Fuming millions are blowing their stacks as Pontiac and the eastern part of the nation smolders for the seventh straight day in 90 degree and above temperatures.

And the weatherman for Pontiac and vicinity says there is no end in sight to Michigan's longest heat wave in recent years.

Today's high brings the number of over-90 days in August to 10, and the number of over-90 days for the entire summer to 18. Normal for a summer is 14 over-90 days.

In a five-day forecast through Monday, he predicts temperatures will average 10 to 12 degrees above normal. The normal high is 79. It will be continued hot and humid, with no daily changes.

Precipitation will average one half to one inch. Late afternoon and evening thundershowers are possible each day, but are likely to be most numerous Sunday and Monday.

Today's forecast: Partly cloudy, continued hot and humid, possibly a thundershower late this afternoon or early tonight. High today and tomorrow 93. Low tonight 74. Winds southwest 10-15 miles.

Pontiac merchants said today that business volume is being "held back somewhat" because of the torrid mugginess, while a few hot-weather items are "doing a runaway business."

'Bathing suits and sportswear are selling tremendously and even the wholesalers are getting short on fans," reports one merchant. 'We've sold more fans this year than in the past three years."

Another merchant cited an old adage in selling fans.

"You've got to have three hot nights in a row to sell fans," he explained. "And we've had them!"

The broiling weather that has been the bill of fare for more than a week is baking most of the country from the central and southern plains to the Atlantic coast.

IT'S COOL SOMEWHERE

Early this morning mercury readings generally ranged in the 70s, with a few 80s reported.

Most of New York state and New England and from the Rockies westward was the exception with temperatures in the 50s and 60s.

Cooler air behind a Canadian cold front settled southward over the Dakotas into Nebraska and Minnesota, dropping temperatures 15 to 25 degrees lower than 24 hours earlier.

Michigan's heat wave has already played a major role in establishing new all-time Michigan state park attendance records, park officials said today.

Cabinet at Field; Jet Plane Lands After 9.5 Hours

President Hopeful Over His 10-Day Venture in Personal Diplomacy

BONN, Germany (AP) — President Eisenhower brought his person-to-person diplomocy to Germany tonight and received a hero's welcome in this land he helped conquer 14 years ago.

The presidential jet plane, a 707, landed at nearby Wahn Airport at 6:26 p.m. (12:26 p.m. EST) after a flight of 9½ hours from Washington. This elapsed time included an hour spent in a Newfoundland stop for refueling.

The plane taxied toward a welcoming party of top German government officials headed by Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

The sky was slightly overcast. The landing strip lights were switched on just before the giant Boeing approached.

A crowd of 1,500 to 2,000 spectators waited in reserved places and others were scattered around the terraces. Every building was covered with people, even the top of the control tower and the customs building.

Just as the plane halted a 21-gun salute sounded. Four escorting fighters of the German Air Force flew low overhead.

APPLAUD IKE

A dozen U. S. Air Force Police marched out and took posts around the plane. There was a burst of applause as the President appeared at the door.

Committee Won't Decide Yet

Cut in Clinic Money Unsettled

The Oakland Child Guidance Clinic yesterday failed to receive a firm answer on whether its $35,000 appropriation will be slashed from the county's 1960 budget or not.

Indications are, however, that it will be deleted as budget trimming supervisors still need to cut $194,000 more in order to make expenditures balance with anticipated revenues next year. The $35,000 is already included in the cut.

Noel A. Buckner, chairman of the board for the Clinic, led a handful of pleading officials of the Clinic to Pontiac yesterday afternoon to find why they had been cut entirely from next year's budget of $13,997,018.

After Fred W. Smith, chairman of the Board of Supervisors' Ways and Means Committee, which has the job of cutting, said the answer was simple — "What we don't have, we can't give you"— this was tempered somewhat by a statement from John L. Carey, Springfield Township supervisor and member of the W-M Committee.

PROSPECTS DIM

"I don't think we're in a position to say no or yes right now. We might have some for you even though prospects look dim," Carey said.

He and other committee members said they are still awaiting a report from the board's Salaries Committee to see what county employe salary needs will be in 1960 before a definite final figure on the cut is arrived at. The report is expected in time for tomorrow's fourth budget trimming hearing.

Although they might have been encouraged a little by Carey's pronouncement, supervisors later admitted they saw slight chance that the Clinic would get its appropriation.

This action has resulted in sharp criticism from the Oakland County Chapter of the National Association of Social Workers. In a letter distributed to committee members before yesterday's meeting, the group said:

2 Youths Drown in County Lakes

Petoskey, Detroit Boys Disappear in Buckhorn Lake, Mill Pond

Two youths drowned last night an hour apart while swimming in county lakes, trying to beat the torrid heat wave blanketing Michigan.

The first death occurred at 9:30 p.m. when Thomas Schantz, 18, of Petoskey, disappeared 150 feet offshore while swimming with his younger brother and another companion in Buckhorn Lake, Rose Township.

The second drowning occurred at 10:30 at Springland Mill Pond, Highland Township, when a Detroit youth, Robert E. Barger Jr., 19, of 19422 Charleston St., left a party of friends to dive from a branch 15 feet above the water and disappeared.

His body was discovered minutes later by Lyle See, of Milford. Barger was given artificial respiration and taken to Pontiac General Hospital where he was pronounced dead on arrival.

Search for 4 From Area Missing Since Earthquake

An extensive search is being made for a Shelby Township family of three and a Pontiac companion missing since the Montana earthquake Aug. 17.

James Peake, 53, of 47880 Pincrest St., his wife Grace, 52; a son Eugene, 28; and a young Pontiac man identified only as "Larry" have not been heard from since they left on vacation about two weeks ago.

Peake's daughter, Mrs. Ralph Williams, of 3185 Willett St., Auburn Heights, said, "I haven't heard a word, and they promised to write right away."

Another daughter, Mrs. John Nelson of Lapeer, said the quartet was expected to stop somewhere in Yellowstone National Park to fish before continuing on to visit relatives at Myrtle, Ore.

Mrs. Williams said the American Red Cross has been trying to contact the Oregon relatives but has been unsuccessful.

An uncle, Lloyd Peake of Saginaw, said he had told the Red Cross the family was missing en route to Oregon.

Another branch of the family, which owns and operates Peake Asphalt Paving Co. at 48189 Ryan Rd., Shelby Township, where the missing man was employed, was also contacted. A nephew there, Frank Peake Jr., said he also had had no word.

In the meantime, searchers were trying to identify the "Larry" believed to be traveling with the Shelby Township family. One lead that he was a part-time employe in a Pontiac store proved to be incorrect.

MSUO Class OKs Ban on Fraternities, Sororities

Members of the charter class at Michigan State University Oakland and university administrators see eye-to-eye on fraternities and sororities.

MSUO officials have announced that social Greek letter societies will be barred from the campus.

The students, at two orientation programs, put their stamp of approval on the policy.

Their opinion was elicited by Roy Alexander, director of student affairs, who asked them:

"What activities should NOT be allowed at MSUO?"

Leading the list were the fraternities and sororities, said Alexander, who today disclosed the results of a survey taken of more than 400 students.

Only a few students protested the university's decision, he said.

Some of the reasons for opposing the social groups were that they established "cliques" on the campus and "kept out good people."

Dr. Robert G. Hoopes, dean of the faculty, said that the constitutions of many national societies contained discriminatory clauses and charters.

The students went a step farther than the university.

They announced their opposition to any closed clubs at MSUO. All organizations should be open to all students, they said.

The students also went on record as opposed to any club or activity that might jeopardize the reputation of MSUO.

Campus initiations 'and hazing were frowned upon.

The students also declared themselves uninterested in competition between the various classes.

Among the activities students favored the most, Alexander said, were dances.

"I was just amazed at the response," said Alexander, who has

City Must Act on Airport Deal

Sept. 30 Deadline for Federal Aid Funds to Mean Fast Work

Pontiac has little more than a month to get the airport terminal project under way or risk losing federal participating funds.

The Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) has set a Sept. 30 deadline on participation in the $390,000 project, said Homer D. Hoskins, airport manager.

Construction contracts must be signed by then and allocated funds definitely committed, if $176,830 in federal matching funds are to stay in the project, Hoskins said.

City Commissioners kept the project alive last night by appropriating $10,670 to help offset an $18,170 slash in federal funds earmarked for the proposed one-story terminal and three-story tower.

The State Department of Aeronautics has promised another $7,500 to make up the difference, Hoskins said.

The federal cutback was in contingency funds and the cost of grading the terminal area, said Hoskins.

The readjustment in cost participation now has the federal government paying $176,830 instead of the original $195,000; the state $105,000; and the city $108,170.

Originally, the state and city

Pontiac May Use Detroit Water, Predicts Willman

By PETE LOCHBILER

Pontiac probably will be using Detroit water next year or the year after.

This appeared likely today after City Manager Walter K. Willman said the city should decide, shortly, where it will get a new source of water to replace the existing well system.

Detroit and the Southeastern Michigan Water Authority (SMWA) have been wooing the city with water proposals for several years.

Like a coy maid, Pontiac has hesitated to make up its mind, although the water table has taken some alarming drops and source of freshwater is necessary for residential and industrial expansion.

Recent developments show the city should make a decision soon, Willman told the Downtown Kiwanis Club yesterday.

"Detroit is obviously the only agency big enough to finance water to the metropolitan area," the city manager stated.

DETROIT WATER CHEAPER

Willman believed that Detroit water would be cheaper for householders, in the long run, than Pontiac's, and minimized fears that water shortages might occur here during droughts.

He said it would cost about $4,000,000 to revamp the city's water system to distribute an outside source of water — a cost that would be paid off through an increase in water rates.

At present, they are $2.20 for a thousand cubic gallons of hard well water. Many householders pay an added $3.25 a month for softening service.

TO SELL SOFT WATER

The Detroit Water Board has proposed selling soft water to the city at $1.41 a thousand gallons. Willman estimated it would cost the average householder another $2.10 a thousand gallons to pay off revenue bonds to revamp the water line system.

The two costs total $3.51, but do not include whatever the city would charge for distributing the water.

But Detroit water would be pretreated and not require any home softening, Willman pointed out.

The $1.41 proposal from the Detroit Water Board has been on Willman's desk for several months. So has one from the SMWA to sell water to Pontiac at $1.33 a thousand gallons, but only if 100,000,000 gallons a day could be sold to customers in Oakland and Macomb Counties.

LISTS LATE ANGLES

Willman noted several recent developments:

The death of Royal Oak Mayor Howard K. Kelley, chairman of the SMWA, and its principal spark plug;

Failure of the SMWA to sign up enough customers — even with Pontiac, which uses 13,000,000 gallons a day and would be the SMWA's principal customer;

Plans for suburban expansion by the Detroit Water Board after its purchase of the Wayne County water system.

"This last move indicates to me with certainty that Detroit is going to be the water-producing utility in the metropolitan area for all time," said Willman.

Detroit, he said, has offered to build a 54-inch pipeline to Pontiac, capable of pumping up to 30,000,000 gallons a day.

Initially, Pontiac would have to contract for a minimum 9,000,000 gallons a day to get the $1.41 price, Willman said.

He said that the city would have to build a new storage tank at the pipeline's terminus and revamp its water lines to flow from this new source.

Some of the city's 23 wells could be kept open as a reserve supply of water, Willman said.

"But there is little doubt in my mind that Detroit is capable of pumping to us all the water that we need," he stated.

Willman said that Detroit was not to blame in recent water shortages in suburbs served by it.

"Detroit was capable of pumping water to these cities but the cities themselves did not have distributing systems large enough to meet their own needs," the manager said.

Willman pointed out that Pontiac, by choosing Detroit as a water supplier, would not necessarily be ruling out the possibility of getting Lake Huron water.

"The Detroit Water Board has plans for a Lake Huron pipeline by 1965 and if this were constructed, we would be near it and could probably draw our water from it," Willman said.

Pontiac City Affairs

Northwest Sewer Likely in '60

The proposed $300,000 sanitary-storm sewer system for the northern half of a northwest Pontiac subdivision has a good chance of becoming a reality next year.

There were no objections raised last night at a public hearing by City Commissioners on the heavy special assessments involved.

The administration is considering budgeting matching city funds to construct the sewer system next summer.

It would be in the northern half of Assessor's Plat 144, affecting Columbia, Ypsilanti and Carlisle avenues, Meadowlawn, Cherrylawn and Cloverlawn drives.

CIRCULATE PETITIONS

Residents in the northern half of the subdivision petitioned for the sewer and residents in the southern half are circulating a petition for construction of a combined sewer there at the same time.

No objections were raised at a hearing covering construction of sidewalks this summer at Macedonia Baptist Church, Pearsall and Motor streets.

Four assessment rolls were confirmed, covering blacktopping of Adelaide street, between Oakland and Baldwin; Kinney road, Oakland to Stanley; Stanley avenue, Kinney to Kennett; and sidewalks on both sides of Harvey street, South boulevard to Ditmar.

On Commissioner Floyd P. Miles' motion, Kinney road property owners will have five years to pay because they protested high assessments.

Referred to City Manager Walter K. Willman for study was a petition for a water main on Locke street, Bay to Boyd.

Although only 20 per cent of the property owners signed, they represented seven of the nine affected residents, it was stated.

OK PLAT REQUEST

Commissioners approved a request from the Assessing Department to plat a parcel between N. East boulevard, Westway drive, Benson street and Michigan avenue as Assessor's Plat 165.

Platted into seven lots, the parcel will be more easily assessed, it was stated.

AMC Officials Welcome Big 3 Into Compact Field

From Our News Wires

DETROIT — American Motors officials say they welcome the entry of the big three into the small car production scramble and predict AMC's Rambler will dominate the field for the next five years.

In showing his company's 1960 models, Romney said the four-door Rambler station wagon will be four inches shorter than the 1959 version and that other Rambler models also will have shorter lengths.

While details of the new car were off the record, Abernathy revealed the overall length would be reduced 1¾ inches and horsepower would be reduced by as much as 20 on some models. He said the cars would look just as long, however, and perform as well as ever.

Tail fins of the Rambler have been reduced in size and sculptured into the overall body of the car to make them less conspicuous.

Rambler will start 1960 production next week and will shoot for 8 per cent of the 1960 new car market. Romney predicted AMC will sell more than 500,000 cars in the next calendar year.

Romney told newsmen the market for domestic and imported compact cars will total 2,250,000 in calendar 1960.

Automotive writers attending the preview of the 1960 Rambler were asked to estimate the market. They estimated it would reach 1,930,315.

Romney said medium price lines generally will suffer ill effects from the entry of the big three into small car production.

"People are moving down (in car buying), not up," Romney said. "And this process can be expected to accelerate with the broadening of the compact car sales effort."

All three company officials extolled the advantages which they claimed Rambler had gained during the "lean years of small cars" and referred repeatedly to their company as the world's largest builder of compact cars.

The students suggested the establishment of extracurricular courses such as library and health classes.

A large number of organizations and clubs were favored by the students, especially the creation of a student government, including a student council with elected representatives and a student body constitution.

Students wanted photography, ski, professional, drama, speech, religious and teachers clubs formed.

The students also asked for academic clubs and societies.

There was no great demand for an intercollegiate sports program.

One will eventually be established at MSUO, Alexander said, but it will be on a "low pressure" basis.

Students also wanted to choose school colors and a motto as soon as possible.

Not one student mentioned the formation of student political parties as an extracurricular activity.

Alexander said the students' views were sought because the new university will, as far as possible, let them organize the activities.

"It's their program," he said.

Barnett Big Winner . . . Is Segregationist

Unofficial returns from 1,777 of the state's 1,828 precincts today gave Barnett 217,842 votes to 184,170 for Gartin.

Barnett, making segregation a major point, gained voter support which exceeded even his own prediction that he would carry 60 of the 82 counties. With only a handful of precincts out, he trailed in only a dozen.

The veteran campaigner, who succeeded in his third effort to become governor, said today he will work until the Jan. 19 inauguration conferring with other governors on segregation and planning his legislative program on racial and other matters.

"I am going to put forth every effort to organize Southern governors," Barnett said, "to create and crystallize public opinion throughout the nation with reference to our traditions and Southern way of life."

He has advocated a solid Southern front on segregation and bitterly opposed all moderates on racial matters.

As Democratic nominee in this Deep South state, Barnett is assured election. Republicans offer no opposition and the general election is a mere formality to taking office for a four-year term.

Barnett will succeed Gov. J. P. Coleman, who backed Gartin and was accused by Barnett of trying to become a dictator. Barnett also criticized Coleman for inviting the FBI into the investigation of the Mack Parker lynching at Poplarville April 25.

Mississippi law prohibits governors from succeeding themselves and Coleman won first primary election to the state House of Representatives from Choctaw County.

slowly trooped the line of the Honor Guard.

SHAKE HANDS 5 MINUTES

U. S. Ambassador David K. E. Bruce escorted Eisenhower along the row of American Embassy officials.

The handshaking took five minutes and then Eisenhower and Adenauer, both laughing, walked to the microphones.

Adenauer said:

"It is a great and heart-filling joy to say welcome to you in the name of the German people."

In these trying days, Adenauer said, "All my countrymen regard the United States as the great bastion of liberty."

Ahead of the President at the West German capital of Bonn West German capital ever has lay the greatest reception this given a visiting dignitary. Crowds lined the 20-mile route from Wahn Airport to Bonn, 20 miles away.

In lands where he soared to fame as the nemesis of Nazi aggressors, the President is prepared to lay down solemn promises that the United States once again will join in the use of force, if need be, to repel aggression.

While sounding this warning to the Soviet Union, he also proposes to say that the United States seeks to be a loyal partner in advancing the cause of "peace with honor and justice."

These are two of the paramount purposes of a 10-day venture into personal diplomacy. Eisenhower listed them at a farewell news conference Tuesday.

He will confer separately with Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of West Germany, Prime Minister Harold Macmillan of Britain and President Charles de Gaulle of France.

He will consult, too, on a more informal basis, with Foreign Minister Fernando Castiella of Spain in London. And in Paris he will see Prime Minister Antonio Segni of Italy and President M. A. H. Luns and Secretary General Paul-Henry Spaak of NATO.

The sessions will last from one to several hours. That scarcely offers time for solving massive cold war problems.

But the meetings may tighten ties of the West, bring more unity where evidence of disunity has become apparent, and enable Eisenhower to head into conferences with Khrushchev confident of Allied support.

Forcing India Out of Neutrality

Red China's Cold War Pushes Nation Toward Western Alignment

NEW DELHI (AP) — A leading Indian newspaper chain said today that Communist China has declared a cold war against India which is forcing this country to forget about nonalignment.

The Indian Express, published in New Delhi, Bombay and Madura, said China's policies since the Tibetan revolt last March have frightened her neighbors and alienated her friends.

The result, the Indian Express said, is an "agonizing reappraisal" which is bringing Indian foreign policy more closely in line with that of the Western nations.

The article, signed by the Express Delhi editor, said the Indian-Red Chinese treaty of coexistence of 1954 is "dead—buried five fathoms deep."

BAD EXCHANGE

The article said that in return for India's continued proferring of friendship, "Peiping had declared cold war on India, dubbing her expansionist and imperialist and obstructing Indian trade in violation of the treaty."

"Whether India likes the role or not, non-Communist nations on the periphery of the Chinese land mass will increasingly look to her (India) as they prepare to defend against Chinese Communist expansionism," the Express added.

"China is accomplishing for the West what the United States has been attempting all these years in vain. For this is exactly the role the West has desired India to play in Asia and which India has persistently refused to accept.

"India has opposed military pacts because she is convinced they created tensions where none existed. Now China's persistent folly is creating new tension in the region, turning smaller nations' thought to security and common and mutual defense.

"This is the time for Uncle Sam to hawk SEATO around once again, and this time he will find many takers."

Proposes Marines Patrol Streets of Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Texas congressman called today for "a few hundred Marines to patrol the streets" of Washington, plagued recently by hoodlumism.

Rep. Omar Burleson (D-Tex) spelled out his proposal in the Congressional Record, urging enactment of a bill he introduced yesterday. It would authorize assignment of two companies of Marines as a temporary auxiliary to the metropolitan police force.

He Would Crush Dixie Revolt

Southern Dem Leaders Condemn Butler's Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Angry Southern Democratic leaders have condemned Party Chairman Paul M. Butler and his plan to deal with any Dixie revolt at the party's 1960 national convention.

A spokesman for Butler's office said Tuesday the chairman will ask the National Committee to adopt again the rule that state delegations are admitted to the convention with an understanding that their state Democratic organization will support the candidates nominated. Conceivably, it could be used to bar delegations not committed to support the ticket.

Some Southern states have taken steps, by legislation or by action of their state Democratic organizations, to omit the Democratic nominees' names from ballots and to choose uninstructed electors to cast the state's electoral college votes.

Thus, if the state's Democratic organization doesn't like the nominees, it can withhold its support for them in the Electoral College. Should this result in no candidate getting the necessary majority vote in the Electoral College, the election would be thrown into the House of Representiatves, where each state has one vote.

Southern opposition to Butler's plan developed quickly.

Senators Strom Thurmond (D-SC) and Herman E. Talmadge (D-Ga) called for Butler's resignation or dismissal, and Sen. John Sparkman (D-Ala) said some of Butler's recent statements have sounded like talk "calculated at pushing the South out of the party."

Sen. Paul Douglas (D-Ill) spoke out in favor of the proposal.

There was no comment from senatorial front - runners for the 1960 Democratic presidential nomination.

Gov. John Patterson of Alabama said he thought Butler "has gotten too big for his breeches. This is just another of his tricks to deprive the people of the South of our right to a voice in the affairs of our party."

Bloomfield Fashion Shop Opens Birmingham Store

The Bloomfield Fashion Shop opens its Birmingham branch store today at 245 West Maple with Mrs. Maurice Barnett as manager.

An old building was enlarged and remodeled to make the new store which has 5000 feet of floor space. The exterior is white brick. Inside, white is the dominant color with black and orange accents. Murals on the walls were done by Hugo Rodriguez of Detroit.

Maurice Barnett, supervisor of the new store as well as of the Telegraph road store, says that suburban sportswear, daytime clothes and cocktail dresses will be carried. Accessories are included. He expects to employ about 25 people.

'Hold the Line' on City Library

Commissioner Miles Is Fearful of Soaring Construction Costs

"We decided on a $500,000 construction budget for the new main library and we should stick to it," Miles told the City Commission last night.

"I for one am not willing to enter into another building program that exceeds its original budget estimate," said Miles, in tacit reference to the Pontiac General Hospital expansion program.

Miles' position was stated a week after architects admitted the possibility that construction bids might amount to about five per cent more than the $500,000 ceiling.

The ceiling was set by the Commission when library planning got under way last winter. The city is allowing another $100,000 for equipment.

Construction bids are to be opened Sept. 14, with construction scheduled for this fall and completion next fall.

Mayor Philip E. Rowston expressed confidence that the bids would be within the $500,000 ceiling. "I think the architects were being frank in admitting the possibility they might be higher, but I doubt that they will be."

City Manager Walter K. Willman indicated he favored holding the line. "I think the Commission's position on this is quite well known," he said.

Williams to Go on TV to Discuss New Tax Plans

LANSING (AP)—Gov. Williams will go before television cameras tonight to outline his agreements for new taxes on business. He will appear on Detroit station WWJ-TV at 7 p.m.

The Democratic governor said he wants to make it clear that a one-cent increase in the use (sales) tax, already agreed upon by both parties, will not meet the state's revenue needs. Business also must be tapped for new tax revenues, he said.

Williams will take advantage of public service time offered by the television station some time ago after three Republican senators set forth their tax views on the same station.

His appearance comes in the wake of a two-day hearing set up by the Senate taxation committee to round up a viewpoint from businessmen and industrialists on new taxes. They sounded a nearly unanimous warning against any new business levies.

The Day in Birmingham

Cozy Bumpers Produce Driving Headaches in July

BIRMINGHAM — Following too closely was the cause in many of 48 traffic accidents in Birmingham during the month of July, according to a report prepared by the city's police chief, Ralph W. Moxley.

Moxley blamed the habit of many motorists not to leave enough room between them and the car ahead with causing 19 of the accidents, none of which proved fatal.

Seventeen persons were injured last month in nine of the mishaps. Property damage was estimated by Moxley at $11,865, stemming from 39 of the accidents.

The accident total of 48 compares with 55 for July of last year and 76 for the month of June this year.

This year's total number of accidents so far already is running well ahead of last year's tally of 336.

There have been 410 mishaps on Birmingham streets recorded to the end of July this year, according to Moxley's report.

They entailed 68 traffic injuries but no deaths so far.

Second major cause of traffic accidents, according to Moxley, is failing to yield the right of way.

He promises that additional enforcement vigilance regarding these violations, as well as against speeding, will be asserted by patrol officers.

"We've got to push the accident trend down," he said, asking for the cooperation of the driving public.

Identified as William Besler, he suffered a fractured left leg, a slight brain concussion and lacerations of the face.

He was taken to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Pontiac where his condition was reported as "fair" today.

Besler was struck by a car driven by Arthur M. Wild, 16, of 1222 W. Long Lake Rd., Bloomfield Township.

According to witnesses, Besler was hit when he and three other bicyclists ran a red light at the intersection, Bloomfield Hills police said.

Wild was driving east on Long Lake road when the accident occurred.

In his statement at the Oakland County Prosecutor's Office, Wild told how he dodged three of the four bicyclists as they ran the light, but was unable to avoid Besler. No charges were made and Wild was not held.

Red China Cuts Output Goals

Blames False Figures for Retreat on the 1959 Production Targets

TOKYO (AP)—China's Communist rulers admitted today that their production targets for 1959 are too high and must be reduced.

The Chinese Communist party's Central Committee said the targets for grain and cotton were based on 1958 production figures which were hugely in error. Western economists had suspected that all along.

Peiping also announced abandonment of its much trumpeted program of steel production in backyard home furnaces. The Reds claimed the do-it-yourselfers produced three million tons, but the output is generally understood to have been of very poor quality.

Deadline Nearing on Airport Work

shares were to have been $95,000 apiece.

Hoskins believed the federal cut reflected the unpopularity of the federal-aid-to-airports program in Washington.

"The administration feels that the burden of developing airports should fall on local governments, not the federal government and the FAA has been paring away at congressional appropriations wherever it can," he stated.

June 30 — the end of the fiscal year — was the original deadline for the Pontiac project but the FAA extended this three months because of delays on its part, Hoskins said.

Nearness of the deadline casts a shadow on opening of construction bids Sept. 10 in Lansing, Hoskins pointed out. If bids are too high, there will be no chance to redesign and call for new bids, he explained.

"We'd just have to knock out part of the project and proceed with the rest," he said.

Budget Pleas Fail for Guidance Clinic

our county, will be condemned to a life of dependency."

The chapter's chairman, Robert Langer, said this action "will cost our citizens dearly in years to come."

This was supported by Buckner who said work of the Clinic will "take the load off the other end of the budget" by helping disturbed kids who, without this help, would probably pack the county jail and other institutions, thus increasing their budgetary needs.

"Certainly the kids of this county deserve as best as the dogs," Buckner said pointing out that the budget for the county dog warden hasn't been cut much.

Miss Madeleine Half, clinic director, told Smith's committee that the state might stop its matching funds should Oakland County carry through with its threat of leaving the Clinic out.

Buckner said the Clinic's three branches in Pontiac, Birmingham, and Royal Oak might have to close. He said even the Clinic's expanded services can't keep up with a six-month waiting list.

