Blast Fires Royal Oak Plant

Plumbing Firm Loss $350,000; 100 Fight Blaze

No Injuries Reported; Homes Are Damaged by Flying Debris

By JOSEPH K. SFAIR

A flash fire touched off by a series of explosions swept through a Royal Oak wholesale plumbing store today, causing an estimated $350,000 damage.

Over 100 firemen battled the fire over three hours before bringing it under control. No injuries were reported.

The Nelson Plumbing Co. store at 332 E. Lincoln was empty when the fire broke out about 9:45 a.m. It is closed Saturdays.

Two houses flanking the brick and aluminum building were littered with bricks and other debris knocked down by the blasts.

About 1,500 phones in southeastern Royal Oak were silenced when the flames burned through power lines near the plant.

The 350x100-foot wholesale supply company building is about three-fourths a mile from the heart of Royal Oak.

Several persons saw the fire break out after a "huge explosion."

Mrs. Leslie Watch, 407 E. Lincoln, whose home is across the street from the building, said she was looking out the window when the blast occurred.

"The cupola on top was burning," she said, "The two walls went poof—they split apart at the corner. Then a series of eight or nine smaller explosions ripped the building."

Fire Marshal George Cook of Royal Oak estimated the damage at $350,000 but said the figure might go higher.

He said he didn't know the cause of the explosions. But employes said the building housed chemicals, machinery, and at times gas used in plumbing.

The roof of a house at 404 E. Lincoln was caved in by falling bricks, but the upstair occupants, the Raymond Maxwells, were not injured. Maxwell's car parked nearby was badly damaged.

Mrs. Howard Ibbotson, downstairs resident, said she left the home with her two children when a 16-year-old boy warned her that the building was on fire. He was identified as T. A. Strader, of 413 E. Lincoln.

The house on the other side of the building also was damaged by debris.

Bacardi Kidnaper Guarded Against Possible Lynching

SANTIAGO, Cuba (INS)—Cuban authorities today reinforced the guard around the alleged kidnaper of Facundo Bacardi Bravo—eight-year-old heir to a rum fortune—to prevent an escape attempt such as the one which brought death to a suspected accomplice.

Little Facundo, hungry but unharmed, was rescued Friday night by a Cuban Army officer. A short time later Guillermo Evaristo Rodriguez, the family chauffer, was shot to death by soldiers when he jumped from a military car.

Manuel Echevarria, identified by police as the actual kidnaper, claimed that Rodriguez was associated with him in the plot to hold the boy for $50,000. Echevarria was heavily guarded, not only to prevent an escape attempt but to guard him from angry mobs which demanded his life.

The chauffeur had been suspected of taking part in the kidnaping plot since he rushed into the family home Friday morning carrying a ransom note and relating a story of three men who had seized the boy.

Rodriguez claimed he was driving Facundo to school when a stranger stopped the car, climbed in and threatened to kill the boy with a knife unless the chauffeur obeyed his orders.

Rodriguez said he was forced to drive to a lonely place where two other men were waiting in a car. He said they took the child and handed him the ransom note.

Echevarria contradicted this story last night. He told authorities that Rodriguez was the only other person in the plot.

Police and army authorities had immediately launched an intensive search for the boy, who is the

Colder Weather Seen for Sunday

Forecast High of 35-39 Tomorrow; Rain to Quit Late Tonight

Weather forecasters blamed today's blustery weather in Pontiac on the low pressure disturbance which brought dust storms, blizzards and high winds to parts of the Midwest.

Although the U. S. Weather Bureau predicts even more windy weather, it expects the rain to end late tonight.

Colder weather is forecast Sunday, with a low of from 33 to 37 degrees tonight and a high of from 35 to 39 tomorrow.

Officials said particles from the dust storm probably will drift over this areas at about 10,000 feet, but dirty rain is unlikely. Some sections of the Midwest reported being bombarded with mud-balls, caused when dust mixed with rain.

The low pressure center is moving northeast toward Wisconsin and Lake Superior and will miss Michigan, said weather bureau spokesmen.

Today's blustery weather ended Pontiac's false spring which sent the mercury rising to 54 degrees yesterday.

The thermometer rose from 39 degrees at 8 a.m. today to 44 at 2 p.m. in downtown Pontiac. Yesterday's low was 32.

Cleary in GOP Race for Governorship

YPSILANTI (AP) — Secretary of State Owen J. (Pat) Cleary announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination as governor today, declaring himself a disciple of the political principles laid down by President Eisenhower.

Cleary's announcement was made at a home-town reception held at Kenney Hall of Michigan State Normal College.

He is the fourth to enter the contest for the GOP nomination.

Others in the race, in order of their announcements, are state Treas. D. Hale Brake of Stanton; Dr. Eugene C. Keyes of Dearborn; and Sen. George N. Higgins of Ferndale.

Democrats Mass to Back Latest Tax Cut Proposal

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democrats in Congress massed jubilantly today behind a new proposal to cut individual income taxes. Republicans, conscious of its political implications, approached the issue warily.

The fresh proposal to provide new tax relief by boosting personal exemptions was sprung unexpectedly yesterday by Sen. George (D-Ga), ranking Democrat on the Senate Finance Committee which handles tax bills.

George suggested that the personal exemption be raised from the present $600 to $800 this year and to $1,000 next year. He said he viewed such action as a necessary anti-recession measure.

The George proposal goes much farther than a like idea sponsored by Democratic members of the House Ways and Means Committee. These House Democrats suggested that the personal exemption be hiked to $700—but they were beaten 15-10 by the Republican majority on the committee which now is busy overhauling the nation's tax structure.

A number of House Democrats have made it plain they will fight for their plan when the tax revision bill reaches the floor in about two weeks. They hailed the George proposal and said it would make their battle an easier one.

Tax legislation must originate in the House. The George proposal, however, could be added to the tax revision measure when it comes to the Senate.

The George plan would be of most help to large families and those with low income.

It has been estimated to cost the Treasury about 4½ billion dollars this year and eight billions next year.

Windsor Plant Sucked Deeper by Huge Cave-in

2 Buildings Swallowed as Land Drops 22 Feet Near River Bank

WINDSOR, Ont. (AP)—Sections of a six million dollar chemical plant on banks of the Detroit River settled deeper today into a newly created lake resulting from underground caveins.

Part of the old marshland on which the Canadian Industries, Ltd., plant is built dropped at least 22 feet with little warning yesterday, swallowing two big buildings.

Today the earth still crumbled. Cracks appeared in a two-year-old office building of the adjacent Canadian Salt Co., an indication the foundation was settling. Workers cleared all records and furniture out of the brick-and-concrete structure.

The water-filled pit stretched 175 yards from east to west and 125 yards from north to south.

The water level appeared the same as that of the Detroit River nearby and it was believed river water was seeping into the pit through salt crevices in the limestone formation.

A huge hydrogen tank on one end of a concrete slab listed eight inches early today. Observers said that if the tank dropped, an ammonia plant on the other end of the slab would go down as well.

Other nearby structures included a four-story salt warehouse and buildings for producing chlorine. Officials said the entire roadway leading to the west end structure could drop away.

Boxcars on a railway spur also were threatened.

Two buildings were ruined in the initial collapse. A large warehouse all but vanished in the muddy water and a pump building settled to its rooftop with more than $10,000 worth of equipment.

H. L. Watts, an engineer at the adjacent property of the J. Clark Keith Steam Plant, said at the time:

"It's fantastic! why the buildings are actually sinking as you watch them. I never saw anything like it."

The area was closed to sightseers.

The 30-acre plant lies less than a mile from a 45 million dollar Ontario Hydro Commission steam-powered electric generating plant.

Minister Plans to Appeal Ouster

Dismissal of Charges by Church Commission Angers Williams

DETROIT (AP) — The Rev. Claude Williams, wartime industrial chaplain of the Presbytery of Detroit, today said he would appeal his ouster as a minister of the Presbyterian Church.

Williams was notified Friday of his dismissal by a special Judicial Commission appointed by the Presbytery to try him for heresy and for teaching and preaching Communism.

Williams said he was angry about the notice which said the Church Commission "had dismissed" the charge against him of Communist teachings and leanings.

"I will appeal the whole thing to the highest courts of the church," he said, "in my appeal I will insist that it is the moral responsibility of the Presbytery to find me either innocent or guilty of their charge that I am a Communist or have followed the party line."

Williams' conviction as a heretic was the first such conviction handed down by a church court in more than a generation.

Women Report Flying Saucers in Pontiac Skies

Flying saucers sailed back in the news today when five local women reported seeing two of the mystery craft slowly circling in Pontiac skies Friday.

According to Mrs. Donald Darrow, of 17 E. Wilson, the "saucers" did not resemble airplanes. "They were up very high and each trailed a short stream of smoke," she said.

Her mother, Mrs. Arthur Ekstrand, and sister, Mrs. Wally Maki, of Clear Lake, first saw the "saucers" about noon while on their way to shop. They called Mrs. Darrow, Mrs. Donald Thurston and Mrs. Leo Smith, of Cass Lake, to see the craft.

Expert Sees Lot No Aid to City

Traffic Man Testifies Distance Too Far for Short-Term Parking

Lloyd Reid, traffic and parking consultant, yesterday testified in Pontiac's land condemnation suit that in his opinion present lots provide enough room for short-term parking and there is no need for the proposed city lot at 11-49 Parke St.

Reid made a survey for the Jack Habel Chevrolet Co., owner of the land sought by the city for parking purposes.

He told an Oakland County Circuit Court jury that the land is at least a 1,375-foot walk from South Saginaw street, a distance he considers too far for short-term parkers.

Reid said cars now parked there are left all day or over night.

Oscar Gunderson, Wayne County Road Commission traffic expert, testified previously for the city. Gunderson stated there is little space in the area which the lot would serve for short-term parking.

City Attorney William A. Ewart has said the lot would serve an area bounded by E. Huron. E. Pike S. Saginaw and Parke.

Reid said yesterday he based his conclusions on a study of three of the seven commercial parking lots near Habel's land. The lots were checked on six peak days, said Reid, and only once was one found to be full.

The lots have a total of 476 parking spaces, Reid stated, but the most cars found in them at one time was 332.

When a person is parking for only two hours, Reid said, "there's a limit to how far they will walk."

The Habel land is too far from Saginaw street "as I define short-term parking," he said.

Reid said he had currently done traffic and parking consulting work for New York City and the J. L. Hudson Northland Shopping Center.

Asked by Ewart about downtown traffic, Reid said, "There's very, very serious traffic congestion."

But he said he thought congestion was due to limited street capacity rather than a lack of parking spaces.

There would be no noticeable

Senate Committee OKs Earl Warren's Nomination

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Senate Judiciary Subcommittee today approved the nomination of Earl Warren as chief justice of the United States.

The subcommittee, by majority vote, reported the nomination favorably to the full committee, which will meet next Wednesday.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A furious row over a Senate subcommittee's publicizing of 10 unevaluated charges against Chief Justice Earl Warren boiled up today in a demand the same group immediately give Warren a favorable vote.

The Senate judiciary subcommittee considering Warren's nomination to the post he already occupies under an interim appointment meets again today.

Sen. Watkins (R-Utah), who protested the subcommittee's airing of the charges at an open session yesterday and denounced them as "a lot of tommyrot," said he would ask for a vote to send the nomination to the full Judiciary Committee for approval.

The nomination, submitted Jan. 11 by President Eisenhower, requires Senate approval. No senator has announced intention of voting against confirmation.

At the President's vacation headquarters in Palm Springs, Calif., yesterday, Press Secretary James C. Hagerty declined to discuss the developments.

At a meeting yesterday, called by Chairman Langer (R-ND), the subcommittee publicly spread on the record charges it said it had received. Among these were allegations that Warren had followed the Marxist line, had appointed dishonest judges to office, and had been under the control of "a notorious loquor lobbist."

At Langer's direction, subcommittee counsel Wayne Smithey read into the record a summary by the subcommittee staff of 10 charges made by persons who opposed Warren's nomination.

Smithey said the staff had not

Release of PWs Seen as Illegal

Final Majority Report of Neutral Commission Given Out Today

PANMUNJOM (AP)—The Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission, in a final majority report, today branded as illegal the release of unrepatriated Korean War prisoners last month by the U.N. Command.

The report, released on the eve of the commission's dissolution, declared: "It would be a bare assertion unsupported by any evidence (to say) that the prisoners had voluntarily sought non-repatriation."

The five-nation commission, comprising delegates from India, Sweden, Switzerland, Czechoslovakia and Poland, goes out of existence at midnight Sunday.

The Indians, Czechs and Poles signed the report. The Swiss and Swedes issued a statement emphasizing that they did not "join in the conclusions."

3 Patients Saved in Flash Blaze Near Hartford

Five of Victims Were Bedridden; Police Hunt in Ruins for Bodies

HARTFORD, Mich (AP) — Seven patients — four women and three men—lost their lives in a fire that raced through a convalescent home for the aged late last night.

In 30 minutes, the fire destroyed the two-story frame building, three miles west of Hartford in southwestern Michigan.

Killed were E. Harl Babcock, 76, of Watervliet; Fred Sayles, 86, of Glenn; Mrs. Lucy Sparling, 91, of Coloma; Samuel Lutz, 93, of Covert; Mrs. Adeline Blakeslee, 79, and Miss Louise Bishop, 82, both of Benton Harbor.

Mrs. Mary Collins, 66, of Watervliet, dragged from her burning bed, was dead on arrival at Watervliet hospital.

Only three were rescued. Mrs. Jennie Schuster, 81, of Benton Harbor was listed in critical condition.

Chris Binder, 79, and his wife Katherine, 82, are being treated for shock.

It was Binder's heroic action that saved him and his wife from possible death. He was an ambulator patient on the second floor. When the fire broke out, Binder tottered down the stairs to the room where his wife was confined to a bed.

Half dragging, half carrying, Binder got her to an outside doorway. From there he staggered to safety himself. Mrs. Binder crawled the rest of the way.

The home had been operated the last two years by Mr. and Mrs. Clark Shimer.

Mrs. Bessie Costakis who was caring for bed-ridden patients on the first floor, gave this account of the fire:

She heard Mrs. Collins scream. She ran to the scene and found that a fire had broken out in a glassed-in front porch occupied by Mrs. Sparling.

Mrs. Costakis tried to rescue Mrs. Sparling but was cut off by a wall of flames.

She called Mrs. Shimer and ran outside for help.

When firemen arrived, the fire had nearly destroyed the building. Further efforts to rescue the patients were futile.

One Man Is Accused in Restaurant Holdup

DETROIT (AP) — A confessed murderer was accused by police today of taking part in a $6,200 holdup at the Fox and Hounds Inn, Bloomfield Hills, on Nov. 30.

Chicago authorities said that Charles E. Clark of Gary, Ind., admitted shooting Jack Gamble of Detroit to death in Gamble's home Jan. 11. Chicago police picked up Clark after a $50 Gary robbery.

Detroit police said that Clark was sought for questioning in the robbery of the restaurant. They said Clark was on probation from Southern Michigan Prison from an armed robbery charge at the time of the Gamble slaying. Earlier story on page 2.

Picard Terms Commies 'Russian Goats' for Conspiracy Against United States

DETROIT (AP) — Federal Judge Frank A. Picard's address to the court yesterday, in passing sentence on six Michigan Communists convicted of Smith Act violations has been termed one of the best handed down in a Smith Act case.

The white haired jurist, in a strong unfaltering voice, lashed out at the six defendants as being "convicted of the greatest offense of which a citizen could be guilty . . . conspiracy for the overthrow of your government."

Picard termed the six defendants, Saul Wellman, Nat Ganley, Mrs. Helen Winter, Philip Schatz, Thomas D. Dennis, Jr., and William Allan "goats—and Russian goats at that."

"You really think you are martyrs. But you're not going to jail for your beliefs. You're going to jail because you wanted to force those beliefs on others. So you're not martyrs — you're goats — and Russian goats at that," he said.

"Today you are in favor of the Russian interpretation of Tehran, of Yalta and the North American pacts. You used to be on the side of Tito. Now you don't like him anymore. Neither does Russia," he said.

"You are against everything the United States is trying to accomplish this very day in Berlin. So is Russia. In your minds, this country is right only when it believes as Russia believes.

"Your admiration of Russia is so great that there isn't any doubt in my mind and there wasn't any doubt in the jury's mind, that there is nothing you wouldn't do—lie, cheat or even worse to attain your objectives.

"That, you know, you are a part of an international conspiracy to rule the world by Communism."

"Now I tell you this. I have the power to change my sentence I give you here today within 60 days and if any of you would like to go to Russia to live and I can arrange it, I'll be inclined to change your sentence to make that possible."

(In delivering the address, Judge Picard departed from his text to say "under federal law I can change this sentence anytime within the next 60 days and if any of you should decide to want to go to Russia, I would be glad to do so."

The crowded courtroom broke into applause when Picard added "and I can arrange it."

Judge Picard told the defendants he believed they were sincere in their beliefs.

"I am giving you the benefit of saying you believe in your cause but whether you do or not is immaterial for that cause has so engulfed your thinking, so dominated your every move to the extent that five of you (all but Mrs. Winter) took the stand and lied about what you believe because you thought the end justified the means in your opinion," he said.

It is scheduled to be housed in the proposed west side station at Maple and Chesterfield.

3 Warrants Die in Reuther Case

Ritchie, Jacobs Facing Prosecution Whenever They Enter U. S.

DETROIT (AP) — Warrants charging conspiracy and attempted murder will be dismissed against three of five men in the 6 year old Walter Reuther shooting case, Prosecutor Gerald K. O'Brien said Friday.

The prosecutor announced he intends to dismiss warrants against Santo (Sam) Perrone, Carl Renda and Peter Lombardo.

But O'Brien said he intends to continue similar warrants against Donald Ritchie and Clarence Jacobs.

The prosecutor's "solution" of the 1948 shotgun assassination attempt on Reuther, CIO and United Auto Workers president, suffered an apparent crippling blow Thursday at Windsor. Both Ritchie, key witness and defendant on whose testimony the warrants were issued, and Jacobs, his uncle and alleged triggerman in the shooting, were freed by Canadian authorities.

They were released on a dismissal motion made at Ritchie's extradition hearing. Jacobs faced a similar hearing.

O'Brien said that warrants against the two Canadians would remain in effect to keep the shooting case alive beyond the statute of limitations deadline April 20. However, neither Ritchie nor Jacobs can be touched unless they enter the United States.

Perrone, 58, fled when the warrants were ordered. Renda, 29, Perrone's son-in-law, had been scheduled for a trial next month on a conspiracy charge. Lombardo, 50, is serving a sentence for counterfeiting at Leavenworth.

Senate in Angry Row on Warren Charges

tried to establish the truth or falsity of the charges but only listed those which, if true, "would appear to be . . . within the investigatory jurisdiction of the committee."

Watkins and Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California interposed protests against this procedure, and the open, television-filmed, meeting soon afterward broke up in a row.

Knowland later called the proceedings "the most shocking event I have observed in my eight years in the Senate."

Vice President Nixon, also of California, said in a statement to newsmen that the charges against Warren were "completely fantastic and patently false."

He added the Judiciary Committee "rather than wasting its time investigating the charges could well spend some time investigating those who made them."

Under questioning by Sen. Hennings (D-Mo), Smithey said the names of persons sending in the charges had not been checked to see whether they were bona fide.

He said two persons, whom he named as Roderick J. Wilson, signer of a letter mailed in Los Angeles, and Burr McCloskey of Chicago, separately made one of the charges.

As read, this allegation was that "the nominee was at one time 'under the domination and control of a notorious liquor lobyist' (Art Samish)."

Samish's name was read also in connection with a charge Warren had improper connections with "the czar of illicit enterprises in California."

In San Francisco, Harold Faulkner, attorney for Arthur Samish, denounced these statements as "outrageous" and said Samish would "completely establish the falsity of the charges" if called in an official inquiry.

In addition to the two charges in which Samish was named, the charges read by Smithey were:

1. That, as attorney general and governor of California, Warren "permitted organized crime to establish its national headquarters" there.

2. That as governor he protected corruption in his administration.

3. That he lacks sufficient judicial experience.

4. That he has a "100 percent perfect record of following the . . Marxist . . . revolutionary line."

5. That he is "biased toward the AFL labor monopoly."

6. That as attorney general he refused to prosecute more than 1,000 bookmaking violations referred to him.

7. That while governor he "owned and operated" an "escrow racket."

8. That as governor he "knowingly appointed dishonest persons as judges and thereafter elevated them."

Hiss Case Secret Witness Testifies Before McCarthy

From AP & INS Dispatches

ALBANY, N. Y. — Felix A. Inslerman who appeared secretly before the grand jury that indicted Alger Hiss, testified today before the McCarthy Senate permanent investigations subcommittee in Albany.

Inslerman was identified by Chairman Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy as an "important witness" on the current probe of alleged Communist infiltration in defense plants around Albany.

