Expect Record Holiday Traffic to Clog Highways

Long Weekend Safety Program Being Readied

Red Cross, Guardsmen, CAP Slated to Join in Concerted Effort

By AL LOWMAN

With record holiday traffic expected to flood Oakland County highways over the long Independence Day weekend, police officials here today began throwing their law enforcement and accident prevention machinery into high gear.

Combined efforts on the part of State Police, the Oakland County Sheriff's Dept. and Pontiac Police in co-operation with the local Red Cross Chapter, National Guard units, Civil Air Patrol and other groups are being meshed in a drive to hold down a nationwide toll of 380 fatalities predicted by the National Safety Council.

Sheriff Frank Irons, Police Chief Herbert W. Straley and State Police of the Pontiac Post have revealed stringent traffic controls which will go into effect Friday night.

Irons said all available patrol cars and deputies will maintain constant vigil on all county secondary and main arteries.

Operating in conjunction with the Sheriff's Dept. will be 37 volunteer Red Cross first aid instructors who will man 22 radio-equipped cars on call to give emergency treatment to accident victims. Eleven of the cars will roam the county area while the remainder will be stationed at critical intersections.

A Civil Air Patrol plane will maintain a constant daylight sky patrol for quick spotting of traffic jams. Equipped with a 2-way radio, the pilot will notify police patrol cars of serious tie-ups.

All available traffic officers and special police will maintain 24-hour patrols of Pontiac streets, especially main trunklines, throughout the critical period between Friday night and midnight Monday, Straley said.

State Police Commissioner Joseph A. Childs, who warned that the weekend traffic may be the heaviest in history, has canceled all leave days to permit a maximum number of troopers to take

Uncertainties Cause Delay in Building County Roads

Uncertainties over possible developments from three directions are holding up an accelerated road-building program in Oakland County, Deputy State Highway Commissioner George Foster said yesterday.

Foster, however, repeated his statement made to Lt. Gov. Philip A. Hart Monday that Oakland "would not be slighted in the final analysis."

The in-the-air status of the proposed toll road, question marks about forthcoming federal aid plus pending results of surveys still uncompleted were listed by Foster as preventing any present enumeration of projects which will be done in the county.

Protests that Oakland was being overlooked arose last week after announcement of the Highway Department's priority list of rural interstate routes to be improved from about half the first billion dollars in proceeds from the new 1½-cent gas tax.

ONLY TWO ELIGIBLE

The only Oakland road included was U.S. 16 (Grand River). U.S. 16 and U.S. 10 are the only interstate routes in the county and the only two eligible to benefit from the new tax money.

Local officials have pointed out at least two projects are badly needed to relieve traffic congestion on U.S. 10.

Some $600,000,000 of work is planned from the tax-boost receipts, to be done on urban interstate roads. A priority list for this work can not be completed until results of a Detroit area traffic survey, including Oakland's southeast corner, are available in about six weeks, said Foster.

Work on U.S. 10 through Pontiac and the Ferndale-Royal Oak area might be included in the urban priorities, he indicated.

Seek 6-County Water Survey

Will Send Preliminary Data on Area Situation to Detroit Group

A decision to seek a six-county water survey was reached last night by more than 50 representatives of Oakland, Macomb and St. Clair Counties meeting at the Royal Oak City Hall.

First step, they decided will be St. Clair's admission into the Supervisor's Inter-County Water Committee now including Oakland, Wayne, Monroe, Macomb and Washtenaw.

Preliminary water data will be gathered from the six-county area and turned over to the Detroit Metropolitan Area Regional Planning Commission for analysis on the basis of population trends and industrial needs.

Metropolitan Plan Commission Director T. Ledyard Blakeman said his group might be able to complete the studies by September.

Once the preliminary facts are assembled, the group felt an engineering firm could be hired to formulate plans for providing a permanent water source, probably from Lake Huron.

The three-county group also decided to ask the inter-county committee to work out a joint plan for financing the preliminary survey.

Blakeman said he would attempt to get a uniform questionnaire worked out by the July 7 meeting of the inter-county group. It could be forwarded to each governmental unit in the six-county area, he explained.

Pontiac City Manager Walter K. Willman said General Motors plants here had requested the city to provide an added 3,000,000 gallons of water per day.

Calling for "less wind and more water," Willman said, "If we have to wait 10 years for water, there might not be anybody left in Pontiac."

Hunt for Fliers Enters 5th Day in Foggy Pacific

AF Hears Weak Radio Signal From One of 4 Missing Airmen

TOKYO (AP)—The search for four Marine airmen down in the Pacific went into its fifth day as dense fog closed in again Thursday night.

An Air Force spokesman said a voice signal—so weak "it was impossible to determine just what was said"—was heard about 4:30 p.m. He said that was the last and only report the Air Force has had since 5:40 a.m.

"It just wasn't audible enough to make out," said Maj. William James, deputy public information officer for Far East Air Forces.

The Navy said it had no information of other radio contacts during the day.

Darkness once again turned the search into a blind game of dropping flares and listening for radio signals that did not come.

The missing airmen are:

Second Lt. David Winton Bell, of Wayzata, Minn., his ordnance officer.

Lt. Alan Murdock McAneny Jr., of Yonkers, N.Y., whose Marine Fury jet vanished Tuesday night in the search.

A still-unidentifed crewman of a Marine helicopter which crashed at sea in the search yesterday. Three fellow crewmen were rescued.

The Air Force, coordinating the search over 25,000 square miles of ocean, said the new signals had been heard at 5:40 a.m. But planes and ships were unable to fix the position.

20-Year-Old Nurse Is State Queen

MISS MICHIGAN — Margaret Devereaux, "Miss Livingston County," was elected "Miss Michigan" at Muskegon last night. She is 20 years old, has brown hair and blue eyes and is a recent nursing school graduate.

Howell Brunette Named Miss Michigan; Will Represent State in National Contest

MUSKEGON (AP) — A gorgeous nurse missed her duty turn at St. Lawrence Hospital in Lansing today but officials smiled tolerantly at 20-year-old Margaret (Margo) Devereaux, Miss Michigan of 1955.

The shapely (34-24-34), 5-foot, 6-inch Margo won the sixth annual Miss Michigan contest sponsored last night by the Muskegon Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Miss Devereaux, of Howell, earlier this year was named Miss Howell and Miss Livingston County in separate contests.

"I'm supposed to be on duty at 7:30 in the morning," Miss Devereaux said after winning the title before a capacity crowd of 1,800 spectators at Muskegon's Michigan Theater.

A contingent of fellow nurses notified the hospital of Margo's fortune and reported she had been excused from duty.

Margo, a 119-pound, blue-eyed brunette, also was selected "Miss Congenialty" by her 12 fellow contestants. The extra title earned her a cocker spaniel pup.

ATLANTIC CITY NEXT

Miss Devereaux now is eligible to represent Michigan at the Miss America Pageant at Atlantic City Sept. 10.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Devereaux of Howell and the second eldest of four Devereaux children. Her prizes include at least $850 in scholarships, a $1,000 wardrobe and a trophy signifying her new title.

She received her new crown from Jan Somers, whom she succeeds as Miss Michigan, and Lee Ann Meriweather, who retires as Miss America of 1955.

Her brother, Thomas, 25, active in Jaycee work in Lansing and Howell, described Margo as "a real live wire who never seems to tire."

Margo was exuberant but composed as she confided:

"When I saw some of these girls in bathing suits, I never thought I'd even place."

She credited her parents, home training and the nuns at Lansing's St. Lawrence Division of Mercy School of Nursing as having the greatest influence on her career.

SHERIFF'S SON

Margo identified a young man who rushed to embrace her after the contest as "Ron Barnes, whose dad is Sheriff of Ingham County."

"I date Ron quite often," she said.

Miss Devereaux appeared first in a white net, waltz length formal and later in a white bathing suit trimmed in Navy blue. In the talent competition she rocked a piano rendition of "Bumble Boogie."

"I hope to use the scholarship to further my nursing education," she said.

Second place went to Nancy Kovack, 19-year-old University of Michigan graduate, who entered the competition as Miss Flint. Dolores Heiser, Miss St. Clair Shores, won third place.

A new award, Miss Talent, with scheduled television appearances, was won by Miss Kovack as she read selections from a book of poems by Carl Sandburg.

Miss Pontiac, Charlotte Stark, did not participate in the Miss Michigan contest in Muskegon last night because of a technicality which disqualified her, James Martin, of the Pontiac Junior Chamber of Commerce said today.

Miss Stark, 17, of 365 S. Marshall St., was named Miss Pontiac in competition sponsored by the Jaycees early this month.

Dry Spell Snapped by Brief Rainfall

Early morning rain today broke an 8-day dry spell for the Pontiac area.

The brief rainfall, which totaled only .64 of an inch, was the first precipitation here since June 21, when .54 of an inch of rain fell.

The weather is due to be partly cloudy and warm tonight and tomorrow, with some possibility of scattered thundershowers, according to the U.S. Weather Bureau.

The low tonight is expected to be between 66 and 70, with a high tomorrow of 86 to 90. Southwesterly winds from 10 to 15 miles an hour are predicted.

Downtown, today's low before 8 a.m. was 68 degrees. The thermometer registered 77 at 2 p.m.

Lid of Secrecy Clamped Down on Peace Talks

U.S. Steel Negotiator Hints New Wage Offer Is Being Prepared

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The steel industry drifted today toward an economy-crushing midnight strike with negotiators maintaining a tight secrecy lid on final peace efforts.

David J. McDonald, president of the strike-threatening CIO Steelworkers, was closeted with John A. Stephens, principal bargainer for U. S. Steel Corp.

Stephens had hinted that Big Steel was preparing a new money offer.

McDonald already has rejected an average 10-cent an hour pay raise proposal for the union's 600,000 members in the basic steel industry. They now average $2.33 per hour.

Major steel mills were gradually being shut down. They began well in advance of the strike deadline, cooling off furnaces and draining them of hot metal. Some workers already were reported off the job due to the gradual curtailment.

I. W. Abel, USW secretary-treasurer, was quoted in some reports as saying he expected to have a settlement ready to report to the union leaders at their meeting tonight, but Abel told the Associated Press he had no basis for such optimism.

The union said it had made no plans for convening its Wage Policy Committee, which would have to pass on any proposed settlement, but the committee's members were standing by and could be assembled quickly.

It has been three years since the last industrywide steel strike. Mills were shut down nearly two months in the summer of 1952 when the late union president Philip Murray held out for a union shop agreement, but finally agreed on a compromise.

The bargaining affects 600,000 workers in 96 basic steel and iron ore mining firms. They now average $2.33 an hour.

There was some speculation that a steel settlement may include some form of guaranteed layoff pay, supplementing state unemployment compensation benefits, such as was negotiated recently in major auto contracts.

* * *

However, the steel bargaining is confined to wages only, and any supplementary wage plan could be negotiated only with the consent of the steel companies.

Williams Signs New FEPC Bill

Six Man Commission to Rule on Complaints Will Be Appointed

LANSING (AP) — Michigan has joined the states with laws against hiring discrimination because of race, creed, color or national origin.

Gov. Williams signed the Fair Employment Practices (FEPC) bill into law yesterday. His office was packed with representatives of racial, religious, minority, labor and civic organizations which had worked 12 years for the bill.

The measure, taking effect Oct. 14, forbids an employer to refuse to hire anyone because of racial or color prejudice.

Gov. Williams must now appoint a six-member commission to solve complaints filed with it. It will operate mainly through conciliation and persuasion, but may appeal to circuit courts for subpoenas to compel the testimony of witnesses and the accused may petition the courts to enforce its orders if they are disobeyed.

Rep. Louis C. Cramton (R-Lapeer), the sponsor of the bill, said he was certain Williams will appoint a commission which will be mindful of its pioneering character and which will not act recklessly.

Williams hailed the bill as opening a "future in which the employment opportunities of minority groups will (not) be diminished by prejudice and bigotry."

Institute Formed to Guide Male Fashions

Men May Oppose 'Beau Brummel' Trend

NEW YORK (INS)—Ever since Adam traded in his fig leaf for a fashionable bearskin, men have been under pressure to dress better.

Apparently they haven't done nearly well enough because the American Institute of Men's and Boy's wear has been formed to do something about the male sex's lack of elegance.

The Institute is still in the formative stage. It met in New York last night to tell leaders from all phases of the clothing industry about the bold plans it has made to make men dress better.

A special committee has been formed and top-flight advertising and public relations firms have been hired to make men realize that "it is important for a man to wear the right things for every occasion."

The Institute hopes to get its ambitious program into action next fall under the slogan: "Dress Right! You Can't Afford Not To."

CHIEF ALLY

For its chief ally in the campaign to make men want—and buy—a large and varied wardrobe, the Institute is counting on man's well-dressed friend and adversary, woman.

Several speakers at the dinner pointed out that women have a strong influence on the clothes men buy. Public relations expert Dale O'Brien agreed that women are influential, but asked these disturbing questions:

"May it not be that the American wife is unconsciously making a second-class citizen out of her husband by letting him get—and stay—so darned sloppy in his wardrobe?

"May it not be also that this neuter-gender wardrobe of his tends to confirm the suspicions of some that we're heading into a wife-dominated society in which both the husband's masculinity and the wife's femininity are minimized?"

O'Brien isn't worried, though, about the problems he raised. If women's mistakes in their choice of men's clothes are pointed out to them, he said, they will mend their ways.

HARD TO CONVINCE

But men may be more difficult to convince that their favorite burlap must go. John Elliot, Jr., speaking of men's attitudes toward dressing better, said, "Most men just aren't interested. They often actually resist it."

But Elliot said the clothing industry campaign can convince men that the clothes they wear can help them get the things they want most. He ticked off the "things men want most" success, women, general admiration and a sense of belonging."

* * *

Willard W. Cole, president of Henry C. Lytton & Co., and one of organizers of the Institute, said "1955 may well be the year in which the men's clothing industry established a new trend that will mark the next ten years as the most exciting and profitable in the history of our business."

Cole said that men from every segment of the clothing industry were giving full support to the Institute campaign to change men's buying habits so that they will be aware that "good social grace does demand a sense of good and proper dress for the occasion."

Salk Vaccine Expected Here

Plan Advisory Group to Decide When Shots Will Be Given

New supplies of Salk anti-polio vaccine should be available for Oakland County youngsters within 20 to 30 days, Dr. John D. Monroe, county health director, said today.

Dr. Monroe also revealed that an advisory committee of doctors, laymen and parents of potential users will be named within two weeks.

Chief purpose of the group, which will have 9 or 11 members, will be to determine wether the shots should be administered during the summer months, he said.

"Although we will probably get recommendations from the State Health Dept. and U. S. Public Health Service, final decision will be left to local option, I am sure," he said.

Some experts oppose giving the shots during the height of the polio season, while others say it is safe to administer the serum during the summer.

The health director said the committee also will help determine other policies in connection with the inoculations, such as distribution and how clinics should be set up.

Word of the new supplies came from the U. S. Public Health Service, Dr. Monroe said.

Uncertainties Delay Local Road Building

tax officials here have pointed out that Oakland should be allotted more construction from regular road money.

"We hope we can channel a certain percentage of regular funds in on new, non-interstate projects," said Foster.

The engineer did say the extension of Northwestern Highway from Fourteen Mile Road northwest to Fenton "has been under consideration for a long time and we want to get it under way as soon as possible."

Much depends on the final form of the next federal aid bill passed by the U.S. Congress, Foster explained.

PLANS VARY

One plan would have the states pay for only 10 per cent of new construction on interstate lines and the federal government 90 per cent. Others would require states to pay a larger share.

"If our share of financing such construction was reduced to only 10 per cent, considerably more state money would be freed for work needed apart from the interstate system," said Foster.

The engineer said he knew of no plan to drop M150 and M218 in Oakland back to classifications as county roads.

Local officials here had reported rumors of such a move which would make it difficult to finance improvements seen as needed on the two routes.

M150 now dead-ends at Lakeville. Oakland Plan Commission Highway Engineer Robert A. Larson suggests that swinging M150 from Lakeville on north to M24 would help drain traffic north out of the county and south into Detroit.

Examination Postponed on Manslaughter Charge

Examination of a prominent Highland Park lumber dealer on a manslaughter charge has been postponed from July 15 to July 21, Springfield Township Justice Emmett J. Leib said today.

Hugh H. Rader, 60, of 2870 Pine Lake Rd., was accused Tuesday after driving a car involved in an accident Monday night in which John C. Welch, 18, of 128 Oakwood Rd., Walled Lake, was killed. Rader is free on $2,000 bond.

Holiday Frolic at Oakland Park Begins Saturday

A three-day Independence Day celebration will be staged by the Northside Community Club and the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Dept. at Oakland Park, starting Saturday afternoon.

