$750,000 Exhibit Is Viewed by Hundreds of Celebrators

By PETE LOCHBILER

The largest industrial exhibit in Pontiac's history demonstrated the city's industrial might today in the Civic Center area where Pontiac yesterday paid tribute to its new public buildings.

Hundreds of Centennial celebrators filed into the colorful Centennial Industrial Exhibit after it was opened at 9 a.m. with the chug-chug of a 1916 GMC truck and a 1926 Pontiac, noisily moving through a red-white and blue ribbon.

Stuart E. Whitfield, general chairman of the Greater Pontiac Centennial, began the "Industrial Day" program by declaring "as industry goes, so goes Pontiac."

The $750,000 exhibit, featuring Pontiac automobiles, GMC trucks and buses and displays from other Pontiac industries, is located in the municipal parking lot on East Pike Street. The three-day show will be open to the public, without charge, 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. today through Thursday.

In the opening ceremonies, there was music by a five-piece band as the truck and car split through the ribbon.

SHOW PREMIERED

City and industrial leaders then moved into one of two exhibit tents for the premier of a 45-minute "Previews of Progress" show staged by General Motors Corp.

Introduced at the opening by Whitfield were: S. E. Knudsen, Pontiac Motor Division general manager and GM vice president; Paul Richardson, vice president in charge of sales for Baldwin Rubber Co.; Robert S. Nelson, president of the Universal Oil Seal Co.; Thomas F. Wiethorn, Pontiac Fisher Body Division plant manager; Mayor Philip E. Rowston; and Thomas E. Wilson, general manu-

Adolf Eichmann Flatly Denies Jewish Charges

Pictures Himself as Obscure Official in Extermination Plot

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Adolf Eichmann pictured himself to the world today as an obscure Nazi official who had nothing personally to do with the slaughter of 6,000,000 Jews in World War II.

He said he was an "emigration and transportation specialist" who only carried out his bosses' orders.

Gray-faced and haggard, but speaking in a firm, precise voice, Eichmann took the stand to answer the Israeli state's crushing charge that he was the kingpin in the Nazi machine for extermination of the Jews.

His answer was a flat denial.

Answering questions for more than two hours from his West German defense attorney, Dr. Robert Servatius, Eichmann asserted that:

—He did not come here voluntarily to testify. The statement in which he declared he did so was signed by him under duress after his Jewish kidnapers in Buenos Aires had chained him to a bed.

—He joined the Nazi party in 1932 because it was pledged to end the 1919 Versailles Treaty restrictions on Germany. He regarded as "a tragedy and no fault of mine" the fact that Adolf Hitler and other top Nazis decided to exterminate European Jewry during World War II.

—He tried to learn Hebrew "in order to be something unusual" in the Nazi secret police.

'FAVORED JEWISH STATE'

—He helped promote Zionism and was all in favor of emigration of the Jews from Europe and creation of a Jewish state which he considered "the Columbus egg" in solving the Jewish problem.

—In the security police headquarters in Berlin he could take no independent decisions without the knowledge and approval of Gestapo boss Heinrich Mueller.

The Jerusalem courtroom was packed and some 600 spectators —nearly the capacity of the court —were turned away. Security precautions were greatly stepped up both inside and outside the courtroom to guard against any demonstrations against Eichman. But the session passed without any disturbances.

Eichman began his testimony after Israeli state prosecutor Gideon Hausner wound up a case that had taken more than two months, with presentation of a final mixed batch of documents, including five pages taken from a "confession" Eichmann is alleged to have dictated to former Dutch SS Major Willen Sassen while a fugitive in Buenos Aires.

Dillon Sees 8 Pct. Jump

Expects Spurt in Economy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon today predicted the nation's economy will grow by a whopping 8 per cent next year and put the federal budget back into the black.

In a talk prepared for the National Press Club, Dillon said "we should keep this long-range prospect of prosperity clearly in mind" when accessing the budget deficits currently being recorded.

"It is probably that by this time next year our economy will be rolling in high gear," Dillon said. "We may well be in the midst of an economic boom."

Dillon said the nation's total output of goods and services—the gross national product—will approach $515 billion this year compared with $503 billion in 1960.

Noting this would mean an economic growth rate of 2¼ per cent, he added that 1962 "gives promise of being a year of accelerating growth."

Looking ahead, he said: "From something like $540 billion in the first quarter, we can reasonably hope for an increase to about $570 billion by year end.

This would give 1962 an annual level of some $555 billion, an increase of nearly 8 per cent over 1961."

Dillion was speaking of annual rate in referring to $540 billion in the first-quarter — meaning actual production for the quarter would be one-fourth of that figure. Similarly, he referred to annual rate in his mention of $570 billion by year end.

TERMS CLARIFIED

Saying that chances for such a performance are good, Dillon asserted that this would mean enough federal revenues "to meet all of our national needs, with something left over."

Dillon said revenues in the 1963 fiscal year, which begins July 1, 1962, should approximate $90 billion.

For fiscal 1962, which begins next month, the Treasury looks for revenues of $81.4 billion and a deficit of $3.7 billion.

For the current fiscal year, ending June 30, the Treasury now is forecasting a deficit of about $3 billion.

Dillon said the fiscal 1962 deficit need bring no fear of the classic kind of inflation in which too much money chases too few goods. He said there is too much excess capacity in industry and the labor force to make this possible.

Instead of creating inflationary pressures, Dillon said, the prospective deficit "will be helpful in putting our unused plant capacity and labor force to work."

Weatherman Promises to Be Kind

Spectacle Ready to Go Tonight

With the weatherman predicting clear skies by this evening, Centennial Headquarters was confident today that the first performance of the giant Spectacle, "The Pontiac Story," will take place tonight at Wisner Stadium.

If rain doesn't cancel out the show for the second straight night, preliminary ceremonies will begin at 8:15 p.m., a half-hour before the show.

During a musical preperformance program, Veachel Bilyeu is scheduled to be crowned as Miss Centennial, receiving the new Tempest she won in the Miss Centennial contest.

Someone will have to substitute for Congressman William S. Broomfield, R-Oakland County. Scheduled to crown the queen last night, Broomfield was unable to remain in Oakland County today. He left this morning for an important session in Congress.

RAIN WAS HEAVY

Heavy rain last night forced Stuart E. Whitfield, general chairman of the Greater Pontiac Centennial, to cancel the opening performance of the 1,082-cast show.

Headquarters was following this procedure in regards to last night's ticket holders:

All tickets are exchangeable for new ones for any of the five remaining previously scheduled performances, running tonight through Saturday.

Or, ticket holders could hold on to their tickets for the "rain check" performance now scheduled for Sunday, June 25. Holders of reserved seats for last night can automatically have the same reserved seats Sunday.

Tickets can be exchanged at Centennial Headquarters in the Pontiac Public Library from 9 a.m. through the noon hour to 5:30 p.m. every day or at the Stadium box office beginning at 7:15 p.m. performance nights. Tickets are being sold during the same hours.

If the performance tonight, or any other night, should be rained out, the procedure will be the same as last night. Advance notice of any cancellation will be carried over Radio Station WPON during the evening hours.

U.S. Recalling N-Talks Envoy

Dean to Consult With JFK, Rusk; May Not Return to Parley

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The State Department said today the top U.S. negotiator at the deadlocked Geneva nuclear test talks is being recalled for consultation, and it is an open question whether he will return to the conference.

The U.S. negotiator, Arthur H. Dean, is slated to leave for Washington Wednesday for talks with President Kennedy, Secretary of State Dean Rusk, and others, on the apparent failure of the long-drawn-out Geneva parley.

Lincoln White, State Department press officer, said that whether Dean will go back to Geneva depends on the outcome of his discussions here and on developments at Geneva. He expressed hope that there will be "some forward motion" at the Geneva talks which would justify Dean's return.

However, it is an "open question" as to whether Dean will go back, the spokesman said.

The No. 2 man on the U.S. negotiating team, Charles C. Stelle, will take over for Dean at Geneva in the meantime.

Slipping Mercury to Creep Upward to 68 Wednesday

Morning northeasterly winds at 5 miles per hour will become northeast to north at 13-18 m.p.h. late today diminishing tonight. Winds will be northwesterly at 10-15 Wednesday.

Reply by Friday, Castro Is Told

Accept Farm Tractors or Nothing—That's U.S. Group's Ultimatum

DETROIT (UPI) — Cuba's Fidel Castro has until noon Friday to decide whether he'll accept 500 farm-type tractors as full ransom for 1,214 April invasion prisoners. Otherwise, any deal is off.

That was the Tractors-for-Freedom Committee's answer Monday night to the Cuban prime minister's revised demand for $28-million worth of tractors, if he doesn't get the 500 heavy-duty types he says he had in mind originally.

In a take-it-or-leave-it cable, the committee told Castro it was prepared to ship only agricultural tractors and only 500 of them "for the two-fold humanitarian purpose" of freeing prisoners and helping Cubans win higher living standards.

Castro broached the tractors for prisoners deal in a television speech May 17. With White House approval, Dr. Milton Eisenhower, Eleanor Roosevelt and Walter P. Reuther formed as co-chairmen the Tractors-for-Freedom Committee to raise money for 500 tractors.

The committee told him he had changed his original proposal and that his list of prisoners had fewer names than "the total 1,214 indicated by you in your original offer."

"Unless we have received from you clear, positive acceptance of our offer by noon, E.S.T., on Friday, June 23," the cable said, "our committee will consider the purposes for which it was established are not possible of realization because of your failure to comply with terms of your own original proposal."

A committee spokesman said the estimated cost of machines offered by the committee was between $3½ million, roughly nine times below Castro's demand.

"The committee probably would have to deliver more than 4,500 light tractors to meet Castro's $28 million price," the spokesman said.

Force Out Fidel if Necessary, Says Goldwater

DETROIT (UPI)—If no other means is effective in knocking down what he considers Fidel Castro's pro-Communist government in Cuba, then Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., says the United States should use military force.

"I'd move in and get them out," Goldwater said. "Some day we're going to have to get rid of communism there—let's face it."

In an interview before he gave the keynote address for the convention of the National Association of Plumbing Contractors last night, Goldwater also criticized the proposed swap of tractors for prisoners taken in the abortive April invasion of Cuba by anti-Castroists.

He said a swap of 500 tractors for 1,200 Castro prisoners would be "unconstitutional, immoral and illegal." He termed Castro's demand of tractors for prisoners "international blackmail."

The Arizona Republican said if the swap were not barred by a federal court injunction, then Congress will step in and block an export-import permit for it.

As a means of possibly toppling Castro, short of military intervention, Goldwater proposed a full embargo, backed by a fullscale blockade, even if it means a dispute with Canada.

Ikeda, Kennedy Open Three Days of Conference

From Our News Wires

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy and Japan's Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda opened a three-day series of conferences today, starting with Kennedy's pessimistic assessment of prospects for a cold war truce.

Kennedy discarded his crutches —but only momentarily—to greet Ikeda with a handshake.

Kennedy arose from his chair in the White House office to shake hands with Ikeda when photographers in the room asked for that type of welcome.

"I guess I'll have to stand up for this," Kennedy said with a smile. He rose with no apparent difficulty, clasped Ikeda's hand, and then sat down.

The standing, handshake was the first time newsmen had seen Kennedy without crutches since he arrived in Palm Beach, Fla., June 8 for a weekend of rest. The fact that he had suffered a back strain on May 16 had been announced only that day.

FIRST MEETING

Ikeda, who arrived here at 7:59 a.m. (Pontiac time), drove across Pennsylvania Avenue from the Blair House guest mansion to this first meeting with Kennedy.

The pro-Western Japanese leader flew in from Los Angeles aboard the President's official plane. He was greeted at the airport by Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson and Secretary of State Dean Rusk, with full military honors.

Ikeda broke Japanese tradition by bringing his wife along on the official visit.

Johnson welcomed Ikeda, on behalf of Kennedy and the American people, as a friend and "an associate in a great enterprise . . . to promote among the nations of the world intelligent commerce and mutual understanding."

Rusk told newsmen after the initial conference that there was a general review of the world situation but no technical questions regarding trade and textiles were discussed.

The President and Ikeda, he said, had a "very interesting and important talk" which covered Kennedy's meeting with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and the Chinese Communist situation.

Rayburn Glum on School Aid

Sees Little Hope Now! More Optimistic Over Foreign Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Speaker Sam Rayburn today described as not very good the prospect for passage of President Kennedy's aid-to-education program in this session of Congress.

He also said there is a country-wide campaign against the administration's foreign aid program, but said he believes Congress in the end will decide "we need it."

Rayburn talked with newsmen following the weekly conference of Democratic legislative leaders with Kennedy.

The speaker said the leaders covered a wide range of subjects with Kennedy, with particular emphasis on foreign aid.

Despite the campaign against foreign aid, Rayburn said the outlook for the program appears better than that for the educational aid plan.

Rayburn also said it will be "pretty tough to get an agriculture bill" through Congress at this session.

Rayburn said he does not know just who is behind the campaign against foreign aid, but remarked there are "some hate societies running in the country." He said they are against everything.

Swainson Leaves for Governor Parley

LANSING (AP) — With staff in tow, Gov. and Mrs. Swainson depart today on the first leg of an air trip to the annual Governors' Conference in Honolulu, Hawaii.

The 12-day journey will be a mixture of business and pleasure.

The governor's party will spend three days in Las Vegas, Nev., and leave San Francisco for Hawaii on Saturday.

All but Mrs. Swainson will use a National Guard plane. The governor's wife was confined to a hospital with a collapsed lung last winter and her physician advised her to use a speedier, more highly pressurized commercial plane for the overseas flight.

The governor's conference will open Sunday and close Thursday.

Youth Drowns in Walled Lake

Detroiter, 18, Is Year's 10th Victim in County; Weeds Entangle Body

Weeds reaching nearly to the surface in 15-foot depths of Walled Lake yesterday claimed the county's 10th drowning victim of the year.

Oakland Drowning Toll in '61
10
Last Year to Date: 3

The body of William B. Turner Jr., 18, of Detroit, was recovered by sheriff's department skin divers who spent nearly two hours hacking through the dense growth with knives.

The teen-ager had become wrapped in the weeds while attempting to swim to a raft about 100 yards offshore from a Walled Lake public beach. He drowned 30 feet short of the raft in sight of three companions, all from Detroit.

Gary R. Hill, 16, told deputies he was swimming about 30 yards behind the victim when he heard him shout for help, struggle briefly and go under.

"I was unable to get to Bill through the weeds," said Hill. He was forced to turn back.

Two female companions, Joanne A. Bassinger, 15, and Mary C. Lagos, 15, watched the tragedy helplessly from shore.

A resident across the street on East Lake Drive summoned the city fire department, and 20 skin divers arrived at the scene — too late.

They used powerful underwater lights in a futile effort to find the body. The maze was too thick even for these lights to penetrate, they reported.

CUT BODY FREE

Swimming gingerly through the weeds, deputies Irving Hansen and Medward Tessier blindly touched the body and brought it back to shore after cutting it free.

"It was like looking for the proverbial needle in a haystack," said Sgt. Donald Kratt of the sheriff's department, who headed the operation.

The survivors said they went swimming in the lake to celebrate the school closing for summer vacations. It was the first time they swam in Walled Lake.

The county's drowning toll this year already has surpassed greatly that of last year when three fatalities had been recorded by this time.

"It looks like we're facing a grim year, all right," remarked Kratt, "with the swimming season just getting under way."

Turner became the second county swimming fatality in two days. Sunday, a Detroit woman drowned while swimming in a Camp Dearborn lake in Milford Township.

The other drownings in the area occurred while there still was ice on the lakes.

U.S. Offers Plan for Peace in Laos

GENEVA (AP) — The United States today offered to take its military advisers out of Laos. Communist advisers also would have to pull out under the American plan for turning the divided Southeast Asian kingdom into a neutral nation isolated from the Cold War.

The U.S. offer was made to the 14-nation conference on Geneva by Ambassador W. Averell Harriman, chief U.S. delegate.

He added that the withdrawal must be "phased and coordinated" under the supervision of neutral truce teams. All foreign forces except a group of French instructors would pull out. The French would remain as outlined under the 1954 Geneva agreements making Laos independent.

This would mean the removal of any Soviet or Communist North Vietnamese now with the pro-Communist forces.

"We trust the conference shares this view," Harriman said, "and will act to ensure that military withdrawals are accomplished to achieve lasting peace and independence for the government and all the people of Laos."

HAS SERIES OF PLANS

Harriman made a series of proposals designed to strengthen Laotian neutrality, which would first have to be declared by a Laotian government and guaranteed by the Communist, neutral and anti-Communist nations at the conference.

Leaders of the three factions in Laos are discussing this problem now at Zurich, but there has been no indication of any progress.

The U.S. proposals provide that after all foreign military personnel have left, none would be admitted without the approval of the International Control Commission, a group composed of Canada, Poland and India now in Laos charged with supervising a ceasefire.

More than 100 American military advisers now are stationed in Laos. A U.S. spokesman has charged there are "much more" than 1,000 North Vietnamese Communist troops advising and training the rebels.

Kasavubu, Gizenga Aides to Talk on Congo Future

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga, the Congo (UPI) — The government of Katanga Province declared today that it "is no longer a part of the former Republic of the Congo" and said it will boycott next Sunday's Congolese Parliament session near Leopoldville.

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—The rival Congo regimes of President Joseph Kasavubu and Antoine Gizenga announced agreement today that the Congo Parliament would reconvene on June 25 at Lovanium University, on the heights outside Leopoldville, in an effort to form a unified government.

The delegates from the rival Leopoldville and Stanleyville regimes, holding planning sessions here, agreed that all Congolese will meet at a U.N.-guarded warehouse during the forthcoming session of Parliament.

The representatives also agreed that all members of Parliament would be housed at Lovanium during the session and they would be allowed no contact with the outside world.

In a joint communique the two delegations asked the United Nations to use its good offices to persuade the secessionist regime in Katanga Province to participate in the Parliament, whose aim is to unify the Congo, end strife and put the country back on the road to becoming a real nation.

The United Nations has agreed to prevent any arms, money or other negotiable instruments from being taken into the precincts of the university, and all telephone lines to Lovanium are to be cut, delegates agreed.

Gizenga, a Communist-backed political heir of the slain Patrice Lumumba, has previously made known his willingness to attend the Parliament in person, but today's communique did not specifically confirm this. He heads a Stanleyville regime whose troops dominate Oriental and Kivu provinces.

Apart from the appeal to the United Nations to bring Katanga into the national Parliament, the 14-point agreement shed no light on the future of Katanga's President Moise Tshombe, a captive of the central government for two months.

Snarls Loom in Arms Talks

Session Seeking to Reopen Discussion May Run Into Trouble

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States and the Soviet Union may run head-on into disagreement today as they go into the second round of talks aimed at reopening disarmament negotiations.

The problem is who should be invited to the conference, tentatively scheduled to open July 31.

That's the chief issue expected to be taken up by John H. McCloy, President Kennedy's adviser on disarmament, and Valerin A. Zorin, Soviet deputy foreign minister.

The first meeting Monday was restricted to putting out feelers and to restating positions.

McCloy stressed the purposes of the U.S.-Soviet meeting is to establish the "framework and background" of the disarmament conference. Zorin made it clear that he wants to talk about "substance."

SOVIET DEMAND

U.S. sources said that what Zorin meant by "substance" is the agenda of the conference, including such Soviet demands as the merger of the nuclear test ban issue into the broader question of Moscow's insistence on veto power over any actions.

The Soviets proposed that five Communist, five Western, and five neutral nations should be invited. The United States contends that the number of neutrals should be two.

Baldwin Public Library Sets Olympics for Readers

BIRMINGHAM — Youngsters signing up for such events as javelin throwing and pole vaulting in the Summer Olympics at Baldwin Public Library will discover it takes reading interest and not athletic skill to be a winner.

That's because the Olympics is the theme of this summer's reading club program at the Mary Lamble Room for Boys and Girls.

Mrs. Charles Burch of the library staff said that all boys and girls in the second through the sixth grades are invited to participate in the program.

The objective of the summer reading club is to help children widen their book interests and develop reading ability in off-school months by reading a total of 12 books.

Each boy or girl reads and reports on one book to become eligible to compete in the "Olympics."

Then he or she signs up for three of five events — javelin, hurdles, pole vaulting, swimming and the 100 meter dash.

Reading and reporting on four books during summer vacation completes one event and earns the participant a bronze medal; eight books, a silver medal; and 12 books gold medal.

The reader who completes all five events will receive an Olympic wreath.

The reading program, which began yesterday at the library, will conclude July 28.

Robert G. Saltsman of 208 Larchlea Drive has been re-elected commander of the Michigan Wing of the Air Force Association.

Reappointed wing executive officer was William Whitney of 1635 Torry Road.

Other officers of the association are Maj. Stanley Stepnitz of Mount Clemens, secretary; Case Ford of Royal Oak, treasurer; and James Vignola of Lansing, vice commander.

Costello Finishes 1 Term, Begins 2nd

NEW YORK (AP) — Racketeer Frank Costello finished serving an income tax evasion sentence today and smiled though his troubles with the law were far from over.

The 67-year-old underworld figure was simply transferred from federal to state custody to serve a brief sentence for contempt of court.

When he serves that, he faces federal action to deport him to Italy.

Costello even made light of a bump on the head he suffered as he entered a police van for his transfer from the Federal House of Detention to a police station to be booked on the contempt charge. Blood ran from a cut on his head to his gray suit.

"Just a scratch," Costello commented.

Maritime Strike Increases Grip

100 Ships Idle in Thirty Ocean Ports as Unions Fight Each Other

NEW YORK (AP) — Unions in the national maritime strike, already in stormy seas in negotiations with company representatives, now are finding rough waters in relations with each other.

Important military cargoes appeared today as a dividing element as the paralyzing walkout increased its grip on the nation's shipping as well as industrial concerns ashore.

Slightly more than 100 ships—about one tenth of the nation's merchant fleet — lay immobilized in more than 30 ports on the Atlantic, Gulf and Pacific coasts as the strike entered its fifth day with no indications of an early settlement.

In San Francisco, marine engineers aboard American ships were scheduled to walk off their jobs today, following stepped-up picketing by striking seamen.

A number of oil refineries in the state of Washington, in Texas and on the East Coast have been forced to shut down because workers refuse to cross maritime picket lines.

The military cargoes question jumped into the picture Monday when Joseph Curran, president of the National Maritime Union accused an officers' union of refusing to clear ships for movement of the cargoes.

The program was just across the street from the new, $600,000 Pontiac Public Library, where a series of dedicatory programs began yesterday afternoon.

During the day, Delos Hamlin, chairman of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors, announced that the county was now ready to assume some financial responsibility for the maintenance of the city's most important historical site—the 1847 brick home of Gov. Moses Wisner on Oakland Avenue.

Hamlin revealed that the county's Ways and Means Committee would recommend an initial $1,000 appropriation for the home to the full board at its meeting next week.

GRATEFULLY RECEIVED

The announcement was gratefully received by such members of the Oakland County Historical Foundation as Dr. Sarah Van Hoesen Jones, president, and Mrs. Donald E. Adams, who is also a member of the Michigan Historical Commission.

Hamlin announced the move at 3:30 p.m. ceremonies during which former U.S. Sen. Prentiss Brown, now president of the historical commission, presented an historic marker to the foundation, which has maintained the home through privately-subscribed funds since 1945.

Earlier, the official Centennial party heard D. B. Varner, chancellor of Michigan State University Oakland, deliver the dedicatory address of the new library, opened in the Civic Center last November.

Others on the program were Mayor Philip E. Rowston, chairman of the "Pride in Pontiac Day" program; former Mayor William W. Donaldson, now the city's postmaster; City Manager Walter K. Willman; and Phyllis Pope, city librarian.

Donaldson, who furnished the original impetus for a Centennial celebration while he was still mayor, served as master of ceremonies.

"CULTURAL MILESTONE"

Varner's talk heralded the new library as a "cultural milestone."

Miss Pope spoke of her "inexpressible pleasure and joy" over the new building, which she described as "a dream come to reality."

Next to the excavation where the new $375,000 fire hall is going up, across Pike Street from the Public Safety Building, a man whose father was fire chief in the 1900s was master of ceremonies.

The role was appropriate for Stuart A. Austin, retired Pontiac trucker and veteran member of the Civil Service Commission for firemen.

Others on the brief program included Rowston, Willman, Fire Chief James White, former Fire Chiefs John Schroeder and Frank Kuhn; Sherwin M. Birnkrant, chairman of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce Safety Committee; and representatives from the Firefighters Assn. and the contractors.

Several of the principals helped Rowston lather on cement for the laying of the cornerstone with the date "1961."

READY NEXT YEAR

With the foundation of the fire hall already in place, construction will be rising above ground soon.

Willman said the new fire hall should be in operation early next year.

About that time, the oldest public building in Pontiac will be torn down. This is the 1857 fire hall at Pike and Perry streets, which the new building will replace.

In reference to the old building, Birnkrant said: "We won't forget that the old lady served us well. But now she's grown weary."

WINNING SMILE—Pretty Carol Klopman, 16, of 1599 Eason St., Waterford Township, has reason to smile. She is this year's Community Activities, Inc., beauty queen, having collected the most votes ($232) which will go to the CAI operating-fund. Carol was one of seven contestants entered at the fair, which was attended by more than 12,000 people over the weekend. She received an all-expense trip for two to Gay El Rancho at Gaylord, and leaves Saturday with her campaign manager, Judy Winters of Watkins Lake.

Can't Alter Law to Get ADC Aid

Suitable Homes Must Still Be Requirement, Adams Rules

LANSING (AP) — The State Social Welfare Department must stick to its rules restricting aid to dependent children even if it means loss of its $24-million share of federal funds, the attorney general's office has ruled.

In an opinion handed down Monday, Atty. Gen. Paul L. Adams told State Welfare Director Willard J. Maxey his department could not change its rules requiring that recipients live "in suitable homes" to be eligible for aid.

Adams' ruling has the effect of extending benefits to the state by another year, he said.

The State Welfare Department stands to lose its share of federal funds due to a directive from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, prohibiting states from imposing eligibility conditions.

Adams' ruling should extend the department's eligibility for federal payments, he said. A recent congressional resolution cuts off aid next July 1 to states in which the eligibility requirement is a welfare department rule. States in which it is imposed by law have an additional year to comply.

