

U.S. Forces Open Dominican Supply Lane

BACK AMONG DEM LEADERS — Neil Staebler flashed this winning smile in Detroit yesterday as former Gov. G. Mennen Williams, one of his top supporters, looks on after Staebler moved back into the Democratic hierarchy yesterday. Staebler defeated four other candidates for the seat on the Democratic National Committee vacated by former Gov. John B. Swainson when he was elected to the Wayne County Circuit Court last month.

Staebler Back at Top After Winning Post

DETROIT (AP) — Former Congressman-at-large Neil Staebler is back in the top echelons of the state Democratic party after five months of absence.

The 59-year-old onetime party campaign strategist was restored to the post of Democratic national committeeman by the State Central Committee yesterday.

Staebler, decisively beaten by Gov. George Romney in the 1964 gubernatorial race, won out in a contest that posed a challenge to a resumption of his leadership.

But he won in a walk, getting 54 1/2 votes on the first and only ballot.

Stuart Hertzberg of Detroit, Democratic state finance chairman, finished second in a field of four, polling 1 1/2 votes.

"I'm back where I think the most important work in politics gets accomplished," Staebler said.

LED PARTY

As state chairman from 1950-61 under former Govs. G. Mennen Williams and John B. Swainson, Staebler led the party through some of its brightest years.

He resigned his post as national committeeman to campaign for governor last year. He was congressman-at-large from 1962-64.

The election yesterday filled the post vacated by Swainson when he was elected to the Wayne County Circuit Court last month.

Staebler said he was supported in his bid by Williams, U.S. Sen. Patrick McNamara and Phillip A. Hart and the 12 Democrats in Michigan's congressional delegation.

Staebler said the contest did not indicate a split in party ranks.

"Much is made of factions in our party but it is more a matter of personality differences in ideas and styles of action."

"Our differences are infinitesimal compared with those in the Republican party," he said.

His election did not encourage him to make another try for public office, he said.

His term will run until the Democratic National Convention in 1968.

Selma March Cost $510,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — It cost the Defense Department $510,000 to protect the Selma-to-Montgomery civil rights marchers, the Pentagon said today.

This raised to nearly $13 million the cost of using federal troops and federalized National Guardsmen in five major civil rights crises dating back to Little Rock in 1957.

The Pentagon said the $510,000 figure covered pay and allowances for 4,860 Alabama National Guardsmen called into federal duty, plus transportation and other expenses in connection with the measures taken to protect the voting rights march in late March.

The figure did not take into account the pay and allowances for about 1,000 regular Army military policemen who also were used.

The Army has taken the position that these men would be drawing such pay and allowances regardless of what duties they were performing.

Also excluded were the expenses involved in use of federal marshals and other resources of the Justice Department.

GUARD FEDERALIZED
The Alabama National Guard was federalized from March 20 to March 28.

In response to inquiries, the Defense Department also listed the costs of past Defense Department involvement in civil rights crises.

In September 1957, President Dwight D. Eisenhower called up 10,500 Arkansas Air and Army Guardsmen in a clash with Gov. Orval Faubus over admitting Negro pupils to Central High School in Little Rock. Federal troops were used.

The operation, extending from September 1957 to May 1958, cost $4,898,000.

In October 1962, the late President John F. Kennedy called out about 8,000 Mississippi Guardsmen during the riot marked integration of the University of Mississippi. Here, too, sizable regular federal forces were used.

The Pentagon said this federal military operation, which lasted until June 1963, cost $4,364,000.

In June 1963, Kennedy ordered 17,000 Alabama Army and Air National Guardsmen to the state capital.

Court Rules Cuba Travel Ban Is Legal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled today the secretary of state has the constitutional power to bar American citizens from traveling to Cuba.

Chief Justice Earl Warren delivered the 6-3 decision. There were three separate dissents.

Said Warren for the majority: "The questions for decision are whether the secretary of state is statutorily authorized to refuse to validate the passports of U.S. citizens for travel to Cuba, and, if he is, whether the exercise of that authority is constitutionally permissible."

"We answer both questions in the affirmative."

The court ruled on an appeal by Louis Zemel, a Middlefield, Conn., ski-resort operator. He wanted to go to Cuba, he said, to become a better informed citizen.

REFUSED PERMISSION

The State Department refused permission for the trip under a travel ban imposed in January 1961. Zemel sued, but a special U.S. District court in New Haven ruled against him in a 2-1 vote.

U.S. Ties Cut by Cambodia

Break Still Permits Consular Relations

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States was formally notified by the Cambodian Foreign Ministry today that diplomatic relations have been broken.

State Department officials said notes were delivered to U.S. Charge d'Affaires Ali Berenson in Phnom Penh.

The Cambodian break, which still permits consular relations between the two countries, may have no effect on the proposed nine-power conference on Cambodia which Prince Norodom Sihanouk has urged since mid-March.

However, Sihanouk who wants the meeting to guarantee his country's neutrality, has recently raised objections to South Viet Nam and the United States attending the conference.

He has also stipulated that the conference not be used as a side-door approach to a peace conference on Viet Nam, a possibility of much U.S. interest.

NOT IMPOSSIBLE

U.S. officials said it would be strange and unusual but not impossible for the United States and Cambodia to sit at the conference table after the break in diplomatic relations.

The United States does not recognize Communist China, but this did not prevent meetings on the Korean War ceasefire, the 1962 Geneva conference on Laos, as well as the 1954 conference on Indochina.

It was not known here precisely what would impel Sihanouk to break diplomatic relations at this particular time.

He has been incensed by an article in an American news magazine—Newsweek, April 5—which alleged the Queen of Cambodia was involved in corruption, including financial interests in a number of border towns.

Sharp Quake Kills 43 in El Salvador

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — A sharp earthquake killed 43 persons and injured about 300 in this Central American capital early today.

The earthquake, at 4 a.m., destroyed many dwellings and damaged at least 4,000 government officials' said.

The quake hit the neighboring towns of San Marcos and Santa Tomas, southeast of here, where the quake apparently centered.

The government ordered the two towns evacuated as further shocks were felt later in the day. One strong tremor shook the region at 9:02 a.m. and another at noon.

AIRPORT DAMAGED

The San Salvador Airport was damaged and flights were canceled.

U.S. Ambassador Raul Castro told the Tucson (Ariz.) Daily Citizen by telephone that he understood 100 people were dead as the quake leveled low-income neighborhoods of the capital city.

Dominican Revolt Area Man Watched Strife

By L. GARY THORNE

"Your first thought is to pick it up and save it in case you need it," said Dennis E. Garrels of 7648 Sweetbriar, West Bloomfield Township.

The "it" was a 45-caliber automatic that 22-year-old Garrels discovered under a sofa in the Hotel Embajador in strife-torn Santo Domingo.

Garrels ducked behind a sofa when rebel soldiers charged through the hotel in their search for guns and political enemies.

Since three soldiers were nearby, Garrels decided against arming himself even though he and 17 other University of Michigan jazz band members were caught in the midst of a civil war in the Dominican Republic.

The local man asked U.S. Navy man whether he should pick up the pistol and was told to let it lie.

REBEL REVOLT

Witness to the rebel revolt against the government, the U.S. M. bandmen returned last night from a 15-country concert tour of Central and South America.

The students, many belonging left behind, were evacuated from Santo Domingo along with 1,200 other Americans and Latin Americans after five days in the middle of the civil war.

"Things were getting pretty frantic. The shots panicked everybody," said Garrels.

The morning of the evacuation, those who were to pull out were gathered on the hotel lawn when rebel troops began their search of the hotel.

SHOTS FLARED

"I had gone back in when the shots broke out," he said. "I ducked behind a sofa. That's where I found the gun."

Continued Resistance Is Indicated Despite Cease-Fire Accord

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — U.S. forces opened a supply corridor through Santo Domingo early today in a linkup operation amounting to an encirclement of rebel forces in the heart of this beleaguered capital.

One U.S. Marine was killed and two wounded by sniper action not related to the linkup. This brings to a total of five the official count of U.S. military men dead, plus 28 wounded, in four days of action involving U.S. forces.

A spokesman for the 82nd Airborne Division's paratroopers could not be contacted for information on any possible Army casualties.

Intense rifle fire in the vicinity of the U.S. Embassy at noon indicated continuing resistance by rebel snipers despite a cease-fire agreement arranged Friday.

Members of an Organization of American States (OAS) peace mission went into the heart of the city this morning to begin negotiations with rebels in an effort to end the civil war.

MOVING EAST

Spokesmen said the linkup operation started at midnight, with units of the 82nd pushing west from Duarte Bridge to join the 1st and 3rd battalions of the 6th Marine Division moving east from their positions in the west central part of town.

The paratrooper-Marine linkup was about six blocks northeast of the U.S. Embassy, where rebel sniper fire has been the most intense in recent days.

The narrow supply corridor stretches about 2 1/2 miles from the Duarte Bridge to the western part of the city. This brought it roughly a half mile from the heart of Santo Domingo's business district, where rebel forces are entrenched in their effort to restore power to ex-President Juan D. Bosch.

The corridor-opening operation was undertaken, an American official said, to facilitate the movement of food and medical supplies across the city to the (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

Romney Reluctant Tax Relief Bill OK'd

LANSING (AP) — Gov. George Romney signed the Democratic-backed senior citizens property tax relief bill "with reluctance" today.

The governor said the program — estimated to cost between $13.5 million and $15.5 million — "is far from being the best program the legislature could have adopted to provide relief for our senior citizens."

"However, I am also convinced that a real need exists for some kind of relief in this area."

In view of the obvious legislative indifference and refusal to even consider the recommendations of the Pelham Study Commission, the choice confronting the people of Michigan, and especially those 65 years of age and older, is apparently one of this program or nothing at this time.

He said he would submit recommended improvements in the program to the next session of the legislature.

MEET COLLEGE PRESIDENT — About 300 Oakland County residents greet the president of Oakland Community College and his wife, Dr. and Mrs. John E. WSU Prof Succumbs

DETROIT (AP)—Dr. Thomas Cull, 59, chairman of the Greek and Latin departments at Wayne State University, died Saturday. He was a member of several scholarly organizations.

Otherwise, they will have to wait six months before calling for another vote, or else revise the amount of the proposition.

At least 2,500 voters will have to sign petitions for placing the proposal on the June 14 ballot.

A meeting will be held at the

junior high school at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday to kick off a campaign for the petitions.

ATTENDANCE URGED — School officials are inviting representatives of clubs, groups, lodges and other organizations in the district to attend the meeting.

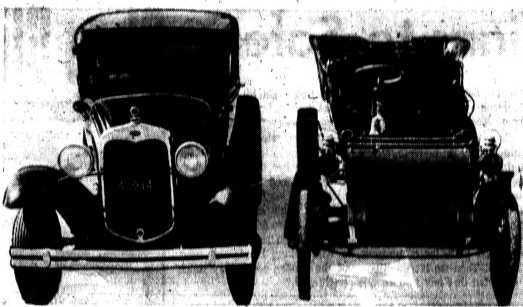

If the response favors a petition drive, the organizations will be asked to help with a "blitz" campaign.

Less than six per cent, or 44 voters, of the district's electorate made the difference in the April 12 vote.

The bond issue is to provide funds for additions at the junior and senior high schools plus a new elementary school near the corner of Campground and 29 Mile roads.

APRIL PROPOSAL — The April 12 proposal would have raised school taxes by 3.29 mills.

Passage of the proposal then would have made it possible for the new facilities to be ready in late 1966.

FROM OUT OF THE PAST — These vintage Fords, a 1930 coupe and 1903 tonneau owned by Robert Beattie Jr., 5869 Kingsfisher, Waterford Township, will be on display Saturday along with several other antique cars at the "Horse and Horsepower" show at Orionville.

Featuring numerous equestrian events, the show will begin at 7 p.m. in Brandon High School Stadium. Proceeds will be used for the senior class trip and the new public library.

Rochester to Get Mott Foundation Grant for Schools

ROCHESTER — School officials of the Rochester School District have been notified that the district will receive a grant of about $8,000 from the Mott Foundation.

The grant, to be matched by the district, is to help finance a pilot community school project. Rochester is one of three Oakland County districts slated to participate in the pilot studies.

The community school concept, supported heavily in Flint by the Mott Foundation, is to make school facilities available to the entire community, rather than only to schoolchildren.

Notice of the grant came shortly before today's election on a $1.1-million bond issue that could result in an auditorium and swimming pool to be shared by the schools and the community.

The program is a project of the Mott Center for Community Affairs at Oakland University.

Residential Building in Oakland Tops in 3-County Detroit Area

Oakland County continues to set the pace in residential construction in the three-county Detroit area, according to the quarterly report of the Detroit Metropolitan Area Regional Planning Commission.

Reporting on the number of dwelling unit permits issued during the first three months of the year, the commission lists a net total of 1,867 for Oakland County, 1,623 for Macomb County and 763 for Wayne County.

Gross totals less demolitions are used to figure net totals. Wayne county had the highest gross total, 2,064, while Oakland listed 1,942 and Macomb had 1,665.

Oakland County had the largest percentage of increase over the first quarter of 1964 with a net gain of 9.7 per cent.

Macomb was runner-up with an increase of 7.4 per cent, while Wayne showed a net loss of 18.5 compared to the same period last year.

Wayne was tops in the number of multi-family dwelling unit permits issued in the first quar-

To Take Milk Marketing Tour

Holly Township 4-H'er — Among State Group

Lester Lawrence of 2134 Addis, Holly Township, will be among nearly 70 of the state's top 4-H Club d22, project members participating in the annual 4-H milk marketing tour of Detroit this week.

The tour Friday and Saturday will be sponsored by the Michigan Milk Producers Association (MMPA) in conjunction with the Cooperative Extension Service.

Lawrence is a member of the Northwest Oakland 4-H Club.

Purpose of the annual tour is to provide 4-H Club dairy members with information on the complex milk marketing business, according to Jack Worthington, Oakland County 4-H Club extension agent.

Delegates on the tour will visit the MMPA headquarters and a milk plant. After discussions on modern milk marketing techniques, they will be tested on the knowledge they have gained.

They also will form a number of groups representing the boards of directors of milk marketing cooperatives, elect officers and consider a particular program. Their solutions will be reported to the entire delegation.

The participants will compete for the opportunity to become one of the seven 4-H dairy members to represent Michigan at next December's National 4-H Dairy Conference in Chicago.

Scientists Say Filters Helpful

Cancer Study Shows Smoke-Tar Cutback

RUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—A two-year scientific study has shown that filters in cigarettes may be helpful in preventing cancer by cutting down the amount of smoke-tar intake, three scientists reported.

The scientists at Roswell Park Memorial Institute, New York cancer-research and treatment center, also said:

—Stopping exposure to smoke may decrease the chances of developing cancer.

—The cancer-producing potency of cigarettes depended on the type of cigarette smoked.

STUDY RESULTS

The study results were published in the journal of the National Cancer Institute. The study was conducted by Drs. Fred G. Boes, George E. Moore and Paul C. Clark.

The tobacco industry contends there is no scientific proof of a connection between smoking and lung cancer.

Boes said the study was to determine whether smoke from any brand of commercial cigarette was more or less hazardous to a smoker's health than others. Six brands of American-made cigarettes and one English brand were tested. All seven brands were smoked in one of the institute's automatic smoking machines.

100 MICE

Each of 100 mice received tars equivalent to 8.3 cigarettes a day for 60 weeks.

In the nonfilter group, 62 per cent developed skin tumors and 26 per cent developed skin cancers. Of those receiving tars from filtered cigarettes, 31 per cent showed skin tumors and 7.5 per cent developed skin cancer.

