Molotov Hands Note to Dulles on Atomic Pool

Two Talk at Geneva but Little Progress Shows Up on Ike's Proposal

GENEVA (AP) — Soviet Russia replied today to American proposals on President Eisenhower's plan for an atomic pool for peaceful purposes.

The content of the Soviet reply was not disclosed, but informed sources indicated that no important progress had been made in the exchange.

The note was handed to U.S. Secretary of State Dulles by Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov in a half-hour conference at which the two statesmen also discussed problems related to the current Geneva conference on Far Eastern issues.

Dulles had submitted the American proposals to Soviet Ambassador Georgi Zarubin in Washington March 19. Their nature was not disclosed.

U.S. officials said, however, the proposals dealt with concrete recommendations as contrasted with procedural questions taken up in earlier talks in Washington and Moscow.

A joint British-American communique issued in London after Dulles' visit there two weeks ago said Dulles and British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden had reviewed the atomic question and discussed the latest U.S. proposals.

The whole exchange grew out of President Eisenhower's speech before the United Nations General Assembly last Dec. 8 suggesting that the powers producing atomic energy might pool some quantities to be developed for peaceful uses.

This was considered as a possible opening wedge to break the long deadlock on atomic energy control. A one-paragraph communique on the latest Molotov-Dulles conference, issued by American headquarters here, said:

"Mr. Molotov and Mr. Dulles conferred at the latter's office at 12 o'clock today for about half an hour. They discussed various problems relating to the Geneva conference. Also, Mr. Molotov delivered to Mr. Dulles the Soviet government's reply to the United States note of March 19, 1954, dealing with atomic energy."

Missing Navy Plane Sighted Off Canada

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy said early today a twin-engine Privateer, believed to have been missing since April 17, has been sighted off Ellesmere Island, off the northeast coast of Canada.

A Navy spokesman said Navy markings were visible on the wings and tail of the plane and the Navy is preparing to drop rescue personnel by parachute.

The spokesman said he had no information as yet on whether there were any survivors.

The plane, stationed at Argentia, Newfoundland, was on a routine ice patrol from Thule in Greenland to Alert weather station on the northern tip of Ellesmere Island. There were eight Navy men and a civilian ice observer aboard. The plane carried arctic survival equipment.

88 Pontiac Children Take Polio Shots Today in Test

Oakland County's field test of the new Salk polio vaccine moved into Pontiac today as 88 students of McConnell and St. Trinity Lutheran schools took the shots. The city volunteers were among 920 youngsters in 21 county schools who signed up for the test today. Anxious parents kept the rest of the 2,446 children in the first, second and third grades of these schools from taking the shots.

In the two city schools, only about one-fourth of the eligible children lined up for the test. McConnell and St. Trinity have 319 first, second and third graders. Parents cleared only 88.

Miss Josephine Seeley, health services director for Pontiac Public Schools, said this morning that her office doesn't yet have the total number of city children who will take part in the polio test. "We didn't send the forms home to parents until last Wednesday,"

Farmers Swap Eggs for Groceries

USED FOR MONEY—In the village of Davisburg, eggs are as good as money to the neighboring farmers, who trade them with grocer Harris Shultz for store goods. Here pretty farmerette Maureen Samuel of 7141 Hall Rd. stands by while Shultz counts the eggs. During the past winter Shultz has been over-supplied with eggs and just last week wholesaled 120 dozen. His is one of the few stores in the county which still take eggs from farmers in trade for groceries.

Eggs and More Eggs Flood Grocer in Bartering Deal

By WILLIAM H. THOMAS

The practice of bartering farm products for store goods isn't so old-fashioned after all.

It's actually being done within eight miles of Pontiac. And Harris Shultz of Davisburg admits it can be a headache.

Shultz is one of the few grocers who will accept eggs from farmers in lieu of cash.

This year, with some farm prices down, Shultz said eggs are piling up in his Davisburg store.

"Normally, said Shultz, 'I take in just a few dozen eggs per day, but this winter and spring I've been getting about 15 dozen eggs a day and have had to wholesale about one third of these because I couldn't sell them across the counter.'"

"They just kept piling up. Just last week I wholesaled about 120 dozen eggs that accumulated in about 10 days."

Shultz said that he has had on hand at times as many as 200 dozen eggs.

He said he imagines the increase in egg trade this past winter is due to a nation-wide shortage of cash among the farmers.

"These are individual problems and I have no way to knowing if each farmer trades in eggs because of a cash shortage. Some of them trade in eggs because they cannot sell all of them from door-to-door," said Shultz.

Eggs sold by Shultz since they have been accumulating have been handled by James McCollum of 1006 Northfield Ave., Pontiac state food inspector, to make sure they are fresh and edible.

"Of course the state has to make sure that eggs, and other foods sold, are fresh before we allow (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

Vietminh Guns Hit U.S. Flier

Pilot Seriously Injured While Flying Supplies Over Dien Bien Phu

HONG KONG (AP)—An American civilian pilot flying supplies to besieged French union forces at Dien Bien Phu is the first U.S. casualty of the bloody battle for that Indochina fortress, officials of Civil Air Transport said here today.

