Jury Trial Added to Bill

South Wins on Civil Rights

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Eisenhower Administration lost the battle against the jury trial amendment, and Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) said today the civil rights bill probably is dead for this session of Congress.

But his pessimism was not shared by all the bill's supporters, and Sen. Russell (D-Ga) held out the possibility that some Southern foes of the measure may vote for it if a few more changes are made.

Knowland, the Senate Republican leader, told reporters he had "no alibis" for the 51-42 vote by which the Senate adopted the jury trial amendment shortly after midnight.

"I just didn't have the votes," he said.

Adoption of the jury trial amendment, he said, probably means that any measure the Senate passes will be tied up in a Senate-House disagreement. the House had rejected any provision for jury trials.

PARTY LINEUP

On the dramatic roll call vote, witnessed by spectators who crammed the Senate gallery, the party lineup was 39 Democrats and 12 Republicans for the amendment and 9 Democrats and 33 Republicans against it.

This was a wider margin of victory for the jury trial advocates than had been anticipated.

Eisenhower was pictured today as "damn unhappy" about the Senate vote.

Sen. Potter (R-Mich) reported on Eisenhower's reaction after a call at the White House this morning to discuss another matter with the President. Without elaborating Potter told newsmen "the President is damn unhappy" about losing the fight against the jury trial amendment.

WOULD PROVIDE:

The amendment would provide for jury trials in criminal contempt cases arising from injunctions the attorney general would be empowered to obtain to enforce voting rights. It also would apply in labor cases and others involving federal court injunctions.

President Eisenhower had restated only Wednesday his opposition to any such amendment.

Vice President Nixon said in a statement to newsmen, "This was one of the saddest days in the history of the Senate because this was a vote against the right to vote."

But Russell, leader of the Dixie forces for whom the vote was a second major victory, said, "The Senate was at its very best.

"It renews my faith in representative government to see men have the courage to rise above the pressures and vote their convictions," he told reporters.

Colorful Touch Added

NEW LOOK AT THE COURTHOUSE — No men, not the cute blonde, but the flower boxes. A colorful touch was added this week by the promotion committee of the Downtown Pontiac Assn., in the form of 20 flower boxes lining the lawn of the courthouse. The committee is sorry it can't persuade Mrs. William Stoiloff to water the geraniums every day, but that would be taking her away from her chores as receptionist in the prosecutor's office. John A. Riley, chairman of the committee, said the boxes are only a "sampling" to see how people like them. More might be placed in front of Saginaw street stores, he said. The boxes were made by the Boy's Club of Pontiac.

Boat Adventurer Will Wed Area Therapist Tomorrow

South African adventurer Jerry Trowbridge, who has sailed his 36-foot ketch 21,000 miles since he left home four years ago, will marry a physical therapist from St. Joseph Mercy Hospital tomorrow.

Trowbridge and his bride-to-be, Miss Marie Hickey, 1651 Playsted, Union Lake, obtained a marriage license in Detroit yesterday after Probate Judge Ernest C. Boehm waived the three-day waiting period.

The waiver was granted so the couple could be wed Saturday and begin a honeymoon that will start a leisurely four-year cruise around the world in Trowbridge's ketch.

The couple will be wed at 4 p.m. in the Webster Community Church on Webster Church road in Washtenaw County, near Ann Arbor.

They plan a honeymoon from Chicago down the Mississippi and to Cuba. Part of the journey will take them across the Pacific to their future home in Johannesburg, S. Africa.

The couple met last winter at Huntsville, Ont., where both had gone on separate skiing expeditions.

Toledo Woman Raped, Killed

Nude Body of Pretty Mother of Four Wedged Beside Mail Truck

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — The nude body of a pretty auburn-haired mother was found beside a post office substation today. Coroner Paul Hohly said she apparently had been raped and strangled.

Dr. Hohly identified the woman as Mrs. Anna Louis LaTour, 32, mother of four children.

Her body, a blue party dress crumpled beneath it, was found by a post office employe, Richard K. Hardenbrook.

Mrs. LaTour, cook-manager of a concession in National Lead Co.'s Doehler-Jarvis Division, had been seen early this morning in the Gaiety Club on Monroe street near the post office station.

Her body was in a 2½ foot space between the post office station and a mail truck which Hardenbrook said had been parked there since early last night.

One of her outstretched arms extended beneath the truck. A diamond broach was found near one of her hands. Her wedding and engagement rings had not been disturbed, and her pocketbook contained $13 in cash and a $5.25 check from her employer.

Dr. Hohly said bruises around her neck apparently had been made by something other than human hands. He said the body appeared to have been dragged to the spot where it was found.

Scrub-Shine Party by 4-H Clubs Precedes Coming County Fair

A three-day scrubbing, sweeping, raking and shining party begins tomorrow morning when county 4-H members pour into Pontiac fairgrounds to prepare for the 17th Annual Oakland County 4-H Club Fair which opens Tuesday.

The fair, held on the 10-acre site at N. Perry street and Walton boulevard, is sponsored by the Oakland County 4-H Leaders Association which has more than 200 members.

★ ★ ★

Over 1,500 county girls and boys intend to demonstrate they are carrying out the 4-H motto "To make the best better." They have entered exhibits, projects, animals and floats in the fair.

The five-day show, which closes Aug. 10, will include displays of farm equipment, produce, clothing and gardening.

Walter Goodrich, fair manager, reports at least 45 commercial exhibits will be displayed by local merchants.

PLAN CARNIVAL

Three quonset huts and six large tents will house boys and girls entries. A carnival of rides has been planned to add to the entertainment.

Although most of the contests are only open to 4-H members of the 63 county clubs, the public has been allowed to enter three classes. They are; needlework, canning and baking.

Special events have been planned for each evening of the fair. Some are: the selecting of the Fair Queen, a parade of clubs with colorful floats, a pig scramble and a talent review.

The 4-H program is directed by Jack Worthington and Miss Sue Sturgis, County 4-H club agents, under the supervision of the Extension Service of Michigan State University and the Oakland County Extension Service.

Probe 'Sweetheart Deals' Between Unions, Industry

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Rackets Committee today called in a group of New York City workers to show how they allegedly were exploited by hoodlum-run unions and cooperating employers.

Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) said in advance it would be shown that "sweetheart contracts" between the unions and employers gave the workers only the legal minimum wage.

Today's hearings are a new phase of the committee's probe into New York area unions dominated by labor racketeer Johnny Dio, described as a close friend of James R. Hoffa, powerful Teamsters Union boss.

Previous testimony has brought out that Dio got the unions started as part of the old AFL United Auto Workers, but since has switched them into the Teamsters Union.

McClellan said Wednesday that Hoffa used Dio to help gain labor domination over New York and the Eastern Seaboard.

The committee heard yesterday

Hospital Funds Decision Nearer

Second Public Vote for Issuance of Bonds Looms in City

City and hospital officials edged nearer to a decision on how to raise funds to finish Pontiac General Hospital at a meeting held last night.

Still looming as the answer is a second public vote, probably this fall, to allow the issuance of bonds to provide finances to furnish and equip the new four million dollar addition.

But the 13 officials who gathered last night were reluctant to announce their decision pending further data from Claude Stevens, Pontiac's bond attorney.

Last night's two-hour session was another in a series of emergency huddles necessitated when Pontiac voters rejected the $1,850,000 hospital vote in May. Another joint meeting is expected Thursday.

Details of the possible fall vote won't be known until City Manager Walter K. Willman confers with Stevens, officials said.

URGENT PROBLEM

They agreed that the most urgent problem facing them was the uncovering of $433,164 — the amount of purchase orders on hand for necessary equipment for the addition.

Faced with many money problems already, members of the hospital's Board of Trustees, as well as city officials, learned of a new one last evening. Trustee Harold B. Euler announced there has been a $35,385 operating loss at the hospital during the first six months of 1957.

"Anticipating a 90 per cent occupancy for the rest of the year," Euler continued, "we will have another $19,500 deficit for the rest of the year."

He explained the loss had resulted from a lowering occupancy at Pontiac General, after a budgeting of 110 per cent of occupancy.

Surpluses Built by Higher Taxes Decision Holds

Money to Be Returned to Original Budgets; Appeal Is Expected

By MAX E. SIMON

Hopes for a new Oakland County courthouse were blasted today by Circuit Judge Herman C. Dehnke, who ruled that the county has illegally transferred so-called surpluses to its building fund.

The judge ruled that by padding [illegible] budget items to create surpluses for its building fund, the county was in effect levying higher taxes for the building without the consent of the taxpayers.

"I am persuaded," the judge declared, "that the acquisitions around which this case turns, whether called surpluses, other available funds, or something else, have, in fact and in substance, been raised by taxation."

The building fund of $1,392,000, Judge Dehnke ruled, must be returned to the budget funds from which they originated, as nearly as can be determined.

Judge Dehnke asserted that although the State legislature has been persistently pressed to widen the authority of local governments to transfer surpluses to building funds, it has consistently refused to yield to that pressure.

He said he finds nothing in the state statutes which authorizes such transfers.

APPEAL EXPECTED

Judge Dehnke noted that his decision will undoubtedly be appealed to the State Supreme Court.

The judge commented in his opinion that nothing he has said should be construed as reflecting on the motives or intentions of county officials or boards.

He pointed out, however, that the voters had twice refused to authorize an increase in tax levies to finance a courthouse bond issue, although they had approved such an issue.

★ ★ ★

He said that county officials have never asked the voters to approve the financing of the building out of current income, although county officials assumed this was the meaning of the negative votes.

INCOME UNDERESTIMATED

The action of the county showed clearly, the judge said, that it was consistently underestimating in every annual budget, by substantial amounts, the receipts expected from county departments.

"The result was inevitably a

Hope to Settle Police Hassle

Officers Assn. Head, City Manager Confer on 3 Major Grievances

By HAROLD S. COHEN

Final settlement of long-standing grievances of the Pontiac Police Officers Assn. appeared likely yesterday following a meeting of an association delegation with City Manager Walter K. Willman.

Both Willman and Herbert V. Cooley, association president, seemed well satisfied with the conference in which three principal items were discussed.

The association asked changes in police department policy on pay raises, vacations and promotions.

Spokesmen said the association felt certain officers had not received raises they were entitled to, that vacations were not being worked out by the officers best qualified to do so, namely the platoon supervisors, and that the best qualified men were not always the ones promoted.

Willman said he would study the grievances over the weekend and would reply in writing early next week to the association with a copy going to the Civil Service Commission.

He termed the complaints administrative ones, which he could settle, and not charges against anyone in the department.

Wilson Discusses Successor With Ike

ONE COLOR BORDER ONLY

Says Defense Cuts About Half Done

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Charles E. Wilson has been talking with his boss about a successor in the job of secretary of defense.

