New 'Chauffeur' for Mamie

DRIVE TO PARTY — Dwight D. Eisenhower gets behind the wheel to drive his wife Mamie to his 71st birthday party Friday night. "This," Mrs. Eisenhower said, "is the first time I've ever ridden with him at the wheel." Eisenhower, who actually turned 71 today, obtained his first driver's license since leaving the presidency and taking up permanent residence at his Gettysburg farm.

Some Golf, Little Bridge

Quiet Birthday for Ike

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower celebrates a quiet 71st birthday today on his farm in Gettysburg.

No special events were planned for the big day—just some golf and a little bridge. He intended to spend most of the time with old friends.

For the party, Eisenhower wore a tuxedo while his wife wore a black chiffon dinner dress and a white fur stole—a present from her husband several years ago.

★ ★ ★

The general replied: "Yes, but I didn't have a car in those days."

PUT ON PLAY

David Eisenhower, 13, eldest son of the John Eisenhowers, directed the play. The actors were his sisters, Barbara Ann, 12, Susan Elaine, 9, and Mary Jean, 6.

Also planned was a family picture, but Barbara Ann vetoed that idea claiming it wouldn't be becoming for her to be seen in her "stage" make-up. However, the former president did pose for news photographers.

Asked how he felt about his 71st birthday, the general replied, "I look forward to all my birthdays. I feel I am very fortunate to have so many birthdays."

★ ★ ★

Eisenhower said he had been flooded with birthday wishes. In fact, he still has to open some 800 cards.

"We'll get to them," he said.

Urundi Premier Is Assassinated

Police said the gunman fired a single shot from bushes surrounding the restaurant along Tanganyika Lake and then fled in a car.

The bullet struck Rwagasore in the throat, police said, and he died within minutes.

The prince, who was about 32, had a meeting with his Cabinet late Friday and then adjourned to the restaurant in this trust territory capital.

★ ★ ★

TOLD OF SLAYING

The prince's father, who had come to Usumbura in preparation for a visit to Belgium, was at another nearby cafe when informed of his son's death. The visit to Belgium was canceled.

★ ★ ★

The body of the prince was taken to Kitega, the capital of Urundi, for funeral services.

Urundi is the southern half of the twin U.N. trust territory of Rhunda-Urundi in Central Africa that is administered by Belgium. The territory is scheduled to get its independence next year.

The twin territory has been the scene of warfare between the giant tribe of Watutsi, who ruled the area for decades, and the far more numerous Bahutus who formerly were their slaves.

Ford Recalls 39,000, Some Plants Still Out

DETROIT (UPI)—Ford Motor Co. has sent out orders recalling nearly 39,000 workers on Monday but unsettled disputes at several important plants are holding up a full back-to-work movement at the strike-crippled auto firm.

There still were 11 unions containing 21 bargaining units without new contracts, including five key stamping and engine plants and virtually all the River Rouge complex in suburban Dearborn.

Until the five plants come to terms with the United Auto Workers Union, Ford cannot resume normal production and recall the bulk of 120,000 workers.

★ ★ ★

No new settlements were announced Friday even though the local bargaining teams have been brought to Detroit to thrash out the disputes under the eyes of top company and union officials. If anything, the local problems seem to have worsened.

★ ★ ★

This belief was reinforced when the union and company Friday postponed indefinitely formal signing of a new national contract. Irv Bluestone, administrative assistant to UAW President Walter P. Reuther, said Ford "wants to do some peculiar thing with the language that we're not willing to do — dealing with strike situations."

★ ★ ★

A company spokesman said the whole affair was called off because "technicians on both sides are concentrating so hard on local agreements they haven't had time to finalize technical language on a national agreement."

Pontiac Central Nips Flint Team

Quarterback Bob Pomeroy's perfect placekick for the extra point and a determined goal line stand in the final minute of play enabled Pontiac Central to crash into the victory column last night as the Chiefs defeated Flint Northern, 7-6, in a Saginaw Valley game at Flint's Atwood Stadium.

★ ★ ★

In other Oakland County area prep football action Friday, the Huskies of Pontiac Northern scored an 18-6 triumph over Farmington and Walled Lake shut out Waterford, 19-0, in Inter-Lakes Conference games.

★ ★ ★

Nice Weekend Lies Ahead for Pontiac Area

A pleasant weekend is in store for Pontiac area residents. Skies will be partly cloudy with temperatures chilly. Tonight's low will dip into the mid-30s.

Morning northerly winds at 13 to 20 miles per hour will diminish tonight.

Temperatures will rise to-near 55 Sunday but will warm up again Monday with skies fair.

Thirty-eight was the lowest temperature in downotwn Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. The thermometer registered 45 at 1 p.m.

Running Race Against Winter

TAKING SHAPE — Workmen for the Bundy Construction Co. of Pontiac have the basement walls of the $1,422,000, west administrative wing to the new courthouse about done. They hope to lay the basement floor before winter sets in. The addition is attached to the west end of the six-story courthouse tower unit and will be three floors high. It stretches 284 feet and is 50 feet wide. It will house the offices now in the County Office Building, 1 Lafayette St. This photo was taken from the courthouse.

Mock Air War Flares in U.S. Defense Test

WASHINGTON (AP) — A mock but mighty aerial war flared high in the skies over the North American continent today.

At noon hundreds of jet interceptor planes began screaming aloft from runways in the United States and Canada.

Jet bombers headed down from near the polar regions. They flew far aloft or hugged the terrain to escape radar detection, over routes Soviet pilots likely would take in strikes toward targets.

DIRECTS OPERATION

Gen. Laurence S. Kuter, chief of the North American Air Defense Command—a combined organization of U.S. and Canadian defense systems—directed the defenders from his headquarters at Colorado Springs, Colo. He announced the start of exercise Sky Shield II at noon, Est.

Kuter called this exercise, with its inconvenience for the air traveling public, an essential training operation to provide defense readiness.

"Any military weapons system must be thoroughly exercised from time to time to assure progressive improvement and exercise Sky Shield II provides that opportunity," Kuter said in a statement from his headquarters.

A similar exercise was held Sept. 10, 1960. Smaller scale exercises were held in previous years.

'NOT A CONTEST'

Kuter declared that this operation involving hundreds of fighter planes and B52 and B47 bombers of the Strategic Air Command was "not a contest" between offensive and defensive forces. The position of the bombers will be known at all times.

The outcome of exercise Sky Shield II will not be known to the public. It will be kept a top drawer military secret. Details on the success or failure of the attack and defense could give Soviet strategists very useful information.

The public of the United States and Canada will see and hear little of the mock aerial war. But they will know it is on: for 12 hours all aircraft, except military, will be grounded.

'Reds Threaten to Wreck U.N.'

Adlai Charges Soviet Attempting to Badger World Organization

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —The United States says the Soviet Union appears to be threatening to wreck the United Nations unless the world organization bows to Red demands for revamping the U.N. secretariat.

★ ★ ★

Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson, chief U.S. delegate to the United Nations, made the accusation in replying Friday to Soviet Deputy Freign Minister Valerian A. Zorin's contention that "if the path of nonagreed decisions is taken, this will cause the organization to collapse."

'U.S. WILL RESIST'

Stevenson, commenting on the statements made by Zorin at a news conference, said, "I wish Mr. Zorin would not threaten the United Nations with disaster if he does not have his own way."

The U.S. delegate declared that in negotiations to find a temporary successor to the late Dag Hammarskjold as U.N. secretary general, the United States would "resist the concept of the Troeika or the ideological division of the world into three blocs."

Zorin complained in his 2½-hour talks with newsmen that the U.N. secretariat has been taken over by one-man rule. He mentioned no names but made it clear that his reference was aimed at Hammarskjold's American deputy, Andrew W. Cordier.

Cordier a veteran of U.N. service declined to comment.

★ ★ ★

"The man is acting by right of seizure of power without asking anybody," Zorin said. "He runs the secretariat not in the interest of the organization as a whole and by no means in a neutral fashion."

Mountain of Books

WHAT JOHNNY WILL READ — If he's in high school like Pontiac Central High School senior Mark Berg, 16, he'll have to wade through a stack of books this big in senior high school alone. Pontiac School District will spend more than $75,000 in 1961-62 to provide textbooks in all grades.

Textbook Financing Stirs Controversy

Textbooks for your children —

Who should pay? The parents or the schools?

This seems to be the issue arousing controversy among parents and school officials in Oakland County.

But there are many pages inside the cover of this issue, as a county-wide survey by The Pontiac Press revealed.

Even the first glance reveals one fact:

Textbooks are never free — even when the school system provides them. If the parents don't buy the books, they still must pay for them through taxes.

★ ★ ★

Taxes spread the cost over more citizens of a school district. Even citizens who have no children help pay for the texts.

It would seem each parent thus would pay less, since he is subsidized by his neighbors.

Has Cheap Radiation Detector

SUNNYVALE, Calif. (UPI) — Anybody can build a do-it-yourself home radiation detector for about 15 cents, acording to William Brooks of Sunnyvale, a Lockheed Aircraft Corp. engineer.

First, Brooks says, place a spoon horizontally across an empty water glass. Tie pieces of aluminum foil to one end of a wire and attach the other end of the wire around the handle of the spoon. The foil should dangle inside the glass.

For the radiation test, rub a plastic or glass rod briskly against your clothing, then place the rod near the dangling foil without touching it. If your clothing contains no radiation, the leaves of foil should spread apart.

Next, hold the rod near the wire and touch the wire with the fingers. The foil should close together again. Remove your finger from the wire and take away the charged rod. The leaves should spread apart.

This means that a charge is stored in the aluminum, and the foil leaves should gradually lose the charge and close together again in about 45 minutes.

"But in the presence of lethal radiation," Brooks said, "the leaves will close together immediately.

★ ★ ★

Brooks explained that this device works because gamma rays ionize the electric charge. Radiation removes the charge of electricity generated from the clothing and placed on the foil.

Teamster-Union Alliances Hit

Sen. McClellan Says They Can Wield 'Lethal, Monopolistic Power'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., said today alliances linking allegedly Communist-dominated labor unions and James R. Hoffa's Teamsters could wield "lethal and monopolistic power."

He called for enactment of legislation to curb them.

Hoffa testified Friday he has strengthened his "mutual assistance" pact with Harry Bridges' West Coast longshoremen's union and also has an alliance with the Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers Union.

Bridges' union and the mine worker's union were expelled from the CIO in 1950 on charges of following Communist policies.

In questioning Hoffa, the Senate Internal Security subcommittee labeled both unions as Communist dominated.

"I don't know whether they are Communist - dominated or not," Hoffa said of the two unions. "There will be no pact between the Teamsters Union and any organization so convicted."

'SOLIDARITY'

Hoffa said the pacts with the two unions were aimed solely at "labor solidarity" and had no political or ideological implications.

At the outset of the hearing Hoffa declared that he welcomed a chance to testify under oath that "Hoffa was not a Communist, has not associated with Communists, is not a Communist and never intends to be."

One, a Bernard W. Stern, research director, swore he was not a Communist and wasn't one a year ago or two years ago. However, he refused to say whether he was a member of the Communist party three years ago or in 1945, when he got his union job. Stern invoked the 5th Amendment protected against being compelled to give testimony that might be self-incriminating.

The three other officials called to the stand were Irving Dichter, secretary - treasurer; Harold Sanderson, comptroller, and Albert C. Skinner, western vice president.

Tokyo Station Gets Signal on Red Frequency

German Observatory Also Picks Up Beeps for Short Time

From Our News Wires

Radio signals from space today had listening posts around the world buzzing with rumors that the Soviets had launched another space vehicle.

In Tokyo, the Japanese post office picked up signals which it said may have come from a manned Soviet spaceship.

The postal radio-wave institute in Tokyo said it heard the signals between 9:27 and 9:32 p.m. EDT Friday.

In Bochum, Germany, Heinz Kaminski, director of the People's Observatory here, said that the institue recorded signals today on the Russian satellite frequency.

Kaminski, however, said he could not confirm that the signals came from an orbiting satellite, because his institute heard the signals only for a very short time.

However, in Washington, a spokesman at the government's Goddard Space Flight Center today said that signals from space being detected at various sites throughout the world probably are coming from a U. S. Discoverer satellite sent aloft Friday.

And in Moscow, Western sources said today it was "unlikely" that the Soviets have launched another manned spaceship without announcing it to the world.

The sources, commenting on Japanese and West German reports of new space signals being heard on the Soviet spaceship radio frequencies, said there was no indication in the Soviet capital of any new launching.

★ ★ ★

They recalled that when the Soviets launched Yuri Gagarin and Gherman Titov on their historic space flights earlier this year, the official announcement came within a few minutes of the blastoff.

★ ★ ★

In Enkoping, Sweden, the Enkoping telegraph stations special space testing department said today it monitored radio signals on a frequency similar to those of earlier space satellites.

'NO SIGHTINGS'

In Cambridge, Mass., the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory said today its "moonwatch" teams had reported no sightings of any new object in the sky that might be linked with radio signals from space picked up in Tokyo.

A spokesman here said the teams, which keep visual watch for new objects in space, had sent in no reports.

At nearby Bedford, Mass., the Air Force command and control development center declined any comment on the reports of new radio signals. The Bedford center is operator of "spacetrack" which keeps tabs on all objects in space for the United States.

At New Boston, N.H., tracking station of the air force all queries about the Tokyo reports were answered with a similar "no comment."

Reds Speed Up Evacuations on Berlin Border

BERLIN (UPI) — Armed Communist police carried out new mass evictions on the barricaded East-West Berlin border early today in a determined bid to halt the flight of East German refugees.

West Berlin police reported the Communists evicted residents of four-to-five-story apartment houses on streets leading to the border between the French and Soviet sector.

Nine large moving vans drove up to Schwedter, Swinemuender and Wolliner streets this morning. These streets run into Ernauer street, scene of border shootings and escapes where evictions already have been carried out.

* * *

About 100 Communist policemen stood guard to prevent disorder as moving men carried out furniture, West Berlin police reported.

East Berlin residents have used the border houses as hideouts from which to make their escapes to the West.

West Berlin police reported that two youths fled from the Eastern sector Friday night. One of them cut his way through two barbed wire barriers in the French zone's Reinickendorf district and the other did the same in the American sector's Neukoelln district.

Grim-faced West Berlin policemen patrolled the divided city's tense border which was riddled twice in 24 hours by Communist gunfire in the gravest incident since the East Germans built their wall two months ago.

Tension, which has been constantly present here since the Reds closed the border Aug. 13 and erected a barbed wire and concrete carricade along the frontier, rose to new heights Friday when Communist border guards tried to halt nine fleeing East Germans.

The Reds fired their sub-machineguns and rifles at the refugees and the bullets whizzed past five U.S. military policemen and 14 West Berlin policemen who had rushed to the scene. No one was hit by the Communist fusillade and the refugees all escaped without injury.

It was not known if the Communists were aiming at the Western policemen.

A few hours after the incident, Maj. Gen. Albert Watson II, the U.S. commandant in Berlin, went to East Berlin to present the "strongest" protest to Soviet Commandant Col. A. V. Smlovyev.

Watson warned than any more "reckless and illegal conduct" by the East German police could have "consequences." He did not spell out what they would be.

* * *

The shooting erupted when nine refugees tried to ram a truck through a double barbed wire barricade from the Soviet zone into Berlin's American sector. The bullet-riddled truck stalled between the two barricades and they leaped into the Western zone as Communist fired 250 to 300 rounds of ammunition at them.

LOOKING BACKWARD — Nine East Germans stand in West Berlin Friday near the site where they drove a truck into a barbed wire fence blocking Machnower Strasse earlier in the day. Their truck was caught in the entanglement and the youths had to race on foot into the U.S. sector. As they made their escape, East German police began shooting. None of the escapees was hit by gunfire.

Pontiac Youth Seeks Brother

Dayton Police Pick Up Boy and Friend During Their Search

DAYTON, Ohio (UPI) — A teenage Pontiac youth hitchhiker from Pontiac, who was picked up by police here Friday, told authorities he and his companion were on the road in search of his missing brother.

* * *

"I could see my parents fading away ever since my brother disappeared," the youth said. "I couldn't stand it any more, so I got my buddy to go with me to search for him."

The identities of the young hitchhikers were not released. Authorities took them in custody at the edge of Dayton as they tried to thumb a ride northward on U.S. 42.

The youngster who did the talking asked Wayne Breeze, assistant probation officer, to talk with his mother in Pontiac by phone. The woman confirmed the boy's story, Breeze said.

* * *

Breeze said she told him that her son and a friend left home last Wednesday to look for the boy's married brother who had disappeared with his wife and two of their children nine months ago.

The hitchhiker told officers here that he first heard that his brother was in Mansfield, Ohio.

He said he sought the aid of Mansfield police but was unable to locate his brother there.

* * *

The boy and his buddy then struck out for Lockland, near Cincinnati, believing that they could find either a job or the lost brother. They found neither.

They said they stopped at every town along the way to search for the brother. They told authorities it was hot Friday, and they were tired and "sick of the whole thing."

"We were heading back home when the officers picked us up," one of them said.

* * *

The mother in Pontiac told Breeze she had been worried about the youths and that she would send them money for bus fare home.

Won't Deport Michigan Man

Ex-Con, in U.S. Since 1915 Granted Pardon by Swainson

LANSING (UPI) — Michael Jergovich, 54, Birmingham, will not be deported from the United States, the nation he has called his home since he was 8 years old in 1915.

* * *

Gov. John B. Swainson Friday granted a pardon for Jergovich, who was released from Southern Michigan Prison in 1946 after serving 17 years for armed robbery of a Mount Morris bank.

Deportation proceedings were started after Jergovich's release from prison because the man was brought to the U.S. as a child but never acquired citizenship. Federal immigration laws provide for deportation of aliens convicted of a crime involving moral turpitude.

Swainson said he granted the pardon, the first during his term office, at the recommendation of the State Parole Board.

* * *

"Michael Jergovich has paid the penalty exacted by the laws of this state for the crime he committed and has demonstrated for many years that he is a rehabilitated member of society," Swainson said. "To invoke the provisions of the federal law regarding deportation in this case appears to be harsh course of action."

* * *

The parole board unanimously recommended the pardon. It said Jergovich has demonstrated he is a responsible member of society.

It is estimated there will be 17 million persons over age 65 within the U.S. in the next five years.

The Day in Birmingham

Official From India to Talk at 3rd U.N. Day Program

BIRMINGHAM — The third annual United Nations Day program here Oct. 26 will have T. J. Natarajan of India as the featured speaker.

* * *

The 8 p.m. public program will be held at the First Methodist Church, 1589 W. Maple Road.

Natarajan, 57, who has actively served the U.N. and India in numerous capacities since 1946, will discuss the emergence to independence of dependent nations since the establishment of United Nations.

Sponsoring the meeting is the Oakland County Chapter of the American Association for the United Nations, headed by Harold Chalk.

* * *

Dr. Otis M. Dickey, superintendent of Birmingham schools, will preside over the meeting, which will include a question period following Natarajan's talk.

Natarajan, who has served as a special consultant to the secretary-general of the organization, entered the service of his government in 1925 following his graduation from the University of Madras.

For eight years, he was superintendent in the office of the private secretary to the Viceroy, becoming assistant secretary in the Ministry of External Affairs in 1946.

Since 1957 he has been counselor of the permanent mission of India to the United Nations.

Presently, he is secretary of the advisory committee on administrative and budgetary questions.

Birmingham Mayor Florence H. Willett will extend greetings to the guests and read President Kennedy's proclamation for United Nations Day.

1 Killed, 2 Critical, as Shell Goes Off

CAMP GRAYLING, Mich. (AP) — One man was killed and another man and a young boy were injured critically Friday night when a rocket shell exploded on a firing range at this National Guard training camp.

The three were collecting spent shells in the area, which was well posted with signs warning unauthorized personnel to keep out, State police said.

* * *

None of the victims was identified immediately.

The blast decapitated the dead man, took off the leg of the other man and riddled the boy's chest, face and eyes with shrapnel.

* * *

The man who lost a leg crawled to his automobile, then managed to drive nearly five miles to the office of Billy Kinkerter, the Camp Grayling superintendent. Kinkerter applied a tourniquet and called Mercy Hospital at Grayling.

The Detroit firm of Hogan, Juengel and Harding has been reappointed as the city auditors by the Birmingham City Commission.

Total cost for the firm's service for the fiscal year ending last June was $5,860. This compares with $5,905 the previous year.

Rates submitted for new fiscal year are 20 per cent lower than the firm's normal billing rates.

The deadline for registering for the Nov. 20 special Birmingham school election is Oct. 23.

Despite Ousting of Envoys

See No Dutch-Soviet Row

AMSTERDAM, Holland (UPI)— Diplomatic observers said today Friday's reciprocal expulsion of ambassadors by Holland and the Soviet Union probably would not result in a break in relations between the two countries.

Soviet ambassador to Holland Panteleimon K. Ponomarenko was declared "persona non grata" by the Dutch government Friday because of his part in a brawl with Dutch policemen at Amsterdam Airport last Saturday.

Four hours later, the Kremlin retaliated by ousting Dutch Ambassador Henri Helb. The Dutch Embassy in Moscow said Helb had been ordered to leave the Soviet Union "as soon as possible."

Ponomarenko did not wait to be kicked out. He left Holland Friday morning, saying he was going to the 22nd Communist party Congress in Moscow and would return "in a couple of weeks."

ON THE ROPES

Ponomarenko is an old-line Stalinist who has been skidding ever since Stalin's death.

* * *

A former Communist party secretary in Moscow — just one step below Stalin himself — Ponomarenko arrived in Holland two years ago in the latest of a series of steps down. What his next job would be is unknown at this time.

