

Blue-Overall Theft Italy's Brink's Case

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the third installment in a 13-part series on the Brink's case. The first two installments were in the Sunday edition.

By DON WHITEHEAD

American influence in crime is felt more strongly in Italy than in any other country on the continent because of the close ties that have existed for years between the American and Italian underworlds.

Italian hoodlums see big-time criminals Lucky Luciano and Joe Adonis, among those deported from the United States, living in luxury in Rome and Naples. If these men can make crime pay in America, they reason, why can't the same thing be done in Italy?

One reason the Italian gangsters have never quite succeeded in gaining more power than they have been the modernization of the Italian police techniques and equipment since World War II. The police are aided by one of the finest crime laboratories in all Europe.

And sometimes, aid comes from unexpected sources.

In a little church in the city of Milan there is a shrine where candlelight flickering in the shadows creates the illusion that the image of the gentle St. Rita is smiling. Many come from the streets, with problems which seem insoluble, to kneel in this little pool of peace. And when they leave they feel they have found an ally.

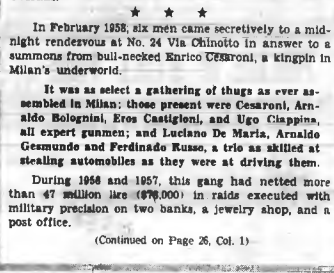

Among those who come to the shrine are members of Milan's Squadra Mobile, the special police unit charged with handling the city's major crimes. They have a special feeling about St. Rita.

Solutions to the most baffling cases have come after their visits to the church. And they mention her name when they talk of Milan's great bank robberies of 1958—the Brink's case of Italian crime which became known throughout Italy as the Case of the Blue Overall.

In February 1958, six men came secretly to a midnight rendezvous at No. 24 Via Chinotto in answer to a summons from bull-necked Enrico CERRONI, a kingpin in Milan's underworld.

It was as select a gathering of thugs as ever assembled in Milan: those present were CERRONI, Arnaldo Bolognini, Eros Castiglioni, and Ugo Ciappina, all expert gunmen; and Luciano De Maria, Arnaldo Gesmundo and Ferdinando Russo, a trio as skilled at stealing automobiles as they were at driving them.

During 1958 and 1957, this gang had netted more than 47 million lire ($70,000) in raids executed with military precision on two banks, a jewelry shop, and a post office.

Castro Goes Home; Others Head for U.N.

4 Government Chiefs Attracted by Fireworks at General Assembly

From Our News Wire
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y.

Cuban Premier Fidel Castro headed for home today but four more summit leaders rushed toward New York to wage into the battle touched off by a Soviet attempt to reform the United Nations to Communist tastes.

The new influx of government chiefs — from Australia, New Zealand, Jordan and Indonesia — was prompted by a spectacular series of East-West clashes in the first week of the General Assembly over China, Tibet, the Congo, Cuba, Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld and the 15-year-old structure of the United Nations itself.

The United States and its Western Allies won the first round but Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev made it clear he had no intention of letting up his many-sided attacks.

Castro, as he left the Hotel Theresa today to fly back to Cuba, said he would return "soon." An aide said Castro meant "probably in a few days."

The news that he would return came just as police thought they were rid of a security problem his presence here has posed for the past 11 days.

In Canberra, Australian Prime Minister Robert Menzies said today he had changed his mind and decided to go in the United Nations.

He told the House of Representatives that more and more heads of government were attending the meeting and that he thought members would not wish Australia in terms of heads of government to be conspicuous by its absence."

The house cheered. Menzies' presence in New York is expected to bolster the Western camp against Communist attempts to change the structure of the United Nations.

In London King Hussein of Jordan told newsmen last night he had no "personal wish or desire" to see United Arab Republic President Gamal Abdel Nasser in New York.

He accused Nasser of responsibility for "many crimes" in the Middle East, including the time bomb assassination last month of Jordan's Prime Minister Hazza Majali.

The 24-year-old Hussein will become the first king to head a delegation at the U.N. General Assembly.

Hayes Jones to Be Lauded Here Oct. 28

Olympic star Hayes Jones will be welcomed back on Homecoming Day.

Mayor Philip E. Rowston last night proclaimed Oct. 28 "Hayes Jones Day" and called for nighttime ceremonies to honor the bronze medal winner during the Pontiac Central High School homecoming game at Warner Stadium that evening.

The former Central High athlete, who took third place in the Olympic 110-meter hurdles, deserves "rich recognition" for the fame he has brought to Pontiac, declared the mayor.

Rowston said he will appoint a special committee to honor Jones now a teacher in Ypsilanti. Jones won a place on the U.S. Olympic Team as a track star at Eastern Michigan College in Ypsilanti.

Soviet Leader Tries to Muster More Support

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y.

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, smarting under sharp defeats on two of his major objectives, figured prominently today in critical huddles of government chiefs in advance of U.N. General Assembly showdown votes.

The assembly's 21-member steering committee wrangled until the early morning hours in a meeting which resulted in setbacks for the Soviet premier on the admission of Red China and immediate debate on his charges of Western "aggression" in Africa's Congo.

He also failed to build support for his efforts to undermine the office of Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld.

Communist sources said Khrushchev will decide about his departure from New York only after India's Prime Minister Nehru has addressed the assembly.

The Soviet premier has informed leaders of the satellite delegations that he wants to be present when Nehru speaks. No date has been set thus far for the Indian's speech.

Communist observers said they believed it will be next week.

As the assembly policy debate resumed, Khrushchev was in conference with President Tito of Communist-ruled Yugoslavia at Soviet U.N. delegation headquarters.

That was only one of a whirl of high-level conferences. Khrushchev meets Britain's prime minister, Harold Macmillan, Thursday afternoon.

Khrushchev said he and Tito have agreed or are "very close" on the problems of disarmament, the Congo and steps to safeguard peace.

The Soviet leader, a big grin on his face, announced this after he had met privately for one hour and 45 minutes with the Yugoslav marshal, who has bucked Moscow domination.

U.S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter held a series of meetings with delegates of various nations in advance of a major Western reply to Khrushchev to be delivered at the assembly by Macmillan Thursday.

The big test of relative strength of the Soviet and Western sides in the faltering debate will come when the 46-member assembly discusses in full session the agenda items taken up in the long overnight wrangle by the steering committee.

The world will watch closely.

Steering Group Rejects Debate on Red China, West in Congo

Sum of the People Pollsters Find Kennedy Winner of First Debate

By JOHN KRAFT
(Special to The Pontiac Press)

"Kennedy takes the first round," Kennedy was quicker on his feet and he had the facts more at hand."

That is the summing-up opinion of a school-bus driver in Warren, Ohio, about how the first of the much-publicized Kennedy-Nixon debates turned out.

When people across the country were asked who they thought won the first debate in the series between John Kennedy and Richard Nixon, 39 per cent said they thought Kennedy won out over Vice President Nixon.

And in the carefully devised interviewing system set up by the Kraft organization for this first debate, which allowed interviewers to talk with people within a matter of minutes after the end of the debate, only 32 per cent of those interviewed said they thought the vice president won.

Here are the figures: Kennedy won — 39 per cent; Nixon won — 32 per cent; tied 29 per cent.

And, further, during the course of the interviewing, it became apparent that the first round between Kennedy and Nixon had been just that — merely the opening bout in a schedule of four debates.

Winning debates doesn't automatically win elections; but, as a housewife in Corpus Christi, Tex., puts it:

"They were both very good in responding to the attacks of the other. But let's face it, the debate itself was such that the public wouldn't make a decision on account of just the debate!"

SUPPORTERS SPEAK

And, yet, it is interesting to see that when people who say they are going to vote for Nixon were asked: "Who do you think took debate No. 1?" a significant 17 per cent said that the senator from Massachusetts won out in the first round.

FOR NIXON
but Kennedy won 17% and Nixon won 24%
but uncertain 59%

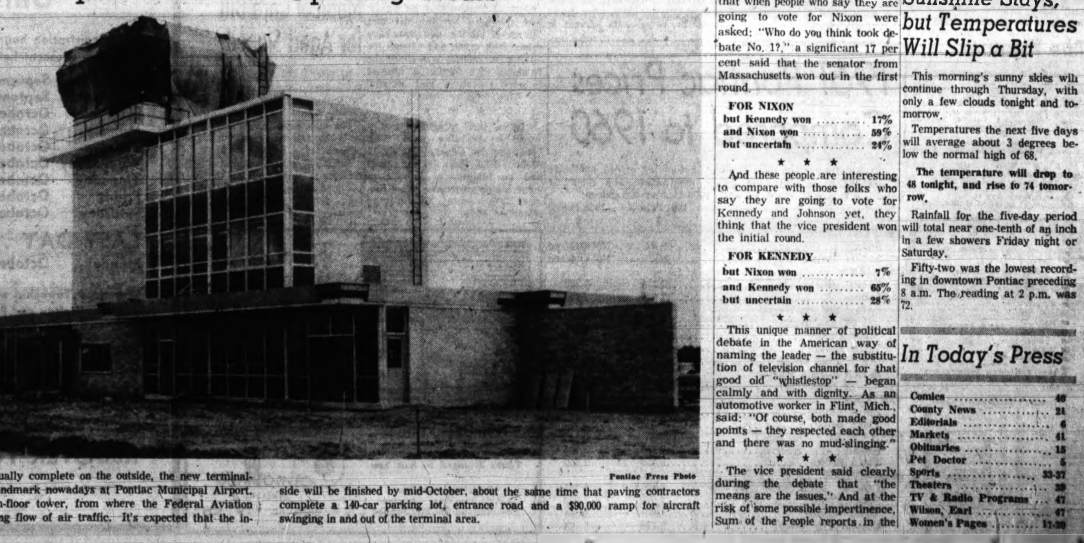

And these people are interesting to compare with those folks who say they are going to vote for Kennedy and Johnson yet, they think that the vice president won the initial round.

FOR KENNEDY
but Nixon won 7% and Kennedy won 69%
but uncertain 24%

This unique manner of political debate in the American way of naming the leader — the substitution of television channel for that good old "ghoststep" — began calmly and with dignity. As an automotive worker in Flint, Mich., said: "Of course, both made good points — they respected each other and there was no mud-slinging."

The vice president said clearly during the debate that "the means are the issues." And the risk of some possible impertinence, Sum of the People reports in the

Airport Terminal Opening Nears

WORK ON INTERIOR — Virtually complete on the outside, the new terminal tower building is an impressive landmark nowadays at Pontiac Municipal Airport. Yet to be glassed-in is the fourth-floor tower, from where the Federal Aviation Agency will control the evergrowing flow of air traffic. It's expected that the inside will be finished by mid-October, about the same time that paving contractors complete a 140-car parking lot, entrance road and a $90,000 ramp for aircraft swinging in and out of the terminal area.

New Pontiac Car Prices Remain at 1960 Level

Factory list prices for the new Pontiac line have not been increased over the 1960 levels, it was revealed today by S. E. Knudsen, general manager of Pontiac Motor Division and General Motors vice president in announcing the 1961 prices.

Noteworthy is the $415 price spread between the lowest priced regular Pontiac and lowest priced model in the new Tempest series.

The factory list price for the Tempest sedan is $1,975, compared to $2,390 for the Catalina Sports sedan.

The Tempest station wagon is listed at $250 more than the four-door sedan. Both models feature a four-cylinder engine mounted in front with transmission mounted at the rear axle.

The '60 price line was held although the new models incorporate entirely new styling and exclusive engineering developments, Knudsen said.

"Buyers of 1961 Pontiacs will receive the greatest value for dollar we have ever offered," he said.

The Catalina, Ventura, Star Chief and Bonneville series will go on sale in dealer showrooms across the country Oct. 6. The Tempest will go on sale Nov. 3.

Whitehall C. of C. Hits Scout Camp Tax Laws

WHITEHALL (UPI)—The Whitehall Chamber of Commerce was on record today against a new state law which hikes the tax exemption on scout camps, but requires 50 per cent of the camp members to be Michigan residents.

The law, passed by the last legislature, is causing the Chicago Scout Council to delay a planned $2.5-million dollar improvement at its Camp Owasippe near here.

Change Their Charter

BATTLE CREEK (UPI)—Battle Creek voters approved Tuesday a new charter which replaces the present commission form of government with a city manager. The charter was approved by a 2-1 vote and will go into effect in April.

Sunshine Stays, but Temperatures Will Slip a Bit

This morning's sunny skies will continue through Thursday, with only a few clouds tonight and tomorrow.

Temperatures the next five days will average about 3 degrees below the normal high of 68.

The temperature will drop to 48 tonight, and rise to 74 tomorrow.

Rainfall for the five-day period will total near one-half of an inch in a few showers Friday night or Saturday.

Fifty-two was the lowest recording in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. The reading at 2 p.m. was 72.

Nixon's Heavy Artillery Puts Heat on Kennedy in Southland

By ERNEST B. VACCARO
NEW YORK (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon's increasingly tough and personal attacks on his Democratic rival added a more belligerent tone to the presidential campaign today.
Nixon, the GOP nominee, turned his attention to New York's electoral votes, with a series of speeches in this area after stopping at Sen. John F. Kennedy in Tennessee and West Virginia.
At Charleston, W. Va., Tuesday night, for instance, he accused Kennedy of having made a "false statement" that 17 million Americans go to bed hungry every night. Nixon called it "just for the Communist propaganda mill" and demanded Kennedy retract it.
Nixon charged that responsibility for not getting action on a bill for the relief of the distressed areas of West Virginia and other states "rests squarely on the Democratic presidential candidate."

IT'S RAINING POLITICS —Ellen Jurden is showered by fellow Republican party workers in Kansas City, Kans., with part of a ton of confetti which the GOP was not allowed to use in greeting Henry Cabot Lodge, the vice-presidential nominee, Tuesday. City officials notified the party that dumping confetti from office buildings would violate the antilitter ordinance. The city administration is Democratic.

Lausche Comes Out for Kennedy

Strong Ohio Senator Shunned Him Sunday, Now Rides Jack's Car
CLEVELAND (AP)—A political windfall started Tuesday for Sen. John F. Kennedy. He got the unqualified campaign support for president of Ohio's unpredictable, long-wolf senior senator, Frank Lausche.
Sen. Lausche, a spectacular vote-getter even though usually at odds with party regulars, had boycotted Kennedy's Sunday celebration in Cleveland. But Tuesday he was waiting in the misty morning at Helldorf's Inn, near Painesville, where the motorcade started.
Lausche told a crowd of thousands there:
"Today I want to state to him (Kennedy) that when I go into the voting booth in November, I will vote for him."
Then Lausche, five times Ohio's governor, climbed into Kennedy's convertible.
Target Maps at a Touch

Wait Plans for Stadium in Grand Rapids Area
GRAND RAPIDS (UPI)—City Commissioner Bernard S. Barto has reported a committee studying a proposed outdoor civic stadium will present plans next week for a site, seating capacity and "ways to make it a seven-day-a-week business."
Mayor Stanley J. Davis named Barto chairman of the committee last week. Barto said the stadium, to be used for sports and civic events, will have a seating capacity of not less than 25,000. It is being built to help Army field commanders pinpoint distant targets quickly.

Then He's Off to Key Pennsy, N.Y.

Vast Crowds Greet Jack in Ohio

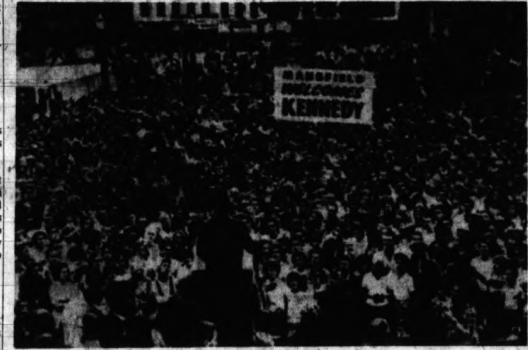

ERIE, Pa. (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy waged his presidential campaign in crucial Pennsylvania and New York today, inspired by huge crowds showing increased fervor since his debate with Vice President Richard M. Nixon.
Kennedy, the Democratic nominee, arranged to address two party rallies here—during the morning in a fresh bid for the Keystone State's 32 electoral votes. Then he goes after New York's 32, juicier plum of all people, I would not be exaggerating.
"If I were to say this (turnout) was between 600,000 and 700,000, I would not be exaggerating," Ohio's Democratic Gov. Michael V. DiSalle told Kennedy's final Ohio audience at Canton.

Kennedy arrived in Erie late Tuesday night after a day-long tour of Northern Ohio communities where he was greeted with wild enthusiasm—as he was here by great crowds all along the way. His staff called it the biggest turnout for Kennedy in any one day since his nomination.
On the last motorcade leg of the Ohio tour—into Akron on to North Canton and then to Canton—J. Grant Keys, state highway safety director, estimated that 100,000 persons lined the route and cheered Kennedy.
In Cleveland Tuesday morning the Democratic candidate got a trip-roaring welcome from an even larger crowd than greeted him when he made a major address there Sunday. Police had estimated the earlier crowd at up to about 300,000. DiSalle said he never had seen anything "like the depth of enthusiasm and sincerity" for Kennedy.

Evaluating the crowds, DiSalle told the Kennedy rally at Akron: "there is only one reason: Last night the people of America found a leader for the nation who captured their imagination."
That was an allusion to Kennedy's nationwide television radio debate Monday night with Nixon, his Republican rival.

Kennedy aides gave him a report, based on a survey made by a national Arbitron rating system, that 73.5 million Americans watched the debate on TV.
ALMOST A FRENZY
Whatever the cause, Kennedy crowds in Ohio in the wake of the debate greeted him almost frenziedly at times.
In his rallies in Akron and Canton, there was pandemonium. The Akron armory, which seats about 3,200, was crammed with a great overflow crowd. There are seats for 5,600 in Canton Municipal Auditorium, but it was estimated about 7,500 were packed in there.
In all his speeches, Kennedy pounded away at the central theme of his campaign—that it is time for America to be moving ahead, and that it has not been moving under a Republican president at the pace it should.

America's first professional architect was Peter Harrison of Newport, R. I. Redwood Library in Newport and King's Chapel in Boston are among buildings he designed in the mid-18th century.

OHIO HELLO — The public square of Mahtfield, Ohio, is jammed Tuesday as Sen. John F. Kennedy continues his tour of that state. Kennedy later was greeted by record crowds in Akron and Canton.

An Announcement By HENRY FORD II

of Importance to Every Buyer of a 1961 Automobile

The Warranty on All 1961 Ford Motor Company Cars Is Being Extended to 12,000 Miles or One Full Year

"The 1961 line of all Ford Motor Company passenger cars will bring to the American market the finest automobiles ever produced by this company."

"Every Ford, Falcon, Thunderbird, Mercury, Comet, and Lincoln-Continental has been styled, designed, engineered, and manufactured with three primary goals in mind: (1) finest quality; (2) greatest durability; (3) most reliable operation"

"So confident are we of the success of our efforts to achieve these goals that the written warranty on all 1961 Ford Motor Company cars is being extended to 12,000 miles or one full year, whichever comes first."

"No other American automobile carries a warranty like this. The previous Ford warranty, traditional in the industry, was for 4,000 miles or three months."

"We urge every prospective purchaser of a 1961 car to visit his Ford Motor Company Dealer and learn all about the dealer's new 12,000 mile or one-full-year Warranty."

Henry Ford II
"President Ford Motor Company"

"ARRIVAL DATES:"
SEPTEMBER 29: The new Ford line. Sixteen all-new, full-size models with the classic Ford look, ranging from the value-leader Fairlane to six new trend-setting Galaxies.
OCTOBER 6: The 1961 Falcons and Comets. America's most successful compact car combination from America's largest producer of compact cars.
OCTOBER 6: The new Mercury line, with completely new styling and wider range of models.
NOVEMBER 3: Lincoln-Continental for 1961, America's completely new, distinctive luxury car.
NOVEMBER 10: Thunderbird. Unmistakably new for 1961, yet unmistakably Thunderbird.

Kennedy's Just Snack-Happy

Jack 'Loves' Those Hot Dogs

By MERRIMAN SMITH
BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI)—Back stairs at the presidential campaign:
Sen. John F. Kennedy by now has traveled something like 23,000 miles since the Democratic Convention in his effort to sell the country on making him the next president.
And surprisingly for a millionaire; his staple diet during many of those miles has been the plebian hot dog.

Kennedy does not eat hot dogs for political effect. He eats them day and night in the privacy of his family plane, the Convar Caralton. He devours franks in the manner of a bottomless teen-ager.
Whizzing around the country from speech to speech, Kennedy never seems to eat a large meal, but he does eat constantly. If he gets to the White House, they'll have to enlarge the refrigerators because he is snack-happy.

The senator from Massachusetts likes his hot dogs in just about any style. He has them gooey with chili, he has them split and grilled, he has them plain in conventional rolls which he picks apart as he eats, somewhat in the manner of a kid looking for a hidden prize.

With his kind of money, Kennedy could afford steak at every stop, but given a choice, he usually settles for hot dogs because they're quick, easy to fix and more important, he likes them.

He eats a great deal of fruit during a campaign day with seedless grapes high on his list.
He also drinks copious amounts of a well-known soft drink which would please President Eisenhower and one of Ike's buddies. But Kennedy also likes orange juice and milk.
He is pretty zesty, too, about clam chowder made at his home in Hyannis Port and shipped frozen to his plane.
The strange thing about Kennedy's snacking is that he does not seem to gain an ounce. He retains a slim physique that makes the gals purr with approval while the bulking males talk enviously of his being rather skinny.

Actually, Kennedy is not skinny. He's slim, erect and hard. The kind of campaigning he's been doing lately would keep him that way.

Sign Pact Regulating Sale of Auto Parts

WASHINGTON (U)—The Federal Trade Commission said today 12 major suppliers of automotive parts have signed an agreement forbidding them to sell rebuilt products as new.

The stipulation agreements, the FTC said, do not constitute admissions that the companies have violated the law. But FTC Chairman Earl W. Kintner added:

"We expect that the announcement of these stipulations will convince members of the industry that the commission means to take effective steps to protect the many car owners who pay for new parts but actually receive rebuilt parts."

The companies signing the agreement included the Ford Motor Co.,

Texas Mows Grass, Strikes Water—in Well

PARIS, Tex. (UPI)—Wilbert Watson has topped the old story about Texans digging for water and getting oil.

Watson was mowing the grass at the home of Mrs. Bob Evans and struck water. The mower caused a round plot of grass to crumble, revealing an old water well that had been covered years ago.

Report Castro Finances Opposition to Himself

By WARD CANNEL

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Fidel Castro, who likes to live on the verge of martyrdom, is now reported to be one of the big backers and organizers of the anti-Castro Cuban underground in the Western Hemisphere.

This is the unhappy word from Cubans who have been long-time enemies of both Castro and his predecessor, Fulgencio Batista, and who now are trying to finance a bona fide anti-Castro organization. Similar reports come from U.S. security men in Washington who try to keep tabs on all the Cuban factions.

They say there are strong signs the premier himself is behind a million-dollar recruiting program in Florida and Mexico to steadily aimed at raising a force to invade Cuba.

He also seems to have invented a plot by 10 top army officers supposed to be planning a palace revolution, according to coded reports just received from Havana.

MAY PLANT SPIES

Still more sinister, he is reported planting spies in many of the Cuban underground factions such as "360 of July Without Communism" and "Fidelismo Without Fidel."

All this tends to martyr Fidel, giving him propaganda to distract the people from genuine issues and luring opponents into the trap.

Castro agents in the underground

keep the organization atomized, off balance and — above all — political. One of their best tactics, U.S. security men say, is "disinformation." You can ruin a man's effectiveness in a minute by hinting that he is either a Batista follower or a Fidelista.

"Whom can you trust?" an anti-Castro member asks unhappily. "Just because a man says he is against Castro, it proves nothing." Meanwhile, Castro has been highly successful in his fight against himself. A quick count in New York alone shows that eight underground organizations have closed their doors in the past six months. Many members of the band involved in bombing Havana with leaflets a year ago no longer speak to each other.

Not so curiously, the bravest contribution to anti-Castro self-for his come from pre-Castro funds in Havana and Venezuela — earmarked for raising the movement. But money-men who might have come through for the opening taken have been scared off by "infernals."

Outspoken Cubans in Washington, however, hurry to explain that the situation is changing. Estimates on real anti-Castro money raised run as high as a half-million dollars.

"We have established at least one rule of thumb," one of the biggest fund-raisers say. "You are more likely to be right if you do not trust any recent defectors from the Castro government."

"You must keep asking yourself why it took him so long to see what was going on in Havana."

"You would certainly want to be careful of most army officers who leave — except in a few instances."

At the present time, he said, he would not explain what any money he had collected would be used for other than "to pay for an existing organization inside Cuba which can take over the government."

Reports of Castro's continuing popularity in Cuba indicate there is only one organization that can do the job — the army. And former dictator Fulgencio Batista proved three decades ago that you don't need the officers if the sergeants are on your side.