Beginning with a greased pole climbing contest at 1 p.m. Saturday, the event will be climaxed with a fireworks display at 10 p.m. Monday, according to Floyd Temple, vice president of the club.

Also slated for Saturday is a baseball game at 2 p.m.

On Sunday, a continuation of the pole climbing competition will be held, along with a dog obedience demonstration and a softball exhibition.

At 10 a.m. Monday, activities will resume with more contests for both youngsters and adults, baseball games and rides for the children. Time out is scheduled for a picnic lunch.

There will also be dancing, shuffleboard, horseshoes and skill games, Temple said.

Prosecutor Probes Drowning Incident

The cause of a 16-foot boat capsizing Tuesday in Stewart Lake near Holly, resulting in two deaths, was still being investigated today by Oakland County Assistant Prosecutor Robert D. Long.

The victims, both of Clarkston, were Henry Ditteon, 76, and Norman Rader, 16. Ditteon was pulled from the water almost immediately, but Pontiac diver, Bill Jackson had to recover Rader's body later.

They, with another man and two youths, were riding in a boat powered by a 2½-horsepower motor and piloted by Dr. L. K. Mathews, 64, of Holly.

Dr. Mathews told Long yesterday that the group was returning to shore after hauling dirt to an island in the lake owned by him. The doctor said he noticed water coming in the front end. The boat then overturned, he stated.

AF Plane Carrying 4 Crashes Near Alaska

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—An Air Force C47 transport with a four-man crew crashed on Sitkinak Island in the North Pacific yesterday and a spokesman here said all aboard were believed lost.

GUARDSMEN AID POLICE

Six national guardsmen from Pontiac's Company M, 125th Infantry, will ride with State Police here. A guardsman and a trooper will man each patrol car.

Four hundred guardsmen from all over the state, with full police power, will aid troopers in the all-out effort.

Two National Guard helicopters, two Guard planes, three State Police planes, three aircraft operated by the State Aeronautics Board and three Conservation Dept. planes will assist in traffic control mostly in southeastern Michigan, Childs said.

State Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler ordered all road construction projects to be shut down at noon Friday until noon Tuesday with exception of emergency work and relocations where traffic would not be affected.

Maintenance and construction crews have been instructed to make certain that all detour routes are marked and in the best possible condition.

The State Safety Commission has requested the truck industry to curtail movement of its heavy units over the holiday.

PRESENTS CHALLENGE

Meanwhile Gov. G. Mennen Williams urged Michigan motorists to heed the slogan, "Slow Down and Live." He said the weekend presents another challenge to all of us in Michigan in our continuing campaign to reduce the tragic loss of life and property on our highways.

Local officials, remembering last year's July 4 toll of 35, urged all drivers to police themselves on their motoring habits.

They warned: "Roads will be crowded with the heaviest traffic in Independence Day history; one careless, thoughtless or negligent act can end in death or disability."

Pontiac, state and national safety organizations urge drivers to heed these safety suggestions:

Drive about 10 miles an hour slower than normally to give time to react in an emergency.

Pass cars one at a time and be sure you have a clear margin of safety.

Predicts House OK on Foreign Aid Hike

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Richards (D-SC) predicted the House will approve today "without any drastic cuts" a bill to permit new foreign aid spending of more than 3¼ billion dollars.

The bill would authorize a total of $3,285,800,000 for military and economic aid for the year beginning tomorrow. This merely sets a ceiling—139 million dollars lower than that voted by the Senate—with the actual appropriations to be voted later.

* * *

President Eisenhower had asked for about 3½ billions.

The House yesterday upheld a House Foreign Affairs Committee reduction of 145 million dollars in global arms aid and tentatively approved military funds totaling $1,133,000,000. Richards said the reduction eliminates a reserve fund requested by the administration.

Moxley Issues Warning Against Illegal Fireworks

BIRMINGHAM—Hopeful that the recent decline in illegal Fourth of July fireworks activities will continue this year, Police Chief Ralph W. Moxley today warned that his department will keep a sharp eye cast for violaters during the holiday weekend.

"Possession or use of fireworks are violations of state law and city ordinance and we expect full compliance with them again this year," Moxley said.

He declared that persons over 17 years old arrested on fireworks charges will be taken to court. He pointed out that one youth was handed a five-day jail sentence last weekend.

"These laws were passed for a specific reason," Moxley said. "It was found fireworks were falling into inexperienced hands and there were some serious accidents.

"Fortunately, we haven't had any serious accident here in previous years."

Associate Justice John C. Emery Jr. joined Moxley in declaring that fireworks will not be tolerated.

"We all know the trouble unsupervised fireworks can cause and we're trying to crack down on it," he said. "We want youngsters to know we're not going to stand for that type of behavior."

The judge noted that possessing, selling or using any form of fireworks, except sparklers, is a misdemeanor and carries a penalty of up to $100 fine and-or 90 days in jail. "We are not going to be lenient," he said.

Moxley said illegal use of fireworks has been decreasing in recent years.

"We haven't had as much as we have had. It's been tapering off slightly and we hope it will continue to do so," he said.

Admiral Eying Mason Reburial

Great-Grandson of 1st Governor Is Boss of Atlantic Fleet

LANSING (AP)—A top-ranking U.S. naval officer has a keen interest in the proposed reburial of Michigan's first governor, Stevens T. Mason, on the Capitol grounds.

He is Adm. Jerauld Wright, commander in chief of the Atlantic Fleet and commander of NATO forces in the Atlantic.

Wright wrote Gov. Williams and the Michigan Historical Commission that he is the great grandson of Mason, who served as governor of Michigan from 1835 to 1840.

The admiral asked state officials to assist in assuring that "the final resting place of Gov. Mason is appropriate to his contribution to the great State of Michigan."

PAINTING BARED

Wright also enclosed a color photograph of a painting of Mason. The painting, which hangs in Wright's Norfolk, Va. home, was not known to exist by Michigan historians before now, said Lewis Beeson, executive secretary of the commission.

The proposal to rebury Mason on the Capitol grounds drew support when his body was uncovered from its resting place in Detroit's Capitol Park, where a civic improvement project is under construction.

A special committee of the legislature was appointed to meet with Detroit civic officials to discuss the idea.

Beeson said he understood Mayor Cobo had no objection to the remova lof Mason's remains, so long as it had the backing of the Detroit Historical Commission and Mason's descendants.

Peiping Paper Charges Waste in Steel Plant

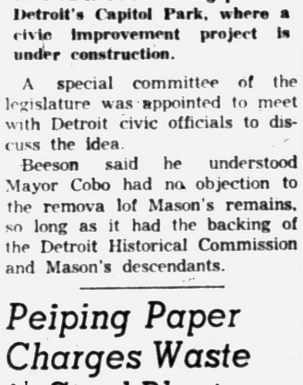

HONG KONG (AP)—The Peiping newspaper People's Daily has accused the management of Red China's biggest iron and steel plant of wasting 31 million man days last year and failing to improve the situation this year.

The blistering attack on work practices at the Anshan, Manchuria, plant appeared in the May 27 issue of the paper, which reached Hong Kong today.

The People's Daily said only 52.3 per cent of the plant's laborers worked during 1954, while the rest were idle in surplus workers' pools or in reserve worker training sessions.

Yet, it claimed, the management paid overtime for more than a million man days of extra shifts.

Use Care in the Way You Celebrate Holiday

Next Monday is the Fourth of July. That means that this coming weekend may be the biggest weekend of the entire summer; biggest in traffic, in the number of people at the beaches, and, probably, biggest in the number of holiday deaths.

So be careful this weekend.

Be especially careful.

There will be sorrow in several Pontiac homes come Monday. For fathers, mothers, children will have lost their lives through carelessness. See that one of those homes is not yours. Be careful on the highway and in the water.

Make it a safe and sane Fourth of July.

Red Nonsense in France

Communists controlling the General Federation of Labor in France are trying to persuade French workers to fight greater industrial output.

> In so doing they are resorting to that threadbare old Marxist argument that only the capitalists benefit from increased production. As a result, they insist, the lot of the workers will grow progressively worse.

The truth, of course, is just the opposite. But Communists, naturally, aren't interested in facts or anything that will benefit the workers. That is just what increased production does.

Proof not only is to be found in our own experience but in statistics just released by the International Labor Office. These show the world's workers now are enjoying the highest living standards in industrial history, with purchasing power of wages 25 per cent greater than before the war.

In France, for example, wages have increased 334 per cent compared with a price rise of 304 per cent. Italy's wages have gone up 72 per cent with prices climbing 27 per cent. Germany's wages are up 86 per cent while prices have soared only 32 per cent.

> Moreover, figures show that credit for these improved ratios belongs to increased production. In France output is 50 per cent greater than in 1948. Yet the labor force is only five per cent larger and there was no increase in the hours worked.

★ ★ ★

It is facts like these Communists withhold from the workers. If all workers knew them and understood them fully, there would be little Communism anywhere.

Women in Commons

One result of Britain's election which hasn't received the notice it deserves is the increased percentage of women elected to the House of Commons.

> When the vote counting was completed it was found that 24 candidates on the distaff side had been elected. Traditionally the fair sex makes a better showing politically in times of change.

But in the voting May 26, the 24 women elected equaled the record number sent to Commons in 1945 when Labor took over Britain's government. This time 14 of the women elected are Laborites and 10 are Conservatives.

Credit for surprising British voters belongs to two of the Tory winners. In Devonsport Miss Jean Vickers overwhelmed the leftist Laborite Michael Foot. Mrs. Patricia McLaughlin, running in Belfast West, displayed some new campaign tactics. An Ulster Conservative wearing Irish made clothes and carrying a Bible, she defeated an Irish Laborite who had held the seat since 1943.

Election of these 24 women to Commons gives them a larger proportion of the 630 seats in that body than 14 women have in our 531 seats in Congress. Moreover, British women can look forward some day to infiltrating the House of Lords. Unaccountably, however, the bill to permit such membership seems to be stalled somewhere along the line.

Fire Loss Down

Michigan's 1954 fire loss included 169 lives and slightly more than thirty-two million dollars in damage to property.

This was less than half the 1953 property loss, and 47 fewer lives. The 1953 totals had included the General Motors Livonia plant fire.

Despite the improved showing, however, the '54 totals are sufficient to serve as a renewed warning of the need for greater care in fire prevention.

This is true in the home, at work, and at play. Some forty-two children lost their lives in Michigan fires last year. A total of 54,728 fires were reported.

If every man, woman and child in the State would ponder this needless loss and be increasingly careful during the months ahead, scores of lives and millions of dollars worth of property could be saved.

Didn't Know His Own Strength

David Lawrence Asks:

Ex-Red's All-Out Report Great Service to Nation

WASHINGTON—Winston Burdett—former Communist but now a true American—has performed a great service to the crusade against communism. He has put to shame the hundreds who, rather than aid their country, have pleaded the Fifth Amendment as they refused to tell their countrymen the truth about Communist infiltration in America.

* * *

Winston Burdett could have testified, as he did, before the Senate international security subcommittee and told only about his own activities in espionage abroad. He need not have mentioned any other names. But, recognizing his obligation and feeling that he must clear his own conscience, he came forth with the names of everyone whom he had met in Communist meetings in this country and such contacts as he made with Communist espionage agents abroad.

Rarely has there been such a comprehensive confession from a former Communist. To the credit of the Columbia Broadcasting Co., it is noted in the hearings that Burdett has been retained in his present post as newscaster because there is full confidence that he long ago broke away from the Communists.

Not only will Burdett be regarded as a sincere convert to American doctrine as opposed to the Communist philosophy, but his service to his country in this testimony will stand out as one of the most gratifying examples of how former Communists can contribute to the elimination of Communists from inside the government.

SETS EXAMPLE

There would be less need of complicated security programs if those who know about Communist activities would cooperate with their government in telling the truth as did Burdett.

* * *

It so happens that Burdett was not a government employe. He never needed to fear a security check-up or any of the procedures through which government employes must pass. He didn't need to go before a congressional committee. But he voluntarily called on the FBI and told his story four years ago.

Was this enough? Burdett wrestled with his conscience and came to the conclusion that merely to tell the story in secret was insufficient. He felt he owed a debt to his country. He decided of his own accord to make his confession to a congressional committee so that the public might know all.

"I felt it was my duty to do so, he testified. "I want to do what is right."

These are "not private matters alone," added Burdett for they affect one's status as a citizen.

BENTLEY TESTIMONY

The Burdett story is important in many ways. For one thing, his sworn testimony now corroborates the story told by Elizabeth Bentley of her contact with Jacob Golos, a Soviet agent. Miss Bentley has been attacked by the "pinks" as unreliable, and the whole power of the Communist apparatus has been turned on her in an effort to discredit her testimony, just as was the campaign against Whittaker Chambers. The Communists have a well-established technique — they aim to discredit a government witness so as to weaken the entire campaign of the FBI and congressional committees against Communists.

It was Elizabeth Bentley who in 1945 turned up for the FBI the information about the Soviet spy ring and the late Harry Dexter White's connection with it. She told then of the activities of Golos. Now Burdett gives first-hand information which shows that Bentley was telling the truth.

Burdett was on the news staff of the Brooklyn Eagle in 1940 when he went abroad to do espionage work for the Communists. His newspaper didn't know of his connections. Burdett operated with the Communist apparatus in Finland, Rumania and Yugoslavia.

* * *

He went to Moscow to get instructions. America had not yet entered the war and Soviet Russia was at the time allied with Hitler. There was therefore, no violation by him of American espionage laws. He broke with the Communists in 1942.

BREAKS SILENCE

So Winston Burdett could have kept quiet. He was under no compulsion, except that of a worried conscience, to come out in the open with the painful story of his experiences.

Sen. Eastland, Democrat, chairman of the Senate international security subcommittee, praised Burdett's stand and commended the Columbia Broadcasting System for its fine attitude toward an employe.

Then the senator called as witness some of the persons named by Burdett as having been in the same Communist unit with him in the Brooklyn Eagle. Some availed themselves of the Fifth Amendment privilege and refused to testify. It was a conspicuous contrast.

* * *

If there were more Burdetts, there would be less need for prolonged investigations by congressional committees. And the infiltration by Communists into the press, the church, the theater, the colleges and the government would have been far less extensive than it has been.

Burdett's heroic action could prove the turning point in inducing other Americans who have important information on espionage and Communist infiltration to come forth with their stories and perform a service to the government to which they owe allegiance.

Leona Gould Warns Against Too Frequent Shots and Vaccines as Possible Danger

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

Within the physical body are bacteria. It is nature's way of consuming infectious germs that are the cause of human illness.

When more of the infectious germs are dominant in the body, then the individual falls heir to this type of illness. But the bacteria hold the infectious germs down to a minimum, keeping the form in fairly good health the year round.

When too many injections, shots, vaccines and so forth are used, they not only are a possible preventive from the disease itself, but also kill the bacteria, leaving the body open to more infectious diseases than hitherto known.

It is wise to safeguard the health of the people. Likewise it is well for the people to be on guard against dangers. Do not outdo science, by outdoing your own health, for your life is your own, and it is the only one you have.

Whatever You're Seeking You'll Find in New York

NEW YORK (AP)—The summer city of the world says hello and welcome.

New York City is officially at hand to the visitor.

I don't intend to tell you about the official program of entertainment that has been arranged for you. If you want that program, just write a letter asking for it and address it: "To the Mayor, New York City."

* * *

He'll attend to it, or we'll get a new mayor who will. He'll tell you all the 1,001 special attractions that make this particular summer the greatest in New York City's history.

They've gone to a lot of trouble to prove that this is a wonderful place to visit—after all, you don't have to live here—but if you have a sense of adventure you can throw away the program.

* * *

You never need a program to enjoy New York. I live here and I know this—and, if you believe me, you can take my word for it.

Certainly New York gets hot on some days. It has a heat that can build up restlessness and discomfort, but usually within five days at most that heat will blow away.

* * *

It's a changeable town in almost every way. But no one man ever owned it or bought it. And if you bring a feeling to it that matches its size it will also enlarge you.

They say it isn't America, but it is the most American city in the United States. The Statue of Liberty isn't in another port. It lifts its torch here.

* * *

New York City is fun, adventure and opportunity. It is also skyscrapers, culture and cruelty. But it is neither more cultured nor cruel than what you're looking for. It is you magnified, many many times.

Whatever you seek and don't find at home is probably here, or may be — and many things you aren't even looking for at all.

* * *

The higher Rome, the aspiration that made Athens a symbol, the sin of Babylon without its Babel, the stolid durability of London, the pride of Paris—they are all here.

Never the same, shrugging off her 300-year history, it is the one mighty metropolis on earth that still bases its appeal on the glamour of youth and doesn't ask to be admired or respected merely because it's old.