But, says the 67-year-old defense chief, no date has been decided yet for his resignation. In office for 4½ years, he already has held the post more than twice as long as any predecessor.

★ ★ ★

Obliquely, Wilson indicated that he certainly expects to be on the job for at least another month.

And in a news conference yesterday he talked about this fall's budget-making business in a way which suggested he might participate.

He was asked if he had talked with President Eisenhower about a successor. His answer was that "of course, the matter has been discussed from time to time, but I have no particular person to recommend."

★ ★ ★

Wilson's answer to inquiries about new rumors of his resignation came at a meeting with newsmen devoted primarily to the military budget and the economy cuts demanded by Congress.

The secretary said the Pentagon is now engaged in economies designed to keep spending within the 38-billion-dollar military fund available.

CUTS HALF COMPLETE

He estimated that actions already taken have brought about roughly half the planned economies. These actions include such things as the cutback in manpower, a reduction in expenditures for maintenance and operation, and elimination of the Navaho long-range guided missile program.

But, he said, "the bad news is not all out yet."

As he had said on previous occasions, Wilson reported that the effort is to level off annual military spending at 38 billion dollars. Later, the program for obligational authority to order material or service also should be stabilized at 38 billion dollars, he added.

During the first half of this year, he said, spending was at annual rate of $40,200,000,000 and "still on the uptrend."

Wilson's comment that he has proffered no firm suggestions about a successor may be related to reports that the administration is finding difficulty in inducing another top business executive to take the comparatively low-paying, criticism-fraught job.

★ ★ ★

This revived speculation that President Eisenhower and Wilson might turn to some of the present secretariat. Those officials, like Deputy Secretary Donald Quarles and Asst. Secretary Wilfred J. McNeil, veteran comptroller, have severed connections with their business activities.

Gap Still Widens Over Number of Cars Built Last July, Past Year

Pontiac Motor Division continued to widen the production gap over last year's figures in July, production figures revealed today.

Some 26,089 units left the line in July, compared to 21,235 in July, '56. Total Pontiac production in 1957 through July is 224,761, compared to 212,817 for last year at this time.

General Motors production figures in the month of July show a 7,000 unit boost over the same month last year—278,532 compared to 271,658.

For the seven months of 1957, however, GM is down, from 2,348,158 in 1956 to 2,161,437 this year. Truck Coach division reported 5,735 units in July, compared at 6,450 last July. Total 1957 Truck & Coach division production to date is 42,985, a dip from 59,746 units in through July, 1956.

In July production, Chevrolet, Pontiac and Cadillac showed higher production than last July.

Cadillac had 98,478, with 1956 figures at 96,173.

U. S. Division Leaving Japan After 12 Years

WASHINGTON (AP) — The last American division is pulling out of Japan nearly 12 years after landing there as a conqueror.

Withdrawal of the Army's 1st Cavalry Division was announced yesterday by the Defense Department. It said the action carries out a pledge by President Eisenhower last June that all U. S. ground troops would leave Japan within the year.

Actual completion of the ground force withdrawal is expected within a few weeks when the 9th Regiment of the 3rd Marine Division is shipped from Japan to Okinawa.

This will leave about 17,000 American service personnel in Japan. They are mostly men attached to units of the Air Force and the Marine air wing. At its peak, the American occupation force totaled nearly 300,000.

★ ★ ★

The 1st Cavalry's divisional designation will be attached to units now in the 24th Division in Korea. The 24th then will be dropped from the Army's list of active divisions.

Where does the moisture in the air come from? Where does the moisture of clouds come from?

Since the sun produces no moisture, and since the air around us continuously presents clouds, which brings us rain, naturally the question arises: "Where does the moisture come from?"

The answer is that the air, through evaporation, absorbs moisture from the earth and ocean at an amazing rate. Millions of tons of water are absorbed through evaporation every second!

Thus, when a rain brings us hundreds of thousands, or millions, of tons of water from the sky, this water has been picked up from the oceans, rivers, lakes and the earth itself—through evaporation!

Without evaporation, which makes possible the transfer of moisture, large areas of the earth would be useless, desert wastes.

Ready Vaccine for Asian Flu Outbreak Here

WASHINGTON (AP)—This country faces the "very definite probability" of a large outbreak of Asian influenza this fall or winter, Surgeon General Leroy E. Burney says.

But he reported yesterday that production is being rushed on a vaccine to combat the disease. He urged full use of it when it becomes available starting next month.

The head of the Public Health Service said there have been about 11,000 cases of the new strain of flu reported in the United States. He added undoubtedly there has been "widespread seeding of virus throughout the country."

He commented that cold weather seems to trigger flu outbreaks, and said if one comes it likely will be in December, January and February.

Six licensed manufacturers have set a production goal of 60 million doses of the new vaccine by Feb. 1, Burney reported.

He told a news conference he believes the disease will continue to be the mild type so far reported in the Far East, South America and this country.

He expressed confidence the death rate from complications following any cases will be "far below" the two tenths of 1 per cent reported in the Far East.

Homes, Fields Burn in California Area

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A leapfrogging brush fire believed started by juveniles burned 12 homes and blackened 500 acres in the Mount Washington area of suburban Highland Park.

The fire, one of three in southern California, was brought under control late yesterday. Mop-up crews were hampered by a lack of water pressure, and were forced to use water tankers to curb the flames.

Two other fires, one in Beverly Glen and Benedict Canyons in the Hollywood Hills, and the other in Brea Canyon west of Pomona also were contained.

tax levy proportionately higher than necessary (at the expense of other units, such as school districts because of the 15 mill 'ceiling').''

Judge Dehnke said that before he hands down a decree in the case, he will have to work with the auditors and attorneys to decide what is to be done with the illegal building funds.

★ ★ ★

The judge's ruling on the fund was his final decision in the matter. Wednesday he had ruled that the Board of Supervisors could sell the present downtown courthouse site and that the county could move the courthouse anywhere within the county, but that certain county offices must remain in Pontiac.

He also said that Pontiac's annexation of the county service center from Waterford Township was illegal, because electors in the annexed area had not voted on the issue.

The suit was brought against the county by the Oakland County Taxpayers League.

Hoffa Advocates Union Combine in Transportation

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Detroit Teamster chief James R. Hoffa advocates a giant combine of transportation unions—land, sea and air—he said here yesterday.

Hoffa said that he is confident he will be elected Teamsters Union president next month to succeed Dave Beck.

★ ★ ★

If he is, he says he will work for a merger of truck drivers, longshoremen, railroad and steamship employes and warehousemen into a giant transport union within the AFL-CIO framework.

Teamsters Union leaders are meeting here to review the union's constitution.

Einar Mohn, administrative vice president of the union and constitutional committee chairman, said, "We're going to take the constitution apart article by article and look it over."

Hoffa said he intends to adhere strictly to AFL-CIO bans against relations between AFL-CIO unions and independent organizations such as the ILWU.

Supervisors to Hear of Sewer Progress

Pontiac Receives Pair of Traffic Safety Awards

Pontiac received a pair of traffic safety awards yesterday from the National Safety Council for its work in school traffic safety education and in traffic courts.

Sgt. Michael Sibal of the Michigan State Police represented the council and made the awards to Mayor William W. Donaldson.

Following the presentation, Sgt. Sibal presented and analyzed the annual inventory of traffic safety activities, a statistical study of 1956 traffic and traffic control work in Pontiac.

A total of 37 persons, "excellent turnout" said Sgt. Sibal, were present for the presentations and discussion.

Curbing drunk drivers was the main topic of discussion during the presentation of the report.

from Lester Washburn, 48-year-old builder and summer resort operator of Rhinelander, Wis.

Washburn told how, as president of the old UAW-AFL now the Allied Industrial Workers Union, AFL-CIO, he ousted Dio and Suspended the Dio locals in 1954. He said those decisions were rescinded as he was bounced as the UAW-AFL chief.

Washburn gave some surprise testimony about the International Ladies Garment Workers Union, whose President David Dubinsky has been considered a leader in efforts to rid organized labor of racketeers.

Dubinsky is a member of the AFL-CIO Ethical Practices Committee now considering rackets charges against other unions. Washburn said Dubinsky gave him no help in ousting Dio, although urging him to do so.

McClellan announced the Rackets Committee has found out that Teamsters Union dues money apparently was used to pay a $21.66 hotel bill here in mid-July for former heavyweight champion Joe Louis.

That was when the famed "Brown Bomber" visited Washington and attended Hoffa's trial on charges of bribing one of McClellan's committee investigators.

Louis put his arm around Hoffa in the courtroom and described him as "my good friend." The jury of eight Negroes and four white persons later acquitted Hoffa, but the jurors said in a poll afterwards the race issue had not influenced their verdict.

Dulles to Present New Proposals

Plan Attempts to Join Open Skies Proposals With Ground Inspection

LONDON (AP)—U. S. Secretary of State Dulles today decided to present personally to the Soviet Union the West's new plan to guard against surprise military attacks.

Hoping to pep up the lagging U. N. disarmament talks by the weight of his prestige, Dulles was to outline a plan for a far-ranging system of air and ground inspection to the five-nation disarmament subcommittee this afternoon.

The new Western plan seeks to join together President Eisenhower's full "open skies" proposal made at the Geneva summit conference in 1955 with Soviet Premier Bulganin's subsequent proposals for international inspectors on the ground at key ports, rail junctions, frontier areas and airports.

Informants said Dulles would renew the offer to open up all American territory in return for ground and air inspection rights over all of the Soviet Union—a proposal turned down by the Kremlin.

FHA Home Loan Rate May Be Hiked Again

WASHINGTON (AP) — Another increase in FHA home loan interest rates is imminent, congressional sources said today.

They said they expect a boost from 5 to 5¼ per cent in the interest rate to be announced soon along with approval of lower down payments and new controls on the amount of discount—or premium—which may be charged borrowers on mortgage loans insured by the Federal Housing administration.

The housing administrator is authorized under law to raise the interest to a maximum of 6 per cent without coming to Congress for approval.

In addition to the current 5 per cent rate, FHA now charges an additional half of 1 per cent fee for insuring the mortgage loan to bring the total cost to 5½ per cent. An additional one quarter per cent would bring the cost to borrowers to 5¾ per cent.

A veteran member of the Washington press corps has been named Washington Bureau chief for the Booth newspaper chain.

William F. Pyper, former Flint and Lansing newsman, will fill the post left vacant by the death of Mark Foote.

Pyper, a resident of Flint, has served on the Flint Journal and as a correspondent at the Booth newspaper bureau in Lansing. He has covered Republican and Democratic national conventions and in 1952 traveled on campaign tours with President Eisenhower and Adlai E. Stevenson.

He has been with the Booth Washington staff since late 1945.