Happy Castro Off for Home, Proud of His Own U.N. Talk

NEW YORK (UPI)—Cuban Premier Fidel Castro packed his bags to return to Havana today, convinced his free-wheeling indictment of the United States has had a profound effect on the United Nations.

The bearded 34-year-old revolutionary planned to check out of the Theresa Hotel in Harlem late this morning and board a Cuban airliner for Havana.

In Havana, the Cuban Confederation of Labor called on all workers to gather at the presidential palace late today. Castro was expected to speak to the massive throng from a balcony.

Friends of Castro said he was elated over achieving a life's ambition—a worldwide, United Nations forum for his political views.

Conversely, he was said to be somewhat piqued over not being granted another wish—a trip to Havana with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev aboard the Russian ship Baltika.

Informed sources said Castro proposed the cruise to Havana but Khrushchev put him off for a later date. The two new-found friends remained on the best of terms, however, and waved cheerily at one another Tuesday during Castro's last visit to the General Assembly.

Cuban Foreign Minister Raul Roa, who stays on as chief of the delegation, said Castro's 4-hour, 20-minute speech before the Assembly Monday was immensely successful.

To determine this, Roa said, it was necessary to count the bursts of a applause. Castro's leather-lunged performance was interrupted 28 times for applause, mostly from the Soviet bloc.

The marathon talk was chiefly a condemnation of the United States. Castro repeated threats to take over the U.S. Navy base at Guantanamo and he headed back home today under a cloud of concern in U.S. quarters that he might take action against Guantanamo with Khrushchev's full support.

U.S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth Tuesday night took only a minute and a half to dismiss Castro's sweeping charges, and the representatives of Paraguay, Guatemala and Nicaragua also denounced attacks made on their countries by Castro.

Wadsworth said Castro's charges were "not new and have already been answered in the U.N. Security Council and the Organization of American States, both of which... have rejected them."

Paraguay and Guatemala disclosed Cuban plots to take over those countries. Guatemalan Foreign Minister Jesus Uda-Murillo denounced Castro's speech as "this little drop of poison offered by the representative of the Soviet Union."

During his last hours here, Castro maintained his reputation for loquaciousness in a fast round not visible to him, was another coming train.

And Almost Goes West

Crosses Up at Crossing

John N. Murphy had his signals crossed yesterday.

His home wasn't costly—but it could have been, Pontiac police said.

Murphy, 33, of 38 W. Yale St., was still unwired yesterday afternoon when he told officers of his experience earlier in the day.

He'd stopped for a warning signal at the Grand Trunk Railroad crossing at Sanderson street. An approaching train stopped up short of Sanderson and an engineer leaned out of the cab and waved.

Thinking the wave to be a go-ahead signal, Murphy started his car across the tracks.

Navy Enlists 23 Area Men During August

A total of 23 area men enlisted in the Navy during the month of August, according to the most recent announcement from the recruiting station in Pontiac.

From Waterford Township, they were David Bills, Glenn Hurley Jr., David Guthrie, Jerry Butler, James Ritchie, William Tower, Duane Bailey, Bruce Wisniewski, Kenneth McCrum, Clark Eastley and John Fournier.

Others were Walter Lake of 349 N. Perry St., Pontiac; William Judge of White Lake Township; Dale Farver and Kenneth Haney, both of Walpole Lake; David Shuck of Holly; and Frederick Ames of Oxford.

Also, Thomas Risk of Birmingham; Wayne Hilton and William Carr, both of Highland Township; Gary Charlack of Milford; Albert Cohoon of Clarkston; and Robert Cort of Farmington.

Re-enlistees were Bruce Butters of Walpole Lake, Charles Cook of Milford and William Wright of Auburn Heights.

Robbie Van Conant of Rochester enlisted in the Waves for three years. She is undergoing training at Bainbridge, Md.

of talks with other visiting world leaders, moving to fast New York police were even more harried than usual in their efforts to guard him.

After spending an hour with Ghana Premier Kwame Nkrumah, Castro, dressed in his usual green fatigues, went out into the street in front of the Ghana legation to be greeted by boos.

A sign on a nearby apartment house said "Castro insults bearded beatniks."

When Castro arrived at his Harlem hotel, he found Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru and Minister of Defense V. K. Krishna Menon waiting for him. They talked 45 minutes.

At midnight Castro was visited by Bulgarian Communist boss Todor Zhivkov, and they talked an hour and 20 minutes.

Castro's 16-day New York visit was not all talk, however. He also did some shouting, most notably Sept. 19 when he stormed out of Manhattan's plushy Shelburne Hotel to take refuge among "the common people" of Harlem.

By a whisker, he avoided a serious accident.

Bergen Evans Aids Fund Drive

Speech Proceeds Will Benefit Kenny Unit at Pontiac General

Dr. Bergen Evans, author, lecturer and television personality, will help the Altrusa Club of Birmingham raise funds for the Sister Elizabeth Kenny Foundation physical therapy center at Pontiac General Hospital.

Dr. Evans will speak in a special program at 8 p.m. Oct. 12 at Birmingham Community House.

Proceeds from 81 admissions will be donated by the club to the foundation to help pay for furnishings in the center, scheduled to open early next month.

The $30,000 center is being readied under an agreement that allows hospital doctors to refer patients to the center for physical therapy and the foundation to refer polio patients to the hospital for treatment.

Under the supervision of Dr. Ethel T. Calhoun, medical director of the foundation's Ferndale center, the new unit will double the foundation's Oakland County services, expand facilities for acute polio and provide the hospital with its first physical therapy facilities.

Pontiac's is the first general hospital in the country to have such a center.

Teeters Between Policies of Mao and K

Castro Walks Communist Tightrope

By LEON DIENEN
UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (NEA) — Nikita Khrushchev and Fidel Castro are in disagreement over Cuba's close relations with Red China.

Latin Americans in touch with Cuban affairs report that the Soviet Premier warned Castro last July that Moscow expected Cuba's "full support" in the United Nations. Failure to do so, Khrushchev hinted, might force him to reconsider Russia's economic aid for Cuba's declining economy.

The warning is said to have been transmitted through Fidel's brother, Raul Castro, chief of Cuba's armed forces who visited Moscow last summer.

In the background of the disagreement, according to the Latin American sources, is Fidel Castro's close relations with Khrushchev's rival for supremacy in the Communist world, China's Mao Tse-tung. The Havana — Peking friendship was underlined by the announcement Sept. 23 that Cuba has extended diplomatic recognition to Red China.

Russia, and not China, has given Cuba economic aid. Moscow also promised Castro military backing in case the U.S. decides to "invade" Cuba. Yet many of Castro's leftist adherents favor Mao's tough policies of revolutionary brinkmanship over Khrushchev's so-called peaceful coexistence.

Organizations for "friendship with the Chinese people" are mushrooming in many parts of Cuba — as is the rest of Latin America. Mao's agents constantly shuttle between Havana and Peking.

Cuba's official Communist Party headed by Blas Roca is completely pro-Moscow in its allegiance. It was Roca, in fact, who urged Khrushchev to warn Castro that there were important political strings attached to Russia's "disinterested" economic help.

However, in Fidel Castro's inner circle there is said to be continuing friction between partisans of Mao and Khrushchev.

ONE FOR MAO

Raul Castro is a strong supporter of the Soviet Union. But "Che" Guevara — the mysterious Argentine who is dictator of Cuba's economy — is apparently veering toward Mao's policies.

Latin American specialists see this conflict reflected in the "Havana Declaration" which outlines Fidel Castro's policies. The Cuban government tries to balance itself precariously between the two Red giants. Both Russia and China are given equal place in the document.

The "declaration" was recently distributed by agents of the Cuban government to U.S. trade unions.

Fidel Castro himself is a so-called Marxist who identifies Cuba with all underdeveloped and uncommitted nations. His admiration of Red China does not prevent him from courting some of Mao's enemies such as India's Prime Minister Nehru and Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia.

While Fidel Castro urged by Raul, agreed to support Soviet policy at the U.N. "without reservations," he made no secret within his inner circle of his resentment at being treated like an "errand boy." This may well explain the reason for Khrushchev's hurried visit to the Soviet premier's hotel soon after the Soviet premier reached American shores.

Was the famous Khrushchev-Castro embrace in the U.N.'s General Assembly a sign of reconciliation? Has the Soviet Premier finally assuaged Cuba's bearded "messiah" who considers himself a revolutionary Bolivar of all Latin America?

FIDEL'S FOLLY — Looking like a modern-day prophet in army fatigues, Cuban Premier Fidel Castro delivers his Monday night marathon speech at the U.N. General Assembly. He supported the Khrushchev attacks down the line; but behind the scenes he is in ideological hot water with the Russian leader for his diplomatic flirtations with Red China. Mr. K does not like the trend of some Cuban officials toward Mao Tse-tung's tougher outlook in view of the fact that Russia is heaping economic aid on the Caribbean island.

From Pontiac State Hospital

Christmas Cards for Sale

The community relations department at Pontiac State Hospital has announced the beginning of "Operation Christmas Card."

The program is sponsored by a volunteer unit interested in providing benefits for hospital patients through the sale and personalizing of Christmas cards.

Checklist of the volunteer program are Alma Crabb of 6381 Wing Lake Road, and Vivian James of 6388 Wing Lake Road, Bloomfield Township.

All cards are of professional quality in both material and design. Checks should be made payable to Pontiac State Hospital Patient's Fund. Cards will be delivered about Nov. 1.

All proceeds will be used to purchase equipment and items for approximately 1,000 patients which cannot be provided by state funds.

The minimum order is 50 cards for $10. The cost for 100 cards is $15 and $7.50 for every 50 thereafter.

Cost of imprinting or personalizing cards is $4.50 for from 100 to 250 cards. After 250 are imprinted, additional cards may be personalized at 50 cents per 100 cards.

Details can be obtained by contacting the community relations department at the hospital.

Harriman Lashes at Nixon Experience

NEW YORK (UPI)—Former New York Gov. Averell Harriman Tuesday attacked Republican claims of Vice President Richard Nixon's "experience."

"One of the most blatant hoaxes ever attempted on the American public is that Richard Nixon is experienced," Harriman told a fund-raising reception for the Democrats.

Harriman said the Republicans were trying to show that Nixon was "experienced in dealing with the Kremlin leaders" because he argued with Nikita Khrushchev in a model kitchen in Moscow.

This, Harriman said, is "exactly the wrong way" to deal with Russia.

The 1961 Ford Galaxie Club Victoria—beautifully built to take care of people

Announcing the 1961 Ford...
Beautifully proportioned to the CLASSIC FORD LOOK

BEAUTIFULLY BUILT TO TAKE CARE OF ITSELF

Ford makes automotive history with the trend-setting car of our times... a car that goes 30,000 miles without lubrication... 4,000 miles between oil changes... adjusts its own brakes and is beautifully built to take care of you!

The 1961 Ford, already recognized for its beautiful proportions by a leading international fashion authority, introduces a whole new concept of what a car can do for you... and for itself!

It lubricates itself. New nylon bearings and a newly developed lubricant keep the '61 Ford freshly greased for 30,000 miles. Good-bye grease racks!

It cleans its own oil. The 1961 Ford's wonderfully efficient Full-Flow oil filtering system lets you go 4,000 miles between oil changes.

It adjusts its own brakes. A "mechanical brain" keeps brakes adjusted for the life of the lining.

Rust? Ford's body is specially processed to resist corrosion, even to galvanizing the body panels beneath the doors. The bright-metal trim is treated in depth to gleam and stay gleaming longer.

Ford takes care of itself on the turnpike, too, with a new 390-cu. in. Thunderbird Special V-8 that has all the punch you'll ever need. The 352 Thunderbird Special V-8 and 292 Thunderbird V-8 thrive on regular gas. And, for top economy, you can choose the '61 Mileage Maker Six.

Best of all, the '61 Ford is beautifully built to take care of you. No windshield dogleg nips your knees. Doors are extra-wide for easy entry.

This is the 1961 Ford... beautifully proportioned to the Classic Ford Look... beautifully built to take care of itself.

W. Berlin Government Quashes Red Protest on Border Evangelism

BERLIN (AP)—Mayor Willy Brandt's West Berlin government today refused a Communist demand to move American evangelist Billy Graham's big tent away from the "Little Iron Curtain" dividing Berlin.

Communist Mayor Waldemar Schmidt of East Berlin made the demand in a letter to Brandt. The tent is about 100 yards from the border, and Graham's amplified voice can be heard clearly in the Red-ruled part of the city.

Schmidt said Graham's meetings—which are to continue for five more nights—are a "gross provocation." He said West Berlin authorities would be responsible for the consequences.

Graham has been preaching for two nights to packed audiences of 30,000 and more.

THEIR AFFAIR
A spokesman for Brandt said: "The city government has no intention of yielding to such demands. If many visitors from the East sector came and the Communists get nervous about it, that is their affair."

He added that the Communists call anything a provocation that is an expression of human freedom.

Graham preached this morning to a capacity crowd of young people brought by their teachers from West Berlin schools.

His wife said she and her husband may have disagreed at times during their long marriage but they have never had an argument.

"We've had disagreements, but that makes married life more interesting," said Peterson smiling.

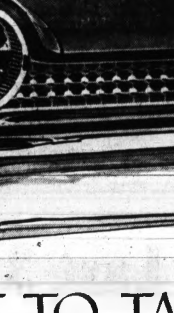

Death Claims In-Law of Arthur Summerfield
DURAND—Charles Grain, 82, father-in-law of Arthur E. Summerfield, the U.S. postmaster general, died here Monday.

Grain was a retired bookkeeper. Service will be held Wednesday.

Surviving are son John A. Clyde, five sisters and three great-grandchildren.

Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. Leonard Rocheleau of Little Falls, Minn., Mrs. Leo Grenier of Pontiac and Mrs. Donald Gaddis of Drayton Plains.

Mr. Plante's body was taken from the Pursey Funeral Home to the Simonet Funeral Home in Little Falls, for service Saturday. Burial will be in the Belle Prairie Cemetery.

Florida's Gov. Collins Broadcasters' Chief?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Gov. Leroy Collins of Florida is among those being considered as president of the National Association of Broadcasters, an NAB spokesman said today.

The spokesman said no final decision has been made by the selection committee. The job, which pays a reported $10,000 a year, has been vacant since last March's when Harold E. Fellers died of a heart attack.

Fellers' successor is expected to be announced in a few weeks, Collins said in Tampa, Fla., he

MEAs Tax Exemption Removed in Lansing

LANSING (UPI) — A 40-year tax exemption status for the Michigan Education Association (MEA) property in Lansing was cut off Monday night by the Lansing City Council.

The council passed a resolution placing MEA property in the city back on the tax rolls effective in July, 1961. The major piece of property is the MEA headquarters building.

The action came after City Attorney Joseph Lavey advised the council he thought the city "committed a gross legal error" in removing the property from the tax rolls.

Pontiac General Fall Tours Start; Are Open to All

Fall tours have begun at Pontiac General Hospital.

The first group through — 24 members of the Pontiac Fashionette Club — observed the hospital's new facilities and had refreshments in the cafeteria.

Any Pontiac group, including teenagers, are welcome to apply for future fall and winter tours, said Mrs. Fay Stewart, public relations director.

One-hour tours cover almost every area of the hospital, including the new cobalt therapy room.

Belgian Dad Must Sign Son's Class Book Daily

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (UPI) — In Belgium they make it difficult for students to "forget" to do homework, says a Belgian exchange teacher.

Children there must bring home a "class book" every night. It contains every assignment and the father of the pupil is required to sign the book daily, according to Jerome Vervaeke, who is teaching this year at Sequoia Union High School here.

Pontiac Orchestra to Obey Baton Oct. 18

Symphony Proud of 1960-61 Talented Guest Artists

MELINDA DALEY

JOHN DALEY

GARY AND DEANNA RELYEA

RUTH JONES

By MARJORIE EICHER
Women's Editor, The Pontiac Press

Ten guest artists will be heard during Pontiac Symphony Orchestra's 1960-61 season. In its eighth year, the civic symphony will present a varied group of soloists in five concerts at Pontiac Northern High School.

Continuing a practice of presenting young artists, many solo mediums of expression and rising local musicians — and Pontiac is richly endowed with the latter — the orchestra will open its series Oct. 18.

Francesco Di Biasi will wield the baton for his eighth season. Mr. Di Biasi conducted the Detroit Little Symphony this summer at Metropolitan Beach. Noted for his work in opera as well as symphony and ballet, Mr. Di Biasi has made guest appearances with the Philadelphia Orchestra, the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo, the Grand Rapids Symphony and the St. Cecilia Orchestra of Rome.

Opening performance of the season will find John Gregory narrating Aaron Copland's "Lincoln Portrait." Appearing currently with the Vanguard Playhouse in Detroit, Gregory is considered a versatile and sensitive player with a richly timbred voice.

When violinist John Dalley was soloist with the Pontiac Symphony last spring, he received what amounted to an ovation. A delighted audience wanted more.

On Nov. 29 he will return to Pontiac with his talented cellist sister. They will perform the indelibly heard Brahms Double Concerto for violin and cello. Spokesmen say Mr. Di Biasi has been eager to have the orchestra tackle this beautiful work for many seasons, but the availability of artists for the string role has prevented programming the work.

John Dalley is on the faculty at Oberlin Conservatory and Melinda, a university student, is majoring in language and political science, preparing for a diplomatic career.

Another brother and sister team, duo-pianists Gary and Deanna Relyea, will perform the Bach Concerto for two pianos Jan. 17. Guest conductor for that concert will be Richard L. Morse, director of the Pontiac Central High School band.

Since all three are localities, this promises to be an evening of special interest.

Morse who conducted the Southeast Iowa Symphony as well as the Cornell University Symphony has received commendation from Eugene Ormandy. The Relyeas, well known to local audiences, have been performing as a team since 1961. Students of Mark Westel, they are separated this year by the distance between Ann Arbor, where Gary is a scholarship student in the University of Michigan's School of Music, and Pontiac where Deanna is finishing her senior year in high school.

Another Pontiac musician, A. Roger Welton will join Detroit Symphony harpist Ruth Jones in the Mozart Concerto for flute and harp. Mr. Welton has taught instrumental music in the Pontiac schools for three years. Miss Jones has played in the Chicago Civic Orchestra under Frederick Stock and is presently teaching at the Detroit Institute of Arts.

Contralto Claramae Turner, hailed as one of the finest contemporary singers will conclude the season with the orchestra in its April concert. Moviegoers will recall her memorable "Carmen."

With such a musical menu to savor, music lovers who are eager to support their community orchestra may direct their requests for active or patron membership to Helen Oldyside of Prall Street.

Nonprofessional musicians are invited to audition for membership in the orchestra. Robert Peterson at Pontiac Central High School will handle requests. Additional strings, percussion, and bassoons are needed.

Easy to Be a Beauty

Every year beauty queens are selected for all types of purposes and causes. You can be a beauty queen in your household, just by caring for your health. The stress is placed on health for a relaxed personality is an important part of charm.

The homemaker who performs her tasks and social activities in an easy confident manner has an attractiveness that is "catching." Watching food intake, exercising regularly and getting enough sleep will help bring this radiant frame of mind. Good deep depends on the condition of the bedding. To wake up refreshed requires mattresses and springs that are buoyant and comfortable.

Reveals Music Groups

Committees, announced by Mrs. William Heitsch, president of The Pontiac Music Guild, when members met Tuesday at the Kenilworth Avenue home of the Lester Ques.

Chairmen are Mrs. Don Deragon and Mrs. James Morris, membership; Mrs. Quye, Mrs. Roger Wood and Marguerite Ballard, telephone; Mrs. Claud Kilmier and Mrs. Morris, social; Charles Wilson and Mrs. Walter Schmitz, recital. Others named were Mrs. Oscar Schmidt, publicity; Mrs. Carl Clifford and Mrs. Lester Siell, state coordinating council, and Mrs. Heitsch, delegate to attend the State Convention of Music Teachers in October at Ypsilanti with Mrs. Clifford as alternate.

The group's future plans include a concert by Dr. Roy Underwood, formerly of Michigan State University, and a workshop in the spring with Mrs. Alice Kern of the University of Michigan as instructor.

Members voted to support the Pontiac Symphony Orchestra with a contributing membership.

Program Chairman Amy Hogle introduced Lenore Schoonover and Alice Vaughn, students of Mrs. Quye, who played organ and piano duets "For Spacious Skies," Ward-Perry and "Etude" by Chopin.

Preceding a social hour Mrs. Walter Schmitz reported on a piano clinic she attended at Lansing in July.

The Oct. 25 meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Lester Siell on Auburn Road.

Student recitals are scheduled for November, February and May.

Mrs. Archie Crowley, chairman of the worship committee, spoke on prayer. Mrs. Sybil Thingtad, vice chairman of the committee, invited members and guests to the service of Holy Communion and sermons at 10 a.m., each Tuesday September through June.

Others giving brief talks were chairman of parish sewing, study, service, program, fellowship, house manager, clothes closet, Christian social relations and United Thank Offering.

Several members in charge of the forthcoming semiannual sale presented a fashion show with rummage already turned in. Models were Mrs. Jack Klarr, Mrs. Robert H. Baxter, Mrs. F. S. Strong III, Mrs. C. R. Weir, Mrs. Waldemar Adams and Mrs. Henry L. Woolfenden.

'Meet Family' Luncheon Held

"Meet Our Family" was the theme for Child Study Club Group III's luncheon Tuesday at the Erie Drive home of Mrs. M. C. Worster.

Guests were Mrs. Robert Robert Flynn, Mrs. Donald McCandless and Mrs. Robert Irwin.

Mrs. Harry McGrath, Mrs. Richard McFarlin, Mrs. Donald Rath and Mrs. William Hutchinson were hostesses. Mrs. Norman O'Brien was admitted to membership.

Guild in Meeting

Committees were announced at the Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital Guild's first fall meeting at Hotel Waldron Tuesday evening.

President Mrs. Robert W. Morse introduced Mrs. M. E. Worster and Mrs. Joseph Nouse, membership committee; Mrs. J. J. Cavanaugh, hospitality; Mrs. Merrill Petrie, publicity; Mrs. LeRoy Johnson, auditor; and Mrs. T. R. Tull, budget.

Others presented were Mrs. Ben Dickinson, conductress; Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Russell Ervin, gift cart; Mrs. John Kennedy and Mrs. Edward Schweig, ways and means; Mrs. Worster, hospital relations; and Mrs. L.C. Huddle, social.

Plans were made for a membership tea Oct. 7 at the Erie Drive home of Mrs. Worster and an ingathering brunch Nov. 2 at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Bartholomew.

YW Starts Fall Classes on Monday

The Pontiac YWCA inaugurated the fall season this morning with a coffee for the instructors, old and new.

Day and evening classes, with nursery service offered young mothers, will begin Monday, according to Mrs. William A. Crisp, Jr., chairman of the Young Adult department, sponsors of the yearly program.

New classes which include slip-covering, limited in enrollment because of space restrictions, taught by Mrs. Donald Sweeney.

Copper enameling classes have a new instructor, Mrs. Russell Ellison, who is also qualified to teach mosaics and ceramics.

Mrs. Hector Bueno, recently arrived from Ecuador, will teach Spanish. A duplicate bridge club will replace the usual evening bridge class. Mrs. Ericson Lewis will teach beginners' and intermediate classes on Wednesday mornings, also the evening session. Swimming for beginners, intermediate and advanced on Wednesdays will be taught by Mrs. John Streit and Mrs. George Beauchamp.

Mrs. Edward Day will instruct knitting and crocheting. Mrs. Robert Hines and Mrs. Sylvester Shmansky will teach cake decorating.

Mrs. William O'Connor will have charm classes for teenagers and adults. Amy Hogle will teach "Piano for Fun" and Mrs. Otto Gabert is sewing instructor. Amy Krueger will continue her copper and silversmith class.

Assisting in the nursery will be Mrs. Hazel Beutler, Mrs. Leslie Pickup and Mrs. Leo Vallancourt, with Mrs. James Wilkinson, chairman.

A "Holiday Workshop" meeting on Wednesday mornings, taught by Mrs. Maureen Youngs, will cover the new look in decoration.

C. Mark Harper will be in charge of the investment class.

Doctors' Wives Also Meeting at Convention

When the Michigan State Medical Society annual three-day convention opened Tuesday in Detroit, the physicians' wives also met in state convention with headquarters at the Pick-Fort Shelby Hotel.

Among Oakland County women attending the three-day gathering are Mrs. John H. Gauschow of Huntington Woods, president of the Women's Auxiliary to the Wayne County Medical Society, and Mrs. J. S. Gottlieb and Mrs. C. Gerald Barone.

Mrs. Harold H. Gay of Coleman, auxiliary state president, will conduct all meetings. Mrs. John E. Hauser of Birmingham is handling registration, with Mrs. Earl E. Weston of Wing Lake in charge of publicity. Mrs. John W. Rebeck of Birmingham served as printing chairman.