Two hundred mice which did not receive any tars were used as a control group, and none developed any type of skin tumors.

In a second experiment, the scientists applied cigarette smoke tars to two groups of 100 mice for 26 weeks. About 7 per cent had skin tumors at the end of that time.

One group did not receive any more tars after 26 weeks; another group continued to get the 8.3 cigarettes a day for 60 weeks.

26-WEEK TEST

Of those in the 26-week category, 18 had skin tumors, and 10 had skin cancer. In the 60-week group, 62 mice had tumors and 25 had skin cancers.

In a third experiment, they found tars from British-made cigarettes produced about twice as many tumors as those in the American brands.

British cigarettes differed from American in that they consisted of nearly 100 per cent flue-cured tobacco, whereas American cigarettes were about one-half flue-cured and one-half air-cured.

English cigarettes also were packed more tightly, had less additives and had paper less porous.

India, Pakistan Troops Stop Shooting

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—An unofficial cease-fire prevailed in the Rann of Kutch today, but India and Pakistan had more than 100,000 troops stretched along their frontiers.

No formal truce has been announced. It appeared, however, that both sides were content to let the guns remain silent until monsoon rains flood the barren desert a couple of weeks from now, making further fighting impossible.

Troop concentrations were reported along other frontiers perilously close to the large population centers of Calcutta and Lahore. There was fear that some minor incident would touch off a major clash.

NEAR FRONTIER

Calcutta, with 7 million inhabitants the largest city on the subcontinent, is less than 50 miles from the East Pakistan frontier. Lahore, with a population of nearly 900,000 Pakistanis, is less than 30 miles from the frontier between West Pakistan and India.

India and Pakistan have been hostile neighbors since gaining their independence from Britain 8 years ago.

Leaders of both countries fired off warnings and counter-warnings during the weekend while British and American diplomats tried to create an atmosphere for negotiations.

A top Pakistani Foreign Office official, asked in Rawalpindi about prospects for a formal truce, said: "Terms for this are being negotiated in a preliminary way."

Pakistan has proposed a simultaneous withdrawal of troops from the Kutch. India reportedly has agreed only to replace its troops with armed border police.

U.S. presidential envoy Henry Cabot Lodge, in New Delhi to explain U.S. policy in Viet Nam, expressed Washington's "grave concern" about the fighting. American military officers toured Indian and Pakistani lines in the area Sunday to determine whether U.S. military aid equipment had been used in the fighting there.

The Indian government claimed Pakistan used American tanks to attack Indian positions. Pakistan denied the charge and claimed the Indians used American ammunition.

Congress Due for Busy Week

WASHINGTON (AP) — Money bills totaling $28.4 billion occupy the House this week while the Senate continues its debate on the administration's voting rights bill.

There will be major side attractions in both branches of Congress, with the House Judiciary Committee pressing for a final vote on its own voting rights bill and the Senate Finance Committee holding hearings on the House-passed medical-health care measure.

Senate leaders hope to reach some crucial decisions during the week on the voting rights measure; House leaders want to clear their chamber's docket so it can consider the companion bill next week.

The House today considers eight comparatively noncontroversial measures, which range from financing community health services to establishing the Agate Fossil Beds National Monument in Nebraska.

A $7.9-billion measure financing the Labor Department and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare are on Tuesday's House program along with two smaller money measures.

They will be followed on Wednesday by a $15.3-billion bill authorizing a Defense Department program of weapon procurement, research and development.

The balance of the House docket includes a $5.2-billion bill spelling out the scope of later appropriations for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration and a $409-million health research facilities measure.

North Dakota Voters Take Aim on Laws, Officials

(EDITOR'S NOTE — A flexible approach to lawmaking in North Dakota. A historic occasion at an old Arizona battle ground. A matter of dam-leaks in Kentucky and a birthday boy in Ohio are among glimpses from the U.S. scene this week.)

BISMARCK, N.D. — Voters on the wind-swept prairies are developing a habit of erasing new statutes enacted by the legislature before the ink is dry.

It's not only laws. Citizens also are taking aim at state officials.

North Dakota voters have the constitutional power to petition for elections to recall officials from office, enact their own laws and repeal laws they don't approve. They believe in using that power.

Two years ago, North Dakotans referred a series of new tax laws to popular vote and defeated them by whopping margins.

A similar campaign is under way again on revenue statutes enacted by this year's legislature.

Many state officials say the legislature will have to return for a special session in June to pass a temporary sales tax because of a threatened referendum election this summer.

Lawmakers may have to assemble again this fall if their tax laws are defeated.

The North Dakota Legislature also reappointed itself this year under a federal court order. Some residents don't like that one either and are moving to place a substitute plan on the ballot.

THREATENED

Democratic Gov. William L. Guy, elected only last year to his third term, is being threatened with a recall election by a group of conservatives. Chances of success are slim, but North Dakotans did elect a governor and two other state officials from office in 1921.

Said one harried legislator: "I believe in the democratic process, but this is ridiculous."

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) —

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, which can hold back mighty rivers, plans a few leaks in one of its dams to get some food back on the shelf.

In this case, it is a limestone shelf at the falls of the Ohio River in Louisville. The food is plankton, algae and snails. Migrating birds used to stop off for a snack, much to the delight of area bird watchers.

When the leakproof McAlpine Dam was completed last summer, the shell dried up and marine life disappeared. This year the birds found some place else to rest up and forage.

Leonard C. Brecher, Louisville businessman and bird watcher, met with the engineers recently and said a small water flow over the shell would bring back the food. He suggested placing small pipes over the top of the dam to allow a trickle, enough to keep the shell wet as leaks in the old dam did.

YOUNG, Ariz. (AP) — It's been quiet in this isolated mountain community in eastern Arizona since the end of the Pleasant Valley War in the 1890's, one of the West's more bitter feuds. But things are beginning to stir again and come Halloween this area of some 200 residents will really be lit up — with electricity, that is.

For that's when residents — mostly cattle ranchers and summer visitors escaping the desert heat — will be able to give up their candles, kerosene lamps or gas-powered generators and plug in electricity.

Work is starting on a 21,000-volt power line from atop the Mogollon Rim down through 13 miles of heavy timber to the town.

DEVELOPMENT

Electricity is expected to enhance the area's attraction as a vacation spot and help spur development of a nearby iron ore deposit.

The Pleasant Valley War stemmed from a feud between the Grahams, who were cattlemen, and the Tewksburys, who raised sheep. Before it was over, at least 12 men died in bushwhackings and one pioneer ranching family was wiped out.

MOUNT VERNON, Ohio (AP) — Ann Kahrl got a birthday bon — and was delighted.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Kahrl, thought her brother, Bob, was joking when he told the family he had brought Ann a bon constrictor for her 13th birthday.

But when she opened the box, with aunts and uncles and other relatives gathered, there was a boa — 4½ feet long.

Bob, a Princeton University student, bought the snake at a pet shop and carried it home on spring vacation — holding its box in his lap during the airplane trip.

Boas are not poisonous, but are noted for their constrictive power which they use in the wilds to crush animals for food. Ann feeds her boa mice or frogs.

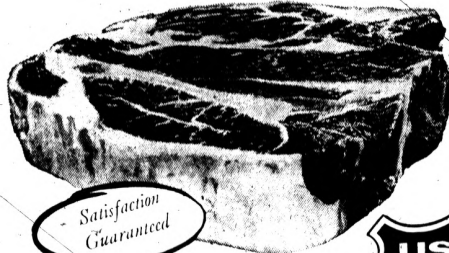

"She keeps her pet coiled contentedly about her neck when she goes strolling. This has caused at least one woman shopper in a grocery store to scream in alarm."

But Ann, a seventh grader, thinks it's fine. "I love animals," she said.

The First World War

How America Saw the War in 1915: 24

Written By PHILIP VAN DOREN STERN for Newspaper Enterprise Association

Illustrated By John Lane

The people of the United States, who wanted to remain neutral, were brought nearer to the European conflict in the spring of 1915.

In February Germany declared British waters to be a war zone and on May 7, within sight of the Irish coast, sank the Lusitania with a loss of 124 American lives.

After that, relations with Germany grew steadily worse. Most Americans outspokenly favored the Allied cause. But they still wanted to stay out of the war.

When 1915 began, the American economy was depressed as a result of the shock of the declaration of war in Europe in August 1914. Arms shipments had not yet started, and so far only wheat had advanced in price.

Then England began to make heavy purchases, and the mines and factories of the United States were soon busy with war orders.

NEW ERA

By mid-July a new era of prosperity was under way. On September 25, an Anglo-French loan gave those countries more credit to buy more goods.

Very little could be sold to Germany, because there was no way of shipping it there while the ever-vigilant British fleet patrolled the entrances to the North Sea.

The scholarly American president, 59-year-old Woodrow Wilson, favored the Allies, but he was determined to keep the United States neutral.

Sometimes this was difficult, but he always tried to take the sober, rational course in time of crisis.

Before the war was out, however, he moved toward a policy of military preparedness.

Youths Driven From Beaches

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) —

Thousands of youths reveling in an unofficial splash day in this island city were driven from two beaches yesterday by officers armed with clubs, shotguns, rifles and tear gas.

Lawmen from the Galveston police, the sheriff's office and the Texas Rangers cleared the East and Stewart beach areas in less than an hour, ending an unofficial celebration that began Friday when boys and girls from nine states started streaming into this Gulf of Mexico resort center.

No injuries were reported during the clearing operation, but 33 persons were treated and released at Galveston hospitals during the three-day period.

Galveston Police Chief W. J. Barnes ordered the beaches cleared when several girls complained they had been robbed and stripped of their bathing suits on East Beach.

The young crowd, which included many college students, hooted at officers as they left in their cars.

Church Hymn Is Interrupted by Brief Blaze

LEWISTON, Idaho (AP) —

The congregation of the Lewiston Orchards Methodist Church was in the midst of the third verse of the opening hymn at their 11 o'clock Sunday service when the pastor interrupted the singing.

"The church is on fire. Let's all leave very carefully," he announced.

The congregation filed out, and looked for the fire. The blaze was located in a bird's nest atop a large, 30-foot cross built into the front of the church.

A fire engine from a station half a block away doused the conflagration. The congregation went back to resume the hymn.

America's distaste for the war that was decimating Europe took a remarkable turn in December 1915, when Henry Ford embarked on his "Peace Ship" venture.

A newspaper story, reporting that 20,000 men had been slain in battle the day before without even bringing about a change in position, suddenly brought home to him how utterly senseless the unceasing slaughter was.

In 1915 the famous Model T, which was bringing in millions of dollars of profit, had been on the market for only six years, but it had already made Ford rich enough to indulge in expensive gestures.

He chartered a small ocean liner to take an oddly assorted group of would-be peace-makers to Europe. And somehow the reckless phrase, "We'll get the boys out of the trenches before Christmas" got around when Christmas was only a few weeks away.

CRACKPOTS

What had begun as a well-intentioned effort quickly degenerated into farce because all kinds of crackpots, attracted to the scheme, drew unfavorable newspaper comment.

The ship sailed on Dec. 4 and arrived at Christiania, Norway, on Dec. 19, where the sad comedy suddenly came to an abrupt end five days later when the disillusioned millionaire abandoned the project and returned home.

Christmas passed, and the soldiers were still in the trenches. Over their huddled forms, exploding shells kept sending down the lethal iron rain that had been exterminating European youth for more than a year. And there was no end in sight.

Undersheriff Suspends Son

DETROIT (UPI) — A Wayne County sheriff's deputy was suspended by his father Saturday after being charged with a shakedown of the owners of a Redford Township party store.

John P. Bommarito, 24, assigned to the sheriff's racket squad, stood mute at his arraignment before Canton Township Justice of the Peace Ralph Foote.

He was released on $2,000 personal bond for examination May 14.

Bommarito is the son of Wayne County Undersheriff James Bommarito and it was his father who suspended him from the department.

Detectives said the alleged shakedown was against the owners of the E and G Superette Store in Redford Township.

SIX TICKETS

They were alleged to have sold liquor to minors last March.

Bommarito allegedly demanded $200 not to turn them into the State Liquor Control Commission.

But he allegedly agreed to accept $100 if the store owners also purchased six $10 tickets to a party for Sheriff Peter I. Buback, June 6.

Soutar, Harnisch Win Eastern Pin Doubles

BLOOMFIELD, Conn. (AP) — Tommy Harnisch of Tonawanda, N.Y., and Dave Soutar of Detroit captured the 1965 Eastern U.S. Men's Doubles Bowling Championship Sunday night with a 24-game total of 10,181.

Second place went to a pair of Connecticut bowlers, Bob Snell of Stamford and Jack Burr of Trumbull. They had 10,101.

Mike Limongello of North Babylon, N.Y., and Ralph Engan of Yonkers, N.Y., were third with 10,134.

Central Chile Jolted by Strong Earthquake

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI) — A strong earthquake jolted w.l.d.e areas of central Chile last night. First reports said there were apparently no casualties. The tremor struck in the same general area as a major earthquake on March 28 which took a heavy toll of life and property.

Ford Repeats Blast at Viet Policy Critics

DETROIT (AP) Rep. Gerald R. Ford, R-Mich., supporter of President Johnson's policies in Viet Nam, warned critics Sunday that a "misallocation of funds" could lead to serious consequences for all mankind.

"The House minority leader, visiting his home state, told a news conference that 'minorities' of college students and teachers oppose U.S. support of South Viet Nam. He said actions of this minority could 'contribute' to a misallocation of funds," Ford said in a speech last week.

denounced such critics. Sunday, referring to the Dominican Republic crisis, Ford backed President Johnson again.

ANOTHER CASTRO?

"We are now reaping the unfortunate harvest of the Bay of Pigs (in Cuba)," he said. "The United States cannot afford to have another Castro Cuba in the Caribbean."

Ford, here for an appearance before the Michigan State Dental Association, shared the news conference with Dr. Edward R. Annis, immediate past president of the American Medical Association.

Both Ford and Dr. Annis attacked the administration's Medicare bill and Ford charged Congress with being a "rubber stamp" and a "mere adjunct of the White House."

Ford said the Senate likely would follow House approval of Medicare and "rubber stamp" this bill as it has rubber stamped just about everything else that has come from the White House.

Dr. Annis repeated a charge that a number of congressmen opposed Medicare privately but said they had been threatened with political reprisal if they voted against the bill.

"This is a sorry kind of representative government," Dr. Annis said.

Ford predicted that if Medicare becomes law many people will be "sorely disappointed" over what he called "minimal benefits" at a high cost. He called the Republican alternative proposal "far preferable."

CITES LACK

Dr. Annis said the administration's bill has been successful so far because of support from "labor bosses" and a lack of public understanding.

Before the state dental group's annual meeting, Ford criticized the U.S. general foreign policy.

He said Soviet Russia and other Communist nations have made gains in trade and diplomatic concessions under "so-called peaceful coexistence" while America has been offered little in return.

READY FOR CONG. — A U.S. Marine is swathed in machine gun cartridges as he patrols the jungles near a suspected Viet Cong village on the perimeter of Da Nang air base in South Viet Nam.

MIGs Not Bothering U.S. Planes in Viet

WITH U.S. 7th FLEET (AP) — Raiding American warplanes and Communist jets are frequently within five minutes of each other in the skies over North Viet Nam.

However, since their surprise success in downing two American planes a few weeks ago, the Communist fliers have shown no sign that they were ready to engage in a sky battle with the superior U.S. interceptors.

Before raiding North Vietnamese targets, American pilots get briefings on the presence of MIG jets in Communist skies. These briefings are based on airborne electronic spotting, which has been greatly tightened since the MIGs staged their one-shot attack.

