House Bill Ups Appropriation for Oakland U.

The Michigan House of Representatives yesterday approved a higher education bill which would give Oakland University $5,171,000 in operating funds for the next fiscal year.

★ ★ ★

This is about $787,000 more than the university is operating with in the 1967-68 fiscal year and is in line with Gov. George Romney's recommendation for funds for the school, but some $480,000 more than called for in the education bill approved by the State Senate.

★ ★ ★

The total appropriation bill approved by the House is some $5 million higher than that approved by the Senate. The House version was sent to the Senate where it expected there is considerable opposition to the House hike.

The outlook is that the measure will end up in a Senate-House conference committee so differences can be ironed out.

'COULD GET BY'

Chancellor Durwood B. Varner said that if the House version of the higher education bill stands up the University "would, with some very austere operations, get by during the next year."

The House approved a total appropriation of $252.2 million for the state's 11 colleges and universities and for several community colleges by a 94-8 vote.

★ ★ ★

The House also passed, 96-5, a measure calling for a state general fund expenditure of $152.7 million for the Mental Health Department.

The Senate, meanwhile, passed its version of the general government budget bill calling for spending $45.7 million with $4.8 million earmarked for the Treasury Department to finance tax collections. This passed 26-5.

CIVIL RIGHTS

Defeated was an amendment proposed by Sen. James G. Fleming, R-Jackson that would have reduced the budget of the State Civil Rights Commission from $1.8 million to $1.6 million.

Fleming charged that the CRC has made relations between whites and blacks worse, not better, since it came into existence.

★ ★ ★

He charged that the CRC has "increased tensions in Jackson by 100 per cent."

The budget bills approved in each of the legislative bodies were sent to the opposite houses for concurrence on amendments.

U. OF M. HIGHEST

In the House passed version of the higher education bill the University of Michigan would get the highest appropriation among the state's universities and colleges at $63.6 million.

★ ★ ★

Michigan State, excluding Oakland University, would receive about $57.3 million; Wayne State University, $38.3 million; Western Michigan University, $16.2 million; and Eastern Michigan University, $11.6 million.

Move Could Avert Crisis

SAIGON (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu announced appointment today of ex-schoolteacher Tran Van Huong, 64, as South Vietnam's new premier.

Thieu made the announcement in a prepared nationwide radio and television address nine hours after he accepted the resignation of Premier Nguyen Van Loc at an emergency cabinet meeting.

★ ★ ★

The announcement may put a quick end to the threat of a long government crisis which could have undermined the position of the American delegation in the Paris peace talks. But it did not necessarily heal the widening split between Thieu and his strong-willed vice president, Air Vice Marshal Nguyen Cao Ky.

Loc is a close associate of Ky, who is strongly opposed to the American effort to end the war by negotiation and compromise. Thieu's attitude has been more flexible.

'FACE GRAVE DANGER'

In his resignation statement, Loc declared that South Vietnam faces "grave danger" from the Paris talks.

For the past three days, Ky's friends have passed the word that Huong, a former premier, is unacceptable to the vice president.

★ ★ ★

Informants said Ky suspects Huong of a willingness to end the war by compromise. Ky was the only government member absent from the cabinet meet. He was reported at the South Vietnamese air base at Nha Trang, 200 miles northeast of Saigon.

Huong, a Buddhist from Vinh Long in the Mekong Delta, has twice served as mayor of Saigon.

North Viet Pressures U.S. for Reply on Bombing Halt

PARIS (AP) — North Vietnam demanded today that the United States stop being "elusive" and agree "rapidly" to end all bombing and other attacks on its territory.

★ ★ ★

The United States, striking back a North Vietnamese pressure on this issue, demanded in turn to know whether the government of President Ho Chi Minh is "prepared to acknowledge the presence of North Vietnamese army personnel in South Vietnam."

★ ★ ★

Ambassador W. Averell Harriman was reported to have pressed the troop issue on Ambassador Xuan Thuy in a 2,400-word statement, delivered from time to time in angry tones.

The two demands highlighted the sharp exchanges at the meeting which ran for more than four hours. Harriman and Thuy agreed to meet again next Wednesday.

TRIP TO U.S.?

The session was their third this week. They initially met last Monday.

The three-day delay before the next session was Harriman's proposal, a North Vietnamese spokesman said. This set off speculation that Harriman would use the interval — longest yet of the sessions—to fly home for consultations, but U.S. sources said the speculation was not correct. They offered no explanation for the delay, however.

★ ★ ★

The two sides met last Wednesday and recessed until today at North Vietnam's request.

In today's session, Thuy focussed his 5,000-word statement on the bombing issue, reminding Harriman that the purpose of the talks at this stage is, from Hanoi's point of view, to arrange to end the bombing and all other attacks on the North.

MUST REPLY RAPIDLY

"In order that these official conversations conclude with results," he said, "the American side must rapidly give a positive response on this subject; it must not be elusive much longer."

★ ★ ★

The implied threat, that he would do something if he did not get an early American answer, was not spelled out.

Growing Unrest Cripples France

PARIS (AP) — The mushrooming student-labor revolt triggered a breakdown in transportation and many state services today, threatening France with semiparalysis.

President Charles de Gaulle will cut short a state visit to Romania and fly to Paris tonight to be in close touch with the situation, French sources in Romania said.

De Gaulle was said to have made the decision after radio-telephone consultations with Premier Georges Pompidou.

In France, Red flags flew from more than 40 factories occupied by striking workers. Dozens of other plants were shut down and as the weekend began the list of crippled plants grew. Agitation seemed at a peak in southwestern France and around Paris; the northern and eastern sections were less affected.

★ ★ ★

Personnel of the state-run radio and television networks threatened today to call strikes that would cut off De Gaulle's main communications link with the French people. But they did not decide when or how to launch the strike.

They announced a seven-point complaint list. They objected to everything from "government interference in the objectivity of news reports" to the attachment of the facility to the ministry of information.

County Dems Uncommitted

By JIM LONG

Following the position taken by the state party leaders, Democrats from Oakland County's 18th and 19th congressional districts last night decided to remain uncommitted on the candidates for the presidency.

No attempt was made by any of those attending the county district convention to seek endorsement at this time for any of the three major contenders, Hubert H. Humphrey, Robert F. Kennedy or Eugene J. McCarthy.

★ ★ ★

The major purpose of the convention, held at the supervisors' auditorium at the county courthouse, was to select delegates to the Democratic State Convention in Detroit on June 1 and 2.

An estimated 425 persons attended the conventions, the largest turnout ever, according to county Democratic Chairman George Googasian.

FARNUM, LEVIN SPEAK

Billie S. Farnum, deputy national chairman in charge of political organization and former congressman from the 19th District, and State Sen. Sander M. Levin, State Democratic chairman, addressed the convention delegates.

Like most other conventions throughout the state where party leaders called for noncommitted delegations, an assessment of developments was difficult regarding the favorite among the presidential hopefuls.

★ ★ ★

Generally, however, officials believe there is a leaning in Oakland County toward Vice President Humphrey with Sen. Kennedy of New York close behind, and Sen. McCarthy of Minnesota third.

The noncommitment policy taken by the county convention was in keeping with the urgings of Levin, State Atty.

PARTY LEADERS — Democratic State Chairman Sander M. Levin, a state senator and a resident of Berkley, is a former chairman of the Democratic county organization.

Bobby Receives Cool Reception in Oregon

By The Associated Press

Oregon and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy have definitely not hit it off well on first encounter.

The city of Portland all but yawned in his face yesterday as the New York senator launched his campaign for the state's May 28 Democratic presidential primary.

★ ★ ★

The Kennedy charm that knocked 'em dead in dozens of cities in recent weeks just didn't come through this time because no one turned out to be charmed.

He was received politely but coolly in two appearances before factory workers and at the Portland Economic Club.

OTHER STOPS

There were other stops at schools, a nursing home, a department store — to purchase an Oregon-made wool sport shirt — but nowhere was there an explosion of crowd response such as has marked his tours in other states.

Indications were some of the senator's top campaign people working in other states will be yanked into Oregon to start making some changes.

★ ★ ★

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, who lost to Kennedy in the Indiana and Nebraska primaries, predicted during the Nebraska campaign that Kennedy might find their positions reversed in Oregon.

McCarthy has appeared briefly in Oregon in recent weeks but hasn't begun all-out campaigning there yet.

IN WASHINGTON

Yesterday, he was in Florida and tonight he will address a dinner of the Americans for Democratic Action in Washington.

McCarthy said yesterday he thought Kennedy's suggestion after the Nebraska primary that he join the Kennedy camp "really comes close to an edge of a kind of arrogance."

★ ★ ★

"No concessions, no compromises, no accomodations," he said.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, third contender for the Democratic presidential nomination, caused a flurry yesterday at the University of Maine when he said the United States and North Vietnam have agreed that in the Paris talks the North Vietnamese can have "whomever they want on their side and we will have whomever we want on out side."

The remark was made in response to a question on whether the United States would negotiate with the National Liberation Front, political arm of the Vietcong.

Big labor came out for Humphrey yesterday with the announcement of the formation of the National Labor Committee for Humphrey.

★ ★ ★

The group is headed by I. W. Abel, president of the United Steelworkers, and its membership includes some 90 other union presidents and about 60 heads of state and city labor councils. Not listed was President Walter Reuther of the United Auto Workers.

Hundreds of high school students began the campaign this morning and with the aid of the city fire department hosed down and cleaned Saginaw Street downtown.

The cleanup campaign — primarily for the downtown area — featured the cleaning of store fronts and store windows in the downtown area.

BAND COMPETITION

In the afternoon seven area bands provided music and competed for the designation of the best band. The winner will compete in a statewide competition to be held in Muskegon in a few weeks.

Plans also called for the youngsters to clean up some selected city parks. A contingent of youth has also planned to clean up the Bagley-Wesson area.

Corporate Profits Hit Another High

WASHINGTON (AP) — The all-time high hit by U.S. corporation profits in the final quarter of 1967 didn't remain a record long. The Commerce Department reports they climbed even higher the first quarter of this year.

Corporate profits before taxes in the January-March period reached an annual rate of $88.8 billion, up $3.7 billion from the record figure of October-December 1967, the department said Friday.

★ ★ ★

It was the third consecutive quarter in which corporation profits had been on the rise — a development not likely to be overlooked by organized labor when it goes to the bargaining table.

4 U.S. Aircraft Lost in Vietnam Combat

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command announced today the loss of two fighter-bombers and two helicopters in combat.

In a delayed report, headquarters announced the loss of an Air Force F4 Phantom Thursday to enemy antiaircraft fire on a raid in the vicinity of Dong Hoi, a North Vietnamese city 45 miles above the demilitarized zone.

The two-man crew was reported missing. It was the 837th U.S. warplane announced lost in combat over North Vietnam in the more than three-year bombing campaign.

Enemy gunners shot down a U.S. Marine A4 Skyhawk bomber Friday which was supporting ground troops five miles northeast of Khe Sanh. This was the 262nd plane announced lost over South Vietnam. The pilot bailed out and was rescued uninjured.

★ ★ ★

One helicopter, a U.S. Army OH6 observation chopper, was hit by enemy ground fire while on a combat support mission 36 miles north-northwest of Saigon Friday. The aircraft exploded in the air and was destroyed, headquarters said. The two crewmen were killed.

The second helicopter, an Army UH1, was hit by ground fire also Friday while on a combat assault mission in the central highlands.

The aircraft crashed, burned and was destroyed. Headquarters said all four crewmen aboard were injured in the crash.

Kosygin Visiting Czech President

PRAGUE (AP) — Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin called on President Ludvik Svoboda of Czechoslovakia today and they spent a half hour discussing Soviet-Czechoslovak relations, the Czechoslovak news agency CTK reported.

Kosygin arrived in Prague unannounced yesterday in a climate of Soviet worry over the continuing liberalization in this East bloc nation. The official reason given for Kosygin's visit is that he had come for medical treatment and for talks with the new government leaders.

But in Moscow, Czechoslovak sources suggested his mission may be an attempt to reduce tensions between Prague and the Kremlin. Some top Soviet party members are said to want the Soviet Union to take a firmer line in dealing with the situation.

Kosygin was unnoticed by thousands of tourists sightseeing at Prague's historic Hradcany Castle, where Czech kings are buried and where the president has his office.

Czechoslovak officials have not said how long Kosygin is expected to stay or what his program will be.

SEEK STRONG ROLE

"We're determined that we in Michigan will play a strong role in the selection of a candidate," Levin told the delegates.

"We have three distinguished candidates and they must be allowed to discuss the issues openly," he added.

★ ★ ★

"The easiest thing to do is choose up sides," said Levin. "We decided on the harder route by avoiding slates."

By doing this and involving people "we have a great chance to win," he said. "A party will be great if it meets the issues. It will not be great if it meets the issues and fragments."

36 Leave City for D.C. March

A contingent of Pontiac area residents last night began a bus trek to Washington, D.C., to join in the nationwide Poor People's March on the capital.

A chartered bus containing 36 persons left from St. James Missionary Baptist Church, 345 Bagley, last night. They were expected to reach the nation's capital this morning.

NATIONAL WEATHER—Showers are forecast for tonight in the Tennessee Valley, with rain due to fall in most of New England. Showers are also expected in Florida. Milder weather is forecast for the central plateaus of the Rocky Mountains.

South Viet Premier Is Named

During last fall's campaign when he ran for the presidency, Huong repeatedly hinted that he might be willing to negotiate with the Vietcong's National Liberation Front if this could assure "genuine peace and freedom" for South Vietnam.

Wearing an open-necked sports shirt, Thieu said Huong has accepted his nomination as premier and hopes to submit the members of his new cabinet "as soon as possible."

★ ★ ★

There was no hint in Thieu's brief address of the backstage in-fighting of the past week between South Vietnam's politicians and generals. Nor did he mention Ky.

He called on the population to remain vigilant and not to listen to rumors that might be spread by the Communists.

FACE DIFFICULTY

Some diplomatic sources said Thieu and Huong may still run into difficulties when they try to put together the new cabinet.

The sources said they are seeking to replace Loc's government of technicians with a cabinet covering a broad spectrum of South Vietnam's political parties, which would enjoy a maximum of popular support.

★ ★ ★

Thieu said Loc resigned because "the situation required it." He confirmed he had asked Loc to remain in office as caretaker premier until the new cabinet takes over.

'I hope that in the next few days, as soon as possible, the new government will be presented to the people," Thieu said. "Also this afternoon, I informed the lower house and the senate of my decision."

Thieu said there had been widespread rumors that Huong has decided to remove the commander of South Vietnam's four military regions.

"This is wrong," he said, without elaborating. Three of the commanders are known to be closely associated with Ky.

Camel Cavalry Fades, Legend Lingers

SANTA FE, N.M. (UPI) — A ghost camel and its skeleton rider still thunder across the deserts of the Southwest.

It may be only legend, but it's not likely to stop as long as folks out here recall a unique experiment by the U.S. Army.

★ ★ ★

It all began in 1855 when the Army, charged with opening up vast areas of the West, decided to outfit a company of troopers with African camels.

★ ★ ★

Jefferson Davis, then Secretary of War, was the strong supporter of the camel corps idea. He estimated the animals could be imported at $200 each, and could carry loads from 300 to 1,500 pounds. He also said the camels could survive with little or no care in the West.

GROUP FOR IMPORT

Private capitalists from New York formed a corporation to import the camels and, by 1857, 71 of them were on military posts in Texas, complete with Turkish and Greek attendants, exotic saddles and — a U.S. Navy lieutenant in charge.

★ ★ ★

On June 25, 1857, the U.S. Army's first and only camel corps, smelly and noisy moved out of San Antonio, bound for California on expedition.

★ ★ ★

It started out badly.

Letters and diaries of the troopers said only the imported drivers could stay on at full gallop, and everyone got seasick after a few miles.

The camels couldn't keep up with the Army mules and horses. Cavalry horses went wild whenever a camel moved downwind.

WINE FOUND

In Albuquerque, N.M., the camel drivers discovered Mexican wine. The Navy lieutenant wrote in his report, "I was obliged to administer a copious supply of oil of boot to several (drivers), especially to my Turks and Greeks . . ."

But the lieutenant, Edward Beale, began to grow enthusiastic about his camels as the trip progressed. By the time the caravan clopped into the Zuni Indian village in western New Mexico, he was writing, "The camels live on anything and thrive."

★ ★ ★

Later he wrote, "Yesterday, they drank water for the first time in 26 hours. Mark the difference between them and mules. The same time in such weather without water would see the latter wild and rendered nearly useless if not entirely broken down."

TRIP TAKES YEAR

After Zuni, the camel corps went on to the Colorado River, finally to California and back again. The trip took a year, and Beale wrote:

"A year in the wilderness ended. I have tested the value of the camels, marked a new road to the Pacific and traveled 4,000 miles without an accident."

★ ★ ★

The journey and its test of camels appeared a success, but back in Washington Congress, minding the purse strings, was questioning a new request by Davis for a thousand more animals. Long arguments began, and finally the whole thing was shelved when the Civil War broke out.

What happened to the camel corps? For a while, the Army couldn't find a way to get rid of the animals. Kept on inventory, they still were being used in 1885 as transport animals by the Army of the West.

A decade later, the animals no longer existed on Army inventories. The few remaining camels had been turned loose in the desert to fend for themselves. Throughout another decade they occasionally were seen by Indians or ranchers. They were usually running by themselves or grazing listlessly around rivers in the West.

Marquette U. Acts on Hiring Negro Official

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Marquette University moved Friday night toward the hiring of a Negro administrator, a step aimed at ending a campus protest that threatened the university with the loss of faculty members and basketball stars.

Negro student leaders who demanded the action were not immediately available for comment. The decision to end the demonstrations that have occupied the Roman Catholic institution for two weeks was in their hands.

* * *

Also unavailable for comment was the Rev. Bernard J. Cooke. The theologian and two other priests offered to resign from the faculty if the administration failed to take positive action in the controversy by tonight.

The Rev. John P. Raynor, president, appointed a nine-member committee Friday night to work toward Negro scholarships and courses in Negro and other minority cultures.

SEEK OUT

"On the basis of the best advice I have been able to gather, the committee should seek out a qualified black administrator" to coordinate the scholarship program, Father Raynor said in a statement.

The university would maintain veto power over any committee action, the statement indicated.

* * *

The protestors, white and Negro, insisted on a commitment to hire a Negro administrator at Marquette, the largest Roman Catholic coeducational school in the nation.

* * *

They had given the university until Thursday afternoon to meet the demand but said the administration could wait until August 1969 to fill the position.

REJECTED ULTIMATUM

Father Raynor, saying that Marquette would not be coerced by student pressure, rejected the ultimatum. He said Thursday he would name a committee to study and implement scholarship programs and courses in minority cultures. He also criticized those who support "irresponsible militancy."

The protestors reacted by announcing the intended withdrawal of six basketball players and 14 other Negro students including George Thompson, a junior from New York City who won honorable mention on last season's All-America team.

* * *

Less than one per cent of Marquette's 6,200 undergraduates are Negroes.

Thursday night Father Cooke, the Rev. Thomas Caldwell and the Rev. William J. Sullivan offered to resign. They later said their offer was an indication of "our trust in the desire and good will of the administration to solve these problems."

Early Friday, the basketball players released a statement saying they had agreed to remain in the university after all. The change of mind came after they met with Coach McGuire. But a few hours later, their status again became uncertain.

New Sit-In Broken Up at Columbia

NEW YORK (AP) — Police moved into an apartment building owned by Columbia University early today to break up a sit-in protesting the school's alleged mistreatment of the Morningside Heights community.

The confrontation marked the second in 18 days that Columbia has called on police to rout militant protesters from its property. The six-story tenement had been taken over by area residents and a handful of students Friday evening.

* * *

About 70 students who had been sitting in front of the building on West 114th Street got up and walked willingly into police vans when they arrived at 4:17 a.m. Then police began removing the persons inside.

In the predawn raid of April 30 police moved onto the Columbia campus to rout students from five buildings and there were 700 arrests and 200 injured.

* * *

The militants Friday night had barricaded themselves inside the building and demanded that the university abandon its multimillion - dollar expansion program on Manhattan's upper West Side.

Plunging Sign in Near Miss

KENOSHA, Wis. (AP) — Deanna Kober and Joanne Reau, both 16, were standing in front of a downtown store Friday when a 200-pound chunk of its overhead sign fell.

* * *

It plunged into the store's canvas awning over the girls' heads.

The awning tore slightly, and its frame bent, but it held.

Sniper Fire Misses LBJ's Son-in-Law

DA NANG, Vietnam (AP) — Marine Capt. Charles Robb, President Johnson's son-in-law, came under sniper fire Friday while leading his company through rice paddies south of Da Nang and fired back with his pistol. He was not hurt.

During a company-sized operation, the 28-year-old Robb and his radio operator were crossing a rice paddy when the snipers opened fire. Both Robb and the radioman took cover behind a dike.

★ ★ ★

The radioman pressed his face against the ground, but Robb kept his head above the dike, continuing to direct the movement of his company. Later he fired several shots from his pistol into thick brush where the snipers may have been hiding.

Robb's company has been engaged in road and bridge protection patrols and ambushes in an area 15 miles southwest of Da Nang. He has been in South Vietnam six weeks.

'Some Negroes May Get Stronger X-Ray Doses'

WASHINGTON (AP) — A government official says consumer critic Ralph Nader may be right in contending some technicians give stronger X-ray doses to Negroes in the belief, unsupported by evidence, that they have denser bones and harder flesh than whites.

★ ★ ★

"We have no conclusive scientific evidence to justify such practice," said Dr. Raymond Moore, deputy director of the National Center for Radiological Health in the U.S. Public Health Service.

★ ★ ★

Nader had told a Senate committee earlier this week that many X-ray technicians as a matter of course give Negroes 25 to 50 per cent more radiation exposure than they give whites. He, too, said there is no scientific basis for an assumption that there are physical differences requiring the extra dose.

★ ★ ★

Moore said that although some anthropologists have maintained Negroes have denser bones than whites, such findings are inconclusive. He added a forthcoming PHS study may provide new evidence.

★ ★ ★

Following Nader's Senate testimony, the American College of Radiology denied it "or any other national medical or scientific society has ever advised physicians to alter the energy settings of X-ray machines because of the race of the patient.

But a PHS spokesman said: "They haven't looked." He said "the evidence is clear" Nader was right.

Michigan Week in State's Spotlight

Tomorrow touches off the 15th Annual Michigan Week with its 1968 theme: "Michigan — Land of Hospitality."

There can be little disagreement with the aptness of the current slogan — its year-round appeal for pleasure seekers, nor the unsurpassed business and industrial climate that complements it.

MICHIGAN WEEK
MAY 19-25

The Week as usual is headed by outstanding Michiganders, with Win Shuler of Marshall as general chairman and Robert A. Bogan Jr. of Birmingham, Oakland County chairman. Area activities chairman are Clyle R. Haskill and Richard J. Thomas Jr. for Pontiac and Birmingham respectively.

The week-long schedule of Michigan Week events will follow the pattern set in the past. Each of the eight days covered will be keyed to a significant aspect of American life: Community Pride Day; Spiritual Foundation Day; Our Government Day; Our Heritage Day; Our Livelihood Day; Education Day; Hospitality Day; Our Youth Day.

★ ★ ★

Area schools and governmental agencies have programmed activities to highlight the various Days. Our Government Day, Monday, will feature the exchange of mayors from one municipality to another. Pontiac Mayor WILLIAM H. TAYLOR JR. will trade offices with his Ypsilanti Counterpart, JOHN H. BURTON. DAVID F. RECK, Mayor of Birmingham will make the same switch with Mayor pro tem ROBERT J. HUTTON of Grosse Pointe Park.

The Press warmly commends the public-spirited citizens who have filled leadership and volunteer-worker roles in making Michigan Week the outstanding commemoration it has become.

Motorists Warned Against Highway Rackets

Highway robbery has been around since the first track was cut through the first forest, but it's flourishing in a new form these days, says the American Automobile Association.

Files of Triple-A clubs bulge with case histories of victimized motorists. Most involve women, traveling alone or in pairs, far from home, on toll roads or Interstate freeways where limited access makes them "captives" of the road and easy prey for a few unscrupulous garage or service station personnel at or near interchanges.

A favorite tactic is to panic drivers into buying unneeded tires, batteries, parts and accessories. Trickery and fraud are used, if necessary — slashing a tire, for instance, or disconnecting a wire to the starter and allegedly replacing it with a rebuilt one, which the car owner later finds out was the same starter he had before.

In one case reported by Cleveland AAA, a Chicago woman traveling alone through Ohio in a borrowed car stopped at a service station for gas. The attendant examined the battery and told her she would never make it back to Chicago. The terrified woman paid $35 for a new battery.

When she returned home, she learned that the battery had been replaced less than a year before and that the new battery was not even proper for the type of car.

The AAA recommends several safeguards to prevent freeway fleecing:

- Patronize stations selling well-known brands of gasoline, near large cities if possible.
- If you buy a replacement item, insist that the supposedly defective part be put in the trunk for later rechecking.
- Travel with a list of AAA-approved stations, which guard their reputations carefully.

And a prime preventive against being taken for a ride while touring is to have your car looked over at your regular station before leaving home.

Moods Not as Gay as May Days

By EVERETT DIRKSEN

DIRKSEN

Right now in this beautiful month of May we ought to be gay, the national mood ought to be in tune with the weather; like it used to be. But I don't know of many thinking, mature people whose mood these days is in tune with the weather. The weather is delightful, the mood of the people is somber, when it is not impatient.

The reasons are many.

Congressmen see the mood — they feel it — in the mail, telegrams and telephone calls. The letters and telegrams are longer than they used to be. Telephone callers have more words to describe their discontent. Visitors never have enough time to say all they came to say.

★ ★ ★

The people are very restless and very worried. Perhaps they see but don't notice that the dogwood is making a farewell salute to spring and that the tulips are standing so princely and erect and that the peonies are about to burst into bloom.

The people are beset on all sides with problems and many of them sigh and are about to resign themselves in the months ahead to hearing wild promises and conflicting answers to questions concerning the problems of government and war, racism and poverty.

★ ★ ★

The advance guard of the Poor People's March came into Washington last week, followed by thousands of the main bodies of marchers who seek to impress the government and the Country with the plight of the poor. There is nothing gay in a march of poor people.

There is the enormity of the great damage done to the spirit and to property in so many cities of the Country where there were the terrible riots.

The damage is now being assessed and the problems it raises in relation to insurance rates, loans for repair and renewal and the question of venturing once more into business in the riot areas, add to the general feeling of non-gaiety.

★ ★ ★

And most recently we have had to contend with the sheer arrogance of student groups that seized control of facilities at colleges and universities. The reasons given by the students — and some of them were not students at all — were slight and fanciful. Students traditionally are gay in May. Not this May.

The farmers who are contending with rising costs, high taxes and higher interest rates in the face of depressed prices, aren't shaken with any paeans of joy either.

Worst of all are the bloodletting and the monumental expenditures in maintaining the war in Vietnam, 12,000 miles from home. No wonder there is no gaiety in May. The war has cast a pall over the hopes of the people.

And what about law enforcement? Our anxiety increases as we stand appalled at the statistics that tell us crime is even more on the rise, particularly crime committed by the younger people.

The mail, the telegrams, the visitors to our offices in Congress all proclaim the mood of the country. The people have never been so insistent on commenting on all of the problems that manifest their unhappiness — and that is what can give us some hope.

★ ★ ★

While the people sound off and voice their non-gaiety, their anxiety and, yes, their feeling of great dissatisfaction with the way things are, something is bound to move.

The mood of the people is reaching a point where it is going to force some important changes.

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

The Rev. Dr. Jeanie Sherman, diminutive but dynamic Baptist woman preacher of a small rural church in Timberlake, S.D., has been selected from among 4,500 preachers to deliver the American Baptist Convention sermon in Boston June 2. Dr. Sherman will be returning "home," for she was raised in Cambridge, Mass.

Against her parents' wishes she entered the ministry, having decided to do so at the age of 16 while attending a Baptist summer camp. Although raised in a big city, her interest has always been in the rural church and she has spent the past 22 years in Timberlake, with a population of 500 and the closest city 140 miles away.

She has made the First Baptist Church there the center of community life, for she believes that being a Christian involves the total person in all aspects of living. Her activities have included work in the fields of integration, juvenile welfare, libraries and new industries in an area larger than the state of Rhode Island. In addition, with the help of a long-time friend, Miss June Schaffner, she has found time to raise eight adopted children.

Confident Living:

Change Your Unhappy Situation

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

Ever find yourself in an unhappy situation? Well, there is always one way you can get it changed. For example take the experience of this woman. Her home had become full of tension, hostility and turmoil. All happiness had gone out the window.

