In New Post

DR. JOHN J. MARRA

Director Named at City Hospital

Chief of Staff Marra Appointed to New Post at $12,000 a Year

The appointment of Dr. John J. Marra, Pontiac General Hospital Chief of Staff, to the new post of hospital medical director was announced today by Harold B. Euler, hospital administrator.

The $12,000-a-year job which Dr. Marra fills is designed to provide closer liaison between the hospital's administration and medical staff, Euler said.

"The appointment represents a milestone for us," Euler said, "since this is the first time that a medical doctor has joined the active administrative staff."

Dr. Marra, 46, of 1430 Nakomis Dr., Orion Township, will continue to act as hospital pathologist and director of laboratories, a position that he has held with the hospital on a contractual basis the past five years.

Accepting the new post, Dr. Marra announced his resignation from the job of chief of staff, which he has held since January, and announced his own appointment of Dr. Glen Bylsma as assistant director of laboratories.

The hospital's Board of Trustees created the medical director post when it reorganized the hospital's administration two weeks ago.

According to Euler, Dr. Marra's prime duty will be the coordination of the hospital's staff training program, both here and through the hospital's affiliation with the University of Michigan Medical School.

The medical director, Euler said, will also assist the administration in establishing better standards of medical service; advise the hospital management committee on technical medical problems; and function as a liaison officer between the administration and staff.

Goal of $501,000 Set Up for Area by United Fund

Drive to Be Kicked Off Oct. 21; Proceeds Go to 55 Service Agencies

The Pontiac Area United Fund has set $501,000 as a goal to be raised for its 55 community service agencies during its forthcoming three-week tenth anniversary campaign, scheduled to kick-off on October 21.

The goal was announced jointly by 1958 Campaign Chairman Philip J. Monaghan, United Fund President Leonard T. Lewis and Budget Committee Chairman Robert S. Nelson.

It represents a $16,000 cut from the amount realized from last year's campaign pledges in the Pontiac-Waterford township area.

"This year's figure of $501,000 is in my opinion, a challenging objective," Monaghan said. "While all the 55 United Fund supported agencies have budgetary needs in excess of this amount, I believe that the sum represents a realistic goal for conscientious citizens of the Pontiac and Waterford township areas.

MONAGHAN

"If everyone supporting the United Fund this fall uses the suggested "Giving Yardstick" as a pledge guide, and we can get 100 per cent participation among all persons employed, I'm sure that our campaign goal can be achieved."

U.F. President Lewis said that more than 4,500 volunteers would take part in the campaign between October 21 and November 11.

He said the final goal figure was arrived at only after many months of exhaustive study and debate by UF officials and interested citizens. It balanced agency needs with the giving potential of the area's contributors.

In the early spring, eight budget panels composed of 86 business and labor leaders representing every type of profession, carefully analyzed budgets submitted to them by the member agencies.

The panels recommended appropriations for each agency. These recommendations were reviewed by the Budget Steering Committee. They then were presented to the Fund's Administrative Committee which had to approve them before they could be submitted to the Board of Trustees.

GM Has New Car of Tomorrow

By DAVID J. WILKIE
AP Automotive Writer

General Motors has just completed another fabulous car of tomorrow—Firebird III.

The car is powered with a gas turbine engine, has a single stick control that eliminates conventional steering wheel, brake pedal and accelerator and makes elaborate use of electronics, transistors and computers.

The newest in the line of Firebirds, the car is missile-like in appearance. Its interior is crammed with more mechanism than many large calculating machines.

A small, separately operated, 10-horsepower piston engine provides power to actuate accessories and frees the 225 horsepower gas turbine engine to drive the rear wheels.

The smaller engine drives a 110-volt generator that provides 60-cycle electrical power. Besides having local and national emergency value, the power may be used to run household appliances or in camping in remote areas. The car has an aerodynamic fiber glass body, a wide tapered nose, twin plastic bubble canopies over the passenger compartment and seven fins around the rear, topped by a high dorsal fin at the tail.

The Firebird III will get its first public showing at General Motors' Motorama, opening in New York Oct. 16 and in Boston Nov. 8.

The car is strictly experimental. It has a 119-inch wheelbase and 57-inch front and rear treads. Overall length is 248.4 inches. Its curb weight with full fuel and oil tanks is 5,275 pounds.

Adams 'Done,' Says Colleagues

Report Ike's Chief Aide, Now Fishing in Canada, Plans to Resign

By MERRIMAN SMITH

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An administration figure said today that in his opinion Sherman Adams for practical purposes was through as President Eisenhower's chief assistant and that only formal resignation remained to be arranged.

Adams was represented by some of his prominent administration and Republican Party colleagues as having come to the conclusion that his political effectiveness was seriously impaired by his relations with Bernard Goldfine, particularly as reflected in the dramatic Democratic victory in the Maine elections.

A newspaper in Adams' home state, the Laconia (N.H.) Citizen, said today that Adams already "has resigned."

In Newport, R. I., White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty declared: "There has been no resignation in any shape, form or manner submitted by Mr. Adams."

Tooth Decay Slashed in Grand Rapids

Reports on Fluoride Test

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Water fluoridation, pioneered 13 years ago in Grand Rapids, now is practiced in 1,650 United States communities representing 33 million residents, a dental expert said today.

Developments were discussed by F. A. Arnold Jr., DDS, director of the National Institute of Dental Research, in a report at the convention of the Michigan Chapter of the American Water Works Assn.

Dr. Arnold said fluoridation has cut the tooth cavity rate of Grand Rapids school children 60 per cent. After the project had been operating only six years, he said, results were so conclusive that a "control" city selected for comparison ended its test to institute fluoride to its water supply.

The Bethesda, Md., researcher said Grand Rapids was selected for the pilot project because of a competent health department, an efficient waterworks setup, a favorable water type and a relatively stable wartime population.

Federal participation in sharing costs of fluoridating Grand Rapids water ends this month.

Hoffa Claims Reuther Holds Secret Contract

WASHINGTON (AP)—James R. Hoffa, Teamsters Union president, said today he believes Walter Reuther already has a settlement with the big automotive companies but does not know how to sell it to his own union.

Asked whether his men (Teamsters) would cross picket lines or respect them if the UAW calls a strike, Hoffa first parried a reporter's questions, then replied:

"We wouldn't cross the picket lines—we never have. I'd support the rank and file—but I wouldn't support him (Reuther).

"But I don't think Reuther has the guts to call the strike," Hoffa added. "In my opinion, he already has a contract with the employers in his pocket. He just doesn't know how to sell it to his members, and you can quote me."

Awaiting UAW Strike Decision

Expect Crucial Ruling Today; Contract Talks With Big 3 Recessed

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers International Executive Board is expected to make public today its crucial decision on whether or not it will strike any of the auto industry's Big Three.

Contract talks with Ford, General Motors and Chrysler were in recess as the 23-man board met.

UAW President Walter Reuther came to the vital board meeting after participating in a drawn-out negotiation session at GM which carried well into last night.

He sat across the bargaining table from GM's top negotiator, Vice President Louis G. Seaton, in the first night session since the old contract expired over the Memorial Day weekend.

Exuding optimism when he entered the talks, Reuther appeared almost grim when the eight-hour meeting broke up.

He declined to answer questions on whether or not the board meeting would set a strike deadline and target.

He said GM had not made a new offer for its 325,000 hourly-rated workers to replace the old three-year contract.

But Seaton said after the night session: "We are in tune to each other — we know each other's feelings and we have discussed the areas of differences between us."

Seaton also declined comment on reaching a settlement before the auto industry enters full-scale 1959 model production.

Mowed Down Trying to Cross Road at Night

Body Dragged for Over 147 Feet When Killer Fails to Stop

A construction crew cook was injured fatally by a hit-and-run driver, when he attempted to cross Dixie Highway in Waterford Township at 10:30 last night.

Witnesses told Waterford Township police that Elmer Robinson Jr., 28, of Benton, Arkansas had left the Jack O' Hearts bar, 2585 Dixie Highway just before he was hit by a northwest bound car.

Robinson was thrown or dragged more than 147 feet and police said that there were no skid marks on the pavement indicating an attempted stop by the killer's car.

Gravel found in Robinson's pockets indicated that he had been dragged along the shoulder of the highway for some distance before being thrown to the south side of the road.

Police said that it was not raining at the time of the accident, but that the pavement was still damp from a recent downpour.

According to police, Charles Jones, 13 Florence St., said he saw Robinson enter the bar, order a bottle of beer, and then leave without drinking it.

Jones said he heard a thump, and saw a black car slow down and then pick up speed and continue. The witness ran across the street, and found Robinson on the shoulder of the road.

Taxicab driver John D. Pierce, of 164 Paddock St., told officers he observed the hit-run car about 200 feet in front of his cab, and noticed the rear stoplights flash on, and the car slow up. Then it picked up speed and continued out the Dixie, he said.

The tail lights looked like a Buick or Chevrolet, according to Pierce.

Police said that Robinson was apparently killed instantly. He was knocked out of his shoes, his neck was broken and both legs were fractured.

Waterford Police Chief Millard Pender said bits of broken glass from a headlight lens and a chrome headlight rim were found at the scene. Identification of the make of car from this evidence is not complete.

State Senators Inspect New Oakland University

LEGISLATORS AT MSUO — Four state senators tour Michigan State University Oakland with Mrs. Alfred G. Wilson whose gift by her and her husband of their estate, Meadow Brook Farm, made the institution possible. From left are Sens. Arthur Dehmel, Frank D. Beadle, L. Harvey Lodge and Carlton H. Morris.

Oakland County Sen. L. Harvey Lodge was the host to three important members of the Michigan Legislature Tuesday when they made a personal inspection of Michigan State University Oakland.

"It is important for the top members of our law making group to become better acquainted with this educational project," said Sen. Lodge. Sen. Frank D. Beadle of St. Clair, is chairman of the Committee on Committees and a Lansing leader. Sen. Carlton H. Morris of Kalamazoo is chairman of the Judiciary and the floor leader, while Sen. Arthur Dehmel of Unionville is chairman of the Committee on Education.

"These are top figures," said the Oakland County senator who has stood squarely behind MSUO since it was first presented to Oakland County by Mr. and Mrs. Alfred G. Wilson.

"There is no place in the United States where there is a greater need for a university than the County of Oakland and its immediate environs, which, of course, includes Macomb," said Lodge.

"As legislators, we are interested in providing the greatest service for the people at the minimum cost. The basic land and preliminary buildings are furnished here by benevolent gift of the Wilsons and close by is other land likewise donated to the state by Sarah Van Hoosen Jones.

The growth of this territory is so tremendous that undoubtedly by 1980 this institution will surpass that of both Michigan State, East Lansing, and University of Michigan at Ann Arbor in attendance.

"There is a great phenomena in connection with this institution which should be of great interest to all of us legislators and that is the fact that the education may be furnished with the student living at home, where the basic cost per pupil of education can be reduced and the necessity for great and expensive dormitories minimized. It has been said that legislation and appropriation should be for the greatest good for the greatest number.

★ ★ ★

"This institution should take much strain eventually from the others and eventually cut, perhaps, the per capita cost. We of Oakland hope that during the ensuing session of the Legislature all of the members of both houses will accept the invitation of Oakland County for a day here to observe this development and other matters that Oakland is attempting to lead the way in metropolitan planning."

City Manager Walter K. Willman, Alfred C. Girard and Harold A. Fitzgerald had lunch with the legislators and visited the property with the group. Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Wilson were hosts at Meadow Brook.

Once Past 45

Life Gets Rosier

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Some young uncaught horse thief in the office recently pasted a motto on my typewriter.

It says: "God has a place for the older person whose heart has remained sweet and strong."

I had to laugh.

★ ★ ★

The young fellow who pasted this message was gently twitting me about my advanced age. The newspaper game has always been regarded as a young man's game—just as war is.

Anyone over 45 in it gradually assumes the status of a dinosaur, and is often asked questions such as, "What was life really like in the old days?"

This is always a bit unnerving to one who—let's face it—can summon up a clearer mental picture of Clara Bow than of Brigitte Bardot.

At 40, I would have bitterly resented being teasingly classified as an "older person." But after 45 one accepts it, not as a taunt, but an accolade.

★ ★ ★

The envy of youth one has at 40 gives way to one of restrained pity. One feels sorry for the very, very young. After all, what have they really done to deserve all the turbulent woes that go with lack of age?

One gets a trifle smug after 45. One has solved so many of life's more pressing problems.

At 25 you wonder what is happening to your hair. After 45, you know what happened to it. It went.

At 25, if you have a beautiful wife, you are always afraid some handsomer fellow will steal her

Hold Suspect in Girl Beating

13-Year-Old Snatched From Backyard, Found Tied in Cornfield

REED CITY (AP) — A man was held for questioning today in the abduction and beating of a 13-year-old farm girl who was snatched from a backyard playhouse at her home yesterday.

The child was reported recovering today at a hospital here. She is Judith Roggow, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Roggow.

State Police refused to identify the man held for questioning. They said he denied any connection with the abduction, but fit the girl's description of her attacker.

Judith told police a tall man wearing a visored cap grabbed her and said, "You're coming with me," while she was playing in the backyard playhouse. She said that was the last she could recall.

The girl's father, member of a group of police and volunteer searchers, found her in a cornfield a quarter-mile from the home where the abductor had left her bound and gagged.

The girl was taken to Reed City Hospital. She said she had been beaten by her abductor. Physicians said she was not otherwise molested.

The suspect is 6 feet, one inch in height and weighs about 170 pounds. He has iron gray hair. Authorities said he has been suspected for several years of being a "Peeping Tom."

He was taken into custody last night at the home of his son, where he has lived since his wife died several years ago. He was taken to the Reed City Hospital where Judith was taken after being found screaming in the cornfield.

Police said Judith could not make a positive identification but they pointed out that he was wearing different clothes. Judith had told police her attacker was wearing a baseball cap and a plaid tan jacket. The suspect, when picked up was wearing a blue work suit.

He was taken to the Osceola County Jail in Reed City for further investigation.

Judith, in addition to suffering from shock, suffered bruises on the legs and face. Doctors said she had not been sexually molested.

Awarded 4 Plaques for Progress in 1957

Pontiac Cited for Traffic Safety

The National Safety Council has given Pontiac a special recognition citation and four plaques in its annual check of the city's traffic safety activities in 1957.

"Pontiac has one of the finest reports in the state," said Sgt. Michael J. Sibal, of the state police safety and traffic division, to a group of city officials at city hall yesterday.

* * *

Sibal presented the plaques in behalf of the Michigan Safety Commission, which administers the National Safety Council's stepped-up safety program. The special recognition citation rates below the Safety Council's Award of Merit and top-ranking Award of Honor.

The annual inventory, based on appraisal of records sent to the safety council by various city safety agencies, is an outgrowth of the President's Highway Safety Conference.

RATED ON PROGRESS

Cities are rated on how well they have progressed toward meeting standards set up by the conference, Sibal explained.

Taken into account were 1957 performances by the Police Department, Municipal Court, city administration, schools and Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce Safety Committee.

* * *

The police department won a plaque for the excellence of its traffic accident records; the court for its handling of traffic cases; the schools for their driver-training and child safety programs; and the safety committee for its public safety campaigns.

Pontiac's performance was measured against 121 other participating cities in its population bracket, Sibal said.

Ford department director, said negotiations there looked much better. He declined yesterday to say whether or not Ford had put any new offers on the table or whether the Union had changed its position.

Some observers feel the UAW will settle first with GM and Ford and then concentrate on Chrysler where negotiations have progressed slowly.

Reuther recently charged Chrysler with failure to bargain in good faith after praising GM and Ford for "their change in attitude toward collective bargaining."

But John D. Leary, chief Chrysler negotiator, said some progress in UAW-Chrysler talks has been made this week.

Broomfield Rips Congress for Killing Labor Reform

Failure to enact labor reform legislation cast the biggest black eye on the last session of Congress, U. S. Rep. William S. Broomfield (R-Oakland County) declared last night in a speech in Birmingham.

Broomfield said he voted for the Ives-Kennedy bill even though he thought the measure was a "child-like approach" and insufficient to correct abuses in labor unions.

"It was like taking half a loaf of bread instead of nothing," said the 36-year-old Congressman from Royal Oak.

The bill sought to throttle racketeering by both unions and employers. It would have required financial reports from both and barred convicted crooks from holding union office, among other things.

He expressed doubt that future sessions of Congress would ever pass a labor reform law until Congress "is rid of union-controlled lawmakers who put their political future above the welfare of the American people."

Broomfield criticized leader of the House of Representatives' Democrats, Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas, for aiding in the defeat of the Ives-Kennedy bill by holding it on his desk for 41 days.

The brightest mark on the record of the 85th Congress, Broomfield said, was passage of the mutual security and reciprocal trade agreements with foreign nations.

Broomfield, who served his freshman term in Washington during the session, is seeking re-election this fall.

Asked last night what repercussions he might have received from labor circles by supporting the Ives - Kennedy bill, Broomfield remarked, "Solidarity House didn't send me a letter of congratulations."

* * *

Walter P. Reuther, UAW president with headquarters in the Solidarity House in Detroit, "controls 15 out of the 17 Democrats on the House Labor Committee, Broomfield charged last night.

Viewing accomplishments of Congress which have an effect on Oakland County, the congressman cited 18 new post offices, urban renewal funds for Pontiac and Royal Oak Township, federal flood study of the county, and federal aid for the Pontiac Municipal Airport and a new Army reserve training center in the city.

Broomfield blamed both Republicans and Democrats in Washington for their "fiscal irresponsibility" in raising the national debt limit twice this year up to $288 billion.

He called for a back-to-the-states decentralization of the federal government in order to cut down the national debt.

Broomfield cited instances of waste in federal expenditures through "pork barrel" projects which would cut spending also. "Shenanigans of the Democrats consisted of trying to push 33 objectionable projects through on an omnibus public works bill," the speaker said.

"These projects would have cost the taxpayers three million dollars," he added.

* * *

"Republicans too went overboard on many projects which would have amounted to more taxes for each taxpayer," Broomfield told a gathering of the Birmingham - Bloomfield Republican Club.

Hagerty said the only part of the story that was "truthful" was that Adams was on a Canadian fishing trip.

Adams hasn't communicated with any member of the White House staff either yesterday or today, Hagerty said.

He said he didn't know when Adams would return to the White House.

"He's up in the Canadian woods," he said. "I can't get in touch with him."

After making his statement that Adams had not submitted a resignation, Hagerty added "that disposes of that as far as I know."

One Republican figure who has had an inside pictuer of the Adams controversy, said:

"I haven't been told anything formal, but my somewhat educated intuition is that this thing—Adams leaving—has been all set. It was just a matter of time. They (the White House) tried to work out the situation after the Goldfine hearings, but just couldn't. Adams can't make any talks, he can't give the Democrats H— without somebody yelling 'corruption' right back at him.

Checking Clues in Murder Case

Stepson, 52, of Victim Held in Brutal Slaying Near Westphalia

WESTPHALIA (AP)—Investigators today checked further on background clues to the slaying of 63-year-old Mrs. Anna Hengesbaugh.

Mrs. Henesbaugh's stepson, Vincent, 52, remained in custody on a charge of investigation of murder while authorities looked into his account of his whereabouts of recent days.

The woman, a widow who lived with her bachelor stepson, was found beaten to death in a field at her farm home Monday. She had been missing for a week.

She apparently was killed by blows on the head with a heavy instrument. Results of an autopsy are expected to show the exact cause of death later this week.

Hengesbaugh has denied any knowledge of how his stepmother came to her death. He said that on the day of her presumed disappearance, Aug. 29-30, he was in Lansing.

State Police said neighbors told them Mrs. Hengesbaugh and her stepson had not communicated with each other except by written notes for the yast six years. The two were said to have argued over property rights.

An unusual brake system features wheel and brake drums combined in a single aluminum alloy casting. Motion of each wheel draws air through 36 passages cast around the brake drum to provide brake cooling. Part of the brake system also is an anti-skid device that prevents wheel lock-up.

Still another braking feature is a drag device at the rear that opens like alligator jaws to help slow the car at high speed.

Most significant single feature is the control system, which GM calls Unicontrol. A wing-shaped handle is mounted atop a four-inch control stick located in the center of the car. This permits operation by either passenger.

Moving the handle forward accelerates the engine speed; moving it backward applies the brakes and left or right movement steers the car. The mechanism is extremely sensitive and requires only a fraction of an inch movement.

Two special features adapt Firebird III to automatic operation. One is called Autoguide that takes over steering control by electronically following a low frequency powered cable in the highway. The other is called Cruisecontrol. It provides completely automatic guidance and speed control of the car.

Be Ready to Enforce Supreme Court Ruling, Little Rock Warned

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Justice Department prepared today to mobilize U. S. marshals to enforce integration at Little Rock's Central High School if the Supreme Court so orders and local peace officers cannot cope with mob violence.

* * *

Attorney General William P. Rogers late yesterday made this clear when he disclosed he had written the city manager of Little Rock, Ark., that "careful plans should be made now by responsible officials to prevent disorder or violence in the event" of a Supreme Court order for integration.

In a companion letter to the Little Rock School Board, Rogers promised the full help of the federal government if the board seeks injunctions against possible troublemakers.

The high court will hear arguments tomorrow on the merits of the Little Rock School Board's appeal for a 2½ year delay in school desegregation at Central High.

The Justice Department was expected to announce today whether it would file a new brief. The government could decide to stand on the brief it filed last month asking the Supreme Court to uphold the Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals ruling that Central High should open on an integrated basis.

The Little Rock School Board filed its brief with the court Monday, and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People was expected to file its brief today.

Segregationist leaders furiously protested the federal offer to help city authorities keep the peace if integration resumes at Central High School and trouble explodes.

YMCA Plans Open House to Greet New Secretary

BIRMINGHAM — Plans are being made by the Birmingham YMCA for an open house celebration early in October.

Arthur Blakeslee, chairman of the "Y" management committee, said the event will serve to introduce Owen Manchester, the new executive secretary, to Birmingham, and afford residents an opportunity to tour the new building.

Manchester, who took over the post yesterday, succeeds Edwin F. Kirbert, who left July 1 to become head of the Presbyterian Village in Redford Township.

Manchester came here from Minneapolis where he had been executive secretary in a branch YMCA.

The Birmingham Democratic Club will meet Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the Community House. Betty Metzler, Oakland County Democratic clubs coordinator, will be the featured speaker.

Plans for the "Dollars for Democrats" drive will be made.

Building permits were issued during August in Birmingham for construction valued at $495,000, according to Building Inspector Andrew F. Butt.

This includes the $290,000 motel which will be built at the corner of Hunter boulevard and Maple avenue.

At 25, your children are a cramping burden, who keep you from doing things you'd like to do. After 45, doing things for your grandchildren becomes one of life's greatest pleasures. For some reason a man's grandchildren always seem smarter and better than his children did.

* * *

At 25, a fellow breaks his back buying life insurance. After 45, you enjoy sitting back and annoying your heirs, who must wait to collect.

At 25, you begin paying the government through the nose. After 45, you begin looking forward to the day when the government will be forced to start dishing some of it back.

At 25, you are confused and don't know where you're going. After 45, you know at least where you've been—and don't have to go again.

Yes, indeed, God does have "a place for the older person whose heart has remained sweet and strong." It can be a right nice place—and any young fellow, if he holds on long enough and plays his cards right, can get there too.

Hits Along Muskegon-Detroit Line

Southern Michigan Struck by Severe Thunderstorm

By The Associated Press

A severe thunderstorm struck southern Michigan from Muskegon to Detroit last night felling power lines, utility poles and trees.

No persons were reported injured, but property damage was reported in many areas.

* * *

Hardest hit by the wind and rain was the village of Hartford in Van Buren County. The community of some 2,400 was virtually isolated.

An estimated 90 per cent of its streets were blocked by felled trees.

Traffic on U.S. 12 was halted for several hours and telephone communications were severed.

Firemen were called in from several nearby communities to help fight fires started by lightning.

The storm, off Lake Michigan, covered about a 50-mile front on the Detroit-Muskegon line.

An afternoon storm interrupted the annual apple smorgasbord attended by Gov. Williams and other dignitaries a mile north of Sparta in Kent County.

* * *

More than 300 autos parked by smorgasboard guests were mired in a field and required the services of seven tractors to free them.