Earlier Friday, two Soviet embassy employes, Second Secretary A. D. Popov and Commercial Attache S. W. Chivaev were bundled aboard a train and sent back to Russia.

There was no indication when new ambassadors would be named, but diplomatic sources said Soviet-Dutch relations appeared to be in no jeopardy.

* * *

The diplomatic crisis began when Soviet chemist Alexei Golub, 35, asked political asylum while touring Holland. His wife decided to return to Russia and went to the Soviet Embassy.

As she was about to leave the country, Dutch police asked to talk with her in an airport office to make sure she was leaving of her own free will.

Ponomarenko objected and led a flying wedge of embassy officials into the office. A fist-fight erupted. Popov was thrown out of the office and Ponomarenko was punched in the nose by a Dutch policeman.

* * *

Mrs. Golub was pushed and pulled into a Soviet airliner, where she sat for seven hours before telling Dutch officials she wanted to return to Moscow. She flew back with other tourists while her husband stayed behind. Golub was given asylum officially Friday.

Dutch newspapers said today that Ponomarenko was a member of the Soviet Union's "old guard," a Stalinist who was demoted when Nikita Khrushchev rose to power. One paper said he was a "man with a beautiful political future behind him."

Open House Set by UF Agencies

Guided Tours Planned Tuesday Afternoon to Help Start Campaign

Open houses will be held Tuesday afternoon and evening so that contributors can see for themselves how their United Fund dollars are used.

* * *

The 1961 campaign for $672,300 to support the 54 agencies kicks off the same day.

"This is an experiment on our part," said Arthur Heaton, of the United Fund staff. "We feel that there's nothing like seeing all these agencies they've been reading about."

Twenty-three of the agencies will throw their doors open to guided tours conducted at 1, 2, 3, 7 and 8 p.m. They will start from the Community Services Building, 132 Franklin Blvd.

Transportation will be provided.

Agency staff personnel along with members of the Community Services Committee of the AFL-CIO will serve as guides.

The agencies to be visited by the public will be:

Michigan Children's Aid, Family Service, Catholic Social Service, Visiting Nurses, Boy Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, United Fund, Big Brothers, Community Activities, Inc., St. Joseph Clinic, Leader Dogs for The Blind and United Service Organization (USO).

* * *

Clarkston School District, for example, may be considered a poor district. It spends about $254 a year to educate each of 4,000 pupils. Pontiac spends $389 for each of 20,000 students.

Pontiac School District has provided regular textbooks free since 1925, books being charged out to a child at the beginning of the year.

There is a charge for damage beyond fair wear and tear.

This year the system has a book budget of $75,072.88.

* * *

Clarkston asks parents to buy the textbooks — and dips into its general fund to make up losses in its non-profit bookstore.

* * *

Aside from the belief that voters will not raise existing millage, Clarkston Supt. Leslie F. Greene says the existing system is cheaper than a loaning system.

TOTAL COST LESS'

"I believe from my experience in other schools, that the total cost of textbooks is less when they are owned by the students than when they are furnished by the school," Dr. Greene said.

* * *

The reasons? Losses are down in the case of parents moving. Pride of ownership keeps books in better shape.

The texts are available wholesale at the schools at a 25-30 per cent mark-down below retail price plus postage charges. Counting reduced payments by the schools for used books, the elementary school average cost in this district for each student is $3.60 a year, according to a recent sampling.

In senior high, the sampling per student per year revealed a net cost of $3.96 each year, after books are returned.

* * *

In junior high, an eighth-grade sampling revealed a $2.85 net cost at the end of the year. Initial outlays by parents are, of course, much higher.

County-wide, it was discovered by a show of hands of 25 superintendents at a recent County Board of Education meeting, districts were split 50-50 between those who provide some texts "free" and those who ask parents to buy.

A survey of 19 districts by The Press revealed that the districts split into four main categories.

Only three districts provide all books out of tax money. Those which used rental systems (fees assessed with or without return) totaled five districts.

* * *

The majority of districts — eight — are using a split system in which usually books are provided on a rental basis in elementary grades (sometimes including junior highs) but must be paid for by parents in high schools.

Three districts reported that parents were being asked to buy the books in all grades.

However, all districts which asked parents to pay provided the books at cost: using the usual wholesale markdown of 25-30 per cent which schools are given by publishers. Some of these added handling, some added handling and postage.

Usually schools which sold books to parents would accept them back at the end of the year, deducting depreciation and-or damage charges.

Pontiac Man Hurt in One-Car Mishap

A 36-year-old Pontiac man was reported in fair condition at Pontiac General Hospital today after his car went out of control and crashed into a utility pole last night on Telegraph Road.

Charles E. Lidster of 727 S. Winding Drive was driving south on Telegraph Road when the car swerved and hit the pole, just north of Ruth Avenue, according to Pontiac police. The accident occurred shortly before 9 p.m.

Lidster, who was alone in the car suffered a fractured jaw facial lacerations and possible head injuries. Lidster was unconscious and unable to make a statement to police.

Horrible Decision; Boy, 11, Kills Dad

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (AP)— Can many say they faced a harder decision than that before Paul Berrian, at age 11?

His father was drunk and pointing a gun at his mother. What decision was Paul to make?

"He made a horrible decision," an assistant district attorney said, "and, right or wrong, he will live with this the rest of his life."

Paul, a good-looking, intelligent boy in the fifth grade of an elementary school across the road from the Berrian home in suburban Rotterdam, shot his father to death.

TOLD HIM TO STOP'

"I picked up the other gun and told him to stop it. But he wouldn't listen to me, and I shot him," Paul said.

* * *

These were the events in the small, neat Berrian home in the early morning hours Friday, as recounted by police:

Harold Berrian, 43, out of work since a heart attack three months ago, returned home after a round of drinking.

He was in a rage. He claimed he had been given a ticket for speeding, but police say this was not so. He awakened his wife, Rose, 36, and began to berate her. At one point he smashed his fist through a plasterboard wall.

Paul, his sister, Linda, 14, and brother, John, 4 were roused by the noise.

Berrian carried two 12-gauge shotguns from a bedroom, loaded them, placed one on a table and pointed the other at his wife. He threatened to kill her and the children.

STRUGGLED

Mrs. Berrian and Linda struggled with Berrian, trying to wrest the weapon from him.

Then Paul picked up the other gun off the table and made his decision. It was the first time the boy ever fired a gun. The charge struck his father in the back.

* * *

"He is a very intelligent boy and was fully aware of what he did," said Asst. Dist. Atty. Henry Bradt.

* * *

No charge was placed against the youngster.

Berrian, a disabled veteran of World War II who had served in the Army Engineers, had worked as a painter on construction jobs before his heart attack.

Neighbors said the Berrians always had appeared to be a "nice quiet family." Police said they had never been called to the home previously.

Police Holding Royal Oak Twp. Man in Shooting

A Royal Oak Township man is being held in the township jail in the shooting last night of Dorothy Broad, 31, of 20791 Parkside, Royal Oak Township.

The man, Smith Bush, 30, of 20791 Parkside is held for investigation of felonious assault, according to township police. Police reported Bush said the shooting was accidental.

The woman is in satisfactory condition in William Beaumont Hospital with injuries in her left arm.

According to police, Bush was cleaning his rifle preparing to go duck hunting. Bush reported he was loading the rifle when it went off, police said.

2nd Shot Fired to Test Equipment Called Success

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) announced today it has successfully fired a second experimental shot to test equipment for a "top side" satellite which will explore the ionosphere.

A NASA spokesman said the test was conducted at Wallops Island, Va., at 11:26 a.m. Pontiac time today. The test vehicle carrying scientific equipment reached an altitude of approximately 560 statute miles, NASA reported.

It was the second testing of equipment for "top side" satellites which are expected to be launched next year through a joint U.S.-Canadian space venture.

* * *

The NASA spokesman said the first test conducted on June 24, 1961, took place in a quiet ionospheric condition while today's was fired at a time when there was "a disturbed ionosphere."

The 20,000-square-foot building is situated on a 20-acre site. The entire project cost about $200,000 according to chief engineer James B. Baynes. Fifty employes work from this district office. The garage houses snow plows, tar wagons, mowers and other county road equipment. Other garages are located at Highland, Lake Orion and at the main office on Pontiac Lake Road, Waterford Township.

Fear Modern Problems May Get Lost

Con-Con Units Cut From Old Plan

LANSING (UPI) — Constitutional convention looked backward 54 years when the committee structure was set up for dealing with subject matter in Michigan's basic law.

* * *

The nine con-con committees charged with specific points for the new document are based on provisions in the existing constitution, written in the 1907-08 convention.

At least one delegate has expressed the fear that modern problems might fail to get the consideration they deserve.

Eight of the "substantive" committees deal with declaration of rights, suffrage and elections; legislative organization; legislative powers; the executive branch of government; the judicial branch; finance and taxation; local government, and education. There are specific sections in the 1908 constitution dealing with these subjects.

MISCELLANEOUS PROBLEMS

The ninth committee is charged with handling miscellaneous provisions and schedules.

* * *

Delegate Claud Erickson, R-Laning, the chairman of this committee, said he expected that vital questions dealing with labor, and perhaps other subjects, would be sent to his group.

* * *

The con-con has repeatedly been cautioned that the result of their efforts must reflect not only changes that have taken place in Michigan in the past, but must be adaptable to future problems.

Delegate James K. Pollock, R-Ann Arbor, noted University of Michigan political scientist, warned delegates that they must consider changes in technology and way of life in Michigan when they decide what should be presented to the people for their approval.

In a speech on general desirable elements for a constitution, he outlined great changes in population and related social and economic upheavals since 1908.

* * *

Besides labor, two other major items in which government has a huge stake were disregarded by the con-con committee structure.

These are health, including mental health, and welfare. Taken by itself, mental health is the third largest item in Michigan's current operating budget, and welfare is second. Only education receives a bigger share of state general fund expenditures.

Failure to provide a committee on labor, or assign questions of health and welfare to a specific committee might not, of course, create any problems.

* * *

The committee on executive branch will handle some of the proposals along these lines, and other committees might also take some of the load.

But splitting up the problems could result in failure to provide a comprehensive recommendation in these fields that will take into consideration the sweeping changes in Michigan since 1908.

* * *

Constitutional convention delegates will have to take the broad view of their duties in order to see that major problems are not lost in the big picture.

It Seems to Me . . . .

Despite Our American Wealth, We Can't Support World Alone

One of the greatest tragedies in the world today is the wide swing in financial circumstances of the "haves" and the "have nots" outside the United States.

★ ★ ★

If all the possessions of the "haves" were confiscated and divided evenly between the "have nots" it wouldn't make enough difference to stick in your eye. If the entire income of all the wealthy people here in the United States were seized 100 per cent, it wouldn't even touch our own annual tax bill. If we took 100 per cent of all incomes over $25,000, it would run our own Government just less than three days.

The total's wholly insufficient.

★ ★ ★

Hence, the problem lies in providing more jobs and more employment for the world's masses—the world's billions. They're the ones that need attention and deserve support. I'm distressed at Editor JOHN W. FITZGERALD's picture of so much foreign aid going to the European ruling classes which have the nerve and gall to use it for personal luxuries. Altogether too little of our aid reaches the people for whom it's intended.

★ ★ ★

Even though we favor global charity on the largest scale possible, 180 million Americans can't finance and feed the 3,000,000,000 people in the world. Giving won't do it, for all we possess won't scratch the surface.

Charity can't be the answer.

★ ★ ★

This problem won't be solved in a few years, either. It's complicated, deep-seated and far-reaching. Its very enormity is breathtaking. But the enlightened leaders of the world must let this stand in the foreground of all economic planning. The "have nots" are one of our greatest international concerns. And the "have nots" are ready, ripe and fertile territory for communism. Remember, Communists don't have to tell the truth.

Soft lies sound wonderful.

They become the fallacious hope of the poverty-stricken.

★ ★ ★

You'd listen yourself if you were "down" — completely "down" — and the future held no hope. In our own country, the physical possessions of everyone are the wonder and envy of all.

This is the biggest challenge facing the world today. It's the root of the trouble in South America as well as elsewhere.

Americans Amused . . . .

Americans are mildly amused at the solemn-faced mien when the British press discusses the earldom conferred upon ANTONY ARMSTRONG-JONES.

He's a good boy.

★ ★ ★

And why in the world shouldn't his sister-in-law toss some sort of a title or bauble in his direction? She'd be a poor sportsman if she didn't, and no one ever accused ELIZABETH of playing dirty pool.

★ ★ ★

When Tony married the Princess, he shook off talk of a title and preferred plain Mr. Armstrong-Jones. This moniker by itself is sufficiently awesome to impress English speaking peoples, anywhere. It's a scant step away from a Duke, a Viscount or a Rajah. But with Margaret bringing a precious bundle from heaven into British court life, it seems the little tyke's pappy should be dignified with a title.

Tony conceded a nascent interest.

★ ★ ★

The left wing London Daily Mirror says it isn't quite sure yet that ANTONY wants this title, and the Mirror will continue to refer to him as "Mr." So-o-o-o-o the throne's partly overruled again. And on this grave note of plebeian protest, we dismiss the Earl with the conviction that the title will never turn his head, spoil him or keep him from quaffing a beaker of rum with the bobbie on the corner.

First Things First . . . .

One of America's sound and constructive thinkers has been devoting his time to the American scene since his retirement as Chief of Inland Steel. In a current book entitled, "The Folklore of Management," CLARENCE B. RANDALL says:

"What shall it profit a nation to shoot the moon, if four families must double up in a single apartment?"

★ ★ ★

Analyst Randall is so eternally and everlastingly right. Are the Soviets placing first things first when they struggle to achieve a spectacular bit of interglobal nonsense when they haven't enough places to live? When I was there eighteen months ago, they conceded that housing was the crying need of the nation. Miles and miles of drab apartments were under construction just to give the residents a tiny place of their own.

★ ★ ★

A dwelling of ten rooms has one common bath, one common kitchen and eight rooms occupied by two Russians each. When shooting the moon takes precedent over homes, it suggests a hopeless inability to appraise things for what they are worth.

And in Conclusion . . . .

MICKEY MANTLE has promised the FCC he'll quit endorsing milk he doesn't drink. I didn't know he was that big a faker . . . . . Father: "Since riding in my son's undersized car, I've seen some new scenery." Friend: "Where's that?" Father: "Underneath the billboards." . . . . . And just think. A consensus of the baseball experts in April showed they picked Cincinnati to finish sixth. . . . . The newest college stunt is for a couple to walk a block apart on the opposite sides of the street and communicate with transistor walkie-talkies . . . . . The Hilton Credit card business lost several million dollars the first two years of operation.

I can't prove it but I'll bet a sugar cookie undercover TV work will bring European programs across the Atlantic in less than the ten years they predict now . . . . . The Health Commissioner of Chicago says you can stop a car faster by pumping brakes on dry pavements just as though they were wet. Also, he says the flashing tail light warns the car behind. Does Pete Estes agree? . . . . . There are 57 defensive tackles in pro football and they average 262 pounds per man. Anyone for playing left tackle? . . . . . Here's another comforting thought: The Russian Embassy in Washington hasn't even started an atomic bomb shelter.

★ ★ ★

The Omaha World Herald says if you think world disarmament is easy to achieve, try taking a cap pistol away from a five-year-old. . . . . Sign near Lakewood, New Jersey:

No Trespassing
Violators Will Be Prosecuted to the Full Extent of The Law
—Sisters of Mercy

Camera lovers, attention. Even newer and faster films, black and white and colored are just a few months away. . . . . New York debates an ordinance to make a phone in every taxi compulsory to fight a new crime wave. . . . . Dept. of Cheers and Jeers: the C's—DWIGHT D. The POWER of FAITH

by Howard Brodie

PROMINENT MEN OF FAITH

Rev. Dr. Dana McLean Greeley

"I will preach and practice love, and proclaim peace, deep love of God and love of man," says the Rev. Dr. Dana McLean Greeley, first President of the new Unitarian Universalist Association.

High office is not new to this past president of the Harvard Divinity School Alumni Assn. and the Massachusetts Council of Churches. He was also president of the New England Citizens' Crime Commission, a member of the Governor's Commission on the Study of Capital Punishment, and a board member of the Institute on Religion in an Age of Science.

"Democracy means love, and brotherhood means love," says this leader of liberal religion, "and a free faith must be a harbinger of democracy and brotherhood . . . love is the supreme energy of the total creation itself."

Days of All Faiths:

Week Emphasizes Laymen's Role

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

This is Churchmen's Week, which really means "laymen's" emphasis on the layman's role in Christianity.

The ministry of the Christian Church is mainly a ministry to the world. The Church exists mostly for the benefit of those who are not its members. But it also has a ministry to those who are its members, a responsibility for their spiritual care and growth. Some people put it that the Church has an "in-church" ministry and an "out-church" ministry.

This week the spotlight is on the "in-church" ministry. In thousands of Protestant churches in the United States and Canada, and in chapels of the Armed Forces everywhere, laymen will take part in the services today. Indeed, in many cases they will take over completely, leaving the clergy nothing to do.

There is always a danger that people will get the wrong idea from an occasion of this kind. It seems to be saying that Christianity is what the clergy does—in the church building—and that once in a while the laity can do it, too. It may obscure the basic fact that Christianity is primarily what the laity does outside the church building.

The Christian Church is made up of 99.6 per cent laity and .4 per cent clergy. God put His Church in the world to be the instrument through which He can reach out and save the world. It is not likely that He would put the whole task in the hands of .4 per cent of His potential working force.

What Churchmen's Week is really saying is that the layman has a ministry, both inside and outside the Church.

Dr. William Brady's Mailbag:

This Corn Recipe Beats Ready-Made Recipes

Would greatly appreciate prescription for corn and callous remedy which unfortunately has been misplaced. Can find nothing as efficient on the market. (Mrs. P. J. M.)

DR. BRADY

Ans. — Being anonymous you won't mind correction of your spelling. You spelled it callous, which is an adjective, meaning hardened, unfeeling. For the thickened, toughened skin on the sole or palm, the word is callus. The recipe (it is not a prescription) for the corn or callus remedy is simply a solution of 30 grains (scant half teaspoonful) of salicylic acid in one-half fluid-ounce of flexible collodion. Paint corn or callus with this once a day for a week. In a week or 10 days, it will soften so you can wipe it away. Of course the corn or callus will form again if the cause is not removed — friction and pressure. Sometimes a druggist can be unpleasant about providing the salicylic acid and the flexible collodion for making this corn and callus remedy. You see, there are ready-made corn and callus remedies which are more profitable.

Your inverted bicycle riding exercise has done no good in my case. Perhaps I have not used the correct technic — I followed my husband's version of what you recommended. Doctor said that if I had injection treatment I'd get more enlarged veins in case I have another baby . . . (Mrs. M. P.)

Ans. — That and other measures to prevent or correct varicose swellings are described in my pamphlet on Varicose Veins and Varicose Ulcer — send a stamped, self-addressed envelope and ask for it. Possibility of getting more varicose veins in future is no reason why you should not have the injection treatment now. Regardless of treatment or neglect, any one may get varicose veins one day.

★ ★ ★

Please explain the difference between niacin and nicotinic acid and amide. (W. K.)

Ans. — Niacin and nicotinic acid are one and the same. The amide is a modified form.

Man Suggests Tall Order to Improve Our Education

In view of current discussion over improving the educational system, why don't social studies teachers instruct student in how to raise wages, abolish slums, unemployment, inflation, taxation and how to make peace in the world via free trade? The effects of this sort of teaching might make a better society in which to live.

This Is the Last of Pork Discussion

I've investigated the pork issue and find it to be palatable and nutritious. After reading the Oct. 10 offering of Bible Reader, I wondered if I had risked impaired health in the here and hereafter to myself and family by munching on the carcass of the lowly but delicious cottontail. A little research plus some observation will convince Bible Reader that the hare doth not cheweth the cud. Please pardon the lisp.

If this letter seems silly, I will go a step further and agree that the entire subject is foolish and should be discontinued.

'Must Remember Who Said This'

It was mentioned that chapters of Matthew and Luke proved Jesus drank wine. Remember these words were spoken by His enemies, who would naturally exaggerate and give the wrong impression. They had tried to force ceremonial fasting on Jesus and didn't succeed, so they tried to bring disfavor upon His mission of saving sinners by saying he was one of them and drinking with them. Enemies' words aren't usually sound doctrine.

"Woe unto him that giveth his neighbor drink . . . " Habakkuk 2:15. "Wine is a mockery . . . and whosoever is deceived thereby is not wise." Proverbs 20:1.

Grateful Abstainer

'Such Skepticism Is Unwarranted'

A tragic thing of this age is the skepticism of so many people. Most don't believe anything can be had without cost. This is wrong, because the most tremendous thing in our lives is free — everlasting life in Heaven. The only stipulation is to believe and trust from the bottom of your heart in the Lord Jesus Christ. This shouldn't be too hard. Do this sincerely and you'll live forever in a world much better than this one. I've taken God up on his free offer, it looks pretty good to me.

'Let's Back Plea for Local Labor'

I just read Frank Miller's article about hiring local labor. I'm glad someone has courage to do something about it. Look at the sign on the new hospital at Perry and Huron. The sub contractors all the way down the line are Detroit, and they'll no doubt bring in their own labor. Wake up, Mr. Merchant and Businessman, and back Mr. Miller in his efforts to get people in this area back to work.

Wants No Change in Athletic System

As a 1958 graduate of PCH, and ex-member of the band, I had to sit helplessly and see one of the finest high school instrumental systems in the nation undermined and eventually destroyed.