Find 1 Dead, 1 Hurt in Car Wreckage

A Royal Oak man was found dead and his companion, injured in the wreckage of their car at about 5:25 this morning on M53, two and one-half miles north of Burnside, in Lapeer County.

Dead was James T. Davis, 21, of 827 E. Fifth St., Royal Oak, driver of the car. Coroner Lyle Riddell said Davis had suffered a fractured skull and neck.

Edgar H. Burgess, 27, of 1010 La Prairie, Ferndale, owner of the vehicle, was listed in "fair" condition at Marlette Community Hospital with wrist and back injuries. He told officials he and Davis were going north to Kinde for the weekend when the accident occurred.

Community House Heads Plan Next Year's Slate

BIRMINGHAM — With the closing of the Birmingham Community House for its annual August vacation, Norman B. Weston, board president, said today that the $50,000 roll call drive was shy only $1,000. He thanked the 900 or more volunteer workers as well as contributors for their splendid support.

Weston also extended the board's thanks to Mrs. Alice Wessels Burlingame, who has assisted greatly in the exterior landscaping around the House.

The program is nearly completed and "vastly improves the appearance of the House," according to Weston.

The fall classes are designated to start about September 16. Registrations will begin with the reopening of the House September 3 and since all classes are limited early registration is urged.

★ ★ ★

New to the group this year will be a class in puppetry on the youth program. Francesca Bodycombe will conduct the classes each Thursday from 3:30 to 5 p.m.

The work will include making of puppets, marionettes, hand puppets, stick puppets and all phases of stage technique. This will be a ten-week course.

Old favorites back again will include classes in bridge, ceramics, dancing, design, enameling, flower arrangement, gardening, home making, interior decorating, millinery, photography, sculpturing, sewing, silverwork and painting for both adults and youths.

The Red Cross First Aid course also will be given again. The annual meeting for the House association will be held October 7. All contributors are eligible to vote for directors. Reports of the past year and future plans will be presented.

Although the time limits will be close, Birmingham City officials in cooperation with Troy and Oakland County are working toward the possibility of widening Adams road from Buckingham north to the city limits.

★ ★ ★

Acting city manager L. R. Gare said Birmingham's cost would run between $11-$12,000. Birmingham will stand the cost of the western edge, the county bearing the cost of the center and Troy paying for the eastern third of the roadway.

For the sake of safety, a reversal of pool rules was made this week by Robert Girardin, recreation director. He said children would not be able to attend family hours without a parent present.

After a four-day trial, pool attendants said they had no way of knowing which children are good enough swimmers to go into deep water without an actual test. Because of the number using the pool this is impossible.

Recipient of a $250 scholarship, Birmingham's school nurse, Frances Curtin is attending the Yale Summer School of alcohol studies in New Haven, Conn.

The award is from the Michigan State Board of Alcoholism. It is to provide professional people with a better understanding of alcoholism as it is related to their particular fields.

Lucian Ring

Diecast engineer for Grand Steel Manufacturing Co., Clawson, for the past 10 years, Lucian Ring, 55, of 4641 Charring Cross Rd., died yesterday at Beaumont Hospital. He had been ill with a coronary condition for a month.

He was a member of Palestine Lodge F&AM, was a 32nd degree Mason, and member of Boulevard Shrine Club, Moslem Temple, Red Run Golf Club and the Detroit Gun Club.

His only survivor is his wife, Angela J.

Palestine Lodge will conduct Masonic Rites at the 1 p.m. service Saturday from Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co., with burial in White Chapel Cemetery. The family suggests memorial tributes to the Heart Fund.

Receives Minor Injuries in Auto-Tractor Collision

Earl Bowern, 53, of 2791 Groveland Rd., Ortonville, was treated for minor accident injuries yesterday at Pontiac General Hospital and released.

★ ★ ★

Bowern was injured when his car collided headon with a tractor driven by Raymond F. Helias, 34, of Goodrich. The accident took place on Barron Road, about 100 yards south of Perryville road, in Groveland Township. Helias was uninjured.

Price War Unlikely, Gas Officials Say

Retail gasoline dealer association officials said today there is little, if any chance of a gas price war erupting over the recent Texas Oil Co. price reduction move.

★ ★ ★

Eugene McEnery, vice president of the North Oakland County Gas Dealers' Association, said only one or two Texaco dealers in the county have cut prices and this is definitely not the start of a gas price war.

In Detroit, Cash Hawley, general manager of the Retail Gas Dealers Association of Michigan, said a price war is possible but not probable.

Hawley earlier in the week had predicted the Texaco move would lead to a price war. He toned down that evaluation when only one major company, Socony-Mobil, indicated it "might" follow the Texaco lead.

Postal Workers Pray for Bill

Seek 'Divine Guidance' for Legislation to Hike Their Pay

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Postal workers — honor bound not to strike—held prayer meetings throughout the nation yesterday, seeking "divine guidance" for a bill pending in Congress which would raise their pay.

The House has passed a bill to add $546 a year to the $4,340 average salary of the nation's 518,000 postal workers. The bill is awaiting action in the Senate.

★ ★ ★

President Eisenhower strongly opposes the bill in its present form.

In Minneapolis, more than 1,000 workers held an early morning "pause for prayer" meeting. Dr. John B. Oman of Wesley Methodist Church urged the government to "lift the level of living for these public servants who serve so faithfully." Also leading prayers at the Minneapolis meeting was Rabbi Lewis N. Ginsburg.

★ ★ ★

In New York City, 200 off-duty postmen attended an outdoor meeting to pray that the President would not veto the bill. Prayers were led by the Rev. William Hohenschild, a guest preacher at Holy Trinity Protestant Episcopal Church in Manhattan.

Other meetings were held in Denver and Milwaukee.

The prayer meetings were suggested by President William C. Daugherty of the National Assn. of Letter Carriers, which claims 110,000 members.

Marilyn Loses Her Baby in Operation

NEW YORK (AP) — Glamorous Marilyn Monroe, wife of playwright Arthur Miller, lost her baby by an operation last night in Doctors Hospital, a medical source reported today.

"The baby was unsavable and it was urgent to protect the life of the mother," said the source who declined use of his name.

The operation followed a fast, ambulance trip yesterday from the Millers' summer home at Amagansett on the eastern end of Long Island.

★ ★ ★

An emergency call for the East Hampton ambulance service was made from the Miller home at 11 a.m. yesterday.

Dr. Hilliard Dubrow, New York gynecologist and one of Miss Monroe's physicians, happened to be in East Hampton at the time and traveled with the stricken film star and her husband.

When she was admitted to the hospital one of her doctors said Miss Monroe was "five or six weeks pregnant and was expecting her child at the end of March." There have been persistent rumors she was expecting a child.

★ ★ ★

She was wheeled from the ambulance in a stretcher. A sheet covered her famous body. Only her tousled blonde hair, her bare, sun-tanned feet and the top of her her blue pajamas sleeves were visible.

Miller, nervous and solicitious, helped wheel the stretcher. At the elevator he leaned over the stretcher, put his arm around his wife's waist and whispered to her.

She was taken to a $26-a-day ninth floor room. Miller took a room in the hospital's hotel section.

★ ★ ★

Miller said he could not recall any incident that could have induced a threatened miscarriage. He said his wife had been "resting, digging clams and swimming" on their vacation.

★ ★ ★

The medical source said that "no difficulties" were anticipated as a result of the operation and that Miss Monroe was "doing as well as can be expected."

★ ★ ★

It was learned that the operation was performed by Dr. Dubrow and Dr. Bernard Berglas, also a gynecologist.

★ ★ ★

Miss Monroe and Miller were married in a civil ceremony at White Plains, N. Y., on June 29, 1956. Two days later they were married in a reform Jewish ceremony in South Salem, N. Y.

Outlaw of Prayer Angers Parents

Drafting New Jersey Bill to Allow School Grace

TRENTON, N. J. (AP) — The attorney general's office said today it is preparing an amendment to New Jersey law that would permit children to say grace before meals in public elementary schools.

The legal division of the attorney general's office recently ruled grace is a religious exercise and is thus barred under state law.

★ ★ ★

Atty. Gen. Grover C. Richman Jr. was reported "unhappy" with the results of the opinion, which angered residents of Edgewater Park, and has instructed that an amendment to the law be prepared for submission to the legislature.

★ ★ ★

About 98 per cent of the adults in the Edgewater Park school district have signed a petition asking that saying of grace be continued. It had been the practice there before the attorney general's opinion was issued.

State law now requires the reading of at least five verses of the Old Testament, without comment, in each classroom to start the school day. The Lord's Prayer may also be repeated.

Seeks Electronic Postal System

Rep. Fulton Suggests Using 5-Cent Stamps as 1st Step Forward

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Fulton (R-Pa) suggested today that 5-cent stamps be required on all first-class letters to help finance an electronic postal service.

★ ★ ★

He would eliminate the air mail stamp, saying the post office should send letters "by the fastest means under the circumstances," whether by air or otherwise.

Fulton outlined his idea this way:

★ ★ ★

"Let the stamp buyer route his letter." The whole country would be zoned; so would the cities. A stamp buyer would punch buttons according to zones to perforate the stamp and mail his letter, a machine would route it down the right chute, and it would be on its way.

Fulton said in an interview this electronic system would virtually eliminate hand sorting of mail and that "the savings would be astronomical."

★ ★ ★

Fulton estimated the proposed 5-cent stamp, plus some graduated raises on second and third class mail, would add about 700 to 800 million dollars a year to postal revenues.

He said he figures the Post Office Department would just about break even under his plan. It is operating now under an annual deficit estimated at some 650 million dollars.

F. W. Dodge Sees Rise

DETROIT (AP)—F. W. Dodge Corp. reported Thursday that contracts for future construction in Michigan in June total $136,757,000. The agency said this was an increase of one per cent compared to June a year ago.

18 Persons Tried for Armas Killing

GUATEMALA (AP)—Eighteen persons are on trial before a military court for complicity in the assassination of President Carlos Castillo Armas.

★ ★ ★

Another 36 persons are being held for investigation, National Security Chief Ismael Ortiz Orellana disclosed last night.

The 18 on trial were reported unofficially to be army officers and soldiers. Possibly they also include palace guards, who technically are not in the army.

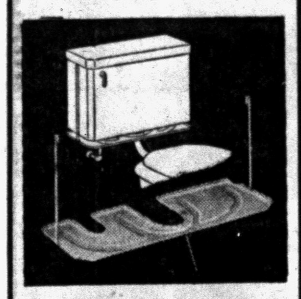

★ ★ ★

Costillo Armas was shot last Friday night by a palace guard, Romero Vasquez Sanchez, who officials said was a Communist fanatic. After killing the President, who ousted a Communist-tinged government three years ago, the guard killed himself.