The flier is Paul Robert Holden of Greenleaf, Kan., who suffered severe wounds in his right side and right arm when Communist antiaircraft fire hit his plane over Dien Bien Phu.

Holden is the third listed American casualty of the eight-year-old Indochina war. Two American women, employees of the U. S. consulate at Saigon, were slain March 8, 1948, by a Vietminh ambush outside Saigon. They were identified as Mrs. Jeanne R. Skewes and Lydia Ruth James.

CAT officials said Holden's condition is serious but not critical. Co-pilot Wallace A. Buford of Kansas City, Kan., landed the damaged plane safely in French territory, the airline said.

CAT spokesman A. T. Cox said Holden was the airline's chief pilot. He flew for the U. S. Air Force in World War II and after the war flew in China until 1947.

Civil Air Transport, headed by retired U.S. Gen. Claire L. Chennault, has its headquarters at Taipei, Formosa.

Showers Due to End, Cooler Wednesday

Showers which have dampened the Pontiac area for three days are scheduled to end tonight. Cloudy and cool weather is due Wednesday.

The U. S. Weather Bureau forecasts a low tonight of from 40 to 45 degrees rising to a high of from 58 to 62 degrees Wednesday.

Monday the mercury climbed from a low of 45 to a high of 59 degrees and approximately .3 of an inch of rain drenched the city. At 8 a. m. today the reading was 55, but by 1 p. m. in downtown Pontiac the mercury registered 72 degrees.

Pontiac to Trade Mayor for a Day

Donaldson to Officiate in Springfield as Part of Michigan Week

Mayor Lewis Parrott, of Springfield, Mich., will be Pontiac's official guest May 5 as part of the statewide observance of "Michigan Week."

Pontiac Mayor William W. Donaldson will make a one-day return visit to Springfield, probably on May 6.

About 400 Michigan municipalities will participate in a similar exchange of mayors aimed at letting people in different parts of Michigan become better acquainted with each other, according to Mayor James Robertson, of Sault Ste. Marie, chairman of the program.

During his Pontiac visit Mayor Parrott will be conducted on a tour of the city by city officials including an inspection of the new city hall and expanded sewage treatment plant. Donaldson said.

In the afternoon Parrott will view local business and industry.

In selecting cities to exchange mayors, no attempt was made to separate them by size. Springfield, located several miles southwest of Battle Creek, has a population of 3,000.

On May 5 Detroit with a population of 1,840,568, will exchange mayors with Britton, population 517. In most instances the mayors actually will change jobs for a day.

Michigan Week is sponsored by Greater Michigan Inc., a non-profit promotional organization, in cooperation with the Michigan Department of Economic Development.

Commies Attack Fort Guarding Dien Bien Phu

Lash Isolated 'Isabella' Three Miles South of Main Garrison

HANOI, Indochina (UP)—Communist troops today opened a new assault on isolated "Isabella" fortress which guards besieged Dien Bien Phu from the south.

The new assault began under cover of heavy artillery fire from guns pulled up to the fringes of the French defense positions earlier today by Red artillerymen.

Violent isolated storms signaled the approaching monsoon season.

But French planes, including 25 newly arrived Corsair fighters on "loan" from the United States, flew through the bad weather to attack rebel rear areas and supply routes.

Incessant fire from the Communist guns threatened the vital airlift to the besieged garrison and made it difficult for the French to launch any immediate counterattacks.

The high command said the fresh pressure was concentrated for the first time this month against the northwestern side of isolated "Isabella" which lies three miles south of the main bastion.

Red attackers pushed within 50 yards of heavy barbed wire entanglements of the French defenses and defenders sallied out to weaken the rebel flank. Sharp fighting was reported.

On another quieter sector, troops of the garrison soldiers killed in the recent fighting were buried in a ceremony at a small cemetery near Brig. Gen. Christian de Castries' command post.

Into each grave went a carefully sealed champagne bottle bearing the soldier's identity.

Communist prisoners wielded the shovels while army chaplains murmured a benediction.

Showdown Due on Price Props

GOP Predicting Defeat for High-Level Supports on Basic Commodities

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate scheduled showdown voting today on whether rigid high-level farm price supports should be continued for two more years—the key agricultural issue before Congress this year.

But as the issue arose, it was not a clear-cut test, and it appeared likely that administration forces would muster enough votes to beat down a move to retain the present system of supports for basic commodities.

Such an initial victory would still leave many hurdles for the system of flexible supports which President Eisenhower has urged.

The Senate is considering a bill to aid domestic wool growers. A debate limitation is in effect and this is expected to lead to a final vote late today or tomorrow.

Amendments have been offered as riders to the wool bill covering many of the principal fights over farm policy for 1954.