Michigan is one of seven states that face loss of the federal funds.

J. H. Dancer Succumbs; Founder of D & C Stores

STOCKBRIDGE (AP)—J. Herbert Dancer, 70, founder and president of D & C Variety Stores, died of cancer at his home here Monday.

Dancer and his brother Paul organized the chain in 1926 in partnership with Glen Cowan of Detroit. Earlier, they had bought out the Dancer Mercantile Co. from their father William J. Dancer, pioneer businessman in this area.

The D & C chain has expanded to 34 stores, all in Michigan.

Stand Mute in Court on Break-In Charge

Two men charged with attempted breaking and entering stood mute when arraigned yesterday before Circuit Judge Stanton G. Dondero.

Pleas of not guilty were entered for Eulus Zimmerman, 41, of 47 Hillsdale St., and Clayton Knepfler, 49, of 20 N. Edith St.

They are accused of attempting to break into People's Food-O-Mat, 465 E. Pike St., in April.

Franklin Breck, 28, of 843 Melrose Ave., will be arraigned on the same charge next Monday. He was ordered bound over to Circuit Court by Municipal Judge Cecil McCallum yesterday.

Press Asks Rights in Dominican Nation

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Inter-American Press Association (IAPA) has asked for guarantees that freedom of the press will be established in the Dominican Republic.

John R. Reitmeyer, chairman of the executive committee of the IAPA, sent a message Monday to Dominican President Joaquin Balaguer in which he also asked that exiled Dominican newspapermen be allowed to return to their country and work freely.

Reitmeyer, publisher of the Hartford (Conn.) Courant, asked also that the newspaper El Caribe be returned to its rightful ownership.

Lack of Understanding Feeds College Crisis

By STUART GROSS
Education Writer, Saginaw News

SAGINAW (AP) — Few people in Michigan today know and appreciate the term "crisis in higher education." The rest appear blissfully ignorant or apathetic to a problem state legislators say will require more and higher taxes to solve.

The ones who understand the term are the parents of students who:

Have been refused admission to a college for lack of room or marks not considered high enough;

Have been put on college waiting lists; (Eastern Michigan University alone has 180 students on a waiting list.)

And there are understandable reasons why the big majority of the public shows unconcern or frustration about trying to make sense out of the mess.

1. Many state legislators don't know how big the problem is, how much it will cost, how the money will be raised (what type of tax), or where the money will be spent.

2. Legislators haven't decided in their own minds if existing institutions should get bigger or if new colleges should be built.

3. Some legislators say the problem isn't as big as educators claim, and discount the size of the predicted population explosion.

STORM BREAKS

The storm over education, the state's inability to solve it and the actual size of the problem broke this spring when the legislature didn't give the state-supported colleges and universities the amount of operating money the schools figured was needed. The schools asked $125,043,758; Gov. Swainson recommended $109,688,082; the legislature granted $98,433,591—$417,878 more than last year.

As a result, the nine schools have held enrollments for next year at about the same level as last year. Some legislators call this retaliation. Educators deny this. They say they've run out of room and can't accommodate more students.

Legislators say there is "water" in college budgets. They point to such courses as fly casting, badminton, and bowling. Replies State School Supt. Lynn M. Bartlett:

"These courses are probably one hundredth of one per cent of the total offering, and are confined to physical education courses. They do not occupy a student's full time, and are taught so students will know how to teach them in adult education classes."

Legislators have accused college presidents of being "empire builders." Dr. Victor F. Spathelf, Ferris Institute president, replies:

"There is the phenomenon of the popularity of sweeping, generalized statements by many, including some business leaders, and by some legislators who are being goaded on by the uninformed, which characterize any statement of current or predicted need from a college president as 'propaganda from an empire builder whose purpose is selfish.'

HITS CRITICS

"Let me say that these critics should themselves have to sit across the desk from parents by the hundred to whom you must say, 'No, there isn't room for your child.' This is today. They should have to sit there next year and the year after when the problem is bigger. They should have to be the ultimate decision-makers for the institution. I think their perspective would change abruptly."

Legislators are critical about the utilization of space and professors' time on campuses. State Sen. Lynn O. Francis (R-Midland), Senate education committee chairman, said a joint House-Senate committee will look into this matter and try to get answers.

Dr. Bartlett, secretary of the State Board of Education, said:

"The board would be happy to make available for examination to any responsible committee the legislature might appoint, the financial books and records of the four institutions under its jurisdiction — Eastern Michigan, Western Michigan, Central Michigan Universities, and Northern Michigan College.

"The board further agreed that if the committee appointed by the legislature could indicate after its examination exactly how the four institutions could do a better job, its suggestions would be most welcome."

Sen. Francis said he doesn't know how far into the general problem the committee will delve. Meanwhile, the lines are drawn, the colleges are rejecting students, they are much more selective, and secondary school principals are alarmed. Their reactions will be reported Wednesday.

We Have Only Praise for Centennial Parade

If any one man deserves a pat on the back after Saturday's parade it is SHERWIN BIRNKRANT who was responsible for organizing this extravaganza.

As far as Pontiac is concerned it was a parade to end all parades. The one hour and thirty-five minute display started on time and kept the crowd of some 100,000 entertained constantly.

Proof that the spectators liked the gigantic show was the fact that very few if any were seen leaving before the last unit had passed. This is a great tribute when you can hold the attention of youngsters and grownups for this length of time.

All the performers and floats were simply terrific. The entire program was tops in all respects and everyone connected with it did a bang-up job.

Growth in Population Bringing Its Problems

Increasing sewerage facilities is a problem that is not confined to the City of Pontiac. Here city officials are about to contract for substantial enlargement of the existing sewage treatment plant, at the behest of the State Health Department.

Within the past few days State health officials have ordered a ban on the construction of any more new homes in some 22 communities in Wayne County outside the City of Detroit. As might be expected, this action has brought spirited protests from real estate men, builders and others whose livelihood has been affected by the ban.

In Pontiac's case several attempts had been made by city officials to issue bonds to cover the cost of sewerage plant enlargement after State officials had warned about continuing pollution of the Clinton River. Each time, however, residents voted down the proposed bond issues. Finally the State ordered the City to proceed and the Commissioners had no choice but to go ahead despite the absence of authorization from the voters.

A similar situation exists in Wayne County, although the State's action has been along somewhat different lines there, inasmuch as so many separate cities and townships are involved. A huge program has been planned throughout that area, but many of the affected communities have refused to approve it. So now, after long delay, the State has acted to prevent further home construction, on the grounds that any more homes will only further overtax sewerage facilities that already are inadequate.

Rapid growth in population brings its problems. Waterford Township's experience was another case in point. Many families moved out into that area to avoid the paying of city taxes. They had no city services, but for a time they did not feel the need of them.

Finally, however, Waterford's population increased to the point where sewage disposal became imperative from a health standpoint. In Waterford the Township is the unit affected, in Pontiac it is one city. But in Wayne so many units are concerned that ultimately an authority may have to be set up to which each of the local units will surrender some of its power in the field of sewage disposal.

The same growth in population has brought a similar problem in providing an adequate supply of pure water. This problem affects much of Southeastern Michigan. At first the establishment of an inter-county water authority was considered. Now it appears that the nearby communities may decide to buy water from the City of Detroit.

Huge populations require huge amounts of water, and the treatment of immense quantities of sewage. These are problems which are impossible for individuals to solve. They are even difficult at times for communities. Where the communities are unwilling or unable to act effectively, the State has to step in.

The Man About Town

It Runs in Family

Queens Are Getting to Be the Regular Bilyeu Habit

Good beginning: What is said to be a thing half done; so our Centennial should be OK.

Raising beauty queens is a specialty in the family of

of Ortonville, who have eight children—five daughters and three sons. Seventh in the line,

Veachel Bilyeu,

who 11 years ago was Queen of the celebration of the centennial of her home town of Ortonville's first settlement.

And the architect of this column wants the world to know that he was master of ceremonies on that July 4, 1950, and one of the judges who named Jeanne as tops among five candidates. She had all of the qualifications and graciously reigned over the largest crowd in the history of the village.

The parade was so long that Ortonville hardly had enough streets to hold it, and Congressman delivered a patriotic address as thousands sweltered.

Now Jeanne has come closer to Pontiac, the beautiful wife of

of Green Lake. They have three children, their two girls already showing qualifications for the future queen's highway.

The last in that family line is

now 18—and queen bound.

Correction: In a highly exaggerated statement about my record in our Centennial issue, it said I am a graduate of

when I never got much beyond the eighth grade in any school. I love Holly High so much that I wish it might be relieved of this liability.

On that plane out of Detroit that was held up for a couple of hours by a bomb scare the other evening, of Birmingham wired home that one of the passengers wondered if a cow was on the track.

Charles Crosston

This column is in absolute agreement with

of Bloomfield Hills, who has noticed the verdant young trees in the tubs in front of Pontiac stores, while those in a similar planting in Detroit's downtown have died. He wonders if the general health of the atmosphere has anything to do with it.

All who wish to compete for the $50 U.S. bonds in the Man About Town Whisker contest must be at the Wisner Stadium at two o'clock Saturday, when Queen will make the selection. A $50 bond goes for the longest beard and a $50 bond for the best appearing beard.

David Lawrence Says:

Atheism Called 'Religion' by Court

WASHINGTON — Atheism has just been given approval in theory by the Supreme Court of the United States as a full-fledged "religion."

LAWRENCE

This ought to make the Communists in Russia very happy, but it is doubtful whether it will be received with enthusiasm by all other religions in the United States.

The Supreme Court decided in its ruling on Monday that the Federal Constitution bars any religious test for the holding of public office in either a state or the national government.

A man who wanted to be a notary public found himself disqualified by the Constitutions of the State of Maryland which requires of all state officeholders that they at least acknowledge "a belief in the existence of God."

But was this a religious test or a moral test? Atheism has no formal religious pattern.

In fact, it is usually contended by its defenders that it is the negation of religion. The state has a right, of course, to prescribe for certain posts the qualifications of an individual.

It can specify that he must be a certain age and that he must have a certain amount of education as evidenced by college degrees. It can require also that he must have lived in the state a certain period of time.

Such qualifications are relevant to whether the other people in the state will respect his other acts.

If an office holder doesn't believe in God, he may or may not be a person who doesn't believe in any rules of moral conduct. He could, perhaps, believe that it was proper for him to cheat or to deceive. He might not accept the Ten Commandments, for example, as necessarily governing his conduct.

HAS STATE NO RIGHTS?

Hasn't a state the right to determine whether it wants as an officeholder someone whose ideas of morality deviate so sharply from the general standards?

The question now arises whether, under the latest Supreme Court decision, even a requirement of law that an individual shall express a belief in a Supreme Being would be held to be a "religious test" barred by the Constitution.

Maryland's highest court had held in this case as follows:

"The petitioner is not compelled to believe or disbelieve, under threat of punishment or other compulsion. True, unless he makes the declaration of belief he cannot hold public office in Maryland, but he is not compelled to hold office."

The Supreme Court of the United States says that the fact that he wasn't compelled to hold office is no excuse for barring him and, therefore, in a unanimous opinion, lays down "the law of the land" as follows:

"We repeat and again reaffirm that neither a state nor the federal government can constitutionally force a person 'to profess a belief or disbelief in any religion.'

"Neither can constitutionally pass laws nor impose requirements which aid all religions or against nonbelievers, and neither can aid those religions based on a belief in the existence of God as against those religions founded on different beliefs."

The trouble with the latest Supreme Court decision is its lack of definition. It makes all persons eligible for public office—so far as any religious or morality test is concerned—by forbidding such a requirement to be included in the laws imposed by the state or federal government.

This is tantamount to saying that a person who says he would not accept the prohibitions enumerated in the Ten Commandments—if some of the states of the Union set these up as a test for public office—could be protected by the Constitution.

The Country Parson

"I don't see how members who don't come to church can know so many things that are wrong with it."

Dr. William Brady Says:

Patient Uses Tranquilizers to Break Alcoholic Habit

"Dear Dr. Brady:

"In your recent column there was a letter from a 14-year-old girl who said that her mother had taken to drinking too much wine.

"I thought your reply was fine, but I should like to ask one question of you (and all doctors): 'Why don't more doctors recommend the use of tranquilizers to help people overcome alcoholism?'

"You see, Dr. Brady, at one time I was as badly off as this girl's mother. I was too fond of wine also, but luckily I was able to stop about two years ago.

"I read Lillian Roth's book, and that certainly made me think. Then one day I went out to lunch and found, to my amazement, that I could hardly lift a coffee cup or eat my meal. Somehow I got through the luncheon, but it took an interminable length of time.

"This experience was the turning point for me." (Frightened, I take it, at the prospect of developing alcoholic neuritis, multiple neuritis, partial paralysis.)

"When I got home, I prayed for strength.

"I went to a good doctor. I told nobody except to say casually to my family that I needed a checkup. In my own mind I decided to stop ALL drinking and do whatever the doctor advised.

"The doctor prescribed tranquilizers to help over the rough spots, and believe me, there were some spots that were very rough indeed.

GETS HELP

"But whenever it seemed I couldn't hold out I'd take a tranquilizer and a deep breath and then do whatever task lay ahead. Sometimes the 'task' was a cocktail party, where I took only ginger ale.

"I feel very well now and I just wish more physicians would consider helping people like me with tranquilizers.

"In a few weeks I am going to quit tranquilizers, too, but oh, how they help in the breakaway!

"Please forgive me for not signing my letter. I'm an Alcoholics Anonymous for one."

(No Signature)

The fact that you wrote anonymously made me hesitate to print it. In the 47 years I have conducted this column I have never revealed the identity of a correspondent without his or her written consent.

I hesitate to print this letter for another reason—I'm not quite sure that tranquilizers help an alcoholic to break the drinking habit.

In any case it is a question for the patient's own physician to answer. If the doctor thinks a tranquilizer is indicated he should dispense it, not prescribe it. That is to say, it is a grievous mistake to put a supply of any such drug in the hands of the patient.

Voice of the People:

'GOP Alone Didn't Block Reapportionment'

Our State Representative Arthur J. Law, speaking at a recent intercounty labor union meeting in Pontiac, said there would be no need for a constitutional convention if the Republicans had not blocked reapportionment. To keep the record straight, I remind Arthur Law that legislative appointment as now provided in our State Constitution was established in 1952 by amendment brought about by initiative petition of the people of the whole State of Michigan. The Republicans as a party were not responsible for it.

KALWITZ

The issue today is substantially the same as in 1952. Labor unions then as now, wanted to put representation in both houses of our legislature on a population basis. Other people believing that this would destroy a basic American concept of representative government, proposed continuation of our bicameral legislature with equitable reapportionment of representation for the House on a population basis and the Senate on area and population. This would prevent any one interest or combination of interests from taking over and denying the rights of minorities.

Both propositions were on the ballot in 1952. Voters decided in favor of the method presently in effect.

'Why Use Scripture in Movie Ads?'

Your movie advertisement of "The Sanctuary" displaying a woman in a petticoat along with a portion of scripture is not honoring the Lord Jesus Christ.

The word of God is "The Power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth to the Jew first and also to the Gentile."

I challenge anyone to try and justify from the word of God, the using of the holy scriptures on our movie and television screens.

I further challenge any man of of the modernistic works with a form of Godliness to show me in the history of The Saints of the New Testament, where the word of God was used for any other purpose than the ultimate saving of souls.

The producer, Ivan Tors of ZIV United Artists, read the Senate investigators a letter in which National Broadcasting Co. expressed concern over the absence of sex in seven TV productions he had sold the network. He let it be known that injections of "Youth and Crime" might improve the ratings of "The Aquanuts."

Brain Has Library Card —at Only 2½ Years Old

WEST NEW YORK, N.J. (AP) — Florence Jacobs is the proud owner of public library card No. 4536.

The card will enable her to pursue such favorite subjects as rocketry and the geography of outer space. It will bring her an endless supply of the long, tongue-twisting words that she likes to spell.

Florence is 2½ years old.

The brown-eyed, 39-pound bundle of answers applied for card Monday, but it took a little doing to get it. Library regulations are that card holders must be at least seven years old.

But after a meeting with Florence, Mayor John J. Armellino made an exception to the rule. "She's probably the youngest card holder in the country," the surprised mayor said.

READ 40 BOOKS

Her mother, Marie Jacobs, said Florence already has read some 60 books through the seventh-grade level. She learned the alphabet when she was a year old and now spells more than 300 difficult words, Florence's father, Jerome, is a business consultant.

"I tell her that words are beautiful," said Mrs. Jacobs. "I pronounce new words with great excitement. And Florence uses the dictionary to learn new ones."

Skeptical newsmen, attending the special card-granting ceremony, started questioning. Florence.

"What happened May 5, 1961?" she was asked.

"Alan Shepard Jr. was the first American to shoot into space. And that was a magnificent achievement," Florence replied.

"What are the hazards in outer space for a spaceman?"

"Cosmic rays and ultraviolet radiation," chirped Florence, "and you call a spaceman an astronaut."

She volunteered that rockets have several stages and are propelled by "liquid, solid, exotic and metal" fuels.

To cap her performance, she named the planets and their satellites and ticked off, in alphabetical order, all the 50 states in the United States.

Florence then lettered her name on a library card presented by Florence Osiensky, librarian, and strutted out the door, card in hand.

But one newsman had one more question to ask.

"What do you want to be when you grow up?" he shouted.

"A mother," Florence called over her shoulder.

Select Job With Good Prospects

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

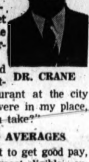
CASE J-420: Norma J., aged 20, is a college junior.

"Dr. Crane," she began, "what job should I take during my vacation?"

"I still lack one year at the university. But I need to earn some money to help my parents keep me in school next year.



DR. CRANE

"Alas, I can't type so that lets me out as a stenographer. However, I could get a job as a file clerk in an insurance office.

"Or I could work as a waitress at a restaurant at the city airport. If you were in my place, which would you take?"

PLAY BATTING AVERAGES

Girls who want to get good pay, plus a chance to meet eligible men, must play the batting averages.

How many men would Norma be likely to meet as she filed carbon copies of dictated letters in musty filing cabinets?

Obviously, her chances of meeting men are greater in the restaurant, so I recommend that choice.

In fact, I routinely advised my coed students at Northwestern University to take waitress jobs in good restaurants during their summer vacations.

For the pay is good and the social contacts give a girl a splendid chance to polish up her "line."

Shy girls are handicapped on the marriage market, for men prefer a gay, talkative date, since they are usually poor conversationalists themselves.

If a girl thus learns to carry 75 per cent of the load in maintaining sparkling repartee and jolly dialogue, her male companions relish her company and come back for more dates.

Remember, girls, it isn't just cosmetic beauty that wins a husband for you since most wives are only average in looks.

What really counts is your skill in making a man feel important!

And if you help him maintain jolly conversation (even though you carry 75 per cent of the load), he feels proud of himself and wants to be with you again!

So imitate the insurance salesman, who engages in "prospecting." The latter goes where he figures he will find the most likely customers.

Girls need to adopt that same strategy. Pick your jobs so you will meet the greatest number of eligible prospects.

WAITRESS "HALO"

A waitress can start conversation in line of duty, without being considered forward or "fresh," for she can smilingly ask:

"What will you have for lunch?"

That lets her open the conversation, and thus protects her own ego if she has been unduly shy or reticent.

Moreover, a man feels mellow and happy after a full meal. As he sips his coffee following his dessert, the waitress actually gains a "halo" in his eyes.

She looks even prettier than she really is. If the man is unmarried and an airplane pilot or mechanic or maintenance man or ticket agent, Norma can be fairly sure he is an ambitious, smart fellow.

So coeds can very profitably consider serving as a waitress during summer vacations. Many college girls thus get excellent wages, plus an engagement ring or fraternity pin before the summer is over.

Send for my booklet "Formula for Spritely Conversation," enclosing a stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents. It will help both men and women in carrying on repartee.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4 cent stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Negro Neighbors Seek End to Panic Selling by Whites

By The Associated Press

Panic selling by white persons in an integrated section of the Lakeview community near Hempstead, N.Y., has led to a campaign by Negro residents to keep the area from becoming predominantly Negro.

One of the first Negroes to move into the area, Lincoln Lynch, said the campaign was designed to stop panic selling and to alert Negroes that if they continue to buy in the neighborhood they run the risk of creating a segregated situation.

Lynch said Negroes are being urged not to buy homes in the section so the community can be stabilized at its present ratio of about eight white residents to each Negro.

40 HOMES FOR SALE

He said about 40 white families in the community of 150 to 200 residents have offered their homes for sale because of the increase in Negro population. The homes cost from $17,000 to $25,000.

At Louisville, Ky., about 300 white persons cat-calling and throwing rocks greeted Negro antisegregation demonstrators at a private, segregated park.

Four or five white persons were arrested after the incident at Fontaine Ferry Park. Nearly 30 Negroes were arrested at the amusement park earlier Monday when they blocked an entrance during a demonstration, police said.

CONSIDERING BAN

In other racial developments:

The Interstate Commerce Commission announced plans for considering Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy's request for a ban on racial segregation in interstate bus facilities. The ICC invited written comments to be submitted on Kennedy's proposal by July 20, with oral arguments Aug. 15.

Kennedy was criticized Monday by Alabama's Atty. Gen. MacDonald Gallion who said the federal official should "take his feet off the desk and put them on the ground."

Gallion denied a statement by Kennedy before a U.S. Senate committee that he had talked with Gallion and Alabama Gov. John Patterson about protection for the "freedom Riders."

"Never before or since the beginning of the freedom rides has Bobby Kennedy or any of his assistants called me concerning this subject and I have never talked with this individual at any time," Gallion said.

Big GOP Backers Forced Adams Out

NEW YORK (AP) — Pressure applied by big Republican campaign contributors was the deciding factor in Sherman Adams' resignation from his White House post in 1958, the 63-year-old former presidential aide says.

Although he felt from the beginning that the congressional investigation of his dealings with Boston businessman Bernard Goldfine would eventually force his resignation, Adams acted when he learned former large GOP contributors were also seeking his resignation.

This disclosure is in the last of a series of articles in Life magazine. The articles are excerpts from the memoirs of the former chief assistant to President Dwight D. Eisenhower being published in book form this week.

Rebel Force Attacks Port Town in Angola

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — A large rebel force armed with an estimated 20 light machineguns attacked the port of Ambriz in the Portuguese West African territory of Angola Monday, the Lusitania news agency said today.

A report from the ageney's correspondent in Luanda, the Angola capital, said the rebels wounded a guard at Ambriz airport, damaged runways and set fire to several buildings before being driven off. The attack lasted four hours. Ambriz is 70 miles north of Luanda.

Laos Aides Talk Over Policies

Prince Phouma Is Sick but Will Be Back in Conference Soon

ZURICH, Switzerland (AP) — The three Laotian princes interrupted their conference today because one of them was ill, but their chief aides met in an effort to iron out some of the differences between the warring factions.

A spokesman said Prince Souvanna Phouma was suffering from a "slight indisposition" but was expected to be recovered by Wednesday.

The working committee was made up of Quinim Pholsena, Gen. Phoumi Nosavan from the pro-Western royal government in Vientiane and Phoumi Vongvichit of the pro-Communist Pathet Lao rebels.

Pro-Western Laotians expressed doubt that the conference of rival princes would be able to agree on a coalition government for their strife-torn Asian kingdom.

"The disagreement is very deep," said a spokesman for the Vientiane group. "I don't have much hope of success. If the talks break down, war will start again in Laos."

Gets AF Command

PARIS (AP)—Gen. Lauris Norstad, supreme allied commander in Europe, Monday announced the appointment of Lt. Gen. Truman H. Landon of the U.S. Air Force to command the Fourth Allied Tactical Air Force, effective July 1. He succeeds U.S. Gen. Frederic H. Smith.

Pakistan Chief Due

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Mohammed Ayub Khan of Pakistan will pay a state visit to the United States next month, the White House announced Monday. He is to arrive in Washington July 11, spend three days here and another three days in New York.

Takes Kindly Digs at Women's Press Club Annual Banquet

WASHINGTON, (AP) — President Kennedy stayed home to nurse his back injury Monday night while Mrs. Kennedy filled in for him at a banquet date with women reporters.

The back strain that caused Kennedy to miss the annual banquet of the Women's National Press Club also contributed to canceling his scheduled flight to Hawaii next week.

Both dates were called off Monday. The White House said Kennedy's recuperation had advanced to a stage where he did not want to risk aggravating the condition.

The same explanation was given a week ago when Kennedy skipped a speaking engagement before the U.S. Conference of Mayors.

Every day since then, White House physician Dr. Janet Travell has been described as satisfied with Kennedy's progress.

At Monday night's banquet, Mrs. Kennedy took all the song and satire, including digs at herself and her husband, with apparent good humor. At the end of the evening, she gave a little talk, voicing regrets on behalf of her husband that he couldn't be there.

Kennedy had said he would attend the Governors' Conference in Honolulu and deliver a speech next Tuesday unless prevented by other business. White House news secretary Pierre Salinger said only that "it was felt he should not make a trip at this time."

Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson will substitute for Kennedy at the Governors' Conference.

Gen. Taylor May Become Adviser to White House

NEW YORK (AP) — President Kennedy is seriously considering the appointment of Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor as White House military adviser, the New York Times said today, and announcement of the appointment is expected this week.

A Washington dispatch to the newspaper said the appointment would, in effect, revive the post of personal chief of staff to the commander in chief. This post was originally held by Fleet Adm. William D. Leahy under Presidents Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry S. Truman.

Taylor, 59, was called to Washington after the unsuccessful Cuban invasion to conduct an inquiry for Kennedy into the nation's intelligence activities. He is on leave as president of the Lincoln Center for the Performing Arts in New York City. Taylor was army chief of staff from 1955 to 1959.

Wants Food Stocked for Wartime Usage

DAVIS, Calif. (AP)—Famine is one definitely possible result of any nuclear war, a consultant to the Atomic Energy Commission said Monday night.

To avert the possibility, food should be stockpiled in many more locations across the country than at present, Dr. Albert Bellamy, emeritus professor of biophysics at the University of California's Los Angeles branch, told a symposium here.

