Storms Rake Southern Michigan

Hard Rains Hit Pontiac Area, More on Way

Tornado Near Jackson Breaks Up; Turbulent Weather to Continue

Another savage thunderstorm smashed into the Pontiac area and the rest of southern Michigan at noon today.

Pontiac became shrouded in blackness shortly before noon and then the heavy rains raked the vicinity. There were forecasts of 60 m.p.h. wind gusts for this region until 3 p.m.

A tornado funnel appeared at Jackson during a deluge of rain. It broke up after swirling low over the area. There were no tornado warnings issued.

Meanwhile, the U.S. Weather Bureau forecast "increased turbulence" for the southern half of the state throughout the day.

Severe rain and hail belted Muskegon, Jackson, Lansing and Grand Rapids. Some of the hail stones were reported an inch thick.

SURVIVED STORM

Yesterday area residents survived a 5½-hour tornado warning period in which a torrential downpour and lightning roared into the area.

Five baby twisters were sighted in other parts of southeastern Michigan yesterday, but apparently none touched the ground.

The weather bureau says that this area can look forward to scattered showers and thunderstorms tonight and Friday.

The mercury is expected to climb around the 80 mark during the day and reach lows of 60 tonight and tomorrow.

Yesterday's severe thunderstorm knocked out telephones for some 1,600 customers mostly in an area to the west and north of Pontiac. A Michigan Bell Telephone Co. spokesman said the failures resulted after a sudden change in temperature split cables allowing rain to short-out the wires.

He said most of the service has been restored, and that 25 cable crews were repairing the rest of the damage today.

The Detroit Edison Co. reported lightning damage to lines affecting around 100 customers for one hour. Most of the trouble centered in Southfield Township near 13 Mile road and at Rochester at 16 Mile Road.

★ ★ ★

Other than a few limbs falling and home lights faltering a little due to the lightning, no other damage was reported as less than a half-inch of rain fell here.

Pontiac Municipal Airport reported wind gusts of 55 m.p.h.

Plan Student Shelters

The Pontiac School System is currently engaged in designating one place in each building where children can be sent in case of tornado warnings. The children will be given letters to take home with instructions to parents on what to do.

Some Days the News Is Electrifying

Pontiac Press Photo

SHOCKING EXPERIENCE — Pretty Dixie Butler, 19, of 285 Whittemore St., finds static electricity gives her a hair-raising feeling as she stands under a giant press. Dixie, an employe of The Pontiac Press, illustrated what every pressman knows, paper moving at high speeds over metal builds up a heavy electric charge. "It didn't hurt," she said, but when I touched anything sparks jumped about two inches." L. Z. Monroe, press room foreman, said a variety of devices are used to keep the charge down, since a single sheet of newsprint generates enough current to keep a 60-watt bulb lighted.

Jaycee Home Show Opens Under 'Big Tent' Today

The fourth annual Home Improvement Show, sponsored by the Pontiac Junior Chamber of Commerce, opens at 4 this afternoon.

The show, to run through Sunday, will be housed under a huge 60 by 180 foot tent, located to the south of the Tel-Huron Shopping Center. Admission is 50 cents for adults. There is no charge for children under 12.

Some 45 Pontiac area business firms have purchased booths for the show to display up-to date home improvement methods and equipment.

Today the tent will close at 10 p.m., to reopen tomorrow at 1 and to run until 10 p.m. Saturday hours will be from 10 a.m. until 10 p.m. and Sunday from 10 a.m. until 8 p.m.

PARKING AVAILABLE

Jaycees moved their show site to the tent from the Armory, to provide more space for both exhibitors and spectators. They say plenty of free parking will be available.

The woman of the house will thrill to an electronic oven which can cook a one-inch steak in two minutes, one of the many exhibits.

And just about anything else Mr. and Mrs. Homeowner are wondering about in connection with home improvement projects, will be easily assembled under one tent, with expert sales personnel available to offer information.

Senate to Vote on Bill Requiring Drivers' Pictures

LANSING (AP)—The bill to require a motorist's photograph on his driver's license was ready today for a passage vote in the Senate after undergoing changes that would launch the program on a trial basis.

★ ★ ★

Amendments written into the measure yesterday would authorize the secretary of state to test the new system in four areas of his selection, including one in the Upper Peninsula.

The bill, if enacted, would become effective Feb. 1, 1958.

A charge of 25 cents would be levied on a driver for photographing and processing purposes at the time he applied for renewal or an original license.

Turnpike May Get Boost

A bill to pump new life into the Michigan Turnpike Authority was readied for debate in the state Senate yesterday, reviving prospects of the toll road, which would pass near Pontiac in its route through Oakland County.

Increasing the potential of selling turnpike bonds by earmarking up to $3 million in state gasoline taxes collected from turnpike users is the device under consideration.

The special fund would be pledged to bond interest and retirement, should other revenues for this purpose lag beyond expectations.

The bill was advanced to third reading and a final vote on the plea of Sen. Haskell Nichols (R-Jackson). Former state senator George N. Higgins of Ferndale is chairman of the dormant turnpike authority, which is practically fundless.

The turnpike, as originally planned, would start at Rockwood near Monroe, and terminate at either Saginaw or Bay City.

GM Income Up, Profits Lower First Quarter

Reduced Sale of Cars Reflected in Earnings; Hourly Pay Higher

NEW YORK (AP)—General Motors Corp., the world's biggest auto builder, increased its worldwide business slightly in the first three months this year but recorded a 7½ per cent drop in profits.

Company officials said the lower earnings stemmed almost entirely from reduced sales of GM cars in the United States.

Sales for the first three months totaled $3,076,974,030 — four-tenths of one per cent higher than in the first three months of 1956 and just a shade below the record first quarter high of $3,100,738,743 scored in 1955.

Profits totaled $261,357,742 or 93 cents a share. This was 7½ per cent below the January - March period of 1956 and 15½ per cent behind the 1955 initial quarter. Earnings for the first quarter of 1956 were $282,593,355 or $1.01 a share.

CANADIAN SALES UP

GM factories around the world sold 1,096,725 cars, buses and trucks in the first three months this year, compared with 1,210,042 in the first three months of '56 and 1,244,059 in the first quarter of '55.

Sales from Canadian and overseas plants climbed to a record high while GM factories in the United States registered a decline.

★ ★ ★

The report said GM sales of U.S.—produced vehicles during the first quarter of 1957 were the third highest for any first quarter on record.

INCOME TAX $289 MILLION

GM's income tax bill for the first quarter approximated 289 million dollars, against 329 millions in the like period last year.

There were 387,208 hourly rated workers on GM's domestic payroll in the first three months this year and their pay averaged $96.69 a week. In the first quarter of 1956 there were 421,139 on the payroll, and their average weekly wage was $94.17.

Red Check Calls for Matching Color Signature

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (AP) — Last month a Navajo filed his income tax return, but he neglected to affix his signature.

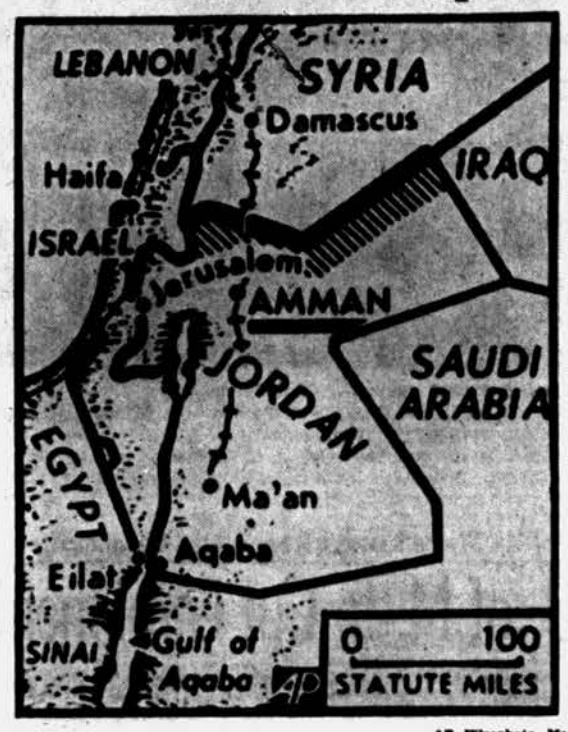

The Internal Revenue Service sent it back with this notation:

"Please sign on the lines indicated by red check marks and resubmit."

Yesterday the IRS got the return again. With it was a note.

"I'm sorry it's taken so long but I had an awful hard time finding a red pencil to sign this thing. I went all over this end of the reservation before I finally found one," the note said.

Navy Discounts Red Sub Spying

Doubts Bridges' Charge That Soviets Keep Eye on U.S. Missiles

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Bridges (R-NH) said today Russian submarines may be prowling off the Florida coast in an attempt to watch U.S. missile experiments. The Navy, however, tended to discount the idea.

In a speech prepared for an American Legion meeting, Bridges alluded to a recent published report of submarines there. He said it was "not substantiated" but added that the fact of the missile experiments was well known as was Russian interest in U.S. developments.

Asked about Bridges' statements, the Navy said no foreign submarines had been detected at the times or in the area mentioned in the published report. It has reported spotting foreign subs from time to time, but to safeguard its detection system maintains silence as to the exact time and place.

Bridges' speech was prepared for American Legion Commissions on National Security and Foreign Relations.

NO SECRET

"It is no secret that we are experimenting with an ICBM (intercontinental ballistic missile) at Patrick Air Force Base, Fla.," Bridges said.

Bridges, who is a senior member of the Senate Armed Services and Appropriations committees, said a recent report was "that there were about a dozen submarines lying off Cape Canaveral, Fla."

"They were not ours or our allies," Bridges said. "The story was not substantiated, but we do know that the Russians spare no effort to learn what we are doing.

★ ★ ★

"If the submarines are in this vicinity and if they are Russian it may well be they are watching our progress on the first ICBM," he said.

Search for 4 Victims of Tugboat Sinking

MONTREAL (AP) — Divers searched Montreal Harbor today for bodies of a woman and three men lost when the tug John Pratt capsized and sank in a towing accident. Four men were rescued.

The sunken vessel blocked the channel entrance to the inner harbor where many large passenger liners dock. Harbor officials reported they could not say when she would be moved.

The tug capsized while working the Swedish freighter Nyland into a slip. Witnesses said the tug was pulled sideways and, caught between the current and the pull, tipped over and went down within two minutes in 40 feet of water.

The woman aboard the tug was the vessel's cook, Jeanne Lamy, 36, of Abitibi County, Que. Other victims were Capt. Zotique Bibeau 62, Montreal; Jean-Marc Morin, 21, Sorel, Que., deckhand; and Laurent Laforest, 49, St. Ignace, Que., fireman.

It's Not Season for Taking Deer, Officers Surmise

Madison Heights police knew it was several months before deer season yesterday, so they arrested a Bloomfield Township man for allegedly stealing a deer and fawn.

The two animals were made of stone and used to decorate the front lawn of the home of Harold D. Oliver, 29711 Spoon St., Madison Heights.

Robert J. Feldman, 27, of Bloomfield Township, was freed on a $500 bond and bound over to the Oakland County Circuit Court Wednesday charged with grand larceny.

Sgt. Richard Travnikar and Patrolman Thomas Linville said they saw Feldman about 3 a.m. yesterday attempting to put the deer in the trunk of his car.

50-Ship Convoy Rushes to Heart of Jordan Crisis

FROM OUR WIRE SERVICE

WASHINGTON — The powerful U.S. Sixth Fleet, led by the supercarrier Forrestal and presumably atomic-armed, was ordered to the Eastern Mediterranean today as young King Hussein of Jordan fought to retain control of his crisis-ridden country.

Ordering of the 50-ship fleet closer to the heart of critical Middle East developments followed swiftly on President Eisenhower's stern warning that the U.S. regards "the independence and integrity of Jordan as vital."

Events moved swiftly in Jordan itself as the 21-year-old king, fearful of a take-over by Egypt or Syria on the one hand and an invasion by Israel on the other, took stern action to save his kingdom.

Hussein clamped down martial law, ordered a strict curfew, abolished all political parties, selected a new pro-Western government and gave all police powers to the loyal, 20,000-man Arab Legion.

The king's acts followed the fall last night of the pro-Western government of Premier Hussein Khalidi, which King Hussein said resulted from the betrayal of a small but strong group of pro-Communist political leaders.

In a possible effort to stave off a swift coup by the pro-leftists, King Hussein in a radio statement to his people said Jordan would not accept, "unilaterally or out of context with liberated Arab policy," U. S. aid under the Eisenhower Doctrine.

This doctrine pledges help to any Mideast nation threatened by Communist aggression, if the perilled country requests such assistance.

The movement of the Sixth Fleet into the Eastern Mediterranean served as a show of strength in support of Jordan and also placed the naval armada in better strategic position to go into action if an occasion arose.

At Augusta, Ga., President Eisenhower kept in close touch with events and remained in telephone consultation with Secretary of State Dulles.

Officially, the White House had no comment on the orders to the Sixth Fleet but it was generally accepted that they came directly from the Chief Executive himself.

FLIES TO CAIRO

Swift diplomatic and military activity throughout the Arab lands coincided with Jordan's internal crisis. President Shukry Al-Kuwatly of Syria, some of whose forces already are stationed in Jordan, flew suddenly to Cairo and con-

From Bermuda to Birmingham

Mercy Flight Brings Man Back Home for Treatment

A seven hour non-stop mercy flight from Bermuda to Selfridge Field was made yesterday by the Air Force in a bid to restore consciousness to a 25-year-old Birmingham man injured April 3.

Patterson Wall, of 515 Madison St. is in William Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak, following the trip by bomber from Bermuda where he was in a motorbike accident three weeks ago.

The accident produced head injuries and Patterson has been in a coma ever since. The non-stop flight was necessary because doctors said any disturbance could be fatal.

When his father, John Wall, learned there were no neurosurgeons in Bermuda, he appealed to Selfridge for help.

Young Wall, a graduate of Duke University, was a member of the school's Air Force ROTC and was vacationing on the island.

His condition at Beaumont is reported unchanged today. Doctors have not yet decided on surgery.

He is employed in the distribution division of General Motors' zone office, South Bend, Ind.

Ike Asks Action on Union Funds Protection

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — President Eisenhower today called labor racketeering "an abomination which must be eliminated."

He said union leaders who abuse power and trust "are not fit to hold union offices."

Eisenhower expressed those views in a statement after a 90 minute conference here with Secretary of Labor Mitchell. The President called for swift enactment of legislation to provide for:

1. Registration, reporting and public disclosure of full data on union health and welfare funds. The administration already has a bill before Congress to take care of that.

2. Public disclosure of all other financial records of unions, including such items as dues collected, the salaries of union officials, and the amount of money in union treasuries.

In his statement the President said the administration has followed "with intense interest" the efforts of a Senate special committee "to bring to light disclosures of corrupt practices and abuses by officers and members of some labor unions."

"Labor racketeering, like corruption anywhere, is an abomination which must be eliminated if and whenever it occurs. Any officer and employe of labor—and it appears there have been few—who abuse the power and trust imposed upon them are not fit to hold union offices," he said.

"The American working man and woman deserve from labor leadership high standards of trust and fidelity."

Mitchell flew to Augusta late last night and saw the President in his office above the golf shop at the Augusta National Club.

Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark), of the special Senate committee looking into the charge of labor racketeering already has welcomed Eisenhower's plan to ask for federal legislation in the field.

3 YEAR EFFORT

The President has been trying for the last three years to get Congress to enact a law requiring unions to make public reports on their Health and Welfare funds, which often run into the multi-million dollar range.

White House news secretary James C. Hagerty declined to say whether the administration's new proposals will go further than this, though he indicated there would be some difference in approach this time.

★ ★ ★

There is strong sentiment both in Congress and the administration to do something to protect rank - and - file union members against the possibilities of graft and loose handling of funds in some labor organizations.

County Polio Drive Starts May 13

Parke, Davis Co. Pledges Serum

Doctors to Give Shots to All in 15-50 Group in Offices for $3 Fee

Oakland County's mass polio immunization drive for the 15-50 age group will be held the week of May 13, the County Medical Society revealed today.

The drive was originally planned for April, but was postponed due to the shortage of Salk vacine.

The new date has been made possible, a spokesman revealed, by a pledge from Parke-Davis Co. to ship 15,000 doses of vaccine into Oakland on May 1 through its regular channels, to be followed by 15,000 more the next week. This supply will then be available to the county's doctors.

The medical society has organized the immunization program to reach the adult population which is not covered by the state and county program for the 1-14 age group.

Under the plan, doctors will give the shots in their own offices for a maximum fee of $3 per shot.

NEED NOT WAIT

It is emphasized, however, that those who want shots need not wait until the official week, but can start as soon as their physician has the vaccine.

Those under 15 years of age are also eligible for the vaccine from their doctors, the society spokesman said.

★ ★ ★

Joining in the drive will be the Oakland County Osteopathic Assn. Its members will follow the same procedure as the medical society's members.

Medical authorities have long pointed out that while adults are less likely to contract polio than children, when they do get it is usually the dread bulbar type which is frequently fatal.

By starting immunization in May, the doctors say, the second shots can be given the week of June 10 before the polio season gets into full swing. Two shots afford about a 70 per cent level of immunization.

Eviction Figure Dies in Home

Chris Ziegenhardt, 78, to Be Buried Friday at Marlette

Death has placed a final restraining hand on Chris Ziegenhardt, one of the principals in the famous Lapeer County eviction fights which received nationwide attention in 1950-54.

The 78-year-old retired farmer died quietly at the Chambers Nursing Home, Sandusky, Tuesday night.

Funeral service will be held at 2 p.m. Friday at the Marsh Brothers Funeral Home, Marlette, with burial in Marlette Cemetery.

Also surviving are brothers Fred and Paul of Burnside Township, Lapeer County.

Barricading their farmhouse, dubbed "Fort Ziegenhardt," Chris and Paul, 76, defied eviction notices which resulted when their farm was sold to pay an unsatisfied judgment.

The judgment resulted after the Lapeer Farmers Mutural Fire Insurance Co. failed, and was placed in receivership.

After running writ-serving deputies off their land with pitchforks, they were evicted bodily by squads of state police.

They were promptly moved back in by sympathetic farmers, who saw the Ziegenhardt stand as a test of some 200 judgments in the area.

Failure of the mutual insurance firm in 1934 touched off a legal hassle which has been in and out of the State Supreme Court and lesser courts more than a dozen times during the past 20 years.

Several men have been jailed for interfering with law officers evicting determined farmers who refused to pay the judgments.

Clayton C. Gilliland, Detroiter who served as advisory to the farmers' group for many years, is currently serving a 4½ to 5 year term in Southern Michigan State Prison at Jackson.

He was convicted of conspiracy to obstruct justice after Lapeer County Sheriff Clark Gregory and a deputy were mauled by a crowd of farmers when they sought to evict a widow.

The Day in Birmingham

Seaholm Will Withdraw From School Candidacy

BIRMINGHAM — Prominent educator and church man, Ernest Seaholm has announced that he will not be a candidate for membership of the board of education at the June election.

He has served the board for 18 years, 10 of them as president.

Seaholm has devoted many hours to the progress and betterment of public schools in the sprawling, swiftly-growing district.

He has helped guide the construction of many new school buildings and has watched them surge forward to international prominence for advance architectural design.

The district today has an enrollment of nearly 11,000 and during Seaholm's board membership, has spent some $10,000,000 on school plants.

In addition to this service, Seaholm has devoted numerous hours to the growth and development of the First Presbyterian Church and its impressive building program.

Unless More Funds Received From State

U. of M. to Cut Enrollment

LANSING (INS)—The University of Michigan has disclosed it plans to curb student enrollment this year unless the State Legislature appropriates additional funds for its operation.

Marvin L. Neihuss, University vice president, has told the Senate Appropriations Committee that the committee's proposed budget was "inadequate" by $3,500,000. He said:

"I am here to tell you the facts. It is your university. We know you want us to keep it operating as well as it has in the past."

★ ★ ★

However, Nihuss' warning of student cuts appeared instead to anger committee members who are leading the Republican policy to "hold the line" against an increase in state taxes this year.

Sen. Edward Hutchinson (R-Fennville) said:

"He made us mad."

★ ★ ★

Sen. Robert E. Faulkner (R-Coloma) said he doubted Neihuss' sincerity, declaring:

"I think he made the threat for publicity purposes to stir up public support for the university's request for additional appropriations."

Neihuss said there were other alternatives to the possibility of restricting the number of students U. of M. would accept this fall. He explained:

"The decision must be between that and not making salary and other necessary improvements."

He added that the university would not lower its standards and pointed out that the school's outstanding instructors were always the subject of "raids" by other universities seeking their services.

The senators were told U. of M. has estimated it would enroll 24,100 students in the fall compared to its present student body of 22,000.

If the threat to curb student enrollment is carried out, it would be the first time in history the university has turned students away from its doors.

Nasser also held what was described as an "urgent meeting" with Soviet Ambassador to Egypt Evgeny D. Kisselev as events seemed moving to a climax.

Saudi Arabia and Iraq both were reported ready to give armed support to King Hussein if military conflict erupted.

On the Jordan-Israel border, Israeli forces were on the alert and believed "on the ready" to move into Jordan, should fighting break out.

In explaining the crisis to his people, King Hussein told them that his foes had allowed communism to spread "like wildfire" in the government. And, he said, his moves were taken to "rid myself of these elements, who brought the country to the verge of of chaos."

The new primier named by Hussein was Ibrahim Hashem, a strong Royalist, who assumed his shaky office as the effects of martial law took over and outwardly, at least, calmed the capital city of Amman.

Hussein broadcast to his people for half an hour today.

In a low, solemn voice the 21-year-old King sought to identify the forces which he blamed for the government crisis that has rocked Jordan for more than two weeks.

He declared "I found it wise to get rid of the Cabinet of Suleiman Nabulsi."

Ex-Premier Nabulsi was a member of the Khalidi Cabinet. He is not in the new government.

Hussein called on Egyptians to stop attacking him and "inventing stories particularly concerning the army."

"I've been patient, though Egyptian newspapers have kept on attacking me and I will remain patient, forgiving everybody for the sake of Arab interests," he said.

Reports from Amman described the capital as a "dead city," with few persons on the streets except soldiers. Virtually all normal activity of the city was stopped.

Western Electric Walkout Continues

Western Electric Corp. installers in the Pontiac area who joined yesterday's statewide walkout from Michigan Bell Telephone Co. exchanges did not report for work this morning.

About 1,000 Western Electric workers walked off their jobs in seven Michigan cities and several smaller communities yesterday, apparently in sympathy with Western Electric employes idle in Waxahachie, Tex., because of a work assignment dispute.

A Michigan Bell spokesman said the men, of whom 31 are in Pontiac, were installing central office dialing equipment for advance projects. No Michigan Bell personnel are out.

Exchanges affected included 10 in the Detroit area, of which Pontiac is one, and others in Kalamazoo, Grand Rapids, Benton Harbor, Flint and Traverse City.

The spokesman said services were not affected.

Nab Youth, 19, After Holdup

Admits Royal Oak Theft to Police; Wife in Car, 'Didn't Know'

A teenage husband who, Royal Oak police say, has been on a two-month crime spree, was arrested last night minutes after the Palms Motel, at 2428 N. Woodward, was robbed of $102.

William Hugh Nesbitt, 19, of 79 Parsons St., Detroit, admitted the holdup, police said, after his arrest as he sped away from the motel.

His 17-year-old wife, with him in the car, denied any knowledge of the crimes.

Royal Oak Officer Harold Fraser saw Nesbitt leave the motel and gave chase. He stopped the couple at Warren and Webster and found papers and bills taken from the motel.

According to Sgt. Philip Deckeback, Nesbitt said he had also held up the Oakotel three times in the past two months and admitted robbing cleaning establishments in Berkley as well.

His wife, Margaret, said she did not know her husband had held up the motel. The couple has a five-week-old son.

Canada Fears Wheat Sales Cut

Government Concerned Over American Delivery of Grain to Poland

By WARREN ROGERS JR.

WASHINGTON (AP)— American officials negotiating an aid agreement with Poland are trying also to reassure Canada that the deal won't cut into Canadian wheat sales.

Officials said today they are hopeful they can sign an agreement by mid-May with Polish negotiators who have been in Washington since February.

The Poles came in response to the Eisenhower administration's invitation. The administration offered to lend economic aid to any country, such as Poland, which had managed to ease the yoke of Moscow domination.

The United States has offered to provide 105 million dollars in U.S. aid, officials said. This would include 30 million dollars in loans for such things as mining machinery and farm implements from President Eisenhower's special contingency fund, and 75 million dollars worth of surplus farm goods.

The Canadian government has expressed concern to Washington about wheat aspects of the deal. They consider Poland a continuing market for Canadian wheat.

The Canadians have been told, officials said, that whatever U.S. wheat goes to Poland will be ticketed for the Polish food reserve. They contend this stockpiling of wheat will interfere in no way with a continuing Canadian sales to Poland for day-to-day consumption.

The surplus farm stocks, principally wheat and fats and oils, would be acquired by Poland as a purchase with money provided on a loan. The repayment would be in Polish currency to be plowed back into economic development in Poland or used there to pay any bills run up by the U.S. government, such as for the embassy.

The conclusion of the Polish aid talks in mid-May depends partially on the passage of new surplus farm legislation by Congress providing another billion dollars. Expectations are that it will be passed quickly.

Polio Victim Drives Across Continent

NEW YORK (AP)—A 26-year-old California, a polio victim who lost the use of his arms, drove across the continent in six days in a car equipped with foot steering controls.

★ ★ ★

Cameron Enns of Kingsburg, Calif., arrived here yesterday to deliver the auto to a New York mother who wanted it for her daughter, similarly stricken by polio. The names of the mother and daughter were not disclosed.

★ ★ ★

Talks on Disarmament Show Some Progress

President Eisenhower told his news conference that current negotiations in London on disarmament hold better prospects for peace than any previous talks.

Mr. Stassen, who heads our delegation says the atmosphere of the talks is better and their tone the most serious since 1945. State Department officials agree that there is more than the usual amount of optimism.

Russia now accepts President Eisenhower's open skies plan but would apply it to only 500 miles on each side of the European dividing line. The United States does not now insist that the plan apply everywhere but urges the widening of the Russian proposed zone.

Both sides also propose that there be a staged reduction in armed forces to 2.5 million for the United States, Russia and China and to 750,000 for Britain and France. Both sides support the principle of international inspection of atomic and conventional disarmament though they don't agree on how this should be done. Agreement has been reached on the need, but not method, for bringing atomic weapons under control.

★ ★ ★

Russia suggests a moratorium on nuclear weapons tests and Mr. Stassen proposes a halting of nuclear weapons production. But until there is a reduction in total nuclear armaments our basic need is for a warning system against surprise attack. Many military authorities think that any future war would be fought with guided missiles and that large armies would be outmoded.

★ ★ ★

Any reliable agreement leading to disarmament would be a step in the right direction. Perhaps the time has come for discussions on a higher plane.

U.S. Forces in Korea to Have Modern Arms

The delay in modernizing United Nations forces under U.S. command in South Korea is not because of the 1953 Armistice agreement, but a problem of logistics.

Modern weapons aren't being produced fast enough to give them to everybody all at once, say official sources. The Red buildup north of the buffer zone has given every justification for a matching re-organization in the South.

During the next 18 months U.S. ground forces will be built up and re-equipped with modern weapons. At the present time they have obsolete arms no longer produced in quantity. The case for the change-over first will be presented to our Allies in Korea and to the United Nations. There isn't any doubt about their approval.

Secretary Dulles told a press conference that although the U.S. does not think it wise to treat the whole armistice as void, North Korean violations give the United States plenty of freedom for action.

In any case the armistice has stopped the shooting for nearly four years and has preserved a neutral zone with only minor violations. Repudiation might start the fighting between North and South Korea all over again.

Puerto Rico's Growth

Latest news from Puerto Rico, which is smaller than Connecticut and has a population of 2.3 million, is that the fight against disease, poverty, illiteracy and overpopulation is being won.

Not long ago this Caribbean republic was looked upon as a backward colonial area. Today it is developing into a show place of progress under its forward looking Governor Luis Munoz-Marin, says U. S. News & World Report.

This official under his Operation Bootstrap plan, has attracted 488 industries to the island, most of them branches of mainland companies, in the last ten years. At the present time 64 others are about to start operations. The plants employ about 42,000 Puerto Ricans and production per worker has doubled in 16 years as has school enrollment.

The Governor and other high officials of this commonwealth are elected and although Puerto Ricans are U.S. citizens, they pay no taxes to Washington. It should be noted here that in seeking new industries Puerto Rico stipulated that it wanted new business or branches of old businesses, not old firms moving there to escape taxation.

Because of overpopulation and scarcity of jobs, emigration to the mainland still is heavy. But that situation is improving and the standard of living is rising due to private enterprise and initiative.

My ever observant Dryden lookout sends word that of that village has a Christmas cactus that surely understands the sentiments behind its name. It is supposed to bloom only in the Christmas season, but early in its 19-year career it also began blooming at Easter. It has missed its Yuletide blooming four times, but never has missed Easter.

Isn't this something to ponder upon? If the two holidays were in the neighborhood of a half-year apart, or if Easter was on the same date each year, it might not be so significant. But—well, there's the living evidence. Think it over.

"I Disagree, Edgar—But I'll Defend Your Right to Say It"

David Lawrence Says:

U. S. Must Be Heard in Mid-East

WASHINGTON — The struggle inside Jordan vividly illustrates the dilemma in the Middle East that confronts the United States and the other Western powers.

LAWRENCE

The Communists are conspicuously active—the young king admits it in a published interview with the representatives of the American press. The plain effort of the Soviet conspiracy is to overthrow the existing regime in Jordan and line it up with Nasser of Egypt and the pro-Communist clique that has taken possession of Syria.

