Navy Launches World's Biggest Warship Today

Wilson, Other Officials on Hand for Christening of Carrier Forrestal

NEWPORT NEWS, Va. (AP)—The Navy, launching its giant aircraft carrier Forrestal, today hailed the world's biggest warship as "the most versatile and most dispersible weapon in our nuclear arsenal."

Secretary of the Navy Charles S. Thomas said in a speech prepared for the christening ceremony that vessels like the Forrestal can be used for many purposes, including "massive retaliation"—a phrase often used by high administration officials in connection with United States defense policy.

The Navy used the christening of the Forrestal to dramatize its bid for a major combat role in this jet-atomic age.

Adm. Robert B. Carney, chief of Naval operations, said of the Forrestal that "by her mobility, she will be able to bring air power to parts of the world where no comparable friendly force can be found or maintained."

Secretary of Defense Wilson said that in the building of the Forrestal "we mark another milestone in the progress we are making to modernize and improve the readiness of our armed services."

The setting for the ceremony was beside the looming shape of the still-unfinished 1,036-foot ship, moored in the graving dock where her keel was laid almost 2½ years ago.

Chosen to do the christening honors with the traditional bottle of champagne was Mrs. James V. Forrestal, widow of the former Navy secretary and the nation's first secretary of defense.

Snow, Rain Forecast for Pontiac Area

Snow mixed with rain is the outlook for Pontiac and vicinity tomorrow, the U.S. Weather Bureau says.

After almost constant temperatures yesterday, the low being 30 and high 32 in downtown Pontiac, the mercury will drop tonight to a low of 20-25. Sunday's high is expected to be from 34 to 38 degrees. Both tonight and tomorrow will be cloudy.

This morning at 8 o'clock the thermometer registered 26 degrees, rising to 35 by 2 p.m.

One Week Left to Enter Yule Light Contest

Only a week remains to enter the annual Christmas lighting display contest sponsored by the Pontiac Junior Chamber of Commerce. Five $25 defense bonds will be awarded, said co-chairmen Lawrence Shelton and Ben Sweeney.

A bond will be awarded for the best display in each of the four sections into which the city has been divided. A second bond will go to the creator of the display judged best in the entire city. Final judging will be held Dec. 21.

Entries must be filed at the Jaycee office, 34 E. Pike St., by Dec. 18.

The four areas are:
1. Southwest: Pike to Franklin Blvd., Franklin Blvd. to Huron, to city limits.
2. Southeast: Saginaw to Pike, Pike to city limits.
3. Northeast: Saginaw to Oakland, to city limits, and Pike from Saginaw to city limits.
4. Northwest: Saginaw to Pike to city limits.

Three Days Left to Sign Pledges

Over 7,000 Signatures Collected on Petitions for S-D Day

Only three days are left for motorists and pedestrians to join Pontiac's "Army of 10,000," and lead the nation in traffic safety on S-D Day next Wednesday.

In only five days of petitioning here, the campaign committee has swelled the scroll with more than 7,000 names and many of the petitions are yet unreported, said Clyde R. Haskill today.

A person signing the petition pledges to make a conscious effort to keep S-D Day, Dec. 15, completely free of traffic accidents. Haskill urged all cooperating organizations to return the petitions on Tuesday.

"We hope to have the scroll with all the signatures of Pontiac's motorists and pedestrians in the President's hands in Washington by Safe Driving Day," he added.

The drive here, which is also receiving outstanding attention in other cities, has gained overwhelming support so far. Collection of signatures, mainly by the Pontiac Police Dept., has averaged over 1,000 names a day.

The drive also received support this week from the General Motors Corp. which urged their employees to sign petitions in the various plants.

Police Chief Herbert W. Straley has granted time of his officers to collect the signatures at the main enlistment station on the southeast corner of Saginaw and Huron Sts. Haskill said that a total of 175 Pontiac merchants and firms have declared their support by circulating the petition among their employees.

State to Attack Sam's Denials of Slaying Wife

Dr. Sheppard Stresses Marital Bliss, Avoids References to Susan

CLEVELAND (AP)—Dr. Samuel Sheppard braced himself today for the state's attack on his emphatic assertion he did not kill his wife, and that "I couldn't have done such a thing."

He says he was happily married to Marilyn Sheppard.

But one name—Susan Hayes—still confronts the dark, good-looking osteopath. Miss Hayes, a laboratory technician, has admitted having intimate relations with him. The affair went on for more than a year, she said in court.

For a day and a half, Sheppard testified in his own defense against a charge of first-degree murder. He made only brief references to Miss Hayes. He said his wife was not disturbed when he told her he had given Miss Hayes a watch.

Prosecution attorneys are ready to cross-question Sheppard's whole story. The state contends he murdered his wife last July 4, and that his motive grew out of his extra-marital relations.

Marilyn Sheppard, a 31-year-old expectant mother, was beaten to death in bed. The doctor, 30, testified he ran to the bedroom when he heard her cries, and was slugged unconscious by the killer.

He says Cleveland detectives accused him of the murder in the first stages of the investigation. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 6)

Tired Postman Loses Bout Over Junk Mail Delivery

SAN FRANCISCO (INS)—A rebellious postman who just got tired of totting third class mail he called "a lot of junk" was spared imprisonment because of a judge's sympathetic "understanding."

The mail carrier, Charles W. O'Brien, 62, was sentenced to one year's probation after he pleaded guilty in San Francisco's Federal Court to a charge of "detaining" mail matter.

He could have received five years in prison and a $500 fine for the offense. He was caught by a passerby tearing up mail and stuffing it down a storm sewer in his home city, San Jose.

It was third class advertising matter of the new "bulk handling" classification addressed merely to "occupant" or "boxholder."

Judge Louis E. Goodman, who has a mailbox of his own, observed that "this stuff has been sort of cluttering up the post office lately," then philosophized:

"Maybe he (O'Brien) was performing a public service, who knows?"

Remarking that the defendant was "old and lame and all that weight was just too much for him," the judge closed the proceedings with the one-year probation sentence.

Christmas Shoppers Jam Downtown Pontiac

BUYING RUSH—Thousands of area residents swarmed into downtown Pontiac last night to buy Christmas gifts for friends and families. The buying rush started in earnest yesterday as the Pontiac Retail Merchants Assn. announced that their stores will be open every night from now until Christmas Eve.

Merchants Assn. announced that their stores will be open every night from now until Christmas Eve.

Senate Group to Hold Hearings on Junk Mail

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate group is said to be planning to review an order by Postmaster General Summerfield permitting delivery of advertising mail bearing no specific address.

H. W. Brawley, Democratic staff member of the Senate Post Office Committee, said yesterday hearings on the order and its results would be held early next year.

Brawley said the order, issued last year, has brought protests to the committee from householders, postal unions, and weekly newspapers that claim loss of advertising as a result.

The Post Office Department has said such mail stimulates business and is less expensive to handle because it doesn't require sorting. Congress could void the order by law.

January Trial Sought in Killing

Alabama Pushing for Quick Action Against Pair in Patterson Death

PHENIX CITY, Ala. (INS)—The state planned today to press for an early trial of two men charged with the murder of Alabama Attorney General-elect Albert L. Patterson.

Acting Attorney General Bernard Sykes promised he would push for a January trial for the two men, who were charged with the murder of Patterson last June 18.

A special "cleanup" grand jury which conducted a sweeping investigation of crime and corruption in martial-lawed Phenix City after the gangland-style slaying of Patterson last June 18 was believed to have returned a third indictment in the case.

The person indicted has not been named publicly as yet but officials are expected to issue a warrant soon for a man who was thought to have fled the state.

The grand jury which returned 749 indictments against 152 persons during 54 days of deliberation was highly commended by Special Sessions Judge Walter B. Jones for "driving entrenched crime and vice from this community and restoring the reign of law and order."

Judge Jones also credited the press for a major contribution to the cleanup campaign.

He said the press "declined to be awed and refused to be intimidated" in its efforts to "throw the revealing light of pitiless publicity" on the "tragic and demoralizing conditions existing in Russell County."

Dem Senators Back Up Plan to Criticize President

WASHINGTON (INS)—Democratic senators backed up their new party chairman's continued criticism of President Eisenhower today and predicted there will be more brickbats for "failures"—as well as support for good projects.

Paul M. Butler, Democratic chairman-elect, reaffirmed his intention to criticize Eisenhower when he thinks he has failed but declared: "I will never vilify the President, as Senator McCarthy has this week."

Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall replied that the American people "won't think much of his judgment in these attacks on the President." Hall said he was not aware of Butler's "qualifications for passing judgment on great men."

Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) said that criticism of the President for shortcomings is just democracy and good government in action.

He said: "We want to support him on the good things and of course criticize him on shortcomings. There will be more intensity in the coming months both ways. Democratic support on the foreign policy will be more substantial and criticism (Continued on Page 2, Col. 6)

Hammaraskjold Plans Personal Plea for POWs

Decides on Trip After Assembly Backs Allied Stand on Release of 11

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (INS)—U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold will fly to Peiping shortly for a personal appeal to Chinese Communist leaders to free 11 American airmen and all other U.N. personnel held prisoner since the Korean War.

International News Service learned exclusively today that the secretary general, quietly and without fanfare, reached his own difficult decision to go straight to Mao Tse-tung and Chou En-lai after the U.N. Assembly voted 47 to 5 last night to assign him this critical task.

Hammarskjold revealed his decision last night in conferences with U. S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, British Minister of State Anthony Nutting, Indian Ambassador A. S. Lall and, separately, with Russia's Jacob Malik.

Britain, India and the Soviet Union have diplomatic representations at Peiping, and Hammarskjold may ask their cooperation in carrying out his mission.

The 49-year-old Swedish diplomat, who was elected U. N. secretary general only 18 months ago, made his decision fully aware of the hazards of the "mission to Peiping" and of the added complications stemming from the assembly's condemnation of Red China for violating the Korean armistice by detaining the captives.

In preparing for his 12,000 mile journey, Hammarskjold has the help of governments maintaining diplomatic representation in Peiping.

Leaders Elect Officers, Approve Ike's Foreign Policy in Last Session

LOS ANGELES (INS)—Top leaders of the CIO headed homeward today from the just-concluded 16th annual national convention of the labor organization.

The meeting, in session since last Monday, ended yesterday after the election of officers and the passage of one resolution on foreign policy and another voicing the CIO's demand for a guaranteed annual wage.

Walter Reuther, CIO president, was re-elected for a third term by acclamation.

The same type of vote returned executive Vice President John V. Riffe to office for his second term and Secretary-Treasurer James B. Carey for his 17th term.

The 44-member executive board was returned to office with two exceptions. Joseph Collis, president of the American Newspaper Guild, replaced Ralph Novak, secretary-treasurer of the A.N.G., and Russell J. Taylor replaced James J. Mitchell for the United Shoe Workers Union.

The foreign policy resolution gave President Eisenhower a measure of praise from a convention that for the most part sharply criticized him.

The resolution praised the President for opposing "a handful of military adventurers who would risk throwing the United States into a preventive war."

The answer came this month in the form of a surprise telephone call that proved to be more overwhelming than even Jane was prepared for.

It's quite a thing for a lonely "only child" to learn suddenly that she not only has nine brothers and sisters, but also 28 nieces and nephews.

"It's the most wonderful Christmas present that could ever happen to anybody," Jane said. "I had prayed that I might find just one."

To add to her bewilderment, there were other facts to assimilate—such interesting sidelights as not knowing her own name, celebrating the wrong birthday, and probably being a year older or a year younger than she had thought.

The Day in Birmingham

Drama Critic John Brown Cites Needs of Theater

From Our Birmingham Bureau
BIRMINGHAM — "I would say the theater's salvation rests on two things," said drama critic John Brown, contributing editor of the Saturday Review, in a pre-Town Hall series interview yesterday.

"First, there must be some kind of an economic settlement made, to make the difference between a hit and a flop, where production costs are not so prohibitive—especially for the young playwright."

Speaking a hoarse voice, the victim of a cold continued:

"Secondly, my advice is to get down by the side of your bed and pray every night that more expectant mothers give birth to some of these playwrights."

Questioned on the influence drama critics hold over a play, Brown said, "Critics writing for daily publications are practically a jury and their verdict decides the fate of any play. Where there's a hung jury, a play is apt to have a chance." But if the opinion is unanimous, the die is cast, said Brown.

Responding to another question put to him the lecturer said, "Certainly television affects the theater, just the way a motion picture can. How people can be so pre-Victoria era in their criticisms, I can't understand."

Fourth annual presentation of the Advent and Christmas portions of Handel's oratorio, "The Messiah," will be presented by St. James Episcopal Church choir at the 11 a.m. service tomorrow, under the direction of Kent McDonald, organist and choirmaster. The entire worship will be devoted to the inspired music. Soloists will be: Noma Sherman, soprano; Alice Puleston, contralto; Neil Soper, tenor; and George Mullin, baritone.

Secret pals for 1954 will be revealed at tomorrow's annual Christmas tea of the Business Women's Club, from 4-6 p.m. at the local YMCA. A gift exchange will bring the secret into the open.

An all-parish mixer will be sponsored by the Holy Name Ushers Club of over 100 men at 9 tonight at the Knights of Columbus Hall, Fourth street, Royal Oak. Joe Freese and his band will provide music for both square and ballroom dancing, with refreshments served cabaret style. Tickets may be purchased at the door.

Celebrating its 133rd anniversary at tomorrow morning's services, First Methodist Church will have as guest minister Dr. E. K. Seymour, of St. Mark's Methodist Church.

Mrs. Eleanor Mack McMahon Rosary will be recited for Mrs. Eleanor Mack McMahon, 50, at the home of her sister, Mrs. Henry Royce, 1135 Quanton Rd., at 8:30 p.m. Sunday, with requiem mass to be sung at 10 a.m. Monday at Holy Name Church.

Mrs. McMahon, formerly of Detroit and Toledo, died Nov. 20 in Europe on an extended tour. A daughter of the late Joseph and Mrs. Mack of Quanton Road, she was educated at Sacred Heart convent, and was a member of the Toledo Chapter of the American Red Cross.

Surviving are two sisters, Mrs. Henry Royce and Mrs. Frank Flynn, of St. Catherine, Ont.; a son, James T. of Toledo; a brother, Harry Mack of City of Lathrup Village; and one grandchild.

Mrs. George Ely Service for Mrs. George (Julia O'Neil) Ely, 84, of 426 Bishop Rd., Detroit, will be held at 3 p.m. Monday at Manley Bailey Funeral Home with burial in Woodlawn Cemetery. She died today after a long illness.

Born in Thanesville, Ont., Mrs. Ely had been a Detroit resident for 64 years. Survivors include three sons, George and Neil D., both of Birmingham, and Robert of Irish Hills; two daughters, Mrs. E. L. Stilson of Waterbury, Conn., and Mrs. Hugo Trombley of Detroit; and two grandchildren.

Trolley Bus to Run on Moscow Canal

MOSCOW (U-P) — They're working on something new at the Moscow shipbuilding yards — a "trolley boat" to operate on the same principle as the trolleybus.

This is reported in the Newspaper Evening Moscow, which says the craft will be the first of its kind. It is planned to operate on the Moscow canal and they are going to erect an experimental cable for its route.

Size and other specifications of the boat are not made public, but it is assumed it would be built chiefly to transport freight.

Bank Cashier Kicks Out Pair of Junior Robbers

CLIFTON FORGE, Va. (U-P) — Cashier Curtis M. Brown thwarted two daring daylight attempts to rob the First National Bank here but says he can't be certain that the two would-be robbers were the same.

The first time Brown pulled a small hand from a fishbowl filled with pennies in the lobby and told the five-year-old owner to "scram." Shortly afterward he gave another robber the heave-ho, but this one was wearing a blue handkerchief mask.

Biggest Warship Launched by Navy

1,036-foot ship long before the ceremony. Thus, by christening time, the Forrestal was afloat — a departure from the usual system whereby a ship slides down the ways into the water after she is formally named.

To carry out the "launching" ritual, workers and tractors were to "walk" the carrier a few feet in her dock at the end of the ceremony. Tomorrow, the Forrestal is scheduled to be towed to an outfitting pier. Only about three-quarters completed, the Forrestal is not expected to be ready for the sea for another year.

The big ship — she will displace 59,600 tons without fuel, ammunition, planes or stores and probably 76,000 tons fully loaded — is designed to carry atomic bombers on far-ranging missions.

The Forrestal began taking shape in July 1952. Her flight deck is 1,036 feet long and 252 feet at its widest. The flight deck area covers the equivalent of nearly four acres or almost four football fields.

Although the Forrestal ranks as the biggest warship ever built, she stands third behind Britain's two latest transatlantic liners, the Queen Elizabeth — 83,725 tons — and Queen Mary — 81,235 tons.

The Forrestal also is the costliest combatant ship ever—$197,869,000 when fully fitted with anti-aircraft weapons, electronic equipment and other gear. This does not include the estimated cost of planes for the carrier — about $175,000,000.

These statistics give some idea of the Forrestal's size and speed: From keel to top of masts, it is as tall as a 25-story skyscraper. The ship couldn't go under many bridges, including New York's Brooklyn Bridge, so its mast folds.

Its horsepower — over 200,000. Its speed — 40 miles an hour. Two anchor chains, each 2,160 feet long, weigh 246 tons. Each anchor weighs 30 tons.

Its air conditioning system could cool two Empire State buildings. The Forrestal will carry no more planes than the lighter 45,000-ton Midway class carriers, but some will be much bigger and heavier.

The ukulele started as a Portuguese musical instrument and is now manufactured chiefly in Pennsylvania.

Worst Tragedy

34 Perished 20 Years Ago in Hotel Blaze at Lansing

LANSING (U-P) — A bellboy ran through the smoke-filled corridors of the rambling, brick hotel, shouting a cry of "fire!"

It was shortly after 3 a.m., just 20 years ago today, that the first alarm was sounded for the Hotel Kalamazoo.

It was to be the worst disaster in Lansing's history. No one knows for sure just how many persons died in the fire. There were 34 bodies recovered. Some were unidentified and were buried in a common grave.

There were persistent reports that a group of guests trapped on the roof of the hotel jumped into the adjoining Grand River. The river was dragged but no bodies ever were found.

Every room in the hotel was taken when the disaster struck. The then governor, the late William A. Crompton, had called a special session of the Legislature and 30 or 40 lawmakers were among those registered at the popular hotel.

Six legislators died in the fire, seven representatives and one state senator, John Leidliff of Saginaw. His body was recovered from the ruins several days later.

David Monroe, manager of the hotel, was another victim. Louis M. Nims, state revenue commissioner, was one of the guests who escaped.

Although the exterior walls were of brick construction, the interior was built entirely of tinder-dry wood. Some guests died trapped in their beds. Others tried to jump and

Nuns Report Bishop in Red Labor Gang

HONG KONG (U-P) — Two Roman Catholic nuns recently expelled from Communist China reported today that a Chinese Catholic bishop is being forced to work on a labor gang in Inner Mongolia. The gang pulls a circular millstone used to grind pottery dust.

The nuns are Mother Amelia Kiginska, 40, of Buer, Westphalia, Germany, and Sister Marie Adalberta Buza of Zalesie, Poland.

Karl Martens, a German who spent 18 months in Shanghai jails after being charged with black market activities, also has been expelled by the Chinese Reds. He reached Hong Kong today.

He said he saw Dilmus T. Kanady of Houston, Tex., a year ago and Kanady was then in "poor condition." The Texas businessman was among 26 American civilians listed last month by Sen. William F. Knowland (R-Calif.) as known to be imprisoned in China.

Woman Being Held on Robbery Charge

A 35-year-old woman is being held today by Pontiac Police for investigation of charges that she robbed a cab driver of $30 at knife point last night.

Miss Alice Ophelia Bates, of 434 S. Saginaw St., the suspect, was arrested at 2 a.m. today by Pontiac Patrolmen Roy Hudson and James Sexton at Bagley and Weston Sts., about three hours after the robbery.

Taxi driver William Neikirk, 30, of 574 Stirling Ave., identified Miss Bates as the woman who earlier flagged down his cab, and who then put a knife to his throat and took the money from his shirt pocket.