Recalls Day Father Swore In Son as U.S. President

(A small but solemn group watched as father swore in son as president of the United States. The only newsman among them was covering for The Associated Press. Today he recalls the simple ceremony, and tells how the town is commemorating what happened 34 years ago.)

By JOE FOUNTAIN

PLYMOUTH, Vt. (AP)—This tiny hamlet, almost lost in the green Vermont hills, tomorrow will relive its golden moment in American history.

It was 2:47 on a sultry summer morning, Aug. 3, 1923, that Calvin Coolidge, vice president of the United States, stood in the lamplit parlor of his family's homestead while his father, a notary public, swore him in as president.

★ ★ ★

Only a few hours before, President Warren G. Harding had died in San Francisco.

In tomorrow's ceremony, John Coolidge, son of the 30th President, will hand to Gov. Joseph B. Johnson a deed giving the state title to the house for a museum.

Already Plymouth, a town of 348 residents, has become a tourist attraction. Visitors from all states are flocking in. They have averaged 1,000 a month this summer.

The townsfolk never cashed in before on the fact that one of the most unique events in the nation's political history occurred here. But years, like distance, seem to lend enchantment.

★ ★ ★

A decade ago, Vermont state officials thought something should be done to perpetuate the memory of one of its most famous sons. A move was started to create a Coolidge memorial at Plymouth. The deeding of the homestead is the result.

Mrs. Grace Coolidge, the President's widow, agreed last year to give the little white house on a Plymouth side street to the state, and the Legislature appropriated $12,000 to renovate and restore it to its 1923 appearance.

But Mrs. Coolidge did not live to see the presentation. She died July 8.

Only three persons are still alive who saw Col. John C. Coolidge administer the oath of office. They are Herbert P. Thompson of Pittsfield, Mass., Joseph McInerny of Washington, and this writer.

McInerny was the Coolidge chauffeur, since retired from government service.

Thompson, a post office worker in Pittsfield, was a member of the small group which heard of Harding's death and motored from Springfield, Vt., with Porter Dale, then a congressman, later to become senator from Vermont, and this writer, who was then editor of the weekly Springfield Reporter and a correspondent for The Associated Press.

Other reporters — assigned to Coolidge for several days — had been at the scene earlier. But there was only one telephone in Plymouth, and the government had commandeered that, so they had headed elsewhere with their stories of how the household was awakened by a messenger bearing a telegram with news of Harding's death.

When Dale convinced the vice president that he should take the oath immediately, I had an exclusive story and a beat for The AP.

Several days later, I interviewed the President's father, and asked him how he knew he had the necessary constitutional authority to swear in his son—a ceremony usually reserved for the chief justice of the United States.

He was as sparing of speech as his son, and replied: "I didn't know that I couldn't."

And he didn't know, because the Constitution outlines the form of the oath, but does not specify who will administer it.

The "Oath Room" has been restored just as it was on that historic morning There is the table on which Aurora Pierce, the housekeeper, had placed a spotless oil lamp, the only illumination in the room. Also on the table was the open Coolidge family Bible, which was used in the ceremony, and a farm tool catalogue.

In one corner of the room is the old secretary desk on which the President, as a student, had written a prize-winning essay on the causes of the American Revolution.

In the years since, Calvin Coolidge has become a somewhat legendary character. Popular opinion links him to economy, sly wit, shrewdness, and above all, honesty.

★ ★ ★

His eyes could sparkle brightly on occasion, as on the night he become president and maneuvered this 24-year-old newspaperman into paying for a soft drink for Congressman Dale.

We had all gone to the village store to quench our thirst. As we put the empty bottles down on the counter, the man who in a few minutes would be president carefully reached in his pocket, brought out a purse, dug deep in the change compartment. His eyes twinkling, he laid a single nickel beside the bottles.

Congressman Dale and I were both surprised but I recovered first and managed to get my dime down to cover the other two drinks.

In the intervening years, many facts of Coolidge's decision to have his father administer the oath have come to light. As a reporter, I think it may have been because he liked to do the unusual, liked to surprise people, and did it with the proverbial tongue in cheek.

Impose Military Rule in Cuba

New U.S. Ambassador Criticized for Remarks on Demonstration

HAVANA (AP)—President Fulgencio Batista's army held Cuba under strict military rule today after an anti-Batista demonstration in the prorebel city of Santiago de Cuba.

★ ★ ★

Comments on the demonstration and the situation in Cuba by Earl E. T. Smith, the new U.S. ambassador, brought a fusillade of criticism from political leaders loyal to the President.

Batista's Cabinet suspended constitutional guarantees for 45 days and immediately directed the army to take control of Santiago, capital of Oriente province and a hotbed of anti-Batista sentiment.

★ ★ ★

A general strike had been called in the city to protest police action in dispersing Wednesday's demonstration. Most places of business were closed, although police forced some food stores to reopen. Port operations were halted and banks were shut down.

A cafe near Santiago that had remained open was hit by gunfire and hand grenades hurled from two automobiles last night.

Cow Assists Bees, Farmer Goes Home

BIG RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — Farmer Frank Green of nearby Morley went out to the pasture to bring in his cow.

As Green neared, the cow kicked over a nest of bees. The bees attacked Green, who began batting them out of the way with his straw hat. The hat slipped out of his hand and fell to the ground. The cow ate it. Green covered his head with his arms and headed for home without the cow.

Police From 2 States Snag Wayward Bus

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Massachusetts and Rhode Island police joined forces last night to catch a wayward Greyhound bus which missed a stop and left 29 would-be passengers stranded in brockton, Mass.

When the bus failed to show up In Brockton, state police at Rehoboth, Mass., were notified, but the bus had already passed there. Police at Seekonk ran out on the highway as the bus whizzed by—too late to halt it. Finally a police cruiser caught up with it.

The driver turned around and went 34 miles back to Brockton.

A company official said he was a new man.

The "bald" eagle really isn't. Those few white feathers on top of his head just make him look "bald."

Maybe Lifetime Protection

Prisoners Getting Test Shots of Vaccine Which May Give Immunity to Cancer

By EDWIN DIAMOND
INS Science Writer

A vaccine designed to give humans protection against—possibly lifetime immunity to—deadly cancer is now being tested at Ohio penitentiary in Columbus.

Prisoner volunteers are receiving injections of the still-experimental vaccine, which is made from "killed" cancer cells.

The project is the first of its kind ever attempted and represents the potential big jump in the slow step-by-step effort to develop an anti-cancer shot for mankind.

In a few weeks, scientists will have some preliminary idea how well the vaccine confers immunity against cancer. The series of vaccine shots will be followed by implanting live human cancer cells in the arms of volunteers. If the implants fail to "take" or are thrown off quickly, then the vaccine is an experimental success.

Once it is demonstrated the vaccine gives immunity, the next big question is for how long — and against how many of the numerous wildly-growing "outlaw cell" varieties that go by the general name of cancer?

NEED YEARS OF TESTING

The scientific directors of the project acknowledge this question can be answered only after years of large-scale vaccinations of the public.

Effectiveness of the vaccine would be judged by comparing the cancer rate of a community before inoculation with the rate after inoculation. This is similar in principle to the way the effectiveness of the Salk anti-polio vaccine was demonstrated.

The cancer vaccine is made of human cancer cells killed by chemical means, much the same way the Salk vaccine and other vaccines are prepared.

The program is being conducted by the Sloan-Kettering Institute for Cancer Research, under the direction of Dr. Chester M. Southam.

Co-operating with Southam is warden Ralph Alvis. Many of the prisoner volunteers are drawn from the same ranks that submitted to earlier cancer studies.

★ ★ ★

These studies prepared the way for the current vaccine program by demonstrating:

—When normal, healthy persons are given live cancer implants, the cells "take" initially but are thrown off within one month. In cancer victims, on the other hand, such implants grow rapidly.

—This means healthy persons have some natural immunity to cancer absent in cancer victims. Additionally, it provides a measure of vaccine-induced immunity: if similar implants are rejected immediately by healthy volunteers who have been vaccinated, then this quick reject can be credited to the shots.

Last February, representatives of news media were allowed to enter Ohio Penitentiary to interview the prisoner volunteers and witness implant experiments.

At that time, there was no hint that a vaccine program was planned. And, as of today, no public inkling of the plan has been given.

PRISON PAPER REVEALED

A recent issue of the prisoner-run newspaper reveals the entire vaccination program, and details of the program have been confirmed by scientific authorities.

Dr. Southam told the paper's convict-editor his plan of vaccinations followed up by implants and explained:

"Such an experiment is only possible in humans. If the men still want to help, we are willing to do it."

He told the prisoners that "about 50 volunteers were needed to take a series of anti-cancer shots followed by implants."

If this pilot project, now under way, proves successful, he said some 500 to 1,000 more volunteers would be needed for large-scale tests.

★ ★ ★

Asked by his interviewer if a cancer vaccine is "a dream," Southam replied:

"Everything is a dream until someone does it."

1812 Mackinac Island Building to Be Razed

MACKINAC ISLAND (AP)—City council voted last night to tear down the Clerk's Quarters, one of the oldest buildings on the island, because of a lack of funds to restore it.

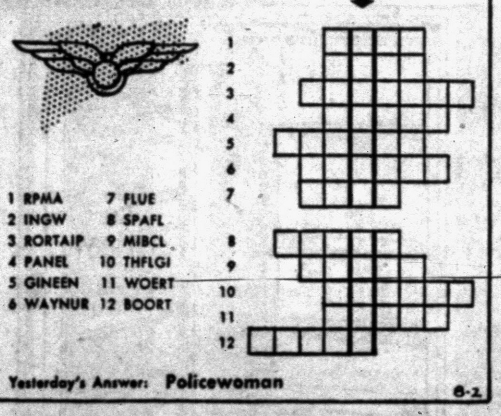

★ ★ ★

The building, one of the original properties of John Jacob Astor's fur-trading business on the island, has been vacant for some time and has fallen into disrepair. It was built around 1812.

GI Sends Rickshaw to Stunned Brother

CLEVELAND (INS) — Frank Ellis of Cleveland received a call from the express office informing him there were two packages from Okinawa for him.

Ellis got in his car and drove down to get the packages. When he got there he found the packages weighed 721 pounds and he needed a truck to get them home.

After opening the packages found a handsome two-wheeled rickshaw. Ellis said he was stunned.

The surprise package was from his brother, Marine Sgt. William Ellis, who is stationed on Okinawa. Ellis had promised his relative that on his next trip to the Orient he would ship them a rickshaw.

Everybody forgot the promise but Sgt. Ellis, and his relatives wish he had.

Resistance Groups Keep Villages Safe

CALCUTTA — Village resistance groups organized to deal with decoits (Indian bandits), are credited with ending the villagers' feeling of helplessness.

