Governor Greets the Queen

ARRIVAL OF A QUEEN — New York's Gov. Averell Harriman was among those who greeted Queen Elizabeth as she arrived by train this morning at Stapleton, Staten Island. The governor escorted the queen to a car which whisked her away for a tour of New York City.

Her Majesty Drops Reserve, Shouts 'Wheee!'

New York Madly Greets Queen

NEW YORK (INS) — Queen Elizabeth II drove up Broadway through a paper blizzard today as New York welcomed her with two 21-gun salutes and a spectacular display of affection.

The Queen and Prince Philip were treated to a ferry boat ride, a ticker tape parade and all the honors accorded to the most important of all very important personages on this, the last day of their six-day visit to the United States.

"She's a doll!" shouted one young man on the sidewalk of Lower Broadway as the Queen passed by in the bubble-top limousine provided by President Eisenhower.

"You mean HE's a doll!" countered a nearby girl in the crowd, watching the handsome Duke of Edinburgh ride past in a car behind the Queen's.

Millions of New Yorkers turned out in crisp, clear weather to greet the royal couple for its 15-hour visit to the skyscaper city, Elizabeth's first.

Before leaving for London by air tonight, the royal couple was to be wined and dined and given an opportunity to see New York like regular sightseers—from the tip of the Battery to the 102nd floor of the Empire State Building.

The visit began at 10:10 a.m. at Stapleton, Staten Island, where New York Gov. Averell Harriman led a welcoming party for the Queen and her consort on their arrival by train from Washington.

Then, while school children waved from the sidewalks, the couple was driven to St. George, S.I., for the ferry ride through New York harbor to the Battery.

GUNS ROAR SALUTE

Harbor boats bellowed out their greetings, a 21-gun salute roared from Governors Island, blimps, helicoptors and planes hovered above as Elizabeth and Philip sailed across the bay.

Their motorcade formed at the battery and wound its way up toward city hall, where Mayor Robert F. Wagner gave the visitors another greeting, bands played and another 21-gun salute was sounded.

"God Save the Queen" and "The Star Spangled Banner" rent the clear blue air. Elizabeth inspected an honor guard of troops. It was the kind of day New Yorkers intended it to be: a day the Queen of England would never forget.

Confetti, ticker tape, bits of newspapers and slivers of pages from available telephone books sparkled down through bright sunshine upon the royal couple as they drove to City Hall through downtown New York's business district.

New York had seen nothing like it since the parade that was put on for Gen. Douglas MacArthur in 1951. No reigning queen of England had ever received such an honor before.

The crowds were lined six and seven deep along the royal route. Every window seemed to have at least one head peering from it. To their admirers, Elizabeth and Philip waved and smiled broadly.

Even the weather came to the aid of the gala day's round of entertainment and honors for the winsome monarch. A brilliant autumn sun flooded the city with a welcome of its own. The still, windless air was so crisp enough to make the day one to be remembered.

The Queen wore a rust-colored velvet coach-style coat trimmed with a white mink collar. Her hat was rust velvet, also. She wore diamond and pearl earrings, a pearl necklace, brown shoes and carried a brown leather bag.

The Queen will be lucky if she has even time to catch a breath today.

Vanguard Test May Be Today

Scientists Due to Fire First Stage Engine of U.S. Space Rocket

WASHINGTON (AP) — Technicians may try again today to test-fire the first stage engine of the Vanguard rocket which they hope ultimately will send an American satellite into space.

Such a firing apparently was put off twice last Friday. Official sources at the missile test center at Cape Canaveral, Fla., said test activities would be resumed today.

The testing plan is to send aloft the rocket, using only the first-stage engine. The Vanguard rocket, at full power, is planned to have three stages, the last of which would carry the satellite into an orbit about 300 miles above the earth.

The United States plans to fire some small test spheres in December and to try to send up fully instrumented satellites starting in March.

Some American scientists are not optimistic about the value of information from Russia's space vehicle.

One of them said: "Chances are we'll never learn very much about Sputnik. The Russians certainly aren't talking, and there's a limit to what you can learn through visual sighting and radio signals."

In Cincinnati, Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) said, "The strength and the efficiency of our military establishment must not be judged in the light of any single weapons device."

Not Quite So Cold in Pontiac Tonight

For the Pontiac area, the weatherman says tonight will be partly cloudy, with a low of 40 to 44 degrees.

Tomorrow will be mostly cloudy with a chance of scattered showers. The high will reach 62-66. Tomorrow night the outlook is cloudy and cool with occasional rain. The low will be 41-45.

The lowest recorded temperature in the downtown Pontiac area this morning was 38. At 2 p.m. the mercury had climbed to 60.

Bankers Agree Turnpike Bonds Poor Investment

By PETE LOCHBILER

This was agreed today by both a prominent Pontiac banker and a nationally-known Detroit investment banker, answering this question on which Pontiac's immediate hopes for a new expressway hinge:

Could a north-south turnpike past Pontiac be financed in view of present bond market conditions?

"In my opinion, it is impossible to market any type of toll road bonds," said A. C. Girard, president of the Community National Bank.

Sydnor Gilbreath, president of the First of Michigan company, said, "At this time, it would be difficult if not impossible to sell revenue bonds for a new turnpike."

Both investors pointed out that the bond market generally is down nowadays, with the market for turnpike bonds down farther than the average.

As a result, turnpike bonds represent a poor investment, they said.

HIGGINS LOOKS FOR RISE

George N. Higgins, chairman of the Michigan Turnpike Authority (MTA), has agreed that market for turnpike bonds is bad, but believed at a meeting with Pontiac representatives last week that the market may go up.

At the meeting, with State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie, it was agreed that a toll road, if financially feasible, would be built through Pontiac sooner than a free expressway.

Girard today quoted figures that show bonds for existing turnpikes are selling at prices lower than those for which they were bought.

If the market continues low, Girard said, investors will lose

Research Slash Now Publicized

WASHINGTON (AP)—A two-month old directive which the Defense Department made public only yesterday slashes military research and development spending by at least 170 million dollars.

Sen. Monroney (D-Okla), protesting, urged President Eisenhower to cancel the Aug. 17 directive "right now, before we cut off some idea in mid-brain that might save the country from destruction.

The order, signed by Secretary of Defense Charles Wilson before his recent retirement, was not made public at the time. It was released yesterday after an account of it appeared in the Washington Post and Times Herald.

The paper said some holders of Air Force contracts for basic research have complained that the harm done to research will be out of proportion to the money saved.

A Defense Department spokesman said yesterday that Wilson's intent was for a careful review by each service of its research test and evaluation programs in the light of the current government economy drive.

ORDERED 10 PCT. CUT

Congress allotted five billion dollars for research during the current fiscal year, which began July 1. The total included $1,700,000,000 for basic research and $3,300,000,000 for research and development procurement.

The order directed the military services to make cutbacks equal to 10 per cent of each service's

Church Elder, Wife Attacked

Both Get Head Injuries in Strange Burglary; Valuables Bypassed

DETROIT (INS) — A First Presbyterian Church elder and his wife today were suffering from head injuries received in a vicious beating at their home.

Detectives of the homicide squad said the couple could not recall what happened after they went to sleep Friday night. Det. Lt. Hiram Phipps said:

"This was no ordinary burglary. The upstairs was ransacked but too many easy-to-carry valuables were left behind to fit the patterns—rings, watches and silverware.

"I believe the motive was either sadistic revenge or else someone was looking for a single, specific article he believed to have been in the home, perhaps a valuable document."

Phipps added that Murray was slugged while he was sleeping and Mrs. Murray's body was covered with "many marks" which showed "she put up a terrific battle and literally had to be beaten down."

He said he expects to question the injured woman today. A neighbor reported the Murrays missing.

British Choir to Sing

NEW YORK (INS) - A selection of British and Commonwealth folk songs will be sung tonight by the British Commonwealth Choir at the ball in honor of Queen Elizabeth at the 7th regiment armory.

Pot-O-Gold's $700 Could Buy Many Christmas Gifts

It doesn't take long to fill the pot when $100 is added to it each week. Already Pot-O-Gold is back at the $700 mark. What would be nicer than to start your Christmas shopping early without worrying about the bills?

All you have to do is send us the right answers for the puzzle that appears on page 22 of today's Pontiac Press.

If no winner is found for last week's puzzle, the right numbers for this week's Pot-O-Gold will be worth as much as $725 for subscribers.

Even with a winner for last week it will still be worth $125, so why wait? You can buy quite a few presents with that much money.

4 Dead as Storms Flail New Mexico

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — A mass of wet air from the Gulf of Mexico collided with cool southwestern breezes over New Mexico mountains yesterday, bringing death and destruction to the northern half of the state.

More rains were forecast through today.

Three persons died in head-on collisions on highways in the rain belt. A small boy tumbled to his death in the swollen Pecos River.

U.S. 64 between Santa Fe and Taos was blocked through much of last night by tons of rain-loosened boulders piled on the highway in the Rio Grande gorge. Several motorists plowed into rockslides before highway crews cleared the route.

Floodwaters flowed as much as two feet deep through downtown Estancia, central New Mexico farming community. Two hundred men battled the inundation with sandbags. An earth dam thrown across State Road 41 through the town finally averted the threat to the business section.

Dies

LEO J. HEENAN

City Architect Taken by Death

Leo J. Heenan Suffers Fatal Coronary Attack; Funeral Wednesday

Leo J. Heenan, well-known Pontiac architect and designer of many city and county buildings, died of a coronary attack yesterday morning at Pontiac General Hospital. He was 67.

Beside his lengthy architectural achievements, Heenan once was a Pontiac representative on the Oakland County Board of Supervisors, served three years as a city assessor until 1935, and was chairman of the Pontiac Historical Commission at the time of his death.

Heenan was born in Jackson on Aug. 1, 1890. Eight years later his family moved to Pontiac where the deceased remained a resident ever since.

In 1916 he opened the offices of L. J. Heenan Architects which he operated with his son George, one of three surviving children. Others are John Heenan Jr., of Oregon, and Mrs. Shirley Hinton of Missouri.

PLANS MANY CITY BUILDINGS

Heenan designed the present City Hall, the Public Safety Building, the new west side fire station, the present Pontiac General Hospital and its four million dollar addition, the Adah Shelly Branch Library, and several older fire halls in the city.

County buildings designed by Heenan include the Children's Home, the Infirmary, and the powerhouse and laundry building. He also designed Owen School, several school additions, and was presently working on the new Salvation Army Social

4 Flags for Each Pole

NEW YORK (INS) — Street lighting poles along the route of Queen Elizabeth's "ticker tape" parade up Broadway from the Battery o City Hall are decorated today with four flag standards. There are two U. S. flags, one flag for the city of New York and one British Commonwealth flag decorating each pole.

Teamster Chief Still Kept From Assuming Office

Jurist Hears Pleas to Place Troubled Union in Receivership

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. District Judge F. Dickinson Letts today refused to lift his order restraining James R. Hoffa from taking over as president of the Teamsters Union.

Letts then went ahead with a hearing on pleas to convert the restraining order into a preliminary injunction against Hoffa and to put the 1½-million-member Teamsters Union under court receivers.

Plaintiffs in the case are a group of rank-and-file New York Teamsters members. They claim the recent Teamsters convention which elected Hoffa to succeed Dave Beck was illegal.

Letts quickly denied four motions argued by Teamsters' Atty. Martin O'Donoghue. The motions would have dismissed the existing restraining order and put the case down for trial on its merits.

O'Donoghue said Letts had acted improperly in granting the restraining order last week after a closed hearing in the court's chambers without notice to the union and without giving union attorneys a chance to be present.

O'Donoghue said this violated one of the canons of the American Bar Assn., limiting issuance of restraining orders without opposing counsel being present only to the most urgent cases dictated by dire necessity.

The plaintiff rank - and - file group has charged that Hoffa—accused of corruption in Senate Rackets Committee hearings—rigged his own election at the recent Teamsters convention in Miami Beach, Fla.

Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) of the Senate committee contends more than half the convention delegates were illegally chosen.

He said one of the delegates who participated in the convention actually was not elected formally by his local union as a delegate until a week after the convention ended. He did not name the delegate.

INJUNCTION EYED

Judge Letts must decide whether to convert his restraining order which bars Hoffa from becoming union president into a preliminary injunction, with the same effect, and whether court masters should be named to supervise the union pending new elections.

Dave Beck, the union's retiring president, also accused of corruption in Senate committee testimony, has announced he is holding up plans to step out in Hoffa's favor pending the outcome of the court challenge.

In an answer to the contentions of the plaintiffs, the union has challenged the right of the court to intervene in the political affairs of a private organization.

The union contends that while there may have been violations of a number of union constitutional provisions over electing and seating the delegates, this was cured by a ruling from Beck waiving these constitutional provisions under the union president's power to interpret the constitution.

GI Girard Declines Reply on 3 Pretrial Statements

MAEBASHI, Japan (AP)—GI William S. Girard today declined to testify on conflicting pretrial statements which he made about the firing range death of a Japanese brass collector.

Judge Yuzo Kawachi, presiding at Girard's manslaughter trial, called the Ottawa, Ill., soldier to the stand and asked him about three statements he gave Japanese prosecutors in February.

Girard said he recalled making the statements but answered "No, sir" when asked if he wanted to say anything about them.

In one statement Girard said he fired a single shot over the heads of Japanese collecting shells on a U.S. firing range here last Jan. 30. Girard said he shot "to chase them away."

But in another statement the soldier said he fired two shots, "one into the air and one over the head of Japanese shell pickers."

Girard admits firing the empty brass casing from his rifle grenade-launcher which killed Mrs. Naka Sakai. But he says it was an accident that occurred while he was carrying out guard duty.

Kawachi sharply questioned Mrs. Sakai's eldest son in today's proceedings. Chikao Sakai, 23, said first that he saw his mother fall on the firing range but later testified he first saw her lying on the ground.

Kawachi showed irritation and chided the young farmer, Mrs. Sakai's 18-year-old daughter, Kayoko, at that point called from the rear of the courtroom and tearfully asked to explain what her brother meant.

"Please sit down and listen, because you will only confuse the issue," Kawachi said.

A-Aides Coming With Macmillan

3 Nuclear Planners to Participate in Parley With President

By HAL COOPER

LONDON (AP)—The British government announced today Prime Minister Macmillan will take three top nuclear policy planners to his conference with President Eisenhower in Washington.

This tends to substantiate reports Macmillan will propose at the meeting a U.S.-British partnership in nuclear and rocket research.

The men leaving with Macmillan tomorrow are Sir Richard Powell, permanent secretary of the Defense Ministry; Sir Edwin Plowden, chairman of Britain's Atomic Energy Authority; and Sir Patrick Dean, a deputy undersecretary at the Foreign Office who is charged with political aspects of Britain's atomic energy program.

Others in Macmillan's party are Sir William Hayter, former British ambassador to Moscow and now a general political director at the Foreign Office; Sir Norman Brook, secretary to the Cabinet; and F. A. Bishop and Philip de Zulueta, both private secretaries.

Macmillan took a final look at his Washington plans at a Cabinet meeting today. He was keeping a close watch on developments in the Middle East—a subject he and President Eisenhower are expected to discuss at length.

Under Macmillan's partnership plan, the two Allies would coordinate their scientific effort through a joint planning directorate with headquarters in Washington.

The funeral will be Wednesday at 10 a.m. at St. Vincent de Paul Catholic Church. The service will be conducted by Father Thompson Marcero, with burial to follow in Mt. Hope Cemetery.

The Rosary will be read tomorrow night at 8:15 at the Huntoon Funeral Home.

The family has asked that in lieu of flowers tributes be made to the Pontiac General Hospital equipment fund.

Heenan lived with his wife at 258 Whittemore St. He was a graduate of Pontiac High School. He was a member of the Michigan Society of Architects, Illuminating Engineering Society, American Institute of Architects, the Rotary Club, the Pontiac City Club, and a charter member of the Elks.

Know the Weather

By E. H. SIMS

When is the "Hunter's Moon?" When is the "Beaver Moon?"

The Hunter's moon occurs October 27th in 1957. It follows the Harvest Moon, each year, though it does not linger light-giving and low on the horizon as long as the famous Harvest Moon.

Both the Hunter's Moon and Beaver Moon are full moons. The Beaver Moon this year comes on November 26th, the night before Thanksgiving. These moons always follow the Harvest Moon, which is the full moon nearest the autumnal equinox, and which can therefore vary from month to month — contrary to what many people believe.

Although the Harvest Moon this year came in September, it sometimes comes in early October — thus setting back the dates on which the full Hunter's and Beaver moon arrive to November and December.

Russia Sputters 'Brink of War' Charge Against Dulles

ANKARA (INS) — The Turkish-Syrian war scare appeared fizzling today in the face of a strong Western stand.

Both Turkish and U.S. officials in the capital agreed the tension was easing off, but Russia was doing her best to keep the kettle steaming by accusing Secretary of State John Foster Dulles of leading the area to the "brink of war."

An aura of confusion was added to the Middle East picture when Syria promptly denied an official Saudi Arabian radio station broadcast that King Saud had offered to mediate the dispute and Syria and Turkey had accepted.

The Oct. 27 elections still held sway in public attention in Turkey with more talk about domestic issues and converting the nation into an industrial "small United States" than the tension with Syria.

(A British newspaperman reported seeing substantial troop concentrations on both sides of the Syrian-Turkish frontier after a tour of the area. Another reporter said the border was quiet but tense.

(Daily Express correspondent Geoffrey Thrusby, in a dispatch from Cyprus, said he saw submachinegun-armed Syrians and Russian-made trucks near the frontier and troops going through tougheningup exercises in full battle gear.

(Thrusby said Turkish troops were drawn up in strength about 15 miles inside their own territory. A Turkish division of some 10,000 men was in the area, he reported, adding that heavy reinforcements had been moved in since the crisis began.)

Although the crisis appeared slackening, Turkish and U.S. officials in Ankara were keeping their fingers crossed about the Russians and a possible United Nations flareup over the Syrian charges that Turkey was planning an American-inspired assult against her.

Most agree that Dulles' warning that the U.S. would help Turkey — and that Russia would not be a privileged sanctuary — in an outbreak, plus a firm Turkish stand before the Syrians, made the Damascus regime reconsider in the cold war of charges and countercharges.

Dulles' reaffirmation of U.S. support for Turkey came under sharp attack from the Soviet Communist Party newspaper Pravda today. It accused the U.S. secretary of state of "having again brought things to the brink of war."

Research Cutback Now Disclosed

portion of the $1,700,000,000. But the department spokesman said the cuts are intended to come out of the $3,300,000,000 procurement fund.

Monroney called the order an example of "meat ax economy," which he said is "10 times as dangerous as have been the reductions, cutbacks and stretchouts in the procurement of weapons already in production."

The Eisenhower administration has been criticized in the past for an alleged lack of interest in basic research—the long-range scientific investigations which frequently do not produce immediately useful results.

Monroney said the U.S. program to launch an earth satellite like the Russian Sputnik has been delayed because scientists running the project "have had to justify every increased cent" before one executive budget officer after another as costs increased.

"It is no wonder," Monroney said, "we let the Russians so excite the world with their satellite that Hungary's horrors were eclipsed by the Soviets' whirling new moon."

Penagon officials have said in the past that basic research funds would not be affected by the current economy push. Wilson told a Sept. 19 news conference that all the basic research money would "be utilized."

money if they sell their turnpike bonds. If, on the other hand, the bonds are held to maturity, the anticipated margin of profit will be considerably reduced, he said.

Gilbreath's firm specializes in underwriting securities such as road bonds and school bonds.

Gilbreath said he would not venture to underwrite toll road bonds at this time, especially for toll roads whose revenues are not guaranteed by the state.

Whether the market for turnpike bonds will improve "depends a variety of conditions impossible to predict," Gilbreath said.

Girard pointed out that the bond market has been down for a year and a half, while the MTA and the state have been arguing whether to have a toll road or not.

"The plan should have been abandoned two years ago," said Girard. "Pontiac has had two years of its time wasted already, and now it seems that the state is going to leave us out of its plans for another five years."

Girard believed that the big reason toll roads are down is that their performance has been disappointing.

"The experts seem to have consistently overestimated the volume of traffic—and the subsequent revenues—that would use the toll roads," he said.

Because of this, he said, and the general change of cost of municipal financing due to scarcity of money, toll road bonds have dropped in price from $15 to $30 for every $100 originally invested, while other municipal bonds have taken a drop of only about $5 to $8.

The most successful turnpike, the New Jersey, currently is selling at $93 for every $100 originally invested, Girard said. He gave these figures for toll roads in eleven other states:

Florida, $81; Illinois, $70; Indiana, $81; Kentucky, $83; Maine, $83; Massachusetts, $85; Ohio, $85; Pennsylvania, $80; Texas, $76; New York, $91 and West Virginia, $44.

Girard hit toll roads generally, saying that they cost too much and can be built only by causing competing, free roads to remain undeveloped.

Mackie announced to the Pontiac group last week that he does not intend to add a Pontiac expressway to his current five-year highway plan.

He said that a north-south free expressway from Detroit through Pontiac to Flint "very probably" will be included in the second five-year plan, beginning in 1962.

The MTA's plans call for a $165 million turnpike, 76 miles long from the Detroit Industrial Expressway to the southeast edge of Flint.

Coming before the body tonight will be the hearing on the requested modification of Yorkshire street, between Eton road and the GTWRR. The request for vacation of the street and as much of the easement as possible was made by Frank C. Newell.

Commissioners also will consider a request for an investigation of the sewer line serving Valley View Lane, south of Maple avenue. Residents charge an unsanitary condition exists from the partial filling of the eight-inch line from sand and silt.

Another request comes from the Library Board for the removal of trees from two sections of the lawn, removal of saplings growing near the building, trimming shrubs and the relocation of the yew hedge planted last May. The board points out that, at present, the shrubs are not uniformly spaced and fail to serve their purpose of halting traffic across the library lawn.

Pembroke School, having broken away from the community Halloween party, is, through its PTA, requesting the use of Pembroke Park for the purpose of serving refreshments at their own party. The entertainment will be in the school building.

Dr. Henrietta Hayden, associate director of the Department of Medical Physics at William Beaumont Hospital, will speak at the Oct. 24 meeting of the Soroptimist Club. Her subject will be "The Application of Radioactive Elements to Medical Problems." The dinner meeting will be held at Devon Gables.

Dr. Ralph L. Lee will address the Oct. 25 meeting at the Community House of the Senior Men's Club, speaking on "Retiring for the Road Ahead."

Dr. Lee, himself retired, has had a wide experience in the field of public relations and engineering. He knows the value of work, the value of retirement, and the place "having something to do" plays in the latter.

A hobbyist of note, Dr. Lee has a pilot's license and is a veteran glider pilot. At the rear of his Lakeside avenue home he carries on another hobby—iron work. He has a complete forge and pattern shop there and is well known for the excellence of his craftsmanship.

Broomfield to Sponsor Bill Eliminating Ceiling on Earnings

Rep. William S. Broomfield (R-Royal Oak) announced today he will campaign for more liberal social security benefits.

Broomfield said that, specifically, he will sponsor legislation this January to eliminate the present $1,200 limit on outside earnings for those receiving social security payments.

Broomfield said he learned how "serious" the financial situation is for the county's older residents during his present two-month tour of the 18th (Oakland County) Congressional District.

"One of the chief complaints was that those receiving social security benefits are having a hard time making ends meet. And the present $1,200 limit on outside earnings is hampering others from improving their standard of living," the representative said.

Broomfield said he would ask Congress for a complete study of the present social security payment system to see if it can't be increased.

LOSE BENEFITS

Under existing regulations, social security beneficiaries who earn more than $25 a week automatically lose their benefits for that week.

Some employers are taking advantage of this, said Broomfield.

"Employers are paying only up to the $100 a month limit, and they are getting a full month's work out of some of these people," said Broomfield.

"If the ceiling on earnings is removed, these people will be able to receive fair wages for a fair day's work."

Elimination of the outside earning clause also would encourage other older persons to increase their standard of living, he said.

Broomfield said he will also call for study of social security's financial status. He said that he will consider tying benefits to the cost-of-living index.

ROBERT EVANS

County Drain Chief Names New Deputy

Robert J. Evans, who has been with the Oakland County Drain Commission 32 years, has been named deputy drain commissioner, filling the vacancy caused by the retirement of Stanley J. Filkins this summer.

Evans, 60, 2619 Woodbine Dr., Waterford Township, was appointed by Drain Commissioner Daniel W. Barry. The appointment will be acted on by the Board of Supervisors Oct. 30.

The new deputy drain commissioner first joined the department in 1925. For more than 15 years he was employed in designing county drains.

Evans is married and has two daughters.

Washington Child, 7, Badly Injured by Car

A second grader at Washington School was critically injured early this morning when she was struck by a car in front of her home in Macomb County.

The victim is Sherrie Sartwell, 7, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Sartwell, 56955 Van Dyke, Washington. She darted in the path of a car driven by Maurice Carlton 54, of 244 East Gates St., Romeo, according to State Police of the Romeo Post.

Ironically, Carlton is the driver of the school bus which the injured child rides every weekday afternoon. He is also official photographer for the Romeo Police Department.

Both the youngster and her mother were rushed to St. Joseph Hospital, Mt. Clemens.

Covering Royal Routine Task for Reporters With Stamina

By BOB CONSIDINE

WASHINGTON (INS) — A lady shopper at the West Hyattsville, Md., supermarket, which Elizabeth II visited after Saturday's nearby football game, was surprised to see Prince Philip standing at the Queen's side.

"Hey," the shopper said to Philip, "I thought you were always supposed to stand behind her."

"Yes," Philip said, through his tight little smile. "That's correct. But at the football match today, we got real chummy."

