K May Cancel Swedish Visit

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP)—Angry reaction to what officials called the worst spy scandal in Swedish history may force Soviet Premier Khrushchev to cancel his visit to this traditionally neutral nation a second time.

The government disclosed Tuesday the arrest of a Swedish air force colonel charged with spying for the Soviet Union for the past 15 years.

For five of those years he was Swedish air attaché in Washington. It also ordered the expulsion of his two alleged contacts, the first secretary of the Soviet Embassy and the Soviet military attaché.

Col. Stig Erik Wennerstrom, decorated by both the United States and France, was arrested Friday. Police said he admitted selling military secrets of Sweden and other countries to the Kremlin.

Although the other countries were not identified, they presumably included the United States, which honored Wennerstrom with its Legion of Merit.

A special communique suggested more disclosures would be forthcoming. They could further embarrass Khrushchev and force him to cancel his Scandinavian visit, scheduled for next spring. Two years ago stormy political opposition made Khrushchev postpone a trip to Sweden.

PRESS UNANIMOUS

The Swedish press today unanimously called for cancellation of the Khrushchev visit.

The North Atlantic Treaty Organization was reported investigating whether Wennerstrom supplied the Russians with NATO secrets.

Informed sources in Stockholm said NATO staffs in Paris and Washington had canceled all leaves to expedite the inquiry.

In Washington, the State Department said it received advance notice from the Swedish government of Wennerstrom's arrest. Officials refused to comment on the colonel's 1952-57 Washington assignment.

Wennerstrom, now 57, also served twice at the Swedish Embassy in Moscow. He was acting as a special disarmament adviser in addition to his Swedish Defense Ministry duties when police picked him up.

House Votes Today on Cut Defense Fund

WASHINGTON — The House is expected to vote today on a pruned $47.1 billion budget which has brought on a battle of words between the Pentagon and Capitol Hill.

Lawmakers who had been assured by the bill's backers that its funds would support maintenance of present forces, and in some cases bolster them, were demanding a fresh explanation from the White House over reports that the administration is preparing to cut military strength over the next two years.

Although the bill was trimmed $1.9 billion by the House Appropriations Committee, members told the House the cuts were calculated to effect routine economies, not reduce manpower or other armed might.

But just as debate on the measure ended yesterday, members read a news dispatch saying the administration was preparing to reduce its overseas military

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Space Committee cut $134 million more from next year's civilian space budget, bringing the total reductions recommended so far to $393 million. The committee is expected to trim the budget by another $96 million tomorrow, winding up with a total decrease of about $489 million.

German Throng Hears Kennedy Denounce Reds

Predicts Communism Headed for Discard in 'Larger Europe'

BERLIN (AP) — President Kennedy looked at the wall in Berlin today and beyond into the Red-ruled East. Wild cheers from a million West Berliners rang in his ears and even East Berliners waved at him despite the presence of armed Communist police.

Then, in a speech to 250,000 Germans in front of City Hall, he denounced the wall as a symbol of Communist failure.

"The wall is an offense against history and an offense against humanity," he told the chanting, roaring crowd.

They were part of the million West Berliners who left their jobs and homes to give Kennedy what his press secretary said was the greatest reception he had received anywhere in the world.

He saw the wall twice. He visited historic Brandenburg Gate, the massive symbol of Berlin's division, andCheckpoint Charlie, the Allied crossing point into East Berlin.

Across from the checkpoint perhaps 2,000 East Berliners defied Communist police who tried to keep them moving. Though they could see little of Kennedy they heard the cheers and smiled. Some hesitatingly raised handkerchiefs and waved when the police were not looking.

They were waving handkerchiefs also when Kennedy mounted a special platform at Brandenburg Gate and looked for four minutes into East Berlin.

Another expression from the East occurred at Congress Hall in West Berlin, where Kennedy was given a bunch of flowers sent from East Berlin workers as a symbol of their hope for eventual freedom from Communist rule.

The crowd in front of City Hall was almost beside itself with joy as Kennedy resorted to German to make Detroiters aware of his presence.

'Free, United Europe' Key to World Liberty

BERLIN (AP)—President Kennedy, in his key Berlin address, said today the goal of liberty may well be obtainable in a "larger Europe" reconstituted on both sides of the Iron Curtain.

"The winds of change are blowing across the Iron Curtain as well as in the rest of the world," the President said.

"The cause of human rights and dignity, some two centuries after its birth in Europe and the United States, is still moving men and nations with ever-increasing momentum.

"History itself runs against Marxist dogma, not toward it," he declared in his speech prepared for delivery in the auditorium of Berlin's Free University.

Kennedy said East European "police states are an anachronism.

"Like the division of Germany, the division of Europe is against the tide of history," he said. "The new Europe of the West—dynamic, diverse and democratic—must exert an ever-increasing attraction on the peoples of the East.

"And when the possibilities of reconciliation appear, we in the West will make it clear we are not hostile to any people or system, provided they chose their own destiny without interfering with the free choice of others."

The President said that before liberty is achieved "justice requires us to do whatever we can in this transition period to improve the lot and maintain the hopes of those on the other side.

KEEP IN TOUCH

"It is important that the people in the barren confines to the East be kept in touch with western society—through all the contracts and communications that can be established—through all the trade that western society permits.

"What does liberty require," Kennedy asked. "The answer is clear: A united Berlin in a united Germany, united by self-determination—and living in peace. This right of free choice is no special privilege claimed for Germans alone. It is an elemental requirement of human justice.

"So this is a goal we shall never abandon. And it is a goal which may well be obtainable most readily in the context of a reconstruction of the larger Europe on (Continued on Page 2, Col. 1)

Federal Funds OK'd for Center

Pontiac Will Convert Old Water Works Site

Federal funds to help finance a proposed $37,728 community center on the old water works site at Wessen and Walnut have been okayed by the Community Facilities Administration.

City Manager Robert A. Stierer told the City Commission last night that a $168,864 grant from accelerated public works funds has been approved for the construction of the community center.

The federal grant will be matched by funds already allocated for the center in the city's 1963 capital improvement program.

The grant will enable the city to build a fully developed community center on the old water works site.

Plans include a swimming pool, bath house, remodeling of an existing building for indoor recreation and community activities, landscaping and site development.

Had the city been forced to finance the entire project with local funds, initial construction would have been limited to the pool, bath house and possibly a multipurpose room.

The rest would have been postponed until capital improvement funds were available for future expansion.

The structure tabbed for remodeling is a vacant water filtration plant. City officials hope to begin work on the center as soon as the water department moves into new facilities at South Boulevard and Opdyke.

Action came in answer to a petition from residents of the west side street protesting the incorrect spelling.

City Attorney William A. Ewart recommended the change be initiated by official resolution of the commission since the action would involve a change in spelling on the original plat of that area.

Attorney General Speaks

Rights Plan Approval Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy assured Congress today the administration's civil rights proposals are not aimed at the "Mrs. Murphy's" who operate small rooming houses.

Kennedy laid President Kennedy's seven-part program before a House Judiciary subcommittee as "an appeal to the basic sense of justice in the hearts of all Americans." He directed most of his testimony to the section banning racial discrimination in places of public accommodation.

In discussions of the controversial proposals in Congress, the question has been raised whether a fictitious "Mrs. Murphy," who rents two or three rooms to out-of-state visitors, would be covered by the proposed law.

Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., chairman of the subcommittee, said the administration's proposal as drawn would appear to cover literally every type of establishment serving the public no matter what its size.

Caller suggested it may be necessary for Congress to set a minimum volume of business below which an establishment would be exempt from the law.

"There is a good deal of merit in your suggestion," replied the attorney general. "If Congress decides to do that, we would be happy to work out with you to set some cut-off line."

As questioned by the members, referred repeatedly to Mrs. Murphy and her potential problems, if the law passed, Kennedy finally declared: "I don't think Mrs. Murphy is going to be in a lot of trouble."

But he said it is time for Congress to act.

"The courts have played an important role," he said. "This administration has taken significant and far-reaching action by the exercise of executive power."

"Now it is clearly up to Congress to bring its strength to bear."

MORAL OUTRAGE

This Kennedy challenged the Congress to recognize—by passing the civil rights bill—"that this country can no longer abide the moral outrage of racial discrimination."

The testimony of the President's brother before a House Judiciary subcommittee kicked off the administration's battle to propel the civil rights bill through the long, tough congressional mill.

His prepared testimony was first a further explanation of the bill but foremost a rebuttal to the criticism voiced by opponents when the President unveiled the program in a message to Congress last week.

The attorney general directed his strongest testimony to the section which promises to be the most controversial: the one prohibiting racial discrimination in any place of public accommodation—even privately owned ones.

"The effects of discrimination in public establishments are not limited to the embarrassment and frustration suffered by the individuals who are its most immediate victims," Kennedy said, "our whole economy suffers."

Such facilities—restaurants, lunch counters, amusement places, stores, hotels and others are public in a very real sense, he said.

"They are not at all like a private home or a private club, for example, to which the owner invites only the guests he selects. Plainly, places of public accommodation cater to the public."

Kennedy then addressed himself to the argument that the public accommodations law would violate private property rights.

"Some of those who complain most loudly about interference with private property rights," Kennedy said, "ironically are often those who most stoutly defend the laws, enforced by a number of states, which forbid Negroes to be served."

"The difference is not one of property rights, but of the color of the customer's skin. That of the difference is called racial discrimination."

Suit May Halt River Project
Drain Law Challenge
Could Delay Digging

Proposed improvements to the Clinton River in downtown Pontiac might be delayed by a lawsuit in Detroit Federal Court that challenges a section of state drain laws.

Any delay could hinder the downtown perimeter road construction which is to be coordinated with the river project at several key locations in the city.

The suit, brought by a Maple Creek County citizen, challenges the constitutionality of the Michigan Drain Code.

The suit claims methods of assessing property owners for new drains is discriminatory.

Until the issue is settled, County Corporation Counsel Robert Allen, said banks and bonding houses won't bid on bonds to insure construction of drains anywhere in the state.

This is preventing the Clinton County Drain Commission from letting a $2.5 million bond issue to finance the Clinton River project.

The bids were to have been opened today.

County Drain Commissioner Daniel Barry said he doesn't know how long contractors will continue to work without being paid because of lack of bond money.

So far, contractors are engaged in clearing right-of-ways to straighten and widen the river to ease its flow through the downtown district.

Actual digging is scheduled to start within the next few days.

Allen said the court is scheduled to reconvene July 9 on the drain issue.

Profumo Fired From Council

LONDON (AP) — Queen Elizabeth today removed John Profumo from her Privy Council at the request of the former war minister whose admitted relations with a playwright touched off the sex-and-security scandal which rocked the British government.

An announcement said the action was taken at a meeting held by the queen with the council in Buckingham Palace.

Profumo, who resigned from the cabinet and from Parliament after publicly admitting he had lied when he denied any relations with Christine Keeler, requested he be removed from the council eight days ago.

The scandal blew up when it became known Profumo was sharing the favors of Miss Keeler with former Soviet assistant naval attaché Capt. Eugene Ivanov.

A London photographer, meanwhile, told the London Evening News he had been questioned by police in connection with microfilm given him by Ivanov before the latter's return to Moscow.

The photographer, Jimmy Morrison, said he returned from a vacation last night and found his apartment and studio ransacked. He said the burglars were looking for the "micro-dot" films given him for processing by Ivanov.

Subdivision Will Get Sprinkling Restrictions

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — The laws of the Birmingham Farms subdivision will be the first to feel the consequences of a prospectively dry summer.

Supervisor Homer Case and Water Superintendent James E. Scott are using the authority recently given them by the township board in placing restrictions on the use of water.

The restrictions will go into effect Friday morning.

There are about 200 homes in the new subdivision, each with thirty young lawns and anxious owners, Case noted.

"The sprinklers have been running like mad," he said.

CORRESPONDING DATES

Starting Friday, persons living in houses with even numbers can water their lawns on even-numbered dates and those with odd numbers on the odd-numbered dates.

The subdivision is at the southeast corner of Telegraph and West Maple Roads.

"If the hot weather breaks, we will take the ban off," Case said. "If not, it could be on all summer."

The supervisor warned that other subdivisions will face similar restrictions if it doesn't rain soon.

"I can see it coming," he commented.

Issuance of general obligation bonds to finance a $29,000 sewer project in Bloomfield Township was approved by the State Municipal Finance Commission yesterday.

Sanitary sewers will be constructed on the east side of Long Lake Road at Telegraph.

A special assessment district will be established to retire the bonds in five years.

PROPOSED ISSUE

On its way to the finance commission is a proposed $25,000 bond issue for sanitary sewers in the Forest Lane Subdivision at 14-Mile Road and Forest Lane.

The project was approved by the township board following a public hearing Monday night.

Tribute to Evers Held in Boston

From Our News Wires

BOSTON — Thousands of Negroes, including many who obviously stayed home from work, participated in memorial services on historic Boston Common today for a slain Negro leader.

A police-estimated crowd of 5,000 Negro men, women and children and hundreds of white persons assembled in the sweltering sunlight to pay tribute to Medgar W. Evers, who was murdered in Mississippi earlier this month.

Negro leaders had urged Negroes to stay home from work today to attend the services. A dozen policemen were on hand but the gathering was orderly.

The Negroes clapped hands and chanted "freedom" songs. Their leaders addressed them from a bandstand.

Gov. Endicott Peabody, who was out of state, was represented by a Negro aide, James Purdy, executive secretary of the governor's council.

Peabody sent he would say a "silent prayer" for Evers, whom he described as "a truly great American."

Evers' brother Charles was one of the speakers and was to confer with Peabody upon his return.

The throng included some 200 Negroes who marched three miles to the common from a park

Commission Votes New Parking Lot

Despite objections from two commissioners, the City Commission approved an agreement last night to finance a 200-space off-street parking lot for employees at Pontiac General Hospital.

Voting 4-2, the commission agreed to loan the hospital $100,000 from the general employees pension system to help finance the $170,000 project.

Pontiac General will pay back the loan over a two-year period at 4 1/2 per cent interest. The hospital will pay the remaining $70,000 when options for the land have been obtained.

Commissioners Winford E. Bottom and Charles H. Harmon objected to the procedure of borrowing money from the general pension system when the money was available in the hospital's depreciation fund.

An amendment to the parking lot agreement was proposed by Commissioner Harmon. He claimed the city could save 1 1/2 per cent by taking the money from the depreciation fund.

"All I'm offering," he said, "is a method to save us 1 1/2 per cent interest and still accomplish the same thing. Why walk all the way around the barn to go in the front door?"

Commissioner William H. Taylor Jr., doubted if the money in the hospital's depreciation fund was high enough to pay for the parking lot and still have money left to meet any shortage needed for operation.

Harmon maintained that the depreciation fund still had $200,000 to meet shortages sometimes caused by a delay in payments from insurance companies.

Taylor said he doubted if that amount would be left in the fund.

Mayor Robert A. Landry said he agreed with Harmon's method but he was disturbed by occasional reports that Pontiac General was short of funds.

LOSERS 4-2

Harmon's amendment lost 4-2 with himself and Bottom voting for it, while Taylor, Landry, Loy L. Ledford, and Dick M. Kirby voted against it.

To obtain the necessary land for the parking lot, the hospital will purchase five homes and lots on Seminole and seven homes and lots on Johnson.

The area, about 58,400 square feet, is immediately south of the present metered public parking lot behind the hospital.

Hospital officials said employees have agreed to pay .75 cents per week to park in the lot. The hospital has 900 employees.

To obtain the necessary land for the parking lot, the hospital will purchase five homes and lots on Seminole and seven homes and lots on Johnson.

The area, about 58,400 square feet, is immediately south of the present metered public parking lot behind the hospital.

Hospital officials said employees have agreed to pay .75 cents per week to park in the lot. The hospital has 900 employees.

Harmon's amendment lost 4-2 with himself and Bottom voting for it, while Taylor, Landry, Loy L. Ledford, and Dick M. Kirby voted against it.

Doctor Retains Witness Stand

in Flory Murder Trial

Dr. Richard E. Olsen, St. Joseph Mercy Hospital pathologist, was to take the stand again this morning in the first-degree murder trial of a 37-year-old Farmington mother of two.

Dr. Olsen was to be cross-examined by defense counsel for Mrs. Virginia A. Martin, of 3472 Fendy, who is accused of slaying Walter Flory, 45, of 33642 Grand River, Farmington.

The doctor testified yesterday that Flory apparently was stabbed while lying down.

Mrs. Martin told police the May 8 stabbing was in defense of her 18-year-old son, Arthur, after Flory threatened to kill the boy.

Police quoted her as saying Flory fell on a hunting knife that belonged to him during a scuffle that followed the threat, which she said was made as they were returning home from an evening of drinking.

WIFE TESTIFIES

Flory's estranged wife was among four other prosecution witnesses who testified during the first day of the trial before Circuit Judge William J. Bear. She said Flory had a bad temper when he was drinking.

The victim's body was found on 12 Mile Road in Novi by a motorist two days after the stabbing. Police accuse Mrs. Martin of hiding the body in her garage before dumping it from her car.

Pontiac City Affairs

Rezone Land for Auto Business

The City Commission cleared the way last night for the construction of some 24 acres of county-owned property on Oakland for the construction of an automobile dealership and service garage.

The commission rezoned from residential to manufacturing property bounded by Oakland, Keenett, West Bonlevard and the Grand Truck Western Railroad belt line.

Under an agreement with Lloyd Realty Co. of Pontiac, the prospective buyer will pay for his own sewer and water service.

The realty firm has an option on the 24-acre site.

Since the land is not serviced by sewer or water lines, the new property owner must drill his own well for temporary water. Then, at a later date, he would pay for city water lines when they are extended to that area.

In another land transaction, the City Commission accepted the deed to a parcel of land at East Huron and Parke from the State Highway Department for perimeter road right-of-way.

The city will purchase the land for $66,124, according to the contract approved last night by the commission.

OTHER BUSINESS

of $122,708.25 for the construction of a new north side branch fire station.

The general construction contract went to the Waterford Construction Co. The firm submitted the lowest ($91,900) of six bids.

The mechanical trades work was awarded to H. H. State Plumbing & Heating Co. The State bid was $23,000, lowest of five submitted for the project.

Keasey Electric Co. received the electrical trades contract on the fire station. The Waterford firm bid $7,775, lowest of four for the work.

Commissioners also took action on an amendment to the city's sewer and drain ordinance. The action brought the ordinance in line with the state plumbing code.

The amendment requires that permits be issued to master plumbers instead of sewer builders to make connections to the sanitary sewer system.

Estimates for two-inch bituminous concrete resurfacing, storm drain curb replacement and related work on Waldo from Huron to Newberry were presented to the commission.

The assessed cost of the work, which would be $75 on a 50-foot lot, was put at $1,920. The city's share would be $5.

The Panama Canal was opened Aug. 5, 1914.

Hits Outside Interests of County Official

Should a public official engage in private business?

The question was raised here by State Auditor General Billie S. Farnum yesterday at a closed door meeting with Oakland County officials.

Drain Commissioner Daniel Barry said his development of a water system program for Waterford Township was challenged by Farnum.

Barry said he was paid $5,000 by Johnson & Anderson, consulting engineers for the township, for his report in 1960.

NO SECRET

He said that his work for the engineers was no secret and had been performed on his own time.

Barry added that no conflict of interests was involved in his opinion.

Johnson & Anderson of Pontiac is one of several consulting engineering firms retained in conducting lake levels for the drain commission.

Barry's program recommends an internal water system for Waterford Township.

"It's none of Billie Farnum's business what I do on my own time," said Barry. "If I've got enough brains to be hired as a municipal financial adviser, there is no reason why I shouldn't be."

"There is nothing in my being an elected official that deprives me from operating in a private business, that is being understood of course that there is no conflict of interests."

Barry said his predecessors continued to engage in private business while holding public office, some as consulting engineers.

Yesterday's meeting was called to discuss privately Farnum's forthcoming report on the county's auditing procedures.

Farnum said he wanted to work out certain details with county officials before publishing his annual report, according to Barry.

Barry said county officials were instructed not to discuss the report at this time.

He said Farnum's remarks regarding public officials in private business were not a part of the report data.

Farnum was unavailable for comment.

'in Good Condition'

A 5-year-old girl struck by a car as she crossed Oakland at Johnson yesterday afternoon, is reported in good condition at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

Doctors say Mary Darlene Morford, 281 Oakland, suffered a concussion and fractured right arm.

Police say the child was crossing the intersection with her mother, Mrs. Mary Pace.

Restaurant Owners Defend Filling In Part of Union Lake

COMMERCE TOWNSHIP — Brown Jug on the west shore of the lake, Eric Cooper and his son Richard, are defendants in a suit filed in Ingham County Circuit Court by Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley.

According to the complaint, the filling constitutes an "unlawful occupation of lake bottom land" and "interferes with fishing and navigation."

The Coopers' problems started when the road commission decided to renovate Union Lake Road this summer.