Shall the United States look on indifferently? Leaflets condemning the Western nations, including the United States, are being distributed in the streets by the Communists. Student groups which have been infiltrated by Communist agents are being incited to make riotous demonstrations. Shall there be nothing done to counteract this, and shall the Western powers let it all go by default and see the whole Middle Eastern situation grow more and more dangerous as armed conflicts ensue?

These questions go to the heart of the problem posed by the critics who have urged that America abandon her economic aid programs and curtail or abolish the United States Information Agency. Behind this drive is the belief that it will save money and that the budget can be thus trimmed and taxes soon reduced.

MERE PITTANCE NOW

But the danger is that the budget may have to be increased if armed conflict breaks out. Then the outpourings of dollars may be many times more than any pittance now spent in counteracting Communist activity in the Middle East.

★ ★ ★

The Moscow propagandists are busy and energetic. They think the Eisenhower Doctrine is too tempting for the Arab countries and that since Lebanon, Iraq, Iran and Saudi Arabia are friendly toward the doctrine, the other countries may likewise come within its helpful orbit and ties to the West will be strengthened.

And so the battle on the propaganda front goes. Big stakes are involved. Out of little wars grow big wars. The peace of the Middle East is at best hard to manage. Referring to that area, Secretary of State Dulles in his speech in New York this week said: "Wherever such situations occur, they are always worsened by Soviet intrigue. The Kremlin likes troubled waters in which to fish."

MOSCOW SPEND BILLIONS

Unfortunately the Moscow regime has billions available for such intrigue and for propaganda of all kinds including hundreds of "cultural missions," but in America any effective defense with propaganda or countertactics is waved aside by too many people as "boondoggling."

Perhaps the most misunderstood feature of the work of the U.S. Information Agency is the jazz-band tours that it has recently sponsored. A young American businessman who was in southeast Asia at the time of one of these jazz-band visits writes to this correspondent:

"The Benny Goodman tour proved that jazz is the folk music of America. It has a way of cutting through the boundaries of language and culture that nothing else possesses. Additionally, it enables Americans to get through to the average citizen of each country more quickly than any diplomatic procedure. For example, in Rangoon the university is a problem for the United States. The students are prime targets for all propaganda for they are the future rulers of Burma. The Goodman band played two concerts indoors and held an outdoor seminar and jam session under the trees. Students flocked to hear the band.

"And the entire student attitude in Rangoon became more friendly toward the United States as a result."

Dr. William Brady Says:

Alcohol Is Narcotic Drug and That Means 'Danger'

Twice I have been given a hypodermic injection of morphine. The first time was when I was about to burst from appendicitis. The second time was when I had bursitis in the right shoulder and cried so piteously with the pain that the doctor came in and gave me morphine two or three nights.

DR. BRADY

From the way I felt after each dose of morphine, I can understand why some people get the habit. I didn't get the habit because I had only one of the predisposing factors of narcotism—the sense of extreme tension (not pain) due to gangrenous appendicitis or the pain from the bursitis, from which no change of position gave the slightest relief.

People who cultivate the narcotic habit usually have two predisposing factors—two strikes against them. First, is some incidental or temporary cause of pain or distress, such as my appendicitis and bursitis were.

And, in addition, they have a weak, wishywashy, undeveloped character; hence they are easily persuaded to indulge in sense-deadeners, aspirin, barbiturates, cocktails, benzedrine, marijuana, heroin, cocaine, morphine, laudanum, gin, or whatever the smart ones favor.

Alcohol is a narcotic. Because it is available almost everywhere any time, it is now by far the most popular narcotic in America.

FROM TOP DOWN

From top-flight affairs in Washington down to the most vicious parties in the red-light district, the person who doesn't drink becomes the object of suspicion, distrust, or derision.

Alcohol, I repeat, is a narcotic. Under the effects of a drink or a number of drinks, the addict is, for a while, free from his or her inferiority complex. He's just as good as anybody else.

So he cuts loose and enjoys himself for a while—and when the narcotic wears off he'll probably remember little or nothing about what was said or done, but, by gosh, the fool had a lot of fun, didn't he?

If the addict fills up with marijuana, heroin or cocaine and does someone great harm, he'll probably have to pay the penalty for his crime. But if he commits the same crime under the effect of alcohol, he will probably gain popular sympathy and have to pay a light penalty or none at all.

Narcotic addicts are notoriously good (liars) at explaining, justifying, and defending their addiction. If they happen to prefer alcohol to heroin or cocaine, they may resent the very idea that alcohol is a narcotic drug.

Do men of distinction tell the world they would fail in hospitality if they didn't keep a good supply of morph or heroin on hand to serve their guests?

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Hospital Board of Trustees Outlines Reply to Questions

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

In Mr. Paul Kern's letter to the Voice of the People published April 1, 1957, he asks three questions relative to the operation of Pontiac General Hospital. Answers to these questions are given below in the order the questions were stated.

It is true that approximately 50 per cent of the patients at the Pontiac General Hospital have addresses outside the City of Pontiac. However, a surtax is added to the regular service charges of these patients. It is generally accepted premise that a metropolitan city provides the social facilities for the area from which its industry draws its employes and its merchants and businessmen draw their customers and clients. From an economical standpoint, complete hospital facilities can be provided in a metropolitan area at a lesser cost to build and operate than can be provided by each perimeter area for its citizens.

The second question asks why the City Fathers started a 4.5 million dollar hospital when the taxpayers voted only three million. The decision to let the general and mechanical contracts for a total which exceeded the original bond issue was made upon the advice of the architect and the consultant to the Board that the third downward revision of the plans was the least building that should be built on this site, as well as the least facility that could give complete and adequate hospital care, and that to build a lesser facility would be a waste of the taxpayers' money.

The third question asks how much the hospital deficit is each year and how much will this deficit increase in the new hospital and who pays it. During the four and a half years since the Board of Trustees has been appointed to be responsible for the operation of the Pontiac General Hospital, the average annual operating budget has been $2,665,313.14 and the average operating deficit for this same period has been $3,196.93. This operation has provided for good patient care within the budget approved for such care.

'Old, New Doctors Have Differences'

I agree it's the hospital's duty to protect the public. However, the hospital has no right to freeze out capable, competent doctors. It seems some doctors have been at General Hospital so long they think they own it. Any young doctors who come to Pontiac are considered threats to their security. Therefore, life is made miserable for all new doctors who fail to accept the old timers as rulers of Pontiac General Hospital.

Favors Economy for Post Office

We've just passed "P" day for our income tax. We pay and pay and pay. I liked the editorial about closing the post office on Saturdays and suspension of delivery service on that day. It was timely and right to the point.

If the post office can save money this way, I believe it should be done. Why should part of my income tax be used to pay for a utility that should be self-supporting?

As for the discontinuance of writing money orders, it is only custom and habit that we buy them at the post office. Bank money orders cost the same, and banks are more strategically located for public convenience, so I say get the post office out of the banking.

We won't miss third class junk mail. Most of it isn't read anyway. Anyone who really wants mail on Saturday can rent a post office box. Important mail will be sorted for box patrons on Saturdays and Sundays.

'Carlotta Letters Wasting Space'

I agree with Mr. Keehn 100 per cent about using the Voice of the People column for important things rather than wasting all that space on such things as this fictitious Carlotta. I sent a letter in not long ago in regards to doing away with that sharp turn at Fairgrove and Saginaw. But no. They wouldn't print it. It was too long. They like to lop here and delete there.

The Pontiac Press is a good paper and I enjoy it very much. But it makes me mad sometimes. But of course I will keep on reading it as I have no choice.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Offers Method to Conquer Fears

Fear is the greatest cause of pain and failure on the face of this earth. So learn how to dissect your fears and free yourself from their domination. By all means, try the "Fear Party" strategy below. More of these confessionals would save thousands of pilots and other talented men in military service, as well as in professional schools.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case U-364: Captain Ashton Graybiel is a Naval Research Director who has long studied the psychology of pilots.

And he neatly analyzed the dangerous effects of fear as a cause of the "washouts" in military of service.

CRANE

"Fear of flying," he began, "is a principal reason for cadets dropping out of flying training.

"It is not always the fear of flying, as such, but the fear of failure."

If fear causes stalwart young men of high I. Q. and superb physical fitness to collapse, psychologically, then you can begin to surmise the devastating influence of fear on children.

Youngsters soon learn to put up a front, at least in social groups. So when 30 children congregate in the 4th grade room at school, what happens?

Each one tries to act casual and unconcerned. But that secret terror may mount to the explosive state, thus prodding its harassed victim into bravado behavior.

★ ★ ★

Such a child may then defy rules and become a problem youngster, all because he was so afraid his pals would see that he was afraid, that he tried to camouflage his terror with actual recklessness.

FEAR PARTIES

So I have been recommending to various educational conventions that an ideal bit of strategy for all teachers in grammar school is to schedule a "Fear Party" every term.

Let the teacher casually lead into the discussion by confessing some terror which she herself experienced at their age.

Since she is now a successful adult and enjoying the prestige of being the teacher, she loses no "face" by admitting such a childhood fear.

Then casually inquire if any of the children have had any similar worries to that one cited by the teacher.

If nobody picks up the cue immediately, then the teacher can cite some cases in her previous classes.

★ ★ ★

But it usually isn't long till somebody puts up his hand and matches the teacher's confession with a current fear, as of lightning or of barking dogs, or of ghosts or of spooky movies or of snakes, rats, etc.

Reassured by the two or three previous confessions, another youngster may volunteer his pet aversion.

And soon you will have the entire classroom opening up with a wide variety of secret terrors.

Since confession immediately lessens the load of inner worry and strain, the children at once begin to benefit.

And the very fact that they now realize they are not freakish or unduly cowardly, will greatly reassure their ego. It may also undermine compensatory naughtiness.

For previous to such a group confessional, most youngsters believe they alone are cowardly while all the other kids are brave.

CASE RECORD STRATEGY

One reason why I launched this clinical column in practical psychology a generation ago, was to permit you readers to see that thousands of other smart people suffered from the same secret fears that worry you.

★ ★ ★

"Dr. Crane, I was so relieved to see your case in the paper last week," thousands have told me, "for I had thought I must be very abnormal, even to the point of losing my mind.

"But now that I realize my problem is common to many others, I am able to draw my first relaxed breath in years!"

So encourage people to verbalize their inner dreads. Sharing a fear immediately divides the load.

And for other valuable strategy, send for my booklet, "How to Prevent Nervous Breakdowns," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents (non-profit).

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Foil Bad Teeth! Eat Sweet First

Brushing After Meals Would Prevent Acids From Starting Decay

CHICAGO (AP) — Do you eat your dinners backwards, starting with sweet desserts, in the interest of preserving healthy teeth? Do you snatch candy away from Junior because sweets are blamed for tooth decay? Do you tote a toothbrush around with you all day? Naturally not, says the American Dental Assn.

Then is the thing utterly hopeless — this idea of preventing tooth decay?

On the contrary, the association says there are effective, common sense methods for warding off dental disease that afflicts 95 per cent of the U.S. population and costs 1½ billion dollars in dental bill each year.

The thought that eating meals backwards would help keep teeth strong was expressed by a dental educator several years ago. His idea was that vegetables and other detergent foods in the meal would help eliminate acid-breeding sugars that normally remain in the mouth after dessert.

The idea never caught fire with the American public.

But Dr. Harry Lyons, of Richmond, Va., association president, believes the same good results can be attained without such a severe jolt to long-established American custom. He feels much dental disease prevalent today can be traced directly to misconceptions and faulty dental habits.

The association gives this view of the dental picture:

The only way to have good teeth in your old age is to take care of you mouth when you're young.

The first five years are the critical years for the development of dental structure, proper growth of the jaw and the development of proper bite.

Children should develop the toothbrushing habit as soon as they have all their first teeth. Their first trip to the dentist should not be made later than at 3 years of age, regardless of whether or not there are cavities.

The lower teeth should be brushed upwards and the upper teeth downwards, to remove food particles. After Junior has had his try, a parent should repeat the job for him if necessary.

The association says the toothbrushing is important, not the type of toothpaste or tooth powder used. Baking soda or baking soda and salt are among the recommended dentifrices.

The peak of mouth acidity comes in 20 minutes after eating sweets and may be all over in 30 minutes. Thus, teeth should be brushed immediately after eating, instead of at bedtime.

What if Junior demands candy and other sweets?

Try to get him to substitute fresh fruits and raw vegetables, or popcorn and nuts. If that raises a howl, give him sweets under controlled conditions — at home and at a time when the teeth can be brushed immediately.

The sweets problem is a formidable one because American today consume 10 times as much sugar as did their great grandparents 100 years ago.

Excited Motorist Gives False Alarm to Police

MONROE, Wisc. (AP) — Sheriff's deputies went into action when an excited motorist reported seeing a man "force a woman into the trunk of a car, close the lid and drive away."

Officers found the car at a local garage and ordered the owner to open the trunk. Inside was a garage mechanic trying to locate the source of a squeak for the owner.

The motorist who called police apparently had mistaken the mechanic's long shop coat for a woman's topcoat.

Tennessee Williams Returns to New Orleans

NEW YORK (AP) — Prize-winning Playwright Tennessee Williams is planning to make New Orleans his headquarters again.

Early in his career Williams did much writing there, including his own favorite drama, "A Streetcar Named Desire," but for several years has lived at Key West, Fla.

"I'll miss the swimming — my favorite recreation," he explained on a visit here, "but within a year I expect to return to New Orleans. I somehow seem to work best there."

Australia's 1,100,000 postwar immigrants almost equal those of the previous 166 years.

Blind Dog Guided by 'Seeing-Eye' Cat

MILL VALLEY, Calif. (AP) — The J. R. Rowntrees' blind cocker spaniel dog is led about these days by a "Seeing-Eye" tomcat.

★ ★ ★

The cocker, Duke, developed cataracts. He started bumping into things. That's when the gray tomcat, Bos'n, started taking over.

"I couldn't believe it at first," said Mrs. Rowntree.

"One day I looked out and saw that Duke had strayed part way down the hill. He was standing there confused, not seeming to know how to get back to the house.

★ ★ ★

"Bos'n heard me call him, darted out the front door and ran down to where Duke was. He nudged Duke around and led him back up the path." Rowntree, an engineer, said Bos'n often saves Duke from falling off the porch by moving in between the dog and the porch's edge.

January Hot in Old Days

SAYRE, Pa. (AP)—When January temperatures tumbled to around zero, M. J. Hulslander turned to a desk drawer for a reminder of better days. He fished out a picture postal card given him when he was 4 years old by his father. The card was dated Jan. 7, 1907 and read: "Today's weather—68 in the shade."

Cholera recently caused 364 deaths in two weeks at Patna, India.

Over Insurance Law

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — New York's new compulsory automobile liability insurance law is giving many visiting motorists the jitters.

Widespread reports that out-of state drivers are being warned to stay away, because their cars may be impounded if they are unable to produce evidence of liability insurance, has brought official denial from the New York motor vehicle commissioner.

Commissioner Joseph P. Kelly explained that visiting motorists are not required to prove financial responsibility, but may be called upon to do so after involvement in an accident.

Uniforms 11 Years Late but They Fit Son Fine

SUFFOLK, Va. (AP) — The six uniform coveralls H. T. Holloman ordered to wear at his filling station arrived in time to fit his son, Billy, who was 7 at the time the order was placed. The package was mailed C.O.D. from Danville, Va. Jan. 3, 1946.

Holloman said he didn't mind the 11-year-delay. The cost was only about half the present cost of such uniforms and, besides, they fit 17-year-old Billy fine.

Officer Gets Plastered While Doing Duty

ST. MATTHEWS, Ky. (AP)—Patrolman E. H. Burnett got plastered in the line of duty but he wasn't drinking.

Burnett heard boyish voices inside a church, leaped through a window and landed in a huge box of plaster workmen had mixed for repairs in the building.

The boys escaped while he scraped plaster from his eyes.

Fifth Son Joins Army

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—When 17-year-old Richard Bean was sworn into the Army, he became the fifth and last of Raymond F. Bean's five sons to join that service. Gordon D., with 16 years service, Robert E., with 10 years, and Norman C., with 6, all are in the same signal battalion in Germany and Raymond F. Jr., with 8, is in Korea. The older Bean retired in 1938 after serving 30 years in the Coast Guard.

Patch Job Too Rough

FORREST CITY, Ark. (AP)—Joe Williams, a junkyard employe, found a 1957 Kansas auto tag and a 1956 Arkansas truck tag and by clever cutting and patching came up with a pretty convincing version of a 1957 Arkansas truck tag.

Things went well until he carelessly parked the truck in a no-parking area. When the officer bent close to read the license plate in uncertain light the fake was discovered.

It cost Williams $125 for using a fictitious license.

ALIGATOR'S BAGGED — Sorrier than this saurian the morning after in Hamilton, Ontario, was his self-appointed keeper, who pulled a scaly trick and took the baby 'gator from a pet shop without the owner's permission. Following a tour of some pubs, he sold the potential piece of luggage for two dollars and was subsequently nabbed on suspicion of theft.

Australian Citizens Honor Immortal WWI Heroes

By DENIS N. HAWKER
Visiting Australian Journalist

At 5 a.m. today thousands of Australians gathered at memorials throughout the nation—remembering.

In London's Whitehall or anywhere throughout the world where Australians are congregated, there were similar gatherings.

HAWKER

They remembered the men of ANZAC, who in the grey dawn of a history-making day stormed the enemy-held heights of Gallipoli, in the face of murderous Turkish fire.

That day was April 25, 1915, and the occasion—the magnificently heroic and costly British mistake in attempting to enter German Europe by the back door and tie up the forces of the Kaiser's Turkish allies.

It was a mistake because it failed—as it was bound to do. The odds were insurmountable.

★ ★ ★

But the men of ANZAC (Australian and New Zealand Army Corps) almost achieved the impossible. That they failed detracted nothing from the heroism of their attempt.

The men in the broad-brimmed hats which are the badge of Australia's fighting men, struggled through the shell-spattered surf and with bayonets and small arms fought their way from one enemy position to another.

There is nothing chauvinistic about Australia's regard for its deathless heroes. It is a quiet pride that on that morning 42 years ago Australia came of age.

Today is perhaps more Australia's national day than any other—even the anniversary of the founding of the country on Jan. 26, 1788.

Dawn services throughout the nation today were followed by 11 a.m. marches of ex-servicemen to memorials for remembrance services. It is a holiday. Every business is closed. Bars open after the 11 a.m. service.

The rest of the day is spent by veterans at ex-service unit association reunions and in conducting sports for the families of ex-servicemen.

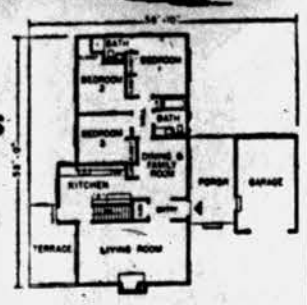

The facts of Gallipoli may fade from memory, but the anniversary will endure as a national institution for any foreseeable number of generations.

Plan Arbor Day Rite

MONROE (AP) — Monroe's observance of Arbor Day will include planting of trees Friday at dedication of Monroe County's first church site as a historical monument. The site was St. Antoine's, center of an early French settlement on the River Raisin. The founder of Arbor Day, J. Sterling Morton, was a resident of Monroe more than 100 years ago.

Security for You

Women Build Own Basis for Welfare

By RAY HENRY
Associated Press Writer

For the past two years, the National Manpower Council has been working the other side of the street. It's been studying womanpower.

The council, a private research organization financed by the Ford Foundation, discovered — not too surprisingly — that women are pretty important to us men.

They're especially important, said the council in a recently published 371-page book, because many of them work and contribute their skills in business and industry. If they didn't the council added, American society wouldn't be what it is today.

Conclusions aside, the council came up with some new statistics about working women.

★ ★ ★

For instance: Today, one-third of all the women in the United States, 14 or over, are in the labor force. Three out of every ten married women are now working, including nearly two out of every five mothers whose children are in school. At least nine out of ten women are likely to work outside their home during their lifetime.

BUILD RIGHTS

Thus, millions of women are building Social Security rights through the payment of Social Security taxes.

And, according to the council's figures, today's average woman will work under Social Security long enough to be eligible for monthly payments when she reaches the Social Security retirement age of 62. To be eligible for payments, all men and women are expected to work at least a certain minimum time under Social Security.

The average woman now in her mid-30s, the council calculated, can expect to put in more than 20 years on a job. And, today's average school girl can look forward to some 25 years or more in work outside her home.

If you're a working woman, 10 years is the maximum time you'll have to work under Social Security to be eligible for payments when you reach 62.

NEED LESS TIME

But, if you were born before Jan. 1, 1909, the time you'll have to work is less than 10 years — the exact amount depending on the year in which you reach 62. The nearer you are now to 62, the less time under Social Security you'll need. But, in any case, you'll have to have at least 1½ years.

Although you may work enough under Social Security to be eligible for payments, it doesn't necessarily mean that you'll be eligible for large payments. Your payments can range from $24 to $108.50 a month.

The actual size of your payments will probably depend on two factors:

1. Your average monthly wage from Jan. 1, 1951, to the time you retire.

This is found by adding your total earnings for this period together and dividing by the number of months in the period. You can drop out up to five years in which your earnings were lowest or in which you had no earnings at all. However, if you have more than five years during the period in which you had no earnings, the lean years must be used in your calculation.

2. Whether you retire and start drawing payments at 62 or you continue to work until you reach 65.

Your payments at 62 will only be 80 per cent of what you'd get if you waited until 65 to start drawing them. For each month you delay in retiring after 62 the size of your future payments will be increased until they level off at 65.

(Questions on Social Security problems may be addressed to "Social Security," in care of The Pontiac Press. Questions will be answered by mail from the Pontiac office of the Social Security Administration. There is no charge for this service.)

Quarrel Over Bird Ends in Divorce Suit

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Marital bliss literally flew out the window for Mr. and Mrs. Chastain Nolan when their parakeet left.

Mrs. Nolan, 27 and the mother of three, told Constable Thelma Hardison that her husband taught the bird to say vulgar words at her.

She let the bird go and Nolan retorted by storming out, taking along most of his wife's clothes.

Noland returned for a final stroke of revenge, she told the constable, yanking out the telephone and removing locks from the doors.

Mrs. Nolan swore out a warrant and filed for divorce.

District Attorney Quietly Steps Out of Sumac Brawl

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — The district attorney's office has made a discreet withdrawal from the affairs of Yma Sumac and her estranged husband after listening to approximately 12 versions of Tuesday's brawl between the Peruvian pair and assorted associates.

★ ★ ★

"I will issue no complaint — that's definite," said Deputy Dist. Atty. Allan H. McCurdy yesterday. "Both sides tell completely opposite stories."

The hair-pulling, face-slapping spree was touched off when Miss Sumac, accompanied by three private detectives, called on her husband, Moises Vivanco, to collect some of her belongings.

Teacher Raps Schools for Gifted Children

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Putting gifted children in special schools or classrooms can be harmful to their development, says a teaching expert.

Dr. Laura Zirbes, professor emeritus of Ohio State University, thinks even the gifted child needs to learn to live with others.

"This he learns in a classroom of average and not so gifted students," she said yesterday at the Assn. for Childhood Education convention. "And he will be a better man for being able to get along with all kinds of people."

Former Navy Secretary Sued for Divorce

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Former Secretary of the Navy Dan A. Kimball, 62, has been sued for divorce after 31 years of marriage. His wife, Dorothy, charges extreme cruelty.

Kimball, president of Aerojet-General Corp., and vice president of General Tire and Rubber Co., was secretary of the Navy under President Truman.

Mrs. Kimball's suit, filed yesterday, said they separated last Nov. 24. They have no children.

Governor Meyner's Wife Calls Tune in Private

NEWARK, N. J. (AP)—Mrs. Robert B. Meyner, New Jersey's first lady, noted the other day that in just a few months of marriage to the governor she had heard him make numerous public addresses.

"When he speaks in public," she remarked, "I tremble. But when I speak in private, he trembles."

That's what she said, ladies.

Western Rodeos Becoming Dull

Bucking Broncs Lack 'Hot Blood'

DENVER (AP) — A shortage of good bucking horses is threatening to make western rodeo as dull as an eastern horse show.

Take the word of Verne Elliott of Platteville, Colo., a rodeo hand for half a century.

"It's a headache finding bucking horses. There are no more big horse outfits, like there used to be. And the horses aren't tough — top bucking horses today aren't any better than my second or third string even 10 years ago."

Elliott says he has little selection today. Once he could pick two or three of the best from a string of 100. Now he has to pick a dozen from half as many prospects.

Elliott is associated with Lynn and Jake Beutler, livestock contractors of Elk City, Okla., for the million dollar rodeo industry.

The solution?

NEED THOROUGHBRED BLOOD

"I don't know. Maybe we'll have to start bucking Fords or something. I od know one thing. We've got to get some hot blood good buckers. There are some horses in Canada but they're mostly of the Clydesdale strain and they've cold blooded. And they don't ship well."

★ ★ ★

"There's a lot of quarter horses being raised, but they don't make good bucking stock."

Quarter horses were developed in the early days of the west. They are fast for short distances, a quarter of a mile, and are extremely agile in working cattle.

"Maybe a fellow could, if he thought it was worth the gamble and he could make some money, cross breed some horses. Then he'd have to have some men spoil'em when they were young to make buckers. The best buckers you get are horses that have been spoiled when they were young," Elliott said.

By "spoiling" Elliott did not mean physical abuse. Fright from something as innocent as a rolling tumbleweed may turn a promising colt into a bucker.

"I wouldn't want to gamble on it myself. I'm about out of the business and I'm glad, but it's been good to me and I've done all right."

Elliott began contesting when in his 'teens in Cheyenne's Frontier Days shortly after the turn of the century. He quit contesting in 1913. He became associated with the late Eddie McCarty of Cheyenne in rodeo contracting in 1921. They, with the late Tex Austin of New York City, produced the first Madison Square Garden rodeo in 1922.

VANISHING BREED — A black bronc named Leo demonstrates the kind of bucking rodeo fans like to see — but won't be seeing much longer.

A fall in prices of potatoes and onions has given Australia its first substantial drop in living costs since the early 1930's. The drop was 45 cents a week in Sydney.

Ex-Stalinist Official Jailed in Hungary

BUDAPEST (AP) — Hungary's Communist regime announced today Mihaly Farkas, notorious Stalin era purger who reportedly tortured Premier Janos Kadar when Kadar was out of favor, has been sentenced to 16 years in prison.

He apparently was convicted at a secret trial.

Farkas, minister of defense and three-star general in the regime of former dictator Matyas Rokosi, was the first of the old Stalinist leaders to be sentenced in Hungary.

★ ★ ★

He was arrested last October, before the unsuccessful anti-Communist rebellion which brought Kadar back to power as the choice of the Russians. He remained in prison through the uprising.

Griggsville Fair Offers Patrons Bargain Dollar

GRIGGSVILLE, Ill. (AP)—Dollar bills—some 25,000—will be for sale at 89 cents each at the Western Illinois Fair at Griggsville one hour daily for five days starting June 30.

There will be no limit on the number of times a customer may buy a buck and make 11 cents. But he can buy only one at a time. If he wants more he must return to the end of the line.

Fair officials in Griggsville, a town of about 1,200, explained the only reason for the sale is to prove there will be at least one genuine bargain offered the public in 1957.

The "Daily Journal", an English language publication of Caracas, Venezuela, celebrated its first anniversary as a daily by publishing a 100-page special issue.

State Hospital Plans Open House

Editor's Note: This is the first of two stories telling about activities and treatment of patients at Pontiac State Hospital in advance of Mental Health Week, which begins Sunday. This story deals with facilities which aid in the recovery of hospitalized patients. The second will explain some of the measures employed to help patients who have been released from the hospital in making an adjustment to their community.

By JUDITH L. CLEMENCE
Press Women's Editor

Mental illness remains the most common of all illnesses, and requires more than half of the beds in hospitals throughout the country.

Today there are about ¾ of a million people under the care of mental hospitals alone.

This figure does not include the mentally ill who are not hospitalized. That figure shows more than 10 million, one in every 16, suffering from some form of mental disorder.

As Mental Health week begins Sunday, statistics show that there are more people in hospitals for mental illness than for polio, cancer, heart diseases, tuberculosis and all other diseases combined.

You wonder about this staggering figure, about what causes these "breakdowns" and what is being done about it. Mental health authorities point out that the chances of recovery from mental illness are much dependent upon the quality of the hospital to which the patient is admitted.

At present, about 45 per cent of patients admitted to the average mental hospital are eventually discharged as improved or recovered. In a few well-equipped and well-staffed mental hospitals where patients are given the best and latest treatment, as many as 70 per cent improve or recover.

Pontiac State Hospital, which keeps abreast of all the newest and sound methods, is recognized nationally as one of the finest treatment centers.

This year the hospital observes Mental Health Week, which begins Sunday and continues through May 4 with a four-day open house including tours and informative workshops.

During this time, hospital personnel will explain mental illness, how it is brought about, what can be done about it what is being done in the way of treatment, and how the community can help with the problem.

Some special features which will be presented to the public at the 12th annual open house include the patients' musical revue entitled, "We The Patients Present Music Therapy on Parade". This is under the supervision of the Recreational Therapy Department which includes music and drama among the many activities directed toward building the patient's confidence.

Visitors to the 3,300 patient hospital will see a community within itself. There are facilities such as bakery, shoe repair shop, a beauty salon, barber shop and a small general store and a theater where patients see current movies.

Other facilities offered by this department are supervised dances, card parties, music lessons, hobby groups and use of the library. Indoor and outdoor athletics such as football, baseball, volley ball, archery and miniature golf are therapeutic measures designed to help rehabilitate the patient.

In the occupational therapy department patients participate in a variety of manual and creative activities such as weaving, ceramics, carpentry painting, and sewing. This type of therapy, which is medically prescribed, is professionally guided. The therapists explore the patients' potentialities and limits, and by helping with the development of new skills, assist with their recovery.

★ ★ ★

New in this department is the "Activity for Daily Living Center," a center which staff members feel will play an important part in the treatment of teenage girls. It also is a rehabilitation program for adult women about to leave the hospital.

