

Famous Four K's Turn to the Three R's

SCHOOL DAYS BEGIN FOR ROSEBUSH QUADS — In their second week of kindergarten, reports come that the famous Rosebush quadruplets are doing fine. Here teacher Mrs. Katherine Gillam of Leonard reads "Funny Bunny" to the youngsters (left to right) Krystal, Kenneth, Keith and Kristine. Songs, stories, cutting paper and drawing pictures are the main attractions for the four during the morning sessions they attend at Daniel Axford School in Oxford.

Adlai Hits Ike Truth Advice

Jibes GOP for Telling Nixon What Approach to Use in Speeches

WASHINGTON (INS) — Adlai Stevenson jibed at President Eisenhower today with the quip that the chief executive "made front-page headlines" by asking Vice President Richard M. Nixon "to tell the truth."

Stevenson, talking with aides, referred to the instructions Eisenhower gave GOP campaigners at the Washington Airport Tuesday when Nixon took off for a 32-state campaign tour.

The Democratic presidential nominee remarked: "It is significant the Republicans could make front-page headlines by promising to tell the truth."

Eisenhower told Nixon two days ago: "Tell the truth. Tell it forcefully. And that should be our campaign."

Aides promised that Stevenson will have more to say about Republican campaign methods to-night when he addresses a Democratic rally in Silver Springs, Md.

The Democratic nominee will make the bid for Maryland's votes before departing Saturday on a 10,000-mile campaign trip by plane to the Middle West, Rocky Mountain and Great Lakes states, and the South.

Stevenson's special target to-night will be the so-called Republican "truth squads" the GOP is sending around the country in the wake of the Democratic non-candidate's campaign appearances and speeches.

Stevenson calls the GOP speakers trailing him "myth squads." Last night, Stevenson took time out from a busy schedule to attend a performance of the new musical show, "Li'l Abner," playing in Washington in a pre-Broadway run.

School Daze for Teacher

Quads Start Kindergarten

By JANICE HAYHOW

Oakwood's famous Rosebush quads have entered kindergarten at Daniel Axford Elementary School and it's turning into a school daze for their teacher, Mrs. Katherine Gillam.

Mrs. Gillam of Leonard, frankly admits in their second week of school, she still can't tell the youngsters apart.

Mrs. Kenneth Rosebush, the quads' mother, has passed on her identifying methods to Mrs. Gillam. "Krystal's face is a little wider than Kristine's and Keith's hair is lighter than Kenneth's," Mrs. Rosebush says. But Mrs. Gillam says it just isn't that easy.

While the quads were having their picture taken, Mrs. Gillam said, "Keith, will you please move over here," and she took one of the boys by the arm. A small piping voice came from the lad, who said, "But, I'm Kenneth, Mrs. Dillam." Kenneth has trouble with his G's.

TRICKY GAMES

The two girls and two boys are slowly becoming aware too, that they might have fun with their close resemblances.

The other evening Krystal asked her mother, "Who am I?" Mrs. Rosebush said, "Why, you're Krystal." "No, I'm Kristine," said Krystal.

Mrs. Rosebush quelled that bit of trickery with "I know who you are. You can't fool me." Krystal revealed Mrs. Gillam had trouble telling her and her sister apart.

Both Mrs. Gillam and Mrs. Rosebush report the quads have taken to school wonderfully. "Every night they come home with a new song they've learned or a new story Mrs. Gillam has told them," Mrs. Rosebush said.

Mrs. Gillam says the quads are very independent and don't hang together through the day. "They have their own special friends and have really adjusted beautifully to school in these two weeks," she said.

But there's no doubt Mrs. Gillam and the teachers who follow her will have quite a harried time keeping the four straight.

Life's fun and school's wonderful to these bouncing 5½ year-olds. And there's no question that life with the Rosebush quads will be pretty exciting to the teachers and friends the four will meet during their school careers.

Despondent Parents Dead; Hint Murder and Suicide

CASPIAN, Mich. (AP)—A deeply grieving couple whose 14-year-old son was fatally injured in a baseball accident Aug. 12 was found dead last night in their Caspian home, just outside Iron River on the Wisconsin border. Shotgun blasts had killed them.

Coroner Raymond J. LaFave and Sheriff E. P. Sandri said it was a case of murder and suicide agreed upon between the two, but a coroner's jury decided the husband died by his own hand and his wife died "by methods and means unknown."

Victims were John B. Peretto, 47, and his wife, Levia, 44.

Their son, Jerome, was struck in the temple by a hotly hit grounder in batting practice on the Caspian High School playground across the street from his home. He died the next day.

Mr. and Mrs. Peretto's death left an 8-year-old son, Dickie, an orphan. He was in school when they died.