Fire Causes $600 Damage

Fire caused $600 damage yesterday to a householder owned by Leo Zenke of 1315 Hendricks Rd., Waterford Township, when one of his children fell against an oil stove and fuel spilled from the stove ignited.

Zenke, who said he and his family are living in the trailer while he builds a new home, told Waterford Township firemen that he had no insurance to cover the damage. No one was injured, firemen said.

Family Is Reunited After 27-Year Hunt

reconstructed it for the Pontiac Press:

"My parents, Rufus and Lillian Hartwell, still had eight children at home in Lapeer when my mother suffered her first stroke. My two oldest sisters were away — one married, the other working."

"My oldest brother, Melvin, 17, was at home, but the other seven of us were all dependent children, ranging in age from 15 all the way down to a few months old baby. Allan, my twin brother, and I were not yet 6."

"Faced with the hopeless illness of my mother (I later learned she suffered three strokes) and a brood of children that no one could be hired to care for, dad finally consented to let the Lapeer home arrange for the adoption of his children."

"Adoption is a mighty secret business. Some of us simply dropped from sight."

"Others were taken in by distant relatives scattered throughout the state, and although we lost sight of each other for some years, we did get word through my dad and older sisters of how the others were doing."

"As we got older, we followed the clues and gradually found one another. When I went into the service in 1942 we had all been located except the two youngest — Lillian, who was 3 when we were separated, and Velma who was 1."

"All were living except Melvin, who had been killed in an accident at Flint."

The missing persons hunt continued while Alton served with the Army in Europe. Finally, seven years ago, a chain of coincidences led to the discovery of Lillian.

She turned up in the state of Washington, and her name was Mary Holmgren. Her foster parents had called her Mary because, when she was adopted at the age of three, she kept saying "Mary-June?" — the names of the two sisters who had cared for her during her mother's illness — they concluded Mary must be her name.

Although 27 years had passed since that first parting, and inquiries had uncovered a rumor that Velma had died, still the family clung to the conviction that their baby sister would be found. It was Alton's sister-in-law, Loreta Dingel, who was to bring the news that Velma was alive. She saw the "letter to the editor," and hurried to Dolores with it.

Dolores took one look, and the lid blew off. There was a rush to the telephone, a long distance call — and then the ringing at the other end of the line that was to tell Jane Moore that her life-wish had come true.

There were other phone calls, letters, a flurry of arrangements. Three days later, on Dec. 4, Jane's three children, Sally 6, Susan, 3, and Tommy, 1, shyly greeted an aunt and uncle and five of their newfound cousins. Alton and Dolores with their three children and Ella and her husband, Loren, with their two, had come to visit.

"We knew Velma — I mean Jane — right away," Dolores said, "the family resemblance was so strong. And our 9-month-old Leonard and her little Tommy look enough alike to be twins."

Although this will be her best Christmas, Jane's hoping for one thing better yet — a birthday celebration next August, with 5 sisters, 3 brothers, 19 nieces and 9 nephews present.

As to the detail of which birthday to celebrate, Aug. 19 or Aug. 25, the children have settled that. They say, "Celebrate both."

The little matter of ages has already been disposed of. Confronted with three family documents indicating that she was 27, 28 and 29, Jane made the logical feminine choice. She's 27.

Pontiac Deaths

Mrs. William A. Hempton

Mrs. William A. (Alice) Hempton, 58, of 3849 Motorway Dr., died last night at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital after an illness of one and one-half years.

Born in Evergreen Twp., Sanilac County March 30, 1896, she was the daughter of Samuel and Kers Cadden Weldon and was married here in 1920.

Mrs. Hempton was a member of the First Congregational Church, Eastern Star Chapter 224, White Shrine, Women's Literary Club, Pillar Club, Women's Fellowship of the Church, Interlakes Extension Club and a member of the 500 Club since 1921.

Besides her husband, she is survived by a son, Doyle O. and three grandchildren. Also surviving are three brothers, George Holman of Burnside, Wesley Walden of Pontiac and Frank Walden of Caro; three sisters, Mrs. Annie Haskell of Unionville, Mrs. Mary Hyatt of Davison and Mrs. Edith Hillman of Pontiac.

The funeral will be held from Monday at 1:30 p.m. The Rev. Malcolm K. Burton of the First Congregational Church will officiate with burial in White Chapel Memorial Cemetery.

Mark Anthony Young

Prayer service was held this afternoon at 2 p.m. from the William F. Davis Funeral Home for Mark Anthony Young, The Rev. J. Allen Parker of the Newman A. M. E. Church officiated and burial followed in Oak Hill Cemetery.

Mark was the month-old son of Francis Neal and Alma Frances Edwards Young, 519 Highland Ave. He was born here Nov. 3, 1954 and died at Pontiac General Hospital Thursday.

Besides his mother and father, he is survived by two sisters, Carol Ann and Judith E. Pickett both of Pontiac.

Sen. Albert Gore (D-Tenn.) said he himself has "not been a shrinking violet these past two years" although he has not attacked Eisenhower. But he added:

"What I have done and expect to continue to do is try to hold the President responsible for the Eisenhower administration. If those holding public office are not held accountable for their performance, the two-party system fails."

Although Democrats in Congress are keenly aware of Eisenhower's popularity with the voters, they believe they cannot upset an administration and its leader whose works they do not challenge.

Sheppard Makes 3 Denials of Slaying

He described one grilling that lasted nearly 11 hours, conducted by four pairs of officers.

They tried to break down his story, he told the jury.

Sheppard said the detectives tried to confuse him, cursed him and insulted his family, and mentioned "accomplices." They expressed doubt, he said, that he was the father of his unborn child.

10,000 Army Draftees Get Christmas Present

WASHINGTON (U-P) — The Army is offering 10,000 draftees a Christmas gift—a delay in their induction until after the holidays.

"The postponement of induction," the Army said yesterday, "is not compulsory and any men who wish to be inducted as previously scheduled may do so." The delay applies to all men who were scheduled for induction today or later. They may now wait until after the Christmas holiday.

Shah, Queen Expected to Leave Hospital Soon

NEW YORK (U-P) — The Shah of Iran and his Queen are expected to leave New York Hospital some time this weekend after undergoing a medical checkup.

An aide to the royal couple yesterday described the 34-year-old Shah's condition as "very fine" and Queen Soraya's as "good." Both were admitted to the hospital last Wednesday, but with no indication why they went in.

Deaths Last Night

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Peter F. Brattin, 66, manager of the Biltmore Theater in Los Angeles and former manager of the Southern California Citizens Advisory Board, died last night at his home in Los Angeles. He was born in Chicago and had been in the city since 1921.

Goodbye Peck Called Factor in Traffic Jams

OMAHA (U-P) — How much does that goodbye kiss given the wife after she drives her breadwinner to the office contribute to the morning rush hour traffic jams?

Traffic engineers—happily married men who pleaded for anonymity—said: "Goodbye smooches can contribute to morning rush hour traffic jams."

While the morning kiss is given, whether it is a peck on the cheek or a clinch, cars behind have to wait, say the engineers. "It doesn't take long and there goes the jam," they explain.

But the goodbye kiss has its defenders, among them Capt. Al Patavina Sr., traffic enforcement officer, who summed up the case: "It's a damned good thing to have them kissing than standing out in the middle of the street finishing off an argument that began at the breakfast table. Love and kisses are a great institution."

Both sides conceded no large-scale crackdown on kissing is in the offing.

Sends $1 to School to Pay Penny Theft

KIMBALL, Neb. (U-P) — Treasurer Charles Carlson of the Heath Public School District received a letter, containing a $1 bill, which the sender said was in payment of an article "worth about a penny" stolen years ago from a desk in the school house.

The letter added "the owner of the article is now dead. I regret very much that I took it. I am therefore sending you as treasurer of the school district a $1 bill that I ask you to use for something needed by the school, preferably a book for the library."

Ike, Harry Laud Gen. Marshall for Patriotism

WASHINGTON (INS) — Five-star general George C. Marshall, at one time the object of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy's criticism, basked in the lavish praise last night of President Eisenhower and former President Harry S. Truman.

The two leaders lauded the general for his patriotism and devotion to the U. S. in letters to the national commander of Amvets which presented its 10th anniversary award—a silver helmet—to the retired statesman-soldier.

Neither Eisenhower nor Truman mentioned McCarthy, who has had harsh words to say about them, too.

The Wisconsin senator once charged that Marshall ran the campaign against Germany during the last war "so bad for the free world and so good for international communism."

President Eisenhower was the commander of the Allied forces in Europe while Marshall was army chief of staff. Later, under the Truman administration, Marshall held the posts of secretary of state and defense.

Dodge to Advise Ike on Foreign Policy

WASHINGTON (UP) — President Eisenhower today named Joseph M. Dodge, Detroit banker and former federal budget director, as his special assistant on foreign economic policies.

Eisenhower also designated Dodge as chairman of a new Cabinet-level council on foreign economic policy. Establishment of the special council was recommended by Dodge himself following a two-month survey of the government's foreign economic policies and operations.

Dodge's primary duty will be to unify the government's programs in the foreign economic field.

ReflectionsGOODWILL

Goodwill is a beautiful edifice that has taken time, honor and trial to build yet it can be shattered in a second:

Time, alone, is not enough; honor, alone is not enough; add trial and you have material that cements all three elements.

The human equation, opinion of others is that part of Goodwill Building that adds lustre, that afterglow that has made our business and social relations pleasant. You will find it in the communion of friends, the solidity of family relations, the trust, confidence of old, successful Banking Institutions. The man who quickly gains your confidence, abuses it, instantly loses your Goodwill.

Goodwill is not tamable. You can't lock it up. You can't hold it against its will; it must be free and unfettered. You and I want the esteem of our friends; we diligently nurse it, carefully nurture it and see Goodwill emerge from nothing to the essence of a beautiful relationship.

SANTA AND MARS KING

By Lucrece Hudgins Beale

SYNOPSIS: Santa Claus explains to Tom that his reindeer refuse to fly because of the flying saucers. "Unless we can get rid of the saucers I'm afraid there will be no Christmas this year," says Santa. Tom offers to help catch one.

Chapter Eight
TOM GOES AWAY

Tom and Santa worked through the day and through the night on their net.

Now it was almost done. Tom looked at it admiringly. Suddenly he had an awful thought.

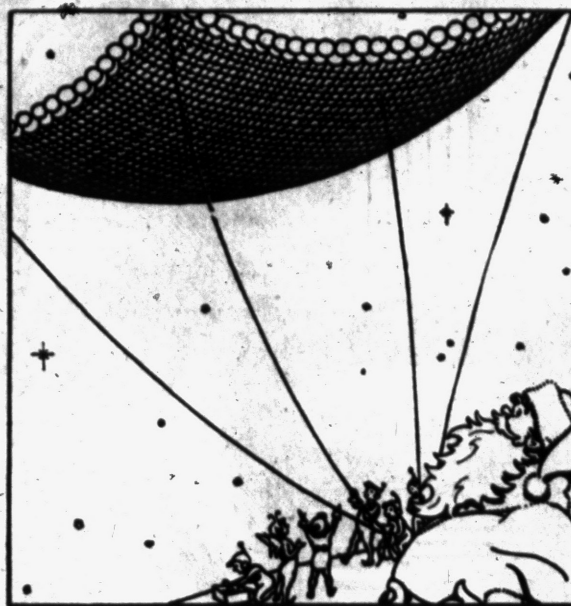

"Suppose we do catch a flying saucer. What will we do with it?"

Santa shook his head. "I don't know. It may be a wild thing that will destroy us all. Or it may be nothing but a mist that we cannot hold. Whatever it is we have to find out."

Santa sounded tired and sad. Tom knew he was thinking of all the children in the world who would have no Christmas toys if Santa's reindeer did not fly again.

At last the net was done. They rolled it into a giant ball and carried it to the shop where the elves and fairies were at work. The shop was filled to the ceiling with fat balloons—silver ones and blue and red and gold.

"Do we have enough?" asked the workers. Their words came out in funny little puffs and huffs. They had been blowing so long on the balloons that now they blew when they talked!

Santa said they had done a good job. Then they all set about tying the balloons to the giant fish net.

They carried the net to a nearby field and released the balloons. Up, up into the sky floated the thousands of balloons carrying the net between them.

Two long ropes on each end of the net were tied to the ground and kept the net from flying completely out of sight.

"Oh, this will surely catch us a saucer!" cried the workers with delight.

They were so happy they picked up Tom and carried him around on their shoulders. They sang a song about what a smart boy he was. Tom could not hide his pleasure. He had left home merely to see a flying saucer and here he was catching one and saving Christmas for all the world.

But, alas, catching a saucer was not that easy.

For 10 days and 10 nights the net floated in the sky. Time after time the Santa folk saw mysterious lights flashing through the sky but Tom's trap never caught anything at all.

Christmas grew closer and still the reindeer would not fly.

Poor Tom! He was filled with shame at his failure. Santa told him it did not matter, that he had done his best. But Tom ached to see the disappointment in Santa's eyes.

At last he got another idea. "Perhaps the balloons are too soft. They can be pushed out of the way. If we set a trap of kites with pins in them the pins will stick holes in the saucers and cause them to fall!"

The workers were willing to try again. They got together all the kites they had been building through the year. They put pins and nails in the ends of each stick and then set the kites to flying around all of Santa Land.

For 10 days and 10 nights they took turn flying the kites. Seven times they saw a saucer. But not once did they catch one.

Now Tom was truly shamed. "I talked so big and did nothing at all," he thought.

He could not bear to face Santa and the workers any longer.

"I will go away on my own," he decided. "I will hunt and hunt and I will never give up until I catch a flying saucer."

Health Officer Urges TB Fight

Dr. Monroe Wants All to Buy Christmas Seals to Curb Disease

Fully one-fourth of the American people have been infected with the germs that cause tuberculosis, Dr. John D. Monroe, health officer for Oakland County, said today.

"Most of the people who have TB germs in their systems will never break down with the disease," Dr. Monroe said, "if there is no sharp decline in the standard of living and if the present level of the TB control program by both official and voluntary agencies is maintained."

But, Dr. Monroe warned, TB will be a major health problem until this reservoir of infection is eliminated.

In urging every person to buy Christmas seals to support the Oakland County Tuberculosis Assn. efforts to check the disease, Dr. Monroe said, "Great progress has been made in the years since the voluntary TB associations such as our own in Oakland County began their fight against the disease."

"Deaths from TB have been cut drastically to about 20,000 a year. But there will be about 110,000 new TB cases in 1955."

The Oakland County Tuberculosis Assn. opened its Christmas Seal campaign Nov. 22 to obtain funds for permanent clinics for consultation and x-ray, case finding, rehabilitation, health education, research and cooperative work with health departments, physicians and schools.

The campaign will continue through December.

Naval War College Gets Rare Book Collection

NEWPORT, R. I. (UP) — A rare collection of 200 volumes on significant explorations and voyages during the last 400 years has been presented to the Naval War College.

The collection — comprising the first and second series of the Hakluyt Society publications — was donated to the War College by Dr. A. Hamilton Rice of Newport.

The Hakluyt Society was organized in 1846 for the purpose of publishing rare volumes on voyages travels and geographic records. It publishes one volume a year.

Faith and the Family

The PRESS is gratified but not surprised by NORMAN ROTH's praise of LULA B. OGDEN's illustrated articles on faith and family life in Pontiac.

In his letter Mr. ROTH wrote that, "in all the 25 years I have read the PRESS there has never appeared a feature more worthwhile, and in these times more absolutely necessary . . ." Indeed, it would be difficult to find a more fitting subject in a season soon to be climaxed by the birthday of the King of Kings.

The great value of the series, it seems to us, lies in its many examples of how regular church and Sunday school attendance and sturdy faith bind parents and children into closer, happier family units.

Of course, the more such family units there are in a community, the higher will be its moral tone and the greater its social stability.

India's Rapid Progress

GAGANVHARI L. MEHTA, India's Ambassador to the United States, credits his homeland's five year plan for a 13 to 14 per cent increase in the national income.

Other results of the plan launched in 1951, the Ambassador says, are a one-third increase in industrial production. In the same period agricultural output has jumped 25 per cent.

The importance of the latter gain is pointed out by the fact that three of every four Indians depend on agriculture for their livelihood. Also important, roughly half of India's national income is produced by farmers.

The scope of India's immediate program is broad indeed. It includes 140 large irrigation projects and 100 power projects. There also have been noteworthy achievements in the plan's industrial phases. Several industries already have reached their 1956 targets.

Observers say the five year plan has created great national enthusiasm for self improvement. That fact well could do much to attract the outside financial aid India still needs.

Business Courses Needed

Are most of our college and university graduates business or economic illiterates?

Many educators not only believe so but argue that the remedy is a general business course for all undergraduates. In this they are supported by the results of a survey of 150 colleges and universities. This was conducted by RALPH E. STOLKIN, Chicago industrialist.

The survey showed that the majority of graduates are seriously deficient in business knowledge. They lack even an elementary understanding of practical every day business information, such as the role of the corporations in our society. Many cannot read an ordinary stock market quotation or understand the simplest statement found in a corporation report.

As a result of this survey Purdue University's economics department is planning a course to acquaint general students with fundamental business knowledge. While there is disagreement on whether such courses should be required, educators do agree on the need for them.

All agree, also, that the American college graduate should have a sound knowledge of simple business and financial operations that will be encountered in the daily life of the average citizen.

ness and financial operations that will be encountered in the daily life of the average citizen.

We not only share that view but believe that teaching such courses will strengthen our American way of life.

Berlin's Election

Despite election returns which appear unfavorable, the results of Berlin's latest voting are anything but a disaster for the ADENAUER regime.

One of the first cheering developments was the announcement by the victorious Socialists that they would govern the city in co-operation with Chancellor ADENAUER's Christian Democrats. With the Socialists winning 64 seats and the Christian Democrats 44, here is a solid bloc of pro-democratic lawmakers in a city literally encircled by Russian Communism.

Two other election facts also add up to good news for the West. Communists, who appeared on the ballots for the first time, were almost wiped out, polling less than three per cent of the total vote. Right wing Nationalists did only slightly better, capturing 4.8 per cent.

We Americans shouldn't overlook the fact that 91.6 per cent of Berlin's voters exercised their franchise. Thus they not only proved their interest in the elections, but displayed strong aversion to Communism and neo-fascism.

A most unusual hobby came to light the other day in the case of a Tulsa woman who has been spending quite a bit of her spare time poisoning people.

If THE rate the Christmas season has been backing up on the calendar in recent years continues, by 1960 it will begin July 5.

U. S. Treasury Reports

Debt Up Slightly But Lower Interest Rates Make Position Better

By FRANK O'BRIEN
 WASHINGTON (AP) — Carrying a touchy economy on its back, the Treasury ran hard all year to keep up with the giant national debt—the biggest financial structure in the history of man—and came out a little the winner.

Another year of hard running is in prospect.

The Treasury finishes its 1954 financing on Dec. 15, when it swaps about 17 billion dollars worth of mature government securities for new ones, and pays off some 350 million dollars of the old debt to lenders who do not want to relend their money to the government.

That winds up 60½ billion dollars of government borrowing and refinancing during the year, exclusive of 19½ billion dollars of weekly 90-day bill issues, and of saving bond sales.

At the end of 1954, the debt stands higher—about 278½ billion dollars compared with 275 billion—than a year earlier. But the Treasury is paying lower interest rates, it has fewer issues on the market, and the average length of the debt—the average time of all issues to their maturity—is nearly six months greater than at the end of 1953.

The Treasury is proud of these facts. It rates them achievements against inflation. The Treasury has let it be known that it probably will not have to borrow any new money through the end of the current fiscal year, next June 30.

That indicates that the government now expects to wind up fiscal 1955 on June 30 with a smaller red ink total than the $4,655,000,000 deficit predicted last September. Another billion to two billion dollars new borrowing had been expected in the first six months of 1955.

Nevertheless, the government will have to borrow additional new money in the last half of 1955, when taxes are low but spending goes on at an even pace. Present indications are that part of the new 1955 borrowing will stick, as an addition to the federal debt for more than just a few months, because a new deficit for fiscal 1956, beginning next July 1, appears to be in prospect.