The Communists evidently have grouped their MIGs around Hanoi and daily fly missions over the city and the port of Haiphong.

COVER FLIGHTS

These cover flights are frequently in the air at the same time U.S. raids are taking place. Although most U.S. raids have been fairly close to the 17th Parallel between north and South Viet Nam, they are often farther north.

At jet speeds, the flying time between the opposing airman often narrows down to a mere 5 or 10 minutes.

American pilots tend to take the presence of MIG pilots in the skies as a matter of course. "They've got to get in their flying time the same as we do," said one combat veteran.

U.S. RAIDS

By Washington's orders, American raids so far have spared the Hanoi-Haiphong area. In effect, this has created a sort of privileged sanctuary in the sky above these areas. The MIGs are up there frequently.

American officers will not give intelligence estimates concerning the activity of the small North Vietnamese air force or predict American strikes at it.

However combat fliers from the aircraft carriers make it no secret that they would like to tangle with the MIGs again. Apart from making sweeps around Hanoi, the Communist pilots evidently are reluctant to provoke such an action.

Our Nation's Elderly—1

Hard Facts About Senior Citizens Prove Depressing

(EDITOR'S NOTE: America's population is growing by leaps and bounds and, at the same time, life expectancies are increasing. This increase in "senior citizens" poses many problems. UP1 national reporter Harry Ferguson discusses some of them in this dispatch, first of three on the subject.)

By HARRY FERGUSON
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Every day 5,000 Americans turn age 65. It is safe to say that millions of old people are living longer and enjoying it less.

Not all of them, of course. Many of them adjust smoothly to their new way of life and earn that there is considerable validity in the slogan that the latter years of their lives can be the golden ones.

But the hard facts are depressing. There are 3 million elderly families trying to live on less than $3,000 a year. There are nearly 6 million elderly persons struggling along on less than $1,800 a year. That kind of income definitely puts them in the category that the federal government calls poverty.

There is increased concern by the federal government, including Congress, about old people. It would be nice to say that Congress is acting out of humanitarian instincts, but it wouldn't be true.

Congress is concerned because there are about 18 million Americans past 65 and almost all of them are entitled to vote.

INVITING DEFEAT

Any senator or representative who views the plight of the aged with indifference is inviting retirement to private life, and all of them know it.

In the long history of the United States, the federal government's concern about old people is a fairly recent development.

It has occurred, for instance, in the adult lifetime of President Johnson and he mentioned that fact in accepting the annual report of his council on aging—a special group set up to study the problem.

"When I first came to Washington, we were doing nothing. Social Security was not even talked about. Old age, as I understood, was not prevalent and it took the combined efforts of President Roosevelt and Huey Long and a good many others to dramatize the situation where we could really do something for the aged."

"Up to that time most of our elections had been run on the basis of whether you were wet or dry, prohibitionist or anti-prohibitionist, Klan or anti-Klan, or whether you were for the local bridge or against the local bridge."

NEVER HEARD

"I never heard of Social Security until I was 21 years old. All I heard was whether you were wet or dry, for the courthouse group or against them."

The reason President Johnson did not hear anything about old people when he first came to Washington was that in the cynical world of politics there were not enough of them to make a noise loud enough to be heard in the halls of Congress. In this century there has been startling increase in the number of persons past 65. Like this:

In 1900 there were 3.1 million. In 1940, 9 million. In 1960, 16.6 million. In 1965, 18 million. The projection for 1980 is 24.5 million, for 2000, 32.3 million.

Old people not only have increased in great numbers, but they have become organized and vocal. Politicians are facing up to the fact that you had better worry about the old folks or else.

WITH INFANT

For much of this century, medical science concerned it self, not with the aged, but with the infant and the adolescent. The results were gratifying.

In 1900 the death rate from the communicable diseases of childhood—such things as measles, scarlet fever, whooping cough and diphtheria—was 65.2 per thousand. Today, those diseases almost have been conquered and the death rate is negligible.

Then the doctors turned their attention to ailments of the adults and the aged, and again the results were good. The average life expectancy of Americans shot upward in a steep curve. In 1900 it was around 45 years. Today it is around 70.

On Aug. 14, 1935, President Roosevelt signed the Social Security law and said it was "a cornerstone in a structure that is being built but is by no means complete." His words were prophetic.

NOT SOLVED

Social Security has helped the aged, but it has not solved their problems.

Over the years Congress has passed at least eight Amendments to the Social Security Act, liberalizing and improving the benefits. It currently has under consideration a bill for Medicare under Social Security.

But the federal action has not kept pace with the problem, even though most of the states also provide some form of old age assistance.

It is as dangerous to generalize about old people as it is about teen-agers, Democrats, Baptists or chorus girls. Many of them are well-adjusted and happy. But many of them also are ill, discouraged, hopeless and helpless.

To them the ticking of the clock day after day grows louder until it seems to be a hell tolling their doom.

That is why President Johnson has chosen this month of May to try to rally the nation to the problems of the aged.

He knows millions of them need more money, but he is equally interested in bestowing upon them the priceless ingredients of optimism and hope.

(Tomorrow: The deadly threat of old age boredom.)

WOMEN'S SECTION

Let Your Affection Show

Pride Can Be Too Costly

By ARIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: I am tired of reading articles on how women should "treat" men. The women are told to diet, get new hairdos, wear feminine clothes, get interested in sports, always smell fresh and sweet, and flatter a man's ego.

Baloney! We women have pride, too, you know. I am a lot more attractive in many ways than most of my married friends, and I have a lot of love to give.

But here I sit — starving for affection. Men are the dumbest animals in the world.

PROUD IN LOUISVILLE
DEAR PROUD: The only way to get love is to give it, and pride has nothing to do with who makes the first move.

The dumbest animal in the world is the one who has a bale of hay in front of him, but starves to death because he's too proud to eat it.

DEAR ABBY: I had better prepare you for a problem you never had before. Our 19-year-old daughter is getting married next month and we are giving her a church wedding with all the trimmings.

I hope you won't think we are terrible, but my husband and I have never been married legally. We have lived together common law, but no one knows this.

I know I will feel guilty in that church when my daughter is being married if my husband and I don't get married before she does.

My husband says I should forget it as this state recognizes common law marriage and, besides, it is too much red tape. I'd like your opinion.

NOT MARRIED
DEAR NOT: It will be worth the "red tape" which, in reality, is "mending" tape.

Talk to your clergyman about a quiet ceremony for you and your husband.

And don't worry about shocking him. He's heard everything.

DEAR ABBY: I recently flew from Florida to New York just to see "Hello, Dolly." I had purchased my tickets six months in advance.

The play was everything I had anticipated, but a man sitting behind me knew the entire score and he sang along with every number. It was maddening.

The next evening I paid $5 to see "My Fair Lady." I had never spent that much on a movie in my life. Would you believe it, Abby, again a man sitting behind me sang all the numbers with the cast.

That this happened two nights in a row was really too much. Won't you please say something in your column to silence such songbirds?

MARION

DEAR MARION: With pleasure. Now will everyone who knows the score please refrain from voicing it?

Hate to write letters? Send one dollar to Abby, care of The Pontiac Press, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Put an End to Old Joke

The optimistic head of the largest driving school in England hopes to put an end to the myth about women drivers by making them driving instructors.

According to The Insider's Newsletter, Denise McCann, chairman of the British School of Motoring, plans to hire 15 female instructors because a survey she conducted shows that many women and some men prefer to be taught by a woman. "The old music-hall joke about women drivers is dead. I am now going to bury it," says Miss McCann. "About half of our pupils today are women and the logical development is to use women to teach them."

Parents of the couple wed before Rev. Galen E. Hershey, are the Lester K. Carlsons of Grayton Street and the Glen R. Hicksons of Tilmor Drive.

Attending the bride were Mrs. David Niles, Mary Ann Plitz, Mrs. Gary Haner, Mrs. Gary Thomas and Elaine Carlson.

Richard's attendants were MaMes Kokonas, Robert Bliss, Larry and Kenneth Carlson, Stan Slabinski and William Pugliese.

Catsup for Job

DEAR POLLY — This is hard to believe but it really works.

Four tomato catsup on the copper bottoms of pans and just watch the tarnish disappear. — M. F. C.

DEAR POLLY — I make my husband's swim shorts without the fuss or bother of fitting, lining or measuring elastic for the waist.

I use a boxer pattern and buy a man's knitted brief in the correct size. I pin the brief inside the shorts and with a few rows of stitching around the elastic waistband, boxer fashion, the shorts are finished.

This is a good pointer for mothers of boys to follow — MRS. R. E. B.

DEAR POLLY — For reading or homework, I use a wire potato baker to prop up my book on a table. It can also be used as a book rack. — SIDNEY

Another of those clever teenagers with an idea that I am going to adopt for holding the dictionary open on my desk. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — My Pointer relieves needless anxiety after an important item or paper has been mailed. I have found that by inserting a sheet of paper (the size of the mailing envelope) and the same size carbon paper inside the envelope before addressing (or making notations), a duplicate of the exact "From" and "To" addresses will be made.

I keep this with all pertinent papers until I receive an acknowledgment from the recipient.

If there is too long a delay I can check back to learn if I unsolicited the envelope. — HELEN

DEAR POLLY — I am sure many of the readers have dogs so they can appreciate this hint.

To keep dogs warm, line the floor of the doghouse with a thick layer of pine needles.

Besides the benefit of a cozy house, he will remain free of fleas. — MRS. D.K.F.

GIRLS — I am sure many of you dog owners will try this. It sounds logical on both counts but I don't have a dog and my friends who have dogs Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Henry H. Knox of Ogemaw Road and the Bea Cuellars of Bartlesville, Okla.

With Mrs. Melvin V. Sellers, her sister's honor matron, were bridesmaids Shirley Hodges, Mrs. Gary Katsvinsky, Wyandotte; Karen Bate-man, and Susan Knox, flower girl.

Gary Katsvinsky was best man at the ceremony performed by Rev. W. P. Schultz.

Ushers included Robert Vaughn, Detroit; Gary Gazette, Melvin Sellers and Ray Pranks of Southgate. Robert Knox was ring-bearer.

She Learns English Fast

NEW YORK (AP) — A Greek girl who didn't know a word of English three years ago has won the top prize for articles in the annual literary contest co-sponsored by the Columbia Press Assn. and the Writers Club of Columbia University.

Soteria Houbavli, 17, who came to this country in 1962 on a five-year student's visa, wrote the prize-winning entry, "The Journey," with a dictionary at her side.

"She has a hypersensitivity to the sounds of language," reports Principal Louis A. Schuler of the Jamaica (N. Y.) High School, where the young girl learned all the English she knows.

"I Can't Believe It!"
Recently a family shopping for an organ listened to the Conn and the wife exclaimed, "I can't believe that an electronic organ can sound so unbelievable!" Our salesman merely smiled politely because we're quite accustomed to hearing people gush for words to describe Conn Organ tone.
The secret of Conn's tone is no secret at all. In fact, we broadcast it at every opportunity because it's just one more of those announcements that spell Conn leadership. Simple devices called couplers are commonly used in electronic organs to permit the playing of different pitch levels at the same time. But unless there's a separate tone generator for each part, as there is in the Conn, the resulting sound is more make-believe than, as our friend put it, believable.
Come in and make some of Conn's believable sounds yourself. Depress a single voice tab and then add voice upon voice... hear how every instrument retains its identity while blending perfectly into a soul-stirring ensemble. The one thing you'll find hard to believe is how so much wonderful music can cost so little — as low as $995.

Must Be Able to See Hurt in Others

BY MURIEL LAWRENCE
DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: I have a neighbor who's making trouble for me and my children with other mothers on our street.

They won't let their children come over and play with mine any more.
This woman has held a grudge against me ever since the day I took her little girl home and told her she was driving me crazy.

The child is very grabby with my little boy's toys and that day I couldn't stand the screaming because I had an infected tooth.

Nobody even speaks to me on the street...
Answer. Given an infected tooth and howling children, I think it was quite reasonable for you to lose your temper with one child too many.

The trouble is, you don't think so. If you did, you would be done with the fact that you lost it. And you would be free to consider the possibility that you hurt this neighbor by saying her child was inducing madness in you.

If you were done with worry over your lost temper, you would be able to experience a little worry over this woman's interpretation of it as rejection of her little girl.

Then, with genuine sympathy for her hurt feelings, you would telephone her and say, "The children and I miss Janie very much. It wasn't she who was driving me crazy that day I brought her home. It was my infected tooth."

The truth is, I think Janie is a fine child and wonder if you'd let her come over this afternoon to play with Bobby and his sister.

But we can't repair the hurts we do to other people so long as our concern is centered on our badness in giving the hurts.

This kind of selfishness is not the kind mother and father warned us against.

They made selfishness our unwillingness to let our brothers and sisters take our toys—and never said one word about the kind that loves to brood and brood over our sins until there isn't an inch of room left in our heads for the thought: "Why, I guess I hurt that neighbor by saying 'Your child is driving me crazy!'"

I must have wounded her by giving her the impression that I find Janie objectionable and don't want her around any more!"

I suggest you postpone approaching this neighbor until you're done with all this selfish interest in your own behavior.

She's angry at you and if there is lingering anger in you at yourself, you will start fighting her angry accusations instead of hearing the hurt behind them.

Mr. and Mrs. William S. Kreis of Beverly Hills announce the engagement of their daughter, Susan Eleanor to Richard Austin Patterson, son of the Richard M. Pattersons of Birmingham. She is a graduate student at Michigan State University where her fiance is a senior. Spring 1966 vows are planned.

Lone Survivor Has Nightmares of Crash

AMERICAN FALLS, Idaho (AP) — Billy Warford, 12, has nightmares about the worst automobile accident in Idaho's history.

Four Emmett residents and Billy's mother, father, three sisters and a brother, were killed. He is the only survivor.

The Warfords, Elmer, 52, his wife, Zona, 46, Claude, 22, Darlene, 20, Alice, 15, and Dorothy Fay, 9, of Elkins, Ark., were killed April 15 in a two-car crash near Massacre Rocks on the old Oregon Trail.

The spot, about 125 miles northwest of Salt Lake City on U.S. 30N, gets its name from a 1862 Indian ambush that killed fewer persons than the automobile accident.

BROKEN LEG

At Power County Hospital, where his broken leg was put in traction, Billy came out of deep shock and met the Rev. Peter Petersen, minister of the American Falls Assembly of God Church.

"He regained consciousness when they were prying the car door open," the minister said. "The first thing he saw was his little sister."

"I suppose my father and mother are gone," he asked me. "And I said, 'Yes, they're all gone.'"

The minister said the boy has had nightmares ever since.

BROKEN WATCHES

Billy has decided to keep his father's broken pocket watch, the Rev. Mr. Petersen said, and a wristwatch worn by his brother. Both stopped at exactly 12:35 p.m.

Billy spent Easter in the hospital. He received toys, Easter baskets, flowers and several letters, some with money.

The letters contained offers of adoption. One was addressed to "Little Boy From Arkansas Who Was in Accident, American Falls, Idaho."

Billy's older brother Clyde, 26, of East Wenatchee, Wash., has arranged for a light airplane to carry Billy to his home. Billy will live with Clyde, his wife, son and daughter.

MOORE OPTIMISTIC

"He's more optimistic now," says the Rev. Mr. Petersen. "He spent the last few days drawing cowboys and Yogi Berra."

"He wants to fix up his bicycle," says Clyde.

Soviet Official Is Injured in Fall

NEW YORK (AP) — A Russian United Nations official remained in serious condition today from injuries suffered when he fell three floors from a window of his Manhattan apartment.