Earlier in the hearing Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore appeared and received his request that a separate item in the budget be created for the new Girls' Ranch.

WCTU committee member David Levinson, Birmingham supervisor, questioned whose responsibility care of the mentally ill is—the state's or the county's.

Saying he believed it was the state's, Judge Moore added: "I think we're all shrugging our shoulders at it."

Three representatives of the county's Social Welfare Dept. came loaded with handouts showing their huge budgetary needs. The Board of Auditors has suggested cutting $533,700 from the department's request for $2,733,700.

John A. McDonald, chairman of the Social Welfare Board, said, "We know you don't have enough money to work with under the 15-mill law, so we'll have to take what you give us."

Lyle Abel, the county's extension agent, said it would be hard to operate next year under a 12 per cent cut from his current budget.

"How do you think we're (the county) going to get by," said Robert Y. Moore, Board of Auditors chairman. "We still have to cut $194,000 more."

Air Force Academy Can't Uproot Nature

(This is the second in a series of articles on the Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs, Colo., written by Pontiac Press staffer Dick Saunders. He is touring the installation with area Air Force officials.)

By DICK SAUNDERS

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo.—Here on this 17,500-acre plot of government-owned land is a perfect blending of two spectacular extremes, man-made progress and the rich beauty of nature.

Thus far, Congress has appropriated $138,797,000 for construction of the Air Force Academy. Of this $117,300,000 is for pure construction excluding design costs, land acquisition and overhead.

More than $112,000,000 of the work is now in use. Funds have been used to build 44 sets of senior officers' quarters and 1,200 additional homes for military personnel are being financed by private investment funds.

The Air Force Acamedy Foundation, Inc., a group of civic leaders, has raised $200,000 for a new golf course at the site of this combined school and separate military command.

40,000-SEAT STADIUM

Glass, aluminum, steel and white marble are the materials most utilized in the modern design of major Academy buildings.

A new chapel, stunning in its bold design of a dozen or more aluminum steeples standing four stories in the crisp Colorado air, is also planned.

Nature, however, is not to be pushed back by these steel superstructures.

Deer are plentiful and descend from the rampart range (foothills of the Rocky Mountains) every evening, feeding on Academy grounds.

"Look at the funny dog," said an officer driving to work recently. The "funny dog" was a cougar and a closer look revealed he was stalking a nearby doe.

RATTLING HANDICAP

Golfers have a handicap that Pontiac area "pros" never dreamed of—rattlesnakes. Officers trying out the new course Saturday ran into three in an 18-hole stretch.

(Editor's Note: Saunders' hobby is fishing, not golf. He doesn't know rattlers have been spotted on area courses for years.)

Falcons, the school mascots, are natives of the area. Porcupines and many other small animals make early morning hours on the campus fascinating, waddling back to their hideways as modern man awakens.

Santiago Brisk, Modern City

Bustle Comes From Cool Climate That Is Unique in SA

WASHINGTON — Santiago de Chile, scene of the meeting of the foreign ministers of the American republics, is a brisk 20th century city that defies popular conceptions of a Latin American capital.

The Chilenos are always on the move. No romantic guitar-strumming caballeros lounge about Santiago's streets. No languid-eyed senoritas wait behind barred windows for serenades. Instead, they purposefully click along the streets in their spike heels.

Part of the bustle comes from the climate, the National Geographic Society says. While much of Latin America is tropical or sub-tropical, the 1,350,000 citizens of Santiago enjoy a year-round average temperature of 57 degrees Fahrenheit.

The city lies in a fertile central valley. In the east, the magnificent, snow-capped Andes climb to 18,000 feet. In the west, a lower coastal range, wooded and rounded, looks like the Blue Ridge Mountains of Virginia. Around the city are truck farms and chicken ranches.

Within the capital, an amazing variety of vehicles crowd the streets. Tail-finned 1959 model cars purr alongside asthmatic Model A Fords. Antique schoolbuses, converted to passenger use, roar beside monster twin-coaches. Motor scooters thread their way among the larger vehicles.

In the heart of Santiago is a sugarloaf-like peak called Cerro Santa Lucia, whose beckoning leafy borders and battlemented walls are always in view.

At its foot, Pedro de Valdivia, one of Pizarro's Spanish conquistadors, camped when he founded the city in 1541. Today the hill is famed for its spiralling, bench-bordered lovers' walks where many a troth has been pledged.

Chile's temperate political climate, as mild as its weather, has attracted immigrants from every European country. Since the formation of constitutional government in 1833, Chile has had only two serious changes in government. There have been no revolutions since 1891.

AFL-CIO Official Denies 'Blacklist'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The director of the AFL-CIO's political department denied today that he compiles a "blacklist" of congressmen on the basis of their voting records.

James L. McDevitt, head of the federation's Committee on Political Education (COPE) said, however, that COPE will continue to publish tabulations of how senators and House members vote on key issues.

He made the statements in a letter to Rep. John Dent (D-Pa) printed in the current edition of COPE's political memo.

The same issue contained the complete House roll-call on initial passage of the Landrum-Griffin labor reform bill. The measure was bitterly condemned by the AFLCIO as anti-labor.

Despite His Own Cancerous Condition

Young Doctor Dedicated to Mission in Laos

By HENRIETTA LEITH

NEW YORK (AP)—Dr. Thomas Dooley is the sort of young man who thinks treating 100 patients a day in a remote hospital in Laos is more important than the treatment of one cancer patient named Thomas Dooley.

He is the kind of fellow who "chose to overlook it" when the U.S. government suggested that he had better leave his hospital because the Communists were shooting nearby.

And he seems angry at his own condition only because it may cut short the mission.

Five years ago Dr. Dooley was a medical officer on a Navy ship that was assigned to help hundreds of refugees fleeing from Communist North Viet Nam. Touched by the sufferings of the Indochinese, he made up his mind to do something to help.

When he left the Navy he helped to found Medico (Medical International Cooperation) and build a three-building hospital at Musong Sing, near the China-Laos border.

The 30-mat hospital ("we don't have beds") now is handling 100 patients a day "and babies day and night." Some of the funds for operating it came from a book the doctor published, titled "The Edge of Tomorrow."

He started another book for the same purpose, and several times came back to the United States to lecture and appear on television — always hunting more money for Medico and the Laotians.

His mission was helped along by the fact that Dr. Dooley is not only dedicated. He is also charming, boyishly handsome, witty and outgoing.

Recently he started thinking of ways to get a small plane, plotting how he could build two more hospitals in Laos, and fly back and forth to supervise them.

But in recent weeks there have been two other developments.

The Communists stepped up their offensive in Laos, and intermittent action broke out near Dr. Dooley's hospital. The U. S. ambassador sent a message to the doctor suggesting he leave. This failed to budge him.

Then two weeks ago a surgeon was visiting his hospital, and Dooley asked the visitor to remove a lump on his left chest. A sample of the tissue was flown here and analyzed. It was malignant. Dr. Dooley received an order he couldn't ignore, from Dr. Peter D. Comanduras, secretary general of Medico.

Last week he flew back to the United States. He went to St. Louis to visit his mother, then flew back to New York for further diagnosis and treatment.

"This is the most elegant hospital room I ever saw," he commented. "Not a single mat on the floor."

Almost gaily, he described what the doctors had done and planned to do. In the morning, he said, the surgeons would "go in and take a look and see what's there," the first in a series of surgical procedures.

"Then they'll decide on the treatment — whether it will be radiation, or nitrogen mustard, or something else," he said.

As a doctor he has guessed that he may have five or six years to live with this "capricious type of cancer."

As a missionary, he had decided that whatever the other doctors say, he's going to spend the time he has left at the hospital in Laos. He plans to return there in November.

As he relaxed in the big shining city hospital to wait for the ministrations of other doctors, he was asked how he was feeling.

"I feel great!" he said with a laugh. "As great as anyone feels who has cancer."

U.S. State Department Reveals Appointments

It also announced the appointment of Woodruff Wallner, 50, as deputy assistant secretary for international organization affairs.

He'll Fight Chicago's Diversion of Waters

NEW YORK (AP)—New York state appointed a special assistant attorney general to handle its legal battle to prevent increased diversion of Lake Michigan waters by the city of Chicago.

Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz named Randall J. LeBoeuf Jr., an expert in the field of water power, to handle proceedings now pending in the U. S. Supreme Court aimed at stopping Chicago from increased water diversion for sanitation purposes.

Lefkowitz said further diversion of water would lower the levels of the Great Lakes and injure New York's docks, harbor installations and recreational facilities along the shores of the lakes.

Lefkowitz said the damage resulting from the Chicago project would cost New York state as much as a million dollars a year.

Hint De Gaulle, Nikita to Meet

LONDON (UPI)—French President Charles de Gaulle and Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev may meet early in the new year, Soviet diplomatic sources hinted today.

The sources said the meeting was not imminent and that present indications pointed to a get together in either Moscow or Paris at the beginning of 1960.

Recent reports from Paris said De Gaulle favored such a meeting because he feared France might be left out of important international negotiations. Premier Michel Debre even warned that France might be crushed between the two giants, the United States and Russia.

Khrushchev also apparently plans to visit Peiping after his trip to the United States to combine top level consultations with the paying of tribute to Red China on the occasion of the 10th anniversary of the Communist regime in October.

The Soviet sources said there were no prospects at present for a further meeting between Khrushchev and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan who visited Moscow earlier this year.

OIL, COAL TO SUFFER? — Englishman Francis T. Bacon stands beside his invention which he says could spell an end to man's need for oil and coal in the transportation field. Lower New York's Gang Violence Ready to Flare Up at Any Moment

Six days ago they had a fist fight.

It doesn't matter who won. It doesn't matter what they fought about. A detective said later it could have been over a girl, it could have been over anything.

What does matter is that the fight, police say, touched off a chain of violence Sunday night that took the lives of a 15-year-old Negro girl, Theresa Gee, and 14-year-old Julio Rosario. Six other teenagers were either shot or stabbed.

Theresa Gee was shot dead in the street. Police charged Cruz with homicide, saying he admitted the shooting but claimed he didn't know he was shooting a girl.

Rosario was stabbed in the back and died Tuesday night. Police say Castro stabbed him with a hunting knife, and will be charged with homicide today.

Cruz was the head of the Forsyth Street Boys. Castro was a member of the Sportsmen. Both gangs are made up of Negroes and Puerto Ricans. When the two boys fought, it became a fight between the gangs, and Sunday night the gangs met to settle it.

But it's not settled.

Extra policemen have been assigned to the lower East Side to prevent further violence. Extra social workers, city and Youth Board members are trying to rebuild a three-year truce between neighborhood gangs that was broken Sunday night.

But residents are uneasy.

The dead girl was a friend of the leader of the Sportsmen, and that may make further trouble.

As one 16-year-old boy, a member of the Sportsmen, told a reporter: 'The death of that girl brought a lot of fear, a lot of hate...Somebody's going to pay for it. And there'll be no stopping until we get every last one of them."

Jazzman Davis Tangles With Police; Is Arrested

NEW YORK (AP)—Jazz trumpeter Miles Davis was arrested today after he tangled with police outside Birdland — a well-known Broadway jazz spot where he is appearing.

Police said Davis, a 32-year-old Negro, grappled with a policeman and took his nightstick away before he was blackjacked by a detective who was passing and saw the struggle. Davis was charged with felonious assault and disorderly conduct.

Police said the trouble started shortly after midnight when a policeman told a crowd of about 40 persons outside the night club to move back so they wouldn't block the sidewalk.

Davis, according to police, refused to move, saying he worked at Birdland. Then the patrolman said he would have to arrest him if he continued to disobey the order.

When Davis still refused, the patrolman took his arm to take him to the station, and the trouble started.

Stunt Costs Flying Status

Pilots Stratojet Bomber Under Mackinac Bridge

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Flying a six-engine B47 Stratojet bomber under the Straits of Mackinac (Mich.) bridge has cost a 39-year-old Air Force captain his flying status.

The Strategic Air Command (SAC) admitted yesterday that Capt. John S. Lappo, a 12-year flying veteran from Muskegon, Mich., piloted the big jet through the 150-foot clearance between bridge and water on April 24.

The 3,800-foot suspension bridge connects Michigan's upper and lower peninsulas.

Lt. Col. Boll G. Fendall, information services officer at Lockbourne Air Force Base here, where Lappo is stationed with the 352nd Bomb Squadron of the 301st Bomb Wing, said the decision on his penalty was reached last week. Lappo, who pleaded guilty at his court-martial, will be fined $50 a month for six months and has received an official reprimand, Fendall said.

When he was on flying status, Leppo earned about $860 a month. This includes his 12 years' service and an allowance for dependents. He and his wife have four children, and live in Canal Winchester, Ohio, near the base.

Lappo must face a flying evaluation board which will determine whether he returns to the cockpit, Fendall added. The other two members of the crew — co-pilot and navigator — were not court-martialed.

Officials at Eighth Air Force headquarters, Westover A F B, Mass., will review the sentence, Fendall explained. Eighth Air Force is an intermediate Strategic Air Command agency which governs the organizations at Lockbourne AFB.

Lappo was not immediately available for comment.

Find Professor Dead in His Car

On Way to Post at Yale; Had Been Shot, Robbed on Idaho Trail

GOODING, Idaho (AP) — A forestry expert en route to become assistant professor at Yale University was found shot to death Tuesday in the southern Idaho sagebrush.

Police said today they had few clues but believed 37-year-old John Hunt Jr. was murdered.

Hunt, the son of the Rev. John Hunt Sr. of Bellingham, Wash., had been a forestry pathologist at the U.S. Forest Service in Portland, Ore. He left there Monday for New Haven, Conn., and his new teaching post.

A young farmer reported finding Hunt's body in a kneeling position on the floorboards by the right front seat of his foreign sports car which was parked on a trail some 23 miles west of Gooding.

Deputy Sheriff Guy Coles said no gun was found in or near the car. He said Hunt had been shot once in the head and once in the body with a .44 or .45 caliber gun.

Coles said Hunt had taken many of his belongings with him when he left Portland, including several suitcases, suits, jackets and shoes, plus a sleeping bag and a portable radio. None of these were in the car, said the deputy. Hunt's billfold and about $150 in traveler's checks also were missing.

Grow Grass Without Soil

Future Farmers May Raise Feed in Shed All Year Round

NEW YORK (AP) — The day may come when a dairy farmer will point to a small metal building next to his barn and say:

"Yep, That's where I grow pasture grass for my cows — sunshine, rain or snow — 12 months out of the year."

At least that's the claim of an Indianapolis, Ind., firm, named Hydroponics, Inc. It has devised a way of growing grass in mass production style without an ounce of soil.

The grass seed nests on a paper pulp base in metal trays. The trays are stored in racks in an air-conditioned, climate controlled building.

In a basic unit, the farmer seeds one basket in each six-basket rack each day. In six days, all the baskets have been seeded and the first one is ready for harvesting and re-seeding — an operation Wood says takes just 30 minutes.

The basic unit should provide 400 pounds of green grass each day to feed cattle, horses, hogs, poultry or dairy cows.

Each ton of fresh green grass costs about $8.50, Hydroponics estimates.

Prolonged Steel Strike Hurts Whole Economy

Neither management nor union can take much comfort from Secretary of Labor MITCHELL's impartial statements of facts concerning the steel industry.

The Secretary's report shows that both sides have overstated their claims. Steel workers are well paid by any standard and steel profits have been high for a number of years. The postwar annual increase in hourly output per steel worker has been 3 per cent compared with 3.7 per cent for manufacturing as a whole. Steel workers are earning wages well above the average for industry in general and steel prices have gone up higher and faster than other prices.

In recent months imports of steel products into the United States have exceeded exports for the first time since the war. This, of course, suggests preparation for the strike. But competition from foreign steel makers is growing and American steel has already lost many markets at home and abroad. At the present time, however, imports represent only a fraction of total U.S. production.

While stating that neither side had yet made a really serious effort to reach an agreement, Sec. MITCHELL made no recommendation for settlement of the strike now in its second month. The steel shortage will not become serious until the end of next month.

If labor and management can't get together before then, the Government may be forced to step in because the whole economy will suffer from lack of steel. In the meantime the strike is costing both wage earners and industries millions of dollars.

Bagley School Vandals Must Pay for Damage

A recent news item in The PRESS calls attention to the fact that youngsters in the vicinity of Bagley School have caused $175 damage by breaking 47 windows in the school.

A local police officer termed the damage a protest against school opening in two weeks. It was further pointed out that it is getting to be an annual occasion. Prior to school opening last year, 200 windows were broken in the same school.

So, what do we do—clasp our hands and say, "How awful!" Apparently the problem is not new. The authorities have known it was there for some time. Obviously whatever passed for routine control efforts was not enongh.

But what then? A nightly crackdown on teenage punks like this is in order. If they are loitering in the area, they should be picked up. Will such shameful matters get worse before we put a stop to it?

These youngsters should receive stern discipline. They should be apprehended and made to pay for their disgraceful damage to Bagley School.

Teenage punks congregating in hordes should be made to understand they will not be tolerated in Pontiac.

Democracy Dormant in Southeastern Asia

In the last year or so military rule has swept out democracy in at least five Asian countries.

Indonesia, Laos, Burma, Thailand and Pakistan are under military rule. After 14 years of struggling toward democracy, President Sukarno of Indonesia, reinstated "guided democracy" which in effect is dictatorship.

Laos has a constitutional form of government but the military controls the cabinet. Military leaders head the governments of Burma, Thailand and Pakistan. Each country has created the machinery of a democracy but popular education and understanding were lacking. None knew how to put theory into practice. With freedom came responsibilities for which they were not prepared.

Democracy did not die in southeast Asia, it never existed. New nations can't be expected to develop in a few years the democratic system which took hundreds of years for Western nations to attain.

If the military dictatorships are wise in economic and political planning and in training personnel needed to run a nation, democracy will emerge gradually and on a firmer foundation.

Many Centennial Farms in Pontiac Area Are Eligible

Weather man: Who has contracted a habit that's getting worse.

Too many farms in Oakland County and vicinity that meet all of the requirements for listing as centennial farms have not been awarded that distinction. The principal reason is that their present owners have not requested it.

If the ownership of your farm has been in the family for 100 years or more, all that is necessary to place it in this distinguished company is to write the at Lansing, and request the blanks to be filled out. There is no charge for this service.

When the required information is furnished, the commission will do the rest. You will receive a certificate to that effect, and a very substantial marker to be placed upon the property.

Some of our farms have been in the same family up to 125 years or more. The owner of one that looks like a top pioneer among them all tells me that he now is making such application. Watch this column for its designation when the arrangements are completed.

The long time annual family reunion honors now rest with the Castor bean plants in the Pontiac area are breaking all growth records. Now tops are those of

This Time for Peace

David Lawrence Says:

Ike Does Best to Promote Peace

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower has put into perspective the purpose of his conferences with the heads of the Allied governments in Europe and also his reasons for the exchange of visits with Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

LAWRENCE

The President has no illusions about the difficulties that lie ahead, but he feels it his duty to try hard to accomplish something for world peace.

He recognizes the right of everyone who disagrees to voice his protest. He insists that there can be no assurance of world peace until the "captive nations" have their freedom and the right to choose their own rulers.

Though well aware of the discouraging record of the past, Eisenhower is dedicated to the principle of trying by every means at his command to influence the Soviet government toward peace and general disarmament.

The President disclosed his ideas at the press conference he held just before getting ready to fly to Europe. It was a memorable occasion.

For in the space of a few minutes Eisenhower epitomized American purposes and reiterated American ideals.

The nation's chief executive said explicitly that his purpose in visiting the heads of the British, French, Italian and West German governments was "to support Western unity in opposing, by force if necessary, any aggression, and to preserve the defensive strength required for our common security."

To those who might have any idea that the people of the United States are so attached to their comforts and luxuries that they might yield to peace-at-any-price sentiment, the President had a significant answer that might well be pondered in Moscow. He said:

"I think that the strength of America is in its people, and I believe that we can put it this way: I do not believe it's necessarily true for each of us that we could get up and, with Patrick Henry, say, 'As for me, give me liberty or give me death.'

"But I believe that basically this is what you might call our national spirit. I believe that the American nation will never surrender its liberties to any kind of outside threat or aggression—rather, they would die."

As a corollary to this expression of steadfastness, the President said he was going to Western Europe to meet with the British, French, Italian and West German leaders in order to have an opportunity "to reiterate jointly that regardless of pressure or inducement we shall never retreat from our ideals or principles or weaken in our resolution to remain secure as we continue our search for peace."

This reassurance would not have been necessary but for the widespread impression that the Khrushchev visit might result in some abandonment of American ideals.

Most important among the President's comments, however, was his emphasis on the spirit of peoples and their power to determine their own fate.

He said in answer to a question asked him about the "captive nations":

"America will never concede that there has been a sound, durable or working peace that could be called global until these nations have had the right to express their own convictions, their own opinions and desires about their own fates, and then, as far as the United States was concerned, it would never cease to use every peaceable means—and I have always emphasized that word 'peaceable'—to give them such an opportunity."

Last but not least, the President showed that he has no objection to the expression of orderly protests at the time of the Khrushchev visit.

He said:

"The mere fact that a number of people have opposed this idea publicly and through advertisements—that, to my mind is one of the lessons he (Khrushchev) can learn.

"We don't resent it. Everybody in this country is able to make his own convictions and his own opinions and he is certainly at liberty to express them.

"And I think it is one of the fine lessons that he (Khrushchev) can learn, and it may have some effect."

Dr. William Brady Says:

Being 40 Should Have No Effect on Childbearing

"A woman of 40 asked whether she could give birth safely," writes a Pennsylvania reader. "You might tell her that I gave birth to my first baby when I was 44½ years of age. I am now 48, in good health, and so is my lovely daughter. Several good doctors advised me to go ahead and have a baby. I also wish to add that I had a normal birth."

In a chapter titled "Her First at Forty" in the booklet Preparing for Maternity (35 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope) I say some women are physiologically as old at 30 or 33 as others are at 40 or 43.

I say if the woman around 40 can and does roll somersaults and all that sort of foolishness she can face her first — or last — childbirth with cheerful assurance. Once I said, in the heat of the moment, that "any one who can roll a somersault and come up smiling can have a baby." Numerous readers in their 60's — masculine and feminine — complained that they've been rolling somersaults for years, yet, darn it . . . You know perfectly well what I mean. I mean physical fitness, resiliency, vite. Never mind your chronological age. It's a question of your physiological age.

The exercises described and illustrated in Helen Heardman's book A Way to Natural Childbirth are fine for any woman preparing for childbirth.

The woman who continues all her usual activities regardless of pregnancy is more likely to have a normal, uncomplicated childbirth than the woman who pampers herself just because of pregnancy.

The correspondent says that several good doctors advised her to go ahead and have a baby. The lady must have money to burn. The fees she paid the several doctors must have been considerable.

If you are female, married, in your 40's and want to know whether it is safe to have a baby, first make sure you can turn a somersault and finish on your feet, smiling. Then ask your doctor whether you are fit for childbirth.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

The Country Parson

"When a man sows a crop he can't be sure he'll reap it—but he may be sure someone will."

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Morale Key to Nation's Strength

Tyrtaeus should be of double interest nowadays to every loyal American. Marshal Foch shows us that a nation's greatest strength never resides in its armor and ballistic missiles, despite the propaganda often advanced to keep up such expensive projects. Discuss this case in your church groups next Sunday and pass it along to your clergy.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case C-427: Tyrteus was a famous musician of Athens.

The Spartans were valiant men, so Athens had made a league where - in she was to go to the aid of Sparta if the latter asked for help, since Sparta also had promised to assist Athens.

DR. CRANE

Sparta finally dispatched an urgent plea for Athens to fulfill her bargain and come to her relief.

The foxy Athenians, however, decided Sparta was becoming a threat to the future of Athens, so they secretly felt it would be wise to let Sparta be conquered.

"Well, we just said we'd offer aid," replied another, "but we didn't say how many men we'd furnish nor what kind.

"So let's send Tyrtaeus. He is a dreamer and a musician, so he will technically fulfill our pact, yet be of no value to the Spartans."

MUSIC & MORALE

Tyrtaeus, however, went to Sparta where he composed ringing martial songs under whose inspiration the Spartans gained a great victory.

This came much as a surprise as well as disappointment to the jealous Athenians. Their strategy had backfired. They failed to realize the tremendous value of music in building morale. And morale is vital to success, whether in peace or war.

"Morale," stated such a realist as Marshal Foch during our first World War, "is more important than material."

That quotation should be re-emphasized in these modern days of Sputniks and ICBM war preparations.

We are urged to cut out frilly subjects from the schools and put extra emphasis on chemistry and physics.

Don't let this type of propaganda delude you.

Turn loose a 20th Century Loyola or John Wesley, a Roger Williams or a Russian version of Billy Sunday, behind the Iron Curtain and we'd soon change Russia into a friendly neighbor.

A few millions devoted to such psychological and spiritual infiltration of Russia would far outweigh billions invested in our shots at the moon.

America can keep on spending half our annual budget under the direction of the Pentagon, and still our morale may wither away unless we keep on stressing the food for the soul of man.

"Man does not live by bread alone," stated the Founder of Christianity.

We might profitably paraphrase that to read:

"Man's greatest protection is within his epidermis; not without."

This does not mean we should not show proper competition to Russia in scientific invention, but to fall down and worship an ICBM is just as foolish as the ancient Hebrew worship of BAAL.

Nations can crumble from within despite supposedly invincible military defenses. Need I remind you of the French Maginot Line, or of Caesar's fording of the Rubicon?

An octopus called Socialism, forced on us by excessive taxation, can destroy our Republic with its "free enterprise" system though Russia doesn't fire a shot.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Urges Parents to Support Work of School Nutritionist

Your recent article, "Johnny Eats Well at School," was read with much interest and I am happy to know the Pontiac School System will at last have "professional guidance" for the school lunch program. It's high time.

The school district receives a direct Federal subsidy of six and a half cents for each child's meal, plus the surplus commodities and to participate in the program they are supposed to supply a "class A lunch." Every mother whose child eats the school lunch should acquaint herself with the requirements of the class A lunch and see that her child gets it.

I know of a local school whose menu frequently consists of peanut butter sandwiches and mashed potatoes and gravy. That's a balanced meal? With the help of a school nutritionist and every mother's perseverance, we can feed our children well.

One Can't Get Excited on Dems' Mild Record

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — If the Democrats sounded like a lion roaring when they took over Congress this year, you were hearing things. They turned out to be lambs. And their two leaders proved to be pretty mild fellows too.

The two leaders-Sen. Lyndon Johnson and Speaker Sam Rayburn, both Texans — started off 1959, thanks to the 1958 elections, with the greatest Democratic majorities in both houses since early New Deal days.

Right now, including the new state of Hawaii, this is the lineup: in the House—284 Democrats to 153 Republicans (there is one vacancy); in the Senate — 65 Democrats to 35 Republicans.

But Johnson and Rayburn, who are both conservative and believers in compromise to get things done, have led the Democrats down a middle-road course that can't make anyone very mad —or very excited, either.

President Eisenhower, undaunted by the Democrats' numbers, kept them in a lamb like mood by threatening to veto anything they did which he didn't like. And he did. And they couldn't muster enough votes to override his veto.

Johnson didn't wait for Eisenhower to lay down his presidential program when Congress came here in January. The self-confident Johnson announced his own program Nov. 7, 1958, three days after the Democrats' overwhelming election win.