The Perettos had been despondent since Jerome's death and Tuesday night had dinner with the Rev. Herman Fadale, their parish priest, who was trying to console them.

Father Fadale said Peretto had planned to take his wife to a clinic yesterday because of her depression, but that she was in such improved spirits when they left him Peretto said he was canceling the appointment.

Coroner LaFave and Sheriff Sandri said it was obvious that Peretto killed his wife and then himself.

A trail of blood led from the basement upstairs. LaFave and Sandri surmised Peretto had only nicked himself with the second shot and had gone upstairs for a third shell, crawled back down to the basement and blown off his head. Bodies of the couple were less than three feet apart.

Peretto was a truck driver for the Buck Iron Mine in Caspian.

Three men, one of them armed, were scared off by an approaching auto during an attempted holdup of Presto Grocery store, 336 S. Saginaw St. near closing time last night.

The owner, Nick Sultos, told Pontiac police the men were about to take $15 from the open cash register when the auto pulled to the curb across the street and frightened the men.

They entered about 10:50 p.m. when Sultos was about to close up with the help of his wife and a cousin, Stephen Seros.

One man pulled a long barreled revolver from his pocket, Sultos said, and another ordered the cousin to hand over the money.

Seros received a minor shoulder bruise when he was shoved against a counter, police said. No one else was harmed.

41 County Youths Armed for Gang War Nabbed at Restaurant in Bloomfield Twp.

Police and Sheriff's deputies moved in on a threatened gang fight last night in Bloomfield Township and arrested 41 Pontiac and Waterford Township youths, many of them armed.

Tipped off by an anonymous phone call that "a rumble" was scheduled at a Telegraph road diner, six officers watched the scene and arrested the youths before fighting could start.

Arraigned this morning before Waterford Township Justice Willis D. Leturgy, five of the boys pleaded guilty to attempting to create a disturbance. They will be sentenced Sept. 27.

Eleven others pleaded innocent. Three will be arraigned today. Two more were released, and 20 were turned over to juvenile authorities.

10 ON PROBATION
According to deputies, five of the youths already are on probation. Five of the juveniles were on juvenile court probation.

Weapons taken from the boys included knives, linoleum knives, lead pipes, jack handles, brass knuckles and lengths of bicycle chain with taped handles.

Deputies Fred Pender, Don Fauser, Don Kratt and Keith Breckenridge, who made the arrests with Bloomfield Township Officers Knute Tubbs and Orville Grieve, said the planned fight apparently stemmed from "an exchange of words" earlier this week.

They said they don't know what the argument was about.

Dr. Dana P. Whitmer, superintendent of Pontiac schools, said today his staff is investigating the incident and will discuss possible action to prevent similar future incidents.

Assistant Prosecutor Robert D. Long, who interviewed some of the youths before entering the charge, said all told him they had gone to the diner "because they heard there was going to be a fight, and they wanted to watch it."

When police arrived, the youths had arrived in about 12 cars. Deputies said some of the boys still were sitting in the cars. Most, they said, had gotten out and were "milling around."

When the officers moved in, they said, many of the youths threw their weapons into an adjacent field.

Pleading guilty to attempting to create a disturbance were:

Richard Spencer, 17, of 40 Clarence St.; Elwood St. Croix, 20, of 832 Sarasota Ave.; Craig Gilchrist, 17, of Drayton Plains, and Duane Oik, 21, and Forrest Oik, 19, both of 2776 Dixie Highway.

Canal Users Union Picks Up Backing

'I'm Fit to Run 4 More Years,' Ike Tells Nation

Says He Wants to Lead Active Quest for Peace in World

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower told American voters last night he feels physically fit to carry on for four more years what he called a vigorous quest for real peace.

In his first nationwide radio-television bid for reelection, he said he wants a militarily strong and vigilant, but patient and comprehending, America to lead the world to peace.

Several times he took issue with his Democratic opponent, Adlai E. Stevenson, without mentioning his name. And he accepted at the start the health challenge the Democrats have raised because of his abdominal operation last June and his heart attack nearly a year ago.

Keying his speech to the word "peace," he said he has achieved a personal kind of peace—"granted to me by the mercy of the Almighty"—that gives him confidence he can carry on the duties of the presidency.

"It is this firm conviction: I am confident of my own physical strength to meet all the responsibilities of the presidency, today and in the years just ahead," he said. "If I were not so convinced, I would never have accepted re-nomination to this office."

Eisenhower's presentation of his case on a single network, CBS, was in contrast to Stevenson's four-network campaign opener for Harrisburg, Pa., last week. The GOP National Committee chose to leave three networks open for those who might wish to watch or hear other things.