Dr. Bellamy proposed storage of enough food at each community to last several months — through the end of the growing season that followed a nuclear attack.

Naval Academy Boss Differs With Rickover

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—The superintendent of the U.S. Naval Academy says he does not agree with Vice Adm. Hyman G. Rickover that the military academies should be reformed or closed.

Rear Adm. John F. Davidson, through the academy's Public Information Office, Monday released a "no comment" statement which also said, "in general, he does not agree with Adm. Rickover's views regarding the Naval Academy, as stated in the newspapers the superintendent has seen."

Rickover, 61, in secret testimony before the House Appropriations Committee last month, called for the abolishment of the service academies unless drastic steps are taken to improve them.

Summer Class at MSUO

Offering Way-to-Study Course

A special program for area high school graduates who will enter college in September will be offered this summer by Michigan State University Oakland.

Its aim—to show soon-to-be freshmen how to study.

"The large numbers of students displaying difficulties in college study and the distressing rate of college failures indicates that a great many students enter college without adequate grounding in effective study practices," said Dr. Lowell R. Eklund, associate dean for continuing education.

"Not only does this work a hardship on both students and universities," Eklund said. "But, even more important, it represents an almost tragic waste in the vital development of brain power for our nation.

"Since universities and colleges have a responsibility to take the lead in attacking this problem, MSUO's Office of Continuing Education has planned an annual study skills course for college-bound high school graduates."

The course will be held on campus from Aug. 14 to Sept. 1.

Students will concentrate on improving their reading and comprehension rate, developing more efficient study practices and building larger and more adquate vocabularies.

TO EXPLORE PROBLEMS

Private conferences between students and staff specialists will explore individual problems, Eklund said.

The course has been planned by Dr. William E. Rhode, assistant director of continuing education; Dr. Robert Hopkins, head of MSUO's counseling department, and Harold Abrams, consultant for special education for the Oakland County Board of Education.

Abrams will head the list of educators assisting in the new program.

Eklund said all high school graduates entering college are invited to enroll. Tuition is $50, and enrollment will be limited to 36 students.

Interested persons may obtain further information and make reservations at MSUO's Office of Continuing Education.

Police Seeking Cage Bribers

Addition of Columbia Boy Makes Total 36 Players Involved

NEW YORK (AP)—Police have been asked to broadcast a nationwide alarm for the arrest of Philip Lacort of Boston and Joseph Green of New York as the result of new disclosures in the still spreading college basketball scandal.

Indictment of Lacort, 35, and Green, 31, on charges of bribery and conspiracy was announced Monday by District Attorney Frank Hogan, who is conducting the main part of the investigation that now has spread to envelop 36 players from 21 colleges. Games on which point-spread fixes were achieved or attempted now number 44.

In the 1951 scandal, 33 players from seven colleges involving 86 games were cited.

For the first time, the new investigation touched the Ivy League with Hogan's disclosure that Fred Portnoy, sophomore star of last season's Columbia University team was involved.

Hogan, a graduate of Columbia, a trustee of the university and a former president of its alumni group, said the 19-year-old New Yorker agreed to shave points in four games last season for $1,000 a game. According to the DA, Portnoy actually received only $1,140.

201,113 Population for Grand Rapids

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Annexation of a portion of Paris Township last April 3 has pushed Grand Rapids population figures to 201,113, according to certification today from the U.S. Census Bureau.

Richard M. Scammon, Census Bureau director, said the figure is retroactive to April 1, 1960, the national census date.

Annexation since last Aug. 8 bumped the Grand Rapids population from 177,313 to its present figure and a tighter claim on the title of Michigan's second largest city.

Stevenson Goes to Colombia

Will Talk With Lleras in Last Stop, Here His Policy Plan

QUITO, Ecuador (AP) — Adlai E. Stevenson moved on today to Bogota, last stop on his South American tour, for talks with Colombian President Alberto Lleras Camargo on hemisphere defense against communism and other anti-Democratic movements.

President Kennedy's touring representative has been concentrating so far on preparation for next month's economic and social conference in Uruguay, but Lleras is understood to have a plan for political action, which he has already broached to the United States and other countries.

Stevenson is expected to go into the Colombian plan thoroughly along with economic issues and other subjects during his two-day visit.

LEADERS COOL

In the nine countries he has already visited, Stevenson found government leaders all cool toward any joint action against Fidel Castro's Cuban regime. Most of them insisted that all hemisphere political problems should be deferred until after the economic conference, scheduled for July 15 at Punta del Este.

The Colombian plan is said to look to the future rather than to seek punishment of Cuba or other countries for past actions.

Informed quarters said Lleras wants a Latin American declaration defining attempts to export communism or other extremist doctrines into the Western Hemisphere as aggression.

The plan also calls for stiff sanctions against violators.

Jeff Chandler Fought Death, Says Rabbi

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"For five desperate weeks," said his rabbi, actor Jeff Chandler struggled against death—"struggled as no man I've ever known struggled."

Rabbi Albert M. Lewis told a throng of mourners Monday that the tall, husky actor "pitted all his great strength against his illness.

"But then the Sabbath came—the day of rest of his people."

Chandler, 42, died Saturday of blood poisoning. He had been in critical condition after three successive operations.

Eight hundred persons, including many film and sports celebrities, attended the rites at Temple Isaiah. Many more stood silently outside the temple.

Rabbi Lewis, in his eulogy, called Chandler "an American full of the burning feeling for justice, a Jew with a feeling for his people."

ANOTHER BIG REASON BEHIND THE BIG BOOM IN FORD SALES:

Galaxie styling is inspiring more admiration (and imitation) than any other car on the road!

This is the look that started with Thunderbird—sired the Galaxie—and quickly became the styling success of the Sixties.

Many cars have tried to copy it. No car has succeeded. Incomparably beautiful, the 1961 Galaxie maintains its distinction—as originals always do.

Styling is only part of Galaxie's distinction: this is the car that's beautifully built to take care of itself. The '61 Ford goes 30,000 miles between chassis lubrications . . . 4,000 miles between oil changes. Brakes adjust automatically. The muffler is built to last three times as long as ordinary ones. The body is specially treated to resist rust and corrosion. The finish never needs waxing.

Wouldn't it make sense to STOP spending money on an old car that can never do for you what a new Ford can do?

SWAP right now while your Ford Dealer's sales are booming—and the swapping is easier than it's ever been before.

Use Plastic Bags for Packing Shoes

NEW YORK (UPI) — Heavy gauge plastic bags are one answer to last minute packing with children.

For instance, muddy shoes can be tucked into the bags and then packed along with other clothing without the risk of having the latter soiled. A whole roll of the bags is lightweight and can be tucked in a corner of a suitcase.

Miss Ford Dances Her Way Into Formal Society

DETROIT (UPI) — Automobile heiress Anne Ford danced into the wee hours today gaily refusing to let a soaking rain that poured even faster than the champagne spoil her glittering debut.

Her father, Henry Ford II, trying to keep the spirits of 1,100 guests from drooping along with the water-soaked decor, cavorted like the crewcut college boys in the "stag line as he formally introduced his second daughter to society.

MAKES HER BOW

Blonde, 18-year-old Anne made her bow at a party in the gardens behind the huge Ford mansion Monday night in a setting that rivaled the splendor of her sister Charlotte's $250,000 debut in December 1959.

There was no official estimate of what last night's debut cost.

The guests, who made up a kind of international Who's Who, danced to the music of society band leader Meyer Davis and listened to jazz singer Ella Fitzgerald.

The party was a huge success and assuredly the Social Event of the year in Detroit —but with no thanks to the weather man.

For weeks Parisian decorator Jacques Frank had worked to create a lavish 18th century French garden setting behind the Ford home, with fabric turquoise roof supported by arches, white trellises covered with climbing roses and mirrored posts reflecting hundreds of tiny lights.

RAIN, RAIN, RAIN

But hours before the party began, a soaking rain began falling. And minutes before the first guests began arriving, workmen were hammering away trying to shore up the roof as rain soaked through the fabric and into the rich red carpeting.

For a while it was almost possible to imagine the multimillionaire Fords living in a leaky tenement as waiters scurried about placing buckets and tubs around to catch the dripping water.

Bars set up in the gardens were brought inside. But a spotlighted fountain at the rear of the garden continued to spray water 50 feet into the air even while the rain poured down.

Anne, feted at a predebut dinner party by her uncles and aunts, dashed into the house about an hour before the formal debut, her pale green Dior gown splashed with rain.

DAD IS CHEERFUL

She looked a little downcast as she ran up the stairs to change into her ball gown — a white organza with a tussor weave created by Bergdorf-Goodman of New York. The gown had a halter neck embroidered with three tiers of gold thread, pearls and turquoise. It had a tight-fitted bodice, a low back and full, slightly bell-shaped skirt.

But when the deb came back downstairs to join the receiving line with her parents, it did not take her father long to cheer her up and lift the spirits at the party.

Ford strode on to the dance floor and shouted to Davis, "Come on, Meyer, start playing and don't stop." Then in the receiving line, he took one woman guest by the waist, hoisted her into the air and kissed her soundly.

One of the small round tables in the garden setting had in the middle of it a reserved sign reading "Mononucleosis" — a joking reference to Ford's recent recovery from that disease.

Among the guests at the party were Mrs. Gary Cooper, widow of the late actor, and their daughter Maria; actress Merle Oberon and her husband Bruno Pagliai; Lord Dickon Lumley of London; Mr. and Mrs. Igor Cassini of New York; Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas R. Du Pont of Delaware; and Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Firestone Jr. of the tire and rubber family.

Heading the roster of small-fry guests was Edsel Ford, 10-year-old brother of Anne and heir apparent to the Ford automotive empire.

Anne's mother wore a gown of pale green lace over layers of white organza, also created by Bergdorf-Goodman. Her sister Charlotte, now a student at the Sorbonne and Maxim's Academie in Paris, wore a silk faille dress with a pale pink bodice and a tangerine skirt.

Debutante Anne Ford (center) bowed to society Monday evening despite a summer downpour that threatened to turn the sumptiously decorated grounds of her parent's St. Clair estate into a water wonderland. Wearing a gold, pearl and turquoise embroidered white organza gown, she received the 1200 guests with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ford II. Mr. Ford was the hearty host, waving to guests as they arrived at the front door.

Do You Have a Big Nose?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

This week I am bringing you first aid from the bag of tricks which belongs to that great expert, Eddie Senz. I visited with him recently in his New York salon.

I asked him what a woman can do to improve the situation if she has a very large and prominent nose. In characteristic style Eddie replied.

"There is no such thing as a very large nose except in relation to its surroundings. If a woman came into the room with her head in a bag and only her nose exposed, how would you know whether her nose is large or small? I am sure this gives you the hint of what should be done."

Just in case I missed the hint Mr. Senz explained that the hairdo can make a big difference. The hair must form a bigger frame. The hairdo must be massive in order to increase the circumference of the head. This helps some.

ARCH BROWS

Then look at the brows. Arch the brows and make them wider. An attempt must be made to increase the size of the mouth. This can be done by pulling the line of your lipstick out a little farther than the normal line of your lips. A light change can make a big difference.

Many women are unhappy because of their receding chins. There are many things which can be done about this but only an artist such as Eddie knows them.

If you have a receding chin, under no circumstances wear bangs or any hair style which makes the forehead more prominent. The hair should be drawn back from the forehead. It should be flat. Have a little more mass to acquire with the years.

Receding chin? When you apply lip rouge, the line of the lower lip should be drawn out so that it is a fraction longer than the line of the upper lip.

in the back and bring the hair lower on the nape of the neck. The ears should be uncovered.

LENGTHEN LINE

When you apply your lip rouge, the line of the lower lip should be drawn out so that it is a fraction longer than the line of the upper lip. Because of this the lower lip cradles the upper lip and makes the eye follow up instead of down toward the chin. This is a good trick generally because it seems to lift the corners of the mouth and minimizes the droop which some older lips seem

Joy Notch, John Buck Repeat Nuptial Vows

MRS. JOHN G. BUCK

The First Presbyterian Church was the setting for the Saturday vows of Joy Retta Notch of Ypsilanti to John G. Buck of Dearborn, pledged to Rev. Galen E. Hershey.

Receiving guests at the Knights of Pythias Hall were former Pontiac residents Mr. and Mrs. Peter Notch, parents of the bride, and the John L. Bucks of Dearborn.

Attendants, in printed lilac organza over taffeta, wore matching veiled crowns and held white carnations and feathered carnations.

Scouts Get Curved Bar

Outstanding campers of Troop 280 at Lincoln Junior High School were presented the Curved Bar, highest achievement award in intermediate girl scouting, at the senior welcoming party in the home of their leader Mrs. Clifford Neville of Cadillac Street. The award is the equivalent of the Eagle rank in boy scouting.

Receiving the high honor were Sharon Chisholm, Carol Bacak, Carol Warner, Carol Strebe and Ruth Neville—the outdoors field; and Linda Koch—homemaking.

Awards were presented by former coleader Mrs. Marty Bacak of Battle Creek. The Curved Bar reviewing committee was comprised of Mrs. Cyril Davis, leader-teacher; Mrs. Robert Schmude, leader; and Mrs. John McNeely, third vice president of the local council.

Receiving senior pins from their mothers at the affair were Gloria Houck, Sharon Chisholm, Carol Strebe, Gayle Carmen and Nancy Minor.

The troop has formed a Trail Blazer unit and is planning to hike the 23-mile Wakazoo Trail in Allegan National Forest this summer. They have twice hiked the 25-mile Wilderness Trail at Holly Recreation Area, camping and backpacking. Eighteen of the girls have received the Wilderness Trail medal.

Awards for the fewest lessons missed were presented to Leonard and Lynn Lundholm, Gilbert Stephison and Bill Barrett. Recognition for record attendance at club meetings went to David Allen, Gerry Stoner, Gilbert Stephison and Leonard Dorey.

Awards for original compositions were presented to John Slade and Gilbert Stephison.

The group will present an "Evening Musical" the week of July 10th.

RESPONSE!

Newspaper Advertising Brings Reader Response . . . through Buying Action!

More buying action results from newspaper advertising because of the atmosphere of believability. You've heard people say, "I know it's true, it's in the papers." The printed word has always been accepted as more honest and binding.

Newspapers report facts; other media offer entertainment. Your advertising in an atmosphere of believability is bound to induce more "want-to-buy" action than that framed in fiction or entertainment.

Newspapers offer another vital element—an atmosphere of timeliness and urgency. This sense of immediacy fosters "here-and-now" sales action that no other print medium can match.

If it's a question of consumer response—newspapers are the answer!

Hostess Gives Paper Slippers; Gals Love 'em

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — Women's spike heel shoes are fashionable, but so are rugs and linoleum.

And the twain meet too often.

Milady becomes a destructive force when fitted out in the latest in footwear, a dart-like heel with a metal tip. But Mrs. Fred Leonetti of Portland found a solution.

She was hostess for 90 women at a benefit church luncheon. She worried about her floors under the onslaught of 180 little hammers.

So, after a talk with party chairman Mrs. Howard Fox, Mrs. Leonetti procured 90 pairs of paper slippers from a motel supplier.

If there was any worry that the guests might not like the idea, it soon dissolved. When guests entered the Leonetti home, they were asked to remove the spike heel shoes and don the flimsy slippers.

"It's perfect comfort," said one. "A wonderful idea," said another.

Hold Luncheon

The September-October Group of First Presbyterian Church met for cooperative luncheon Thursday in the new home of Mrs. Frank Gerls at Elizabeth Lake.

Mrs. Clarence Brace of Orlando, Fla., was a guest of the 14 members present.

Abby Says: Only an Excuse

Make Up Your Mind to It... She Just Enjoys Smoking

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter just finished her freshman year at a good eastern school. She brought home a habit that her father and I do not approve of. She smokes.

Here is her excuse: She said when she started dating boys from some of the fine eastern schools, she learned that if she had a cigarette in her mouth, they couldn't kiss her.

ABBY

Now, Abby, please don't think this is a joke. She told us this in all seriousness. We would like your opinion of her explanation.

DEFEATED

DEAR DEFEATED: Don't you believe it. She just likes to smoke. A little thing like a lighted cigarette would not discourage some of the men in those "fine eastern schools." They are fire-eaters.

DEAR ABBY: I recently had a baby girl. After three boys, you can imagine our joy. We named her Deborah Susan. She is only a few months old, and people are calling her "Debbie."

If I had wanted her called "Debbie," I would have named her "Debbie." Her name is Deborah Susan and I wish people would call her that.

My relatives say that when she starts school, everyone will call her "Debbie," whether I like it or not, so I had better get used to it. Is there any way I can get people to call her by her proper name?

DEBORAH SUSAN'S MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: You are fighting a losing battle, Deborah Susan is a lovely name, but it is quite a mouthful. Relax and get used to "Debbie" because by the time your daughter is 4, if you call her "Deborah Susan," she will think you are annoyed with her.

DEAR ABBY: My parents and my husband's parents have a key to our home, which we gave them in "case of emergency."

My in-laws have never used their key, nor have they entered my home without being invited. My parents use the key whenever we are not at home, or when we do not answer the door. My husband has never said anything about it, but I know he is annoyed.

I don't blame him. I am annoyed, too. Can you suggest some way to stop this without making a major issue of it? I resent knowing we have so little privacy.

NO PRIVACY

DEAR NO: Call a Summit Meeting with your parents. They're YOUR parents—not his. First define "emergency," and then tell them you would appreciate it if they used the key only in case of emergency.

DEAR ABBY: I liked your answer to the girl who felt she was cursed because she was unusually tall. It reminded me of this story:

A friend of mine lost two fingers from his right hand. An awkward defect for a business man who must continually shake hands. This man adjusted to his defect magnificently. I once asked him how he did it. He replied, "All persons have defects—it just happens that mine shows."

Bringing Up Baby.

HINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 5

A backyard can be a real blessing in the summertime. If you have one, why not move baby's playpen outdoors these fine June days? With all of nature's sights to see, your cherub will probably be content to stay put for reasonable periods of time.

- If you park the pen in a shaded, sheltered spot, baby won't get burned or chilled. A shirt will protect baby, should breezes blow.
- This is a good time for you to catch up on "lap jobs", such as mending, reading or knitting, while you sit outdoors with baby.

June or January, cereal is usually on baby's daily mealtime agenda.

Gerber Cereals are especially popular with babies because the flavors are ever so delicate... the texture ever so smooth to the tongue. As for baby's nutritional well-being, all 5 are enriched with iron*, important B-vitamins and calcium. Rotate Rice Cereal, Barley, Oatmeal, Mixed Cereal and High Protein Cereal for continued meal appeal.

*6 tablespoons of any Gerber Cereal provide baby with over 100% of the Recommended Daily Dietary Allowance for iron.

Of routine interest. Regular mealtime and sandman hours are important the year around. (Somehow routines have a way of getting relaxed in summer with haphazard bedtimes and meals.) It's wise to remember that a well-regulated (but not strictly tied-down) baby is usually a happy, healthy baby.

Sunny summer menu suggestion. Gerber Strained Egg Yolks have an appealing, sunny color, a delicate, fresh-egg flavor and a creamy, custard-like texture. Nutritionally, they're rich in iron and vitamin A...high in protein. Gerber Baby Foods, Fremont, Michigan.

SHEAR LUCK — Mrs. Catherine L. Tromp, 39, of Muskegon, was riding in this compact station wagon when it was sliced in half at an expressway intersection. Police were amazed that she escaped with her life. Hospital attendants listed her condition as fair. She suffered a concussion. The driver of the second car, a 16-year-old youth, was unhurt. Firemen were called to put out the fire on the rear portion of the car which was hurled 60 feet and then burst into flames.

State Operates 11 Inmate Industries

Prison Workers Turn Out Top Products

LANSING (UPI)—Production of the 1961 green and white automobile license plates began last week at the stamping plant in Southern Michigan Prison (SMP) at Jackson.

The inmate-manned factory is only one of 11 industries the State Corrections Department operates. The work of some 1,500 inmates garners the state $3.2 million annually.

Other industries at SMP are a shoe factory, tailoring shop, textile mill and cannery. At the Marquette branch there is a work clothing plant, a snow fence factory and tobacco-brush shop.

Soap, wood products and cotton garments are produced at the Ionia training and reformatory units.

"It is not slave labor, even though the pay is small (10 to 35 cents a week) and we use persuasive methods to make them work," Fred Chase, manager of prison industries said. "The inmates are not in prison because they're good workers."

Prisoners who refuse to work in the industries and in the numerous service jobs have their privileges taken away and sometimes they are put in stricter confinement, Chase said.

"One of the reasons for prison industry is to provide employment," he said, "so we don't buy equipment to put them out of work."

Another purpose of the industries is to give inmates something to do to occupy their time, he said. Idle prisoners become dissatisfied and restless which could lead to trouble, he said.

Products turned out by the inmates are top quality and not cheap in price or workmanship, Chase said.

"We put out a good quality product that will last a period of years," Chase said.

AIM FOR CHANGE

"We attempt to change a prisoner's social attitude so when he leavps he can be a good citizen with good habits," Chase said.

Because the industries are used as training grounds for inmates who hope to find jobs when they leave prison, modern equipment is used in the shops. But, Chase said, modernization will not extend to the point where automation will take over.

But they weren't stopped for long. They broke into a nearby fire station, stole some gas masks and finished the job of opening the safe. The take: $150.

Small Changes Plus Paint Remodel Room

Why let an old-fashioned kitchen get you down, because the price of complete remodeling runs quite high? You can literally make the best of it with paint. Summer's an opportune time to give it a paint lift, when outdoor barbecues and cold platters take most of the heat off kitchen activity.

If the kitchen cabinets are a sorry sight, remove the doors before painting and replace with the reasonably-priced, modern-looking louver variety. Coated with paint, the louvers will be a star attraction. Quality paints and enamels come in great array of colors: bright pinks and muted roses, clear blues and soft aquas, sunny yellows and dramatic lavenders.

Choose an exciting new color scheme: forget about the standard kitchen colors you've used time and time again.

Don't limit your accent colors to accessories; bring them out paint-wise, too: on cabinet and drawer interiors, as a bright enamel slipcover for the weary refrigerator, and to raise the spirits — and lower the appearance — of a high ceiling. When everything, including the waste disposal can has been perked up with paint, bring out a few old pots, pans, wooden spoons and other utensils no longer usable.

With a coat of left-over colors, they'll make a clever montage for hanging over the venerable range. Or use your own novel touch for decorating that wall; there's no reason why you can't teach an old stove new tricks.

LOVE THAT CROWN!—Pointing proudly at her crown and winking is 17-year-old Carole Inman who last night won the title of Miss Oxford of 1961. She scored highest of six candidates on talent, beauty, poise, personality and speaking ability.

Miss Oxford Has Dimples

Carole Inman Wins Title

OXFORD—A hazel-eyed blonde with dimples last night outpointed five other candidates to win the title of Miss Oxford.

She is Carole Inman, 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald J. Howes of 5101 Oakwood Road, Brandon Township.

A June graduate of Oxford Area Community High School, the new queen makes 90 per cent of her own clothes. Last night she wore a floor-length black prom gown and matching mitts which she had made herself.

This was the talent she displayed in addition to reading a poem. She said she plans to attend Michigan State University Oakland and major in education.

All of the queen candidates appeared three times before the judges, once in street wear, again to display their talent and finally in formal attire.

The competition was sponsored by the Oxford Chamber of Commerce which gave a $25 cash prize to the winner. It was held in the student lounge of the high school.

Acting as master of ceremonies was Edith Gark who interviewed each girl individually in the first portion of the program, then had them draw questions out of a bowl to answer extemporaneously when they appeared in their formals.

Mrs. Jack Valentine was contest chairman with Mrs. David A. Erlandson of Lake Orion, Allen E. Valentine of Oxford and Lee Winborn, area news editor of The Pontiac Press, serving as judges.

Miss Oxford will represent her community in the Peach Queen contest in Romeo Aug. 5, vying for the coveted crown against 10 other area title-holders.

Whether or not she wins the Peach Queen title she will be a member of the queen's court and spend Labor Day weekend in Romeo taking part in all the Peach Festival festivities.

Other candidates for the local title were Lois Stoddard, Kristine Pearson, Philinda Ashley, Nancy King and Linda McWilliams.

NEWS OF THE AREA

Bride Was Kathryn Flintoft

Honeymoon in Florida

AVON TOWNSHIP — Now honeymooning in Florida are Mr. and Mrs. Dale E. Johnson, who exchanged nuptial vows Saturday evening in a candlelight ceremony at the First Congregational Church of Rochester.

Officiating at the rite was Rev. Robert Jacobs.

The bride, the former Kathryn A. Flintoft, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul A. Flintoft of 980 John R Road. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Johnson of 344 Griggs St.

For her wedding, the bride chose a floor-length gown of silk mist taffeta with re-embroidered Alencon lace on the bodice and skirt front. Irregular outlines of lace enhanced the scoop neckline, which was trimmed with seed pearls and iridescent sequins. A crushed cummerbund defined the back waistline, and the extremely full skirt was designed with a full train.

Her fingertip veil of imported English illusion was held by a half hat of silk taffeta and Alencon lace, trimmed with seed pearls. The bridal bouquet was a white orchid surrounded by lilies of the valley on a white Bible.

The bride wore a diamond pendant, a gift from the bridegroom.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Wladmire Reisinger of Rochester.

Assisting her as bridesmaids were Barbara Timmreck and Nileen Winkler, both of Rochester, and Betty Lee Lindsey of Milford, a niece of the bride.

Lawrence Carie of Pontiac was best man.

Seating the guests were Wladmire Reisinger and Arthur Gruener, both of Rochester; Gerald Johns, a cousin of the bride from Lake Orion, and the bridegroom's brothers-in-law, Louis DuBaise of Hazel Park and Gary Gilliam of Ann Arbor.

Following the ceremony, a reception for 300 guests was held at the Rochester Masonic Temple. The couple will reside on Major Road in Drayton Plains after a two-week honeymoon.

Slain Attorney's Family Awarded Sum of $120,000

ARMADA — The family of Wendell Lichtenfelt, the Armada attorney who was shot and killed in his office last Dec. 9, was awarded $120,000 in two judgments yesterday in Macomb County Circuit Court.