Registering participants at the Michigan Cancer Association's North Oakland Unit workshop Tuesday was Mrs. Harlan Fogal of Crescent Drive (at left). Workers in attendance at the all-day affair at the Boys

The Nathan G. Hargetts of Orchard Lake announce the engagement of their daughter Ruth Ann to Airman 3C Charles W. Killian, son of the Emmett Killians of Indianapolis. The bride-elect attends Anderson College. Her fiancé is an alumnus of Purdue University.

Selecting records for use at Tuesday's workshop for music therapy volunteers at Pontiac State Hospital were Michigan Federation of Music Club members (from left) Mrs. Paul Freeland, and Mrs. Albert Bradford. Robert F. Unkefer of the music faculty at Michigan State University planned the sessions with federation members.

Cosponsor Music Therapy Workshop

A school for volunteer music therapy workers was cosponsored Tuesday at Pontiac State Hospital by the Michigan Federation of Music Clubs and Michigan State University.

The seventh of a series of similar conferences in Michigan, the workshop underlined a growing facet in music activity among volunteers.

In charge of the sessions was Robert F. Unkefer of the university's music department.

He introduced Federation President Mrs. Ralph Curtis of Oxford whose message from the state federation stressed the growing importance of service to humanity through music.

About 60 volunteer therapists heard Dr. Walter Obensau, superintendent at Pontiac State Hospital speak on "The Function of Activity Therapists in Psychiatric Treatment."

Also participating in the sessions was Mrs. Gilbert Burrell, national chairman of music in hospitals of the Federation of Music Clubs.

Sessions included instruction on using music with the mentally retarded, dance activities as therapy and individual voice and piano work.

Mrs. Clare Nicholls of Bloomfield Hills represented Pontiac Tuesday Musicale.

Oxford Music Club was represented by Mrs. Nelson Parish, Mrs. Mark Van Waggoner, Mrs. Clarence Bort, Mrs. Robert Dick, Helen Anderson and Mrs. Fred Skibowski.

Among Birmingham federation members present was Mrs. John Phelps, president.

Kissing Parents Shakes Teens Freedom

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

For his graduation from prep school, his parents gave him a wrist watch. I've seen it and it's a very handsome one. They presented it to him in his dormitory room where his mother had been helping him complete his packing.

As his roommate had already left for home, the act of presentation, so charged with pride for his parents and eager expectation of his pleasure took place in privacy. They tell me that he opened the blue velvet-lined box, was visibly overcome by its contents, said "Holy Cow, thanks!" — and, walking over to his mother, shook her heartily by the hand.

He had turned to shake his father's hand when his mother pulled herself together. "Bill," she cried "will you please for heaven's sake stop shaking hands with us?"

So, sheepishly and with obvious resistance, he gave them two little pecks on the cheek.

Apparently around the age of 14 or thereabouts, kissing in becomes a hereditary reflex for children. At least this has been my observation.

Girls seem able to endure it a little longer. But around 17, though you've just given them the hair rollers you've become attached to or bought them the flowered raincoat they wanted in place of the blouse you need yourself, the most you get will be an airy, casual little, "Thanks, mother. It is nice of you."

No kisses. At best the hasty little peck on the cheek. No more the old, whole-hearted rush into our arms, the full confiding kiss on the mouth, the happy comment of the children's bodies to ours that used to be our reward when they were younger.

It is disconcerting. Until we understand this new physical constraint as the adolescent's new sense of himself as a separate person.

Our adolescent lives in constant expectation of intrusion on his independence. He's in a state of perpetual defense of it. So he becomes kiss-shy. He is scared to death that we will exploit the old physical intimacy of kissing to make him into baby again.

Thus, he tries to keep us at a distance by shaking hands with us when we have given him pleasure or by formal little thank-you phrases like, "That's nice of you."

Let Hubby Know: Abby

Coverup Is Uncovered

DEAR ABBY: I thought I had the most wonderful husband in the world until I got a call from a store saying he was behind on his payments for a fur jacket. He never gave me a fur jacket, Abby.

When I asked him to explain it, he said a friend where he works didn't have any credit so he let him charge the jacket to our account. He won't tell me the friend's name to prove he's telling the truth. He's been staying out late and has been short of money lately, and his kisses have grown cold. I love him, Abby, but I'd leave him tomorrow if I knew where a 38-year-old woman could go with four children.

HEART-BROKEN: DEAR HEART-BROKEN: Don't go anywhere. Just because your marriage is coming apart at the seams is no reason to throw it away. Let your husband know he isn't kidding you.

And let him know you love him and are deeply hurt. And let him know you intend to raise your four children with their own father.

Show some spirit and determination. Don't act like a discarded old shoe or you'll be treated like one.

DEAR ABBY: I would like your opinion of a woman, 28, who has recently made a very good marriage. (Her third, his second.) She has requested all her friends please to call her "Hildegarde."

"We have called her 'Hilda' all her life, so this seems a little ridiculous. She is a nice person and we hate to see her lose her best friends over a foolish affection like this.

HILDA'S FRIENDS: DEAR "FRIENDS": If you are Hilda's best friends, I can understand why she put her "garde" up. What's in a name?

DEAR ABBY: I am a girl of 13 with a serious problem. I have asthma. It's bad enough in the summer, but it's worse in winter. I can't get too hot or too cold. I can't get near wheat, feathers, hay, cats, dogs or chocolate. I can't do push-ups or tumble. I am starting junior high and there are so many things I am going to be left out of that it isn't even funny. Is there a cure?

"AS MAD AS": DEAR "AS MAD AS": There is more to life than push-ups, chocolate and the other taboos on your list. And one way to "get over" something is to get over being "mad" about it. Did you ever hear about the man who complained because he had no shoes until he met a man who had no feet?

DEAR ABBY: Don't be so hard on the girls who write DEAR JOHNS. If you want the other side of the story, I wrote my Don a "Dear John" because I got tired of hearing how beautiful the girls in Germany were. My girl friend wrote a "Dear John" to Jim because she was fed up hearing how fantastic the Korean girls could dance.

DEAR HELEN: For Abby's pamphlet, "What Teen-agers Want to Know," send 25 cents and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope in care of The Pontiac Press.

LIPSTICK

Much has been said about how to apply lipstick. All this is just so many words until you try it... it takes practice.

This year you'll suddenly find that dark reds and deep blues are out. Less intense colors are in.

We do not prescribe the white lip and black eye look of Paris... but do try the lighter tones of coral, peach and rose. You will find them flattering to your complexion and clothing. Don't depend on one lipstick to complement everything you wear. Own at least three shades.

Drink Skim Milk

After Diet, Still Go Easy

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

A reader writes, "Your 9-Day Reducing Diet worked beautifully. What I want to know now is how do I maintain my correct weight? Am I never to have a piece of cake again or a dish of ice cream or a cocktail?"

Most people, I have heard, start to eat normally again after their diet and gain all of the weight back.

"I am sure this question would interest a way of your readers. Please give us some basic rules to follow. I have a family of four and have to consider what they like to eat and some of these foods are very fattening."

If by "normally" you mean the way they ate before they started reducing, they WILL gain the weight back. However, this does not mean that you never can have a piece of cake or some of the food luxuries of a satisfying diet.

It does mean that you will have to adopt a lower-calorie diet than the one which caused the overweight in the first place. Here are a few basic rules to follow:

1. As a general habit take more moderate helpings than you did and forget second helpings.
2. Drink powdered, fat-free milk or skim milk instead of whole milk. According to many studies you should do this anyway because of the cholesterol threat. This is controversial, but there is much evidence that it is wise.
3. The average diet has more fat than is thought best by modern nutritionists, so eat less of it than you used to.
4. Learn to eat fruit instead of rich desserts.

Just these four rules probably will keep you on the right road. The daily habit is the important factor. You can break over some on special occasions if your overall eating habits are good.

When you finish your reducing diet keep counting calories but add 300 more daily. Watch the scales and see what happens. They will tell you whether or not to add more.

Remember this, too. If you will maintain your correct weight for a couple of months, you will be able to "binge" than you can now.

When you buy a fur hat, be sure to pick a fur which is in direct contrast to your own hair.

Final plans for Drayton Woods Women's Club Oct. 13 fashion show and card party are made by committee members (from left) Mrs. Gene Shell of Edmore Street, Mrs. Leonard Barnes

Citizenship Day Fete Held in Area

The 22nd annual Citizenship Day was observed Sunday by a picnic at the American Legion Home, Chief Pontiac Post, at Lake Oakland.

Foods from many countries were served to the 150 in attendance.

Sixteen new citizens from nine countries presented an outline of the Constitution and guests heard highlights of the group's 1960 Washington, D. C., tour.

Guests presented included hostess Mrs. Joseph Phillips, Americanism chairman of the Chief Pontiac Post of the American Legion Auxiliary; and Mrs. William Todd, Americanism chairman of the Gen. Richardson Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Other guests included Mayor and Mrs. Philip Rowan, Postmaster and Mrs. William Donaldson, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Dondero, Betty White and Congressman and Mrs. William S. Broomfield.

The flag ceremony was presented by Girl Scout Troops 241 and 413.

Granny Fights to Stay OUT of Rockin' Chair

By RUTH MILLETT

A white-haired grandmother who claims she is the rocking chair champion of the world has challenged all comers to meet her record of 100 hours of consecutive rocking.

For the life of me, I don't know where she is going to find any competition. None of the grandmothers I know would be caught in a rocking chair.

No matter what their age, they have better things to do with their time than to retire to a rocking chair and watch the world go by.

You'll find them driving their own cars, riding on planes, going to and giving parties, seeing as much of the world as they can afford to, and maybe even holding down a full or part time job.

You'll meet them at the beauty shop, at political rallies, doing volunteer work at hospitals, and serving church suppers.

If you call on them at home, you may find them in the garden, or painting a room or a picture.

"Old rocking chair" has got very few of today's grandmothers. That's because they have discovered the secret that age is mostly a state of mind and that they can keep happily busy as long as they are able to get around at all.

There's no temptation to sit and rock when there are so many challenging and interesting and rewarding things they can be doing.

So I don't foresee much of a fight for the rocking chair championship.

Audubon Club in Cooperative Dinner Meeting

Pontiac Audubon Club members and their guests were entertained by Mrs. John Plasey of Lake Orion at a cooperative dinner Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Russell and Mrs. C. Hook were guests. Members came from Pontiac, Rochester, Bloomfield Hills and Lake Orion.

After slides of plant and wild life were shown by Mrs. Plasey, members initiated plans for a breakfast and bird hike at Highland Recreation Area.

Meetings are held the second Wednesday of each month at 7:30 p.m. in Hawthorne School. Area residents interested in nature and wild life may attend. Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department sponsors the club.

DOWNTOWN AND DRAYTON PLAINS

County May Add Southwest Sewage System

ATTEND PTA WORKSHOP — Among the dignitaries at the Avondale Area PTA Council's workshop and dinner last night at Avondale High School were (from left) Mrs. Minnie Thorpe, principal of the Hamlin School in the Rochester district; Mrs. G. A. Goforth, president of the Avondale Council; and Mrs. Martin Parker, president of the Lake Orion Area PTA Council. Some 140 PTA members attended the dinner and 193 the workshop sessions that followed.

Plans Will Go to Supervisors

Oakland, 10 Townships Would Share Cost With Federal Government

The question of creating a sewage disposal system to service 222 square miles of Southwestern Oakland County will be laid before the Board of Supervisors Monday.

The county will be asked to appropriate $2,200 toward development of preliminary plans for the proposed system, to be called the Huron River Basin sewage disposal system.

Another $7,000 would be contributed by the 10 townships expected to benefit from the project, while the biggest request would be for $45,000 from the federal government through the Housing and Home Finance Agency.

Making the request Monday will be the Board of Public Works, which will ask that the project be established under the Department of Public Works.

POPULATION GIED

Soaring population and inadequacy of the land for the old-fashioned septic tanks and fields prompt its creation, according to R. J. Alexander, DPW director.

The project, which would have as its outlet Wayne County. If such sewage rights are granted, would serve the townships of White Lake, Commerce, West Bloomfield, Novi, Livonia, Farmington Hills, Highland, Waterford, Bloomfield Hills and Springfield, he said.

If approved, Alexander said, it would nearly complete the county's master plan to develop all of the communities into one or another sewage disposal basin tied to area rivers.

It would be similar to the Clinton River sewage disposal project aimed at serving Northeast Oakland County townships, except that there are no plans for a treatment plant. This system is still in the planning stage, Alexander said.

Alexander could give no estimate of the ultimate cost of the project. He said, however, it would take in 100,000 acres, and an ultimate population of 600,000.

"These townships are growing so rapidly that the demands of the city no longer can be met by old sanitary treatments," the director said.

Townships have petitioned for the construction of the disposal system, he said.

The federal government advanced $398,000 toward the complete construction plan for the Clinton River Basin system and treatment plant.

The Board of Public Works yesterday voted to ask the Board of Supervisors for the appropriation to launch plans for the Huron River Basin project.

Musicales Slates Award Winners

Rochester Group Will Hear Federation Head at First Fall Meeting

ROCHESTER — Scholarship-winning musicians will perform at the first fall meeting of the Rochester Tuesday Musicales in the Woodward Elementary School.

Mrs. Ralph Curtis of Oxford, president of the Michigan Federation of Music Clubs, will speak at the meeting, which is scheduled for 8 p.m. Tuesday.

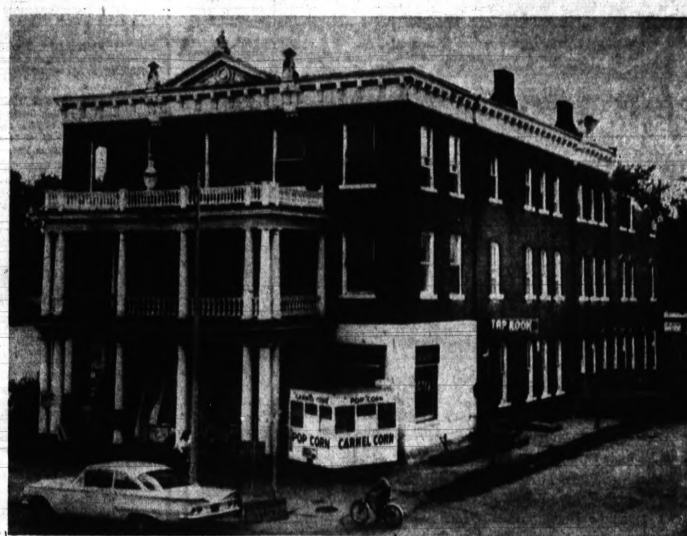

The rest of the program will consist of entertainment provided by students awarded scholarships by the Tuesday Musicales this year.

James Parker, who spent several weeks this summer with The Michigan Chorale in South America, will show color slides of his tour.

Among other scholarship winners performing will be Susan Letta, flutist; Cathy Rohrer, flute; Marcia Braun, soprano soloist; Douglas Miller, cornet; Frank Dutto, piano; and Anna Klesken, piano.

hotel for 15 years before offering it for sale about two years ago. The hotel for many years was a favorite stopping-off place for travelers en route to the Thumb. The property was sold last week.

Crash Near Almont Kills 2

ALMONT — A 44-year-old Imlay City undertaker and a West Indian migratory worker were killed in a two-car collision a half-mile north of here early last night.

Victims were Neil S. Smith of 128 N. Almont Ave., Imlay City, and John Watts of Barbados, West Indies.

Three other men, all of whom were employed with Watts at a Benson apple orchard, were passengers in his car. They were reported in good condition today at Almont Community Hospital.

Smith, a bachelor, was co-owner of the Smith Funeral Home in Imlay City.

Lapeer County sheriff's deputies said a witness reported that Watts' car pulled out of line to pass another vehicle on M-53.

Smith was driving south when Watts approached from the opposite direction at a high rate of speed, the witness said.

Both drivers swerved to the left and the two cars collided on the shoulder of the road, police reported.

Vere R. Oxley, 26, one of the passengers in Watts' auto, told police all he could remember was that their car started to pass another and then crashed.

With Oxley in the car were Buddy Steele, 34, and George Henderson, 30.

All are from Barbados. Smith was alone in his sports car.

Workman Dies After Collapse of Scaffolding

ROYAL OAK — A 42-year-old Dearborn man, who fell 40 feet when scaffolding on which he was working toppled over, died yesterday from injuries received in the accident.

The victim was William Bramlett. He was sandblasting inside a new water tank at the South Oakland Water Authority site at Webster and Oakshire streets when the accident occurred yesterday morning.

A fellow employee, Lloyd Voyles, 31, also of Dearborn, was with him on the portable scaffold when it tipped. Voyles is reported in satisfactory condition at William Beaumont Hospital, where Bramlett died yesterday evening.

Both men were employees of the Paul O. Sellers Co. of Detroit.

HONOR BUSINESS WOMEN—Keego Harbor Mayor Samuel Whitmore yesterday proclaimed the week of Oct. 2-8 as "National Business Women's Week" in the city. Looking on are Mrs. Barbara George of 6945 Elizabeth Lake Road, and Mrs. Helen Godhardt of 2904 Orchard Lake Road, both members of the city's Business and Professional Women's Club. They have been chosen by other members as "outstanding" representatives of career women in Keego Harbor. Mrs. George is a bookkeeper with the Sealtest Dairy in Pontiac and Mrs. Godhardt assists her husband at Godhardt Funeral Home.

Granted Phony Divorce

'Judge' Pleads Guilty

"Judge" Hazel McCordle, a 56-year-old North housewife accused of "granting" a phony divorce to a Pontiac mother of three, pleaded guilty in Farmington Township Justice Court Tuesday to a charge of obtaining money under false pretense.

Mrs. McCordle, 26785 Wilson Road, admitted selling trumped-up divorce papers to Mrs. Lawrence Cunningham, 28, of 72 S. Francis St., for $100 in 1958.

Mrs. Cunningham then "married" Kimble Farley with whom she has been living since.

Justice of the Peace James Lawson fined Mrs. McCordle $100 plus $15 court costs and placed her on probation for two years.

J. K. Galbraith, Kennedy Adviser, to Speak in Area

John K. Galbraith, economic adviser to presidential candidate Sen. John F. Kennedy, will speak in Bloomfield Hills tomorrow night at a meeting of the Oakland County Democratic Business and Professional Group.

As part of his three-day swing through Michigan and Ontario on behalf of Kennedy, Galbraith will speak before the local group at the Fox and Hounds Inn at 7 p.m.

Galbraith, head of the economics department of Harvard University and author of "The Affluent Society," will speak on political economy, according to Cass Jarvis, president of the business and professional group.

Galbraith helped draft the economic plank in the Democratic national platform. Tickets for the dinner may be reserved by calling the county Democratic headquarters, 17 Water St.

INDEPENDENT FRONT SUSPENSION!

WORTH MORE BECAUSE THEY WORK MORE!

Chevy's '61 fleet swings in with a ready-made reputation as the trucks that are worth more because they work more...the latest editions of the haulers that scrapped the I-beam axle and proved the important advantages of independent front suspension!

You'll find new models in the '61 fleet—lower priced, long-wheelbase 4-wheel drive trucks—and thoughtful refinements throughout the line. But the big news for '61 is nailed-down proof (based on actual owner reports) that Chevrolet's torsion-spring design is the best thing that's happened to trucks in decades!

With Chevy's independent front suspension and Sturdi-Bilt design, you cruise over trails where other trucks creep. You feel the difference in less wheel lift and vibration. You can see why drivers are happier, why loads are better protected and why the truck itself will stand up to thousands of miles of more work. That goes for any size Chevy, too—pickups, tilt cabs, tandems, all of them.

Check the latest specs with your Chevrolet dealer: capacity, power teams, options, the works. Then, by all means, drive a '61. Once around your Chevrolet dealer's block and you'll never be satisfied with a front axle truck again!

Whip this flexible over a rutted road and find out what torsion springs are all about!

Romania Chief
Hits 'Hoodlums'Says NYC Atmosphere
Justifies Moving U.N.
Headquarters

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP)—Romania's Communist party chief charged Tuesday the atmosphere in New York is poisoned by "hoodlums, hooligans and Fascist refugees" and this justifies finding another place for the U.N. headquarters.

George Gheorghiu-Dej told the U.N. General Assembly his delegation is "entitled to expect that in the city where the work of the supreme forum of the U.N. are held, we will find favorable conditions for its activity and a propitious climate for the understanding between people."

Instead, the Romanian leader declared, "discriminatory measures" undertaken by U.S. security authorities have been merged with "demonstrations by hoodlums, hooligans and Fascist refugees and common law lawbreakers three or four times per day."

"This is probably in a nutshell the largely advertised 'free world' as it is conceived by the inspirators of these provocative actions," he added.

In addition to supporting Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's suggestion that the U.N. headquarters be moved out of New York, the Romanian leader endorsed Khrushchev's proposals for supplanting Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld's post with a three-man executive body.

Gheorghiu-Dej charged that Hammarskjöld acted as a representative of colonial policy in the Congo.

State Roads Group
Against Con-Con

LANSING (UP)—The Michigan Good Roads Federation Tuesday voiced its opposition to the constitutional convention proposal on the Nov. 3 ballot.

Executive Director Gehl W. Graves said the federation was opposed to the proposal that a simple majority of those voting on the issue could call a constitutional convention, and to dangers that could arise to the highway construction fund amendment now in effect.

"Some components have already indicated that the antidiversion amendment would come under severe attack at a constitutional convention," Graves said.

"In the past four years there have been moves in the legislature to divert $30 million to other purposes," he added.

Package Firm Moving
Plant to Muskegon

MUSKEGON (UP)—Bemis Bros. Bag Co., among leading firms in production of paper bags and flexible packaging, is transferring its Technold Division from Minneapolis to Muskegon.

Jean E. Zeller, Minneapolis zone manager for the firm, announced that preliminary work already has started on a 24-acre site in Muskegon's suburban Horton Township. The division expects to employ 50 to 60 persons at the start of operations in its proposed new 50,000-square-foot plant.

780 U.S. Technicians
Aid Nations of Africa

WASHINGTON (UP)—The United States had 780 technicians working in backward areas in Africa last year and expects to raise the number to 1,000 this year.

In a campaign after the United Nations sent 800 technical experts and provided fellowships for study abroad to more than 400 Africans.

Montana Claims Title for Big-Game Hunting

HELENA, Mont. — Montana claims the title of America's leading big-game-hunting state. It is said to lead in mountingbat hunting, rank second in antelope and moose, and equal two other states in providing big game there. A extensive conservation program helped restore big game there after the explosive hunting of the 1890's.

Scientists in Vermont Seek a Sweeter Sap

BURLINGTON, Vt. (U)—If scientists at the University of Vermont succeed in a project now in its third year, Vermont's sugar and syrup producing maples will yield sweeter and sweeter sap as the years go by.

The geneticists are checking the sap-sweetness of trees and, from them, cuttings are being rooted in an effort to increase the yield from what Vermonters call the "sugar bush."

Car Really Warm Up

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (UPI)—On an exceptionally cold morning John O'Kiney started his car in the driveway and returned to his home to let the auto "warm up." Minutes later, he told police, he looked out the window and saw his car in flames. A fire company was called to extinguish the blaze.

Mobile home or trailer dwellers number more than 3,500,000 of about equal to the population of Chicago.

$101,000⁰⁰

YOU MAY WIN...

- A MINK STOLE BY SCHIAPARELLI
- AN RCA COLOR TV SET
- AN RCA STEREO HI-FI
- A BENRUS WATCH

PLUS MANY MORE WONDERFUL PRIZES

HERE'S HOW TO PLAY LUCKY "11"

- "Lucky 11" is played by matching the numbers on your card against the 28 indicated game numbers appearing in this Kroger ad.
- Pencil an X lightly over those numbers on your card that match those game numbers appearing in this Kroger ad.
- If you can X out five numbers in a row on your card, either down, across or diagonally, as indicated by the arrows, you have won a prize! The prize will be indicated by an arrow on the card.
- If you have a winner, fill out the required information on the back of the card and mail it to Kroger, Box 37, Eastchester, N.Y. You'll receive your prize within 15 days. (Do not bring the card back to the store.)
- If you haven't a winner this week—erase the X's from your card and save it to play against the game numbers in Kroger's next weekly ad in your newspaper, and against each succeeding set of game numbers.
- Save the "Lucky 11" card that you receive at your Kroger store—a previous ad may have winning numbers from a new card.
- Any one card and any one ad can be matched to claim a winner, but all game numbers must come from a separate ad or paper. Numbers from more than one ad cannot be combined to make a winning card.
- Cards will be given to adults only at any Kroger store. No purchase is required.
- Complete rules and instructions on every "Lucky 11" card.
- Employees of The Kroger Company and their immediate families are not eligible to play this game.

Cesaroni examined the body and found another target. For five months he and Clappin had studied the Popular Bank of Milan's method of transferring money from the main office to branch banks throughout the city.