The most important amendment, on which the first vote is set, would extend for two years the mandatory supports at 90 per cent of parity on basic commodities—wheat, cotton, corn, rice, tobacco and peanuts. It is sponsored by Sen. Ellender (D-La.) and five other senators. Parity is a standard for measuring farm prices said by law to be fair to farmers in terms of prices they must pay for things they buy.

The 90 per cent supports for basic crops have been in effect a dozen years. They were put on in World War II to stimulate food and fiber production. Congress has extended them repeatedly.

Senate Republican leaders predicted confidently they could defeat this amendment. Some of its sponsors privately conceded they were not too hopeful.

The principal device to aid wool growers in the pending bill is a direct production payment, the same thing proposed for perishables in the Brannan Plan offered by the former Democratic secretary of agriculture, Charles F. Brannan.

British, French Weakening on East Peace; U.S. Tough

GENEVA (AP)—North Korea proposed today that Korea be unified by a general election to be conducted along the lines which Russia proposed for Germany last February. The Russian plan on Germany was rejected by the West.

GENEVA (AP)—Russia and France opened discussions on Indochina today amid reports the solidarity of the Western Big Three at the Geneva conference over cease-fire terms in the war-torn Asian country was weakening.

The British were reported ready to back the French in seeking an immediate cease-fire, to be followed by negotiations with the Communist-led Vietminh. The United States is understood to oppose any cease-fire not accompanied by certain unspecified guarantees.

Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov drove in a bullet-proof limousine to the lakeside villa of France's George Bidault for talks on which nations will be invited here for discussions on Indochina. They had a 40-minute discussion. Then Molotov drove back to his villa. There was no clue at once on the results of the get-together.

Tiger Attacks Circus Helper

Claws Man Cleaning Cage; Arm Must Be Amputated

NEW YORK (AP)—A circus employee cleaning out a tiger's cage at Madison Square Garden was clawed badly on the left arm today.

Police said the injured man, Charles Hicks, 28, of Kirksville, Mo., was cleaning the cage from the outside with a rake when a royal Bengal tiger attacked him.

Hicks was taken to Polyclinic Hospital and was to undergo amputation of his arm near the elbow.

Hicks has been employed as a cage boy at the Ringling Bros. & Barnum & Bailey Circus for about two weeks. Police said he was cleaning out cages of some royal Bengal tigers before they were to be fed raw meat. Saipan, the animal that attacked Hicks, is part of the Bale animal act and has been with the circus five years.

Stevens, Schine Picture Arouses Angry Dispute

McCarthy, Symington Trade Verbal Blows in Senate Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army hurled a charge of using a "doctored" photograph at the McCarthy camp today, and Roy Cohn, counsel to Sen. McCarthy, acknowledged he had provided it. Cohn denied knowing the picture had been altered.

WASHINGTON (INS)—An explosive argument flared today when the Army charged that Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy's side in his dispute with the Pentagon had introduced a "doctored" picture of Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens and Pvt. G. David Schine.

Army Special Counsel Joseph Welch produced what he said was the "original" photograph, showing Stevens with Schine and a third person, identified as "Col. Bradley," at McGuire Air Force Base, N. J.

McCarthy, accusing Welch of a "completely false" statement, was interrupted by Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.), and angrily cried to the Missourian, "Oh, be quiet... I am sick and tired of being interrupted in the middle of a sentence."

Symington retorted: "I have no intention of being quiet."

The turbulent exchange came at the outset of the fourth day's session of the McCarthy-Army hearings and a few minutes after McCarthy had injected a new sensation into the proceedings.

The Wisconsin senator said he would ask the committee probing the dispute to check a report that "one of the principals" on the Pentagon side of the controversy may be "guilty of a flagrant attempt to destroy monitored conversations adverse to any civilian over there."

McCarthy told newsmen: "Either one of the principals — and it isn't Stevens — is guilty of a very flagrant attempt to destroy monitored conversations adverse to any civilian over there, or someone is trying to plant a false story on us."

The Pentagon principals besides Stevens are Assistant Defense Secretary H. Stuart Hensel and Army Counselor John G. Adams.

Meanwhile, Stevens said he would withhold a final statement on the connection of McCarthy Staff Director Francis P. Carr with the alleged "pressure" attempts in Schine's behalf "until all the evidence is in."

The secretary had been directed to refresh his memory about an Oct. 2 meeting in which he said Carr figured, though unable to recall anything Carr said. Stevens said:

"... If the only evidence in respect to Mr. Carr was the hap cars passed over Lynch, a painter."

Clean-Up Drive Scheduled to Begin in Pontiac May 1

The rake, brush and broom will come into their own here May 1 through 8 when the Pontiac Junior Chamber of Commerce conducts its annual "Clean-Up, Paint-Up, Fix-Up" drive.

The campaign's first day will feature selection of a king and queen from the fourth through sixth grades of Pontiac schools. Choices will be based on essays written by the students on "My Clean-Up Campaign."