The $120,000 was the exact amount sought in the two suits against the estate of Joseph Austin, 35, who killed his wife, the attorney and then himself.

Lichtenfelt has represented Mrs. Tessie Austin, 53, in divorce proceedings against her husband.

Austin beat his wife to death in their 95-acre farm home after they argued over the divorce suit. The then went to Lichtenfelt's office, shot him and went home and turned the gun on himself.

The judgments were awarded by Judge James E. Spier following a brief trial in which Mrs. Lila Lichtenfelt, 37, was the only witness to take the stand.

Besides his wife, Lichtenfelt, a former Macomb County chief assistant prosecutor, left five children. They are Richard, 17, Barbara, 16, Steve, 13, and Fred and Mary, 12.

200 Attend Zoning Hearing at Lake Orion Junior High

By DON FERMOYLE

ORION TOWNSHIP — A public hearing on rezoning 92 acres of land in the Indianwood Road area developed into a heated argument last night between township residents and industrial interests.

Everyone from housewives to school officials took sides in the dispute, which took place before a crowd of some 200 persons in the auditorium of Lake Orion Junior High School.

The hearing was held by the Orion Township Zoning Board, which had been asked to rezone the 92 acres for industrial purposes by the Lake Orion Investment Co.

Opposing the rezoning request was a group of residents whose chief spokesman was Theodore Mach of 2440 Indianwood Road, president of the Northwest Orion Homeowners Association.

Mach charged that Walter Schreiber, president of Artco, Inc., at 3020 Indianwood Road, was actually the major power in the investment company.

"I'd like to take another person to task," said Mach. "That person is the superintendent of schools. We feel as a group that Mr. Reed has overstepped his power."

Mach referred to A. A. Reed, superintendent of the Lake Orion Community School District, who spoke out in favor of rezoning on the basis that the district needs more industry to create a better tax base.

"I'd like to know if Mr. Reed is speaking for himself," Mach asked.

"I am speaking for myself as executive officer — not for Orion Township alone but for a school district which represents six additional townships as well," said Reed.

VALUATION BELOW PAR

Wesley B. Allen, a local insurance agent and a former Lake Orion Board of Education member, agreed with the superintendent. Allen said that while the valuation behind each student in the local school district was about $7,000, the average for Oakland County was $11,200.

A. Albert Sugar, attorney for the Lake Orion Investment Co. and Artco, Inc., said Artco and the investment company were separate corporations.

When asked by several residents if Schreiber were represented in both corporations, Sugar was told he would not have to answer the question by Scherly Green, chairman of the township zoning board.

Green said that was a private matter and should not be discussed at a public meeting.

Sugar said the Indianwood Road area was desirable for industry because it was served by a hard surfaced road, had adequate water supply and was not in a heavily populated area.

Mrs. William Schroeder of 245 Coats Road said it was not heavily populated because residents there owned lots averaging about five acres each.

'NO MORE INDUSTRY'

"We definitely do not want any more industry on Indianwood Road," said Mrs. Schroeder, echoing statements of other residents who spoke out against the rezoning request.

"The reason people out there have bought on 5-acre lots was because they wanted country living with plenty of clean fresh air," she concluded.

Zoning board members adjourned the three-hour meeting without voting on the rezoning request.

The meeting was held in the junior high school instead of the Township Hall because of a similar public hearing nearly two years ago.

Practically the same group of residents who objected last night were successful in having industrial zoning deleted from the township zoning map when it was being drawn up in August, 1959.

Outdoor Art Show in Clawson Sunday

CLAWSON — Artists from several Oakland County communities will display their work from 1 to 7 p.m. Sunday in an outdoor art show at 14-Mile Road and Main Street.

The event is the fourth annual outdoor art exhibit sponsored by the Tints and Tones Art Association of Royal Oak.

Mrs. Martha Moody of the Kingswood School, Cranbrook, will judge the work. Represented in the exhibit will be professional and amateur talent from Birmingham, Royal Oak, Ferndale, Clawson, Madison Heights, Troy and Oak Park.

Wrong Side of Car

DETROIT (UPI) — The Detroit Common Council Monday agreed to draft a driving regulation against driving a car while outside the driver's seat. The action was suggested because a woman driver recently rammed into a building while driving from the righthand side.

BATTLE BARN FIRE — Rochester firemen yesterday afternoon fought a blaze that leveled a small barn at 3695 Silver Bell Road, Oakland Township, which had just been filled with hay three hours before. Damage was estimated at about $6,000 by Fire Chief George Ross who said the cause of the fire has not been determined. The large barn next to the smaller structure was undamaged. The farm is owned by Rambert Kelly of Detroit and managed by Emerson Terry.

Troy to Clear 2 Details, Then Sign Up for Water

TROY—City commissioners last night delayed signing a contract which would bring Detroit water into Troy until City Manager David E. Firestone can work out two details in the 30-year agreement.

However, commissioners may come to terms with Detroit officials next Monday.

The agreement will be reached as soon as Firestone gets a reply from Detroit authorities on two changes in the contract requested by commissioners last night.

The commission decided that it would like to have concessions regarding the deadline for payment of water bills and a provision concerning mingling Detroit water with Troy's supply.

City Clerk J. Lawson Lockhart said today the present requirement in the contract is that Detroit water cannot be mingled with the supply of any municipality it serves.

However, commissioner believe that Detroit water would have to be blended with this city's since Troy has to pump its outside source through its own internal system.

Commissioners also want the present 15-day deadline for payment of water bills to be extended without penalty to the city.

Lockhart explained this was purely a practical matter since commission meetings sometimes are separated by durations of longer than 15 days. The city's bills can legally be paid only at regular and special commission meetings.

Other than these two points, the commission raised no serious objections to signing the contract which would serve about 15 per cent of the city's population with Detroit water.

The Detroit supply would be fed through a water main which runs along Dequindre Road from the south and terminates at 14 Mile Road.

It would immediately serve residents and industry in the general area bounded by 14 Mile, Dequindre, John R and Maple roads.

* * *

Council Refuses to OK Appointee

Southfield Can't Find Vacancy in Which to Place Decheim

SOUTHFIELD — For the second time in a month the City Council refused to confirm Mayor S. James Clarkson's appointment of Leon Decheim to a city position.

Decheim was one of four appointments submitted by Clarkson to the council last night for approval to the planning commission.

Three of the appointments were accepted by the governing body but it refused to take any action on Decheim because there wasn't any place to put him on the commission.

Clarkson said he had appointed Decheim to succeed Wilbur Thompson, who is a member of the commission but is expected to resign.

The mayor told the council that he was anticipating the resignation of Thompson and appointed Decheim as his successor.

The council refused, saying the appointment can't be confirmed until there is an opening.

Earlier this month Clarkson appointed Decheim as the city's first full time city planner and then withdrew the appointment a week later after the council had tabled any action. Decheim's background includes positions in engineering and advertising.

The trio appointed to three-year-terms on the planning commission last night are Mrs. Walter E. Runckel, William Henry and William E. Booth.

Council members voted 5-2 to accept the appointments, with the dissenters being Phillip Peterson and Clarence A. Durbin.

Peterson said he felt the mayor should have offered the council a group of persons more experienced in planning affairs.

Maccabees to Build on 10½-Mile Road

SOUTHFIELD — The new home office of Maccabees Mutual, Inc., will be located on the southeast corner of 10½-Mile Road and Northwestern Highway.

Unanimous approval was given by the City Council last night to rezone the nine-acre tract of property from residential to education-research-office.

No date has been set for the start of construction on the half-million dollar project.

Craftsmanship

Over the years, the words "Craftsmanship" and "Cadillac" have become synonymous. Most certainly this Cadillac quality is visibly evident throughout the car. Just as surely, it is economically measurable throughout the years. For this excellence of manufacture reveals itself in remarkable operating thrift, and endures to command a premier position in resale markets across the land. And it is but one reason for Cadillac's soundness as an investment.

'Centennial's Springboard for Next 100'

The Centennial celebration is the "springboard" to the next 100 years," D. B. Varner, chancellor of Michigan State University Oakland, emphasized in his dedicatory address yesterday at the new Pontiac Public Library.

"I am sure that the next decade in particular and the next 10 decades in general will provide a more exciting and satisfying picture than anything history reveals today," said Varner.

Devoting the second half of his address to what he called "the basic ingredients" of the Pontiac of tomorrow, Varner cited these factors:

"First of all, this city has a sound, responsible and courageous city government. The urban renewal program is a bold forward step and promises to be the trigger device for building the new Pontiac. Old and unsightly buildings shall come down and bright and exciting new facilities shall replace them.

"A perimeter road has now been assured so that there can be a clearly discernable and easily accessible downtown Pontiac, one which can be organized, planned and improved consistently. This is to be a new approach to downtown planning and it promises much for this city and its citizens.

"The development of the city Civic Center of which this library is a part stands as clear evidence of a progressive spirit. It provides a focal point for this new look and gives a new face to an old city.

STABILIZING FORCE

"The very fact that Pontiac serves as the heart of county government for one of the largest, most beautiful and one of the most populous counties in Michigan is itself a great stabilizing force.

"Even though the actual base of county operations has been moved to the outskirts of the city, it is nevertheless part of the greater Pontiac community, and the new campus plan for county government is in itself a stimulating and imaginative approach to an old problem.

"The industrial base of Pontiac is solid and it shall continue to grow. This means that the financial sources of the community are stable and promising.

"The school system of Pontiac is as good as you will find anywhere in the state; under splendid leadership with good facilities, and this, too, provides a solid base for the Pontiac of tomorrow.

"I do not know of any community which can surpass Pontiac in terms of its communications media. I doubt if there is a community in America the size of Pontiac with a newspaper which can compare with The Pontiac Press for its thoroughness, its objectivity, and its spirit of community service. The radio station is a good one and it continues to grow; broadening its scope and its ability to serve this area.

ACHIEVEMENTS EXCEL

"I should not and cannot ignore the impact of the Oakland campus on the future of this community. In two years our achievements have exceeded our fondest expectations.

"The enrollment next year will be between 1,100 and 1,200 and the institution is destined to grow rapidly . . . The greatest gain, of course, is in the cultural enrichment of the community and the first-class education opportunities afforded both youngsters and adults. . . .

School Aid Bill Headed for Reef

May Be Abandoned if White House Doesn't Hurry to the Rescue

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy's public school aid bill was caught today in a "snafu" so bad that it may have to be abandoned until next year unless the White House acts fast to disentangle it.

That picture was drawn not by an opponent of the $2.5 billion measure but by a leader of school aid forces. Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y. Powell, chairman of the House Education Committee, returned Monday from 10 days in Europe.

The term "snafu"—which originated with GIs during World War II—means "situation normal, all fouled up." Powell used the term after discussing the outlook for House action on the Senate-passed school bill with Speaker Sam Rayburn, D-Tex.

Without mentioning the President by name, Powell made it clear he believed Kennedy would have to move fast to break a deadlock between House supporters of public school aid and backers of assistance to private and parochial schools.

Wisner Home's New Marker Text Approved

This is the text of the new historical marker at the Wisner Home. The historical data on it has been authenticated by the Michigan Historical Commission:

"This was the home of Moses Wisner and his wife, Angeelina Hascall. From 1859 to 1861 Wisner served Michigan as Governor. He was born in New York, came to Michigan in 1837 and shortly established a successful law practice.

"In 1844 he purphased this property and in 1845 began construction of the main section of the house. He brought Angeelina here as a bride.

"Wisner planted various kinds of pine native to Michigan on the premises. During the Civil War he organized and commanded the 22nd Michigan Infantry. He died in Kentucky in 1863.

"He bequeathed the homestead to his wife, who lived here until her death in 1905. Wisner's daughter and granddaughter maintained 'Pine Grove' until its purchase in 1945 by the Oakland County Historical Foundation as a center for Oakland County History."

'I Remember' Heard on Wisner Lawn

Two vigorous septuagenarians were reminiscing on the pleasant rolling lawn of the stately home of Gov. Moses Wisner after the historical marker was set in place yesterday.

For former Sen. Prentiss Brown, there were recollections of stories told by his father many years ago about the days when he traveled Michigan in a covered wagon as a salesman.

"He probably passed through Pontiac on many occasions, just about the time Gov. Wisner was living here," mused the elder statesman, now president of the Michigan Historical Commission.

Brown was frank about how he happened to be born a Cheboyganite.

"Father figured Detroit had no future, so he went up to Cheboygan, where he thought the future of Michigan was."

The gracious lady with Brown was wearing a fancy black plumed hat she had borrowed for the occasion from the supply of authentic old garments in the home she was born in.

This was Mrs. Florence Wallace, 440 Lockhaven Road, Waterford Township, granddaughter of the lawyer who governed Michigan in 1859-1861.

Mrs. Wallace explained how the brick mansion with the stately white porticoes came to be called "Pine Grove."

She said her grandmother — Wisner's wife — herself had planted dozens of pine trees on the front and side lawns.

"I remember there were so many pines you couldn't see Oakland Avenue from the house," Mrs. Wallace said. "The ground was covered with pine needles so thick there wasn't a blade of grass growing."

Mrs. Wallace looked around at the two immense pines still standing straight against the sky and at a third, now tilted over at a sharp angle,

"I guess that one is going to lie down soon," she sighed.

Mrs. Wallace maintained the home for many years, until 1945, when she sold it to the Oakland County Historical Foundation. The sale price was low, much lower than what she could have got had the home been torn down to make way for a commercial enterprise.

"My grandmother wanted it preserved and so did my mother and so did I," she explained. "So I couldn't do otherwise."

Now, after 16 years as the "baby" of the foundation, the Michigan Historical Commission has recognized the home as an historical site and the county is going to share responsibility for it, beginning with a $1,000 appropriation next week.

High Schoolers to Hold City, County Reins

Seventy-three Pontiac area high school students — some of them newly graduated — will take over the reins of city and county government on Thursday, "Youth Day" of the Greater Pontiac Centennial.

Representing six public and parochial schools, the youngsters will first meet counterparts in real life at City Hall and the Oakland County Office Building in the morning, then spend several hours studying government in action.

Participants will be from Pontiac Central High School, Pontiac Northern High School, St. Frederick High School, St. Michael High School, Waterford Township High School and Avondale High School.

It was up to each school to choose its own representatives and then there was a drawing to decide which student got which governmental post.

Czechs Reject U.S. Demand

Naclavac Spy Charge May Go to the U.N. for Final Decision

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —The U.S.-Czechoslovak spy case dispute may go to a special arbitration tribunal.

Czechoslovakia Monday rejected a U.S. demand for the expulsion of Miroslav Naclavac, counselor at the Czech mission to the United Nations.

The Communist diplomat had charged that American intelligence agents tried to recruit him as a spy. Washington countercharged that he had been spying for his Red government and demanded that he leave the country.

The Czech mission to the United Nations protested the espionage charge and requested the U.N. secretariat "undertake the necessary intervention with the U.S. government."

Czechoslovakia takes the position that since Naclavac is with a mission accredited to the United Nations but not the United States, the U.S. government cannot kick him out.

The Czech stand indicated the dispute may go to an international tribunal provided for by the 1947 U.S.-U.N. agreement giving U.N. headquarters on Manhattan's East Side a special status.

The agreement stipulates that a diplomatic dispute not settled by negotiation will go to an international tribunal of three arbitrators for final decision.

In the past, the United States has successfully demanded the removal of Soviets employed by the United Nations on grounds of espionage. But Naclavac, No. 3 man at the Czech mission, is not a U.N. employe.

16's Old Enough to Drink a Bit, Parliament Says

LONDON (AP)—The House of Commons voted Monday night that a few beers for a boy of 16 can help him stay sober when he's older.

The House was debating a Laborite motion to ban the sale of alcoholic drinks in private clubs to persons under 18. Such a ban applies to sales of drinks in public.

"I believe a young man should be able to have a little beer at 16 or 17," declared Conservative William Rees Davies.

"I don't want to see all the young men suddenly at the age of 18 going for a booze-up in the local (pub) simply because they are allowed to," he added.

The House's big Conservative majority agreed, voting down the Labor motion 221-114.

Driftwood Pole, Wire Superior Fishing Gear

CASPER, Wyo. (AP) — Bill Joines forgot his fishing rod when he joined Tom Cooper on a fishing trip on the North Platte River. He rigged a pole from a length of driftwood and a piece of baling wire.

Joines caught four husky trout. Cooper, equipped with the latest gear, caught none.

JOE GORDON

Popular Hank Bauer Making 1st Try as Major League Manager

Athletic Players Shocked by Firing of Gordon

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Hank Bauer, new manager of the Kansas City Athletics, is an extremely popular fellow with the players. He's known for grit and determination.

But the man he replaced as manager of the Athletics was so highly respected and well liked by the A's that the firing of Gordon came as a shock to them.

"Joe is a great guy and he did a great job," said second baseman Jerry Lumpe. "A neighbor came over and told me about the change. At first I couldn't believe it. It just didn't seem possible.

"(Joe) Nuxhall and I were talking tonight and he said he wouldn't be surprised to come out here some night and find the ball park gone and an apartment house here," Lumpe continued. "I guess you can say this is just another ordinary day with the Athletics."

Norm Siebern an outfielder summed it up this way:

"Gordon was a wonderful guy to play for. I thought he was a good manager and he was good to me. They have a heck of a replacement in Hank but I still hated to see Joe go."

Bud Daley, former A's pitcher now with the Yanks, called Gordon the best manager Kansas City ever had.

Bauer, off to a booming start as manager of the Athletics, says he's going to let the "fellows kind of play their own game for a while," at least until he gets his feet on the ground.

The A's greeted Bauer as replacement for fired Joe Gordon by beating Hanks' old New York Yankee teammates 4-3.

"I don't plan to change anything, at least for the present," he said. "I just expect every player to keep hustling like they did against those Yanks.

The A's are eighth in the American League, 11½ games out of first place.

Bauer, who will be 39 next month, was with the Yankees 12 seasons before coming to Kansas City in December 1960 in a 7-player deal. His first official act as manager, directed by General Manager Frank Lane, was to name rookie shortstop Dick Howser team captain.

"Lane said name Howser captain and I did just that," Bauer said. "That Howser is a great little battler."

Club owner Charles O. Finley took Lane off the hook in the firing of Gordon.

"I was the man behind that move firing Gordon and I think the heat should be taken off our general manager," Finley said in an interview.

Finley said Lane and Gordon like each other but "seemed to have trouble working together" and that one or both had to go.

As general manager of Cleveland, Lane hired Gordon as manager, fired him, then rehired him and finally traded him to Detroit for manager Jimmy Dykes last season.

Bauer has a contract—terms not disclosed—that runs through next season. He'll be listed as a playing manager until an outfield replacement is obtained.

Lane said Gordon's contract, reportedly calling for $30,000 per season through next season, will be honored.

Bauer, pushing time on his playing days, said he had hoped to become a major league manager.

"But man, not this fast," Hank said.

Hopeful Bunning Hurls Tonight

Faces Senators at Washington to Begin Trip

Needs Offensive Help; Boros, Fernandez Set to Play

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Jim Bunning will try to climb to the .500 mark again tonight when he takes the mound for the Detroit Tigers in the opener of a three-game series with the Washington Senators.

Bunning, who has won five games and lost six, will be opposed by Dick Donovan, who has a mark of three wins and five losses with the Senators.

Manager Bob Scheffing considers Bunning Detroit's "Hard Luck" hurler.

"He goes out there and gives it all he's got, but we just don't seem to be able to get runs for him," Scheffing said. "Jim lost his first start this year and we haven't been able to get him above the .500 mark."

Bunning has an earned-run average of 3.40 which is second only to Don Mossi's 2.41 mark among the regular Detroit starters. Frank Lary, a 10-game winner, has a 3.83 earned-run average and seven-game winner Phil Regan has a 3.89 mark.

In his most recent start, Bunning pitched one-hit shutout ball until the fifth when a grand slam homer by Vic Wertz started the Boston Red Sox to victory over the Tigers. Detroit managed only one run in that game, scoring in the ninth inning.

"This can't keep up," Scheffing said. "We're going to start scoring for Jim."

Scheffing said he expects both Steve Boros and Chico Fernandez to be back in the lineup for the series with the Senators.

Boros saw only limited action in the past week because of a pulled leg muscle, and Fernandez, who has been hampered by a sore leg off and on since the start of the season, left the lineup in the early innings Sunday.

Their absence as third baseman and shortstop, respectively, caused Scheffing to make some drastic changes. Bobo Osborne, normally a first baseman, filled in for Boros at third for several games, and George Thomas, a rookie outfielder, replaced Fernandez at shortstop.

After the three-game series with the Senators, the Tigers move to Cleveland for a four-game weekend series with the Indians. The Tigers, Indians and Yankees are locked in a see-saw battle for the American League lead.

Kansas City Keeps Yanks in 3rd, 4-3

By The Associated Press

The New York Yankees are back to playing the patsies again in that American League pennant race, but the patsies won't play ball.

After splitting six games against Detroit and Cleveland in their three-way fight for first place the Yankees were no worse than third, just a game behind. Ahead lay "third" division — Kansas City, Minnesota and Los Angeles—while nine road games, all against the the Tigers and Indians each played seven, squaring off against each other in four.

It figures to be a quick ride to the front for the Yankees, but they ran into a quick detour. Their kissin' cousins in Kansas City up and smacked the Yanks right in the kisser Monday night, coming from behind on consecutive nine-inning home runs by Norm Siebern and pinch hitter Wes Covington for a 4-3 decision that made ex-Yankee Hank Bauer a winner in his debut as manager of the A's.

It was the only game played in the AL and dropped New York 1½ games behind first place Detroit and the only other game scheduled, Cleveland at Chicago, was rained out, leaving the second place Indians a half-game behind the Tigers.

No games were scheduled in the National League, where Cincinnati has won five in a row for a 1½-game lead — the biggest bulge any NL leader has had in three weeks.

Bauer, 38, taking over after Joe Gordon was fired in a surprise move by A's owner Charles Finley, was backed by a couple of ex-Yanks and picked the right man at the right time for Kansas City's third victory in nine games with New York this season.

Siebern, like Bauer a one-time Yankee outfielder, collected half of the A's six hits. He drove in their first run with a fourth-inning single, then singled and scored their second run in the seventh on a triple by ex-Yank Deron Johnson before finally chasing starter Roland Sheldon with his ninth home run in the ninth.

The homer squared it 3-all, and Yankee manager Ralph Houk brought in relief ace Luis Arroyo, a left-hander. Bauer met the challenge by picking Covington, a left-handed hitter, and Wes walloped his fifth homer—making the seemingly odd lefty-against-lefty situation, which has become fairly commonplace against Arroyo, pay off. It was little Luis' third defeat, second by the A's.

Jim Archer, a stubby southpaw, won his third in a row with a seven-hitter. He gave up a pair of solo homers, Bill Skowron's 14th in the fourth, and Roger Maris' 25th, in the ninth, while beating New York a second time. Archer, now 5-1, is the only lefty to pitch a complete game against the Yankees this season, and he's done it twice.

Maris, the major league home run leader, now is seven games ahead of Babe Ruth's record—60 pace of 1927. But he's exactly even with his own pace of a year ago, with 25 in 63 games. He finished with 39 last season.

1946 Olympic Hosts Will Report on Preparations

ATHENS (AP) — Organizers of the 1964 Summer Olympics in Tokyo and the Winter Games in Innsbruck, Austria, today were invited by the International Olympic Committee (IOC) to report on their preparations so far.

The IOC—which Monday opened a three-day session here — arranged to meet separately with the Innsbruck and Tokyo organizers before deciding crucial questions concerning the 1964 games.

Otto Mayer, IOC chancellor, said the committee probably would make its final decisions this afternoon on the dates and programs for Tokyo and Innsbruck.

For Tokyo, a big issue concerned the program. Many IOC members want to hold the number of sports to 18. The Japanese want to add judo and volleyball. To keep the list to 18, the Japanese have suggested that canoeing and the modern pentathlon be dropped.

For Innsbruck, the main issue revolved around the dates. The Austrians have proposed the Games run from Jan. 29 to Feb. 9. The Scandinavians object, saying such a date is too early for them to get their athletes into shape. The Austrians say weather and snow conditions in Innsbruck dictate the January-February date.

Tokyo had its date problems too, but apparently the latest Japanese proposal—Oct. 11-25—will be accepted with little or no opposition.

Besides the Innsbruck-Tokyo issues, the IOC had two Russian proposals before it today.

One suggested more women's sports—including basketball — be made part of the Olympic program.

The other, if approved, would add to the code defining an amateur a specific provision that an amateur's "participation in sports is not his sole source of living."

The proposal strikes at athletes who may not get outright wages, in the professional manner, but who benefit from unlimited free board and lodging.

LA Gets Infielder

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Los Angeles Angels today announced the acquisition of infielder Bill Moran, 28, from the Toronto club of the International League.

Through 100 Years

Gilboe-Spargo Bowling Talk of Oldtimers

The names Gilboe and Spargo were synonymous with bowling in Pontiac in the 1920 and '30s and still are the chief subjects of conversation when oldtime keglers get together.

Gilboe won state and area tourneys and turned in good showings in ABC appearances. He was known for being willing to take on anyone in a match game. In 1933, he averaged 214 in a total of 18 games in different tournaments.

Spargo and Charles Wilson opened Motor Inn at its present site in 1928. Spargo handled the management for several years and later operated Pontiac Recreation. He estimated he had bowled 20,000 games in 25 years by 1935.

Bob Allen, who won the Pontiac Press Sweepstakes in 1934, Arch Johnson, Ed Brown, Charles Winters and Frank Ashley are some of the former stars who rank with such recent leaders as Bill Bull, Monroe Moore, Joe Foster and Bob Gormong.

GOOD SUPPORT—Hank Bauer (center), new Kansas City Athletics' manager, is happy over the back-to-back home runs hit by Norm Siebern (left) and Wes Covington. The blows came in the last of the ninth inning and gave the Athletics a 4-3 triumph over the Yankees in Bauer's debut as field boss.

Another Player, Fixer Named in Cage Scandal

NEW YORK (UPI)—A basketball game-fixer became so brazen that he charged out on a gymnasium floor at halftime of a game last season and bawled out a college player for not trying hard enough to lose.

That disclosure was made yesterday by New York district attorney Frank Hogan as the ever-widening basketball bribe scandals implicated a Columbia University player and a reputed gambler from Boston.