It had 12 points, some of which overlapped. But he said these were what the country needed. The program looked impressive. The performance hasn't been.

Rayburn, always credited with magical control over House Democrats, in one glaring example didn't even seem to have control over his own Democrats from Texas. That was on the labor control bill.

The Senate passed a middle-of-the-road bill 90-1. But the House, mainly through Eisenhower's urging and a combination of Southern Democrats and Republicans, was in a mood to pass a much tougher one.

Church Liberty Survey Lined Up

World Council Plans Extensive Check Into Freedom of Religion

RHODES, Greece (AP) — Officials of the World Council of Churches today outlined plans for an extensive survey of religious liberty in the world.

Willem Visser't Hooft of Holland, general secretary of the largely Protestant Council, told the organization's Central Committee that the study would be concluded next year.

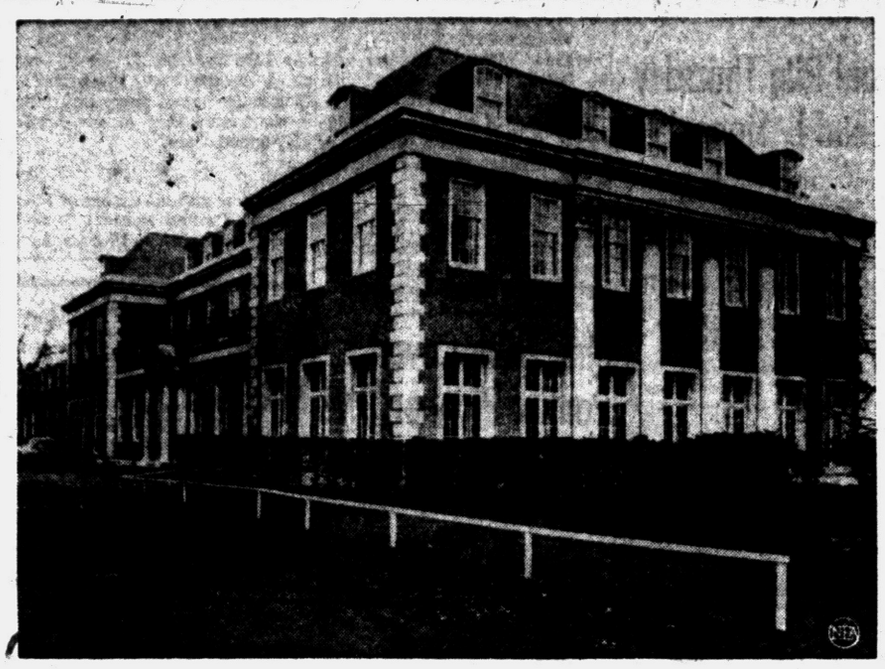

He said it would include reports on church liberties — or the lack of them — in Communist countries. Asian experts also will be asked to contribute information on religious freedom in Hindu, Buddhist and Moslem countries.

The survey was assigned to the council's Commission on Religious Liberties. Bishop Tibor Bartha of the Reformed Church of Hungary, a member of the Central Committee, promptly complained that the commission did not have sufficient representation from Communist Eastern European countries.

In making the survey, Bishop Bartha said, it "would be tragic not to take into account the situation of churches living and working in different social and political conditions" from those in Western countries.

The commission on religious liberties is headed by the Rev. Alford Carleton of the Congregational Christian church of Boston.

The Central Committee is meeting currently on this eastern Mediterranean island. It is the policy-making body of the council, which includes Protestant, Anglican and Orthodox churches with a following estimated at 180 millions.

Senate to Consider Water Bill Thursday

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate is expected to begin consideration of the controversial Chicago Lake Michigan water diversion bill today or Thursday.

Senate Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas said yesterday the House-passed measure probably will be brought up Thursday.

But Sen. Philip A. Hart (D-Mich), an opponent of the bill, told a news conference yesterday the bill will be referred to the Senate foreign relations committee before it reaches the floor.

Hart said it would be wrong to view this as an effort to kill the bill. He said the foreign relations group should consider the measure because of Canadian objections to the additional withdrawals of water.

Sen. Stuart Symington to Talk in Grand Rapids

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo) will be keynote speaker Thursday at the national AMVETS convention in Grand Rapids and also a luncheon guest of the Kent County Democratic Committee.

Officials said he would be accompanied from Detroit by Miss Mildred Jeffries, alternate national committeewoman. Lt. Gov. John Swainson also is listed among luncheon guests.

Kindness to Widow Pays Off

Inherits Mining Claim Worth Millions

MERCED, Calif. (AP)—An Air Force sergeant who befriended a crippled widow is heir to an Alaskan mining claim he says may be worth 40 million dollars.

T. Sgt. Thomas L. Howlett returned to nearby Castle Air Force Base after restaking the cinnabar (mercury) claim and reported Tuesday that geologists estimate its worth that high. He did not identify the geologists.

Two years ago the tail gunner from Norfolk, Va., joined the Pentecostal church where he met Oova Mayberry, whom he married in Carson City, Nev., in June 1957.

The bride's parents, who are turkey raisers near Merced, had known Jim and Cora Dinsmore for many years.

NICE TO WIDOW

Dinsmore, a prospector in Asia, South America, Mexico and Alaska, died in 1955 and the newly married couple did favors for Mrs. Dinsmore, who lived in a house trailer at nearby Livingston.

Howlett, now 28, said Mrs. Dinsmore told them in April 1958 about the claim to the cinnabar vein near Cold Bay in southwestern Alaska. A month later Howlett was transferred to Ellsworth Air Force Base in South Dakota and five weeks later Mrs. Dinsmore died, willing them the claim.

Last May Howlett went to Alaska and checked the claim.

"We had understood there was about a mile of mineable deposits. But we found from 12 to 18 miles of solid, thick veins," he said.

Red Poland Pushing for Open U.N. Seat

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Communist Poland has opened a campaign for the seat on the 11-nation U.N. Security Council which Japan gives up Dec. 31.

The Polish representative, Jacek Machowski, told a reporter the seat belonged once to Eastern Europe. "We would like to have it back."

There are six nonpermanent members elected for two years. From 1946 to 1955 there was an unwritten agreement that one of the seats would go to an East European country. But in 1955 the United States came out in favor of giving the seat alternately to an Asian nation.

Yugoslav and the Philippines tied in the voting that year and split the 1958-1959 term between them. Japan took the seat for 1959.

General Fund Is Empty Again

Williams Cleans It Out to Meet State's Pressing Cash Commitments

LANSING (AP)—Gov. Williams and his administrative board cleaned out the general fund treasury again Tuesday to meet the state's most vital cash commitments.

The board agreed to dole out $4,400,000 of the nearly 10 million dollars available for a state payroll due this week.

Another $1,500,000 will go for direct relief purposes, $3,000,000 for junior and community colleges and $1,000,000 to pay overdue bills to vendors owed less than $50,000.

Additionally, the board decided to send $2,874,000 to state and Detroit public school employes retirement systems, tapping funds earmarked for state school aid.

State Controller James W. Miller said the state deficit, 96 million dollars as of the end of the June 30 fiscal year, is climbing at the rate of nine million dollars a month and will total 115 million dollars by Aug. 31.

The cash shortage, he said, amounts to more than 93 million dollars.

U.S. Steel Corporation Official Plans to Retire

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (UPI) — George W. Rooney will retire next Monday as executive vice president (accounting) of the United States Steel Corporation after 33 years of service in the company.

Rooney joined the oil well supply company in 1926 and served as comptroller from 1932 to 1938. He became comptroller of the National Tube Company in 1938 and of United States Steel Corporation in 1940. In 1942 he became vice president, comptroller and a director of U.S. Steel of Delaware. He had held his present position since 1951.

WHAT'S BECOME OF THE DALAI LAMA? — The Dalai Lama's hairbreadth escape from the Chinese Communists last April made him front page news. For a short time, the story of his heroic resistance to the Red suppression of Tibet was brought to millions. Now, he is once again surrounded by the obscurity which characterized his years as spiritual and temporal leader of his remote plateau country. These pictures show him in exile in Mussoorie, a village in the north of India. He leads a prayer meeting, right, using modern microphones and ancient religious objects. Left, he's with his mother outside their residence.

Soviets to Put Man in Space?

May Be Planning Coup While Nikita Is on Visit to U. S.

HAMBURG, Germany (UPI)—West German intelligence sources said today that the Russians might try to shoot a man into space during Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's visit to the United States next month.

Intelligence reports from Moscow, these sources said, indicate that Soviet preparations for hurling a 'spaceman capsule into an orbit around the earth were "virtually complete."

Successful firing of such a rocket during Khrushchev's American tour would give the Russians an incalculable propaganda triumph as well as a spectacular scientific achievement. It would beat the U.S. spaceman project by years.

Sources within the West German intelligence network said it had been learned that the Soviet top space scientists and rocket technicians were summoned to an extraordinary Moscow conference late last month.

Such a meeting, the sources said could mean that the launching of a new and important space project was imminent.

'Didn't Like the People'

Boy Admits Setting Fire

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP) — "I didn't like the people," said John Wayne Woods. "I didn't like their attitude."

Detective G. L. Emmett said that was the 13-year-old Negro's explanation for setting fire to the Cato Oil & Grease Co. plant here Monday night.

Emmett said John was picked up Tuesday after a relative reported him missing. He said the boy freely admitted starting the fire.

Asked why he didn't like the people at the plant, John told Emmett: "They threw things around. I'll kill anybody for throwing things around. I decided they should be taught a lesson."

Emmett said John, who is held without charge, probably will receive a psychiatric examination. He said the boy has a record of mental illness.

Ruptured Blood Vessel Grounds Cisco's Partner

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP)—Character actor Leo Carrillo, known as the adventurous Pancho in the "Cisco Kid" movie series, had to cancel an appearance Tuesday night at Rocky Glen Park after being stricken ill. Dr. S. W. Lockett said that Carrillo, 65, suffered a ruptured blood vessel.

Ralph Waldo Emerson once said: "A good scholar will find Aristophanes and Hafiz and Rabelais full of American history."

Linda Martin's Slaying Smothered in Mystery

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A misty veil of facts covers a swarm of unanswered questions in the case of a brooding coed whose love affair with a bearded art student was shattered by a knife-wielding murderer.

Were there other men in the life of 21-year-old Linda Edna Martin?

Did she know the mysterious intruder who slashed her to death Sunday night as she stepped nude from a bath tub in her sweetheart's apartment?

Why did Linda, a talented University of Southern California graduate music student, feel she would die young? And under dire circumstances?

Police have cleared her lover Robert Kinzie, 27, of any part in the crime. Kinzie, a ceramics instructor at USC, told police he was having a snack with friends at a Hollywood lunch stand at the time of the slaying. Detectives said a lie detector test, taken voluntarily, confirmed his account.

Police Sgt. Joe Thedens told The Associated Press: "We have not connected Miss Martin or Kinzie with the beatnik crowd in any manner. As far as we know, they never went to any parties and never gave any."

OFTEN MOODY

Yet despite her quiet existence, Linda's life was far from average. Friends described her as extremely sensitive, creative and often moody. Kinzie told police he and Linda had been intimate but denied theirs was a "tawdry romance." He said they planned to marry.

Earlier this year, Linda got an annulment of her two-year marriage to John Taylor, 24, of Glenview, Ill., on the grounds it never had been consummated.

die young, and she feared she would die under ugly circumstances...

"She didn't care what other people thought about her. She was kind of moody, but then most creative people are... It's so hard to believe she died a violent death, even though she lived in fear of it...

"I last heard from her by letter May 6. She said she had formed a relationship with a man and was very happy."

Police at first theorized the assailant may have been an aquaintance of the dead girl. But after more investigation, they said they had no evidence to confirm this theory.

Boston Medics' Center

BOSTON (UPI)—The New England Hospital Assembly reports that Boston has more doctors (3,338) than any other American city, more specialists (1,087), more medical schools, and more hospital beds per capita.

Offer Protection for Newsmen

Five Reporters Tell of Stoning at Arkansas School Registration

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — Newsmen will be protected if they cover integration at the Dollarway School near here, says Sheriff Harold Norton.

Five newsmen reported they were stoned by six pupils as they covered registration at the school Tuesday.

Norton said the incident was grossly exaggerated.

One of the newsmen involved said the stoning occurred after an unidentified white man broke up an interview with the youths by warning them not to talk with "those nigger lovers."

School is scheduled to open Sept. 8 but the board has been advised by its attorneys to delay opening pending final action on an appeal of a federal court order to admit three Negroes to the 1,150-pupil all-white school.

The safety match came into use about the middle of the 19th century.

No More Eggs on State Time, Declares Official

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP)—Beginning next Monday, there'll be no bacon and eggs, no fruit juices, cereals or toast on the menu in the state house cafeteria. Just danish pastry, English muffins, doughnuts and coffee.

Harry C. Myrick, assistant to the state director of administration, said he's not opposed to the coffee break. He simply wants to get employes out of the habit of coming to work, then going into the cafeteria for a leisurely breakfast on state time.

Youth Answers Door, Meets Deadly Bullets

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — A youth was shot to death Tuesday night in gangland style on the steps of his north Portland home after answering a knock at the door, police said.

Detectives Jim Quinn and Roy Benson said a tall, slim youth seen fleeing from the dead boy's home moments after the shooting was sought. They said both youths were Negroes.

The officers said David Lee Heads, 16, was shot in the stomach and in the chest with a small-caliber gun, probably a .32. Heads had no previous police record.

Chrysler Will Build Trucks in Argentina

DETROIT (AP)—Chrysler Corp. plans to build and market two lines of trucks in Argentina during the 1960 model year.

Chrysler International S.A., a corporation subsidiary, will launch the program immediately, the auto firm announced here yesterday. It will be conducted in conjunction with Fevery Basset Chrysler distributor in Argentina.

The announcement said the program calls for production of 4,000 trucks in the first year, gradually increasing to more than 8,000 annually.

The trucks, half-ton and 1½-ton models, will be made in a suburb of Buenos Aires.

Civil War Veteran, 116, Continues Improvement

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The last survivor of the Civil War armies, 116-year-old Walter Williams, is "eating regularly now" and continues to improve, his daughter Willie Mae Bowles said Tuesday. The old soldier, critically ill for two weeks after a bout with pneumonia, began to rally over the weekend.

British Launch New Small Car

Carries 5 Adults, Goes 46 Miles on U.S. Gallon; Sells at $980

LONDON (AP)—The British Motor Corp. Today launched a new entry in the multimillion dollar battle for the world market in small cars.

The car can carry up to five adults, go 70 miles an hour, and run 46 miles on a (U.S.) gallon of gas. It sells abroad for $980 with a fancier version at $1,060.

BMC plans to make 200,000 a year, 100,000 for export. Two versions are being made, the Austin Seven at Birmingham and the Morris Miniminor at Oxford. Arrangements also are being made to assemble the car in Italy.

The car will compete with the British products of four other major companies within the next six months.

The Austin Seven and the Miniminor have an 850 CC engine, set east-west across the front of the frame, parallel to the axle.

NO REAR AXLE

Normally it comfortably accommodates four big adults, including six-footers.

However, one experimenter squeezed in five adults, a baby, two dogs, 12 cases, two golf bags, four small picnic cases and assorted rugs.

Although BMC advertises the car to give 70 miles per hour, it can be nursed to 81 m.p.h. in top gear, with 42 and 65 m.p.h. in second and third. The car has four gears.

Gasoline mileage is advertised as up to 46 miles per (U.S.) gallon, but pressmen testing the car found figures as high as 65 miles per (U.S.) gallon at 30 m.p.h.

About 27,000 small boats operate in San Francisco Bay.

Congressional Action Unlikely on Government Bond Interest

WASHINGTON (AP)—Time and hard-core Democratic opposition worked today against congressional action this session on President Eisenhower's repeated demand for repeal of the interest rate ceiling on governmnt bonds.

House leaders, however, still left the door open to the chance of passage of legislation raising the interest rate on "E" and "H" Savings Bonds from 3¼ to 3¾ per cent. These are the knids of bonds bought by individuals.

Eisenhower prodded Congress again Tuesday to act before adjournment on raising gasoline taxes to finance the deficit-ridden highway program and to enact minimum essential housing legislation.

But of greatest importance, he told Congress in a pair of special messages, is action on repeal of the interest rate ceiling to permit orderly management of the record 290-billion-dollar public debt.

With adjournment time nearing, the President is likely to get both a housing bill and highway financing legislation—although not likely to be entirely to his taste.

A billion - dollar compromise housing measure, carrying some of the same but watered-down provisions that led to the veto of an earlier bill, is due to be passed by the House Wednesday and sent to the President just before adjournment.

An increase of a cent a gallon in the gasoline tax for the next 22 months, to provide highway building revenues, has been voted and reaffirmed by the House Ways and Means Committee. The group rejected both a one-year, 1-cent tax increase and Eisenhower's proposed 1½-cent hike for five years. The President indicated, however, that a 1-cent increase would be acceptable. The present tax is 3 cents a gallon.

But key House leaders described chances of interest rate legislation as "very, very remote" in the short time remaining before adjournment.

Some Democrats feel the urgency for passage of interest rate legislation has eased because the Treasury has completed most of its major refinancing for this year.

Advise Suspension of Chicago Teamster

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The three-man board of Teamster monitors has voted tentatively to recommend the suspension of Joey Glimco, boss of the Union's Taxicab Drivers Local 777 in Chicago, informed sources said.

They said the decision was reached during a telephone conference call last Friday night. Martin F. O'Donoghue, chairman of the monitors, reportedly joined with monitor Lawrence T. Smith to form the majority.

The union's representative, attorney Daniel B. Maher, was reported to have hung up the phone before the vote was taken.

But the court - appointed monitors recently changed their rules to make two members a quorum authorized to do business.

Glimco, an ex-convict, has been accused of misusing Union funds and of attempting "shakedowns." Under the monitors' proposal, he would be tried by a union board.

Colorful Salad Plate

A pretty summer salad plate perks up hot weather appetites. Arrange four nests of lettuce on a luncheon plate and in these place half of a peach, sections of orange, slice of pineapple, four pitted prunes, and in center a mound of cottage cheese mixed with chopped nuts and dates. Serve well-chilled with a sour cream dressing.

In normal conditions eight to 12 inches of snow equals an inch of water.

Summertime Duet

Corn and tomatoes—a delicious combination for a quick-to-make vegetable to serve on days when the thermometer is soaring beyond all reasonable temperatures. Stew 2 cups each, fresh corn cut-off-the-cob and diced fresh tomatoes until corn is tender. Season to taste with salt, sugar and ground black pepper.

Automobile drivers in Guatemala must have a medical test every five years.

No More Tough Turkey

Tough turkey will soon be a thing of the past, Michigan State researchers have found that if turkeys are held on ice a certain length of time before being frozen, the meat will be more tender. Processors put new findings like this to use in the interest of good eating.

The first recorded Christmas celebration in North America was held on St. Croix Island, Maine, in 1604.

Morals Are Showing . . . Abby

What's Wrong With an Affair as Long as Nobody's Hurt?

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I'd like your help in convincing my husband that we are living in a modern world. We aren't kids. We are in our forties and have been married 18 years. I don't neglect the kids (or him) and see nothing wrong with an "affair" as long as nobody is hurt. I don't want a divorce. I just want to go on as I have been. Being a woman, you should understand.

ABBY

AVERAGE WIFE

DEAR AVERAGE: I "understand" but I disagree. Women who see "nothing wrong" with an "affair" need a dog license—not a marriage license.

DEAR ABBY: I love my sister very much. She has been married to a prince of a man for twelve years and they have two children. Her husband was injured on his job and he is in a wheel chair, paralyzed from the waist down. She went to work to help out and met another man (her boss) and fell in love with him.

She is presently divorcing her husband to marry the other man. I do not approve of what she is doing, but she is still my sister. My husband says he will never speak to her again. He refuses to meet her fiance. This is making it hard on me. Do you think I should break off relations with my sister because of the way my husband feels? Why shouldn't we be friendly with her and her new husband?

TORN

DEAR TORN: If you want to be friendly with your sister and her new husband, you have a right to, but your husband has the right to ignore them. Your sister has broken a sacred vow to "love and cherish in sickness and in health," etc. You might still "love" your sister, but you surely can't respect her.

DEAR ABBY: Tell that little fuss budget who wants everything he eats served on separate dishes, he will have to wash the dishes himself. I'll bet he starts eating off one plate soon.

I once had a small visitor years ago who used to wet her bed the first few nights. After I made her wash her own sheets and hang them out to dry a couple of times, she managed to stay dry. It makes a difference when they have to do the work themselves.

MOTHER OF FOUR

DEAR MOTHER: Bed-wetters should not be dealt with in the same manner as "fuss-budgets" who want their food served on separate plates. A bed-wetter is usually the innocent victim of an act over which he has no control.

CONFIDENTIAL TO MRS. A.: Your problem is not worth losing sleep over. Tell your husband you have charged more than you can pay for. He won't be the first husband who has lived through this kind of news.

Gladioli, Palms Bank Altar at Evening Rite

MRS. ROY E. ROESER

White gladioli, pompons and palms banked the altar of Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church for the Saturday evening wedding of Jeannine Ruth Stickel and Roy Elton Roeser.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stickel of Haddrill court and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Roeser of Wayne.

Her fingertip silk illusion veil was held by a lace seed pearl headpiece and she carried a crescent bouquet of glaroses and lily of the valley.

Mrs. Robert F. Morris of Drayton Pains was her sister's matron of honor.

Bridesmaids were the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Mark Stephens of Drayton Plains, Mrs. Daniel Sinclaire of Big Rapids, Mrs. Robert Webber of Royal Oak and Elaine Eaglen.

The matron of honor carried a basket of butterscotch pompons, red fall leaves and wheat. The bridesmaids carried baskets of bronze pompons with red fall leaves and wheat.

After a reception at Bemis Olsen Amvets Hall, the bride changed to a light blue suit with patent accessories and the corsage from her wedding bouquet.

The couple is honeymooning in Canada and New England. On their return they will live in Wayne.

The bride is a graduate of Harper Hospital School of Nursing and the bridegroom attended Michigan State University.

Mrs. Stickle was dressed in an avocado print sheath dress with pink accessories and a pink pompon corsage. Mrs. Roeser wore a pink embroidered sheath dress with white accessories and white pompons.

Chairman were appointed for the card party to be held in October in conjunction with the Holiday Farms branch.

Charm or Clutter?

Charm bracelets become a nuisance to others when you jangle an armload. Two or three bracelets are fine; more than that amounts to clutter.

Ivy Covered Garden Arch Scene of Bridal Rites

The Rev. Theodore Allebach of Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church performed the late afternoon ceremony at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Noble Meredith on Slocum drive, with members of the immediate families present.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Howard Tanner of South Francis street. The bridegroom of Lorain, Ohio, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank R. Morton of Brookdale lane.

A gown of blossom white organza frosted with embroidery in rose spray motif was chosen by the bride. Features of the gown were short sleeves and a wide banding of taffeta encircling the floor length bouffant skirt. A wreath of pearl tipped petals and orange blossoms secured her veil of silk illusion.

Mrs. Meredith attended her sister as matron of honor, wearing a short full skirted dress of Dresden pink organza over white taffeta. She carried a semi-cascade bouquet of white roses and pink carnations.

Serving as flowergirls were Debra and Diana Meredith, nieces of the bride. They wore short pink organza and taffeta frocks with rounded necklines and puffed sleeves. Each carried baskets of white pompons and pink roses.

Best man was William Bidwell of Berkley.

A buffet dinner was served at the bride's sister's home, immediately following the ceremony. A reception was held at 9 p.m. at the Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church in Fellowship Hall for 250 guests.

MRS. ROSS A. MORTON

Mrs. Tanner chose a blue sheath of silk organza over taffeta and white accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a sheath dress in rose beige peau de soie with cranberry accessories. Both mothers had corsages of pink rosemelias.

The new Mrs. Morton chose a black sheath with black and white accessories for traveling to Northern Michigan. Her flowers were the white rose corsage from the bouquet. Upon returning, the newlyweds will reside in Lorain, Ohio.

College Students to Be Honored

An open house honoring college students given by the Rev. and Mrs. E. I. Watkins, will be held at the parsonage of Joslyn Avenue Presbyterian Church beginning 7 p.m. Saturday. Church members and their friends also are invited.

Edwin Prophet will be guest of honor. He has spent the summer working with Rev. Watkins and is returning to Pittsburgh - Xenia Theological Seminary.

Your Son's Safety Is Foremost

By EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: Our son celebrated his seventh birthday a couple of days ago. His Godmother presented him with a bicycle on this occasion. It was very generous of her and of course our son was thrilled with it. However, my husband and I are very much opposed to his having a bicycle as it is very congested here where we live and we feel it would be extremely dangerous. My husband thinks I should call and explain this to her and ask her if she would please exchange it for something else. I think this would be most improper and that it would offend her deeply. Will you please give me your opinion about this?

Answer: Your son's safety comes first, and even at the risk of offending his Godmother you should explain to her the danger of a child's riding a bicycle in your neighborhood, and ask her if she would please exchange it for something else.

Dear Mrs. Post: My daughter will be married in a month at an afternoon wedding. She would very much like to have our former rector, who has known her since birth, perform the ceremony. The clergyman in question has just recently left this community for a new parish in another city. I would like to know if I am responsible for his expenses in connection with the wedding. (This will include traveling expenses and hotel.)

Answer: You certainly should offer to pay his expenses because otherwise, much as he would like to, he may not be able to afford to come for the wedding.

Dear Mrs. Post: I would like to know if it would be proper for an engaged couple in their 40s to drive alone together to visit the man's relatives if they spend the night at the relative's house. The drive would take most of the day.

Teachers of 7 States to Meet at Cranbrook

Independent school teachers from seven states will meet at Cranbrook School Aug. 30 to Sept. 3 for a forum on "The Conquest of Inner Space."

Jointly sponsored by Cranbrook School and the Council for Religion in Independent Schools of New York City, the forum will consider deeper educational needs.

Newlyweds Will Live in Bermuda for a Year

The skirt of the bride's gown formed a chapel train and her fingertip veil of imported silk illusion was held by a crown of seed pearls. She carried an arm bouquet of Album lilies and she wore a pearl and diamond pendant necklace, a gift of the bridegroom.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Franklin M. Williams of West Colgate avenue and Mr. and Mrs. Edwin F. Clark of Sylvan Village.

Judy Gutzke was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Janet Payne and Helen Sherk. They wore identical ballerina length dresses of turquoise embroidered silk organza with matching satin bows and they carried crescent cascade bouquets of glamellias. Their headbands matched their flowers.

Barbara Jean Williams and Betty Jo Williams, the bride's sisters, were junior bridesmaids. They wore white nylon organdy dresses with turquoise cummerbunds and they carried bouquets that were miniatures of the maid of honor's. Their headbands were white feathered carnations.

Fred Vest was best man.

MRS. MICHAEL F. CLARK

A reception was held in the church parlors. Before leaving for a honeymoon to Bermuda, the bride change to a two-piece blue and green cotton dress with navy accessories. They will live in Bermuda for the next year, where the bridegroom is stationed with the U. S. Navy.

Mrs. Williams wore a dress of silver blue lace over taffeta with blue accessories. Mrs. Clark was dressed in a sheath of toast lace over beige taffeta with beige accessories. Both had corsages of glamellias.