Having finished this first of the half-dozen television addresses which he says will make up the bulk of his campaign, Eisenhower takes off today for two off-the-cuff farm speeches in Iowa tomorrow. It is his first campaign trip, except for a journey to speak to GOP workers at his farm near Gettysburg, Pa.

Monroe Bus Crash Victim Is Identified

DETROIT (AP)—A woman killed in a fiery bus-truck crash a week ago near Monroe was identified yesterday as Mrs. Marie Crossman, 50, of Detroit. She was a widow and lived alone.

Mrs. Crossman, a funeral home receptionist, was en route home from a New York vacation when she met death.

GOP Tells Williams:

'Jobless Aid Pure Politics'

LANSING (AP)—Republicans bombarded Gov. Williams with charges of "politics" as the Legislature held its last pre-election meeting on unemployment compensation and assorted other issues.

The Democratic governor, who had some sharp things to say in greeting the returning lawmakers yesterday, replied in kind. He called a Republican proposal on vocational re-training for jobless a "mess of political pottage."

In the atmosphere that prevailed, it was even clearer that little of consequence would emerge from the stop-and-go special session that began June 13.

The Legislature was expected to quit today until Nov. 8, the second day after the general election.

Among the most important developments yesterday were these:

1. The Senate completed passage of a bill to bring 25,000 state employees under the Unemployment Compensation Act. This was done by approving House amendments to the bill, which passed the Senate previously. The amendments exclude from coverage about 5,000 seasonal and "casual" state workers.

2. The lawmakers turned a cold shoulder to a Williams-backed resolution for a constitutional amendment to lower the voting age from 21 to 18 years.

'POLITICAL MOVE'

Sen. Robert E. Faulkner (R-Coloma), senate labor committee chairman, assailed the governor's "labor" message, one of a flurry that Williams sent up to the lawmakers.

"The whole message is a political effort not based on fact but (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

Wanted: Some Starlings

'Here You — Birdie, Birdie' City Official Needs You

For once city officials are looking for a flock of starlings and not trying to get rid of them.

David Ewalt, Pontiac Parks and Recreation director, has a "Bird-E-Vict" machine to put to test.

"Where we had concentrations of these birds before, I've searched and searched, but no can find," Ewalt declared.

For several weeks city officials were besieged with queries how starlings could be chased from the city. They nodded hopelessly.

The machine, an amplified magnetic tape recording, pours forth with a racket of hundreds of starlings sounding their distress call. This is supposed to drive the black creatures away from the machine and their usual roosts.

But Ewalt is a little puzzled whether it will work or not. He said at a recent Grand Rapids convention, a gentleman from Owosso raved about its success. "But another fellow said the birds flocked to the machine to roost," Ewalt explained.

So, citizens of Pontiac — if any starlings are invading your premises please call Ewalt at the City Hall so he might see if this gadget works or not.

Turkey, Portugal Side With Big 3 on Running Suez

Sweden Insists Dispute Should Go Before U.N., Details of Plan Studied

LONDON (AP)—The Western Big Three proposal for a canal users' association gained new support today in the 18-nation Suez conference and delegates pointed toward finishing their work by this weekend.

Turkey and Portugal joined nine other nations in backing the plan outlined by U. S. Secretary of State Dulles for the association to work in cooperation with Egypt until the Suez crisis is permanently solved.

Ethiopia and Spain gave qualified support, but did not commit themselves to joining the association.

Sweden repeated her call for an immediate approach to the United Nations.

Representatives of the 18 nations agreed this morning to form a working committee of experts to complete details of the users' association, which would seek a share in running the canal. The working party worked on a report for the fourth full conference session this afternoon.

An American source said Dulles hoped to leave London Friday night to keep a commitment in Washington Sunday, but may stay over until Saturday night if necessary.

Japan was among the powers whose position remained to be spelled out. Conference quarters expressed belief it would back the association plan.

The French, British and Americans joined in cold-shouldering an idea endorsed by Soviet Premier Bulganin for a summit meeting of the Western Big Three, the Soviet Union, India and Egypt to solve the Suez dispute.

An American source said: "Our delegation is cool to the idea."

Credit Relaxed on Small Houses

Lower Down Payment, Looser Terms Intended to Stimulate Building

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government's home financing agencies took steps today to lower down payments and ease credit for construction of housing.

Four specific actions were announced by the White House. They are designed mainly to stimulate the low-cost housing field. This is what was done:

1. The Federal Housing Administration cut from 7 to 5 per cent the minimum down payment on houses appraised at $9,000 or less. On a $9,000 house this would lower the down payment by $180.

2. The Federal Home Loan Bank Board boosted from 10 to 12½ per cent of their share capital the limitation on borrowing of member institutions. This was aimed at improving the capacity of savings and loan and other home financing institutions to meet the demand for mortgage loans.