Those indicted were: Fred Portnoy, a 19-year-old Columbia sophomore who allegedly received $1,140 to control the point spread of forty games played by his school; Philip La Cort of Boston, who Hogan said furnished $10,000 to bribe collegians to "dump" games; and Joseph Green of New York, who previously had been named by Hogan as a payoff man in the bribes.

La Cort and Green both are at large and warrants have been issued for their arrest. They are charged with bribery and conspiracy.

In announcing the indictments, Hogan also described the incident in which Green berated young Portnoy for not trying hard enough to "dump" a game.

AT PHILLY

According to the district attorney, it happened during an Ivy League game between Columbia and Pennsylvania at Philadelphia last Jan. 7.

Green had agreed to pay Portnoy $1,000 to make sure that Columbia lost by at least 16 points. However, Columbia led at halftime.

It was then that Green ran onto the court as the Columbia team returned to start the second half and scolded Portnoy for the Lions' surprisingly strong showing.

Columbia went on to upset Penn, 65-54, and Portnoy was not paid off.

Portnoy, who lives in the Bronx, was named in the indictments only as a co-conspirator and not as a defendant. This is in keeping with Hogan's policy of granting immunity to players who testify before the grand jury and thus help bring about indictment of gamblers.

Immediately after the district attorney's announcement, Portnoy was expelled from Columbia.

Besides the Columbia-Penn game Hogan listed the following "deals" in which Portnoy was involved with fixers:

He received $140 from Green last summer and fall to "soften him up" for the 1960-61 season.

WAS PAID

He received $1,000 for making sure that Columbia lost to Rutgers by at least 12 points last Dec. 13. The Lions lost by 13 points.

He was to have received another $1,000 if Columbia lost to Colgate by 5 or more points Jan. 18. Columbia lost by 10, but Green reneged on the deal.

He was to have received money if Columbia lost to Army by 13 or more points Jan. 21. Portnoy suffered a foot injury and was sidelined early in the game, which Columbia lost by 8. He received no payoff.

La Cort was accused of bribing players — all revealed previously — from Connecticut, Mississippi State, Tennessee and La Salle.

Plan Inquest in Death of Midget 'Player'

CHICAGO (UPI) — An inquest was scheduled today into the death of a 50-pound midget whose 20-second major league career earned him a permanent niche in the annals of baseball.

Edward Carl Gaedel, 36, was found dead in bed in his home here Sunday. An autopsy performed yesterday revealed that bruises on his body probably were suffered in a fall and that death was due to natural causes.

A coroner's inquest was ordered.

The mighty midget, who stood 3 feet, 7 inches tall, made baseball history on Aug. 19, 1951, during a double-header between the old St. Louis Browns and Detroit at St. Louis.

No Definite Stocking Plan Set Yet for NL

CHICAGO (AP) — A National League expansion committee met Monday to discuss plans on stocking the New York Mets and Houston Colts with player talent but reached no conclusion, it was learned today.

The committee of five general managers plans to get together again some time this week in order to adopt a blueprint in time to present it to league presidents at a meeting of the National League in Chicago next Monday.

Thomas Isn't Concerned Over Brumel's Record

BOSTON (AP) — John Thomas isn't too concerned with the current controvery about whether or not Russian Valery Brumel has broken his world high jump record.

"That's fine," John said when he heard of Burmel's 2.23 meter leap Sunday in Moscow, "But I'm more concerned with my own performance than with Brumel's."

Thomas holds the recognized world standard of 7 feet 3¾ inches.

There is some confusion just how Brumel's leap will be measured, since it must be converted to feet and inches—it comes to 7 feet 3 4-5 inches—and according to U.S. standards reduced to the next lowest quarter of an inch. That would make Thomas and Brumel even at 7 3¾.

Thomas is more interested in getting himself primed for the AAU meet in New York, this weekend and subsequent events in Europe in which he will again meet Brumel in head-on competition. Brumel defeated him in three meets last winter.

Thomas jumped 7-2 in the NCAA meet in Philadelphia last week — the 65th time he has cleared 7 feet or better—and both he and Coach Ed Flanagan said he just missed at 7-4.

"He missed badly on his first two tries," Flanagan said. "He was well over on his third try—films show his body cleared by three or four inches—then he tripped the bar with his trailing foot. He cleared 7-2 by six or eight inches," Flanagan said.

Flanagan said Thomas could be approaching his peak for the year.

"We'll practice at some big heights this week and may have him at his peak this week."

Walled Lake's Tom Balkwell rifled a one-under-par 73 at Pontiac Country Club to lead four state qualifiers in the annual Waterford Jaycee tourney at Pontiac Country Club.

Phil Thingstad paced four state qualifiers in the Pontiac chapter's tournament at Municipal golf course with a five-over-par 78.

The scoring at Pontiac C.C. was the lowest in the history of the Waterford chapter tourney.

Briane Keen, also of Walled Lake, and Waterford's Roger Tallman deadlocked for 2nd place with 74s and Volney (Butch) Bayley Jr. of Twin Beach Country Club gained the 4th qualifying position with a 79.

In order to settle trophy awards, Keen and Tallman had to wage a sudden-death playoff for 2nd and 3rd places. After each boy birdied the 1st hole, Keen won the playoff with a par three on No. 2 to win 2nd place.

Joining Thingstad as state qualifiers at Municipal were Jerry McCormick, Ivory Donaldson and Bob Walton. McCormick shot 75, Donaldson 76, and Walton 78.

The Michigan Jaycee state tournament is scheduled July 31-Aug. 2 at Hillcrest Country Club in Mt. Clemens. Four-man teams from throughout the state will join the Waterford and Pontiac teams at Hillcrest.

The Pontiac chapter conducted a handicap division and a driving contest as additional tourney features. Ernie Garcia won low net honors, Lawrence Sevigny took 2nd spot and Jim Hengel placed 3rd. Ed Wasik won the driving contest.

Two pint-sized golfers competed yesterday. Little 12-year-old Ron McCormick carded an 86 in the Pontiac event at the city links while diminutive St. Fred golfer Mike Secoy scored 84 in Waterford's tourney at PCC.

Secoy finished 5th and failed to qualify. McCormick was 8th in his field.

The Waterford chapter held an awards luncheon immediately after the tournament in the PCC dining room at which time trophies were presented to the four qualifiers.

Thirty boys competed in the Waterford Jaycee event while 29 took part in the Pontiac J.C. Tourney.

4 Holes-in-One at Area Courses

Another hole-in-one epidemic has struck Pontiac area golf courses this week with four aces being recorded at four different links.

E. W. (Ozzie) Watchpocket celebrated the first ace of his golfing career after knocking a 7-iron shot into the cup on the 146-yard 4th hole at Twin Lakes Golf Club. Watchpocket's ace was viewed by Dick Jorgenson, Bob Costello and Don Weddle.

Pontiac's Jerry Lee, 18 years old, used a No. 4 wood to ace the south nine's 212-yard 1st hole at Municipal. The hole-in-one helped Lee shot par 35 on that side.

Birmingham's Ted Swain aced the 135-yard 8th hole at Pontiac Country Club with an 8-iron. Swain was accompanied by Pete Shugena. He shot 80. It was the 3rd ace of the year at PCC.

George Harris of Pontiac aced Clarkston Golf Club's 140-yard 9th hole with a 9-iron to complete the current hole-in-one parade.

Andonian and Smith Qualify for Publinx

Mike Andonian and Wally Smith, Pontiac's most prominent publinx golfers, once again has qualified for the USGA Amateur Public Links Golf Championship.

Andonian, a national semi-finalist last year, and Smith were among 15 who successfully hurdled their final qualifying barriers in 36-hole trials Monday at Rackham Municipal Golf Club in Royal Oak.

Rackham will be host to the national public links tournament July 10-15. Yesterday's lucky 15 will join 135 other players from throughout the nation in 36-hole trials at Rackham July 10-11 to bid for 64 match play positions.

Among those who must qualify for a match play berth are defending national champion Verne Callison of Sacramento, Calif., and 1960 runnerup Ty Caplin of East Lansing. Callison and Caplin have been exempt from all previous qualifying.

Nobody was able to equal par Monday over Rackham's 6,735-links on a qualifying day which started with sunny skies and gusty winds and ended with sudden-death playoffs in pouring rain and darkness.

Par at Rackham is 35-35—70 and the closest anyone came to matching that figure were Roy Cullen-bine, former Detroit Tiger outfielder, and Val Bleech of Flint.

Two eagle threes highlighted Cullenbine's efforts as he shot 70-72—146. Bleech scored the same 146 total on rounds of 73-73. Cullenbine twice eagled the 505-yard hole by reaching the green in two and sinking putts of six and nine feet.

After an opening round 78, Andonian came back strong with a 71 for a total of 149. Smith qualified by shooting 78-72—150.

Also qualifying for the national event yesterday was William Heyn of Rochester, who carded 73-77—150.

Detroit's Cecil Priest took 2nd place in the trials with 74-73—147 while Bill Curtis of Detroit, Jay Law of Harper Woods and defending State Publinx champion Doug Wilson of Ypsilanti followed at 148.

It was completely dark and the caddies were listening for the sounds of falling golf balls when Larry McMillan of Flint and Al Whited of Wayne waged a sudden-death playoff for the 15th qualifying berth.

The two players ended their deadlock at 151 and there was a driving rain when the playoff started. McMillan won the 15th spot with a bogey four on the 4th extra hole.

Among the 85 golfers who didn't make the grade were Roy Iceberg of Pontiac, Waterford's Jerry Kruske and Dayton Shanahan of Lake Orion. Kruskie shot 75-82—157, Shanahan posted 79-83—162 and Iceberg scored 79 in the morning; then failed to turn in his card for the afternoon round.

Pontiac's Ron Rothbarth was listed as No. 8 alternate after shooting 73-81—154. Joe Burgdorf of Pontiac was scheduled to play, but he did not start.

Area Golfers Lead Champion at College Meet

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) — Defending champions Dick Crawford and his University of Houston team were tottering today. Going into the second and last round of qualifications for the 64th annual collegiate golf tournament.

Crawford shot a 4-over-par 75 yesterday, opening his bid for an unprecedented third straight NCAA individual title. Fifty-six other collegiafs equalled or bettered his score, and 12 others were only one stroke behind him.

After today's shooting only the low 64 of 199 starters will go into the four days of medal play.

Jack Nicklaus of Ohio State, the tourney favorite, was in no danger of elimination. The high amature in last week's U. S. Open stroked a 1-under-par 70 on the south course where all match play is scheduled.

Michigan State's Albert Badger of Bloomfield Hills fired a 37-34—71 over the south course while Pete Green, a North Carolina student from Franklin had a 36-

Bone, McElmurry, Watrous Land in PGA

Pontiac's Gene Bone, who played poorly in the 2nd National Open start of his young professional career last weekend at Oakland Hills and failed to make the halfway cut, bounced back Monday at Flint Golf Club to qualify for the National PGA tournament.

Bone, 29-year-old Warwick Hills pro; Knollwood's Mac McElmurry, and 42-year-old Al Watrous of Oakland Hills each rifled a one-over-par 145 to lead the five national qualifiers in yesterday's 36-hole trials over the par 36-36—72 Flint G. C. course.

Eldon Briggs, veteran assistant pro at Detroit Golf Club, and Reggie Myles Jr. of Walnut Hills in Lansing gained the 4th and 5th spots after winning a sudden-death playoff against Washtenaw's Tom Talkington and Cliff Settergren of Muskegon.

Briggs, Myles, Talkinton and Settergren concluded their rounds with identical scores of 146. Settergren bogied the 1st hole of the playoff to fall by the wayside, then Briggs parred the 2nd hole to nail down his open position. Myles earned 5th place by parring the 3rd hole as Talkington bogied.

Bone was two under par after 30 holes, but he bogied the 13th, 16th and 17th to slip to his one-over-par figure. Bone collected six birdies during the day as he carded 74-71.

McElmurry, new head pro at Knollwood, scored four birdies as he shot 72-73. Watrous birdied five holes and picked up a double-bogey on the 7th hole of his 2nd round while posting a 72-73 scorecard.

Briggs carded 76-70 and Myles 75-71.

Among the 38 unfortunate players who failed to make the grade were Forest Lake's Bob Gajda, who just missed by carding 77-70—147 total, and Lakepointe's John Dalrymple, former Keego Harbor athlete, who shot 76-72—148.

Littler Leads Tourists Into Grand Rapids

Four-Day Western Open Begins Thursday; Trials Scheduled Today

By BILL CORNWELL

The professional golf caravan invaded Grand Rapids today to start tuning up for the 58th Western Open Golf Championship, which begins a four-day run Thursday at Blythefield Country Club.

Newly-crowned National Open champion Gene Littler suddenly found himself thrust into the golf world's No. 1 focal point as the nation's top touring pros prepared to tackle Blythefield's par 36-35—71 course.

Littler, the modest 30-year-old Californian with the natural swing, was among the prime favorites to annex the Western crown following his one-stroke triumph in the USS. Open last Saturday at Oakland Hills.

Defending champion in the Western Golf Association-sponsored event is balding Stan Leonard, the Canadian swinger who overtook Art Wall's four-stroke lead last year at Detroit's Western C.C. on the final 18 holes and then beat him on the 1st hole of a sudden-death playoff.

Leonard will be at Blythefield to defend his honors, along with all of the big names who competed at Oakland Hills last weekend. Leonard did not compete in the National Open.

It would seem to be a safe bet that the country's leading pari-busters will find Blythefield easier to conquer than Oakland Hills.

Host pro John Barnum has picked 273 or 274 as the winning score for the 72-hole, medal play tournament. This would be considerably lower than Littler's U.S. Open-winning total of 281, one over par.

Blythefield does not have the fairway bunkers that the pros found at Oakland Hills and the fairways are wider and more open.

If Barnum's predicted winning total proves true, the score would be a dozen or so strokes below par.

Littler, who methodically shot his way to the Open crown, is now in the driver's seat, but Arnold Palmer, Gary Player and Doug Sanders plus all the rest of the biggest names in golf are ready to challenge him again.

Palmer may be due for another hot tournament. Muscular Arnie played poorly for the first two rounds at Oakland Hills and his two par 70s on the final day were too late to overhaul the leaders.

Palmer was a better prophet than a golfer at Oakland Hills. The day before the Open began, Palmer selected 280, even par, as the winning score. He missed by only one shot.

An 18-hole qualifying round was being conducted at Blythefield today to cut the field to 150 for Thursday's opening 18-hole round.

There were 94 lesser-known players in the qualifying field and 60 places were at stake. Forty-five of them were from Michigan, including Bob Nodus, assistant pro at Bloomfield Hills.

Major Ruling Ends High Court Term

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court has concluded its current term with a major decision holding that workers compelled to be union members can't have their dues money spent for political purposes against their will.

The court, ruling in a railroad labor case, made it clear it was talking of a union shop situation —one in which the workers have to be members and pay dues to a union to hold their jobs.

Where workers under such an arrangement object to having part of their dues money diverted to political causes, the court held, the union must respect the members' wishes. Otherwise, their right to make a political free choice is jeopardized, the court said in a 5-4 ruling.

The court's 4½ hour session Monday was the longest of the year and the last until October. The justices handed down opinions in 11 cases and ruled on scores of motions.

ILLEGAL EVIDENCE

In a decision hailed as historic, the court barred use of illegally obtained evidence in state courts, just as such evidence cannot be used in federal courts.

It struck down as unconstitutional a Maryland law prohibiting persons from holding public office who refuse to swear they believe in God.

A fourth significant decision, involving a challenge to Connecticut's birth control laws, was bypassed. The court refused to rule on the statutes which make it a crime to use contraceptives or for doctors to give information on their use. In effect, the state law was allowed to stand.

OTHER DECISIONS

In other actions the court:

1. Held 7 to 2 that states can compel lawyers to join bar associations and pay dues, even though the lawyers object. Trayton L. Lathrop of Madison, Wis., who brought the complaint, claimed he should not have to pay money into an organization which used such funds for backing legislation he opposed.

The ruling, written by Justice William J. Brennan Jr., was not contrary to the decision reached in the labor union case, the majority held. Brennan said the issue of the correctness of whether Lathrop "may constitutionally be compelled to contribute his financial support to political activities which he opposes, was not before the court. He said the decision intimated no view as to the issue's correctness.

2. Held unanimously that adequate safeguards must be provided in seizures of obscene publications to prevent the taking of nonobscene publications. The ruling was based on a Missouri case in which only 100 of 280 publications seized by police, acting under a state law, proved to be obscene.

Russians Have Problems With Violence on TV, Too

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Things are tough all over on television.

The Senate Committee investigating the effects of TV on juvenile delinquency can take some solace, possibly, in the report of Federal Communications Commission Chairman Newton N. Minow.

Minow Monday bemoaned what he called American television's "shoddy devices," but he said things are apparently getting pretty gory on Russian TV screens, too.

He quoted a piece of loose verse, translated from a publication entitled the Soviet Nursery School Journal, which told the tale of a child who watches every last TV program on the air "no matter how gory" and then has nightmares.

"The child tosses and weeps
"He dreams of the chase, of sword and of fire
"He chokes, he has started to shake and perspire.
"Next morning, he's fretful, a whiner and mean.
"And who is the villain?—the TV machine."

Returning to the domestic scene, Minow told the committee that using shows depicting crime and violence to keep children glued to the screen is "worse than taking candy from a baby."

"It is taking precious time from the process of growing up," he said.

He repeated an earlier request for a law allowing the FCC to issue rules and regulations governing network policies, and also recommended that:

—Holders of broadcast licenses be required or empowered to see in advance the network programs their stations will telecast.

—The government encourage development of a national system of educational television with "different and better" programing.

—Parents and teachers tell sponsors and others in the industry what they think of TV practices.

Mart Recovers but Deals Slow

NEW York (AP) — The Stock Market made a substantial recovery early this afternoon but trading was very quiet.

Key stocks advanced from fractions to 1 or 2 points.

The market was following through from Monday's late recovery movement which cut losses in a sharp decline. The list had met support Monday at the anticipated level, represented by about 675 in the Dow-Jones Industrial Average.

The rebound was regarded as chiefly technical but it was accompanied by news that new orders and sales for durable goods rose substantially last month. This was another sign of economic recovery.

At the same time, steel production in the latest week had its biggest drop of the year as the usual summer slowdown approached and as the auto industry prepared for the model changeover.

Motors, steels, rails, utilities, rubbers, oils, chemicals, electrical equipments and tobaccos were among the gainers. Nonferrous metals, aircrafts, drugs and building materials were mixed. Electronics regained some lost ground.

On the American Stock Exchange prices advanced in slow trading. Gains of 2 points or better were made by Perfect Photo, Kawecki Chemical, Cubic Corp. and Cenco Instruments. Up a point or better were Aerojet-General, Microwave Associates, Seeman Brothers, Telepropmter, Venture Capital and Struthers Wells.

Court Dues Ruling 'Won't Affect UAW'

DETROIT (AP)—A spokesman for the United Auto Workers Union says the U.S. Supreme Court decision on use of union dues money for political purposes probably will have little, if any, effect on the UAW.

The UAW ordered into effect in July of 1956 a plan by which members may earmark for nonpartisan organizations that portion of their dues which formerly went to local and the international citizenship funds of the union.

The court's five-man majority ruled with six southern railway workers who argued the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks was abridging their constitutional rights by using their dues money for political purposes with which they disagreed.

Tuesday wasn't a real payday.
But the money was. It was the first dividend check from an investment program this man started just a few months back.
The Day PAYDAY CAME ON TUESDAY
The man isn't rich. He isn't a stock expert. But he's an investor, one of 12,000,000 who are sharing in the nation's industrial growth through investments.
Most of them are in the $5,000 to $10,000 income bracket, and many of them systematically set aside a portion of their regular paychecks to invest in income producing securities. The result: extra paydays . . . regularly throughout the year.

If you would like to know how to introduce extra paydays into your future, now is the time to discuss an investment program with a Watling, Lerchen & Co. representative. Call or visit us today.

Capsule Looked Like Door Knob to AF Divers

PEARL HARBOR, Hawaii (AP) — Discoverer XXV's capsule "looked like a big brass door knob somebody had shined for hours," to the three U.S. Air Force pararescuemen who recovered it.

"I still can't believe it has happened, after all the waiting and waiting," said Sgt. William V. Vargas, 30, one of the recovery team.

Vargas, of Detroit, Mich., and his teammates leaped into the Pacific from 1,000 feet to recover the data-filled capsule Sunday.

They were returned to Pearl Harbor Monday night aboard the destroyer Radford, after being plucked from a bobbing raft on which they had kept an all-night vigil with the capsule.

Bee Threat Causes Davisburg Mishap

The threat of a bee stinging caused a Davisburg woman to crash her car into a tree in White Lake Township yesterday, sending her to the hospital.

Mrs. Harvey Hoornstraw, 31, of 4475 Hartley Road was reported in satisfactory condition today at Pontiac General Hospital. She suffered fractured ribs, cuts on her left arm and multiple bruises in the crash.

She was alone in her car headed north on Ormond Road when, she said, a bee entered through the open window.

Mrs. Hoornstraw told sheriff's deputies she became agitated by the bee and lost control of the wheel. The car smacked into the tree on the opposite side of the road.

Red Chinese Menaced by Three-Year Drought

TOKYO (AP)—Peiping radio said today winter wheat crops in four northern China provinces have been menaced by drought for the third straight year.

It gave no figures as to the size of the harvest or crop losses.

Several Attend Hearings on Lights in Waterford

Several Waterford Township residents were present at two street-light hearings, held from 7 to 9 last night at the regular township board meeting.

The hearings involved 28 street lights in the Burlingham Lake Subdivision, and one in the Lakewood Farms Subdivision. The residents wanted to know where the lights would be and how much they would cost.

After considerable discussion, the board decided that one light will be eliminated and the annual $4.22 per assessment established by Supervisor Elmer R. Johnson will be up for reaffirmation at next week's meeting.

The Lakewood Farms subdivision residents asked that one more light be added. The annual assessment was figured at $4.86. Other sections of the subdivision already have lights.

STATION WAGON BIDS

There was much discussion by board members on whether the township should buy a station wagon, as Fire Chief Elmer Fangboner suggested, or a regular automobile for the fire chief.

The chief said, "I want to get something that an ordinary car cannot carry — a utility-type vehicle."

Johnson and trustee Loren Anderson argued the point. However the board decided to take sealed bids for a station wagon July 3.

This will be the first time a Waterford Township fire chief is provided with a vehicle of his own.

The board approved Police Chief Millard Pender's request to add eight men in the reserve police unit, and okayed additional uniforms for a total of $326. The appointments will be subject to the approval of the board.

Two lots were rezoned from commercial to light manufacturing on Williams Lake Road for a small sheet-metal works. Following the meeting, the zoning board and township board discussed the ever-increasing zoning problems.

West Berlin Police Save 8 Commies

BERLIN (UPI) — A West Berlin police riot squad today saved eight Communist demonstrators from an angry crowd of West Berliners.

About 100 West Berliners menaced the Communists and threatened to beat them up when they demonstrated in an American sector square for the Soviet plan to end Western allied rights in West Berlin.

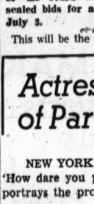
A 10-man police riot squad rescued the Communists and took them into protective custody. They were taken to a police station and then released.

A chemical method of protecting clams and oysters from their natural enemies is being tested.

Actress Gives Approval of Part in Stage Play

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — "I've had some religious people say to me, 'How dare you play such a part?'" said Elizabeth Seal, who portrays the prostitute in the hit show, "Irma La Douce."



WILSON

"They say that I am encouraging girls of 17 and 18 to lead bad lives.

"I want to say to them, 'Thank you very much. It shows I must be playing my part pretty well!'"

Miss Seal, like Elizabeth Taylor, Shirley Jones and Melina Mercouri, got into prostitute roles recently, won great acclaim from some people—and was blasted by others.

"I'm sick of being so puritanical," Miss Seal flared up when we were discussing it. "If one is offered a marvelous part, and it's a prostitute, what is one to do?

"It pays the rent, it's a lovely part, it suits me — and I just can't be worried about what all the people disapprove of. Let them do the worrying!"

I am presenting Miss Seal's side because it seems somebody should speak out for the actresses who've come under fire.

ELIZABETH

"Anyway," continued Miss Seal, "I don't think anybody can make a prostitute glamorous. I feel sorry for them."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . . Singer Sallie Blair will have a dramatic role in Liz Taylor's "Cleopatra" film . . . Gary Cooper's last film, "Naked Edge," will open without previews, "to preserve the suspense". . . Joan Crawford will call her book "Portrait of Joan" . . .

EARL'S PEARLS: Two things puzzle travelers—why hotel walls are so thin when you're trying to sleep, and so thick when you're trying to listen.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: A local woman, we're told, always locks the door when she leaves the house; she's afraid a burglar'll break in—and find the beds unmade. . . . That's earl brother.

Hearing Tonight on Shop Center

Rezoning Half of Site for Proposed Facility Will Be Discussed

City commissioners tonight will hold a public hearing on the proposed rezoning of half the site of the projected Glenwood Avenue shopping center.

Afterwards, the zoning map could be amended to rezone the land to commercial.

But commissioners may not take this step after they hear that the planning commission recommends no final action until after site development plans have been approved by the engineering department. This may take several weeks.

The $2-million shopping center is described as the largest on the east side of the city. It would be located just south of Perry Street on the east side of Glenwood Avenue, between Gage and Grandview streets.

Commissioners have a backlog of work on other subjects.

Coming up again is the proposal for rezoning for a third trailer park within the city limits —this one on the east side of Telegraph Road in the Beaudette Park area; the proposed rezoning of a lot on the south side of South Boulevard, west of Franklin, for erection of a welding shop; and consideration of the revised civil defense plan.

All three items were put over from last week's meeting.

There will be a hearing on the proposal by Gee Coal & Fuel Co., 91 Lake St., for rezoning to manufacturing of its grounds. The company has been there more than two decades, although the zoning is residential.

Mrs. Harry F. Killian, 119 Lincoln St., principal of Bethune School, was elected vice chairman.

Other members are Vernon M. Page, 199 Rockwell St., and Rev. Herbert C. Shankle, 50 Earlmoore Blvd.