DR. PEALE

The deteriorating atmosphere made her nervous and irritable, and she followed her husband and children around nagging and finding fault. She burst into fits of temper hurling things around.

★ ★ ★

At her mother's home one day she noticed a spiritual treatment book. "Take it with you and read it," her mother suggested. "It will help you."

"Okay," she sighed — and took it home, dumped it and forgot about it.

Then came a shock that made her realize how bad things had become. Her husband said one day, "Why don't you leave me and the children long enough to find yourself and then come back to us?"

★ ★ ★

Now perhaps he also needed to find himself — who knows? These situations are seldom a one-way street. But she assumed he was right and it made her very unhappy. She ran to the bedroom, flung herself across the bed and cried bitterly. How awful! Her own husband wanting her to go away and get herself changed!

"I reached for a box of cleansing tissue on the night stand to dry my eyes," she writes, "and under it I saw that book given to me by Mother. I thought: How can this help? What does Mother mean, 'It will help you?' I was miserable that I ached all over — head, nerves, muscles. I was on the verge of losing my home I actually thought: Nothing but death will help me."

★ ★ ★

But she opened the book and began to read, and the more she read the more she became aware of the destructiveness of certain traits in her personality. "I had always been full of fear and jealousy," she says, "always sad because I never had any confidence that I could keep anyone's affection or friendship.

"I had been a good worker all my life, but that wasn't enough to build happiness on. What is life without love and friends? And I saw I had a way of always hurting those who did love me, due to feeling sorry for myself."

★ ★ ★

As she read more she also got the idea that she could overcome her personality problems and change if she really worked a program of rehabilitation. "So I started improving my thoughts and practicing self-discipline. And I really kept at it too.

"One day I was surprised to find myself and my home happier than ever before. We had all begun giving. The children quit fighting among themselves and now played happily together. My husband began to play with the kids.

★ ★ ★

"My changing myself seemed to change every member of my family. And we all feel better. We laugh now, go places and look to the future. I see now it was my negative thoughts, little devils floating in my blood stream, that had killed our happiness and kept us from counting our blessings and giving thanks. Believe you me, I now give thanks."

One way to change unhappy situations is to change our thinking, attitudes, behavior. And sometimes it is the only way. Change your thinking and you become a changed person. And changed people change situations.

★ ★ ★

Suppose you are faced with a situation you do not like one bit. You want very much to see it changed. Perhaps the trouble is mainly the fault of other people involved. But while you may not be able to get others to change, you can always do a job on yourself.

A constructive change in you will often lead to change in others. At least it will change how the situation affects you. You will reduce the burden of it by making yourself a stronger person.

★ ★ ★

So in any unhappy situation it makes good sense to ask yourself: Is there something in my thinking that I ought to change — something in my attitudes and actions?

Since you are at the center of your own unhappy situation, a changed you is just bound to go a long way toward changing the situation itself.

Voice of the People:

'Commend Suburbanites for Assisting Marchers'

A recent letter brought out an interesting aspect of the Poor People's March — that poor white people were marching in unison with the colored poor.

★ ★ ★

Another interesting fact that unfortunately was given little or no attention in the news media is that over 300 families in the Birmingham-Bloomfield area opened their homes to these marchers, white and black. The marchers were picked up, housed, fed breakfast and returned to their buses. All arrangements were made by the volunteers.

★ ★ ★

Much is written about the affluent, apathetic suburbanite, but they certainly proved that love is not just a property of the poor. I commend these efforts.

'U.S. Citizens Should Be Given True Facts'

The government and all news media would do well to give the people truth in facts and figures. It's for sure none would dare call it treason. The poor shall be with you always. War cannot whitewash facts. God has given one face, why make of yourselves another? The cost of war since 1939 is staggering, yet peace shall exceed the figures.

WILLIAM REID

'Should Be Informed of School Problems'

I've read with interest the letters about the school problems in Lake Orion. None of the letters were very factual about the problems. I have heard that the parents have organized and are trying to do something about the problems.

★ ★ ★

As a newspaper (and a very good newspaper) you owe it to the public to report on this problem—both sides. Anything pertaining to our public schools and the youth of this nation should be of interest to everyone whether or not they are personally involved.

A. R. SHAFFER

(Editor's Note: We would like to report on both sides of the question but our reporter was barred from last Wednesday night's joint school board meeting.)

Answers Question Raised in Previous Letter

A recent letter questioned why Negro history should be taught in school and prayer stopped. The answer is simple. It would be hypocrisy to have prayer in school each morning and then teach a lie. The truth is, your racist society is determined to keep all children from finding out that without the so-called Negro, there would be no U.S.A.

SAMUELLA HATCHETT

'Too Much Attention Given Student Antics'

I agree with your editorial on college demonstrations, but I think that you and other news media must take partial blame for their continuance. My daughter at M.S.U. didn't know what I was talking about when I mentioned an incident on campus that I had read about. In a university of 40,000 students, the antics of 500 or less make very little splash until they make the newspapers and television.

★ ★ ★

Somehow when these hotheaded young rebels become aroused, one always manages to keep his cool long enough to get to a phone and call television studios and newspapers to alert them. As in the case of a small child throwing a tantrum, the best way to treat it is to leave the room and let him kick and scream. Without attention, he'll soon stop.

Comments on Art Show at Grade School

At a recent art show at Blanche Simms School in Lake Orion, the leader sat up in front of everyone, smoking one cigarette after another. Then we wonder why boys and girls do the same. One fourth grade pupil had drawn a cross on her poster and it didn't get put up on the show. The leader held it up, saying, "I don't understand this one." We need more leaders in our schools who understand the cross and what it stands for.

Has Questions on March by 'Poor' People

I'd like to know how all these "poor" people can afford to take part in these poor marches. How can the ones that are working afford to take time off? Neither my "poor" husband nor I could afford such a luxury. If they are so "poor," how come the leader, Abraham Rice, looks so well fed?

MARGARET LIVERMORE

Question and Answer

What top five recording artists, single or group, have sold the most records?

MRS. BILL WARREN
AUBURN HEIGHTS

REPLY

The Beatles have now taken over first place, pushing former champ, Bing Crosby, into the number two spot. Elvis Presley is third, Eddy Arnold fourth. Because of the difficulty in counting albums against singles, it's hard to say who's in fifth place, but it's either Fats Domino or Frank Sinatra.

★ ★ ★

If you were in the top half of your college class the preceding year and if you have demonstrated the need for added funds, you may be awarded an additional $200 a year.

★ ★ ★

Any student in extreme financial need who has been accepted for admission at a participating college, or who is already enrolled full time and in good standing, is eligible to apply for an Educational Opportunity Grant.

★ ★ ★

The young man or woman must be financially unable to remain in school without the grant. He must show evidence of academic or creative promise.

STUDENT EARNINGS

The grant may be no more than half the financial aid supplied by the college from its own resources. The balance could include a National Defense Student Loan or a college scholarship or employment. It cannot include student earnings under the College Work-Study program.

★ ★ ★

For more information, see or write the financial aid officer at the college of your choice. Applicant for a grant should be sent to the college, not the Office of Education.

★ ★ ★

They are chosen for this program by teachers, school principals and counselors, welfare and juvenile authorities. More information is available from Upward Bound, Office of Economic Opportunity, Washington, D.C. 20506.

Late Jane Addams to Enter Select Group

NEW YORK (AP) — One place in the United States where men still outnumber the ladies is at the Hall of Fame for Famous Americans at New York University.

When Jane Addams' portrait bust is unveiled at ceremonies May 19, she will become only the ninth woman among 93 celebrated Americans who have been elected to membership since the Hall of Fame was established in 1900.

★ ★ ★

Jane Addams was a woman far ahead of her time in her concern for world peace and social justice. In 1889 she founded Hull House, a settlement house in Chicago which gained nationwide fame for its advanced programs in educational and cultural betterment for the immigrant and native-born poor.

"Private beneficence is totally inadequate to deal with the vast numbers of the city's disinherited," she wrote in "Twenty Years at Hull House."

WINS NOBLE PRIZE

She won the Nobel Peace Prize for her work with the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, which she helped found.

★ ★ ★

The league originated when women from 12 countries met in The Hague in 1915 to propose continuous mediation toward ending World War I, and the establishment of a society of nations, along with universal disarmament. In the years between the two world wars the league worked to strengthen the League of Nations and it now has nongovernmental consultative status with the United Nations. The league, whose current international chairman is Dr. Dorothy Hewitt Hutchinson of Philadelphia, has 25,000 members in almost every nation of the world and an international headquarters in Geneva.

★ ★ ★

When Jane Addams helped found the league during the darkest days of World War I she immediately became the target for widespread criticism. The criticism was only partially abated when Herbert Hoover asked her to work with him in the postwar refugee relief program.

★ ★ ★

She once said: "The good we secure for ourselves is precarious and uncertain . . . until it is secured for all of us and incorporated into our common life." Her work was crowned by the Nobel Peace Prize in 1931, which she shared with Nicholas Murray Butler, then president of Columbia University.

DIED IN 1935

Miss Addams was born Sept. 6, 1860, in Cedarville, Ill. She died in 1935. A person may not be nominated for membership in the Hall of Fame until 25 years after death.

Miss Addams was one of four elected to the Hall at the last meeting of the college of electors, representing all 50 states, in 1965. The others were Sylvanus Thayer, the "Father of West Point"; Orville Wright, inventor of the powered airplane, and Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes.

★ ★ ★

The last woman to be installed was Susan B. Anthony, a leader in the fight for women's suffrage, in 1952.

...and the ad was only this big!

The lovely lady just used a Pontiac Press Want Ad for the first time. Like thousands of other first time Want Ad Advertisers, she was pleasantly surprised to learn that such a small ad could produce such fast, satisfactory response.

The only things small about a Pontiac Press Want Ad is its size and price. The work it can do is mighty big! And you can use Want Ads so many ways! 125 different ways, in fact. Whether you have an article to sell, or wish to buy a hard-to-locate item, or hire an employee, locate living quarters, rent a vacant room, apartment or house, or recover a lost valuable, Want Ads are on the job to help. And the cost is negligible per day.

$5-Million Loan for Magazine

NEW YORK (AP) — Time, Inc. has agreed to advance $5 million to the Curtis Publishing Co. in a plan to reduce Curtis' large financial losses in recent years.

★ ★ ★

Directors of Time and Curtis announced Friday they had approved a plan designed to "strengthen the publishing, printing and circulation activities of Curtis and to permit the continued publication of the Saturday Evening Post on a healthy financial basis."

★ ★ ★

Martin S. Ackerman Jr., Curtis president, said the program calls for cutting the Post's circulation to less than half its current 6.8 million, with Post subscribers allowed to receive Life magazine instead for the remainder of their subscription. Post subscribers refusing Life as a substitute will be offered other magazines or a cash refund.

★ ★ ★

James A. Linen, president of Time, said: "We have agreed to provide Curtis with additional revenue through the purchase of printing, the use of Curtis' newsstand distribution facilities, and the expansion of Life subscription activities through Curtis circulation subsidiaries."

DEBORAH ROCHON

Teen of Week Is Noted for Cheerfulness

Pontiac's Teen of the Week, Deborah Rochon of Pontiac Catholic High School, is described as active and cheerful.

The 17-year-old senior never fails to brighten up the scene, always encouraging everyone to smile, school officials say.

A Pontiac Press correspondent for Pontiac Catholic, she is a member of the school's yearbook staff, National Honor Society with a "B" average and senior government seminar.

In the past, Deborah has been a cheerleader and has won three Salute to Youth awards

TO ATTEND WMU

She plans to attend Western Michigan University and major in sociology with the feeling that "education aids youth in becoming more productive citizens and prepares them for a more useful tomorrow."

★ ★ ★

Dedication Set

LANSING (AP) — The Port Huron travel information center will be formally dedicated May 24 during the Hospitality Day observance of Michigan Week. The center was opened last August but dedication was delayed to coincide with the Michigan Week theme for this year — "Michigan, Land of Hospitality."

Affects Waterford Officers

Board to Eye Judge's Decision

The Waterford Township Board Monday night will consider Oakland County Circuit Judge William J. Beer's decision which declared unconstitutional a 1967 state law that extended the terms of incumbent township officers by 1½ years.

The board could appeal the case, according to township attorneys.

★ ★ ★

Three Waterford Township residents eying the top elective offices in the township had challenged the legality of the state law prior to Judge Beer's decision.

The complainants in the suit are James F. Schell, Patrick K. Daly and Dorothy W. Olson, Democratic hopefuls for the offices of supervisor, clerk and treasurer, respectively.

The statute, signed into law by Gov. Romney last July, was intended to eliminate the lame duck period affecting township officials who are elected in November, but do not assume office until the following April.

In other business Monday, the board will consider a request to rezone property on M59 at Forest from local business (C1) to general business (C2) for a travel trailer sales business.

The board also is scheduled to approve candidates for the Waterford Township Youth Assistance Committee.

★ ★ ★

Requests for a liquor license transfer and a lot split also are on the agenda.

No End Near in Building Strike

DETROIT (AP) — The strike by building tradesmen entered its 18th day today with no general settlement yet in sight.

Negotiations in Detroit with the Carpenter's Union were aimed at reaching a pattern settlement as they resumed Friday with state and federal mediators attending.

The strike, which began May 1, has tied up in Michigan construction projects variously estimated as worth $86 million to $200 million.

★ ★ ★

The unions—carpenters, sheet metal workers, bricklayers and others — are seeking contract wage and fringe benefit gains estimated at from about 30 per cent to better than 60 per cent.

The cost of new houses is expected to increase about 10 per cent if the unions win substantial portions of the items they are demanding, according to spokesmen for builders groups.

The East Side Builders Association contends that the cost of a $25,000 home would go up almost $5,000 if the union demands were met.

Forever Is a Long Time, and Things Could Change Your Present Thinking

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My problem is one I'm sure you haven't had before, although I'm sure lots of other people feel the way we do about it, but they're too ashamed to admit it.

ABBY

I am 25, and engaged to a man who is 30. We love each other very much and plan to marry soon. So what's the problem.

We both detest children and have decided that we do not want any. Ever. We realize that no method of contraception is 100 per cent sure, but we don't want to take any chances. We do know that certain types of surgery can be performed on both the male and female to insure permanent sterilization, but we don't know whether a doctor would perform such surgery on unmarried people. We don't want to get married until this is done. Please don't say, "After you're married, you'll change your minds." I assure you we won't. Our question: Will a doctor do this for us?

HATES CHILDREN

DEAR HATES: Whether a doctor will sterilize you (and/or) your fiance, you must find out for yourselves. But let me warn you—"forever" is a long time, and to voluntarily throw away the privilege of bearing children is a decision you may live to regret.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: When my husband drove me to work this morning I noticed that his right ear was perfectly clean. When he picked me up after work, I noticed there was lipstick on his right ear. What should I do about this?

ELSINORE

DEAR ELSINORE: Tell your husband either to have his friend kiss him on his left ear, or to start driving a British car so you will be seated on his left! (If this doesn't work, kick him out either door.)

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I have a two-year-old son who was born with only a thumb on his left hand. No fingers.

We were recently at a gathering, and a very loud little neighbor boy (I'll call him Billy) kept insisting that my baby show everybody "that hand"—as he calls it. Billy's constant insistence annoyed me, especially since his mother was sitting right there, taking it all in, and smiling.

These people see my son every day, and I have explained that he was born that way, so the sight of his little hand without fingers should no longer be a novelty.

I suppose I should get used to the idea that my son will be stared at a lot, but it hurts me to see his defect pointed out as if he were some kind of freak.

What should I do if this happens again?

N.Y. MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Don't wait for it to happen again. Tell Billy's mother, privately, to teach her son that it is rude and unkind to call attention to the handicap of another.

Your son need not go through life "stared at." If you are not familiar with the most modern techniques of adding artificial fingers and making them "work," you owe it to your son to investigate. If your family doctor can't direct you to such help (offered by rehabilitation experts) write to me. I can.

★ ★ ★

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, care of The Pontiac Press, Dept. E-600, P.O. Box 9, Pontiac, Mich. 48056.

Should Allow Boyfriend to Light Cigarette

By ELIZABETH L. POST

Dear Mrs. Post: When in public, is it improper for a woman to light a man's cigarette? I do not smoke but my boy friend does. He enjoys the extra attention of my lighting his cigarettes. My friends tell me I shouldn't as it doesn't look right.

My boy friend feels it's okay and I feel there is nothing wrong with it. Please help me settle this dispute. — Laurie

★ ★ ★

Dear Laurie: Lighting a cigarette for a woman has long been considered one of the little niceties a man should do. There is nothing wrong with your lighting your boy friend's cigarette, but it doesn't look right because you are taking one of the male's prerogatives.

Even though he can't light a cigarette for you, at least let him seem masculine enough to light his own!

OFFICIAL FUNCTION

Dear Mrs. Post: If you are invited to a coffee and to make a tour of a high official's residence (such as the governor) at two-thirty in the afternoon, would it be proper to wear a hat? — Mrs. Andrews

★ ★ ★

Dear Mrs. Andrews: Yes, it would be perfectly proper to wear a hat. It would not be obligatory, but official functions are among the few instances when a hat is in particularly good taste.

PHYSICIANS

Dear Mrs. Post: Would you please advise me of the proper way to address a wedding invitation to my uncle and his wife who are both physicians? Would any of the following forms be proper and correct:

Dr. and Mrs. John Jones
Mr. and Mrs. John Jones, M.D.
Dr's. John and Mary Jones

— Diane

★ ★ ★

Dear Diane: When a wife is a physician, she drops her professional title for social correspondence. The correct form of address is "Dr. and Mrs."

1958 Is Memorable Year for Detroit Opera Group

By SIGNE KARLSTROM
(Concluding Article)

For years, Michiganders had been waiting for the Metropolitan Opera to come to Detroit, but their contract with Cleveland was such that not until 1958 did a change come about.

At that time Frank W. Donovan was president of Detroit Grand Opera Association and Mrs. Anne McDonnell Ford accepted the chairmanship of the Women's Committee.

People screamed for tickets! The women's committee grew in size. No longer did they have to labor as before, but they made a handsome contribution to the cause of opera.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Ford remained as chairman for three years. Following her Mrs. George Romney became chairman with Mrs. John F. Gordon as cochairman. And since then, Mrs. Theodore O. Yntema, Mrs. Max M. Fisher Mrs. Lynn Townsend, Mrs. William M. Walker have served as chairman or cochairman. Mrs. Ralph T. McElvenny of Grosse Pointe is 1968 chairman.

★ ★ ★

During Mrs. Yntema's regime, the first party at the Detroit Institute of Arts came into being, following the opening night's performance. This year, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest A. Jones are in charge of the 'supper-dance'. Mesdames Henry Whiting Jr. and Kenneth W. Cunningham Jr. serve as cochairmen of the Women's Committee for this event.

Dr. David DiChiera of Oakland University is producer and music director of the Overture to Opera which now gives an opportunity for local opera students to be heard.

Wilbur H. Mack is president of Detroit Grand Opera Association and Frank W. Donovan is chairman of the Board. Everyone who has worked on opera remembers the late Mrs. Donovan with affection. Henry E. Wenger remains as vice chairman of the board, a position he has had for many years.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Philip C. Baker who was one of the very early opera workers and a former chairman of the board, is now a member of the board of directors, along with Reuben Ryding who continues to serve as vice-president of the board.

Henry C. Ledyard is the general manager and vice president of the Detroit Grand Opera Association. He says that there are some tickets available for some of next week's operas and suggests that anyone interested should contact the box office at the Ford auditorium or Grinnell's.

Leggy Miss USA Contestants Size Up Their Dating Problems

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — If Miss Alaska's theory that "short men don't like big broads" is true, almost half of the Miss USA contestants are in tall trouble.

This year's crop is truly a bumper crop, with 18 of 51 stretching to 5-foot-8 or above. But most of the leggy lovelies say they would still like to grow another inch or two.

FLORIDA

Miss Florida, a six-footer who says she still might be growing is the tallest, followed closely by 5-foot-11½ Miss Nebraska, who says that's tall enough and vows she will never get measured again.

"If I get any taller, I don't want to know know about it," said Linda Dresher of Omaha. "The boys might say they like the tall girls, but they sure don't show it. All the tall boys date the short girls."

★ ★ ★

Sharon Long of Anchorage, a hazel-eyed brunette who is 5-foot-10, says she wouldn't mind another inch or two, but admits her height presents a problem or two with the men.

"If they're short, they don't like to be dwarfed,' said the 19-year-old student who hunts grizzly, caribou and moose in her spare time.

NO PROBLEM

Miss Washington, one of the winners in Wednesday night's swimsuit competition, says she never has any problem with short men trying to date her.

"I scare them," said 5-foot-9 Dorothy "Didi" Ansett of Kirkland.

"But on second thought," she added, "this is a pretty good height. The boys still feel secure."

Floriea's entry, Leslie Candance Bauer of New Port Richey, says she sees nothing but advantages to her height.

The gals, five of whom weigh in at 135 or more and five of whom will tip-toe down the runway in size 10 shoes, have caused the bathing suit representative to grope for more king-sized swimsuits.

In contrast with the tall contestants is Miss South Carolina, the shortest girl in the pageant at 5-foot-2.

"At home, I was never thought of as being short," said Kathryn Knoy of Bamberg. 'But here I have to scratch to see around and through the other girls."

Student Recital Slated by Pontiac Music Guild

The Pontiac Music Guild will present a student recital at First Congregational Church Sunday at 3 p.m.

Pupils of the following teachers will perform: Mrs. Carl Clifford, Mrs. Don Derragon, Mrs. Hazel Gessinger, Mrs. Walter Greig, Amy Hogle, Mrs. Richard Kern, Mrs. Claud Kimler, Mrs. George Luenberger, Mrs. Lester Snell, Elda Sutter and Charles Wilson.

The event is open to the public.

MRS. WILLIAM C. FINK

Miss Jurgenson Speaks Vows

Martha Mary Chapel in Greenfield Village, Dearborn was the setting today for vows spoken by Gerda Kristina Jurgenson and William Charles Fink.

The daughter of the J.T.S. Jurgensons of West Square Lake Road and son of the Charles Finks of Midland were feted at the Dearborn Inn following the nuptials.

★ ★ ★

The bride's A-line sheath was fashioned from peau de soie and accentuated with a front panel and sleeves of reembroidered Alencon lace.

A matching peau de soie bow and chapel length veil of illusion complemented her attire and she carried a colonial bouquet of white Sweetheart roses and daisies.

★ ★ ★

Jane McGrath, the bride's cousin, assisted as maid of honor with bridesmaids Mrs. Jan King and Denise Patton. Best man honors were performed by Clark Vetterling with John Fink, brother of the bridegroom, and John McGrath as ushers.

The newlyweds will make their home in Kookomo, Ind.

MRS. BRUCE F. COLEMAN

Diane M. Base Wears Organza for Nuptials

Gowned in a white organza over taffeta skimmer, Diane Marie Base was escorted to the altar of St. James Church, Grand Rapids today where she became the bride of Bruce Frederick Coleman.

To complement her attire, fashioned with a jeweled neckline and elbow length sleeves of Alencon lace, the bride wore a cathedral train fastened at the shoulders with matching lace medallions. Her veil of illusion was secured with a half-cap of lace.

ATTENDANTS

Honor attendants for the daughter of the John P. Kadelas of Grand Rapids and son of the Frederick G. Colemans of West Iroquois Road were Mary June Kanton and Thomas Trimmer of South Bend, Ind.

Bridesmaids were Nancy Newhouse of Grosse Pointe, Wendy Bickes of Detroit and Mrs. William Post of Grand Rapids. The usher corps was comprised of Michael Hurwitz of Sandusky, Ohio, Thomas Eley of Troy and Ronald Alton.

Prior to their departure for a honeymoon trip to the East, the newlyweds were feted at the Elks Country Club. They will make their home in Troy.

Dr. Subakian to Be Guest Speaker at June Luncheon

Dr. Leonard Subakian, obstetrician and gynecologist, will be guest speaker at the June 4 meeting of the Oakland County Dental Hygienists' Society.

Installation of officers for 1968-'69 will also take place at the 7:30 p.m. dinner meeting in the Fox and Hounds Restaurant.

PRESIDENT

Mrs. John Miller will serve as president for the new season. She will be assisted by Mrs. James Warren, vice president; Mary Kay McGauley and Mrs. Craig Charters, secretaries and Mrs. Gary Lytle, treasurer.

Others elected are Ann Massucci, Mrs. James Dunn, Mrs. Donald Williams and Christine Leide.

Reservations for the dinner should be made through Mrs. Lytle.

Miss Amy New Arrival

Mr. and Mrs. Michael D. Newman of South Telegraph Road announce the recent birth of their daughter, Amy Colleen. Mrs. Newman is the former Maureen Copran.

Program Topic on World Scope

Reflections

ARE FUNERALS PAGAN?

Today, many publications and periodicals carry stories and articles that tend to claim that our funerals are pagan, stress the physical, lack religious meaning and that funeral reforms are at hand.

J. L. VOORHEES

M. E. SIPLE

To those who cry of pagan funerals we would point out two things. First, the funeral we know is held for the benefit of the survivors, not the deceased. Second, we would point to history. Where respect for the dead is lost, Christianity and God are soon forgotten.

If losing respect for the dead leads to forgetting God, or if forgetting God leads to losing respect for the dead I do not know but history shows and proves that they go hand in hand.

Yes, our funerals are part of our religious service for man is created in his maker's image.

Stormy Session in Detroit

Police Walk Out of Hearing

DETROIT (AP) — More than 100 Detroit policemen walked out of a stormy public hearing Friday while an NAACP official argued in favor of a proposed city ordinance to require Detroit policemen to live in the city.

Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh has proposed that officers not be required to live in Detroit so the city, with an authorized police force strength of 4,500, could attract potential officers to fill the several hundred vacancies on the force.

★ ★ ★

Robert Tindall, executive director of the Detroit NAACP chapter, has attacked Cavanagh's stand, saying many of Detroit's 600,000 Negroes are qualified for police jobs and would get them if discriminatory hiring practices were eliminated.

Carl Parsell, president of the Detroit Police Officers Association, spoke against the proposal.

'NO BETTER'

Tindall then spoke, and said, "The gentleman talks about the police officer who stands down and looks at a red light and tells the traffic to come on and that doesn't take much brains and I agree with him.

"The same white man who stands there and blows that whistle is no better than some Negro who can do the same thing," Tindall told the crowd. "And I resent anybody telling me that Negroes in this city are not as qualified to blow a whistle as any white man is qualified to blow the whistle.

"We get as many people brought into the personnel office as there are in relationship to the population, but they get filtered out," Tindall said. "They're no less qualified."

INTERRUPTED BY SHOUTING

Shouting from the crowd interrupted him and officers began to walk out. More shouting, most of it difficult to understand, ensued, and Tindall called out, "I don't need you to tell me what to do." Boos and shouts resounded.

"Now ladies and gentlemen. . .," the chairman said, her voice almost drowned out in the noise. "Well, there you are."

More policemen left.

"This is what I was afraid was going to happen," the chairman said.

★ ★ ★

Negroes make up more than 30 per cent of Detroit's 1.6 million population, but comprise less than 10 per cent of the city's police force.

Connecticut derives its name from Indian words meaning "place of the long river."

The William Jenzen Ranch Home Found In Bloomfield Township

Wishing Well Adds Whimsical Touch To The Jenzens' Back Yard

Sons Set the Tempo in Ranch Home

By JODY HEADLEE
Home Editor, The Pontiac Press

The good-natured laughter of four growing boys ranging in age from 4 months to 15 provides background sound at the William Jenzens' ranch home in Bloomfield Township.

Designed for comfort, the rambling ranch plan accents convenience and a smooth traffic pattern with the bedroom wing at one end and the general living area at the other.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Jenzen favors a modified colonial approach in decorating the home's interior.

Against a setting of off-white walls, antique gold draperies and beige twist carpeting, the living and dining areas reflect a cozy hominess.

Grouped near the living room's marble-faced fireplace are a wing-back chair in an Early American print, a shades-of-brown boucle sofa and a button-back occasional chair in an aqua, brown and blue fabric.

★ ★ ★

Centering the arrangement above the fireplace mantel are oval needlepoint pictures made by Mr. Jenzen's grandmother and miniature antique frames. Gold candles fill the candlesticks balancing the wall grouping.

★ ★ ★

A maple coffee table serves the room's wing-back sofa.

"The brass scales on the coffee table," said Mrs. Jenzen, "is one of the most versatile accent pieces we own. For Christmas, I use greens and ornaments on the pans to give the room a holiday touch. And for Easter, colored eggs do the trick."

CHINA COLLECTION

Directly behind the sofa is a doored built-in with shelves that displays Mrs. Jenzen's collection of china cups and saucers, milk glass, a handpainted china tea set and pieces of an antique Japanese tea set.

