Nation's Holiday Weekend Death Toll Mounts

Traffic Count Climbs Toward Estimated 360

5 Persons Die in County, 17 in Michigan

While Oakland County today reported five holiday fatalities so far, Michigan counted a total of 17 deaths in traffic and drowning accidents during the first two days of the Memorial Day weekend.

Some 15 accidents, with six injuries, were reported by the Okland County Sheriff Dept. and five were hurt in eight accidents in Pontiac so far.

Reported dead in the county are:

Emil Kesti, 50, of 26484 Power Rd., Farmington Township.

His wife, Mrs. Emil Kesti, 42.

Mrs. Christine L. Chapman, 31, of 28643 Independence, Farmington Township.

Verle Young, 42, of Lake Orion.

State dead are:

Vernon J. Middaugh, 26, of Lansing.

Sally Shley, 16, of Onaway.

Richard Shafer, 30, of Bronson.

Alvin J. Rogers, 36, of Lansing.

Sam Dusseau, 79, Temperance.

Robert M. Reed, 23, of Jackson.

Mrs. Frances Steele, 75, of Jonesville.

James Blevins, 25, of Manchester.

Mrs. Lela Gensler, 58, of Toledo.

Other mishaps by drowning, besides Young, included:

Robert Adams, 31, of Coldwater.

Ernest Adams, 29, of Coldwater.

George Molargick, 58, of Ann Arbor.

Kesti and his wife were killed Saturday night, when their car collided with one driven by Richard Laflam, 20, of Farmington Township, at Orchard Lake and W. 11 Mile Rds. Edward and Mrs. Chapman both were killed when the cars in which they were riding crashed headon on Orchard Lake road near Northwestern.

Young, according to sheriff's deputies, drowned Saturday in Lake Orion near Bellview Island after jumping into 60 feet of water. His companion, Lloyd Melton, 45, also of Lake Orion, said Young suddenly stood up in their rowboat and leaped into the water. His body had not been recovered by authorities dragging the lake.

The Automobile Club of Michigan warned that a crisis period lay ahead for motorists. Especially, it said the seven hours between 5 p.m. and midnight today will be the most dangerous of the weekend on state highways.

Deaths in the county already have exceeded the Chamber of Commerce Safety Committee's prediction of four.

U. S. Fatalities Spurt Past 200 Mark Today

By UNITED PRESS

Hopes for a safe and sane Memorial Day weekend appeared lost today as fatal traffic accidents rose steadily toward an expected 360 persons dead on the highways by midnight tonight. Motorists abandoned the life-saving caution they had shown during the holiday's earlier hours and the death rate went spurting far into the 200's.

A United Press count since 6 p.m. Friday showed more than 350 fatal holiday accidents of various sorts.

Traffic accidents killed 246, drownings 89, plane crashes 2, and miscellaneous mishaps 30 for a total of 367.

Ohio had the worst record with 21 traffic fatalities. It was followed by California with 20, Missouri with 15, and Illinois with 13.

The National Safety Council, which made the estimate of 360 deaths, said the traffic death rate was "proceeding tragically and needlessly on schedule."

Ned H. Dearborn, council president, abandoned earlier hopes that the toll might fall below 300. Instead, he issued a plea to "honor the dead on Memorial Day by protecting the living."

The worst traffic hazards were yet to come as tired motorists clog the highways on the trip home from holiday jaunts, Dearborn warned.

POINT TO RECORD

But motorists could still point toward the low of 216 traffic deaths during a 3-day Memorial Day weekend set in 1949. Traffic deaths might also climb as high as last year's 364.

Meanwhile, showery weather was expected to end in large sections of the country today to provide a sunny setting for the parades and picnics of the spring holiday.

Thousands of persons lined city streets to watch veterans parade in honor of the 1,128,393 Americans who have died in the nation's wars.

More crowds went to military cemeteries to pay tribute to the fighting men who never came back.

This was the original purpose of Memorial Day, founded 87 years ago in 1868 when Maj. Gen. John A. (Black Jack) Logan ordered the Union veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic to set aside 24 hours for "the strewing with flowers or otherwise decorating the graves of the men who died in the defense of their country."

SURVIVOR TAKES IT EASY

The last survivor of the GAR, 108-year-old Albert Woolson of Duluth, Minn., had to take it easy on this Memorial Day.

Woolson, the only soldier of "Abe Lincoln's army" still living, has usually been the star performer of Duluth's Memorial Day observances. But the onetime drummer boy was hospitalized twice with lung congestion this spring and his doctors told hmi to stay home today.

Another prominent veteran, President Eisenhower spent the holiday with his wife and mother-in-law at their Gettysburg, Pa., farm home. Memorial Day services were to be held at the nearby Gettysburg National Cemetery, scene of the Civil War's greatest battle, but it was not known early today whether the President planned to attend.

Around the word, services in honor of the nation's war dead were held in almost all places where American troops are stationed.

Such a simple ritual was held at Kokura, Japan, where taps sounded over the steel coffins of nearly 2,000 unknown soldiers.

It is a day set aside for sober pride and haunting memories; a reminder that what we have as Americans, since it is of infinite value, has not come to us as a free gift, but has to be paid for over and over again.

Each generation has to meet its share of the bill and the price is always high. Memorial Day is the occasion when we reflect briefly on what that price is.

On the surface, Memorial Day often looks just like another holiday. Stores and factories and offices are closed, everybody and his family takes the day off, the automobiles clog the highways, and between the ball games and the picnics and the broad indolence of a warm spring day stretching out to meet full summer, we put on a pretty good imitation of a nation going out for a good time with nothing particular on its mind.

But in the background there are always the graves, the observances at the cemeteries, the dipping Flags and the speeches, and the notes of the bugle hanging in the air. In the midst of life there are these reminders of death.

We are what we are today because many thousands of young Americans have died in their country's battles and the gravestones lie all over the world—from Antietam and Chickamauga to Sicily and Normandy and the far-off islands of the Pacific from the Rhineland to the bleak mountains and desolate valleys of Korea.

Each gravestone stands for one young life too soon ended, for one family's tragedy, for a heartbreak that does not wholly heal as long as any remembering heart continues to beat. The price has been terribly high, and in this uncertain world it may never be paid in full.

Yet the final meaning of Memorial Day is not simply unrelieved sadness and melancholy. The future grows out of the past, and when we look at these innumerable bygone tragedies we can see the future taking shape. Beyond the graves and the Flags there is an unending procession, of which we ourselves are a part, moving on and on without an end.

There are values that go beyond life, and the procession moves because men have been willing to sacrifice everything for those values; it will continue to move as long as that willingness remains.

The final answer to the mystery that we confront as we stand by these graves is not denial and emptiness. The gains somehow balance the losses. On Memorial Day we look ahead, as well as back.

Looking back, we see what has been done for us; looking ahead, we see our own continuing challenge and responsibility. If we measure up to the full meaning of the holiday, it is a day of hope and triumphant affirmation.

Says Red China Will Free Four Captive Airmen

Indian Diplomat Tells of Communist Decision to Release Prisoners

NEW DELHI (AP)—Indian diplomat V. K. Krishna Menon said today that Communist China within a "few hours" will announce its decision to release four American fighter pilots shot down in the Korean war.

The four are Capt. Harold Fischer Jr., Swea City, Iowa; 1st Lt. Lyle W. Cameron, Lincoln, Neb.; Lt. Col. Edwin L. Heller, Wynnewood, Pa.; and 1st Lt. Roland W. Parks, Omaha, Neb.

Menon, Prime Minister Nehru's top foreign affairs adviser who has just returned from Peiping, intimated to a news conference that other American airmen held by Peiping also might be freed soon.

The Chinese last November announced 11 other U. S. airmen and two civilians had been sentenced to prison terms ranging from four years to life imprisonment for espionage. The United States vigorously denied the spy charges.

Calling the decision to release the four fighter pilots a "major step" toward relaxation of tension in the Far East, the special Indian envoy said cases of other U.S servicemen still held in China are "constantly under review."

Menon did not say when the men actually would be released or at what frontier. He indicated, however, that they would be freed soon after the Peiping announcement, if they had not already crossed the Red Chinese border at that time.

Most other Western personnel released by the Reds have been freed at the Hong Kong frontier.

Menon said the Communists would announce the release as a "contribution to the lowering of tensions," made in response to "our India's request." Before Menon's mission to Peiping, U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold and other diplomats had been working for five months to

Ford, UAW Set Session Today

Concessions by Both Parties Lift Hopes of Settlement

DETROIT (INS)—The CIO United Auto Workers and Ford Motor Co. meet in an emergency Memorial Day session today to try to head off a threatened strike by 140,000 Ford employes.

Hopes for a settlement went up a notch yesterday when both sides made concessions.

The union modified original demands for a guaranteed annual wage, offering to accept a guarantee that workers will be paid 80 per cent of their normal gross earnings when laid off instead of 100 per cent of their take-home pay as originally demanded.

Ford altered its original package offer so that an employe leaving the company could obtain severance pay and still retain his pension benefits. The original management proposal would have required employes to sacrifice their pension and seniority rights if they accepted severance pay.

Union representatives said they were modifying their demands on the guaranteed annual wage in hopes of "peacefully" settling the contract dispute.

The union has authorized a walkout any time after midnight Wednesday if the contract talks fail.

Under the new union GAW plan, a worker with a wife and two children, drawing $84 a week, would receive a guarantee of $67.20 during layoffs.

The original proposal would have paid the employe $76.

There was no official comment from either side on the compromises, and neither company nor union has yielded on the GAW issue. UAW President Walter Reuther said the union is sticking to its demand for a guaranteed wage

Kin of Captive Fliers Gladdened at News of Release

OMAHA (AP)—"Thank God, I can hardly believe it. You don't know what this means."

Those were the words of W. G. (Bud) Parks this morning when The Associated Press called to notify him of the announcement in New Delhi that four American fliers would be released by the Chinese Reds.

"Is that official?" he asked.

His son, 1st Lt. Roland W. Parks, has been held by the Reds for 2 years 8½ months. "That's a long time," the father said.

"Mrs. Parks and I had been out for the evening and we just got home. We were waiting for the 1 o'clock news to see if there was any word.

"You'll never know what all this means to us," Parks said over and over again.

His son, 24, was shot down on his 59th mission Sept. 4, 1952.

LYNN, Mass. (AP)—Announcement Communist China would release four U. S. airmen comes at a time when the parents of still another prisoner of the Reds are anxious about the life of a younger son.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip D. Fecteau's boy, Robert, 12, was seriously injured Thursday while riding his bicycle between two sets of railroad tracks. Struck by the side of a train, he suffered head injuries and is on the Lynn hospital danger list.

The Fecteaus' older son, Richard George, 27, of Lawrence, Mass., a U. S. Army civilian employe, was aboard a plane reported lost in 1952 on a flight between Japan and Korea.

Fecteau was not one of the four imprisoned airmen whom Indian diplomat V. K. Krishna Menon said today would be released by the Chinese Reds. He is one of 11 other airmen and 2 Army civilian employes whom the Communists have acknowledged they are holding in captivity.

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—"There are times when a fellow can't say much," commented Roland G. Cameron early today when he learned the Chinese Communists would release his son in a few hours.

"It's just wonderful. That is wonderful," he said while counseling his wife to "take it easy. Now just take it easy."

Mrs. Cameron, he said, was "pretty excited."

Cameron said he was lying in bed thinking about an earlier story last night saying that reports were circulating in diplomatic quarters that some American fliers held in Red China may be released soon.

His son, 1st Lt. Lyle W. Cameron, had been a prisoner since Oct. 26, 1952.

Ike in Gettysburg for Memorial Day

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — President Eisenhower eyed weather reports and his golf clubs today—and there was a possibility he might drop in on Memorial Day ceremonies at Gettysburg National Cemetery.

Eisenhower's special assistant on disarmament, Harold E. Stassen, was billed as the main speaker.

FBI Will Help in Hunting Girl

But Can't Enter Case Unless Kidnap Theory Is Proved

KALAMAZOO (UP)—FBI agents here were ordered today to give every possible assistance to local authorities outside of actually entering the search for 8-year-old Jeanie Singleton, a lame girl who has been missing for a week.

The two FBI agents here were told by their superior, Fred McIntyre, of Detroit, that they could not actually enter the case because there was no definite indication that it came under their jurisdiction.

Chief of Kalamazoo detectives Riley Stewart had planned to ask them to join the hunt because an intensive search of the surrounding area failed to turn up any traces of the rheumatic fever stricken girl.

Stewart said he feared the girl had been abducted and slain by a sex deviate.

"Our search has failed to uncover the body so we feel we may assume it has been taken from the city and possibly from the state," said Kalamazoo Police Chief Sherwin Heywood.

But in Detroit, McIntyre said the FBI would have to have more definite proof the girl was kidnaped and taken across state lines before he could allow his men to work on the case.

"We have been and plan to continue to cooperate in every way possible," McIntyre said. "But so far we have no proof that the case comes under our jurisdiction."

The FBI took a similar stand on the case of Barbara Gaca when she was sought by Detroit police sevreal months ago.

secure the release of the Americans.

(U.N. sources in New York said this morning Hammarskjold has been concentrating his efforts in recent weeks on obtaining release of Fischer and the other fighter pilots. Reportedly he thought their release could be obtained first because Peiping had made no specific charges against them.

(A Peiping radio broadcast heard in San Francisco between 3:30 and 4:30 a.m. made no mention of the American fliers.

(A spokesman for the State Department in Washington "welcomed" Menon's report and said that release of the airman "would eliminate one cause of international tension." Menon's announcement had been expected in Washington. The Indian diplomat had reported the information to U.S. Ambassador John Sherman Cooper at New Delhi two days ago.)

Menon told questioners at his news conference that Fischer and the other three fighter pilots had been picked by Peiping for release because they fell into a "different category" than the other airmen held by Peiping.

He added, however, that the door had been opened for release of the others "if no one shuts it" and "given proper good will."

Teamsters Will Vote on Western Offer

LOS ANGELES (INS) — Members of the AFL Teamsters union start voting tomorrow on a management offer for ending a trucking tieup that is in its twelfth day in 11 western states.

The union's chief negotiator, Frank Brewster, president of the Western Conference of Teamster, predicted that the truckers would give the offer a flat rejection because it makes no provision for a pension.

He said that "All the transcontinental operators on the other end, in the central states, pay pensions."

Skin Divers Get Diplomas From Watery School

The diplomas were handed out yesterday to graduates of a Los Angeles County water safety school.

The skin divers, who will teach water deportment to others this summer, learned what to do when entangled in a kelp bed, how to recognize a rip tide and how to ward off Moray eels and sharks.

The graduation ceremony gave them a chance to show the latter skill. A small dog shark tried to nose into the diploma line.

He was told to join another school.

Williams Offers Aid in Copper Walkout

LANSING (UP) — Gov. Williams has urged the Calumet Division of Calumet & Hecla, Inc., and striking CIO United Steelworkers to settle their contract dispute.

In telegrams sent yesterday through the State Labor Mediation Office, Williams offered the full cooperation of state agencies "in helping to bring about a solution of the problems."

Some 1,700 division copper miners have been idled since May 2 in a wage controversy.

Company directors have authorized division president Endicott I. Lovell to liquidate division assets if the dispute is not settled.

LOS ANGELES (UP) — Mona Stornes, Miss Norway of 1954 ,is back in the United States—to stay, she hopes.

The 22-year-old beauty returned yesterday with her husband, television producer Sandy Young, on a permanent visa. In five years she will be eligible for U.S. citizenship.

Polio Program Hit, Defended

Solons Score, Uphold Administration Handling of Vaccine

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Eisenhower administration was criticized and defended again yesterday for its handling of the anti-polio vaccination program apparently due to get back into operation this week.

Rep. Frank Thompson Jr. (D-NJ) said Secretary of Welfare Hobby is "directly responsible" for what he termed "bungling" of the program. He said it was incredible for her to have said, as she did in testimony to a congressional committee, that "nobody could have foreseen the demand" for the vaccine.

* * *

Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-NJ), on the other hand, said he thinks that if any mistake was made, "It was in trying to move too fast up to six million children from 400,000." The latter figure was the number of children who were given Salk polio vaccine in last year's tests. About six million have been given shots this year.

Smith spoke on an NBC television interview; Thompson, in a statement.

"I think what 'goofed'—if you want to use that expression," Smith said, "was the situation that developed when the Cutter vaccine apparent trouble came up."

* * *

That was a reference to vaccine made by Cutter Laboratories, of Berkeley, Calif: Dr. Leonard A. Scheele, surgeon general of the U.S. Public Health Service, says there is presumptive evidence of a connection between some cases of polio and two batches of Cutter vaccine.

Of 113 children who got polio after being inoculated, 69 had received Cutter vaccine, all of which was withdrawn early this month. The 113 postinoculation cases compare with 928 cases of polio among all age groups in approximately the same period of time.

Violent Winds Hit County on Saturday

Violent winds stormed through portions of Oakland County Saturday while tornado warnings were up, causing many persons to believe a tornado was actually about to strike.

Worst to come however, were gusts estimated at around 65 m. p. h. Blowing branches knocked power lines down in Avon, Novi, Commerce and Bloomfield townships.

Wixom road was blocked about four miles out of Milford when a tree split down the middle fell across the highway.

After the windy and cool weekend, the weatherman predicts fair and warmer weather tomorrow with a high of 68-74 degrees. Yesterday's high was 68, low 56. At 8 a.m. today, the mercury in downtown Pontiac stood at 49 degrees, rising to 56 at 1 p.m.

Nation Honoring War Dead Today With Ceremonies

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

With parades and solemn graveside ceremonies, or in thoughtful private moments during holiday outings, Americans today honor the soldiers who fought and died for their country.

The nation counts 1,128,393 killed in five major wars since the shots that started her War of Independence. Coupled with tribute to them are prayers that those who survived will never again lose the peace.

Services at Arlington National Cemetery highlight the nation's observances. There Vice President Richard Nixon, acting for President Eisenhower, lays a wreath on the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier and delivers an address.