Yuri Ragulin, 40, was taken to Lenox Hill Hospital Saturday night with internal injuries and multiple fractures. Ragulin is a Soviet legal officer attached to the Social Affairs Department of the U.N. secretariat.

A friend, Alexander Bessmertnykh, who lives in the same apartment house at 435 E. 77th St., said he went to Ragulin's seventh-floor apartment about 11:50 p.m. and that Ragulin was missing and a window was open.

Peering out the window, he told police, he saw Ragulin on the roof of the four-story Russian Baptist church next door.

Ragulin's wife, Diana, was at a movie, and their daughter, Maria, 5, was asleep in the apartment.

Dedication Is Surprise for Cardinal

Francis Cardinal Spellman dedicated an addition to a school for the blind yesterday in New York City, and the occasion turned into a surprise birthday celebration for the cardinal, who will be 76 tomorrow.

'Need U. N. Groups to Probe Religious Bias'

Supreme Court Justice Arthur J. Goldberg proposed in New York City last night the creation of a neutral, fact-finding United Nations commission to investigate religious discrimination throughout the world.

Goldberg addressed the inaugural dinner of the Jewish Center for the United Nations which is to be built on the site of a synagogue on East 51st Street in Manhattan.

In an announcement which came as a surprise to Goldberg, it was disclosed that the library in the new center will be named in his honor. The library is a gift of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Hassen of Washington.

Shriver Announces Change in Yardstick on Poverty

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The federal government's War on Poverty program is using a new yardstick to determine just which American families are really poor.

R. Sargent Shriver Jr., director of the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO), announced the change yesterday even as the U.S. Chamber of Commerce was challenging the government's old standard which says that any family earning less than $3,000 annually is poverty-stricken.

Shriver said the new standard would take into consideration the respective size of families and whether they live in urban or rural areas.

It is based on the Agriculture Department's "economy level food plan," which figures a basic cost of 23 cents per person per meal per day.

A family of four with an annual income under $3,310 and an individual with income under $1,540 now would be classed as poor. Previously, the figures were $3,000 and $1,500.

DIFFERENT LEVELS

For families of two, the poverty level would be $1,990, and for families of three, $2,440.

Shriver said the original $3,000 yardstick for all was set by the Council of Economic Advisers as a "rough rule for initial purposes and not intended for long-term planning of the antipoverty program."

He said the new definition takes into account food, rent, other costs and the size and geographical location of poor families.

The bit difference between the two standards, he said, is that the new method includes a larger number of children than the old — 15 million instead of 11 million.

He said it applied to 34.6 million persons in the United States, 70 per cent of them white.

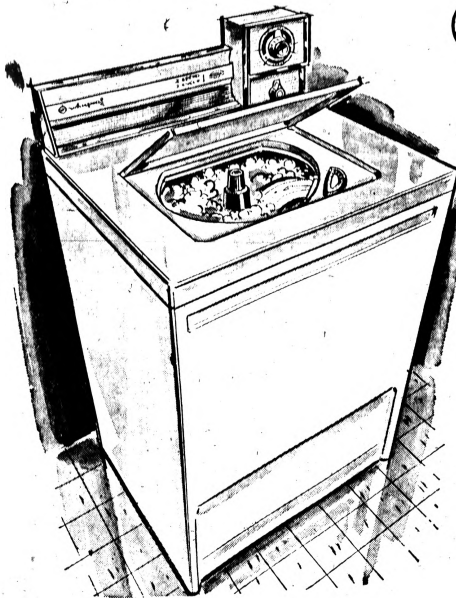

The Chamber of Commerce based its criticism of the old gauge on the fact that a small family living in a warm climate and growing most of its own food could live comfortably on $3,000 a year.

Politics in Germany, Europe Likely to Heat Up With Weather

BOON, Germany (AP) — Politics in Germany and Europe will live up after the pause brought by the Easter and May Day holidays.

Foreign Minister Gerhard Schröder comes back to Bonn from vacation today and Chancellor Ludwig Erhard Tuesday. They may run into a storm over Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko's report that he and President Charles de Gaulle had agreed to keep out of German hands both nuclear weapons and the former German territories east of the Oder and Neisse rivers.

Erhard and Schröder's Christian Democratic party is lagging in public opinion polls, and Parliament is going into its last meetings before the Sept. 19 election. The Socialist party has high hopes that one of the top jobs in the next government will be taken over by its leader, Mayor Willy Brandt of West Berlin.

A final effort will be made this week to get a joint statement by the United States, Britain and France on German reunification. The West Germans wanted this for Wednesday, the 10th anniversary of the treaty that granted them sovereignty. De Gaulle has insisted on calling German unity a European problem. The United States, Britain and West Germany want nothing said to downgrade American responsibility.

At the end of the week there will be verbal fireworks when Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kossygin comes to East Berlin to celebrate the 20th anniversary of V-E Day. Another big celebration will take place in Moscow Sunday.

There could be more than verbal fireworks in the Middle East if West Germany and Israel announce that they are exchanging ambassadors, as they are reported about to do. Some Arab countries are bound to be upset May 15 in Vienna to West Germany. Should any go so far as to recognize the Communist government in East Germany, it would be a blow for Erhard.

Next week brings a major meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization Council in London, with Secretary of State Dean Rusk attending. Rusk and the foreign ministers of the Soviet Union, Britain and France are to meet May 15 in Vienna to celebrate the 10th anniversary of the Austrian state treaty. This is a big chance to talk about Viet Nam if they have anything to say to each other.

IMPORTANT ISSUE

The same week also brings an important issue before the foreign ministers of the Common Market. West Germany, France, Italy, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg. They will try to agree on a common line to negotiate with the United States and others on an international agreement for gain. The U.S. government considers this a vital part of the Kennedy Round of talks to lower international trade barriers.

There is some expectation that de Gaulle's France will take a stand that will make progress slow and troublesome.

Soon after the Big Four meeting in Vienna, British Prime Minister Harold Wilson will confer there with other leaders of the seven-nation European Free Trade Association. He will try to get them together on proposals for closer ties with the Common Market.

Again Heads State AFT

DETROIT (AP) — Henry Limne of Grosse Pointe Park was reelected president of the Michigan Federation of Teachers (AFL-CIO) Saturday. Tony Kaiser of Hamtramck and Erik Thorsens of Redford were named vice presidents.

News in Brief From Around the World

Flights Over Japan Sea Will Continue, U.S. Tells N. Korea

PANMUNJOM, Korea (AP)—Maj. Gen. William P. Yarborough told North Korea today that the United States will continue its patrol flights over the Japan Sea and will take appropriate measures to protect its aircraft.

Yarborough, senior U.N. member of the Joint Military Armistice Commission, made the statement at a commission meeting which discussed an atack Wednesday by two North Korean MIGs on a U.S. RB47 reconnaissance plane.

The American said "Russian and North Korean aircraft are also engaged in similar flights near Japan and South Korea but they have never been attacked by our side."

North Korean Maj. Gen. Park Chung Kook charged that the American plane had violated North Korean air space and said it had been shot down.

Yarborough said the plane had never been closer than 50 miles to Communist territory and called the attack "vicious and unwarranted." He ridiculed the Communist claim that it had been shot down.

The Defense Department said in Washington that the plane was damaged.

LONDON (AP)—Queen Elizabeth II's husband said he came very close to getting tight during his eight-week tour of Asia and Australia.

In a radio interview Sunday, Prince Philip told of attending a banquet in Borneo and being offered a harmless looking drink.

"It tasted very good," said the prince. "I had two tumblers of it. I could hardly walk afterward."

The spectacle gave his hosts "immense pleasure," he added.

A spokesman at the Malaysian government's office in London said the drink apparently was a local Borneo brew made from tapica roots.

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (AP)—American poet Allan Ginsberg was crowned "King of Majales" by Prague's younger set in a beatnik May Day weekend celebration that set this Communist capital on its heels.

The fled regime inaugurated a new "loose leash" policy after three previous years had brought violent May Day clashes between police and youth.

This year, police merely watched when thousands of youngsters threatened to storm the stage at a "big beat" festival in an entertainment park.

Chairs were thrown as some of the hands failed to please the largely mop-haired and high-heeled audience. The musicians retreated hastily.

ELDERLY BYSTANDERS

An elderly bystander shook his head in disbelief as one officer said "We have nothing to do with this."

The youths also crowned a pretty college girl "Miss Majales," but the biggest ovation went to Ginsberg, for years the idol of Prague's beat generation.

BERLIN (AP)—Three East German teenagers escaped to West-Berlin during the weekend, but a fourth man was shot in his bid for freedom.

West Berlin police said the youths tore through the barbed wire obstacles in northern Berlin late Saturday.

Lady Bird Makes a Sentimental Sunday Visit to Scenes From Her Texas Childhood

JEFFERSON, Tex. (AP) — Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson went back for a look at scenes of her own childhood this weekend after putting finishing touches to the restoration of the President's boyhood home.

Busy for months with the Johnson City restoration, the First Lady turned tourist to come here to see stately Southern homes restored to their splendor of a century ago.

"I wouldn't take a pretty for it," was her strict Southern comment on the sentimental Sunday afternoon visit, which included a ride through the streets in a horse-drawn surrey with a fringe on top.

Crowds of visitors and residents turned out to welcome her to her native East Texas.

STEAMBOAT STOP

Jefferson, population now 3,002, is 17 miles from Mrs. Johnson's birthplace in Karnack, Tex., and she came here to high school 40 years ago. In its heyday in the 1860s, the city was a booming steamboat stop. It is trying to recapture its past as a tourist attraction.

The grand old homes, with their great drawing rooms, sparkling chandeliers and collections of antique furnishings of French and Spanish in flavor, were on display for a three-day 15th annual vintage image sponsored by the Jessie Allen Wise Garden Club.

They all bore the Texas Historical Society's landmark day in the 1860s, the city was a placed on LBJ's home in Johnson City at May 13 ceremonies opening it as a central Texas hill country tourist attraction.

Mother of 2 Charged in Husband's Death
SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — The Federal Bureau of Investigation charged a 25-year-old mother of two, Mrs. Norma J. Greutz, with second degree murder Sunday in the death of her husband, an Air Force sergeant.

skirts, frock coats — costumes of the gay social life here a century ago — residents provided a colorful tableau in the streets and homes for the tourists.

Mother of 2 Charged in Husband's Death

Authorities said Technical Sgt. Gordon F. Hancock, 44, of Hancock, Mich., died about 4:45 Saturday afternoon shortly after he was stabbed in the back with a butcher knife in his Fairchild Air Force Base home.

"It's like a journey back to yesterday," Mrs. Johnson said as she viewed the sights and lunched under a "Tree of Heaven" in the lush garden of "Guardian Oak," a mansion built in 1859 and restored by its present owners, the Dan Lesters.

The first lady listened to tales of the past at the Excelsior Hotel, a Jefferson showplace dating back to the 1850s.

Mrs. Johnson stopped in to see the presidential suite named for Rutherford B. Hayes that rents for $25 a day and one named after her that costs $12. During the 260-mile trip, Mrs. Johnson drove by for a glimpse at her old high school, only to find it burned and a new one there.

She met the twin daughters of a boy I used to go to dances with.

And there was her old high school principal, George Branson, who announced Lady Bird "didn't make an error all year in her algebra" when she was in his class.

Is Another Dien Bien Phu in Making?

(EDITOR'S NOTE—The following dispatch is written by United Press International's foreign news analyst on special assignment in Viet Nam.)

By PHIL NEWSOM

DA NANG, Viet Nam (UPI)—Americans at this bustling air base scoff at the idea that this could be another Dien Bien Phu.

NEWSOM drove them from Indochina in 1954.

The massing of Communist Viet Cong forces close to Da Nang leads to speculation they may attempt similar tactics against the Americans.

From among the 9,000 Marines assigned to guard the base, I got the impression the Marines almost hope the Reds will try.

Brig. Gen. Frederick Karch, their commander, only remarks dryly that the Marines will do their job.

And the tough young men under Karch's command, each one a walking arsenal, daily are probing closer to the green hills marking the beginning of the mountainous jungle which gives the Viet Cong cover.

SHOOTING BACK

As they push their way through the shoulder-high elephant grass and into suspected Viet Cong villages, the Marines are being fired upon and they are shooting back.

The French lost some 16,000 of their best troops at Dien Bien Phu because they underestimated the enemy's ability to bring up heavy artillery through the jungled mountains.

The Marines intend to make no such mistake. Ultimately their defense perimeter will stretch beyond the 12,000 yards which is the approximate range of a 105mm cannon.

There is no evidence so far that the Reds are bringing in anything that heavy.

NO INTENTION

But as the young men push their perimeter farther and farther from the expensive hardware parked on Da Nang's airfield, Karch says he has no intention of sending them into the hills on a man-for-man basis against the guerrillas.

He disputes the theory that it takes a guerrilla to kill a guerrilla.

Guerrillas, he says, only can be defeated through conventional warfare.

They can have the hills, but if they want their prize they must come here to get it.

Except for the approaching anniversary and seeing Da Nang as a political prize, there is in fact little to compare between the French position of 1954 and the American one today.

Despite the presence of 32,000-plus Americans here, only the Marines are capable of fighting as a ground unit. It is technically a unit under South Vietnamese command.

Even the air strikes that are being flown by American pilots are authorized first by the South Vietnamese.

The French were fighting a French war.

For the communists, however, there are similarities.

Most of the Viet Cong successes have come through military surprise and political infiltration. No one here pretends to know their military intentions.

Politically, the most frequent line of speculation is that the Communists seek to wrest away control of perhaps as many as a dozen of South Viet Nam's northern provinces before commencing to go to the peace conference table.

With their line pushed some 200 miles closer to Saigon, they then could afford a peace which would permit them to nibble away at the remainder of the country at their leisure.

BACK UP THEORY

Communist tactics last February lend support to the theory.

Aided by flood damage, they successfully cut Highway Number One which is South Vietnam's only all-weather road running north and south along the China Sea coast.

They also cut Route 19, the east-west highway running from Qui Nhon on the coast to Pleiku, an American helicopter base in the central highlands.

Their success was only temporary, but in between lay the huge chunk of territory for which today they are believed making a determined bid.

FAMILIAR TERRITORY

It is territory familiar to the French.

Just above Pleiku lies the town of Kon Tum. Forces led by North Vietnamese Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap drove the French from Kon Tum and Pleiku became their last foothold in the central highlands.

The thunder of jet fighter-bombers taking off for attacks on North Vietnamese targets or landing ground support to in-country South Vietnamese forces drowns out the sound of hammer on nail at Da Nang's bulging air base.

It is unsafe to hazard a guess as to the value of the American equipment pouring into the base close to the sandy beaches of the China Sea. One figure bandied about is $2 billion.

STRAINING AT SEAMS

Whatever it is, the base is straining at the seams.

Tent cities have sprouted on barracks lawns. New structures are going up overnight.

And the single mess hall never was meant to handle the 15,000 Americans who fly, maintain and protect an awesome display of aerial fire power.

But the job is being done.

1,266 MISSIONS

In a cavernous hangar close to an F100 whose Communist bullet holes were being patched, squadron commander J. A. Minish of Yellowstone National Park pointed to a chart posted on a wall.

It showed 1,266 missions flown in 32 days.

In that same period more than a million pounds of bombs had been dropped upon the Viet Cong.

An F104 squadron swept in after island hopping from its base in California.

FIRST MISSION

In less than 24 hours, squadron commander Maj. W. W. Iwin of Wenatchee, Wash., was flying his first mission.

The job here is not only to fly missions against the Communists. Another part of it is the rescue of pilots whose planes have been shot down.

For his part of that job Maj. Ronald Ingraham of Bethesda, Md., wears the Silver Star.