The owners of the bar-restaurant at 2325 Union Lake Road weren't the only ones to appeal the condemnation necessary for the project.

Upshot of the resulting Circuit Court suit was that they sold 2,000 square feet of their parking lot to the county for what their attorney terms "a fair price."

To gain back the 15 parking spaces they forfeited in the deal, the Coopers say they made plans to fill in the portion of their lake front property which has gradually been covered by water through the years.

They sent the plans for reclamation to the State Conservation Department.

The department's reply, according to Gene Schnelz, attorney for the Coopers, was "very ambiguous."

"They didn't really give their permission, but they did say they wouldn't bring suit as long as we didn't exceed the limitations," Schnelz said.

The limitation which Schnelz quoted from the letter was "out a distance of 50 feet."

This is the basis for confusion — the question seems to be: 50 feet from what?

Schnelz said he would seek an earlier date for the hearing on the filling suit, now set for Aug. 21.

Instead of spoiling Union Lake, Schnelz contends, the Coopers are improving it by cleaning up a mud hole which is now stagnant.

The bar-restaurant, which has been in the family since 1930, is operating on the liquor license which Eric's father received. It was the first in Commerce Township following the end of Prohibition.

To Lecture at Hospital Near Almont

ALMONT — Dr. Thaddeus E. Danowski, professor of medicine at the University of Pittsburgh School of Medicine, will deliver the third annual Bishop Lecture at the Community Hospital next Tuesday.

Dr. Danowski's topic will be "Precis of Electrolytes in Body Fluids."

Dr. Danowski was graduated from Yale University School of Medicine in 1940. After completing his Internship and residency in Internal Medicine, he was appointed instructor and later assistant professor in medicine at Yale.

In 1947, he was appointed Rensselaer Professor of Research Medicine at the University of Pittsburgh School of Medicine.

Dinner will be served at 7:00 p.m. in the hospital conference room. Dr. Glenn L. Smith, chief of staff, will introduce Dr. Danowski and aid in conducting a question and answer period following the lecture.

Township Approves Food Display Rule

INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP — The Independence Township Board last night amended the township food handlers ordinance to permit the outside display of food.

Similar action was taken Monday night by the Waterford Township Board. The ordinance of both townships are nearly identical.

In each instance, board members indicated that with proper spraying foods could be stored outside without harmful effects from a health standpoint.

Independence Township presently has only one roadside stand, but others are expected to open in the future.

Rochester OKs Utility Service

Sewer, Water Lines Will Extend to Site

ROCHESTER — The first step toward paving the way for construction of a new 100-bed Avon Center Hospital north of town has been taken by the Rochester Village Council.

The council has authorized extension of sewer and water lines to the 24-acre hospital site on Rochester Road, 2,500 feet north of Tienken.

The hospital board has an option to buy the Carl Oxford property just northwest of the entrance to National Twist Drill and Tool Co.

According to Dewane Lindland, hospital administrator, the board was waiting to exercise its option until it received notice of the council's decision on extending the village services to the site.

Lindland said that present plans are to retain the present 40-bed hospital at 55 E. Avon as a chronic care facility. Acute cases would be treated at the new hospital.

The village council also agreed to enter into a contract with the hospital for extension of sewer service to the present facility.

Estimated cost would be $60,000 which would be paid by the hospital. The line would run up Rochester Road from Avon to Division, then to South and out to the sewage treatment plant on the east side of the village.

As customers along the line tap in, they would be assessed, and their payments would be used to reimburse the hospital.

Village Attorney Arthur Cox was authorized to prepare contracts for the extension of the sewer line to the present hospital and the water and sewer lines to the site of the proposed facility north of town.

The go-ahead also was given to village engineers Ayres, Lewis, Norris and May of Ann Arbor to proceed with a study of the hospital site.

Further details of plans for the new osteopathic facility are slated to be released next week.

741 Die in State Traffic

LANSING (UPI) — State police said today the traffic death toll for 1963 has mounted to 741. In a comparable period last year 638 persons were killed on state highways.

Romney Due in Utica

Traditional Fourth Set

UTICA — A 16-year-old tradition will be kept alive here on July 4 when Gov. George Romney crowns the 1963 Fourth of July festival queen.

The governor is scheduled to arrive in Utica at 11:30 a.m. just in time for the coronation ceremonies at the Waterworks Park on Auburn Road.

However, William Schuchard, executive secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, said that just in case the governor arrives a little early a place will be saved for him near the end of the parade, kick-off event for the three-day festival.

Romney will be arriving by helicopter from Wyandotte where a previous commitment prevents him from leading the Utica parade as other governors have in the past.

His visit will mark the 17th year that Michigan's chief executive has crowned Utica's Fourth of July queen.

In addition to preserving an old tradition, the governor will also start what many hope will be a new one — the ringing of Utica's liberty bell at 1 p.m.

Schuchard said he expects in Utica on the Fourth to view the parade, which starts at 10:15 a.m. on North Cass and ends at the park.

Floats from all the area's service clubs and other civic organizations will be interspersed with half a dozen bands, a bugle corps and a color guard.

Honorary grand marshal of the parade will be U.S. Rep. James G. O'Hara, D-Utica.

Reigning over the three-day festival, sponsored by the Lions Club will be Queen Dayle Desy, chosen recently in competition from a field of eight local contestants.

Public Hearing Set on Sewer

ORTON TOWNSHIP — A public hearing on the proposed joint sewage system with Lake Orion was scheduled for July 1 by the township board last night.

After a lengthy discussion the pros and cons of participating in a two-unit system, the board agreed to stage the informational meeting and "get the feeling of the public."

Lake Orion officials are waiting for the township's decision, which is expected to be given at the July 9 regular board meeting.

"The board is going to do the thing the people want them to do," commented Township Clerk Mrs. Margaret Stephen today.

She urged all those who would be affected by the system to attend the July 8 hearing.

The special assessment district for which the sewers are proposed is in that part of the township adjacent to the lake and outside of the village.

This area is bounded on the north by the lake, on the south by W. Clarkston Road and on the west by Pine Tree.

Its eastern limit runs along M24.

All of the John Winter subdivision is also included in the proposed district.

NEWS OF THE AREA

Brooklands Plans Carnival With Bands, Races, Rides

BROOKLANDS — The music of a clown band, the challenge of a potato sack race and the thrill of a ferris wheel ride will be offered at Brooklands Fire Department's carnival this weekend.

Beginning tomorrow afternoon, the festivities will take place at the Great Oaks Stock Farm on Auburn.

The annual carnival, sponsored by the fire department for 17 years, also will feature parachuting exhibits.

Displays of skybound antics are scheduled for 7 p.m. Friday and 4 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

A clown band, made up of volunteers in the Avondale Fire Department, will parade through the grounds Saturday afternoon, a time set aside especially for the young.

Rides ranging from a merry-go-round to a ferris wheel will be offered throughout the four days.

Competition for kids of all ages, from a peanut race to a plain old-fashioned foot race, will close out the carnival Sunday afternoon.

Proceeds from the weekend activities will be used by the department for needy people in the area and to finance the firemen's Little League baseball team.

Wilson-Jarvis Vows

ORTONVILLE — Barbara Lee Jarvis became the bride of Darrell James Wilson Saturday evening.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Parker A. Jarvis, 1936 Ortonville, and the John C. Wilsons of Reed City.

For her wedding, the bride chose a gown of silk organza over tulle with a lavalier necklace and bouffant skirt ending in a chapel sweep.

The bride's attendants were Eleanor Mae Decker of Grand Rapids and Mary Lou Hilliard of Royal Oak.

Serving his brother as best man was Carroll Wilson of Oxford. The guests were seated by Richard Morrison of Royal Oak and Jack Holt of Plainville.

To Shift Teachers for 'Racial Balance'

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit Public School Superintendent Samuel M. Brownell said yesterday teacher placement procedures would be changed. He said present practice has not sufficiently improved the racial "balance" in the city's public schools.

He said new teachers will be assigned to the first vacancy on the list, instead of having a choice of the first three in as the past.

All new teachers will be shifted at the end of three years to a school in a different section of the city.

Cologne, Bonn Greet President Wildly

By MERRIMAN SMITH
UPI White House Reporter
BERLIN — Backstairs at the traveling White House: President Kennedy seemed almost surprised by the smash velocity of the welcome given him in Cologne and Bonn upon his arrival in West Germany earlier this week.

Driving through these jammed cities in an open car made specially for the occasion by Daimler-Benz, the President frequently seemed close to being dragged from his vehicle by enthusiastic well-wishers.

The White House flew three of its own big cars over from the United States for the European tour, but Kennedy toured with Chancellor Konrad Adenauer in the special black Mercedes touring car.

Makers of the Mercedes do not manufacture an open car for commercial sale and the car assigned to Kennedy was a special job. Daimler-Benz made a similar vehicle for former President Dwight D. Eisenhower when he visited Bonn in 1959.

Flying the Atlantic last Saturday night, the President's big Air Force fan-jet transport was forced for a time to fly at an altitude of 41,000 feet to avoid turbulence. This means the internal cabin pressure was maintained at the equivalent of an altitude of about 7,000 feet.

A number of people aboard the plane awakened or tossed fitfully in their attempted sleep during the period of higher altitude operation, but the President slumbered right through it.

One of the more intriguing signs spotted by the President in German crowds showed up in Cologne. The sign said simply, "Mr. President, please take me with you to either Berlin or Dublin."

The crowd was so dense, however, that the President could not make out whether the sign was held by a young or an older person, or whether the pleader was male or female.

The police in Cologne gave rough treatment to a man who broke through their lines at the great cathedral where Kennedy was worshipping last Sunday. The man was carrying a large hammer and a carpenter's square.

A visitor from Washington cracked, "See what happens when a Mason demonstrates in front of a cathedral."

One of the biggest cheers the President has received in his current tour came as he spoke in front of the Cologne Rathaus city hall.

He said he wanted to bring the people of Cologne special greetings from Cologne, Minn., Cologne, N.J., "and even Cologne, Texas."

The German audience needed no translation for the word Texas and there were loud cries of "Ja wohl."

Expensive Nose Bite

LONDON (UPI)—George Sandford, a window cleaner, was fined $14 yesterday for biting the nose of Alfred Neworthy, who had pushed past him in a bus line.

Denver Scene of Bias Protest

DENVER (UPI)—More than 1,000 civil rights demonstrators, calling for an end to "traditional subservience" of the Negro, walked 38 blocks through Denver yesterday to present demands to the City Council.

Led by the Rev. L. Sylvester Odom, the peaceful marchers carried placards and sang on their walk, which caused some minor traffic snarls in downtown Denver.

Odom delivered a 20-minute speech in the council chamber, which was filled with 300 of the marchers. Others sat outside on the steps of City Hall.

Odom presented demands in the areas of employment, housing, proposed legislation, education, police administration, minority group representation at the policy-making level and career service.

23 Cuban Refugees Will Return to Havana

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Red Cross reported yesterday that 23 Cuban refugees will return to Havana July 1 aboard a chartered plane flying a medical and nursing team to Cuba.

The group, mostly old people and children, were being returned at the request of relatives in Cuba, a Red Cross spokesman said.

Road Agency Observes Half-Century of Service

We heartily congratulate the Oakland County Road Commission on its Golden Anniversary, observance of which will be marked by an open house Sunday.

The commission was formed in 1913 by the Board of Supervisors, with A. G. Barrett named as first chairman.

The citizenry of Oakland County owes a debt of gratitude to the early pioneers of good roads and the vision they displayed.

Implementing an initial program for road improvement was a two-mill tax levy, followed by a voter-approved bond issue of $1 million for the construction of a county road system.

This in turn was followed by passage in 1915 of the Covert Act, whereby the public was given voice in the projection of new roads while assuming an equitable portion of the expense.

Today the commission, under Chairman SOL LOMERSON, has jurisdiction over 690 miles of primary roads and 1,674 miles of local roads. It also has joint responsibility over 197 miles of state highways within the County.

With a staff of 360, the County agency's total outlay for maintenance in 1962 was $3.7 million. Under way for 1963 is a $5-million, 58-mile road construction program.

We believe that the fine system of improved highways has played a significant part in the phenomenal industrial and recreational growth of our area.

The Oakland County Road Commission may well look back with pride on its 50 years of progressive supervision of our county's roads.

Red Powers in Meet to Mend Ideology Gap

A voice from the grave may speak a leading role in the Russia-Red China conference set for July 5 in Moscow.

The mute voice is that of JOSEF STALIN.

At issue between the two major Communist countries is the uncompromising Marxist philosophy of Stalin, practiced by the dictator until his death in 1953, and Nikita Khrushchev's revision of the dogma.

It was soon after assumption of the premiership in 1958 that Khrushchev shocked Red followers by his "de-Stalinization" of their ideology and comparative moderation he substituted.

Diluted were the doctrines of Marx and Lenin that was against "imperialism" — democracies — were inevitable; that there was room for but one social system — communism — in the world.

KHRUSHCHEV saw that times had changed. The nuclear bomb with all its terrible destruction was the primary of many factors influencing his change of outlook. Some others were of pressing domestic nature.

The Chinese Reds, however, personified by Mao Tse-tung, have steadfastly adhered to the all-out Marxist concept of iron-fisted domestic rule and forcible world domination.

Whereas KHRUSHCHEV sees communism winning capitalist countries through use of existing parliamentary machinery and compromise, Mao advocates violent seizure of the state apparatus as the only means to achieve power. The fear of nuclear war should not deter revolution, he holds.

The West has been hot and cold in evaluating the seriousness and depth of the sparring that for some time has marked Chinese-Soviet relations. But there is no longer doubt that the cleavage is deep and right down the middle.

The Chinese delegation will throw on the conference table an unmodified documentation of original Communist doctrine against the more conciliatory, peaceful co-existence framework the Soviet hierarchy has come to accept.

It is hoped by the conferees that some degree of resolution of the differences separating the countries can be effected.

But at this point, the meeting promises about the same measure of resilience as that present when the classical invincible force meets the immovable object.

State Dems Look for New Formula

By JIM DYVERT

Democrats know they need a new political formula to deal with the changing nature of metropolitan area voters if they hope to reverse recent trends against them in statewide elections.

But coming up with one, they're finding, is no snap.

Their problem is the shift of political power in the Detroit area toward the Republican camp, a phenomenon of the flight to suburbia.

The economic status and job security that enables a Democratic voter to buy a suburban home also tends to make him more conservative, less responsive to such traditional Democratic issues as unemployment, and forgetful of party allegiance.

His new environment, which contains more Republicans, tends to reorient his political thinking toward big government and "for the man." Nonpartisanship is more fashionable than being a Democrat.

LESS USEFUL

The burning issues now are local and the local parties are often nonpartisan, which also renders less useful the methods that served the party so well in the city.

The unpredictable suburbanites discovered last fall that they can determine the outcome of a state election if they take time out from local quarrels to unite as they did behind Gov. George Romney.

They did it again in the April 1 vote on the new state constitution, according to a recently published "Review of Oakland County Democratic Activities, 1962-1963."

Suburban areas voted more heavily for Democratic candidates than against the constitution, according to the review, which attributes the closeness of the result to "no" votes by rural Republicans.

"This is a new arena of political battle, and demands new approaches," says Oakland County Democratic Chairman SANDER M. LEVIN in the review.

"We must develop new techniques," says state party head ZOLLON A. FERENCY. "We have to appeal to suburban voters on a sophisticated level with bolder, more imaginative programs."

NO CLEAR SUGGESTION

But no one has a clear, compelling suggestion for a new formula to recapture the suburbanite's loyalty, improve appeal to the growing numbers of business and professional people, transfer interest in community affairs to state problems, and overcome what Ferency terms a "transitional conservatism."

According to the review, Democrats are emphasizing involvement in local politics and community activities and renewing efforts to enlist volunteers.

There's also an energetic countywide campaign to determine where the Democratic voters are. Levin points to gains in the April 1 township elections.

But, the county membership drive this year has so far been a flop, despite its aim of quadrupling paid membership. Futility and negative-appearing efforts to undo GOP successes with the new constitution and Congressional redistricting have not contributed to development of new appeal.

Nor has the lingering image of UAW domination of the state party organization helped.

The formula reflected in the county's Democratic view is not so much an exciting new concept as it is a willingness to work hard toward positive objectives by adapting old methods to new situations. This may be the formula the party needs statewide. Spending too much energy in search of a miracle remedy can result in overlooking the slow but sure cure.

It's A Crazy Mixed-Up World!

David Lawrence Says:

Kennedy Reaching Turning Point?

WASHINGTON—President Kennedy may be coming to a turning point in his political career. It could cost him re-election in 1964.

Any issue that touches the home or the pocketbook or the job of a citizen takes precedence over all other questions. No matter what an administration has accomplished in other fields, the voter tends to register a negative verdict if a grievance directly affects his economic future.

The Kennedy Administration has opened up a Pandora's box of trouble for itself. An executive order—which isn't based on a single law passed by Congress—has just been issued requiring that a virtual discrimination against white workers be imposed as a means of removing discrimination against Negro workers.

The new order not only applies to all businessmen having contracts with the government for goods or services, but extends to contractors for any construction in which Federal funds are in any way involved and to every subcontractor with whom they do business and every company from which they buy raw materials or other products.

RAISE PROTEST
Already a protest is being raised by the white worker who fears he will be displaced at his job, though the order hasn't yet taken effect.

But even before its issuance, Negro leaders were demanding that a certain quota of Negroes be hired—they are asking for 25 per cent of the work force on all jobs let by New York City to private contractors.

This has raised fears that the merit system will be brushed aside by compulsion and that the number of unemployed whites will materially increase. The President's edict reads in part as follows:

"The contractor will take such action with respect to any subcontract or purchase order as the contracting agency may direct as a means of enforcing such provisions, including sanctions for non-compliance."

This includes government supervision of "employment, upgrading, demotion or transfer," as well as "layoff or termination, rates of pay or other forms of compensation."

Perhaps the most powerful negative force that has been unleashed thus far is in connection with the efforts of governments of Northern states, like New York, to deny to all white children the right to go to schools which are attended only by students from their immediate neighborhoods.

This may require that quotas of both white and Negro children be transferred considerable distances by bus so as to eliminate "racially imbalanced" schools—defined by the commissioner of education of New York State as schools in which the enrollment is more than 50 per cent Negro.

Already students from the Negro schools in New York City are being moved into predominantly white schools. It is being urged that white children be similarly moved to schools in Negro neighborhoods. All this is allegedly an effort to provide better education for the Negro children.

So if the handling of the school problem causes aggravation among white citizens and if there is an uneasiness among workers as to their future employment, there will doubtless be in the 1964 campaign an exodus of white voters from the Democratic party in the populous Northern states which have hitherto voted so regularly for that party.

Any gain in the Negro vote—which, ever since the relief subsides of the 1930s, has moved over in large part to the Democratic party—would hardly offset the loss of white voters.

The Kennedy Administration, which has been making a direct bid for Negro votes by responding to the demands of Negro leaders, will soon try to find ways to appease the white vote.

But the effect of what has already happened can hardly be minimized, and that's why the outlook for the 1964 election contest has suddenly changed from what seemed a certainty to a big uncertainty for the administration.

JFK's Blast at De Gaulle Was Deliberately Planned

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON—President Kennedy waited six months until he got to Europe to do an extraordinary job on French President Charles de Gaulle for the damage he had caused the Western Alliance.

In a rough, deliberately planned major policy speech Tuesday at Frankfurt, Marlow Germany, Kennedy, with all Europe listening, ripped into De Gaulle for suggesting America might run out on its Allies in case of attack.

This was probably the harshest criticism—even though Kennedy did not mention De Gaulle by name—that any U.S. president has made on an Allied leader since the war.

Of all the days in the year on which he could have belittled the United States, De Gaulle picked the worst one, last Jan. 14, the day Kennedy delivered his State of the Union message to Congress.

That was an extremely sunny, optimistic Kennedy message which said: "How fares the Grand Alliance? Free Europe is entering into a new phase of its long and brilliant history."

De Gaulle made the words look ludicrous before Kennedy got them out of his mouth. The Frenchman held a news conference just a few hours before Kennedy spoke. The timing was no accident. He holds few such conferences.

And, when he does, the questions have to be submitted beforehand. In summary, De Gaulle did these four things:

1. He rejected this country's proposal for a multinational nuclear force and proclaimed his determination to build a separate French nuclear force.

This was exactly what Kennedy didn't want. It meant one more nuclear power in the world and would encourage to other countries to do the same.

2. He slammed Europe's Common Market down in Britain's face, treating his British ally as an outsider.

weakened both economic and political unity among the Allies.

3. He said France opposed a Common Market "under American leadership and domination."

4. He claimed that while the United States talked of a multinational NATO nuclear force for Europe, that force would remain under U.S. control.

He hit the mark there. Under law passed by Congress, this government must retain full control of nuclear weapons, deciding whether or not to use them.

Pure Foolishness

The Hillsdale Daily News.