On May 2, Pontiac Mayor William W. Donaldson is expected to issue a proclamation urging residents to make the beautification drive a city-wide success.

The Pontiac Fire and Police Departments will cooperate in the campaign, with the Department of Public Works painting trash cans, street lights, plus other equipment and installations.

A "Proud of Pontiac" drive will be part of the program. An unidentified person will carry $5 which he will present to the person asking him, "Are you proud of Pontiac?"

Attorney Clark J. Adams Criticizes Court Decision in 'Triangle' Zoning Suit

From Our Birmingham Bureau
BIRMINGHAM — Former State Supreme Court Justice Clark J. Adams last night criticized the Oakland County Circuit Court decision in the "triangle" zoning suit and recommended that the City Commission appeal the case to the State Supreme Court.

The case involves zoning of property bounded by Elton road, the Grand Trunk Western Railroad and Graefield Terraces.

Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty, who has written an opinion that single-family residence zoning of the land is "unreasonable and confiscatory," is expected to issue the final decree May 5.

Doty's opinion also stated his belief that "business A" zoning is "reasonable use."

Adams, who is defending the city in the case, told the Commission "the court was acting in a legislative manner rather than determining that the acts of the Commission were improper."

He said the court "had given more weight to the plaintiff's rights than to the people of Birmingham."

He told the lawmakers he thought there was at least a 50-50 chance of winning the appeal to the Supreme Court.

Plaintiff in the suit is the Industrial Land Co. and others. A discussion followed on proposing a zoning ordinance which would permit residential property that abuts or is across the street from a parking lot or business to be rezoned to parking district classification, with charge for parking allowed.

With minor changes and additions made, the rewritten ordinance will be included on next week's agenda.

penings of Oct. 2, and I was his judge as you are, I would acquit him. But there is more evidence to come and I think his fate must wait the end of the case, when all the evidence is in."

Welch opened the morning's stormy proceedings by producing a large, still-damp print of the Stevens-Schne-Bradley picture. The Boston lawyer said:

"Mr. Jenkins (committee counsel Ray H. Jenkins) and the secretary of the Army have been imposed upon by having a doctored or altered photograph presented as if it were honest."

Welch charged that the original picture had been "doctored" so that "someone could say that Pvt. Schne was photographed alone with the secretary when the photograph was of a group."

McCarthy, intervening on a point of order, accused Welch of making a "completely false" statement and said there was no "doctored" in the picture his side had presented. He said it merely had been cut down.

Angered by McCarthy's barked "Oh, be quiet," Symington cried: "You're not running this committee."

The Wisconsin senator continued: "I'm getting sick and tired of sitting down here at this end of the table and being interrupted in the middle of my statements."

Welch, who announced that the photographer who took the controversial picture had been summoned to testify under oath that the print introduced by the McCarthy side had been altered, told the senators:

"I know that Mr. Jenkins would never participate in a trick like this."

The news photograph was accepted as evidence.

Meanwhile, the McCarthy-Symington clash continued. McCarthy asserted: "Mr. Symington and no one else has the right to interrupt unless they address the chair and the chair recognizes them."

He added: "I can see nowhere that the picture was doctored. Mr. Welch was not speaking the truth."

Acting Chairman Karl E. Mundt ruled that both McCarthy and Welch were "a bit out of order" and McCarthy rejoined:

"Call it a point of order, call it what you may, when counsel for Mr. Stevens and Mr. Adams makes a statement without interruption and I am interrupted in the middle of my statement I can point out that he was lying."

Symington got in the last word before the hearing moved on to the continued cross-examination of Stevens on special treatment allegedly sought for Schne by McCarthy and his chief counsel, Roy M. Cohn.

The Missourian said: "If we're going to keep these hearings at the proper level — keep the dignity at the proper level — keep the dignity of the Senate — we have to follow the rulings of counsel."

He referred to Jenkins' opinion that both McCarthy and Welch were out of order.

Earlier, Mundt said the committee would stick to its rules of "no surprise witnesses." He made the statement in comment on McCarthy's intimation to newsmen that he had a new witness with "information of tremendous importance."

Stevens, after the angry debate over the photograph, continued his testimony.

Ex-Birmingham Mayor Served City for 20 Years

By HARRY J. REED

BIRMINGHAM — City business on a first name basis was the rule for Ralph Main, who stepped down as Birmingham mayor recently in his 20th year of city service. He declined to seek another term as commissioner this year.

Although he asked everyone who sought the floor at City Commission meetings for their names, RALPH MAIN for the record, it was rare that he did not preface his request with a first name greeting.

Residents who attended City Commission sessions in the past often came away talking of the two-time mayor's memory of former times in Birmingham.

Schools' Club Changes Name

Organization Assumes Association Title, Kills Old Moniker

Pontiac Public School principals changed their association's constitution, looked over new record sheets for students and picked up other loose ends at a conference Monday.

The administrators and supervisors changed their "club" title to "association" — at the all-day meeting at Haven Hill Lodge near Highland.