Air Officials Fear Major Drinking Problem Among Private Pilots

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal aviation officials fear they may have a bigger drunken flying problem among private pilots than they ever suspected. The basis for this concern, a House Appropriations subcommittee was told, were the findings of some 50 autopsies conducted on crash victims.

"To our great surprise, there has come out of these autopsies a much more serious drunk flying problem than we understood there to be before," said

Najeeb E. Halaby, in testimony March 2 before he resigned as Federal Aviation Agency administrator. The testimony has just been made public.

Halaby stressed that he was talking about private pilots, not airline pilots.

AIRLINE PILOTS

"The problem on air carriers, as far as we can ascertain, does not exist. The airline pilots do not drink," he said.

For the past several years, he explained, there have been about 500 fatal crashes each year killing 900 to 950 persons in general aviation.

"We thought that the average pilot, with the amount of experience he had had and the respect he had for the elements, just would not drink before flying," said Halaby. "We now find that one-third of the sampling we have taken of these fatal accidents in the year 1963 were probably under the influence of alcohol."

What to do about it?

Halaby said: "The airplane does not know whether the driver of the airplane is drunk or sober. We cannot build into the airplane a sobering device or an overcontrol that will take over when the pilot is being a damned fool."

He said the agency was considering some tougher regulations. The FAA, he said, now has a rule against pilots flying under the influence of alcohol. But, he added, it is considering a rule to prohibit any pilot from going up within eight hours after consuming any alcohol.

He also discussed the hope that education would be of some help. He said a lot of people think that "you can have a couple of drinks without affecting your ability to fly."

"In fact," he added, "there is a legend in the flying world that one or two drinks might make you a better flier. Of course, that was cultivated in World War I, and it is absolutely not so."

LBJ Reports on Foreign Aid Progress

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson said today, "We travel a difficult road" in administering the foreign aid program. But he said, "I am persuaded that we are on the right road."

Submitting to Congress a 124-page report on aid activities in the 12 months ended last June 30, Johnson said the document "Demonstrates that our program of international assistance is fulfilling its promise to the world and to America."

The President said the program meets both humanitarian and national goals and asserted:

"Our own security rests on the security of others. Their good health is our good health. As they prosper, we prosper. Our concern must—and does—transcend national borders."

Economic aid commitments during the 12 months approached $2.3 billion.

"Slowly, but I believe steadily, all these efforts are leading nations to greater economic prosperity and social stability," the President said. "Countries such as Greece, Taiwan and Israel, long recipients of our economic support and encouragement, are emerging to a stage of progress where they no longer need our economic assistance."

Johnson said other nations, poised at the crossroads of political decisions, are watching.

"We must not—and we will not—falter in building this bridge to a more peaceful future," he said.

The President told Congress the AID agency, the Agency for International Development, "is successfully applying a hard test of where and how our limited resources will yield the greatest rewards."

He said this was being done by encouraging and insuring private investment, by concentrating on countries "able to follow the disciplined and arduous path to progress," and by emphasizing long-term development projects.

In the 12-month period, he said, more than 45 per cent of the aid program was in the form of development assistance, compared with 25 per cent three years ago.

New Way Found to Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, Texas — If you don't suffer from male pattern baldness, you can now stop your hair loss... and grow more hair.

For years "they said it couldn't be done." But now a firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment that is not only stopping hair loss... but is really growing hair!

They don't even ask you to take their word for it. If they believe that the treatment will help you, they invite you to try it for 32 days, at their risk, and see for yourself!

Naturally, they would not offer this no-risk trial unless the treatment worked. However, it is impossible to help everyone.

The great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness, and cannot be helped.

But, if you are not already sick bald, how can you be sure what is actually causing your hair loss? Even if baldness may seem to "run in your family," this is certainly no proof of the cause of YOUR hair loss.

Many conditions can cause hair loss. No matter which one is causing your hair loss, if you wait until you are sick bald and your hair roots are dead, you are beyond help. So, if you still have any hair on top of your head, and would like to stop your hair loss and grow more hair... now is the time to do something about it before it's too late.

Loesch Laboratory Consultants, Inc., will supply you with treatment for 32 days at their risk, if they believe the treatment will help you. Just send them the information listed below. All queries are answered confidentially, by mail and without obligation.

Asks Approval of Aid Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Public Works Committee was urged today by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., to approve a bill which would authorize creation of regional commissions for the development of depressed areas in the United States.

The bill which he cosponsored, Proxmire said, would lay the groundwork for developing economically depressed areas such as those in the upper Great Lakes states.

"This legislation will grant authority for the creation of planning and development commissions for regions which have been bypassed by the great national growth which has brought prosperity to much of the nation," Proxmire said in prepared testimony for the committee.

"Through these commissions, long range planning and development can be carried out by joint federal and state participation over multistate regions."

Many economically depressed areas, such as the 80 counties in the upper Great Lakes region in Wisconsin, Michigan and Minnesota; Proxmire said, have economic problems that are too complex and too widespread to be handled on a local or state level.

The bill would authorize regional commissions to set up programs to aid depressed areas, patterned along the lines of the recently passed Appalachian Aid Bill.

Gas Marketing Probe Begins

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Trade Commission (FTC) opens an investigation today into gasoline marketing, which it describes as "a matter of direct and immediate concern to every American who owns a car."

Representatives of the nation's major oil companies, independent producers, service station operators and the motor public were summoned to testify at the public hearings, expected to run at least two weeks.

Witnesses called for today's hearing include officials of the National Oil Jobbers Council, Michigan Petroleum Association, Tidewater Oil Co., Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association, Rock Island Refining Corp. and Sunland Refining Corp.

The hearings were to cover a wide range of subjects — price wars, gasoline grades, competition between brand and "unbranded" gasolines, and the "market structure and competitive behavior of the various segments and levels" of the industry.

The FTC, responsible for "preventing discriminatory and other monopolistic and anticompetitive practices," said its aim was to determine "the most effective and appropriate remedies" for the industry's problems.

MUCH INTEREST
The investigation has attracted a good deal of interest, according to the FTC, which said it received a large amount of mail, including many requests to testify at the hearings.

The mail included a complaint from a service station operator in Hollywood about a "misérable cutthroat" competitor down the street, a claim from a man in Silver Spring, Md., that a gasoline commercial on television was "an insult to a person's intelligence."

Ex-Secretary of State Interviewed on 86th Birthday

Byrnes Opposes $1 Billion Aid to Southeast Asia

(EDITOR'S NOTE — James F. Byrnes, who celebrated his 86th birthday Sunday, held many top positions in legislative, executive and judicial branches of the government. Now living in retirement in Columbia, S.C., Byrnes gives his views on today's top issues in the following interview with Jack Bell, chief of the Associated Press Senate staff.)

By JACK BELL

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — Former Secretary of State James F. Byrnes supports President Johnson's policy of air strikes against North Vietnam but opposes his proposal to provide $1 billion in aid to Southeast Asia.

A former member of the House and Senate, a former Supreme Court justice, an "assistant president" to Franklin D. Roosevelt, secretary of state under Harry S. Truman and a former governor of his own state, Byrnes marked his 86th birthday here Sunday. It was also his 59th wedding anniversary.

In an interview with the Associated Press he:

— Recalled some of his own difficulties in dealing with Russian leaders but counseled continued talks with them.

— Said the Supreme Court is invading the field of legislation, usurping the powers of Congress and changing the Constitution improperly.

'TERRIBLE' BILL

— Called Johnson's voting rights bill "terrible" and said the eventual ruling on it would show how far the court is willing to go "in attempting to dictate the policies of government."

— Here are some questions put to Byrnes and his answers on international issues:

Q Do you support Johnson's Vietnam policies?

A I heartily support his statements as to his willingness to discuss the cessation of hostilities and settlement of our con-troveries. I am sorry that he added his willingness to have the United States contribute a billion dollars to the rehabilitation of Southeast Asia.

JAMES F. BYRNES

AIR STRIKES

Q Do you support the air strikes against North Vietnam?

A—I enthusiastically support the air strikes. The only way we can hope to convince the war lords of North Vietnam is by a demonstration of our power. I do not believe, however, that you can buy the friendship of people.

That is true of individuals, and it is true of governments, which are an assortment of individuals. I do not believe that the money we gave Indonesia President Sukarno will accomplish any good.

I understand that Egyptian President Nasser told us we could take our money and go to hell. I dislike to have the well-intended efforts of the U.S. government depreciated by such little people in a big world.

Q You dealt extensively with Russians as secretary of state. What is your estimation of what the Russians are up to now?

SAME GOAL

A What is their immediate goal I do not know, but I always stop and think what has been their goal ever since the end of World War II. I have no doubt that it is the same goal. They want to dominate the world. They would prefer to do it by negotiations, but if that is not possible, they would do it by force. There has been no change announced as to the policy of the Politburo.

I remember a dinner given to the three foreign ministers: Bevin, Molotov and myself on Christmas Eve in 1945, at which dinner the Politburo were guests.

Those men determined the policies of the Soviet government and I know of no one who would suggest that there has been any modifications of the views of the Politburo. Mr. Stalin passed from the scene, so did Mr. Khrushchev, but the policy of the Soviet government remains the same.

COEXISTENCE

Q You don't believe that peaceful coexistence offers much hope?

A—I don't, unless and until there is a change in the Soviet policy. The U.S. should realize that the Soviets recognize only power and we have to have military power superior to that of the Soviet government.

Stalin did not like the ruling forces in China. He had no confidence in them. I recall that after the war, when Stalin was questioning how many troops we had in China, and I told him the exact number — some 40,000, and that we wanted them home as soon as possible.

He seemed quite amazed and asked where did we have stationed an army of a million? On the table between us I took matches and showed as accurately as I could where our troops were, according to the latest information from the Joint Chiefs of Staff. I finally convinced him.

SAME OPINION

He threw his head back and said, "I believe you Mr. Secretary, the Chinese were always the damndest liars in the world." I think he is right. I thought so then; I was right, and I think so now.

Q What are the chances, in your estimation, that the Chinese will intervene directly in the Viet Nam war?

A I must confess that I have no fixed opinion. It is uncertain always as to what the Chinese will do. Again, they are impressed only by the military power of the U.S. government. Negotiations with China are very much like negotiations with the Soviets. I found in dealing with them (the Russians) for almost two years, they are what the Orientals are supposed to be — traders.

WANDERING BOY, 4, IS FOUND UNHARMED
ENGADINE (AP) — Roger Pratzler, 4, who wandered away from home Sunday morning, was found unharmed some eight hours later about three miles from this Upper Peninsula village.

Police said the boy was apparently heading for Lake Michigan. He was discovered about one half mile from the shore.

MAINTAIN TALKS

Q Do you think talks with the Soviets should continue?

A—I don't, unless and until there is a change in the Soviet policy. The U.S. should realize that the Soviets recognize only power and we have to have military power superior to that of the Soviet government.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by a doctor's observations. Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (thinning) took place.

And most amazing of all — this improvement was maintained in cases where a doctor's observation were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®) — the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation II®. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation II Suppositories or Preparation II Ointment with special applicator. Preparation II is sold at all drug counters.

Arrests Made on Fowl Sales

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Federal and state agents at daybreak today began arresting or serving summonses on 77 persons in 11 states on charges of selling migratory game birds.

Interior Secretary Stuart I. Udall, who announced the crackdown, said that numerous deer, quail, and other types of resident game also were purchased.

He said other purchases included ducks, geese, doves, marsh hens or rails, and quail. Also involved were bunnies, a form of protected migratory songbird.

Udall said the states involved were Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Kentucky, Maryland, Mississippi, Missouri, Nebraska, New York, North Carolina, and Virginia.

Market hunting and selling of migratory game birds were outlawed in 1918 by the Migratory Bird Treaty with Britain and Canada. Violations were considered misdemeanors or minor offenses by the courts until 1960 when they were classified as felonies.

Udall said 245 counts of violating migratory bird regulations were levied against the persons arrested or summoned. He said the charges were based on evidence gathered over 2 1/2 years by federal agents of the Fish and Wildlife Service.

During the investigation, the agents made 41 water fowl purchases, involving from 2 to 110 birds.

Former Clare County agent Richard Schroeder and Kent County 411 agent Dennis Sellers arrived today on temporary basis as ordered by MSU to replace him.

The governor's office has been asked for a hearing in an effort to make public the reasons for dismissal of Sparks from the post he has held for 24 years.

A committee of Cass County residents also has been formed in defense of Sparks and supports his fight for reinstatement.

Rahman vs. Sukarno

TOKYO (UPI) — Malaysian Premier Tengku Abdul Rahman today offered to fight President Sukarno of Indonesia to settle their dispute.

Indonesia's confrontation against Malaysia is not a question of single combat between Sukarno and me," Rahman said in a speech to the Foreign Correspondents Club.

"If it were a question of single combat, I can take him on at any time, and I think I would win."

"If Sukarno wants to crush me, let me have a chance to crush him. I am a sportsman."

Rahman's comments brought laughter from his audience, which included several ambassadors from Europe and Asia.

Rahman is 62. Sukarno is 63.

'Bewildering, Frightening'

Movie World Is at Julie's Feet

By GENE HANDSAKER

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — How does it feel at 29 to have the movie world practically at your feet?

"Very nice," said Julie Andrews, "but slightly bewildering. And a little frightening."

Ban on Mexican Imported Labor to Be Reviewed

DETROIT (AP) — A Michigan advisory panel will be asked to assist the U.S. Department of Labor in deciding whether to relax the ban on imported Mexican labor, Secretary W. Willard Wirtz said Saturday.

Michigan's pickle industry, the nation's top pickle producer has complained about the ban. Wirtz said the panel also would have authority to make recommendations on the use of "Braceros," Mexican field workers, in cases of temporary labor shortages.

The secretary discussed the possible relaxation of the ban as principal speaker at the Democratic Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner.

Costa Rica has a high literacy rate. An estimated 75 per cent of persons over 10 years of age are considered literate, according to the State Department.

The temperature outside the sound stage was in the 80s. The lovely Londoner, in polka-dot slacks and white shirt, looked cool and distractingly beautiful.

Before her three pictures were released, she explained, "I had more freedom. I can't go anywhere now without being recognized."

GIVES FEELING

Success gives her the feeling that every new project must be better than the one before.

"Mary Poppins," her first picture, in which she played the high-flying, vocally magnificent governess, is the hottest film in Disney Studio history. Studio accountants gleefully predict a worldwide gross of $67 million.

Her critics hail Miss Andrews "The greatest musical talent show business has produced in 25 years." In little more than a year her price per picture has risen from $150,000 to $700,000. What next for the international star?

After the spectacularly beautiful "Sound of Music" and "The Americanization of Emily," she wants roles "as varied as possible."

ABOUT FACE

Her present about-face is as a missionary's wife of the early 1800s in an adaptation of James Michener's "Hawaii." Then comedy, "The Public Eye," in London next February, followed by biography, "The Gertrude Lawrence Story," in Hollywood the following June.

She shares a rented Beverly Hills home with daughter Emma, 2½, a housekeeper, a nurse and a toy white poodle. She and husband Tony Walton, a set and costume designer, run up "enormous" long-distance phone bills. His current film assignment is in London.

Miss Andrews said the "supposed antagonism" between her and producer Jack Warner "has been blown up beyond all proportion." He chose Audrey Hepburn for the film of "My Fair Lady," in which Miss Andrews had starred for 3½ years on the stage in New York and London.

"I certainly don't bear any malice," said Julie. "Who knows? He may have something to tell me to someday."

Vaudeville Showplace in Farewell Offering

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — They turned off the footlights for good Sunday night at the Palomar Theater, once one of the jewels of the vaudeville kingdom built by the late Alexander Pantages.