Brittle is the word for Philip's outlook on his curious role in life. On this trip there have been times when, watching him, I thought he might suddenly forsake his air of faint amusement, let out a bellow or an oath, take off his glad rags or brass bound uniform, hurl it to the ground and jump up and down on it.

At the British embassy reception for the Washington diplomatic corps, the line was about to file past the royal couple when Elizabeth, with an inaudible word and gesture, indicated to her husband that she was still wearing her mink stole.

Philip whisked it from her shoulders and tossed it six feet through the air to the nearest chair.

Members of the royal party grew faint when they learned that Philip, upon being asked by a reporter if he now expected closer Anglo-American cooperation on missiles and satellites, snapped (and with good reason):

"That, brother, is up to YOU!"

Covering the Queen's tour, for a wire service reporter, has been something like writing a new lead at each quarter mile of the mile-and-a-quarter Kentucky Derby. The feature writers could get an angle, write it, and ride with it all day. The people in what we call the wire pool have a deadline somewhere in the world every second, so to speak.

You phrase a lead about something the Queen will do Monday at, let's say, Staten Island, and something bigger and newer will happen at the Battery. You write a ticker-tape parade story, to carry her from the Battery to City Hall, and something that happens between there and the Waldorf takes precedence. And so on through the day.

Strong men have broken covering this royal runaway race. Hulking guys with more muscles in their wrists than Elizabeth has in her entire body, have staggered to their cots with the faints. There isn't a clear eye left, except Elizabeth's. This has been more physically tiring than covering the Little Rock riots.

But, as we always say, it's better than working for a living.

What did the tour prove?

Well, I'd say that without really knowing her any better the American and Canadian people carry a clearer picture of Elizabeth and how well she conducts herself in a life that can be—as she put it—"a dull round."

If there is now a determined effort on the part of the administration to share our missile and satellite secrets with Britain, and get Britain's thinking in return, it won't meet nearly the opposition it might have met if Elizabeth had not graced our scene.

She must have reassured millions that Britain is our firm ally, a good friend who is not afraid to show it at a time when Sputnik has caught us with our ballistics down.

Airman's 4 Children Asphyxiated in Fire

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — Four young children, who apparently huddled together in terror when fire swept their home, were asphyxiated last night by the choking smoke from the blaze.

The victims, children of Airman 1. C. Aaron White, 27, were found on a bed in a back room of the six-room frame house. The fire broke out while White was taking a babysitter home. His wife was ill with influenza in the hospital at Amarillo AFB, where White is stationed.

Dead were Kathy, 6, Arron Jr., 4, Sharon, 2, and Stanley, 18 months.

IT'S EASY WITH NEW R-D!

AN AMAZING DEVELOPMENT FROM THE HERCULES CHEMICAL COMPANY.

Exclusive new formula contains no lye, caustics or acids — absolutely safe in septic tank, cesspool or city systems.

New Hercules R-D chemical formula is the most economical and effective method ever found for preventing and clearing root stoppages. With Hercules R-D, there's no need for expensive labor, the unsightliness and trouble of digging up lawn and pavement. All you do is pour R-D crystals directly from the box into the toilet bowl. The exclusive R-D chemical compound does the rest.

SO EFFECTIVE . . . YET SO SAFE! Hercules R-D is an exclusive formula of crystals and fine powders developed solely for root removal. It kills only the dangerous root . . . it cannot harm trees, lawns or shrubs . . . in fact, it can't even discolor a single leaf. AND R-D IS HARMLESS TO HANDS OR CLOTHING!

One 2 lb. application of Hercules R-D will not only remove these roots permanently, but will prevent them from forming in your sewage system again! Semi-annual treatment with Hercules R-D will assure you root-free sewer and drain lines.

Simply pour R-D into toilet bowl or directly into sewer line. R-D crystals dissolve and are absorbed by the root. Fast-acting chemical kills the root — but does not harm the tree or shrub.

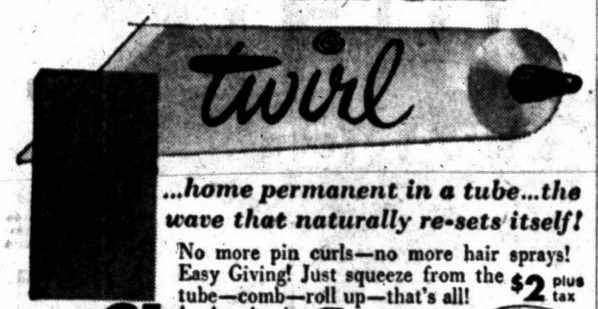

In most cases, R-D travels through the root and destroys it even beyond the sewer line. And that root cannot grow back into the sewer line to cause stoppage again!

GUARANTEE: R-D MUST WORK OR YOUR MONEY BACK

Use R-D as directed. If it doesn't clear your clogged sewerline of roots and prevent these roots from growing back for 6 months, Hercules will refund the full price.

They Call It AUTOCIDE

Drivers Forget Highway Courtesy

By ARTHUR S. JOHNSON
Vice President — Engineering
American Mutual Liability Insurance Company

The automobile and all that its use implies can become one of our most civilizing material influences.

But the glaring facts remain — as a nation of drivers we have much to improve in our feelings and attitudes toward our fellow travelers on the highway.

As a safety engineer dealing with the problems of highway safety, I say that the automobile will be operated with decency and courtesy and common understanding as soon as the spiritual potential in our American way of living becomes understood and knowledge of it widely known and distributed.

That means learning the moral principle that underlies courtesy. We who work in the safety movement has an unparelleled opportunity to study moral principle.

In it, one is not dealing with villainy or viciousness, but merely simple ignorance and lack of skill in the use of new tools.

STUDY ACCIDENTS

It is in the safety movement that men study accidents caused by simple human failures, and teach safe practices in the practical school of human relations.

I have chosen to deal with courtesy as synonomous with the moral principle which should control the behavior of motorists toward each other.

The principles which define civilization are charity, compassion, and tolerance. If the automobile is to serve as the greatest single factor in the creation of wealth and its distribution, to be used as a material force for good, it must help to reach the realization of these civilizing principles.

It does, and it will — give it time, patience, and the driving energy of teaching.

The screaming, swearing, impatient ejaculation aimed at the passing motorist or pedestrian for an action that one does not like, merely because it makes one change his own path or speed, is the antithesis of charity. As a matter of fact it is an expression of hate.

It is an act of pointless savagery that could otherwise have been a much simpler act of courtesy. These is more to charity than laissez-faire, for it connotes love; at the least good will and liberality.

LEARN CHARITY

When the driver acquires sufficient skill and ability not to be afraid, so that his car responds deftly to his will and reflexes, he can then learn to let it teach him charity. Most drivers encountered today are mature, skilled and courteous; many still need to learn.

SCREAMING DRIVER — A motorist, like many others, forgets the meaning of courtesy on the highways. Understanding and cooperation on the roads are vital factors in reducing the high number of traffic accidents.

Let's talk about the man so heedless of others that he operates ruthlessly, in utter disregard of the effect that he has upon his neighbors on the road.

Such a ruthless wretch (speeders included) needs to be bapred from the road temporarily, even as the anti-social and the felon need to be denied freedom temporarily.

Such behavior is the antithesis of compassion. Compassion for the other driver is not doctrinaire, but is very practical attitude that marks the civilized man.

I have put charity and compassion in the spotlight of human behavior as it applies to the man behind the wheel.

But the quality which comes into play constantly in every driving situation, and allows for the slightest as well as the greatest differences between us as individuals, is tolerance.

It makes one allow for the behavior of another in manners different from one's own. To the engineer tolerance is the acceptance of something at variance with a measured standard. Driving can never be measured to an exact standard.

There will always be the necessity to accept variation in some degree. Only those things which are spelled out in the statutes permit of no tolerance. Tolerance is freedom of choice rightly used.

All three of these qualities, of which courtesy is the common gauge, are unenforceable. They come into proper use and understanding through acts of self-discipline. Recognizing them and learning them, and heeding them, will help to make the automobile the civilizing force that it can become.

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Chinese Communist shore batteries fired 48 shells today at tiny Kaoteng Island, in the offshore Matsu group. The Nationalists defense ministry said the shelling caused no casualties and its forces did not return fire.

Fire Follows Smoke

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—When smoke comes, fire can't be far behind, a safety crew here learned. They were setting out warning flare pots on a road-widening project when they smelled smoke. Fire was cose behind, all right. One of the pots had tipped, igniting the rear of their truck.

Classes Mixed for Fifth Week

Federal Troops Still Protecting Negroes at Central High

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Nine Negro students, two of whom were ill with influenza last week, prepared to attend their fifth week of integrated classes at Little Rock Central High School today.

Federal troops — consisting of paratroopers and federalized Arkansas National Guardsmen—protect the Negroes at the previously all-white 2,000-pupil high school.

Gov. Orval Faubus returned to his mansion here last night after a weekend in northwest Arkansas. An aide said he doubted if the governor would have anything new to say today about the racial crisis.

There is no solid indication yet of an end to the tug-of-war between Faubus and the federal government.

The White House has said that Faubus has given no unequivocal assurances he will carry out integration peacefully if federal troops are withdrawn. Faubus blocked integration at Central High for awhile by using National Guardsmen before they were removed from his control.

The Negro attorney who represented the nine Negro students in federal court predicted that the crisis will continue until the gubernatorial election in 1958 is over.

Wiley E. Branton of Pine Bluff also told a convention of the NAACP, at East St. Louis, Ill: "It is up to the Negro race to see that it is no longer used as the 'tool of politicians' of any party."

2 Nations Complain on Airliner Incident

JERUSALEM (AP)—Both Jordan and Israel have complained to the U. N. Mixed Armistice Commission about an encounter between a Jordan civilian airliner and an Israeli jet fighter.

The American pilot of the airliner, Capt. Jesse Stallworth of Pine Bluff, Ark., said an Israeli jet fired on his aircraft five times Saturday as he flew over the town of Aqaba, Jordan.

Stallworth said none of the shots hit and he completed his flight from Amman to Cairo. Fourteen passengers and three other crewmen were aboard.

The Jordan government claimed fire by its ground forces at Aqaba drove the Israeli plane off: It said antiaircraft fire also drove off two Israeli fighters which later attacked the ground positions.

The Amman regime said it was considering diplomatic action.

An Israeli army statement said the fighter spotted the Jordan plane over the Negev Desert 20 miles inside Israeli. It said the fighter ordered the airliner to land but the pilot refused and escaped across the border.

The Rains Came to Us Just in Time

That look of alarm and foreboding has disappeared from the countenances of the farmers in the Pontiac area. They're happy again—and deserve it.

Following one of the worst autumn drouths in local history, the recent rains have revitalized the soil as nothing else could. They were fertilizers supreme.

With practically no precipitation for three weeks or more, together with many sunny days and unseasonably warm weather, the surface ground had become practically devoid of moisture.

Seldom do we have such a period of rain-free days at any season.

Wheat, foundation of our staff of life, that had been sown in ground resembling an ash bed, and in clouds of dust, now is turning barren fields into green harbingers of a good 1958 crop.

Pasture that had become so dried up that many farmers were obliged to commence winter feeding in October, now look like well kept lawns, and assure suitable forage for the rest of the open season.

Next year's hay fields needed the rains in order to get the required rooting and footage to carry them through the winter.

It is an old and well proven theory among the farmers that the ground should be thoroughly soaked in the autumn, and the cat holes and swamps well filled with water before the opening of winter.

While the rains have spoiled the autumn foliage display, and ended a few weeks of the most gorgeous coloring we could desire, they were a blessing, not only to the farmers, but also to the rest of us—whom the farmers are feeding.

East German Regime Is Recognized by Tito

Although in days gone by the Yugoslav press had denounced Premier OTTO GROTEWOHL of East Germany as an "unreconstructed Stalinist," TITO has extended diplomatic recognition to that area.

This was done despite protests from the United States and other Western nations who recognize Chancellor ADENAUER'S government as the only legitimate one in Germany. TITO'S action could have an adverse effect on further American aid extended to his country, which since 1948 amounts to $1.2 billion.

To forestall any international recognition of German partition, Chancellor ADENAUER announced that his government would break relations with any country outside the Soviet bloc which recognizes the East German regime.

Tito countered with the argument that he merely had followed the policy of non-alignment and active coexistence. He said that although Western Alliances had been necessary while Stalin ruled, such alignments are no longer needed because of "historic changes" in Communist Russia.

It is interesting to note that recognition of the East German government came on the heels of Soviet Marshal ZHUKOV'S visit to Belgrade. At that time TITO was promised a $250 million credit for machinery and raw materials by Russia and tacit acceptance of Yugoslavia as an independent Communist state. Recognition of the East German regime could be the price extracted from Yugoslavia for this aid.

Hunting Season Opens for Man's Best Friend

To most of us this is just another day, but for many of our canine friends it is something special. For 12 long months hundreds of dogs have remained in their kennels with little attention other than food once or twice a day.

But today they rise supreme since it is the opening of pheasant season. Thousands of hunters in this area will take to the fields with man's best friend at their side.

The dogs have been waiting patiently to demonstrate once again that uncanny skill they possess of pointing birds. For some unknown reason, they seem to sense the time of year. Their ears perk up at the slightest sound.

Today is the day; this is their chance to stride through the fields being king of the hunt. Before sundown, many dogs will return home with a feeling of pride for a job well done. Their masters will have their limit of pheasants.

The Man About Town

Birds Are Here

But Hunters Must Observe Extra Care in Their Quest

Empty: What if your life is, put something into it.

Pheasants are at large in fairly numerous quantities in all of Oakland County's 25 townships. Several have been seen in Pontiac city, they're plentiful in Bloomfield Hills, some have been seen in the business sections of Royal Oak and Ferndale, and several harems are known to exist along the Rouge River in Birmingham. In many locations in our county they are protected by local ordinances. Agricultural residents will allow hunting on their property, but you should or you're a trespasser and liable to arrest. Personally, as I reflect on the beauty of the cock pheasant, I hope your gun hangs fire in any location.

"Ask the farmer first,"

When Saginaw defeated Pontiac Friday evening, eight of the ten surviving entries in our football contest carried over to the next game. They had picked Saginaw to win. The one who had picked Pontiac and the one who predicted a tie game were eliminated.

On the contest game next Saturday, these eight divide equally, four favoring Boston College and four predicting that Detroit will win.

Forsythia bushes in the Pontiac area are doing double and triple duty this year, including one in the yard of

of Waterford, which bloomed in April, July and October, and those of

Mrs. Bertha Kelly

of West Bloomfield, one of which now is in bloom, and others are budding. The yellow glory of two bushes in the garden of

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Stingell

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Forsythe

MEMBER OF AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATIONS

Home on the Range

David Lawrence Says:

GOP Senators Hit Arkansas 'Boner'

WASHINGTON — Sometimes the big news is what officials and members of Congress are saying privately but which, for reasons of their own, they hesitate to say publicly. Over the weekend two Republican senators of prominence—who voted in favor of the "civil rights" bill at the last session of Congress—told this correspondent that in their judgment the Eisenhower administration has "pulled a boner" in sending federal troops into Little Rock.

LAWRENCE

"I thought," said one senator, "that we had repealed the provisions of law permitting the use of troops to enforce 'civil rights.' It's going to be hard to justify all this when we get back into session again."

What seems to be astonishing to top members of the Republican Party in the North is that, although several weeks have elapsed since federal troops were sent into Arkansas, their mission still has not been completed.

ARE THEY SCARED YET?

"Are we saying," asked one Republican senator, "that we are waiting for the people of Arkansas to be sufficiently terrorized—and haven't they been intimidated enough? Aren't we fostering every day the impression abroad that in free America we cannot settle our disputes at home except with military force?"

Not only are there murmurings on Capitol Hill but elsewhere in the government. The Army is unhappy about the role given it. The published pictures of federal troops in scuffles with citizens is not to the liking of those who must conduct the Army's public relations.

Wags have put up some street signs in the South: "Join the Army and see the schools." Nobody in the higher ranks of the Army likes to be reading dispatches such as this which came over the United Press wires from Little Rock last Friday:

"The assistant principal (at Central High School) reported the boy with the paper clips to an Army officer. The officer followed the boy outside, made him turn out his pockets and confiscated his supply of paper clips and rubber bands."

One wonders why the assistant principal couldn't have gotten a policeman if he needed one to take paper clips away from his pupils instead of asking taxpayers in all parts of the country to pay several thousands of dollars a day to get a job done that the local authorities ought to do and can do.

RECEIVING GRIPES

The complaints about the use of federal troops in Arkansas are coming in to Washington from all over the country, though the mail from most people in the North still seems to favor the doctrine that, irrespective of whether the President did or didn't have the legal right to use federal troops in Arkansas, the end justified the means.

Some newspaper editorials, however, are raising some interesting questions such as these:

"Why hasn't the President sent federal troops to maintain law and order in Wisconsin where incident after incident of violence has occurred in connection with the strike at the Kohler plant? Why isn't the workingman being escorted by federal troops to his job—to enforce his Constitutional right to work? Isn't the Fourteenth Amendment supposed to guarantee everyone 'the equal protection of the laws'?"

KASPER CASTIGATED

Meanwhile, there is one subject on which approval here seems to be general—that John Kasper, the rabble-rouser, is at last going to jail. He was convicted of violating a court order at Clinton, Tenn., warning him against inciting people to violence. But the unanswered question is: "Who has been behind Kasper?" The citizens councils in the South and the newspapers there disavow him, repudiate his tactics, and deplore his behavior as having hurt their cause rather than helped it.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Attorneys Please Note: This Is a Health Column

From time to time, attorneys who have damage cases coming to trial thank me "in advance" for cooperation and assistance which, for that reason, I do not give.

DR. BRADY

Many times I have said that every tooth is worth $1,000.

It is possible that in dire need I might sell one of mine for $1,000. But if you came along and knocked one of my teeth out and sought to compensate for it by paying me $1,000, I'd want to knock one of yours out instead.

In Volumettes I and XVI of the Pocket Cyclopedia of Health (23 volumettes boxed and delivered $7.50), titled respectively Save Your Teeth and The 7 Keys to Vite, I say:

"For every tooth lost and not immediately replaced by a functionally efficient denture, deduct from one to two years from your life expectancy."

Somewhere in one of these booklets I'm sure I also say: "Every sound tooth is worth at least $1,000."

One attorney who thanks me in advance says he has been unable to find a (his state) case in which the court valued a tooth at $1,000, so if I'll call his office collect . . .

The attorney has a damage case about to come to trial. So I must get busy.

LOOK ELSEWHERE

Perhaps I'm naive, but it seems to me that, if there is a precedent which would be of use in such a case, the attorney or his clerk could most readily find it in regularly published abstracts, or by querying the dento-legal department of the Journal of the American Dental Association or asking his dentist to do so.

Like many small-calibre big shots who demand service, this attorney writes via air-mail, special delivery—but he does not inclose a stamped envelope for my reply.

Probably in a week or two I'll hear from him again. He will be a little annoyed by my failure to reply and he'll hint that I had better get cracking or he'll take it up with the head man.

And so to the bowling green. Oh-oh. This is not a bowling day. Well then, hear this: Webster says thank or thanks is "an expression of gratitude; an acknowledgement for a favor or kindness received." So "thanks in advance" is equivalent to a nickel in non-negotiable condition—plugged or filthy with stickum.

Now, please excuse me while I beat my wife.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

The Country Parson

"The impression that he is a man of importance isn't something a fellow can have and give at the same time."

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Crane Tells Widows to Remarry

Minnie's problem is shared by literally millions of widows and widowers here in America. She wants to marry again, but one of her children is bitterly opposed to the idea, thinking such an act would be an evidence of disloyalty to the first husband. What do you think? Scrapbook this case record for future use.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case W-325: Minnie R., aged 47, is a very attractive widow.

DR. CRANE

"Dr. Crane, my husband has been dead for five years," she began. "At that time one of my two daughters was still at home.

"But now both of them are through college and married, so I am all alone.

"During the past year, I have been dating a widower, aged 51, who directs the choir at our church.

"We have fallen in love, but one of my daughters is violently opposed to our marriage.

"She has no special reason except she just thinks I ought to remain true to my first husband by never marrying again. What do you psychologists recommend?"

SECOND MARRIAGES

We experienced marriage counselors have found that the advice of the Almighty is very sound where God said of Adam (Genesis 2:18):

". . . it is not good that man should be alone; I will make him an help meet for him."

And it is certainly no reflection on the character of a widow or widower when they desire to marry a second time.

Instead, it is actually a compliment to their dead mate. For it shows that their former marriage was so happy and inspiring that they are willing to wed again in the hope of recapturing some of that previous joy.

Poets and daydreamers among the teenage group may get the mistaken idea that a widow or widower should pine away forever at the tomb of the departed, but that is a wrong notion.

When compatible people like Minnie and this widower fall in love, they will enjoy life far more if they marry.

MERITS OF RE-MARRIAGE

Many church and social events are planned with the idea of having people come in couples, so the lone widow or widower feels out of place.

Marriage also extroverts one's thinking. Married folks tend to be more unselfish and considerate, for we are then trained to think of the wishes of our mate, in addition to our own selfish desires.

Unmarried people tend to grow more eccentric and withdrawn form reality. So marriage is good insurance against becoming peculiar and even mentally abnormal.

A second marriage is also financially helpful, for the meager income of an elderly person may hardly suffice, but when the two pool their combined resources, they may live comfortably in their own home.

Re-marriage is medically healthful, too, for married folks live longer than the unmarried.

And they feel happier meanwhile for they know they have somebody else in the house to talk to, and who will look after them if they are sick. That is a very reassuring thought.

And in such cases, the elderly person is not as likely to be a burden on his or her children, for the mate can tend to the needs of the bedfast member of the team.

LOVE VITALIZES

Furthermore, there is no date line with reference to love, even of the physical sort, so re-marriage is stimulating to the endocrine secretions and proves a tonic to both the body as well as the mind.

It is a very lonely world when you sit by yourself watching TV at night or trudge alone to a neighboring movie and observe the laughing couples pass by.

So have no hesitation in marrying again, if you meet a suitable member of the opposite sex.

Many men write to me in apprehension regarding the physical aspects of a second marriage, so send for my booklet "How to Prevent Impotence," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents (nonprofit).

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

'Bugs' Baer Says:

Important political news has been held back like a barber's sneeze.

That's the solidified old South is going to splinter off into triplicate again. Dixie-is-cratting around the old homestead and there'll be a third party sure as you're a yard wide.

The original Dixiecrats baled more umbrage than cotton. At that time we said anybody could cut out paper dolls but no man could make 'em salute.

Trouble with third parties is they never have a sensible monicker. The Loco Focos, the Barn Burners, the Know Nothings and the Bull Moosers.

Third parties start when an individual politician has reached his pique. That was true when Teddy Roosevelt started the Bull Moosers way back when.

It was Teddy's argument that his filling of McKinley's administration was not a complete term at bat.

So he flipped the party and was shellacked like rabbit-fur in Danbury.

U.S. Judge Won't Provoke
Letts Likes Quiet Court

By INTERNATIONAL NEWS

A judge noted for his "judicial temperament" may seem as unremarkable as a family practitioner who is said to have a bedside manner.

But associates regard it as a high tribute when they speak of this trait in U. S. District Judge F. Dickinson Letts.

His imperturbability has served Letts in good stead since he was caught up in the turbulent legal battle over the recent Teamsters convention and the election of James R. Hoffa as president.

It might be argued that equanimity is easy to come by when one is, like Letts, 82 years old with some 38 years on the bench.

But Letts says that early in his career he worked out what he called a "courtroom philosophy."

The quiet-spoken jurist deplores court room outbursts and believes emphatically that a judge can, with a little effort, keep even the most highly-charged legal wrangles on a decorous plane.

Letts, a native of Iowa and a Republican, is the senior member both in age and service of the U. S. District Court for the District of Columbia.

But the years have not dulled his interest in law ("all cases are interesting," he says) or his ability to filter the essence from complex legal arguments.

The judge was appointed to his present post in 1931 by an old friend, then President Herbert Hoover. Letts had failed to win election for a fourth term in the U. S. House of Representatives at the time.

His lasting friendship with Hoover began when they met in Washington and discovered they were both born in Iowa only 75 miles—and less than a year — apart. Letts was born in Ainsworth, one of six children of David and Hannah Dickinson Letts, well-to-do farm people.

He went to Parsons College, Fairfield, Ia., and took his law degree at the State University of Iowa in 1899. Letts practiced law in Davenport until 1911, when he was honored by being one of the youngest men ever to be appointed to an Iowa district judgeship. He was elected to the same post in 1914 and served until 1925, when he went to Washington as a Congressman.

He lives with his wife—the former Josephine L. Haney—in Washington's fashionable Kennedy-Warren Apartment Hotel. They have no children.

4 Die in Plane Crash En Route to Be Married

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP)—Four people flying to Las Vegas, Nev., where two were to be married, were killed late Saturday night when their plane plunged into China Grade Bluff.

The partly buried wartime four-seater Cessna trainer was found yesterday with the bodies of Kathleen Moore, 19, the bride to be, of La Crescenta; Hilding Andrew Linde, 22, her fiance; and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hans Lawson Linde, 47 and 42, of Bakersfield.

Deputy Sheriff Art Cross said the plane apparently broke up in the air.

Common Market Eyed

OSLO, Norway (AP) — A special Scandinavian committee has proposed a common market for Denmark, Norway, Sweden and Finland similar to the one planned for Western Europe. The plan would remove most customs duties and other trade barriers.

Pigeons Lose Way

FONTANA, Calif. (AP) — These birds must have forgotten their name was "homing pigeons." Sheriff's Sgt. Roy Cornelison reported recently that he lost a box containing 12 prized homing pigeons. Cornelison said he hasn't seen flight nor feather of them since.

