ENTERS JAIL CELL — Harold G. Bloom, 30, of Detroit is shown as he entered the Oakland County Jail. Standing behind him is Det. Harry Maur. Bloom, whose wife gave birth to their first child Tuesday, was held for terrorizing a Dearborn Township couple yesterday. He previously served a term in Jackson Prison for attempted armed robbery in 1951.

Ex-Convict Nabbed Here for Abduction, Torture

Arrested yesterday in Commerce Township, a 30-year-old ex-convict from Detroit today was being held for investigation of assault with intent to commit murder after allegedly holding a man and his wife hostage for almost eight hours.

Oakland County sheriff's deputies have turned Harold G. Bloom of 12039 Hubbell, Detroit, over to Wayne County sheriff's detectives.

MRS. BARNES

GEORGE F. BARNES

Bloom was arrested when he stopped at a gas station at Haggerty road and Pontiac Trail at about 2 p.m. and the attendant called Oakland deputies.

Taken to Pontiac General Hospital were George F. Barnes, 48, and his wife, Eva, 45, of 7017 Mayburn St.

Barnes suffered a stab wound of the chest and his wife had facial burns. Both were in satisfactory condition.

The strange story began unfolding as Det. Sgt. Leo Hazen and Det. Harry Maur talked to the couple and their alleged attacker late Friday.

Mrs. Barnes, who is a fellow employe of Bloom at Gar Wood Industries, Detroit, said Bloom came to their home at about 6:45 a.m.

"He was carrying a green paper bag in one hand," she told Hazen. "My husband answered the door. Bloom came in and suddenly he threw ammonia in my face," Hazen quoted the woman as saying.

The distraught housewife, near collapse, continued, "When I could open my eyes the first thing I saw was George on the floor with a spear in his chest."

The spear was from a spear gun of the type used by underwater divers. Bloom had carried it in the green bag.

"He threw the ammonia in my face, shot this spear at my husband and then tied us both up," she sobbed.

Bloom denied any intent to harm them.

"I came to pick her up and take her to work," he said. "I brought the gun to show it to her husband. We walked into the kitchen talking."

Then Bloom said he looked at Barnes and said, "I have something to show you."

Hazen explained, "He said he raised the gun and it went off accidentally. He said the woman got hysterical and started screaming."

Bloom said he too was scared and mixed up and grabbed the bottle of ammonia standing on a table and "threw it in her face to quiet her down."

However, Bloom admitted tying

Youth Hangs Self in Jail Cell

Bloomfield Boy Says He Attempted Theft to Help Sick Father

A 17-year-old youth who told police he resorted to theft "because my father has cancer" last night hung himself from his cell in the Birmingham city jail.

Moxley said the boy fled when the station attendant caught him trying to force open the box in the rest room. Detective Douglas Marble apprehended Bielby a block from the scene and took him to the police department and jail in the Municipal Building at Pierce and Martin streets.

Marble told Moxley, "I asked him why he had to steal. The boy told me, 'I need money very badly.' When I asked him why a young fellow like him needed money so badly, he told me, 'My father is in the hospital with cancer.'"

Marble locked the boy in the cellblock, a large room with one cell in the middle, at 6:30 p.m.

When he returned to the cell to check on Bielby at 8:10 p.m., Marble said, he found the boy hanging from the bars running across the top of the cell. Marble said the youth had tied his shirt around his neck and the top bar.

Lt. Robert Schanley, head of the Birmingham police juvenile division, said he had known Bielby from a few minor scrapes, but that "he was a pretty good kid."

The boy was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Bielby.

Practical answers to scores of just such realistic questions are supplied by a famous educator-writer and his wife, Dr. Benjamin Fine and Lillian Fine, in a series starting Tuesday in The Pontiac Press.

Another series, also starting Tuesday, tells of someone who considers himself a diplomat.

'Never Killed Anyone,' Knight Keeps Saying

By HERB LEVITT

EAST LANSING (UPI)—"I never killed anyone," said Alvin W. Knight who is being questioned in the disappearance of State Police Trooper, Albert W. Souden.

Knight, an ex-convict and former mental patient, was locked for the night in the East Lansing jail after undergoing 13½ hours of questioning by State Police detectives.

He spoke in a plaintive voice, trying to be sincere and convincing, and told the same story he had repeated to his questioners.

"I feel sorry for the trooper, too," he said. "After all, I'm not inhuman. I had a wife, too. She divorced me while I was in prison."

★ ★ ★

"Have you ever killed anybody?" I asked him.

LOOKED AT TRACKS

"When did you meet the trooper," I continued.

"I talked to the trooper Thursday when he came to my house and questioned me about a Cadillac car owned by Carl Wollner, my stepfather.

"He was interested in the car, not me. When I told him the car belonged to Wollner he lost interest.

"We drove to a place about a mile and a quarter from my house in Argentine and looked at some tire tracks.

"Then the trooper offered to drive me home. But I refused because I like to walk and get the fresh air. I went home, made a couple of telephone calls and then went up north to Oscoda.

"One call was to an aunt, but I don't want to bring her into it."

After walking home, Knight said, he got the Cadillac and drove to the post office in Linden. On the return trip, he said, he picked up a hitchhiker.

BOUGHT IT FOR $10

"How did you get the trooper's revolver?" I asked Knight while talking face to face with him through the outside window of his cell.

"I know it sounds fantastic, but the hitchhiker sold it to me for $10," was his answer.

"Why did you buy the gun when you already had been up on several concealed weapons charges?

Count 8 Troopers Slain Enforcing Law in State

LANSING (UPI)—Eight state troopers have been slain while enforcing the law in Michigan.

The last trooper to die at the hands of a gunman was Dugald A. Pellot, 23, Tecumseh, who was shot and killed Sept. 30, 1957, at the onset of a two-state running gunfight with a pair of ex-convicts.

The other gunman, Victor Wayne Whitley, 26, Granger, Tex., was captured near North Vernon, Ind.

The Chase started near Clinton when Trooper Douglas A. Vogel stopped a car for speeding. Taylor, driving a station wagon, pulled up behind Vogel's squad car and wounded Vogel as he was opening the trunk of the car he stopped.

Pellot, on fatigue duty at the Clinton Post, joined in the chase and was killed when he approached the station wagon on a rural road near Adrian.

KIDNAPED FARMER

Two other State Troopers were gunshot victims on Nov. 19, 1956, when they went to the home of a retired mailmen near Clio to answer a domestic trouble call.

They were killed by blasts from a deer rifle as they approached the house.

Other troopers slain in the past were George Branny who was shot by a drunk man near East Lansing on April 12, 1950; Richard Hammond who was kidnaped and killed near Monroe on Jan. 19, 1937; John S. Burke, slain by bank bandits near Battle Creek on Oct. 13, 1930; Samuel Mapes, shot by a rum-runner near Sturgis on May 1, 1927, and Harold E. Anderson, also killed by a rum-runner at Novi on March 12, 1921.

Rush Crime Lab Expert to Scene of Discovery

Clue Discovered Near Spot Squad Car Was Recovered Yesterday

A state crime laboratory expert this afternoon was being rushed to a bridge spattered by what appears to be blood stains near the spot in Deerfield Township where the squad car of missing Trooper Albert Souden was found abandoned yesterday.

The bridge is located in Cohoctah Township over the Shiawassee River. Dr. Edgar Kivela, of the state health department crime laboratory, was summoned to examine the stains.

Skin divers were ordered into the river to find some clues leading to the body or whereabouts of the state police trooper feared slain by a crazed gunman.

Soudén has been missing two days.

Dozens upon dozens of fatigue-clad state troopers at dawn began the second day of slogging and clawing their way through a bramble-entangled marshy countryside in search of their fellow officer.

Chances of finding 29-year-old Souden alive "are diminishing by the hour" as one of the most intensive police hunts in recent history pressed on in the sparsely settled Deerfield Township—Argentine area in Livingston County.

That is where, on White road near Lovejoy road, the trooper's squad car was found abandoned in the beanfield of a deserted farm.

Souden's papers and a wallet also were discovered in a swamp a quarter of a mile away.

The trooper was reported missing Thursday after he set out to question a former mental patient and ex-convict in connection with a burglary in Milford.

Alvin W. Knight, 48, of 8547 Silver Lake Rd., Linden, was seen leaving his home with the officer

2 Drown in Lake; Boy Safe

Two men drowned and the son of one of the victims swam to safety last night when their fishing boat capsized on Holdridge Lake in Holly Township.

The terrified 12-year-old youngster spent the night huddled in the rear seat of his father's car, parked in the secluded area.

Dead are Harold Funnell, 49, of 1202 Markham St., and Philip E. Young, 40, of 217 Edwards Pl., both of Flint.

The men were fishing in the small lake from a 12-foot fiberglass boat with Funnell's son, Kenneth, at about 7:30 p.m.

Oakland County sheriff's deputies earlier had believed the boy had fallen overboard and the two men drowned attempting to save him.

Sgt. Donald Kratt, in charge of the Sheriff's Dept. Water Patrol, learned from the survivor that Young had leaned over the side of the boat causing it to capsize.

All three grabbed the boat and hung on for about five or 10 minutes, the boy told Kratt. Then the men slipped off and sank. "The boy was the only one wearing a life preserver and this no doubt is what saved his life," Kratt said.

The cold, shivering youth made it to shore and broke a car window. He shed his wet clothing and remained huddled in the rear seat until a fisherman, Everette Gilliam, of 217 College St., Holly, found him about 5:30 a.m.

Frightened and trembling Kenneth told deputies, "I didn't know to do. There wasn't anybody around. I was all alone."

Deputy Medward Tessier, department skin diver, recovered the bodies at about 8 a.m. in water 15 feet deep, about 100 yards from shore.

Blood Stains Found on Bridge in Search

Thursday. A flying squad of troopers on a tip burst into a Cedar Lake cabin yesterday morning and arrested Knight 175 miles from his home.

In Knight's possession was found Souden's service revolver, a blood stained shovel and $10 bill.

Knight was taken to State Police Headquarters in Lansing where more than 18 hours of intensive questioning failed to extract a confession from the suspected kidnap-murderer.

'MILE LONG' RECORD

The man, "with a record of viciousness a mile long and considered extremely dangerous," maintains that Souden released him Thursday after questioning him.

He said he bought the trooper's pistol from a hitch-hiker.

Knight's mother was rushed to Lansing from Lima, Ohio, where he had been confined to a mental institution, in an effort to "get at the truth." Knight refused to take a lie detector test at 2 a.m. today.

District State Police Commander Burton Yungfer said Knight's sullen silence has his interrogators confounded.

"We were praying he would tell us where the trooper is," said Yungfer. "We can't understand why he doesn't break. We had hoped Souden was only tied up or handcuffed to a tree. Now, frankly, we are looking for a body."

Police reasoned that Knight's mental depravity and former long terms of confinement provide him with the so-called strength to withdraw within himself.

★ ★ ★

State Police Commissioner Joseph Childs leads the force on a concerted step-by-step scrutiny of the wild terrain from the scene of the abandoned squad car to Knight's home six miles away.

Childs tentatively theorized that Knight had an accomplice.

"Look at this wilderness," he gestured with a frustrated sweep of his arm. "There could very well be two men involved in this.

"We think he drove down this dirt road, threw the trooper's wallet and papers out the window, continued up the bean field and ditched the car. Somewhere on the way up here he must have gotten rid of Souden.

★ ★ ★

"But how did he get back to his own car to get up to Cedar Lake? He knows the country well, but I doubt that he walked all the way back to his home. Someone could have followed him."

Souden, the father of a 7-month-old son, lived with his wife, Clara, 23, in Brighton. They had been married only two years.

The search began for the trooper at 11 p.m. Wednesday when Mrs. Souden phoned the Brighton Post and asked why her husband had not come home yet.

"He was real smart," said Sistek. "I can't understand how he was outsmarted. I don't know how anybody could have gotten the best of him."

A desk sergeant at the Brighton Post explained that Souden probably had not contacted his headquarters by car radio because of the distance and poor atmospheric conditions. There are many areas where our radios aren't effective, he said.

Knight was feared by his neighbors and other members of the community.

A tavern keeper, Richard Merrit, said he had once asked Knight to leave when he became unruly.

"He said I charged him too much for a bottle of pop," said Merrit, "and got real mean. Another time he barked at me and asked me why I was staring at him."

Mrs. Merrit said Knight was self conscious about being an ex-convict.

"He used to think everyone was staring at him and thinking about him being in jail," she said. "Once he wanted to take our dog up north to his cabin. He was so scary and got nasty when I told him no. I was afraid to death of him."

★ ★ ★

Knight has been in and out of Ohio and Michigan jails since he was 18 years old. He has been convicted and served sentences for housebreaking, armed robbery, carrying concealed weapons and intent to kill.

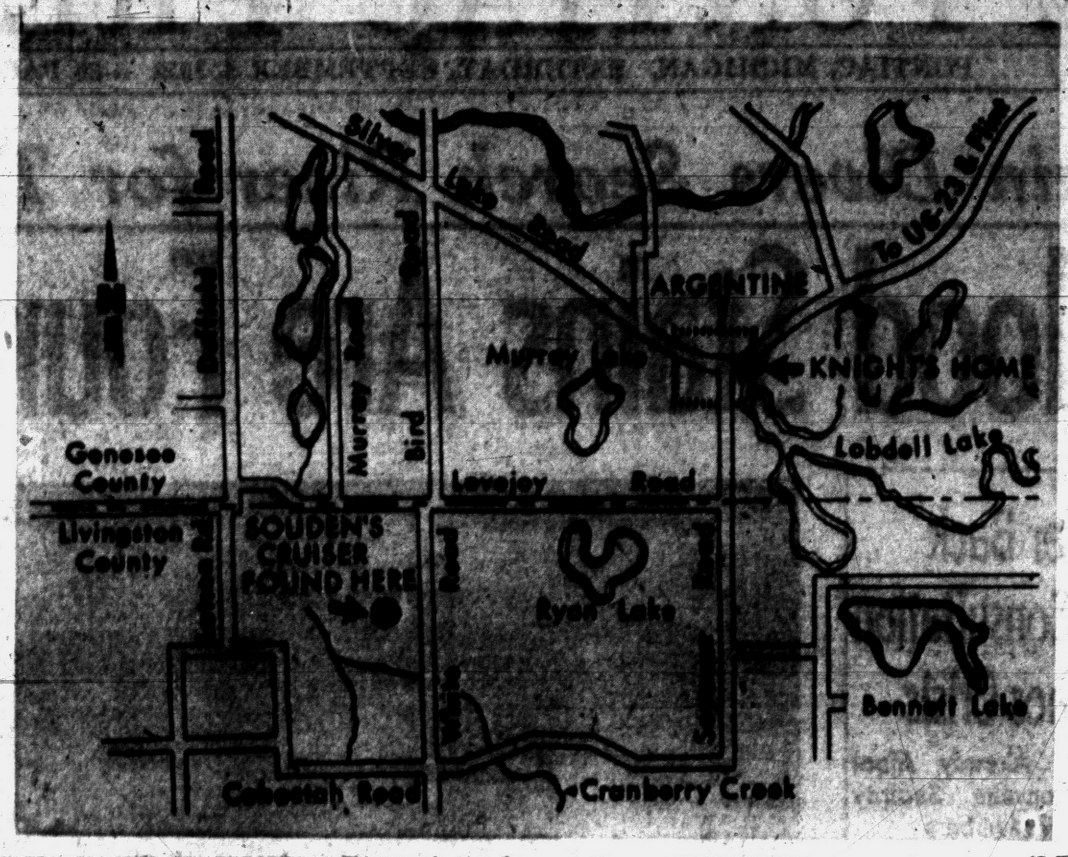

Body of Crewman Found in Lake Huron

PORT HURON (UPI) — The nude body of a missing tugboat crewman from Buffalo, N.Y., was recovered from Lower Lake Huron today by coastguardsmen.

The body was identified as that of Frederick Ferguson, 36, who disappeared early Wednesday from the Great Lakes Dock and Dredge Co., tug, Lydon, which was towing a scow. Another crewman from the Lydon identified the body.

Coroner Arthur Smith said a preliminary check indicated Ferguson had drowned but the body was sent to University Hospital at Ann Arbor for an autopsy.

WHERE TROOPER DISAPPEARED — This map locates the Argentine area where State Trooper Albert W. Souden disappeared Thursday. The home of ex-convict Alvin W. Knight, where Souden was last seen, is in Argentine. Souden's cruiser was found in a field 2½ miles southwest of Argentine.

MSUO to Hold Open Houses

Public Invited to See New Buildings Every Sunday This Month

Michigan State University Oakland will open the doors of its new buildings every Sunday this month for a series of informal open houses from 1 to 5 p.m. for the public.

There will be guides, floor plans of the buildings and short descriptive material giving background and aims of the university and information about faculty members.

The $2,000,000 classroom buildings and the administration-laboratory structure are completed. The $7,000 self-liquidating student center is nearing completion and is scheduled to be finished when classes begin Sept. 21.

After school is under way, more formal open houses are planned for the public and for organizations.

Sunny, Balmy Weekend Seen for Nation

By The Associated Press

Fair skies and pleasant weather predominated over most of the nation today and indications were bright for a continuance through the Labor Day holiday.

Temperatures from the Central Plains to the eastern Dakotas and Minnesota mainly were in the 70s, compared to the 50s and 60s of Friday morning.

The warm, humid weather continued in Texas with temperatures mostly in the mid 70s. At midnight temperature readings were mostly in the 50s and low 60s in the Great Lakes area and New England. West of the Rockies,

'Never Killed Anyone,' Knight Keeps on Saying

Didn't you realize the trouble you could get into?"

"You didn't need another gun, anyway," I said. "You already had three others in your car."

Once again he answered, "I know it could have gotten me into trouble but it was a good buy."

Asked to describe the hitchhiker, he said he couldn't.

Knight, who is 5 feet 10 and with the lithe build of a football halfback, also told State Police detectives that a trooper came to his house Thursday asking for Wollner.

He said he told the officer that he drove the Cadillac occasionally and said he volunteered to go with the trooper to look at some tire tracks found at the scene of a burglary near Argentine.

The missing Souden had told fellow troopers at the Brighton State Police Post that he was going to investigate a burglary of Numatics, Inc., near Milford, where $75 was stolen from a desk Wednesday night. Knight was sought for questioning in that burglary.

Knight said he rode in the back seat of the State Police car because the rider's side of the front seat was crowded with papers and other articles.

Asked for more details about times and places, Knight was evasive.

His answers were, "I don't remember," or, "I can't remember." State Police questioners said he parried their questions in the same fashion.

One questioner said of him:

"He is well aware of his rights. He's prison wise and has had experience under these conditions."

Asked if he knew where the trooper was, Knight told me:

"I have no personal knowledge of his whereabouts. I never saw him after he left me."

Knight couched his answers in police and legal vernacular. It was the voice of the guardhouse lawyer, the man who has been in trouble before and thinks he knows the answers.

He was restless in his cell, saying he was unable to sleep because firemen whose quarters are upstairs over the cell were moving about.

When answering questions, Knight was erratic. At times he seemed eager to give an account, then he would suddenly "forget."

Finally, he had no more to tell. We said, "Good night."

Death Rate in Traffic 'Alarming'

From Our News Wires

The nation's traffic death toll for the three-day Labor Day holiday mounted Saturday, and the National Safety Council said it was running "alarmingly" ahead of last year.

Ohio and Texas led the states in traffic death with six each. California and Virginia had five, and Illinois, New York and Pennsylvania reported four each.

A National Safety Council spokesman said the cure for the rising traffic death toll is "care, caution and common sense."

"We urge everyone to take these in liberal doses," the spokesman said.

This would be an increase of 90 over the "normal" three-day non-holiday period of 360.

But the council said the carnage could be cut if drivers would be careful, law-abiding and sober.

The safety council issued a special warning to swimmers expected to jam beaches in search of relief from the late-summer heat.

The Georgia highway patrol put a camouflage repaint job on its patrol cars in an effort to catch unwary lawbreakers.

Chicago police planned to keep the red flasher lights atop patrol cars blinking throughout the weekend as a reminder to motorists.

To Probe Hoffa Bank Deposit

Monitor to Confer With Orlando President Over Tieup of Union Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chief court-appointed monitor over the Teamsters Union says he will confer over the Labor Day weekend with officials of the Florida National Bank of Orlando in an effort to find out what is blocking return of a $400,000 bank deposit to a Detroit Teamsters local.

Martin F. O'Donoghue said yesterday he had scheduled the conferences to learn about the money which belongs to Teamster President James R. Hoffa's home local 299 in Detroit.

The bank has had the Detroit local's money on deposit for several years on a noninterest-bearing basis. The monitors have directed Hoffa to withdraw the money so it can draw interest for the local's members.

Officials of the Orlando bank have said the money was put up as collateral for loans, still outstanding, for development of a real estate project, Sun Valley Inc.

Hoffa once held an option to buy into the corporation. There has been Senate Rackets Committee testimony that Teamsters members were at one time urged to buy lots in the project.

Hoffa has said that technicalities have prevented him from carrying out monitor orders to withdraw the money and put it into an interest-bearing account in some other bank.

He has transferred another $125,000 account in an Indianapolis, Ind., bank to an interest-bearing basis in Detroit.

On Capitol Hill, the Senate Rackets Committee pictures gangster influence both in the restaurant industry and in the restaurant employes union in Chicago as appalling.

In a report, the committe also said its investigation of the overall and linen supply business in Detroit showed "another example of gangster infiltration into business enterprises."

The findings represent part of a new chapter of the committee's report to be filed later in the Senate on the 1958 rackets hearings. A copy was made available to a reporter.

The committee, headed by Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark), is winding up its third year of investigations of wrongdoing in the labor-management field. The inquiry provided much of the impetus for the just-passed labor bill now awaiting President Eisenhower's signature.

Ex-Convict Held in Abduction

Mrs. Barnes to a bedpost in the couple's bedroom and then tying her husband's hands and feet in the living room, Hazen said.

"From what we can piece together he gave her ice cubes for burned lips, water when she wanted it, and even made coffee for them and himself," Hazen said.

The Barneses said Bloom kept telling them he would take them to a doctor but never did. He got them into their car, their feet still bound, and started driving at about 11 a.m. on the premise that he was going to a doctor, according to the couple.

When Bloom pulled into Gene's Service Station, at the Commerce Township intersection, some three hours later and stepped out of the car, Barnes snatched the car keys from the ignition and shouted to the station attendant to call police.

Deputy Roland Pless said Bloom tried to jump from his patrol car on Pontiac Trail and then attempted to slash his wrists with a pocket knife on Orchard Lake road while being taken to the jail.