Wed in Church of God

Lydia Elizabeth Scott and Robert Merle Richards were married Saturday evening at Church of God. The Rev. Floyd Temmerman officiated at the evening service before 75 guests.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Ramos of Oakland avenue and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Richards, of South Jessie street.

The bride was dressed in a ballerina length gown of chantilly lace over white satin. Her shoulder length silk illusion veil was attached to a crown of seed pearls. She carried a white Bible covered with a white orchid and stephanotis.

Mrs. Russell M. Bridges of Drayton Plains was her sister's matron of honor. She wore a navy blue dress with white accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations and white roses.

Following a reception at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Russell M. Bridges of Drayton Plains, the couple left for a honeymoon in Northern Michigan. The new Mrs. Richards chose a light blue dress with matching accessories for traveling. Upon returning they will reside in Burlingham Park.

Mrs. Ramos chose a navy blue nylon tulle dress with white accessories and white rosebuds composed her corsage. Mrs. Parker wore a navy blue tailored dress with white accessories

Spoiled Children Future Failures in Control

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

I'm unpacking my heavy bag of groceries in the kitchen when my four-year-old spies the plastic container of cookies on the table and runs off with it. As I run after him, I know there's going to be trouble. Because I dislike trouble, I'm both irritable and cajoling as I remove the cookies from him, saying, "You can have them after lunch, Gene. You don't want to spoil your lunch, do you?"

The trouble I knew was coming comes. Howling, Gene flings himself on the floor in a tantrum.

I hesitate. Then, opening the cookie container, I give him what he wants, thinking, "Oh, well, just one won't spoil his appetite."

My trouble is over. Gene stops howling.

Why?

Because he's so impressed with me as a person of reliable kindness? Not at all. He's impressed by himself as a person of reliable power. His howls have produced the expected result. They have made the disappearing cookies reappear.

Appreciation of my kindness doesn't enter into the satisfaction he feels at all. It is exactly the kind of satisfaction that people in fairy tales feel when they rub lamps or wave wands—and the disappearing castles and glittering ball gowns they want appear again.

The overindulged child's belief in his magical power is what makes him so ungrateful. The efforts we have to make to get him what he wants don't exist for him. What exists for him is only his power to get it.

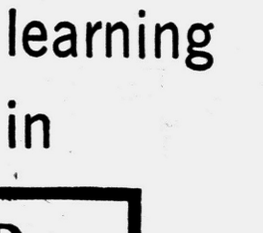

His conviction of magical control is very hard on him.

It isn't real. It exists only in his imagination. So, as he discovers that he can't control everyone, he first becomes confused, then deeply frightened. To avoid any denial that would threaten his belief in his all-powerfulness, he will either stop asking for anything or become so anxiously demanding that he drives us distracted.

This is the child who will panic before school exams or idle through summers without looking for jobs. His constant tempers or depressions are hard to comfort. As he turns on us resentfully, we think bewilderedly, "Oh, when I've been so good to this child, why does he hate me?"

He doesn't hate us. What he hates is the possibility of a failure in control.

WILLIAM C. BRYANT

Receiving a masters degree from the University of Michigan this summer is William C. Bryant, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Bryant of West Hopkins avenue. This fall he will teach at the University of California and will also begin work on his doctorate in Spanish literature and language.

New Sink Rinses Self After Dishes

One of the newest stars in the kitchen constellation is the self-rinsing sink recently patented by a major auto manufacturer.

A rinsing ring rims the top of the sink, and will enable the lucky housewife who owns it to rinse away any residue after sudsing and rinsing the dishes.

Designs Own Gown for Madison Wedding

Wearing a gown she had designed herself, Diane Alee Spratt exchanged vows with Charles Daniel Sobocienski Saturday morning at St. Vincent Ferrar Church, Madison Heights, before an altar banked with mixed summer flowers, given by the church's Altar Society.

The bride's floor length gown of silk organza over taffeta featured a cowl neckline and tiered back panel accented with hand-embroidered powder blue forget-me-nots.

The back formed a short train. Her fingertip veil was held by a lace cap and she carried a bouquet of white phalaenopsis with scattered blue stephanotis and trailing ivy.

Mrs. Clyde Nightengale of Maine was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Gail Mack of Canton, Ohio; Mrs. John Howells; Dolores Sobocienski of Madison Heights; and Regina Hughs.

Their picture hats were nylon organdy and they carried Fugi chrysanthemums to match the hues of their gowns. The bride also designed her attendants' hats and gowns.

MRS. C. D. Sobocienski

Before leaving for a honeymoon to Northern Michigan, the bride changed to a two-piece brown print suit with matching accessories. They will live in Madison Heights.

Mrs. Spratt wore a moss green chiffon dress with white accessories and a corsage of moss green cymbidium orchids.

Mrs. Sobocienski was dressed in beige linen with lace insets and beige accessories. She had a corsage of yellow tea roses.

Lutheran Units to Meet

"Exiles in the Holy Land" film will be shown at the opening meetings of all units of Christ Lutheran Church, Augustana Lutheran Church women.

Dorcas unit will meet at 8 p.m. Aug. 31 at the home of Mrs. Victor Wayrynen of Waterford Township. Mrs. Paul Habicht is cohostess. The first meeting of Esther unit will be at 7:30 p.m. Sept. 2 at the Forest drive home of Mrs. Alice Hallenback. Mrs. Martha Johnson will be cohostess.

Deborah unit meets Sept. 2 at 8 p.m. at the church. Ruth unit will also meet at the church at 1:30 p.m. Sept. 3. Mrs. H. A. Daniel, Mrs. Sherman Randall, Mrs. Felix Anderson and Mrs. Verne Witherspoon will be hostesses.

The parsonage will be the meeting place for Rachel unit at 9:30 a.m. Sept. 3.

Members are asked to bring white sheets, socks and shirts to be used for bandages for the American Leprosy Mission. A collection of old nylon stockings also is being made.

Empty vacuum cleaner bags or carpet sweepers on damp newspapers.

Apply Cold Cream Upward, Outward

When the directions on your jar of face cream say that it should be massaged gently into the skin, follow the directions faithfully. But make sure that the movements you use are light and always upward and outward. Downward movements can cause muscles to sag and do far more harm than good.

Be very careful of that thin-skinned area around the eyes. A dot of cream on the tip of your little finger is quite enough here.

Efficiency, Early Start Avoid House Slavery

By RUTH MILLETT

Some housewives spend a whole dreary day doing the same amount of work other women can finish in a couple of hours.

What's the difference?

A housewife who has her home in shining order by 10 every morning and is free to do as she pleases the rest of the day explains it this way:

"In the first place I never let myself get behind with my work. Whatever needs to be done, I do immediately. I never sit and stare at a job. I just do it.

"In the second place, I never make extra work for myself. I put things away when they are used, clean up after myself as I cook, throw out useless things that make clutter, and so on. It's amazing how much easier housekeeping becomes once you cultivate such habits.

"In the third place, I get started working as soon as breakfast is out of the way. Lots of women sit around and read the newspaper, put on a second pot of coffee, make several long telephone calls, wander over to a neighbor's house and get to talking while the time slips by. By the time these women are ready to go to work, my housework is finished.

"But most important of all, I guess, in streamlining housework is the determination not to be a slave to a house.

"The thing that really keeps a woman from puttering around all day at housework is wanting to get out and do other things."

Maybe there's a helpful hint or two here for women who claim that housework keeps them so busy they never have time for anything else.

Wear Scarves So They Flatter You

If you like to wear scarves there are some rules to observe so they flatter you. Small scarves worn near the face must compliment your complexion and eye color.

And if you are small, avoid long trailing stoles that give the impression that they are wearing you instead of the reverse.

Blondes Never Had It So Good

By MARY PRIME

NEW YORK — (UPI) — Fashions may be man - tailored this fall, but hairdo's will be "all girl" — blondes and more blondes.

That prediction comes from the Beauty and Barber Supply Institute convention here.

Millions of women who now use darker rinses will switch to blonde this year, the experts said. And many women who already are blondes (natural or otherwise) will stay that way.

Because colors are not whitened or muted in fall clothes, hair color will be warmer and brighter. This goes for blondes too, said Mrs. Ellen Noreen Baum, head of a beauty institute. The gold tones will predominate, instead of pale, ash-blonde shades. But the gold is not brassy.

Brunettes will be geared to compliment the purples and blues of clothes with a grey rinse over naturally dark hair. It gives a soft, smokey color. Grey hair can be combined with a dark, smokey rinse.

Brown hair will take warm-color rinses to go with the "earth" tones of fashion — greens, olive, sienna and soft golds.

Women who favor beige, brown and green in their wardrobes should rinse their locks in a warm red, Mrs. Baum said. A bright auburn —like a copper penny — will be the popular shade. Dark auburn hair should be brightened, and natural carrot-red hair should be toned down, she added.

"Chiffon colors" are recommended by one manufacturer. They are light and airy, suggesting chiffon fabric or a lemon chiffon pie. One shade is a strawberry blonde, making the hair look like pale pink cotton candy.

"Blonde on blonde" is another effect to be shown this winter. It is a tonal look achieved through a special technique — coloring portions of the hair darker and lighter shades of blonde. The method was developed by a Las Vegas hair stylist, Pepi, and a hair-coloring manufacturer.

Pepi claims a "blonde on blonde" application lasts two to three months, with one touch-up along the partline or the hairline.

If you are not completely satisfied with your legs—and who is?—try this exercise for increasing the size of your calves. Point the toes HARD. Hold while you count to five slowly.

Try These Leg Exercises

All Want to Alter Figures

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

I have never met a woman who was completely satisfied with her figure. She may look like Miss Universe but she always wants to lose an inch here or gain an inch there.

Pads of fat on the abdomen or thighs or hips can be somewhat controlled by clever girdles. However the legs are there for all to see, especially since the shorter skirt length is in vogue. Therefore, today I want to give you some exercises for some of the usual leg defects.

It is more difficult to change the ankle than the calf. The size of the ankle depends to a great extent on boney structure, and thick ankles seem to run in some families. The best exercise is making circles with the toes, circling first in one direction and then in the other.

Lack of curves is a problem for many women. Those who have pipestem legs are just as unhappy as those whose calves are too large. If you wish to increase the size of your calves, do the following exercises.

Stand with the left side toward the wall and the left hand on the wall for support. Rise high on the toes. Now bend the knees halfway down. Straighten legs and again rise high on the toes. Continue. Do not touch the heels to the floor in between bends and rises.

Another: Sit on the floor with your legs resting on the floor in front of you. Place your hands on the floor and lean back slightly. Point the toes HARD. Hold while you count to five slowly. Relax. Again point the toes. Relax. Continue.

EXERCISE

If large calves trouble you, remember that if you are overweight a loss in poundage will be reflected in this spot. If you are the correct weight and your calves are out of proportion, try this exercise. Lie on the floor with your legs straight and your arms resting on the floor at your sides. Bend the left knee. Grasp the left ankle with both hands. As you straighten the left leg pull the hands down the leg, exerting pressure on the leg. When the leg is straight lift it as high as comfortable and point the toe back toward the head. Lower the leg to floor. Do the same thing with the right leg. Continue, alternating left and right.

If you would like to have my leaflet which gives you corrective exercises for the most usual leg defects, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 13 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Barbara Collom Marries in Christ Lutheran

Barbara Collom became the bride of Raymond Haynes Saturday evening at Christ Lutheran Church in Waterford. One hundred guests were present as the Rev. Arvid E. Anderson united the couple before an altar banked with white roses and carnations.

The bride, daughter of Mrs. Marion Collom of Williams Lake road, wore a floor length gown of white chantilly lace. The gown featured a Sabrina neckline and long sleeves tapered at the wrists. A pearl crown held her veil of nylon net which was edged with Chantilly lace.

She carried a bouquet of pink roses and white carnations and wore a headband of pink carnations and white roses.

Best man was Frederick Haynes of Waterford, the groom's brother. Ushers were LaVerne Collom of Pontiac, brother of the bride and William Gibbons, the groom's brother-in-law.

A reception was held at the home of the groom's mother, Mrs. Florence Haynes of Andersonville road.

Before leaving for a honeymoon the bride changed to a two-piece brown dress with a corsage of orange roses. The couple will live on Pontiac Lake road when they return.

Mrs. Collom wore a coral two-piece dress of polished cotton in a floral design. Mrs. Haynes wore a blue two-piece outfit of floral design with a pleated skirt.

Wash-and-Wears Need Some Ironing

Many manufacturers and stores point out that today's wash-and-wear suits for men undoubtedly do need a touch of the iron here and there. If you expect otherwise, you may be disappointed.

But the convenience of washing a suit at home, and having it dry quickly, is certainly worth that touch of the iron. And don't forget that wash-and-wear is mighty healthy for the budget!

Smart Woman Plans Clothes Ahead of Time

Have you ever wondered how some women can manage to be well-dressed on very little money? Be it a party, a luncheon or just out marketing, they somehow always look trim, well - groomed and really well-dressed.

These are the women who plan. Far from waiting until the last to dash out to buy a dress for an occasion, they see to it that they have the dress. They know what their wardrobe needs and when a favorite dress no longer can see service, it's replaced.

Chances are the dress that replaced it was bought on sale. But you can be sure that its purchase was carefully thought out. It was not a spur-of - the - moment buy to be worn once or twice, eventually winding up idle in the closet.

For planning is the secret of any good wardrobe, whether it contains six dresses or 60.

State Bar to Recommend New Plan Family Court

LANSING (AP) — Establishment of a family court by constitutional amendment will be among several recommendations the State Bar of Michigan will consider at its Sept. 24 meeting in Detroit, President Raymond H. Dresser reported.

The court would provide a single integrated tribunal with jurisdiction over all major types of litigation involving the family.

A second proposal will urge abolishment of the justice of the peace system, substituting a "suitable system of lower courts of limited jurisdiction."

The bar's public relations committee said the system "had fallen into disrepute and the public expected the legal profession to take the lead in instituting reforms abolishing the system."

However, a subcommittee on justices of the peace urged further study of the system with the chairman noting that "few complaints of improper conduct by justices of the peace had come to his attention."

A third proposal will call for raising the minimum age for motor scooter operators from 14 to 16. Gov. Williams has signed a measure boosting the minimum age to 15.

The bar will also consider these recommendations by various committees:

Giving judges of probate discretionary power to order reasonable restitution be paid by a child's parent or guardian for losses stemming from a delinquent act.

Barring divorces where neither party can give a good reason why no attempt was made to discuss reconciliation with an attorney, member of the clergy or marriage counselor affiliated with a court of record.

Urging that the state bar make a comprehensive study of the penal code; endorse creation of an intermediate court of appeal; go on record in opposition to the public defender system for Michigan; and refrain from recommending legislation on wire tapping.

Providing for the interim release of misdemeanor prisoners upon a maximum court appearance guarantee of $100 cash.

Requesting that the state Supreme Court promulgate uniform rule of procedure in criminal and traffic cases.

Increasing the civil jurisdiction of municipal courts to $3,000.

Urging Congress to authorize the erection on the esplanade of the Detroit Civic Center of a building designed solely to accommodate the courts of the United States, the U. S. attorney and the U. S. marshal.

Calling for a general revision of state tax laws in the interest of of simplification; substitution of an estate tax for the inheritance tax; opposing enactment of a gift tax law at this time; and creating a Michigan tax court following a general overhaul of the present tax structure.

2 High Schools to Join Courses Via Bus Service

FRANKFORT (AP) — High schools in Frankfort and Benzonia will be joined by special bus service in an experiment to offer improved programs for students of foreign languages and mathematics.

The plan was announced jointly today by boards of education in both Benzie County communities as the result of studies made last spring.

It involves bus transportation of language and advanced mathematics pupils from one high school to the other. Each school will provide two teachers specializing in the subjects.

Both schools, starting Sept. 8, thus will be permitted to offer four-year courses in mathematics and two-year courses in Spanish and Latin. Previously offered in the separate schools were two years of mathematics and one in languages.

The State Department of Public Instruction has approved the plan which it says may set a pattern for other small high schools.

Wants Lawyers to Visit Russia

In a speech prepared for the American Bar Assn., he said that such exchanges would dramatize the contrast between a free system of government and a regimented Communist system.

"It is my opinion," Rogers said, "that the legal profession should give its support to a carefully planned exchange program of lawyers and judges in order that the Soviets may study our constitutional system and the operation of our courts, and that we be given an opportunity to study the system in effect in the Soviet Union."

Tuesday, after hour long debate, the association accepted a report defending the U.S. Supreme Court in an attempt to balance off a report of six months ago criticizing the court.

But its policy-making group, the House of Delegates, emphasized that neither report, made by separate bar committees, represented an official stand by the ABA. They were merely opinions of the committees which drew them up, it said.

A widespread impression was created that the ABA had criticized the court. Fifty-three ABA members resigned because of the House action.

Allies Get Temperamental

Ike Is on Strange Trip

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower embarked upon a strange journey today, one which should seem unnecessary. He is flying to Europe to reassure American allies he won't be up to any monkey business in dealing with the Soviet Union.

He didn't put it that baldly at his news conference Tuesday. But that is the purpose of his trip. The fact that he feels he has to make it doesn't speak well for the solidarity of the Western alliance.

But Britain, France and West Germany are second-rate powers now. And they know it. And the thought of the Big Two sitting down together — Eisenhower and Premier Nikita Khrushchev—jiggles their nerves.

The Associated Press reported this week from London that Britain, France and West Germany want a presidential pledge that the United States will not enter an accommodation with the Soviet Union at the expense of their own national interests.

This kind of suspicion or uncertainty explains why the Soviets will try to drive wedges between the Western powers any time they can.

If it's any comfort to the West, Khrushchev may be having similar problems with the Red Chinese and satellite leaders now. The Premier, according to reports from Berlin, may be meeting with them at his Black Sea vacation place.

This was Eisenhower's way of explaining reasons for his trip: "To reiterate jointly that regardless of pressure or inducement we shall never retreat from our ideals or principles or weaken in our resolution to remain secure as we continue the search for peace."

GET TEMPERMENTAL

And he added, as another reason for going: "To discuss with each head of government problems common to that nation and ours."

The Western problems have multiplied since the President and Premier decided to meet. Some of them look like prime donna problems.

It would have saved Eisenhower time and trouble on this trip if he could have met with Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, President Charles de Gaulle and Chancellor Konrad Adenauer in one place and at one time, all to ehter.

But those three wouldn't get together. Macmillan wouldn't go from London to Paris; De Gaulle wouldn't go from Paris to London; and neither seemed anxious to have Adenauer around at the same time as Eisenhower.

At 41st Birthday Performances

Russians Honor Bernstein

MOSCOW (AP)—Conductor Leonard Bernstein of the New York Philharmonic marked his 41st birthday Tuesday as a signally honored visitor to Russia, the native land of his parents.

Soviet newspapers harped on one string in birthday salutations: Bernstein is wonderful, the orchestra is wonderful and the music they play is wonderful.

The energetic pianist, composer and conductor, born in Lawrence, Mass., played down the anniversary. He told a friend:

"Don't make too much of this. I don't like to be reminded I'm getting old. After 25, it's all downhill."

You'd never prove any slump, however, by the way capacity Moscow audiences are reacting to performances of Bernstein and his orchestra, on a 23-day tour of the Soviet Union.

His Herd Hadn't Heard

IRA, Vt. (UPI)—Veterinarians say the incidence of twins in a herd of 40 high-producing Holsteins is about one set a year. But Clarence Fish's herd had four sets of twins in less than six months.

YOU'RE RIGHT to use more SUGAR

Help give yourself the get-up-and-go feeling . . . that pep and vitality that makes work easier—play more fun. Use Michigan Made Pure Sugar, Big Chief or Pioneer brands.

You see sugar lifts up your energy fast, because sugar supplies energy to the body faster than any other food.

And Michigan Made Pure Sugar with only 18 calories in a level teaspoonful helps you control your weight by satisfying your appetite . . . reduces your hunger for more fattening foods. This means you can control your weight—even reduce—and still use sugar.

Then, certainly, Pioneer and Big Chief Sugar add to the flavor of your food and beverages . . . make them taste so much better.

So buy Michigan Made Pure Sugar—Big Chief or Pioneer brands!

MICHIGAN MADE PURE SUGAR

Mental Expert Raps Legislators

Rejects State Post, Blasts Penny-Pinching as Dangerous

LANSING (AP) — A Detroit psychiatrist attacked the legislature Tuesday in advising Gov. Williams he will not accept a new term after 10 years on the State Mental Health Commission.

Dr. Harry E. August said he has encountered numerous "frustrations" in his service on the commission. He accused the legislature of "obtuseness, false economy and brutal treatment" of the mentally ill.

Dr. August, whose term expires Sept. 6, said commission director Charles F. Wagg, his fellow commissioners and hospital employes have served with devotion. But, he said, improvements in the state hospital system have been accomplished in spite of, not because of, legislative action.

August was especially critical of the Senate Finance and Appropriations Committee headed by Sen. Elmer R. Porter (R-Blissfield). Over the years, August said, the committee has "hindered and impeded us" with a "pinch-penny policy."

Dr. August said that state mental hospitals are seriously understaffed because of skimpy appropriations. He added that a night fire or outbreak among seriously disturbed patients would result in a tragedy for which the Legislature would be responsible.

August complained the committee failed to give the commission time to explain its budget and was indifferent for many years to salary requests for an assistant to Wagg.

COMPARATIVE COMFORT — Eighteen-month-old Robert Grubbe of Omaha hitches up a rocking chair just the right size for him without a glance at what its owners describe as the world's largest chair, displayed during the Midwest Furniture Market show here in Omaha. The $4,000 chair, which took 440 manhours to build, is 14 feet long, 11½ feet wide and stands on legs 6½ feet high. It took 80 yards of cloth to upholster it. The chair will seat 40 persons — but they have to use a ladder to get into it. Young Robert is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd E. Grubbe of Omaha.

Steel Confabs Resume Today

Union's McDonald Also Against Invoking T-H Cooling Off Clause

NEW YORK (AP) — Steelworkers Union President David J. McDonald returns to contract negotiations with major American steel producers today, after announcing opposition to any use of the Taft-Hartley Act to force the steel strikers back to work.

His opposition just about made it unanimous. R. Conrad Cooper, chief industry negotiator, is on record as opposing any such move. And President Eisenhower at his news conference Tuesday repeated his contention that both sides must solve the problem by collective bargaining.

The Taft-Hartley Act gives the President the power to order strikers back to work for 80 days, while a fact-finding commission investigates the issues.

As the strike entered its seventh week, there was no settlement in sight.

Eisenhower made it clear that he would not invoke the antistrike injunction unless he felt the health or security of the nation was threatened.

McDonald walked out of the steel negotiations almost three weeks ago, on the ground that they were getting nowhere. He said he is returning at the request of the federal government.

McDonald did not refer directly to the President's remarks Tuesday. But he did say that "Taft-Hartley should not be used to settle a matter that could and should be worked out if genuine, sensible collective bargaining was inaugurated."

"Driving the steelworkers back into the mills with Taft-Hartley injunctions would settle nothing," he continued. "It would leave a festering sore that would scar and irritate labor - management relations in this vital industry for years and years to come."

U. S. to Sell Embassy in London

LONDON (AP)—The U. S. government took an advertisement in the Times of London Tuesday to announce that it is putting its embassy up for sale.

No price was listed for the handsome Georgian style building in Grosvenor Square. The government will receive bids.

A new embassy in a contemporary architectural style is nearing completion on the opposite side of the square. Embassy personnel expect to move in there early next year.

The building up for sale has been used as an embassy since 1937. It contains 150 offices and 17 apartments.

The world's first plastic was glass.

About five tons of air must be blown through a blast furnace for every ton of steel the furnace produces.

Schools Face Fiscal Muddle

Must Decide Whether or Not to Open, Hope for State Aid Later

LANSING (UPI) — Michigan's fiscal muddle has left schools with an "extremely difficult decision," state school superintendent Lynn M. Bartlett said Tuesday.

"They must decide whether to open school in the near future," Bartlett said, "not knowing how they will meet past financial obligations, and whether or not they will be able to pay the future obligations incurred by the opening of school."

Under state law, school must operate 180 days in order to qualify for state aid.

The legislature has yet to adopt a state aid bill.

The schools now are about 40 million dollars behind what they normally would have at this time of the year.

Not only do they not have the money, but without a state aid bill their borrowing power is limited.

"This year," Bartlett said, "since they cannot borrow against state aid, many schools have exhausted all other borrowing possibilities are faced with the situation of bills to be paid, other bills coming due, and no money available with which to pay them."

Will Soviets Buy?

Exhibit Products for Sale

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States announced today it is willing to sell the Soviets a vast array of products displayed at the American exhibition in Moscow. The items range from a house to a screwdriver.

Secretary of Commerce Frederick H. Mueller described the offer as a good will gesture. Such a sale presumably also would be good business for Uncle Sam. It would save him the cost of shipping the goods back to the United States.

There was no immediate word whether the Soviets were approached in advance about the proposal, or whether they would be interested.

The offer covers about 1,800 American-made items, including the $200,000 closed circuit color TV unit before which Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Premier Nikita Khrushchev last month held their impromptu debate on the cold war. Also on the list is the medium-price prefabricated house which the Soviets have claimed is much better than most Americans can afford.

Mueller annouced the proposal in a special statement which said: "This trade offer is both a sincere gesture of good will to the Soviet people and a definite opportunity for the Soviet Union and the United States to do business."

Advises Schools to Shop Around for Interest Rates

LANSING (AP)—School districts forced to borrow to continue operations have been advised to shop around for the most favorable interest rate.

The state municipal finance commission yesterday approved 30 school district borrowings totaling $992,564.

All borrowed in anticipation of taxes. They are unable to borrow against forthcoming state aid since the legislature has not yet agreed on a school aid formula.

Commission members noted some of the districts stated they wanted to borrow at an interest rate up to the six per cent allowable maximum.

"They should be able to borrow on the notes at around four per cent," said Edward B. Mikrut, commission secretary. "They should shop around for the best interest rate."

Californians Initiate 'Draft Nixon' Campaign

FAIRFIELD, Calif. (AP)—The first effort in California to draft Vice President Nixon as a presidential candidate is under way.

The movement, to put Nixon forward in his home state's Republican primary next June, was initiated by Solano County's Republican Central Committee.

The committee, with 16 of its 23 members present and voting, unanimously adopted a resolution calling upon Nixon to declare himself a candidate.

Women Donate 6 Respirators to City Hospital

Six respirators have been donated to Pontiac General Hospital by its women's auxiliary from proceeds of last year's fund-raising High Fever Follies stage presentation.

Five of the respirators are small portables, costing a total $291. They've been located on the hospital's nursing floors and in the emergency department, said Harold B. Euler, hospital administrator.

"They are especially valuable as life-saving devices for short periods of time," he said.

The sixth respirator is a larger portable costing $438. It is for general use throughout the hospital, Euler said.

"This larger respirator is more adaptable for use for greater periods of time and will provide adequate respirator needs until the patient may be transferred to the large iron lung type unit," Euler said.

Young Palestine Exiles Avid to Return to Their Homeland

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — A Palestine Arab living in Beirut was only 7 when his family left their home in Jaffa in 1948. The boy barely can remember the orange groves and the stone house which the family still calls home but which now is held by Israel.

The boy belongs to a group of young refugees who call themselves the Federation of Palestinian Students. Almost all were young children when they left Palestine. They have grown up in Lebanon. But their attachment to Palestine is deeper even than that of their parents. They are ready to fight to take back their homeland.

