Two Pontiac area youths drowned in separate accidents and a 75-year-old woman died in a head-on automobile collision in White Lake Township this weekend.

Dead are Mark Greenwood, 9, of Beverly Hills; Arthur F. Leland III, 16, of 21141 Rensselaer, Farmington Township; and Mrs. Nellie B. Wiedman of 418 Washington, South Lyon.

Beverly Hills police said the Greenwood boy was found dead last night at the bottom of a swimming pool behind his home. A sister discovered the body.

Young Leland perished late Saturday when he attempted to swim across a small lake in the vicinity of Halstead and 11 Mile, according to Farmington Township police.

A companion of the victim, 11-year-old Edward Cote, reportedly attempted to save Leland but was unable to.

BODY RECOVERED

The body was recovered by a diver from the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

Mrs. Wiedman, alone in her car, was killed Saturday afternoon when she collided with a vehicle driven by Mrs. William Applebee, 31, of 965 Duck Lake, Millford Township.

White Lake Township police said Mrs. Wiedman's car crossed the center line on M59 moments before hitting the Applebee car near the intersection of Charlton.

Mrs. Applebee was admitted to Pontiac General Hospital along with two of four children riding in the car.

She is listed in satisfactory condition, while twin sons Timothy and Thomas, 11, are reported fair and satisfactory, respectively.

SPLENDID VIEW — This sketch illustrates the maneuvers taken by astronaut Eugene Cernan, who took a record-breaking 2-hour, 5-minute walk in space yesterday from Gemini 9. Cernan commented,

"Boy it sure is beautiful out here." He had to use the ship's hand rails and tether to maneuver because his back pack (on rear of spaceship) failed to perform.

Buddhist Extremists Ignored

Ky Regime Nominates Ten to Junta

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's military regime nominated a slate of 10 civilians today to join the 16-man ruling junta but excluded Buddhist extremists opposing the government.

The list included some moderate Buddhists, Roman Catholics and representatives of the Cao Dai and Hoa Hao sects.

But the absence of any militant Buddhists pointed to the imminent danger of a collapse of the political truce between the regime and the unified Buddhist Church.

Even before the government published the list, the Buddhist Institute said: "This cannot solve anything but only increase the opposition from the people."

A spokesman said the Buddhists wouldn't join the government if asked.

BEAT DEADLINE

The ruling generals drafted the list of civilians several hours before a deadline agreed on last week in negotiations between moderate Buddhist elements and the Ky regime to end the political crisis.

The list submitted by the junta was received this afternoon by the 34-man Armed Forces Council, part of the governing military apparatus, then sent back to the junta for approval.

The Buddhist Institute, in a communique, repeated demands for the resignation of Ky and the chief of state, Nguyen Van Thieu.

"If the two generals still remain in power with only superficial changes in the junta, it cannot solve anything but only increase the opposition from the people," the communique said.

While the Ky regime attempted to live up to its political pact with the Buddhists, it appeared in for a surprise from the Electoral Commission it named to prepare the ground for the Sept. 11 elections for a Constitutional Assembly.

During a long debate last night, 27 of the 32 commissioners were reported in favor of letting the assembly turn itself into a governing legislature after it drafts a constitution.

This would shorten the life of the military regime considerably and preclude the second round of voting for a legislature which Ky plans.

The premier said last month that he probably wouldn't be able to step down until the middle of next year.

However, the junta could reject the commission's recommendations.

Bob-Lo Boat, Craft Collide

DETROIT (AP) — Four persons were thrown overboard and one was missing and presumed drowned last night when an excursion boat collided with a 26-foot cabin cruiser on the Detroit River.

Detroit police said Mrs. Peggy Durkin, 32, of Detroit, was one of 10 persons aboard the cruiser "10 G's," owned by Max Moore of Detroit. Coast Guard and harbormaster vessels were searching for her body.

The collision occurred about 100 yards off shore from Cobo Hall in the heart of Detroit's downtown area.

The excursion boat, which cruises to Bob-Lo Island downriver, was crossing from Windsor, Ont., where it had just disembarked passengers.

A passenger on the boat, Ray Monry, 28, of Detroit, said the cruiser "ran right into the bow of the boat. We could feel the boat rise over the top of the cruiser."