Five Children Found Dead

Tragedy Seems to Be From Gas Poisoning; Mother Critical

TOWNSEND, Wis. (AP)—Five children, ranging in ages from 1 to 10 years, were found dead and their mother in a critical condition Friday night in their one-room cottage in this northeastern Wisconsin community. They apparently died from gas poisoning.

Mrs. Gloria Rovge, 32, Milwaukee, the mother of the children, was in critical condition at a Laeng hospital.

The bodies were found Friday night when Mrs. Kenneth Posselt of Townsend and a babysitter, Sandy Sackett, called at the Rovge cottage on McClauslin Brook, seven miles northwest of here in Oconto County. Mrs. Posselt, a family friend, was to drive Mrs. Rovge to Townsend to join her husband, John, 44, who was driving up from Milwaukee to spend the week end with his family.

Mrs. Posselt told authorities that when they arrived at the cottage the lights were out and the doors were locked. She said she shined a flashlight through the window and saw the bodies on the floor.

Girl to End Long Ride at Park

FLINT (AP)—Joyce Mason says she could continue her marathon two-month ferris wheel ride at a Flint amusement park for another month.

But the Lapeer girl will end the ride Monday when the amusement park closes for the season.

Joyce got on the ferris wheel July 7. She was to remain on it until either the Detroit Tigers got into first place in the American League or until the park closed. The Tigers never made it.

The girl, a student at Flint Junior College, ate, slept and spent all her time in the ferris wheel seat except for brief trips to the washroom.

Two in Hospital After Separate Accidents Friday

The injured men are Spencer J. Prince, 50, of 1305 Hickory Ridge Rd., Milford Township, and Donald F. Wiscombe, 21, of 609 Peacock St.

Prince was driving a motorcycle on Baldwin avenue just north of Owens street when he collided with an auto driven by Ed L. Brown, 48, of 59 Garner St., according to Pontiac Police.

Thrown from the motorcycle, he suffered head and neck injuries. Brown wasn't injured, police said.

At Turnberry Scotland, White House press secretary James C. Hagerty announced Eisenhower "is keeping in close touch with the situation in Laos and it is a matter of concern to him."

In Washington high American officials today sifted new evidence of possible Communist aggression against Laos which eventually could send U.S. troops to the defense of the strategic Southeast Asian kingdom.

Before taking any steps which might plunge the United States into another Korea-type conflict, State and Defense Department authorities wanted more specific proof that outside Red forces had entered the war in northern Laos.

Indications were that the United States would press for a quick, on-the-spot fact-finding investigation by a United Nations mission to assess Laotian claims that forces from Red North Viet Nam have entered what previously was a civil war.

PROTESTS APPEAL

Communist North Viet Nam meanwhile "strongly protested" against Laos' decision to appeal for U. N. military intervention against the Red rebels now entrenching in the Southeast Asian kingdom along the North Viet Nam border.

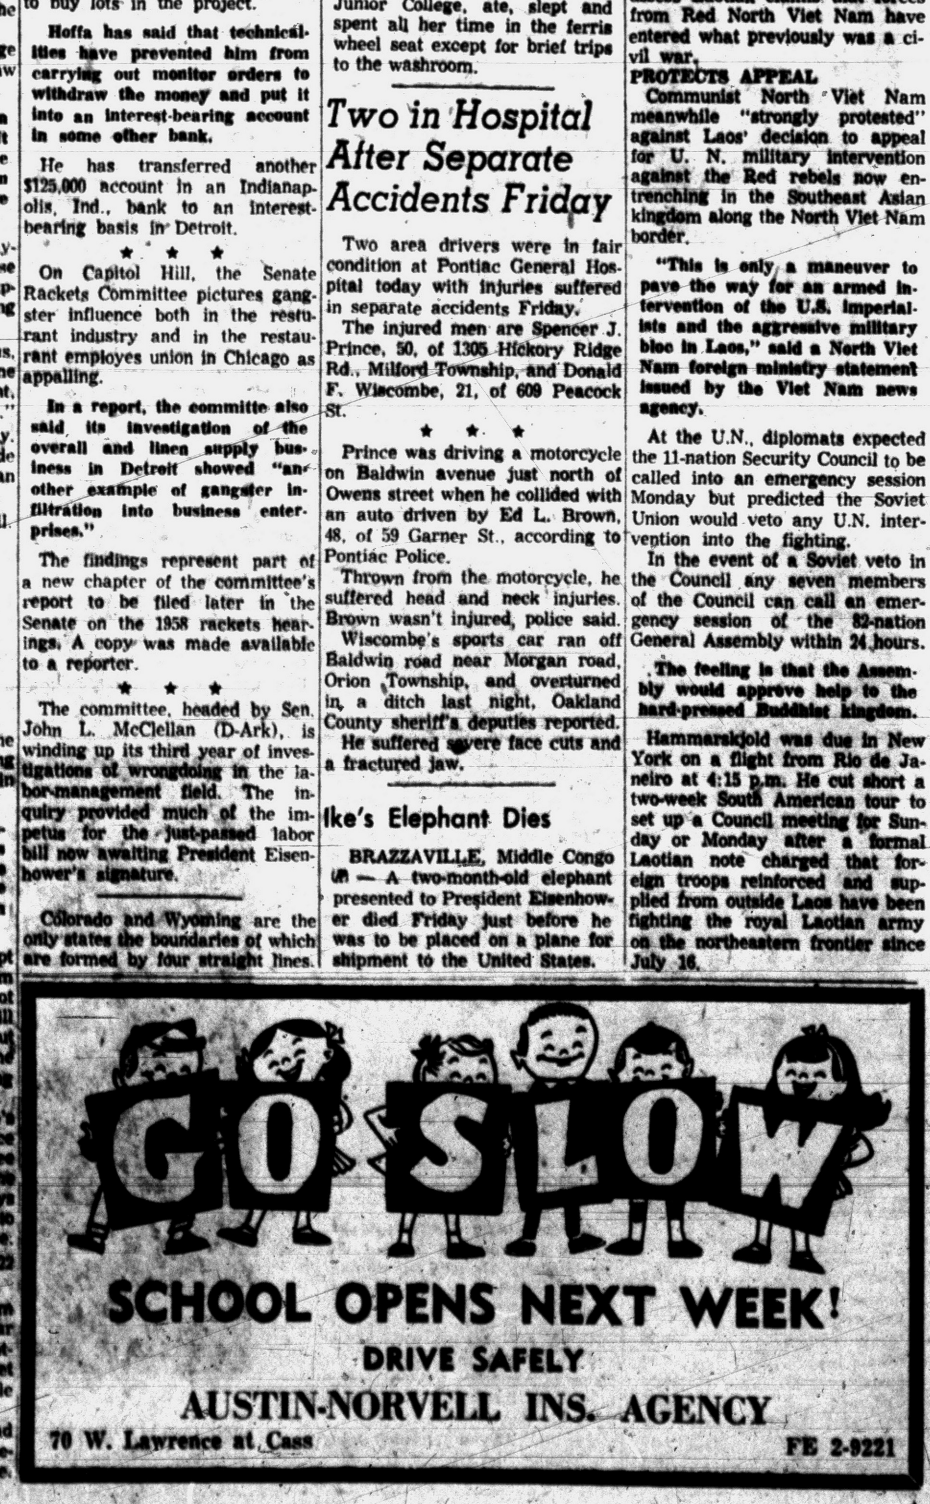

"This is only a maneuver to pave the way for an armed intervention of the U.S. imperialists and the aggressive military bloc in Laos," said a North Viet Nam foreign ministry statement issued by the Viet Nam news agency.

At the U.N., diplomats expected the 11-nation Security Council to be called into an emergency session Monday but predicted the Soviet Union would veto any U.N. intervention into the fighting.

In the event of a Soviet veto in the Council any seven members of the Council can call an emergency session of the 82-nation General Assembly within 24 hours.

The feeling is that the Assembly would approve help to the hard-pressed Buddhist kingdom.

Hammarskjold was due in New York on a flight from Rio de Janeiro at 4:15 p.m. He cut short a two-week South American tour to set up a Council meeting for Sunday or Monday after a formal Laotian note charged that foreign troops reinforced and supplied from outside Laos have been fighting the royal Laotian army on the northeastern frontier since July 16.

Paralytic Polio Up 12 Per Cent

Brings Score to 1959 Weekly High of 319, Against 285

WASHINGTON (AP) — The number of new paralytic polio cases increased by 12 per cent last week to a 1959 weekly high of 319. The revised total for the previous week is 285 cases.

The total was the highest for the comparable week since 1955, the year Salk vaccine was introduced, the Public Health Service said.

A year ago in the comparable week there were 126 paralytic cases, compared with 1,054 last year. In 1955 there had been 4,982 paralytic cases by this time of the year.

Illinois accounted for much of the increase in the east north-central group of states with 35 cases, 23 paralytic.

Georgia reported an inrease in the South Atlantic division, with 15 paralytic cases. In the east south-central states, Alabama and Tennessee both had increases, with 22 and 35 paralytic cases respectively.

Four states reported polio deaths. Indiana listed four, South Carolina two and Florida and Illinois one each.

Painter Falls Into Car From 5 Stories Up

NEW YORK (AP) — A painter fell five stories from a scaffold Friday and landed in a moving car occupied by two priests and a woman.

The painter, Jack Hubner, 25, Bayonne, N.J., had been working on the Equitable Building in the financial district. His condition was described as critical.

He came through the rear window of the car.

The driver of the car, Rev. Daniel Sullivan, assistant pastor of St. Theresa's church, Briarcliff Manor, N.Y., escaped injury. Minor cuts were suffered by his passengers, Rev. Timothy O'Sullivan, a visitor from Australia, and father O'Sullivan's aunt, Kate O'Leary, 60, the Bronx.

Jet Service Brings Japan 12 Hours Closer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—You are nearly 12 hours closer to Japan today.

A Pan American Airways transcontinental Clipper, starting jet service across the Pacific, was expected to land in Tokyo 15 flight hours after leaving San Francisco International Airport this morning.

With a two-hour layover in Honolulu, total elapsed time would be 17 hours.

Previously, the schedule for the fastest piston powered planes called for 23½ hours in the air and elapsed time of 28 hours, 50 minutes.

The Boeing 707-321 being used on the Pacific route, somewhat larger than the 707-121 making the Atlantic run, will carry 125 passengers at 575 miles per hour.

House Unit to Probe TV Quiz Programs

WASHINGTON (AP)—A House group is going to probe into televions quiz programs next month.

The Legislative Oversight subcommittee plans hearings the week of Oct. 6 to try to determine whether any of the shows were rigged.

The TV hearing date is contingent upon the subcommittee obtaining by that time a transcript of a New York grand jury investigation of quiz shows. This investigation came after a number of TV programs went off the air following allegations that answers had been provided to some contestants.

DC8 Jet Helps to Mark KLM Anniversary

LONDON (AP)—A Douglas DC8 jet airliner en route to Holland arrived here from Los Angeles today, covering the 5,830 miles from Los Angeles in 10 hours 42 minutes at an average speed of 625 m.p.h.

It was scheduled to fly nonstop to Amsterdam in a flight commemorating the 40th anniversary of Royal Dutch Airlines (KLM) but came down in London for refueling.

KLM will be the first European airline to receive the new jetliners, which can carry 150 passengers. The airline has ordered 12 for delivery next year.

So Could Their Families and Blood Pressure

Nation's Lawmakers Could Stand Schedule Change

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON—This is the weekend when congressional moppets come trooping back to Washington and catch mama kissing a strange man in the parlor.

The man, of course, is their lawmaking daddy, but since they haven't seen him since June, and those late-night capitol sessions have taken the paunch from his tummy and added it to the circles under his eyes, he's a bit of a fright.

The kiddies should take a good look at daddy while they can. One of these fine weekends before long Congress will actually adjourn, and he'll be off to the grassroots for the rest of the year, while they pore over their readers in Washington.

It's a crazy way to run a railroad, as any congressional wife can feelingly tell you. In the good old days almost beyond recall, being a member of the House or Senate was a glorious part-time job.

The happy chaps came trooping into town shortly after New Year's Day and had themselves a bit of a ball until late spring, when—money bills passed and a few operations made on the national economy—they went home again to resume their scarcely neglected law practices and railroad interests.

This, however, is the missile age, and it's about time legislators learned a few facts that their mothers didn't teach them.

America is supposed to have three co-equal branches of government, but only the hine young men of the Supreme Court seem to have the sense they were born with, when it comes to conserving energy and approaching national problems in relaxed mood.

You may not agree with some of the Supreme Court decisions, but at least they weren't made in the middle of a steamy August night after dozens of marathon 12-hour haggling sessions.

The "Angry Young Men" of Britain have nothing on our lawmakers when it comes to the mood in which they finally pass some of the most crucial legislation of our times.

Supreme Court wives can move their families to Washington with good heart. Children are enrolled in schools for regular terms, and a normal family life is available. The papas begin their deliberations on the first Monday in October and sit until late June. By that time, school is out for the kiddies and away they can all go to the beaches or mountains until fall classes resume. That's what you call organization.

But pity the poor congressional families! Daddy blows into Washington with a New Year's hangover, just like in olden times, but if mama cares anything about the welfare of their offspring, she has been living in Washington since school started the September before.

Everything goes along swimmingly until June. The head of the family rushes around to a few schools and colleges to deliver inspiring commencement addresses about how "the future belongs to our youth."

Then mama unhappily packs up the children's swim suits and playtime paraphernalia, kisses her lawmaker good-bye, and is off for the summer. Every year, members of the House and Senate make a solemn pledge to recess by Aug. 1, so that they can join the family for a month of play. Invariably they renege. It just isn't possible to handle the overpowering problems of the jet age in a single seven-months session.

Washington is a broiling inferno in summer, and the entire nation would profit from the deliberative process if legislators recessed by July 1—when passage of all money bills is due—and came back again in September.

The fall session, operating under less pressure, could allow long weekends for campaigning during election years, and an incumbent's record should be made in the Legislature, anyway, instead of on the stump.

Because Congress thus far has refused to adapt itself to changing times, the President of the United States, his White House staff, cabinet officials and the heads of independent agencies are also denied the luxury of a summer respite. Otherwise, they would no sooner arrive in Novosibirsk or Tahiti than an irascible congressional committee might summon them back for one more investigation of their budget.

It's a sad state of affairs, and if the last few years shed any light on the present, we can safely predict that at least a half-dozen senators and congressmen will suffer heart attacks or mild strokes within the next few weeks. A few may die from the pressure.

The killing pace is tough on lawmakers—and on the welfare of the nation.

Row Stirs on Capitol Hill Over Book by SAC Chief

WASHINGTON (AP)—A banned book is getting considerable attention on Capitol Hill. It is called "Design for Survival," and was written by Gen. Thomas S. Power, head of the Strategic Air Command.

"Contrary to reports," said Rep. John E. Moss (D-Calif), "the book does not advocate preventive war."

Moss, as chairman of the House Government Information subcommittee, demanded an explanation from Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy of why the Pentagon prevented the book's publication.

McElroy has said only that it was inappropriate for a major commander on active duty to write a book about his current area of command.

Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo) Thursday placed a portion of the manuscript in the Congressional Record.

Symington, a frequent critic of the Pentagon, said the ban "would seem to be a deliberate effort to keep the truth from the people about matters which vitally affect their security."

Power's preface to the book said he wrote it at the risk of being called a sabre rattler and warmonger.

At one point the book said an enemy striking today "would find us ready to strike back but ill-prepared to ward off his blow."

Moss told a reporter "I've read the book with extreme care, and what the general does is discuss a number of alternatives, including a policy of pre-emptive warfare and the circumstances under which it might be necessary."

Moss said Power defined preemptive war as a situation in which this country, as a last resort, might launch the initial attack when intelligence reports give absolute proof that an enemy attack is imminent and certain.

He said he interpreted Power's argument as meaning "we should not adopt a policy which would irrevocably commit us against such a course of action when we have information that a Pearl Harbor is about to be repeated."

LABOR DAY

J. L. VOORHEES

Workers will assemble Sept. 7th, like soldiers, march to martial music, back of their flag, heads up and pride in their step. These men and women are the backbone of America, their hearts, heads and hands fashion the things we treasure, on parade not as an army of might but men dedicated to an ideal — a stronger, healthier America.

M. E. SIPLE

These men and women are neighbors, drive cars with the same abandon or careful observance of laws as the rest of us. there sons wear the same uniforms, earn the same recognition, climb the same ladder to success as any other child — they are the warp and woof of our society, and we're proud of them.

Applaud them as they pass in review.

Optimistic Look of the Future Brings Big Smile From County

★ ★ ★

With the schools opening and vacations drawing to a close, we face that long, straight and exciting run to Christmas. It's a wonderful time and Pontiac can look ahead with faith and confidence. The steel strike casts a shadow across the horizon, but if this can be obviated, residents of the area should anticipate a busy and active period.

Pontiac Motor Division is now producing the 1960 cars that will be offered October 1st. The 1959 model resulted in a sensational and runaway increase over 1958 and the entire community benefited and profited mightily.

The local division built 383,320 cars as against 217,303 of the 1958 line. This is a stupendous 76.4 advance which is absolutely startling. Very few big organizations have ever witnessed such a forward step. The division deserves the highest praise. It required a tremendous product in the first place and then a high order of coordinated effort all along the line.

Pontiac was aptly termed "the car of the year" and it richly deserves the title. The automobile was absolutely sensational and this decision rested with the buying public. Local enthusiasm couldn't contribute appreciably. It had to be a national verdict.

The new Pontiacs are another fine step forward and there's every reason to believe the nation's acceptance will go even further. The front has been altered appreciably to give it an added dash and verve that should find quick popular acclaim.

The riding qualities of the 1959 car with this new, wide track won great admiration everywhere. I have said many times that the 1959 Pontiac is the smoothest, finest riding automobile on the road, irrespective of price, class, name or previous reputation.

★ ★ ★

The Truck Plant is moving forward splendidly and the new GMC models are the greatest trucks built. This organization underwent a major operation in truck production and in the words of PHILIP J. MONAGHAN, "We will build a truck as a truck would like to be built." This version isn't just an adaptation of a passenger car made over into the hauling business.

It's a new deal.

It's a revolutionary step forward. And public acceptance has been gratifying. The purchase of a truck is purely a business transaction. When it comes to a passenger car, "Ma" may like the upholstery in car "Zed" and this can be influential in a final decision. But that isn't true of a truck. These babies must produce —or else . . . . . .

In the meantime, Fisher Body has gone forward with its modernization plan that includes the entire plant. This work is progressing steadily and will result in a completely up-to-date operation in every respect. Also, more work is heading Fisher's way here. Baldwin Rubber reports things are moving forward. Hence, the general outlook ahead of this area is promising and rosy. Total employment in the area should be better than it has been for a couple years.

★ ★ ★

Oakland County can be a happy place. There's just one major cloud in the sky: the steel situation. Prolonged trouble there could close all the plants in town and all over the nation. But I refuse to believe the Congress, the President and the United States will allow that to happen.

★ ★ ★

And in Conclusion . . . .

The following is described as the week's worst pun: A Scotsman was hired to make kilts for a tribe of head hunters, whereupon he referred to himself as the "Shrinking Man's Kilter." . . . . . "FBI" stands for Federal Bureau of Investigation but in a current film, J. EDGAR HOOVER explains it also means: Fidelity, Bravery and Integrity." . . . . . At a recent golf tournament, BOB SHAVE had 69-69-68-69 and finished in a tie for 11th place . . . . . BOB FLYNN writes and asks me what "peripatetic" means and since he didn't include his address, I'll answer here. According to the dictionary it's "walking about, moving from place to place; rambling. . . . . ."O.K.?

A Miami segregationist demanded "The Three Little Pigs" be banned from the library as the black pig beats the mean old wolf instead of a white pig. To what lengths can tottering mentalities go? . . . . . Forum Magazine says three million Americans live in trailers . . . . . Already one of the largest cities in the world in area, Los Angeles has a plan to extend its city limits 200 miles. That's almost from here to Mackinaw — or from here to Benton Harbor. A hundred cities would be embraced . . . . . Once G.M. was the largest defense contractor in the world. It's the biggest corporation and so what's wrong with that? Anyway, it's 17th today. Is the Pentagon "mad" at GM? That isn't much solace for the Michigan men out of jobs . . . . . Not many people know it, but Irving Steinman was born in Russia.

Golf pros tell me the greatest golf prospect since BOBBY JONES is a 13-year-old San Deigo boy named MICKEY REILLY . . . . . Some Chicago doctors are charging a patient $2 for a phone call. A few admit privately they're totaling $200 a month. When I was in London last week, I read that London doctors are very unhappy over social medicine and are demanding a "whopping raise." . . . . . That record August rainfall has closed doors, windows and drawers that were never stuck before . . . . . In his Pan American victory, HAYES JONES was inches behind CALHOUN over the last hurdle, but caught him in the dash to the tape.

"PERMISSION to buy all the clothes she wants may cure nervousness in a wife," says a psychiatrist. And it may cause her husband to have compound jitters and perhaps running fits.

The POWER of FAITH

by Howard Brodie

The power of faith in healing has been recognized by the Texas Medical Center in Houston through its establishment of an Institute of Religion. There ministerial students are trained to become part of a health team, including the physician, psychiatrist, minister . . .

As chaplain interns, they learn to work with people of all denominations and walks of life. They make no attempt to cram doctrine down a patient's throat. They gain practical preparation for the many situations they will face in their future pastorates. Their faith is reinforced with knowledge and experience, and the understanding of what the medical specialist is trying to accomplish.

Not only ministerial students and ministers attend the Institute, but medical students, nurses and doctors who learn the importance of faith to well being, the role of the pastor on a healing team, and the resources the church has to offer to aid them in their practice. A former president of the American Medical Association, Elmer Hess, M. D., tells me:

"Sometimes what we need most in the sickroom is not the medicine that we prescribe. It is the faith and hope that we can instill in our patients. I don't care whether you are a Catholic, a Protestant or a Jew, just as long as you believe in a Power greater than all the instruments of science at your command."

Churches Offer Labor Message

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

Because Monday is Labor Day, Sunday is designated by the National Council of Churches as Labor Sunday. Each year a Labor Sunday message is produced by the Council's Department of Church and Economic Life to be read in all the member churches at services.

★ ★ ★

Writing a Labor Sunday message this year is ticklish business, with the nation caught in the grip of a steel strike at the very time of writing and with Senate investigations occupying the headlines for many months preceding. The subject is a delicate one.

But this year's message is thoroughly realistic. It does not sidestep the scandals that have shocked the country, nor does it take sides or attempt to judge.