* * *

It is a city of endless growth and fresh glamour and never invites strangers to come here to feel strange and be sad.

Expect Fast OK on Funds for Military

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional leaders looked for quick approval today of a compromise defense money bill carrying nearly 32 billion dollars of new funds.

The biggest annual appropriation, while short of President Eisenhower's budget requests in some respects, contains 46 million dollars more than he asked for the Marine Corps. This amount is intended to prevent a gradual 22,000-man cutback in the recent 215,000 strength of the Leathernecks during the bookkeeping year starting tomorrow.

* * *

The Senate by a 40-39 vote added 46 millions to keep the Marine Corps at present levels, and the amount was retained in a Senate-House compromise worked out by conferees late yesterday. The defense budget in effect approves a larger manpower cutback ordered for the Army in the coming year.

The compromise carries 356 million dollars more than was voted by the House to speed up production of the Air Force's long-range heavy jet bomber, the B52.

Case Records of a Psychologist

Don't Follow Up Child's Sex Questions With Explanations Too Difficult to Grasp

Toddlers enjoy the "ostrich" method of playing hide-and-seek, as outlined below, for their limited mental age prevents them from thinking involved ideas. That's why they ask, "Mommy, where'd I come from?" but don't follow up with more complicated queries.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case 0-370: Rosalie F., aged 28, is a kindergarten teacher.

"Dr. Crane, I was interested in your advice on how to answer the questions of children," she began.

"I have noticed exactly what you said, namely, that they will ask 'Where did I come from?' before they inquire 'How did I get out?'

"And their final inquiry is 'How did I get inside mother's tummy?'

* * *

"There must be some reason for this sequence, so would you offer us the psychological explanation?"

MENTAL AGE

Curiosity depends on abundant vitality (health), plus a child's mental age.

* * *

A 3-year-old can thus wonder where he came from, but he doesn't have enough mental age to wonder the next step, and ask "How did I get into mother's tummy".

We psychologists learned this basic fact in 1905, when Dr. Alfred Binet printed his original IQ Test.

One of the test items for a normal 4-year-old, is to copy a square. He does it fairly well.

But ask him to copy a diamond which you have drawn on the paper, and he cannot do it.

To us adults, a diamond doesn't look much different from a square. It is also a four sided figure, but two of the angles are smaller (acute), whereas the other two are larger than those in a square (obtuse).

BRAIN DEVELOPES

Wait a full year and test that same child again. He copies the square with ease, for he did that at the age of 4 years. But he still cannot make a reasonable copy of the diamond.

So you delay another year until he is 6, and then ask him to copy the square, which he does very well. But still he fails in trying to make a copy of the diamond.

SUCCESS AT 7

For it isn't until the normal child reaches the age of 7 years, that he can copy the diamond!

That means it requires 3 full years of mental growth before he can distinguish between the acute vs. the obtuse angles of a diamond.

You can thus perceive why he will ask, "Mommy, where did I come from?" when he is about 3 or 4 years old, yet not be able to phrase the next two questions, "How did I get out?" and "How did I get into your tummy?" until he has several years more brain growth.

When our children were at the toddler stage, they used to enjoy having Mrs. Crane and me play hide-and-seek with them.

OSTRICH GAME

And sometimes they'd sit on the davenport. Then they'd bury their head under a pillow, and want us to find them.

* * *

Well, their whole body was out in plain sight, but their limited mental age didn't offer enough elasticity to their imaginations to know that

They couldn't see us, because of the pillow over their heads, so they assumed we couldn't see them!

Mrs. Crane and I would profess our wonder as to where they could be hidden and talk in loud tones. Finally we'd "accidentally" lift the pillow and they'd be so gleeful at having deceived us so long!

* * *

Toddlers everywhere relish this game. But when they have a few years more mental age, they realize it takes more than a head covering to keep them hidden from outsiders.

And so it is with the sex queries of children. They can't ask the more complicated questions till they attain more mental age.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and a dime to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his psychological charts.

Chamomile Tea and Salt Relieve Varicose Ulcers

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

A reader says he has been told Hungarian chamomile tea is good for varicose ulcer. He tried it, and it healed an ulcer on his ankle which his doctor had treated with various salves without success.

Now the man's wife is drinking chamomile tea—Hungarian, probably—which she says the old-timers used for babies' upset stomach when grandma was a filly. It seems to do her good too!

In the pamphlet Varicose Veins and Vericose Ulcer, available on written, signed request if you provide stamped, self-addressed envelope, I say:

TEA RECIPE

Steep a handful of dried chamomile flowers (called variously Hungarian, German, English, Roman) in a quart of water in which two level teaspoonfuls of salt is dissolved.

* * *

Keep the raw surface constantly covered with gauze (washed cheesecloth) compresses or folds wet with the tea, for 48 hours or longer.

At night cover the wet dressing with waxed paper or other waterproof material to keep clothing dry. This chamomile tea dressing is especially soothing when ulcer is painful.

There's no harm in the habit of indulging in a dish of tea—green, black, oolong, cambric or chamomile—when one of the neighbors drops in with a spicy bit of gossip, but I do not recommend it.

GOOD FOR BURNS

A wet dressing of green or black tea is excellent for burns, as an emergency dressing or as a regular daily treatment. A handy preparation for first aid application to burns is a salve containing 10 per cent tannic acid (the astringent in tea) and 0.5 per cent chorbutanol, a local anesthetic and antiseptic.

Various agents for the prevention and treatment of sunburn are described in Little Lesson No. 14. The Medicine Cupboard, for which send 25c and stamped, self-addressed envelope. Yahbut it takes considerable fuel to keep my pipe going on the bowling green.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to the Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Mich.

Bob Considine Says:

Gotham Lacks Facilities to Combat Crime

NEW YORK (INS) — Woven through the entire text of District Attorney Frank Hogan's report on the activities of the New York County district attorney's office during the 1949-54 period is a pitiful call for more adequate facilities with which to deal with crime in the nation's largest city. A sample:

"Treatment facilities in the city and state (for narcotics addicts under 21) continue to be hopelessly inadequate. Riverside Hospital is limited to youths under 21 and has a capacity of only 110 beds. It is a step in the right direction but a trifling makeshift in the face of responsible estimates that youthful addicts in the city number 7,500.'

Hogan feels that drug traffickers by the scores would be driven out of business if adult addicts were rounded up for confinement and treatment. Such havens just do not exist.

* * *

There are gusty holes in the system of putting juvenile criminals on bail or probation, the report mourns. The report deplores the lack of dignostic facilities which would detect the presence of a psychosis, drug addiction or disease.

FAST ACTION NEEDED

"It is obvious that the process of rehabilitation should begin as soon as possible after initial arraignment," it states. "The law's inevitable delays create a gap between the apprehension of a youth and the ultimate disposition of his case. This operates, on the one hand, to destroy whatever deterrent effect swift punishment might have.

* * *

"In addition, for those who could be helped, it reduces the liklohood of readjustment which prompt inauguration of the remedial process would promote.

"The youth who is able to raise bail, although possibly psychotic or addicted to drugs, returns to the community which presumably had been put on notice by his arrest. He is out of contact with the court, unsupervised and unaided, for a period which may range from six weeks to six months."

Possible answer to the whole J D problem: A youth court, operating around the clock, empowered to handle case from initial arraignment to final disposition, including the electric chair, and equipped with diagnostic facilities, including probation officers and psychiatric and medical personnel.

The council hopes to tap 10,000 theaters, about half of those in the nation, and predicts that the vote will touch 60,000,000 ballots, or about as many votes as are cast in a presidential election.

Children, who make up a huge percentage of the total movie audience, will be permitted to vote if they are old enough to make an X.

Rare Disease Fatal

BUTTE, Mont. (AP)—Afigrinogenemiz, a blood disease so rare it has been reported only 23 times in modern medical history, killed a Butte boy. The attending physician said the boy lived only 18 hours. About two hours after birth he began to bleed from the folds of his skin and from all the body openings. Despite use of a bood coagulate rushed to Butte by state patrolmen from Great Falls, 156 miles away, he died. He was the first son of Mr. and Mrs. John Sullivan, Butte.

Indulgent Mother Given 'Indulgence'

DETROIT (AP) — Mrs. Margaret Hamilton, 37, has been writing bad checks for some time but no one wanted to prosecute her because she has 15 children, police said.

* * *

Lt. Walter Chlopan of the bogus check detail said he had warned her that "next time he would prosecute."

* * *

Her husband Charles, 38, a plant guard who makes between $6,000 to $7,000 a year, said, "Margaret is the kind of a mother that just won't let her children lack for anything." He estimated his wife's penchant for writing checks had cost him $3,000 in the past 10 years.

Rules That Heir Shot Friend in Self-Defense

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Superior Court has ruled that Julian A. Hammer, 26, son of a New York millionaire, shot a long-time friend, Bruce Whitlock, 28, in self-defense.

Judge David Coleman dismissed a murder charge against Hammer yesterday.

Hammer, son of Armand Hammer, manufacturer and art gallery owner, told detectives that he shot Whitlock during an argument May 8 over a gambling debt dating back to when they were roommates in Huntington, W.Va., 10 years ago.

Airman Clawson Recovering

Red-Downed Navy Fliers Claim 'Neutrality Zone'

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—The Navy Neptune shot down by Russian attackers over the Bering Sea last week was over international waters and two Russian MIGs took part, crew members say.

First interviews allowed with the seven painfully burned and wounded fliers yesterday bore out, with colorful detail, the terse State Department description of the international incident a week ago. Their crippled plane crash-landed and burned on St. Lawrence Island a week ago yesterday and the 11 aboard scrambled to safety, with four soon returning to duty.

Among the injured crewmen is 21-year-old Charles L. Shields of Clawson, Michigan, who suffered serious hand burns when the returning plane crash-landed and burst into flames.

Ens. David G. Essard, Terrymille, Conn., the navigator who charted the plane's course on its routine mission, put it:

"I know damned well we weren't within Russian bounds when we were fired upon."

* * *

Aviation Ordnanceman Donald E. Sonnek, Minnesota Lake, Minn., said:

"I was looking out of one of the two windows in the aft station when I suddenly saw this Russian plane. It was firing tracers. Sure, I knew right off it was a Russian plane."

He had no time to shout a warning before a bullet ripped into the ship.

"There had to be another MIG," he said, "because the bullets came from a different side than where I saw the plane firing the tracers."

He admitted, however, he saw only one Russian plane.

* * *

The seven men, talking from wheel chairs and their beds at the Air Force base hospital here, gave high praise to Lt. Richard H. Fischer, Pittsburgh, Pa., and Aviation Machinist Mate Thaddeus Maziarz, Oakland, Calif.

Maziarz, who fed fuel to the one good engine from leaking and burning gas tanks to bring the crippled ship in for the crash-landing, had little to say.

"My first thoughts when we were hit were, 'If I could only get a chance to get at one of our guns . . . .'" he said. "But he knew he was needed on the fuel line.

The seven men will be flown to the States for further medical treatment.

Last week in San Francisco, Soviet Premier V. M. Molotov expressed his government's regret for the shooting down of the plane and said Russia was willing to pay half the damages.

The New York Times today quoted "authoritative sources" as saying United States air patrols in the Bering Sea have been suspended temporarily, apparently because (1) officials were trying to fathom Russian motives in shooting down the plane and (2) also studying possible measures for protecting slow-flying planes in the future.

Cap Gun Holdup Attempt Backfires on Woman, 21

FLINT (AP)—This was a cap gun robbery that backfired.

Sarah Falbo, 21, walked into Baker's drug store here last night and asked for a bottle of aspirin. When the clerk turned his back she said:

"Drop them. Open the thing (cash register). This thing is real. It worked before."

Quits Job for Another Job—at the Same Place

CHICAGO (AP)—Karl P. Schmidt will retire today—to take a full-time job at the same place.

He is chief curator of zoology in the Chicago Natural History museum and has been a member of the museum staff for 33 years.

In retirement, he will drop all administrative duties and devote his time to research on reptiles and amphibious animals.

IT FLIES THROUGH THE AIR — This flying scooter will tote 380 pounds through the air for 120 miles, according to the designer. Fueled on premium auto gas mixed with oil, the simple, light helicopter is being made by a Raleigh, N. C., firm, whole or in kits for the do-it-yourselfers. Twin propellers facing in opposite directions spin the 29-foot rotor, which drives the little plane at 60 m. p. h.

Capmaker Placed on Navy Blacklist

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy yesterday blacklisted Sol Schlesinger's Ideal Uniform Cap Co., of Freeport, N.Y., because he refused to give senators his records.

Schlesinger on June 23 declined to let the Senate Investigations subcommittee see the company's books and records. It had sought them in its search for evidence of graft in the purchase of armed forces uniforms.

Schlesinger pleaded that the records contained information which "might tend to incriminate me." But he insisted he had paid no bribes to get government contracts.

The Navy said it was canceling Schlesinger's contract to manufacture 50,000 blue sailor caps.

In the great meteoric shower of Nov. 13, 1833, observed in eastern North America, it was estimated that 200,000 shooting stars were observed from one place between midnight and dawn.

Lakes Project Affects Nation

Inter-Lake Deepening of Seaway Channels to Benefit Entire Country

WASHINGTON (AP)—N. R. Danielian, president of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Assn., today told Congress proposed deepening of the channels connecting the Great Lakes is of national rather than local significance.

* * *

In testimony prepared for a House Public Works Subcommittee considering legislation to authorize deepening the channels in the lakes west of Lake Erie to 27 feet, Danielian said:

"Twenty-seven and a half per cent of all waterborne tonnage of the United States and 64 per cent of all the ton-milage in inland waterways are carried on the Great Lakes.

"Eighty to 85 per cent of the iron ore required by our steel industry comes down the lakes and much of the grain traffic that moves east, and for export, from the northwest in Canada and the United States, move on this waterway."

As the final day of the 2-day session was called, no opposition had appeared to the 110-million-dollar project which would include work in the St. Mary's River, Straits of Mackinac, St. Clair River, Lake St. Clair and the Detroit River.

NO OPPOSITION

Chairman Blatnik (D-Minn) told a newsman no opposition witnesses had asked to be heard.

This was in sharp contrast to the decades of opposition which blocked until last year Congressional approval of the St. Lawrence Seaway.

The Seaway, scheduled to be completed in late 1958, was authorized at a cost of 105 million dollars. The seaway, however, will provide the deep channel only from Lake Erie east through the St. Lawrence River.

Deep draft vessels could not go all the way into the western Great Lakes unless the channel deepening work is undertaken. Present downbound channels are 25 feet deep while upbound channels are 21 feet.

Danielian was one of those who fought for years for the seaway.

Deeping of the channels will achieve two contributions to United States industry in case of mobilization, Danielian said.

* * *

The Army Engineers have based their justification for the channel work on commerce plying the Great Lakes alone without reference to any additional traffic that will be developed when ocean going vessels enter the lakes from the Seaway.

Ngo Dinh Diem Takes Hoa Hao

Latest Viet Nam Report Claims Final Defeat of Religious Army

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Premier Ngo Dinh Diem today claimed another major victory in his campaign to unify South Vietnamese military forces — the defeat of Hoa Hao religious army units who followed rebel Gen. Le Quang Vinh.

* * *

A government announcement said the national army had driven Vinh — better known as Bacut (One-Armed) — and his troops from their wild, rain-drenched stronghold in the Seven Mountains area on the south Cambodian frontier.

* * *

At the end of a four-day lightning drive, Bacut and other dissident Hoa Hao leaders are in flight to Cambodia or the Gulf of Siam, the government said.

Presumably the national army is continuing to mop up fleeing Hoa Hao units.

The announcement said the climax came yesterday when Diem's troops seized a 2,000-foot mountain which the French Union forces never had captured despite months of effort during their drives against the Communist-led Vietminh.

* * *

The government campaign against the Hoa Hao sect's private army of about 9,000 men began June 5.

* * *

On June 18, Diem's officers reported the defeat of 5,000 under the sect's chief commander, Gen. Tran Van Soai, who also was believed to have fled to Cambodia. Many of Soai's troops reportedly surrendered in mass lots to join the national army.

The Premier then moved his forces west against Bacut's estimated 4,000 men, with the major drive in the frontier area beginning June 26. Government losses reportedly were small.

Memphis Will Allow TVA Pact to Lapse

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Mayor Frank Tobey, to "eliminate any thought that we are bluffing," yesterday announced that:

1. Memphis had officially notified the Tennessee Valley Authority that it will not renew its present contract to buy TVA power.
2. The City Commission had decided to call off a referendum rather than possibly delay construction of a municipal power plant.

* * *

Dixon-Yates supporters had contended that Memphis was bluffing about building its own plant.

"We are not bluffing," said the mayor, "and we want the entire country to know how we feel in this thing."