Inslerman lives on a farm near Cambridge, N. Y., and is an electrical engineer, who was employed by General Electric Co., on a guided missile project in 1948 when he appeared in the Hiss case.

At that time he described as a coincidence the fact his first name was the same as the expert known only as "Felix" who microfilmed the so-called "pumpkin papers" turned up by Whittaker Chambers on his Maryland farm. These films were copies of secret papers taken from government files, allegedly by Hiss and others, for a Soviet spy ring.

McCarthy had revealed last night that he had a witness for today whom he described as cooperative and "of very considerable importance."

McCarthy resumes today his hearing on alleged Communist espionage at the General Electric plant in Schenectady.

The Wisconsin Republican, sitting as a one-man Senate investigating subcommittee, heard seven witnesses in a stormy open session. One of the witnesses, Jean Arsenault, Jr., who said he had been a Daily Worker reporter and a Communist, identified six GE employes as Communists. The six, all in the hearing room under subpoena, refused on constitutional grounds to say whether the statement was true. One also declined to say whether he was a spy.

Dems Planning Budget Strategy

Hold House Fund Bills to Counter Possible Cut in Williams' Total

LANSING (AP)—House Democrats today were ready to introduce their own series of budget bills which would adopt Gov. Williams' budget exactly as he recommended.

The measures would appropriate $365,541,568 for general fund operations of the state in the 1954-55 fiscal year. Current general fund appropriations total $338,593,602.

The Democrats plan to hold the bills until the House Ways and Means Committee reports its first budget bill, probably next week.

If the bill, which will carry appropriations for state regulatory agencies, shows that the Republicans mean to carry out their threat to shave Williams' budget by $10,000,000, the Democratic bills will drop into the hopper.

This will put the Democrats in position to force a record vote on Williams' budget if they have to.

Rep. Gerald L. Murphy of Detroit, Democratic member of the Ways and Means Committee, is spearheading the movement. He said he did not plan at present to prepare bills for Williams' recommendations for expenditures over and above his budget.

These included $500,000 for development and promotion of state agriculture and $360,000 for an intensive tuberculosis case-finding program.

Murphy was defeated in another direction. The Republican-dominated chamber refused to permit him to insert in the record a Detroit Common Council report on unemployment.

Rep. Allison Green (R-Kingston) led the attack on the attempt, saying it was "a move to get something of a political nature in the record."

The Senate has defeated a proposal to require inspection of deer slain by archers.

The Senate moved up for a vote Monday night a bill to permit Detroit Edison Co. to buy 88 acres of submerged land at Harbor Beach as a site for a new power plant development.

The upper chamber also approved and sent to the House a bill legalzing blood tests to determine paternity in court cases.

The Senate Liquor Committee reported out a bill to increase the State Liquor Control Commission from three to five members and to abolish the two existing hearings examiners.

A bill forbidding the use of schools and classrooms after Sept. 1, 1956, if they have not been approved by fire and health authorities was sent to Ways and Means Committee in the House for study of the costs involved.

Newsprint made from sawgrass was used experimentally in a recent issue of a newspaper in Florida.

Guards Protecting Bacardi Kidnaper

son of Daniel Bacardi Rosell and great-grandson of Emilio Bacardi, founder of the rum industry bearing the family's name.

A Cuban Army Lieutenant, F. Bamboa, was drivng along a Santiago street with two other soldiers when he saw a man and a child on the sidewalk. The lieutenant called "Facundo." When the boy responded the soldiers jumped from their car, seized the child and halted the fleeing man with several warning shots.

The man, later identified as Echevarria, was taken to the Bacardi home. Santiago police were forced to battle an angry mob which wanted to lynch the alleged kidnaper.

When Rodriguez first was taken into custody as a suspect, he was released at the family's request so he would be able to keep in touch with the kidnapers. After the boy was rescued the chauffeur was re-arrested and placed in an army car for transfer to the Moncada army barracks.

Army authorities said he jumped from the car during the ride and was shot by military guards while attempting to flee.

License Plate Clue to Arrest

Flint Man Involved in Fox and Hounds Theft Held for Investigation

A Flint motorist, stopped by two Pontiac patrolmen who noticed that his car had a stolen license plate, is being held today for investigation of armed robbery of the Fox and Hounds Inn last Nov. 30.

Patrolmen Robert C. Gaines, 22, and Roy Hudson, 25, checking a registration handed them by Johnny Graham, 37, of 3617 Michigan, recalled that the license plate on the registration was one reported for the auto used in the Bloomfield Hills holdup in which four bandits took $6,200.

At the Oakland County Jail the patrolmen called Sgt. Walter Sluiter of Bloomfield Hills Police who said that a Detroiter now awaiting trial in the Fox and Hounds robbery, James T. Suttles, 30, of 1685 Kendall, had implicated Graham and two other men in the holdup.

Under questioning last night, Graham denied taking part in the holdup and said he could not explain the stolen plate on the car.

In the stick-up at Woodward and E. Long Lake Rd. last November, three bandits tied up Peter D. Larson, auditor, and two clerks in the inn office, took the money from an open safe, and sped off in a black car driven by a fourth man.

Nathanial Moore, 29, of 356 Howard McNeill St., driver of the car at the time Graham was arrested, is being held for investigation of auto theft. A woman passenger was released.

Traffic Expert Says Habel Lot No Help

lessening of congestion if the Habel land were converted to parking, he speculated.

Ewart asked Reid if he had done work for Sam Stolorow of the Outdoor Parking Co., which Ewart said operates 75 per cent of the commercial parking lots in the city. Reid said he prepared a report for Stolorow in August 1952.

Ewart asked Reid if municipal lots charge lower rates. Reid said he wasn't familiar enough with rates to answer accurately. Ewart stated he thought municipal rates were uniformly lower than private commercial lots.

"Do you deny people are driving around looking for parking during peak periods?" Ewart asked. "I don't deny it," Reid replied.

When parking is free, lots are crowded, Ewart said. Reid replied, "Yes."

Ewart showed Reid pictures he (Ewart) said were taken of lots during peak periods and asked if the lots were full. Reid said they were "crowded with cars."

Ewart asked Reid what he thought about fender-to-fender parking in commercial lots. Reid said cars could get scratched in any lot.

In replies to other questions by the city attorney, Reid said he wasn't sure if municipal lots allowed more space per car than commercial ones do.

The case is adjourned until 9 a. m. next Wednesday when Habel is expected to take the stand.

Michigan State College, the only state institution now operating its own television station, holds a commercial license, but college officials have agreed not to accept commercially-sponsored programs.

The five men and one woman—top ranking leaders of the Communist party in Michigan—were sentenced in federal court yesterday for conspiring to overthrow the United States government.

Federal Judge Frank A. Picard in imposing the jail terms told the defendants that if any of them chose instead to go to Russia "I can arrange it."

Judge Picard handed down the following sentences:

Nat Ganley, five years.

Saul Wellman, four years and eight months.

William Allan, four years and six months.

Thomas D. Dennis, four years and six months.

Philip Schatz, four years and four months.

The six admitted Reds were convicted Tuesday of conspiring to teach and advocate the violent overthrow of the United States government.

Judge Picard told the prisoners: "You're not going to jail for your beliefs. You are going to jail because you want to force those beliefs on others."

The prisoners said it was impossible for them to get a fair trial and maintained they were victims of "congressional investigations approaching the Salem witch hunts."

Witnesses Recall Details of Schwable's Torment

WASHINGTON (AP)—One of those 20th century stories that stagger the imagination and sicken the heart is unfolding in a drab, improvised courtroom on a hill overlooking the Pentagon.

It is the story, as told by men who saw it happening, of a brave man goaded to fury and gradually broken by his Communist captors under a load of abuse, pain, humiliation and physical wretchedness.

Frank H. Schwable, a flying Marine with a brilliant record of combat experience, is the central figure. He was a war prisoner in Korea 14 months. Midway in his captivity, he signed a false confession he took part in germ warfare activities which, in fact, never were carried on.

The Reds made noisy propaganda use of Schwable's "confession." Now a four-member court of inquiry is trying to decide whether the 45-year-old Schwable, a slender, alert man with thinning and graying hair, should face a court martial.

Four Marine enlisted men and one Army sergeant who caught glimpses of Schwable in POW camps during his ordeal told their stories yesterday — halting fragments that added up to a harrowing picture of what "brain-washing" does to a man.

Some told of seeing Schwable in September and October, 1952—emaciated, unshaven, jittery but nonetheless defiant. Schwable had been captured the preceding July 8. He'd been thrown into solitary confinement, harrassed by constant questioning, deprived of food. But his attitude toward his Red tormentors was:

"Go to h——."

Former Marine Corp. William N. Shockley of Denver, Colo., testified he heard those words ring out in a firm American voice on one occasion when a browbeating, finger - waving interrogator was submitting Schwable to inquisition.

And Sgt. 1.C. Pearson O. Porter of League City, Tex., an Army man, told of stronger language used by the Marine officer to a Communist questioner.

"You can spell the word if it embarrasses you," a lawyer told Porter.

"I'm not embarrassed," said the self-possessed Porter, and he gave the court the short word he said the colonel hurled at the interpreter.

It was a different story, though, by Dec. 8 when Schwable and some of the enlisted men were herded into a truck and transferred to another camp. They had their own individual ways of describing the colonel:

"Awful nervous."

"He just stared straight ahead."

He kept jerking and twitching—like a punch-drunk prize fighter."

Once, the men agreed, Schwable leaped to his feet and cried out he was surrounded by oil. There wasn't any oil on the floor. Again, they said, he brooded two full hours before answering a Communist guard's remark about the weather. One said the colonel suddenly started shadow-boxing when they stopped for food.

They didn't hold it against Schwable, the men said, when they learned he supposedly had signed a "confession." They just figured somehow he was forced to do it. Some of them had experience of the Communists' forcing techniques themselves.

The president of the court, Maj. Gen. Henry D. Linscott, put a direct question to one of Schwable's fellow passengers in the truck:

"Did he appear to you to be a man in his right mind?"

"No, sir, he didn't," said Pfc. Melvin J. Gaynor, 21, of Tell City, Ind.

The hearing resumes Tuesday.

GEORGE WASHINGTON

by J. Lee Voorhees

J. L. VOORHEES

"First in war, first in peace and first in the hearts of his countrymen," is a salute to the Father of his Country.

George Washington hated war, as all great soldiers do, loved the tranquility of Mt. Vernon, the broad sweep of lawn, sturdy trees and fertile acres but was not one to let his love of home, friends and family blind him to the necessity of defending them. He rallied his neighbors, led them through bitter struggle, never forgetting that through their efforts, sacrifice and devotion to country — only then could they live in peace.

He wrote to Marquis de la Rouerie: "I never expect to draw my sword again," yet he died a soldier, a soldier that knew the horror of war and fought to avoid it, to give men peace and tranquility.

George Washington was a practical idealist. Open your hearts to a patriot; he gave us the country we love and cherish.

Bind Royal Oak Woman to Circuit Court in Baby's Death

Mother Charged With Murder

Mrs. Cottrell Is Slated for Arraignment on 2nd Degree Count March 1

Mrs. Lois Cottrell, 22, of 823 Etowah, Royal Oak, accused of fatally beating her 3-year-old daughter Lois Ann, was bound over to Oakland County Circuit Court yesterday following her examination before Royal Oak Associate Municipal Judge William T. Sevald.

Charged with second degree murder, she is scheduled for arraignment March 1.

Police testified during Friday's hearing that Mrs. Cottrell used her fists and a belt buckle to punish her daughter. A medical authority testified that an autopsy disclosed that the child died from brain injuries received in the beating.

The mother was quoted by a nurse, Mrs. Elizabeth Carrol of 360 W. Hazelhurst, as having said that if she had any more trouble with the baby she "would punish her and might even kill her."

The family physician, told police he was called to the home following the beating to treat Lois Ann and ordered her rushed to Royal Oak General Hospital when he discovered her seriously injured. The child died before admittance.

The father, Martin, 27, also told police that he and his wife beat the girl because "she wasn't exactly right." Cottrell was released.

The Cottrells have three other children.

Best Cherry Pie Bakers Use Many New Fixin's

CHICAGO (INS) — The nation's best cherry pie bakers—in the future homemakers class—are putting ingredients into their fillings and crusts that grandma probably never dreamed of.

Things like sherry wine. . .milk . . . eggs. . . cinnamon. . .lemon juice.

The results, sampled at the 1954 National Cherry Pie Baking Contest in Chicago, are definitely mouthwatering.

The pie judged the most delectable has lemon juice in the filling and the crust, and an egg in the pastry for good measure.

The recipe won Beverley Jones, 18, of Ogden, Utah, the title of Cherry Pie Queen, $100 in cash and a trip to the nation's capital to present her pie to Mrs. Patricia Nixon, wife of the vice president, on Washington's birthday.

Besides the national title, awards were presented yesterday to eight other girls among the contestants representing each of the 48 states. Bakers of the best pies in the East, South, Central and West were given $50 prizes and the runners-up in each region $25.

Agnes Clare Morrow of Madison, Fla., swept the field below the Mason-Dixon Line with a recipe that includes almond extract, frozen cherries and sherry in the filling and milk in the crust. Reluctantly, the 17-year-old blonde admitted that the sherry she uses comes from Florida's traditional rival state of California.

The top pie baker in the eastern region, 15-year-old Marilyn Kita of West Henrietta, N. Y., relies on frozen cherries and a touch of almond flavoring.

No extra flavors for Joyce Richardson, 18, of Missoula, Mont., who was given the top regional award in the West. But the dimpled blonde does use frozen cherries.

Mary Stewart, a 16-year-old brunette from Walworth, Wis., was rated tops in the central region for her pie that mingled the flavors of lemon and almond in with the cherries.

Next step in dust-proofing the area, Mrs. Stein said, is collection of a $4 levy from each householder.

Sees Socialism in Price Props

New Support Program Administrator Is Hostile to Big Government

WASHINGTON (INS)—The man Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson this week named to head the price support operation believes high price supports are carrying America toward socialism.

James A. McConnell, former executive vice president of the Grange League Federation, is the man chosen by Benson to direct the Commodity Stabilization Service, which administers the price support program.

McConnell was chosen to replace Howard H. Gordon, who came in with the original Benson team last year, but who was not considered a staunch enough Republican for some Congressional leaders.

Gordon's other job as president of the Commodity Credit Corporation—which finances price supports—has gone to Agriculture Undersecretary True D. Morse who, like McConnell, is a strong opponent of big government.

While McConnell has not made any public statements since assuming his new duties last week, he has spoken out on farm issues often in the past.

Three months ago, McConnell told a New York audience that "wheat is one of the best examples of modern socialism we have in this country."

He said: "The government controls the amount of acreage that we can plant. It controls pretty largely, through its support programs, the price and the marketing.

"The production of wheat in this country is shot through and through with government control. The laws on the books provide for acreage controls, for marketing quotas, for penalties. Good or bad, it's a perfect example of modern socialism."

McConnell contends that the "modern American Socialist aims at control of the economy and not ownership by the government."

Expect Opening of Milford Teen Canteen Next Month

MILFORD — Barring further "unforseen circumstances," Milford's "Teen Canteen" will be ready to open its fight on juvenile delinquency sometime next month, according to Dr. Earl Book, promoter of the project.

Book, meeting with members of an adult council Thursday night to discuss the project, said an exact date for the opening of the canteen could not be set as yet.

He cited one unforseen circumstance which he said would delay opening of the canten two days.

A portion of the roof of the building, formerly the old Legion Hall, was ripped off during a storm which hit Milford Monday night.

Workmen are repairing the damage, however, and going ahead wth the work of remodeling the building. Carpenters and plumbers are still needed to help finish the interior. Book urged anyone wishing to help to contact him or a member of the adult council.

Fourteen FFA boys from the high school are also expected to help in clearing the buidling of waste materials accumulated during the remodeling, according to Herschel Krebs, agriculture teacher.

Planned for the big recreation center are roller skating, square dancing, shuffle board, ping pong, indoor tennis matches and activities for teenagers.

Harry Duckering, well known square dance instructor and caller, has volunteered his services for the dances. Earl Whipple has offered to operate the roller skating concession. An instructor has also offered to teach boys boxing.

Members of the adult council who attended Thursday night's meeting are Norman Ball, Frank Fox, Krebs; Lowell Newcomb, Everett Gillow, Charles Newell, Dr. and Mrs. Book, Mr. and Mrs. Ward Mancour, Vic Munson and Mrs. Howard Heintzelman.

Dulles to Defend Action at Berlin

Will Try to Convince Nation We Won Victory in Setting Asia Talks

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles has undertaken to convince his critics, Congress and the country that the United States scored a diplomatic victory in arranging for a conference to discuss peace in Asia.

Dulles returned last night from the Big Four foreign ministers meeting in Berlin, where he agreed to seating Russia and Red China at the conference opening April 26 at Geneva, Switzerland.

He obviously was disturbed by some fears expressed in Congress that "appeasement" might result. He told newsmen who met him at the airport that this country got "100 per cent" of what it wanted and that "the place and composition of the conference are precisely what we sought."

Dulles, fatigued after nearly a month of fencing with Russia's V. M. Molotov, faces three days of possibly stiff questioning by congressional leaders of both parties and by the House Foreign Affairs and Senate Foreign Relations Committees. He also will report to the nation Wednesday night on radio and TV.

Dulles was understood to be preparing to stress that his agreement in no way cleanses Russia of guilt in promoting and supporting Chinese and North Korean aggression in Korea.

He also is said to be planning to emphasize that this country will continue to refuse recognition to Red China and will not permit her admission to the United Nations.

The Asian peace conference will search for ways to bring final peace in Korea and to end the seven - year - old Communist-led uprising in Indochina.

Dulles' planeside remarks probably set the tone of his reply to congressional critics.

Rep. Richards (D-SC) said Dulles did "a good job", but he also commented that if former Secretary of State Dean Acheson had come home with such an agreement, it would have been called "a sellout to the Reds." Richards is senior Democrat on the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

Three members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee expressed misgivings about dealing with the Chinese Reds on a high diplomatic level. They were Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich), Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-NJ) and Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn).

Dulles also was reported concerned over a hot diplomatic protest lodged by South Korea's ambassador You Chan Yang. Acting on instructions from his government, Yang called at the State Department a few hours before Dulles' arrival to protest bitterly that the Berlin conference represented "a diplomatic victory by the Soviets."

However, a State Department spokesman said Yang did not press his objections when he attended a meeting yesterday of representatives of United Nations allies in the Korean fighting.

Considine Tells Students:

We'll Never Have Dictator If Newspaper Remain Free

SEATTLE (INS)—Importance of a free press to the preservation of democracy and "the defense against totalitarianism" was stressed here last night by reporter-columnist Bob Considine in an address to an audience of high school journalists.

The International News Service writer (whose columns appear in the Pontiac Press) was principal speaker at the banquet of the 1954 all-coast press clinic at the University of Washington.

Considine told the student journalists why he felt his quarter of century career had been worthwhile:

"In addition to the thrill of a by-line, the excitement of covering news events of all sorts, the adventures of travel, and the good pay, there is the deep-rooted satisfaction of belonging to the world's last great, free press. With the exception of the ministry, I doubt if there is any finer calling than that of journalism in this country.

"We are a free nation because our press is free. As long as it remains free, we will never have a dictator."

The author of the daily INS column "On The Line," stressing the increasing complexity of news coverage today, said he would make only one change if he had his life to live over.

"I'd prepare myself more carefully for newspaper work," he declared. "I'd pay more attention to what the journalism classes in the schools had to offer. And I'd read everything I could lift.

"For in later life a man finds a place in his writing for everything he ever read, ever saw, ever hungered for, ever achieved."

He illustrated his talk with anecdotes from his experiences all over the world as sportswriter, war correspondent, political reporter and columnist.

Considine told the students, assembled from eight western states he still thought the sports department was a wonderful starting point for a young reporter. He noted:

"Sports editors permit their staff members more of a chance to cut figure-8's, so to speak, with the 26 sharp little tools of the English alphabet. There is consequently more flair to the writing of the sportswriter, more imagination unfurled."

The columnist stressed that "for a reporter there is eternally some new world to try to conquer.

"Some day, some time, a reporter will write of medicine and science with the warmth, affection and clarity of a good baseball writer writing about the New York Yankees."

South Korea Undecided on Attending Peace Talks

SEOUL (AP)—South Korea's foreign minister said today his government has not decided whether to attend the Far East peace conference which opens April 26 at Geneva.

Foreign Minister Pyun Yung Tai and government spokesman Kari Hong Ki have condemned the conference arranged by the Big Four foreign ministers at Berlin.

American sources said the Seoul Koreans appeared to be taking a "reserved but receptive attitude" toward the conference.

1st Power Fight Is Lost by Beck

Teamsters Allow Him Right Only to 'Study,' Not Control Funds

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Dave Beck apparently has lost an initial skirmish to gain more power in the giant AFL Teamsters Union.