The transfer was made with a small panel-type delivery truck, manned only by a driver, a bank clerk and one armed guard. Usually there were eight to ten suitcases in the truck, stuffed with millions of lire.

On the evening before the robbery, Clappin met Cesaroni at their favorite bar on the Piazza Navona to report everything in readiness.

A truck and three cars had been stolen, and DeMaria had obtained seven pairs of blue overalls to be used as part of the disguise.

THE ARMS DEALER

While most of Milan admit Cesaroni opened his door to admit an old man carrying a heavy canvas sack.

The visitor was 75-year-old Eremegildo Rota. His name had never been linked with crime, and that was one reason why Cesaroni had paid him a million lire ($1,000) to be keeper of the warehouse—three machine guns, four pistols and several hand grenades.

Around each gun, Cesaroni wrapped a pair of the blue overalls. Then he placed the bundles in his car and drove to the Piazza Navona where he parked. One by one, members of the crew drifted down dark stairways and returned to a building. Cesaroni returned to his hideout.

At 9:30 the next morning, Giuseppe Spina, an accountant in Milan, saw a small delivery truck come out of Piazza Brescia, followed closely by a Fiat sedan. The bank clerk in the front seat of the truck was mentally ticking off the number of blocks to the next stop.

There had been a time when he had wondered what he would do if anyone tried to rob the truck. But he rarely thought about it anymore since the daily trips had become monotonous routine.

Suddenly a big truck wheeled from a side street straight in his path. "Watch out . . ." the clerk cried. There was a crashing jolt and the sound of shattering glass.

The shattering glass exclaimed, "The damned fool . . ." and then he stared in disbelief as the truck was surrounded by hooded men wearing overalls. One of them smashed the rear window and knocked the guard unconscious. Another yanked a machine gun through the glass beside the clerk and commanded: "Don't move!"

The hand signals each other with peculiar noises that sounded like barking dogs. They yanked the cases of money from the truck and tossed them into a Fiat sedan. Then they scrambled into the Fiat and an Alfa Romeo sedan, and raced from the scene without a shot being fired.

Police, reaching the scene a few minutes after the robbery, found utter confusion when they sought to get a description of the gang.

"They howled like dogs . . ." They sounded like Frenchmen to me.

"No, no! They had the accents of Corsicans . . ."

OVERSIS TAKEN

The robbery on Via Cavour became a newspaper sensation when the bank disclosed that the band had reaped with 114 million lire ($122,400) in cash plus 676 million lire ($777,600) in securities and money orders, most of them foreign banks. This was the biggest bank robbery in Italy's history, executed with American-style gang methods.

Dr. Paolo Zamparelli, chief of the Squadra Mobile, studied the reports of the robbery. The bandits' modus operandi was strikingly similar to methods used by a mystery gang in the major unsolved robberies of the preceding years.

Zamparelli said to his aides, "I believe there is only one man in Milan capable of organizing such operations. He is Enrico Cesaroni."

Cesaroni was questioned, but released. The police had no proof. The first break in the case came six days after the robbery, quite by accident. The old Glona canal was drained as a health hazard and startled workmen saw two Benetton automatic pistols lying in its muddy bed. Nearby was a hairbrush, several pairs of mud-soaked overalls, and a knitted hood.

By means of a label, the overalls were found to be the product of a small garment factory in Milan. The manager told the police, "We made only two pairs of these large-size overalls and sold them to a small store. I sold them to a small store in order."

In Florence, the merchant who made the purchase recalled selling them to a peddler, but the peddler was no help. "Yes, I bought the overalls," he said, "but I sold some non-of-a-dog stuff my car and everything in it, including the overalls."

By this time, almost a month had passed. The chance for an capture of the gang was becoming a serious political issue. Zamparelli set up a special office where he could concentrate on the case without interruptions. He and his men knew their chances were all at stake.

One blundering morning in late March, Zamparelli and his top lieutenants, some weary from a fruitless, all-night search, were checking the stories of suspects, watching the daily reports of the windows of their offices.

"Well, what now?" someone asked.

Zamparelli said suddenly, "Let's go for a drive."

They drove to the Church of St. Rita, and the small group walked into the quiet shadows where candles glowed. And again they saw on the face of St. Rita the secret smile reserved for those who are troubled.

When the familiar service ended, they returned to their task. And suddenly, an aide burst into Zamparelli's office. "We've found a man who saw the theft of the peddler's car."

The witness looked at photographs of criminals from the police files, and at last pointed to one and said, "This looks like the man."

The face was that of Giorgio Puccio, well known to police for past robberies. Taken to headquarters, Puccio confessed he had stolen the peddler's car.

"What happened to the overalls?"

"I sold them to Luciano De Maria," he said sullenly.

Squads of detectives fanned out into the city and sudden raids, picked up DeMaria, Russo, Gesmundo, Bolgoini, Clappin and others. Hour after hour the suspects were questioned. And at last one of the gang (the police never have disclosed who it was) broke and told the whole story. Other confessions followed.

The Squadra Mobile raided Rota's home and found an arsenal of eight machine guns, six pistols and four hand grenades. In Bolgoini's home, they found two plastic buckets stuffed with a fortune in lire, hidden in a secret compartment beneath the kitchen sink. Most of the loot was recovered.

And then once more the chief of the Squadra Mobile and his lieutenants went to the Church of St. Rita, where the candles flicker in the shadows, and they said prayers of thanksgiving as to their custom when a major crime is solved.

YOUR CHILD MAY HAVE PIN-WORMS

1 OUT OF 3 DOES

Fidgeting, nose-picking, a tumbling mental list are often signs of pinworms. Only parents that medical experts say infect 1 out of every 3 people in the family. Native families may be victims and not know it. To get rid of pinworms, they must be killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jay's P-W Tablets do . . . and here's how they do it:

First—a sensitive coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jay's P-W Tablets, medically-approved ingredients go right to work—kill pinworms quickly and easily.

Don't talk children with disgusting contagious pinworms which infect entire families. Get Jay's P-W Tablets . . . small, easy-to-swallow tablets . . . good for children and adults.

Larger Supplies of Meat Mean Lower Prices

Fall marketings of beef, pork and lamb are increasing. You can see the results in food stores, states the Marketing Information Agent, Mrs. Josephine Sawyer. Changes in fresh fruit and vegetable supplies are very evident also. Supplies of small and medium size eggs are much larger than supplies of larger sizes.

With supplies of all red meats, except veal, increasing, shoppers will find price changes. Already pork prices are less than they were in mid-summer and stores are focusing attention on one or more pork cuts each week.

MORE REEF
Customers are wanting more beef roasts and their wishes for steaks have decreased to some extent. This, plus the fact that there is more beef available, are reasons why you find many stores advertising "steak sales." If you compare steak prices with those you paid four weeks ago, you'll find a substantial difference. You will pay less now.

How can you know that steak will be tender? There are several guides. Grade is only one guide. If steaks are graded, you can count on the most tender ones grading U. S. Prime, Choice and Good in that order. But if you can't find a grade, look for a generous amount of marbling (they white streaks of fat in the lean). Cheese steaks which have a good covering of white colored fat. A young ten-

Nuts and Cheese Blend in Filling

Lend new taste-interest to your family lunch menus with Cheese Sandwiches. Shredded American cheese, chopped celery and sliced almonds mixed with salad dressing make up the unusual sandwich filling. The flavor combination and crunchy texture of these sandwiches will delight noon-time appetites while providing a nourishing meal.

For 6 American Cheese Crunch Sandwiches, combine 2 cups shredded American cheese, about 1/2 pound, 1/2 cup chopped celery and 1/2 cup sliced almonds, mixing lightly. Add 1/2 cup salad dressing and mix well.

Spread 12 slices enriched or whole wheat bread with softened butter or margarine. Then, spread the cheese mixture on 6 slices of bread and cover with the remaining bread. Carrot sticks and pickles are good accompaniments for this sandwich.

Retailers report that the fall crop of small size turkeys are arriving and that they look excellent. Most turkeys are priced near 50 cents per pound this week. Many varieties of fish fit into the moderate price range. To figure cost per serving, you'll need to divide cost per pound by two if the fish is dressed or by three if it is already cut into fillets.

Egg prices are continuing to rise. Even so, eggs continue to be one of the better protein values when you consider that two large eggs will alternate for a serving of meat. A dozen small size eggs weigh a minimum of 18 ounces and now cost about 40 to 45 cents a dozen. A dozen large size eggs weigh a minimum of 24 ounces and cost from 50 to 55 cents a dozen in most stores this week.

If your family likes cauliflower, this is the season to use it. Supplies are at their peak and prices probably as low as you'll find. Lettuce supplies are very liberal. They are arriving from three growing areas at present - California, Arizona and Michigan.

Late rains have helped Michigan cabbage. Supplies are good and prices very low compared to most vegetables.

Potatoes are being harvested in several large growing areas. With so many in the market, prices are very competitive. You can pay less than 3 cents or up to 10 cents a pound depending upon the size bag and the variety you choose.

DON'T FEEL
Did you know that potatoes keep more of their high nutritive value when you boil them tender with the skins on? A medium potato will supply about one-third of your day's need of Vitamin C and it only contains about 100 calories.

Tokay grapes are in heavy supply. Thompson's grapes are tapering off. Plums are getting more scarce.

Michigan's 11 million bushel apple crop is being harvested with heavy movement to storage and moderate movement to market. The first Jonathans started in volume September 21 in southwestern Michigan. Most growers are waiting for cool weather to add more color before picking.

It's time for fresh applesauce, and the color of the skin has nothing to do with the apple inside. Tint applesauce green and add mint flavoring for a lamb accompaniment or tint applesauce pink and add cinnamon or nutmeg. If you serve it with pork.

Buttermilk Will Make Waffles Very Tender

Buttermilk waffles are a flavor-some change for a favorite stand-by. Dissolve 1/2 teaspoon soda in 1/2 cup buttermilk. Add to 1 1/2 cups pancake mix, 1 egg and 1/2 cup melted butter in mixing bowl. Beat with rotary beater until fairly smooth.

Bake on hot waffle iron until steaming stops. Accompany the 4 servings with melted butter and syrup or sour cream and fresh-brown berries.

Fruit Mousse Is Creamy Delight

Colorful appearance and taste appeal are of prime importance when appetites become languid. Pineapple Mousse is a frozen treat that will accent a supper or luncheon in the coolest sort of way.

A trio of fruits—pineapple, banana and lemon—combine to make this creamy, cool dessert that can be made ahead and stored in individual cups or in freezer trays or containers.

Frozen Pineapple Mousse
2 bananas, sliced
1 cup crushed pineapple
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup whipping cream
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon vanilla (optional)
Slice bananas, add lemon juice and 1/2 cup sugar. Add crushed pineapple and put into freezing tray to become slightly icy. Whip cream until almost stiff; beat in 1/2 cup sugar, salt and vanilla. Fold into fruit mixture and immediately spoon into individual cups or into freezing trays or containers. Freeze immediately and rapidly. This will make two quarts of mousse.

Smooth, spicy and special is the dressing for this colorful vegetable salad. The creamy dressing is made with an inexpensive dessert topping mix which stores on your food shelf, handy for desserts or salad dressing.

The recipe makes three cups of dressing. Because the dessert topping will keep in the refrigerator for three or four days, you can use any leftover dressing on another type salad later in the week.

Vegetable Salad Dressing
1/2 cup cold milk
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 teaspoon dessert topping
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1/2 teaspoon sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
1/2 teaspoon black pepper
1/2 teaspoon grated onion
1/2 teaspoon celery seed (optional)
1/2 teaspoon oil

Combine milk, vanilla and dessert topping mix in a small bowl with a narrow bottom. Blend, then beat vigorously until topping forms soft peaks. Combine remaining ingredients and fold into whipped topping. Makes about 3 cups.

Two Gills Equals Cup

When a foreign recipe calls for 8 ounces or 2 gills of milk, that is 8 ounces. Sugar is heavier than meat, so if the recipe calls for 7 fluid cups of milk is needed. But, if it calls for 8 ounces of ounces of sugar, that's one cup.

Blue Cheese Finds Place in 20 Years

When blue cheese was first produced in this country during the 1830's, about all homemakers or chefs did with it was to crumble a little in French dressing for salads.

Today, according to Barbara Blue, home economics director of the American Blue Cheese Association, homemakers have found a "thousand-and-one" use for the sharply flavored and aromatic cheese.

Here are just a few of the uses that the latest: soups and soup garnishes; egg dishes, including casseroles, souffles, omelets and rabbits; main-course casseroles and skillet dishes in conjunction with meat, poultry and fish; sauces in combination with eggs and vegetables; and in all types of sandwiches and desserts.

"Not only can American Blue Cheese stand alone as a dessert or buffet choice," Barbara Blue says, "but it can lend a gourmet touch as a recipe ingredient. Its excellence is widely known as a spritzing for tossed salads or when added to salad dressings. It is equally delicious in cooked food, where it is used in crumbled form."

She urges homemakers to serve blue cheese at room temperature so that the flavor and character of the cheese will be at its very best.

Indian Summer Salad Rich in Protein Foods

An Indian summer picnic in the bright blue air of October has a special flavor all its own. For such a picnic, backyard or countryside, try this hearty ham, egg, and frozen pea salad. It, too, has a unique flavor that makes a simple lunch or supper a delightful experience.

Early in the day, cook a package of frozen peas. Cook them right. A salad is no place for overcooked peas. Use only a minimum of salted water. Four tablespoons of water will do it nicely. Bring the water and peas to a boil in a covered saucepan. Then, reduce the heat to a minimum and simmer

Supper Shrimp Salad Is Fine for Fall Menu

Warm days of early fall call for a cooling supper salad. Toss cooked cauliflower with cut canned blue lake green beans and cooked shrimp in tangy French dressing. Peel garden-ripe tomatoes and cut part way through into quarters.

Allow one tomato for each serving and fill with shrimp-bean mixture. Circle salads with slices of hard-cooked egg. For a heartier salad dressing, blend together mayonnaise, commercial sour cream and tomato chili sauce. Serve with cheese-topped biscuits and your dinner is nutritious and flavorful.

HIGH IN PROTEIN—A salad to make in haste and enjoy at leisure. Hearty enough to be the mainstay of a meal, it combines ham, egg, and frozen green peas in a zingy mayonnaise dressing.

Butterscotch Chips Make Quick Yummy Frosting

NEW YORK (UPI)—Butterscotch chips and chopped nuts make a delicious coffee cake frosting with practically no effort.

Scrape 3 tablespoons of chips on top of cake as soon as it comes from the oven.

When chips soften, spread them over the cake and sprinkle with 2 tablespoons of chopped nuts. Serve warm or cold to it.

YWCA Selling Mrs. Ambler's Candy Book

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Last week an interesting little book came to me by mail. It's one many of you readers will want to buy, not only for the contents, but because you know the author.

Dorothy Ambler was for four years a member of the YWCA staff. In addition to her job as bookkeeper and front office receptionist, she taught candy making to many local women in her Y classes. The booklet of tested recipes she had lovingly compiled over the years was a special award for her "graduates."

Now that little candy booklet is available to the public at the YWCA. Profits will be used to remodel the front office as a memorial to Mrs. Ambler.

Candy making goes back to the Egyptians who left us the first pictured and written evidence of the importance of candy. Honey, sweet herbs and spices were mixed and highly colored to make confections.

Since that time the making of candy has become a more refined process. The more expensive kinds use cream, butter, high grade chocolate and nuts. Both artificial flavorings and colorings are used; the USDA sees to it that they are pure.

Making candy at home is a delightful pastime that produces delicious results. Some of the recipes are more complicated than others, but all produce tempting sweets.

Children can enjoy making candy. When they eat homemade candy, mother knows what the ingredients are. With Halloween just a month away, sharpen up your candy making skills on these samples from Mrs. Ambler's book.

Quick Caramel Plugs

1 cup hot melted margarine
1/2 cup superfine sugar
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 cup white chocolate
1/2 cup unsweetened chocolate melted

Mix potatoes and melted butter together in a bowl. Add sugar gradually and beat until thoroughly blended. Add vanilla, salt and coconut. Pack into greased pan and spread melted chocolate over the top. Let stand until chocolate is firm and then cut into squares.

Rice Cereal Gives Body to Creamy Dessert

Want a fluffy delicious dessert made with a desert whip topping from your pantry shelf. Other ingredients are quick-cooking rice cereal—peaches and coconut. It's simple enough for a family treat and delicious enough for a special company dessert, and it is just as good the second day as the first.

Using cooked cereal and dessert topping mix, you could make many variations at this pudding. Instead of peaches and coconut, you could add bananas or strawberries, or dates, or preserved mixed fruit or sliced preserved lunquats.

Peach Almond Yuff

1/2 cup water
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup quick-cooking rice cereal
1/2 cup almond meal
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup coconut
1/2 cup almond meal
1/2 cup milk

Bring water and salt to a boil

In saucepan stir in rice cereal slowly so water continues to boil and cook, stirring constantly, for 30 seconds. Cover and let stand for 3 minutes. Stir in sugar, almond extract, and milk; cover and chill.

Using chilled bowl and beaters, stir topping mix into cereal and beat until light and fluffy. Add 1 cup of coconut and beat until soft peaks are formed. Nestle in peaches and pile lightly in serving dishes—return to refrigerator until needed.

Before serving garnish with fresh sliced peaches and remaining coconut. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Russian Caramel

1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup vanilla
1/2 cup coconut

Place butter in saucepan over heat; when melted, add sugar, milk and vanilla. Simmer 30 minutes or until mixture leaves the sides of the pan. Stir occasionally to prevent burning. Add vanilla. Pour into lightly greased buttered dish. When firm, cut into squares.

Pumpkin Bread Made With One of Cake Mixes

NEW YORK (UPI)—Burnt sugar cake mix provides a short cut to pumpkin nut tea bread. To one 1-pound 3-ounce package of cake mix add 2 eggs, 1 teaspoon of cinnamon, 1 cup of cooked mashed pumpkin, and 1 packet of burnt sugar syrup extended to 1/2 cup with water. Mix according to package directions, adding 1/2 cup of chopped walnuts during last minute of mixing.

Bake in a pre-heated 325-degree oven 45 minutes, or until cake tests done. Cool in pan 10 minutes before turning out on wire rack.

Oakland Chapter Elects A. F. Klein Chairman for 1960-61

The Oakland County Chapter of American Red Cross has announced the appointment of seven new members who begin serving three-year terms this fall on its board of directors.

Officers for the coming year and committee chairmen have also been named.

New board members from Pontiac are Dr. Henry L. Jenkins, Mrs. Irma Norlund and Ralph Forman.

Others are Mrs. George Welch of Birmingham, Mark Percell, Wilson, Mrs. Marjorie Veech, Pleasant Ridge, and Mrs. Norman Beutcher of Milford.

The 1960-61 chapter officers are: A. F. Klein, chairman; Sanford Burton, first vice chairman; Mrs. A. T. Barnes, second vice chairman; James Howlett, treasurer; and Carleton C. Patterson Jr., secretary.

Program chairmen for the coming fiscal year include Mrs. W.O. Mitchell, office of volunteers; Mrs. Robert F. Kohn, Junior Red Cross; and Dr. Ernest Bauer, first aid program.

P. Mark Smith will be chairman for the water safety program.

Belgium to Help Congo Workers

Will Try to Find Jobs for Civil Employees; Some May Return

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — The Belgian government announced today it plans to set up a technical assistance and cooperation program for the Congo and other underdeveloped nations to provide work for Belgian civil servants who have returned from the Congo.

Premier Gaston Eyskens told Parliament: "Insofar as circumstances will permit and their return be wished and guaranteed by the Congo government, the Belgian government will favor the return to the Congo of those of our compatriots who in the public service have a possibility of fulfilling tasks of counselors to the young nation."

"The same goes for the employees of private enterprises, the independent workers and the settlers who wish to resume their activities in Africa."

Christopher Columbus is believed to have been a weaver (his father's profession) before he became a sailor-explorer.

Congo Admits to Cannibalism

Missionary, 74, Claims Practice Coming Out in the Open

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — A longtime missionary to the Congo, The Rev. W. F. P. Burton, 74, says cannibalism "is coming more and more into the open" in the new African nation of the Congo.

The Johannesburg Star quoted the Rev. Mr. Burton as saying cannibalism "has always been practiced in secret in the Congo, but now it's much more open."

The missionary, now living in Bulawayo, Northern Rhodesia, was stationed at an evangelistic mission at Mwanza Kasanga, a Baluba tribal area in the Congo's Kasai Province.

He said tribesmen practice two types of cannibalism — one for tribal sacrifice and the other to satisfy "just a craze for human flesh."

"This is like alcohol," the missionary said, "the more they get, the more they want."

The nation's amateur gardeners are expected to lay out more than $4 billion for everything from daffodils to tractors this season.

Employ the Handicapped Week Set

Mayor Philip E. Rowston has proclaimed next week as "Employ the Physically Handicapped Week" in Pontiac.

Each year the first full week of October is set aside throughout the country to promote the conviction that all job applicants — disabled or not — should be considered upon their ability to do a job.

The week is sponsored by the National Employment Security Commission and the Governor's faculty since 1950.

Committee on Employment of the Physically Handicapped.

The National Association of Manufacturers, the AFL-CIO, and many other groups have developed and endorsed plans through which the handicapped can make their contributions to our production in business, industry and professions.

Soviet Teacher to Give Lecture at Wayne State

DETROIT (U.P.)—Wayne State University officials said Tuesday a Russian scientist would speak at the school as soon as he is cleared by the State Department.

A Wayne spokesman said O. A. Reutov, professor of chemistry at the University of Moscow would be one of the speakers in a 12-lecture series, "The Frontiers of Chemistry."

Reutov, whose appearances in this country are sponsored by the National Academy of Sciences, was originally scheduled to speak Monday night but was not cleared by the State Department.

Main Department in Time to Keep the Date

His appearance has now been tentatively scheduled for Oct. 4. Wayne's Board of Governors recently lifted a 10-year ban on communist speakers. Charles H. Landrum, a Detroit Edison Co. vice president, resigned his post on Wayne Businessmen's Advisory Council in protest over the policy change.

BOSTON (U.P.)—Thanks to Longfellow's poem, Paul Revere is best remembered for his midnight ride. Few know that among his numerous other accomplishments, Revere established quite a reputation as a dentist.

Brigitte Bardot Ordered to Rest

PARIS (AP)—Brigitte Bardot's doctors reportedly have ordered a complete rest for the blonde actress, whose marriage with actor Jacques Charrier has been repeatedly rumored on the rocks.

The couple has been separated for the past two weeks while Brigitte completed a film. Charrier went south after an angry argument with Brigitte's new leading man.

By Any Other Name, They Sell the Same

Door-to-Door Salesmen Now Disguised

By FRANK LAKARI

DETROIT (UPI) — It's all right to call a spade a spade, but you don't call salesmen any more.

It seems the fast-talk, hard-sell man has now become a "public relations" or "advertising promotion" executive.

To borrow an old Dragnet phrase, "Only the names have been changed," but who is to "protect the innocent"? Innocent public, that is.

Although they appear everywhere, the new home buyer, the poor guy who has just hooked himself to the limit to get his little dream cottage, seems to draw this new kind of salesman in droves. Their fields are many and their approaches slick.

A well-dressed young man will ring your doorbell shortly after you have moved into your new home, charged, but who is to "protect the innocent"? Innocent public, that is.

to inform you he represents one of the subcontractors on your home. Would it be all right if one of your representatives calls on you to discuss construction features of your home? he asks. You are impressed, of course, and you agree.

Next evening two fast-talk hard-sell men have you and your wife cornered on your own sofa, telling you how inadequate the insulation in your dream home is.

They will produce figures showing you that your fuel savings make their installation "free." But after you've signed and they are gone, the two of you sit there trying to figure out where you are going to get that extra $15 a month for the next 36 months.

Or there's the aluminum salesman. Pardner me, advertising promotional executive. He wants to put awnings on your home, for free, too — well practically free.

You see, he tells you, with an easy new bonus in the neighborhood they are dying to install their awnings for all to see. And for using your home as their "showroom," you will get the awnings at a fantastic saving.

Of course you don't have any price on which to base this fantastic saving.

And after you have signed on the dotted line, he'll be next door telling the neighbor that they want to put a different color awning on his home, etc., etc.

These men are ingenious. If they can't get to you through your front door, they come in through your neighbors.

She'll get your wife at the morning coffee gathering, "Dear," she says, "if you only let this man come and show you the vacuum cleaner, I get credit around mine. Of course you don't have to buy," she says. "They don't need a salesman. He's only a demonstrator."

So what can a good neighbor do? Next evening you and your wife sit uneasily on that same sofa while the "demonstrator" unveils a machine that will — you guessed it — save you more dollars a year. His machine will do everything but burp the baby and they are working on an attachment for that.

And you can own this machine for free, too. Instead of money you supply people for them to demonstrate their marvel to. Of course if you run out of people, you do have to make some payments.