It will include a short term class stressing all aspects of home planning such as budgeting, nutrition, diets, meal planning and party suggestions.

Goals of the center are: to aid the patient in socialization; establish a working area which will have a homey atmosphere; to give a feeling of responsibility; teach new skills and to help bridge the gap between hospital and home setting.

Many other departments including the nursing staff, the psychology department and social service department aid the medical staff in helping hospital patients recover.

TO ASSIST WITH OPEN HOUSE — It takes many hands to successfully carry out a four-day open house celebration such as the one planned at Pontiac State Hospital beginning Sunday and continuing through May 1. Assisting Richard Arthaud (right) case work supervisor, are (left to right) Mrs. Charles Randell, Mrs. Otis C. Thompson and Mrs. Helmut Heuser, all of Birmingham. They are volunteers in the hospital program.

RECREATIONAL FACILITIES AT THE HOSPITAL — Ted Panaretos, psychiatric case work supervisor, displays some of the activities available in the Recreational Therapy Department of Pontiac State Hospital. In the background patients enjoy a game of pool. These activities and many more will be shown to visitors to the hospital during its open house April 28 through May 1.

Evidence Nuclear Tests Cause Weather Upsets

By EDWIN DIAMOND
INS Science Writer

WASHINGTON (INS)—The first evidence that nuclear bomb tests may help bring on droughts and heavy rainfalls has been presented by a U. S. Weather Bureau physicist.

Dr. Ross Gunn reported that superbomb explosions and other man made air pollution can upset nature's balanced rain cycle and cause weather extremes—long dry spells such as hit the Southwest United States, and extended periods of heavy rainfall rivaling the Biblical deluge.

These possibilities have long been debated, but heretofore were without any experimental basis.

Following his report, Gunn told newsmen he was unable to say whether nuclear tests to date have affected the weather one way or the other. But he added: "If you dump enough particles into the air, you are bound to have the effect."

The experiments conducted by Dr. Gunn, the Weather Bureau's top cloud physics expert, also indicated that man-made efforts to produce rain in drought-stricken areas by cloud-seeding techniques may have the exact opposite effect.

Officially, the U. S. Weather Bureau maintained its previous announced position that superbomb tests and cloud-seeding projects do not affect the weather "one way or the other."

But, unofficially, a spokesman indicated Dr. Gunn's new data would mean a long second look is now necessary.

Dr. Gunn, in a report to the National Academy of Sciences, found that the amount of man-produced pollution in ordinary air plays a "critical role" in nature's rain cycle.

By duplicating air pressure, atmosphere and cloud conditions in a giant, 60-foot diameter "expansion chamber" at the bureau's Hitchcock, Tex., research station, Dr. Gunn was able to demonstrate:

★ ★ ★

When there are a great number of small man-made particles in the atmosphere in addition to natural particles, cloud vapor droplets adhering to these "extra" particles are "too small to grow" into rain drops and fall to earth.

DRY SPELL RESULTS

This causes a pile-up of needed rainwater and a long dry spell.

When it finally does rain, the initial precipitation "washes out" all the air pollution particles "permitting the subsequently formed droplets to grow still larger, thus increasing the probability of appreciable precipitation."

Report Shows Lack of Medics

Figures Reveal State 23rd in U.S. in Number of Physicians

ANN ARBOR (UP) — Michigan's need for additional medical education facilities was outlined in a report given to the president of the University of Michigan yesterday.

★ ★ ★

Michigan, seventh in the nation in population, is 23rd in the number of physicians, said the report which went to Dr. Harlan Hatcher.

The report, which offered no formal recommendations, was drafted by a special committee headed by the dean of the University of Michigan's medical school, Dr. Albert C. Furstenberg.

The University of Michigan and Wayne State University in Detroit have the only two medical schools in Michigan. Wayne's dean of medicine, Dr. Gordon Scott, took part in the writing of the report.

There has been speculation that a third medical school would be established, possibly at Grand Rapids.

Although the number of Michigan doctors increased from 1949 to 1955, the report said it was not enough to keep pace with population growth. Unless there are increased accommodations for medical students by 1960, the report said, there will be a "decided decrease in the percentage of applicants admitted as freshman medical students."

In the 1955-56 academic year, 536 Michigan residents applied for admission to an American medical school, the report said, and only 302, or 56 per cent, were accepted.

Twister-Proof Houses Cost but Little More

ANN ARBOR (UP)—A University of Michigan researcher says tornado-proof houses can be built for between $50 and $350 above initial construction costs.

★ ★ ★

George W. Reynolds of the University's engineering research institute has been studying tornado scenes since 1949.

★ ★ ★

"Houses can be built to survive most, if not all, such storms," he said. "I have yet to see a single case in which a house bolted to its foundation was destroyed. This is not conclusive proof, of course, but it is suggestive."

★ ★ ★

Reynolds said adequate internal bracing and proper air vents also would cut down damage.

Labor Group to Teach Worker How to Retire

PHILADELPHIA (UP)—A Philadelphia labor group tonight begins a course for its members on how to retire.

★ ★ ★

The Philadelphia Joint Board of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers is hopeful it can help its members nearing retirement age to meet the problems—and find the pleasures—at the end of their working days.

★ ★ ★

A series of four lectures will be given at the club set up by the union and area clothing industry managements for retired workers.

After All, Summer's Just Around the Corner

Tourist Council Readies for Fall Season

Spring breezes may be breathing on a summer-hungry Michigan, but already autumn leaves are swirling around the offices of the Michigan Tourist Council.

While the rest of the state is digging out fishing gear and suntan oil, the council is declaring war on the expression, "off-season," and giving a long hard look at autumn and winter vacation promotion.

★ ★ ★

"Now is the time to push back the traditional limits on the vacation season," says Robert J Furlong, executive secretary of the council.

"The idea that summer is the only vacation season is as outdated as the bootjack, but the traveling public, like the rest of us, is a creature of habit. So it's a matter of re-education."

"Our summer advertising program has been approved and already is rolling," he says. "The budget this year runs something like $118,000 for national and local advertising in every media except the bongo drums. With continuing publicity and regular picture releases the summer program is pretty well in order.

★ ★ ★

"We are all set to start beating the vacation bushes for fall and winter. And all we need is the cash."

SKI MAP PRINTED

The 1956 autumn promotion budget was $15,000, and $1,000 was spent on the winter season, including a ski map and winter sport folder.

"We think a saturation advertising campaign this fall will give the off . . . er . . . slow season a real shot in the arm," says Furlong. "The council has submitted a budget of $555,000 to the legislature this year — $140,000 more than was granted for 1956-57. If this is approved we plan to put an additional $120,000 into advertising and promotion and take a long stride toward a year-round Michigan vacation season."

The council already has made some progress. Last fall Michigan cash registers rang longer and louder than any previous autumn, and winter sports have grown by leaps and bounds — literally.

In the fall the fishing is better, and tourist facilities are less crowded and the weather is wonderful, Furlong points out. The council already has a personalized post card service set up to notify travelers when the fall colors are at their peaks in various sections of the state.

There's no denying, Furlong says, that summer brings in the lion's share of Michigan's $600 million annual tourism revenue. "I'd have said $600-odd million but there's nothing odd about that kind of money.

And we are pleased with the results of our efforts to stimulate summer travel. It goes without saying that we can't relax on the summer front . . . competition is getting mighty stiff for the warm weather tourist trade, and Michigan's facilities are expanding five to 10 per cent each year. We have a tight grip on the nation's No. 4 spot as a vacation state and we plan to keep it.

"But in addition to the obvious advantages of a longer vacation season it would create what those in the trade refer to as a friendly investment atmosphere," says Furlong.

★ ★ ★

"A man is less reluctant to invest the kind of money needed to build an attractive motel or resort if he can be guaranteed a year-round income from it. And the banks are quicker — much quicker — to smile on a business based on something more than a three or four month season.

Knowland Asks Congress to Wait

Tax Cuts Ruled Out

WASHINGTON (UP) — Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) said today he doubts there will be any tax reduction legislation at this session, even if sharp cuts are made in President Eisenhower's budget.

"It would be more prudent and sound from a fiscal basis to wait until early next year before considering tax reduction," the Republican Senate leader said in an interview.

Some Democrats in Congress, among them Speaker of the House Rayburn (D-Tex), have been talking about a tax reduction bill this year to take effect next Jan. 1. House Republican Leader Martin (R-Mass) also has been forecasting a tax cut next year.

★ ★ ★

Knowland said no one is asking that a tax reduction take effect earlier than next January, and added:

"No responsible member of Congress is suggesting that we should reduce taxes in time of deficit that would just up the national debt."

"Personally, I would apply from two to three billion dollars a year on reduction of the national debt before any tax reduction is considered," he said.

★ ★ ★

By waiting until next January or later, Knowland said, Congress will have five or six more months to test estimates on government income and spending.

Can't Keep Visitors Out of Jail Cells

BONANZA, Ore. (INS) — Bonanza has a problem with its city jail that somewhat different from the usual run of such problems — it consists of keeping persons out of jail.

The problem centers around friends of prisoners, according to Police Judge Irene Hartley.

The friends are so eager to furnish food and drink to their buddies inside that the old wooden doors on the jail have almost been kicked off their hinges several times, the judge said.

And just the other day a fellow was caught holding a bottle of wine tipped up in front of a jail window so his friend inside could have a drink.

The city council, after hearing the situation described, approved an order for an oversize steel door and fine gauge, heavy duty screen for the three jail windows.

Official Asks 'Shock' Treatment for Drivers

HARRISBURG, Pa. (INS) — An official of the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission said today that highway safety experts will attain a major objective when motorists can be "shocked" into driving carefully.

Harold S. Roberts, safety director for the forerunner of all modern turnpikes, is convinced highway safety programs fail to produce desirable results because of driver apathy.

★ ★ ★

"Fabulous sums are being spent annually in the interest of highway safety, searching deeper for the cause and prevention of accidents, but the findings of these studies have little meaning unless drivers heed and obey them," explained Roberts.

MORE THAN SLOGANS

He maintained that more than catchy slogans are needed to reduce the nation's highway toll.

The veteran of nearly 30 years in highway safety work said the slogan "please drive carefully" has little real meaning since many people don't know how to drive carefully. All drivers think they drive safely, he added.

"We've got to shock the nation's drivers into realizing that careful motoring is the individual responsibility of every one of the millions of licensed operators, but the elusive question is how to do it," Roberts insisted.

★ ★ ★

He believes the safety experts will begin to make real progress if and when they can convince drivers that accidents can happen to anyone.

INCIDENT RECALLED

Roberts recalls an incident which drives home his point that most drivers feel accidents happen only to the other fellow.

He once visited a small central Pennsylvania community to deliver a talk on highway safety. The audience listened courteously. Roberts does not believe his talk had much effect because three persons in the group were killed when their automobile plunged down an embankment.

"The trouble with preaching safety is that we're banging our heads against a stone wall," said Roberts. "People don't want to learn. They don't want advice."

★ ★ ★

Roberts predicted motorists will cause the death of more than 40,000 persons this year, injuries to a million others with a loss exceeding two billion dollars.

COMPANIES SHARE BLAME

But automobile manufacturers must share some of the blame, according to Roberts, because of the speed potential engineered into today's sleek cars.

"They don't have to house 300 horsepower under the hoods—not unless they soon plan to put wings on automobiles," he said.

P-T-C Vice Chairman Merritt A. Williamson reports accident records maintained since the toll road was opened in 1940 show 85 per cent of all accidents are the result of human error. Mechanical failure and all other causes account for about 15 per cent.

There are numerous basic rules of safe driving but Roberts regards the following as the most important:

1. Drive as though you had no rights and as if the other driver was totally incompetent—be actually may be.

2. Don't base your driving judgment on maximum speed limits under ideal conditions. Base your driving judgment on traffic volume, visibility, road and weather conditions and above all your own physical condition at the moment.

3. Do not operate a vehicle if there is a shadow of a doubt of its mechanical fitness. If necessary, go into debt to have any faults corrected or worn tires replaced.

This season's bathing suits will come with a box of cough drops. No gal would dare cough while wearing one of them . . . Food used to melt in your mouth. Now you take it out of the freezer and it melts in the oven.—Earl Wilson.

Highway Litterbugs Keep Crews Busy

Spring Cleanup, a Major Operation

LANSING (AP) — The greening grass isn't the only crop that appears with spring along the edges of the state's highways.

There's also the litter of papers, cans, bottles and other junk thrown out of car windows by careless motorists.

Keeping the sides of the state trunklines cleaned up of unattractive litter is a year-around job for highway department maintenance crews.

It's a $310,000 item in the budget along with the $502,000 spent annually for maintenance of the roadside picnic sites.

But in spring the cleanup drive is stepped-up. Melting snows uncover litter that has gone unnoticed through the winter. Heavier travel means more rubbish to be cleaned up by the highway department maintenance crews.

★ ★ ★

"They find every sort of things," reported Edward D. Suino, department maintenance engineer. "One crew found a briefcase with valuable papers that had been left on the side of the road. Occasionally they find loot from a robbery."

CASH FOR BOTTLES

All valuables are turned in. But the cashable empty bottles found along the roadside — those redeemable for two or five cents — mostly help swell the flower funds of the crews operating in various counties throughout the state.

Another spring chore is the cleanup of the roadside picnic sites and their rustic seats and tables.

★ ★ ★

"We have some trouble about people using our picnic sites as dumping grounds, particularly in resort areas," Suino said.

He said this abuse was particularly bad for a while along U.S. 25 from Port Huron to Port Sanilac.

"They would start out by filling the rubbish containers," he said. "Then they would pile the stuff neatly around them. Then it went on from there until we had old sofas and all the junk cleaned out of summer cottages left for us to haul away."

Such littering is a misdemeanor and a few crackdowns by state police helped stop the nuisance.

The State Conservation Department's Division of Parks and Recreation has a similar cleanup job each spring to ready the state parks and recreation areas for their millions of summer visitors.

"We don't get too much winter litter because there is very little driving in the parks in the winter," said Harold MacSwain, chief of the engineering section.

REPAIR WINTER DAMAGE

Mostly it's a housekeeping job, painting and repairing buildings, benches and tables, removing snow fences and repairing any damage that might be done by winter storms.

In the summer, as many as 15 men will be busy in the larger state parks picking up after litterbug visitors.

Many communities pitch in to help with the spring cleanup. At Holland, local residents spic and span their state park in advance of the tulip festival. At Grand Haven the Boy Scouts do the cleanup job.

At the parks fronting on the Great Lakes, sprucing up the beaches is a major operation.

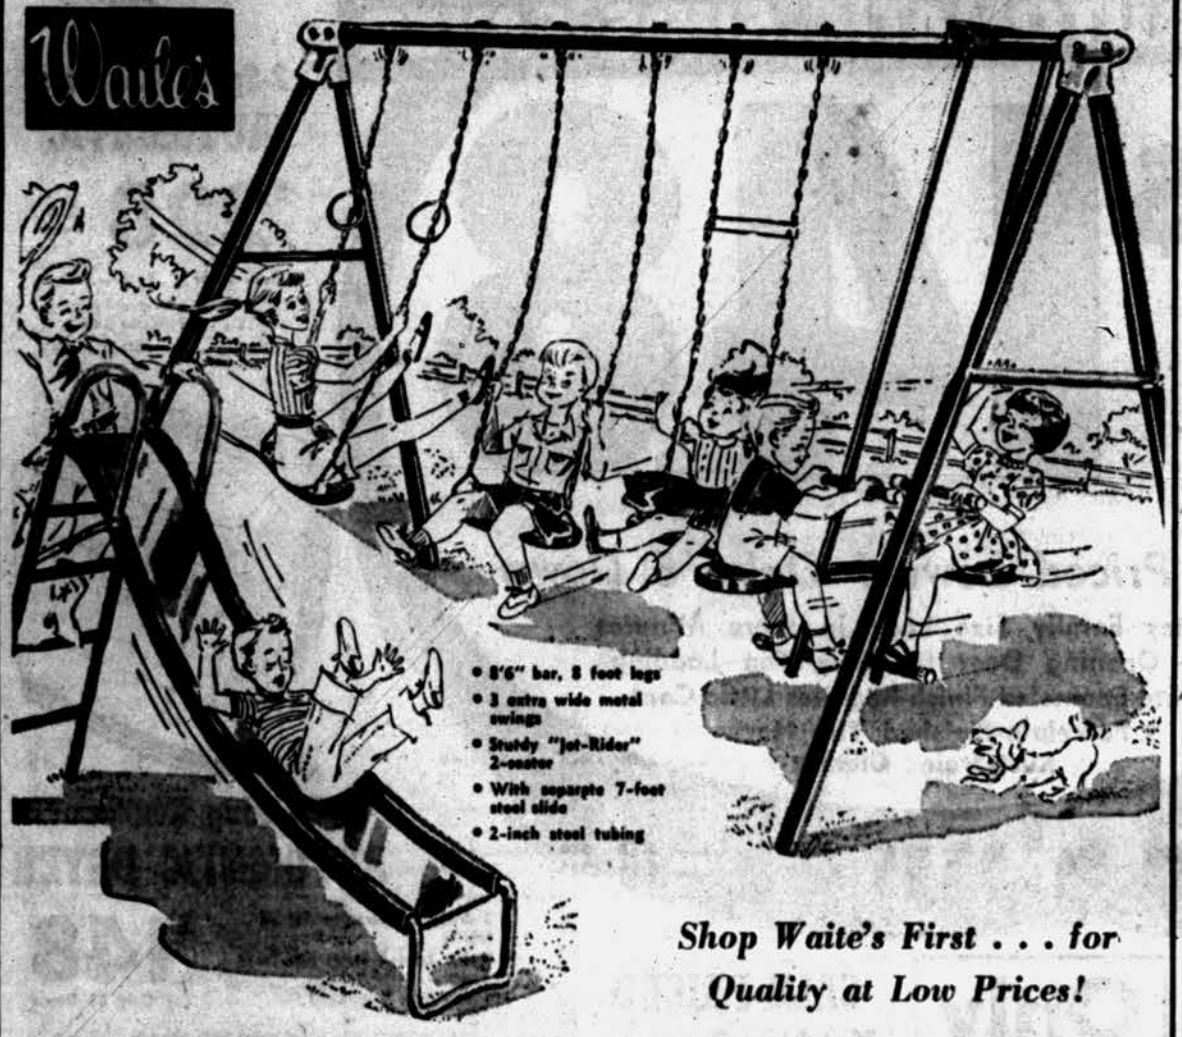

"We have more beach area to clean up this year because the water level is down," MacSwain said. "But at least this means we won't have high water damage to repair."

Beaming Picture Hides Bear's Ill Nature

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (AP)—The truth about Smokey the bear can now be told.

He was the meanest darned bear ever to come out of New Mexico, bar none.

Smokey, now a full-grown 6-year-old black bear, lives in the Washington Zoo at the nation's capital. He has been seen by millions of zoo visitors and has had his picture plastered over most of the nation since the day he was found with all four feet scorched wandering in the fire-blackened Lincoln National Forest.

★ ★ ★

At the risk of spoiling the illusions of the nation's kiddies, who have seen Smokey pictured as a fat, benevolent bear wearing a ranger's hat, let it be said here that he was anything but kindly when he was young.

★ ★ ★

Ray Bell, chief of law enforcement for the New Mexico Game Department, was appointed foster father to the little monster from the moment he was found in the fire.

Bell flew him to Santa Fe in the department's plane the same day he was found in 1951. The little animal, weighing about eight pounds, wore a perpetual snarl. It's no wonder. Having all four feet burned at the tender age had soured him on everything that moved.

★ ★ ★

A Santa Fe veterinarian, who got the unhappy task of treating the bear's feet and bandaging them, said he had never had such a day in his life.

★ ★ ★

Smokey was assigned to a cardboard box in the office of the Game Department the day he was released from the vet. That lasted about one day. Department personnel and visitors alike, who came to see the "poor little bear" and who reached into the box, got a rude shock. Smokey bit everything that moved.

Bell, in the absence of any other "volunteers," was picked as the logical man to take Smokey home and care for him.

★ ★ ★

Smokey not only bit Mrs. Bell, Ray's daughter, Judy, Ray himself, and everyone else who came into the house, but he kept up a running battle with the Bell's cocker spaniel.

When the Forest Service decided it wanted the cub for its firefighting symbol, the little bear was flown to Washington.

State Conservation Director Homer Pickens elected to go along on the flight. He said later Smokey liked planes even less than he did people.

★ ★ ★

Only one hint has come out of Washington about Smokey's disposition. Recently there was some talk about the bear being sent to Canada for use in that country's fire-prevention program. The plan never materialized.

There was some mention about Smokey being "the most unsociable bear alive."

Alerts Area Merchants to Bogus Check Passer

Acting Lt. John A. DePauw, Pontiac Police detective bureau, warned merchants to be on the lookout for a bogus check passer who usually purchases paint.

DePauw said a man using the name of Howard S. Snover or Paul H. Snover has passed three $ bad checks, using the Farmer-Snover Funeral Home account, 160 W. Huron St. drawn on the Pontiac State Bank.

The subject is described as about 30 years old; 5 feet, 11 inches; 200 pounds, heavy build, dark hair and complexion, and neatly dressed.

Lifting Car on Sidewalk Irritates Its Owner

DES MOINES (AP)—D. C. Hohnbaum, Des Moines attorney, told the court he was "getting tired" of paying illegal parking tickets.

"I've got a little German Volkswagen," Hohnbaum said. "I always park it legally, but other motorists pick it up and put it on the sidewalk."

The judge dismissed the ticket. He suggested that "maybe the solution is to chain your car to the parking meter."

Southern Growers Weigh Uses of Cotton Stalks

RULEVILLE, Miss. (AP) — Mississippi cotton growers who always have plowed under cotton stalks to help the soil have been told the tough plants may be the raw material for a new pulp industry.

Dr. W. J. Nolan of the University Florida, one of the Nation's Authorities on wood pulp production, has told planters "From what we already have done there appears a certainty that a readily saleable product can be produced."

The pulp could be used for cartons, liners, corrugated wrapping materials and related items.

Half the passenger coaches on Argentine railroads have been in use over 40 years.

State's Land Not Private

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Only 16 per cent of the 72 million acres of Arizona is privately owned. The federal government owns about 71 per cent, which is used for Indian reservations, national forests and national parks. The state owns the other 13 per cent, according to the Arizona Department of Mineral Resources.

6 Papers Cited for Safe Driving

ANPA Makes Awards to Michigan Dailies in Several Classes

NEW YORK (AP) — Six Michigan newspapers were cited by the American Newspaper Publishers Assn., yesterday for their 1956 safe driving campaigns.

The competition involved newspaper vehicles.

In the private motor carrier division, the Saginaw News was first among newspapers with circulation of 20,001 to 50,000 and the Port Huron Times Herald was second.

The Monroe News was second in the contract motor carrier division among newspapers with circulation up to 25,000.

Certificate of Merit award winners included the Iron Mountain News, the Battle Creek Enquirer & News, and the Jackson Citizen Patriot.

J. Evans Campbell of the Owosso Argus-Press recieved a bronze distinguished service plaque from the bureau of advertising for serving on its board of directors at least six years.

3 Demand Examination on Suit Theft Charge

Three Detroit men demanded examination yesterday before Farmington Justice Allen C. Ingle charged with stealing a boy's $20 suit from J. L. Hudson Company, at Northland Center.

O. D. Calloway, and Gameaiel Riley, both 27, and Inell Smith, 28, were committed to the Oakland County Jail until examination May 1 charged with larceny from a building. Calloway and Riley failed to furnish $1,000 bonds, and Smith could not furnish the required $500 bond.

They were arrested at the shopping center yesterday by state troopers of the Redford Post.

Bogus Check Suspect Freed on $300 Bond

Goebel Tracy Black, 30, of 29688 Elred Rd., Farmington, was freed Wednesday on a $300 bond until Circuit Court arraignment Monday charged with passing a $123.29 bogus check in a local plumbing store.

Black was bound over to the higher court when he appeared before Municipal Judge Cecil B. McCallum. Arrested April 11, he is accused of cashing the check at Hodges Motor and Pump Supply, 500 Auburn Ave.

THE BERRYS

By Carl Grubert

"When they talk about selecting the best-supporting act of the year . . ." says Joseph Jorian of East Palestine, O. — "How about giving the award to the average husband?" — Earl Wilson.

Suspect to Testify on Alleged Threats

DETROIT (INS) — Philip Singer says he is ready to testify about the alleged police threats and brainwashing that led him to confess the killing of JoAnn Gillespie.

The offer by Attorney G. Leslie Field to put the 38-year-old ex-Marine on the stand today was reportedly an attempt to block admission of Singer's confession into evidence.

★ ★ ★

The prosecution's case rests on the confession Singer made last January to police and repeated several times in the next few days to newsmen and on television.

Whether Singer goes on the stand today rests with Recorder's Judge Gerald W. Groat because his testimony at this time would be made with the jury excluded from the courtroom.

Singer is on trial for the brutal murder of the 19-year-old Highland Park Junior College coed in 1953.

Man Freed on Bond, Charged With Forgery

A 32-year-old Pontiac man who allegedly tried to fool a Municipal Court receivership check clerk last week waived examination and was freed on a $100 bond accused of forgery until arraignment in Circuit Court Monday.

Robert Louis Mathis, of 141 Earlmore St., was arrested Monday by Pontiac police for investigation after Leo J. McCall, chief clerk of the Community National Bank, filed a complaint stating Mathis had forged and cashed a $65 receivership check at the bank belonging to Willie Lee Graham after he picked it up at Municipal Court.

Roberta Clark, Municipal Court receivership clerk, signed a warrant against Mathis. She claimed Mathis, who also had been receiving checks from the court, resembles Graham. She gave him Graham's check when he asked for it.

Cloudbursts Tapering Off

Flood Waters Hit Texas

DALLAS (AP)—Surging rivers and creeks, driven out of their banks by six days of torrential rains, flooded parts of Texas today but the cloudbursts that drenched portions of the state yesterday began tapering off.

Tornadoes, thunderstorms and winds of hurricane force battered the state yesterday. The cloudbursts drove already swollen rivers and streams out of their banks in central Texas, flooding parts of several towns and highways. At least five persons were reported drowned.

Disaster forces were being mobilized to handle serious floods.

Several hundred persons living in South San Marcos, 29 miles south of Austin, evacuated homes last night and early today as the Blanco River rose threateningly. The water was only two feet below U.S. Highway 281 across the river.

Gov. Price Daniel authorized National Guard troops for emergency duty if they are needed to aid flood-stricken Belton and Killeen, south and west of Waco. Hundreds of persons were evacuated in those areas late last night. Killeen had more than 6.5 inches of rain.

The Weather Bureau lifted a tornado and severe weather alert, but scattered thundershowers were expected again today in east Texas.

Dollar Has No Takers

MACKINAW CITY (AP) — The Mackinaw City Chamber of Commerce found no takers for its offer of a silver dollar to anyone failing to fill a 12-quart pail with smelt on opening day of the run Tuesday. Dippers were loading wash tubs full of the little fish on the Carp River and Mill Creek.

Ava Gardner Expected to Divorce Sinatra

PHILADELPHIA (INS)—Actress Ava Gardner's long separation from crooner Frank Sinatra appeared headed today for permanency — probably via a Mexican divorce court.

The Orphans' Court in Philadelphia received two requests yesterday for certified copies of the couple's marriage certificate.

The sultry brunette and Sinatra have been separated and reconciled several times since their wedding in Philadelphia in 1951. The present separation began in 1954.

ANPA Dinner to Feature Talks by McClellan, Luce

NEW YORK (INS) — The 71st annual convention of the American Newspaper Publishers Association will come to a close today after further discussion of journalistic problems and an election of officers.

Tonight, press week's activities will be topped off by the 44th annual dinner of the bureau of advertising, ANPA, at which the principal speakers will be Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark), chairman of the Senate committee currently investigating activities in the labor-management field, and Clare Boothe Luce, former U.S. Ambassador to Italy.

★ ★ ★

The convention, which has been attended by more than 1,200 delegates, has gone on record as:

1. Favoring freedom of travel for U.S. newspapermen to Red China or any other country with which this nation is not at war.
2. Recommending a proposal to adopt a narrow standard newspaper column width of 11 picas with 3-point column rules.
3. Advocating ways and means of attracting young people to journalism.

ANPA President William Dwight, publisher of the Holyoke (Mass.) Transcript-Telegram, rejected Secretary of State John Foster Dulles' proposal that "a limited number" of U.S. reporters be sent to Communist China. Dwight told the convention that, in the thinking of American newspapermen, there is no such thing as limiting "the people's right to know."

Alcoholics Group Shifts Meeting Site

The combined groups of Oakland County Alcoholics Anonymous have shifted their meeting place after many years of meeting at the Pontiac YMCA, a spokesman said today.

★ ★ ★

Beginning with the next meeting, 9 p.m. Saturday, the groups will meet at the First Congregational Church on Mill street, across from the Post Office.

"We decided to make the move because many of our older members were having trouble in climbing the YMCA stairs," the spokesman said. Also parking conditions will be better.

★ ★ ★

He thanked the church board for granting use of the basement rooms.

All Is Not What Might Appear to Be in Court

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) — Richard Corbett, 29, Lafayette, pleaded guilty to writing a fraudulent $28 check and stood to hear Circuit Judge Paul D. Ewan pronounce sentence.

"Not less than one year nor more than 10 years in the State Reformatory —"

Corbett fainted.

After he was revived, Corbett learned the judge finished with: "— sentence suspended."

GIANT SALT SHAKER — This huge machine in the International Salt Co.'s mine at Retsof, N. Y., empties cars automatically by tipping them over.

World's Largest Salt Mine in U. S.

Machines Replace Slaves in New York Operations

RETSOF, N. Y. (AP) — The Russians, who usually claim the biggest and best of everything have never put the largest salt mine on their list, and for two good reasons.

First, they would be happy to have the world forget about the slave labor salt mines of Siberia. And second, the biggest is not in Russia.