Lesser leaders succeeded at a general executive board winter meeting which ended yesterday in thwarting Beck's efforts to gain more supervisory control over rich union welfare funds.

Beck, whose announced aim is to negotiate national contracts on a coast-to-coast basis in the trucking industry, apparently met staunch opposition from teamsters local and district council bosses jealous of retaining their power.

The board declined to give Beck the sweeping authority he sought to prevent "racketeering and overt acts" in local handling of union trust funds. Teamster contracts and trust funds are presently negotiated on a local basis.

Union administration of welfare funds has been under fire from congressional investigators, particularly in the 1,300,000-member Teamsters Union, and Beck has proclaimed that "racketeering must go."

Instead of the sweeping authority he wanted, the board authorized Beck to make only a "study of the entire field of health and welfare problems."

Beck said he was just going to assume he had full authority to act and intends to step in and take over any union sub-division where he suspects fraud. He conceded the affected official might take to the courts to stop him.

"If that happens and they tie my hands," Beck said, "I may call a special union convention and have a showdown on this." The next regular union convention won't come until 1957.

This all seems to mean Beck, installed as union president just over a year ago, is meeting strong opposition within his organization in getting the power he wants to run the union.

What About 'Discount Houses?'

Many people, interested in saving money, have become interested in the so-called "discount houses." If you have considered dealing with such concerns, the following information may be helpful:

★ "ALL SALES FINAL!" Most merchandise purchased at "discount houses" may not be returned or exchanged.

★ "FICTITIOUS LIST PRICE! In some cases, a fictitious list price is attached to merchandise so that the customer is falsely led to believe he is saving money.

★ NO GUARANTEE! Merchandise obtained through unauthorized channels by "discount houses" is usually not covered by the regular factory guarantee.

★ NO SERVICE! Few "discount houses" maintain any kind of service departments.

★ NOT IN STOCK! Many items available through "discount houses" are not carried in stock.

Although purchases made "at a discount" may appear to be of advantage to the public, experience shows that in far too many instances the apparent "saving" has resulted in actual loss. Your Better Business Board believes that your best assurance of satisfactory buying is to deal with a merchant of known reliability.

Passamaquoddy Again?

Awaiting House action is a Senate resolution which suggests the possibility that the controversial Passamaquoddy power project might be revived.

Adopted in the upper chamber without debate or dissent, the resolution authorizes the spend- of $3,000,000 on a two year survey of the project. Also provided in the resolution is that the survey be made by the International Joint Commission. This means that in contrast to the original project which was all American, this is to be a U.S.-Canadian co-operative survey.

During Senate consideration of the matter Maine's Senator Margaret Chase Smith relayed an optimistic report on the project. She said that in March 1950 "the Army engineers made an official finding that the proposed project was physically feasible."

In brief the plan is to make use of the abnormally high tides in Passamaquoddy Bay, an arm of the Bay of Fundy between Maine and New Brunswick, for the generation of electric power.

Actually construction of such a project was started during FDR's first term as a relief measure. But it was halted when Congress refused to vote the money for what critics called "boondoggling." Leader in the fight against it was the late Senator Arthur Vandenberg.

Back in 1941 the Federal Power Commission reported adversely on the project. Since then New England has developed a chronic power shortage. This might convince House members that a survey of Passamaquoddy's power potential is worth what it would cost.

Too Much Abundance

While few have heard much about it yet, the Nation's crop storage problem today appears just as acute as it did before last year's bumper harvest.

Department of Agriculture officials expect the shortage of storage capacity to be at least 280,000,000 bushels. This is true despite plans to use such emergency storage facilities as mothballed merchant ships, idle movie theaters, airplane hangars and unused Army barracks.

Farmers are urged to store their machinery in temporary sheds so that permanent barns and other structures may be used for crop storage.

Here is just another way in which too much abundance causes farmers headaches and losses. Some will have to sell their grain right after the harvest, probably at depressed prices, instead of storing it under seal with a price support loan. If a farmer, lacking storage, accepts the loan he must be prepared to suffer losses from weather damage to unstored crops.

Either way it means lost income to an agriculture which so far is persisting in the maintenance of a supply greatly in excess of demand.

Misery Amid Riches

Oil rich Saudi Arabia, a land literally floating on a sea of petroleum, is a country of unbelievable poverty in the midst of great wealth.

Ten years ago the government's annual total of foreign exchange fell short of $7,000,000. Today King Saud gets oil royalties from the Arabian American Oil Company of more than $170,000,000 a year, plus $5,000,000 as customs and other tax payments from the oil company.

Yet the King is almost always broke. This is due to extravagant buying and an old royal custom which dictates that the King has to support not only his own wives and children but the many wives and children of his 34 brothers. In fact the total of palace hangers-on has been put at several thousand whose food bill alone is said to reach $5,000 a day.

Things are quite different for the 6,000,000 inhabitants of this desert kingdom. Of these 3,500,000 are Bedouins who live in tents woven by hand from goat wool, and who are primitively self sufficient.

Arabs generally are far from the strong, healthy people Americans imagine them to be, says U. S. News & World Report. Most of them are undernourished and plagued by disease, with tuberculosis and syphilis widespread.

Saudi Arabia's economic situation is a matter of concern to the State Department. Experts say royal expenses must be cut if disaster is to be averted. It is realized, however, that should the King crack down, there is danger that the palace parasites would eliminate him and put their own man on the throne.

Our Government naturally wants to avoid any such upheaval which would add political instability to the already dangerous economic situation.

"You wouldn't be bothered with sinus trouble if you would walk on your all-fours all the time," asserts a physician. You would, however, be considered a bit eccentric.

Legislature Pulls Punches to Cut Williams' Popularity

By JACK I. GREEN

LANSING—Gov. Williams, who has fattened his political career by fighting with the Legislature, is having trouble getting into a fight this year.

Williams, in past legislative sessions, has shown a keen appreciation of the old political theory that the people usually side with the Governor in a fight with the Legislature.

For five years he has squabbled with the Republican-controlled Legislature and apparently benefited by it.

But this year it's been hard to get into a scrap and Williams is showing signs of restlessness.

His temper may be wearing thin under the strain of trying to figure the future—whether he should go for Governor or U. S. Senator. But whichever way he goes, he unquestionably realizes that he needs some good scrappy headlines to develop the issues of the campaign.

In the past week, he got only a 50-50 break in his pugnacity.

First, he used the sounding board of his press conference to virtually threaten a veto of the election codification bill.

In unusually tart and frank language for an off-the-cuff press confegence statement, Williams belabored the Legislature for an amendment combining the state and presidential ballots and for refusing to include an amendment providing for bipartisan election boards.

He must have been a little surprised when the House Republican Caucus calmly dropped its combined ballot amendment and sent a delegation in to see what was bothering the Governor.

The caucus, informed of the troubled mind of his excellency, promptly ordered an amendment drafted which would give him bipartisan election boards. Whether the House and Senate will actually pass it still is in the future, but the GOP refused for the moment to get into a fight about it.

Still with his jaw stuck out, Williams tore back into battle a day later with a blast at the Republican Unemployment Compensation Bill.

This time, he drew blood and got an angry retort from the Senate. The Senate heard the first name-calling of the session involving the Governor, although last year the words "liar," "phoney," "hypocrite" and "demagogue" were being passed back and forth before the opening day prayers were said.

If Williams can start a nice headline fight with the Republicans this year it probably will have to be over unemployment compensation.

In the first place, rising unemployment makes the issue a vital one to many working people because it affects their bread and butter and their chances of staying off relief.

In the secondplace, it will be hard for the GOP to avoid a political setback on the issue.

If it adopts a bill as liberal as Williams wants he can claim public credit for it and still hammer the Republicans for other objections he finds in the bill, written in by previous Legislatures.

If the GOP doesn't go as far as he wants, the Governor will be screaming "brutes" up and down the state for months.

So politicians look for Williams to keep yelling at the Legislature about unemployment compensation.

Whether the GOP allows itself to be drawn into a name-calling bee to fatten the headlines remains to be seen. Obviously, it is hard to sit quietly when the Governor is calling your bill a "fake."

But the GOP will have to move with caution this year if it is to avoid a daily dose of billings-

Work Less Interference God Given Right, Says He

Regarding the article signed, "I Don't Get It." I wish to say that I am in complete sympathy with him. I have always believed that to work and earn a honest living, without interference by a third party, or parties is a God given right and that the Constitution of our United States is in line with same.

I also believe that those who would deny this right to others are at enmity with both God and the supreme law of the land.

Maybe, if the plaintiff would contact the right parties, he would be able to start a fund to take the case to the Supreme Court. I, for one, would be willing to do my "bit."

All our troubles and disappointments and even diseases have come about because man believes that he is separated from God.

God is a spirit and we are one in God in His spirit. We must take God in partnership to have a full life as it was intended from the beginning.

There is a true saying. . . "No man is your friend and no man is your enemy, but every man is your teacher." If someone harms you, look for the lesson he is trying to teach you.

Once you find the lesson you will find the wrong done was really a blessing in disguise. From a purely selfish standpoint one must learn to forgive.

Commodity Price Plan Example of Socialism

An attempt has been made in late years to set aside the law of supply and demand in the federal regulation of certain commodity prices. The plan is to keep prices high by federal purchase and federal hoarding, making artificial scarcity.

One instance is the hoarding of butter compelling the public to not only pay for the butter hoarded but pay a high price for the butter individually purchased.

Hoarded eggs and potatoes present the same problem and the plowing under of every third row of cotton, destroying of little pigs and destruction of melons and bananas are all related to the plan.

Paying the farmer to not raise certain agricultural products ties in with the same plan. No wonder that our present federal administration is having a difficult time to get away from this artificial scarcity and higher prices and at the same time be able to please those who financially profit from this method. There is a reason why some consider such doings as indicative of creeping socialism.

Relationships Among Different Groups to Be Stressed During Brotherhood Week

DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

Tomorrow is Brotherhood Sunday. Each year the week in which Washington's birthday occurs is designated as Brotherhood Week — a time for emphasizing the need for right relationships among the many racial, national, and religious groups that make up our American population.

Many churches and synagogues have considered it appropriate that such a week be prefaced by services designed to teach their congregations the religious basis on which good relationships should be grounded.

The interdependence of all groups under one God, the essential oneness of all mankind will be the theme in countless American churches of all denominations.

This theme will be dramatized, in many cases, by exchanges of pulpits, between Christian and Jew, Negro and white, etc.

Sunday is also the birthday (in 1801) of John Henry Cardinal Newman, the great English theologian and writer whose hymn, "Lead Kindly Light," has been on the lips and in the hearts of millions of Christians for more than a century.

Newman's place in Christian history was a most unusual one. His greatest influence was, and still is, on the church he renounced: the Anglican (Episcopal in the U. S.).

As a young priest in the Church of England, Newman was one of the leaders of the "Oxford Movement," which, beginning in 1833, was an effort to remind the Anglican church that it is Catholic as well as Protestant.

Newman's activity consisted mainly of writing tracts, of which he produced 90, on the Anglican church's historic heritage.

The tracts were widely read and provoked a stormy response. But the slowness of any positive results convinced Newman that the English church was not, and did not want to be Catholic and he left it for the Church of Rome.

The Newman tracts, however, had a tremendous effect on the Anglican church and were responsible for many changes in Anglican thought.

He continued, as a Roman Catholic priest, to be one of the leading religious scholars and writers of his time. In 1879, 11 years before his death, though still only a priest, he was elevated to the College of Cardinals.

And, tomorrow is the day on which college students throughout the entire world, will assert their Christian unity in a Universal Day of Prayer.

Since 1897, when the first such day was established by the World Student Christian Federation (with headquarters in Geneva, Switzerland), campus groups and student organizations such as the YMCA and YWCA have joined in this world-encircling demonstration of the power of religious faith to dissolve national and racial barriers.

High Wages Not Enough to Make Job Enjoyable

Alice shows that "psychic wages" are a very important aspect of modern business. Many workers are irked or quit their jobs, despite big cash pay checks, and all because they don't get enough "psychic wages." So send for the tests described below.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case K-330: Alice D., aged 26, is a beautiful and also a very efficient Dental Assistant.

"Dr. Crane, I have changed positions recently," she told me. "I like my present dental boss much better than my former employer.

"And that may seem odd because I don't make as much money here. But he offers me some psychological rewards that I didn't have before.

For example, my former boss dominated the office and took all the glory. He rarely paid anybody a compliment. He was the 'big shot' and we were just the office help.

"But my present dentist is entirely different. He leans on us for advice and actually makes us feel as if he couldn't get along without us.

"If a patient compliments him, he tries to include us and modestly says he can do good work because he has such talented assistants.

"Naturally, that makes us girls feel happy and we work all the harder to come up to his high praises.

"Although I started at $5 per week less money, I wouldn't go back to my former employer.

"I'd rather have happiness and less money, than a bigger salary and be under constant nervous tension!

"Moreover, my present dentist includes our names on his dental letterhead. And that isn't all, for he furnishes us all the stationery we want for our personal use.

"And of coure we girls like that, for it gives us some ego inflation to write letters to our relatives and also to our boy friends, with our names listed in print at the top of the page.

And we girls also have incentive here, for my present boss treats us as junior partners.

"If we collect more money this month than we did the corresponding month one year ago, then we get a certain percentage of the increase as a bonus.

"That adds a lot of zest to our work. Oh, I'll admit that many other dentists and physicians give their assitance a bonus at Christmas, especially if the income is greater this year than the year previous.

"But I like to get more frequent 'bonuses' which is what this monthly arrangement amounts to.

"So I wish you'd tell employers of all sorts that workers are not motivated solely by cash alone. We also like psychological wages in the form of appreciation and compliments and even having our names in print on the company stationery."

What Alice has stated so simply, is exactly the keynote of modern Personnel Strategy.

"Psychic wages" are very important. I recall a former student in one of my psychology classes at Northwestern University who changed jobs and took $500 cut in his salary, but he got his name in gold leaf on the door of a little private office.

Furthermore, he said his former boss was a "bearcat" who kept everybody agitated and unstrung, so he had developed a peptic ulcer just being under such constant tension.

A lot of medical patients come to us physicians because of tension and fear and personality clashes with their bosses or their fellow workers.

So send for my "Tests for Employers & Employees," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus a dime. They explain "phychic wages" more fully.

Baering Down

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

Being a couchless psychiatrist we have been figuring why Senator Bricker is so determined to throw a loop on the White House.

John himself had altitudinous ambition to send his laundry out from the Casa Blanca.

He didn't make it but it was closer than lint to blue serge.

Like many another efficient Governor Jack was out-feenagled by political deals. They let him pull the badger.

The same thing happened to Governor Dewey, Governor Warren and others too numerous to be accidential.

Is it possible that lurking in the subconsciousness of his political ego is the feeling he was backroomed out of the pront parlor?

The Bricker Amendment was not so much cutting the Gordian knot as it was hamstringing the executive ball of twine. But the only war it could have kept us out of was the diplomatic wire-walking on the thirty-eighth parallel.

We told you before World War Two was started by one vote of the Mikao using a harbor for a hat. World War One was another launched by an ad in a New York newspaper advising Americans not to sail on the Lusitania.

Americans sailed on the Lusitania and she was torpedoed. The Spanish-American war was matriculated by the sinking of the Maine. You can see that a battleship can be a vote, a newspaper ad can be a vote and injustice can be a vote.

Child's Baby as Insurance for Good Permanent Ones

My dentist found eight cavities in my 4-year-old daughter's teeth. He filled all of them and told me to bring her back in six months for examination. Meantime a retired dentist says it is not necessary to have a child's first teeth filled. (Mrs. M. B.)

How Much Vitamin D?

Is there danger in taking 2,500 units of vitamin D daily? Sister takes 6 tablets (1,500 units) and a cod liver oil capsule (1,000 units) daily, the latter because it contains also 5,000 units vitamin A. (Mrs. J. H. L.)

Answer—No. Unless it is prescribed for a specific purpose the cod liver oil is unnecessary. Two glasses of milk a day will supply nearly 5,000 units of vitamin A.

Man Told to Remain on Sidelines

Should Be Tranquil Observer Unless Introduced

By EMILY POST

A young man writes me: "I have a problem with which I would like your help. When I am with friends in a restaurant and friends of theirs come to our table and speak to them, and I am not introduced, what ought I do? It is most embarrassing and yet happens quite often."

Answer: You would stand up if one of them is a woman, but remain seated if they are men. You, of course, answer if you are spoken to, otherwise assume the part of a tranquil observer.

Dear Mrs. Post: I've been wondering when Esq. should be used after a man's name. I am secretary to a man who wants to add it to practically every letter we write, these letters in most cases being addressed to men's offices.

I had the impression that one used this suffix only in social messages. Will you enlighten me?

Answer: Literally John Smith, Esq. means John Smith, Gentleman. Originally is was used for the youngest sons of the nobility; later also for the graduates of universities particularly men in the professions—lawyers, inventors, architects, etc.

It is the most formal address of courtesy, especially suitable when sending a personal letter to a man of distinction.

As a matter of fact, its use is more British than American—also more typical of yesterday than today. It is not correct for business correspondence. (But you, of course, must do as your employer directs.)

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it improper for a girl who is marrying for the first time to have a big wedding with bridesmaids and wedding finery when it is the bridegroom's second venture? He is a widower.

Answer: It is entirely proper that the bride have as big a wedding as she pleases. However, if he is marrying only a short time after the death of his first wife, a conspicuously large and elaborate wedding would be criticized.

Girl Afraid of Being Hurt for Second Time, so She Shies Away From Boy

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

With some girls the plateau of pain is pretty high. Meaning they can take without a quiver the things that lay some other gals low.

They've been allowed as kids to fall out of bed without blaming the bed for being nasty and mean. They've bumped their heads on tables and instead of knocking the tables over, they've rubbed the spot and vowed to look sharper next time. They're girls who've taken one little hurt after another in succession and schooled themselves to howl over only major catastrophies.

The girls who are laid low easily never learned at all what it is to be brave. They bay as loud over a splinter as over splints on a broken leg.

Such girls are afraid of pain. They can't tell the difference between major and minor hurts. They don't know how to grit their teeth and forget it. Everything is monumentally serious.

And most especially the hurts in love. Boy friends let hem down—and all they can see is their own misery. Which woe they take so seriously they can't snap out of it. Makes them scared of being hurt again.

Here's a girl who admits it quite frankly. She writes:

Dear Miss Woodward: Last summer I fell in love—we went together for quite a few weeks, then he just stopped seeing me. It hurt me very much because I found out he was going with another girl.

"I was just beginning to get over some of the hurt when we met again. He still acts the same toward me but doesn't say he loves me.

"I don't want to go on seeing him if he isn't serious about me, because I'm afraid I'll get hurt again. What can I do?"

A summer romance can flare rapidly into a fancy froth. The mood and the circumstances make it easy. But a fire that's quickly started can be doused quickly sometimes. A change in mood and circumstances will see to that. Our girl forgot that fact—she took it seriously.

And it crushed her to realize he cooled off before she was ready. She took that very personally. Some other girl was more attractive to him than she was. Her wounded pride, her jealous heart, her empty day dreams hurt her.

She's convinced that he did her a frightful wrong in leaving her holding the bag. Her affection for him is a selfish thing making her only aware of how she feels. When it is spurned, she's left clutching at emptiness.

So she's afraid to see him again. Afraid he'll do the same frightful thing to her again. Afraid she'll be stranded again.

A brave girl would look the situation straight in the face. She'd analyze how come they liked each other so fast at first. She'd figure out how deeply he could have cared so quickly—and she'd estimate the degree of convenience in carrying on through the fall.

She'd have recognized his right to date as he pleased without taking it as a mortal cut at herself personally. And she'd have shrugged philosophically when he dropped her. Seeing him again might be fun and it might not, she'd tell herself.

And if she decided for it, she'd date him with no strings attached. Fun for fun's sake—and that's all.

She'd prepare herself for a change of mood and circumtances and keep her eyes wide open. A second time around he couldn't stir up even a ripple if he vanished again.

But that's a brave girl. She doesn't hurt easily. She uses her head instead of cluttering up her life with hurting emotions.

Beads, Braid Accentuate New Cottons

Well-known designers have added their own inimitable "plush" touch to cotton date frocks with accents of pearls, sequins and rhinestones, swirls of braid and encrustations of embroidery.

Tucks, ruffles, appliques of lace and beads, and color contrast are other mediums used to give richness and formality to 1954 cotton designs.

One designer makes an applique of checked gingham which she swirls lace-like over a cotton chambray. With scoop neckline, covered shoulders and short, flared skirt this design follows the trend to a covered-up look.

A simple date sheath with wide shoulder neckline and covered shoulders in cotton chiffon is embroidered in white, dotted with rhinestones.

A short, date dress is made in cotton satin with organdie overlay, both fabrics being embroidered together. This dress needs no petticoat.