And like the chain letter, you run out of people pretty fast. And so now more monthly payment to add to the unbalanced budget. The list is inexhaustible. As fast as one goes out the door, a new one is ringing the doorbell. Before you know it you are going to "save" so much money you'll only have to give up eating for the next 36 months to own all those "free" appliances.

2-Diaper Fire Calls 19
WHITE RIVER JUNCTION, Vt. (UPI) — Nineteen firemen, one fire truck and a rescue wagon answered a call at a smoking house here and found two steaming diapers that had been put in a pan to boil. Fire officials said the diapers were a total loss.

Ford Offers Spark to September Sales

DETROIT AP — Ford Motor Co. sparked the brighter sales in mid-September and showed its deepest market penetration, 28.8 per cent, of any month this year, Ward's Automotive Reports said.

During the Sept. 11-30 period, Ford claimed 30.3 per cent of the industry's sales. GM was credited with 26.4 per cent, Chrysler 14.2, American Motors 8.7 and Studebaker-Packard 2.4.

The industry's six compact cars accounted for 28 per cent of the sales during the period.

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

The NCAA basketball guide, which has just hit the stands, lists Ohio State, Purdue, Detroit, Xavier, Indiana, Bradley, Dayton, Notre Dame, Loyola and Marquette as the top ten teams in the Midwest.

Of this group, every team appears on the U. of D. schedule except Bradley.

Two of The Press All-County cage stars will see first flight action with U. of D. this season. Larry Hughes, senior from Walled Lake is captain of the team, and Harrison Munson of Pontiac Central is a sure-bet regular before the season progresses too far.

The Titans with All-American Dave DeBusschere, Charley Norton, Chick Chikowski and Hughes, have four starters from last year.

Tom Morgan, a 6-7 giant from a California Junior College, along with Munson, will battle for the other spot. Morgan comes from the same school where North set all major college scoring records, and last year he proceeded to break all of North's marks.

Basketball is more than two months away, but sports publications are already predicting U-D as one of the country's best.

Apparently basketball fans are reading the early pre-season forecasts because ticket manager Frank Metzger at U. of D. reports the earliest and biggest advance demand for tickets in history.

The 10,000 seats in the Memorial fieldhouse could be gone for nearly every home game with NIT power Utah State, Indiana, Marquette, Dayton and Notre Dame all sure to get the soldout sign early.

Wyandotte High School's eight-piece band, "The Soundnotes" provided some peppy entertainment at the Dot-PCH game last Saturday night. The question came up, "What happened to Pontiac Central's once-great musical organization?"

Speaking of high school bands at football games—can someone explain why some schools buy new, dark and drab uniforms? Ditto for Pontiac Northern.

High school and junior high school coaches of the Pontiac system had a get-together this week.

New PCH grid coach Paul Dellerba was introduced to the city's coaches.

And, we heard it from Wisconsin's favorite son, Charlie Irish, "Ha, ha, you guys picked the Badgers to finish last in the Big Ten."

McCauley, Morris Tied for County Scoring Lead

By CHUCK ABRAHAM
Smooth-running Dick McCauley of Pontiac Central and Rochester speedster Bob Morris have tied the Oakland County individual scoring lead going into the 3rd weekend of free football play.

They paced their respective teams to second victories with three touchdowns apiece last week and now have 24 points to show for two outings.

Several others have scored two TD's or more already. Morris' big teammate Dan Kilmer, with three touchdowns at Birmingham, and Jimmie Brown of St. Clair County, who has two touchdowns in the past week with 21 apiece. Jack Norton of West Bloomfield has his versatile Bill Jones of Bloomfield Hills and Bob Michaels of high-powered Ferndale 19 each.

Newton finished 4th in the county in 1959 with 68 points. Jacobson had 42 and Lickert 38.

Other returning top scorers not among the top 18 this far are Glen Hase of Orchard Lake St. Mary's, who scored 38 points in 1959, and Jimmie Brown of Ferndale, Ron Strittmiller of Berkley and St. Fred's Jim Kennedy. Brown had 61, Strittmiller 49 and Kennedy 32.

Strittmiller is just out of the group with 18 thus far. Brown has 10 but already has thrown six touchdowns passes.

Triple Threat From UCLA Is 'Back of Week'

By The Associated Press
Bill Kilmer, a triple threat talk-back who fires up UCLA's explosive single wing attack today was named Back of the Week in The Associated Press' weekly football poll for his dazzling deeds against Purdue last Saturday.

The 21-year-old senior threw three touchdown passes for 76, 70 and 17 yards—ran 11 yards for the fourth TD and had a real ball all afternoon in the 27-21 tie with the Bolshackers at Lafayette, Ind.

The 6-foot, 157-pounder who has been banged by injuries the past two seasons, was strong and healthy against Purdue. He completed 9 of 15 passes for 226 yards, carried the ball 13 times for 42 yards and had four times for a 42-yard average.

PNH-Walled Lake Game Highlights I-L Openers

By BILL CORNWELL
The 1960 Inter-Lakes Conference football campaign officially gets under way Friday night with a full slate of three loop games.

Headlining the attractive I-L schedule will be defending champion Walled Lake's visit to Water Stadium for an important and clash with Pontiac Northern.

Almost as important as the PNH-Viking contest is Waterford's battle with Southfield on the Southfield gridiron. Berkley plays host to Farmington to round out the league program.

Coach Ed Heikinen's Northern squad really faces a man-sized challenge Friday on the Walled Lake turf when the Vikings line up for the 8 o'clock kickoff.

Walled Lake has shown an explosive, high-scoring attack in two non-conference contests and the Viking goal line has yet to be crossed.

Coach Dave Smith's Vikings routed Redford Union in their season opener, 33-0, then last week sailed past Dearborn Lowry by the same identical score.

O'Connell New GM

BOSTON (AP)—The Boston Red Sox, experiencing one of their worst years, drastically and suddenly revamped their front office staff yesterday.

The announcement said only that Harris and Murphy were leaving the Sox.

Stanley R. (Becky) Harris who came out of the Pennsylvania anthracite region and led Washington to a pennant in 1924 as boy manager and who has held numerous managerial and executive posts in baseball, was fired as general manager.

John J. Murphy, better known as "Granddaddy" when a star pitcher for the New York Yankees, was fired as head of the Boston American League club's farm system.

Harris was not available for comment. Murphy described the action as a complete surprise and didn't want to talk about it.

The Sox named Richard H. O'Connell, who has been business manager the last dozen years, as executive vice president.

Neil T. Mahoney, supervisor of eastern scouting for eight years was named to succeed Murphy. His

Aparicio Faces Surgery

CHICAGO (AP)—Luis Aparicio, the Chicago White Sox star shortstop from Maracibo, Venezuela, will remain in Chicago for about 10 days after the season ends to undergo an operation for a hernia.

Aparicio, 26, suffered a similar ailment while at Waterloo, Iowa, in 1954 and was operated on for a double hernia at the conclusion of that season. Aparicio will undergo surgery at Mercy Hospital Oct. 4.

QB SPEAKER—Clarence "Biggie" Munn who coached Michigan State to its greatest era of football and who now is the Spartan athletic director, will be the guest speaker at the first monthly Quarterback dinner at the Elks Temple Thursday evening.

The Elks have arranged a series of "Quarterback" sessions with prominent football people. Next month Fritz Critzer of Michigan will be the guest speaker, followed by Notre Dame's Moose Krause in November.

Munn, who is serving his 7th year as athletic director at Michigan State, first came to MSU in 1947 as head football coach.

During his seven year coaching career at MSU, Spartan teams enjoyed the greatest era in their football history. His teams won 54 games, lost nine and tied two.

From 1950 to 1953, the Spartans enjoyed a 29-game winning streak with two unbeaten seasons, in 1951 and 1952.

The 1952 team was named the national champion and the 1953 team was the Rose Bowl winner.

Munn devised in college circles

They boast both speed and power in their backfield with Norm Smith, Gary Anderson, Neil Salo, and Mike Hincley sharing the ball-carrying duties.

Walled Lake also has an effective aerial arm as an added threat with quarterback Keith Green spearheading that portion of the attack in addition to being a sound signal-caller and field general.

Add to all this a solid forward wall anchored by tackle John Van Sicken and guard Larry Hemminger and you get an idea as to why the Huskies are underdogs for this game.

The Huskies squeaked by Lake Orion in their opener, 13-1, then suffered a 7-0 setback at the hands of a tough Hazel Park team last week.

Mounting an offense is the No. 1 problem facing Heikinen. The Huskies have been impressive on defense, but can't seem to move the ball once they get it.

No one can forget last year's PNH-Walled Lake collision at WL. The two schools tangled for the I-L championship that evening and the Vikings came from behind for a spine-tingling 20-14 victory.

Southfield has yet to win a decision this year, but the Bluejays

The Jays have been somewhat disappointing to coach Monte Charles in defeats at the hands of Royal Oak Kimball and Ferndale, but this may be the time they'll cut loose with their anticipated strength.

The Subjays will have an acid test in their hopes of driving back up the Inter-Lakes ladder. They have shown promise and potential while dropping a 13-6 verdict to Pontiac Central and scoring a 12-7 triumph over Lapeer.

Berkley, also trying to pull out of the league doldrums, will be a slim choice over rebuilding Farmington.

Both teams are still looking for that last win. Berkley has been troubled by Ferndale and Royal Oak. Dearborn while the Falcons have been in Livonia Berkley and Rochester.

Full loop schedules also are on the docket Friday in the Oakland B and Wayne-Oakland circuits.

Oakland B outings include Avondale at Macleod, Fitzgerald at Lake Orion and Clawson at Oak Park. The W-O slate features Milford at West Bloomfield, Clarenceville at Clarkston, Northville at Roseville and Hills and Brighton at Holly.

Yanks, Bucs Keep Winning While Waiting for Each Other

By United Press International
What are the Yankees and Pirates trying to do, juggle each other?

It sure looked that way last night. Pittsburgh's Royce Duren, missing his first start for the Yankees in two years, tied an American League record by striking out the first five batters he faced in a 5-1 win over Washington.

And just to show they're no slouches, either, four Pittsburgh pitchers — Tom Cheney, Diomedes Oliva, Jim Umstead and Fred Green — fanned a total of 19 in a 16-inning, 4-2, triumph over Cleveland.

The Yankees' victory was their 11th in a row, and although it was credited to El Grub, Duren was the standout.

Duren, fresh out of the hospital where he was treated for an eye injury, proved to manager Casey Stengel that he's ready for world series duty with his strong, four inning stint.

Only three other modern pitchers, since 1900, recorded five strikeouts at the start of a game. They were Lefty Gomez of the Yankees, Dizzy Vance of the Dodgers and Walter Johnson of the Senators.

Duren was lifted for a pinch-hitter in the fifth after giving up two of Washington's three hits. He retired with a total of seven strikeouts. Oliva pitched the next three innings without giving up a hit, and Bob Turley wrapped it up by setting the home runs down on one hit in the last five frames.

Meanwhile, the Yanks picked up seven hits off three rookie Washington pitchers — Don Lee, Ted Sadowski and Jim Kaat — but made them count. Bill Skowron, appearing as a pinch-hitter in the eighth inning, stroked his 20th homer.

The Pirates snuffed a three-game losing streak with their victory, and it was accomplished with a lineup made up of rookies and second-line players. Joe Christopher, who had five hits, Gene Baker, who had two, and catcher Bob Olds, who had a double, were the hitting heroes.

Dick Schofield, filling in for the injured Dick Groat, got the winning hit, a line drive single to score pinch-runner Gino Cimoli. Dick Stuart hit a three-run homer.

Elsewhere in the American League, the Baltimore Orioles raked five Boston pitchers for 13 hits in a 17-3 victory over the Red Sox and the Kansas City Athletics topped the Cleveland Indians, 5-4.

In the National League, the Philadelphia Phillies beat the Milwaukee Braves, 5-3, on four earned runs, the Los Angeles Dodgers beat the St. Louis Cardinals, 5-1, and the Chicago Cubs downed the San Francisco Giants, 5-1.

The Braves' victory was paced by Jim Gentile with five runs batted in, Ben Monson, Jackie Brandt, Gus Carbo and rookie Jerry Adair each homered to move Baltimore a full game ahead of the White Sox in the battle for second place. Mickey Vernon picked up his 12th victory, the Detroit was the loser.

The Braves carried a 3-1 lead into the seventh when the Phils scored four times on four singles and two Milwaukee errors. Despite the loss the Braves remained a half game ahead of the Cards in second place.

Roger Craig struck out six batters to give the Dodgers pitching staff 1.00, for the season — a new National League record. Tommy Davis' three-run homer in the seventh was the decisive blow.

Ernie Broglio (21-5) was the loser. Frank Thomas' two-run homer gave Don Cardwell of the Cubs all the margin he needed to lead the Giants.

Tiger Minor League Managers in Detroit

DETROIT — President Bill Devitt has most of the Detroit Tigers' minor league managers in town for huddles on prospects.

The Tiger front office and the minor league shippers will decide on what youngsters to protect in the various midwinter drafts.

Yank Office Shake-Up Rumored

Weiss in Semiretirement?

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Yankees American League champions for the 10th time in the past 12 years, reportedly plan to revamp the front office, with General Manager George Weiss being in semi-retirement.

Weiss, 65, has been with the Yankees since 1932. He took over as general manager after the 1947 season.

He now would become "chairman of the board," according to the report, with a three-man committee, headed by Weiss, in similar position with the Los Angeles Dodgers to return to New York as director of promotion.

Bob Finkel, present Yankees publicity director, would leave to take to step down as general manager. "No one knows what's going to happen tomorrow," he said, "but at the moment I fully intend to fulfill my contract, which has such a move."

Vikings New NFL 11

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The Minnesota Vikings — that's the name of the Minneapolis-St. Paul team scheduled to join the national football league next season.

William Boyer, president of Minnesota Football Inc., said the name was chosen to represent a squad with the will to win, and to symbolize an area where many Nordics came to settle.

Wings Rout Vancouver VANCOUVER, B. C. (AP) — The Detroit Red Wings whipped Vancouver 10-3 last night in a hockey exhibition game.

Allan Johnson and Gordy Howe both scored twice for the National Hockey League. Red Wings. The Wings play Alberta tonight.

First Week 'Bye' May Help QB Problem

Lions Well-Rested for Green Bay

Even with a flock of new faces and a promise of improvement, that said nagging quarterback problem has returned to the Detroit Lions like a chronic backache.

This is one of the several reasons coach George Wilson is thankful the Lions are the only National Football League team yet to make its debut.

"The bye worked to our advantage in every way," said Wilson, who is on the last and after two poor seasons. "It helped us too with our scouting and injuries—now Joe Schmidt will miss only three games instead of four."

Schmidt, the Lions' defensive standout, has a shoulder separation.

"The bye gave me a week longer to work with my quarterbacks," said Wilson. "I'm still undecided who'll start there Sunday at Green Bay, but I think our problem is becoming resolved. I won't make up my mind until the morning of the game."

"Who's the quarterback?" is a familiar question for the Lions.

Ever since Bobby Lane and Robin Rife shared the job and the Lions won the championship in 1957, quarterback has been a headache for Wilson. Layne was traded to Pittsburgh early in the 1958 season and the problem became acute.

Last year, as the Lions fell to 11th in the Western Division, Rife and Earl Morrall divided the job. Rife now is playing in Canada, and Wilson says he's undecided if Morrall or Jim Ninowski should get the call.

Ninowski, acquired from Cleveland in the previous season, did most of the quarterbacking for the Lions in their six exhibitions. It appeared that he had beaten out his old Michigan State teammate for the job. But Wilson indicates neither Ninowski nor Morrall distinguished himself in the exhibitions.

"I'll use him at flanker back or end if he wants to play with us and can make the club," Wilson said. "We can use his speed and he can hold the ball."

"I'd like to use just one in games, start him and have him do the job," Wilson said. "But I can't decide yet who it should be. Of course, if the starter doesn't work out, this way he can always be replaced."

The lack of a starting quarterback—one Wilson knows will give a dependable performance—is the Lions' major drawback, just as it was last year.

Over all, he thinks the club has been strengthened.

"Our offensive line is better and we've changed the blocking a bit," he said. "This should help protect

October 1st Important Date for State Small Game and Archery Seasons

Limits Remain Same as 1959 for Hunters

Pheasant Season Opens October 20 in Lower Peninsula

October 1st stands out as the all-important date on the calendar for thousands of hunters waiting to take in northern Michigan's firearm seasons on small game and bear and the state's archery seasons on bear and deer.

Bag limits and season lengths will remain the same as in 1959 for all of these seasons. As in the past, the pheasant season in the lower peninsula will open October 20.

Small game hunters above the Straits will find Drummond, Nottawasaga, and Sugar Islands and another portion of Chippewa county re-opened to shooting for sharp-tailed grouse. Chippewa county's season in Emmet, October 15-15 experimental season on Hungarian partridges.

Woodcock hunting will again open with small game seasons in each of the state's three zones. Seasons on all other migratory game birds will begin at noon, October 7.

A near-record 42,000 bowmen are expected to flock during Michigan's archery seasons on bear and deer. Bear will be fair game October 1 - November 5 throughout the state for archers with bow and arrow deer hunting licenses. Dogs may not be used.

Archers may hunt whitetails through December 15 in Allegan county. Elsewhere, their season closes November 5. Only bucks with at least three-inch antlers may be taken in Emmet, Chippewa (not including Drummond Island), and Montcalm counties. Bowmen may take deer of either sex or any age elsewhere in the state, including Drummond Island.

Firearm bear hunters will round out the state's hunting picture on October 1.

They will be able to hunt with shotguns and rifles above the Straits, and October 15 in the northern lower peninsula under small game licenses and special $2.00 bear stamps.

In the southern lower peninsula, the season will be October 7-15. Hunters with deer licenses may go after bear during the state's regular November 1-15 deer season. Dogs will not be permitted during this season.

Wildlife Left Unharmful After Sawfly Spraying

LANSING — Wildlife populations appeared none the worse on plots checked by Conservation Department biologists in northern Michigan state forests where controlled aerial sprayings were made last month to kill red-headed pine sawflies.

Before and after counts on 29-acre plots in Wexford, Kalamazoo, Manistee, Leelanau, Benzie, and Muskegon counties actually showed an increase in song birds following the spraying. This was true both in plots that were sprayed and in those that were not.

No dead or sick birds and animals were found nor was any change in wildlife activity apparent. In one plot, biologists marked a nest with three chipping sparrows before the spraying. These young birds appeared to be healthy after the treatment.

There was a noticeable reduction in mosquitoes and black flies in most of the sprayed areas.

Metro Parks Show Attendance Gains

Warm weather was responsible for increased attendance in July this year at the three major parks of the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority compared to July attendance figures for 1959.

This was announced by Kenneth L. Hallenbeck, director of the five-county park and parkway agency which serves Livingston, Macomb, Oakland, Washtenaw and Wayne counties.

Kennington Metropolitan Park near Milford recorded approximately 450,000 persons in 1960 compared to 411,000 in July 1959. Metropolitan Beach on Lake St. Clair near Mt. Clemens reported attendance of 375,000 in 1960 compared to 313,000 in July 1959.

Lower Huron Metropolitan Park near Belleville stated attendance was 294,000 persons in 1960 compared to 245,000 in July 1959.

TOP MICHIGAN ANGLER — Wade Miller of Houghton Lake proudly displays the trophy he won in the week-end competition to determine Michigan's entry in the World Series of Fresh Water Fishing, Oct. 16-24 at eight fishing sites in Michigan. Sharon Beemer of Royal Oak, queen of the state tournament holds the 54-pound northern pike that enabled Miller to win. The World Series tour will open at Union Lake Sunday, Oct. 16.

World Series for Anglers, Oct. 16-24

Union Lake to Start-Close Fishing Tour

Union Lake will be the scene of the opening and closing round of the World Series of Fishing tour to be held October 16-24 at various sites in Michigan. Nearly 75 anglers and outdoor writers will take part in the 8-day tour which will feature challenges from Sweden, Iceland, Mexico, South Africa and possibly Costa Rica and New Zealand.

The tournament starts Sunday, October 16 from Dunham's Marine Shop in Union Lake under the sponsorship of the Union Lake businessmen's association.

The award dinner for the first day's competition will be held at Edgewood Country Club. The tour will proceed each day to a different location in Michigan. A trophy will be presented to each day's champion and the World Title Award, sponsored by the Ford Motor Company, will go to the angler who accumulates the most number of points in the overall tour.

On the last day of the tournament the fishermen will return to Union Lake for final competition October 24th, with a closing dinner to be held.

Accidental Catch
IDAREL, Okla. (U)—Charlie Whitten noticed his string of perch had disappeared. He sighted it in the river and pulled it to shore. In addition to his perch was hooked to the line.

"As it turned out we are much better off. We can't tell how many youths have been reached by the program, but the response has indicated there may not be a need for a compulsory program," Tucker said. "After all, it's much more effective to reach people on matters like safety when they volunteer than to tell them they have to learn to be safe hunters."

The voluntary education classes were started this year in the department's effort to start young hunters off on the right track.

"If we can catch the hunter as he grows up and let him know how important it is to be a safe hunter, we send him at least part of the way toward being a good, safe hunter," Tucker said.

Sixteen persons died in hunting accidents in Michigan last year and another 270 were injured. Eight of the fatalities were reported during the small game seasons and a similar number died during the deer season. Most of the non-fatal accidents occurred during the small game seasons, department records showed.

"The statistics show the accidents happen most often among young hunters," Tucker said. Early this year the conservation department rounded up volunteers, 500 of them, throughout the state to teach classes in hunter safety and survival to teenagers 17 and under. Tucker said a number of groups asked the program be made compulsory for all young available.

"There were 500 persons who responded to the call for instructors in the program," said Everett R. Tucker of the department's field administration office, "and we now have the program in every county in the state."

Identify Ducks, Hunters Warned

By DON VOGEL
ADRIAN—Duck hunters will need razor sharp vision this fall. It wouldn't hurt them to have a waterfowl identification guide handy, too.

The reasons for these extra precautions are canvasbacks and redheads. These diving ducks have been declared off-limits to gunners this year. A steady decline in the numbers of canvasbacks and redheads in the last few years caused the curtailment.

How does a hunter distinguish a female redhead from her scap counterpart at 40 yards? For that matter, how many hunters can correctly identify ducks they have downed?

The divers—canvasbacks, redheads, scaup, goldeneyes and buff-breasts—bear the brunt of an attack during the Michigan waterfowl season.

Both lesser (bluebill) and greater (broadbill) scaup females are brownish appearing in flight. They have light colored breasts and undersides and white face patches at the base of the bill.

Female redheads have large brownish heads, necks and backs, dull wing patches and a white breast.

Some flight mallards appear toward the end of the season, but the heaviest overall concentration is on divers. They begin arriving from the north about 15 days after the Oct. 7 opening, the largest numbers appearing late in October.

Most experts agree it is very difficult to tell female scaup and redheads apart while in flight. The female canvasback is easier to identify because of her wedge-shaped head. She also is lighter colored than the other two.

Reloading Shells Now Part of Trapshooting

VANDALIA, Ohio, (U)—The ammunition industry, which a few years ago frowned on trapshooters reloading shotgun shells, has extended a cautious helping hand to the "do-it-yourself" clan.

Realizing the reloading trend isn't just a passing fad, the industry has jumped on the bandwagon by making its best components—power, shot, wads and primers—available to the handloaders.

Several industry men at the 1st annual Grand America Trapshoot, estimated today some 500 million factory loaded shells are sold annually, about 11 percent to shoot and trap marksmen. They also figured the watergun artists reload 50 to 60 million each year—a total far under that claimed by the homemade fraternity.

Shooters at the "roaring grand" must buy factory made ammunition here on the mile-long battlefield at $2.25 for a box of 25, well under the market price. Reloaded shells, taboo here, can be loaded shotgun shells while smoking a cigar and watching television, but we have heard of some trying it. No one knows just how much reloading is done, but the average gunner at the Grand American uses 8,000 to 10,000 shells per year, and much of it is put together in his basement. The reloads are used for practice and in some minor shoots, and have put a cramp in the factory sales of finished ammunition in some areas.

But one industry man said: "Reloading is now a part of trapshooting. It certainly has boosted participation, as shown by the increased sale of clay targets, traps and trap guns."

"We have been hesitant about selling components to individuals, but the safety factor, not the economic, was our great concern. We have been in the ammunition business for more than a century. We have electronic controls, precision laboratory testing equipment and other detectors to eliminate variables."

"But some individual loaders always want to be inventors and 'snap 'em up' a little. That is dangerous and it also rules out uniformity. Races to Start at Ward's Point on Cass Lake

Will Get Under Way at 1:00 P.M. Saturday and 10:30 Sunday

The Pontiac Yacht Club, Fleet No. 54, of Cass Lake will stage its third Annual Invitational Regatta, this Saturday and Sunday.

Starting point of the regatta will be at the club house off Ward's Point on Cass Lake.