When the Democrats had the White House before, the Republicans used to call for the resignation of Dean Acheson, then secretary of state.

When the Republicans got in, Democrats called for the ouster of the late John Foster Dulles, Acheson's successor. For good measure, they asked that Ezra Taft Benson, president Eisenhower's secretary of agriculture, be tossed to the wolves. Now the Republicans are redressing the balance by asking that Benson's Democratic counterpart, Secretary Orville Freeman, be given the ax.

In politics a healthy quota of foolishness is expected. But this constant call for a game of musical chairs at the cabinet level is silly.

Most of the time the complainants would not be any happier with the replacements than with those whose ouster they seek. It's the policies and the party they don't like. Why don't they put their vocal energies into winning the next election?

Supreme Court's Ruling Prompts Comments

Christians are grieved and shocked at the Supreme Court's decision to outlaw God's word in our schools. The words "Under God" in our Pledge of Allegiance are being attacked and "In God We Trust" will soon disappear from our money.

Our forefathers did not build on such a principle—freedom of worship did not mean neglect of it. We are pleasing the atheists and dishonoring God Himself at a time when the fires of communism are all around us.

We have taken a stand that makes it hard for other lands to call us a Christian nation. I find it hard to sing "God Bless America." Why should He?

Romeo

Mrs. Frederic Tank

It shocked me to learn that the Bible is being denied from schools. They first said give a child freedom and don't correct him. Now the Bible and God are being taken away. What will the coming generation be—a godless delinquent crowd?

God made the world and people and gave us the Ten Commandments to live up to. On Sunday there are clothes hanging out, lawns being mowed, stores doing business and the air being filled with poison that is harmful to people and money is being spent on space travel.

A Christian

Things have come to quite a pass in this so-called Christian nation when the Supreme Court bans the Bible and prayers from our school children.

To even things up they should also ban this trash called "evolution." It is being taught by some of our deluded and over-educated teachers.

88 Newberry

This nation has been greatly blessed by God in the past but I do not imagine there will be many blessings from this last court decision.

Glenn Yuille

Sen. Keating said his mail ran about 964 against the Supreme Court's ouster of public school prayers. Congress expressed its ire against the ruling and talked of a constitutional amendment. What became of that amendment?

J. A. Phillips

It is ludicrous to portray the recent Supreme Court decisions as attacks on religion, and even worse to hurl abuse at the court. The decisions reaffirm the premise that government must stay out of religious matters. The Supreme Court judges the cases on the constitutional issues alone and must be commended, not condemned.

Gary M.

Now that freedom of religion has been outlawed in the schools, will the Supreme Court throw out freedom of the press? Then the nation will be lost completely.

Korean Pays Tribute to U. S. War Dead

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Republic of Korea paid tribute yesterday to the 33,620 U.S. servicemen killed during the Korean War.

Korean Ambassador Kim Chung Yul, a former Air Force general, laid a wreath of carnations on the tomb of the unknown in Arlington National Cemetery to honor those killed in combat, 20,517 dead from other causes, 5,178 listed as missing and 142,091 wounded during the three-year conflict.

Highway Is Detoured in North State County

LANSING (UPI)—The State Highway Department put a detour yesterday around a $311,160 modernization project on M22 south at Frankfort in Benzie County.

The detour, which is 11 miles long, is expected to remain in effect until Oct. 31.

Official Says Waterford's Not Going Dry

Despite a prolonged period without rain and the fact that one well is temporarily out of operation, no sprinkling ban is contemplated in Waterford Township.

Kenneth Squiers, superintendent of the township's water department, said yesterday he could foresee no crisis even though scattered reports of low water pressure during peak use periods have come to his attention.

One of the wells serving Waterford System No. 1 is out of use pending arrival of a replacement electrical part. So far the loss of this well, one of 23 serving the township, has caused no emergency, Squiers said.

Boy on Picnic Drowns

MUSKEGON (AP)—David Haman, 10, of Lansing, drowned in Wolf Lake in Muskegon County yesterday while on a picnic.

Senate Okays Seaway Probe

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate passed yesterday a bill which would authorize Army engineers to investigate whether year-round navigation on the Great Lakes and the St. Lawrence Seaway is possible.

The bill, which now goes to the House, calls for a final report to be submitted to Congress not later than two years after funds are provided for the study.

The investigation would include waterway deicing systems and methods in use by private concerns and foreign governments.

Estimated cost of the study is $50,000.

The Senate Public Works Committee noted that navigation on the Great Lakes and their connecting channels is closed from about mid-December to early April as a result of ice conditions.

It said the St. Lawrence River channel below Montreal also was icebound throughout the winter.

Paraguay and Bolivia have no seacoasts.

No-Dialing System Rings Scribe's Bell

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI)—As a red-blooded, 100 per cent, multidigit Arabic number, I tip my hat (74th) to Pross T. Cross, president of the Lathrop, Mo., telephone company.

According to press reports, Cross is resisting pressure from the State Public Service Commission to convert the phones in Lathrop to the dial system. I'm with him all the way.

The telephone service maintained by Cross' company is the exact antithesis of the all-digit dialing system that the somewhat larger American Telephone & Telegraph Co. is forcing upon its subscribers.

In Lathrop, you don't have to use a number at all. You can just turn the handle, tell the operator who you're calling and she'll connect you. Wonderful!

Why hadn't someone thought of that before?

Now that Cross has shown the way, let us hope that AT&T will abandon its program of discarding telephone exchange names and adopt the Lathrop system instead.

While they're at it, I'd like to see AT&T install a system like the one we used to have in my home town in Texas.

If you didn't get an answer, the operator would inform you that the party you were calling had gone to the store for a dozen eggs, or was out in the yard and couldn't hear the phone ringing.

I got quite a shock a few nights ago, however, when I tried to call my father. Ever since Hector was a pup, my father's phone number has been 38.

BY WAY OF TELSTAR?

But on this occasion, when the Washington operator finally reached the operator in my home town, apparently making connection by way of Telstar II, the operator there said the number had been changed. She said my father's new number was 9285015. From 38 to 9285015. What is the world coming to?

Well, for one thing, it's coming to "ZIP Codes." Beginning July 1, Postmaster General J. Edward Day would like us all to start putting five-digit ZIP codes on the letters we mail. As far as I'm concerned, Day can go butt a stump.

I'm all in favor of improving the postal service, but I haven't got room in my head for another single number. The saturation point was reached a few months ago when my bank made me start putting 67-30-083 on my checks and deposit slips.

Last week, the savings institution that mother-hens my nest egg sent me a form to fill out so it could designate me as 458-06-8881. I haven't been able to face up to that either.

We need strong men like Pross Cross of Lathrop, Mo., to rescue us from the numerical morass into which we are sinking. Down with dialing!

Monroe School District Plans Cuts in Programs

MONROE (AP)—The Custer School District south of here has announced reductions in its educational program for the 1963-64 school year. Band, physical education, vocal music and home economics were among the things eliminated.

The move was necessary because district voters failed to approve two bids for extra millage in June, the board of education said yesterday.

Lad to Be Charged When Old Enough

WIMBLEDON, England (UPI)—Chief Clerk L. A. Owen yesterday told a 12-year-old boy that when he becomes old enough to have a driver's license, it will be marked for reckless driving.

The lad, unidentified because of court regulations, was found guilty of driving a stolen car and causing $140 damage. His father was fined $19.60.

Charge Union in Vice Racket

Canadian Girls Lured Into U.S. Prostitution

WASHINGTON (UP)—A Senate subcommittee has charged that a U.S. entertainers' union helped lure Canadian girls to the United States for striptease jobs in "vicious dives" where they were held under 24-hour guard and forced into prostitution.

The Senate Investigations subcommittee, in a report yesterday on its 1962 probe of the American Guild of Variety Artists (AGVA), said the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service tightened its rules last year to thwart the racket.

The subcommittee said the Paramount Entertainment Bureau of Montreal, a booking agency franchised by the AGVA, had signed up a number of girls in 1957 for work under "shocking and unbelievable" conditions in U.S. strip clubs.

The girls had answered "no experience necessary" advertisements placed by Miss Billie Brown of the booking agency, and were promised stardom, $100 a week, safe lodging and transportation, the report said.

"The scheme for bringing the girls to the United States utilized the AGVA at every step," the subcommittee said.

It said the AGVA had a Toronto branch which should have been alerted by the "no experience necessary" ads that an illegal plan was under way.

It accused union officials of "falsely certifying" to U.S. immigration authorities that there was a shortage of U.S. entertainers, so that the girls could get visas.

It also said an immigration service inspector who interviewed 16 Canadian girls testified "that a conspiracy existed between Billie Brown, the AGVA representative who supported the petitions for importation of the girls, and the organized crime element in Chicago which exploited these young girls."

Operation Gets Pardon for Murderer

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—A convicted murderer who agreed to help medical science by undergoing an historic lung transplant operation looked forward to his freedom today.

Gov. Ross Barnett said Tuesday that John Richard Russell, 58, would be rewarded with a pardon.

In making the announcement, Barnett disclosed for the first time the identity of the patient in the widely publicized operation. Russell is serving life for a 1957 slaying in Attala County.

The governor said he would take proper steps to grant a full and complete pardon for Russell, who has "an excellent record." The transplant, believed first of its kind, would "alleviate human misery and suffering in years to come," Barnett said.

Spokesman at the University of Mississippi Medical Center in Jackson said Russell's transplanted lung was functioning satisfactorily.

To help a kidney problem which arose after the operation, the spokesman said Russell's abdomen is being used as an artificial kidney to filter body wastes from liquids. The method is described as slow but effective.

Surgeons disclosed almost two weeks ago the lung had been transplanted from an unrelated donor.

Leading up to the transplant, the medical center surgeons made detailed studies in more than 500 experimental animals over a seven-year period.

Judge's Levy Heavier When Wife Is Wrong

CARTHAGE, Mo. (AP)—Sandra R. Spradling, 25, pleaded guilty in City Court Tuesday to speeding.

"You, of all people, should know better than this," said Judge James R. Spradling, who fined his wife $10 and costs—twice as much as is customary for six miles an hour over the limit.

Technical Woe Stalls Flight of AF Rocket Ship

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (UP)—The Air Force last night canceled a test flight of the X15 rocket ship which was programmed to take Maj. Bob Rushworth above the 50-mile mark today to qualify him as America's second winged astronaut. An Air Force spokesman said mechanical difficulty forced postponement of the flight. He said it had not yet been rescheduled but might go late this week.

Yesterday, chief space agency pilot Joe Walker flew an X15 heat test in which the temperatures on the rocket ship's special skin soared to 1,000 degrees Fahrenheit—enough to burn up an ordinary aircraft.

Detroit DSR Workers To Get Wage Increases

DETROIT (UP)—Some 449 Department of Street Railways employees will receive wage increases next Monday, the start of the fiscal year.

The increases will average five cents an hour for hourly-paid employees, or the equivalent to salaried employees. The increases were approved yesterday by the DSR commission.

Stenographer Princess-Elect

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A 20-year-old stenographer at a nearby aviation plant will become a princess Saturday when she weds Nigerian Prince Otuokere Paddy Njaka, 22.

The prince, a student at Loyola University, will remain here until an auto accident Saturday.

He finishes his education in electrical engineering in 1965. Then he and his Negro bride, Linda Faye Lee, will move to Nigeria. The prince's father, Chief Madumene G. Njaka, is ruler of 50,000 tribesmen in Kaokwa, eastern Nigeria.

Dies of Crash Injuries

LIVONIA (UP)—Mary Joe Hackett, 23, of Grand Rapids, died last night of injuries suffered in an auto accident Saturday.

Peace Corps Volunteer Attacked in Ecuador

QUITO, Ecuador (AP)—Leftists shouting "Long live Cuba, down with the Yankees" attacked an American Peace Corps volunteer Monday night in Quesera, a provincial capital in southern Ecuador.

Reports reaching here did not say whether David Porter Nelson was injured or not. Police stopped the fighting but said they could not catch any of the attackers.

Another Weighty Pot of Boyled Potpourri

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that fat men get tired of hearing: "He's a fine figure of a man—in fact, several men."
"What made you so late for work, Roscoe?"
"Get stuck in the subway turnstile again!"
"He doesn't need a knife and fork. Just put a shovel by his plate."
"Hi, Tubby, what's new?"
BOYLE "They say everybody loves a fat man."
"They say nobody loves a fat man."
"In our last amateur theatrical, Roscoe starred as the mob scene. He played it all by himself."
"Roscoe just dived into the swimming pool from the 11-foot board. Now, how are we going to get the water back in?"
"My, I can eat anything I want. Nothing seems to stick to my bones."
"They'll have to unhinge the pearly gates if they're ever going to get him into heaven."

"Your shoelace is loose, Roscoe. Want me to tie it for you?"
"We've got to do something about him. That's the fourth swivel chair he's broken this month."

Escapes' Lawyer Cites 'Torture-Chamber' Cells

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — The attorney for three escapees from Southern Michigan Prison, now fighting extradition to Michigan, accused Wisconsin officials yesterday of keeping the three in "torture chambers."
Attorney Jack McManus was given until tomorrow to try to obtain writs of habeas corpus for the three — Elmer J. Crachy, 35; Richard E. Mauch, 40; and Robert L. Gipson, 30. If he fails, they will be returned to Michigan.

McManus said at the extradition hearing that the men had been kept in cells that were unbearable because of heat since their capture May 25.

"The cells are unvented," he said. "The men get no exercise whatsoever. A police dog left in the jail with them at night keeps them awake by sniffing loudly and making raucous noises."

Crachy, Gipson and Mauch appeared at the hearing in handcuffs and prison clothes to an audience of about 500. "We've got to do something about him. That's the fourth swivel chair he's broken this month."

"Yes, sir, I know a size 50 cost fits you like a glove. But let's try this size 54 on you—I think you'll find it a bit more comfortable."

AND MORE!
"Roscoe isn't really fat. He's just unbelievably plump."
"He'll have to wait at the top of the stairs for Roscoe. He always takes the freight elevator."

"As I see it, it's a mathematical problem. If his tummy gets any bigger, his arms will no longer be able to reach the table—and then he's bound to start losing weight."

"The last time Roscoe played Santa Claus, the reindeer mutated."
"They say that inside every fat man there's a thin man trying to get out. In Roscoe's case, there must be three men."

"Rainy days are a big nuisance to him. He gets tired of having to carry two umbrellas."

"I hear he counts his calories on the office computer."
"There's one nice thing about having all that weight. When you're at the beach with Roscoe on a summer day, he throws more shade than the average elm tree."

"Here's a new game for you, kids. The first one to race five laps around Roscoe wins a quarter. On your marks! Get set! Go!"

A $200 Joke

Uncle Dreamed Up Debt

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I have an uncle who is absolutely nutty. He's not bad enough to be locked up, but he embarrasses me every time I see him.

About a year ago he told me he dreamed I borrowed $200 from him. We both laughed about it and I took it as a joke. Every time he brings it up, now he asks me when I am going to pay something on that $200 I owe him.

He actually believes I owe him $200. And I am NOT kidding.

DEAR PLEMIENIK: The next time he brings it up, tell him you dreamed up the money. Every cent I have made has gone into our home.

DEAR ABBY: I've been married 40 years and have four married children.

Eight years ago I took a job to keep busy and earn a little extra money. Every cent I have made has gone into our home.

I work seven hours a day, five days a week, but I'm home every evening before my husband gets there. My housekeeping hasn't suffered and my meals are all well prepared.

My husband told me that beginning August first, either I pay $100 a month room and board or I can get out. What should I do?

DEAR BOSTONIAN: If you've lived with this man for 40 years, you don't need me to tell you how to live with him.

He obviously resents your working. So quit your job, let him support you and let you won't have to worry about getting the gate.

DEAR ABBY: Several years ago, twelve to be exact, I arranged some flowers from my own garden in one of my prettiest vases and took it to my neighbor.

(Her mother, who was living with her at the time, had suffered a stroke and was very ill.)

Well, the mother died that summer and my vase was never returned to me.

I have seen it used in my neighbor's house many times.

I'm sure she knows it's mine.

Should I ask her for it? Or do you suppose she is under the impression that I gave her the vase along with the flowers?

MRS. A.

DEAR MRS. A.: Your neighbor probably assumes you gave her the vase along with the flowers.

Unless the vase is an heirloom or has great sentimental value, pretend you gave it to her and forget it.

For a personal, unpublished answer to your letter, write to ABBY, in care of The Pontiac Press.

MRS. ERNEST LOYD ADAMS

Newlyweds to Reside in Southwestern State

New residents of Oklahoma City will be Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Loyd Adams (LaDonna Elaine Coe), wed recently by Minister Boyd Glover in the Church of Christ.

Daughter of the Rossie Coes, Lowell Street, the bride appeared in white delustrated satin styled with chapel sweep, worn with an illusion veil and pearl crown. Phalaenopsis and Stephanotis comprised her cascade bouquet.

Brenda Louise Lewis, her honor attendant, wore blue lavender organza and held pale pink carnations and ivy. Mrs. Ocus Clack, her niece's bridesmaid, wore pale lavender organza.

Dwight Coe served as best man. Calvin and Wayne Summer, uncles of the bridegroom, assisted as ushers. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Adams, Odessa, Texas.

The couple are graduates of Abilene Christian College, Abilene, Tex.

It's Wrong to Stand Up Girl Friends

By The Emily Post Institute Q: If a girl has already made a date to go to the movies with several girl friends and a boy asks her for a date for the same evening, is she being rude in canceling her engagement with the girls and going with the boy?

I'm in Dutch with my girl friends because I did just that, but I'll bet they would have done the same thing if they had the opportunity. Do you think I was wrong?

A: That a first engagement may not be thrown aside for a second more attractive one is one of the really important rules of proper behavior.

In this instance, it is true, there were several girls who could go to the movies quite well without you, and you did not spoil the evening for any one as you would have done had you deserted one girl alone.

Nevertheless, you were wrong. As a matter of fact, you may very well have lost a chance to make a lasting impression on the boy by saying, "I'm sorry I can't go because I've promised Jane and Mary and Alice to go to the movies with them. But I'd love to go some other time."

Q: We live in a three-and-a-half-room apartment. Would it be in good taste to display a sterling silver tea service on a table in the living room as there is no room in our tiny dinette for it? It is a family heirloom and very beautiful.

A: I'm sorry, but a tea set, even an old and very beautiful one, should not be displayed in the living room. When it is not in use it belongs in a closet or in the dining room on the sideboard.

Q: Does one address an acknowledgment of a wedding invitation to Mrs. alone or to Mr. and Mrs.?

A: You always address the envelope of an acceptance (or regret) to the same name (or names) in the first line of the invitation.

The Emily Post Institute offers readers booklets on a variety of subjects concerning etiquette. If you would like to have the booklet entitled, "The Bride's Trousseau," send 10 cents in coin and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to the Emily Post Institute, in care of The Pontiac Press.

Church Sets Annual Country Fair

St. Mary's-in-the-Hills Episcopal Church will hold its 10th annual outdoor country fair July 20 on the church grounds, Joslyn at Green-shield.

General Chairman Benedict Welle announced the date today, and noted that the ham dinner, usually held in connection with this event, is postponed until fall.

Fair hours are 12 noon until evening.

There will be sandwiches, hot and cold drinks, home-made cakes and ice cream available during the afternoon.

Booths offering next-to-new clothes, hats, birdhouses and other gifts will dot the church grounds. A Flea Market and Men's White Elephant booth will provide other surprises.

Puppet shows, pony rides and a kiddieland are among attractions for the youngsters. Free rides in an electric automobile will be a special novelty.

Assisting chairman Welle are fair committee members Mrs. W. C. Hamm, Mrs. Edward D. Thomson, Dr. D. S. McGeen, A. R. Dodge and Mrs. Robert C. Lake.

Others include George Bailey, Gus Kostopoulos, Mrs. Edwin Knapp, Mrs. Martin Parker, Mrs. Floyd Thornton, H. W. Robinson and William Berridge.

Prospective bride from the Convention of the Sacred Heart, Bloomfield Hills.

Miss Christie will also be honored this evening in the Vinewood home of Elizabeth Fredericks.

Aug. 3 vows are planned by Miss Christie and William G. Berghoff, Fort Wayne, Ind.

Bride-Elect Is Honored

Lynne Elaine Anderson was honored Sunday at a bridal shower given by Mrs. George Volis, Grosse Pointe, and Mrs. William Anderson at the latter's home on Thorpe.

Attending were guests from Rochester, Royal Oak, Milford, Auburn Heights and Romeo.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Anderson of Oneida. Her fiancé is William James Ruth III, son of the junior W. J. Ruths of Geneva, Switzerland.

The First Presbyterian Church has been reserved for the couple's Aug. 10 vows.

Paint Clean-up

Run one of baby's cotton swabs around the rim of paint cans to remove the excess paint that prevents the top from closing completely.

SEW SIMPLE

By Eunice Farmer

A full skirt for a child or adult can be made without a slide fastener or snap closing by setting in a left side pocket placket. Use an ordinary pocket pattern or cut one, allowing the usual 7-inch opening.