The commission awarded a $9,791 contract to A & A Asphalt Paving Co. of Birmingham for black topping in the Lakeside Homes project, which it operates.

Unsold '61 Cars to Move Fast

Industry Expects No Glut When '62s Come Out in Fall

DETROIT (AP) — The auto industry insists there will be no glut of unsold 1961 model cars when the 1962 models come on the market in the fall.

The most recent forecasts claim the stockpile may drop as low as 210,000 cars by Sept. 30. On that date last year dealers had 417,009 cars left of 1960 vintage and the last of these weren't sold until well after New Year's.

One estimate was that almost 30 per cent of all cars sold from the day new models went on sale until Dec. 31 were "new-old" ones from the previous model year. This, in turn, severely trimmed 1961 model sales.

The inventory of unsold cars has been dropping steadily since February and is expected to be about 900,000 at the end of this month. Meanwhile, production will be slowing down.

Studebaker - Packard is in its last full week of 1961 model production. Buick, Oldsmobile, Pontiac and all of the Chrysler divisions will be through within a month.

Ford will begin its closings in late July as will Chevrolet. American Motors also is expected to finish earlier than last year when it built its last cars on Aug. 4.

Ward's Automotive Reports estimated as of June 1 that supplies of Comets and Falcons in dealer hands ranged between 20 and 30 days. In the 31-40 day classification were Corvair, Cadillac, Ford, Thunderbird, Lincoln and Chevrolet.

Oldsmobile, Chrysler and the Olds F85 were in 41 to 50 days' supply and in the 51-60 class were Mercury, Plymouth and Studebaker.

American Motors was pegged at 61 days' supply with Imperial, Dodge, Valiant and Lancer all above 61.

Two Get Probation for Theft of Check

Probation for two years, $100 court costs and $42 in restitution were ordered yesterday for two Pontiac men who admitted stealing a $125 Aid-to-Dependent Children check from a Pontiac home on Feb. 3.

Circuit Judge Stanton G. Dondero imposed the sentences upon George V. Lloyd, 21, of 565 S. Paddock St., and Franklin J. Land, 21, of 110 Raeburn St.

Both pleaded guilty June 5.

Placed on Probation for Shooting Spree

Circuit Judge Stanton G. Dondero ordered James O. Rush placed on probation for two years, and assessed him $100 court costs for the May 30 shotgun assault upon his estranged wife.

Rush, 34, of 227 Chamberlain St., pleaded guilty June 5 to firing a 16-gauge shotgun through the kitchen door of the home at 40 Taylor St. where his former wife Kathlin, 27, lived.

"Your trouble is drinking, and every time you get in trouble it's because of that," the judge said. He suggested Rush seek help.

Automation Is Displayed at Luncheon

Push-button automation has invaded the banquet circuit.

At yesterday's noon all-service club Centennial luncheon, Circuit Judge William J. Beer, toastmaster, was poking fun at his former law partner, Mayor Philip E. Rowston, chairman of "Pride in Pontiac Day."

"Leave it to a man six foot six to arrange an affair like this so a short man like myself can just barely poke his head over the rostrum," Judge Beer said.

With not a word, featured speaker S. E. Knudsen, General Motor Corp. vice president and Pontiac Motor Division general manager, pressed a button on the fancy looking rostrum and it lowered about three inches.

"Proof of a great industrialist!" said Judge Beer.

To Be Sentenced July 17 for Theft

Tommy L. Walker pleaded guilty yesterday to stealing car heaters and radiators so he could sell them back to the junk dealer from whom he stole them.

Circuit Judge Stanton G. Dondero set sentencing for July 17 for Walker, 37, of 28 Maple St. He is charged with grand larceny.

City police nabbed Walker June 13 as he tossed seven radiators and seven heaters over the fence at the Bagley Auto Parts, 170 Bagley St.

He was returned to the county jail to await his sentence after his arraignment.

Swainson Lauds Older Citizens, Place in Society

ANN ARBOR (AP)—The growing porportion of older citizens in Michigan and the nation can be an asset to the country if all public and private groups work together to make it that way, says Gov. Swainson.

Swainson, addressing the annual state conference on aging at the University of Michigan Monday, said:

"We must begin to think of them as what they really are—a large number of individuals with the same range of interests, needs and potentialities as any other group in our population.

"We must create a society and economy which has a place for them to continue to function as paid workers, if they are willing and able to work; as useful active volunteers, if they prefer to retire; as grandparents, as club members, as taxpayers within their ability to pay for basic services; and, most of all, as responsible citizens and voters."

White Freedom Riders Crowded Into One Cell

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Charles R. Oldham, national chairman of the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE), charged today 14 white women "freedom riders" are being held in a single cell at the Hinds County jail in Jackson, Miss.

"These prisoners do not have beds, but sleep on the concrete floor," said Oldham, who visited the prisoners Saturday and Sunday. The CORE chairman says the cell is about 13 by 15 feet, including bath facilities.

City Man Awaits Trial in Stabbing of His Wife

Circuit Judge Stanton G. Dondero entered a plea of innocent for 31-year-old Joe Hughes yesterday after the Pontiac man stood mute to a charge of felonious assault in the stabbing of his estranged wife.

Hughes, 141 W. South Blvd., is charged with the stabbing of his wife Mary, 33, of 45 Pleasant View Drive, in Beaudette Park on June 5.

No trial date was set after Hughes' arraignment. He awaits trial in the county jail.

No Primary for Romney

AMC Prexy, O'Brien, Titchin Win Places on Sept. 12 Ballot

Republican George Romney and Democrats William A. O'Brien and Asher N. Titchin have automatically won on spots on the Sept. 12 constitutional convention ballots.

Atty. Gen. Paul L. Adams today advised Secretary of State James M. Hare that no July 25 primary will be necessary in districts where the candidates are unopposed.

Romney, president of American Motors Corp., is unopposed for the 12th District (Oakland County) senatorial seat on the GOP ticket and O'Brien, a Clawson attorney, is unopposed for the Democratic nomination for this seat.

Titchin, an attorney from West Bloomfield Township, is unopposed for the Democratic nomination for the county's third state representative seat.

In the 11 other races for the county's seven seats, primary run-offs are necessary because there are more candidates than positions to be filled.

Lansing Adopts Urban Renewal Department

LANSING (AP) — The Lansing City Council Monday night adopted a resolution creating a department of metropolitan redevelopment to handle urban renewal after being told Lansing was behind many other Michigan cities in the field.

Councilman Malcolm L. Milks said a tour of other cities with similar urban renewal problems showed they were far ahead of Lansing. Among cities cited for their progress were Battle Creek, Jackson, Kalamazoo, Grand Rapids, Muskegon and Pontiac.

The department will become a coordinating agency to work with various governmental units involved in the field on the city, state and federal level, Milks said.

Inglis to Head Michigan PSC

Racing Commissioner to Succeed George Hill in Major Post

LANSING (AP) — James H. Inglis will wind up nine years as state racing commissioner July 3 to become chairman of the State Public Service Commission.

Gov. Swainson Monday named Inglis to head the PSC, probably the most important regulatory agency is state government. It sets rates and regulations for public utilities.

Inglis, a former Detroit newspaperman, will replace George E. Hill, formerly of Marquette, in the $13,500-a-year post. Hill moved recently to Grand Rapids to become U.S. district attorney for Western Michigan.

Swainson gave no indication on his choice of a successor to the $8,000 job as supervisor of racing activity in Michigan. Speculation centered on Dan Gilmartin, his press aide during the 1960 campaign and now deputy commissioner, and Mitchell Tender, the governor's former executive secretary who recently was appointed deputy corporation and securities commissioner.

Ponders Selling Grand Trunk Western Railway

The first indication yet dropped that Canadian National Railways is thinking of selling Grand Trunk Western Railway, one of its two subsidiaries in the United States, was given by Donald Gordon, CNR president, to a Parliament committee in Ottawa last week.

He said, "We would sell them (Grand Trunk and the other subsidiary, Central Vermont Railway) without hesitation" if CNR would be assured it would not lose the freight traffic the two railroads feed to CNR for shipment into Canada.

He disclosed Central Vermont had a $6 million loss in 1960. Recently, at a board meeting in Detroit, he disclosed Grand Trunk lost $5,682,181 last year.

He also said Grand Trunk had asked the ICC for permission to drop certain passenger service.

He did not indicate whether this would include the commuter service it provides between Detroit and Pontiac.

Adolf Eichman Flatly Denies Jewish Charges

Pictures Himself as Obscure Official in Extermination Plot

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Adolf Eichmann pictured himself to the world today as an obscure Nazi official who had nothing personally to do with the slaughter of 6,000,000 Jews in World War II.

He said he was an "emigration and transportation specialist" who only carried out his bosses' orders.

Gray-faced and haggard, but speaking in a firm, precise voice, Eichmann took the stand to answer the Israeli state's crushing charge that he was the kingpin in the Nazi machine for extermination of the Jews.

His answer was a flat denial.

Answering questions for more than two hours from his West German defense attorney, Dr. Robert Servatius, Eichmann asserted that:

—He did not come here voluntarily to testify. The statement in which he declared he did so was signed by him under duress after his Jewish kidnapers in Buenos Aires had chained him to a bed.

—He joined the Nazi party in 1932 because it was pledged to end the 1919 Versailles Treaty restrictions on Germany. He regarded as "a tragedy and no fault of mine" the fact that Adolf Hitler and other top Nazis decided to exterminate European Jewry during World War II.

—He tried to learn Hebrew "in order to be something unusual" in the Nazi secret police.

'FAVORED JEWISH STATE'

—He helped promoter Zionism and was all in favor of emigration of the Jews from Europe and creation of a Jewish state which he considered "the Columbus egg" in solving the Jewish problem.

$750,000 Exhibit Is Viewed by Hundreds of Celebrators

By PETE LOCHBILER

The largest industrial exhibit in Pontiac's history demonstrated the city's industrial might today in the Civic Center area where Pontiac yesterday paid tribute to its new public buildings.

Hundreds of Centennial celebrators filed into the colorful Centennial Industrial Exhibit after it was opened at 9 a.m. with the chug-chug of a 1916 GMC truck and a 1926 Pontiac, [illegible] red-white and blue ribbon.

Stuart E. Whitfield, general chairman of the Greater Pontiac Centennial, began the "Industrial Day" program by declaring "as industry goes, so goes Pontiac."

The $750,000 exhibit, featuring Pontiac automobiles, GMC trucks and buses and displays from other Pontiac industries, is located in the municipal parking lot on East Pike Street. The three-day show will be open to the public, without charge, 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. today through Thursday.

In the opening ceremonies, there was music by a five-piece band as the truck and car split through the ribbon.

City and industrial leaders then moved into one of two exhibit tents for the premier of a 45-min-

Introduced at the opening by Whitfield were: S. E. Nelson, president of the Universal Oil Seal Co.; Thomas F. Wiethorn, Pontiac Fisher Body Division general manager and GM vice president; Mayor Philip E. Rowston; and Thomas E. The program was just across the street from the new, $600,000 Pontiac Public Library, where a series of dedicatory programs began yesterday afternoon.

Hamlin revealed that the county's Ways and Means Committee would recommend an initial $1,000 appropriation for the home to the full board at its meeting next week.

To OK 500-Tractor Ransom?

Fidel Must Say by Friday

DETROIT (UPI) — Cuba's Fidel Castro has until noon Friday to decide whether he'll accept 500 farm-type tractors as full ransom for 1,214 April invasion prisoners. Otherwise, any deal is off.

That was the Tractors-for-Freedom Committee's answer Monday night to the Cuban prime minister's revised demand for $28-million worth of tractors, if he doesn't get the 500 heavy-duty types he says he had in mind originally.

In a take-it-or-leave-it cable, the committee told Castro it was prepared to ship only agricultural tractors and only 500 of them "for the two-fold humanitarian purpose" of freeing prisoners and helping Cubans win higher living standards.

Castro broached the tractors for prisoners deal in a television speech May 17. With White House approval, Dr. Milton Eisenhower, Eleanor Roosevelt and Walter P. Reuther formed as co-chairmen the Tractors-for-Freedom Committee to raise money for 500 tractors.

The committee told him he had changed his original proposal and that his list of prisoners had fewer names than "the total 1,214 indicated by you in your original offer."

"Unless we have received from you clear, positive acceptance of our offer by noon, E.S.T., on Friday, June 23," the cable said, "our committee will consider the purposes for which it was established are not possible of realization because of your failure to comply with terms of your own original proposal."

A committee spokesman said the estimated cost of machines offered by the committee was between $3½ million, roughly nine times below Castro's demand.

"The committee probably would have to deliver more than 4,500 light tractors to meet Castro's $28 million price," the spokesman said.

Slipping Mercury to Creep Upward to 68 Wednesday

Today's cloudiness will diminish this afternoon, leaving skies clear and temperatures a little on the cool side, the low dropping to near 48 tonight.

The weatherman said Wednesday will continue fair with the high temperature rising to about 68. The outlook for Thursday is fair and warmer.

Morning northeasterly winds at 5 miles per hour will become northeast to north at 13-18 m.p.h. late today diminishing tonight. Winds will be northwesterly at 10-15 Wednesday.

Goldwater Tips on Cuba Turmoil

'Use Military Force to Rout Pro-Red Rule if Other Means Fail'

DETROIT (UPI)—If no other means is effective in knocking down what he considers Fidel Castro's pro-Communist government in Cuba, then Sen. Barry Goldwater, R.-Ariz., says the United States should use military force.

"I'd move in and get them out," Goldwater said. "Some day we're going to have to get rid of communism there—let's face it."

In an interview before he gave the keynote address for the convention of the National Association of Plumbing Contractors last night, Goldwater also criticized the proposed swap of tractors for prisoners taken in the abortive April invasion of Cuba by anti-Castroists.

He said a swap of 500 tractors for 1,200 Castro prisoners would be "unconstitutional, immoral and illegal." He termed Castro's demand of tractors for prisoners "international blackmail."

The Arizona Republican said if the swap were not barred by a federal court injunction, then Congress will step in and block an export-import permit for it.

As a means of possibly toppling Castro, short of military intervention, Goldwater proposed a full embargo, backed by a full-scale blockade, even if it means a dispute with Canada.

Goldwater conceded the United States has a responsibility to the prisoners captured in the Cuban invasion, but he blamed the Kennedy administration for what he said was the calling off of air and sea support just before the invasion began.

Weatherman Promises to Be Kind

Spectacle Ready to Go Tonight

With the weatherman predicting clear skies by this evening, Centennial Headquarters was confident today that the first performance of the giant Spectacle, "The Pontiac Story," will take place tonight at Wisner Stadium.

If rain doesn't cancel out the show for the second straight night, preliminary ceremonies will begin at 8:15 p.m., a half-hour before the show.

During a musical preperformance program, Veachel Bilyeu is scheduled to be crowned as Miss Centennial, receiving the new Tempest she won in the Miss Centennial contest.

Someone will have to substitute for Congressman William S. Broomfield, R-Oakland County. Scheduled to crown the queen last night, Broomfield was unable to remain in Oakland County today. He left this morning for an important session in Congress.

RAIN WAS HEAVY

Heavy rain last night forced Stuart E. Whitfield, general chairman of the Greater Pontiac Centennial, to cancel the opening performance of the 1,082-cast show.

Headquarters was following this procedure in regards to last night's ticket holders:

All tickets are exchangeable for new ones for any of the five remaining previously scheduled performances, running tonight through Saturday.

Or, ticket holders could hold on to their tickets for the "rain check" performance now scheduled for Sunday, June 25. Holder or reserved seats for last night can automatically have the same reserved seats Sunday.

Tickets can be exchanged at Centennial Headquarters in the Pontiac Public Library from 9 a.m. through the noon hour to 5:30 p.m. every day or at the Stadium box office beginning at 7:15 p.m. performance nights. Tickets are being sold during the same hours.

If the performance tonight, or any other night, should be rained out, the procedure will be the same as last night. Advance notice of any cancellation will be carried over Radio Station WPON during the evening hours.

Youth Drowns in Walled Lake

Detroiter, 18, Is Year's 10th Victim in County; Weeds Entangle Body

Weeds reaching nearly to the surface in 15-foot depths of Walled Lake yesterday claimed the county's 10th drowning victim of the year.

Last Year to Date: 3

The body of William B. Turner Jr., 18, of Detroit, was recovered by sheriff's department skin divers who spent nearly two hours hacking through the dense growth with knives.

The teen-ager had become wrapped in the weeds while attempting to swim to a raft about 100 yards offshore from a Walled Lake public beach. He drowned 30 feet short of the raft in sight of three companions, all from Detroit.

Gary R. Hill, 16, told deputies he was swimming about 30 yards behind the victim when he heard him shout for help, struggle briefly and go under.

"I was unable to get to Bill through the weeds," said Hill. He was forced to turn back.

Two female companions, Joanne A. Bassinger, 15, and Mary C. Lagos, 15, watched the tragedy helplessly from shore.

A resident across the street on East Lake Drive summoned the city fire department, and 20 skin divers arrived at the scene — too late.

They used powerful underwater lights in a futile effort to find the body. The maze was too thick even for these lights to penetrate, they reported.

CUT BODY FREE

Swimming gingerly through the weeds, deputies Irving Hansen and Medward Tessier blindly touched the body and brought it back to shore after cutting it free.

Ikeda, Kennedy Open Three Days of Conference

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy and Japan's Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda opened a three-day series of conferences today, starting with Kennedy's pessimistic assessment of prospects for a cold war truce.

Kennedy discarded his crutches —but only momentarily—to greet Ikeda with a handshake.

Kennedy arose from his chair in the White House office to shake hands with Ikeda when photographers in the room asked for that type of welcome.

"I guess I'll have to stand up for this," Kennedy said with a smile. He rose with no apparent difficulty, clasped Ikeda's hand, and then sat down.

The standing handshake was the first time newsmen had seen Kennedy without crutches since he arrived in Palm Beach, Fla., June 8 for a weekend of rest. The fact that he had suffered a back strain on May 16 had been announced only that day.

FIRST MEETING

Ikeda, who arrived here at 7:59 a.m. (Pontiac time), drove across Pennsylvania Avenue from the Blair House guest mansion to this first meeting with Kennedy.

U.S. officials said Kennedy planned to set the background for the opening discussion by telling Ikeda of his generally discouraging discussion of the nuclear test ban, Berlin and disarmament with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev in Vienna early this month.

The pro-Western Japanese leader flew in from Los Angeles aboard the President's official plane. He was greeted at the airport by Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson and Secretary of State Dean Rusk, with full military honors.

Ikeda broke Japanese tradition by bringing his wife along on the official visit.

Johnson welcomed Ikeda, on behalf of Kennedy and the American people, as a friend and "an associate in a great enterprise . . . to promote among the nations of the world intelligent commerce and mutual understanding."

Johnson said the talks here would be based on a similarity of outlook by the United States and Japan because both are free nations.

Sees Little Hope Now! More Optimistic Over Foreign Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Speaker Sam Rayburn today described as not very good the prospect for passage of President Kennedy's aid-to-education program in this session of Congress.

He also said there is a country-wide campaign against the administration's foreign aid program, but said he believes Congress in the end will decide "we need it."

Rayburn talked with newsmen following the weekly conference of Democratic legislative leaders with Kennedy.

The speaker said the leaders covered a wide range of subjects with Kennedy, with particular emphasis on foreign aid.

Despite the campaign against foreign aid, Rayburn said the outlook for the program appears better than that for the educational aid plan,

Rayburn also said it will be "pretty tough to get an agriculture bill" through Congress at this session.

Rayburn said he does not know just who is behind the campaign against foreign aid, but remarked there are "some hate societies running in the country." He said they are against everything.

Texas Rains to Ease a Bit; Cold Lingers

By The Associated Press

A wide area of the nation received a chilly soaking with heavy rains on this last day of spring, but the downpours in Texas were easing up a bit.

Although summer officially starts Wednesday at 10:30 a.m. EST, a cold front still lingered today and stretched from Northern New York State southwest through Northern Indiana to the Oklahoma Panhandle and northwest across East Central Colorado and Central Wyoming.

The Weather Bureau said torrential rains would end during the day in extreme Eastern Texas and in Louisiana. Severe thunderstorms doused the Texas Panhandle and extreme Southeastern New Mexico.

Thundershowers dropped 1.08 inches of rain on Chicago in little more than an hour and the temperature skidded from 84 to 67.

Eichmann Denies Charges on Stand

demonstrations against Eichman. But the session passed without any disturbances.

Eichman began his testimony after Israeli state prosecutor Gideon Hausner wound up a case that had taken more than two months, with presentation of a final mixed batch of documents, including five pages taken from a "confession" Eichmann is alleged to have dictated to former Dutch SS Major Willen Sassen while a fugitive in Buenos Aires.

U.S. Offers Plan for Peace in Laos

GENEVA (AP) — The United States today offered to take its military advisers out of Laos. Communist advisers also would have to pull out under the American plan for turning the divided Southeast Asian kingdom into a neutral nation isolated from the Cold War.

The U.S. offer was made to the 14-nation conference on Geneva by Ambassador W. Averell Harriman, chief U.S. delegate.

He added that the withdrawal must be "phased and coordinated" under the supervision of neutral truce teams. All foreign forces except a group of French instructors would pull out. The French would remain as outlined under the 1954 Geneva agreements making Laos independent.

This would mean the removal of any Soviet or Communist North Vietnamese now with the pro-Communist forces.

"We trust the conference shares this view," Harriman said, "and will act to ensure that military withdrawals are accomplished to achieve lasting peace and independence for the government and all the people of Laos."

HAS SERIES OF PLANS

Harriman made a series of proposals designed to strengthen Laotian neutrality, which would first have to be declared by a Laotian government and guaranteed by the Communist, neutral and anti-Communist nations at the conference.

Leaders of the three factions in Laos are discussing this problem now at Zurich, but there has been no indication of any progress.

The U.S. proposals provide that after all foreign military personnel have left, none would be admitted without the approval of the International Control Commission, a group composed of Canada, Poland and India now in Laos charged with supervising a ceasefire.

More than 100 American military advisers now are stationed in Laos. A U.S. spokesman has charged there are "much more" than 1,000 North Vietnamese Communist troops advising and training the rebels.

Kasavubu, Gizenga Aides to Talk on Congo Future

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—The rival Congo regimes of President Joseph Kasavubu and Antoine Gizenga announced agreement today that the Congo Parliament would reconvene on June 25 at Lovanium University, on the heights outside Leopoldville, in an effort to form a unified government.

The delegates from the rival Leopoldville and Stanleyville regimes, holding planning sessions here, agreed that all Congolese will meet at a U.N.-guarded warehouse during the forthcoming session of Parliament.

The representatives also agreed that all members of Parliament would be housed at Lovanium during the session and they would be allowed no contact with the outside world.

In a joint communique the two delegations asked the United Nations to use its good offices to persuade the secessionist regime in Katanga Province to participate in the Parliament, whose aim is to unify the Congo, end strife and put the country back on the road to becoming a real nation.

U.N. COOPERATES

The United Nations has agreed to prevent any arms, money or other negotiable instruments from being taken into the precincts of the university, and all telephone lines to Lovanium are to be cut, delegates agreed.

Gizenga, a Communist-backed political heir of the slain Patrice Lumumba, has previously made known his willingness to attend the Parliament in person, but today's communique did not specifically confirm this. He heads a Stanleyville regime whose troops dominate Oriental and Kivu provinces.

Apart from the appeal to the United Nations to bring Katanga into the national Parliament, the 14-point agreement shed no light on the future of Katanga's President Moise Tshombe, a captive of the central government for two months.

Hearing Tonight on Shop Center

Rezoning Half of Site for Proposed Facility Will Be Discussed

City commissioners tonight will hold a public hearing on the proposed rezoning of half the site of the projected Glenwood Avenue shopping center.

Afterwards, the zoning map could be amended to rezone the land to commercial.

But commissioners may not take this step after they hear that the planning commission recommends no final action until after site development plans have been approved by the engineering department. This may take several weeks.

The $2-million shopping center is described as the largest on the east side of the city. It would be located just south of Perry Street on the east side of Glenwood Avenue, between Gage and Grandview streets.

Commissioners have a backlog of work on other subjects.

Coming up again is the proposal for rezoning for a third trailer park within the city limits —this one on the east side of Telegraph Road in the Beaudette Park area; the proposed rezoning of a lot on the south side of South Boulevard, west of Franklin, for erection of a welding shop; and consideration of the revised civil defense plan.

All three items were put over from last week's meeting.

There will be a hearing on the proposal by Gee Coal & Fuel Co., 91 Lake St., for rezoning to manufacturing of its grounds. The company has been there more than two decades, although the zoning is residential.

County Claims 10th Drowning Victim

verbal needle in a haystack," said Sgt. Donald Kratt of the sheriff's department, who headed the operation.

The survivors said they went swimming in the lake to celebrate the school closing for summer vacations. It was the first time they swam in Walled Lake.

The county's drowning toll this year already has surpassed greatly that of last year when three fatalities had been recorded by this time.

"It looks like we're facing a grim year, all right," remarked Kratt, "with the swimming season just getting under way."

Turner became the second county swimming fatality in two days. Sunday, a Detroit woman drowned while swimming in a Camp Dearborn lake in Milford Township.

The other drownings in the area occurred while there still was ice on the lakes.

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — The trouble with Ted Newton's car wasn't difficult for the service station man to locate. Newton had his car pushed to the station when he couldn't start the engine. The attendant discovered the battery was missing.

Maritime Strike Increases Grip

100 Ships Idle in Thirty Ocean Ports as Unions Fight Each Other

NEW YORK (AP) — Unions in the national maritime strike, already in stormy seas in negotiations with company representatives, now are finding rough waters in relations with each other.

Important military cargoes appeared today as a dividing element as the paralyzing walkout increased its grip on the nation's shipping as well as industrial concerns ashore.

Slightly more than 100 ships—about one tenth of the nation's merchant fleet — lay immobilized in more than 30 ports on the Atlantic, Gulf and Pacific coasts as the strike entered its fifth day with no indications of an early settlement.

In San Francisco, marine engineers aboard American ships were scheduled to walk off their jobs today, following stepped-up picketing by striking seamen.