Officially the group's new name now is The Administrators' and Supervisors' Assn. of Pontiac Public Schools.

Theodore E. Wiersema, President and Crofoot School principal, presided. Mrs. Maude Kempf, Mrs. Ruth Wait, Gerald White and Francis Staley planned the business program.

Mrs. Ann Galbraith, Miss Marietta Spring, Miss Adeline Hook, Warren Abbott and E. C. Russell handled the fun side of the meeting.

Principals decided to get members of school organizations together May 11 to work up a schedule for next year so that groups won't meet on the same night and cut into each other's attendance.

George Yansen will meet with representatives from all city PTA's, the Pontiac Education Assn., the American Federation of Teachers and other groups May 11 at 4 p. m. in Pontiac High School's cafeteria to start planning the schedule.

The principals decided to have all kindergartens enroll next fall's new pupils June 2 and 3; — and try to let teachers know this spring what grades they'll teach next year.

Junior high and Pontiac High school principals said they'll try to get all next fall's students enrolled a week before school starts.

"We have to make out our schedules for teachers according to the number of students who choose a subject," Norman Kuljala explained. "The 60 or 70 youngsters who pile in the last day of school often create problems that way."

Mrs. Agnes Cox passed out copies of new cumulative records — record sheets that have detailed information on a child's home background, marks, emotional and health problems.

The new records would follow the child from elementary, to junior high school and on to Pontiac High, so that all his background would be at a teacher's fingertips. The association will decide in May whether to put the new records in use.

The group chose citizenship as the topic for next fall's Pre-School Conference. All local teachers spend a day each fall talking over ways to help students with problems.

Shultz, in his seventh year as a storeowner, explained that part of the reason so many farmers bring eggs to him is that many stores do not accept eggs in place of money.

"In the past seven months the egg traffic has become increasingly heavy," said Shultz as he looked over his shoulder at the mounting stockpile of eggs.

than the loss of a battle and not a fatal blow to France's position in Indochina.

Any military intervention in Indochina, Washington is said to believe, should come as the result of consultation among the interested powers.

In London, French Ambassador Rene Massigli conferred urgently with Prime Minister Churchill today on the Indochina crisis and on a reported British-American decision ruling out immediate big-scale intervention.

Diplomatic informants there said the envoy gave the British leader an up-to-the-minute picture of the battle of Dien Bien Phu and the consequences if it fell.

The informants reported that American, British and French military leaders are pondering the scale and kind of help that may have to be thrown in if circumstances force the Allies to intervene.

That was a main talking point yesterday when Adm. Arthur Radford, chairman of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, flew unexpectedly to London to see Churchill and British high command. Radford flew back to Washington early today.

The reported British-American decision to stay out of the Indochina war for the time being, according to the informants, does not exclude a possible demonstration of Allied air and seapower around the battle zones.

Liquor Licenses Await Decision

One Near Church, Also Lodge Request Will Get Consideration Tonight

Pontiac City Commission tonight is expected to act on renewal of tavern and Class C liquor licenses for 1954 not approved last week. Commissioners last week approved 24 Class C, 15 tavern, three hotel and five club licenses.

Special consideration is slated on an application for renewal of a Class C permit at 732 Glenwood Ave. Commissioners deferred action on the permit last week until police could measure to see if the establishment is too close to a church.

A club license renewal for the Sylvan Lake Elks Lodge at 153 Bagley St. also will be considered again by commissioners.

Pontiac Police recommended that the lodge permit be refused because of alleged violations of the liquor laws.

In other action, a resolution is scheduled authorizing sidewalk repairs included in the 1954 public improvement program.

A resolution of public necessity plus an engineer's cost estimate is expected for proposed construction of curb, gutter, drainage and related work on Stout from Green to Palmer.

Resolutions of public necessity and engineer's cost estimates are slated for proposed sewer construction on:

Wyoming from existing sewer east of Motor to Franklin. Brooklyn from Stanley to Richmond. Rutgers from University to the PO & N. Railroad. W. Princeton from Carlisle to Stanley.

A public hearing is scheduled on intention to construct a water main in East Ypsilanti from Baldwin to PO & N.

A communication is expected from Charles W. Colsher and Carl D. Leonard regarding an exchange of property on Featherstone.

Public hearings on intention to construct are scheduled for proposed construction of curb, gutter, drainage and related work on:

Second from Joyn to Barkell. Longfellow from Baldwin to University. Tennyson from Joyn to Highland.

shot a week after the first and a third shot several weeks later.

Some are getting Dr. Salk's vaccine—others, an inactive control liquid. Not even doctors giving the shots know which serum each child is getting.

In Milford's Bertha Baker school, Michael Strauss, 6, stood on crutches to get his shot. His mother, Dorothy, explained Michael has spent more than a year in the hospital with polio in his legs; and that she was not afraid of the shots.