A student of the Palestine problem who just toured refugee camps in the area reported: "The refugees who are most attached to Palestine are those who scarcely remember their homes. The young men who have grown up in exile are those most determined to regain Palestine."

The attitude of Palestinian youth shows that the knotty Palestine problem is not going to die with the oldsters among the refugees. United Nations officials here say that 20 per cent of the 900,000 who left their homes in 1948 since have died. But there has been no corresponding decline in the intensity of feeling. New refugees are being born and growing up to carry on.

STIRRED BY REPORT

Young Palestinians have been stirred lately by the so-called Hammarskjold Report. The U.N. secretary general in this report proposed sufficient economic aid to integrate the refugees into the economy of Arab states surrounding Palestine.

The Federation of Palestinian Students was among refugee organizations which met in Beirut to denounce the report. A young refugee explained: "We accept only one solution: our return home."

The Hammarskjold Report, instead of promoting resettlement, has just about killed any hope of resettlement on a major scale. Now refugees will be doubly suspicious of any such scheme. Before the Hammarskjold Report, a certain amount of "subtle integration" had been taking place in Jordan, Lebanon and other areas. Refugees were getting jobs and going into businesses, but this was not formally called "resettlement."

The Arab League has summoned a foreign ministers conference in Casablanca Sept. 1 to study the Hammarskjold Report. Without doubt, the league will reject it. The foreign ministers will also have to map out strategy for the U.N. General Assembly meeting, when the report will be discussed.

West Bloomfield Will Vote on New Library Tuesday

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP—Voters here will go to the polls Tuesday in a special election to decide whether they want a new township library.

If approved, the new library will cost each taxpayer an additional one mill to be spread over the next three years. This would amount to a $1.72 levy per $1,000 valuation each year.

Total circulation of books by the library has reached the point where a new, larger building is badly needed to serve the township adequately, according to Mrs. Joel Warren of the library board of directions.

Circulation during the last fiscal year amounted to over 50,000. The previous year it was 39,200.

The present main library is situated in makeshift quarters on Orchard Lake road in Keego Harbor. It previously was used as the Keego Harbor Community Center and has now been sold. The sale necessitates moving the library this year.

WILL RETAIN BRANCH

A branch of the library, located on Cedarbank road in Westacres, will continue to be used.

Should voters decide they want a new main library, it will be constructed on a one-acre site located on Orchard Lake road just north of Walnut Lake road. This is approximately in the geographical center of the township.

Ultimate plans call for purchase of additional acreage bordering on the south of the proposed site. Price is not to exceed $3,000.

As planned by architects Stickel, Jaroszewicz and Moody, the new library would be large enough to accommodate 100 persons.

It would contain separate service areas for adults and children, a staff room, work room and a multi-purpose room with kitchenette facilities for community functions, a reading room and an area large enough for lectures, movies or exhibits.

AMPLE PARKING

The new library would house 50,000 books, and provisions would be made for ample parking space.

Plans are based on a survey by Robert Orr, head of the Grosse Pointe library, who was called in as a consultant.

Baptist Church on Auburn Will Build New Addition

AVON TOWNSHIP — The building contract for an addition to Stone Baptist Church on Auburn road will be awarded tonight.

Church officials are launching the expansion program to meet the increasing need of the Sunday School and to double the present size of the nursery.

The Rev. Lawrence Dickens said the addition will increase the church buildings' present frontage on Auburn road from 80 to 120 feet. The new part will be 102 feet deep to match the other two structures.

Also included in the current expansion program is the recent acquisition of six more lots on Adams road which bring the total, including the 10 on Auburn road, to 18.

A new large church organ has been purchased, and new solid oak pews to fill the entire auditorium and a new pulpit stand and chairs will be delivered in about three weeks, the Rev. Dickens said.

The proposed addition will be similar construction to the present church. It will be built of cement block and steel with the front facade of buff face brick to match the front of the other structure.

"We own and operate a 48-passenger bus, and our Sunday School attendance averages a little over 600," the minister said.

"We have two more bus loads that want to come to our church, and we hope we can accommodate them soon," he added.

The addition will be one story high and will have a basement. The two floors will be used as they are until church officials decide how to divide the space into sections to best serve the two departments, Rev. Dickens said.

Work on the structure is expected to start next week.

BRONZE GIRDLE — Bronze expert Mike Parise (on top of ladder) and two other workers examine the statue of Freedom atop the Capitol dome in Washington. After the lady received her first physical examination in nearly 100 years, it was recommended that bronze straps be used to prevent her from coming apart at the seams.

Tradition Is Born

WATERTOWN, N.Y. (UPI)—Mr. and Mrs. James R. Filkins, of Watertown, have started a new Independence Day tradition. On July 4, 1958, Mrs. Filkins gave birth to a daughter and on July 4, 1959 to another one.

Huron Valley Schools Hire 35 New Teachers

MILFORD — Hiring of 35 new teachers in the Huron Valley School District was announced today by School Superintendent Harold Hansen.

Additions to the district's teaching staff are imposed by an increased enrollment expected to bring 300 new pupils into the schools, said Hansen. A record enrollment of 3,800 is anticipated next week.

Ike Relays Nomination of Milford Postmaster

MILFORD —President Eisenhower has sent the nomination of Robert H. Gorsline for postmaster here to Senate, it was learned from Washington today.

Gorsline, who resides at 900 E. Buno Rd., has been acting postmaster here for the past year. He is a former superintendent of schools in the Huron Valley District.

4-H'ers Get Set for Fair

ARMADA — The Armada fairgrounds will echo with children's laughter, screams from thrill-seekers on "death-defying" rides and eager voices of 4-H exhibitors during the 87th annual Armada Fair to be held here this weekend.

Over 800 exhibits will be set up by 6 p.m. on opening day, tomorrow, and will remain on display until 9 p.m. Sunday.

Horseback riding, from bareback to parade dress, will be featured during the Thursday evening show by the 4-H horse clubs in Macomb County.

Judging of all 4-H exhibits will take place starting at 9 a.m. on Friday ending with a public presentation of Demonstration Contest winners at 2 p.m.

"Share - the - Fun" 4-H talent will step into the spotlight during the Friday evening grandstand show with the crowning of the 4-H king and queen highlighting the evening.

A grand revue of 4-H livestock will be held during the parade at noon on Sunday.

A special added attraction Sunday afternoon will be the introduction of Lorelei Hoxie of Armada, who is the 1959 Romeo Peach Queen, and members of her court. They will step up on the grandstand and be presented to the crowd by Fair Manager Ervin Klusendorf.

Other events at the fair will be tractor-pulling contests Friday, Saturday and Sunday afternoons and Little League baseball games Saturday and Sunday.

In addition to the 4-H Show Friday night other stage attractions are planned for Saturday and Sunday evenings.

Couple Honeymooning in Michigan and East

MILFORD — Newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. David R. Lodge are on a honeymoon trip through northern Michigan and the eastern states following their marriage in the Milford Presbyterian Church Saturday evening.

The former Norma Jean Brandeberry, the bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence J. Brandeberry of 10086 Elizabeth Lake Rd., White Lake Township. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lodge, formerly of Milford, now residing in Lima, Ohio.

Performing the candlelight ceremony before an altar banked in white gladioli, pompons and palms was the Rev. Frank Williams.

Her veil was secured by a headpiece of tiny pearls. She carried a bouquet of pompons, carnations, baby pink roses and stephanotis.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Donald Perkuchin of East Lansing, served as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Phyllis Haddrill of Milford and sisters of the bridegroom, Penny and Andrea, both of Lima, Ohio.

Duties as best man were performed by the bridegroom's brother, Peter of Lima. Ushers were William Gould of Wellesley Hills, Mass., and Ronald Glynn and Allan McFarlane, both of Milford.

A reception was held in the church parlors immediately after the ceremony.

Methodist Group Plans Calorie-Counted Dinner

FOUR TOWNS — The Elizabeth Russell Guild of the Four Towns Methodist Church is staging a calorie-counted dinner this evening.

Both high and low calorie foods will be available. The menu includes turkey, corn on the cob, beans, salads, melons, homemade pies and rolls.

Serving will be cafeteria style from 5 to 7:30 p.m. The public is invited.

ONALEE MORGAN

Mr. and Mrs. Clark J. Morgan of 7785 Allen Rd., Clarkston, announce the engagement of their daughter, Onalee, to Gary Stonerock. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stonerock of Wayne. No date has been set for the wedding yet.

Grand Rapids to Get Downtown Parking

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—New downtown offstreet parking space for about 1,000 cars was promised Grand Rapids last night by city commission action on a site originally occupied by Bissell Carpet Sweeper Co.

The commission approved a $29,700 contract for razing the buildings. The debris would fill in a former power canal along Grand River for parking lot use. Bissell has relocated in a new plant.

City manager Alfred Rypstra said the clearance work would take about four months. The project waits approval from Voigt Milling Co. on a proposed land swap to give Grand Rapids a right to fill in the canal.

Rochester Club Slates Informal Open Dance

ROCHESTER — The Rochester Ski and Dance Club will hold a dance Friday evening at the Rochester Golf and Country Club.

Music will be provided from 9 p. m. until 1 a. m. by the Monarchs. Dress will be casual. The public is invited.

Find Thailand Official, Younger Wife Shot Dead

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Minister of Agriculture Nai Swasdi Mahaphol and the younger of his two sister-wives were found shot dead early today.

Police refused to comment on the details.

The dead woman was Mrs. Daen Vipa Mahaphol and the shooting took place in her residence. Her elder sister is Mrs. Manipan Mahaphol.

Mahaphol, 43, had taken Daen Vipa by an old Thai custom as his minor wife. He maintained the sisters in separate homes in Bangkok.

Poland Agrees to Build Shipyards for Indonesia

WARSAW (UPI) — Poland has signed a five million dollar agreement to build four shipyards for Indonesia, it was announced Tuesday.

The largest of the yards will be constructed in Java and will be capable of turning out 40 wooden fishing vessels annually.

Rain Gives Crops Big Boost

Peaches in Abundance for Festival

It looks like there will be plenty of peaches available for the forthcoming Romeo Peach Festival.

The Federal-State Crop Reporting Service announced today that Halehaven peaches are moving to market in volume.

Rain gave most crops a big boost last week, the agency reported. But excessive rainfall in some areas has slowed field work.

Some late grains and second cuttings of hay were damaged and dry beans were at a critical stage where continued wet, hot weather could result in extensive losses.

Chief field activities were haying and preparing wheat ground in south and central counties, combining oats and haying in the northern areas, and harvesting fruits and vegetables throughout the state.

Digging of early potatoes was in the cleanup stage in the Bay County area and was increasing in other areas. The dry bean harvest was off to a slow start as rains curtailed field work.

Nearly four-fifths of the corn was in or past the roasting ear stage compared with only three-fifths at this time last year.

Pastures improved with the rains and were reported good to excellent in many areas. Haying continued with prospects for third cuttings better than the early harvested second cuttings.

Tonnage prospects for fruits and vegetables were improved by the rains.

Wealthy and other late summer apple varieties, and Bartlett pears were moving to market in volume. Plums and early grapes were being harvested.

Vegetables moving to the fresh market in volume included tomatoes, melons, sweet corn, celery, carrots, cucumbers, peppers and snap beans.

The Romeo Peach Festival is being staged Sept. 4 - 7 for the 27th annual year. Lorelei Hoxie, 18, of Armada will reign over the affair as Peach Queen.

Dalai Lama's Brother Asks Denmark for Aid

COPENHAGEN (UPI) — Thubden Jigme Normu Tagtsher, oldest brother of the Dalai Lama, appealed to Denmark Tuesday to assist young Tibetan refugees in training and education.

Boost for Brainpower

NEW YORK (UPI)—Many corporations are feeling more and more responsible for aid to higher education — the main reason being the need for the trained brainpower produced by universities. A recent survey showed that several hundred of the largest corporations now earmark 34 per cent of their total giving for education, against 21 per cent in 1950.

Lapeer Homecoming Opens Today

Choose Queen Tonight at 7:30

Pet and Clown Parade Launches 2-Day Event; Concerts Tomorrow

LAPEER — Revived after a seven-year lapse, the Lapeer Homecoming celebration opened with a children's pet and clown parade this morning.

Highlight of tonight's program will be the naming of the Homecoming Queen at 7:30. The nine candidates for the crown earned votes by selling prize tickets.

The event will take place on the bandstand on Nepessing street which will be closed off for the two-day celebration.

The coronation will be followed by a pavement dance at 9 p.m.

Tomorrow's "Lapeer Days" program will open at 10:30 a.m. with a parade down Nepessing street. Taking part will be Gov. Williams, Congressman Alvin Bentley of Owosso and other state legislators.

The parade will start at the high school and will feature floats from the Lapeer County area including one bearing the "Lapeer Days" queen and her court and another with the Romeo Peach Queen, Lorelei Hoxie of Armada, and her two attendants.

Congressman Bentley will speak on the bandstand at noon after which horse show contests will be held in the park next to the Michigan Central Railroad depot.

The afternoon program will feature band concerts and novelty acts to be staged in front of the courthouse and a baseball game at 2:30 p.m. between the Lapeer Legion and Imlay City teams at the American Legion field.

In the evening a gala show will star the Sarnia Lionettes, famed Ontario band; the kiltie band from Wallaceburg, Ont.; the Flashing Legionettes, prize-winning baton twirlers; and a trampoline act direct from New York. It will be presented on the high school athletic field.

An Old Time Fiddlers' contest will be held at the courthouse at 7:30 p.m. and a pavement dance will conclude the two-day program at 9 p.m.

Offers Methods to Aid Operation of Fire Fighters

LAKE ORION — Several suggestions for more efficient operation of the Orion Fire Department have been offered by Fire Chief Jack Caylor and adopted by the Lake Orion Village Council.

The fire department will have the final say on issuance of burning permits from now on, and dispatchers will ask those reporting fires or other emergencies to try to give the name of the nearest intersection in addition to the address.

A further suggestion was that people who are on the lookout for the fire trucks stand in the street near the location of the emergency call so firemen will not have to look for the exact street number.

In other action, the Village Council authorized the Park Committee and Concilman William O'Brien to work together on a long-range plan to improve the park and swimming program.

The progress of this committee will be reviewed periodically by the council, while the Ways and Means Committee also studies how the proposed project will be financed in years to come.

Oxford Creates Planning Group

Council to Keep Public Informed; Will Appoint Commission Soon

OXFORD — The Oxford Village Council last night adopted an ordinance creating a Village Planning Commission and defining the duties and responsibilities of its nine members to be appointed in the near future.

The new commission will have the power to prepare a master plan for the village which will include public improvements, a street system and plats and regulations governing subdivision of land.

Prior to formulation of the plan, surveys will be conducted by the commission, and a program of education will be instituted to keep the public informed of the work as it progresses.

Members of the commission will include the village president, one councilman, one administrative official to be appointed by the president and six others. Two of the six will serve for one year, two for two years and two for three years.

"It is possible that the appointments will be made at the Council's next meeting Sept. 8," said Village Manager Ralph Precious.

The Commission also will handle other duties prescribed under the provisions of Act 285 of the Public Acts of the State of Michigan.

Prisoner Hangs Self With Laces From Leg

In the customary "shake-down" given to prisoners when they enter the Hazel Park Jail, authorities neglected to take away laces fastening Paul K. Pearsal's wooden leg.

Yesterday he used the laces to hang himself to death.

Pearsal, 38, of Warren, was arrested Friday on charges of indecent exposure.

LORRAINE ELLEN THOMPSON

The betrothal of their daughter, Lorraine Ellen, to David H. Webb, is announced by Mr. and Mrs. John E. Thompson of 3434 Green Lake Rd., Orchard Lake. The fiance is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Huel Webb of Ferndale. A March wedding is planned.

He's Wed to London Model

Maharajah's Secret Leaks

LONDON (AP) — The secret leaked out today of the 1956 marriage of the Maharajah of Cooch Behar, one of India's wealthiest princes, and a shapely London model.

The bride at a civil ceremony was Gina Egan, now 29. The Maharajah is 44.

After the wedding in September 1956, the maharajah went back to his bachelor apartment. His wife continued to live with her mother, five minutes walk away. The couple have lived apart ever since.

A week after the marriage, the maharajah went to Rome alone, where he frequently was seen with actress-playgirl Linda Christian.

"I think I am the only person in the world they told," said Gina's mother, Mrs. Arthur Egan, who finally leaked the secret.

Why did her daughter keep it a secret? "I don't want to say anything more about Gina's affairs," Mrs. Egan told newsmen.

Stan Kenton's Daughter Weds Stanford Student

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) —Orchestra leader Stan Kenton's 18-year-old daughter, Leslie Brookie Kenton, and Peter Caine Dau, 20, of Fresno were married Tuesday night. Both are Stanford University students.

Sgt. Saturday Polices Army Firing Center

FT. STEWARD, Ga. (UPI) — What's in a name? The U. S. Army and Artillery Firing Center here can easily answer that question by just looking at its roster.

Take Jessie F. Kitchens, for instance. He's a specialist 3/c who has been serving here as a mess sergeant.

There's also a private first class by the name of Russell Trout, who has won numerous swimming events on the post.

Television may have Sgt. Joe Friday, but Ft. Stewart has a military policeman called Sgt. Thomas Saturday.

The Army post also has its own Stanley and Livingston in the person of Sgt. Charles W. Stanley and Sp. 4/c Charles R. Livingston.

Convertible Menu Changes With Weather

There was a time when a cold soup in the American diet spelled out Vichyssoise or Borsch only. Now, the pleasures of a frosty bowl of cold soup are known to increasing numbers—to their very great satisfaction! Light, yet substantial, soup served frosty cold is an ideal start for a hot weather meal, and a real blessing to the homemaker. For it not only meets with great approval by the family, but can be made ahead of time and refrigerated (at least 4 hours) until ready to sip.

Based on this growing popularity of cold sipping soups is a menu incorporating cold soup with a hot casserole, and finishing up with a cold dessert. The recipes are readily reversible, however, and this cold-hot-cold menu is easily convertible to hot soup, cold main dish and hot dessert! Directions for "converting" each of the recipes are given.

CONVERTIBLE SUPPER MENU

Frosty Reversible Soup
Convertible Seafood Casserole
Tossed Salad
Change-About Cake Squares

Frosty Reversible Soup

To serve cold:

1 can (10½ ounces) condensed tomato soup
1½ soup cans milk
½ cup sour cream
Ground mace or nutmeg

In bowl, blend soups, milk and sour cream. Chill well and serve with a sprinkling of mace or nutmeg. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

To serve hot:

Blend soups and milk; heat slowly, but do not boil. Remove from heat and stir in sour cream. Serve hot with a sprinkling of mace or nutmeg.

Convertible Seafood Casserole

To serve hot:

1 can (10½ ounces) condensed cream of mushroom soup
½ cup salad dressing
⅓ cup milk
1 can (6 to 7 ounces) flaked tuna or crab
1 cup cooked or canned shrimp
1 can (5 ounces) water chestnuts, drained and sliced
2 cups cooked elbow macaroni
1 cup finely diced celery
2 teaspoons grated onion
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
Paprika

In a 2½-quart casserole, stir soup package directions. Bake in oblong pan 13x9½x2-inches. Heat liquid from fruit cocktail until it reaches the boiling point; slowly add cornstarch, dissolved in cold water; cook until mixture is thickened and clear. Add lemon juice, rind and drained fruit and continue cooking a few more minutes. Serve as hot topping for spice cake squares.

To serve cold:

Spoon drained canned fruit over cake squares, top with sweetened whipped cream and garnish with pieces of fruit. Makes 9 to 12 servings.

Change-About Cake Squares

To serve hot:

1 package spice cake mix
1 can (1 pound 14 ounces) fruit cocktail drained reserve liquid
2 tablespoons cornstarch
2 tablespoons cold water
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind

Make cake batter, following to smooth; mix in remaining ingredients (except paprika; sprinkle it on top). Bake in moderate oven (350F.) for 30 minutes or until hot. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

To serve cold:

Increase salad dressing to 2-3 cup (do not use soup). Chill for several hours after combining ingredients. Serve on bed of crisp salad greens.

Poached Pears

Pare, halve and remove seeds from fresh pears; cook in vanilla-flavored sugar syrup in a skillet. Serve warm with a dollop of sweetened whipped cream scented with grated lemon rind in each cavity.

Leftover Beef Fills Peppers

Leftover meats can be a real bargain to the homemaker who can skillfully create tomorrow's meal with yesterday's meat. In some cases, leftover meats are confined to a leftover category and not allowed to show their versatility in second-day dishes.

For the homemaker looking for new ways to please the purse as well as the palates, here the answer is found not in the proverbial nutshell but in this recipe featuring a pepper shell.

Cooked beef, finely chopped, combined with riced or mashed potatoes, chopped stuffed olives, chopped onion and seasonings can create an entree packed full of good eating.

Stuffed Green Peppers

2½ cups finely chopped cooked beef
6 medium green peppers
1½ cups mashed or riced potatoes
½ cup chopped stuffed olives
¼ cup chopped onion
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
½ cup hot water

Remove tops and seeds from peppers. Simmer peppers 5 minutes in salted water. Combine beef, potatoes, olives, onions, salt and pepper and fill the peppers with this mixture.

Place peppers in a baking dish and pour ½ cup of hot water in baking dish. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 30 minutes or until the meat texture is lightly browned. Yield: 6 servings.

Light Dessert Is Green and Gold

Cantaloupe and Grape Cup

1 medium-sized cantaloupe
½ cup seedless grapes (halved)
3 tablespoons grenadine (or more if desired)
Mint sprig or tiny cluster of seedless grapes

Cut cantaloupe in half the long way; remove seeds; with melon-baller or ½ round-bowl measuring teaspoon, cut cantaloupe into balls. Scoop or cut out remaining cantaloupe and dice fine; mix with grapes and grenadine. Spoon cantaloupe-grape mixture into sherbet glasses; top with cantaloupe balls. Garnish with mint or grapes. Makes 4 servings.

Churches Urge N-Test Ban Stay

RHODES, Greece (AP) — The Central Committee of the World Council of Churches urged today that nuclear arms tests remain suspended. It said the abolition of war should be the ultimate goal of every country.

The Central Committee, a 90-member policy-making body, said the question of resumption of the tests is one of immediate urgency.

The United States and Britain, to clear the air for the Geneva nuclear talks, agreed last fall to suspend tests for one year. That year ends Oct. 31. The Soviet Union is not known to have made any tests since last November.

The committee also appealed to France and other powers which have not made tests yet not to do so. France has been reported planning tests in the Sahara this fall.

Adopt Resolution Endorsing Solon as Candidate

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI) — A resolution endorsing Rep. Gerald R. Ford Jr. (R-Mich) as a Republican candidate for vice president has been adopted unanimously by the Kent County Republican committee.

Ford, now serving his sixth term in Congress, has been mentioned as a possible vice presidential candidate if the GOP presidential nomination goes to Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Ford and Nixon have been close friends ever since they began their first terms in Congress in 1948.

Hammarskjold Makes Trip to South America

Hammarskjold will remain here until Thursday and then go on to Paraguay, Uruguay and Brazil before returning to New York for the opening of the General Assembly next month.

Poland Wants in Council

WARSAW (UPI)—Poland will apply for a seat in the United Nations security council this fall, the Polish news agency PAP reported last night. U.N. secretary general Dag Hammarskjold already has been informed of the move, the agency said.

Hugh'd Rather Spend Time on This Side of Bar

LONDON (UPI)—Labor Party chief Hugh Gaitskell, who has been trying for some time for the job of prime minister, had a different job offered him Monday — that of bartender.

Gaitskell had walked into St. Stephen's Tavern, a favorite hangout of British parliamentarians, to look for a friend.

"We have been waiting for you," the barmaid, Mrs. Jill Winton, 42, told him. "You can start straight away behind the bar."

Gaitskell has held many jobs in his day, including an economic professorship at London University and two cabinet posts.

For some time he has had his application in as prime minister of Britain. But as for bartending—he is sadly inexperienced.

"I am very sorry, madam," he replied. "I would be delighted to help you, but I have a lot of work to do.

"My name is Hugh Gaitskell, and although my shop over the road is closed (Parliament is now in summer recess), I've still several matters to attend to."

Miss Supertest Takes 1st Race for Harmsworth

Engine Stamina Carries Canada Past U.S. Entry on Detroit River

DETROIT (AP) — Canada was as close today to snatching the Harmsworth Trophy from the United States as any nation has been since Gar Wood brought it to these shores 39 years ago.

Canada's Miss Supertest III, with more engine stamina than the United States' defending Maverick, won the first of the best-of-three 45-mile races yesterday on the Detroit River.

A victory today or tomorrow would give the trophy, symbol of international powerboat supremacy, to Canada for the first time.

Miss Supertest III, Canada's third challenger since World War II, roared from apparent defeat to victory when mechanical misfortune overtook Maverick, 1959's Gold Cup champion, on the 13th of the 15 laps.

Maverick's driver, Bill Stead, who set a new record of 105.675 miles per hour in the first three-mile lap, said his boat's supercharger blew out. With his speed obviously falling, Stead raised his hands from the wheel in frustration as he passed the judge's stand for the 13th lap.

Roaring around at 102.118 m.p.h. on the second lap and staying out front up to a mile and a half, Stead had built up a 32-second lead by the end of the fourth lap.

But Bob Hayward, driving Miss Supertest, topped him 97.695 to 97.012 m.p.h. in the sixth lap and had better time in every heat thereafter, roaring up to 102.408 in the 10th and to 103.024 in the 11th. It was obvious he was making his bid then and Stead stepped Maverick back up to 100.727 m.p.h.

Hayward said he had supercharger trouble with Miss Supertest at the start and wasn't able to hit 100 m.p.h. until the 10th time around.

Hayward's craft, powered by a British-made Rolls-Royce-Griffon engine, held on. Stead's boat, powered by a converted Allison aircraft engine, didn't. Under Harmsworth rule, competing craft must use engines made in their respective countries.

Throttling down, Hayward used just enough speed to top the limping Maverick on the 14th and 15th laps. Maverick dropped into the 72-73 m.p.h. range.

The 45-mile average was 94.085 for the winner and 91.733 for the loser. The slowest of recent Harmsworth averages was 94.285 m.p.h. in 1949.

Oilman-sportsman William Waggoner Jr. of Phoenix, Ariz., who owns Maverick, won with Shanty in 1956 at 94.772. Stanley Sayers' Slow-Mo-Shun IV won with a record 95.623 m.p.h. in 1950. It was then that Slo-Mo-Shun set the old lap record of 102.676.

Stead's pit crew planned to install a brand new engine, complete with new superchargers, overnight. J. Gordon Thompson, owner of Miss Supertest and a Canadian petroleum executive, said his craft's supercharger would be tuned up.

Veteran Dodgers Account for 9 of 13 Runs at Philly

Snider, Hodges Revive LA

By the Associated Press

Duke Snider and Gil Hodges, the gold dust guys of the Dodgers' past pennants, have jolted Los Angeles back into consciousness in the National League scramble for the flag.

After dropping three in a row at Pittsburgh and skidding to third, the Dodgers now have taken two in a row at Philadelphia. And of their 13 runs in the two games, Snider and Hodges have driven in nine.

Snider, the slumping slugger of last year's miserable seventh-place finish, and Hodges, getting back into the swing after an injury, combined for three runs as each rapped his 21st homer last night in a 5-2 victory over the last-place Phils.