★ ★ ★

Now someone is attempting to do the same thing to the Pontiac athletic system. With the flimsy excuse of larger gate receipts and lower traveling expenses, they advocate removal of Pontiac Central from the Saginaw Valley Conference. Is high school football to make money? Or is it to teach sportsmanship, physical fitness and desire for quality and perfection in our lives. Certainly the cost is a little more, but the chance to play teams of equal or greater ability is worth the cost.

★ ★ ★

I hope Pontiac people wake up before it's too late and see what's being done in our school system. America's strength tomorrow lies in today's youth.

Objects to Bonus for Lunch Employes

Are parents going to let our Pontiac school lunch program be jeopardized to give school lunch employes a bonus? It doesn't seem possible that responsible intelligent people on our school board could entertain such an idea as "profit sharing."

★ ★ ★

Also, might not we be in danger of losing Federal aid if the lunch program became a profit-making endeavor? Most of the employes have been with the program a long time so can't be too dissatisfied with the pay. And over 100 applicants would be glad to have the jobs.

★ ★ ★

Contact your school board members, PTA officers and school administrators and let them know you're interested and anxious to see a good lunch program maintained.

Case Record of a Psychologist:

Church Good Spot for Meetings

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE K-24: Mark H., aged 39, is a conscientious scout master.

DR. CRANE

"Dr. Crane, we've been meeting for 10 years in the recreation hall of a large church," he informed me.

"Its clergyman recently checked over our records and found that we have brought over 400 boys into our scouting work.

"But he found that only 15 of that entire number have ever been members of his church. So he tried to have us deprived of the recreation hall.

"That would have been a blow to us, though, for this church is the only good meeting place in the vicinity.

"For example, just 5 blocks away is the Red Light district. And 6 blocks in the opposite direction is the business area.

"Luckily for us, the father of one of our scouts is on the governing board of this church.

"He told the other members that our livewire Boy Scout Troop was really the best home missionary project they could hope to sponsor.

MYOPIC CLERGYMEN

"He also informed them that even if only 15 of our boys were actual members of their church, just think of the inspiration and moral leadership the other 385 young fellows obtained from our scout work in that church.

"Well, Dr. Crane, we were permitted to continue using this fine meeting place. In fact, that hostile clergyman was not asked to return at the end of the year, for the church board felt he didn't have the true Christian spirit.

"While he is an exception, there are still a number of clergymen and church boards which are not friendly to young people's work, such as the Boy and Girl Scouts, as well as the Camp Fire Girls."

HELP YOUTH

Mark is correct. Indeed, it was a great oversight by the churches that they failed to get credit for founding these admirable youth organizations.

Maybe the clergy back in 1910 were too concerned with husbanding church property, or in teaching church ritual, so they forgot Christ's basic interest in human welfare.

Perhaps they were backward looking in their emphasis and too concerned with interpreting scriptural laws of Moses 3,000 years ago.

At any rate, they ignored a golden opportunity, so in 1910 the Boy Scouts were organized outside the church.

Since the Boy Scout leaders are usually recruited from churchmen, however, we are glad to state that about 50 per cent of the scout troops now meet in church basements or recreation halls on Friday nights. And most of our clergy are ardent rooters for scouting.

★

But almost 50 per cent of scout troops still do not meet in churches on Friday nights. And many church people still grumble about an occasional broken chair or other minor bit of damage, even though their churches do grant the scouts the right to meet therein each week.

APPLY CHRISTIANITY

The Camp Fire Girls, plus the Boy and Girl Scouts, are the finest examples of home missions that any church could wish for.

If your church doesn't have these youth groups, then your home missionary activities are deficient.

Many of you men and women with no children of your own, can adopt an entire troop of boys or girls and win their devotion to a higher degree than may exist between those same youngsters and their flesh-and-blood parents.

For the true parent-child bond is strictly spiritual, anyway. It can be an elective state where boys chose their leader and the leader chooses the boys whom he wishes to "father" and instruct.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long, 4 cent stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

4 Artists Featured at Gallery

Three painters on the staff of Michigan State University and a sculptor who is a teaching assistant at Cranbrook are represented in an exhibition opening Tuesday at Birmingham's Little Gallery.

A spokesman for the gallery reports "Albert Brunelle is represented by a group of serigraphs, watercolors and oils which combine brilliant color with great activity of design.

"Kenneth Wynsma, who has been a Little Gallery regular for three years, continues his development of the possibilities of lacquer as a free painting medium. His forms continue to be reminiscent of subject matter without becoming realistic.

David Brown works exclusively in metal using steel, stainless steel, silver and brass. The simple continuity of the surfaces gives the effect of spiral movement and either is polished highly or permitted to rust into a variety of tones."

The exhibition will continue through Nov. 2. Gallery hours are 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday.

Find Out If Wives Are Invited

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: Am I wrong in resenting my husband's being invited to the houses of his business friends for dinner, alone? This has happened on several occasions and I do not think it is right.

He explains that because it is a business association it is entirely proper and that it is unnecessary to include an unknown wife.

I feel that if they don't know any better he should refuse their invitations in future. I would like your opinion on this matter.

A: If these business friends of your husband know he is married and their wives are to be present at dinner, they should not invite him without you.

Q: I have been told that it is improper for the mother of the bride to walk up the aisle wearing a coat and that it should be removed and left in the back of the church before walking up the aisle. Will you please tell me if this is so?

A: As a rule, the mother of the bride leaves her wrap in the vestibule with those of the bridesmaids. If she knows that the church is likely to be draughty and has an attractive fur piece, she might carry or wear this up the aisle.

Otherwise, a light wrap is put in the pew for her. In other words, the bride's mother should not wear or carry anything that might spoil the effect of her dress.

Q: At many parties I go to they serve highballs or other alcoholic beverages and I don't care for them. How can I refuse and avoid dampening the party or offending my hostess?

A: Say, "No, thank you!" There is no reason why refusal should offend your hostess unless your manner proclaims your disapproval — something which the laws of guest courtesy forbid you to show.

The Emily Post Institute cannot answer personal mail, but all questions of general interest are answered in this column.

Being His Partner Entitles You to Check Bank Balance

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: You may not believe this, but I have been married to a man for 34 years, and I still have never seen his paycheck. (He has an excellent white-collar job.) Nor have I seen any of his insurance policies, but I know he carries lots of insurance.

ABBY

I have no idea how much money he has in the bank, nor do I know if the mortgage on our house is paid. My monthly allowance is so small I am ashamed to tell you what it is. We have never had a vacation. He says we can't afford it. We are not getting any younger.

I think I should have a complete understanding of our financial affairs. He says it is none of my business. It's his money. How can I change things?

WAR HORSE'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: After 34 years of silence, it would be pretty difficult to teach an old war horse new tricks.

Ask him if he wants to bring you up-to-date on the family finances, or would he rather you asked his banker, lawyer and insurance agent? You are his partner, you know.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: We are two high school graduates who are interested in becoming airline hostesses. We want to know if an airline hostess is allowed to wear glasses? Do their teeth have to be perfectly straight? What about height and weight? Can you help us?

FUTURE HOSTESSES

DEAR FUTURE: Write to the personnel director of the airline in which you are interested. Each company has its own prerequisites.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: Have you a little space in your column for a tip that might save somebody's life or home? Tell women that if the grease should catch fire while frying or making doughnuts, a few big handsful of flour or cornmeal will smother it fast. I put out a fire that way last week, and the blaze was two feet high. Thank you,

Reception at Home After Vows

A reception in the South Paddock Street home of the John H. Buckleys followed the marriage of their daughter Margaret Yvonne to Fred F. Collier in the Bethel United Church of Christ. Rev. Donald P. Gabler officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

The bridegroom is the son of the Bert Colliers of West Clarkston Road, Lake Orion.

Receiving friends in the church parlors preceding the home reception, Mrs. Buckley wore pink lace and net over taffeta. The mother of the bridegroom chose a deep rose satin sheath dress styled with tulip skirt.

Spadea's American Designer Pattern

The trim slacks (Style 1) feature a new wider leg, welcomed by many who prefer more leg room than skinny pants afford. Released front pleats minimize the tummy and prevent gapping at the side pocket. The high-cut crotch is responsible for the good-looking no-saggy-baggy back view.

Lean lithe Capri pants (Style 2) are pocketless to avoid any possible interference with the sleek line that starts at the slightly raised waist and tapers to a smooth stop just short of the ankle. A carefully darted inner band holds the waistline to its smallest dimension.

Exercise Might Help

Fatigue? May Be Arches

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Many folks have trouble with their feet. Often they have symptoms which they do not even realize are caused by weak arches. One of these symptoms is extreme fatigue, the kind which makes you feel tired all over. Also, pains in the calves, thighs, or even the hips may be due to weak feet.

Let us remember that the arches of the feet bear the weight of the body. Naturally, the longer you are on your feet the greater strain you place on your arches. Therefore, if your job or interests keep you on your feet a lot, you would be wise to take preventative arch exercises to strengthen the muscles.

The same thing is true if you are pregnant, or if you are overweight. Exercises are a wise precaution. As a person grows older, these exercises are helpful, too, since the muscles are likely to become lax.

★ ★ ★

Nothing can make you as tired as an aching foot can. If your toes are crowded, or the shoes cut your instep, you are miserable, and may even be cross because of it.

EXERCISE HELPS

Look at the bottoms of your shoes. If they are worn off on the insides of the soles, you probably have weak ankles. Exercise can help this situation, too.

The following exercise is a simple one and will benefit the arches. Walk about the room, barefooted. Walk on the outsides of your feet.

Now clench your toes and walk on the outsides of your feet. If you will practice this exercise regularly they will make the muscles stronger.

The habit of wearing high heels most of the time is very hard on the feet. Why not wear these just on dress occasions or when you will not be on your feet for any length of time.

★ ★ ★

If you would like to have my leaflet, "Take Care of Your Feet," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 14. Address Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

HOME CLINIC

Nearly all homeowners will at some point face this difficult question: Shall we move . . . or improve the home we have?

The housing needs of every family change.

The result is that a house which was perfectly adequate when it was purchased no longer suffices after a very few years. A decision is required — move or improve.

The best answer is not the same in all cases.

As a homeowner, you will remember the high costs of acquiring a house. Closing costs, title insurance, moving expenses, new landscaping and lawn seeding costs, new curtain and drapery hardware—these items often add up to a total of several thousand dollars. That same money would probably go a long way toward overcoming any lack of comfort or convenience in your present home.

Consider, too, the basic cost of building, which has gone up greatly in the past few years. A new home — any new home — will cost more per square foot than you paid.

The neighborhood in which we have roots is important, too. It's difficult to move away from longtime friends, our church, the schools and nearby stores.

For some, the old place is too desperately inadequate or too run down for remodeling to solve the problem. But for most, the necessary investment to bring the present home completely up-to-date would be far less than the cost of moving to another house—and it wouldn't create an upheaval for the family.

If you are faced with this difficult decision, let our experts at Poole's Home Improvement Center help you find the answer. Phone us today at FE 4-1594.

Laymen Fill Pulpits; Teacher Writes Book

Once a year laymen of churches throughout the country step into church pulpits, bringing morning and evening messages. They also read Scripture, offer prayers and sing in Men's Choirs, present solos and preside.

Pastors preach weekly sermons and some even write books hoping by the written word to encourage and teach men, women and children how to live according to God's will.

Sky Pilot Founder at Christian Temple

Sky Pilots and Co-Pilots of the Pontiac Council, Sky Pilots of America, greeted their founder and national director Rev. Elmer B. Sachs of Denver, Colo., as he arrived in Pontiac this week for a series of evangelistic meetings which will close Sunday at 7:30 p. m. in Christian Temple, 505 Auburn Ave.

★ ★ ★

Rev. Mr. Sachs, a former Evanston, Ill. police detective, said that Christians today must do like Nehemiah who saw the need for rebuilding the wall.

"He was a man of courage who knew how to roll up his sleeves and get the manpower and tools to rebuild the wall. When opposition came from the enemy to frustrate his workers, his leadership was of such strong courage they retained their confidence in him and remained on the job until the wall was rebuilt.

"There are 30 million unchurched American citizens," Rev. Mr. Sachs said, adding "that each of these is a brick needed to rebuild the Christian wall which is the church of Jesus.

"We're in competition with Communism for these unchurched bricks," he added. "My heart weeps for the fine young boys and girls who because of the lack of adult leadership in their churches must flounder in delinquency and wind up in penitentiaries and reformatories."

★ ★ ★

"Training people how to reach the unchurched, this is my ministry to the church" concluded the visiting guest speaker.

★ ★ ★

Col. James Maddox of Pontiac, who directs the Michigan arm of Sky Pilots of America said, "Pastors and leaders appreciate the effectiveness of this church-centered boys' and girls' work, as it employs men and women of the local church to organize constructive groups of boys and to train them how to absorb the few who are heading into delinquency."

Col. Maddox, who is also a minister, works with local pastors in training Sky Pilots men and women to work with youngsters.

Major Irving Taylor of Donaldson Baptist Church is chairman of the Pontiac Council. The squadron of his church was represented in a welcoming ceremony for Rev. Mr. Sachs, along with groups from Memorial Baptist Church, First Baptist Church of Livonia and Christian Temple.

Japan, S. Korea Resume Talks to Ease Relations

TOKYO (AP)—Japan and South Korea agreed today to resume negotiations Oct. 20 on normalizing diplomatic relations between the two countries. The talks have been held on and off for 10 years, but property claims and other issues have blocked an agreement.

Dickering Gives You Price of Car

(Editor's note — Sticker prices are lower on many 1962 model automobiles. Will this make a difference in how much a new car costs you? It still all depends on your personal deal.)

By BEN PHLEGAR
Automotive Writer

DETROIT (AP) — If you're one of the thousands who engage in the old American custom of shopping for new cars you'll discover the posted price tags are a little lower this fall.

Every manufacturer is able to brag legitimately that he has cut the price on at least some of his 1962 models. These reductions range from a dollar or two to more than $200 and are more widespread than at any time since price stickers were first required three years ago.

PRICE ON WINDOW?

Now anyone who has bought a new car in those three years, or who has gotten as far as the pencil and paper figuring stage, knows the price he paid was not the one posted on the window.

That's because with automobiles, probably more so than with any other commodity offered for general public sale, a final price is arrived at through dickering.

You make an offer. The salesman makes an offer. Eventually, if you buy, you compromise. Hopefully both sides think they made a good deal.

A major reason for this system is that 75 per cent of the new car buyers trade an old car as part of the transaction. This used car is a vital factor in the eventual agreement.

★ ★ ★

The intelligent dealer knows within a few dollars just what profit he expects to make on each transaction. He can make this several ways: The new car can be offered at a price which will provide the entire net, or the used car can be appraised at a figure which will provide the profit, or, most commonly, a balance can be achieved between the two.

★ ★ ★

From the dealer's point of view he would like to get the full sticker price for the new car and offer you the going wholesale price for your used car (which he in turn would then sell at retail for additional profit.)

From your point of view you'd like to get the dealer to discount heavily on the new car, then trade off the old buggy at a high figure.

Dealers faithfully attend conventions of their trade associations and solemnly declare they'd like nothing better than to sell at set prices, take it or leave it.

But privately they agree that as long as trade-ins are involved there is bound to be horsetrading. And one reason for this is that nobody knows exactly how much the car he has now is worth.

THE HIGHER OFFER?

If one dealer offers $1,500 on a trade and another offers only $1,000, there's great temptation to grab the $1,500. Yet a careful examination of the total deal may show only a few dollars cash difference in the final transaction.

Because of all this some forces maintain there is no justification for the price stickers, which become federal law Oct. 1, 1958.

Called the Automobile Information Disclosure Act, the law came into being in response to protests that some dealers offered fantastic discounts from patently phony list prices. The innocent customer supposedly had no way of determing what the list price was supposed to be.

Now there is a manufacturer's suggested retail price — suggested because price fixing is illegal in some states. A dealer theoretically could try to sell above this price but chances are he would go bankrupt among the cobwebs on his stock. What the sticker does provide is a legitimate bargaining base.

Announced prices by manufacturers, such as have been made in recent weeks, further confuse the issue because only one of the makes, American Motors, announced prices including the mandatory 10 per cent federal excise tax and the dealer handling charges. The others give out factory list prices — meaningless except for comparison among various makes.

★ ★ ★

From one model year to the next a manufacturer also may make certain equipment standard which had been optional, or optional which had been standard. He may or may not change prices to cover this switch. There was a lot of such switching for 1962.

General Motors and Ford made heaters and defrosters standard but boosted prices to cover them. Some other items became standard without being added to the base price, such as self-adjusting brakes at American Motors.

$1,920.20 — Rambler American Deluxe two door sedan, six cylinder.

$1,985.00 — Ford Falcon two-door, six cylinder.

$1,992.00 — Corvair 500 two-door, six cylinder air cooled engine.

$2,003.00 — Chevy II, 100 series, two door, four cylinder.

$2,004.40 — Plymouth Valiant 100 series, two door, six cylinder.

$2,013.00 — Studebaker Lark, two door, six cylinder.

Japan to Help Finance Philippine Rail Project

TOKYO (AP) — Japan agreed to loan the Philippines $5.8 million to help finance construction of a Manila railroad project. A Philippine spokesman said under the agreement the money would be used to purchase materials, equipment and supplies in Japan.

Black Dog Saves Twin Brother in English Court

Or was it Rex who saved Blackie?

★ ★ ★

The twins stiff-legged it into court Friday to hear a summons that their owner, Albert Brown, kept a dangerous dog.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Iona Lashmore charged one of the dogs bit her. However confronted by the identical twins, she confessed: "I don't know which one it was that bit me."

The magistrate threw the case out of court.

Beradino Big in 2 Big Leagues

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD — "All my life I wanted to be only two things —a ball player and an actor," says John Beradino, who now has made the big league as both.

THOMAS

John plays one of the egghead cops in ABC's "The New Breed," the series about the Los Angeles Police Department's crack metropolitan squad. As a sort of Ivy League Joe Friday, he has reached the reached the top in TV. He did it faster in baseball.

★ ★ ★

No bonus baby, John was inked while still playing ball at the University of Southern California by a scout who promised: "You'll be playing in the majors in two years." A year later he was an infielder for the St. Louis Browns.

After Navy service in World War II, he was back with the Browns, got peddled to the Cleveland Indians in 1948 and played in the World Series. In 1952 he was sold to the Pittsburgh Pirates at the nadir of their fortunes. A leg injury convinced him to quit the next year.

'NO REGRETS'

"I had 13 years in baseball and I have no regrets," said John. "They were great times."

A native Angeleno, John came back home for a return to his other love, acting. He had started young, as a member of "Our Gang," but quit at 9. During his baseball years, he studied off-season at the Pasadena Playhouse and with a private coach.

But he found out acting was tougher to crack than baseball.

"Once I even got turned down for a part in a baseball picture," he said. "The producer said I didn't look like a ball player!"

John had some lean years, but he stayed with it. He began to specialize in TV heavies and in recent years has bettered his top baseball salary — $20,000 plus $7,800 World Series money. He augments his income by selling TV scripts.

★ ★ ★

Now 42, John has no worries about his old age. He starts collecting his baseball pension at 50, maybe sooner. He participates in the pension plans of the Screen Actors Guild and the Writers Guild of America. And he expects to be around to collect his Social Security.

Republicans Favorites Turkey Election Sunday

★ ★ ★

Newspaper surveys in Central Turkey and major urban centers indicated a gathering trend toward the Republicans, the opposition party during the 10-year regime of ousted Premier Adnan Menderes who was hanged a month ago for crimes against the constitution.

BEST ORGANIZED

The surge toward the Republicans, the best organized of the four parties in the race, is apparently a reaction to extreme claims and interparty feuds that have marked the campaign conduct on other parties.

★ ★ ★

Republican rallies are drawing an enthusiastic response both in rural and metropolitan areas.

The trend among business groups in Istanbul, Turkey's largest city with a population of 2.5 million, is reported to be favoring Inonu's party.

USE PERCENTAGE BASIS

Candiates for the 450 seats in the new parliament and for the 129 seats in the senate will be chosen from the Republicans, the Justice party, the New Turkey party and the Republican Peasants Nation party.

★ ★ ★

All except the Republicans and the Peasants Nation party, have been formed since the May 1960 military coup that overthrew the Menderes regime.

★ ★ ★

Voting will be on a proportional basis with each party getting the exact percentage of the seats in parliament it wins in the public vote.

There are 12,788,583 eligible voters.

If Inonu wins, he is expected to step aside in favor of the party general secretary, Ismail Rhustu Aksal, 50, for the premiership.

The president will be elected by both houses of parliament sometime before Oct. 29. Most likely prospect is Gen. Cemal Gursel, the head of the junta that has ruled Turkey for 17 months.

The 21 other officers in the junta will resign from the army, navy and air force and move into the senate as nonelected members.

Pontiac Elks to Honor Press

Exalted Ruler to Present Citation at Salute Dinner Tuesday Evening

The Pontiac Elks will observe National Newspaper Week, starting tomorrow by honoring 14 staff members of The Pontiac Press at a newspaper salute dinner Tuesday.

Exalted Ruler Wylie McClellan of 1554 Richmond said the Pontiac Lodge No. 810 would be among 1,978 lodges of the order participating in the observance, the theme of which is "Your Newspaper — Heritage of Truth, Frontier of Freedom."

The dinner beginning at 6:30 will be followed by presentation of a citation to The Pontiac Press. The citation will be given to Press Advertising Director John A. Riley who will be official representative of the paper for the ceremony.

Other staff members expected to attend are also members of the order.

★ ★ ★

In addition to Riley, they are: G. Marshall Jordan, retail advertising manager; Bruno Kearns, sports editor; printers Clarence Crowle, Edward DeMuth, Wilson Knaus, Chester Reynolds, Bob Turnbull and Norman Andress; stereotypers Claude Andress and Louis Zimmerman; pressman Wilbur Jolly; Allan Cady and Arnold Neinstead, both of advertising.