"There are two other types of polio he can still catch," she said. At Novi, Jerry Boldt, 9, and a 10-year-old brother took the shots. Their 11-year-old sister, Ruth, suffered paralytic polio last year.

Southfield 5-Year-Old Found in Ditch He Dug in Back Yard

SOUTHFIELD TOWNSHIP — A five-year-old boy with a fondness for digging holes in his back yard yesterday fell into a four-foot pit he had dug and suffocated.

Firemen worked over Robert J. Tagnin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruno J. Tagnin, for an hour in an effort to revive him.

The body was discovered at 6:15 p. m. by the boy's mother when she went to call him. Only his feet were protruding from the wedge-shaped excavation.

State Police said Robert's hands were pinned to his sides as he lay head-down in the hole, which was three feet wide at the top and a foot wide at the bottom.

Cpl. Melvin McFall of the Redford post said rain-loosened dirt near the edge of the hole may have collapsed or the boy may have stumbled into it.

The Tagnins live at 22800 Cottage. Besides his parents, Robert is survived by a younger sister, Nancy.

Tooth Brushes More Protection Than Cleaners

DETROIT (INS) — All the modern tooth decay preventives, including ammoniated, chlorophyll, penicillin and anti-enzyme, are no better than any old-fashioned tooth paste or powder.

That was the opinion given Monday by Dr. J. Roy Doty, secretary of the American Dental Assn.'s council on dental therapeutics.

Doctor Doty told the Michigan State Dental Assn., that if you use any tooth paste or powder to brush your teeth immediately after each meal, they will help to preserve your teeth.

He said the ADA has called for an end to current advertising in which an actor dressed like a dentist plugs a cleansing agent as effective in reducing tooth decay, and added:

"It is our feeling that manufacturers would be doing better to step up advertising campaigns for good tooth brushes."

Moody Given Nod in Senate Primary

WASHINGTON — Gov. Williams says if ex-Sen. Blair Moody wins the Democratic senatorial nomination he would have an "excellent chance" of defeating Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich).

The governor also told a meeting of the Women's Press Club Monday the consensus is that Moody will win the nomination.

Williams appointed Moody to succeed the late Sen. Arthur Vandenberg. Moody then lost the seat to Republican Sen. Potter in the first election following the appointment.

The governor said Moody knows as much about foreign and domestic affairs as anyone in Congress. Democratic chances, Williams said, should improve because of what he called the declining economic situation and the "unhappiness" of dairy farmers over reduced milk prices.

New Do-It-Yourself Kit Enables Hobbyists to Paint Textiles by Hand

Never Assume the Door Is Locked

By ANNE HEYWOOD
"What can I do to help my children make a success of their lives?" That question is one which, through the years, has been asked me more often than any other.

So whenever I see young people who are eminently happy and successful, who are managing their lives with skill and pleasure, I try to get a pointer or two from their mothers.

Edith Krag is such a mother. Herself a successful business woman, she has a daughter and son in their 20s who are well on their way to happiness and success.

Her daughter, Jean, is a very pretty girl who is now intern in an eastern hospital. She loves medicine, works hard at it, and still has many beaux and many good times.

The son, Bill, is a successful physicist, with a charming wife and an 8-month-old son.

When I asked her for her formula, Edith Krag was thoughtful.

"In the first place," she said modestly, "they were wonderful kids to begin with. Please don't think that it's all my doing."

"But there's one thing I believe any mother can do, which will help her children a lot, and that is to teach them not to close a door before they try to open it.

"I remember," she went on, "when Bill was finishing high school. He had a high IQ, but so many interests that he hadn't devoted himself fully to his studies, and his average was not noticeably high."

"He knew he wanted to be a physicist and he knew he wanted to go to the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. But that was the hardest school of all to get into. MIT had its pick of all the schools and all the top students in the country."

"Bill was advised, at high school and by many older men, not to waste his time."

"Try for the lesser colleges," they told him, 'where you at least have a chance.' Bill was very disappointed, decided, reluctantly, to follow their advice."

"But I said, 'Bill, your marks aren't that bad, and you have a great enthusiasm for physics and a good extra-curricular record. I think you should at least try for MIT. The worst thing that could happen is a turnaround. But you'll never know until you try.'"

"Well," Edith Krag concluded, "MIT did accept Bill, and all is well."

"So, my advice has always been to try for what you want, even if the odds look hopeless. No sense assuming the door is locked, unless you at least turn the door knob. It might swing wide open!"

Wife Should Stay Away From Office

Hubby's Standing Will Be Lowered by Frequent Visits

By EMILY POST

A reader writes me: "I would very much like to have your opinion on the propriety of wives visiting their husbands at the office during working hours."

"I have maintained that it is not the place for a wife; my friend says it is quite all right, especially if the husband is an executive. I am a secretary in a rather large company and this has been one of my pet peeves. I would like to hear what you have to say about this."

Answer: The wife who makes it a habit to run in to see her husband at the office where he is employed is actually quite a handicap to her husband's office rating. If he has an office to himself, then the question is one for him to answer.