The Memphis-TVA contract expires June 1, 1958. The city would have about three years to get its own generating plant built and into operation.

U. of M. North Campus Project Taking Shape Rapidly

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Modern education has a healthy appetite for space. The University of Michigan has taken a big chunk out of some hilly, wooded land to help satisfy it.

In some picturesque hills on the north side of the Huron River, the university has an educator's dream that year by year is taking shape in steel and concrete, brick and glass.

This will be the North Campus. Plans now include some 12 separate buildings over 377 acres, costing something like 16 million dollars when complete. It will house the university's engineering and fine arts divisions.

Architecturally, the buildings will be long and low brick structures with enormous glass windows.

Some engineering buildings have already been finished. Some are nearing completion. There is for instance the two and a half million dollar Phoenix Memorial laboratories.

PEACEFUL ATOM

It was built with money supplied by friends and alumni of the university. Its powerful uranium reactor is under construction now. It is dedicated to the peacetime uses of nuclear energy.

Standing beside it is the Cooley Research Laboratory. This was built by the university's Engineering Research Institute with gifts and grants from alumni and industry, and its own funds.

The institute is already building an aeronautical engineering laboratory with two wind tunnels and an aircraft propulsion lab. The Cooley building houses electronic and acoustic research, most of it highly classified by the government.

The aeronautical lab, costing more than $600,000, will likewise handle much government research.

The automotive engineering building, a sprawling giant that cost almost two million dollars, will be finished this fall or winter. It is one of the main blocks in the engineering center.

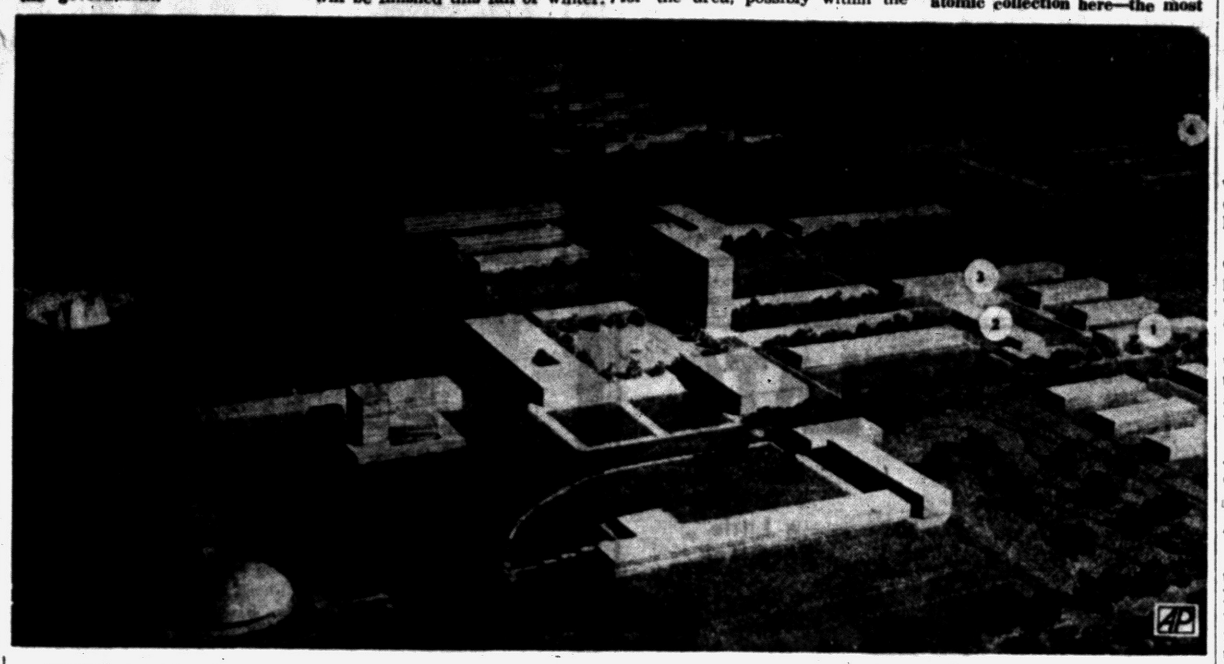

OTHER PROJECTS

Besides these, the university has other engineering projects planned for the area, possibly within the next few years. One of them is a two million dollar fluid mechanics building to house instruction and research into the behavior of fluids of all kinds.

Another building will house the university's synchotron and cyclotron, two high powered atomic accelerators that will add to the atomic collection here—the most powerful outside the federal government.

A library and a fire station and training center are also planned. Already standing is a central services and stocks building where unused books are kept and others are serviced.

The plans also call for the construction sometime in the near future of a four million dollar school of music and a two million dollar school of architecture and fine arts.

Manville Settles Up With Ninth Ex-Wife

NEW YORK (AP)—Tommy Manville has agreed to settle $260,000 on his estranged ninth wife Anita Roddy-Eden Manville.

In State Supreme Court yesterday, the 60-year-old Manville promised to pay his 32-year-old wife $140,000 in cash plus $12,000 a year for the next 10 years.

The agreement frees Mrs. Manville to go to Nevada or Florida to obtain a divorce. However, her attorney, Amos S. Basel, said she "has no immediate plans."

The Manvilles were married July 10, 1952. They separated 12 days later.

Actress to Be X-Rayed

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Doctors say they will learn today from X-rays if actress Barbara Stanwyck fractured a vertebra in a fall in her home. She tripped yesterday while descending a stairway. She was taken to St.John's Hospital.

The Republic of the Philippines was proclaimed on July 4, 1946.

Israel Premier Shuffles Cabinet

No Confidence Vote Forces Action; Zion Party Dropped

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector (AP)—The Israeli Parliament early today approved Premier Moshe Sharett's new three-party coalition Cabinet. It will serve until the general election scheduled for July 26.

The lawmakers gave the new government a 66-32 vote of confidence, ending a 24-hour crisis touched off by the resignation of Sharett's previous Cabinet yesterday.

The new government grouping omitted the General Zionist party, a member of the previous coalition. The old Cabinet resigned because the General Zionists refused to support it on a pair of parliamentary confidence votes.

* * *

The reshuffled Cabinet is made up of 12 ministers held over from the old administration. It includes nine representatives of Sharett's own Mapai (Labor) party, one Liberal Progressive and two members of the Religious Orthodox Workers' party. The four Cabinet posts previously held by the General Zionists were distributed among the remaining ministers.

The government won both confidence votes yesterday despite the General Zionists' abstention but Sharett said their action was "against all the principles of our coalition, the basis of which is collective responsibility."

British Rap Chiang for China Blockade

LONDON (AP)—Britain has protested Nationalist Chinese interference with two British ships headed for Foochow and warned that the Royal Navy will protect British vessels lawfully conducting trade with Red China.

Robert Turton, undersecretary of state for foreign affairs, announced the protest in the House of Commons last night. He said the ships, the Inchjura and the Helikon, were intercepted by a Nationalist Chinese warship when they attempted to enter Foochow harbor.

The Helikon was fired on and detained seven hours but both ships succeeded in reaching Foochow.

"Her Majesty's ships in the Far East have instructions to afford protection to British ships on their lawful occasions," Turton said.

Russians Score American Carmen With Negro Cast

MOSCOW (AP)—Pravda has denounced the American film "Carmen Jones." What seems to shock the organ of the Soviet Communist party more than anything else is the fact that this version of the Bizet opera is played by an all-Negro cast.

"The entire dramatis personae consists of Negroes," the paper remarks and then goes on to give a resume of the plot as it was revised to be set in the American South.

"We see before us standard crime and American comics in music," Pravda remarks. "How can such cheap trash be combined with the deep artistic and realistic music of Bizet?

"Why was it necessary to turn Spaniards into Negroes? A toreador into a boxer? The lovely fascinating Carmen into a prostitute, its deep drama into a cheap detective play?

"Such is the 'aesthetics' of American imperialism."

The opera "Carmen" is given in Russian in Moscow. The atmosphere of the production is about as French as Magnetogorsk and as Spanish as Petropovlask.

READING HELP — Mrs. Dorothy Anderson helps Rex Raynolds, 15, of Lawton, Mich., at a reading accelerator at her clinic near Decatur. The youth, unable to read when he started specialized training three months ago, has now read several books and plans to go ahead with his schooling as a ninth grade student next fall.

Retarded Readers React to Informal Classwork

PAW PAW (AP)—Children once dubbed dumbbells "come alive" in two pleasant rooms of a large farmhouse at nearly Eagle Lake.

They are the lucky pupils who work with warm-hearted Mrs. Dorothy G. Anderson at the Anderson Reading Center, a unique clinic for retarded readers.

* * *

The young housewife, a former public school teacher, helps children to gain the interest and self-confidence they need in acquiring reading skill.

She started her clinic last January as part of her project for a master's degree from Western Michigan College. She won the degree early this month, and plans how to expand her reading classes.

In talking of her work, Mrs. Anderson stresses that she works with retarded readers—not with mentally-retarded children.

Discussing the inability of some youngsters to make progress in reading, Mrs. Anderson said:

NOT DUMBBELLS

Most striking, she said, is the personality change that occurs when children find they aren't "dumbbells" and can learn to read after all.

They may be inhibited and withdrawn at the start, but as their interest and confidence grow, they become responsive and relaxed. As Mrs. Anderson describes them:

"They come alive."

She makes use of such technical training devices as a reading accelerator, to increase reading speed, and a "tachistoscope," which flashes a picture and corresponding word on a screen to increase eye span.

* * *

But her big contribution is "rapport," or getting in close contact with her pupils.

"It's a matter of finding something the child is interested in, and which he can read with success," she explains. "I just get them started and then it's up to them."

INFORMALITY BEST

Mrs. Anderson keeps the atmosphere informal at her clinic and sometimes wears blue jeans to avoid any similarity to formal classroom surroundings.

She believes her reading center is unique in being limited to a single community, although it offers the same facilities on a small scale as the psycho-educational reading center at Western Michigan College.

* * *

Mrs. Anderson has achieved her best results with children below the sixth-grade age group. Now she plans to offer reading classes for high school and adult students too who could use her special help.

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UP)—Hank Kearney, blinded by shrapnel in World War II, tests Air Force bearings in a small sound-proofed room at Mallory Air Force Depot here. He slips the bearing on a small dental lathe. If there is a low uniform noise, Kearney knows the bearing is good. If there is a loud ping, or unusual vibration, he rejects it.

Reuther Tells How Union Won Lay-Off Pay

By SAUL PETT

DETROIT (AP)—How do you get a major economic concession, such as a guaranteed layoff pay, from industry?

You keep maneuverability, says Walter Reuther.

And now that you have this, what's in the future?

Among other things, a 32-hour four-day week, and further in the future, work that is a sort of hobby for the laboring man, who will be preoccupied with culture.

* * *

The perpetual twinkle in Reuther's blue-gray eyes can be interpreted in several ways.

You might see in it a sense of amusement. Or continuing optimism and self-confidence. Or a challenge to a battle of wits. Or a sense of triumphant mischief.

Whatever the interpretation, the twinkle in the eyes of the president of the CIO United Auotmobile Workers and the CIO brightens as he discusses the art of collective bargaining, in which he is an acknowledged virtuoso.

He takes his text from recent negotiations in which the UAW-CIO pushed open an historic door and came out with the principle of guaranteed layoff pay, which assures a worker some income when, through no fault of his own, he isn't working. Reuther still refers to it as guaranteed annual wage (GAW), although what the union won from Ford and General Motors provides layoff pay for only part of a year.

* * *

"The art of collective bargaining," said the red-headed labor leader, "is truly the art of timing and maneuvering.

"You have to know when to move. By maneuver, I DON'T MEAN COMPROMISE. I mean the ability always to leave yourself elbow room.

* * *

"General Motors," he said, "had no maneuverability. They were so certain they wouldn't have to yield on the GAW thing in any form they hadn't done their homework. So, after Ford gave us the principhad to grab the Ford package in a hurry. They had no time to make any changes.

"Now, go back to Ford. Ford offered us a stock purchase plan. We immediately saw it was the same as the one GM had offered, and we rejected it. Yet, Ford thought they had us in a box. But within 30 minutes, I had already figured how we'd get out of that position.

"Ford's strategy was this: Their 'partnership in prosperity' package was so attractive, they thought, it would divide the union membership from its leadership and everyone would forget about GAW.

"Now, here is where young Henry Ford made his first mistake. He refused my invitation to address a union meeting and tell about his plan. His second mistake was to write me a letter suggesting that the Ford proposal be put to a secret vote."

* * *

At this point, Reuther said, Ford was trying to get a vote between a positive and a negative—between its plan or a strike. Ford, Reuther said, indicated it was ready to 'take a six-year strike if its stock plan wasn't accepted."

"They thought they had us in this box,' he continued. "But here is where we had to maneuver. We had to change the situation so that it would be a choice between two plans—theirs and ours—and not a choice between theirs and a strike.

* * *

"So I said to John Bugas (chief Ford negotiator), 'We're both interested in greater security for Ford workers, aren't we?' He said yes. I said, 'You're convinced the Ford workers prefer your plan, right?' He said yes. I said, 'All right, let's put it to a vote, your plan or ours, in a secret vote conducted by the Honest Ballot Assn. or some other independent outfit.'"

Reuther's smile broadened, his twinkle brightened.

"Well," he said, "that paralyzed them for 30 hours. Not a word for 30 hours. Then they forgot about the vote."

The interview, in Reuther's bright, modern office, now turned to the future. When contract renewal time rolls around again in three years, will Reuther try to push the door open for a 30-hour week?

"We'll shoot for a shorter week," he said, "but how much shorter is impossible to say now. These things can't be arbitrary. We are not a narrow pressure group seeking advantage at the expense of others in the community. A shorter work week must flow from the fact that science and technology will have given us tools to create greater wealth with less effort and time.

* * *

"Personally, I'd favor a four-day 32-hour week over six hours a day, five days a week. Then you begin to give people the real benefits of progress through a longer weekend."

When will labor cease asking for more? When will it be convinced it has won its fair share?

"That," Reuther said, "is like asking when the human race will be satisfied it has made enough progress. Labor, like other people, will continue to seek the good life. If science and technology make more possible, labor will seek to share in the increased abundance."

* * *

Reuther was then led into the distant future. What, for example, will the life of the laboring man be like in the year 2000? The question appealed to him and he took off, soaring.

"The possibilities of human progress are as unlimited as the creative genius of the free human spirit. We are now approaching a point where man becomes less an economic being and more a cultural being.

"In the future, it's possible that the average worker will spend less time making Fords, say, and more time working on a concerto or a painting or scientific research. Today a guy bucking the Ford assembly line is not expressing anything of his individual personality. Relieve him of the problem of taking wrinkles out of empty stomachs and he'll be free to become creative."

Elm Disease Strikes

PORT HURON (AP) — Officials of the State Agriculture Department conferred with city officials today over an outbreak of Dutch elm disease. More than a dozen trees were reported infected.

Enforce Fireworks Ban

BENTON HARBOR (AP) — A police crackdown on illegal sale of fireworks was ordered after a man was cut on the back by a fragment of a "cherry bomb" set off behind him by two boys. Officers confiscated 11 of the firecrackers from the boys.

Army Starts Shift of Two Divisions

FT. RILEY, Kan. (AP)—The spearhead group in Operation Gyroscope rolled eastward today on the first leg of a journey to Germany.

The operation is the largest peacetime rotation of Army troops. When completed by December, the 10th Division of Ft. Riley will have traded places with the 1st Division in Germany.

The exchange involves about 35,000 soldiers and their families.

The group leaving Ft. Riley by train yesterday totaled 500. Nine other troop trains will leave between July 4 and 16 carrying a total of 6,000 persons to New York, from where they will leave for Germany by ship and plane.

Detroit Will Appeal Property Tax Ruling

DETROIT (UP) — The city of Detroit said yesterday it would appeal a federal court ruling that could cost it $2,357,000 in back taxes plus interest charges.

Corporation Counsel Paul T. Dwyer said the appeal would be on a decision that companies handling federal defense contracts are not required to pay personal property taxes on machinery and inventories involved in the contracts.

Dwyer said the ruling made last Thursday by Federal Judge Thomas P. Thornton leaves the city, county and school board liable for back taxes in the period between 1952 and 1954. The companies paid the taxes under protest.

The city has 30 days to file an appeal with the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Cincinnati.

Tiddlywink Gives Girl a Rough Time

MILWAUKEE (UP) — A tiddlywink swallowed by 3-year-old Jeri Lyn Tischer was retrieved from her esophagus by a surgeon at Milwaukee Children's Hospital.

An examination at the hospital, where the child was taken immediately after the accident, failed to locate the coin-sized object. It was thought that the tiddlywink had passed into Jeri Lyn's stomach.