The largest producing salt mine in the world is located on the other side of the earth from Siberia and about as far from slave labor camps as you can get.

It's 1,100 feet under the rolling farmland of western New York, and there's not a shovel or a pick ax or a sweaty back in sight. The balmy air, salty as an ocean breeze, never varies from 63 degrees. The miners claim it is equally effective in curing a head cold or a hangover.

Electric machines do all the work, from drilling holes for dynamite to packing the crushed and graded salt in bags. A 25-mile-long railroad system hauls the salt back to the mine shaft.

The mine, owned by the International Salt Co., produces over a million tons of rock salt a year — more than any other mine in the world. That's enough salt to fill a freight train stretching from New York to Boston.

It is used to make chemicals, preserve food and treat hides. In winter many northeastern cities sprinkle it liberally on their streets to melt ice and snow.

The nine-foot-thick vein of salt was discovered in 1880 by prospectors drilling for oil.

Several brine wells were drilled in the area, and William Foster Jr. sank the first shaft at Retsof in 1895. International Salt acquired the workings nine years later. Today, the mine covers about four square miles and employs 280 men.

Although the name, Retsof, has a Russian flavor, there's no connection with the salt mines of Siberia. Like a television commercial, Retsof is Foster spelled backward.

Soviets Accuse U.S. of 'Hostility' Here

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union has charged that a "hostile campaign" is being conducted against Soviet officials in the United States and that it is "supported and even encouraged by certain American official circles."

★ ★ ★

The Foreign Ministry called in Richard Davis, U. S. charge d'affaires, yesterday and handed him a note containing the charges. It said the Soviets expect the U.S. government to create "normal conditions" for Russian officials to discharge their official unctions.

★ ★ ★

The note claimed the Soviet ambassador, the Soviet Embassy and its staff and the Soviet U. N. delegation all were targets of an "impermissible campaign" in the United States. It said there re-

Pretends He's a Visitor to Find Out Condition

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — An elderly man approached the receptionist at St. Joseph Hospital and asked if E. C. Jones could have visitors.

"No," replied the receptionist.

"Well, how is Mr. Jones getting along," the man asked.

★ ★ ★

"His condition is much improved."

"I'm glad to hear it," the man said. "I've been here 10 days and couldn't get that much information out of any of the doctors or nurses. I'm E. C. Jones."

Woman Escapes Injury as AF Target Hits Roof

MARY ESTHER, Fla. (AP)—A young housewife escaped serious injury when an Air Force tow target crashed through the ceiling of her apartment yesterday.

The 20-foot target, weighing between 250 and 300 pounds, had ripped loose from a plane at about 15,000 feet.

Mrs. R. E. Smith, in the bedroom, received only scratches and slight cuts.

Army Says Its A-Plant Can Save U. S. Millions

FORT BELVOIR, Va. (INS) — The U. S. Army went beyond anything achieved so far in the civilian field yesterday in demonstrating that electricity can be economically generated from the atom in many areas of the world.

Newsmen were told that the three and a half million dollar "Army package power reactor," which began operations two weeks ago at the military engineering center, can save millions of dollars annually as a source of steam heat or electrical current at remote bases.

The Army's greatest interest in the APPR centers around this fact: In consuming only 18 pounds of nuclear fuel at a rate of pound per month the plant can produce as much steam heat or electricity as could be obtained from 12,000 tons of coal or about seven million gallons of oil.

The Army said: "The APPR is designed to operate at full power for a year and a half on a single charge of nuclear fuel, which is smaller than a barrel. . .

SAVINGS BALANCE

"Over the same period a conventional plant would consume some 50,000 barrels of fuel oil . . . transportation savings are expected to counterbalance the greater capital cost of a nuclear plant, so that at many remote bases the nuclear plant will pay for itself in a few years."

Correspondents who were permitted to examine the APPR yesterday were told that, measured in heat units, the nuclear fuel is only a tenth as expensive as high grade gasoline, a third as costly as the cheapest fuel oil, and about the same as coal where no unusual transportation is involved.

Although advertised as "air transportable," the APPR could be shipped by air only if it were completely dismantled. Then it would fill 50 or 60 of the largest transport planes.

The Army said, however, that construction of a much smaller "package" plant will begin in about two months at the government's reactor test center at Arco, Idaho.

Eventually, using the gas-cooled reactor technique that has been developed exclusively by the British so far, the Army hopes to build an entire power plant that would be only 10 by 10 by 20 feet. This could be mounted on a truck trailer or flown in one piece in a single transport plane.

Corporation Tax Viewed as School Money Source

LANSING (AP) — Several Republicans say privately that the House is drifting toward a corporation profits tax to meet the school money problem despite the vehement opposition of their leader, Speaker George M. Van Peursem.

Among those who expressed this view to newsmen, along with their willingness to vote for the corporation tax provided it is tied in directly with education support, were chairmen of three major committees.

Other included one of the oldest members of the house from point of service, a Republican leader on school problems and Rep. George W. Sallade (R-Ann Arbor), the only one who would be quoted by name.

All were going o nthe assumption that a beer and whisky tax plan for financing additional school aid would be unable to muster the 56 votes reuired for passage.

SURPRISE POSSIBLE

However, none precluded the possibility that some surprise might be sprung in the hectic closing days of the legislative session that could change the outlook.

Giving strong expression to the "hold the line" viewpoint, Van Peursem said yesterday that "there is evidence that a taxpayers' revolt, on the part of business, may be setting in."

Van Peursem named three larg corporations which he said were only a few that have chosen in recent years to go outside the state in locating new plants.

MORE ALARMED

"Union leaders of UAW Local 600 are becoming more and more alarmed at the estimated loss of 1,000 jobs per month out of the said.

★ ★ ★

Van Peursem said the majority of the legislature "is determined to give heed to the position of the taxpayer," and said many legislators were against "constantly beating business over the head."

★ ★ ★

Gov. Williams for years has advocated a tax on corporation profits, and twice got his bills through the house only to have them die in the Senate.

The 49 Democrats in the House can be expected to follow his lead, with the possibility of a few defections, making it necessary only to pick up 10 or fewer Republican votes to put it through again.

Confirms Story of Daring Flight

Tokyo Executive Backs Tale of U.S. Pilot's Trip Deep Into Red China

TOKYO (AP) — A Tokyo business executive today backed up the story of an American pilot's daring flight into Communist China and said "there is no doubt about it."

Dwight L. Moore, director of Air Tour Associates, said he heard "exactly the same story" 10 days ago in Bangkok from the British copilot of the plane, whose identity has been kept secret.

★ ★ ★

Officials in Hong Kong and Macao have dubbed "fantastic" the story told by Henry Bush, a vacationing pilot for the Venezuelan Airline who said he flew 350 miles into the Red mainland April 5 to fly the son of a wealthy Chinese businessman to freedom.

"There's no way two men so many miles apart could have the same story right down to the last detail," said Moore. Moore has been in the Far East for the past 11 years and in 1948-49 served as a Marshall Plan official in China.

Moore said he had known the mystery copilot "for some time." The flier—an unemployed former airline representative in the Thai capital—drew Moore a flight plan which jibed with the route for the flight outlined by Bush, Moore said.

★ ★ ★

Moore, who met Bush only Thursday, said the copilot had been out of work for the past few months but was wearing "very expensive jewelry—the same kind Bush is wearing."

★ ★ ★

Bush said earlier he was given a watch, a ring and other gifts for the flight. He said he refused to accept money.

The watch worn by the copilot in Bangkok was engraved with the same Chinese characters appearing on the back of Bush's watch, Moore said.

Teller's Query Stymies Ann Arbor Bank Holdup

ANN ARBOR (AP) — An innocent question by a teller apparently stymied a holdup at a branch of Ann Arbor State Savings Bank here late yesterday.

Bank teller Joyce Wrner said a man about 28 or 30 years old drove to the drive-in window at the branch bank and said through the window loudspeaker: "Give me your 10s and 20s."

She asked him if he had a check. He drove away, mumbling something indistinguishable.

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A mother robin has built her nest atop a heating pipe inside the lion arena at the St. Louis Zoo.

She sits quietly on her three eggs while trainer Dick McGraw puts the big cats through their paces just 15 feet below, apparently oblivious to their roars and snarls.

Moscow Cuts Prices on Consumer Goods

MOSCOW (AP) —The Soviet government today ordered price cuts ranging from 10 to 32 per cent on a few widely assorted consumer items.

It was the first price reduction in the Soviet Union since last spring. Seven categories of products were affected.

Prices on alarm clocks were cut 20 to 32 per cent. Record players were reduced 30 per cent, vacuum cleaners 20 per cent, lady's gold wrist watches, perfume and some brands of cereals 15 per cent, and some canned goods 10 per cent.

Policewomen Catch, Lose Teen-Agers

DETROIT (AP) — A pair of teenaged girls who ran away from the Wayne County Training School Sunday were caught and then lost again in short order yesterday.

Policewomen Ardee Barbas and Nellie Baldwin found the girls, 15 and 16, yesterday morning and notified police headquarters to cancel the teletype order on them.

On the way to headquarters, Mrs. Baldwin got out of the car to check the girls' story of where the had been since Sunday. They slapped Miss Barbas down with a purse and escaped again.

An hour and 22 minutes after the pickup order was cancelled it was issued again.

Burden of Family Health Falls on Women

Keep Nagging Your Husband, Ladies; That Cancer Signal May Be Real!

(This is the fourth of six articles written for INS providing the facts on cancer detection and treatment for a sane, sensible and life-saving approach to the problems of that disease.)

By DAVID A. WOOD M.D.
President of the American Cancer Society

Men are not as health-conscious as women. This may explain why women have a longer life span than men.

It certainly has great bearing on the fact that more men now die of cancer than women.

To begin with most men are "allergic" to seeing a doctor without the spur of a definite and discomforting ailment. And too often they are so absorbed in economic survival, they fail to heed the danger signals of cancer, that great enemy to survival. Of course it does not help that the first warning signs of cancer seem so trivial, indistinguishable from a host of minor complaints that we can safely ignore or regard lightly.

The burden of family health falls naturally upon the shoulders of women, for saving life is not unrelated to giving life. So it is up to women to safeguard their husbands' lives against the hazard of cancer.

VIRTUE TO NAG

This is one time when it is a virtue for a woman to nag her husband. They can make that nagging quietly palatable and effective by producing a few hard facts.

Here they are:

Out of every hundred cancer deaths 52 are men and 48 women. This lack of balance has been true since 1949. There has been a steady decline in the cancer death rate for women, and parallel with it, a steady rise in the cancer deaths of men.

In other words cancer can no longer be dismissed as "a women's disease."

This erroneous label dates back to a time when the incidence of uterine and breast cancer was also the measure of fatality. Today 55 per cent of all uterine cancers and 46 per cent of all breast cancers are being cured.

ONE REASON

But I don't want to mislead you. The fact that fewer women are dying of cancer is only one reason why the death rate is higher among men.

More men are dying of cancer because more men are getting the disease: notably cancer of the lung. This is a disease chiefly of males; ten men are affected for every woman. Last year some 34,500 men died of lung cancer — about six times as many as 20 years ago.

A number of scientific studies indicate a link between lung cancer and cigarettes. The exact causal relationship has not yet been determined but findings indicate that a man who has smoked two packs a day for many years has about a 1-in-10 chance of developing lung cancer. The odds are 1 in 36 for less than a pack a day, and 1 in 270 for non-smokers. Pipe and cigar smoking seem to have little relationship with lung cancer.

COMMON FORM

As guardian of your husband's health, you should know something about this very common form of cancer in men.

The usual first symptom is a cough. And how many people have coughs more or less constantly? Yet the fact remains that any cough that persists undiminished for more than two or three weeks deserves respect and exploration. Even if it can be proved to be due to other causes, a chronic cough is a state of irritation which may well be a predisposing factor to cancer; it should therefore be eleminated.

A faint wheezing is another fairly early sign of lung cancer. Somewhat later, chest pain usually appears, and sometimes infection develops, accompanied by fever and night sweats.

Other types of cancer in men include: cancer of the stomach, bowels and rectum; larynx; skin, lip and mouth; and prostate gland.

7 SIGNALS

Memorize the seven danger signals of cancer. They are by no means sure signs of cancer; so women should not get into a panic if their husbands develop a symptom. Just nag him into an emmedtate visit to the doctor.

But the finest piece of nagging women can do is to induce their husbands to have a regular checkup. If a date is fixed in his birthday week, it will help to remember it from year to year.

* * *

Here are some persuasive and pleasant facts women can use:

One-half of all cancers can be cured if the cancer is discovered in time—if men make a habit of regular checkups.

* * *

About 150,000 Americans are being saved from cancer every year; and that is 30,000 more yearly than were saved ten years ago. Or to put it more dramatically: In 1956 one in every three cancer patients was saved; in 1946 the ratio was only one in four.

So nag your husband — it may save his life!

Zoo Stops Pony Rides; Shetlands Can't Take It

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Pony rides are being discontinued at the Toledo Zoo. Crowds run 8,000 to 10,000 a day and the five Shetlands just can't accommodate all the children who want to ride them.

And, too, says Zoo Director Phil Skeldon, the ponies get such a workout that their appetites would do credit to draft horses.

Dogs Crave Learning

BLOOMFIELD, Ind. (AP) — Richard M. Richeson, superintendent of schools, says the schools aren't going to the dogs, but too many dogs are going to the schools. He appealed to students to make their dogs stay home.

Denies Backing Limited Probe

Flurry Refutes Charge, Says He Favored Wide Oil Investigation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Horace L. Flurry has denounced as "false" a charge that he favored a "more limited" grand jury investigation of oil price boosts.

Flurry has quit his post as a lawyer with the Justice Department's antitrust division, alleging that his superiors impeded the grand jury probe which he was conducting.

★ ★ ★

Yesterday, Asst. Atty. Gen. Victor R. Hansen, head of the antitrust division, accepted Flurry's resignation. Hansen said Flurry was removed from the case some time ago because he refused to cooperate with two superiors, W. Wallace Kirkpatrick, No. 3 man in the division, and Worth Rowley, chief of its trial section.

Flurry, who had been a trust-busting government lawyer for 16 years, said this charge of noncooperation was "untrue."

He also challenged Hansen's statement that Flurry's superiors "believed that a very thorough, complete investigation should be made of the oil companies involved, whereas you believed a more limited investigation was desirable."

★ ★ ★

Flurry said he has "always stood up for an all-out investigation on a national basis.

★ ★ ★

"We have some timid souls in the antitrust division who are afraid of big investigations and big lawsuits," Flurry said.

He did not specify who he meant by "timid souls," beyond saying the term applied to most of those in authority in the antitrust division.

Flurry said they may have "substantially jeopardized" the grand jury investigation of price increases ordered by major oil shortage in Western Europe. The inquiry is aimed at finding out whether there was any illegal conspiracy to fix prices.

The grand jury was convened in early March, and still is at work at Alexandria, Va., across the Potomac River from the capital.

In a letter to Flurry, Hansen said the department had no choice but to accept Flurry's resignation after he said Flurry had carried his "complaint to the press." The first report of Flurry's resignation, and the controversy involved, was published in the Washington Post and Times Herald.

Identifies Voice in Tapping Trial

Maloney, Also Indicted, Testifies for Prosecution at Portland Hearing

PORTLAND (AP) — Thomas E. Maloney, under indictment here on a number of state charges, was a prosecution witness yesterday in the federal trial of Portland gambler Big Jim Elkins.

Elkins and his employe Raymond Clark have been accused of illegally tapping, recording and revealing telephone conversations of Maloney, a Seattle and Spokane race track figure; Portland Dist. Atty. William Langley; Thomas O. Sheridan, former assistant administrator of the Oregon Liquor Control Commission; and Joseph McLaughlin, Seattle cardroom operator.

★ ★ ★

Maloney identified his voice on 17 excerpts of magnetic tape recordings which the government played in the courtroom and entered as evidence.

He identified the other speakers as Langley, Sheridan and possible McLaughlin. Another voice on one of the recordings—which he said was a long-distance call from Spokane—was that of his young son Rickey, Maloney said.

Maloney appeared to be under considerable emotional stress a this recording was played. He covered his face with his hands and at one point wiped away a tear. There was no explanation of why he was so moved by the playing of this excerpt.

★ ★ ★

Maloney is under indictment on a number of state charges, including gambling, bootlegging and conspiracy with Langley to open up the town to gambling.

★ ★ ★

Langley, also indicted on a number of state charges, has been convicted on a state charge of deliberate failure to prosecute gambling. He faces removal from office and a possible fine for this conviction, but he has not yet been sentenced.

Yesterday Langley's attorneys asked for a new trial.

★ ★ ★

Nelson came down with appendicitis yesterday and wound up in the hospital. In stepped Judy Kazan, daughter of actor-director Elia Kazan, and also a Swarthmore student. She took over for Nelson for her first theatrical endeavor.

Southfield to Vote June 3 on Additional Millage

To Let Bond Bids Tonight, Ponder WXYZ Antenna

SOUTHFIELD TOWNSHIP — June 3 is the date set by the township board for a special election. Residents will be asked to approve additional millage of 90 cents per $1,000 assessed valuation, as equalized.

This will balance a 1956-57 record budget of $596,495, Supervisor Eugene Swem said yesterday.

A special meeting will be held this evening by the township board to accept bids on a $109,000 bond issue to cover costs of two water and two paving projects.

* * *

After lengthy discussion on the proposed erection of a WXYZ radio and television tower to be located at Northwestern and 10 Mile road, the proposal was tabled.

* * *

This is part of a 90-acre tract on which WXYZ Trundle Corp. is holding an option, 40 acres of which is planned for a new radio and television center.

Residents in the area are protesting the construction of the 1,000-foot antenna on the grounds that the two radio and television towers already located in the Southfield area are enough.

Attorney for the station, Richard C. Van Dusen, has asked the township board for the right to petition the zoning board for a public hearing. His request was granted but no date has been set.

* * *

Letters from the Bendix Corporation whose laboratories are at 10½ Mile road and Northwestern protesting construction of the antenna have been received by the township board and by station WXYZ.

Kenneth Horn of the Bendix Corporation said this morning that "the close proximity of the tower would severely handicap the firm's research.

Township Clerk Fannie Adams said the next step is up to station WXYZ. She said WXYZ would probably circulate petitions in Southfield for approval from citizens for the construction of the tower.

* * *

Signatures from eight per cent of Southfield's population would be required, she said.

Boy Prospectors Wreck Supply Warehouse

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—A couple of young "prospectors" decided to take a look yesterday in the Knudsen Builders' supply warehouse because as the 6-year-old told police he remarked to the 7-year-old: "There's gold in that place."

Two warehousemen were gone 10 minutes from the building, but during that time the "prospectors," utilizing a single crowbar "for mining," wrecked 11 doors, one sheet of plywood and three cartons of tile.

Interchangeable Parts for Human Body Predicted by Boston Expert Surgeons

BOSTON (INS) — Changing of organs of the human body, much like the parts of an automobile are replaced, is anticipated by experts at Peter Bent Brigham Hospital.

The prediction was made on the occasion of the 150th anniversary of the hospital, where three kidney transplant operations, involving identical twins, have been performed in recent years.

Dr. Warren R. Guild, acting director of the hospital's kidney research laboratory, told guests:

"The door has barely been opened here for the replacement of spare body parts."

Dr. James B. Dealy, Jr., acting chief of radiology at the hospital, presiding at the scientific program, agreed with Dr. Guild but declared:

"I doubt if we shall live to see it on a 'do-it-yourself' basis."

"Replacement has been discussed for centuries," said Dr. Joseph E. Murray, plastic surgeon, who added:

"It is only possible now for identical twins who are two parts of a whole. Eye bank and artery bank supply quite a different article than the living kidney.

"But we hope to broaden the field to carry on transplantation to unrelated donors. We now are doing studies of skin grafting on non-identical animals.

A beautiful dark-haired young matron from Michigan, whose identity was not made known, was presented by Dr. Dwight E. Harken, chest surgeon. He said three of her four heart valves had been repaired two weeks ago. Dr. Harken said she had been increasingly helpless as a result of heart injuries due to rheumatic fever 20 years ago.

Fred McMurray Shies Away From Broadway

NEW YORK (AP) — Fred MacMurray, who got his thespic start hoofing and miming in several Broadway shows, has no yen to return to the stage.

"Nothing doing," commented the screen star during a recent stop in Gotham.

"I just don't regard myself as that kind of an actor. I'll stick to films."

New Mexico Politician Starts Mending Fences

SANTA FE, N. M. (AP) — Former Gov. John F. Simms, defeated in the last general election by Republican Edwin L. Mechem, recently announced he would spend most of his time mending fences.

Not political ones, he said. The cedar post an his ranch near here need repair, he pointed out.

Depreciated Donkey

STERLING, Colo. (AP) — Automobiles and donkeys have at least one thing in common. Both depreciate in value from year to year. Allen Yost purchased a donkey at an annual auction sale here early in 1956 for $85. A year later the donkey was auctioned off to Ralph Runge for $50. The latter price even included $2.50 for a new halter.

Flower Pots Hold Ice Cream

Are there any parties due at your house? A celebration of baby's birthday or granny's anniversary, a shower or a special holiday? Here's a happy idea for refreshments: flower pots of home-made ice cream with flowers, real or artificial, springing from them.

Choose a creamy smooth ice cream made with sweetened condensed milk. While it is freezing itself in the refrigerator, chill glass or plastic custard cups or individual jelly moulds chosen to fit into small dime-store flower pots. When the ice cream is frozen, ready to serve, pack it into the little cups, sprinkle each thickly with chocolate, grated or the kind that comes to decorate cakes.

NOVEL DESSERT — A novel dessert, with real or artificial flowers thrust into ice cream filled, chocolate-sprinkled flower pots, served with macaroons, the crunchy magic kind made with sweetened condensed milk, is sure to please.

Return the ice creams in the small cups or moulds to the freezing compartment until needed. When serving time comes, have ready sprigs of flowers—two or three sweetheart roses or a spray of small artificial flowers—with foil or waxed paper wrapped around the stems. Thrust one spray into each little cup, place the cups in the pots, and serve.

Magic macaroons, made with sweetened condensed milk and coconut, are delicious with the ice cream.

Vanilla Ice Cream

⅔ cup (½ 15-oz. can) sweetened condensed milk
½ cup water
1½ teaspoons vanilla extract
1 cup heavy cream

Set refrigerator control at coldest point. Combine sweetened condensed milk, water and vanilla. Chill. Whip cream to custard-like consistency. Fold into chilled mixture. Pour into freezing tray. Cover tray with waxed paper. Freeze to a firm mush, about 1 hour.

Turn into chilled bowl. Break up with fork, then beat with rotary egg beater until fluffy but not melted. Quickly return to tray, cover tray with waxed paper. Return to freezing unit. Freeze until firm.

If using for the flower-pot dessert, pack the firm ice cream into the custard cups or moulds and return until needed to freezing compartment. The recipe makes about 1½ pints of ice cream, enough for six to eight flower-pot servings.

Magic Coconut Macaroons

⅔ cup (½ 15-oz. can) sweetened condensed milk
2 cups shredded coconut
1 teaspoon vanilla extract

Mix together sweetened condensed milk, coconut and vanilla. Drop by teaspoonfuls on well-greased baking sheet, about one inch apart. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) until a delicate brown, about 8 to 10 minutes. Remove from pan at once.

Cooky Mix Makes Top for Apple Crumb Pie

Guaranteed for speed is this nutmeg flavored crumb pie. Mix a box of prepared cooky mix into crumbs with 3 tablespoons melted butter or margarine and ½ teaspoon ground nutmeg. Spread a can of sliced apples in a 9-inch pie plate. Sprinkle with cinnamon and ground nutmeg.

Cover with crumbs and bake in a hot oven till crumbs are brown. A spoonful of whipped cream tops it off.

Ham is usually baked in a slow oven, then when the glaze is added after the ham is done, the oven temperature is raised to hot and the meat goes back into the oven for 10 minutes or so to brown.

Bake Fresh Asparagus in Biscuit Dough Roll

Here's novel way to serve fresh springtime asparagus. Roll your favorite biscuit dough out to a circle 12 inches in diameter. Cut into 8 pie-shaped wedges. On each wedge place several cooked asparagus spears at the wide end and roll up as for butterhorn rolls.

Place on a greased baking sheet and bake in hot oven (450 degrees) 10 to 12 minutes. Serve hot with a creamy cheese sauce.

If you line a pan with foil before you arrange fish on it for baking, you'll be able to remove the fish easily.

Thrifty Organ Meats Play Delicious Tune

Organ meats play a cheery medley of good eating and high nutrition at low cost, says the Consumer Marketing Information Agent, Mrs. Josephine Laywer.

Their delicate flavor is another good reason why variety or organ meats have long been used by famous chefs.

To figure the cost of these thrifty meats, divide the price per pound by five, except for tongue. Divide the price per pound by three for tongue. Most variety meats can be served for 5 to 10 cents per person.

Liver is famous for its iron, but heart, kidney and tongue have as much protein and even more minerals than regular cuts of meat.

Prunes Can Be Tempting Fare

Rachel Schemmel, foods and nutrition instructor at Michigan State University, says the flavor of prunes combines tastily with such meats as pork, ham or sausage.

They perk up quick breads. Miss Schemmel suggests combining prunes right in coffee cake or muffin batter or as a filling, using a mixture of prunes, almonds, brown sugar and butter.

Prunes are good in pies, too. She said: "If you have a recipe for a sour cream raisin pie, substitute prunes for the raisins once in a while."

Prunes also can be stuffed with cream or cottage cheese and served as individual salads or molded into gelatin, preferably lemon-flavored.

Sweet-Sour Sauce Dresses Up Halibut

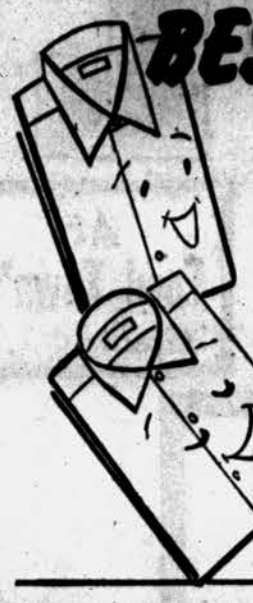

By International News Service

Looking for a different sauce for halibut?

The recipe: Combine one-half cup of vinegar; one and one-half cups water; one cup sugar; three chicken bouillon cubes; one cup drained pineapple chunks; one large green pepper cut in strips. Simmer for 10 minutes. Add a thickening made from three tablespoons of corn starch; one and one-half teaspoons soy sauce and one and one-half teaspoons water. Cook until thick, stirring constantly.

This recipe is enough for six servings of halibut — two pounds of halibut fried after salting and rolling in flour.

PEACHY DATE COBBLER — When the main part of the meal is slim, wise homemakers have a super-special dessert like Peachy Date Cobbler. Oatmeal adds crunchiness to the crust. Serve it warm, with or without cream.

Rolled Oats Crust Covers Two Fruits for Cobbler

Does your menu for tonight include only save-overs? Then you have a date with a "peachy" dish when you include this tempting Peachy Date Cobbler for dessert. Once in a while "family meals" are necessary, but an elegant dessert does wonders to woo even the most particular appetities.

Peaches and dates have always been sweet on each other and teamed with the nut-sweet flavor of rolled oats in the topping, the combination is slightly less than spectacular. The flaky, tender, pastry-like topping over succulent peach slices and dotted with chewy dates makes this Peachy Date Cobbler a toothsome dish.

It's easy to make, too. Simply combine the ingredients for the filling in a shallow casserole; then roll out the pie crust in the flick of an eye.

Peachy Date Cobbler lends itself to pretty family service when you bake it in your favorite pie plate. Bring it to the table warm and serve it plain, circled with cream or even a dab of whipped cream.

Peachy Date Cobbler

Filling:

2 1-pound cans sliced peaches, drained
¼ cup chopped dates
½ cup peach syrup (juice from peaches)
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1 teaspoon cinnamon
⅛ teaspoon ground cloves

Topping:

1⅓ cups sifted enriched flour
⅓ cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
¾ cup rolled oats (quick or old fashioned, uncooked)
⅔ cup shortening
2 tablespoons cold water

Place peaches and dates in a shallow casserole. Combine peach juice, cornstarch and spices; pour over peaches.

For the topping, sift together flour, sugar and salt. Add rolled oats; cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Add water; stir lightly until pastry can be formed in a ball. Turn out on lightly floured board, knead gently a few seconds.

Roll to fit top of casserole. Cut design in center of topping. Place over peaches. Brush lightly with cream or milk; sprinkle with granulated sugar. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees) 25 to 30 minutes or until topping is a delicate golden brown.

Small fry salad: banana and peanut butter on lettuce with a mild mayonnaise.

Old Fashioned Cheese Makes Modern Recipes

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Twice lately we've had cottage cheese prepared with fresh chives from the garden (or from the spot where the garden will be). It tasted just wonderful. Maybe that is what started us off on the subject of cottage cheese.

In these days of ever-increasing new food products it is interesting to note that a very old food is still popular. Stranger yet, the form in which we buy it has not changed a great deal. Of course, it is cultured in the dairy instead of being made from milk that has soured. And it comes in tidy, sanitary waxed containers. But fundamentally it has not changed.

Cottage cheese is a dieter's best friend. Comparatively low in calories — even the creamed style — this food is excellent protein and calcium content. If fats are prohibited, you can buy the dry cheese and add skim milk. This dry form is also used to make old-fashioned German cheesecake.

A tangy salad, low in calories, combines cotage cheese and tomato aspic.

Cottage Cheese in Tomato Aspic

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
½ cup cold water
1½ cups very hot tomato juice
2 bouillon cubes
1 cup cottage cheese
1 tablespoon grated onion
2 drops Worcestershire sauce
½ teaspoon pepper

Sprinkle gelatin on cold water to soften. Heat tomato juice and bouillon cubes until cubes are completely dissolved. Remove from heat. Add softened gelatin and stir until thoroughly dissolved. Chill to unbeaten egg white consistency.