"Each piece," said Mrs. Jenzen, "has 1,000 faces painted on it."

★ ★ ★

Under an imported cuckoo clock in the dining area stands a double-doored cherry chest. An advocate of today's mix-and-match theory, Mrs. Jenzen selected maple finished in a spice tone to complete the room's furniture pieces.

House That Follows the Sun

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

For awhile, well-known architect Richard Foster thought he would have to use ship-to-shore telephones in his unique revolving round house being built in Wilton, Conn.

But that was only one of the engineering challenges — water, electricity, heat and waste disposal, too, presented dilemmas in a rotating house.

The glass and steel house, 72 feet in diameter, rests on a core of precast concrete that is 12 feet high. It will rotate from 9 inches to 5 feet a minute on the outer periphery with an infinite variety of speeds in between above a three-ton ball bearing assembly.

* * *

The bearing, 14 feet in diameter, is set in a raceway above the core. Power is supplied by a 1½ h.p. electric motor.

"Mounting it on the ball bearing proved to be about the easiest task so far," Foster explains. He was well bolstered in the event of difficulties as his cause had attracted many interested engineers at nearby electronics plants who had offered their services.

SHOWCASE

Architectural feats are not new for Foster. He was the architectural coordinator of the Seagram Building, a Park Avenue showcase of glass and steel, and in his 17 years as an architect — 14 with former partner, Philip Johnson — he has been involved in planning other unusual buildings.

"But this is the first time I've ever been involved in a rotating house. I don't even know of another," explained Foster at the site. He is playing the project more or less by ear, making drawings as he goes along.

He and one man, German contractor William Mewing of Larchmont, N.Y., have been doing the house together. They call in help when it is needed.

* * *

Foster works on weekends when he also makes decisions — telephone and electricity will go on trolleys that have swinging joints; water will be piped to the roof. Now they are building cement troughs in the round hoping it will be the answer to waste disposal.

* * *

"I didn't plan the house so that we could go riding. It was planned so that we could take advantage of the varied and beautiful views," he explains. "We didn't try to capture the sun. There didn't seem to be any point in it."

SITE ADVANTAGE

Foster believes that all houses should be planned to take advantage of the sites that they are to be on. He was so impressed with this four acre site that he couldn't quite make up his mind about the house that would suit it best. The round house is his fifth.

The Fosters can go to bed looking down a long vista toward the sunset, if they like, and wake up to see the sunrise overlooking ponds, evergreens, rock walls or statuary-dotted landscape. It will be a quiet house with no vibration.

Forty-five tons of rusting steel have gone into the house. Its truncated cone - shaped ceiling and entrance door through a core shaped like a tree trunk makes it look like a giant mushroom at this stage.

* * *

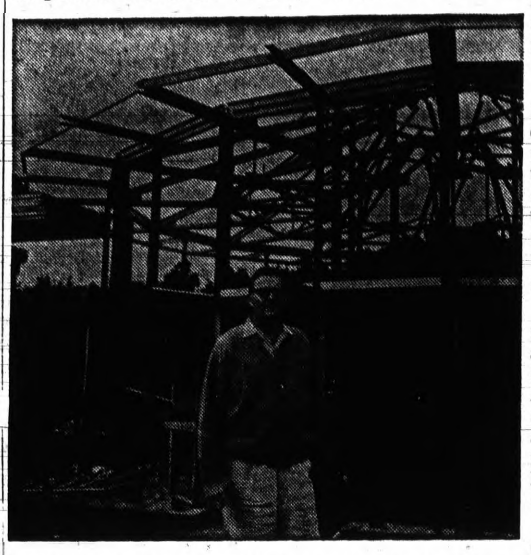
A circular stairway leads to nine rooms set in the 60-foot diameter living area.

Glass panels between steel columns are to be set in aluminum frames, every other one sliding. There is a veranda on the outer periphery.

* * *

The entrance core, roof area and sofits will be finished in silver-bleached cedar shingles. Foster likes the fluidity of form that shingles permit.

Foster lives with his wife and three sons, who are now away at schools, in a house not far from the new one.



ARCHITECT Richard Foster stands before the frame of a house he is building for himself in Wilton, Conn. Not only is it round, but it will revolve.

Alternate Steps When Painting

Stairways need not be "off limits" while paint or varnish is drying.

Paint only every other step and, once the odd steps have dried thoroughly, go ahead with the even ones. The risers, however, can all be painted at the same time.

Space Discovered by Bedroom Door

Do you have a space 13 or more inches deep behind the bedroom door? Don't waste it. That's the perfect place to build specialized storage.

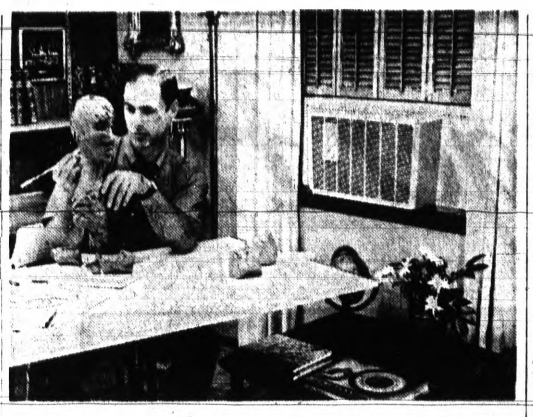
★ ★ ★

Depending on its width, the area can yield a shoe cupboard, space for an ironing board, and shelving for those bulky ski sweaters that won't into dresser drawers. Maybe there'll even be room for bed linens.

★ ★ ★

The unit can be built closet-style using stock louvered doors for the front and sugar pine boards for sides and shelving.

Finish can be wood stain to match bedroom furniture, paint, or antique glaze.



COLOR CONSCIOUS — There's a fresh new look in air conditioning with the "Fashionette 6000" air conditioners which provide color inside and out. These General Electric models have a rugged, rustproof "Duramold" case with the colors molded right in. The choice of colors are: Harvest Yellow, Mist Blue, Frost White, Avocado and Woodhue which blend into the exterior colors of a home.

Colored Comfort With Conditioner

What's the newest thing in 1968 room air conditioners? Color! . . . Color that you can match right into the decor of the room . . . Color that will match the exterior of the house . . . Color that will harmonize the air conditioning unit beautifully and imaginatively into your home to blend or contrast according to your own decorator tastes.

The 1968 GE "Fashionette 6000" has colors that won't chip, won't rust, and won't peel because they are molded right into the case.

★ ★ ★

In the opinion of many professional decorators, the innovation of offering a choice of colors in an air conditioner now permits it to be harmonized with the interior and exterior of a home.

"Today's housewife wants a choice of colors," one interior decorator said, "in her drapes, her appliances, her telephone, her chair coverings, and other household accessories." This new appliance gives her a selection to match the decor of the bedroom, the guest room, the children's room, the dinette, or the den.

Use Gazebo as Pool Aid

A little gazebo, matching the house in architectural detail, can be the means of solving several poolside problems for families that have, or plan to build, a swimming pool.

The gazebo can be used to house pool machinery and still provide near-pool dressing room, and a shaded little terrace.

Construction can be of wood, with flooring and pathway to the pool of the same kind of ceramic tile used in the pool itself.

Easiest way to refinish yellowed knotty pine paneling is with a coat of paint.

Building Methods Undergoing Change

Information about revolutionary new techniques in the construction of single homes and multiples in the Detroit area was revealed recently at a meeting of building industry employers at Kingsley Inn, Bloomfield Hills.

Gilbert B. Silverman, president of the Builders Association of Metropolitan Detroit, whose 400 active members and more than 400 associate members stand to lose millions of dollars this summer if the strike of building trades unions continues, discussed some of the problems posed by what he called "exhorbitant demands of the unions in the shutdown," now entering its second week.

★ ★ ★

Silverman told members of the North Woodward Section of the BAMD that home construction as it has been known in the area for generations probably would be taken over by large corporations already geared to produce as many as 5,000 homes a year in factories and delivered complete and erected in a day on building sites.

★ ★ ★

One of the concerns, known throughout the world for its success in prefabrication and delivery of complete homes to owners is National Homes of Lafayette, Ind., said Silverman.

That company is negotiating with the City of Detroit at this moment, said the BAMD president, for the erection of prefabricated units in the inner city renewal area east of the downtown section.

Another prefabricator mentioned by Silverman is Guerdon Homes of Marlette, which has model units finished at Utica.

PREFABRICATORS

"If the labor demands being made upon us are met," said Silverman, "there is grave danger that the work of home construction which we have been doing will be taken over by the prefabricators and we will be put out of business. We simply cannot compete with big firms like National Homes, which is paying carpenters in its plants approximately $3 an hour, whereas carpenters in the Detroit are are demanding raises (effective May 1, 1968) of $1.40 an hour.

"The present carpenter contract calls for $5.97 an hour. This would mean $7.37 an hour for carpenters, or an increase of 23 per cent over the present contract."

Silverman cited demands of other unions in the building trades as being excessive and dangerous not only to the future of the builders and their suppliers but even to the union members themselves, since there would be no work if the builders are forced to close down because of the impossibility of their meeting competitive methods and techniques.

★ ★ ★

Spokesman for the lumber-supply industry in the Detroit have have voiced concern over the threat of prefabrication in the industry locally. Selling lumber to builders of homes and multiples in the Detroit area is a multimillion-dollar industry, with a large stake in plant and inventory and in the employment of skilled men in the lumber yards and the offices.

"Up to now," said Silverman, "we have been able to produce housing in the Detroit area competitively with the prefabricators. I believe we have been able to do even better in quality and in price. But I really believe we are at the end of an era here if the union demands aren't toned down to some figure which is more realistic and which permits of competition with other forms of home building."

DEMAND RANGE

"The range of demands in the present work stoppage is from $1.03 an hour to $2.53 an hour," Silverman pointed out. "The average demand of the six unions involved is approximately 51 per cent. Productivity also is steadily declining, by as much as 25 per cent in the last year and a half. The bargaining picture hereabouts appears gloomy."

Irving Levine, chairman of the BAMD labor committee, and Ivan Frankel, chairman of the BAMD public relations committee, joined Silverman in predicting serious problems for the building industry in the area unless some reasonable settlement can be reached soon.

"A protracted strike would be a calamity of the first magnitude for Detroit," said Frankel, himself a major home builder in the area for many years.

★ ★ ★

Levine reported that as of this weekend, 95 per cent of all home construction in the Detroit area is shut down. Where strikes have not silenced the sound of the hammer and the saw, lockouts on the job sites by individual builders have accomplished virtual paralysis of all home building and apartment house construction in the area.

Silverman also expressed the view held by many builders in the area that the unions' national organizations have chosen Detroit as the city for a showdown on wages and other conditions that would make the production of houses meaningless, since the price tags would be beyond the reach of practically everybody but the rich.

"I foresee the end to what we call low-cost housing in the Detroit area if the union demands are met," said Silverman. "The $20,000 house would be a memory if we lose this latest struggle to keep building costs within the bounds of reason."

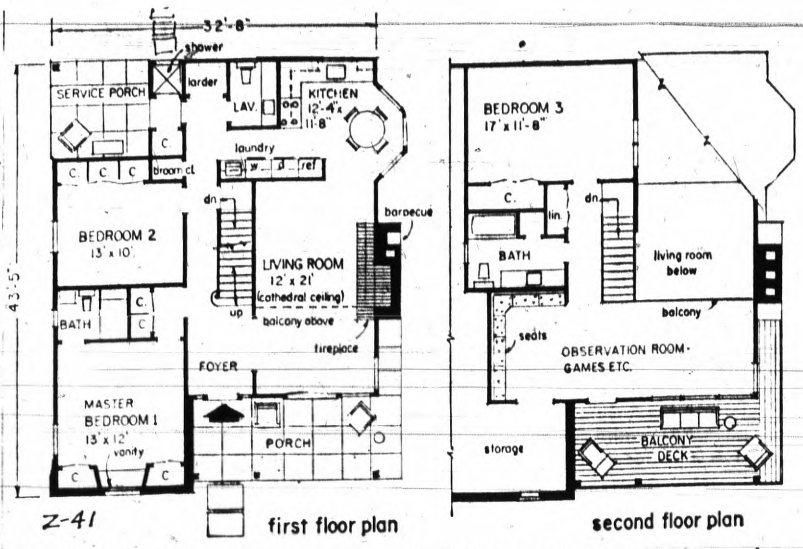
Moisture Damage Can Be Prevented

To prevent outside moisture from damaging the exterior of your home observe the following points.

- Always keep roofing in good repair.
- Regularly check and repair flashing around chimney and brickwork.
- Keep gutters and downspouts clean and protected with paint.
- Make sure that wooden siding does not come in direct contact with the ground, and that glazing and caulking around joints and seams is properly maintained.

Wood on Walls

Finished with waterproof polyurethane, even prestige woods like western hemlock can be used on bathroom and kitchen walls.



FLOOR PLANS: Although this house has a width of less than 33', an entrance foyer and a central hall are utilized to provide excellent traffic circulation, with access to every room from either the front or rear without going through any other room. See Story on Page B-7.

Motorists driving in cities produce much less litter than pedestrians but the reverse is true in the country, studies show.

Build Family a Pool Shelter

The proliferation of backyard pools continues with over a million homes enjoying the facilities for a cool dip for members of the family and their friends.

Along with the prospect of cooling off on hot summer days, there is also the prospect of increased responsibility for adults or older children to keep an eye on swimming youngsters for safety's sake.

★ ★ ★

This problem is there whether the pool is a large one costing several thousand dollars or a few feet in diameter costing a few hundred dollars.

For those who have to watch those who swim, Alcan Aluminum Corporation's Building Products Division has come up with a low-cost aluminum shelter, the Flexalum Portiko, that provides a cool, shady spot from which the adult can watch youngsters in comfort.

The attractive shelter of sturdy flat-roofed design that requires virtually no maintenance, comes in three-prepackaged sizes ready for installation. It can be located near enough to the pool for adequate supervision, but far enough away from splashing range.

SERVE SNACKS

It makes an excellent sun-protected spot to serve snacks and meals during swim breaks. A couple of drop curtains in the corner can provide an outdoor clothes changing area that will prevent tracking up of floors and rugs and bringing in of wet suits.

When the pool is covered or not in use, the Portiko poolside shelter becomes a general outdoor relaxation or entertainment area for the family.

Further information of the Flexalum Portiko may be obtained by writing to Portiko Booklet, Building Products Division, Alcan Aluminum Corporation, 100 Erieview Plaza, Cleveland, Ohio 44144.

Pollution Woes Under Study

The forest industry in Oregon has taxed itself to provide funds for a two-year study on air and water pollution problems by the Forest Research Laboratory at Oregon State University.

Industry will pay a half-cent per thousand board feet of timber harvested in the year up to July, 1968, to help fund the study.

CHALET LIVING: The charm of the Bavarian Chalet is captured in this exterior. Inside, such features as wood floors, walls and ceilings retain the atmosphere, but modern conveniences make the house suitable for either vacation or year-round living.

Bavarian Chalet as Vacation Retreat

Last week our vacation or second home design combined chalet styling with an A-frame.

This week we bring you a Bavarian Chalet with modern touches but without an A-frame exterior.

Although its over-all dimensions are only 32' 8" by 43' 5", it encompasses more than 1800 square feet on living area on two floors.

With three bedrooms, 2½ baths, a full basement and all up-to-date facilities, it could serve as a year-round residence if desired.

See Floor Plan on Page B-6

The exterior materials were chosen by architect Rudolph A. Matern for the minimum amount of maintenance — local stone, rough-sawn siding and hand-split roof shingles.

The interior is designed similarly, with wood paneling, wood beams and wide plank, pegged wood flooring.

The dominant feature of the outside is at the front, with two large porches, one above the other.

Both are covered, offering protection from both inclement weather and sun.

Inside the solid front door, a 50-square-foot foyer handles traffic to the living room, rear hall, two bedrooms and the open staircase to the second floor.

LIVING ROOM

The all-wood, 21-foot living room has a 20-foot-high cathedral ceiling halfway to the rear.

A flat ceiling goes back to the fireplace, then opens up, forming a balcony on the second floor which overlooks the living room.

The adjoining kitchen has a sunlit eating area formed by a large bay.

The balance of the kitchen has all the required modern-day equipment, plus a laundry area slightly beyond and toward the service section.

★ ★ ★

A service porch is under the main roof. The basement entrance is close to the service entrance in the rear hall.

LAVATORY

A larger, lavatory and stall shower surround this entranceway, with storage and broom closets.

The shower is so located to provide direct facilities from the outdoors for freshening up after swimming or other sports activity.

The two bedrooms are in the left wing away from the activity sector.

The master bedroom, at the front, has a private bath, a built-in vanity and plenty of closet space.

★ ★ ★

On the second floor are a bedroom, a large bath and a 26-foot multi-use room. This room, 12 feet of which is the balcony over the living room, can be used for overnight accommodations for guests, a dormitory for children, a playroom, observation room or for any purpose desired.

It is especially intriguing because, just outside of it, there is a 21-foot balcony deck — sure to be a favorite spot for guests and family.

Another less glamorous but exceptionally useful space — and a requirement in a summer home — is the 75 square-foot storage area.

A place like this is a necessity for storage when the house is unoccupied.

An adjunct to the covered outdoor living areas is the large open terrace on the right side of the house for the total sun lovers.

Z-41 STATISTICS

Design Z-41, with a Bavarian Chalet motif, has a fireplaced living room, a kitchen, two bedrooms, bath, foyer, lavatory and shower on the first floor, with a habitable area of 1164 square feet. There is a third bedroom, a multi-use room and a bath on the second floor, with 684 square feet of living space. In addition, the house has a covered porch and a service porch on the main floor, and a balcony deck and storage area on the second. Overall dimensions are 32' 8" by 43' 5".

Painting Pointers for You to Follow

There are four basic points to remember in order to get a satisfactory paint job and to save time and work.

★ ★ ★

First, prepare the surface properly.

Second, select the right type of paint or varnish — your dealer can help you with this.

★ ★ ★

Third, be sure to use only quality paint products. Fourth, apply it properly as directed on the label.

To reinforce plastics and metal, long fine whiskers of aluminum silicate have been developed.

Windows With Wood Sash Help Combat Condensation

Beads of moisture sparkling on the outside of a cold glass of lemonade are an appetizing sight on a summer day.

But, when the same sort of moisture forms on a window pane in winter, homeowners are not delighted.

The phenomenon responsible for both examples is condensation.

★ ★ ★

It occurs when warm, moist air touches a cold glass surface and turns to water.

DAMAGE

On a beverage glass, condensation is no problem. But, condensation on a window fogs the pane, drips down the sash and sill, and damages walls floors and carpeting.

The amount of moisture that forms on a window depends on the level of humidity in a room and the insulating capability of the window.

Weatherstripped wood windows with insulating glass, such as stock ponderosa pine units, are the best safeguard.

★ ★ ★

Because it is a natural insulator and low conductor of heat, wood sash stays warm in cold westher.

Tests show that with a relative humidity of 24 per cent indoors, condensation will form on metal sash windows when the outdoor temperature drops to 20 degrees above zero.

But, wood sash will stay warm, dry and free of condensation at this humidity level even at a frigid 30 degrees below zero.

When insulating glass is combined with wood sash — now obtainable in all sizes and styles of ponderosa pine windows — the danger of condensation is virtually eliminated.

Only under extreme weather conditions will moisture form on insulating glass in weatherstripped wood sash.

For this reason, many electric utility companies recommend such windows for electrically-heated homes which have a healthier, more comfortable, and higher degree of humidity than most houses with other heating systems.

Local Realtor Delivers Talk

"Trading is the most worry-free way for a family to get their old home sold and a new one purchased," Thomas Bateman, Pontiac Realtor, recently told members of the United Northwestern Realty Association — Western Wayne-Oakland County Board of Realtors.

Analyzing home trade-ins, Bateman explained that owning a home has too often in the past made it difficult to buy another, because of the timing element.

"The point of a trade-in is to make a quick, sure sale when you don't want to be obligated for payments on a new house while you're still making payments on the old one," Bateman said.

"Your equity is released quickly; and, even more important, you know the outcome of the transaction before making the deal fnal."

THREE TYPES

There are three types of trade-ins, Bateman explained.

The straight trade is an outright exchange of properties that works just like a car trade-in.

The time-limit trade is a contractual agreement between buyer and agent, whereby you buy a house contingent upon the sale of your old house within a stated period.

★ ★ ★

The guaranteed trade is one in which the agent guarantees to take your old house if it is not sold within a predetermined period.

"Every prospective buyers home situation is a little different," Bateman continued. Consequently he should thoroughly discuss his needs with a Realtor or agent — and thus arrive at his best course of action.

"When you trade homes," Bateman concluded, "you never find yourself with a new home ready for occupancy while your old one is still unsold.

"You don't face the risk of double payments or paying taxes on two houses at the same time. Finally, you won't be caught in a squeeze with no house at all because you sold your house before your new home was ready for occupancy."

Ceiling First

Paint the ceiling of a room before doing the walls. If you do the walls first, you may splatter some of the ceiling paint on them.

Tourists Visit Cairo, Lebanon and Cyprus

EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the second in a series of articles of a Christian tour to Europe and the Bible Lands with Dr. and Mrs. Tom Malone by Mary Anglemier, church editor of The Pontiac Press. The second stop with the group of 25 was Cairo, Egypt.

By MARY ANGLEMIER
Church Editor

Here we are again.

It was late in the day when we boarded the plane for Cairo, Egypt, and not long before the full moon with its golden halo moved into the heavens.

★ ★ ★

The moon and twinkling stars above reminded me of the hymn, "God of All Creation." And I recalled the Biblical scenes painted on the ceiling of the Sistine Chapel in Rome by Michaelangelo. Among these great works are scenes of God's Creation.

When we were in Rome our guide whisked us from place to place, spoke fast then whirled around, called out "Avante" and away we went, to board the bus.

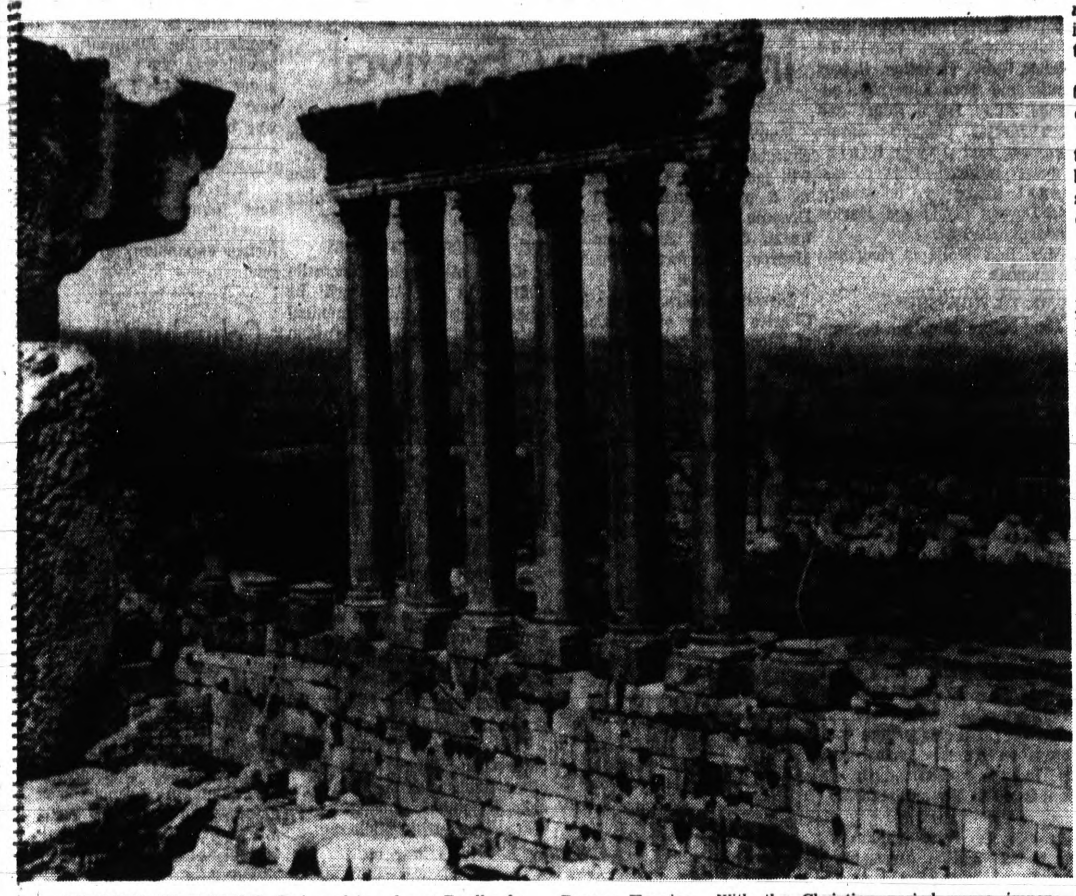
Now as we leave I realize how much we saw in a brief time.

CAIRO

Government officials greeted us with "Welcome, welcome to Cairo" as they checked our passports at the airport.

All of a sudden I felt I was in a different world while waiting for luggage in the main lobby. There were men in long flowing robes and women in many kinds of dress. We heard the babble of many dialects. The signs in both English and in Egyptian characters and writing.

It was dark as we rode the bus to the Nile Hilton Hotel and everything seemed a little eerie.



COLUMNS OF TEMPLE—Ruins of temples at Baalbeck, one of the most ancient cities of the world which was first built as an important pagan center, still stand. The Phoenicians transformed it into a temple in honor of the god Baal. The period of Baalbeck's greatest glory was under the Roman Empire. With the Christian period came important changes and a church was built in honor of St. Barbara. A yearly festival of music, dramatic art and folk dancing is held in the summer. Performers are selected from the world's greatest in their particular fields.

Our guide reminded us that Egypt was an ancient country; that it was Rameses II who some 2,000 years ago was responsible for Moses' flight with the children of Israel to the Red Sea; and that it was to Egypt the Holy Family fled when Jesus' life was in danger as a baby.

BALCONY

When I woke the next morning here I was with my own private balcony overlooking the city square. Temperatures were mild so I just went out and sat in the sun before going down to breakfast.

Lunches and dinners were in the open terraced room overlooking the Nile.

There are many kinds of transportation in Cairo — the bicycle, bus, taxi, open air street car and donkey. In the country there is the camel.

Shopping was fun, that is, if you were with a companion.

A few of our group visited a jewelry shop. The proprietor in long Egyptian dress bowed profusely, thanked us for entering his place of business, had a son bring chairs. We had to sit down.

★ ★ ★

We just wanted to look at silver spoons and other small articles. But first we must have tea or coffee, we had to. Another son brought the tea in small cups on a tray.

We drank tea and he showed us jewelry, stones and many items saying he just wanted us to see how beautiful they were. He didn't expect us to buy anything.

Well, everyone bought something. Then he bowed, thanked us for accepting his hospitality and walked us to the door, and bowed again from the waist.

★ ★ ★

All stores we visited in Cairo took American money, that is bills not coins. One of my difficulties was in figuring out how much everything costs in American money. Just about the time I was doing well we moved to another country.

★ ★ ★

I always thought the Pyramids of Giza and the Sphinx were far out in the desert, and perhaps they were once, but not now. The city has expanded so just a street separates the two.

CAMEL RIDER

June Beamer of Emmanuel Baptist Church was one of the last to join the camel riders and the most popular with the camel owners.

When she walked up to the camel owner to ride his camel, the owner of a stallion called out "No, she ride horse." The owner of the camel shook his fist and shouted "No, she ride camel."

Finally a guide came up and saw her safely on the camel but the Arab horse owner came over and jerked her off. "You ride horse," he yelled. She rode the camel.

TOUR CITY

A tour of the city took us to the Moslem cemetery, the Mohammed Ali Mosque and Museum where the articles from King Tutankhamen's tomb are displayed, the same as were on exhibition at the Detroit Institute of Arts a few years ago.

BAZAARS

The sightseeing excursion also included a walk through the bazaars. Here it was really full of smells and terribly dirty. People and donkeys walked along the narrow streets. You had to watch where you walked or you stepped in manure. But it was fun.

An Egyptian boy, who looked like he was about 16 was in charge of cleaning several rooms including mine. He was so pleasant.

If he saw me coming down the hall he took off as if going to a fire to get there first to unlock the door for me.

Then he bowed and bowed when I thanked him.

Cairo seems to be a cross roads of humanity. There were Arabs, the English, Japanese, Chinese and people from India milling around the lobby as we waited for our tour bus to take us to the airport.

Our driver said Arabs really live in the tents we saw on the desert. Maybe they wear the white scarf and head band to keep out the sand and intense heat of the summer sun.

BEIRUT

The Rev. Maurice Paulson with his wife and children Harlan, Sara and Melanie were waiting for us at the airport in Beirut. The Paulsons are from Pontiac.

