit is barricaded. The ramp has been the scene of a number of near-accidents caused by motorists not realizing until too late that it is closed.

No Major Withdrawal From Europe—Rusk

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk has ruled out any major withdrawal of U.S. troops from Germany. He said European allies have been assured "our forces will remain there as long as they are needed and wanted."

Rusk also told a news conference Friday he hopes members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization can reach firm decisions soon on plans for removing NATO's military headquarters and bases from France. He said ways to improve East-West relations will be discussed extensively when he and other allied foreign ministers gather in Brussels June 3 for a NATO Council meeting.

ALLIED MOVE
His comments came as an allied move was reported under way in Europe to respond to Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei

A. Gromyko's call for a Pan-European security conference. Denmark plans to broach the idea at the Brussels meeting. Qualified diplomats in London said the United States and various other allied countries reacted cautiously but not adversely when notified of the Danish intention.

Any conference on European security would center on the continued division of Germany

36 years after the start of World War II. West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard spoke of this division Friday when he said one of the great tasks of the Atlantic alliance is to begin a "real dialogue" with the Communist world.

It is possible to ignore the displeasure of Germans over the division of their country," Erhard said. "It is not possible to ignore the confrontation of the world powers in central Europe which is bound up with this division."

THINNING OUT
Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield has proposed thinning out U.S. forces in Europe, and an Associated Press poll of 75 senators shows 44 favored some reduction in the 225,000-man U.S. force in Western Europe under NATO. Six U.S. Army divisions are in West Germany. Rusk said the NATO military situation and possible threats against Western Europe would be reviewed in the Brussels conference, but declared of American forces in Germany: "We have indicated that our forces will remain there as long as they are needed and wanted. And we have also indicated to the NATO Council that we do not anticipate withdrawing major units from NATO."

Wash. whose National Security subcommittee has been holding hearings on NATO and the troop commitment issue, said he supports Rusk's view. "Hopefully in time, there can be some reduction of American ground forces, but certainly this is not the time to discuss the possibility," Jackson said. "To reduce America's commitment to a token unit could bring NATO to the point of disintegration."

Castro Orders Pentagon Repudiates Story of Red Troops in Cambodia

U.S. base Monday and exchanged fire with American guards.

Rusk told a news conference yesterday the United States had protested the incident and demanded that such actions stop.

A Defense Department spokesman said as far as is known no one was injured in the exchange of gunfire.

Castro said the Pentagon version "does not contain the slightest element of truth" and likened it to lies which he said "always precede the aggression of Yankee imperialists."

'GANG OF REACTIONARIES'
He denounced the "chiefs of Pentagon" as "a gang of reactionaries, bandits, criminals without scruples and cowards."

"Maybe by such imbeciles and false declarations they are trying to create psychological conditions to unleash an aggression against our country," he said.

Cuba will never "abandon custody of our territory, which is virtually what Rusk is demanding," Castro said.

'SHOULD'N'T BOTHER'
He said the United States should not even bother to send a diplomatic note on such allegations because it would not be accepted.

"We have often said we do not want a war. But we are not ostriches in believing that imperialism cannot be stopped by sentimental exhortations to reason, right and peace," Castro said.

The prime minister also reiterated Cuban claims that U.S. forces at Guantanamo had shot to death a Cuban sentry last Saturday night while he was on guard on Cuban soil.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Pentagon has overruled one of its own generals, discounting his first-hand estimate of a possible 10,000 North Vietnamese regulars missing in Cambodia for raids into South Viet Nam.

With an assist from the State Department, Defense Department officials flatly denied the assertion yesterday by Maj. Gen. Stanley R. (Swede) Larsen that up to six regiments might be in Cambodia.

Larsen said he based his view on intelligence gleaned from prisoners and other sources.

Five hours after Larsen gave Pentagon newsmen his view, a Defense Department spokesman said there were only "unconfirmed reports" of North Vietnamese activity in Cambodia.

In the interim, Secretary of State Dean Rusk told a news conference he had no such information on North Vietnamese troop strength in Cambodia.

AT SAME TIME
But at the same time Rusk urged strengthening of the International Control Commission to prevent Cambodia from becoming a base for Communist operations in South Viet Nam.