Insert the pocket in the side seam, leaving the top edges free when you attach the band to skirt (finish these raw edges with binding.)

Sew an extra snap or hook to top of pocket so it will stay in place when skirt is buttoned.

The opened pocket makes putting the skirt on and off easy. This also works fine on shorts or slacks, if they aren't fitted too tight.

You'll eliminate the hours spent replacing broken fasteners and also have the convenience of an extra pocket!

Mrs. D. Conyers, Fort Worth, Texas, has been awarded the Tailor Trix pressing board for submitting this winning suggestion this week.

Dear Eunice: Some of the summer dresses I wear have small straps at the shoulder. I don't like the bodice fitted too tight, but unless they are, the bodice looks droopy. Is there anything I can do to remedy this? Mrs. G. C.

Dear Mrs. G. C.: I would suggest you use featherboning at the side seams and the darts in the back of the bodice. This should give you just the amount of firmness to the bodice you need.

Dear Eunice: How does one keep a bias chiffon skirt of several layers from hanging uneven at the hem line? Mrs. W. B. Y.

Dear Mrs. W. B. Y.: In recent years I have seen many chiffon designer originals costing hundreds of dollars. Often the skirts have more than 50 yards of chiffon in them, and I've never seen one that hung even at the hem-line.

The flowing, fluid look of silk chiffon is so lovely and graceful that even an uneven hem-line cannot spoil its beauty.

It would be almost impossible for this much soft fabric, cut entirely on the bias, to hang perfectly even.

Before marking the hem, allow the skirt to hang up for several days so that most of the "give" will be stretched.

Then mark it and finish with a hand-rolled hem — and enjoy it.

SMART SCARF

Mrs. W. says: If you have a scrap of fabric left over from summer clothes, make a smart triangular scarf.

Finish with a tie at the ends and, if you desire, you may insert a plastic head band in the center to fit over the forehead.

These attractive scarfs can be trimmed with fringe, etc., and be worn around the neckline or over your head. They definitely are "1963."

Dear Eunice: The yardage shops are filled with beautiful terry cloth, and the ready-to-wear shops are filled with fabulous terry cloth clothes, but my previous attempts to sew on terry cloth were just short of disastrous—Please help! Mrs. A. M. R.

Dear Mrs. A. M. R.: Terry cloth is very popular today for casual clothes because of its durability and easy care.

If your garment is to be washed in hot water, I would advise you to wet your fabric in very hot water, spin it dry and throw it in the dryer before you begin construction.

Terry cloth usually shrinks quite a bit the first time it is washed and dried.

Flat felled seams are best because there will be no raw edges to ravel. Also, the extra top stitching will hold the seams flat.

If the terry cloth is heavy, top stitch all the faced edges about 1/4 inch from the edges. This will keep the outer edges flat and add to the attractiveness.

Terry-cloth is used today for shorts, jackets, shifts — just about everything.

YOUR SEWING GLOSSARY

Featherboning: A firm, but flexible strip of boning that is used to stiffen seams. The boning is covered with fabric for easy application.

Felled Seams: A seam in which both raw edges are folded under toward the seam and stitched.

Husband, Wife Should Agree on Finances

By MARY FEELEY

Consultant in Money Management

Dear Miss Feeley:

As the program for our next family group meeting, we are reporting on average family spending patterns. We would like to know what budget items husbands and wives are each responsible for.

Do you have any statistics on this point — or any professional opinions on the proper budget arrangements?

Mrs. V. P. South Ft. Mitchell, Ky.

Dear Mrs. P.:

I doubt if there are any statistics on this subject. However, I can cite some pretty weighty opinions — one from a nationally known investment authority and another from the vice-president of a large bank.

Both of these gentlemen let their wives handle the money!

But these financiers distinguish between "handling" and "managing."

They both explain that they believe the team of husband and wife should "manage" — or decide where the money is to go. From there on, the men feel their time can be better spent on their professional jobs than in getting involved in day-to-day or month-to-month distribution. So their wives handle the practical end of it.

Women often enjoy juggling the income. They like to see money come in and like to know exactly where it goes out!

On the other hand, some couples prefer to handle the income on a clearly defined basis. The husband handles all monthly bills and payments, giving the wife a specific allowance each payday.

Out of this allowance, she is expected to be responsible for grocery shopping, household operating costs, baby-sitter fees, children's allowances, as well as her own personal expenses. This arrangement works out fine for many couples.

However, when such a plan is set up, there should be an understanding about retail charge accounts. If the wife charges her own and the children's clothing, plus major household appliances, then those charge accounts must be allocated either to his field of responsibility or hers.

Otherwise arguments will inevitably ensue over whether the new refrigerator comes under her "household operating costs" or his "monthly bills."

Still a third way in which I have helped couples arrive at a satisfactory budget set-up is for one or the other — husband or wife — to handle all the money and turn over a small allowance for running expenses to the other. In such cases, one of the marriage partners loses arithmetic, admits money slides through the fingers like butter, and doesn't want to be bogged down by counting the change from any purchase. It's as much an emotional problem as a financial one.

It never pays to be too rigid in advocating any one family spending pattern. Unless both parties are in true agreement, the result is frustration and unhappiness rather than financial stability.

You can write to Mary Feeley in care of The Pontiac Press; she will answer in her column questions of widest general interest.

by asking them how to prepare for a party.

When the girls listed only dresses, shoes, and jewelry she asked, "But what happens if you have all these things and forget to take a bath?" One youngster answered with the bluntness typical of her age, "We'd smell terrible."

MAKES POINT

While the author would not have chosen that phrase, she had made her point.

In her book, she describes the various kinds of baths and showers which can be taken for rest, health and special glamour as well as for cleanliness. Her special advice as regards bathing for beauty, is to soak in a tub of warm water, scrub briskly with a brush and be lavish with the soap.

Parale Nichols' comments on the importance of clean clothing are equally firm. To quote her: "Something happens to a woman when she has the uncomfortable feeling that any part of her costume is not fresh and right."

"Her confidence is so undermined that she appears nervous and ill at ease. Some of her charm is gone with the freshness of her attire and she knows it."

She's Chain-Saw Lady to Virginia Loggers

HOPEWELL, Va. (AP) — Mrs. Violet Williams is known as the chain-saw lady to hundreds of loggers in southern Virginia.

She says she had no mechanical experience until she started helping her husband, also a tinsmith, repair saws. But now she has been in the repair business for six years and is teaching the business to her 14-year-old son.

Judge to Send Letters to Parents of Speeders

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — Fathers of youths convicted of speeding while drag racing on city streets will receive letters from City

Judge Joseph J. Sedita.

In the letters the judge suggests the dads take "appropriate action" in addition to the penalties imposed by the court.

There are about 2,000 snake species in the world.

St. Louis Med Alums

Apparently Grateful Lot

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The alumni of St. Louis University's medical school are apparently a grateful lot.

The journal of the American Medical Association reports that alumni contributions to the medical school in 1961 were the highest among the 86 medical schools in the nation.

Fire Chief's on the Spot

VENTNOR, N. J. (AP) — When firemen were called to extinguish a grease fire in a kitchen recently, Fire Chief William M. Stewart accompanied them on the run. It was to the chief's house.

His wife telephoned in the alarm.

The median age of married men is nearly 45 years, averaging 3½ years older than their wives.

EXPANSION Sale

Use A Lion Charge Plan with option terms

Our growth at Miracle Mile has been such that we need more room. As soon as the walls are broken and the alterations finished, we will have a newer, larger, more exciting store. In the meantime, there will be inconvenience. There will be hammering, painting, and crowded conditions. Naturally, we must make room . . . and thus the greatest Summer Sale in our history!

Lion Store Sets
at Miracle Mile

Irving Steinman, president of the Lion Store, Inc., location in the Miracle Mile shopping center, announced today a proposed expansion of store facilities, scheduled to start next month.

Steinman said that consistent growth of business made the expansion a necessity for the Lion Store.

He said that the space was needed to enlarge department and give improved service.

Achieve Self-Care

Pilot Plan Helps Retardates 'Mature'

SAN FRANCISCO (U-P) — News-papers item: "Susie and I were transferred to the Monday group. We play games. We make table decorations." — Edna J.

Edna J. is a child — 24 years old. She is one of 5.4 million in the United States (3 per cent of the population) who are mentally retarded.

For every 100,000 of our population, 200 are blind, 300 are crippled by polio, 350 by cerebral palsy, 700 by rheumatic hearts — and 3,000 by mental retardation, which is more extensive than all other crippling childhood diseases combined.

Retardation is not mental illness but a symptom of a disease, an injury, a failure of development independent of economic and social status.

More than 200 diseases or conditions are known to cause some degree of mental retardation.

Some cases can be prevented, none cured.

But special education and rehabilitation can help an estimated 75 to 85 per cent of the retarded to become useful citizens, with another 10 to 20 per cent gaining some measure of independence. About 5 per cent, the most severely retarded, will remain completely dependent, requiring constant care.

PILOT PROJECT

Edna J. and some 30 other young adults with minds of children are enrolled in a two-year pilot project in San Francisco designed to train them in skills of independent living, with a view to achieving self-care and some measure of self-support.

"It's working," says Dr. Elias Katz, director of the Independent Living Rehabilitation Project of Aid Retarded Children, Inc., a nonprofit organization.

"Our young people show signs of being much more independent and productive as a result of their work here."

Others have called the program, which is cosponsored by the U.S. Office of Vocational Rehabilitation, "an exciting success."

Enrollers range in age from 18 to about 34, but most are under 25.

Their mental ages average 8 to 9 years — and they see themselves as children.

"Girls in their 20s and 30s like to wear skirts, sweaters and bobby socks favored by preadolescents.

Retardates need affection and are very responsive to it. They are often friendlier and gentler than their brighter fellows.

Dr. Katz, a psychologist, believes that their usual lack of sexual aggressiveness results at least in part from their childish self-images.

The independent living "shop," as it is always called, trains the young people in simple cooking, laundry, personal hygiene, shopping, use of money, public transportation and other humble skills.

Dr. Katz and fellow staff members try to maintain an adult-friendship relationship with the enrollees — get them to adjust their self-images toward adulthood, take on some grownup responsibilities and make decisions.

The enrollees work two or three hours a day on contract jobs involving simple assembly and packaging.

They draw regular pay checks — small, but a proud new experience for most.

A tardy arrival will be told by his work supervisor, "If you continue to be late, you will have to lose some salary."

"At first that's an abstraction the retardate probably can't understand," says Dr. Katz, "but when he gets a short pay check it hits him. Then he'll try harder to be on time."

The retardates in the shop all live at home, and work with their families individually and in groups in a very important part of the program, Dr. Katz comments.

"If they see him as a helpless child, he is."

Three sets of parents were flabbergasted recently when their daughter enrollees decided to plan and prepare a meal for them — and did it without a hitch.

Allowed to Hunt Rare Bird

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (U-P) — Harry Jersig is one of eight Americans who will be allowed to hunt the rare auerhahn in the Bavarian Alps.

Although Jersig owns two stuffed auerhahns he hopes to bag one himself to place in his Auerhahn Ranch near here. The auerhahn is a game bird, weighing from 11 to 18 pounds, that has vivid red eyebrow lines and somewhat resembles a turkey.

Homing Turtle Returns to Where Food Is Good

PONCA CITY, Okla. (U-P) — A pet turtle — painted a distinctive color and the property of the W. H. Nelson family — was taken 10 miles from home after it began eating vegetables in the home garden.

Three days later it was back in the yard — eating vegetables.

They are hunted at night because they are so wary. The auerhahn limit to a hunter is one in a lifetime.

It took Congress three weeks and 63 ballots to elect a speaker in 1949. After a bitter fight, Howell Cobb of Georgia was chosen by a plurality instead of a majority, as is usually the case.

in PONTIAC it's RIVERSIDE

The automobile was still jostling with the horse for room on the road when Riverside started selling tires and auto parts. That was 1913. And today Riverside has won customers' trust across the nation! That's why you can turn with confidence to Wards for auto needs and accessories.

Careful, volume buying brings you the best quality the industry offers, yet at prices often the lowest anywhere. How? Simply because Ward sells to you directly.

So for all your automotive needs look to Riverside . . . backed by Wards guarantee of satisfaction or your money back!

Titan 2 Missile Not Ready for Two-Man Gemini Space Mission

By Ralph Dighton
NORTON AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—The silo-launched, super-payload Titan 2 is ready for war—but not for its prime peace-time job: lifting the two-man Gemini capsule into space.

The Air Force and the civilian space agency have begun intensive research to reduce bone-rattling vibrations set up during the burning of Titan 2's 430,000-pound, thrust first-stage engine. They say they are close to solving the problem.

These longitudinal vibrations are enough to bounce an astronaut up and down so hard he would have difficulty operating his controls for several critical seconds during launch. They do not interfere with Titan 2's effectiveness as a missile.

Its nuclear payload is designed to withstand much worse jolting—even the nearby explosion of an antimissile rocket would not put the giant warhead out of action. Human payloads, however, are more delicate. No one is sure just how much jouncing an astronaut can take, but there is general agreement that the one-half "G" stress would at least impair the effectiveness of the two men in a Gemini capsule.

The "G" stands for gravity. An extra half gravity load means the astronauts would be bouncing up and down just as if they were driving on an extremely bumpy road at high speed.

The worst of it is, the bouncing comes at a critical time when the astronauts must make deci-

BACKGROUND SPECIAL REPORT

Since Titan 2 is the core around which huge solid rockets will be strapped to form Titan 3—a proposed booster for many future space vehicles, such as the X-20 Dyna-Soar orbital glider—the vibration problem has caused much concern.

Brig. Gen. John L. McCoy, Titan boss in the ballistic systems division here, acknowledges the vibration problem, but says he is confident it will be whipped.

"The Gemini calendar calls for manned launchings in late 1964 or 1965," General McCoy said in an interview. "The Air Force and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration have common objectives in man-rating the Titan 2. I am confident we will have the Titan 2 ready in time to meet NASA's schedule."

McCoy also disclosed for the first time that Titan 2, although capable of carrying a bigger weapon farther than Titan 1, costs much less.

In a wide-ranging interview based on Titan 2's recent achievement of operational status, McCoy placed the cost of the 54 Titan 2's now operational at $200 million for each of six squadrons.

COSTS DOWN
Total cost of the 54 Titan 2's to be replaced by the end of the year, he said, will run about 30 per cent less.

bottom of its 155-foot concrete pit. range, equivalent to millions of tons of TNT.

The exact thrust of Titan warheads is classified, but published reports place it in the multi-megaton range, 300,000 pounds of thrust.

Commutes 30 Hours Per Week, Loves It

ARCADIA, Mo., (UP)—Robert Edgar is a pioneer of sorts who wears a Homburg hat and carries a briefcase instead of a coon skin cap and flintlock rifle. He rides a commuter train instead of a Missouri mule.

For the past 14 years, Edgar has been living a commuter's life on one-upmanship on the boy who had to walk 10 miles to school through the snow.

He spends 24 to 30 hours a week commuting to his insurance business in St. Louis from this Ozark Mountains community. It's a 176-mile round trip by rail.

Edgar said he wanted his sons, Robert and James, to be brought up in the community where their great-grandfather first settled in 1866 "so his son could go to the college that was here."

'PEACE AND QUIET'
"Arcadia is derived from the Greek and it means 'a scene of peace, quiet, simplicity and happiness,'" Edgar said, describing another reason he goes through the lengthy commuter routine.

Miss Marple Goes to Work on Murder

By AGATHA CHRISTIE

Installment XXI
"I didn't hear much about the locals," said Tiddler. "I concentrated on the sex life of film stars and such things."

"You haven't brought back very much," grumbled Dermot. "What about Marina Gregg's past, anything about that?"

"Done a bit of marrying in her time but not more than most. "Her first husband didn't like getting the chuck, so they said, but he was very ordinary sort of bloke. He was a realtor or something like that. What is a realtor, by the way?"

"I think it means in the real-estate business."

"Oh, well, anyway, he didn't line up as very glamorous so she got rid of him and married a foreign count or prince."

"That lasted hardly any time at all but there don't seem to be any bones broken. She just shook him off and teamed up with No. 3. Filmstar Robert Truscott."

"That was said to be a passionate love match. His wife didn't much like letting go of him, but she had to take it in the end. Big alimony."

"As far as I can make out everybody's hard up because they've got to pay so much alimony to all their ex-wives."

"But it went wrong?"

"Yes. She was the broken-hearted one, I gather. But another big romance came along a year or two later. Isidore somebody, a playwright."

"It's an exotic life," said Dermot. "Well, we'll call it a day now. Tomorrow we've got to get down to a bit of hard work."

LOOK FOR X

"Such as checking a list I've got here. Out of 20 odd names, we ought to be able to do some elimination and out of what's left we'll have to look for X."

"No idea who X is?"

"Not in the least. If it isn't Jason Rudd, that is." He added with a wry and ironic smile, "I shall have to go to Miss Marple and get briefed on local matters."

Miss Marple was pursuing her own methods of research.

"It's very kind of you, Mrs. Jameson, very kind of you indeed. I can't tell you how grateful I am."

"Oh, don't mention it, Miss Marple. I'm sure I'm glad to oblige you. I suppose you'll want the latest ones?"

"No, no, not particularly," said Miss Marple. "In fact, I think I'd rather have some of the older numbers."

"Well, here you are then," said Mrs. Jameson. "There's a nice armful and I can assure you we shan't miss them. Keep them as long as you like."

"Now it's too heavy for you to carry. Jenny, Jenny, how's your perm doing?"

"She's all right, Mrs. Jameson. She's had her rinse and now she's having a good dry-out."

"In that case, dear, you might just run along with Miss Marple here, and carry these magazines for her. No, really, Miss Marple, no trouble at all. Always pleased to do anything we can for you."

How kind people were, Miss Marple thought, especially when they'd known you practically all their lives.

Mrs. Jameson, after long years of running a hair-dressing parlor, had steeled herself to going as far in the cause of progress as to repaint her sign and call herself "Diane, Hair Stylist."

Otherwise the shop remained much as before and catered in much the same way to the needs of its clients.

It turned out with a nice firm perm; it accepted the task of shaping and cutting for the younger generation and the resultant mess was accepted without too much recrimination.

CLIENTELE

But the bulk of Mrs. Jameson's clientele was a bunch of solid, stick-in-the-mud, middle-aged ladies who found it extremely hard to get their hair done the way they wanted it anywhere else.

"Well, I never," said Cherry the next morning, as she prepared to run a virulent vacuum cleaner around the lounge—as she still called it in her mind. What's all this?"

"I am trying," said Miss Marple, "to instruct myself a little in the moving-picture world."

She laid aside "Movie News" and picked up "Amongst the Stars."

"It's really very interesting. It reminds one so much of so many things."

"Fantastic lives they must lead," said Cherry.

"Specialized lives," said Miss Marple. "Highly specialized. It reminds me very much of the things a friend of mine used to tell me."

"She was a hospital nurse. Same simplicity of outlook and all the gossip and the rumors. And good-looking doctors causing any amount of havoc."

"You're always surprising me," she said. "The things you take an interest in."

"I take an interest in everything," said Miss Marple.

"I mean taking up new subjects at your age."

Miss Marple shook her head.

"They aren't really new subjects. It's human nature I'm interested in, you know, and human nature is much the same whether it's film stars or hospital nurses and nervy at the fete that day, before it happened, I mean, but people—always say that kind of thing afterwards."

"If you ask me, he's looking better now than he's looked for years. Seems to have got a bit more spirit and go in him."

"Indeed?" said Miss Marple. "Nobody really thinks he did it," said Cherry. "Only, if he didn't, who did? I can't help thinking myself it must have been an accident of some kind. Accidents do happen."

"Cocktails and glasses of sherry don't seem to lend themselves to accident," said Miss Marple.

"Mrs. Badcock, you mean? It was bad luck, that."

"What do you think of it in the —" Miss Marple paused with the "D" hovering on her lips.

"What do you and your friends think about it?" she amended her question.

"It's a queer do," said Cherry. "Looks as if it were murder, doesn't it, though, of course, the police are too cagey to say so outright. Still, that's what it looks like."

NOT SUICIDE

"I don't see what else it could be," said Miss Marple.

"It couldn't be suicide," agreed Cherry, "not with Heather Badcock."

"Did you know her well?"

"No, not really. Hardly at all. She was a bit of a Nosy Parker, you know."

"Always wanting you to join this, join that, turn up for meetings at so - and - so. Too much energy. Her husband got a bit sick of it sometimes, I think."

"She doesn't seem to have had any real enemies."

"People used to get a bit fed up with her sometimes. The point is, I don't see who could have murdered her unless it was her husband. And he's a very meek type."

"Still, the worm will turn, or so they say. I've always heard that Crippen was ever so nice a man and that man, Haigh, who pickled them all in acid, they said he couldn't have been more charming! So one never knows, does one."