The Rev. Mr. Paulson, pastor of Fellowship Baptist Church in Beirut, teaches Bible to individuals and to groups. He also conducts a Bible School Correspondence Course to Egypt, Jordan, Syria and Iraq.

★ ★ ★

Dr. and Mrs. Malone and the Paulsons are firends. The Emmanuel Baptist Church assists with missionary support in Lebanon.

Beirut is a beautiful city with its striking modern architecture mingling with the old. It is the gateway to the Holy Land. There are hundreds of miles of sandy beaches along the Mediterranean. The American Embassy is located on the beach road.

The American University in Beirut was opened by David Bliss of the Presbyterian Mission in 1866.

It is said that at the San Francisco conference where the United Nations was constituted, there were more leaders and delegates who had graduated from this university than from any other in the world.

★ ★ ★

There are a number of refugee camps around Beirut and each looked well kept.

TO BAALBECK

Leaving Beirut to visit the ancient city of Baalbeck we found ourselves in the midst of vegetable and flower gardens, and hundreds of orange groves. Bananas, kumquats and lemons are also grown.

The countryside of Lebanon is imposing with its rolling hills and mountains.

CYPRUS ISLAND

I had one of the most delicious oranges and one of the largest I've ever seen in Cyprus.

★ ★ ★

As the Dr. Malone group started on tour of Nicosia, capital of the island, our guide jumped off the bus in the market place and returned with a bag of huge oranges handing them around with great pride.

Nearly everyone in Cyprus speaks English, that is in all hotels, restaurants, shops and government offices.

While most of the group were on tour Dr. Malone took the Rev. Perry Purtle of Springhill, La. to the airport where he learned a little about flying from Dr. Malone, a pilot in his own right.

In the old shopping district, streets were very narrow, just room enough for cars to pass, and they drive on the left side of the road as in England.

Occasionally Dr. Malone held an evening meeting to discuss plans and to have a brief religious service. When Mrs. Malone stepped into the strawberry pink room at our hotel we accused her of buying a dress to match the room.

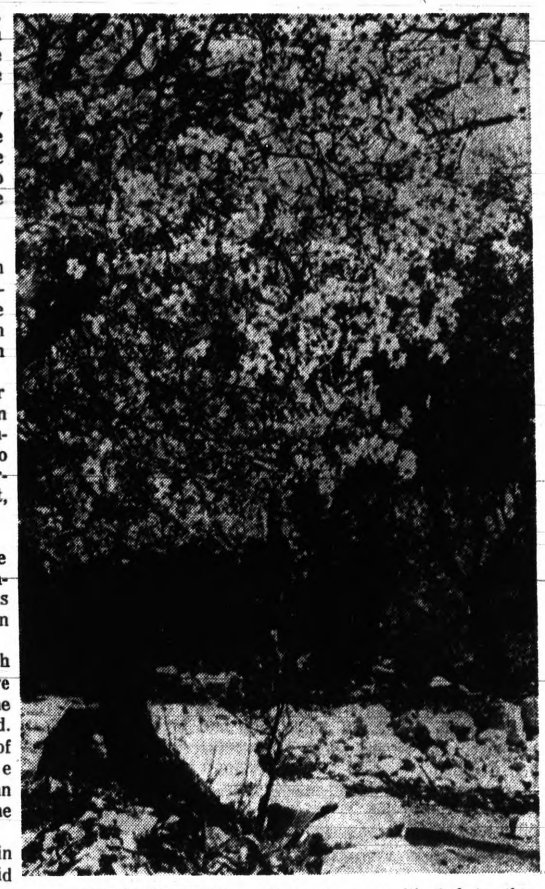
But we know she didn't as we had just arrived about an hour previous.

It seems Mrs. Arthur Simpson, a friend in the congregation of Emmanuel Baptist Church where Dr. Malone is pastor, wanted to make her a dress for the trip, and this was it — perfectly beautiful Mrs. Simpson.

★ ★ ★

And now it is time to pack again and proceed to the airport for a flight to Tel-Aviv and then by bus to the Holy City of Jerusalem.

See you next week.



BLOSSOM TIME — Oranges are cultivated in the Lebanon in a great number of varieties for exportation. Other special fruits are bananas, lemons, grapes and kumquats.

ST. JOHN'S GREEK CHURCH — One of the oldest churches in Nicosia, the capital of Cyprus Island, is the St. John's Greek Church (far right). The pews were built to make the parishioner comfortable. There is a very high back rest. When a member stands during part of the liturgy he may lean on the back of the seat to rest his shoulders. The Folk Art Museum is at the back of the church. The large building shown is the seat of the government.

IN CAIRO—Donkeys wait on the bridge for their masters on the drive from Cairo to the pyramids. Vegetables, fruit, children, kitchenware, bales of hay, just about everything is carried from place to place on the donkey's back. The building in the background, now a hotel, was the meeting place for the Cairo Conference which the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt attended during World War II.

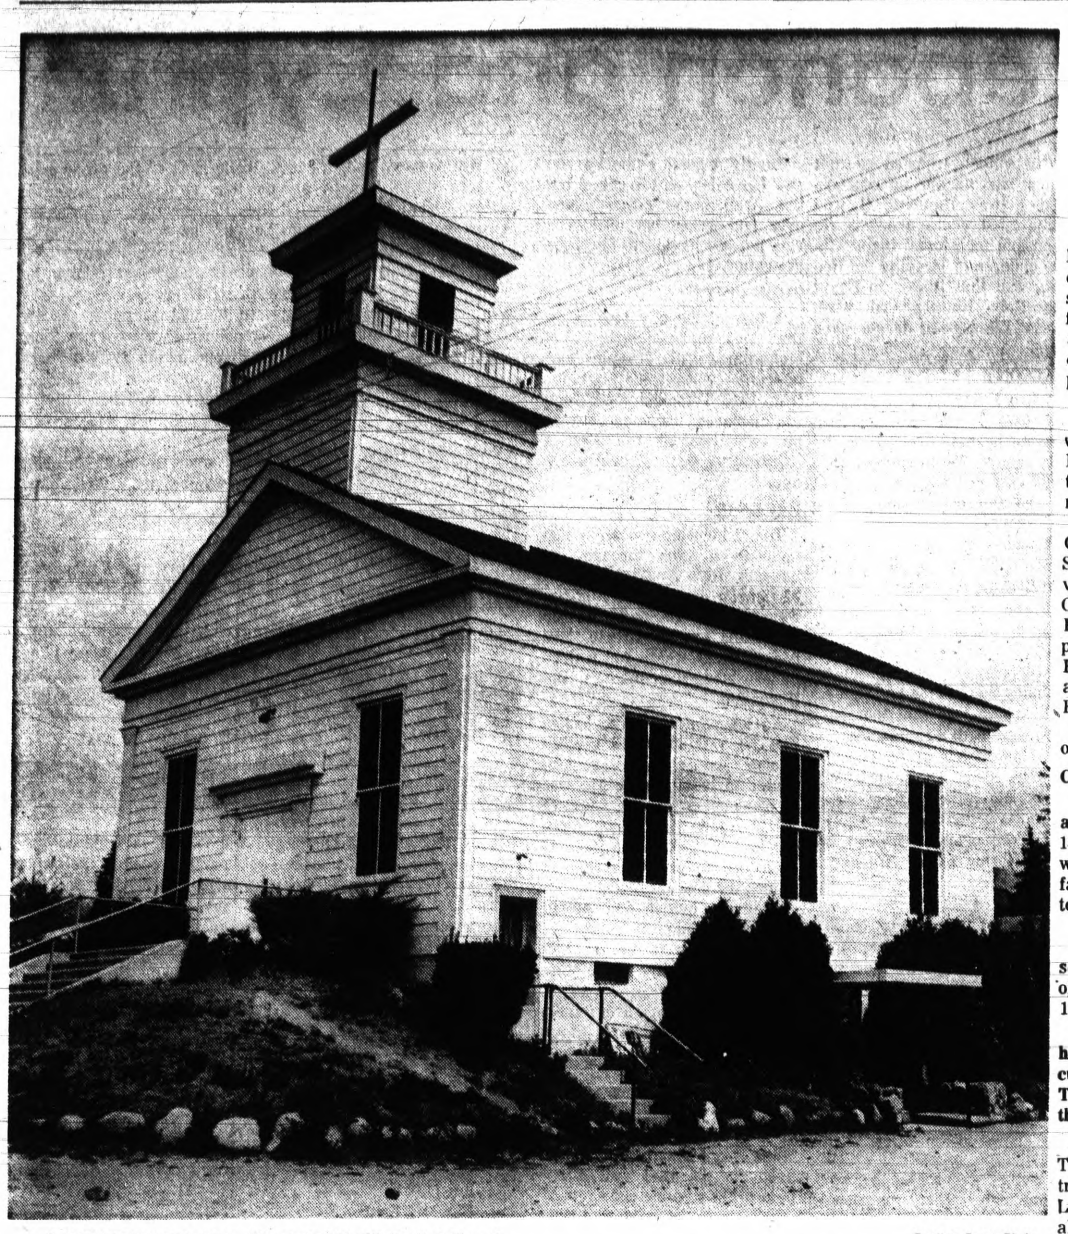
HERE I AM—The city editor of The Pontiac Press insisted I print a picture in which I was shown. Here I am standing beside a camel near the sphinx and pyramids just outside Cairo, Egypt. According to our guide, it took 100,000 men every three months for centuries to build the pyramids, the burial places for kings. The laboring man in Cairo, today, receives about $1 per day in wages, he said. In ancient times thousands of men were slaves.



LAKEVILLE CHURCH—The Lakeville Methodist Church, one of the oldest churches in Oakland County, was built and dedicated to God in 1856. The congregation has added a basement, and is now in the process of adding more Sunday School rooms and building a parsonage. Members are currently sponsoring a building crusade to raise funds for the project.

COME TO TOWNSHIP

Long before Michigan became a state while still a territory in 1833, William Hagerman, his wife, four children and his father came to what is known today as Addison Township.

★ ★ ★

They purchased the whole section No. 14 and the west half of the southwest quarter Section 13.

The Hagermans settled on the homestead which was later occupied by their son, Cornelius. The family lived two miles from the nearest white people.

At this time the Indian Chief Tuck-a-toe was living with his tribe on the west side of Lakeville Lake. Hagerman was always on friendly terms with the Indians, often employing them to assist him on the farm.

★ ★ ★

In 1834 the Rev. William T. Snow, an Indian missionary from the vicinity of Pontiac visited the Indian tribe and also the white people in the area.

PREACHER APPOINTED

When the Methodists appointed the first circuit rider preacher most of the meetings were held in the Hagerman's home.

In 1856 residents of the community decided it was time to build a church.

The present location was selected and a 30x40 foot building with a steeple was erected. According to Mrs. George Garrett, this was the first church edifice in northeastern Oakland County.

The dedicatory sermon was preached by the Rev. John Gray in 1856. There have been 50 ministers filling the pulpit since that time.

Through the generosity of Mrs. Ella B. Shoemaker and people of the community a full basement was constructed under the church in 1949. Last year an additional basement was built to serve as Sunday School class rooms.

★ ★ ★

"It is anticipated that in the near future as the township grows there will be a need for further expansion, Mrs. Garrett said.

ALL UNDER SIN
By one man sin entered into the world . . . God said of the tree in the midst of the garden; "thou shalt not eat of it neither shall ye touch it lest ye die" . . . now most preachers will say that they believe we were all put under sin because of this . . . and a lot of them will say that God came in flesh to take away that sin . . . but most of them will not tell you just how to get that sin removed from you . . . only one way . . . Luke 24:47, and that repentence and remission of sins should be preached in His name among all nations beginning at Jerusalem . . . so it did . . . Acts 2:38, Peter said, "Repent and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins" . . . drop me a card or letter if you want to know more about this.

Northrup's 'Slam' Breaks Buckeye Duel

Sparma Gets 7-3 Victory Despite Howard's 15th Blast

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

It took a native of the Wolverine state, Jim Northrup to break up a nine inning feud between a pair of Buckeyes, pitcher Joe Sparma of the Detroit Tigers and Frank Howard of the Washington Senators last night.

Sparma, a former Ohio State athlete, had control of the game for 8⅓ innings but nearly lost it when Howard, another ex-OSU star delivered a kayo blast in the top of the 9th inning to give the Senators a 3-2 lead.

Northrup however, wasn't to be outdone by Howard. The former Alma College quarterback laced a 400 foot grand slam home run into the second deck of right-centerfield in the bottom of the 9th to give the Tigers a most satisfying 7-3 victory over the Nats.

FOURTH GRAND SLAM

It was the 4th grand slam of Northrup's career and it enabled the Tigers to hold their two-game lead over the Baltimore Orioles in the American League race.

Sparma, who had a no-hitter going for 6⅓ innings, 39 minutes of which was delayed by rain, grooved a pitch to Ken McMullen which he sent into the left field seats.

★ ★ ★

It was the only hit until the 9th inning and the first homer Sparma had given up this year.

Del Unser then led off the 9th with a bat breaking single to left and Fred Valentine, trying to sacrifice, popped to catcher Bill Freehan.

Facing the 6-foot-7 and 275 pound Howard, who has been wielding the biggest bat in the league in the past week, Sparma's first pitch, a slider went sailing into the lower left field seats, just four rows past the screen. It was his 15th of the young season.

SETS RECORD

The blast was also Howard's 8th in the last five games setting a major league record. Three players had hit seven in five games — Babe Ruth in 1921, Jim Bottomley in 1929 and Vic Wertz in 1950.

★ ★ ★

The Tigers, who have come from behind many times this year, rallied again when Norm Cash opened the bottom of the 9th with his second single of the game, a solid liner to centerfield.

Don Wert laid down a sacrifice and then opposing managers Jim Lemon of the Senators and Mayo Smith of the Tigers began their strategy moves.

★ ★ ★

Lemon called in lefty Steve Jones to replace reliefer Dave Baldwin and to pitch to pinch hitter Ed Mathews. Mathews however was called back and righthanded batter Mickey Stanley went up to the plate instead.

Stanley hit a scribbler which went right through Jones' legs for an error and Dick Tracewski, running for Cash, took third.

★ ★ ★

Reserve catcher Jim Price, with two strikes on him, then blooped a single to left field to send Tracewski home with the tying run.

Dick McAuliffe followed with a walk to load the bases, and with the Nats' infield and outfield all pulled in to shut off the run, Northrup didn't waste his time with a sacrifice fly.

At the crack of the bat, Jones, who had only one inning of relief prior to this, never looked around. He knew the ball was long enough to score the winning run, whether it be a fly or homer, and he started off the mound.

HITS FAST BALL

"It was a fast ball," said Northrup, "and I knew from the crack it was going to go a long way."

"I'm glad for Joe, he pitched a beautiful game and deserved to win it," added Northrup.

For Price, once again the unsung hero of the game, it was the second pinch single for the tying run this year. Against Cleveland, April 17 he delivered a game tying single which later ended in a 3-2 Tiger victory on Willie Horton's homer.

★ ★ ★

Those have been Price's only two hits in 10 trips to the plate, but they have been timely.

"These guys have been playing their hearts out, I'm just glad to be of help once in awhile," said Price.

For Northrup it was the 6th homer of the season, three of which have come off southpaws.

Joe Coleman, who has been tough on the Tigers, was touched for McAuliffe's single, Northrup's single, Kaline's double and Freehan's sacrifice fly to start the game with a 2-run deficit.

★ ★ ★

Northrup also had a double in the game and he was robbed of a fourth hit when second baseman Frank Coggins speared a grounder on a diving play in the 8th inning.

This afternoon, Mickey Lolich was scheduled to go against Frank Bertaina, with Earl Wilson and Denny McLain or Les Cain slated on Sunday against Camilo Pascual and Phil Ortega.

Player Beats Weather, Takes Colonial Lead

FORTH WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Gary Player says he's a lousy shotmaker from wet fairways. He's cool toward cold weather. And few like to play in the rain.

So the personable little South African stripped two strokes from Colonial's harsh par 70 Friday and took a one-shot lead into today's third round of the Colonial National Invitation golf tournament.

That 68 was off wet fairways on a chilly, misty day.

SURPRISES SELF

"I really am surprised to be in the leads," Player said after his 68 gave him a 36-hole total of 138 a one-shot lead over Billy Casper.

★ ★ ★

"One of my weaknesses is an inability to play flying shots when the fairways are wet and the ball jumps. I don't care how talented a man is, it was impossible to keep from sailing the ball today."

Casper, the first-round coleader with Marty Fleckman, stumbled to three over par through 13 holes, then picked up a couple of birdies for a respectable 71.

Player was the only golfer to beat par and only three others — Johnny Pott, George Knudson and Bob Goalby — could equal it.

Fresh 'Dress' Awaits Jockey at Preakness

BALTIMORE (AP) — Tommy Ennis' paints were ready. Today was Preakness Day at Pimlico.

Situated in the track's infield atop a replica of the burneddown members' clubhouse is a weathervane shaped like a jockey on a horse.

PAINTED JOCKEY

Each year the racing colors of the winning Preakness owner are painted on the jockey, where they remain until there is a new winner. That is Ennis' job.

BLAST OFF—Big Frank Howard blasts off for his 15th homer of the season and his eighth in the last five games for a new major league record. Howard's homer last night gave the Washington Senators a 3-2 lead in the ninth, but Jim Northrup came back with a grand slammer which gave the Tigers a 7-3 triumph.

Maybe Annual Event in '69

Memo for Mayo--Remember May 17

This is a memo for Detroit Tiger manager Mayo Smith.

Next May 17th, wherever the Tigers may be playing, he should be sure the pitcher is Joe Sparma and the No. 2 batter in the lineup is Jim Northrup.

It might be reason for a third annual celebration for the two and a victory for the Tigers.

It was May 17, 1967 in Washington that Northrup blasted a grand slam homer off lefty Barry Moore to help the Tigers to an 8-1 victory, and it was Joe Sparma who was the winning pitcher, giving the Tigers and 18-10 record for the season.

DOES ENCORE

Yesterday, it was May 17, 1968 and Northrup slammed the grand slammer off of another lefty, Steve Jones, for a 7-3 Tiger win and a triumph for Sparma.

When he left the mound after the top of the 9th, after giving up the two-run homer to big Frank Howard, Sparma went directly into the locker room.

★ ★ ★

"It wasn't a good pitch, it was a slider," Sparma said, "but Howard's so big and powerful if he gets his bat on it, it's going to go."

When he got into the lockeroom, Norm Cash had already singled, Don Wert sacrificed pinch hitter and Mickey Stanley was at the plate.

"I had the radio on, and even though I was pretty calm on the mound I was sure nervous listening to it," said Sparma.

"NEARLY FAINTED"

"I really got excited when Price brought in the tying run, but I almost fainted when Northrup hit that homer.

"I think I was shouting in the locker-room to hit it out of the infield, hit a squeeze play, anything . . . just get that run in. But a grand slam homer . . . I just couldn't believe it," Sparma noted.

"It was really nothing," Northrup said in jest, "I told Earl Wilson earlier I was saving my homer for the right time."

In his Major League career, Wilson has 27 homers, while Northrup with four less years in the Majors, had 28 when the season started. He now has 32.

Wilson also owns one grand slammer, Northrup now has four for his career.

"I'll have to remember May 17th next year, "Northrup, 1" maybe I can make it an annual thing," he laughed.

TIGER NOTES

Sunday is free cap day for all children under 14 at Tiger Stadium.

One of the longest "tape measure" home runs hit by Frank Howard in D.C. Stadium was the blast last Sept. 24 off Sparma when the ball went some 480 feet into the second deck of deep left field.

The giant Senator from Columbus, has cracked some monumental homers in the D.C. Stadium, three of which have been honored by white painted seats.

He is the only player ever to put one into the upper deck of dead centerfield which measures 474 feet to the first row of seats.

His shot was figured to be around 525 feet.

Indiana Golfers Lead Conference at Halfway Mark

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — Junior Steve Cisco fired a one-over-par 143 in the rain Friday and sparked Indiana into the team lead at the midway point of the Big Ten golf championships.

Cisco broke from a four-way tie at 72 at the end of the first round with a second-round 71 — the only par of the day over the waterlogged 6,796-yard Indiana University course.

The tourney winds up with another 36 holes Saturday.

STEADY RAIN

The steady downpour took its toll in the afternoon round. John Schroeder of Michigan slipped from a first-round 72 to 75 for the runnerup spot at 147.

But teammate Frank Groves and Michigan State's Larry Murphy, the other first-round co-leaders, fell apart in the rain. Groves soared to 89 and Murphy to 87.

★ ★ ★

Indiana had two other players in the top 10. Ron Essenpreis shot 74-75—149 to tie for fourth place and Jim Cheney shot 77-76—153 to tie for ninth.

Indiana led the field with 756, followed by the pre-tourney favorite Michigan with 769.

Big Ten Bans Varsity Frosh

Policy Differs from NCAA's Recent Ruling

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The Big Ten Athletics Conference concluded its Spring meeting here Friday and announced some policy changes, but reaffirmed it will not allow freshman to compete in varsity sports.

★ ★ ★

The major decision was the removal of the year-end review on whether an injured athlete would be allowed another year of eligibility. Henceforth, the review will take place on a quarter or semester basis.

ELIGIBLE SAME YEAR

This would allow an athlete, injured in football, to compete later in the same academic year in another sport, without running the risk of losing a year of football eligibility.

Before Friday's ruling, he would have had to sit out the entire athletic year to retain his football eligibility.

★ ★ ★

In a major policy announcement, the conference reaffirmed its stand on non-participation of freshman in intercollegiate athletics.

The National Collegiate Ahhletic Association (NCAA) recently ruled that freshmen will be allowed to compete in all sports except football and basketball.

EXPLAINS FEELING

Dr. Marcus Plant, secretary of the conference faculty representatives, said:

"We have always believed that the collegiate freshman year should provide students with academic orientation and that sports competition would hinder this necessary progress. We have decided to maintain out standards despite the NCAA position."

Dr. Plant is the current NCAA president.

★ ★ ★

Big Ten commissioner Bill Reed said that "although some coaches believe it might hurt us in recruiting" the conference will continue at least until the 1969-70 year its practice at banning freshman participation in varsity sports.

The conference faculty representatives urged the commissioner's office to try to get the freshman eligibility rule repealed at the next meeting of the NCAA.

ADDED CAGE GAMES

The conference athletic directors urged by a 6-4 vote the adoption of a 26-game basketball schedule, instead of the present 24-game limit. Included would be a round-robin 18-game Big Ten schedule.

U. of M., Spartans Sweep Twinbills

CHICAGO (AP) — Minnesota's Gophers stayed ahead of the pack in the Big Ten baseball race Friday with a 9-6 victory over Iowa while Michigan state and Michigan closed in with double victories.

★ ★ ★

Michigan State pulled within one-half game of the lead by drubbing Illinois 9-0 and 3-2 and Michigan nailed Purdue with a double shutout, 1-0 and 4-0.

BUCKS TAKE 2

Ohio State took a pair from Northwestern, 6-3 and 2-1, while the Wisconsin at Indiana twin bill was rained out.

★ ★ ★

The Spartans won the night-cap as Dan Bielski, getting relief help from Mickey Knight, boosted his record to 7-0.

Michigan climbed into a tie with rainidle Wisconsin on the shutout pitching of Jack Hurley and Steve Evans. Hurley allowed one hit in the opener and Evans yielded three in the second game as Purdue slumped to an 0-10 record.

Pitching Duel to White Sox

CHICAGO (AP)—Duane Josephson's run-scoring single with two-out in a tension-packed 10th inning broke up a brilliant pitching duel between Chicago's Joe Horlen and Oakland's Jim Nash and gave the White Sox a 1-0 victory Friday night.

★ ★ ★

When Tom McCraw led off the 10th with a triple for the White Sox it was only the second hit given up by Nash, who had pitched 6⅔ innings of no-hit ball. McCraw also tripled in the seventh, ending Nash's no-hit bid.

With McCraw standing on third in the 10th, Nash made a supreme effort to keep him from scoring and almost succeeded. He struck out Russ Snyder and then gave intentional walks to Sandy Alomar and Wayne Causey.

Tommy Davis pinch hit and Nash got him looking for his 13th strikeout. But then Josephson, batting for Horlen, ended the game with a single to center.

POWELL SPOILS MARK

CLEVELAND (AP) — Luis Tiant, chunky Cleveland Indian right-hander, flirted with a 64-year-old major-league record of five consecutive shutouts Friday night, but Boog Powell spoiled it with a three-run homer and the Baltimore Orioles won 6-2.

The 27-year-old Cuban had a string of 41 scoreless innings when he made Dave Johnson his eighth strikeout victim to start the sixth inning.

★ ★ ★

Curt Blefary walked and was safe at second when Chico Salmon dropped a throw from shortstop Larry Brown on Frank Robinson's grounder. Both runners advanced on a wild pitch and Powell hit his sixth homer of the season — a blast into the right field stands.

Tiant had earned the crowd's cheers just an inning earlier when he preserved a 1-0 Indian lead by getting pitcher Gene Brabender on a popup and striking out Paul Blair on three pitches with the bases loaded.

Curt Motton unloaded another three-run homer for the Orioles in the eighth off reliever Hal Kurtz. It was Motton's fourth round-tripper and came after two Orioles had walked.

Brabender put the first 10 Indian batters down in order, but with one out in the third, Brown clubbed a homer, his third of the season and second in two days.

Tiant was seeking to tie a mark of five consecutive shutouts pitched by Doc White, a Chicago White Sox southpaw, in 1904.

BOSTON (AP) — The surging Boston Red Sox staged another uphill battle and posted their sixth straight victory by defeating the New York Yankees 6-4 Friday night before a packed crowd of 35,253, the largest Fenway Park turnout of the season.

With one out in the eighth, Reggie Smith walked and Ken Harrelson followed with a hit-and-run single through the hole to right.

George Scott then broke a 4-4 deadlock by grounding a single through the middle, scoring Smith. Rico Petrocelli's line single to right center brought in Harrelson with an insurance run.

Three Hurlers Pitch Blanks at NL Foes

By the Associated Press

For Bill Singer and Ray Sadecki brilliant pitching was enough to win. But Woody Fryman had to score his own run as well.

Both Singer of Los Angeles and Sadecki of San Francisco were staked to early leads Friday night and all they had left to do was pitch a two-hitter and three-hitter respectively as the Dodgers beat Houston 6-0 and the Giants topped the Chicago Cubs 2-0.

But Fryman of Philadelphia found himself in the 10th inning of a scoreless game against St. Louis in which he'd allowed just five hits when he decided to take matters into his own hands.

The Phillie hurler led off the 10th inning by singling off Bob Gibson of the Cards, who himself had given up just five hits. Fryman moved to second on Tony Gonzalez' bunt and scored on Bill White's single for a 1-0 Philadelphia victory.

★ ★ ★

Other National League scores were Cincinnati 3-2 over Pittsburgh and Atlanta 3-1 over the New York Mets in 16 innings.

Singer lost his no-hitter when Doug Rader singled in the fifth inning. After that the Dodger right-hander retired all the Astros' hitters until Bob Aspromonte singled in the ninth. Singer drove in two runs and Willie Davis knocked in two more.

Fast Pace Seen in '500' Trials

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — Rain clouds threatened to put a damper on the "battle for the pole" today as qualifications opened for the 52nd annual 500-Mile Speedway Auto Race.

★ ★ ★

From the time trials to the running of the 200-lap grind on Memorial Day, it should be the fastest and richest ever, but the question today was who will win the pole as the swiftest first-day qualifier.

★ ★ ★

More than 200,000 fans were expected to converge on the famed 2½-mile oval just west of Indianapolis amid indications Mario Andretti's 1967 qualification records will be shattered several times — if the rain holds off long enough.

CLOUDY, SHOWERS

The forecast called for cloudy and scattered showers with afternoon temperatures in the 60' — a far cry from ideal racing conditions.

★ ★ ★

The schedule called for trials to begin at 11 a.m. EST.

The test runs will continue Sunday and will be concluded next weekend, with the fastest 33 combinations comprising the starting field that will bid for a record jackpot of $750,000.

RECORDS LIKELY

Andretti predicted his records of 169.779 and 168.982 miles per hour for one and four laps, respectively, will be eclipsed several times.

The top candidates were Bobby Unser and Joey Leonard, first speedsters to unofficially crash the 170 m.p.h. barrier in practice Thursday.

★ ★ ★

Unser is driving a turbocharged four-cyclinder Offenhauser Leonard switched from an 8-cylinder turbocharged Ford to one of Andy Granatelli's new wedge-shaped turbines.

★ ★ ★

The first turbine ever in the lineup, driven by Parnelli Jones, almost won last year's race and some members of the racing fraternity figured the turbines have the edge again.