Now You Can Say It--'A Royal Rat-Race!'

By PHILLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS) — It's the last day of Queen Elizabeth's enervating entourage in the States, and by 2 a.m. tomorrow about 4,000 reporters will be resting in state.

Exactly what state, mere exhaustion or sheer shambles, depends on how long he's covered the sovereign visit.

It has been, as anyone who doesn't watch his protocol and big mouth can tell you, a royal rat-race.

As in 1951, when Elizabeth was a princess touring the new world, the legs and nerves and adjective-manufacturing powers of the reportorial cranium are demolished. From newspapers all over the world, reporters are vowing never again to use the word "radiant," nor to associate with people who do.

These same reporters, usually careful with words, have formed a new list of "hated hackneys" in the Webster line which they never want to resort to again.

Having been forced, by quick deadlines and an ever-present shortage of solid quotations from the stodgy Buckingham set, to use such cliches as "warm greetings" and "seas of smiling faces," they now despise the phrases.

Add to that group of dispossessed terms "informed palace sources." Also "brilliant autumn foliage," "colorful parade," "fit for a queen," "strenuous royal tour," "brave young woman" and "the price grinned."

It is also revealed, by informed pressroom sources, that reporters from the tour are fed up to here with crowds. Show me the newsman today who sings "I love a parade," and I'll show you a man who's been covering the story from television.

We have attended, if that is what it nonsensically is called, at least 20 parades since the plush royal plane (another detestable phrase) touched ground in Ottawa. We have been crushed, pushed, stampeded and rendered tin of ear by millions of parade lovers, to the point where we not only don't love a parade — we don't talk civily to persons who do.

One of the chief problems in this particular case of parade-covering is that there never was time to wait for a police estimate of the widely-scattered crowds. Thus, to play it safe and cryptic, the term "unnumbered thousands" became the order of any number of days.

And those words, like "milling throngs," are on the forget-as-soon-as-possible list.

This has been, like the 1951 royal visit, one of the most difficult stories of all to report — largely because one cannot get to a queen for interviews — so one must strain one's brain for new ways to tell the same crowd-pomp-solemn-radiant story.

Yet, while it was happening, we were all too busy to comprehend that we weren't enjoying ourselves . . .

Which makes us unnumbered thousands of radiant reporters, I suppose.

Does 'A' Stand for 'Accident' in Geo. A. Fiske?

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—Although the hospital calls his condition satisfactory, George A. Fiske, 4, doesn't see it that way at all.

Wednesday he cut his finger on a broken bottle. His mother, Mrs. George F. Fiske, bandaged it for him.

Thursday, while romping about the living room with his brothers Glen, 5, and Paul, 3, he smacked into a chest of drawers. At Sisters Hospital four stitches were taken in his head and George was sent home.

Friday, Mrs. Fiske was in the basement washing diapers for baby Karen, 7 months, with all four children watching.

When she said "Let's go upstairs and get an apple," George was caught in the stampede up the stairs and fell. At Sisters Hospital, they stitched up a cut on his chin.

Saturday, George fell strangely silent, confessed to his mother he had a headache, and finally admitted he'd cracked his head on the edge of a bathtub.

At Sisters Hospital, they found he had a slight concussion and this time took him in.

Security for You

Use Proof of Age to Establish Eligibility

By RAY HENRY

From N. P. of Bradenton, Fla.: "A few months from now I'll be visiting my Social Security office to apply for payments. What records must I show before I can get the payments?"

First, you'll need your Social Security card and you may also need some proof of your age. A birth certificate is best, but other types of proof are acceptable such as a family Bible, baptismal or school records, records of a trade-union or lodge or life insurance policies that show your age.

If you have military service credits to count as part of your earnings, present your service record and your discharge papers. If you have a dependent wife, you'll need evidence of your marriage; for dependent children, you'll need to show their birth certificates.

From Mrs. T. M. A. of Oakland, Calif.: "My husband is now drawing Social Security payments as a retired worker. I'm not collecting them as his wife because I'm not old enough. If my husband dies and I'm still not old enough to draw payments, will I ever be eligible to get them?"

Yes. If you have any children under 18 in your care or a child over 18 who was disabled before reaching 18, you may start drawing survivor payments immediately. Otherwise, you'll be eligible to collect monthly payments at 62. Your payments will be ¾ of the amount your husband is now collecting. You'll also be eligible to an immediate lump-sum payment of three times your husband's monthly payment or $225, which ever is the smaller amount.

From T. Y. of Knoxville, Tenn.: "I'm a farmer and make about $5,000 a year. I've never been married but I support my father who is 68. If I don't live to be 65, but should die three or four years from now, could my father get my Social Security?"

If your father has received at least ½ his support from you before your death, he could get monthly payments on your Social Security as a dependent parent.

From Mrs. B. P. H. of Columbia, Mo.: "I would like to know if my husband can draw Social Security. He is 63 years old now. He had a stroke three months ago and will never be able to work again. If he's eligible, will I be able to collect anything?"

Your husband should immediately apply for Social Security disability payments. Chances are he'll not be eligible until he's been disabled six months, but he should apply right away to see if his disability is sufficient to make him eligible. Unless you are eligible for retirement payments on your own Social Security record, you can't draw payments while your husband is under 65. When he reaches 65, you'll be able to collect payments as his wife.

From A. E. of New York City: "Recently you wrote a column which described the rights of World War I veterans to a pension from the Veterans Administration. I had no service during either war, but I did serve ten years during peace time. Can I collect a pension at 65?"

No. VA pension payments are paid only to veterans with wartime military service.

(Questions on Social Security problems may be addressed to "Social Security," in care of The Pontiac Press. Questions will be answered by mail from the Pontiac office of the Social Security Administration. There is no charge for this service.)

Vote Today on Merger of Mt. Clemens, Clinton

MT. CLEMENS (INS) — Voters in Clinton Township and Mt. Clemens today will decide whether to merge and make Mt. Clemens the fourth largest Michigan city in area.

The proposal would add Clinton's 29½ square miles to Mt. Clemens for industrial expansion. However, Clinton opponents of the merger charged Mt. Clemens was trying to revive itself with their tax money.

The Proxy Murder

By ERLE STANLEY GARDNER

Copyright 1957

THE STORY SO FAR: Jerry Conway is alarmed by an advertising campaign Clifford Farrell, a discharged employe, is conducting to obtain proxies and oust Conway at the stockholders' meeting of the California & Texas Global Co. In a mysterious telephone call a woman calling herself Rosalind offers to supply Conway with a list of the proxies Farrell has acquired. Though he suspects a trap Conway agrees to follow her cloak-and-dagger directions. Eva Kane, his secretary, thinks she has heard her voice before. Asking the hotel clerk for a message for Gerald Boswell he obtains a key to a hotel suite for the meeting but instead of finding Rosalind there's a young woman scantily attired, and on her face a mud pack She's Rosalind's roommate, Mildred. She points a gun at Conway, which he takes from her. Since the gun has been fired recently Conway suspects a frame-up and calls Perry Mason, attorney. Mason looks over the gun and asks Conway for the key to the hotel room. He'll take Detective Paul Drake with him. Drake convinces the hotel clerk he is Gerald Boswell. They find a woman murdered in the suite.

Chapter 7

Perry Mason said to Della, "You find a man in Paul's office. His name's Conway. Identify yourself. Tell him I said he was to go with you. Get him out of circulation."

"Where?"

Mason said, "Put him any place, just so it isn't the Redfern Hotel."

"Yes, Chief."

"All right. Listen carefully. He heard a woman's voice on the telephone. There was something in the spacing of that voice he thinks was familiar. The voice itself was disguised, but there was something in the tempo he's heard before.

"Now it's important as hell that he identify that voice. Keep after him. Make him think. Hold his nose to the grindstone. Tell him I have to have the answer."

"What shall I tell him about the reason for all this?" Della asked.

THINK HARD

"Tell him you're following my instructions. Make him remember what it is about that voice that's familiar."

"Okay. That all?"

"That's all. Get started. You haven't much time. Return to the office after you get him located. Be discreet. Act fast."

"Where are you now?"

"At the Redfern Hotel."

"Can I reach you there?"

"No. Don't try to reach me anywhere. Get this man out of circulation, then go to the office and wait."

"Okay, Chief, I'm on my way."

Mason hung up, dropped another dime, dialed police headquarters and said, "Homicide, please."

A moment later, when he had Homicide on the line, he said. "This is Perry Mason, the attorney."

HOLCOMB ON LINE

"Oh-oh," Mason said.

Sgt. Holcomb's voice came over the line. "Yes, Mr. Mason," he said with overdone politeness. "What can we do for you tonight?"

"For one thing," Mason said, "you can go to the Redfern Hotel, at Room 729, and look at the body of a young woman who's sprawled across one of the twin beds in the bedroom. I've been careful not to touch anything, but it's my opinion that she's quite dead."

CALLS FROM BOOTH

"Where are you now?" Holcomb asked sharply.

"You've been up in the room?"

"Naturally," Mason said. "I'm not psychic. When I tell you a body's there, it means I've seen it."

"Why didn't you use the room phone?"

"Didn't want to foul up any fingerprints," Mason said. "We came down here and used the phone in the lobby."

"Have you told anyone about this?"

"I've told you."

Holcomb said, "I'll have a radio car there in two minutes. I'll be there myself in fifteen minutes."

"We'll wait for you," Mason said. "The room's locked."

"How did you get in?"

"I had a key."

"The hell you did!"

"That's right."

"Whose room is it?"

"The room is registered in the name of Gerald Boswell."

"You know him?"

"As far as I know," Mason said, "I've never seen him in my life."

"Then how did you have the key?"

"It was given to me."

"You wait right there," Holcomb said.

Mason hung up the phone, said to Paul Drake, "Well, we may as well wait."

Drake, after a moment, eased himself into an adjoining chair. He was obviously ill at ease.

Mason took a cigarette case from his pocket, extracted a cigarette, tapped the end, held flame to the end of the cigarette and inhaled a deep drag.

"What the devil am I going to tell them?" Drake asked.

"I'll do the talking," Mason told him.

They had waited less than a minute when the door opened and a uniformed police officer hurried in. He went to the desk, talked briefly to the clerk.

The startled clerk pointed to Mason and Paul Drake. The officer came over to them.

"Are you the men who reported a body?" he asked.

"That's right," Mason told him.

"Where is it?"

"Room 729," Mason said. "Do you want a key?"

"You're Perry Mason?"

"That's right."

"Who's this?"

"Paul Drake, private detective."

"How'd you happen to discover the body?"

JUST WALKED IN

"We opened the door and walked in," Mason said, and then added, "Are you supposed to get our story now, or get up and see no one is in the room tampering with evidence?"

The officer said curtly, "Don't go away!" He grabbed the key and hurried to the elevator.

The startled clerk was conferring with the girl at the hotel switchboard. A moment later she started making frantic calls.

Mason pinched out his cigarette in an ashtray.

"They'll make us tell the whole story," Drake said.

"Everything we know," Mason said. "We're not supposed to do any guessing for the police, only give them the evidence we have."

"And the name of our client?"

"Not our client," Mason said sharply. "My client. He's nothing to you. I'm your client."

Mason walked over to the hotel desk, took an envelope from the rack, addressed it to himself at his office, put a stamp on the envelope, moved over to the mailbox.

Drake came to stand beside him.

Mason took Conway's check for a thousand dollars from his pocket, pushed it in the envelope, sealed the envelope, and dropped it in the mailbox.

"What's that for?" Drake asked.

"Someone might book me for something and search me," Mason said. Even Sgt. Holcomb would connect up a thousand-dollar retainer with our visit to the Redfern Hotel."

Seeks Funds to Raise Sunken U. S. Battleship

MANILA (AP) — Tucker Gratz, Honolulu businessman, is visiting Manila, Taipei, Okinawa, Seoul and Tokyo in an effort to raise half a million dollars to restore the battleship Arizona, sunk at Pearl Harbor.

He says the plan is to turn the rusting hull into a permanent tomb for the 1,002 men still inside.

THE BRAIN — The big electronic computer above, built by Michigan State University staff members, has a circuit checked by Dr. Lawrence W. Von Tersch, director of the MSU computer laboratory. The electronic "brain," made up of miles of wire and nearly 3,000 tubes and transistors, can perform 87,000 multiplications a minute and do in minutes complicated mathematical computations that would be a life's work for a man. It will have wide use in university research programs.

Graham Injured by Pet Sheep

Ram Butts Evangelist and Knocks Him Down Rocky Hillside

MONTREAT, N.C. (AP) — A pet ram butted Billy Graham three times yesterday, knocking the evangelist 50 feet down a rocky mountainside and sending him to bed with cuts, bruises and a possible fractured knee.

An X-ray examination of the knee was planned in Asheville today, but Graham said he would make his scheduled appearance at the Polo Grounds in New York City next Sunday "even if I have to be carried there on a stretcher." He is to leave his home here Wednesday for a series of meetings which will follow up his New York crusade of this summer.

Graham was in a pasture to feed apples to the three Suffolk sheep he recently purchased as pets for his children when the ram went into action. The first blow started Graham down the hillside. The animal followed and struck him twice more as Graham tumbled down the rocks.

Graham, who had an ax in his hand as he was examining the sheep, used the handle to hold the ram at bay while he crawled through the pasture fence to safety.

He was reported running a slight temperature last night, and the leg was badly swollen. He was treated at his home by his father-in-law, Dr. L. Nelson Bell.

Anchor Drowns Boy

LOS ANGELES (AP)—While fishing with his father, Norman Lyon, 15, threw a heavy anchor from their cabin cruiser. The rope coiled around his leg and catapulted him into 45 feet of water. The rope was not secured to the boat. The body was not recovered.

Blinded Watching Horseplay of Duke

CATTERICK, England (AP)—The husband of 27-year-old Mrs. Edna Machie said today she had been blinded in one eye by a firecracker thrown at an army going-away party in which one of the leading lights was the Duke of Kent.

The duke, a 22-year-old cousin of Queen Elizabeth II, and other young lieutenants at Catterick training camp last week pelted an outbound troop train with rotten apples and bags of flour.

Mackie said his wife was standing a few yards away watching the sport when a firecracker thrown from the train exploded in her face.

He added that an army eye specialist at the camp where Mrs. Mackie is a civilian clerk "has performed an operation but as far as we can tell she lost sight of one eye completely."

A spokesman for Kent's regiment, the Royal Scots Greys, conceded that the Duke took part in the horseplay but said, "He was not involved in this accident."

2 Trains Crash; Over 40 Killed

Turkish Express, Local Collide Near Istanbul; No Foreigners Injured

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP) — An Athens-bound express and a local train heading toward Istanbul collided in Turkish Thrace last night and railroad officials estimated 40 to 50 Turkish passengers were killed and 150 injured.

While ambulances from Istanbul screamed to the scene, rescue workers probed through the tangled metal for victims. Bodies were crushed in the cars of the local train and sprawled along the rain-damped ground beside the tracks.

A rescue train reached the scene, about 30 miles northwest of Istanbul, and brought most of the severely injured back to the Turkish metropolis.

The express was called the Simplon Balkan—not to be confused with the famed Simplon Orient Express.

No bodies of foreigners were found. Authorities said most of the dead and injured were in the local train, although some Western-bound Turkish students were killed.

Junior Editors Quiz on BIRDS

QUESTION: Why do geese fly in V formation?

ANSWER: Sure signs of fall in the United States each year are noisy bands of geese flying South in characteristic V-shaped formations.

Maybe you think geese are stupid, but really they're pretty smart. For instance, by flying in V formation they are doing just what fighter pilots do—avoiding the air disturbances created by each other's passage, while staying close together.

FOR YOU TO DO: Listen at night for the honking of geese in the sky, as autumn comes on. If you are lucky, you may even see them in the daytime, flying or on some river or pond.

(For submitting this question, Gary Brian of Redwood City, Calif., won $10. If you have one send it to Violet Moore Higgins, AP Newsfeatures, in care of this newspaper.)

Searches About for Red 'Moon,' Gets Real Scare

FORT WALTON BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Mrs. Antoinette Dettle heard over a television station recently that the Russian-made moon Sputnik would be overhead at 5:15 p.m.

She went into her yard to try to see it. Her three children, 5, 4 and 2, were playing in the yard.

At 5:13 p.m., Mrs. Dettle said, she heard a screaming sound and then the thud of an object landing in the yard, within 10 feet of the children. It tore a hole about 18 inches wide and a foot deep in the ground.

It wasn't Sputnik.

It was a 50-pound metal box of flares that dropped from an Eglin Air Force Base plane. The box was retrieved by an Eglin demolition team.

By then, Mrs. Dettle had forgotten aout Sputnik.

Japanese Socialists War on Discrimination

No official segregation exists against Japan's three million untouchables, descendants of ancient tribes, but all kinds of official discriminations are practiced.

The Socialists urge creation of a committee in the prime minister's office to provide monetary relief and other benefits.

Hard Work Stressed by Israelis

Prime Minister's Daughter Outlines Refugee Needs

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON—Dr. Renana Ben-Gurion, daughter of Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion, says everyone in Israel works 46 hours a week and vacations from one job are spent working on another.

So it was that Dr. Ben-Gurion, vacationing from her job as staff member of the Israel Institute of Biological Research, recently came to Washington on a whirlwind tour of the United States and Canada.

MAKING SPEECHES

Under the auspices of the Israel Bond Corp., she was making a series of speeches and helping to spark interest in the corporation's current drive for a housing program to take care of refugees still pouring into the country.

Israel, she says, expects to absorb more than 100,000 immigrants before the end of the year, 25,000 of them from Iron Curtain area alone.

"Camps set up in the past to take care of these refugees just didn't work," she said. "They need real houses that they can live in. Many of them are skilled professional workers.

"Israel needs their specialized training. But it's no good if they're unsettled in their daily lives."

Dr. Ben-Gurion says the program calls for some 30,000 units of 2½ rooms, which she estimates will cost about $3,000 each to build.

GROWING COUNTRY

A tall, intense, blonde-haired woman of 32, Renana Ben-Gurion, who once smuggled hand grenades to Israeli soldiers during her country's war of liberation, said:

"Israel is still a growing country with full security still in the future. All of us work hard. And if a woman can do a job, it's hers—with no questions asked."

Dr. Ben-Gurion received her graduate degree in bacteriology from the University of Zurich. She is married to David Leshem, a mechanical engineer.

She said her father once told her that if he had his life to live over again, he would like to specialize in physics.

When she was young he used to talk about history and philosophy, she added, but now when he visits her and her husband in their Tel Aviv apartment, science generally is the subject of conversation.

Fellowship Prepares for Dinner

Smorgasbord Set Wednesday Night at Church

For the fourth consecutive year members of the Women's Fellowship of the First Congregational Church are preparing their smorgasbord to be held Wednesday evening at the church.

Mrs. Oscar Lundbeck, general chairman of the smorgasbord, has announced her chairmen. In charge of the dining room is Mrs. C. Wales Goodwin. Mrs. Sidney Olson and Mrs. Robert Sanford are doing the decorations. Tickets are being handled by Mrs. Jack Rammes.

Mrs. Stanley Kipp and Mrs. Wayne deBeauclair are kitchen chairman, Mrs. Malcolm Burton will preside at the dessert table, and Mrs. Karl Ostberg is hospitality chairman.

Mrs. J. C. Clarke and Mrs. Arthur W. Selden are in charge of the hors d'oeuvres table, Mrs. Leon Cobb and Mrs. Leon Putman have the main dish tables, and Mrs. Roy Bennett and Mrs. Robert Clift and Mrs. Edgar Thomas will supervise the refill table.

ESA Sorority Chapter Holds Membership Tea

The Oneida road home of Mrs. Ralph Wilson was opened to members and guests of Alpha Alpha Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha when that group met Sunday for the annual membership tea.

Participating in the program were Miss DeGroot, who gave a brief history of the ideals and founding of the sorority, and Mrs. Ralph Allen, who presented piano selections.

Mrs. James Vincent, Mrs. Keith Clauser, Mrs. Jack Plympton and Mrs. Jerry Swanson also attended.

Chairman for the event was Mrs. Carl Rose, assisted by Mrs. Edgar Plympton, Mrs. Jack Andress, Mrs. Harry Rhodes and Stephanie Linabury.

BETTY DIGG

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Digg of Oak Park announce the engagement of their daughter, Betty, to Edward E. Sage, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sage of Kenilworth avenue. The couple plans to be married Nov. 23 in St. James Church, Ferndale.

Gardeners of Sylvan Hear Talk

Hostesses for the Thursday affair were Mrs. Thurman Holloway, Mrs. S. J. Filkins, Mrs. F. A. Moon and Mrs. Frank D. Webster.

Also participating in the program were Mrs. Sam G. Warwick, who spoke on the thrush, and Olga Zander, discussing the shasta daisy.

The club voted to plant five dozen climbing roses on the fence around the recreational area at Pontiac State Hospital.

Mrs. W. J. Sanderson, Mrs. Wayne Smith and Mrs. Ora Boice were welcomed as new members.

Slinky Evening Sheaths Are Returning to Favor

NEW YORK (INS) — The evening sheath, with all its slinky sex appeal, is coming back in style.

This doesn't mean you have to run right out and burn your billowy, bouffant dresses with the morning trash. They are still smart and are featured side by side with their slimmer sisters of the evening.

As a matter of fashion fact, the bouffant skirts are preferred by Paris and Rome designers.

INFLUENCE OF LIZ

Personal News of Interest

Mr. and Mrs. David A. Edstrom of Maceday Lake returned Friday evening from a two-week trip to Duluth, Minneapolis and Rochester, Minnesota.

Little Gallery Features Work by Three Artists

The Little Gallery in Birmingham opened its third show today. Three artists presented were Casper Henselmann, Paul Otto Matte and William Seabright. The exhibit will continue through Nov. 16.

Mr. Henselmann, born in Germany, was trained in Germany, Italy and England. He specialized in the study of medical illustration at Northwestern University.

Now in Detroit, he is completing a new human anatomy book at Wayne State University College of Medicine.

A successful West Coast designer, Mr. Matte's work includes painting, sculpture, drawing and ceramics. He combines parts of many faces and figures into semi-abstract patterns which continuously reveal themselves in new shapes and arrangements.

William Seabright painted his group of gouache with casein watercolors. Inspired by the Pennsylvania countryside and the white beaches of New Jersey, he has produced abstract impressions of sea and land.

Hands Need Air

Household gloves protect women's hands from waxes, oils, dirt and strong soaps. A woman who uses gloves, however, will find them more effective if she removes them occasionally. This allows the skin to breathe and perspiration to evaporate. Keep gloves clean for best protection.

We Often Overlook Our Talents

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Unhappy countries get most of the space in history books, while the happy ones are ignored; our bad facial features get the bulk of our attention while the good ones are overlooked.

By the same token, most of us pay so much attention to the talents we're lacking, we tend to overlook the talents we have. And that's a fatal mistake.

GLOOMY ADVICE

I thought of this the other day when I went into a florist shop in my neighborhood. I had gone there to get some of the plant food that I periodically give my large collection of house plants.

I asked the florist about one plant which is not thriving at all and his advice, which was succinct enough, was:

"You might just as well forget it. Most plants, no matter how hardy they are to begin with, have a short life in the sooty city. You might just as well face the fact."

This irritated me, because I don't give up that easily. It seemed just like letting a sick puppy die, without even fighting for its life.

PATRON SPEAKS UP

At that point, another customer in the shop spoke up. She was a plump, cheerful-looking middle-aged woman.

"Nonsense!" she said and came as near to snorting as anyone I ever heard. "I've got a plant like that which I've had for 14 years in the city."

Then she went on to tell me, in some detail, what to do for it.

As she talked, I realized there was nothing she didn't know about the care and feeding of house plants. Furthermore, she fascinated me so much that I asked if she'd come up and look at my plants.

She couldn't come at that time. She was leaving town for three weeks, but she agreed to visit me when she returned. So we made a date.

Meantime, I did what my new friend suggested and pretty soon the bedraggled old plant began what must be its second childhood. It positively bloomed.

When she came to call, she wasn't a bit surprised. Moreover, she went through my house, putting the finger on each unhealthy plant and telling me just what to do.

Naturally, I asked why she didn't give a little class in plant care. Surely there must be hundreds of women like me who would pay a modest fee for such a wealth of information. She looked flabbergasted.

Why anybody could do that! There's nothing to it. And anyway, I'm studying bookkeeping. I don't care for it much, but bookkeepers can always get jobs."

TYPICAL ATTITUDE

That point of view is all too typical. What we do well we take for granted. We put our effort into things we do badly, in the mistaken conviction that it must be more practical.

Whenever you find yourself saying, "But ANYBODY can do that," you're getting warm, as the children say, and are close to your real talent.

Mrs. Phelps Tops Pumpkin Mixture With Spice Sprinkle

By JANET ODELL

Have you been enjoying the heaps of golden pumpkins dotting the countryside these past several weeks? Some of those pumpkins are bound to find their way into pies before long. If you've ever wanted a pumpkin pie recipe without eggs, here you are.

Today's cook, Mrs. John Phelps of Walnut Lake, plans her life around music. With her husband she plays organ-piano duets. She also teaches music. Bridge is a leisure time activity.

EGGLESS PUMPKIN PIE
By Mrs. John Phelps

¾ cup sugar.
4 teaspoons flour.
1 teaspoon cinnamon.
¼ teaspoon ginger.
½ teaspoon salt.
1 cup pumpkin.
1 cup hot milk.
1 teaspoon butter.
1 unbaked pie shell.