It says frankly that church people should be concerned about the corruption that exists among some leaders of labor. But it also points out that this concern is also shared by many leaders and members of organized labor, and it further calls attention to the fact that not all the corruption is on the side of labor. Management, too, has been caught in some pretty shady deals.

The message does not scold anyone. It simply makes clear that in the midst of all the charges, countercharges and name-calling, the Christian will keep a "balanced rather than a prejudicial or partial view of the problems."

The general tone of the message is therefore a positive, not a controversial one. It affirms the Council's belief that free collective bargaining is necessary for economic freedom in an orderly society. The one alternative is restriction, or even dictation, by government.

It states further that without organized workers there cannot be any collective bargaining. It then goes on to hold in focus not labor's shortcomings but the high level of responsibility it has generally shown.

Dr. William Brady's Mailbag:

Advice on Cod Liver Oil Proves No Fish Story

Your advice on the use of cod liver oil is no fish story. Let me tell you about the wonderful . . ." (Miss M. A.)

DR. BRADY

Answer — Thank you, ma'am, but I'm afraid the terms you use would cause much misunderstanding. I advise pure cod liver oil, not less than two tablespoonfuls (one fluid ounce) daily the year around, except in extremely warm weather, for rheumatiz, not for "arthritis."

★ ★ ★

"We want to thank you for all the good advice in the 7 Keys — my husband and I both feel so much better since we revised our model health diet." (Mrs. N. E. S.)

Answer — The diet as outlined in The 7 Keys to Vite (35 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope) is a basic health diet, a reduction diet, a corrective protective diet, a regeneration diet. It is a pattern on which to build your own everyday diet to suit your individual requirements.

"I have had two broken arms and a broken ankle, and a friend has had four different fractures in 10 years. Are some people's bones more fragile . . .?" (Mrs. M. B., age 45)

Answer — Yes, the bones of persons who are deficient in calcium are more fragile. The bones are the storehouse of calcium and they steadily lose calcium if the everyday diet is poor in calcium. The ordinary diet of most Americans is notoriously poor in calcium.

"Your advice for migraine headache has given me great relief after 20 years of suffering." (Mrs. C. O. B.)

Answer — Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for my pamphlet Why Have Headache?

"Before I read Dr. Read's book, all I knew about childbirth was that it involved great pain. Thanks to Dr. Read (and you for your recommendation of the book), the pain was minimal, and the birth of the baby was the most satisfying experience of my life." (Mrs. K. E.)

Answer — It is astonishing, but a good many young women fear childbirth because they believe all the yarns retailed by the fishwives and haven't the gumption to get Grantly Dick Read's book "Childbirth Without Fear" from the public library or bookstore, or to send me 35 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope for the blue book "Preparing for Maternity." The expectant mother and her husband should study everything together—and be together when the supreme moment comes.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Neurotics Waste Pastor's Time

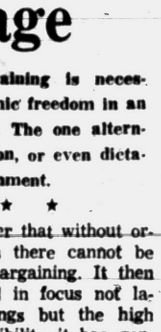

Dr. Sneed is a dynamo of religious zeal, who also appreciates the need for scientific counselling. So study this case carefully. Write out your problem, for that forces you to face it consciously. You can then probably solve it by yourself. Most parishioners want to evade their problems and impose on a clergyman for hours while he tries to find what they fear to face.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

★ ★ ★

When he invited me to Los Angeles to deliver the Sunday evening address at the Centennial of his famous church, he also suggested I talk to the Monday clergymen's meeting.

DR. CRANE

"We'd like to have you discuss pastoral counselling," Dr. Sneed suggested.

"It is becoming a tremendous function of the church, but clergymen can easily get swamped by parishioners with all sorts of petty problems."

So I stayed over till Monday for the 150 clergymen. And I'll digest some of my remarks because they are of crucial importance to all pastors, as well as parishioners.

CHURCH COUNSELING

Every clergyman must be available for personal interviews by all his parishioners, as well as outsiders, too.

★ ★ ★

For that is inherent in the nature of his calling. People feel they can call on a clergyman for aid at all times.

But many neurotic parishioners will swamp a clergyman by their excessive demands upon his time.

Indeed, the modern busy clergyman already needs to be twins just to handle his calls on the sick and needy, as well as on the newcomers to his parish, as well as his public speaking obligations on Sunday, plus talks at luncheon clubs, women's societies, funerals, weddings, etc.

So pastoral counseling simply overloads him with a terrific demand on his time, since you can't get down to brass tacks inside of an hour in the usual personal interview.

THEORIES OF COUNSELING

My office consultations average 4 hours apiece! For I don't use the method of having patients return for 15-minute interviews for a year or two.

★ ★ ★

But pastoral counseling can be cut down possibly 90 per cent just by stating that you clerics are happy to see anybody with a serious problem, but you insist that the parishioners write out their dilemma in full detail and send it to you in advance.

Most people haven't problems serious enough to make them overcome their laziness about writing. So this weeds out maybe 90 per cent.

In that 90 per cent are a lot of worried folks who feel blue today but will be on top of the world tomorrow, either after a good laxative, or an overdue letter from Junior, or their delayed check.

Wouldn't it be inefficient to let such transient worriers monopolize a busy clergyman for an hour apiece, when they'll bounce back from their moodiness by tomorrow, even without his expert counsel?

Besides, an adviser can glance through a detailed written report and in five minutes pick out the salient points, thereby saving him 55 extra minutes waiting for the parishioners to ramble around.

Group counseling can also be conducted by having clinics wherein patients are taught some simple psychiatric facts whereby they can solve their own problems.

"Fear Parties" thus are very effective with adults, as well as school kids. And have adults scrapbook this daily newspaper column on clinical psychology and psychiatry.

And use the "League of the Golden Pen," where each person writes an unsolicited letter of praise or sympathy.

Use all such projects to eliminate a lot of personal interviews. Save your clergy for the acute cases.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 6c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Possibility of Downtown Tragedy Moves Readers

The Pontiac Press has carried news, editorial and Voice of the People coverage on the possibility of a tragedy similar to the one in Oregon.

★ ★ ★

For some time we've been aware of the local problem of transporting such items as highly flammable liquids through our downtown section. The Oregon tragedy came at a time when all of us are more than usually concerned with Downtown Pontiac.

★ ★ ★

We've been in contact with New York City experts and are currently collecting data from other communities to compile a proper report. We're considering the possibility of securing both local and State legislation to regulate transportation of dangerous commodities in and around metropolitan areas.

★ ★ ★

One possible area of regulation concerns activities within a designated fire district. The other concerns use of by-passes wherever they may exist around metropolitan areas.

★ ★ ★

We're endeavoring to make our community safer for working and living. Your cooperation is greatly appreciated.

Readers Condemn Khrushchev Visit

It's unfortunate the national press didn't see fit to report Senator Dodd's (D-Conn) condemnation of Eisenhower's position on the Khrushchev invitation.

★ ★ ★

The report documents Khrushchev's rise to power in 1938 when he directed the murder of 400,000 Ukrainian men, women and children in one year. In one small city alone he murdered 12,000 people three months after he came into power. This particular purge is fully documented with pictures. His total is over five million Ukrainians.

★ ★ ★

He also tricked Hungarian General Maleter and Premier Nagy and murdered them. In the face of this we're supposed to welcome him and his followers. We wouldn't have welcomed Hitler. We don't have to entertain Khrushchev even if requested to do so by government officials, and we shouldn't. It's a violation of all decency to even give him recognition.

★ ★ ★

Our President has no business consorting with thieves and murderers as our representative. I hope Christian people, at least, will do what they can to prevent entrance of this malignant, evil man into our country.

J. A. Hubbard

Anyone crazy enough to believe Khrushchev's visit to the U. S. will cause a thaw in the cold war shouldn't be in office. Khrushchev is coming because he has run out of issues on which he can discredit our country and he needs a fresh supply.

★ ★ ★

Questions Stories of Chinese Student

I just can't understand the Chinese student who hid in the Ann Arbor church. This sounds like a schoolboy hoax to me. If the stories were all true that you printed, it is a little hard to believe this young man is physically none the worse for his experience. If the public is being sold a bill of goods, like the story of the Hart girl from New Jersey, something should be done about it.

'Are X-Ways Safe for Us to Travel?'

The Detroit expressways are simply a mess. During some rush hours you can save time by avoiding using them. Now this flooding comes up and I wonder if they're safe to use. It looks like someone goofed. California does not have floods on theirs and they have had the X-ways for years. Are we taxpayers stuck with a second rate job?

NEW SCHOOL SERIES
Tells Parents How To Get Best Education for Their Child

Every conscientious parent and every public spirited citizen will want to read every word of this series starting Tuesday, September 8, in The Pontiac Press.

It is a condensation of the new book, "How to Get the Best Education for Your Child," by the eminent educator, Dr. Benjamin Fine and his wife, Lillian Fine, also a trained educator.

Unlike other books you may have read in this field, Dr. Fine's comes to grips with ordinary, every day problems that beset any parent intent on seeing that his child gets the best possible instruction under increasingly difficult conditions of overcrowding, teacher shortages and conflicting theories.

What should you do if your child can't get along with his teacher? Should you or your son decide on what college he attends? When is a parent justified in complaining to the principal?

The material offered in this series has won acclaim throughout the country. Has become the subject of conversation and discussion everywhere it has been available to parents and teachers. You will miss out on a lot of good information, conversation, and helpful ideas, if you skip any of the installments.

Begin reading "How to Get the Best Education for Your Child" in Tuesday, September 8th's Pontiac Press.

45 Years After Conception

Largest Church in Nation to Be Formally Dedicated

WASHINGTON (AP) — The world's seventh largest church, designed to become a shrine for Catholic pilgrims for every part of the country, will be formally dedicated here Nov. 20, more than 45 years after the project was first conceived.

The church is the National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception. It is the largest Catholic church in the United States.

Dedication ceremonies will be conducted during the annual meeting of Catholic bishops of the United States, with Francis Cardinal Spellman, archbishop of New York, presiding.

Rising about two miles north of the nation's capitol, the huge structure has been under construction for 38 years.

Its architecture is described as a combination of modern, Romanesque and Byzantine.

Built at a cost of nearly 30 million dollars, the church is surpassed in size square feet only by St. Peter's Basilica, in Rome; the Cathedral of St. John the Divine Episcopal, New York; Cathedral of the Nativity of Mary, Milan, Italy; Christ Cathedral, Liverpool, England; Cathedral of Mary of the Chair, Seville, Spain, and St. Peter's Cathedral, Cologne, Germany.

★ ★ ★

The idea of building a great shrine dedicated to the Virgin Mary was conceived by the late Bishop Shahan in 1914 on the eve of World War I. Sixty years earlier, in 1846, the Catholic groups of the United States had chosen Mary as the patron saint of this country's Catholics.

It was not until 1920, however, that the task of financing and building the shrine was begun.

★ ★ ★

The work was slow. Between 1921 and 1926, a crypt church was built in the lower foundations at a cost of nearly two million dollars. In the next five years the crypt was extended to include a magnificent lobby, memorial hall, a chapel to Our Lady of Lourdes, and a Celtic Chapel where Bishop Shahan was buried in 1932. The chapel now bears his name.

★ ★ ★

Lack of funds prevented further major construction from 1931 to 1954, but a nationwide fund-raising drive brought in about 15 million dollars and progress was then resumed with a goal of completing the upper part of the shrine in 1959.

★ ★ ★

A major feature of the church is a million-dollar bell tower financed by the Knights of Columbus. When completed, it will rise to a height of 329 feet.

The church is located on the campus of Catholic university.

The shrine is 459 feet long and 240 feet wide, topped by a 239-foot dome. It is built without any structural steel. Only stone, brick, tile and concrete were used.

★ ★ ★

The church will seat 3,000 persons and can accommodate seats for a mazimum of 6,000.

Methodist Editor to Give Sermon

Dr. John E. Marvin to Discuss Dilemmas and Directives

Guest speaker, Dr. John E. Marvin, will deliver a sermon on "Dilemmas or Directives" at the Sunday morning worship service of the First Methodist Church.

The editor of the Michigan Christian Advocate, Adrian, was born in the Methodist parsonage at Laurium and spent his childhood in the Copper country. He entered Advocate work as associate editor in 1936 and three years later was elected editor.

In 1948 Dr. Marvin served as a representative of the Methodist Press attending the organizational Assembly of the World Council of Churches at Amsterdam, Holland, after which he made a press tour of the American Zone in Germany.

During the evangelistic phase of the Crusade for Christ of the Methodist Church he wrote and edited a manual for pastors and leaders of Methodism and was selected one of 40 national speakers sponsored by the Methodist Board of Lay Activities.

In addition to his week-day speaking engagements and his editorial work, Dr. Marvin attends many of the board meetings of the general church as a member of the Methodist Press.

Church Council Looks at Labor

Its Holiday Message Discusses Obligation to Movement

NEW YORK — The 1959 Labor Sunday Message of the National Council of Churches stresses the importance of collective bargaining "in an orderly society," and calls upon labor and management "to consider and respect the rights of the vast majority of our people" who do not take part in collective bargaining.

The Message reminds the churches of their obligation to develop a deeper concern for labor's needs and functioning. It will be read in thousands of Protestant churches Sunday.

"It is right and fitting that the churches recognize and stress the vital place of free labor movement in, and its contribution to, our society through the institution of collective bargaining," the Message states. The 1,000-word statement is issued through the Department of the Church and Economic Life of the National Council. It is the 42nd annual statement issued on Labor Sunday.

Organized labor and management are both commended in the message for sharing the "credit for the high place which collective bargaining . . . holds today among our democratic institutions."

The Message calls on labor and management to recognize the fact that, "since free collective bargaining is one of the established features of the American economy, the continuance of responsible action" on their part "is an absolute necessity."

(The first interchurch, nationwide observance of Labor Sunday was held in 1910. The message was instituted seven years later as part of the observance. Now sponsored by the 33-denomination National Council of Churches, it is one of the oldest continuing church observances in the cooperative, interchurch movement.)

Plan Choir Gathering

Macedonia Baptist Church will be the scene Sunday for the city wide Choir Union gathering. The event, open to the public, will be held in the new building at the corner of Pearsall and Motor streets, according to the Rev. L. R. Miner, pastor.

Crescent Baptist Church Presents Bibles to Boys

Bibles were presented to four sons of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Main at the Crescent Baptist Church this week as awards for one year faithful attendance.

Norman Schmuck, Sunday school superintendent made the presentation to Charles, Stephen and Kenneth Main on the basis of both church and Sunday school attendance.

★ ★ ★

"The Invitation of Christ" is the topic Rev. Benjamin A. Bohn has chosen for his sermon this Sunday. He will be assisted in the service by Rachel Schettling as youth leader and Mr. and Mrs. Kent Perry, church greeters. The Lord's Table will be observed following the sermon at the 10 a.m. service.

★ ★ ★

The September meeting of the Men's Fellowship is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. in the parsonage at which time color slides of the Upper Penninsula will be shown by Carl Meng.

The number of illegitimate births in this country rose from an estimated 89,500 in 1940 to almost 202,000 in 1957, the last year tabluated.

Undergo Week of Training

Jehovah's Witnesses in North Pontiac Enjoy Minister's Visit

During the semi-annual visit of the circuit supervising minister, Edwin W. Kriefall, the Pontiac North Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, is having a week of special training and activity.

★ ★ ★

"The congregation is enjoying a week of increased activity and spiritual benefit from Mr. Kriefall's visit," according to William P. Strong, presiding minister. He says the visit is a part of an advanced training program in teaching, provided for Jehovah's Witnesses. The program includes Bible discussion with people of all faiths in the community.

This evening's program begins at 8 with a discussion regarding the activity of the congregation in teaching. A discourse by Mr. Kriefall giving counsel on improving one's personal ministry concludes the session.

Highlighting this week will be his public address, "Walking Wisely in a Wicked World" at 3 p.m. Sunday. A congregation Bible study on the subject "Exert Yourselves Vigorously as God's Workman" and final remarks by Mr. Kriefall will close the week's events. All meetings will be at Kingdom Hall, 4400 Walton Blvd.

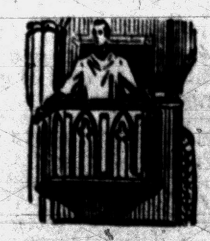

During his month's stay in Pontiac, the supervising minister will serve all four congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses.

State Fair Sets Service Speaker

Says Lutheran Pastor Will Lead Worship at Sunrise

One of the Nation's leading clergymen, Dr. Reuben K. Youngdahl, pastor of Mount Olive Lutheran Church of Minneapolis, will be the speaker for the ninth annual Sunrise Service to be held at 8 a.m. Sunday, at the Michigan State Fair.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Youngdahl, brother of Federal Judge Luther Youngdahl of the District of Columbia, heads one of the largest congregations in the world. During 20 years, he has seen Mount Olivet grow to nearly 10,000 members who worship in four Sunday morning services.

★ ★ ★

For the past eight years the Sunrise Service has been sponsored by the State Fair in cooperation with the Detroit Council of Churches. It has attracted approximately 10,000 early morning worshippers each year.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Youngdahl has received many honors. In 1945, he was named outstanding young man of Minneapolis by the Junior Chamber of Commerce; in 1949, he was chosen one of the one-hundred living great of the State of Minnesota; and in 1950 his church was voted one of the 12 great churches of America in the Christian Century Magazine.

★ ★ ★

Author of seven books, the pastor has traveled around the world several times.

St. Andrews Church Plans to Incorporate

Decision has been made by the congregation of St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, Drayton Plains, to incorporate as an Ecclesiastical Corporation and apply for Union as a Parish with the Diocese of Michigan.

★ ★ ★

Five former Chapel Wardens and the present Warden were elected as Incorporators at the meeting this week of the church, a parochial Mission of All Saints' Episcopal Church. Serving as incorporators will be H. R. Richardson, R. Lloyd Walker, George D. Elliott, Carl H. Methner, all of Drayton Plains, W. E. Whitmer of Clarkston and J. D. Boardman of Pontiac.

★ ★ ★

A unanimous vote was received to authorize these Incorporators to serve formal notices of intention to incorporate, with Bishop Emrich and with the Rev. C. G. Widdifield, Rector of the sponsoring Parish, and when formal approvals had been secured, to proceed with the Incorporation as an Ecclesiastical Corporation of the State of Michigan. After Incorporation a "First Parish Meeting" will be called at which a vestry will be elected.

★ ★ ★

The vestry in turn will have authority to name a Rector and to receive from All Saints' Parish the more than $100,000.00 worth of land, building and equipment now being held in trust for St. Andrew's by All Saints Vestry.

★ ★ ★

All canonical steps having been complied with and evidence being accepted that the new parish is and will be self-supporting and will be able to maintain its proper financial support of the diocese and general church, the new parish will be formally received into union with the diocese at the Feb. 3 convention at the Masonic Temple, Detroit.

The Mission was begun July 1, 1951, meeting in the Community Activities Building under leadership of the late Rev. Dr. Bert F. A. Ede. The Rev. Waldo R. Hunt, present vicar, has served since 1951.

Plan to Define Role of Religion in School

★ ★ ★

The NCC's Committee on Religion and Public Education has approved a provisional document declaring schools should reflect a fundamental faith in God but should not formally teach any concept of God.

★ ★ ★

Doctrinal teachings are the responsibility of the church and home, says the document, while development of ethical conduct is the duty of church, home and school.

COMMON RELIGIOUS ERRORS NOT ENDORSED BY THE BIBLE

Last week I suggested that sprinkling and pouring WAS NOT the one baptism of the New Testament. I endeavored to prove this by the question method, indicating that no Bible passage could be cited to verify that fact. In this article I want to examine from three points of view this doctrine of Sprinkling and Pouring: I. A Bible Example. II. Bible Statements. III. Scholars. This should be sufficient for anyone wanting to know the truth.

A BIBLE EXAMPLE
Phillip and Eunuch. "They went down into the water", "He baptized him" "And when they were come out of the water" Acts 8: 38, 39.

BIBLE STATEMENTS
"BURIED with him by baptism" Rom. 6:4; BURIED with him by baptism Col. 2:12; "Wherein also ye ARE RISEN with him. Col. 2:12. Could any honest-minded individual conclude that this was sprinkling or pouring?

SCHOLARS
"It is evident that the term baptize means to immerse and that this was the form USED BY THE ANCIENT CHURCH" (John Calvin).
"They are buried with him . . ." alluding to the ANCIENT MANNER OF BAPTIZING BY IMMERSION" (John Wesley).
"ALLUDING TO THE IMMERSION practiced in the case of adults wherein the person to be buried under the water as Christ was buried in the heart of the earth (Adam Clark).
"There is not a respectable scholar in the world that does not admit baptism is IMMERSION and was SO PRACTICED IN APOSTOLIC TIMES (D. Lipscomb).

Having examined a Bible example, Bible statements, and quoted from the scholar of the world, we have found sprinkling and pouring to be WANTING. What man is there who is sincerely interested in going to heaven, in being saved, in pleasing God, in obeying Christ, in abiding by the Bible, that will reject all this evidence and accept Sprinkling and Pouring? NONE IN VIEW OF ALL THIS EVIDENCE. Has anyone who has received sprinkling or pouring received New Testament Baptism, the one baptism of Eph. 4:5? The Bible nowhere states that sprinkling and pouring is New Testament baptism. Would you accept it? Would you trust it? I WOULD NOT, for we should OBEY GOD rather than man. Acts 5:29.

BELIEVETH THOU THIS?

His Plan Is in Bad Taste at Wedding

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: I am going to be married soon and have engaged a photographer to take pictures at the church and the wedding reception of the bridal party. The guests will be seated at small tables of ten and the photographer suggested going around and taking pictures of each individual table so that the guests (if they wish) may order a picture of their own table to keep as a souvenir.

"I have never heard of this at a wedding and it sounds too commercial to me, but he says that he has done this at many weddings and the guests are always eager to have pictures. Will you please tell me if this would be in good taste. I would appreciate hearing from you on this matter."

Answer: I agree with you that having the photographer go around and take pictures of the individual tables and then taking orders for them, sounds very commercial and is certainly not in good taste at a wedding.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My husband has just been transferred to another state and we would like to see all our friends before leaving to say good-bye. "Would an 'Open House' be proper, or have you any other suggestion. If proper, how would the invitations be worded and also what should be served? We will be leaving in about a month."