Entries are being received from Michigan and Ohio.

The races will start at 1:00 p.m. and 3:30 p.m. Saturday and at 10:30 a.m. Sunday.

Trophies will be awarded to the top three places plus the perpetual trophy to the overall winner.

A special program will be held in the PYC Club House following the races each day.

In the PYC Snow Ball Series races last Sunday, the winner was Jerry Gray with Dave Davies in second place and Claude Bery third.

Eastern Bluebird 'Disaster Species'

NEW YORK CITY — The bluebird may be a symbol of happiness, as the popular songwriters say, but there is little joy among bluebird lovers these days.

This popular little songster, member of the thrush family and politician enough to be the State Bird of New York and Missouri, has become so scarce as to be almost totally absent throughout much of its normal range.

The National Audubon Society calls it a "disaster species."

Refuge in U.P. Ends Banding September 30

Personnel of the Seney National Wildlife Refuge in Michigan's Upper Peninsula will end 1960's banding operations on September 30th, in anticipation of the opening of the waterfowl season on October 7th.

A banded goose or duck represents a valuable source of scientific data, as well as many man-hours of labor. Each band carries a different number and instructions to the finder.

Information received from bands discloses the travels of waterfowl, production, length of life and effects of different hunting seasons. This aids in management of this valuable resource so as to provide more waterfowl for everyone's enjoyment.

Banded Ducks — Shown above is a "funnel" type welded wire trap containing a catch of Mallard and Black Ducks. These birds represent a portion of nearly 1,000 geese and ducks banded on the Seney Refuge this year. Also shown in lower photo is a closeup of a young Mallard hen with the band she will wear the rest of her life.

Government Adds 2,262 Civil Workers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Civilian workers in the federal government in August totaled 2,384,811—up 2,262 from July—Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., reported today.

Byrd is chairman of the congressional Joint Committee on Reduction of Nonessential Federal Expenditures.

ment in the executive agencies of the government for August showed 1,340,298 working in the civilian agencies, an increase of 589 over July, and 1,044,523 in the military agencies, a 1,683 increase.

She Has Prime Target —Coyote Asleep on Step

PRESCOTT, Ariz. (U) — Clatie Perkins stepped out of her home one morning to find a coyote asleep on the front steps.

She tipped back into the house, picked up her .22 caliber rifle and killed the animal with one shot.

Refuses to Go Hollywood

Kingston Trio Resists Whirl

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—No act in show business today is hotter than the Kingston Trio, three young men who refuse to act like show people.

Mind you, they're not square. They're as hip as any collegiates which they were three years ago. But they refuse to be swept away by their whirlwind success.

Their success is already a legend. That their "Singing Along" is the No. 1 selling album should surprise no one; they have already earned four gold records for album sales over 500,000.

A week ago, they headlined a concert at the Hollywood Bowl which drew $110,000 for two performances.

The trio — Dave Guard, Nick Reynolds and Bob Shane—were at Republic Studios to film commercials for a soft-drink firm. Their pay: approximately $225,000 for 17 one-minute films.

The last I had seen of them was when they had smashed to fame with a song about a hapless lad named Tom Dooley. Has success spoiled the Kingstons? The answer is no.

SUBURBANITES

Far from going Hollywood, all three have married and live in the San Francisco Bay area.

"We like it up there; it's stimulating," Nick explained. "We used to be on the road all the time. But now we're doing more concerts instead of long stands. If we get three days off, we can fly home. We're home about three months of the year now."

At home they lead normal suburban lives and don't even subscribe to Variety. Their standards have caused them to pass up a sizable amount of loot that could be gained from Las Vegas and Hollywood.

"We've been offered up to $25,000 to play Vegas," Dave remarked. "But we can make that much playing three nights of concerts to people who want to hear us, not the jaded Vegas crowd."

"There have been picture offers too," Bob added. "But they want us to come on the screen for two or three numbers and then get lost. Who needs it?"

"Sure, we'd like to do a movie," Nick said. "But it would have to be one in which we appear as individual personalities, not just a three boys who sing folk songs."

Until such an offer comes along, the boys will continue to ply their lucrative trade throughout the land. They figure they can concentrate in the major cities every six months or so. They'll be bringing out a Christmas album and have no worries about finding new tunes.

"I've got about 12,000 songs collected at home, waiting for me to get some time to go through them," Dave said. "The supply of folk songs is limitless."

Chickens May Cluck as Loud as They Like

PLATTEVILLE, N. Y. (UPI)—Martin Lapan's 2,300 chickens can cluck as loud as they like with permission from the New York State Court of Appeals.

The court ruled that Lapan did not have to move the chickens even though their noise and disruptive odor spread to Paquette Nuzzo's tavern 50 feet away.

Spray Program Up to Officials

Little Legislature Meets Friday to Handle State Beetle Problem

LANSING — The "little legislature" will meet Friday to make an emergency appropriation for a spray program to control an outbreak of Japanese beetles in South-eastern Michigan.

Acting Gov. John B. Swainson, responding to requests from the State Agriculture Department, issued the call Tuesday in the absence of Gov. Williams, who is on a speaking tour in California.

Agricultural authorities asked for $53,281 in state funds to finance a spray program covering 45,000 acres in Monroe, Lapeer and Wayne counties. The federal government will allocate a like amount.

The legislature, however, cannot do so until the state legislature meets. The little legislature, formally known as the Emergency Appropriations Commission, is composed of the governor, the house speaker, the Senate president and members of the Senate and House appropriations committees.

Detroit and Melvindale supply their own materials, the state share of the cost will be cut to $70,000, the Agriculture Department said.

17-Year-Old Took Part in a Brawl to Prevent Arrest of His Friend

Municipal Judge Maurice E. Finnegan today meted out a 30-day jail term to a 17-year-old youth who admitted taking a part in a brawl.

Ronald L. Campbell, 17, of 438 E. Huron St., pleaded guilty to an assault and battery charge today in Municipal Court.

Following sentencing, Campbell appealed the case to Circuit Court.

The fracas in which six street patrolmen were injured occurred at 5 a.m. Tuesday at Orchard Lake Avenue and Saginaw Street as the officer was about to arrest him.

Clarence E. Hurns, 17, of 438 E. Huron St., pleaded guilty to an assault and battery charge today in Municipal Court.

THE CHRYSLER NEWPORT — For 1961 Chrysler is bringing out a Newport series to go with its Windsor and New Yorker models. The Newport, shown here in a two-door hardtop, is powered by a 265-horsepower engine which operates on regular grade fuel, a savings of over 10 per cent over premium grade fuel.

F85 to List Well Down in Lower Range; Sale Starts Oct. 6

DETROIT (AP)—Oldsmobile says it is standing pat on price tags of the 1961 models, scheduled to go on sale Oct. 6.

Plymouth, Buick and Cadillac also say their 1961 factory list prices are virtually the same as for 1960.

F. F. Waltram, general manager of General Motors Oldsmobile Division, said the new Olds F85 will carry a factory list price well down in the lower price field.

"Factory list prices on the 1961 line of Oldsmobile sedans range from $2,175 for the F85 four-door sedan to $3,795 for the 98 sport sedan, the greatest market coverage since 1958," Waltram said.

The smaller F85 series will include a two-seat, four-door station wagon with a factory list price of $2,425.

The factory list prices do not include taxes and handling costs.

Following are the factory list prices of 1961 Oldsmobile models, excluding dealer and local taxes, destination, dealer delivery and handling charges.

Chrysler Offers Cheaper Newport Engine Series

DETROIT (AP)—Chrysler is offering a new, less-expensive Newport series for 1961 with a V9 engine designed for regular gasoline.

The Saratoga series, which had been the middle of the Chrysler price line, has been discontinued.

The Newport uses a 265-horsepower engine of 381 cubic inches with a 9-1/2 compression ratio. Standard equipment is a manual transmission with the gear shift lever located on the floor, rather than on the steering column.

Changes in Chrysler styling are slight except for a new front grille which has slanted headlights, much like Lincoln has used.

Chrysler also will use a 305-horsepower engine with a 10-1/2 compression ratio and a similar compression ratio. Fifteen models will be available.

Clare Briggs, general manager of Chrysler and Imperial Division, said a new sports model, the 300C, will be introduced later in the model year. The other models will go on sale Oct. 6.

AF Academy Ups Standard

Won't Take Applicants in Lower Half of High School Class

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Air Force said today new regulations will disqualify all Air Force Academy applicants who are not scholastically in the upper half of their high school senior class.

Richard H. Tupper of the academy activities group said experience has shown that those from the lower half of the class have less than a 50 per cent chance of getting through the academy's four-year course.

When a congressman nominates an applicant who does not meet the scholastic standard, Tupper said one of the alternatives will be selected. Each member of Congress names 11 men, 10 of whom are alternates.

Tupper told a Pentagon briefing the high school record is the prime factor in the selection.

Although the activities group has been accused of over-emphasizing athletic achievement, he said, a survey showed that more emphasis is being given to scholarship and student council and debating activities.

Last year, the academy, located at Colorado Springs, Colo., had 7,000 applicants for 720 appointments. Tupper said this year, the applicants may total 8,000.

Market Spurts With Optimism

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market spurred to the upside after four days of decline, leaving the list slightly higher in slow trading early this afternoon.

Gains of fractions to about a point outnumbered losses. After a sluggish start, the market rallied with the ticker tape late briefly.

The rally preceded publication of a speech by Treasury Secretary Anderson in which he said the United States is nearing the end of a recession-type adjustment which paves the way for a long period of growth without inflation.

Anderson also said the United States will not change the price of gold. The gold shares, which have been advancing in recent sessions, backed down rather sharply.

Most steel, auto, drug, building materials, rail, electronics, and oil made gains. Chemicals, airlines and nonferrous metals were mixed.

As gold shares retreated, losses of about 3 points were posted by Texas Instruments and Minneapolis-Honeywell.

Raytheon rose more than a point on news it had developed a new method of transmitting pictures from electronic signals.

American Dextral raised the dividend on its new shares and was up a fraction. Vanadium climbed the dividend to 10 cents from 8 cents and dropped about a point.

Ahead more than a point were Brunswick, Texaco, Allied Chemical and International Business Machines.

Gains of fractions to about a point outnumbered losses. After a sluggish start, the market rallied with the ticker tape late briefly.

The rally preceded publication of a speech by Treasury Secretary Anderson in which he said the United States is nearing the end of a recession-type adjustment which paves the way for a long period of growth without inflation.

Anderson also said the United States will not change the price of gold. The gold shares, which have been advancing in recent sessions, backed down rather sharply.

Most steel, auto, drug, building materials, rail, electronics, and oil made gains. Chemicals, airlines and nonferrous metals were mixed.

As gold shares retreated, losses of about 3 points were posted by Texas Instruments and Minneapolis-Honeywell.

Raytheon rose more than a point on news it had developed a new method of transmitting pictures from electronic signals.

American Dextral raised the dividend on its new shares and was up a fraction. Vanadium climbed the dividend to 10 cents from 8 cents and dropped about a point.

Ahead more than a point were Brunswick, Texaco, Allied Chemical and International Business Machines.

 E HERRINGTONE FOR JUNE PE

HOW THEY LIKE HIM: — This was the scene Tuesday on West 49th Street, New York City, as President Eisenhower's motorcade drove past on its way to Newark Airport in New Jersey. A crowd numbering hundreds of thousands gave the President a thunderous ovation and pelted him with a blizzard of confetti. It was probably the largest New York ovation for a President since Franklin D. Roosevelt made a triumphal trip in 1944.

NYC Residents Bid Him a Mammoth Goodbye

Hundreds of Thousands Hail President

NEW YORK (UPI)—President Eisenhower dealt Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev a stinging diplomatic defeat Tuesday and won a thunderous ovation from hundreds of thousands overflowing the sidewalks in New York.

Before he left to return to Washington, Eisenhower turned down a proposal that he meet with the Soviet premier. And he left behind a dour and silent Khrushchev.

New Yorkers poured out of office buildings to cheer the President as he left the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel in a motorcade and drove to Newark Airport.

White House officials said it was the biggest turnout Eisenhower has received in this country and was perhaps the largest New York ovation for any president since Franklin D. Roosevelt's 1944 victory tour of the garment district.

A few hours before he rode through the streets with his arm raised in greeting, Eisenhower capped a round of personal diplomacy by rallying African nations against Khrushchev's efforts to quit U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld and replace him with a three-man, Soviet-style executive committee.

Smiling exuberantly, Eisenhower stood up and waved from his behemoth limousine all the way to the Lincoln Tunnel. A blizzard of paper and confetti fell from skyscrapers.

Eisenhower, accompanied in the car by his son, Lt. Col. John F. Eisenhower, stretched both arms high in response to the cheers and frequently turned his fingers in the "V for victory" sign.

He carried back to Washington with him pledges of support from world leaders in combating Khrushchev's "declaration of war" on the United Nations.

Still Taking Penicillin

Nixon Looks Thinner but Says: 'I Feel Fine'

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon said he may have looked a bit thinner on television Monday night but that he feels fine.

"I may be a little lighter in weight," he said. "I think I lost a couple of pounds and it may show up in my face."

His wife Pat, standing beside him, said she didn't think he looked haggard during the historic TV debate with the Democratic nominee, Sen. John F. Kennedy.

Nixon and his wife were commenting on a report by Tony Weitzel, Chicago Daily News columnist, who wrote, "On the visual side, Kennedy wore no makeup at all and looked great. Nixon was well panicked but seemed tired, almost haggard."

"I think it was the TV cameras," said Herb Kline, Nixon's press secretary. "I think he looks very good. He's fully recovered from his knee infection, although he's still taking penicillin."

Kline said the hay fever and slight cold that bothered Nixon recently were gone.

Physical Checks Urged for State 65-Year-Olds

LANSING (AP)—New state legislation authorizing physical examinations of each 65-year-old on old age assistance is an opportunity to carry out greater rehabilitation and a money-saving operation for the state, the State Health Commissioner said Tuesday.

Albert E. Hensula told the Michigan Rehabilitation Group in Detroit that the new program will "add living to those added years of life and cut down on the institutional care needed for many patients."

Hensula encouraged continued rehabilitation programs for as many of the 19,000 patients in nursing homes, homes for the aged and county medical care facilities as possible.

Rehabilitation in such cases would be a good investment for the patients and for economical for the state, he said. If 50 such patients could be rehabilitated sufficiently to return to their homes, he added, about $100,000 in care costs could be saved.

MSU Sets Oct. 3 and 4 for Vocational Talks

LANSING (AP)—Michigan State University officials are planning what they think is the largest vocational information program of its kind Oct. 3 and 4.

The university's 12th annual career carnival will offer students opportunities to discuss career plans with representatives of 85 of the nation's leading employers.

Approximately 250 business, industry, education and government representatives will attend to explain to students the opportunities available and the qualifications required.

Arizonans has a growing season ranging from 170 days in the northwestern hills to 241 days in the southern lowlands.

'God's Square Mile' Is Resort Community

OCEAN GROVE, N. J. (AP)—This resort community calls itself "God's Square Mile." The town started in 1889 with an evangelist's tent.

Since then, the area has played host to leading religious figures from Billy Sunday to Billy Graham.

Blue-Overall Theft Italy's Brink's Case

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the third installment in a 16-part series on the Brink's case, which began on the first page of the first issue of the Pontiac Press.

By DON WHITEHEAD

American influence in crime is felt more strongly in Italy than in any other country on the continent because of the close ties that have existed for years between the American and Italian underworlds.

Italian hoodlums see big-time criminals Lucky Luciano and Joe Adonis, among those deported from the United States, living in luxury in Rome and Naples. If these men can make crime pay in America, they reason, why can't the same thing be done in Italy?

One reason the Italian gangsters have never quite succeeded in gaining more power than they have has been the modernization of the Italian police techniques and equipment since World War II. The police are aided by one of the finest crime laboratories in all Europe.

And sometimes, aid comes from unexpected sources.

In a little church in the city of Milan there is a shrine where candlelight flickering in the shadows creates the illusion that the image of the gentle St. Rita is smiling. Many come from the streets, with problems which seem insoluble, to kneel in this little pool of peace. And when they leave they feel they have found an ally.

Among those who come to the shrine are members of Milan's Squadra Mobile, the special police unit charged with handling the city's major crimes. They have a special feeling about St. Rita.

Solutions to the most baffling cases have come after their visits to the church. And they mention her name when they talk of Milan's great bank robbery series of 1956—the Brink's case of Italian crime which became known throughout Italy as the Case of the Blue Overall.

In February 1958, six men came secretly to a midnight rendezvous at No. 24 Via Chinito in answer to a summons from bull-necked Enrico Casarini, a kingpin in Milan's underworld.

It was as select a gathering of thugs as ever assembled in Milan; those present were Casarini, Arnaldo Bolognini, Ervo Castiglioni, and Ugo Ciappina, all expert gunmen; and Eusebio De Maria, Arnaldo Gennaro and Ferdinando Russo, a trio of skilled at stealing automobiles as they were at driving them.

During 1956 and 1957, this gang had netted more than 47 million lire ($78,000) in raids executed with military precision on two banks, a jewelry shop, and a post office.

Even Khrushchev

Satellite Bosses Bore Delegates

By JACK V. FOX

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI)—There are few sights more disheartening these days than to watch a Communist satellite boss stand before the United Nations in the guise of a nation's leader. Even Nikita Khrushchev cannot hide his boredom.

The Soviet Premier leans his head in his hands. He gazes around the hall. He makes an occasional effort at listening, applauds at the beginning and end. He suffers like an impatient maestro through the violin efforts of a less than bright student.

Lock Up Nikita, Ike for Talks?

K Thinks Method Used to Pick Pope Could Be Arms Imposse Answer

NEW YORK (AP)—Nikita Khrushchev says he's willing to be locked up in a room with President Eisenhower until white smoke—the signal of agreement—flows out of the chimney.

The atheistic Soviet premier quickly snapped up this College of Cardinals idea when it was suggested Tuesday night. He peddled it again during his round of socializing at diplomatic receptions.

"Although I am not a Catholic, I am familiar with the procedure, and I agree," the bonny Khrushchev told his first host of the evening, Uruguayan U.N. delegate Eduardo Victor Haco, who initially breeched the scheme.

The Uruguayan referred to the Roman Catholic Church's method of picking its Pope. The cardinals are locked inside the Vatican for their deliberations. Not until white smoke peters from the chimney of their stove does the outside world know they have agreed on a new Pope.

Khrushchev told the story with gusto at a Czechoslovak reception, a newsmen suggested the Kremlin chief under this method might find himself locked with Eisenhower for quite a spell.

Not for them the big hand. Everyone knows where they stand. The showmanship is reserved for Castro, for Khrushchev and for Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana.

The feeling of fakeness is infectious. The entire assembly of delegates buzzes with conversation and disregard as the Iron Curtain satraps drone through their speeches.

One wonders, sitting there, what might happen should a Comstock suddenly speak out in truth.

What would happen should he say the Polish people had endured enough of Big Brother? What if he recalled that week when Germany and Russia gobbled up the two halves of Poland under their non-aggression pact?

He might make it to the U.N. exits. Not much further. But the peak is yet to come.

That will be the day when Janos Kadar, his fingernails once extracted by Communist comrades, tells the United Nations how Hungary stands on peace and freedom and colonialism.

Castro Goes Home; Others Head for U.N.

4 Government Chiefs Attracted by Fireworks at General Assembly

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y.

— Cuban Premier Fidel Castro headed for home today but four more summit leaders rushed toward New York to waste into the battle touched off by a Soviet attempt to reform the United Nations to Communist tastes.

The new influx of government chiefs — from Australia, New Zealand, Jordan and Indonesia — was prompted by a spectacular series of East-West clashes in the first week of the General Assembly over China, Tibet, the Congo, Cuba, Secretary Dag Hammarskjöld and the 15-year-old structure of the United Nations itself.

The United States and its Western Allies was the first round but Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev made it clear he had no intention of letting up his many-sided attacks.

In Canberra, Australian Prime Minister Robert Menzies said today he had changed his mind and decided to go to the United Nations.

He told the House of Representatives that more and more heads of government were attending the meeting "and I thought members would not wish Australia in terms of heads of government to be conspicuous by its absence."

The house cheered, Menzies' presence in New York is expected to bolster the Western camp against Communist attempts to.

Sunshine Stays, but Temperatures Will Slip a Bit

This morning's sunny skies will continue through Thursday, with only a few clouds tonight and tomorrow.

Temperatures the next five days will average about 3 degrees below the normal high of 68.

The temperature will drop to 45 tonight, and rise to 74 tomorrow.

Rainfall for the five-day period will total near one-tenth of an inch in a few showers Friday night or Saturday.

Fifty-two was the lowest recording in downtown Pontiac preceding 3 a.m. The reading at 1 p.m. was 70.

First Round of Debate Goes to Jack

(Special to The Pontiac Press)

"Kennedy takes the first round," Kennedy was quicker on the draw and he had the facts more at hand."

That is the summation opinion of a school-bus driver in Warren, Ohio, about how the first of the much-publicized Kennedy-Nixon debates turned out.

When people across the country were asked who they thought won the first debate in the series between John Kennedy and Richard Nixon, 59 per cent said they thought Sen. Kennedy won over Vice President Nixon.

And in the carefully devised interviewing system set up by the Kraft organization for this first debate, which allowed interviewers to talk with people within a matter of minutes after the end of the debate, only 32 per cent of those interviewed said they thought the vice president won.

Here are the figures: Kennedy won — 59 percent; Nixon won — 32 per cent; tied 29 per cent.

And, further, during the course of the interviewing, I became apparent that the first round between Kennedy and Nixon had been just that — merely the opening bow in a schedule of four debates.

Winning debates doesn't automatically win elections, for, as a housewife in Corpus Christi, Texas, puts it:

Night Assault Perils Woman

Fight, Screams Rouse Her Boarders After He Enters Waterford Home

The terrified screams of a Waterford Township woman apparently saved her life as she fought off an assailant who entered her home at 4:30 a.m. today, according to township police.

Mrs. William Spaulding, 41-year-old divorcee sleeping in her home at 3330 Clintonville Road, was awakened by a noise.

She switched on the light and saw a man standing in front of her with a handkerchief wrapped around a bare butto.

Mrs. Spaulding screamed in an effort to arouse two schoolteachers sleeping upstairs who room and board with her.

The intruder then smashed the bottle on Mrs. Spaulding's head and punched her in the face several times, she said.

The screams of Mrs. Spaulding awoke one of the teachers, Andrew Graubner, who came to the aid of the woman.

The attacker then hit Miss Graubner in the face and head several times and fled.

The two injured women were taken by Pontiac General Hospital treated for head and face lacerations and released.

The Day in Birmingham Community House Slates New Residents Reception

BIRMINGHAM — A New Residents "Reception" for those who have moved into Birmingham, Bloomfield Hills and the surrounding area in the past year will be held Oct. 5 at the Community House.

Mrs. Ralph O. Moore, social chairman, said all new residents are welcome to the 8 p.m. reception.

Those wishing to attend can make reservations by contacting the Community House by Monday.

Birmingham Mayor Pro. Tem William Roberts will represent the city.

A brief program, preceded by entertainment, will familiarize new residents with activities, service, hobby and craft classes offered at Community House.

Featured speaker at the Senior Men's Club Friday at Community House will be Pontiac attorney David F. Breck, who will discuss "What Happens to Your Property When You Die?"

The Birmingham Teen Center at the YMCA will open its 1960-61 season Friday with a dance from 10 p.m. to 12:30 a.m.

Membership cards will be sold at the door.

The center is only open to 10th, 11th and 12th grade students in the Birmingham School District.

Officers of the Birmingham Chapter 220 OES will be elected at the regular meeting of the organization Oct. 5 at 7:45 p.m. at the Birmingham Masonic Lodge.

Adolph Berg

Service for Adolph Berg, 81, of 2010 Manchester St., will be 2 p.m. Thursday at Gethsemane Lutheran Church in Port Alleghe, Penn. Burial will be in Fairview Cemetery there.

Mr. Berg died Monday at his home after a long illness.

Missile Signals Will Travel Through Earth

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—Signals traveling through earth would constitute a new communication system being developed by the Boeing Airplane Co.

The company announced it is working on a system using buried antennas to transmit messages through the earth by way of so-called "earth currents." It did not elaborate.

Sylvania Electric Co. was awarded a $75-million subcontract to provide special transmission and receiving equipment.

Honor in Store for 2 Lawyers

County Attorneys Are Among 19 to Be Feted on 50th Anniversary

Two veteran Oakland County attorneys will be among 19 from the state honored tomorrow in Grand Rapids in recognition of 50 years of practice.

To be awarded 50-year award certificates are George A. Dondero, former congressman from Royal Oak, and Ralph T. Keeling of Pontiac.

Both said they probably will not be able to attend the luncheon where the presentations will be made by Mayor C. Nichols.