Blend in cottage cheese, onion and seasonings. Turn into large 4-cup mold or six individual molds. Chill until firm. Serve on salad greens. Serves 6.

Adding cottage cheese to pancakes may be a new idea to you. We don't mean a cottage cheese filling such as the one you put into blintzes. The tiny curds of cheese give an exciting flavor and texture to the hot cakes themselves.

Cottage Cheese Pancakes

1 cup milk
1 egg
½ cup small curd cottage cheese
1 cup pancake mix
1 tablespoon melted butter

For the pancakes, place milk, egg, cottage cheese, pancake mix and melted butter in shaker or glass jar. Shake vigorously 10 to 15 times or until batter is fairly smooth. Pour about ¼ cup batter for each pancake onto a hot lightly greased griddle. Bake to a golden brown, turning only once. Makes 4 servings.

As a change from the usual cream cheese dips, try this recipe with cottage cheese.

Fluffy Cottage Cheese

1 cup sieved cottage cheese
¼ cup sour cream
Salt and pepper

Mix cheese and sour cream lightly together, just enough to blend. Season to taste. (More elaborate seasonings for cottage cheese are caraway and poppy seeds, garlic and onion salts and herbs.)
herbs.) Serve as a dip for potato chips.

If you're tired of lemon juice or vinegar on your salads but still don't want to use mayonnaise or French dressing, try this combination.

Vegetable Dressing

1 cup cottage cheese
2 tablespoons vinegar
3 tablespoons sugar
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon minced onion
½ teaspoon paprika
½ teaspoon prepared mustard
4 tablespoons catsup

Combine all ingredients and blend well.

When we think of macaroni and cheese, we usually think of sharp cheese. The following recipe uses not only the sharp cheese, but also cottage cheese for an unexpected flavor.

Macaroni Romanoff

2 cups cooked macaroni
1 cup cottage cheese
1 cup sour cream
½ cup chopped onions
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
½ teaspoon salt
4 drops Tabasco sauce
2 tablespoon chopped parsley
¼ cup grated Cheddar-type cheese

Combine all ingredients except grated cheese. Place in greased casserole. Sprinkle with cheese.

You Will Feel Heavenly When You Eat Angel Pie

ANGELIC LEMON PIE

Crust:

1 cup sifted flour
½ teaspoon salt
1-3 cup shortening
2 to 3 tablespoons cold water

★ ★ ★

Fit into 9-inch pie plate and prick entire crust thoroughly before baking. Bake at 450 degrees for 10 to 12 minutes, or until golden brown. Cool and fill.

Filling:

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup sugar
2 teaspoons grated lemon peel
⅓ cup fresh lemon juice
4 egg yolks, beaten
4 egg whites, beaten
½ pint cream for whipping

Blend gelatin, salt, ⅔ cup sugar, lemon peel, lemon juice and beaten egg yolks in saucepan. Cook over medium heat, pour into bowl and chill until mixture mounds slightly when dropped from spoon.

★ ★ ★

Beat egg whites until soft peaks form, add ¼ cup sugar and continue beating until stiff. Whip cream and fold into gelatin mixture, fold in egg white mixture. Spoon into cooled pie shell and chill several hours before serving.

ANGELIC LEMON PIE — Truly light-as-air and really angelic, this lemon pie is made with fresh lemon juice and whipped cream in a gelatin mixture. It is to be made several hours before serving time.

Chocolate Milk Base of Pudding

It doesn't take a team of pollsters to prove the popularity of chocolate-flavored cakes, cookies, puddings and the like. Just try a few delicious desserts made the easy way with bottled or cartoned chocolate milk and see the results for yourself. Since chocolate is the flavor choice of most Americans, your Chocolate Milk Bread Pudding is bound to be gobbled up practically before you can say, "The Chocolate Soldier."

It's so easy to prepare chocolate desserts when you use bottled or cartoned chocolate milk . . . the combination sweetening agent, flavoring and milk all in one . . . that you can whip up another tempting delight without much trouble at all.

Chocolate Milk Bread Pudding

3 cups bottled or cartoned chocolate milk
2 cups 1-inch bread cubes
3 eggs, beaten
¼ cup sugar
2 tablespoons melted butter
½ teaspoon nutmeg
2 egg whites
½ cup sugar

Combine chocolate milk and bread cubes in buttered 2-quart baking dish. Let stand 10 minutes. Combine eggs, ¼ cup sugar, butter and nutmeg; mix well. Add to chocolate milk mixture; mix well. Place in pan of hot water and bake in slow oven (325 degrees) 1 hour.

FOR IMPROMPTU GUESTS — Hot Pimiento Dip is just the answer for impromptu entertaining. The creamy cheese dip brightened with gay pimiento bits is served hot for dipping chips or crackers and cold for a sandwich spread.

Pimiento Adds the Flavor

Our word pimiento comes from the word for pigment, which refers to the juices of certain plants used for spice as well as color. A member of the pepper family, the pimiento is the least spicy, the coolest of the line. The flavor is subtle and mild, but with a character all its own.

Mashed or chopped pimiento may be added to many a mixture as the important seasoning ingredient. A can of pimientos used as an ingredient adds interest to a recipe to make something special.

Hot pimiento dip is just the answer for impromptu entertaining. With a can of pimientos on the pantry shelf and a package of cheese in the refrigerator, you have flavorful party fare in minutes — perfect to serve with crisp bacon curls, corn crisps, toast rounds.

This help-yourself dip is as easy to make as it is good to eat.

Hot Pimiento Dip

½ cup milk
½ lb. processed American cheese, shredded
2 teaspoons prepared mustard
½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 can (4 oz.) pimientos, drained and diced

Heat milk in chafing dish or small saucepan. Gradually add cheese, stirring constantly, blend in mustard and Worcestershire sauce. Heat slowly; add pimientos. Serve hot as a dip for crackers, toast rounds, thin slices of French bread. Add a flower cut-out of pimiento on top, if desired. Makes about 1½ cups dip.

Foreign Touch Spices 'Burgers

Foreign recipes — Italian spaghetti, Swedish meat balls, and Mexican chili con carne — use lots of ground beef. The all-American ground beef favorite — hamburgers can be dressed up with an old-country accent, too.

When buying the ground beef, select freshly ground meat, bright red in color. Chuck roast, ground once, makes tender juicy hamburgers.

To make sauerbraten patties, simply brown seasoned hamburgers in little fat and cook them in the spicy sauce. Crumbled gingersnaps, vinegar, and brown sugar give the sauce its dash of foreign flavor. Here is the recipe:

Sauerbraten Meat Patties

1½ pounds ground beef
½ medium onion, minced
1 egg
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
⅛ teaspoon thyme
1 tablespoon fat
1-3 cup vinegar
2-3 cup water
3 tablespoons brown sugar
2 tablespoons cornstarch
6 gingersnaps, crumbled
12 whole cloves
6 peppercorns
1 bay leaf

Mix ground beef, onion, egg, salt, pepper and thyme; shape into 6 patties. Brown patties in hot fat. Combine remaining ingredients, add to patties, cover, and simmer ½ hour, turning meat once during cooking. Spoon sauce over each serving. 4 servings.

Parmesan Cheese Tops Quick Bread

Bake a nippy Parmesan Ring to serve as the bread accompaniment for a spring luncheon.

Sift together 2 cups sifted enriched flour, 1 tablespoon baking powder and 1 teaspoon salt. Cut or rub in ¼ cup shortening until mixture is crumbly. Add 2-3 to 3-4 cup milk to make a soft dough.

Turn out on lightly floured board or pastry cloth and knead gently 30 seconds. Roll out ½ inch thick. Brush with melted butter or margarine and sprinkle generously with grated Parmesan cheese. Cut with floured biscuit cutter.

Place in greased 9-inch round pan, overlapping each biscuit on the other. Bake in hot oven (50-degrees F.) about 15 minutes or until golden brown. Makes 1 Parmesan Ring.

Quickie French Tarts

Spread baked pastry rounds (made from a pie crust mix) with soft cream cheese. Pile drained crushed pineapple on cheese. Glaze with currant jelly or pineapple-apricot preserves, heated with a little water.

Melons are in the market again, and melons always call for lemon juice. And, with perfect timing, you can now get lemon juice in a wonderfully handy, realistic plastic squeeze-lemon. It's called Easy-Juicer Lemon Juice, and it's in the produce department of most markets.

With this new container it's not only easy but inexpensive to give melon that delightful extra goodness. The plastic-lemon contains the natural juice of 8 tree-ripened California lemons, concentrated to double strength.

Also, there's no waste with this lemon juice in the squeeze container, no leftover halves to dry in the refrigerator and get thrown away. And the easy-juicer lemon is so attractive it can be put right on the table to be passed around so that everyone can have just the amount of lemon juice they want with their melons, or with salads, fish or tea.

Scour With Vinegar

When washing pans used to cook strong-flavor foods, the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association suggests, add a little vinegar to the hot sudsy water. This helps to "kill" any unpleasant odor. Then rinse with hot water, wipe dry, and let it air before storing.

Try Fruit Juices to Perk Up Food, Improve Flavor

COLUMBIA, Mo., (INS) — You can use orange and grapefruit juice to perk up food, not just lemon juice or vinegar.

Flora Carl, University of Missouri nutrition expert, says orange or grapefruit juice are milder and sweeter and often don't need additional sugar to counteract too much tartness.

Any of the citrus juices can be used to improve the flavor of sandwich spreads. Miss Carl said they go with peanut butter, ham minced meat and cheese.

Try adding a little orange or grapefruit juice to canned or cooked dried fruits before serving them.

Cooked dressing, especially those used on fruit salad or cabbage slaw, may be made with grapefruit or orange juice. And, in making a citrus fruit salad, the juice that drips off the fruit can be added to a French dressing.

Top Chip Cake With Cream

For those who like chocolate (and who doesn't?) Here is a real treat—a new Chocolate Chip Cake with Cocoa Whipped Cream Topping. Luscious looking, and tasting just as good as it looks, this cake is quickly made from a new cake mix which has chocolate chips liberally scattered all through it. These chips stay scattered in the baked cake.

To make this cake, one package of the new chocolate chip cake mix is prepared by a simple one-step mixing with 2 unbeaten eggs and water. Here it is baked in one square 9x9x2-inch pan. When the cake is cool, it is split horizontally and put together like a layer cake with whipped cream flavored with cocoa. Sliced banana makes a pleasing and flavorful garnish.

Chocolate Chip Cake with Cocoa Whipped Cream Topping

1 package instant chocolate chip cake mix
1 cup water
2 eggs, unbeaten
Cocoa Whipped Cream Topping

Empty cake mix into bowl. Add water and eggs. Beat 3 minutes until smooth and creamy.

Pour batter into 9x9x2-inch square pan, which has been lined on bottom with paper. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees) 40 to 45 minutes. Cool.

Prepare Cocoa Whipped Cream Topping. Split cake in half, making 2 layers. Spread the topping between layers and on top of cake. Garnish with banana slices, if desired. Store any leftover cake in refrigerator.

Cocoa Whipped Cream Topping: Combine in bowl: 2 tablespoons sugar, 2 tablespoons cocoa, dash of salt, and ½ teaspoon vanilla. Add 1 cup whipping cream; chill 1 hour. Then beat until cream holds its shape.

Entertain With Ease

If you plan to have a few in for a supper party have grilled chicken livers with curried rice and a touch of broiled bacon, a chafing dish of creamed oysters with hot buttered garlic bread on the side. And deep-dish apple pie served with cream for dessert.

Nutmeg Flavors Carrots

Boil whole carrots till just tender. Drain. Place in a heavy skillet with browned butter or margarine, salt, black pepper and ground nutmeg to taste. Toss lightly till coated.

Hearty Crab Chowder Easy to Fix From Staples

Cheesed-up mushroom soup with flaked crab sounds like good eating. 'Tis! Especially when all the ingredients come from your favorite friend...the pantry shelf.

Blend 1 can (1¼ cups) condensed cream of mushroom soup with 1 soup can water; add 1 cup shredded cheese and heat slowly until cheese is melted. Stir in 1 cup flaked crab (5-ounce can, drained) and 1 tablespoon chopped parsley. Makes 4 brimful bowls.

Oil Dressing Enhances Spuds

With spring bursting out everywhere, it's salad time again, especially for that universal favorite—spicy potato salad.

As you know, olive oil is used in practically every dish in Italian cooking. A little (beware the heavy hand!) gives almost all foods an extra distinction of flavor. It's said that an ancient olive grove, planted by the Greeks, still grows in Sicily!

That brings us to "Insalata Di Patate E Uova" or:

Potato and Egg Salad

4 large, cold, boiled potatoes
4 hard-boiled eggs
2 teaspoons chopped parsley
6 tablespoons olive oil
3 tablespoons wine vinegar
¼ cup chopped celery
Salt and pepper to taste

Cut potatoes into small cubes. Quarter eggs. Place in a wooden salad bowl. Add celery and parsley. Blend oil and vinegar separately; add to salad. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Thoroughly chill in refrigerator before serving. A treat for six.

SAUERBRATEN MEAT PATTIES — Tender, juicy hamburgers, cooked with a spicy sauerbraten sauce, take on a foreign flavor. Serve the patties with a generous topping of the sauce. Accompany the patties with buttered beans, "boiled" new potatoes and sliced round rye bread.

Creamed Dish High in Protein

A taste-tempting casserole dish is a time saver for the busy homemaker who wants the preparation for her main dish finished ahead of mealtime. The whole family will enjoy these time-saving dishes too, they have delicious flavor and are satisfying to hearty appetites.

Milk combines well with the eggs and ham to make this a high protein dish, and one that is rich in other important minerals and vitamins as well. Chopped green pepper and a bit of paprika add zest to the flavor of this bountiful casserole that makes from four to six servings.

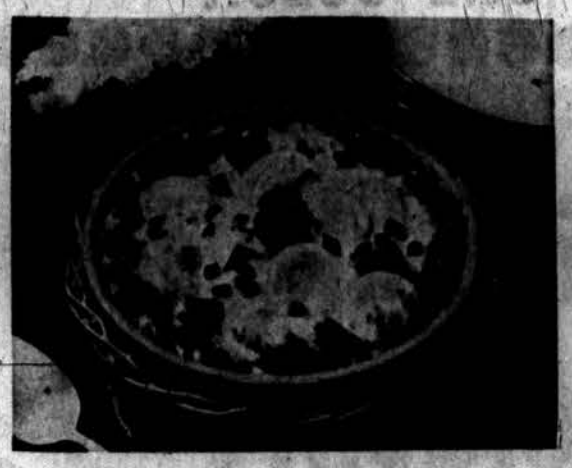

A hungry family will welcome escalloped eggs and ham on their luncheon or dinner menu served with buttered green beans, a tart crisp tossed salad and fruit tapioca for dessert.

Escalloped Eggs and Ham

- ⅓ cup butter
- ⅓ cup flour
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon paprika
- Dash of pepper
- 2 cups milk
- 6 hard cooked eggs, sliced
- 1 cup cubed cooked ham
- ¼ cup chopped green pepper
- 2 tablespoons butter
- ½ cup fine bread crumbs
- 2 tablespoons grated American cheese

Melt ⅓ cup butter in saucepan over low heat and blend in flour and seasonings. Add milk stirring constantly and cook until sauce is smooth and thickened. Place alternate layers of eggs, ham, and green pepper in buttered baking dish. Pour sauce over all.

Melt 2 tablespoons butter in small pan. Remove from heat and add crumbs and cheese. Mix well. Sprinkle over top of casserole. Bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees until hot and lightly browned, about 25 minutes. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

ESCALLOPED EGGS AND HAM — Two all-time favorites, eggs and ham, are combined with a creamy smooth sauce to make this tasty casserole dish. Shredded cheese and buttered crumbs add an appetizing crunchy topping when the casserole is ready to serve.

Cooking School Due April 29 to May 4

Mrs. Mabel B. Bowen, nationally known home economist lecturer, will conduct a cooking school next week in Pontiac, April 29 through May 3.

Mrs. Bowen will have afternoon session from 1:30 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. daily, Monday through Friday, in St. Benedict's Auditorium, 40 South Lynn Street, Pontiac.

Gift stamps and recipes as door prizes will be awarded to everyone attending. The audiences will also have an opportunity to win an electric range and seventy-five bags of groceries.

Mrs. Bowen was formerly home economics director for the Philadelphia Electric Company, conducted newspaper-sponsored cooking schools, and for three years was executive assistant to the director of Homemakers' Center of Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.

There is no admission charge for the cooking sessions.

Caviar Makes a Party

For before-dinner munching: a cracker spread made with cream cheese or cream-style cottage cheese, red caviar and finely grated onion (pulp and juice). Some red caviars are saltier than others, so taste as you add it to get the right amount. This is nice fro a party.

Chicken Prices Tempting; Fruit, Vegetables Vary

Comparisons at the food store some times change the best made market list, and why not? Variations in price, quality, and size may cause you to select a different meat cut than the one on your list. A special sale on a favorite brand of canned or frozen fruits and vegetables may tempt you to add several to the market basket.

Poultry, fish, and some cuts of pork and beef will be easy on the budget this week, says Mrs. Josephine Lawyer, MSU Marketing Information Agent. Beef costs are rising due to lighter supplies; veal and lamb prices are slightly higher. Although most retailers report the pork market about the same as last week, features on several cuts make these good items to check.

Both quality and supply of cabbage and carrots keep these topflight choices at produce counters. Fresh corn on the cob is more plentiful, but quality varies with the size of the ears.

Fewer apples, grapefruit, pears and Navel oranges seem to make other fresh fruit more inviting.

MEATS

A heaping platter of fried chicken is sure to tease appetites. Prices are expected to be lower by the end of the week. For a cool day, try a thrifty kettle of stewer with dumplings.

If you have the time and skill, and want to save, check the price difference in whole and cut-up fryers. Another reason for price differences at the same counter is the size and finish of the fryers. The small 2 to 2½ pound broiler-fryers cost less to produce than the larger meatier fryers of 3 to 4½ pounds.

A fresh pork roast will be more popular this week. Rib and loin end roasts and Boston butt are wise choices for the money. Center cut chops and spare ribs are other cuts in the limelight.

As warmer weather arrives, prices on beef hindquarters go up while forequarters decline. Beef cuts from young animals not fattened on grain are, in some cases, as much as 22 to 50 cents less per pound than the same cut in a U. S. Choice grade. Long slow cooking is needed to tenderize the leaner lower grades of beef. Addition of tomatoes, cooking wine or other sauces add much to flavor development in this beef.

Fish anyone? Fresh fish supplies are larger and prices range between 15 cents a serving for smelt; 20 to 26 cents a serving for pike, lake perch, or bass.

FRUITS AND VEGETABLES

Cabbage, carrots, and potatoes rank high on the econolist. Asparagus and corn-on-the-cob rate moderate price tags. Lettuce is about 20 to 25 cents a head with quality ranging from poor to excellent. Tomatoes are high. Hothouse tomatoes at 60 to 70 cents a pound will have more flavor and color than the tube tomatoes at 45 to 56 cents.

The season is closing rapidly on Delicious apples, grapefruit, Navel oranges and pears. Valencia oranges, large pineapple, bananas and increasing amounts of strawberries are headliners in the fresh fruit section.

A constant check of frozen and canned food sales can mean a savings when replacements are needed.

Gen's Scalloped Chicken

- 1 4 to 5 pound ready to cook stewing chicken, cut up
- Salt and pepper
- ½ cup butter or margarine
- ½ cup flour
- 2 cups chicken broth
- 1½ cups milk
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- 2 cups fresh bread crumbs
- 2 egg yolks, beaten
- ½ cup chicken broth
- 2 egg whites, stiffly beaten
- 1 6-oz. can sliced mushrooms, drained
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- ½ cup sliced stuffed olives

Simmer chicken till tender, then refrigerate meat and broth. About 1½ hours before serving: Start heating oven to 325 degrees. Arrange chicken meat in greased 13"x9"x2" baking dish; sprinkle lightly with some salt and pepper.

In saucepan, melt ½ cup butter; stir in flour, then 2 cups broth and milk. Cook until thickened. Remove from heat; stir in ½ teaspoon salt and next 4 ingredients. Fold in egg whites. Pour over chicken. Bake 1 hour.

When almost done, saute mushrooms in 2 tablespoons butter 3 or 4 minutes. Add olives and heat, stirring 1 or 2 minutes. Scatter olives over chicken before serving. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

Make Aspic Seasonal

Tomato aspic, made with one envelope unflavored gelatine and two cups of tomato juice seasoned as desired, may be given a spring flower design. Mold the gelatine mixture in custard cups; unmold and you have individual flower pots. Top with "flower" made by cutting lengthwise slice of cucumber into a tulip design. Stand flower stem in aspic.

Freeze Fruit in Cream

Whipped cream, combined with fruit, makes a simple but delectable dessert. Be sure to freeze the mixture at the coldest temperature for a couple of hours or until solidly frozen, then turn temperature control back to "normal" so dessert will stay firm but not get icy.

A package of frozen mixed vegetables may be cooked, chilled and mixed with an oil-vinegar dressing for a salad. Serve on greens. Add a little curry powder to the dressing if you like.

Even Paris Takes Tips From Queen

Elizabeth Has Regal Way of Staying Chic 16 Hours a Day

PARIS (INS)—Even Parisiennes, famed for their chic and fashion sense, have learned beauty tricks from Britain's lovely young Queen Elizabeth.

And here are some hints from the Queen on how to look "tops" 16 hours a day:

Wear simple, clean-cut styles during the daytime. The feminine and luxurious touch should be in beautiful fabrics rather than fancy trimmings.

Examples of sober, dressy day outfits, worn by the Queen fashion experts, included:

A navy-blue heavy silk suit with a collar-framed, broad neckline. A pale-blue corded silk dress and matching coat, simply styled but flattering to figure and complexion. A streamedlined champagne colored suit with a mink-trimmed heart-shaped neckline. All these outfits can be worn stylishly for 12 hours, from 10 a.m. on.

In public take great care to choose uncrushable fabrics for your clothes. Specially treated cottons and synthetics, jersey and pure silk will usually do the trick.

In spring and summer don't overdo jewelry during the day. For your club luncheons, committee meetings or lectures, choose pearls or beads in preference to fancy, glittering costume jewelry.

Sorority Hears William Matus

William Matus, director of Camp Oakland, showed pictures of the camp and discussed camp activities at the Tuesday meeting of Omega Mu Sigma sorority.

Mrs. Merrill Petrie opened her home on Cherokee road for the meeting.

Guests for the evening were Mrs. Harold Clifford, Mrs. S. F. Goedde and Mrs. Frank Strubler.

Assisting the hostess with refreshments were Mrs. John Jadwin and Lola Strom.

Joan J. Ritter Becomes Bride in St. Vincent Rite

St. Vincent de Paul Church was the setting for the marriage this morning of Joan Josephine Ritter and C. John Hall Jr. The Rev. Thompson Marcero celebrated the 10 o'clock Nuptial Mass in the presence of the immediate families.

★ ★ ★

Joan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kevin J. Ritter of Auburn avenue, chose for her wedding a ballerina-length gown of white embroidered nylon sheer, fashioned with a Sabrina neckline and three-quarter-length sleeves.

An open crown headpiece of taffeta and tulle secured her fingertip veil of silk illusion. Her arm bouquet was of snapdragons and carnations centered with roses.

A gown of royal blue embroidered white organdy was worn by Virginia Cattell for her duties as maid of honor. She carried a bouquet of pink roses.

★ ★ ★

John, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. John Hall of Detroit, asked his brother, Thomas R. Hall, to serve as best man.

Seating the guests were George King and Daniel Dilworth. Thomas Ritter, brother of the bride, and Larry Cosgrove, the bride's cousin, served as altar boys.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Ritter chose a blue print dress with navy blue accessories. Her corsage was of pink roses.

Mrs. Hall's choice was a pink lace dress with which she wore black patent accessories. Her corsage was also of roses.

★ ★ ★

Following a wedding breakfast at Devon Gables, the bride changed to a beige knit ensemble with French bread-colored accessories and a corsage of brown cybidium orchids, for traveling to northern Michigan.

The newlyweds will reside in Milford.

Washington Wives Glib at Tradin'

'Auctioneers' Spiel Mile-a-Minute to Boost Club's Fund

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON—They may never become "colonels," as professional auctioneers are called, but a group of congressional wives are getting pretty persuasive at spieling the chant and wielding the gavel.

The group, organized about a year ago by wives who live on Capitol Hill, expects to make pots of money for its pet project, a neighborhood community center, when members take turns knocking off to the highest bidder various and sundry items at an auction to be held in May.

It all began when the members of Congressional Wives Circle, as the group is known, solved the circle's fundless state by selling each other such things as unappreciated anniversary gifts, shopping "mistakes" and home cookery, in mock auctions.

Recently, to earn money for postage stamps and a month's operating expenses, they auctioned off $13.50 worth of stuff including compacts, a lipstick, an atomizer, napkin rings and an apron.

LEARN THE TRICKS

Among the gifted amateurs are many wives who doubtless learned how to address and win audiences in helping their husbands campaign.

★ ★ ★

Expecting to take the auctioneer's stand in May are wives of Congressmen Lee Metcalf (D-Mont), Richard Bolling (D-Mo), William Bates (R-Mass), Winston Prouty (R-Vt), James Haley (D-Fla), James C. Davis (D-Ga), Clifford Davis (D-Tenn), William R. Poage (D-Tex), Chet Holifield (D-Calif) and Tom Steed (D-Okla).

"We had such success at our monthly meetings," explained pretty Barbara Bolling," we decided to hold a real auction for our big annual fund-raising event.

"We planned a 'School for Auctioneers Party,' invited other congressional wives and took lessons from an expert. We are so glib we ought to do right well at the May sale."

EXPERIENCED TUTOR

The "colonel" tutoring the ladies is Rep. Kenneth L. Gray (D-Ill), who before getting into politics owned his own automobile auction agency at West Frankfort, Ill.

Rep. Gray says he does not expect to make professional auctioneers of congressional wives, as it takes years to become a professional, but he's giving them expert advice.

To be a success, he tells them, one must possess patience, poise and personality. The second, he says, is the most important, as it takes much practice to be able to call out hundreds of words a minute, and say the right word at the right time.

Beauty Hint

A baby's skin has moisture and so is beautiful. But adult skin is, by and large, dry skin. Science is replacing the moisture through many lotions now on the market. Shop around to find the right one for your skin.

★ ★ ★

When you trim your toenails, cut them straight across with the manicure scissors. Then bevel out the rough places with an emery board. But never cut them down at the sides; you'll create hangnails.

Presenting the message to the founder of the sorority, Walter W. Ross, was Mrs. H. R. Smith (left) of Lorberta lane. She discussed last-minute arrangements with Mrs. C. M. Shelton (center) of Third avenue, who was in charge of flowers and corsages, and Marilyn Carlson of North East boulevard, a member of Phi Alpha Iota Chapter.

Officers Elected by Baptist Women

William Fletcher of Detroit addressed members of the Women's Society of Bethany Baptist Church at the recent meeting held in the church parlors. Mr. Fletcher and his wife served as missionaries in Europe and he is now training others in the mission field.

★ ★ ★

Officers were elected during the business meeting. Mrs. Edward Lewis will continue to serve as president.

New officers are Mrs. Hayden Henley, first vice president; Mrs. I. M. Lewis, vice president of missions; Agnes Hilton, secretary; Mrs. Turris McCally, vice president in charge of Christian training; Mrs. Grover McVean, historian, and Mrs. Guy Bevington, nominating committee chairman.

Group meetings of the society were held in members' homes and in the church parlors during the week.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Clarence Smith opened her home on Vinewood avenue to members of Martha Group. Mrs. Glenford Haviland assisted the hostess with luncheon.

Esther Group met with Mrs. Clifford Steffey on Woodbine drive, and Mrs. Quentin Kennaday and Mrs. Russell Anderson were cohostesses to members of Ruth Group for a cooperative supper at the church.

Mrs. Austin Webb of Liberty street was hostess to Naomi Group.

A cooperative luncheon was held at the church by members of Dorcas Group. Members of Lydia Group met at the home of Mrs. Hoyt Joyner on Osceola drive.

Fashion Hint

Bring an old coat up to date by combining the old cloth coat with perhaps an old fur jacket. Top detail, such as a collar and bulky fur toque, is the latest in Paris. Or instead of a collar, make a fur vest with the hat. Very chic.

So You Want to Live in the Country!

By ANNE HEYWOOD

When people write me in the middle of winter that they want to move to the country and start a business, I tend to believe them. But when they write this time of year—I'm from Missouri.

The fact is, for each person who thinks the country would be nice in, say, December, there are at least fifty who think it would be nice in late April.

Obviously they just have a touch of spring fever and no real desire to stick with a year-round country business!

If the country is beginning to look pretty good to you and you're toying with the idea of making a living there, just relax. By next November, the feeling will doubtless have gone away.

If, however, you have had for many years a deep conviction that you're tired of the city and would like to make your livelihood in the country, it may be a valid desire.

GIVE IT THOUGHT

The first step is—resolve to move slowly. Don't leap into anything! Bankruptcy courts are full of people who acted first and thought later—too much later.

★ ★ ★

Resolve to take this vacation, this summer, to investigate things. It doesn't mean you'll have no rest.

A summer vacation devoted to "casing" a likely part of the country to settle in can be more fun than an aimless and more expensive one could ever be.

Figure out the section that interests you and plan to spend your two weeks with pay right there.

Take the family, so that all who are involved can have a chance to study the terrain. See what the community has to offer and what it needs.

INVESTIGATE

Talk to the Chamber of Commerce at the county seat. Talk to business people already operating there. Talk with the real estate agents and the bankers—they're usually aware of what needs exist in their community.

Then, when you get home make a similar assessment of your own abilities, interests and capabilities. See if any of them fit into the needs of that community.

If you'll do this several years running, and save your money, you may not have to wait till you're sixty-five to get that place in the country.

If you need help in assessing your own interests, send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope, care of this newspaper, and I'll send you my pamphlet, Pointers To Your Basic Interest.