That left the Dodgers, who regained second as Hodges hammered home five runs Monday night, within 3½ games of first-place San Francisco. The Giants walloped fourth-place Pittsburgh 12-5 as southpaw Johnny Atonelli won his 18th—tops in the majors.

Third - place Milwaukee, four games back, went 10 innings before beating St. Louis 3-1.

Chicago's Cubs tied Cincinnati for fifth, beating the Reds 8-6.

Wally Moon had three of the Dodgers' nine hits off loser Robin Roberts (11-14), ripping the first of his two doubles ahead of Snider's first-inning homer. It was Duke's 352nd, breaking a tie with Ralph Kiner for third on the all-time NL list behind Mel Ott (511) and Stan Musial (409).

Hodges' homer, giving him 21 or more for 11 consecutive seasons, was a solo shot for a 4-1 lead in the fourth. That made it a breeze for southpaw Johnny Podres (12-7), who won his fourth in a row. He gave up only six hits, one Harry Anderson's homer, but needed Larry Sherry's relief in the eighth, when the Phils, losing their sixth straight, scored just none out.

Antonelli, who has lost seven, now has won four of his last five once after loading the bases with decisions. He gave up 10 hits, one Dick Stuart's two-run 20th homer, but walked none and struck out six. Anty drove in three runs, two with his second homer, as the Giants collected 15 hits off loser Ron Kline (8-13) and four relievers while ending the Bucs' winning string at four.

Kline was chased without retiring a man when Orlando Cepeda, lined a two-run single in the first. Daryl Spencer had three hits, one a homer, for the Giants, who scored seven runs in the last three frames.

Two American League castoffs saved it for the Braves. Shut out on seven hits by rookie Bob Gibson (1-3), they tied it in the ninth when pinchhitter Mickey Vernon walked and Ray Boone hit a two-out pinch single. A double by Ed Mathews and Joe Adcock's single, the third hit for both, broke the tie in the 10th.

Don McMahon (4-1) won it in relief of Warren Spahn, who gave up only four hits in eight innings, but lost his shutout on doubles by Bill White and Curt Flood in the seventh.

Irv Noren homered in the second inning, then singled and scored on Cal Neeman's home run as the Cubs counted four in the fourth to beat the Reds and Bob Purkey (10-14). Bill Henry (8-6) was the winner in relief.

It's No Wonder Tigers Are Skidding

Their Obituary: 1 Run, 11 Hits in 18 Innings

Bengals Can't Touch Ramos as Washington Beats Foytack, 3-1

DETROIT (AP) — One run and 11 hits in 18 innings — little wonder the Detroit Tigers are on the skids.

But the club's third place hopes suffered little last night, despite a 3-1 loss to the Washington Senators.

Although the Tigers nosedived 15½ games behind Chicago, they remained only one game out of third since the New York Yankees and the Baltimore Orioles, immediately ahead of the Detroit club, also lost.

While third place would be a poor finish for any of these three teams, it still would carry about $700 per ma for the club that gets there.

Manager Jimmie Dykes is suffering through the same trouble that haunted his predecessors — how to pull the Tigers out of a hitting tailspin. After belting out 14 hits Sunday against Baltimore, the Tigers have collapsed at the plate.

Paul Foytack, though starting for the fourth time in 10 days, might have escaped his 11th defeat last night had his teammates done just a little damage to Pedro Ramos. But the young Washington right-hander yielded only six hits, and got superb rescue work in the ninth inning after Al Kaline got a leadoff single.

Chuck Stobbs retired Charlie Maxwell, Frank Bolling and pinch batter Gus Zernial in routine fashion to preserve Ramos' 12th triumph. Zernial was sent up for Lou Berberet, whose fifth inning home run accounted for Detroit's only run in two games.

Gail Harris was hitless in four trips, extending his hitless string to 15 at-bats. The Tiger first baseman has had only one single in his last 19 appearances. Charlie Maxwell is 2-for-14 and Rocky Bridges 1-for-14.

Foytack, who started the postponed game of a week ago Sunday, then went nine innings the following day and nine innings last Friday night, permitted just seven hits in seven innings. He struck out seven batters and walked three.

Dempsey Fulfills Task of Signing Johansson

NEW YORK (AP) — "My task has been fulfilled. I came into the picture for the sake of boxing. Now they can get on with the details."

This was Jack Dempsey talking. The old Manassa Mauler moved into the feud-ridden Rosensohn Enterprises, flew to Sweden and in just three days had heavyweight champion Ingemar Johansson's signature on a return bout contract with Floyd Patterson.

Dempsey and his party were due at International Airport early today.

"We're very satisfied, all of us," continued Dempsey. "There was a nice atmosphere in Goteborg, Johansson's home town. Ingemar has made a great contribution to boxing. There was a misunderstanding and it's settled now."

Dempsey, who was named promotional director of Rosensohn Enterprises a week ago, may have a heavy hand in the promotion of the fight.

"We haven't decided on the site or date yet," said Dempsey. "In fact, we haven't ruled out New York. A lot depends on the investigation of the first fight."

The group's promoting license has been suspended in New York because of the internal bickering and an article former president Bill Rosensohn wrote in a national magazine.

"There are several other possibilities," continued Dempsey, "such as Los Angeles, Dallas, Houston, Chicago and Philadelphia. They all have good facilities and we'll take it where we can get the best guarantee."

He added that a Philadelphia group, had guaranteed one million dollars for a September bout and that the offer might stand in 1960.

A source close to the group told The Associated Press that Dempsey, Vincent Velella, new president of Rosensohn Enterprises, and Irving Kahn, chief of Tele-Prompter, which holds the TV, radio and movie rights, tried to persuade Ingemar to go through with the fight this year.

Velella, the source said, told Johansson that the public might forget the June 26 fight in which he lifted the crown from Patterson in Yankee Stadium.

"How long was it between your first and second fights with Gene Tunney," Edwin Ahlquist, Johansson's adviser, asked Dempsey.

"Just about a year," answered Dempsey.

That settled it, the source said. Edwin Schweig, Patterson's attorney, who accompanied Dempsey, said Johansson probably would net about $180,000 from the first Patterson fight. The new contract calls for each fighter to receive 25 per cent of the gate. Kahn estimated that both Patterson and Johansson would receive about a million dollars. There also is a return-bout clause within 120 days if Patterson regains the title.

Johansson revealed that he won't get his money for the first fight until after the return, but said: "I'm happy. Dempsey did a fine job clearing up some misunderstandings."

Joy Fair Wins M-59 Feature

Largest Season Crowd Sees Favorite Take Midseason Crown

The largest crowd of the season at the Pontiac Speedway watched Joy Fair successfully defend his mid-season championship by going the 35 laps in 9.31:97 last night.

Bryant, of Flint, led for five laps before giving way to Johncock who held it for six laps before Fair took over.

Warwick 9 Captures Little League Title

Warwick Builders defeated the Whitfield Cubs two straight times in their best-of-three playoff to win the baseball championship of the West Side Pontiac Boys Club Little League. The scores were 12-6 and 11-1.

Pitcher Danny Greig sparked Warwick to victory in both games. Greig was the winning hurler in each game and he aided his own cause with three homers. Warwick and Whitfield qualified for the final series by winning the American loop title in classes A and B, respectively.

Warwick compiled a regular season record of 18 wins and only two losses with Greig piling up a perfect 15-0 mark on the mound. Twelve teams competed in the circuit this season.

Wants National Laws for Boxing

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Gov. Edmund G. Brown said Tuesday that he might recommend abolition of professional boxing in California in 1961 unless Congress passes some laws before that time.

Brown told his news conference the boxing business is "infiltrated with racketeers and gangsters."

"The whole thing smells to high heaven," he said.

The governor said national laws seem the only answer because state action or interstate cooperation doesn't seem able to root out boxing's unsavory element.

White Sox Do It Again With Last Ditch Rally

By The Associated Press

The Chicago White Sox, fighting frantically to keep the American League lead, did it again Tuesday night.

They were down 4-2 with one out in the ninth and hitless since the fourth inning while second-place Cleveland's seventh straight victory blazed on the scoreboard.

Then whoops!

Four consecutive singles gave 'em two runs and a tie in the ninth, and with two out in the 10th, a walk and Billy Goodman's double beat Boston 5-4, retaining Chicago's two-game edge over the Injuns.

It was the White Sox' 30th victory in 38 one-run decisions, their 11th in 13 extra-inning games and the 20th game they've won in the final inning.

The Indians matched their longest winning streak of the season by whipping New York 6-3 as Rocky Colavito drove in four runs with two homers.

The White Sox, blowing a 2-1 lead when Frank Malzone tagged starter Dick Donovan for a two-run homer in the fourth, had only four hits off Boston's Frank Sullivan until the ninth. They chased the big right-hander when Al Smith got a bad-hop hit and Norm Cash, whose third homer had tied it 1-all in the second, singled.

Mike Fornieles (3-3) came on for the Red Sox and gave up RBI singles by Jim Rivera and pinch hitter Johnny Romano that tied it.

The Indians, out-hit 12-6, put it away against Whitey Ford (13-7) with four runs in the first on Vic Power's lead-off 10th homer, two walks and Colavito's tie-breaking three-run shot. Rocky unloaded a solo home run in the fifth—tying Washington's Harman Killebrew and Ernie Banks of the Chicago Cubs for the major league lead with 27. That made it a breeze for Cal McLish (16-6).

Doctoring Your Golf

By DR. CARY MIDDLECOFF

PATIENT'S COMPLAINT: Hitting the ball on the toe of the club.

DIAGNOSIS: Falling away from the shot.

TREATMENT: A shot hit out on the toe, or end, of the clubface is apt to go generally straight but will almost certainly fall far short of the target.

To avoid this fault, the player musn't fall away from the ball as the clubhead nears the ball on the downswing. The way to avoid it is to swing with CONTROLLED POWER. Another way to put is: DON'T TRY TO KILL THE BALL.

What you want here is a smooth yet powerful swing. You want to bring the center of the clubface squarely into the center of the ball for solid contact. Otherwise, much of the force of the swing will be lost through off-center contact.

It will help here to bear strongly in mind that the player should stay balanced throughout the swing — from start to finish. So never try to swing so hard at the ball that you're taken off balance at any point in the swing.

Thompson Aims for 400

Speed Car Goes 332 MPH

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah (AP) — California printer Mickey Thompson buzzed his ground-hugging speed car over the Utah desert Tuesday at 332.809 miles per hour, the fastest ever driven by an American.

Thompson, of Los Angeles, made his record run over the salt flats while preparing for an assault on the 400 m.p.h. mark.

The world land speed record is held by the late English driver, John R. Cobb, who streaked along at 394.196 12 years ago on these same flats.

Thompson had his four-engine streamliner using 4,400 of its potential of 5,500 revolutions per minute on the record run.

Thompson's run shattered the previous American mark of 266.204 m.p.h., set here last year by Roy Leslie of Denver. Thompson and Capt. George Eyston of Great Britain are the only living men to have traveled over 300 m.p.h. in an auto.

There are 150 drivers and cars entered in the time trials under way here. The trials continue through Saturday.

A lot of important softball is coming up at Pontiac's two major parks this weekend but there will be very little for local fans to cheer about.

This area's top teams were wiped out in the districts so it will be a battle of outside entries when two regionals are held Friday through Sunday.

Class A will be played at Beaudette Park while the Class C boys fight it out at North Side. Regional champions will be eligible for the state finals Sept. 4-7.

Pontiac is still very much alive in baseball, however, where one crown already has been clinched.

The Knights of Columbus in Class A and Griff's in "B" will play in Michigan tourneys over the Labor Day weekend hoping to make up for the unsuccessful efforts of the softballers.

Forfeits marred district softball play around this sector with Southfield's seven ineligible players really taking the cake. It happened elsewhere in the state, too. The Charlevoix City Merchants are facing a possible one-year suspension from sanctioned play for using a player not on their roster in a Petoskey game.

The recent completion of playoffs wrapped up the initial junior softball season here. Over 150 boys 15 years of age and under took part in the new program.

EXTRA INNINGS

The Rev. John Rakoczy paced the Knights of Columbus tossers in hitting this season with a .388 mark for 13 games. Terry Thomas had .470 in five and Ernie Zubalik .384 for 20 outings. John Wert topped the Pirates with .358.

Purdue, Badgers Big Ten Favorites

One way or the other, it appears that Iowa and Ohio State, two teams which have dominated the championship scene for the past five years, are on the downgrade.

Up and coming are Purdue and Wisconsin with Northwestern and Illinois considered strong contenders. Michigan and Michigan State never can be counted out. Indiana and Minnesota are banking on newcomers and the Big Ten simply isn't a sophomore league.

Purdue's Boilermakers, beaten only twice in their last 15 starts, can field two all-lettermen backfields this fall. Coach Jack Mollenkopf has 23 lettermen back including three experienced quarterbacks.

However, Purdue must offset the loss of ends Tom Franckhauser and John Crowl plus a quartet of tackles. If Mollenkopf can accomplish this, the Boilermakers could go all the way.

Wisconsin, one of the nation's better teams the past two seasons, has a strong defense to go along with its fine passing and rushing attack. Coach Milt Bruhn has 23 lettermen returning and 18 of them are seniors.

Dale Hackbart will do the quarterbacking. Wisconsin has good size but will lack a breakaway runner.

Iowa's troubles stem from ineligibility. Quarterback Mitch Ogiego and halfback Willie Fleming both flunked out. Coach Forest Evashevski says it is the first time in six years he will be without an experienced quarterback.

Ohio State—which won titles in 1954, 1955 and 1957—has one of the finest ends in the country in Jim Houston. But Coach Woody Hayes claims the end position is his big problem.

Northwestern has 26 lettermen including such stars as quarterback Dick Thornton, halfback Ron Burton, fullback Mike Stock and center Jim Andreotti. However, the Wildcats have depth problems plus a murderous schedule which finds Oklahoma as the opening foe.

Illinois, playing under Coach Ray Eliot for the last time, will be tough. The Illini will have one of the best lines in the Big Ten and a lot of power from the fullback slot.

If Johnny Easterbrook can come through as a top flight quarterback and Eliot finds a capable center, the Illini could provide the fireworks.

Indiana had a fine season in 1958, but Coach Phil Dickens has 78 varsity candidates and 54 of college ball.

Michigan, in its first season under Bump Elliott, is looking for sophomore help. Elliott will use the winged-T and has 21 lettermen returning. Stan Noskin figures to be the quarterback and Tony Rio, ineligible last year, will carry the load at fullback. The Wolverines will have trouble in the line.

Minnesota, losing practically its entire first string line, is banking on a dozen or more sophomores. That's not promising for a team which won only one conference game last year.

Unanimous for Harris

FRESNO, Calif.—Carl (Bobo) Olson, 176, San Francisco, stopped George Kartalian, 175, Syracuse, N.Y., 5.
PROVIDENCE, R.I. — Tony Anthony, 179½, New York, stopped Bob Young, 171½, Providence, 8.

Army of Athletes Set for Pan-Am Games

CHICAGO (AP)—An athletic army of 2,152 from 24 countries in the Western Hemisphere was poised to launch the third Pan-American Games after tomorrow's dramatic opening ceremonies.

In oppressive heat which wilted even the Latin American athletes, the biggest international sports event ever held in this country awaited traditional opening-day festivities in mammoth Soldier Field.

These include a 24-gun salute — one blast for each nation entered; a parade of athletes, and the release of 5,000 doves, symbolizing peace and friendship between nations.

Dr. Milton Eisenhower, in behalf of his brother, President Eisenhower, and Mayor Richard J. Daley, will pronounce the official opening of the Games as a friendship torch, carried from Mexico City by Boy Scouts, touches off a huge gas-powered torch atop the Soldier Field scoreboard.

For the 20-sport competition which begins Friday, the host U.S. squad has the biggest entry, 406, by far its most fearsome in the comparatively brief history of the inter-America athletic show.

Other countries entered are Argentina, Bahamas, Bermuda, Brazil, British Guiana, Canada, Chile, Costa Rica, Cuba, Dominican Republic, Dutch Guiana, El Salvador, Ecuador, Guatemala, Mexico, Netherlands Antilles, Nicaragua, Panama, Peru, Puerto Rico, Uruguay, Venezuela and British West Indies.

Competition will be held for women in seven sports.

While track is regarded as the fore of the big U.S. squad, the American team may get its stiffest competition from the West Indies Federation, making its first start in international competition.

Coached by Herb McKenley, former University of Illinois track star from Jamaica, the West Indies crew has seven members who starred at U.S. colleges and universities.

The group includes twins Mal and Mel Spence who were outstanding in the 440 and 880-yard runs for Arizona State and Basil Ince, one of the finest runners in Tuff College history and the ICAA champion at 440 yards.

Ernle Haisely, high jumper, and George Kerr, sprinter, starred for Illinois. Les Bird, was a standout broad jumper at Michigan, and Mike Agostini sprinted for Fresno State.

There are other invaders likely to menace the American bid to monopolize track laurels. These include Ivan Rodriguez of Puerto Rico in the 400-meter run, Chile's Ramon Sandoval in the 800 and 1,500 meters, and world champion Adhemar Ferreira da Silva of Brazil in the hop, step and jump.

The first round of competition Friday will involve track, baseball, basketball, fencing, soccer, tennis, volleyball, weightlifting and yachting.

Kazoo Girl Pulls Tennis Surprise

MANCHESTER, Mass. (AP)—Susan Hodgman, 19-year-old Kalamazoo, Mich., brunette, pulled the first surprise of the 32nd Essex Country Club women's Invitational Tennis Tournament Tuesday. She defeated fourth-seeded Gwyneth Thomas of Shaker Heights, Ohio, 8-6, 4-6, 6-2 in an opening round match.

Miss Hodgman is the eighth ranking junior player in the country.

Wimbledon champion Maria Bueno of Brazil, and other seeded players advanced, although Britain's Christine Truman, champion of Italy and France, announced she will default in singles.

Wings Trade for Morrison

The Detroit Red Wings own a new defenseman and the Boston Bruins have gained the services of a new forward after the two National Hockey League teams completed a straight player trade Tuesday.

Red Wing General Manager Jack Adams announced the one-for-one deal yesterday, which sends winger Nick Mickoski of Detroit to Boston in exchange for Jim Morrison. Both are veteran NHL performers.

Morrison, 27 years old, scored eight goals and 17 assists for the Bruins last season. Originally a Bruin, Morrison was trained by the Maple Leafs after they picked him up in a trade in his first NHL season and he spent nearly seven years on the Toronto blue line.

Mickoski, 31, will be joining his fourth NHL club since entering the league in 1948. He previously played with New York and Chicago before coming to the Wings. Last season he scored 11 goals for the Redshirts.

Tiger Fans Must Like It Better Under the Arcs

DETROIT (UPI) — Although in the second division, Detroit enjoyed its highest night game attendance at Briggs Stadium this year since 1950.

It boosted Detroit's home attendance for the year to 597,316.

In 1950, when the Tigers battled down to the wire before losing the pennant in the final week of the season, home attendance for 14 night games was 616,269.

And in 1948, when the lights were first installed in Detroit, 14 games drew 628,703 fans at Briggs Stadium.

Whom do YOU CALL?*
When in automobile trouble, at home or away, whom do you call? Are they there to help you or have they gone fishing, or taken a vacation, or are they out of town or ill?
One of the many advantages that makes motoring more sure and confident for members of the Auto Club is that help and aid is easily and always available. Three-A offices are always there when you need them most. The telephone number, all through America, is usually on the first page of the telephone directory. The location of the AAA office is usually as well known as that of the city hall. They are there when you need them.

Lions Appear Defensively Sound

AP Wirephoto

TRIBE HOT SHOTS — Three big Indians whoop it up after tomahawking the New York Yankees last night in Cleveland. Vic Power hit a homer, pitcher Cal McLish scored his 5th win over the Yanks and Rocky Colavito hit two homers giving him 37 for the season. The Indians danced to a 6-3 victory.

Backfield Unit on Defense Is in Good Shape

Ane, Gordy Are Ready to Play in Saturday Exhibition Game

The Detroit Lions, traditionally a strong defensive team in the National Football League, apparently have come up with another good combination for the 1959 season.

Coach George Wilson, after watching his squad go through a heat-limited workout yesterday, said: "We seem to have the defense in pretty good shape."

Wilson said the Lions still are carrying "two or three excess players" but Detroit coaches admit the cutting problem has become a rough one.

Fighting the stiffest battle to avoid being cut from the training camp roster are Wogstaff and Ben Paolucci, a former Wayne State University tackle . . . both are in their second summer camp seeking pro jobs.

Thus far only two newcomers have made the grade on defense, and only one of them is really a rookie. Steffen, a UCLA halfback, apparently has won a job.

If Paolucci and Wagstaff make the squad, the Lions will have four newcomers, the greatest turnover in recent years.

Defensive coach Buster Ramsey heretofore has supported a policy of gradual infiltration of new players. The Lions mostly have picked up new defensive players one or two at a time.

Offensive linemen Charlie Ane and John Gordy rejoined the squad yesterday for their first contact workout in two weeks. Both suffered leg injuries. But both are expected to play here Saturday night when the Lions meet the New York Giants in an exhibition game.

Paul Brown Unhappy Over Signal Callers

Browns Have Eyes on Giants' QB

By The Associated Press

Paul Brown, the perfectionist coach of the Cleveland Browns, has a gnawing problem that's likely to put a row of furrows across his brow even before the National Football League season starts.

After two exhibition losses in which the Browns' aerial attack floundered, the master manipulator stated unequivocally that he did not think either Jim Ninowski or Milt Plum was capable of leading the Browns in championship fashion.

"I could always see rays of hope in the past; now I see none."

Brown has been looking for "his type" of quarterback since the great Otto Graham made his second retirement final in 1956. Ninowski, a second-year man who played his colleg eball at Michigan State, was thought to be the likely successor and had pleased the veteran coach in the club's workouts.

Then came the first two preseason outings and losses to Pittsburgh, 34-20, and the Lions.

"I thought I had a rebuilding job completed," moaned Paul, "but now I have to begin over again. It is that bad."

Now Brown's in the market for a quarterback and apparently eyeing the New York Giants, who have five signal-callers on hand.

Longtime standby Don Heinrich seems expendable in the Giant camp. Frank Gifford likely will return to his halfback post, leaving the bulk of the quarterbacking chores to veteran Charley Conerly and George Shaw, acquired from Baltimore. No. 1 draft choice Lee Grosscup may be kept on for seasoning.

RENSSELAER, Ind. (AP)—Chicago Bear Coach George Halas Tuesday announced plans to alternate Merrill Douglas and veteran Rick Casares at fullback in the Bears' Pittsburgh Steeler exhibition game Saturday at Dallas, Tex.

Halas also said he has picked Rudy Bukich to start the game at quarterback. The Bears acquired Bukich from the Washington Redskins during the 1958 season.

The Bears will enter Saturday's game with a 2-0 record. They have defeated Green Bay and Philadelphia. The Steelers have split two games, defeating Cleveland and losing to the Chicago Cardinals.

The Colt squad is down to 44 and Ewbank has until Sept. 22 to reduce to the National Football League limit of 35.

Salerno Linked With Probe of Heavy Title Bout

The mobster whose help was sought by promoter Bill Rosensohn and who played a major, if silent, part in the behind-the-scenes intrigue was identified yesterday as Anthony (Fat Tony) Salerno in a six-page statement by District Attorney Frank Hogan, covering an investigation by his office.

It also reported that Vincent Velella, former partner of Rosensohn in Rosensohn Enterprises Inc., and now president of the corporation, acted as a "front man" for Salerno. Velella denies it, claiming the money he put up was his own.

Body Attack Gives Bobo Victory in 5th Round

FRESNO, Calif. (AP) — Carl (Bobo) Olson, former world middleweight boxing champion, unleashed a vicious body attack to wear down George Kartalian, Syracuse, N.Y., and stop him in the fifth round Tuesday night.

Olson posted his fifth consecutive comeback victory as a light heavy. He weighed 176, Kartalian 175.

The fight drew 1,865 who paid $7,794.65. The Internal Revenue Service took one-third of Olson's $3,500 purse for back income taxes.

PCH Grid Meetings Being Held Nightly

13th Hole at OL Aced

Very few aces are made on the difficult 195-yard 13th hole at Orchard Lake Country Club, but Ron Hasperzak turned the trick yesterday. Using his 2-iron, Hasperzak knocked the ball onto the green and into the cup for a hole-in-one on one of the toughest holes in the Detroit District. He shot 91 for 18 holes.

Mouw Nets 157 in JC Qualifiers

State Golfers Enter Finals

(Special to The Pontiac Press)

PORTSMOUTH, Va. — Gary Mouw of Birmingham had all kinds of trouble Tuesday in the final 18-hole qualifying round of the 14th International Jaycee Junior golf tournament at Elizabeth Manor Country Club.

After shooting a six-over-par 76 in Monday's opening round, the 17-year-old Mouw skidded to an 81 yesterday for a 36-hole total of 157, but he still managed to earn a berth in the championship derby starting today. Mouw won the Michigan Jaycee title.

Mouw's three teammates also gained spots in the 72-hole medal play run for the Jaycee crown. Eighteen holes are scheduled daily today through Saturday.

Dennis Golbesky of Dearborn shot an 80 yesterday, the state's best score, to pull even with Mouw at 157. Golbesky had five one-putt greens, including a 30-footer for a birdie on the 13th hole.

Willard Karl of Montague fired an 82 for a 158 total while Dennis English of Lansing carded 81 for a score of 160 to barely survive the cut in the starting field of 199 teenage golfers.

Ronnie Gerringer of Newport News, Va., won the qualifying medal with a total of 139 on rounds of 68-71. Gerringer was one under par for the route and four strokes ahead of his closest pursuers.

Trailing Gerringer with 143's were Maury Finkelstein of Savannah, Ga., Southern prep champion who had 75-68, and James Grant of Wethersfield, Conn., runnerup in the 1959 New England Amateur tourney who posted 69-74. The 68 by Finkelstein was yesterday's leading score.

Virginia won the state team title with an aggregate four-man total of 595 for 36 holes of qualifying, followed by Georgia at 599.

The low 100 players, who scored 160 or lower, entered today's 72-hole race for the championship.

Davis Cup Draw Set for Today

NEW YORK (AP) — One of the worst-kept secrets in tennis was to be let out of the bag today in the draw for the Davis Cup Challenge Round.

For weeks, both Perry Jones, the U. S. captain and Harry Hopman, Australian pilot, have declined to name the makeup of their teams for the event starting Friday at Forest Hills. But if anyone other than Alex Olmedo and Barry MacKay is named for the American singles assignments or Neale Fraser and Rod Laver for the Australians, it would come as the shock of the year.

Likewise, Olmedo and Earl Buchholz are regarded as certainties to carry the U. S. hopes in doubles while Fraser is expected to team with Roy Emerson for the Aussies.

The first two singles matches will be played Friday at the West Side Tennis Club. On Saturday, it will be the doubles and on Sunday the final two singles.

Barkley Wins Overall City Horseshoe Title

Floyd Barkley defeated Tom Pearsall in best of five series to win the overall season horseshoe title yesterday. There was a tie for third place between Bill Dalby and Jack Brown.

The overall doubles title will be decided between the Tuesday and Thursday leagues tomorrow at Oakland Park.

Colts, Eagles Deal

Carr, 26, signed with the Colts as a free agent. After graduation from Morris Harvey College in 1956, he joined the Chicago Cardinals but entered military service before the end of that season.