The legal debt limit is now 281 billion dollars, but reverts to 275 billions on July 1. The Treasury estimates it will be a little, but not much, under 275 billions at mid-year. That means the administration will almost certainly have to ask Congress to adjust the debt ceiling upward again in 1955.

Even if it did not face the prospect of having to go to market for new money in 1955, the Treasury would still have the world's biggest financing problem on its hands, because 45 billion dollars of old debt falls due during the year (exclusive of savings bonds).

In the first 10 months of 1954, savings bond sales totaled, just over four billion dollars, 11 per cent higher than in the first 10 months of 1953. Sales outran redemptions by over 359 million dollars, the best record since 1949.

At the end of 1954, the average length of the national debt had been stretched by six months, to about four years and two months. And the average interest being paid on the marketable debt was 2.298 at the end of November, 1954, compared with 2.435 a year earlier.

Recalls Hard Times in the 'Old Days'

What a shame some of these "die hards" cannot harken back to the good old hard-time days along with Ike.

I had my fill of them for a comparatively short number of years, much less back to the Gay Nineties.

Thank goodness the majority of us choose to have things remain as they are, in preference to the good old Republican days.

Another Democrat
 Says Ike Is Undoing All Teddy's Gains

I would like to make a few remarks about the letter from "Another Herbert." He said that he voted for Teddy and right up the line. I suppose he meant that he has voted for all Republicans since then.

My first vote was for that same Teddy and I was proud to vote for him but I quit when Teddy could not stand the Republican party any longer and started the Bull Moose party.

Now our President is trying to undo all the good work that Teddy did — give away power, tideland oil, take away the rights of foresters and miners for which Teddy fought. What have you got to be proud of, Herbert?

Harry Truman will go down in history as a greater President than Ike. Our President is a great general but as a President I think he is a flop.

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY
 There is a way which seemeth right unto a man, but the end thereof are the ways of death. —Prov. 14:12.

Case Records of a Psychologist

War Has Brought Us Many Benefits Including Great Advances in Medicine

It may seem paradoxical, but World War II has saved the lives of far more millions of people than went to their deaths therein. Discuss this case record in your Sunday school class tomorrow, and please give William Penn a more prominent place in the history of civilization.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case M-390: Carl W., aged 36, is a talented Baptist clergyman. "Sometimes I grow a bit discouraged at the wilful nature of mankind," he spoke meditatively. "Every generation we go to war, even in this 20th century. And our wars keep growing more destructive because of the new inventions of scientists. The hydrogen bomb is an instance in point.

"Dr. Crane, I know that Christianity is the only hope for humanity, but sometimes I need a pep talk for the sake of my morals. 'Is mankind so perverse it will destroy itself by the Frankenstein of its own scientific laboratories?'"

You need not be labeled a Pollyanna when you say the world is growing better.

It is true that blockbusters, rockets, giant airplanes and hydrogen bombs have been added to the poison gas of World War I, as destroyers of mankind.

But as a result of the war, please remember we have likewise been able to discover or test new medicines which will ultimately save far more lives than all the millions who have died in World War II.

Take penicillin, as only a single example. It alone has stopped infection to the point where we can wipe out many diseases that now levy death tolls in the millions among the less civilized nations of the world.

New surgical techniques, too, have been evolved. New foods and insecticides, new fuels and alloys, plastics and synthetic products. The overall or long-time effect of this past war, therefore, can literally be shown to have saved far more millions of lives in future generations than have been lost in the past decade of fighting.

"But why couldn't those scientific discoveries have occurred without the holocaust of war?" Rev. Carl may logically inquire.

Theoretically, they could have. But practically, it seems almost impossible to stimulate Congress to appropriate large sums of money for research, except in time of war.

Where legislators will refuse to authorize ten million tax dollars in peace time for scientific advancement, they will gladly allocate billions during war years.

As a by-product of the destructive processes invented or discovered with those billions, however, we find numerous constructive and helpful inventions, drugs, insecticides, etc.

I am not defending war. We ought to eliminate war forever. But I have pointed out that even in spite of wars, more people will be saved in the future, than if we had gone along complacently in continuous peace, but with only a moderate stimulus to scientific research.

When you get to feeling blue about the practical effectiveness of the Golden Rule in solving inter-racial problems, please think back to William Penn.

He invaded America as a foreign colonizer. He encountered Indians far more cruel than the Communists. Those Indians, for sport, would scalp an enemy, then pour hot coals on the raw flesh of the skull to see if the victim would wince.

They would use human targets for knife throwing contests or tomahawk practice. They made their captives run the gantlet. Eyeground them at the stake as their terminal torture, after having first stuck pine splinters into the skin and lighted them to watch the victims wince.

But Penn and the Indians got along harmoniously without the firing of a shot! For the Quakers actually applied Christ's teachings. Every race reacts favorably to this same technique! Let's use it and avoid World War III.

Days of All Faiths

Mexicans to Hold Fiesta of Our Lady of Guadalupe

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER
 Sunday, December 12, is Mexico's greatest religious festival: the fiesta of Our Lady of Guadalupe. It commemorates the appearance of the Blessed virgin Mary to an Indian convert named Juan Diego, in the year 1531.

In those times the Spanish conquerors had just taken that part of North America over from the Aztecs and, of course, a part of that taking over consisted of destroying all the ancient Aztec gods and goddesses.

Among the 'dieties whose idols were smashed was TONANTZIN, goddess of the earth and of the growing corn. She had been important in the lives of the people and dear to their hearts and though her shrine and her image were gone, the memory of her was strong.

Into this situation, the legend says, stepped the Blessed Virgin Mary herself. At the very spot where Tonantzin's shrine had stood, Mary appeared to the simple Juan Diego, who happened to be passing by. She spoke to him and told him to go to the Bishop and say that she wanted a church built on this same site and dedicated to her.

We've got to figure with the national politician who's isolationist in Europe and interventionist in Asia. Also the statesman who reverses the process and plays both ends against the middle like a man tying up a long bundle with a short string.

It abrogates Newton's law of gravity. When you're carrying water on both shoulders don't stand on your head.

When foreign policies come home to roost you've got to put the facts in the face. The first is that colonialism is deadlier than a taxidermist's guest list.

We started it on the one-way chute giving self-government to the Philippines. They would have inherited total freedom in 1945 if the schedule hadn't jumped the track before the train arrived.

When Japan knocked off Manila in 1941 it was notice that Asiatic co-prosperity was paying dividends out of sinking funds. If Tokyo had waited four years it would have been fighting the Philippines.

We could have said it was none of our business and washed our celluloid cuffs of it. The premature incubating of Nipponese ambition was a kick in our star-spangled teeth.

There are no frozen time limits set on Formosa. The 7th Fleet is over there primed to the nines. Excluding the Civil War every one of our major assaults has started either at sea or over a one-boat regatta.

Boston Harbor, the pressing of American seamen in 1812, sinking of the Maine, the low-bridging of the Lusitania and Pearl Harbor. Even before Pearl Harbor it actually started with the bombing of the Panay in the Yellow River. The Panay wasn't much bigger than a depot stove but she flew the American flag.

The Navy has a memory like an elephant but it doesn't settle for peanuts. Anybody hankering for war with us can start it by putting a tick-tack on one of our portholes.

"Poor Juan, to whom the Bishop was even more awesome than Mary, tried to deliver the message, but got nowhere with it. The Bishop wanted proof, and Juan had none.

So Juan went back to the scene and there the Virgin met him again. This time she filled his homespun blanket with roses—Castilian roses, which the Bishop would recognize as foreign to Mexico—and sent him back.

But the roses were not miraculous enough. When Juan opened the blanket and spilled out the roses, there, to everyone's amazement, was a portrait of Mary painted on the blanket.

No further persuasion was needed. A Church was immediately erected in honor of Our Lady of Guadalupe.

Protestants throughout the world have a special day tomorrow—Universal Bible Sunday, the day on which Protestants of 60 nations join in stressing the fundamental importance of Bible-reading in the life of the individual Christian.

This is a distinctly Protestant kind of day, growing directly out of one of the greatest principles of the Reformation. Luther and the Reformers held, as one of their basic beliefs, that the Bible must be translated into every language and made available to every Christian.

Behind today's world-wide observance are the efforts of 24 national Bible Societies, one of which is the American Bible Society, chiefly by laymen.

In preparation for the special church services tomorrow these Societies have distributed manuals aimed at making the ceremonies similar everywhere while at the same time allowing for local differences in taste and custom. The manuals make suggestions about sermon subjects, hymns, prayers, Scripture readings, etc. They will be an extra element in this year's Bible Sunday. The year 1954 is generally accepted as the 500th anniversary of the Gutenberg Bible the first book ever printed by means of movable type. Universal Bible Sunday was first observed in 1904.

The only reason for including an ancient Roman festival in a column about current religious days is that many people try to say that this particular one—the Roman Saturnalia—was really the forerunner and basis for Christmas. This is one of those half-truths that obscure the real truth.

The old Romans had this festival—their biggest one — at this season because this was the time of year when the winter solstice passed and everyone was happy to see the days begin to lengthen out again. It was not only a Roman custom. All the ancient pagans celebrated this annual event.

And all their winter festivals did have some of our modern Christmas customs in them.

But in time it became such a wild and drunken week-long orgy that the word "saturnalia" itself has survived as a synonym for a general brawl. Webster accepts it as an English word meaning "unrestrained and intemperate jollity."

People With One Kidney Can Drink Lots of Water, Milk, but Little Liquor

 THE MAIL BOX
 One Kidney

One kidney removed a year ago. Getting along fine. As a cook I spend long hours in kitchen, become very thirsty. Drink much water, milk and other liquids. Will this injure the remaining kidney? Is it all right to take some beer or a little whisky occasionally? I find a little pep me up when I get very tired on the job. (R. B.)

Answer—The spare will carry on as efficiently as two kidneys, if you take care of it. Drink as much milk, water, of fresh fruit juice beverage as you like, but taking alcoholic beverages or liquor is a risky sort of abuse of the remaining kidney.

Talbot's Solution
 Druggists say they don't know the formula for Talbot's Solution which you recommend as a bi-weekly application to the gums in abscesses. So they can't prepare it. (R. B.)

Answer—A diluted Talbot's Solution is given in the N. F. under the name of Glyceric acid and Zinc iodide. If the druggist hasn't the National Formulary let him prepare lodoglyceric Solution instead—as given by Louis I. Grossman, D. D. S., D. M. D., in a chapter of mouth diseases in the Encyclopedia of Medicine and Surgery (Davis).

Curfew
 Daughter, 14, in first year high school. Son, 12, in 7th year grade school. Should we allow them to go out after supper, which is finished about 6:30? How many hours of sleep should they have? (D. B.)

Answer—Allow them to play outdoors at any time, so far as health is concerned. Child of 12 needs 9½ hours, child of 14 not less than 9 hours sleep every night.

State of Nutrition in France
 I demand to know on what authority you base your statement that "malnutrition is prevalent in France." (J. P. S.)

Answer—I have no knowledge of the state of nutrition in France and have never implied that malnutrition or nutritional deficiency is prevalent there.

Pica
 Formed habit of eating — baking powder ten years ago. Used to eat 3 boxes a week, now much less, but have to have some every two or three days. Doctor said it wouldn't hurt me now if it hadn't hurt me all the time I've been eating it. (Mrs. M. W. K.) (C. R. W.)

Answer—I agree with the doctor. Craving for such unnatural things is a common peculiarity called pica—chalk, clay, ashes, etc. Generally harmless, has no special significance. More wholesome to chew would be a handful of wheat, some oatmeal or rolled oats, raw carrot, turnip, cabbage, potato etc.

Dentistry
 Please advise what I can take for my nerve pain when I have a toothache. Answer—A dentist who is skilled can inject a local anesthetic and extract a tooth without hurting you a bit. Only your physician or dentist could give you medicine to prevent undue fear reaction in anticipation of the operation.

C-O Means Carbon Monoxide
 I do not understand what C. O. means in your advice to a correspondent about smoking. I smoke a good deal and lately have had some trouble with the kidneys. Could smoking have anything to do with this? (Mrs. D. J.)

Answer—I'm sorry—it stands for carbon monoxide—the tasteless colorless, odorless gas which is so dangerous if inhaled in minute quantity. Yes, excessive smoking may be a cause of your trouble.

Signed letter, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady. If a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed, etc. (Copyright 1954)

Flip of a Coin Decides Death

Ex-Convict Tells How He Tortured Woman Until She Died

EVERETT, Wash. (AP)—An ex-convict related yesterday how he told his pretty young girl friend several days in advance he was going to kill her and then, just before he carried out the threat, decided on the flip of a coin how she was to die.

"Heads I'd strangle her; tails I'd cut her apart limb from limb," Earl C. Runyon said in a tape-recorded, signed confession.

"It came up heads," the stocky ex-convict, ex-professional fighter and ex-carnival worker went on. In his confession Runyon said he killed Mrs. Violet Mae Williams, 26, mother of two children and a divorcee, because she was "too pious" and refused to join him in a scheme to steal welfare checks from the mails.

When the coin came down heads he grabbed Mrs. Williams by the throat, the confession continued, and alternately choked and revived her to prolong the woman's agony. This went on, he said, for nearly an hour.

When Mrs. Williams slumped to the floor dead, Runyon said, he covered the body with a bedspread spat on it and then went on a round of taverns.

He called police three hours after the slaying and blurted out that he had killed Mrs. Williams.

Pope Pius Continues to Regain Strength

VATICAN CITY (AP)—A Vatican source said today Pope Pius XII passed "a fairly good night."

The Pope is still seriously ill from the gastric ailment that apparently brought him close to death nine days ago. But he has been slowly gaining strength.

He sat up to eat once yesterday and took a few brief walks on the arm of his private physician. On one of his excursions, he surprised the telephone switchboard operator in his Vatican apartments by coming in to see his pet goldfinches.

"Obviously they feel better than I do," a source reported him saying with a smile.

Lifts Car Off Son's Leg

Zsa Zsa Gabor Really a Simple Vurking Girl

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—"Up in Zsa Zsa's Boudoir" was to be the title of this adventure.

I was to interview her as she lolled among the pillows of her enchantress' den on 5th Av. . . and photograph her as she lay clad—if you could call it that—in a slinky negligee.

"Sweetheart," she pleaded, when I arrived. And I knew she was reneging.

"I never made a picture in a negligee yet. Life Magazine says I have sex appeal in my brains, not in my boudoir."

Flopping down on a divan, she began confessing to me about the "new Zsa Zsa"—the one that admits there was some hogwash to the eyepatch story—the Zsa Zsa who is just a simple "vurking girl."

"Dolling, I'm a serious actress . . . I'm not jucking!" She looked up at me appealingly. "Oh, that man made me such a bad publicity last year!"

She referred to a Hollywood press agent who engineered her headline battle with Barbara Hutton.

ZSA ZSA GABOR

"How about the eyepatch? Did you get a sock in the eye?" I asked.

"I never got a sock in the eye!" Zsa Zsa shouted. "Ve did have a little fight, but . . ."

She flicked a finger as though it were a love tap, greatly magnified, and hurried on to her story of being a "vurking girl."

"I have made my tenssss picture in 2½ years. I'm taking every day an acting lesson from Michael Chekov. Nobody can attack my acting any more."

"Would your teacher be related to the great Chekov?"

"He's a nephew of him! He also taught Rubi for our picture ve make in Mexico, 'Western Affair'."

★ ★ ★ ★

About this time, Miss Gabor decided she would, after all, agree to pose in a negligee, and went to change into a Dior number.

"Zis is a Dior, but he can't go flat with me, because vot's he going to do with me?" she said when she came out in it . . . or should I say out of it?

"What is the secret of your success with men?" I dared inquire.

"Men! You mean man!" she flung back. "I'm a one-man's woman. I'm always staying with one man for years. I'm an honest, good woman. Any girl can trust her man with me."

"But they say you took Rubirosa from Barbara Hutton . . ."

"Barbara Hutton took my man away from me!" Zsa Zsa corrected me. "He was my man for years."

"She came right to our table and said to him she liked him. She took him away . . . but not for long!"

★ ★ ★ ★

Inasmuch as I had not been supposed to ask Zsa Zsa about that great debacle, I veered from it for a second.

She said that four of her movies will be out shortly, and that "Western Affair" will be made by the same man who made "Robinson Crusade."

"I'm an old-fashioned Annie Oakley," she said. "In the picture, I shoot good."

"Can you really handle a gun?" I asked.

"With my temperament, it's better not to have a gun around!"

"Are you and Rubi still planning to get married some time?"

"Ve are both still married!" she pointed out. "Him still to Barbara. My divorce isn't final till April. But after dat . . . I sink so!"

Men's Pajamas Gain Smartness

Newest Designs Are as Trimly Tailored as Business Suits

Has a man on your list got you stumped? Then give him around - the - house comfort - a versatile pair of pajamas.

Handsome pajamas for sleeping or loafing add up to an ideal Christmas gift. They're luxurious, sensible, low in price, and always sure to be used.

The styling of men's pajamas, in case you haven't noticed, has undergone radical change. Yesterday's garish "awning" designs have been quietly laid to rest, and so have their floppy lines.

Today's models have soft, solid colors, and are trimly tailored as business suits.

A "Nite-Life Loafer," for instance, is fashioned in fine cotton broadcloth and doubles as indoor sportswear for late-evening television viewing.

So do the popular balbriggan styles, with pullover sweater top, elasticized cuffs and ski - style trousers.

Men who like the luxury and wearing comfort of rayon pajamas will appreciate the many new stylings in washable rayon. Colors range from pale pastels to darker tones.

For a gift that's a little more lush, several firms offer robe kits, with a robe and matching pajamas.

These will be welcomed by men who travel, as they're made in lightweight fabrics to lie down flat in the suitcase.

Workers Buy Stock, Keep Big Firm Out

DETROIT (AP)—A CIO United Auto Workers (UAW) official says union employees of the Detroit Motor Products Corp. are buying company stock to keep General Tire & Rubber Co. of Akron, Ohio, from taking over control of the auto parts firm.

Donald Cessna, president of UAW Local 203, said yesterday that 693 of the local's 3,500 members have signed up to buy the stock under a monthly installment plan worked out with management.

The offer, Cessna said, has been in effect since Wednesday.

Cessna said he hopes the move will boost the price of Motor Products' stock and discourage shareholders from selling or trading to General Tire.

About 1,136,140 major crimes were committed in the U.S. the first half of 1954.

Young Hair Stylist

Country Girl Blazes Trail to Success With Scissors

CHICAGO (INS)—A little Arkansas farm girl who caught the dickens for hacking her hair has grown up to become a big city hair stylist.

Hope Robbins is rated one of the top hair stylists in Chicago.

A slim blonde pretty enough to be a model, Hope is a virtual "baby" in the field since she has been a professional only six years.

But she actually has been preparing for her career ever since she got punished by her mother, Mrs. Asa Newsom of Eldorado, Ark., for cutting herself some jagged bangs at the age of six.

Now she is so adept at dealing with a woman's crowning glory that she holds 15 national trophies, has had her own television show in Chicago and frequently travels across-country to lecture on hair fashions before college coeds, women's groups and hairdressers themselves.

To equip herself for her career, Hope went to college and studied liberal arts for two years before her professional training.

She believes that "a good hair stylist" must know a variety of subjects to give women becoming hairdos and, to this end, has taken courses in photography, psychology, art modeling, English and advertising.

These courses have helped, she said, in staging her creations which have won first prize in contests held by the National Hairdressers and Cosmetologist Association.

"In other words," she said, "I don't depend on the hair alone to win a trophy."

As examples, she cited her "flying saucer" hairdo also wore a hat. Hope designed for it. Within the wings of hair nestled a tiny felt crown sporting round, mesh disks which twirled as the model walked on stage.

In introducing the "capsule cut" Hope trimmed a sheath dress in fringes of multi-colored capsules to go with the hair style. She says this hair style, which comes in three versions, "does the same thing for the face as vitamins do for health—correct deficiencies."