A number of oil refineries in the state of Washington, in Texas and on the East Coast have been forced to shut down because workers refuse to cross maritime picket lines.

Snarls Loom in Arms Talks

Session Seeking to Reopen Discussion May Run Into Trouble

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States and the Soviet Union may run head-on into disagreement today as they go into the second round of talks aimed at reopening disarmament negotiations.

The problem is who should be invited to the conference, tentatively scheduled to open July 31.

That's the chief issue expected to be taken up by John H. McCloy, President Kennedy's adviser on disarmament, and Valerin A. Zorin, Soviet deputy foreign minister.

The first meeting Monday was restricted to putting out feelers and to restating positions.

McCloy stressed the purposes of the U.S.-Soviet meeting is to establish the "framework and background" of the disarmament conference. Zorin made it clear that he wants to talk about "substance."

SOVIET DEMAND

U.S. sources said that what Zorin meant by "substance" is the agenda of the conference, including such Soviet demands as the merger of the nuclear test ban issue into the broader question of Moscow's insistence on veto power over any actions.

The Soviets proposed that five Communist, five Western, and five neutral nations should be invited. The United States contends that the number of neutrals should be two.

Pontiac Pair Spends Night on Charity Isle

Mr. and Mrs. Grover W. Sneed of 220 S. Anderson St., told authorities they had motor trouble and along with a friend, Irving Weed of Point Lookout, were forced to spend a night on Charity Island. They were able to repair the engine yesterday and return to the mainland.

The Day in Birmingham

Baldwin Public Library Sets Olympics for Readers

BIRMINGHAM — Youngsters signing up for such events as javelin throwing and pole vaulting in the Summer Olympics at Baldwin Public Library will discover it takes reading interest and not athletic skill to be a winner.

That's because the Olympics is the theme of this summer's reading club program at the Mary Lamble Room for Boys and Girls.

Mrs. Charles Burch of the library staff said that all boys and girls in the second through the sixth grades are invited to participate in the program.

The objective of the summer reading club is to help children widen their book interests and develop reading ability in off-school months by reading a total of 12 books.

Each boy or girl reads and reports on one book to become eligible to compete in the "Olympics."

Then he or she signs up for three of five events — javelin, hurdles, pole vaulting, swimming and the 100 meter dash.

Reading and reporting on four books during summer vacation completes one event and earns the participant a bronze medal; eight books, a silver medal; and 12 books and gold medal.

The reader who completes all five events will receive an Olympic wreath.

The reading program, which began yesterday at the library, will conclude July 28.

Robert G. Saltsman of 208 Larchlea Drive has been re-elected commander of the Michigan Wing of the Air Force Association.

Reappointed wing executive officer was William Whitney of 1635 Torry Road.

Other officers of the association are Maj. Stanley Stepnitz of Mount Clemens, secretary; Case Ford of Royal Oak, treasurer; and James Vignola of Lansing, vice commander.

The elections took place recently at the Wing's annual dinner at Selfridge Air Force Base, which featured the presentation of the Airability Trophy to Sherrod Skinner, executive vice president of the General Motors Corp.

N-Talks Envoy Will Fly Back to Washington

GENEVA (AP) — Arthur H. Dean, U.S. delegate at the deadlocked nuclear test ban talks here, will fly to Washington Wednesday for consultations with President Kennedy and Secretary of State Dean Rusk, the U.S. delegation announced today.

Dean's deputy, Charles C. Stelle, will head the U.S. delegation temporarily.

Dean read into the conference record Kennedy's warning Monday that the United States may resume nuclear tests if the Soviets maintain their refusal to negotiate a workable, veto-free control system. The warning was contained in an American memorandum handed to the Kremlin Saturday. Dean, as chairman, recessed the talks until Friday to give the Soviet government more time to study the memorandum.

Costello Finishes 1 Term, Begins 2nd

NEW YORK (AP) — Racketeer Frank Costello finished serving an income tax evasion sentence today and smiled though his troubles with the law were far from over.

The 67-year-old underworld figure was simply transferred from federal to state custody to serve a brief sentence for contempt of court.

When he serves that, he faces federal action to deport him to Italy.

Costello even made light of a bump on the head he suffered as he entered a police van for his transfer from the Federal House of Detention to a police station to be booked on the contempt charge. Blood ran from a cut on his head to his gray suit.

"Just a scratch," Costello commented.

Shows Off Industrial Might

former U.S. Sen. Prentiss Brown, now president of the historical commission, presented an historic marker to the foundation, which has maintained the home through privately-subscribed funds since 1945.

Earlier, the official Centennial party heard D. B. Varner, chancellor of Michigan State University address of the new library, opened in the Civic Center last November.

Others on the program were Mayor Philip E. Rowston, chairman of the "Pride in Pontiac Day" program; former Mayor William W. Donaldson, now the city's postmaster; City Manager Walter K. Willman; and Phyllis Pope, city librarian.

Donaldson, who furnished the original impetus for a Centennial celebration while he was still mayor, served as master of ceremonies.

"CULTURAL MILESTONE"

Varner's talk heralded the new library as a "cultual milestone."

Miss Pope spoke of her "inexpressible pleasure and joy" over the new building, which she described as "a dream come to reality."

Next to the excavation where the new $375,000 fire hall is going up, across Pike Street from the Public Safety Building, a man whose father was fire chief in the 1900s was master of ceremonies.

The role was appropriate for Stuart A. Austin, retired Pontiac trucker and veteran member of the Civil Service Commission for firemen.

Others on the brief program included Rowston, Willman, Fire Chief James White, former Fire Chiefs John Schroeder and Frank Chairman of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce Safety Committee; and representatives from the Firefighters Assn. and the contractors.

Several of the principals helped Rowston lather on cement for the laying of the cornerstone with the date "1961."

READY NEXT YEAR

With the foundation of the fire hall already in place, construction will be rising above ground soon.

Willman said the new fire hall should be in operation early next year.

Abou that time, the oldest public building in Pontiac will be torn down. This is the 1867 fire hall on Pike and Perry streets, which the new building will replace.

In reference to the old building, Birnkrant said: "We won't forget that the old lady served us well. But now she's grown weary."

Lack of Understanding Feeds College Crisis

By STUART GROSS
Education Writer, Saginaw News

SAGINAW (AP) — Few people in Michigan today know and appreciate the term "crisis in higher education." The rest appear blissfully ignorant or apathetic to a problem state legislators say will require more and higher taxes to solve.

The ones who understand the term are the parents of students who:

Have been refused admission to a college for lack of room or marks not considered high enough;

Have been put on college waiting lists; (Eastern Michigan University alone has 180 students on a waiting list.)

And there are understandable reasons why the big majority of the public shows unconcern or frustration about trying to make sense out of the mess.

1. Many state legislators don't know how big the problem is, how much it will cost, how the money will be raised (what type of tax), or where the money will be spent.

2. Legislators haven't decided in their own minds if existing institutions should get bigger or if new colleges should be built.

3. Some legislators say the problem isn't as big as educators claim, and discount the size of the predicted population explosion.

STORM BREAKS

The storm over education, the state's inability to solve it and the actual size of the problem broke this spring when the legislature didn't give the state-supported colleges and universities the amount of operating money the schools figured was needed. The schools asked $125,043,758; Gov. Swainson recommended $109,688,082; the legislature granted $98,433,591—$417,878 more than last year.

As a result, the nine schools have held enrollments for next year at about the same level as last year. Some legislators call this retaliation. Educators deny this. They say they've run out of room and can't accommodate more students.

Legislators say there is "water" in college budgets. They point to such courses as fly casting, badminton, and bowling. Replies State School Supt. Lynn M. Bartlett:

"These courses are probably one hundredth of one per cent of the total offering, and are confined to physical education courses. They do not occupy a student's full time, and are taught so students will know how to teach them in adult education classes."

Legislators have accused college presidents of being "empire builders." Dr. Victor F. Spathelf, Ferris Institute president, replies:

"There is the phenomenon of the popularity of sweeping, generalized statements by many, including some business leaders, and by some legislators who are being goaded on by the uninformed, which characterize any statement of current or predicted need from a college president as 'propaganda from an empire builder whose purpose is selfish.'

HITS CRITICS

"Let me say that these critics should themselves have to sit across the desk from parents by the hundred to whom you must say, 'No, there isn't room for your child.' This is today. They should have to sit there next year and the year after when the problem is bigger. They should have to be the ultimate decision-makers for the institution. I think their perspective would change abruptly."

Legislators are critical about the utilization of space and professors' time on campuses. State Sen. Lynn O. Francis (R-Midland), Senate education committee chairman, said a joint House-Senate committee will look into this matter and try to get answers.

Dr. Bartlett, secretary of the State Board of Education, said:

"The board would be happy to make available for examination to any responsible committee the legislature might appoint, the financial books and records of the four institutions under its jurisdiction — Eastern Michigan, Western Michigan, Central Michigan Universities, and Northern Michigan College.

"The board further agreed that if the committee appointed by the legislature could indicate after its examination exactly how the four institutions could do a better job, its suggestions would be most welcome."

Sen. Francis said he doesn't know how far into the general problem the committee will delve. Meanwhile, the lines are drawn, the colleges are rejecting students, they are much more selective, and secondary school principals are alarmed. Their reactions will be reported Wednesday.

We Have Only Praise for Centennial Parade

If any one man deserves a pat on the back after Saturday's parade it is Sherwin Birnkrant who was responsible for organizing this extravaganza.

As far as Pontiac is concerned it was a parade to end all parades. The one hour and thirty-five minute display started on time and kept the crowd of some 100,000 entertained constantly.

Proof that the spectators liked the gigantic show was the fact that very few if any were seen leaving before the last unit had passed. This is a great tribute when you can hold the attention of youngsters and grownups for this length of time.

All the performers and floats were simply terrific. The entire program was tops in all respects and everyone connected with it did a bang-up job.

We'll offer a challenge right now to anyone that thinks they can better our Pontiac Centennial Parade.

Growth in Population Bringing Its Problems

Increasing sewerage facilities is a problem that is not confined to the City of Pontiac. Here city officials are about to contract for substantial enlargement of the existing sewage treatment plant, at the behest of the State Health Department.

Within the past few days State health officials have ordered a ban on the construction of any more new homes in some 22 communities in Wayne County outside the City of Detroit. As might be expected, this action has brought spirited protests from real estate men, builders and others whose livelihood has been affected by the ban.

In Pontiac's case several attempts had been made by city officials to issue bonds to cover the cost of sewerage plant enlargement after State officials had warned about continuing pollution of the Clinton River. Each time, however, residents voted down the proposed bond issues. Finally the State ordered the City to proceed and the Commissioners had no choice but to go ahead despite the absence of authorization from the voters.

A similar situation exists in Wayne County, although the State's action has been along somewhat different lines there, inasmuch as so many separate cities and townships are involved. A huge program has been planned throughout that area, but many of the affected communities have refused to approve it. So now, after long delay, the State has acted to prevent further home construction, on the grounds that any more homes will only further overtax sewerage facilities that already are inadequate.

Rapid growth in population brings its problems. Waterford Township's experience was another case in point. Many families moved out into that area to avoid the paying of city taxes. They had no city services, but for a time they did not feel the need of them.

Finally, however, Waterford's population increased to the point where sewage disposal became imperative from a health standpoint. In Waterford the Township is the unit affected, in Pontiac it is one city. But in Wayne so many units are concerned that ultimately an authority may have to be set up to which each of the local units will surrender some of its power in the field of sewage disposal.

The same growth in population has brought a similar problem in providing an adequate supply of pure water. This problem affects much of Southeastern Michigan. At first the establishment of an inter-county water authority was considered. Now it appears that the nearby communities may decide to buy water from the City of Detroit.

Huge populations require huge amounts of water, and the treatment of immense quantities of sewage. These are problems which are impossible for individuals to solve. They are even difficult at times for communities. Where the communities are unwilling or unable to act effectively, the State has to step in.

The Man About Town

Queens Are Getting to Be the Regular Bilyeu Habit

Good beginning: What is said to be a thing half done; so our Centennial should be OK.

Raising beauty queens is a specialty in the family of

Mr. and Mrs. Vern Bilyeu

of Ortonville, who have eight children—five daughters and three sons. Seventh in the line,

Veachel Bilyeu,

now is reigning as Queen of the Pontiac Centennial. Third in the line is the former

who 11 years ago was Queen of the celebration of the centennial of her home town of Ortonville's first settlement.

And the architect of this column wants the world to know that he was master of ceremonies on that July 4, 1950, and one of the judges who named Jeanne as tops among five candidates. She had all of the qualifications and graciously reigned over the largest crowd in the history of the village.

The parade was so long that Ortonville hardly had enough streets to hold it, and Congressman delivered a patriotic address as thousands sweltered.

Now Jeanne has come closer to Pontiac, the beautiful wife of

of Green Lake. They have three children, their two girls already showing qualifications for the future queen's highway.

The last in that family line is

Juanita Bilyeu,

now 18—and queen bound.

Correction: In a highly exaggerated statement about my record in our Centennial issue, it said I am a graduate of when I never got much beyond the eighth grade in any school. I love Holly High so much that I wish it might be relieved of this liability.

---

On that plane out of Detroit that was held up for a couple of hours by a bomb scare the other evening, of Birmingham wired home that one of the passengers wondered if a cow was on the track.

Charles Crosston

---

of Bloomfield Hills, who has noticed the verdant young trees in the tubs in front of Pontiac stores, while those in a similar planting in Detroit's downtown have died. He wonders if the general health of the atmosphere has anything to do with it.

All who wish to compete for the $50 U.S. bonds in the Man About Town Whisker contest must be at the Wisner Stadium at two o'clock Saturday, when Queen will make the selection. A $50 bond goes for the longest beard and a $50 bond for the best appearing beard.

Veachel Bilyeu

Voice of the People:

'GOP Alone Didn't Block Reapportionment'

Our State Representative Arthur J. Law, speaking at a recent intercounty labor union meeting in Pontiac, said there would be no need for a constitutional convention if the Republicans had not blocked reapportionment. To keep the record straight, I remind Arthur Law that legislative appointment as now provided in our State Constitution was established in 1952 by amendment brought about by initiative petition of the people of the whole State of Michigan. The Republicans as a party were not responsible for it.

KALWITZ

The issue today is substantially the same as in 1952. Labor unions then as now, wanted to put representation in both houses of our legislature on a population basis. Other people believing that this would destroy a basic American concept of representative government, proposed continuation of our bicameral legislature with equitable reapportionment of representation for the House on a population basis and the Senate on area and population. This would prevent any one interest or combination of interests from taking over and denying the rights of minorities.

Both propositions were on the ballot in 1952. Voters decided in favor of the method presently in effect.

'Why Use Scripture in Movie Ads?'

Your movie advertisement of "The Sanctuary" displaying a woman in a petticoat along with a portion of scripture is not honoring the Lord Jesus Christ.

The word of God is "The Power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth to the Jew first and also to the Gentile."

I challenge anyone to try and justify from the word of God, the using of the holy scriptures on our movie and television screens.

I further challenge any man of of the modernistic works with a form of Godliness to show me in the history of The Saints of the New Testament, where the word of God was used for any other purpose than the ultimate saving of souls.

The producer, Ivan Tors of ZIV United Artists, read the Senate investigators a letter in which National Broadcasting Co. expressed concern over the absence of sex in seven TV productions he had sold the network. He let it be known that injections of "Youth and Crime" might improve the ratings of "The Aquanuts."

David Lawrence Says:

Atheism Called 'Religion' by Court

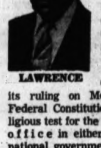
WASHINGTON — Atheism has just been given approval in theory by the Supreme Court of the United States as a full-fledged "religion."



LAWRENCE

This ought to make the Communists in Russia very happy, but it is doubtful whether it will be received with enthusiasm by all other religions in the United States.

The Supreme Court decided in its ruling on Monday that the Federal Constitution bars any religious test for the holding of public office in either a state or the national government.

A man who wanted to be a notary public found himself disqualified by the Constitutions of the State of Maryland which requires of all state officeholders that they at least acknowledge "a belief in the existence of God."

But was this a religious test or a moral test? Atheism has no formal religious pattern.

In fact, it is usually contended by its defenders that it is the negation of religion. The state has a right, of course, to prescribe for certain posts the qualifications of an individual.

It can specify that he must be a certain age and that he must have a certain amount of education as evidenced by college degrees. It can require also that he must have lived in the state a certain period of time.

Such qualifications are relevant to whether the other people in the state will respect his other acts.

If an office holder doesn't believe in God, he may or may not be a person who doesn't believe in any rules of moral conduct. He could, perhaps, believe that it was proper for him to cheat or to deceive. He might not accept the Ten Commandments, for example, as necessarily governing his conduct,

HAS STATE NO RIGHTS?

Hasn't a state the right to determine whether it wants as an officeholder someone whose ideas of morality deviate so sharply from the general standards?

The question now arises whether, under the latest Supreme Court decision, even a requirement of law that an individual shall express a belief in a Supreme Being would be held to be a "religious test" barred by the Constitution.

Maryland's highest court had held in this case as follows:

"The petitioner is not compelled to believe or disbelieve, under threat of punishment or other compulsion. True, unless he makes the declaration of belief he cannot hold public office in Maryland, but he is not compelled to hold office."

The Supreme Court of the United States says that the fact that he wasn't compelled to hold office is no excuse for barring him and, therefore, in a unanimous opinion, lays down "the law of the land" as follows:

"We repeat and again reaffirm that neither a state nor the federal government can constitutionally force a person 'to profess a belief or disbelief in any religion.'

"Neither can constitutionally pass laws nor impose requirements which aid all religions or against nonbelievers, and neither can aid those religions based on a belief in the existence of God as against those religions founded on different beliefs."

The trouble with the latest Supreme Court decision is its lack of definition. It makes all persons eligible for public office—so far as any religious or morality test is concerned—by forbidding such a requirement to be included in the laws imposed by the state or federal government.

This is tantamount to saying that a person who says he would not accept the prohibitions enumerated in the Ten Commandments—if some of the states of the Union set these up as a test for public office—could be protected by the Constitution.

The Country Parson

"I don't see how members who don't come to church can know so many things that are wrong with it."

Dr. William Brady Says:

Patient Uses Tranquilizers to Break Alcoholic Habit

"Dear Dr. Brady:

"In your recent column there was a letter from a 14-year-old girl who said that her mother had taken to drinking too much wine.

"I thought your reply was fine, but I should like to ask one question of you (and all doctors): 'Why don't more doctors recommend the use of tranquilizers to help people overcome alcoholism?'

"You see, Dr. Brady, at one time I was as badly off as this girl's mother. I was too fond of wine also, but luckily I was able to stop about two years ago.

"I read Lillian Roth's book, and that certainly made me think. Then one day I went out to lunch and found, to my amazement, that I could hardly lift a coffee cup or eat my meal. Somehow I got through the luncheon, but it took an interminable length of time.

"This experience was the turning point for me." (Frightened, I fake it, at the prospect of developing alcoholic neuritis, multiple neuritis, partial paralysis.)

"When I got home, I prayed for strength.

"I went to a good doctor. I told nobody except to say casually to my family that I needed a checkup. In my own mind I decided to stop ALL drinking and do whatever the doctor advised.

"The doctor prescribed tranquilizers to help over the rough spots, and believe me, there were some spots that were very rough indeed.

GETS HELP

"But whenever it seemed I couldn't hold out I'd take a tranquilizer and a deep breath and then do whatever task lay ahead. Sometimes the 'task' was a cocktail party, where I took only ginger ale.

"I feel very well now and I just wish more physicians would consider helping people like me with tranquilizers.

"In a few weeks I am going to quit tranquilizers, too, but oh, how they help in the breakaway!

"Please forgive me for not signing my letter. I'm an Alcoholics Anonymous for one."

(No Signature)

The fact that you wrote anonymously made me hesitate to print it. In the 47 years I have conducted this column I have never revealed the identity of a correspondent without his or her written consent.

I hesitate to print this letter for another reason—I'm not quite sure that tranquilizers help an alcoholic to break the drinking habit.

In any case it is a question for the patient's own physician to answer. If the doctor thinks a tranquilizer is indicated he should dispense it, not prescribe it. That is to say, it is a grievous mistake to put a supply of any such drug in the hands of the patient.

Brain Has Library Card —at Only 2½ Years Old

WEST NEW YORK, N.J. (AP) —Florence Jacobs is the proud owner of public library card No. 4536.

The card will enable her to pursue such favorite subjects as rocketry and the geography of outer space. It will bring her an endless supply of the long, tongue-twisting words that she likes to spell.

Florence is 2½ years old.

The brown-eyed, 39-pound bundle of answers applied for card Monday, but it took a little doing to get it. Library regulations are that card holders must be at least seven years old.

But after a meeting with Florence, Mayor John J. Armellino made an exception to the rule. "She's probably the youngest card holder in the country," the surprised mayor said.

READ 60 BOOKS

Her mother, Marie Jacobs, said Florence already has read some 60 books through the seventh-grade level. She learned the alphabet when she was a year old and now spells more than 300 difficult words. Florence's father, Jerome, is a business consultant.

"I tell her that words are beautiful," said Mrs. Jacobs. "I pronounce new words with great excitement. And Florence uses the dictionary to learn new ones."

Skeptical newsmen, attending the special card-granting ceremony, started questioning Florence.

"What happened May 5, 1961?" she was asked.

"Alan Shepard Jr. was the first American to shoot into space. And that was a magnificent achievement," Florence replied.

"What are the hazards in outer space for a spaceman?"

"Cosmic rays and ultraviolet radiation," chirped Florence, "and you call a spaceman an astronaut."

She volunteered that rockets have several stages and are propelled by "liquid, solid, exotic and metal" fuels.

To cap her performance, she named the planets and their satellites and ticked off, in alphabetical order, all the 50 states in the United States.

Florence then lettered her name on a library card presented by Florence Osiensky, librarian, and strutted out the door, card in hand.

But one newsman had one more question to ask.

"What do you want to be when you grow up?" he shouted.

"A mother," Florence called over her shoulder.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Select Job With Good Prospects

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE J-420: Norma J., aged 20, is a college junior.

"Dr. Crane," she began, "what job should I take during my vacation?"

"I still lack one year at the university. But I need to earn some money to help my parents keep me in school next year.

DR. CRANE

"Alas, I can't type so that lets me out as a stenographer. However, I could get a job as a file clerk in an insurance office.

"Or I could work as a waitress at a restaurant at the city airport. If you were in my place, which would you take?"

PLAY BATTING AVERAGES

Girls who want to get good pay, plus a chance to meet eligible men, must play the batting averages.

How many men would Norma be likely to meet as she filled carbon copies of dictated letters in musty filing cabinets?

Obviously, her chances of meeting men are greater in the restaurant, so I recommend that choice.

In fact, I routinely advised my coed students at Northwestern University to take waitress jobs in good restaurants during their summer vacations.

For the pay is good and the social contacts give a girl a splendid chance to polish up her "line."

Shy girls are handicapped on the marriage market, for men prefer a gay, talkative date, since they are usually poor conversationalists themselves.

If a girl thus learns to carry 75 per cent of the load in maintaining sparkling repartee and jolly dialogue, her male companions relish her company and come back for more dates.

Remember, girls, it isn't just cosmetic beauty that wins a husband for you since most wives are only average in looks.

What really counts is your skill in making a man feel important!

And if you help him maintain jolly conversation (even though you carry 75 per cent of the load), he feels proud of himself and wants to be with you again!

So imitate the insurance salesman, who engages in "prospecting." The latter goes where he figures he will find the most likely customers.

Girls need to adopt that same strategy. Pick your jobs so you will meet the greatest number of eligible prospects.

WAITRESS "HALO"

A waitress can start conversation in line of duty, without being considered forward or "fresh," for she can smilingly ask:

"What will you have for lunch?"

That lets her open the conversation, and thus protects her own ego if she has been unduly shy or reticent.

Moreover, a man feels mellow and happy after a full meal. As he sips his coffee following his dessert, the waitress actually gains a "halo" in his eyes.

She looks even prettier than she really is. If the man is unmarried and an airplane pilot or mechanic or maintenance man or ticket agent, Norma can be fairly sure he is an ambitious, smart fellow.

So coeds can very profitably consider serving as a waitress during summer vacations. Many college girls thus get excellent wages, plus an engagement ring or fraternity pin before the summer is over.

Send for my booklet "Formula for Spritely Conversation," enclosing a stamped, return envelope, plus 20-cents. It will help both men and women in carrying on repartee.

GOOD TIME TO YAWN — Kathy McKone, 6-year-old daughter of Capt. and Mrs. John McKone, found it hard to hold back a yawn Sunday during the benediction at a ceremony in which Capt. McKone was welcomed home and honored for his experiences as a prisoner of the Russians after his RB47 bomber was shot down.

Stevenson Goes to Colombia

Will Talk With Lleras in Last Stop, Here His Policy Plan

President Kennedy's touring representative has been concentrating so far on preparation for next month's economic and social conference in Uruguay, but Lleras is understood to have a plan for political action which he has already broached to the United States and other countries.

Stevenson is expected to go into the Colombian plan thoroughly along with economic issues and other subjects during his two-day visit.

LEADERS COOL

In the nine countries he has already visited, Stevenson found government leaders all cool toward any joint action against Fidel Castro's Cuban regime. Most of them insisted that all hemisphere political problems should be deferred until after the economic conference, scheduled for July 15 at Punta del Este.

The Colombian plan is said to look to the future rather than to seek punishment of Cuba or other countries for past actions.

Informed quarters said Lleras wants a Latin American declaration defining attempts to export communism or other extremist doctrines into the Western Hemisphere as aggression.

The plan also calls for stiff sanctions against violators.

Jeff Chandler Fought Death, Says Rabbi

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"For five desperate weeks," said his rabbi, actor Jeff Chandler struggled against death—"struggled as no man I've ever known struggled."

Rabbi Albert M. Lewis told a throng of mourners Monday that the tall, husky actor "pitted all his great strength against his illness.

"But then the Sabbath came—the day of rest of his people."

Chandler, 42, died Saturday of blood poisoning. He had been in critical condition after three successive operations.

Eight hundred persons, including many film and sports celebrities, attended the rites at Temple Isaiah. Many more stood silently outside the temple.