Cities and towns and small villages throughout the nation follow suit with services, parades and speeches of their own.

In memory of those who died at sea, floral wreaths will float from coastal points. At Wildwood, N.J., flowers will be strewn upon the Atlantic Ocean, and from De-Poe Bay, Ore., will sail the pacific's 10th annual "Fleet of Flowers."

Chapter of the Red Cross, State Police of Pontiac Post, the sheriff's department and other police agencies are cooperating in a mobilized effort to prevent recurrences of former tragic records.

George Molargick of Ann Arbor, 58, was drowned Friday night in the Huron River, near Ann Arbor. He had been fishing with friends and decided to go for a swim.

Mrs. Lola Gensler, 58, of Toledo, was injured fatally Sunday when a car driven by her husband, Walter, 62, collided with a parked trailer truck on U.S. 223 in Monroe County four miles north of the Michigan-Ohio line.

James Blevins, 25, of Manchester, was killed Sunday when his car crashed into a ditch on Sharon Hollow Road five miles west of Manchester.

Frank Hollis, 51, of 329 Whittemore St., was reported in satisfactory condition at Pontiac General Hospital after an auto crash at Orchard Lake Ave. and Saginaw St. yesterday.

Pontiac Police report Hollis' car was struck by another driven by Jo Rammes, 61, of 1435 Rosedale. Witnesses estimated her car's speed at 60 m.p.h.

MAN HOSPITALIZED

Hollis was hospitalized for rib fractures, cuts and bruises. The other driver was treated and released.

Slippery pavement was blamed for a three-car collision on U.S. 10 south of Walton boulevard yesterday.

Keith E. Stephens, 28, of 4315 Edmore, Drayton Plains, told Oakland County Sheriff's deputies his car skidded on wet pavement into the rear of a car driven by Freeman D. Coblentz, 56, of Detroit.

Coblentz's auto, in turn, was pushed into one driven by Elmer E. Calhoun, 48, of Detroit. The Coblentz and Calhoun autos were stopped for a traffic light.

Tommy Taylor, the flagman for the Gay Day Speedway, was injured seriously at the start of the fifth heat race Sunday. He suffered two broken legs, compound fractured hip and multiple cuts and bruises. He is recovering at Pontiac General Hospital.

News in Brief

Mrs. R. J. Farren, 3086 Flagstaff St., Commerce Township, told Oakland County Sheriff's deputies her home was entered over the weekend. Nothing was missing and deputies theorized small boys were responsibe.

An undetermined amount of money was reported stolen from vending machines at a filling station, 874 W. Huron St., last night by thieves during a break-in, according to Pontiac Police.

Thieves last night ransacked the Neumode Hosiery Shop at 82 N. Saginaw St., according to Pontiac Police who said a report of stolen items had not yet been made.

Hohmeyer to Represent City in State Road-E-O

BIRMINGHAM—Bob Hohmeyer, 18520 Hillcrest, will represent Birmingham in the Michigan teenage 'Road-E-O' at Lansing in June.

Hohmeyer, a junior at Birmingham High, scored 447 out of a possible 500 points in written and driving tests to win the honor from a field of some 25 finalists Saturday at the high school.

Winner of the state-wide contest in Lansing will go to Washington for national competition.

Hohmeyer and Donna Watts, 17211 Kirkshire, the top girl driver who chalked up 319 points, will each receive trophies this Friday at the high school awards assembly.

SPONSORED BY JAYCEES

The Road-E-O was staged here by the Junior Chamber of Commerce. The American Trucking Association sponsors the affair nationally.

Claude Kidd, Jaycee president, said written exams eliminated many of the 200 entrants in the contest, which was open to all students up to 19 years of age who possessed a driver's permit and had had no traffic violation in the previous six months.

City police, Oakland County authorities and State Police were on hand to assist the Jaycee group in the driving tests Saturday.

The weather eliminated some entrants. It also forced State troopers to return to their posts after a tornado alert was sounded.

ONE HAD BAD LUCK

Parking, backing and using proper turn signals eliminated others, Kidd said. One youth complained that he had practiced with his father's car which was equipped with an automatic gear shift.

"The cars we used in the driving tests all had straight sticks. So I just flunked out," he said.

Other entrants only a few points back of Hohmeyer were Barclay Gano 432, Dick Wilson, 423, Bob Smith 421 and Dick Colbert 419.

Points were awarded 200 for the written exam and 300 on driving ability.

The Birmingham City Commission holds its regular weekly meeting tomorrow. Included on the agenda are petitions by residents that Hazel Street between Eton and Columbia be left out of the road oil program.

Other items to be considered: A request that the city join with other South Oakland County municipalities in a common dog pound; a speed limit on West Maple; recommendation by the planning board that the north half of the block bounded by Merrill, Bates, Townsend and Chester be acquired for development of off-street parking facilities; and a report on the recreation board's 1955-56 budget, as well as presentation of the city budget for fiscal 1955-56.

* * *

Two groups in the area have scheduled picnics today.

Members of the Spotlighters, a Holy Name group of unmarried persons over 21, will hold their outing at the home of Miss Joan Mularoni, 1572 Clarendon Rd., Franklin.

The picnic to be held by the Birmingham Council of Churches today will be the organization's final event of the spring.

Conscience Money?

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UP)—Police Chief Joe Kimsey figures somebody had a guilty conscience. The parking ticket with a dollar attached mailed to him wasn't an overtime parking ticket at all; it was a receipt from a private parking lot.

British Newsman Asks End to Rumors About Margaret

LONDON (INS) — A British newspaper columnist has urged Buckingham Palace to confirm or deny whether Princess Margaret is in love with Group Dapt. Peter Townsend.

John Gordon of the London Sunday Express said in an article:

"I think that if there is no truth in the story that Princess Margaret wishes to marry Group Capt. Townsend, then it would be better if an authoritative denial were issued.

"On the other hand, if there is substance to the rumor, I think for the good of all concerned the drama should be played out in public."

Gordon said his sympathies were with the vivacious princess, whose reported love for the divorced commoner has been talked about but never substantiated.

He referred to the Archbishop of Canterbury's refusal to sanction a marriage between the princess and Townsend and said:

"It is a struggle between the heart of a girl and the church; between love and the rules of one religious section of the community.

"The princess desires—if rumor is reliable—to marry for love like any other girl. Marry for love, says the church, and we shall make the consequences very hard for you, dear.

"Isn't that an extraordinary situation, indeed, an intolerable situation?

"If her battle were fought openly in the newspapers, I think she would win, for great public support would flow to her."

Derrick 'Walks Away'

DENVER (UP)—Police were alerted that some boys about 12 had boarded a power derrick and started driving it away from a Denver University construction job. When officers arrived the machinery was still running, the derrick was draped in telephone wires snagged from nearby poles and the boys were nowhere to be seen. They are still being hunted.

'Bonanzagram'

Have Fun! Win $100!

"Bonanzagram" is an exciting new puzzle in which the Pontiac Press offers both fun and a $100 cash prize. BUT before you try your hand at "Bonanzagram" be sure and read the rules at the bottom of this page. Solution will appear in the Press June 10.

CLAIM CHECK

Below is a duplicate of the "Bonanzagram" entry you send in to contest headquarters. It is ESSENTIAL that you fill it in and save it until the correct solution to "Bonanzagram" No. 13 is published Friday, June 10. Unless you do so, you will be unable to collect the prize if you should send in a winning solution. Check the rules below for further details.

Bonanzagram No. 13

Deputy Inspector Black had assigned one of his men to hide in the dressing room of the new stadium, folowing an anonymous tip to headquarters that it was being used as a base of supplies by dope peddlers. Skeptical about such casual tips, the Inspector and his aide arrived late on the scene, and even lingered to see the end of a close game. They then hastened to the rendezvous, but the man assigned to the job did not show up. Finally, the Inspector decided to look into the matter himself. The dressing room was empty and in disorder. A torn piece of paper on the floor caught his eye. It had been trampled by the spikes of the players, so that many of the letters were missing, but it was certainly a hasty message from the missing detective. Inspector Black studied it carefully, was able to fill in the gaps, and realized his man was on to something big. Can you, too, decipher the message?

How To Play 'Bonanzagram'

Solve the "Bonanzagram" by filling in all the missing letters, as indicated by the underscores, in the message. Insert only one letter above each underscore. Many clues to the missing letters are hidden in the story, or anecdote, accompanying the message itself, and, in a few cases, the contestant's general knowledge should provide the correct letter. The contestant will note that the message is unpunctuated. Punctuation will help solve the message but is not necessary to win.

All missing letters must be correctly inserted to win a Bonanzagram prize. Punctuation will not be considered in judging a correct answer.

When properly filled in, the "Bonanzagram" will spell out a clear message that will conform in every way with the clues. In many cases it will seem that more than one word would be the correct one. That's part of the fun! You should weigh the clues and select the BEST possible word in each case.

How to Submit Entries

1. After solution is completed, "Bonanzagram" should be clipped and pasted to a two-cent postcard with your name and address.

2. Entries will be received at the Pontiac Press office, 48 W. Huron St., until 5 p. m. Tuesday, June 7. Mail entries must be postmarked before midnight Tuesday, June 7 for Bonanzagram No. 13. Address "Bonanzagram, %, Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Mich.

3. Entries may be mailed in envelope but contestant's full name and number of puzzle must be printed in upper left corner of address side of envelope.

4. Copies of the Press need not be purchased to enter. Facsimiles made by hand and corresponding as closely as possible to the original "Bonanzagram" printed in the Press will be accepted but are limited one to a family. Mimeograph, duplicator or other unofficial mechanical reproduction is forbidden.

How to Collect the Prize

The entrant must work out and keep duplicate solution as a claim check. When the solution is published in the Press, he should compare his "claim check" with the published solution, and, if his claim check is identical, he should call in person with his claim check at the Press office, 48 W. Huron St., before 5 p. m. on the Monday following publication of the solution.

If a winner cannot call at the Press office in person, he should mail his solution to "Bonanzagram Editor." Postmark on this letter must be not later than 5 p. m. the Monday after publication of the answer. Correct answers are void unless the contestant reports his claim by the deadlines listed here.

About Eligibility, Information, Etc.

1. Anyone is eligible for the "Bonanzagram" contest except employes of the Press and members of their immediate families. (Immediate family means all those living in an employe's household.)

2. No question as to winners will be answered by phone.

3. The Press will award a prize of $100 to the winner of each weekly Bonanzagram. If more than one winning answer is received, the prize will be divided equally among the winners. If no correct solution is received, the $100 will be added to the next week's prize. If the winner is a subscriber of record to the Press a $20 bonus will be added to the $100.

4. Only one winning entry from a family will be eligible for the prize, but there is no limit on number of entries.

5. The Press retains the right to correct typographical errors.

6. Judges' decision will be final and contestant's submission of entries indicates acceptance of these rules.

7. No liability is accepted for entries that fail to reach us.

8. The Press reserves the right to alter rules and/or discontinue the contest at its discretion.

Denies Teaching Soft Profession

Classes Are Only Part of College Workload, Professor Says

NEWARK, Del (UP) — Many persons outside the profession believe that college professors, with short classroom hours and summer vacations, lead a soft life. But "it's just not so," according to Dr. John A. Perkins, president of the University of Delaware.

"Actually, if one meets the expectations the university has set for its faculty, the 40-hour week in industry becomes appealing by comparison," Perkins wrote in a recent biennial report to university trustees.

Perkins admitted it's true that faculty members often teach only 15 hours a week, but that's only the beginning of their labors. For every lecture hour, the professor is expected to devote one or two additional hours each day to preparing a stimulating class presentation.

In addition, Perkins said, the professor spends an hour or two daily in counselling individual students. He also maintains regular office hours for faculty or student academic conferences.

Add travel time for out-of- town extension course lectures and time consumed in outside reserch or writing and the result is anything but a short work week, Perkins said.

The university president also contends the vacation period rarely is longer than the average workman's mainly because most professors must teach during summer sessions to augment their relatively low incomes.

Shoots Long Hole-in-One on Chinese Golf Course

HONG KONG (UP) — A British army officer in Hong Kong recently shot the longest hole-in-one ever scored in this colony.

Lt. S. M. Ireland of the Essex Regiment belted his drive over the brow of the fairway in the direction of the green, which is not visible from the tee.

Eventually they found it — in the cup, 305 yards from the tee.

What a Fishy Story!

ATLANTA (UP) — An order reminded of a fish-warf in July crept through the Fulton County Courthouse and sent a maintenance man on a quick investigation. He found a fish sandwich taped to a light bulb. The heat had burned through the wrapper and into the fish.

It was a maids idea of keeping her lunch warm.

Motorist Finds Cop Not So Bad as Tire Lets Go

NORFOLK, Va. (UP)—State Trooper Walter Branch tells this one:

Branch got up to 95 miles per hour before he was able to halt a speeding motorist. Branch said he was just plain mad when he saw that the speeder was accompanied by his wife and a small child. The driver emerged with a scowl on his face, denied he was driving as fast as the trooper said, and began to express his opinion of the officer in no uncertain terms.

Having developed a thick skin, Branch let the remarks fall on deaf ears as he wrote out a summons to court.

Just then a tire blew out on a front wheel of the motorist's car.

"Friend, if I hadn't stopped you I might have been called to help gather up the bodies of your wife and child," Branch said.

The officer said the speeder acted as if he had been hit by a .45 caliber bullet.

"If there ever was a damn fool who needed a traffic ticket I'm one," the speeder said.

Quick Jury Verdict Startles Witness

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UP)—Immigration officer Armand Hysette, star prosecution witness at a federal court trial, stepped into the corridor for a smoke while a jury was being chosen.

Five minutes later he returned to the courtroom and stared in amazement as Judge Jacob Weinberger asked a jury to announce its verdict.

"Your Honor," blurted Hysette, "there hasn't even been any testimony yet! How can there be a verdict so soon?"

The jurist laughed and told Hysette that while he was smoking, a different jury had returned with a verdict in another case.

Bob Considine Says:

Young Thugs Scare Jungle Photographer

NEW YORK (INS) — Slowly but surely the the blame for the whole juvenile delinquency problem is coming right back to its distressing source: The breakdown of discipline in the American family.

* * *

Divorce, separation, mothers who must or insist on working, and the slow decline of the importance of the father in the household have all combined to bring about a situation that some sociologists now regard as more of a menace to the U. S. than communism.

Big game photographer Lewis Cotlaw is asked in the current issue of Sports Illustrated what gives him his biggest fright. He replied that while he is fairly at ease with murderous Mau Maus, a charging rhinocerous or a wounded lion, he gets quite terrified if he must walk through Central Park, in the heart of New York City, after dark.

That's perhaps an extreme case, but I know dozens of New Yorkers who feel about the same. At least it illuminates the inability of most big city police forces to cope with the rising tide of juvenile mobs.

PENALIZE PARENTS

Rocky Graziano, who once was the prototype of the youthful juvenile criminal, and who has since become a fine husband, father and citizen, dramatized the position of the parent in juvenile delinquency recently when he recommended that parents of young criminals be given heavy fines and suspended jail sentences.

* * *

Rocky's words, phrased in the slanguage of the Lower East Side, inspired a number of lofty editorials. There was agreement on all sides, editorially, but no law-making body has come forward to nod in assent.

Judge Sam Leibowitz, who has had to send so many of them to prison, has commented recently on the astonishing drop in the age of criminals who appear before him.

A generation ago an accomplished burglar or grawler — or murderer — would most always be a hardened man in his forties or fifties. Today, the judge comments, the age is closed to 16.

PRINCETON ROLL

The Princeton Research Service, one of the better polls, took up this problem recently in New York State and came to the conclusion that the matter could be helped by four steps:

* * *

Better recreational and social activities of children after school hours; stricter parents; more knowledge on the part of parents as to just where their children are spending their time outside the house; and more home activities on the part of parents and children.

I was surprised at one part of the Princeton poll. Very few people who were questioned by the reporters mentioned anything about the need for more religious training and greater dance.

An incredible oversight, yet all a part, I'm afraid, of the nucleus of the tragedy, the lax or broken home.

A couple of weeks ago, Gene Symonds, foreign correspondent for the United Press, was pulled from his taxicab during a riot of Chinese Communists youths in Singapore and beaten so pitilessly that he died the following day.

I was present the other day when Gene's name was added to the 82 other correspondents whose memory is enshrined at the Overseas Press Club's Memorial Pres Center. Symonds is now one with Ernie Pyle, Ray is now one with Ernie Pyle, Ray Clapper, Jack Singer, Bob Capa and all the others who have laid down their lives while gathering news in hostile lands.

The club received a letter about Symonds from his friend Edward Hunter, the author of last year's important book, "Brain-Washing in Red China." Hunter's eulogy of his murdered friend said more than any of us could say. I quote:

"Gene Symonds was a soldier in the service of a free press, and died as valiantly and as necessarily as any man in battle. His weapon and his defense, instead of metal, was a lead pencil. Unhampered, this could destroy the Communist world system."

Railroad Strike Perils England

Union Official Declares Walkout Will Continue to Bitter End

LONDON (AP)—Britain faced her gravest industrial crisis since 1926 today as 67,000 striking railwaymen defied Prime Minister Eden's back-to-work appeal.

Eden's call in an emergency Sunday broadcast got a flat turndown from Albert Hallworth, assistant general secretary of the striking union—the Associated Society of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen. Hallworth defiantly declared:

"We can and will hold out for at least three months. We are determined to see this thing through."

A member of the union's Executive Council declared: "the country will break before we break."

Eden in his broadcast asserted that his Conservative government, re-elected to another five-year term last week, will "do all we can to protect the nation from the worst effects of this strike."

The men quit work Saturday midnight—in the first rail walkout since the general strike of 1926—to back up demands for pay boosts to give them more of a differential over other train workers.

The stoppage caused immediate chaos throughout the nation. Yesterday only 200 of 2,600 scheduled mainline trains left the sheds. They were manned by members of the rival National Union of Railwaymen, to which the bulk of Britain rail workers in other categories belong. The NUR has stood aloof in the current dispute.