★ ★ ★

Former race winners Graham Hill of England and defending champion A. J. Foyt were regarded as other threats to the pole, as were Dan Gurney, Gordon Johncock and Lloyd Ruby.

These were the best laps in practice for the qualifications:

1. Bobby Unser, Albuquerque, N.M., No. 3 Eagle-turbocharged Offenhauser, 170.778 m.p.h.
2. Joe Leonard, San Jose, Calif., No. 40 Lotus-Pratt & Whitney turbine, 170.422.
3. Mike Spence, England, No. 60 Lotus-Pratt & Whitney Turbine, 169.555. Spence was killed May 7 in another car.
4. Graham Hill, London, England, No. 42 Eagle-Ford, 169.099.
5. Dan Gurney, Santa Ana, Calif., No. 48 Eagle-Gurney-Ford Stock, 168.004.
6. A.J. Foyt Jr., Houston, No. 1 Coyote-turbocharged Ford, 167.879.
7. Mario Andretti, Nazareth, Pa., No. 40 Lotus-Pratt & Whitney turbine, 167.660.
8. Gordon Johncock, Hastings, Mich., No. 4 Gerhardt-turbocharged Offenhauser, 167.598.
9. Lloyd Ruby, Wichita Falls, Tex., No. 25 Laycock Mongoose-turbocharged Offenhauser, 167.504.

WHATCHA SAY, UMP??—Both baserunner Pat Piilo (on ground) of Walled Lake and Kettering catcher Jim Burns are ready to debate the decision with the umpire Friday afternoon in the third inning of their game at the WKHS diamond. The arbiter called Piilo out. He was attempting to score from second base on Dan McDole's single. McDole scored moments later on John Burgess' basehit to break the 0-0 tie.

Waterford Nine Keeps Rolling

Waterford's dandy mound duo is in the groove and the Skippers are hoping to build momentum and gain a berth in the Pontiac Invitational Baseball Tournament in less than two weeks.

Mike Vidor followed up teammate Rod Kennedy's one-hitter of Thursday with one of his own yesterday and the Skippers posted a 4-0 win to take over second place in the Inter-Lakes loop.

★ ★ ★

It was the only diamond win by a Waterford varsity nine yesterday. Kettering lost a 4-2 verdict to Walled Lake, and Waterford Our Lady was a 5-2 loser at Detroit St. Rita.

The only safety off Vidor was Mike Clancy's solid single in the fourth frame. The WTHS hurler fanned nine and walked two in giving the Skippers their 13th success in 21 tilts.

BASES ON BALLS

PNH (8-7) was victimized by free passes, issuing 10 to the winners.

Kettering fell behind on John Burgess' run-producing single in the third, plus a walk, Dan McDole's second single and an error in the fifth.

★ ★ ★

The Captains tied it on Mark Karwas' rbi-single (he had three hits in the game) and a miscue, also in the fifth.

OVERTIME

The visiting Vikings (7-6) pulled out the win in the first extra inning when Bill Welsh's second single drove in the lead run and he scored on a passed ball.

★ ★ ★

Dave Horton was touched for one hit and whiffed five in three innings of relief to post his fourth triumph.

Loser Mike Harkey struck out 11. WKHS is 5-9.

★ ★ ★

Waterford OLL remained winless in seven Northwest Catholic League starts despite taking a 2-0 lead when Roy Lilley singled in a run and scored on an error. It was the Lakers' only safety.

St. Rita (5-2) managed only three hits off Tim Hagan but two runs were walked across.

Pontiac Catholic (5-2) tumbled into a three-way tie for first with St. Rita and St. Francis de Sales by dropping a 6-2 decision at St. Francis. Three singles, a double, a walk and an error gave the winners four quick runs.

Gary Roediger's infield single and an error accounted for the two Titan markers. They managed only three hits in losing their fourth straight in an over-all 6-13 season.

TEEING OFF

By FLETCHER SPEARS

The sight of young Bill Harding playing golf is enough to lift the spirit of anyone.

Bill, 23, is a low handicapper—two in one league and three in another—and looking at his scores you'd never guess that he moves around the course with only one good leg.

An inspector at General Motors Truck & Coach, Bill lost a leg—at mid thigh—in an industrial accident in June 1966.

It was a black time for Bill, but he refused to let the loss of a limb dull his attitude toward life. He was a fine athlete before the accident — playing near par golf — and he was determind to pick up where he left off.

HARDING

Bill was out of the hospital quicker than his doctor left possible, and fitted with an artifical leg, it wasn't long until he was again swinging the golf clubs.

MATTER OF TIME

"It's just a matter of time," says Bill the conditioning program with the new leg the part of the old one that remains. "It was awful painful to start with. I just play nine holes now. I can't quite make it for 18.

"The most I've played is 13 and I'm gradually building up. By the end of the summer, I hope to be going 18 holes."

Bill and his wife, Mary, have three children.

A slight change in the qualifying format of the Michigan Open could, if followed, add a little more class to that event.

★ ★ ★

Proposed is a plan for two qualifying sites — one in or around Detroit and the other on the west side of the state. At present, there is only one site and the feeling is that the addition of another, particularly farther west, would induce some of the better players in that area to try for a spot in the Open.

qualifying site somewhere near

The present setup has the qualifying site somewhere near Detroit which places a travel burden on the many good golfers in the Grand Rapids area.

The Michigan Publinx Golf Association has a sure cure for slow players. Tex Ellison, one of the officers of the MPGA, says their cure is disqualification.

"If they don't finish a round in two hours and 15 minutes, they're disqualified," says Tex. It might be noted that MPGA has no major problem with slow players.

PCH Holding Second Place

Titles Decided in Two Prep Leagues

By JERE CRAIG

It was diamond title day in two county prep leagues yesterday but Pontiac Central's hoped-for celebration turned into a wait-and-see proposition.

Northville clinched its second straight outright Wayne-Oakland championship by edging Bloomfield Hills Andover, 4-3, in eight innings. Clarkston tied Milford for second place with a 2-1 victory.

Livonia Stevenson celebrated its first Inter-Lakes League crown in any sport by walloping Farmington, 8-1, as Paul Tonnemacher tossed a one-hitter.

Pontiac Central downed Bay City Central, 4-1, in the opener of their crucial Saginaw Valley Conference twinbill at Wisner Field to move within one triumph of clinching a share of its first diamond title in 15 seasons.

But the Chiefs' bats turned into fans in the nightcap and PCH dropped a 2-1 decision as the Wolves' Kiedel struck out 13 and tripled home the only two runs he needed.

The loss left PCH in second place with an 8-4 SVC mark Midland trimmed Bay City Handy twice Thursday and is 8-3 with one makeup game remaining against Flint Central.

The Indians are 5-4 and have a doubleheader against Flint Southwestern next week in addition to the Midland game. They must win all three to force a three-way tie.

★ ★ ★

In yesterday's opener Kiedel's opening-inning single gave Bay City a 1-0 lead until Clyde Duncan's steal of home knotted the score in the third.

Winning hurler Victor Quince slashed a two-out line drive up the middle in the fifth inning to put PCH into a 3-1 lead. Duncan singled for the third time in the sixth and scored an insurance run.

TWO SAFETIES

Bill Rollo's bunt single and Larry Tremper's run-scoring double in the sixth were the only Chief safeties in the nightcap. Koedel then settled down to retire the final five batters and dampen PCH's hopes.

★ ★ ★

Andover took a 3-2 lead on Northville in the sixth when a walk, Brian Parrott's double, Randy Marshall's two-run single and John Baumann's rbi-basehit plated all of the Barons' runs.

But pinchhitter Jeff Taylor led off the seventh with a home run to tie the game for the Mustangs. A walk, stolen base and two errors handed them the winning tally in the eighth.

★ ★ ★

Clarkston was down to its final out when Dick Johnson singled home the tying run and Jerry Ostrom promptly followed with another rbi-safety for the Wolves' fifth straight W-O triumph. They have won six of their last seven starts.

Tony Himmelspach's third-inning triple was the only hit for Farmington against Stevenson's tough senior Tonnemacher. The Spartans are unbeaten in six I-L starts, Farmington is 2-8 over-all.

Southfield's Blue Jays gained a key victory Friday afternoon and moved a game-and-a-half ahead in the Southeast Michigan baseball race with a 6-5 win over Ferndale.

The come-from-behind conquest moved the winners within two victories of a share of the title. Seaholm took over second place by blanking Hazel Park, 7-0, behind Mike Hilkene.

Berkley tied Royal Oak Kimball for fourth place with an eight-inning, 7-3 decision that was the Knights' second loss in extra innings this week.

★ ★ ★

Ferndale took a 2-0 laad at Southfield on Bill Screws' two-run triple in the first inning. The Blue Jays tied it in the second, then fall behind, 3-2, in the third. They regained the lead in the fourth on Pat Ward's basehit.

FOILS STRATEGY

Then in the seventh, the host team attempted to pass Bob Young intentionally but he reached out and doubled home two Eagle mates with his fourth hit.

In Southfield's turn at bat, Rocky Roe singled, the next batter was hit by a pitch and both advanced on a sacrifice. Ed Daniels promptly lined a double to plate the tying and winning runs.

At Birmingham, Hilkene scattered four Hazel Park hits and struck out eight. It was his third win and gives the Maples three in a row for a 9-6 mark.

KEY HITTERS

George Metcalf slammed a double and single to figure in four runs for Seaholm. Teammate Doug Lehman produced three tallies with two singles.

Kimball took a 3-2 lead in the sixth on Bud Hurst and Jerry Wassen singles, plus a three-run error.

Berkley erupted for five hits in the eighth. John Parker plating the go-ahead run with a single and winning hurler Ken Tye produced another with a key double.

Shark Show to Encore Wednesday

George Segal (left) and Nicol Williamson star in the ABC-TV adaptation of John Steinbeck's "Of Mice and Men," in color, Wednesday from 9 to 11 p.m. The story concerns a feeble-minded giant and his protector caught in the stream of migratory farm life during the depression.

"Sharks," premiere program of the acclaimed ABC News series, "The Undersea World of Jacques Cousteau," will be retelecast on channel 7, Wednesday from 7:30-8:30 p.m.

Originally telecast last January "Sharks," produced for ABC News by Wolper Productions and renowned undersea explorer Capt. Jacques Cousteau, is a gripping study of the behavior of the sea's most dangerous creatures.

Lauded by the press, "Sharks" was described by one critic as "the most beautiful, terrifying and poetic film of the undersea world ever shown on television . . ."

"Sharks" was filmed by Capt. Cousteau in the Red Sea, the Indian Ocean and the Gulf of of Aden.

One of the most terrifying segments in the documentary is a shark feeding frenzy — moments when the creatures churn the waters wildly as they bite and slash at everything around them.

"That Girl," Marlo Thomas, receives a proposal — her first — in "He and She and He," on Channel 7, Thursday at 9 p.m.

Over 15 Million in April

Color TV Households on Rise

The number of color-equipped TV households in the United States increased to 15,270,000 as of April, according to the National Broadcasting Co.'s latest quarterly estimate.

Allen R. Cooper, vice president, planning, NBC, released the report which said 27 per cent of all U.S. TV households owned one or more color sets.

"During the past 12 months, 4,980,000 additional homes have been added to the color TV audience, the largest annual increase to date," Cooper said.

"The figures reflect a gain of 48 per cent over the April 1, 1967, total," he said.

SOURCE DATA

The sustained growth of color TV over the past 39 months is highlighted in the accompanying chart which summarizes NBC estimates since Jan. 1, 1965.

NBC's estimates, of which this is No. 16, are based on a variety of industry source data including color set production, sales and inventories at the distributor and dealer levels, and set scrappage.

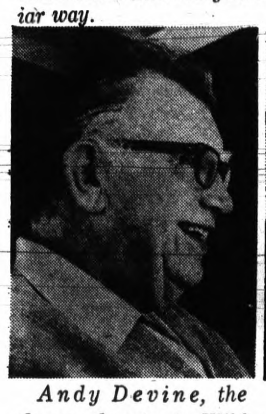
GLENWOOD PLAZA— NORTH PERRY STREET CORNER GLENWOOD

Clayton Moore, who made 225 episodes as the Lone Ranger, continues personal appearances looking as he did in those early days of yesteryear. Before a large blow-up of the Masked Rider in Hollywood, Moore, in the same size outfit he wore more than 12 years ago, gestures in a familiar way.



Andy Devine, the clumsy deputy to Wild Bill Hickock, still maintains a busy acting career and shares his time with short-wave "hams" throughout the world.

Gene Autry, once a guitar-strumming singer, has become an investor in radio and TV stations, hotels, ranches, music publishing and even a major-league baseball team.

Old TV Cowboys--- Where Are They?

HOLLYWOOD — Those TV Western stars of yesteryear, where have they gone? What's happened to the heroes of the old action-packed, cliche-ridden television oaters gunned down by today's adult Westerns, which are more interested in character development than action?

Defeated without a showdown gunfight by "Gunsmoke," "Wyatt Earp," "Bonanza" and the like, what's happened to the old favorites? Gene Autry. Roy Rogers. Gabby Hayes. Hopalong Cassidy. The Lone Ranger.

★ ★ ★

Some, at least, have gone thisaway.

Multimillionaire Autry, 60, sits at a big desk next to a scowling wooden Indian carved by a New Mexico fan and makes more millions.

Rogers, 56, and his wife Dale Evans, 55, still break records in personal appearances. Back at Roy's museum in Apple Valley, tourists gawk at thousands of Rogers' treasures, including his stuffed horse Trigger and his first, hock-shop guitar.

KIT CARSON

Bill Williams, who was TV's Kit Carson, collects $6,000-a-month rentals on business properties he builds.

William Boyd, 72, TV's first great idol, Hopalong Cassidy, lives with his wife in retirement in Southern California.

★ ★ ★

And Gail Davis, blonde, fortyish and still beautiful, awaits a call from some producer daring enough to forget her image as TV's first Western heroine, Annie Oakley.

In 1959 there were 32 Western series on the air. Many fell by the wayside — to a low of five in 1963-65 and this season's 11.

COMIC SIDEKICKS

There were the comic sidekicks: Smiley Burnette. Fuzzy Knight. Whiskery George "Gabby" Hayes, now 82, widowed several years and bedridden.

And the lines that became famous cliches: "They went thataway." "Head 'em off at the pass!"

"Another was, 'You stay here with six good men and I'll take the buckboard into town,'" says Pat Buttram, who sidekicked with Autry in 150 TV episodes and 60 movies.

COUNTRY CON MAN

Buttram, now in his third season as a country con man on TV's "Green Acres," recalls: "There were two kinds of heavies. The smooth heavy ran the saloon. The dog heavy would tell his henchmen, 'Get rid of him. Make it look like an accident.'"

The Lone Ranger's companion, Tonto, was played by Jay Silverheels, a full-blooded Mohawk, now 50 and living in the San Fernando Valley with his wife.

★ ★ ★

TV's Lone Ranger — the series had begun on radio in 1933 with other actors — was Clayton Moore.

The onetime circus aerialist and film stuntman is a ruddy 6-feet-1 and 185 pounds, with brilliant blue eyes and iron-gray hair. He won't tell his age — "the Lone Ranger is ageless" — and is never photographed without his narrow black mask because: "I don't like to spoil the image for the kids."

I Love Chamrousse in the Springtime . . .

And so do Jean Claude Killy, Peggy Fleming, Tim Wood and Terry McDermott. Although they found gold in this charming French community, the magnificent beauty of this majestic mountain overlooks the romantic grace of historic Grenoble, France, and remember for your visit . . .

BBC's Mixed Marriage Fails

No Accolades for TV Show

LONDON (UPI) — The British Broadcasting Corporation was proud of its pioneer television series "Rainbow City," based on the marriage of a black West Indian lawyer to a white English girl.

When the series ended, it sent out audience research teams for the expected accolade. The reports indicated that instead of promoting racial harmony the mixed marriage had aroused considerable hostility.

The researchers dredged up the first concrete evidence that millions of average Britons resented the heavy influx of Indians, Pakistanis, West Indians and other non-white since the war.

The discontent was there, just beneath the surface of the cozy tolerance Britain likes to present to the world, but it lacked a national voice.

On April 20, Enoch Powell, defense spokesman in the Conservative Party's "shadow cabinet" gave it one.

★ ★ ★

The theme of his speech was "Keep Britain White" or face interracial violence as bloody as that in the United States.

Conservative leader Edward Heath fired him from the shadow cabinet. Members of the House of Commons denounced him.

But newspapers which attacked Powell admitted letters from readers were heavily in his favor.

The depth of feeling about the race problem is hard to assess in the absence of nationwide polls since Powell spoke.

But the BBC put some questions to a studio audience carefully chosen to represents a cross-section of viewers in the midlands, where the bulk of the immigrants are centered.

Eighty-four per cent were against legislation such as the race relations bill, supported by most members of Parliament, which makes it an offense to discriminate on the grounds of race.

★ ★ ★

Since all three main political parties, presumably reflecting the opinion of the bulk of the country, have strongly supported civil rights legislation, leaders have been asking what went wrong.

The answer seems to be that too many imigrants arrived too soon, that successive British governments miscalculated the numbers eligible for entry and the strain their arrival would place on housing, employment and the health services.

There are just under one million colored immigrants in Britain, about 2 per cent of the total population. Some 350,000 are from the West Indies, 250,000 from India, 150,000 from Pakistan, 110,000 from Africa and 80,000 other Asians.

These numbers swell by more than 40,000 imigrants a year.

Janet Leigh and Van Johnson are husband and wife in the spicy comedy "Wives and Lovers," to be presented, in color, on Channel 7 Sunday from 9 to 11 p.m. Also starring Shelley Winters and Martha Hyer, the comedy is the story of young moderns whose sudden wealth catapults them into a romantic-go-round.

Patrick Macnee and Linda Thorson star as John Steed and Tara King, as unlikely a pair of British investigators as any conventional Englishman could imagine. In addition to battling the forces of evil every week, Miss Thorson must also battle the image of her popular predecessor, Mrs. Emma Peel (actress Diana Rigg) who left the show in March. Steed and Tara appear on Channel 7's "The Avengers," Wednesdays.

ABC News takes a look at the modern missionary in a one-hour special, "In the Name of God," Monday, 10-11 p.m., on Channel 7. In top photo, cameraman William Hartigan (far right) has a dubious look on his face as he views a witch doctor at work on the island of Yap in the South Pacific. Shown below is a religious meeting in Manmad, India. Humanitarian activities of Catholic and Protestant missionaries are shown in four poverty-ridden outposts of civilization. It is part of the "Saga of Western Man" series.

Monroe Ford Plant Idled

MONROE (AP) — Production at Monroe Stamping Division of Ford Motor Co. was curtailed yesterday when about 500 day-shift workers refused to go on the job.

★ ★ ★

Raymond Miller, president of United Auto Workers union Local 723 in Monroe, said Bard Young, U A W International regional director, had told him the strike is unauthorized.

About 300 day-shift workers who were in the plant before the rebellion began stayed on the job for their shift.

Big 3 Recalls 28,000 Cars

DETROIT (AP)—Big Three automakers announced recall of more than 28,000 cars Friday because of possible malfunctions involving head light covers, stering and acceleration systems.

Ford Motor Co. said 3,400 of its LTD, XL and Country Squire models built at Mahwah, N. J., and Norfolk, Va., and delivered to dealers on the East Coast were being recalled.

The company said springs may have been omitted from vacuum-operated concealed headlight systems. The springs hold the headlight covers open in the event of a major loss of vacuum, a company spokesman said. Loss of the springs could mean covers may close while the car is in motion.

'67 MODELS

The other two recalls involved Chrysler Corp. and the Oldsmobile Division of General Motors Corp.

Chrysler said police and taxicab operators were being notified to return 1967 model Dodge, Plymouth and Chrysler cars equipped with manual steering.

The problem, Chrysler said, is a possible misalignment of the energy-absorbing steering column. Chrysler said 13,963 vehicles were involved in this callback.

Oldsmobile said it was recalling 11,461 cars because they may have an improperly installed nut which could lead to difficulty in controlling the car.

★ ★ ★

The cars involved are 1968 model 88s and 98s equipped with cruise control, which has a cable adjusting nut that may disengage if the driver presses the accelerator pedel to a level beyond the speed preselected for the cruise control system, Oldsmobile said.

Disengaging the nut would hold the throttle in an open position, the firm said.

TO INSTALL NUT

Oldsmobile said a special torque prevailing nut will be installed and linkage adjusted, as necessary, on these cars.

Chrysler said the cars it is recalling would be inspected, with corrections to be made as needed.

Chrysler also said it was recalling 814 vehicles equipped with M300 and M375 Dodge truck chassis built in 1968. These vehicles have a steering column coupling joint clamp bolt which may have been damaged by being tightened too much, Chrysler said. The clamp nut and bolt will be replaced, the firm said in announcing that it was notifying owners to return the vehicles to their dealers.

Car Need Repairs? Tell Tape Recorder

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co., is evaluating an experimental program of handling automobile servicing instructions through tape recorders, eliminating any delay a customer might face while waiting until a maintenance man can discuss the repair problem.

Under the program, the customer explains to the tape recorder what he wants done to the car, offering additional comments on various noises and actions of the car, and any other items that might help diagnose the problem.

The service writer then adds his views to those of the customer and assigns the job.

The auto technician listens to the tape, makes the suggested repairs, then reports on the tape exactly what he did and mentions any other items which might indicate the car needs further attention.

Video Tape Speeds Child's Adoption

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — Amy Garrett, 2, goes to her adopted home in Buffalo, N.Y. today with a family that fill in love with her when they saw her as the star of her own, private television show.

The show—a special video tape mailed from Wilmington to Buffalo last week—is an innovation in adoption proceedings.

★ ★ ★

After seeing and hearing the wide-eyed child on a television screen on Tuesday, the wait until Friday when they saw her in person seemed interminable for the new parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Garrett.

"It'll be like Christmas at our house," said Mrs. Garrett.

SPECIFIED AGE

Last Jan. 16, the Garretts applied at the Children's Aid Society of Erie County, N.Y., to adopt a daughter. They specified the age—about two—and decided her name would be Amy.

She was to be a younger sister for their only child, Angela, 5.

★ ★ ★

The Buffalo agency didn't have the child they wanted so it submitted their requests to the Adoption Research Exchange of North America (ARENA), which has a listing of children in every state who are waiting for homes.

★ ★ ★

Miss Marjorie Connors, the Garretts' Buffalo caseworker, was referred by ARENA to the Wilmington Children's Aid Society, which seemed to have the very child the couple was seeking.

'CALL HER'

The video tape, made at Brandywine High School in suburban Wilmington, then was sent to Buffalo.

"After I saw her, I shouted, 'Boy, just what the doctor ordered'," said Mrs. Garrett. "And my husband kept saying, 'Call her' (Miss Connors)."

"The video tape makes the child seem more real", than photographs, Miss Connors said. In the past, couples got their first look at children awaiting adoption through still photographs.

There was some initial shyness when the young couple first saw the tot here but before long, the youngster—wearing a pale blue dress, stockings and headband and carrying a white pocketbook — became friends with her new parents.

A Look at TV

3rd Series on Racism Set

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — A third television network has scheduled a group of special summer programs about America's race relations.

Previously, CBS-TV announced it would begin its series, "Of Black America," on July 2. And National Educational Television said it would start "an experiemental black magazine of the air" in mid-June.

★ ★ ★

Now ABC-TV has disclosed plans for six one-hour programs — four in prime time — beginning June 27 under the title "Time for Americans."

OUTLINE OF PROGRAMS

Here is an ABC-TV outline of the programs:

● June 27, 10 p.m. EDT "Bias and the Media." Description: "Racism as it exists in the media in America — radio and television, the Advertising agencies, the advertisers, newspapers and magazines."

● July 11, 10 p.m. EDT: "In the Same Boat." Description: "A look at last summer's riots in Newark. How the black and white community felt then, their thoughts now . . . ."

★ ★ ★

● July 15, 7:30 p.m. EDT: "Prejudice and the Police." Description: "The city of Houston has undertaken a dramatic method of exposing prejudice among the men who can least afford psychodrama. Houston's police are facing up to their own prejudices and those of the black community."

● July 28, 4 p.m. EDT: "My Grandfather Made It, Why Can't You?" Description: "A contrasting look at the Negro and white man, whose immigrant ancestors pulled themselves up by their bootstraps."

● July 29, 7:30 p.m. EDT: "Who Are 'They'?" Description: "A study of a 'nice' suburban community and the subtle forms of racism in all of us."

Fisher, Man of Many 'Parts,' Won't Act in Own Movie

By EARL WILSON

Eddie Fisher, Take the Stand! . . .

NEW YORK — "Eddie, do you think of yourself now as a producer, or a singer, or an actor, or a husband?"

"I'll always be a singer, and I became a father . . . but I won't let myself perform in the picture I'm producing. I just want to be the producer."

"Why won't you let yourself act?"

WILSON

"I don't want to get another award from the Harvard Lampoon as the worst actor of the year as I did when I did that picture called 'Butterball 4.' (Known to others as "Butterfield 8" starring Liz Taylor.)

"Producing is something I want to do when I get tired of singing 50 songs a night and only want to sing 25," Eddie said.

★ ★ ★

Eddie was at 21, wearing and occasionally showing off the wedding band which he says attests the marriage ceremony he had with Connie Stevens, sometime, somewhere. "We think we're entitled to some secrecy as to where it happened," he smiled.

The picture, budgeted at $12,000,000, is "Paint Your Wagon," about the 1849 gold rush days, which begins shooting shortly in Oregon with Lee Marvin in the starring role. $1,000,000 worth of actor right there.

But to show that he wasn't all business, Eddie unbuttoned his shirt and displayed some beads. Visiting the Pentagon for a U.S. Savings bonds drive he's heading, he pressed some on the neck of Undersecretary of Air Robert Charles who claimed he would wear them to a party for his daughter the next night.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Sheila MacRae said it on the "Personality" Tv'er: "The reason women talk more than men is that they have to compete with their mothers from the time they're born."

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "Experience is a school where a man learns what a big fool he has been." — Josh Billings.

EARL'S PEARLS: Ben Benson says he used to play water polo, but had to give it up: "My horse was drowned."

Singer Esther Tohbi, who subbed for Lana Cantrell, Gordon MacRae and others in cafes when they were ailing, was told that Edie Adams at the Royal Box was talented and charming. "Never mind that," Esther said, "— how's she feeling?" . . . That's earl, brother.

Series Explores Racial Friction

The first of five documentaries exploring the causes and possible solutions of racial friction in the Detroit Metropolitan area will be televised Monday on Channel 4, WWJ-TV.

The 7:30 p.m. programs, telecast on successive Mondays — May 20, 27 and June 10, 17 and 24 — will serve as a basis for in-home discussions of the issues immediately after each show.

The discussion will be held in private homes where six to 10 neighbors will review the problems to find out what each is thinking.

The series is being sponsored by the Southeastern Michigan Community Forum.

The organization was formed a year ago by the leadership of all religious groups in the Detroit area, both black and white, including the Metropolitan Detroit Council of Churches, Roman Catholic archdiocese of Detroit and Jewish Community Council.

Through the Interfaith Action Council, every Jewish Synagogue and every Protestant and Catholic church in the area is asking its members to take part in the program.

★ ★ ★

Persons interested in serving as a discussion leader can obtain written instructions and discussion guides by writing the Southeastern Michigan Community Forum, 4800 Woodward, Detroit, Mich., 48201.

'Poor City' Grows Despite Soaring Costs and Depleted Coffers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Poor People's Campaign says that even though it's almost broke, it plans to more than double the population of the nation's capital with a million-member demonstration on Memorial Day.

★ ★ ★

Organizers of the camp-in agree that after only one week in Washington, they are faced with a crisis of less money and more people to care for than they had anticipated.

Beyond that, however, it's impossible to find two officials of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference who agree on just how big a hole the campaign seems to be in, and whether the financial pinch has put it in any danger of foundering.

★ ★ ★

The campaign coordinator, the Rev. Bernard Lafayette, insisted at a news conference Friday that $3 million is needed just to finish building the plywood huts of "Resurrection City U. S. A." that now houses about 600 demonstrators near the Lincoln Memorial.

FIRM BELIEF

But while he named the highest money figure, he also insisted: "I firmly believe that we will get everything necessary to carry this campaign through, I have given no thought to failure because we don't intend to fail."

★ ★ ★

The Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, SCLC president, told a news conference in Albuquerque, N.M., Friday that construction is being hampered because of "pressures brought to bear on lumber companies."

★ ★ ★

He said several lumber companies had agreed to provide construction materials. He did not elaborate.

But he did say: "We're going to build the city regardless of the cost."

★ ★ ★

Lafayette's assistant, deputy coordinator Anthony Henry, said the campaign was only $200,000 short.