In the plush class is the long white dinner coat in matelasse pique, touched with gold braid.

Sculptured cottons in formal designs are given great formality by the addition of beading.

A white sheath worn with either a short fitted jacket, or a longer boxy jacket, is completely covered from neckline to hemline with chalk sequins. Clusters of gold and iridescent sequins pick up the sculptured pattern of a date frock.

Shorthand and Typing Are Big Help

By ANNE REYWOOD

There are thousands of women in the United States who want and need part-time jobs, and yet hardly more than a handful of employers have part-time openings.

Moreover, the number of such women is rapidly increasing.

More and more women find, when the children are in school, that they have time on their hands and that they need extra money. But most doors are closed. What can we do about this?

Well, first we must separate it into two separate problems. First, if you have to plan for a part-time job, if your children's chances for college depend on it or if your husband's retirement will require extra money, the most sensible thing you can do is learn shorthand and typing.

The good stenographer can always, in whatever locality, find a part-time job if she really tries.

Many businesses need part-time stenographers, many authors and professional people need them. A box number advertisement inserted in your local paper will almost always bring in offers.

So, instead of wailing at how few part-time jobs there are, master the one skill that is the most salable.

Second, do what you can to improve the conditions. Let your club interested in this fast-growing demand for part-time jobs.

See if you can't talk to businessmen in your locality, and see what you can do to open their doors to the part-time worker. The times are with you, and your club might instigate a campaign and find the resistance melting.

Just recently, for example, the New York state branch of United State Employment Service has opened a special department for part-time workers. There aren't a lot of jobs as yet, but the applicants were so numerous that a special department was opened.

The staff will do its best to get employers interested in hiring part-time workers, and my bet is that in a year or so conditions will have improved.

If you know of any interesting part-time jobs, or ideas on the subject in your community, do let me know about it. It may start some distant locality along lines that will be productive.

Dress With Casual Air Suits American Tastes

Claire McCardell's name is practically synonymous with the phrase "casual air," an attitude that most American women find admirably suited to their way of life.

Her dress today has exactly this temperament — from its standup horseshoe collar to its skirt, that is detailed in the front for a little bit of hip accent, to its slightly full swinginess in back.

For spring, it will be ideal in gabardine, or any of the lighter weight wools; for warmer weather, make it in linen or any cotton that has a certain amount of body.

Manners MAKE FRIENDS

Tactless remarks are usually made by persons who are more concerned with their own opinions than the feelings of others. Such people make so many flat statements that some of them are bound to be tactless.

As someone once said, "Tact teaches you when to be silent."

The Institute of Life Insurance says 55 per cent of American families now own their own homes.

U. S., Erin Cooperate on Linens

Dallas Designers Make Collections in Irish Fabric

When Dallas fashions go to Ireland that's news but when Ireland returns these fashions to the entire U. S., it's a scoop! The round trip has been made via the Dallas designers who have chosen Irish linen as the leading fabric in their resort collections.

Fashion editors were so impressed with the linens from Dallas that they actually flew them to their native Ireland to be photographed against the beautiful Irish landscapes and historic castles.

The editors described the fashions as "linens spun in Ireland and tailored halfway around the world, in Dallas, Texas. The beautiful grain, the flaxen coloring mark them as Ireland's own. The straight-forward lines are clearly American."

These Dallas-designed Irish linens include sportswear, separates, daytime dresses, suits, sunbacks and cocktail clothes for 'round the clock, sun-up to sundown and evening wear. All, of course, are crease-resistant, crisp and distinguished for the easy grace and the almost hand made look so natural to linen.

All are styled with imagination and with emphasis on the elegance richness and fine texture of the natural linen fibers. These Irish linens are a real contribution to this country's fashion picture and proof that Dallas is one of our leading fashion centers.

Being shown now for resort wear each and every one has been created to provide the American woman with a wardrobe of non-crushable Irish linens to carry her from the resort season through the summer in the most comfortable, easy-to-care-for and most fashion right fabric to be found.

Plastic Glosses Fabric Shoes

Just look at what they're doing now! They're putting a new plastic patent finish onto fabric, and making shoes out of it.

The good news is that these glossy shoes which look like patent leather are said to resist cracking, to withstand scuffing, and to be soap and water washable!

The first plastic patent fabric shoes are black but nice new colors are in the planning stage, so it probably won't be long before you can get any shade you want.

Mothers will be saying to their youngsters, "Now go wash your shoes and socks before you got to bed."

Fruit-Stained Linen

If there's a fruit stain on your best tablecloth, treat the stain before you wash the cloth. Pour boiling water through the stain from a height of 3 or 4 feet; do not use soap. For old stains, rub well with glycerine or a soapless shampoo; let stand for several hours, then treat with boiling water.

The average temperature of the sun is estimated at 10,000 degrees Fahrenheit.

Avoid Those Snags

Lotion on Hands and Feet Means Long Life to Hose

Do you always know what causes a run in your stockings? Chances are you do, because this mishap occurs usually when you are flanging up your hose, putting them away, putting them on or just running your rough little hand up and down them to see if there are any runs!

It is generally agreed that runs are caused by a snag rather than sudden deterioration of a new or moderately new nylon. Therefore, gentle handling with soft hands guiding the hose up a smooth leg will eliminate snags which result in runs.

The best way to guarantee snag-free hands and legs is frequent and generous use of a good lotion.

Other precautions that will help you get more wear — and more satisfaction — out of nylons:

1. Be sure to buy the proper size. A stocking that is too short will be stretched into a run. And one that is too long is very uncomfortable and sags untidily.

2. Buy three or more pairs in the same shade so that when one stocking wears out you can mate the remaining good one with one of the other stockings.

3. Be sure your shoes are smooth inside. Sometimes only slight roughness in the wrong spot can start a run. Watch for roughness especially if you wear rain or snow boots. A rough cuff is almost sure to start a run as the stocking is not reenforced where the cuff rubs it.

This is also a good place to be extra generous in applying skin balm for even the best boot tends to irritate or chap.

4. Never fasten the garter on the seam or on the sheer part of the stocking, always on the reenforced area to one side of the seam.

Separates Come in New Fabrics

The most significant thing about sportswear for the coming spring is the new category of street separates, a type that lies somewhere between the familiar ranks of dressy separates and spectator sportswear. In wools with fresh new faces — the wools over-dyed with floral prints, for example — in synthetics such as dacrons, and in flannels, these new separates can be assembled in a smart street costume suitable for church-going Easter morning.

The silhouette takes three directions. The waist—length fitted jacket with either full or slim skirt is first. The boxy jacket costume with perky printed cotton blouse and lining-to-match is another. The straight full length coat in an arresting fabric is the third.

Aerosol Sprays Save Worn Fur for Next Season

WILMINGTON, Del. (INS)—Ladies, if you want to make that fur coat do for another year or so, you might try aerosol sprays applied by your furrier.

If your coat looks a little faded or peaked from loss of sheen or color a number of different fur-care preparations are available.

But the manufacturers caution against their use by the housewife or fur coat owner.

They especially recommend an aerosol for restoring the lustrous color to faded grey Persian paw, natural and dyed grey kidskin, Indian lamb, and South American lamb furs.

This preparation actually dyes the fur, but requires the know-how of a professional furrier for best results in shading.

Several other aerosol products are specifically designed for restoring the sheen to older furs, without changing the color. These are reportedly useful on beaver, nutria, mink and almost all types of furs with the exception of white.

Fragile Nylon Lace Is Easy to Care for

Any woman who owns a nylon lace blouse has equal love for its fragile look and its easy upkeep. A quick swish through warm soapsuds after each wearing keeps it dainty and flower-like indefinitely.

Nylon lace needn't be ironed; for a special job, though, you can go over it with a cool iron, right side down, over a well-padded board. This makes the pattern stand out better.

Report New Chap-Proof Lipstick

Hooray! No more dry, parched lips! No more irritation that causes lips to feel so uncomfortable on cold, blustery days! For at last someone has done something about a condition we women have been complaining about for a long time!

This is the most welcome news since the first long-lasting, no-smear-type lipstick was introduced. And again the news is made by chemists who have just perfected a new, improved formula to protect your lips against dryness and irritation, even on coldest days!

Not only that, the new lipstick stays on longer than ever! Even more so than the original long-lasting lipstick which quickly became so popular. And the new texture is much creamier, but not a bit greasy.

Before the new, improved formula was introduced to the public, it was thoroughly tested for over a year by women all over the country, as well as in cold, cold Alaska and Canada.

Since way last winter, thousands of women known to have lips that were especially sensitive have been using the lipstick exclusively. These women were delighted; reported that, for the first time, their lips felt soft, smooth and comfortable—even on coldest days.

No Trick to Find Watch Designed to Fit His Taste

Spring fashion surveys are showing us that a man's wrist watch can be more than a trusty timepiece. Although a good watch is a treasured possession, no matter how out-of-date the styling, new designs are proving that watches are also handsome jewelry.

There are wafer-thin, sleekly designed watches for business and dress. Dial shapes and designs can be chosen to suit individual tastes, for they range from starkly tailored models to dressier styles with a hint of elegance in the detail of end-piece and bracelet design.

Mechanically, the most recent innovation is the self-winder. Activated by movements of the wearer's wrist, the watch keeps itself wound.

For sports and rugged duty, there are watches that are dust-resistant, water - resistant and shock-resistant. For formal wear, there are pocket watches.

Fashion reaches right into a man's pockets these days, spotlighting his accessories and offering a host of gift ideas: Watch charm, key ring, pen and pencil set in gold-filled or silver, wallet, gold-filled or silver pocket knife, cigarette case and lighter.

Hats Designed to Highlight Short Coiffeur

Feminine flattery registers as the major theme in spring millinery. Shallowness in crowns is developed, always with an eye toward maximum coiffure display. The continuing popularity of the short hairdo, mainly the Italian coiffure and its many variations, has influenced these developments.

Brims appear on almost all hats. They vary from the merest hint on a pillbox to large brims on cartwheels, plateaus and bretons.

Watteau shapes are also major contenders for fashion honors. These forward-posed, flower-trimmed hats express ladylike charm. Watteau styles vary from the tiniest shapes to larger plateau types, all kept comfortably in place by decorative wired grippers.

Profiles have a new look, characterized by shallow crowns, back of head pose and deep dipping draped sides. Oval shapes with profile angles highlight brims smaller on one side and larger on the other for new effects. This is believed to be the important incoming look for spring.

Pert, young sailors form one of the most important categories. New ways with sailors are expressed in peaked brims, square or rippled effects, new front lifts or turnbacks, and triangular-shaped brims.

Couple to Live Here After Trip South

Planning a southern honeymoon are Dr. and Mrs. Robert James Fairbrother, who were married this morning in St. Joseph Church.

The bride, the former Laurenea Beatrice Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Thompson of St. Catherine's, Ont., chose a gown of imported French lace and tulle over satin. A Queen Anne collar highlighted the lace bodice, and the skirt was composed of tiers of fluted tulle inserted with lace, falling into a chapel train.

A lace cap held her lace and tulle veil, and she wore pearl earrings and necklace. A white orchid on a prayerbook formed her bouquet.

Mrs. Elmer Kretsch was matron of honor, and bridesmaids were Eileen Thompson, the bride's sister, and Helen Paddock of Hespeler, Ont. Mary Hickingbottom was flower girl.

Mr. Kretsch was best man, and groomsmen were Lewis Fairbrother, the bridegroom's cousin, and John Lauinger. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Francis Fairbrother of North Cass avenue and the late Mr. Fairbrother.

A breakfast at Caribou Inn, Clarkston, followed the ceremony, after which the new Mrs. Fairbrother changed to a pink wool crepe dress with black and gray accessories for the wedding trip south. On their return they will reside on North Cass avenue.

Dr. Fairbrother is a graduate of Palmer School of Chiropractic, and his bride was graduated from Guelph General Hospital School of Nursing in Guelph, Ont.

Children All Love Baking Party

DALLAS, Tex. (INS)—Here's a sticky but very enjoyable game that your small daughter will love.

Mrs. Max Fagg of Dallas, at a loss for something new to celebrate four-year-old Marilyn's birthday, decided upon a cookie-baking party.

Three and four-year-old boys and girls rolled, cut and decorated cookies. And if that sounds like something you wouldn't want to clean up after, think of what ice cream and cake can do to your best carpet in the living or dining room.

Mrs. Fagg declared the party was a spectacular success — the small guests ate their own confections (most of it before it ever went into the oven) and took home their plastic play aprons as favors.

Brush Cuticle

Keep your cuticles soft by scrubbing daily with a suday brush. Occasionally massage both nails and cuticles with a paste made of soap and a few drops of salad oil.

Among the passengers who sailed for Honolulu aboard the SS Lurline from San Francisco on Feb. 8 were Mr. and Mrs. Norman Burns of Commerce Road.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Grinnell of Birmingham have been guests at the Royal Hawaiian Hotel at Waikiki since their arrival on the SS Lurline Jan. 21.

Two-Car Family Quite Common in U.S. Today

How many American families do you think own more than one car? Two per cent, five per cent, 10 per cent? It's even more.

The two-car family is a phenomenon of our time.

It results from such causes as accelerated automobile travel, better cars, an improved standard of living and increases in the number of women drivers.

Current statistics show that 13 per cent of all automobile owning families have two cars.

It's a matter of record that the increased number of women sitting competently behind the wheel has been largely responsible for making this event possible. Out of the nation's 65,000,000 licensed drivers, approximately one-third are women. These distaff drivers have increased immeasurably the uses to which the family car is put. In many families, it has made two cars not just a luxury — but a household necessity.

The two-car garage of today contains a "family car," which may be quite new and expensive, and a "second car," quite possibly tagged for the exclusive use of either the wife or the husband.

The woman motorist has many uses for a car of her own, and they are all important in family living. She drives to go shopping and marketing, to take the children to school and to visit the doctor. If she lives in a suburb, she drives her husband to and from his commuting train. Actually, suburban living has been made possible and easy for thousands of families largely because of the woman who drives.

The ranks of two-car families are growing daily. Two cars provide comfort and convenience for the whole family, but, even more important, I think, is the added freedom they afford the woman of the house.

Hobby 2nd Woman to Get Cabinet Post

The first woman cabinet member was Frances Perkins. She was secretary of labor during Franklin D. Roosevelt's terms as president.

Oveta Culp Hobby became the second feminine member of the cabinet when the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare was established under the Eisenhower administration.

Harmony With Diamonds

Gold Colors Flatter Most

In this country, the woman jewelry designer, Marianne Ostier, is copying old Spanish lace in gold wirework and pierced work "sugared" all over with small stones.

The advantages of gold with diamonds are multiple, aside from fashion change, especially for older women. Mrs. Ostier declares:

"Gold colors are more flattering than silver colors to most skins. Unless a woman is very dark and wants diamond and platinum jewelry to make her skin appear lighter, gold has the most becoming cast.

"Especially as we grow older and the skin takes on ivory or cream tones, we sometimes need to change our jewelry. Gold bracelets look prettier than white ones on the arm that is 'well-seasoned' by time or the sun or both."

Color of the hair is another key to buying gold and diamonds or having diamonds remounted in gold. The definitely white-haired woman will always find platinum-set jewels become her best, when worn near the hair in earrings and necklaces.

The blond of rather indefinite age should use burnished or engraved or pierced gold, probably of 14-karat color, in preference to highly-polished bright yellow gold.

A cheerful word on the side of cost and investment is this: Diamonds of less than the whitest-white perfection can be made up into distinguished pieces when gold is used.

Back-to-the-Bum Influence Seen for Beachwear

NEW YORK (INS)—It's the tattered torso that will be chic on the beach this summer.

That's the off-beat prediction of several high-style sportswear makers, who are designing clever—but definitely crazy-man—sport ensembles.

Such as: Shirts made of giddy colored cotton patches; beach jackets and matching shorts with jagged, ripped-looking hemlines; pedal pushers and slacks in hobo fabrics such as hopsacking, and fancy skirts fashioned of what appear to be gypsy bandannas.

The new, back-to-bum influence is hard to explain, but it may stem from the fact that in the last year fashion has been too elegant, what with the coronation setting a new high in formal wear.

Whatever the cause, it's a fascinating trend. . . .

What price burlap!

Regularly Clean and Oil Sewing Machine Parts

ITHACA, N. Y. (INS)—Sewing machines need regular cleaning and oiling, after every 15 to 25 hours of actual sewing time.

To do the job, you need a soft brush, and cleaning fluid and oil made especially for sewing machines.

Remove the needle and bobbin, then the throat plate and the face plate, so that some of the working parts are exposed. Use a small, soft paint brush to remove all the left over dust and lint. Try an orangewood stick to reach the corners where a brush won't fit.

If you notice that the oil seems hard and gummy, scrub the parts with the brush and cleaning fluid. A special cleaning fluid for sewing machines can be bought at gasoline stations, but remember to use it carefully — it's inflammable. After cleaning, run the machine until all the hardened oil becomes loose. Before you allow the machine to dry, wipe off any remaining dirt and cleaning fluid.

Next, oil the machine at points outlined in the manufacturer's instruction book. You'll need to use plenty of oil, especially after working with cleaning fluid. Be careful that you use oil especially intended for sewing machines, for general purpose oils often cause gummy deposits.

Madonna Stamp Proposed to Mark Marian Year

By Religious News Service

WASHINGTON, D. C. —A proposal that a Madonna stamp be issued on Mother's Day this year to honor American motherhood and to mark observance of the Marian Year has been made to Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn) told the Senate that he has received many resolutions from Minnesotans asking for such a special postage stamp.

"The symbol of Mary is, indeed, the noblest and sublimest espression of the true meaning of the dignity of motherhood," he said.

Dayton Studies Christian Action

Laymen Are Trying to Promote Principles in Everyday Life

By Religious News Service

DAYTON, Ohio — More than a hundred Dayton business, professional and civic leaders met here to determine how they can put Christian beliefs to work seven days of the week.

Dr. D. Elton Trueblood of Earlham College, Richmond, Ind., set the stage for "The Christian and His Daily Work" theme.

"We are on the verge of a new revolution — a movement which is sweeping the country," he said. "It hinges on three facts:

"First, that we cannot have a better world unless the Christian religion is more deeply imbedded in its life.

"Second, that this cannot happen unless the laity accepts its part in the Christian ministry.

"And third, that we laymen cannot accept our part in carrying Christianity unless we are fully dedicated to the task."

The delegates were divided into 10 occupational groups which reported their findings at a general session.

Four Dayton judges belonged to the group on the legal profession which decided, among other things, that "we, as Christians, owe every client the right to an honorable defense — even though his cause may be on the unpopular side."

Men of the technical professions came to the conclusion that "the more we study the universe, the more we are convinced there is a Creator."

The sales and service group agreed:

"A Christian salesman should practice honesty in all dealings."

Members of the employe group said they felt that 'always acting in simple good faith with the boss" was the basis of Christian conduct on the job.

Next door, the bosses were agreeing that "a Christian employer will help his employes find themselves occupationally and get ahead."

"He will also use public prayer whenever advisable in his meetings and be guided in all his actions by God's will," the employers added.

Union conferees admitted that "labor leaders don't always exert a Christian influence in their negotiations with management—and vice versa."

Doctors in the health service group said, "A physician's prayers should emphasize a plea for guidance in understanding His will."

Government employes, including representatives from Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, the post office and city offices, weighed these problems:

How do you hold your temper in the face of unreasonable complaints? How should you treat pressure groups? What should you say or do to the employe who is not doing a good job?"

Sunday Sermonette

THE DISLIKED PHOTOGRAPH

Most people do not like their photographs or portraits, and they blame the photographer or artist for what they consider his lack of skill.

In many cases, however, the picture reveals the person as he actually looks. The person himself thinks he is more appealing, stronger and kindlier than the picture makes him out to be, and so he believes it doesn't do him justice.

Granted, the picture doesn't portray the ideal person inside the subject; it doesn't reveal him as he could and should be, but as he is.

Therefore, when a man criticizes the artist or photogropher, he is really finding fault with himself for not fulfilling his own possibilities.

Everyone has a vision of himself as the person he'd like to be and feels he ought to be.

James Barrie one said that every man writes two diaries—one of his days as he actually lives them, the other of his days as he knows he could and should live them.

Phillips Brooks put it even more trenchantly:

"The ideal life is in our blood, and will not be still."

Appeals for Lenten Abstinence Pledges

By Religious News Service

TORONTO—A Lenten appeal for 500,000 persons to sign pledges to abstain from alcoholic beverages will be made by the United Church of Canada's board of evangelism and social service, it was announced here.

The board said 200,000 members of the Church had already signified support of its temperance policy by signing "declaration of purpose" cards or forms used by congregations as groups.

Describing increasing consumption of alcohol as "a serious problem," the board said that 4,000,000 Canadians use it as a beverage. (A recent report by the Ontario Alcohol Research Foundation set the figure at 6,000,000).