3. The Federal National Mortgage Assn., (FNMA), in effect, raised the price it will pay for mortgages by one per cent, in an effort to provide more funds for builders and buyers.

4. The FNMA also agreed to issue advance commitments to buy home mortgages at prices more favorable to the seller.

The agency also is raising the price paid for mortgages from 92 per cent to 94 per cent. These moves are expected to help the builder in planning.

Area Objections

Meeting Held to Present Facts for Citizens on Future Highways

A highway network costing $2.2 billion will be built in the Detroit area in the next 20 years, county road officials told the Plan Commission meeting yesterday.

The meeting, called to review the area highway situation for citizens objecting to planned roads near their homes, featured a presentation of facts about county roads and plans by Robert A. Larson, highway planning engineer for the Plan Commission.

Officials from the County Road Commission, the Inter-County Highway Commission, the County Board of Supervisors and the Supervisors Roads and Bridges Committee attended the session.

Mark McGovern, representing the Bloomfield-Southfield Civic Assn., asked planners what legal power the County has "to circumvent things we don't like in the plans the state and federal governments are thrusting on us."

Plan Commission chairman J. Robert F. Swanson told McGovern the county has no legal power in this situation, but the State Highway Commission has been "more cooperative" in the past year than in previous years.

In an effort to avoid lawsuits over planned roads by individuals Swanson said, the state officials are seeking opinions from local authorities on routes the new roads will follow.

Hiland M. Thatcher, chairman of the six-county Inter-County Highway Commission, said his group has received "full cooperation" from the State Highway Department.

Officials emphasized "the roads are going to be built, and you can't build a road without hurting some people. About the only thing we can do is try to see as few people get hurt as possible."

McGovern said he agreed, but in his opinion the announced State Highway Department route for the proposed Southfield expressway was not laid out advantageously.

Larson in his talk reviewed work done on the recently completed "Detroit Origin and Destination Survey," a $750,000 report on traffic movements in the metropolitan area.

Planners in this survey projected probable future movements for 1980, he said, and then laid out plans for an expressway network covering Detroit and its suburbs.

Including the planned interstate expressway network, he said, with the 213 miles of Detroit expressways, the total system will cost $2.2 billion. It is slated for completion by 1980, with interstate roads to be finished by 1970.

According to the survey, Larson said, this system will be "barely adequate" by the time it is finished. "We'll be doing well to keep up with the increase of cars on the road by that time," he said.

The survey predicts area population will increase 48 per cent by 1980, with car ownership rising by 61 per cent. A total of 50 per cent more cars is expected on area roads.

Pontiac Police Ask for Code

City Trial Board Invited to Discuss Modification of Discipline Methods

The Pontiac Police Officers' Assn. wants a set of rules for the disciplining of police officers called before the City Police and Fire Trial Board.

An association committee, headed by Patrolman Forest C. Hatfield, a 20-year police veteran, has invited the trial board to consider proposed police rules, regulations and procedures governing the board's action.

In an outline containing the proposals, the association hopes "to create better morale in the employees of the Pontiac Police Department and provide more uniformity in the future proceedings of the Police and Fire Trial Board."

Sgt. James Carr, police committee secretary, said he hopes some plan can be worked out by "mutual agreement." The suggestions, he said, are partially based on the Defense Department's Uniform Code of Military Justice.

The trial board hears infractions of police rules and regulations and sentences convicted policemen. Officers have complained sentences have become overly stiff for minor infractions.

He questioned the "sincerity" of Williams' bill to revise payroll tax schedules of 28,000 employers with four to seven persons who first became subject to the levy earlier this year.

The businessmen would get their "first tax break in the election year of 1958," Faulkner said. Two years later their tax rate would be four times what it would be if the existing law were left undisturbed.

No move was made to do anything about the main bone of contention at the special session, the governor's bill on raising jobless pay benefits. It has been stuck in committee for three months—almost since the session started.

Majority Republicans have fought it as unnecessary, costly and as likely to drive industry out of the state by increasing tax burdens.

Another cry of "politics" against Williams and fellow Democrats came from Sen. Carlton H. Morris (R-Kalamazoo), Senate taxation committee chairman.

He opposed a bill sponsored by Sen. Harold M. Ryan (D-Detroit), and backed by other Democratic senators and Williams, to appropriate $2,500 to Harold and Evelyn Farr of Plainfield Township, Kent County.

Recreation Board to Plan Events in Park and Pool

BIRMINGHAM — Program for the winter will be discussed at tonight's regular recreation board meeting at the municipal building.

Finances will be a factor in the discussion, with plans being presented by Recreation Director Robert Girardin for the skating rink, winter swimming and other planned programs.