Answer: I suggest that for your invitations you write on your visiting cards, "Tuesday, Sept. 8 from 5 until 8 o'clock. Our Good-bye Party." Serve little cakes and sandwiches and perhaps cheese and crackers. You should also have tea, or coffee and perhaps a punch.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My husband died two years ago and I have recently started going out with men friends. I am still wearing my wedding ring but have been told that I should remove it as it is improper for a widow to continue wearing her wedding ring when she has started to go out with other men. Will you please advise me?"

Answer: A widow properly continues to wear her wedding ring until she dies, or marries again.

Learn Make-Up While Young

A teenager who learns the magic of subtle make-up is way ahead of the game. Applying lipstick properly is important and the best way is with a lipstick brush.

This takes practice but is worth learning. Just be certain to balance and steady your hand and arm for accurate strokes. Work? for a clean-cut outline.

Make Repairs Now

If you put your fall clothes away without looking them over last spring, now's your chance to make amends. You've still time to make minor repairs and get them to the dry cleaners.

Dear Abby Feels:

Your Dad May Walk Up Aisle OK If You Trust Him to Stay Sober

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am planning a church wedding. I am afraid to have my father walk me down the aisle because he is a constant drinker and I don't think he could make it.

ABBY

He lives at home but hardly anybody speaks to him. I know a bride should have her father give her away, but I don't want to take the chance of having him show up drunk and spoiling my wedding. How do I handle this problem?

BRIDE-TO-BE

DEAR BRIDE: Alcoholism is a sickness. Your father is sick and his family is certainly not helping him by refusing to speak to him. Perhaps if you told him that you'd be the happiest bride in the world if you could walk proudly down the aisle on his arm, he'd have an incentive to stay sober. Give him that chance—even if you have to have a favorite uncle or cousin standing in readiness as an alternate should your father disappoint you. You'll be doubly blessed for offering to honor your father in God's house.

DEAR ABBY: My husband got a promotion which means we have to move to upper New York State. I am very unhappy about it because I heard from a woman who once lived there that they are a very fast crowd.

She said the neighbors used to throw wild parties. One of their favorite games was for all the men to toss their house keys into a hat. They'd pass the hat and each man would pick out a house key. He would go to spend the night at whichever house he had the key for. My husband says this is ridiculous, but my friend doesn't lie. Whom should I believe?

MOVING NORTH

DEAR MOVING: Believe your husband. People who are interested in "games" like this one, wouldn't take a chance on getting their own wives.

DEAR ABBY: I am only 22 years old and my husband is 24. Last night he took a radio to bed with him to listen to the baseball game.

We have been married only 10 months. I am afraid my marriage is falling apart: Can you tell me what to do?

AFRAID

DEAR AFRAID: Be glad your "competition" is nine men instead of one woman. Many happily married men like baseball. It doesn't mean your marriage is "falling apart" Don't whine, nag or act hurt. Just stay right in there and pitch.

★ ★ ★

CONFIDENTIAL TO MRS. S.S.: Your friend is wrong. It can happen any time.

★ ★ ★

What's your problem? For a personal reply, write to ABBY, in care of this paper. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Time for Inventory

Personal Checklist for Fall

BY JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

1. I have recently mentioned giving your hands and hair some special attention to remedy summer damage. This also goes for the complexion. Treat it to some special lubrication and care. Try one of the hormone creams to help smooth out any little lines which may have appeared because of the drying effects of outdoor life and any squinting you may have done in the bright sunlight.

2. If you are anxious for your suntan to pale, try one of the bleaching creams or use diluted butter-milk. These are mildly bleaching or at least may speed the process.

3. Take time to decide whether or not you should change the shades of your make-up for fall. There is some range in what is becoming to any individual woman and often the colors which look best with summer garb fail to do the job with the deeper costume colors of winter.

4. Begin thinking over your fall and winter wardrobes. Make a list of what you have and one of what you will need in the way of new accessories and new outfits. Sometimes new accessories can make a suit or a dress seem new to you and to your friends.

DON'T WAIT

5. Don't wait too long before getting your clothes out of moth balls. That first zippy day will slip up on you before you know it.

6. If you have gained weight this summer get busy and lose it before you must wear your winter clothes.

If you would like to have my 9-Day Reducing Diet for a loss of 5 to 10 pounds in nine days, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for my 9-Day diet booklet to me in care of this newspaper.

If you have gained weight this summer, get busy and lose it before you must wear your winter clothes.

Men More Casual About Doing Favors

By RUTH MILLETT

On the whole, women are more inclined than men to keep a strict account of what they do for others and to expect payment in due time.

A woman says, "I've taken her children to the swimming pool any number of times and the only time she ever took my Joey, she had the nerve to ask me if I could pick the kids up after their swim. Can you imagine!"

A woman says, "I've had them over to dinner twice since they've had us — and I'm not going to have them again until we're invited to their house."

A woman says, "I haven't had news of Dorothy for a long time. But then she owes me a letter."

That's the way it goes in the feminine mind—judging from the comments women make about what they do for others and what others don't do in return.

But men are more openhearted about the things they do for friends. If they are in the mood to be helpful, if they have a generous impulse, or if they keep on doing favors for someone simply because "he's a nice guy," they take their satisfaction from the pleasure they get out of doing a good turn — and then promptly forget it.

If they ever do remember bygone favors that were never repaid, it's usually because their wives remind them.

"It burns me up," says the little woman, "after all the times you went to see Tom when he was in the hospital that he never dropped around once when you were sick."

"I guess I did go by to see Tom pretty often," says the man who had forgotten all about it until reminded by his loving spouse. "But what's that got to do with his finding time to get by to see me? Maybe he has been busy," the man says without rancor.

★ ★ ★

This is one way of saying that if in their friendships and social life, women were as unconcerned as men with keeping score on who does what for whom, they would be a whole lot happier.

Shoe Shine Habit

If you're lazy about polishing shoes at home, make a regular habit of dropping them off at the shoe repair shop to be shined. This should be part of your wardrobe upkeep routine.

To remove folds and creases from a plastic fabric, hang it evenly over an open door, advise clothing specialists. The weight of the plastic will help remove the wrinkles. Then smooth the fabric with the palm of your hand.

Future Bride Is Honored

Dee Brim, bride - elect of Roger Rummel was honored at a kitchen shower Thursday evening at the Waterford Township home of Mrs. B. E. Brim. Assisting her were Mrs. Harry Wood and Mrs. Thomas Kampe.

★ ★ ★

Diplomacy Can Be for the Girls

★ ★ ★

The State Department said at present there are 2,494 woman employed in its foreign service -mostly secretaries and other personnel who back up the actual diplomats. The number of petticoated envoys, however, is relatively few; 298, which is about 10 per cent of the total number envoys.

★ ★ ★

To get in the foreign service at any level, a girl must pass a stiff examination which requires a well-rounded education. But there is no discrimination other than in matters of assignment.

★ ★ ★

There are some "hardship posts" in faraway places where it is considered unlikely that a woman would be sent, said a department spokesman. But even here, the lines are being relaxed; there is now, for instance, a woman on the staff of the embassy in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia.

Salaries range from $5,225 to $20,000.

And although there is no differentiation because of sex in hiring, there is one regulation; if a female career officer marries within the service, she must submit to resignation "which may or may not be accepted."

Here's an outfit that will fit a million uses. Of all-wool flannel it features a full skirt with deep soft folds, a vest that molds the waistline and a jacket that's lined to match the floral print cotton blouse. Available locally.

No Excuse for Stains

Few persons have pearly white, straight teeth. However, there is little excuse for stained teeth which detract from your smile when talking to people.

Proper brushing of teeth, gum massage and regular visits to a dentist will keep your teeth clean.

Bird Studies Relate to Humans

★ ★ ★

As young birds become larger and less dependent on their parents, he reports, they become increasingly aggressive toward them. It seems to be part of the growing up process, Dr. Dilger said.

Annual Seniors' Golf Tournament September 8th

The seventh annual Teacher's Sectional Championship for the Michigan PGA Seniors' Sectional Championship will be played at the Lansing Country Club on September 8th, it was announced today by Joe Belfore, president of the section.

The winner will receive round-trip plane fare to Dunedin, Florida to play in the national PGA Seniors' Championship next January.

Reggie Myles, who won the title last year, is expected to defend it against a strong field of veterans that will include such former champions as 1957 winner, Al Watrous of Oakland Hills, and Jim Barfield, 1958 winner, of Grand Rapids.

Watrous went on to win the national PGA Seniors' at Dunedin in 1958 and later that year defeated Briton John Burton in the international match for the World Senior Professional honors.

The event scheduled for the Lansing Country Club is one of 33 such sectional championships in the U.S. for professionals over 50 years of age.

Bleach for Soil

Heavily soiled clothes require deep cleansing. For this reason a good chlorine - type bleach is best to use. Normally you wouldn't use this bleach with dark-colored clothes, but often it is necessary to remove grease and grime work clothes accumulate.

Waistline Trouble

We all have our figure problems. One seems to settle around the waistline. This is true if you have a short waist. If this is the case, be faithful to stretching and bending exercises to ward off that dumpy look.

Special Session Looms in Fall

House Rejects Interest Control Bill Demanded by President

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress, already buffeted by presidential vetoes, faced the added threat today of recall to a special fall session to meet President Eisenhower's demand for authority to control interest rates on government bonds.

★ ★ ★

The special session possibility assumed solid proporitons as result of Friday's House action denying Eisenhower's urgent request for repeal of the 4¼ per cent legal limit on long-term bond interest rates.

By a 378-7 vote, the House sent to the Senate a bill allowing the Treasury to boost interest payments on the government's popular denomination "E" and "H" bonds from 3¼ to 3¾ per cent.

While accepting the boost in savings bonds rates, the House defiantly turned down the main feature of the President's interest rate program, which would give him authority to disregard the present 4¼ per cent ceiling on all long-term government bonds maturing in five years or longer.

Hit Macmillan On Ike Visit

British Election Looms

42 ERB — BRITISH ELECTION

LONDON (AP) — Britain stood by today for word of a snap election within the next few weeks.

With President Eisenhower's visit already the center of political debate, Prime Minister Harold Macmillan was expected to fix a national poll for one of the five Thursdays in October. Most favored dates are the 8th or 15th.

Opposition Labor and Liberal party commentators and even pro-Conservative pundits joined in assailing Macmillan's handling of the Eisenhower visit to Britain.

Most Britons of all parties like Eisenhower and showed it. But political opponents and even some friendly newspapers have begun focussing attention on what they describe as plugs Macmillan gave himself and his government during his TV appearance with the President.

★ ★ ★

One ranking Laborite leader, Richard Crossman, charged in the Daily Mirror that the President's stay had been turned into a "crude and blatant pre-election publicity stunt."

Safety Course Results in 50 Pct. More Accidents

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — San Francisco public works employes reported 88 lost-time accidents in 1957-58.

Then they were given a 20-hour course in accident prevention.

So in fiscal 1958-59 they reported 127 accidents—about a 50 per cent increase.

Explained Director Reuben H. Owens: The safety course made employes so accident-conscious they reported mishaps they normally would have shrugged off.

Two Writers Going Around World by Jet

TOKYO (AP) — You can go around the world now by commercial jet planes, and two Japanese writers are going to do it and try to set a record.

As representatives of Asahi Shimbun, Japan's largest newspaper, they plan to leave Monday and be home Wednesday, with a flying time of 59½ hours.

Sub-Yacht Collision Now Called Hoax

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) —The Coast Guard has written off a radio report of a submarine-yacht collision as a hoax.

Prime Minister's Talk Heckled in South Africa

PIETERMARITZBURG, South Africa (UPI) — Demonstrators used tear gas, stink bombs, firecrackers and a water hose to break up a political rally last night where Prime Minister Hendrik F. Verwoerd was speaking on law and order.

At least one woman suffered tear gas burns and others got lesser knocks and bruises as fist fights broke out in the city hall auditorium and 300 non-participants fled the scene.

The outburst broke out immediately after Verwoerd, South Africa's foremost spokesman for white supremacy, began a speech in which he warned that his government would not permit "the disregard of law and flauting of authority" by local officials.

Dead of Crash Injuries

CASS CITY (AP) — David L. Gray, 16, of Decker died Friday of injuries he suffered Thursday when his motorbike and an auto collided nine miles south of here.

Vet Still Gets His $300 Per Month

Civil War Claim 'Legal'

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Critically ill Walter Williams will continue to draw his $300 a month state pension until it is legally proven he is not the last surviving Confederate veteran.

★ ★ ★

Gov. Price Daniel headed the list of state officials Friday who rejected a story earlier this week from Washington that the Houston centenarian is not a veteran of the Civil War.

All of the evidence available in state offices and Confederate records indicates that Walter Williams is the last surviving Confederate veteran.

"We shall respect and follow the records of the state and the confederacy rather than the archives of the federal government which have always been recognized as incomplete with respect to members of the Confederate armies," Daniel said.

★ ★ ★

The Washington story quoted an Ohio woman who said she had lived in Franklin, Tex., Williams' former home town, and many residents there thought that Williams had not been in the war. It also said census reports cast doubts on his being old enough to serve then.

The story was written by Scripps - Howard staff writer Lowell K. Bridwell.

Vick Lindley, managing editor of the Bryan Tex., Daily Eagle, said many persons in the Bryan area have believed that Williams in his later years confused himself with a brother who served with Gen. John B. Hood.

Rural Youth to Convene

U.S. Envoy Confers With Fidel Castro

The semiofficial paper Revolucion called the conference "long and cordial."

The meeting came in the wake of an announcement from Washington that Bonsal is being recalled for consultations. There have been official complaints that Bonsal had been able to see the Cuban leader only once, June 9, since the rebel regime took over in January.

Dies in Truck Collision

ASHLEY (AP) — Robert Morse, 16, of Ashley, was killed Friday when the car he was driving and a truck collided about half a mile west of here.

Crash Into Tree Fatal

HARBOR BEACH (AP) — John W. Boike, 23, of Detroit, was killed when the car he was riding in left a road in Harbor Beach today and struck two trees.

CHIMNEY and ROOF REPAIRS

The repair men who just happen to be in your neighborhood and to notice your chimney needs repairs; definitely needs to be fixed before you put your furnace on. Also he observes a few shingles need replacing or the gutters are clogged with leaves and the flashings need a little paint here and there. He even offers to guarantee the work. You get the impression the job is quite simple and the cost not so great—until you come to pay the bill. It may be anywhere from thirty to a hundred dollars and if the job doesn't hold up you can't find the "guarantor."

Cleaning the flues and putting your furnace in good condition for winter goes hand-in-hand with the "roofer" and "chimney expert." Sometimes he takes your furnace apart and discovers how much "repairs" it needs or even a new furnace is required. Why take chances like that? There are a number of local reputable firms dealing in "heating," "roofing," etc. Call a reliable firm and get an estimate.

Urges Ike, Nikita Discuss Internationalizing Berlin

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont) Friday called on President Eisenhower to explore with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev the internationalization of all Berlin, both East and West.

★ ★ ★

"If West Germans can replace other Western forces in Berlin and if Soviet troops are withdrawn from the city, at least the rudiments of an all-German administration of Berlin will exist," he said.

Mansfield is assistant Democratic leader of the Senate and an influential member of its Foreign Relations Committee.

He said the Soviets have been permitted for too long to keep negotiations centered on the status of West Berlin alone.

That, he said in a prepared Senate speech, "seems to reveal a temptation to buy the continuance of our presence in Berlin at the price of unilateral concessions."

Mansfield also called for a "blunt" conference among European nations "to delineate the extent of the erosion" within the NATO alliance and taken steps to revitalize NATO in the interest of Western unity.

He said recent revisions of American policy on Germany have deflected, for the present, "the headlong plunge towards open conflict in Berlin."

But he argued that nothing can be settled unless the United States seeks a new status for all Berlin.

★ ★ ★

"If we are clear on that point then I believe we may, with profit to all, assume the advocacy of internationalization of the entire city, on an interim basis, until it is once again the capital of a unified Germany," he said.

'Everybody Out' Given as Solution to Crime

NEW YORK (UPI)—Among the proposals readers sent to newspapers concerning this city's juvenile delinquency problem was this one, printed yesterday by the New York Daily News:

★ ★ ★

"My solution: Deport everybody from this crime-ridden city, and give the island back to us. (signed) An American Indian."

Paul's Body Found in St. Clair River

PORT HURON (AP) — Coast Guard searchers fould the body of 8-year-old Paul Ferriby floating in the St. Clair River three miles south of the Blue Water Bridge yesterday.

The boy disappeared from his Port Huron home last Tuesday. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Ferriby.

Police theorize he went to the river and either fell in or drowned while swimming.

Ike Is Pleased With Action on Labor Bill

TURNBERRY, Scotland (AP)—President Eisenhower is very pleased about congressional approval of the labor reform bill, White House press secretary James C. Hagerty said today.

He said the President, vacationing here after his diplomatic tour of Western Europe, is "very pleased by the action on the bill to protect the working men and women of the United States.

Hagerty added that Eisenhower had sent congratulatory messages to the sponsors of the measure.

The bill, passed by the House Friday, is designed to enforce democratic procedures and financial honesty in unions. It would also curb abuses of union power and would exclude from office for as long as five years persons convicted of certain crimes.

Negro District Hits White Building There

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—A Negro group protested a white man's plan to build a home in a Negro section of Jackson. The Negroes said the white man had three teenage daughters and "we do not want anything to happen which would cause any trouble."

The petition, signed Friday by 82 Negro residents, added that there were "a lot of young colored boys in this area."

But W. J. Garrett, 62, a storekeeper, went ahead with his plan. He charged that Negro storekeepers in the area were unhappy and behind the protest.

Southern State Auditor Still a Good Lawyer

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP)—It was a long time between cases but Henry L. Bridges—North Carolina's state auditor since 1947—showed Friday he hasn't lost his touch as a lawyer.

It was just as well for Bridges. His client, acquitted in City Court of a charge of failing to yield the right of way in a traffic case, happened to be Mrs. Bridges.

Dry Grass Fire Kills 5

SAUMUR, France (AP) — Five firemen perished in a fire that blazed across hundreds of acres of forest and scrub near here Friday. The fire started when a farmer started burning dry grass.

Persuade Her Not to Jump

Woman Threatens to Leap From Muskegon Tower for 4 Hours

MUSKEGON (AP) — A barefoot woman, wearing toreador pants and a blouse, threatened for four hours last night to jump from the Muskegon police radio tower as a crowd of 2,000 watched spellbound.

Finally, she yielded to pleas of her family physician and started climbing down the tower.

The 30-year-old woman appeared tired and in danger of falling from a rung 50 feet above the ground. Two police communications technicians accustomed to climbing the 225-foot tall tower and a fire captain then scaled the tower and brought her down rung by rung with a safety belt and rope.

Police Chief Fred E. Castenholz declined to give the name of the woman who was taken to a hospital to be treated for shock and exposure. He said she is the wife of a former police officer.

Police said the woman got to the tower by scaling a 6-foot wire fence that encircles it.

★ ★ ★

Castenholz declined to say what prompted the woman to climb the tower. Witnesses said she appeared agitated over domestic problems and kept calling for another woman to show up.

New York Police Get McQueen, Warn Him

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Now it can be told that New York police pursued and caught up with TV-and-movie star Steve McQueen—and let him go with a warning.

WILSON

"The gendarmes had been looking for me for three days," grinned the slim young adult delinquent, who's the newest member of the Frank Sinatra Rat Pack, when he squealed on himself here the other afternoon.

"I'd been throwing these big 2-inch firecrackers that sound like a small A-bomb out of our window at the St. Moritz," he said.

"He said 'Mr. McQueen, you wouldn't be shooting off any firecrackers, would you?'

McQUEEN

"I said, 'Who? Me!'—and he opens the door up wide and the smoke's coming out at him. He says 'You shoot off any more firecrackers and we're gonna put you in the pokey-boo!'"

And so that explains how the star of the "Wanted, Dead or Alive" TV show relaxes and vacations. The sandy-haired, gentle-voiced hell-raiser hadn't done any damage and as he recounted the adventure, sipping a Bloody Mary while his wife, Neile Adams, snuggled beside him, he added:

★ ★ ★

"I did that on my own and without Mr. Sinatra who was already back in California."

Steve admits that he's perhaps eccentric.

"I'm a little crazy in my own way and Frank's off his knuckle completely," is the way he puts it. "I first met Frank on the picture ('Never So Few').

"It might seem funny, but you can tell the way people shake hands. I looked at him and he looked at me and we were off. It's a war picture and we had our own little war during the rest scenes with these little cherry bomb firecrackers we'd brought up from Mexico.

"We were lighting them and lobbing 'em at each other. Sinatra's got guts. He got me once right in the back where it hurts. It looks like somebody hit me with buskshot. I got pepper marks all over me."

Steve may take up fireworks even more seriously because his wife and TV and movie bosses want him to give up racing a Porsche. "We have a beautiful new 9-weeks-old daughter," Steve explained further. "I'm going to let her race in a go-cart as soon as she's old enough."

Steve was anxious to get back to Hollywood to see his daughter, and also his horse, Ringo, which hates him.

"This hores is murder — but I'm going to win," vowed Steve. "He's been out in pasture all summer thinking up new dirty tricks.

"He's really a neurotic, that horse. Wait'll he reads that I said that!"

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Mort Sahl describes the L.A.-San Francisco rivalry: "During an air raid drill the San Francisco ground observer corps wouldn't even warn Leo Angeles of approaching enemy aircraft!" That's earl, brother.

U. S. Budget Cut by Half Billion

Despite Slashes in Bills Expenses May Go Up Due to Defense

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress now has cut appropriations for the current financial year by 547 million dollars but the director of the budget says these may not reduce federal spending at all.

The cuts topped the half billion mark late Friday when the Senate sent the 14th and 15th money measures for fiscal 1960 to President Eisenhower.

But Budget Director Maurice H. Stans was telling the Senate Finance Committee about the same time that, despite the cuts in nearly all the bills, "the net effect will actually be a negligible change—perhaps even an increase—in expenditures for the year."

The reason for this, Stans said, is that most of the significant cuts probably will be in foreign aid and military construction, which usually inclue long - term projects. Cutting them may not affect expenditres for a year or two, he said.

"Reductions in all other appropriations bills," Stans continued, "were largely offset by the increase in the appropriations for the Department of Health, Education and Welfare."

Stans, one of Eisenhower's closest advisers, said the prospect now is that there will be a deficit in the current year's spending budget instead of the slim 70 million surplus forecast by the President in January. The current financial year ends next June 30.

Hollywood Headlines:

Welk Still Top Dog With U. S. Hinterland

By JAMES BACON
AP Movie-TV Writer

★ ★ ★

Hundreds of people asked hundreds of questions but rarely about the movies. Everybody, east of Sunset and Vine, apparently stays home every night and watches television.