Consumers Power Co. reported several pole transformers struck by lightning in the Grand Rapids area, but reported only scattered service interruptions. About 200 subscribers were without power for 2½ hours because of fallen wires south of Sparta.

On another weather front, tropical storm Fifi inched its way northwestward in the Atlantic today, its top winds reduced to about 55 miles an hour.

Fifi was expected to move to a more northerly course today, turning away from the U.S. mainland.

Cool air from Canada fanned southward across sections of the mid-continent and headed into the Northeast today. Showers preceded the cool air from the central Plains to New York.

The chilly breezes extended from Canada southward through the Great Lakes region and the Plains into northern Nebraska. They were expected to spread south and eastward, reaching into New York state and southward through the Ohio Valley and in the Plains as far as northern Oklahoma.

Temperatures dropped into the 40s in the northern Great Lakes region, and were in the 50s in other parts of the cool belt.

Hollywood's Ideal Couple Admits Rift

More Angles in Debbie, Eddie, Liz Triangle

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The Elizabeth Taylor-Eddie Fisher-Debbie Reynolds triangle today had as many angles — and chases — as a Keystone Kops comedy.

"We've had a misunderstanding," announced Eddie and Debbie the onetime Hollywood ideal couple.

Two weeks ago Eddie went to New York on business about his forthcoming television show. He planned to stay only a week and told Debbie so.

* * *

She was at the airport at 6:30 a.m. one day last week but Eddie never showed. He didn't arrive until yesterday, a week later.

During that extra week in New York, he and Liz, old friends, had night club dates. These were reported in headlines read by Debbie, who said she was shocked.

Liz was in New York en route to a vacation on the French Riviera. But she returned to Los Angeles last night. Asked why she didn't go to Europe, she answered: "I missed my plane."

* * *

As she arrived in Los Angeles, a TWA station wagon met her at the plane's gangway and sped her 30 yards to a waiting limousine driven by Kurt Frings, her agent.

Reporters and photographers followed the couple through rush-hour traffic to Frings' office in Beverly Hills.

Frings drove into his parking lot, made a quick U turn and headed for the Beverly Hills Hotel. There he dropped Liz, who was carrying a tiny Yorkshire terier.

* * *

She strode through the lobby, through a room where a party was being given by Carmen Figueroa, a Mexico City publisher, and out a back door. Where she went then is unknown.

When Fisher's plane landed yesterday morning, he went to Pal Joey Forman's apartment.

Several hours later, Forman, a comedian, drove up to the Fishers' Holmby Hills home in his car. Five minutes later Fisher arrived in a taxicab.

More hours later, Eddie and Debbie climbed over a back fence, got into another waiting cab and sped to her doctor.

"She's nervous about something," Fisher later told a reporter. Eddie, still unshaven since he left New York the night before, told reporters: "I do not love Miss Taylor and she does not love me."

Last night, Fisher and Forman drove away from Eddie's house in Joey's convertible. They said they were going to the NBC studios. Instead they drove to Forman's apartment, stayed five minutes and left for the Beverly Wilshire Hotel.

Forman and Eddie strolled through the lobby. Fisher went out a side door into a waiting car—and sped away once more.

* * *

Meanwhile, a press agent said at the Fisher house that Debbie had fixed lima bean soup, Eddie's favorite dish, for supper.

Did he eat it? Who was in that waiting car by the Beverly Wilshire Hotel? Who knows?

SURPRISED AT ALL THE FUSS — Actress Elizabeth Taylor, wearing a hint of a smile at International Airport in Hollywood, talks with newsmen upon arrival from New York. Liz said she was surprised that her dates in New York with singer Eddie Fisher had created such a fuss.

Iceland to Bring Fishing Dispute Before U.N.

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (AP) — Iceland's foreign minister will fly to New York Saturday to put his country's fishing dispute with Britain before the United Nations, a Foreign Office spokesman said today.

He said that Minister Gudmundur Gudmundsson would fly from nearby Keflavik Airport to be ready for the Sept. 16 opening of the General Assembly.

Most newspapers here say the dispute will wind up in the United Nations, but two others looked to other avenues.

Michigan Cited for 'Amazing' Traffic Record—but Could Improve

LANSING (AP) — Michigan has chalked up an "amazing" traffic safety record in 2½ years, but there's still ample room for improvement.

That's how the National Safety Council summed up the state's campaign to cut down on traffic deaths and injuries.

Michigan's traffic safety campaign boasts five new awards.

Topping the list was a bronze plaque naming Michigan as the nation's safest large state for pedestrians in 1957. Frank J. Howlett, president of the Automobile Club of Michigan, made the award to Gov. Williams in behalf of the American Automobile Assn.

Michigan outscored the 10 other most populous states in taking the annual award. Population, motor vehicle registrations, weather conditions and other factors were taken into account.

Other awards presented Monday at a meeting of the State Safety Commission:

From the National Safety Council —Plaques praising Michigan's traffic safety education programs in public schools and its system of keeping records on traffic accidents.

From the Institute of Traffic Engineers—A plaque commending progress in traffic engineering.

From the International Assn. of Chiefs of Police—A plaque citing advances in police traffic supervision programs.

Norman A. Olman, a district director for the Safety Council, told the State Safety Commission that Michigan "is on her way." He cited as "truly remarkable" a campaign that cut traffic deaths from more than 2,000 in 1955 to 1,537 in 1957.

At the same time, however, the council found the program lacked:

1. A uniform chemical test law covering motorists suspected of driving under the influence of intoxicants.

2. Adequate personnel for its driver improvement and control program.

3. A law requiring periodic motor vehicle inspection.

4. Traffic safety education as a requirement for elementary school teachers.

5. Adequate funds and staff for the Michigan Citizen's Highway Safety Action Committee, an adjunct of the Safety Commission.

6. Sufficient State Police personnel to keep pace with fast-growing number of vehicles.

7. Standard forms for reporting accidents and a law requiring motorists to make a written report on accidents involving property damage over a specified minimum amount.

In other business, Lynn M. Bartlett, state superintendent of public instruction, told the commission an estimated 105,000 teenagers will enroll in driver education programs this year. Last year, enrollment totaled about 98,000 under a recent law setting up a driver education course as a condition of licensing for young drivers.

Public schools can expect to collect only about $16 per pupil in state aid for driver education work, Bartlett said. The program was drawn up to provide $25 per pupil.

Secy. of State James M. Hare, commission chairman, reported Michigan ranks with Pennsylvania as a leader in holding down the highway death toll. Both states, he said, reported 3.8 deaths per 100 million vehicle miles for the first seven months of the year.

Outside Income Earned

OMAHA (AP) — More than 40 per cent of the income of American farm families now comes from "outside" sources, the bulk of it from the earnings of the farm operator himself away from the family farm — more than 4½ billion dollars a year.

Disableds' SS Payments Undergo Four Big Changes

(This is the fourth in a series of nine columns explaining the changes just voted by Congress in the Social Security program.)

By RAY HENRY

Here's news for people who get—or will get—Social Security payments for disability. Four big changes have just been made in this program.

1. The payments go up on Jan. 1 for people now getting them and for those who'll go on the rolls after Jan. 1.

2. A wife and children — for the first time — can get payments if the husband and father is getting disability payments.

3. It'll be easier to qualify for disability payments from now on.

4. A disabled person—for the first time—can receive full Social Security disability payments whether or not he's also drawing state workmen's compensation or other disability pay from the federal government.

Here are the details:

Increased payments — A person now collecting Social Security disability payments will find an increase of about 7 per cent in his February check. The range in payments for people who become eligible for them anytime after Jan. 1 will be $33 to $127. The range has been $30 to $108.50.

Wife and children benefits—Starting this month, the dependents or a disabled worker may receive monthly benefits if he's collecting Social Security disability payments. They must apply for them.

Here are the eligible dependents: A wife 62 or over, a wife — regardless of her age—caring for a child or children and a dependent child.

The wife 62 or over can collect an amount equal to about half the payment given her husband. A wife with children or a dependent child can receive an amount equal to one-half of what the husband or father is getting.

Easier qualifications — From now on, you can get disability payments if you meet these two requirements: (a) you're between 50 and 65 and for six months have had a permanent disability so severe you cannot do any real work and (b) you worked in a job covered by Social Security for five of the last ten years before you were disabled.

★ ★ ★

Previously, you not only had to meet these two requirements, but you also must have worked in a job covered by Social Security for 1½ out of the last three years before the disability.

If you were turned down for disability payments because you didn't meet the old requirements, you now should immediately reapply to the nearest Social Security office.

Full disability payments—In the past, state workman's compensation and other federal government disability payments—except for compensation to a veteran with a service disability — were deducted from Social Security disability payments. A disabled person got the difference if his Social Security payments were higher than the other payments. If not, he got no Social Security.

In the future, a disabled person — eligible for Social Security disability payments and other government disability payments or workman's compensation — can collect all in full.

The other federal government disability payments which were deducted from Social Security disability payments included pension to a war veteran with a disability not connected with his service, disability retirement pay from one of the military services and civil service disability benefits.

No action is necessary by a person affected by this change. The Social Security Administration will increase the disability payments automatically and give a back payment for the last month since that's when this change went into effect.

Ralph W. Beebe

In every editorial office there are men whose character and skill leave a lasting imprint on their newspaper, even though by the nature of their work they may be less widely known to the public they serve than some of their associates.

★ ★ ★

Such a man was RALPH W. BEEBE, whose death occurred Tuesday morning, only a year after he retired from a long career in journalism.

After four years as a reporter Mr. Beebe became telegraph editor of The Press in 1924. For almost 20 years across his desk and for his capable appraisal passed the exciting news of the world.

For 14 more years he was chief editorial writer. When his sight began to fail he forsook the office and carried on from his home. An avid reader, he was remarkably well informed, and from his typewriter came hundreds of thought-provoking and fine editorials.

★ ★ ★

He also possessed a rare knack of instructing others, and today many newspapermen and women in other offices have him to thank for a sound beginning in their chosen work.

Often in recent years when we tackled a tricky problem in editing, someone would remark "RALPH BEEBE would do it this way."

We think his associates can pay him no greater tribute than by remembering: This is the way Ralph would do it.—R.B.T.

Little Rock Publicity Has Effect on Children

Far too much publicity has been given the Little Rock school situation. Instead of clearing the air, it has had the reverse effect and added fuel to the fire.

★ ★ ★

It seems unfortunate that naive school children should be used as pawns in the hands of a few. The question of integration in public schools has been handled as sensational news.

In many cases the school children are being taught a hatred and defiance that they never realized existed. They are unwontedly becoming the victims of some carefully planned political maneuvering from both sides.

Using school children as ammunition is like hitting below the belt.

Desegregation touches on the right to associate or not to associate. And there is widespread understanding throughout the nation that substantial changes in the pattern of association should be subject, so far as possible, to some measure of voluntarism, however reluctant.

★ ★ ★

The leaders in this battle are not infants; they are old hands fighting an issue that should be settled by grownups around a discussion table.

There is a vast difference between working out solutions where association is involved and enforcing the issue by law causing bedlam, turmoil, chaos and completely upsetting the minds of thousands of children.

★ ★ ★

Also, an understanding of the fact that, in the Deep South especially, time in which to readjust long-held attitudes is a crucial factor. And on the other side, arbitrary denial of the law will find no sympathy in the rest of the nation.

Let's Not Give the Russians Any Favors

Many years ago, LENIN wrote:

> First we will take Eastern Europe, then the masses of Asia, then we will encircle the United States, which will be the last bastion of Capitalism. We will not have to attack. It will fall like an overripe fruit into our hands.

★ ★ ★

Here's the plot without adornment. If this isn't sufficient to warn every red blooded American to keep his guard up, we might as well send for a copy of that "surrender plan" which some craven cowards in the Pentagon evolved.

★ ★ ★

We shouldn't grant the Russians an inch.

Let's face the facts.

Let's accept the Reds for what they are.

David Lawrence Says:

Labor Unions Won Maine Election

WASHINGTON — The Democratic Party organization didn't win the elections in Maine. The labor union organizations, with plenty of funds to pay precinct workers, really won the victory.

LAWRENCE

This has been the pattern also in other states where the votes of the city residents outnumber the votes in the rural districts. In fact, the labor union organizations—whose precinct workers are far more numerous than the active personnel of the party organizations—now hold the balance of power in many states throughout the country.

The totals in Maine, when analyzed by districts, show the power of the labor union vote, particularly in the race for governor, which was won by the Democratic nominee, Clinton Clauson, by about 11,000 votes. The cities readily overcame the Republican lead in the country districts.

As for the senatorial contest, the margin of 60,000 received by Edmund S. Muskie, Democrat, against Sen. Frederick G. Payne, Republican, is not a true reflection of the strength of either party.

Muskie has made a popular governor and, while there was no religious issue whatsoever in the campaign, it was evident two and four years ago in his successful races for the governorship that he had substantial support from Catholic groups which felt justly proud to work for his election.

It is significant that Gov. Muskie did not run as well in the rural areas this time as he did before, but he overcame any such defections by reason of the strong labor union activity in the cities.

★ ★ ★

Sen. Payne is supposed to have been weakened by his admission that he accepted gifts from Bernard Goldfine, who operates textile mills in Maine, but Gov. Muskie didn't make this an issue

Rather, the gift issue was undoubtedly used as an excuse by those who didn't care to say openly what their real objection to Sen. Payne was. Unquestionably, Payne lost many conservative votes.

He leaned toward the so-called "Modern Republican" side and thereby forfeited the enthusiasm of many conservative Republicans who either didn't vote at all or voted for Gov. Muskie.

Hoping to attract labor union votes, the Payne campaign strategists soft-pedaled the union racketeering scandals — something that also disappointed the conservatives.

The split in the Republican Party over the senatorship was not apparent in the governorship race, which was decided by a margin of 11,000 votes as compared to 60,000 in the senatorship contest.

The election of Democrats in two of the three congressional districts in Maine was expected. Here the labor unions, by the work done in the precincts and through the money spent in campaign activity generally for the gubernatorial and senatorial nominees on the Democratic side, tended to help immeasurably the Democratic candidates for Congress, as many voters, once persuaded to favor one candidate, are likely to vote a straight ticket for other candidates of the same party.

★ ★ ★

The labor unions endorsed all the Democratic Party nominees.

Maine's elections have in recent years been the object of concentrated effort by the labor unions and by the Democratic Party organization because the final voting has taken place in September.

A victory has been deemed psychologically important in its effect on the rest of the country. This is the last time it will happen, as election day has been changed in Maine to conform in 1960 to the November date of the rest of the country.

Maine is no longer the Republican state it was a quarter of a century ago when Franklin Roosevelt won the electoral vote of the country with the exception of Maine and Vermont.

The same industrialization which has taken place in other areas of the United States has changed the voting pattern in Maine.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Beware That Cheat Food, Sneak-Thief of Happiness!

When children at home or in school are encouraged or permitted to take pop or chocolate malted for refreshment, instead of milk (or skim milk or buttermilk) or fruit juice, it is evident that their parents or teachers are not concerned about nutrition and health.

DR BRADY

The objection to sugar, candy, sweetened beverages, cookies, cake, ice cream and other sweets as a regular part of the child's diet, is not so much that sugar in any form is injurious to health. It is simply that it cheats the child (and so I call the items mentioned "cheat food") because it quickly satisfies appetite and spoils or cloys normal appetite or desire for more essential foods. The child can't get the biologically complete proteins or the vitamins and minerals he needs by sucking on candy or drinking a bottle of pop.

Besides the items mentioned, other cheat foods, particularly sugary "breakfast foods" and things made of refined white flour (starch), satisfy appetite for a little while and yield quick energy to enable the child to exert himself in a spurt of play. But as soon as the calories yielded by starch or sugar are burned, the poor kid is out of gas—he tires and quits.

He prefers to sit and watch others play. On TV, at the movies, at the football game—it's the Yankee way. He becomes soft, namby-pamby, tired, lazy, peevish, lethargic. In teenage or older, should circumstances make him conscious of his inadequacy he can still blunt or suppress for a while that uneasy feeling by indulging in alcohol. This, too, is the American way.

One who has vite—better than average nutritional condition—feels just fine and dandy all the time. And one who feels fine and dandy would hardly need cocaine, heroin or alcohol at any time. It is my belief that one with vite just naturally practices total abstinence, and one with nutritional deficiency (malnutrition) feels "the need for a stimulant" or vaguely "wants to feel better"—the reasons an alcoholic in a sober interval gave for drinking.

In my Little Lesson XVI, "The 7 Keys to Vite," you will find the corrective, protective, regeneration, rejuvenation, reduction, basic health diet—it is a pattern on which to build your own everyday diet to suit your individual requirements.

The diet as given includes four glasses of milk a day, but no bread, cake, pie, pudding or cereal, and of course no dessert. To build your own everyday diet add plain wheat, in one form or another.

To supplement your regular diet with the three most essential vitamins and minerals follow the instructions in my free pamphlet, "Young Folks and Old Folks," for which send stamped, self-addressed envelope.

To build the pattern basic health diet into a good diet for your individual requirements, add the staff of life. That is wheat as it comes from the thresher.

★ ★ ★

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Wants Grownups to Quit Criticizing Teens' Music

I would like to tell Mr. Spaeth, a so-called authority on music, a little about teenagers and their music. He said in a column that rock-'n'-roll is "pure savagery." Then he went on to say that music is for satisfaction and a person should listen to music for his own satisfaction.

★ ★ ★

All right, if music is for our own satisfaction, why don't adults listen to the kind of music they like and leave teenagers and rock-'n'-roll alone?

★ ★ ★

We're not hurting anyone. Most of us are good kids. Sure, there are some hoodlums, but if teenagers are the only bad people on earth, why are there prisons for adults? It is the adults who need to "grow up" and realize teenagers are civilized people, not savages, who need understanding instead of criticism.

'Pedestrian Signs Are Too Short'

Our "go" signs for pedestrians are too brief. They say "walk" and before you can get half way across the street, they change to "don't walk." The green automobile light stays green for many more seconds.

As a result, everyone learns this and so they ignore the pedestrian "stop." If the lights played fair with the pedestrians, I think traffic would be better regulated.

'What Will They Expect in War?'

Do all those superior whites in Arkansas expect the colored boys to go to war and fight for the whites? I mean the colored boys that aren't good enough to sit with the whites in school? They were good enough to die for the Arkansas whites in World War I and World War II. Is there no limit to "white supremacy" and personal aggrandizement in the South?

'Other Members Should Heed Him'

Mr. Harrington, Commissioner of Internal Service, recently resigned to enter private business. His parting comment was to the effect that our present income tax laws are a deterrent to personal initiative. His predecessor had a similar comment when he resigned.

★ ★ ★

It's only another reminder that our citizens are admirably patient while proper means are found to raise the revenue needed to operate our government. Perhaps our lawmakers should be commended for the job they've done. At the same time, reminded of the weaknesses still present in our tax structure.

Another statement by Mr. Harrington was that one of the greatest problems is to maintain proper public relations.

★ ★ ★

The service is staffed by able, competent agents. However, the public is still harassed by some members of the department who are more interested in obtaining a changed return with tax recovery than to give the taxpayer full benefit of his rights under the law. This attitude appears most often in examination on page 2 deductions and personal exemptions.

★ ★ ★

Supervisors and agents of the Internal Revenue Service would do well to share Mr. Harrington's concern to maintain good public relations, that is to be as fair with the taxpayer as they expect him to be to the government.

'If They're Bosses, Give Them Badges'

I thought the Chief of Police had been working for the City Manager and the City Commissioners. If he's going to be shoved around by the officers association, let's give each of them a big gold badge marked "Head Chief" and I suppose they'd like it better if it blew a horn and rang a bell every six or eight steps.

In the old days, the Indians never ruled Chief Pontiac. Are the men that walk the beats going to rule Pontiac's chief today? If action is to be taken, it should be taken by the City Manager or the City Commissioners and this group with the crying towels should go fly a kite.

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

Which in time past were not a people, but are now the people of God: Which had not obtained mercy, but now have obtained mercy.—I Peter 2:10.

That mercy I to others show,
That mercy show to me.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Don't Fret Over Child in Athletics

Harry's mother faces a very common dilemma. But she must learn to play the batting averages. If you think football is dangerous, please notice the statement by Coach Waldorf below. We parents nowadays must curb undue sentimentality and think of the child's ultimate happiness instead of our own.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE Z-315: Harry L., aged 16, is a high school junior.

"Dr. Crane, Harry wants to go out for football practice," his doting mother began.

DR. CRANE

"But football is such a dangerous sport, so I am afraid he might get hurt seriously.

"Besides, wouldn't it be better for him to make 'A' grades and be a scholar, than to put in so much time on athletics and possibly pull his grades down to a 'B' average?"

Football is not a dangerous sport when played under the supervision of school coaches and with proper equipment.

As Coach Lynn Waldorf so tersely stated a few years ago, if the same number of teenagers were NOT practicing for football, more of them would be injured or killed, as in auto accidents, than are hurt on the gridiron!

Nowadays, thanks to dental aids like the "Featherbite," hardly a single player even chips a tooth during the entire football season.

And the few injuries that occur are usually sprained ankles or maybe a broken leg—not fatal injuries.

So you doting mothers must learn to be philosophical and think of the best interests of your sons.

Football teaches team play. It also gives the boys excellent physical drill, which in itself is admirable health insurance for longer life.

And it meanwhile broadens the boy's perspective so he is not a narrow, horn-rimmed glasses introvert all his life with little contact with realty.

★ ★ ★

We'd have far better teachers and preachers if they had all played football or engaged in other competitive athletics during high school and college!

HEALTH INSURANCE

Our Medical and Dental Colleges are beginning to realize, too, that a "B" student who has a well-rounded personality from athletics and social leadership on the campus, is usually superior to an "A" student who has a shut-in personality.

Besides, I am not joking regarding the health insurance that athletics offers.

Heart trouble is now the Number One cause of death in America, producing three times as many fatalities as all forms of cancer combined!

★ ★ ★

An athlete tends to have a larger heart, which means his two coronary arteries are likewise bigger.

Thus, as the coronary arteries grow thicker from hardening, due to old age, they don't get plugged as readily.

For when a tiny blood clot flows along a coronary artery, it is not as likely to plug up the artery if the latter is larger.

So please remember that exercise, especially running and distance swimming, produce larger hearts.

These don't beat as fast as the heart of the non-athlete. A 2-miler may thus have a normal pulse rate of only 66, instead of 72.

★ ★ ★

His larger heart thus gets six additional rest periods or "heart naps" every minute!

Since he doesn't race his human "motor" as fast as does the non-athlete, it doesn't wear out as rapidly.

So encourage your children to build up more rugged hearts during youth, especially if they maintain a "B" average meanwhile in their studies.

Athletic coaches also veto liquor and tobacco, so your sons benefit from that positive instruction, too.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Fall Schedule at Waterford

Offers 16 Recreation Programs

Forecasting a heavy schedule for public recreation in Waterford Township this fall and winter, 16 different programs have been planned, according to Recreation Director Tom Belton.

Activities beginning in September and October are ballet studio, Saturday morning fun, junior football, dog obedience training, cake decorating classes, popular dance instruction, men's gym club, square dance instruction, camera club, fashion your figure and ladies exercise and gym classes.

★ ★ ★

Ballet studio, including the newly-emphasized rhythm classes for pre-school children, is scheduled to begin in the early afternoon, Wednesday and Thursday, beginning Sept. 24, according to director Mrs. Carol Wolfe.

Besides the pre-school group, the program is designed for boys and girls six through 16, and these classes will be conducted afternoons during the week, and from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturdays.

More than 500 pupils registered last year for weekly ballet instruction, and some 2,000 people attended the annual recital in June, climaxing the nine-month course.

Another project — the third annual dog obedience training class, will begin at 8 p.m. Sept. 24. This will be a time for getting acquainted, registration and demonstrations by previously trained dogs. Actual training begins Oct. 1.

All residents in the Waterford Township area have been invited to attend the first night free of charge, and further information is available at the C.A.I.

Announcement of these activities follows completion of a most successful summer, Belton said.

"More than 4,000 different people directly participated in one or more of the seven summer activities. Both quality and quantity of each program was strengthened this year and it is hoped that each future year will show the same growth," Belton added.

A recreation booklet, listing additional information relative to fall and winter activities will be distributed through the schools in mid-September.

The Waterford Township recreation department is yearly expanding programs for children as well as for adults.