Yesterday marked the opening of the 25th anniversary annual meeting of the state bar at the Paulton Hotel. The convention, which is expected to attract 1,500 attorneys from around the state, lasts through Friday.

About 60 Oakland attorneys are attending, including Jack W. Hutson, president of the local bar from Royal Oak.

Dondero was admitted to the bar in 1910. Keeling said he was admitted to the Ohio bar that same year and came to Michigan the following year when he was admitted to the practice here.

No Drinks, No Speeches Nehru Throws VIP Party

NEW YORK (AP)—India's Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru threw the biggest "austere" party in history Tuesday night, and none of the renowned speech-makers present even made an apoph.

In fact the leaders from more than 30 countries, including a score of national heads, didn't even toast each other. "We don't serve liquor," explained an Indian spokesman.

So the approximately 80 guests sipped fruit punches and munched on roast lamb and rice with lobster curry at the super-buffet Nehru served at his Hotel Carlyle headquarters.

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and his satellite leaders mixed gaily with the delegates from around the world who are attending the United Nations session. So did Cuba's Fidel Castro, who wore his field uniform as usual.

Notably absent were Britain's Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and U.S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, who pleaded previous commitments.

change the structure of the United Nations.

In London King Hussein of Jordan said he had no "personal wish or desire" to see United Arab Republic President Gamal Abdel Nasser to New York.

He accused Nasser of responsibility for "many crises in the Middle East, including the time bomb assassination last month of Jordan's Prime Minister Hazza Majali."

The 34-year-old Hussein will become the first king to head a delegation at the U.N. General Assembly, although other monarchs have gone there as visitors.

FIDEI UNIMPRESSIVE

As Castro departs so far as his reputation as a statesman is concerned, he should have stayed home in Havana.

He may still be a hero to his revolutionary cohorts at home, but in the eyes of many a delegate to the 16th-anniversary U.N. General Assembly, Castro is leaving this country a somewhat battered warrior.

The United States did well by itself Tuesday night. To Cuba's interminable tirade of almost five hours, in which he accused the United States of responsibility for every evil Cuba ever suffered, U.S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth gave a deliberately soft, calm reply.

That reply gave the representatives of the world's nations the impression of an understanding, tolerant uncle soothing a badly spoiled child.

Castro came off second best, by all odds.

Nobody doubts that the bearded one came to New York with the intention of doing as much damage as possible to the United States. He missed his goal by a wide margin.

The impact of the Cuban prime minister's debut before the world organization, indicated they thought Castro might even have created sympathy for the United States where little sympathy had existed before.

K Active Backstage at General Assembly

will come when the 90-member assembly discusses in full session the agenda items taken up in the long overnight wrangle by the steering committee.

The world will watch closely to determine just how much stronger either side has picked up or lost.

RED CHINA OUT

There is no chance, however, that the assembly will override the decisions of the steering committee, which recommended for the 10th year not to put the question of seating Red China on this year's agenda.

The Soviets lost out, too, in their protests for immediate debate on Khrushchev's contention of "aggression in the Congo and the creation there of a breeding ground of trouble. The committee stopped a Soviet drive to put this before the assembly at once.

This was a foundation of Khrushchev's assault upon Hammarskjold and of his use of the term "stooges" in his charges that the secretary-general abused the office to the advantage of the West in the Congo crisis. The committee approved a British motion to adjourn debate on Congo, thus putting off action until later.

Assembly delegates will be watching closely for the votes and attitudes of new African members on such issues when they come up for full debate discussion eventually in the assembly.

French Singers Objecting to TV Censorship

PARIS (AP)—French chansoniers—the singers who specialize in satirical lyrics that often ridicule political personalities and institutions—are threatening to strike against censorship of their songs on the national radio-TV network.

A particularly French institution, the chansoniers give weekly radio-TV programs although they perform mostly in Paris night clubs and small theaters. They change their lines nightly to keep abreast of the news.

In a protest letter to the director-general of the national radio, the chansoniers' union said they would stop their radio-TV appearances unless the radio officials stop cutting their lines.

Ford Has Made Survey GM 3rd Automotive Firm to Probe Interest Conflict

DETROIT (AP)—General Motors of William C. Newberg as president, became the third Detroit-based firm to investigate any conflicting interests its executives and purchasing department personnel might have in supplier firms.

The GM survey was confirmed Tuesday by a company spokesman. It followed last summer's firing of police officers warned in front of the hotel entrance, blocking the street to normal traffic. But the limousines for the bigwig alone were enough to create a sizable traffic jam.

Rivals in Laos Agree to Talks

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—The two rival regimes in Laos agreed today to peace talks seeking an end to the 17-day-old civil war.

Top military commanders of Premier Souvanna Phouma's neutralist government in Vientiane flew to the royal capital of Luang Prabang for the meeting.

Gen. Phoumi Nosovan and Prince Boun Oumvonghead of the rival right-wing revolutionary committee, were reported flying to Luang Prabang from their headquarters in Savannakhet.

King Savang Vatthana called the meeting a week ago after the first military clash between the two regimes in the battle of Pakxane, 100 miles northeast of Vientiane.

Orion Man Found Dead Beside Wreck

A Lake Orion man was found dead beside his crashed car this morning on Adams Road south of Orion Road in Oakland Township.

He was identified as Edward Bretzlaff, 56, of 165 W. Flint St.

Sherriff's deputies were not sure whether he suffered a heart seizure before his car smashed into a gully alongside the road or died of injuries sustained in the crash.

It is believed that the victim went undiscovered for five hours after the accident.

The car was stopped at 1:15 a.m. and his body was spotted by an unidentified passerby who notified the sheriff's department at 1:15 a.m.

An autopsy has been ordered to determine the cause of death.

City Man Hit by Car on Walton

An elderly man was in poor condition at Pontiac General Hospital after being struck by a car on Walton Boulevard west of Fuller Street.

Marlin Sullivan, 68, of Walton Blvd., was struck by a car driven by John T. Cherry, 40, of 5623 Tubbs Road, Waterford Township.

Sullivan, age unknown, suffered compound fractures of the left leg, fractured pelvis, a brain concussion and other possible internal injuries. He has not regained consciousness since the accident.

Cherry told Pontiac police he was driving west on Walton and saw Sullivan walking on the side of the road.

He said as he approached Sullivan, the pedestrian suddenly stopped in the path of his car. Cherry was not held by police.

The accident occurred at 6:30 p.m.

Nixon's Heavy Artillery Puts Heat on Kennedy in Southland

By KENNETH B. VACCARO
NEW YORK (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon's increasingly tough and personal attacks in his Democratic rival added a more belligerent tone to the presidential campaign today.

Nixon, the GOP nominee, turned his attention to New York's 45 electoral votes with a series of speeches in this area after slugging at San John F. Kennedy in Tennessee and West Virginia.

At Charleston, W. Va., Tuesday night, for instance, he accused Kennedy of having made a "false statement" that 17 million Americans go to bed hungry every night. Nixon called it "glib for the Communist propaganda mill" and demanded Kennedy retract it.

Nixon charged that responsibility for not getting action on a bill for the relief of the distressed areas of West Virginia and other states "rests squarely on the Democratic presidential candidate."

IT'S RAINING POLITICS —Ellen Jurden is showered by fellow Republican party workers in Kansas City, Kans., with part of a ton of confetti which the GOP was not allowed to use in greeting Henry Cabot Lodge, the vice-presidential nominee. Tuesday City officials notified the party that dumping confetti from office buildings would violate the anti-litter ordinance. The city administration is Democratic.

Lausche Comes Out for Kennedy

Strong Ohio Senator Shunned Him Sunday; Now Rides Jack's Car

CLEVELAND (AP)—A political windfall started Tuesday off right for Sen. John F. Kennedy. He got the unqualified campaign support for president of Ohio's unpredictable, one-wolf senior senator, Frank Lausche.

Sen. Lausche, a spectacular vote-getter even though usually at odds with party regulars, had boycotted Kennedy's Sunday celebration in Cleveland. But Tuesday he was waiting in the misty morning at Helwig's Inn, near Palisades, where the motorcade started.

Lausche told a crowd of thousands there:

"Today I want to state to him (Kennedy) that when I go into the voting booth in November, I will vote for him."

Then Lausche, five times Ohio's governor, climbed into Kennedy's convertible.

Target Maps at a Touch

Then He's Off to Key Pennay, N.Y.

Vast Crowds Greet Jack in Ohio

ERIE, Pa. (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy was his presidential campaign in crucial Pennsylvania and New York today, inspired by huge crowds showing increased fervor since his debate with Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Kennedy, the Democratic nominee, arrived in Erie late Tuesday night after a day-long tour of Northern Ohio communities where he was greeted with enthusiasm—as he was here—by great crowds all along the way. His staff called it the biggest turnout for Kennedy in any one day since his nomination.

100,000 PEOPLE? "If I were to say this (turnout) was between 800,000 and 100,000, I would not be exaggerating," Ohio's Democratic Gov. Michael V. Di Salle told Kennedy's final Ohio audience at Canton.

If DiSalle's figure was somewhat higher than that of some other observers, he appeared to be not far enough off the mark to start any major controversy.

On the last motorcade leg of the Ohio tour—into Akron on to North Canton and then to Canton—Grant Keys, state highway safety director, estimated that 100,000 persons lined the route and cheered Kennedy.

In Cleveland Tuesday morning the Democratic candidate got a rip-roaring welcome from an even larger crowd than greeted him when he made a major address there Sunday. Police had estimated the earlier crowd at up to about 300,000. DiSalle said he never had seen anything "like the depth of enthusiasm and sincerity" for Kennedy.

Evaluating the crowds, DiSalle told the Kennedy rally at Akron: "There is only one reason: Last night the people of America found a leader for the nation who captured their imagination."

That was an allusion to Kennedy's nationwide television-radio debate Monday night with Nixon, his Republican rival.

Kennedy aides gave him a report, based on a survey made by a national Arbitron rating system, that 73.5 million Americans watched the debate on TV.

ALMOST A FREEZE

Whatever the cause, Kennedy crowds in Ohio in the wake of the debate greeted him almost frantically at times.

In his rallies in Akron and Canton, there was pandemonium. The Akron armory, which seats about 2,500, was crisscrossed with a great overflow crowd. There are seats for 5,800 in Canton Municipal Auditorium, but it was estimated about 7,500 were packed in there.

In all his speeches, Kennedy pounded away at the central theme of his campaign—that it is time for America to be moving ahead, and that it has not been moving under a Republican president at the pace it should.

America's first professional architect was Peter Harrison of Newport, R. I. Redwood Library in Newport and King's Chapel in Boston are among buildings he designed in the mid-18th century.

OHIO HELL — The public square of Mansfield, Ohio, is jammed Tuesday as Sen. John F. Kennedy continues his tour of that state. Kennedy later was greeted by record crowds in Akron and Canton.

An Announcement By HENRY FORD II of Importance to Every Buyer of a 1961 Automobile

The Warranty on All 1961 Ford Motor Company Cars Is Being Extended 12,000 Miles or One Full Year

"The 1961 line of all Ford Motor Company passenger cars will bring to the American market the finest automobiles ever produced by this company."

"Every Ford, Falcon, Thunderbird, Mercury, comet, and Lincoln-Continental has been styled, designed, engineered, and manufactured with three primary goals in mind: (1) finest quality; (2) greater durability; (3) most reliable operation"

"So confident are we of the success of our efforts to achieve these goals that the written warranty on all 1961 Ford Motor Company cars is being extended to 12,000 miles or one full year, whichever comes first."

"No other American automobile carries a warranty like this. The previous Ford warranty, traditional in the industry, was for 4,000 miles or three months."

"We urge every prospective purchaser of a 1961 car to visit his Ford Motor Company Dealer and learn all about the dealer's new 12,000 mile or one-full-year Warranty."

Henry Ford II

"ARRIVAL DATES:"

SEPTEMBER 29: The new Ford line. Sixteen all-new, full-size models with the classic Ford look, ranging from the value-leader Fairlane to six new trend-setting Galaxies.

OCTOBER 6: The 1961 Falcons and Comets. America's most successful compact car combination from America's largest producer of compact cars.

OCTOBER 6: The new Mercury line, with completely new styling and wider range of models.

NOVEMBER 3: Lincoln-Continental for 1961, America's completely new, distinctive luxury car.

NOVEMBER 10: Thunderbird. Unmistakably new for 1961, yet unmistakably Thunderbird.

OUT TO LUNCH — Cleveland industrialist Cyrus Eaton listens to a remark by Nikita Khrushchev during a Monday luncheon at the Hotel Baltimore in New York. Eaton, who has always been friendly to the Russian premier, arranged this taste of capitalistic luxury for Nikita and secretly invited many top U. S. and Canadian industrialists. Eaton employed his own "security force" in an attempt to see that the names of those who attended remained unknown.

Sign Pact Regulating Sale of Auto Parts

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Trade Commission said today 12 major suppliers of automotive parts have signed an agreement forbidding them to sell rebuilt products as new.

The stipulation agreements, the FTC said, do not constitute missions that the companies have violated the law. But FTC Chairman Earl W. Kintner added:

"We expect that the announcement of these stipulations will convince members of the industry that the commission means to take effective steps to protect the many car owners who pay for new parts but actually receive rebuilt parts."

The companies signing the agreement included the Ford Motor Co.

Texas Mows Grass, Strikes Water—in Well

PARIS, Tex. (UPI)—Wilbert Watson has topped the old story about Texans digging for water and getting oil.

Watson was mowing the grass at the home of Mrs. Bob Evans and struck water. The mower caused a round play of grass to crumble, revealing an old water well that had been covered years.

Report Castro Finances Opposition to Himself

By WARD CANNON

WASHINGTON (INEA) — Fidel Castro, who likes to live on the verge of martyrdom, is now reported to be one of the big backers and organizers of the anti-Castro Cuban underground in the Western Hemisphere.

This is the unhappy word from Cubans who have been long-time enemies of both Castro and his predecessor, Fulgencio Batista, and who now are trying to finance a bona fide anti-Castro organization. Similar reports come from U. S. security men in Washington who try to keep tabs on all the Cuban factions.

They say there are strong signs the premier himself is behind a million-dollar recruiting program in Florida and Mexico ostensibly aimed at raising a force to invade Cuba.

He also seems to have invented a plot by 10 top army officers supposed to be planning a palace revolution, according to coded reports just received from Havana.

MAY PLANT SPIES
Still more sinister, he is reported planting spies in many of the Cuban underground factions such as "26th of July Without Communism" and "Fidelismo Without Fidel."

All this tends to nurture Fidel, giving him propaganda to distrust the people from genuine leaders and luring opponents into the open.

Castro agents in the underground

keep the organization atomized, off balance and — above all — divided. One of their best tactics, "You can ruin a man's effectiveness in a minute by hinting that he is either a Batista follower or a Fidelista."

"Whom can you trust?" an anti-Castro member asks unhappily. "Just because a man says he is against Castro, it proves nothing."

Meanwhile, Castro has been highly successful in his fight against himself. A quick count in New York alone shows that eight underground organizations have closed their doors in the past six months. Many members of the band involved in bombing Havana with leaders

State Rehabilitation Unit Picks Slate of Officers

DETROIT (AP) — Russell Albrecht of Pleasant Ridge, executive director of the Detroit League for the Handicapped, was elected president of the Michigan Rehabilitation Association at the group's 11th annual conference here Monday.

Other officers are Abraham Brickner of Detroit, executive director of the Michigan Heart Association, vice president; Lila Spelling of Brighton, supervisor of occupational therapy at the University of Michigan, secretary; and John Cull of Lansing, a representative of the Disability Determination Service, Division of Vocational Rehabilitation, treasurer.

year ago no longer speak to each other.

Not so curiously, the heaviest contribution to anti-Castro efforts has come from pre-Castro funds in Havana and Venezuela — earmarked for raising the movement. But money-awes who might have come through for the opposing teams have been scared off by "informants."

Outspoken Cubans in Washington, however, hurry to explain that the situation is changing. Estimates on real anti-Castro money raised run as high as a half-million dollars.

"We have established at least one rule of thumb," one of the biggest fund-raisers say. "You are more likely to be right if you do not trust any recent defectors from the Castro government."

"You must keep asking yourself why it took him so long to see what was going on in Havana. You would certainly want to be careful of most army officers who leave — except in a few instances."

At the present time, he said, he would not explain what any money he had collected would be used for other than "to pay for an existing organization inside Cuba which can take over the government."

Reports of Castro's continuing popularity in Cuba indicate there is only one organization that can do the job — the army. And former dictator, Fulgencio Batista proved three decades ago that you don't need the officers if the sergeants are on your side.

Ike Receives Top Japanese Award

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower now has a top Japanese award he was to have received in Tokyo last June.

Crown Prince Akihito Tuesday night presented Eisenhower with the highest decoration Japan has bestowed on a head of state — the Supreme Order of the Chrysanthemum with collar.

The award had been arranged as a feature of Eisenhower's planned goodwill visit to Tokyo last June, but the trip was canceled because of leftist demonstrations against the Japanese government and the United States.

Must Speak Gur, Bargu or Mambwe

U.S. Shops for New Diplomats

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The State Department is shopping around for about eight ambassadors who speak French and maybe a little Gur, Bargu or Mambwe. Any candidate with some experience in goat farming would practically have a job sewed up.

The openings arise from the birth of a flock of new African nations, a dozen of which joined the United Nations last week. They came into being so fast they caught the State Department by surprise.

The United States now has embassies in four of the nations — Cameroon, Togo, Somalia and the Malagasy Republic.

Eight others share two U.S. Embassies. The Ivory Coast, Upper Volta, Niger and Dahomey are served by the Embassy at Abidjan, Ivory Coast. Gabon, the former French Congo, the Central African republic and Chad are served by the embassy at Brazzaville in the Congo.

There are no appropriations from Congress to open embassies in the

Hoffa Says Kennedy Has Police-State Mentality

WASHINGTON (AP)—James R. Hoffa said Tuesday Democratic presidential nominee John F. Kennedy has "a police-state mentality" that constitutes a threat to the nation.

The Teamsters Union president issued a statement of retort to Kennedy's remark about him during the Senator's TV debate Monday night with Republican nominee Richard M. Nixon. Hoffa said "I am not satisfied when I see men like Jimmy Hoffa in charge of the largest union in the United States still free."

Hoffa said Kennedy's statement "must have astounded millions of Americans who believe we still live in a free society."

"I am sure millions of Americans, and particularly union members will be shocked to find out that Kennedy believes one of our major domestic issues is the fact that the head of our largest union is still a member of free society," Hoffa said.

Paper De-Inking Plant Due Soon

GARFIELD, N.J. (U)—The first plant capable of converting used newspapers into newspaper on a commercial scale is expected to be operating by January 1962.

Mayor Joseph Kobylarz said a $4-million plant under construction here will house a process using about 90 per cent waste paper and 10 per cent chemical fiber.

Richard E. Scudder, publisher of the Newark Evening News, and Robert Illingworth, an engineer for the News, developed the process. The Garden State Paper Co., which is controlled by the News, will run the operation.

Teamsters Buy Up Hotel at Forced Sale

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The plush, 40-room Everglades Hotel on Biscayne Boulevard was sold on the courthouse steps Monday for $2.5 million to James Hoffa's Teamsters Union which had foreclosed mortgages on the property.

Attorneys for owner Vaughn Connolly and lien holders objected. Claude Pepper, attorney for Connolly, told Clifford J. Schott, a U.S. Court special master, that the property is worth $3 million.

The liens will be considered before the U.S. referee in bankruptcy.

Retaliates for Red Curbs

West Crimps E. German Performers in Reprisal

BERLIN (AP)—One Western reprisal against the Reds for their squeeze on West Berlin is beginning to hurt them in a sensitive spot. Performers in sport and the arts from Communist East Germany now find it harder to travel abroad and gain favorable publicity.

The Reds set great store by such publicity—much more than the West. The East German regime, which gets little respect abroad, is especially eager for this kind of notice.

East Germany claims 29 of the 41 medals won by the all-German Olympic team at Rome. This is a highly creditable performance. In the arts, East Germany has two major starters for the export race. One is the Berliner Ensemble, an excellent theatrical group the late Bertolt Brecht. It is run by his widow, Helene Weigel and the Reds have got a good deal of propaganda mileage out of it.

The other is East Berlin's Komische Oper (comic opera). Its chief attractions are the controversial versions of new and classic works put on by its brilliant director, Walter Felsenstein.

Both groups have had great success abroad. Under travel restrictions imposed by the Western Allies, all such successes can be made a lot more difficult.

Last week the Communists complained publicly in three cases, involving soccer players and musicians. The soccer players failed to keep dates in England and Ireland because the Western Allies gave them no travel documents. The musicians were stopped by West Germans as they were about to cross into Switzerland. They had to go back to Berlin and make a long and expensive flight to Geneva by way of Prague.

The East German regime issued pointed protests in both cases. They carefully refrained from mentioning the reason for the new restrictions and called them arbitrary.

East Germans have not been told by the Communist press that the West has limited their travel because their satellite government is requiring visas for West German visitors to East Berlin.

Food Firm Planning Plant in Michigan

LANSING (AP)—A New York food specialty firm today took the first steps toward opening an operation at South Haven.

The Duff-Mott Co., Inc., and the Michigan Economic Development Department announced that the company signed an agreement to purchase a 181-acre site south of South Haven.

Next probable step is the purchase of a 21-acre plant site from the South Haven Industrial Fund, a company spokesman said.

The decision to locate in Michigan followed investigations of many plant sites throughout the Midwest.

The Economic Development Department has been working with the company since 1959 on the possibility of moving into the state, a state official said.

Chevy's '61 fleet swings in with a ready-made reputation as the trucks that are worth more because they work more...the latest editions of the haulers that scrapped the I-beam axle and proved the important advantages of independent front suspension!

You'll find new models in the '61 fleet—lower priced, long-wheelbase 4-wheel drive trucks—and thoughtful refinements throughout the line. But the big news for '61 is nailed-down proof (based on actual owner reports) that Chevrolet's torsion-spring design is the best thing that's happened to trucks in decades!

With Chevy's independent front suspension and Sturdi-Bilt design, you cruise over trails where other trucks creep. You feel the difference in less wheel fight and vibration. You can see why drivers are happier, why loads are better protected and why the truck itself will stand up to thousands of miles of more work. That goes for any size Chevy, too—pickups, tilt cabs, tandems, all of them.

Check the latest specs with your Chevrolet dealer: capacity, power train, options, the works. Then, by all means, drive a '61. Once around your Chevrolet dealer's block and you'll never be satisfied with a front axle truck again!

Italy Recalls Blue-Overall Case

Cesareo explained he had found another target. For five months, he and Ciappina had studied the Popular Bank of Milan's method of transferring money from the main office to branch banks throughout the city.

The transfers were made with a small panel-type delivery truck, manned only by a driver, a bank clerk and one armed guard. Usually there were eight to ten cut-throats in the truck, stuffed with millions of lire.

On the evening before the robbery, Ciappina met Cesareo at their favorite bar on the Piazza Napoli to report everything in readiness.

A truck and three cars had been stolen, and DeMaria had obtained seven pairs of blue overalls to be used as part of the disguise.

THE ARMS BEARING

While most of Milan slept, Cesareo opened his door to admit an old man carrying a heavy canvas sack.

The visitor was 75-year-old Emmerigo Rodi. His name had never been linked with crime, and it was to one reason why Cesareo had paid him a million lire ($1,000) to be keeper of the weapons—three machine guns, two pistols and several hand grenades.

Around each gun, Cesareo wrapped a pair of the blue overalls. Then he placed the bundles

YOUR CHILD MAY HAVE PIN-WORMS
1 OUT OF 3 DOES

Fidgeting, nose-picking, a terminal itching rectal itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms—tiny parasites that medical experts say infect 1 out of every 3 persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of Pin-Worms, they must be killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W Tablets do... and here's how they do it:

First, a powerful coating covers the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredients go right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Don't take chances with dangerous, highly contagious Pin-Worms which infect entire families. Get Jayne's P-W Vermifuge... small, easy-to-swallow tablets... good taste for children and adults.

In his car and drove to the Piazza Napoli where he parked. One of the men, members of the gang dressed in dark overalls and red-and-black boots, Cesareo turned to his address.

At 9:30 the next morning, Via Oropio looked as peaceful as any other residential street in Milan. A small delivery truck came out of Piazza Brescia, headed directly by a Fiat sedan. The bank clerk in the front seat of the truck was mentally ticking off the number of blocks to the next stop.

They had been a five when he had wondered what he would do if anyone tried to rob the truck. But he rarely thought about it any more since the daily trips had become a monotonous routine.

Suddenly a big truck wheeled from a side street straight in his path. "Watch out...!" the clerk cried. There was a crashing jolt and the sound of shattering glass. The shaken clerk exclaimed, "The damned fool..." But then he stared in disbelief as the truck was surrounded by hooded men wearing overalls. One of them smashed the rear window and knocked they ward unconscious. Another poked a machine gun through the glass beside the clerk and commanded: "Don't move!"