United Church ministers have been provided with material outlining the temperance policy adopted by the Church's general council which stresses that liberty of conscience is recognized in the matter.

Raps Churches' Failure to Lead in Racial Issues

By Religious News Service

CHICAGO—Churches and schools were criticized by a Lutheran editor here for permitting "secular institutions" to take the lead in creating better race relations.

"It is a sad state of affairs when the church and the academic world have to look to the armed forces, to labor unions, and to organized athletics for guidance and direction in the matter of race relations," said John H. Strietelmeier, managing editor of the Cresset.

The Cresset is a monthly magazine published by Valparaiso (Ind.) University, where Mr. Strietelmeier is a geography professor. He spoke at a meeting of the Chicago Lutheran Society for Better Human Relations.

Church Women Set Prayer Day

Will Join Together in Asking for Peace on March Fifth

Church women in this area will join in prayer for peace on March 5, the first Friday in Lent. Women from 20,000 other U. S. communities and in more than 100 countries will participate.

This observance dates back to 1887 when Mrs. Darwin R. James, president of the Women's Board of Home Missions of the Presbyterian Church called upon all Presbyterian women to get together in their separate communities on a special day for prayers for home missions.

In the early 90s, under the leadership of two Baptist women, Mrs. Henry W. Peabody and Mrs. Helen B. Montgomery, a day was designated for Bpatist women to pray for foreign missions.

For many years different denominations had separate days for prayer and in 1919 the united to observe the same day. In 1920 Canadian churches united with them and the first Friday in Lent was chosen for the annual observance.

Missionaries carried word of this special day to foreign countries and in 1927, it became a World Day of Prayer.

Presbyterians Observing Anniversary This Week

The First Presbyterian Church observes its 130th Anniversary this week, with special services Sunday and an anniversary banquet Wednesday evening.

Dr. William H. Marbach will preach Sunday morning on the subject: "Our Church — Yesterday, Today, Tomorrow." The Tuxis Society invites all the young people of the church and their adult friends to an anniversary program under the direction of Duncan McVean, followed by an informal tea made possible by the Women's Association.

The anniversary banquet Wednesday evening will feature an historical play written and presented by the junior department of the church.

The Pontiac Presbyterian congregation was organized February 26, 1824 in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Voorheis. The house still stands on Opdyke road near the Grand Trunk railroad. The organization was effected by Eldad W. Goodman, a missionary.

All the early pastors were representatives of the American Home Missionary Society. The first pastor received a salary of $300 of which $25 was provided by the local congregation and the rest by Presbyterians in the East.

The Pontiac Presbyterian Church together with the First Presbyterian Church of Detroit and the Farmington Presbyterian Church organized the Presbytery of Detroit in 1828.

For a period during the 1830's the Presbyterian congregation worshiped in Auburn, now Auburn Heights, while members who preferred the congregational form of government together with others who found the distance to Auburn inconvenient organized the First Congregational Church of Pontiac. Isaac Ruggles was the first pastor of the Presbyterian Church and later returned to Pontiac to become the first pastor of the Congregational Church.

First Presbyterian Church has ministered in Pontiac without interruption since 1842. The first sanctuary, a brick structure 40 by 70 feet, was erected in 1844 at Saginaw and Huron streets.

The second sanctuary of the congregation was erected in 1871 at the present location at Huron and Wayne. This building was damaged by fire in 1914 and was razed in 1917. A basement church was completed in 1918 and the entire building was dedicated in 1924 in the 100th anniversary year.

Twenty-six pastors have served the Pontiac Presbyterian Church. The present pastor, the Rev. William H. Marbach, D. D., has served for 23 years.

The present membership of the church exceeds 1,200. The Church School enrollment is 600. Youth groups include the Pathfinders and Pioneers for junior high age people, and the Tuxis Society for high school and post-high school youth. The Women's Association enrolls over 400 active members, and the Men's Club enlists the active interest of well over 100 men. The choir is directed by Lyndon Salathiel, who also is organist.

During the last year the First Presbyterian Church and its auxiliary organizations have contributed $50,910 for current expenses and $20,073 for benevolent and missionary service.

Drop Apologies Laymen Told

Prexy Urges Episcopal Laity to Speak Strongly for Religion

By Religious News Service

RICHMOND, Va.—The greatest weakness of the church today is the apologetic tone too often taken toward religion, a college president told a conference of Episcopal laymen of the Virginia Diocese here.

Dr. Clark G. Kuebler, president of Ripon College, Ripon, Wis., said laymen are too reserved in trying to bring people into the church.

"The biggest inescapable responsibility, not of the clergy, but of the laity, is that of witnessing," he declared. "The gospel is still the only good news for the world even today."

Dr. Kuebler said that people have been "ineffectual in representing the church because of the past 25 years it has been a fashion to have no convictions." Even those who have religious convictions sometimes are afraid to express them, he added.

The college head said, however, that he sensed an increasing vitality in religious meetings.

Two young Episcopal clergymen in Sturgeon Bay, Wis., built a new church on a $10,000 budget through the use of volunteer labor—other priests.

291-YEAR-OLD BIBLE—Margaret Brower of Lansing is holding a 291-year-old Bible. The Bible, owned by the Brower family, was printed in 1662 in Dordrecht, The Netherlands, in the Dutch language. It contains a map of the world as European cartographers knew it. This Bible was brought out when the American Bible Society announced that the oldest entered in its contest was printed in 1687.

Social Welfare Leader Tells of Progress That Belgium Is Making

By LULA B. OGDEN

"Belgium has been so busy taking care of the mass needs of her people, such as food, clothing and shelter, that social workers until now have been unable to enter into the more specialized fields," observed the Rev. Swithun Bowers of Ottawa, Ont.

Father Bowers is director of the School of Social Welfare of St. Patrick College, a branch of Ottawa University. He returned in December after three months in Belgium as technical advisor under the Technical Assistance Administration of the United Nations.

He was sent there to help incorporate the methods used in American social work in the training of their social workers, and especially the more specialized projects such as family counseling.

Father Bowers was in Pontiac two days this week supervising and counseling with the two students from his college who are doing clinical work at the local Catholic Family Center, directed by Pthe Rev. John Trese, Leon Messenger, a member of the local staff, is a graduate of St. Patrick's.

"It is a compliment to the local center, for St. Patrick requires a high standard of practice in order to be used as a clinic," Father Bowers said.

During the father's stay in Belgium, he worked with approximately 1,500 educators in various seminars. These came from 34 different schools in 10 countries, one from behind the Iron Curtain in the Russian zone of Berlin.

"Belgians have gone a long way in such welfare projects as food, clothing and shelter. In fact they have one of the best low income housing projects I have ever seen. It was developed by a trade union under the leadership of an expert," he said.

Born in England, Father Bowers received part of his education at Columbia University, and has spent 26 years in Canada.

Catholics Ordain Native African Auxiliary Bishop

By Religious News Service

CALABAR, Nigeria—A native African ordained a Roman Catholic priest only seven years ago was consecrated Auxiliary Bishop of Calabar in ceremonies here.

Bishop Dominic Ekandem was 30 years old when, in 1947, he became the first native priest in the Calabar-Ogaja area, then a mission field of the Irish Missionary Society of St. Patrick of which his superior, Bishop James Moynagh of Calabar, is a member.

At the consecration ceremony, Bishop Ekandem was presented with an amethyst-studded gold Pectoral Cross of unusual Celtic design sent from Ireland as the special gift of Ulster Catholics.

Calabar was elevated to the status of a diocese in 1950 when Pope Pius XII established a Catholic hierarchy in British West Africa. It is a Suffragan See of the Archdiocese of Onitsa.

The geographic center of the North American continent is near Rugby, N. D.

Confident Living

Tension Will Disappear If You Put Faith to Work

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

One day not long ago, I went to Philadelphia for a meeting of a board of which I am a member. I took a train that should have brought me to the station there just in time to get to my meeting. Unfortunately it was late, and I came dashing out of the station looking for a taxi in quite a hurry.

DR. PEALE

I started for the first cab in line, but someone else got there first. I dashed for the second, and again a man got in right in front of me. Finally, I managed to get into the third and sank into the back seat half-exhausted.

"Where to?" asked the driver.

I told him.

"Are you in a hurry to get there?"

"Oh, yes," I told him. "I have to get to a meeting and I'm late."

"You're puffing," he reminded me. "You shouldn't puff that way. A man your age ought to take it easy."

I was surprised and a bit indignant. "What do you mean? A man my age! What's the matter with my age? I'm practically a youngster."

"You don't want to kill yourself getting to that meeting. Nothing can be that important. Easy does it, you know."

I thought for a minute and said, "I guess you're right — it isn't that important."

"Well, don't worry," he told me. "We'll get you to that meeting all right."

We started off and he kept talking all the time. "You know," he said, "there's a minister who writes a column in the paper here every Sunday. He says that this hectic driving of yourself and being in a hurry all the time is what gets people sick."

Then he went on and quoted to me everything I had said in my last column. You can be sure that, when I got out of the cab and paid him, I tried to keep my face turned away. I don't know whether he had ever seen a picture of me, but, believe me, that was one time I didn't want to be recognized.

I went upstairs to my meeting and found that they were still reading the minutes of the last meeting, something not very important. I could have been even five minutes later and it wouldn't have mattered a bit.

I decided to practice what I preach a bit better. I certainly try to do that and there are times when I am reminded quite forcefully of just how important this is. Just this month I have lost three of my best friends. They died of high blood pressure, high tempo, heart trouble. And only today I had a letter from the wife of another friend who has just been offered a wonderful new job. Tragically enough, he can't accept it because he has developed heart trouble.

"I wish you could tell me what's wrong with him," his wife writes, "He is so excited and tense all the time. Maybe now he will have to be quiet for a while and get the healing peace of God back into his life."

A great doctor comes into a sickroom, no matter how bad the case may be, he must come in bringing poise and quiet confidence. He must not be apprehensive, or at least he must not show it. He must regard himself as master of the situation; he must meet every variable in the situation with composure. And the way a doctor lives is the way that we all must live."

The best rule for living without tension is to practice confidence in your religious faith. Each day do the best of which you are capable. Practice doing it quietly, calmly and easily. Leave the results to God, casting all your care upon Him. I'm not going to rush any more. I appreciate the lesson I learned from that Phialdelphia taxi driver.

Vet Groups Pay Tribute to Catholic Chaplain

By Religous News Service

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Veterans groups joined in paying tribute to the Rev. Emil J. Kapaun, Roman Catholic chaplain from Kansas who died in a North Korean prison camp.

Father Kapaun posthumorously was awarded the Reserve Officers Association "Four Chaplains Award," in a ceremony at National Memorial Park in nearby Falls Church, Va.

Color guards from the Third Army and representatives of some 50 veterans groups participated in the ceremony, which was staged at the park's Four Chaplains Memorial, dedicated to the four Army chaplains who died heroically together in the sinking of the troopship Dorchester in World War II.

Baptist Named Associate to Four Chaplains Chapel

By Religious News Service

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The Rev. Walter H. White, an American Baptist Convention minister, has been named associate chaplain of the Chapel of the Four Chaplains in Philadelphia, the Navy Department announced here.

The announcement corrected an earlier Navy Department release which said Dr. White had succeeded Dr. Daniel A. Poling as chaplain of the chapel. It stressed that Dr. Poling, the chapel's founder and father of one of the four men it honors, still holds that post.

90 Coeds Attend Meeting on Religious Vocations

NEW YORK—Ninety coeds from 50 colleges and universities in eastern and southern states attended the second annual Conference on Religious Vocations for College Women at Union Theological Seminary here.

The conference was instituted last year to aid college women who plan to enter religious vocations but have not selected their particular field and those who have not decided upon a profession and want more information about religious vocations.

Theme of this year's conference was "Religion's Answer to a World that Challenges the Gospel."

Civil War Restrictions Eased for Malayans

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaya (AP)—Gen. Sir Gerald Templer eased the burden of civil war restrictions on 341,000 more Malayans today. He did this by widening Malaya's "white zones," further limiting the area ruled under severe emergency measures instituted to cope with the rebellion of Communist - led guerrillas.

Kentucky Cave May Be Longest

Explorers Find Crystal Near Mammoth to Be Endless So Far

CRYSTAL CAVE, Ky. (AP)—Explorers today called Crystal Cave in southern Kentucky an "underground monster" that may be the longest cave in the world.

Members of the National Speleological (cave study) Society, who will come to the surface today after exploring Crystal Cave a week, said they feel convinced it will prove to be bigger than Mammoth Cave.

The entrances of the two caves are just four miles apart in the Mammoth Cave National Park area. Mammoth Cave now holds the title of the world's longest cave.

Neither of the caves are yet fully explored. But Thomas C. Barr Jr., Nashville, Tenn., a geologist, pointed to a theory first expressed in 1928 by Armin K. Lobeck, New York.

Barr said Lobeck, a prominent geologist, holds that a comparison of surface formations shows that Flint Ridge over Crystal cave indicates it is the longer cave.

One exploring party reported, "the more cave we found, the more leads we got, and the more endless the cavern became."

They said they stumbled into a "lost paradise" of canyons where coral, fossils, and shells were inlaid in wide streaks across cave walls.

Oscar Award Nominations a Bit Confused

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Random notes on the Academy nominations.

The classification of "supporting actor" remains as confused as ever. The height of confusion was reached in 1944, when Barry Fitzgerald was nominated both as star and supporting player in "Going My Way."

There was a big clamor to clarify the question of when an actor stops being merely a support and becomes the star of the picture. This yardstick was offered: If a performer's name is billed above the title of the picture, he is a star. Yet Frank Sinatra and Donna Reed had star billing in "From Here to Eternity," and both were nominated in the supporting category.

On the other hand, Victor Mature played a definitely supporting role in "The Robe," yet he was classified as a star in the voting. That's why he didn't get a mention. He would have been a cinch for a nomination in the spporting classification.

Politics often plays a role in this matter. A studio will drop a star into the supporting list for the voting if it appears that the actor would have a better chance in the less competitive race. . . .

It looks like another absentee year among the top winners. Last year Shirley Booth got her Oscar in New York, and Gary Cooper was in Mexico. This year Leslie Caron, Audrey Hepburn and Deborah Kerr are all in plays in the East. Ava Gardner is making a film in Europe, and Maggie McNamara is in New York.

William Holden may be the only star nominee present. Of the other males, Burt Lancaster will be making a movie in Mexico, and Richard Burton is playing on the stage in England. Montgomery Clift will probably remain in New York, and Marlon Brando—well, your guess is as good as 20th Century-Fox's. The studio has been looking for him for weeks. . . .

Guatemala Laborite Resents Charges

GUATEMALA (AP)—Labor leader Victor Manuel Gutierrez says Guatemala does not intend to "sit in the dock of the accused" at the Inter-American Conference opening March 6 in Caracas.

Addressing a national farm workers congress here last night, Gutierrez charged President Jacobo Arbenz' Red-tinged government is the target of a U.S.-inspired international conspiracy aimed at converting Guatemala into "another colony of the imperialistic monopolies."

Indian Troops Depart Korea Without Incident

SEOUL (AP)—More than 1,300 Indian soldiers sailed from Inchon for home today aboard the transport Jalagopal.

The troops which helped guard more than 22,000 unrepatriated war prisoners in Korea's neutral zone, made the 60-mile train trip from Panmunjom to Inchon without incident.

American tanks and infantrymen guarded the route. South Korea's provost marshal had threatened to block the departure of Indian troops.

Private Point Provides Ideal Home Site for Gil Every's Family at Maceday Lake

By HAZEL A. TRUMBLE

The Gil Everys had a private point jutting out into Maceday Lake, at 3551 Dorothy Lane, on which to locate their new contemporary beige brick home.

Designed by Leo Heenan, Pontiac architect, wide windows have been placed so the four seasons and their everchanging scenes can be part of the interior decor giving the Every home an indoor-outdoor atmosphere at all times.

By building into the lakeside hill, a long sloping lawn reaches down to a natural beach. Full-grown oak trees were retained to give plenty of summertime shade.

Coming up from the lake the flagstone patio leads into a large recreation room where the family has its ping-pong table and walls lined with hobby cabinets.

Green, not only the Every's outdoor favorite color, but their choice for inside, too, is used generously throughout the house.

From the roadside it appears to be one-story but from the lake the two-stories are visible.

In the living room one wall is of Tennessee ledgerock with the fireplace located here. At the other and are built-in birch bookcases. Windows are placed so that two sides of the room overlooking the lake are all glass.

Green walls and soft beige draperies are highlighted with a pair of bright red velveteen chairs for additional color notes.

The same green runs into the dining room for wall coloring with a still lighter shade in metallic threaded mesh used for the draperies.

A short wall houses a built-in birch china cabinet. The partial separator lining the entrance hall area and the dining room is a planter. Maple furniture in warm honey tones has been selected by Mrs. Every for this room.

A gay papered soffit in the kitchen gives the color key for this room. Pale yellow walls, with green formica counter tops and a plaid papered ceiling are part of the kitchen decor.

Cafe curtains in pale yellow and brown prints frame the kitchen windows. Cupboards are white metal with a double stainless steel sink part of the kitchen equipment.

A small family office-den is also in green with an unusual closet arranged over the basement stairs giving storage space for bags and boxes.

Young daughter Libby's bedroom has built-in birch bunk beds.

"They certainly save floor space," commented Mrs. Every.

One wall of Libby's room is papered in a minute floral printed paper with yellow background. The chintz curtains are in the same print, a built-in window seat opens up to reveal storage facilities.

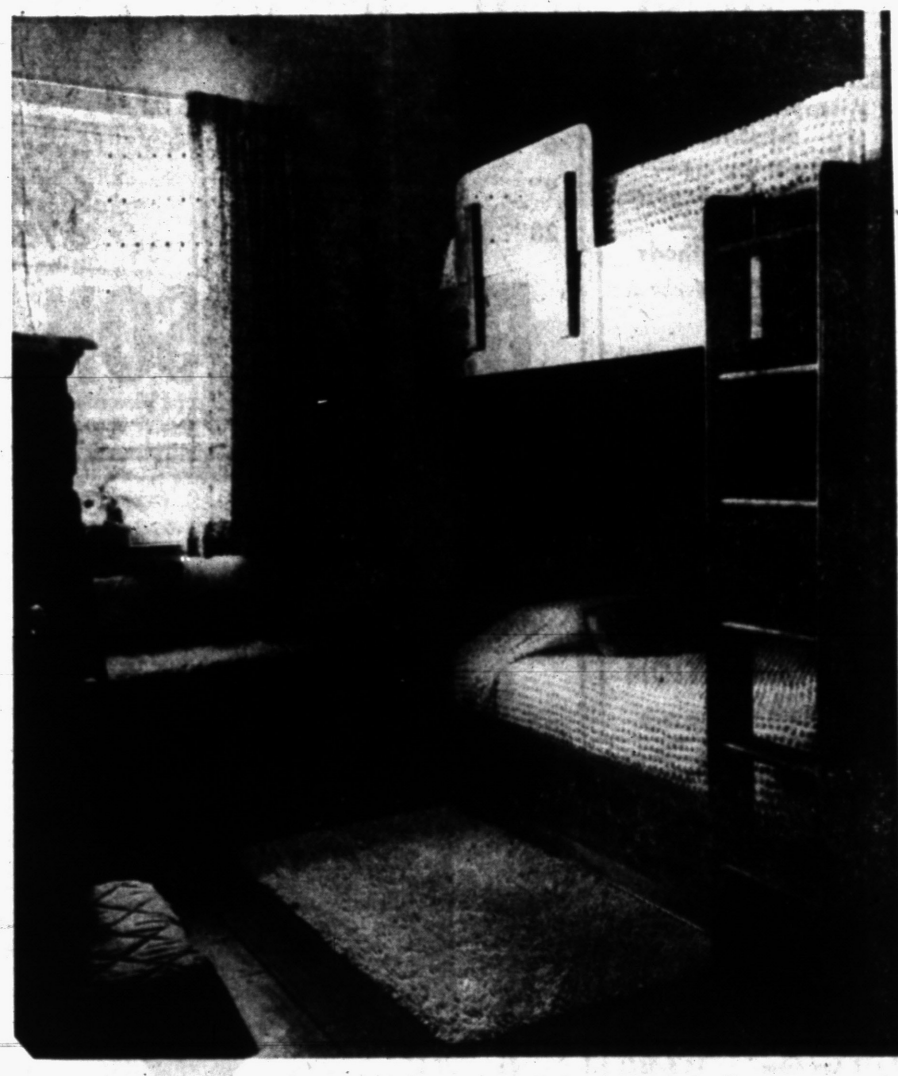
The family son, David who is now with the U. S. troops in Korea, has a bedroom with the same built-in features. His wallpaper has several different breeds of dog heads printed on cocoa background. Both of these bedroom floors feature pegged effect plank linoleum.