Reservists See Call-Up Rough but Necessary

DETROIT (AP)—A quiet, determined-looking group of men rode a train away from the Union Depot Friday.

Said one:

"It's rough to go. But I think the President is doing the right thing by giving them a hard time over there—in Berlin."

Cpl. Richard Adelsbach, 21, of Detroit, a bank employe now on duty as an army reservist, was speaking.

Adelsbach was one of approximately 80 Detroit area men of the 603rd Military Police Guard Company going into a year of active duty. He and the others were assigned to Camp Chaffee, Ark.

In command of the Detroit group was Capt. George Callahan, a Detroit police sergeant on the force for nearly 20 years. Callahan took it in stride with the "just one of those things" comment.

Harvest Dinner Set by Farm Bureau

The East Orion 4-H Club is in charge of parking cars. Pumpkins will be on sale and the proceeds of both dinner and pumpkin sale go to further work of the 4-H.

Tickets are available at the door. Serving will begin at 5 p.m.

Other newly installed officers are Harlan E. Hodges, senior vice commander; Albert W. Rayner, junior vice commander; Harold Willis, finance officer; and Floyd E. Cremer, service officer.

Walker Ad Firm Is Purchased by Naegle Concern

Sale of the 75-year-old Walker & Co., Michigan's largest outdoor advertising firm, to Naegele Advertising Companies, Inc., Minneapolis, has been announced by Bertin C. Gamble, president of Gamble-Skogmo, Inc., and Robert O. Naegele, president of Naegele Advertising Companies, Inc.

★ ★ ★

The sale establishes Naegle as the third-largest outdoor company in the nation. The sale price was reportedly several million dollars.

One of the nation's largest retail chains, Gamble-Skogmo, Inc. acquired controlling interest in the Detroit-based firm specializing in outdoor and electrical displays, in December 1960.

Until today, the Naegele company has operated Walker & Co. for Gamble-Skogmo under a management contract. "This, in effect, means doubling the size of our business," comments Naegele.

The Walker firm has an office at 822 Woodward Ave., Pontiac.

The Walker & Co. name will be changed to the Naegele Outdoor Advertising Co. of Michigan, Inc., and will be operated in accordance with present policies of the Naegele companies.

★ ★ ★

It will be known as "Meha Village" and originally will accommodate about 500 persons. Eventually, it is planned to accommodate about 1,500 persons on the 400-acre site about 10 miles from Ann Arbor.

Call Expert to Dispose of Rocket Detonator

SOUTH HAVEN (AP) — State police of the South Haven post called for a bomb disposal expert from Lansing Friday when a reportedly live detonator for a 5-inch artillery rocket was brought in.

The device was found by workmen unloading a carload of scrapped rocket launchers at the nearby Bohn Aluminum plant. It was identified as a rocket detonator by a National Guardsman, police said.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —Fourteen nations proposed Friday that the United Nations call for a speedup of studies by experts on dangers from radioactive fallout due to the Soviet Union's resumption of nuclear weapons tests.

In a resolution submitted to the U.N. Assembly's special Political Committee, the 14 nations expressed fear that radioactive debris constitutes "a growing threat to this and future generations."

Maturos Change Ranch Plan to Tri-Level

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Determination pays off! The John Maturos wanted a new house. They had seen a plan in The Pontiac Press back in 1958. Money was the main obstacle.

★ ★ ★

Even though he had never built anything before, Maturo decided to go ahead on his own. Last summer he did just that. The plan the couple liked was a ranch style. By putting a basement under the bedroom, the house became a tri-level. In the process they reversed the room plan too. Their lot is 100 by 130 feet.

Three sturdy little boys make up the Maturo family. Johnny is 7; Raymond is 5; and Paul will be 3 next month. Before moving to their new home up near Northern High School they had lived in Waterford.

The main part of the house is red brick. The bedroom level is white board and batten with gray shutters. Trim on the brick part is white.

★ ★ ★

You step into a small halfway that has a slate floor. Walls are white. The front door is half glass with 9 small panes on the upper portion. The lock is heart shaped.

Full length louver doors cover the coat closet with half size swinging louver doors closing off the stairs to the lower level. Floors throughout the house are oak.

The living room at the back of the house has a multi-pane picture window and a door to the back yard. Walls are light beige. Curtains have a provincial print in brown and beige on white.

The fireplace is in the wall between the living room and kitchen. On the living room side there is a raised stone hearth, but no mantel on either side.

★ ★ ★

The Early American feeling is carried out in the kitchen. First of all there is the red brick fireplace where the youngsters have innumerable wiener and marshmallow roasts. The finish on the cabinets is antique maple. Hardware is copper. Accessories are coppertone.

The floor is beige, flecked with brown. Counter tops are white and gold plastic. Crisp white cafe curtains hang on brass rods.

There is a copper drop ceiling fixture over the maple table. Maple benches take the place of chairs. The clock installed in the soffit is black with copper numerals and hands.

★ ★ ★

There are only 4 steps up to the bedroom level. The first room is the bath. Walls and floor are white; fixtures are blue.

The long vanity that goes across one side of the room has a pearl white top. Wallpaper above it, the curtains and the shower curtain are white with blue and lavender flowers.

There is excellent storage beneath this vanity and 2 deep storage closets above it. Peg-Board is used for all cupboard doors.

★ ★ ★

Furniture which includes a rocker is maple. The quilted bedspread has a flowered design in peach and yellow.

BUILT-INS

Maturo built in 9 drawers along one wall. Two wall shelves are mounted above the built-in chest. At one end is a desk. The drawers are painted yellow and red.

Paul has a green room with circus curtains. He still sleeps in a crib.

As a project for this winter Maturo wants to finish the recreation room is the basement. The walls will be paneled.

There is a lavatory down here as well as a utility and laundry room.

★ ★ ★

The story of the building of the Maturo home is the 20th century version of the pioneer who cleared the land and put up a cabin for his family. Maturo may not have cut down any trees, but he provided a new home for his wife and 3 sons with his own manual labor.

Spell Out House Painting Steps

So youre ready to start painting the house! Fine! You've bought the type of quality paint you're going to use in the color of your choice. You've prepared the surface properly. What do you do next?

★ ★ ★

The first thing to do is to paint the window sash and trim if they are to be a different color from the body of the house. The reason for doing these parts first is to avoid having to rest your ladder against the freshly painted siding. For bright, longer-lasting colors use enamel or special trim paints.

★ ★ ★

Once the windows are taken care of, you're ready for the body of the house. Stand near the lower right hand corner of the building and see how far to your right you can reach comfortably without endangering your balance. Here's the place to put your ladder, making sure that it is standing firmly and that its foot is at a distance from the house equal to about one-quarter of its length.

Climb carefully to the top, toting your bucket of paint to which is attached a neck so you can hang it from a ladder rung. Don't forget your brush — 3½ to 4 inches is the best size — and a rag saturated with paint thinner to remove spots in case you splash any paint on the newly painted trim.

Deposit the paint in several spots and join them together by brushing the paint out in long, sweeping strokes. With horizontal siding, paint the bottom of each board first. Then double back and paint the face. If the siding is vertical, first paint the grooves between each board, then the face.

★ ★ ★

Use your whole arm and paint with the grain where possible applying the paint from the end of the brush, using both sides of each brushful. Use only enough pressure to curl the end of the bristle slightly. It's a lot easier to paint with a fully loaded brush because a half-dry brush will drag.

★ ★ ★

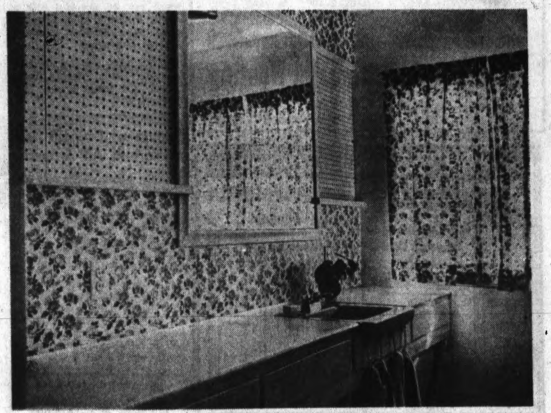
End your strokes with a gradual lifting motion. Always work from a dry area into a wet one and end your strokes with a gradual lifting motion to prevent depositing too much paint where the new and just painted areas meet. Obliterate any brush marks with light quick strokes of a nearly dry brush. This will also thin out lap marks.

★ ★ ★

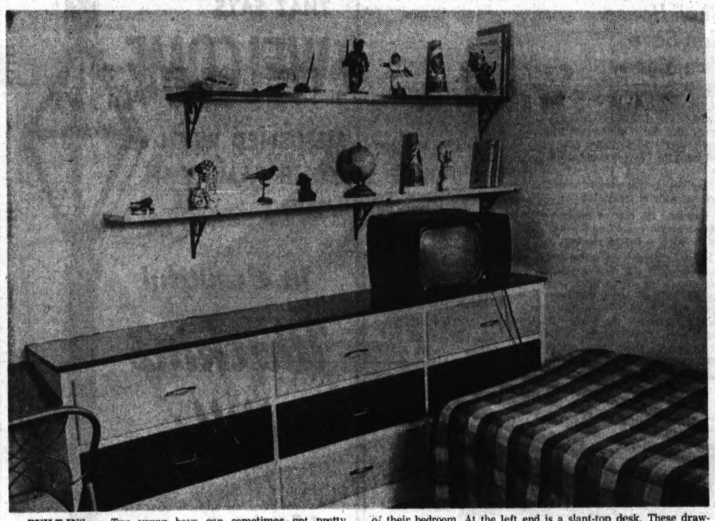
Most experts recommend that you work from the top down without moving the ladder. Then start at the top again and paint down. Others feel that it is better to move the ladder or work from a safe platform so that you can paint completely across the house at each level. This will avoid laps. Try to finish each day's or half day's painting at a window or a corner, again to prevent lap marks.

★ ★ ★

If you are applying two coats, wait at least forty-eight hours between coats before starting the new one. If, however, you are using latex house paint, it can usually be recoated in an hour or so or whatever time specified on the label.



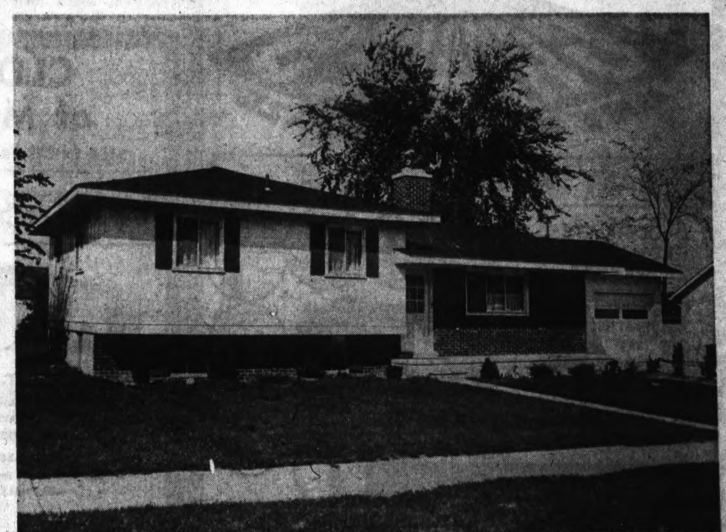
WALL-STORAGE — The space behind the bathroom wall has been made into a large closet. Sliding panels of Peg-Board close the openings, but allow for ventilation. This is an attractive blue and white bathroom. Curtain material matches the wallpaper. A blue basin is set into the pearly white counter top.



BUILT-INS — Two young boys can sometimes get pretty rough. But Johnny and Raymond won't knock over any furniture in their room. Their father built in 9 big drawers along one side of their bedroom. At the left end is a slant-top desk. These drawers are painted a lively red and yellow. The plaid bedspreads have the same colors.

AFTERNOON SNACK — Paul (right) was still sleepy from his nap. But Raymond (left) ate happily from the plate of brownies his mother had ready. The boys are seated at the table in the kitchen where benches take the place of chairs. They are framed by the fireplace opening that extends through from the living room.

AT THE REAR — The living room has a large window overlooking the back yard. Walls are beige. The floor of polished oak is partially covered with the brown and beige braided rug. The sofa is blue gray. The wing chair has linen upholstery in white, brown and gold. Tables are maple.



Pontiac Press Photos by Ed Noble

NEAR PONTIAC NORTHERN — The John Maturos moved into their new home on Fourth Street late last summer. Maturo built the tri-level house from Pontiac Press plan X-15, published in 1958. By putting a basement under the bedroom area he made the house a tri-level. The exterior is red brick and white board and batten with gray shutters.

Some Splash

Latest figures show that about 211,800 families in the U.S. own their own swimming pools, according to housing authorities at Allied Chemical's Barrett Division. Many of them are enclosed with windbreaks made of translucent plastic panels which lend a colorful decorative touch as well as turn aside chilling breezes.

It's Time to Think of Hydronics

A new 32-page booklet on "hydronics" is available as a guide for those who are planning to build, buy or remodel a home.

* * *

The booklet, "Heart of the House," is an industry publication offered by the National Better Heating-Cooling Council, an information center supported by all segments of the hydronics industry.

* * *

"Heart of the House" relates the history of heating from the cave man's fire to the Franklin stove to modern hydronics. It also details standards of performance that a homeowner should demand from his heating system to assure maximum protection of family comfort and health.

In addition, the auxiliary functions of hydronic heating are illustrated. Auxiliary functions include automatic snow melting, pool heating, instantaneous hot faucet water and zoning, all of which can be provided with a single hydronic home heating plant. There is also a section devoted to cooling.

FAMILY ROOM — Built-in shelves and cupboards are a feature of the family room. The slanting ceiling is beamed. Curtains are white. A deep pile leaf green rug is placed over most of the terrazzo floor. The little love seats are Italian provincial. In the quilted upholstery there are muted tones of lavender, green and blue. The lamp has a copper base that was once an umbrella stand. The candlestick on the desk at the far right is a French antique.

Feature of Radiant Heat Is Warmth All Around

Radiant panel heating acts on a different principal than convector systems, Anaconda home specialists report. The heat comes from copper tube coils concealed in floors, walls and ceilings. No radiators, convectors or baseboard units are used.

* * *

Heating from these 'invisible' coils converts the plaster ceiling and walls or a concrete floor into a huge heating 'panel' that transmits warmth evenly to persons and objects in the room.

Termite Damage Grows Heavier

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Are termites giving your house the "munch-over?"

The chances that they are doing just that have more than doubled within the last 10 years, according to Dr. Thomas E. Snyder, research associate of the Smithsonian Institution and one of the world's foremost authorities on termites.

Dr. Snyder's estimate of termite damage to structures in the United States has been increased to about $250,000,000 annually as compared to $100,000,000 ten or fifteen years ago. The retired senior entomologist of the Department of Agriculture's Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine says there is evidence that subterranean termites are slowly spreading northward, possibly contributing to the steady yearly increase in damage.

"Termites have long existed wherever woody vegetation grows throughout the United States," he says. "The trend toward milder winters in northern areas has perhaps contributed to population increases. As a result, their presence has become more manifest in areas where the common belief was that they did not exist.

"In addition, new construction of low-built houses with central heating allows termites to work year round. This accounts for much of the increased damage, especially in slab-on-ground buildings where termites are hard to detect."

While not the predominant means of spreading their destructiveness, certainly the most heralded are the annual spring and fall swarmings. At this time young termites get the irresistible urge to enter their season in society. They fly a short distance, pair off, and start "socializing"—likely under or near a house.

Termites roamed the earth about 250 million years before humans appeared, converting wood into usable plant food. Today there are over 2,100 species of termites in the tropical and temperate parts of the world—41 in the United States. While slightly younger than roaches geologically, well-preserved termite specimens have been found as fossils 250 million years old in Asia or at least 55 million years in the United States.

Strangely enough, says Dr. Snyder, termites were forced to "dig in" by their chief enemy, the ant. They live in termitaria below the frost line and attack wood through a complex network of mud supply lines.

Termites will eat anything containing cellulose, including furniture, clothing, shoes, books, mummies, and coffins in graves. They have been known to bore into bones, elephant tusks, ivory, human cadavers protected by formaldehyde, leath sheathing, rubber insulation, and lime mortar. By building houses low to the ground in wooded areas and centrally heating them during the winter man has changed the termite's role from that of scavenger to pest.

* * *

"Practically all damage can be avoided by proper construction and pressure impregnation of important timbers in the understructure with chemicals," said Dr. Snyder. He also advises periodic inspections by reliable termite control firms.

Shell House Can Save You Money

Study the financing arrangements carefully — make sure you know exactly what you're paying and what the interest charges will be.

Find out to what extent the unit you purchase is guaranteed.

Calculate the cost of finishing the entire job — not just the cost of the shell — before you buy.

In general, study the entire contract carefully and make certain you understand all of it, as well as the building codes that exist in your locality. If intelligently and skillfully handled, the home you build from a basic shell can be worth up to twice your entire cash investment.

Shellac Is a Product of East Indian Insect

NEW YORK (UPI) — The lac, a tiny parasitic insect found on certain types of plum trees in India, Burma and Siam, is the source of all shellac.

It lives on limbs and twigs secreting lac resin. This is scraped off and made into shellac. Paint experts say science knows much about the chemical composition of lac, but cannot produce it synthetically.

Traditional Meets Modern in Seven-Room Ranch

By JULES LOH

In today's headlong search for economy and efficiency and all the other house-ad adjectives designed to lure budget minded couples, many modern homes wind up with about as much warmth and charm as a supermarket.

It doesn't have to be the case—which is precisely why this attractive, and modern, three-bedroom home was chosen as the house of the week. It is design B-88, by architect Lester Cohen.

But the floor plan shows it is a well ordered home suited to the taste of the most practical homemaker.

For example, look at the bathroom arrangement. Technically it would be described as a bath and a half, but all the facilities are in one compartmented unit.

There are two toilets, two washstands and one tub; and the result is a complete family bathroom, a private bathroom for the master bedroom, and a powder room for guests. The towel closet, incidentally, contains a laundry chute emptying into the basement.

Though the house contains only 1,396 square feet of living area, its rooms are spacious and well planned. The living room, in fact, is 19 feet across the front and, flowing as it does into a dining ell, more than 20 feet front to back.

HAVE CHOICE

The 15' by 11' family room is separated from the 13' by 9'8" kitchen by folding doors, thus offering either two private rooms or one large informal living expanse.

Including the double garage, the house is 69' wide by 39' deep. The design calls for wood siding throughout, with accents of vertical board siding in the front on the living room side and brick on the front bedroom side.

Architect Cohen paid as much attention to the grace and charm of the interior of this home as he did the exterior. An indication is the alcove fireplace, a feature not usually found in smaller homes.

Note also that the fireplace is in the family room rather than the living room, an economical move (it shares the flue with the kitchen range) as well as a practical one. As Cohen explained it: "A family spends most of the time in the family room; why not have the fireplace there where they can enjoy it?"

The three bedrooms are sized to accommodate nicely a family of as many as six, with bedroom No. 3 well suited for a den if only two bedrooms are used. All have ample closet space, and the closets are arranged to serve as sound buffers between rooms.

Storage space in the ramainder of the house also is plentiful. A full basement as well as double garage solves the major storage problem, and there is a coat closet in the foyer and a linen closet convenient to all three bedrooms.

KITCHEN

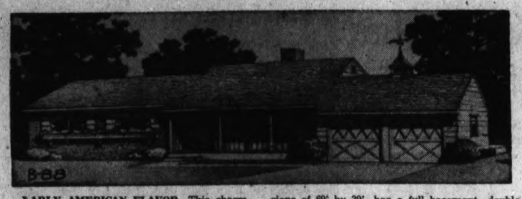
The kitchen is large and well ventilated, with full view of both sections of the rear terrace. There is a rear service entrance to the kitchen, in addition to sliding glass door entrances off the terrace to the dining room and family room.

The center hall arrangement—another feature frequently passed over in homes of this size—makes for excellent traffic circulation throughout the house. The family room-kitchen area, living room-dining room area, bedroom area, all basement stairs, all are accessible without having to pass through any area to get to another.

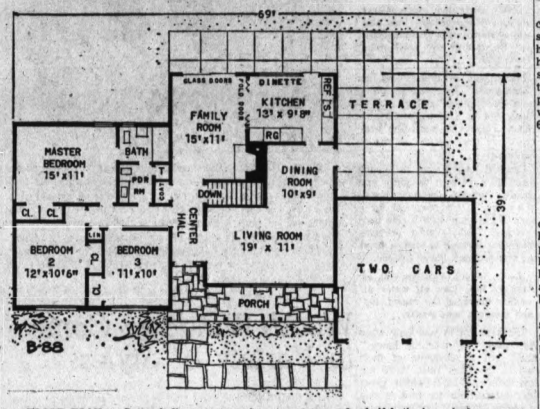
B-88 Statistics

A three-bedroom ranch with 1½ baths, family room, kitchen, dining room, living room, full basement and double garage. Outdoor areas include flagstone porch in front and large terrace on two sides of rear.

House contains 1,396 square feet of living area in dimensions of 69' wide and 39' deep. Architect is Lester Cohen.



EARLY AMERICAN FLAVOR—This charming three bedroom home combines modern efficiency with the warmth of traditional design. It contains 1,396 square feet of living area in dimensions of 69' by 39', has a full basement, double garage. Exterior is wood siding with accents of vertical board siding and brick in front.



FLOOR PLAN — Center hall assures excellent traffic circulation to all areas of the house, including basement. Note the bathroom arrangement, one and a half baths in a single compartmented unit. Family room,. kitchen and dining room all have doors opening to terrace.