Walk From Hips for Grace, Exercise

Do you walk from the knee or the hip? If it's from the knee, you're getting relatively little benefit from your exercise and you're looking ungainly in the bargain.

Practice walking from the hip and breathing deeply as you walk.

The "tank suit" is this season's bathing suit treasure. This one with the knit look, but actually made in figure-controlling shadow-striped lastex, has a diagonally striped yoke that plunges to a V in the back and forms widely spaced shoulder straps.

Is Mother Entitled to Prize?

Only if Her Position at Party Is That of a Guest

By EMILY POST

A mother writes me as follows: "I have been with my daughter since January. She has given several bridge parties while I have been here and at a couple of these I have been holder of high score.

"My daughter never considers my score and always gives the prize to the next highest score holder. Is this right?"

Answer: If you are making your home with your daughter, in other words, if you are one of her family, then you should not accept the prize any more than she, as hostess, would. If you are a guest, then you are entitled to whatever prize your score wins, exactly as is any other guest.

"Dear Mrs. Post: The other evening we entertained for the first time in our new house. It was not a housewarming, but one of the guests brought us a present. I thanked her and put the gift aside. Since unwrapping it I've telephoned and thanked her again.

"My husband thinks I was wrong not to open the gift and show it around. I thought this might embarrass the others. Anyway, the present was for us, not for them. What is your opinion?"

Answer: I agree with your husband that it was very unkind not to seem to care enough about the present to look at it. There was no reason why anybody else should have been distressed because they brought nothing.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Was it out of order to address a note of sympathy to the daughter of the deceased and not include her husband? I did include the whole family in the wording of my note but my husband thinks the note should have been sent to both just the same.

Answer: You were quite right in addressing your note to the wife alone.

Paris shows many wide, crushed belts and three-inch belts as well.

Protect Your Eyes

If you want to keep your eyesight sound and your eyes sparkling, always remember to read and work in a good light and to use an eye lotion daily. Have your eyes checked by a doctor at least once a year.

Beauty Hint

The oily skin gets the bird. Oily skin requires many-times-a-day attention. Keep a small vial of good quality witch hazel in your purse, in your desk drawer or the glove compartment of your car. As the tell-tale shine appears remove with the witch hazel, using quilted cotton squares.

Press All Scarves

If you wear scarves to brighten up sweaters, be sure that they are clean and pressed. Nothing will make you look shabbier than a wilted, creased scarf, except perhaps a drooping artificial flower.

Don't Reveal Prices

If a friend compliments you on a hat, don't promptly tell her how much you paid for it. Be as gracious as she is; show her that you appreciate the compliment without giving her all of the facts.

While I'm hearing the next case, take my trousers out to Flash Cleaners to have them pressed.

9-Day Diet Fine Start for 'Long Pull'

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

The short, rapid reducing diet (when you have only a few pounds to lose) is valuable because it is so encouraging. Practically every woman can stick to a slimming diet for nine days' time — especially if she knows she can lose a certain number of pounds in that time.

If you have many pounds to lose, the short, rapid diet gives you a good start and encourages you to continue. After this exciting beginning you can add three or four hundred calories a day for the long pull. It is not wise to lose a great deal of weight too rapidly.

The short reducing diet causes many women to lose overweight who would otherwise procrastinate from month to month and from year to year. When dieting, it is always wise to take supplementary vitamins.

You should also pay special attention to skin lubrication since fats are cut in the diet and the skin must be pliable in order to adjust to its new proportions.

★ ★ ★

If you are using my 9-Day Reducing Diet, stick to it. It is of short duration and you will not succeed if you diet one day and then go over your prescribed calorie intake the next.

Cleaning Tips for Mirrors, Piano Keys

Mirrors, pictures and bric-a-brac can present a cleaning problem, but that's no reason not to have them in your home.

Try cleaning them with a chamois wrung out of mild soap suds to which a little household ammonia has been added, or with whitening and a cloth moistened in water.

Clean piano keys by wiping with a cloth moistened with wood alcohol. Soap and water are likely to turn keys yellow

Use Astrodome for Novel Table —or Punch Bowl

NEW YORK (INS)—Astrodomes make lovely tables, loudspeaker grille fabric can be converted into high-style drapes and a duck truck extension kit can become beach dressing rooms.

These are some of the suggestions supplied by displayers at the surplus dealers trade show in New York.

The astrodome is a clear plastic bubble used by the Air Force navigators to calculate position. Add legs and a flat covering for the open side of the bubble and it becomes a table. Install it in the bottom of a boat and you have an all-angled view of the ocean bottom. Or use it as a salad or punch bowl.

The loudspeaker grille cloth is rich brown with gold metallic trim, which is just dandy for people who want brown drapes and have a desire to be right in style with gold accents. It can also be used for upholstery.

★ ★ ★

The duck truck extension kit is a device the armed forces developed for attaching to the type of truck tail gate that swings half way down, to cover the load and give it extra room. It is waterproof and can be used as a portable darkroom, as a beach or poolside dressing room or even as an extension to cover the part of your 1957 car that sticks out of your 1947 garage.

Parachute material can be turned into draperies or even negligees and a bomb hoist can be converted into a boat hoist.

Almost anybody can reduce nowadays by just living within his income.

Better Get a 'Head' Start if You Want to Stay Young

Diet, Beauty Treatments, Slick Clothes Waste of Time if Your Outlook Is Stale

By RUTH MILLETT

The woman who tries to stay young by spending half her life in beauty salons and reducing parlors and shopping for clothes is just wasting her time.

But there are ways for a woman to stay young, if she works from the inside instead of the outside.

She stays young as long as she —

Keeps a tolerant attitude towards the peculiarities of other people, instead of being outraged by anyone whose ideas, habits and opinions are different from her own.

Isn't afraid to try something new or challenging. The minute she starts telling herself, "I couldn't possibly do that," she is letting herself grow old.

CAGEY WITH ADVICE

Is willing to let younger people find things out for themselves, instead of being too free with advice.

Keeps broadening her interests instead of narrowing them.

Is genuinely interested in meeting new people and hearing new ideas.

Refuses to let her life follow a set pattern — this on Monday, that on Tuesday, etc., on through the weeks, months and years.

SHUNS GLOOM

Doesn't dwell on gloomy, sad and discouraging topics but prefers happier talk.

Makes friends with young people and tries to understand them, always being willing to try to see their point of view.

Never forgets that she isn't perfect herself and that in her lifetime she has made many mistakes.

★ ★ ★

Is always looking forward to tomorrow, instead of dreading what tomorrow might bring.

Rose Geranium Rates as Wool Dress Color

Rich rose geranium is beloved as a wool dress color this season, almost in equal step with the highly favored yellows and mauve shades. Clear red is seen in many collections, but the rosy red is clearly a numerical leader.

A whole series of delicate pastels emerge looking exactly like "flower branch tints," which is the name given them by one designer. One important shade is referred to as flowering quince, which is a golden tone.

★ ★ ★

Two other special looking tones are "peach blossom," "apricot." Blue aster and jonquil yellow emerge at the top of the list for bright pastels. Bright parakeet blue, and clear greens are seen in splendid interpretation this year and receive their most noteworthy expression and easy-styled, "city-to-suburb" costumes.

Daughters Honored on Their Birthdays

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Roberts of Forest street recently entertained for their daughters, Dorraine Dianne and Dorreene Deanne, on their birthdays.

The occasion marked Dorraine's 5th and Dorreene's 12th birthday.

Their grandmother, Mrs. Grace Taylor, also entertained for the girls at her home in Rochester, recently.

Calories Keep Peace

An advantage to a calorie-counting diet is that it doesn't irritate your family or friends the way a diet of abstinence may. They can eat as much as they want of the foods set before them, and you can limit your intake without being conspicuous.

Pontiac Press Photo

It is festival time once more at LeBaron School and everything is in readiness for the fair being held on Friday from 6 to 9 p.m. Shown arranging a booth are Charles Laflin Jr. of Fourth avenue, Mrs. Frank Holecheck, principal of the school; Mrs. Leverne Westphal, PTA president, and Doris Losey of LeBaron avenue.

Keep Clothes Clean

Don't let dust and lint give your dark clothes a shoddy appearance. If a brush won't remove the lint, try cellulose tape wound around a flat stick or around the palm of your hand. It's very effective.

A single piece of good costume jewelry is far more effective than four or five. When you buy costume jewelry, buy the best you can afford. And be sparing in its use.

Other booth chairmen are Mrs. Edward Case, potato chips; Mrs. Claude Garner, baked goods; Mrs. Forest McDonald, cotton candy; Mrs. Roy Weir, hot dogs; Mrs. Meinhard Lorenzen, soft drinks; Mrs. John Campbell, barbecues, and Mrs. Earl Vaught, desserts.

The safety and protection of everyone is being handled by Mrs. John Forrester, and Mrs. Frederick Garchow is in charge of the clean-up committee.

But Others Would Like to See Some Changes Made

Most Teens Like the Way Parents Handle Finances

By EUGENE GILBERT
President of the
Gilbert Youth Research Co.

Somebody ought to declare this the "Be Kind to Parents Week," because young people have just told us they are more or less satisfied with the way the old folks are handling the family finances.

* * *

But some, surprisingly, feel that too much money is being spent on them and almost all have suggestions to offer to improve the family financial position.

Our nationwide survey shows that 31 per cent of young people think their families handle money well all the time and 63 per cent approve of their parents' spending most of the time.

Nevertheless they would have some changes made:

"We have just about everything we want," said a Missouri farm girl, "but I wish the folks would spend more on things for the house and ourselves and less on cows."

* * *

"I would allocate a good deal more for my parents' entertainment," asserted a Port Chester, N. Y., youth. Many of those polled echoed his sentiments.

EXTREME ECONOMY

"I don't approve of the extremes of economy practiced by my family on even the smallest purchases," said a 19-year-old from Ohio.

* * *

But, the survey also showed 4 per cent of young people think their folks seldom or hardly ever manage the family budget well. Comments from this group were outspoken and, at times, bitter.

"If only they would invest a small part of the family income regularly in bonds," exclaimed a Brooklyn boy. "That would solve the whole problem."

"My parents just don't know how to spend money — it's too much here, not enough there," said an Iowa girl. "Maybe someday they'll learn. I hope when it's not too late."

* * *

"They're so busy trying to keep up with the Joneses they don't have time to breathe, much less pay bills," said another girl.

DRINK IT UP

"They drink up all the money," said a Chicago 18-year-old. "I would spend more on food and clothes instead of liquor. My father should try to better himself and not be satisfied with $45 a week."

* * *

A remarkable 92 per cent of the young people surveyed said they thought the children of the family receive a sufficient share in its income. Many thought they got too much.

"Along with lots of other families, mine spends far more on their children than they can really afford," said one boy.

"In our family, the kids come before the parents," declared another.

* * *

"They waste more money on presents and entertainment," complained a Pittsburgh youth.

"We should have fewer refreshments at home and smaller and less frequent presents. The finances are handled almost completely for the benefit of us three children."

HELP WITH PLANNING

Slightly more than half the young people take part in planning family expenses — 4 per cent all the time and 48 per cent some of the time.

* * *

But, only 31 per cent expressed a desire to be taken more into their parents' confidence on family money matters.

Evidently the young people are satisfied with the part they play or simply do not have the interest in family finances.

Comments obtained in the survey tend to back this up.

"I don't care what my parents do with their money," said a Springfield, Mass., girl. "It's their business."

* * *

"Children should be given a part in planning finances as soon as they are old enough," declared a Butler, Mo., miss.

AWARE OF INCOME

Roughly three out of four of the young people said they know, at least approximately, the extent of the family income and about the same number said they thought it fills the family financial need.

* * *

"Our budget is as balanced as is possible in these crazy times," reported one young sage.

"In some families," said another, "you need a lot of money and in some not so much. We do all right without a great deal."

About 15 per cent of the young people said they thought the family spends more money than it should and their comments and suggestions were highly critical.

* * *

"They (the parents) try to live too high class and often have to borrow from the bank on their securities," said an Amherst, Mass., youth. "This is certainly not the way I'm going to live."

BETTER DISTRIBUTION

"We live above our income which is unsteady in the first place," said a North Carolina teenager. "I would approve of more equitable distribution, more planning, less extravagance."

* * *

But the 81 per cent who approved of their parents' spending habits had high praise for the old folks.

"They are smart. They look ahead," enthused a Tarrytown, N. Y., youth.

"We have the perfect system," explained a Chicago girl. "Father is a good provider. Mother is a good budgeter."

* * *

One young man from New Jersey personally shouldered the blame for any financial mismanagement in the family.

Said he:

"There is only one culprit in the family — me!"

The sari-look takes all the self-confidence a woman can muster. The less daring type will feel safer in classics.

Dior and other designers chose some Oriental themes which fit beautifully into contemporary fashions. It's a feeling for high fashion, every ounce of confidence to be the first to appear in such an innovation.

Bob Considine Says:

U.S. Crime Rate Continues to Rise

NEW YORK (INS)—The passing show . . .

Sobering statistics from J. Edgar Hoover: Major crimes reached 2,563,150 last year, the worst ever; 13.3 per cent above 1955.

* * *

Crimes against the person were up 4.1 per cent; 12,620 people slain, 20,300 women raped, 96,430 persons wounded or maimed by deadly weapons or acid. Robberies, burglaries, auto thefts and other larcenies were down 1.3 per cent, but still amounted to the colossal sum of $440,000,000.

Rural crime was up 15.5, urban by 12.7. There are more crimes against persons in warm weather than cold, more crimes against property in winter months. Arrests of kids under 18 increased an appalling 17.3 per cent in cities during 1956.

"Almost 46 per cent of the arrests for major crimes were of youngsters under 18 who, for example, accounted for 66.4 per cent of the auto theft arrests. Cops recovered 93 per cent of the 263,720 cars stolen.

Go to church.

AH, HONEYMOONS!

Well, fellows, let's get on to something more pleasant: Like honeymoons.

* * *

The New York Convention and Visitors Bureau, Inc., has come out strong for honeymoons. No hedging, no carping. Our people in the Convention and Visitors Bureau are ready to stand behind each and every honeymooning couple which chooses New York.

It says so right here in print in an exciting release which should give Bob and Ray enough material for weeks of their nether world interviews with the man on the street.

"June is the month for weddings, and a wedding means a honeymoon," our people come right out and say. "A honeymoon, of course, should be one of the best trips a couple ever takes," the bureau continues.

* * *

"The major ingredients should be glamour (get that spelling, you other convention and visitors bureaus, you), privacy and the fun of seeing a new place together as husband and wife.

"For a lot of young people, another major consideration is finding a place that offers all these advantages at modefate cost. One place that seems to fill the bill completely, judging by the number of people who choose to visit it on their wedding trip, is New York City."

* * *

Makes you all goose-bumpy.

CALYPSO CRAZE

Listening to Louis Sobol interview Harry Belafonte on his ABC network radio show the other night explained a few things about the calypso craze, which Belafonte is responsible for, perhaps more than any other performer.

* * *

These rhythmic laments, frolics and old wives' tales apparently were born of adversity in the Caribbean and first caught hold here in the 1930s when the Andrews sisters recorded "Rum and Coca-Cola." The craze died quickly, not to be reborn until the moody, most articulate Belafonte came along.

Now you can't throw a rock without braining a calypso singer (though the good ones like "The Iron Duke," Johnny Barracuda, Lord Anderson and Lord Burgess are tough targets) and you can't turn on a TV dial without having calypso hit you in the eye.

If that isn't enough, though it should be, try the Broadway Palladium any Wednesday night, and ask for Killer Joe Piro.

In a recent piece in the American Weekly, on the "mad bomber," I quoted a line of his confession to the effect that a "backdraft of gas" he allegedly inhaled years ago at Consolidated Edison started him on his crazy career.

Not so, writes William Brady of Con Ed. After being retired from Con Ed, Metesky got a job a decade later and was again adjudged chronically ill and totally disabled; for the second time, got a full payoff from a group life insurance—the same company, by the way.

Ray Bolger captivated the audience at the Banshee luncheon for the publishers, as did Ethel Merman, Joey Bishop and other stars. As Bolger soft-shoed about the Waldorf stage, photographer Sammy Schulman said, "Ray is the Perry Como of dancers."

Just a Growing Boy

FT. CARSON, Colo. (AP)— Privates in Company I, 39th Infantry Regiment, don't pull any practical jokes on their sergeant. The reason is obvious. The company's sergeant is Henry Wyatt. Sgt. Wyatt weighs 290 pounds, stands 6 feet, 9 inches, wears a size 15 shoe and measures 18 inches around the neck. And he's still growing.

Eire now rations gasoline.

Citizens of Eire are asking, in Dublin: With 70,000 unemployed Irishmen, what can we do for the 500 Hungarian refugees we have accepted? "We brought them here on impulse," some leaders explain.

Film Portrays All Life on Wheels

'California' Wows Berlin

By REINHOLD ENSZ

BERLIN (AP) — Berliners are so curious about life in California that several hundred are willing to get up every Sunday morning go downtown and pay hard cash to see a documentary film on the subject.

They've been doing it for three years now.

The film has been run off at a downtown theater every Sunday at 11 a.m. since Jan. 30, 1954. It is still drawing customers.

"If business stays like it is," says Theater Manager Kurt Broschke, "we'll show the film for several more years."

SARACASTIC FILM?

The movie was made in 1953 by a German, Hans Domnick. It looks at California in an amused, somewhat sarcastic manner. It conveys the impression that California is the land of the automobile.

In fact, more than half of the 30-minute film is given over to showing view after view of rushing traffic, underpasses, overpasses, drive-in theaters, drive-in restaurants, filling stations, auto laundries, and acres of parking lots.

Or, as the film's commentator puts it:

"In California, a man without an automobile is lost."

Domnick tried to emphasize this by taking his camera out into the suburbs of Los Angeles and shooting long views of empty sidewalks, with not a pedestrian in sight. But the streets are filled with autos.

The auto is depicted as a powerful force which controls nearly all phases of life. Houses are torn down to make way for parking lots and highways. Huge bridges are thrown across San Francisco Bay and the Golden Gate.

TEENAGERS TEAR

Teenagers pile into hopped up jalopies and roar around dirt race tracks. Wheels fly off, two racers smash into each other, a third one roars into the wreckage, an ambulance charges up, and the mad race whirls on.

But there are also peaceful moments. If a Californian wants a snack, he jumps into his car and dines at a drive-in restaurant.

If he wants to buy some bacon, he wheels over to a drivein supermarket. If he wants to see a movie, he parks in a drive-in theater. If he wants to mail a letter, he drives to a curbside mailbox.

To German eyes, such a car culture is a bit unreal. An automobile is still something of a luxury in this country and is put into the same category as the blue Sunday suit.

So it's small wonder that the film is showing under the title: "Der Goldene Garten (The Golden Garden)."

The film has been shown throughout West Germany and is now being readied for screenings in France. An English language version has already been completed, and Domnick hopes to show it in England and the United States.

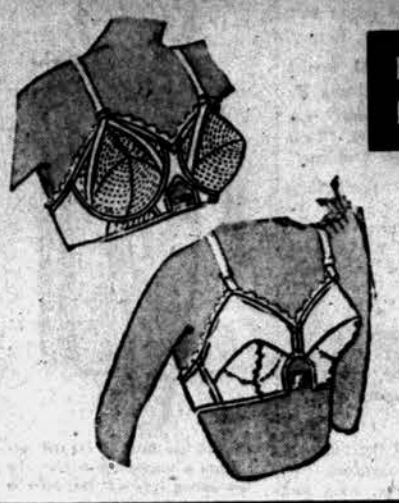

Maybe even in California!

Plenty of hot water with DETROIT EDISON'S NEW ELECTRIC WATER-HEATING SERVICE

New, more efficient water heaters—built to Edison's specifications. New water-heating plan from Edison. Together they make the finest hot water service ever offered in Southeastern Michigan.

Completely new, completely different, the electric water heaters for 1957 are not only the safest kind you can buy—they're the most practical, too. Built to Detroit Edison's own rigid specifications, dollar for dollar these new electric water heaters last longer than any other heater you can buy.

What's so new about the new electric water heaters? Redesigned from top to bottom to give you more hot water for your money, the new type electric water heaters for '57 now include two higher wattage heating units that operate completely automatically. As your hot water supply goes down, one unit automatically goes on—quickly heating up more water for you to use when you need it. No waiting, no worries. There's always plenty of hot water on tap. And because of this unique new design, you can get more hot water than ever before from the same size heater. Then, too, since it's built to Edison's own specifications, you know you can rely on the quality and depend on it to operate better, last longer.

For still greater economy—Edison's new Super-Supply Plan. To make the new electric water heaters even more economical, Detroit Edison has introduced its Super-Supply Plan. This simply means that now, for a surprisingly low flat monthly rate, you can get much more hot water than ever before for just pennies per day.

Safer . . . no flame, no flue. There's automatic safety always built into an electric water heater. No flame, no flue. It's even safe enough, and good-looking enough, to go right in your kitchen or utility room. Because of its excellent insulation, it's cool to the touch—top to bottom. And only electric water heaters are so clean, noiseless and odorless.

Here is new proof that you always live better, electrically.

Reddy Kilowatt invites you to inspect these tremendous advantages of ELECTRIC water heating before you buy.

Annual Fund-Raising Campaign Begins

GOP Women Seek Money

Oakland County Republican women started their fifth annual fund-raising drive today, fired by hopes of bringing more GOP voters to the polls next year.

At a kick-off breakfast at the Birmingham Community House, Lawrence B. Lindemer, state central committee chairman, called for an all-out drive to return to the Republican party its traditionally big voting power in Oakland County.

* * *

"To do this, we need money—lots of it," Lindemer said. "And most of what we raise should be directed at the party's precinct level—to find out who the Republicans are and then to get them out to vote."

LACK OF TURNOUT

Lindmer was referring to the lack of turnout which party leaders see behind the GOP's slim winning margin in the county's April 1 election.

The young Stockbridge attorney, elected chairman in February, believed the number of contributors to the party's coffers can be increased, "which not only means more money, but probably more actual votes."

Noting that lack of funds handicapped the party last election, leaders of the Republican Women's Finance Drive urged women to lead the way.

* * *

"More active participation on the part of women, both financially and personally," said Mrs. Brooks Marshall, chairman, "has been recognized as of the utmost importance to the party.

"We hope for a renewal of party strength and activity through its women members."

DRIVE SEPARATE

Arthur G. Elliot Jr., newly-elected county chairman, pointed out that for the first time, Oakland County women are holding their drive separately from Wayne County.

This is because the Oakland drive was highly successful last year, he said.

* * *

Assisting during the four-week drive will be Mrs. Howard Liverance, vice chairman; Mrs. Homes Bannard, secretary; Mrs. Duncan Hamner, records chairman, and Mrs. Charles Burgess, publicity.

AREA CHAIRMEN

Area chairmen are: Mrs. Richard Eberline, Avon Township; Mrs. W. W. Williams, Birmingham; Mrs. Theorn Van Dusen, Bloomfield Hills; Mrs. Edward Moseman, Farmington; Mrs. Rolfe Smith, Clarkston; Mrs. Arthur Dodge, Lake Angelus; Mrs. Halsey Davidson, Orion Township; Mrs. Bruce Beemer, Oxford; Mrs. H. A. Koehig, Beverly Hills; Mrs. Roger Hubbell, Milford; Mrs. Herbert Smith, Franklin; Mrs. J. H. Stresen-Reuter, Troy; Mrs. Walter Appell, Orchard Lake and Mrs. Leslie Consterdine, Royal Oak.

Game of 'Remember Me?' Blights Cocktail Parties

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—You meet at least one at every cocktail party.

I mean the pest, the man who suddenly wheels through the smoke fog, halts before you, thrusts his face to within an inch of your nose tip, and then, fixing you with his glittering eye, demands loudly: "Remember me?"

* * *

And I also mean the female of the species, the wandering lady gypsy moth who flutters up to everybody at the party, and makes a parlor game of cooing to each: "Bet you can't tell me my name."

WHAT TO DO?

What should a fellow who loves his fellow men in most circumstances do in this situation? The chances are that he can't tell the strange man from John Foster Dulles. And who, confronted unexpectedly by a strange, Martini-burdened lady, can immediately recall her name, which is probably something like Ramona Schnodtfeltenglosser?

* * *

The unfair thing is that it is the one questioned, not the questioner, who is put on the spot. He is made to look like a premature victim of senile dementia as he stands there, helpless before his foghorn - voiced smiling accuser, stuttering that immortal social line, "Uh, your face is familiar, but your name, I'm sorry to say, escapes me."

In your mind you are furiously saying, "Your name, you big dumb dolt? Why if my mother sprang at me like that I couldn't name her unless she also started humming 'Rock-a-bye Baby.'"

* * *

So, publicly embarrassed, inwardly raging, you have to confess your ignorance until your persecutor reveals his or her identity and proclaims his forgiveness that you have forgotten it. Actually, even after he says who he is, you probably still can't really place him. The kind of person who is always asking other people if they remember him is usually the kind they find easiest to forget.

HONEST ANSWER

There is something that can be done in these situations if one will drop the spurious politeness one doesn't feel anyhow, and give a really honest answer.

* * *

You might reply: "Sure I remember you but, man, how you've changed. What did it to you—the war, your job, or your wife?"

Or, "I remember you like I do the measles—in a spotty way."

Or, "Your face is familiar, but weren't you wearing a number the last time I saw you?"

Or, "Sure, I remember you. You didn't fool me. Now take off your mask."

* * *

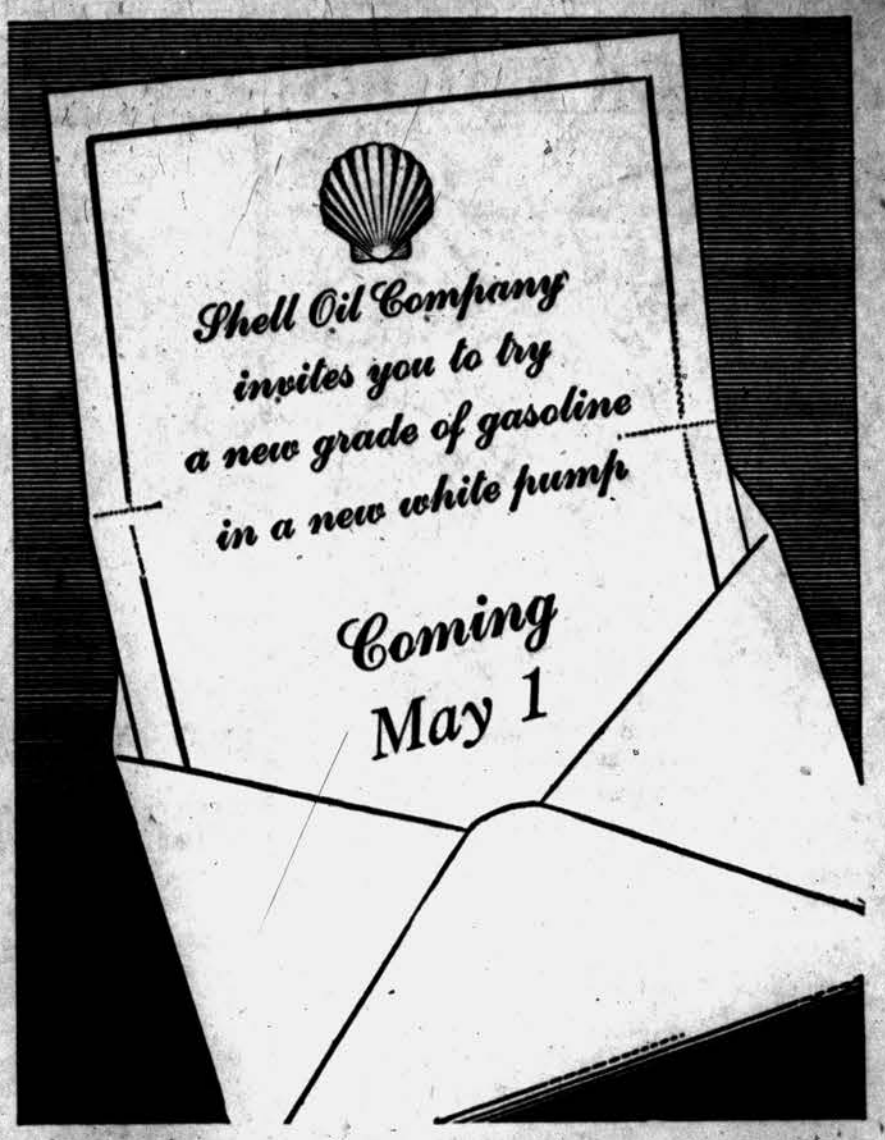

To the lady who wants to bet you can't recall her name, you simply murmur: "I'm afraid I can't be sure. But aren't you one of the Smith girls—the one who married the Abominable Snowman?"

Or, "Your name? Gee, Miss, it's your frame that really haunts me. It's come a long way since the old days, hasn't it? All things considered, I mean."

Or, laughing gaily, "Well, I must confess you had me for a minute, Mrs. Dracula. By the way, what is your first name?"

* * *

The pests you direct such answers to may be a bit taken aback. But the odds are the other long - suffering guests will break out in applause.

BIRD SANCTUARIES
4. Pink Flamingo in Flight

A tall, pink bird with long, snake-like neck, long, thin legs, a small head with a big hooked beak — that strange creature is the flamingo.

About 30 years ago, flamingos were abundant in Southern Florida. Now their greatest flocks are on Great Inagua Island in the Bahamas, and they seldom come to the U. S. mainland anymore.

Anyway, here's a pink flamingo that you can cut out and make fly. Paste the picture on heavy construction paper. Color the bird in shades of pink with deeper color on the head, neck, and tail. The bill is white, the eyes yellow.

Cut out the big flamingo, and fold it along the middle dash-line. Paste the head sections together, then fold the wings along the lines running from A to A. Fold outer ends of wings down along lines B-B (small sketch 1.) Thread a heavy thread through each pair of small holes near the dash line on the back. Pull the threads through so they come out above the bird's back and tie all four threads together in a firm knot. Continue these threads about six inches and tie another knot. They will give you a loop by which to carry the bird (small sketch 2).