"In order to promote new hobbies and appreciation for the many values recreation has to offer, the activities are planned to provide group participation in many popular leisure time activities, at little or no cost," Belton said.

Youth, 15, Sorry After Stabbing Horses in Eyes

LONDON (AP)—A 15-year-old boy, who said he loved animals, admitted yesterday he stabbed 11 horses in the eye.

It was always the left eye, a court was told at Dorking.

"I don't know why I did it," he told the magistrates. "I was very sorry afterward."

Neither his father nor the police could suggest a motive for the attacks.

"I understand from a psychologist that the left eye indicated evil. There may be something there that a psychologist ought to be able to cure,' said an attorney for the boy.

"It is not a sadistic trait because it is only done to horses. His boss—he's a farm trainee—says he has never been cruel to farm animals. But there are no horses on the farm."

The boy's name was not given because of Britain's regulations. He was sent to a detention center for a mental examination.

To Integrate Housing Called Harder Battle

OMAHA (AP) — The American Negro's longest, toughest battle will be for nonsegregated housing, not integrated schools, three Negro leaders predicted today.

The three, officers of the National Urban League, are Julius A. Thomas, director of industrial relations, Reginald A. Johnson, director of housing activities, and Maurice Moss, associate director of the NUL, all of New York City.

The Urban League is an interracial body which seeks to better the lot of the city Negro. Its six-day convention here ends tomorrow.

"From segregated housing in the North as well as the South comes the whole pattern of segregation," said Moss in an interview in which all three took part. A Negro usually will buy his food, go to church, send his children to school in the area where he lives, they explained. If the area is one of segregated housing, then segregated stores, churches and schools follow simply because of their location.

★ ★ ★

"The school problem will be worked out in a generation," Thomas predicted, "but housing is another matter."

Promises Faster, Deeper Dives

Oxygen-Helium Mixture Boon to Navy Frogmen

By FRANK CAREY
Associated Press Science Writer

GROTON, Conn. (AP)—New research findings promise to allow Navy frogmen to swim deeper and longer without danger of the bends, a Navy doctor reported today.

Capt. J. Duffner, senior medical officer of the Navy's experimental diving unit in Washington, D. C., said the prospect results from experiments in which swimming divers breathe a mixture of helium and oxygen instead of the usual compressed air, which contains nitrogen and oxygen.

★ ★ ★

He told the first International Symposium on Submarine and Space Medicine that it is now proposed to furnish all frogmen with such a mixture. It would be carried, as compressed air now is, in a so-called "scuba" apparatus.

Scuba means "self contained underwater breathing apparatus."

The symposium is being sponsored by the American Institute of Biological Sciences with the support of the Defense Department.

The condition known as the bends is technically called decompression sickness.

★ ★ ★

When a diver is deep in the water, the increased pressure from the water causes any inert gas in his breathing mixture—such as nitrogen or helium—to be compressed into his tissues. When he ascends the gas in his tissues is under lower and lowr pressure. If he comes up too fast, the compressed gas will be released in the form of bubbles. They can get into his tissues, his joints and even his brains and lungs.

Duffner, in his report, said the new research has disclosed that much faster rates of ascent can be tolerated when helium-oxygen is breathed underwater than previously believed possible.

★ ★ ★

The research was undertaken, he said, after a finding by Lt. Cmdr. Edward Lamphier, of his unit, that the body retained carbon dioxide when nitrogen-oxygen mixtures were breathed underwater.

This can cause convulsions, if in sufficient quantity. While the condition is different from the bends, Duffner indicated that it was considered a possible drawback in the case of nitrogen-oxygen for swimmers.

★ ★ ★

Helium-oxygen was found not to cause carbon dioxide retention.

The captain stressed in his report that the helium-oxygen apparatus was something to be used only by professional divers. The compressed air apparatus (aqua lung) is still recomended for amateurs, he said.

Michigan May Lose $1 Million by Delay

LANSING (AP) — State Treasurer Sanford A. Brown said today that delay by a legislative committee may have added one million dollars to the cost of a proposed new state office building in Lansing.

Brown said although plans for the building are ready and full authority to begin construction has been granted by the legislature, the committee delayed action despite a warning that bond market was going up.

★ ★ ★

Brown said the State Administrative Board was willing ot approve bonds at a 3:5 per cent interest rate last Aug. 20. The board planned to use state employes retirement fund money for backing.

He said bonds for construction of a similar office building in Indiana sold on the open market at an interest rate of 4.22 per cent.

Fund trustees, Brown said, cannot loan money belonging to the fund for less than the going rate.

★ ★ ★

"While the legislative State Office Building Committee has been delaying, the cost has gone up," Brown said.

The proposed new 14-story, 10-million-dollar building is planned to house scattered state offices and a branch of the state library.

Reds Purposely Shell Civilians

China Nationalists Say Quemoy Population Hit by Communist Artillery

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—The Nationalists accused the Chinese Reds today of deliberately shelling the civilian population of Quemoy.

The offshore island was still cut off from supplies by bad weather after a night of Red artillery bombardment.

★ ★ ★

Dispatches from Quemoy quoted Lt. Gen. Ko Yuan-fen, the island's magistrate, as saying the Reds fired 900 shells at the small town of Chinsha during the record 53,000-shell bombardment Monday.

Seven civilians were killed and 25 wounded, 10 seriously, he said. Among the buildings destroyed, he said, were a Protestant church, a hospital and the post and tele-communication office.

Gen. Ko denounced the shelling as "a shameful act of wanton cruelty." He said he hoped the free nations of the world would protest.

★ ★ ★

It was the second straight day that inclement weather in the Formosa Strait halted movement of ammunition and other supplies under U.S. naval escort to the beleaguered outpost.

The Defense Ministry refused to confirm or deny reports that supplies were being parachuted to the islands at night.

The U.S. 7th Fleet, which has been escorting nationalist ships to the three-mile limit off Quemoy, was bolstered by the arrival of a third cruiser, the Los Angeles, to join the Columbus and Vice Adm. Wall M. Beakley's flagship, the Helena.

★ ★ ★

In Taipei, sharp resentment was stirred by the proposal of Sen. John Sherman Cooper (R-Ky) that the United States persuade the Nationalists to withdraw from the Quemoy and Matsu islands during the projected U.S. diplomatic talks with Red China.

★ ★ ★

An official of Cabinet rank who would not be quoted by name said, "We'll never abandon Quemoy and Matsu. No matter what happens, we'll hold on and fight for them. We've made our position clear time and again and it's unchangeable."

Hazel Park Suit on Hours Settled Outside of Court

A short-lived dispute between the legislative and judicial branches of Hazel Park city government which resulted in a law suit being filed in Oakland County Circuit Court has been settled out of court.

★ ★ ★

The dispute began when, upon approval of the City Council, City Manager Calvin C. Henry issued a directive Aug. 28 to change the office hours of Municipal Court, the Water Department, and other city offices, in order to save money.

★ ★ ★

Municipal Judge Robert C. Baldwin filed a suit claiming the order was an infringement on constitutional rights of judicial powers, and that the new hours (Monday 9:30 a.m. to 6 p.m., Tuesday through Fridays 8:30 to 5) "impeded efficient procedures" of the court.

★ ★ ★

Upon the advice of City Attorney Jack Moskowitz, councilmen decided to avoid "the legal niceties of trying the case in court."

Takes Coins to Court to Pay Alimony

WASHINGTON (AP) — Willie Chambers facing a contempt citation for failure to provide court-ordered support payments for his wife and infant daughter, turned up in Domestic Relations Court with a canvas money sack containing $60 in pennies, nickels and dimes.

Court-ordered support payments are paid by check from the court, Bishoff said.

Spends This Holiday Trapped Inside Bank

SAN LEANDRO, Calif. (AP)—Robert Stockton forgot yesterday was California's Admission Day—a legal bank holiday—and thought nothing of it when he pushed at the front door of the Bank of California and it opened.

As he walked to the teller's cage the tomb-like silence jogged his memory. He started back out—too late.

The heavy door clanged shut and an automatic spring bolt shot home.

He called police, who let him out and said the door probably hadn't been closed properly Monday night.

DISTILLED FROM AMERICAN GRAIN 90 PROOF • THE FLEISCHMANN DISTILLING CORPORATION, NEW YORK CITY

Bob Considine Says:

Contempt for Red Bandits Never Plainer

NEW YORK — Our utter contempt for the Communist bandits in charge of China's 600,000,000 was never made plainer than Sunday.

The President was golfing in Newport and John Foster Dulles jocularly handed out tennis trophies at Forest Hills as ships of the 7th Fleet convoyed supplies to blockaded Quemoy and Matsu, then stood still in the water and dared the Communist shore batteries to open fire.

What might have been World War III poised, therefore, on the tension of a lanyard. If a trigger-happy Red had pulled the cord and scored a hit on, let's say, the flagship Helena, the chances are that our side would have retaliated in the degree Secretary Dulles has called massive.

Which is why there wasn't a peep out of the Reds. When they did finally shoot they made certain they hit a small Nationalist Chinese supply ship.

★ ★ ★

Something that is abundantly clear to our military people must be equally comprehended by Mao Tse-tung, and that is this: The United States could defeat Red China any morning between breakfast and lunch, and probably without the use of any footsoldiers except paratroops. This is so plain that we can sail under the very muzzles of China's guns—disdaining also a Peiping pronouncement extending China's territorial waters another nine miles to sea—and expect no fire.

★ ★ ★

Could you imagine what would happen if the Eisenhower Administration left the continental U.S., set up shop on Catalina Island, and Red Chinese carriers, cruisers and destroyers appeared just off the California coast to support him?

Speaking of California, which we weren't, it has its own school headache but of a different nature. Proposition 16 on the November election ballot would—if adopted—impose property taxes on private, non-profit schools of less than collegiate grade. Leaders of all denominations have urged that Californians vote a ringing "no" to the proposition.

Sen. Wayne Morse summed up the basic unfairness of the proposition—the only one of its kind proposed in any of the states—when he said, "Let us assume that we could press a button and close all the private schools of America. All those boys and girls would have to appear at public school doors tomorrow morning. Then the taxpayers of the country, I believe, would have a better understanding of the public service which is rendered by private schools."

Kid of ours named Barry has been in Fitkin Hospital, Neptune, N.J., for the past few days, undergoing various settings and finally an operation on a busted shoulder. He attends Cardinal Farley Military Academy at Rhinecliff, N.Y., and his thought must have been directed there as he struggled toward consciousness after the operation. His right arm was taped rigidly to his body.

Through the mists of sodium pentathol and ether he said, "I can hear the sergeant now: 'Cheap way, Buster, to keep from saluting.'"

My Brooklyn agent, Johnny Toker, writes, "Have you heard what lots of women would like to do with last year's dress?"

No.

"Most of them would like to get into them."

I had an uneasy feeling during the early chapters of Jim Bishop's science-fiction thriller "The Day I Flew to the Moon," predated June, 1965, that Elsa Maxwell would be there to meet him when the good ship Terella sat down.

Expecting to Put Man in Orbit Before 2 Years

Barrage of Satellites Planned in Detail

WASHINGTON (AP)—The newly established National Aeronautics and Space Administration has detailed plans to probe the skies with a whole series of earth satellites.

These are for the year ahead. For the more distant future NASA is already at work on projects to explore the moon and then move on to the planets.

★ ★ ★

NASA's program plans were disclosed for the first time at a packed-to-capacity dinner meeting of the Institute of the Aeronautical Sciences last night.

They were outlined by Edgar M. Cortright of the Lewis Flight Propulsion Laboratory at Cleveland, a major unit of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics. NACA is in the process of space - age transformation into NASA.

★ ★ ★

Cortright said he believed that through the NASA programs man would:

1. Be placed in orbit around the earth within two years.

2. Land on the moon and return to earth, within 6 to 10 years.

3. Undertake exploration of Mars, but certainly not for at least 10 to 15 years.

Cortright described 16 space experiments which NASA has ready or can get under way within its first year of operation. Some can be combined, so that the actual number of launchings required has not been determined.

★ ★ ★

Seven experiments involve satellites weighing between 100 and 120 pounds, launched into orbits some 300 miles above the earth.

One satellite, used in geodetic measurements, would be equipped with a flashing light so that it could be sighted simultaneously from various tracking stations.

Two satellites would be specially designed to study the earth's cloud cover. Others would investigate aurora, air glow and primary particles which color the early morning skies.

★ ★ ★

A 100-pound satellite inflating to a diameter of 100 feet, for studies of communications, radar and air density, would be launched before next July. Some of the satellites in this series would carry living organisms — yeast, initially — into space.

Nine of the proposed experiments would involve satellites weighing more than 200 pounds, orbiting at more than 300 miles and serving as stabilized platforms.

★ ★ ★

Some of the larger satellites might be sent aloft before all of the 100-pounders were launched.

One of the big satellites would carry into its orbit an atomic clock, a complex device making use of resonance within the atom. It would be compared with an atomic clock on the ground as a check of Einstein's theory of time in space.

Others in the large category would carry optical or radio telescopes to study the stars. Other experiments in this group will investigate the amount of hydrogen in space, celestial far ultraviolet light, electromagnetic radiation from the stars, cosmic ray sources the direction and intensity of cosmic dust, and propagation of radiation through the ionosphere.

Cortright said the experiments would follow up the studies currently under way as part of the International Geophysical Year.

Stops Constipation Due to "Aging Colon"

New laxative discovery re-creates 3 essentials for normal regularity.

As you grow older, the internal muscles of your colon wall also age, lose the strength that propels waste from the body. Stagnant bowel contents become so dry and shrunken that they fail to stimulate the urge to purge.

Relief, doctors say, lies in a new laxative principle. Old-style bulks and moisteners may create gas, take 3 or 4 days for relief. Old-style salts and drugs cramp and gripe the entire system. Of all laxatives, only new COLONAID gives you its special 3-way relief that works only on the lower colon (area of constipation).

(1) COLONAID moisturizes dry, hardened waste for easy passage without pain or strain. (2) COLONAID's unequalled rebulking action helps retone flabby colon muscles. (3) And COLONAID acts gently, on the nerve reflexes that stimulate the vital "mass movement" of your lower colon.

COLONAID relieves even chronic constipation overnight; is so gentle it was hospital proved safe even for expectant mothers. And COLONAID won't interfere with absorption of vitamins or other food nutrients. Get COLONAID today! Introductory size 43¢.

Club Tea Fetes Pledges

Attendant Depends on Tips

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: Last evening a group of us went to a well-known night club in the suburbs. When we drove up to the entrance we got out of the car and an attendant parked it. When we left he brought it around to the entrance for us. There was a two-dollar charge for parking which was paid in advance.

"I would like to know, since there was a charge for parking, whether or not it was necessary to tip the attendant too. I think since we paid for this service no tip was necessary, but others thought that he should be given a tip. What is your opinion"

Answer: The two dollars surely went to the management, and as the attendant's salary is most probably fixed with the expectation that it will be added to by tips, I think you should have given him a tip.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Is it true that the only rings that may ever be worn on the third finger of the left hand are the wedding and engagement rings? I am not married and inasmuch as I do not like wearing a ring on the third finger of my right hand, I wear a birthstone ring on the third finger of my left hand. Am I breaking a rule of etiquette by doing so?"

Answer: You may wear any ring you like on the third finger of your left hand, but you may be giving to those who do not know the truth the impression that you are engaged.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Was it bad manners to give half an untouched serving on my plate to my fiance? We were eating in a restaurant and I had food left and he was still hungry. So he passed his plate across to me and I put the untouched food on his plate."

Answer: As you and your fiance were alone at the table, no one could criticize you for the action you describe.

Dear Abby . . .

Even a Child Must Face Facts

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: How can I explain to my 11-year-old daughter who is old enough to read your column that an unmarried girl is going to have a baby by a married man? She sometimes gets the paper before I can hide it from her and starts asking me these questions, and I don't know how to answer her."

ABBY

PUZZLED MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: You can't hide the facts of life from your daughter, so there is no sense in hiding the paper. The sooner a girl learns that is IS possible to have a baby under these circumstances, the better it is for the girl.

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: I took up sewing as a hobby and became very good at it. I make all my own clothes, coats and even my husband's shirts, and they look better than store-bought. My problem is as soon as my friends find out I can sew they bring me all their alteration work.

"I put up twelve hems yesterday and a friend of mine had the nerve to bring me her husband's trousers to shorten. I have no children, but I do have housework which never gets done because of the sewing my friends bring me. My husband threatens to break my sewing machine up if I don't quit it. But how can I refuse and keep their friendship?"

UNPAID SEAMSTRESS

DEAR UNPAID: Clear out your workroom and tell your friends (these are friends?) you are all sewed up! If you lose their friendship because you don't take in their sewing—don't let them give you the needle.

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: I am in love with a man but my mother thinks I can do better because I am considered very pretty. He is a nice person, is well-liked and a steady worker. My mother says he looks like an eagle because he has a large nose and is losing his hair. She says he should either get a hair piece or get his nose fixed because in a few years when all his hair is gone he will really look terrible. I can't mention this to him, can I? He is 24 and I am 21 and he wants me to marry him. Please tell me what to do"

IN LOVE

DEAR IN: If you love this man and are satisfied with his looks, go ahead and marry him. Hair pieces and nose-jobs are for those who want them.

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: What do you think of boys who drive over to your house and sit out in front of the house in the car and honk? How can I get them to stop this?"

HONKED AT

DEAR HONKED: Honking is for the birds . . . (geese, that is!) . . . Tell them to come to the door and ring the bell like gentlemen—or fly in the other direction.

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: I have a friend who is in her foolish fifties. She weighs 170 pounds, wears her hair in shoulder-length curls, slim jeans, and open-toed sandals. She is a grandmother and ought to know better. When we go marketing together she flirts with all the young boys in the supermarket and they laugh AT her but she thinks they are laughing WITH her. How can I make her grow up and act her age?"

EMBARRASSED

DEAR EMBARRASSED: If this woman is a friend of yours, do her a favor and have a heart-to-heart talk with her about her behavior and get-ups.

Personalize Gift With Name

Personalize a gift by outlining the receiver's name on ribbon while gift wrapping. This is easily done and without too much muss.

For handling purposes, securely pin ribbon at both ends. Then write the name in glue and sprinkle with sequins. Leave until glue dries.

Before deciding on a house, test the traffic between it and your office — or your husband's office.

Pick Spectacle Frames That Flatter Your Face

Do your eyeglasses compliment your type? Or do you avoid wearing glasses because you think they are unflattering?

If it is any consolation to you who should wear glasses, and do not, 45 per cent of American women now wear them.

The reason you are not aware of it perhaps is because these glasses have become a fashion item.

Shapes in eyeglass frames are every bit as important as lipstick and eyebrow pencil in enhancing your face. A too-round face may be made to look more slender by using frames that are wide at the top and taper at the edges.

★ ★ ★

A slight upsweep at the lower part of the frame will also "narrow" the face, creating an illusion of lightness and high cheekbones, says Stuart May, a designer of eyeglass frames.

Round-faced types should avoid glasses with round frames that will make the face look chubbier.

If your face is square you'll need wide frames with enough of an arch to emphasize length from the bridge of the glasses to the point of the chin.

★ ★ ★

Square-faced types should avoid square shaped frames and any suggestion of a straight line in the lower part of the frame.

NARROWNESS NEEDED

A wide forehead with a pointed chin requires narrowness across the top of the frame and fullness across the lower part, May says. He also advises this type to avoid extreme width or harlequin effects in glasses.

★ ★ ★

The oval face (nearest to the perfect face) may wear harlequin or pear-shaped frames. Large or heavy frames should be avoided by this delicate face type.

May suggests that you choose frames the way you would choose a hairstyle — start without any makeup and choose the frames that do the most for your face and natural coloring.

Then pencil your brow, apply your lipstick, and try on your frames. The result should be a pretty picture, but if it isn't, try on another set of frames.

★ ★ ★

Colors in eyeframes should be chosen with an eye to practicality and economy. Black is one of the most popular colors in eyeglass frames in all age groups because it is flattering to the average person and blends in with most costumes.

Bold black frames are for the girl who is the gregarious sort, who leads the cheers or serves on the Student Council.

Floor Only Place to Reduce Hips

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Not so long ago a reader wrote to me saying, "Thank goodness one columnist has gotten beauty out of the cold cream jar. Congratulations!"

I liked this very much because while I believe in the use of cold cream, I also believe that there is much more to beauty than skin lubrication.

Now if I could just get exercise off the floor I would really be popular. However, many of the most effective and most healthful exercises are the so-called mat exercises, or those which are taken lying down.

Done in a choppy way, this exercise will help reduce the lower hipline.

The following one is for reducing the lower hipline. Many people know this execise but few do it correctly. Sit on the floor with your legs straight. Place one hand on the floor on each side of the body. Rock from side to side catching yourself with your hand and pushing off with the hand at the end of each roll. You MUST do this exercise in a choppy way.

If you just "ease" yourself along you will not benefit by the exercise. In order to make it choppy reach (from the hip) with each leg as you roll toward that side.

Here is one for the upper hipline. Lie on the floor on your back with your arms resting on the floor, extending straight out from the armpits, palms toward the floor. Bend both knees up close to the abdomen, keep them in this position as you roll from side to side, all the way.

The following exercise is beautifying to the thighs and legs in general: Sit on the floor. Lean back on your elbows. Bend the left knee up close to the abdomen. As you straighten the left leg bend the right knee. As you straighten the right knee bend the left. Continue, one bending as the other straightens.

Tall Teenagers Advised to Stick to Good Posture

The tall teenager who slumps in order to conceal her height is fooling only herself. Eventually, she'll wind up looking like a turtle and both her health and good looks will suffer.

★ ★ ★

In this age of orange juice and sunshine and vitamins, she has plenty of tall company among both boys and girls.

STAND STRAIGHT

She needn't be apologetic about her height. She can and should stand straight. She can wear 1-inch heels, if she likes, and clothes that detract rather than add to her height.

★ ★ ★

In doing this, she's dealing with a beauty problem in the very same sense that the short girl does when she tries to appear taller. Neither problem is serious.

After all, boys come taller these days, too, and they've no objections to girls who are nearly their height.

COLOR AMBUSH

If you've fallen into a color ambush, you've probably settled for wearing black, gray and navy year after year.

★ ★ ★

Now a sprinkling of these (any or all) is fine in any wardrobe but they should be carefully mixed with color. And not just color in accessories, either.

Your wardrobe should contain at least one suit and a dress in clear, vivid colors. And for evening, color by all means!

It can be glowing or deep or brilliant but it should be a complete change from daytime both for you and for others.

If you get into the habit of thinking of red as a neutral color, for instance, you'll find that you can wear it in much the same way that you'd wear black.

And it doesn't matter if it's a red suit, daytime dress or evening dress. The only thing to be sure about is that it's the right shade of red for your hair and skin.

TIME TO CHANGE

Have you been using the same lipstick shade for years? Then it's probably time for a change. Your skin tones do not remain the same over the years.

MR. and MRS. CHARLES HAGYARD

Hagyard-Turnbull Vows Said in Presbyterian Rite

Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church was the setting for the Saturday wedding of Mrs. Bettye Turnbull and Charles Glen Hagyard.

The bride's parents are Mrs. Thomas McNally of Drayton Plains and Ernest Riemenschneider of Dwight avenue, and the bridegrooms's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hagyard of Hospital road.

A gown of Chantilly lace over pink taffeta was worn by the bride. Her fingertip veil was held by a sweetheart cap of pearls and lace. She carried pink roses and stephanotis centered with a white orchid on a white Bible. Her only jewelry was a string of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Carl Matheny, the birde's sister. Other attendants were Mrs. Kenneth R. Hoard of Drayton Plains and Mrs. James Cartier.

They wore pink taffeta dresses featuring Sabrina necklines. Their pillbox hats, waist-length gloves and shoes were in matching pink. Pink carnations and roses formed their bouquets.

Ronald Fiscus was best man, and seating the guests were Daniel Steinsfil and James Lafnear.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. McNally chose a green Alencon lace dress with green accessories and a corsage of bronze orchids.

Mrs. Hagyard's choice was a blue crepe dress with lace inserts and blue accessories. She added a white orchid to her costume.

★ ★ ★

Following a reception at Oakland County Sportsmen's Club, the new Mrs. Hagyard changed to a turquois suit with black suede accessories for a honeymoon through the eastern states. Upon returning they will reside in Drayton Plains.