Build in Room Corner for Additional Storage

According to the Southern Pine Association, home owners would be amazed at the extra storage space available in room corners.

Construction of corner "built-ins" are excellent projects for home handymen. Simple wood framing can be erected across the corners and faced with wood paneling. Space for TV, Hi-Fi, and book shelves is thus created.

Insulation Pays Well

Properly installed mineral wool insulation can trim a house's heating bill enough to provide the homeowner with one year of free heat in every five, say heat conservation specialists at Allied Chemical's Barrett Division. They recommend insulation in all ceilings, walls and floors that form a barrier between indoors and outdoors.

Hydronic Electric Heat Systems Prove Successful

Heating Contractors and others connected with the "wet" heat trade will soon have a new opportunity to custom design heating jobs for their customers, using electric hydronics.

Electric hot water heating systems have gained customer acceptance in a number of test installations, according to Howard R. Stevenson, Detroit Edison Assistant Vice President and Manager of Sales.

In cooperation with the electric company, nine hydronic electric systems were installed in test homes. Some of the homes were heated by hot water baseboard, some by forced warm air. All systems used the "off-peak" storage principle of electrically heated hot water. The tests covered the 1960-61 heating season.

Operating cost for the insulated electrically heated homes, Stevenson said, compared favorably with that of the flame fuels for the conventional home.

The electric system essentially consist of three packages: a water heater and electrical control components; storage tanks; and an air handler or heat exchanger for the hot air type, or a water pump and mixer for hot water baseboards.

As a result of the tests, Stevenson said, further development of the electric hydronic system is being undertaken.

Several firms have shown an interest in manufacturing electric hydronic units. When they are commercially available Stevenson estimated that an off-peak electric heating system could be competitive with fuel-fired hydronic systems. Insulation of the house would be in addition to this amount.

Owners of the test houses were unanimous in their delight with the comfort of electric hydronic systems, Stevenson said, and they commented, as people do about all electric heating jobs, on the cleanliness, safety and dependability of the system.

"Development of the electric hydronic system will provide contractors with a new and modern product to offer their prospective customers," Stevenson concluded.

Easier Moving

Heavy furniture likely to be moved should be equipped with ball-bearing casters for easy rolling. A minimum size caster to insure against marring floors should be at least 2" in diameter, with a soft rubber tread at least ¾" in width. Beds call for casters ranging from 3" to 5" in diameter. Non-rubber rollers can mar floors as badly as a bare furniture leg.

Change Closet Walls With Peg-Board

You will have to nail furring strips to the existing wall. Use strips three-quarters of an inch by three-quarters and place them at 16-inch intervals, nailing them through the wall and into the studding. When the strips are in place, spread glue on them and position the panel so that the strips fall between the rows of perforations.

Fasten the panel with brads or roundhead wood screws applied through drilled holes or the perforations themselves. Use a fastener every four inches around the edges and every six inches on intermediate supports.

Panels one-eighth of in inch in thickness usually are amply strong, but if it is expected that the hanger loads will be extremely heavy, use the quarter-inch size.

You can get the perforated panels with a factory primecoat which is slightly textured and ready for finishing or you can apply a primecoat to ordinary panels and then add the finishing coats. Incidentally, if you are using more than one panel, avoid butting them tightly.

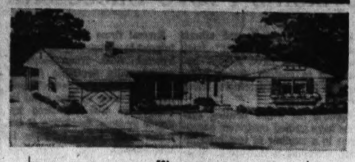
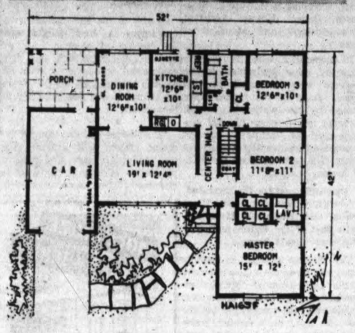
HOMES FOR AMERICANS





PORCH AND PATIO — Extensions of garage and bedroom wing form a lovely front pation court for this attractive ranch house. Sliding glass doors open out from dining room to a sheltered rear porch. Living space is 1,283 square feet. The architect is Alan Fraser, Room 75, 117 West 48th St., New York 36, N.Y., and the plan is HA163F.

Leftover Wood Has Value

Once, these "leftovers" had no value except for fuel.

Last year, however, they were converted into 2,877,000 cords of pulp chips by the Southern Pine lumber industry. The chips were provided to paper companies and represented 15 per cent of the raw material used by the South in paper manufacture during 1960. An even better idea of the size of the contribution is gained from the fact that Southern Pine provides more than half of the nation's total material for paper production.

A Southern Pine Association study of figures released by the U.S. Forest Service shows that the 2,877,000 cords of pulp chips were produced by 896 lumber companies in south. The chipping activity was a by-product of the main operation of these firms, which also manufactured several billion board feet of Southern Pine lumber.

The figures revealed that the volume of pulp chips turned out by the Southern Pine lumber mills HAD INCREASED MORE THAN 100 TIMES IN ONLY EIGHT YEARS

Last year's total of 2,877,000 cords is equivalent to the amount of pulpwood that could be grown in a well managed forest stand of 10,000,000 acres in one year.

By using every scrap of the log for valuable products, they have released entire forests for further growth and future use.

This helps explain why the Southern Pine forests are gaining in volume at such an incredible rate at the same time that they are sustaining a major portion of the nation's lumber and paper producing activity. The net annual gain in sawtimber—trees of sufficient size and maturity for lumber manufacture—is an amazing 2½ billion board feet.

Keep Home Free of Frustration

Is your home frustration-free? Little annoyances often aggravate mental illness or cause family conflict and undue fatigue, authorities say.

Dad's lack of privacy for his "homework." Establish an office in a quiet place such as a bedroom. Put in a desk, comfortable chair, Peg-Board panel for easy visual reference, and adequate lighting.

Cracked linoleum on the kitchen floor. This is both unsightly and unsafe. Remove linoleum, install Masonite Underlayment for a smooth base and then a new floor covering. Underlayment prevents mirroring through of uneven flooring and prolongs life of surface.

Leaky faucet in kitchen sink or laundry tub. Turn off water at meter, unscrew the faucet top and insert a new washer.

The kids get in your hair when they play "all over the house." Build 'em a playhouse of their own in the back yard. Write for free plan AE-313-I, which gives easy instructions for making one of strong Masonite hardboard panels and lumber.

Address postal to Home Service Bureau, Suite 2037, 111 W. Washington St., Chicago 2, Ill.

Two Tone Look in Hardboard

Rooms as well as persons have distinct personalities. The den, growing boy's bedroom and recreation room are definitely masculine and should be decorated with this in mind.

A masculine appearance is easy to create if the walls are paneled with a rugged, embossed hardboard paneling. This type, made by Masonite Corporation, has a weathered wood finish that is especially decorative when painted. It takes a handsome two-tone paint job, too.

Used as a wainscot in the recreation room or bedroom, the embossed paneling sets the tone for a dominant masculine atmosphere. The paneling's wearability is another important factor in choosing it for a lower wall in a room where children are active.

Vertical grooves add to the interest. The panels are supplied with a white factory-applied primer, ready for a second coat or for two-toning.

The 4'x8' panels, one-quarter inch thick, may be two-toned by brushing on a darker color or area to about half a panel at a time. Immediately wipe off the color with a damp rubber or plastic sponge. The darker tone will remain in the recesses of the embossment and the white primecoat will stay on the high spots for contrast. Two-toning not involving the white may be done also.

The paneling may be applied over a solid backing or directly to furring strips or wall studs 16" on center.

Overcoating House Saves on Fuel

By "over-coating" wood siding and shingles with metal lath and stucco, old frame houses can be attractively remodeled with subsequent savings, according to a report from the Metal Lath Manufacturers Association.

Substantial fuel savings are made possible by this extra insulating coat of reinforced portland cement stucco which seals cracks and other openings in an aging house. Tests show that covering a house with metal lath and stucco reduces heat loss through frame walls by 15.7 per cent. Based on the entire house, this cuts the fuel bill 13.3 per cent.

Adequately reinforced with expanded steel, portland cement stucco withstands the worst rigors of weather. Cracking often blamed on the climate is more likely the result of bad workmanship, poor materials and lightweight reinforcing, accord to the association.

Stucco provides a noncombustible exterior that ages gracefully without need of painting. It blends with wood, brick or stone to give interesting and beautiful effects. Stucco can be finished in a variety of textures and colors including simulated stone or brick.

Wood Windows Come in Variety of Styles

When a family plans to build or remodel a home, an important step is the selection of windows. Windows provide light, ventilation, and view, and are vital to architectural style.

Wood windows, always popular for homes because of the natural beauty and versatility of wood, are available today in a wide range of styles.

Double-hung

1. Double-hung. This familiar style has two sash that open up and down. It is often used in houses of traditional design.

2. Casement. A type suitable for both traditional and modern architecture and comprised of one or more sash that open like a door.

3. Awning-hopper. These styles swing out and up or in and down.

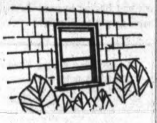
4. Sliding. These windows, with two or more sash that slide horizontally, are appropriate for most architectural styles.



Casement

Wood windows have many advantages for the home owner. Wood can be painted or stained for decorating effect inside and outside the house. It is a natural insulating material, resisting the flow of heat. Precision-made wood windows with modern weather-stripping built into them at the factory keep out cold, heat, and dust.

Prefinished Oak Floor Is Solution

There's an easy solution nowadays to the problem of old worn floors that cannot be restored to attractiveness: have gleaming new oak floors installed right over them.

Especially when prefinished oak is used, the job can be completed quickly with minimum disruption of household routine. Expertly finished at the mill — even to waxing and polishing — prefinished oak flooring is ready for service immediately after being installed. It enables a home owner to have a room re-floored and put back into use the same day.

Unit-blocks, a modern form of parquetry, also can be installed in mastic right over concrete or other hard surfaces. They can be laid over old composition flooring, too, provided the latter is firmly bonded.

The cost can vary with localities and with the type and grade of flooring chosen. A room can be floored with a top grade of the strip style, however, for less than you might pay for a good quality

Report Attacks Racial Bias

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13 (UPI)—The Civil Rights Commission's new report on discrimination in housing is a slashing, bitter indictment of Federal government policy and a plea for remedial action by Congress and President Kennedy.

In 153 pages of text, part four of its 1961 report, the Commission reviews in depth the board ambit of Federal involvement in the housing industry. The six commissioners concluded as follows:

"The housing and home finance industries "profit from the benefits that the federal government offers —and on racial grounds deny large numbers of Americans equal housing opportunity . . .

"From the builder and the lender to the real estate broker, and often the local housing authority—Federal resources are utilized to accentuate this denial."

Congress established the Commission in 1957. It is a fact-finding body without power to compel or prohibit action. In 1959 in its first report, it found that housing "seems to be the one commodity in the American market that is not freely available on equal terms to everyone who can afford to pay."

Beauty Achieved by Use of Wood

According to the Southern Pine Association, these effects can be economically achieved by a wood plank-and-beam roof structure, combined with boards-and-battens siding on the exterior walls.

Clean-cut "horizontals" are provided by ceiling beams exposed for interior decorations; the "verticals" by the exterior wood siding, which gives an impression of greater height to the flat roof.

Virginia City, Nev., at the time of the famous gold rush days of the 1870s at one time boasted a population said to be more than 30,000.

Chiefs End Victory Famine With 7-6 Win Over Flint Northern

Viking Fumble, Pomeroy's Kick Turn the Trick

Goal Line Stand Halts Losers on 6-Yard Line in Final Minute

By BILL CORNWELL

FLINT — Pontiac Central's embattled football legions ended their victory famine here Friday night by the narrowest of margins — that all-important extra point.

The arm and toe of quarterback Bob Pomeroy and some alert ball-hawking by the Chiefs brought them their first triumph of the season, a hard-earned 7-6 conquest of Flint Northern in a Saginaw Valley game in Atwood Stadium.

Pomeroy passed to end Milford Hillie for a touchdown with 1:15 remaining in the 3rd quarter and then booted the 7th point from placement as the Chiefs posted win No. 1 after three losses and a tie.

Then the Chiefs staged a terrific goal line stand in the final minute of the game to provide a dramatic finish as Northern's losing streak, already the longest in the school's history, was extended to five.

The defending Valley champions, still winless in 1961, lost three fumbles to PCH. Two of them stopped Northern scoring threats and the other paved the way for Central's seven counters.

It marked the 2nd straight week that PCH was involved in a 7-6 decision. A week ago the Chiefs lost a 7-6 contest to Midland at Wisner Stadium. Last night they were on the long end of the same score.

The victory was Central's first against Northern since 1955 when the Vikings dropped another one-point verdict, 20-19, at Wisner. It was only the 6th PCH win over Northern compared to 24 losses and a tie in a series dating back to 1931.

Also memorable is the fact that it was Pontiac's first triumph over a Flint team in Atwood Stadium since 1946 when the Chiefs blanked the Central Indians, 7-0. It was their first success against Northern on a Atwood turf since an 8-0 conquest in 1936.

Pomeroy's perfect kick and a desperate 4th-down Viking aerial that was batted down in the end zone spoiled Northern's annual homecoming celebration before 2,856 paying customers.

After a scoreless first half in which neither team made a serious threat, Northern capitalized on a pass interception early in the 3rd period to hit pay dirt and grab a 6-0 lead.

Viking halfback Ed Johnson intercepted Pomeroy's aerial and dashed 70 yards for a touchdown, but a clipping penalty on the PCH 29 staved them off temporarily.

The Vikings drove 44 yards in nine plays to end the scoreless deadlock, Aided by a 15-yard penalty against PCH, Northern marched to the 4-yard stripe.

Three running plays netted only one yard. With the PCH defense massed up front on 4th down, quarterback Lane Ellis made a quick pass over the middle to end Cliff Finklea for a 3-yard scoring strike.

Pontiac's big break came right on the heels of the Viking TD. The fleet-footed Johnson caught Pomeroy's punt on the Flint 20 where he was hit hard by Andy Roach. Johnson fumbled, Pontiac's Roy Couser scooped it up and rambled to the Flint 10.

After three running plays sputtered to the 7, Pomeroy threw to Hillie in the corner of the end zone for the tying TD. Then Pomeroy split the uprights with the eventual winning marker.

Northern threatened twice in the 4th quarter. Tackle Dick Richards recovered a Viking fumble by Don Gusa on the PCH 17 to halt one push. Then the Vikings tried again in the final minute of play from the PCH 9.

The Vikings made only three yards in four attempts against the tenacious PCH defense and only six seconds were left on the scoreboard clock when Ellis' 4th-down pass failed to connect. Pontiac took over on the PCH 6, Pomeroy sneaked into the line and time ran out.

A near-riot erupted among the players as the game ended. The boys were swinging at each other, but order was quickly restored by coaches of both teams, game officials and police.

Reid Gets 24 Points as Dales Win, 45-9

By DON VOGEL

Dorie Reid and his Ferndale teammates warmed up for their Eastern Michigan League showdown with Port Huron next week by crushing Birmingham Seaholm 45-9 last night.

Reid went on another scoring rampage. The state dash champion reeled off touchdown runs of 95, 80, 35 and 2 yards. Although the middle of the Seaholm stadium field was muddy, Reid found plenty of good footing along the grassy sidelines.

He gained 236 yards in 13 carries and upped his point total to 72 in five games. This makes him the top scorer in the county.

It was the fifth win for the Eagles who have yet to taste defeat under first year coach Frank Joranko. The clash with Port Huron at Ferndale next Friday will match two of the state's Class A powers. Port Huron stayed unbeaten by whipping Mt. Clemens, 31-60.

★ ★ ★

The cold wind sweeping the length of the field and damp turf didn't help Seaholm. The Maples, who have lost four straight league encounters since beating Groves in the opener, were guilty of poor tackling and blocking in the first.

NO CHANCE

Coach Carl Lemle corrected these fundamentals during the intermission, but even with more spirited effort in the last two quarters, the Maples were no match for the visitors.

This was apparent from the start. The Maples won the toss and elected to kick with the wind. Reid gathered the ball in on the five-yard line, slipped slightly in a patch of mud, then set sail up the middle behind a wave of blockers. He broke in the clear at the 40, cut for the sidelines and turned on his tremendous speed.

He jogged across the goal line.

Seaholm was forced to punt after taking the kickoff and Ferndale took over on its own 30. Reid promptly picked up 32 yards to get the drive started. He ended it by diving over tackle from the two.

★ ★ ★

A partially blocked punt that carried only eight yards gave Ferndale another chance in the second quarter Halfback Jefe Hicks sprinted 20 yards to the end zone on the first play.

★ ★ ★

Fullback Jack Harvey, who scored Seaholm's lone touchdown in the third period, took the kickoff after Hick's score and returned 57 yards to the Ferndale 29. Bob Drother lugged the pigskin to the nine on the next play, but the drive fizzled on the five and Ferndale left the field with a 19-0 halftime lead.

RESERVES SCORE

The Eagles took the second half kickoff and marched 77 yards in eight plays with Reid breaking loose over tackle for the final 25. Joranko began sending in the reserves and they came up with a touchdown in a hurry.

A high pass from center foiled a Seaholm punt try and Ferndale took over on the Maples' 25-yard line. A 15-yard roughing penalty against Seaholm helped move the ball to the six. Wildie Palmer carried over from there.

Seaholm finally broke the scoring ice by chalking up all its points in the space of one minute and 11 seconds late in the third period.

Tackle Dave Rieck and end Chuck Townsend trapped Ferndale's Denny Wilson in the end zone for two points. Fred Post's 63-yard punt had put the Eagles back on their own three.

After the safety, Jim Foster returned the free kick 21 yards to the Ferndale 44. Bob LaMarre picked up 25 yards on an end run. Then Harvey slipped through the middle on a trap play and raced 19 yards for a TD.

Reid got that score back by racing 80 yards on the first play after the kickoff. The Ferndale reserves wrapped up the scoring with a half minute to play as Jay Burgess punched across from the three.

★ ★ ★

Fullback Bob Michaeu, a 200-pounder who runs like a bulldozer, was a key runner in Ferndale's attack. He gained good yardage up the middle and was the big blocker for Reid.

★ ★ ★

Shields Score Two Touchdowns in Clutch on "Unlucky" 13th

By CHUCK ABAIR

Friday the 13th started out to be a bad night for Pontiac Northern but the Huskies came roaring back in the 2nd half to break a tie and defeat winless Farmington 18-6 at cold, windy Wisner Stadium.

The triumph gave PNH undisputed possession of the No. 2 position in the Inter-Lakes grid standings behind co-leaders Walled Lake and Berkley.

Shields tallied the clinching touchdown to end a 781 yard ground march late in the 3rd period and dashed 12 yards to paydirt on an interception in the closing minutes of the game.

He recovered his own fumble in the end zone on the 1st one after gaining 41 of the yards in five carries and adding three more on a pass.

Farmington hit hard on defense and showed sparks of good offensive play in a tight initial half.

The Huskies had reached the Falcon 20 and 8 but had not scored yet when Rick Fisher intercepted a pass to give them possession at the Farmington 33 with 3:30 left in the 1st half.

Shields gained one 1st down on a statue of liberty play on 4th down and added another on a pass from Fisher. Fisher lost a yard but then sophomore aerialist Jim Kimmel hit Dennis Hubble with a flip on a 13-yard scoring play. Fisher was hit for a big loss trying to run the PAT on a fake kick.

There was only 58 seconds left to play when PNH broke the shutout but the Falcons ignored the clock and went 65 yards in three plays to tie. Clayton ran the 1st 20, passed to Bud Patterson for 28 and to George Becker for the last 17. A run for the PAT failed.

It looked like the underdogs might snap the tie when they reached the Northern 15 early in the 2nd half but Clayton lost the pigskin on a fumble while back to pass and it was all PNH the rest of the game.

Chris Payne, Don Weyer and Fisher contributed yardage to the long scoring march. A pass caught out of the end zone had ended a home threat just before Shields made his clutch "steal." The Huskies were back at the FHS 11 when the final horn sounded.

Winning coach Ed Heikkinen was pleased with the way his boys bounced back from a dismal 1st half showing. Northern's blocking was way below par, especially in those early quarters.

He called his team's fumble recovery the "turning point" of the contest because it led to the go-ahead tally.

Six-Way Tie in Thumb Is Cut Down to Three

Now there are three!

The six-way tie in the Southern Thumb League was cut in half as Brown City, Armada and New Haven scored victories.

Armada's 14-13 victory over Capac was the biggest surprise. Jim Porte took a pitchout for a 20 yard TD in the first period and Porte went 27 yards for the other Armada score in the 2nd quarter. Ray Schlentz converted one and Porte took a pass from Bill Luoma for the other PAT.

In the second half Capac came to life when Tony Aguinaga went 47 yards in the third quarter. The PAT try was wide. In the fourth period Ken Kubyashi went over on a sneak from the one yard line with only 27 seconds to play. He then passed to John Stanlioul for the points. Fullback Tom Gores had 103 yards rushing for Armada which hasn't won a championship for 31 years.

Brown City hit paydirt in the 4th quarter with Don McMann going 49 yards on a reverse. Ron Welch added the point. Anchor Bay got inside Brown City's 20 yard line three times in the first half but could not score. Both teams were sharp defensively.

New Haven scored in the 2nd quarter on Dwight Lee's 50 yard run and in the 4th on Ron Lee's on yarder to beat Memphis 12-0.

In the battle of cellar dwellers, Tom Patch raced 60 yards in the final quarter to give Almont a 13-7 win over Dryden.

Almont scored first when Patch went 30 yards in the first period and Dryden took the lead in the third quarter when Paul Gronden went 15 yards and Roy Mosher booted the PAT. Mike Forbers ran the point for Almont's final TD.