"Poor Mr. Badcock," said Miss Marple.

Shows in School Paper

NEW YORK (AP) — Broadway star Zero Mostel's favorite review of his current hit, "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum," appeared in the school paper at New Lincoln School.

The final paragraph wound up: "Go see the show. My father needs the money. (Signed) Tobias Mostel."

George Washington, who hired Pierre L'Enfant to lay out the District of Columbia, had to dismiss him when L'Enfant demolished a wealthy landowner's new manor house to implement his plans for the nation's capital city.

"Oh, I don't know," said Cherry. "A bottle of something or other could have got in by mistake. Somebody I knew took a dose of concentrated DDT, once. Horribly ill they were."

"Accident," said Miss Marple thoughtfully. "Yes, it certainly seems the best solution. I must say I can't believe that in the case of Heather Badcock it could have been deliberate murder."

"I won't say it's impossible, but it doesn't seem like it. No, I think the truth lies somewhere here." She rustled her magazines and picked up another one.

New Product, Cookbook Shown

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

You may not need any incentive to get your children to eat breakfast during these vacation days. But if you do, and if they are a cold cereal enthusiasts, here's a tip on a new cereal.

Animal shaped oat cereal was made to appeal to the younger generation. It's amusingly shaped into forms of horses, camels, lions, donkeys, hippos and so on. It can be a between-meal snack too — easy for eating out of hand.

One of the newer products in the baby food line is chocolate flavored custard pudding. This saves cooking for Mom in hot weather.

Everything new so far is for the children, including a new flavor of instant soft drink mix. This is cherry-lime. Its addition to the other flavors brings the list to an even dozen.

Speaking of drinks . . . we have been enjoying two new low-calorie soft drinks. One is a cola beverage, the other a lemon-lime drink. They're refreshing and do not have an after-taste as do many products sweetened with artificial sweeteners.

COOKBOOKS

Just in passing, we'll mention a pair of new cookbooks "The Keep-Calm Cookbook" by David J. Kweider, M.D., and Adele Kweider (Prentice-Hall, Englewood Cliffs, N.J., $3.95) is aimed at the person with a "nervous" or "sensitive" stomach. Ulcer patients will find it useful.

The other cookbook, "Shaw House Cookbook," comes from St. Louis and contains recipes from many old and prominent families.

Published by the historical Committee of the Missouri Botanical Garden (3215 Tower Grove Ave., St. Louis 19, Mo., $2.70), the book was inspired by the restoration of an old mansion.

One of the more interesting chapters is "Cooking with Flow-

Little Hot Snacks Made With Dates

These are quickies to prepare when guests drop in.

Candian Cheese Snacks

2 cups lightly packed grated cheddar cheese

1/4 cup mayonnaise

1/4 cup coarsely broken walnuts

16 dates

8 slices thin bread

Soft butter

Mix together the cheese, mayonnaise and walnuts. Pit dates and silver. Make sandwiches of bread filled with the cheese mixture and topped with the dates.

Spread outside of sandwiches with soft butter and grill or toast so both sides are evenly browned. Cut each sandwich into 4 triangles; serve hot. Makes 16 snacks.

The Plane's the Same

Trying Trimotor Jars Flighty Writer

By ROBERT J. SERLING
UPI Aviation Editor
WASHINGTON — All the way across the country, at every refueling stop, people kept asking in mingled awe and disbelief: "What's it like to fly it?" This is what it was like.

Incredible physical discomfort from wicker seats that feel like iron spikes after one hour. Gasoline fumes seeping through the cabin until you reach cruising altitude and the primitive ventilation system — metal tubes sticking through the windows on one side of the plane — starts to work.

No smoking in flight because the gas tank runs smack through the center of the cabin ceiling.

Engine noise so bad that normal conversation is impossible and your ears still ring hours after landing, plus vibration like that of a giant reducing machine.

Hours of boredom on each flight segment, culminating in such massive fatigue that you pray for a refueling stop.

This was air travel 33 years ago — and the only salve for the physical torture is the feeling that you're being awfully brave.

Eventually, the worse you feel, the delusion of raw courage becomes so sharp that you want to strut when you get off at every stop and you see the photographers.

But for every ache and for every hour of lost sleep to make 5 a.m. departures, there are magnificent memories.

The Ford mechanic in Parker, Ariz., who wouldn't take any money for fixing an oil leak because he said he had worked on Trimotors in Detroit years ago.

The ramp agent in Amarillo who shook his head in utter disbelief and said: "I knew TWA was having financial troubles, but this is ridiculous."

The first time we saw our pilot nonchalantly open a cockpit side window, reach forward with a rag and clean the front windshield — at 4,000 feet doing about 85 miles per hour.

The disconcerting occasion when we saw automobiles on a Kansas superhighway below going faster than we were.

The little sign just below the throttles in the cockpit that read "intentional spinning prohibited."

A TWA hostess in Pittsburgh who got off a Convair 880 jet, walked over to the trimotor and asked in complete innocence: "Does it fly?"

The sight of a small Indiana town from 500 feet above, so quiet and peaceful in the early morning sun that you want to land, get out and visit awhile.

The way the nose came up three feet every time SOMEBODY walked toward the tail and down three feet if anyone approached the cockpit.

The way they put baggage in — cranking down a bin located in the underside of the wing.

The comradeship and friendship that grew among the five passengers who stuck with the trip all the way — sharing mutual misery and laughs in equal proportions.

The affection you wind up bestowing on the old "tin goose" — even when you're numb with fatigue and swear you'll never gripe about three-abreast coach seats on any airliner again.

The somewhat alarming occasion when you first notice that all the control cables are on the outside of the ship, and you can hear them vibrate through the thin windows.

The way you eventually start cheering every landing and ap-

Egyptian Artists Must Get Okay for Show Abroad

CAIRO (U) — The United Arab Republic has decided that Egyptian artists showing their work abroad must have the official approval of the Ministry of Culture.

The government decision was published in the newspaper Al Ahran.

The measure aims, the paper said, "at safeguarding the artistic reputation of the U. A. R. abroad."

The measure directs that any artist wishing to leave the country must obtain permission from the Ministry of Culture and the work he wishes to display must also be favorably reviewed by the government.

The only exception will be for artists going outside the country for medical treatment.

Okays Compensation in Death of Chickens

RICHMOND, Va. (U) — Atty. Gen. Robert Y. Button says compensation may be paid by a county board of supervisors to a chicken owner who lost 399 birds, suffocated when they were frightened by a dog and piled up into a big bunch.

TWA staged this re-enactment of the first transcontinental flight to dramatize aviation's progress. It achieved the purpose. It would have impressed anyone who spent even an hour aloft in a trimotor. For those of us who spent more than 25 hours in one, we were not only impressed but amazed.

What was it like? Something you wouldn't want to go through again, but something you're glad you did.

School of the Air Is Only Link for Teacher, Class

DARWIN, Australia (U) — John Joseland, 6, of Central Australia, who had never met most of his classmates, recently made a lone air trip of nearly 500 miles to join them in a "get-together."

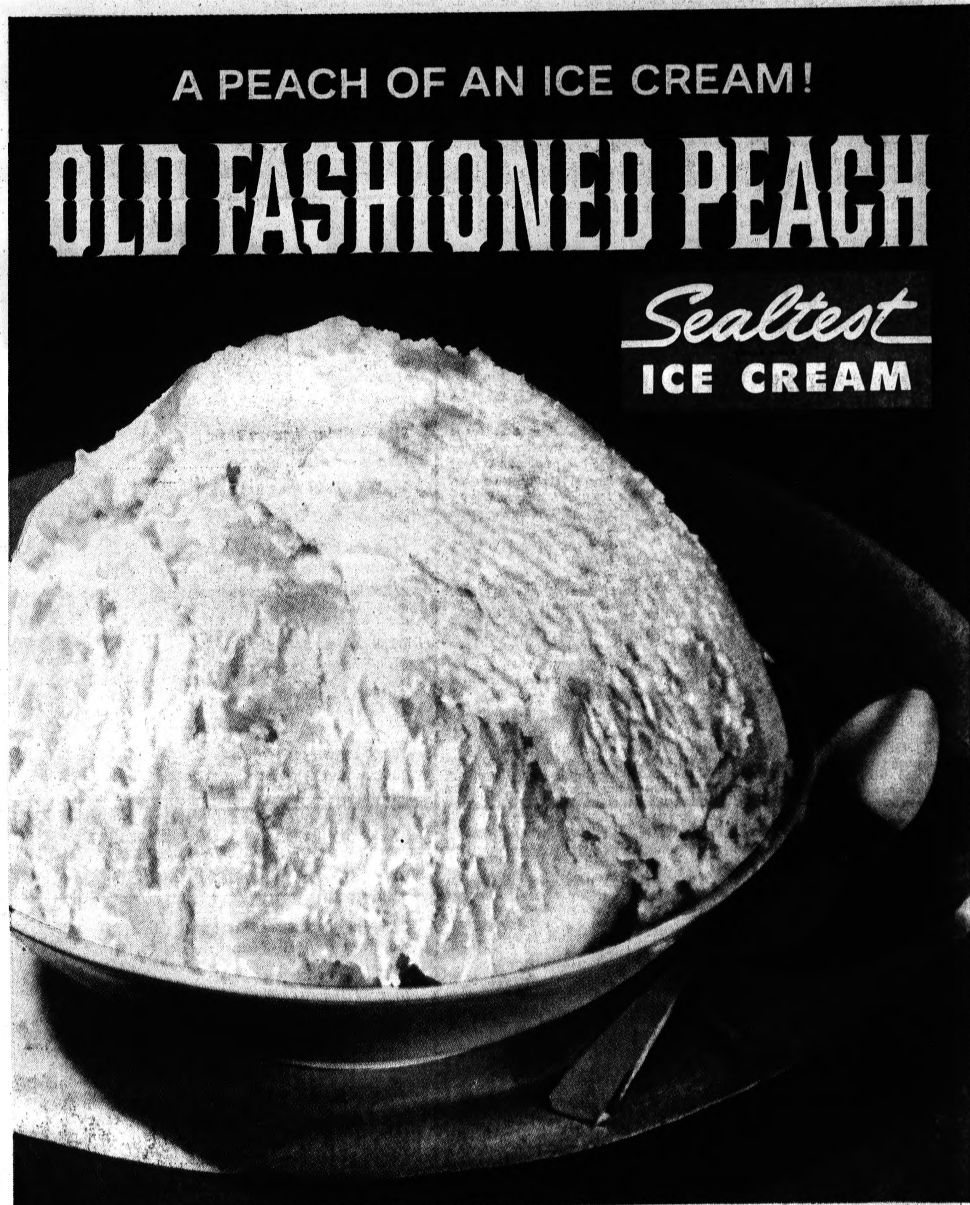

The 41 children, aged between 5 and 13, are pupils of Central Australia's unique School of the Air, which operates every day over the Royal Flying Doctor Service's radio base.

The children sit, hundreds of miles apart, beside a two-way radio transceiver in their isolated homesteads.

Their teacher is Mrs. Nance Barrett, of Alice Springs High School, but to her pupils she is only a voice crackling over the radio.

In 1962, waterborne commerce in the United States was the second highest in history. About 7 million pleasure boats were in use at the same time.

'A' Leader Rolls; A&W Nine Topped

Harvey's Colonial House continued to roll along last night with a close, 3-1 decision over Dave's Boys in the City Class A softball game.

Other city scores saw A&W Really win its sixth by taking Elks 8-0, 7-5, Martin Associates matched the restorers' win total with a 9-3 trouncing of Monicatti Chrysler-Plymouth, and Howe's Lanes topped bowling rival 300 Bowl, 5-2.

In Waterford Township action two streaks came to an end last night. Dinky's Hideaway snapped A&W Root Beer's eight-game winning streak, 7-4, and Lakeland Pharmacy discarded a three-game losing spell, 5-3, against Midget Bar.

Singles by Jim Long, Jerry Hesse, 2nd Thomas and Dick

Cooper plated two runs in the bottom of the sixth to snap a 1-1 tie between the HCH and Dave's Boys. Fats Keith hurled a two-hitter for the win.

The Hayward clan bombed a double and two triples as Arroyo erupted for five runs in the third inning to top the Elks. Bud Hayward had a double and brothers

Carr Edged in Voting for Loop's Top Award

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Adolph Plummer, University of New Mexico senior who shattered the world record for the 440-yard dash, was chosen today as the Western Athletic Conference athlete-of-the-year.

Plummer nosed out another track star, Arizona State University's Henry Carr from Detroit, 51-47 in voting by Associated Press member newspapers and broadcast stations in the WAC area.

Bill and Al had back-to-back three-baggers.

Percy McConner hurled a two-hitter as Martin had a six-run spurge against Monicatti. Sonny Long was touched for nine safe hits but 300 Bowl could only score twice while Howe's put the game out of reach with three tallies in the last two innings.

A&W's loss left it a half game ahead of the pack in the township Class C race. Jim Blackstock pitched five-hit ball for Dinky's.

Paul Atkins two-run double during a proposed introduction walk was a key blow in Lakeland's win. It boosted the pharmacists into a 4-1 lead.

Women vs. Men in Softball Game

The Waterford Township Recreation Department will sponsor a "battle of sexes" Saturday night in an exhibition doubleheader softball game at the Drayton Plains softball park.

White's Drive-in team of Bay City, defending Michigan Women's Class C softball champions, will meet a men's all-star team from Waterford Township in a pair of five-inning games, beginning at 7:30.

The men's team will be commanded by Paul Atkins and Joe Spencer. The girls will pitch from their normal pitching distance of 38 feet, while the men will pitch from the regulation 46 feet.

Tickets for the exhibition games may be purchased from any manager of Waterford's fast-pitch teams, at the Drayton Park weekday evenings or at the gate on Saturday.

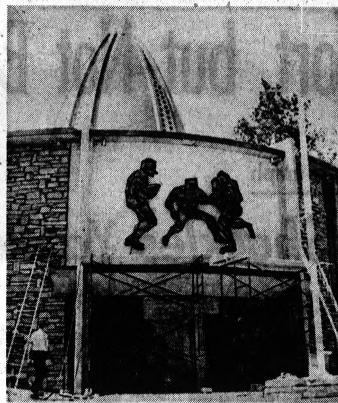

Challenge Holds Lead in Eastern Yacht Race

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — George F. Johnson's 64-foot sloop Challenge held a strong advantage today as the leaders in the 473-mile Annapolis-to-Newport yacht race neared the finish line.

A late report Tuesday night placed Challenge 25 miles south southwest of Montauk Point, Long Island, N.Y. She was some 100 miles ahead of the rest of the fleet with only about 50 miles to go.

BRAUN IN BRONZE — Three bronze figures of football players were mounted this week on the panel over the entrance to the National Professional Football Hall of Fame building in Canton, Ohio. Mrs. Charles Drulis, wife of a St. Louis Cardinals' assistant coach, was commissioned to cast the figures. The Hall will be dedicated Sept. 7.

Barbers Post 1st Win in City Baseball, 8-4

The Barbers latched on to that elusive victory No. 1 last night in the city's Class A baseball league.

The haircutters clipped the Oxford Merchants, 8-4, with a five-run rally in the fourth inning. Every team in the eight-team circuit now has at least one win.

Gene Cox's crew fell behind, 3-0, when the losers pounded out four singles in the second inning, but quickly bounced back. A triple by Cox in the third capped the two runs.

Then in the next stanza, two errors, two walks and three singles let in the big five markers. DeWayne Sheffer's two-run single capped the spree.

Don Glowatz hurled the win and picked up 11 strikeouts in the process.

Tonight Cranbrook will seek to hold onto second place when it meets fourth-place Talbott Lumber at 8 p. m. on the Jaycee No. 2 diamond.

The Clippers-Oxford game also slated for last night has been rescheduled for 6 p. m. Friday as part of a doubleheader.

JUNIOR LEAGUE

Auburn Heights Boys' Club bounced back from an opening game loss yesterday to defeat Bloomfield Hills, 11-1, in an American League Class D contest at Wisner Field.

Roger Hayward led a 13-hit Auburn Heights attack with four hits, while Mike Burkhoff led the losers to only four hits in taking credit for the win.

In other Class D action yesterday, Arnold Drugs scored an unearned run in the bottom of the fifth inning to defeat St. Fred's, 4-3. Larry Dean got credit for the victory in relief.

Pondice Optimist's d downed Oliver Buick, 8-0, in a Class D National League game that featured a strong 9-hit attack by the winners.

A pair of unearned runs in the bottom of the sixth inning gave Oxford a 11-0 victory over the Great Lakes Giants in Class E. Ron Woods headed an 8-hit for the winners with a triple and two singles.

The Jr. Optimists defeated McDonald's, 6-1, Cass Lake routed the Braves, 26-4, Lakeland A. beat Eastern Hi-Y, 16-5, and the Pontiac Merchants and the Pontiac Boys' Club played a 3-2 tie game in other Class E games.

Mrs. Thompson Leads WDGA District Tourney

Mrs. Dorothy Thompson of Oakland Hills took a one stroke lead in yesterday's first round of the Women's District Golf Association medal championship at Knollwood by firing a one-over-par 78.

Mrs. Thompson, competing for only the fourth time this season, had three bogeys—all 6's—and a pair of birdies to card her 78.

In three previous outings this season, Mrs. Thompson has tied for third, placed second and placed first in three weekly WDGA tournaments.

Bad Weather Plagues Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — The United States delegation in the Wimbledon Tennis Championships is troubled more by British weather than the international opposition.

"This weather may not bother the British, but brother they can keep it," moaned Dennis Ralston, Bakersfield, Calif. who recently won the NCAA national championships.

His comment just about summed up the American players' feelings about the cold, windy conditions that has plagued the tourney since its start and has disrupted the schedule.

Ralston, unseeded but rated one of the players most likely to reach the late rounds, arrived in Britain Sunday.

"I didn't have much time to settle in and it sure is cold for us," he said while watching a match Tuesday.

RAIN DELAYS

Rain stopped play twice in opening rounds and caused a late start Tuesday.

Ralston, one of five U.S. players who won opening day matches, was on the sideline Tuesday as Chuck McKinley of St. Louis led six more U.S. players into the second round.

McKinley, the only seeded American in the tourney, made occasional brilliant displays in a 6-3, 6-3 victory over Cliff Drysdale of South Africa.

Other American victories: Charles Parsorello, Puerto Rico, defeated Franz Hanika, Austria, 6-4, 6-4.

6-3, 6-3, 7-5; Bob Siska, San Francisco, defeated Ion Tiriac, Romania, 6-4, 6-2, 7-5; Arthur Ashe, Richmond, Va., defeated Carlos Fernandez, Brazil, 3-6, 4-6, 6-4, 6-1; Frank Froehling, Coral Gables, Fla., defeated Donald Dell Bethesda, Md., 1-6, 8-6, 6-3, 3-6; and Tom Edlesien, Berkeley, Calif., defeated A. C. Rendell Australia 3-6, 6-3, 7-5, 1-6, 6-4.

The Americans ousted included Eugene Scott of New York and Cliff Buchholz of St. Louis.

All seeded players in action advanced.

MISS ALBERT OUT

In women's play, Mrs. Vera Sukova of Czechoslovakia, beaten finalist last year, ousted Jane Albert of Pebble Beach, Calif., daughter of former football All-American Frankie Albert, 6-4, 6-4.

St. Clair 'Monster' Studied

Fishing Continues Good on Area Lakes

Fishing continued generally good in area waters during the last week.

Calicoes were being taken on Cass, Maccady, Deer, Orion and Oxbow lakes with consistency. Best results came in the evening.

Bluegills have started moving toward deep water.

Good catches are being creel on Elizabeth, Grahame, The Silver chain, Loon, Crooked and Lower Straits. Perch are hitting well on Square, Pine and Orchard.

Small and largemouth bass are hitting very well on Kent Lake. Good catches of calicoes and bluegills are being made on this Kenton Park Lake.

A limited caddis hatch has started downstream on the Au Sable from Grayling. Mayfly hatches are going on in most streams.

M. J. DeBoer, director of the Conservation Department's fish division management section, says he smells something fishy about the "monster" caught in Lake St. Clair a week ago.

Wayne State biologists have identified the 50-pound fish as a monkfish, a variety of shark native to salt water.

A Wayne spokesman concurred with DeBoer when he said, it was possible the fish got there by some means other than swimming.

DeBoer said it sounds like someone who heard the stories of a strange fish in the river got creative and decided to do something about it.

"The St. Clair monster sounds much like another Loch Ness monster, a put up job," he said. "I'm from Missouri," DeBoer said, "I have to see more on this creature before I swallow that story whole."

DeBoer said there are cases of ocean fish making the transition to freshwater and cited the case of the smelt and Atlantic salmon.

"However, most organisms native to salty environment couldn't adapt themselves to freshwater," he said.

In a recent speech, Thomas L. Kimball, executive director of the National Wildlife Federation, commented:

"There are still too many (game and fish) commission appointments being made on a strictly partisan political basis and to individuals who are not the most capable and qualified to be found."