Going Steady Isn't Teenager's 'Right'

By RUTH MILLETT

She writes that she is 15 and thinks her mother is living in the past because her mother won't let her go steady. As long as she likes a certain boy she can't figure out why she should date anybody else.

And she ends her letter with this question, "Don't I have a right to go steady if I want to?"

I'm afraid going steady isn't any teenager's guaranteed right. As long as a boy or girl is under age, is being supported by his parents, and as long as the parents are responsible for his welfare, the parents have a right to say flatly, "You can do this" and "You can't do that."

If your parents have told you that you can't go steady, you can be sure they aren't just being mean or narrow-minded. They have, no doubt, given the matter a great deal of thought. And, if they are like most conscientious parents, their thinking goes beyond "What will make our daughter happy today?" to "What will be best for her in the long run?"

That is how they have arrived at their conclusion that a girl of 15 is too young to tie herself down to one boy.

They know the dangers of steady dating before a boy and girl are old enough to start thinking of d enough to start thinking of marriage. They've seen too many steady daters become so emotionally dependent on each other that they quit school to marry.

They have seen how often a girl who goes steady drifts away from her friends, narrows her social life and shuts herself off from her chance to sharpen her judgment of boys by dating a number of them.

So don't fight your parents on this score. In just a few years they'll approve of your choosing one boy and making him the most important thing in your life. But that's for 18 or 20—not for 15.

★ ★ ★

And don't for a minute believe that your parents don't love you because they won't let you do everything you want to do. They are showing their love in trying to guide and protect you at the risk of having you think they just don't understand.

This cotton plaid fitted sheath from the Mr. Mort fall collection is guaranteed to take the wearer gracefully into the cooler weather. Accented with shiny brass buttons, the short sleeved dress features two low hip pockets, giving it the new lithe line so desirable this season.

Married Saturday were Mary Pszeniczny and Bruce C. Proper. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pszeniczny of Shickskinny, Pa., and Mr. and Mrs. Cecil H. Proper.

MR. and MRS. BRUCE C. PROPER

Proper-Pszeniczny Vows Said in St. Vincent Rite

Mary Pszeniczny and Bruce C. Proper were married in a ceremony performed in St. Vincent de Paul Church Saturday morning.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pszeniczny of Shickskinny, Pa., and his parents are Mr. and Mrs. Cecil H. Proper of Crescent Lake road.

A floor-length gown with fitted bodice accented with lace and sequins was worn by the bride. Cascading ruffles of lace and tulle formed the skirt, and she wore a tiara of seed pearls which held a fingertip veil. Her bouquet was of white roses and ivy with a detachable corsage of pink roses.

Dorothy Pszeniczny of Shickskinny, Pa., was maid of honor and Bonnie Proper was bridesmaid. Their harem-skirted taffeta dresses were ballerina-length in green and gold, respectively, and they carried chrysanthemum bouquets.

★ ★ ★

Rodney Proper was his brother's best man, and Leonard Pszeniczny of Buffalo, N.Y., the bride's brother, seated the guests.

The bride's mother wore a blue sheath dress with embroidered floral design and a corsage of pink roses. Mrs. Proper's choice was a pale blue knitted suit with darker blue accessories and a corsage of yellow roses.

Following a reception the bride changed to a gray semi-chemise suit with a corsage of pink roses for the honeymoon in northern Michigan.

Poll of College Students Gives Clues on Ways to Finance Higher Education

If you're hoping to send a son or daughter through college, you've probably wondered how other families in similar financial circumstances have managed.

Or—to look at it another way—if you could know where college students obtain funds for their schooling, it might provide a valuable clue to your own future planning.

This very problem was tackled not long ago by the U. S. Office of Education, when more than 15,000 students in 110 colleges were asked the sources of their mony for tuition, books, clothing, meals, travel and other college expenses.

Money for college, it was found, comes from half-a-dozen or more sources:

Current family income	41%
Students' own earnings	26
Lon-term family savings	20
Scholarships	5
Vet. vocational rehabilitation	5
	100%

These figures, of course, apply to the entire group of students, and they include young men and women at both ends of the economic scale—those who receive all of their funds from current family income, as well as the few who somehow manage to work their way through college. The average student, however, probably has three or four sources of income, as the study suggests.

★ ★ ★

Most college funds—over 60 per cent—come from the students' families, both from current family income and from savings. Family income provides the larger share. Often, life insurance plays an important protective role in guaranteeing that funds will be available, come what may.

INSURE EDUCATION

It works like this: A young father, anticipating that his income will grow with the years, decides that he will be able to meet his child's college expenses when they fall due. But in order to make sure that funds for education will be available if he should die, he purchases an additional life insurance policy with the proceeds earmarked for college. If he lives (as he most likely will) his "educational" policy serves as another resource because of its loan or cash value.

★ ★ ★

Many families, in addition, have long-term savings specifically intended for educating a son or daughter — or both. Often these savings are begun when a child is born, or when he enters school.

The U. S. Office of Education found that more than 60 per cent of college students were using funds from family savings accounts, U. S. savings bonds, investments, trust funds and life insurance and endowments.

★ ★ ★

One of the heartening aspects of the study was the fact that so many students worked to meet part of their college expenses. During the summer, 33 per cent had jobs and during the school year an even larger proportion—60 per cent—"earned while they learned."

Help Children Come to Terms With Life

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Pete's best friend attends a Sunday school which gives him colored pictures of Jesus walking on water and looking for lambs on mountains. Envious, Pete asked if he could go to Sunday school too. His father said yes, not because he wanted religious instruction for Pete but because he understood the boy's envy.

★ ★ ★

One morning Pete came home from Sunday school unusually silent and preoccupied. Finally the trouble came out. His teacher had told him that Jesus said, "Do good to those who hate you."

Worriedly Pete said, "That dopey Bill Sloan hates me. But you told me to kick him in the shins when he tries to shove me off my bike. That wasn't doing good to Bill Sloan, Daddy. Jesus wouldn't have liked it."

"Let me think a minute," his father said.

Then, dropping his clipping shears, he sat down on the lawn beside Pete.

"Maybe," he said, feeling his way, "Jesus meant that we do good to people who hate us by not letting them push us around. Bill Sloan's got to learn that he can't shove smaller kids off bikes whenever he feels like it. So if you don't let him shove you off yours, I think you're doing good to him."

It was the first time in the life of Pete's father that he'd given serious original thought to a religious meaning.

Sooner or later all children require this thought of us.

★ ★ ★

Joan's new kitten gets run over. As you dig the grave behind the garage, you know that your grief-stricken child is thinking, "Where has Fluffy gone? Why is she so stiff and still when just this morning she was purring on my pillow?"

Eddie reads a magazine article on the ICBM and asks you, "What's the sense of my sweating out another year at college when all hell can break loose any minute?"

Beth finds a broken chrysalis in the back field and asks you, "How did the butterfly know that it had stopped being a caterpillar and could fly?"

If religion is man's effort to come to terms with life and death, then all these questions are religious ones.

For parents of orthodox faiths, the answers come easier than for those who subscribe to none.

But from all parents the questions rate our serious attention and respect.

Mustard Sauce Pickles Variety of Vegetables

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Just before dinner the other night my good neighbor sent over a jar of mustard pickles. Some time a· she had promised to get me the recipe for them from her mother. Not only was the recipe forthcoming, but also a sample. They're delicious.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Edward Fox is our cook of the day. Ill health prevents her doing as many activities as she once did. Our thanks to her for passing on this good recipe.

Muriel A. Upton Becomes Bride of James Wilcox

MRS. JAMES E. WILCOX

Married Saturday in Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church were Muriel Agnes Upton and James Ernest Wilcox.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Donald F. Upton of East Third street and Ernest Wilcox of Wenonah drive.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of tulle and Chantilly lace featuring a scoop neckline and long sleeves. Her fingertip veil was caught to a tulle cap, and she carried a white orchid and stephanotis on a white Bible.

Margaret Selvala was maid of honor and Maria Cosma and Linda Burt were bridesmaids. They wore sheath dresses of metallic blue and carried cascades of rubrum lilies and white pompons.

Sandra Nelson, niece of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a white organza dress and carried a basket of pink pompons.

Best man was Harvey Murphy, and Dick Blacklaw, David Zuehlke, Jim Spring and Sam Yarger seated the guests. Donald Upton, nephew of the bride, was ringbearer.

Mrs. Upton wore a blue Chantilly lace dress with blue accessories and a white orchid corsage for her daughter's wedding.

★ ★ ★

A reception was held in the church parlor, following which the bride changed to a forest green suit with orange accessories and a white orchid corsage for a honeymoon in Florida. The couple will reside on North Johnson avenue.

Recession Wives Thrifty

Despite all the corny recession jokes about the extravagance of the American housewife—you know and I know it just isn't so. She's really a bargain hunter—thrifty to the tips of her toes.

★ ★ ★

That's one reason for the growth of home beauty treatments. They're inexpensive, and properly applied can be as effective as professional treatments.

Take the case of the facial mask. The facial mask is as old as the hills — or at least as old as the first blemish. The first ones were just plain mud packs. As beauty science has developed, all manner of refinements — most of them very good — have appeared.

FACIAL MASK

The simple fact remains, a good facial mask—and one you can make inexpensively at home—is just about the best way to combat unsightly blackheads, pimples and scaly skin. It's a wonderful skin tonic, too.

An easy-to-make, easy-to-use mask I've enjoyed many a time is one made up of four ounces of good quality witch hazel, a quarter teaspoon of boric acid and enough powdered milk mixed in to form a paste. You probably have all the ingredients right in the house. If not, you can buy then with nary a dent in the budget down at the corner store.

★ ★ ★

After the paste is applied give it 15 or 20 minutes to dry. You can help the cause right here by lying down, feet high, allowing the blood to flow to the face. Besides, you deserve these few minutes' rest.

As the pack dries it shrinks. This is what draws the blood to the surface to nourish and tone up your skin.

★ ★ ★

Remove the pack with tepid water, massaging gently. The dead skin particles disappear. Loosened blackheads can be worked out. If you have oily skin, you'll particularly like the way this pack carries away excess secretion. All this, and economy too!

Cars May Cost Michigan More

Auto Makers' Change in Policy Could Boost State Tab $60,000

A change in auto makers' policy on sales of cars to governmental units may cost Michigan an additional $60,000 a year, a report made to Oakland County Sen. L. Harvey Lodge, chairman of a committee on governmental waste in appropriations, discloses.

★ ★ ★

Chris M. Briehaupt, chief of the state's motor transport division, told Sen. Lodge manufacturers have notified auto dealers they will no longer subsidize them for cars sold to state agencies and municipalities.

Briethaupt said he had learned unofficially that the move would add $250 to $400 a unit. The state buys about 200 cars a year.

He also reported to Lodge that the state buys gasoline at 14 to 15 cents a gallon compared to the average 25 to 35 cents a gallon paid at retail stations.

Briethaupt denied that there had been any general misuse of state cars by drivers, but said he would be glad to have any specific charges investigated.

Lodge had previously suggested private citizens report what they considered misuse of state vehicles.

Extra $14,190 Allocated for Road Improvements

An extra $14,190 for Telegraph road improvements was allocated out of public improvement funds last night by the City Commission.

The extra money is needed, City Manager Walter K. Willman explained, because the State Highway Department has decided to install new curbs on the west side of the project.

★ ★ ★

Commissioners complained that the curbs were added after public hearings had been held on repaving the road from James K. boulevard to the Orchard Lake underpass. But they voted the funds, as the state requested.

The increase brings the total cost of the project up to $109,015, with the city's share $20,184. The state's original estimated cost for the repaving (without curbs) was $45,000, with the city paying $5,994.

The latter figure was in addition to $6,655 in special assessments, which will not be affected by the increase in cost, Willman said.

★ ★ ★

The state has awarded the repaving contract to the A. — A. Asphalt Paving Co., of Birmingham. It is to be completed Oct. 31.

Commissioners, in other business, set May 1 as the deadline for letting contracts on the new sewage disposal plant, if voters approve a $3,300,000 bond issue for it Nov. 4.

Willman said the time limit was required by the federal government in connection with the city's bid to gain $250,000 in federal aid for the project.

Commissioners last night stamped their final approval on the bond issue and the special election date.

They set Sept. 23 for public hearings on four street name changes recommended by the Planning Commission. The changes are to avoid duplication and to simplify the street name system, the plan commission said.

The changes would have Lakeside drive on the north side of Terry Lake and Lake avenue both changed to S. Merrimac street; Bond street changed to Balboa place; and Maines avenue between East boulevard and Astor street changed to Riverside drive.

Three assessment rolls covering recent curb and gutter installations were confirmed. These were for LeGrande avenue, Baldwin to Euclid; Pensacola avenue, Oakland to Monticello; and Wyoming avenue, Bagley to Franklin road.

★ ★ ★

Action on two other rolls that were ready last night was postponed at the request of Commissioner Floyd P. Miles.

No objections were recorded at a public hearing on the rezoning of 26 lots on the south side of Montcalm street from Baldwin avenue to the Pontiac, Oxford & Northern Railroad from Residential 2 and Commercial 1 to Commercial 2.

Approval of the change was held up pending deeding to the city of an alley across part of the property.

Commissioners proclaimed Sept. 18 as League of Women's Voters Day, in honor of that organizations long-standing non-partisan activities.

Sanity Hearing Set in Slaying

Judge Doty Schedules Examination of Suspect in Hazel Park Death

A sanity hearing was scheduled today for Frank W. Henson, Hazel Park factory worker awaiting trial next month for the murder of his wife.

Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty scheduled the hearing for Sept. 22 on petition of the accused man's daughter, Mrs. Margery Tupiak, who claimed her father has gone insane as the result of the death of his wife, Helen, 57.

He ordered Henson, 54, examined by two psychiatrists in preparation for the hearing.

Charged with second-degree murder, Henson has been free under $5,000 bond since his examination in February. He will be examined by two psychiatrists in preparation for the hearing.

Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem, after receiving notice of the hearing, emphasized the petition claims that insanity occurred after the death and that Henson is not mentally capable of standing trial now.

"It does not claim that Mr. Henson was insane at the time his wife was killed," Ziem said.

The victim's wife was found beaten to death in the kitchen of her home, 62 W. Maxlow St., Dec. 23. At first it appeared the death was accidental, but later authorities decided the woman had been struck on the head 13 times.

Henson has denied any knowledge of the crime, but assistant Prosecutor George F. Taylor has declared that circumstantial evidence points to his guilt.

Fire Destroys Mansion, Scene of Recent Killing

ALGONAC (UPI) — A once beautiful showplace home that fell on evil days and saw a killing within its walls, died last night by fire.

★ ★ ★

The 12 room, 3-story stucco house, built in the 1920s by Edward A. Strong, then head of the Buick Division of General Motors, was reduced virtually to its frame. Damage was estimated at $80,000. The fire started from an undetermined cause on the third floor and worked down to the second, burning both floors almost completely. Water damage from fire hoses destroyed the first floor.

In its heyday, the mansion was beautifully furnished, its grounds gardened and shrubbed and its lawns velvet green. Important people occupied its rooms that overlooked the north channel of the St. Clair.

But after being sold by the Strong family, the house fell on seedier days. Its lawns grew ragged, the shrubs grew wild.

★ ★ ★

In 1956, the mansion, then owned by Mrs. Gertrude Beitler, was the scene of a shotgun killing. Matthew J. Spieles, 45, who lived there, and Henry Hallar, 41, of Hamtramck, who was visiting, got into an argument. Spieles was killed by a shotgun blast. Hallar said the gun discharged accidentally while they were grappling for it. He was tried and acquitted.

A year ago, the house was sold to two Detroit men, Roger Quinn, and Valentine Kasmir, former owner of Club 69, a bar.

Last night, the one-time resplendent mansion died alone. It was unoccupied.

Antibiotics Kill Bacteria Which Prevent Fungus

EAST LANSING (UPI)—Antibiotics not only kill germs, a Michigan State University professor has found, they also kill and inhibit bacteria which prevent fungus diseases.

★ ★ ★

This leaves the body susceptible to fungus diseases, said Dr. E. S. Beneke. Familiar forms of fungi are athlete's foot and ringworm, but more serious are internal fungus infections. Ways of curing fungus infections have been developed, Dr. Beneke said, but are not completely satisfactory.

May Work on Khrushchev Reply

Ike Confers Today on Defense

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP)—President Eisenhower confers today with two national security aides. He also may get in some work on a reply to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's message on the Far East crisis.

The President arranged to meet and study confidential reports with Gordon Gray, his special assistant on security matters, and Brig. Gen. Andrew J. Goodpaster, White House liaison man with the Defense Department.

★ ★ ★

Gray and Goodpaster were flying in from Washington for the session. They were bringing latest reports on the dangerous situation in the Formosa Strait, as well as data on the international picture generally.

Eisenhower started work yesterday on the draft of a reply to Khrushchev's letter demanding that the United States withdraw its 7th Fleet and other forces from the Formosa area.

In preliminary comment on that demand, this country has urged the Soviet Union to restrain Red China's territorial expansion ambitions in the Far East.

★ ★ ★

The President's formal reply to Khrushchev is expected to be dispatched to Moscow by the week's end. U.S. officials already have made it clear that the Kremlin's call for withdrawal of American forces from the Formosa Strait will be rejected under existing circumstances.

LEG CRAMPS?

One of the most common causes of painful muscle cramps in legs, feet, toes, arms and hands is a prolonged deficiency of calcium. So says a famous doctor and widely-read newspaper columnist, formerly with the Mayo Clinic, and other well-known health authorities.

When meals, consistently deficient in calcium, are fortified with DYNA-CAL Calcium Tablets, tormenting calcium-deficient muscle cramps can be promptly relieved. But don't confuse DYNA-CAL Tablets with ordinary calcium-phosphorus products. DYNA-CAL Tablets contain no phosphorus which frequently interferes with the absorption of calcium. And DYNA-CAL Tablets contain a special ingredient which helps to put calcium into the blood stream quicker — bringing faster relief to cramping, calcium-starved muscles. Pleasant-to-take DYNA-CAL Tablets with calcium, betaine hydrochloride, and vitamins D and C contain no drugs. They are safe, harmless, calcium food supplements. If you are suffering miserable muscle cramps, and suspect you are not getting enough calcium, ask for DYNA-CAL Tablets, today. Bottles of 90 tablets, $1.50.

*Other causes for muscle cramps are widely unrelated to calcium deficiency.

Females Nosier, Louder—but Smarter?

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

MIAMI — As everyone is constantly being advised by females: Females are smarter than men.

Ask your mother, she'll tell you. Don't ask your wife, she will too.

★ ★ ★

But this theory is slightly misconceived, according to Adolph Frohn of Miami. Adolph says that females are indeed more curious, nosy and loud than males, but that whatever knowledge they pick up through these unlovable characteristics is quickly forgotten.

"In fact, compared with males, females have the memory of a goldfish," Frohn says.

This tall and amiable expert on the relative intelligence of the sexes always makes his comparisons in terms of fish. This is partly because he does not want to offend his wife, who cooks very well; and mainly because he is the nation's foremost porpoise and sea lion trainer.

★ ★ ★

If you have ever seen a bottle-nosed dolphin raise the American flag while jumping through a hoop singing "Dixie" through the hole in his head, it likely is a Frohn sea school student.

"We should really give up trying to educate females," Adolph says. "They are not really very good troupers.

"They learn fast, in a flamboyant, noisy sort of way, but they forget everything the minute they're emotionally upset. You can teach a baby girl porpoise to balance a ball on her nose in as little as eight months . . . where it might take a young male a year.

★ ★ ★

"So what happens? The first time you wear white shoes instead of black ones, she goes berserk. Emotional trauma. She forgets everything she ever knew, and stops eating."

The females also require more kindness and affection.

"To train a lady porpoise or sea lion you must make them feel loved and wanted," Adolph says. "And the female, of these species, is more easily scared. She has had to fight hard for everything she got. The males are the boss in the ocean."

There are mammals and mammals . . .

An effective new tranquilizer has been developed by a Seminole Indian medicine man down this way. It has the pharmaceutical companies so excited they're having to take more than the usual dose of snake root to calm down.

The new ingredient, which actually is old as nature, of course, is an herb tea. Josie Billie, former chief m.m. for the Florida tribe, has been serving it to fellow tribesmen for a quarter century.

A man named Max Denton, state Indian commissioner, advises that a pharmaceutical house (the Upjohn Corp.) has signed a contract with Josie to research the tea's commercial market possibilities.

★ ★ ★

If it is found to be commercially feasible, it "will have a potential market of several million dollars a year," Denton says. And may make happy (and calm) hundreds of elderlies who do not believe in new-fangled tranquilizers, but have always said a spot of tea was good for the soul.

The Indian commissioner described a demonstration of the Seminole medicine on a white mouse. The mouse had been trained to leap up on a small wooden perch in his cage at the sound of a bell, to escape an electric shock.

Ten minutes after a dose of tranquilizer, and he strolled casually to the block.

Thirty minutes afterward, said Denton, "he just didn't give a damn."

Endorse Stand on Segregation

Voters Mass Behind Incumbent Senator in Florida Primary

By HENDRIX CHANDLER

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Florida Democrats gave Sen. Spessard Holland's firm stand on segregation and state's rights a rousing endorsement in yesterday's primary.

They renominated him over Claude Pepper by an 80,000-vote margin at the end of a sizzling campaign in which Pepper's stand on the racial issue and his alleged softness toward the Soviet Union were prime issues.

★ ★ ★

Returns from 1,798 of 1,880 precincts gave Holland 386,989 votes and Pepper 306,417.

Holland will face Republican Leland Hyzer in November. In Florida Democratic nomination is equivalent to election. Hyzer, a Miami attorney, is an avowed state's righter.

Pepper blamed his defeat on the racial issue.

"It is tragic, with this critical problem facing the South, leadership has fallen into the hands of the extremists," Pepper told newsmen after conceding defeat.

During the campaign, a citizens committee for Holland distributed pamphlets picturing Pepper with Paul Robeson, the Negro singer, and former Vice President Henry Wallace. The picture was taken at a rally at Madison Square Garden in 1946.

Holland said the committee was an independent organization and had no connection with his campaign.

The same picture was used in 1950 when Sen. George Smathers unseated Pepper after 14 years service.

★ ★ ★

Pepper's margin of defeat was even greater this time than in 1950 when he lost by 67,000 votes.

While both Pepper and Holland took a stand for segregation, they approached the problem from different directions.

Holland emphasized the Senate filibuster as the South's best weapon for dealing with integration and compulsory civil rights. He also pledged he would seek to curb powers of the U.S. Supreme Court.

Pepper, a New Deal stalwart in the 1930s, said he wanted to work out the racial problem in a "Christian, lawful and acceptable manner."

Holiday Awaits Nondelinquents for Honesty

HUNGTINGTON, N.Y. (AP)—A day at the races and a stack of goodies await some unknown youngsters who need a lesson in spelling but none in honesty.

They are the juvenile nondelinquents who broke Nicholas Caricola's pavement roller, and left a note and $2.62 in small change.

★ ★ ★

Caricola, a paving contractor and the father of four, said the note and the money were found on the floorboard of the paver outside his office.

The note read:

"Dear Sir:

"We are sorry about breaking your roller. We didn't mean to but we did. Enclosed is $2.62. If that isn't enough leave us a note telling us how much more you will need. That was all the money we could get. It was an axident Ksic) and we're sorry."

The contractor said it cost only $1 to fix the machine.

Even Peaceful Use Stirs Deep-Seated Fears

World Is Gripped by Atomic Jitters

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer

GENEVA (AP)—Most people are afraid and emotionally upset over even peaceful uses of atomic energy, a study group of the World Health Organization declared today.

Explaining the fear, WHO said "radiation is invisible, unheard, unsmelt, untasted and unfelt, apparently infinitely powerful, yet springs from an almost infinitely small source."

This anxiety has people around the world suffering varying degrees of emotional or mental illness, said the study which was issued during the atoms-for-peace conference.

The study group was headed by Prof. Hans Hoff, Vienna psychiatrist.

Many people "now have a feeling that Pandora's box has been opened, and that anything could happen now," it said.

★ ★ ★

The best hope for improved mental health in the atomic age lies in training children, at home and school, to "live realistically in a world of rapid change, insecurities and uncertainties. This can be done to make them more self-reliant and emotionally mature. There is little hope of changing the attitudes of most of today's adults."