Gone are the days when dacoits used to raid houses after giving advance warning of their coming because they knew they would never be challenged. Resistance groups have killed many of these marauders and now they even are organized to track down criminals.

While women are not members of the resistance groups, many have performed brave deeds. Many village women, who generally are shy and timid, have been enthused to the point of fighting beside their men.

The V.R. movement is credited to H. N. Sircar, Police Inspector-General, who realized that police could not possibly man all the villages.

Plaid cloth is believed to have originated in Egypt.

French Togoland Becoming Modern

LOME, Togoland — French-administered Togoland, recently congratulated by the United Nations General Assembly on its political, economic and social progress, now has 35 labor unions, Lome reports. Its Labor Code provides for the rights to bargain collectively and to strike, for paid vacations and the 40-hour week. About the size of West Virginia, the African country now moving toward self-government is 124 miles wide and 372 miles long.

It is situated between the Gold Togoland, on the west, and Dahomey (French West Africa) on the east. Its inhabitants are more than a million Voltaics, Benins, Ewes and other native ethnic groups. Only about 1,200 Europeans live there. Essentially agricultural, it already has plants to gin cotton, press oil, make soap and treat cassava and copra.

Asia's population ratio averages 77 persons per square mile.

'When Man and Woman Are Both Smart, There's Too Much Talk'

Zest for Life Fills South Americans

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS) — "Habits," says Maria Antinea, struggling to keep the wide-eyed look under several heavy layers of mascara, "is a wonderful things. I wouldn't chance my habits for nothing in the world.

★ ★ ★

"But however, habits can be very frustrate. Like make you want to go pow! Over the head."

Mme. Antinea was, I believe, talking about the relationship between men and women.

At least that was the question put to her. Why, she had been asked, are her fellow South American women so far behind the women of the United States in assuming independence?

★ ★ ★

Throughout Europe, the female sex is becoming "Americanized" and, more and more, pulling itself up to an equal footing with men. Why not in South America?

IN ANY LANGUAGE

"Oof!" remarked Maria in Spanish. The interpreter explained the word means the same in any language. "Since a little girl I grow up without mentality to beat over man's head. This is habits.

"A South American man likes it this way. If a girl is born too smart, she is not well-seen."

★ ★ ★

Maria Antinea, a long, lithe lady who has just made her debut at the Roxy Theater on Times Square after many years as Argentina's highest salaried dancer-comedienne, thinks maybe North American women have the right idea, from a scientific point of view.

But for sheer joy of living — for the excitement that comes of action, passion, depths and heights of feeling between one sex and the other — you'd have to pick, she claims, the South American way.

"When man and woman are both smart," she says logically, "there is too much talk, talk, talk. Argentinians don't talk so much. They sing and dance and suffer.

★ ★ ★

"All our songs, you say, are sad songs. It's because both woman and man are sentimental, and both are jealous at all times.

"Maybe it's not smart to be jealous — it's frustrate. But when you feel terrible some of the time, you feel that much happy the rest of the time."

HAPPILY MARRIED

Spanish-born Mme. Antinea has been married happily for 16 years to Enrique Kotliarenco, a Chilean impresario who discovered her, starred her and has made a fortune from her talents. But before that, she was married for a "misery" three years to a bullfighter. She describes it:

"He's a hero — nice, very good-lookin'. I suffer very much, because of the woman. He was a lover, like all bullfighters. It was unbearable.

★ ★ ★

"This was real living!"

And if her present husband, a faithful fellow, ever removes his nose from the grindstone and his eyes from Maria?

"This is real dyin'. I die emotionally. He maybe—", the comedienne grins amiably, "—just die."

There's that old South American habit business again.

Private Ownership Disappears in China

HONG KONG (AP) — Private ownership has virtually disappeared in Red China, Peiping Radio claimed yesterday in reporting completion last year of a "Socialist transformation plan."

The report said that by the end of 1956, "a year of tremendous change in China's national economy," 92 per cent of all peasant households were in agricultural cooperatives and 90 per cent of all cultivated land was worked collectively.

★ ★ ★

The broadcast added that 98.7 per cent of all industrial output came from state-controlled companies and only 3 per cent of all commercial undertakings were privately owned.

Glowing Objects Reported in Sky Over West Coast

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — From southern California to Portland, Ore., from Salt Lake City to the coast, Western skies last night glowed to the light of a hurtling object or objects.

The main one — if there was more than one — appeared to disintegrate over Yreka, Calif., near the Oregon border. It made an explosion heard all over Siskiyou County.

★ ★ ★

Most observers thought it was a meteor. It was seen about 9:30 p.m.

In Eureka, Calif., 250 miles north of here, amateur astronomer William Abbey said the brilliant bluish-green object was traveling north when it disintegrated in the northast section of the sky. That would place it near Yreka, 50 miles in that direction.

★ ★ ★

Abbey said the object was trailing fragments from its red and yellow tail which dropped straight down. Other reports agreed that pieces appeared to fall off and drop straight to earth.

Telephone calls swamped newspapers and radio stations from the Columbia River to south of the Tehachapis and east to the Great Salt Lake.

Woman Claims She Took $96,000 for Horse Betting

CLEVELAND (AP)—Cleveland detectives today investigated the story of a motherly, 46-year-old bookkeeper for a law firm who signed a statement that in the last four years she took $96,000 to bet on the horses.

The woman, Mrs. Louise Madigan, wife of a deputy sheriff and sister of a city detective, said she bet as much as $600 at a time. The wagers went into envelopes marked with the number 1109, and Mrs. Madigan said she would hand the envelopes to a man named Bill, who she met every morning. Detectives said none of of the known bookies in Cleveland match the description she gave.

Investigators expressed doubts about some portions of Mrs. Madigan's story and said it appeared she was covering up for someone.

She was tripped up three weeks ago when she went to three different members of the firm and had each one sign a check for $300, saying the money was needed by another member for a business trip.

She had worked for the firm for nine years.

Has Longest Drought

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Officials say Greater Philadelphia has had its longest drought in 85 years of record keeping. Weather Bureau statistics which go back to 1872 also indicated the driest July in history for this area. A total of .64 of an inch of rain fell last month. The previous record low was .74 in 1894.

Denver Dedicates Park Honoring Mrs. Eisenhower

DENVER (AP)—Denver had a new park today, named in honor of the First Lady, who was the guest of honor at dedication ceremonies under a blazing sun.

Various dignitaries were introduced. But it was Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower, at times on the verge of happy tears, who struck the note that caught the hearts of the crowd.

★ ★ ★

"I hope in years to come mothers will say to their children," at this point she clapped her white-gloved hands, "Now hurry up and run along and play in Mamie Eisenhower's park.'"

Denver Mayor Will F. Nicholson said Mamie Doud Eisenhower Park now occupies an area once favored by the First Lady as a picnic ground. He noted the park is an area of new homes, young parents and many children.

★ ★ ★

Waving her hand from the speaker's platform, the smiling First Lady said, "This is a wonderful, wonderful honor. All my love to you and my thanks for naming this park for me."

State Highway Toll Continues to Decline

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's highway death toll continued on the decline during July, state police reported today.

Provisional figures showed 122 persons were killed in traffic accidents during the month ending at midnight Wednesday. This represented a saving of 28 lives compared to the death toll of 150 during the same month last year.

Deaths for the first seven months of the year totaled 817, a saving of 155 lives compared to the 972 fatalities during the same period last year.

With the exception of June, when the toll was 115 both years, each month this year has reflected a reduction from last year.

"This encouraging record reflects not only the safety efforts of the press, radio, television, safety organizations and law enforcement groups, but also should be credited to more care exercised by drivers," said Joseph A. Childs, state police commissioner.

Childs added that the safety campaigns must be stepped up since the remaining months traditionally have a higher percentage of the year's death toll.

Typhoons that originate north of the equator spin in a counter-clockwise direction while those south of the equator turn clockwise.

New Experiments Show Ways to Seed Pastures

WASHINGTON (INS) — New experiments show that farmers may be able to establish good pastures with one-third the fertilizer and one-half the seed now considered necessary.

★ ★ ★

The modern methods of pasture seeding would help farmers in two ways—both affecting their ba nk balances.

Legume and grass seeds and fertilizer are costing the nation's farmers about 300 million dollars a year for establishing hay and pasture crops. Expense-cutting could mean substantial savings.

New seeding methods would also benefit farmers participating in the soil bank conservation program these farmers receive payments amounting to about 80 per cent of the cost of establishing a cover on land which is set aside and not harvested.

★ ★ ★

But if a farmer's first seeding attempt on soil bank land fails, he has to stand the full cost of establishing the pasture crops in following years.

Agriculture Department scientists and state experiment stations are cooperating to find the cheapest ways of setting up a good pasture. Some of the tests have been in progress six years, but much work remains to be done.

The scientists are already finding that proper placement of fertilizer at planting time not only reduces costs but helps to hold back weeds, a major problem in pasture establishment.

Farmers Share of Food Dollar Dips to 39 Cents

WASHINGTON (INS) — The farmer's share of the housewife's food dollar has dwindled to 39 cents as marketing costs push to new high levels.

The Agriculture Department's "Marketing and Transportation Situation" report reveals that in the second quarter of this year marketing costs climbed six per cent over the same period last year.

Farm products cost more, too, but the rise was only three per cent.

A year ago, the farmer received 41 cents of every food dollar. Ten years ago he split the food dollar equally with the marketman.

★ ★ ★

The trend toward higher farm prices and marketing costs has put higher price tags on grocery store items. The cost of the "market basket" — an imaginery device big enough to hold all the food an average family eats in a year — climbed to $1,002 last May. That was 34 dollars more than a year earlier.

Opportunity in Beholder's Eye

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Some people could be left on a desert island and they would find a fascinating hobby or interest. Other people can live in the middle of a thriving community and they'd still complain of the lack of opportunity.

★ ★ ★

Opportunity, let's face it, is like beauty—it's in the eye of the beholder.

When my son and I were visiting recently in the suburbs, he became friendly with a boy down the street who was about his own age—thirteen.

After a couple of hours, John came back excitedly and asked "Can I help Davey with his job? He's a vacation gardener, like his grandfather. In fact, he's his grandfather's assistant."

Naturally, my ears went up at that and I went along.

Davey's grandfather turned out to be a very pleasant gentleman, in his late sixties, who was retired and a widower. He was pretty lonely at first.

GOES TO FLORIDA

"Winters aren't so bad," he told me, "because I go South to a little shack I have in Florida. I have friends there, too; people I've known a long time. But in order to afford that, I have to stay here in the summer with my daughter and her family.

"Now they're very nice and I have my own room and all. I do odd jobs around the house to keep busy and, when they're on vacation, I do the gardening and keep an eye on things. But it still isn't enough to keep me busy. So this summer, I cooked up this scheme.