Police said none of the other passengers were injured.

News Flash

WASHINGTON (AP) — Unemployment last month took its biggest jump in a year, the Labor Department reported today, and a spokesman said it indicated a slowdown in the rate of the nation's economic growth.

LANSING (AP) — Two mothers and a baby spent several terrifying hours at the mercy of a gunman who kidnapped them in front of a Lansing church yesterday and locked one woman in the car trunk.

The abductor abandoned the car on a country road when one of the mothers escaped and spread the alarm.

Four hours after the kidnapping and 46 miles west of Lansing, State Police trooper Royal Gaddy spotted a man in a wooded area.

Gaddy was lowered from a National Guard helicopter, crept up behind him, and captured him without a struggle.

Gaddy identified the man he arrested as Gary Lee Hoskins, 27, of Benton Harbor. Hoskins was turned over to Lansing police for investigation. No charges were filed.

Mrs. Joan VanAuken and Mrs. Carol Emerson, both 31, and both Sunday school teachers, had just stopped their car near St. Paul's Episcopal Church, across from the State Capitol in Lansing, and let out four children when a man climbed into the car and said "start driving."

In the car was Mrs. VanAuken's 6-month-old baby, Mark.

The kidnaper got angry and started cursing when they pleaded with him to let them go, the women said.

About 20 miles from Lansing, he ordered Mrs. VanAuken to stop the car and forced Mrs. Emerson into the trunk.

"You're too much for me if you decide to make trouble," Mrs. VanAuken said the man explained.

Farther west, Mrs. VanAuken tried to attract two men in a backyard by screaming for help.

Touches Down in Sight of Ship

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Gemini 9 astronauts rode their spaceship to a near-perfect safe landing in the Atlantic today, climaxing a sensational, often-troublesome flight highlighted by Eugene A. Cernan's record space walk.

Astronauts Thomas P. Stafford and Cernan made the most accurate landing in the U.S. space program. They parked Gemini 9 less than two miles from the aiming point and only about three miles from the main recovery ship, the aircraft carrier Wasp.

'It's Beautiful,' Says Cernan

Space Walker Tells of Adventure in Sky

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Astronaut Eugene A. Cernan clambered from his spacecraft into the empty sky and exclaimed: "It sure is beautiful out here!"

In a steady voice, Cernan — a 32-year-old rookie spaceman — told crisply, humorously of his excitement and his problems.

His account was relayed to earth through his conversations with Gemini 9 Command Pilot Thomas P. Stafford.

"Strange world out here — you know it?" Cernan said, bobbing around the spacecraft on his 26-foot umbilical cord. His space walk carried him from intense heat to severe cold, from sunlight to darkness.

"It looks like fun," said Stafford.

After 2 hours and 15 minutes, Cernan was back inside Gemini 9 with the world spacewalking championship. "I think we've earned a lot," he said. "I think I need some ballet lessons."

Astronaut Neil A. Armstrong, the spacecraft communicator, told Cernan when it was over, "Guys down here think you made a real good show there, Gino."

Said Cernan: "I'm still battling one 500, but that's better than nothing."

He referred to his inability to carry out the back pack maneuvering experiment.

The "on the money" splash-down came at 9 a.m. EST after a flight of three days and 21 minutes during which Gemini 9 circled the globe 45 times and traveled near 1.2 million miles.

With thousands of sailors cheering, the Wasp maneuvered alongside and retrieved the pilot and spacecraft from the sea 50 minutes later.

Stafford and Cernan acknowledged the cheers with waves and "thumbs up" signals. Both appeared relaxed and in excellent physical condition.

PLAY IT CLOSE

Command pilot Stafford, whose cool, on-the-spot decisions played a key role in the mission, steered the spaceship to a touchdown within sight of the carrier.

"Pretty close for government flying," commented a flight dynamics officer.

On the deck, the hatches were opened and the smug space twins stood up, waved at the sailors and the television cameras, and shook hands with Navy and space agency officials.

They then shook hands with one another and Stafford rubbed his three-day old beard and laughed.

BAND STRIKES UP

The 17-piece ship's band struck up "Anchors Aweigh" as the astronauts headed for a two-hour examination.