Her parents took her to the hospital again after she refused food for a week, although she would drink. An X-ray showed that the tiddlywink was lodged in her esophagus.

A long forceps inserted down Jeri Lyn's throat while she slept accomplished the extraction.

Principal Qualifies as Absent-Minded

ALBION, N.Y. (UP) — Principal Charles G. D'Amico of Albion Central School has qualified himself as an "absent-minded professor."

Over the school's public address system D'Amico made this announcement:

"Will the owner of the car with license number OR-233 please move his car from its parking spot so workmen can clear the area."

A few minutes later, workmen complained the automobile still hadn't been moved. Irritated, D'Amico went to find out why. He discovered the license number he had announced was that of his own car.

Subversive List Abuse Charged

Senate Group Claims Data Is Used to Reject Job Applica...s

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Senate internal security subcommittee contends that the attorney general's list of subversive organizations has been "misused" to bar job applicants from security clearance.

In its first criticism of this kind, the Senate group absolved the Justice Department from blame and said the official list has been "misunderstood" by security officers for the government and defense contractors.

The subcommittee said: "Membership or affiliation in one or more of the (some 250) organizations on the attorney general's list is only one factor to be considered in the evaluation of a security case."

Yet, the senators said, in "most cases" an applicant "cannot get a job on a project where clearance is required" if he admits to present or past membership in any of those groups.

The senators proposed that machinery be set up to allow applicants to get an "evaluation" of charges against them so that they can "explain" in advance and not automatically be barred from jobs.

The subcommittee said the Justice Department also should issue a "handbook" explaining why, when and how each of the cited groups was subversive and identifying those which no longer exist.

Lord Woolton, 71, Quits as Conservative Leader

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Eden Wednesday accepted the resignation of Lord Woolton as chairman of the Conservative party.

The 71-year - old peer ran the party machinery which brought victory to Eden in the May 26 general elections.

Last Saddle Maker in U.S. Army Retires

FT. CARSON, Colo. (AP)—M. Sgt. Vaughn E. Jones, probably the last master saddle maker in the Army, is due for retirement soon after almost 20 years work for the cavalry.

In 1950 the Army closed the last saddle-making school at Ft. Riley, Kan., and Jones started caring for modern machine guns and recoilless rifles.

But the 40-year-old soldier says he will open a saddle shop as soon as he's a civilian.

MILLION IN PEARLS — More than 12,000 pearls and pearl-white oyster shells went into the construction of this five-tier pagoda, which is on display at the Mikimoto pearl store in Tokoyo, Japan. The three-foot-high model is an exact replica of the one K. Mikimoto, Inc., displayed at the 1926 International Exposition in Philadelphia. The firm won't reveal the price of the pagoda, but a jeweler has estimated its worth at over a million dollars.

Odd Story Runs Full Circle Back to Starting Point

DUNCANNON, Pa. (UP)—A lost wallet, 405 bales of hay and a man's suit wee involved in this "it's a small world" example.

The well-laden wallet belonged to Glenn Smith, of nearby Ickesburg, who lost it while baling hay last summer. He had to open 405 bales before he recovered the wallet and money.

The suit belonged to Glenn Fisher, of Duncannon, who had donated it to a clothing fund for shipment to West Germany. He had forgotten to remove a note containing his name and address from a pocket.

Recently Fisher was surprised to receive a gift package from the German recipient of his suit.

While taking the German news paper wrapping from the gift Fisher noticed the word "Pennsylvania" mixed with the German phrases in one of the news stories. Curious, he had the entire story translated. The translation read:

"Fifteen days ago, farmer Glenn Smith of Pennsylvania, while baling hay, lost his wallet containing $490. Methodically he searched through every bale of hay. In the 405th bale he found it."

Crops Harmed by Nematodes

Eelworms Are Menace to Sugar Beets, Plants in Nebraska

LINCOLN, Neb. (UP)—A pesky critter called the nematode is doing considerable harm to sugar beets, garden crops and house plants in Nebraska.

* * *

M. L. Schuster, associate plant pathologist at the Nebraska Experiment Station, said a combination of crop rotation, weed control and sanitation will help protect plants from "root-knot disease," caused by the nematode.

The nematode, often called an eelworm because of its long, thin shape, is difficult to see with the naked eye.

It has no legs, is not jointed and moves by swimming in moisture in an eel-like manner.

The young nematode enters roots of plants by puncturing them with a mouth spear, feeding on plant juices.

When the female reaches maturity it secretes substances which cause roots to grow abnormally, thus damaging and decreasing value of the crop.

Schuster said recent research has revealed at least two species of root-knot nematode.

Rotation helps protect sugar beets, as well as control of weeds. Fumigation of soil is a good control measure for small plots of ground.

MINNEAPOLIS (UP) — It's now possible to sit in a Minneapolis living room and watch a hydrogen bomb explosion.

The public library's visual aids service now has available an edited portion of the film of the first hydrogen bomb explosion test in the South Pacific in 1952.

Zsa Zsa Dines With Bachelors

10 Eligibles Entertained at $500 Dinner Party; Actors Barred

HOLLYWOOD (INS)—Zsa Zsa Gabor entertained Hollywood's 10 most eligible bachelors at a $500 dinner party at the Cocanut Grove this week without a single actor present to ham things up.

* * *

The potential bridegrooms handpicked by the Hungarian fireball included two composers, an Army officer, a fashion designer and several socialities.

The lucky winners of the Gabor sweepstakes were millionaire builder Hal Hayes, composers Nacio Herb Brown and Nicholas Brodzky, architect John Lindsay, designer Jax Hanson and socialites Franklin K. Lane Jr. and Edward Bosbyshell, clubman Thomas Ingersoll and Major Speed Chandler.

At Zsa Zsa's right hand was an empty chair for her erstwhile fiance playboy Porfirio Rubirosa, who is in Paris.

DINE ON SEAFOOD

The guests of honor arrived promptly at 8:30, waited 15 minutes for their blonde hostess and then spent the evening dining on curried seafood and Hollywood reputation.

Zsa Zsa said she purposely didn't invite any actors because "with them there is never any performance without a rehearsal."

The guests had varied reasons for attending the Gabor luau.

Hayes, who recently has been linked romantically with everybody from Barbara Hutton to Joan Blondell, said he accepted the invitation because he was "lonesome."

Composer Brodzky confessed he was there because he and the middle Gabor attended the same schools in Budapest. Being a perfect gentleman, he wouldn't give the exact date but merely whispered:

"It was somewhere around the early 1930s."

* * *

Ingersoll said he came "just for kicks."

Lane insisted he was among those present because Zsa Zsa "is a woman who excells in everything."

Mary Glorification Denied by Catholics

NEW YORK (AP)—Roman Catholic theologians say a recent Presbyterian statement that there is a Catholic "trend to exalt the figure of the Virgin Mother" presents a "distortion of Catholic devotion to Mary."

The Catholic Theological Society of America, at the close of its 10th annual convention yesterday, expressed "regret and sorrow" at the statement issued last May by the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A.

The Presbyterian Assembly asserted in part that the Virgin Mother had become "virtual head" of the Catholic Church.

The Catholic Society said in a statement:

"The picture of Catholic devotion presented in this statement is one that Catholics will find simply unrecognizable.

"It is not true that in the mind and heart of Catholics Mary takes the place of Christ. It is not true that Catholics think of Mary as a 'semidivine' being."

BAGGED—Here's a becoming straw bonnet, complete with built-in earrings. Only it isn't a bonnet. It's an ordinary straw shopping bag and the "earrings" are the bamboo handles. The clever chapeau was worn by Mrs. Betty De Mare at the Wimbledon tennis championships in London.

Elderly Blind Man Mugged, Robbed

NEW YORK (AP) — Two thieves yesterday offered aid to a 72-year-old blind man, then mugged and robbed him of $15.

Harry Rossel, who has been blind for the past 36 years, was tapping his cane along the sidewalk near his Bronx home when a young man's voice said: "Can I help? Where do you want to go?"

* * *

"Thank you," said Rossel. "To my home at 2103 Walton Ave."

Another man's voice said; "Just a minute, let me take a look."

The strangers escorted Rossel into the house where he lives on the second floor and helped him up the stairway. At the landing one man clamped a hand over the elderly man's mouth and he was pushed to the floor and robbed.

Oldster Surveys Planned by State Dept. of Labor

ANN ARBOR (INS)—Delegates to the University of Michigan's eighth annual conference on aging Tuesday heard how the Department of Labor plans to help older persons.

Under Secretary of Labor Arthur Larson outlined a six-point program of surveys the Labor Department plans to undertake in the coming year.

To be included in the Labor Department studies are surveys on the work qualities of older workers, nation-wide employment practices in the hiring of older men and the problems of the older working woman.

Larson said he hoped the studies would change current attitudes toward the hiring of older workers and added that most obstacles to the employment of older workers are based on "obsolete misconception."

The conference, which consists of 22 workshops meeting for exhaustive study of problems facing the aging, will continue through tomorrow.

Harold Winchester, co-ordinator of the Joint Legislative Committee on Problems of the Aging for the State of New York, heads the important workshop, "How to Live to Be an Older Person."

Lawrence C. Barden, associate dean of Hofstra College, representing the senior consultants of Nassau County, New York, is participating in workshops devoted to the employment problems of the aging.

Ford's Top Idea Man Paid $10,288 So Far

DETROIT (AP)—Louis R. Morone idea man extraordinary, has boosted returns from his ingenuity to more than $10,000.

Morone is the leading money winner in the Ford Motor Co.'s employe suggestion plan. A record of $100,755 was paid out under the plan in May, boosting total payoffs to $3,168,236 since the program was started in 1947.

A tool inspector at Ford's Rouge Plant, Morone picked up checks during May that raised his total to $10,288.

Dredges Scooping Seaway

OTTAWA (AP) — Three-legged giants are wading around the St. Lawrence river these days. They're taking big bites out of the riverbed.

The large fellows, which move around on a kind of submarine stilt, are one of several types of dredges being used to deepen and widen the river areas to allow ocean shipping to go up the St. Lawrence and into the Great Lakes.

They are doing some of the $14,000,000 dredging work that has been let out by the St. Lawrence Seaway Authority as part of its $191,000,000 undertaking to clear a deepwater channel into the North American heartland, including the building of canals to accommodate ships of 27-foot draught.

In this early stage of the Seaway's development, the surface of various "lakes"—widenings in the St. Lawrence's course as it flows to the Atlantic—is studded with giant dredges.

EAT UP BOTTOM

All are feeding on the river bottom, either dipping into it with huge scoops or drawing it up by suction.

Some 8,200,000 cubic yards has to be taken up. About 250 men are working on this now and eventually there will be about 400. They are working from 4 a.m. to 8 p.m.

The dredges are picking up better than 6,000 cubic yards a day from the bottom between Montreal and Cornwall Island. This is dropped into scows that haul it to dumping spots in the river out of the way of shipping.

While most of the dredging is being done by conventional methods, the grasshopper-type system of the big one is somewhat of a departure from normal operations in Canada.

From the front of one of these dredges, two steel shafts called bow spuds extend down to the river bed like front legs. Another spud is driven down at the stern end.

* * *

As the dipper brings up its six cubic yards of mud, silt and boulders, it drops the material into a scow that carries it away.

Material in its path cleared to the required depth, the dredger hoists up its bow spuds and uses the stern leg or its dipper to push itself ahead to take new chunks out of the river bottom.

Vegas Sets Minimum

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—The big-name shows at Las Vegas resort hotels aren't going to be available any longer for the price of a soft drink. Effective Saturday night there will be a $2 minimum in most casinos. Owners said receipts were too low on second shows, when crowds of soft-drink-buying teen-agers often crowd into the casinos.

Movie Atmosphere

RICHLAND, Wash. (UP)—Sand-laden winds from nearby arid areas whipped through this town and one strong gust knocked down the screen at an outdoor theater. The picture being shown was "The Living Desert."

Lily Pons, Famed Opera Singer, Still Scared by Every Audience

By W. G. ROGERS
Associated Press Arts Editor

NEW YORK (AP)—For a real charmer, I give you Lily Pons. It's not anything she works at—she doesn't have to work at it, and there isn't much of her; but what there is, the whole half-pint of Pons, is solid charm.

* * *

A mite of a singer with a monster of a reputation, Miss Pons has an audience that has grown from the little provincial opera houses of her native France to the bigger centers of Paris and New York, the world's largest concert stages, and late, uncounted radio and TV fans.

When she works, she goes at it hard; when she rests, ditto. She rests in a home she used to have in Connecticut; or in France; or in a new home in the West; or in her apartment in New York where I saw her.

Here with Matisse, Utrillo, Braque and Dufy, all French and all modernist, looking down at you from the walls — and maybe out the windows, too, at the East River vistas north, south and east, Miss Pons said:

LILY PONS

"I've always wanted to build my home, and now I've done it. In Palm Springs, Calif. Perched on a sort of a saddle of a mountain."

She shows pictures of it: walls in pastel colors chosen by her, brighter divans and cushions, rich rugs, brilliantly striped tenting, a swimming pool, and her initials, L.P. twisted and cuddled together, Oriental-alphabet fashion, for designs in the rugs and for the plots in the formal flower gardens.

LIKES PARTIES

She likes parties, she enjoys company; and parties and company like her, for she is vivacious and witty. But she's no party-goer, and says she never was:

"After a concert I must be alone. I've been nervous all day—"

"You! Nervous?"

"Me. Nervous," she insists. "It used to be worse. I was nervous from the time I woke up in the morning, at 7 or 8; I was so nervous I could be sick. I'm not so nervous now, I say to myself, it's silly, nothing can happen, people love me, I love the people. So it's better. But I'm still nervous."

"I have to keep my health," she continued. "I can't go out to night clubs. From the very first I said to myself, my career alone must matter, my career was my religion. I wanted perfection."

Is it easier to keep people away here, or in France? Which place has more temptations to ween her from a career?

"This country"—she's been a citizen 15 years. "There are more distractions here. Of course it isn't perhaps just the way it ought to be even in France. Education there is taken more seriously, perhaps too seriously; here much less seriously, perhaps not seriously enough."

WANTS OPERA

She wished there were more opera houses in this country. She wished there were more symphonies—"not all Brahms and Beethoven, either," she argued, waving them off, "but some of the programs of more varied, fresher fare that New York Philharmonic audiences have been hearing on Saturday night." She was referring to the series in which her husband, Andre Kostelanetz, has taken over the Philharmonic podium for two seasons now.

Miss Pons coloratura is most often heard in the roles of Rosina, which she is doing with the Metropolitan this year in New York and on tour, and Lucia, Gilda and Lakme. Despite the radio and TV programs, opera is her field; and her fan mail now as always, she says, invariably mentions opera.

Ah, Venice, City of Canals and Latin Love

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS)—Any woman who is worth her salted tears wants to have, at one time or another, a brief and tragic romance that "wasn't meant to be (sniff)."

* * *

It is the nature of the lady beast. Gives her wistful memories; an excuse to cry over gardenias and selections by Rodgers & Hart and all manner of lovely things to think about when her husband—he who was meant to be—leaves her for a round of golf.

"Harry," she can muse over the crochet hooks, "he wouldn't of gone chasing after some silly old ball. Not Harry. He wouldn've . . . "

And with that she can cut loose on her dreams.

Well, I have just returned from seeing the new Katharine Hepburn film, "Summertime," about a secretary who finds an ill-fated love in the city of Venice, and it has convinced me of two things.

BETTER IN VENICE

1. We're fooling ourselves if we think our American tragi-romances are worthwhile. Maybe it's the canals, and maybe it's a basic difference in the caliber of men, but an American girl can suffer much better in Venice.

2. I think, after seeing this film, a lot of American girls will!

* * *

To confirm this fact, I phoned the "Italian State Tourist Office," which was already in pretty much of an uproar over this prospect. "I suppose you want to learn about Venice because you see this movie, what's-its-name, about our city of romance?" said Guido Vittori, the man who answered.

Yes, you may put the blame on what's-its-name, I conceded poetically.

"I'm sorry but the Italian government can offer no guarantees you will find a man there," said Vittori, who is brutally frank. "However, we think it is quite likely."

* * *

In Venice, he pointed out, about 48 per cent of the population is male, and something like 28 per cent of the 48 is unmarried. This includes, unfortunately, small boys and old widowers.

ALREADY CROWDED

There are 91 hotels in Venice, Vittori went on, all of which are jammed if you come in July, August or September—"as that is when the women come," to look upon the waterways, St. Mary's Square, the art works, and the 28 per cent.

"In fact, it is so crowded in the summer that if this movie brings many more people over, I don't know what we'll do."

No, they will not export the native Venetians, he said

* * *

Vittori added that there was frightful rush on Rome last summer, after that other movie—"what's its name, 'Three Coins in a Fountain'," was released.