Dear Mrs. Post: My daughter was to have been married in two weeks, wedding invitations were sent out and all preparations made. Two days ago she and her fiancé had a terrible quarrel and the wedding has been canceled permanently.

This is a very embarrassing situation, and I would like to know what to do about notifying the guests that there will be no wedding.

Answer: Send the following notice to the whole wedding list:

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Smith regret to inform you that the marriage of their daughter Mary Ellen to Mr. Arthur Judson will not take place

Dear Mrs. Post: How should I write to a divorced friend who has taken back her maiden name? I've been told she is calling herself what she did prior to her marriage, using the title Miss. Isn't it incorrect to do this?

Answer: Socially, yes—but you can't do other than address her as "Miss" if this is the name by which she has re-established herself.

Decorate Both Apparel, Home Fabrics

A fascinating new handcraft for women of all ages (men will like it too) is now available in department stores and hobby shops everywhere.

It ties in with the tremendous do-it-yourself trend, especially with the vogue for hand painting which has gripped women all over America. Now for the first time, every woman, young or old, will be able to hand paint many useful and decorative textile articles of apparel and for the home.

The articles to be painted come attractively packaged in kits. Available, too, are special washable textile paints.

The kits include aprons, dinnette sets, kitchen towels, pillow tubing, pictures, tablecloths and other items. The attractive designs are already printed on the fabrics, not in mere outline, but in complete detail with shading and variations of tones.

All that remains to be done is to paint in the colors with simple brush strokes. The result is a professional-looking painting that anyone can achieve without skill, training or previous experience.

A full-color reproduction of the design to be painted is on every kit and acts as a guide. Also included in each kit is a practice swatch with part of the design printed on it.

A few brush strokes on the swatch and you're ready to start on this delightful new hobby which provides pleasant relaxation with the added reward of making beautiful and useful things for the home and for gifts with a personal touch.

Girl's Foe Breaks Up Friendships

Her Nastiness and Hatred Should Be Ignored

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

"Dear Miss Woodward: The kids I eat lunch with are nice to me, but they don't walk around to classes with me, and I feel funny walking down the halls alone."

"The kids that like me are real nice to me most of the time. The trouble is Dorothy. She just seems to hate me. Whenever I'm having a good time, she'll come over and whisper to the other kids that I'm a dope, and stuff like that."

"She's broken up several good friendships for me. The other kids, when I've asked, tell me Dorothy doesn't hate me."

"Why then does she tell the kids such things? She's nice to me now and then, but mostly she's causing me trouble!"

Some people are just plain nasty. Some enjoy knifing some one person they don't like particularly. Some, through sheer force of personality, can lead a gang around like so many sheep.

For some reason Dorothy is against you. She may be jealous of you. She may get a kick out of watching you hurt. She may think it fun to watch you squirm.

But letting Dorothy bother you is where you're wrong. You can't expect to have everybody in the world love you to pieces. Some people aren't going to cotton to you. But that's not your fault.

You don't have to go all sensitive and self-conscious and begin to worry over what Dorothy says or does. Smile at her and be casually friendly so she won't think you're waging a feud.

But just let her roll off your back. And let the others see that you aren't a dope, and it doesn't matter to you what she says!

Dear Miss Woodward: My girl friend and I go to a confectionery shop to kid around with the rest of the gang that hangs out there. Our so-called girl friends do, too—however, they go there to make out with some boys we think a lot of.

"It seems that whenever we like a boy, these girls go after him. They do everything in their power to make us jealous, just to show us they can get anyone they want."

"This time they're going too far—we really like these boys! How can we attract the boys' attention without making our intentions too obvious?"

"How can we show them the other girls are only after them to make us jealous?"

Let's confess it, now—you hang out in that confectionery shop so you can make out with the boys you like. And you are jealous at the way these other girls seem to monopolize them.

But why let those girls take over? Get close to the boys you like, whether the other girls are there or not. Kid with them, join the group they're with.

Don't hang back and watch from the sidelines. Don't explain anything to anybody—just wade in and pitch those thorns right out of the picture.

Color Changes Structure, Size of Rooms

CHICAGO (UP)—An expert on color says it can be used to change the size and structure of a room.

"In cases where there is a structural jog in the wall, a dark color which will absorb light will cut the shadows to a minimum," said Margaret Hutchison, color authority.

High ceilings found in older homes can be made to look lower by painting them a darker color and by painting the base board the same color as the floor, she said.

"Conversely, light colored ceilings coupled with medium toned walls will give the appearance of raising a low ceiling," she said.

Walls broken by doors and windows may be "unified" by painting the door and window frames the same color as the walls.

In a narrow hallway, contrasting colors can be used on opposite long walls to give a roomier effect.

People laugh at monkeys, but you never see a monkey running for a train, chewing his finger-nails or reclining on a psychiatrist's couch.