Hard to Find Any Ready to Move Out

WASHINGTON (AP) — If there are deserters from "Resurrection City, U.S.A." they're hard to find.

In more than an hour of tent-flat interviewing Friday, only two persons were found who are thinking about leaving the Poor People's Campaign encampment here before its sponsor—the Southern Christian Leadership Conference—gives the word.

★ ★ ★

A Negro woman who declined to identify herself stalked out of the big dining tent and startled a scattering of campaigners by shouting, "I'm leaving this city."

She wouldn't say why.

A young man from Marks, Miss., tilting back on a chair against the shady end of his plywood-and-plastic hut, said he was homesick for his children and family. He wanted to leave.

REPORTS DENIED

Campaign spokesmen, however, denied reports that large numbers were ready to quit even before Resurrection City gets all its A-frame huts put together.

"It's been a very small number," said information officer John Diamante. "Only a few people who had illness in the family."

★ ★ ★

Bertrand Ransome, the blue-denimed, harassed "city manager," said firmly, "Nobody's leaving. That's just a rumor. It's false."

One camper said some neighbors—who were away at the moment—had talked about leaving the first few days, but got used to the makeshift conditions and decided to stay.

Up and down the sun-baked rows, campaigners said they were staying.

How long?

"Til the Lord wills."

Three, four years. Maybe three, four months. Long as I have to."

★ ★ ★

"Til the President and Congress do something."

"Have you been to Memphis, honey?" asked a Negro woman, with amused patience. "Have you been to Marks?"

★ ★ ★

She swept her arm in an arc taking in the trees and grass of West Potomac Park, the Reflecting Pool, the gleaming white Lincoln Memorial and, beyond the growing line of hunts, the Washington Monument.

"This is paradise compared to some of those places," she said.

Vietnam war traffic has added about 5 per cent to the revenues of United States airlines.

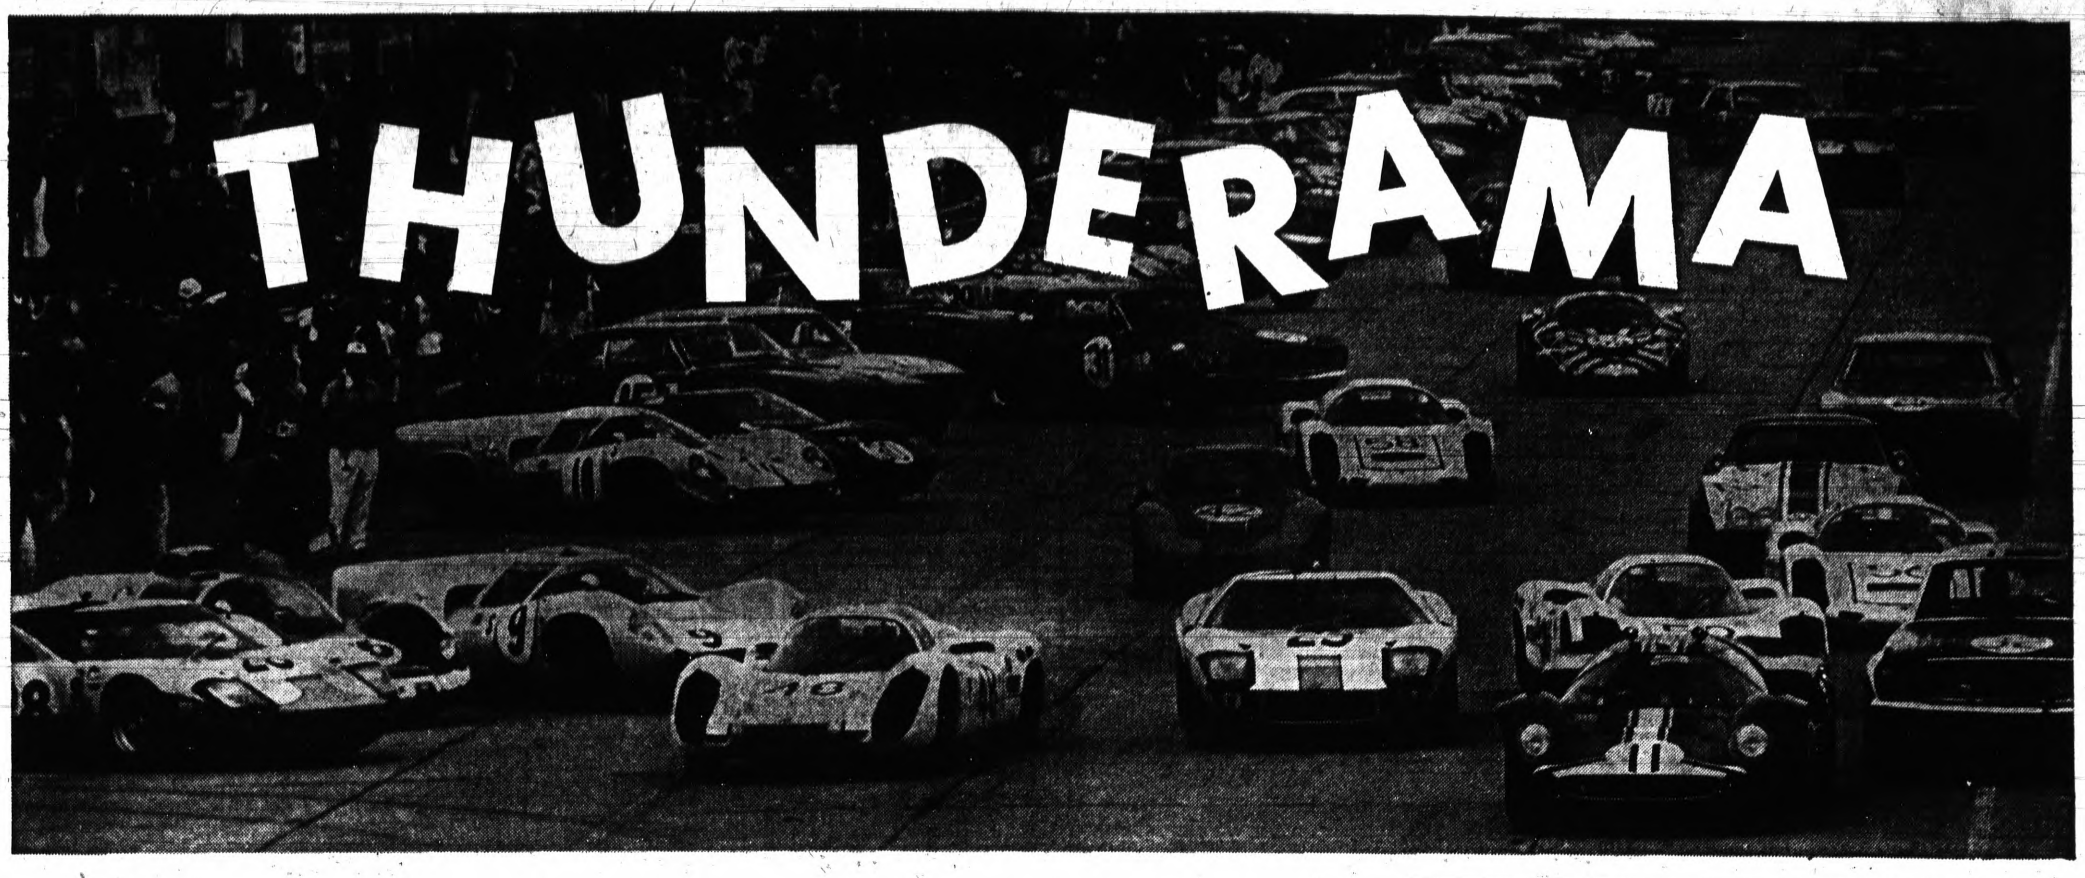
1125 NORTH PERRY . . . USE MICHIGAN BANKARD OR SECURITY BANK CHARGE



Ride the hot winds of summer once again and chase an image just out of sight. Feel the tension bind your shoulders in pain with every gearshift on that ragged edge near destruction. While arms and legs go numb, look through sweat-drenched goggles for the checkered flag somewhere beyond the next curve, and the next, and the next.

Try not to think of the one always riding beside you, that final shadow never considered nor acknowledged except in remote and abstract terms. Yet make one miscalculation, have one part break loose on that hard roadway you ride and, when dust and wreckage settle, you may be beyond everything and into that final oblivion which is Death.

Don't take time to look at cool shadows, calling you from beneath waving trees; don't look for individual faces in the psychedelic blur beside the course; don't even look at the tach because, in the seat of your pants, you feel the car's power more accurately than mere gauges might tell.

Listen closely, way down inside, and you'll hear the laughter of yesterday's greats showing the way: Nuvolari, Ascari, Hawthorne and Collins. Their spirits come to join your scream along the straights, your claim on the curves while, behind, others forever drop away.

Men stand ready to keep you going or, when your time ends, a co-driver waits with lightning in his eyes to enter the hushed thunder of power now beneath your feet and driving forward, on and on and on.

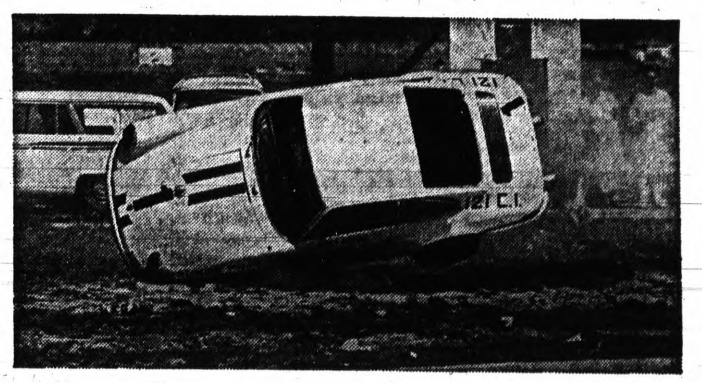
You've been there before, been to Daytona Beach or Riverside, to Sebring (where these pictures were taken) or Laguna Seca, to Watkins Glen or Las Vegas. You've raced them all to the music of howling engines and the perfume of belching exhausts. It keeps you going, won't let you slow down until that black and white flag blurs past speed-soaked face.

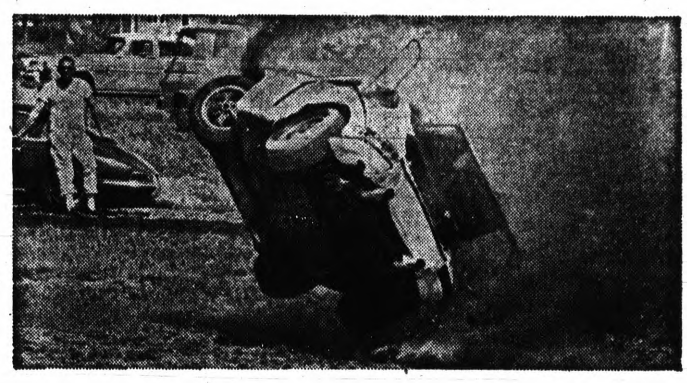
If you're the lucky one, the sweet taste of victory comes from the big shiny cup and the distant cheers of the crowd. But all the while you'll look back to that wondrous place just left and, in upcoming summer heat, you'll wait with impatience for the next opportunity to ride once more the winds.

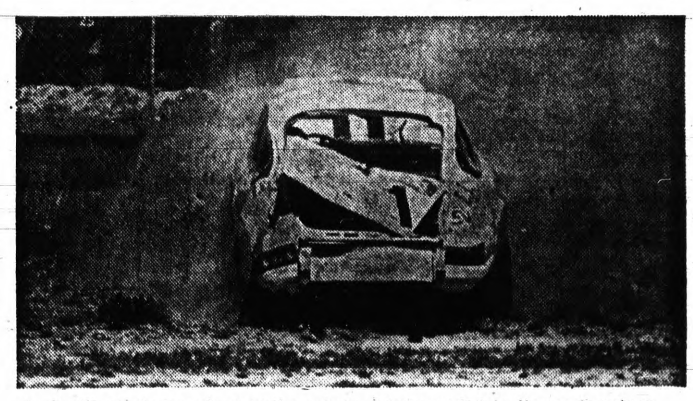
1. Sometimes spectators are too close or damage too much to keep going.

2. There's a siren song out there, echoed but briefly in victory.

3. They come in many sizes and wear many colors.







4. Suddenly the car is over the edge and you wait for silence to return.

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY

If you want to use the Jacoby transfer, we have a few special words of advice. First, make sure that you and your partner are in complete agreement about it. Next, use it in response to no-trump opening bids only.

JACOBY

The third bit is that you do not use it if second hand has acted over your partner's no-trump.

North's two heart bid showed at least five spades and South dutifully bid two spades in reply to the transfer.

★ ★ ★

North's second round jump to three no-trump said, "Partner, I have already shown you that I hold five spades. Now I want you to know that my hand is suitable for play at no-trump game as well as in spades."

South's decision to place the contract in spades was a good one. He only held two spades but they were very good cards and South had opened one no-trump without a stopper in diamonds.

★ ★ ★

Playing at four spades, South won the diamond opening and went right after trumps. He had to lose the ace of spades and two diamonds but the rest of the tricks were his. Three no-trump would have gone down because West would cash four diamond tricks.

It is interesting to note that without a diamond opening the North-South cards would have produced 11 tricks at either no-trump or spades and if diamonds had broken 4-3, no lead would have beaten three-no-trump.

This takes nothing from South's fine decision. Bitter experience has taught us that if there is one opening lead to beat one of our unsound contracts, our opponents have a mean habit of making it.

Open-Housing Bill to Be Signed Soon

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney, delighted with passage Friday of a statewide ban on racial discrimination in sale or rental of housing, is expected to sign the measure into law soon after receipt.

Romney declined comment after the Legislature passed the bill—a stronger measure than the federal law. But an aide said, "There's little question what the governor will do."

★ ★ ★

The governor should receive the bill within two weeks. He then has 14 days to sign the measure into law. The bill will become effective 90 days after the Legislature adjourns.

The measure headed toward the governor's desk after the Senate concurred in 21 amendments tacked onto the bill by the House.

CONSERVATIVE FOES

The amendments were added despite efforts by conservative House members to make the bill conform to federal legislation. Proponents argued that this would make the measure meaningless.

Federal law exempts buildings designed for four or fewer families and in which the owner lives. It also exempts single-family dwellings rented or sold without the aid of a realtor and without using newspaper advertising which contains racial restrictions.

★ ★ ★

The state version excludes buildings in which not more than two families live, including the owner, and single-family dwellings in which a room or rooms is rented.

In addition, the state bill prohibits discrimination based on race, religion or nationality in buildings accommodating not more than two families if they have in any manner listed or publicly advertised for sale or rental.

LIABLE FOR DAMAGES

Individuals found guilty of housing bias could be liable for up to $500 in actual damages suffered by the victim of discrimination. Real estate firms, banks and other professional violators would be subject to a maximum fine of $1,000 on the first conviction, and up to $2,000 for a repeat violation.

In addition, the bill provides that persons filing false claims could be made to pay attorney fees and court costs of the person accused.

★ ★ ★

Romney has been fighting for passage of an open-housing bill ever since the 1967 Detroit riot. The measure was approved by the Senate April 4.

The House passed the measure three days ago after much arm-twisting and bitter debate, and returned the bill with 21 amendments to the Senate for final approval.

★ ★ ★

By a vote of 26-5, the upper chamber adopted the amendments Friday and sent the bill to the governor.

Road Safety Panel Urges Holiday Care

The Taffic Safety Committee of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce yesterday urged drivers to be particularly careful during Memorial Day weekend.

At their monthly meeting, committee members received a report detailing what is needed to help promote traffic safety. Needs suggested included increased community participation in the committee's activities.

★ ★ ★

Objectives of the committee are to instill an understanding of the accident problem and an awareness of personal responsibilities for the safety of everyone in the community.

The committee is largely composed of members who work in fields involving different areas of traffic activity. The committee members work with public officials and other responsible groups already actively engaged in traffic activities.

COMMUNITY PROBLEMS

Members also work to focus community attention on major community accident problems and generate public opinion to support necessary action that will solve these problems.

A Brandon Township man and his son were left homeless yesterday by a fire which broke out late Thursday evening.

The blaze, at the residence of Edward Paida, 2520 Auten, was reported by a neighbor at about 10:15 p.m. The house was almost totally destroyed, and Fire Chief William Buckingham estimated damage to building and contents at about $6,500.

Paida was at work and his son had left the home at 6:30 p.m., Buckingham said.

Firemen remained at the scene until about 1 a.m. They were assisted in fighting the blaza by the Atlas Township department. Cause of the fire, the chief added, is under investigation.

Novi Girl Is Vying for Miss USA Title

Virginia Clift, the president of the Novi High School junior class, vies tonight for the title of Miss USA in Miami Beach, Fla.

The 18-year-old miss became Michigan's representative in a Detroit contest May 3.

The brown-haired, brown-eyed winner is the daughter of Robert H. Clift of 45285 Grand River, Novi, and Mrs. Laura C. Clift of 41151 Grand River, Novi.

A self-employed model, she stands 5-foot-6 and measures 34-24-34.

CHEERLEADER

Virginia is also a cheerleader and a member of the girls' track team at Novi High School.

Virginia has been in Miami Beach this past week for rehearsals, luncheons and interviews with judges, her father said. Forty-nine girls were entered in the national contest.

★ ★ ★

Her competition before the public tonight includes an interview and modeling. The pageant will be telecast on Channel 2 at 10 p.m.

The state contest with a total of eight girls was judged on the basis of personality, poise and appearance in a swimsuit and gown.

Virginia lives at 45285 Grand River. She has one brother, Robert Jr., a freshman at Novi High School.

Swap of Mayors to Top M-Week

Michigan Week activities in Pontiac will be highlighted Monday by Mayors Exchange Day with Ypsilanti Mayor John H. Burton and the city's Mayor Pro Tem Vaughn E. Filsinger and their wives spending the day in Pontiac.

Burton, an 18-year member of Ypsilanti's City Council, is one of the state's three Negro mayors. He was elected Mayor by his fellow councilmen.

★ ★ ★

The guests will arrive at City Hall at 9:30 a.m. and meet with city officials. They will tour the city's administrative buildings before lunch.

After lunch, a tour of Pontiac Motor Division has been planned. At 2 p.m. the guests plus a number of invited officials from surrounding areas will have a meeting at the plant.

★ ★ ★

Clyle Haskill, local Michigan Week Chairman, said supervisors of Pontiac and Waterford Township, and the mayors visiting Sylvan Lake, Lake Orion, Keego Harbor and Rochester have been invited.

After visiting the plant the Ypsilantians will be given a tour of the Oakland County Service Center and possibly Oakland University.

★ ★ ★

A private reception will be hosted in the early evening by Pontiac Mayor Pro Tem T. Warren Fowler Sr. A private dinner gathering at the Kingsley Inn in Birmingham will follow.

All churches in the area have been invited to prepare a special program to be held during Michigan Week, Haskill said.

House Bill Ups Appropriation for Oakland U.

The Michigan House of Representatives yesterday approved a higher education bill which would give Oakland University $5,171,000 in operating funds for the next fiscal year.

★ ★ ★

This is about $787,000 more than the university is operating with in the 1967-68 fiscal year and is in line with Gov. George Romney's recommendation for funds for the school, but some $480,000 more than called for in the education bill approved by the State Senate.

★ ★ ★

The total appropriation bill approved by the House is some $5 million higher than that approved by the Senate. The House version was sent to the Senate where it expected there is considerable opposition to the House hike.

The outlook is that the measure will end up in a Senate-House conference committee so differences can be ironed out.

'COULD GET BY'

Chancellor Durwood B. Varner said that if the House version of the higher education bill stands up the University "would, with some very austere operations, get by during the next year."

The House approved a total appropriation of $252.2 million for the state's 11 colleges and universities and for several community colleges by a 94-8 vote.

★ ★ ★

The House also passed, 96-5, a measure calling for a state general fund expenditure of $152.7 million for the Mental Health Department.

The Senate, meanwhile, passed it version of the general government budget bill calling for spending $45.7 million with $14.8 million earmarked for the Treasury Department to finance tax colletcions. This passed 26-5.

CIVIL RIGHTS

Defeated was an amendment proposed by Sen. James G. Fleming, R-Jackson that would have reduced the budget of the State Civil Rights Commission from $1.8 million to $1.6 million.

Fleming charged that the CRC has made relations between whites and blacks worse, not better, since it came into existence.

★ ★ ★

He charged that the CRC has "increased tensions in Jackson by 100 per cent."

The budget bills approved in each of the legislative bodies were sent to the opposite houses for concurrence on amendments.

U. OF M. HIGHEST

In the House passed version of the higher education bill the University of Michigan would get the highest appropriation among the state's universities and colleges at $63.6 million.

★ ★ ★

Michigan State, excluding Oakland University, would receive about $57.3 million; Wayne State University, $38.3 million; Western Michigan University, $16.2 million; and Eastern Michigan University, $11.6 million.

Move Could Avert Crisis

SAIGON (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu announced appointment today of ex-schoolteacher Tran Van Huong, 64, as South Vietnam's new premier.

Thieu made the announcement in a prepared nationwide radio and television address nine hours after he accepted the resignation of Premier Nguyen Van Loc at an emergency cabinet meeting.

★ ★ ★

The announcement may put a quick end to the threat of a long government crisis which could have undermined the position of the American delegation in the Paris peace talks. But it did not necessarily heal the widening split between Thieu and his strong-willed vice president, Air Vice Marshal Nguyen Cao Ky.

Loc is a close associate of Ky, who is strongly opposed to the American effort to end the war by negotiation and compromise. Thieu's attitude has been more flexible.

'FACE GRAVE DANGER'

In his resignation statement, Loc declared that South Vietnam faces "grave danger" from the Paris talks.

For the past three days, Ky's friends have passed the word that Huong, a former premier, is unacceptable to the vice president.

★ ★ ★

Informants said Ky suspects Huong of a willingness to end the war by compromise. Ky was the only government member absent from the cabinet meet. He was reported at the South Vietnamese air base at Nha Trang, 200 miles northeast of Saigon.

Huong, a Buddhist from Vinh Long in the Mekong Delta, has twice served as mayor of Saigon.

Peace Talks Put Strain on U.S.-Saigon Relations

PARIS (AP) — Ambassadors W. Averell Harriman and Xuan Thuy met for about four hours and 10 minutes today, their longest session yet, to round out the first week of Vietnam peace talks amid evidence that the discussions are putting fresh strains on U.S.-South Vietnamese relations.

"We had a long discussion today," Harriman said. "We have adjourned to meet again next Wednesday."

★ ★ ★

This three-day spread will be the longest interval between sessions since the talks began last Monday. A North Vietnamese spokesman said the delay was at Harriman's request. This immediately raised speculation that Harriman is planning a quick trip to the United States for consultation, but U.S. sources had no immediate comment.

★ ★ ★

Indications of a strain between Washington and Saigon came from a Saigon interview by Foreign Minister Tran Van Do who said his government had agreed only reluctantly to go along with a U.S. proposal made here to freeze the level of Communist forces in the South as part of a program for ending American attacks on the North.

CONCERN AROUSED

The resignation of Premier Nguyen Van Loc, meanwhile, caused a flurry of concern which was eased by the speed with which President Nguyen Van Thieu named Tran Van Huong as successor. Any hint of political instability in Saigon is a source of concern to U.S. policy makers and a threat of weakness for the United States in the negotiations here.

★ ★ ★

Thuy had the opportunity to speak first today, under the rotation system which has developed here, and as was expected he struck out again at continued U.S. bombing of the southern panhandle of North Vietnam. He is pressing for total cessation of all U.S. attacks on the North.

★ ★ ★

A spokesman for Thuy said yesterday there could be "no compromise" on this North Vietnamese demand. Harriman has been urging the North Vietnamese to take steps to deescalate the war in order to justify an end to U.S. attacks on the North.

Partly sunny and a chance of a few brief showers with temperatures continued mild is the outlook for the Pontiac area over the weekend.

★ ★ ★

The U.S. Weather Bureau forecasts the following for the period:

PARTY LEADERS — Democratic State Chairman Sander M. Levin (center) met with the heads of Oakland County's two congressional district committees, Eugene Kuthy (left) of the 18th District, and Aldo Vagnozzi of the 19th, before their conventions last night in the supervisors' auditorium in Pontiac. Levin, a state senator and a resident of Berkley, is a former chairman of the Democratic county organization.

Ex-Road Official Mute at Hearing

Thomas Kennedy, former Oakland County weighmaster, was released on $1,500 personal bond yesterday following his arraignment on three charges of embezzlement.

Kennedy, a former pro football player with the Detroit Lions and a long-time area high school coach, stood mute to the charges when he appeared before Waterford Township Justice of the Peace Kenneth H. Hempstead.

★ ★ ★

A former president of the Pontiac Optimist Club, Kennedy is accused of pocketing a total of $1,250 while employed by the County Road Commission. He resigned his post last October after 15 years service.

Presently self-employed as a sales representative, Kennedy, 49, of 2908 Voorheis, Waterford Township, had been under investigation by the Michigan State Police since February.

WEIGHT LIMITS

While working for the road commission, Kennedy was responsible for seeing that truckers kept their loads within specified weight limitations.

The funds allegedly involved were monies paid by truckers on three separate occasions in lieu of surety bonds to protect them against road damage. There are no records that the funds were turned over to the road commission, according to authorities.

★ ★ ★

Kennedy is scheduled to have his preliminary court examination before Hempstead on June 20 at 2 p.m.

County Dems Uncommitted

By JIM LONG

Following the position taken by the state party leaders, Democrats from Oakland County's 18th and 19th congressional districts last night decided to remain uncommitted on the candidates for the presidency.

No attempt was made by any of those attending the county district convention to seek endorsement at this time for any of the three major contenders, Hubert H. Humphrey, Robert F. Kennedy or Eugene J. McCarthy.

★ ★ ★

The major purpose of the convention, held at the supervisors' auditorium at the county courthouse, was to select delegates to the Democratic State Convention in Detroit on June 1 and 2.

An estimated 425 persons attended the conventions, the largest turnout ever, according to county Democratic Chairman George Googasian.

FARNUM, LEVIN SPEAK

Billie S. Farnum, deputy national chairman in charge of political organization and former congressman from the 19th District, and State Sen. Sander M. Levin, State Democratic chairman, addressed the convention delegates.

Like most other conventions throughout the state where party leaders called for noncommitted delegations, an assessment of developments was difficult regarding the favorite among the presidential hopefuls.

★ ★ ★

Generally, however, officials believe there is a leaning in Oakland County toward Vice President Humphrey with Sen. Kennedy of New York close behind, and Sen. McCarthy of Minnesota third.

The noncommitment policy taken by the county convention was in keeping with the urgings of Levin, State Atty.

Bobby Receives Cool Reception in Oregon

By The Associated Press

Oregon and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy have definitely not hit it off well on first encounter.

The city of Portland all but yawned in his face yesterday as the New York senator launched his campaign for the state's May 28 Democratic presidential primary.

★ ★ ★

The Kennedy charm that knocked 'em dead in dozens of cities in recent weeks just didn't come through this time because no one turned out to be charmed.

He was recieved politely but coolly in two appearances before factory workers and at the Portland Economic Club.

OTHER STOPS

There were other stops at schools, a nursing home, a department store — to purchase an Oregon-made wool sport shirt — but nowhere was there an explosion of crowd response such as has marked his tours in other states.

Indications were some of the senator's top campaign people working in other states will be yanked into Oregon to start making some changes.

★ ★ ★

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, who lost to Kennedy in the Indiana and Nebraska primaries, predicted during the Nebraska campaign that Kennedy might find their positions reversed in Oregon.

McCarthy has appeared breifly in Oregon in recent weeks but hasn't begun all-out campaigning there yet.

IN WASHINGTON

Yesterday, he was in Florida and tonight he will address a dinner of the Americans for Democratic Action in Washington.

McCarthy said yesterday he thought Kennedy's sugestion after the Nebraska primary that he join the Kennedy camp "really comes close to an edge of a kind of arrogance."

★ ★ ★

"No concessions, no compromises, no accomodations," he said.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, third contender for the Democratic presidential nomination, caused a flurry yesterday at the University of Maine when he said the United States and North Vietnam have agreed that in the Paris talks the North Vietnamese can have "whomever they want on their side and we will have whomever we want on out side."

The remark was made in response to question on whether the United States would negotiate with the National Liberation Front, political arm of the Vietcong.

Big labor came out for Humphrey yesterday with the announcement of the formation of the National Labor Committee for Humphrey.

★ ★ ★

The group is headed by I. W. Abel, president of the United Steelworkers, and its membership includes some 90 other union presidents and about 60 heads of state and city labor councils. Not listed was President Walter Reuther of the United Auto Wrokers.