Surprisingly, there were few questions about movie stars—except for the "real lowdown" on Eddie, Debbie and Liz.

Most frequently asked question: What happened between Lawrence Welk and Alice Lon?

Welk is still the No. 1 TV show among Midwesterners but the squabble among the happy bubbles hurt him some.

The impact of television on the hinterlands is amazing—more so than the industry or its stars out here can comprehend.

One small town visited used to be a howling, wild Saturday night town. Saturday night, on the last trip, was like visitor's day at Forest Lawn Cemetery.

A merchant explained: "You can't get farmers to leave Lawrence Welk for town any more. We used to keep our stores open until 11 p. m. Now everybody shops Saturday afternoon and watches Welk at night."

If breathless comments of women—especially from the young housewife set—mean anything, then Efrem Zimbalist Jr., has replaced Rock Hudson as the nation's No. 1 heart throb.

Identi-Kit Called Great Help

Composite Photo Device Aids Police Work

Eyewitnesses to crimes often have a graphic picture of what the criminal looks like. But how to transmit that picture to officers and possibly the next victim? A sheriff's division chief has come up with a device that seems to do the job. Here's how it works.

By DIAL TORGERSON

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "Remember that burglar you were looking for? Well, there's a man at the door who looks just like him. You'd better come and get him."

Get him the police did. He's in jail today — and all because of that picture of him.

The device is called the Identi-Kit. It was developed by H. C. McDonald, a division chief for the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Dept.

Los Angeles Sheriff Pete Pitchess —who has shown the kit to Scotland Yard and officers of the French Surete—calls it "the greatest discovery for law enforcement since fingerprinting."

It works like those children's games — the ones where different eyes, noses and mouths fit together to make different faces. But in the kit there are 500 slides, from which 62 billion faces can be created. It takes 5 or 10 minutes to make one likeness.

After a burglary in a Los Angeles suburb, a deputy with the kit interviewed an eyewitness who had seen the man. His likeness was put together, photographed, and copies shown around the neighborhood to see if anyone else had seen the suspect.

No one else had. But when the man rang a doorbell on a pretext, while casing his next job, the intended victim was a housewife who had seen the composite picture. She recognized him and called police.

"Sometimes the likeness is almost identical," says Chief McDonald. "But that isn't what we're trying to achieve. The main thing is to make a likeness close enough so that we can eliminate people who obviously couldn't be suspects in the crime."

The available slides make it easier to duplicate some people's faces than others. As a newsman described the features of Clark Gable, Identi-Kit expert C. E. McElroy assembled the slides to make his likeness. It didn't look like Gable.

He tried the same thing with Richard M. Nixon—and got a likeness which could be immediately identified as the Vice President.

"There will be more slides produced as time goes on," explains Chief McDonald. "The manufacturer will lease the machines to law enforcement agencies. The agencies will get the new slides as they become available."

Right now only men's features are available. Later women and children's features may be added. The kits will be leased for about $300 a year.

Sociologist Has Suggestion

Sips of Liquor for Tots May Prevent Alcoholism

CINCINNATI, Ohio (UPI) — A sociologist has suggested that the best way to prevent alcoholism may be feeding children small, frequent doses of liquor.

Dr. Albert Ullman of Tufts University spoke before seven thousand psychologists and members of related fields attending the American Psychological Assn. convention here.

He said alcoholism generally occurs in cultures in which drinking is introduced late in life and in which anxiety and mixed feelings create the psychological conditions for developing addiction to drink.

"Parents who are members of high alcoholism groups may at least be able to insulate or vaccinate their children against addiction," he said.

"Small, frequent doses of alcohol, beginning early in the child's life, may be what is required to make alcohol psychologically unavailable as an addictive substance.

A British psychologist, Cyril M. Franks, suggested that Americans drink more alcohol than most people and at the same time turn more toward Religion because they have more problems.

Franks said he "suspects" Americans need less alcohol than most peoples to get the same kick out of it because Americans are more extrovetted.

Americans turn to both the church and the tavern because they are under greater stress than Europeans, the psychologist said.

"America is a melting pot of peoples," he said. "She is continually trying to absorb new immigrants, new peoples, new races — and she's doing a wonderful job.

"But naturally and inevitably she will have more problems and her people will have more stresses and strains than in many countries. It's easy for England, for example, to say she has no problem of this sort because she has had a stable population for hundreds of years," he said.

House Cuts, OKs Ike's Military Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House passed and sent to the Senate Friday a bill providing $1,363,961,200 for military construction during the fiscal year that started July 1.

Steel Strike Delays School Opening in State

RAVENNA (AP) — The nation's steel strike has given Ravenna pupils a delay until Sept. 14 in starting their new school term, Supt. Robert Hellenga reports.

The schools were scheduled to open next Tuesday. Hellenga said, however, a delay in shipment of steel beams to complete Ravenna's new $750,000 high school brought a revision of plans.

★ ★ ★

The extra time was needed for workmen to clean seven one-room schools for occupancy by upper elementary grade pupils who would have been moved into Ravenna's old high school to replace students moving to the new building.

Not Settled Down Yet

LONDON (UPI) — The Daily Sketch, in an interview with Elvis Presley's father, quoted the elder Presley as saying: "I don't forsee marriage for him (Elvis) in the immediate future. When he's asked what type of girl he prefers he just says 'female.'"

IN HERRINGTON HILLS — The William Mayos bought a home in Herrington Hills about a year ago. All the homes in this subdivision are brick with board and batten trim. Four-year-old Tracy and a black and white cat called Caesar are the other members of the family. The house was built by Coleman and Moss.

Your Neighbor's House

Subdivision Homes Can Have Individuality

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Once again a Pontiac Press ad played a part in finding a house for the Home Section. Having a batch of kittens that needed homes, we advertised them. Mrs. William Mayo of Herrington Hills called us; we delivered one of the kittens to her small daughter, Tracy, and found both an interesting family and an attractive home.

The Mayos who come from New England have lived in the middle west for nearly five years, one of which has been in Pontiac. The kitten is now a half-grown cat named Caesar.

Homes in Herrington Hills are not large, but their planning shows some imagination. For instance, a Philippine mahogany wall extending about three-quarters of the way from floor to ceiling, provides wall space for the living room and a wall for the kitchen behind it.

Other walls in the living room and dining room are white. The living room rug is blue. Three tiers of cafe curtains are used on the front windows. The top tier is white, the middle one blue and the bottom one a print combining aqua, brown and gold on white.

In the dining room only two tiers, the white and printed ones, are used. The dining room windows give light to the kitchen which has no window.

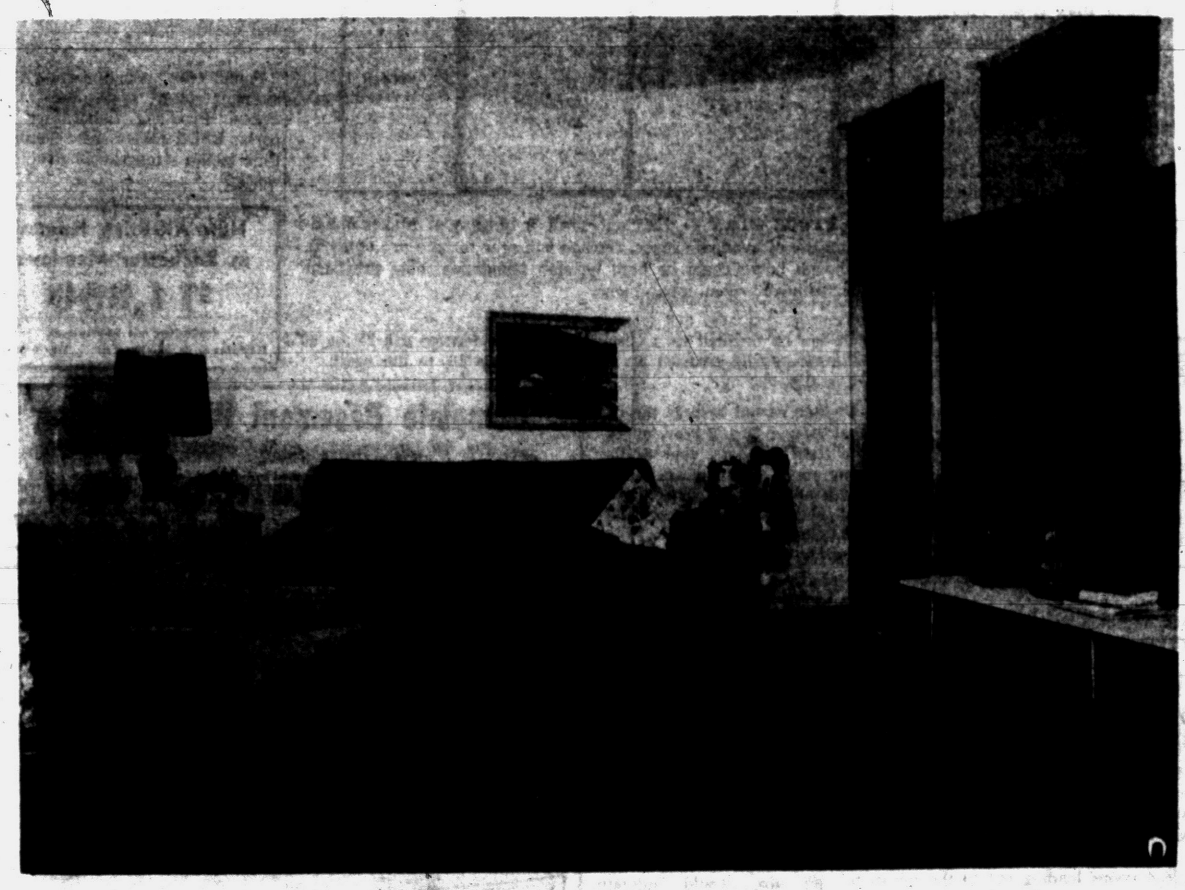

On the end wall in the living room there is a small blue sofa with a planter at one end. Near the windows is a gold upholstered chair. On the opposite wall is a provincial chair covered in an aqua, pink, green and brown plaid. The coffee table is marble, mounted on brass legs.

UNCLUTTERED — In a small room too many pieces of furniture or too many accessories give it a cluttered look. The Mayos wisely limited both. Rug and sofa are blue. The chair at the left is gold. Walls are white except for the Philippine mahogany divider wall at the right. That long coffee table is white marble with brass legs.

SLANTING WALLS — This is not trick photography. The kitchen wall is built on a slant. The wall at the left is the living room wall. On it are mounted mahogany cupboards and a sink. There is shelving built in just beyond the counter. Stove and refrigerator are on the right side, in the foreground out of picture range. In the background is the bedroom area.

New Insulation Ends Dampness

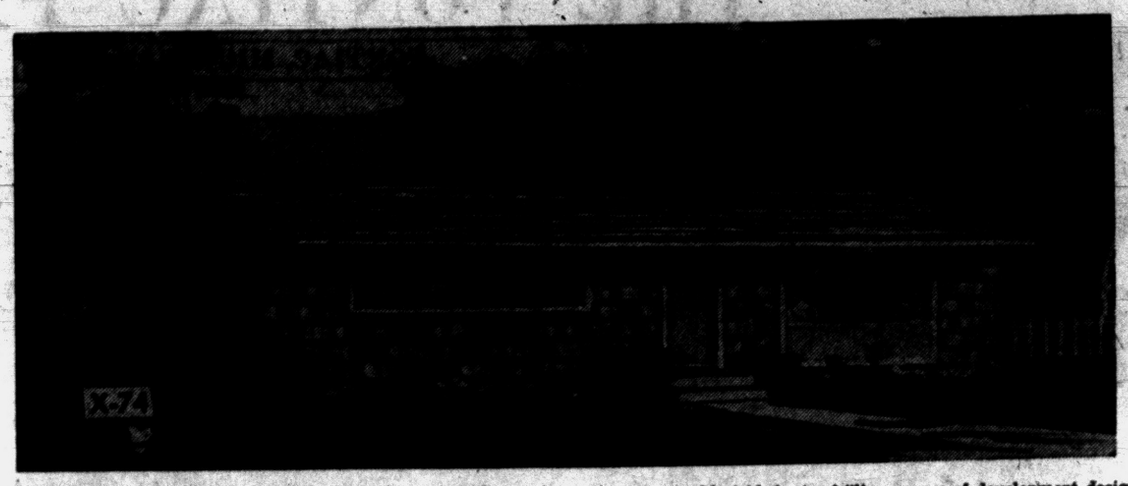

Cold, damp basements, the bane of many a homeowner's existence, can now be a thing of the past with the development of a new water-repellent masonry insulation which cuts heat loss and greatly minimizes danger of condensation on walls.

A development of the Zonolite Company of Chicago, the free-flowing granular material can be poured directly from the bag into the cores of the concrete block in the foundation walls.

Capable of reducing heat loss by as much as 50 per cent, the new material sheds water which might seep into the core of the block, completely retaining its insulation efficiency. The new material is known as Zonolite Water-Repellent Masonry Insulation.

With the water-repellent insulation, the tendency for condensation to form on cold walls will be minimized because the surface temperature of the wall is raised several degrees, doing away with the chilly, clammy feeling experienced in most uninsulated basements.

Because of its high insulation value and water-repellent qualities, the new insulation removes the necessity for furring and finishing material on the inside basement wall, permitting the concrete block to be left exposed with the warm and dry characteristics required for comfort.

THRIFTY DESIGN — This three bedroom home was designed for a New Jersey housing development. Custom-building in your own area would yield the 'no-frill' economy of development design without development disadvantages.

Minimum Budgets Can Build Maximum House

By DAVID L. BOWEN

If you've spent much time house-hunting — armed with high hopes and a low budget — chances are good that by now you've said at least once: "If only we could find that house off by itself and out of a mass development, I'd buy it in a second."

The reason is that, as a rule, low cost development homes have maximum thrift and minimum frills. Unfortunately, the eye-appeal of a hundred or so thrifty homes frequently leaves something to be desired.

But if you removed the development house from the development, you'd have a bargain home without development disadvantages. X-74 in the House of the Week series offers that opportunity.

This three-bedroom design by Architect Lester Cohen is now under construction in the Toms River, N. J. area by builder Robert Schmerz. With a full basement but without garage or rear terrace, the house and lot sell for $10,800.

A downpayment of $1,800 is required. A 30-year FHA mortgage on the balance of $9,000 comes to $65 a month, with taxes and insurance figured in.

Construction costs vary widely across the country and what X-74 would cost you can only be determined by having plans cost-estimated by local contractors. A "baby blueprint" Study Plan designed for this purpose is available for 50 cents.

Prime reason for X-74's economy is its size. It has 960 square feet of habitable space and is laid out in a pure and simple rectangle. Plans include an optional garage or carport and an optional terrace.

LIVING AREAS

Principal living area is to the right of the front door. A good-sized living room flows into the rear dining area, with each room "borrowing" space from the other. There is a large picture window at the front and unbroken wall space on the garage or carport side.

The dining area has sliding glass doors leading out to the optional terrace or back yard.

An L-shaped kitchen counter arrangement provides maximum convenience within minimum space. The kitchen is large enough for a dinette table under the window. A vestibule separates the kitchen from the back door and leads downstairs to the basement.

The three bedrooms are placed in a wing to themselves, with the master bedroom at the back for privacy. Each has a sliding door closet, and the bathroom is handy to all.

CASUAL AREAS

One of the most popular features in a home with youngsters is an area that they can call their own. X-74 provides for a future recreation room in the basement which can be finished as a "teenage" room, easily reached by the back stairs.

Another casual area is the optional terrace in the rear, accessible from the back door or the dining room sliding glass doors. This would make a particularly good play spot for young children, since mother can oversee activities from the kitchen.

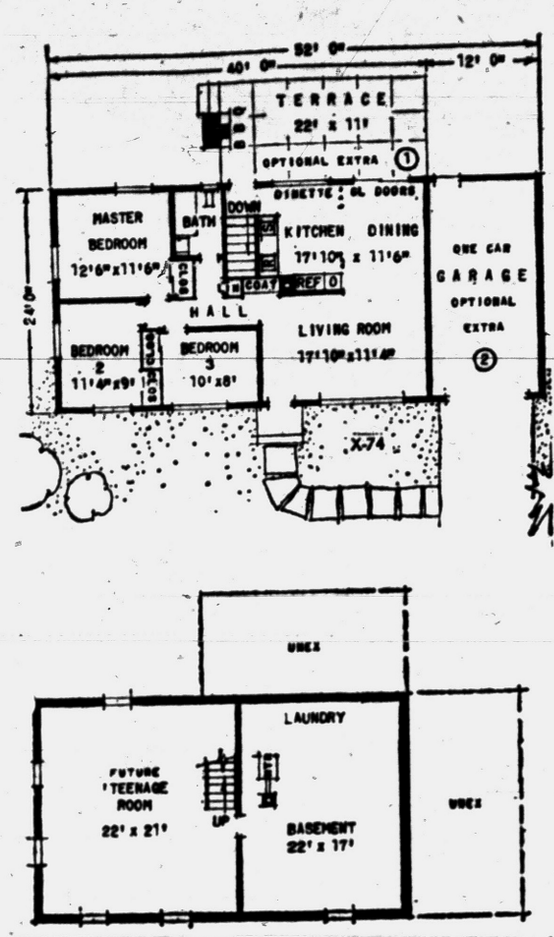

There are five big closets in the house proper, plus basement. While the house could be built without a basement, Architect Cohen points out that its additional play, storage and work areas give the greatest possible value for relatively small extra cost.

The garage is a similar bargain as an optiona extra. If you want shelter for the car at lower cost, you can choose a carport instead.

EXTERIOR

The house has a longer look than its size would indicate, achieved with horizontal sliding and wide windows. Addition of garage or carport would make the home seem even larger.

Over-all dimensions, excluding garage and terrace are 24' by 40'. Garage adds 12' to the width.

FLOOR PLAN — Efficient room arrangement makes maximum use of available space. Garage and rear terrace are optional. Although home could be built on slab foundation, note provision for "teenage" room in basement.

Today's Roofs Are Better

If you need a new roof, you can obtain longer-lasting, more trouble-free protection than your old roof gave, thanks to recent developments in asphalt shingles.

A line on these developments, plus pointers designed to help the homeowner get the most roof for his money, are passed along by roofing specialists. They advise:

1. Consider using heavier shingles. Standard-weight shingles (210 pounds per 100 square feet) meet most local requirements, but heavier-weight shingles with extra layers of ashpalt, mineral granules and special fire-resistant ingredients provides years of additional protection at little cost. Labor charges, which account for a good part of the expenses of re-roofing, are usually the same whether a heavier or lighter shingle is used.

2. Put the new roof over the old one. Discuss this possibility with your roofers. It might reduce your costs and provide extra fire, weather and insulation protection.

3. If summer heat's a problem, use white or pastel colored shingles. They do a better job of reflecting sunlight than darker colors.

4. If windstorms cause trouble in your area, look into the new seal-down shingles. These are standard shingles that contain bands of a special adhesive to cement the tabs to the roof deck. Exposure to sunlight activates the adhesive. Jig-saw shaped lock shingles also do an effective job of resisting high winds.

5. Use a qualified local roofer authorized to sell name-brand roofing materials. Check your friends for leads, contact roofers who advertise or look up shingle applicators in your classified telephone directory. In roofing, there is no substitute for quality materials and workmanship.

Pound for pound, wood is stronger than steel, the U. S. Forest Products Laboratory reports; USDA tables show Southern Pine is the strongest of structural woods.

Ventilators Protect Paint

That coat of paint you put on your house during last summer's vacation can be preserved longer by taking a simple step now. This step is putting in attic and foundation ventilators if you don't have any now, or by checking existing ventilators to make sure they are the right size and the screening is clean.

"Proper attic and basement or crawl space ventilation will allow water vapor within the house to escape harmlessly to the outside without puffing up inside paint blisters which ruin the appearance and protective qualities of your house paint," says The Metal Ventilator Institute.

"Puncture a paint blister; often you will find it filled with water. Where does this water come from? It is condensed water vapor that may have started as steam in the bathroom, or from cooking in the kitchen," the institute's spokesman explained.

"This water vapor will pass through almost anything except glass and metal. It goes from inside the house where the water vapor pressure may be high to the outside air where the vapor pressure is lower. When it reaches the inside surface of your exterior paint, it is stopped because many paints are so tight the vapor cannot pass through. This is where the water inside paint blisters often comes from."

Ventilated attic and basement or crawl space gives water vapor a place to escape to the outside.

TUCSON — This Arizona city is located in Pima county which is larger in area than Rhode Island, Connecticut and Delaware in their combined domian.

When painting wire or woven fences, a paint roller will make fastwork of an otherwise tedious job. Special covers can be used with long nap fillers, but a regular cover is adequate.

PLYWOOD DESK — All five pieces in this attractive study corner were designed especially for the weekend furniture builder. The desk has a top 26 by 37 inches. It is not too big, yet it is ample for the teen-agers homework. The generous drawer space will be found most useful. The block-front type of construction is used for the drawers as this is as easy to do as to make a box.

Student Can Build Desk

The pattern for the above pictured furniture shows how to cut the desk pieces from a standard panel of plywood with almost no waste. While the desk is quite simple to make it has the sleek lines that young moderns like.

The chair is of solid stock to match the desk. The seat and back are separate units which are padded with foam rubber; covered with plastic or leatherette in whatever color is preferred and then trimmed with large brass upholsterers' tacks. The pattern (No. 224) gives exact amounts of material to order and large clear drawings to guide you in upholstering and finishing.

The lamp base (pattern 204) is a striking combination of wood with brass to match trimming on the chair. This is achieved by cutting a piece of wood in an open design with the brass pipe which carries the wire, extending from the base to the socket.

The pattern for the initial bookends (401) gives a complete alphabet for 4-inch letters that may be traced on the wood. This pattern includes directions for making a wastebasket and a magazine rack.

The picture frame over the desk is one of a set (pattern 301) that is cut out of plywood. The frames are made with a simple device that holds glass and picture in place. Just what teen-agers need for their pictures and things.

The patterns for these home furnishings give cutting guides for all shaped parts, list of materials used and step-by-step directions. The desk is made with pattern 402. See above for other numbers. The price of each pattern is 35c, any four for $1.00, all 5 for $1.25. Address: Pattern Dept., The Pontiac Press, Bedford Hills, N.Y.

Painting Masonry

Exterior masonry must be prepared before repainting. First, remove all oil and grease with a solvent. Repair any irregularities in the surface and caulk around roof flashings, gutters, and downspouts. Wire brush all loose paint, then dust off the masonry. Two coats of exterior paint should be applied for maximum wear, but make sure the first coat has thoroughly dried before painting on the second.