There is the "A" cut to soften strong features, the "B" cut to make a long face seem shorter and the "C" cut which makes a round face appear like the perfect oval.

One of her latest hair styles is a "Swiss cut with the motion of a fine Swiss watch movement." This is a series of lacy half curls around a smooth crown which, Hope says, is "like an eight-day clock—once you set it, you don't need to bother with it."

Highwaisted Dress Features Looped Button Detail and Narrow Skirt

Designer's Clothes Are Outstanding

Detachable Dickey Suggests Manner of Exclusiveness

Trigere's clothes have an immediate recognizable quality that makes them stand out in the crowd. This model is typical of the Trigere signature, marvelously wearable, a simple understatement of style at its height. The dickey which is detachable is made in manner of expensive dressmaking: Long in front, it is arranged on a harness and anchored firmly in the back.

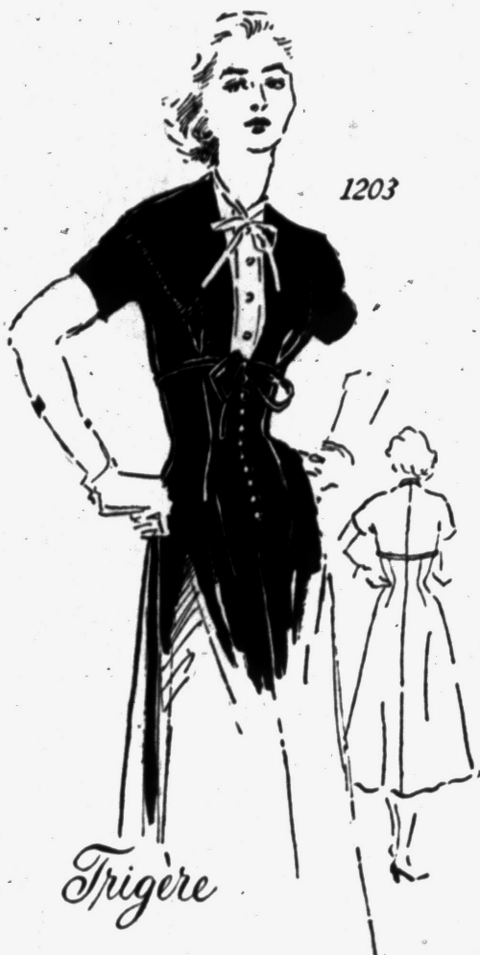

The highwaisted dress with its looped button detail has a narrow skirt eased with exactly the right amount of fullness. Mme. Trigere showed it first in navy wool with a choice of linen or silk for the gilet, and white pearl studs. Faille or any silk with body is equally good. Again with a different texture for the dickey such as pique or satin.

This pattern is cut to designer measurements, not to standard pattern measurements.

Bust	Waist	Hips	Size

Tell Guest Formality Is Desired

Bachelor Friend Comes to Parties in Sport Clothes

By EMILY POST

A woman reader explains: "My husband has a bachelor friend who has a very engaging personality, a marvelous sense of humor and is an asset to any party. However, he has one fault—he just won't dress for any party. By that I mean he always turns up in tweeds and sports jackets at no matter what type of party he is invited to."

"Very soon we will be giving a large dinner party at which all the men will be wearing formal clothes and I'm so afraid this friend will turn up in his usual tweeds. Will you please tell me how we can tactfully get him to dress appropriately?"

As long as you care very much about it, call him and say, "Won't you please, as a favor to me, wear a tuxedo at least this once."

Dear Mrs. Post: Within the next two weeks I expect to go to my first big wedding reception which is to be held at a fashionable hotel. Will you be so kind as to tell me just what I should say to the bride and groom, to the parents of each, and also to the wedding attendants? I know only the bridegroom.

You shake hands with the bride's mother and make some polite comment about the "beautiful wedding" or the "lovely bride." You also shake hands with the groom's mother and say something pleasant about the wedding. You wish the bride happiness and congratulate the groom. You merely bow to the wedding attendants unless you happen to know any of them personally, in which case you would tell her how becoming her dress is. Dear Miss Post: Next week I expect a visit from a woman who used to be my mother-in-law and who is the grandmother of my oldest daughter. I would like to know how I should introduce her to my friends. I am married again. You merely introduce her as "Mrs. Jones," and if that isn't enough, add, "My daughter's grandmother."

Bedtime Togs Fun for Kiddies

For youngsters who are reluctant to get out of their playclothes and into their pajamas, manufacturers of sleepwear have come up with novel designs that are carbon copies of what kiddies wear for play—making the change to bedtime togs more fun for all concerned.

For instance, there are western "cowboy" pajamas with fringed pants and appliqued holster, ski-type pajamas with colorful print, sailor suit pajamas, a western pajama with pedal pusher pants, and a "nurse's uniform" pajama complete with apron and cap.

All are made in soft flannelette or cottons, that come out of repeated washings looking bright and new.

Deaden the Noise

If you have a room where the kids play, the noise may be deafening, particularly if it's in the basement. Rubber tile for the floor is a good noise-deadener and easy for the amateur to install on week-ends.

Her Own Idea Led to Part Time Job

By ANNE HEYWOOD

"I am a widow with a too-small income," Mrs. G. told me. "but I have worked out a part-time job that really saved my life. Some people might think it's menial and awful, but I always say, any port in a storm."

"I needed about twenty or thirty dollars a week more, and I tried everywhere in the world to make it. But no soap."

One day, when I was looking at the help-wanted section in my paper, I realized how few there were that weren't domestic. Everybody wanted cleaning women, but nobody wanted clerks or office workers—at my age, anyway.

Well, I know my way around a house, Lord knows, and have always been a very good cleaner. So I decided to give it a try—but in my own way.

"Under situations—wanted," she continued, "I inserted an ad which said, 'Expert, hard-working cleaner, by the day, for professional couple only. Rates reasonable.' You see, I had decided that I would treat the work as a real profession, and I didn't want women at home making me embarrassed. I got two takers, and I must say they were nice women."

"You see, the woman who works usually gets victimized, because people won't clean so well when nobody is there following them around. But I worked very hard, and did a beautiful job, and they were so pleased and surprised. One of them even asked if I would do a day a week for her friend."

"So now," Mrs. G. concluded, "I do cleaning Monday, Wednesday and Friday, and I make twenty-four dollars a week. I get so much more done than average, that they don't mind paying eight dollars a day, although the average in our city is a little less. And I get treated entirely as an equal, plus the fact that the work is not a bit nerve-wracking."

"I wouldn't change places with any office worker, because I get a satisfaction out of leaving a place spotless—and I have plenty of free time to enjoy life."

Our changing society is closing a lot of doors, job-wise, but it is also opening up some new ones, or, rather, some old ones under new and better conditions.

Girl Made Big Mistake, Needed Mom's OK First

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

"Dear Miss Woodward: He asked me for a date and I accepted—before I asked my mother. Now she says I can't go. I'll be terribly hurt if I must break this date, and he may never ask me again! He's 18 and I'm 14. I don't want to go out with him behind my mother's back. So what am I going to do?"

Somebody goofed—and it must have been you. You pulled a slight bloomer in not getting your mother's permission before you stuck your neck out. And here you are with a date on your hands that you can't keep.

You don't say why Mother has put her foot down. But I can imagine lots of reasons. Maybe you always have to ask first and she's stubbornly making you stick to the rule. Maybe she doesn't know the boy, holds a dim view of his age, and isn't too pleased with the plans for the evening.

It's a rule, perhaps you can wheedle her into making an exception this one time. If he wanted an answer right then and there, you didn't have time to hold him off while you consulted at home. Tell her that. Add how attractive he is, how much you like him, what fun the evening will be.

Then polish it off with a promise to get home when she wants you to, and never (until she abolishes the rule) make another date for yourself without checking with her. You know her well enough to soften her up and make her ease the heavy discipline. She just might give in.

But if it's the boy—it's something else. She won't care a hoot how hurt you'd be to have to break a date with him. She won't care if he doesn't ask you again. She doesn't want you involved with him—and that's all there is to it. Cajoling won't help.

But if you try to break her down with no luck, the date will have to be broken. And there are two arguments on that. There's the break, with hope. "It seems that the family has made some plans for that evening that I can't get out of, so I won't be able to go out with you after all. Golly, I've tried simply everything, but no luck. I'm so disappointed! Couldn't we make our date for some other evening—some night next week instead?"

And there's the break with no hope at all. "I couldn't be sorrier, but I'm just not going to be able to go out with you after all. I had hoped I could, but Mother has put her foot down. It's too bad—but that's the way it is. You were nice to ask me, though."

The break with hope just postpones your date to a night your mother will agree to. The other ends a relationship she doesn't think is right for you. Continuing that behind her back would be a real goof.

"Dear Miss Woodward: I was invited to a Halloween party and asked to bring a boy, so I invited Ted, a very nice, well-mannered friend of mine. He accepted and we went to the party. The first dance he danced with out hostess, but he danced with me from then on until we started to mingle with the other kids. I was having fun with another boy—later I looked for Ted but he was nowhere in sight."

"I found him on the back porch, asked him what was wrong and he said nothing. When the party was over, he didn't offer to walk me home, so I accepted the other boy's offer. The next day I saw Ted and he wouldn't speak to me. One of his friends told me he was furious about the party. But I don't see that I did anything wrong. After all, we're old friends—I don't see why he should feel that he owns me. What should I do now?"

What can you do but apologize for leaving him in the lurch at the party to which you took him? He was your big responsibility that evening. It was up to you to stick close to him, see that he had a good time, and was busily occupied with some other girl before you whirled off with any other boy. Your conscience bothered you enough to make you go looking for him when he disappeared.

But you apparently did little afterward to shake him out of his mood and make him feel that he was your date. He knew he was supposed to take you home, so his vanishing act at that moment was sure proof that he was annoyed and sure that you were glad to be rid of him.

You owe him an apology for ruining the party for him. He had accepted your invitation in good faith—and you goofed. Try to make up for it with a dose of humble pie.

Camera Can Record Fun of Winter

By CAROL LANE

Women's Travel Authority

Your car and your camera make ideal cold weather companions on your winter motoring trips. You will be able to re-discover and remember your off-season vacation if you record it on film.

Such typical wintertime pleasures as snow-silent walks, ice skating, skiing, holiday feasts and house parties can be captured and remembered through photographic mementos. A little technical "know-how" will make your wintertime photography pleasant and painless.

If you like snow scenes, take them with the sun from the side so that the contrasting sparkle and small shadows give texture to the white lawn or field or snow-laden branch.

Side views of a snowy slope will show up better than a head-on view that flattens out hills. However, if you're trying to capture the fun the children are having with their sleds or skates, move in closer with your camera.

Catch them at a turn where they appear headed right at you and use the fastest shutter speed your camera offers. In shooting groups of skiers or skaters, hold the individual figures together as a pictorial unit by laying the toboggan in front of their feet or letting the skis cross before the line of their chests.

To sharpen up the contrasts of your black-and-white winter snapshots, use a medium yellow filter. It will deepen the shade of the sky to emphasize white clouds and hillsides. For indoor shots of Christmas packages and trees, use a flash attachment to make all pictures quick, sure and easy. Remember to always keep your flash bulb close to your subject.

Keep this winter's memories alive through pictures.

Says 'Typical Mother'

Your Sense of Humor Aids in Raising Teenager

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

The only way to live through your children's teens and retain your sanity is to keep a firm grip on your sense of humor, says Mary Brian, who has acquired an unofficial rating as the typical American teen-ager's mother through her TV appearances in that role in the Corliss Archer series.

Though she has no children of her own, Mary now qualifies as an expert on and off-stage. Pretty Ann Baker plays the role of Corliss and is a typical teen-ager in real life as well as before the TV cameras. Says Mary of a recent trip to New York with Ann:

"This was Ann's first trip to New York, and she had all the typical reactions, while I went through all the typical motherly worries. One night when she didn't get in until late I couldn't sleep and was almost pacing the floor when at last she arrived. It was all perfectly reasonable when she explained—but I can understand now what mothers go through."

Mary has been acting in movies, plays, summer stock and TV since she was 12, when she played Wendy in the first movie version of "Peter Pan." She lives in the San Fernando Valley with her husband, George Tomasini, a film editor.

In observing problems of parents of teen-agers, Mary has worked out some sound theories:

1. The amusement provided by a typical teen-ager offsets the annoyance.
2. Hard and fast rules don't work. Discipline is important, but it should be pliable, to allow for unusual circumstances. For example, you can't set a certain hour at which your daughter must be home from every date—take into consideration where she is going, what the occasion is, and what traffic conditions may be.
3. It's a mother's job to explain the customs of the new generation to father, who usually takes these things harder than Mom.
4. Don't try to pick out a teenage daughter's clothes for her—you're almost sure to be wrong.

Standish Group Has Yule Party on Friday

Mrs. Dan Kinney of East Huron street was hostess Friday afternoon to the Standish Group of First Congregational Church for a traditional Christmas party and dessert luncheon. Eighteen members and one guest were present as Mrs. John D. Morrison gave devotions, using as her theme, "Home at Christmastime."

Annual reports were given during the business meeting and Mrs. F. G. Van Horn, president of the group, appointed committee chairman for the coming year.

Mrs. Morrison is chairman of devotions; Mrs. Harry Manus, program; Mrs. Roy Thompson, dining room; Mrs. Roy Bennett, kitchen; Mrs. Dan Kinney, hospitality and Mrs. Carl Malkin, friendly service. Mrs. August Shier was named corresponding secretary; Mrs. Peter Vanderhoeck, chairman of tickets; Mrs. R. S. Falk, publicity and Helen Moody, telephone committee.

Mrs. Donald B. Hogue led the group in singing Christmas carols with an explanation of their origin. An exchange of gifts followed.

Plans were made for an inter-church service to be held Jan. 9 at the first Congregational Church.

Coming Yule Hailed at PTA Program

The true Christmas spirit was in the air for Carroll School's annual Christmas program. All grades participated in a musical program with carols and modern Christmas music dominating the choice of selections.

A background description of each song and its composer was given by student announcers Patricia Wilkinson, James Luther, Martha Brown, Donna Vollrath, Bobby Dugan, Marsha Deeg and Becky Bonsta.

Presiding at the tea table for the social hour were Mrs. Floyd Adams and Mrs. Howard Shelley.

Officers Elected for 2nd Term

Plans are being made by Ladies Auxiliary 396 to the National Association of Letter Carriers for an installation of officers to be held during January.

The officers were elected recently when the auxiliary gathered at the Henderson street home of Mrs. Edward Cornell.

Highlights of Convention Are Heard

Mrs. Daniel Foxman, delegate to the biennial convention of National Women's League of United Synagogues of America reported on the discussions for a recent meeting of the Sisterhood of Congregation B'nai Israel.

Mrs. Foxman reported that the theme of the convention was "Open

My Heart Unto Thy Torah." She pointed out the importance of Torah and prayer as she gave highlights of convention discussion. She said that man is not alone, that a merciful creator is ever present.

"Each day," she said, "we stand on Mt. Sinai and accept the laws that were handed down to us. Each man legislates for himself the length and depth of his observance," the speaker concluded.

She pointed out that it is easy to recognize the physical needs of others but it is also important to assist those who are spiritually sick. Mrs. Foxman said that Torah reading reflects that the knowledge of Torah is indispensable for it is divine instruction, the revelation of the Law of Moses.

Plans for a brunch for the holiday of Chanukah to be held Dec. 26 was announced by Mrs. Morris Bletstein. A home decorating contest in celebration of the event is planned. Prizes will be given for the best entry.

Mrs. Edward Blumeno gave the opening for the Wednesday meeting and Mrs. Archie Solom gave the closing prayer.

Missionaries Remembered at Meeting

The Women's Home and Foreign Missionary Society of First Baptist Church met in the church parlors for a cooperative luncheon Thursday.

Following the luncheon a Christmas program was held in Barnett Chapel with the song service led by the Rev. William E. Hakes with Mrs. Hakes as accompanist.

Special musical selections were presented by the Kyle Wilsons and their son Larry, Peggy Proctor and Bonnie Davis accompanying.

The message was delivered by Rev. Orrin Van Loon Jr., assistant pastor of the Berkeley Community Church.

A lighted Christmas tree was adorned with stars which contained a picture of a missionary family out in missionary service from the church. The names of this family were presented to various members to correspond with for the coming year.

The program and decorations were in charge of Mrs. Enoch Eley, Mrs. Stuart Davis and Mrs. Hakes. Prayer was offered by Mrs. Elhel Kennedy, Mrs. A. F. Balbach and Mrs. Eley. Mrs. Balbach is the mother of Mrs. Hakes, who is visiting from Philadelphia.

M. A. Calbi Home Setting for Event

The M. A. Calbi home on Linden road was the setting for the annual Zonta Club Christmas party held Thursday evening.

Assisting Mrs. Calbi with dinner arrangements were Clara Nussbaumer and Lola Parkins. Pontiac members have been invited to join the Detroit club at their party Wednesday evening at Hotel Statler.

The club also received a special invitation from Tuesday Musicals to attend the Christmas concert Tuesday evening at 8 p.m. in Central Methodist Church when Frederick Marriott, organist and Edward Druzinsky, harpist will appear as guests with the Tuesday Musicals Chorus.

Plans were discussed for the Christmas party for the children of Pontiac Day Nursery which the club gives every year.

July-August Group Meets on Friday

Mrs. Harold Blackwood's Ottawa drive home was the setting for the Friday meeting of July-August group of First Presbyterian Church.

The hostess was assisted by Mrs. George Hahn, Mrs. Jack Streit, Mrs. Carroll Mulkey and Vera Bassett. Mrs. Harold Howlett presented the Christmas story.

Church Society Elects Officers

Officers were elected by the Pioneer missionary society of Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church when members gathered at the Putnam street home of Mrs. Richard Kelley.

Mrs. Park Wagg was elected president; Mrs. Peter Niemi, first vice president; Mrs. Howard Hall, second vice president; Mrs. Ernal Lloyd, recording secretary; Mrs. Ralph Osborn, treasurer; Mrs. Nelson Rich, corresponding secretary and Mrs. D. M. Keefe, reporter. Mrs. Gloria Luck read the Christmas story from the second chapter of Luke at the Thursday meeting and presented a solo entitled, "There's a Song in the Air." The program was closed with the singing of Christmas carols.

Yomar Group Holds Annual Yule Party

Mrs. Fred Turek was hostess to the Yomar Group of First Presbyterian Church for the group's annual Christmas party Thursday evening in her Sashabaw road home.

Mrs. J. E. Frankfield opened the meeting with the reading of a Christmas story. Mrs. George Tremper led the Bible study.

Plans were made to remember a needy family at Christmas. Mrs. Gene Feneley will be in charge of the project.

Mrs. Calus Gordon and Mrs. Howard Wideman gave Christmas readings and Mrs. George Stinnett closed the program. Guests included Mrs. Earl S. Bright, Mrs. Henry Beard and Mrs. Charles Edwards.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Boardman and Mrs. Melvin Brim. Mrs. Virgil Smith and Mrs. Wilfred Beebe were welcomed as new members.

Mrs. Scantland read her original poem, "Christmas and You," to the group preceding the exchange of Christmas gifts. Mrs. Scantland also presented the retiring officers with a gift. Mrs. Marshall was co-chairman for the refreshment hour at this Wednesday evening meeting.

Mrs. Lee Shackelford, president of the Galloway Lake Moms, was a guest. New members taken into the group were Mrs. Virgie Hopkins and Mrs. William H. Gibbs.

Electric Covers Have Influence

CHICAGO (INS) — Electric blankets have changed the styles of modern nightgowns and pajamas.

Since electric blankets have become popular, sales of abbreviated gowns and pajamas have increased.

Women are showing a preference for dress-length nighties where in the past almost all nightgowns had floorlength skirts.

Men, too, are discarding their traditionally long-sleeved pajamas in favor of short-sleeved pajamas with short trousers.

Pi Omicron Meets

Sigma Gamma Chapter of Pi Omicron sorority held its annual Christmas party Thursday in the Voorheis road home of Mrs. Frank Benning. Mrs. Jerry Reed was co-hostess. A basket was filled for a needy family and gifts were exchanged.

