

Hospital Project Given Priority by City Manager

By PETE LOCHBILER

Completion of the Pontiac General Hospital addition holds the city's top construction priority this year, City Manager Walter K. Willman said yesterday.

But looking to the future during his annual "state of the city" address before the Pontiac Rotary Club, Willman prophesied that:

Construction of a new public library may be placed second on the priority list;

Pontiac may expand to the east due to the "tremendous effect" that the new Michigan State University branch college will have;

The chances for a new civic auditorium by 1961, when the city observes its centennial, are "poor"; and
The first steps should be taken soon on the $8 million job of straightening out the Clinton River to provide adequate storm drainage.

Also looking to the future, Willman suggested the possibility of a new trend toward deficit financing of city projects.

Willman had these comments about improvements for the city:

New Construction — "Last year we completed the $350,000 Public Safety Building and the $100,000 new westside fire station. Both were financed out of capital improvement funds and are debt free.

"Future building is going to take second place to completion of the hospital addition. When that is ready, at the end of this year or early in 1959, I think the library should receive our next attention. It could be finished by the 1961 centennial and would be a new source of pride for the city.

"Also on the list is a new headquarters fire station, which like the library, could be financed through capital improvement funds. There has to be a parking lot at the hospital, and this could be financed through revenue bonds paid off by revenues from parking meters."

Water—"The city now is in an ideal position. We have to find a new source of water and presently have two very attractive offers. One is from Detroit, which has offered to pipe water out here, and the other is from the Southeastern Michigan Water Authority, which proposes to build a pipeline here from Lake Huron.

"Both offers are good and each is getting careful consideration from our engineering consultants. Before a decision is reached, in-dust, which is the city's biggest water consumer, will be asked its opinion.

"Whichever offer is accepted, however, it probably means a boost in water rates. How large a boost depends to some extent on how successful the two ventures are in other communities."

Drains—"The city is pretty close to its limit in absorbing storm water. Every new street and building means the drains have to carry that much more. If we're going to have an efficient drain system, we will have to take the bends out of the Clinton River and shorten (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

Hospital Staff Files Reply to Suit of Ousted Surgeon

The Pontiac General Hospital medical staff and two of its committees today filed in Circuit Court their answer to a $250,000 damage suit brought by ousted staff surgeon Dr. Neil H. Sullenberger.

While not referring specifically to 25 detailed charges of violation of professional standards which the hospital director, Carl I. Flath, had listed in his answer to the same suit, today's litigation did allege that:

"The records of Pontiac General Hospital reflect numerous incidents wherein (Dr. Sullenberger) has failed to practice medicine and surgery in accordance with accepted standards."

Wintry Days Near: Flurries Expected

Wintry days are ahead for Pontiac area residents. The U.S. Weather Bureau reports tonight and tomorrow will be mostly cloudy and continued cold with a few snow flurries.

The low tonight will be near 23 and the high tomorrow will be 30-34.

The outlook for Sunday is mostly cloudy and cold with snow flurries.

The Weather Bureau predicts the next 30 days will be dry and cold in the Pontiac area. Temperatures will be below average and precipitation sub-normal.

Twenty was the lowest recorded temperature in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. At 1 p.m. the reading was 28.

CAA Approves $105,000 Grant for City Airport

Fund Should Provide for Land Acquisition,
New Taxi Strips.

Pontiac Municipal Airport's bid for more federal funds to continue improvements that will attract commercial airline service came through today, with an announcement by the Civil Aeronautics Administration (CAA) that a $105,000 grant has been approved.

Coupled with state and city matching funds, this should mean that more than $200,000 will be available shortly to begin construction of two more taxiways and a lighting system on the east-west runway early this spring, Homer Hoskins, airport manager said.

The money also will be used for the important acquisition of about 20 acres of land on which a new terminal building and tower could be built, Hoskins added.

It should also cover cost of about 3½ miles of new fencing and the further acquisition of about 14 acres west of Williams Lake road plus easement on other property to the west to guarantee clear air approach to the airport, he said.

"Actually, we had planned to begin these improvements last fall, but our request was held up by the CAA until the easement problem was solved," Hoskins explained.

Therefore, he said, the airport is continuing to hope for another grant this year in order to get started on the new terminal.

German Court to Try 3 Nazis for Killing Reds

BONN (INS) — Three former SS guards in one of Hitler's wartime concentration camps will be tried by a German court next May for the murder of 12,000 Soviet commissars and political functionaries.