Waterford Can't Stop Vikings

By BOB BEEDLE

Waterford's back was broken last night. But the "break" which may prove more significant was the fracture which occurred in the collarbone of one of Walled Lake's top offensive stars.

The Vikings, who rolled over Waterford, 19-0, and are driving for their fourth Inter-Lakes League title in six years, lost the services of big fullback Mike Buffmeyer in one bone-crunching tackle early in the contest.

"We'll miss 'Buff'," moaned Viking coach Dave Smith, looking ahead to next week's big battle with Berkley. "He's one of our big guns. But I think we've got a good man to replace him in Jim Webb, who's been a 'swing' man to date."

Webb, indeed, may fill in nicely. Last night, he was the unbeaten Vikings' second-best ground gainer, grinding out 69 yards in 10 carries. Buffmeyer rolled up 72 yards in 11 tries before he was carried from the field.

★ ★ ★

Walled Lake (5-0 overall) remained tied with Berkley for the league lead (3-0). Berkley came from behind to edge Southfield, 13-7. The co-leaders will play the crucial battle at the Bears' home grounds.

★ ★ ★

Smith received another blow last night when senior halfback Norm Mosely also was injured. Mosely's knee was twisted severely and it's doubtful whether he'll be ready next week.

Other than the injuries, Walled Lake had everything going its way in the game played in nippy weather before a Waterford homecoming crowd.

Meanwhile, the front wall on offense opened up holes long enough for speedy Mike Hinckley (30 yards, 1st quarter) and Buffmeyer (6 yards, second period) to score first-half touchdowns for a 13-0 intermission lead.

Waterford made its lone serious threat in the third stanza, marching to the 13 before finally giving up the ball on the 31 when Wik crashed in and downed the Skipper passer.

Late in the game, Wik, pulled in a pass from snappy-looking sophomore quarterback John Thomas with one hand on a play covering 18 yards and Walled Lake's final six-pointer. It was the only completion of an aerial for the winners all evening.

Waterford was far from full strength. Four of its backs, including regular quarterback Bob Readler (ill with the flu) were sidelined with various ailments. Junior fullback Tom Grile, inserted for injured Clark Lemaux, proved his mettle for the Skippers, rushing for 39 yards in 10 attempts.

Dan Osborne's 56-yard scamper had given the Bears an early 6-0 margin before a bad wind-blown punt set up a TD plunge by Southfield's Joe D'Angelo and a placement by John Francis put the Jays in the lead.

BIG CHASE — Walled Lake's Jim Webb (34) who picked up 69 yards in 10 carries, takes off on a 32-yard gallop around right end in the third quarter with Waterford's Tom McCleron in pursuit. The run set up one of Walled Lake's three touchdowns.

Lapeer Trips Romeo, Falcons, L'Anse Win

Lapeer moved into the driver's seat in the Tri-County League by handing Romeo its 2nd straight setback 13-0 last night while Rochester was winning a non-loop affair.

★ ★ ★

Senior quarterback Al Reeser engineered Lapeer to its 2nd Tri-County success in as many tries. He broke the scoring ice in the 2nd period going eight yards to end a 60 yard march and ran the PAT.

He connected with end Jim Jones on a 60 yard pass play for some insurance points in the 3rd quarter. A holding penalty nullified one other tally for the Panthers.

Romeo failed to reach paydirt on its only good threat which reached the 15. The Bulldogs got past midfield only one other time.

L'Anse Creuse had no trouble with Kettering. Aaron Arnaiz scored two touchdowns and had another called back. The ones which counted were good for 18 and 10 yards. Dwayne Kaatz recovered a fumble in the end zone for the other tally.

Kettering never came close to paydirt while gaining 45 yards rushing and 37 passing. L'Anse piled up 242 yards aided considerably by the blocking of Don Bookbinder and Ken Duckert.

Rochester, entering its overall record to 4-1, jumped out ahead 13-0 and kept scoring to offset a Roseville comback attempt.

Ed Dando scored a touchdown and two extra points to pace the Falcons. Buck Baldwin went 86 yards on quarterback sneak for a TD and flipped to end Joe Kowalski for another. Tom Mitzelfeld wrapped it up with a 45-yard gallop.

Tom Haamen went 71 and Joe Gatt 5 for Roseville scores. One other good threat failed in the offensive which saw Rochester total 391 yards and the losers 307.

Rochester had an 8-0 edge on 1st downs in the scoreless opening period but finished with only a 15-11 advantage.

Stewart Scores 4 Touchdowns as Barons Win

Conti Leads Broncos by Scoring 19 Points; Clarkston Triumphs

But in the end, it was a player named Steve Juday who saved the day for the Mustangs and gave them a big push toward the Wayne-Oakland championship.

Juday returned a punt 40 yards for a touchdown in the second quarter. Although the Lakers pushed Northville up and down the West Bloomfield gridiron, the score held up for a 6-0 Mustang win.

The outcome of this game overshadowed another fine performance by Bloomfield Hills Roger Steward. The junior halfback scored four touchdowns, he now has nine in his last two games, as the Barons downed Milford, 40-13.

Holly stayed even with the Barons by rolling past Clarenceville, 21-6, despite the absence of coach Ray Figg. Backfield coach Bon Pence had charge of the team while Figg was in Indianapolis.

GAME AHEAD

Northville stayed a full game ahead of Bloomfield Hills and Holly. It was the fifth win of the season in as many starts for the Mustangs. With the three strongest challengers out of the way, the road appears fairly clear to the throne room.

But the Lakers didn't go down without a fight. Except for Juday's punt return, the Mustangs never threatened. West Bloomfield pushed to the Northville 10, 16, 6 and 13-yard lines but couldn't get across the goal line.

West Bloomfield gained 256 yards rushing to 73 for the league leaders. They had a 289 to 120 total offense advantage. But Northville has the six points.

Stewart scored the first three touchdowns as Bloomfield Hills raced to a 28-0 halftime lead. He crossed the goal line from 10, 64 and 56 yards out. On the first place of the third quarter, Stewart raced 43 yards for a touchdown.

Guard John Marshall tallied the other first half TD for the Barons when he picked off a Milford pass and raced 50 yards with 10 seconds to play.

Fred Stresen-Reuter got the final Hills TD in the last quarter on a 55-yard jaunt. Chuck West kicked four extra points.

Dick Nichols scored both Milford touchdowns. He ran 19 yards in the third quarter for one and hit paydirt from five in the last quarter. Jim Miller added the point.

NO PASSES

Bloomfield Hills running attack was working so well the Barons never passed once.

Bill Conti scored all three Holly touchdowns. He tallied in the first half on a six-yard pass from Jim Ray. Conti posted one PAT and Ray converted twice.

Ron Ridling ran 65 yards with two minutes left in the game for the Trojans score. Holly gained 311 yards on the ground and 96 in the air. Doug Williams, Lance Hadden and Larry Bradsher paced the Bronco defense.

Clarkston jumped to a 14-0 halftime lead and then battled Brighton even the rest of the game.

Mike Applegate passed 15 yards to Don Miller for a first quarter score. Johnny Williams got the second in the next period on a 43-yard run.

Both teams scored twice in the fourth quarter. Willie Knox bucked one yard and Applegate passed 15 yards to Jerry Powell for the TDs. Dick Sheiden kicked three conversions.

Randy Marx got one Brighton touchdown from the seven and Dennis Hartman scored the other on a one-yard sneak.

Ginsberg Out on Waivers

BOSTON (AP) — The Bostn Red Sox asked waivers on pitcher Tom Brewer and catcher Joe Ginsberg Friday, in order to release the veterans unconditionally and to protect youngsters in the farm system.

Brewer has been with the Sox eight seasons and was plagued with arm trouble through 1961 when he pitched only 42 innings in 10 games, winning three and losing two. His name was on the disabled list much of the year.

He broke in with the Sox in 1954 and his best season was 1956 when he won 19 and lost nine. Last season was the first in which he failed to win at least 10 games.

Shamrocks Play at St. Clement in Crucial Tilt

St. Fred and Lakers Home; Emmanuel Here Tonight

By CHUCK ABAIR

The chips go on the line for the St. Michael football team tomorrow at 2:30 p.m. They will be guest of Center Line St. Clement, the defending champion and current Suburban Catholic League leader.

It will be the first of two successive crucial contests for the Shamrocks. St. Rita will be next. All three are unbeaten in loop play with St. Clement having a 4-0 to 3-0 advantage over the others.

The Mikemen will go into the game as slight underdogs but coach Jim Niebauer has high hopes his boys will end a Crusader victory streak at 12. "I've been telling the boys this game is going to be unlucky 13 for St. Cesnacn," said Niebauer. The win spree started following a tie with St. Mike at the end of 1959 play.

Both teams pack sound scoring punch and have also looked good on defense.

Injuries to two key men have hindered Shamrock drills and may play a big part in the team's success Sunday. Two-way vet lineman Blaine Priebe is a very doubtful starter with a bad knee. A blood clot in his arm may keep defensive starter Rich Steinhelper on the sidelines. Dave Moreno and John Clark will move into the lineup if needed.

Elsewhere around the SCL, St. Fred and Our Lady of the Lakes will have home contests while St. James visits Royal Oak St. Mary.

The Rams, with several young boys in the lineup, will host St. Benedict at Wisner at 2:30. The locals have a chance to escape the cellar by winning the clash of losers.

Avondale Wins in Homecoming

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Avondale and Troy, a pair of even teams which tied each other earlier this season, kept their hopes alive for a share of the Oakland-B title by scoring closely fought victories last night.

★ ★ ★

The Yellowjackets celebrated a successful homecoming with a 13-6 victory over Madison, while Troy spotted Clawson 14 points in the first period and then came back to win, 16-14.

Lowly Oak Park made it miserable for Lake Orion with a 20-0 victory while league leader Fitzgerald engages in a non-league encounter tonight against powerful Royal Oak Kimball.

Avondale wasted no time in scoring. After taking the opening kickoff, the Jackets marched 65 yards with Roger Van Conant plunging over from the one yard line. Roger Bauer drop kicked the point for a 7-0 lead.

In the scoreless second half, Madison was stopped on the Avondale 10 in the third quarter and when the game ended the Jackets were at Madison's 3 yard line.

Jim Malane did an outstanding job for Avondale in going both ways.

Clawson started what looked like a rout of arch-rival Troy by hitting two fast touchdowns in the first quarter. A 35 yard pass from Paul Kedro to end Bat Gunter and a 63 yarder from Kedro to Jim Strepmatter accounted for the TD's. Bradley booted both points.

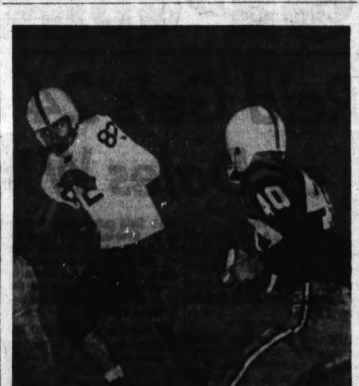
In the second period from a punt situation in the end zone, Troy scored a safety. After the free kick, Troy went on the march and a 35 yard pass from Don Armstrong to John Denison made it read 14-9 at halftime as Bill Walls made the point.

Another break in the third quarter was all Troy needed. Clawson fumbled on the 13 and a couple plays later Dave Aldred went the final 7 yards for the TD. Walls made the point.

Clawson missed numerous other chances to score but Troy's defense stood out in the second half.

Oak Park didn't need its star running back Ron Karas who was out because of a hip injury. The Parkers scored 14 points in the first quarter as Ernie Holiday went 63 yards and Louis Jorden 30 yards. Al Stevens and Jordan booted the points.

Orion got to the Oak Park 10 yard line in the third quarter but lost the ball on downs. In the final stanza, Don Dalby ran 7 yards for Oak Park.



NOT THIS TIME — Northville's Steve Juday (40) is about to be tackled by Bill Eliason of West Bloomfield after making a short gain. In the second quarter, Juday returned a put 40 yards for the game's only score.

Grand Rapids Battle Cleveland 11 Tonight

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—The Grand Rapids Shamrocks, unbeaten in four United Football League games, are home tomorrow night for an invasion by the Cleveland Bulldogs.

Oxford Wins First, 32-0; Imlay City Stays Unbeaten

Imlay City remained unbeaten and Oxford forced a three-way tie for 2nd by winning in South Central Conference grid play Friday.

Oxford put together a strong attack to wallop North Branch 32-0. Imlay had little trouble downing Millington, 26-7.

Dick Van Vleet, George Sandor, Ray Converse, John Trojanowski and Jack Farrell made the TDs. Four followed long drives and the other was set up by a blocked punt.

★ ★ ★

Oxford controlled play most of the way and held the losers to minus yardage in the last half.

Dick Sefcovic reached paydirt on runs of 13 and 20 and Doug Perkins added eight points to make it easy for Imlay. Don Maison made the other touchdown.

Darwin Doty passed to Paul Fox on a 45-yard play for the only Millington six-pointer.

Miss Wright Leads LPGA

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Defending champion Mickey Wright held the lead in the Ladies PGA Championship despite a 77 Friday to go with her best-of-career first round 67.

Winds of 25 to 35 miles an hour plagued the golfers.

"I was then over in over-all strokes for today's round, as compared with my fine round of yesterday," said Miss Wright, who lives in San Diego, Calif., "but I took 11 more putts — so I'm not blaming everything on the wind."

Shirley Englehorn of Spokane had a 74 Friday, the best round of the day, and crept up to be only two strokes behind Miss Wright at the halfway mark. She never has won a tournament.

Jo Ann Prentice of Birmingham had a 76 and is in third place with 149.

U.S. Surprises Italian Netters in 1st Matches

ROME (AP)—Even if the United States eventually loses the Davis Cup interzone final to Italy, the Americans already can claim a moral victory.

Before the five-match series started, Italians were talking of their team winning all the matches and going on to meet the Australians in the challenge round for the cup.

Now the Italians are not so sure. Jon Douglas of Santa Monica, Calif., and Whitney Reed of Alameda, Calif., have provided the shock for the Italians.

Friday on the red clay central court of the Rome Tennis Club, Douglas came from behind to upset Italian champion Fausto Gardini in the opening match. The score was 4-6, 4-6, 7-5, 10-8, 6-0.

Colorado Beats Miami, 9-7

Gross Piles Up Yards in Titan Romp

Colorado used a tough, alert defense and Detroit a brilliant quarterback as the keys for their victories Friday night—each preserving an unbeaten season—as the college football season headed into a Big Ten-dominated weekend.

Colorado, shooting for the Big Eight championship and a post season trip to the Orange Bowl, showed the Bowl committee a determined defense that pounced on a fourth quarter fumble and set up the winning field goal in a 9-7 victory over injury-weakened Miami.

Junior quarterback Jerry Gross passed for 196 yards including scoring strokes of 43 and 57 yards in leading Detroit to a 20 - 3 conquest of Boston College.

Features of the Saturday slate include three Big Ten games, topped by the Michigan-Michigan State match in Ann Arbor, Mich. A crowd of about 101,000, plus a national television audience is expected to watch the struggle between the fifth-ranked Michigan and sixth-ranked State.

Other key contests in the conference include second - ranked Iowa (2-0) opening conference play against winless Indiana (0-2) and seventh-ranked Ohio State (1-1-0) league opener against Illinois (0-2).

Colorado halted a 78-yard Miami drive one foot from its goal in the first period, then turned around and launched a 99-yard march of its own for a 6-0 halftime lead. Miami was on the Colorado five when the half ended.

The Buffaloes went up 9-0 in the last quarter when big Jerry Hillebrand pounced on a Miami fumble that paved the way for his 37-yard field goal. The three points proved decisive as Miami drove 62 yards to score with four minutes left. John Bennett's 25-yard pass to Bill Miller brought the touchdown.

In Detroit, the gritty little (5-feet-9) Gross was the big show. He entered the game fourth in the nation in individual total offense, and boosted his total to 611 yards passing and 96 running in three games.

He connected on a 43-yard pass to Larry Vargo and another of 57 yards to Steve Stonebreaker for touchdowns, and set up the other with a 19-yard toss.

Boston College, which lost its third straight, was held to a field goal and has yet to get a touchdown this season.

Gross' yardage could have piled up even higher but pass receivers dropped at least seven aerials pinpointed right at them.

Pontiac's Jim Shorter, who did an outstanding job running, let four passes slip through his fingers, once all alone on the five yard line.

The Titans, outweighed on an average of 20 pounds per man in the middle of the line missed several other scoring chances around the Eagle 10 yard line. Gross' try for a second period field goal from the 25 hit the post and bounced away.

U. of D. now looks ahead to its big game with Navy at Tiger Stadium next Friday night. Nearly 35,000 tickets have been sold and around 45,000 are expected.

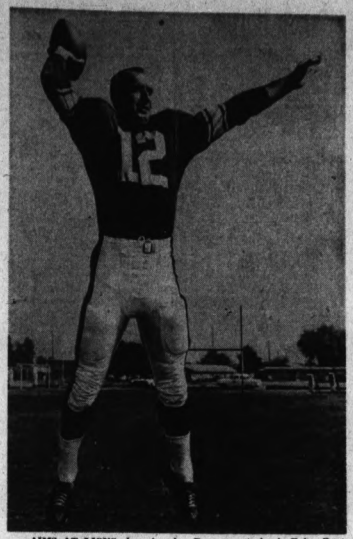
SHORTER MISSES — Pontiac's Jim Shorter (26), University of Detroit halfback, drops a pass on the Boston College 35-yard line in the 1st quarter of Friday night's game at U. of D. Stadium. The Titans defeated Boston, 20-3.



AIMS AT LIONS—Los Angeles Ram quarterback Zeke Bratkowski is making aim at the Detroit Lions. The two teams meet Sunday in Tiger Stadium in a game which will be important to keep their title chances alive. The Lions are 2-2 and the Rams 1-3. Bratkowski was obtained by the Rams in a trade with the Chicago Bears.

Lions to Resort to Two-QB System

Aerial Problem Gets Attention Against Rams

Wilson Uncertain Which of 2 Quarterbacks Will Start Sunday

The Detroit Lions will go back to the two-quarterback system tomorrow in a bid to snap out of their tailspin against the Los Angeles Rams.

It's a move coach George Wilson didn't want to make—but was forced to do out of necessity.

He'll decide shortly before kickoff time whether to use Earl Morrall—starter in the first four games—or Jim Ninowski—starter for the first half of last season.

If one fails against the Rams, Wilson will rush the other into the game.

Two straight losses at home after two victories on the road at the start of the national football league season have brought about the Lions' old quarterback problem.

Morral, passing erratically after a brilliant exhibition season, has been unable to get the Lions moving. Ninowski, in his brief appearances, has been wild and unsure with his passing.

"This is something I'd rather not do, but I have no choice," Wilson said. "I'd much prefer to have one reliable quarterback and use him all the time.

"Both Morral and Ninowski started throwing the ball well in practice in the past couple of days. It was their best throwing in four weeks.

Dropped passes plus throws into the dirt ruined the Lions' chances last Sunday when they lost 31-17 to the Chicago Bears after holding a 10-0 lead.

OTHER NFL GAMES

The San Francisco 49ers hope to blend their "shotgun" attack with stonewall defense Sunday for a "modern era" National Football League record in a game with the Minnesota Vikings at Minneapolis.

The 49ers, with two shutout triumps the past two weeks, could become the first team to record as many as three straight since the 1934 Detroit Lions turned the trick with seven shutouts in a row.

For this reason, the heavily-favored 49ers will share the Sunday spotlight with the Green Bay Packers-Browns battle at Cleveland and the New York Giants-Cowboys scrap in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas.

The Giants, the Philadelphia Eagles, the Browns and the Cowboys are hooked up in a first place tie in the league's Eastern Conference, all with 3-1 records. San Francisco and Green Bay are deadlocked at the top of the Western Conference, also with 3-1 marks.

ANOTHER U.S. WIN — Jay Hebert bobs down as his 15-foot putt falls into the cup on the 18th green in Friday's Ryder Cup action at Lytham St. Annes, England. Trotting over to congratulate Hebert is teammate Art Wall. The U.S. team won this match, 4-3, against Britain's John Panton and Bernard Hunt. The British golfers trail the U.S. team, 6-2.

U.S. Ryder Cuppers Far Ahead of British

LYTHAM-St. Annes, Eng. (UPI) —"Seven come 11" was the point the United States was trying to make today when it opposed Britain in the final matches of the Ryder Cup international golf competition.

The U.S. golfers, who took a commanding 6-2 lead over their British rivals in yesterday's foursome play, went into today's action needing only seven victories to clinch the cup for the 11th time in 14 of the biennial meetings.

And there wasn't much doubt that they would do it, according to U.S. Captain Jerry Barber, who teamed with Dow Finsterwald to score one of yesterday's victories.

The pairings for the eight afternoon matches will be made when the morning round is completed.

The teams of Palmer-Casper and Art Wall-Hebert won two matches each yesterday and Souchak, Bill Collins, Barber and Finsterwald won the other U.S. points. Britain's points were won by Reese and Bousfield and O'Connor and Allis.

Palmer and Casper defeated Reese and Bousfield in the morning, 2 and 1, and beat Tom Panton and Hunt in the afternoon, 5 and 4. Wall and Hebert turned back Panton and Hunt in the morning and triumphed over the O'Connor-Allis team in the afternoon, 1 up.

* * *

Souchak and Collins scored a 1-up victory over Tom Haliburton and Coles, 1 up, in the morning, but suffered a 4 and 2 loss in the afternoon to Rees and Bousfield. Barber and Finsterwald downed Haliburton and Coles, 1 up, and O'Connor and Allis beat Ford and Littler, 4 and 3, in other matches.