There is "a growing mistrust of scientists as well as politicians." Scientists are volunteering, or being forced by politicians, to make judgments or recommend policies instead of sticking to just reporting facts, it is explained.

★ ★ ★

The ensuing public debates and disagreements among scientists add to public confusion and worry, and destroys faith in the scientist as an unerring source of facts, it said.

Politicians, lacking scientific training, have to call on scientists for advice; some resent this and see a treat to their own power from the scientists; others "use" the scientist, the study said.

Fear that radiation will be a time-bomb dooming future generations is "a deeper and more subtle fear than that of the unleashing of energy that might destroy the universe.

★ ★ ★

"There might be something peculiarly horrible in the idea, for example, of the cow, the giver of milk to children, as being a concentrating agent of radiation."

Many people don't want to read about atomic energy "because they are afraid of becoming afraid. They retreat into the dark caves of their own emotions," Ritchie Calder, British science writer serving on the study group, told a news conference.

★ ★ ★

Atomic energy "awakens all sorts of fears lying in the minds of almost all men. In all of us, there is the underlying child who still easily becomes afraid," added Dr. Eduardo E. Krapf, psychiatrist of Buenos Aires, secretary of the study group.

Kentucky Town Wants 'Bloody' Out of Slogan

HARLAN, Ky. (AP) — All right, maybe this eastern Kentucky town was known as "Bloody Harlan," but let's keep that skeleton in the closet.

That's the gist of about 100 phone calls Mayor Roscoe Petrey said he received after a local insurance man erected this sign on the city limits:

"Welcome to Kentucky's Friendliest Town—Bloody Harlan."

★ ★ ★

"Why toss away a history that is rich in tourist interest," explains insurance man Nick Johnson, who says he's trying to promote business. Harlan got the name during labor disputes in the coal mines back in the '30s.

★ ★ ★

But Harlan's city council shies from the memory. They have asked that "a portion of the wording" be removed.

10 Killed in Crash of Dutch Navy Plane

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—A Dutch crashed and burned near the Abadan Airport today.

All 10 prsons aboard were killed. One engine of the plane reportedly had developed an oil leak. The pilot was trying to land when the plane caught fire.

HONOLULU (AP)—One of Hawaii's best-known trademarks — the ukulele — was introduced here originally by the Portuguese, and a lot of them are still being imported.

Many ukuleles offered for sale here come from a manufacturer in Nazareth, Pa.

Nothing Historical Here

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — University of Utah experts had disappointing news for a group of uranium miners who thought the living frog they uncovered in a petrified log was a creature from prehistoric times. University zoology experts said it was a common tree frog.

Life imprisonment is the penalty imposed for the crime of murder by seven of the states.

Authorities Disagree

Near, Middle, Far East Mixed Up on Boundaries

WASHINGTON — The terms "Near East," "Middle East," and "Far East" are used to divide the vast Orient into handy sections.

In popular usage, however, their boundaries jump thousands of miles in almost every direction. Greece and the Sudan creep in and out of the Near East. India flies back and forth between the Middle and Far Easts.

At times, the Middle East has expanded to include countries as far west as Libya. Yet if Libya is in the Middle East, countries like Algeria, France, and Italy must be in the Near East.

DIVISIONS ARE LOGICAL

Attempting to maintain logical geographical divisions, the National Geographic Society divides the the East as follows:

NEAR EAST: Turkey, Cyprus, Syria, Lebanon, Israel, Jordan, Egypt, Iraq, Iran, and the countries of the Arabian Peninsula.

MIDDLE EAST: India, Pakistan, Afghanistan, Nepal, Bhutan, Sikkim, and Ceylon.

FAR EAST: China, Mongolian Republic, Korea, Japan, Formosa, the Philippines, Indochina, Thailand (Siam), Burma, Malaya, and Indonesia.

The Society's list of Near East countries corresponds closely to the State Department's grouping as represented by its Office of Near Eastern Affairs and Office of Greek, Turkish, and Iranian Affairs. Greece and the Sudan, within the scope of these two offices, are not part of the Society's Near East grouping.

In British usage, the Balkan States of southeastern Europe often have been tabbed as part of the Near East, but American practice is to align them geographically with the West.

By common consent, authorities on the Orient keep south of Russia in defining Middle Eat and Near East. With this and the State Department's official Far East in mind, Society cartographers have defined their geographically rational Middle East.

The Department of State has a Bureau of Near Eastern, South Asian, and African Affairs. It thus avoids the term Middle East, and any precise definition of what comprises the Near East. Within this Bureau, however, the Office of South Asian Affairs deals only with the countries that compose the Society's Middle East.

HAZY MIDDLE EAST

Prior to World War II, "Middle East" quite commonly described the region of the Indian subcontinent, although the designation was often made to reach westward to embrace Iran and the Arabian Peninsula. Newest of the three Easts, Middle East started as a generalization to describe the reaches of southern Asia between Near East and Far East.

The term Far East dates almost from Columbus's time. At first, it described the coasts and islands east of Singapore visited by venturesome navigators who reached the Pacific by rounding Africa's southern tip and crossing the Indian Ocean.

These coasts and islands were far east from a Europe that considered itself the center of the world. To west-coast Americans they are Near West as well as Far East.

Some writers have restricted the Far East to China, Korea and Japan. Others expand the term to include virtually all Asia east of Afghanistan.

Professor Sees Lag in Country Churches

MADISON, Wis. (UPI) — A University of Wisconsin rural sociologist doubts that country churches have kept pace with the changing world.

Prof. A. F. Wileden said church literature and programs must be as good as other modern teaching materials to fill the needs of the present generation.

★ ★ ★

"In the past, country churches and country schools have grown side by side," he said. "Most schools are changing to meet today's needs but I question whether churches have kept pace."

Wileden said that because of the "suburban area trend" and its many social needs, churches have an opportunity for adult education, improvement of physical and mental health and citizenship training.

Marina Owners Protesting Law

State Wants 12½ Pct. of Gross Income From St. Clair Lakeshore

LANSING (AP)—Marina operators along the shores of Lake St. Clair are protesting proposed regulations which would cut the state in on a good share of their profits.

They sounded their complaints yesterday at a hearing called by the State Conservation Department on revised regulations proposed for administration of the Great Lakes Submerged Lands Act.

A new law authorizes the department to lease lake bottom land for marine purposes. Seat of the complaints was a provision authorizing the state to collect 12½ per cent of the gross income derived from facilities on submerged lands. The marina owners asserted the rate was excessive.

"This puts the state in the peculiar position of going into business with private property owners," said Frank C. Lawson, St. Clair Shores attorney representing the Lake Shore Amusement Co.

"It looks as if the state is going to stifle us, Sovietize us and tell us how to run things," he said. "I wonder whether this law is constitutional."

★ ★ ★

John H. Yoe, attorney for the city of St. Clair Shores, called the proposed rates "quite exorbitant" and contended they would injure growth of the boating industry and lakeshore development.

With others, attorney John T. Lungerhausen of Mt. Clemens suggested the Conservation Department consider a flat rental fee or one based on net rather than gross income.

Police Holding Man After Rifle Threat

Pontiac Police are holding a man who threatened two officers with a loaded rifle last night.

Officers James A. Teal Jr. and James Dickinson answered a trouble call at the home of Michael J. Zusac, 38, of 1345 Giddings Rd. at 11 p.m.

★ ★ ★

They were admitted to the home by Mrs. Zusac but told by her husband not to advance closer than a television set in the living room.

The officers said that Zusac loaded a .22 caliber rifle as they talked to him and when Teel came close to him he leveled it at the officer's chest.

Teel grabbed the weapon and in the ensuing struggle broke it over Zusac's head.

★ ★ ★

Zusac was finally subdued, the officers said, and held on a charge of investigating of felonious assault.

Detroit Boy Stabbed Leaving High School

DETROIT (AP)—Richard Rowader, a 14-year-old high school student, was reported in serious condition today from stab wounds police say were inflicted by another teenager as the boy walked home from school.

Police said the youth told them he was accosted by four other boys as he walked home yesterday from Mackenzie High School on Detroit's Northwest side.

★ ★ ★

Richard said the other youths asked him for a cigarette and one of the group stabbed him when he said he didn't have any.

The boy said he ran after the first stab wound. He said the other youth chased him and stabbed him a second time. Rowader is white. His assailants were Negroes.

August Accident List Shorter Than 1957's

Accidents in Pontiac during the month of August took a sharp drop from last year, but caused two fatalities, a monthly summary from the police traffic bureau discloses.

★ ★ ★

Last month there were 71 accidents in the city in which two persons died and 31 were injured. August of 1957 recorded 105 accidents in which no one was killed but 60 were hurt.

The August deaths, a pedestrian and a motorist, raised Pontiac's total to 13, as compared to only one by this time last year.

★ ★ ★

Person injured through August declined to 354, as compared with 457 through August of 1957.

Britain to Change Site of Nuclear Research

LONDON (UPI) — The whole of Britain's thermo-nuclear project will be transferred from Harwell to a new center at Winfrith Heath, 100 miles away, the Atomic Energy Authority announced yesterday.

The changeover will be completed during 1961-63. Winfrith Heath will house the research laboratories of scientists working on "Zeta," the British project for harnessing the hydrogen bomb.

Can Lift 2 Billion Tons of Water

Hurricane Outmatches A-Bombs

WASHINGTON — In a single second, a typical hurricane releases more energy than several atomic bombs. In less than an hour, it expends more energy than 50 years' production of electric power in the United States.

In a day, a hurricane can lift two billion tons of water from the ocean and hurl them back on land and sea as torrential rains. Packing a force of a half-trillion horsepower, it can scythe a path of death and destruction 500 miles broad.

For all its terrible strength, a hurricane is born of little but warm, moist air caught in a calm in the tropics and given a twist to set it spinning. Gradually it becomes a large revolving storm, accompanied by violent winds, heavy rains, and high waves and tides.

The same type of storm is called a "typhoon" in the China Sea, a "baguio" in the Philippines, and a "cyclone" in the Bay of Bengal, the National Geographic Society says.

★ ★ ★

Hurricanes may form at any time of year, but most come in August, September, and October. More than a third of all hurricanes since 1887 have occurred in September. In an average year, two tropical storms bring hurricane force winds to the Atlantic Seaboard and the Gulf Coast.

The United States Weather Bureau can predict with increasing precision the areas likely to be hardest hit by a hurricane.

The value of warning was pointed up by two hurricanes that passed over Lake Okeechobee in southern Florida. The first struck in 1928 before the Joint Hurricane Warning System had been set up. Deaths totaled, 1,836. The second—with equal winds — followed virtually the same path, but killed only two persons. The chief difference was a warning that gave people time to evacuate.

Scientists have not yet devised a way to stop or divert a hurricane, but researchers have learned how to manufacture miniature cyclonic storms in the laboratory. By studying these pint-sized hurricanes, scientists hope to learn more about how a hurricane develops and behaves.

Knowledge gained in this and other researches—such as radar tracking and flying into the actual storms—should lead to ever more accurate prediction and perhaps, some day, to control.

Weathermen already know that hurricanes usually move from low to higher latitudes with increasing speed, size, and intensity. Winds of a hurricane topple trees, bowl over houses and even blow trains off their tracks. But the storm takes its greatest toll by drowning.

As the hurricane moves forward, it may pile up enormous waves which cover low-lying beaches and islands. The ocean level may rise more than six feet in a half-hour, with giant waves smashing buildings, roads, and bridges.

To identify hurricanes individually, the Weather Bureau gives each a girl's name. This year's list is: Alma, Becky, Cleo, Daisy, Ella, Fifi, Gerda, Helene, Ilsa, Janice, Katy, Lila, Milly, Nola, Orchid, Portia, Queeny, Rena, Sherry, Thora, Udele, Virgy, Wilna, Xrae, Yurith, and Zorna.

★ ★ ★

The Weather Bureau emphasizes that it does not name hurricanes after particular individuals. But many girls have written the Bureau to plead, "Please name a hurricane after me!"

New Leaders Frown on Girls, Gambling

Iraq Dancers Get Go-By

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP) — Belly dancers are getting the cold shoulder from Iraq's revolutionary government.

The girls can hardly complain, for conditions are even tougher for the local horse players. They're getting no action at all. Orders issued by the government of Brig. Abdul Karim Kassim, the country's new premier, have given the Iraqi revolution strong puritan overtones.

Kassim wants people to concentrate on productivity rather than smirk at girls or gamble their wages away. His government has closed the race track. Clubs featuring high-stake card games also have been shut.

Bars are now required to serve last drinks at 11 p.m. instead of 2 a.m. In working class districts, cafe proprietors are even required to shoo their coffee-drinking customrs home about midnight instead of allowing them to lounge around most of the night.

The belly dancers, mostly girls from southern Europe, come into Iraq on six-month permits. Then they are required to leave for six months or so before they can obtain readmission. That was the old system, apparently designed to give the customers a break. For in addition to dancing, the girls in many establishments sit with customers, urge them to buy drinks and get a commission. It was felt that after six months a girl got so good at this, she could run through a customer's bankroll in record time. By being kept out of the country for a while, a girl lost some of her hold on customers.

Some dancing girls are still working in Baghdad, but they expect to have difficulty getting back into the country when their permits run out, unless the government has a change of heart.

"Talk about the romantic Middle East. This place is getting as dead as a country town," said a Greek redhead who is billed as "The Dancer of a Thousand Delights."

★ ★ ★

"This changing of governments has gotten men's mind off dancing anyway," she said with a pout. "They come to the cabaret now to talk politics, which is sort of an insult to a girl's artistic temperament."

Knows Communist Strategy

Veteran U.S. Diplomat Ready to Meet Chinese

By United Press International

Jacob D. Beam, United States ambassador to Poland who stands ready to meet with the Chinese Reds in the proposed Formosa peace talk, is a veteran diplomat with a keen knowledge of communist strategy.

The 50-year-old envoy was head of the American Embassy in Moscow at the time of Dictator Josef Stalin's death. As charge d'affaires while Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen was waiting Senate confirmation, the Foreign Service career officer represented the United States at the funeral of the Soviet leader.

Later he kept Washington clearly informed of the power struggle going on in the Kremlin hierarchy.

A tall, slightly stooped man who wears glasses, Beam has shown caution in his public statements. He is regarded as a reserved and scholarly individual.

He married the daughter of Vice Adm. William A. Glassford (Ret.), and the couple have one son, Jacob Alexander, 4.

SERVED IN EAST INDIES

Beam doesn't speak Chinese and his only service in the Far East was a brief assignment after World War II in the Dutch East Indies.

He started in diplomatic service in 1931, serving in Geneva. Three years later he was assigned to Germany and saw Adolf Hitler's menacing rise to power.

While in Berlin he began taking Russian language and history courses at his own expense. He foresaw that the communist world would become the major diplomatic battleground of the century.

★ ★ ★

During World War II, he was assigned to the staff of Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Forces, which was headed by then Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

After the war, he held posts in the Dutch East Indies, Yugoslavia and Moscow before being named ambassador to Poland in July, 1957.

'NEVER GETS RATTLED'

Beam was born in Princeton, N.J., and is a graduate of Princeton University. His colleagues summarize him this way: "He never gets rattled."

Adlai Returns From Europe

Looks Ahead to Fall Political Bouts, Hoping to Enter Ring

NEW YORK (AP) — Adlai E. Stevenson, back from an extended European tour, looked ahead today to the fall political campaign in which he said he plans to be "as active as possible."

According to present plans he will go to California at the end of the month to do what he can for the Democratic ticket there.

★ ★ ★

Stevenson, twice unsuccessful Democratic presidential candidate flew in from Europe yesterday with his son, John Fell Stevenson; and one of his law partners, William Blair Jr.

He spent an hour at the airport answering questions of newsmen on a variety of topics.

★ ★ ★

Election of Maine's Gov. Edmund S. Muskie to the U.S. Senate and other Democratic victories in that Republican state were cheering news to him and "a very good sign for this autumn," he said.

The Far East crisis is a very dangerous situation, but one calling for negotiation and not war and fortunately, the Chinese Communists seem willing to negotiate this time, he added.

Pontiac Pedestrian Suffers Leg Injury

A pedestrian was injured yesterday in Pontiac when he stepped in front of a car on East South boulevard near Bradford, police said.

Andrew Wright, 49, of 714 Oakland Ave., was struck by a car driven by Mrs. E. H. Jackson, 42, of 119 Norton Ave.

Wright was treated at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital for a possible leg fracture.

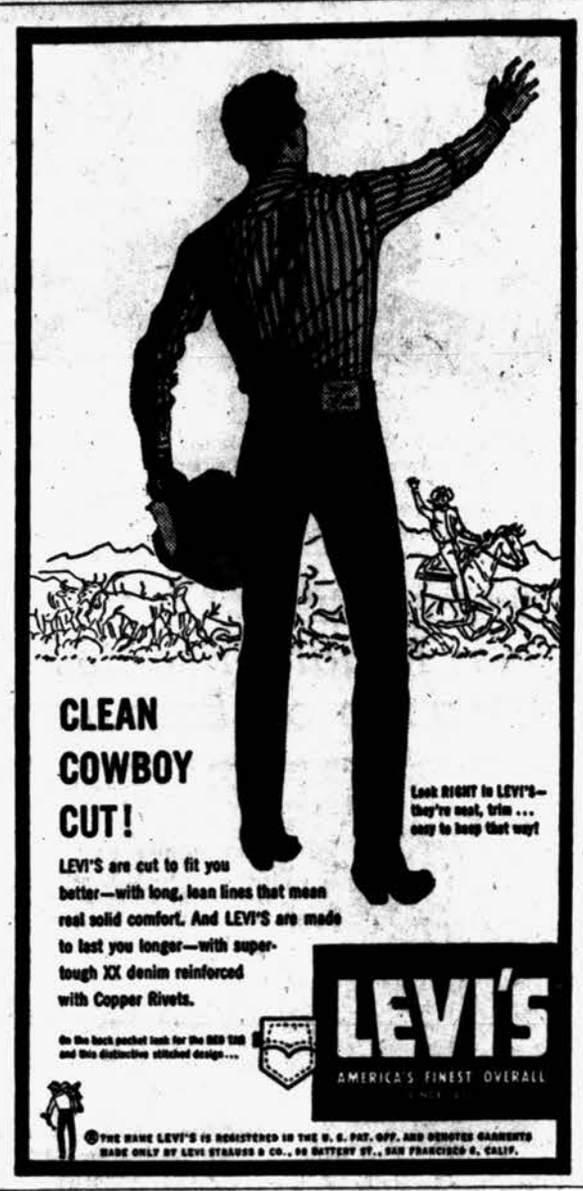

AF Ram-Jet Missile Passes 2,600 M.P.H.

SUNNYVALE, Calif. (AP)—The Air Force has in its ram-jet missile a powerhouse for major aerial defensive weapons capable of doing more than 2,600 m.p.h.

The service announced Tuesday that Lockheed's X7 ram-jet launched recently from a modified B50 plane high over the New Mexico desert flew more than four times the speed of sound. While the speed figure as such wasn't given in the Air Force release, the speed of sound is 660 miles an hour between 40,000 and 100,000 feet altitude.

Home Week Extended

DETROIT (AP)—Extension of National Home Week for one week has been announced. Sponsors of the event said the extension to Sept. 21 was brought about because of the interruption of publication of the Detroit newspapers for three days last week.

Surprises Scarce as 10 States Total Up Votes in Primary Contests

By The Associated Press

Surprises were scarce today as 10 states toted up final figures in the year's last big series of primary contests for Congress and governor.

The 1958 true-to-form political pattern prevailed again as Republicans and Democrats tapped candidates yesterday in Florida, Vermont, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Arizona, Colorado, Utah and Washington.

These were the major results:

1. Sen. Spessard Holland defeated former Sen. Claude Pepper in the 58-year-old liberal's bid for a return to the U.S. Senate in the Florida Democratic primary, equivalent to election in that state. Near-complete returns gave Holland, a conservative, a victory margin of more than 80,000 votes. Pepper blamed his defeat on the school segregation issue which found Holland advocating a stronger fight against integration.

2. Gov. Ernest McFarland of Arizona was en route to clearing the first hurdle in his attempt to return to the Senate by rolling up an early 2-1 lead over Democratic National Committeeman Stephen Langmade. McFarland's November opponent would be Republican Sen. Barry Goldwater, the man who ousted him in 1952. Goldwater was renominated without opposition.

★ ★ ★

3. Two senators — Arthur Watkins (R-Utah) and William Proxmire (D-Wis)—handily beat back intraparty challenges but may be faced with serious trouble in November because of heavy vote totals polled by the opposition parties in their primaries. Watkins will be pitted against Democrat Frank E. Moss and former Gov. J. Bracken Lee, running as an independent. Proxmire, who was named to GOP Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy's seat in a special election last year, will seek a six-year term against Roland E. Steinle, nominated without opposition by the Republicans.

★ ★ ★

4. Rep. Coya Knutson (D-Minn), the lady legislator who defied her husband's demand that she give up politics and come home, was locked in a tight struggle with Marvin Evenson in Minnesota's 9th Dist.

Yesterday's contests involving 8 Senate seats, 59 House berths and 7 governorships completed the 1958 primary elections except for Georgia and Rhode Island.

Georgia comes up today, holding a Democratic primary for governor and 10 House seats. Rhode Island has a split deal primary—the Democrats holding theirs next Wednesday and the Republicans Sept. 25.

A rundown of other major primary contests yesterday:

Vermont — Rep. Winston L. Prouty won a decisive victory over former Gov. Lee Emerson in their race for the Republican nomination for the Senate seat being vacated by Sen. Ralph E. Flanders. Prouty had the backing of Flanders.

Massachusetts — Sen. John F. Kennedy and Gov. Foster Furcolo won Democratic renomination without contest. Republicans tapped Statehouse Speaker Charles Gibbons to be substitute candidate for governor in place of Atty. Gen. George Fingold, who died 10 days ago.

★ ★ ★

New Hampshire—Wesley Powell finished ahead in a five-man race for the GOP gubernatorial nomination, but a recount appears a certainty in view of Powell's hair-splitting 537-vote margin over former Gov. Hugh Gregg. The other three candidates lagged far behind. On the Democratic side, Bernard Boutin outdistanced John Shaw in the governor's primary.

Colorado—Gov. Steve McNichols won Democratic renomination without opposition and State Rep. Palmer Burch had clear sailing in gaining the GOP assignment to oppose McNichols in November.

★ ★ ★

Washington — Sen. Henry M. Jackson won a hands-down triumph over Mrs. Alice F. Bryant in the Democratic primary. William B. Bantz had no foes in his bid for the Republican senatorial nod.

Minnesota Vote Bolsters Dems

Feuding Woman Leads in Bid for Renomination to Congressional Seat

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Rep. Coya Knutson (D-Minn) bolstered her lead today in a renomination bid that her husband claims is breaking up their home life. It spiced a primary election in which Democrats were outpolling Minnesota Republicans by hefty margins.

★ ★ ★

The size of the Democratic advantage apparently posed a major threat to the Senate seat held by Republican Edward Thye.

Mrs. Knutson, a 45-year-old former schoolmarm, was the only congressional incumbent who ran into major trouble.

On returns from 394 of 641 precincts in the state's 9th District she had 12,188 votes to 10,372 for Marvin Evenson, 46 - year - old Moorhead, Minn., businessman. Evenson ran almost dead even with the congresswoman through much of the early going.

★ ★ ★

Evenson had among his supports Andrew Knutson, the congresswoman's husband who has waged a summer-long campaign to get her to quit politics and come home to Oklee, Minn.

Oklee, where Mrs. Knutson campaigned Sunday but didn't visit her husband, gave her an unofficial 107-44 margin over Evenson.

Thye won nomination easily. So did his November opponent for the Senate, Rep. Eugene McCarthey (D-Minn) 42-year-old Congressman who turned back Hjalmar Petersen, a former state governor and long-time office holder.

Democrats now control most of the state offices, one Senate seat and five of nine House seats.

Educator Says Russia Must See Life in U.S.

OGDEN, Utah (AP) — Philosopher Orbert Tanner of the University of Utah says Americans must communicate with Russia or perish.