The master bedroom boasts of twin built-in closets with a chest recessed between the two. Rose floral print is used for the walls with a soft green drapery picking up the leaf color.

All marble sills are installed throughout the house.

Mr. Every served as his own contractor for the house.

HOME OVERLOOKS MACEDAY LAKE—Located on a point that juts out into Maceday Lake, the Gil Everys, at 3551 Dorothy Lane, have a contemporary home with a full lakeside view. Designed by Leo Heenan, Pontiac architect, the beige brick house features a two-story plan from the lake but from the roadside appears to be a one-story. On the lower floor is a large recreation room. The first story includes a living room, dining room, kitchen, three bedrooms and bath as well as a combination office-den. By placing the house on the ledge of the hill, they were able to save the full-grown oak trees which provide summertime shade.



BUILT-IN BUNK BEDS SAVE SPACE—Birch, used throughout the house for woodwork and all doors, is employed in two bedrooms for built-in bunk beds. Daughter Libby selected aqua walls, with one wall in a tiny floral pattern, to match the printed chintz draperies at her windows. Built-ins, claims the Everys, save much floor space. A window seat conceals storage space beneath. Although the floor covering is a linoleum, it has a pegged plank floor effect. A recessed bookcase and radio cupboard are at the bed heads.

Basement Space Needed in Home

Storage, Utility Rooms Necessary Someplace in All Houses

A house without a basement must have basement facilities nevertheless.

Although studies have shown that a basement adds only a modest sum to the cost of the average house, many families think in terms of space to be cleaned and so eliminate the below-stairs facilities entirely.

This is practical only if substitute space is arranged for laundry, year-round storage, informal entertaining, and removal of wet and muddy clothes before entering the living quarters.

Here are some ideas:

1. Situate the laundry equipment in the kitchen. A few extra feet of floor-space will accommodate washer, dryer and ironer. Be sure that the walls and floor are waterproofed with material like tile that also is easy to clean.

2. An attached garage-utility room combination is an excellent idea, because it provides 12-month storage for garden tools, snow removal equipment, out-of-season clothes and toys.

3. Entrance halls may be surfaced in waterproof tile so that nobody brings the weather indoors. A particularly good idea is a tiled "mudroom" at the rear of the house where children, pets, and husbands who work on the car can enter first to clean up.

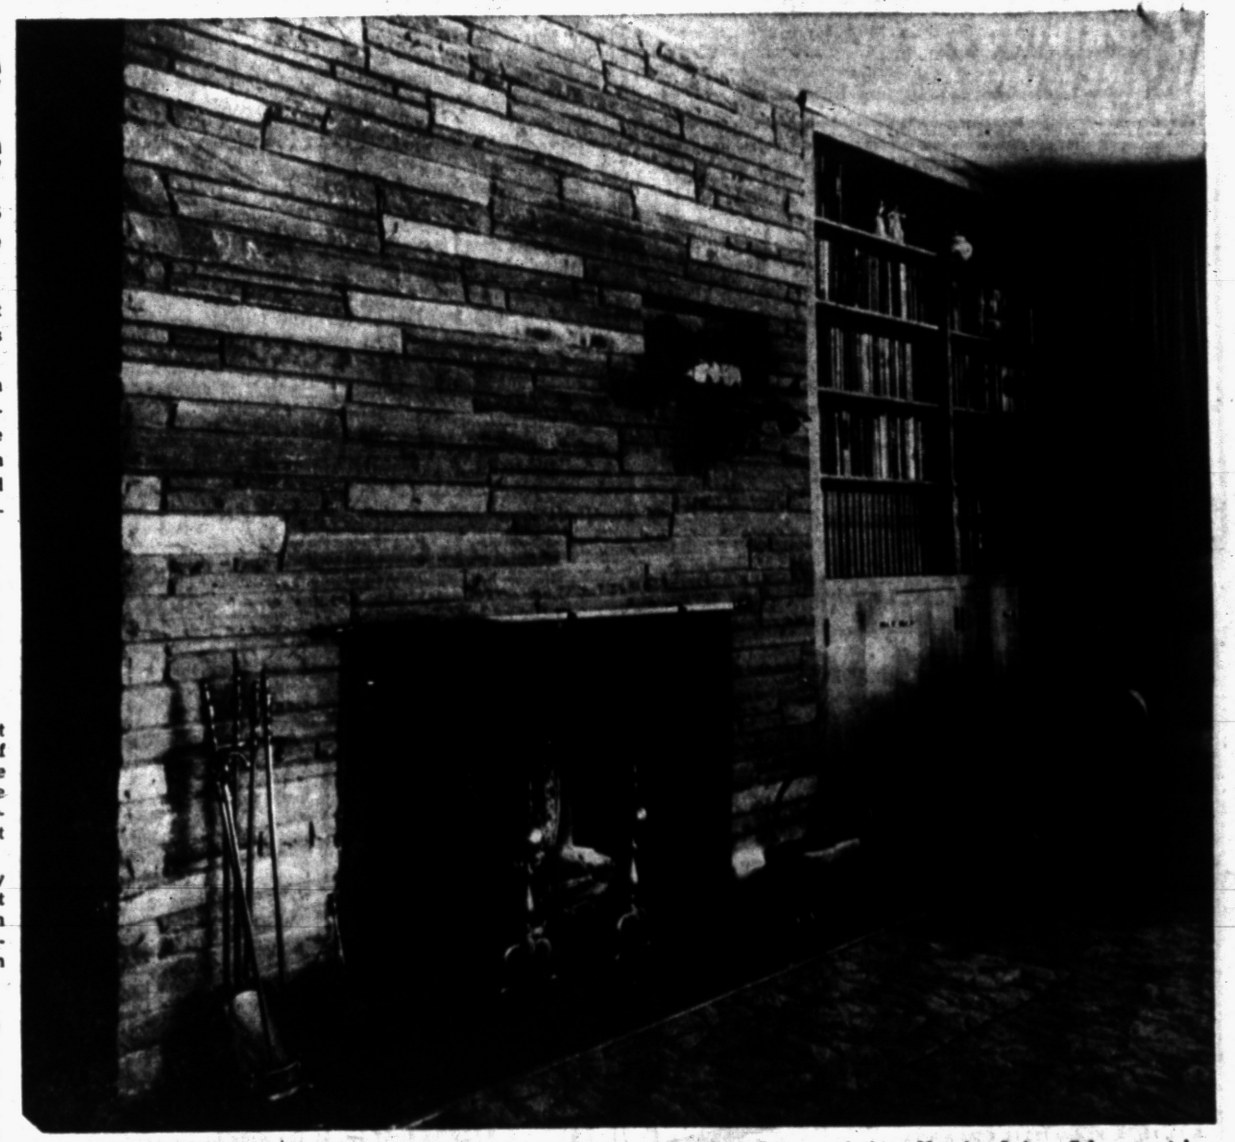
4. The problem of recreation facilities in a basementless house often can be solved by means of a multipurpose extra room, which triples in brass as a guest room, recreation center, and sewing room.

Because these main floor facilities do have to be added to make a home livable and efficient, there still are plenty of advocates of the basement. However, they do not mean the dank and cheerless quarters so familiar in older houses.



LEDGEROCK FIREPLACE IN LIVING ROOM—One wall in the Every living room has a full wall of Tennessee ledgerock with the fireplace housed in this unit. The far end contains built-in birch bookcases with cabinets beneath. Two walls of this living room are windows overlooking Maceday Lake. Colors are taken from nature's own palette in shades of green, beige and bright red. Flagstone forms the fireplace hearth and brass andirons and fixtures are placed here. Carpeting is sculptured in tones of green.

Weather-Beaten Timbers Set Off Furniture Display

By ELIZABETH HILLYER

For the walls, weathered timber in the silver gray produced by the sun, wind and rain on old buildings. For the floor, gray and white Florentine marble. These are the setting for T. H. Robsjohn-Gibbings' fifth collection of contemporary furniture based on American design sources, shown at the previews of new furniture in Grand Rapids last month.

Robsjohn-Gibbings, one of the great furniture designers of all time, creates interiors of equal importance, and the two together bedazzle the home furnishing world.

This year's use of the old wood began with the actual buying and tearing down of old farm buildings that had never been painted. The almost lustrous wood, always thought beautiful by artists, was carefully selected but left as it was, untouched by finish of any kind. It became the walls of sophisticated living rooms, dining rooms and bedrooms.

The dining room window wall is hung with white textured fabric. The living room has a huge skylight. Three scattered snow white rugs by Stanislav V'Soske are the only cover for the marble floors. Even small pillows are white.

Color other than gray and white and the wood, enters only in a few accessories. In fabrics, a pinstripe in deep red-and-white for the dining chairs and a cherry print designed by Robsjohn-Gibbings in the bedroom from the inspiration of the cherry industry in Holland, Mich.

Both fabrics are linen. Tulip engravings key a decorative theme in the living room and dining room inspired by the tulip festival in Holland.

The furniture itself shows a new characteristic curving leg which sweeps outward from the under side of tables and chairs. Silver is used, most lavishly on the table. The new bed is fitted with silver corners on the headboard and footboard and silver tips the edges of drawer pulls on night tables.

The sideboard style shown, which has a pedestal-like support rather than a base of legs, frames three doors in a slim projecting molding. The pedestal-like supports also appear on a service table and a lamp table.

The desk sketched is a marvel of grace and usefulness in small proportions. Side compartments open from the top and do not end with the apparent table top, but are deep enough to hold files.

Pontiac Press Photos

COLORFUL SOFFIT PROVIDES KITCHEN COLOR SCHEME—A gay country fair scene with predominant yellows, greens and reds gives the color key for the Every kitchen. Counter tops are in green formica; the floor covering is a spatter print linoleum in all the colors with a yellow background and the walls are in soft yellow. A double stainless steel sink is beneath windows overlooking the yard.

RECESSED CHINA CABINET DINING ROOM FEATURE—Glass door upper shelves have a birch cabinet bottom for this built-in china cabinet in the Every dining room. Furniture is in the honey toned maple. Draperies for this room are a soft shade of green mesh with metallic threads running through. The same green is picked up in the scenic wallpaper depicting a Williamsburg scene. The carpeting, in tones of green, is sculptured.

Probably the first authentic cargo exported from this continent was a shipload of 80 Virginia pine masts consigned from Jamestown in 1609 in "a ship of three-hundred tonne burthen called The Starre."

Giant Douglas fir trees have been found along the Pacific coast which are 1,000 years old and still strong and healthy. Some reach a diameter up to 15 feet and grow more than 300 feet high.

Suburbs Create Urban Dilemma

Lack of Good Facilities Forces Cities to Render Costly Help

CHICAGO (UP)—Several million Americans now live in fringe areas on the outskirts of cities and suffer from inadequate public services.

Such areas usually lack adequate fire protection, water, law enforcement, smoke abatement, transportation, recreation and health safeguards.

The casual observer may feel that if fringe residents want to live in this type of environment the decision should rest with them. But many times the shortcomings harrass the neighboring health, law enforcement and fire protection activities.

The following methods of solving the problem have been offered:

1. Full annexation, wherein the fringe becomes part of the city.

2. Limited annexation, providing control and guidance without taxation or the obligation to furnish all city services to a lightly developed area.

3. Use of extra-territorial power, under which cities in many states can legally regulate such matters as zoning, subdividing and building codes.

4. Establishment of special purpose districts, or units limited to performing a single function such as sewage disposal.

5. Incorporation of the fringe area into a self-sufficient unit.

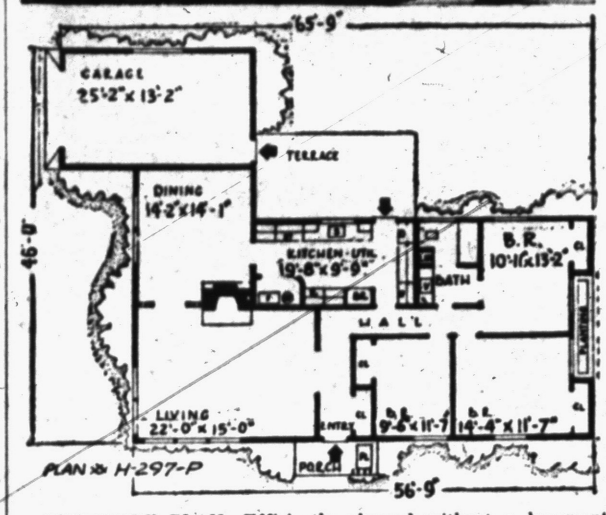
6. Encouraging the county to act on sanitation and zoning and other matters wherein it can exercise control.

7. The sale of city services to the fringe area.

A city must have good cost records and contractual safeguards or it might find itself performing fringe services at the expense of its own taxpayers.

Incorporation of the fringe area usually is not feasible because such areas usually lack the taxable resources to support all the services their residents want. City officials usually discourage formation of special districts because a fringe area's needs will expand as the territory becomes more heavily populated.

The Thousand Island chain, so-called, actually has about 1,700 islands.



ONE-STORY PLAN—Efficiently planned without a basement, this house has an oversize garage to allo wspace for extra storage. A center hall, combination kitchen and utility room and a recessed planting box under bedroom windows are among features of the plan. This is design H-297-P by the Homograf Co., 11711 East Eight Mile Rd., East Detroit. The house covers 1,538 square feet; garage 330 square feet. How to Locate Wall Studding:

Must Be Found Before Openings Are Made or Heavy Objects Hung

By HUBBARD COBB

A stud, just in case you didn't know, is a piece of wood about 2 inches thick and 4 inches wide which is used to form the framework of walls.

Over this framework is applied the interior wall material which can be either wallboard or plaster.

Now — if you have a heavy object to attach to the walls or if you want to make an opening for a door or pass-through, you'll want to know just where these studs are located and this, as many of you have found out, can be a difficult business.

Studding is placed with the 2 inch side facing out and most studs are placed 16 inches on center. That means that the distance from the middle of one stud to the middle of the adjoining ones will be 16 inches.

What this little bit of miscellaneous knowledge gets you is that if you can find one stud you can measure off from its center point 16 inches and find the other studs. Now all you have to do is to find that first stud.

If the walls are covered with plywood or wallboard you can find the studding by looking for the nails in the covering for all these coverings are fastened directly to the studding. If the walls are plastered or if the wallboard has been papered so that the nail heads are covered you'll have to use some other method.

One trick is to take a small compass and run it horizontally across the wall. When the compass passes over a nail head the needle will move. This trick works fine except when plaster has been applied over metal lath or when there is a pipe running through the wall.

Sometimes you can locate studding by tapping the wall with your fist. You'll get a hollow thump except when there is a stud in back of covering. Another way to find what you are looking for is to examine the baseboard for nail heads. The baseboard is attached to the studding and so once you have found a set of nail heads you just run a vertical line up from this point.

MAKE DO—Save trouble of pulling out the electric plug every time you leave your washing machine by installing this simple switch. An angle iron bracket holds an ordinary pull-chain socket.

Peg Boards Add Storage Space to Home, Garage

Most garages are used for miscellaneous storage, for housing the family automobile. They're customary depositories for window screens and storm windows, garden tools, bicycles, wagons and a host of other things that have to be stored some place.

A way has been discovered, however, to free the garage corners and rafters of their clutter. Simply go to a lumber dealer and obtain some perforated hardboard panels and metal hangers; they're called masonite "Peg-Board" panels and fixtures.

Nail them right over the wall studs, put in the metal hangers where you want them, and start hanging tools, garden equipment—even the lawnmower and hose!

The appearance of the garage will be improved, and the "working walls" will hold a variety of objects in a handy location which isn't in the way.

There are many places in the home for "Peg-Board" panels and hangers. They make an ideal location for tools; just hang a panel over the workbench.

Line a closet with the perforated hardboard and you'll see how useful these "working walls" can be.

In new homes, full-thick mineral wool insulation makes it possible to install heating plants of smaller capacity. To the savings counted because of the lesser cost of the smaller heating plant, the householder later adds savings made possible through reduced fuel bills.

Thriving Wallpaper Firm Was Born by Mistake

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—The Martin Rosenberger Wallpaper Store, which observed its 19th anniversary recently is part of a business born by mistake 56 years ago in Cincinnati, Ohio.

The Rosenberger brothers, operating a small housewares store at the time, bought a carload of wallpaper borders instead of sidewall paper and in order to dispose of them had to buy hundreds of carloads of sidewall paper.

Selling the unwanted goods proved so profitable, they stayed in the business and now own a chain of 37 stores in eight states.

Peril of Refrigerators Is Recognized in Dallas

DALLAS (AP) — It's illegal in Dallas to abandon or "dangerously expose" a refrigerator unless the door or latch has been removed.

The city council passed the measure, in view of recent cases over the country, to protect children who might trap themselves in the boxes. The fine for violation is $200.

How to Make Small Rooms Seem Large

This room is only 12 by 17 feet, yet it seats nine comfortably without looking crowded. In addition, it leaves a 3 by 12-foot traffic-way (out of sight at right) from the front door to other rooms.

Here are 10 ways to make your small room look and act big:

1. Leave upper windows uncurtained when possible, so that the eye may wander past walls to sky and trees. Partitions that stop short of the ceiling seem less boxy, too.

2. Keep the fireplace simple, with narrow mantels or none at all. Interesting materials like stone are their own decoration and need only fire tools for accessories.

3. If possible, let the ceiling follow natural pitch of roof. You'll add many cubic feet of volume to your room. The extra height seems to increase length and width, too.

4. Keep the background one color, matching curtains to wall color. Sheer fabrics let light and view filter through, giving an airy feeling.

5. Use patterns sparingly. This leaf print on the sofa is the only pattern in the room, and it was chosen in colors which blend into the background. With a plain sofa the room would look even larger, but might lack interest.

6. Buy a few large-scale pieces to give your room importance, but make sure they look lightweight like this lamp and table.

7. Provide extra seating with upholstered benches. Because they're backless, your eye can look right across them, almost as if they weren't there. These are 21 by 48 inches with comfortable foam-rubber cushions. They were made for the room, but similar benches can be bought ready-built.

8. Take advantage of the see-through quality of glass for a coffee table which seems to take almost no space at all.

9. Carry your floor color from wall to wall, either with all-over carpeting or, as here, with an area rug over resilient tile just one shade darker.

10. Shop for occasional chairs, tables, lamps which don't have a bulky look. These chairs with open arm, back, and base don't stop your eye but let it see through to dining area.

The mushroom shade on the lamp is less bulky than usual shapes.

Foresters in Oregon and Washington have developed a method for spreading tree seed from low-flying helicopters which will cover 100 acres in a few minutes.

Construction Codes Add Costs to New Buildings

NEW YORK — Lack of uniformity in building codes are hampering design, restricting the use of new materials and adding unnecessarily to construction costs, according to Engineering News-Record.

This conclusion was drawn following a survey of building codes through the U. S. The survey was limited to one aspect of code requirements — regulations regarding masonry thickness and fire resistance for exterior walls of office buildings more than six stories high.

The results showed discrepancies not only among various city codes but also among the so-called national "model codes."

Though several recently-revised codes show that attempts are being made to clarify regulations on a local or regional level, it is important that building code requirements be made uniform as possible throughout the country.

A group working toward this end is the joint committee on building codes which is trying to unify competing model codes section by section.

Architects and engineers could implement this work by assuming more important roles in the task of unification. The national professional societies, for example, could help the joint committee, not only by providing technical assistance, but also by promoting its recommendations.

Differences in current regulations make it clear that the city and "model" code writers, though aware of the problems that exist, are not agreed on the degree of safety the law should require.

Some of the disagreement stems from failure to utilize data on the behavior of materials or equipment that became available after original adoption of a code.

Some is due to inertia—lack of time or money, and some can be explained only by the assumption that certain building officials, motivated by pride in their region or society, or influenced by pressure groups, find it advantageous to be uncooperative.

Container Made by Inverted Pull Nailed to Bench

Every handy man-about-the house knows there's always an eventual use of old pieces of lumber, hardware, nails, screws, bolts and nuts and scraps of all sorts.

The illustration shows how readily an old-type drawer pull may be

A series of drawer pulls can be used in this manner.

Where are you getting more value in today's furniture? Better values are manifest by such things as larger mirrors, larger drawers, better banding, better detailing and more attention to finish.

Vapor Causes Blistering Paint

Dampness Absorbed by Walls, Condenses Into Water

By HUBBARD COBB

Lots of people are somewhat unpleasantly surprised in the spring and summer to find all the paint peeling off the outside walls of their homes. It is even more of a surprise if the paint was just put on last year and you still haven't paid the painter.

Actually a condition like this shouldn't surprise you at all because what causes the paint to peel is occurring at this very minute.

The cause, as you may have guessed is water vapor from inside the house passing through the walls, condensing into water and being absorbed by the siding. When it passes through the siding it's going to take the paint along with it.

There are lots of ways to learn now just what is going to happen to the outside paint come spring.