Curtains are striped denim in brown, orange, green and black. There is a pair of basket chairs with a pull-down lamp for reading. The closet door is louvered. All other doors are flush birch.

Tracy's room now has a canopy bed in it. It had been purchased when we photographed the house, but not set up. Her room is done in yellow (walls), blue (curtains) and white (bedspread). Tracy has her own little folding table and chairs for play with her dolls.

The master bedroom has pale green walls. Curtains are white. There are yellow spreads on the twin beds and bright orange rugs on the floor.

This house has a full basement which gives more storage area. Just inside the front door there is a storage wall extending part way to the ceiling. This stores guests' coats and household items.

Mrs. Mayo laid the brick patio behind the house. She planted the flowers. Fortunately, there were three shagbark hickory trees left on the lot. So shade is available.

The exterior of the house is red brick with board and batten trim. Coleman and Moss were the builders.

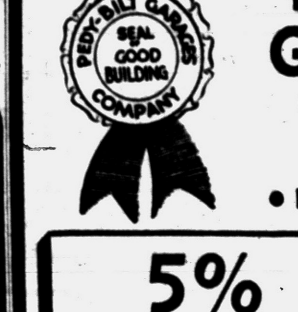

Use Hose

Try using short lengths of garden house as a good conduit for your extension cord. Slit the garden hose across the bottom and nail to the wall or ceiling. This is a wise safety precaution as cords are off the floor and away from footwear.

Radio Pinpoints Leaks

A new method of detecting concealed leaks and pipe stoppages by means of radio isotopes has been devised. When this method is used, it is not necessary to cut into a wall, pavement, or other structural part of a building in order to pin-point a leak or a stoppage.

California has 140,000 farms and ranches, more than any other state in the nation.

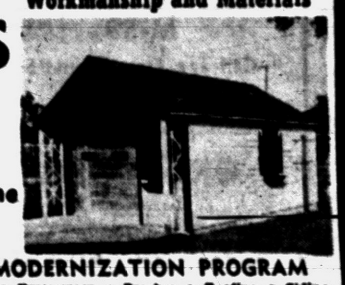

If you have trouble making paint stick to a nickel surface or ornament, try an undercoat of thinned shellac. This coat usually adheres well to metal, and paint clings to it.

Prefab Closet Shelf Takes Few Minutes Work

A new convenience for homeowners is a prefabricated steel closet shelf which never needs painting and supports more weight than it has ever been possible to put upon a typical shelf before.

There are four models of these shelves to fit every size closet from two to six feet wide. By using two or more units, supported at their edges by center brackets which are also available, it is possible to install shelves of even greater widths.

The shelf units come with a built-in hanger run and can easily hold any number of clothes hangers without snagging. The baked-in enamel surface of the shelf provides a precision-smooth surface which will not snag delicate fabrics.

Anyone can install one in two minutes. The only tools required are a hammer and a tape measure. Wall brackets come with the units and should be set at equal heights at the right and left walls. The brackets have pre-punched holes through which it is possible to nail directly into the studs.

With the brackets in place, the shelf is merely adjusted to the right length and is slipped over the lips of the brackets. No painting is required, and the unit is ready to use.

Two sizes of prefabricated linen shelves are also available. These are sixteen inches deep and adjustable from 20 to 36 inches in width.

Attic Ventilators Will Let Water Vapor Escape

Don't close yuor attic ventilators when cold weather comes; that's the time they will do you the most good, according to the Metal Ventilator Institute.

Attic ventilators are put there to give water vapor inside the house a chance to escape without condensing within walls, causing dry rot and other unpleasant things. Most of this water vapor is created in the winter in today's modern living.

Tightly closed windows weatherstripped to eliminate drafts, are but one way builders keep our houses comfortable but full of water vapor. The vapor tries to escape through the ceiling, up through the attic and out through the ventilators. When you close these vents it is trapped.

"The only reason owners have for closing ventilators is to preserve warmth within the house," said an institute spokesman.

"However, most houses have insulation in the attic floor; the vented area between this insulaiton and the roof was not meant to be heated. Actually, your heuse will be more comfortable if you leave your attic vents open this winter."

Does Your Bathroom Pass Planning Test

Good and bad ideas in bathroom planning are summarized by the Plumbing - Heating - Cooling Information Bureau.

One of the common mistakes in bathroom planning is to install the bathtub under a window. This should be avoided if possible, the Bureau points out.

When a bathtub is placed under a window, the bather may be exposed to drafts during cold weather, particularly if the window does not fit properly or is unprotected by storm sash or weather stripping. Furthermore, this location is undesirable because the bathtub may be scratched when the window is washed or when screens or storm windows are removed or when repairs are made to the window.

While the under - the - window location is not a good place for the bathtub, it is an excellent spot for the heating unit whether it be a baseboard, convector, or radiator, the Bureau points out.

Another common mistake in bathroom planning is to let the water closet be exposed to view when the bathroom door is open. It is much better to have the lavatory, as the most attractive fixture, visible when the door is open.

Another common mistake is not to plan for safety in the bathroom. There should be a sturdy grab bar firmly anchored to the studding over the bathtub. Light switches should be well out of reach of bathers with wet hands.

If you feel that you must have a lock on the bathroom door, buy the kind that can be opened from both sides.

Many other suggestions on planning bathrooms, with particular reference to the layout and arrangement of the fixtures, are offered in a booklet entitled "Modern Bathroom Plans." The booklet is available for 10 cents from the Plumbing - Heating - Cooling Information Bureau, 35 East Wacker Drive, Chicago 1, Ill.

Brushes Need Bath

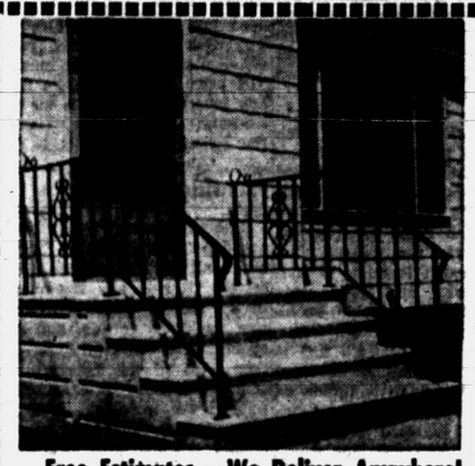

Brushes will wear longer and do a better job if they are washed occasionally in lukewarm soap and water. Give the brush a good two-minute swish, rinse with clear water. Shake out excess water and hang up to dry. If your brush is badly curled, steam it thoroughly then comb it with a special brush comb.

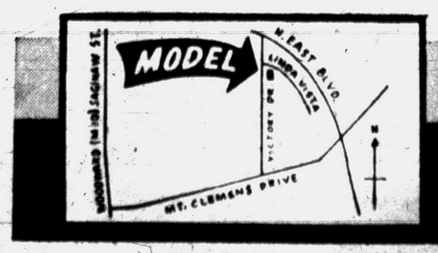

Pickle With Shellac

Shellac may be used for pickling wood surfaces. Use pigmented (also called shellac enamel) shellac applied directly to the surface. When you have covered the area to be pickled, dip a rag in denatured alcohol and rub it over the wood. Some of the shellac will remain in the wood pores.

Proud Firemen Won't Ask Aid, Let Trees Burn

EGGERTSVILLE, N. Y. (UPI) —About 1,000 small evergreen trees valued at $1,500 were destroyed recently when Eggertsville firemen refused to call for help from a volunteer company right across the street.

Mrs. Henry P. Brummer said the trees were burned during a grass fire that spread across some 20 acres of her land, and it wasn't until the police stepped in that outside help was sought to fight the blaze. By then it was too late.

Volunteer members of the North Bailey Fire Company sat across the street watching the Eggertsville Fire Company trying to put out the fire, but the Eggertsville men refused to ask for assistance. A spokesman later explained: "We do not recognize North Bailey as a fire company."

As for the North Bailey firemen they're barred by law from fighting a fire in the Eggertsville district until their aid is specifically requested.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

ECONOMY MODEL — This is perfect for an older couple that wants a home requiring little upkeep, or a young couple wanting a home that can be expanded as space needs grow. Turn Utility Space Into 'Beautility' Room

Where a utility room must serve as a major storage area, every inch of space should be used as efficiently as possible. Paints, enamels and various waxes will help you create a service area that is both easy to care for and keep clean. With them, you can bring exciting color and beauty to your utility room.

The National Paint, Varnish & Lacquer Association, 1500 Rhode Island Avenue, N. W., Washington 5, D. C., has a booklet, Beautility Room, which gives suggestions on how you can get the most out of your storage and work areas. Send your name, address, and request to the Association for your free copy.

Although the evolution of the bathtub can be traced back for 5,000 years to the Egyptians and Babylonians, new designs in this important fixture are still being introduced.

Give Children Privacy

Your youngsters can have private bedrooms, instead of sharing a single large one, if you build a simple, low-cost divider wall right down the middle, says an article in the September issue of a home magazine. A jog in the divider makes it more rigid and also leaves a handy space for a dresser on each side.

Here's the Answer

AP Newsfeatures

Question: I often see the term "quarter-sawed" in relation to lumber. Can you tell me what this means?

★ ★ ★ ★

ANSWER: When lumber is cut the ordinary and least expensive way, known as flat cutting, it is done by slicing logs lengthwise into boards. In quarter-sawing, the log is first sliced lengthwise into four wedges.

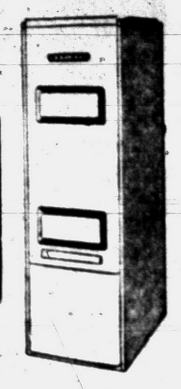

The boards then are cut from the flat sides of each wedge. Quarter-sawed lumber usually has more interesting grain patterns and is said to be more resistant to shrinking and warping.

Question: I am getting ready to paint a ceiling and plan on suspending a plank between two ladders. Is this all right? How high should the plank be on the ladder?

Answer: Place the plank (be sure it is a strong one) between two ladders at a point where your head will be a few inches from the ceiling. This will help to reduce fatigue. Whether you use a brush or a roller, start in a corner and work across the narrow dimensions of the room, applying a strip two to three feet wide.

Carry Your Putty

When applying that last coat of paint, there may be small areas that require caulking or filling. A small lump of putty can be carried on the paint can by clamping an S-shaped holder over the lip of the can. Solder a nail to the other end so that the putty can be forced over it to hold it in place.

Mass-Produce Atomic Reactors

West Coast Firm Has Sold More Than 30 Nuclear Furnaces

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A shed-like plant located next to a walnut grove is one of the few places in the world today where a profit is being made out of atomic energy.

It "mass-produces" nuclear reactors and sells them for about $100,000 each to universities and medical centers in Europe and the United States.

The company was founded in April, 1956, by Robert Mainhardt, 36, and Dr. Arthur T. Biehl, 34. Although they were born and raised in Brooklyn, N.Y., within 10 blocks of each other and traveled the same subway to Brooklyn Tech, they did not meet until they went to work for the Atomic Energy Radiation Laboratory at nearby Livermore.

"We hit it off and we had something in common—the belief there would be a demand for reactors of a size and simplicity to allow their use in the classroom and for medical diagnosis," Mainhardt said.

So they quit their jobs and went looking for a backer. They found one in Aerojet-General, a subsidiary of the General Tire and Rubber Co.

Aerojet-General Nucleonics has grown from six to 300 workers.

It has sold more than 30 of the atomic furnaces, which stand nine feet high, are 6½ feet in diameter and weigh 22,000 pounds. It expects to do six million dollars in business this year.

That Slippery Bathtub!

Home accidents take an annual toll of about 27,000.

INDOOR-OUTDOOR RUMPUS ROOM—What could be nicer for wee lads and lassies than an indoor-outdoor playroom? Roof of house, supported by laminated Douglas fir beams, was extended out to protect this playroom from sudden autumn showers, and peek-a-boo fence of 1x1 inch Douglas fir strips keep younguns from wandering. Outfitted with sandbox and hobby horse, it's the perfect place for little Johnnie to burn off energy all year 'round.

Indoor-Outdoor Room Boon to Busy Mothers

Every mother with children of pre-school age breathes a sigh of relief when summer sun comes along and she can turn the youngsters outdoors. Autumn, on the other hand, with its promise of showers and overcast skies, brings with it the hard realization that, for another few months, the wee ones will be burning off their energy inside the house.

The dream of these women is finding some way to extend the summer season and its easy child care.

The trick, as some have discovered, is to treat the offspring to a sheltered outdoor play yard which can be used despite imminent cloudburst. Constructing one is not difficult to do. All that's needed are a roof to provide portection from the elements and walls of some kind to put a damper on the kiddies' wanderlust.

Styling for the play yard simulates carport design. With open post-and-beam construction, it is both easy to build and handsome to look at. The roof, which, in the case of a one-story abode, can be extended out from the house roof line, is supported by structural beams of 2x12 inch Douglas fir and cross beams of 2x8 inch fir. Beams and roof decking, which can be either tongue-and-groove fir or West Coast hemlock, should be left exposed to view. Supporting posts are 4x4 inch fir.

Peek-a-boo walls for the outdoor rumpus room can be built using screening fences. A favorite style calls for 1x1 inch fir strips which are spaced a half-inch apart. The airiness of this design keeps the screens from appearing wall-like, yet this type of fencing does a fine job of baby sitting.

Usually, natural wood finishes are preferred for the play yard's roof and the screening fences, but a gay, vivid color might be in order to accent the beams and posts.

Location of the play yard is all-important. If possible, it should be adjacent to the utility areas of the house so that Mom can keep a watchful eye on the toddlers while attending to her daily chores.

Flooring, too, needs special consideration. Because of its easy upkeep, durability and relatively low cost, wood decking is a favorite for children's play areas.

Jungle gyms and sandboxes can be added as the family handyman has time to build them.

It's a good idea to clean up paint spatters as you go along. If you are using a water-base paint, a damp cloth is all you need. A cloth soaked with turpentine or mineral spirits will clean up oil-base paint drippings.

Heating Plants Had Bad Winter, Check Now

Heating plants from coast to coast have been groaning under the strain of an unusually severe winter in most parts of the country. Right now many plants are in need of maintenance and repairs which may range from a complete overhaul or replacement for older heating plants to a thorough cleaning and adjustment on newer systems.

This is the time to make arrangements with an experienced heating and plumbing contractor for the checking and cleaning of a hydronic heating system, the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau advises.

Ingenuity Finds New Uses for Wood Doors

BERT L. SMOKLER CO.

The classic design of panel doors, the textured interest of wood louvers, and the rich beauty of wood have intrigued imaginative decorators and home owners into discovering new and unusual uses for these stock products of ponderosa pine.

Panel doors cover walls.

One fascinating idea is to use panel doors as wainscoting or complete wall paneling. As the drawing shows, both create the luxury of custom wood paneling, yet are available at lower cost.

An equally effective use of panel doors is shown in the drawing of a bedroom. Here, two panel doors are fitted together to form a dramatic headboard.

Panel doors form headboard.

Another unique use of stock woodwork is the application of combination storm and screen doors to form the walls of a porch enclosure. The glass inserts provide a sun room in cold weather, and the screen inserts convert it into a cool, airy porch in summer.

Storm doors enclose porch

Among the more unusual but extremely practical uses of stock louver doors and shutters of ponderosa pine is their installation as

★ ★ ★

Easy to Keep Ironwork Rust-Free, Attractive

CHICAGO — Now, before the onset of winter, is the time to protect your wrought iron from rust or repair the damage, if it has already occurred.

Ornamental wrought iron, whether used for railings, fireplace equipment, furniture, or other trim, adds mellowness and a touch of antique charm that softens the modernity of newer homes. But one short season of outdoor weathering can mar or pit wrought iron surfaces.

Nowadays this can easily be prevented or, where it has already happened, be repaired in a jiffy. Oil from the tiny sardine, which has unusual natural rust-preventive properties, forms the basis for rust preventive coatings which can protect wrought iron for indefinite periods.

The specially processed sardine oil penetrates the rust down to the bare, unharmed metal, drives out air and moisture, and forms a protective coating. These rustoleum coatings are available both in spray cans or for brush application and come in a full assortment of colors, including flat black popular for wrought iron.

If rust spots have already appeared, first brush away the loose rust scale from the rusted area. It is no longer necessary to scrape all the rust off.

1. If rust has already appeared in spots, first brush away the loose rust particles with a few easy strokes of a wire brush. It is no longer necessary to scrape away all the rust when using the new rust preventive coatings. Then apply — either by spray or brush — a rustoleum Red Primer coat to the rusted areas.

If there are just spots of rust, simply spot-prime these parts only. Then, when the primer has dried (usually in one day) add the finish coat of rustoleum in the color of your choice.

2. Where the wrought iron surface has chipped and become dingy you can restore fresh beauty to it and add rust prevention with one quick spray or brush application. Simply clean the surface (plain water will do the job) and apply the rustoleum color of your choice.

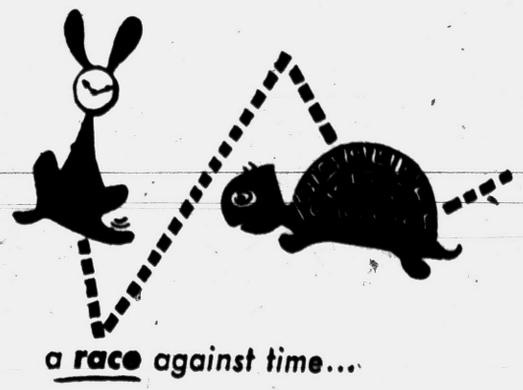

These rustoleum coatings are available in paint, hardware, lumber, and department store sin your locality.

Other major advantages of the new material include its low-cost and ease of installation. Under normal conditions, a basement wall can be insualted with the masonry insulation at a cost of about 10 cents a square foot, including labor.

White Sox Move Closer to Pennant Beating Tribe, 3-2

Victory Moves Chicago to Lead of 6½ Games

Timely Hitting, Defense Help Early Wynn Post 18th Triumph

By The Associated Press

Eight days ago, Chicago's weary Sox looked to be on the brink of a battering as they moved into Cleveland for a four-game series. It touched off a showdown schedule of seven games in 10 days with the power-swinging, second-place Indians.

The White Sox, their pitching worn thin, had dropped four of their last 10 games and their American League lead was down to 1½ games.

The Indians? They'd won eight straight.

Now, with five games gone in the showdown, the White Sox have won five, extending their lead to a virtual lock - up 6½ games last night with a 3-2 victory in the opener of a last-stand, three-game series for the Injuns in Chicago.

They did it in their usual fabulous fashion, hitting nothing but singles and delivering on defense in support of Early Wynn, the right-hander who was too old to rate the White Sox much of a chance in pre - season pennant picks, but who now tops the AL with 18 victories.

Going into today's game, with Bob Shaw (14-5) facing Cleveland's Cal McLish (16-7), the White Sox have a 14-5 season edge over the Indians with three games to play. Their magic number is 16 — any combination of Chicago victories and Cleveland defeats totaling 16 will give the White Sox their first flag in 40 years.

In the scramble for third place, Detroit tied New York by beating Kansas City 9-2 behind Don Mossi's six-hitter while the Yankees lost 3-0 to Baltimore, blanked on six singles by Milt Pappas. The fifth-place Orioles are just 1½ games shy of third.

Washington, eliminated last weekend, defeated Boston 4-3 and officially knocked the Red Sox out of the race. Kansas City also dropped out.

The White Sox, now 31-9 in one-run decisions, nailed the Indians with an eighth-inning run off Jim Perry (10-7). Earl Torgeson, running for Ted Kluszewski, who singled, barrelled home from first for a 3-1 lead when center fielder Tito Francona bobbled Sherm Lollar's single.

★ ★ ★

Chicago's other runs came in the second on singles by Billy Goodman, Al Smith, Jim McAnany and Luis Aparicio.

★ ★ ★

Wynn, at 39 now No. 16 on the all-time list of winners with 267, gave up five hits, one Jim Baxes' 15th homer, walked three and struck out five in his eight innings while beating the Indians for the ninth time in 10 decisions since they traded him to the Sox two years ago. Gerry Staley pitched the ninth, giving up a run on Rocky Colavito's double and a single by George Strickland.

★ ★ ★

The Sox defense went to work twice. In the fifth, with two on and two out after Baxes' home run, center fielder Jim Landis made a back-to-the-plate stab on Minnie Minoso's long drive. And in the eighth, again with two out, the fleet Minnie was nailed at the plate by Al Smith's peg as he tried to score from second on Francona's single to left.

James Zeder Shoots Ace at Bloomfield Hills CC

James C. Zeder scored the 1st hole-in-one of his golfing career yesterday at Bloomfield Hills Country Club. Zeder aced the 160-yard 17th hole with his 5-iron and carded 81 strokes for 18 holes.

Witnessing the feat was playing partner James I. Ford, who aced the same hole just a few days ago. It was the 3rd ace at Bloomfield Hills CC this year.

GO-GO-SOX, GOT 'EM—Early Wynn (right) has a few nice words to say to outfielder Jim Landis after the Chicago White Sox defeated the Cleveland Indians, 3-2, to stretch their American League lead to 6½ games. Landis made a great catch of a fly ball in the 9th inning to end the game and stop a scoring threat by the Tribe.

Festival Queen Cheers Tigers to 9-2 Triumph

Mossi Picks Up 13th Victory by Defeating Athletics

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit Tigers' chances for a first division finish hinge on how well the club responds to the pressure of a late-season road trip.

After this weekend, the Tigers must play 18 games and all but five will be on the road.

They braced themselves for the long grind away from home by belting the Kansas City Athletics 9-2 yesterday before 4,811 paid spectators and the queen of the Romeo Peach Festival, Miss Lorelei Hoxie.

Miss Hoxie presented outfielder Al Kaline and manager Jimmie Dykes with a basket of peaches before the contest—so from a Tiger standpoint, it was a peachy afternoon all the way around.

Eddie Yost started the first inning with a home run off loser Bud Daley. It was the fifth time this year Yost had led off a home game with a home run—and the Tigers have won four of those games. Strangely, this is the third time Yost has done the trick when Mossi was the starting pitcher, and all three times the crafty southpaw has come out a winner. Detroit added two more runs in the first inning and routed Daley.

Venerable Murry Dickson blanked the Tigers through the fourth inning and John Tsitouris, a former Detroit pitcher, sailed through the fifth and sixth.

The roof caved in on Tsitouris in the seventh, when Detroit sent 11 men to the plate. Six of them hit safely, and six scored.