The theater, in recent years a movie house, will be torn down and replaced by a self-parking garage.

An estimated 150 Americans are kept alive by weekly or twice weekly treatments with artificial kidneys. The Kidney Foundation reports at least 3,600 persons die each year because they fail to receive the treatments.

Three Persons Die as Aircraft Collide

WESTERLO, N.Y. (AP) — An aerial photography flight by an industrialist, a justice of the peace and a state police investigator ended in death for the three Sunday when their two aircraft collided.

Killed were Dwight Hamay, 47, of Westerlo; William Furman, 37, Westerlo justice of the peace and Leonard Garamone, about 35, of Voorheesville, assigned to the state police Bureau of Criminal Identification.

State police said Furman, flying in Hamay's helicopter, had intended to take pictures of Garamone piloting his single-engine plane.

When Antony Armstrong-Jones was married to Princess Margaret of Great Britain, he became the first man of noble birth to marry into the British royal family since the reign of Edward IV in the 15th century.

Junior Editors Quiz on HELICOPTERS

QUESTION: How can helicopters go straight up and down and hover, as well as fly forward?

ANSWER: The cross-section of a helicopter's blades, shown at the top of picture, resemble those of an airplane's wing and both allow aircraft to fly for the same reason. Moving air takes longer to pass over the upper curved part, creating lesser air pressure above. The greater air pressure on the bottom exerts a lifting force.

Of course, a helicopter's blades revolve while an airplane's wing remains still.

The secret of why the copter can perform so many tricks in the air is that the angle or pitch of the blades can be changed—which has an effect similar to that of changing the angle of a paddle while paddling a canoe.

Blade angles are controlled by the pilot, who uses "the cyclic pitch stick" to guide the copter forward, backward and sideways, and the "collective pitch stick" to fly up and down.

When flying ahead, the pitch of blades changes as they beat around. In position (1) the pitch is flat; with (2) it is beginning to turn and by (3), has a sharp angle or pitch. In (4) the pitch is decreasing and in (1) it is flat again.

These different pitches are what the word "cyclic" means. In the other movements, all blades have the same "collective" pitch; the small drawings show how different movements are made.

FOR YOU TO DO: Use your imagination a bit — dream of a little one-man helicopter just big enough to fly by yourself when you're old enough to get a pilot's license. These little one-man jobs have been actually built; we may see them in the skies some day.

Boyle Finds Visit to Chinese Tailor a Must in South Viet Nam

By HAL BOYLE
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—This is a strange war indeed. It is the first war I've been in where a reporter has got his uniform costume made by a Chinese tailor. I don't believe even Richard Harding Davis, the most famous of war correspondents, went to that length. But out here patronizing a Chinese tailor isn't a luxury, it's a necessity. "GRAY MARKET" So far, the government doesn't officially issue combat clothing to reporters nor will it sell it to them. They sometimes can buy it, however, on what is euphemistically known as "the gray market."

The leader of the den of thieves to whom I was referred has his headquarters in what looks like an abandoned warehouse, just as do American gangs on television programs. When I explained what I wanted, the chief thief, who shall remain nameless—in fact he said he preferred it that way—entered me all the opium I wanted, but said he was all out of government uniforms. "This has been a very bad month for stealing," he explained. So I went to see Luong, the Chinese tailor, who is known as the fastest needle in the Far East. In 36 hours, he whipped together a bush jacket and trousers that made a fellow look like the white hunter on an African safari. "Luong, you made the pants too long," I objected.

"Not too long," he lied with a bland sallow smile. "After first monsoon rain, pants fit just right." COMBAT CAP My quest for a combat cap proved to be the best free entertainment of the day. Apparently no one with a size 7½ head had been in town for some time. Gunning crowds collected in every shop and broke into giggles as the proprietors fruitlessly perched Vietnamese jungle caps atop my dome. As last as they were put on they "fell" to the floor. Giving the hat search up as a bad job, I stomped off again to the gray market. This time I managed to buy a used pair of boots about two sizes too large and a weathered rucksack which some French Legionnaire must have dropped at the battle of Dien Bien Phu back in 1954. It was so heavy that merely carrying it back to my hotel made me break into a sweat. POST EXCHANGE My last port of call was the post exchange. No American ever goes off to a war zone without a farewell call at the PX for a box of chocolate candy bars, some boxes of hard candy, a pushbutton can of shaving lather and a bottle of insect repellent. The post exchange here is stocked with an assortment of goodies not particularly useful in jungle fighting. They include hi-sets, classical (phonograph records, expensive cameras, and several sets of golf clubs. Just looking at them made me

Selma Rights March Cost Defense Dept. $510,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — It cost the Defense Department $510,000 to protect the Selma-to-Montgomery civil rights marchers, the Pentagon said today.

This raised to nearly $13 million the cost of using federal troops and federalized National Guardsmen in five major civil rights crises dating back to Little Rock in 1957.

The Pentagon said the $510,000 figure covered pay and allowances for 4,860 Alabama National Guardsmen called into federal duty, plus transportation and other expenses in connection with the measures taken to protect the voting rights march in late March.

The figure did not take into account the pay and allowances for about 1,000 regular Army military policemen who also were used. The Army has taken

Tax Relief Bill Is Signed

LANSING (AP) — Gov. George Romney signed the Democratic-backed senior citizens property tax relief bill "with reluctance" today.

The governor said the program — estimated to cost between $13.5 million and $15.5 million — "is far from being the best program the legislature could have adopted to provide relief for our senior citizens."

In response to inquiries, the Defense Department also listed the costs of past Defense Department involvement in civil rights crises.

In September 1957, President Dwight D. Eisenhower called up 10,500 Arkansas Air and Army Guardsmen in a clash with Gov. Orval E. Faubus over admitting Negro pupils to Central High School in Little Rock. Federal troops were used.

The operation, extending from September 1957 to May 1958, cost $4,898,000.

MISSISSIPPI GUARD
In October 1962, the late President John F. Kennedy called out about 8,000 Mississippi Guardsmen during the riot-marked integration of the University of Mississippi. Here, too, sizable regular federal forces were used.

The Pentagon said this federal military operation, which lasted until June 1963, cost $4,261,000.

In June 1963, Kennedy ordered 17,000 Alabama Army and Air National Guardsmen to the state capital, Montgomery, to suppress a rebellion against the state government.

PRISONERS SEARCHED — American soldiers search prisoners in the center of Santo Domingo after heavy fighting in that sector of the strife-torn Dominican Republic capital. These troops are part of a crack airborne unit flown into the city.

BACK AMONG DEM LEADERS — Neil Staebler flashed this winning smile in Detroit yesterday as former Gov. G. Mennen Williams, one of his top supporters, looks on after Staebler moved back into the Democratic hierarchy yesterday. Staebler defeated four other candidates for the seat on the Democratic National Committee vacated by former Gov. John H. Swainson when he was elected to the Wayne County Circuit Court last month.

Staebler Back at Top After Winning Post

DETROIT (AP) — Former Congressman-at-large Neil Staebler is back in the top echelons of the state Democratic party after five months of absence.

The 59-year-old onetime party campaign strategist was restored to the post of Democratic national committeeman by the State Central Committee yesterday.

Staebler, decisively beaten by Gov. George Romney in the 1964 gubernatorial race, won out in a contest that posed a challenge to a resumption of his leadership.

But he won in a walk, getting 54½ votes on the first and only ballot.

Stuart Hertzberg of Detroit, Democratic state finance chairman, finished second in a field of four, polling 13½ votes.

"I'm back where I think the most important work in politics gets accomplished," Staebler said.

LED PARTY
As state chairman from 1959-61 under former Govs. G. Mennen Williams and John B. Swainson, Staebler led the party through some of its brightest years.

He resigned his post as national committeeman to campaign for governor last year. He was congressman at large from 1962-64.

The election yesterday filled the post vacated by Swainson when he was elected to the Wayne County Circuit Court last month.

Staebler said he was supported in his bid by Williams, U.S. Sen. Patrick McNamara and Phillip A. Hart and the 12 Democrats in Michigan's congressional delegation.

Staebler said the contest did not indicate a split in party ranks.

"Much is made of factions in our party but it is more a matter of personality differences in ideas and styles of action."

"Our differences are infinitesimal compared with those in the Republican party," he said.

His election did not encourage him to make another try for public office, he said.

His term will run until the Democratic National Convention in 1968.

Sitter Staggered by 3 Tight Tots

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The reaction was frantic yesterday when Michael Castellino and twins Carter and Karen Hartman, all 5, were found sprawled senseless in the Hartman backyard.

The baby sitter told police she had last seen them playing quietly. As the unconscious trio was sped to a hospital, detective work uncovered the culprit in the Hartman basement — a gaily colored fifth of vodka.

Police said the kids had consumed a pint among them. Their stomachs were pumped out.

Dominican Revolt Area Man Watched Strife

By L. GARY THORNE
"Your first thought is to pick it up and save it in case you need it," said Dennis E. Garrels of 7648 Sweetbriar, West Bloomfield Township.

The "it" was a 45-caliber automatic that 22-year-old Garrels discovered under a sofa in the Hotel Embajador in strife-torn Santo Domingo.

Garrels ducked behind a sofa when rebel soldiers charged through the hotel in their search for guns and political enemies.

Since three soldiers were nearby, Garrels decided against arming himself even though he and 17 other University of Michigan jazz band members were caught in the midst of a civil war in the Dominican Republic.

REBEL REVOLT
Witness to the rebel revolt against the government, the U. of M. handsman returned last night from a 15-country concert tour of Central and South America.

The students, many belonging left behind, were evacuated from Santo Domingo along with 1,200 other Americans and Latin students last Wednesday after five days in the middle of the civil war.

"Things were getting pretty frantic. The shots panicked

Delay U.N. Debate on Latin Action

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. — With the consent of the Soviet Union, the U.N. Security Council today delayed debate until this afternoon on the presence of U.S. military forces in the Dominican Republic.

Soviet Ambassador Nikolai T. Fedorenko agreed to the delay as the Russian council member after a weekend of maneuvering on a Soviet request for urgent discussion of the Dominican problem.

The morning's council meeting was originally called to hear further speakers on the political situation in Southern Rhodesia.

Fedorenko said he had no objection to continuation of the Southern Rhodesian debate and putting the Dominican issue over until an afternoon session at 2 p.m.

Soviet sources said Fedorenko was prepared to submit a resolution demanding action on Soviet charges of illegal U.S. intervention in the affairs of the Dominican Republic.

NO DETAILS — No details of the resolution were available, but it was expected to call for the withdrawal of U.S. forces, and possibly to condemn use of force by the United States.

U.S. Chief delegate Adlai E. Stevenson was expected to repeat the U.S. contention that it had sent in troops and Marines to rescue foreign residents from a civil war.

Heritage Day Head Is Pontiac Woman

Appointment of Mrs. Marion H. Bender, of 36 E. Iroquois as Heritage Day chairman for Michigan Week has been announced by Dale A. Winnie, Oakland County chairman of Michigan Week.

Heritage Day will be celebrated May 21. "It is the day in depth attention to the proud history and heritage of the state and of Pontiac," she said.

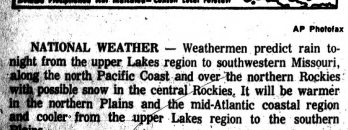

MRS. BENDER said. The 1965 Michigan Week (May 16-22) theme is "Michigan-Dynasty in World Progress" and all communities, schools, organizations, companies and individuals are being asked to carry out their part of the expression.

Wilson Urges Negotiated Viet Peace

LONDON (AP) — British Prime Minister Harold Wilson opened the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization's ministerial conference today with a call for "an honorably negotiated settlement" of the war in South Vietnam.

He appealed for the same sort of settlement of the explosive Indonesian-Malaysian dispute.

"Both situations constitute a serious threat to peace and both urgently need to be ended," the British leader said.

Wilson said the countries of Southeast Asia, once colonial but now independent, "should be left alone to follow their own path toward peace and freedom."

BRITISH RULE

"Independence means more than freedom from British rule or from the rule of any other former colonial power," said Wilson. "It means freedom from aggressive outside interference."

Britain is supporting the new Federation of Malaysia against Indonesia. Wilson pointed out that the British government has today more than any other non-Asian country.

He said if Malaysia and the Asian members of SEATO told Britain that they no longer needed her help, "nobody would be more pleased than the British government and the British people."

"We must work for negotiated settlements that will bring lasting peace to the area, to Viet Nam, no less than to Malaysia," said Wilson.

LONG TASK

"This is bound to be a long and difficult task, above all, because those who have threatened the peace, have so far shown no readiness to prefer the conference table to the battlefield."

"SEATO is not at present directly involved in either of these conflicts, but both are taking place in the treaty area and both are of vital concern to the organization, its members and the peace of the world."

The U.S. delegation, led by Undersecretary of State George Ball, intended to press for further allied assistance to prevent a Communist takeover in South Vietnam.

"We have no territorial ambition in South Viet Nam. We are not there for economic gain. We seek no military base," Ball told the council.

DELIBERATE AGGRESSION

"South Viet Nam is the victim of deliberate aggression — a Communist war of national liberation. The Communists have sought to present their attack as a civil war. But this is a hollow disguise."

Hall said the United States had provided assistance to South Viet Nam for one purpose only — "to help the South Vietnamese people resist aggression and maintain their independence."

He defended U.S. air attacks on North Viet Nam. The decision to make such air strikes, he told SEATO leaders, came after the North Vietnamese intensified their infiltration of men and equipment into the South.

"These strikes have been limited, carefully measured and controlled. They have been directed at impeding the movement of arms and trained men into South Viet Nam. They have been designed to bring home to the regime in Hanoi the risks ican forces were maintaining a strictly impartial attitude. He said they are safeguarding an international zone of refuge and in that sense they are in the "front line."

U.S. Marines held positions to the west of the rebel stronghold. They moved into the strongpoints from their original positions at the seaside Embajador Hotel and a neighboring polo field which has been used for evacuating refugees.

U.S. paratroopers are east of the rebels with a defense perimeter at San Isidro air base and defenses at the Duarte Bridge, the only means of reaching the air base from the capital.

everybody," said Garrels. The morning of the evacuation, those who were to pull out were gathered on the hotel lawn when rebel troops began their search of the hotel.

SHOTS FIRED

"I had gone back in when the shots broke out," he said. "I ducked behind a sofa. That's where I found the gun."

People out on the lawn took cover behind automobiles and instrument cases, according to Garrels.

Although they did not realize it at the time, the band members received the first inkling of the revolt Saturday, April 24, when a television program was canceled.

Hostilities broke out that day. Rebel forces took over the radio stations and began broadcasting.

RECEIVED WORD

"Americans and even the natives didn't take it seriously," said Garrels.

Bandmen received word Saturday they would not be able to leave the next day because a bridge on the way to the airport was blocked.

The Michigan youths were moved to another hotel on Sunday. This hotel — the Embajador — was on the outskirts of Santo Domingo and became the evacuation point for civilians.

Watching the search of their hotel while awaiting evacuation, Garrels said doubt began to form in the minds of Americans as evacuation was postponed four times in six hours.

SHIP LOADED

Originally the group was slated to pull out at 5 a.m., but it was nearly 5 p.m. before they were loaded on a U.S. ship.

"We heard hundreds of stories," said Garrels, "but I don't think any Americans were actually shot at."

Rebel soldiers armed civilians and the streets were full when truck began the evacuation, said Garrels.