If the inside walls of your home sweat or if you have a lot of moisture and frost collecting on windows you had better start to worry. A really good way to find out what your status is in this game is to go into the attic or basement and try to get a sample of the insulation from the walls.

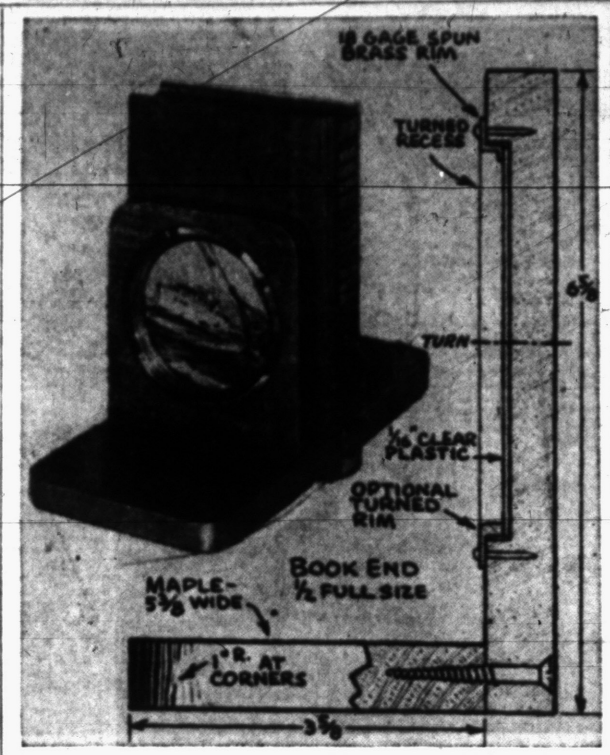
If the insulation is nice and dry you don't have to worry because this means that the vapor barrier of the insulation is keeping moisture out of the wall.

If the insulation is damp or wet it means that the vapor barrier isn't doing a darn thing and you've got everything necessary for an unhappy paint condition.

Another way to find out how things are inside the wall is to drill a small hole through the siding. If the sawdust that comes out is wet it means that the siding itself is nice and wet.

Lacquer With Fine Brush

A fine varnish or finishing brush is best for applying lacquer, say experts. Because lacquer dries quickly, apply with rapid strokes, lapping each stroke slightly over the previous stroke.



NAUTICAL BOOKENDS—If sailing—or the sea—is one of your favorite subjects, you can add a nautical touch to almost any table with a set of "porthole" book ends that can be turned out in your home workshop in an evening.

You'll need two pieces of maple. One piece will be 1 by 3⅝ by 5⅝ inches. The second piece will be 1 by 3⅝ by 6⅝ inches. For the porthole effect, you will require an 18-gauge spun brass rim and a 1/16-inch sheet of clear plastic.

The book end has a turned recess with a picture framed in the "porthole" rim. The rim is easily spun on a hollow chuck, because it is nothing more than a shallow tray with the center cut out.

Wives Handy With Tools

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Don't think for a minute that the men alone are responsible for the amazing do-it-yourself movement among home owners.

Often as not the little woman may want to lend a hand with the repairs, and may well know just how to go about it.

Furthermore, the itch to do and build things around the home is a permanent development and is on the increase, Michigan retail lumber dealers were told this week.

Three experts devoted a panel discussion to the do-it-yourself trend at the annual state lumbermen's convention in Grand Rapids.

Why are homeowners, both men and women, becoming so eager to do their own repairs and building jobs?

The panel members, Donald R. Brann, Pleasantville, N. Y., Robert E. Russell and Phill Creden, both of Chicago, agreed that:

The average home owner now has more leisure time for puttering. Growth of home ownership since World War II has provided an incentive. Carpentery has become a hobby with many retired persons. And women who worked in World War II plants have become interested in the mechanics of construction.

Brann credited women with giving the do-it-yourself movement a big boost.

"Fifteen years ago women just couldn't see the necessity of husbands buying power tools, but now wives are encouraging the purchase of such items so various improvements can be made around the home," Brann said.

"Furthermore," he added, "thousands of women are adept at doing the jobs themselves."

Concensus was that industry will have to revise somewhat its packaging of materials and will have to furnish complete instructions and illustrations to meet the demands for home work.

Negro Housing Making Gains

Money for Mortgages Still Difficult to Obtain, Report Shows

Report of large scale minority group housing developments of 40 units or more in a number of cities throughout the nation made public today by the National Urban League, shows that barriers keeping private mortgage money from Negro-owned or occupied property are only slowly being broken down.

This document presents a case study and analyses of these housing developments by Reginald A. Johnson, the League's director of housing.

Johnson states that his investigation reveals that less than one-third of this mortgage amount was secured.

Included in this study are reports from Louisiana, New York, New Jersey, Texas, Florida, Tennessee, Pennsylvania, Ohio, and some areas on the West Coast.

According to the report, "private money was not readily available to those applicants who sought 1953 for cooperative housing developments. Involved in these developments were 1,575 units of housing for minorities with $11,160,000 of direct mortgage commitments.

The NUL's executive director, Lester B. Granger, stated that the Johnson report is the first in a new series of "housing the Negro population" which will be published during 1954.

Number of farms in the U. S. decreased from 6,800,000 in 1935 to 5,380,000 in 1950.

Perforated Tiles Will Take Paint

The painting of perforated acoustic tile on ceilings can be done successfully — with a brush, spray gun or roller. If any of the cells become clogged with paint, you can prick them open with a pin. Flat paint, usually somewhat thinned, should be used.

Before thinning your paint, however, it's wise to talk to a dealer about the project. He can advise you whether the paint you are planning to use can be thinned successfully.

Some paints are so formulated these days that it impairs them if anything is added.

MAKE DO — Windshield wiper blades are handy for scraping away the sludge from wet sanding or paint removal from flat surfaces. The blade also helps to show up any unevenness in the surface.

Meets Needs of Working Wife

Modern Homes Designed for Efficient Use of Time

Of the more than 19 million women employed in the United States during the summer of 1953, 10½ million were married, according to the Institute of Life Insurance.

Of the more than one million new homes built in 1953, an estimated 88 per cent were one-story.

It would be practically impossible to prove that the growing number of working wives was directly connected to the trend in home design.

But whether the wife works outside the home or not, the trend is toward a house design that enables her to make the most efficient use of her time.

The one-floor plan house —with no stairs to climb, laundry facilities a few steps from the kitchen — certainly is an important part of the work-saving trend.

When the house is well-designed, it's easier to clean. Just being on one floor isn't the whole answer. Here are other points to consider:

An entrance hall is a basic requirement since it keeps dirt and snow out of the other rooms of the house.

The house should be laid out so it isn't necessary for traffic to go through the living room to reach other rooms in the house.

Then there won't be so much wear on carpets and they won't need as frequent cleaning. Then, too, there's less temptation for the children to turn the living room into a dumping ground for their toys and other belongings.

Bathroom, kitchen and entrance hall should have hard surface materials that can be cleaned with a few wipes of a damp rag or wet mop. A kitchen exhaust fan helps remove fumes before they discolor walls and add to the cleaning chores.

Most people think of insulation as a means of saving fuel. That it certainly does, but insulation reduces the amount of dust that infiltrates the walls of the house.

Trees in the western part of the United States grow larger than any place else on earth.

Don't Rub Brush on Can

When lifting a brush after dipping, remove excess paint or varnish from it by pressing it against the inside of the container. Rubbing the brush across the edge of the can wears and breaks the bristles.

An average American wastes the equivalent of two cakes of soap each year.

Sweetening Cattle Adds to Meat Flavor

LOGAN, Utah (UP)—A calf with a sweet tooth grows up to be a better tasting steak or roast than one that munches only grass. And it will put more "sugar" in the pocketbook of the farmer who raises it.

These are the findings of researchers at the Utah Agricultural College Experiment Station.

The scientists are conducting studies on pre-slaughter sweetening of produce animals and turkeys. Studies so far have shown that sugar-fed beef cattle, sheep, swine and turkeys may bring increases in dressing percentages, improvement in color, and increases in sugar percentages.

All this also makes for improvement in the flavor and texture of the cooked meat, tests show.

Scientists at the experiment station, which conducted about 150 other research programs during the past year, now are trying to determine the right amount of sucrose which should be fed to the animals and the length of the feeding period.

New Bridge Holds Two Houses to a Long Draw

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)— Two houses and a bridge met on San Gabriel boulevard. The bridge won, but it was the motorists who lost.

The house movers with the houses behind their trucks drove into a new underpass. The houses were too tall.

For three hours, the highway patrol, police, the movers and stalled motorists worked to turn them around. When they succeeded, blocks-long lines of cars finally began moving.

Experts Observe Signs of Rising Business

Jobless Claims Growing Less

Week of Feb. 13 Shows Drop of 45,669, Big Reason for Optimism

WASHINGTON (INS) — Government economists declared today that there are growing signs of a moderate rise in business activity this spring.

As a result, they said, President Eisenhower probably will find it unnecessary, at this time at least, to launch new anti-recession measures, as he indicated he would do if no business upturn occurs in March.

Experts who closely watch business developments said they were a little more optimistic than they were as recently as two weeks ago.

A major reason for this, they explained, is that claims for unemployment compensation are showing a definite improvement, indicating that the layoff rate is declining and the business downturn is slowing.

The labor department said that, in the week ending Feb. 6, continuing claims for unemployment benefits dropped for the first time in three months. The total—a barometer of the nation's unemployment — was 2,119,900, as compared with 2,127,630 in the previous week.

The department said that new notices of unemployment in the week ending Feb. 13 totaled 318,700, a decline of 45,669 from the figure for the Feb. 6 week.

This was the fifth straight week that new notices, a preliminary to filing unemployment compensation claims, had dropped. Although Lincoln's Birthday fell in the Feb. 13 week, it was not regarded as having affected the result materially.

The trend in unemployment compensation claims, along with some other factors, encouraged economists to predict that there will be some rise in business activitity this spring.

They said it may not be as great as normally expected, but that it should be sufficient to make any additional anti-recession measures unnecessary now.

New Car Sales Up 1st Part of February

Ward's Automotive Reports today said new car sales during the first 10 days of February were up over the preceding month's highest 10-day selling period.

This, the agency said, was "a feat not recorded before last October." It gave no specific figures.

Ward's placed this week's United States production at 112,130 cars and 22,674 trucks. Last week the factories built 108,895 cars and 21,530 trucks.

Hartrick Acts to Get Witness

Asks War Department to Return Army Private From Germany

James G. Hartrick, first assistant Oakland County prosecutor, said today that steps are being taken to return an Army private from Germany and another witness from Alabama to testify at the March 3 examination of James Woods, 27, of Detroit.

Woods is charged in a first degree murder warrant of fatally stabbing Arthur Moran, 21, of 4675 First St., Clarkston, Jan. 7, 1953.

Hartrick said the War Department is being contacted to return Virgil Kline, 20, now serving overseas.

The other witness is Emery O. Burris, 42, formerly of 365 N. Johnson Ave. Hartrick said both nen made statements following the stabbing in the Pontiac Motor Division parking lot.

Hartrick said that Kline, Moran's brother-in-law, was in the victim's car during the fight between Moran and his assailant. Burris, according to his statement, saw the stabbing as he was entering the lot.

"We doubt whether we can return Kline in time for the examination, but we believe the War Department will act on our request before the trial date," Hartrick said. He said other means to return Burris will be taken if he does not return voluntarily.

Meanwhile, Woods is held in the Oakland County Jail.

Pontiac Plant Turns Out Rebuilt TV Picture Tubes

(Editor's Note: This is another in a series of articles about various businesses in the Pontiac area.)

By WILLIAM H. THOMAS

That used picture tube your television repairman takes out of your set travels a long way after it leaves your home — and nine times out of ten will finally end up as a rebuilt tube in someone else's set if it is not broken or scratched beyond repair.

"Well," you might say, "I won't have any rebuilt TV tubes in my set. I want the best."

If you own a 10, 12, or 14-inch set, and have had a new tube put in recently, there is a good chance that it is rebuilt. New tubes for smaller TV's are not being built because tube manufacturers have found a shift to the larger screens.

If you have a 16, 17, or 20-inch set, or larger, you still may have a rebuilt tube — but don't worry, the remakes are just as good as any you can buy. And they cost less.

Few companies are now engaged in this phase of television, but one of them — the only one in Michigan — is located practically at your door step. It is the Allen Electronics Corp. at 294 S. Saginaw St.

It's the only rebuilder of TV tubes east of Chicago or west of Pittsburgh, and supplies jobbers in the Midwest and even as far away as Oregon.

By the way, you can see part of the tube because it is the screen on which you view the picture. The tube itself looks like a light bulb expanded about 25 or 30 times and flattened on the screen end.

The tube goes through perhaps 20 operations or more at the Allen firm. Scratches are sanded off and the glass tube, the only part which can be salvaged, is cleaned and painted.

Cleaned, sanded for scratches, new electronic parts inserted, a final test and there is the rebuilt tube, ready to go back into someone's set.

"There is no telling how long that rebuilt tube will last. It is just like a light bulb, it may last for five years or it may go out 15 minutes after it is installed," according to Howard Dunn, part owner and manager of the corporation.

New tubes, however, are just as unpredictable, he said.

A native Detroiter, Dunn came to Pontiac two years ago from California where he had investments in a related field. He plans on expanding the corporation in about six months.

"We want to be ready to rebuild color tubes when they are put into general use," Dunn said.

The Allen Electronics Corp. has been operating, unnoticed at its present locatin for over 14 months. It occupies about 12,000 square feet, including a basement for storage.

Dunn pointed out that the biggest problem in expanding is getting competent help. About 18 employees maneuver an averge 90 old tubes a day through the many operations.

"Some of the employees have been imported from Indiana because it would take too long to train local people in skills needed to rebuild tubes," according to Dunn. Those persons imported are key personnel in the corporation.

Charles Eilender of 28 Wenonah Dr., president of the corporation, and Dunn, of 13630 Hart, Oak Park, are the principal stockholders.

The Allen Electronics Corp. holds a license from Radio Corporation of America and pays a smaller amount for each rebuilt tube to RCA, which in turn pays out this same amount in royalties.

One point stressed by Dunn is that his corporation is strictly wholesale, and does not do business with individuals.

"We trade jobbers on a tube-for-tube basis, one rebuilt tube from us for one used tube that they have collected from retailers who service TV sets," Dunn said.

Food Prices Show Decline

State Labor Department Survey Indicates Drops in Pontiac Area

Food prices in 10 industrial cities, including Pontiac, dropped 0.6 per cent during the fourth quarter of 1953, the State Labor Department reported today.

The agency said a substantial decline in meat and egg prices, together with smaller decreases in sugar and sweet prices, dropped the December index to 211.7 as compared to 212.9 for September.

The index is based on September, 1941, prices.

The survey showed food prices slightly higher in Grand Rapids and Muskegon, while decreases were shown in Battle Creek, Flint, Kalamazoo, Lansing, Marquette, Pontiac, and the Saginaw-Bay City area.

Compared with a year earlier, December prices were 2.4 per cent less.

Dolfin on Probation; Must Repay State

LANSING (UP)—John Dolfin Jr., 44, Grand Rapids, former Highway Department official charged with embezzing $21,282 from the state, was placed on probation for five years Friday by Ingham County Circuit Judge Louis E. Coash.

Coash ordered Dolfin to make full restitution to the state by March 6 and pay $500 costs.

Dolfin immediately paid $15,575 to the county clerk. The state earlier withheld $2,487 in Dolfin's pay and retirement fund payments, leaving $2,486 which he must pay within 15 days to complete restitution.

Dolfin was a member of the Highway Department's excess property division. He sold houses and other buildings on property purchased by the state for highway use.

He gave himself up to Lansing police last Aug. 23 following a nationwide search when his accounts were found short.

Dolfin finally was formally charged in court three weeks ago and immediately pleaded guilty.

Red Cross Sets Institute Date

Meeting Tuesday Night Opens 3-Day Study on Disaster Work

A "kickoff" meeting Tuesday night will open next week's three-day "disaster institute" sponsored by Oakland County Chapter, American Red Cross.

Arthur Jones, deputy disaster director for Midwestern Area Red Cross, will explain Red Cross responsibilities when floods, storms or enemy attacks ravage any community. The general session will start at 8 p.m. in Oakland County Office Building, 1 Lafayette St.

Men and women representing civil defense, health departments, hospitals, fire and police units, welfare agencies, and Red Cross directors and committee chairman are invited.

Wednesday and Thursday have been set aside for Jones to meet with Red Cross committees at the Red Cross chapter house, 118 Franklin Blvd., and talk over each units duties. All chairmen will turn out for the "roundup meeting" Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at the chapter house to work out the county-wide disaster plan.

Directing the institute is the Red Cross chapter's disaster committee, with Bradlee Pruden of Birmingham as chairman and Palmer Bundy of Pontiac and Jack H. Shuler, Royal Oak, co-chairmen.

Disaster subcommittee chairmen include J. C. O'Gorman, shelter; Dr. J. S. Lambie, medical and nursing; Dayton Slater Jr., communications; and William Averill, public information.

Leon J. Bingley is clothing chairman and Miss Ora Hinckley, Michigan State Welfare Department heads the registration, information and welfare unit.

Woman's Right to Preen, OKd by Florida Court

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — A woman bus rider isn't expected to refrain from using one hand to fix her hair and the other to hold her pocketbook in order to guard against injury by sudden stops.

That was the ruling of the Florida Supreme Court as it ordered a new trial in a $110,000 damage suit brought by Mrs. J. M. Rogers and her husband against the Orlando Transit Co. for injuries allegedly received when the bus she was riding stopped suddenly for a red light and she fell from the seat.

A jury had earlier ruled against the damage claim.

Wayne U. Professor to Speak on Treaty Act

Dr. Steven Saresohin, professor of government of Wayne University, will speak on amendments to the U. S. Treaty Act when Young Democrats of North Oakland County meet Sunday.

The meeting is scheduled for 2:30 p.m. at the Local 594, UAW-CIO, hall at 90 Mt. Clemens St. with President William Price, of Rochester, acting as chairman. The public is invited to attend.

Strictly speaking, coal is not a mineral, but a rock.

"Move Over, Lucy!"

Joan Caulfield Reaches Top Level Comedy on TV

NEW YORK — Each week approximately 15 million people tune in forty-odd stations on television to watch a warm yet sophisticated comedy series called "My Favorite Husband," and to admire the striking beauty of lovely Joan Caulfield.

Thirty-one-year-old Miss Caulfield costars with Barry Nelson on the show.

Her portrayal of Liz Cooper has been done so well, says a national magazine, that it has caused critic Jack O'Brien to say "If it can sustain its present level of laughter, move over, 'Lucy'!"

For years now Joan has studied, worked, gone to classes, rehearsed, played in stock roles for small pay, and read lines endlessly for her taskmaster husband, producer Frank Ross, until today her acting ability and her potential for development are both objects of note in the TV industry.

For these reasons, Joan is understandably sore when people persist in acclaiming her for her beauty rather than her portrayal. "I hate to hear how lovely I look". "This, to me, is — ugh!" She shuddered. "I have nothing to do with how I look. It just happened. I'd be happiet I think, if I looked awful!"

Joan, who is impulsive, frank and outspoken to a refreshing degree, started out as a model and later appeared in George Abbott's production of "Kiss and Tell." This landed her a contract with Paramount but her roles haven't been exactly tremendous thus far.

Last year Joan did a number of TV guest spots. Then Ralph Edwards selected her as the subject of a "This Is Your Life" telecast. She came to the attention of Harry Ackerman, television head on the West Coast. He signed her for "My Favorite Husband."

Rehearsing for the show is a week-long job, but she finds the program more rewarding than anything she has ever done. Joan, who was first dubious of the role, is thoroughly sold. "Why, it's just like opening night in the theater ever week," she says.

Blaine Will Leaves $20 Million Charity

CHICAGO (AP)—More than 20 million dollars of an estimated 33 million dollar estate was designated for charitable purposes by Mrs. Anita McCormick Blaine in her will filed for probate yesterday.

Mrs. Blaine, who died Feb. 12 at the age of 87, was a noted philanthropist and the daughter of Cyrus H. McCormick, inventor of the farm reaper.

Mrs. Blaine, who during her lifetime gave millions to educational and charitable institutions, left one-third of the total estate to her granddaughter, Mrs. Anne Blaine Harrison, of Washington, D.C., her only direct heir.

There were, however, grants to relatives, close friends and employes. These included $500,000 to Mrs. Eleanor Gooding Lawrence, widow of Emmons Blaine Jr., Mrs. Blaine's only son who died in 1918.

The only definite bequest to a charity was 333,000 to the Yenshing University in China for establishment of a memorial to Mrs. Blaine's mother, Nettie Fowler McCormick.

Ike Signs Bills Before Golfing

Proposed Laws Flown From Capital to Ranch for Signature

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—President Eisenhower goes to work before golfing today on a series of bills passed by Congress.