Mossi, who hit his first Major League home run and added a single in blanking the A's 4-0 last Sunday in Kansas City, contributed two hits in the big uprising. He started the splurge with a double over the head of left fielder Bob Cerv, and added a run-producing single later on. Mossi also had a double off the right field wall in the second inning.

Harvey Kuenn, almost a cinch for the American League batting championship, collected three hits in five appearances and Yost had a double in addition to his home run.

Ted Lepcio had one hit but threw away a routine grounder. But he'll stay at shortstop for a while longer as a replacement for Rocky Bridges, whose hitting fell off and whose fielding never has been sharp.

Mossi, who picked up his 13th triumph against nine defeats, was working on his second shutout over the A's for seven innings.

Colts Trip Steelers, Stay Unbeaten

By The Associated Press

If pre-season exhibitions are a true indication of form, it'll be a tango for two in the National Football League's Western Division title chase and a rock 'n' roll session for the Eastern championship.

★ ★ ★

Pairing off for a second straight year as the high-steppers in the West are the NFL champion Baltimore Colts and Chicago's Bears, the only teams undefeated in exhibition play.

The Colts made it four in a row last night as Johnny Unitas threw three touchdown passes to halfback Lenny Moore for a 30-21 victory over the Pittsburgh Steelers.

The Bears (3-0), runners-up in the West last season, will try to keep their slate clean tonight when they tackle Washington (1-2) at Jacksonville, Fla., in a nationally-televised game. It'll be carried by ABC starting at 10 p.m., EST.

Leading the pack are the Chicago Cardinals (3-1), who finished in a tie for last in the 1958 campaign. Down at the bottom are Cleveland's perenially - tough Browns (0-3) and New York's Giants (1-2), the Eastern titlists last season.

The Browns will try to nail their first victory against the Rams (1-1-1) at Los Angeles tonight while the Giants take on resurgent Green Bay (2-1) at Bangor, Me. The Cards meet San Francisco (2-1) at Seattle.

The Colts had a tough time of it against the Steelers and veteran quarterback Bobby Layne, who pitched Pittsburgh within three points, 17-14, of Baltimore at halftime.

Then Unitas clinched it in the third period with his third TD toss to Moore, this one carrying 58 yards. Baltimore's insurance touchdown came on a 26-yard scamper by Ray Brown with an intercepted Layne aerial.

The Unitas-Moore combination paced the Colts in the first quarter, accounting for touchdowns on plays covering 57 and 15 yards.

This series of three articles should help high school football coaches now getting ready for the 1959 campaign.

NO. 1 NOW? — Since 1957 when Tobin Rote guided the Lions to the NFL championship with a great late season rush, there has been an uncertainty as to the number one quarterback on the team. Rote's signal calling against the Eagles Thursday night in Toledo may have resolved the problem. The big Texan, at least temporarily, has earned himself the status of being the number one quarterback.

At Last, Lions Now Have No. 1 Quarterback--Rote

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

One of the trademarks of the 1957 Detroit Lions' team which won the National League Football championship was the ability to come from behind.

★ ★ ★

In five games that year, including the playoff game against San Francisco, the Lions were behind at halftime and through most of the third quarter when sudden late surges brought thrilling victories.

The man behind the gun in the 1957 rush was Tobin Rote who became the number one quarterback when Bobby Layne suffered a broken ankle in the game against the Browns.

Last Thursday night, the Lions did the come-frome-behind trick in spectacular fashion by beating the Eagles, 35-24, and the victory appears to have cleared the muddied quarterback situation.

Up to the last minute before the Eagles' game Thursday however there was still question as to which of the two would start as signal caller.

"Whoever starts this game will play until he gets knocked out of there," said Wilson. Rote started and he went all the way.

It was the first time he had gone the route in any Detroit exhibition game since coming from Green Bay, and for the Lions it appears that the question is solved as to who is the number one and who is the number two quarterback.

In trading Layne, Wilson said, "It is better to know which quarterback is your number one man. It's no good to have 'two' number-one men."

But Layne's departure did not resolve the problem as Wilson wanted. All last season no one really knew whether Rote or Earl Morrall would start until game time. As it was, the Lions still had two "number one" quarterbacks.

For four exhibitions this season the story was the same. Rote started one game, Morrall once and Reichow another.

Against the Giants, Morrall was in for the first six plays, then Rote came in for two series and Reichow followed.

None of the quarterbacks really got warmed up and the Lions' offense was anemic in losing 38-0. Whether the quarterback situation is now resolved with Rote as the top man remains to be seen.

"He regained his confidence and the confidence of the team," Wilson said after Thursday's game, "and it was good to see us come back after going behind 14-0."

Title Contests Only, for Gene

New 'Middle' King to Fight Often, but Not for 'Cakes, Coffee'

WEST JORDAN, Utah (AP) — Gene Fullmer's manager, still fuming over a this-or-nothing set-up for Gene's middleweight title defense, says the new NBA champion will fight at least twice a year—and won't fight unless it's for the title.

"We fought enough coffee and cakes fights when we were trying to get a crack at the championship," said Marv Jenson, whose Mormon battler won the National Boxing Assn.'s version of the crown last week by knocking out Carmen Basilio.

"From now on the championship — and the money that goes with a championship—is all that matters," Jenson said last night.

"We are not considering any exhibitions or overweight fights for Gene. When we fight, the title will be at stake."

Jenson said Fullmer's first defense will come before the end of 1959 — the opponent as good as named but the time and place not fixed.

When Fullmer and Basilio signed to fight for the title the NBA withdrew from Sugar Ray Robinson, they agreed to defend against an opponent picked by the association. Wednesday, the new NBA rankings gave Ellsworth (Spider) Webb the spot as No. 1 contender and thus the nod as next in line for a title shot.

Fraser Favorite at Forest Hills

Aussie Cup Hero Starts Drive for U. S. Singles Crown Today

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (UPI) — Neale Fraser, southpaw strong man of the victorious Australian Davis Cup team, sets out today on a long trail he hopes will put him in the fourth straight All-Australian final in the U. S. tennis singles championship.

Rested and eager after his three-point slam in Davis Cup play, Fraser opens his bid for the U. S. title in a first rounder against Edgar Neeley of Atlanta.

Off his spectacular Cup play, Fraser is an overwhelming favorite to win today and continue to the finals on Sept. 13.

Top-seeded Alex Olmedo of Peru, who already holds the Wimbledon, Australian and U. S. indoor titles, was favored to make it into the finals in the other bracket. But Olmedo, who dusted off substitute Gerald Dubie of Detroit, 6-0, 6-1, 6-1, in the first round yesterday, may have to dispose of Aussies Rod Laver and Roy Emerson before gaining the final.

Third-seeded Barry MacKay of Dayton, O., leading American threat, was matched against Gerard Alleyne of Brooklyn, fifth-seeded Ramanathan Krishnan of India drew Jim Biggs of Southport, Conn and sixth-seeded Luis Ayala of Chile, recent winner of the Pan-American crown, was paired with Lieut. Doctoring Your Golf

By DR. CARY MIDDLECOFF

PATIENT'S COMPLAINT: Wild, into-the-wind drives.

DIAGNOSIS: "You're being tricked into overswinging!"

TREATMENT: A conscious effort is needed to keep from swinging too hard at the ball when hitting a drive into a strong wind. The wind blowing into your face sort of eggs you on to try to put "something extra" into the shot.

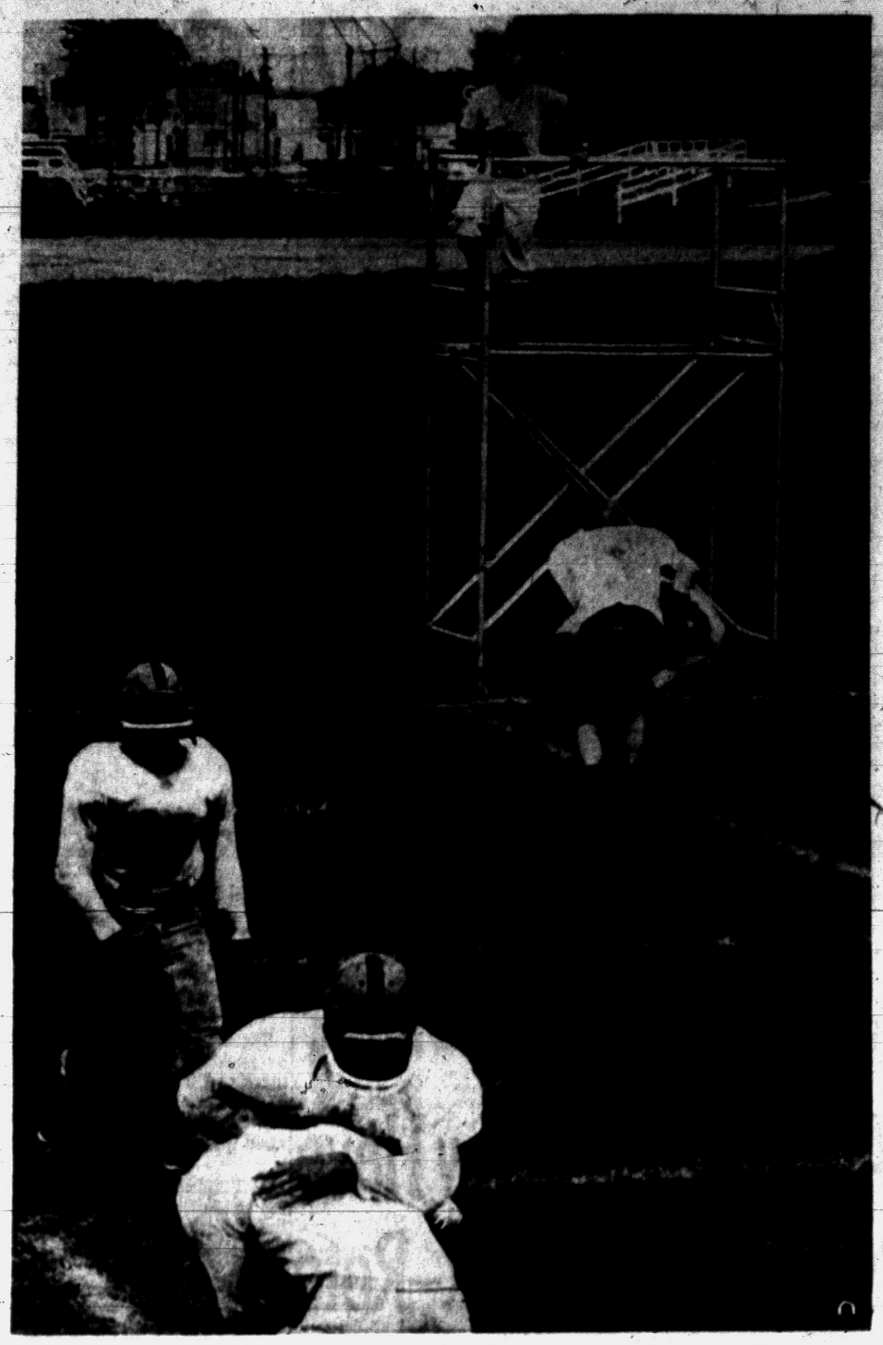

Trying to jazz up the shot, however, is a self-defeating proposition. What is strongly needed for this into-the-wind situation is a solid hit, bringing clubface and ball squarely together.

MSU Holds First Scrimmage Session

Heads Bump Hard for College Gridders

EAST LANSING — Michigan State University held its initial scrimmage session of the season yesterday with coach Duffy Daugherty running his first three teams on offense against the balance of the squad.

Daugherty had his first chance to see his new quarterback, Dean Look, in action at that spot. Look, a star halfback last year, has been converted to a signal caller to try to plug the Spartans' most glaring weakness.

"Look impressed me with the poise he showed and displayed a real good arm," Daugherty said. "But it will take time for him to master the dropback technique and spot receivers."

ANN ARBOR — A first string forward wall for the 1959 Michigan football team appears nearly set, but the battle for backfield positions still is wide open.

"We're just about set in the line," he said, "but our backfield is still a tossup."

The new no. 1 center is senior Jerry Smith, who moved up to fill the vacancy left when Dick Syring was sidelined Wednesday by a dislocated shoulder. Syring will be operated on next week and appears lost for the season.

Elliott had praise for the play at quarterback of Stan Noskin, who currently is engaged in a tough battle for the No. 1 signal-calling job with sophomore John Stamos.

DETROIT — Coach Jim Miller sent his University of Detroit football team through a double workout today as the Titans started intense preparations for their season-opener against George Washington here Sept. 18.

Meanwhile, Miller said he has transfered tackle John Ureel to center. Ureel will be the third lineman to get a shot at the center position.

Two veterans are sidelined by injuries. Senior guard Art Brauer is suffering from headaches and will miss the double workout, as will guard Terry Faylor who suffered a head injury in yesterday's scrimmage.

Giant Hydros Race at Buffalo

Maverick Rated Favorite

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Maverick, with Nevada cattle rancher Bill Stead at the wheel, looms as the choice in tomorrow's unlimited - class hydroplane sprints on the Niagara River.

The Buffalo Launch Club's International Regatta opens today with races for limited-size hydroplanes. But interest centers on tomorrow's battle between six of the country's giants in the unlimited class.

The sleek gold, red, and white speedster was beaten, however, by Canada's Miss Supertest III in the Harmsworth Trophy runoff at Detroit two weeks ago. The victory was Canada's first in the international event.

Miss Buffalo, a local entry, and Nitrogen, a Wilmington, Del., entry complete the field.

U.S. Adds 16 Pan-Am Gold Medals

CHICAGO (AP)—The third Pan-American Games today headed down the home stretch painfully bumpy with U.S. gold medals.

It was more than obvious that, with 74 of 103 titles stowed away by Uncle Sam's powerful squad, our continental neighbors just came along for a teeth-jarring ride in this Western Hemisphere sports outing.

This weekend brings the close of the 27-sport show which started Aug. 28 and the flaming Pan-Am torch in Soldier Field will be doused with formal ceremony on Monday.

★ ★ ★

Today's competition figures to bring another near U.S. sweep in swimming, while another dozen sports begin simmering to a close with the host country expected to be extremely inhospital in most.

★ ★ ★

Boxing ended last night with the United States taking four of the 10 titles offered and producing three fine Olympic prospects, heavyweight Allen Hudson of Glen Cove, N.Y.; light welterweight Vince Shomo of New York City, and light middleweight Willie McClure of Toledo, Ohio.

As expected, Argentina made a strong showing in boxing with three champs, five runners-up and one third. Brazil won two titles and the other went to Chile.

Today's swimming schedule includes finals in the women's 400-meter freestyle relay; men's 400-meter medley relay; women's 200-meter breaststroke, and the first half of the men's platform diving finals.

In each case, the United States is expected to follow its pattern of already having won the first 12 events and scoring sweeps in 10 of them.

In yesterday's aquatic competition, the United States scored medal sweeps in four of the five events. Only Eulalio Rios of Mexico was able to squeeze in for a third in the men's 200-meter butterfly.

Dave Gillanders of Royal Oak, Mich., set a new Pan American record yesterday in winning the 200-meter butterfly swimming event for the United States. He finished in 2:18.0, bettering the old Pan-Am mark of 2:20.2.

Bows to Mrs. LeClair, 5-4

Mrs. Gawne 2nd Best Again

Winning the Women's District Golf Assn. match play championship, it seems, is just not in the cards for Mrs. S. E. (Sue) Gawne of Franklin.

Mrs. Gawne, women's club champion at Bloomfield Hills Country Club for the last two years, moved into the finals of the WDGA tournament for the 2nd straight year Friday at Lochmoor Golf Club.

A year ago Mrs. Gawne reached the final round and bowed to Sally Sharp. She lost again yesterday as her title bid went up in smoke at the hands of Mrs. Keith (Susie) LeClair, the sharp - shooting Ann Arbor housewife.

Mrs. LeClair, who registers from Barton Hills CC, needed only 14 holes to conquer Mrs. Gawne, 5-4, and win her 1st WDGA match play crown.

In all fairness to Mrs. Gawne, it must be said that she ran into a "tiger" yesterday in Mrs. LeClair.

Mrs. LeClair shot one under women's par and only two over men's par as she fired the best game of golf posted by any women in the district thus far this summer.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Gawne's victory on the 4th hole really brought forth an all-out effort by her opponent. Mrs. LeClair won the next four holes to go 4-up at the turn and Mrs. Gawne never had a chance from then on.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. C. P. Mehas of Pine Lake became champ in the 1st flight of the WDGA tourney with a 1-up victory over Mrs. H. G. Higbie of the CC of Detroit.

Hambletonian King in Wolverine Race

DETROIT — The Roaring Grand with the greatest stars of the harness racing world moves into Wolverine Raceway for the final six nights of the track's 42-night meeting.

It is the greatest getaway week program ever in Michigan's history and finds a stake listed on each of the first five nights and a rich overnight is planned for closing night.

More than that Michigan fans may get a chance to see the current Hambletonian king for the first time since Joe O'Brien brought Scott Frost to Detroit back in 1955.

Dillar Hanover, the pride of the Hall Stables Inc. of Watertown, N.Y., is nominated for Tuesday's $7,500 added Victory Song for three-year - old trotters.

Prep Gridders Hitting Hard Now

By CHUCK ABAIR

High school football coaches of Oakland County are well into the rock - 'em - sock - 'em workouts already with the opening games less than two weeks away for the majority of teams.

Double sessions during the past five days have given most of the grid bosses a good idea of what to expect from their squads this year.

The annual pre-season battles for positions are going on in each camp as newcomers try to oust veterans or force their shift to different slots.

Birmingham is among the few schools well set with veterans but Carl Lemle must find somebody for the all-important quarterback slot. It is just the opposite at Waterford where Dave Freeman has many new faces fighting for starting berths.

Of course, the toughest job of all has to be that of Ed Heikkinen and his staff at Pontiac Northern. The Huskies, 50 strong, are prepping for their debut in football with no experienced players.

George Graves, Bruce Norton, Jerry Mineweaser and Jim Heisler may become familiar names to Husky grid fans later, but right now everyone is a rookie.

Jesse MacLeay has mixed emotions as he works with 48 candidates for the Pontiac Central eleven. Having guard sensation Charley Brown back and "the best attitude I've seen here" makes him smile but he has other expressions when thinking of eight boys he expected to have who are not playing.

"One has to work but the rest let us down," says Jesse. Two flunked out while others gave such excuses as having a boat and "too much competition" for not turning out.

Jim Niebauer at St. Michael has been pleased by the appearance of 50 candidates. He can field a veteran team. St. Frederick has had a slim turnout but Tom Kennedy and Gene Wright are hoping to be right back in the thick of things. Orchard Lake St. Mary could roll, led by Stan Krogulecki and Bill Krul.

Dave Smith is rebuilding around three veterans at Walled Lake where he has a sparkling 20-4-0 record in three seasons. Defending champion Farmington needs some backs to go with Harvey Chapman to be up there again. The success of the Odom twins, Terry and Gerry, both backs, could determine how far Southfield will go. Berkley could move right up the Inter-Lakes ladder with good size among 15 lettermen.

Such returning Maples as Sam Reeve and Phil Isbell make Birmingham the Eastern Michigan favorite. Ferndale could be the top threat. Hazel Park of that loop received a rough blow when No. 1 quarterback John Hunter broke a bone in his foot during the 1st drill. He is out for the season.

Frank "Coach of the Year" Crowell is working hard hoping his Avondale team can live up to its billing as the team to beat in the Oakland B. He expects Clawson to be strong featuring some solid linemen. Lake Orion is a doubtful threat but Madison could move up with 19 lettermen. Troy should improve with most of its regulars still around. Fitzgerald is the darkhorse.

The Wayne-Oakland appears a tossup this early and likely will stay that way. New coaches Tom Taylor at Clarkston and Ray Figg of Holly have a good number of experienced hands but not many in the "star" category. Art Paddy is working with some big linemen hoping they can help his speedy West Bloomfield backs. Jerry Ganzel lacks any real standouts but has speed and size among several vets as he works on a multiple offense at Milford.

Ten of the 15 key men at Bloomfield Hills are gone so Don Hoff & Co. have their work cut out. Clarenceville has 40 aspirants but only three regulars drilling for a Sept. 11 scrimmage. Northville has a sound nucleus.

★ ★ ★

The South Central and Southern Thumb anticipate tight races. Joe Borovick has some big sophomores and a passer for the 1st time in Ken Kowalski at Lamphere. Country Day has 24 boys drilling.

Fred Campbell at Cranbrook is having upset dreams preparing for the annual Birmingham opener. Utica has 10 letter men. All-County end John Meadows could make Royal Oak Dondero a power again in the Border Cities.

Scholz Wins Verdict

DYNAMITE Johnny "Dynamite" Gates will meet Dick "Mr. Michigan" Garza in the benefit wrestling matches at Walled Lake Park Skating arena. The match tonight is being sponsored by the St. Williams School Athletic program.

Mickey Wright Early Women's Leader at 67

ROCKETON, Ill. (AP)—Mickey Wright, National women's champ, combined long drives and a deadly iron game yesterday for a 5-under-par 67 and the first-round lead in the Cosmopolitan Women's Open Golf Tournament.

The San Diego sharpshooter was a stroke in front of Louise Suggs of Sea Island, Ga., entering today's second round of the 54-hole tournament at the 6,107 yard, par 36-36—72 Macktown Forest Preserve course.

Six other pros also broke par. They included Beverly Hanson of Indio, Calif., 69; Betty Jameson of San Antonio and Joyce Ziske, Waterford, Wis., 70s; Kathy Cornelius, Lake Worth, Fla., Fay Crocker of Uruguay, and Marlene Hagge, Delray Beach, Fla., 71s.

Pittsburgh Drops 3rd Straight

Spahn Wins 18th, Giants Bow to Cubs

By The Associated Press

Yes, sir, boy, that's a real hot race for the National League pennant. The top three clubs have lost three more games than they've won in the past two weeks of the stretch drive.

★ ★ ★

The San Francisco Giants have managed to lose seven of their last 11 games. Yet they still lead by two.

Second-place Los Angeles is the only winner among the top three over the past two weeks. And the Dodgers are only 5-3 for that span.

Milwaukee's third-place Braves, running on a treadmill in pursuit of their third straight flag, have lost six of their last 10.

The Giants blew a half-game of their lead over idle Los Angeles last night, losing 2-1 to the Chicago Cubs on a pair of unearned runs. Milwaukee cuts is latest losing skid at three, beating Cincinnati 4-1 as Warren Spahn won his 18th with a three-hitter. The Bucs were blanked on six hits by Philadelphia's Jim Owens 3-0.