★ ★ ★

His scheme turned out to be a service for his neighbors, for which he charged a modest fee.

"I take care of their gardens and plants while they go away on vacation," he told me. "But now I have more business than I can handle. That's where my grandson, Davey, comes in so handy. He works for me for a small salary. 'The business' makes life very interesting while I'm here, and gives me a nice nest egg for the winter in Florida!"

★ ★ ★

The age of opportunity didn't end with covered wagons. Opportunity exists here and now for people of any age who have an open mind.

★ ★ ★

If that's not a strong point of yours, send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope and I'll send you my pamphlet, "Pointers to an Open Mind."

May Child as Hostess Take Prize?

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: You have said many times in your column that a hostess should not accept a prize in her own house. Will you please tell me if the same rule applies to a young child who is hostess at her party?

"My daughter went to a birthday party recently and several games were played for which prizes were given. It so happened that the 'birthday child' won several of the prizes, which she kept.

When my daughter told me about this I was very much surprised.

"Don't you think, Mrs. Post, the mother was wrong in allowing her daughter to keep these prizes? I would very much appreciate your opinion on this."

Answer: If there were several prizes she might have been allowed to keep one. But ordinarily the birthday child does not keep any prizes that she wins. The prize is given to the runner-up.

The theory is to teach the child that a hostess does not keep prizes in her own house. Furthermore, the birthday child has undoubtedly received many presents already.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I know it is not considered proper for a man to give a woman friend money for a present, but would a gift certificate in the amount of 10 dollars from a leading department store be considered in the same light?

"It would be a very practical gift as she could then buy whatever she wants with it. Will you please give me your opinion of such a present?"

Answer: I am sorry, but this gift would really be the same as money.

Brief Baking Enough for Dessert

Mrs. Schraw Pours Cool Custard Over Fruit and Cookies

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

A quickly made banana pudding is a good dessert for the family. This pudding with its meringue topping may be served warm or chilled.

Mrs. Gerald Schraw is today's cook. She keeps more than busy with four children and working with a church group. All sports, but mainly bowling, are her choice for leisure time activities.

★ ★ ★

BANANA PUDDING
By Mrs. Gerald Schraw

¾ cup sugar
2 tablespoons flour
¼ teaspoon salt
2 cups milk
3 eggs, separated
1 teaspoon vanilla
3 large bananas
Vanilla wafers

With half the sugar (6 tablespoons), the flour, salt and milk, make a paste. Cook until thick, stirring constantly. Add beaten egg yolks and cook 5 more minutes. Add vanilla. Cool.

Line a deep dish or pan with vanilla wafers. Add a layer of sliced bananas. Repeat until bananas are gone. Pour cooled custard over entire bowl.

Make a meringue of egg whites and the remaining sugar. Spread on top of pudding. Bake 5 minutes in a 425-degree oven. Serves six.

Former King Steven crowns the new King Michael, king for a day in the "Lyon's Den." Douglas (not pictured) will have his turn on Aug. 16.

It's Christmas in August for 'King of Lyon's Den'

Last Christmas Carl Lyon of Hatchery road decided to give his three sons, Steven, Michael and Douglas, an unusual gift—one they would never forget.

On Christmas morning each of the boys found a note which would allow him to be "King of the Lyon's Den" for one day this summer. Mr. Lyon gave each boy permission to do anything on that one day (within reason) that he wished.

July 19 was Steven's day; and besides breakfast in bed (which is part of being King for a day) he went to the zoo, had dinner at a restaurant and saw a drive-in movie.

Michael will have his day today. He will operate a steam shovel and ride in an airplane.

Douglas will be King on Aug. 16 and he has already made his choice. He has tickets to see the Detroit Tigers play the Chicago White Sox in a night game.

Don't Abuse Aid

If a friend offers to take you to town in her car for shopping or lunch, don't ask her to make several stops on the way so that you can get a number of chores done while you have a "chauffeur" to wait for you.

River Robs Skirts of Permanent Pleats

Old habits die hard in the Philippines, some sportswear manufacturers learned to their chagrin.

When investigating why so many of their "guaranteed washable, permanently pleated" skirts were returned without a pleat left, they learned that the Filipino lasses were washing in the time-honored way of their great-grandmothers. The "guaranteed" skirts, pleats and all, were plunged in the river and beaten with a rock until clean.

Boy Lies to Get Parental Approval

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Hugh and his friend Rory were on their way home from Cub Scout meeting. As they were passing a building excavation, some men exploded dynamite. The boys decided to wait and see the next explosion.

★ ★ ★

Arriving home an hour late for supper, Hugh said he'd lost his Scout badge and had spent the two hours looking for it.

But Rory's mother had just telephoned the truth to his parents. Because Hugh's father was frightened by his lie, he became very angry. He feared that he'd lose all control of Hugh if the boy started making secrets of what he did.

He was so scared he couldn't see the only important thing to see about a lie—the child's belief that we disapprove his desires.

★ ★ ★

Thus Hugh's lie said to his father, "I am not a boy who could desire to see dynamite exploded. The only desires I have are those I know you approve. So I've spent these two hours virtuously laboring to find my Scout badge instead of watching men blast dynamite."

★ ★ ★

ATTACKED THE LIE

Unfortunately, Hugh's father didn't register the suspicious belief behind the boy's lie. He attacked the lie—and sent Hugh to bed, thoroughly convinced that his father could not tolerate a son who desired to watch explosions.

That we are an enemy of his desires is a dangerous conviction for any child to develop.

So the way to deal with lies is showing ourselves to be the friend of the child's desire.

We say to Hugh, "I'm all for your watching dynamite explode. What we dislike is the way you did it. You kept dinner waiting so that you have to eat it cold. You've worried us so that we're angry instead of being glad you had a good time.

"If you'd let us know where you were, these things wouldn't have happened. What trouble you've caused yourself by doing a good thing the wrong way!"

★ ★ ★

We can't talk like this to our liar if we're all steamed up with panic that he's beginning a secret life.

So it's pretty important to see that his lie doesn't herald a secret life at all. It's just his way of telling us he thinks we'd hate what he wanted to do.

Q. "I have two problems. My hair is falling out badly. Also, even though I get plenty of sleep, I have dark circles under my eyes."

★ ★ ★

A. The dark circles are usually hereditary. However, they can come from malnutrition, loss of sleep, or poor health due to some specific cause. Since you get enough sleep and are also having trouble with a loss of hair I think you should have a physical check-up. Both conditions may be due to the same cause.

★ ★ ★

Q. "Someone has told me not to use vinegar rinses because they will make my hair turn gray. Is this so?"

★ ★ ★

A. No.

★ ★ ★

Q. "How do you use a lip brush when applying lip rouge?"

★ ★ ★

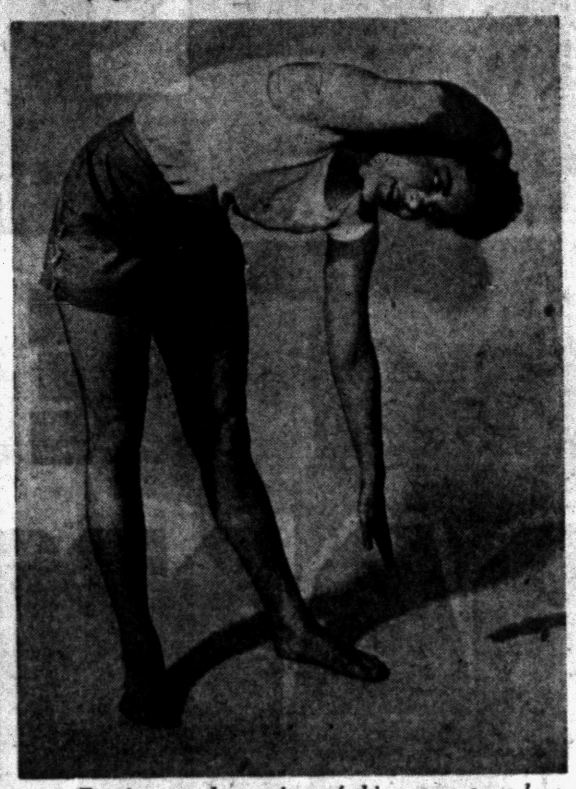

A. First be sure that the lips are entirely clean and dry. Outline the natural shape of your lips with the brush. Do not distort the lips while outlining them. Then fill in.

★ ★ ★

Q. "The hair on my upper lip is very dark and noticeable. Please tell me what I can do about it. It is making me self-conscious."

A. The hair is probably too fine to remove with tweezers. Therefore I suggest that you bleach it often with peroxide. It may well be worth while to have it removed permanently by electrolysis.

Q. "Since my baby came I have gained ten pounds. I needed these since I was underweight but the trouble is that it all seems to have landed on my abdomen. What should I do?"

Try increased exercises of this nature to reduce extra weight in the waist and abdomen regions.

A. Just as soon as your doctor gives his permission take abdominal exercises.

★ ★ ★

Q. "Please tell me what I should eat to make my legs thinner."

★ ★ ★

A. There is no one food which is either slimming or developing. If you are overweight generally, and lose, the loss will show in your legs. Certain exercises are helpful, too. If you or any of my other readers would like to have my exercises for the legs, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 13 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

★ ★ ★

Q. "Is makeup harmful to the skin?"

★ ★ ★

A. No, not if you cleanse your face and neck once or twice each day, especially before going to sleep at night.

Q. "Will permanent waves hurt the hair?"

★ ★ ★

A. No, not if you have a good operator. The scalp would have to receive injury for there to be any permanent harm done anyway.

Buy Washable Paint

If you plan to do any painting, choose washable paints. You'll be able to do your "dusting," so to speak, with a sudsy sponge—once over lightly, and painted surfaces will stay attractive indefinitely.

Man-Made Fibers Important

Check Wash Suit 5 Ways

Here are five important construction features to look for in wash-and-wear suits.

1. Fabric with a high percentage of "Dacron," "Acrilan," or "Orlon" for good wrinkle-recovery, press-retention, and quick drying.

★ ★ ★

2. Shrink-resistant nylon or "Dacron" thread and good stitching.
3. Shoulder padding of man-made fibers.
4. Durable lining of nylon or "Dacron"—just enough to offer protection and body in the shoulder and sleeve areas.
5. Well-made lapels and pockets that lie smooth and flat.

★ ★ ★

There are three different methods for laundering wash-and-wear suits. The automatic-washer-dryer method is recommended if you have a dryer with a selection of heats. Otherwise, you may wash in an automatic washer and drip-dry or wash by hand and drip-dry.

Creates Problem

If your hostess has a maid who might possibly be within hearing distance, don't start talking on the "servant problem." Such a conversation is likely to be resented by the maid.