The President scheduled a morning session at his Smoke Tree Ranch office to sign into law bills which have been flown from Washington since he arrived here Wednesday for a vacation.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, indicated one or two of the measures might draw a presidential veto. And he said none of the 24 measures could be classed as major legislation.

Eisenhower planned another round of golf after the bill signing.

He played yesterday. In the foursome in addition to the President on the first nine holes were Paul G. Hoffman, board chairman of Studebaker corporation; Paul Helms, proprietor of a Los Angeles bakery firm, and John W. Dawson, the club president.

On the second nine Hoffman and Helms dropped out in favor of Leonard Firestone of the Firestone rubber family and Hawthorne Dent, Seattle insurance executive.

After the golf match Eisenhower lunched at the club with Darryl Zanuck, motion picture director at 20th Century-Fox, and George E. Allen, a director of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation in the Truman administration and a friend of the President.

Hal Boyle Says:

Author, Family Take Off on Three Week Cruise

By SAUL PETT
(For HAL BOYLE)

NEW YORK (AP)—Harold Vincent Boyle, who regularly presides over this space, is off on a three-week vacation.

He left on a Caribbean cruise with Frances and their 7-month-old daughter, Tracy.

Now, those who know Boyle know how difficult it is to get him out of a room. Getting him out of the country is only a little less strenuous than dispatching the 1st Armored Division off to an invasion.

It's not that he's lazy—not agile, energetic, elbow-swinging Boyle who every time he loses an ounce calls himself the "Tiger Man." Nor is he afraid to make decisions. The more he lets others make, the more food they'll have for their own ego and sense of usefulness.

And so, on the morning they were leaving, I arrived at the Boyle apartment. Three or four friends, recruited to help in the last-minute arrangements, also were there. Baggage, cameras, film, hats, were scattered about the living room. Tracy gurgled in her play pen. Frances ran around efficiently collecting things, checking lists and baby clothes.

And, in the midst of the inevitable confusion, Harold Vincent Boyle sat on the couch, enjoying a sublime serenity, grinning like an Irish Buddha. He wondered what tie to wear to the boat.

Frances ran off to shower. The rest of us started putting stateroom stickers on the baggage.

"Of course, you kids realize," Boyle announced, without moving, "this is no rehearsal. This is the real thing. But then, if we miss the boat, we'll always have enough for bridge."

Somebody asked where the baby's hat was and Boyle, who would buckle under a cap pistol, asked, "Where's my elephant gun?"

Somebody asked about the loose belt and sport shirt on the brown suit case.

"That's mine," Boyle said.

"Why don't you put it somewhere?"

"I'm waiting for Frances to tell me. I'm not going to rush into making any mistakes."

* * *

But Boyle did volunteer the helpful information that yesterday, while buying a suit, he met this fellow who sold him a new kind of toothbrush, smething called an "oralizer" which "cleans your teeth while it cleans your tongue."

Somebody said it was getting late. "That's all right, Francie," Boyle yelled to the back bedroom, "Take your time. The ship's sailing late. The captain forgot his keys."

Getting through the door, Frances wondered aloud about what else she should take for the baby and father wondered aloud whether he should take along his high school diploma.

It took two cabs to get us to the ship. Boyle, of course, didn't know which pier. Frances, of course, did. And at the gangplank came the inevitable question:

"Who's got the tickets?"

"Not me," said Boyle as if he had just been accused of a capital offense. Frances, of course, produced the tickets while her husband apologetically directed the stewards with the baggage. "Most of this is trinkets to trade with the natives," he explained.

Finally in their stateroom, Frances set about making the baby comfortable while the stewards unloaded bags.

"Who brought this along?" Boyle asked, scowling at his portable typewriter.

Girl Changes Nationality, Name at Same Time

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP)—Miss Evelyn Fischer, 25, changed her name and nationality at the same time. Born on a British liner four days before it docked in Boston, she was named Carmania in honor of the vessel.

She recently found out she was a British citizen after believing for years that her father's naturalization as an American included her. And she had never liked the name Carmania, anyway. So the judge at the naturalization ceremony also legalized the swap of the name Evelyn for Carmania.

Chiefs Knock Trojans Out of Title Contention

SVC STANDINGS

Northern	5	1	Flint Central	4	5
Saginaw	4	2	Pontiac	3	5
Bay City	4	4	Arthur Hill	2	7

Friday's results—Pontiac 52, Saginaw 39; Northern 45, Arthur Hill 35; Bay City 56, Flint Central 39.

By BILL MARTIN

Flint Northern sewed up the Saginaw Valley Conference's 1954 basketball title last night, but the champions had to credit 5th-place Pontiac with a big assist.

Pontiac High's surprising Chiefs turned in their second major upset of the week here in toppling Saginaw, 52-39, to clear away Northern's last obstacle to an undisputed championship. Norsemen came through as expected with a 45-35 win over Saginaw Arthur Hill to clinch the crown, while Bay City beat Flint Central, 56-39, to take over 3rd place.

Friday's victory was Pontiac's 2nd over a top-ranked foe. Chiefs edged previously-unbeaten Ferndale on Tuesday night to enable Saginaw to climb into the Lincs' 3rd-place rating in the United Press statewide Class A poll. The loss will undoubtedly tumble the Trojans from the "top 10."

Coach Art Van Ryzin's determined charges had surprisingly little difficulty in dumping the favored Trojans. Chiefs grabbed a 4-point 1st-quarter lead, increased it with an unchecked 9-point spree in the following period and held a comparatively comfortable edge therefater.

Standout performer was junior guard Walt Poe, wh connected on eight of 15 left-handed jump shots. He led scorers with 20 points, and turned in an excellent defensive game, along with guard Bob Johnston and forward Walter King.

The hectic opening period saw the score tied six times before Poe and King connected in the final minute to push Pontiac in front, 15-11. Chiefs never trailed after that point.

Saginaw's Tom Hall sank a free throw and John Langhorne a bucket and John James hit one for Pontiac to make it 17-14 in the 1st minutes of the 2nd stanza. Then Pontiac broke loose with the 9-point splurge that was to ice the victory. In rapid succession Poe connected for a field goal and free throw, Johnston sank a basket, Poe added another bucket and King dropped a pair of free tosses.

Chiefs left the floor with a 31-17 margin at halftime and came back to practically match the Trojans point-for-point in the 2nd half to win easily. Saginaw was unable to pull closer than seven points during the last two periods.

Pontiac's shooting was decidedly improved over recent games. Chiefs hit on 18 of 53 shots for 34 per cent.

Saginaw lost three starters on personal fouls, all during the 2nd half after Pontiac had built up a sizable lead. Guard Sam Davis left late in the 3rd period, and forward J. T. Landrum and center Tom Hall followed in the 4th quarter. Chiefs lost Johnston midway through the finale. A total of 42 personals was called.

PHS' junior varsity took a 46-45 thriller from Saginaw's jayvees in the preliminary contest. Jim Jones sank a free throw in the final minute to provide the winning margin. Clay Williams' 20 points paced Little Chiefs.

Chiefs go to Bay City next Friday and wind up their regular season on March 5 at Saginaw Arthur Hill.

Duffy's Staff Reflects His Desire for Youth and Drive

By ROBERT E. VOGES

EAST LANSING (AP) — Accent is on youth in the new Michigan State football coaching setup.

"I wanted a young, aggressive group," said head coach Hugh (Duffy) Daugherty after his six nominations for assistants were approved by the state board of agriculture.

Daugherty moved up three aides and brought in three outsiders to fill out the staff.

Daugherty, hand-picked by Clarence (Biggie) Munn to succeed him as head coach when Munn was appointed athletic director, is 38.

Oldest among his assistants is Bob Devany, named end coach, also 38. Devaney, former Alma College star, moved to Michigan State last year from Alpena High.

Burt Smith, Flint Northern High coach, was named varsity assistant. Smith is 36.

Named end coach was Danny Devine, 29. Devine moved up from freshman coach.

William Yeoman, former West Point player and Army football coach overseas, is 26.

Don Mason, former Associated Press All-American guard at Michigan State, was moved up from an assitant to line coach. Mason is 25.

Sonny Grandelius of Muskegon Heights, also an AP All-America as a Spartan back, is the youngest of the group at 24. Grandelius comes to MSC after serving overseas following graduation in 1951 and playing for a year with the professional New York Giants.

"All these fellows have demonstrated that they have a winning tradition at Michigan State and elsewhere," Daugherty said. "I hope we're going to continue that winning complex. If hard work will do it, we will."

Johnny Palmer Moves to Front in Texas Open

Hits 9-Under-Par 62 at San Antonio; Pine Laker Ties for 5th

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Johnny Palmer, who thinks Brackenridge Park is the easiest course on the winter tour, and illustrated his point by playing it twice in a total of only 127 strokes, headed a field of 90 into the 3rd round of the $12,500 Texas Open today.

The swarthy man from Charlotte, N. C., now in his 9th campaign along the tournament trail, breezed over the 6,000-yard course yesterday in nine-under-par 62 to move into the lead at the halfway mark by a stroke.

In steady pursuit of the top run was Joe Moore Jr., White Plains, N. Y., who had a 62 in the 1st round and a 66 in the 2nd for a total of 128.

Marty Furgol of Lemont, Ill., and Lionel Hebert of Erie, Pa., were tied for 3rd place at 130.

Palmer, asked after his blazing rounds which course on the winter tour was the easiest, quickly answered that it was Brackenridge. "The fellow who can putt scores on this one," he said.

Johnny was just that in registering his 62. He wasn't missing any kind of putt and had them on his nine birdie holes from four feet up to 40. He used only 28 putts for the round and had eight one-putt greens.

Sixty-nine professionals and 11 amateurs qualifed for final 36 holes scheduled today and tomorrow. Pros had to shoot 140 or better to make it, and some of the top names didn't.

Jack Burke Jr. of Kiamesha Lake, N. Y., appears to be rounding back into form after a severe bout with virus. Burke shot a 64 yesterday in pulling to 131 and a tie for 5th place with Jerry Kesselring of Toronto, Canada; Al Besselink of Grossinger, N. Y., Henry Ransom of Pine Lake, Mich., and Tommy Bolt of Maplewood, N. J.

Falcons Clinch League Title

By JACK SAYLOR

It was championship night on the Oakland County prep basketball front Friday. Only one area league is without at least a co-champ today following last night's games.

Rochester clinched the Tri-County crown with a 56-52 victory over Oxford. Farmington, Northville and Troy each assured themselves no worse than a share of their league titles.

Mayville wrapped up the South Central bunting and Brown City has at least a tie in the Southern Thumb. Only holdout is the Bi-County league and Warren now seems a shoo-in there.

Warren won a big one from Lake Shore, 46-41, while Eastland was upsetting Utica, 48-47. Orioles now have the inside track. Mayville's title was assured by a 67-57 triumph over Imlay City.

Ferndale, which earlier had earned the Eastern Michigan championship, went down to its 2nd straight loss after 11 wins. Mt. Clemens did the upsetting 49-47.

As was expected, Rochester got an all-out effort from Oxford. Wildcats, in fact, matched the winners field goals. Falcons popped in 14 of 17 free throws for the winning advantage. Oxford made 10 of 14.

Don Robertson sparked the Rochester attack with 20 points, including 8 of 9 from the charity stripe. Arlan Stone bagged 15. Dwight Spiker hit 12, Fred Bergin, 11, and Larry Spencer 10 for the 'Cats.

Stone's 15 points put him over the 300-point mark for the season. He has a total of 314 with two games to play. His county-leading average is 22.4.

Farmington went all out to avenge an earlier upset by Waterford to end the Skippers' short-lived winning streak, 67-36. Falcons now can do no worse than tie in the Inter-Lakes. John McCaffrey tipped in 20 points for Farmington, but yielded game honors to Skipper ace Bob Jacober, who had 23.

Jacober has banged in 71 points in his last three outings, running his season total to 217, an average of 15.5 per contest.

Southfield kept hopes for a tie alive by tripping Berkley, 44-39. Doug Edwards had 17 for the Bluejays, but Berkley's Diek Radatz plunked in 23. Walled Lake handed Van Dyke a 64-49 trimming as Don Williams and Mike Ryan each hit 13 points.

Troy grabbed a share of the Oakland B by beating Madison, 47-35, and Northville laced Holly, 71-39, to take at least a piece of the Wayne-Oakland crown.

Also in the W-O, Keego edged Brighton, 38-35, and Clarkston ran its winning streak to eight games by downing Clarenceville, 45-36. Ron Schebor's 16-point chore led the Wolves.

Birmingham handed Port Huron its 11th straight setback, 58-44, as Don Dorough tallied 23 points. Mike Groves and Dick Muller added 15 and 11.

Barthel Racing Clock Tonight in AAU Games

Luxembourg Distance Star May Break Dodds' 11-Lap Mark

NEW YORK (AP)—Josy Barthel, the Luxembourg swiftie, has nothing left to race except the clock, so that's what he'll do tonight at the National AAU track championships—his last indoor appearance.

Since the start of the indoor season, the meet promoters have been urging Josy, a Harvard graduate student, to try for Gil Dodds' world record of 4:05.3 for a standard 11-lap track. They knew he could do it if he was so inclined and Dan Ferris of the AAU, hopes this is the one. Josy promises nothing.

But Mal Whitfield, who breaks records like an elephant sitting on a juke box, and Horace Ashenfelter, the Olympic steeplechase champion, are not so reticent.

Mal predicts he will wipe out Don Gehrmann's 1,000-yard record of 2:08.2 on the Madison Square Garden boards. He thinks he will be caught around 2:07. That would be some going, since Gehrmann's mark is regarded as a mighty tough one to beat.

Ashenfelter, the FBI agent, set a world two-mile record of 8:50.5 last week, so this time he will move to the three-mile for a shot at Greg Rice's 13:45.7. Last year, he ran the distance in 13:47.5.

Patty Berg Is Leader on Links

Chicagoan Holds Slim Edge in $5,000 Miami Beach Tourney

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Chicago's Patty Berg enjoyed a shaky one-stroke lead today as a tough field of pros and amateurs teed off in the 3rd round of the $5,000 Serbin Women's Invitational Golf tournament.

Miss Berg shot a steady 72 yesterday, two under women's par for the Bayshore Municipal course, to move out in front with a 72-hole total of 145.

One stroke behind was Atlanta's veteran Louise Suggs, with a pair of 73s for 146. Betsy Rawls, National Open champion from Spartanburg, S. C., was 3rd with 147, and Babe Zaharias, now playing out of Chicago, also was in hot pursuit with 148.

Castellani Now Wants Shot at Olson's Crown

Marks Up Easy Victory Over Ernie Durando to Make It 8 Straight

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK (AP)—Rocky Castellani sought a middleweight title shot today after trouncing Ernie Durando for his eighth straight victory.

"We'll get up whatever guarantee is needed to assure Rocky a crack at either Bobo Olson or Kid Gavilan for Cleveland this summer," said co-manager Alvin Naiman of Cleveland.

If Olson, the 160-pound champion, beats back the challenge of Gavilan, the welterweight king, in Chicago April 2, such an outdoor show seems likely. But if Gavilan takes Bobo's crown, he'll have to give Olson a return bout. That would kill Castellani's hopes for a summer shot.

The No. 1 middleweight contender will be kept busy with fights in Grand Rapids and Akron, meanwhile, said co-manager Tex Sullivan.

It was an easy one all right. Castellani had to bottle up Durando's right hand power last night and he did just that. In the ninth, the heavy-fisted Bayonne bomber hurt Castellani with one right to the chin but that was the only good one to the head he got in all night. Rocky fought him right back after it.

Castellani, a 3-1 choice, jabbed, hooked and danced his way to a big lead through the first six rounds. In the seventh, he figured it was time to give the 5,865 fans ($19,355 gross gate) in the garden and the countless TV viewers a show and he opened up with a series of right hand smashes that shook Ernie.

The unanimous vote for Castellani was: Referee Al Berl, 8-2; Judge Harold Barnes, 7-2-1, and Judge Jack Gordon, 9-0-1. The AP card had the Clevelander a 9-1 winner.

Rocky weighed 160¾, Durando 160.

101-Year-Old Hunter of Year Heads NY Show

Whittemore Man Will Preside Over Vacation, Sportsmen's Affair

NEW YORK (AP)—Peter Cameron, 101 years old, of Whittemore, Mich. is getting along fine in the big city.

Named hunter of the year, he'll preside over the 17th annual sportsmen's and vacation show starting today at Madison Square Garden.

At a news conference yesterday, Pete was photographed with a pretty model. Modern women, he said, are all right—"if they keep their place."

Pete, who will be 102 on June 7, gave this prescription for a long life:

"Take a little Indian remedy every spring. It's made of bulbs and roots and other things they mix up."

Hawks have to win tonight on ther home court to set up their game with Indiana Monday, at Bloomington, Ind., as a decisive title contest.

Hoosiers will be at East Lansing tonight for a game with 8th place Michigan State. Indiana seeks its 10th victory in 11 games. Michigan State has a 3-6 record.

Ted Says Flag Talk 'Silly'

Williams, Boudreau Differ on Predictions of Boston Red Sox' Finish in AL Race

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP) — We are only asking, but shouldn't Lou Boudreau, the Boston Red Sox manager, try to get together with his top hired hand, Ted Williams, on the subject of where the Sox figure to finish in the coming American League race?

Lou says he believes he'll have what it takes to beat the Yankees this time. Ted, who probably became a supreme realist in the skies over Korea, says just as positively that talk about a Sox pennant at this time is "silly," adding that third place would be more like it.

New York Ski Ace Sweeps 'Ground' Events in Meet

ISHPEMING (AP) — National Nordic Ski Championships went back to jumping events today, with the two much-discussed Russians expected to witness the senior and junior Class A jumping championships.

The Soviets — Grigori Ivanovich Kukushkin and Yuri Sergebitch Afanasev — were expected to check in at the nearby Mather Inn. They're on hand to present a trophy to the National Ski Association, which is celebrating its 50th anniversary.

For a while it was believed one of them would compete—but those reports proved erroneous.

Tauno Pulkkinen of the Finnish Ski Club (N. Y.), no doubt was sorry to see the tournament go back into the air today. He had swept everything in sight on the ground Friday.

A man of amazing stamina, Pulkkinen swept both cross-country events — the Class A 18 kilometer event and the 30 kilometer event. And he did it in a breezes too.

However, the winner of the Class A classic combined championship was Norman Oakvik, Bush Lake Ski Club in Minneapolis.

Class B combined winner was John Cress of the University of Denver, with 388.2 points.

Toledo Wins M-A Title, Joins NCAA Test Field

By ED CORRIGAN

NEW YORK (AP) — The NCAA filled another of its basketball tournament berths today when Toledo University, champion of the Mid-American Conference joined the fold.

The tournament now has five teams, two league champions and three at-large quintets. Idaho State, the winner of the Rocky Mountain Conference, is the other league winner, while Seattle, Oklahoma City and Bradley are the at-large outfits.

Toledo scored its clincher last night with a 71-66 victory over Ohio University. With three minutes left, the Rockets were trailing by one point. But Jim Ray hit with a field goal to put them ahead to stay.

Oklahoma City also warmed up for the tournament by polishing off Wyoming 52-40 and thus avenging an early-season upset at the hands of the Cowboys from Laramie.

Idaho State, for its part, dropped a 79-72 decision to Montana State. This defeat would have been meaningless except that it snapped the Bengals' 18-game winning streak.

The Calumets are Duke's Lea and Indian Red.

Chanlea won the Santa Anita Derby last year for Calumet's mistress, Mrs. Gene Markey, Hill Gail did it the year before and went on to capture the Kentucky Derby.

Today Calumet's entry promised to be the betting favorite to rake in the winner's purse of $86,300 from a gross pot of $133,400, figures based on all 12 horses starting.

Rated close behind Duke's Lea and his lesser known running mate are Andrew Crevolin's Determine and Mrs. Harry Curland's California colt, Major Speed.

The bout will be televised nationally at 9 p.m. but will be blacked out in the Cincinnati area.

5 First Places Not Enough to Stop Wolfpack Victory

Pontiac High's swimming team absorbed its 7th loss in 11 starts at Bay City Friday, bowing to the Wolves, 44-40. Setback left the Chiefs in a tie with Flint Central for 3rd place in final Saginaw Valley Conference standings.

Coach Des Boyce's splashers swept five of nine individual events, but lacked sufficient depth to match Bay City. Wolves bolstered their total with six 2nds and five 3rds.

PHS' individual winners included Bob Keavy in the breast stroke, Bob Lamson in the 200-yard free style, Bill McLarty in diving, the medley relay team (Tom Cross, McLarty, Lamson) and free style relay team (Hamburg, Howse, Gavette, Shellenburg).

Shellenburg, Cross and Keavy took 2nds for Pontiac.

Chiefs wind up their dual meet season next Tuesday at Plymouth.