The increase in travel to Rome is impossible to estimate. But the number of persons asking to see the fountain, into which Dorothy McGuire flung coins and Frank Sinatra threw his voice, indicates that romance vied with religion as a chief reason for vacation there last year.

For any women who see "Summertime" and are then obsessed by the desire to observe, personally, the beauties of the flame-colored flowers, gondolas, pigeons and the hazy sunset casting sparkles on the refuse in the Grand Canal, Vittori has this advice: "Make your reservations early."

* * *

For women obsessed by the desire to see the wonders of an Italian lover like Rossano Brazzi, Miss Hepburn's tender Romeo in the film, Vittori urges:

GO TO NEW YORK

"Go to New York. That's where Brazzi is, and I doubt if there are many more at home like him."

* * *

Besides, he said—at the risk of being an iconoclast and hurting his own tourist business—he does not recommend spending the money for a trip to Italy if what you want is a hurried amour. Brazzi is an exceptional ; most Italians take their time about such things. Furthermore:

"Italian men like to boss a little bit. American women like to do the same. It is very hard to find a great love," he said sadly, "when there are two bosses in the same duet."

Mild Mental Cases Aren't Hospitalized

SAN FRANCISCO (UP) — San Francisco's City and County Hospital now boasts an out-patient service by psychiatrists for persons suffering mild mental illness.

Thomas A. Brooks, chief administrative officer, said the no-cost service is provided by city psychiatrists and public health nurses.

It offers at-home treatment for victims of mild insanity and also recuperation treatment for those released to their homes.

The service provides a buffer for those needing care short of hospitalization and will cushion the shock of abrupt transfers from hospital wards to the outside world, Brooks said.

The out-patient service will operate in conjunction with the city's psychiatric wards which already provide temporary treatment for mental patients.

Juvenile Offenses Lower at Yuletime

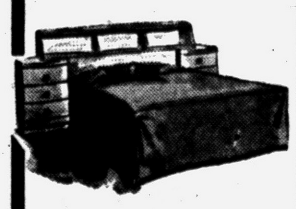

ST. PAUL (UP)—If every month were December, there might be less work for law enforcement officers dealing with juvenile offenders.

According to a report of the Minnesota Youth Conservation Commission, the number of juvenile offenders under 18 dropped sharply last December from the previous month. The same situation held true in December 1953.

One reason for the decrease, according to the report, might be the Christmas season "which brings increased family activities and more cohesiveness of the family."

Other reasons cited for the possible drop were more temporary work opportunities, additional church activities and the opening of the winter sports season.

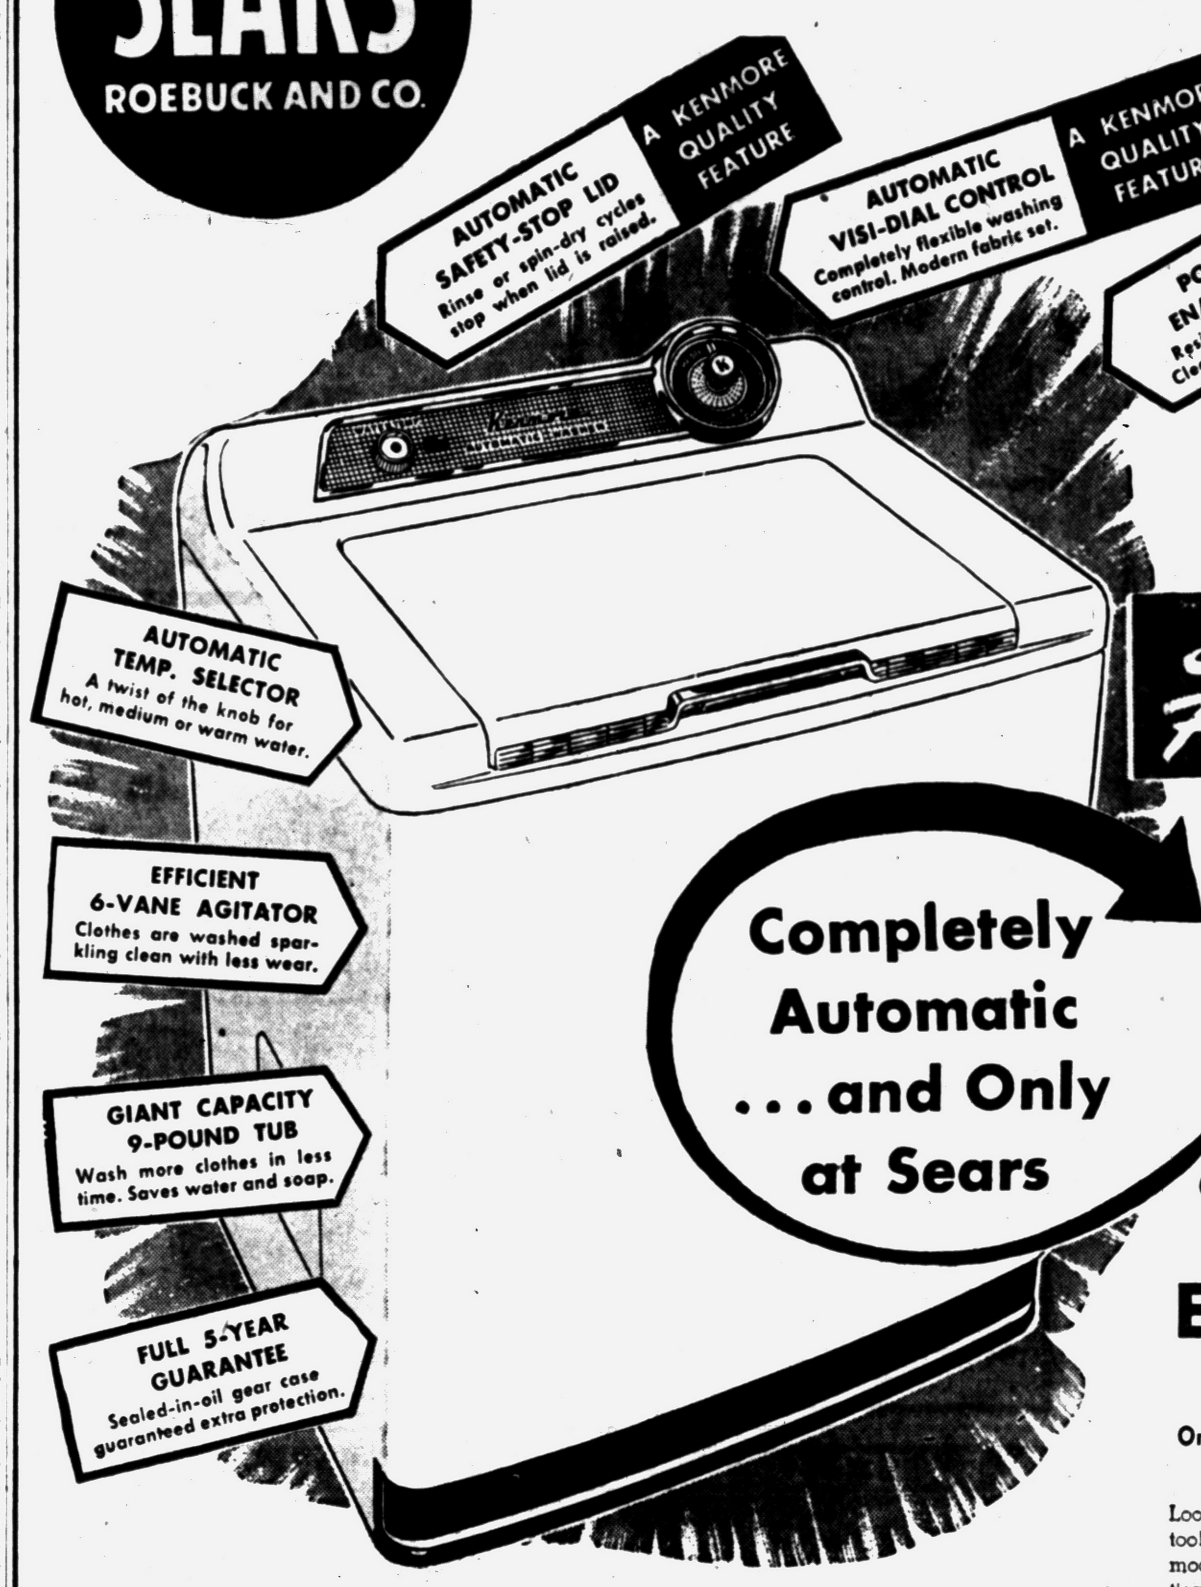

The commission analysis covered the last three months of 1954 and included statistics from police departments and sheriffs in 28 communities representing 44 per cent of Minnesota's population.

Soviet Bloc's Goods Shortage Curtailing Trade

By WILLIAM N. OATIS

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., June 29 (AP)—The U.N. said tonight that the main barrier to East-West trade seemed to be East European shortages, rather than the Western embargo on strategic goods.

In a study titled "The Quest for Freer Trade," it declared that the ban on shipping such goods to Communist countries "does not appear to have been the principal factor limiting the volume of trade between Eastern and Western Europe."

"In recent years," the 59-page book added, "the chief difficulty appears to have been that of the countries of Eastern Europe in delivering the goods required to finance imports from the West." It noted that this difficulty had been such that the Soviet Union had had to sell gold to pay for imports.

* * *

At the U.N.'s 10th anniversary meeting in San Francisco last week, Foreign Minister Molotov carried on the persistent Soviet campaign against the Western embargo. He called for a world economic conference and "removal of any discrimination hampering the development of wide-scale economic cooperation and international trade."

The U.N. book said regulation by many countries of strategic exports had been of special importance in recent years. But it recalled that last August, a committee of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization dealing with the subject had sharply cut the list of commodities affected.

* * *

Such controls, the study said, "may be costly to the country establishing them as well as to its trading partners," and are not likely to prove effective long in denying the goods in question to the countries against which they are applied. It explained:

"They are likely to give an impetus to development of domestic production of the materials which the affected country cannot procure from abroad."

The U.N.'s department of economic and social affairs produced the book by request of the 18-nation Economic and Social Council, which will discuss it at a session to begin in Geneva July 5.

The study made these other points:

* * *

1. The United States and Canada cut tariffs considerably between 1925 and 1952, while several European countries boosted them, "Denmark and Sweden being notable exceptions."

2. Despite U.S. reductions, "the tariff on many highly processed products remains relatively high" and is a factor in other countries' dollar shortage.

3. The dollar shortage has been held in check in part by U.S. government grants, loans and military spending of more than four billion dollars a year lately.

4. The international payments situation has improved recently, and trade and payments restrictions have been relaxed gradually. No early abolition of exchange controls are foreseen, but there are hopes "that a return to convertibility of currencies might become possible within the near future."

Industry Official Says 1955 Trade Should Set New High Mark

CHICAGO (AP)—The executive secretary of the National Assn. of Furniture Manufacturers says that "all signs indicate" 1955 will be the best year in the history of the furniture industry.

John M. Snow, speaking at a news conference at the summer home furnishings market, added that "It would seem that the industry can look toward a general upward trend of prices this fall."

Roscoe R. Rau, executive vice president of the National Retail Furniture Assn., said retailers "don't expect and don't find price hikes in every space, nor on every item or every suite of lines where increases are evident."

"Increases are found on a few numbers in a line and for the most part are accepted as reasonable," he added. "Percentagewise, the increases are small."

Snow said signs indicate 1955 business will top 1953's volume of $2,127,036,000 by a slight margin.

"We are now running approximately 11 per cent ahead of the same five-month period of 1954 and if we continue at this rate, we would wind up the year 4 per cent above the industry's best year, 1953," Snow said.

"However, with all factors involved, NAFM is estimating that 1955 will top 1954 by 10 per cent and surpass 1953 by a slight margin."

He said 42 per cent of manufacturers surveyed reported increasing certain prices, and 58 per cent reported they increased no prices. The average price increase reported ranged from 2 to 3 per cent.

NEW FRONT — After 11 weeks of construction, the new front lobby on the Pontiac Press Building, 48 W. Huron St., was opened today. Featuring an exterior of sandstone and glass block with aluminum trim, the lobby was built by Chissus Construction Co., of Birmingham. Its interior has glazed brick walls, terrazzo floor and steps and marble sills around the windows, with interior planting boxes. Tropical plants are in the interior and geraniums, petunias and vinca vines in the exterior boxes. A slot for deposit of after-hour stories, pictures and similar material is at left of the aluminum doors.

Mail Goes Through as Bride Bides Time

BONN (INS)—Now they can add "nor his own wedding" to the postman's slogan that "neither rain, nor snow, nor dark of night" shall hold up the delivery of the mail."

The local postman in the West German town of Holtheim kept his bride waiting at the church until all the 1,000 villagers got their mail. The bridegroom went straight from "the swift completion of his appointed round" to the church.

Cherry Processing Due to Start Late Next Week

TRAVERSE CITY (AP) — Cherry growers have reported that processing plants will be in production by late next week to process the 1955 cherry harvest.

District horticultural agent Clarence Mullett said the sweet cherry harvest should begin this week. He predicted a longer picking season than usual and estimated the red tart cherry harvest would be under way about July 11.

Growers estimated the northwestern Michigan area will harvest about 65,000,000 pounds of cherries this year.

Small Industry 'Marshall Plan' Idea

WASHINGTON (AP)—Thanks to the success of the garlic press, David Margulies is convinced that what this country needs is a do-it-yourself Marshall plan, scaled down for the small business man and producer.

So he has been dashing about town, trying to sell his idea to government officials, and if he succeeds, some unusual products should show up in U. S. stores.

Margulies' idea is this:

* * *

In most foreign countries, manufacturing still is done in cottages. The output is so small no importer can afford to be interested in it, yet the product often shows craftsmanship that appeals to an American buyer.

Margulies feels the Marshall Plan was designed to help basic industries. His plan, he says, would help the little fellow, "and the best part of it is, it would not cost the taxpayer a dime."

* * *

He wants the Commerce Department to set up a committee of business men to help small foreign producers find markets here. The imports, he thinks, would not compete with American products, but they would bring money into hard pressed areas and turn them into potential customers for us.

This may sound like a pipe dream, but so does Margulies' career.

At 31, he's a dark, husky ex-sailor who appears to get the same artistic thrill out of selling gingerbread houses—he sold thousands of them last Christmas — that Gainsborough got out of painting "Blue Boy."

* * *

His start toward the Margulies plan was chiefly an accident. Six years ago he decided to peddle a clothes hanger that fits across an automobile. But when none of the regular trade channels was interested, he turned, in desperation, to mail orders.

One thing led to another, and soon he had a mail order business. And before long he was pushing something known as the Around-the-World Shoppers Club, whereby customers were getting, by direct mail from foreign countries, such knickknacks as crystal dinner bells from Belgium and sterling silver cuff links from Siam.

* * *

For years, he says, the Italians have gone along peddling garlic presses for medicinal purposes, under the impression that garlic lowers the blood pressure.

Margulies decided to ignore the blood pressure market and to stress the need for the press as mother's little helper in flavoring food.

So he made a deal, he said, with a small village producer. Well, it turned out housewives were crazy about garlic presses, or, in Margulies' own words: "The item was red hot."

* * *

Margulies hustled back to the village, and explained to the producer the wonders of mass production. Soon many craftsmen was turning out garlic presses. Margulies and his competitors, he figures, have sold American housewives four million garlic presses, a statistic that should give each of us a bated breath.

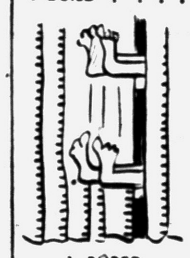

The villagers are more prosperous, and as for the little manufacturer:

"He has his own car, inside plumbing, flourescent lights and when I drop by his place now, I have to wait in line to see him."

Politics Charged in ANPA Suit

Department of Justice Rapped by Publisher at Newspaper Convention

SUN VALLEY, Idaho (AP)—The President of the American Newspaper Publishers' Assn. charges that the Department of Justice is pressing anti-trust actions against newspapers for political reasons or because "somebody down there just does not like newspapers."

* * *

Richard W. Slocum, executive vice president of the Philadelphia Bulletin, accused the department of "an attitude that smacks of wanting a legal victory rather than fair and reasonable procedure and wisest results."

He urged members of the International Circulation Managers' Assn. to give the matter sober thought because "if a lot of other federal and state and local officers get the bug of going after newspapers from this Washington effort we may see a lot of strange things happening."

Slocum said ANPA representatives conferred with Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell 16 months ago after the FBI asked to see the association's files "because the anti-trust division of the Department of Justice suspected newspapers were doing some monopolistic things."

* * *

"We asked the attorney general to promise, which he did, to discuss the matter with us after they concluded their investigation and before they took any definite action," Slocum said.