A large banner on the deck read: "Welcome Stafford again and Cernan."

The Wasp also retrieved Stafford and Walter M. Schirra Jr. after the Gemini 6 flight in December.

Capt. Gordon E. Hartley, the Wasp commander, said: "We've had our share of good ones, but this was the best of all, just the way we planned it."

SHORT OF TARGET

He said he put the ship a little short of target just in case Stafford carried out his threat to fly "right down the smokestack."

Stafford, making his second flight into space in six months, was aided in the textbook landing by Cernan, who used the spacecraft computer to help calculate the maneuvers as Gemini 9 sped back through the atmosphere.

He had an assist from an easterly wind that helped blow the craft toward the carrier.

A helicopter was overhead within seconds and Navy frogmen leaped into the water to attach a flotation collar.

The divers reported Stafford and Cernan gave the "thumbs up" signal through their spacecraft window as it bobbed in the four-to-five-foot waves.

The astronauts elected to stay in the spacecraft until the Wasp came alongside.

The spacecraft hatch was opened nine minutes after touchdown and Stafford and Cernan stood up and waved at the swimmers. Stafford shook hands with the swimmers.

"Boy, it seems good to be through with another year of under-achieving."

Pontiac Rabbi Ties Firing to Race Stand

A Pontiac rabbi claimed today that one reason he was being dismissed was because of his speaking out on local racial issues.

Rabbi Ernest J. Conrad, spiritual leader of Temple Beth Jacob, said he had heard no complaints until after he had given two sermons; one on race relations and one on certain ritualistic practices.

A spokesman for the Reform synagogue, which has 116 members, denied Rabbi Conrad's charges, citing the synagogue's pioneering effort in intergroup relations.

"We are not interested in a direct answer or rebuttal (to the rabbi's charges)," the spokesman said. "We do not want to ventilate internal affairs in the press."

The decision not to renew Rabbi Conrad's one-year contract was made by the temple's 48-member board of directors. The spokesman claimed the rabbi was notified a year ago that his contract would not be renewed.

Rabbi Conrad said he was told his contract was not being renewed as of June 1, but that he had until August to find another pulpit.

The 45-year-old rabbi said his successor, a graduate of the Cincinnati Hebrew Union College, had already been appointed.

Rabbi Conrad, of 59 S. Genesee, came to Pontiac Sept. 1, 1962. Following his ordination in 1947, he held pulpits in Maryland and North Carolina.

He worked as a counselor for Jewish students at Oakland Uni-

The competition is sponsored by the National Council of Teachers of English as part of an attempt to improve English language and literature teaching methods at all educational levels.

Fastest Way to Town Was Misinterpreted

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP) — A passenger who got off a plane at the Salt Lake City airport rushed up to the airline agent and asked "the fastest way to get to town." The agent told him to "go out in front and take a limousine."

He did just that — without waiting for the driver. The transportation firm reported the car stolen. A few hours later, it was found deserted in downtown Salt Lake City.

Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt Says:

Bland Diet Prescribed for Mucous Colitis

Q—There is a lot of phlegm in my stools and I have a slight but constant cramping in my abdomen. X-rays of my intestines failed to show anything wrong. Does this indicate that further tests should be made or do I have something that laxatives will control?

A—Without further tests I BRANDSTADT would say you have described the typical findings of mucous colitis.

Laxatives would make it worse. There are many remedies for this condition but none of them will help you unless you adhere to a bland (no roughage) diet and arrange to eliminate emotional stresses.

Q—I have colitis and am taking an enema of one quart of water with two teaspoonfuls of starch twice a day. Will this cure me?

A—No—it will probably make your colitis worse. An enema should be taken only if you have gone 48 hours with a bowel movement (72 hours following a loose stool) and then you should use only eight ounces of warm water with nothing in the water.

Such an enema should be held for five minutes before letting it pass out.

Q—I have had colitis for three years. My doctor prescribed Azulfidine, Lomolol, cortisone and a milk-free diet.

Must I take these drugs indefinitely? How long does it take to cure this condition?

A—Anyone who is taking Azulfidine should have a periodic blood examination.