The German news agency DPA said that the Bonn public prosecutor's office disclosed today that the three to be tried are Gustav Sorge, known as "Iron Gustav" by victims in his Sachsenhausen camp, Wilhelm Schubert, or "Fist of Schubert," and Martin Knitter.

Approximately 150 witnesses—all former inmates of the camp, will be called, many of them coming from the United States, Israel, and Soviet bloc countries.

Most of the Soviet victims were killed in 1941 by shots through the neck.

The defense of the former guards is the familiar one—not guilty, because "we acted on higher orders."

MSU Teachers 'Getting Tough' With Students

EAST LANSING (AP) — Professors at Michigan State University are adopting a "get tough" policy when it comes to passing out grades and flunking students.

Dr. Thomas H. Hamilton, vice president for academic affairs, reported on the trend yesterday to the State Board of Agriculture, MSU governing body.

Hamilton said about 1,000 students from Michigan State's some 20,000 enrollment flunked out during the fall term.

This was around 200 more than the previous term and compared with some 600 students failing to pass during the fall term a year ago, he reported.

Hamilton also noted that there were only 180 students at the recent "All A" banquet compared to 240 a year ago.

"There was no policy change, no edict, no discussion or no decision," Hamilton said. "It seems to be an individual matter with the faculty members. They are getting more demanding."

Hamilton said he was convinced the trend stemmed from the recent world situation and the concern about Russian advances in science and education. "It strikes me as a good thing," he added.

Ferndale Official Dies of Injuries

Health Inspector Slated
for Retirement in Year;
Three Others Hurt

Ferndale Health Inspector George W. Martin, 68, of 370 Vester St., died at William Beaumont Hospital this morning after being injured in an accident in Farmington Township, according to Farmington Township Police.

Martin was a passenger in a car driven by Herman Stephens, 34, of 1210 W. 11 Mile Rd., Berkley, who was treated for minor injuries and released.

Two other passengers, Stuart A. Morley, 43, of 400 W. Chesterfield St., Ferndale, and Clark H. Hagerstrom, 46, of 1292 E. Maple Rd., Birmingham, were also injured. Hagerstrom was treated and released while Morley was admitted with a broken leg and is in fair condition.

Martin, slated to retire in a year, was admitted to the hospital at 1 a.m. and died at 4:35 a.m. suffering from multiple fractures and shock.

According to police, the accident occurred on Nine Mile road near Tuck road, when the right wheels of the eastbound vehicle got caught in a rut on the road shoulder. Stephens said he lost control of the car and hit a utility pole.

New Missile Named

WASHINGTON (INS) — The Army's new solid-fuel missile was named the Pershing today in honor of the famed World War I general. The rocket will succeed the 200-mile Redstone. It will be smaller, lighter and more flexible.

New Royal Portrait

CONTROVERSIAL — This is a closeup from the new portrait of Princess Margaret by Italian artist Pietro Annigoni. The product of 21 sittings shows the Queen's younger sister looking somewhat like the Mona Lisa in high-waisted gown with demure neckline and a dark taffeta stole around her shoulders. The British press hailed the new painting with fanfare but was mildly critical of the artist.

ENVISIONS MANNED SATELLITE — Kraftt Ehrlicke, German-born rocket expert, uses rocket and satellite models to outline a program whereby a recoverable manned satellite could be shot into the orbit within five or six years. Testifying in Washington before the Senate Preparedness subcommittee, Ehrlicke also told the senators that a vehicle could be landed on the moon in ten years or so. J. R. Polaris Test Vehicle Flashes Over Ocean

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The Navy launched a Polaris test vehicle today, and for the first time identified it as such.

The rocket took off vertically and streaked away to an undisclosed target down the Air Force missile test range.

Watchers in the chill morning air saw it whoosh upward with a considerably greater rate of acceleration than that of other big ballistic missiles launched here recently. The Polaris is noted for its fantastic speed.

It left a long white trail high over the ocean toward the southeast. The roar of its rocket motor came some seconds after the missile left the ground.

Polaris, named after the North Star, is the Navy's 1,500-mile intermediate-range ballistic missile. It was designed for launching from atomic powered submarines.

To Cancel Reds' Lead?

CHICAGO (INS) — The chief of naval operations predicted today the Navy's submarine missile will be "invulnerable" and will cancel Russia's missile lead. Adm. Arleigh Burke said the Polaris solid-fuel rocket will be mobile, easily concealed and ready for instant firing.