The Pentagon correction of Larsen's estimate apparently reflected American feelings that U.S. relations with North Vietnam were already difficult enough.

Relations have been strained since an incident earlier this month when American troops fired across the Cambodian-Vietnamese border in answer to what officials believed was Communist gunfire.

Larsen later acknowledged that he stood "corrected" because the Defense Department had more information than he had. He said he had not been dressed down for his remarks which included:

• His belief that from four to six North Vietnamese regiments were missing in Cambodia, identifying two of them as the 33rd and 66th North Vietnamese regiments.

• His assessment that present American forces could handle "anything they throw at us" since the Cambodian troop force was more likely to be used for raids rather than a sustained attack.

NOTHING REPORTED
While Larsen indicated the estimates of North Vietnamese troops in Cambodia were "possible," the Pentagon statement said:

"Intelligence officials carry enemy forces as 'confirmed,' 'probable,' and 'possible.' There is today no North Vietnamese regiment carried in Cambodia in any of these three categories."

A portion of the difference between the Pentagon's view and Larsen's statement could be explained by the semantics of the intelligence reporting system.

However, during the time Larsen spoke to newsmen at the Pentagon a Defense Department public information officer did nothing to stop the general from giving his estimates.

BACKING AWAY
It was not until the State Department had talked to the Pentagon that the statement backing away from Larsen's view was issued.

"On several occasions during the past few months, reports have been received from the field indicating that North Vietnamese regiments were stationed in Cambodia. Investigation of these reports, however, has not substantiated them."

"It appears that units of the North Vietnamese army which are fighting in the central highlands of South Viet Nam may occasionally pass across the ill-defined border that lies between Cambodia and South Viet Nam in that region."

"The occasional reports of North Vietnamese regiments permanently stationed in Cambodia apparently can be traced to movements of North Vietnamese units fighting in South Viet Nam."

Allies Launch Coastal Assault
Anti-Cong Operation Fails to Flush Out Foe

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A combined force of 1,500 American Marines and South Vietnamese troops launched an amphibious and helicopter assault against Viet Cong forces in the northern coastal city of Quang Ngai, the U.S. command announced today.

A spokesman said the joint force had met little resistance in the coastal sweep, a three-day operation that ended north of Quang Ngai and 235 miles northeast of Saigon.

The U.S. command at first announced the operation was an all-Marine show but later corrected this to say that it was a mixed three-battalion force of Marines and South Vietnamese troops.

The continuing assault was launched Wednesday, and reports indicated allied troops initially had failed to flush out many Viet Cong. They reported killing 15 of the enemy and capturing 20 suspects in the first four days.

SUSPECTED CONCENTRATION
Also in Quang Ngai Province, not far from the Marine assault, American B52 bombers struck today at two suspected Viet Cong troop concentrations. The targets were 30 miles northwest of Quang Ngai city.

In other war developments: —A reinforced Viet Cong platoon attacked a unit of the U.S. 1st Cavalry at two suspected Viet Cong troop concentrations. The targets were 30 miles northwest of Quang Ngai city.

—Other units of the cavalry division uncovered a Viet Cong camp Friday containing 42 recruits, 17,000 rounds of ammunition, 18,000 pounds of salt, 1,200 pounds of rice and a large quantity of medical supplies.

—The Pentagon's view and Larsen's statement could be explained by the semantics of the intelligence reporting system.

However, during the time Larsen spoke to newsmen at the Pentagon a Defense Department public information officer did nothing to stop the general from giving his estimates.

State Income on Car Taxes Skids Sharply

LANSING (UPI) — Michigan sales tax revenues from sales of motor vehicles skidded by $1.7 million during the first four months of 1966 and dropped by another $235,000 the first two weeks in May, Secretary of State James M. Hare said yesterday.

Although Hare said he was "reluctant" to state that he was forecasting a decline in sales tax revenues, the figures were the first to show the impact on Michigan's economy of auto sales declines since the first of the year and production cutbacks announced early this month by the Big Three auto companies.

Hare said the May decline in sales tax revenues from auto sales represented a 9 per cent drop from a year ago, from $4.3 million to $4.1 million.