Highway 'Payoff' Scene Is Nothing of the Sort

TRAVERSE CITY (AP) — An alert motorist notified state police when he saw five men dividng money from a cash bag along the highway. Looked like there had been a robbery.

Troopers rushed to the scene. The five were student ministers. They had pooled their resources for a tour and were making a community fund when the motorist passed.

Deaths Last Night

PALO ALTO, Calif. (AP)—Prof. Madison Bentley, 85, psychologist, author of books on psychology and editor of the American Journal of Psychology.

WASHINGTON — Harold M. Stephens, 69, chief judge of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia.

REDDING, Conn.—Phillips Wyman, 60, publisher of Redbook and Bluebook magazines and executive of McCall Corp., which publishes McCall's and other magazines.

LOUISVILLE, Ky.—Paul Hughes, 62, former city editor of the Louisville Times, war correspondent in the Pacific in 1945.

Unloads 37,000 Feet of Lumber in 1 Day

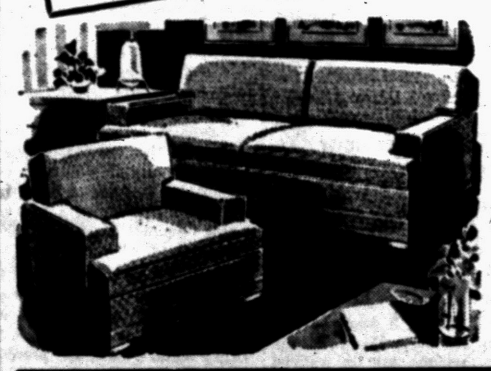

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — Gordon L. Chatterton, who sells lumber for a couple of western firms, unloaded 37,000 board feet from a freight car in a single day. William L. Boozer said the job usually takes three days. The Boozer lumber yard had been faced with heavy demurrage charges when Chatterton volunteered to do it in one.

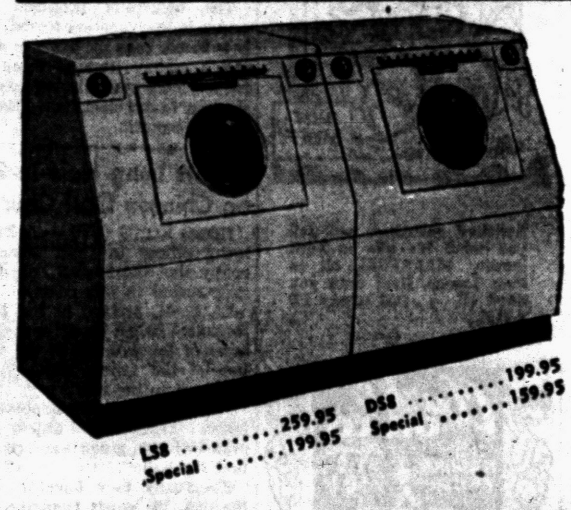

Local people watched bug-eyed as Chatterton worked and estimated he handled 56 tons of lumber between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m.

The salesman, a husky graduate of the University of Washington, worked his way through school as a longshoreman. Although he still still varies his sales routine by taking on unloading jobs, he says he had not unloaded a car of lumber for four months before tackling Boozer's freight.

Mechanical Drawing Teachers Scarcer

CHICAGO (UP) — A critical shortage of techical drawing teachers seriously threatens the training of future engineers, according to Prof. Renry C. Spencer of the Illinois Institute of Technoligy.

Spencer called technical drawing "the language of technology everywhere" and 'the foundation of all engineering studies." Yet the supply of qualified engineers and teachers in the field is "nowhere near the demand now, or for the immediate future."

"In trade schools, high schools and colleges and competition for technical drawing teachers is so keen that monthly starting salaries are higher than in many other jobs," Spencer added.

He said a beginning techical drawing instructor in the average university earns a minimum of $400 a month.

There are 22,380 professional teachers in Minnesota.

Loophole Weakens Zoning Ordinances

CHICAGO (UP) — Most modern zoning ordinances require all new buildings to be supplied with off-street parking, according to the American Society of Planning Officials.

But the association said there usually is no guarantee that the space originally designated for off-street parking will continue to be used for that purpose. If the parking space is not on the same parcel of land, or if it is under separate ownership, there is a chance of future violation.

As a result, the society added, "more and more communities are finding it a good idea to specify in their zoning ordinances that the obligation to provide off-street parking space is one that continues as long as the building is in use."

Among cities which have taken such action are South Euclid, O.; Bismarck, N. D., West Palm Beach, Fla.; Colorado Springs, Colo., and Chicago.

$15 Loan Leads to Half Million in Bills, Bonds

HOMEVILLE, Va (UP) — It all started 17 years ago when Howard Spain lent a neighbor $15 dollars and collected $3,000 in return.

Now the Sussex County, Va., farmer keeps about a million dollars in currency and bonds around the house. But none of it is worth a hoot at the grocery. It's all Confederate issue.

Spain became interested in collecting the non-negotionable stuff when that loan was paid off. Now he has one of the most enviable collections of Confederate money and bonds in the South. It rivals collections of museums and universities.

His choice piece is a $1,000 Commonwealth of Virginia bond with all its unclipped coupons intact. He said Duke University owns the only other such complete specimen.

The collector also has a $1,000 State of Florida bond secured by 8,000 acres of land. He said the only other Florida bond he has run across is a $500 one in the Confederate Museum in Richmond, Va.

Moonshiners Happy Lawmen Not Spooks

UNION, S.C. (UP)—Sheriff's deputies closed in on two illicit liquor distillers during a severe thunderstorm. Flashes of lightning lighted the path to the still.

One of the moonshiners recognized one of the deputies, and said, "Lawd, I'm sure glad its you.

"We thought you was a spook," he explained.

Nation Unites Today in Honoring Heroic Dead

Once again we Americans have the inspiring opportunity to pay heartfelt tribute to our uncounted hosts of heroic dead.

Today the flags we fly, the martial music our bands play and the flowers that decorate our soldier graves all eloquently express the gratitude we owe these departed heroes.

★ ★ ★

Not only do we honor those who wore the Blue and the Gray in the war between the States, but the dead of all wars. Each year we are saddened by the speed with which the ranks of World War I survivors are thinning. Before we know it our young men who helped win World War II will be approaching middle age.

But let none of us imagine that the tributes we pay today can discharge the debt we owe to those who died protecting the ideals and freedoms which make America great.

★ ★ ★

Parades and flags and bands aren't enough. We who celebrate today must rededicate ourselves to the preservation of the priceless values for which these vanished hosts laid down their lives. As the Pulitzer Prize winning historian Bruce Catton put it:

"Our Memorial Day observance is not so much a glance backward as a look ahead. The flowers are for the dead; the challenge and the responsibility are for us."

Aussies' Thanks to U. S.

This month the American Legion is distributing a booklet expressing again Australia's gratitude for U. S. aid in World War II.

The booklet will be sent on request to next of kin of U. S. service men and women who lost their lives Down Under. Besides paying eloquent tribute to our heroic dead, it describes and pictures Australia's magnificent memorial at Canberra to our wartime collaboration.

★ ★ ★

Fittingly the monument itself stands in a typical bushland setting within sight of the Parliament buildings. The octagonal aluminum shaft 258 feet high reflects gradations of light and shade and is surmounted by the American eagle with pinions outstretched in a victory sign. On the shaft are these words:

"In grateful remembrance of the vital help given by the United States of America during the war in the Pacific 1941-45. Unveiled by Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II February 16th, 1954."

★ ★ ★

Those desiring copies of the booklet should write to the American-Australian Association, 1010 Paramount Ridge, Times Square, New York.

Pay-As-You-See TV?

At the moment the Federal Communications Commission's big problem is what to do about pay-as-you-see television.

Proponents contend that a large home audience would be willing to pay moderately for first run movies, operas, concerts and Broadway shows. Some believe that telecasts of a higher intellectual caliber will be possible.

Principal opposition comes from movie theater owners. They contend it would create alarming new competition.

★ ★ ★

It's up to the FCC to rule. But the real decision will be made by the viewers. If there isn't enough support it soon will fade out.

ICC Opinion Attacked

An Interstate Commerce Commission opinion that persons who take insulin should not be allowed to drive has brought quick protests from Detroit.

The statement of the ICC stand came after it had investigated an accident blamed on insulin shock suffered by a diabetic truck driver. Detroit diabetics have attacked the proposal and have medical support for their protest.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Myer Teitelbaum, chairman of the Wayne County Medical Society's diabetic committee, said that to deprive diabetics of the right to drive would be unfair. Those who take insulin, he said, know what to do when they feel a reaction coming on. Most of them keep sugar in their pockets for protection against possible shock.

One diabetic told reporters there is no such thing as an immediate insulin shock. He added that victims of this disease get at least 30 to 45 minutes warning.

★ ★ ★

Another said that diabetics know the advance signs in plenty of time to stop for a candy bar, a glass of ginger ale or a milk shake. In his opinion there is no problem and it's merely a matter of not getting careless.

This understandably quick and authoritative reaction suggests that the ICC should forget its idea and leave the problem of insulin shock to the doctors and the diabetics.

This Memorial Day finds very few graves in Pontiac cemeteries that have not been remembered with flowers or otherwise. Superintendent of the two city-owned cemeteries,

Kenneth P. Anthony,

who has been on the job for 28 years, tells me there now are far above 25,000 graves in Oak Hill, representing over 10,000 families. At its highest point rests who founded Pontiac in 1818, and members of his family. Their graves never are forgotten on Memorial Day, always remembered in a floral or other substantial manner by local service organizations. Col. Mack was a veteran of the Revolutionary War. Ottawa Park, the other city-owned cemetery, just north of Waterford Hill, now has over 2,000 graves. Perry Mount Park, established in 1922, has about 7,000 graves. Mount Hope Cemetery was started in 1867. The two latter are not city-owned.

Colonel Stephen Mack,

Clean Humor, Hard Work Marks of '55 Legislature

By CLAIR M. HEKHUIS

LANSING (UP)—The 1955 Legislature, for the most part has been a sober, industrious group.

There have been moments of hilarity, but nothing like the antics of some Legislatures which have played for most of the session and jammed all of their work into the last night.

This Legislature still may tie itself into knots over the tax fight between the House and Senate. But it already has done enough to earn the label of a "do something" session.

The superhighway construction program and the fair employment practices law are historic pieces of legislation.

CLEAN FIGHTING

They are the fruit of long searching and often bitter debate, not only in this session but of years past.

★ ★ ★

The fights so far this session have been bitter but, in most cases, clean.

At least three lawmakers have worked themselves into sick beds at some time during the session.

Most of the humor also has been clean—although sometimes corny—instead of the water-bag throwing variety that has characterized some sessions.

CLOSELY ALIGNED

The very closeness of the Democratic-Republican alignment in the House has forced representatives to stay awake, sober and plugging.

★ ★ ★

Both times the Senators took a half day off during the session—to watch the Detroit Tigers' home baseball opener and attend the Holland Tulip Festival—they held night make-up sessions.

But Thursday night, with the last Senate bill of the session disposed of, they let their hair down for the first time.

With Sen. Clyde Geerlings of Holland playing the piano fitted into a corner of the chamber, they sang "Sweet Adeline" while waiting for the House to approve the home for the Memorial Day holidays—the longest recess of the session.

RECORD CROWDS

The 1955 Legislature also has drawn record crowds at several public hearings.

★ ★ ★

A thousand or more citizens showed up to get in their licks on the disputes over toll roads, the Michigan State College name change and the ill-fated "right-to-work" proposal.

School children have poured into the capitol by the thousands to watch both Houses in action.

After the Senate had ground out a number of appropriation bills last Thursday, Sen. Charles Fenstra (R-Grand Rapids) spoke from the floor to a group of Dearborn students seated high in the gallery.

STUDENTS WARNED

"I understand Dearborn has one of the best school systems in the state," he said. "You have seen today how the Legislature arrives at decisions and determines how much and where to spend state money for schools, state officials, agriculture and government operations."

But Sen. Bert Storey (R-Belding) had the last word. "Don't forget," he called to the students, "It's your money we're spending."

F. L. Jacomino Says Penalty for Drunk, Lax Drivers Is Miscarriage of Justice

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

Five lives were taken in a single accident on "slaughter hill" as a result of drunk and careless driving.

Yet what penalty did the court hand down? Six months probation and revocation of the driver's license for a year.

Oh, what a miscarriage of justice. Just how long are the courts going to pamper these murderers of the highway? That license should have been rovoked forever. It is little wonder that traffic laws are so grossly violated.

A "get tough" policy is long overdue.

Don't Sneer at Theories: They May Become Law

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER
INS Economic Commentator

The late Franklin D. Roosevelt created an intellectual fashion of identifying abstract ideas or principles with well-known personalities.

★ ★ ★

The habit persists, and recently when a business organization made an economic study of the "purchasing power theory," an inquirer challengingly asked whether the association was taking a whack at the labor unions or the politicians.

If the competition for men's minds and hearts is to be lifted to a higher plane, then we should stop the nonsense of assuming that there should be an opposite number on the Right for every one on the Left. This assumes that it is in the public interest to offset irresponsibility with a different type of irresponsibility.

I tried to dramatize a different approach to analysis of our economic problems and opportunities in my TV and radio debate with James B. Carey, secretary-treasurer, CIO on the guaranteed annual wage.

DEBUNKS CLICHES

He was making an effort to peg me with groups opposed to the special interests which he represents. I commented: "When management and labor get together with cliches and say, as the chamber of commerce and the NAM and the unions do, that our ideal is steady work and steady pay, that's bunk. Our ideal is raising pay, raising living standards and better opportunities through research and development and new ideas."

With free speech and an open market in ideas, there is a responsibility to operate with Marquis of Queensberry rules of fair play.

In the technique of intellectual combat, it is a mistake to sneer at theories and theorists.

For tomorrow's laws, good or bad, may be generated by today's theories. By way of illustration, the time to have soaked soft money theories was back in 1936 when the late John Maynard Keynes wrote his "General Theory of Employment, Interest and Money."

DIFFICULT TO OPPOSE

It was more difficult to oppose his fallacies during wartime in July 1944 when his theories represented what appeared to be the official policies of some 44 nations assembled at Bretton Woods, N. H. for the International Monetary Conference.

★ ★ ★

Thus, in a current economic survey, the National Association of Manufacturers takes a sensible posture in criticism of the so-called purchasing power theory.

It's respectable even among dilettantes to dissect a theory, but it leads closed minds to be in the position of criticizing the unions for embracing the theory, and thus having the epithet "anti-labor" hung on an organization.

Likewise, if the association attacked demagogues for circulating the theory, it would be castigated as "anti-liberal." It creates a better climate to go to the source of warped thinking, and to attack it rather than its disciples, among which are included some free wheeling and opportunistic manufacturers.

Girls Care for Fledglings but High Wind Kills Them

One day my sister and I were looking for bird nests. We were going to help the mother feed them and watch them learn to fly. My sister found a nest and some birds were already hatched.

We put bread out and dug worms for her. Then one day I came home from school. I went to see the birds and how they were coming along.

I found them lying on the ground, their bodies as cold as ice and as stiff as a board. The wind blew the nest from the tree. Now I haven't got my birds.

'Ignore Crime Stories If You Don't Like Them'

This is to comment on the editorial, "Why Should Crime News Be Published?" This might help some of the readers to understand. When a terrible crime is committed, it is up to the police, detectives, etc., to solve it. If newspaper readers didn't know about them, they wouldn't be able to give some of the valuable tips that help solve the crimes and help catch the criminals.

All newspapers are educational and those people who don't like to read about crimes can easily turn to the comics or something more interesting. I don't read all the details, but I know some teenage girls who do. Undoubtedly it teaches them to be wary of sex deviates or mentally sick boys or men.

Perhaps the average reader doesn't realize it, but there are still many homes in rural areas that don't have electricity. How then would they get their news if not through newspapers. Also there are people who are deaf and since they are not illiterate, they really enjoy reading the newspapers.

Even if you don't read a newspaper thoroughly, you are doing your carrier a good turn by buying it. Think of all the boys who are kept out of mischief by having paper routes.

If parents have an only child, they should get a good dog for the child to play with. Dogs can be trained to help people in many ways, especially those who are blind, deaf or perhaps too young to take care of themselves.

Physical Action Best Bet for Relieving Dangerous Inner Emotional Tensions

Bob has subconsciously hit upon a wise rule of medicine. He vents his ire by muscular action. Dr. Alvarez says if you don't shed tears with your eyes, then your inner glands may shed tears of adrenaline or thyroxine, etc., and upset your health. So try tactfully to extrovert your tension.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

After my recent lecture date there, Bob and his charming Texas wife were driving me to the airport.

★ ★ ★

As we approached an intersection, a car rapidly approached our main highway and only stopped at the last moment with a screeching of brakes.

Bob started muttering to himself at this evidence of stupid driving for the other driver could not help seeing the large "STOP" sign.

Because it had certainly looked as if he were going to ignore it, however, and cut right into our path, Bob had expertly swerved as far left as possible.

"Do you hear Bob talking to himself," Mrs. Housel asked me. "He does that when he is driving."

WARDS OFF ULCER

"Well, that's a very good thing to do," I added, "for it protects Bob from having an ulcer."

And that is psychologically true. When you extrovert your tension upon external reality, your "innards" are not as likely to get upset.

★ ★ ★

Thus, you are not as prone to suffer from peptic ulcer and spastic colitis.

You readers are probably familiar with the situation where a person may be confronted with some terrific emotional crisis. Maybe a wife is suddenly informed her husband and children have all been killed in an auto wreck.

If she remains dry-eyed and tense, you can realize what is going on inside. But if she finally lets loose in a torrent of tears, you know she will soon grow more calm and relaxed.

In psychiatry we call this an emotional catharsis. Dr. Alvarez has recommended tears for he wisely remarks that if your eyes don't shed external tears, then the ductless glands within your body may shed internal "tears."