Winter swimming starts Oct. 6 for elementary children. At Barnum school pool on Saturdays, it starts for beginning boys and girls, two classes for each group and one each intermediate and advanced classes, with mixed groups. A series of 10 lessons will be given.

A fee of two dollars will be charged, with registration now under way at the recreation office in the municipal building.

A chin-up measuring at a 45-inch mark is taken to qualify enrollees. A child must be able to keep his mouth out of water at the shallow end of the pool.

Hours and events at Eton Park, which opens in mid-November, only about six weeks away, will be talked at the meeting. A junior basketball league will be discussed, as well as a winter program in the high school gym for adults.

University of Michigan has given degrees to a number of Bloomfield and Birmingham students, mailing them following completion of summer studies.

Birmingham graduates include George E. Clarke, who receives a master of business administration, Margaret S. Brunner, MS, Richard E. Durnbaugh, MA, Grover J. Farnsworth, MA, Donald M. Goldsmith, bachelor of architecture, Carol D. James, BA, in education, Mary E. Kemp, MA, Elaine R. Warren, MA, and Catherine C. Shinnick, BS.

Bloomfield Hills graduates are John W. Kausch, BS and Adele F. Youel, master of music.

Lekenta Gets Jail Term in Assault Case

ALLEGAN (AP)—Eugene Lekenta was sentenced to one year in jail today after pleading guilty of aggravated assault on a Western Michigan College athlete in a Memorial Day skirmish at Saugatuck.

Judge Raymond L. Smith ordered the sentence to run concurrently with a one-year term now being served in Ingham County by the 24-year-old former Michigan State University football player.

The balance of the sentence will be served at Allegan after his release from Ingham County.

Lekenta was accused of striking Fred Corbus, 23, in a scuffle outside a Saugatuck restaurant. Corbus suffered a brain hemorrhage and still is partly paralyzed.

PROOF ENOUGH?—Anyone driving by this hillside near Mineral Point, Wis., knows that someone loves "Julie." Indeed he does. Jack Kenyon, 24, using a fertilizer spreader for a pen, wrote his girl's name across a quarter mile of hillside in letters 100 yards in depth. Now the grass is up and flourishing to spell out his message. It must have impressed his lady-love, 20-year-old Julie Fernekes, because the pair eloped soon after.

So surrounded is Michigan by and Michigan—that no point in the miles distant from the shore of its three Great lakes—Huron, Erie, state is said to be more than 85 one of them.

'Man With the Hole in His Shoe' Will It Be Dem's Song?

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A prospective at a St. Louis county courthouse Democratic campaign song, inspired by a famous photo and called "The Man With the Hole in His Shoe," will be given its first public performance tonight.

Phonograph records of the song have been produced by a St. Louis firm and feature a baritone and a quartet called appropriately "The Campaigners."

The records will be distributed nationally—for about $1 a copy—with proceeds to go to the Democratic campaign fund. The martial tune is by Seth Greiner of St. Louis and the words by James Monroe of Collinsville, Ill., who was inspired by the 1952 photo of Adlai Stevenson with a worn shoe sole.

The public performance will be

The song has no official status as yet but Stevenson's campaign staff helped Monroe with the wording. The first verse: "Here comes the man with a hole in his shoe. He's a man with a plan for the work there's to do. He is tried; he'll be true, for the four years through. He's the man with a hole in his shoe."

TODAY'S ASSIGNMENT FOR:

JUNIOR EDITORS

FUN WITH SHADOWS—1
The Rabbit

With a little practice you will become more skillful at using your fingers for interesting shadows, and you may be able to invent some of your own.

Remember that the brighter the light the blacker the shadow on the screen will be; and the nearer to the screen, the clearer and sharper the shadow will be.

One of the easiest shadows is a rabbit. There are many variations, and here is a timid little one sitting up on its back legs in alarm.

Put your hands into the position shown. You can always judge how well the shadow looks to your audience by looking at your side of the screen. Try making his ears twitch and his paws shake. If you know a short story or verse about a rabbit you can recite it at the same time.

(Junior Editors $10 award goes to Joanne Koshalek, Rothschild, Wis., for sending in this idea first. Send in your suggestions care of this newspaper. Violet Moore Higgins; AP Newsfeatures.)

New 'Weapon' Used to Fire Nylon Line

BERLIN, Conn. (AP)—The Connecticut Light & Power Co. has added a weapon resembling a sawed-off shotgun to the equipment of its linemen.

It's not to repel wild beasts, few of which are found in Connecticut's hinterland anyway, but to fire a half-pound brass rod attached to 550 feet of nylon line.

The company said it learned the value of the line throwing device during the 1955 Connecticut floods when it was used to get lines across streams at spots where bridges had been washed out.