Rabbi Lewis, in his eulogy, called Chandler "an American full of the burning feeling for justice, a Jew with a feeling for his people."

ANOTHER BIG REASON BEHIND THE BIG BOOM IN FORD SALES:

Galaxie styling is inspiring more admiration (and imitation) than any other car on the road!

This is the look that started with Thunderbird—sired the Galaxie—and quickly became the styling success of the Sixties.

Many cars have tried to copy it. No car has succeeded. Incomparably beautiful, the 1961 Galaxie maintains its distinction—as originals always do.

Styling is only part of Galaxie's distinction: this is the car that's beautifully built to take care of itself. The '61 Ford goes 30,000 miles between chassis lubrications . . . 4,000 miles between oil changes. Brakes adjust automatically. The muffler is built to last three times as long as ordinary ones. The body is specially treated to resist rust and corrosion. The finish never needs waxing.

Wouldn't it make sense to STOP spending money on an old car that can never do for you what a new Ford can do?

SWAP right now while your Ford Dealer's sales are booming—and the swapping is easier than it's ever been before.

Nope, It's Relative

Do You Have a Big Nose?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

This week I am bringing you first aid from the bag of tricks which belongs to that great expert, Eddie Senz. I visited with him recently in his New York salon.

I asked him what a woman can do to improve the situation if she has a very large and prominent nose. In characteristic style Eddie replied.

"There is no such thing as a very large nose except in relation to its surroundings. If a woman came into the room with her head in a bag and only her nose exposed, how would you know whether her nose is large or small? I am sure this gives you the hint of what should be done."

Just in case I missed the hint Mr. Senz explained that the hairdo can make a big difference. The hair must form a bigger frame. The hairdo must be massive in order to increase the circumference of the head. This helps some.

ARCH BROWS

Then look at the brows. Arch the brows and make them wider. An attempt must be made to increase the size of the mouth. This can be done by pulling the line of your lipstick out a little farther than the normal line of your lips. A light change can make a big difference.

Many women are unhappy because of their receding chins. There are many things which can be done about this but only an artist such as Eddie knows them.

If you have a receding chin, under no circumstances wear bangs or any hair style which makes the forehead more prominent. The hair should be drawn back from the forehead. It should be flat. Have a little more mass in the back and bring the hair lower on the nape of the neck. The ears should be uncovered.

LENGTHEN LINE

When you apply your lip rouge, the line of the lower lip should be drawn out so that it is a fraction longer than the line of the upper lip. Because of this the lower lip cradles the upper lip and makes the eye follow up instead of down toward the chin. This is a good trick generally because it seems to lift the corners of the mouth and minimizes the droop which some older lips seem to acquire with the years.

Receding chin? When you apply lip rouge, the line of the lower lip should be drawn out so that it is a fraction longer than the line of the upper lip.

Joy Notch, John Buck Repeat Nuptial Vows

MRS. JOHN G. BUCK

The First Presbyterian Church was the setting for the Saturday vows of Joy Retta Notch of Ypsilanti to John G. Buck of Dearborn, pledged to Rev. Galen E. Hershey.

Receiving guests at the Knights of Pythias Hall were former Pontiac residents Mr. and Mrs. Peter Notch, parents of the bride, and the John L. Bucks of Dearborn.

Attendants, in printed lilac organza over taffeta, wore matching veiled crowns and held white carnations and feathered carnations.

Georgia Proper of Berville was honor maid. Bridesmaids were Paula Sue Notch of Oxford and sisters of the bridal couple, and Linda Burt.

Wearing white dotted Swiss over lilac taffeta, Lori Alschbach and Susan and Ebba Hiertas, carried baskets of gypsophilia and pompons.

Gordon Alschbach was ring bearer. They are nieces and nephew of the bridegroom.

James Schultz of Detroit was best man. Guests were seated by Richard Pifer of Walled Lake, Robert Hartline, brother of the bride, and David Schultz of Ypsilanti.

Scouts Get Curved Bar

Outstanding campers of Troop 280 at Lincoln Junior High School were presented the Curved Bar, highest achievement award in intermediate girl scouting, at the senior welcoming party in the home of their leader Mrs. Clifford Neville of Cadillac Street. The award is the equivalent of the Eagle rank in boy scouting.

Receiving the high honor were Sharon Chisholm, Carol Bacak, Carol Warner, Carol Strebe and Ruth Neville—the outdoors field; and Linda Koch—homemaking.

Awards were presented by former coleader Mrs. Marty Bacak of Battle Creek. The Curved Bar reviewing committee was comprised of Mrs. Cyril Davis, leader-teacher; Mrs. Robert Schmude, leader; and Mrs. John McNeely, third vice president of the local council.

The troop has formed a Trail Blazer unit and is planning to hike the 23-mile Wakazoo Trail in Allegan National Forest this summer. They have twice hiked the 25-mile Wilderness Trail at Holly Recreation Area, camping and backpacking. Eighteen of the girls have received the Wilderness Trail medal.

Awards for the fewest lessons missed were presented to Leonard and Lynn Lundholm, Gilbert Stephison and Bill Barrett. Recognition for record attendance at club meetings went to David Allen, Gerry Stoner, Gilbert Stephison and Leonard Dorey.

Awards for original compositions were presented to John Slade and Gilbert Stephison.

Following a program of violin and piano selections by Kenneth Smith and Leonard and Dave Allen, Mrs. Schmidt announced a program of sacred readings and songs to be presented by Mary Jane Hoisington June 25th at 8 p.m. in the Joslyn Avenue Presbyterian Church.

RESPONSE!

Newspaper Advertising Brings Reader Response . . . through Buying Action!

More buying action results from newspaper advertising because of the atmosphere of believability. You've heard people say, "I know it's true, it's in the papers." The printed word has always been accepted as more honest and binding.

Newspapers report facts; other media offer entertainment. Your advertising in an atmosphere of believability is bound to induce more "want-to-buy" action than that framed in fiction or entertainment.

Newspapers offer another vital element—an atmosphere of timeliness and urgency. This sense of immediacy fosters "here-and-now" sales action that no other print medium can match.

If it's a question of consumer response—newspapers are the answer!

Stocks Rebound but Steal Weak

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market rebounded in moderate trading early today from a series of sharp declines.

Gains of fractions to 1 or 2 points outnumbered losers.

American Telephone, Monday's most active loser, was briskly traded on the upside, rising factionally on blocks of 2,000 and 4,000 shares and stretching the gain to about 2 points in later trades.

Chrysler, up about a point, was the best of the motors, all of which showed minor plus signs.

Steels continued wobbly. Bethlehem and Republic (ex dividend) dropping fractions while U.S. Steel and Jones & Laughlin traded about unchanged.

Latest weekly production figures for the industry showed the biggest drop of the year as fabricators prepared for vacation plant shutdowns and the auto industry for the model changeover.

Zenith ran up more than 2 points for a conspicuous advance among electronics, most of which showed fractional gains. Transitron, however, dipped ¼ to 23 on 19,000 shares.

The market was resuming late Monday's recovery drive which cut losses in a very sharp decline.

American Stock Exchange prices were irregular. Fairchild Camera was up about 2 and Cenco Instruments around a point. Fractional losers included Creole Petroleum, Vornado and Barnes Engineering.

LANSING (AP) — The Lansing City Council Monday night adopted a resolution creating a department of metropolitan redevelopment to handle urban renewal after being told Lansing was behind many other Michigan cities in the field.

Councilman Malcolm L. Milks said a tour of other cities with similar urban renewal problems showed they were far ahead of Lansing. Among cities cited for their progress were Battle Creek, Jackson, Kalamazoo, Grand Rapids, Muskegon and Pontiac.

The department will become a coordinating agency to work with various governmental units involved in the field on the city, state and federal level, Milks said.

Innocent Verdict Granted by Jury in Waterford Man

Eleven women and one man today returned a verdict of innocent in the negligent homicide case against factory worker Burl L. Gullett.

The 24-year-old Gullett, 9510 Portage Trail, Waterford Township, had been charged in the Oct. 13 death in the township of James L. Davis, 45, who was walking home from his work as a gas station attendant when struck by Gullett's car.

Police said Gullett had admitted visiting five bars before the 2:30 a.m. accident took place on Highland Road.

The jury, which began deliberations last Friday and returned from the weekend to resume this morning, took about an hour to acquit Gullett.

Gullett said he suddenly realized he was on the shoulder of the road and tried to swerve to avoid Davis, of 4740 Highland Road, but it was too late.

Several Attend Hearings on Lights in Waterford

Several Waterford Township residents were present at two street-light hearings, held from 7 to 9 last night at the regular township board meeting.

The hearings involved 28 street lights in the Burlingham Lake Subdivision, and one in the Lakewood Farms Subdivision. The residents wanted to know where the lights would be and how much they would cost.

After considerable discussion, the board decided that one light will be eliminated and the annual $4.22 per assessment established by Supervisor Elmer R. Johnson will be up for reaffirmation at next week's meeting.

The Lakewood Farms subdivision residents asked that one more light be added. The annual assessment was figured at $4.56. Other sections of the subdivision already have lights.

STATION WAGON BIDS

There was much discussion by board members on whether the township should buy a station wagon, as Fire Chief Elmer Fangboner suggested, or a regular automobile for the fire chief.

The chief said, "I want to get something that an ordinary car cannot carry — a utility-type vehicle."

Johnson and trustee Loren Anderson argued the point. However the board decided to take sealed bids for a station wagon July 3.

This will be the first time a Waterford Township fire chief is provided with a vehicle of his own.

The board approved Police Chief Millard Pender's request to add eight men in the reserve police unit, and okayed additional uniforms for a total of $326. The appointments will be subject to the approval of the board.

Two lots were rezoned from commercial to light manufacturing on Williams Lake Road for a small sheet-metal works. Following the meeting, the zoning board and township board discussed the ever-increasing zoning problems.

Tuesday wasn't a real payday. But the money was. It was the first dividend check from an investment program this man started just a few months back.

The man isn't rich. He isn't a stock expert. But he is an investor, one of 12,000,000 who are sharing in the nation's industrial growth through investments.

The Day PAYDAY CAME ON TUESDAY

Most of them are in the $5,000 to $10,000 income bracket, and many of them systematically set aside a portion of their regular paychecks to invest in income producing securities. The result: extra paydays . . . regularly throughout the year.

If you would like to know how to introduce extra paydays into your future, now is the time to discuss an investment program with a Watling, Lerchen & Co. representative. Call or visit us today.

Capsule Looked Like Door Knob to AF Divers

PEARL HARBOR, Hawaii (AP) — Discoverer XXV's capsule "looked like a big brass door knob somebody had shined for hours," to the three U.S. Air Force pararescuemen who recovered it.

"I still can't believe it has happened, after all the waiting and waiting," said Sgt. William V. Vargas, 30, one of the recovery team.

Vargas, of Detroit, Mich., and his teammates leaped into the Pacific from 1,000 feet to recover the data-filled capsule Sunday.

They were returned to Pearl Harbor Monday night aboard the destroyer Radford, after being plucked from a bobbing raft on which they had kept an all-night vigil with the capsule.

Tower Saboteurs to Be Arraigned

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI)—Two confessed saboteurs, seized in Mexico following a "needle-in-a-haystack" investigation, face arraignment today on charges of blowing up three vital communications towers in Utah and Nevada.

Bernard J. Brous, 51, formerly of Massapequa Park, N.Y., and Dale Chris Jensen, 33, who boasts he did the actual bomb planting, were arrested by Mexico authorities Saturday night aboard their heavily armed schooner anchored in Ensenada, Mexico, harbor.

They were turned over to the Federal Bureau of Investigation at the border Sunday and transported to the federal building here for arraignment, which was continued to today.

Investors Cool Off, Keep Money in Bank

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The wild enthusiasm for buying stocks that lifted trading volume to the highest level since 1929 has suddenly waned—at least temporarily.

Trading on the New York Stock Exchange has dropped from more than 5 million shares a day to a little more than 3 million. On the American Exchange volume has slipped from 4 million to approximately 1.5 million.

What happened?

Wall Street brokers said today a combination of reasons caused the investors to cool off and keep their money in their pockets.

And although their commissions aren't bringing in as much money now that the buying pace has slowed, the brokers said they are glad to have a more conservative market.

CAME THE SLUMP

In the 10 weeks ended May 19 the combined average weekly volume on the New York and American stock exchanges was 41,835,000 shares. At the peak, the week ended May 12, it was 49,099,000 shares.

Then came the slump. In the three weeks ended June 9 the combined weekly volume of the two exchanges averaged 25,105,000 shares.

L. O. Hooper, analyst for W. E. Hutton & Co., in discussing the recent stock-buying fever, said, "There's seldom any open-and-shut answer to any problem in mass psychology," but he listed these factors in putting on the brakes:

1. The public finally began to heed the warnings against unintelligent speculation.

2. The public suddenly began to find out it wasn't making so much money (on paper) as it did some weeks earlier.

3. The buying suggestions (sometimes vulgarly called tips) ceased to be so unanimously correct.

4. The business recovery in some industries, for the time being, did not gain the expected momentum.

Kenneth Ward of Hayden, Stone & Co. said their customers have quit calling to ask "what's hot?"

"I couldn't keep up with the phone calls a few weeks ago," he said.

RAN OUT OF STEAM

Ward feels that the buying surge was dampened when the glamor stocks — electronics, missiles, etc.—ran out of steam. He also believes that antitrust suits against big corporations caused apprehension.

"We're having a pause that refreshes, a sober reappraisal," he said. "And we have a darn good healthy market."

William R. White of Hornblower & Weeks considers that the two warnings by Keith Funston, president of the New York Stock Exchange, against unwise speculation had an effect on the public.

"People were buying a lot of things they shouldn't, and the warnings cooled them off," he added.

Henry Gellerman o Bache & Co. agreed that the Funston statements were timely and effective. He also said that most leading brokerage firms "bent over backwards in advertisements and in personal contacts in trying to get their customers to be careful."

To Be Sentenced July 17 for Theft

Tommy L. Walker pleaded guilty yesterday to stealing car heaters and radiators so he could sell them back to the junk dealer from whom he stole them.

Circuit Judge Stanton G. Dondero set sentencing for July 17 for Walker, 37, of 28 Maple St. He is charged with grand larceny.

City police nabbed Walker June 13 as he tossed seven radiators and seven heaters over the fence at the Bagley Auto Parts, 170 Bagley St.

Automation Is Displayed at Luncheon

Push-button automation has invaded the banquet circuit.

At yesterday's noon all-service club Centennial luncheon, Circuit Judge William J. Beer, toastmaster, was poking fun at his former law partner, Mayor Philip E. Rowston, chairman of "Pride in Pontiac Day."

"Leave it to a man six foot six to arrange an affair like this so a short man like myself can just barely poke his head over the rostrum," Judge Beer said.

With not a word, featured speaker S. E. Knudsen, General Motor Corp. vice president and Pontiac Motor Division general manager, pressed a button on the fancy looking rostrum and it lowered about three inches.

"Proof of a great industrialist!" said Judge Beer.

Indicted on Charge of Leaking Secrets

WASHINGTON (AP)—A federal grand jury has indicted Irvin C. Scarbeck, former second secretary of the U.S. Embassy at Warsaw, on a charge of giving classified information to agents of Communist Poland.

After the indictment Monday, Scarbeck, 41, declined to post bond, set at $50,000. He is held in the district jail. A trial date will be set later for the foreign service officer.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said Scarbeck was charged with delivering to Polish agents a classified foreign service dispatch entitled, "An examination of U.S. policy toward Poland during the past four years."

Russ Seek Air Route

NEW YORK (AP)—The Soviet travel agency Intourist said Monday a Soviet delegation will arrive in the next few days to start negotiations for direct air service between Moscow and New York.

S. S. Nikitin, vice president of Intourist, said the Soviet delegation would open talks with the State Department o nan agreement for reciprocal service.

Actress Gives Approval of Part in Stage Play

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — "I've had some religious people say to me, 'How dare you play such a part?'" said Elizabeth Seal, who portrays the prostitute in the hit show, "Irma La Douce."

WILSON

"They say that I am encouraging girls of 17 and 18 to lead bad lives.

"I want to say to them, 'Thank you very much. It shows I must be playing my part pretty well!'"

Miss Seal, like Elizabeth Taylor, Shirley Jones and Melina Mercouri, got into prostitute roles recently, won great acclaim from some people—and was blasted by others.

"I'm sick of being so puritanical," Miss Seal flared up when we were discussing it. "If one is offered a marvelous part, and it's a prostitute, what is one to do?

"It pays the rent, it's a lovely part, it suits me — and I just can't be worried about what all the people disapprove of. Let them do the worrying!"

I am presenting Miss Seal's side because it seems somebody should speak out for the actresses who've come under fire.

"Anyway," continued Miss Seal, "I don't think anybody can make a prostitute glamorous. I feel sorry for them."

ELIZABETH

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Singer Sallie Blair will have a dramatic role in Liz Taylor's "Cleopatra" film . . . Gary Cooper's last film, "Naked Edge," will open without previews, "to preserve the suspense".

Joan Crawford will call her book "Portrait of Joan" . . .

EARL'S PEARLS: Two things puzzle travelers—why hotel walls are so thin when you're trying to sleep, and so thick when you're trying to listen.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: A local woman, we're told, always locks the door when she leaves the house; she's afraid a burglar'll break in—and find the beds unmade. . . . That's earl, brother.

Why Not Promote TV Documentaries?

By FRED DANZIG

"No matter how good a TV documentary series is, we just can't get people to watch it."

Those are familiar words in televisionland. There is ample evidence around to give the statement validity. But before I accept this situation as an unalterable fact of TV life, I'd like to see the networks shake loose and use some show-biz on the problem.

They employ ingenious audience-building devices for non-entertainment programs. Now let them plug public affairs programs the way they herald new comedy or variation shows, or variety specials.

At present, if a network has a documentary coming up, the viewer can expect to hear some brief, perfunctory announcements about it during station breaks. Chet Huntley will intone a few words about the crisis in railroading or Rhodesia and that's it.

If, on the other hand, an ice-skating special is coming up, the plugs are more intensive, more attractive and occasionally delivered on regular variety hours through the guest shot process.

Ad agencies try to get the star of the show to deliver the commercials because they figure the star's popularity will rub off on the product. That is why Jack Paar makes the pitch for microsite cigarettes, Dick Clark sells chewing gum, Garry Moore sells cameras and Arthur Godfrey sells you-name-it.

PLUGS FROM STARS?

Why, then, can't Perry Como or Dinah Shore pause between songs and deliver a plug for a forthcoming "NBC White Paper?" why can't Ed Sullivan, who has plugged countless motion pictures on his show, plug an important "CBS Reports" presentation? Why can't Lawrence Welk personally call on his fans to give the next "Close-Up" a look?

Nonentertainment programs such as "Railroads: End of the Line?" or "Algeria and De Gaulle" or "The Troubled Land" all contain gripping scenes that could be shown, coming-attraction style, on popular variety shows to help hook an audience.

This show-biz approach is based on the theory that a significant number of viewers have voluntarily shut themselves off from TV documentaries. To them, the mere thought of a documentary connotes heavy going.

If it takes a Garry Moore or a Perry Como to open their eyes to the kicks they're missing, I say it's worth the try. Until the networks try blending some carefully designed plugs for public affairs programs into their high-rated entertainment shows, it seems unfair for them to claim that the task of building audiences for nonentertainment programing is a hopeless, thankless task.

Unsold '61 Cars to Move Fast

Industry Expects No Glut When '62s Come Out in Fall

DETROIT (AP) — The auto industry insists there will be no glut of unsold 1961 model cars when the 1962 models come on the market in the fall.

The most recent forecasts claim the stockpile may drop as low as 210,000 cars by Sept. 30. On that date last year dealers had 417,000 cars left of 1960 vintage and the last of these weren't sold until well after New Year's.

One estimate was that almost 30 per cent of all cars sold from the day new models went on sale until Dec. 31 were "new-old" ones from the previous model year. This, in turn, severely trimmed 1961 model sales.

The inventory of unsold cars has been dropping steadily since February and is expected to be about 900,000 at the end of this month. Meanwhile, production will be slowing down.

Studebaker - Packard is in its last full week of 1961 model production. Buick, Oldsmobile, Pontiac and all of the Chrysler divisions will be through within a month.

Ford will begin its closings in late July as will Chevrolet. American Motors also is expected to finish earlier than last year when it built its last cars on Aug. 5.

Ward's Automotive Reports estimated as of June 1 that supplies of Comets and Falcons in dealer hands ranged between 20 and 30 days. In the 31-40 day classification were Corvair, Cadillac, Ford, Thunderbird, Lincoln and Chevrolet.

Oldsmobile, Chrysler and the Olds F85 were in 41 to 50 days' supply and in the 51-60 class were Mercury, Plymouth and Studebaker.

American Motors was pegged at 61 days' supply with Imperial, Dodge, Valiant and Lancer all above 61.

Swainson Leaves for Governor Parley

LANSING (AP) — With staff in tow, Gov. and Mrs. Swainson depart today on the first leg of an air trip to the annual Governors' Conference in Honolulu, Hawaii.

The 12-day journey will be a mixture of business and pleasure.

The governor's party will spend three days in Las Vegas, Nev., and leave San Francisco for Hawaii on Saturday.

All but Mrs. Swainson will use a National Guard plane. The governor's wife was confined to a hospital with a collapsed lung last winter and her physician advised her to use a speedier, more highly pressurized commercial plane for the overseas flight.

The governor's conference will open Sunday and close Thursday.

Beaten in the Congo

Court Dues Ruling 'Won't Affect UAW'

DETROIT (AP)—A spokesman for the United Auto Workers Union says the U.S. Supreme Court decision on use of union dues money for political purposes probably will have little, if any, effect on the UAW.

The UAW ordered into effect in July of 1956 a plan by which members may earmark for nonpartisan organizations that portion of their dues which formerly went to local and the international citizenship funds of the union.

The court's five-man majority ruled with six southern railway workers who argued the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks was abridging their constitutional rights by using their dues money for political purposes with which they disagreed.

Detroit Edison Reports Revenues Up for Year

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit Edison Co. today reported gross revenues of $279,093,398 for the 12-month period ending May 31. Gross revenues for the corresponding period of 1959-60 were $272,757,695.

Edison reported net earnings in the period of $38,532,732 equal to $2.89 a share of common stock, and comparable to net earnings of $35,272,444 for the like period of 1959-60.

YOUR RENWAL BLUEPRINT MODEL

This Ballistic Missile Firing Nuclear Submarine is another of a series of models built in strict accordance with specifications contained in official U.S. Navy Blueprints. We wish to take this opportunity to express our sincere gratitude to the Electric Boat Division of General Dynamics Corporation for generously furnishing complete and accurate data. Without this cooperation, the development of a completely authentic model would not have been possible. This model incorporates all the interior details of the actual submarine including atomic reactor, control room, galley, crews quarters and two Polaris missiles that can be launched.

Your model is authentic in every detail and is accurately scaled to 1 foot = [illegible] feet.

$2.98 "TOP" SECRET — This is the detailed drawing of a $2.98 toy model of a Polaris submarine found on the outside of a box containing the toy. The description is included with instructions on how to assemble the toy. Vice Adm. Hyman G. Rickover told a joint atomic energy subcommittee that the model has given the Soviet Union millions of dollars worth of information about U. S. nuclear submarines.

40,000 Wanted by Red Police

Satchel Snatched in Fight at Border Yields Book of Names

BERLIN (AP)—A fist fight on Berlin's "little iron curtain" border has unearthed the fact that the Communist police of East Germany have at least 40,000 people on their wanted list.

A young West Berliner got into a skirmish with East Berlin police when they detained his fiancee, a refugee from East Germany, on the dividing line between the parts of Berlin.

The youth was unable to rescue the girl who disappeared into the east, but while wrestling with a Red police he grabbed the official's satchel and fled with it to the West.

In the satchel, which the young man handed over to West Berlin authorities, was a thick printed book containing 40,000 names of people wanted by Red police. The book is kept up by monthly supplements containing about 1,200 names.

MANY REFUGEES

Most of those named are refugees from East Germany. The Communists regard any refugee as a lawbreaker, but it would be impractical to list all 200,000 who come over annually.

The 40,000 names had notations beside them indicating these persons were wanted for something more than the crime of "flight from the republic." Many bore a sign indicating they were wanted for an "economic crime." A refugee has only to take along some of his own property, such as a camera, to be liable to that charge.

Names of children had the letter "Z" against them, indicating they were to be returned to their parents.

The book is used by border guards when checking identity documents of border crossers. Western police said they understood Communist border posts also have card indexes with additional names.

Foreign Jobs Boon to U.S.

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — It's rarely lumped in with foreign aid to developing countries. And it's an American export that is hard to fit into the statistics.

But U.S. firms with engineering and construction skills up for hire on a global scale are chalking up sizable earnings abroad. This, along with the exports to build and equip the plants, helps the United States in its struggle to balance its international payments.

Official statistics do show that U.S. engineering and building contractors drew net income of at least $120 million on foreign jobs in 1960. But government experts on world trade concede that actual earnings might run several times that much.

The statistics don't include military construction projects on which American firms work. And also, fees collected abroad on nonmilitary work often remain in the hands of foreign subsidiaries of U.S. engineers and builders.

DEMAND STRONG

Demand for services of these American firms still runs strong—in the already industrialized nations as well as in the more publicized underdeveloped ones.

The National Constructors Association, with 28 engineering and building contractors as members, reports they are working on some 200 foreign jobs, ranging from small electric utility substations to multimillion-dollar industrial complexes requiring several years to complete. These projects, it says, employ 500 Americans overseas, as well as 30,000 foreign workers.

Example: Stone & Webster Engineering Corp. of Boston says it often has staff engineers working in two-dozen lands in a single year. In 1960 its personnel rolled up 665,000 miles in foreign travel.

It says its biggest customers by far are private foreign interests, rather than governments.

The Construction Industry International Committee, with some 60 members, estimates 17 leading U.S. contractors completed $2.5 billion in construction jobs abroad in the last five years. It says $1 billion worth of U.S. exports in the form of machinery, construction equipment and other supplies were generated by these projects.

The committee says the 22 largest American contractors now have 3,000 Americans on foreign jobs. Unestimated thousands of others are laboring here at home to supply these projects.