U.S. ACTIONS

Then turning to criticism in the West of U.S. actions in Viet Nam, Hall said:

"I understand the good intentions of those people. All of us deplore violence. But I still find it curious that many who bewail the destruction of bridges and munitions in the North speak so little of the torture and intimidation and loss of human life suffered in the South by the victims of aggression."

"The central issue we face in South Viet Nam should, I think, be clear for all to see. It is whether a small state on the periphery of Communist power should be permitted to maintain its freedom. And that is an issue of vital importance to small states everywhere."

between the two American forces in a low-income residential section called Ciudad Nueva in the southeast section of Santo Domingo.

TRUJILLO REGIME

This area was the center of insurgent movements against the Rafael L. Trujillo regime and was a stronghold of extreme left-wing agitators.

The area of rebel operations reportedly covers about 15 blocks, a zone which constitutes the entire commercial section of the capital.

Among the most frequently mentioned known Dominican Communists said to be operating with the rebels are Felicio Despradelle, a leading figure in the 14th of June Movement, and Asdrubal Dominguez, former president of the University of Santo Domingo student body.

President Johnson said in a radio address last night the rebellion "took a tragic turn. Communist leaders, many of them trained in Cuba, seeing a chance to increase disorder, to gain a foothold, joined the revolution."

INCREASING CONTROL

"They took increasing control, and what began as a popular democratic revolution, committed to democracy and social justice, very shortly moved and was taken over and really seized and placed into the hands of a band of Communist conspirators."

The army leaders of the rebellion said they were fighting to return ousted President Juan Bosch to power.

But former U.S. Ambassador John Barlow Martin, in Santo Domingo in a semi-official capacity, told newsmen that he was convinced the uprising had been completely taken over by Castroite Communists.

Martin said Bosch would be heartbroken to see what the rebellion had turned into.

TAPED INTERVIEW

In a television interview taped Saturday, Bosch said the revolution was won until the United States intervened.

He said it is now America's responsibility to bring democracy to his country and that he had abandoned any hope of a military victory for his supporters. Bosch said the uprising was democratic and was not in any way under Communist control.

Bosch, the only freely elected president the Dominican Republic has had in more than three decades, is an exile in Puerto Rico.

President Johnson emphasized that other factors were involved in the dispatch of more forces.

FOOD NEEDED

He said food must be distributed to people who haven't eaten for days, sick and wounded must be given medical attention, and steps must be taken to avoid an epidemic because hundreds of dead have lain in the streets for days.

Anthony M. Solomon, assistant secretary for economic affairs, left Washington yesterday to coordinate U.S. emergency relief and economic efforts here.

President Johnson also sent moving Ambassador W. Averell Harriman on a tour of Latin America as a part of a diplomatic drive to win support for his move to prevent the Dominican Republic from turning into a second Cuba.

Talks Fail; Drug Firm Shut Down

Employees of Parke, Davis and Co. walked off the job at the Detroit and Rochester plants at 10:30 this morning, closing down production lines.

The action was taken by Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers International Union Local 7476, after 13 hours of continuous bargaining broke off at dawn.

The strike affects 1,739 workers, including 253 employees at the biological laboratories in Rochester.

The union rejected an economic offer accepted by members of the International Association of Machinists yesterday. The IAM had reached an agreement on a new contract shortly before a midnight Friday strike deadline.

A spokesman for the drug firm said the OCAW also rejected the company's offer of an additional five cents per hour wage increase for all female workers over and above the general increase given members of the IAM.

No new negotiations had been called when last contacted.

Pontiac police are holding a 36-year-old woman for investigation of murder in the Saturday night stabbing-death of her husband.

John Robinson, 52, of 52 J. Cokes died at Pontiac General Hospital shortly after 7:30 p.m.

Death was caused by loss of blood, according to Dr. John F. Naz. Robinson had been stabbed in the right arm and the brachial artery had been severed.

His wife, Dorothy, who is being held at the Oakland County Jail, admitted she had stabbed her husband, police said.

She told officers she used a knife for self-defense as her husband attacked her. Police said she had a bruise and scratch marks on her neck.

AT THE APARTMENT

Isiah Brishon, 25, of 56 J. Cokes told police he was at the Robinson apartment when the stabbing occurred.

He said Robinson went into the kitchen, where Robinson's wife was at 7:30 p.m. Brishon told police Robinson staggered back into the living room about five minutes later bleeding badly.

Brishon took Robinson to the hospital. The victim's wife was arrested after hospital officials notified Pontiac Police of the incident.

Sgt. John DePauw of the detective bureau, said that she was scheduled to make a statement at the Oakland County Prosecutor's Office today.

Sees No Need for AFT in Birmingham

The president of the Birmingham Education Association said today that he saw no reason why Birmingham teachers would join the American Federation of Teachers union (AFT).

Richard Summer explained that there was no need for an organized labor union because the relationship between his group and the school administration is "excellent."

A union representative said yesterday that victories won by a teacher "sit-in" in Hamtramck for higher wages last week have prompted the AFT to attempt to organize in Birmingham and Southfield.

The Birmingham Education Association negotiates wage contracts for teachers each year and has 680 members, or better than 90 per cent of the teachers employed by the school district.

Summer said that there is a need for unions only when conditions require them — and that is definitely not the case here. The salary schedule of Birmingham teachers rates second in the state, he said.

CONFERENCE ON GIFTED CHILD — Dr. E. Paul Torrance (left) author and professor of educational psychology, Saturday addressed the more than 250 educators attending the fourth annual Institute on the Gifted Child at City and Country School of Bloomfield Hills. Here the speaker chats with George Roeper, founder and headmaster of the Bloomfield Hills school, and Mrs. Roeper, director of the nursery and kindergarten.

Birmingham Area News Urges Helping Gifted Children

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — A noted educational psychologist said Saturday that recognizing creativity in a gifted child is difficult, but that a greater problem lies in helping him.

Dr. E. Paul Torrance, director of the Bureau of Education Research at the University of Minnesota, said that many creative students are stifled in rigid school situations because teachers are unwilling to accept their complexities and will not allow them to develop in their own ways.

The author of three books on the creativity of children, Torrance was the keynote speaker at the fourth annual institute on gifted child education at the City and Country School.

More than 250 teachers, principals, counselors and psychologists from southern Michigan and northern Ohio attended the institute.

Torrance said he deplored a recent trend against new ideas in education, particularly with respect to gifted and creative children.

Many such children, he said, are deliberately put into harsh stress situations, and the attitudes of most parents and teachers are punitive rather than helpful.

He pleaded for more humane treatment for the child who "sings in his own key and marches to his own drumbeat."

Intense and prolonged stress leads to mental breakdown, Torrance said. Flexibility and originality drop under stress.

Children should be helped to question, to think, evaluate and evolve new ideas, he added.

"Understanding, encouragement and tolerance of the non-conforming child are needed," he said.

"Rewarding Creative Behavior," is Torrance's latest book. He also is the author of "Guiding Creative Talent" and "Education and the Creative Potential."

Ships Carry 1,400 Civilians to Safety

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (UPI) — More than 1,400 civilians, many of them American women and children, arrived here from the Dominican Republic yesterday aboard two mercy ships of the U.S. Navy. Some told of terror stories of being at the hands of "wild-looking" rebels.

The Wood County, an LST, carried 1,018 persons, nearly 10 times its normal passenger load. The USS Itasca brought another 392 refugees.

The new arrivals brought the number of evacuees in the past week to nearly 3,000.

Navy officials said yesterday's shiploads marked the end of the large-scale evacuation.

President Johnson said last night 1,500 more U.S. citizens and about 3,500 nationals of other countries are still awaiting removal from the Dominican Republic.

WIVES, CHILDREN — Many of the refugees put ashore yesterday are wives and children of U.S. servicemen stationed on the Caribbean island.

Most had been waiting at the Embajador Hotel in downtown Santo Domingo for transportation to ships when the rebels opened fire on the building.

Mrs. Evelyn Moorman of Honolulu, wife of Marine Sgt. Jack E. Moorman of Yakima, Wash., said U.S. Embassy officials at the hotel ordered the entire group of 600 to 900 civilians on the lawn to hit the ground and crawl into the building.

"I had no particular fear," Mrs. Moorman said. "The gunfire at that time was aimed at upper stories, and I didn't know of any return fire."

ALMOST RUN OVER —

But Mrs. Cheryl Medina said she and one of her four children were almost knocked down by three men sought by the rebels — the editor of a Dominican newspaper and two bodyguards. Mrs. Medina is the wife of Sgt. Matthew Medina of Seattle, Wash.

"They almost ran over us," she said. "The rebels were chasing them. They got a little distance away when other rebels shot him. I don't know whether they were killed."

Mrs. Medina and her husband were stationed in Santiago, 32 miles from Santo Domingo.

Rebels supporting former President Juan Bosch arrested the couple and put them in the city jail for "safekeeping" when the revolt broke out.

U.S. Vice Consul Frances Withey later obtained the Medinas' release.

Another refugee, Mrs. Gertrude Bohannon of Jacksonville, Fla., was on the patio of the hotel with her three children when the rebels arrived Tuesday morning.

"Some were civilians and some were in uniform," she said. "They began shooting into the upper floors of the hotel and searching for the editor of La Prensa Libre (a Dominican newspaper)."

"When they started shooting, I just sat there for a moment, stunned. Then we hit the floor. I expected that any minute one of us might get hit by a stray bullet."

Mrs. Bert Colina of Gloucester, Mass., wife of a Navy chief petty officer, was at the hotel with her three children.

They lived Americans up along the walls to tell them that as long as they stayed there they would not be hurt."

Mrs. Colina said "They were a wild-looking band, and most of the women were very much frightened."

Giants Whip Ailing Dodgers

By The Associated Press
Willie McCovey isn't standing still. He can't. His feet hurt when he does.

McCovey, whose throbbing size 13-D toes feel comfortable only when he's on the move, got out of the batter's box quickly Sunday, hammering Bob Miller's first pitch in the 10th inning for a homer that powered the San Francisco Giants to a 4-2 victory over Los Angeles.

McCovey's homer, his second of the game and fifth of the season, was the first off Miller in 76 games and 143 innings dating back to last April and put the finishing touches on a lost weekend for the problem-plagued Dodgers.

BROKEN ANKLE
The Dodgers got the complete diagnosis on outfielder Tommy Davis Sunday and learned that the 1962 and 1963 National League batting champion would be lost for at least three months with a broken right ankle. Davis suffered the injury sliding into second base in Saturday night's game.

Elsewhere, Philadelphia took both ends of a doubleheader from Milwaukee 6-0 and 10-7. St. Louis defeated Pittsburgh twice 9-5 and 5-4. Cincinnati swept the New York Mets 9-4 and 10-8 and the Chicago Cubs ended Houston's 10-game winning streak, 6-3.

McCovey hit a two-run homer following Jesus Alou's single in the seventh inning and then put the Giants ahead to stay in the 10th. A walk, a sacrifice and Harvey Kuenn's single produced an insurance run.

The Phillies put the opener out of reach with a four-run sixth inning built on infield hits by Cookie Rojas and Alex Johnson, a walk and a misjudged by Hank Aaron that brought in three runs. Chris Short, checked the Braves on seven hits for a 4-1 record.

Richie Allen hit a homer and two singles in the opener, then stroked a triple and double in the nightcap that raised his average to .394. Tony Taylor and Wes Covington homered for the Phillies in the nightcap slugfest, Covington collecting No. 6.

Ex-Yale Star on Way Back

QUANTICO, Va. (AP) — For a man who hadn't run competitively since last fall's Olympic Games at Tokyo, Jay Luck had to admit his comeback effort was at least on schedule — maybe even ahead.

The 24-year-old former Yale captain, who finished fifth in the 400-meter hurdles at Tokyo, had just placed second in the invitational 100-yard dash of the ninth annual Quantico Relays Saturday.

He was beaten only by Ed Roberts, the North Carolina college star who was voted the meet's outstanding performer, and had a meet record 51.3-second clocking Friday in the 400-yard intermediate hurdles.

Roberts, who ran a 9.5-second 100 to beat him, was a member of two record-breaking North Carolina College relay teams.

Roberts, Norm Tate, Terrell Anos and Robert Johnson lowered the meet mark to 41.4 seconds in the 400-yard relay and to 1:24.8 in the 800-yard relay in two of Saturday's four meet record performances.

Key Role

Tim McCarver played a key role for the Cardinals in the opener, starting a four-run fifth inning rally with a single, securing the decisive run in the sixth after reaching base on Gene Alley's error and then driving in two runs in the seventh inning. With that kind of support, Bob Gibson brought his record to 4-0.

Bill White finished the sweep with a leadoff homer in the ninth inning of the nightcap. The Cardinals had been held to one hit by Bob Veale — Ken Boyer's fourth inning homer — until they broke through in the eighth to tie the score.

AUDIENCE ALL EARS — A 3-month-old leopard cub sits with its back to a wall as three rabbits move in close for an inspection at the Como Park Zoo at St. Paul, Minn. The leopard used to share a pen with a bear cub, but the bear died. Now the leopard is with the rabbits for company.

Lone Survivor Has Nightmares of Crash

AMERICAN FALLS, Idaho (AP) — Billy Warford, 12, has nightmares about the worst automobile accident in Idaho's history.

Four Emmett residents and Billy's mother, father, three sisters and a brother, were killed April 15 in a two-car crash near Massacre Rocks on the old Oregon Trail.

The spot, about 125 miles northwest of Salt Lake City on U.S. 30N, gets its name from an 1862 Indian ambush that killed fewer persons than the automobile accident.

BROKEN LEG

At Flower County Hospital, where his broken leg was put in traction, Billy came out of deep shock and met the Rev. Peter Petersen, minister of the American Falls Assembly of God Church.

"He regained consciousness when they were prying the car door open," the minister said. "The first thing he saw was his little sister."

"I suppose my father and mother are gone?" he asked me. "And I said, 'Yes, they're all gone.'"

The minister said the boy has had nightmares ever since.

BROKEN WATCHES

Billy has decided to keep his father's broken pocket watch, the Rev. Mr. Petersen said, and a wristwatch worn by his brother. Both stopped at exactly 12:35 p.m.

Billy spent Easter in the hospital. He received toys, Easter baskets, flowers and several letters, some with money.

The letters contained offers of adoption. One was addressed to "Little Boy From Arkansas Who Was in Accident, American Falls, Idaho."

Billy's older brother Clyde, 26, of East Wenatchee, Wash., has arranged for a light airplane to carry Billy to his home. Billy will live with Clyde, his wife, son and daughter.

MORE OPTIMISTIC

"He's more optimistic now," says the Rev. Mr. Petersen. He spent the last few days drawing cowboys and Yogi Berra.

"He wants to fix up his bicycle," says Clyde.

Soviet Official Is Injured in Fall

NEW YORK (AP) — A Russian United Nations official remained in serious condition today from injuries suffered when he fell three floors from a window of his Manhattan apartment.

Yuri Ragulin, 40, was taken to Lenox Hill Hospital Saturday night with internal injuries and multiple fractures. Ragulin is a Soviet legal officer attached to the Social Affairs Department of the U.N. secretariat.

A friend, Alexander Bessmertnykh, who lives in the same apartment house at 435 E. 77th St., said he went to Ragulin's seventh-floor apartment about 11:50 p.m. and that Ragulin was missing and a window was open.

Peering out the window, he told police, he saw Ragulin on the roof of the four-story Russian Baptist church next door.

Ragulin's wife, Diana, was at a movie, and their daughter, Maria, 5, was asleep in the apartment.

DETROIT (AP) — The oldest living graduate of Ionia High School, Mrs. Emma Phillips, died in a nursing home Sunday. She was 102.