Revenues for the first four months of 1966 were down from $30.8 million to $29.2 million, with the biggest drop coming last month.

In April, he said, revenues dropped by $1.4 million from $22 million to $20.6 million.

LOSS PREDICTED
Two weeks ago, House Speaker Joseph W. Kowalewski, D-Detroit, predicted the anticipated loss in revenues from decreased auto sales would not force a cut-back in the pending billion-dollar state general fund budget as the total loss in revenues probably would not top $2 million for the year.

Hopes to End Sea Strike Sink

British Union Leader
Warns of Long Fight

LONDON (UPI) — Hopes for an early end to Britain's crippling maritime strike faded today with a warning by the head of the striking seamen's union that the 12-day-old walkout might last six more weeks "unless someone is prepared to do something."

The warning was issued last night by Chairman William Horgan of the striking National Union of Seamen (NUS) as hundreds of weekend vacationers en route the continent were caught up in the mounting confusion created by Britain's first seamen's strike in 55 years.

Addressing a rally of striking seamen, Horgan said the strike could end in one of three ways, and might go on for six weeks. "It will be a long drawn-out battle and it won't end when the government inquiry is over."

The union chief referred to a special government court of inquiry ordered Thursday to make a preliminary report within three weeks on the issues that led to the strike against the world's largest merchant marine fleet.

Horgan indicated that unless the government court backed his demands for a 40-hour workweek plus overtime pay for work over 40 hours, the 62,500-member body would continue its walkout.

He warned that if the inquiry found recommended a settlement along the government's 3.5 per cent wage guidelines, "there will be more trouble and I think the committee of inquiry will have been a waste of time."

Noted Father Coughlin Quits

ROYAL OAK, Mich. (AP) — Millions once heard his aggressive voice, long known as "Father Coughlin," has quit the "National Union of Workers," "international bankers," Communists and President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

But Friday the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin was the picture of a quiet parish priest as he chatted with reporters about his retirement — 24 hours after saying he had no plans to retire.

Had he made the decision to retire from the pastorate of his church, the Shrine of the Little Flower.

"It was my decision in the sense that I would like to have a little time to enjoy with little children and the good things in life," he replied.

Earlier in the day the Most Rev. John F. DuBois, Roman Catholic archbishop of Detroit, announced that Father Coughlin had asked to be relieved of his parish duties because of "impaired health."

Mystery Cloaks Death of Nevada Deputy Sheriff

BATTLE MOUNTAIN, Nev. (AP) — Deputy Sheriff Fred Nelsen was a nice-looking, well-liked young man who had done a good job in his three weeks as an officer.

Only his name wasn't Fred Nelsen. It was Michael Leroy Williams.

Lander County Sheriff Don Maestretti says he has run into blank walls trying to find out more than the name since Tuesday, when the deputy died in a traffic accident.

"There's nothing; not even so much as a postcard," Maestretti said.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation notified Maestretti Friday that Nelsen's fingerprints belonged to a man named Michael Leroy Williams. The body lies unclaimed in a Winnemucca mortuary.

Nelsen had been around Battle Mountain six to eight months, mostly working as a cook. Maestretti said he did not check references when Nelsen applied for the deputy's job.

"We desperately needed help," he said.

Battle Mountain, a town of 2,000 in northern Nevada, is enjoying a copper mining boom and is jammed with newcomers.

Nelsen was on a routine run Tuesday when his patrol car went off the highway and overturned. Maestretti began to wonder when he found a Social Security card on the body that had another name. Nothing in Nelsen's motel room gave a clue to his identity.

Nelsen, or Williams, was 32, about 6-foot-1, weighed about 175 pounds, had brown hair and was balding. Maestretti has no photos of him.

Harry Burdick, 40, of 190 Otawa reported to Pontiac police that a tape recorder, stereo receiver and turntable, estimated total value $377, were stolen from his home early today.

Talk first with a reputable paint dealer and tell him of your needs. He will be able to offer concrete suggestions—helpful when planning with contractor.

Deal with a locally known contractor. A reputable painter will specify in writing exactly what he will do and what paint he will use.

Be at home when your painting is done, and check to see that it concurs with your contract.