Polaris reportedly will be the biggest and most complex missile the Navy ever has attempted to build. It will be smaller and lighter than the other IRBMs — the Air Force Thor and the Army Jupiter — in the nation's arsenal.

The operational Polaris probably will be about 50 feet tall — 10 feet shorter than the Air Force and Army IRBMs — and 100 inches in diameter, and may be capable of carrying an atomic warhead of up to 1,000 pounds. There was no indication of the (Continued on Page 2, Col. 8)

Bank Accounts Under $1,000 Not Touched

Governor Wants Levy
on Such Deposits Be Paid by Firms

LANSING (AP) — Gov. Williams last night bid for broader support of his intangibles tax proposal by pledging it will propose a guarantee of tax exemption for all depositors with bank accounts of under $1,000.

However, banks which absorb the intangibles levy on deposits would have to pay on most such accounts, and at the rate of 13 cents per $100 instead of 4 cents per $100 as at present.

An aide of the governor said all but five banks now absorb tax liability on deposits. They have the option of doing this or billing their individual customers, in many cases for a few cents apiece.

Williams has called for a 21 million dollar a year increase for both this year and next in the state tax on stocks, bonds and other forms of "paper" wealth. The tax yielded $23,700,000 last year.

The governor's recommendation is part of a plan for staving off what he has described as threatened state bankruptcy.

In a statement handed newsmen after he had left on a trip to Cadillac, Williams apparently sought to allay fears that bank depositors would have to bear the brunt of the tax increase.

BUT NOT READY
But for his disclosure of the rate, he will ask on bank deposits, the governor has not specified exactly what he will propose. His bill will not be ready until next week.

In first discussions, he spoke of raising the Michigan tax to the level of the corresponding levy in Ohio. On bank deposits, this would have meant a 20 cents a $100 rate, or an increase of fivefold.

A spokesman for Michigan banks said that this would add 12 million dollars a year to the total bite on deposits and that they might decide to pass it along.

YIELD LESS
The governor said the added yield from his forthcoming proposal as it affected deposits would be $6,750,000, or $5,250,000 less than heretofore had been assumed.

There was no indication where he intended to attempt to pick up this amount so as to maintain the proposed gross increase in intangible tax yield at 21 million dollars.

One obvious possibility was from securities, which are now taxed at the rate of 3½ per cent on income they produce. The Ohio rate is 5 per cent. But if this was the case, he indicated he had in mind some sort of tax credit or exemption plan.

Goes Before Senate Agriculture Committee

Benson Defends Farm Program

WASHINGTON (INS) — Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson asked Congress today for early passage of President Eisenhower's farm program.

The controversial farm secretary faces what observers believe is a "tremendous" fight for his new program in the election-year Congress.

He urged members of the Senate Agriculture Committee to "approve the President's plan, submitted in a special message from the White House yesterday, to lower price support floors, expand acreage allotment and improve conservation."

Benson told the committee: "Our farm programs—no matter how desirable in objective—have failed to get the job done. And that is why our energies are now devoted to the search for better measures to assure the sound future of agriculture."

He warned, however, that "we will never attain satisfactory farm prosperity by increasing gross income if rising costs are allowed to siphon off all gain."

LEAD-OFF WITNESS

Benson was the lead-off witness at 1938 hearings of the Senate farm panel. Committee Chairman Allen J. Elender (D-La.), has already asserted that the Administration program "hasn't a ghost of a chance" of passage.

Benson centered his attack on the current price support program, charging that rigid proposals have "continued to generate surpluses which must be disposed of at heavy loss and which continue to depress farm prices and incomes."

He asked for authority to set supports on basic crops anywhere between 60 and 90 per cent of parity, the yardstick for "fair" farm prices. The present floor is 75 per cent of parity and rates are determined by an "escalator" formula that boosts supports when commodity supplies decline.

Benson asked for permission to increase acreage allotments for cotton, wheat, rice, peanuts and tobacco up to 50 per cent above current levels and warned:

"Allotments for certain crops may have to be reduced even further under present law, despite growing evidence that acreage restrictions have not brought about needed adjustments."

Douglas contended that all his firm needs now is a "go-ahead signal" to bring the important anti-missile missile "to the same status that we have brought the IRBM."

Judge Upholds Firing of Officer

Rules Commission Had Justification in Finding Romeos Insubordinate

The firing of Louis Romeos from the Pontiac police force by the Civil Service Commission last July has been upheld by Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams.

Judge Adams said in an opinion filed Thursday that the commission had "reason and justification" in finding the 28-year-old officer guilty of insubordination and dismissing him from the department.