Retired Railman Wills His Estate to Train Union

ESCANABA (INS)—A retired railroad engineer recently left most of his $75,000 estate to the brotherhood of locomotive engineers because "everything I have I owe to them."

The late Frank P. Greene entered the railroad field when he was 16 years old. He started firing locomotives in a lumber camp and was an engineer on the Soo line when he retired in 1940, after 50 years on railroads as a member of the union.

Space Travel Rules Written

No Colonizing Allowed on All Foreign Planets
in World of Future

ROME (U)—The president of the American Rocket Society said today there must be no colonizing or flag-raising on other planets by earth's space travelers of the future.

Andrew G. Haley, Washington, D.C., attorney and space travel enthusiast, told the 7th International Astronautical Congress that higher forms of life might be encountered on space travels.

"We must not sell out to conquer," he said. "If we do we may find ourselves not triumphant perpetrators of evil oppression but prisoners of the just."

He presented one of the few nontechnical papers to the 22-nation conference. It dealt with space law.

Haley said the maxim of space law must be "Do unto others as they would have you do unto them." He laid down this rule for space exploration:

"In any instance where there is reason to believe life exists on a planet, no earth spaceship may land without having satisfactorily ascertained that (1) landing and contact will injure neither explorer nor explored and (2) until the earthship has been invited to land by the explored."

Astronomers generally agree there is little likelihood of higher forms of life on Venus and Mars, the most promising of the Earth's neighbors, because of unfavorable atmospheric conditions. Life on other planets in the solar system is ruled out because of great heat on Mercury and low density and intense cold on the rest.

Thank the Dutch for Those Happy Coffee Breaks

ANN ARBOR (U)—Appreciate that coffee break twice a day?

You can thank the Dutch who settled in Michigan in 1847, a University of Michigan researcher says.

F. Clever Bald, assistant director of the university's historical collections, say the Dutch brought the custom with them and it has spread throughout the country.

Bald, who says The Netherlands information service at Holland, Mich., backs him up, explained that most people have their coffee break at 10 a. m. and 3 p. m. with benefit of a roll or doughnut.

The Netherlands service said this: "The coffee break at Holland probably stems back to the old Dutch custom of serving coffee at about 11 o'clock in the morning, a custom that prevails in The Netherlands today."

Scots to Revive Memory

Coming -- Bagpipe College

By FRED DOERFLINGER
GLASGOW (INS) — The wail of bagpipes may sound like the cries or the screeching of witches to outsiders but it's classical music to Scottish ears.

In fact the Scots come to think so much of their national noise that they intend to spread this disturbing cacophony to the far corners of the world.

An appeal will shortly be launched from Glasgow for funds to establish a new college of piping at Borraeraig in the Isle of Skye, where the famous MacCrimmons of Borraeraig, hereditary pipers to the clan MacLeod, taught bagpipe playing to students from every Scot clan for three centuries during the Middle Ages.

REVIVIE MEMORY

The idea is to revive the Borraeraig college both as a living memorial to the MacCrimmons and as a summer school center where pibroch—which is described as a "set of variations for Scottish Highlands bagpipe, usually martial or mournful"—can be taught to young pipers from the Celtic nations and from every other country as well.

This new college will teach the real thing—there will be no room for spurious "linker piping."

Architectural plans for a building costing $28,000 have been drawn up in anticipation grants may be obtained from organizations like the Scottish Education Department, the Carnegie Trust, and the Arts Council, which surprisingly already provides $420 a year for the encouragement of piping in Scotland.

NOT UNDERSTOOD

Scottish lovers of bagpipe music complain the full importance of the bagpipe is not understood outside Scotland or the other Celtic countries.

There is little doubt the new college will be built for the Scots are all excited about re-creating the "great music" the MacCrimmons perfected at Borraeraig.

But the critics of the bagpipe point out the new college may well also create an international problem.

Lovers of orthodox music can be expected to deluge the United Nations with complaints that Borraeraig is disturbing world peace.

To Vote on Bond Issues

ALLEGAN (AP) — City residents will vote on two bond issues in the No. 6 general elections, deciding the fate of an $800,000 bond issue sought for a new county medical care facility and a $60,000 issue for construction of a new city firehall.

About two million persons in the U.S. suffer annually from hay fever.

Locomotive Gift for Historians Out in the Cold

CADILLAC (AP) — The Wexford County Historical Society needs facilities for housing a locomotive donated to the city as a museum piece.

The society, organized last March to collect relics and antiques portraying the history of Cadillac, has been unable to find a suitable location for a museum.

Meanwhile, the Cadillac-Soo Lumber Co., has presented the city with a narrow-gauge locomotive and tender which weigh about 40 tons.

The locomotive was invented and built in Cadillac sometime between 1872 and 1890 for exclusive use in Michigan's lumbering industry. It was offered to the city on condition that Cadillac would pay transportation costs from Sault Ste. Marie.