And their tears may be an excess of chemical secretions which can tie your system into knots, thus resulting in insomnia, high blood pressure, peptic ulcer, spastic colitis, etc.

SEEK RELIEF

So try to expend your ire or grief or rage in channels which will relieve your tension, yet not hamper your later happiness.

Just the act of talking or writing your side of the case is a very helpful outlet. If you write an indignant letter, however, make it a rule to hold it till the next morning before you drop it into a letter box.

★ ★ ★

For by next morning, when you proof read it a second time, you should realize the folly of mailing such a violent, caustic missive.

But the act of writing will get rid of your pent-up feelings and be good insurance for your health. You'll then sleep better to get it off your chest.

Others vent their emotions via the keyboard of the piano. They will play violent, martial music until the emotional catharsis shows its good effect, as indicated by the more peaceful, slower tempo of their concluding melodies.

Some athletes vent their spleen by viciously pounding a punching bag, thereby building up stronger muscles while getting rid of a grudge.

Prayer is also an ideal way to talk out your inner tensions and obtain peace of mind and a smoother internal functioning of your ductless glands.

★ ★ ★

Most husbands explode on their wives or children, even though the latter had nothing to do with the original conflict, so you understanding wives should not grow offended.

Let your mates explode, for this will render them more peaceful and considerate a few hours later.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and a dime to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his psychological charts.

Columnist Answers Critic on Value of Tonsillectomy

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

"Tonsillectomy in the overwhelming majority of instances is followed by marked improvement in the health of the patient. In fact, it has been my experience," says Paul Herzog, M. D., in a letter to his home town paper, "that in the large majority of children, recovery is prompt, thorough, and gains in weight and vigor follow . . . The over-all death rate from tonsillectomies is extremely low, and not at all as high as Dr. Brady would have the public believe."

★ ★ ★

Tonsillectomy is so rarely fatal, Dr. Herzog would have the public believe, that to condemn the operation, as I do, when the benefits accrued are so great and the hazards so minimal is "impugning the medical profession."

Dr. Herzog describes tonsillotomy, which I recommend instead of the major operation for enlarged tonsils in children, as "removal of part of the tonsils," and dimisses it as "obsolete." He opines that an article of mine condemning tonsillectomies "reveals abysmal ignorance."

If you can still hear me, folks, I send this message from away down here in the abyss: Week by week, as the reports of fatalities from this unnecessary major operation come in, I become more and more prejudiced against it.

BENEFITS OUTWEIGHED

The fact such scattered fatalities do occur, unnecessarily, as I believe, far outweighs the improvement in health and the gains in weight and vigor which are commonly ascribed to the major operation.

★ ★ ★

Children usually gain steadily in weight and vigor as they grow, and this gain usually continues after the brief retardation of growth occasioned by illness, injury or major operation.

★ ★ ★

However, there can be no doubt that the benefits accrued, if the child survives the operation, are equal to any benefits accrued from tonsillotomy.

I have yet to hear of a fatality from tonsillotomy.

Defenders of the major operation, tonsillectomy, ignore two counts in my indictment of tonsillectomy, namely, (1) The most authoritative statistics on record in regard to the effect of tonsillectomy upon the frequency of alleged "colds" in school children, and (2) Reports on record showing that in most instances tonsillectomy leaves portions of tonsil in the throat and in some instances portions of throat muscle are removed along with the portions of tonsil included in the dissection.

'EVERY BIT OF TONSIL'

Since I have aired these charges in the public prints the everready operators have not sounded off so loudly or so bravely about the importance of "getting every bit of tonsil" — as they do when they operate. Dr. Herzog is modest about this. When he maintains that tonsillotomy, removal of part of the tonsil, is inadequate, regardless of the circumstances, he implies that lymphoid (tonsil) tissue in itself is malignant or in some vague way harmful to the child's health.

★ ★ ★

I'm afraid a good many doctors and specialists harbor some such notion and I impugn them for it.

Incidentally, a good many doctors tell me privately they agree with me. They hesitate to speak out at present because their colleagues are likely to charge that they "impugn the profession." I don't blame 'em. If I were in practice today I'd keep my mouth shut.

Signed letters, not more than one page of 300 words long, pertinent to matters of health and hygiene, not to diagnosis, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to the Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Mich.

New Plan Set Up for 'Fallout' Notification

A new plan under which Michigan residents can be warned immediately of dangerous radioactive "dust," or fallout, from an atomic bomb explosion will go into effect June 1.

Cooperating in the plan are the U. S. Weather Bureau, the Michigan Office of Civil Defense and the Michigan State Police.

Starting Wednesday, wind directions above the state will be plotted twice daily via balloons sent aloft from Selfridge Air Force Base and tracked by radar.

The direction and velocity of the wind will be measured at various altitudes. This information will be turned over to the Detroit Weather Bureau, which will do the plotting and send out the data on its teletype to every bureau station.

From the East Lansing station, the information will be transferred to a large map at the communications office of the State Police.

WARN KEY CENTERS

Should a bomb be dropped, the State Police, without further checking, would be able to notify immediately various key warning centers in the fallout area. The centers, in turn, would notify the public in their vicinities.

Advance warning would range from zero up to approximately five hours, according to officials, depending on the distance from the bomb explosion.

In all instances there would be a fallout within a radius of 40 miles, but from there on the drift would be determined by the winds, authorities say.

The new plan is a result of experience gained in atomic bomb tests. Authorities say it is possible to plot in advance "with almost invariable accuracy" the fallout area of the dangerous dust.

Corn Supports Seen Harmful

Economist Says Props Pushing Prices Down Instead of Up

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (UP)—Federal price support for corn probably do as much to keep corn prices down as they do to keep them up, according to T. A. Hieronymus, University of Illinois farm economist.

He said that the 900,000,000 bushel carryover from the 1954 crop isn't really large, compared to the 3,000,000,000 bushel crop that year, but it's enough to keep corn prices down.

The reason for the surplus is that farmers cut hog production in 1953 when corn prices became too high in relation to those paid for porkers, the economist pointed out.

The production is slowly climbing again, and the nation's farmers and other corn-consumers probably will use more corn this year than we produced in 1954, Hieronymus said. But the 900,000,000-bushel surplus will keep prices from climbing.

'We can never have a genuinely good corn market until inventories are reduced to commercial levels," the economist concluded.

Texas has 652 tree farms, more than any other state.

THE TOMB OF THE UNKNOWN SOLDIER

Today is Memorial Day, observed in many parts of the United States in memory of all those in the armed forces who died in battle.

The holiday originated during the Civil War or War between the States when southern women scattered flowers on the graves of both Confederate and Union soldiers. Now, the dead of the Spanish American War, the two World Wars and the Korean war also are honored.

Flowers and flags are placed on the graves and military parades and special programs are held. An impressive ceremony is held at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington National Cemetery in Virgina.

The Tomb, situated just across the Potomac River from the nation's capital, is a rectangular block of marble. On it is this inscription: "Here rests in honored glory an American soldier known but to God."

The Unknown Soldier was selected from among four war dead taken from American cemeteries in France after World War I. The casket was brought to the United States in 1921. Belgium, England, France and Italy also honor their unknown soldiers in this way.

Near the Tomb is a large memorial amphitheater where thousands gather each Memorial Day to honor the dead.

Color the drawing of the boy and girl about to place wreaths near the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

Janitor Fools Teacher With Reply to Bug Note

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UP) — A discussion of humor was under way when Mrs. Frances Lea discovered unidentified insects invading her high school classroom.

She sent a note to the janitor reading "I have bugs" and asked the class to speculate on his reply. One boy suggested: "You're lucky. Most teachers have students." Instead the janitor sent back word: "Be right over." He was.

Grass Is Only Hope for Dust Bowl Area

CHICAGO (UP) — Grass offers the only hope for saving the vast dust-bowl area of the nation, says Prof. Milton E. Parker, director of food engineering at Illinois Institute of Technology. He predicts grass will be a top U.S. crop for 1955 because of changes in the government price-support program. He gives these reasons for praising the practice:

It will prepare much of the country's acreage for future demands of an expanding population. Wartime demands and peacetime price-supports have caused intensified farming which has come "perilously close" to exhausting much of the soil. Grass returns vital organic matter to the soil. On watersheds, it helps control floods and prevents silt from ruining hydroelectric dams. It controls erosion. It holds soil where winds can't grab it. The farmer can reap substantial profits from grass by raising cattle.

This Story Rings True

KANNAPOLIS, N.C. (UP) — Mrs. Banks Auten lost her wedding ring 27 years ago. She thought it slipped off while she was washing dishes at her home in nearby Harrisburg. Later she and her husband moved here, but she never forgot about the ring. Recently the people who now live in the house at Harrisburg found it, good as new, near a well in the yard and returned it to her.

Hal Boyle Says:

Beloved Dead Live Again on Memorial Day

NEW YORK (AP)—Curbstone reflections of a pavement Plato:

On Memorial Day our buried dead come to life again in final pastures that bloom with flags and flowers.

* * *

They live and walk and talk again as they did in days before, and earth is bright again with their remembered presence. We see them once more in our hearts as we knew them in their mortal prime.

But Memorial Day differs from all our other holidays, because it holds so many varying meanings. To a child it is only a day off from school, and a feeling of bewilderment and awe.

The strange trip to the cemetery, the subdued conversation of the grownups about people he has never known—these things confuse him. He is too new to the mystery of life to have even a groping realization of the mystery of death.

BRIEF VACATION

Memorial Day to most young adults is only a day off from work, a brief vacation from the grind of duty. Death, if they have known it at all, has touched them but distantly, and their memories of it are dim and vague.

* * *

Their sense of loss is often small. What you don't remember well rarely stirs you to emotion.

To the elderly, Memorial Day is largely just another day. Every day is Memorial Day when you're old.

It is middle-aged people — or those of any age freshly struck down with grief—who are most likely to be affected deeply by Memorial Day, who can be hurt or helped by it.

THREE GENERATIONS

They have the dead of three generations to remember-parents, friends, brothers and sisters, and perhaps lost children of their own.

* * *

But Memorial Day is hard on anyone who remains half-taught by anguish, unreconciled to death, and clings stubbornly and alone to the memory of one he mourns. For him Memorial Day holds no pleasure, only the misery of a self-perpetuated torture.

All Memorial Day observances should be family, neighbor, or community gatherings. The memories of all who knew the loved dead should be shared. Only in this way do they truly live again as the full-statured people they really were.

No one owned them alone when they were alive, and no one should try to hold them alone in his memory now they're gone. We do the dead a disservice if we individually seek to keep them as merely part of our mental real estate, the pale prisoners of a single mind.

* * *

This shows, not that we love them, but that we are still trying selfishly to possess them even beyond the grave.

WAY TO REMEMBER

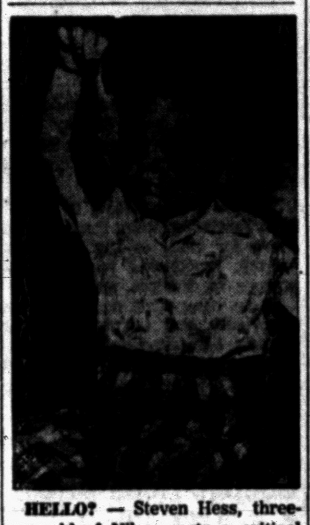

Would the dead be cheered by this attitude? Do they want to be recalled in sorrow and alone?

The best way to remember our dead on Memorial Day is around the kindling bonfire of many memories, shared with as many friends as possible.

"Do you remember when he?"

"Oh, sure, and how about that time he—."

Then, indeed, does our vanished one rise and walk among us, glad as he once was, and alive as we are now.

HELLO? — Steven Hess, three-year-old of Niles, casts a critical eye on a five-inch panfish found in his front yard and apparently blown out of nearby St. Joseph River during a violent rain and wind storm. It was still flopping about when found.

News Bulletins Read by Argentine Priests

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Argentina's Roman Catholic priests have started reading weekly news bulletins from their pulpits. They say it is the only way they can publicize the church stand in the current bitter fight with President Juan Peron's government.

The first bulletin, read at yesterday's services, exhorted Catholics: "Let nothing part us, neither cajolery nor threats, neither life nor death."

The leading Catholic newspaper, El Pueblo, has been closed down. Priests have been arrested for distributing pamphlets.

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Police Sgt. Puerto Ricans' Problem Only in U.S.

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

SAN JUAN, P. R. (INS)—The amiable people on this island of Puerto Rico are baffled and sorrowful at the reports they receive about a "Puerto Rican problem" in New York, Washington, D. C., and other big cities of the U. S.

* * *

The can't understand how their people could cause trouble, and say the living conditions on "the mainland" must be responsible.

Over here, where the allegedly-problematic peoples come from, the citizens make no apologies for those native sons and daughters migrated to the states and got in bad with the law.

"First, let me tell you the basic nature of these people," said Scott Runkle, a director in the economic development program in Puerto Rico—an Ohio boy who came to this island and learned to respect its citizens, their strengths and their ills.

"They are accustomed to a warm climate," he said, "both literally and figuratively. They grew up in a leisurely tradition, with no particular ambition because until recently, what was there to do unless you worked the sugar cane farms? Plenty of time for singing and affection. But few, here, ever heard of the by-words of a city like New York — 'ambition' or 'drive'."

LIKE ISLAND LIFE

They liked their life on the island, but overcrowded conditions and unemployment forced them to the states. "Just imagine having the entire population of the world crammed within the borders of the United States," said Runkle. "That would be the approximate density of the population now in Puerto Rico."

* * *

So the logical migration, he went on, is to the large cities of the United States. "And there, suddenly, these people are thrown into a dramatic change of environment and culture, under the most unfavorable conditions. They discover, for the first time, that they are strangers and, therefore, to be distinguished from others.

They are no longer allowed to move slowly, or they'll be crushed. They are in' a noisy, confusing world they never made —and it makes some of them emotionally unbalanced, that's all."

It is that kind of story you get all over the island, when you talk to Puerto Ricans at home about Puerto Ricans on the mainland.

"We cannot feel shame for them," said one U. S.-educated newsman in San Juan, "but rather pity. It is not our nature to be hot-blooded and violent, although that's what you've surely come to expect of us because only our problem children get their stories in print.

LIKE DELINQUENCY

"It's just like your teenage delinquency problem we read so much about and like all news when you get down to it. The bad gets printed. The good, diligent Puerto Ricans I know in New York never get their names in the papers."

* * *

And the San Juan citizens never fail to point out, in what should be needless defense of their fellows, that although they are Spanish by descent and custom, they have shown evidence of being the most patriotic U. S. citizens of all . . .

They always bring up, proudly, the fact that in World War II and the Korean War, the ratio of Puerto Rican volunteers in the U. S. Army was higher than that of any single state in the union. And that, in Korea, they suffered the highest percentage of casualties.

"Yet sometimes," said the newsman thoughtfully, "we wonder how many people in New York and Kansas and California are even aware that we are part of the United States, and have been for 57 years. I wouldn't be surprised most people think we still belong to Spain, and have no right to be living in New York City as citizens."

I must admit that I wouldn't be surprised either.

Retired Teacher, Wife Held in Slaying of Three Officers

OCALA, Fla. (AP)—Quick grand jury action was planned today against an elderly retired schoolteacher and his wife accused of shooting three police officers to death in a pitched battle at their home.

State Atty. A. P. Buie said it "looks like premeditated murder."

The couple were Edward S. Lindley, 73, and his wife Bertha, 70.

Killed in the gun battle were Deputies Curtis Youngblood and Bob Wooten and Asst. Chief M. O. Tuck of Ocala police.

* * *

Another deputy, W. G. Ergle Jr., also was hit but the state attorney said he 'is coming along all right and will be available to testify within two weeks.'

Sheriff Don McLeod said he was holding the couple for murder although he had not lodged formal charges. This will be done before they are arraigned, probably tomorrow.

The gun battle, in which hundreds of shots were fired, took place after officers answered the complaint of Douglas Wingfield that Lindley, his neighbor, shot at him while he was watering his flowers.

* * *

Wingfield several days earlier had placed a "keep out" sign in his yard and a "neighbor's squabble" followed, McLeod said.

Lindley told investigators he did not know Wooten and Youngblood were officers. He said Mrs. Lindley went out with a shotgun to tell them to keep off.

"I hollered at them three times. I told them to let her alone. When they didn't leave her alone, I shot," the sheriff said Lindley stated.

She denied shooting any gun. McLeod said he felt certain she did shoot because two guns were being fired simultaneously during the fight.

* * *

The Lindleys were finally forced from their home by tear gas dropped through a window by a Florida highway trooper. Inside officers said they found an arsenal of "at least 25" loaded weapons.

A nearby shed housed a 1953 automobile with two extra gas tanks, a high-speed carburetor and overload springs. Burglary tools and two pistols were in the vehicle, police said.

Lindley told officers he lived on a schoolteacher's pension but state trooper Sam Oswald said he found bank statements in the house showing the couple had deposits in several Florida banks totaling about $47,000.

At Kokomo, Ind., C. V. Haworth, former school superintendent, said Lindley was a principal and math teacher there from 1921-30. He retired after a heart attack.

George in Favor of Adjournment

Says Not Necessary for Congress to Stay for Big Four Talks

WASHINGTON (INS) — Senate Foreign Relations Chairman Walter F. George said today it is not necessary for Congress to remain in session for the Big Four conference and urged adjournment as soon as possible.

The Georgia Democrat expressed confidence that President Eisenhower will "be obliged to account to this nation and the free world on just what the program is" after the forthcoming talks with Russia.

His view differed from that of Senate GOP Policy Chairman Styles Bridges (R-NH), who said last week that Congress should stay in Washington "so it can receive a report or any recommendations which might grow out of the conference."

Bridges and some other ranking Republicans have pointed repeatedly at the record of "secret" events at the 1945 Yalta conference.