Spartans, 'M' Clash Today in National TV Contest

ANN ARBOR (UPI) — It'll be manpower versus finesse today when Michigan and Michigan State lock horns before an expected 101,001 fans and a national television audience in a crucial early season test for the two Big Ten rivals.

The two unbeaten, united giants have much more at stake than the 1961 settlement of this long-time intra-state fued. The Big Ten championship and a Rose Bowl invitation may be hanging on the outcome as well.

Michigan easily disposed of UCLA (29-6) and Army (38-8) in its first two outings. Meanwhile, Michigan State was just as impressive in knocking off Wisconsin (20-0) and Stanford (31-3).

* * *

But Bump Elliott, now in his third year at the helm at Michigan, can match the Spartans dept with smoothness. His polished attack makes up what the Wolverines lack in numbers.

Dave Glinka, a Toledo, Ohio junior, is the key to Michigan's hopes of knocking off the Spartans for the first time since 1955. He has shown finesse in ball-hawking the Wolverines to their first two victories. And he's a tested passer as well.

Glinka, who can call on halfbacks Benny Mae Rae and Dave Raimey for speed and fullbacks Bill Tunnicliff and Ed Tureaud for power, has completed five of 14 this season. He's expected to take to the air much more today.

Nine-halfback strong Michigan State is equally as tough on defense. The Spartans lead the nation in ground defense with an average of 48 yards a game.

In rushing, MSU has gained 690 yards in two games, relying both on veterans and sophomores.

* * *

Junior Pete Smith, a fine faker and ball hander who passed only four times last season, calls the Spartan plays. Backing him up are proven runners like Carl Charon and Gary Ballman and sophomore speedsters like Dewey Lincoln and Sherman Lewis.

Today's match is the 54th meeting of the two schools. Michigan holds a lopsided 35-14 advantage in the series with only four ties, but Michigan State won the last two, 38-4 and 24-17.

Blanda's Goal Ties Patriots

24-Yard Boot in Final Seconds Gives Oilers 31-31 Deadlock

BOSTON (AP)—George Blanda kicked a dramatic 24 yard field goal five seconds before the final gun Friday night as the Houston Oilers tied Boston 31-31 in an American Football League game marked by the record passing performance of Jackie Lee.

Lee, who tossed for more than 400 yards in shattering the loop mark of 375, raced the clock after Boston grabbed a 31-28 edge on a Butch Songin to Gino Cappelletti pass just 50 seconds from the end.

Boston tried to give Houston the short pass and stop the long one but Lee's 25 yard pitch to Bill Gorman at the Boston 17 set up the tying Blanda kick.

Cappelletti, the AFL top scorer made two consecutive spectacular catches covering the final 20 yards and it appeared the Patriots had won the game for Mike Holovak making his debut as head coach.

Handy and Flint Central Keep Winning in Valley

Handy, ranked first in Class A, pulverized Saginaw 48-6 after a scoreless first period. The Bay City school has scored a whopping 109 points in its last two games.

Manistee, the Class B leader, was scored upon for the first time, but managed to down Ludington 13-6 in a defensive struggle.

Handy was held scoreless in the first period before exploding for 28 points in the second quarter against Saginaw. Bob Essex scored two of Handy's touchdowns on runs of 8 and 28 yards.

Port Huron and Traverse City, both 4-0, and Flint Central (3-1), all deadlocked in Class A's No. 3 spot, recorded victories Friday night. Only Central had a tough time, nipping Saginaw Arthur Hill, 21-20. Port Huron crushed Mount Clemens 31-6 and Traverse City whipped Holland 20-6.

Bay City Central (4-1), No. 6 in Class A, defeated Grand Rapids Catholic Central 25-0.

Handy and Flint Central remain tied for first place in the Saginaw Valley following yesterday's victories. In another Valley game last night, Midland stayed in title contention by nipping winless Flint Southwestern, 14-13.

CONFESSED KILLER — Hugh Bion Morse (center), 31, is led into the federal court building in St. Paul, Minn., Friday night after capture by FBI agents who said he admitted slaying three women. Morse, who has a long history of sex offenses, was arraigned on charges of unlawful flight from California. Leading Morse into the building (right) is William H. Williams, special agent in charge of Minneapolis FBI office. In the rear is St. Paul Police Chief Lester E. McAuliffe.

FBI Agents Capture 'Most Wanted' Man

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—A sex criminal on the FBI's "10 most wanted" list was tracked down and quietly arrested Friday night only four blocks from the scene of a brutal murder.

The FBI said the victim was one of three women he confessed having killed.

★ ★ ★

Hugh Bion Morse, good-looking 31-year-old former mental patient in California, bragged to authorities he had slain two women at Spokane, Wash. He is wanted for questioning in at least one other slaying there.

DIDN'T RESIST

Morse was captured without resistance at his rooming house, although agents found a loaded 25-caliber pistol, a knife and a straightedge razor in the room.

He was arraigned before U.S. Commissioner William Eckley and ordered held in a marshal's custody without bail. A federal warrant in Los Angeles issued Feb. 16, 1961 charged Morse with unlawful interstate flight to avoid prosecution for burglary, and assault to commit murder.

HISTORY OF CRIME

Friday the 13th was the end of the line for the wavy haired, tatooed former serviceman who has a history of sex crimes going back 10 years.

★ ★ ★

William H. Williams, special agent in charge of the FBI office at Minneapolis said Morse had confessed to the Sept. 19 slaying here of Carol Ronan, 34, a social worker and graduate nurse.

She was found beaten strangled and raped in her apartment the next morning. Agents found her watch in a cigar box in Morse's room.

Spokane police said they wanted to question Morse about the killings of Gloria Brie, an attractive young wife who was found beaten to death in her bed in 1959; Blanche Boggs, an elderly widow beaten to death in her home last year, and Candy Rogers, 9, found assaulted and strangled in woods near Spokane in 1959.

★ ★ ★

Authorities said Morse had not confessed to a Los Angeles murder, as reported earlier Friday night. But the FBI said authorities in several communities wanted to question Morse about sex crimes.

Schools Report Top Enrollment

Education Board Told Now 20,933 Students in Pontiac System

The enrollment figures, presented to the Board of Educaton Thursday night by Asst. Supt. Philip J. Proud, will be the official total used for state aid purposes.

The total last year was 20,341. No teachers are being added as result of the increase, Proud said. However some teachers are being shifted to schools where there is an appreciable increase in students.

The breakdown for 1961 is as follows:

Elementary schools recorded a total of 13,361, including special classes and homebound students. Last year that total was 12,979.

★ ★ ★

Proud pointed out that in the period from 1950 to 1960 there were four children added to the Pontiac school district for every additional adult.

★ ★ ★

This, he said, in part explains the rise in school enrollments necessitating continuing school construction to add to existing facilities.

This year's total exceeded the estimate made by school officials by more than 100 students. The estimate had been set at 20,822.

'Can't Weaken in W. Berlin'

Rep. Broomfield Tells Jaycees Cuban Trouble Raised Some Doubts

The United States cannot afford to weaken its resolve to stand by commitments to the people of free Berlin, Congressman William S. Broomfield said this week in Bloomfield Township.

"The unfortunate outcome of the Cuban crisis of last spring has raised doubts in the minds of neutrals and some allies regarding the United States determination to firmly resist Communits expansion and aggression."

Also discussed by Broomfield was his views on foreign aid.

★ ★ ★

"There can be no doubt that there has been a great deal of waste in our foreign aid program," he said.

"Unfortunately this aid has been given to governments and their leaders rather than the people of these countries."

"The only way we can hope to successfully compete with the Communist bloc is to insure that our aid goes directly to the impoverished peoples of these undeveloped countries."

★ ★ ★

Gynecology Advance Fights Barrenness

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Researchers at the Medical College of Georgia, working to develop a new birth control agent, have found a drug which may make barren women capable of producing children.

Dr. Robert B. Greenblatt, head of the Department of Endocrinology, says this may be one of the biggest advances in gynecology in 20 years.

★ ★ ★

"We feel that this development is far more important than developing just another contraceptive agent," Greenblatt said. "This not only means that many barren women may now achieve normal motherhood: it also may clear up menstrual irregularities found in many women."

★ ★ ★

The drug, MRL-41, was first produced with the hope of developing it as a birth control agent. Greenblatt said that in early experiments the drug suppressed fertility in both male and female rats.

But when the drug was tested on a group of women in the Augusta area, it failed as a contraceptive.

Then the doctors tried it out on a group of 47 barren women. So far, 77 per cent of that group has become fertile.

★ ★ ★

As long as they take the drug they are fertile and have normal menstrual periods, Greenblatt said. "Researchers have been working on something that would do this for 20 years," he said, "and we found it almost by accident."

Greenblatt said he still believes MLR-41 would be an effective contraceptive, but only if given in huge doses.

The drug is related to estrogen, a synthetic female harmone, and it affects secretions of the pituitary gland.

It will be a year before the drug is available to the public, Greenblatt said.

Reflections

IT'S NEVER FREE

We may have anything we want—if we are willing to pay the price—that's the nub—paying.

Most of us have riches at the top of our list; we may have riches, if, we are willing to devote every waking moment of our lives to perfect skills necessary for their acquisition. Our dividends will be ulcers, jangled nerves, "gimmee" friends and back-breaking responsibilities.

J. L. VOORHEES

We may choose the nebulous distinction of Fame; pay the price and it's yours. The price is showmanship, concentrated application of drama, push (mostly push) and sleepless hours of hard work. Claim fame and jealous contemporaries will make life miserable.

Wisdom is reached through questions and doubts, snubs and derision; that person is happy with carefully stored facts, in the universe of his mind—but he's lonely.

Prince of Yemen Denies King Plans to Abdicate

ROME (AP)—A spokesman for Crown Prince Saif al Islam al Badr of Yemen said today reports that the Imam of the Red Sea kingdom had abdicated in favor of his son were due to a misunderstanding.

The aged Imam (king) Ahmed Friday in a radio speech from San'a capital of Yemen, called on his subjects to give their crown prince "their loyalty and support as always."

SAYS MISUNDERSTOOD

"This apparently was misunderstood or misinterpreted outside the country as indicating that the Imam was turning the throne over to his son," the spokesman for the prince said.

★ ★ ★

The crown prince is in Rome for treatment of an ear ailment. An aide said he intended to remain here until the treatments have been completed and does not expect to return to Yemen for some time.

STRONG RULER

His father has been ailing for some time but he has ruled his backward nation of 4.5-million tribesmen on the lower Arabian Peninsula with a tight fist.

★ ★ ★

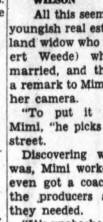
The Imam's deputy in Cairo, Prince el Hassan Ibn Aly, also denied the reports that the king was turning over power to his eldest son.

"Just yesterday the Imam cabled me instruction and there was nothing to indicate he was abdicating," the prince said.

Let's Hope the Ropes Don't Ever Give Way

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — "If any of us are ever out of the show," Mimi Benzell said, "it will be easy to explain. We'll merely say, 'I was hit by a two-ton jeep.'



WILSON

"Or the alibi could be, 'The street in Jerusalem collapsed on me.'"

"Milk and Honey," starring Mimi and Robert Weede, with Molly Picon doing the comedy will have so many tons of scenery hanging overhead at the Martin Beck that, Mimi says, "We go on stage frightened half to death."

"Hanging over us is also a barn, a house, trees, huge conduits, and, as I may have mentioned, half a Jerusalem street."

All this seems necessary to Jerry Ostreicher, the well-fixed youngish real estater who's producing this show about a Cleveland widow who tours Israel and meets a Baltimore chap (Robert Weede) who's unhappily married, and therefore makes a remark to Mimi Benzell about her camera.

"To put it politely," says Mimi, "he picks me up on the street.

"Now nobody's going to take me for 18. I made my debut the Met in 1944-'45.

"Somebody said 'Mimi, put gray in your hair.'

"I said, 'Look, today when a woman of 45 goes down the street with her daughter, you don't know which is which. And especially if a woman's going to Israel, she's going to do something about her gray hair!'"

EARL'S PEARLS: About the only think a woman is sure to remember is another woman's age.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: A local fellow (reports Jack Herbert) is suing for divorce, charging cruelty — claims his wife makes so much noise mowing the lawn that he can't sleep.

Nuclear Physicist Dies

TOKYO (AP) — Dr. Koichi Miraji, Japanese nuclear physicist, died Friday of leukemia at Tokyo University Hospital. He was 52. After the 1945 atom bombings of Hiroshima and Nagasaki, Dr. Muraji was sent to study the effects of radiation on the human body.

Cancer Claims Aviator

NEW YORK (AP) — Eugene Jacques Bullard, 67, reputedly the first Negro military aviator and holder of 15 awards from the French government, died Thursday of cancer. He was born in Columbus, Ga., and flew for the French in World War I.

Some birds consume half their weight in food every day and young birds often consume more than their total weight in one day.

To Play Lead in Hit Musical

Daughter of Waterford Couple to Take Over in 'My Fair Lady'

The daughter of a Waterford Township couple will take over the lead in "My Fair Lady" in New York City Monday.

Rosemary Rainer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Zimmer of 4857 Motorway Drive, will become the first American actress ever to play the lead role of Liza Doolittle in the Broadway production.

She has been with the show since it opened four years ago, which includes two national tours with the road company.

She started in the chorus and was eventually named understudy for the big part. Rosemary will hold the role for at least a month while the current lead is on vacation.

★ ★ ★

Previous to her stint with the Broadway hit, she did television work and was in several automotive shows. She is a graduate of Michigan State University.

Generous Officer Gives a Break to Foot Washer

SPARTANBURG, S.C. (AP) — Policeman R. K. Hines made a turn around the block and came back after he saw a man putting his feet in an automatic washing machine in a 24-hour public laundry.

★ ★ ★

By the time Hines returned, the man had made a complete change of clothing too. Hines decided against making an arrest.

★ ★ ★

"As far as I know, there's no law against washing your feet in a public washing machine. After all, it was his 15 cents and his feet," commented Hines.

New 'Chauffeur' for Mamie

Some Golf, Little Bridge

Quiet Birthday for Ike

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower celebrates a quiet 71st birthday today on his farm in Gettysburg.

No special events were planned for the big day—just some golf and a little bridge. He intended to spend most of the time with old friends.

For the party, Eisenhower wore a tuxedo while his wife wore a black chiffon dinner dress and a white fur stole — a present from her husband several years ago.

The general replied, "Yes, but I didn't have a car in those days. "This is the very first time I've ever ridden with him at the wheel," Mrs. Eisenhower confided. Eisenhower only recently received his driver's license.

PUT ON PLAY

David Eisenhower, 13, eldest son of the John Eisenhowers, directed the play. The actors were his sisters, Barbara Ann, 12, Susan Elaine, 9, and Mary Jean, 6.

Also planned was a family picture, but Barbara Ann vetoed that idea claiming it wouldn't be becoming for her to be seen in her "stage" make-up. However, the former president did pose for news photographers.

Asked how he felt about his 71st birthday, the general replied, "I look forward to all my birthdays. I feel I am very fortunate to have so many birthdays."

Eisenhower said he had been flooded with birthday wishes. In fact, he still has to open some 800 cards.

"We'll get to them," he said.

Urundi Premier Is Assassinated

Police said the gunman fired a single shot from bushes surrounding the restaurant along Tanganyika Lake and then fled in a car.

The bullet struck Rwagasore in the throat, police said, and he died within minutes.

The prince, who was about 32, had a meeting with his Cabinet late Friday and then adjourned to the restaurant in this trust territory capital.

★ ★ ★

TOLD OF SLAYING

The prince's father, who had come to Usumbura in preparation for a visit to Belgium, was at another nearby cafe when informed of his son's death. The visit to Belgium was canceled.

★ ★ ★ ★

The body of the prince was taken to Kitega, the capital of Urundi, for funeral services.

Urundi is the southern half of the twin U.N. trust territory of Rhunda-Urundi in Central Africa that is administered by Belgium. The territory is scheduled to get its independence next year.

The twin territory has been the scene of warfare between the giant tribe of Watutsi, who ruled the area for decades, and the far more numerous Bahutus who formerly were their slaves.

Ford Recalls 39,000, Some Plants Still Out

DETROIT (UPI)—Ford Motor Co. has sent out orders recalling nearly 39,000 workers on Monday but unsettled disputes at several important plants are holding up a full back-to-work movement at the strike-crippled auto firm.

There still were 11 unions containing 21 bargaining units without new contracts, including five key stamping and engine plants and virtually all the River Rouge complex in suburban Dearborn.

Until the five plants come to terms with the United Auto Workers Union, Ford cannot resume normal production and recall the bulk of 120,000 workers.

★ ★ ★

No new settlements were announced Friday even though the local bargaining teams have been brought to Detroit to thrash out the disputes under the eyes of top company and union officials. If anything, the local problems seem to have worsened.

★ ★ ★

This belief was reinforced when the union and company Friday postponed indefinitely formal signing of a new national contract. Irv Bluestone, administrative assistant to UAW President Walter P. Reuther, said Ford "wants to do some peculiar thing with the language that we're not willing to do — dealing with strike situations."

★ ★ ★

A company spokesman said the whole affair was called off because "technicians on both sides are concentrating so hard on local agreements they haven't had time to finalize technical language on a national agreement."

Pontiac Central Nips Flint Team

Quarterback Bob Pomeroy's perfect placekick for the extra point and a determined goal line stand in the final minute of play enabled Pontiac Central to crash into the victory column last night as the Chiefs defeated Flint Northern, 7-6, in a Saginaw Valley game at Flint's Atwood Stadium.

★ ★ ★

In other Oakland County area prep football action Friday, the Huskies of Pontiac Northern scored an 18-6 triumph over Farmington and Walled Lake shut out Waterford, 19-0, in Inter-Lakes Conference games.

★ ★ ★

Nice Weekend Lies Ahead for Pontiac Area

A pleasant weekend is in store for Pontiac area residents. Skies will be partly cloudy with temperatures chilly. Tonight's low will dip into the mid-30s.

Morning northerly winds at 13 to 20 miles per hour will diminish tonight.

Temperatures will rise to near 55 Sunday but will warm up again Monday with skies fair.

Thirty-eight was the lowest temperature in downotwn Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. The thermometer registered 45 at 1 p.m.

Running Race Against Winter

Pontiac Press Photo

TAKING SHAPE — Workmen for the Bundy Construction Co. of Pontiac have the basement walls of the $1,422,000 west administrative wing to the new courthouse about done. They hope to lay the basement floor before winter sets in. The addition is attached to the west end of the six-story courthouse tower unit and will be three floors high. It stretches 284 feet and is 50 feet wide. It will house the offices now in the County Office Building, 1 Lafayette St. This photo was taken from the courthouse.

Mock Air War Flares in U.S. Defense Test

WASHINGTON (AP) — A mock but mighty aerial war flared high in the skies over the North American continent today.

At noon hundreds of jet interceptor planes began screaming aloft from runways in the United States and Canada.

Jet bombers headed down from near the polar regions. They flew far aloft or hugged the terrain to escape radar detection, over routes Soviet pilots likely would take in strikes toward targets.

★ ★ ★

DIRECTS OPERATION

Gen. Laurence S. Kuter, chief of the North American Air Defense Command—a combined organization of U.S. and Canadian defense systems—directed the defenders from his headquarters at Colorado Springs, Colo. He announced the start of exercise Sky Shield II at noon, Est.

Kuter called this exercise, with its inconvenience for the air traveling public, an essential training operation to provide defense readiness.

"Any military weapons system must be thoroughly exercised from time to time to assure progressive improvement and exercise Sky Shield II provides that opportunity," Kuter said in a statement from his headquarters.

A similar exercise was held Sept. 10, 1960. Smaller scale exercises were held in previous years.

'NOT A CONTEST'

Kufer declared that this operation involving hundreds of fighter planes and B52 and B47 bombers of the Strategic Air Command was "not a contest" between offensive and defensive forces. The position of the bombers will be known at all times.

The outcome of exercise Sky Shield II will not be known to the public. It will be kept a top drawer military secret. Details on the success or failure of the attack and defense could give Soviet strategists very useful information.

The public of the United States and Canada will see and hear little of the mock aerial war. But they will know it is on: for 12 hours all aircraft, except military, will be grounded.

Reds Threaten to Wreck U.N.

Adlai Charges Soviet Attempting to Badger World Organization

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —The United States says the Soviet Union appears to be threatening to wreck the United Nations unless the world organization bows to Red demands for revamping the U.N. secretariat.

★ ★ ★

Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson, chief U.S. delegate to the United Nations, made the accusation in replying Friday to Soviet Deputy Freign Minister Valerian A. Zorin's contention that "if the path of nonagreed decisions is taken, this will cause the organization to collapse."

'U.S. WILL RESIST'

Stevenson, commenting on the statements made by Zorin at a news conference, said, "I wish Mr. Zorin would not threaten the United Nations with disaster if he does not have his own way."

★ ★ ★

The U.S. delegate declared that in negotiations to find a temporary successor to the late Dag Hammarskjold as U.N. secretary general, the United States would "resist the concept of the troika or the ideological division of the world into three blocs."

Cordier a veteran of U.N. service declined to comment.

★ ★ ★

Zorin complained in his 2½-hour talks with newsmen, that the U.N. secretariat has been taken over by one-man rule. He mentioned no names but made it clear that his reference was aimed at Hammarskjold's American deputy, Andrew W. Cordier.

★ ★ ★

"The man is acting by right of seizure of power without asking anybody," Zorin said. "He runs the secretariat not in the interest of the organization as a whole and by no means in a neutral fashion."

Mountain of Books

WHAT JOHNNY WILL READ — If he's in high school like Pontiac Central High School senior Mark Berg, 16, he'll have to wade through a stack of books this big in senior high school alone. Pontiac School District will spend more than $75,000 in 1961-62 to provide textbooks in all grades.