It is being brought to Cadillac by truck and expected to be delivered by tomorrow.

Society spokesmen said the locomotive probably will be placed temporarily in city park.

'USERS' CAN DO WITHOUT SUEZ CANAL — Newsmap shows important factor in Secretary of State Dulles' plan to circumvent use of the Suez Canal, if that becomes necessary, by sending tankers on the almost twice as long voyage around Africa. It will be a lot more expensive — but the United States reportedly will grant up to half a billion dollars a year to Western European countries to help defray the extra cost. The added dollar cost of providing Europe with oil has been estimated by State Department sources at 150 million dollars a year, by oil industry sources as high as 500 million dollars. Tanker considered in Newsmap above is the T-2 class, which can carry 100,000 barrels of oil.

Prosecutor Alden said Allan R. Vincent and Joseph Morales, two more accused burglars, also were in on the plot but were too big for the hole.

The four prisoners had pounded away the mortar between the bricks of their cellblock with a screw driver.

IT AIN'T WHAT IT USED TO BE — Say in 1939 you had a wife and two kids and earned $3,000 a year. After federal income and social security taxes, you had $2,970 left to spend. Today, to have that sum left, you'd have to earn $6,122 a year — or more than double your 1939 income. That's the story the moneybags above tell for various incomes. It's the story of today's higher taxes and the depreciation of the dollar, using 1939 as the standard. Of your $6,122 in 1956, you can write off $2,483 for depreciation. Then deduct $669 for taxes. That leaves you the $2,970 you had in 1939. Data from National Industrial Conference Board.

Civil War May Have Ended Sooner — if North Had Used Its Mustard Gas

By EDWIN DIAMOND

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (INS) — Mustard gas might have been used early in the American Civil War if the union leaders had heeded the advice of a New York chemist. It was reported yesterday.

As it turned out, President Lincoln's secretary of war, Edwin M. Stanton, "failed to grasp this golden opportunity" and it wasn't until 1917 that Imperial Germany "discovered" modern chemical warfare and employed the gas successfully at Ypres, Belgium, against the Allies.

Mustard gas is a skin-burning, non-lethal compound technically known as dichlorophyl sulfide.

report to the history of chemistry section at the American Chemical Society meeting in Atlantic City.

He also said the French and British "considered and abandoned the use of mustard gas in the belief it would not be sufficiently effective."

Dr. Marquand gave this account of how the North had the chance to employ mustard gas in 1862, long before the bloody battle of Gettysburg, the siege of Vicksburg and Sherman's march through Georgia:

The first reference to the compound apparently was in 1864. A few years later, the very serious effect of mustard gas on human skin was recounted in technical journals.

In 1862, chemist John W. Doughty of New York wrote the War Department in Washington. Said Dr. Marquand:

"Not only did Mr. Doughty recommend to the secretary of war a practical scheme for using gas but he actually suggested the very same gas the Germans used at Ypres over 50 years later."

"Doughty's letter can still be found in the archives building in Washington where it is filed in the old records division of the adjutant general's office."

CITES INCIDENT

Dr. C. B. Marquand, of the Army Chemical Center near Frederick, Md., described the incidents in a

Thief Cooks Goose at Scene of Crime

COLUMBUS, Ohio (U) — Police say Leonard Reed left everything but his name and address at the scene of a burglary here.

His fingerprints, footprints and even his own type of blood were found at a burglarized home, officers said.

Reed, confronted with the evidence, readily admitted the crime, detectives added. The 33-year-old Columbus man said he cut his arm in breaking a window to enter the home.

He faces housebreaking and grand larceny charges.

New Cedar Springs Firm

CEDAR SPRINGS (U) — A new industry, expected to employ about 60 workers, announced it will begin construction of its factory in Cedar Springs this week. Adrian Felix Jr. is president of the new firm to be known as the Metals Finishing Factory.

Joe Smith, Republic Registers as Democrat

GREENSBORO, N. C. (U) — After being a faithful Republican for 43 years, Joe Smith became a registered Democrat this week.

He's not the mythical "Joe Smith" a delegate attempted to nominate for vice president at the Republican National Convention, but a real, live, voting Joe Smith.

The reason he changed parties: He just didn't like what he called the "smug attitude" of the Republicans at the national convention as he saw it on television.

His wife Margaret also changed parties.

Free Gin and Frolic

BENTWORTH, England (U) — U.S. airmen, to say thanks for local hospitality during their tour of duty at the fighter-bomber station here, are giving away 19 trophies in a competition for amateur golfers Oct. 14. They are also giving the players free gin and whisky from the time play starts at 7:30 a.m. until it finishes — it ever does finish.