The patrolman appealed his July 9 firing by the three-man commission on the grounds that his legal counsel believed there were four errors in Romeos' dismissal hearing procedure.

Judge Adams disagreed there were such errors.

"The commission was fortified in its finding," he stated, "because of the admission of the officer himself that he did not go back to work when he was ordered to do so by his superior officers."

He said further that he could see no wrong in City Manager Walter K. Willman's dismissal order, in the commission calling the officer before a post-hearing, private conference, in the hearing procedure, or in the public testimony being grounds for removal.

Three-Day Snow Over Northeast Reported Easing

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A three-day storm that stifled the Northeast under a snow blanket eased today although there was light snow overnight and rain or drizzle along coastal regions.

Heavy snowfall, measuring up to 28 inches in some spots, impeded highway and air travel.

The storm center moved slowly up the coast and the Weather Bureau said that rain in the warmer coastal areas would change to heavy snow as colder air waves in behind the storm center.

Most of the area from the northern Plains eastward to the Great Lakes and southward into the Ohio Valley and Tennessee was under a vast cloud cover. Snow flurries were scattered throughout the area but the fall was slight.

Sol Lomerson Heads Blue Water Road Unit

Sol D. Lomerson, chairman of the Oakland County Road Commission, recently was elected president of the Blue Water Highway Council, composed of the eight county road commissions from the Michigan Thumb area.

Lomerson, of 3328 Bald Mountain Rd., had served as vice president of the council.

Where does most of the rainfall in the United States come from? The water which falls upon the United States as rain originally comes from three large bodies of water—the Pacific Ocean, the Atlantic Ocean and the Gulf of Mexico.

Of the three, the Gulf supplies us, by far, with the largest volume of water. It is estimated that 55 per cent of the rainfall in the country comes from the Gulf of Mexico.

The Pacific Ocean provides some 30 per cent and the Atlantic Ocean 15 per cent. The area around the Great Lakes, contrary to what one might think, is not an area of great humidity—although rapid wind and temperature changes are experienced.

Army of Technical Experts Gains Friends Among Arabs

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst
Third in Series

The Russians served clear notice of their intentions. "The capitalist countries no longer have a monopoly on supplying machinery and equipment, granting credits and imparting know-how," Soviet delegate A. A. Arzumanyan told the Afro-Asian Conference in Cairo last month.

The Russians thus repeated their war declaration in the political-economic field in underdeveloped countries. Despite Sputniks and missiles, the political-economic arena is the place where the decisive battles of the cold war are likely to be fought.

An important, and often unnoticed, part in this battle is played by America's small army of technical experts under the International Cooperation Administration program to help other nations help themselves. How are the Americans doing? Are there too many of them in the Middle East and North Africa?

Compared with the rest of the world, the Middle East, probably the most sensitive cold war front, receives a relatively small share of the U. S. technical aid program, which Arabs still call Point Four.

Once, under President Truman's Point Four program, Americans were welcomed in Egypt. Their work inspired some of the ambitious projects of the Egyptian revolution. But American-Egyptian relations soured in 1956. Today the program in Egypt is insignificant.

Altogether there are 862 Americans working on technical aid programs in Middle East countries, distributed as follows: Iran, 315; Iraq, 101; Jordan, 81; Lebanon, 63; Libya, 134; Ethiopia, 157; and Egypt, only 1. Syria was offered Point Four aid and rejected it on political grounds. Saudi Arabia first accepted, then rejected such help. There is no program in the Sudan.

In North Africa, Tunisia has only eight American technicians. U. S. prestige is high there. Tunisia wants more Americans.

Morocco has a staff of 21 Americans. There is no significant anti-American feeling, but since there is a military installation of 15,000 Americans, it is one of the countries which might complain of "too many Americans."

In the Arab East, the once common complaint of "too many Americans" seems to be lessening. Perhaps this is because Soviet offers of technicians made Arabs suspicious. They do not know Russians. They know Americans and generally like them—although the U. S. government has been losing friends swiftly through the area.

An American official of the ICA concedes there are a few "bad Americans who give all of us a black eye."

But an American diplomat said: "Instead of personnel cutbacks, perhaps our agencies in Washington should give a little more thought to personnel selectivity." On the whole, Arabs agree most of the projects have been worthwhile. Said one Arab official: "Point Four has given employment to thousands in the Middle East who otherwise would not have jobs. Even Americans are spending their money here, which means employment for still more."