Use Novel Decor

Want a novel Christmas decoration for your front door? Here's an idea. Tie a little toy drum and drumsticks together with a big saucy bow and sprigs of greenery. Hang it on the door and loosely tuck the stick into the greens so your friends can "beat" their arrival.

LET'S STICK TO MOSES!

When they were preparing to produce the motion picture "The Ten Commandments," the director and the author of the story consulted a professor who had been recommended as an authority on the Law of Moses. They expected a scholarly explanation, but when the professor had finished, there was little left of the Ten Commandments—and no story.

After the interview, when they were alone again, the disgruntled director remarked: "We'll stick to Moses."

Yes, let's stick to Moses! There may be those who would abolish the Ten Commandments, but let's stick to the Commandments as God gave them to us through Moses.

And there is no better way of doing so, than by sticking to Jesus Christ, Who gave us the Commandments of love—the love of God and the love of our neighbor. All other Commandments are contained in these two.

"Thou shalt love the Lord, thy God..." The observance of Christ's first Commandment will establish in us a strong, dignified personal relationship to God. If we love the true God, we will give Him the honor that is His due... we will respectfully use His Holy Name... we will not think it too much to spend one day of the week in His company.

"Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself," said the Savior. Who should hold first place among our neighbors, if not our parents... or our own children?

And it should be obvious that if we love our neighbor, we will not take his life, or damage his health. Decent human love surely excludes the burlesque of love called adultery and the fierce attack which this lust makes upon the innocent and unprotected.

We would never steal from the ones we love, nor would we rob them of their good name. Certainly we would not lift a covetous hand to deprive them of the things intended to make their lives full and contented.

Let's stick to Moses, whose Commandments forbade human beings to break the bonds and destroy the relationships that preserve human dignity, develop character and guarantee human safety.

Let's stick to Christ, Who, in a more spiritual way, pointed out that if we love rightly and well, we will obey the law of God... protect all the relationships that guarantee our own happiness and make life safe and happy for the people who are our neighbors.

The Ten Commandments are God's design for human living. Are you familiar with them? Do you understand how important they are in your daily life? Write today for our free pamphlet on this subject. Ask for Pamphlet No. 12-KC.

Churches Urge School Religion

Canadian Council Will Press for Instruction in Public Institutions

By Religious News Service
SACKVILLE, N. B. — The General Council of the United Church of Canada voted unanimously at its biennial meeting here to press for religious instruction in the public schools of all Canadian provinces.

The action came after Dr. Sidney Smith, president of the University of Toronto, told the delegates that "our friends of the Roman Catholic Church have given us a lesson in regard to religious instruction in the schools."

Dr. Smith said officials in provincial departments of education are "ready, even eager" for religious education.

His plea was endorsed by W. L. Straith, former minister of education in British Columbia, who said the church had been neglecting its duty in past years by not pressing vigorously for religious instruction in the schools of Canada.

Provincial educational authorities were urged by the delegates to make proper provision in their teacher training curriculum for competent instructors in the field of religious education.

Rev. Richard Reilly Speaks on Missions

The Rev. Richard Reilly, General Secretary of the United Missionary Society, Elkhart, Ind., will speak Sunday morning at the First United Missionary Church, 135 Prospect St. at 11 a.m. He has just returned from India where he spent five years as a missionary.

The Rev. Mr. Reilly grew up in Detroit and was a newsboy. He has worked as a youth evangelist with the "America Back to God Movement." He has also pastored a church in Indiana and served as full-time Director of Elkhart County Youth for Christ.

As a missionary to India, he has served as principal of the Raghunathpur Bible Institute, and has been Director of Calcutta Youth for Christ. It was under his leadership that Youth for Christ began a broadcast over short wave station, Radio Ceylon, with a coverage extending from South Africa to Sweden and northwestern United States.

Members Prefer Serenity Sermon

By Religious News Service
OAK PARK, Ill. — Members of Euclid Avenue Methodist Church would rather hear a sermon on serenity than any other subject, according to a poll taken by the Rev. Paul E. Turk, pastor.

Mr. Turk launched a series of 10 sermons in October, based on the topics that proved most popular in the balloting. The winning sermon titles:

- (1) Keeping Serene; (2) What a Protestant Believes; (3) Meeting and Mastering Defeat; (4) How to Be a Christian in the Business World; (5) How to Read the Bible; (6) Utilizing Your Hidden Resources; (7) How to Learn to Pray; (8) How to Overcome Worry; (9) What Can We Believe About Heaven and Hell; (10) Religion and Health.

The church members also were asked to vote on a sermon series they would most like to hear. In this phase, the most popular topics were the Ten Commandments, the Parables of Jesus, and New Testament Characters, Mr. Turk said.

"I Never Seed It."

By DON D. TULLIS

When James Russell Lowell was a young man he visited the White Mountain district of New Hampshire. As he passed through Franconia Notch he paused for hours before The Old Man of the Mountains—that majestic stony replica of a human face.

On the way back to his lodge he stopped to talk to a saw mill worker. "Can you tell me," he asked, "where I can get a different view of the Great Stone Face?" He thought for a moment and then replied, "I dunno. I never seed it."

How like him are we who pass through his wonder world with our eyes blinded to the beauty of it all. Two friends of mine were playing golf when a magnificent sunset caused one to exclaim, "Marvelous, isn't it?" The other said "shut up" and then cursed the sun for shining in his eyes and making him alive his drive.

Life is short and we have much to see. As we stumble along, we need the touch of divine fingers on our eyelids. Milton sang—"To nobler sights Michael from Adam's eyes the film removed; then purged the visual nerve, for he had much to see. So have we. Many people fail to see the hand of God in History. In these days of babbling apes and screeching owls we need, with Thoreau, to "hear beyond the range of sound and see beyond the range of sight," and know that God is still the Master of the Show.

Men and nations are but pawns upon his chessboard. Think you any vain seeker after power can wrest this world from His giant grasp, or any nation pledged to an atheistic philosophy of life can stand for long before the freshest of His fountain that floods the moors and marts of men? The History of the ages answers "NO."

He is present also in each individual life, whether we see Him or no. We cannot escape Him. In the darkest hour He is our guiding Star; in the saddest moment He is our "song of a lark" singing for us a rallying roundelay. When e'er we go we must confess "God is in this place and I knew it not."

Do not make the tragic mistake of going through life blind to the Presence of "The Man Upstairs." Do not come to your final breath and be forced to confess—"God? I never seed Him."

Jewish Winter Holiday Begins at Sunset, Dec. 19

The celebration of Chanukko, the eight-day Jewish winter holiday, begins at sunset, Sunday, Dec. 19.

Known variously as the Festival of the Maccabees, or Dedication, and of the Lights, Chanukko commemorates the struggle of the Jews against the Syrian monarch, Antiochus, who sought to impose paganism upon them towards the close of the first century before the Common Era.

Lead by the Maccabees, the Jews fought the overwhelmingly superior forces of the world's mightiest nation for five years, and ultimately were victorious. Their success insured the survival of Judaism and is also credited with paving the way for the future emergence of Christianity.

With victor, the first act of the triumphant Jews was the rededication of the temple in Jerusalem, which had been desecrated by the invaders. The word, "Chanukko," means dedication.

To observe the festival and history's first struggle for religious freedom, lights are lit on a special candelabrum (menorah) each night for eight nights, one the first night, two the second night, and so on, and prayers are voiced, thanking God for instilling the love of freedom into human hearts.

In synagogues, special supplications glorifying spiritual heroism are recited and sung. A typical Chanukko sentiment is contained in a passage from the Chanukko ritual read during the festival:

"With the loyalty and zeal of the Maccabees, may we overcome the dark forces of tyranny, prejudice and hatred and spread the light of liberty, brotherhood and peace among men."

Temple Beth Jacob
Temple Beth Jacob will begin the observance of Chanukko with a congregational brunch on Sunday morning, Dec. 19. Children of the Religious School will offer musical and dramatic presentations at 10:30 a.m.

The Sisterhood Religious School Committee will distribute holiday gifts to each child. At 11:30 a.m. the members of the congregation will share in a meal featuring typical holiday delicacies.

The special candelabrum placed in the city hall will be lit each of the eight nights of the holiday starting with Dec. 19.

On Friday evening, Dec. 24, a candle-lighting service in observance of Chanukko will be made part of the regular Sabbath eve worship service and a special musical program will be offered.

On Sunday morning, Dec. 26, class parties will be held in the Religious school and there will be an exchange of Chanukko gifts among the students.

Combined Choirs to Sing Handel's Messiah Sunday

The choirs of five United Presbyterian Churches, the Auburn Heights, Drayton Plains, Lakeland, Joslyn Ave. and Oakland Ave. will present the "Messiah" by Handel

Sunday evening at 8 p.m. at the Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church.

William Coffey will direct, assisted by James Vandersall, Helen Wagner and Robert Nelson. An orchestra, composed of members of the Waterford High School Orchestra, three pianos and an organ played by Winifred Perrin, Peggy Morgan, Gloria Brown and Nancy Lee Lowery will accompany the choirs. The program is as follows:

Overture From the Messiah
Invocation, Rev. E. I. Watkins
"Comfort Ye My People."
"Every Valley Shall Be Exalted"
"And the Glory of the Lord"
"Behold a Virgin Shall Conceive"
"O Thou That Tellest Good Tidings"
"For, Behold, Darkness Shall Cover the Earth"
"The People That Walked in Darkness"
"For Unto Us a Child is Born"

Conrad Hilton Gives College Gymnasium
LAKE FOREST, Ill.—Hotelman Conrad N. Hilton will contribute a "six figure" gift for a new gymnasium to Barat College of the Sacred Heart here.

Mother Agnes Regan, R.S.C.J., superior of the Convent of the Sacred Heart, announced the gift. She said the new building will be known as the Conrad Hilton gymnasium "in grateful acknowledgment of the generosity of the outstanding Catholic gentleman who made it possible."

The Rev. James H. Luther, pastor of the church, says, "The program will feature the choir and organ along with special musical numbers and a Bible Message. This program is designed to bring Christ to the listener and help him find hope, strength and assurance in the Gospel."

Radio Program Brings Church Music Into Home

By Religious News Service
NEW YORK—A radio program aimed at bringing the great music of the church into American homes "in a fresh and dramatic way," was heard for the first time over the NBC network on Saturday, Nov. 20, at 6:30 p.m. It is called "Thy Kingdom Come."

Dr. S. Franklin Mack, executive director of the National Council of Churches' Broadcasting and Film Commission, said the program will run for 22 weeks, ending next April. The National Council is jointly sponsoring the series with NBC and the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A., which has assumed all program costs.

The program is not a "religious" one in the usual sense, Dr. Mack said. It features music by a mixed chorus of 14 voices and a 17-piece brass ensemble, and each program is built around a different theme with special attention given to the great holidays of the Church.

John Hatchett Jr. Is Guest Speaker

The missionary department is sponsoring an educational program Sunday at 7:30 p.m. at Trinity Baptist Church.

John Hatchett Jr. will be guest speaker. Mr. Hatchett is studying for the ministry and will be graduated from Wayne University in January. He will attend Boston University next year.

Special music will be furnished by Young People's Choir. Mrs. Marie Garling is president of the missionary dept.

Schola Cantorum Gives Program of 'Kolendy,' Talk on Polish Customs

The Schola Cantorum of St. Cyril and Methodius Seminary, Orchard Lake, will appear in its 17th annual Christmas Broadcast over the CBS network Thursday, December 23 from 10:15 to 10:30 p.m. (EST).

The choir composed of twenty-six students studying for the priesthood represents eleven states, Canada and Poland. They will present a program of Polish carols, or "Kolendy" interspersed with a commentary on century-old Polish customs and traditions.

Since its first CBS presentation in 1938, the program has been shortwaved to South and Central America, and transcribed for the "Voice of America" and "Radio Free Europe." The choir also made two albums of recordings for RCA Victor.

Wherever heard, these "Kolendy" have struck a responsive chord in the hearts of Americans; for they are a musical expression of profound religious convictions which the Poles centuries ago have drawn from the birth of Christ at Bethlehem.

Inspired with this spirit of Christmas, the Orchard Lake Seminary and its choir, a graduate of the Detroit Institute of Musical Arts and the New York Pius X School of Liturgical Music. Besides directing the destinies of the Schola Cantorum in their seventeen years of Christmas broadcasting, he is also responsible for the musical arrangements of these old melodies.

Rev. Verdiman Siggers to Hold Revival Meetings

The Providence Missionary Baptist Church will hold revival meetings all next week beginning Sunday.

The Rev. T. Walter Harris, pastor of the church, will preach tomorrow. The services during the week will be conducted by the Rev. Verdiman Siggers of Detroit. The choir will furnish special music.

Presbyterians Hear of Korea

Returned Missionaries Speak at Church School, Worship Service

The Rev. and Mrs. Peter Van Lierop, missionaries to Korea, will be guests of the First Presbyterian Church tomorrow.

Mrs. Van Lierop will visit the Primary and Junior departments of the Church School. The Rev. Mr. Van Lierop will speak to the adults and young people. At the worship service, he will preach on the subject, "Heartbreak and Hope in Korea."

During their first five years in Korea, the Van Lierops founded five orphanages, supervised 80 day schools, 25 middle schools and two high schools, besides devoting much time to evangelistic work.

They are now engaged in graduate study in the University of Pittsburgh for a year. Mrs. Van Lierop is the daughter of the late Dr. Andrew S. Cresswell of the Oakland Ave. United Presbyterian Church.

The third family night dinner will be held Wednesday at 6:30 p. m. The program is planned especially for the Church School and includes a Carol Sing and puppet show entitled "The Baby Jesus."

Mr. and Mrs. Veri Kline and their daughters are preparing the show.

St. John Methodists Observe Men's Day

The St. John Methodist Church, 443 Highland Ave. will observe Men's Day Sunday. At the morning worship hour, Pastor Donald Morris will speak on "The Effective Layman."

At the close of the service, the membership will join in a Carry-In Fellowship dinner.

The laymen of the Detroit Sub-District of the Chicago District of the Lexington Annual Conference will sponsor the afternoon program. Booker Tubbs and Charles Jackson, Sub-District Lay Leaders, have planned the program.

Noel Post Office Expects 500,000 Pieces of Mail

By Religious News Service
NOEL, Mo.—More than 500,000 pieces of mail are expected to flow through the postoffice of this little village (pop. 515) during the Christmas season to get its cancellation stamp, "Noel—the Christmas City." The postmark depicts a Christmas tree topped by the Star of Bethlehem.

SLEEPY TIME AND PRAYER TIME—Ready for bed in the Clarence Cromwell household at 3955 Suffolk in Drayton Plains is Lynda, 2, and Karen, 7. The family gather around the mother to join with mother's lap.

What Religion Means to Our Family

Cromwells Find Satisfaction in Faith

By LULA B. OGDEN

It is evident that prayer time both for the family in general and for the children alone at the Clarence Cromwell home is a natural experience.

The family have lived at the above address for two years coming from Holly. However, they lived in Pontiac 18 years before moving to Holly.

The mother was raised in the First Assembly of God Church, and the father was a Baptist.

They were married in 1939.

Although the family moved to Holly and then to Drayton Plains they have continued to attend the Pontiac church, and regularly, for they both teach Sunday School classes.

The father now is a member of the board of trustees and Sunday School superintendent.

Mrs. Cromwell was born in Missouri but came to Pontiac with her parents when she was eight years old. Mr. Cromwell was born in Tennessee.

"Our religion means our earthly joy and satisfaction and our eternal peace. We find it perfect peace and satisfaction. It does what nothing else will do," they said.

Mr. Cromwell's face lighted up when he said "Our church is my hobby and we love it. I just love my Sunday School work which takes all my spare time."

His cheery "God bless you" followed his "good night," as we left their home.

At the recent missionary convention, the Rev. Mr. Bersche reported that his church had contributed $78,000 to missions over the last 10 years. The goal for this year is $14,000 and up to last Sunday more than $12,000 had been received.

The following 14 young people of the church are in Christian Training: Jim Berche at Wheaton College, Duane Bigsby at Univ. of Mich., Barbara Davidson, Robert Porter and Pat Walton of Saint Paul Bible Institute, Carolyn Brill, Thelma Edwards, John Hazlett, Paul Hazlett, Jim Hubbard, Guy-neth Lanpher, Marion Maurer, Paul Bersche and Bill Lanpher all at Missionary Training Institute.

Van Fleet Raps Sen. McCarthy

General Who Opposed Censure Says Attack on Ike 'Insulting'

AUBURNDALE, Fla. (AP)—Gen. Van Fleet has broken with Sen. Joseph McCarthy over the Wisconsin senator's statement against President Eisenhower.

Van Fleet, who was a member of the committee which went after 30 million signatures of persons backing McCarthy in his fight against censure before the U.S. Senate, sent McCarthy a telegram yesterday renouncing his support.

Van Fleet, former commander of the 8th Army in Korea, said he considered McCarthy's talks during the censure hearing "insulting and blistering."

He said in an interview that McCarthy had done some good.

"I'm against communism. He's against communism. So that basis alone gave him my support. But I cannot stand for his attack on the President."

Van Fleet was listed as committeeman in the "10,000,000 Americans Mobilized for Justice." General chairman of the drive was Lt. Gen. George E. Stratemeyer of Winter Park, Fla., retired Far East Air Force commander. Director of the drive was retired Adm. John G. Crommelin.

The committee said in a report last Saturday it collected 2,287,143 signatures against censure of the Republican senator.

Detroiters Plead Guilty to Newport Bank Holdup

DETROIT (AP)—Two Detroit ex-convicts pleaded guilty in federal court yesterday to the $1,800 Wednesday holdup of the Newport State Bank in Monroe County.

Frank Arias, 29, an Glen F. Lowe, 30, were returned to the Wayne County Jail without bond pending a probation report.

Federal Judge Theodore Levin set no date for sentencing.

The maximum sentence is 35 years imprisonment.

Adrian Names New President

Dr. John H. Dawson Chosen From Ranks of College Alumni

DR. JOHN H. DAWSON
ADRIAN (AP)—Adrian College dipped into the ranks of its alumni for its new president.

He is Dr. John H. Dawson, an Adrian graduate of 1938, who is resigning as pastor of the Crafton Methodist Church at Pittsburgh to accept the college presidency. He will take over about Feb. 1.

Dr. Dawson was elected president at a special meeting of Adrian College trustees yesterday afternoon. He was the unanimous choice of a trustees' committee, which included Dr. Marshall Reed, Methodist bishop for Michigan, and which considered about 25 candidates.

Trustees began seeking a president in September, after the unexpected death of President-elect Clarence Klein, en route home from a summer in Europe.

Dr. Dawson studied for his master's degree in education and his doctorate of philosophy at the University of Pittsburgh. He holds a bachelor's degree in sacred theology from Westminster Seminary of Maryland.

While attending the University of Pittsburgh, Dr. Dawson was a teacher in sociology, and while holding a Methodist pastorate at Wilmerding, Pa., he was a chaplain, teacher and basketball and baseball coach at Kiski Preparatory School.

The new president says he is a firm believer in the value of small, church-related, liberal arts colleges because they "are able to give special attention to the needs of individual students."

Death Takes Founder of Science Magazine

SUMMIT, N.J. (AP)—Robert Cade Wilson, a founder of the firm which publishes Popular Science and outdoor life magazines, is dead at 84.

A native of Burlington, Iowa, Wilson was on the board of directors of the McCall Corp. of New York and the Popular Science Publishing Co., which he helped organize.

UNESCO Suspends Three Americans

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP)—The U.N. Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization said last night it has suspended three of the eight American staff members who refused to answer U.S. Loyalty Board questions last summer.

Four others whose contracts are soon to expire already have been given leave with pay and are not slated to be rehired.

UNESCO Director General Luther H. Evans announced the eighth American is being kept on the rolls because he is satisfied the staffer has not violated any UNESCO regulations. Evans said, however, that the case will be reviewed.