Protect Furniture From Warping

Adjust Casters to Floor

By ELIZABETH HULLYER

To keep furniture fit, it's important to keep it level. Almost no floor is perfectly even, and when a leg or two of a piece of furniture doesn't sit as solidly as the others, many things can go wrong.

The whole piece may wobble, drawers stick, doors won't stay closed, locks won't lock glued parts become unglued, wood panels may crack.

Because wood naturally tries to adjust to strain, it warps, and the shape of the whole piece of furniture changes just enough to cause serious damage.

Some new furniture comes equipped with casters that adjust the length of legs to the unevenness of floors, and casters that can be fitted onto legs that lack them are available.

One such caster is sketched. This type is inserted into a hole in the leg slightly larger than a strong screw hole, and has a thread adjustment to regulate length.

This adjustment device locks at the right length so it doesn't need adjusting every time the piece of furniture is moved for cleaning, but length can be regulated again if the furniture is moved to a new position on a different area of floor.

The bride is the daughter of the Alexander Josses of Lakeview avenue, and the Victor DeClerck.

The proposal, which will be put to a vote in the June 14 school elections, would provide facilities necessary to train handicapped children in the public schools.

Mr. Gearhart said, "For each tax dollar spent now to teach handicapped children to be self-supporting citizens, taxpayers will save $100 in future care if the children otherwise must be confined to state institutions for their education."

The next meeting of the group will be May 4 at 8 o'clock.

Sophie Williams Becomes Bride in Detroit Wedding

In a candlelight ceremony Saturday evening at the Park Shelton Hotel in Detroit, Sophie Williams exchanged nuptial vows with Charles Nick.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Williams of South Shirley avenue, chose a gown of Chantilly lace with a portrait neckline trimmed with sequins and seed pearls. The bouffant skirt fell short into a short train of tiered ruffles and her illusion veil was held with a small crown of seed pearls and sequins.

She carried a bouquet of stephanotis and ivy centered with two white orchids. Oleo Pantel was maid of honor in a cocktail-length dress of pink embroidered satin. She carried pink carnations centered with pink tearoses.

The Rev. Sam Gouvenis performed the 10 o'clock service before relatives and friends.

Tom Nick was his brother's best man. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Nicholas of Cooley Lake road.

John Gearhart Explains Plan to Faith Group

John Gearhart, president of the Faith Group sponsored by Oakland County Society for Crippled Children, spoke on a current special education proposal Tuesday at the society's headquarters on West Lawrence street.

The proposal, which will be put to a vote in the June 14 school elections, would provide facilities necessary to train handicapped children in the public schools.

Mr. Gearhart said, "For each tax dollar spent now to teach handicapped children to be self-supporting citizens, taxpayers will save $100 in future care if the children otherwise must be confined to state institutions for their education."

The next meeting of the group will be May 4 at 8 o'clock.

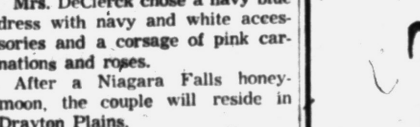

The bridegroom's sister, Jeanette DeClerck, was maid of honor in a full-length gown of mint green net over tulle. The ensemble was styled with a matching lace jacket and headpiece. She carried a cascade arrangement of yellow carnations, roses and ivy.

William Joss, the bride's brother, was best man. Seating the guests were another brother, Robert Joss, and Al Roth.

Receiving guests at Chieftain Hall in the evening, the bride's mother was wearing a pale blue dress with pink accessories and a corsage of pink carnations and roses.

Mrs. DeClerck chose a navy blue dress with navy and white accessories and a corsage of pink carnations and roses.

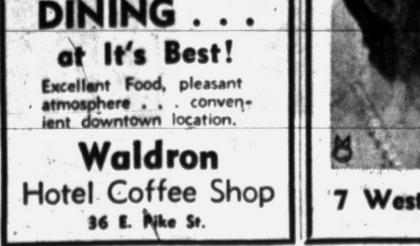

After a Niagara Falls honeymoon, the couple will reside in Drayton Plains.

Old Soybeans Race Upward

CHICAGO (U)—Most grains turned downward in active dealings on the board of trade today but old crop soybeans, after early ease, raced up to new seasonal peaks.

Old crop soybeans showed resistance to the initial selling and then jumped about six cents above the previous close. May sold at $4.22, another high since 1948. Strength in the old crop futures helped firm the new crop months.

Much of the early selling in major grains was believed to represent short term profit taking following yesterday's advance. In addition, that upturn apparently gave some discouraged holders of cereals an opportunity to get out of their positions.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was 2 to 2 1/2 lower, May $2.10 1/2, corn 1/4 to 1/2 lower, May $1.52 1/2, oats 1/4 to 1/2 lower, May 75 1/2, rye 1/4 to 1 cent lower, May 99 1/2, soybeans unchanged to 5 cents higher, May $4.19 1/2 and hard 10 cents lower to 7 cents a hundred pounds higher, May $29.90.