"Some commissions are too large in numbers. They should not exceed five members, and should not be districted. It is too difficult for the director and the department to keep more than five commissioners fully informed on all important matters; and with more than five members the chance for a rotten apple in the barrel increases."

DERBY RECORD — Otto W. Mildebrandt, 3070 Grant, Pontiac, weighs his 6-pound 3-ounce rainbow trout after entering the fish in The Pontiac Press Big Fish Derby. The 27½-inchwas caught on a nightcrawler at sunset at Lakeview while Mildebrandt was fishing Lakeview Lake for bass. It is a record for the rainbow class in the Derby.

Man vs. Turtle in 'Soupy' Battle

By DICK HANSON

A hunting companion of mine telephoned last night to announce: "I have a live turtle for you; he's pretty big."

I recalled having mentioned a fondness for turtle soup on one of our hunting trips last season.

This fondness stemmed from boyhood days on an uncle's farm. My uncle used to bait lines for turtles with small chunks of red meat or even red wood.

He would slip down to the creek in the morning and often return with a fair-sized turtle dangling from the end of one of the lines.

With numerous tools that always included wire snips and a pair of pliers, he would ready the carcass for my aunt's waiting pot.

The ensuing delicacy has left my taste buds relishing more of the same ever since. I never miss an opportunity to dine on turtle soup in these restaurants where it is included on the menu.

Somehow I had escaped preparing my own turtles for the pot until now.

My friend, Stuart (Con) Cappell of 100 Vernon, showed up shortly carrying a high tin wastebasket. By then several of our neighbors had joined us in the backyard while their children played with ours nearby.

CLOSE RANGE

I peered into the wastebasket only to have my nose nearly snapped off by the large turtle inside. It looked like a prehistoric monster at such close range.

Actually, it measured almost a foot in diameter, and that seemed like a lot of angry turtle.

I must admit I yelped at the close shave my nose had. This drew several of the youngsters over.

They quickly spread the word over the neighborhood. Soon a large crowd of children poured into the yard to see "the big turtle."

Finally order was restored to the point where it was considered safe to proceed with the initial, necessary step in the soup-making process.

Somewhat dubious I went into the house and got my hunting knife. We scouted up a stick about two feet long and the thickness of my forefinger.

The turtle was dumped onto the lawn, and a neighbor tentatively stuck the stick in front of the turtle.

Our plan was to have the turtle latch his jaws onto the stick so that I could swipe through its extended neck in one swift, merciful blow.

With uncanny speed the turtle's head darted out of the shell and it snapped the stick in two. My enthusiasm for turtle soup dampened considerably.

Encouraged by the crowd's cheers (I realized later they probably were cheering the turtle), I returned to the house for a long rope, having decided to lasso the turtle's head.

I snared its tail instead. I should have stopped right there, but instead hoisted the vigorously snapping reptile up the cross-arm of the clothesline pole.

MOST DISTURBED

Left dangling from the end of the rope about level with my shoulder, the angry turtle began swinging himself like a top, all the while clicking his vicious jaws in the breeze.

This had the desired effect of extending its neck.

I moved in with the knife, planning a quick execution.

Instead I found myself engaged in a macabre fencing match with a turtle that seemed fully aware of my intentions.

I realized my knife was far too short, and wished I had a very long saber instead.

Around and around we went. Mothers covered their children's eyes and dragged their protesting forms off to bed.

Finally the deed was done. We left the luckless turtle to draw. Feeling quite villainous, I struggled over to join two of my faithful companions in nearby lawn chairs.

We surveyed my grisly handiwork hanging limply from the rope into the darkening night.

It's true there is no rest for the wicked. While I contemplated nightmares of hordes of turtles rising from nearby Clinton River for revenge, my erstwhile friends asked when I was going to proceed with the butchering?

Let me spare you the details by only saying preparing a turtle further for the pot is a long arduous task.

It was nearly midnight when we finally had a pile of rather succulent-looking red meat separated from the hard shell.

Thanks to Janet Odell, cooking expert of The Pontiac Press, I have a recipe for turtle soup and will proceed to make some to night.

State Forecasts

Better Deer

Hunting in '63

Unless they get a bad break from the weather during the season, Michigan firearm hunters this fall should top their 1962 take of nearly 96,000 deer.

The Conservation Department's forecast of better hunting in 1963 is backed by figures on whitetail production this spring, prospects for better-than-average lawn survival and last winter's relatively light deer losses.

Embryo counts from highway-killed deer indicate that this spring's fawn crop is higher than the 13-year average in all three of the state regions.

This year's biggest buildup has taken place in the southern Lower Peninsula where the deer herd is increasing at the explosive rate of about 14 per cent each year.

Seek Land for Park in Sanilac County

Action was taken by the Conservation Commission last week to acquire lands for a new state park near Forestville in southern Sanilac County.

Some 55 acres, containing more than 3,000 feet of Lake Huron shoreline, will be purchased with funds from Michigan's state park bonding program.

The site represents the only Lake Huron lands in this county which are still available to meet the area's mounting needs for public recreational facilities.

In other land matters, the commission voted to buy 450 acres for wildlife habitat improvements and public hunting at Gratiot-Saginaw, Barry, Grand Haven, Flat River and Maple River state game areas and at Rose Lake wildlife experiment station.

First Fire-Free Week

Michigan forest lands enjoyed their first fire-free week of the 1963 season during the week of June 10-16 period, the Conservation Department reports.

Through June 16, forest and grass fires had damaged 4,617 acres; the state's year-ago losses totaled nearly 5,300 acres.

HEAVY LOAD — Michael Daniels, 14, recently caught this lunker in the rapids at Hog's Back on the Rideau River on the outskirts of the capital city of Ottawa, not three miles from Canada's Parliament Buildings. It's a northern pike weighing 37 pounds and is four-feet long. Michael landed it after a 15-minute battle with an eight-pound test line. A couple of Michael's teen-age pals helped to haul the prize catch ashore.

Support President, End War

U.S. Forms Policy in Yemen

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
When, last December, the United States recognized the revolutionary regime of Yemen, it did so with both short and long-range objectives.

Immediately, it hoped to give Yemen's President Abdulhish Al-Sallal the prestige needed for him to remain in power, and to give both Egypt and Saudi Arabia a reason to cease their outside aid to the opposing sides in Yemen's civil war.

When this failed to have two desired results, the United States took two more steps.

It prodded the United Nations into entering the dispute in the role of mediator.

HELD TALKS

And it sent one of its most successful negotiators, Ellsworth Bunker, to the Middle East for on-the-ground talks with President Abdel Gamal Nasser and with Prince Faisal, premier of Saudi Arabia.

Out of this came the Egyptian agreement to withdraw its troops from Yemen and Saudi Arabia and Jordan agreement to cease their aid to Yemen's deposed imam.

It also led to a U. N. decision to send a peace-making team under Swedish General Von Horn to Yemen to make sure the agreements were carried out.

In the long-range, the United States also sought to cut off what rapidly was becoming an all-out test of strength between Egypt and Saudi Arabia.

Direct conflict between these two held out almost limitless possibilities, and in direct notice of its own interest in the conflict, the U.S. warned Egypt that any attack on Saudi Arabia would set it on collision course with the United States.

RUSSIAN PILOTS

Since there is reason to believe Egyptians that not only were flying Russian planes in Yemen but that some of them were flown by Russian pilots, there came the possibility of another U.S. confrontation with the Soviet Union.

There the situation roughly stands today.

The trouble with the over-all strategy seems to be that it reckoned without the determination of the deposed young imam now fighting to regain his throne.

Nasser is believed anxious to get out of Yemen where costs are running around a reported $1 million per day and Egyptian troops have suffered heavy casualties. But he dare not pull out until he believes Sallal's position is secure.

But the power of Sallal's regime so far is confined to the cities and his hold by no means firm.

WAR WOULD END

In London last week, the imam's foreign minister, Ahmad Moham Ad El-Shamy told UPI correspondent George Bitar that the war will end immediately if the Egyptians pull out.

He said the Egyptians have 30,000 troops in Yemen and that the Russians also have stepped up their aid to Sallal, including at least 600 technicians as well as pilots and tank drivers.

As for the imam, he quoted him as saying "In the Yemen will be my throne or my tomb." In the Yemen, Nasser has a tiger by the tail. But so does the United States.

Fiscal Meeting Set

LANSING (U) — Gov. George Romney planned an all-day meeting today with representatives of the Michigan Municipal League to obtain their views on fiscal reform.

Romney will carry his series of fiscal reform meetings to Muskegon tonight and hear the viewpoints of citizens from an eight-county area.

At Midland yesterday, Romney reported his meetings with county leaders throughout Michigan have indicated less opposition to an income tax than he expected.

A spokesman for Dow Chemical Co., one of the biggest employers in the Midland area, told Romney the only answer to improving Michigan is an "income-tax—a flat rate personal income tax and a flat rate corporation income tax."

"ALLEVIATE PRESSURE"

"To enhance job opportunities," said Carl A. Gerstaecker, chairman of Dow's board of directors, it is necessary to "alleviate the pressure of some traditional taxes, such as the business activities tax, the intangibles tax, corporate franchise tax."

Gerstaecker said that modifying or eliminating these taxes would make the state "completely short of revenue to carry on services approved by the legislature." He added that "the only answer is another broad base tax—an income tax."

The Dow spokesman's statement was considered significant here. It marked the first breakthrough in major industrial opposition to an income tax. So far, the auto companies, however, have not yet indicated any lessening of their opposition to such a tax.

Use of the income tax as a means of taking up the slack from reductions in other taxes has been a frequent topic of discussion at the meetings Romney has held so far.

In Saginaw, Mayor G. Stewart Francke told Romney the city council favors fiscal reform that would "curtail the drift of power from the state to the federal level." He also asked that a ceiling be placed on state grants to local governments and favored a local income tax collected by the state.

Harold Kari, president of the Saginaw School Board, said school boards were in favor of revenue from other sources in addition to property taxes. He suggested legislation to end what he called "the annual fight for millage with county tax allocation boards."

In Flint last night, approximately 100 attended Romney's fiscal reform session. On a show of hands, some 90 per cent of the group indicated they favored an income tax.

Both the weather bureau and Sterling pointed out, however, that the conditions were nowhere near as bad as experienced by Los Angeles.

The weather bureau said the problem was caused by "stagnant air connected with a high pressure system which has been prevailing over the area since Monday."

Flint's City Manager Thomas Kay said the city felt there was discrimination against urban areas in the allocation of taxes collected by the state.

He said urban areas have become mistrustful of the legislature because of inequities in the tax allocations. He said local units of government should have broader taxing powers in a fiscal program.

Bid Lowest on R20 Loan

Community National Bank has again submitted the apparent low bid to buy about $3.8 million in preliminary loan notes for Pontiac's R20 urban renewal project.

The local bank offered to buy the notes at a 1.65 annual interest rate, lowest of five bids opened yesterday at City Hall.

A preliminary tabulation of bids was submitted to the City Commission last night.

Sale of the notes is now contingent on approval of the low bid by federal urban renewal officials in Chicago.

YEARS TO MATURE

The notes will mature in one year. Previous loans matured in six months. Community National Bank was low bidder on all five previous loans to finance operations in the R20 project.

Most of the money will be used to make additional property acquisitions in a proposed expansion of the R20 project.

according to James Bates, urban renewal director.

The expanded R20 plans will be sent to Chicago later this year for federal approval.

The loan will be repaid largely from an R20 federal capital grant for which the city plans to apply in the near future, Bates said.

Struck by Car, Woman Dies of Injuries

Mrs. Mary J. Zukowski, 38, of 6005 Highland, Waterford Township, died yesterday in Pontiac General Hospital of injuries she suffered Monday when struck by a car near her home.

Motorist Walter Joyce, 70, of Warren, was not charged. He told police Mrs. Zukowski ran in front of his auto on Highland a quarter-mile east of Airport Road.

Robert A. Spalding, 23, of 556 Forest, Birmingham, was killed just before 10 p. m. last night when his car crashed into the rear of a loaded concrete-mix truck.

Madison Heights police say Spalding was dead at the scene, on Stephenson Highway, north of Twelve Mile.

Truck driver Richard Bartsch, 27, of 1601 Beverly, Madison Heights, who was unhurt, said he was unaware the car was behind until the impact.

Polluted Air Lingers Over Detroit Area

United Press International Portions of southern Lower Michigan took on the appearance of smogcloud Los Angeles early today as a warm mass of air continued to stagnate over the area.

The weather bureau in Detroit earlier this week sent out a bulletin which called "potential air pollution" report to the Wayne County Health Department and the Detroit Health Department.

Early today, visibility over the city of Detroit was limited to barely two miles and the tops of buildings in the downtown area were like shadows.

In addition Detroit's downtown area was hit by a smell of hydrogen sulfide, which resembles the odor of rotten eggs.

Mort Sterling, chief of the Bureau of Air Pollution Control of the Department of Buildings and Safety Engineering for the City of Detroit, said, "It looks miserable, smells terrible and it's something most people get irritated about. But it's no more than the usual amount of pollution which goes into the air each day."

Both the weather bureau and Sterling pointed out, however, that the conditions were nowhere near as bad as experienced by Los Angeles.

The weather bureau said the problem was caused by "stagnant air connected with a high pressure system which has been prevailing over the area since Monday."

City Hospital Marks Tenth Anniversary

Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital marked its 10th anniversary last night with a banquet at the Pontiac City Club.

The event, attended by members of the hospital's board of directors and administrators, was highlighted by the presentation of awards to five employees.

Honored were Vera Siller, nursing director; Eleanor Tweedale and Andrea Lintz, nursing supervisors; Dorothy Miller, a practical nurse; and Mae Swan, nurses aide.

Each was commended for 10 years of service to the hospital by H. W. Kruger, board president.

A dinner for interns and staff members will be held Thursday evening at Kingsley Inn in Bloomfield Hills.

Government, Nation Shaken

Once-Reserved Viet Nam Monks Emerge as Political Force

By MALCOLM W. BROWN

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—From a peaceful monotony of temple bells, incense smoke and meditation, a new force has emerged in South Viet Nam—a force that can drive a man to burn himself to death in the fervor of his belief.

For the past month, yellow-robed Buddhist monks have moved and acted with the determination and precision of soldiers in a drive that has shaken the government and nation.

BACKGROUND OF THE NEWS

SPECIAL REPORT

Even U.S. policies here have undergone some re-evaluation.

Never before have Buddhist monks of this country shown such zeal in their nonviolent campaign for "religious equality and social justice." Many sects have settled old differences among themselves and there is sense of rejuvenated faith.

"We are all Buddhists and we must work together," one said. On the surface little seems changed.

Monks rise with the first clang of the temple bell at 4:30 a.m. Their lives are austere and dedicated. In the major sects, monks may not marry, and are forbidden to eat meat, fish or eggs. Their heads are shaved.

Daily activities for senior monks include prayers and meditation, and teaching classes in theology, Vietnamese culture and foreign languages. English is the favorite foreign language.

Novices and junior monk study, prepare food, keep buildings clean and run errands.

OTHER MINISTRIES

monks officiate at weddings and funerals, give lectures and minister to spiritual needs.

Saigon monks, formerly forbidden to touch money, now carry small change to get around in

WINCHESTER, Va. (AP)—Two Civil War shells lay among the books for years, fused and ready. Civil War buff Manuel Sempeles discovered a 5-inch navy shell in the basement of Handley Library and a smaller shell upstairs in a storage room.

Librarian David Roland remembered how the shells had been tossed around during a recent cleaning and a changeover.

Two Ft. Belvoir Army specialists came Tuesday, defused the shells and carried them off.

Roland made a quick check of the library—no more shells; only books.

buses and taxis. Pagodas have treasure monks. Even the monks' practice of begging for rice and clothing from house to house largely has died out. Begging now is handled by lay business managers on a more efficient basis.

Contacts with foreigners have brought new ideas to Vietnamese Buddhism. Monks often study abroad.

The Rev. Thich Quang Lien, a 37-year-old monk who studied comparative religion and political science at Yale University, now teaches fellow monks English.

Buddhist protest activity came to a climax June 11, when the Rev. Thich Quang Duc, a 72-year-old monk born in the coastal town of Nha Trang, set fire to his gasoline-soaked robes in a main street intersection, and burned to death.

Suicide is new to Vietnamese Buddhist leaders, whose faith pledges them to nonviolence.

NEW DANGERS

"Normally," Quang Lien said, "we strictly forbid such things. But we have never been faced with dangers like the present."

"The Rev. Quang Duc came to us from his pagoda (at Cai Lay in the Mekong River delta), offering to burn his body for our cause of religious equality. At first, Buddhist leaders said no. But the situation for us became more difficult, as the government made new restrictions. So, in the end we voted to accept the courageous offer of Quang Duc, and permit him to do as he wished."

While monks insist they are not concerned with politics, some say openly they would prefer a government under which greater freedom of thought is possible. Monks have been arrested on street corners while handing out tracts that say so.

New ideas about Buddhist activities have brought radios, tape recorders, loudspeaker systems, telephones and pickup trucks to the ancient pagodas. When Quang Duc died, monks with cameras photographed the scene.

Outsiders have expressed puzzlement by the strident new tone of Vietnamese Buddhism. For about 80 per cent of the population, a Buddhist monk is both a part of the community and a symbol of spiritual authority. Some see in Buddhist leaders potential saviors of Viet Nam.

In any case, the new vigor of Vietnamese Buddhism has become a force to reckon with in the tangle of war and politics that is South Viet Nam.

1,400 Attend Music Camp

INTERLOCHEN (UPI)—Sixty-nine foreign students, most of them from Canada, are among the 1,400 youths who have enrolled for the 36th season of the National Music Camp here.

Students have also enrolled from Germany, Finland and South Korea.

The internationally known music camp opened Sunday and classes began yesterday. The camp continues for eight weeks with more than 700 faculty members.

3 Nuclear Scare Films Ahead

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD — Ready to be scared? Three major movies about future perils of the nuclear age will be in the theaters within a year.

They are: "Fail-Safe," "Seven Days in May" and "Dr. Strangelove." "Fail-Safe" is straight drama, based on an accidental triggering of nuclear war. The president (Fonda) then works feverishly from his bomb shelter to prevent the utter devastation of the earth.

"NIGHTMARE COMEDY"

In "Strangelove" the war is started by a psychotic Air Force general. But the film is apparently played for laughs.

"It is a nightmare comedy," claimed the "Fail-Safe" plot copied his novel "Red Alert," on which "Strangelove" was based.

"Fail-Safe" became a Columbia release, and it is expected that the suit will be dropped. The film was shot recently in New York with Sidney Lumet directing Henry Fonda, Dan O'Herlihy, Walter Matthau and others.

MEDITATION — Sitting beneath a statue of Buddha, a Saigon monk demonstrates what Buddhists believe is the correct position for meditation—the same position an aged fellow monk took in a Saigon street as he burned himself to death recently to protest government inequities.

If Attitude Is Proper

Military Service Stepping Stone to Future

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed. D.

Joining a military service may be the answer if you're a high school graduate who is not going to college and can't find a job.

However, you'll need the proper attitude as well as good background before you can enter military service and get something out of it.

Your progress depends on what development you make of service opportunities rather than what it makes of you.

The military is not a college, nor a trade school, but it does offer training programs in a wide variety of fields. However, training available at any particular time varies with the needs of each particular service.

Military service before about age 23 would be of your own choice, but making it your own choice does have certain advantages.

One fact worth remembering is that many employers consider it a distinct advantage if your military service is behind you. And if you join, you can choose to a large extent the branch and type of service you are interested in.

I'm not trying to recruit high school graduates for the armed forces. I agree with spokesmen for all services that every young man should complete as much education as he can before entering service (And since selective service is now inducing men at about age 23, college graduation is possible.)

But I am familiar with problems of young men before and after they enter service, having acted as military advisor of Long Beach, Calif. public schools at the beginning of World War II and later serving in the U.S. Navy with their training programs.

Every job you hold in life probably will call for special training. Prospective employers are becoming more and more concerned over whether a man can be trained for a job.

If, in service, you choose a training program within your range of abilities and succeed in learning, you will have taken a long stride forward in proving you deserve a chance at a good job in civilian life.

For example, the Army lists 125 areas of training or assignment. (Your local recruiting officer can furnish you with ones which are presently available.) Many of these are military in nature but have their civilian counterparts, such as: welding, machine work, automotive repair, cooking, photography, teletype operation, radio repairs and stenography.

To qualify for these Army programs, you will need a letter from the school principal or guidance counselor, in addition to your high school diploma. And you'll have to pass a physical examination, the Armed Forces qualification tests, and take a battery of tests to determine your fitness.

The Navy also has a number of guaranteed training and assignment programs set up specifically for high school graduates. Each recruit is tested thoroughly during boot training to discover aptitude levels and areas.

These are opportunities you may find it worthwhile investigating.