The Lebanese government had been spending $16,000 a year trying to keep coastal highways clear of drifting sand. It was a losing fight. But "in three days, a Point Four technician did the job for all time," a Lebanese official said. He found a wild grass which would thrive in the sand, and had the Army plant shoots along the highways. The Middle East has many examples of so-called "trivial" jobs which paid off. There are dozens of big projects too, like the Litani River program in Lebanon which has proved an irrigation-hydro-electric project feasible and induced the World Bank to lend 26 million dollars for it.

In Iraq, ICA technicians cooperate with the Iraq Development Board on a huge economic program paid for by the nation's oil revenues. Similar work goes on in Jordan, Libya and other Arab areas. Next — Gratitude south of the border.

Don't Be Hasty in Banishing Them

Dimpled Knees May Be an Asset

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

(The Friday Question Box)

Q "What can I do to get rid of fat knees. I am not overweight but my knees are fat."

A. Don't be too quick to try to banish them. Most folks think that dimples are prettier than bones. As a matter of fact, it is most difficult to reduce the knees. Vigorous massage or kneading the fat on the knees between the fingers and heels of the hands may be helpful.

Also, try this exercise: Stand facing the wall with your hands on the wall for support. Bend the right knee as far back as possible. Return foot to floor. Bend the left knee as far back as possible. Return left foot to

Q "I am 15½ years old, 5 feet 2½ inches tall and weigh 99 pounds. Should I lose or gain?"

A. You are a lot underweight and should gain.

Q "I am 5 feet 8½ inches tall and weigh 151 pounds. My bust measures 35, waist 27 and hips 40 inches. Please tell me what is wrong with my measurements and how I can improve them."

A. You are not much overweight for your height. I would guess that you should lose about 5 pounds. Take hip and waist-slipping exercises while watching your diet a bit. Your hips are most out of proportion.

Q "Please tell me what is wrong with my friend's measurements. She is smallboned. Height, 5 feet 5 inches; weight, 108 pounds; bust, 32 inches; waist 24 inches."

A. Your friend is about 15 pounds underweight. Her measurements are good ratio. She should gain all over.

Q "Can you tell me how late in the fall one can wear patent leather slippers? Can you wear them through the winter?"

A. Patent leather shoes usually are thought of as shoes for spring. In other words, they usually are worn with lightweight clothes through the spring, summer and very early fall.

Q "I have such large hands that I am self-conscious. I try not to be but just can't help it. What could I do to make them look smaller?"

A. You are certain to make them more noticeable if you are self-conscious about them, because in trying to hide them you will assume awkward positions. Do forget them except to see that they are well-groomed. It also would be best to avoid bright nail polish.

Tomorrow: "How do YOU Look in the BACK? Here's a Check List."

Vigorous massage or kneading the fat on the knees between the fingers and the heels of the hands may be helpful.

First Christian Units Hold Joint Meeting

Mrs. James Vaughn was in charge of a program on the theme "For Better or for Worse," which was presented by Mrs. Brady Adams and Mr. and Mrs. John Appleton.

Occasion for the program was Christian Women's Fellowship meeting of First Christian Church. The group was hostess to members of Christian Men's Fellowship Tuesday evening.

Participating in the program were Mrs. W. F. Tompkins and Mrs. Paul Colton. Officers of CWF served refreshments.

Two New Members for Rebekah Circle

Mrs. James Nood and Mrs. Leonard Templeton were received as new members of Rebekah Circle of Oakland Park Methodist Church Wednesday evening in the Brecker street home of Mrs. Templeton.

Mrs. Clayton Gillis and Mrs. John Fuller took part in the program. Mrs. Albert Barker and Mrs. Gilbert Tschabrun were guests. The 14 members present worked on cancer pads.

Club Plans Party

January birthdays were honored when Dames of Malta 184 met Wednesday evening in Malta Temple. Mrs. Don Bussard, ways and means chairman, announced a Feb. 14 card party.

The dressy two-piece with cowl-draped back and curved neckline suits many sizes and is new for afternoon and cocktail wear.

We are used to the two-piece in sports and general day-wear types. Now comes the dressier type and it may appeal to the conservative more than the one-piece chemise. In supple crepe, it flatters and hides the not-so-perfect proportions.

Dear Abby....

Give Consideration to Her Reputation

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a man, 38 years old, am divorced from my wife and have three children who live with her. I recently met a wonderful girl, who is 20, through renting a room in the home of her parents.

ABBY I am in no hurry to get married again, but if I ever do it will be to this girl. Her friends say it is wrong of me to take up her time without marrying her, and also that it looks bad that we are living in the same house.