Even though it is the bride who writes the thank-you notes for wedding gifts, the groom might want to write a few in addition to hers.

Edward Slaughter Takes Mary Maguire as Bride

In an all-white setting of gladioli and chrysanthemums, Mary Constance Maguire of Windsor and Edward George Slaughter of South Edith street were married July 27. The Rev. Charles Carrigan performed the double-ring ceremony in Sacred Heart Church of Windsor.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Wilton Maguire of Windsor, Canada, and the George Slaughters of South Edith street are the bridegroom's parents.

The bride was gowned in floor-length Alencon lace and tulle over bridal satin. The tiered skirt of lace and accordion-pleated tulle fell into a cathedral train. A coronet of beaded lace held her two-tiered veil of French illusion, and she carried an arrangement of Joanna Hill roses and stephanotis.

As maid of honor, Marilyn Quinn wore a princess-style gown of candy pink polished cotton. Her cartwheel hat was banded with chiffon, and she carried pink carnations.

★ ★ ★

The bridesmaids were Carol Chapman, Ruth Gillen and Nancy Kennedy, all cousins of the bride. They wore gowns identical to that of the honor attendant.

ASSIST BRIDEGROOM

Dudley Moore assisted the bridegroom as best man. Seating the guests were James Bendig, Gino Appoloni, Dalmo Chapdelaine, and a brother of the bride, William Maguire.

An early afternoon reception was held at the Elmwood Casino.

The bride's mother chose a dusty pink organza gown and silk organza hat in matching pink. She wore a purse corsage of sweetheart roses.

The mother of the bridegroom wore a champagne lace sheath over taffeta, a mauve feathered hat and a tiger lily corsage.

★ ★ ★

Expect Kill of 18,540

'Any Deer' Permits May Be Increased This Year

LANSING (AP)—Recommendations for "any deer" hunting seasons this year in 32 food shortage and crop damage areas will come before the state conservation commission at its Aug. 8-9 meeting.

Conservation department proposals call for issuance of 60,430 hunting permits and an anticipated kill of 18,540 deer of any age or sex during the special seasons.

The harvest would exceed the special season goal of last year by about 2,000, and would be in addition to the regular buck kill during the standard Nov. 15-30 shooting period.

In 1956, nearly 61,000 bucks were bagged during the regular season and 12,800 more by special season hunters in 22 areas.

Five of the proposed special season areas for this fall would be in the Upper Penninsula, 26 in the northern lower peninsula and only one in the remainder of the state. About 12,300 square miles of territory would be involved.

A major change recommended by the department would establish concurrent Nov. 15-30 "any deer" seasons for permit holders in all five U. P. locations, and in 13 of the 26 special areas in the northern lower peninsula.

Dates from Dec. 1-8 were recommended for a crop damage area in Allegan County, and special shooting dates Dec. 1-2 in the other locations.

Recommended quotas would include issuance of 5,680 permits to take 3,060 deer in the U. P.; 53,250 permits for the northern lower peninsula, to take 15,390 deer, and 1,500 permits for the Allegan County area, designed to harvest 90 deer.

Brodie All-Star Passing Leader

Sparks Aerial Practice as Collegians Work on Protection

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — John Brodie, Stanford's classy quarterback, stole the spotlight yesterday as All-Star coach Curly Lambeau put his quarterback crew through a passing drill.

Brodie's short and long passes highlighted a drill at Northwestern's Dyche Stadium as the collegians brushed up on pass protection. Notre Dame's Paul Hornung, Jim Harris of Oklahoma and Purdue's Len Dawson also show up well for the collegians.

All-Star linemen received attention with coaches putting the emphasis on low tackling for the All-Stars game with the world champion New York Giants Aug. 9 at Soldier Field.

Wayne Bock, the Chicago Cardinal choice from Illinois, Henry Jordan of Virginia, and big Mike Sandusky of Maryland impressed.

Jordan, the 240 pound Cleveland Browns draft pick, and Bock are expected to see much action defensively for the collegians.

Cranbrook Leads 'D' on Win Over Police

Cranbrook took over 1st place in the Class D junior baseball league by downing the Pontiac Police nine 3-1 in a pitcher's duel yesterday. The victory broke a tie between the teams for the lead.

Tom Estes won it on a three-hitter as Cranbrook put together two hits, a walk and fielder's choice to break a 1-1 deadlock in the 5th and beat Terry Zellhart. Auburn Heights just missed winning its 1st one in the other "D" tilt bowing to Don Nicholie 5-4 for defeat No. 11.

Bert Bell Supports NFL Players

Nine Pro Clubs Voice Approval of Recognition

Commissioner's Action Draws Criticism From 3 Other Teams

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Football League (NFL) players' union, hardly out of infancy, enjoyed unexpected recognition today, but it still faced uncertainties in getting along with pro football management.

Officials of nine clubs voiced approval when NFL commissioner Bert Bell announced yesterday he would recognize and negotiate with the recently created NFL players assn.

Spokesmen for three others didn't condemn Bell's action — but neither did they do handsprings as a result of it.

Bell chose a house antitrust subcommittee hearing as the scene of his announcement.

Failure to recognize and bargain collectively with the players organization would be "against the best interest of the national football league and the public," Bell said.

The subcommittee is investigating football and other professional team sports to determine whether they should be immune from federal antitrust laws. Past refusal of NFL club owners to accept the players' association had nettled several lawmakers, including subcommittee chairman Celler (D-NY), Reps. Keating (R-NY) and Rodino (D-NJ). They commended Bell's decision.

Creighton Miller, the ex-Notre Dame backfield star who is now attorney for the association, said he was "most gratified" as long as Bell was empowered to speak for the league.

Bell told the subcommittee the NFL constitution gave him full authority to bestow recognition. He said he had not sought prior assent from the club owners who had refused recognition at their annual meeting last winter.

George Preston Marshall, president of the Washington Redskins and an undisguised foe of the association, at first commented he is "very fond" of Bell but that "commissioners sometimes have a habit of talking too much."

CHICAGO (INS) — Ed (Porky) Oliver, who fired a first round six-under-par 66, leads a closely packed field today in second round play of the $35,000 All-American golf tournament at Tam O'Shanter.

The 40-year-old Oliver's nearest rival for top money of $3,420 is Billy Casper Jr., of Bonita, Calif., whose 67 leaves him only a stroke behind the leader.

In the women's pro division, Fay Crocker of Montevideo, Uruguay, and Beverly Hanson of Indio, Calif., with identical 71s, lead the field of 31 with three-stroke margins.

Trailing Oliver and Casper, the leaders, with 68s were four players — Sammy Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., Shelley Mayfield of Jericho, Long Island, N. Y., Tommy Bolt of Los Angeles and Gay Brewer of Cincinnati, O.

Three Michigan men were also among the leaders. Bunched with 12 others at 71 were Max Evans, Rochester; Jack Fleck, also of Rochester, and Walter Burkemo of Franklin.

Three Michigan women were among the leaders.

Wiffi Smith of St. Clair was tied with two others at 80; Patricia Devany of Grosse Ille was in a two way tie with 84 and Barbara Rotvig of Ann Arbor stood all alone with 94.

★ ★ ★

Oliver has not won a tournament since June, 1956. Casper this year has captured the Phoenix Open and the Kentucky Derby Invitational.

Brewer, one of the four players who finished with 68s, lost a chance to tie Casper on the 18th green when he missed a 10-foot putt.

Fifty-nine of the 161 male pros equaled or bettered par of 72 in the first round. The field will be cut to scorers in the 60s, plus ties, following today's round.

Eight players, including Roberto de Vincenzo of Mexico City, wound up with first round 69s.

Most of the big names, including Dr. Cary Middlecoff and Doug Ford, the leading money winner this year, failed to impress. Middlecoff shot a 72 and Ford a 73.

Jets Rock Shaw's, 15-2

Union 9 Gets Big Chance

CIO Local 594 gets a golden opportunity to seize the lead in the tense Class A City Baseball League race today in a 1st place battle with Shaw's Jewelers at Wisner Field.

The stage was set for the late-season showdown when the Pontiac Jets handed the league-leading Jewelers a 15-2 pasting last night on the Wisner diamond.

Shaw's demise at the hands of the Jets almost overshadowed a brilliant no-hit, no-run performance by Jim Jones as Griff's Grill defeated the Michigan Giants, 2-0, at Jaycee Park.

This is the situation as the CIO and Shaw's prepare for their 5:30 p.m. struggle. The Jewelers are in 1st place with a 14-4 record while the Union team occupies the Beaver and pitcher Jim Addis. Addis worked the route for the Jets and scattered seven blows.

The dangerous Jets wasted little time with Shaw's yesterday. They scored runs in the 1st inning and kept up the pressure by counting at least once in every stanza but the 4th. Their best inning was a five-run 6th.

They assaulted three Shaw hurlers for 22 hits, including three apiece by Gene Cox, Joe Soto, Lee Jones hit three batters but didn't walk a man and struck out 12 in his no-hit masterpiece. John Shanks gave Jones all the support he needed by blasting a home run to lead off the 2nd inning.

Oil Played Large Part in Gains

U. S. Business Profits 4.5 Per Cent Ahead of 1956

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—American business profits are running ahead of last year by 4.5 per cent—thanks in large part to a profitable six months in the oil industry.

So far 588 corporations—covering all fields except financial and accounting for roughly half of total corporate profits in the nation—have reported net income after taxes for the first six months of 1957.

Of these 308 show an increase over the first half of 1956, while 280 are behind. This year 21 operated at a net loss, compared with 19 the previous year.

Of 503 industrials, 266 gained and 237 declined from year-ago figures. Combined, the 503 have net income of $4,741,464,757, which is 5 per cent above a year ago.

The 28 oil companies in the list have the largest combined earnings of any group—$1,400,615,206, up 17.2 per cent. Subtract the oil group from the industrial list and the combined profits of the remaining 475 are only 0.7 per cent ahead of 1956's first half.

★ ★ ★

A price rise last January in crude oil and various price hikes in oil products since helped the oil industry's profits. But oilmen say the biggest boost came from supplying the Western European market while the Suez Canal was blocked. And some add that the second half of the year may show no such gain over 1956.

The 24 utilities reporting show the usual steady gain in profits, up 5.9 per cent this time. The 50 rails, with 36 reporting declines, reveal a combined profit decline of 10.3 per cent.

Among the industrial groups the best gains over a year ago are reported by aircraft equipment, coal, auto equipment, oil, food, aircraft, autos and trucks, business machines, drugs, tobacco and machinery.

Nonferrous mining companies report sharply lower profits this year, due largely to the weakness in metal prices. Also declining are packing, paper and its products, building materials and appliances. The airlines are down and surface shipping up.