Ike and McCarthy Win GOP Bouquet

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Commendation of President Eisenhower and Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) was voted yesterday by the Executive Committee of the Republican party of Wisconsin.

The group called for party unity and voiced regret for "the conflicts of personalities which have tended at times to divide and confuse some members of our party organization, just as similar conflicts have, historically, divided the party of opposition."

The Republican party of Wisconsin supported Eisenhower and McCarthy in the 1952 elections.

Midget Clown Saves Aerialist in 30-Foot Fall

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP)—A midget circus clown is a man-sized hero today.

Alvin Schwartz, who is 48 inches high and 105 pounds, was credited with saving Gladys Rimmer, an aerialist, from serious injury and possible death.

Miss Rimmer was practicing an aerial act at winter quarters of the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus yesterday when her foot slipped from a loop and she fell about 30 feet.

Schwartz, on the ground holding the rope when Miss Rimmer fell, threw himself into her path and broke her fall.

Boost for SEC Group

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — The Southeastern Conference has increased to 55 the number of football grants-in-aid each of its 12 member schools may give freshman recruits. The action, in Friday's final session of the SEC's 22nd annual meeting, replaces a rule which limited the number of such scholarships to 40, and is effective immediately.

U. S. A-Bomb Base
in Britain Revealed

BENTWATERS, Eng. (INS) — Brig. Gen. John D. Stevenson, commander of the U.S. 48th Air Division, disclosed today that a NATO atom bomb force based in Britain is ready to launch a lightning counterattack against any aggressor.

Stevenson revealed the well-kept secret during a demonstration of the new Republic F-84 Thunderstreak jet fighter-bomber at the U.S. Air Force Base in Bentwaters. Stevenson told observers that the Thunderstreak, armed with an A-bomb, is capable of a greater destructive punch at one target than all the aircraft based in Britain in World War II.

Danny Thomas Doesn't Believe in Saying 'Can't'

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—TV talk— Danny Thomas was in the motion picture center cafe at lunchtime, putting on an impromptu show. Danny, whose love of entertaining is as plain as the nose on his face, was quipping with the waitress, playing the cigarette machine like an organ and organizing all the other lunchers in a large chorus, Fred Waring style. Between all this he was downing his lunch and conducting business for his TV show, "Make Room for Daddy," which recently won a Christopher Award. The question arose of a casting for a blonde siren. Danny suggested Kim Novak.

"Oh, we can't get her," an underling replied. Whereupon Danny lapsed into one of his philosophies. "Never say 'can't,'" he said, embodying one of the credos that made him a star. He cited as an example: "Recently I wanted to use the song, 'There's No Business Like Show Business' on my show. Everyone told me that was impossible. Fox had tied up the rights to the song on film. 'Impossible, eh? I called Irving Berlin in New York. 'Hi, Danny,' he says. 'How about sharing some bacon fat with me?'"

"You see in 1945, I was entertaining the troops in Italy, and Irving was there with 'This Is the Army.' One night we were in a miserable joint with Marlene Dietrich, of all people. And the only thing we had to eat was greasy bacon fat that we heated and poured over stale bread."

"Well, I asked Irving if I could use his song. And he said, 'Danny, you don't even have to ask. Of course you can use it!'"

As that's why he says "Never say 'can't.'"

The talk of the TV trade is "Disneyland" and "how can Disney do it?"

"Why he's giving away everything in the studio!" exclaimed one film executive.

And it surely looks that way. So far Walt has dispensed on his Wednesday ABC show two feature pictures — "Song Of The South" and "Alice In Wonderland," a host of Mickey Mouse, Donald Duck and Pluto cartoons, some true-life adventures and ample portions of two future releases, "The Lady and The Tramp" and "20,000 Leagues Under The Sea."

If sponsors had to pay for the original cost of these films, the bill would run into many millions of dollars.

But Disney doesn't view the project on the basis of profit on the TV show alone. He hopes it will hype the grosses of his new films by creating interest from TV viewers.

Hollywood will be watching the returns on the new Disney films. If Disney's plan works, you may see more movie studios adopting similar methods.

Suit Against Crosby
Settled for $100,000

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A $100,000 settlement of a $1,051,400 auto accident damage suit against Bing Crosby was announced yesterday as the case was going to trial. The money goes to three persons hurt in a collision involving the crooner's $12,000 imported sports car early Oct. 11, 1953. The driver of the other car, Los Angeles Fireman Frank H. Verdugo, 33, receives $67,500 for spinal injuries and fractures and partial paralysis of his right arm and neck. To his wife Lucy, 29, goes $27,500 for a broken jaw and loss of 10 teeth and to her brother Euallo Perea, 26, $5,000 for nose and arm fractures.

Van Fleet Raps Sen. McCarthy

AUBURNDALE, Fla. (AP)—Gen. Van Fleet has broken with Sen. Joseph McCarthy over the Wisconsin senator's statement against President Eisenhower.

Van Fleet, who was a member of the committee which went after 30 million signatures of persons backing McCarthy in his fight against censure before the U.S. Senate, sent McCarthy a telegram yesterday renouncing his support.

Van Fleet, former commander of the 8th Army in Korea, said he considered McCarthy's talks during the censure hearing "insulting and blistering."

He said in an interview that McCarthy had done some good. "I'm against communism. He's against communism. So that basis alone gave him my support. But I cannot stand for his attack on the President."

Van Fleet was listed as committeeman in the "10,000,000 Americans Mobilized for Justice." General chairman of the drive was Lt. Gen. George E. Stratemeyer of Winter Park, Fla., retired Far East Air Force commander. Director of the drive was retired Adm. John G. Crommelin.

The committee said in a report last Saturday it collected 2,267,143 signatures against censure of the Republican senator.

Detroiters Plead Guilty to Newport Bank Holdup

DETROIT (AP)—Two Detroit ex-convicts pleaded guilty in federal court yesterday to the $1,800 Wednesday holdup of the Newport State Bank in Monroe County.

Frank Arias, 29, an Glen F. Lowe, 30, were returned to the Wayne County Jail without bond pending a probation report.

Federal Judge Theodore Levin set no date for sentencing. The maximum sentence is 35 years imprisonment.

Adrian Names New President

Dr. John H. Dawson Chosen From Ranks of College Alumni

DR. JOHN H. DAWSON
ADRIAN (AP)—Adrian College dipped into the ranks of its alumni for its new president.

He is Dr. John H. Dawson, an Adrian graduate of 1933, who is resigning as pastor of the Crafton Methodist Church at Pittsburgh to accept the college presidency. He will take over about Feb. 1.

Dr. Dawson was elected president at a special meeting of Adrian College trustees yesterday afternoon. He was the unanimous choice of a trustees' committee, which included Dr. Marshall Reed, Methodist bishop for Michigan, and which considered about 25 candidates.

Trustees began seeking a president in September, after the unexpected death of President-elect Clarence Klein, en route home from a summer in Europe.

Dr. Dawson studied for his master's degree in education and his doctorate of philosophy at the University of Pittsburgh. He holds a bachelor's degree in sacred theology from Westminster Seminary of Maryland.

While attending the University of Pittsburgh, Dr. Dawson was a teacher in sociology, and while holding a Methodist pastorate at Wilmerding, Pa., he was a chaplain, teacher and basketball and baseball coach at Kiski Preparatory School.

The new president says he is a firm believer in the value of small, church-related, liberal arts colleges because they "are able to give special attention to the needs of individual students."

Death Takes Founder of Science Magazine

SUMMIT, N.J. (AP)—Robert Cade Wilson, a founder of the firm which publishes Popular Science and outdoor life magazines, is dead at 84.

A native of Burlington, Iowa, Wilson was on the board of directors of the McCall Corp. of New York and the Popular Science Publishing Co., which he helped organize.

UNESCO Suspends Three Americans

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP)—The U.N. Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization said last night it has suspended three of the eight American staff members who refused to answer U.S. Loyalty Board questions last summer.

Four others whose contracts are soon to expire already have been given leave with pay and are not slated to be rehired.

UNESCO Director General Luther H. Evans announced the eighth American is being kept on the rolls because he is satisfied the staffer has not violated any UNESCO regulations. Evans said, however, that the case will be reviewed.

Midget Clown Saves Aerialist in 30-Foot Fall

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP)—A midget circus clown is a man-sized hero today.

Alvin Schwartz, who is 48 inches high and 105 pounds, was credited with saving Gladys Rimmer, an aerialist, from serious injury and possible death.

Miss Rimmer was practicing an aerial act at winter quarters of the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus yesterday when her foot slipped from a loop and she fell about 30 feet.

Schwartz, on the ground holding the rope when Miss Rimmer fell, threw himself into her path and broke her fall.

Schwartz had several broken ribs but was discharged from a hospital after treatment. Miss Rimmer was treated for shock.

GETS DIVORCE—Actress Jane Wyman appears in Superior Court at Santa Monica, Calif., where she was granted a divorce from her third husband, bandleader-composer Fred Karger. She charged mental cruelty, saying Karger had an "uncontrollable temper" and threw furniture and clothing when angry. They were married two years ago.

Will Seek Hike in Apple Tax

State Growers to Ask One-Cent Boost to Push Advertising Promotion

GRAND RAPIDS (UP) — A new effort to boost the Michigan apple promotion tax will be made in the coming session of the Legislature. Michigan apple growers and more than half the state's apple production, announced it will head the drive to raise the tax from one to two cents a bushel.

Holland F. Patterson, secretary-manager of the Michigan State Apple Commission, told the society in session here the present promotion funds are doing only a "disaster prevention" job.

Patterson said "we can't do very much of a promotion job."

The present tax will yield $55,000 this year but about $24,000 goes for administration and another $7,500 is allocated for fixed promotion costs, according to Patterson.

With 2,000 fruit growers on hand, H. D. Hootman, veteran secretary of the society, said it was the biggest opening day turnout at a society meeting in 84 years of the group's history.

R. Sam Dillon, Jr., of Hancock, Md., who operates a farm with 3,000 acres in apple orchards, told the society Michigan is spending only "peanuts" for advertising its apples.

Williams to Discuss Unemployment Act

LANSING (UP) — Gov. Williams said today he will discuss possible changes to the Michigan Unemployment Compensation Act with Department of Labor officials in Washington Monday.

The governor said he had recently received a letter from Secretary of Labor Mitchell recommending that benefits should equal at least one-half of regular gross earnings for most unemployed workers.

The governor spent the past two days at Haven Hill, near Milford, talking over policy with administrative officials. He will spend the weekend in Washington, where he will address the Gridiron Club Saturday night.

Rains Raise Great Lakes to Near Record Levels

WINDSOR, Ont. (UP) — The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers says unusually heavy rains this fall have raised Great Lakes levels to record or near-record peaks for this time of year.

And the engineers predict that the levels of all the Great Lakes except Lake Superior may climb next spring to the flood levels of 1952.

Mendes Gets Close Vote on Policy in North Africa

PARIS (INS) — French Premier Pierre Mendes-France won another close victory early today when the national Assembly voted 294 to 265 to support his government's North African policy.

The vote came after a stormy and lengthy debate during which Mendes-France told the deputies that he favored "internal autonomy" but not complete independence for the protectorate of Tunisia.

LAURA SHULER

The engagement of Laura Pat Shuler has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Karl Knecht, of Wayburn Avenue, Detroit, to Richard Byron Beemer. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Beemer, of Oxford. A June 18 wedding is planned.

Lake Orion Herd Win Recognition Among Ayrshires

LAKE ORION — The purebred Ayrshire dairy herd of Marvin Ludwig & Sons' Sky Light Farms has achieved top recognition during a recent test period for outstanding production.

The 29 producers are credited with averaging 977 pounds of milk and 41 pounds of butterfat, which placed them among the nation's top Ayrshire herds in the Ayrshire Herd Test division of 25-30 cows.

Rochester Masons Name New Officers

ROCHESTER — New worshipful master of the Rochester F&M Lodge is Robert Twydel.

Morgan White was named senior warden; Lee Featherston, junior warden; Homer A. Case, treasurer; Thomas Western, secretary; Charles Yakey, senior deacon; and William J. Crosslin, junior deacon. Installation will be held Thursday.

Mrs. Everhard to Head Rochester Church Unit

ROCHESTER — The Women's Auxiliary of St. Philip Episcopal Church have elected new officers, with Mrs. Thomas Everhard heading the slate as president.

Others are Mrs. George Sargent, vice president; Mrs. James Murlen, secretary.

Janet Marie Robertson to Marry Joel Garret

TROY TOWNSHIP — Mr. and Mrs. Russell Robertson, of 635 Big Beaver Road, have announced the engagement of their daughter Janet Marie, to Joel A. Garret. He is attending the Business Institute in Pontiac.

Officers Installed

Believe Driver Drowned as Car Fell Into River

NILES (UP) — A man whose car plunged through a guard rail into the St. Joseph River today was believed to have drowned. A woman companion escaped, but was hospitalized for shock and exposure.

Police said they believed Thomas Buheker of Niles still was in his car, more than 20 feet under water, or had been swept down stream by a stiff current. Patricia O'Connor, 27, of Chicago, said Buheker pushed her from the car and toward shore, which she finally made through the frigid water.

County Deaths

LAPEER — Service for James A. Ruby, 86, of 6502 Duffield Rd., Swartz Creek, a former resident of Deerfield, will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday from Muir Brothers Funeral Home, with burial at West Deerfield Cemetery. He died Friday.

Survivors include his wife, Theresa; three sons, Harold and Mahlon of Swartz Creek, Claude of Lapeer; nine grandchildren and 13 great-grandchildren.

Victor D. Vincent
TROY TOWNSHIP — Service for Victor D. Vincent, 50, of 5401 Liveria, will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday from the Spiller-Gramer Funeral Home, with burial in White Chapel Cemetery. He died Thursday.

Surviving besides his wife, G. Levine, are a sister, Mrs. G. V. Glossop of Royal Oak; two brothers and one sister living in England.

Physician Asks Lieutenant's Bar After Stint as GI

DETROIT (UP) — Fed up with the strenuous life of a GI in basic training, a young Michigan physician drafted as an Army private now is ready to trade his private's stripe for the silver bar of a lieutenant.

Dr. Jack H. Townsend, 25, permitted the draft board of Muskegon to draft him last Nov. 10 while he was a resident physician at Blodgett Memorial Hospital in Grand Rapids. He said at the time he wanted to get his Army service "over with."

Now, Dr. Townsend's father, Elden, a high school principal has confirmed that his son is ready for a commission after undergoing basic training at Ft. Sam Houston, Tex.

"He's tired of shoveling sand," said the elder Townsend.

Col. Arthur A. Holmes, Michigan Selective Service director, said the Army is ready to commission Dr. Townsend immediately.

"We wanted him as a doctor," said Col. Holmes, "but there was nothing the Army could do about it until he said he wanted to serve as one."

Pair Pleads Guilty to Kidnaping Man

GRAND RAPIDS (UP) — Two Canadian youths pleaded guilty to federal kidnaping charges late yesterday for abducting and robbing Earl W. Murley, 77, of Ironwood on Nov. 30.

Federal Judge W. Wallace Kent set Jan. 14 as date for sentencing Wesley J. Nawalski, 18, and Wesley W. Holm, 16, both of Lac du Bonnet, Manitoba.

Kidnaping carries a maximum penalty of death.

Nadine Cole to Marry Frank Tody of Goodrich

METAMORA — Mr. and Mrs. Dan Maxfield of Hadley have announced the engagement of their daughter Nadine Cole of Brigham road to Frank Tody Jr., of Goodrich. No date has been set for the wedding.

Shift Forest Officials

CADILLAC (UP) — Paul S. Newcomb of Cadillac, supervisor of the Lower Michigan National Forest since 1945, is being transferred to Rutland, Vt., as supervisor of Green Mountain National Forest. His successor will be Louis A. Pommeroy of Park Falls, Wis., who is supervisor of Chequamegon National Forest.

Water Tower Urged for Avon

100,000 Gallon Tank May Be Best Solution, Engineers Indicate

AVON TOWNSHIP — Supervisor C. E. Miller has reported that the State Geology Department is making water tests in the southern part of the township, and a report should be forthcoming soon. Miller added that the engineers conducting the survey are of the opinion that a 100,000 gallon water tank should be considered.

He added the estimated cost of the tower would be $30,000, and would be more economical than a pumping station.

Petitions of residents of the area affected have been turned in, favoring the project.

JUDITH ANN KOLAR

The engagement of Judith Ann Kolar to Robert Duane Dewey has been announced by Mr. and Mrs. Otto A. Kolar, of Drayton Plains. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Martin, also of Drayton Plains. No date has been set for the wedding.

British Hero Dies

LONDON (UP) — Maj. Gen. Sir John Davidson, 78, a British World War I hero and a former member of Parliament, died today.

Michigan Fruit Farmers Preview Developments

GRAND RAPIDS (UP) — Michigan fruit farmers, told they are in a "Buck Rogers Age" compared to methods they used just 10 years ago, wondered today what new developments will come in the next decade.

Nearly 1,500 fruit farmers from throughout the state got a preview of some of the latest scientific findings and engineering developments during the 84th annual convention of the Michigan State Horticultural Society this week.

Dr. H. B. Tukey, head of the Department of Horticulture at Michigan State College, had high praise for the way fruit farmers have adjusted to the great changes — "virtually a major revolution" — which have occurred since end of World War II.

Tukey said developments during the last 10 years have enabled Michigan fruit farmers to produce more and better fruits and that the machines and equipment on a typical advanced farm make today's fruit farmer "a Buck Rogers by comparison with 10 years ago."

Other highlights of the three-day convention included adoption of a resolution supporting the cherry industry's proposal to improve marketing of specialty crops.

The cherry industry plans to seek federal legislation to permit producers and handlers of specialty crops to exchange information under government supervision about crop supplies, demand and marketing conditions without fear of violating federal anti-trust laws.

They feel such exchange of information would take the "peaks and valleys" out of fruit and vegetable prices and benefit both growers and consumers.

The lanky cinema star plans to be best man for his octogenarian father, Alexander Stewart, a widower who owns and operates the town's hardware store.

Stewart, a life-long resident of this small Western Pennsylvania mountain community, will wed Mrs. J. J. Stohart of St. James, New Brunswick, at the home of Mrs. Robert Dingman, a next-door neighbor and a niece of the bride-to-be, at 5:30 p.m.

His famous son Jimmy arrived at the excited household early today after an overnight train ride from New York, accompanied by his wife, former model Gloria McLean.

Stewart was first married in 1906 to Elizabeth Ruth Stewart, Jimmy's mother. She was the daughter of a Civil War veteran and steel company founder. She died here Aug. 2, 1953.

Travel Movie Slated Tuesday

Outstanding Lecturer, F. R. Line to Give 3rd in Waterford Series

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — Francis R. Line and his color film "Sheep, Stars and Solitude" will come to the Waterford Township High School Auditorium Tuesday night.

This is the third in a winter series of travel adventure programs sponsored by the Township Recreation Department.

Season family tickets for the remainder of the series, beginning with this event, have been cut in price to $3.25, with some remaining.

Lines' picture story of a vast trek of sheep through the wilderness of Arizona has been well received by lecture audiences throughout the nation, according to Recreation Department Supervisor Thomas Belton.

It brought him the honor of being named the most popular film lecturer in the 21-year history of Detroit's World Adventure Series.

1955 Officers Chosen by Avondale Forum

ROCHESTER — The Avondale Community Forum has elected Erwin Sheldon as president.

Harry Van Conant will serve as vice-president; Uclid Montville, secretary; and Herman Lamb, treasurer.

Livestock Folks Tell Why Girls Take Home the Bacon

CHICAGO (INS) — More and more young people are hauling down the big prizes in the livestock show industry, and more and more of these triumphant youngsters are girls.

This strange turn of events was brought to public attention this week at the International Live Stock Exposition in Chicago when two teenage Iowa girls won the coveted prizes—the grand championship and the reserve grand championship for steers.

However, the same trend has been noticeable, if not noted, in county and state fairs throughout the nation in recent years.

What is the reason for it? An International News Service poll of exhibitors and officials at the exposition today gave this conclusion:

The girls simply have the best animals.