The Giants, hobbled by infield injuries, kissed this one good-bye when Jackie Brandt, an outfielder playing third base, booted two balls in the fifth inning and Al Dark followed with a two-run double. Jack Sanford (12-12) lost it, his third in a row, although giving up just five hits in seven innings.

Glen Hobbie (14-11), a young right-hander who has split eight of his victories between the Giants and Braves, gave up seven hits, but blanked the Giants on five over the last eight frames. San Francisco scored in the first on a triple by Willie McCovey, who has hit in 17 consecutive games, and an infield single by Orlando Cepeda.

The Giants used Sam Jones, the right-hander who has won 18 in a starter-reliever role, over the last two innings and he retired six in a row, three on strikeouts. It was his second relief job in three games and the Giants have used four starters—Mike McCormick, Johnny Antonelli, Sanford and Jones—in that span.

Spahn put away the 264th victory of his career while Hank Aaron had three hits in five trips, drove in three of the Braves' runs and upped his NL leading batting average three points to .361. Singles by Ed Mathews and Aaron brought Milwaukee from behind in a two-run sixth against Bob Purkey (10-16), who lost his sixth in a row.

The Reds' run against Spahn, who tied teammate Lew Burdette, Antonelli and Jones for the NL lead in victories, came in the first inning and was unearned. A single by Gus Bell brought it home after a two-base error by Joe Adcock.

An Error, Ed Bouchee's RBI double and a run-scoring single by Gene Freese beat the Pirates and Harvey Haddix (11-10), who had won four in a row. Don Hoak had half of the Bucs' hits as Owns (11-11) gained his first major league shutout.

Fishing 'Derby' Ends Labor Day

Only Two Days Remain to File Entries for Press' $150 Contest

With only Sunday and Monday left, prospective competitors for the $150 in U. S. Savings Bonds, awards for The Pontiac Press "fish derby" will have to hurry. The 1959 contest concludes at midnight, Monday, Labor Day.

Entries taken during the weekend must be filed not later than 12 o'clock, noon, Tuesday, Sept. 8. Announcement of the winners will be made on The Press Outdoor page, Wednesday, Sept. 9.

Cooler temperatures may bring about increased activity among the county's piscatorial populations, and produce some fine, contending black bass, pike or bluegills. The heaviest fish in each category will be worth $50 to the lucky angler who files the entry.

It will take a better than six-pound bass to win that division. Present leader is even six pounds.

Complete Southern 500 Field Today

DARLINGTON, S.C. (AP)—The 35 remaining starting assignments in Monday's Southern 500 stock car classic were on tihe line today in final time trials for the $70,000 race.

The 15 best positions were filled in three previous days of qualifying. Entries in the 500-mile event are limited to the 50 fastest drivers.

Fireball Roberts of Daytona Beach, Fla., won the coveted pole position Wednesday. The defending champion's average speed for the four laps around the 1¾-mile Darlington Raceway was 123.734 m.p.h., a record for the track.

Gridder Grabs for Ball, but Gets a Snake

The 205-pound junior was rushed off the Stanford practice field but doctors said the snake, about a foot long, was not poisonous.

"Any country boy would know that wasn't a poisonous snake," said coach Jack Curtice. "I didn't spend 12 years in Texas for nothing. And I never lost a player by snakebite."

Cards Buy Pitcher

Grill Wins, Knights Lose in State Baseball Debuts

It was success for Griff's Grill and failure for the Knights of Columbus as Pontiac's two City League baseball champions opened state tournament play Friday.

Both teams were in action again today in the double elimination tourneys. The Knights met host Battle Creek, also a loser yesterday, at Bailey Park at 1 p.m. Griff's tangled with Detroit Roostertail, conqueror of Dearborn Friday, on the Butzel diamond at 1:30.

Jerry Pointer, who pitched the first six innings, and Larry Cates received lusty batting support in the conquest of Ecorse-Rouge. The Grillers led all the way with Bruce Johnson contributing four hits to the attack.

Pointer and Cates limited the losers to six hits, but walks and errors helped to boost their scoring total. Pointer received credit for the win.

Veteran Herman Bishop was the losing hurler at Battle Creek where the K. of C. club put runners on the bases in every inning except the 9th and stranded a total of 12 men. The Knights outhit Jackson, 13 to 10.

In the 2nd inning the Knights loaded the bases with nobody out and managed to score only once. Two other times they killed promising rallies by rapping into double plays with careless base running playing a part in the DP's.

Jackson took a 4-2 lead in the top of the 4th inning and led the rest of the way. Bishop was relieved by Terry Hoy in the 7th and Jim Wagner twirled the 9th frame. Neil Otto went the route for Jackson. Hal Trott and Al Barkeley had three hits apiece for K.C.

Other 1st round results at Battle Creek were:

Kalamazoo 15, Ypsilanti 1; Detroit 3, Ecorse 2; Monroe 10, Prescott 7; Dearborn 12, Grand Rapids 6; Lansing 5, Battle Creek 1; Wyandotte 8, Muskegon 0; Saginaw 15, Dafter 1.

Lesser Lights Lead

Stars Trail at KC Open

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Bob Goetz, Jerry Pittman or Mason Rudolph may or may not be among the top finishers in the Kansas City Open Golf Tournament. But after yesterday's round they had the old pros talking to themselves.

★ ★ ★

Goetz, a 26-year-old from Tulsa, Okla., fired a 7-under-par 65 for the first-round lead in the $20,000 tournament on Blue Hills Country Club course.

His 33-32 tied the competitive record for the 6,542-yard course. The mark is shared by such players as Dr. Cary Middlecoff, Gene Littler and Mike Krak.

Pittman, 22, also of Tulsa, shot a 34-32—66, and Rudolph, of Clarksville, Tenn., got the same total on a pair of 33s.

★ ★ ★

Not one of the three missed a green, and if a long putt was needed it was made. Twice Goetz holed 20-foot putts. None of the three had a bogey. Pittman birdied four of the last five holes.

More than 50 played the course in par 72 or better.

The leaders:

Bob Goetz	33-32—65
Jerry Pittman	34-32—66
Mason Rudolph	33-33—66

Points of Irritation Between Leaders Reduced

Ike Happy Over Intangible Results of Trip

Merriman Smith, veteran United Press International White House reporter, accompanied President Eisenhower on his 10-day tour to Bonn, London and Paris. In the following dispatch he sums up the apparent results of the President's mission.

By MERRIMAN SMITH

AYR, Scotland (UPI) — President Eisenhower seemed today to have polished and smoothed the Western household of nations into relatively good order for the arrival in Washington of Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev.

★ ★ ★

The President wanted to air and examine most Western differences on a personal basis with the leaders of West Germany, France, Great Britain, Spain, Italy and the North Atlantic Council before sitting down for some tough Cold War talk with the Soviet premier this month.

As Eisenhower relaxed today in Scotland before flying back to Washington, his energetic tour of Bonn, London and Paris seemed to have reduced some of the more nettlesome points of irritation and relaxed some of the fears that were evident within the West.

How lasting would be the regenerated atmosphere of comradship in the Cold War was any diplomat's guess, and a lot of them were. But Eisenhower, himself, was happy.

In his tour which began Aug. 26, Eisenhower stressed the peace-is-possible theme at every opportunity and audiences from Bonn to Paris seemed to like it.

The inside workings of diplomacy were important, but the President felt that the booming public receptions at every stop were equally important dividends.

From the President's viewpoint, here are some of the results of his journey as arduous as any he ever undertook in the election campaigns of 1952 and 1956:

—His advisers feel that Khrushchev must know that most of the millions of people who turned out to cheer Eisenhower did so voluntarily, and not entirely as the result of stage management. Only in France was there concrete evidence of extensive government effort to produce a big public reaction to Eisenhower's presence.

—Eisenhower, largely as a result of this trip, was more than ever convinced that he should devote increasing amounts of time to similar visits to other countries.

—He feels that the larger Western Allies now understand each other better than they did before his trip.

In essence, Eisenhower seemed to feel that as a result of his talks with leaders of the West, and with these talks held against the busy scenery of booming public welcomes, his hand in dealing with Khrushchev had improved appreciably.

The President also seemed to have made detectable progress in easing fears in some areas caused by his exchange of visits with Khrushchev. He did not appear fr omhte language of the generally undetailed communiques issued jointly with his conferees to have changed his position essentially on a summit meeting.

On the basis of his public statements, the President seemed still solid in his condition that a summit must be preceded by some Soviet assurance in advance that a top-level gathering will produce fruitful results.

He differs with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, but this difference is no split in the more serious sense of the word. Macmillan simply wants a summit meeting with fewer prior conditions than Eisenhower feels are necessary.

★ ★ ★

French President Charles de Gaulle still wants a greater French voice in the master planning of the West. West German Chancellor Adenauer also has decided wants, too, but Eisenhower gives the impression that the Western gaps have narrowed.

In each country, Eisenhower's immediate concern was the "problems involving our relations with the Soviets." He has explored this tangled field as thoroughly as possible under a limited time schedule, and he plans to keep his Allies closely and rapidly informed if Khrushchev puts forth new ideas for easing world tensions.

The Western Allies will be informed in any case, but the President has made clear that he will not negotiate with the Soviet premier, nor will he think of attempting to commit any friendly nation to a solution without first consulting and checking through normal diplomatic channels.

Disarmament was a big talking point at each stop. The Eisenhower findings apparently were summarized in the communique on his meeting in Paris with Italian Prime Minister Antonio Segni.

"It was agreed," the statement said in part, "that a controlled and balanced limitation of armaments represents the most appropriate means to guarantee peaceful relations between East and West."

Rebels Quiet in Argentina

Frondisi Lets His War Secretary Out; Hopes for Temporary Truce

BUENOS AIRES (UPI)—Argentina's rebellious military leaders maintained an uneasy truce with the government today, but a top minister warned the country could be headed toward a "totalitarian end."

The prospect of open civil war was eliminated yesterday only after President Arturo Frondizi agreed to dismiss his war secretary and restore an ousted "rebel" general as chief of the army.

This concession was the latest in a series imposed on Frondizi in recent weeks by dissident army and navy officers. It was made while government tanks rumbled out of Buenos Aires in preparation for an attack on the engineering school where rebellious army units had barricaded themselves.

Minister of the economy, Alvaro Alsogaray, said of these events: Only the next weeks will show if the solution reached was a democratic one or "if the republic marches definitely toward a new totalitarian end."

Alsogaray, who himself entered the Frondizi cabinet just two months ago at the end of another military crisis, warned that the troubles in the Argentine armed forces "affect the life of the whole country and threaten their institutions."

"The country is in no position to suffer new commotions," he added.

Chinese Hold On to Indian Land

Nehru Says Peiping Is Claiming Aggression, but So Is He

NEW DELHI, India (UPI) — Communist Chinese forces are holding on to two sections of Indian territory along the southern Tibetan border, reports reaching here said today.

The reports said the Chinese still have not left their positions in the Ladakh area of Eastern Kashmir or the Logju area of the northeastern frontier agency despite repeated Indian protests.

Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru told Parliament yesterday that Peiping has claimed the areas as Chinese territory and accused India of aggression in border clashes—exactly reversing Indian claims and charges.

India is particularly concerned about the Ladakh area since the Tibetan border there never has been demarcated.

It is a strategically important section for Indian communications and government officials in New Delhi fear that once the Chinese take hold it will be impossible to oust them.

People in the Ladakh area were reported getting panicky about a large Communist troop buildup on the Tibetan side of the border and the Indian army has sent troop reinforcements in an attempt to reassure them.

Wants Federal Payment of Tax

Broomfield Says Cities Unjustly Penalized If Property Exempt

A bill to permit federal payment of local property taxes was cosponsored today by Congressman William S. Broomfield (R-Oakland County).

Broomfield said many cities, counties and school districts are 'unjustly penalized" because federal property is exempt from local taxation.

"The bill I have introduced would set up policies for the federal government to make payments in lieu of taxes to these communities and establish a board to consider such payments," Broomfield said.

He added that federal real property would be charged for (1) special assessments for streets, sewers, water distribution systems and drainage projects on the same basis as local land owners, and (2) local taxes on all commercial and industrial property owned by the federal government, including property used for mining, manufacturing, generation of electric power and storage of property.

"This bill would include local payments in lieu of taxes by the Tennessee Valley Authority which has been using its unfair advantage to raid industries in Michigan," said Broomfield.

The bill has been referred to the House Interior and Insular Affairs Committee for consideration.

Under the proposed plan, payments in lieu of taxes would be made by the federal government for post offices, missile bases, federal agency offices and buildings, most of which pay no taxes to local communities.

Plan 12 Trips Daily From Area

Set Airport 'Bus' Service

Stationwagon bus service between Pontiac, Birmingham and the two big Wayne County airports will begin Monday.

Twelve trips daily both ways have been scheduled by the Airports Service Lines Co., a new concern.

The service will be carried on initially by means of new, 5-passenger Pontiac stationwagons, said T. N. Bancker, co-owner of the company.

"But if there is a demand for more service, we intend to put 12-passenger limousines in operation," he said.

There will also be one run a day between Pontiac and Pontiac Municipal Airport, said Bancker.

"When there is airline passenger service to Pontiac, we'll schedule more service to the local airport," said Bancker.

Bancker is general manager of Fleet Carrier Corp., 586 E. South Blvd. His partner in the airlines service is Louis C. Linteau, operator of a foreign car sales lot.

"We believe this new service will fill a long-standing need in the Pontiac area," said Bancker.

The trip from Pontiac to Detroit Metropolitan Airport will take about 70 minutes, Bancker said, and to Willow Run Airport about 90 minutes. Buses will stop at Metro before going on to Willow Run, he said.

Killed in Parking Lot

ALPENA (AP) — Vernon DeLong, 64, was killed Thursday in a two-car collision in the parking lot of the Huron Portland Cement Co.

Rockefeller Sets Meeting as Violence Continues

NEW YORK (UPI)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Mayor Robert F. Wagner appeared agreed today on steps to be taken against rising juvenile crime. But the violence went 'on.

Two teenage boys robbed a 65-year-old woman at gun and knifepoint in her apartment. They fled with $12, but were picked up almost immediately.

They were hustled through the courts by aroused officials and sent to the state training school at Warwick within a few hours after the robbery. A third youth escaped.

Three other teenagers attacked a 74-year-old man on a Coney Island boardwalk. Captured by police, they laughed, joked and smirked when they were arraigned in handcuffs on assault and robbery charges.

As they were led away, one cracked: "See you in five years."

Despite the wound, the patrolman and a transit detective subdued the suspect and hauled him to the police station.

Rockefeller and Wagner said after their meeting yesterday that they had agreed on the agenda for a major conference of city, state, civic and religious leaders Tuesday.

They also seemed to favor similar moves against the rising teenage violence, although Rockefeller would not disclose the proposals he plans to make at the Tuesday meeting.

Money to support their moves would have to be shifted from other budget items, they said, because both the city and state budgets have been set for this year.

Police Commissioner Stephen P. Kennedy meanwhile announced that 500 new men would be appointed to the police academy this month. Kennedy got the go-ahead Thursday to add nearly 1,100 recruits to bring the force up to full strength.

In a frenzied seven days of violence last month, four teenagers were killed, two because of a gang clash on the lower east side and two in a senseless attack in a Hell's Kitchen playground.

Steel Strike May Drag Out

Threatens to Become Longest Walkout Since World War II

NEW YORK (AP)—With negotiations recessed until next Tuesday, the steel strike threatens to become the longest industry shutdown since World War II.

The 1952 strike lasted 59 days. The longest walkout in the industry's history was 14 months in 1909. The current walkout is in its 53rd day.

A new procedure will include bargaining between the Steelworkers Union and the 12 major companies individually, in addition to top-level talks between union and industry four-man teams.

The top - level discussions will deal with over-all issues such as wages and benefits. The individual company talks will tackle local problems.

Under the plan, the union will bring to New York about 450 men who are its bargaining agents with the individual companies. The 12 companies will bring in negotiating teams to deal with their union opposite numbers in separate meetings.

In the current walkout, which started July 15, the industry has held out for a one-year freeze on improvements in wages and benefits. The industry contends that a hike in labor costs will encourage inflation.

3 Prisoners Escape Dehoco Dormitory

DETROIT (UPI)—Three prisoners escaped last night from a dormitory at the Detroit House of Correction.

The three—Homer Hinojosa, 19; Jimmie Pique, 25, and Thomas Shanks, 19, all of Detroit—were serving six-month sentences.

Police said Hinojosa was serving a term for car theft; Pique for attempted breaking of a depository box, and Shanks for attempted larceny from a dwelling.

There are no walls at the House of Correction.

'If My Car Will Go 108 . . . I'll Give It to You'

WESTMINSTER, Calif. (UPI) — Aircraft worker Bill Newberry, charged with speeding and reckless driving for allegedly going 108 miles per hour, was acquitted yesterday after telling the jury what he had told the arresting officers.

"If my car will go 108 miles an hour—I'll give it to you," he said.

Firm Gives Up Fight to Drill in Lake Huron

TORONTO (UPI) — A Toronto firm gave up its court fight yesterday to obtain permission to drill for oil in Lake Huron, a move that had been bitterly opposed by both Michigan and Ontario officials.

F. R. Bowman, appearing for Mineral Explorations Limited, asked the Supreme Court of Ontario for permission to temporarily withdraw the application for a writ of mandamus after the court ordered a week's adjournment.

Reason for the withdrawal, according to Bowman, was that the adjournment made it impossible for workers to complete drilling a well near Sarnia because October storms would make the work too risky.

Money Car Is Stripped Clean in Fair Parade

DETROIT (AP) — B. C. Morton & Co., an investment firm, wanted to attract a lot of attention to its car in the opening day parade for the Michigan State Fair Friday.

★ ★ ★

It sure did. The car, decorated with about a hundred $1-bills was swooped down upon by a group of parade-watchers. They stripped it.

★ ★ ★

Ike Hails German Army

BONN, Germany (UPI)—President Eisenhower, in a letter published here yesterday, praised the appearance and discipline of the West German armed forces he saw during his Bonn visit and said they had "truly warmed an old soldier's heart."

Angry Morse to Get Even

Senate Ambles Slowly Toward Adjournment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators today continued their slow push toward adjournment, but in the path lay a host of tough legislation and the stubbornness of Wayne Morse.

Sen. Morse (D-Ore) has been dipping into his store of legislative know-how to toss parliamentary obstacles in the way of Senate leaders trying to close down shop by next Saturday.

On Labor Day, for example, Morse, angry that the Senate is scheduling work on a holiday, plans to read a three-volume history on labor to his colleagues.

But Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas intends to meet the Sept. 12 target date by keeping the Senate in long sessions. He let the tired legislators go home Friday night only after a working day that stretched over almost 14 hours.

At that time the sharply divided Senate was working on proposals to dispose of billions of dollars worth of government - held farm surpluses. It resumes work on the proposals today.

When the farm surplus program is out of the way, the Senate still must consider such legislation as the foreign aid appropriation, the gasoline tax increase, the increase in interest rates on government bonds, a new public works bill, and, perhaps, another housing bill.

Diggs Denies Charge in Paternity Suit

DETROIT (AP) — Rep. Charles C. Diggs (D-Mich) denied in circuit court yesterday that he is the father of the daughter of a 25-year-old waitress.

The waitress, Jacqulyne M. Gibbs of Detroit, has sued Diggs for support of her 5-year-old daughter. Circuit Judge Frank Fitzgerald ordered Diggs to pay $6 a week until the suit is settled.

As a state senator, Diggs was author of a bill, enacted into law in 1954, which made blood tests mandatory in paternity cases.

Quebec Premier Critical in North Mining Town

The 69-year-old premier was reported unconscious and partially paralized. Three doctors, flown here last night fro mMontreal and Quebec City, were in constant attendance.

Plan Parade for Labor Day in Clarkston

CLARKSTON — There'll be a Labor Day parade in Clarkston beginning at 9:30 a.m. at the corner of Miller road and Main street. It is being sponsored by the Clarkston Rotary Club.

A large group of horseback riders from the area's saddle clubs, the Clarkston High school marching band and various floats with marching groups of different organizations, children in costume and on bicycles will form the colorful parade.

They came here from San Juan to visit relatives.

A certified or cashier's check in the amount of 2% of the par value of the notes, drawn upon an incorporated bank or trust company and payable to the order of the Treasurer of White Lake Township School District No. 7 must accompany each bid as a guarantee of good faith on the part of the bidder. Checks of unsuccessful bidders will be promptly returned.

Bids shall be conditioned upon the unqualified opinion of the purchaser's attorney approving the legality of the notes, to be secured at the purchaser's expense. Card of Thanks 1

WE WISH TO THANK OUR MANY friends neighbors and relatives for their kindness, cards of sympathy and floral offerings during our recent bereavement of our dear husband and father. A special thanks to Rev. Phillip Sueris, the Huntoon Funeral Home and pallbearers. The Olosch Family.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY of Kenneth Johnson, who passed away Sept. 5, 1954.
There's an open gate at the end of the road
Through each must go alone;
And there in a light we cannot see,
Our Father claims His own.
Sadly missed by mother and father, Mr. and Mrs Phillip Johnson.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF MRS. Frank Reaume who passed away September 6, 1957.
Dear Mother you are not forgotten,
Though on earth you are no more;
Still in memory you are with us,

IN LOVING MEMORY OF MRS. Grace E. White, who passed away September 7, 1952.
I have lost my soul's companion,
And day by day I miss her more,
As I walk through life alone.
Sadly missed by husband and children

IN LOVING MEMORY OF CLYDE W. Warren who died September 6, 1952.
The depths of sorrow we cannot tell,
Of the loss of one we loved so well.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF MORRIS Pringle who passed away September 5, 1954.
But never will the one we love,
Sadly missed by his sisters.

British Security Deports Pole; Report Spy Ring

LONDON (AP) — The secret deportation of a Polish student has prompted reports that Britain has uncovered a Communist spy ring among young scientists.

A Home Office spokesman said Florczykowski had been returned to Poland "because it is not in the public interest he should remain here."

One report said that at least a dozen young Poles were recently sent here by Warsaw's intelligence service to cultivate British students and expatriate Poles who might reach positions of trust or authority in Britain.

depend on an accurate check of your TV tubes from so-called, do-it-yourself tube checkers. These devices are primarily designed to act as sales getters in drug stores and super markets.
DO !!!
take your TV or radio tubes to your local TV service man. He is trained to evaluate the condition of the tubes he checks — in addition he uses a laboratory-type instrument which is superior in accuracy compared to the instrument found on do-it-yourself counters.