"Our only chance to avoid annihilation is to let Russia know us — to bring them to the United States by the thousands to see our way of life and know us," Dr. Tanner says. The Utah educator visited Russia last year and said he was allowed to see everything he wished except military structures.

Growing Strength Makes Concessions Greater Necessity

Red China Might Fight United States Next Time

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — It's no wonder Secretary of State Dulles indicated the United States might make concessions to the Red Chinese if they're good boys. He has problems.

★ ★ ★

All of them can be telescoped into one big question:

How long can this country go on having crisis after crisis with the Chinese Communists without getting into war over the small Quemoy and Matsu islands near the China mainland?

This time American determination and strength may have chilled the Communists, particularly since they lack a navy, and perhaps lacked atomic bombs and enough planes to take a chance on war.

Next time, with help from the Soviet Union, they may risk the chance. It's a situation which can hardly go on indefinitely.

When the Reds drove Chiang Kai-shek off the mainland—to Formosa, 100 miles across the straits—his retreating troops grabbed Quemoy, three miles off the China coast, and the Matsus, 10 miles off the coast.

★ ★ ★

This country is pledged by treaty with Chiang to defend Formosa from Red attack. It must do that. But Congress left it to the President to decide whether it was necessary to fight for Quemoy and the Matsus to defend Formosa.

Chiang complicated things for the United States—although Dulles told a news conference yesterday this country didn't object—by moving a third of his army from Formosa to Quemoy.

That put a tremendous potential obligation on the United States to defend Quemoy. Loss of a third of his army would truly make Chiang a paper tiger on Formosa where he could hardly survive very long anyway without American help.

So, when the Reds bombarded Quemoy and the Matsus, the United States got involved. Were those islands by themselves really necessary for the defense of Formosa? If they were, the President could order a fight to protect them.

Dulles said: "What is involved here is not just two pieces of real estate—Quemoy and Matsu. Obviously, if that was all that was involved, there would be no basis for action on the part of the United States."

That seems to say that by themselves the islands are not worth defending and are not necessary for Formosa's defense. That raises a nice question all by itself:

★ ★ ★

Why then did the United States ever let Chiang put so many troops there, creating a situation which might require American intervention and war not only with Red China but perhaps even with the Soviet Union?

The United States took that chance by using units of the 7th Fleet to convoy supplies, particularly ammunition, to Chiang's bombarded forces on Quemoy.

Dulles said what is involved is the whole position of the "free world in the western Pacific." He explained that: "If you fall back from advanced positions and indicate to an aggressor that you have no will to stand, then your position becomes weaker, your allies lose confidence."

★ ★ ★

But if Chiang hadn't sent his troops to the islands, the Reds could have taken them. Thus Chiang's sending his troops to Quemoy set in motion a whole series of events, actual and possible, which created this situation:

While Quemoy and the Matsus were not worth defending themselves—if this is a proper interpretation of what Dulles aws saying—the United States couldn't yield the islands to the Reds under threat of force.

But so long as Chiang holds those islands, it seems sure there will be a repetition of this crisis which was a repetition—a replica, Dulles called it—of a similar crisis three years ago.

Yet, as time passes and Red Chinese strength grows in weapons and planes, this country may become increasingly unwilling to risk war to defend the small islands.

What's the answer? Dulles indicated concessions might be made to the Reds if they stopped talking about using force to take the islands. What concessions? Maybe this country will persuade Chiang to pull back his troops after a proper interval and let the Reds have Quemoy and the Matsus.

Chiang could hardly refuse if the United States told him that's what it wanted. He's utterly dependent on the United States for his existence.

Early Pinup Painter Switches to Horses

WEST ORANGE, N. J. (AP)—As a painter, Allen F. Brewer Jr. has gone from pinups to pintos.

He is now one of the country's leading painters of horses. But two decades ago Brewer worked his way through Yale painting pinup girls with innocent pastoral scenes on the other side that could be switched when parents came to visit.

He has since moved from here to Kentucky but on a recent visit he says he still does pinups—on the backs of playing cards.

Clock Runs Backward, Keeping Perfect Time

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — Horological expert Alvin J. Lantz is giving clockwatchers here a rough time.

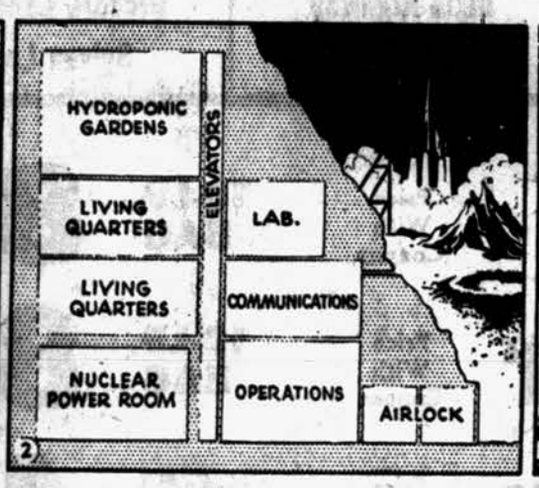

Lantz has rigged up a unique clock. It keeps perfect time except that it runs backward. Inscribed on the clock are the words: "Backward, turn backward, Oh Time in your flight." The quotation is from Elizabeth Aker Allen's famous poem, "Rock Me to Sleep."

OUTWARD TO THE STARS

(21)—The Lunar Colony

By Don Oakley and Ralph Lane

(1) A permanent colony on the Moon offers advantages similar to that of a space station orbiting about Earth — as an astronomical laboratory, for instance, or an advance base for the exploration of other planets.

The maintenance of such a lunar colony is entirely feasible, in the view of many authorities. Oxygen could probably be extracted from ores, and even water obtained from minerals. In time, the colony could be self-supporting.

Due to the absence of atmosphere and the danger from cosmic rays and falling meteors, a permanent base may be constructed, at least in part, in the side of a crater or mountain to afford maximum protection. While excavations are under way above, temporary domes shelter the workers.

(2) This cutaway shows suggested layout of a lunar colony. A nuclear reactor supplies power, heat and light to its various sections. A hydroponic garden supplements food supplies from Earth.

The science of biology will play an important part in the establishment of the colony. Special crops, suitable for use on the Moon, may have to be evolved. Although hydroponic farming is still experimental, it will doubtless make great advances long before men reach the Moon. The synthesizing of foods from strains of algae and yeast is already being investigated as a solution to food shortages on Earth.

(3) From the Moon base, now quite extensive and self-sustaining, with its outlying laboratories, observatories and shops, a land train sets out to explore distant areas and survey mineral resources.

At the same time, astronomers study Earth and the universe. With no haze or intervening atmosphere and no weather to spoil observations, they have an unobstructed view of the stars and planets. A celestial body which will undoubtedly get top priority is Mars, the planet that has intrigued man for centuries.

Next: A Trip to Mars.

Ireland's Hilly Lands Produce Most of Peat

BELFAST, Ireland — Peat in Ireland is mostly found in hill land, and the right to cut it belongs to the farmers and the estate owners. In order to cut peat for his own hearth, a cottager must obtain rights of "turbary" from the estate owner. After cutting, the peat is stacked until it becomes dry enough to burn.

Many New State Laws Effective on Saturday

LANSING (AP)—A new "two-way stop" law for school buses goes into effect Saturday with more than 150 other laws adopted by the 1958 legislature.

Dangling car ornaments will be banned, the price of driver operator licenses raised and a new point system for weeding our bad drivers officially launched the same day. Under the constitution, all become effective 90 days after formal adjournament of the legislature, which broke up in mid-June.

The school bus law requires motorists to come to a halt when approaching or following a stopped school bus. Until now, only trailing cars had to stop.

The measure does not apply in cities or villages unless local ordinances require it, or on divided highways when the bus is across the divider strip.

★ ★ ★

Price of driver licenses goes up to $3.50 for original applications and lesser amounts for renewals. The increase will help finance high school driver education programs around the state.

A new point system sets forth a specific number of demerits for various traffic violations as a guide in suspending or revoking driver licenses. The Secretary of State's Office has been using the system unofficially all summer.

The "dangling ornament" bill is aimed against drivers who decorate their windshields with baby shoes, fox tails or other objects which impair their vision.

Another new measure authorizes the Governor to reorganize state government, but leaves the way clear for the legislature to veto any of his actions. GGov. Williams already has named a citizens advisory group to make recommendations on government reorganization.

Private businesses which operate on an accrual rather than cash basis will reap federal income tax benefits totaling as much as 150 million dollars under another law. It shifts the due date for property taxes from Jan. 1 to Dec. 31, giv. them a "one-shot" chance to make two property tax deductions for income tax purposes in one year.

★ ★ ★

Among other new measures taking effect Saturday are those which:

Make it a misdemeanor to make a false report on a bomb threat to a school, theater or other site.

Curb sale of obscene literature by redefining objectionable books or pictures and permitting local officials to ask for an injunction, setting up a court hearing on disputed literature.

Authorize suspension of a hunting license for three years for reckless or negligent use of a gun or bow and arrow.

Make it a felony to be convicted for drunk driving three times in 10 years.

★ ★ ★

Authorize two or more local governments, regardless of size, to join in forming an airport authority.

Protect store owners from court action when persons arrested for shoplifting are not convicted, provided the arrest was made in good faith.

Set up a $7,500 salary for delegates to a Constitutional Convention. Voters will decide Nov. 4 whether to call a convention to revise the state constitution.

★ ★ ★

Set up a $5 annual registration fee for lobbyists.

Set a two-year limitation for filing of a suit for injuries resulting from sale of liquor.

I HAVE A VITAL MESSAGE TO YOU WHO SUFFER FROM ARTHRITIS

"I will be happy to talk to anyone interested in learning about how O-JIB-WA BITTERS helped my arthritis. Just call me at HU 2-5456," says Mrs. K. Jacoban, 219 N. Huron Street, Ypsilanti, Michigan.

"I suffered with arthritis for about five years. It was all over my body, but mostly in my arms and legs. My fingers and toes began to curl and enlarge at the joints. It was very painful to walk, in fact, it felt like I had a toothache in my toes. I couldn't carry anything, and had to hold onto the railing to go up or down stairs. The pains were so severe that they kept me awake day and night. I tried every medicine that was suggested to me, but without help. Some of these drugs were so strong that part of the time I wouldn't know what I was doing. Then I read where O-JIB-WA BITTERS had helped a lady in Garden City, so I went there to talk to her and find out about this medicine. She convinced me that I should try O-JIB-WA so I started in right way. It took several weeks before the pains went away, but soon I was all better. I have one finger and one toe that are deformed, but they were that way before I started taking O-JIB-WA. I feel that they would all be deformed by now if it wasn't for this wonderful medicine. I'm so glad that I found out about it in time. I urge every sufferer from rheumatism and arthritis to try O-JIB-WA BITTERS, and the quicker the better."

Susan Kohner Signs Up for 'The Big Fisherman'

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD — Only one look at the rushes of youthful Susan Kohner in "Imitation of Life" and Roland Lee tied her up for Lloyd C. Douglas' "The Big Fisherman." I suspected this would happen after Ross Hunter told me that Susan is turning in a super-preformance in "Imitation of Life" at U-I.

You can't talk to Susan's father, Paul Kohner, he is so proud of her and was the very first to recognize her talents. Her mother, Lupita Tovar, was one of Mexico's top actresses before she became Mrs. Kohner.

★ ★ ★

As I told you probably would happen, Walter Lang will direct his old friend Clark Gable in "But Not For Me," the Perlberg-Seaton movie. It must have taken a bit of doing to pry Walter loose from 20th Century-Fox where he is one of the top directors.

I congratulate Bill Perlberg, George Seaton, Clark Gable, Carroll Baker, Lilli Palmer and that fine actor Lee J. Cobb, who was just signed over the weekend.

All of us who knew Lilli when she was Mrs. Rex Harrison are wondering if she'll be the same charming girl she was before sexy Rexy got in all his trouble, and Lilli turned a suspicious eye on even those who tried to befriend her. But now she's married to Carlos Thompson and things may be different with her.

★ ★ ★

I get it straight that the girl most likely to get "The Jean Harlow Story" starring role is a curvaceous blonde you've never heard of before—a southern belle named Stella Stevens right out of Yazoo City, Miss. (Yes, there is such a town).

All along at 20th Century-Fox they've been saying they hoped to get a brand new face to play the coveted Harlow part. I've heard this so often before I just passed it off. But after making a test of a scene Jean had once played in one of her pictures—it looks like Stella has the part.

She was discovered, believe it or not, by a talent scout who saw her in the Memphis State College presentation of "Bus Stop." He was so overcome with the charms of Miss Stevens that he routed her directly to Hollywood for her test.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Wilbur Clark of Las Vegas, who owns the Desert Inn and the Stardust, has bought the Royal Nevada. He says he hasn't yet decided what type of show to put in.

Rita Hayworth gets here Sept. 22 to report to Bill Goetz at Columbia for "They Came to Cordura."

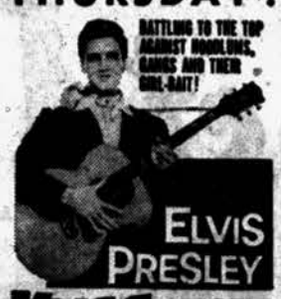

The Bing Crosbys plus the new baby are at Pebble Beach until Sept. 20.

Visited Dino's to hear singer Ann Richards, wife of bandleader Stan Kenton. She looks like Keely Smith and has the same style of singing.

Shielah and Guy Madison joined us. Guy is making an album and his pretty wife says he has to sing the Irish song "Sheila."

★ ★ ★

The Board also announced it will open bids on kitchen equipment for the new junior high school at the next regular meeting, Oct. 13.

Members gave tentative approval to the recently completed Twin Beach Elementary School addition. The Board indicated, however, it may withhold final payment until the entire addition has been completed to its satisfaction.

Other business at the Monday night meeting included:

Approval of renewed membership in the Michigan Assn. of School Boards.

Charlotte Smith of Bay City was the maid of honor, and the attendants were Priscilla Young and Carolyn Greenwood. Janet Hunsakee was the flower girl.

Lawrence Hornsby was the best man, and the ushers were Ronald Milburn and James Greenwood.

Dag Reportedly Fails in Mideast

British Troops Stuck in Jordan Since Truce Fails to Mature

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Dag Hammarskjold is reported to have failed on the primary objective of his Middle East mission—arranging a truce between Jordan and the United Arab Republic so British troops can withdraw from Jordan.

★ ★ ★

The only thing the U.N. Secretary general has accomplished so far in his talks in Cairo, Baghdad and Amman has been to provide a cooling-off period for Middle East tensions, diplomatic sources said.

Hammarskjold came to the middle East to arrange for the withdrawal of U.S. troops from Lebanon and British troops from Jordan. The Lebanese situation already was quieting after the election of Gen. Fuad Chehab to succeed Camille Chamoun as president, and the American forces generally are expected to withdraw soon after Chehab takes office on Sept. 24.

But Jordan's King Hussein and Premier Samir Rifai are reported afraid that the suspension in U.A.R. President Nasser's campaign to unseat them is only temporary. A diplomatic source in Amman said Nasser had refused to guarantee that his government would not interfere in Jordanian affairs. Without such a guarantee, this source said, Hussein and Rifai would not accept a U.N. observer as a replacement for the 3,000 British troops protecting their regime.

Hammarskjold will fly back to New York for the opening of the General Assembly next Tuesday. He has to report to the Assembly by Sept. 30 on his progress in carrying out the unanimous resolution of last month's emergency Assembly session on the Middle East.

The diplomatic source in Amman said Hammarskjold proposed that a "U.N. presence"—probably an ambassador or commissioner to relay reports to the Assembly—be established in Amman as a restraining influence against outside interference.

Jordan insisted that U.N. observers also be put in Cairo and Damascus but Nasser refused to accept his for Cairo, the source said.

Plant-Tint Chlorophyll May Fight Heart Failure

CHICAGO (AP) — Chlorophyll, the stuff that makes plants green, may eventually aid in treatment of heart failure, a chemist said today.

But he added this was no reason for anyone to go and eat chlorophyll-rich vegetables like spinach and beet greens.

★ ★ ★

Two classes of chlorophyll compounds, called chlorins and rhodins, have proved beneficial to laboratory animals with induced heart failure, said Dr. Herbert W. Wetherell Jr. He is assistant professor of physiology and pharmacology at the University of Nebraska.

Speaking to a session of the American Chemical Society's annual convention, Wetherell said he was enthusiastic about results. But he said the materials were not yet ready for testing on humans.

★ ★ ★

Chlorophyll is a plant substance which allows green plants to make sugars and starches from carbon dioxide and water with the aid of sunlight.

"Digitalis — the drug most frequently used in heart failure—is very satisfactory," Wetherell said, "but it must be handled with caution because of its toxic (poisonous) properties."

★ ★ ★

"Our compounds appear to be relatively nontoxic, and to have them available as supplements to digitalis would be advantageous."

Williams Fights On for 'Seal of Quality'

SPARTA (UPI) — Gov. G. Mennen Williams said Tuesday he hasn't given up in his 10-year fight for adoption of a "seal of quality" law for Michigan farm products.

Williams told a meeting of the Peach Ridge Fruit Growers Assn. near Sparta that the voluntary grading plan to help sale of Michigan products would be introduced again in the 1959 Legislature.

The controversial measure passed the House this year but was killed in the Senate Agriculture Committee.

"One senator, identity unknown, interposed his will in a secret committee session to prevent legislation which has received the endorsement of all the major farm groups and an overwhelming vote in the House of Representatives," Williams told the fruit growers.

Mickey Crawford Faces 'Trial Horse' Jones in Chicago Stadium

CHICAGO (AP) — Art student Mickey Crawford, who seems to get more on canvas with a brush than with his fists, faces trial horse Tiger Jones tonight in a 10 round welterweight scrap.

★ ★ ★

The Chicago Stadium show is the 400th nationally televised Wednesday night fight and will be seen over ABC starting at 9 p.m. EST. Scoring will be under the five point must system.

Crawford, 24, has climbed to the National Boxing Assn. No. 4 spot among welterweight contenders on a record of 22 victories in 26 bouts. But the Saginaw, Mich., battler, who hopes eventually to have his own art studio, has only two knockouts to his credit.

★ ★ ★

The well-tested Jones, who will be making his 33rd appearance before the national TV cameras, is a swarming type of fighter who jumped to prominence three years ago in the Chicago Stadium ring by handing comebacker Sugar Ray Robinson one of his worst poundings. The 30-year-old Yonkers, N. Y., resident has 45 victories in 72 starts, but only 11 kayoes.

Skinner Is Named Wings' Head Scout

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Red Wings have made a quick shift in the job of chief scout.

Johnny Mitchell resigned the post yesterday and Jimmy Skinner, former coach, was named to succeed him by general manager Jack Adams.

Mitchell says he is going to return to active coaching in the minors. He has been a coach, referee and scout in several leagues. He was head of the Red Wing scouting staff for six years.

Skinner has been serving as a special assistant to Adams since resigning as coach last year.

Only 3,644 Fans See Tigers Thump Nats, 7-1

Bunning Pitches Distance

DETROIT (AP) — Now Jim Bunning can laugh at all this talk about a jinx or a hoodoo.

Nine straight times the Detroit Tiger righthander had gone to the mound, and nine straight times he was in the shower before the game was completed.

Last night, before the smallest night game crowd in Briggs Stadium history, Bunning went the nine-inning route for the first time since July 20, the day he pitched a no-hitter against the Boston Red Sox. The Tigers defeated the last-place Washington Senators 7-1, before only 3,644 patrons.

For the slender sidearmer who won 20 games a season ago, it was just the seventh complete game in 29 starts but it was an important milestone in an otherwise disappointing season.

★ ★ ★

Plagued by home runs all season long, Bunning scarcely needed any kind of a so-called jinx to add to his woes.

Though he pitched a nifty three-hitter for his 11th triumph against 10 setbacks, Bunning could not avoid the gopher ball. Herb Plews, the light-hitting Washington second baseman, ruined Bunning's shutout effort with a leadoff home run in the ninth.

The ball bounced off the upper tier in right field. It was only Plews' second home run of the season, and both of them came off Bunning who now has yielded 23 to lead the Tiger staff.

★ ★ ★

Al Kaline, coming on strong in the hitting department after a faltering start, gave Bunning all the support he needed with four straight singles. Kaline scored one run and drove in two others, while Bunning helped himself to a walk, a run and a single.

Gail Harris drove in two runs without getting a hit. Twice runners scored while the Detroit first baseman was grounding out.

The contest was delayed 39 minutes at the start by a heavy rain, and a first inning shower brought another 17-minute delay. Once things got under way, though, Bunning was near-untouchable.

★ ★ ★

He did not yield a hit until Clint Courtney laced a double down the right field line to open the fifth inning. The only other hit besides Plews' roundtripper was an eighth inning pinch single by Julio Becquer.

Detroit Lions Trade 'Bomb' to Pittsburgh

Ex-Birmingham High Grid Star Exchanged for Draft Choice

NORMAN, Okla. — George Wilson once said he would trade off his brother if he thought it would help the Detroit Lions.

It turns out he wasn't entirely kidding.

Yesterday, Wilson dealt off Tom Tracy, the fullback whose running sparked the Lions to victory in the Western Division playoff game last December against the San Francisco 49ers.

The Lions sent Tracy to Buddy Parker's Pittsburgh Steelers in exchange for a high draft choice in 1959.

Tracy left Norman immediately and headed for California, Pa., where the Steelers are training and he expected to see action Friday night in St. Louis where Pittsburgh meets the Chicago Cardinals.

The former Birmingham schoolboy flash who played his college ball at Tennessee, scored twice as the Lions came from behind and nipped the 49ers, earning the right to meet the Cleveland Browns for the world title last year.

★ ★ ★

Too, the Lions went to a lot of trouble to get Tracy. Their fifth draft choice a few seasons back, Tracy decided instead to play his professional football in Canada. His college line coach, Frank Clair, went to the Ottawa Roughriders and Tracy followed.

In 1955, his only full year in the Canadian league, Tracy was the sparkplug of the Ottawa team. They called him "the Doak Walker of Canada."

Two years ago, while W. Nick Kerbawy was general manager of the Lions, he signed Tracy to a National Football League contract. But the "peace movement" between the NFL and the Canadian people was then in full swing, and NFL commissioner Bert Bell would not approve the pact.

★ ★ ★

He said, in agreeing with the Canadians, that Tracy had to play out his option year on his Canadian contract.

So when Tracy again reported to Ottawa, he sufered a knee injury. Kerbawy persuaded the Roughriders to release him — and he signed with Detroit. Placed on the active list in the NFL after the 1956 season was under way, Tracy saw little action.

His departure after such an outstanding contribution to the world champions is the result of the fine rookie play of backs Danny Lewis of Wisconsin and Ken Webb of Presbyterian. Lewis, especially, has been surprisingly good in the pre-season work.

Austin Cage Star Selects U. of D. as Alma Mater

DETROIT (UPI) — Austin high school's star basketball player, Dave Debusschere, is going to enroll today at the University of Detroit after turning down offers from a number of colleges and 15 Major League baseball clubs.

Debusschere, a 6-5 forward, led Austin Catholic to two state tournaments.

He was named the most outstanding player of the state tournaments in 1957 and 1958. Austin lost to Muskegon Heights in 1957 but beat Benton Harbor in 1958 for the title.

2 Michigan Golfers Survive

Kocsis, Miles Move Along in U.S. Amateur

All Favorites Advance in 3rd Round Matches at Olympic CC

(Special to The Pontiac Press)

SAN FRANCISCO — Michigan's contingent in the National Amateur golf tournament had "so-so" luck Tuesday in the second round of match play at Olympic Country Club.

Only two of the state's six entries, Chuck Kocsis of Royal Oak and Birmingham's John Miles, were still alive today.

Kocsis, who went to the finals of this tourney in 1956 before losing to Harvie Ward, defeated Robert Ihlanfeldt of Seattle, Wash., 1 up, after holding a 3-up advantage at the turn.

The veteran Kocsis was slated to meet John Humm of Rockville Center, N.Y., in today's 3rd round action.

One Michigan victory came at the expense of another state player when Miles, the young magazine salesman, eliminated Tom Draper of Birmingham, 1 up.

Richard Weyand, 19-year-old Birmingham golfer, bowed to Bill Williamson of Charlotte, N. C., 2-1, while Tony Lopucki from Romulus dropped a 2-1 decision to Cobby Ware of Augusta, Ga. Lopucki was 1 down at the turn in a close match.