Now don't you think a man has a perfect right to live the way he wants to without interference from others?

KARL

DEAR KARL: A fellow's "right" to swing his arms ends where the other fellow's nose begins. Consider the girl's reputation.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of an old grouch who sits on his porch and just prays that the ball we are playing with lands in his yard because he said he would keep any ball that fell on his property?

He kept one ball but my father made him give it back. Please print this, Abby, it might do him some good.

BUTCH, BOB, ROD AND JEFF

DEAR BOYS: I think this old fossil should leave himself to the Smithsonian Institution. He obviously never was a boy.

DEAR ABBY: I have been madly in love with my dentist for six years. He was single, but got married right in the middle of my treatments. It broke my heart but I didn't say anything.

His marriage blew up and now he is in the process of getting over it. I still go to him for my teeth and he hugs me after every appointment.

I finally asked him if there was any future in me hanging around waiting for him and he said I had better find someone else. What should I do?

MIXED UP

DEAR MIXED: You had better find yourself another molar mechanic... and take his advice... find another boy friend.

DEAR ABBY: What is to be done about a man who will not do any repairing in his own home but will break his neck to help everyone else? He is always helping his brothers (and neighbors who mean nothing to us), but just let him need some help in putting up screens or painting the garage and they all disappear like we have the smallpox. Any suggestions you offer will be appreciated as this place is falling apart.

DISGUSTED WIFE

DEAR DISGUSTED: Give your husband fair warning. Tell him if he doesn't buckle down and keep his own home in good repair, you will call in professionals—and send him the bill.

CONFIDENTIAL TO C. C.: If she is "physically repulsive" to you, don't consider marrying her. She may have a beautiful mind, but you have to marry the whole girl.

If you have a problem, write to Abigail Van Buren in care of The Pontiac Press. She will be glad to answer your letter. For a personal reply, please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Mama and Papa Reveal Their Identity by the Viewpoints They Voice

By RUTH MILLETT

Can you guess whether it's Mama or Papa speaking? "I'm not being hard on the boy. He simply has to learn to take responsibility."

"You expect too much of him. After all, he's only a child."

"What do you mean she has to have a new formal?"

What's the matter with the one she has?"

"After all, you can't expect her to wear the same dress to every dance. Besides, all her friends are getting new dresses for the Junior Prom."

"Quit worrying about that boy. He's old enough to take care of himself."

"You can go to bed if you want to, but I'm going to wait up for Junior."

"That boy friend of Dorothy's must think he lives here. Doesn't he have a home of his own?" "Shsh... Do you want him to hear you? You'll embarrass Dorothy to death!"

"A 14-year-old boy having to send a corsage to a girl for a high school dance! That's the silliest thing I ever heard of." "Girls expect corsages. Of course, he has to send her one."

"That's the laziest kid I ever saw. All he does around this house is eat and sleep. When I was his age..."

"You forget he's a growing boy. Besides, I'll bet you were just as lazy as he is when you were his age."

You guessed it right every time. How could you have missed?"

Don't Expect Children to Respond Alike

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

An old king once took it into his head to ask his children how much they loved him.

His two older daughters expressed themselves enthusiastically; the youngest showed reserve. The king was pained and outraged by the third child's refusal to duplicate their sisters' response to him. Maddened by disappointment, he set loose forces which destroyed his kingdom, his children and his friends.

He was King Lear—and William Shakespeare's idea of tops in parental foolishness.

But we do not learn from poets. Today Mrs. Jones will bring home new sweaters to her two boys. Tom, 8, will say enthusiastically, "Gee, Mom it's cool! It's just what I wanted!"

But Harry, 11, will show reserve. Exactly like King Lear, his mother will press him to duplicate his brother's enthusiasm.

SHE'LL COMPLAIN

When, like Cordelia, he insists on being himself, she will complain angrily to his father. "Why isn't Harry an outgoing child like Tom? There is never any satisfaction in doing anything for him."

However, we are sometimes willing to learn from psychiatrists. Dr. Alexander Wolf is one. A specialist in group psychotherapy, he said to me the other night:

"Group treatment is especially useful to people who expect everyone to respond to them in the same way. They learn to alter this expectation. They learn to question the childishness in themselves that is made uncomfortable by anything different or unexpected in others' reactions to them."

King Lear's demand for sameness in his children produced his tragedy. Shakespeare makes a daughter say of him, "He hath ever but slenderly known himself."