Mix dry ingredients. Melt butter in hot milk and add with the pumpkin to dry ingredients. Fill crust and sprinkle with nutmeg and cinnamon. Bake 1 hour at 400 degrees.

No stockings will cling to your legs for good fit unless they were sudsed after the previous wearing.

Help Child Understand Pal's Treachery

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Nick was over at the house of a boy called Pinky, playing ball.

After a while they got bored. Pinky proposed showing Nick the kite his big brother kept in the basement. But as he pulled it down from its shelf, with it came a carton of empty preserve jars.

The crash of breaking glass brought his mother hurrying down the basement stairs. "What's going on here?" she demanded. "Oh, are those the jam jars I was saving? Who did that? Who broke them?"

Pinky said, "Nick did, Ma. He wanted to see Bill's kite. I told him we wasn't supposed to touch it but he wouldn't listen . . ."

Interrupting, his mother turned furiously on Nick. "Get out of here!" she said. "We don't want any rowdy kids like you around. Just go home to your own place—and see that you don't come back here again!"

Nick couldn't speak. He was so horrified by Pinky's treachery that he couldn't find the words to protest it. Indeed, when he got home he was crying with such angry helplessness that it took his mother 10 minutes to get the story from him.

THE OTHER SIDE

Then, after a pause, she said, "I know how awful you feel, Nick. We all feel awful when a friend betrays us. But the friends who do it don't enjoy themselves either.

"Just think about Pinky for a moment. Do you think it's fun for him to be so scared of his mother he has to lie about you to save himself?"

Nick stopped crying. Then he took a swallow of chocolate milk. It was clear that he'd found some comfort in the idea that he wasn't the only child in the world with troubles.

A youngster's first experience with a friend's treachery is quite painful.

But it is not helpful to share his horror of it. When we do, we betray our own grownup knowledge that hurt is everybody's experience for Nick's childish, self-centered idea that it is unique with him.

Instead of giving comfort to him, we encourage him to think, "How unfairly I am treated! How I hate the world for abusing me so."

Nick's mother understood this—and comforted him by understanding Pinky's hurts as well as her own child's.

Feet Suffer as Reporter Trails Royal Pair

Editor's Note—AP writer Cynthia Lowry has covered the tour of the British royal couple from their arrival in Canada, through Washington and back to New York. Here are some of her personal impressions.

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — No, I didn't have a wonderful time covering the tour of Queen Elizabeth and Prince Phillip.

It was a lot of hard work. The Queen and Philip cover an awful lot of ground awfully fast. After about two days, your feet hurt. When your feet hurt, it's very hard to have fun.

Yes, I'm just crazy about Elizabeth. I agree she's a really pretty young woman; even prettier than her pictures—with a marvelous complexion.

She looks like a storybook queen, dressed up in those fabulous dresses and Queen Mary's wonderful jewels and that glamorous blue sash of the Order of the Garter, as she steps into an interior - lighted, transparent - top limousine to ride off to a state function.

She looks great in the daytime, too. But more like an extremely well-dressed and dignified young matron. The designers who make her daytime costumes should remember she really isn't very old—only 31. Sometimes—but not always—her clothes seemed a little on the matronly side.

NOT CLOSE FRIENDS

Of course I saw a lot. That was my job. We're not exactly what you'd call close friends, although I went down the receiving line every time one formed and shook her hand. I didn't curtsy; had all I could do to talk, let alone dip, what with the hours we had to keep and all that waiting around.

What did she say to me? Well, that's sort of embarrassing. There were two of us women reporters who probably were with her more than anybody except members of the royal household and the security men.

There were occasions when we almost knocked the poor girl over as we ran to catch up and she made an unexpected shift of direction.

The Queen said something memorable, as far as I can find out, to just about every other person she met. But she never did anything more with this other woman reporter or with me. Just a nod and a smile.

Once, I think she started to say "How do you do?" or something like that, but just then the receiving line speeded up, so I never did pick up something to tell my grandchildren some day when they think I'm just an unimportant old lady who always walks as if her feet hurt.

GRACEFUL, GRACIOUS

As for that Elizabeth: Not only is she pretty, but she does everything just right. Graceful, feminine, and gracious. But I just don't see how she manages to do so many things, change her clothes so many times a day, sleep so little — and always look so great.

You can see for yourself the way we look — and we were just following her around.

Oh, enough about Elizabeth. The big question? I most emphatically do think that it's a really good marriage. I think that the Queen adores her husband, and Prince Philip adores his wife.

I don't know why they don't go around acting like Paris in the spring, but they work like a wonderful team. It's just one of those things you know, but you don't know how you know it.

And Philip is wonderful. He's tall, he wears clothes marvelously and is just about the romatic end in that admiral's uniform.

He has a nice quizzical look about the eyes when he's going through all these receptions and social functions, as if he were amused and tolerant of the whole thing but would rather be off on a ship somewhere.

HE'S THE JOKER

Philip is the one who makes the jokes and the wisecracks. He has a booming voice — and we could hear what wisecracks or little jokes he was making. The Queen has a very low voice, unfortunately.

I'm not the only one who loves this royal family. The whole mob of us, trailing them from Ottawa's airport until they take off from Idlewild tonight, feels the same way.

The men in our caravan, particularly, think the Queen is a living, breathing doll. And these are very tough cookies in the opinion department.

And as for Prince Philip, all of us women reporters figured that a chance to follow him around was nicer than a kind message from the home office.

No, of course, I didn't have a wonderful time covering the tour. Maybe it will seem better when I have a chance to rest up a bit. Those Windsors must have awfully good feet.

Self-Pity, Useless Feeling Cause Premature Aging

Woman With Busy Husband, Children Needs Projects and Friends

By RUTH MILLETT

A woman can feel old and unneeded when she is still young enough to make whatever she likes of her life.

All it takes is time on her hands, a family busy with their own pursuits, a little inertia and a touch of self-pity.

Mrs. B. is in that middle-age slump. Her husband is at the busy peak of his career. Her children are happily going their own way and a little impatient with their mother for fussing over them and worrying about them.

So Mrs. B. feels like the forgotten, neglected member of the family—the one who is always there waiting for someone to come home.

If she doesn't snap out of her self-imposed role of the neglected wife and mother, she is going to age rapidly and unahppily.

But if she makes up her mind that she has had enough of sitting and waiting, enough of wishing that her husband weren't so busy and that her children had more time for her, she can begin a new and different kind of life for herself.

PLENTY TO DO

She can make more plans with friends instead of wishing the family could do more things together.

She can look around for a community need she can help fill and she can get busy with a volunteer job.

She can decide that now is the time to learn some skill she always wished she had or study some subject that has always interested her.

She can renew old friendships and make new ones, taking the initiative, instead of waiting to be asked to do this or that.

And as she fills her days with these things, she will be just as busy and just as happy and as much in demand as the other members of the family.

FACE THE FACT

Sometimes the woman who has been the most devoted wife and mother is the one who finds it the most difficult to make a life of her own when she finds herself with time on her hands.

But any woman can make herself happy once she faces the fact that nobody else is going to do it for her.

Tiredness Causes Sagging Posture

A sagging body, or tendency to poor posture, may result from an overly tired feeling. It takes too much effort to hold yourself up.

Newcomers Want to Add to Friends

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: My husband and I moved to this community about six months ago and we are planning to hold open house some time in the near future. We will invite many of our old friends as well as some of our new neighbors with whom we have become friendly.

"There are other people in town with whom we have a nodding acquaintance through mutual friends and whom we feel we would like to know better. Would it be proper to invite them to the open house?

"We do not want to seem pushing but we would like to broaden our circle of friends in our new home town and there are several families with whom we feel we could be congenial if we knew them better. Will you please let me hear from you?"

Answer: To be strictly correct you should not invite any of the community until they have called on you and you have returned their call or been invited to their houses.

You will have to decide for yourself, perhaps with the advice of the neighbors who are already your friends, who would probably like to be invited and who might think you "pushing" if you invite them.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I am going to have my wedding reception at a hotel. We will not have a private room, as the number of guests we are having does not warrant one. Instead, there will be one large table set up in a corner of the dining room.

"I would like to know, since the reception will be in a public dining room, if I should remove my wedding veil, or would it be proper to leave it on?"

Answer: You keep your veil on as long as you wear your wedding dress, taking it off only when you change into your going-away dress.

"Dear Mrs. Post: We have no servants and I do all my own work. When we have guests in for dinner, my husband insists upon getting up and helping me take the plates off the table after each course.

"I appreciate his wanting to help but I think it is wrong for both of us to leave the table and that it is the duty of the host to remain with the guests. We have agreed to leave the decision up to you."

Answer: I agree with you that your husband should remain at the table with the guests.

Jobs Increase as Age Discrimination Decreases

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Since women today are accustomed to being a part of the business world, many of them enjoy a part-time job. Also, since women are outliving men by some years, many of them need to support themselves or add to a small income. Whether from necessity or choice, there are thousands of women who work on a temporary basis.

Many of them are housewives or widows, who need to pad the family budget or wish to have relief from the monotony of household routine for a couple of days a week. They may be single girls who like variety in their jobs. Some are older women who enjoy the contact with the outside world and wish to avoid boredom and loneliness.

This is a great day for the part-time worker since there is a shortage of office workers. The only hitch has been age discrimination. This is gradually breaking down. The largest part-time service agency in existence employs women of all ages.

I want to bring you this news because hundreds of you have written me desperate letters concerning your inability to get work. Too often splendid qualifications and long experience have counted for nothing because the person happens to be middle aged or older.

Today, by way of encouragement, I want to print some information taken from the card files of active employes in one of the offices of this firm. These are comments of the interviewers who screened the applicants.

Mrs.—age 50. Lovely lady. Working out fine.

Mrs.—age 69. Older but bright. (Has had 11 jobs through us in past seven months.)

Mrs.—age 59. Doesn't look it. Has always worked.

So you see the day of opportunity for the older woman is opening up!

700,000 WORKERS NEEDED IN OFFICES

Women are probably more conscious of the shortage of help in the home than they are of the shortage of office help. Yet in the United States in 1957 there was a minus of 700,000 in this latter category.

As a result of this need, a comparatively new concept in business has sprung up. I am speaking of the temporary help service. The largest firm of this sort in existence started 10 years ago with one office. Today it has more than 100 in the United States and branches in Europe, Canada, South Africa and the Caribbean, and it is constantly expanding.

As my readers know, I long have crusaded against the ridiculous age prejudices in the classified advertisements. There are many well-qualified women who need to work or want to work who are turned down because of their age. This seems especially stupid when these same women are so badly needed in the business world.

However, the firm of which I speak has no age prejudice at all, as you can see from the above information straight from the card files of one of its offices.

It employs anyone over 18 who is competent. Age has nothing to do with it. I think it will be interesting to many of you to know something about the activities of this firm and the opportunities for part time work.

Here are some of the things this organization does: It supplies business service (typists, stenographers, secretaries and many types of workers) for manufacturers, wholesalers, retailers, professional and service organizations.

Its services are used by advertising agencies with deadlines to meet, banks with stock transfer work to be done and groups with conventions to be staffed and displays to be set up.

STAFFS KEPT SMALL

Its regular customers keep their usual staff as small as possible and call on this company in times of overload, rush and vacations. It demonstrates appliances and food products, makes surveys and handles sampling regionally and nationally.

This is a great day for the part-time worker since there is a shortage of office workers. Age discrimination is breaking down. The largest part-time service agency in existence employs women of all ages.

It has moved large stores, conducted telephone surveys to discover women's reaction to cigar smoke, helped rebuild hurricane-devastated towns, rushed aid to insurance companies which were swamped after such catastrophes, put laces in new shoes, helped Liberace play Santa Claus by addressing and mailing 70,000 Christmas cards for him, and counted snake skins for a leather company.

When Detroit had its recent newspaper strike, and could not advertise the new car models as usual, this company supplied 12 men who acted as town criers.

They walked the streets of that city crying the fact that the new model of one car manufacturer was on the market.

This gives you some idea of the variety of work available. You can work one day or several, one week or one month or several. They place skilled workers or those without any special skill or training.

You can readily see how this would be perfect for the homemaker who cannot be away from home too much of the time or the older woman who does not want a permanent job but wishes to increase her income.

Act Now --- Don't Neglect Your Natural Attributes

The woman who makes the most of the beauty nature has given her is the rare one.

Few women know how to realize their potential for good looks. They don't like their brows so they pluck them all out and draw on a hard line rather than learn to sketch in softly a new and becoming brow.

They use the same unbecoming shade of lipstick for years and apply it slapdash fashion. They slouch, develop bulges and walk pigeon-toed on shoes with heels that are still high.

They talk about dieting and never quite get around to it. Each year, the beauty that might be theirs becomes more deeply buried, less accessible, until finally it's gone completely.

There's only one answer to all of this: Action.

Keep an open mind, be sharply self-critical, take care of gray streaks, extra poundage or a new bulge as it develops. And always be willing to learn how to improve your looks.

If your feet are really not pretty, the best thing to do is to hide them. That is, stay away from open-toed shoes and sandals.

This is your year, really, for closed shoes with pointed toes are high fashion and everyone, not just you, will be wearing them. For you can't change the shape of your feet, unfortunately, or the length and shape of your toes.

MINIMUM MAKEUP

Tips to teenagers: The prettiest girl is the one who uses a minimum of makeup on a fresh, clear skin.

Leave the heavy makeup to movie stars. It belongs on a movie set but not on your face when you're in your teens. You honestly don't need it.

And don't think that the actress who has to do a complete makeup job a half dozen times a day doesn't envy you and your flick of powder, touch of lipstick and dash of cologne.

Make the most of your teen years while you're in them.

HEARING CONSERVATION TRAILER — Dr. John D. Monroe, (right) director of the Oakland County Health Department inspects the emergency door of a new $6,000 mobile hearing testing trailer with Charles Sessler, regional audiologist for the State Health Department. The door is custom made and soundproof to keep out noise while children are being tested. Sessler will travel to Pontiac and Oakland County schools this year to test children's hearing.

By SYLVIA de STEIGER

This is the common goal which the state and Oakland County health departments, the schools and local physicians try to attain for every child who may have a hearing loss or defect.

Last year, in Pontiac public schools alone 6,316 students were given hearing tests throughout the 28 elementary and junior high schools. Of these, it was shown that at least 100 had some hearing loss or defect which needed correction.

This year, the state Department of Public Health has a new $6,000 mobile hearing testing unit—a two-toned blue metal trailer 18 feet long. With its modern equipment, this goal is hoped to be reached.

WILL COME TO OAKLAND COUNTY

Charles Sessler, regional audiologist, reports he will be traveling with it to Pontiac and Oakland County schools this year as well as Macomb and Sanilac Counties and Saginaw.

The custom-built trailer is similar in construction to one built previously, but it is much larger and better equipped, according to Sessler. It is divided into two rooms: the control room and the test room.

The electronic equipment, including the microphone and phonograph, are located in the control room where students may also wait to be tested.

The air-conditioned test room is completely soundproof so that the hearing test will be accurate. It is of floating construction—a room within a room.

The inner room rests on a pad and the walls are separate and insulated to aid in the soundproofability. The walls are fabric over glass wool, and a deep-pile carpet atop a rubber pad covers the floor to further retain the sound.

A custom made refrigerator-type door eight inches deep separates the two rooms. The windows are triple-paned to further ban outside noises.

AUDIOMETER DOES THE TESTING

The trailer, which contains an audiometer, is used by Sessler in the diagnostic testing phase of the program. This is the test given individually to children who have already been tested in the schools at least two or three times, and having failed, due to a significant hearing loss, have been referred to an otological clinic for examination by ear specialists.

The purpose of the examination is to determine what treatment is needed to restore or conserve the child's hearing.

This year, hearing tests are being given to students in kindergarten, second, fifth and seventh grades of the Pontiac schools.

Mrs. Eula Varney, Pontiac schools hearing technician and William Harsen, Oakland County health department hearing and vision consultant, are screening the children throughout city and county schools.

PARENTS TOLD OF RESULTS

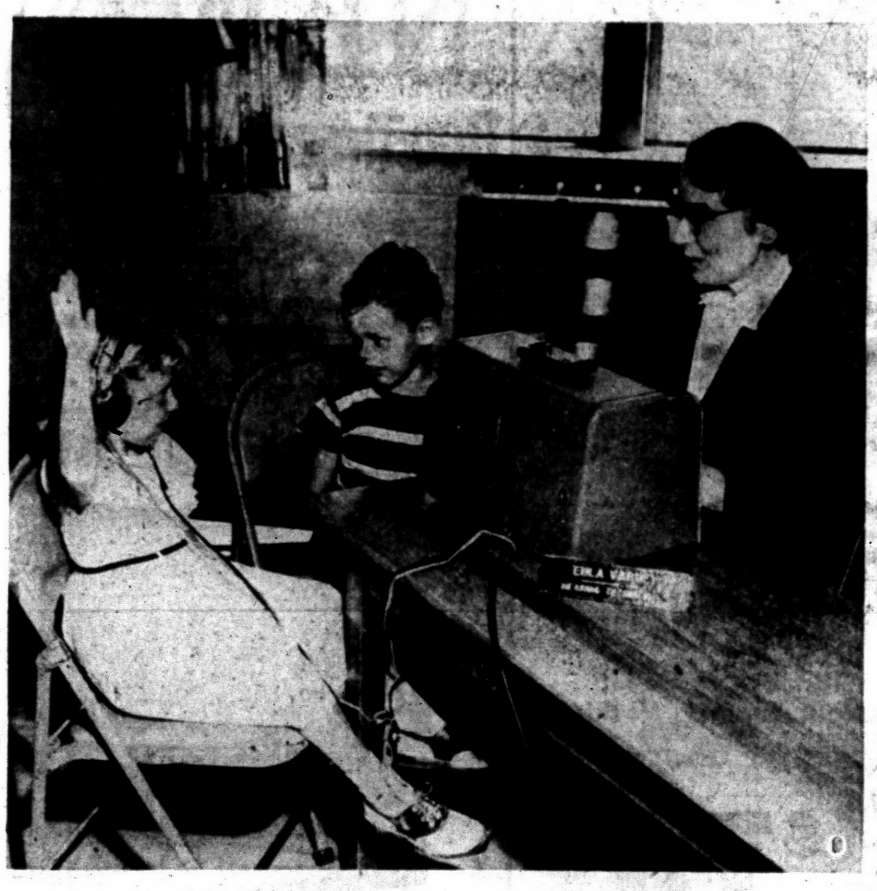

Following the clinical examination, parents are consulted regarding the doctor's recommendations of the child's hearing difficulty. The parents then are advised to contact their own physician for treatment to combat the hearing loss. During this treatment, public health nurses follow up the cases and aid the child and parents in adjusting to the situation.

Sessler reports a recent study of 1,295 children by the state department concluding that three per cent of all children have a significant hearing defect. Four of five of these children or their parents did not realize the child had a defect.

The survey has also shown that 75 per cent of the children discovered to have a hearing deficiency and who were recommended to receive medical care improved or returned their hearing to normal.

"I CAN HEAR THAT" — Pamela Firgurski, of 824 Emerson Ave., raises her hand to let Mrs. Eula Varney, hearing technician for the Pontiac Public schools, (right) know she can hear the voice in the earphones. Del Highfield, of 770 Stirling Ave., (center) waits anxiously so he too can put on the earphones and listen. The children, both five years old and kindergartners at Emerson elementary school, are two of many students who are taking hearing tests this year in Pontiac.

Expect 200 Donors Tomorrow

Waterford Blood Bank to Be Founded

By REBA HEINTZELMAN
Of Our Waterford Bureau

Giving blood to the American Red Cross when they are old enough will hold no fears for Douglas Johnson, 6, and his sister, Luanne, 5, of Waterford Township.

For three consecutive years they have accompanied their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer O. Johnson, of 4064 Baybrook Dr., to the blood bank and watched their mom and pop donate more than four gallons of the life-saving fluid.

Many persons have donated more than this, but Red Cross officials say it is unusual that a husband and wife have given this much blood in such a short time. Johnson's record is 25 pints, and his wife, Anna Marie, has registered 13 times.

FIRST WATERFORD BANK

For the first time Waterford Township residents will have the establishment of their own Blood Bank, when the Bloodmobile arrives here Tuesday, sponsored by the Waterford Business and Professional Woman's Club.

Scheduled to be in operation from 2 to 8 p.m., at the Community Activities Center on Williams Lake Rd., officials are hoping to register more than 200 donors, according to Mrs. Homer Tinney, recruitment chairman.

Mrs. Tinney pointed out that in the past many Waterford Township people have donated blood to other blood banks, and now that a new bank is being set up locally it is hoped that those people will assist in the community bank.

CAN TRANSFER CREDIT

"If residents belong to another bank and wish credit given to both their bank and the new Waterford Township Bank will receive credit," she added.

The painless project only takes about an hour. An individual is registered, then temperature, pulse, blood pressure and medical history is tabulated.

A donor may "be tapped" for one pint of blood every eight weeks, but not more than five times a year.

Red Cross officials state that more than 800 pints a month are released in Oakland County.

"The success of the establishment of this new Blood Bank in Waterford Township on Tuesday, depends entirely on residents willing to cooperate with the Red Cross," Mrs. Tinney asserted.

Healthy donors between the ages of 18 and 60 have been urged to make an appointment by calling FE 4-2200 or FE 2-2937.

Sentence Eleven Against Nasser

Group Caught in April for Plotting President's Death Gets Prison

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—Former Foreign Minister Mohamed Salah el Din and 10 others today were under sentences ranging from five years to life imprisonment for allegedly plotting President Nasser's assassination.

Their convictions by a military court yesterday and the sentences cannot be appealed. Nasser approved the verdicts.

The prosecution charged that the group, arrested in April and indicted in July, planned to kill Nasser and all Cabinet members in order to restore Gen. Mohamed Naguib to the presidency.

They also planned to bring the Communists into the government, army prosecutor Brig. Ibrahim Helmy charged.

Salah el Din was sentenced to 15 years in prison and former Defense Minister Abdel Fattah Hassen to 12 years.

Life sentences were announced for Brig. Ahmed Atef Nassar, accused of being the ringleader, army officers Hassan Syam and Amin Fawzi and civilian Abdel Hamid Islambiuli.

Retired Maj. Ghanem el Saidy got 10 years, Capt. Ahmed Kawkab and civilians Mohammed Sawady and Ahmed Sakka 7 years and retired Col. Hassan Abdel Ghaffar 5 years.

Salah el Din and Hassan were Cabinet ministers in the governments of the old Wafdist party before King Farouk was overthrown. The prosecution charged that Salah el Din was slated to be prime minister and Hassan minister of the interior if Naguib were restored.

Rossellini Leaves India to Spend 10 Days With . . .

BOMBAY, India (AP) — Italian film director Roberto Rossellini headed by plane today for a 10-day stay in Europe. It was not known whether he would see either Ingrid Berman or the Indian woman whose name has been lined with his.

Rossellini was on his way to Rome to edit documentary films he has made in India. Informed sources in Bombay said he would return for three more months of shooting.

Miss Bergman, Rossellini's wife is playing on the Paris stage. Reports from the French capital indicated he would have to join her there if he was to see her.

Mrs. Sonali Das Gupta, who reportedly left her husband for Rossellini, arrived in Paris Oct. 6 and hasn't been heard of since. Rumors were current that she hoped to persuade Miss Bergman to let her have Rossellini, but the actress angrily said she hadn't seen Sonali and didn't plan to.

Mother, 7 Children Killed in Ohio Fire

BELPRE, Ohio (AP) — A fire blamed on defective wiring yesterday killed a mother and seven of her children and left three other members of the family homeless.

The fire swept the tiny second-story apartment of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Snider. The father and two sons were not in the building.

Killed were Snider's wife Vivian, 36; four daughters, Linda, 14; Sheila, 11; Mona, 7; and Reta Jo, 5 months and three sons, Mickey, 9; David, 3; and Dany, 2. Firemen said they were suffocated.

The father and his oldest child Ronnie, 16, were visiting Mrs. Snider's mother in Vienna, W. Va., not far from this small Washington County community. Another son, Darrell, 13, was in Camden-Clark Hospital in Parkersburg, W. Va., across the Ohio River.

The grief-stricken father turned his concern almost immediately to his two remaining sons.

From his mother-in-law's home, he told a reporter by telephone last night: "I don't know where I'll be going or where I'll be staying. I've got to find a place where I can keep my boys."

Firemen said Mrs. Snider and four children were in a bedroom up the stairs leading to the only sitting room and the other three children in another bedroom.

Kerns told firemen he rushed up the stairs leading to the only exit from the apartment and managed to kick in a wood panel of the door, but smoke and intense heat drove him back.

Snider and Ronnie returned from their visit about 3 a.m. to find the fire extinguished. In snider's words: "The sheriff kept me away . . . He wouldn't let me get in to see my wife . . . He put me in the car and drove me to the hospital . . . That's where I saw her."

Snider, a glass worker in Parkersburg, said he'll stay with his mother-in-law for the time being.

Funeral will be held here tomorrow.

'Trouble Always Finds Me'

Flynn Arrested as Drunk

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actor Errol Flynn says, "If there's trouble any place it always finds me."

His latest encounter with trouble came Saturday night when he was hauled out of a bouncing movieland party and booked as a drunk.

It was all in fun and he wasn't drunk, Flynn contends. And he says he's going to sue for false arrest.

The scene was the annual Ballyhoo Ball of the Publicists' Assn. Hundreds of guests were on hand, including scantily costumed starlets. Among the main eye-catchers were Greta Thyssen, escorting a cheetah on a leash; Joan Bradshaw with a lion; and Vikki (Lady Godiva) Dougan on an artificial horse.

The place was jumping when Flynn, 48, his friend Cedric Kehoe and Irish actress Maura FitzGibbon arrived.