"Nine months went by, during which we heard nothing. Then we reminded them of the promise to talk things over. We were told the price we would have to pay would be to have the talks end in a consent decree—a pleasant term for a court injunction."

Slocum said this would mean ANPA would have to submit to court control and be "a sitting duck anytime the Department of Justice thought it appropriate to pull the trigger."

* * *

"ANPA as the delegated leader and spokesman of the free press of America does not intend to have the press in such a spot unless there is no other way out after all appropriate channels have been followed," Slocum said.

Commons Sanctions Treaty With Austria

LONDON (AP)—Britain's House of Commons approved the Austrian independence treaty yesterday.

Not a dissenting voice was heard as members rose to welcome the independence pact and Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan quickly moved the second and then the final reading of the bill.

The bill now awaits the formality of passage through the House of Lords and Queen Elizabeth's signature to make it law.

Macmillan said he hoped the ratification process would be completed "as soon as possible" to speed withdrawal of Big Four occupation forces from Austria.

The French Parliament has yet to act. The treaty has already been ratified by Austria's Parliament, the U.S. Senate and the Presidium of Russia's Supreme Soviet.

Fisher Body Official Expires After Illness

DETROIT (AP)—Thayer B. (Dutch) Haskins, 44, senior cost analyst in the general offices of Fisher Body Division of General Motors, died yesterday. He had been ill for the past month.

Funeral service will be held Saturday in Grand Rapids. Burial will be in Scottsville.

Greek Frieze Commemorates Ancient Battle

ATHENS (AP)—The largest monument in Greece has been erected as a memorial to the most famous battle of antiquity. The memorial at Thermopylae will be unveiled today by King Paul.

It consists of a marble frieze, 81-feet long, flanked by two symbolic figures, also marble, and topped by an 18-foot bronze statue.

* * *

The frieze depicts the epic of Thermopylae — in which Greek King Leonidas and his 300 Spartans fought 2,435 years ago against Persian King Xerxes and his army of 180,000. The bronze statue topping the frieze represents Leonidas and is the work of Greek sculptor Phalireas.

Present at the unveiling will be the commander and members of the Knights of Thermopylae, an association of Americans of Greek descent who contributed $50,000 to build the monument.

Cats Pick the Craziest Maternity Wards—

Anyone who owns a female cat knows that there's no use fixing up a nice, soft nest for her accouchment. Do that and likely as not she'll have her kittens in the farthest corner of the cellar on top of the coal pile. The trio of new mama cats pictured below, all in Kansas, are typical of the feline instinct for doing things the hard way.

ROLL-A-BYE BABY — One of the cars of a miniature train operated for children at Forest Park, Parsons, Kans., was chosen as her "maternity ward" by a stray cat that had been hanging around the park most of the winter. Having a firsthand look at the feline family is David Forbes, 7, who lives nearby the park.

SCIENCE, ILLUSTRATED — It happened at rural Obee School, near Hutchinson, Kans. Science teacher William Turner suggested that students bring animals to class so they could be discussed. Opportunity presented itself to Marjorie Sutton, left, Reta Burkitt, center, and Kathleen Edwards. Outside the school and trying to get in was a big yellow cat. A tomcat, the girls thought. They brought it inside and put it in the cloakroom closet until time for science class. But when the girls went to get it, they found it was no tom — it was having kittens. Here the girls look over mama cat and the four newcomers.

WARM NEST — Not satisfied with the box the Melvin Dunkin family of Kiowa, Kans., fixed up for her when time was approaching for her to have her kittens, their Siamese found a dryer was open and the next thing the Dunkins knew the pet had installed herself comfortably, awaiting the big moment.

Forgot to Mention He Walked to Talk

EAST LANSING (AP) — A determined veterinarian traveled 5,000 miles by dog sled, kayak, plane and car to keep a speaking date at Michigan State College this week.

Dr. Karl R. Reinhard left a bleak outpost on an ice flow in the Arctic Circle to speak at an MSC Centennial Symposium on veterinary medicine.

Reinhard, conducting infectious disease investigations for the U.S. Public Health Service, was hesitant about leaving his ice pack three weeks ago.

The ice was too thin to risk a crossing by dog sled, he explained, so he had to wait for the breakup of thin shore ice and take a kayak to the mainland.

Dog sled took him from there to the nearest airstrip, where he caught a plane to Seattle and another to Lansing.

Cop's Stakeout Solves Crime; Culprits Treed

JACKSON (AP) — Day after day the doughnuts and sweet rolls delivered to the door of the Muir Drug Store by a local bakery were disappearing before the store opened for business.

No one could spot the culprit, so Policeman Richard Marshall was stationed across the street to catch him in the act.

He hadn't long to wait. Hardly had the delivery truck disappeared down the street than two squirrels scampered across the sidewalk. Diving into the box, they made off with a whole sack of sweet rolls before Marshall could scare them off.

He Got Bum Steer

JOHNSTON, Pa. (UP)—District Game Protector L. D. Mostoller was alerted recently to a hunter suspected of shooting a deer out of season. A short time later a local sportsman reported killing a steer that had escaped from the local slaughter house.

SUMMER CAMP JUST AHEAD — These children arrived bright and early Wednesday morning to board a school bus taking them and 24 other physically handicapped children to Camp Grace Bentley on the shores of Lake Huron. Camp was made available to youngsters 6 to 16, free to the parents, through sponsorship of the Oakland County Society for Crippled Children. The Michigan League for Crippled Children operates the camp. Above, anticipating a happy two weeks crammed with sports, games and hobbies are (left to right) Mary and Martha Moore, Janet Landry, Donald Shirey, Donald Measel and Penelope Myre. Camp ends July 13.

'Bonanzagram'

Have Fun! Win $100!

"Bonanzagram" is an exciting new puzzle in which the Pontiac Press offers both fun and a $100 cash prize. BUT before you try your hand at "Bonanzagram" be sure and read the rules at the bottom of this page. Solution will appear in the Press July 8.

CLAIM CHECK

Below is a duplicate of the "Bonanzagram" entry you send in to contest headquarters. It is ESSENTIAL that you fill it in and save it until the correct solution to "Bonanzagram" No. 17 is published Friday, July 8. Unless you do so, you will be unable to collect the prize if you should send in a winning solution. Check the rules below for further details.

Bonanzagram No. 17 Story Clues

Late one hot summer evening, an excited woman telephoned the police station to report that her husband was missing. He had left for work earlier than usual that day, but had never arrived there and no one had heard from him since. The officer assigned to investigate could not get much information from his worried wife. He did learn that neighbors considered the couple ideally happy, although they frequently had loud arguments about unimportant matters. In the course of looking over the pleasant little home, the officer found in a scrap basket a handful of small pieces of paper. They were pasted together, and showed that the missing man had made an effort to leave a note for his wife. A number of letters were unreadable, but by filling them in properly, an explanation of the man's disappearance was found. Can you, too, decipher the pasted-together note?

How To Play 'Bonanzagram'

Solve the "Bonanzagram" by filling in all the missing letters, as indicated by the underscores, in the message. Insert only one letter above each underscore. Many clues to the missing letters are hidden in the story or anecdote, accompanying the message itself, and, in a few cases, the contestant's general knowledge should provide the correct letter. The contestant will note that the message is unpunctuated. Punctuation will help solve the message but is not necessary to win.

All missing letters must be correctly inserted to win a Bonanzagram prize. Punctuation will not be considered in judging a correct answer.

When properly filled in, the 'Bonanzagram' will spell out a clear message that will conform in every way with the clues. In many cases it will seem that more than one word would be the correct one. That's part of the fun! You should weigh the clues and select the BEST possible word in each case.

How to Submit Entries

1. After solution is completed, "Bonanzagram" should be clipped and pasted to a two-cent postcard with your name and address.

2. Entries will be received at the Pontiac Press office, 48 W. Huron St., until 5 p. m. Tuesday, July 5. Mail entries must be postmarked before midnight Tuesday, July 5 for Bonanzagram No. 17. Address "Bonanzagram, %, Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Mich.

3. Entries may be mailed in envelope but contestant's full name and number of puzzle must be printed in upper left corner of address side of envelope.

4. Copies of the Press need not be purchased to enter. Facsimiles made by hand and corresponding as closely as possible to the original "Bonanzagram" printed in the Press will be accepted but are limited one to a family. Mimeograph, duplicator or other unofficial mechanical reproduction is forbidden.

How to Collect the Prize

The entrant must work out and keep duplicate solution as a claim check. When the solution is published in the Press, he should compare his "claim check" with the published solution, and, if his claim check is identical, he should call in person with his claim check at the Press office, 48 W. Huron St., before 5 p. m. on the Monday following publication of the solution.

If a winner cannot call at the Press office in person, he should mail his solution to "Bonanzagram Editor." This letter must reach the Press not later than 5 p.m. the Monday after publication of the answer. Correct answers are void unless the contestant reports his claim by the deadlines listed here.

About Eligibility, Information, Etc.

1. Anyone is eligible for the "Bonanzagram" contest except employes of the Press and members of their immediate families. (Immediate family means all those living in an employe's household.)

2. No question as to winners will be answered by phone.

3. The Press will award a prize of $100 to the winner of each weekly Bonanzagram. If more than one winning answer is received, the prize will be divided equally among the winners. If no correct solution is received, the $100 will be added to the next week's prize. If the winner is a subscriber of record to the Press a $20 bonus will be added to the $100.

4. Only one winning entry from a family will be eligible for the prize, but there is no limit on number of entries.

5. The Press retains the right to correct typographical errors.

Filipinos Eying Fiesta Problem

Big Celebrations Lead to Economic Disaster for Poorer Hosts

MANILA (AP) — The fiesta, a gay national pastime, may be on its way out.

There is a growing feeling among serious - minded citizens that fiestas are not helping the country's economy. Rivalry among host villages or towns has led to excessive spending.

* * *

Fiestas have meant gaiety, music, balls and abandon. To the average Filipino, the birth of a child, an early rain or recovery from illness is sufficient excuse to hold a fiesta. But the custom has sent many a man to the pawn shop. Few will admit the last party reduced them to their last centavo. None will say they are in debt because of merrymaking.

* * *

The Filipino, noted for his boundless hospitality, would require little persuasion to spend a whole year's savings on one day of merrymaking. Many will count their guests and try to outdo themselves when the next fiesta comes around.

A successful town fiesta may include the importation of three bands from Manila, invitations to movie stars and big-name basketball teams. Who foots the bill? The wealthy trader as well as the poor farmer.

* * *

Civic leaders long have recognized the evils of fiestas. But they have had a tough time trying to convince the friendly people to curb their sprees. Officials believe legislation may be necessary.

Experts say the safest way to remove a fishhook which has become embedded in your flesh often is to force the point out through the skin and cut off the barb with a sharp pliers.

U.N. Advocates Crop Insurance for All Farmers

ROME (AP)—The U.N. Food and Agriculture Organization would like to see more farmers take out crop insurance.

The insurance plan seems to be working in Russia, where it is compulsory, and has shown steadily increasing benefits in the United States, and is being planned for Ceylon, Colombia, India and Mexico, FAO reports.

"Uncertainty of crop yields is one of the basic risks which every farmer has to face," an FAO survey says, adding:

"The great merit of insurance as opposed to relief and concession, is that the insured farmers, in case of loss, can claim indemnities as a matter of right.

"Secondly, what is of even greater importance, is that the losses are shared, wholly or partly where the government undertakes to have a share by the farmers themselves.

"Crop insurance thus spreads the losses geographically; that is, losses suffered by a few in particular locations are borne by many scattered over wide areas."

Death Has 3 Lives

by Brett Halliday

Distributed by NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: Mike Shayne, a private detective, accidentally becomes deeply involved in a murder case and so is his secretary, Lucy Hamilton. He has unwittingly aided the murder and police will question his motives. Then an anonymous phone call threatens Mike with exposure unless he turns over $70,000, supposed to have been in the possession of one of the murder victims.

XV

At precisely 11:30, Lucy Hamilton emerged from the front door of her apartment building and started walking toward 13th street. She wore a tight fitting dark wool suit and low heeled walking shoes, and was hatless. Under her right arm she carried a package about twice the size of a cigar box, wrapped in brown paper and tied with stout string.

She had accepted the responsibility without demur. She was unarmed and walking alone into the night to keep an appointment with a man who was probably a killer and who expected her to deliver $70,000 to him.

Shayne had told her, only, that he would try to be around somewhere and that she should trust him to do his best. He had explained that she would act more naturally if she did not know what his plans were.

She had just reached the causeway when she heard the first car slowing behind her. She did not change her steady pace as a gleaming convertible pulled down close beside her and a masculine voice called cheerily, "It's a long walk to the other side. Let me give you a lift."

Lucy continued walking and told him distinctly, "No, thank you. I love to walk at night."

He waved a negligent hand, and the convertible leaped ahead.

Three minutes later another car slowed beside her. It was a shabby dark sedan with a man and woman in the front seat. "Could we give you a ride, young lady?"

Lucy stopped to smile apologetically. "Thank you so much, but I'm expecting a friend along any minute to pick me up."

The dark sedan went on.

She hadn't seen Shayne's car pass in either direction. She hadn't the slightest idea where he might be or what he was doing.

A station wagon pulled up fast, began slowing as it passed her. She caught a glimpse of a single burly figure behind the wheel. Her heart thumped excitedly as the station wagon pulled to a halt 20 feet ahead.

A husky voice said, "Crawl in, honey. I'm going your way and what's the use either of us being lonesome?"

She was barely able to say, "No, thanks," in a firm voice as she marched on past the invitingly open door.

Then two young girls stopped in another convertible, giggling as they told her it was old-fashioned to walk home from a date; and a shabby coupe with a courteous old gentleman behind the wheel who professed himself profoundly shocked to discover such a young and beautiful maiden in distress.

The next car began to slow some distance behind her. Traffic was lighter now than it had been when she started her walk, and her senses had become attuned to deviations in the speed of cars approaching from the rear.

She kept walking steadily as though unaware of the slowing car, edging farther to the right where a guard fence protected the edge of a steep embankment leading down to the bay waters below.

GETS NERVOUS

She nervously shifted her fingers on the package again, setting her teeth together tightly and feeling every muscle in her slim young body tense as a gray sedan drew abreast of her, moving no faster than she, and the man behind the wheel leaned far over to unlatch the right hand door and swing it open.

"Throw it in, Sister."

Her thumb and forefinger were achingly tight about a small round knob that protruded from the side of the package under her arm. She stopped and caught it with her left hand, tossed it lightly through the open door, jerking the small knob loose as she did so.

The car door swung shut and the motor roared and tires screeched protestingly as the sedan leaped forward.

Lucy flung herself sideways over the edge of the embankment as there was a loud explosion in the night from the front seat of the gray sedan some 50 feet distant and accelerating fast.

As she leaped over the guard fence, she saw the sedan lurch violently to the right, and to her horror realized that the fence was down at that point for a space of some 40 feet and there was nothing at all to prevent the car from going over.

She was sliding down the embankment when it hurtled over the edge 100 feet in front of her, doing a lazy somersault in the air and landing with a sickening crash upside down in Biscayne Bay.

Lucy Hamilton landed on hands and knees in loose sand at the foot of the embankment, less than 10 feet from the edge of the water. After the violent crash caused by the gray sedan landing upside down in the bay directly in front of her, there was almost utter silence as she crouched there trying to orient herself — trying to realize exactly what had happened —trying to think what she should do next.

Michael Shayne hadn't planned it to end like this. She knew that definitely. He had planned and hoped to capture the man alive after she tossed the package into his car.

Shaggy Turkey Story

JAMESTOWN, N. D. (UP)—Milton Genzel said he saw three turkeys from his flock in a tree on the night of a blizzard, but they had disappeared the following morning. Forty-one days later two of the birds crawled out of a snow bank, leaving behind bones and feathers of the third.

AAA Gives Key Report

DETROIT (UP)—The number of motorists locking their keys in their cars dropped in 1954. The American Automobile Association reported its annual survey of emergency calls showed only 717,000 calls for emergency lock and key service compared to 803,000 the year before.

Atomic Laboratories Boast Cleanest Air

SCHENECTADY, N. Y. (UP) — The cleanest air in the world may be found in certain areas of the Knolls Atomic Power Laboratories near hear.

It has to be that way, because outside air sometimes carries a normal background of radiation found in nature.

Particles so small it would take 10,000 of them placed side by side to equal the thickness of a human hair are constantly being removed from the air that enters certain areas of the A-labs.

As a result the air is cleaner than that of the surrounding countryside.

* * *

Radiation experts also say that residents in the area are well protected from any radiation particles because filters are used to cleanse the air being exhausted from the laboratory.