Altogether the 588 corporations show profits of $5,702,835,632, compared with $5,453,040,348 for the first half of 1956.

This gain of 4.5 per cent compares with a 5.5 per cent advance last year over the first half of 1955, an increase of 34.7 per cent that year over the first half of 1954, and the 2 per cent gain of 1954 over the 1953 first half.

★ ★ ★

The percentage of gain has been slipping fairly steadily in almost every reporting period since the first three months of 1956, which was 12 per cent ahead of the first quarter of 1955.

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co. said today its hourly-rated employes throughout the United States earned an average of $105.30 for a 41.4 hour work week in the first half of 1957.

Ford said its nationwide employment total reached a record 194,672 in the first six months of this year. The figure includes both hourly and salaried employes.

The company's previous record in employment came in the last six months of 1953, when it reached 186,105.

Machine Shop to Close Here

LaMonte Brothers End 39-Year-Old Business, 2 Plan Retirement

When a rush order from Tennessee is finished sometime today, the LaMonte Bros. Inc. machine shop will close its doors after 39 years of business in Pontiac.

The shop, located at 316 Irwin, specializes in automotive machine work.

★ ★ ★

Opened in 1918 by Harry Bailey and Charles Palmer, the shop was incorporated in 1920 as the Pontiac Die Tool and Machine Co. Charles LaMonte joined the firm in 1921 as sales manager, secretary and treasurer.

In 1951 Charles LaMonte was joined by his brothers, E. W. LaMonte and E. B. LaMonte and the name became LaMonte Bros.

When the present business is wound up, Charles plans to loaf a little before deciding on a future course. He is the oldest brother at 70.

E. W., who is 66, has retired twice but says he will "make it stick this time."

The 69-year-old E. B. will devote full time to a Detroit appliance firm which he heads as president.

★ ★ ★

Although actual work will finish today, the last legal day in the life of the firm will be Aug. 15. Prior to that date the brothers will sell all their property and equipment at the Irwin site.

Man Kills Wife, Her Sister, Self

No Motives Established for Slaying by Rich Philadelphia Resident

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The grandson of a former Philadelphia mayor killed his wife and sister-in-law, then committed suicide in his luxurious suburban Philadelphia apartment last night.

Police Chief Fred Roberts of Delaware County said Paul Warwick Jr., well-to-do Lansdowne, Pa., businessman, shot his wife Josephine, 35-year-old former ballet dancer, with a .38-caliber pistol, then killed her sister Mary McCann, 32. Warwick, 36, then fired a bullet into his own head, Chief Roberts said.

★ ★ ★

No motive for the shooting could be established immediately.

The slayings were not discovered until late last night when the mother and sister of the dead women arrived for a visit at the apartment.

Warwick was the grandson of the late Charles F. Warwick, Republican mayor of Philadelphia from 1895 to 1899. His father, a prominent Merion, Pa., investment banker, died in 1953. Warwick was part owner of a garden supplies store.

★ ★ ★

Police said Warwick and Miss McCann were found in the living room with his body stretched across hers. Mrs. Warwick's body was found on the landing outside the apartment.

Alter Rambler for Production

New Car to Be 3 Feet Shorter and 4 Inches Narrower Than Most

DETROIT (AP)—American Motors confirmed today it will put into production later this year a modified version of its previous 100-inch wheelbase Rambler model.

George Romney, president, said the new car, yet unnamed, will be "the lowest-priced, most economical, easiest handling" American-built sedan.

He said it will be nearly three feet shorter than the average American-built automobile and four inches narrower. It will accommodate five passengers.

Romney did not indicate the price of the projected car. Presumably it would be priced between the company's present 85-inch wheelbase Metropolitan and the 108 - inch wheelbase Rambler. The imported Metropolitan has a port-of-entry price of $1,527; the six-cylinder lowest price Rambler a suggested list of $1,961.

The new line will give American Motors a 1958 model lineup of the two-seater Metropolitan; the 100-inch sedan; the compact Rambler series, a foot and a half shorter than the average U. S. car, and the larger senior cars (Hudson and Nash).

Romney said: "Our decision to produce this smaller economy car is based on the increasing popularity of such cars, record sales of our Rambler line this year, and the numerous requests that we again have available in our line the shortest and smallest version of our Rambler series."

Romney said Rambler sales in May and June were the highest in the company's history and that Metropolitan sales are running at peak levels.

Earlier this week he said his company's sales for the current year should total 120,000 units and that next year's volume should be at least 50 per cent greater.

Prisoners Offer Their Own Platter Titles

WALPOLE, Mass. (AP) — Inmates at Massachusetts State Prison have their own ideas of what should go into a record "Album for convicts."

The current issue of Mentor, prison newspaper, offers these suggestions:

"Those 3500 Volts Are Breaking Up That Old Gang of Mine Blues."

"Up a Lousy River."

"Please Don't Talk About Me When I'm Paroled."

"You Ain't Nothin' but a Stool Pigeon."

"Throw Mama From the Train a File."

"On the Sunny Side of the Cell."

"I Might As Well Be Sprung."

"Ol' 'Lectric Chair's Got Me."

"People Will Say We're in Jail."

"Let's Put Out the Lights and Go Over the Wall."

Business Notes

Two assistant cashiers of the Pontiac State Bank, Mrs. Alice M. Kerns, 4745 Motorway Dr., and Mrs. Agnes W. Moore, 2727 Chadwick Dr., have been elected to membership in the National Association of Bank Women.

The 2,600-member organization is the only group in the nation made up exclusively of women bank executives.

Bear Attacks Cow, Calf

TRAVERSE CITY (AP) — A cow and a newborn calf on the J. L. Kesner farm at nearby Acme were recovering Friday from an attack by a black bear. Kesner, who said two boys told him they saw the bear in the pasture with the animals, said the cow suffered severe claw and teeth wounds while the calf received only minor injuries.

Railroad Career Over for Davis

64 Years With Atlantic Coast Line Come to End for Its President

WILMINGTON, N. C. (AP)—Champ Davis yesterday ended 64 years with the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad, 15 years as President.

Davis, called "Champ" (for Champion McDowell) by most of the 1,500 workers at the road's general headquarters here, stepped jauntily into the street after closing his office for the last time.

Nearly 1,000 employes lined the street as he passed down the steps. The 71-year-old Davis waved his straw hat as he walked down giving the workers their only chance to say goodbye.

"The demonstration was a complete surprise to me," he told reporters who visited his compartment on the train. "I was very, very touched. I guess that's all I can say . . . it is a wonderful climax to leave with everyone expressing good wishes."

Davis is going to Battle Creek where he will enter a sanitarium for the month of August. He has spent the last 33 consecutive Augusts there for rest and physical checkups.

Davis retired last month. The road's directors named W. T. Rice, president of the Richmond, Fredericksburg & Potomac Railroad, to succeed him.

Four Children Injured in City

Two Were Hurt While Riding Bicycles, Others in Auto Mishap

It was a rough day for youngsters in Pontiac yesterday, with four injured, two while riding bicycles.

John Breeze, 5, of 36 Moreland Ave., received lacerations of the head when he rode his bike into the side of a car pulling out of a driveway at 6 p.m. He was treated and released at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

Another bike rider, also sustained head injuries when a car backing out of a drive hit him. David Cenover, 7, of 133 Chamberlain St., was treated and released at St. Joseph. The accident occurred at 11 a.m. on Perry, near Paddock street.

Two other children were hurt while riding with their father on Mill, near Huron. John T. Restick, of 561 First St., told police a car pulled away from the curb suddenly forcing him to swerve and slam on his brakes.

His two children in the back seat were hurled forward into the front seat. One, James T. Restick, 23 months old, was taken to a private physician for treatment of cuts of the mouth and tongue.

Missionary Family to Study Abroad

MARLETTE—Mr. and Mrs. Warren Jackson and their daughter, Connie Lois, will leave New York by passenger ship August 30, for Lisbon, Portugal, where they will spend a year studying the Portuguese language.

Mr. and Mrs. Jackson have spent five years studying for the mission field, under the Methodist Board of Missions.

After completing their studies in Portugal, they will arrive in Angola, Africa in time for the annual conference in August 1958 when they will receive their specific appointment.

The Marlette Methodist Church will hold recognition service for them Sunday morning at 10:15 a.m. The church is presenting them with a station wagon for use on the field.

Broadway Backs Bill Aimed at Dominance

NEW YORK (AP)—A number of Broadway leaders are backing a bill in Congress aimed at Broadway's theatrical dominance.

The measure was introduced by Sen. Jacob Javits (R-NY) to establish a U. S. Arts Foundation that would stimulate non-commercial theater, music and dance enterprises throughout the country. White Way supporters feel increased activity will generate just that much more interest in its productions too.

Indecision Grips Stock Market

NEW YORK (INS) — Prices were highly mixed in dull and indecisive trading on the stock market today.

★ ★ ★

Few issues moved as much as a dollar in the pre-weekend dealings.

The Dow Jones industrial average dipped 49 cents in the first hour. Rails were unchanged at 11 a.m. and utilities showed a one-cent rise.

★ ★ ★

First hour volume of 320,000 shares fell 40,000 behind the previous session when the overall turnover of 1,660,000 was the lightest in four months.

Prices were mixed from the outset with even the recently active specialties showing little change.

Analysts said the recent market downdrift and lethargy do not necessarily reflect weakness. Instead, several suggest, they show Wall Street uncertainty over such factors as tight money, inflation and the corporate profit situation.

★ ★ ★

Some encouragement in the latter category came today in a study by the First National City Bank showing net profits increased six per cent among 741 companies which have disclosed their earnings for the first time.

★ ★ ★

DuPont attracted investment buying and was up nearly three dollars before midday. General Tire showed a gain of about the same size and Chrysler was up a dollar in an otherwise quiet motors list.

Buyers Again Boost Wheat

CHICAGO (AP)—Flour millers got into the wheat market again today and futures advanced with the September contract up a full cent at one time.

Heavy overnight sales of flour to big domestic baking firms was reported. This resulted in wheat futures purchases by millers against flour sales.

Near the end of the first hour, new style wheat was ⅜ to ½ higher, Sept. $2.16; corn was ⅛ to ⅜ higher, Sept. $1.29½; oats were unchanged to ¼ higher, Sept. 65¾; rye was 1¾ to 2 cents higher, Sept. $1.31¾; soybeans were ¼ to ¾ higher, Sept. $2.44½; and lard was 3 to 7 cents a hundred pounds lower, Sept. $13.25.

Soybeans were up more than a cent on some contracts, influenced by a tight cash bean situation and the fact that country processors again advanced their buying basis to the country last night by one cent a bushel. Offerings, however, remained light.

Corn held about steady in a light mixed trade, getting pretty good support at yesterday's closing level. Rye was higher in sympathy with wheat.