Many contributing factors were offered, most of them running along these lines:

1. Young people have more time to devote to the care and feeding of animals and girls, in turn, have more time than boys, who often are occupied by other farm chores.

2. Girls are better showmen, which gives them extra points.

3. Girls get a lot of help that men and boys do not.

4. Girls are given the best animals to exhibit because their fathers or sponsors think they will make a better impression on the judges.

Barbara Clausen, 15, of Spencer,

Ia., whose shorthorn steer, Salty, won the reserve grand championship, said "It is all in the animal." She added:

"Boys can raise steers just as good as girls, but you've got to have a good calf to start with and I guess that's where the girls have been lucky."

Ardyce Haring, 17, of Franklin, Neb., whose steer won the junior Hereford championship, differed a bit with Barbara, saying "You can't buy the champion and you can't raise it."

She explained it must be a combination of a good calf to start with, and good feeding and care after that. She also said she thinks girls "give better care" to the steers than boys because they "look after them while the boys are off playing basketball or something."

A 40-year-old Waukesha, Wis., herder, Pete Adams, who has spent all his life in the cattle business, believes the girls are given "all the breaks" in selection of a calf, in the time they can devote to it and in outside assistance.

"But," he added, "I think it's just fine that they win."

This view was echoed by Eugene Cleveland, 19, of Morocco, Ind., who said "girls have the advantage, but it's OK with me."

Harry T. Ryan of Chicago, a judge in the hay and grain show, said he thinks a lot of the girls are given prize animals to show because "they might make a better impression on the judges." But he emphasized the officials are not swayed, and added:

"They (the judges) look for the quality of the animal. And the skill of the exhibitor. Whether the exhibitor is a pretty young girl or a bearded old man makes no difference in their selections."

A young Sparta, Wis., cattle raiser, John Guy, 16, believes the young people pick up points in showing off their animals. He said:

"Show is 30 per cent of the score and younger people can do a better job because they are quicker and can make the animal behave."

As for the girls versus boys rivalry, he said he believes the girls do better because they give the animals "extra attention" at fair time and "work harder than boys when judging time gets near."

But he said "boys take better care of them when they're calves and right up to fair time."

Perhaps the most popularly acceptable reason for the girls' success was offered by Jess Andrews, president of the exposition. Andrews, noting that 18-year-old Sue White of Big Spring, Tex., won the grand championship last year and Janice Hurlinger, 16, of Manly, Ia., and the Clausen girl took the two top prizes this year, commented:

"I think it's wonderful. First that these winners are 4-H'ers. Second that they are girls instead of boys. These girls learn about feeding in home economics, their fathers or they themselves pick good calves and they go out and beat the pants off the boys. I think it's wonderful."

THEY BUILT IT THEMSELVES — Mr. and Mrs. Percy Stowe and 16-year-old son, Mike, know every board, every stone and every elbow in the plumbing of this eight-room Cape Cod house at 4659 White Lake Rd., Davisburg, because they designed and built it themselves. Tennessee ledgerrock, forming the exterior of the living room section, breaks the white siding of the house with its black shutters.

LIVING ROOM COMFORT—Above the two-piece sectional upholstered in brown, beige and gold tweed, Mrs. Stowe placed an unusual picture arrangement. The large central shadow box was once an old picture frame. By building a new back for this frame, and adding two shelves, it presents an interesting curio box. In pairs of three, Currier and Ives prints frame this shadow box. Another idea for a wall grouping is the large brass plaque which is surrounded by miniature brass trivets hung in a circular line to match the oval shape of the plaque. On still another wall, Mrs. Stowe hung an old-fashioned hat rack whose wooden spindles hold hanging brass planters filled with greens. Color scheme of this room with its large colonial window, is green, brown, beige and red.

Background for LIVING

Your Neighbor's House

Percy Stowes Design, Build Their Own

It took five years and if Mr. and Mrs. Percy Stowe of 4659 White Lake Rd., Davisburg, had it to do over again — they'd do it again.

Designing and building their own home was a taxing conversation for the young Stowes. After their marriage it was evenings of searching through newspapers and magazines; it was hours of sketching on draft paper and it was balancing ideal ideas against their income. Finally, after five years of planning, the master plan evolved.

"We took it step by step," says the attractive Mrs. Stowe whose "green thumb" dictated several large window areas for plant growing in the house design.

Step-by-step included living in their two-car garage for the initial stages of the building program — hence the garage is completely plastered and the compact kitchen unit Mrs. Stowe had with cupboards, work counters and sink has become Stowe's workshop. A bathroom is included with this section.

Selecting Cape Cod styling, they planned a breezeway for summer living; they designed a large basement with plenty of recreation room, a spacious kitchen with dining area, comfortably-sized living room, two bedrooms down and two bedrooms upstairs. For bathrooms, one is placed above the other between the first floor and the second floor bedrooms. Another bathroom is located near the basement recreation room.

With the exception of the plastering and tiling, Stowe built his own home.

The exterior is white siding and dull-black shutters frame the windows. For the living room section, the exterior is Tennessee ledgerrock in horizontal pattern, and authentic Cape Cod accents are the white board fence, the outdoor post lantern and the black rooster weather vane perched atop the garage.

For the interior the Stowes chose green for background wall coloring with different shades of the same hue running from the living room and into the bedroom wing.

Keying her decor to this basic green, Mrs. Stowe furnished the living room with brown and beige carpeting, and furniture upholstered in green, brown and gold, and a tweed sectional covered in a brown, gold and beige tweed.

Unusual picture groupings have been deftly handled by Mrs. Stowe to present an over-the-sofa arrangement with six Currier and Ives prints flanking an antique shadow box.

This latter piece was once an old picture frame to which a deeper back was added and two shelves placed for holding curios.

On another wall, she placed a large brass plaque and around it several miniature brass trivets. Over the marble-topped commode is one of the old folding hat racks whose spindles hold hanging brass planters.

An unusually light room, the natural lighting is furnished by the large colonial-type window. Its base has a recessed planter with tiled edges. The daylight, plus the perimeter heating placed along the floor-edge of the window-planter produces luxuriant growth for Mrs. Stowe's plants.

Using the same green for background color, the Stowe kitchen has accents of green and yellow for contrast.

The dining corner, with wall papered in a country scene, has a built-in table around which are benches upholstered in red leather. This same red is picked up for cupboard color in this end of the room.

Dividing another section of the kitchen is a shelf facility with exterior painted the wall green and interior lined in the same cupboard yellow as the other end of the room. This holds a series of plants.

In the bedroom wing, Mrs. Stowe chose café au lait walls to complement green accessories and maple furnishings.

Mike, aged 16, has his room wainscoted in knotty cedar and one end of the room is a complete built-in unit housing a central desk, deep drawers for storage and overhead, a series of open shelves.

The large recreation room also is paneled in knotty cedar with the one masonry wall painted in a woods-and-lakes mural. Using the same cedar, Stowe built a corner bar and a series of bookcases.

Knotty cedar, also used for the paneling in the breezeway, has been installed on the walls of one upstairs bedroom. The other is papered in a diminutive chintz pattern and this is Mrs. Stowe's sewing room.

Pieces of the paneled dormer wall lift out to reveal extensive attic storage space.

KITCHEN OF CONVENIENCE—Mrs. Stowe is shown in her kitchen where there is an abundance of working area covered in pale gray plastic. The floor of this room is in gray, black and white rubber tile. Designed so that refrigerator, storage cabinets and stove are within a few steps of each other, the eating area is just behind this unit facilitating easy serving at mealtime.

Windowless Bath Allowed by FHA

A recent FHA ruling now makes it easier for homeowners and prospective buyers to install extra bathrooms, points out the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau.

The new ruling permits installation of inside, or "windowless" bathrooms.

Previously, FHA had stipulated that in order for a home to qualify for a government-insured mortgage, its bathrooms must be ventilated with windows. This provision was particularly hard on purchasers or owners of smaller homes where the logical location of another bathroom would not be next to an outside wall.

Builders and architects in recent years have repeatedly emphasized the need for a reversal of the agency's position, pointing out the many advantages offered by inside bathrooms.

For example, without the "outside" limitation on their position, bathrooms often can be located in an area of the home which lends more economy of installation and at the same time is more convenient to the family.

Ventilation can be taken care of by an exhaust fan which is vented to the outside. The fan is usually far more effective in removing moisture and odors than even an open window.

GLASS BLOCK ADDS CHARM—From the outside, the imposing panel of glass block adds charm and beauty to this gracious house. On the inside, the panel serves the practical purpose of bringing daylight to the stairway leading to the second floor. With insulation value equivalent to an eight-inch brick or 12-inch concrete wall, the glass block panel helps to minimize heating costs.

Roll Roller Painstakingly in Painting

By HUBBARD COBB

Be careful when using a paint roller not to try to go too fast for this will often cause the paint to splash off the roller. And don't try to do a strip more than two feet wide for if you do with modern fast drying paints, the edges of the strip may be dry before you get going on the adjoining strip.

The best way to seal up rat holes is with plaster, concrete or metal. Don't use wood for the rats can easily chew through it. Concrete or plaster can be applied over a piece of metal lath fastened over the opening.

If you find, for no particular reason, that a fireplace starts to smoke, try opening a door into the room where the fireplace is located. A fireplace requires a lot of air to keep the fire burning brightly and if the room is sealed up tight, the fire will soon begin to smoke from lack of air.

The best way to paint round objects such as turned legs is to paint around and around rather than up and down. The around and around method may not be as fast as up and down but it does a better job of things.

When covering a basement masonry wall with some finish material, it's a good idea to install vents along top and bottom of the finish wall about every 6 feet to carry away any moisture that might collect on the masonry.

Push-Button Decorations in Time for Christmas

Push button Christmas decorations now come in a do-it-yourself kit from Saco, Inc. of Maywood, Ill. The kit contains four paper stencils of an angel, a bell, a tree, and a Christmas tree ball.

Hold the stencil against any surface, spray on the design with cement from the Du Pont powered aerosol push button can, and then cover the cemented design with glittering crystals from one of more of six packets in gold, silver, red, green, blue, and multi-color.

Patterned Glass Hides Unightly, Lets in Light

Windows that open on "impossible" views—the brick wall of the house next door or the rear entrance to a filling station—need not be curtained or sealed off. Instead, install panes of patterned glass to admit the sunlight while obscuring the view. Various patterns—linear, checkered and home design and will provide open-window lighting without sacrifice of closed-window privacy.

The gleaming finish on your refrigerator is thinner than a rose petal, yet it withstands scratches, rough handling, acids, grease, alcohols, and other household chemicals.

HOUSE PLANT THAT GREW AND GREW—Mrs. Vance Holman, of Provo, Utah, is dwarfed by a giant Rex Begonia in her living room. She started it from a leaf 2 1/2 years ago. She kept the leaf in a bottle of water for a month, when it sprouted roots. Transplanting it to a pot, she nursed it along for several months, with slow progress. Suddenly it started really to grow and has had its biggest spurt this year. A few months ago, when it was blossoming, it even reached the ceiling.

The Handyman Offers Four Tips and a Cure

By HUBBARD COBB

If you find that only a splattering of water comes out of the shower head, take it off and clean out the interior. The trouble may be just from sediment but it's often due to mineral deposits left from the water. The can be removed with a sharp pointed tool.

We must have been thinking of something else the other week when we said to add water to a chemical drain cleaner. To prevent the chemical from splattering, add the chemical to the water. This also holds true when mixing acid with water, add the acid slowly to the water, never the water to the acid.

When you use contact cement be sure you are right the first time. These cements holds so well that it's pretty difficult if not impossible to move the object or take it off once it has made contact with the cement.

Coat of Paint Rejuvenates Famous Coach

MOUNT VERNON, Va. — In the carriage house on George Washington's famous plantation on the Potomac is an 18th century coach in which the General once rode.

In 1950, after a careful study of physical and documentary evidence, the upholstery and paint-colors were restored.

The upholstery is in blue and gold. The outside of the coach gleams with its smooth finish in maroon and black. Wheels are painted in black, gold, blue and scarlet. On the doors are designs in white and blue.

Keep Diagram on Pipe Lines

When Building a House
Make Plan Showing
All Plumbing

A diagram showing the location of the underground lines for water supply, waste disposal, and gas is a great convenience, especially when it is necessary to make changes or repairs.

When a new house is being built, and before the workmen leave the premises, it is advisable for the owner to have a plot made showing the location of all of the various pipe lines, the bureau advises.

The plan should then be photographed or photographed and the original print stored in the owner's safety deposit box along with other valuable papers.

A copy may be posted in the basement or utility room.

Many years hence when pipe line may need attention, the owner will bless his wisdom in having provided a plot plan because it will prevent the necessity for digging hither and yon in the lawn and driveway to find the water service line, the sewer, or the gas service line.

The plot plan is also valuable as a guide to where and where not to plant trees with fibrous roots which tend to seek vulnerable joints in the sewer lines.

Going South This Year? Heed Plumbing Advice

When you close your house for the winter to head south, it's a good idea to call the plumbing contractor and have him drain the water from lavatory, sink and toilet traps, replacing it with kerosene.

Upon returning, the kerosene can safely be flushed out through the septic tank disposal system, without disturbing bacterial action to any significant degree.

However, just to make certain bacterial action continues without interruption, it is advisable to flush half a pound of yeast through one of the toilets in the house after all the traps have been cleared of kerosene.

Use Tough Floor Enamel if Repainting Linoleum

When preparing linoleum for painting, remove all grease with soap and water, wipe it clean and allow it to dry. A tough porch-and-floor enamel is the type of coating to use.

Should you wish a two-toned effect, go over the base coat, when it is dry, with a sponge dipped in a contrasting hue. Such a finish is less likely to show footmarks than a plain one.

Gifts for Home Are Best; Bring Comfort and Luxury

By ELIZABETH HILLYER

Gifts for the home seem especially appropriate to the season, the close and warm family enjoyment of Christmas together. The best gifts bring comfort and beauty and perhaps extra luxury to the place we love best, and 1934 gave these fresh styling and ideal appeal.

That one wonderful new chair that will mean so much to the living room probably has a higher back this year, even though it is lean and slim and contemporary in style. It has been a man's idea that there's something deeply satisfying about a chair the shoulders rest against. If the chair is a big one for the head of the household, this type of chair will seem made to his order, but smaller chairs also reach upward in style.

Tables, always high on the list, may move about to serve in different ways than other tables in the house do. A snack wagon on wheels has a particular holiday air of hospitality, that will encourage graceful and easy entertaining now and ever after.

Silver, always a proud gift, is accompanied by a little sister this year. Stainless steel has become so well-designed that it has a regular place on today's table, and the silver table sketched presents both silver and stainless steel flatware side-by-side in its own specially designed piece of furniture.

Many new designs have been introduced in clocks and fireplace equipment to make them fit homes in contemporary style. These are bound to be favorite gifts, because for a long time the really handsome examples of these items were traditional. Wall clocks have attained interesting variety, and fireplace equipment is as slim and simple as the furniture in a crisply contemporary room.

There are special items such as a new grille to permit cooking in a fireplace, and modest devices such as the pantograph grate at lower right.

The gift for the home can be the most important Christmas purchase, but it can also be a delightful small gift that's merely a bit of eye-catching decoration: a sleigh and reindeer flying high overhead as a mobile, or a handsome Christmas candle holder.

An estimated 55 per cent of all U. S. homes have television receiving sets.

Combine Planter and Mirror in Kitchen

Combine a planting box with a priming mirror for an interesting and useful bit of kitchen decoration.

A simple, unframed rectangle of plate glass mirror will do. Under it, fasten a brightly painted wooden trough that can either be planted directly or will hold plants in individual pots.

Use one of the shade-growing varieties—ivy, philodendron, snake plant, or spider plant—at a proper height to be reflected in the mirror to double the appearance of green and make the most of the available light for growing.

Chinese Used Lacquer Over 2000 Years Ago

The Chinese and Japanese used lacquer more than two thousand years ago. Among the earliest records we have of lacquer is one which goes back to Imperial Japan of 3992 B.C.

At that time the office of "Chief of Imperial Lacquer Department" was created. The establishment of such an office naturally indicates that lacquer was widely used long before that date.

Shellac is a much-used coating for wood floors, stair treads and risers, linoleum and synthetic tile floors, in addition to wood trim and wood paneling.

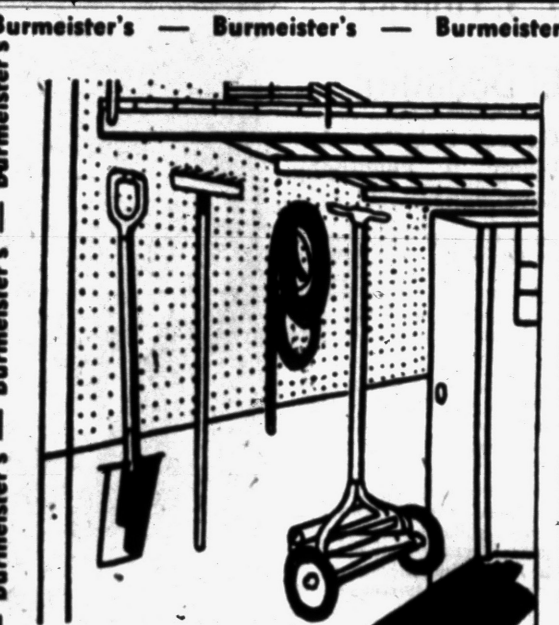

Sugar consumption in the U.S. in 1933 was 8,400,000 tons.

Local Group Visits National Homes Operation

By Hazel A. Trumble
LAFAYETTE, Ind.—It took a trip to the banks of the Wabash to prove that 30,000 people a year can't be wrong.

One day we sat in our office discussing the merits of pre-assembled (new word for pre-fabricated) homes. The next day we were flying down to Lafayette, Ind., to get first-hand information on the building process of National Homes Corporation and we found more than modern building assembly techniques.

For here in this Hoosier community is a typical American success story. Here is proof that the great system of free enterprise is not dead when a multi-million dollar business can still grow in 13 years from a $12,500 original investment.

All it took was courage and a commodity the public wanted at a price they could pay.

Producers of 30 per cent of this nation's pre-assembled homes, National placed its headquarters near Purdue University where much of its research is carried on and from whence comes many of its top engineers.

Now in production is a second plant in Horseheads, N. Y. This year another one is under construction in Texas.

Founded by the Price brothers, James Robert and George, the National home "package" is truly just that. Price tagged from $6,000 to $40,000. It contains everything from the roof to the front door (already factory painted) to the kitchen sink.

When we arrived (we being the officials of Independence Township board, the zoning board and building inspectors and members of a local National dealer firm) we started our tour in the lumberyard.

Acres and acres of first-grade kiln dried lumber is stockpiled

(turnover once every three weeks) ready to be milled into all different pieces of a complete home. This yard contains from six and a-half to seven million board feet. Largest lumber consumer in the nation, National is buying from the huge fir forests of the northwest.

Into the factory we viewed each step of the process which is synchronized so that any one of 51 different designs ordered by the customer by number meets at the same time at the loading dock. There is no speculation in National home business—the house which we saw being cut and assembled was already paid for before the order slips went into the plant.

Austin Drury, sales coordinator and assistant to the president, explained that secret of their operation which works around the clock and turns out 72 houses a day at this plant is keyed to coordination of sales, purchasing and production.

The Prices had to have special machinery designed to carry on their work. They designed their own. Automatic nailing machines do one side of a house at a time. "We simply took the assembly line ideas of Henry Ford and we are able to turn out houses on the same basis," said Drury.

It is a business, too, claim the Prices, where the individual counts. Every man and woman employed by the firm, after a year's employment, begins to buy stock in the company.

"They are actually working for themselves. Hence we have very little labor trouble," said Drury.

One of the country's top architects, Charles M. Goodman, designs the National homes which each year comes out with a "fewer and classier model." Their Cadet has been one of their top sellers because it fits into the working man's pocketbook at from $350 to $500 down. FHA approves the National homes and the company has established its own loan agency, the National Homes Acceptance Corporation.