A new book, "The Student's Guide to Military Service" by Michael Harwood published by Channel Press, Manhattan, N.Y., contains a complete listing of service training programs available. A copy should be available in your local library.

By OSWALD JACOBY

As the years have gone by, experts have refined and improved the Blackwood convention to the point of absurdity in some cases. Other refinements have been made so good that Easy Blackwood has adopted them, if he didn't actually suggest them himself.

The first such refinement is to use the five club response to a Blackwood four no-trump to show either no ace or four aces. The theory is that the Blackwood bidder will always be able to tell which one it is and will be able to ask for kings if he wishes. If the five no-trump response is used to show four aces there is no way to do this.

Of course, it is rare indeed when a player uses Blackwood with no aces and still needs to ask for kings after his partner shows four aces, but it does come up and it costs nothing to be prepared.

North's jump to four spades may strike some of you as a little on the conservative side, but it made it very easy for South to get to the grand slam since he was able to mark North with all five important cards.

It is worthy of note that South eventually bid seven no-trump. He could count 13 tricks in no-trump as well as in spades and there was no chance to have the opening lead ruffed at no-trump.

Court Denies Drain Protest

Plea to Affect Sale of Outstanding Bonds

ST. CLAIR SHORES (AP) — The plea of eight St. Clair Shores taxpayers to stop work on Macomb County drains was refused by three federal judges yesterday.

The suit, however, apparently will affect the sale or transfer of some $150 million in outstanding bonds.

The taxpayers protested they were being taxed for drains without their consent of adequate notice. All are members of Fair Drain Taxation, Inc.

The three judges rejected the request after listening to arguments for four hours. They said a motion to dismiss the law suit would be heard in July.

Detroit lawyer Charles R. Moon, a legal expert on bond issues who represented the defendants, said the action meant it would take 60 days before drain bonds could be sold.

HAVE 60 DAYS

"The objectors will have 60 days in which to file an appeal and until that time elapses no drain bonds can be sold and no drain projects started," Moon said.

"Drain projects now under construction can continue as long as the available money holds out because the court denied the injunction."

"This action is also threatening federal funds of more than $1 million for drain projects because federal officials have said they don't want to get entangled with bond disputes when so many drain projects are waiting for release from the threat of legal tests."

Twelve drain districts were named as joint defendants in the lawsuit.

The lawsuit has stilled the sale or transfer of $150 million in outstanding drain bonds, Moon said.

"Investors just won't handle them as long as there is any kind of a legal question about it," he said.

Heavy rains which swept the country starting Monday in the wake of typhoon Shirley have resulted in 173 deaths, 77 lives Shirley itself claimed 77 lives.

The big landslide occurred in the village of Chang Sung, Pori on the island of Koje near Pusan. The slide hit the village Tuesday morning, burying members of 12 different families and nine policemen who had gone to the village to sound the alarm.

The town's inhabitants were evacuated in fear of a new slide.

Widow Helps Solve

TOLEDO (AP) — Faced with the responsibility of raising two young children after her husband was killed in World War II, Mrs. Sisk L. Brown, turned a neighborhood problem into a thriving business.

She got the idea from hearing neighbors grumble about inadequate rubbish collection service. Today she heads a community sanitation service with more than 20 trucks, a modern service building and equipment for collecting refuse from more than half of Toledo's industry and residential suburban residential customers.

Judge-Composer Dies

SIOUX CITY, Iowa (AP) — Berry J. Sisk, 67, a municipal judge and part-time composer, died Tuesday in a Sioux City hospital. Sisk composed the official "Armistice Day Forward March," as well as "Saxophone Waltz," a number popularized by Paul Whiteman.

Opulence of Indian Potentates Curtailed

WASHINGTON — Since India said "Good Night, Sweet Prince" to its potentates, many have awakened to useful new lives as ordinary rich people.

Of the nearly 600 princely realms existing when British rule ended in 1947, none is a separate state in the present-day Republic of India, the National Geographic Society says.

Incomes and powers of the maharajas, rajahs, and nawabs have been drastically curtailed. The royal allowances will be cut again by half each generation.

Even the Nizam of Hyderabad, whose very name conjures up fantasies of unbelievable wealth, pleads austerity. The Nizam gave only $42,000 to India's recent defense fund drive, and said he was too poor to donate more.

As a joke, for he is known to be a tight man with a rupee, Bombay citizens promptly ignored his plea. They refused to "rejoice in his misfortune."

NEW OCCUPATIONS

Many of the princes, whose wealth was once law to 91 million Indians, have gone into government, diplomatic service, business, and the professions.

One maharaja manufactures soft drinks. Another who turned big-game hunter conducts tourists on tiger hunts for big fees.

The close of the age of rajahs in 1947 brought about some exotic economies. One princely person in Mysore took to wearing home-spun suits — fitted with diamond buttons.

Another, without regret, reduced his inherited herd of 99 insatiably hungry elephants to three.

Most princes were only too happy to let the government take over their surplus palaces for conversion to luxury hotels and federal offices.

Though stripped of old prerogatives, the princes still have the patriarchal burden of keeping up the family.

"When the point is reached where there are twice as many students as there are now, the annual income will have to be about three times what it is now," he said. "The operating cost per student will have gone up by about 50 per cent."

Among the causes of climbing costs, he said, are:

"Step-ups in salaries, wages, fringe benefits and prices of essential supplies."

HIGHER LEVEL

"Constant rise in the level of instruction and the level of educational maturity of students."

"New programs of instruction and research, creating temporary 'islands of high cost,' which must be added with growing frequency to keep ahead."

"Supplementary class techniques and mechanical aids — such as tape recorders and closed-circuit television — 'All ways of supplementing and enriching instruction, but which cannot be depended upon to reduce costs.'"

"Improved accelerated programs, which are 'as much as' more than the conventional methods of instruction."

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States intends to ratify the international coffee agreement which is designed to stabilize declining coffee prices.

Students, who are as much as more than the conventional methods of instruction."

Gives Foggy Excuse

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Teachers at nearby Coventry High School have heard a new reason for a student's being delayed in getting to school.

Ron Sarkis, a candidate for student council president, used a rowboat as a prop in his election campaign.

The other day, he told teachers, he decided to row the boat to school across Long Lake. A short cut.

However, a morning fog moved in on the lake, the young man explained, and a navigational difficulty delayed his arrival considerably.

palaces and temples, of conducting religious festivals, and feeding hordes of relatives, dependents, and retainers.

In many cases, the government allowances are no more than commensurate with the former rulers' possessions.

OPULENT WORLD

Back in the old days, however, the potentates lived in an atmosphere that would take the imaginations of Hollywood's least inhibited set designers.

The world of the maharaja and nawab, as the Hindu and Moslem rulers were respectively, was one of opulent palaces, estate, hunting lodges, feasts, jewels, and dancing girls.

When a son was born to one proud potentate, he passed out automobiles rather than cigars.

Another maharaja lived in a replica of Versailles and required his courtiers to speak French.

When the Nizam of Hyderabad made a one-night visit in younger days to a neighboring ruler, he supposedly took along 200 concubines.

"The ladies don't get out much," he is said to have explained. "I thought this might be a nice outing for them."

The autonomous states ranged in size from Hyderabad, which was as big as Great Britain, to tiny realms no larger than farms. Some existed before Columbus discovered America.

Others were created in more recent times as fiefdoms.

The British East India Company, formed the last day of 1800, made treaty arrangements with the ruling princes. The British Crown later assumed the protective authority acquired by the company.

For the most part, though they were called "bejeweled, breathing fossils of feudalism" by a look their jobs seriously in the closing years of British rule.

Sen. Wallace F. Bennett, R-Utah, leading the attack against the proposal, said more funds would only provide a slush fund for the Democrats.

North Central Asks Flight Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — North Central Airlines asked government permission yesterday to suspend service temporarily between Fort Worth and Saginaw and between Traverse City and Escanaba.

The airline said Escanaba would continue to receive service on two other routes, between Hancock-Houghton and Chicago.

North Central said the two routes it wants to drop have failed to develop expected traffic.

Immunity Against All Types

Fast-Acting Oral Polio Vaccine Okayed

By HARRY KELLY
WASHINGTON (AP)—The government has approved a new fast-acting oral polio vaccine designed to give quick simultaneous immunity against all three types of polio.

A license for the three-in-one vaccine—combining strains of the Sabin oral polio vaccine—the complexity of administering oral polio vaccine, a spokesman for the U.S. surgeon general's office said Tuesday night.

In a statement, Lederle said that, in addition to reducing the complexity of administering oral polio vaccine, the new product gives "active immunity against all three types of polio after the first feeding, and more complete protection after the second feeding eight weeks later."

The Salk vaccine, using dead virus and injected with a needle, is recommended given in three doses—the first and second a month apart, the third seven months later—plus a booster shot after a year.

COMBINED EFFORT

The company said the three-in-one vaccine is the combination of the work of groups under the direction of Sabin and Dr. Herald R. Cox, Lederle's director of virology research. Lederle, a division of American Cyanamid Co., has its headquarters in Pearl River, N.Y.

Orientation Set for OU Frosh

The first of four orientation sessions for incoming freshmen will be held tomorrow at Oakland University for 154 high school graduates.

The all-day orientation will be combined work-session to include testing and a discussion of the general curriculum as well as a splash party and cook-out.

Dr. Donald D. O'Donnell, dean of the university, will welcome the high school graduates at 8 a.m. tomorrow. After a morning of testing, a discussion of campus life will be led by four student leaders.

A tour and discussion of the OU library will be led by David Wilder, university librarian, after lunch.

More tests and discussions on the various curriculums will be held in the afternoon. A splash party is planned for early evening, which will be followed by a cook-out and mixer dance.

County Youths Due Training as Sea Cadets

Twenty-two Oakland County youths will get a taste of Navy life as they leave Saturday for two weeks of training at Great Lakes Naval Training Station, Ill.

All are members of the Sea Cadets, sponsored by the Navy League.

Although formed only two years ago, the group hopes to better its feat of last year when it placed second among cadet units from throughout the country competing for the coveted Forrestal Trophy.

Adult advisor-officer for the Oakland County group is Colm G. Galbraith Jr., 9027 Gittins, Commerce Township. He and four other adults will conduct the group of 14-through-17 year olds, which leaves Saturday by bus.

The youths pay only a nominal sum for meals during the two weeks while they receive a condensed version of Navy boot camp.

But drilling, classroom work and military discipline will be old stuff to the Oakland County cadets, since they regularly meet for training at the Pontiac Navy Reserve Center, 469 South Blvd.

The first mass tests of the vaccine were conducted in 1960 in the Miami area, where it was administered—usually in a cherry-flavored syrup—to 414,000 persons. Health officials there said paralytic polio cases dropped to zero afterward.

Another test was conducted in the Tampa, Fla., area last year. Lederle said in a statement that supplies of the vaccine, which it calls trivalent orimune, are already available and production has been geared up to meet demands expected in the fall.

Last year the Sabin vaccine stirred up a controversy after about 18 persons who had received it came down with paralytic polio.

But in December, after weeks of study, a special advisory committee of U.S. Surgeon General Luther L. Terry had urged Americans to use the Sabin vaccine.

Committee experts estimated the chances at a million to one that the vaccine's live viruses might cause paralytic polio.

U.N. Peace-Keeping Finances Renewed

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI)—United Nations Secretary General Thant today was assured of funds to carry on the Congo and Middle East peace-keeping operations for at least six more months.

The 111-nation General Assembly was certain to give final approval to a complicated financial formula which was accepted by its budgetary committee yesterday. The committee consists of all members of the assembly.

The overwhelming committee approval left the Soviet bloc and France in isolated opposition to the plan for financing peace operations.

The assembly is scheduled to act on the program tomorrow, ending a six-week special session called to find means to erase a $100-million deficit and improve the fiscal system. The budgetary committee winds up its business today.

Thant's authorization to spend money on the Congo and Middle East operations expires June 30.

The 11 Soviet bloc countries and France found virtually no support in the committee vote for their constitutional position that peace-keeping costs must be levied by the Security Council and not by the assembly as was done in the case of operations in the Congo and the Middle East.

France, which pays its assessed share of the Middle East costs—but not that for the Congo operation—abstained on a resolution authorizing finances to continue the U.N. emergency force on the border between Israel and the United Arab Republic until the end of the year.

Madagascar joined France and the Communist countries in voting against a set of guideline principles for the financing of future peace-keeping operations.

On the other five resolutions containing the financial plan, the negative vote was the same: Russia, Albania, Bulgaria, Byelo-Russia, Cuba, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Mongolia, Poland, Romania, the Ukraine—and France.

Belgium and Portugal abstained on all seven measures. South Africa was absent. The Arab powers swelled the abstentions on the Middle East resolution: the Africans on the Congo measure.

The western powers hoped to pick up support of some wavering powers before the final vote in the assembly. The plan authorizes Thant to spend $42.5 million for the Congo and Middle East operations through the end of this year. The first $5.5 million is to be assessed on the regular budgetary scale.

For the remainder, 85 "under-developed" countries will be granted a 55 per cent reduction on their assessments. The resulting $3.6-million deficit is to be met by voluntary contributions.

Cargo Tonnages Are Up in St. Lawrence Trade

MASSENA, N.Y. (AP)—Cargo tonnage on the St. Lawrence Seaway in April and May were 15 per cent ahead of last year's, chiefly because of heavy movement of iron ore to Great Lakes steel mills, the American and Canadian seaway corporations reported yesterday.

Upbound traffic in the first two months of seaway operation this year totaled 34.6 per cent more than that of the corresponding period last year, while down-bound totals rose 3.1 per cent.

Crash Kills 3 at Intersection; 5 Hospitalized

CARO (AP)—Three persons died and five were injured seriously in a two-car collision on M81 near Caro last night.

Richard Urban, 22, his wife Jill, 21, and Mrs. Mary Urban, 23, sister-in-law of Richard, all of Caro, were killed in a collision at M81 and Vassar Road, about 12 miles east of Saginaw.

The crash left the Urban children, Michael, 3, and Curt, 2, and Calvin Urban, 25, husband of Mary, in critical condition.

The driver of the other car, Keith Krull, 19, and his father, Walter, 40, both of Unionville, were reported in serious condition.

Tuscola County deputy sheriff Paul Berry said the car driven by Keith Krull was moving north on Vassar and ran into the side of the Urban car, moving west on M81.

Berlin Throng Cheers JFK

BERLIN (AP)—With the cheers of a million West Berliners ringing in his ears, President Kennedy strode up to the Red Wall of Berlin today and gazed into the Communist world.

A crowd of several hundred East Berliners, standing behind Communist police who held tommyguns, waved handkerchiefs at him.

West Berliners filled the air with confetti and cheers.

The President arrived at the Brandenburg Gate—the symbol of the division of Berlin between East and West—at 11:45 a.m.

He mounted a platform and looked at the concrete and barbed wire wall stretching in front of him, to the left and to the right, and at the massive gate before him.

He stayed four minutes and then headed for another point on the wall—Checkpoint Charlie, the U.S.-manned crossing point for foreigners where Soviet and American tanks faced muzzle to muzzle less than two years ago.

The President reached the Brandenburg Gate after the greatest spontaneous welcome in the memory of the former German capital. Old timers said not even Hitler with his famous parade had brought out the people the way the American President did.

The screaming, cheering, flag-waving, confetti-tossing welcome exceeded the mammoth reception West German crowds gave Kennedy earlier this week.

The President looked across in to East Berlin from an 18-foot observation platform about 15 feet from the wall. West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer stood at his side as a British officer showed the President a chart of the principal points in East Berlin.

COMMUNIST SIGN

Facing him from the Communist side of the wall was an East German sign which said:

"In the agreement of Potsdam U.S. Presidents Roosevelt and Truman undertook "To uproot German militarism and nazism.

"To arrest war criminals and bring them to judgment.

"To prevent rebirth of German militarism.

"To ban all militarists and nazism propaganda.

"To ensure that Germany never again menaces her neighbors and world peace.

"These pledges have been fulfilled in the German Democratic Republic. When will these pledges be fulfilled in West Germany and West Berlin, President Kennedy?"

Thorson Jurors Still in Session

Weighing Facts in Mother-in-Law Death

DETROIT (AP)—A six-man, six-woman jury that already has deliberated five hours resumed the task today of deciding whether Robert M. Thorson killed his mother-in-law.

The trial went to the jury yesterday after Recorder's Court Judge Elvin L. Davenport told jurors to "arrive at a judgment you can sleep with at night—that abides with you."

Thirteen jurors heard the 12 days of testimony and the judge's charge, but 10s were drawn then and James C. Stewart, 29, of Detroit, was dismissed to cut the number of jurors to 12.

Davenport told the jurors they could find Thorson guilty of first- or second-degree murder or manslaughter, or find him innocent of the slaying of Mrs. Dorothy Thomas last December.

In his final argument, Assistant Prosecutor Max M. Silverman said:

"If Thorson is innocent, then he is the unfortunate victim of the most damaging set of circumstances and coincidences ever to confront a man.

"If we were to take the defense theory in this case that these circumstances are not sufficient, let's do away with this form of evidence," Silverman said. "Let's wait until we get eye-witnesses to crimes. Let's wait until we get confessions."

Defense attorney Konrad Kohl told the jurors: "It is terrifying to think that a man could be judged on the evidence presented."

"Why should he kill her?" Kohl asked. "Because he had a loan of money from her? The money was freely given—it would be more reasonable to accuse priations Committee, members him if he had not freely received

Defense Fund Vote Due House

From Our News Wires

WASHINGTON — The House is expected to vote late today on a proposed $47.1 billion budget which has brought on a battle of words between the Pentagon and Capitol Hill.

Lawmakers who had been assured by the bill's backers that its funds would support maintenance of present forces, and in some cases bolster them, were demanding a fresh explanation from what he requested cost the armed forces 60,000 men and tactical airpower.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara has complained that the $2-billion reduction from what he requested cost the armed forces 60,000 men and tactical airpower.

The first reaction of key House members was shocked disbelief.

"This is no time for a general slash in our defense program," one congressman told a reporter. "For one, would certainly go slow in placing an endorsement on changing of our military picture at this time."

Rep. Daniel J. Flood, D-Pa., had just told the House to look for some anonymous Pentagon source to report that an unidentified officer had been sighted over Alaska or an unidentified submarine off the Florida coast.

He said that was a standard Defense Department gimmick whenever its budget was trimmed a little by Congress.

END TO TREND

The reshaping of the defense program, including the manpower cuts, will be reflected in the budget that will be sent to Congress next January. It is expected to end the upward trend in defense outlays.

There is a feeling that America has achieved such strength and made such technological strides that the government may safely contemplate sharp cuts in manpower, warships, bombers, military bases at home and abroad and missiles of the older Atlas type.

Among measures being discussed in the capital are withdrawal of one of the Army's two divisions in South Korea and larger cuts in support forces in Europe; reduction of Navy aircraft carrier forces, and swifter junking of the Air Force's aging B47 bomber fleet.

There also is talk of a huge reduction in production of fissionable material for nuclear weapons. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

'Free, United Europe Key to World Liberty'

BERLIN (AP)—President Kennedy, in his key Berlin address, said today the goal of liberty may well be obtainable in a "larger Europe" reconstituted on both sides of the Iron Curtain.

"The winds of change are blowing across the Iron Curtain as well as in the rest of the world," the President said.

"The cause of human rights and dignity, some two centuries after its birth in Europe and the United States, is still moving men and nations with ever-increasing momentum.

"History itself runs against Marxist dogma, not toward it," he declared in his speech prepared for delivery in the auditorium of Berlin's Free University.

Kennedy said East European "police states are an anachronism.

"Like the division of Germany, the division of Europe is against the tide of history," he said. "The new Europe of the West—dynamic, diverse and democratic—must exert an ever-increasing attraction on the peoples of the East.

"And when the possibilities of reconciliation appear, we in the West must make it clear we are not hostile to any people or system, provided they chose their own destiny without interfering with the free choice of others."

The President said that before liberty is achieved, "justice" must be done. "Justice" in this transition period to improve the lot and maintain the hopes of those on the other side.

KEEP IN TOUCH

"It is important that the people in the barren confines to the East be kept in touch with western society—through all the contracts and communications that can be established—through all the trade that western security permits."

"What does liberty require?" Kennedy asked. "The answer is clear: A united Berlin in a united Germany, united by self-determination—and living in peace. This right of free choice is no special privilege claimed for Germans alone. It is an elemental requirement of human justice.

"So this is a goal we shall never abandon. And it is a goal which may well be obtainable most readily in the context of a reconstitution of the larger Europe on both sides of the harsh line which now divides it."

The President recalled that the late Secretary of State George C. Marshall, when proclaiming his plan for the reconstruction of war-torn Europe, had outlined his concept of Europe as "west of Asia."

Federal Funds OK'd for Center

Pontiac Will Convert Old Water Works Site

Federal funds to help finance a proposed $337,728 community center on the old water works site at Wessens and Walnut have been okayed by the Community Facilities Administration.