Lomolol should not be taken if anyone has cirrhosis of the liver or who is taking barbiturates.

Cortisone should not be taken for more than 10 days at a time with an interval of three or four weeks between courses.

Colitis is aggravated by milk and milk products in some, but not all, victims.

Like all chronic conditions, cure may take a long time but it can be achieved. The duration of the treatment would depend on the severity of the disease and the skill of your physician.

Q—When I was in high school a doctor prescribed amphetamine to help me lose weight.

Now I am addicted to this drug. What should I do?

A—This drug, marketed as Benzedrine, Dexedrine and Methedrine can be obtained legally only on a doctor's prescription.

It is potentially dangerous and is definitely habit-forming when taken over a long period.

Discontinuing the drug after the habit has been formed may require a short period of hospitalization.

Cities' Ghettos Are Neglected in Push for Large-Scale Projects

By WHITNEY M. YOUNG JR.

Executive Director

National Urban League

America's deteriorating cities are a major national concern.

Aging slums in the hearts of our cities have become racial ghettos—decaying prisons for victims of discrimination and poverty.

Yet this tragic situation is neglected as cities plan large-scale developments—office blocks, cultural centers, convention halls—to attempt to lure back the millions who have migrated to the suburbs.

But it is these depressed ghettos to areas which are most in need of massive transfusions of concrete and steel—the symbols of urban vitality and strength.

Unless these sections are to deteriorate further, unless their residents are to continue to be victims of civic neglect, immediate action must be taken.

The trickle of antipoverty funds into the ghetto cannot change anything without more visible, tangible signs of willingness to upgrade the ghetto and make it truly a part of the city.

What better way than to locate these huge new developments in ghetto areas which are usually situated in the very centers of the cities?

I recently convened a meeting of businessmen and legislators from Harlem and we set in motion a plan for New York which can be an example to other cities. The proposal was simple—that the planned World Trade Center, scheduled for construction in a congested part of lower Manhattan, be placed in Harlem.

CONTRIVERSIAL UNIT

The World Trade Center is a controversial office complex including two buildings designed to be the tallest in the world.

There are several places in Harlem where the center could be built without relocation hardships and the transportation to and from all parts of the metropolitan area is excellent.

Moving the project to Harlem would be a significant first step in the rehabilitation of the community, eventually attracting other business additions.

About 10,000 workers will be needed for the construction of the center, and Harlem's pool of underutilized manpower could be put to work, helping the economy of the area.

WOULD PROVIDE HOPE

The proximity of such a large office complex would provide hope for schoolchildren and jobs for the many professional and clerical people in the neighborhood.

Apart from the immediate upgrading of the ghetto, it would bring an influx of about 50,000 workers into Harlem daily—people who never see the ghetto now unless they happen to look out of the windows of their commuter trains.

It is imperative that there be an interchange of people between the ghetto and the rest of the city. Only in this way can the false stereotypes which exist in people's minds be broken down, to be replaced by common understanding and a diversity of experience which can only enrich those who take part.

In addition to this integration of the work force, we could expect integrated housing developments to come into the neighborhood, since Harlem's central location would be an added inducement to those who prefer to live near where they work.

LARGE INFILUX

This large influx of workers would also serve to improve public services, now so sadly neglected in the ghetto.

Police, sanitation, and other public agencies would be forced to improve their service once the powerless people of the ghetto were joined by workers from all parts of the city.

Perhaps as important as the economic effects of such a project is the tangible evidence it would give to the ghetto that past neglect is at an end; that the tragic isolation of the community will be remedied; and that the future of the ghetto is not the downward spiral into despair, but the exciting prospect of uplift and rehabilitation which will tie it to the rest of the city.

It could be concrete evidence of the concern for Harlem's problems, and a morale-building source of pride for the people in the ghetto.

Fire erupted yesterday afternoon at a new home at 2015 Golf Hill, Waterford Township, being built by E. J. Dunlap Custom Builder, 1941 Lakewood, Bloomfield Township.

The fire originated in a bathtub which contained some paper. Fire fighters believe the fire may have been caused by children playing with matches.

MIAMI (AP) — Miami Police Sgt. Robert Montana believes cold weather puts a freeze on crime.