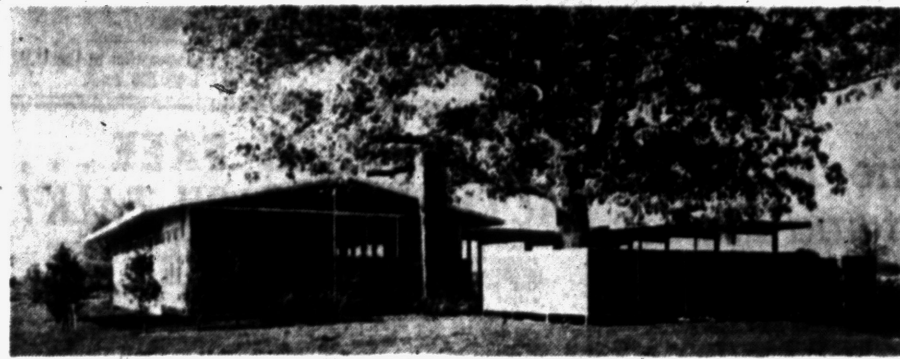

When we left the plant, we saw dozens of huge red semi-trailers and freight cars for use "only" by National. They are sending their way from one point of this nation to the other loaded with somebody's new home.

Within a 400 mile radius, National delivers by truck. The dealer has a contractor ready for work in the morning when the truck arrives and by night the house is up—completely roofed. It takes from three to four weeks to finish it for moving in.

What is ahead for pre-assembled home building?

"Every opportunity in the world," said Drury. "We truly believe that there is an insatiable market for homes. It is a challenge and we are doing everything we can to accept it."

Dealers in this area who handle National homes are the Johnson Construction Co., Birmingham; Colwell Homes, Inc., Birmingham; Cra-Min-Yan Builders, Inc., Pontiac and Rogerson, Inc., Farmington.

CANTERBURY—A house that has everything for the middle-income bracket. About $15,000, this National Homes offers a double fireplace, two bathrooms, four bedrooms and the ultimate in storage areas. Outdoor living has been incorporated in this design with a patio adjacent to the living and dining room.

U. S. Hungers for Beautiful

Graceful, Abundant Living Is Philosophy, Says Editor

Americans want more beauty in their houses and "are hungering for a way of life that has nothing to do with dishwashers, garbage grinders and gadgets," Miss Elizabeth Gordon, editor of House Beautiful, said recently.

Speaking to the board of directors of the National Lumber Manufacturers Association at Washington, D. C., Miss Gordon said:

"While we have had an almost unbelievable 10-year upsurge in spiritual, cultural and physical progress, housing patterns have been kept from developing any normal curves. Government has rigged the aids and controls so completely that normal demand is an unknown quantity."

"The minimum house has been made, artificially, the hero of this period. The people whose daily life is blossoming are not going to want to live in tiny, boxy houses. They have found that graceful living is far from inconsistent with productive labor."

"The expanding American market means an expanding American house. Abundant, not minimum living, is the American philosophy."

ASSEMBLY LINE PRODUCTION—Homes, too, said the Price Bros. of National Homes Corporation, should be mass-produced by assembly line technique. The above photo was taken in the Lafayette, Ind. plant where a complete side panel moves smoothly from original jig to loading dock, all in a matter of minutes. The swivel table turns over half-finished frame to another conveyor where glass-fiber insulation is glued between studs, exterior sheathing is applied and windows are installed. Complete panel is turned out in 7 minutes. National Homes plans expansion for this next year which will give them 37,500 houses a year with factories working around the clock.

Laundry Tub Table Top Removable

Table top space is at a premium in every home. This is particularly true of the basement or utility room, yet a table foundation is ready for a top in practically every home.

The stationary laundry tubs may be given a removable top which will serve as a laundry sorting center, work or recreation space or temporary storage for just-ironed garments.

Simply take a piece of Masonite tempered preswood cut to fit over the tubs — and there's the table. It may be removed instantly. Tempered preswood is available at lumber yards. It is smooth and splinter-free — ideal for work, recreation or storage.

This versatile material may be cut readily with a cross-cut saw. Before putting it into service as a top over the tubs, round the corners slightly and bevel the edges lightly with a file. Then give it a coat of penetrating sealer. Prime and paint it instead, for a touch of color in the room.

Crete is about twice the area of Long Island, New York.

Memos Stick Anywhere

When your memory fails, you can write down a memo to yourself on these new one and one-quarter by 2 and one-half inch sheets of note paper. Each sheet has a pressure sensitive adhesive on the back. Stick the note up where you can't miss it—on the mirror in the hall, on your desk, even on the back of your hand.

Electronic Oven With Radio Waves

Raytheon Mfg. Co., of Waltham, Mass., has introduced a new commercial electronic oven called "radarange" which cooks food with high frequency radio waves of a type similar to those used for radar.

The radio waves penetrate the food to a depth of about two and a half inches and set up a molecular heat which cooks the foods quickly. Neither the oven itself nor the cooking utensils get hot because they don't absorb the rays. A fillet mignon can be cooked in 50 seconds, baked potatoes 15 minutes, and scrambled eggs in 30 seconds.

Climate in India varies from the tropical heat in the central provinces to the bitter cold common to the Himalaya mountains.

Chiefs Crush Vikings in Valley Start

By BILL MARTIN
Pontiac High's basketball Chiefs got off to an impressive start in Saginaw Valley Conference play here last night, drubbing defending champion Flint Northern, 55-38.

The game, curtain-raiser for the 1954-55 Valley campaign, was the only league contest played Friday. Two other SVC teams lost in non-conference action. Arthur Hill suffered its 27th straight loss, 57-40, to Ann Arbor while Bay City Central bowed to Owosso, 57-47, in its opener.

Pontiac's veterans had surprisingly little trouble with Northern, which has six lettermen back from its 1953-54 state finalist team. Sparked by 6-foot 4-inch center Dick Blacklaw, who turned in probably the finest performance of his varsity career, Chiefs outshot, out-rebounded and out-scraped the taller Vikings.

Blacklaw connected on seven of 10 shots and added four free throws for 18 points to share scoring honors with Northern's touted Clarence Elliott.

Backing up Blacklaw were teammates Walt Poe, with 14 points, and John James, with 12. Pontiac, as a unit, posted a .333 shooting mark. Northern had 12 baskets in 52 shots for .230.

The game was close only for the first 10 minutes. Chiefs then pulled away to a 35-19 halftime lead and retained a comfortable edge rest of the way.

Northern's Bob Brumbach took the opening tip-off in for a layup to open scoring and Blacklaw matched it with an under-the-basket goal.

The teams traded points through three more tied-scores before Mary Caswell grabbed a pass from Poe and scored to put Pontiac ahead 9-7. Chiefs never trailed thereafter.

All five PHS starters contributed to the scoring as Pontiac posted an 18-11 first-period lead. Elliott, Northern's 6-5 pivot ace, flipped in an overhead shot and sank two free throws to shave the margin to 18-15 early in the following quarter. Bob Johnston came through with a basket and two free throws and Blacklaw added two more free throws to protect Pontiac's lead.

Blacklaw and Johnston accounted for 13 points between them in the period to lead the Chiefs to its 16-point intermission advantage.

Blacklaw and Poe each dunked two fast-break baskets in the finale to give Pontiac its biggest lead, 54-34, with three minutes to play. Reserves then finished the game.

Coach Art Van Rykel's squad goes to Port Huron for a non-league contest next Tuesday and returns home Friday against Flint Central.

PHS' junior varsity won its 2nd straight start in a nerve-shattering preliminary battle, edging Northern's juniors 55-54 in overtime. Dave Diehm sparked the Little Chiefs with 27 points.

Browns Near Playoff Slot; Lions Face Chicago Sunday

By The Associated Press
The ferocious Cleveland Browns can move to their accustomed spot in the National Football League playoffs if they get past the Pittsburgh Steelers Sunday.

A Brown victory would assure Paul Brown's club of the Western Division title and also assure them a crack at the Detroit Lions for the league title. The Lions already have clinched the Western Division crown but they will go through the motions against the Chicago Bears.

If the Browns do clinch the championship, a quirk in the schedule will send them against the Lions on two successive Sundays — once in a regular-season game and again in the championship contest.

The Steelers are one of the two teams that have beaten the Browns. And they did it emphatically, 55-27, at the start of the season. But that was before Pittsburgh went into a nosedive.

Another possibility is that the Philadelphia Eagles could climb into second place. They play the Giants, who will be without the services of Charley Conerly. So this one is important from both sides of the fence.

The Chicago Cardinals and the Washington Redskins also have an important tussle because the loser will finish in the cellar. Green Bay winds up operations at Los Angeles, and in today's game, San Francisco entertains Baltimore.

Rams, Eagles Bow in League Cage Openers

St. Fred Loses, 39-31, at St. Rita; OL Five Beaten by Bens

Tight, low-scoring games marked last night's opening play in the 1954-55 Suburban Catholic League basketball season.

St. Frederick suffered a 39-31 defeat at the hands of St. Rita, Orchard Lake St. Mary bowed to St. Benedict 37-33, and Royal Oak St. Mary edged St. Clement, 47-45.

St. Rita jumped into an 11-4 first-period edge and retained a slim edge through the rest of the game against the Rams. Smith led the winners with 21 points, while Dick Doyon's 13 were high for St. Fred.

St. Ben and St. Mary each collected 13 field goals, but the Ravens sank 11 of 21 free throws while Eagles connected on only seven of 24 chances at the foul line.

Chapter 6 — 'Suspect'

Jim and Nancy Dunn Awaken to Find Four Guests

By Hugh Lawrence Nelson

THE STORY: A number of ominous events puzzle Private Detective Jim Dunn and Nancy, his wife, when they take up residence at The Spires, part of the Carlson estate. Jim and Nancy are going to care-takers while working for their client, Mrs. Kim Carlson, one of the junior wives of the clan. When Jim and Nancy arrive, they find the cabin ready for occupancy although they had been told it was vacant. Jim has been retained to "get something" on Mrs. Kim's mother-in-law, Mrs. Hilton Carlson. Mrs. Kim has been involved in a case that may or may not be murder on the West Coast.

Jim sat up in bed suddenly, pulling covers away from the sleeping Nancy. He smoothed the covers down again, looked over the foot of the bed. He shook his head, hoped he was dreaming, hoped the four people standing there would dissolve in the sunlit morning air. "Good morning," Jim said. He poked his wife. "Honey, we have company."

Nancy's eyes opened enough to see the group at the foot of the bed. "Didn't you lock the doors, Jim?"

"I am Mrs. Hilton Carlson," the woman said in a tone of voice which should have sent the Duns under the bedclothes. What are you two doing in my house?"

"You sure it's yours?" Jim asked mildly. He wanted to make sure Nancy was fully awake. "Say good morning to the nice people, Honey," he insisted.

Mrs. Hilton Carlson disregarded the girl. "You haven't answered me. Do so before I call the sheriff."

"And you didn't answer my question," Jim pointed out. "This place, The Spires, was sold yesterday to my employer. We came up before her to get the place ready. She's a Mrs. Gelstrap of California." He tossed the name in and waited for some reaction. There seemed to be none to the name itself.

"I don't believe it," Mrs. Hilton said. "I didn't believe Toby Argyle when he said something."

"I have some papers around," Jim said. "And an order from the real estate people."

Mrs. Hilton Carlson stared at him. "Petey is a swine," she said grimly.

"Possibly," Jim agreed. "I don't know him."

"Of course not. I was speaking of my son, J. Peter Carlson. Naturally you wouldn't know him. So he sold it! Just to annoy me because he knew I had it ready for guests. For Mr. and Mrs. Ummmmmm."

One of the women and the man made feeble nods in recognition of their name. Jim never did know actually what it was and never saw the couple again.

The other woman was short, dumpy, with high color in her cheeks and nondescript mouse-colored hair.

Mrs. Hilton had an idea. "Your employer, when is she coming up?"

"This evening," Jim said. "I see. Suppose I made it worth your while, would you let my guests spend the day here?"

"I wouldn't have the authority," Jim supposed. So it is just as well I came prepared. Angela!"

"Yes, mother?"

"Tell Philip and the men to get to work."

The dumpy woman departed.

Mrs. Hilton Carlson demanded, "I suppose you have an inventory among those papers?"

She waited while Jim nodded his head and answered "Yes."

"Then you can check it after we're through." She opened the bedroom door, held it long enough to let her prospective guests scuttle happily through into oblivion. She called loudly to make herself heard above the rising hubbub from the rest of the house "Take everything you brought over yesterday morning, Philip. Leave this room until the last." She shut the door, so she could make the Duns hear her without shouting. "There are some things I want understood."

she said flatly. "You can pass them on to the new owner. We do not encourage visitors. To make it even plainer, we do not want a call from the new owner. We cannot forbid you the use of the road. We do not want any of you on our side of the lake. We do not want any of you to set foot off this particular property. You two and your employer are a nuisance. But one that can be remedied. Do I make myself clear?"

Jim nodded and Mrs. Hilton Carlson went out.

Four hours of hard work, and Jim, and Nancy had the place put back together as well as possible with the material at hand.

"They didn't take the fireplace, anyhow," Jim said. "Let's go out on the porch and take a breather."

The rambling structure of The Spires was placed on a triangle of level ground between the two creeks which tumbled into the clear water of the lake. On all sides of the triangle, distant enough from the house which was placed to get the sunlight, sheer rock pinnacles rose a thousand feet. One of the creeks flowed swiftly along the base of the right-hand cliff. The other, crossed by the road and bridge, gushed out from a yawning hole in the cliff itself.

"Jim, isn't that a red roof, there against the cliff? Or is it just another shade of rock?"

"Soon see. Should be the caretaker's place."

Salk Polio Vaccine Big Hope for 1955

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Two famous polio warriors—the Salk vaccine and gamma globulin—hold the key to the 1955 polio season throughout the nation, according to President Basil O'Connor of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

In a speech at a meeting of March of Dimes volunteers yesterday, O'Connor said full hope is being placed on the vaccine, developed at the University of Pittsburgh's Medical School. They expect it to be "at least 65 to 75 per cent effective," he said.

At the same time, he said, gamma globulin is a fraction of the human blood which contains polio fighting antibodies. It's development "established the basis for a vaccine," O'Connor said.

Arizona Income Up

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—The Valley National Bank reports Arizona's total income for 1953 was a record-breaking $1,370,000,000. But because of "the rapid growth of the state's population, the per capita income fell from $1,503 in 1952 to $1,472.

Ike May Change Voting Address

Eisenhower Reported Planning Official Home at Gettysburg

THURMONT, Md., (U.P.)—President Eisenhower reportedly is planning to change his voting residence soon from New York to Gettysburg, Pa., where he and Mrs. Eisenhower are building a new farm home.

The Civil War battlefield is just 20 miles from the Eisenhower's weekend retreat at Camp David here in Maryland's Catocin Mountains.

The President and his wife drove here from Washington yesterday afternoon and may motor today to Gettysburg to inspect their new battlefield home which will be ready for early next year.

On the 65-mile drive to Camp David yesterday, the President surprised two hitchhiking Marines by halting on the outskirts of Washington and arranging a lift for them in another car in his motorcade. The Marines — Pfc. William F. Weaver, 19, and Pfc. Harold D. Payne, 20 — rode about 40 miles in the presidential caravan. They got out at Frederick, Md. Both men are stationed at Camp Lejeune, N.C.

Weaver was en route to the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Weaver, in Detroit, Mich. Payne was traveling to Akron, Ohio, to visit his wife and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank R. Duve.

It costs the U.S. about $500,000 a year to incinerate accumulated supplies of worn out paper currency.

Chicago Police Official Whittles Down Pay Hike

CHICAGO — Police Commissioner Timothy O'Connor talked himself out of $2,500 last night.

The City Council voted to give O'Connor a $7,500 annual raise but scaled it down to $5,000 on his insistence. He said the higher raise would have an adverse effect on his department hindering his discipline and command.

The commissioner's salary now is $13,500.

A CHRISTMAS CAROL

Tiny Tim sat very close to his father's side, upon his little stool Bob loved the child, and dreaded that he might be taken from him.

"Spirit," said Scrooge, with an interest he had never felt before, "tell me if Tiny Tim will live?"

By Charles Dickens

"I see a vacant seat," replied the Spirit of Christmas Present, "in the poor chimney corner, and a crutch without an owner, carefully preserved. If these shadows remain unaltered by the future, the child will die."

City Assessor Explains 2 Items on Current Tax Bills

This bit of tax trivia is for any puzzled Pontiac taxpayers and City Treasurer Murray M. Ashbaugh.

Ashbaugh, whose job it is to collect taxes, has received calls from taxpayers wanting to know about two unfamiliar items on the current bills.

Ashbaugh just sends the bills out, doesn't draw them up and so wasn't sure of the two perplexing items.

The two items are titled "Special Education" and "Re-assessed at Large."

City Assessor W. Raymond Ransom, who makes up the bills, offers this explanation for all and sundry:

"The 'Special Education' item is a 50-cent per thousand assessment for the new program for schooling handicapped children in Oakland County, voted upon favorably last spring."

(Oakland is the only county in the nation to finance and operate a program locally. It is slated to get under way next year.)

"The second item is mainly to cover payment of some old back taxes assessed against 32 acres of property across from Perry Mount Park Cemetery on Perry street."

"It only amounts to two cents per thousand equalized valuation."

"From 1931 through 1938 the property was on the tax rolls. Then the owner, the Perry Mount Park Cemetery Assn., claimed a child was buried on the land, and, thus was cemetery property and non-taxable."

"The Oakland County Court agreed it was non-assessable."

"Now the State auditor general has decreed we must collect the taxes assessed prior to the court ruling. So we are assessing the city at large."

The assessment at large also covers a few other small parcels of land owned by the state which had been placed on the city tax rolls inadvertently.

Since taxes cannot be cancelled once they are on the books, the old taxes are being spread thinly over all taxpayers. The total "re-assessment at large" amounts to $3,687.

Remington's Death Not Due to Gangs

LEWISBURG, Pa. — Acting Fred T. Wilkinson says gang warfare was "positively" not involved in the recent slaying of former government economist William W. Remington at Northeastern Federal Penitentiary here.

Remington, convicted of perjury in a government spy-ring case, died at the prison last month after he was beaten with a half-brick encased in a sock. Three of his fellow convicts have been indicted for murder in the case.

In commenting last night on possible motives, Wilkinson said "I personally discount reports of immorality, gang warfare or similar defects as a basic cause for the murder of" Remington.

Couple to Wed in George's Bar on 2 Motorcycles

LOS ANGELES — They met in George's Bar. Their romance flourished on Bill Murphy's motorcycle, so today Bill and Carol Stanford are going to be married.

Where? Why, in the bar where they met.

"We thought it would be nice to marry where we met," explained Murphy, 31-year-old machinist.

George Lang, owner of the tavern, said the life of a bartender has many complications but this is the first time he has acted as cupid.

Lang said he thought there would be some trouble getting a minister to perform the ceremony in the bar, "but the first one we asked said it was okay with him. I forget his name, but he works out of a wedding chapel."

The couple will be married on two motorcycles.

Britain Restores Last of China Tea Clippers

LONDON — Workmen began a face-lifting job today on the Cutty Sark, last of the great China tea clippers. The vessel is to be restored to something like her old glory and preserved as a monument to the days of sail.

The Cutty Sark has rolled at anchor in the Thames River the last 20 years. Recent indications she was falling apart sparked demands that she either be restored or scrapped.

Japan Puts Allies Before Red Trade

TOKYO — Japan's new government promised today that continued collaboration with the United States and other non-Communist nations will get first priority over expanding trade with Russia and Red China.

Foreign Minister Mamoru Shigemitsu formally enunciated the policy following prime Minister Ichiro Hatoyama's first meeting with his Cabinet.

Shigemitsu, back in place of power again after being convicted as a World War II War criminal, said Japan was willing to restore normal relations with Russia and China so long as such negotiations do not "prejudice our basic collaboration with the free nations."

Warm Rainfall Studied

HONOLULU — More than a dozen top scientists from throughout the world gathered in Hawaii for a detailed study of warm rainfall. The scientists used a specially equipped Royal Australian Air Force Dakota for the experiments dubbed "project shower."