Jim Vickers of Wichita, Kan., who at this stage looks like the "dark horse" of the tournament, was Miles' scheduled opponent today.

★ ★ ★

The most controversial round of golf in the 58-year history of the National Amateur may be played today when defending champion Hillman Robbins tangles with Martin Stanovich.

Stanovich probably has the most unorthodox swing in major league amateur golf. But the claim is that he can shoot "just good enough" to win any match. In fact, the U.S. Golf Association took notice of this a couple of years ago when it turned down his application.

The field was cut to 64 before today's matches—and by nightfall only 16 of these will be left after the third and fourth rounds.

★ ★ ★

But starting today, the cream of the crop, from the youngsters to Chick Evans, the 68-year-old exchamp, still were in contention.

Robbins wheeled through the second round with a 5-3 win over former Walker Cup player Bruce Cudd, 5-3.

Bud Taylor, runner-up to Robbins for the crown last season, trimmed junior star Gary Liotta, El Cerrito, Calif., 3-2.

★ ★ ★

Ward, champion in 1955 and 1956 before the U.S.G.A. barred him for taking excess expense money, wobbled to a 1-up victory over Jack Nicklaus, Columbus, Ohio.

Billy Joe Patton won over Paul Stoner, St. Paul, Minn., 2-up, and former champion Charley Coe trimmed Dick Giddings, Brawley, Calif., 3-1.

Ex-Public Links titleholder Gene Andrews advanced with a 3-2 win over Ed Preisler of Cleveland, Ohio.

★ ★ ★

Evans, playing in his 46th tournament, defeated "young" Ellis Taylor, 42, from Wilmington, Del., 3-2.

And another old-timer, 55-year-old Johnny Dawson, Los Angeles, also advanced with a 3-1 win over Jim McCarthy, Joliet, Ill.

AP Wirephoto

TOP TALENT — Two-time National Amateur Golf Champion Harvie Ward drives from the tee on the third hole with a large gallery following him. Ward won the titles in 1955 and 1956 but last year drew a suspension for expense money irregularities. He defeated Jack Nicklaus yesterday.

Hole-in-One Fails to Avert 4-2 Loss

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Skipper Stigger, youthful golfer from Henderson, Ky., dunked a hole in one Tuesday on the eighth hole of his second-round match in the National Amateur championships at the Olympic Club.

But Stigger's ace wasn't enough. Eli Bariteau, his opponent, went on to win the match 4 and 2.

Joe Holup Signs Piston Contract

Defenseman 3rd From Last Year's Club to Join 1958 Squad

DETROIT (UPI) — Defensive ace Joe Holup signed his contract with the Detroit Pistons for the coming season yesterday to become the third holdover from the 1957-58 team.

★ ★ ★

Holup played 36 games for Detroit last season after being purchased on waivers from the Syracuse Nationals. This will be his third season in the National Basketball Association.

The Pistons now have nine of their 15-man training camp squad in the fold, general manager Nick Kerbawy said. Still unsigned, however, are forwards George Yardley, Walter Dukes and guards Gene Shue, Bill Kenville and Chuck Noble.

★ ★ ★

Kerbawy said a pre-season game against the Minneapolis Lakers will be held Oct. 20 in Flint, Mich.

Two College Players Sign With Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Milwaukee Braves announced Tuesday night signing two college ball players to contracts with minor league affiliates.

They were left-hander Ed Willey, 24, of Chester, Mass., a graduate of American International College, and first baseman Frank Saia, 23, a graduate of Harvard. Willey, no relation to Braves' pitcher Carl Willey, was signed to a 1959 contract with Eau Claire, Wis., in the Class C Northern League while Saia was signed to a 1959 pact with Atlanta, Ga., in the Class AA Southern Assn.

Young Outfielder Joins Chisox, Paces Triumph

By The Associated Press

Johnny Callison, the kid outfielder who was reluctantly returned to the minors for seasoning last spring, has come back battling for the Chicago White Sox in their second place showdown with Boston in the American League.

★ ★ ★

Callison, 19, was recalled yesterday from Indianapolis, where he led the American Assn. with 29 home runs. A few hours later he batted 3-for-3 as the White Sox beat Boston 4-1 behind the three-hit pitching of Early Wynn.

Callison, playing only his second year of pro ball in a jump from Class C, drove home the tying run with a double and scored on Wynn's winning single in a three-run sixth inning. Then he doubled and scored again in the eighth.

★ ★ ★

The White Sox victory postponed New York's inevitable pennant clinching. Cleveland rapped the Yankees 9-2 and the Injuns were still at it when rain stopped the game in an eight-run fifth inning.

Kansas City socked five home runs, three by Preston Ward, in an 8-6 victory over Baltimore.

Wynn, at 38 the winningest pitcher still active in the majors, gained his 249th victory with his second three-hit job of the year. He also has three two-hitters tucked away in a 14-13 record.

★ ★ ★

The Red Sox scored in the first on Don Buddin's leadoff double and a single by Ted Williams. Wynn, pushing his AL-leading strikeout total to 162 with seven, walked only three and gave up just one more single—that, too, by Williams, in the third. Frank Sullivan (11-8) was the loser.

Williams, out since Aug. 24 fighting a virus, gained three points and jumped to third with .318 in the wide-open batting race. Teammate Pete Runnels was hitless and lost two points for .321. Bob Cerv of Kansas City held second, adding a point with two hits for .319. Williams jumped from fifth, passing hitless Vic Power (.315) of Cleveland Harvey Kuenn (.314) of Detroit.

★ ★ ★

Russ Nixon, who had hit but six home runs, rapped a pair and drove in four runs as the Indians overhauled a 2-0 Yankee lead built on Mickey Mantle's 40th home run.

Mickey Boosts Golf Earnings

DALLAS (AP)—The girls on the golf tour think winsome Mickey Wright, the pretty blonde from San Diego who has a swing to match her personality, should be named Woman Athlete of the Year.

★ ★ ★

Miss Wright, who yesterday became the biggest tournament winner in women's golf when she took a playoff for first money in the $8,500 Dallas Open, appears to qualify well for the honor.

★ ★ ★

She has won five tournaments, including the National Open and ladies PGA, banked $11,134.18 and maintained a stroke adverage of 75.10. She played some of the finest golf ever seen in Dallas yesterday in beating lanky Beverly Hanson of Indio, Calif., by three strokes in the battle for first money of $1,247.35.

Hillsdale Favored Again in MIAA

By The Associated Press

Getting tired of reading about Hillsdale College?

Pity the poor teams who have to play the Dales! Of course, coach Muddy Waters is as renowned for his soap opera sadness as he is for coaching undefeated football teams, and this is the time of year when the former Michigan State fullback emotes best.

So as not to lose any of the quality and meaning in translation, here are Coach Waters' direct quotes about the 1958 campaign: "We'll be weaker. We lost 13 lettermen by graduation, including seven starters. Also, our top three guard prospects are ineligible along with five other lettermen. We'll be predominantly juniors. There are many unknowns and uncertainties."

The other six coaches in the MIAA are not sympathetic toward the man whose team has won five straight MIAA championships.

In a squad of 80 candidates, Waters has 25 lettermen — more than any other school in the league. And the squad is about double the turnout at most other schools.

★ ★ ★

For the MIAA itself, this is the 55th football season and the league will crown its Golden Anniversary champion. No titlists were determined in 1918, 1921, or 1943-44-45.

Hillsdale, champ since 1954, has gone through 28 league games without a defeat and has won 25 MIAA games in a row. Albion tied the Dales in November 1953, and the last loss in the circuit was a 28-7 defeat by Hope earlier that same season.

Coach Morley Fraser's Albion team appears to have the best chance of unseating the Dales. He has 23 lettermen back, including Little All-America end Tom Taylor. Another cheerful note at Albion is the return of fullback Jim Hurd, an all-league choice in 1955 and 1956 but ineligible last fall. If Fraser can find a capable quarterback to fill the vacancy left by Bob Gamble's graduation, the Britons could be mighty tough.

★ ★ ★

Hope's Dutchmen, 4-2 in the league and 7-2 overall last season, lost all four backfield regulars and two top linemen. Russ Devette has a squad of 45, including 17 lettermen, and feels his team will jell into a strong unit by the time the season is halfway along.

Alma suffered heavy losses and has only 12 lettermen back. Coach Art Smith will have to scrape to replace All-MIAA center Eric Sundeek, lost because of scholastic difficulties. He may have to switch Capt. Bill Klenk from end to quarterback.

Majors Agree on Need to Revive Bonus Rule

CHICAGO (AP) — The major leagues ended their meeting yesterday in complete agreement that something must be done about the bonus rule, player draft laws and realignment of the minor leagues.

★ ★ ★

At a joint meeting of the American and National Leagues, it was agreed that the bonus rule must be restored. A nine-man committee, headed by Cleveland General Manager Frank Lane, was appointed to study the possibility of a new bonus rule and to submit a plan at a December meeting in Washington, D.C.

★ ★ ★

Another six-man committee was named to start a series of meetings to bring about realignment of the minor leagues from AAA classification on down. This group also was instructed to have a working plan ready for the winter meeting.

Commissioner Ford Frick said club owners were in favor of revision of the draft rule but no proposals were offered. Last winter a new draft rule was passed which allowed the selection of any number of players having four years experience from one club. Previously, only one could be drafted from each club. At that time the draft price was raised from $10,000 to $25,000.

★ ★ ★

In addition, the two leagues gave the radio-TV problem some thought. Another half million dollars was allocated to the minor league emergency fund established for the purpose of helping deserving minor league clubs in financial difficulties. An original half million dollars given to Bill DeWitt, co-ordinator of the fund, is nearly exhausted.

★ ★ ★

Frick brought up the question of broadcasting and telecasting major league games into minor league territory. Every major league club either telecasts or broadcasts into minor league territory and Frick warned the club owners of the damage this practice has caused the minors.

★ ★ ★

Frick said he was in favor of the former rule which stated no major league club could telecast or broadcast into the home territory of a minor league club the day that club was scheduled to play at home.

Orion, Clawson, Troy Own Grid Horses Again

3-Team Race in Oakland B

(This is the second of a series of area prep league football roundups. Tomorrow the suburban Catholic.)

By BILL CORNWELL

History should repeat itself this season in the Oakland B League football campaign with Lake Orion, Clawson and Troy racing for the championship.

But three other active members of the conference—Avondale, Madison and Fitzgerald—are ready to argue with the "big trio" and there is every reason to believe that they will give a good account of themselves.

Oak Park, the 7th and newest addition to the Oakland B, does not enter loop competition in either football or basketball until the 1959-1960 school year. The Parkers make their official league entrance next spring.

Orion, Clawson and Troy finished in that order last year and they look like the class of the circuit again.

★ ★ ★

There's a new head coach on the Orion campus and a few stalwarts have gone via graduation, but the defending champion Dragons have enough horses coming back to take it all once more.

Frank Kownacki takes over the coaching duties now that Ted Sela has departed for an attractive gridiron post in New York and Jim Drake, Nick Neira, Doug Storey, Jim Neph and Jack Schaeffer—to name a handful—have ended high school days.

Each boy is a huge loss, but returning letter winners such as fullback John Schoff, halfback Jeff Snarey, and linemen Ralph Chittick, Dean Callison and Ross Waite will make Kownacki's first year much easier.

★ ★ ★

Jim Recknagel, veteran end, and Snarey are being groomed for the quarterback spot vacated by Neira and the two may alternate at the position. Dick McClarty and Bud Gouin are fighting for the speedy Drake's vacant halfback slot.

Lettermen Dave Julian and Gary Sheldon and newcomers Keith Broadkorb and Gary Hawn, all linemen, are some of the reasons for Orion's hopes of winning a second straight title.

Clawson, which won the crown two years ago, lost a lot of high-caliber grid material through graduation, especially up front. But coach Bob Acton is by no means short of talent.

★ ★ ★

Lowell (Newt) Acton, Bob's brother and a powerful runner at 6-foot 1 and 190 pounds, is the No. 1 gridder on the Clawson roster. A fullback for two seasons, Acton may switch to halfback this fall and he could become the best ball carrier in the loop.

Tackles Tom Davis and Burgess Young, guard Chuck Harding, quarterback Jerry Eno and end Lee Strittmatter, who missed the 1957 season with a broken wrist, are among the lettermen on hand.

Troy's loss is Avondale's gain, but the Colts of Joe Bechard will be mighty tough before the race is finished.

★ ★ ★

Bill Jennings, a rugged linebacker, left a hole in Troy's defense when he moved to Avondale this summer and Avon coach Frank Crowell welcomed him with open arms and promptly pushed him into a tackle spot.

The Colts should hold their own, however. Bill McAninch, who is shifting from center to end, guard Chuck Beach, end Paul DePauw, guard Chuck Steele, quarterback Rick McKinnon and veteran halfback Dave Stokes promise to make things rough for the opposition. Lack of depth is Troy's greatest problem.

Crowell hopes the Yellow Jackets will improve enough to at least climb out of the league cellar. The transfer of Jennings plus the return of halfback Larry Douglas, out of action last year, and quarterback Gary Acker will boost their stock.

★ ★ ★

Dick Smith, a decptive 140-pounder, may alternate with Acker at the quarterback post while Tom Greenlees, Don Barnhart, Pat Shurtz, Walt Cooley, Tom Selhost and Herb Harris are letter winners on the forward wall.

Coach Don Scott sees a better finish in the circuit for his Madison Eagles and a larger turnout than usual this fall has buoyed his thoughts. Leroy Hill, senior quarterback, looms as the mainstay of the squad.

A rebuilding job faces Al Drath, new head coach at Fitzgerald. Drath will field mostly a sophomore and junior team and he thinks the Spartans are a year away. Fullback Gary Wilkie heads the list of returning lettermen.

An experienced backfield, led by Ray Kovachevich who scored 42 points a year ago, and two strong ends brighten the picture for Oak Park coach Norm Krawczak. The Parkers meet Clawson and Madison in non-league play this fall.

Here is how the Oakland B teams are expected to finish in 1958:
1. Lake Orion
2. Clawson
3. Troy
4. Avondale
5. Madison
6. Fitzgerald

Greene Quits NBA Post After Speech

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Abe J. Greene, national commissioner of the National Boxing Assn. since 1948, resigned Tuesday after an impassioned speech to the NBA convention.

Greene, a Paterson, N. J., newspaper position be eliminated. Greene never attempted to use the powers of his office to overshadow the position of NBA president. He said he acted only in an advisory capacity.

A faction in the NBA, however, felt the office of national commissioner infringed on the job of president, and insisted that the position be liminated. Greene asked to be released from his office to prevnt the constant feud-feuding and bickering" in the NBA.

Cervi, Ex-Nat Coach Sought by Warriors

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Al Cervi, former coach of the Syracuse Nats now associated with a Rochester, N.Y., trucking firm, has been offered the job of coaching the Philadelphia Warriors of the National Basketball Assn.

Eddie Gottlieb, owner of the Warriors, said Tuesday that Cervi's appointment to succeed George Senesky hinged on whether he could obtain a leave of absence with the trucking company, his present employer.

Senesky coached the Warriors from the 1955-56 season when they won the NBA title. Gottlieb plans to name him his arministrative assistant.

Byers May Be Lost to 'M' for Season

Center Position Is Now Problem to Wolverines

Ex-Back Suffers Injury to Leg; Sophomore Now Only Contender

ANN ARBOR (UP) — Jim Byers was the kind of football player that forms the foundation of all good football teams.

He never got much glory in his two seasons at Michigan. He was a utility man, the guy who played when the regulars were weary or hurt.

Once as a sophomore he scored a touchdown. Once last season, filling in for the injured John Herrnstein, Byers made headlines. That was against Northwestern.

Byers ripped through the Wildcat line for 98 yards that day. His smashes of 21 and 22 yards lit the fire that produced three fourth quarter touchdowns. The score had been tied 14-14 until then.

★ ★ ★

Otherwise, Byers played in relative obscurity. Last spring coach Bennie Oosterbaan began making a center out of the 200-pounder from Evansville, Ind.

"All I want to do is to be a starter," Byers said, "and if I can start at center it's fine with me."

He was doing well and was scheduled to be a starter until his knee gave way last Saturday. The injury was aggravated Monday. Yesterday Byers was on crutches.

"I'm afraid he's through," Oosterbaan said.

If so, it's a grave blow to Michigan. Byers' socking linebacking ability was important to the Wolverines. There also is a serious shortage of centers in the Michigan camp.

Dick Syring, a green sophomore who won all-state honors at Bay City, automatically was promoted to Byers' spot. Syring, like Byers, is a novice center. He was a freshman guard last year.

"Syring's going to be good, he's advancing well," Oosterbaan said. But he still needs a lot of work, and I wish he were bigger."

Syring is a stocky 190 pounds. His biggest problem is snapping the ball in Michigan's single wing offense.

Pirates Take 4½ Game Bulge in Battle for 2nd

Bucs Defeat Giants Twice

By The Associated Press

A flash of genius hit Manager Danny Murtaugh, Ted Kluszewski hit the ball and the Pittsburgh Pirates hit the San Francisco Giants for a 4½-game lead in their run for the runnerup spot in the National League.

That's the way the Bucs, riding this high for the first time since 1944, made off with a two-game sweep over the Giants last night. They won 2-1 on Murtaugh's handy hunch after winning 4-3 in the completion of a game left hanging since July 27 by Pennsylvania's Sunday curfew law.

★ ★ ★

Bill Mazeroski, who earlier hit his 17th home run, led off the nightcap ninth with a double for the Pirates. Dick Groat drew an intentional walk and Billy Hall, who was 2-for-3, was batting with an 0-1 count when Murtaugh got the flash.

Kluszewski took Hall's place and broke the 1-1 tie with a single.

The Pirates cut Milwaukee's lead to 6½ games, but the Braves reduced their magic number to nine en route to their second straight pennant by beating Cincinnati 3-2. St. Louis beat the Chicago Cubs 8-7. Philadelphia ended its losing string at seven by beating Los Angeles 4-3 after a 6-2 success in the completion of another July 27 game.

★ ★ ★

Frank Thomas, who had hit a two-run homer for a 3-3 tie before the curfew sounded in Pittsburgh six weeks ago, drove in the winning run with a single as play resumed in the eighth inning. Bob Porterfield (3-6) was the winner in relief. Paul Giel (4-5) lost it.

The Giants tied the regularly scheduled game against rookie George Witt in the sixth on a two-out walk to Willie Mays, who stole second, and Orlando Cepeda's double. Reliever Elroy Face (5-2) was the winner, getting pinch-hitter Bill White for the final out with the bases loaded. Gordon Jones (2-1) was the loser in relief.

★ ★ ★

The Braves won with two runs in the ninth, counting the clincher on a two-out error. Singles by Ed Mathews, Hank Aaron and Frank Torre tied it 2-all against Don Newcombe. After a walk loaded the bases, Brooks Lawrence came on in relief and retired Billy Bruton and pinch-hitter Del Crandall on popups. But Wes Covington's easy grounder then went through Goerge Crowe's legs at first and the Braves bagged it.

Newcombe, who had won four straight, lost it for 6-12 record. Bob Rush (8-6) was the winner, relieving rookie Curt Willey after eight innings.

★ ★ ★

Gene Freese hit a solo homer and Eddie Kasko socked his first grand slam for the Cardinals, who won on Gene Green's double and a single by Irv Noren in the eighth inning. Ernie Banks hit his 45th homer—breaking his own major league record for shortstops—and Dale Long his 17th for the Cubs. Jim Brosnan (11-8) was the winner in relief of Sam Jones, who pushed his major league leading strikeout total to 206 with five in his 5 1-3 innings. Don Elston (7-8) lost it in relief.

★ ★ ★

Wally Post's sixth career grand slam won the July 27 completion for the Phils and reliever Jim Hearn (5-3). It came on the second pitch by reliever Clem Labine. Fred Kipp (6-5) was the loser.

Bengal Farm Club Still in AA Series

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI) —The Charleston Senators, with a six-run uprising in the second inning, held on to defeat the Denver Bears, 8-7, here last night in the opener of the American Association playoffs. Charleston is a Detroit Tiger farm club.

★ ★ ★

Charleston's Jerry Davie, relieved in the eighth by Barney Schultz, was credited with the win, while Ed Donnelly was handed the loss.

The teams continued the playoffs today with another single game. Don Lee (14-7) was slated to go for Charleston while John Gobler was to hurl for Denver.

Tigers Give Up on Hoeft?

DETROIT (UP) — Manager Bill Norman never has said so, in so many words, but it is plain he has given up on southpaw Bill Hoeft.

A 20-game winner two seasons ago, Hoeft was 9-11 last year. This season his record is 8-9 and he has completed only 5 of 18 starts and has been used in relief 15 other times.

In recent games, Hoeft has had scarcely a call from Norman.

The former ace has had only five starting assignments since mid-July and went the route in just one of them. He beat Baltimore Aug. 3, winning 4-1. Hoeft has not started since Aug. 21, and in his last two outings was batted out in the third inning.

Norman is sticking with four starters — Frank Lary, Jim Bunning, Paul Foytack and Herb Moford — and calling upon George Susce and Al Cicotte for the spot assignments.

Fullback Only Post Unfilled on MSU Squad

Other Positions Have Veterans All Ready for Action

EAST LANSING (UP)—Fullback is the only backfield position at Michigan State where you couldn't name the starter for the opening game right now.

Mike Panitch, the chunky Chicago senior, is slated to start at quarterback. Lansing junior Dean Look is picked for left half and Flint senior Art Johnson has right half sewed up.

But Bob Arend and Bob Bercich are still battling it out at fullback.

The position was put up for grabs this fall when Blanche Martin, the River Rouge power runner, was knocked out by a knee operation.

★ ★ ★

With just two and one half weeks to go before the Sept. 27 opener here with California, coaches are still alternating Arend and Bercich with the first string.

Arend, 21-year-old, 6-1, 205-pound senior from Bareda, had a disappointing season last year. He was badly crippled by a leg injury, played only 47 minutes and didn't earn a letter.

Arend has the build and the speed—he won a Class A state high school hurdles championship. But he's been injury-prone and it's mostly a matter of whether he can stay healthy.

★ ★ ★

Bercich, 21-year-old 6-1, 190-pound junior from Summit, Ill., lettered as the second fullback last fall while only a sophomore. He played 177 minutes and averaged 4.1 yards a try.

★ ★ ★

At the start of spring drills he was switched to left half but went back to fullback again this fall.

"Arend has been running better now than any time in his playing career," commented coach Duffy Daugherty. "And Bercich is a good all-around player.

"We'll keep using them both until one shows a definite edge. But both should see plenty of action.

Tribe Tests Fan Interest

CLEVELAND (AP)—This is the night Clevelanders are to convince the Cleveland baseball club that this city which wrote major league attendance records a decade ago still is a baseball town.

With fair weather a turnout of 45,000 is expected. That would exceed the opener crowd by about 10,000 and be the 1958 season high here.

★ ★ ★

There will be a parade with 10 or more marching bands, upward of a dozen color guards and a number of drill teams. It starts an hour before game time.

There will be a 15-minut speech-making program at homeplate just before the New York Yankees go to bat.

★ ★ ★

Door prizes ranging from a new Chevrolet donated by the ball club to Ted Williams' best rod and reel set, donated by the Splended Splinter himself, will be distributed. Total value of the prizes, some 38 in number, has been stimated variously at from around $15,000 to as high as $35,000.

Then there will be fireworks.

Twinbills in AABC Meet

BATTLE CREEK (UPI) — Two teams were scheduled to play twinbills today as five squads swung into the fifth round of the Eastern AABC baseball tournament here.

★ ★ ★

Chicago drew a bye, but Cincinnati was to play a 12:30 p.m. game with Wyandotte and then a 3:30 p.m. contest with Knoxville. Cleveland and Wyandotte were to clash in the night game at 7:30.

Fly Fisherman Catches Rattler on 50-Foot Cast

HAVRE, Mont. (AP) — There'll be many a fishing tale before the season is over, but how many fly fishermen can lay claim to catching a rattler on a 50-foot cast?

Cecil Shew of Havre says it happened to him at Tiber Reservoir.

Shew says he was casting peacefully when he glanced out and noticed a rattler swimming along about 100 feet ahead of him.