The handits signaled each other with peculiar noises that sounded like barking dogs. They yanked the cases of money from the truck and tossed them into a Fiat sedan. Then they scrambled into the Fiat and an Alfa Romeo sedan, and raced from the scene without a shot being fired.

Police reaching the scene a few minutes after the robbery found utter confusion when they sought to get a description of the gang.

"They howled like dogs..." They sounded like Frenchmen to me."

"No, no! They had the accents of Corsicans..."

$500,000 TAKEN

The robbery on Via Oropio became a newspaper sensation when the bank disclosed that the band had escaped with 114 million lire ($125,000) in cash plus 476 million lire ($771,000) in securities and money orders, most of them negotiable. This was the biggest bar robbery in Italy's history, executed with American-style gang methods.

Dr. Paolo Zamparelli, chief of the Squadra Mobile, studied the reports of the robbery. The handits' modus operandi was strikingly similar to methods used by a mysterious gang in the major unsolved robberies of the preceding year.

Zamparelli said to his aides, "I believe there is only one man in Milan capable of organizing such operations: He is Enrico Cesareo."

Cesareo was questioned, but released. The police had no proof. The first break in the case came six days after the robbery, guided by accident. The old Olona canal was drained as a health hazard and startled workmen saw two Benetton automatic pistols lying in its muddy bed. Nearby was a hammer, several pairs of mud-soaked overalls, and a knitted hood.

By means of a label, the overalls were found to be the product of a small garment factory in Milan. The manager told the police, "We made only ten pairs of these large-size overalls and sold them to a small store. Place name. It was a special order."

In Place name, the merchant who made the purchase recalled selling them to a peddler, but the peddler was no help. "Yes, I bought the overalls," he said, "but then some son-of-a-bitch steals my car and everything in it, including the overalls."

By this time, almost a month had passed. The clamor for the capture of the gang was becoming a serious political issue.

Zamparelli set up a special office where he could concentrate on the case without interruption. He and his men knew their careers were at stake.

One blustery morning in late March, Zamparelli and his top lieutenants, bone-weary from a fruitless all-night session of checking the stories of suspects, watched the dawn brighten the windows of their office.

"Well, what now?" someone asked.

Zamparelli said suddenly, "Let's go for a drive."

They drove to the Church of St. Rita, and the small group walked into the quiet shadows where candles glowed. And again they saw the face of St. Rita, the secret smile reserved for those who are troubled.

When the familiar service ended, they returned to their task. And suddenly, an aide burst into Zamparelli's office. "We've found a man who saw the theft of the peddler's car."

The witness looked at photographs of criminals from the police files, and at last pointed to one and said, "This looks like the man."

The face was that of Giorgio Facca, well known to police for past robberies. Taken to headquarters, Facca confessed he had stolen the peddler's car.

"What happened to the overalls?"

"I sold them to Luciano De Maria," he said sullenly.

Squads of detectives fanned out into the city and sudden raids, guided by DeMaria, Russo, Gesumundo, Bolognini, Ciappina and others. Hour after hour the suspects were questioned. And at last one of the gang (the police never have disclosed who it was) broke and told the whole story. Other confessions followed.

The Squadra Mobile raided Rosi's home and found an arsenal of eight machine guns, six pistols and four hand grenades. In Bolognini's home, they found two plastic buckets stuffed with a fat man in a suit, hidden in a secret compartment beneath the kitchen sink. Most of the loot was recovered.

But while police were rounding up the suspects, Cesareo slipped from the city with Castiglioni. Cesareo fled to Venosmo where he finally was arrested in the summer of 1953.

Returned to Italy, he was sentenced to 18 years and four months in prison, and fined 630 thousand lire. Castiglioni was sentenced in absentia to 11 years and ten months imprisonment and fined 192 thousand lire. The others were sentenced to terms ranging from nine to 20 years.

And then once more the chief of the Squadra Mobile and his lieutenants went to the Church of St. Rita, where the candles flicker in the shadows, and they said prayers of thanksgiving as to their custom when a major crime is solved.

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

The NCAA basketball guide, which has just hit the stands, lists Ohio State, Purdue, Detroit, Xavier, Indiana Bradley, Dayton, Notre Dame, Loyola and Marquette as the top ten teams in the Midwest.

Of this group, every team appears on the U. of D. schedule except Bradley.

Two of The Press All-County cage stars will see first flight action with U. of D. this season. Larry Hughes, senior from Walled Lake is captain of the team, and Harrison Munson of Pontiac Central is a sure-bet regular before the season progresses too far.

The Titans with All-American Dave DeBuschere, Charley North, Chick Chikowski and Hughes, have four starters from last year.

Tom Morgan, a 6-7 giant from a California Junior College, along with Munson, will battle for the other spot. Morgan comes from the same school where North set all junior college scoring records, and last year he proceeded to break all of North's marks.

Basketball is more than two months away, but sports publications are already predicting U-D as one of the country's best.

Apparently basketball fans are reading the early pre-season forecasts because ticket manager Frank Metzger at U. of D. reports the earliest and biggest advance demand for tickets in history.

The 10,000 seats in the Memorial Fieldhouse could be gone for nearly every home game with MIT power Utah State, Indiana, Marquette, Dayton and Notre Dame all sure to get the soldout sign early.

Wyandotte High School's eight-piece band, "The Soundnotes" provided some peppy entertainment at the Dot-PCH game last Saturday night. The question came up, "What happened to Pontiac Central's once-great musical organization?"

Speaking of high school bands at football games—can someone explain why some schools buy new, dark and drab uniforms? Ditto for Pontiac Northern.

High school and junior high school coaches of the Pontiac system had a get-together this week. New PCH grid coach Paul Dellerba was introduced to the city's coaches.

And, we heard it from Wisconsin's favorite son, Charlie Irish, "Ha, ha, you guys pick the Badgers to finish 1st in the Big Ten."

BY CHUCK ABARE

Smooth-running Dick McCauley of Pontiac Central and Rochester speedster Bob Morris share the Oakland County individual scoring lead going into the 3rd weekend of prep football play.

They paced their respective teams to second victories with three touchdowns apiece last weekend and now have 24 points to show for two outings.

Several others have scored two TDs or more already. Morris' big teammate Dan Lickert, with seven touchdowns of blocking, and Jacobson and Troy's All-State hopeful Dick Caza follow in the point race with 21 apiece.

Jack Newton of West Bloomfield has 20, versatile Bill Jones of Bloomfield Hills and Bob Michena of high-powered Ferndale 19 each.

Newton finished 4th in the county in 1959 with 68 points, Jacobson had 42 and Lickert 38.

Other returning top scorers not among the top 18 thus far are Glen Hane of Orchard Lake St. Mary's who shared 2nd with 30, standout quarterback Mike Brown of Ferndale, Ron Strittmatter of Berkley and St. Fred's Jim Kennedy. Brown had 61, Strittmatter 49 and Kennedy 32.

Strittmatter is just out of the group with 15 thus far. Brown has 16 but already has thrown six touchdowns passes.

Heading the entire area in the point department Pat Owens of Capac, with 26 featuring some long

By The Associated Press
Bill Kilmer, a triple threat tailback who fires up UCLA's explosive single wing attack today was named Back of the Week in The Associated Press' weekly football poll for his dazzling deeds against Purdue last Saturday.

The 21-year-old senior threw three touchdown passes for 75, 70 and 17 yards—ran 11 yards for the fourth TD and had a real ball all afternoon in the 27-37 tie with the Boilermakers at Lafayette, Ind.

The team, 11-1-1, who has been blown out by injuries the past two seasons, was strong and healthy again today. He completed 4 of 18 passes for 224 yards, scored on all 24 times for 42 yards and, and passed four times for a 60-yard average.

BACK OF WEEK — A pair of single wing tailbacks took the honors in the Associated Press for "Back of the Week" honors after last weekend football games. Bill Kilmer, tailback star of UCLA's attack took the honor. He ran for four touchdowns against Purdue in the 27-37 tie. Close behind in the voting was sophomore star Dave Hoppman, Iowa State tailback who scored three times and picked up over 25 yards rushing himself in beating U. of D., 44-21.

PNH-Walled Lake Game Highlights I-L Openers

BY BILL CORNWELL

The 1960 Inter-Lakes Conference football campaign officially gets under way Friday night with a full slate of three loop games.

Headlining the attractive I-L schedule will be defending champion Walled Lake's visit to Wmory Stadium for an important clash with Pontiac Northern.

Almost as important as the PNH-Viking contest is Waterford's battle with Southfield on the Southfield gridiron. Berkley plays host to Farmington to round out the league program.

Coach Ed Heikkinen's Northern squad really faced a snap-and-chugger Friday on the Wmory turf when the Huskies and Vikings lined up for the 3 o'clock kickoff.

Walled Lake has shown an explosive, high-scoring attack in two non-conference games and the Viking goal line has yet to be crossed.

Coach Dave Smith's Vikings routed Redford Union in their season opener, 32-0, then last week sailed past Dearborn Lowrey by the same identical score.

O'Connell New GM

BOSTON UP—The Boston Red Sox, experiencing one of their worst years, drastically and suddenly revamped their front office staff yesterday.

Stanley R. (Bucky) Harris who came out of the Pennsylvania anthracite region and led Washington to a pennant in 1924 as boy manager and who has held numerous managerial and executive posts in baseball, was fired as general manager.

John J. Murphy, better known as "grandma" than a stout red-garbed pitcher for the New York Yankees, was fired as head of the Boston American League club's farm system.

Harris was not available for comment. Murphy described the action as a complete surprise and didn't want to talk about it.

The Sox named Richard H. O'Connell, who has been business manager the last dozen years, as executive vice president.

Neil T. Mahoney, supervisor of eastern scouting for eight years was named to succeed Murphy. His title was announced as director of the Red Sox minor league system.

The announcement said only that Harris and Murphy were leaving the Sox.

They boast both speed and power in their backfield with Norm Smith, Gary Anderson, Neil Sall and Mike Hinkley sharing the ball-carrying duties.

Walled Lake also has an effective aerial arm as an added threat with quarterback Keith Green spearheading that portion of the attack in addition to being a sound agent-cater and neat dresser.

Add to all this a solid forward wall anchored by tackle John Van Bredon and guard Larry Hemmings and you get an idea as to why the Huskies are underdogs for this game.

The Huskies squeaked by Lake Orion in their opener, 12-7, then suffered a 10 setback at the hands of a tough Highland Park team last week.

Mounding an offense is the No. 1 problem facing Heikkinen. The Huskies have been impressive on defense, but can't seem to move the ball once they get it.

No one can forget last year's PNH-Walled Lake collision at WL. The two schools tangled for the I-L championship that evening and the Vikings came from behind for a spine-tingling 20-14 victory.

Southfield has yet to win a decision this year, but the Bluejays

The Jays have been somewhat disappointing to coach Monte Charles in defeats at the hands of Royal Oak Kimball and Ferndale, but this may be the time they'll cut loose with their anticipated strength.

The Skippers will face an acid test in their hopes of driving back up the Inter-Lakes ladder. They have shown promise and potential while dropping a 13-4 verdict to Pontiac Central and scoring a 12-7 triumph over Lapeer.

Berkley, also trying to pull out of the league doldrums, will be a slim choice over rebuilding Farmington.

Both teams are still looking for that 1st win. Berkley has been thumped by Ferndale and Royal Oak Dunders while the Falcons have bowed to Livonia Bentley and Rochester.

Full loop schedules also are on the docket Friday in the Oakland B and Wayne-Oakland circuits.

Oakland B outings include Avondale at Madison, Fitzgerald at Lake Orion and Clawson at Oak Park. The W-O slate features Milford at West Bloomfield, Clawsonville at Clarkston, Northville at Bloomfield Hills and Brighton at Orionville. Entertaining Inlay City in an important South Central tilt will be Rochester invades Troy and Oxford goes to Romeo in attractive non-league tussles.

CHICAGO UP—It was a good show but it came much too late to do the Detroit Tigers much good.

Jim Bunning, a fellow who predicted in spring training that he'd have a good season and win 27 games, notched his third three-hit shut-out of the season last night as Detroit beat the Chicago White Sox 2-0.

The victory was Bunning's 11th of the season — just half of the mark he predicted. He has 14 losses.

He issued only one walk and allowed only one runner to reach third although he did hit two batsmen.

Bunning drove in an insurance run in the ninth inning with a bases-loaded sacrifice fly. The Tigers scored their first run in the sixth on a wild pitch.

Chicago's Early Wynn was lifted for a pinch batter in the eighth and got stuck with the loss. Wynn gave up only four hits but still suffered his 11th defeat against 13 wins. A walk, single by Rocky Colavito and Wynn's wild pitch with two out was all Bunning needed.

Bunning added two strikeouts to his record and boosted it to 20 for the best in the league.

The game was the last of the season between the Tigers and the White Sox. Detroit won the 11-11 split with Chicago for the year.

The sixth-place Tigers now take it easy until Friday when they meet Kansas City in a three-game series to wind up the season.

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Tigers have become the second Pontiac man ever to head the Michigan State Elks Bowling Association.

He recently started a term as president and will serve until next September with the highlight of his year in office coming next January and February when the state tournament is held here at Lodge 810.

The advancement to the top post was the climax of five years in various Michigan offices.

Ware has been secretary of the men's bowling leagues at Bowling 810 since 1947. He is also a director of the Elks National Bowling Association.

"Cap" Halliday had been the only previous president from Pontiac.

Bills Drop Leroy Moore

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UP)—The Buffalo Bills of the American Football League dropped Leroy Moore, ex-Fl. Valley, Va. State Teachers' ed. The Bills are one under the playoff line and expect to reach the limit before Sunday's league clash here with the Los Angeles Chargers. Moore hails from Pontiac, Mich.

The audience will have opportunity to direct questions at Munn.

In 1954 Munn succeeded Ralph Young as Athletic Director at Michigan State and he has directed a great expansion of athletics at MSU.

All Elks members and their friends are welcome to attend Michigan State night in the Quarterback Series. The program will employ the greatest era in their football history. His teams won 54 games, lost nine and tied two. From 1950 to 1953, the Spartans enjoyed a 29-game winning streak with two losing seasons, in 1951 and 1952.

The 1953 team was rated the national champion and the 1953 team was the Rose Bowl winner.

Spartan Coach Says Michigan a Strong Team

Winner Saturday Will Be Big Ten Contender, Daugherty Claims

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

EAST LANSING — Michigan State coach Duffy Daugherty isn't quaking. Michigan coach Bump Elliott may fear.

"I think Bump has a fine football team and he's being kind in the bushes, just waiting for a chance like he'll get Saturday to knock us out," said Daugherty.

"He has been telling all the writers that Michigan State is a bunch to win the Big Ten and putting his Michigan team way down below the mid-west point."

Daugherty continued, "but with 10 freshmen coming back, he isn't kidding before the bushes. He should expect to beat Ohio State."

Talking to the weekly luncheon of Football Writers in East Lansing yesterday, Duffy said that "the winner of Saturday's game, will definitely be a contender for the Big Ten title this year."

The Saturday clash at Spartan Stadium will be the 33rd between the two schools and it will be the 12th straight where Michigan has won only two of the last 10 games. MSU won last year 34-8.

Assistant coach Bert Smith, scored Michigan in its 23-0 victory over Oregon, called the Wolverines "a team with great heart and enthusiasm."

Daugherty said, "I was surprised at the easy manner in which Michigan won. Of course remember they looked very good at the end of the football season last year and Illinois and that entire middle line is back."

At Ann Arbor, Elliott said, "The films of the Pitt-Michigan State game last week showed MSU to be the better team. State is big and tough. I wish we could know more about ourselves because Oregon did not provide the test we expected it would."

Publisher Fred Staley of the Spartans will strain the press box to the seams. There will be 50 radio stations carrying the game — so many broadcasts, in fact, that the broadcasters are overflowing into the photographers' section.

The Michigan-Michigan State game was the center of attention at the writers' luncheon, but there were these notes about other upcoming games:

Detroit will meet Vt. State in the starting line-up for Saturday's game at Xavier of Ohio.

He's a stocky sophomore from Detroit who has ended sophomore Tom Delea from the first team assignment.

Coach Muddy Waters says the MIAA apparently is a stronger all-around league than he anticipated. The Hillsdale contest against MIAA competition Saturday against Adrian, a team he described as "bigger and faster" than last year.

Wayne State has three starters out with injuries for Saturday's opener against Milliken. Scouts report that Milliken is led by a light, but exceptionally fast backfield.

Central Michigan faces a Western Illinois team that has won 15 straight games and two consecutive interstate conference championships. Coach Bill Kelly of Central is trying to add some of offensive punch to the Chippewas who have scored only three points

Western Michigan, following a disappointing loss to Miami in the final period, has a healthy and spirited squad ready to face non-conference opponent Kentville-Wallace. The Broncos will be favored to beat the Ohio squad handily.

The Sox named Richard H. O'Connell, who has been business manager the last dozen years, as executive vice president.

Neil T. Mahoney, supervisor of eastern scouting for eight years was named to succeed Murphy. His title was announced as director of the Red Sox minor league system.

The announcement said only that Harris and Murphy were leaving the Sox.

Stanley R. (Bucky) Harris who came out of the Pennsylvania anthracite region and led Washington to a pennant in 1924 as boy manager and who has held numerous managerial and executive posts in baseball, was fired as general manager.

John J. Murphy, better known as "grandma" than a stout red-garbed pitcher for the New York Yankees, was fired as head of the Boston American League club's farm system.

Harris was not available for comment. Murphy described the action as a complete surprise and didn't want to talk about it.

They boast both speed and power in their backfield with Norm Smith, Gary Anderson, Neil Sall and Mike Hinkley sharing the ball-carrying duties.

Walled Lake also has an effective aerial arm as an added threat with quarterback Keith Green spearheading that portion of the attack in addition to being a sound agent-cater and neat dresser.

Add to all this a solid forward wall anchored by tackle John Van Bredon and guard Larry Hemmings and you get an idea as to why the Huskies are underdogs for this game.

The Huskies squeaked by Lake Orion in their opener, 12-7, then suffered a 10 setback at the hands of a tough Highland Park team last week.

Mounding an offense is the No. 1 problem facing Heikkinen. The Huskies have been impressive on defense, but can't seem to move the ball once they get it.

No one can forget last year's PNH-Walled Lake collision at WL. The two schools tangled for the I-L championship that evening and the Vikings came from behind for a spine-tingling 20-14 victory.

Southfield has yet to win a decision this year, but the Bluejays

The Jays have been somewhat disappointing to coach Monte Charles in defeats at the hands of Royal Oak Kimball and Ferndale, but this may be the time they'll cut loose with their anticipated strength.

The Skippers will face an acid test in their hopes of driving back up the Inter-Lakes ladder. They have shown promise and potential while dropping a 13-4 verdict to Pontiac Central and scoring a 12-7 triumph over Lapeer.

Berkley, also trying to pull out of the league doldrums, will be a slim choice over rebuilding Farmington.

Both teams are still looking for that 1st win. Berkley has been thumped by Ferndale and Royal Oak Dunders while the Falcons have bowed to Livonia Bentley and Rochester.

Full loop schedules also are on the docket Friday in the Oakland B and Wayne-Oakland circuits.

Oakland B outings include Avondale at Madison, Fitzgerald at Lake Orion and Clawson at Oak Park. The W-O slate features Milford at West Bloomfield, Clawsonville at Clarkston, Northville at Bloomfield Hills and Brighton at Orionville. Entertaining Inlay City in an important South Central tilt will be Rochester invades Troy and Oxford goes to Romeo in attractive non-league tussles.

CHICAGO UP—It was a good show but it came much too late to do the Detroit Tigers much good.

Jim Bunning, a fellow who predicted in spring training that he'd have a good season and win 27 games, notched his third three-hit shut-out of the season last night as Detroit beat the Chicago White Sox 2-0.

The victory was Bunning's 11th of the season — just half of the mark he predicted. He has 14 losses.

He issued only one walk and allowed only one runner to reach third although he did hit two batsmen.

Bunning drove in an insurance run in the ninth inning with a bases-loaded sacrifice fly. The Tigers scored their first run in the sixth on a wild pitch.

Syracuse Top Rushing Team

Duke National Leader in Total Offense on 526 Yards

By The Associated Press
The powerful Syracuse team, that dominated the football statistics last year enroute to the 1959 national title, already leads the major colleges in rushing offense, rushing defense and total defense.

Syracuse gained 337 yards on the ground in its opener against Boston University while holding the opposition to 2 yards rushing and 25 yards in the air.

Duke moved out front in total offense while crushing South Carolina 31-0. Duke rolled up 526 yards, 222 on the ground and 204 by passing.

Meet Flint Central

PCH Harriers in Action

Pontiac Central's Saginaw Valley cross-country champions will play host to Flint Central tomorrow afternoon.

The Chief harriers lost state champion Joe Anderson along with Maurice Johnson, the number two runner who is ineligible to compete.

Three returning lettermen are Jim Nelson, Ken Byrd and Bill Campbell. There are 32 boys out for the squad this year.

The Chiefs started the season on the losing side yesterday to Southfield in the opener.

Other meets listed on the schedule are duals with Redford (Oct. 3), Birmingham (Oct. 11), Flint North (Oct. 14), Dander (Oct. 18), and PPH (Oct. 22).

The Oakland County meet will be held at Walled Lake October 8th. The SVC meet is at Flint October 22nd and the state meet is November 5th.

Pistons Win First Exhibition, 104-99

TOLEDO, Ohio (UPI) — The Detroit Pistons edged the Cleveland Royals, 104-99, here last night for their first exhibition game win of the season.

Gene Shue paced the Detroit attack with 14 points, while Phil Rollins led the Royals with 21. Osiear (Big O) Robertson, who played only the first and third quarters, scored 15 for Cincinnati.

The Pistons dropped their first two games of the season to the Royals.

The Pistons will return tomorrow for practice sessions at the University of Detroit fieldhouse minus four rookies who were dropped.

Vikings New NFL 11

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The Minnesota Vikings — that's the name of the Minneapolis-St. Paul team scheduled to join the national football league next season.

William Boyer, president of Minnesota Football Inc., said the name was chosen to represent a squad with the will to win, and to symbolize an area where many Norwicians came to settle.

Wings Rout Vancouver

VANCOUVER, B. C. (AP) — The Detroit Red Wings whipped Vancouver 10-3 last night in a hockey exhibition game. Allan Johnson and Gordy Howe both scored twice for the National Hockey League Red Wings. The Wings play Alberta tonight.

First Week 'Bye' May Help QB Problem

Lions Well-Rested for Green Bay

Even with a flock of new faces and a promise of improvement, that old nagging quarterback problem has returned to the Detroit Lions like a chronic headache.

The Lions received a bye last Sunday while the other 12 clubs kicked off the season.

"The bye worked to our advantage in every way," said Wilson, who is on the hot seat after two poor seasons. "It helped us ease into our scouting and tapeing — now Joe Schmidt will suit only three games instead of four."

Schmidt, the Lions' tentative standout, has a shoulder separation.

"The bye gave me a week longer to work with my quarterbacks," said Wilson. "I'm still undecided who'll start there Sunday at Green Bay, but I think our problem is becoming resolved. I won't make up my mind until the morning of the game."

"Who's the quarterback?" is a familiar question for the Lions.

Ever since Bobby Lane and Robin Rote shared the job and the Lions won the championship in 1957, quarterback has been a headache for Wilson. Lane was traded to Pittsburgh early in the 1958 season and the problem became worse.

Last year, as the Lions fell to fifth in the Western Division, Rote and Earl Morrall divided the job. Rote now is playing in Canada, and Wilson says he's doubtful if Morrall or Jim Niswonger should get the call.

Niswonger, acquired from Cleveland in the preseason, did most of the quarterbacking for the Lions in their six exhibitions. It appeared that he had beaten out his old Michigan State teammate for the job. But Wilson indicates neither Niswonger nor Morrall distinguished himself in the exhibitions.

"I'd like to use just one in games, start him and have him do the job," Wilson said. "But I can't decide yet who it should be. Of course, if the starter doesn't work out, this way he can always be replaced."

The lack of a starting quarterback—one Wilson knows will give a dependable performance—is the Lions' major drawback, just as it was last year.

Over all, he thinks the club has been strengthened.

"Our offensive line is better and we've changed the blocking a bit," he said. "This should help protect the passer. And our receivers are good."

Steve Middleton, after missing practice for four years because he was in medical school, has practiced with us for a month. Then Earl Cogdill looks like he's going to make a fine pass catcher, too.

Cogdill is a rookie from Washington State.

Wilson also hopes Olympic hurdling champion Glenn Davis comes through.

"I'll use him at flanker back or end if he wants to play with us and can make the club," Wilson said. "We can use his speed and he can hold the ball."

"I'd like to use just one in games, start him and have him do the job," Wilson said. "But I can't decide yet who it should be. Of course, if the starter doesn't work out, this way he can always be replaced."