Now let's take one wing. You'll see a small black circle on it between the dash lines. Make a knot in a heavy thread, then thread it through the black dot from underneath the wing (small sketch 3). The knot should keep it from slipping through. Bring the thread across the wing and down through the larger black circle in the bird's body near the wing (small sketch 4). Let the thread dangle down, from the bird's belly, about six inches. Now, do the same with the other wing. Then tie the two threads underneath the bird together. Holding up the flamingo by the strings on its back, you now can make the wings flap by pulling the strings on its underside (small sketch 2).

Motorist Reports Big Cat Running in Front of Car

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP) — A motorist reported a big cat, believed to be a mountain lion or cougar, ran in front of his car yesterday on U. S. 2 about 30 miles south of the Soo.

★ ★ ★

Staff Sgt. Grant W. Simmons, 25, of St. Ignace, who is stationed at Kincross Air Force Base here, said the animal was about 150 feet away when it crossed the highway and disappeared in a field.

He estimated its weight at 150 to 165 pounds. It was a brownish gray with a three-foot tail, he said.

"I've never seen a mountain lion but I have seen lots of bobcats," Simmons said. "This was much bigger than any bobcat."

Only last Friday the pawprints of a big cat were found in a garbage dump near Rudyard, not far from the Mackinac-Chippewa County line. The animal is believed responsible for a number of deer killings in this Upper Peninsula area. It eluded a 100-man posse which set out to hunt it a week ago.

Michael Wheeler, 21, Britain's most promising quarter mile runner, has quit top-class competition — too busy being a schoolmaster in Bournemouth.

Water Service Assured

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — City water superintendent S. G. Ferris says new equipment — scheduled to start operations next Wednesday — assures adequate water service for Grand Rapids this year, but says the city must have an additional water supply to meet expanding demands. The new equipment is part of a $2,500,000 water distribution improvement project.

Heads Luther Schools

LUTHER (AP) — David J. Eddington of Muskegon, a graduate of Aquinas College in Grand Rapids and Western Michigan University, has been named superintendent of the Luther Community Schools, effective at the start of the 1957-58 school year.

British footballers have found a ruling of 1907 that a player with a wooden leg may participate, if he does not play in a manner dangerous to his opponents.

Muddy Waters to Coach Oldtimers Against MSU

EAST LANSING (AP) — Frank (Muddy) Waters, former Michigan State fullback, has been named head coach of the "old timers" team that will play the Spartan varsity football team in Macklin Stadium on May 4.

Waters, a 1949 graduate of Michigan State, now is one of the nation's most successful small college coaches at Hillsdale College.

★ ★ ★

Assisting Waters as coaches and also playing will be Lynn Chandnois, Bill Hughes, Bob Carey and Paul Decker.

More than 50 recent graduates from the Spartan football team, most of them dating back to between 1948 and 1956, will report May 1 for several days of practice prior to the game.

Included in the roster are several all-Americans and a number who have graduated into pro competition.

During the weekend of the game the 4th annual Football Coaches Clinic will be held May 2-4 with Chuck Taylor, head coach at Stanford, and Gomer Jones, line coach at Oklahoma, as the guests. Lou "The Toe" Groza will also be a speaker.

Members of the Michigan Football Writers Association will hold their annual spring meeting May 3-4 also at East Lansing.

The oldtimer list to date with the year of graduation:
1956—Jim Hinesly, end; John Matako, center; Pat Wilson, quarterback; Vic Zucco, halfback;
1955—Joe Badaczewski, center; Gary Lowe, fullback; Gerald Musetti, fullback; Earl Morrall, quarterback; Norm Masters, tackle; Buck Nystrom, guard; Gerald Planutis, fullback, Embry Robinson, guard;

1952—Howie Adams, guard; Doug Bobo, end; Bob Breniff, guard; Paul Dekker, end; Don McAuliffe, halfback; Hughes, center; Bill Horrell, guard; Marv McFadden, guard;
1951—Bill Carey, end; Bob Carey, end; Jim Creamer, center; Don Coleman, tackle; Al Dorow, quarterback; Dean Garner, guard; Bill Hughes, center; Bill Horrell, guard; Mary McFadden, guard;
1950—Leroy Crane, fullback, Jim King, end; Dewey Stevens, tackle; Jesse Thomas, halfback; J. C. Williams, guard; John Yocca, guard;
1949—Ed Bagdon, guard; Lynn Chandnois, halfback; Bud Crane, halfback; Kent Eshaugh, tackle; Marty Kelly, halfback; Ralph Wenger, center; Lynn Conway, end;

New Detroit Pistons List 28 Home Games

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Pistons of the National Basketball Assn., will play 28 home games here next season.

Fred Delano, new general manager of the team which recently shifted its franchise from Fort Wayne, Ind., to Detroit, said it is likely that all the games will be played at Olympia Stadium.

The games will be played on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and weekends, he said.

Derby Candidates in Blue Grass Battle Saturday

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — A half dozen sophomore colts sought today to build Kentucky Derby prestige in the Blue Grass Stakes, burying ground of many Derby ambitions.

The $25,000-added, 1⅛-mile test at Keeneland offered the colts one of their final opportunities to get ready for the big race at Louisville a week from Saturday.

But, riding with them was the jinx that only two Blue Grass winners — Bubbling Over in 1926 and Shut Out in 1942 — have ever worn the Derby wreath of roses.

Sentiment leaned toward Round Table, Shan Pac and One-Eyed King. The rest of the line-up included Manteau, Lucky Dip and Breezy Night, the latter a non-winner this year and surprise entrant.

Gavilan Apologizes for Poor Showing

ST. PAUL (AP)—Del Flanagan had the choicest victory of his welterweight comeback and the fattest check of his career rolled into a neat package today — and Kid Gavilan had a mild apology.

Flanagan outmaneuvered the onetime champion from start to finish last night for a remarkably simple 10-round decision before a crowd of 9,434 that paid a record Minnesota gate of $43,796.

Links Win for Barons

Bloomfield Hills won its 2nd golf outing in as many starts Wednesday, defeating Clarenceville, 176-214, at Edgewood Country Club. Bud Badger of Bloomfield Hills was medalist with 39 and teammate Bob Thompson shot 41.

Kell Near 2,000 Hit Goal

NEW YORK (AP) — Day by day George Kell climbs steadily toward his lifetime goal of 2,000 hits in a brilliant American League career. At the latest count he was 28 hits short.

★ ★ ★

"It will mean a lot to me,' said the veteran Baltimore infielder who alternates between first base and his old third base job this spring. "Last winter I thought about retiring to the farm (in Swifton, Ark.) but I decided to give it one more whirl at least to get those 2,000 hits. They tell me I'll be the 100th player to do it, if I get that far."

★ ★ ★

Although Kell at 33 hasn't long to go in the majors, he is a cinch to hit the 2,000-mark within a month. Three hits yesterday brought his total to 1,972 in 15 years in the majors.

★ ★ ★

Manager Paul Richards had Kell back on third yesterday, playing Bob Boyd at first against a righthanded pitcher. However, Kell has played first a great deal to give Richards a good look at Brooks Robinson, his rookie third baseman.

★ ★ ★

"I like it at first base,' Kell said. "It's easier on me and could extend my career. You don't have to make the long throw and you don't have to field so many ground balls."

Giant Manager Beefs at Quick Calls

Rigney Takes Blast at Umps

BROOKLYN (AP) — Billy Rigney, burned up over his New York Giants' tough 4-3 loss to Brooklyn, today charged an umpire's quick call with helping bring about his team's downfall.

★ ★ ★

The irate manager's target was Tom Gorman, who ruled Ossie Virgil out on an attempted steal in the eighth inning of last night's Giant loss, even though Junior Gilliam, the Dodgers' second baseman dropped Roy Campanella's throw. Gorman, who gave the out sign simultaneously with the tag, said later he saw Gilliam drop the ball but he picked it up and tagged Virgil again before the Giant runner touched the base.

★ ★ ★

"That's what Gorman said," Rigney declared heatedly, "but not before Hal Dixon, who was umpire on third base, signalled to him that Gilliam had dropped the ball. Heck, Gorman never saw Gilliam drop the ball. He called the play the moment the ball hit the glove. The ball dropped to the ground but he never saw it. He had his back turned when Gilliam dropped the ball.

"What in heaven's name is the matter with those umpires. Why are they in such a hurry to make the call. If they'd only hesitate a second or two, maybe they would not get so many beefs. I just got a directive from the league president asking me to refrain from beefing unless I got a legitimate squawk and not to use profanity. How can you avoid it when things like that happen?

"I begged Gorman to consult the other umpires. Everybody in the park saw Gilliam drop the ball . . . everybody but Gorman. I said to him 'Tom, I promise never to make such a request again the rest of the season — just this once. Please ask any of the other umpires if Gilliam dropped the ball. But he wouldn't do it."

★ ★ ★

In the Dodger clubhouse, Gilliam admitted he dropped the ball but said he recovered it in time to tag Virgil.

"He never even touched the bag" said Gilliam. "He slid right around it."

Another Brooklyn player disagreed with Gilliam, saying he believed Virgil had hooked a corner of the bag but Don Zimmer, the Brooklyn shortstop corroborated Gilliam.

Bower, Glover Are Unanimous AHL Choices

NEW YORK (AP)—Johnny Bower, Providence goaltender, and Freddie Glover, high-scoring rightwing of the Cleveland Barons, were unanimous choices today on the American Hockey League All-Star team.

★ ★ ★

Two other members of Cleveland's Calder Cup champions, defenseman Steve Kraftcheck and leftwing Bo Elik, also were named to the team along with Tommy Williams, a defenseman of the Rochester Americans.

★ ★ ★

Sports writers and broadcasters in the league cities, who named the team, were unable to decide on a center and split their vote between Paul Larivee of Providence and Bronco Horvath of Rochester.

Dick Whitmer's 71 Paces PHS Golf Win

Led by two "hot" shooters, medalist Dick Whitmer and Jerry Martin, Pontiac High's golfers yesterday afternoon defeated Port Huron 395-458. Whitmer fired a 71 and Martin a 77 over the Pontiac Municipal layout. Dick's card was 36-35—71. Victory was Chiefs' 3rd against one loss.

★ ★ ★

Bob Wolfe was the best for Big Reds with 85.

Other PHS cards: Dick Singleton 40-41—81; Sam Coleman 41-40—81; Martin 36-41—77; Nick Shorter 44-41—85.

Rest Helps as Inman Takes Derby Lead

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Walker Inman Jr. offered the "rest cure" today as a remedy for oversize golf scores.

★ ★ ★

Starting in only his second tournament of the current tour, the Bolton, Mass., perfectionist had a sizzling 67 to prove his point in the Kentucky Derby open.

★ ★ ★

Realizing that the tourney grind was telling in his tired muscles, the transplanted Georgian took the winter off.

"I just needed the rest,' he said after yesterday's pacesetting 18 holes over a generally troublesome Seneca course.

After warming up with a tie for 21st place in the recent Greensboro open, Inman did what only nine other sharp shooters could do —improve on Seneca's par.

★ ★ ★

His closest pursuer today as 116 golfers started the second 18 of the 72-hole showdown was Billy Casper Jr. of Bonita, Calif., who, despite a severe cold, toured the 6,575 yards in 68.

★ ★ ★

In solid contention with 69s were Peter Thomson, the three-time British open champ from Melbourne, Australia; 1955 National Open kingpin Jack Fleck and Bobby Maxwell of Dallas, Tex.

★ ★ ★

Missing from the leadership ranks were such names as Gene Littler, Tournament of Champions winner at Las Vegas last week, and former National Open champ Ed Furgol.

Doug Ford, the Masters winner, was four strokes off the pace with an even-par 71.

Ford expressed frank contempt for Seneca's condition after yesterday's round, to him a disappointment.

"I can't say anything good about the course, so I'd rather not comment," he said when asked how he was playing the up-and-down terrain.

He added that it might be partly the PGA's fault that better preparations had not been made for the $30,000 tourney. Earlier cutting of the greens and fairways would have helped, he thought.

Other entries blamed poor putting on a growth on the greens called poannia, a tender grass which shoots up in patches and makes scientific putting difficult.

Adams Seeking Sawchuk Deal

Jack Says Terry and He Are in Agreement on Terms

DETROIT (AP)—Gen. Mgr. Jack Adams of the Detroit Red Wings hopes to bring goaltender Terry Sawchuk, three-time winner of the Vezina Trophy as the National Hockey League's outstanding goalie, back to the Red Wings.

★ ★ ★

Adams said yesterday that "Sawchuk and I are in agreement on terms" and " all I have to do is work out a deal" with Lynn Patrick, general manager of the Boston Bruins who now own Sawchuk's contract.

Wings traded Sawchuk to the Bruins two years ago.

Sawchuk, whose home is near Pontiac, left the Bruins in midseason this year, saying he was too tired and too sick to continue playing. The Bruins suspended him.

★ ★ ★

The Red Wing's goalie of the 1956-57 season, Glenn Hall, was voted the league's outstanding rookie last season and was named to the all-star team this year.

Tail End Tigers Ready to Listen to Some Offers

Lary on Mound Today in Bid for Detroit's 3rd Victory

CHICAGO (AP)—When rain keeps the last-place team from playing early in the season, it's a good bet that talk of trades moves to the center of the stage.

That is the case with the Detroit Tigers, tailenders in the American League, whose scheduled game with the Chicago White Sox was called off yesterday because of thundershowers.

Still seven weeks from the trading deadline, manager Jack Tighe says he is ready to listen to any offers.

But he says:

"Just because we're off to a rocky start doesn't mean that we're running around frantically trying to swing just any kind of a swap. That's not the case."

He added: "But we are interested."

He said there have been several discussions of possible trades, but none has reached the "serious stage."

★ ★ ★

He listed these as trading bait the Tigers might put up: Frank House or Red Wilson, J. W. Porter, Jim Finigan, Jack Dittmer, Earl Torgeson, Jack Phillips, and "a couple of our second-line pitchers."

There are a few "untouchables" on the squad, he said.

"If we can make a deal that would strengthen our chances, I don't see any sense in waiting until the deadline," he said. "We can use help now at several spots—but right now there are no deals in the works."

In an effort to give the Tigers their third victory of the season today, Tighe sent to the hill right-handed Frank Lary, who was scheduled to pitch yesterday. Lary dropped a 2-1 decision to Kansas City in the Tiger opener last week and blanked Cleveland 7-0 Saturday.

★ ★ ★

The Sox were expected to start with lefty Jack Harshman who beat Kansas City in his only previous start.

The Tigers, three games out of first place with their 2-5 record, have missed the hitting of two who usually shoulder a big part of the Detroit offense. Al Kaline and Harvey Kuenn are hitting only .300.

Reno Bertoia, with six hits in 13 trips to the plate, is leading the Tiger hitters with .462. Bill Tuttle is hitting .370 with 10 safeties in 27 trips and Ray Boone is hitting .346.

Eight Survivors in North-South

Title Rematch Between Robbins, Hyndman Seen in Amateur Tourney

PINEHURST, N. C. (AP)—A replay of last year's North and South Amateur Golf Tournament final was in the making as the eight survivors of yesterday's two rounds moved into the quarter-finals today.

★ ★ ★

Defending champion Hillman Robbins, Air Force lieutenant from Memphis, Tenn., was top man in the upper bracket and the 1956 runner-up. Bill Hyndman of Abington, Pa., was shaping up as the sharpest golfer in the lower half.

★ ★ ★

Robbins teed off against Don Bisplinghoff, 1955 champion from Winter Park, Fla., and Don Weiland of Phoenixville, Pa., met Dr. Bud Taylor of Pomona, Calif., in upper half tests.

★ ★ ★

In the lower half Hyndman met a rugged customer in Arnold Blum, Southern amateur champion from Macon, Ga., and Lawrence Cook, the Wrightsville Beach, N. C., policeman with the cross-hand grip, engaged two-time champion Bill Campbell of Huntington, W. Va.

New England Champ Wins 20th Knockout

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Featherweight Harold Gomes, a clever boxer with a hefty punch in his hands, looked around for "more work" today after posting his 11th straight victory and 20th knockout in 42 pro bouts.

★ ★ ★

Gomes returned to the ring after five months' voluntary idleness and knocked out game Bobby Rogers of Chicago in the ninth round of a scheduled 10-rounder.

★ ★ ★

"I hope it will get me some good shots," the 23-year-old New England featherweight champion said after his impressive performance before 1,363 hometown fans and a national television audience.

Japan First to Sign for Global Tourney

DETROIT (AP)—Japan, which finished third last year, has been certified to take part in the global world series in Detroit in September.

The double elimination baseball tournament, held in Milwaukee in 1955 and 1956, was won last year by the United States.

Japan is the first team certified for the 1957 series.

Hanks to Drive Car in Classic

Racer 2-Feet High Ready for '500'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The car that veteran Sam Hanks will pilot in this year's 500-mile speed classic at Indianapolis is so low that even the engine is lying on its side to stay down under cover.

★ ★ ★

The body of this unusual racer is not much bigger than a coffin and the hood stands less than two feet above the ground at its highest point.

★ ★ ★

The little racer — known as the Belond Exhaust Special — will be the smallest roadster-type car ever to be entered in the big Memorial Day race. But that's not the most peculiar thing about it.

It's when you raise the hood that you raise your eyebrows.

For underneath is a four-cylinder experimental Meyer-Drake engine leaning over on its right side, just 18 degrees away from being horizontal. The engine, rated at 330 horsepower at 6,000 r.p.m., is not only lying down, but also is mounted five inches left of the center of the car.

The low-slung body and the horizontal placement of the engine are designed to lower the center of gravity so the car will hold the turns better. The location of the engine to the left of center will help relieve strain on the two outside wheels by distributing the weight more evenly during the hundreds of left-hand turns Hanks will have to make during the race.

The car, built for about $30,000 designer George Salih, is sponsored by Sandy Belond. Salih was chief mechanic for Lee Wallard who drove home first in the 1951 500-miler. Belond has had a car entered at Indianapolis each year since 1953.

The Belond Special has never been tested nor driven. But Hanks, who at 41 has won just about every major racing prize except the one at Indianapolis, figures he might check in first Memorial Day.

★ ★ ★

Says Hanks:

"Like to win the big one before I retire permanently, and old dad's about due to hit the checkered flag this year."

Opening Prospects Good

200,000 State Anglers Expected to Turn Out

ALL OUTDOORS (INS) — Over 200,000 Michigan fishermen will be knee-deep in paradise this weekend ushering in the 1957 fishing season.

Fred A. Westerman, chief of the Fish Division of the Conservation Department, said "If the weather continues to be fair and warm we can expect ideal fishing" Saturday.

"We have had a wonderful spring so far," he said, "and our field workers report that streams are unusually clear and low—excellent for trout fishing.

"The Lower Peninsula is in much better condition than the Upper where plenty of snow still hangs on the banks."

Westerman's encouraging forecast also included news of trout plantings. He said about 250,000 legal-sized trout have already been dumped in streams—mostly in the lower. The division planned to plant 1.5 million grown trout before the end of the season.

How to catch them?

Best bet for early fishing is the garden worm or night crawler. Westerman reminded fishermen that 60 miles of lower Michigan streams are "flies only" areas.

Most of these restricted areas are along the Au Sable. (Be sure to check local regulations and the 1957 edition of fish law digest.)

Saturday is also the first day for other species beside the glamorous trout. All fish are legal after Saturday except large and smallmouth black bass which go on the block June 15.

Other species of fish are fighting for the news spotlight this weekend. Smelt runs are going great guns, especially at Pointe Pelee, Ont.

Dippers are also taking smelt from the mouth of the Au Sable at Oscoda. Good perch catches are being made in the lower Detroit river and off the docks at East Tawas and at the coast guard station on Tawas Bay.

Sets Record in Practice

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A side-armed javelin thrower from Puerto Rico who yesterday tossed the spear farther than the world's record distance, today was ruled ineligible for the Penn Relays.

★ ★ ★

Miguel Salcedo, 23-year-old Spaniard representing the University of Puerto Rico, is the man with the unorthodox javelin style. It was to be determined by judges at the relays which start here tomorrow if his throwing method was legal. If his tosses met the test, records could be expected to fall.

★ ★ ★

However, Bob Paul, University of Pennsylvania sports information director, revealed that Salcedo won't be eligible for championship competition. He is a transfer student from Spain and must wait a full year before he can compete under National Collegiate Athletic Assn. rules.

★ ★ ★

Yesterday while turning up for the relays Miguel uncorked a throw of 287 feet on his fourth practice toss. The world's record is 282 feet, 2 inches.

Miguel can't compete but he will give an exhibition Saturday afternoon.

Northville Feature Won by Bob Lybrook

DETROIT (AP)—Bob Lybrook won the AA-A feature trot at Northville Downs by two lengths last night. It was the 8-year-old gelding's 2nd win in two starts at Northville this season.

★ ★ ★

Victory Lynn, the favorite, took the lead early in the race and Bob Lybrook was second until Dana Irving took him out at the top of the stretch.

Bob Lybrook raced the mile in 2:10 1/5 and paid $5.60.

Redleg Power Begins to Show in NL

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

You have to figure Birdie Tebbetts finally got around to smiling at himself in the mirror when he shaved off that silver stubble of his this morning. In fact, if thinks keep going like this, he may even get around to apologizing to Lew Burdette.

★ ★ ★

It's been a tough first week of the season for the chubby Cincinnati manager what with his Redlegs, loaded with pennant potential and power, losing their first four games; Ted Kluszewski benched with a bad back; Frank Robinson coming up with a new sore arm; Johnny Temple giving in to a sore throat, and his pinch hitters delivering only three times in 15 at bats.

But things looked great today. The breaks finally are coming his way and the Redlegs have won three in a row.

They got their third victory of the season last night, piling up seven runs in the fifth inning by the improbable method of one hit and a batch of nine walks for a 9-5 decision over the Chicago Cubs.

★ ★ ★

The nine walks set a National League record, finally disposing of a 47-year-old lapse by the Redlegs themselves when they granted St. Louis eight walks in one inning back in 1910.

★ ★ ★

The victory also boosted Cincinnati another notch in the climb from the cellar, leaving the Redlegs three games back of the joint leaders — Milwaukee and Brooklyn. The Braves kept the pace with a four-home run job that beat the St. Louis Cardinals 8-7, and the Dodgers made the most of five hits to beat the New York Giants 4-3.

★ ★ ★

Philadelphia also grabbed a seven-run inning while defeating Pittsburgh 8-5 in the other NL game.

In the American, the New York Yankees gained their third one-run-margin decision of the year, beating Baltimore 3-2; Kansas City belted Cleveland with five home runs for a 17-6 breeze, and Boston nudged Washington 4-3 in 10 innings. Rain stopped Detroit at Chicago.

★ ★ ★

A total of 21 home runs were hit in yesterday's seven games and the Yankees snared two of them to beat the Orioles and Connie Johnson—the only pitcher to work a complete game for the day. Mickey Mantle's second of the year did the job in the eighth for reliefer Bob Grim, after Art Ditmar, in his first start as a Yankee, failed to hold on to the 2-0 lead Yogi Berra's homer supplied in the first inning.

★ ★ ★

Hector Lopez walloped a pair of home runs and drove in six runs for the A's, who got rid of Bob Lemon early in winning their third in a row. Ned Garver struck out nine and gave up only three hits for eight innings. But Virgil Trucks had to come on in the ninth when the Tribe scored five.

Ted Williams' third home run of the season gave the Red Sox a 3-all tie in the eighth, and a single by Jackie Jensen, following Billy Klaus' double, bagged it in the 10th.

Unanimous for Mederos

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Scowling Julio Mederos concentrated on a body and back attack in posting a unanimous decision over nimble Benny Thomas of Chicago in a lively 10-round heavyweight fight here last night.

Mederos, from Havana, Cuba, weighed 198 and Thomas 182.

EVERYTHING BENDS — When Herb Score of the Cleveland Indians pitches everything bends — wrist, mouth, elbow, back, knees and ankles. In his first two appearances this season he struck out 17 to put him well on his way to the 263 strikeouts he posted last season to lead the league.

Burdette Still Wants Apology From Tebbetts

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Baseball's l'affaire saliva, it would seem, has reached the point of no conclusion.

Birdie sees no reason to apologize. Burdette does.

The feud between Manager Birdie Tebbetts of the Cincinnati Redlegs and Lew Burdette, Milwaukee Braves pitcher, began a week ago today.

★ ★ ★

Birdie, in a red-necked mood over a 1-0 loss to the big right-hander, called him "a cheating spitballer."

★ ★ ★

Burdette, reacted with characteristic glee. He had gotten Tebbetts' goat.

The matter was referred to National League President Warren Giles for an interpretation of rule 8:02 which governs pitcher conduct.

★ ★ ★

Giles, in effect, gave Burdette a clean bill of pitching health.

Burdette, far from pacified, said Tebbetts owed him and his family a public apology for calling him a cheater. Said Tebbetts:

"It is the stated impression of the league office that Lew Burdette is creating a psychological situation by developing the feeling that he is throwing the spitball—he has succeeded. I am convinced.

★ ★ ★

Meanwhile, came another statement from Freddie Hutchinson, whose St. Louis Cardinals lost to the Braves yesterday. He scoffed at Burdette's demand for an apology.

★ ★ ★

Hutchinson, a former pitcher with the Detroit Tigers and among the first to be quoted as saying Burdette threw a spitter, said:

★ ★ ★

"Shucks, he's probably been called a lot of names. That's part of baseball. You call somebody something and he calls you something. It doesn't mean anything. They often called me a 'cheater' and worse, but I never thought of asking for an apology.

The next chapter may be provided when Burdette faces the Redlegs in Cincinnati Saturday night.

Leaders Retain Status in ABC

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—A San Francisco team rolled the best series in the open division of the American Bowling Congress last night, but neither the open division or booster standings had any newcomers.

★ ★ ★

The L&L Delicatessen team of San Francisco shot a 2,838 to lead the scoring parade, rolling games of 797, 915 and 956.

★ ★ ★

John Bazzanella led off for the Californians with a 619 series.

The Amour Star Smokies of Fort Worth tallied 2,510 for last night's best booster team score.

★ ★ ★

Charles Lewis of Denver, Colo., fired a 639 set in the singles yesterday in the best minor events performance. He shot three identical scores of 213 to mark up the triplicate.

★ ★ ★

Arnold Yergin of Memphis, Tenn., lined up the tournament's 19th triplicate series later when he shot 182 in each of his three games. Neither score approached the leaders.

Union Nine Practices

Arrangements were made today for a practice session today at 5 p.m. for members of UAW-CIO No. 594 class A baseball club. Players will report at the south diamond, Columbia-Joslyn field.

Lopez Leading KC Attack

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Hector Lopez Kansas City's slender infielder from Panama, is sparking an Athletics invasion of unaccustomed heights among American League sluggers.

The 6-foot, 168-pound Lopez, hitting .344 in eight games, led a 17-6 Kansas City slaughter of Cleveland last night as he drove in six runs.

He made four official trips to the plate to collect two homers, a single and a run scoring sacrifice fly.

It was only a few weeks ago that Lopez said he was going to stop going for the long ball and concentrate on his batting average. He said his preoccupation with slugging was responsible for his failure to hit consistently in his sophomore season and his .273 average. He hit 18 home runs.

In his rookie year with the A's Lopez hit .290 and banged out 15 home runs.

Rosewall Beats Gonzales Again

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y. (AP) — Australia's Ken Rosewall turned in his second straight pro tennis victory over world champion Pancho Gonzales last night, winning 6-3, 6-4 before 2,500 at the Westchester County Community center.

★ ★ ★

Gonzales, however, stills holds the lead, 37-18, in their transcontinental tour.

In a preliminary match, Pancho Segura defeated Dinny Pails 8-5 for a 36-4 lead in their series with one draw.

CHICAGO — Elmer Singleton will get a pitching test with the Cubs next spring. He had an 18-8 record with Seattle in 1956.

High Potential in Drake Event

New Record for Mile Seems Certainty, if Track Is Fast

DES MOINES (AP)—A Drake Relays field with exceptional record-breaking potential will open a two-day assault upon track and field marks tomorrow.

★ ★ ★

But what ultimately happens, of course, will depend to a large extent upon the weather. A year ago Drake officials figured a batch of new records was probable. Their most careful calculations, however, went askew in the wind and the rain.

★ ★ ★

Dave Sime of Duke did set a record 9.4 in the 100-yard dash and Bob Gutowski of Occidental, Calif. College went indoors for a Drake pole vault mark of 14 feet, 8¼ inches. But that was all the record-breaking accomplished.

★ ★ ★

Virtually certain to go unless the track is muddy is the Drake mile run mark of 4:08.4 set by West Santee in 1955.

Chiefs Face Big Task

Defend CMC Track Title Saturday

By H. GUY MOATS

For the 2nd consecutive weekend, Pontiac High School's track squad will engage in a title defense, Saturday when Chiefs try to hold on to their Central Michigan Relays crown, won in 1956.

And Coach Dean Wilson's crew knows full well it faces the same kind of a task that loomed down at Mansfield, Ohio last weekend. Chiefs made a valiant effort but were shorn of the big award, just missing the top 10 teams with a 10-point total.

There are at least two opponents that appeared at Mansfield, also entered at Mt. Pleasant. In addition to Flint Northern, which also had 10 points at Mansfield, Birmingham will have a team in the meet.

Northern is rated the favorite, but off the Mansfield results Chiefs are still to be reckoned with, led by ace jumper Hudson Ray. Willie Prewitt of Willow Run, who set a new broad jump mark at the Ohio meet, is a Class B entry. Ray leaped 6 feet 5 5/8 for a CMC invitational record this spring, and is favored to win this event Saturday. Fred Brooks, who has bettered 6-3 in practice, but who had a bad day at Mansfield, should also be well up in the jump. Ray and Alex Barge were "off" last spring at CMC and went out under six feet. Barge will turn his talents Saturday to running in several relays.