Textbook Financing Stirs Controversy

Textbooks for your children —.
Who should pay? The parents or the schools?

This seems to be the issue arousing controversy among parents and school officials in Oakland County.

But there are many pages inside the cover of this issue, as a county-wide survey by The Pontiac Press revealed.

Even the first glance reveals one fact:

-Textbooks are never free — even when the school system provides them. If the parents don't buy the books, they still must pay for them through taxes.

★ ★ ★

Taxes spread the cost over more citizens of a school district. Even citizens who have no children help pay for the texts.

It would seem each parent thus would pay less, since he is subsidized by his neighbors.

Has Cheap Radiation Detector

SUNNYVALE, Calif., (UPI) — Anybody can build a do-it-yourself home radiation detector for about 15 cents, acording to William Brooks of Sunnyvale, a Lockheed Aircraft Corp. engineer.

First, Brooks says, place a spoon horizontally across an empty water glass. Tie pieces of aluminum foil to one end of a wire and attach the other end of the wire around the handle of the spoon. The foil should dangle inside the glass.

For the radiation test, rub a plastic or glass rod briskly against your clothing, then place the rod near the dangling foil without touching it. If your clothing contains no radiation, the leaves of foil should spread apart.

Next, hold the rod near the wire and touch the wire with the fingers. The foil should close together again. Remove your finger from the wire and take away the charged rod. The leaves should spread apart.

This means that a charge is stored in the aluminum, and the foil leaves should gradually lose the charge and close together again in about 45 minutes.

"But in the presence of lethal radiation," Brooks said, "the leaves will close together immediately.

★ ★ ★

Brooks explained that this device works because gamma rays ionize the electric charge. Radiation removes the charge of electricity generated from the clothing and placed on the foil.

Teamster-Union Alliances Hit

Sen. McClellan Says They Can Wield 'Lethal, Monopolistic Power'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., said today alliances linking allegedly Communist-dominated labor unions and James R. Hoffa's Teamsters could wield "lethal and monopolistic power."

He called for enactment of legislation to curb them.

Hoffa testified Friday he was strengthened his "mutual assistance" pact with Harry Bridges' West Coast longshoremen's union and also has an alliance with the Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers Union.

Bridges' union and the mine worker's union were expelled from the CIO in 1950 on charges of following Communist policies.

In questioning Hoffa, the Senate Internal Security subcommittee labeled both unions as Communist dominated.

"I don't know whether they are Communist - dominated or not," Hoffa said of the two unions. "There will be no pact between the Teamsters Union and any organization so convicted."

'SOLIDARITY'

Hoffa said the pacts with the two unions were aimed solely at "labor solidarity" and had no political or ideological implications.

At the outset of the hearing Hoffa declared that he welcomed a chance to testify under oath that "Hoffa was not a Communist, has not associated with Communists, is not a Communist and never intends to be."

One, a Bernard W. Stern, research director, swore he was not a Communist and wasn't one a year ago or two years ago. However, he refused to say whether he was a member of the Communist party three years ago or in 1945, when he got his union job. Stern invoked the 5th Amendment protected against being compelled to give testimony that might be self-incriminating.

The three other officials called to the stand were Irving Dichter, secretary - treasurer; Harold Sanderson, comptroller, and Albert C. Skinner, western vice president.

German Observatory Also Picks Up Beeps for Short Time

From Our News Wires

Radio signals from space today had listening posts around the world buzzing with rumors that the Soviets had launched another space vehicle.

In Tokyo, the Japanese post office picked up signals which it said may have come from a manned Soviet spaceship.

The postal radio-wave institute in Tokyo said it heard the signals between 9:27 and 9:32 p.m. EDT Friday.

In Bochum, Germany, Heinz Kaminski, director of the People's Observatory here, said that the institue recorded signals today on the Russian satellite frequency.

Kaminski, however, said he could not confirm that the signals came from an orbiting satellite, because his institute heard the signals only for a very short time.

However, in Washington, a spokesman at the government's Goddard Space Flight Center today said that signals from space being detected at various sites throughout the world probably are coming from a U.S. Discoverer satellite sent aloft Friday.

And in Moscow, Western sources said today it was "unlikely" that the Soviets have launched another manned spaceship without announcing it to the world.

The sources, commenting on Japanese and West German reports of new space signals being heard on the Soviet spaceship radio frequencies, said there was no indication in the Soviet capital of any new launching.

★ ★ ★

They recalled that when the Soviets launched Yuri Gagarin and Gherman Titov on their historic space flights earlier this year, the official announcement came within a few minutes of the blastoff.

★ ★ ★

In Enkoping, Sweden, the Enkoping telegraph stations special space testing deartpment said today it monitored radio signals on a frequency similar to those of earlier space satellites.

'NO SIGHTINGS'

In Cambridge, Mass., the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory said today its "moonwatch" teams had reported no sightings of any new object in the sky that might be linked with radio signals from space picked up in Tokyo.

A spokesman here said the teams, which keep visual watch for new objects in space, had sent in no reports.

At nearby Bedford, Mass., the Air Force command and control development center declined any comment on the reports of new radio signals. The Bedford center is operator of "spacetrack" which keeps tabs on all objects in space for the United States.

At New Boston, N.H., tracking station of the air force all queries about the Tokyo reports were answered with a similar "no comment."

Reds Speed Up Evacuations on Berlin Border

BERLIN (UPI) — Armed Communist police carried out new mass evictions on the barricaded East-West Berlin border early today in a determined bid to halt the flight of East German refugees.

West Berlin police reported the Communists evicted residents of four-to-five-story apartment houses on streets leading to the border between the French and Soviet sector.

Nine large moving vans drove up to Schwedter, Swinemuender and Wollliner streets this morning. These streets run into Bernauer street, scene of border shootings and escapes where evictions already have been carried out.

★ ★ ★

About 100 Communist policemen stood guard to prevent disorder as moving men carried out furniture, West Berlin police reported.

East Berlin residents have used the border houses as hideouts from which to make their escapes to the West.

West Berlin police reported that two youths fled from the Eastern sector Friday night. One of them cut his way through two barbed wire barriers in the French zone's Reinickendorf district and the other did the same in the American sector's Neukoelln district.

Grim-faced West Berlin policemen patrolled the divided city's tense border which was riddled twice in 24 hours by Communist gunfire in the gravest incident since the East Germans built their wall two months ago.

Tension, which has been constantly present here since the Reds closed the border Aug. 13 and erected a barbed wire and concrete carriade along the frontier, rose to new heights Friday when Communist border guards tried to halt nine fleeing East Germans.

The Reds fired their sub-machineguns and rifles at the refugees and the bullets whizzed past five U.S. military policemen and 14 West Berlin policemen who had rushed to the scene. No one was hit by the Communist fusillade and the refugees all escaped without injury.

It was not known if the Communists were aiming at the Western policemen.

A few hours after the incident, Maj. Gen. Albert Watson II, the U.S. commandant in Berlin, went to East Berlin to present the "strongest" protest to Soviet Commandant Col. A. V. Smlovyev.

Watson warned than any more "reckless and illegal conduct" by the East German police could have "consequences." He did not spell out what they would be.

The shooting erupted when nine refugees tried to ram a truck through a double barbed wire barricade from the Soviet zone into Berlin's American sector. The bullet-riddled truck stalled between the two barricades and they raced into the Western zone as Communist fired 250 to 300 rounds of ammunition at them.

LOOKING BACKWARD — Nine East Germans stand in West Berlin Friday near the site where they drove a truck into a barbed wire fence blocking Machnower Strasse earlier in the day. Their truck was caught in the entanglement and the youths had to race on foot into the U.S. sector. As they made their escape, East German police began shooting. None of the escapees was hit by gunfire.

Pontiac Youth Seeks Brother

DAYTON, Ohio (UPI) — A teen-age Pontiac youth hitchhiker from Pontiac, who was picked up by police here Friday, told authorities he and his companion were on the road in search of his missing brother.

★ ★ ★

"I could see my parents fading away ever since my brother disappeared," the youth said. "I couldn't stand it any more, so I got my buddy to go with me to search for him."

The identities of the young hitchhikers were not released. Authorities took them in custody at the edge of Dayton as they tried to thumb a ride northward on U.S. 42.

The youngster who did the talking asked Wayne Breeze, assistant probation officer, to talk with his mother in Pontiac by phone. The woman confirmed the boy's story, Breeze said.

★ ★ ★

Breeze said she told him that her son and a friend left home last Wednesday to look for the boy's married brother who had disappeared with his wife and two of their children nine months ago.

The hitchhiker told officers here that he first heard that his brother was in Mansfield, Ohio.

He said he sought the aid of Mansfield police but was unable to locate his brother there.

★ ★ ★

The boy and his buddy then struck out for Lockland, near Cincinnati, believing that they could find either a job or the lost brother. They found neither.

They said they stopped at every town along the way to search for the brother. They told authorities it was hot Friday, and they were tired and "sick of the whole thing."

"We were heading back home when the officers picked us up," one of them said.

★ ★ ★

The mother in Pontiac told Breeze she had been worried about the youths and that she would send them money for bus fare home.

Despite Ousting of Envoys

See No Dutch-Soviet Row

AMSTERDAM, Holland (UPI)— Diplomatic observers said today Friday's reciprocal expulsion of ambassadors by Holland and the Soviet Union probably would not result in a break in relations between the two countries.

Soviet ambassador to Holland Panteleimon K. Ponomarenko was declared "persona non grata" by the Dutch government Friday because of his part in a brawl with Dutch policemen at Amsterdam Airport last Saturday.

Four hours later, the Kremlin retaliated by ousting Dutch Ambassador Henri Helb. The Dutch Embassy in Moscow said Helb had been ordered to leave the Soviet Union "as soon as possible."

Ponomarenko did not wait to be kicked out. He left Holland Friday morning, saying he was going to the 22nd Communist party Congress in Moscow and would return "in a couple of weeks."

ON THE ROPES

Ponomarenko is an old-line Stalinist who has been skidding ever since Stalin's death.

★ ★ ★

A former Communist party secretary in Moscow — just one step below Stalin himself — Ponomarenko arrived in Holland two years ago in the latest of a series of steps down. What his next job would be is unknown at this time.

Earlier Friday, two Soviet embassy employes, Second Secretary A. D. Popov and Commercial Attache S. W. Chivaev were bundled aboard a train and sent back to Russia.

There was no indication when new ambassadors would be named, but diplomatic sources said Soviet-Dutch relations appeared to be in no jeopardy.

★ ★ ★

The diplomatic crisis began when Soviet chemist Alexei Golub, 35, asked political asylum while touring Holland. His wife decided to return to Russia and went to the Soviet Embassy.

As she was about to leave the country, Dutch police asked to talk with her in an airport office to make sure she was leaving of her own free will.

Ponomarenko objected and led a flying wedge of embassy officials into the office. A fist-fight erupted. Popov was thrown out of the office and Ponomarenko was punched in the nose by a Dutch policeman.

Mrs. Golub was pushed and pulled into a Soviet airliner, where she sat for seven hours before telling Dutch officials she wanted to return to Moscow. She flew back with other tourists while her husband stayed behind. Golub was given asylum officially Friday.

Dutch newspapers said that Ponomarenko was a member of the Soviet Union's "old guard," a Stalinist who was demoted when Nikita Khrushchev rose to power. One paper said he was a "man with a beautiful political future behind him."

Open House Set by UF Agencies

Guided Tours Planned Tuesday Afternoon to Help Start Campaign

Open houses will be held Tuesday afternoon and evening so that contributors can see for themselves how their United Fund dollars are used.

The 1961 campaign for $672,500 to support the 54 agencies kicks off the same day.

"This is an experiment on our part," said Arthur Heaton, of the United Fund staff. "We feel that there's nothing like seeing all these agencies they've been reading about."

Twenty-three of the agencies will throw their doors open to guided tours conducted at 1, 2, 3, 7 and 8 p.m. They will start from the Community Services Building, 132 Franklin Blvd.

Transportation will be provided.

Agency staff personnel along with members of the Community Services Committee of the AFL-CIO will serve as guides.

The agencies to be visited by the public will be:

Michigan Children's Aid, Family Service, Catholic Social Service, Visiting Nurses, Boy Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, United Fund, Big Brothers, Community Activities, Inc., St. Joseph Clinic, Leader Dogs for The Blind and United Service Organization (USO).

Clarkston School District, for example, may be considered a poor district. It spends about $254 a year to educate each of 4,000 pupils. Pontiac spends $389 for each of 20,000 students.

Pontiac School District has provided regular textbooks free since 1925, books being charged out to a child at the beginning of the year.

There is a charge for damage beyond fair wear and tear.

This year the system has a book budget of $75,072.88.

★ ★ ★

Clarkston asks parents to buy the textbooks — and dips into its general fund to make up losses in its non-profit bookstore.

★ ★ ★

Aside from the belief that voters will not raise existing millage, Clarkston Supt. Leslie F. Greene says the existing system is cheaper than a loaning system.

'TOTAL COST LESS'

"I believe from my experience in other schools, that the total cost of textbooks is less when they are owned by the students than when they are furnished by the school," Dr. Greene said.

★ ★ ★

The reasons? Losses are down in the case of parents moving. Pride of ownership keeps books in better shape.

The texts are available wholesale at the schools at a 25-50 per cent mark-down below retail price plus postage charges. Counting reduced payments by the schools for used books, the elementary school average cost in this district for each student is $3.60 a year, according to a recent sampling.

In senior high, the sampling per student per year revealed a net cost of $3.96 each year, after books are returned.

In junior high, an eighth-grade sampling revealed a $2.85 net cost at the end of the year. Initial outlays by parents are, of course, much higher.

County-wide, it was discovered by a show of hands of 25 superintendents at a recent County Board of Education meeting, districts were split 50-50 between those who provide some texts "free" and those who ask parents to buy.

A survey of 19 districts by The Press revealed that the districts split into four main categories.

Only three districts provide all books out of tax money. Those which used rental systems (fees assessed with or without return) totaled five districts.

★ ★ ★

The majority of districts — eight — are using a split system in which usually books are provided on a rental basis in elementary grades (sometimes including junior highs) but must be paid for by parents in high schools.

Three districts reported that parents were being asked to buy the books in all grades.

However, all districts which asked parents to pay provided the books at cost: using the usual wholesale markdown of 25-30 per cent which schools are given by publishers. Some of these added handling, some added handling and postage.

Usually schools which sold books to parents would accept them back at the end of the year, deducting depreciation and-or damage charges.

Won't Deport Michigan Man

Ex-Con, in U.S. Since 1915 Granted Pardon by Swainson

LANSING (UPI) — Michael Jergovich, 54, Birmingham, will not be deported from the United States, the nation he has called his home since he was 8 years old in 1915.

★ ★ ★

Gov. John B. Swainson Friday granted a pardon for Jergovich, who was released from Southern Michigan Prison in 1946 after serving 17 years for armed robbery of a Mount Morris bank.

Deportation proceedings were started after Jergovich's release from prison because the man was brought to the U.S. as a child but never acquired citizenship. Federal immigration laws provide for deportation of aliens convicted of a crime involving moral turpitude.

Swainson said he granted the pardon, the first during his term office, at the recommendation of the State Parole Board.

★ ★ ★

"Michael Jergovich has paid the penalty exacted by the laws of this state for the crime he committed and has demonstrated for many years that he is a rehabilitated member of society," Swainson said. "To invoke the provisions of the federal law regarding deportation in this case appears to be harsh course of action."

★ ★ ★

The parole board unanimously recommended the pardon. It said Jergovich has demonstrated he is a responsible member of society.

It is estimated there will be 17 million persons over age 65 within the U.S. in the next five years.

According to police, Bush was cleaning his rifle preparing to go duck hunting. Bush reported he was loading the rifle when it went off, police said.

Pontiac Man Hurt in One-Car Mishap

2nd Shot Fired to Test Equipment Called Success

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) announced today it has successfully fired a second experimental shot to test equipment for a "top side" satellite which will explore the ionosphere.

A NASA spokesman said the test was conducted at Wallops Island, Va., at 11:28 a.m. Pontiac time today. The test vehicle carrying scientific equipment reached an altitude of approximately 560 statute miles, NASA reported.

It was the second testing of equipment for "top side" satellites which are expected to be launched next year through a joint U.S.-Canadian space venture.

The NASA spokesman said the first test conducted on June 24, 1961, took place in a quiet ionospheric condition while today's was fired at a time when there was "a disturbed ionosphere."

1 Killed, 2 Critical, as Shell Goes Off

CAMP GRAYLING, Mich. (UPI) — One man was killed and another man and a young boy were injured critically Friday night when a rocket shell exploded on a firing range at this National Guard training camp.

The three were collecting spent shells in the area, which was well posted with signs warning unauthorized personnel to keep out, State police said.

None of the victims was identified immediately.

The blast decapitated the dead man, took off the leg of the other man and riddled the boy's chest, face and eyes with shrapnel.

★ ★ ★

The man who lost a leg crawled to his automobile, then managed to drive nearly five miles to the office of Billy Kinkerter, the Camp Grayling superintendent. Kinkerter applied a tourniquet and called Mercy Hospital at Grayling.

Horrible Decision; Boy, 11, Kills Dad

His father was drunk and pointing a gun at his mother. What decision was Paul to make?

Paul, a good-looking, intelligent boy in the fifth grade of an elementary school across the road from the Berrian home in suburban Rotterdam, shot his father to death.

'TOLD HIM TO STOP'

"I picked up the other gun and told him to stop it. But he wouldn't listen to me, and I shot him," Paul said.

★ ★ ★

These were the events in the small, neat Berrian home in the early morning hours Friday, as recounted by police:

Harold Berrian, 43, out of work since a heart attack three months ago, returned home after a round of drinking.

He was in a rage. He claimed he had been given a ticket for speeding, but police say this was not so. He awakened his wife, Rose, 36, and began to berate her. At one point he smashed his fist through a plasterboard wall.

Paul, his sister, Linda, 14, and brother, John, 4 were roused by the noise.

Berrian carried two 12-gauge shotguns from a bedroom, loaded them, placed one on a table and pointed the other at his wife. He threatened to kill her and the children.

STRUGGLED

Mrs. Berrian and Linda struggled with Berrian, trying to wrest the weapon from him.

Then Paul picked up the gun off the table and made a decision. It was the first time he boy ever fired a gun. The charge struck his father in the back.

"He is a very intelligent man and was fully aware of what he did," said Asst. Dist. Atty. Henry Bradt.

No charge was placed against the youngster.

Berrian, a disabled veteran of World War II who had served in the Army Engineers, had worked as a painter on construction jobs before his heart attack.

Neighbors said the Berrians always had appeared to be a "nice quiet family." Police said they had never been called to the home previously.

Fear Modern Problems May Get Lost

Con-Con Units Cut From Old Plan

LANSING (UPI) — Constitutional convention looked backward 54 years when the committee structure was set up for dealing with subject matter in Michigan's basic law.

★ ★ ★

The nine con-con committees charged with specific points for the new document are based on provisions in the existing constitution, written in the 1907-08 convention.

At least one delegate has expressed the fear that modern problems might fail to get the consideration they deserve.

Eight of the "substantive" committees deal with declaration of rights, suffrage and elections; legislative organization; legislative powers; the executive branch of government; the judicial branch; finance and taxation; local government, and education. There are specific sections in the 1908 constitution dealing with these subjects.

MISCELLANEOUS PROBLEMS

The ninth committee is charged with handling miscellaneous provisions and schedules.

★ ★ ★

Delegate Claud Erickson, R-Lansing, the chairman of this committee, said he expected that vital questions dealing with labor, and perhaps other subjects, would be sent to his group.

★ ★ ★

The con-con has repeatedly been cautioned that the result of their efforts must reflect not only changes that have taken place in Michigan in the past, but must be adaptable to future problems.

Delegate James K. Pollock, R-Ann Arbor, noted University of Michigan political scientist, warned delegates that they must consider changes in technology and way of life in Michigan when they decide what should be presented to the people for their approval.

In a speech on general desirable elements for a constitution, he outlined great changes in population and related social and economic upheavals since 1908.

Besides labor, two other major items in which government has a huge stake were disregarded by the con-con committee structure.

These are health, including mental health, and welfare: Taken by itself, mental health is the third largest item in Michigan's current operating budget, and welfare is second. Only education receives a bigger share of state general fund expenditures.

Failure to provide a committee on labor, or assign questions of health and welfare to a specific committee might not, of course, create any problems.

The committee on executive branch will handle some of the proposals along these lines, and other committees might also take some of the load.

But splitting up the problems could result in failure to provide a comprehensive recommendation in these fields that will take into consideration the sweeping changes in Michigan since 1908.

Constitutional convention delegates will have to take the broad view of their duties in order to see that major problems are not lost in the big picture.

Walker Given New Staff Job

Controversial Officer Named Assistant Chief of Pacific Operations

WASHINGTON (AP) — Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker, the controversial former commander of the 24th Infantry Division, is headed for a staff job in the Pacific command.

★ ★ ★

The Army in a terse announcement Friday said that Walker would go to Hawaii next month to become assistant chief of staff for operations, plans and training in the Pacific command.

ADMONISHED BY ARMY

Walker was officially admonished by the Army in June. He was relieved of command of the 24th Division in Germany in April and assigned to the Army's European headquarters at Heidelberg. Walker returned to the United States recently to await the assignment.

★ ★ ★

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara told the Senate armed services committee in September that Walker was admonished for two reasons:

★ ★ ★

1. Conducting an indoctrination program that included "inflammatory and derogatory statements" about former public officials, including former President Harry S. Truman.

2. Attempting, through articles in the division newspapers, to influence the troops' votes in the 1960 congressional elections.