If we feel hurt when one child fails to respond to us like his brother, we may find other relationships constantly disappointing, too.

UNCONSCIOUS FEAR

We may cling to a friend who sends us birthday cards and withdraw from one who doesn't. If our new butcher fails to crack jokes with us, we may go out of our way to take our business to the old butcher who does.

Like Lear our actions are based not on the worth of the friend or the meat we purchase but in our unconscious fear of anything new in human response.

Besides preaching and serving as the new pastor of Bethel Evangelical and Reformed Church, Auburn Ave. at Mariva Ave., the Rev. Donald R. Gabler likes building, sports and photography. With Mrs. Gabler, he is making a combination cabinet for a radio and record player. They reside on Mark avenue.

Group Told About Miss Earhart

Mrs. John Hammond of Grosse Pointe told members of the Zonta Club of her acquaintance with Amelia Earhart at the Thursday meeting held at Hotel Waldron.

Mrs. Hammond who has been a licensed pilot for 27 years, and is a member of the Civil Air Patrol, established the first all-woman flying squadron, and has been active in the Powder Puff Derby.

A member of the Ninety-Niners which Miss Earhart founded, Mrs. Hammond said that this organization, like the Zonta organization, gives scholarships to deserving girls, in memory of Miss Earhart.

The speaker told of the courage of the famous aviator, her foresight and her willingness to work for her fellowman. Studying pre-medicine at Columbia University, Miss Earhart decided upon social work, later going to Boston as a worker at Denison House.

Having a poetic attitude toward flight, Mrs. Hammond said the aviator enjoyed most her solo flights.

Mrs. Chadd Mellinger announced the Inter-City dinner Feb. 13 at Devon Gables. Introduced as a new member was Mrs. Mildred Bennett, executive director of the American Red Cross.

Postal rules forbid mailing of dunning postals, and lottery, end less chain and fraud matter.

Officers Are Installed

Officers were installed when nineteen members of Guild Seven met at All Saints' Episcopal Church Wednesday evening.

Mrs. William Wolfram will serve as president. Others taking office are Mrs. Philip Long, vice president; Mrs. Harold Steinbaugh, secretary; and Mrs. Frank Coad, treasurer. Mrs. Wolfram named the following committees: devotions, Mrs. Bert F. E. Ede; ways and means, Mrs. Maurice Whitfield and Mrs. Belle Newman; publicity, Clarabelle Amidon; membership, Mrs. Margaret Long; Christian social relations, Mrs. Standish Sibley; United Thank Offering, Mrs. Roy Annett; Christian education, Mrs. Zar Crittenden; hostesses, Mrs. Joseph Flynn; telephone, Mrs. Maud Chambers; and coffee hour, Mrs. Larry Fraser.

Mrs. Ede, Mrs. Sibley, Mrs. Wolfram, and Mrs. Niensted will attend the Convocation at Christ Church, Cranbrook, Jan. 20.

Mrs. Ede and Mrs. Wolfram will represent the guild as delegates at the Convention of the Women of the Diocese to be held at the Masonic Temple, Detroit, February 4th and 5th.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Elmer Quine and Mrs. L. B. Calley. The next meeting will be held February 12.

Suggestion Resented by Hostess

Objects to Guest's Habit of Proposing Bridge Game

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: We have a married couple to dinner occasionally—sometimes alone and sometimes with other guests. Regardless of who is here this man will say, 'How about some bridge?' as soon as we leave the dinner table."

"I feel he is very much out of order and that it is up to the host or hostess to plan the entertainment. We enjoy playing bridge but we also like to converse with our friends. Don't you think it is rude for a guest to suggest what to do unless he has been asked?"

Answer: I agree with you that it is the hostess and not a guest who should suggest playing cards.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I would appreciate it if you would settle a disagreement my boy friend and I have been having. He says that he read an article by you in which you said that it was improper and not in good taste to say 'excuse me' after burping because it only draws attention to the person. 'He says you stated that it is better to say nothing and act as if it hadn't occurred. I think he is mistaken about this and can't believe that you have said any such thing. I think it very ill bred not to say 'excuse me' after committing this offense."

Answer: One should make every effort not to burp, or at least to stifle the sound. But, if in spite of all, one does occur, it is best not to call further attention to it by saying "excuse me."

"Dear Mrs. Post: When dining in a restaurant where bread and butter plates are put at each place, is it proper to dip the edge of a cracker into the butter instead of using the butter knife?"

Answer: While this is not strictly proper, it is not a habit for which one should be criticized.