Cleanup Gets M-Week off to Early Start

BIRMINGHAM — Michigan Week swings into action today in this city with community Pride Day, featuring the annual parade at 1 p.m.

The Birmingham Groves High School band was to join seven other groups, including a U.S. Marines color guard, two American Legion drum-and-bugle corps, Scottish Michigan Highlanders of Detroit, Redford Highlanders of Redford, and the Red Charmers, sponsored by the Marine Corps Downriver League of Detroit.

★ ★ ★

The program began at 8 a.m., however, with a massive cleanup of the Rouge River banks by 13 Boy Scout troops and two Explorer posts. Last year, the scouts, in a similar project, collected six truckloads of litter.

Besides marching groups, there will be floats in today's parade prepared by Covington Junior High School, Quarton Elementary School Girl Scouts, the Lions Club, Exchange Club, and Birmingham Board of Realtors.

PARADE OF AUTOS

There will be a parade of sports and antique cars. Other parade features will be the Oakland County Sheriff's Posse, units from Birmingham Fire Department, and the calliope of the Detroit Edison Co.

Post-parade music by the Franklin Village Band and Honey Graham Memorial Blooze Band is planned for Shain Park, located at Henrietta and Merrill.

Guest speakers will talk on the history of Oakland County. Tickets, at $2.50 per person, may be reserved at the society's headquarters at 405 Oakland Ave.

Haskill said the Pontiac schools will be cooperating in carrying out the motif of Michigan Week. School principals have indicated they will put on special plays and presentations featuring Michigan and its history.

Michigan Week begins today with a cleanup campaign sponsored by the Pontiac Area Jaycees. The day is officially designated Community Pride Day.

★ ★ ★

Hundreds of high school students began the campaign this morning and with the aid of the city fire department hosed down and cleaned Saginaw Street downtown.

The cleanup campaign — primarily for the downtown area — featured the cleaning of store fronts and store windows in the downtown area.

BAND COMPETITION

In the afternoon seven area bands provided music and competed for the designation of the best band. The winner will compete in a statewide competition to be held in Muskegon in a few weeks.

Plans also called for the youngsters to clean up some selected city parks. A contingent of youth has also planned to clean up the Bagley-Wesson area.

Michigan Week, observed May 18 through May 25, was initiated by the State Economic Development department, as a means of planning activities to make state residents more aware of their state and to make other states and countries more aware of Michigan.

Objectives of Michigan Week, as adopted by the board of governors of the Greater Michigan Foundation, are to:

- Give Michigan citizens a greater knowledge and appreciation of their state.
- Expound the state's assets and resources for industry, business, education and recreation.
- Foster a spirit of cooperation among all communities and persons to the end that all of Michigan will work together to make the state even more livable and attractive.

Corporate Profits Hit Another High

WASHINGTON (AP) — The all-time high hit by U.S. corporation profits in the final quarter of 1967 didn't remain a record long. The Commerce Department reports they climbed even higher the first quarter of this year.

Corporate profits before taxes in the January-March period reached an annual rate of $88.8 billion, up $3.7 billion from the record figure of October-December 1967, the department said Friday.

★ ★ ★

It was the third consecutive quarter in which corporation profits had been on the rise — a development not likely to be overlooked by organized labor when it goes to the bargaining table.

LE GRANDE WELCOME—French President Charles de Gaulle takes a welcoming drink from a wine flask in Sladina yesterday during a planned two-day visit to the western provinces of Romania. His visit will be cut short, however, because of the growing student-labor unrest in France.

Widespread Strife Paralyzing France

PARIS (AP) — The mushrooming student-labor revolt triggered a breakdown in transportation and many state services today, threatening France with semiparalysis.

President Charles de Gaulle will cut short a state visit to Romania and fly to Paris tonight to be in close touch with the situation, French sources in Romania said.

★ ★ ★

De Gaulle was said to have made the decision after radio-telephone consultations with Premier Georges Pompidou.

He will complete his official program here with talks with Romanian President and Communist party chief Cicolae Ceausescu, a brief television speech and a reception at the French Embassy tonight, the sources said.

'DEEPLY CONCERNED'

French officials said the president was "deeply concerned" over developments at home but chose to go through with his visit in order not to embarrass his Romanian hosts.

In France, Red flags flew from more than 40 factories occupied by striking workers. Dozens of other plants were shut down and as the weekend began the list of crippled plants grew. Agitation seemed at a peak in southwestern France and around Paris; the northern and eastern sections were less affected.

★ ★ ★

Personnel of the state-run radio and television networks threatened today to call strikes that would cut off De Gaulle's main communications link with the French people. But they did not decide when or how to launch the strike.

They announced a seven-point complaint list. They objected to everything from "government interference in the objectivity of news reports" to the attachment of the facility to the ministry of information.

★ ★ ★

Militant students earlier planned to occupy the state's television studios but changed their mind after cordons of gendarmes surrounded the place.

Kosygin Visiting Czech President

PRAGUE (AP) — Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin called on President Ludvik Svoboda of Czechoslovakia today and they spent a half hour discussing Soviet-Czechoslovak relations, the Czechoslovak news agency CTK reported.

Kosygin arrived in Prague unannounced yesterday in a climate of Soviet worry over the continuing liberalization in this East bloc nation. The official reason given for Kosygin's visit is that he had come for medical treatment and for talks with the new government leaders.

SEEK STRONG ROLE

"We're determined that we in Michigan will play a strong role in the selection of a candidate," Levin told the delegates.

"We have three distinguished candidates and they must be allowed to dicuss the issues openly," he added.

★ ★ ★

"The easiest things to do is choose up sides," said Levin. "We decided on the harder route by avoiding slates."

By doing this and involving people "we have a great chance to win," he said. "A party will be gerat if it meets the issues. It will not be great if it meets the issues and fragments."

36 Leave City for D.C. March

A contingent of Pontiac area residents last night began a bus trek to Washington, D.C., to join in the nationwide Poor People's March on the capital.

chartered buses containing Poor People Marchers will leave Thursday from Mt. Calvary Baptist Church, 97 Mariva, and May 28 from the East Side Church of God, 343 Irwin.

Students from Oakland University were among the original contingent from Pontiac.

NOT RACIAL

Rev. M. M. Scott, president of the Ministerial Fellowship, in remarks to the group said the travelers should be representatives of "the poor people" and not of a racial group.

The sponsoring committee included Scott, the Rev. J. J. Blackshere and the Rev. V. L. Lewis.

Gardner, Detroit Exec Named

NEW YORK, (AP) — John W. Gardner, former secretary of health, education and welfare, and Charles T. Fisher III, senior vice president of the National Bank of Detroit, have been named directors of American airlines.

Gardner is chairman of the Urban Coalition. He served in President Johnson's Cabinet for three years beginning in 1965.

Fisher's father served on American's board prior to his death in 1958. Fisher has been an officer of the National Bank of Detroit for the past 10 years. He was named a vice president in 1961, appointed head of its national division in 1964 and was named a senior vice president in 1966.

Fisher is a Georgetown University graduate with a master of business administration degree from the Harvard Graduate School of Business.

During last fall's campaign when he ran for the presidency, Huong repeatedly hinted that he might be willing to negotiate with the Vietcong's National Liberation Front if this could assure "genuine peace and freedom" for South Vietnam.

Wearing an open-necked sports shirt, Thieu said Huong has accepted his nomination as premier and hopes to submit the members of his new cabinet "as soon as possible."

★ ★ ★

There was no hint in Thieu's brief address of the backstage in-fighting of the past week between South Vietnam's politicians and generals. Nor did he mention Ky.

He called on the population to remain vigilant and not to listen to rumors that might be spread by the Communists.

FACE DIFFICULTY

Some diplomatic sources said Thieu and Huong may still run into difficulties when they try to put together the new cabinet.

The sources said they are seeking to replace Loc's government of technicians with a cabinet covering a broad spectrum of South Vietnam's political parties, which would enjoy a maximum of popular support.

★ ★ ★

Thieu said Loc resgned because "the situation required it." He confirmed he had asked Loc to remain in office as caretaker premier until the new cabinet takes over.

'I hope that in the next few days, as soon as possible, the new government will be presented to the people," Thieu said. "Also this afternoon, I informed the lower house and the senate of my decision."

Thieu said there had been widespread rumors that Huong has decided to romive the commnader of South Vietnam's four military regions.

"This is wrong," he said, without elaborating. Three of the commanders are known to be closely associaed with Ky.

$5-Million Loan for Magazine

NEW YORK (AP) — Time, Inc. has agreed to advance $5 million to the Curtis Publishing Co. in a plan to reduce Curtis' large financial losses in recent years.

★ ★ ★

Directors of Time and Curtis announced Friday they had approved a plan designed to "strengthen the publishing, printing and circulation activities of Curtis and to permit the continued publication of the Saturday Evening Post on a healthy financial basis."

★ ★ ★

Martin S. Ackerman Jr., Curtis president, said the program calls for cutting the Post's circulation to less than half its current 6.8 million, with Post subscribers allowed to receive Life magazine instead for the remainder of their subscription. Post subscribers refusing Life as a substitute will be offered other magazines or a cash refund.

★ ★ ★

James A. Linen, president of Time, said: "We have agreed to provide Curtis with additional revenue through the purchase of printing, the use of Curtis' newsstand distribution facilities, and the expansion of Life subscription activities through Curtis circulation subsidiaries."

Affects Waterford Officers

Board to Eye Judge's Decision

The Waterford Township Board Monday night will consider Oakland County Circuit Judge William J. Beer's decision which declared unconstitutional a 1967 state law that extended the terms of incumbent township officers by 1½ years.

The board could appeal the case, according to township attorneys.

★ ★ ★

Three Waterford Township residents eying the top elective offices in the township had challenged the legality of the state law prior to Judge Beer's decision.

The complainants in the suit are James F. Schell, Patrick K. Daly and Dorothy W. Olson, Democratic hopefuls for the offices of supervisor, clerk and treasurer, respectively.

The statute, signed into law by Gov. Romney last July, was intended to eliminate the lame duck period affecting township officials who are elected in November, but do not assume office until the following April.

In other business Monday, the board will consider a request to rezone property on M59 at Forest from local business (CI) to general business (C2) for a travel trailer sales business.

The board also is scheduled to approve candidates for the Waterford Township Youth Assistance Committee.

★ ★ ★

Requests for a liquor license transfer and a lot split also are on the agenda.

No End Near in Building Strike

DETROIT (AP) — The strike by building tradesmen entered its 18th day today with no general settlement yet in sight.

Negotiations in Detroit with the Carpenter's Union were aimed at reaching a pattern settlement as they resumed Friday with state and federal mediators attending.

The strike, which began May 1, has tied up in Michigan construction projects variously estimated as worth $86 million to $200 million.

★ ★ ★

The unions—carpenters, sheet metal workers, bricklayers and others — are seeking contract wage and fringe benefit gains estimated at from about 30 per cent to better than 60 per cent.

The cost of new houses is expected to increase about 10 per cent if the unions win substantial portions of the items they are demanding, according to spokesmen for builders groups.

The East Side Builders Association contends that the cost of a $25,000 home would go up almost $5,000 if the union demands were met.

The William Jenzen Ranch Home Found In Bloomfield Township

Wishing Well Adds Whimsical Touch To The Jenzens' Back Yard

Sons Set the Tempo in Ranch Home

By JODY HEADLEE
Home Editor, The Pontiac Press

The good-natured laughter of four growing boys ranging in age from 4 months to 15 provides background sound at the William Jenzens' ranch home in Bloomfield Township.

Designed for comfort, the rambling ranch plan accents convenience and a smooth traffic pattern with the bedroom wing at one end and the general living area at the other.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Jenzen favors a modified colonial approach in decorating the home's interior.

Against a setting of off-white walls, antique gold draperies and beige twist carpeting, the living and dining areas reflect a cozy hominess.

Grouped near the living room's marble-faced fireplace are a wing-back chair in an Early American print, a shades-of-brown boucle sofa and a button-back occasional chair in an aqua, brown and blue fabric.

★ ★ ★

Centering the arrangement above the fireplace mantel are oval needlepoint pictures made by Mr. Jenzen's grandmother and miniature antique frames. Gold candles fill the candlesticks balancing the wall grouping.

★ ★ ★

A maple coffee table serves the room's wing-back sofa.

"The brass scales on the coffee table," said Mrs. Jenzen, "is one of the most versatile accent pieces we own. For Christmas, I use greens and ornaments on the pans to give the room a holiday touch. And for Easter, colored eggs do the trick."

CHINA COLLECTION

Directly behind the sofa is a doored built-in with shelves that displays Mrs. Jenzen's collection of china cups and saucers, milk glass, a handpainted china tea set and pieces of an antique Japanese tea set.

"Each piece," said Mrs. Jenzen, "has 1,000 faces painted on it."

★ ★ ★

Under an imported cuckoo clock in the dining area stands a double-doored cherry chest. An advocate of today's mix-and-match theory, Mrs. Jenzen selected maple finished in a spice tone to complete the room's furniture pieces.

House Bill Ups Appropriation for Oakland U.

The Michigan House of Representatives yesterday approved a higher education bill which would give Oakland University $5,171,000 in operating funds for the next fiscal year.

★ ★ ★

This is about $787,000 more than the university is operating with in the 1967-68 fiscal year and is in line with Gov. George Romney's recommendation for funds for the school, but some $480,000 more than called for in the education bill approved by the State Senate.

★ ★ ★

The total appropriation bill approved by the House is some $5 million higher than that approved by the Senate. The House version was sent to the Senate where it expected there is considerable opposition to the House hike.

The outlook is that the measure will end up in a Senate-House conference committee so differences can be ironed out.

'COULD GET BY'

Chancellor Durwood B. Varner said that if the House version of the higher education bill stands up the University "would, with some very austere operations, get by during the next year."

The House approved a total appropriation of $252.2 million for the state's 11 colleges and universities and for several community colleges by a 94-8 vote.

★ ★ ★

The House also passed, 96-5, a measure calling for a state general fund expenditure of $152.7 million for the Mental Health Department.

The Senate, meanwhile, passed it version of the general government budget bill calling for spending $45.7 million with $14.8 million earmarked for the Treasury Department to finance tax colletcions. This passed 26-5.

CIVIL RIGHTS

Defeated was an amendment proposed by Sen. James G. Fleming, R-Jackson that would have reduced the budget of the State Civil Rights Commission from $1.8 million to $1.6 million.

Fleming charged that the CRC has made relations between whites and blacks worse, not better, since it came into existence.

★ ★ ★

He charged that the CRC has "increased tensions in Jackson by 100 per cent."

The budget bills approved in each of the legislative bodies were sent to the opposite houses for concurrence on amendments.

U. OF M. HIGHEST

In the House passed version of the higher education bill the University of Michigan would get the highest appropriation among the state's universities and colleges at $63.6 million.

★ ★ ★

Michigan State, excluding Oakland University, would receive about $57.3 million; Wayne State University, $38.3 million; Western Michigan University, $16.2 million; and Eastern Michigan University, $11.6 million.

Move Could Avert Crisis

SAIGON (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu announced appointment today of ex-schoolteacher Tran Van Huong, 64, as South Vietnam's new premier.

Thieu made the announcement in a prepared nationwide radio and television address nine hours after he accepted the resignation of Premier Nguyen Van Loc at an emergency cabinet meeting.

★ ★ ★

The announcement may put a quick end to the threat of a long government crisis which could have undermined the position of the American delegation in the Paris peace talks. But it did not necessarily heal the widening split between Thieu and his strong-willed vice president, Air Vice Marshal Nguyen Cao Ky.

Loc is a close associate of Ky, who is strongly opposed to the American effort to end the war by negotiation and compromise. Thieu's attitude has been more flexible.

'FACE GRAVE DANGER'

In his resignation statement, Loc declared that South Vietnam faces "grave danger" from the Paris talks.

For the past three days, Ky's friends have passed the word that Huong, a former premier, is unacceptable to the vice president.

★ ★ ★

Informants said Ky suspects Huong of a willingness to end the war by compromise. Ky was the only government member absent from the cabinet meet. He was reported at the South Vietnamese air base at Nha Trang, 200 miles northeast of Saigon.

Huong, a Buddhist from Vinh Long in the Mekong Delta, has twice served as mayor of Saigon.

Peace Talks Put Strain on U.S.-Saigon Relations

PARIS (AP) — Ambassadors W. Averell Harriman and Xuan Thuy met for about four hours and 10 minutes today, their longest session yet, to round out the first week of Vietnam peace talks amid evidence that the discussions are putting fresh strains on U.S.-South Vietnamese relations.

"We had a long discussion today," Harriman said. "We have adjourned to meet again next Wednesday."

★ ★ ★

This three-day spread will be the longest interval between sessions since the talks began last Monday. A North Vietnamese spokesman said the delay was at Harriman's request. This immediately raised speculation that Harriman is planning a quick trip to the United States for consultation, but U.S. sources had no immediate comment.

★ ★ ★

Indications of a strain between Washington and Saigon came from a Saigon interview by Foreign Minister Tran Van Do who said his government had agreed only reluctantly to go along with a U.S. proposal made here to freeze the level of Communist forces in the South as part of a program for ending American attacks on the North.

CONCERN AROUSED

The resignation of Premier Nguyen Van Loc, meanwhile, caused a flurry of concern which was eased by the speed with which President Nguyen Van Thieu named Tran Van Huong as successor. Any hint of political instability in Saigon is a source of concern to U.S. policy makers and a threat of weakness for the United States in the negotiations here.

★ ★ ★

Thuy had the opportunity to speak first today, under the rotation system which has developed here, and as was expected he struck out again at continued U.S. bombing of the southern panhandle of North Vietnam. He is pressing for total cessation of all U.S. attacks on the North.

★ ★ ★

A spokesman for Thuy said yesterday there could be "no compromise" on this North Vietnamese demand. Harriman has been urging the North Vietnamese to take steps to deescalate the war in order to justify an end to U.S. attacks on the North.

Ex-Road Official Mute at Hearing

Thomas Kennedy, former Oakland County weighmaster, was released on $1,500 personal bond yesterday following his arraignment on three charges of embezzlement.

Kennedy, a former pro football player with the Detroit Lions and a long-time area high school coach, stood mute to the charges when he appeared before Waterford Township Justice of the Peace Kenneth H. Hempstead.

★ ★ ★

A former president of the Pontiac Optimist Club, Kennedy is accused of pocketing a total of $1,250 while employed by the County Road Commission. He resigned his post last October after 15 years service.

Presently self-employed as a sales representative, Kennedy, 49, of 2908 Voorheis, Waterford Township, had been under investigation by the Michigan State Police since February.

WEIGHT LIMITS

While working for the road commission, Kennedy was responsible for seeing that truckers kept their loads within specified weight limitations.

The funds allegedly involved were monies paid by truckers on three separate occasions in lieu of surety bonds to protect them against road damage. There are no records that the funds were turned over to the road commission, according to authorities.

★ ★ ★

Kennedy is scheduled to have his preliminary court examination before Hempstead on June 20 at 2 p.m.

Novi Girl Is Vying for Miss USA Title

Virginia Clift, the president of the Novi High School junior class, vies tonight for the title of Miss USA in Miami Beach, Fla.

The 18-year-old miss became Michigan's representative in a Detroit contest May 3.

The brown-haired, brown-eyed winner is the daughter of Robert H. Clift of 45285 Grand River, Novi, and Mrs. Laura C. Clift of 41151 Grand River, Novi.

A self-employed model, she stands 5-foot-6 and measures 34-24-34.

CHEERLEADER

Virginia is also a cheerleader and a member of the girls' track team at Novi High School.

Virginia has been in Miami Beach this past week for rehearsals, luncheons and interviews with judges, her father said. Forty-nine girls were entered in the national contest.

★ ★ ★

Her competition before the public tonight includes an interview and modeling. The pageant will be telecast on Channel 2 at 10 p.m.

The state contest with a total of eight girls was judged on the basis of personality, poise and appearance in a swimsuit and gown.

Virginia lives at 45285 Grand River. She has one brother, Robert Jr., a freshman at Novi High School.

'U.S. Security at Stake'

Swap of Mayors to Top M-Week

Michigan Week activities in Pontiac will be highlighted Monday by Mayors Exchange Day with Ypsilanti Mayor John H. Burton and the city's Mayor Pro Tem Vaughn E. Filsinger and their wives spending the day in Pontiac.

Burton, an 18-year member of Ypsilanti's City Council, is one of the state's three Negro mayors. He was elected Mayor by his fellow councilmen.

★ ★ ★

The guests will arrive at City Hall at 9:30 a.m. and meet with city officials. They will tour the city's administrative buildings before lunch.

After lunch, a tour of Pontiac Motor Division has been planned. At 2 p.m. the guests plus a number of invited officials from surrounding areas will have a meeting at the plant.

After visiting the plant the Ypsilantians will be given a tour of the Oakland County Service Center and possibly Oakland University.

★ ★ ★

All churches in the area have been invited to prepare a special program to be held during Michigan Week, Haskill said.

PARTY LEADERS — Democratic State Chairman Sander M. Levin (center) met with the heads of Oakland County's two congressional district committees, Eugene Kuthy (left) of the 18th District, and Aldo Vagnozzi of the 19th, before their conventions last night in the supervisors' auditorium in Pontiac. Levin, a state senator and a resident of Berkley, is a former chairman of the Democratic county organization.

County Dems Uncommitted

By JIM LONG

Following the position taken by the state party leaders, Democrats from Oakland County's 18th and 19th congressional districts last night decided to remain uncommitted on the candidates for the presidency.

No attempt was made by any of those attending the county district convention to seek endorsement at this time for any of the three major contenders, Hubert H. Humphrey, Robert F. Kennedy or Eugene J. McCarthy.

★ ★ ★

The major purpose of the convention, held at the supervisors' auditorium at the county courthouse, was to select delegates to the Democratic State Convention in Detroit on June 1 and 2.

An estimated 425 persons attended the conventions, the largest turnout ever, according to county Democratic Chairman George Googasian.

FARNUM, LEVIN SPEAK

Billie S. Farnum, deputy national chairman in charge of political organization and former congressman from the 19th District, and State Sen. Sander M. Levin, State Democratic chairman, addressed the convention delegates.

Like most other conventions throughout the state where party leaders called for noncommitted delegations, an assessment of developments was difficult regarding the favorite among the presidential hopefuls.

★ ★ ★

Generally, however, officials believe there is a leaning in Oakland County toward Vice President Humphrey with Sen. Kennedy of New York close behind, and Sen. McCarthy of Minnesota third.

The noncommitment policy taken by the county convention was in keeping with the urgings of Levin, State Atty.

Bobby Receives Cool Reception in Oregon

By The Associated Press

Oregon and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy have definitely not hit it off well on first encounter.

The city of Portland all but yawned in his face yesterday as the New York senator launched his campaign for the state's May 28 Democratic presidential primary.

★ ★ ★

The Kennedy charm that knocked 'em dead in dozens of cities in recent weeks just didn't come through this time because no one turned out to be charmed.

He was recieved politely but coolly in two appearances before factory workers and at the Portland Economic Club.

OTHER STOPS

There were other stops at schools, a nursing home, a department store — to purchase an Oregon-made wool sport shirt — but nowhere was there an explosion of crowd response such as has marked his tours in other states.

Indications were some of the senator's top campaign people working in other states will be yanked into Oregon to start making some changes.

★ ★ ★

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, who lost to Kennedy in the Indiana and Nebraska primaries, predicted during the Nebraska campaign that Kennedy might find their positions reversed in Oregon.

McCarthy has appeared breifly in Oregon in recent weeks but hasn't begun all-out campaigning there yet.

IN WASHINGTON

Yesterday, he was in Florida and tonight he will address a dinner of the Americans for Democratic Action in Washington.

McCarthy said yesterday he thought Kennedy's sugestion after the Nebraska primary that he join the Kennedy camp "really comes close to an edge of a kind of arrogance."

★ ★ ★

"No concessions, no compromises, no accomodations," he said.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, third contender for the Democratic presidential nomination, caused a flurry yesterday at the University of Maine when he said the United States and North Vietnam have agreed that in the Paris talks the North Vietnamese can have "whomever they want on their side and we will have whomever we want on out side."

The remark was made in response to question on whether the United States would negotiate with the National Liberation Front, political arm of the Vietcong.

Big labor came out for Humphrey yesterday with the announcement of the formation of the National Labor Committee for Humphrey.

★ ★ ★

The group is headed by I. W. Abel, president of the United Steelworkers, and its membership includes some 90 other union presidents and about 60 heads of state and city labor councils. Not listed was President Walter Reuther of the United Auto Wrokers.

Michigan Week begins today with a cleanup campaign sponsored by the Pontiac Area Jaycees. The day is officially designated Community Pride Day.

★ ★ ★

Hundreds of high school students began the campaign this morning and with the aid of the city fire department hosed down and cleaned Saginaw Street downtown.

The cleanup campaign — primarily for the downtown area — featured the cleaning of store fronts and store windows in the downtown area.

BAND COMPETITION

In the afternoon seven area bands provided music and competed for the designation of the best band. The winner will compete in a statewide competition to be held in Muskegon in a few weeks.

Plans also called for the youngsters to clean up some selected city parks. A contingent of youth has also planned to clean up the Bagley-Wesson area.

- Give Michigan citizens a greater knowledge and appreciation of their state.
- Expound the state's assets and resources for industry, business, education and recreation.
- Foster a spirit of cooperation among all communities and persons to the end that all of Michigan will work together to make the state even more livable and attractive.

Corporate Profits Hit Another High

WASHINGTON (AP) — The all-time high hit by U.S. corporation profits in the final quarter of 1967 didn't remain a record long. The Commerce Department reports they climbed even higher the first quarter of this year.

Corporate profits before taxes in the January-March period reached an annual rate of $88.8 billion, up $3.7 billion from the record figure of October-December 1967, the department said Friday.

★ ★ ★

It was the third consecutive quarter in which corporation profits had been on the rise — a development not likely to be overlooked by organized labor when it goes to the bargaining table.

LE GRANDE WELCOME—French President Charles de Gaulle takes a welcoming drink from a wine flask in Sladina yesterday during a planned two-day visit to the western provinces of Romania. His visit will be cut short, however, because of the growing student-labor unrest in France.

Widespread Strife Paralyzing France

PARIS (AP) — The mushrooming student-labor revolt triggered a breakdown in transportation and many state services today, threatening France with semiparalysis.

President Charles de Gaulle will cut short a state visit to Romania and fly to Paris tonight to be in close touch with the situation, French sources in Romania said.

★ ★ ★

De Gaulle was said to have made the decision after radio-telephone consultations with Premier Georges Pompidou.

He will complete his official program here with talks with Romanian President and Communist party chief Cicolae Ceausescu, a brief television speech and a reception at the French Embassy tonight, the sources said.

'DEEPLY CONCERNED'

French officials said the president was "deeply concerned" over developments at home but chose to go through with his visit in order not to embarrass his Romanian hosts.

In France, Red flags flew from more than 40 factories occupied by striking workers. Dozens of other plants were shut down and as the weekend began the list of crippled plants grew. Agitation seemed at a peak in southwestern France and around Paris; the northern and eastern sections were less affected.

★ ★ ★

Personnel of the state-run radio and television networks threatened today to call strikes that would cut off De Gaulle's main communications link with the French people. But they did not decide when or how to launch the strike.

They announced a seven-point complaint list. They objected to everything from "government interference in the objectivity of news reports" to the attachment of the facility to the ministry of information.

★ ★ ★

Militant students earlier planned to occupy the state's television studios but changed their mind after cordons of gendarmes surrounded the place.

Kosygin Visiting Czech President

PRAGUE (AP) — Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin called on President Ludvik Svoboda of Czechoslovakia today and they spent a half hour discussing Soviet-Czechoslovak relations, the Czechoslovak news agency CTK reported.

Kosygin arrived in Prague unannounced yesterday in a climate of Soviet worry over the continuing liberalization in this East bloc nation. The official reason given for Kosygin's visit is that he had come for medical treatment and for talks with the new government leaders.

Gardner, Detroit Exec Named

NEW YORK, (AP) — John W. Gardner, former secretary of health, education and welfare, and Charles T. Fisher III, senior vice president of the National Bank of Detroit, have been named directors of American airlines.

Gardner is chairman of the Urban Coalition. He served in President Johnson's Cabinet for three years beginning in 1965.

Fisher's father served on American's board prior to his death in 1958. Fisher has been an officer of the National Bank of Detroit for the past 10 years. He was named a vice president in 1961, appointed head of its national division in 1964 and was named a senior vice president in 1966.

Fisher is a Georgetown University graduate with a master of business administration degree from the Harvard Graduate School of Business.

During last fall's campaign when he ran for the presidency, Huong repeatedly hinted that he might be willing to negotiate with the Vietcong's National Liberation Front if this could assure "genuine peace and freedom" for South Vietnam.