This is the way the principals described the subsequent happenings:

Flynn—"I didn't even get to the bar. My friend Kehoe brought me a drink or two and that's all. Here I am at a party at which there were three or four bars serving drinks when an officer, who was drinking himself, introduced himself to me and asks me to meet his wife. And I wind up in jail, fingerprinted for the first time in my life."

Kehoe—"I left Errol talking to Maura while I went over to the bar to fetch some drinks. As I returned a man was introducing his wife to Errol and asking for an autograph. After Errol gave the autograph he asked the man what he did, and the man answered, 'I'm a police officer.'

"Errol then replied, 'If you're a police officer, let me see your badge.' As the officer showed the badge, Errol playfully grabbed it and gave it to Miss FitzGibbon. Errol was just kidding—and the officer took it seriously and wrestled us all into a police car."

Miss FitzGibbon — "The officer gave Errol the badge and he gave it to me. I wrapped the badge in my glove and I guess I must have lost it."

Policeman William Friedman — "Flynn saw my gun sticking out of its holster and said, 'So you're a copper, huh?' and got belligerent and used profanity. I tried to warn him to take it easy but he kept it up. So I took him to jail." Friedman said he works in an off-duty capacity Saturday nights at the Riviera Country Club, where the party was held.

Mrs. Simone Friedman, 34, who was working as a hat check girl —"He (Flynn) was very sweet and friendly and kissed me on the cheek. Some of the people with him were acting nasty but I thought Mr. Flynn was charming."

Fire Marshal Tells How to Burn Leaves

Under the new fire prevention coad adopted early this year, Metz said, leaves may be burned on private property only if the burning is done in a safe way and under supervision.

Metz stated that the new code suppliments a 1947 ordinace which prohibts the burning of leaves or rubbish of any kind on improved streets or alleys.

By improved, Metz added, the law means blacktopped or paved.

3 Persons Injured in Head-On Collision

Three persons were injured at 12:25 a.m. today in a head-on, two-car collision at Oakland and Monticello Sts.

Jimmie L. Hatley, 16, of Keego Harbor, told police he was traveling south on Oakland when a car going north in his lane forced him over the center line to collide with the auto of Ralph E. Anderson, 25, of 6650 Manson, Waterford Township.

Anderson was admitted to Pontiac General Mospital with multiple cuts and bruises. His condition is satisfactory. Hatley and a passenger, Carol A. England, 16, of 1200 Ward Rd., Bloomfield Township, were treated for cuts and released.

Open Trucks Move $265 Million Bonds

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP) — An estimated 265 million dollars in securities—half of them negotiable—were transported two miles in open trucks from the old State Mutual Assurance Co. of America Building on Main Street to new quarters on Lincoln Street.

They were packed in strong boxes for the nine trips and accompanied by a motorcycle patrolman, four police officers with riot guns in a squad car, the company's security car and a fire emergency truck.

White Lake Township Makes Dry Run of Disaster

DISASTER AT WHITE LAKE — Above White Lake Civil Defense workers combat fire and havoc and care for the wounded after two "tornadoes" struck the area Sunday in mock disaster. The simulated event was called by CD Director Andrew Plano so that workers might be able to work efficiently should real disaster ever hit the area. In center picture, auxiliary firemen (from left) Gerald Howard and Towell Green of Milford rescue victim Donna Sloan of Pontiac. In lower photo, auxiliary fireman William Webber of Pontiac sprays water on flaming debris. Top photo shows casualty Iva Law, Pontiac, being given blood and treated by, left to right, Pat Hancock and Sarah Sloan, both of Pontiac. Two first aid stations were established for the occasion near the scenes of the two tornadoes, one at White Lake Presbyterian Church and the other at Dublin Community Center.

Area Hit by 2 Staged Twisters

Simulated Peril Helps Trained Persons Gain More Experience

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP —In preparation for a real emergency, 200 White Lake Township residents formed a rescue team which cared for 22 casualties yesterday when two simulated tornadoes "hit" the area.

Emergency headquarters at the township hall in the center of the area, dispatched policemen, firemen medical and welfare workers to the scene by way of radio.

Transportation and supplies were also rushed to the stricken area. Every effort was made to duplicate the effects of a tornado.

The simulated emergency permitted citizens already trained in first aid work to gain further experience.

Among observers were Lewis Garrendt, Oakland County Civilian Defense director; Ransford Baromley, assistant county CD director; and Virginia Warren of the county welfare service.

Richard Taschke, a member of the White Lake Township board said he was highly pleased with the fast and efficient work of the rescue team.

12 Chinese Seize Red Patrol Boat, Escape to Ryukyu

NAHA, Okinawa (INS) — Twelve Chinese who seized a Communist patrol boat and fled from Red China Oct. 9th are being held in protection today on a small island 300 miles southwest of Okinawa.

The 12 refugees arrived Saturday at Yonaguni, a Ryukyuan island, waving white flags aboard the 70-ton patrol boat they swiped from the Communists at Shanghai.

The Chinese said one refugee was killed and three injured aboard the vessel when Communist shore patrols opened fire as they raced towards the open sea from Shanghai at midnight on Oct. 9th.

The patrol boat missed Formosa —its original destination—and was at sea for ten days. The refugees said they were out of fuel and adrift in rough seas for most of their voyage.

Land to Cost $5 Billion

WASHINGTON — An estimated 730,000 parcels of land will have to be acquired for right of way for the 41,000 miles of the new interstate highway system authorized by Congress. This includes right of way for about 75 per cent of the system being built on new locations and for much of the 25 per cent which will be improved on the present sites. The right-of-way purchases are expected to cost about five billion dollars.

Hurt in Car Accident

A Waterford Township man is in poor condition at Pontiac General Hospital today after being injured by a car on U.S. 10 just south of M15 in Independence Township Saturday night, according to Oakland County Sheriff's Deputies.

Claude Baker, 33, of 1066 Lynsue Lane, suffered forehead cuts, a fractured ankle, and dislocated shoulder as a result of the accident, said deputies.

Sitnesses said he ran into the side of a car driven by Donald D. Ish, 23, of 3970 Beedin St., Drayton Plains. Baker was returning to his car from a motel where he had stopped to make a phone call, he told deputies.

Bertie Freeman, Gerald Hamilton Wed

GINGELLVILLE — The Baptist Church here was the scene of the wedding of Bertie Marie Freeman and Gerald Hamilton Saturday afternoon. The rite was solemnized by the Rev. William E. Miles before 250 guests. Baskets of white mums decorated the altar.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Freeman of 4782 Georgia Dr., and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hamilton of 6205 Hillsborough, Clarkston.

The bride wore a floor-length satin gown. The Chantilly lace top featured a sweetheart neckline and long tapered sleeves. The skirt was of three-tier layers of net.

A shoulder-length veil was fastened to a Juliet cap trimmed with lilies of the valley, and she carried a crescent arrangement of white carnations, centered with a corsage.

Michael Katchka, of Michigan State University, served as best man. Groomsman was Royce Davis, of Pontiac. Ushers included Clayton Carter and John Freeman, cousins of the bride, and junior ushers were James Freeman, the bride's brother, and Kenneth Freeman, her cousin.

A reception was held in the church parlors following the service.

After a honeymoon in northern Michigan the couple will reside at 113 Lafayette St., Pontiac.

Studies Inconclusive in Rising Traffic Toll

CHICAGO (INS) — A year long study by the National Safety Council has failed to relate conclusively the rising traffic toll and higher horsepower in automobiles.

The results of the study were announced last night by the committee on speed chairman Prof. Donald S. Berry of Northwestern University.

The report said: "While high horsepower does increase the top speed potential of motor vehicles, it is absorbed in part by softer tires and in new power accessories."

It also stated that higher horsepower in autos "provides additional acceleration potential, which can reduce distance required for passing other vehicles, thereby contributing to accident prevention."

The committee report was given on the eve of the National Safety Congress which opens in Chicago today.

Tonight an "Old Timers Supper" sponsored by the Almont O.E.S. will be held at 7 at the Masonic Hall in Almont.

Almont Chapter OES 338 will hold installation of officers Saturday, Oct. 26, at 8 p.m. The public has been invited.

Lions Club Plans Halloween Dance at Lake Orion

LAKE ORION — The Lake Orion Lion's Club here is sponsoring a dance in Al Hanoute's showrooms Wednesday, Oct. 30, from 9:30-1 a.m.

In showroom one, will be square dancing to callers Dub Perry from Flint, with Scott Colburn from Detroit featured.

In showroom two a five-piece orchestra from Detroit will play modern music. Tickets are available from Lion's Club members, one ticket admitting a dancer to both areas.

Masquerade costumes are suggested but are not a necessity, according to Donald Burley, general chairman.

Proceeds will be used for the annual Christmas Fund which provides baskets, toys and clothing for needy persons.

Schuman Declines Bid to Form Government

PARIS (AP)—President Rene Coty today asked former Premier Robert Schuman, a Christian Democrat, to form a new government. Schuman declined.

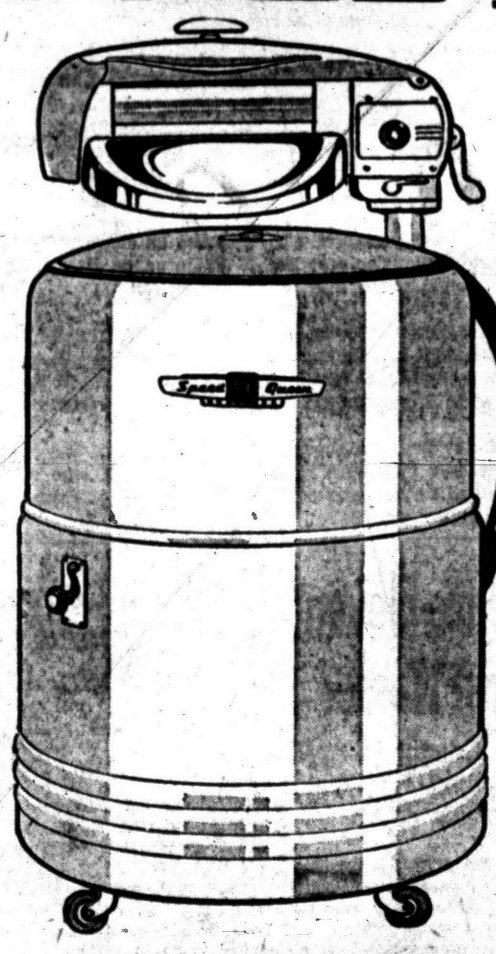

The current political crisis began Sept. 30 when the government of Maurice Bourges - Maunoury collapsed in a National Assembly vote on his bill for partial home rule in rebellious Algeria.

MR. AND MRS. STUART J. HUTCHINS

250 See Candlelight Rite

Susan Tobin Is Bride

Susan Adelle Tobin became the bride of Stuart James Hutchins in a candlelight wedding performed Saturday in First Methodist Church, Farmington. The Rev. Russel W. Sursaw officiated at the double ring rite in the presence of 250 guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Phillip G. Tobin of Novi are the parents of the bride, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stuart P. Hutchins of Rochester.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father. For her wedding she chose a floor-length gown of taffeta, fashioned with motifs of net insertion on the Sabrina neckline. Four net inserts accented the bouffant skirt with a chapel-length train.

Acting as maid of honor was Nancy Hutchins, sister of the bridegroom.

Other attendants were Janet Stephans of Walled Lake; Sally Schrader of New York, former MSU roommate of the bride; Mrs. Joel Bailey of Orchard Lake, and Maxine Perkins of Swartz Creek, also a former roommate. Flower girl was Peggy Hutchins.

Edward Braid of Lake Orion was best man. Guests were seated by Ronald Mecum of Romeo, Erv Dykstra of Holland, both former MSU roommates of the bridegroom; William Dean of Rochester, and Arthur McCracken, cousin of the bridegroom from Mount Pleasant. William Hutchins served as junior usher.

Before leaving for northern Michigan, Wisconsin and Illinois, the new Mrs. Hutchins changed into a blue sheath with jacket, black accessories and white rose corsage. The couple will reside on John R road, Rochester.

Birmingham Man Gets Promotion in Ford Co.

L. E. Jolls has been appointed manager of the quality control department, Tractor and Implement Division, Ford Motor Company in Troy, according to R. E. Hunt, general manufacturing manager.

He succeeds W. R. Phillips, who has been named production manager of the Des Moines Implement Plant of Ford Motor Company, Des Moine, Iowa. Jolls has been with Ford since 1953 as a supervisor in the Division's quality control department.

Flare Sale Starts Tomorrow

Auburn Heights Youth to Benefit

Lions Club 4-Day Event to Be Followed Oct. 31 by Special Festivity

AUBURN HEIGHTS—The Lions Club here, in its tenth annual Flare Sale, will go forth in the community Tuesday night, bearing flares. Proceeds from the sale will go toward charitable activities of the group and for support of the Pontiac and Avon Township Boys Club.

Volunteers will go from door to door in their four-day effort to sell the flares.

Thursday, Oct. 31 has been designated as special Flare Night. On this night, flares will be lighted by citizens of the area at the sound of the fire siren, which will be approximately at 7 p.m.

The flares are to be placed in front of homes and business places where they will burn with intense light for 15 minutes, outlining the entire community.

Also from the proceeds of the sale will come an evening of fun for area youngsters on Halloween.

Children will parade in costume, with bands and floats also featured. The parade will form at Cherryland and Auburn roads at 7:45 p.m., proceeding to the playground of Auburn Heights School on Squirrel Road. There, costume judging and the awarding of prizes will take place. Free refreshments will be served to all present.

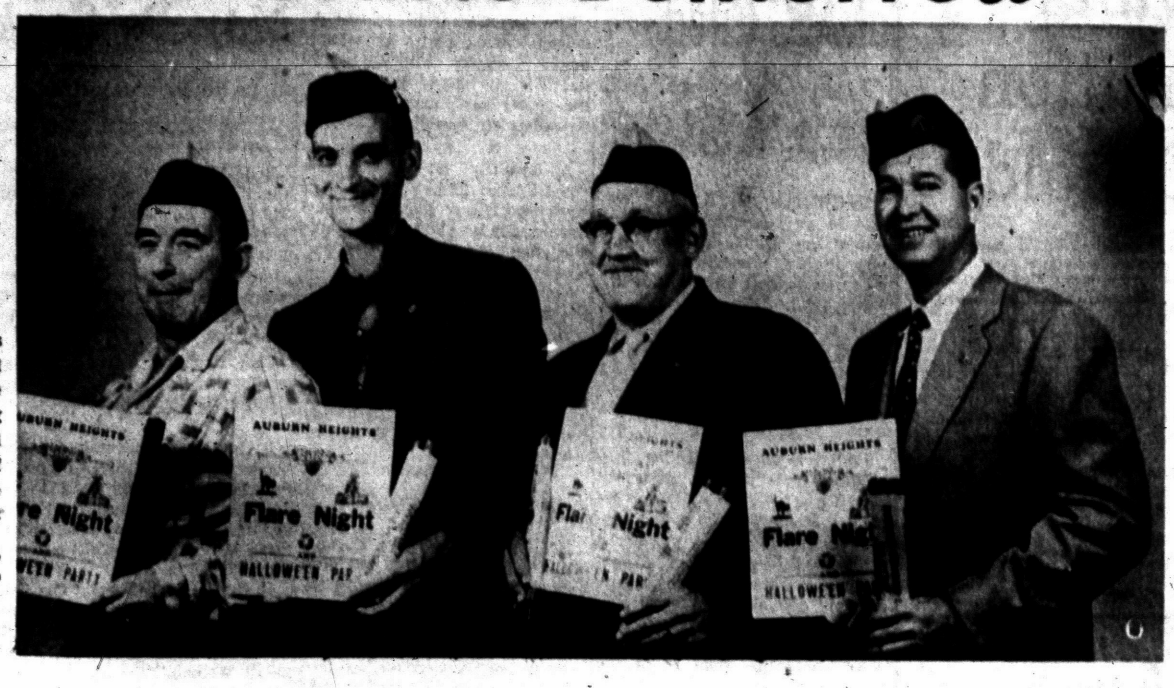

A community dance will be held afterward at the American Legion Hall. Lions officials say everyone is invited, and that there will be no admission charge.

FLARE BEARERS — Bearing flares and display cards such as those now posted in area store windows, these Auburn Heights Lions are ready for the Tuesday night flare sale. Proceeds from the four-day sale will go toward charitable endeavors and a big Halloween party for area youngsters. A Community Dance will be held at the American Legion Hall afterwards. Pictured, left to right, are Marvin Bailey, Arthur Keller, Henry Wildenheim and Earl Bowden.

At Lake Orion High School

2,000 Attend Homecoming

LAKE ORION — The Friday Homecoming event of Lake Orion Community High School drew a crowd of 2,000 persons—the largest attendance for any game in six years.

During halftime, Gail Cook, junior elected by the student body for the honor of queen, was crowned by Ruth Watkins, last year's queen.

Also awarded was a trophy to the best club float, won by the Art Club. A huge swing of pompons in fall colors carried the theme, "Get into the Swing — Beat Clawson."

The winning class float, entered by juniors, was a big clock, an enormous bar of soap, and a boy in Clawson uniform being washed with big brushes. Bubbles were being blown by about 10 riders, with the theme, "Cleaning Clawson's Clock."

Board to Discuss Water Rates Tonight

According to Waterford Township officials, the only business of importance at tonight's board meeting will be the discussion and probable action on increased water rates for Huron Gardens subdivision No. 1.

Preliminary plans for six volunteer police reserve officers will be presented by Supervisor Elmer Johnson. The six men have been selected and board approval is necessary before final action is taken.

Representatives of the Jayno Adams subdivision will present a plat for their second subdivision development for the township board's approval.

Rawlings Tour North

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP—After traveling to northern Michigan, newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. Everett Henry Rawlings will make their home at 1264 Orchid St.

The bride, who was Blanche Adleen Watts, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Doyce Watts of Buick street. The bridegroom's parents are Arnold Rawlings of St. Clair street, Pontiac, and Mrs. Helen Lincoln of Brockton, Mass.

Wearing a gown of French Chantilly lace, nylon net and taffeta created by her mother, the bride repeated her vows in a setting of chrysanthemums and potted palms in a candlelight ceremony at Covert Methodist Church. One hundred guests were present.

A church reception was held immediately after the rite.

Star Rises Late

NORFOLK, Va. (UP) — Joseph DeCosi got his medal, the Army's Bronze Star, but nobody seems to know why it reached him 13 years after the award was made. He also isn't quite sure just what combat incident brought him the medal. He was fighting in Italy when the award was made on May 13, 1944.

Had Illegal Hobby

JUAREZ, Mexico (UP) — Police here have advised Raul Moreno to get another hobby. He was arrested after being observed letting the air out of an automobile tire. He explained he liked to stand by and watch the reaction of the car owners.

Harvest Dance Set by Parents

Auburn Heights Group Slates Money-Raising Affair for Oct. 26

AUBURN HEIGHTS — The Parents Club of the Auburn Heights Boys Club Inc., is planning a Harvest Dance, to be held Saturday, Oct. 26, in Avondale Junior High School gymnasium.

Profits from the event will be turned over to the Boys Club Building Fund. Music is to be furnished by Harvey Perry's orchestra.

Modern and mixed dancing to start at 8 p.m., will be the order of the evening and prizes will be awarded for the funniest and most original costumes worn. Refreshments will be available.

Tickets are now on sale and may be obtained from the Parents, Boys Club members, or at the door.

Committees working on dance arrangements are: decorations, Mrs. Marjorie Lee, Mrs. Christine Welch, and Mrs. Delores Bartkowiak; tickets, Mrs. Helen Hart, Betty Cresswell, and Clifford Welch and refreshments, Sam Young, Kenneth Willhite, and Don Burt. Boys' Club members will take charge of clean-up.

At their last meeting, the Parents elected Cliff Welch as vice president because former vice president, Dale Reagan, has moved away from the community.

No sense putting it off any longer. You'd better get started right now on this new puzzle which will bring the winner $700. The longer you wait, the more likely someone else is to beat you to the money. See what you can do with the clues below.

The new puzzle contains a series of squares which are alphabetically lettered and a corresponding list of sentences with two clue words. Each of the words is numbered. The object is to select the word which you think best fits the clue sentence. You then place the number of that word in the square which has the same letter as the clue sentence.

In other words, you will read the clue labeled A and decide which of the two words makes the most sense in the puzzle square marked A.

Do the same with all other squares. Read all the clues carefully and be sure the right numbers are in the right squares.

If any week or weeks should pass without any winners, the prize will be added weekly until a winning solution is submitted.

6. Winners will be awarded an extra cash bonus of $25 each if they are Pontiac Press subscribers of record on the day winners are announced. Only one such bonus can be awarded to each prize-winner no matter how many weekly prizes may accumulate.

7. Each week's puzzle will be published Monday, Wednesday and Friday until the contest's end. Either or all will be considered as official entry blanks.

8. Winners and correct solutions will be announced each Friday of the week following individual contests. Official keeper of answers will be Frederick C. Ziem, prosecutor for Oakland County. Only the General Features Corp., originators of the puzzles, will know the solutions until after each contest is over. Answers will be delivered to the Press judges by Mr. Ziem after the final deadline.

9. There is only one correct solution to the POT-O-GOLD puzzle, and only that correct answer can win. The decision of the judges is final and all contestants agree to abide by the judges' decision. All entries becoming the property of The Pontiac Press and none can be returned.

10. Completed puzzles must be addressed to POT-O-GOLD, POST OFFICE BOX 58, Pontiac, Michigan. Winners will be notified either by telephone or in the mails.

Progress Failure of AEC Cited

Atom Conference Asks Group to Give 'More Positive Leadership'

HARRIMAN, N. Y. (AP)—A conference on atoms for power has scored the Atomic Energy Commission for allegedly failing to make sufficient progress in the power field.

In a 3,000-word report, conferees at the 12th American Assembly at Arden House demanded yesterday that the AEC assume "more positive leadership."

Ending a four-day meeting, they asserted that "there is an urgent need for a thorough review of the United States atomic power program."

The conferees included 65 nuclear scientists, industrialists, government officials, newspaper publishers and educators. Their report warned that a lagging atomic power program could harm the United States' position in the cold war.

A review of the country's atomic power program, the report said, "should lead to a clear formulation of the program's objectives in terms of the national power needs of the United States in the long run as well as immediate requirements of the United States foreign policy."

The assembly said private industry cannot carry an atomic power program without federal aid. The law should be amended, the report said, to eliminate restructions on subsidies.

A minority of the conferees voted against large subsidies. The government itself should construct atomic power plants both large and small for demonstration purposes, this group held.

Government and private industry must work together, the report said.

There is no rush for atomic power in the United States, the report said, but long-range needs including the demands of foreign countries require a vigorous research program.

Dog Saves Woman

DALLAS (AP) — Susie, a small black dog of doubtful ancestry, basked in glory after saving the life of her mistress. Susie apparently was the first to discover a fire that swept through an apartment building yesterday. Her mistress Mrs. Kay E. Lucke, said Susie awakened her by barking furiously and tugging at the bedcovers.

Hollywood Headlines

By DOROTHY MANNERS

(While Louella Parsons is on vacation, her column will be written by Dorothy Manners.)

HOLLYWOOD (INS)—Via transatlantic telephone, Ingrid Bergman told Buddy Edlar that she will star in "The Inn of the Eight Happiness" for him—but she is not coming to Hollywood. The 20th film will be shot in its entirety on the Island of Formosa starting in February.

This re-unites Ingrid with the producer of "Anastasia" for which she won the Oscar last season.

It also puts considerable distance between her and Roberto Rossellini. With "Kind Sir" yet to be made in London with Cary Grant, and this February date in Formosa, there will be half a world between Ingrid and Rossellini.

Mark Robson directs "The Inn of the Eight Happiness" which has been scripted by Isobel Lennart from Alen Burgess' novel, "The Small Woman."

ERNIE EYES DEAL

So what do you think Ernie Kovacs and Harry Cohn were talking about sunning themselves by the pool at the Sands Hotel in Las Vegas? A deal for Ernie to co-star with Judy Holliday in "The Great Sebastians," the Alfred Lunt-Lynn Fontanne stage comedy.

Judy isn't due at Columbia to make another picture until after the first of the year. Meanwhile, Senior Sohn is very impressed with cigar smoking Ernie's performance in his debut, "Operation Mad Ball" and wants him on a multiple movie contract. "The Great Sebastians," a hokus-pokus about magic, would be a great kick-off for Ernie and the very funny Miss Holliday.

LOUELLA REPORTS

"Here's today's memo from your wandering reporter," Louella Parsons reports from New York. "You knew I just couldn't keep my finger out of the pie. Fifth Avenue could be called Queen Elizabeth Lane with flowers blooming, flags flying, shop windows displaying the queen and Prince Philip's pictures everywhere to the tune of wild excitement in the air.

"I've been invited by Mayor Robert Wagner to the welcoming reception at City Hall and to the queen's luncheon at the Waldorf. A new entrance of red tile has been laid down especially in honor of the royal couple. Joe Binns, manager of the Waldorf, and Frank Dell Agnese, manager of the Towers, have been working overtime.

"The elevator that will carry Elizabeth and Philip to their suites has been pointed out to me but it's a state secret—so I won't tell."

JOHNSON'S THROW PARTY

Evie and Van Johnson's party celebrating Ann Todd's first visit to Hollywood wasn't as big as Mike Todd's, but it seemed to move faster (judging from the telecast).

Held in the Johnsons' Beverly Hill home, the hours were from "hors d'oeuvres to dawn" and the guest list read like a who's who of who's left in Hollywood.