New Switch for Blood-Thirsty Eels

Lampreys Attack Humans

By The Press Outdoors Editor

Recent reports from agencies working for the control, and eventual elimination of the voracious sea lamprey from Great Lakes waters, that real progress is being made, come at a very opportune time.

The nemesis of the once numerous lake trout, now decimated almost to extinction by the blood-thirsty creature, has turned "man-eater." It is credited with several attacks, first of the week, on swimmers in the Horton's Bay area of Lake Charlevoix, formerly one of the finest lake trout sport-fishing spots on Lake Michigan.

EELS ATTACH SELVES TO DIVERS' LEGS

According to Petoskey's Warren Townes, Jerry Phillips, Earl Butler and Ken Anderson of Detroit, skin-divers, were attacked in 35 feet of water, the eels taking hold on their legs. Phillips is reported to have pulled off a 14-inch eel from one leg.

If the lamprey is becoming so voracious it attacks humans, there certainly should be an immediate speedup in efforts at its eradication.

NATURE PLAYS TRICK ON FISH

Mother Nature isn't always the producer of things and creatures in the accepted patterns of life. She frequently introduces unusual and many times, unnecessary variations.

DOUBLE INTAKE!

This column has sometimes mentioned the two-headed lamb, at a Pontiac area farm, the recently reported six-legged frog, five-legged deer, just a few of the oddities of creation.

Now comes a story, along with a photograph (see picture opposite, of a two-mouthed yellowtail (snapper) taken from the St. Johns River, near Jacksonville, Fla. One mouth is over the other, like an over-and-under shotgun, and like the gun, the larger is the lower one.

Florida's game and fresh-water fish commission biologists are quoted as declaring they had never before seen a fish with two mouths. One said it must be a "genetic farce."

MICHIGAN SHOOTERS ON TOP IN CANUSA

An American (all Michigan) shotgun company, comprising two 5-man squads defeated a Canadian roster of skeet and trap shooters by a slim margin of 32 targets in the recent CANUSA match.

Match was shot at the fine new Hamilton (Ont.) Gun Club fields, with the Michigan shooters compiling 1,881 x 2,000 and the Canadians 1,849 x 2,000. The USA team won both ends of the shoot, getting 949 x 1,000 at skeet and 932 at the traps.

Top guns were Dick and Boyd Williams of Davison, who made up team No. 1, with state champ Bob Upthegraff, Jay Howlett and Art Hickey. No. 2 team had Fred Baucom of Lapeer, Dr. M. Hathaway, C. Quillan, Paul Williams and A. Palethorpe. The Canadians will come to Davison (Williams Gun Club) for the 1960 match.

The biggest black bass Pontiac angler Melvyn Nichols ever landed, gave the veteran GMC Truck & Coach worker, a 10-minute fight before giving up. Nichols and Clarence Chaney, Voorheis road, were fishing on Carpenter Lake, north of Pontiac, when the 15½-inch, 2-pound, 2-ounce largemouth exploded from a patch of lily-pads. Nichols, who lives at 870 Glendale, said he was going to try for a real whopper on another visit to the lake.

May Be Century-Old Craft

Divers Find Indian Canoe

The intriguing discovery of a 30-year-old "lost" speedboat in Deer Lake a few weeks ago, has touched off a rash of skin-diving explorations in area waters.

Three youngsters, including Pat McNulty 17, his 13-year-old brother Edward, and their pal, 14 14-year-old Ronald Hutchings, yesterday beached an old, Indian dugout, found in 30 feet of water in nearby Davison Lake.

The craft, pointed at one end with an upturned prow, was made by the ancient fire method, by which the inside was burned out then smoothed with axes or knives. The wood was spongy from its long immersion and probably is cedar. This area, once part of Indian country, was forested with big pine and cedars prior to the turn of the century.

Walter Nichols, Cranbrook Institute naturalist, after hearing a description of the canoe, suggested it might be 100 years old, or thereabouts. It is now on the shore near the McNulty home (Mr. and Mrs. Pat McNulty, 3940 Davison Lake Rd.)

Nichols said the Institute has two such canoes, both found in county waters about 20 years ago.

Big Bluefin Returning

WEDGEPORT, Nova Scotia (AP)—Guides believe the cycle which reduced catches of bluefin tuna here in recent years might be ending.

SPEEDY SCORING — In a matter of seconds, thousands of cards used in computing scores at the National Rifle and Pistol Matches at Camp Perry, Ohio were sorted in order, by the IBM Card Sorter, naturally. The 10th Machine Records (Mobile) Unit of Fort Bragg, N. C. is responsible for "score keeping" the rifle matches. Army specialist Roy L. McClusky of Pontiac, inspects the sorting process.

'IBM Brain' Records Complex U.S. Rifle Matches

Machines Keep Score

CAMP PERRY, Ohio—Which is faster, a company of 200 clerk-typists and statisticians or the 32 men and 15 IBM machines of the Army's 10th Machine Records (Mobile) Unit?

The answer was obvious to competitors at the National Rifle and Pistol Matches. This year, within 30 minutes of the last shot fired each day, competition results on thousands of score cards are on the bulletin board.

Two years ago, with a huge staff, match results weren't quite correct or complete until two months after the matches ended.

The 10th Machine Records Unit of Fort Bragg, N. C., in its second year at the matches, compiles a complete breakdown of the day's matches, including standings, in three to four hours.

The information (shooter's name, number, score, classification, category, etc.) is punched on the familiar IBM cards at a rate of 120 lines, not words, a minute. Then the cards are sorted at a rate of 650 every 60 seconds.

IBM punch cards are the key to the entire operation. More than a half million of these cards will pass through a fantastic maze of electrical accounting machines.

The MRU chief of operations is Army M/Sgt. Michael P. Almoso of Wyandotte, Mich., a man with 16 years experience who majored in electrical engineering at University of Detroit.

With plenty of know-how between them, Sergeant First Class Don Maul of Detroit, and Staff Sergeant Alvin Bjerke of Fayetteville, N. C., are "the backbone of the whole operation," according to Almoso.

Lamprey Eel on Way Out

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (AP)—The lamprey eel, scourge of the lake trout, may be on the way out in Lake Superior.

The Great Lakes Fishery Commission was told there has been a decisive decrease in the lake's lamprey population.

Commissioner Donald McErnan of the Fish and Wildlife Service predicted a more startling decrease next year.

At the end of July the take of lamphreys from 26 streams at the eastern end of the lake had dropped by 14 per cent from the 1958 figure, according to a report from the Bureau of Commercial Fisheries of the U.S. Fish and Wild Life Service.

"The most striking change occurred in six streams which were treated with larvicide last year," the report noted. Total catch of lampreys in these dropped to 10,452 from 28,822 for corresponding periods, or 57.9 per cent.

Plant 500,000 Trout

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—The Virginia Commission of Game and Inland Fisheries released 500,000 brook and rainbow trout into public waters in 1959. They went into 141 streams and three lakes.

You're the Skipper

By JOHN BOHANNAN
Syndicated Boating Writer

The horn, often associated with fits of temper on the highways, has an entirely different significance on the waterways. It's an important signalling device in complying with the rules of the road.

For example, if you meet another boat head on, a single blast on the horn means that you are directing your course to starboard and that the other boat will pass you port to port. Two blasts means just the opposite, that you are directing your course to port and when the two boats pass their starboard sides will be facing each other. The other boat should acknowledge with an agreeing signal.

If your motorboat is under 16 feet in length, Coast Guard regulations do not state that you must have a horn, but if you are to comply with the rules of the road you must have some sound signalling device no matter what the size of the boat.

Motorboats, including outboards from 16 to less than 26 feet long, must have a horn which can be heard at least a half mile away. It may be operated by power, hand or mouth.

Audible range of the horn on motorboats from 26 to less than 40 feet in length must be at least one mile and operated by hand or power.

Horns on motorboats 40 to 65 feet long must be powered only with a minimum range of one mile.

In the case of sailboats there is no reference to horn requirement except when they are under power as an auxiliary, and in this case the motorboat rules apply. However a boat under sail alone should have a fog horn, and this can be the time-honored "fish horn" using lung power.

Mouth-operated horns never are loud enough to be heard under all circumstances, particularly in a howling gale. When the going gets rough a powerful electric or compressed air horn can add a lot of safety and comfort.

Electric marine horns are similar to those used on your automobile, except that brass is substituted for steel wherever possible. A diaphram, whose frequency is tuned to the resonant length of the trumpet, is actuated by a vibrator with a make-and-break armature. These horns can be had in single or dual installations.

In a compressed air horn the diaphragm is vibrated by air pressure from a hand pump, or from a compressed air tank.

The popular new little canned gas horns operate on the same principle, but used freon gas or carbon dioxide in replaceable plug-in cans.

Whatever horn you buy, check it first to be sure it has a good clean tone of sufficient volume.

Archery Shoot Set for Oxbow Ox Roast

Plans were announced today for a merchandise archery shoot at Oxbow Lake, to take place Sept. 5 at the big ox roast sponsored by Oxbow Lake's VFW.

The Saturday (next week) shoot is a tuneup for Giles White Buck Archers Club for the state meet, and will include two single American rounds (8:30 a.m. and 12:30 p.m. registrations). Shooting begins at 9:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m.

Pontiac and Union Lake merchants have donated the prizes. Ox roast concessions will be open also on Sept. 6 and 7.

'OLD MR. BOWFIN' — A common character among the finny populations of county lakes, it is surprising that comparatively few anglers ever land the tough, shark-like dogfish. His piscatorial name is bowfin. This one, a 5-pound, 21½-inch specimen was the first that former Alabaman, Mrs. Gene (Ida) Blake, 4347 Louella, Drayton Plains, had ever seen, or heard about. It was caught at Maceday Lake.

Coast Shooter Rolls Up Sensational Trap String

VANDALIA, Ohio (AP)— Darkness halted firing in the 60th Grand American Trapshoot Tuesday with two major titles still undecided and Arnold Riegger of Castle Rock, Wash., continuing his sensational unbroken string.

The chunky, West Coast marksman broke 200-straight Tuesday in the Class AA championship and cracked another 100 in shootoffs to give him 1,170 targets without a miss. Of the 1,170 only 820 are in regular events the others in shootoffs which do not count as registered clays.

As darkness fell on the mile-long firing line Riegger and Dan Orlich of Reno, Nev., had fired 225 straight in a shootoff to decide Monday's race between state champions.

In Tuesday's 200-target class events seven tied for the AA laurels but after a 75-target shootoff only Riegger, Orlich and veteran Herb Longden of Taylorville, Ill., were left. They resumed this morning.

4 Bear Hunts Scheduled for State Nimrods

Michigan Bear Hunters Assn. prexy, Carl T. Johnson, has just announced the schedule for fall bear hunting activities, along with selection of the association's three new trustees.

Trustees are Gordon Bonfield, Filer City, Lee Smits of Detroit and Fred Bear of Grayling.

Scheduled hunts include the Michigan Bear Hunt, Sept. 11-12-13 at an Upper Peninsula site to be announced soon. First hunt is the Sept. 5-6-7 Alex Van Luven hunt at Brimley, also in the UP.

The 13th annual National Bear Hunt, Oct. 4-5-6, is set for the Dead Stream Swamp in the Lake City area. Missaukee County Sportsmen's Club and the Lake City C. of C. are sponsors.

Guaranteed Bear Hunt (no bear, no pay), takes place again at Brimley, Oct. 13-14.

There will be other hunts, to be announced later.

Bitner Wins State Archery Field Title

NASHVILLE (AP) — Big Rapids archer Bob Bitner has added the Michigan Archers field championship to his list of titles. He won the men's free style title Sunday at Broken Bow course. Don Carter, also of Big Rapids, was second. Carl Heinrich of Richmond won the instinctive class event. The women's free style crown went to Cleo Robertson of Samaria. Alice Wilson of Berrien Springs was second.

School Board to Open Bids

Waterford Gives 1st Push to Its $3 Million Building Program

With the opening of bids totaling close to $3 million at a special meeting tomorrow night, the Waterford Township Board of Education will get the ball rolling on one of the biggest school building programs in the state.

Beginning at 7:30 p.m., bids on the sale of $2,500,000 in school district bonds will be opened.

This figure is one-half of the total $5 million approved by voters in a special election held last March for another high school, several elementary schools and additions to the present school buildings.

At 8 p.m., bids for a new 14-room elementary school to be located on Walton boulevard at Dill street will also be opened, according to superintendent William Shunck.

Contracts for construction of five new classrooms to be added to Schoolcraft school will be awarded after recommendations from the architectural firm of George D. Mason, Inc., have been studied by board members.

Several new school sites have been purchased and the building committee is working on land acquisition for the gigantic school building program now in progress in Waterford Township.

Claim Water Lengthens Life

Old Folks of Magnetic Springs Sure Liquid Has Healthy Powers

MAGNETIC SPRINGS, Ohio (UPI) — This is a town of old folks who say they are alive today because they drink water by the gallons.

The water comes from wells and springs and it's so magnetized that if you drop a metal cup in it the cup with stick to an iron pipe.

The elderly outnumber the young here and they follow a rigid health pattern: Each week they bathe in the magnetic water and all during the week they drink water by the gallons.

The springs once also acted as a magnet for the community's economy. Before the turn of the century, when water cures were the fashion, they drew the ill by the thousands.

14 Suspected Gamblers Enter Plea of Innocence

DETROIT (AP)—Fourteen persons who police say were members of a $4,000-a-day numbers ring in Detroit and suburban Warren pleaded innocent yesterday on two counts of gambling conspiracy.

Recorder's Judge George Murphy set Sept. 11 for examination.

Eight were released on $1,000 bonds. Six others were placed on $500 bonds.

Police identified the ringleaders as Joseph B. Bommarito, 55, Samuel Giordano, 31, and Joseph A. Armaly, 35, all of Detroit.

Wills $100,000 Stamps to Smithsonian Institute

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—An inventory of the estate of San Francisco contractor August H. Wilhelm disclosed today he left a stamp collection valued at $100,000 to the Smithsonian Institution. He was a past president of the American Philatelic Society. He died Dec. 8 at 84.

WHAT INFLATION IS DOING—IN PICTURES—In some notorious cases of inflation in past history the savings of a lifetime have become too little to buy a loaf of bread. The creeping cost increase that is turning the U. S. dollar into a pale shadow of its 1939 counterpart isn't that vicious. But its effect on Americans is handily demonstrated by the photos, above. Over 20 years the size of a home that could be bought with the same number of dollars has shrunk from a castle to a closet. In 1939, outlay of $6,500 would have purchased a comfortable six-room house plus garage. For a similar amount in 1949, home buyer would have found garage gone, house hacked in half. This year, 1959, all he would get for $6,500 would be a double-decked, king-size closet. This is inflation's deadly toll on the dolar, a growing threat to U. S. standard of living. Photos originally appeared in "Better Living," DuPont employe magazine.

Criminal 'Genius' Chessman Has Another Date With Death

By PETER J. HAYES

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (UPI)—For the seventh time in 11 years criminal genius Caryl Chessman has a date with death.

His execution is now set for Oct. 23. For Chessman the wait "is a terrible, lurking, shapeless thing."

The convicted kidnap-rapist was first sentenced to death on June 25, 1948. It was the year of the Berlin airlift, the Alger Hiss perjury case and President Truman's upset victory over Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

Since then Chessman, now 38, has become a best-selling author and a brilliant legal strategist in his fight to escape the San Quentin gas chamber.

He has won six stays in execution. He has appealed seven times to the U. S. Supreme Court, 16 times to lesser courts. Eighty-eight men and one woman (Barbara Graham) have gone to the apple-green death cell since he entered Death Row July 3, 1948.

Many important figures in the Chessman case have died, including the judge who sentenced him, the court reporter at his 1948 trial and the warden who greeted him on his arrival at "Q."

More than 18 months ago, when the black-haired, lean-faced convict was released to attend a hearing in his case, he remarked "the next time I leave prison I will be in a box."

But he's not giving up.

Before Oct. 23 was set for his execution, Chessman told United Press International "I don't think I will be executed" this time either. He said he believed he would win a stay. He looked to the U. S. Supreme Court as his last hope.

"On the basis of odds alone I'm certainly dead," Chessman said in a prison interview. "I managed to confound the odds before and I hope I can do it again."

But California Deputy Attorney General Arlo E. Smith said the chance of further, lengthy appeals was slight.

If Smith is right it will be the end of the road for an admitted psychopath with an I.Q. of 136 who embarked on a career of crime at the age of 15.

Chessman's violence-filled life unfolds in grim detail in "Cell 2455, Death Row," his best-selling autobiography. It and the movie based on it provided the bulk of more than $100,000 he has realized from his prison writings.

Born May 27, 1921, in Saint Joseph, Mich., Chessman went with his parents shortly afterward to Los Angeles. As a child he suffered pneumonia, encephalitis and diphtheria. In his autobiography he said the encephalitis attacked part of the brain, changing him from a happy, artistic youngster to a brooding, temperamental child.

Rebelling at accepting charity, Chessman said, he began stealing food from grocery stores at the age of 15.

That was the start. Soon he was stealing automobiles, holding up brothels and fighting gun battles. At the age of 16 he was in reform school. At 20 he entered prison, escaped, was recaptured and paroled four years later, in 1947.

On Jan. 23, 1948, Chessman was arrested in Los Angeles as the infamous "red light bandit" who used a red spotlight on his car to pose as a policeman and prey on couples parked in lovers lanes. The "red light" prowler, in addition to robbing his victims, often carried off the woman and forced her into unnatural sex acts.

Chessman, acting as his own attorney, steadfastly denied at his trial—as he still does—that he was the "red light bandit." He said it was a case of mistaken identity, as he single-handedly argued his case before the jury of 11 women and one man.

A newspaper report at the time said that "gray-haired veterans of criminal law . . . flocked to the trial to sit in amazement at Chessman's conduct of his own defense."

They included four kidnap charges, eight first degree robbery, one grand theft, one attempted robbery, one attempted rape and two other sex offenses.

On two of the four kidnap counts the jury ordered the death penalty under California's "Little Lindbergh Law." This is provided for in cases of "kidnaping with intent of robbery, with infliction of bodily harm."

Chessman's efforts to escape the gas chamber, an all-time California record, have been successful mainly because the court reporter at his 1948 trial died before he completed transcribing his shorthand notes.

Another reporter finished the job. Chessman claimed he was denied due process of law because he was not present or represented at the court proceedings which first determined the accuracy of the record.

The U. S. Supreme Court agreed with him in 1957 and ordered California to hold a hearing on the validity of the record. Chessman was to be present.

But the hearing ended with the court generally upholding the transcript. Chessman's claims of major errors in the record were rejected. This left his case where it had been after his sentence in 1948. He then resumed his appeals up through the state and federal courts.

What has made Chessman world-famous is the fact that he wrote four books in his death row cell. But prison officials long since have cracked down on his literary efforts. Guards started watching him closely after manuscripts of two books, written on toilet paper or concealed on carbon paper, had been smuggled outside of prison to a publisher.

In addition to "Cell 2455," his books were "Trial By Ordeal," "The Kid Was a Killer" and "The Face of Justice."

The Chessman case has excited worldwide interest. Those opposed to capital punishment regard him as a symbol of their campaign, especially since he was condemned to death for a crime other than murder.

But in the U. S. legal circles, the delay of his execution has been called "a national scandal" and "a sorry chapter" in the history of American jurisprudence.

The late Superior Judge Charles J. Fricke, who presided at his trial, called the crimes charged to Chessman "worse than murder." He said he "never had less sympathy for a convicted man."

A pretty brunette who was a victim of one of the "red light bandit's" sex attacks has been under treatment at a southern California mental hospital almost as long as Chessman has been on death row. About a year after she testified against him she began to show an obsessive fear of the convict and was treated for schizophrenia. Some psychiatrists reportedly consider her incurable.

For his part, Chessman describes the delays in execution "a refined cruelty that has no parallel in the 20th Century."

"Already, many times over, California has exacted its pound of flesh," he wrote.

In his autobiography, he wrote: "Waiting death is a terrible lurking, shapeless Thing . . . Death is a tough proposition. Death is a funny feeling, a tightening in the belly; it's a creeping numbness. Death is something too big to understand."

Capt. Leroy Cooper Tells His Experience

Astronauts Work With Gravity

JOHNSVILLE, Pa. (AP) — The seven men who plan to be the first Americans to blast off into space have been practicing that maneuver — and the feat of returning safely to earth — with amazing realism in a Navy centrifuge here.

The Mercury astronauts say their training here has made them more confident than ever that they will be able to "fly" a satellite three times or more around the earth, at 18,000 miles an hour. They will have to put on brakes — in the form of reverse-firing rockets — firmly enough to ease down to a parachute landing off the Florida coast.

Cooper rode strapped in a couch — similar to that designed for the Mercury capsules. He went round and round in a capsule at the end of a 50-foot-long centrifuge arm. It can deliver up to 40 times the force of gravity.

Experts said the device simulated almost exactly the gravity forces to which an astronaut will be subjected when a missile boosts him into orbit, and then the retro-rockets or braking devices slow him down so that he will enter the earth's atmosphere again.

Were Long on Legs and Short on Time

DETROIT (AP) — Three gunmen who were long on legs and short on time were sought by police today in the $5,000 holdup of a credit union office.

The bandits vaulted a four-foot counter yesterday and held the manager and three women office employes at gunpoint while they rifled two drawers at the Motor City Co-Op Credit Union office.

They fled about two minutes later with a bag containing about $3,000 in cash and $2,000 in checks. The gunmen also took $150 from manager Ralph Bathanti.

The clerks, one of whom said the men carried "big, black guns," told police the robbery happened so fast they were unable to furnish accurate descriptions of the trio.

Potato Flakes Co. Starts a Plant in Rogers City

ROGERS CITY (AP) — This Lake Huron community welcomes a new industry today—the Instant Potato Products Co., manufacturer of potato flakes.

Cornerstone laying ceremonies marks the first step in construction of a plant that will employ about 100 persons when operations begin in October. Employment eventually is expected to go up to 300.

E. L. Nicolay, president, said the firm expects to produce about three million pounds of potato flakes a year.

Sleeps During Crash of Car Into Home

RACINE, Wis. (AP)—Raymond K. Morin, 26, fell asleep at the wheel of his car. The auto jumped a curb, knocked down a small tree and some shrubbery and stopped when it slamed into a home.

When police arrived, Morin was still asleep.

L&N Railroad Gets Losses From UMW

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — The Louisville & Nashville Railroad says it has received more than $100,000 from the United Mine Workers for losses during the lengthy eastern Kentucky coal strike.

The railroad's suit against the UMW was settled out of court. A federal judge's order prohibits further L&N damage suits against the union.

The railroad's suit asked $450,000 damages plus $75,000 each day its operations in the coal fields were hampered.

CONVENTION OPENS IN SONG — Singer Morton Downey leads the Star Spangled Banner and National Commander Preston J. Moore of Stillwater, Okla. salutes as the national American Legion convention began official sessions in Minneapolis Auditorium yesterday. Ex-President Truman canceled his appearance and the group took up the business of resolutions during that hour.

Legion Delegates Would Arm U. S. Patrol Planes

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — A proposal for arming American aircraft patroling near Communist territory was before the American Legion's convention today after approval by its National Security Committee.

Highlight of the day's business session was a talk by Gen. I. L. Lemnitzer, Army chief of staff. An afternoon program gap caused when former President Harry S. Truman canceled his appearance was being devoted to action on resolutions.

These included one which would ask the Navy to assign additional patrol units to the North Pacific area to "meet the threat of Soviet activity."

Set minimum strength of the Army at 900,000 the National Guard at 470,000 and Marine corps at 200,000.

Create a joint congressional committee on cold war strategy.

Require compulsory civil defense work from some three million men, eligible for the draft but who have been rejected or not called up.

Gen. Lauris Norstad, NATO commander, told delegates Tuesday night that he looked for the coming meeting of President Eisenhower with Premier Charles de Gaulle as a means of enriching "the ancient associations of France and America."

Rash of Drownings Expected Labor Day

EAST LANSING (AP)—State police have warned another rash of drownings can be expected over the long Labor Day weekend.

Drownings outnumbered traffic fatalities 15 to 13 over the Fourth of July weekend, police noted.

There have been 194 drownings in 293 water accidents so far this year.

Overloading, reckless operation failure to heed storm signals and using high-powered motors on small boats were listed as the major causes of boating accidents.

MacKenna Quits Top Job for Return to Stage at 60

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Why would a man of mature years leave an important, high-paying position for the chancy life of an actor?

"Because I feel that a change like this is good for a man," says Kenneth MacKenna. "I have done about all I can with this job. Now it is time for me to meet a new challenge."

THOMAS

This may help to answer Hollywood's puzzlement over MacKenna's resignation as MGM story editor after 22 years. He is going back to Broadway.

In the 20s and 30s, MacKenna was the handsome, romantic leading man of many a hit play. Before he accepted an offer from MGM.

Over the years he has chosen hundreds of story properties to be filmed by MGM. His decisions have meant the investment of millions of dollars. Now 60, he had been assured that he could continue at his job for the rest of his life.

Schary sent him the script of his new play, "The Highest Tree," about the trials of an idealistic scientist in the nuclear age. MacKenna read it, liked it. Rehearsals were set for September. MacKenna had a three-month resignation clause in his MGM contract. That meant he had to decide immediately. He did.

Tour of Factory Reveals Shortcomings

Moskvich Won't Corner Car Market

By ROBERT KORENGOLD

That's the enviable position of lanky Victor Mikailevich Polyakov, the 44-year-old boss of the Soviet Union's "Moskvich" auto production plant on the outskirts of Moscow.

The Moskvich is a small four-door, four-passenger sedan with a 45-horsepower engine. It can do up to 72 miles an hour and boasts folding seats that can be made into a car bed.

From the single final assembly line at the Polyakov-run plant, a new Moskvich is readied for shipment to the far-flung outposts of the Soviet Union and to foreign countries every six minutes of the working day, or 200 daily.

But the plant's annual output of 60,000 cars, station wagons and pickup trucks doesn't come close to meeting the demand and the average Soviet consumer must expect to wait somewhere up to two years for delivery.

Although Polyakov is striving to boost Moskvich production to 100,000 annually by the end of the seven-year plan in 1965, he holds little hope for a sharp improvement in the internal market situation.

In a talk with Western newsmen, he indicated cleraly that Soviet planners do not consider private auto production a number one priority item in the national development program.

Currently, one-third of the Moskvich production and a fair part of that of the three other Soviet cars—"Pobeda," "Volga" and the luxury "Zil" — are earmarked for foreign export.

The bulk of these sales, of course, go to the Soviet Union's Socialist neighbors. But Polyakov says the sturdy little Moskvich, which somewhat resembles the German "Opel" of a number of years ago, has also found a market in Scandinavia and Austria. And by the end of this year, he said, there is a possibility that 2,000 Moskvich cars will be shipped to West Germany.

One of the prime reasons for the Soviet car export drive, Polyakov explained, is to get foreign credits so the U.S.S.R. can import machinery it badly needs for developing other phases of its industry.

Although Polyakov and other officials of the Moskvich plant haven't changed their design much since 1956 and don't plan to until 1963, they remain abreast of the latest trends in car development through trips abroad, avid reading of Western auto periodicals and outright purchase of new Western models.

Despite all its advantages, Polyakov admitted that the Moskvich does have its troubles.