Administration leaders share George's feeling that no "great events" will stem from the Big Four meeting, which is now expected to be held in mid-July in Switzerland. It is no secret that the administration would feel relieved to know that its sharpest foreign policy critics, mainly Republicans, would not have Congress to use as a forum during the discussions abroad.

Senate Democratic leaders are pushing the legislative program at a pace which could bring adjournment by July 15, just ahead of the probable opening of the Big Four conference.

Form New Government, Jordan King Orders

AMMAN, Jordan (AP)—King Hussein has called for formation of a new Jordanian government.

Hussein accepted Prime Minister Tewfik Abul Huda's resignation last night and requested former Vice Premier Said Mufti to form a new cabinet. The latter is expected to ask permission to call a general election.

No reason was given for Tewfik's resignation, but there has been a growing rift in the Cabinet.

Austria Eying Army

VIENNA (AP) — Chancellor Julius Raab says his government soon will ask the Big Four to let Austria start raising her new army even before the Austrian independence treaty takes effect. Raab in a radio address last night said he expected the United States, Britain, France and the Soviet Union to approve the request.

Tito, Russians Drafting Policy

Go to Island Retreat to Prepare Statement Summing Up Talks

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — President Tito and his Soviet visitors escaped the publicity limelight today to thresh out the final declaration of their conference.

For the first time since the Russians arrived last Thursday, they got away from the camera barrage. The press was barred from the three-square-mile island.

* * *

Tito and his guests made the trip to Brioni yesterday by train to Karlovac and then by car to the shore. Large crowds greeted them at various points.

The party will remain on Brioni until tomorrow, when the Russians leave for visits to Ljubljana and Zagreb, capitals of the Yugoslav regions of Slovenia and Croatia.

Their chief task on the island reportedly was to put the final touches on a declaration of principles to govern future relations between Moscow and the former satellite chief who broke with Stalin and the Cominform in 1948.

College Head Gives Son, Wife, Diplomas

FAYETTE, Mo. (AP)—Dr. Ralph L. Woodward, president of Central College, presented diplomas to his wife and son in graduation exercises here yesterday.

Mrs. Woodward and her son Ralph Lee Jr. both received bachelor of arts degrees.

Mrs. Woodward attended MacMurray College for Women in Jacksonville, Ill., before her marriage but did not finish. She resumed her college career in 1950, the year after her husband came to Central as president.

The Woodwards also have two daughters, 16 and 13.

BY EMILY POST

A letter tells me: "A young man I know invited me to a large dance at his college last week end. He wrote and said that he had engaged a room for me at the hotel in town which is a short distance from the college.

When I checked out of the hotel I asked the clerk for my bill and was told that it had been paid. I know that it is not proper for a girl to allow a man to pay her hotel bill, but rather than make a fuss I thanked the young man and let it go at that.

My mother now insists that I send him a check in the amount of the hotel bill. I think this would hurt his feelings very much.

I would like to know what is the proper thing to do in a situation of this kind."

Your mother is right. I think it will save his feelings if, when you send your check, you explain that you are sending it because your mother insists that you pay your own hotel bill.

Dear Mrs. Post: Isn't it in bad taste for a man to comment on the appearance of another woman when he is in the presence of one?

I have a boy friend who does this quite often and I think it is very unflattering to me. Isn't this rude, or am I just too sensitive?

Answer: He should not make a habit of this, but you should certainly not mind if he occasionally makes some spontaneous remark about some woman you both see.

Dear Mrs. Post: How are whole apples, bananas, peaches, plums or in fact any whole fruit eaten at the table?

Answer: Plums and bananas in fingers, small apples in fingers too, if you choose, but most people quarter them with a knife, cut out the core, peel and eat in fingers; pears the same, or if very juicy, hold and eat with a fork; peaches (if you dislike the skin), hold with fork, peel and eat with fork.

Washing Pup Fun

Pup-washing time rolls around and it's generally mother who gets the task, whosever doggie it is. Try to keep the soap out of his eyes, and stick cotton in his ears before you start. Otherwise, it's buckets of fun.

Though some are apt to lose sight of the true significance of Memorial Day, this is not true of the MOMS Club and other veteran's or patriotic organizations, which each year conduct memorial services at Perry Mount Park Cemetery. The Mothers of Men in Service shown above are the club's officers, who joined with many others this morning in remembering the men who fought and died in the past world conflicts. Among MOMS who took part in the activities were (left to right) Mrs. John D. Brewer of Exchange street, first vice president; Mrs. Harry Luxon of Cadillac street, second vice president, and Mrs. Edgar Thomas, of Center street, president.

City Woman Given Post

Navy Mothers Hold State Parley

One of the highlights of the first Navy Mothers state convention which took place here with the local group as hosts, was the election of state officers.

Pontiac will be represented on the slate through Mrs. Vinton Ball, who was installed as matron-at-arms.

New state commander is Mrs. Mary Penn Jones of Dearborn. Other Michigan officers are Mrs. Sena Bogema of Kalamazoo, first vice commander; Mrs. Francis Cord of Brighton, second vice commander and Mrs. Ethel Ziessow of Detroit, adjutant.

Others will be Mrs. Maurice LaFave of Van Dyke, finance officer; Mrs. Charles Powers of Ypsilanti, chaplain; Mrs. Oral Nelson of Grand Rapids, judge advocate; Mrs. Ada Heiermann of Buchanan, matron-at-arms, and Mrs. Estelle Shomaker of Highland Park and Mrs. Leona Prince of Niles, color bearers.

The evening installation was preceded by a day of activities which started at Hotel Pontiac with Mrs. Ball, chairman, calling the convention to order. State Chaplain Marion Kuhlman gave the invocation and the Pledge of Allegiance was led by Lillian Temple.

WELCOMES GROUP

City Commissioner Floyd P. Miles welcomed the group as its two-day gathering got under way.

A special guest here for the occasion was Pauline Kelly of Milwaukee, Wis., who is national commander.

After the election came a memorial service by Navy Mothers of Detroit, Club 68.

Presentation of the state gavel was made by Maurice LaFave, followed by presentation of the Michigan state flag, which was donated by Robert Ungurean of Van Dyke, a Korean veteran.

Entertainment and refreshments concluded the first day's program.

* * *

The second and closing day was devoted to business, with the afternoon session opened by Chaplain Marion Kuhlman. Bids were taken for the next annual convention which, it was decided upon, will be held in Kalamazoo with the club of that city as hosts.

Judging of the exhibit, for which Pontiac won a second award for handiwork, was done by John Yungk, Mrs. George Brown, and Mrs. Theodore Marchbanks.

A banquet that evening was served in the ballroom. Lt. Bernard Woessener, commander of the Pontiac Naval Training center, was the main speaker. Another speaker was M. Sgt. Ishmeal Powers, local U. S. Marine recruiter.

WELFARE DISCUSSED

National Commander Pauline Kelly spoke briefly on welfare and what the state organization means to the clubs, both state and national.

Mrs. Maurice LaFave, national appointee for the state organizer, announced that 476 clubs are now in existence in the United States, encompassing 25,000 members.

Welfare reports totaled $10,448.56, donated by the club in addition to the hours of volunteer hospital and other work. (The Pontiac club goes once a month to the Detroit USO.)

Navy Mothers has been organized nationally for 25 years and in April gave the power for clubs to organize on a state basis.

Church Planning New Addition

Funds raised from the sale of debenture bonds will be used to construct an addition to Joslyn Avenue United Presbyterian Church.

A kick-off dinner was held recently for the sales force, with George Wilson, attorney and member of the finance committee, giving an explanation of the bonds.

Sales methods were discussed by Harold Kline, sales chairman, who announced that the bonds would be sold to the public.

Named as sales captains were Marvin Fauss, chairman of the finance committee who presided over the meeting, Mr. Kline, Mr. Wilson, Clinton Passage, Loren Kelly, Robert Nelson, Charles Moore Jr., Francis Oak, Gene Hoisington, Robert Dunham ane Marion Farnsworth.

Also named were Harold Brown, Lyle Cox, Frank Cohoe, Denzil Lougheed and the Rev. Edmond Watkins, church pastor who was the main dinner speaker.

SANDRA McAULEY

Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred McAuley of Birmingham, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Sandra, to Barton J. Connors. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Bart Connors of Northville.

The couple plans to be married in August.

Garbo: The Legend and the Lady

World Ponders Romance of Star and Famed Conductor Leopold Stokowski

When Greta Garbo and the famed conductor, Leopold Stokowski took up residence together in the tiny, historic village of Ravello, Italy, a curious world wondered and speculated.

Their existence at the Villa Cimbrone, an English gentleman having close connections with the villa and its servants later learned, was perhaps less exotic than millions of imaginative newspaper readers may have surmised.

Still, with Garbo under its roof, the ancient structure was bound to become an enchanted place as well as the scene of a few mysteries and surprises.

The first surprise developed when Garbo's single, battered suitcase was unpacked by the villa's housekeeper, an elderly, French-speaking Swiss woman.

She discovered the suitcase lacked a single dress, a dressing gown or bedroom slippers.

It did, however, contain a pair of blue espadrilles, several pairs of dark glasses, a bathing suit, one pair of coarse sleeping pajamas and, to the housekeeper's astonishment, several pots of jam.

INSTRUCTS MAID

Garbo instructed the maid to wash the pajamas every morning, iron them and return them to her room by evening. The jam Garbo guarded jealously.

When she came down to breakfast each morning, she brought a pot of it with her. In addition to some kind of fruit, her breakfast consisted of cornflakes, covered with several spoonfuls of her special jam and over which she poured a cup of coffee.

She apparently relished the soggy concoction, since she had it every morning.

The Italian cook became curious about the ingredients of the jam, but she never had a chance to find out what kind of fruit it was made of; as soon as breakfast was over, Garbo took the jam with her and locked it in her bedroom.

* * *

Throughout their stay, the two health-minded vacationers followed a regimen of early to bed and early to rise, much exercising and sun-bathing and a careful diet.

Upon arising at eight o'clock, Garbo and Stokowski appeared in bathing suits on the terrace, where they spent thirty minutes indulging in vigorous Swedish exercises.

Garbo led the exercises, and was overheard one morning reprimanding the maestro, "one, two, one, two. Mis-ter Sto-kovf-ski, why can't you keep time, one two."

* * *

After breakfast and hiding the jam, Garbo joined Stokowski on the terrace for a sun bath or some reading. Sometimes they went for a stroll around the grounds.

RAW CARROTS ON DIET

Lunch was served promptly at noon, and the fare was never elaborate. It invariably consisted of raw carrots, but the repast was not without some variety, since two kinds of carrots were served, yellow and red.

For a reason that mystified the servants Garbo ate her biggest meal at tea, which lasted from three-thirty to four-thirty.

During this hour she plied herself with sandwiches, honey, jam, cookies, cake and other fattening delicacies. At dinner, which was served at seven, she reverted to her vegetarian diet, consuming only raw salad and fruit.

The day was over at eight o'clock, when Garbo went to bed. The mystery of the jam in the morning was matched by the mystery of the olive oil and salt at night.

Upon retiring each night, Garbo took to her room a bottle of olive oil and a small saucer of salt. She had instructed the maid upon arriving that these items were to be prepared for her every evening, and each morning the maid found the bottle empty and the salt gone.

The servants pondered what she did with the oil; one school held that she drank it, the other that she used it for complexion treatment. The mystery was never solved.

As for the salt, the servants concluded she used that to brush her teeth.

Outside the Villa Cimxrone, public interest in the secluded residents was mounting dizzily. The local correspondents were maintaining a day and night vigil.

* * *

Other reporters were scouring two continents in an effort to divine the celebrated couple's plans.

In an effort to raise the journalistic siege, Stokowski, after conferring with Garbo, struck a bargain with representatives of the various large news agencies; in return for an interview with Garbo they agreed to call off their watch.

CORRESPONDENTS ENTER

On the day of the ordeal, a delegation of correspondents was solemnly ushered into the library of the villa by Stokowski, who then left the room, rubbing his hands nervously.

Garbo also appeared extremely agitated. The moment her interrogators entered the library she jumped from the sofa on which she had been seated and began pacing back and forth in front of the huge fireplace.

She was wearing a blue gabardine suit with a Norfolk-style jacket, a yellow sweater, blue scarf and black gloves. She seemed to be suffering from a cold, and, as one of the correspondents noted, "her pale face, dusted faintly with powder but otherwise without makeup, was tight and unsmiling."

* * *

"Well," she said wearily, "what do you want?" A reporter asked whether reports that she intended to marry Stokowski were true. She shook her head.

Another correspondent asked, "Are you married?" She shook her head again.

Then, looking at the journalists and giving them a slight, cold smile, she said, "There are some people who want to get married, and there are others who do not. I never had any impulse to go to the altar."

She spoke slowly, enunciating each word in her low, vibrant voice.

"I HAVEN'T MANY FRIENDS

"I haven't many friends," she said suddenly. "I haven't seen much of the world, either. My friend, Mr. Stokowski, who has been very much to me, offered to take me around to see some beautiful things. I optimistically accepted."

Impatiently taking off her gloves, she said more rapidly, "Why can't we avoid being followed and examined?

"It is cruel to bother people who want to be left in peace. This kills beauty for me."

PLANS FOR MARRIAGE?

A reporter, returning to the main line of inquiry, asked Garbo if she had plans for marriage any time in the future. "Marriage?" she mused. "I wouldn't know.

"There seems to be a law that governs all our actions, so I never make plans." With that she indicated that the interview was over, smiled slightly as she thanked the newspapermen for their visit and bravely shook hands with several of them as they filed out.

Upon leaving Ravello, Garbo and Stokowski motored to Rome, where they spent a week at the home of friends of the conductor, and then sailed for North Africa to do a couple of weeks' sightseeing.

Returning to Italy, they motored leisurely across the continent and arrived in Sweden early in May. Reports that they had married or planned to were still in wide circulation.

The day they reached Sweden, Louella O. Parsons assured readers of her syndicated column that they need no longer speculate on Garbo's marrying Stokowski; it was already an accomplished fact, said Miss Parsons, with winning inaccuracy.

Garbo and Stokowski were together in Sweden for nearly three months. They made their headquarters at a country estate called Harby, which Garbo had purchased in 1936, for the equivalent of fifty-five thousand dollars. (She sold it in 1939, shortly after the outbreak of war in Europe, at a profit.)

Situated sixty miles south of Stockholm in beautiful rolling country, Harby comprised a thousand acres of farmland and forest, a garden, a small park and a handsome, fifteen-room house, which commanded a fine view of Lake Sillen.

Garbo and Stokowski had as much privacy as they desired and they settled down for a long rest. "We never saw them," one of the neighbors has recalled.

"Somebody said she and the musician spent all their time doing Yoga exercises. We never really knew. As far as most of us were concerned, we really didn't care."

At the end of July, their headline-haunted vacation over, Stokowski took leave of his companion and returned alone to the United States.

Garbo arrived in New York a couple of months later and, to the surprise of the assembled newspapermen, granted a shipboard interview.

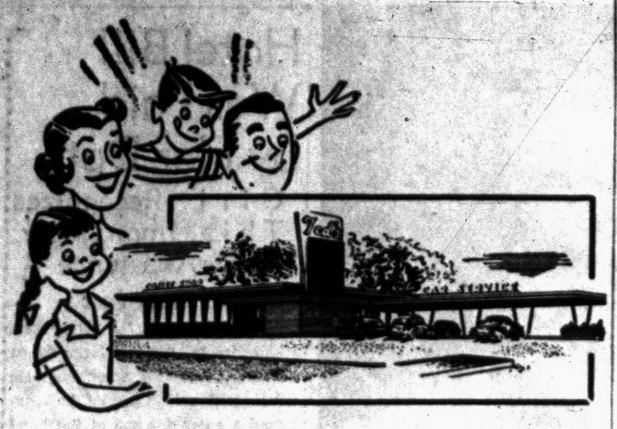

Naturally, she was asked, and in several different ways, about reports of her marriage to Stokowski. "I wish you wouldn't ask me that question," she said at last, after having parried others on the same subject. "I'm afraid if I were married, you would know all about it."

Well then, did she plan never to marry? "If I could find the right person to share my life with — perhaps I would marry," Garbo said. Did she think "single blessedness" was the proper state for a professional woman? "If you are blessed, you are blessed, whether you are married or single," Garbo replied.

As Garbo said he had promised, Stokowski had taken her around to see some beautiful things. Now, as her train rolled westward, another romance had ended.

Boy "Chicken" When It Comes to "The" Girl

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

"Dear Miss Woodward: I like this girl very much and I've been told that she has an eye on me. I'd like to date her, but I'm 'chicken'.

"The only time I'm not too shy is when I meet her at a dance, then my morale rises and I feel sure of myself.

"I see her every day in school, talk to her, but when I'd like to ask her to a show or a dance, I lose my nerve.

"You see I live outside the city limits and my parents urge me to be home before 12. It's all so complicated. Can you help me out?"

Answer: You have yourself sized up as a shy type—too chicken to make a real date with this girl. It's easy enough to be at ease with her around school or when you bump into her at dances.

From my angle, you're not shy on courage, you're shy on initiative. You can't quite get yourself organized for a date with her.

The distance between your homes perplexes you: The pure mechanics of picking her up, walking her home and getting home on time yourself have you down.

BREAK THE ICE

So why not break the ice gently by taking her to a Saturday afternoon movie?

You could get her home afterward and yourself home in time for dinner, and it would make a smooth first date. Then lead up to an evening movie, the first show, so you'd have time to get some thing to eat and still get home in time.

When your family sees that it can be done, they'd be more understanding about your seeing her home after a dance.

They might give you a bit of leeway about that midnight hour if they knew how long it took you to make the "long walk" after the dance is over.

That's just figuring out a practical way to date her conveniently. With a plan, you'll find the courage to put it into action.

"Dear Miss Woodward: I like him and he seems to like me, but I'm not sure.

"I'd like to ask him to one of our school activities, but I don't know how to go about it, and, besides, I'm scared he'd think I was chasing him.

"I go to an all-girl school so we're supposed to ask the boys. Can you give me some tips?"