The honored guest's good friends, James Masons, were there. Also, the Gary Coopers, Buddy Adlers, Zsa Zsa Gabor, Jose Ferrer and Rosemary Clooney, the Rosanno Brazzis, Doris Day and Marty Melcher and the Sam Goldwyns.

SOME SHORTS

Hollywood in shorts: First friend to receive word from golf champ Gene Littler that he's the proud papa of a baby girl, was Frankie Laine, in Paris. Frankie has won $237,654 backing Gene in three Calcutta Golf Pools in Las Vegas.

Is the Martha Hyer-George Nader romance on ice? At the premiere of "My Man Godfrey" Martha was with Ross Hunter and George with the fascinating Ingrid Goude.

Those cute youngsters with Errol Flynn were his two daughters by his marriage to Nora Haymes.

Plenty of midnight excitement at Mary Hosford's home when a short circuit in the kitchen started a fire that sent the lady and her four children into the street. It turned out it wasn't a bad fire, just a lot of smoke that scared everybody, including "Sonny" Whitney who is in Las Vegas getting a divorce so he can marry Mary.

British Propose Scientific Pool

Macmillan to Lay Plan Before Cabinet to Share All Nuclear Research

LONDON (AP)—The British government today was reported shaping up a proposal for pooling all U.S.-British scientifi c resources, including nuclear and rocket research.

Prime Minister Macmillan, who will begin conferences in Washington with President Eisenhower Wednesday, was expected to lay the plan before his Cabinet a meeting today.

Under the reported plan, the two allies would coordinate their scientific effort through a joint planning directorate with headquarters in Washington.

There was speculation that other members of the British Commonwealth and of the North Atlantic Alliance might be invited to join if the United States agreed.

For the United States to take part, Congress might have to repeal or revise the McMahon Act, which sharply curtails the sharing of atomic information, even with friendly nations.

Macmillan's Conservative government evidently feels the recent forward strides by the Soviet Union may persuade Congress the act should be changed.

Dali Given Award

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Huntington Hartford Foundation today announced the award of $5,000 to Spanish painter Salvadore Dali for his "long, distinguished and dyamic career as a painter."

Early Lead for Ortiz in Guatemala Election

But the leading antigovernment contender, Conservative Gen Miguel Idigoras Fuentes, claimed he was ahead and threatened a strike if fraud deprives him of the presidency.

The balloting yesterday brought a heavy turnout of voters. Police said there was no violence.

With about a fifth of the votes counted in 62 municipalities, the unofficial tally was Ortiz 43,640, Idigoras 31,558 and Miguel Asturias Quinones 6,404.

The count included the capital city, where Ortiz supporters admitted Idigoras was leading.

The election, the first since 1950, was held to name a successor to Carlos Castillo Armas, who in 1954 overthrew the pro-Communist government of Jacobo Arbenz Guzman. Castillo was shot down by one of his own guards last July 26.

Mario Sandoval, secretary general of Ortiz' Democratic Nationalist movement, predicted his man would win a six-year term by 200,000 votes over Idigoras.

Noting Idigoras' charge of fraud, Sandoval said the election had taken place in "the most absolute freedom."

Idigoras' supporters in the National Democratic Reconciliation party charged that thousands of residents of the provinces had been prevented from voting while thousands on government-owned coffee plantations voted several times.

An Old, Constant Tradition

Russians Threatening Turks

By THOMAS P. WHITNEY
AP Foreign News Analyst

The current Kremlin war talk is possibly more dangerous than the previous Russian bids to break through the Turkish fortress into the Mediterranean and the Middle East.

But if Nikita Khrushchev studies the lessons of history he may decide to go slow.

Russian grabs at Turkey have been responsible for some of the most serious setbacks Moscow's imperialism has suffered during the past century.

Joseph Stalin, flushed with victory over Germany in World War II, decided to pressure Turkey into granting the Soviet Union fortresses on the Turkish straits which connect the Mediterranean and Black Seas. The Turks rejected the demands but faced the necessity of keeping fully mobilized, a condition threatening Turkey's economic stability.

At this point President Truman stepped in and promulgated the Truman doctrine of assistance to Greece and Turkey. American help flowed to the Turks in large quantities. The Turks later joined NATO, thus securing American protection against invasion. The Russians were forced to back down.

Moscow suffered an even more serious setback during the 1939-41 period of the Nazi-Soviet pact. Captured German documents have revealed that Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov proposed to Hitler a division of spheres of influence between Germany and the Soviet Union. This would have given the straits and Turkey to Russia. Hitler's consent to this Russian demand almost certainly would have set the stage for a Russian invasion of Turkey. Hitler balked, however. And this revelation of Soviet greed apparently played an important part in Hitler's decision to invade Russia in June 1941.

Russia lost its best chance to gain control of the straits and Turkey as a result of the Bolshevik revolution 40 years ago. In World War I Turkey was an ally of Germany. The Western allies, in secret treaties made during that war, agreed to give Russia the straits after victory. But the revolution took Russia out of the war and canceled these agreements.

In the Russian-Turkish war of 1877-78 Russian troops advanced to within a few miles of Constantinople (now Istanbul). Russia seemed to have within its grasp the long-desired control of the straits—but other powers intervened. At the conference of Berlin in June 1878 Russia was forced to give up many of the fruits of military victory. Turkey retained control of the straits.

In 1853 Russia began the Crimean war by destroying a Turkish fleet in the Black Sea. England and France sided with Turkey and fought the famous campaign in the Crimea which resulted in capture of Sevastopol and brought Russian defeat.

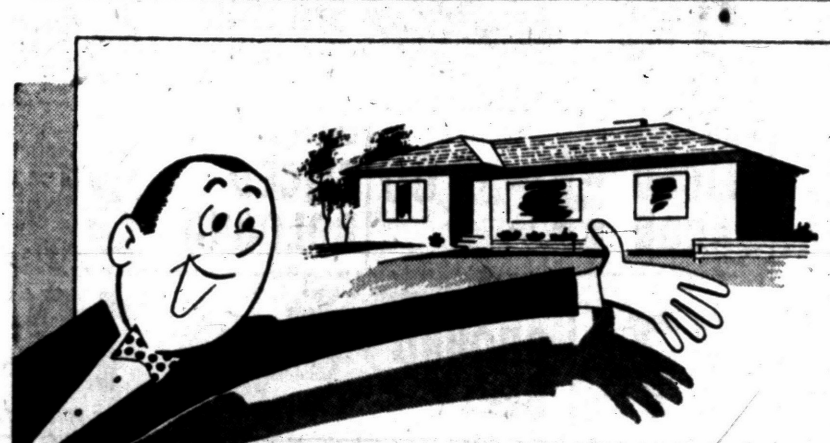

Turkey in standing up to the Russians has always found support in the West. During the 19th century England prevented Russia from taking the straits. Today Turkey's chief support is the United States.

'Freedom Must Come Sooner or Later'

Poor Moslems Caught Between Terrorists, French

CONSTANTINE, Algeria (AP) — "The French are not bad but freedom must come sooner or later."

The Arab who spoke these words clasped a double-barreled shotgun in a group of villagers organized by the French into militarized self-defense units.

"The rebels kill and force us to give them money," he continued, in perfect French. "We don't like that and that is why we cooperate with the French. But this cannot last. We want freedom from the French and from the rebels and we are sure it will come."

His words describe in a nutshell the plight of impoverished Moslems caught between terrorists and French machineguns.

The "freedom sooner or later" theory is well known to French officials here. In private conversations they admit that this is probably what will happen in rebellious Algeria.

One important official commented:

"In my estimation, maybe 10 per cent of the Moslems are for the rebels and 10 per cent for us. But the other 80 per cent are fed up with the whole thing—and they will be a powerful factor in influencing more liberal settlements for this country."

There are tough machinegunners and armored car crews around, but Gen. Raoul Salan, military commander of Algeria, has given his 400,000-man army the task of "winning the hearts of the Moslem population."

The program, in this part of Algeria, has scored some success. Schools and hospitals have been built, and new villages with sanitary installations replace mud huts where most Moslems lived for centuries. Even these are in a way a victory for the rebels. Most improvement projects started in this area a year ago. Nobody did much before that to raise the standard of living in the villages.

One problem blocking Algerian independence is the future of the 1,300,000 European settlers. Most of their families have been living here for generations.

"We will all be slain if the army leaves," moans farmer Jean Sapin in the village of Levasseur. "My family has been here for three generations and yet I wanted to get out of here, go where it is quiet. But the government loaned me two million francs (about $4,761) to keep my farm going and I stayed. I hate it, I hate it."

"This is my country and I will stay here no matter what happens," he declared.

"If the army leaves and this country becomes independent someone will have to run it. You think these people (Moslems) are qualified? No, not at this stage. We, the Europeans, will do it."

Newspaper Saves Him

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The big Sunday edition of a city newspaper was more than just good reading to Norman E. Daw, 57. He said a man approached him, knife in hand, and demanded his money. Dan dealt him a stiff wallop on the head with his rolled-up newspaper and sent him running.

Frogman Dives in Wine to Save Town's Vintage

RIVA DEL GARDA, Italy (AP) — The residents of this Alpine resort today toasted a frogman who went diving in a vat of wine.

Thanks to his prowess the juice of the local grape won't run in the streets.

Riva del Garda boasts a cooperative wine cellar housing 20 huge vats of 52,800-gallon capacity each. The farmers now are bringing in their new wine, which is piped down into the underground vats.

Yesterday a worker went below to the corridor adjoining the vats to inspect things. He found the passageway three feet deep in new wine. He started looking around to see where it came from. Then he collapsed, overcome by the fumes from the still fermenting liquid.

Somebody thought of the frogman. The town is located on Lake Garda, in the Italian Alps, and has several experienced divers.

Tullio Cestari, 33, put on his breathing apparatus and waded through the heady flood. He located the overflowing vat but couldn't see what was wrong. So he climbed to the rim and dived into the 12-foot-deep tank.

Searching around, he found dirt had clogged the valve which channeled excess wine into another vat. He cleaned the valve and stopped the flood.

The overflow was drained away and fans were brought in to blow the gases out.

Seven Drowned in Car Accident

Auto Plunges in Canal as Members of Band Head for Miami

NAPLES, Fla. (AP) — A car plunged into a canal beside the Naples-Miami road early Sunday and all seven of its occupants drowned.

A Negro dance band known as the House Rockers was returning in two cars to Miami after a playing date Saturday night in Fort Myers. One of the cars went off the side, drowning three men and women, all members of the band, and the 8-month-old son of one of the victims.

Police said the car's driver apparently dozed at the wheel. The victims, all of Miami, were Herbert Blatch, 30; Mrs. Barbara Jean Blatch, 33; Mary Louise Campbell, 21; her son Hugh Mack; Vila Lee, 21; Kenneth Simmons, 33; and Ben Williams, 28.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery
Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids
New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain—without surgery.
In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.
Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.
And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!
In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.
All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne*)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.
This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called *Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

Escapee Pens Apology

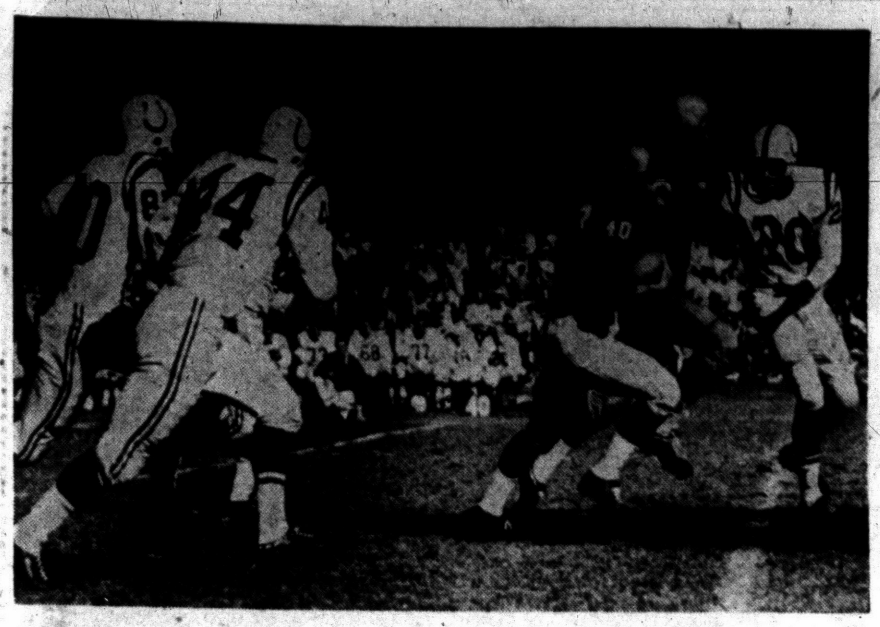

BEAVER, Okla. (AP) — Beaver County Sheriff A. L. Shook said Harry Henson, 59, held on a burglarly charge, sawed his way out of his jail cell after penning an apology. "I hate to do this but the boys came after me," Henson wrote. The "boys" were not identified.

OFF AND RUNNING — Howard (Hopalong) Cassady (40) glances around as he starts off on a 57-yard run that ended on Baltimore's 21-yard line in the 2nd quarter of yesterday's game won by the Lions 31-27. Blocking for him on this play was Dave Middleton (84). Colts shown are Andy Nelson (80), Bert Rechichar (44) and Milt Davis (20). Cassady later caught the winning TD pass from Bobby Layne.

DETROIT (AP) — Hollywood could not dream up a more spectacular finish than the wild and wooly ending the Detroit Lions wrote yesterday against the Baltimore Colts, all because a young halfback passed the word to a couple of quarterbacks that he could get away from the Baltimore pass defense.

The Lions crammed 14 points into 44 spine-tingling seconds and climaxed a hectic weekend of football upsets by upending the previously-unbeaten Colts 31-27. There were 90 seconds to play and the Lions trailed 27-17 when halfback Howard (Hopalong) Cassady and quarterback Bobby Layne put on a dramatic performance that stunned the Colts with their first defeat and sent 55,764 partisan fans into a tizzy that lasted long after the National Football League contest was over.

Cassady, two-time All-America halfback from Ohio State and up to now regarded only as a running threat, turned his first big opportunity as a pass receiver into his finest showing in two pro seasons. Early in the game, Cassady told Tobin Rote, one-half of the Lions' one-two quarterback punch, that "I know I can get away from my man."

Milt Davis, a defensive halfback discarded by the Lions, saw the sophomore redhead run around him for seven passes that gained 113 yards and produced two touchdowns. Rote had passed the word to Layne and the two of them made Cassady their favorite target.

Cassady caught two touchdown passes and set up another score —all in the final period—as the Lions steamed to 21 points for the triumph coach George Wilson called "the greatest — the biggest — the most wonderful in the year."

His payoff catch come with 45 seconds to play. Leaping between Davis and another Colt defender, Cassady pulled down Layne's 29-yard spiral in the Baltimore end zone. Less than a minute before, Cassady had gained eight yards on a pass from Layne and 30 yards to the Colt one on another completion before John Henry Johnson bulled over for the touchdown that trimmed Baltimore's margin to 27-24.

Halfway through the fourth period, Layne-to-Cassady passes accounted for 35 yards of a 49-yard Detroit drive that brought the Lions back to life. Cassady covered the final 26 yards on a touchdown strike from the veteran Layne.

The victory put the Lions, the Colts and the San Francisco 49ers in a three-way tie for the Western Conference lead.

And Detroit's defensive halfbacks, who had yielded four touchdown passes by quarterback John Unitas as the Colts swept to a 27-3 lead, played a pig part in the comeback.

Jim David recovered Alan (The Horse) Ameche's fumble on the Colt 46 and the Lions moved to paydirt in six plays to make it 27-24. Three plays later Yale Lary tackled Lenny Moore and recovered the ex-Penn State star's fumble on the Baltimore 29. Layne and Cassady took over from there and produced the touchdown that avenged Detroit's 34-14 loss to the Colts in the opening game of the season.

Sunday, Cassady accounted for more yardage on pass receptions than he had in the same department in all previous games with the Lions. Last year the former Heisman Trophy winner caught 9 for 83 yards. In three previous games this season he nailed only 2 for 18 yards.

The contest was almost reaching the dull stage — for Lion rooters, anyway — until Cassady's first touchdown made it 27-17. Things went at better than a thrill-a-minute clip from there.

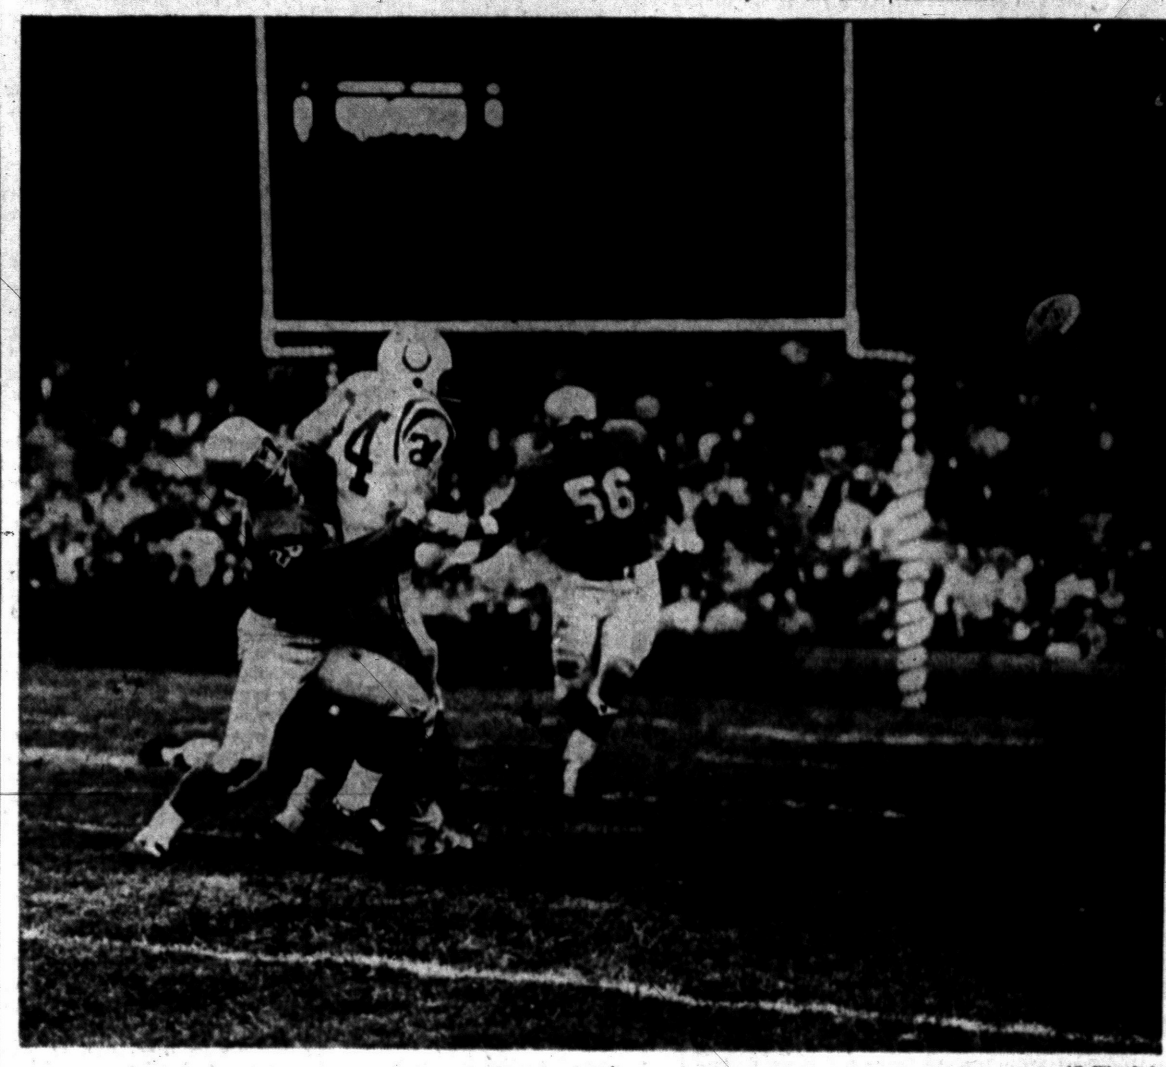

Carl Karilivacz picked up a Colt fumble and raced back to the Baltimore 42. But rookie John Call stole the ball from the Lion halfback. Three plays later Karilivacz turned in Detroit's only interception of the sunny afternoon and brought the ball back to the Lions' 35. A penalty put the ball at midfield.

Detroit had possession for just one play, though, as Andy Nelson intercepted Layne's pass on the Colt 49. Two plays later Ameche fumbled and this time the Lions didn't return the favor.

"Everyone always points to the Lions' 17-16 victory over the Cleveland Browns in 1952," said Wilson, "when Layne passed to Jim Doran over Warren Lahr's head for the winning touchdown. But I think this one is greater.

The Layne - Cassady combine lifted the headlines away from Unitas, the slick youngster who fired two touchdown passes to Moore and a pair to end Jim Mutscheller.

DISASTROUS FUMBLE — Lenny Moore (24), Baltimore Colt halfback, loses the ball as he is hit by Detroit Lions' back Yale Lary (28). Lary recovered the fumble on the Colt 29 yard line with less than a minute to play. Detroit's next play was a game winning touchdown pass from Bobby Layne to Howard (Hopalong) Cassady. Also shown is Detroit linebacker Joe Schmidt (56). The Lions won the game, 31-27, before 55,764 thrilled fans in Briggs Stadium.

Area Gridders Shine in State Tilts

The powerful Hillsdale Dales are back to normal.

They rolled over Alma 31-7 Saturday in contrast to their anxiety-filled 20-14 decision over Albion the previous week.

Victory was the Dales' 30th in a row, their 5th straight this season, and their 3rd in Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Assn., competition.

Hope blanked Adrian 14-0 and Albion rolled over Olivet 57-0 in other MIAA games Saturday.

Two Interstate Intercollegiate Athletic Conference games were played by Michigan teams. Central Michigan pulled out of a season-long slump ending a five-game losing streak with a 52-12 triumph over Northern Illinois. Eastern Michigan crushed Eastern Illinois 39-0.

In other games involving Michigan teams, University of Detroit rallied in the 4th quarter to trim Xavier (Ohio) University 30-20, Wayne State nipped Kalamazoo College 9-2 with a 4th-quarter touchdown, Michigan Tech defeated Moorhead (Minn.) 21-7, Western Michigan turned back Youngstown (Ohio) 25-14, and Northern Michigan beat Ferris Institute 20-7.

Five players shared in the Hillsdale scoring — Walt Poe, Wayne O'Shaughnessy (Pontiac area boys), Doug Maison, Jerry Taylor and W. Taylor, Alma, taking its first defeat after two victories and two ties, scored in the 2nd quarter on Bob Atkins' nine-yard run.

Hope got its 3rd MIAA victory against one loss on the scoring of Jerry Hendrickson and Jerry Herp.

Walt Beach (Pontiac) scored twice in the 1st quarter, opening an eight-touchdown scoring parade by Central Michigan's Chippewas. Beach, who scored on a 20-yard pass from Herb Kipke and on a 60-yard run, finished the game with 133 yards on 10 carries.

Eastern Michigan remained unbeaten in IIAC competition. Halfback Kerry Keating (Waterford) led the scoring with two touchdowns.

Lou Little Calls 'em

What happens on a football day like last Saturday when national leaders such as Michigan State, Oregon State, Minnesota and Arkansas are bounced from the undefeated ranks by teams they were supposed to outscore without too much trouble? And another, Texas A&M, barely gets by. In some cases, the surprises were not even close games.

I don't think anyone can give you the correct answer. After long experience, sometimes on one end, sometimes the other, of this "upset" problem, I'm sure that one of the most difficult jobs the coach faces is that of influencing the mental attitude of a squad which has been acclaimed for previous victories.

And yet I don't think it can be said that these surprising results stem from complacency. Present-day football, both college and professional, offers such great opportunities in both offensive and defensive tactics that anything can happen on a given day when teams at all close in potential strength get together.

But there is great importance in the matter of mental attitude. The line between confidence and over-confidence is a narrow one that neither player nor coach can afford to overlook. When a coach sees signs of confidence growing into complacency, he must convince his men that they have to play all out to win. The players are not consciously over-confident. They work just as hard as ever. But the practices lack a grimness they should have—and it is during the practice week, of course, not on Saturday, that these "upsets" really are decided.

Saturday comes, the favored team gets unexpected pressure from the hungry "underdog", the execution of plays is disturbed, and soon the men press. Then there is a fumble or two and the big surprise is in the making. It's really no upset at all, but a case of a team better equipped on that day beating another team.

That was true as Illinois, skillfully prepared by Ray Eliot for the day, outplayed Minnesota; as Purdue, three times beaten, toppled Michigan State, and as Oregon State fell before UCLA. I've been waiting for a performance like this by the Uclans.

All this is wonderful for football.

I could not get to West Point but I am impressed by the way Army seems to have fitted its attack so well to the Pitt defense, turning in a brilliant second-half. The Cadets ran well and defended imaginatively with their varying alignments both on the line and in secondary, making intercepted passes provide some scoring opportunities to help their cause. Army achieves the right, along with Navy, to be called an Eastern leader and near the top nationally.

There will, I am sure, be no disposition to write off such teams as Michigan State, Minnesota, Oregon State, Wisconsin, Arkansas, Army, Navy and others just because of a single defeat. For example, don't you honestly think that Michigan State is likely to be a stronger football team next Saturday than it has been at any time this season?

Senior Golfers in Action

PINEHURST, N.C. — A record 337 players scrambled over three courses here today in the qualifying round for the sixth annual North and South Seniors golf tournament.