Mrs. Phillips is survived by two daughters, three grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Crash Kills State Teen

LAKE LINDEN (AP) — James Matson, 19, of near Lake Linden was killed today when the car he was driving struck an abutment near here. Police said he apparently fell asleep at the wheel.

DIES IN CRASH — Margene Savage, 20, Kansas State University junior from Florence, Kan., and the reigning "Miss Kansas," was killed yesterday in a two-car crash near Emporia, Kan. Her mother, driver of the car in which she was riding, and a passenger in the other car also died.

Shriver Announces Change in Yardstick on Poverty

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The federal government's War on Poverty program is using a new yardstick to determine just which American families are really poor.

It Sargent Shriver Jr., director of the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO), announced the change yesterday even as the U.S. Chamber of Commerce was challenging the government's old standard which says that any family earning less than $3,000 annually is poverty-stricken.

Shriver said the new standard would take into consideration the respective size of families and whether they live in urban or rural areas.

It is based on the Agriculture Department's "economy level food plan," which figures a basic cost of 23 cents per person per meal per day.

A family of four with an annual income under $3,310 and an individual with income under $1,540 now would be classed as poor. Previously, the figures were $3,000 and $1,500.

DIFFERENT LEVELS
For families of two, the poverty level would be $1,990, and for families of three, $2,440.

Shriver said the original $3,000 yardstick for all was set by the Council of Economic Advisers as a "rough rule for initial purposes and not intended for long-term planning of the antipoverty program."

He said the new definition takes into account food, rent, other costs and the size and geographical location of poor families.

The bit difference between the two standards, he said, is that the new method includes a larger number of children than the old — 15 million instead of 11 million.

He said it applied to 34.6 million persons in the United States, 70 per cent of them white.

The Chamber of Commerce based its criticism of the old gauge on the fact that a small family living in a warm climate and growing most of its own food could live comfortably on $3,000 a year.

Arrests Made on Fowl Sales

Marketing Migratory Game Spurs Action

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Federal and state agents at daybreak today began arresting and serving summonses on 77 persons in 11 states on charges of selling migratory game birds.

Interior Secretary Stuart L. Udall, who announced the crackdown, said that numerous deer, quail, and other types of resident game also were purchased.

He said other purchases involved ducks, geese, doves, marsh hens or rails, and coots. Also involved were hunting, a form of protected migratory songbird.

Udall said the states involved were Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Kentucky, Maryland, Mississippi, Missouri, Nebraska, New York, North Carolina, and Virginia.

He said simultaneous arrests were made to prevent any possible advance warning.

Market hunting and selling of migratory game birds were outlawed in 1918 by the Migratory Bird Treaty with Britain and Canada. Violations were considered misdemeanors or minor offenses by the courts until 1960 when they were classified as felonies.

Udall said 245 counts of violating migratory bird regulations were leveled against the persons arrested or summoned. He said the charges were based on evidence gathered over 2 1/2 years by undercover agents of the Fish and Wildlife Service.

During the investigation, the agents made 141 water fowl purchases, involving from 2 to 110 birds.

In announcing today's action, Udall said the bureau had stepped up its undercover work because "killing and selling game for profit is a vicious form of game law violation and particularly damaging to wildlife resources."

He said the bureau had several undercover investigators working in various parts of the country in efforts to stop the illegal selling of game birds.

Steeplejacks Climb to Top for Tall Tales
TULSA, Okla. (AP) - Bill O'Neill is a 42-year-old steeplejack who can tell tales of "tall tales when he chooses."

One of his tallest accomplishments was helping his father paint the flagpole atop the Empire State Building.

"I feel safe on a tower," says O'Neill. "After all, you don't have drinks trying to run you down up there."

"While we don't fear heights, we sure carry a healthy respect for it and we learn good habits early," he says. "Such as having a secure hold with one hand before letting go with the other."

Rahman vs. Sukarno

A Boxer Rebellion?

TOKYO (UPI) - Malaysian Premier Tengku Abdul Rahman today offered to fight President Sukarno of Indonesia to settle their dispute.

"Indonesia's confrontation against Malaysia is not a question of single combat between Sukarno and me," Rahman said in a speech to the Foreign Correspondents Club.

"If it were a question of single combat, I can take him on at any time, and I think I would win."

"If Sukarno wants to crush me, let me have a chance to crush him. I am a sportsman."

Rahman's comments brought laughter from his audience, which included several ambassadors from Europe and Asia.

Rahman is 62. Sukarno is 63.

Controversy Flares Over Agent's Post

Hospital Ends Open Houses

CASSPOLIS (AP) - Long held open operation at the Michigan State University Extension Service office for Cass County was occupied today by three persons while a controversy simmered over the directorship.

Agent Harold Sparks was notified formally Friday by the MSU extension department that his services were being terminated immediately. Sparks has declined to leave as ordered earlier.

Former Cass County agent Richard Schroeder and Kent County 4-H agent Dennis Sellers arrived today on temporary basis as ordered by MSU to replace him.

The governor's office has been asked for a hearing in an effort to make public the reasons for dismissal of Sparks from the post he has held for 24 years.

A committee of Cass County residents also has been formed in defense of Sparks and supports his fight for reinstatement.

Quebec (AP) - Thirty-three paintings and three collections of old money were stolen early today from the Quebec Provincial Museum.

Exact value of the stolen articles was not immediately known, but it is believed to run to several thousand dollars.

Pope Speaks to Americans

Message Carried Via Early Bid Satellite

NEW YORK (AP) - Pope Paul VI spoke to the American people live on television for the first time today via the Early Bird communications satellite, and commented on the "astounding inventions" of science which made the telecast possible.

Speaking in English from the Apostolic Palace, the pontiff appeared on the NBC-TV "Today" show.

The 160-word transatlantic greeting to Americans came via the 85-pound cylindrical satellite which has been in orbit since last April 4.

The text of the pontiff's address: "Dear people of the United States: 'We are very happy to greet you today by means of this great new communications satellite."

MODERN WORLD
"This modern world and its inventive genius continue to amaze us with its striking discoveries. Who would have dreamed that such means of communication would be at our disposal in our time?"

"The tremendous power of man's intellect is reflected in these astounding inventions and scientific advances. Would that all of these were dedicated exclusively to the benefit of men everywhere!"

"We pray to Almighty God that these marvelous discoveries will serve the cause of peace, and will make it possible for men to cooperate with each other in making this a better world and a happier place where men grow and develop into the likeness of their creator and find fulfillment of their desires insofar as this is possible on this earth."

"We invoke upon all of you an abundance of heavenly blessings and graces; may your grand nation prosper in peace and happiness."

He was a past president of the Orpheus Club of Detroit and a member of that group for 50 years.

He was also a lifetime governor emeritus of the Michigan Male Chorus Association.

PRIOR TO RETIREMENT
Prior to his retirement several years ago, he was employed by the Sherwin Williams Co.

Surviving in addition to his wife, Lucy, are a daughter, Mrs. Daniel C. DeGraft of Birmingham, and a son, Endres of Wilton, Conn.

He is also survived by a brother and six grandchildren.

Advance Paratroop Unit Arrives in Viet

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) - The advance unit for 3,500 American paratroopers arrived in Saigon today. The balance of the three airborne battalions was expected within a few days.

The paratroopers are the first U.S. Army combat ground unit assigned to Viet Nam. U.S. and Vietnamese officials said they would "increase security at key installations and press the war more effectively."

Sixty men were in the advance unit, U.S. officials said, on security grounds to say when the main force would arrive. But they said they would be stationed at Bien Hoa, a big air base 12 miles northeast of Saigon and at Vung Tay, a coastal city 40 miles southeast of Saigon.

The new arrivals comprise most of the 173rd Airborne Brigade stationed on Okinawa.

U.S. officials said there were no air raids over North Viet Nam today, presumably because of bad weather.

U.S. officials said Air Force Capt. Ronald E. Storz of Portsmouth, N.H., disappeared in a light observation plane last Wednesday and a search for him has been abandoned.

CONG POSITIONS
Storz took off from Dong Ha, close to the border with North Viet Nam, on a flight of about 60 miles. U.S. officials did not rule out the possibility that he went down in North Viet Nam.

Other American aircraft bombed suspected Viet Cong positions in South Viet Nam, including a heavy attack on Communist-infested zone north of Saigon.

U.S. Marine medium tanks went on their first patrol Sunday. The 52-ton M48 tanks, with Marines clinging to their sides, encountered only scattered Viet Cong fire. There were no casualties.

In London, the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization's ministerial conference opened with a call from British Prime Minister Harold Wilson for "an honorable negotiated settlement" of the war in South Viet Nam.

OPPOSED TO TALKS
From Peking, came a Communist Chinese announcement that it was firmly opposed to any peace talks on Viet Nam or Laos during a proposed international conference on Cambodia.

The New China News Agency said the Peking regime was "resolutely opposed to the endeavor of U.S. imperialism and its followers to bundle together the question of Cambodia and the questions of Viet Nam and Laos."

The British believe the proposed conference to guarantee Cambodia's neutrality could be used for starting talks on the fighting in neighboring Viet Nam and Laos.

North Viet Nam issued angry blasts on several fronts, including a protest against the Australian government's decision to dispatch an infantry battalion to South Viet Nam.

Hanoi protested to the three-nation control commission that the United States and South Viet Nam had seized a fishing boat with four fishermen aboard in North Vietnamese waters.

The North Vietnamese paper People's Army claimed the Communists shot down 163 U.S. planes over North Viet Nam last month.

The U.S. Defense Department said since U.S. air strikes began Feb. 17, it has announced the loss of 39 American and three South Vietnamese planes.

Service Slated for Spike Jones

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Rotary will be rected tonight for Spike Jones, the band leader who introduced washboards, cowbells and cannon as musical instruments and arranged songs that kept people listening to them.

Jones, who once termed himself the dandruff in longhair man, died in his sleep at home Saturday. He was 53. A spokesman for the family said death was caused by emphysema, a respiratory affliction.

The entertainer, born Lindley Armstrong Jones, suffered from asthma and respiratory ills in his late years. He was released three weeks ago from Santa Monica Hospital, where he had been taken after an asthmatic attack.

The Rotary tonight and May Tuesday at 10 a.m. will be in St. Victor's church, West Hollywood. Interment is to follow at Holy Cross Cemetery, Los Angeles.

Besides his widow, vocalist Helen Grayco, Jones leaves a son, Spike Jr., 16, daughters Leslie, 13, and Gina Marie, 6, and Linda, 23, a daughter by a previous marriage.

Great Britain still has 51,000 military personnel serving in West Germany with NATO forces.

Ban on Mexican Imported Labor to Be Reviewed

DETROIT (AP) — A Michigan advisory panel will be selected to assist the U.S. Department of Labor in deciding whether to relax the ban on imported Mexican labor, Secretary W. Willard Wirtz said Saturday.

Michigan's pickle industry, the nation's top pickle producer, has complained about the use of Wirtz said the panel also would have authority to make recommendations on the use of "braceros," Mexican field workers, because of temporary labor shortages.

The secretary discussed the possible relaxation of the ban as principal speaker at the Democratic Jefferson Jackson Day dinner.

Three Persons Die as Aircraft Collide

WESTERLO, N.Y. (AP) — An aerial photography flight by an industrialist, a justice of the peace and a state police investigator ended in death for the three Sunday when their two aircraft collided.

Killed were Dwight Hamway, 47, of Westerlo; William Furman, 37, of Westerlo; and Leonard Garmone, 35, of Voorheesville, as signed to the state police Bureau of Criminal Identification.

State police said Furman, flying in Hamway's helicopter, had intended to take pictures of Garmone piloting his single-engine plane.

"I certainly don't bear any malice," said Julie, "Who knows? He may have something I want to do someday."

Vaudeville Showplace in Farewell Offering

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — They turned off the footlights for good Sunday night at the Folmar Theater, once one of the jewels of the vaudeville kingdom built by the late Alexander Pantalone.

HELICOPTERS

QUESTION: How can helicopters go straight up and down and hover, as well as fly forward?

ANSWER: The cross-section of a helicopter's blades, shown at the top of picture, resemble those of an airplane's wing and both allow aircraft to fly for the same reason.

Moving air takes longer to pass over the upper curved part, creating lesser air pressure above. The greater air pressure on the bottom exerts a lifting force.

Of course, a helicopter's blades revolve while an airplane's wing remains still.

The secret of why the 'copter can perform so many tricks in the air is that the angle or pitch of the blades can be changed—which has an effect similar to that of changing the angle of a paddle while paddling a canoe.

Blade angles are controlled by the pilot, who uses "the cyclic pitch stick" to guide the copter forward, backward and sideways, and the "collective pitch stick" to fly up and down.

When flying ahead, the pitch of blades changes as they beat around. In position (1) the pitch is flat; with (2) it is beginning to turn and by (3) has a sharp angle or pitch. In (4) the pitch is decreasing and in (1) it is flat again.

These different pitches are what the word "cyclic" means. In the other movements, all blades have the same "collective" pitch; the small drawings show how different movements are made.

FOR YOU TO DO: Use your imagination a bit — dream of a little one-man helicopter just big enough to fly by yourself when you're old enough to get a pilot's license. These little one-man jobs have been actually built; we may see them in the skies some day.

Boyle Finds Visit to Chinese Tailor a Must in South Viet Nam

By HAL BOYLE
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — This is a strange war indeed. It is the first war I've been in where a reporter has got his uniform custom made by a Chinese tailor. I don't believe even Richard Harding Davis, the most glamorous of war correspondents, went to that length. But out here patronizing a Chinese tailor isn't a luxury. It's a necessity. "GRAY MARKET" So far, the government doesn't officially issue combat clothing to reporters nor will it sell it to them. They sometimes can buy it, however, on what is euphemistically known as "the gray market."

The leader of the den of thieves to whom I was referred has his headquarters in what looks like an abandoned warehouse, just as do American gangs on television programs. When I explained what I wanted, the chief thief, who shall remain nameless — in fact he said he preferred it that way — offered me all the glumorous of war government uniforms. "This has been a very bad month for stealing," he explained. CHINESE TAILOR So I went to see Luong, the Chinese tailor, who is known as the fastest needle in the Far East. In 36 hours, he whipped together a bush jacket and trousers that made a fellow look like the white hunter on an African safari. "Laong, you made the pants too long," I objected.

"Not too long," he lied with a bland saffron smile. "After first monsoon rain, pants fit just right." COMBAT CAP My quest for a combat cap proved to be the best free entertainment of the day. Apparently no one with a size 7½ head had been in town for some time. Grinning crowds collected in every shop and broke into giggles as the proprietors fruitlessly perched Vietnamese jungle caps atop my dome. As fast as they were put on they fell to the floor. The hat sear up as a bad job, I stomped off again to the gray market. This time I managed to buy a used pair of boots about two sizes too large and a weathered rucksack with some French Legionnaire must have dropped at the battle of Dien Bien Phu back in 1954. It was so heavy that merely carrying it back to my hotel made me break into a sweat. POST EXCHANGE My last port of call was the post exchange. No American ever goes off to a war zone without a farewell call at the PX for a box of chocolate candy bars, some boxes of hard candy, a pushbutton can of shaving lather and a bottle of insect repellent. The post exchange here is stocked with an assortment of goodies not particularly useful in jungle fighting. The hi-fi sets, classical phonograph records, expensive cameras, and several sets of golf clubs. Just looking at them made me feel homesick. Then I saw something that really interested me. It was a bean bag priced at 85 cents. I bought it. At that price I felt it was too good a bargain to pass up, and I thought it would be nice to be the only guy in the war with a bean bag of his very own. Besides, it may come in handy if I need something to throw at the unfriendly Viet Cong. I'd rather play bean bag with them than any other game I can think of.