The rattler started in toward the shore and Shew let fly with a cast intended to "agitate him a little."

The hook snagged the snake about 10 inches behind its head. Shew reeled in his catch and a bystander killed it. He said the rattler measured 36 inches and had seven rattles and a button.

13 St. Bernards in Litter

Pups Aid Education

Sweetie, a 180-pound St. Bernard dog, pet of 20-year-old Dick Weber 4575 Rockcroft, Drayton Plains, probably doesn't know it, but she's going to have a part in the education of her master.

★ ★ ★

The handsome lady, from a line of great (and the term is used literally) dogs of the breed made famous by Alpine monks, a few days ago became the mother of 13 (average one pound) puppies. That's where she comes in as Dick's benefactor.

Weber, graduate of Waterford High, with a year at Ferris Institute hopes to finance part of an education as a conservationist at Michigan State University. T've always liked animals and the outdoors," says Dick. "And I hope through sale of some of these puppies I can study at MSU."

The litter whelped by Sweetie (reg. Sweetie Pie of Sandy Hill), is unusual in its number. This breed seldom has more than 8 or 10.

There is one other thing Weber has in mind for some one of the pups. He hopes to discover a world champion show dog among them. Sweetie is two years old, has been entered at a number of shows. Her sire is Flicka a 355-pounder, and the sire of her brood is Murphy (Gulliver's Vhchmwuzldhof) a 255-pounder, owned by James Freeman of Highland.

Pontiac Press Photo

BIG BROOD — Dick Weber, 20, Drayton Plains resident with an eye to the future as a professional conservationist, has just become the proud possessor of 13 fluffy St. Bernard puppies, the progeny of his handsome dog, Sweetie (above). Dick hopes the sale of the puppies will assist in paying for a conservation education at Michigan State. The big brood arrived Sept. 7 and numbered 13. Usual litter for this breed is between six and 10.

Win Over Vim Boosts Columbia as Cup Defender

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — Columbid defeated Vim in heavy seas Tuesday and greatly enhanced its changes of being picked to defend the America's Cup against Britain.

★ ★ ★

A few minutes after the race ended W.A.W. Stewart, chairman of the seven-man selection committee, announced that there would be another race between the two craft Wednesday in what already is the longest final showdown series in history of the cup.

★ ★ ★

Expert opinion here was that all Columbia would have to do is win the next race to be selected to defend the coveted cup against Sceptre, the British challenger.

This marked Columbia's third victory in five starts in the final series against the 19-year-old Vim.

Plenty Warning Given; Violators Ignored Them

... .By JACK PATTERSON .... of their lives outdoors. And they got paid for it.

The illegal traffic in wild ducks in the Harsen's Island area had become so open and notorious that it should have been obvious to almost anyone that some rope was being paid out by an interested government to make it easier for violators to hang themselves. About the only ones who didn't read the warning signs correctly were those violators themselves, as recent wholesale arrests testify. As any legitimate business man could have told them, the time to watch out is when things are going along too smoothly.

PATTERSON

We know some of the people who were picked up; in fact, hunted ducks with them, under, we hasten to add, legal circumstances. By most standards they qualify as good Joes. Marsh born and marsh bred, they are as much creatures of the flats as the waterfowl; so much at home with them that they can literally talk to ducks.

Perhaps because of a contempt bred by familiarity, these men, almost without exception, have a blind spot when it comes to dealing fairly with the ducks that share their marshes, and with the laws of the land that attempt to protect those ducks.

They displayed an unconscious cruelty to their quarry that is seldome seen in men who spend most of their lives outdoors. And they got paid for it.

★ ★ ★

So long as there are people who will buy wild ducks, in defiance of federal law, there will be marshmen to supply the demand. Dry up the demand and market shooting will die along with it. We might add that those who deal in wild ducks and those who buy them are, if anything, less enviable characters than those who shoot for the market, lacking as they do, the feeble excuse of augmenting income in an area where bucks come hard.

★ ★ ★

If these men are convicted and pay the maximum penalty, which is little more than a slap on the wrist, it is doubted if they'll realize the enormity of their offense. For the depredations of these men, and others like them throughout the country, amount to more than flouting laws drawn up in distant Washington.

They have hit a body blow at volunteer workers and contributors to Ducks Unlimited, to the hundreds of thousands of hunters who buy duck stamps, to career men who risk their lives in defense of wildfowl and perhaps worst of all, their lawlessness has threatened the very existence of two of the most valuable species.

Solunar Table

Area fishermen can make good use of the following solunar table for the ensuing week. It may help in planning a fishing trip to some area waters, as the table gives the best times for the sports. Table was prepared by noted outdoorsman John Alden Knight, expecially for this section.

One, and the Same

Scientists agree the rainbow and steelhead are one and the same trout; the steelhead merely being a rainbow that has migrated to Great Lakes or sea waters.

The brown trout is sometimes referred to as the English brown, European brown, German brown, or Lockleven trout.

11 Days of Rough Going

Outboard Spans Atlantic

By The Associated Press

What does it take to cross the Atlantic in a 22-foot outboard motorboat?

Well, in addition to the boat and motor, it takes three small boat experts, 1½ tons of supplies, a 7,500 ton mother ship and a lot of luck.

★ ★ ★

The fireside sailor who turns a little green when his rocking chair gets to yawing on the carpet may have a thought or two about the necessary ratio of intestinal fortitude to get old cautious horse sense, but it was ever thus in hazardous undertakings.

★ ★ ★

An outboard cruiser built and skippered by Ole Botved of Denmark turned the trick this summer. Crewing for Botved were Sven Orjangaard of Sweden, a shipmaster on vacation for the project, and engineer Jim Wynn of Miami. They turned the trick in 10 days and 17 hours, with an average speed of 16.3 mph for the 3,443 statute miles from Copenhagen to New York.

Having the fast freighter Clary Thorden as a mother ship turned out to be a blessing, but a bruising one at times. In rough water—and there was plenty of it—the small boat took a terrific beating as it thumped along trying to keep up with the big ship's 18-knot schedule.

The Australian thoroughbred Phar Lap was foaled in New Zealand in 1926 and was bought at a yearling sale for $800.

M-L Holds Two-Day 'Outdoorama'

Practically every kind of competition, demonstrations and exhibits, in an outdoors sense, will be on the two-full-days program for Multi-Lakes Conservation Assn. 3rd annual "Outdoorama." The big outdoors event takes place Saturday and Sunday at the association clubgrounds, on Reed's Lake, near Walled Lake. Public is invited and signs have been posted along main highways for direction-markers. Admission is free.

★ ★ ★

M-L officials today said that with good weather, an attendance between 5,000 and 10,000 can be expected. Club is located at 3680 Newton road.

One highlight of the affair will be the appearance of Detroit Lion coach George Wilson, say M-L officials. Wilson is expected to fly back from Oklahoma to make the award of prizes. He is in Norman for the Lions—Eagles game this weekend (Saturday).

★ ★ ★

Shotgun experts, like Chet Crites, the three Brown brothers of Birmingham, among top guns in the recent world championships here, will perform. A 50-bird shoot between Detroit and M-L top skeet and trap marksmen is a feature.

Flycasting, archery, a beauty contest, a Little League ball game, fashion show, helicopter rides, fireworks, music are just a few of the things on tap for visitors.

★ ★ ★

Top event for the Outdoorama, however, is the selection of Michigan's all-around outdoors champion, in the "Medalist" tourney. Winner of this high honor will face a rigorous round of competition in small-bore rifle shooting, archery, trap and skeet, fly-casting and bait-casting. A possible total of 600 points could be compiled, 100 for each event.

★ ★ ★

Determination of the champion will be made Sunday evening, when all awards will be presented in the clubhouse.

Three Kinds of Grouse

Michigan's prairie grouse include the ruffed grouse, the sharp-tailed grouse and the prairie chicken. Each year, these birds go through characteristic dances and antics that may be seen closeup and photographed from blinds.

Little Stories About Outdoors

West Michigan public officials, lake property owners and boating group officials recently extended informal approval for a proposal to make it mandatory for all small boat operators to possess a license, similar to the automobile driver permits. Suggestion came from a Grand Rapids safety councilman at a meeting of the state water safety study commission.

Secretary of state James Hare has pointed out that a statewide safety education program would be part of a solution for handling the acknowledged serious problem. He says major emphasis in efforts to reduce boating accidents should be on education and engineering.

★ ★ ★

Fall bird hunting is not too far away. Many sportsmen are beginning to think about re-establishing those pleasant and satisfactory contacts with the farmers over whose lands he expects to hunt this fall. And it's never too early to renew these friendships that help to make field work satisfactory for both parties. A number of farmer-sportsmen meetings have been set, first one of the state Farm Bureau, Grange Detroit Sportsmen's Congress and MUCC-sponsored series take place at Marine City, Sept. 11.

★ ★ ★

Death this week of Walter J. Willman, St. Petersburg, Fla., took a nationally-known angler and fishing gadget inventor. Willman, 77, was a member of the National Fishing Hall of Fame.

★ ★ ★

His second Michigan black bear, taken with bow and arrow provided Grover Smith of Ferndale with his biggest hunting thrill, during the first few days of the open season in the UP. Smith, an unemployed tool-maker, downed the 450 (estimated) pound bruin near Newberry. He bagged a smaller one five years ago.

★ ★ ★

Shotgunners from the Birmingham Gun club have two dates ahead, for some interesting action. Saturday, Sept. 20, is a regular shoot. A special shoot for hunters will afford the competition for the following weekend at the club grounds.

200,000 More Go to Work in August Across Nation

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government revealed today that 200,000 more people went to work in August in the nation as employment rolls reached a seasonal high of 65,367,000.

Unemployment rolls dropped by 600,000 in the same month to 4,699,000 in a period when the employment situation was affected by the influx of students into the seasonal labor market.

August unemployment compared with a July figure of 5,294,000. The departments calculated that 7.6 per cent of the labor force was jobless last month on a seasonally adjusted basis.

This topped the previous recession high of 7.5 per cent in April and compared with a July rate of 7.3 per cent. The last time the rate reached 7.6 per cent was during the coal strike of October 1949.

Statisticians said changes in the unemployment rate during the summer "did not signify any major job developments but instead reflected the difficulties in achieving a precise adjustment of the data for seasonality at a time when large numbers of students move into and out of the labor market."

There was no question, however, but that the narrow changes in the rate in the past seven months showed that the jobs situation was slow to recover from the impact of the recession.

A year ago, 2,609,000 Americans were unemployed—or a seasonally-adjusted rate of 4.3 per cent.

In nonfarm establishments, employment showed a modest gain for the second straight month, rising by 340,000 to 50,541,000.

For manufacturing as a whole, employment rose more than seasonally, increasing to 15,489,000 from 15,172,000 in July.

Automobile employment, however, was at the lowest level in more than 10 years, partly because of early model changeovers. The report figured that one-third of all auto workers were looking for jobs last month.

The steel industry and other segments of the primary metals group continued to show improvement in August. There was increased activity in the manufacture of communications equipment. Employment in farm machinery plants rose more than usual for this time of year.

Although factory employment rose for the third straight month, the total was 1½ million below a year ago.

★ ★ ★

Agricultural employment was down only slightly, to 6,621,000 from 6,718,000 in July. The number of farm workers usually drops more than this in August and the stability reflected a low level of farm operations in July, when bad weather hampered field operations.

The factory work week rose seasonally by 0.2 hours to 39.4.

Despite longer hours, average weekly earnings were virtually unchanged at $83.53. Earnings were held down as lower paid seasonal workers were added to the payrolls of canneries and tobacco warehouses.

Insured unemployment under regular programs dropped 400,000 to 2,200,000.

However, insured joblessness under the extension of unemployment compensation recently approved by Congress increased by 315,000 to 650,000. More than one-third of the August increase in the extended program occurred in California and Ohio, where the extension of benefits to unemployed workers who exhausted their rights under regular programs was just getting under way.

General Buying Boosts Grains

CHICAGO (AP)— Fairly general buying boosted grain futures prices today on the Board of Trade.

Some of the advances in early dealings ran to major fractions of a cent with wheat and soybeans in the lead. September corn was the only laggard during the first few minutes, but it was off only a small fraction.

Traders said wheat derived some strength from the government report that more than 237 million bushels already have been placed under government price support loan compared iwth only 36 million bushels at about the same time a year ago and 256 million for all of the 1957-58 crop year.

Prices had reacted slightly near the end of the first hour, with wheat ⅛ to ⅝ cents a bushel higher, September $1.85¼; corn ¼ lower to ⅜ higher, September $1.22½; oats ⅛ higher to ¼ lower, September 60¾; rye unchanged to ¾ higher, September $1.28; soybeans ¼ to ⅝ higher, September $2.19⅝; lard 8 to 25 cents a hundred lbs. higher, September $12.80.

Hoffa Suspends Samuel Feldman, Orders Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa, bowing to cleanup orders from the union's court-appointed board of monitors, today suspended one Philadelphia union official and ordered a formal probe of another.

Samuel Feldman was suspended as business agent of Teamsters Local 929. Feldman recently invoked the Fifth Amendment before the Senate Rackets Committee in refusing to answer questions about an alleged $50,000 payoff attempt.

Hoffa also announced that hearings will begin tomorrow in Philadelphia into corruption charges against Ray Cohen, secretary-treasurer of Philadelphia Local 107.

Cohen is regarded as boss of the Philadelphia Teamsters. He is a trustee of the national union and a Hoffa adherent.

AF New Jet Fighters Quadruple Firing Speed

FARMINGDALE, N. Y. (AP)—The Air Force's newest jet fighter-bomber, the Republic F-105 Thunderchief, packs an "airborne six-gun" capable of outshooting a 400-man infantry company.

The Air Force said the 20-millimeter Vulcan automatic cannon is four times as fast as any other gun flying. It is capable of firing 6,000 rounds a minute—more firepower than an infantry company could generate in 20 minutes, Republic engineers said.

The new cannon has a rotating cluster of six barrels.

Pea-Picker's Pincher Tests Ripeness of Crop

NEW YORK (AP)—Industry has developed a pea-pincher to help farmers determine when their peas are ripe and ready to go to the canner.

The instrument, more formally known as a tenderometer, was developed and patented by American Can Company. The exact tenderness of the peas is recorded on a guage as they pass through sensitive steel fingers in the machine. The harder the peas, the more mature they are. Ripe peas are young and tender.

Average per capita shoe consumption in the U. S. is about three pairs a year.

No Sign of Man Crossing Atlantic, Patrol Reports

LONDON (AP)—Planes patrolling off England's southwest coast today reported no sign of Capt. Glenn Butt, now 11 days overdue on his bid to sail the Atlantic alone in a 41-foot catamaran.

The 41-year-old Newfoundlander was last sighted on Friday about 280 miles off shore.

Naval planes exercising in the area were told to watch out for the craft, but thus far no special search had been started.

Butt's specially designed catamaran is a twin-hulled boat modeled on the Polynesian idea of lashing two canoes together. It has 1,000 square feet of sail.

He left Bull's Bay, Nfld., 20 days ago.

Sees Small Car Gaining in Sales

Romney, Head of AMC, Says Increase in 1959 to Reflect Desire, Need

BROWN'S LAKE, Wis. (UPI) — American Motors President George Romney today predicted that small compact cars would make greater sales gains in 1959 and could take up to 15 per cent of the market.

Romney gave his views on the auto sales picture at a press preview of the 1959 Rambler models at this resort near Milwaukee.

He said he expected continued increases in Rambler sales next year with gains running higher than the industry as a whole, which he also expects to register gains.

Romney said the increased market penetration by small cars was a reflection of a shift in consumer desires and needs.

"The most important problem business faces is taking an objective look at consumer needs and meeting them," he said.

He said the American consumer was no longer a "faceless, nameless creature motivated by basic desires and needs at a mere subsistance level."

Instead, Romney said, we are living in a "consumeristic" society which is gradually replacing the old concept of a capitalistic society.

★ ★ ★

Romney said the auto industry, because it is close to the public, was among the first to show the change in the status of the consumer. He cited the apparent disenchantment of the public over the 1958 models.

Collision Injures Woman

Show Ratings Prove Nothing

Sponsors Must Realize Potential Buyers Want Good Programs

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — When a salesman can't sell his product, does the problem lie with the salesman or the product—or with insurmountable notions in the mind of the potential buyer?

★ ★ ★

Salesmen of quite a few products have been asking themselves that question during this economic recession. Among them are the network television salesmen who still are trying to peddle almost a third of the fall season's prime evening viewing time.

We suggested yesterday that television should reappraise its sales emphasis on the star theory and the audience rating theory.

The suggestion, calculated to make any salesman mad as coming straight from an ivory tower, is simply to offer sponsors a good show because the audience with buying power recognizes a good show and will be interested in the products it sees advertised.

★ ★ ★

"Look," said a salesman, "a good show doesn't sell itself to a sponsor. 'See It Now' was a terrifically good show. Do you think CBS would have canned it if they could have sold it? The trouble isn't with what networks offer. It's with what advertisers think they want.

"I don't care who started the star system or the rating system. The point is they're HERE. They're what most sponsors WANT. Are you going to refuse to sell a car to a guy because he wants sidewall tires and you think he shouldn't have 'em?"

All right, let's pass the buck to the sponsors. There will be some good shows on the home screen in the new season. But some excellent, good and potentially good programs will be missing—not because the networks wished to kill them, but because no advertiser would sponsor them.

★ ★ ★

They include "See It Now," "Project 20," "Wide Wide World," "Kraft Theater," "Studio One," "Matinee Theater," "Climax!," "The Patrice Munsel Show." "Omnibus" will be reduced to hour-length and run every other week.

The majority of sponsors appear to want giveaways, quizzes, filmed melodramas and "big name" star shows. Their thinking is based on past successes.

The majority of viewers with money in their pockets, I believe, want a wide variety of good dramas and musicals, of programs that provoke thought and evoke emotions.

★ ★ ★

Only the passage of time and viewers themselves will reveal what the public expects of commercial television.

Meanwhile, the networks stand in the middle.

Boy, 9, Opens Busy Midway of His Own

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) —Arthur Robbins' latest business venture has been in the black from the start—three weeks ago.

Coung ideas did it. He's 9.

Careless customers drove Arthur out of the lemonade trade. They broke too many glasses. So now he's got an amusement park.

★ ★ ★

With permission from his mother Rose Robbins, Arthur and four youthful partners converted the back lawn into a busy midway.

For 3 cents, you can play ping pong, throw darts or take the "scare ride." For 8 cents you can swim in the portable pool. But you have to furnish your own towel.

If you've a dime you can try the miniature golf course, most recent addition to the park.

★ ★ ★

The scare ride, the boss' pet project, consists of a speedy trip about the premises in a wagon with Arthur and a partner providing the speed fore and aft. Spookiest part is passage under the Golden Gate Bridge—an elevated barbecue table.

Disneyland isn't hurting from the competition so far. But Arthur reports a net profit of $3.10 for the first three weeks.

Shadow Is Missing

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Shadow, a chestnut horse who is Bat Masterson's mount in the Masterson TV series, is missing. Ralph McCutcheon, shadow's owner, said "He probably just got mixed up with some cast horses and is off on a location." The cast horses are for the extras to ride.

Has Part in Western

NEW YORK (AP) — Fred MacMurray has a part in the first "Cimarron City" western, which NBC-TV will present Oct. 11 at 9:30 p.m. (Pontiac time).

FOXY — All wrapped up in a white fox fur, shapely Doris Ellis is ready for any unlooked-for change in the weather at Miami Beach, Fla.

Even Julie Wilson Hit by Colored Wig Craze

NEW YORK — Miss Julie Wilson opened a singing engagement wearing a catsup-colored wig.

Breathtakingly beautiful when attired in her own hair, Julie in the condiment-tinted hairpiece had all the sparkle of a sandwich left over from the 1939 World's Fair. All the women customers, including my B.W., proclaimed, however, that it was chic, sophisticated, fashionable and — the honest ones added — fully as pretty as Harpo Marx's hairdo. The wig rage is proof that the geniuses concocting women's fashions today really hate women.

★ ★ ★

Stranger than the fiction in the best-seller "Lolita" is the fact that the Vladimir Nabokov novel was "discovered" here by ex-Latin Quarter showgal Rosemary Ridgwell, friend of Ex-Ambassador O'Dwyer. Miss R. heard from her singing teacher of the daring book that had been printed in Europe but spurned here, got a copy, and suggested to Walter Minton, president of Putnam's, that he republish it. He did—and Miss R. stands to make around five per cent as a manuscript talent scout.

Labor Take Note: Gulf Oil in Politics

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Gulf Oil Corp. has served notice that it plans to give organized labor a battle in the political arena.

★ ★ ★

In a letter yesterday to the firm's 161,000 employes, stockholders and dealers, Senior Vice President Archie D. Gray said: "If we are to survive, labor's political power must now be opposed by matching force, and there is no place in the United States where such a force can be generated except among corporations that make up American business.

★ ★ ★

"For many years Gulf, together with most other American corporations, has been so busily engaged in business activities that politics has been ignored. Whether we want to be there or not, Gulf, and every other American corporation is in politics, up to its ears in politics, and we must either start swimming or drown."

★ ★ ★

Gray called on the workers, shareholders and dealers to "become more active participants in the politics of the area" where they live.

Dem Groups to Meet Tonight in Pontiac

A joint meeting of the Pontiac Democratic Committee, Venice Spragg Club, Southend Democratic Club, and the Pontiac Democratic Club will be held tonight at 7:30 in the ballroom of the Roosevelt Hotel.

A movie will be shown on voter registration for the fall election.

Robbers Flee in Maze

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Two years ago the Park Department built a maze of high hedges and invited the public in to "get lost." Few visitors ever enter. But yesterday a couple of men robbed a filling station and fled into the maze, chased by a group of officers. The robbers "got lost,' all right. The cops couldn't find them.

'Ski-Nose' Bob Far From Dead

Hope Launches Season on Video Sept. 19 With Musical 'Roberta'

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — Not long ago, when Bob Hope was playing a state fair, he muffed a punch line and yelled, "I don't know what I'm doing!" A local reporter duly wrote in his paper that Bob Hope said he didn't know what he was doing.

Hope, laughing about it as he hastened through New York the other day, said he learned long ago that "you can die with a gag." But Hope, a man with an endless supply of gags, is as far from dying as a comedian can be.

★ ★ ★

On Sept. 19, for example, he launches his new television season with the musical "Roberta" — which was his first successful Broadway show back in 1933 — over NBC-TV. Anna Maria Alberghetti and Howard Keel co-star in the live 90-minute production.

Those who know Otto Harbach's and Jerome Kern's "Roberta" only as the source of such songs as "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes" and "The Touch of Your Hands" should be reminded, in Hope's words, that the musical play "is full of laughs."

Hope plays a bandleader named Huckleberry Haines, an American bandleader who goes to Paris and becomes embroiled with girls, gags and harrowing situations. In the course of the show Hope does two monologues — which is one more than he usually does on a TV show, he points out.

"Roberta" is the first of eight television shows he plans to do in the forthcoming season. Three will be done on foreign soil—one of them, he plans, from Rio de Janeiro. He hopes to do one domestic show based on the New Orleans Mardi Gras. With the exception of "Roberta," all the Hope shows will be on film under present plans.

Hope seems to have fared better at the hands of the critics than any comedian with much tenure on television. While agreeing that is true, he says that "the kings aren't in style these days."

One reason for his continuing popularity on television, he feels, is the fact that he hasn't been overexposed. For another thing he always tries to work around the talents of his guests and not retain a rigid program formula.

Little Girl Turns Quiet Reopening Into Big Shindig

KANSAS CITY (AP) — It was just a little footbridge undergoing repairs and no one thought to have any fanfare at its reopening.

No one but 10-year-old Barbara Wintroub, who lives in an apartment overlooking Brush Creek. She used the bridge often to go to shops in the Country Club Plaza on the other side.

★ ★ ★

While workmen were replacing the wooden platform with concrete, she asked Park Department engineer Vernon Jones if she could cut the ribbon at reopening. The park board had no ceremony in mind but it arranged to have Barbara supplied with scissors and ribbon.

★ ★ ★

The Plaza Merchants Assn. heard about the girl's plans and decided to invite its members. Barbara persuaded her classmates and teacher to attend. The board chipped in with a commissioner to make a speech.

So today Barbara will cut the blue ribbon and be the first to cross.