Al Thomas, CMC meet director, reported today that 135 teams had entered the three-class event, with all 1956 champions represented.

Pontiac area will have a good representation, with Chiefs taking a full squad, Maples with a strong group, Waterford and Hazel Park with several entries in Class A. Valley squads, rated contenders in several instances include besides Northern, Saginaw, Arthur Hill, Flint Central and Bay City Central along with Lansing Sexton, a strong outfit. Troy, Rochester, Romeo, Lapeer, Farmington are in Class B.

Wilson said today he would name his starters after today's workout at Wisner Field. They will in all probability be about the same as for the Mansfield trip.

In last year's title effort, led by the brilliant Hayes Jones, Chiefs compiled 68½ points. They won the 880 relay (tied with Sexton), sprint medley relay, middle-distance relay, mile run, high and low hurdles and broad jump.

TAKING A PUNCH — Del Flanagan (right) of St. Paul winces as he takes a punch tossed by Kid Gavilan in their 10-round welterweight bout last night. Flanagan won a unanimous decision before a crowd which paid a Minnesota boxing gate record of $43,796 in St. Paul.

Fights Listed on Flint Card

FLINT (AP) — Young Joe Gray of Dearborn, Mich., will take on the veteran Ralph (Tiger) Jones, fifth-ranked middleweight contender, in a 10-round bout here tonight.

The 24-year-old Gray has won 18 and lost one in his professional career. He has not fought this year.

For Jones, the winner of 44 fights in 64 starts, the bout will be his third in 30 days.

Five preliminary fights involving nine Michigan fighters are on the card. The four-round preliminaries:

★ ★ ★

Osee Groom of Detroit vs. Leroy Duez of Detroit, heavyweights.

Jimmy Wright of Saginaw vs. Bill Clemens of Detroit, light heavyweights.

John Seymour of Lansing vs. Chet Wiley of Detroit, light heavyweights.

John Powell of Detroit vs. Chuck Craig of Monroe, middleweights.

Leo Desjardins of Windsor vs. George Green of Detroit, welterweights.

Brighton's Relay Win Edges Laker Thinclads

Victory in the final event of the afternoon—the 880 relay—brought Brighton a 57½-51½ triumph over West Bloomfield Wednesday in a dual track meet at Keego Harbor.

Brighton's Jerry Ramey was the only double winner with victories in the 100 and 220 dashes. John Decoteau, Gene Neeley and Rolf Gordhamer each made eight points for the Lakers, who won six events.

WEDNESDAY'S HOME RUNS

Mantle, Berra, Yankees; Ennis, Cardinals; Adcock, Aaron, Mathews, Crandall, Braves; Boiger, Neeman, Banks, Cubs; Thurman, Hedlegs; Bowman, Lopata, Phillies; Williams, Red Sox; Lopez 2, Simpson, Skizas, Smith, Athletics; Busby, Maris, Indians.

Patty Berg Is Sharp in Western's Prelim

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Hot weather and a hot 4-under-par practice round by Patty Berg, veteran golf money winner, set the stage for today's tee off in the 28th anuual Western Open golf tournament.

★ ★ ★

About 63 amateurs were on hand for the $5,000 tournament. Defending champion Beverly Hanson of Indio, Calif., was ready to lead 24 professionals around the 6,330-yard Montgomery Country Club course.

★ ★ ★

Eighteen holes of medal play were scheduled today through Sunday. The championship division of 32 will be culled from the field on the basis of the first two round scores.

Optimistic Forecaster

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP) — George France Jr. is a greater optimist and a better prognosticator than most basketball coaches.

When his Douglass High School team began its 20-game schedule last fall, he predicted:

"We're gonna win 'em all."

His boys proved him 95 per cent correct. Except for a two-point loss on the road — in the 19th game—they won 'em all.

100th Birthday Fails to Impress Columnist

Congratulations to Elevators? Never!

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS)—This year marks the 100th birthday of the modern safety elevator, but you don't catch me wishing it a happy centennial. No wild operators — alive or electronic—could drag a "congratulations" out of me.

★ ★ ★

The reason is that frankly I have an aversion to excursion by the perpendicular pulley system. It makes me nervous.

It is fraught with irritabilities, anxieties, pops in the ears, shiftings in the stomach and lighted cigarettes in the small of the back. Furthermore, people on elevators do not behave like people on less transitory surfaces.

Something comes over them, as their feet rise helplessly from solid street level, and they behave like connoisseurs of the cliche.

"Hot enough (and—cold enough) for you?" they say.

"Long time no see," they gag.

"Fourteenth floor, and don't spare the gas," they exclaim.

PAINFUL DIALOGUE

The combination of rarefied atmosphere in a lift, and conscious brevity of conversation time, makes for dialogue that assails the ear with the same painful simplicity of a showgirl talking off her fourth martini. A man on an elevator is caught in a world he never made—between floors and bores—and wise is he who can seal his ears and lips.

This is an especially difficult feat to master, however, due to the nature of elevator operators who fall — and rise—in two categories: The garrulous and the grave.

The talkative boys appear to outnumber the quiet types by two-to-one, at least in convivial business buildings where men remove their hats and say "parm me" when stepping on others' feet.

They talk constantly to their customers, and since their customers realize that their lives are temporarily in the operators' hands, they feel obligated (to dependents and insurance companies) to laugh at the little witticisms. Otherwise, such operators might become unstrung. And the car with them.

The non-talking operator is often even more torturous company over the long route than the loquacious boy, for with his very quiet comes the knowledge that this man is the master of your fate.

Numbly you note that he stares straight ahead, and you wonder vaguely if the ups and downs of his life have brought him to the cracking point. He seems oblivious, and the silence is unbearable.

"Well," you say, nerves finally snapping, "hot enough for you?"

The self-service operator is different. Worse. In the automatic elevator there is no fellow idiot with whom to pass the time as you click restlessly from one floor to the next, staring at a small red button marked "emergency stop."

★ ★ ★

In this case, your fate has been removed from human hands and put into the "brain" of an electronic monster.

Can it handle the situation? Or will it forget one day that you live on the ninth floor, and continue up to the 11th—which is one nebulous story over the penthouse?

The people who make modern safety elevators claim that with 100 years' experience, they are most certainly safe and swift and comfy. But to me, they're sort of comparable to such other modern day stuffs as prices, Presley and the Politburo.

★ ★ ★

They wouldn't make me so nervous if somewhere, with my own hands, I had the power to hold 'em steady.

Excuse It, Please

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — The Fire Department's assistant communications superintendent, Edward L. Smith, said he was responsible Tuesday for sounding the disaster siren that startled city residents. Actor Rip Torn Ponders Switch to Another Name

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Can a guy get ahead in the acting game with the name of Rip Torn?

That's the important issue facing a 26-year-old Texan for whom important things have been predicted. His name is not one of those dandies concocted by a Hollywood agent seeking attention for a client.

"It's really my name," he protested. "My family name is Torn, and folks called both my dad and uncle Rip. I was known as little Rip when I was younger. The name really stuck when I went to Texas A&M."

His real first name is Elmore, so you can understand why he favors Rip. But when he first started a serious acting career, he encountered opposition.

★ ★ ★

"I was up for a big dramatic show in New York TV," he recalled. "They seemed to like my work, but after a week's rehearsal one of the bosses said of course I'd have to use a different name.

"I went home and thought about it. The more I thought, the madder I got. Eating money was a little scarce, but I told my agent to tell 'em if they didn't want me as Rip Torn, they could get another boy."

They took him as Rip Torn, but that didn't stop the arguments. His fellow students at the Actors Studio tried to convince him to make a switch. Rip Torn was too Hollywoody, too much like the modish verb-names of Rock, Tab, Touch, etc.

★ ★ ★

Rip's career took a real upswing when Elia Kazan signed him to a contract. He had small roles in "Baby Doll" (he was the dentist in opening scenes) and "Face in the Crowd" (one line). Now he's here for a big role in "Time Limit" with Richard Widmark. Kazan has counseled him that a name change is advisable.

"I just don't know," said the confused Rip.

Nobody has asked me, but my opinion is that he'd be nuts to change from Rip Torn. So it does evoke some snickers at first. But if he's a good enough actor, folks will forget the cuteness of the name.

★ ★ ★

Besides, it's a good gimmick. People will certainly remember the name Rip Torn. It will be good for numerous articles. Like this one.

Blind Boy's Wish Becomes Reality: He Drives Train

MINEOLA, N. Y. (AP)—Six-year-old Raymond Kajowski, who is blind, loves trains.

Raymond, who lives in Greenlawn, Long Island wrote in Braille to the Long Island Rail Road. He said he got a set of trains for Christmas and added:

★ ★ ★

"I see things with my hands and not with my eyes and I was wondering if I could see a real train. I have lots of fun with my trains but a real one would be better."

★ ★ ★

Yesterday the Long Island put Raymond aboard the cab of a diesel out of Jamaica, Queens. From the lap of engineer George Archibald, the youngster handled the throttle, brakes and whistle as he brought the train here.

Along the route the engineer described to Raymond the passing scene and alerted him to the crossings.

Call Hobbies Aid to the Harried

Industry's Chief Says Its Stunning Growth Due to Public Needs

CHICAGO (INS) — If you're a harried businessman, nagging housewife, problem child, or an oldster with time on your hands, turn to hobbies for your salvation.

This is the firm conviction of Alvin G. Davis, a 38-year-old Chicagoan who is the new president of the Hobby Industry Association of America.

A dynamic man who believes "there's always room at the top," Davis and a partner started National Model Distributors, Inc., 13 years ago with $2,500 "mostly borrowed." Last year the firm grossed two million dollars.

★ ★ ★

Davis attributes the phenomenal growth of the hobby industry to the public's needs for creative work and the manufacturer's know-how which has produced attractive kits at prices "everyone can afford."

As examples, Davis cited $3.95 gas engines which formerly sold for $35, and $27 electric train sets which a few years ago only "rich kids" could afford at $100 and up.

This low cost manufacturing, Davis maintains, is the "work of some of the best technical, engineering and educational minds in the nation — not a group of boys and girls who forgot to grow up."

★ ★ ★

Davis believes every individual has some latent creative talent and that unless it is harnessed the person is going to be frustrated.

New Testimony Shows Conflicts

McClellan Sends Court Evidences of Perjury in Rackets Hearing

By G. MILTON KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP)—Fresh information which Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) said may help show who was lying was sent to the Justice Department today along with conflicting testimony of a prostitute and a deputy sheriff.

McClelland declined to give any details of the additional information, except to say it went beyond that heard publicly by the special Senate committee he is directing in a probe of improper labor-management activities.

He concluded a one-day hearing yesterday with the comment that "I'm getting a little tired of this committee being imposed on by liars." He asked "appropriate action" by the Justice Department, and said this could be a perjury indictment.

Yesterday's session was a postscript to earlier public hearings on vice and corruption in Portland, Ore., and involved the credibility of the committee's key witness in the probe, Portland racketeer James B. (Big Jim) Elkins.

Mrs. Kathleen Lucille Cooper Weeks, 25, an admitted prostitute, testified she had sworn falsely in an affidavit that Elkins was mixed up in narcotics and prostitution in Portland.

She said she did so because of threats by Deputy Sheriff George Minielly that she would be sent to jail if she refused. She said Minielly suggested the answers she put in the affidavit.

★ ★ ★

Minielly then swore that this turnabout in her testimony was "the greatest hoax ever pushed onto the American public." He alleged that she changed her story under a threat from Oregon's Asst. Atty. Gen. Arthur Kaplan that she might be prosecuted for perjury. Minielly denounced Kaplan as "a mental case."

★ ★ ★

He denied her allegations and those of Mrs. Mary Childress that he had threatened them if they refused to sign an affidavit falsely accusing Elkins. The affidavit, he said, was "their own" and no product of coaching by him.

Mrs. Childress said she had been arrested on prostitution charges "only once," in 1933.

Japan Official Asks Nuclear Tests Halt

TOKYO (AP) — Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi called today for quick agreement to end nuclear weapons tests and a basic "meeting of minds" between Japan and the United States on all issues.

★ ★ ★

"We demand the prohibition of all (nuclear weapon) experiments . . . solely and purely from the standpoint of humanity," Kishi told the Foreign Correspondents' Club in one of Japan's boldest statements on the atomic question.

★ ★ ★

"I hope from the bottom of my heart the agreement will be United States, Britain and the Soviet Union for either suspension or prohibition of all nuclear tests," he continued, speaking in English.

2 Catholic Nuns Visiting Families After 29 Years

DETROIT (AP) — Two Detroit-born Catholic nuns are home today, visiting family and friends they have not seen in 29 years. Sister Mary Mathilde and Sister Mary Petrus arrived at Willow Run Airport here yesterday.

Their father, John A. Wigman, 75, of Pennock, Minn., and a host of other relatives from nine cities in five states were on hand to greet them.

The two nuns, who teach in a school for deaf, dumb and feeble-minded children at Hertogenbosch, Holland, hope to visit such schools in the Chicago area during their visit.

Before returning abroad May 14 they expect to visit relatives in Grand Rapids, Mich., Morton Grove, Ill., Appleton, Racine and Kansasville, Wis., and Hickman Mills, Mo.

Priest Calls Him 'Danger to Faith'

Catholics to Shun Graham

NEW YORK (AP)—A priest's admonition that Roman Catholics should not attend evangelist Billy Graham's forthcoming New York crusade has led to a statement by Graham's office here that his sermons will be "the simple gosple gospel message as found in the Bible."

The statement yesterday was authorized by Graham at his Montreat, N. C., home where he is preparing for the six-week New York crusade starting May 15.

The Graham office statement said the evangelist's message here will be "the same message that he has always preached," and added:

"It is the message which has characterized Orthodox Christianity through the ages. The doors of the crusade will be open to all who wish to attend."

★ ★ ★

The new statement to Roman Catholics not to attend the crusade or listen to Graham's broadcasts was made by the Rev. John E. Kelly, director of the Bureau of Information of the National Catholic Welfare Conference, Washington, D. C.

The priest, writing in the current issue of Homiletic and Pastoral Review, said Graham is "a danger to the faith" for Catholics who listen to him.

Flint Serviceman Guilty of Murder

Florida Court Convicts Marine in Fatal Knifing; Mercy Recommended

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A circuit court jury last night convicted Marine Pfc. Walter Coggins, 20, of first degree murder in the fatal knifing of Raymond E. Devonshire, but recommended mercy and saved him from the electric chair.

Coggins' mother and father, here from Flint, Mich., sat in the courtroom when the jury verdict was read.

★ ★ ★

The boyish-looking Coggins, who spent four years in the Marine Corps, declined to testify in his own behalf. He stared stonily at a wall of Circuit Judge George E. Holt's courtroom as the verdict was read.

The verdict makes a life sentence mandatory but Coggins will be eligible for parole.

The jury deliberated five hours and 50 minutes before reaching a verdict. One member reported that at one point the jury stood 11-1 for the death penalty.

★ ★ ★

Coggins' only defense was that he was "very drunk at the time" he poured another drink in Devonshire's apartment, picked up a paring knife and plunged it into the 51-year-old victim's chest as he lay on a bed.

Educator Rips TV as Way to Solve Teacher Shortage

LOS ANGELES (INS) — A spokesman for 500,000 classroom teachers believes that neither educational television nor the teacher aide plan will solve the nation's teacher shortage.

David C. Guhl, president of the Department of Classroom Teachers of the National Education Association, told Los Angeles newsmen that it would be better to close schools than to put children in classrooms with an unqualified teacher.

★ ★ ★

"Educational TV can mean better teaching," Guhl said, "but it won't replace the teacher any more than radio or motion pictures did."

Guhl, who is on a year's leave from his high school physics classroom in Connellsville, Pa., while heading NEA'S biggest wing, is on a nationwide tour of school systems and teacher organizations.

The educator said no fair plan of merit ratings to reward the most competent teachers has been devised yet. But his organization "hasn't closed the door on any method which will improve the schools."

He said half-day sessions are a nationwide problem and "we can't be satisfied as long as a single half-day class exists."

The veteran teacher laid the blame for the school shortage right in the laps of the citizens.

He pointed out that school administrators are willing to build more classrooms, But, he maintained, cramming more children into each classroom is no solution.

He said the NEA has set 25 students as a desirable class size, and added: "Thirty is tops. Any more handicaps the teacher."

Seek Ban on Chicks, Ducks as Easter Pets

HUNTINGT..., W. Va. (AP) — The Huntington Humane Society asked the city to ban the sale of chicks and ducklings as Easter pets for children.

The Society said that aside from its opposition on the ground of cruelty to animals (children often cause the death of these pets by cruel or constant handling), the children themselves may be afflicted by them.

The Humane Society quoted from the Journal of the American Medical Assn. that among diseases traced to such pets is an intestinal infection similar to parrot fever.

Using explosives the army has developed a method of sinking telegraph poles in loose sand or earth with having to dig a hole.

Grain Futures Mostly Advance

CHICAGO (AP)— Grain futures mostly advanced in early dealings on the board of trade today on buying influenced largely by a government report of grain stocks in all positions.

Soybeans were up as much as 3¼ cents at the start before dipping somewhat on profit taking. Wheat showed gains of around a cent, and corn and oats were fractionally ahead.

May wheat lagged behind other deliveries on selling inspired by an unconfirmed rumor that the government is selling red wheat at prices well below the market level.

Near the end of the first hour old style wheat was ⅝ higher to ½ lower, May $2.24¾, new style wheat was ½ to ¾ higher, July $2.11⅝, corn was ⅛ higher to ⅛ lower, May $1.28¼, oats were unchanged to ⅜ higher, May 71, rye was ¼ to ¾ higher, May $1.29¾, soybeans were ½ to 2 cents higher May $2.42⅛, and lard was 5 to 17 cents a hundred pounds higher, May $13.82.

WASHINGTON (INS) — Sen. Charles Potter (R-Mich) has recommended GOP national committeeman Clifford O'Sullivan for federal judge of the Eastern District of Michigan.

Potter told newsmen yesterday he made the recommendation to Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr., who in turn is expected to carry it to the White House.

O'Sullivan, if appointed, would succeed retiring Judge Arthur A. Koscinski.

The senator termed O'Sullivan an "outstanding attorney in Michigan" and said he consulted with the State Bar Association before making the decision.

Plans to Escape Ingenue Roles

Leaves Retirement as Homemaker to Tackle Tonight's 'Climax'

By CHARLES DENTON

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Wanda Hendrix, the wide-eyed ingenue of post-World War II movies, is back in business after three years in the kitchen, and there have been some drastic changes made.

★ ★ ★

Those pretty-face-with-naught-behind-it roles that were her unwilling specialty before she retired into matrimony are strictly out from now on.

From here in, the green-eyed brunette declared firmly, it's going to be serious acting or nothing.

"Either I'm going to do something," she said, "or fall flat on my face.

"I want to go into it with an open mind," she went on after winding up a rehearsal for her "comeback" vehicle, "Avalanche at Devil's Pass" for tonight's Climax.

'JUST WHAT I WANT'

"I don't have to work, so I can do just what I want to do, which I think is a very good position to be in. I think I'm at an ideal age (28), and I have a certain kind of face. It isn't a beautiful face, but it isn't regular, and I can do things with it."

★ ★ ★

Wanda said she is backing up her natural assets, which are considerable, with dramatic coaching to get rid of the rust of three years as a plain housewife and a liberal dose of determination.

"In the beginning of my marriage, my husband (James Stack) didn't want me to work, but now I have his complete approval," she said.

"I haven't had any children, which I wanted very much, and we haven't built our home yet, so I feel I need something to fasten to, and show business is something I love. I feel my marriage is settled enough now to give it another try.

"I'd like to be able to do two things. First, I want to get myself out of this category of big-eyed ingenue. People remember the things I did like that. I was wrongly handled, as many of us were, but now I want to do something with guts.

"Second, I'd like to do comedy. Oh, I don't want to be so terribly arty, and I wouldn't want to do the things that Shelley Winters and Ava Gardner do. But I want to prove something to a lot of people.

"I'm serious — very, very serious."

Columnist Winchell to Start TV Series

NEW YORK (AP)—Walter Winchell says he will start a new television series next fall with the American Broadcasting Co. and is withdrawing a seven-million-dollar breach of contract suit against the network.

In March 1955 the columnist-commentator announced he was leaving ABC because of disagreements over finances and protection against libel suits. He quit the network three months later.

In September 1955 he filed suit, charging he had later learned he was protected by insurance from punitive damages and told ABC he was covered, but that the network declined to reinstate him.

★ ★ ★

The new show, to be filmed here and in Hollywood, will be titled "The Walter Winchell File," based on his experiences as a newspaperman. Winchell said the series is slated to start in September or October.

Engineers Seek to Alter Salmon Spawning Area

WALLA WALLA, Wash., (INS) — U. S. Army engineers are going to see if salmon will accept artificial spawning grounds or if they insist upon returning to natural breding grounds.

The engineers are going to build artificial grounds at the McNary damsite in the Columbia River, according to Col. Myron E. Page, district engineer at Walla Walla. The grounds will be lined with sand and gravel from known spawning areas and every attempt will be made to fool the fish into thinking they're at home.

Need for such a study has been heightened by the fact that construction of McNary dam will affect several natural breeding areas. Construction of other dams promises to increase the problem.

Present plans call for trapping hundreds of female salmon, along with enough males to set up housekeeping. Some of the fish will be allowed to spawn naturally in the artificial grounds, but others will be stripped of their eggs to see how many fingerlings survive.

★ ★ ★

Plans also call for changing water temperatures for different batches of fish to see if that helps them accept new spawning areas or increases the number of fish which are born from eggs stripped from the mother.

Students to Plant Trees at 6 Schools

Tomorrow Is Arbor Day

Arbor Day rites will be held tomorrow when children at six schools plant trees to commemorate the 1957 observance.

Brief ceremonies are planned at Hawthorne, Mark Twain, Bethune, Emerson, Malkim and Webster Schools.

★ ★ ★

This will be the 85th anniversary of Arbor Day in the country. It was started on April 10, 1872, when J. Sterling Morton introduced a bill to the Nebraska Legislature encouraging the yearly planting of trees.

City Forester Donald E. Nagel said it is hoped that Friday's programs will be a start of a custom in Pontiac, to stress the importance of trees and their beauty to children.

The Pontiac branch of the Farm and Garden Club donated 85 flowering crab trees which will be planted tomorrow as the city's contribution to Arbor Day. Most will be planted in Beaudette and Jaycee Parks, Nagel said.

Post Office to Sell 3-Cent Stamp Coils

Coils of 100 3 cent stamps will be placed on sale at the Pontiac Post Office starting today, Acting Postmaster Leslie H. Dean, announces.

The coils will sell for $3, the value of the stamps. Until now, coils have been available only in large sizes which the average patron does not buy, he said.

Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield authorized the new coils for sale in larger post offices only as an experiment to determine public reaction and only a limited supply will be available, he added.

Special plastic stamp dispensers for the 100-stamp coils will be offered for sale as well at 5 cent each, Dean said.

They have been indicted by the Bohn Grand Jury for alleged election irregularities.

Scott Extradition Hearing Today

California Asks Return of Suspect in Slaying of Wealthy Wife

LANSING (AP) — An extradition hearing was scheduled in the governor's office today (11 a.m.) on an attempt to return L. Ewing Scott to California to face charges of murder, forgery and grand theft.

Scott, dapper, 60-year old investment counselor, is charged in connection with the disappearance of his wife, Evelyn Thrisby Scott, 63, who has been missing since May of 1955.

Scott was originally charged with theft and forgery for cashing checks on his wife's account. He was charged with murder after he fled California.

He was caught in Windsor, Ont., April 15, while trying to drive to Canada with a new car. No trace of his wife or her body has been found although parts of her teeth and glasses were found at her Bellaire, Calif., home and she is believed to be dead.

California Gov. Goodwin J. Knight signed papers asking for Scott's return on the forgery charge. Arthur Alarcon, deputy district attorney for Los Angeles County, will present the papers to Alfred L. Fitt, legal advisor to Gov. Williams, who will conduct the hearing.

Fitt will then report to Willimas, who must decide if Scott should be returned to Los Angeles County.

"If this keeps up I'll be needing it."

Polly Bergen to Play Role of Helen Morgan

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Polly Bergen, the gal that came along and helped Ted Lewis make Circleville, O., famous, has whipped out there to Hollywood to do the Helen Morgan Story on TV—and I asked her how she was going to play the part.

★ ★ ★

"Was she really a great singer?" I asked Polly. "I heard different opinions."

"I read up on her," said Polly, "till I guess I know more about her than her mother.

"Maybe she wasn't a great singer, but she could make you cry. She reminded you of all the lost women in the world. She had pathos in her voice."

Polly isn't going to make this just the story of a gal singer who drank a lot.

"There's a lot more to it than that," said Polly—but exactly what, she wasn't telling me yet. Helen Morgan died in 1941 in Chicago at the age of 41; she was then in a cut version of George White's Scandals. Her mother, who lives here, is now around 75, and has convinced Polly that Helen never had any children of her own—which has been occasionally in dispute.

"What all are you taking to Hollywood?" I asked Polly.

"My husband, my child, and myself, and a month's clothes for each! Isn't that enough?" she flung back.

★ ★ ★

Funny thing about this TV show. Our teen-agers don't know much about Helen Morgan. Polly'll make Helen Morgan famous to them. And for the old-timers who don't know too much about Polly Bergen, Helen Morgan'll make her famous to them.

The "lone eagle," the first man to fly New York to Paris nonstop, will observe the anniversary of his memorable flight a ta Paris aviation show, to be held June 23 through 28.

The aerial display will be held at the Le Bourget Airport where Lindbergh landed on May 21, 1927.

The anniversary celebrations will be combined with those marking the 50th birthday of the U. S. Air Force.

It was on Aug. 1, 1907 that an Aeronautical Division was established in the office of the chief signal officer, United States Army.

STARTED WITH THREE

The division, created to study the "flying machine," consisted of one officer and two enlisted men. The Air Force no wnumbers some 900,000 men and women.

The air show will consist of a display of various U. S., French and British aircraft on the ground and in flying demonstrations. Other allies may also join in this combined tribute.

Aerobatics teams will put on performances.

Memobires of Lindbergh's feat, that fired Parisians into a series of wild spontaneous demonstrations will be revived when the motion picture "The Spirit of St. Louis" opens in the French capital, May 23.

New Plane May Shatter Records

Air Force Predicts X15 Rocket Ship to Travel at 4,000 M.P.H.

WASHINGTON (INS) — The Air Force predicts that its newly-revealed "X15" rocket research plane will shatter all existing records by soaring into the fringes of outer space at speeds up to 4,000 miles an hour.

The plane is already under construction at North American Aviation, Inc., in Los Angeles and will succeed the previous record-holders — the X1 and X2.

The Air Force, which took partial wraps off the X15 Tuesday, said wind tunnel tests are nearing an end and specified that the craft will use a liquid-propellent rocket engine of greater thrust than the earlier models.

The official Air Force speed record is 1,650 miles an hour — twice the speed of sound — and the altitude record is "above 90,000 feet." The X2, however, reportedly reached 126,000 at 2,100 miles an hour before it crashed last September.

The anticipated speeds of X15 indicated an apparent breakthrough in developing new metal alloys to withstand the intense heat developed by air friction. The Air Force's only comment was that new design techniques provided "considerable weight and size savings."

Earlier, it was learned that a 40-foot "model" of the Inter-Continental Ballistics Missile reached speeds of 10,000 miles an hour in firings off the Florida coast.

The missile is a three-stage rocket, named the X17. It weighs only six tons compared to the nearly 100 tons expected in the true ICBM which will carry heavier payloads over 5,500-mile distances.

Korea Economy Building Slowly

Industrial Gain Good; Food Is Basic Problem Due to Overcrowding

WASHINGTON—High on the Senate's agenda is consideration of a ten-year treaty of friendship, commerce and navigation between the United States and the Republic of Korea.

The Korean War, which ended in 1953, wiped out more than 50 per cent of the Republic's productive capacity. Harbors and railroads were crippled; factories and mines were destroyed; the fishing fleet, once the world's sixth largest, was decimated; one-fifth of all homes lay in ruins.

Three and a half years of toil, plus more than $1 billion in aid from the United States and the United Nations, have revitalized this shattered economy. Cotton textile production, the number one industry, has increased by almost fifty per cent. Building construction has been sparked by an $8.5 million cement plant at Mungyong and a new factory that turns out 12 million square feet of window glass annually.

United Nations help has restored the fishing fleet. Rebuilt mines and smelters are exploiting rich deposits of graphite and tungsten.

But, as in many Asian countries, food production remains the primary problem. Seven out of every ten Koreans work in the fields, trying to scratch a living from the overcrowded, farmed - out land. Rice is the principal crop, followed by barley, wheat and beans.

DUTCH DIKES ON COAST

In an effort to increase the tillable soil, the government — with United Nations help—is building a series of Dutch-style dikes to reclaim tideland along the west coast. Already 1,500 acres have been wrested from the sea and will be planted in rice this year. Elsewhere, hundreds of local irrigation projects are aimed at opening up 463,000 additional acres to cultivation by 1958.

These signs inspire hope that "The Land of the Morning Calm" will regain its place as a self-sufficient nation.

Actors Equity Battles Against Rule Evasions

NEW YORK (AP) — Peeved at what's been happening, Actors Equity has launched a campaign to stop what it regards as evasions of rules concerning rehearsal time for stage shows.

The union, which represents all performing dramatic artists, said it had discovered some acting schools rehearse shows as a pretext for classroom exercises, and some off Broadway enterprises persuade hopefuls to rehearse for several weeks before signing a formal contract.

Turnabout—Fair Play

SANTA FE, N. M. (AP) — When the 1957 New Mexico Legislature adjourned recently most lawmakers scurried around with cardboard boxes cleaning out their cluttered desks.

Someone noted that at least a half a dozen senatorial wives were in the upper chamber at the time — and none made a move to give an assist to the housecleaning.