Can Reach Paris 'Regardless' of Weather
Reveals New Unmanned Plane

CHESHIRE, Conn. (AP)—A General Motors executive says the United States has a missile guidance mechanism which, if installed in an unmanned plane, could guide it from this country to Paris "regardless" of weather conditions.
 Sherrod E. Skinner, executive head of GM's 13 accessories divisions, said yesterday:
 "It is not a foregone conclusion that the Russians have a substantial lead in missile and rocketry, not to mention the sciences generally, simply because they were successful in launching two earth satellites."
 Skinner spoke at a dinner marking the 50th anniversary of the founding of General Motors which has a number of subsidiaries in this state.

 Skinner described the mechanism as an "inertial guidance system" and said it was completely automatic, "capable of taking the place of a man" in either aircraft or ballistic missile.
 "It is entirely independent of impulses or radiation from the ground or stars, and impervious to jamming or other unfriendly interference," he said.
 The system has been thoroughly proved, including testing in actual flight, and has been processed, tooled and is ready for quantity production at GM's AC spark-plug division in Milwaukee, he added.

Psychologist Urges Don't Stint Junior's Style

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP)—By giving junior a little more leeway as a nonconformist, parents might be able to indirectly assist this country's scientific advancement.
 The conclusion of a study by Dr. John Drevdahl, Oklahoma State University psychologist, was that creative ability stems from nonconformity in thinking and from an attitude of skepticism.
 "Realization of the vital role environment plays in the development of the creative personality is of paramount importance to the U.S.," Drevdahl asserted. "It is only through continued scientific advancement, necessarily by creative persons, that this country can regain or maintain its position of leadership."
 The psychologist has been conducting research on personality traits for the past four years, collecting data from questionnaires sent to 300 scientists and 150 artists and writers. They were promised anonymity in answering the questions.
 In persons with intellectual levels of 120 IQ or higher, he found creativity depended upon personality traits. About one in five has an IQ of 120 or more.
 Drevdahl said personality and not superior intelligence alone is the main factor in creativity.

Goldwater Address in Detroit 'Delights'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Michigan's two senators, Republican Potter and Democrat McNamara, expressed pleasure today that Sen. Goldwater (R-Ariz.) will speak in Detroit—but for different reasons.
 Some eyebrows were raised in Michigan Republican circles here when the Republican National Committee announced Wednesday Detroit "Salute to Eisenhower" that Goldwater will address the fund-raising dinner Jan. 20.
 Goldwater has introduced a federal "right to work" or anti-union shop bill bitterly opposed by organized labor. Detroit's population is one of the most heavily unionized in the nation.
 But Potter said he was not apprehensive about Goldwater's coming speech.
 "I am delighted," Potter told a reporter, adding that Goldwater is a good speaker and that the selection was cleared through him.

 A grinning, tongue-in-cheek McNamara said in a separate interview he shared Potter's opinion.
 "I hope Barry (Goldwater) bears down on explaining his position on the federal right-to-work bill to my friends back home in Detroit," McNamara said. "I hope he plugs for it while he's there as a representative of the national Republican Party."

Assails AFL-CIO for Job Dropping
5 to 10 Per Cent Cuts in Staff Salary Asked to Help Save 100 Posts

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP)—The AFL-CIO, charged with failing to practice its preachings on labor organizing and job terminations, has been asked to consider staff salary cuts of 5 to 10 per cent so it can rehire 100 organizers who lost their jobs this week.
 Leaders of the Field Representatives Federation, a group set up within the AFL-CIO to establish bargaining rights, made the salary cuts proposal in a telegram of protest yesterday to AFL-CIO President George Meany.
 Robert W. Christofferson of Charlotte, FRF secretary who was one of 56 field organizers discharged, has said he was ousted because he helped form the bargaining unit.
 The telegram, signed by Christofferson and FRF Temporary Chairman A. W. Bradt, asserted that organizers with "upwards of 30 and 35 years service have been handed notices of forced retirement."
 "You have done what you condemn other employers for doing," the organizers have petitioned the National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) for an election to get bargaining rights. The AFL-CIO, however, says that organizers are not worker employees but management.
 Schnitzler said earlier yesterday that of the 100 field workers relieved of their duties, 14 will be pensioned, 30 transferred to other staff positions and 56 discharged.

 Schnitzler said the action was taken because of reduced finances and "the need for streamlining the staff to the current programs of the AFL-CIO." He added that efforts were being made to place "as many of these organizers as possible on the staffs of (AFL-CIO) unions."