Wearing an open-necked sports shirt, Thieu said Huong has accepted his nomination as premier and hopes to submit the members of his new cabinet "as soon as possible."

★ ★ ★

There was no hint in Thieu's brief address of the backstage in-fighting of the past week between South Vietnam's politicians and generals. Nor did he mention Ky.

He called on the population to remain vigilant and not to listen to rumors that might be spread by the Communists.

FACE DIFFICULTY

Some diplomatic sources said Thieu and Huong may still run into difficulties when they try to put together the new cabinet.

The sources said they are seeking to replace Loc's government of technicians with a cabinet covering a broad spectrum of South Vietnam's political parties, which would enjoy a maximum of popular support.

★ ★ ★

Thieu said Loc resgned because "the situation required it." He confirmed he had asked Loc to remain in office as caretaker premier until the new cabinet takes over.

'I hope that in the next few days, as soon as possible, the new government will be presented to the people," Thieu said. "Also this afternoon, I informed the lower house and the senate of my decision."

Thieu said there had been widespread rumors that Huong has decided to romive the commnader of South Vietnam's four military regions.

"This is wrong," he said, without elaborating. Three of the commanders are known to be closely associaed with Ky.

Gen. Frank Kelley and other party leaders.

SEEK STRONG ROLE

"We're determined that we in Michigan will play a strong role in the selection of a candidate," Levin told the delegates.

"We have three distinguished candidates and they must be allowed to dicuss the issues openly," he added.

★ ★ ★

"The easiest things to do is choose up sides," said Levin. "We decided on the harder route by avoiding slates."

By doing this and involving people "we have a great chance to win," he said. "A party will be gerat if it meets the issues. It will not be great if it meets the issues and fragments."

36 Leave City for D.C. March

A contingent of Pontiac area residents last night began a bus trek to Washington, D.C., to join in the nationwide Poor People's March on the capital.

A chartered bus containing 36 persons left from St. James Missionary Baptist Church, 345 Bagley, last night. They were expected to reach the nation's capital this morning.

★ ★ ★

Committee members of the Oakland County Ministerial Association who organized the trip said they expect more chartered buses containing Poor People Marchers will leave Thursday from Mt. Calvary Baptist Church, 97 Mariva, and May 28 from the East Side Church of God, 343 Irwin.

Students from Oakland University were among the original contingent from Pontiac.

NOT RACIAL

Rev. M. M. Scott, president of the Ministerial Fellowship, in remarks to the group said the travelers should be representatives of "the poor people" and not of a racial group.

The sponsoring committee included Scott, the Rev. J. J. Blackshere and the Rev. V. L. Lewis.

$5-Million Loan for Magazine

NEW YORK (AP) — Time, Inc. has agreed to advance $5 million to the Curtis Publishing Co. in a plan to reduce Curtis' large financial losses in recent years.

★ ★ ★

Directors of Time and Curtis announced Friday they had approved a plan designed to "strengthen the publishing, printing and circulation activities of Curtis and to permit the continued publication of the Saturday Evening Post on a healthy financial basis."

★ ★ ★

Martin S. Ackerman Jr., Curtis president, said the program calls for cutting the Post's circulation to less than half its current 6.8 million, with Post subscribers allowed to receive Life magazine instead for the remainder of their subscription. Post subscribers refusing Life as a substitute will be offered other magazines or a cash refund.

★ ★ ★

James A. Linen, president of Time, said: "We have agreed to provide Curtis with additional revenue through the purchase of printing, the use of Curtis' newsstand distribution facilities, and the expansion of Life subscription activities through Curtis circulation subsidiaries."

DEBORAH ROCHON

Teen of Week Is Noted for Cheerfulness

Pontiac's Teen of the Week, Deborah Rochon of Pontiac Catholic High School, is described as active and cheerful.

The 17-year-old senior never fails to brighten up the scene, always encouraging everyone to smile, school officials say.

A Pontiac Press correspondent for Pontiac Catholic, she is a member of the school's yearbook staff, National Honor Society with a "B" average and senior government seminar.

In the past, Deborah has been a cheerleader and has won three Salute to Youth awards.

TO ATTEND WMU

She plans to attend Western Michigan University and major in sociology with the feeling that "education aids youth in becoming more productive citizens and prepares them for a more useful tomorrow."

★ ★ ★

Dedication Set

LANSING (AP) — The Port Huron travel information center will be formally dedicated May 24 during the Hospitality Day observance of Michigan Week. The center was opened last August but dedication was delayed to coincide with the Michigan Week theme for this year — "Michigan, Land of Hospitality."

Affects Waterford Officers

Board to Eye Judge's Decision

The Waterford Township Board Monday night will consider Oakland County Circuit Judge William J. Beer's decision which declared unconstitutional a 1967 state law that extended the terms of incumbent township officers by 1½ years.

The board could appeal the case, according to township attorneys.

★ ★ ★

Three Waterford Township residents eying the top elective offices in the township had challenged the legality of the state law prior to Judge Beer's decision.

The complainants in the suit are James F. Schell, Patrick K. Daly and Dorothy W. Olson, Democratic hopefuls for the offices of supervisor, clerk and treasurer, respectively.

The statute, signed into law by Gov. Romney last July, was intended to eliminate the lame duck period affecting township officials who are elected in November, but do not assume office until the following April.

In other business Monday, the board will consider a request to rezone property on M59 at Forest from local business (CI) to general business (C2) for a travel trailer sales business.

The board also is scheduled to approve candidates for the Waterford Township Youth Assistance Committee.

★ ★ ★

Requests for a liquor license transfer and a lot split also are on the agenda.

No End Near in Building Strike

DETROIT (AP) — The strike by building tradesmen entered its 18th day today with no general settlement yet in sight.

Negotiations in Detroit with the Carpenter's Union were aimed at reaching a pattern settlement as they resumed Friday with state and federal mediators attending.

The strike, which began May 1, has tied up in Michigan construction projects variously estimated as worth $86 million to $200 million.

★ ★ ★

The unions—carpenters, sheet metal workers, bricklayers and others — are seeking contract wage and fringe benefit gains estimated at from about 30 per cent to better than 60 per cent.

The cost of new houses is expected to increase about 10 per cent if the unions win substantial portions of the items they are demanding, according to spokesmen for builders groups.

The East Side Builders Association contends that the cost of a $25,000 home would go up almost $5,000 if the union demands were met.

The William Jenzen Ranch Home Found In Bloomfield Township

Wishing Well Adds Whimsical Touch To The Jenzens' Back Yard

Sons Set the Tempo in Ranch Home

By JODY HEADLEE
Home Editor, The Pontiac Press

The good-natured laughter of four growing boys ranging in age from 4 months to 15 provides background sound at the William Jenzens' ranch home in Bloomfield Township.

Designed for comfort, the rambling ranch plan accents convenience and a smooth traffic pattern with the bedroom wing at one end and the general living area at the other.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Jenzen favors a modified colonial approach in decorating the home's interior.

Against a setting of off-white walls, antique gold draperies and beige twist carpeting, the living and dining areas reflect a cozy hominess.

Grouped near the living room's marble-faced fireplace are a wing-back chair in an Early American print, a shades-of-brown boucle sofa and a button-back occasional chair in an aqua, brown and blue fabric.

★ ★ ★

Centering the arrangement above the fireplace mantel are oval needlepoint pictures made by Mr. Jenzen's grandmother and miniature antique frames. Gold candles fill the candlesticks balancing the wall grouping.

★ ★ ★

A maple coffee table serves the room's wing-back sofa.

"The brass scales on the coffee table," said Mrs. Jenzen, "is one of the most versatile accent pieces we own. For Christmas, I use greens and ornaments on the pans to give the room a holiday touch. And for Easter, colored eggs do the trick."

CHINA COLLECTION

Directly behind the sofa is a doored built-in with shelves that displays Mrs. Jenzen's collection of china cups and saucers, milk glass, a handpainted china tea set and pieces of an antique Japanese tea set.

"Each piece," said Mrs. Jenzen, "has 1,000 faces painted on it."

★ ★ ★

Under an imported cuckoo clock in the dining area stands a double-doored cherry chest. An advocate of today's mix-and-match theory, Mrs. Jenzen selected maple finished in a spice tone to complete the room's furniture pieces.

CHALET LIVING: The charm of the Bavarian Chalet is captured in this exterior. Inside, such features as wood floors, walls and ceilings retain the atmosphere, but modern conveniences make the house suitable for either vacation or year-round living.

Bavarian Chalet as Vacation Retreat

Last week our vacation or second home design combined chalet styling with an A-frame.

This week we bring you a Bavarian Chalet with modern touches but without an A-frame exterior.

★ ★ ★

Although its over-all dimensions are only 32' 8" by 43' 5", it encompasses more than 1800 square feet on living area on two floors.

With three bedrooms, 2½ baths, a full basement and all up-to-date facilities, it could serve as a year-round residence if desired.

See Floor Plan on Page B-6

The exterior materials were chosen by architect Rudolph A. Matern for the minimum amount of maintenance — local stone, rough-sawn siding and hand-split roof shingles.

The interior is designed similarly, with wood paneling, wood beams and wide plank, pegged wood flooring.

The dominant feature of the outside is at the front, with two large porches, one above the other.

Both are covered, offering protection from both inclement weather and sun.

Inside the solid front door, a 50-square-foot foyer handles traffic to the living room, rear hall, two bedrooms and the open staircase to the second floor.

LIVING ROOM

The all-wood, 21-foot living room has a 20-foot-high cathedral ceiling halfway to the rear.

A flat ceiling goes back to the fireplace, then opens up, forming a balcony on the second floor which overlooks the living room.

The adjoining kitchen has a sunlit eating area formed by a large bay.

The balance of the kitchen has all the required modern-day equipment, plus a laundry area slightly beyond and toward the service section.

★ ★ ★

A service porch is under the main roof. The basement entrance is close to the service entrance in the rear hall.

LAVATORY

A larger, lavatory and stall shower surround this entranceway, with storage and broom closets.

The shower is so located to provide direct facilities from the outdoors for freshening up after swimming or other sports activity.

The two bedrooms are in the left wing away from the activity sector.

The master bedroom, at the front, has a private bath, a built-in vanity and plenty of closet space.

★ ★ ★

On the second floor are a bedroom, a large bath and a 26-foot multi-use room. This room, 12 feet of which is the balcony over the living room, can be used for overnight accommodations for guests, a dormitory for children, a playroom, observation room or for any purpose desired.

It is especially intriguing because, just outside of it, there is a 21-foot balcony deck — sure to be a favorite spot for guests and family.

Another less glamorous but exceptionally useful space — and a requirement in a summer home — is the 75 square-foot storage area.

A place like this is a necessity for storage when the house is unoccupied.

An adjunct to the covered outdoor living areas is the large open terrace on the right side of the house for the total sun lovers.

Design Z-41 offers both the right atmosphere and the facilities for contented living.

Z-41 STATISTICS

Design Z-41, with a Bavarian Chalet motif, has a fireplaced living room, a kitchen, two bedrooms, bath, foyer, lavatory and shower on the first floor, with a habitable area of 1164 square feet. There is a third bedroom, a multi-use room and a bath on the second floor, with 684 square feet of living space. In addition, the house has a covered porch and a service porch on the main floor, and a balcony deck and storage area on the second. Overall dimensions are 32' 8" by 43' 5".

Painting Pointers for You to Follow

There are four basic points to remember in order to get a satisfactory paint job and to save time and work.

★ ★ ★

First, prepare the surface properly.

Second, select the right type of paint or varnish — your dealer can help you with this.

Third, be sure to use only quality paint products. Fourth, apply it properly as directed on the label.

Try Jiffy Burner for Quick Heat

For added heat in your summer cottage or mobile home, place an inverted clay flower pot over an open gas flame.

The clay is nonflammable and will radiate considerable heat.

Tourists Visit Cairo, Lebanon and Cyprus

EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the second in a series of articles of a Christian tour to Europe and the Bible Lands with Dr. and Mrs. Tom Malone by Mary Anglemier, church editor of The Pontiac Press. The second stop with the group of 25 was Cairo, Egypt.

By MARY ANGLEMIER
Church Editor

Here we are again.

It was late in the day when we boarded the plane for Cairo, Egypt, and not long before the full moon with its golden halo moved into the heavens.

★ ★ ★

The moon and twinkling stars above reminded me of the hymn, "God of All Creation." And I recalled the Biblical scenes painted on the ceiling of the Sistine Chapel in Rome by Michaelangelo. Among these great works are scenes of God's Creation.

When we were in Rome our guide whisked us from place to place, spoke fast then whirled around, called out "Avante" and away we went, to board the bus.

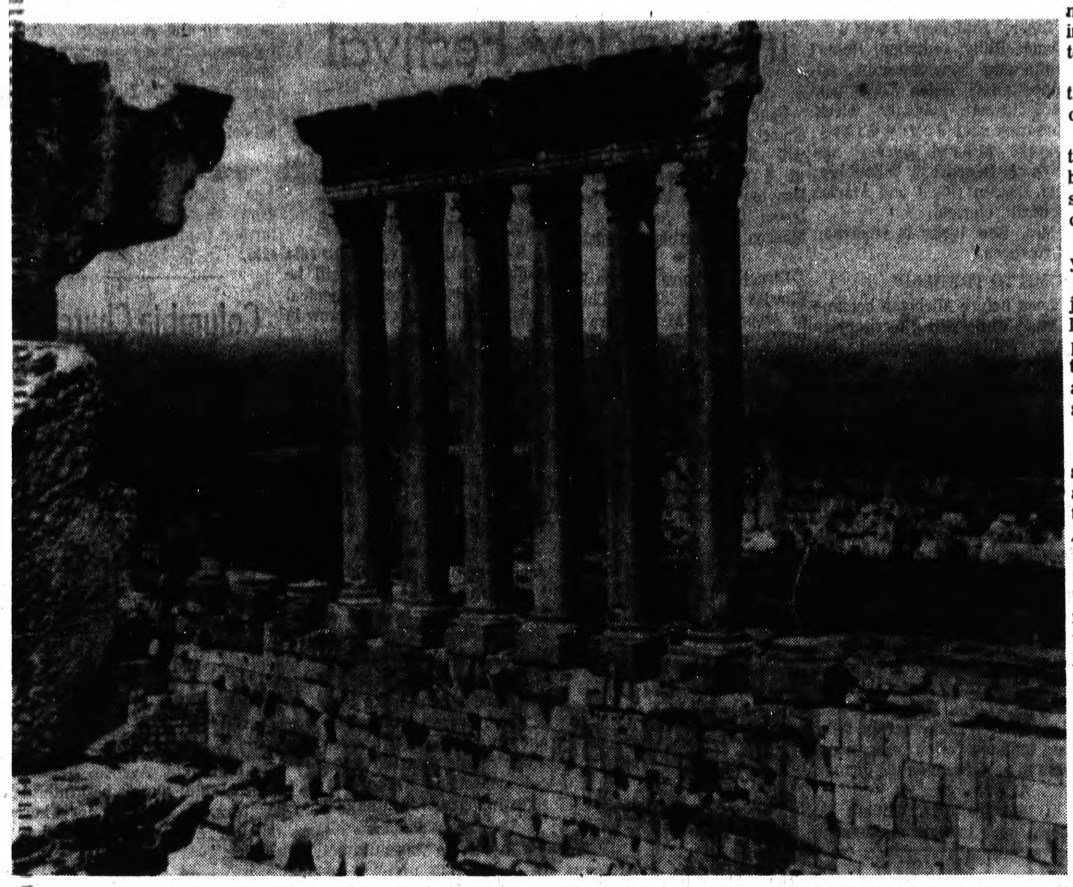
Now as we leave I realize how much we saw in a brief time.

CAIRO

Government officials greeted us with "Welcome, welcome to Cairo" as they checked our passports at the airport.

All of a sudden I felt I was in a different world while waiting for luggage in the main lobby. There were men in long flowing robes and women in many kinds of dress. We heard the babble of many dialects. The signs in both English and in Egyptian characters and writing.

It was dark as we rode the bus to the Nile Hilton Hotel and everything seemed a little eerie.



COLUMNS OF TEMPLE—Ruins of temples at Baalbeck, one of the most ancient cities of the world which was first built as an important pagan center, still stand. The Phoenicians transformed it into a temple in honor of the god Baal. The period of Baalbeck's greatest glory was under the Roman Empire. With the Christian period came important changes and a church was built in honor of St. Barbara. A yearly festival of music, dramatic art and folk dancing is held in the summer. Performers are selected from the world's greatest in their particular fields.

Our guide reminded us that Egypt was an ancient country; that it was Rameses II who some 2,000 years ago was responsible for Moses' flight with the children of Israel to the Red Sea; and that it was to Egypt the Holy Family fled when Jesus' life was in danger as a baby.

BALCONY

When I woke the next morning here I was with my own private balcony overlooking the city square. Temperatures were mild so I just went out and sat in the sun before going down to breakfast.

Lunches and dinners were in the open terraced room overlooking the Nile.

There are many kinds of transportation in Cairo — the bicycle, bus, taxi, open air street car and donkey. In the country there is the camel.

Shopping was fun, that is, if you were with a companion.

A few of our group visited a jewelry shop. The proprietor in long Egyptian dress bowed profusely, thanked us for entering his place of business, had a son bring chairs. We had to sit down.

★ ★ ★

We just wanted to look at silver spoons and other small articles. But first we must have tea or coffee, we had to. Another son brought the tea in small cups on a tray.

We drank tea and he showed us jewelry, stones and many items saying he just wanted us to see how beautiful they were. He didn't expect us to buy anything.

Well, everyone bought something. Then he bowed, thanked us for accepting his hospitality and walked us to the door, and bowed again from the waist.

★ ★ ★

All stores we visited in Cairo took American money, that is bills not coins. One of my difficulties was in figuring out how much everything costs in American money. Just about the time I was doing well we moved to another country.

★ ★ ★

I always thought the Pyramids of Giza and the Sphinx were far out in the desert, and perhaps they were once, but not now. The city has expanded so just a street separates the two.

CAMEL RIDER

June Blamer of Emmanuel Baptist Church was one of the last to join the camel riders and the most popular with the camel owners.

When she walked up to the camel owner to ride his camel, the owner of a stallion called out "No, she ride horse." The owner of the camel shook his fist and shouted "No, she ride camel."

Finally a guide came up and saw her safely on the camel but the Arab horse owner came over and jerked her off. "You ride horse," he yelled. She rode the camel.

TOUR CITY

A tour of the city took us to the Moslem cemetery, the Mohammed Ali Mosque and Museum where the articles from King Tutankhamen's tomb are displayed, the same as were on exhibition at the Detroit Institute of Arts a few years ago.

BAZAARS

The sightseeing excursion also included a walk through the bazaars. Here it was really full of smells and terribly dirty. People and donkeys walked along the narrow streets. You had to watch where you walked or you stepped in manure. But it was fun.

An Egyptian boy, who looked like he was about 16 was in charge of cleaning several rooms including mine. He was so pleasant.

If he saw me coming down the hall he took off as if going to a fire to get there first to unlock the door for me.

Then he bowed and bowed when I thanked him.

Cairo seems to be a cross roads of humanity. There were Arabs, the English, Japanese, Chinese and people from India milling around the lobby as we waited for our tour bus to take us to the airport.

Our driver said Arabs really live in the tents we saw on the desert. Maybe they wear the white scarf and head band to keep out the sand and intense heat of the summer sun.

BEIRUT

The Rev. Maurice Paulson with his wife and children Harlan, Sara and Melanie were waiting for us at the airport in Beirut. The Paulsons are from Pontiac.

The Rev. Mr. Paulson, pastor of Fellowship Baptist Church in Beirut, teaches Bible to individuals and to groups. He also conducts a Bible School Correspondence Course to Egypt, Jordan, Syria and Iraq.

★ ★ ★

Dr. and Mrs. Malone and the Paulsons are firends. The Emmanuel Baptist Church assists with missionary support in Lebanon.

Beirut is a beautiful city with its striking modern architecture mingling with the old. It is the gateway to the Holy Land. There are hundreds of miles of sandy beaches along the Mediterranean. The American Embassy is located on the beach road.

The American University in Beirut was opened by David Bliss of the Presbyterian Mission in 1866.

It is said that at the San Francisco conference where the United Nations was constituted, there were more leaders and delegates who had graduated from this university than from any other in the world.

★ ★ ★

There are a number of refugee camps around Beirut and each looked well kept.

TO BAALBECK

Leaving Beirut to visit the ancient city of Baalbeck we found ourselves in the midst of vegetable and flower gardens, and hundreds of orange groves. Bananas, kumquats and lemons are also grown.

The countryside of Lebanon is imposing with its rolling hills and mountains.

CYPRUS ISLAND

I had one of the most delicious oranges and one of the largest I've ever seen in Cyprus.

★ ★ ★

As the Dr. Malone group started on tour of Nicosia, capital of the island, our guide jumped off the bus in the market place and returned with a bag of huge oranges handing them around with great pride.

Nearly everyone in Cyprus speaks English, that is in all hotels, restaurants, shops and government offices.

While most of the group were on tour Dr. Malone took the Rev. Perry Purtle of Springhill, La. to the airport where he learned a little about flying from Dr. Malone, a pilot in his own right.

In the old shopping district, streets were very narrow, just room enough for cars to pass, and they drive on the left side of the road as in England.

Occasionally Dr. Malone held an evening meeting to discuss plans and to have a brief religious service. When Mrs. Malone stepped into the strawberry pink room at our hotel we accused her of buying a dress to match the room.

But we know she didn't as we had just arrived about an hour previous.

It seems Mrs. Arthur Simpson, a friend in the congregation of Emmanuel Baptist Church where Dr. Malone is pastor, wanted to make her a dress for the trip, and this was it — perfectly beautiful Mrs. Simpson.

★ ★ ★

And now it is time to pack again and proceed to the airport for a flight to Tel-Aviv and then by bus to the Holy City of Jerusalem.

See you next week.

BLOSSOM TIME — Oranges are cultivated in the Lebanon in a great number of varieties for exportation. Other special fruits are bananas, lemons, grapes and kumquats.

ST. JOHN'S GREEK CHURCH — One of the oldest churches in Nicosia, the capital of Cyprus Island, is the St. John's Greek Church (far right). The pews were built to make the parishioner comfortable. There is a very high back rest. When a member stands during part of the liturgy he may lean on the back of the seat to rest his shoulders. The Folk Art Museum is at the back of the church. The large building shown is the seat of the government.

IN CAIRO—Donkeys wait on the bridge for their masters on the drive from Cairo to the pyramids. Vegetables, fruit, children, kitchenware, bales of hay, just about everything is carried from place to place on the donkey's back. The building in the background, now a hotel, was the meeting place for the Cairo Conference which the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt attended during World War II.

HERE I AM—The city editor of The Pontiac Press insisted I print a picture in which I was shown. Here I am standing beside a camel near the sphinx and pyramids just outside Cairo, Egypt. According to our guide, it took 100,000 men every three months for centuries to build the pyramids, the burial places for kings. The laboring man in Cairo, today, receives about $1 per day in wages, he said. In ancient times thousands of men were slaves.

TEEING OFF

By FLETCHER SPEARS

The sight of young Bill Harding playing golf is enough to lift the spirit of anyone.

Bill, 23, is a low handicapper—two in one league and three in another—and looking at his scores you'd never guess that he moves around the course with only one good leg.

An inspector at General Motors Truck & Coach, Bill lost a leg—at mid thigh—in an industrial accident in June 1966.

It was a black time for Bill, but he refused to let the loss of a limb dull his attitude toward life. He was a fine athlete before the accident — playing near par golf — and he was determind to pick up where he left off.

HARDING

Bill was out of the hospital quicker than his doctor left possible, and fitted with an artifical leg, it wasn't long until he was again swinging the golf clubs.

MATTER OF TIME

"It's just a matter of time," says Bill the conditioning program with the new leg the part of the old one that remains. "It was awful painful to start with. I just play nine holes now. I can't quite make it for 18.

"The most I've played is 13 and I'm gradually building up. By the end of the summer, I hope to be going 18 holes."

Bill and his wife, Mary, have three children.

A slight change in the qualifying format of the Michigan Open could, if followed, add a little more class to that event.

★ ★ ★

Proposed is a plan for two qualifying sites — one in or around Detroit and the other on the west side of the state. At present, there is only one site and the feeling is that the addition of another, particularly farther west, would induce some of the better players in that area to try for a spot in the Open.

qualifying site somewhere near

The present setup has the qualifying site somewhere near Detroit which places a travel burden on the many good golfers in the Grand Rapids area.

The Michigan Publinx Golf Association has a sure cure for slow players. Tex Ellison, one of the officers of the MPGA, says their cure is disqualification.

"If they don't finish a round in two hours and 15 minutes, they're disqualified," says Tex. It might be noted that MPGA has no major problem with slow players.

PCH Holding Second Place

Titles Decided in Two Prep Leagues

By JERE CRAIG

It was diamond title day in two county prep leagues yesterday but Pontiac Central's hoped-for celebration turned into a wait-and-see proposition.

Northville clinched its second straight outright Wayne-Oakland championship by edging Bloomfield Hills Andover, 4-3, in eight innings. Clarkston tied Milford for second place with a 2-1 victory.

Livonia Stevenson celebrated its first Inter-Lakes League crown in any sport by walloping Farmington, 8-1, as Paul Tonnemacher tossed a one-hitter.

Pontiac Central downed Bay City Central, 4-1, in the opener of their crucial Saginaw Valley Conference twinbill at Wisner Field to move within one triumph of clinching a share of its first diamond title in 15 seasons.

But the Chiefs' bats turned into fans in the nightcap and PCH dropped a 2-1 decision as the Wolves' Kiedel struck out 13 and tripled home the only two runs he needed.

The loss left PCH in second place with an 8-4 SVC mark Midland trimmed Bay City Handy twice Thursday and is 8-3 with one makeup game remaining against Flint Central.

The Indians are 5-4 and have a doubleheader against Flint Southwestern next week in addition to the Midland game. They must win all three to force a three-way tie.

★ ★ ★

In yesterday's opener Kiedel's opening-inning single gave Bay City a 1-0 lead until Clyde Duncan's steal of home knotted the score in the third.

Winning hurler Victor Quince slashed a two-out line drive up the middle in the fifth inning to put PCH into a 3-1 lead. Duncan singled for the third time in the sixth and scored an insurance run.

TWO SAFETIES

Bill Rollo's bunt single and Larry Tremper's run-scoring double in the sixth were the only Chief safeties in the nightcap. Koedel then settled down to retire the final five batters and dampen PCH's hopes.

★ ★ ★

Andover took a 3-2 lead on Northville in the sixth when a walk, Brian Parrott's double, Randy Marshall's two-run single and John Baumann's rbi-basehit plated all of the Barons' runs.

But pinchhitter Jeff Taylor led off the seventh with a home run to tie the game for the Mustangs. A walk, stolen base and two errors handed them the winning tally in the eighth.

★ ★ ★

Clarkston was down to its final out when Dick Johnson singled home the tying run and Jerry Ostrom promptly followed with another rbi-safety for the Wolves' fifth straight W-O triumph. They have won six of their last seven starts.

Tony Himmelspach's third-inning triple was the only hit for Farmington against Stevenson's tough senior Tonnemacher. The Spartans are unbeaten in six I-L starts, Farmington is 2-8 over-all.

Southfield's Blue Jays gained a key victory Friday afternoon and moved a game-and-a-half ahead in the Southeast Michigan baseball race with a 6-5 win over Ferndale.

The come-from-behind conquest moved the winners within two victories of a share of the title. Seaholm took over second place by blanking Hazel Park, 7-0, behind Mike Hilkene.

Berkley tied Royal Oak Kimball for fourth place with an eight-inning, 7-3 decision that was the Knights' second loss in extra innings this week.

Ferndale took a 2-0 laad at Southfield on Bill Screws' two-run triple in the first inning. The Blue Jays tied it in the second, then fall behind, 3-2, in the third. They regained the lead in the fourth on Pat Ward's basehit.

FOILS STRATEGY

Then in the seventh, the host team attempted to pass Bob Young intentionally but he reached out and doubled home two Eagle mates with his fourth hit.

In Southfield's turn at bat, Rocky Roe singled, the next batter was hit by a pitch and both advanced on a sacrifice. Ed Daniels promptly lined a double to plate the tying and winning runs.

At Birmingham, Hilkene scattered four Hazel Park hits and struck out eight. It was his third win and gives the Maples three in a row for a 9-6 mark.

KEY HITTERS

George Metcalf slammed a double and single to figure in four runs for Seaholm .Teammate Doug Lehman produced three tallies with two singles.

Kimball took a 3-2 lead in the sixth on Bud Hurst and Jerry Wassen singles, plus a three-run error.

Clawson tied it in the sixth on a two-out infield hit by Mike Heist.