Smog in LA Strikes in Deadly Manner

LOS ANGELES (U) — Albion Nelson, 63-year-old carpenter, died of a head wound. Police said he left this note for his wife:

"I am tired of being poisoned by this terrible smog. Try to live where there is plenty of fresh air so the same thing won't happen to you."

Nelson came here a week ago from Phoenix, Ariz. Investigators said the gunshot wound was self-inflicted.

Clare Hoffman Loses Appendix in Capital

WASHINGTON (U) — Rep. Clare E. Hoffman (R-Mich.) underwent an operation for the removal of his appendix at Bethesda Naval Hospital Tuesday, aides revealed. He added he is recovering normally.

The 81-year-old congressman felt ill, they said, and his illness was diagnosed as appendicitis.

Criticized for Waving at Friend 'Is It Unladylike?' Asks Girl Whose Mom Disapproved

By EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: "The other day while walking on the street with my mother, a girl I know passed on the other side of the street and I waved to her. My mother, who is a stickler for good manners, said it was not ladylike to wave and that I should have nodded my head instead. Will you please tell me if it is wrong to wave to someone you know?"

Answer: I certainly see nothing wrong in a young person waving to another young friend even if she is with her mother.

Dear Mrs. Post: "I was severely criticized the other day after a lunch party at which apple pie was served for dessert, for just eating the apples and leaving the bottom of the pie and the crust uneaten. Was this bad table manners?"

Answer: It seems to me that this obvious evidence either of your weak digestion, or your unwillingness to gain pounds, should not have been mistaken for criticism of the pastry's deliciousness.

Dear Mrs. Post: "Next week our 17-year-old daughter is going to be a bridesmaid at the wedding of a college friend. I met this girl twice, but her parents are strangers to me. Nevertheless, I think my husband and I should have been invited at least to the church wedding."

"Will you please tell me if I am justified in feeling hurt at not receiving an invitation? Would it be proper for my husband and me to go to the church anyway to see our daughter, even though we did not receive an invitation?"

Answer: You certainly would not commit an error in going to the church to see your daughter. Your not being invited was surely an oversight.

Exercise in Youth for Health in Age

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

It seems a shame that so few young people, even teenagers, have any real interest in sports and exercise. In this day of two-car garages many have become victims of sedentary habits at a youthful age.

Yet exercise in early years will build a great backlog of stamina and health which will be of great value later on in meeting the stresses, strains and responsibilities of adult life. Also, the teenager who is truly interested in some sport seldom gets into trouble.

Many middle-aged people need exercise as much or more than younger ones. The person who takes exercise down through the years has a big edge on the more sedentary person in health and in beauty.

However, exercise at middle age is a specialized activity and should be carefully correlated with physical condition.

STICK TO RULES

Today I would like to give you a few general rules to use in planning your exercise.

1. It always is best to have a check on heart and blood pressure before beginning exercise. This is especially important if you are approaching middle age or older or if you have any abnormality.

2. Your reaction to exercise is the best gauge of whether or not you are doing too much at one time. You should feel relaxed but not exhausted. If you experience real fatigue and it lingers on after a short rest you are doing too much.

3. Always begin your exercise period by walking briskly about the room for a while before beginning more strenuous exercises. End your exercise period the same way or with some very mild exercise. This protects your heart.

4. Exercise can build up or slim down if you do the correct ones faithfully.

RELIEVES TENSION

5. Physical exercise is a wonderful antidote for those who suffer from nervous tension.

6. Exercise can distribute your weight more attractively.

7. Mild exercise is a great aid when trying to gain weight.

If you would like to have my short exercise routine especially planned for women send a stamped self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 19 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Tomorrow: "Exercised Only One Day—Got No Results!"

Exercise can build up or slim down if you do the correct ones faithfully.

Group Hears Talk on Israel

Mrs. Sanford Saperstein spoke of "The Children I Met in Israel" at the recent meeting of the Sisterhood of Temple Beth Jacob held at the temple.

The speaker said that of the many things that Israel has to be proud of, it is most proud of and blessed with its dedicated youth. "They possess a fierce love and pride for their country," she stated.

Mrs. George Wyman, program chairman, introduced the speaker.

Mrs. Joseph Nosanchuk, youth group chairman, announced that the Michigan State Temple Youth Conclave will be held here Nov. 16-18. Other announcements were a money-making project to be held Sept. 27 and the congregational dinner scheduled for Oct. 7.

Japan Making Bid for Shirt, Tie Market

The Japanese are making a big bid for the American shirt market. Through the first third of '56, the importation of shirts from Japan increased 600 per cent.

An oddity is the introduction of ties especially designed for tall men. One manufacturer makes them four inches longer than usual, just right for basketball players.