Spare parts are one, he said. When Moskvich production first started it was not rare to receive anguished appeals from car owners outside Moscow who simply could not get the spare parts to repair even the simplest disorders.

But now, Polyakov said, 12 per cent of his plant's production is devoted to spare parts.

In the entire plant, the correspondents saw only one small assembly line — for boring and grinding engine blocks—that could be classified as automatic. Virtually all the work is done by men or women — girls make up nearly half the work force — at Soviet and foreign machines which are often of World War II vintage or before.

Polyakov, who has toured auto plants in the West, told reporters he was well aware of his plant's shortcomings but that he expected to improve both working conditions and techniques by the end of the seven-year plan.

Currently, the Moskvich ranks as the low-priced people's car although it sell for 25,000 rubles, or $2,500 at the official rate of exchange.

Polyakov, who said his factory has nothing to do with setting the price, a matter handled by the State, admitted that production costs were low enough to provide the factory with a healthy profit last year. Most of it, he said, went for workers' bonuses, plant improvement and employes' housing.

Laborers at the Moskvich plant earn relatively high wages by Soviet standards. Polyakov said the average salary of a factory mechanic was around 1,000 rubles ($100) a month. Skilled engineers and designers might make three times as much and as factory director, Polyakov said he received a salary of 80,000 rubles a year ($8,000).

Moskvich workers have one other advantage. They sometimes can buy a car from the factory in less time than it would take to get one through normal channels. There is no cut in the price though.

U.S. 112-23 Intersection Safer With 2nd Signal

LANSING (UPI)—A second traffic signal at U.S. 112 and U.S. 23 in Washtenaw County has made the intersection much less dangerous.

The Highway Department said a year before accidents at the intersection totaled 18 and dropped to 9 a year after installation.

Twins Born on Airliner Doing Well

The mother was identified as Judy Ann Stivers, of Birmingham, England, wife of a U.S. airman whose address was not known.

The Pan American plane was heading from London to Gander, Nfld., en route to New York, when Capt. Roland A. Bell, Massapequa, N.Y., radioed this message:

"Passenger aboard plane in labor. Plane has No. 1 priority to land at Gander."

Then another message crackled: "Just been advised by stewardess that twins have been born. Will keep you advised."

Pan American said this was the first time twins had been born on one of its planes and possibly the first time on any commercial overseas airliner.

A doctor among the passengers and two stewardesses assisted in the birth. They are Dr. Clarence Ing, described as a missionary of the Seventh Day Adventist Church and Ellen Mandzik and Yolanda Sisto, both of Manhattan.

Name Managing Editor of Muskegon Chronicle

The appointment was announced by Chronicle Editor Robert C. Herrick.

Read has served as an editorial writer since joining the newspaper in 1950. He is a former editor of the Ludington Daily News which he left in 1944 to become secretary to former Rep. Albert J. Engel in Washington.

A native of Ludington, Read served earlier as a reporter for the Chicago Daily News following graduation from Northwestern University.

Cross Strike Gets Ugly; 2 Area Men Threatened

A paint bomb crashed through the front window of a non-striking worker's home early yesterday and two non-strikers told police they were attacked on their way home from work.

His wife, Irene, 32, who was sleeping on the living room floor because of the heat, was showered by paint and splintered glass, but was unhurt.

Ferguson, who estimated the paint bomb caused up to $300 damage to furnishings, blamed the attack on striking United Auto Workers.

"The pickets are retaliating for testimony I have given in court," he said.

Meanwhile, another employe of the strike-bound automation machinery firm reported to police that a station wagon with six men in it forced his car to a halt as he drove home from the plant.

Stanley Balchunas, 43, of Southfield, said he and another worker, Murray Osborn of Birmingham, were traveling west on 14 Mile road.

The station wagon suddenly stopped in front of them on the two-lane road, Balchunas said, and five of the men jumped out. Balchunas said the men shouted:

"Come on, you scabs, get out of the car and take your beating like men."

Balchunas said he and Osborn locked the doors and rolled up the windows, but one of the attackers smashed his fist into a window. At that moment, on-coming traffic cleared and he was able to race his car around the vehicle in front of him and escape, Balchunas said.

Ferguson and Balchunas told reporters of the attacks at a press conference held by the Cross Co., which was struck Aug. 4 when company officials refused to bargain with the UAW for a new contract. The company contends the Union does not represent a majority of the workers.

An official of the striking UAW Local 155 vehemently denied that Unionists had any part in the attacks.

"There are a lot of other people who have strong feelings in matters such as this," said Archie Beveridge, business representative. He refused to elaborate on the statement.

Grains Steady to Bit Easier

CHICAGO (AP) — Soybean futures attracted scattered buying support at slightly firmer prices today in early dealings on the board of trade but the grains were steady to slightly easier.

Transactions were draggy and in small volume with no significant overnight developments to influence activity either way in the market.

Formosa and Israel were understood to be in the market for wheat but there was no information as to amounts or kinds required.

There were also reports that country selling has been so slow recently, particularly in the Southwest, that some milling interests have had difficulty finding adequate supplies.

Wheat was unchanged to ¼ cent a bushel lower near the end of the first hour, September $1.91; corn ¼ lower, September $1.18⅛; oats ¼ lower to ¼ higher, September new type contract 66¼; rye ⅜ to ⅝ lower, September $1.29⅜; soybeans ⅛ to ⅜ higher, September $2.10⅝.

2-Car Collision Sends Drivers to Hospital

A two-car, head-on collision on Sashabaw road in Waterford Township early this morning sent both drivers to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, both of them unable to make a statement to police.

The other driver, Barbara Haynes, 33, of 3876 Island Park Dr., Waterford Township, is reported in satisfactory condition by hospital attendants with cuts on the chin and knee.

The cause of the accident is not known, according to the Oakland County Sheriff's Dept.

U.S. Post Office Acts as Jack-of-All-Trades

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U. S. Post Office has expanded to colossal proportions since 1775, becoming the catch-all for many kinds of stray Federal activities.

For instance — it registers aliens, takes the deer and grouse census, provides flags for funerals of old soldiers, has become a banker of sorts with $5 billion of money orders annually, and a seamstress (with eight million mail bags sewed up in 1958).

6,000 Mothers Collect $42,000 in Polio March

More than 6,000 mothers collected close to $42,000 in door-to-door solicitations last night for the Oakland County Chapter of the National Foundation (March of Dimes).

The Rev. G. Burton Hodgson, chapter chairman, termed the effectiveness of the "mothers march" very good.

The money will remain in Oakland County for the local chapter's use. The Rev. Hodgson said a total of $70,000 is needed to carry on the chapter program for the rest of the year.

However, much of the mail solicitation has not yet been answered.

Ten polio cases have been reported in Oakland County this year, the same number as reported at this date in 1958.

The county National Foundation chapter presently is maintaining care for 250 active cases of polio victims previously afflicted with the disease.

Wants Rest Home Built

Stocks Showing Gradual Upbeat

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market continued a moderate upbeat in slow early trading today.

Motors and aluminums contributed some plus signs. The trend was higher also among airlines, building materials and drugs.

Most gains were narrow, stretching to around a point at the outside. An exception was Zenith which jumped about 2 in continued response to its dividend hike.

American Motors was moderately active and up about a point. The company unveiled its 1960 models at a preview and made optimistic statements about its prospects for the current year.

Aircrafts were up briefly at the start then backed away from moderate gains. Douglas, United Aircraft and General Dynamics canceled advances and traded about unchanged.

Lukens, up more than a point, was outstanding in a narrowly mixed steel group. The Big Three motors edged ahead.

Reynolds Metals added a point-plus and Alcoa around a point as the aluminums followed through on recent strength.

Rails, utilities and oils were very narrowly mixed.

The market had an irregular start with the ticker tape late very briefly, then a gradual improvement got under way.

Gains of around a point were posted by American Cyanamid, Du Pont and U.S. Gypsum. Small losses were shown by U.S. Rubber, International Nickel, General Electric, Commonwealth Edison and Westinghouse Electric.

International Paper, which has enjoyed a spurt lately, dropped about a point. American & Foreign Power was lightly traded and about unchanged.

Get 50 Cents a Share

DETROIT (AP)—Detroit Bank and Trust Co. Tuesday declared a quarterly dividend of 50 cents a share on the $10 par value common stock, payable Sept. 30, 1950 to shareholders of record Sept. 4, 1959.

Businessmen Back GOP Efforts to Avoid Tax Hike

LANSING (AP) — A united stand by businessmen and industrialists pumped new life today into efforts by Republican Senate leaders to ward off new taxes on business.

After hearing protests against higher taxes from 42 big and little businessmen at a two-day hearing, Sen. Clyde H. Geerlings (R-Holland) said he was ready to take up their fight.

Geerlings, Senate Taxation Committee chairman, said he would urge a Senate-House conference committee tomorrow to recommend a 120-million-dollar increase in the use (sales) tax and forget about new business levies. Sen. Carlton H. Morris (R-Kalamazoo), leading Republican tax strategist, indicated he would do the same.

The committee's recommendations will be laid before the Legislature Friday.

The conference committee was named to settle House and Senate differences in a legislative tax war that has raged for 7½ months. There is general agreement on a penny increase in the three-cent use tax, but the House, especially Democratic members, has demanded business be tapped for another 10 to 15 million dollars.

Almost to a man, witnesses at the hearings called by Geerlings warned against new taxes on business and industry, which they contended is already overtaxed.

The lone exception was Paul H. Todd of Kalamazoo, president of the Farmers Chemical Co., former Kalamazoo County Democratic chairman and a member of the Michigan Economic Development Commission.

He branded as "completely ridiculous" and "utter nonsense" contentions that business could not afford a small tax boost.

Some witnesses recommended a delay in enacting any but a use tax increase to determine if still higher levies are needed.

"Certainly that's the realistic approach," said Geerlings. "By mid-November we should be able to determine whether additional taxes are needed."

Proposed increases on business center on the business activities tax. Geerlings asked each witness whether they would prefer a one-mill boost in the tax, or a two or 2½ mill increase with relief for businesses showing little or no profit.

Five witnesses went on record for the latter. Todd proposed a tax on business profits. All the others either backed a flat one mill increase or refused to take a position.

"Actually, that's a shocking question," said Francis M. Wistert, vice president of the Electric Auto-Lite Co. and a former all-American football player at the University of Michigan.

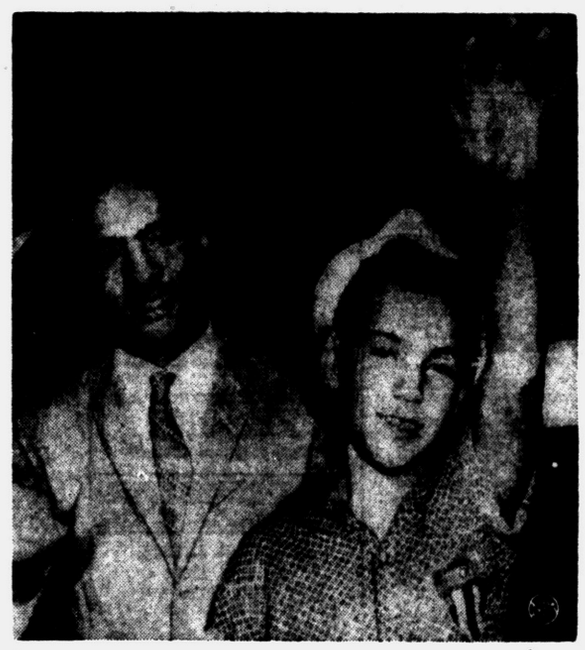

"All you are doing by asking it is contributing to what seems to be an unfavorable business climate in Michigan," he said.

Generally, arguments ran like this:

1. Taxes on business are higher in Michigan than in other industrial states.
2. Michigan businessmen, as a consequence, have been placed in a bad competitive position and the state's business climate has suffered.
3. Higher taxes will help drive industry from the state and discourage new ones from locating here.
4. Additional taxes are unnecessary. Part of the remedy lies in government economy.

To back one argument, A. N. Cole, manager of Chrysler Corp.'s tax and insurance department, said his company would pay from 10 to 17 million dollars less taxes annually if it were located in Illinois, Indiana, New York, Pennsylvania or Ohio. Charles J. Gibson Jr., president of the Gibson Refrigerator Co., Greenville, cited similar figures for his company.

Louis Van Ess, secretary-treasurer of the Imperial Furniture Co., Grand Rapids, said his company was building a new plant in Tennessee, partly because of tax costs in Michigan. Dominic Moffo, representing the Heath Co. of St. Joseph, said his firm would look to other states for expansion if taxes are raised.

PAN-AMERICAN SPECTATOR — Fidel Castro Jr., 10-year-old son of the Cuban premier, waves as he arrives at Chicago with a friend, Nelson Aspuru, 16. He will watch the Pan-American Games, held in the city.

4 Boys Fly to Parents in Russia

CHICAGO (AP)—Four boys, who looked as American as the baseball caps they wore, flew away today to make their homes in a land they've never seen—Soviet Russia.

The Kozmin brothers—Richard, 12, George, 11, Paul 10, and Peter, 3—boarded an American Airlines plane at Midway Airport.

A few Chicagoans bade them goodbye. The youngsters received wrist watches from the Cook County Welfare Department. Employes of the department chipped in to buy the going-away gifts.

Judge Thomas E. Klyczynski of the Circuit Court gave the three older brothers baseball gloves and baseballs as mementoes of the only land they really know.

Second Banana Pair to Reunite This Fall

By HUGH MULLIGAN

NEW YORK (AP)—What happens to the "second banana" when they split up the bunch?

Howie Morris, "the little guy" who used to play the mad German scientist, the African explorer, the hapless husband and hundreds of other comedy parts on the old Sid Caesar Show, has been doing all right on his own.

So has Carl Reiner, "the big guy" who used to play the Japanese war lord, the Italian bicycle thief, the opera basso and hundreds of other comic creations on the same show.

The big guy and the little guy, probably the most famous pair of second bananas in the business, will be reunited this fall on NBC's Dinah Shore Chevy Show.

Reiner will write all 12 of the shows and appear in four. Morris, a top banana now who still prefers situation comedy, will appear with him doing a solo and taking part in a variety of zany skits.

"It's not surprising that Carl has turned out to be a top television writer," says the little guy in admiration of his former partner. "The Sid Caesar Show was undoubtedly the most creative comedy program in the history of television.

"We all got together at the script conferences and helped write the material, much of which came from our own experiences. It was a tremendously rewarding show for the actor from almost any viewpoint. So many actors tend to get script-bound and never get the chance to think up original ideas."

Although he has frequently written his own material, Morris has no ambitions to join Reiner in the ranks of TV writers. "I'm an actor, first, last and always," he says. "The best thing that's happened to me since leaving the Caesar show was to become a regular on Pantomime Quiz. People began recognizing me on the street. I won idntification as a TV actor outside of the comedy character parts, and that's very important."

As an actor, and a very good one, Morris has appeared with Maurice Evans in "Hamlet" and "Twelfth Night," done straight dramatic parts for the Kraft Theater, Danger and other drama shows, and has had considerable background experience in radio and summer stock.

Three-Car Accident in Waterford Hurts 5

Five people were injured in a three car accident at 11 p.m. last night on Walton boulevard near Silverhill road in Waterford Township.

Walter Rappuhn, 43, of North Branch, told Waterford Township Police he saw two cars coming toward him on his side of the road as he was driving south on Walton Boulevard and could not avoid hitting them.

Driver of the first oncoming car, Alfred Mitchell, 34, of 401 Broadway St., Pontiac, told police that a car in front of him swerved to avoid being hit by the Rappuhn car and Mitchell did not have time to avoid being hit. The Rappuhn car then hit another northbound car before coming to a stop in a small ditch.

Driver of the third car was Jack E. Brown, 23, of 144 Brooklyn St., Pontiac, who was uninjured.

Taken to Pontiac General Hospital with possible brain concussion was Brenda Mitchell, 2, and her mother, Mrs. Olive Mitchell, 28, with injuries to her hips and both legs. The child is in fair condition and Mrs. Mitchell is satisfactory today, attendants said.

Mitchell also received head injuries as did his sister, Brenda, 22, of 401 Broadway St., Pontiac. They were treated and released.

A-Installations Not for Nikita

Khrushchev May See Football Game but No Energy Plants

WASHINGTON (AP) — Perhaps a football or a baseball game but no atomic energy installations will be on the itinerary of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev in his visit to the United States next month.

And, it is still uncertain whether Mrs. Khrushchev will come along.

Soviet Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov, after conferring with Undersecretary of State Robert Murphy, told newsmen that Khrushchev would not visit the atomic electricity generating plant at Shippingport, Pa., or any other atomic facility.

The ambassador and Murphy have been meeting periodically to iron out details of the visit which begins Sept. 15. Menshikov said he expected that firm details would be arranged soon.

Menshikov also indicated that Khrushchev would return to Moscow after leaving Washington. But the ambassador declined to speculate on whether he would then go on to Peiping.

Town in Virginia Equipping School

FRONT ROYAL, Va. (AP) — The opening of all Warren County public schools, including integration-troubled Warren County High School here, has been postponed from Aug. 31 to Sept. 8.

Action delaying the school openings was taken Tuesday night at a closed, unannounced joint meeting of the school board and the county supervisors.

School Supt. Q. D. Gasque said that the extra time was needed to make certain that the county's new combined elementary-high school for Negroes is fully equipped. The school is the first the county ever has had for Negro high school pupils.

British Fight Rebels on Arabian Peak

31 Win Awards for Secret War

LONDON (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II today approved awards to 31 British soldiers who fought a secret war in the Arabian desert.

The airborne task force — 175 men of Britain's crack special Air Service Regiment — flew to the British protectorate of Muscat and Oman last January. Rebels there had seized a seemingly impregnable position atop 10,000-foot Mt. Akdar. They repulsed every attempt by soldiers of the ruling sultan to dislodge them.

"By a forced night march up extremely difficult country," Deane-Drummond surprised the enemy and gained complete success," the official London Gazette related today. "At one stage the ascent was possible only by using ropes."

Britain kept the four-week campaign a strict secret despite Cairo reports of the desert rebellion.

"The war was fought in secrecy and was completely successful," said Deane-Drummond at his home in Brecon, Wales, Tuesday night. He was awarded the Distinguished Service Order.

It was believed the operation produced the highest percentage of awards in the British army's long history. One man out of every six got a medal or a special mention in dispatches.

TV News and Reviews

'Back to School' Earns a Solid Flunking Grade

By FRED DANZIG

NEW YORK (UPI)—The NBC-TV news special, "Back to School," presented last night during prime viewing time, gets a failing grade in my book.

The hour consisted of routine film clips flitting across the TV tube while commentators ticked off lists of school problems confronting various areas or mentioned promising innovations in teaching techniques.

On and on dragged the clips and the show. It suffered from dullness and was strangely detached from its subject. It was, in short, almost a complete waste of time.

In attempting to give viewers "the big picture" glimpse of school problems, the script had to touch on every well-known school problem in post-Sputnik America.

This hour could have done some good. It could have inspired those teachers and parents who are working for better schools at the local level to work still harder by showing how victories are won.

Surely, the stories are there. It could have helped mobilize community opinion behind these rather lonely fighters to make their task somewhat easier.

It could have shown how each citizen can help. Finally, it could have let us hear the actual voices of pupils and teachers caught in the treadmill of inadequacy.

Last night, "Back to School" was playing hookey.

Usually seen by night people who watch the Jack Paar Show, Weaver — portrayed by Cliff Arquette — appeared as a special contestant on NBC-TV's game show, Concentration, which observed its first anniversary on Tuesday.

Playing to the audience, Weaver feigned heartbreak and the audience, completely on the side of this old scene-swiper, groaned.

Garroway looked uncomfortable. Still later, Garroway had to return a prize to Weaver. Would Dave return the cash?

Weaver turned on the pressure, saying, "You could be a big man now, Dave. Make the people love you again."

But Dave refused to be bullied by this tactic and gave Weaver a lesser gift. Again, the audience groaned.

Sahl's Baggy Sweater May Set Show Style

WILSON

Kirk Douglas, Charlton Heston, Red Buttons, Lee Remick and Billy Rose were among the mob who came to hear Mort, beloved by the beatniks.

He's bound to stir controversy with his far-out humor and sharp verbal darts at prominent figures. Some of Sahl's sallies:

Rockefeller: "He's promising the kids Little League polo"; Nixon: "His chances look good—but what about ours?"; Adlai Stevenson: "Some Democrats feel he can be elected—if only he can be nominated"; Adm. Strauss: "He said there's no increase in radioactivity—but not to plan large families."

At the end Mort asks, "Is there any group here I haven't offended?"

New Gas Well Busy in State

Ottawa County Strike Is Producing 3 Million Cubic Feet Per Day

HOLLAND (AP) — A new well in Ottawa County's Holland Township today was reported producing three million cubic feet of natural gas per day.

It follows a promising strike of oil and gas formations in nearby Heath Township of Allegan County and led industry veterans to predict a hectic new boom in area drilling activity.

The new well was brought in by Carter Oil Co., in the old Holland-Fillmore oil field north of the Allegan-Ottawa County line. Its gas reservoir was tapped at 2,650 feet.

The company says the gas pay zone will be sealed off to permit continued drilling in search of oil.

Oil company lease buyers reportedly were surveying the Holland and Heath Township areas for new leases. Property near the new wells was reported leasing at $5 to $10 an acre.

Milton Henry Asks for More Judges

Pontiac should have one or more new municipal judgeships, City Commissioner Milton R. Henry declared last night.

"Even an added traffic judge in the Traffic Violations Bureau would help," he told the City Commission.

Pontiac has kept to two municipal judges as the local civil and criminal case load has mounted over the years, attorney Henry said.

Addition of the violations bureau under municipal court has increased the case load for the two judges, he noted.

Although no comparative figures were at hand, Henry believed that Pontiac's two judges have nearly the largest, if not the largest, case load in Michigan.

Henry complained of delays in cases, sometimes lasting as much as several days.

Son Finds Ring Lost in Lake 18 Years Ago

When the youngster surfaced he held a dirt-encrusted ring.

Mrs. Weaver scraped off the dirt. The ring was a high school graduation ring she had lost 18 years ago on a swimming trip.

Detroit to Be Ready Next Time It Rains

DETROIT (UPI)—City officials today resigned themselves to flooded expressways in violent storms like last Sunday's, but worked out plans for emergency action in case of another deluge.

Mayor Louis Miriani appointed a seven-man committee of top officials headed by Police Commissioner Herbert W. Hart to make the plans.

Miriani was irked at police for not advising him of emergency conditions on freeways, which were covered with 12 feet of water in spots, and the plan aimed at getting top city officials on the job immediately if such a thing should happen again.

Charlevoix to Dedicate County Building Sunday

CHARLEVOIX (AP)—Formal dedication of the 18-month-old Charlevoix County Building is scheduled Sunday.

Predicts Future U. S. Space Gliders Could Eye, Control Enemy Satellites

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Future manned U.S. space gliders in orbit around the earth could be used as interceptors to inspect, board, disable and possibly destroy enemy satellites, an American space official predicted today.

The prediction came from Lt. Gen. Bernard A. Schriever, commander of the Air Research and Development Command, in an address prepared for a section of the American Bar Assn.

The glider called "Dyna-Soar" has tremendous potential military advantages, Schriever said.

The Dyna-Soar would operate at lower altitudes than military satellites, he added, yet would be less vulnerable to enemy tracking and destruction.

Schriever's stout support of the Dnya-Soar principle appeared designed to counter recent indications that official Pentagon interest in the vehicle had waned because of rising interest in satellites and powered space craft.

Schriever said also that satellite vehicles could be useful in an early warning system, to cope with the threat of salvoes of enemy ballistic missiles.

They not only could detect the firing of a salvo at almost the instant it occurred, but could transmit the information instantly to command headquarters, he said.

Dyna-Soar — from "dynamic soarer"—will consist of a manned glider boosted out of the earth's atmosphere by the rocket engines.

Schriever said such a boost-glide vehicle launched from Cape Canaveral, Fla., could circle the earth and come to a controlled landing at an air base anywhere in the United States.

The pilot would retain full control of maneuvers, once he reentered the atmosphere at a speed of about 15,000 miles an hour. He could shorten or lengthen the range, and deviate thousands of miles to reach his landing site or target.

Father of 4 Admits $366,000 Theft

CHICAGO (AP) — A father of four who admitted the theft of $366,000 in 13 months from the check cashing firm for which he worked as a $115 weekly supervisor has been sentenced to 5 to 10 years imprisonment.

Martin J. Kucik, 32, pleaded guilty to a charge of embezzlement in Criminal Court Tuesday.

Kucik said he lost $200,000 betting on horse races. He bought eight race horses, invested in real estate and bought an expensive automobile.

He lived in a basement apartment with his wife and four children, one three days old, when he confessed last May 12. The thefts were discovered by the company after Kucik had to go to a hospital.

"What about hell?"

3rd Search Set for Sunken Boat

Frustrated two straight weekends in their planned search for a long-time sunken speedboat in Deer Lake, Jack McKay and his scuba-diving partner, Barry Tuttle, are anxious to make the underwater trip this weekend.

Rain that roiled the water spoiled the last two plans.

"We're eager to get going," said McKay. "We have an underwater 16mm movie camera to take along and hope to get some pictures, if conditions are right. We have a new type film that should do OK. Then, too, we sure would like to find that boat."

Invites Public to Attend 'Dime-a-Serving' Picnic

The public has been invited to participate in a "dime-a-serving" picnic to be held at 2 p. m. Sunday at the Crescent Lake Country Club Park on Elizabeth Lake road.

Sponsored by the Crescent Lake Country Club Civic Association, the picnic is an annual fund-raising project for beach and park improvements and area residents have been urged to bring their entire families.

Philgas* Bulk System

FROM ONE TANK ON YOUR PLACE, YOU CAN

. . . cook with Philgas! Stop in and see the modern gas ranges! Automatic top burner and oven controls. Rotisseries. Wall ovens.

. . . heat water automatically! Philgas heats water so fast you can use a smaller, more economical heater. Stop in and see!

IT'S GOT TO FIT 5 WAYS

It's our only system. No gimmicks. Just experience. Our managers average 11 years of fitting children's shoes. They, and the men they've trained, know their business. Big selection, too. Many new styles. And they'll last as long and do as much for growing feet as shoes costing 2 or 3 times more! C'mon in and bring the kids!

SPEAKING of BEAUTY

Never underestimate first impressions, Girls! Getting organized for school right now? Don't busy yourself so much with skirts and sweaters that you forget about beauty, too! We can't help it; we all form LASTING impressions from first impressions. (Remember that "really nice" girl in your class. The year You'd been repelled by her was nearly past when you discovered her good qualities. straight, stringy hair. She just hadn't looked "with it!)

First lesson: the foundation. Everything's built on a foundation. If this is your first year of college, you're counting on the "foundation" of knowledge you built in high school. Well, looking your loveliest requires a steady foundation, too. And if you want to get off to the right start, start right here in the beauty salon! With swift, sure steps we'll put your head on the path to popularity.

Personally yours . . . that's your permanent wave! A good PROFESSIONAL wave that gives your tresses just enough soft, natural curl to lie smoothly in the lines you like. This kind of wave is every bit as "basic" to beauty as first-year Latin is to other languages. It "permanents in" the hairstyle we shaped with our snippers. It promises blessings ahead . . . and it's just beautiful! Beautifully kind to young budgets, too.