The 18-hole qualifying play will set the stage for match play tomorrow through Saturday for the shotmakers aged 55 and up.

Answering Letters Next Job

Haney Signs $40,000 Pact

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Fred Haney's only worry now is answering the thousands of congratulatory letters he received after his Braves won the World Series.

The game, little manager said as much Saturday when he signed a new one-year contract to manage the world's champions in 1958.

The pact, by far the best he has received in his 34 years as a player and manager in the majors and minors, calls for an estimated $40,000.

Haney came to terms after what was described as a five minute conference with Joseph Cairnes, president of the Braves, and John Quinn, general manager.

After Haney had affixed his name to the yellow document he said, "I'm very happy and pleased with the way things have developed."

Quinn praised the 59-year-old skipper as a "great hustler and a fellow with a lot of determination which he instilled in his ball club."

"During the season he never cried about all the injuries," Quinn added. "He wanted to win despite them and he did."

Haney is en route to his Los Angeles home by automobile. He said he may stop off at Las Vegas for a few days rest.

Then it'll be on to L. A. and those thousands of unopened letters.

Eagles, Lions Troublemakers

Create 5-Way NFL Jam-up

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Philadelphia bounced Cleveland, Detroit stunned Baltimore — and just like that it's a jam-up today in the National Football League.

With a third of the season completed, no less than five teams hold a share of first place. Everyone's been whipped at least once and what looked to be a possible pullaway for the haughty Browns and the surprising Colts now has all the earmarks of another flip-flop donneybrook.

To the clicks of the spinning turnstiles, we might add.

Both the Eagles and Lions created the chaos yesterday by getting even with opponents they'd bowed to quietly in earlier games, the Eagles with a 17-7 victory over Cleveland and Detroit with a 31-27 upset of Baltimore after the Colts had led 27-3 midway of the third period.

Cleveland's loss dropped the Browns into a first place tie in the Eastern Conference with New York's World Champion Giants, who routed Pittsburgh 35-0 in their home opener. Detroit and Baltimore share the Western Conference leadership with San Francisco, which pulled even at 3-1 by cuffing Green Bay 24-14.

In other games, the Chicago Cards routed Washington 44-14 to tie Pittsburgh for third in the East, both only a game off the co-leaders pace, and Chicago's slumbering Bears finally got into the win column, calling on rookie Willie Galimore for four touchdowns in an easier than it looks 34-26 victory over the Los Angeles Rams.

With eight weeks of play still remaining, no team is out of contention with only two games separating top from bottom in each division.

Rookie quarterback Sonny Jurgensen was the Eagles' big man as he passed for one touchdown against the previously unbeaten Browns and scored another on a sneak.

Veteran Chuck Conerly, in his 10th season, treated a record home opener crowd of 52,589 to a show at Yankee Stadium, passing for 155 yards and two touchdowns for the Giants against a Pittsburgh team that never got past New York's 25-yard line. It was the defending champ's third straight victory since an opening day 6-3 "field goal" loss to Cleveland.

Y. A. Tittle, a fellow who has been around almost as long as Conerly and passes just as well, handled the brunt of the 49ers offense, throwing for two touchdowns and plunging for another.

Everything clicked for the Cardinals against Washington as they piled up 438 yards, 155 alone by Ollie Matson, stopped cold by the Steelers the week before. Quarterback Lamar McHan fired three scoring passes and ran 18 yards for another.

Fiery 'Rocket' Bags 500th NHL Goal

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Maurice "The Rocket" Richard, who scored his 500th goal in regular season play in the National Hockey League Saturday night, is nearing the close of a career that ranks with the greats in all sports.

At 36, this fiery son of French-Canadian parents has achieved about every distinction possible in Canada's national pastime. Like Babe Ruth, baseball's greatest slugger, Richard has no peer as a offensive performer.

He broke the all-time record for goals in his 10th season, 1952-1953. This standard which was set by Nels Stewart, who had 324 with the Montreal Maroons and New York Americans, also has since been surpassed by Gordie Howe of the Detroit Red Wings. Howe had 353 going into this season.

Maurice also holds the record for goals in a season, 50, most "hat tricks" in a career, 32, most goals in a playoff series, 12, and sundry others.

One of eight children, Richard was born in Montreal on Aug. 4, 1921. According to his mother, Mrs. Alice Richard, he was a determined competitor even as a youngster—"He even played hockey in the streets and came back with torn pants."

He started playing competitive hockey in high school. Then, at the age of 13, he joined the Junior Canadiens, an amateur team. Later he was in the Quebec Hockey League where he was deemed "ready" for the National League. He joined the Montreal club in 1942.

A devoted team player — he is looked up to by all the younger members of the Canadiens—Richard has made the headlines even when he was not in uniform.

When teammate, Bernie Geoffrion was suspended by league president Clarence Campbell, in 1954, he called Campbell a "dictator." Later, in a column he wrote for a Montreal newspaper, he retracted the charge.

A year later, he was fined $250 for molesting an official. In his 16 seasons with Montreal, he has paid more than $3,000 in fines.

As as an aftermath to a stick-swinging, punch-throwing episode in Boston in March, 1955, Richard was suspended for the remainder of the season and for the post-season playoffs. Two days after his suspension, angry Canadien followers staged a riotous uprising in the Montreal Forum and assaulted Campbell for his action.

His years in the NHL have not, however, been without their rewards. His salary is in the neighborhood of $25,000 a year. The puck with which he scored his record-breaking 325th goal was sent to Queen Elizabeth of England.

When he tallied his 400th goal, the Canadian management presented him with a bonus of $2,000. And after 15 years, he was named his team's captain last September upon the retirement of Butch Bouchard.

CLEVELAND GAINER — Halfback Ray Renfro of the Cleveland Browns carries for 16 yards in the 2nd quarter of yesterday's pro game won by Philadelphia 17-7. Renfro was bounced out of bounds by Eagle linebacker Chuck Bednarik as the home team staged an upset and posted its initial win of the season on the same day.

After Story-Book Victory

Great Ovation for Layne

DETROIT (AP) — Quarterback Bobby Layne, alternately cheered and booed by Detroit Lions fans all season, got a standing ovation from the crowd yesterday for his brilliant performance in Detroit's dramatic 31-27 upset of the Baltimore Colts.

The grizzled veteran of 10 National Football League seasons hit Howard (Hopalong) Cassady with a 29-yard pass that gave Detroit the victory in the final 45 seconds of a story-book second half.

Earlier Cassady had snagged a Layne pitch for a 26-yard touchdown pass play. They were the first two touchdown passes Layne had thrown in the Lions' four games this season.

"I don't want to predict anything, but the spirit I saw out there today was the best I've seen on the Lion's club in a long time," Layne said after the game.

Coach George Wilson who has been alternating Layne with Tobin Rote at quarterback, started Bobby and then yanked him for Rote. Rote directed the Lions to their first touchdown on a 14-yard pass play to rookie end Steve Junker. Then Wilson pulled Rote for Layne.

Asked why, Wilson replied: "I just had a feeling. It's one of those things you just can't explain. It worked so I'm a hero. If it hadn't worked I would have been a bum."

Title Hopes, Rose Bowl Trip Alive

Michigan's Spirit Revived

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Its spirits revived, Michigan now heads into the thick of Big Ten combat with successive games against Minnesota and Iowa.

The gloom that settled over the Wolverine den following the loss to Michigan State suddenly disappeared Saturday.

There was a bigger cheer in Michigan Stadium when word of the Spartans' upset by Purdue was announced than there was for Michigan's 34-14 triumph over Northwestern.

The roar had one meaning: Michigan will at least tie for the league title and probably go to the Rose Bowl if it can win all its remaining games.

"That's quite a challenge," said coach Bennie Oosterbaan.

Going unbeaten the rest of the way will leave Michigan with a 5-1 record against conference foes. The Spartans would be eliminated from championship recognition because of their six-game schedule.

Ohio State would tie Michigan for the title by winning every game but the season's finale with the Wolverines. A Michigan triumph over the Buckeyes would place the Wolverines atop the Rose Bowl invitation list.

Ohio and Iowa, who meet Nov. 16, currently are deadlocked in first place with 2-0 records.

"This whole Big Ten race is a dog - eat - dog affair," he said. "we're only concerned with Minnesota right now."

The Gophers, who were unceremoniously upset by Illinois Saturday, obviously will be sky-high in the televised game with Michigan this weekend at Minneapolis. They always are in these Little Brown Jug clashes. And if Michigan needs a reminder, it only has to hark back to last year when underdog Minnesota squelched its championship aspirations with a 20-7 victory.

Against Northwestern, the Wolverines were brilliant in spots and dismal in others. They gained 246 yards rushing and 123 passing and ran up their highest point total of the season.

Loss of the ball after a 90-yard march in the first period didn't annoy them. They punched out two touchdowns in the second period to take a 14-0 lead at halftime. But they suffered a letdown after intermission.

With Bob McKeiver showing the way, the Wildcats came back on drives of 80 and 54 yards to tie the score.

Oosterbaan admitted Michigan was fooled by Northwestern's second half attack.

"They put one of their ends over on the other side, giving them an unbalanced line," he said. "We hadn't prepared for it."

In the fourth period with a possible upset looming, the Wolverines jelled. With quarterback Jim Van Pelt, who had climbed from a sick bed in the morning, and third string fullback Jim Byers leading the way, Michigan scored three times.

The flu-stricken Van Pelt had been eliminated from Michigan's battle plan. But the course of the game required his presence. He pitched two touchdown passes and scored a third.

Byers didn't score while filling in for the injured John Herrnstein. But his power drives through the Wildcat line were good for 98 yards. On the 80-yard march to the winning touchdown, he plunged for 48 yards through gaping holes opened by the Wolverine line.

Detroit Grabs an Early Lead, Makes It Stick

Dea and Ullman Shine as Team Breaks NHL Last-Place Tie, 3-1

DETROIT (AP) — Victory-hungry Red Wings' fans had the edge taken off their appetites last night when Detroit battled to a 3-1 decision over the Toronto Maple Leafs at Olympia Stadium.

The triumph marked the 1st home victory for the Red Wings this season and was the 2nd straight over the Maple Leafs. The game also broke a deadlock between the two teams for the National Hockey League's cellar position.

Red Kelly, Billy Dea and Norm Ullman were the big guns in the Red Wings' attack, each scoring one goal. Barry Cullen scored the lone Toronto marker, the only one of 29 attempts let through by goalie Terry Sawchuk.

The Wings took an early lead midway in the first period and spent the rest of the game holding onto it, allowing the Leafs to dominate play during much of the first two periods.

Kelly caged his goal while Dick Duff was serving time in the penalty box. The other Detroit scores were made in the last period.

Kelly's shot was set up by Gordie Howe who fired a pass from 30 feet out. Kelly flipped a knee-high marker past Leafs' goalie Ed Chadwick.

Dea made it two for Detroit in the final period when he knocked in his own rebound after Bill Dinneen had shoveled the puck from behind the cage.

Almont Wins Share of Top Spot

Scoring in the last three periods of its important Southern Thumb league contest with Armada, Saturday, Almont's unbeaten club shut out its hosts, 21-0, to take a share of the league lead with Brown City.

Armada never got within Almont's 25-yard stripe, but stopped its foe once on the four in a fine goal-line stand. The winners went right back, however, for the final tally.

Gary McAlvey passed to Larry Ostrander on the five for the first TD. Larry then intercepted an Armada pass after the kickoff, went 55 yards, and Frank Hartway made the last TD from the three after a 50-yard drive. Walt Griffin converted all three with perfect boots.

A big audience witnessed the contest.

'Spoilmakers' Do It Again-Blast MSU

EAST LANSING (AP) — They were calling those Purdue Boilermakers "spoiler makers" up at East Lansing today.

Not many people believed it actually was going to happen until Saturday's final score was posted —Purdue 20, Michigan State 13.

The Spartans had won three games by convincing margins and were the top-rated team in the country. Unrated Purdue had dropped three straight and was further hurt by injuries and by the Asian flu.

Even those who remembered back to 1953, when Purdue snapped a 28-game Spartan win streak didn't think lightning could strike twice. But Purdue once again proved that any team in the Big 10 might beat any other conference team on a given Saturday.

"Our kids never tried harder," said Coach Duffy Daugherty. "In fact, they tried too hard. They made mistakes they hadn't made all year, like fumbling and dropping passes."

"But Purdue earned it," Daugherty conceded. "They rushed us hard and hit our passers well and generally out-fought us all along the line."

The record crowd of 64,950, the largest ever to see a game at Spartan Stadium, sensed the home team was in for trouble early in the 1st period when Michigan State was unable to score. MSU did penetrate as far as the Purdue one but a fumble stopped the scoring chance.

Walt Kowalczyk lugged a punt back from the MSU 43 to the Purdue 10 and bucked over to score three plays later at the start of the 2nd period.

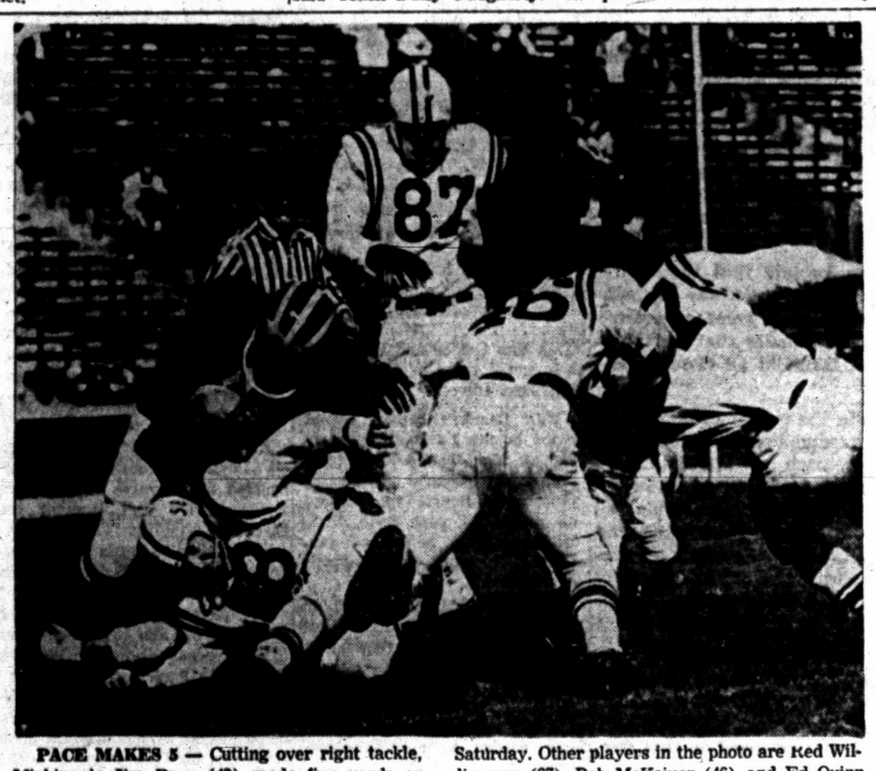

Kowalczyk crossed the Purdue goal again later in the same quarter but it was called back by a holding penalty. Purdue evened the score before the half when Fred Jarus carried over after a pass interception.

Purdue struck twice to decide the game in the 3rd quarter. Ross Fitchner, a sophomore quarterback starting his first game, hit a 42-yard pass to Tom Franckhauser in a play that carried to the Spartan four.

Jim Ninowski connected to Sammy Williams with a 30-yard end-zone touchdown pass in the 4th quarter but it was too little and too late.

The ball-bobbling stopped two other Spartan 4th-quarter drives that looked promising, one going as far as the Purdue 30 and the other to the 32.

Rallying Titans Defeat Xavier

Two 4th-Quarter TD's Produce Third Victory for Detroit

DETROIT (AP)—Whatever it takes to make a football team fight from behind to victory, the University of Detroit Titans mustered enough to beat Xavier (Ohio) University 30-20 here Saturday.

And the Titans needed all the comeback stuff they could find to overtake the Musketeers three times and finish on top.

The victory was nailed down by two fourth - quarter touchdowns, a 14-yard scoring pass from quarterback Lou Faoro to end Dave Dahlkemper and a dazzling 66-yard run to the goal by Billy Russell.

It was the third triumph of the season against one loss for the Titans.

Xavier, before it bowed in defeat for the third time in six outings, was tied with the Titans or leading them at the end of every quarter except the fourth.

Lansing East Repeats, Maples 3rd at Albion

While Lansing Eastern repeated as top team in the annual Albion College cross-country meet Class A division Saturday, Birmingham came through in 3rd place with 99 points. Lansing had 63 and Flint Central 93 as runnerup.

Pontiac High placed 11th with 279, with Larry Beamer 6th and Rog Coats 8th. Maples' Lee Tout was 4th in the field of 22 teams and 148 runners.

Jerry Young of Berkley was individual champion (10:20.3), followed by Art Vallincourt of Lansing Eastern and Gene Jurkiewicz. Bill Milum of Flint Central was 5th. Tout's time was 10:34, Beamer's 10:39.

Other team scores: 4th, Edsel Ford 197; 5th, Wyandotte 201; 6th, Jackson 208; 7th, Midland 211; 8th, Lincoln Park 215; 9th, Wayne 216; 10th, Allen Park 228. Berkley was 18th with 463, Waterford 21st with 536.

Harmon Undergoes Operation on Lung

Harmon has been in St. John Hospital here for more than a week. His physician said that the operation Saturday was successful and that no evidence of malignancy was found.

Doctors said that the one time University of Michigan All-American (1939-40) would be unable to resume broadcasting for at least two weeks.

Shamrocks 6-0 Victors Against Orchard Lake 11

By BILL CORNWELL

One quick scoring thrust and a stalwart defense were enough to give St. Michael a 6-0 upset win over Orchard Lake St. Mary Sunday afternoon in a Suburban Catholic League football game at Pontiac's Wisner Stadium.

It was the Mikes' 2nd victory in four starts this season, their 1st in the SCL and their 1st over the Orchard Lake Eaglets since 1953.

The loss was the Eaglets' 2nd in league play and virtually eliminated the defending champions from the title race.

Halfback Chuck Steinhelper's two-yard plunge with four minutes remaining in the 3rd quarter gave St. Mike the only touchdown it needed to turn back the Eaglets in a stiff battle of defenses.

A short St. Mary punt went out of bounds on the Eaglet 34 and the Mikes drove to the 11 where they lost possession on a fumble. On the next play St. Mary returned the favor and the Mikes regained control on the 14.

Five plays later Steinhelper bulled over for the decisive six points. Two pass plays sandwiched around a penalty failed to produce the extra point, but it wasn't necessary.

The Eaglets were almost completely throttled on the ground by St. Mike's line and could make only 45 rushing yards. Their most dangerous weapon was the pass, which they attempted 18 times with 50 per cent success.

St. Mary muffed three excellent scoring chances in the 2nd half. One drive was stopped on the Shamrock three yard line, another on the 15 and again at the 12. The latter push ended when Tony Chojnowski missed a field goal attempt from the 18 just before the half ended.

The Shamrocks displayed their best running attack of the season, picking up 159 yards with Bob Mineweaser, Jim Fox and Steinhelper sharing the load. They attempted only three passes and failed to connect on any of them.

Terry Raymond, Frank Bartos and Ron Novak sparked the sputtering Eaglet attack, which never really did get moving against the stout St. Mike defense, particularly when it counted most.

St. Fred Wins 1st Loop Game in Seven Years

Nesbitt, Derocher Tally 3 TD's Each; Lyon Also Stars in 2nd Victory

By CHUCK ABAIR

No matter what happens the rest of the season the present crop of St. Frederick footballers will long be remembered by their faithful followers as the boys who brought about the revolution in the sport here.

The Rams have won two games in three starts and in doing so have halted a pair of long winless streaks that had haunted the school for several years.

A 44-0 walloping of Royal Oak St. Mary at Wisner Stadium last night brought to an end a string of Suburban Catholic League defeats stretching back to 1950. A victory in the season opener had been the 1st St. Fred win over anyone in four years.

The Rams are not only winning but they have dazzled opponents with their scoring power. They have piled up 112 points in three games and are tied for 3rd in the SCL with 1-1.

You had to scream to make yourself heard in the St. Fred dressing room following the latest romp as the jubilant Ram players celebrated as if they had won the state crown. Shouts of "this is our year" were heard all around. They could come through barring a future letdown.

Despite having two successive games postponed because of flu, Coach Gene Wright had his boys in top form both offensively and defensively and they completely dominated the action.

Speedy Jack Lyon, who was leading Oakland County in scoring until the enforced idleness, stole the show with some outstanding running. He scored the opening touchdown on a 38-yard jaunt and helped set up some of the others with long gains.

The 160-pound junior gained 151 of his team's 170 rushing yards compiling a sparkling 11.6 average per carry. But he was far from alone in the starring role.

Halfbacks Tom Nesbitt and Larry Derocher each scored three TDs, both quarterbacks, Dick Kast and rugged freshman Jim Kennedy, performed well, as did the entire line.

Wright emptied the bench in the final four minutes after three scoring passes by Kennedy in the last quarter had put the outcome far out of reach. Derocher tallied the 6th and 7th six-pointers after Nesbitt went over. The latter had scored a pair in the opening half and Derocher one. Eight recoveries of enemy fumbles made it easy for the home team.

Wash. State Bowl Bid Spoiled by Oregon 11

PULLMAN, Wash. (UP)—A piece of 2-inch pipe weighted heavily on football enthusiasm at Washington State College today and it pitched the Rose Bowl shouting here down to conversational tones.

Quarterback Bob Newman's conversion attempt after the second fourth-period touchdown in a dramatic comeback against Oregon Saturday hit the left upright on the metal goal post and bounced back.

Thus, a 14-13 Oregon margin was preserved, the Cougars had lost the lead in the four-team race for Pasadena in the Pacific Coast Conference and a budding Rose Bowl demonstration among the 5,500 WSC students withered and died.

There were indications the student body was ready to break out in a wild exhibition of football frenzy if the Cougars were ahead at the final gun in this big game between the only two eligibles undefeated in the PCC.

But among the student rooters in a crowd of 19,000, it must have been embarrassing to have a WSC Rose Bowl banner tucked under the seat—at least until the last 14 minutes of the game.

Oregon Coach Len Casanova had thrown a 4-4-3 defense at Cougar passers Newman and Bunny Aldrich, stopped the WSC aerial game and had a 14-0 fourth quarter lead with 11 minutes remaining.

Now Oregon assumes the lead among the four PCC schools, who have purity and can travel to Pasadena. The Ducks meet California in a big one at Eugene, Ore., Saturday, WSC plays Southern California in the Los Angeles Coliseum.

WSC players agreed afterwards they thought California was a better team than Oregon and said confidentially — officialdom here scorns all the talk—that they still expect to make that big trip south Jan. 1.

Russo, Lynch Meet in TV Tilt, Tonight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Danny Russo and Eddie (Pigeon) Lynch, a couple of New York welterweight prospects, who kicked up a storm in their first clash two months ago, collide in a return 10-rounder at New York's St. Nicholas Arena tonight. The bout will be telecast (Dumont, 9:30 p.m. (EST).

Argentine Golfer Threat to International Leaders

TOKYO (UP) — A long-hitting Argentine emerged today as a serious threat to Sam Snead, Jimmy Demaret and Peter Thomson for individual honors in the International Trophy and Canada Cup golf matches here this weekend.

"This man can hit the ball farther than Roberto DeVicenzo," said Cerda, who will serve as Ruiz' partner in the team competition Oct. 24-27.

"He'll be hitting with Snead and outdriving him on occasions. He is a fine golfer and very easily could win this tournament."

Cerda won the individual title in the inaugural event in 1953 and teamed with DeVicenzo, one of the big hitters of golf, to take the Canada Cup team prize. DeVicenzo, now a citizen of Mexico City, is not competing.

The Argentines arrived yesterday after a 72-hour flight from Buenos Aires but waited until today to take their practice rounds. They failed to keep score, but merely tested the Kasumigaseki course.

Snead and Demaret, representing the United States, and Thomson, the three-time British Open winner from Australia, are the favorites.

But observers said there were eight or nine teams with a chance to take the two championships, with the broken-up British forces a powerful entry.

Welshman Dai Rees, who captained the British to their recent Ryder Cup victory over the United States, said he felt the English tandem of Peter Alliss Jr. and Ken Bousfield would be strong.

"But don't count any of us out," Rees said. "This young fellow, Dave Thomas, who is playing with me, is one of the finest golfers in the world."

The tournament will be played over 72 holes—18 holes a day Thursday through Sunday, with both individual and team championships determined on a medal score basis.

Housewife in Germany Puts Mice to Sleep

HUSUM, Germany (UP) —A local housewife figures she has devised a better mousetrap.

After two weeks of trying with an ordinary trap to catch a mouse which kept raiding the kitchen, she put a sleeping tablet into a bowl of sugar water and left it under the stove.

Photographers Planning to Halt Election Fraud

MANILA (UP) — Sen. Jose M. Hernandez of the Progressive party has a plan to mobilize "44,000 honest, vigilant, faithful, Filipino photographers."

The idea is to take pictures of voting booth blackboards on election night soon after the final tally has been made to prevent later revision — and frauds.

Market Aiming for New Lows

NEW YORK (AP)—The Stock Market headed toward new lows for the year in active early trading today.

Pivotal issues were down from fractions to around two points. There was a scattering of gainers ranging from fractions to around a point.

Steels, rails and chemicals were mostly lower, but the picture was rather mixed among aircraft and missile shares as well as oils and nonferrous metals. Motors showed little change.

Layoffs and production cutbacks were reported in some industries. But retail sales of autos were reported on the upgrade over 1956 for the first time this year.