Answer: When you go to an all girl school the boys have no way of participating in your activities unless you girls invite them. They expect to be invited — they don't consider it chasing.

CALL UP BOY

So all you have to do is call up the boy you have in mind, tell him what's going on and when, and ask him to be your guest.

Talk up the activity so he'll be tempted to think it's going to be as much fun as you do.

Then give him the details — time, clothes, etc.

If he has no car (and if you must ride to school) suggest that he get to your house at a certain time and your family will drive you over.

If the date is far off, jokingly tell him that so he won't forget you'll call to remind him a couple of days ahead of time.

If, by horrible chance, he shouldn't be free that night, tell him how sorry you are and let it go at that. Then get busy asking some other boy.

Meals Out Can Wreck Teen Diet

It's easy for a woman who's around home all day to find and keep a sensible diet. But it's much tougher for a teenager, for she, in many cases, must eat lunch in a cafeteria.

Or, if she works, she must eat out at lunch. She has no control over how her food is cooked or what kind is on the docket for today.

Unfortunately, a hard-won battle to get your mother to poach eggs instead of frying them, to avoid eating French fried potatoes, can be defeated with one meal out.

An unsubstantial meal at the corner luncheonette can put a big hole in your calorie budget for the day.

Here are a few tips on watching your weight while eating out, and no one will be the wiser.

Pass up the bread and butter, however tempting it is. Same goes for crackers. Four of those dry things are the same calorie count as a slice of lovely bread.

Ask that the salad dressing be left off your salad. If you can find a little vinegar, it may add to the taste of that heap of lettuce.

Ask that the gravy be left off your meat, if you have ordered a hot platter. Try to pick items from the menu that are baked, boiled or broiled. Avoid like gossip fried meats, potatoes and other vegetables.

In most places, you can order buttermilk, rather than drinking whole milk. If skim milk is offered, that's a help, too.

The teenage waistline battle can be won by concerted effort. Don't forget it the times you eat out.

Ironer Appreciated in Warm Weather

A household ironer is especially helpful during the hot months. The appliance is easily handled and can be moved from one place to another, wherever the homemaker chooses.

If there is a cool, shady bedroom, it's an ideal place, for articles can be laid on the bed when they are ironed and everything put away at the finish. And one of the best parts about ironer-ironing is that the woman sits comfortably during the entire procedure.

Potato Salad With Cream Is Unusual

Mrs. Roeser Gives Time-Tested Recipe for Delicious Dish

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Today's recipe is definitely new to your editor, Mrs. O. W. Roeser shares her family recipe for Potato Salad, a recipe that she has used for over fifty years. It is, in her opinion, the most delicious potato salad made.

Mrs. Roeser is a charming senior citizen with a wonderful sense of humor. She claims her only interests lie in just being with her family. She is quite properly a devoted grandmother. For her handcraft activity she prefers crocheting.

½ cup celery, chopped fine
1 small cucumber, sliced
1 small onion, grated
2 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
2 tablespoons melted butter

Do What Comes Naturally and Profit

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Some time ago, I was lecturing at a woman's club in the Midwest.

During the talk, I mentioned that the most successful home businesses were not always the result of coldly analyzing prospects in the community, nor by feverishly chasing any idea that looked feasible.

Many times, I pointed out, they were a natural outgrowth of some spontaneous interest—of doing what comes naturally.

WANTED TO TEACH

After the lecture, a charming young woman came up to say that her story was a perfect illustration of the point I had made.

"I always wanted to be a teacher," she told me, "but halfway through college, I married and started my family.

"I now have a three-year-old and an eighteen-month baby. I love them and have a lot of fun with them.

"They also satisfy my teaching interest, because little children constantly need help in growing mentally as well as physically."

NURSERY SCHOOL

"My neighbors," she continued, "are always asking if they can bring their children to my house when they have an errand to do.

"They pay me a little for this service.

"I kept thinking how nice it would be if I could have a nursery school of my own, but I didn't know how to get started."

"Then one day, several months ago, she took the children on a routine visit to her pediatrician.

"As usual," she continued, "the doctor's office was full of children and mothers.

"In the middle of it all, a terrified woman rushed in with her tiny baby who had been badly burned.

SUDDEN PANIC

"The baby screamed in pain, the mother in terror, and all of a sudden, the place was a bedlam.

"The doctor took the tiny baby into his treatment room immediately, while the nurse took care of the mother. But all the other mothers were terribly upset and all the little children, badly frightened, began to cry

"Well," she smiled, "I just kind of took over. I corralled all the children, my own included; I told stories and started a little guessing game.

"It was wonderful to see how the children gradually calmed down and the mothers relaxed.

GIVES HER A START

"It went on for quite a while, because the doctor had to work a long time on the little baby.

"But next thing I knew, the doctor was standing in the doorway and announcing that the baby was going to be fine.

"Then he called me in. After weighing my baby, and so forth, he commented on how well I had handled the children.

"The long and short of it is," she concluded, "that he found out my interest in teaching and my desire ot have a home-nursery school.

"He told me how to get started, cleared me with the authorities, and sends me lots of customers. I now have a morning group of eleven children. And it's wonderful.

"My own children have so many playmates—and I make a nice sum of money every week!"

New Baby Jealousy Can Be Eased

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

We can ease a child's acceptance of a new baby by:

Announcing its coming quietly, as though we regarded our news, not as startling, but as natural and to be expected.

Avoid introductory questions like: "Wouldn't you like to have a little brother or sister?" —and all pretense of offering Billy a choice he doesn't have.

Dislodging him from his crib or bedroom in advance of the baby's need for them so that he doesn't resent it for their loss.

Refusing to say, "I hope it will be a girl this time and suggesting that we had a preference before Billy was born, too.

Resisting the temptation to insist on the "fun" he will enjoy with the newcomer. Infants sleep eat, digest and cry—but cannot provide older brothers or sisters with their ideas of "fun."

Controlling our family's overenthusiasm for the unborn child with its hint that nobody's been too satisfied with the born one.

Avoiding promises like, "This will be your baby as well as mine"—and the inevitable, resentful discovery that our infant is not his brother's or sister's possession at all, but our own demanding responsibility.

Recognizing that our news creates the natural occasion for questions on the processes of birth.

Remembering that explaining our pregnancy makes females appear most important, over-privileged creatures—and that small sons will appreciate hearing that their sex played a part in our glorified state.

Forgetting to promise small daughters that they can "have a baby, too," knowing that no doll ever made can possibly duplicate the real baby we bring home from the hospital.

Promising to kiss Billy goodbye before we leave—and keeping our word whether's he's asleep or awake.

Arranging if possible for a private reunion so that we can reappear in our home, not as the strange mother of another stranger, but in the familiar likeness of Billy's memory of us.

Making use of stories of his babyhood to remind him that the newcomer isn't the only person we have nursed, burped, oiled and changed diapers for.

Never forgetting that the more relaxed is our own acceptance of the baby, the less we will have to press for Billy's acceptance of it.

A wonderful fragrance habit for the young bride to adopt is spraying her linen and clothes closets with one of the new aerosol fragrance sprays. It's a good thing to keep in the kitchen, too, to cool a fevered brow when experimenting with a new recipe.

Here's Treatment for Hiding Tears

Have to hide tears? Do this: smother your nose in cold cream. Remove it, then bathe your face in hot water then cold water. Then splash your eyes with icy water. Lie down with cotton dipped in ice water or witch hazel on your eyelids. Stay there 10 minutes.

Ideal Laundry Easy to Acquire

Whenever a study is made to learn whatever homemakers think of as ideal equipment, it is surprising to find many of them calling for appliances which they so easily could be enjoying right now.

"Ideal laundry?" By hundreds they name good sorting space, a washer, a dryer and an ironer, "so I can sit down while ironing."

To say that all these are easily attainable is the understatement of the year. Specified also by the questions-answers are good illumination and cheerful color schemes, two other prime features within the reach of just about everyone.

Easy to Take Care of Orlon Sweaters

First, because there are such beautiful orlon slipovers and cardigans; second, because the white and pastel colors are so flattering; and third, because to wash these new light-colored orlon sweaters, all you have to do is pop them into the washing machine, with detergent plus the new chlorine dry bleach.

This bleach works in the regular cycle of the washing and rinsing to make the orlon sweater as clean and bright as new.

IF top-heavy figure—

Cape collar adds to top-heavy look. Opened neckline with narrow collar is less cluttered on the busty figure.

The horizontal line that cuts across the top of heavy bosom, as a cape collar does, points out a big bust. The open neckline inside which the large upper figure moves with complete ease and thus avoids a sense of clutter is better.

Bleach Insures Stain Removal Without Delay

The prettiest cottons in your wardrobe always seem the most susceptible to stains, along with the tablecloths and other household linens where stains exist in the normal order of things.

So keep a jar of the new chlorine bleach in dry form in your laundry, kitchen and medicine chests for quick stain-removal action.

* * *

Follow the directions on the bottle for stains caused by tea and coffee, alcoholic drinks, blood and meat juices, chocolate and other candy, cod-liver oil, fruit juices, grass, tar and grease, mildew, mustard, perspiration, mild scorch stains and tobacco.

* * *

Chlorine bleach in dry form is safe to use on cotton whites and colorfast cottons, however, it's best to test the fabric first before using chlorine bleach at stain removal strength.

The first state capital of Illinois now lies under water. The village of Kaskaskia, founded by a group of Jesuits in 1703, gradually disappeared under encroaching waters of the Mississippi River after the capital was moved to Vandalia in 1820.

Construction to Begin on Southfield School

JOANNE LEWIS

Mr. and Mrs. Harold G. Lewis of Overland Park, Kan., formerly of Westacres, have announced the engagement of their daughter Joanne, to Robert W. Graham. He is the son of Mrs. Kenneth R. Graham of Hackensack, N.J. A summer wedding is planned.

Break Ground Early in June

Elementary Unit to Cost $425,233; Junior High to Be Built Later

Construction is expected to begin early in June on the elementary school unit of an eventual million-dollar combined elementary and junior high school for Southfield Township School District.

The 19-acre partially wooded site borders on the south side of Nine Mile road about half way between Southfield and Evergreen roads.

The elementary school will have fifteen classrooms, including a large kindergarten, four self-contained rooms for the younger children and two special rooms for retarded children.

In addition there will be a large airy playroom with adjacent kitchen, a book room, an administrative suite, and a boiler room large enough to house the mechanical equipment for the future junior high school.

BRICK EXTERIOR

The building will be of masonry wall bearing type construction. Exterior materials will be brick, with colored ceramic tile panels under the aluminum sash.

* * *

Inside, daylight from the windows will be supplemented by daylight from plastic sky domes.

Plans call for brightly colored metal cabinets in the classrooms and kitchen. Walls will be painted block or colored facing tile.

The building will have steam heat and each classroom will have a unit ventilator providing individual room control.

TO COST $425,223

Cost of the elementary school unit will be $425,223. Bids already have been approved and contracts will be signed next week.

Architectural contract will go to Arthur O. Misch of Detroit; contract for mechanical work to E. E. Lynch Co., of Detroit and electrical work will be done by Northwestern Electric Co. of Redford.

Following the erection of this elementary unit, plans will be made to add the junior high school section. Overall cost of the whole building is expected to top the million mark.

It is estimated the structure will be completed in nine months.

SCHOOL TO BE BUILT IN SOUTHFIELD TOWNSHIP — A combined elementary and junior high school will feature contemporary design and clean, functional lines. The school will be located on a 19-acre site on the south side of the Nine Mile road between Southfield and Evergreen. Construction of the elementary school unit, which comprises the right wing of the structure is scheduled to begin early in June. The unit's 15 classrooms will include two special rooms for retarded children, as well as an airy playroom and large kindergarten. Plastic sky domes will bring additional light to classrooms. Exterior will be of brick, with colored ceramic tile panels. Cost of the elementary unit is estimated at $425,223. The complete structure will cost over a million dollars.

Sewage Project Gets Detroit OK

Increased Capacity Set for Disposal System in Southeast Oakland

Negotiations with Detroit officials to increase capacity of the sewage disposal system in southeastern Oakland County from 40 to 50 cubic feet per second have been completed, announced Ralph A. Main, Oakland County drain commissioner.

Main's report was given recently to city managers and supervisors of the Twelve Towns area, and the Advisory Committee of southeast Oakland County.

The disposal system additions will cost anywhere from $75,000 to $90,000. Taxpayers will not be assessed, Main said.

Bids for the purchase of two larger pumps of 25 cubic feet capacity each, will be taken within the month, to replace the two 15 c.f.s. capacity pumps now in use. One of the pumps will be equipped to pump automatically to its capacity at a demand rate. This will eliminate the need for the present pumping schedule used after heavy rains, Main reported.

Madison Height Ballot Changed

Commission Decides to Delete Controversial 'Void Vote' Provision

MADISON HEIGHTS—A controversial "void ballot" provision in ballots for the June 7 charter election at Madison Heights will be eliminated.

The Madison Heights Charter Commission voted to delete the paragraph at a special meeting Saturday after 14 of the 27 candidates had requested their names be withdrawn from the ballot as a protest action.

The paragraph had instructed voters that if they voted "no" on the charter proposals they would not be permitted to vote for council candidates listed.

Under the restrictions, ballots containing both a "no" vote on the proposed charter and votes for candidates for the city council on the ballot would have been counted as void.

Mrs. Virginia M. Solberg, secretary of the Madison Heights Charter Commission and chairman of the election committee, stated as the reason for the change:

"In order not to jeopardize the passage of the charter, which had been approved by the attorney general's office and signed by the governor of Michigan, we decided to strike out the controversial paragraph."

The Royal Oak Township area voted Jan. 17, to to become the city of Madison Heights.

Chatterton-Lewis Vows Spoken in Evening Rites

KEEGO HARBOR — In an evening ceremony Saturday at the Orchard Lake Presbyterian Community Church, Nancy Elizabeth Lewis and Dwain Chatterton exchanged nuptial vows.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ted T. Lewis, of 2405 Pine Lake Ave. Mr. and Mrs. Clair Chatterton of 242 Fordham are the parents of the bridegroom.

For the rites the bride wore a pale blue ballerina-length dress, with white accessories. She carried a bouquet of white carnations tipped with pink.

Marian Thompson of Keego Harbor was the maid of honor and James Chatterson of Keego Harbor served his brother as best man.

After a trip through the northern part of the state, the couple will live in Drayton Plains.

Britain Hails Chinese Move to Free Captives

LONDON, (AP)—The British Foreign Office today welcomed Red China's reported intention to release four imprisoned American airmen "as the first step toward improvement of international relations."

Britain, which recognizes the Peiping regime diplomatically, had taken up the question of the airmen with the Communists through her charge d'affaires in Peiping.

Man Confesses to 1936 Murder

Admits Sex Slaying 20 Years Ago; Police Not Convinced

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—An unemployed laborer with a police record of sex offenses has "confessed" the 20-year-old murder of Ruth Muir, Riverside YMCA secretary, but police are not yet convinced he is the right man.

"I'm tired of running. . . . I'm sick of remorse," Wilburt Felix Friend, 44, was quoted by Police Lt. Mort Gear as saying.

Lt. Geer said there have been a number of faked confessions over the years and Friend's admission is being checked against the records.

Miss Muir was vacationing at La Jolla with her parents when she was killed the evening of Aug. 31, 1936. The 48-year-old spinster had gone to sit on an ocean front bench in the moonlight. Her attacker dragged her into a gully and, after an apparent attempt to commit a sexual crime, beat her to death.

Friend, at the time, was a caddy at a La Jolla Golf Club. He was one of several persons questioned then.

He was arrested this time and booked on a charge of suspicion of murder after telephoning a San Diego Union reporter, Mark Waters, from San Juan Capistrano, and saying he wanted to "confess."

Twister-Hit Town Buries Storm Dead

UDALL, Kan. (AP)—Funeral rites were held yesterday for 10 victims of the tornado which hit this south central Kansas village in a night of terror Wednesday.

The twister leveled the town of 566 and took 67 lives. John Serrot, 74, the latest fatality, died yesterday of injuries.

The funeral services were held individually as thousands of sightseers drove past the shattered community.

George Says Senate Won't Okay Firings

WASHINGTON (INS)—The head of the Foreign Relations Committee declared today "there isn't a chance" that the Senate will give the administration authority to fire some 2,000 foreign aid workers.

But Chairman Walter F. George (D-Ga), whose committee rejected this proposal, said he expects the "main fight" in impending Senate debate on the 3 billion 400 million dollar global aid bill will be over the firing provision.

George's committee, by an 8 to 5 vote, killed a provision that would have permitted the administration to oust foreign aid workers who do not have veterans' preference and who make $5,500 a year or more.

Sen. Homer Capehart (R-Ind), a committeeman, told a reporter he will make a fight on the floor this week to revive the discharge authority.

Calm Stranger Pulls Seven From River

HAMPTON Court, England (UP)—Neil Dronfield, aged 8, fell off a bridge into the Thames River yesterday.

Frank Willingale dived in to save the child, then began to flounder himself. Mrs. Willingale went in to save her husband.

In the excitement the four Willingale children, ranging in age from 7 to 2, fell in after their parents.

Cast of 'Ankles Aweigh' Rolls in Aisles – Offstage

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Betty and Jane Kean were saying this week that "Ankles Aweigh" is the funniest show in the history of the world—"backstage."

★ ★ ★ ★

Jane, the younger sister, was doing a song which she liked, but it was taken away from her.

"Get it back! Jane was urged by Joey Adams, an old friend. "You've got some influence around here. Howard. Hoyt, the producer, is your brother-in-law."

"Y-yeah," gulped Jane, "but he gave it to my sister who has more influence. She's his wife."

★ ★ ★ ★

"Then there are the writers," sighed Jane one night at Sardi's.

"Guy Bolton's 71 and English. Goes to bed at 9 and gets up at 5 a.m. and starts to write. Eddie Davis, the other writer, goes to bed at 5 a.m. and gets up at 9 p.m. Eddie told his wife to get a new dress for the opening. She bought one for $120 and he made her take it back.