City Manager Robert A. Stierer told the City Commission last night that a $108,864 grant for accelerated public works funds has been approved for the construction of the community center.

The city will match the federal funds for the development of the old water works site.

The "basic development" of the community center will include a swimming pool, bath house, and multipurpose room. Additional structures for recreation and community activities are also planned.

The center was originally to be built with future expansion in mind. The "future" plans included landscaping and site development as well as remodeling the existing building on the property.

A 35-year-old "white elephant," the now vacant Clinton River water filtration plant, will be redeveloped to provide for community activities at the new recreation center.

The water treatment plant, which was built in the mid-1920s, has been vacant after operating 39 days. The building and equipment cost $1.5 million when first built.

The city will spend $65,000 to remodel the structure for use as a recreation facility.

Pontiac Gets Little Choice About Water

Pontiac may have to choose between going thirsty or accepting fluoridated water, Louis Schimmel, chairman of the Detroit Water Commission, said yesterday.

He addressed his remarks to members of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors' special water committee.

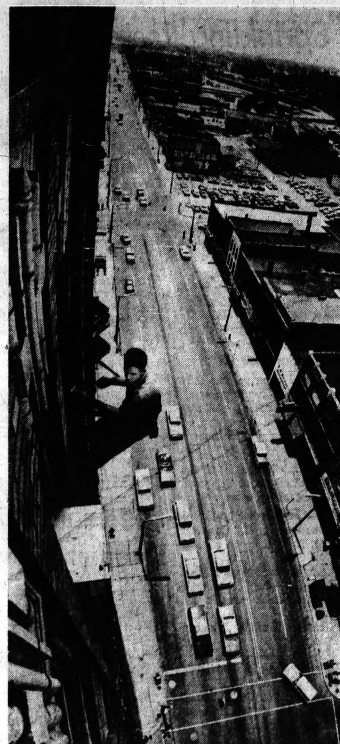

Schimmel, who lives at 509 W. Iroquois, is Oakland County's representative on the water committee.

Fluoridation will be decided by the Detroit Common Council, he told the committee.

Spý Scandal in Sweden May Make K Cancel Visit

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP)—Angry reaction to what officials called the worst spy scandal in Swedish history may force Soviet Premier Khrushchev to cancel his visit to this traditionally neutral nation a second time.

The government disclosed Tuesday the arrest of a Swedish air force colonel charged with spying for the Soviet Union for the past 15 years.

For five of those years he was Swedish air attaché in Washington. It also ordered the expulsion of his two alleged contacts, the first secretary of the Soviet Embassy and the Soviet military attaché.

Col. Stig Erik Wennerstrom, decorated by both the United States and France, was arrested Friday. Police said he admitted selling military secrets of Sweden and other countries to the Kremlin.

Although the other countries were not identified, they presumably included the United States, which honored Wennerstrom with its legion of Merit.

A special communique suggested more disclosures would be forthcoming. They could further embarrass Khrushchev and force him to cancel his Scandinavian visit, scheduled for next spring. Two years ago stormy political opposition made Khrushchev postpone a trip to Sweden.

THE SWEDISH PRESS today unanimously called for cancellation of the Khrushchev visit.

The North Atlantic Treaty Organization was reported investigating whether Wennerstrom supplied the Russians with NATO secrets.

Informed sources in Stockholm said NATO staffs in Paris and Washington had canceled all leaves to expedite the inquiry.

In Washington, the State Department said it received advance notice from the Swedish government of Wennerstrom's arrest. Officials refused to comment on the colonel's 1952-57 Washington assignment.

Wennerstrom, now 57, also served twice at the Swedish Embassy in Moscow. He was acting as a special disarmament adviser in addition to his Swedish Defense Ministry duties when police picked him up.

By official resolution of the City Commission, the "e" was clipped off the street name on all city records. From now on it will be Mohawk, the correct spelling as prescribed by the American Indian in various historical records.

Action came in answer to a

Urges Congressional OK

Bob Pushes Rights Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy appeared today to "the basic sense of justice in the hearts of all Americans" in urging Congress to approve President Kennedy's civil rights program.

"The courts have played an important role," he said. "This administration has taken significant and far-reaching action by the exercise of executive power."

"Now it is clearly up to Congress to bring its strength to bear."

Thus Kennedy challenged the Congress to recognize, by passing the civil rights bill—that this section which promises to be the most controversial: the one prohibiting racial discrimination in any place of public accommodation—ever privately owned ones.

"The effects of discrimination in public establishments are not limited to the embarrassment and frustration suffered by the individuals who are its most immediate victims," Kennedy said, "our whole economy suffers. The bill but foremost a rebuttal to the criticism voiced by opponents when the President unveiled the program in a message to Congress last week."

The attorney general directed his strongest testimony to the civil rights bill—that this section which promises to be the

Such facilities—restaurants, lunch counters, amusement places, stores, hotels and others are public in a very real sense, he said.

"They are not at all like a private home or a private club, for example, to which the owner invites only the guests he selects. Plainly, places of public accommodation are to the public."

Kennedy then addressed himself to the argument that the public accommodations law would violate private property rights.

"Some of those who complain most loudly about interference with private property rights," Kennedy said, "ironically are often those who most stoutly defend the laws, enforced by a number of states which forbid Negroes to be served."

"The difference is not one of property rights, but of the color of the customer's skin. That difference is called racial discrimination."

Many federal laws—such as the Taft-Hartley Act, minimum wage law and Sherman Antitrust Act—regulate privately owned businesses, Kennedy said. And 30 states already have laws forbidding owners of private businesses from discriminating against customers on the basis of race.

Kennedy next proposed the administration plan to speed school desegregation. Passage of a bill allowing the federal government to sue for an end to racial discrimination in schools, he said, "would smooth the path upon which the nation was set" by the Supreme Court's 1954 school desegregation decision.

Kennedy, urging adoption of laws aimed at speeding an end to discrimination in voting, said, "the right to vote, and thus participate in the processes of self-government, is in the long run the most fundamental right of all."

In conclusion, Kennedy said racial discrimination is far too complex a problem to be solved overnight.

"But we must launch as broad an attack on the problem as possible, in order to achieve a solution as soon as possible," he said.

"This bill springs from the people's desire to correct a wrong that has been allowed to exist too long in our society. It comes from the basic sense of justice in the hearts of all Americans."

tures. The memorial is in the British sector near the Brandenburg Gate.

Visitors to the Brandenburg Gate can peer through its three arches down Unter den Linden, the governmental center of East Berlin.

Tuesday night the East Berlin regime hung flags from the arches to curtain Kennedy's view into the East. The flags ostensibly were raised in celebration of the visit Friday to East Berlin of Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

ship was rejected," Kennedy said, "but it is not too early to think once again in terms of all of Europe."

"The people of Eastern Europe, even after 18 years of oppression are not immune to change," the President said.

"The truth never dies. The desire for liberty can never be fully suppressed. The people of the Soviet Union, even after 45 years of party dictatorship, feel the forces of historical evolution. The harsh precepts of Stalinism are officially recognized, appearing, for example, in Poland, Rumania, and the Soviet Union itself."

"The growing emphasis on scientific and industrial achievement has been accompanied by increased education and intellectual ferment. Indeed the very nature of the modern technological society requires human initiative and the diversity of free minds. So history itself runs against the Marxist dogma, not toward it."

drove on toCheckpoint Charlie, an elderly woman broke from the throng and ran into the street with a child in her arms carrying a bunch of carnations. A policeman started to guide the pair away but the President stopped the car, took the flowers and spoke with the woman.

Hundreds of East Berliners, standing about 500 yards away behind the guns of East German guards, watched the President's arrival atCheckpoint Charlie. From the West Berlin side people threw confetti and streamers from balconies.

The President left his car and walked past police to the white line marking the border. He stood with his toes almost touching the line, posing for photographers.

Then Kennedy moved to a stand built so he could look over the wall topped by barbed wire.

Brig. Gen. Frederick O. Marshall, commander of the U.S. brigade in Berlin, directed the President's attention as the crowd of East Berliners began to wave handkerchiefs.

"Look, Mr. President, they are waving to you," Hartell said. The President did not wave back.

Along the wall were two large billboards with propaganda signs in English, calling for conclusion of a German peace treaty, transformation of West Berlin into a neutral free city, and a recognition and coexistence pact between East and West Germany. The President took no apparent notice of the signs.

Windows of East Berlin buildings immediately around the checkpoint were empty, but as the President's motorcade drove away some women in windows farther to the East waved handkerchiefs.

Kennedy stayed 12 minutes at the checkpoint.

Suit May Halt River Project

Drain Law Challenge Could Delay Digging

Proposed improvements to the Clinton River in downtown Pontiac might be delayed by a lawsuit in Detroit Federal Court that challenges a section of state drain laws.

Any delay could hinder the downtown perimeter road construction which is to be coordinated with the river project at several key locations in the city.

The suit, brought by a Macomb County citizens' group challenges the constitutionality of the Michigan Drain Code.

The suit claims methods of assessing property owners for new drains is discriminatory.

NO BOND BIDS

Until the issue is settled, County Corporation Counsel Robert Allen, said banks and bonding houses won't bid on bonds to finance construction of drains anywhere in the state.

This is preventing the Oakland County Drain Commission from letting a $2.5 million bond issue to finance the Clinton River project.

The bids were to have been opened today.

County Drain Commissioner Daniel Barry said he doesn't know how long contractors will continue to work without being paid because of lack of bond money.

So far, contractors are engaged in clearing right-of-ways to straighten and widen the river to ease its flow through the downtown district.

Actual digging is scheduled to start within the next few days.

Allen said the court is scheduled to reconvene July 9 on the drain issue.

E. Germany Wants Big Show for K

BERLIN (AP)—The East German Communists are trying to drum up a big show for Soviet Premier Khrushchev's visit to East Berlin Friday in a bid to match President Kennedy's reception in West Berlin.

Berlin experts predicted that for Khrushchev's seventh visit East Berliners would head a Communist appeal to "decorate" houses, streets, squares and factories with the red flags of the working class," but would do so suitably.

The East German Communist party organ, Neues Deutschland, made a front page appeal to East Berliners to give their traditional hospitality "to our great friend."

EXTROLLING VISIT

It ran interviews with the mayor, a mechanic and a salesgirl extolling Khrushchev's visit. The East German radio also broadcast interviews and commentaries to whip up interest.

The Soviet premier visited East Berlin only last January and no one expected him to return so soon.

But East German Communist leader Walter Ulbricht's 70th birthday on Sunday presented Khrushchev with a reason.

Khrushchev's visit aroused a number of questions among officials in West Berlin and West Germany.

JUST A REPLY?

Would he confine himself to making a reply to Kennedy's pledge of support for West Berlin and Western Europe?

Or would he make some move that would launch a new crisis?

Allen said the court is scheduled to reconvene July 9 on the drain issue.

Laborites Up Heat on Mac

LONDON (AP)—The Labor party increased its pressure on Prime Minister Harold Macmillan today for his handling of the Profumo case which threatens to become an international sex-and-spy scandal.

Immanuel Shinwell, Labor member of Parliament, said he would ask the government why jailed osteopath-artist Dr. Stephen Ward has not been allowed to identify some of his paintings so he can sell them to pay his lawyers.

Ward is being held without bail for trial Friday on charges of living off the earnings of prostitutes.

The osteopath, who has sketched several members of the royal family, is a key figure in the Profumo scandal that has shaken Macmillan's government.

Ward introduced call girl Christine Keeler to resign War Minister John Profumo and former Russian assistant naval attaché Eugene Ivanov.

The London Daily Sketch said today British and U.S. security officials believe secret agents from Soviet bloc countries have been using an international call-girl ring to obtain secrets from Western diplomats and politicians.

Not only has Pontiac contracted for Detroit water, and spent large sums for an adequate system, but its city wells can no longer meet the community's water demands, Schimmel pointed out.

Subdivision Will Get Sprinkling Restrictions

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP—The laws of the Birmingham Farms subdivision will be the first to feel the consequences of a prospectively dry summer.

Supervisor Homer Case and Water Superintendent James Scott are using the authority recently given them by the township board in placing restrictions on the use of water.

The restrictions will go into effect Friday morning.

There are about 200 homes in the new subdivision, each with thirty young lawns and anxious owners, Case noted.

"The sprinklers have been running like mad," he said.

CORRESPONDING DATA

Starting Friday, persons living in houses with even numbers can water their lawns on even-numbered dates and those with odd numbers on the odd-numbered dates.

The subdivision is at the southwest corner of Telegraph and West Maple Roads.

"If the hot weather breaks, we will take the ban off," Case said, "if not, it could be on all summer."

The supervisor warned that other subdivisions will face similar restrictions if it doesn't rain soon.

"I can see it coming," he commented.

39 Soldiers Killed in Crash

From Our News Wires

DETROIT, Germany—A Belgian military plane carrying 39 paratroopers and a crew of five burst into flames in the air on a training exercise today, plunged into the ground and exploded.

Military officials reported 39 of the men perished and that seven jumped to safety with parachutes.

The crash occurred shortly before noon on the troop training site at Semmelager.

Military reports said the plane was flying at an altitude of about 600 feet and the tail suddenly burst into flames. It plummeted to the ground. The wreckage burned two hours after the crash.

The paratroopers were being flown over the training area on a jumping exercise.

Rescue workers who rushed to the crash scene said the wreckage of the plane was still burning more than an hour after the crash. They said they were trying to enter the wreckage to search for possible survivors.

Takes Action on Hospital

Sewer, Water Lines Will Extend to Site

ROCHESTER — The first step toward paving the way for construction of a new 100-bed Avon Center Hospital north of town has been taken by the Rochester Village Council.

The council has authorized extension of sewer and water lines to the 24-acre hospital site on Rochester Road, 2,500 feet north of Tienken.

The hospital board has an option to buy the Carl Oxford property just northwest of the entrance to National Twist Drill and Tool Co.

According to Dewane Lindland, hospital administrator, the board was waiting to exercise its option until it received notice of the council's decision on extending the village services to the site.

Lindland said that present plans are to retain the present 40-bed hospital at 55 E. Avon as a chronic care facility. Acute cases would be treated at the new hospital.

The village council also agreed to enter into a contract with the hospital for extension of sewer service to the present facility.

Estimated cost would be $60,000 which would be paid by the hospital. The line would run up Rochester Road from Avon to Division, then to South and out to the sewage treatment plant on the east side of the village.

As customers along the line tap in, their payments would be used to reimburse the hospital.

Village Attorney Arthur Cox was authorized to prepare contracts for the extension of the sewer line to the parent hospital and the water and sewer lines to the site of the proposed facility north of town.

The go-ahead also was given to village engineers Ayres, Lewis, Norris and May of Ann Arbor to proceed with a study of the hospital site.

Further details of plans for the new osteopathic facility are slated to be released next weekend.

Traditional Fourth Set

UTICA — A 16-year-old tradition will be kept alive here on July 4 when Gov. George Romney crowns the 1963 Fourth of July festival queen.

The governor is scheduled to arrive in Utica at 11:30 a.m. just in time for the coronation ceremonies at the Waterworks Park on Auburn Road.

However, William Schuchard, executive secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, said that just in case the governor arrives a little early a place will be saved for him near the end of the parade, kick-off event for the three-day festival.

Romney will be arriving by helicopter from Wyandotte where a previous commitment prevents him from leading the Utica parade as other governors have in the past.

His visit will mark the 17th year that Michigan's chief executive has crowned Utica's Fourth of July queen.

In addition to preserving an old tradition, the governor will also start what many hope will be a new one — the ringing of Utica's liberty bell at 1 p.m.

Schuchard said he expects from 5,000-6,000 spectators in Utica on the Fourth to view the parade, which starts at 10:15 a.m. on North Cass and ends at the park.

Floats from all the area's service clubs and other civic organizations will be interspersed with half a dozen bands, a bugle corps and a color guard.

Honorary grand marshal of the parade will be U.S. Rep. James G. O'Hara, D-Utica.

Reigning over the three-day festival, sponsored by the Lions Club will be Queen Dayle Desy, chosen recently in competition from a field of eight local contestants.

In addition to the parade and coronation, the festival will feature a carnival with games and refreshments.

Brooklands Plans Carnival With Bands, Races, Rides

BROOKLANDS — The music of a clown band, the challenge of a potato sack race and the thrill of a ferris wheel ride will be offered at Brooklands Fire Department's carnival this weekend.

Beginning tomorrow afternoon, the festivities will take place at the Great Oaks Stock Farm on Auburn.

The annual carnival, sponsored by the fire department for 17 years, also will feature parachuting exhibits.

Displays of skybound antics are scheduled for 7 p.m. Friday and 4 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

A clown band, made up of volunteers in the Avondale Fire Department, will parade through the grounds Saturday afternoon, a time set aside especially for the young.

Rides ranging from a merry-go-round to a ferris wheel will be offered throughout the four days. Competition for kids of all ages, from a peanut race to a plain old-fashioned foot race, will close out the carnival Sunday afternoon.

Proceeds from the weekend activities will be used by the department for needy people in the area and to finance the firemen's Little League baseball team.

Wilson-Jarvis Vows

Married in Clarkston

ORTONVILLE — Barbara Lee Jarvis became the bride of Darrell James Wilson Saturday evening in First Methodist Church of Clarkston.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Parker A. Jarvis, 1308 Ortonville, and the John C. Wilsons of Reed City.

For her wedding, the bride chose a gown of silk organza over tulle, fashioned with a lavalier necklace and bouffant skirt ending in a chapel sweep.

A crown of pearls, crystals and imported waxed orange blossoms held her fingertip veil of pure silk illusion. She carried a semicascade of white roses and carnations.

The bride's attendants were Eleanor Mae Decker of Grand Rapids and Mary Lou Hilliard of Royal Oak.

Restaurant Owners Defend Filling In Part of Union Lake

COMMERCE TOWNSHIP — Brown Jug on the west shore of the lake, Eric Cooper and his son Richard, are defendants in a suit filed in Ingham County Circuit Court by Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley.

According to the complaint, the filling constitutes an "unlawful occupation of lake bottom land" and interferes with fishing and navigation.

The Coopers' problems started when the road commission decided to renovate Union Lake Road this summer.

The owners of the bar-restaurant at 2325 Union Lake Road weren't the only ones to appeal the condemnation necessary for the project.

Upshot of the resulting Circuit Court suit was that they sold 2,000 square feet of their parking lot to the county for what their attorney terms "a fair price."

To gain back the 15 parking spaces they forfeited in the deal, the Coopers say they made plans to fill in the portion of their lake front property which has gradually been covered by water through the years.

They sent the plans for reclamation to the State Conservation Department.

The department's reply, according to Gene Schnelz, attorney for the Coopers, was "very ambiguous."

"They didn't really give their permission, but they did say they wouldn't bring suit as long as we didn't exceed the limitations," Schnelz said.

The limitation which Schnelz quoted from the letter was "out a distance of 50 feet."

This is the basis for confusion — the question seems to be: 50 feet from what?

Schnelz said he would seek an earlier date for the hearing on the filling suit, now set for Aug. 21.

Instead of spoiling Union Lake, Schnelz contends, the Coopers are improving it by cleaning up a mud hole which is now stagnant.

The bar - restaurant, which has been in the family since 1930, is operating on the liquor license which Eric's father received. It was the first in Commerce Township following the end of Prohibition.

To Lecture at Hospital Near Almont

ALMONT — Dr. Thaddeus E. Danowski, professor of medicine at the University of Pittsburgh School of Medicine, will deliver the third annual Bishop Lecture at the Community Hospital next Tuesday.

Dr. Danowski's topic will be "Precis of Electrolytes in Body Fluids."

Dr. Danowski was graduated from Yale University School of Medicine in 1940. After completing his internship and residency in Internal Medicine, he was appointed instructor and later assistant professor in medicine at Yale.

In 1947, he was appointed Rensselaer Professor of Research Medicine at the University of Pittsburgh School of Medicine.

Dinner will be served at 7:00 p.m. in the hospital conference room. Dr. Glenn L. Smith, chief of staff, will introduce Dr. Danowski and aid in conducting a question and answer period following the lecture.

The proposed program also includes construction of a $25,000 storm sewer for the Bennett and Canal Street area, now affected by runoff from higher portions of the village.

Curbs and gutters will be paid for through special assessment, but the council has not yet decided what share of the local street work should be paid by the property owners.

Milford Applies for Grant to Help in Road Program

MILFORD — Application for a federal grant to aid a $270,000 road program has been made by the Village Council here.

The village is asking for half the sum through an accelerated public works grant from the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency.

The other $135,000 would be financed through revenue bonds on anticipated motor vehicle fund returns from the State Highway Department.

The bond figure is based on 25 per cent of the village's income from this source for the next 15 years.

TO BE RENOVATED — Village Manager Donald G. Weidner said three miles of roads are to be renovated under the program, which could be culminated in 1964 or 1965 if federal funds are forthcoming.

Among roads to be repaired are South Main from Washington to the Southern Village limits, Summit from First to