Lockheed fell two points to 30¼ on an opening block of 2,000 shares following news that the Navy had canceled 21 million dollars in contracts with the firm.

But Martin Co. and Douglas Aircraft were ahead major fractions and General Dynamics was steady. Boeing was off a bit.

Chrysler was firm but other motor shares showed little change.

Kennecott, American Cyanamid and Du Pont were down about a point each. International Nickel was a one-point gainer.

Opening blocks included Libby, McNeill & Libby unchanged at 10 on 13,900 shares; General Motors off ⅛ at 38⅛ on 4,500; and Anaconda up ⅛ at 43⅝ on 3,000.

Auto Makers in America Not Planning Small Cars

By DAVID J. WILKIE
AP Automotive Editor

DETROIT (AP) — Demand for smaller cars delivering for less than $2,000 interests American auto makers but there is no rush to build competing models in their factories.

This year's auto market will absorb close to 200,000 imported cars, mostly of the short wheelbase, low-priced makes. Next year American car buyers probably will take as many as 400,000 foreign-made cars.

STUDY MODELS

There have been recurring reports that American car makers are "studying" or actually have built experimental models for entry in the smaller, low price car field. These reports probably are true.

The auto makers always have experimental cars under study or test. So far, however, only American Motors with a new 100-inch wheelbase model, has indicated plans to produce one of them for the American market.

The 100-inch wheelbase Rambler, to go into production around Dec. 1, will revive a model and design formerly built by American Motors, before the upsurge in the small car demand.

NOT ON LINE

For the other car makers, however, it appears that until the market absorbs half a million units annually in that model area, they are not likely to put the smaller, economy models on their own assembly lines. Meanwhile, they probably will continue to import smaller, lightweight units from their European factories.

But if American car makers appear somewhat uncertain about the future of the small car in the U.S. market, the foreign auto makers evidently expect demand to grow. More than a score of European makers already have taken space to show their vehicles at the Chicago Automobile Show next January.

They are also pressing their sales efforts. During the first eight months of this year registrations of foreign-made cars numbered 116,013 units, compared with 56,730 in the like 1956 period.

Initial cost and fuel economy undoubtedy are major factors in the growing demand for the smaller, lower-priced cars. Many of the imported cars, like the Volkswagen, Renault, Metropolitan, Isetta, Volvo and others with small and low horsepower engines, give form 30 to 40 miles per gallon.

But most American auto makers and car industry analysts generally do not interpret the increased demand for low priced imported cars as indicating a major trend in the car tastes of American motorists. Some of them still say the demand stems largely form the novelty appeal.

Virginia Law Gets Fatal Blow

Supreme Court Rules Against Review of Case in School Segregation

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today dealt a death blow to Virginia's Pupil Placement Act.

The tribunal did so by refusing to review a decision in two school segregation cases in which the state's 1956 placement law was declared unconstitutional.

The decision, dealing with tests in Norfolk and Newport News, was given by U. S. Dist. Judge Walter E. Hoffman of Norfolk and was affirmed by the U. S. Circuit Court in Richmond.

The refusal to review the decision lets it stand unchanged. The Supreme Court's refusal was announced in a brief order which gave no reason and made no comment.

School officials of both Norfolk and Newport News, joined by the state's attorney general, had appealed.

They contended the action of the lower courts "makes even more difficult of solution the most difficult social problem presented to the people of this country in eight decades."

The appeal said Judge Hoffman acted "with undue impetuosity" and said the cases gave the Supreme Court an opportunity "to lead a large section of our country out of the chaos into which the (1945) decision (against compulsory school segregation) has plunged it."

"The time has come for the Supreme Court to recognized and expound the practicalities of life in these areas and to establish a framework within which public education can continue," the appeal added.

French Women Get Breaks in Industry

PARIS — In general, women workers in France have a shorter work week than men and may not, under any circumstances, work more than 10 hours a day.

They must be given one or more daily rest periods totaling at least one hour and a weekly rest period of at least 24 consecutive hours.

Women may not be employed at night in industry.

Women are not allowed to work undergrown in mines or quarries, may not clean, grease, inspect, or repair machines in operation, and may not be employed in the more hazardous occupations.

They are entitled to a 14-week maternity leave with full job security.

Syrian News Eases Grains

CHICAGO (AP) — Grain prices eased on the board of trade today.

Indications that the Syrian crisis may be lessening in intensity resulted in general selling in early dealings in the grain markets.

Wheat declined as much as 1¼ cents a bushel at the outset as some traders again went short after evening up Friday.

There were reports that the United Kingdom purchased a million bushels of wheat out of Gulf ports over the weekend. Poland purchased three cargoes of the bread grain, also at Gulf ports.

Corn declined fractions, but this was considered not too bad in view of the current harvest.

Soybeans were off more than a cent a bushel with the harvest at its height. A lake steamer was reported to have cleared Chicago for Toronto, with 102,900 bushels of beans.

Near the end of the first hour, new style wheat was ⅝ to one cent a bushel lower, Dec. $2.18⅛; corn ⅜ to ½ lower, Dec. $1.20⅞; oats ⅛ to ⅜ lower, Dec. 67⅛; rye 1¼ to ½ lower, Dec. $1.29; soybeans ¾ to 1¼ lower, Nov. $2.31¼; lard was 7 to 12 cents a hundred pounds lower, Nov. $11.65.

Announce Cost of Opel Rekord

Buick Suggests Prices From $1,800 Up on Cars Built in Germany

Suggested port-of-entry list prices of the 1958 Opel Rekord two-door sedan will range from $1,812.50 at New York to $1,994.64 at San Francisco, it was announced today by Edward T. Ragsdale, general manager of Buick and vice president of General Motors.

Buick is distributing the German-made Opel under the General Motors foreign car marketing program.

Ragsdale said that virtually all Buick dealers in the United States will handle the Opel and that he expects franchising to be completed through Buick's 30 zones by the end of October.

The suggested list prices of the Rekord cover both coasts. The suggested $1,812.50 figure for New York covers all Opels destined for delivery at any Atlantic or Gulf Coast port, with the $1,994.64 suggested for San Francisco effective for the entire Pacific Coast.

Ragsdale said that a suggested list price of $1,881.36 has been set for Detroit and other Great Lakes ports, but that it is unlikely the German cars will be available in the Middle West before spring.

Standard equipment on the Rekord includes heater and defroster, red line speedometer and odometer, clock, cigarette lighter, non-glare rear view mirror, turn signals, dual sun visors, deluxe steering wheel, ash trays, adjustable front seat and safety glass windows.

The 1958 Opel has a four-cylinder valve-in-head engine with a compression ratio of 7.5-to-1 and a displacement of 90.8 cubic inches. It has a 100 inch wheelbase, an overall length of 174 inches and is 64 inches wide.

Death Notices

MRS. BLANCHE VAIL

MILFORD—Service for Blanche Vail, 80, was held this morning from St. Mary Church here, with burial in St. Mary Cemetery. Arrangements were by the Richardson-Bird Funeral Home. Mrs. Vail died Friday in St. Elizabeth Briarbank Convalescent Home, Bloomfield Hills.

Reward 2 Drivers

Mrs. Ruth Fitzgerald, of 2163 Crane Rd., Waterford Township, and Mrs. Colleen Lumsden, of 9810 Avonlea St., were presented Saturday with boxes of candy for showing courtesy as drivers.

The awards were made in conjunction with "Sweetest Day" and a program to honor such drivers in the area by the Detroit advertising firm of Clark & Roberts.

Two Cars Collide in Mixup at Light

Two drivers who thought they each had the light, collided at Cass and Johnson street Sunday night.

Louis W. Humphreys Jr., of Clarkston said he had a flashing signal while Granus S. Brown, 27, of 155 Euclid Ave., said he had the green light.

Injured was Mrs. Shirley Brown, 28, who was treated at Pontiac General Hospital for a sprained knee.

LANSING (AP)—Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan today told a story of how the Mennen Co. of Morristown, N. J., had been "victimized" by John Dio, New York labor racketeer.

Williams, a stockholder of the toiletries firm, said the situation already had been revealed to Sen. McClellan (D-Ark), chairman of the U. S. Senate Rackets Committee.

The governor, making public a letter to McClellan, said he had decided to release the story because "it shows how a business firm, operating in good faith, can find itself dealing with racketeers under the guise of labor organization."

The story came to him, he said, through his cousin, George Mennen, a company vice president.

This was the account given to him by Mennen, Williams said:

Dio first did business with the company in 1951, representing local 102 of the old AFL United Auto Workers under his rightful name, John Dioguardia. Earlier, another UAW representative had attempted without success to organize the company and had led a strike which halted operations at company units in Newark, N. J., and in Kearney, N. J.

Dio was more successful, signing contracts covering both production and warehouse workers, first in 1951 as secretary-treasurer of the union, and again in 1952 as union president.

In 1953, the number of the local was changed to 649 and New York taxi drivers took over the designation of local 102.

About this time, Williams said, "it became apparent that local 102 was Johnny Dio, and Johnny Dio was a racketeer." Simultaneously Dio's place as bargaining agent for the Mennen local was taken by Joseph Curcio and George Baker. Curcio and Baker were indicted in New York last week for withholding information from a federal grand jury.

In 1953, Williams said, a jurisdictional fight developed at the Mennen company plant, now transferred to Morristown, between the old AFL-UAW and the International Union of Chemical Workers. In a 1954 election supervised by the National Labor Relations Board, company employes rejected both unions as their bargaining agent.

Williams said this situation led to false charges by the late Detroit Mayor Albert E. Cobo, his Republican opponent in the 1956 governor election, that the company had employed strike-breaking tactics.

He said he held off a reply to the charges at the time "because I felt that to do so might cast disrepute on all of organized labor, and I know that 99 per cent of labor leaders are men and women of integrity."

REALIZES DAD'S WISH—Nine-year-old polio victim Craig Baker, 1734 Bonnieview St., Royal Oak, turns the sod on the site of the proposed $49,000 new headquarters for the Oakland County Society for Crippled Children. Craig is the son of the society's former president Phil Baker who instigated the need for the building and was killed in an auto accident in 1954. Left to right are: L. C. Megee, of Clarkston, society president; Craig; Mrs. Fred H. Rollins Jr., of Birmingham, second vice president and case committee chairman; four-year-old polio victim Deborah Shelton, 566 E. Tennyson Ave., Miss Easter Seal of Pontiac, 1957; and William Bullock, of Royal Oak, first vice president and building committee chairman. Groundbreaking ceremonies were held yesterday on the building site, the west side of Telegraph road across from the county service center.

Most People Plan for the Future

We have a great number of investors who save regularly in our savings shares paying a current rate of dividends of 3½% and 4½%.

These investors have a definite plan in mind, such as home ownership, education for the children, and many other worthy plans.

Why not come in and inquire about our savings investments backed by 67 years of conservative management and over $4,000,000 in Reserves and Undivided Profits as an added safety.

Defense Cutbacks Affect Industry as Well as Military

Editor's Note — This is the first of a two-part series discussion the scope and impact of the U.S. military cutback program.

By ELTON C. FAY
AP Military Affairs Reporter

WASHINGTON (AP) — By next summer there will be a million fewer men in the armed forces than at the end of the Korean War. There also will be fewer military bases and less military buying of hardware and other goods.

Over-all, it is the biggest defense cutback since the wholesale curtailment after World War II. And the tempo is stepping up sharply.

When the Eisenhower administration set out on its "new look" military program in 1953, that objective was based primarily on the idea of nuclear and jet age weapons to provide more firepower for fewer men.

Today there are strong overtones of economy, reflecting the administration's determination to keep the budget balanced and hold national spending within the 275-billion-dollar debt limit.

A series of Pentagon orders, previously issued or now coming out, calls for:

1. Trimming total military manpower from a 1953 level of 3,600,000 to a mid-1958 level 2,600,000. Still further trimming may be in prospect.

2. Reducing civilian employes of the defense establishment by at least 350,000 from a force of 1½ million.

3. Closing down or curtailing operations at more than 100 bases, government-operated plants or plants run for the government by private firms.

4. Reducing the Air Force unit structure by not less than nine wings—and possibly more. The Air Force had 137 wings last spring. Orders now call for a cut to 128 wings. There have been hints the ultimate level might be lower. A wing ranges from 45 bombers to 75 fighter planes.

5. Cutting the Army to 15 divisions. The Army had 20 in 1953, the same number in 1955. It now has 17. There also are reductions in smaller units.

6. Shrinking the Navy's active fleet to 901 ships by next June 30. Last June, the fleet had 967 ships. There now are about 940.

7. Delaying delivery (termed the stretchout method) or terminating outright contracts for a wide variety of equipment and supplies, ranging from jet bombers to petroleum.

But the spending hold-down may be applied to future developments and requirements as well.

Pressures created by Russia's claimed success in the long-range ballistic missile field and by the Soviets' satellite launching are bringing increased demands for a stepup in the U.S. missile development effort.

If these pressures result in a decision that more money is needed, there is a good chance President Eisenhower will insist the military find the money for more missile work in its existing funds, through further cutbacks and economies.

The most direct impact of these cutbacks is, of course, on the plans and operations of the military. But there is also an effect upon industry and labor which works on government contracts, and upon communities depending in part on money spent by bases and personnel in their area.

Within about two months, the Defense department issued two cutback orders to drop a total of about 200,000 men from the Army, Navy and Air Force. The first order, posted by Wilson July 16, directed a cut of 100,000 men by next Dec. 31. The second, issued Aug. 19, ordered a further cut of about 100,000 by next June 30, the end of the 1958 fiscal year.

By next June 30, the Army will be down to 900,000 men. In 1953 it had an average of about 1,530,000 men. It was down to a little over a million men last year and had reached a level of 997,000 by last June 30.

The Army is closing down nine ordnance production plants and curtailing operations at five others. It is closing out eight storage and depot facilities, a terminal and a general hospital. Several thousand civilian employes of the Army are thus affected.

The Navy, in mothballing ships, also is reducing the number of its sailors. By next June 30, its manpower will be down to 645,000. This compares with a strength of 677,108 last June 30 and 794,440 in mid-1953.

About 70 smaller Navy installations are affected by plans to shut them down or drastically cut work there.

The Air Force has been ordered to drop down to 875,000 men by next June 30. Its strength last June 30 was 919,835. In June 1953, it had 977,593.

The Air Force is reducing by 10 the number of reserve squadrons and dropping three Air National Guard squadrons.

The Air Force also is closing down about a score of its smaller installations, employing several thousand civilians.

The biggest impact of Air Force cutbacks on civilians, however, is showing in the stretchout or termination of contracts.

The aircraft industry has expressed deep concern about the effect of the reduction of military procurement on plants and on their skilled employes.

Tomorrow: The impact of the cutback program on key areas of the nation.

Siamese Twin Girls in Texas Reported OK

WELLINGTON, Tex. (AP)—Guadalupe and Raguel Estrada, siamese twin girls born here Saturday, were reported doing well at St. Joseph's Hospital on a diet of glucose water.

The twins, who weighed 7 pounds 3 ounces together at birth, are joined at the chest and abdomen. Their mother, Mrs. Lina Estrada, 38, of Donna, Tex., is an itinerant farm worker. She has eight other children.

Freight Train Fire Sets Off Ammunition

PIEDMONT, Ala. (AP)—A freight car loaded with ammunition caught fire and started exploding in the city limits today. Troops from nearby Ft. McClellan evacuated residents within half a mile area. No injuries were reported immediately.

Officers said the blaze started on a Seaboard Air Line freight train on the Atlanta-Birmingham line in this east Alabama town of about 2,500.

The car was cut out of the train and shunted to a siding. The Ft. McClellan troops came from Anniston, 25 miles to the southwest. The car was loaded with 105 mm ammunition, officers said.

Bomb Wrecks Home of Alabama Negroes

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—For the third time dynamite has wrecked plans of Negro families to move into a formerly all-white neighborhood. Police are seeking dynamiters who caused heavy damage to a frame bungalow into which Mrs. Cleo Prince was planning to move. Two other houses which Negroes had bought in the Fountain Heights section were bombed last April.

Most of the houses on 12th Place North, where the explosion occurred, either are occupied by Negroes or are vacant.

Prepare to Spot Sputnik at Night

Cambridge Moonwatch to Try First After-Dark Sighting Tomorrow

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—Scientists at the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory are prepared to make their first night sighting of Sputnik and its accompanying rocket when they pass along the coast this week.

The rocket passed some 400 miles east of Boston at 6:27 EST last night but observatory officials did not attempt to spot it because it was not high enough above the horizon to be visible.

Observatory officials said that tomorrow night the rocket should be high enough for good viewing as it makes a southwest to northeast swing and passes 200 miles southeast of Boston at 6:10 p.m.

Observers at the observatory said the data they are drawing from the satellite is directly applicable to future American satellites.

Information from the continuing reports of sightings is enabling scientists to refine the predicted orbit of Sputnik and the rocket.

Latest figures released by the observatory show that Sputnik is now circling the globe once every 95.5 minutes compared with the original estimated pace of 96.4 minutes.

Western Jews Meet in Paris on Welfare

PARIS (INS) — Jewish Welfare leaders from the U. S. and all the Western European nations opened a three-day meeting in Paris today to assess their financial needs for 1958.

Also high on the agenda is the recent approval by Communist Poland for the American Joint Distribution Committee to operate again inside Poland, where it had been banned since 1949.

The welfare leaders play a key role in providing assistance to distressed and needy Jews in 25 nations throughout the world.

The AJDC is the organization charged with dispensing the major portion of funds collected through such charity drives as the United Jewish Appeal.

Hospital Group Plans Follies

Mrs. Raymond Rapaport reported on national convention in Atlantic City when Women's Auxiliary to Pontiac General Hospital met Friday in Adah Shelly Library.

Plans were discussed for High Fever Follies to be held Nov. 6 and 7.

2 New Members Named to Orion Zoning Board

LAKE ORION — Two new members have been named to the Orion Township Zoning Board. George Collingwood's appointment will bring the former four-man board to five; and G. Lewis Cheal's appointment is to replace Frank Blenman who recently resigned.

A NEW FAMILY — Canine star Lassie makes friends with 7-year-old Jon Provost, who is slated to become her new owner in CBS-TV's "Lassie" series. A whole new cast of human friends will surround the popular collie before the end of the year. "Lassie" is telecast Sundays at 6 p.m.

Collie Will Get New Co-Stars

TV Series to Feature Complete Cast Change This Season

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

Before the year is over, the shaggy-haired pooch with the sad eyes will have a whole new cast of two-legged playmates, friends and "relatives."

Angel-faced, 7-year-old Jon Provost already has been introduced on the "Lassie" show and will take over as Lassie's new "owner" in a story line that has 16-year-old Tommy Rettig and his mother, Jan Clayton, leaving the farm for big city life.

Also due to be written out of the show are chubby Donald

Cleveland's death and Tommy "growing out" of the role cued the big changes, which include a young couple buying the farm and adopting both Lassie and young Provost.

NEW MOTHER

Cloris Leachman, who won a movie role in "Kiss Me Deadly" after starring on live New York TV shows ("Kitty Foyle"), will be the new "mother" in the series.

With Lassie as the central character, this series has a big advantage over other TV family life shows. A kid star growing up, and even death, doesn't stop the cameras.

Sighing for Rubirosa? He's Like All the Rest

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — You wives who think Porfirio Rubirosa's dreamy and that your husband's a slob — I've got news.

The other night he forgot that his French bride was waiting for him and sat down to chat for half an hour with a male chum. When Mrs. Rubi stormed in, the friend tried to take the blame saying, "He forgot you were there because he hadn't seen me for so long." And Mrs. Rubi retorted, "Yes, but you weren't here when he did the same thing last night!"

Can dogs really talk? Hollywood movie actress Margia Dean and beau Tommy Whalen were saying that her Afghans can—that they have one bark to say "Somebody coming to the door," another for "It's the newsboy," another which is a sound of alarm, etc. B'way publicist Harry Sobol claims his dog goes further and says, "You're handsomer than Clark Gable."

Nobody paid much attention to the paintings in a motel lobby in Miami until the owner stuck a small card in them reading: "ON LOAN FROM PATRICK SMITH ART GALLERY." Then everybody got enthusiastic—not knowing Pat Smith is the motel's lifeguard.

Romanian Law Stiffens

VIENNA (AP) — Persons stealing state-owned property now face the death penalty in Romania, Radio Bucharest announced today. Western observers attribute the introduction of capital punishment to the fear of the Red regime of increasing sabotage.

Israeli Car Exploded

Jerusalem (AP) — An Israeli car was blown up last night by a mine between Nir Izhak and Keren Shalom, west of the Gaza Strip, today. There were no casualties.

Council Tongues Wag

NEW GLASGOW, N.S. (AP)—Miss Margaret Whadden, town clerk for 25 years, said here that no group of women ever talked as much as the men on the New Glasgow town council. Speaking at a dinner for the high school cadet band, she said she hoped that women would take a greater part in civic affairs.

MBC Cancels Time for Kohler Speech

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — The Mutual Broadcasting Co. chose to fill the network with music last night rather than carry a recorded speech by Herbert V. Kohler, president of the strikebound Kohler Co., of Kohler, Wis., scheduled for the Manion Forum.

Clarence E. Manion, director of the forum and former University of Notre Dame Law School dean, said "as a matter of principle" he refused to prepare a substitute program for the weekly broadcast after MBS officials said Kohler's speech was unacceptable.

Kohler charged in his speech that there had been more than 800 acts of violence and vandalism at his plumbing fixture plant since April 5, 1954, when the United Auto Workers called a strike.

Manion said his forum agreed to pay for matching radio time for the UAW to reply to Kohler. Kohler said he also agreed to indemnify Mutal for any possible damages—but only if his speech was carried in full.

Manion said a reference in the speech to a fatal assault on a nonstriking Kohler worker and refusal of Michigan officials to extradite the alleged assailant apparently were the principal objections of network attorneys.

Ernie Long's Memory Proves Too Short

CLARKSBURG (AP) — The maintenance engineer at the Harrison County Courthouse, Ernie Long, sometimes wonders if his memory is long or short.

Long was one of six persons trapped in the elevator which got stuck between the first and second floor.

After two hours, rescue workers finally found the keys to the elevator control box . . . in Long's pocket.

Construction Worker Proves Why

Never Rains but It Pours

MATTOON, Ill. (AP)—To much rain fell into K. W. Cushman's life last week, and it all but threw this east central Illinois town into an uproar.

"It wouldn't have happened if it hadn't rained," Cushman said yesterday, explaining that he and some pals got drunk when a downpour Thursday kept them from their outdoor jobs. Here, said police, is what Cushman did:

Tried to drive a car up a rockpile at the Huckaba & Sons Construction Co. where he works.

He then passed out in the seat of the machine, where police found him, allowing the motor to run and its whirling tracks to bury the dozer in mud.

Cushman was fined $50 for drunkenness and $100 for disorderly conduct in what was probably the biggest ruckus in Mattoon since a drunk drove and wrecked a locomotive in 1935.

Hal Boyle Says:

Philip Reigns Over Queen on Fishing Trips

That Queen Elizabeth II may be boss in Buckingham Palace, but when she goes fishing she takes her guidance from her husband, as do most wives...It was Prince Philip who converted her from trout to salmon fishing, now a favorite hobby with both.

That women buy one of every three beers sold at the Yankee Stadium.

That it was hopeful Charles Lamb who said, "not many sounds in life exceed in interest a knock at the door."

That you can't pull hair out by the roots. . . The tiny white bulb at the bottom of a length of hair, commonly thought to be the root, is no more than the base of the strand. . . and the root keeps right on growing.

That the latest joke in East Europe concerns a Moscow factory worker who was sentenced to 10 years for shouting "Khrushchev is a drunken idiot:" . . . "You must serve three years for offending the first secretary," the judge told the prisoner sternly, "and seven years for betraying a state secret."

That bandleader Sammy Kaye offers this argument for bachelorhood: "Why should a man give a girl half his food just for cooking the other half?"

That you can make a handy shoe rack from an old discarded curtain rod. . . just tack it to the inside of a closet door and hang shoes on it by their heels. (and aren't we getting to be mother's little helper!)

That smoking may not give you a disease, but nearly a third of all fires in the United States are caused by careless handling of cigarettes or matches.

That the odds are even if your ancestors came over on the first Mayflower you can't name the captain of the ship...Christopher Jones.

That the figureheads on old sailing vessels were there for a practical reason...to scare away sea serpents.

That no one yet has improved on ex-Mayor Jimmy Walker's definition of a reformer: "A guy who rides through a sewer in a glass-bottom boat."

That except for Death Valley, Calif., the only area in the United States below sea level is New Orleans.

That molasses, which in the old days was used chiefly as a bread spread, is now a source of glycerin, acetone, acetic acid, ether and carbon dioxide.

That a kangaroo's hop averages 5 to 10 feet when he's merely out for a stroll...but he bounds along in 15-to-20-foot leaps when something is chasing him.

That in colonial America—mid-18th Century, a population of three million consumed 12 million gallons of rum a year. They had rugged people as well as rugged winters in those days.

That two 15-year-old boys, nabbed for shoplifting phonograph records in Hess Bros. Department Store in Allentown, Pa., apparently didn't read the labels...the songs they picked: "You Shouldn't Do That" and "Don't Be A Fool."

That if you think television has cut down the reading of books by wrong...It's picked up.

That it was Christopher Morley who observed, "If you have to keep reminding yourself of a thing, perhaps it isn't so."

Hawk Causes Blaze

SHELBURNE FALLS, Mass. — A new kind of incendiarist that touched off a 10-acre forest fire in Massachusetts was reported recently by Fire Chief Roy S. Turton of Shelburne Falls. He said the "firebug" was a hawk that flew into high-tension wires and fell flaming into trees and brush below, igniting them.