"He told her, 'Don't be that optimistic!'"

Bolton'd get the girls aside and say in a soft voice "Here's one that Ina Claire got a hell of a loff with once." Davis, a former cab driver, would roar to them, "Here's a surefire yok!"

Davis was indefatigable. If the gals spurned the joke, he'd try to sneak it in a couple days later in a different form, hoping they'd forgotten it.

"Lew Parker, Betty George, and Gaby Dell all were bringing in their own jokes," Jane said. "Jerry Robbins, who was doing the staging, would say every night, 'Let's freeze the book,' meaning no more changes in dialogue.

★ ★ ★ ★

"And every night," said Betty, "somebody'd bring in his own jokes and thaw it out again."

"Like one night Mark Dawson ad libbed a fall right on top of me. It was so funny so we decided to keep it in."

"We're also an unusual show in that we have an all-star cast of backers." Jane spoke up. "Durante, Joe E. Lewis, Dolly Netcher, Josh Logan, Oscar Hammerstein, Dick Rodgers . . .

★ ★ ★ ★

"In fact, our backers are more interesting than our actors," she decided.

The Keans, who have become the best known female act in show business, had never had a Broadway stage opening together prior to this one. They were almost as nervous as Betty was when she went from Hartford, Conn., to Hollywood and danced one night at the old Trocadero on one of the big Sunday nights.

★ ★ ★ ★

"The floor was slippery and I started sliding. I was a serious dancer in those days and I fell down a couple of times I came off in tears.

"Jack Benny said to me, 'You have a good sense of humor,' and that's how I became a comedienne."

Now she smokes cigars, wears bagels for earrings and bounces around in a low-cut sweater and calls herself "Gina Lolobagela." She's one actress who seldom fights over a script.

"I don't read them," she admits. "I don't believe actors are any judges of scripts, anyway.

Adlai's Chances Seen Improved

Symington Withdrawal Clears Way for Naming Stevenson

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala) says Adlai E. Stevenson's prospects for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1956 have been brightened by a statement from Sen. Symington (D-Mo) that he is not interested.

* * *

Sparkman was the vice presidential nominee on the ticket headed by Stevenson in 1952. Symington's name has frequently been metioned as a possibility next year, although Stevenson is generally regarded as having the inside track if he wants to run again.

* * *

Symington said on a radio program recorded for broadcast over a New Orleans station yesterday that "I'm not interested and not available for the nomination." He said also he is sure he will not be nominated.

* * *

Sparkman, saying in an interview this seemed to eliminate one possible rival to the former Illinois governor, added:

"I don't believe that by the time the first of the year rolls around there will be any real threat to Stevenson as the nominee."

* * *

Sen. Kefauver of Tennessee, who was Stevenson's chief rival for the Democratic nomination in 1952, got in some criticism of President Eisenhower over the weekend.

* * *

Speaking at a party dinner at Poland Springs, Maine, Kefauver said Eisenhower spends less time in the White House than any other president and that his administration is on "dead center" because of a lack of firm leadership.

"As a Democrat," Kefauver said, 'I believe that whether President Eisenhower agrees to run or not, the Democratic party will again wi n the presidency next year."

Student Climber Killed on Japanese Mountain

FUKUSHIMA, Japan (AP)—A student climber was killed yesterday when he fell off a narrow mountain trail in a blinding rain and hail storm. A second member of the party of 15, climbing Mt. Nasu 115 miles north of Tokyo, was reported missing.

The party leader said seven students collapsed as they tried to beat their way to shelter and the rest became separated. They later were wound and helped to safety.

Hollywood Headlines

Filming Either Too Fast or Too Slow, Says Rhonda

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—They're either too fast or too slow. That's Rhonda Fleming's comparison of Hollywood and European film making.

The flame-haired Los Angeles lass is back from Italy, where she made "Semiramis" with Ricardo Montalban. Now she's laboring in the RKO mills on "Tennessee's Partner" with John Payne and Ronald Reagan.

The Italian epic was made in five months. Nowadays such schedules are unheard of in Hollywood, except for one of C. B. DeMille's infrequent projects. "Tennessee's Partner," for example, is being shot in 32 days.

* * *

"There seems to be no happy medium," said Rhonda. "In Italy, there is no pressure. If you don't get a scene one day, you can get it the next. It's an easy way to work, but it can be unnerving too. You sometimes find yourself impatient to get things done. It's hard to sustain a performance when you have such long interludes between scenes.

"In Hollywood, it's entirely different. You're so hurried that you hardly have time to think."

The reason for the speed here is manpower. Labor is so expensive—plus the use of studio space and equipment — that shooting schedules have to be tightly planned. Production costs can run as high as $18,000 a day. A week's delay in filming can mean the difference between profit and loss.

* * *

Life was not always so hurried in Hollywood. Rhonda recalled the days when she costarred in pictures with Bing Crosby and Bob Hope. Picture making was more leisurely—and more fun.

Rhonda has a chance to display her singing voice in "Tennessee's Partner." "At least I get to sing in the bathtub," she said.

She'll be able to sing under more dignified conditions in the future. She is booked to play Las Vegas' Riviera in the fall at the usual fancy Nevada salary. And she is among those being considered for the new Rodgers and Hammerstein play "Pipe Dream."

Broadway Hit, 'Time of Cuckoo' in Ann Arbor

ANN ARBOR—As a finale to its successful 1955 Drama Season, the University play festival will present Valerie Bettis and Lydia St. Clair in Arthur Laurent's romantic Broadway comedy it, "The Time of the Cuckoo."

Opening tonight, there will be performances nightly through Saturday at 8:30 p.m. with matinees Thursday at 2:30 p.m. and Saturday at 2 p.m. in the Lydia Mendelssohn Theater.

The play, which has been hailed by audiences and critics alike as fine entertainment, takes place at a private tourist home in southern Italy during the summer. It describes the encounters, both romantic and comic, of a group of Americans and native Italians.

Valerie Bettis, well known for her triumphs as a dancer and choreographer as well as an actress, will be seen as a middle-aged American school teacher in Europe on a final search for happiness. On Broadway Miss Bettis has graced such hits as "Inside U. S. A." with Beatrice Lillie and "Great to be Alive" with Stuart Erwin. Recently she danced the leading role in her own adaptation of "A Streetcar Named Desire."

Austria to Seek Okay on Setting Up Army

VIENNA (INS)—Chancellor Julius Raab says Austria will seek early Big Four approval of steps to set up an Austrian army. Raab indicated the service period in the proposed army would be short. Austria was accorded the right to have a defensive army under the terms of the Austrian state treaty concluded May 15.

AZUSA, Calif. (UP) — Charles Kuchar and Valdimir Vaskov each received 41 votes in a school board election. They decided the winner by flipping a coin. Vaskov won.

Fay Crocker Takes Edge on Field for Finale

By JACK SAYLOR

Consistent iron play and a hot putter have put Uruguay's Fay Crocker in position to make a runaway of the Wolverine Ladies Open golf tournament at Forest Lake Country Club.

The tall, good-natured, 36-year-old Miss Crocker matched Marlene Bauer's course record 71 (set Friday) to open up a 6-stroke gap on the field in the race for the $1,000 first prize.

Final 18-hole round was scheduled to start 10:30 a.m. today. Starting time was moved up an hour to help the touring players make travel connections for their next tourney, the Reading Open.

Saturday's rain, heavy winds and tornado alert caused a one-day postponement, reportedly the 1st such delay in 25 years in a metropolitan-area event.

Miss Crocker's 54-hole total of 219 was 6 shots better than par of 225. The latter figure was posted by Miss Bauer after a 74 Sunday

Wiffi Smith, long-hitting 18-year-old St. Clair River CC amateur, was a stroke back of 226. She also carved out a 74 in Sunday's round, played in chilly and windy weather before large galleries.

Betty Hicks, opening round leader and half-way co-leader, virtually discounted herself Sunday with an 82 in which her game fell apart in all phases.

Mis Hicks has a 54-hole aggregate of 230 along with Carol Bowman (77 Sunday) and Beverly Hanson (77). Betty Dodd and Peggy Kirk Bell, close to the leaders for 2 rounds, also faltered Sunday and are 12 and 14 strokes, respectively, off the pace.

Miss Dodd is at 231 with Alice Bauer Hagge and Betty Jameson. Following Mrs. Bell at 233 are Bonnie Randolph and Mickey Wright at 234, Joyce Ziske (235), Betty Bush (236) and Mary Lena Faulk and amateur Pat Devany at 237.

Grosse Ile's Miss Devany had a 42 on the front nine Sunday, but fired a 3-under par 36 on the back. She had 4 birdies against a lone bogie and one "bird' was on the 555-yard 15th hole.

Pattern for Miss Crocker's record-tying 71 was set on the front nine, with a hot 33. One of her 3 birdies on this side came on the 9th hole, where her eagle putt barely missed.

The South American champ picked up 3 more birdies on the back, but slid over par on the 12th, where she 3-putted, and on the par-3 14th, when her tee shot fell short of the green.

During the loop, she sank 4 putts of 7 feet or more, including one curling 40-footer.

Miss Crocker's card:

PAR	OUT	534	344	445—36
Crocker,	out	434	344	444—33
PAR	IN	545	435	445—39—75
Crocker,	in	536	444	444—38—71

Miss Bauer's Sunday 74 included a fine 2-under-par 37 on the back nine. Miss Hicks encountered trap trouble on the front nine and saw her usually steady putter go sour. She also missed a shot on the 9th by scuffing a short approach.

After 2 bogies and a double bogie on the front, she found 4 more bogies on the back nine. With the change in fortune of her game, much of the gallery swung to following the Crocker - Bell - Bauer threesome.

Miss Smith, a shoo-in for low amateur honors, consistently outhit her professional playmates (Hicks and Dodd), as she toured the front nine in par figures with bogies at 6 and 7 and birdies on 8 and 9.

The talented Wiffi was one-under with a 38 on the back. This included birdie 4s on Forest Lake's 2 longest holes, the 495-yard 10th and the 555-yard 15th.

A casualty of the day's play was spectator Don McDonnell, 32, of 670 Virginia Park, Detroit. He was struck in the head by a shot of Mrs. Bell's on the 10th hole, which knocked him out. He was taken to St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital and was held for observation, although pronounced in good condition.

GOLF 'STEERING'—Two attempts to "steer" the ball into the cup, or near the pin were recorded (above and right) Sunday afternoon at Forest Lake Country Club. Faye Crocker of Uruguay (above) tried to "body English" the ball into the cup on the No. 2 green. It missed. At right Peggy Kirk Bell of St. Clair watches an approach sail toward No. 3 green. Miss Crocker Sunday took over the lead in the Wolverine Open with a 219 total, including a record-tying 71 on the 3rd round. She was 6 strokes ahead of the field.

Weather OK for Big Race

INDIANAPOLIS (UP)—Perfect auto racing weather—bright sunshine, low temperatures and little wind—was forecast today for the 39th running of the 500-mile Memorial Day race at Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

Officials of the American Automobile Assn. contest board, which runs the show, freely predicted a track record barring accidents which could slow the race.

Bill Vukovich of Fresno, Calif., rated an excellent chance to become the first driver to win the 500 three straight years, set a record of 130.84 miles an hour last year in spite of wrecks and a brief storm that forced over 21 minutes of running under the yellow "Keep Your Position" flag.

* * *

Every one of the 33 starting cars ran well over 130 m.p.h. in time trials that reduced the original 57 entries, although 13 little dirt track cars sneaked into the lineup. Wind, wrecks and bad guesses on the qualifying minimum kept some of the faster big cars out of the lineup.

Clark (Shorty) Templeman of Seattle, Wash., one of eight first time starters, did an outstanding job for a rookie by qualifying an elderly dirt track car, the Central Excavating Special, in which Vukovich lasted only 29 laps in his first Indianapolis race four years ago.

The contenders, though, were speedway veterans driving big, powerful cars built only to run on the 2½ miles of brick and asphalt.

Six of last year's first 10 finishers were in the lineup. Besides Vukovich, they were Jimmy Bevan of Phoenix, Ariz., who was second and went on to win the 1954 AAA national driving championship; Jack McGrath of Inglewood, Calif., third; Fred Agabashian, Albany, Calif., sixth; Don Freeland, Los Angeles, seventh, and Cal Niday, Pacoima, Calif., 10th.

Mike Nazaruk of North Bellmore, N. Y., who was fifth, and Larry Crockett of Columbus, Ind., ninth, since have been killed in racing accidents. Paul Russo of Fort Worth, Tex., eighth last year, wrecked his car in practice but escaped injury.

Johnie Parsons in Van Nuys, Calif., 1950 winner, is the only former winner in the field besides Vukovich. Bill Holland of Indianolis, 1949 winner, and Lee Wallard of Tampa, Fla., 1951 winner, may drive relief.

* * *

The size of the purse, a record $269,375 last year, helps the drivers forget that 45 persons have died at the spedway since 1909. The last was Manuel Ayulo of Burbank, Calif., in a practice run crash May 16.

Brown Wins Feature

Pontiac Motorcycle Club held a scramble Sunday after and about 700 people attended despite threatening weather. A 10-event program was hel dover a half-mile course on 3 hills. Spills were numerous but no riders or cycles were damaged.

Title for Cranes

Cranbrook High School won one title and took two 2nds Saturday as the Inter-States Prep School League wound up its season. At Pittsburgh, the Cranes defeated Shadyside Academy, 4-1, to win their 2nd straight tennis championship, but finished runnerup in final baseball standings by bowing to the same school, 5-3. In track finals at Hudson, Ohio, Cranbrook scored 32½ points to finish 2nd behind the host school, Western Reserve Academy, which had 53½ points.

Bengals Heading Into June Trying to Hold on to 4th

DETROIT (UP)—As the Detroit Tigers head into Memorial Day—traditional quarter-pole in the major league pennant races — they find themselves in virtually the same position as last year.

Following yesterday's 9-3 loss to the Chicago White Sox, the Tigers have a 22-18 record and are in 4th place, 6½ games out of 1st.

Entering Memorial Day last year, Tigers had a 19-16 mark and also were in 4th place, six games off the pace.

But now the key month—June—is coming up. It was the 20 dreadful days of June which hurt the Tigers last year. They lost 20 of 31 games to fall far below the .500 mark, and completely out of the pennant chase.

Tigers close out May today with a doubleheader against the Kansas City A's. Rookies Frank Lary and Duke Maas have been named to pitch for Detroit.

Veteran Ned Garver started against Chicago yesterday and lasted only two innings, giving up four hits and five runs. The White Sox jumped on Garver and Al Aber for an 8-0 lead in three innings.

Even three home runs by Bubba Phillips, Bill Tuttle and Jim Delsing, in the 7th, 8th and 9th innings, couldn't help the Tigers. The round-trippers came with the bases empty.

Mike Fornieles went all the way for Chicago, spacing out nine hits, for his 2nd victory against two losses. Garver's defeat left him with a 3-7 record.

The victory was particularly significant for the Sox, enabling them to open a 3½-game lead on the Tigers in their scrap for 3rd place.

Tigers made the win a rather simple matter for Chicago by kicking in with five errors.

Jim Rivera slammed a two-run homer for the Sox, while L'il Nellie Fox and Pesky Johnny Groth contributed two hits apiece. Groth had six hits in the last two games of the three-game series against the Tigers.

UM Teams Grab Top Honors in Big Ten Events

Wolverines Crush All Opposition in Track; Win Net Title, Too

CHICAGO (UP) — Storms interrupted Big Ten athletic activities over the weekend but they failed to halt Michigan's one-sided triumphs in outdoor track and tennis.

Wolverines also ran off with the tennis title racking up 62 points to end Indiana's three-year reign. Hoosiers finished a poor 2nd with 40½ after Michigan swept all three doubles titles and counted twice in six singles championships.

Purdue edged defending champion Ohio State for the golf title with a team total of 1,141 to 1,147 for the Buckeyes.

Michigan won six individual track 1sts and the mile relay and score in all but two of the 14 events.

However, Illinois' Willard Thomson and Northwestern's Jim Golliday were the individual stars, scoring the day's only double triumphs.

Golliday captured the 100-yard dash in :09.5 and came within two-tenths of a second of Jesse Owens' conference mark when he ran the 220 in :21.3 on a near flooded track.

Thomson retained both of his hurdles titles winning the 120-yard high hurdles record in 14 seconds flat. He also won the 220 low hurdles.

Michigan took a commanding lead in the tennis matches and clinched the title before the doubles finals got underway.

Storms forced the golf tournament at Lafayette to be cut from 72 to 54 holes for the 1st time in the event's 36-year history.

Purdue entered the last 18 holes with a two-stroke lead over Ohio State and stretched it to six strokes for the margin of victory.

Wisconsin finished 3rd and Michigan 4th.

Rain Saves Pontiac 50-Lapper for Kourt

The race was halted after 48 laps with Kourt the winner by a very close margin over Jack Conely. Had the full 50 laps been raced, Conely very likely would have overtaken the winner. Gene Lock was 3rd.

Conely, however, won the dash, while Bill Hasselle of Troy took the 25-lap semi-final. Lock captured the pursuit race. Heat winners were Hasselle, Kourt, Lock, Johnny Wallace and John Rieberger.

Finsterwald Ft. Wayne Victor

FORT WAYNE, Ind (UP) — Dow Finsterwald can thank an iron game that neither high winds nor high pressure could crack for his first major golf championship, the $15,000 Fort Wayne Open.

The angular Bedford Heights, Ohio, golfer, fired a final-day 67 yesterday to regain the lead from defending champion Doug Ford, who had edged to the front of the pack the previous day with a seven-under-par 65.

Ford, who had to settle for 72 because of two early bogeys, finished in second place with 272, three strokes behind the new champion.

Starter Injured in Mishap at Gay-Day

Tom Taylor of Pontiac suffered a compound fracture of the right leg, fracture of the left leg and a laceration of the left knee when he was struck while acting as flagman for the hardtop races Sunday at Gay Day Speedway on Lake Angelus road.

While attempting to start one of the heat races, one of the drivers "jumped" the flag and Taylor was hit. He was reported in good condition this morning at Pontiac General Hospital.

The 25-lap feature race at the track was won by Benny Howell and the 15-lap semi went to Jerry Lafner. J. Brown and Cliff McKinney won pursuit races.

Welters in TV Bout

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two promising 23-year-old welterweights with a wallop, Gene Poirer of Niagara Falls, N. Y., and Miguel Diaz of Cuba, clash tonight in an interesting 10-rounder at New York's St. Nicholas Arena (DuMont-TV, 9 p.m., EST).

Youthful Chicago Cubs Entrenched in Second Place Behind Dodgers in NL; Phillies Win 7th Straight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It's high time for the rest of the National League clubs to start taking the youth-minded Chicago Cubs seriously.

Six straight series triumphs and 13 victories in their last 17 games have entrenched last year's seventh-placers firmly in the runnerup spot today, six games behind the league-leading Brooklyn Dodgers and three in front of the defending champion New York Giants.

* * *

With the only big name—outfielder Hank Sauer—sitting on the bench, the Cubs have been depending mostly upon sophomores and unheralded first-year men. And from the looks of things, the Cubs might wind up with both the Rookie-of-the-Year and Sophomore-of-the-Year honors.

Second-year man Ernie Banks drove in four runs with a grand slam homer and rookie Bob Speake scored three times and drove in the first of five runs in the big third inning yesterday to spark the Cubs to a 9-6 victory over the Milwaukee Braves.

The Dodgers took the rubber of their three-game series from the Giants 8-5 to maintain their six-game bulge on the Cubs as Duke Snider, Junior Gilliam and Jackie Robinson homered. Stan Musial's three-run homer helped the St. Louis Cardinals whip Cincinnati 7-2 and vault into fourth place as the Braves dropped to fifth, one percentage point ahead of the Reds.

Philadelphia ran its winning streak to seven straight with a 5-2 triumph over Pittsburgh, but the Pirates were leading 8-3 as they came to bat in the seventh when the Pennsylvania curfew law halted activity in the second game. The game will be resumed July 8.

Bob Grim won a brilliant 1-0 hurling duel from Baltimore's Artie Schallock as the New York Yankees captured their sixth straight and their 13th in the last 14 games. Herb Score struck out five to boost his league-leading total to 82 as the Cleveland Indians defeated Kansas City 4-2. Chicago's White Sox thrashed Detroit 9-3 and Boston out-slugged Washington 12-7.

Record Preakness Run

Nashua Well on Road to 'Millionaire' Status

BALTIMORE (UP) — Figuratively speaking, jockey Eddie Arcaro says Nashua "should last forever."

But it's not going to take nearly that long for him to become the second million-dollar horse in history at the rate he's going today.

Barely past the age of 3, Nashua has made William Woodward Jr. $569,990 already and he's built both physically and temperamentally to clean up at least twice that much before he's through with racing.

* * *

The $67,550 which he came away with by winning the Preakness Saturday put him about $130,000 ahead of Citation's earning rate at that time in 1948. Citation went on to become the only winner so far of a million dollars, which he exceeded by $85,000.

* * *

Nashua's next big pot is the Belmont Stakes June 11 and no possible opponent in that mile and a half race looks good enough to beat him. Swaps, the Kentucky Derby winner and only one to whip Nashua in six races this year, isn't eligible.

Swaps wasn't in the Preakness either and only Saratoga of the seven other starters gave Nashua any trouble. Saratoga made Nashua, who insists perhaps sensibly on running only enough to win, break his first track record.

* * *

Nashua's time of 1:54 3-5 for the mile and three-sixteenths was a full second and one-fifth faster than the old Pimlico record set by Tom Fool in the Pimlico Special of 1953. Citation, who also was inclined to be content with just getting the job done, won his Preakness Stakes in the slowest time of all, 2:02 2-5.

McHale Winner of First Match in British Test

Grand Rapids Golfer Also Victor in Amateur Tournament

ST. ANNES, Eng. (UP) — Jim McHale, Jr., former United States Walker Cup golfer from Wynnewood, Pa., began his 6th bid for the British Amateur championship today with an easy, 7 and 5 triumph over England's Eric Taylor as the six-day match play grind started in perfect weather.

Thirty-five of the 47 Americans in the 238-man field were scheduled for 1st round matches today. The other 12 will start tomorrow. Eight of the Yank Walker Cuppers who scored a 10-2 triumph over Britain at St. Andrews recently headed the American threat.

Competition began under cloudless skies and with a gentle, southwest breeze ruffling the gorse bushes on the 6,657-yard Royal Lytham and St. Annes course beside the Irish sea. Par is 35-36—71.

* * *

Vincent Fitzgerald of Garden City, N. Y., and Bruce Coffin of Marblehead, Mass., were the 1st two U. S. players eliminated. John Hawkard of England scored a 1 up triumph over Fitzgerald. Richard Ashcroft of England ousted Coffin, 4 and 3.

McHale won easily although he three-putted on the 4th green and drove into the rough on the seventh.

* * *

Charles Earle, United States, bowed to Phil Sidebottom of England, 4 and 3. W. G. Hendry of England ousted F. T. Wood, a U. S. performer 4 and 3.

Originally 52 U S players had been expected to complete but five of them withdrew yesterday.

Dale Money, Indianapolis, Ind., who scored one of the U. S. singles victories in the Walker Cup play at St. Andrews, opened his drive for the title with a one-sided, 6 and 5 triumph over Fred Cook of England.

Henry Timbrook, Jr., of San Francisco gained the 2nd round with a 4 and 2 victory over Scotland's Norman McKinnon. Alan Slater of England ousted another Californian, Clarke Hardwicke of Los Angeles, 6 and 5.

* * *

Eaglet athletes will receive letters in four major sports and other minor awards will also be presented.

Balance Pays Off on Track for Manhattan

Jaspers Only Claim One First, but Win IC4A Title

NEW YORK (UP)—Manhattan College Track Coach George Eastment doesn't believe in building super-stars and that's why the Jaspers today owned a clean sweep of IC4A championships—the cross-country, and the indoor and outdoor track and field championships.

Manhattan took the outdoor crown Saturday after a close tussle with defending champion Penn State, although winning only one event in the 16 varsity tests. That was Charlie Pratt's victory in the 120-yard high hurdles.

* * *

But the Jaspers scored in every track event except the 880 and four of the seven field events to finish operations with 38 points to 35¾ for Penn State.

The top individual performance was turned in by Pitt's Arnie Sowell, with an assist from Tom Courtney of Fordham. Sowell was caught in a swift 1:49.1 for the half-mile, wiping out all collegiate records. Courtney, who battled with Sowell right up to the final turn, was clocked in 1:49.2 which also beat all the existing college marks.

Other IC4A records breakers included Burr Grim of Maryland in the mile (4:09.9), Al Cantello of LaSalle in the javelin (228-8½), John Haines of Penn in the 100 (9.5), Don Bragg of Villanova in the pole vault (14-6) and Don Seifert of Brown in the hammer throw (186-10).

Disposal Problems Going Down Drain

LOS ANGELES (UP) — Some day we may see many of our problems go down the drain, according to a man who has made a study of such problems.

Albert Bush, of the engineering department of the University of California at Los Angeles, points out that garbage grinders have made considerable inroads into the garbage disposal problem.

"With futther development in the use of water transportation we may be able to get rid of other household rubbish in a similar way," he added.

"Disposal of all refuse at the household level would appear to be the best solution to both air pollition and economic aspects of the problem, if such methods can be developed."

His studies have indicated that present municipal incinerators apparently don't solve air pollution problems, "while collection is expensive and merely transfers the problem to another location.

Museum Is Sprucing Up Statue of Washington

WASHINGTON (UP) — A long-neglected statue of George Washington, depicting him in the toga of a Roman senator, has been spruced up for display here by the Smithsonian Institution.

Horatio Greenough, American-born sculptor, made the 15-foot-high, 22-ton statue in 1843 in Italy. Since then, the statue has moved from the Capitol's rotunda to its east front and finally to a dark corner of the graphic arts room at the Smithsonian.

The institution is lighting the statue's alcove and painting the wall behind it blue to make it more attractive.

Bulldozer Rips Cable, Cuts Off Phone Calls

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UP)—A bulldozer cut a buried cable yesterday and knocked out 400 telegraph and telephone circuits.

M. H. Cunningham, Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. test board supervisor, said about 50 per cent of the lines between Houston and Austin, Dallas and San Antonio were put out of service.

Crews were rushed from Austin to near Elgin, where the cable was severed. Most service was restored after about an hour. High-priority calls were transferred to emergency facilities, Cunningham said.

TV Funnyman Reveals Plans

Says His Future Video Schedule Up in the Air Pending Film in Britain

By BOB HOPE
Written for the United Press

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — A few years ago I defined TV as "smog with knobs," smugly boasting it held no terrors for me. After all, what could Uncle Miltie do that I hadn't done five years before?

Then I took the plunge. Suddenly, when I conjured up an image of all those people sitting in their living rooms—daring Bob Hope to be funny—it wasn't quite as easy as I had confidently predicted.

This past year was a good one for me. And I ran up a little mileage in bringing global TV to set-watchers. I had to go to England to nab Beatrice Lillie, to France for Maurice Chevalier, and took a short spin to Greenland on New Year's Eve. I even went to Phoenix, Ariz., for Winnie Ruth Judd, but she couldn't make it because she was tied up. In a few days I'm laying out my kangaroo coat for a visit to Australia.

My favorite video programs during the season were the Academy Awards presentation and the "This Is Your Life" takeoff on my own show, on which I adlibbed with a shaggy guest, Lassie.

My TV plans for next season are up in the air. One reason for this uncertainty is the fact that I'm doing a movie in England with Katharine Hepburn, come autumn. After that I'll probably be very large on the small screens.

But I'm prepared for more video appearances, and members of my family are staunch fans. We have a half-dozen sets around the house with so many aerials that the North Hollywood smog comes in shredded. We even bought a set for the cat. It's a miniature job that he can carry in his mouth. It warms my cockles to see him tote it across the room, place it in front of the nearest mouse-hole, then tune in the Kraft commercials.

I'm the original "have tux, will travel" boy. I made my first transatlantic crossing at the age of 1 year, when I migrated from England to Cleveland (Indian country, you know). Why didn't I stay abroad? I felt I just wasn't getting anywhere.

Jumping from one end of the globe to the other is not only great exercise for me, it's provided many of my shows with an international flavor you could never find at Sunset and Vine. To paraphrase Winston Churchill:

"Never in the history of human endeavor have so many squinted so much at so little."

Woman, Now 102, Recalls First Memorial Day

CYNTHIANA, Ky. (UP) — Mrs. Eliza Ann Rogers vividly remembers her 16th birthday. It was the first official Memorial Day.

Today, she's celebrating her 102nd birthday.

And the woman who never smoked, danced or drank will spend a quiet day with her daughter Mrs. Melissa Whiteker and son Orie. She has 9 grandchildren, 11 great-grandchildren and 4 great-great-grandchildren.

* * *

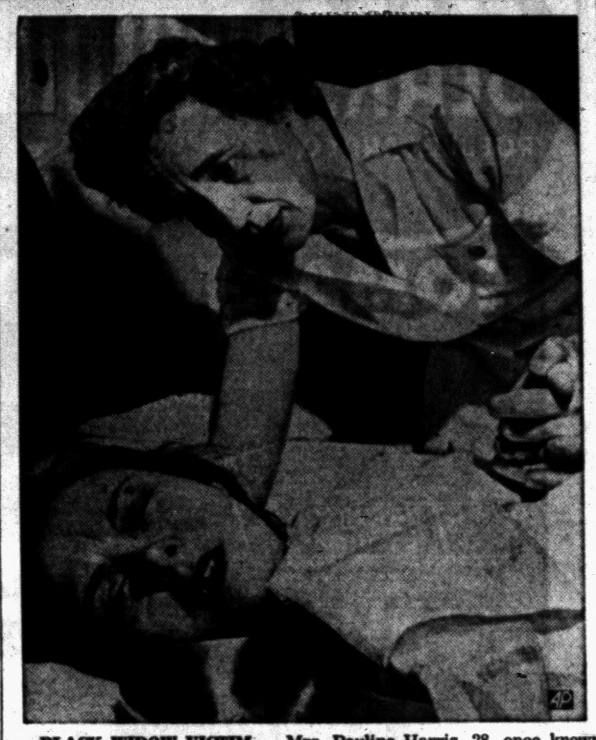

Married at 18, Mrs. Rogers and her husband James settled on a farm near her birthplace in the Salem district. He died in 1917 but she didn't give up housekeeping until she was 97.

In years past, she was interested in flowers, a vegetable garden and chickens. Now her sole activity is attending church—ever Sunday.

'It's my way of thanking the Lord for keeping me alive this long."

TV Gets Wiggles

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UP)—Mrs. Verlin R. Stevens had trouble with her television set and investigated. She found a two-foot copperhead lodged between the picture tube and the glass.

BLACK WIDOW VICTIM — Mrs. Pauline Harris, 28, once known as America's youngest mother, is treated for extreme pain and nausea by nurse Mary Wagner after she was bitten by a black widow spider while weeding her backyard in Los Angeles. Mrs. Harris, whose condition is reported as serious, was married in Forth Worth Texas, at age of 10, and became a mother three months before her 11th birthday.

Western Big 3 Want Lausanne

Allies Said in Favor of Switzerland Site for Big Four Talk

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Western Big Three have proposed to Russia that the forthcoming Big Four meeting be held at Lausanne, Switzerland, according to authoritative sources.

The exact date was not disclosed, but the sources said the proposed date is "in the vicinity of the July 18-21 date previously "announced" by French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay.

When Pinay said President Eisenhower had agreed to the July 18-21 date with Lausanne as the place, State Department officials were miffed. The White House replied at that time that Lausanne was only one possibility under consideration.

Russia has suggested Vienna, Austria, as the site for the talks. The United States was reported to be opposed to Vienna, partly because President Eisenhower would have to travel through a Soviet occupied zone to get to the meeting.

Meanwhile, Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland questioned whether the Big Four talks would include the Russian official who is actually at the "summit" of the Soviet regime.

He indicated he was in doubt as to whether Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin or Communist Party Leader Nikita Khrushev actually heads the Soviet Union.

The California Republican expressed concern that the West might lose face throughout the Communist world if Russia sends "a man with a title but without power" to the Big Four meeting after sending the "de facto ruler" to the Yugoslavia meeting.

Rock 'n' Roll Fad to Pass Says Robbins

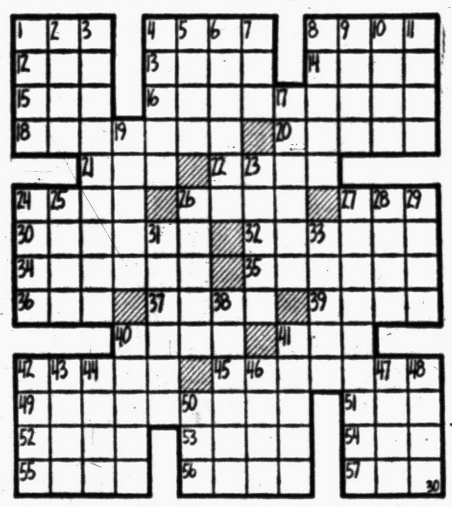

Disc jockey Fred Robbins, emcee of CBS radio's Disk Derby program, wants no part of the rock 'n' roll fad in music.

"The current trend for this kind of inferior music has done much to chase distinguished songwriters away from the clef sheets," he declares. "They find that the current musical frenzy is a little too stiff competition. They just can't lend themselves to writing this type of pap, despite the public demand."

Robbins predicts the fad will pass.

Wife's Plight Fails to Interest Husband

CHICAGO (UP)—John Vedeckis, 72, told a gathering of friends how his wife had fallen into a trunk the night before.

"Did she hurt herself?" One asked.

"I don't know," Vedeckis replied, "she's still there."

Vedeckis said he wasn't strong enough to pull her out so he went to sleep.

Mrs. Vedeckis was taken to a hospital.

Army Gets GIs to Drive Safely

High Accident Rate of Off-Base Servicemen Is Cut Down

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Army's traffic safety program is beginning to pay dividends in fewer soldiers killed on the nation's highways.

The safety program has been in existence for years, but was intensified during 1952 and 1953 when statistics showed that off-duty servicemen were involved in a disproportionately high number of fatal highway accidents, especially on holidays.

Results of the intensified drive are showing already.

Deaths of servicemen from off-base auto accidents in the past fiscal year totaled 529 compared with 650 in the preceding 12 months.

Army personnel were involved in 7 per cent fewer highway accidents — 3,291 compared to 3,077 — and suffered 11 per cent fewer injuries.

Motion pictures, posters, pamphlets, lectures and other devices are used to impress upon servicemen the need for safe driving techniques on today's congested roads.

Civilian press, radio and television outlets have also joined in the drive. The theme is especially stressed before holidays.

Rules governing off-duty soldiers have been made with a view toward lessening the chances of accidents.

A limit has been placed on the distance a soldier on a weekend pass may travel from the base to prevent long, dangerously quick trips.

Daytime traveling is being encouraged—most passes issued begin at noon now instead of at midnight as was previously the case. This change was made because of the large number of accidents between the hours of midnight and 6 a.m.

Mandatory inspection of servicemen's automobiles for repair and maintenance in isolated locals have been provided to check and eliminate mechanical defects.

A myraid of regulations concerning safety are worthless, however, without the cooperation of the individual serviceman and of this aspect the Army is particularly proud.

Of this, Eliot V. Parker, Army safety director, said:

"The major credit for our improved safety record doesn't go to the Army safety program and our instruction . . . It really belongs to the men and women of the Army who are willing to cooperate and assume their responsibilities for safety on the overcrowded highways . . . "