Sitting Bull's Art Displayed in State

NILES (UP)—Sitting Bull, the Sioux Indian leader who fought Custer, has a series of paintings on display at the city museum here.

His venture into art was in payment to a Michigan girl who had befriended him, according to Alex A. Praus, director of the Kalamazoo Museum.

The chief, who was about 50 years old at the time, made 63 pictures for the girl, Alice Quimby, whose father was an Army officer.

Sitting Bull's pictures show his victories over enemy Indian tribes. He depicted himself as a rifleman mounted on horses bearing U. S. Army brands.

Big-Capacity Drinker Acquitted by Judge

RAVENNA, Ohio (UP) — Walter A. Phelps, 38, of Ravenna, testified that it takes about four and a half cases of beer to get him drunk, after police arrested him for driving on the wrong side of the street. Charged with driving while intoxicated, Phelps said he drank less than a case of beer before his arrest.

He was acquitted by Municipal Judge James G. Frances.

Patent Office Constantly Deluged With New Inventions 'Ad Nausium'

WASHINGTON (INS)—Don't try telling the U.S. Patent Office that there's nothing new under the sun—it has too many reasons for thinking otherwise.

Each week, the office receives an average of 1,440 of these reasons, patent applications filed by U. S. and foreign inventors seeking to guard their brainchildren against kidnapers.

* * *

Many of these requests will be rejected because the inventions described aren't new at all. Somebody else thought them up first. But hundreds of others will be approved eventually — "In about four years," admits a Patent Office spokesman.

Asked why it takes so long, the spokesman pointed out that while some 1,440 patents are requested each week, only about 575 are being issued. The result is a monumental logjam: 215,000 applications waiting to be processed.

The Patent Office simply has been caught in a squeeze. It reports a tremendous increase in the number of inventions submitted and a sharp cut in the number of employes available to examine them.

There are now 600 of these examiners, compared with 700 two years ago. More and more of them seem to be leaving Government service to accept better-paying jobs elsewhere.

Most of the patents now being issued were applied for as long ago as 1951, some before that. In fact, it wasn't until last month that the famous Norden bombsight of World War II finally received patent protection.

BUT EVERYTHING

Other inventions recently patented include almost every kind of device man's inventive genius could think up.

There was a machine for plucking poultry feathers; a sewing thimble that comes equipped with a cloth-cutter; an atom-bombproof shelter; and new varieties of rose plants and brassiers, avocado trees and girdles.

* * *

A patent was awarded to the inventor of an electrical gimmick which reminds the cab driver there is luggage in his trunk compartment. Another went to a man who figured out how to make a gas mask through which the wearer can speak and be heard.

There were plenty of automotive improvements — sliding screens to be installed in car windows; a shield to protect the driver's left arm from rain and sun; a method for de-icing windshield wiper blades.

One inventor designed an "automobile bed apparatus." You just push the front seat backrest all the way down until it reaches the back seat, forming a flat sleeping surface.

For the sportsminded, there is a bowling ball with a groove between the thumb and finger holes to conform with the curvature of the hand. Golfers will be pleased to learn of a new yardage meter indicator for caddy carts and a no-stoop teeing device.

Patents were issued for tomato skinners, peach pitters, fruit stemmers and calorie counters. Somebody invented a portable washing machine and somebody else invented an electrically heated lunch pail.

EVEN TOY COW

A patent went to the Swiss inventor of a toy cow which can actually be milked. You just feed the cow a liquid and capillary action will carry it to the udder for extraction there.

All this goes to show how far man has progressed since the U.S. issued its first patent on July 31, 1790. Signed by President George Washington and delivered by Secretary of State Thomas Jefferson, it was for a process to improve the making of potash.

* * *

Patenting was the State Department's job until 1836, when the Patent Office was created. Since then it has approved slightly more than two million, 705 thousand inventions.

The first of these was a traction locomotive wheel. By a coincidence, the inventor was U. S. Senator John Ruggles of Maine, chairman of the special Congressional committee whose investigation of patent laws in 1835 led to creation of the Patent Office.

STEPS TOWARDS LIBERTY—4

John Paul Jones

"The father of the American Navy" is John Paul Jones. His words, "I have not yet begun to fight," have become a Navy slogan.

He shouted them in reply to a British demand to surrender during the Revolutionary War. On Sept. 23, 1779, his ship, "The Bonhomme Richard," attacked the leading ship of a large British force. The British ship, called "The Serapis," was larger and had more guns than Jones' ship. Jones sailed alongside and tied his vessel to it. The ships were so close their rigging became entangled. The British captain called on Jones to surrender, but after three hours of hand-to-hand fighting, it was the British captain who surrendered.

Jones raided shipping near England and shelled the coast. He became a popular hero in America during the war. After the war he was given a gold medal. He had been born in Scotland and went to sea when he was 12 years old. Since there was no American Navy after the war, he went to Russia and then France. He was appointed U. S. commissioner in Algiers in 1792, but he died before the appointment reached him in Paris.

Color this as you like and add it to your collection.

Page Boy Thinks Solons Could Waste Less Time

BAY CITY (AP)—In the words of one on-the-spot observer of Michigan's legislative activities, state laws could be passed with less time and less speeches.

But 15-year-old page boy Jerry Green, after a session's work in Lansing, says:

"It looks a lot of times like they're just loafing on the state's money when they read newspapers and just sit around. But a lot of them put in more work than they would on their own business, working late at night, studying bills and so on."

One thing Jerry can't see, from his post serving the four back rows on the Republican side of the House of Representatives," is "all that haggling the way they do over roads and stuff." He's for more streamlining of the legislative process.

Jerry, 1 of 7 children of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Green, sandwiched his page boy duties in between 3 or 4 hours of homework a day to keep up with his ninth grade studies at St. James High School in Bay City.

$63 A WEEK

He earned $63 a week for keeping lawmakers supplied with copies of bills and resolutions, running errands and attending all House sessions.

He recalls one errand for a representative who gave Jerry his car keys so he could get some documents from it. Jerry brought in the papers but forgot to return the keys.

At 10:30 that night the wrathful legislator called Jerry. Then the youth remembered he'd left the keys in his coat, which he'd borrowed from a friend who lived some five miles out of Lansing.

"I guess it took until midnight to get the keys back," Jerry said, "and he was really burning by then."

Jerry has his ambitions all laid out—he plans to study law, then campaign for state representative, probably on the GOP ticket.

He figures he should have a head start on a political career. He said:

"When my class was studying government, everything they learned out of books, I already knew by heart, like who introduces bills, who makes the motions and a lot about parliamentary procedure."

Plan Comic Cleanup

BENTON HARBOR (AP)—The city commission dropped a program to set up a board of censors to review literature on sale at newsstands after a legisltive committee reported current state and city laws could handle the problem. Mayor Alfred Hinkelman called for better enforcement of current laws to eliminate "horror" comics and other objectionable literature.

Famous Killer Murdered at Least 27 in Travels

CHICAGO (INS) — Sixty years ago Herman Webster Mudgett was convicted and sentenced to be hanged for murder, one in a series of the most fantastic in the history of American crime.

When Mudgett plunged through the trap door on the gallows in Philadelphia May 7, 1896, the law wrote finis to a web of at least 27 killings in Chicago, Boston, St. Louis, Fort Worth, Tex., Toronto, Indianapolis and Philadelphia.

Mudgett was born in Gilmanton, N.H. in 1858 and while attending college changed his name to Dr. Henry H. Holmes.

While at the University of Michigan Holmes collected $12,000 in an insurance-murder plot.

Holmes next appeared in Chicago, years later, where he acquired a job as a pharmacist in a drug store. He soon married the owner of the drug store, who was known as "Mrs. Doctor Holden."

WIFE VANISHES

A few months later his wife became involved in a litigation over some accounts. There was a settlement and she disappeared leaving the drug store to Holmes.

Shortly thereafter, Holmes built a house at the corner of 63rd and Wallace streets in Chicago known as "Holmes' Castle." This house was to be used as a hotel, he said.

Large processions of women came to Holmes' establishment in search of jobs but, the noticeable fact about the women was that they never stayed very long.

Over the few months Holmes stayed in his house five wemon, two men, and one little girl vanished from Chicago and Holmes vanished along with them.

The "doctor" went to Philadelphia where he dreamed up a scheme with a man named Benjamin F. Pietzel and his wife, Carrie A. Pietzel, to collect on Mr Pietzel's insurance.

KILLS HUSBAND

Pietzel was insured for $100,000 and Holmes planned to use a dummy corpse in his plot but, instead he killed Pietzel and told Mrs. Pietzel her husband was hiding out in South America.

Pietzel's body remained in the morgue for 11 days and soon was buried in Potter's Field.

Holmes appeared shortly thereafter as a friend of the family and told the insurance company he would identify the body. He also claimed the insurance.

Mrs. Pietzel soon became worried and told her lawyer Jeptha Howe of St. Louis to write to the Fidelity Mutual Life Insurance Co., of Philadelphia asking about the body buried in Potter's Field.

Inspector W. E. Gary, detective for the insurance company, urged an investigation before the claim was paid.

The body was exhumed and the murder was discovered.

Gary went to talk to Mrs. Pietzel who told him Holmes had taken three of her five children on vacation to Toronto.

ADMITS GUILT

After long hours of questioning Mrs. Pietzel confessed her part in the swindle.

The police went to Holmes' house in Chicago where they found the gruesome bits of evidence that linked Holmes to eight more murders.

Holmes was picked up a short time later in Boston but denied the crimes. On the second day, Holmes changed his plea to guilty, and confessed and boasted to 47 murders. He scaled the figure down to 22 in another confession and said he had also killed Mrs Pietzel's three children, and an insurance dupe, near Columbus, Miss.

Police returned to Homes' Chicago house where six more victims were discovered sealed in the walls and cellar floor.

Powerful X-Ray Unit Developed

Machine Will Reveal Atom Structure of Solid Matter, Designer Says

PASADENA, Calif. (INS)—Development of the most powerful crystallographic X-ray machine in the world was described today by its designer, who predicted it will enable scientists to break research barriers now confronting them.

* * *

Dr. Abraham Taylor, scientist at Westinghouse Electric Corporation's Pittsburgh, Pa., research laboratories, said the new super-power X-ray is designed especially to study the atomic structure of solid matter and is up to six times more powerful than comparable machines.

Speaking before an American Chrystallographic Assn., meeting, Dr. Taylor said the machine permits a six-fold reduction in exposure time of X-ray photos and yields types of radiations not within the capabilities of ordinary X-ray equipment. The scientist said:

"This X-ray machine is strictly a tool for fundamental research. Its power, speed and flexibility make it an ideal instrument for investigating such basic problems of matter as the influence of atomic arrangement on magnetism, the mechanisms of metallurgical reactions, and the effects of temperature on the atomic architecture of crystals."

The Dominion of Canada was established on July 1, 1867.

Woman Enters Horse Racing's Roughest Contest

SIENA, Italy (AP)—For the first time in four centuries a woman rider has entered the roughest horse race on earth.

It's the historic Palio of Siena. The riding is bareback. The jockeys carry clubs. Rough stuff goes, and the din and damage are terrific.

Undaunted by all this is an emerald-eyed daughter of Sicily, 23-year-old Lulli Caliva, as pretty as a Titian portrait and as nervy as they come.

* * *

As Lulli sees it: "Almost any Sicilian girl should be as tough as those boys up north in Siena."

She may learn the hard way, however, that not many Siena boys ride in the bone-breaking battles held here every July 2 and Aug. 16 since the days of the brazen Borgias.

Most jockeys are hired from outside, at prices all the way from $500 to $2,500 for five minutes' risk of life and limb around Siena's ancient square, the Piazza del Campo.

She'll get none.

* * *

The last woman to risk the ride was a farmer's daughter whom history records only as "Virginia the Courageous." She cropped off her hair and entered on a farm horse about the middle of the 16th century. History doesn't say if she won—but Sienese doubt it.

Farm horses have been used mostly since then, instead of race horses. They take the battering better.

Hoover Unit Report Gives Allen Dulles Quiet Ripping

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — Allen W. Dulles, boss of the most hush-hush American spy agency against the Russians, has just been ripped in prose so velvety you have to look twice to see the wounds.

Dulles, brother of Secretary of State Dulles, is director of the Central Intelligence Agency. The prose was in a report by a six-man Hoover Commission task force, headed by retired Gen. Mark Clark, which investigated the U.S. intelligence setup.

While the FBI works against foreign spies in this country, CIA was set up in 1947 as this country's superspy outfit overseas, and particularly to find out what the Communists are doing behind the Iron Curtain.

* * *

Further, CIA is supposed to pull together all the intelligence information obtained by more than 20 government departments and agencies, evaluate it and see that the right government officials are told what they need to know.

Clark and his group said they are "deeply concerned over the lack of adequate intelligence from behind the Iron Curtain." Had it chosen to use blunt language, the Clark group might have said: "Our spy system isn't good enough."

The report gave Dulles credit for trying hard: "We found the director of the CIA to be industrious, objective, enthusiastic and imaginative."

* * *

That's not the same as saying he's doing a good job. The report says he tries to do too much himself and, by getting tangled up in day-by-day details, doesn't have enough time for a broad view of intelligence work.

There was a sharp contrast between the way the report said Dulles handles the CIA and the way J. Edgar Hoover runs the FBI. The report said of Hoover:

"We found the director of the FBI, through his forcefulness, initiative and managerial ability, to have developed his agency into a model organization of its kind."

The report suggested two things to make Dulles' agency run better: (1) he should get himself a top assistant to take some of the everyday details off his hands and (2) the CIA needs an overhauling from the inside.

* * *

The Clark group also took a swipe at Secretary Dulles' State Department, which has the responsibility for collecting foreign publications and scientific intelligence.

That job, the Clark group said, should be turned over entirely to CIA. And it complained that some people in the State Department are "too conservative" about intelligence work in foreign countries. That attitude, the Clark group said, has worked "often to the detriment of vigorous and timely action in the field."

After getting a look at the whole picture, the report recommended creation of two "watchdog" commissions—one made up of members of Congress and the other of private citizens—to keep a steady check on what's being done.

Egypt, Israeli Talks Resume Next Week

GAZA, Egyptian-Held Palestine (AP)—Egyptian and Israeli negotiators seeking to ease tension along the Gaza Strip frontier say they will meet again next week despite their failure to agree on an agenda.

The agenda impasse was reached at a six-hour session held yesterday in a tin shack on the demarcation line.

An Egyptian spokesman said the talks would be resumed July 6.

* * *

A statement issued at U. N. headquarters in New York said that both Egyptian and Israeli negotiators had agreed to consider a four-point plan proposed by the U. N. truce chief, Canadian Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns. It called for:

Joint Egyptian - Israeli patrols on dangerous sections of the line, a local commanders' agreement on policing the line, erection of barbed wire fences in some areas, and use of only regular troops to man patrols and outposts, which would be withdrawn to about a half mile from each side of the boundary.

City Evacuation Test Given CD Approval

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—South Bend's Operation Exit today had the approval stamp of civil defense officials who found out it's easier to get the man-on-the-street out into the country than to get him back again.

The outbound file flowed from the 400-block test area yesterday with a minimum of confusion or traffic snarls, in the nation's first evacuation test of a large cross-sectional population.

Jams didn't develop until the "evacuees" did a turnabout and started back to homes and offices. By then, the overheated motor was the chief culprit.

While civil defense official estimated 35,000 persons got clear of the test area in about 40 minutes, newsmen thought the number of participants was no more than 18,000 or 20,000.

The U.N. Food and Agriculture Organization says the most serious nutritional problem in the world today is the critically low amounts of protein in the diet of a large part of the world's population.

'Red' N. Y. Times Reporter on Senate Stand Today

WASHINGTON (AP)— Senate investigators called for questioning today more of the persons described as onetime Communists by a well-known radio news commentator who told a cloak-and-dagger story of having spied for Russia over a decade ago.

Charles Grutzner, now a New York Times reporter, was listed as the first witness at a follow-up hearing before the Senate Internal Security subcommittee to dramatic testimony given yesterday by Winston M. Burdett.

Sen. Eastland (D-Miss), the subcommittee chairman, said in advance of today's session he understood Grutzner would be a cooperative witness. The New York Times had no comment.

Burdett, 41, testified he had joined a Communist unit at the now-defunct Brooklyn Eagle in 1937, had undertaken espionage assignments abroad for Russia in 1940-41, and then had broken with the Communists before going to work for the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Grutzner was among a dozen former fellow employes on the Brooklyn Eagle whom Burdett testified he had known as Communists in 1937-40.

Late yesterday five of those named by Burdett invoked the Fifth Amendment privilege against possible self-incrimination in refusing to answer some questions. A sixth, Monroe Stern, swore to the subcommittee he never had been a Communist.

* * *

Burdett, now CBS' United Nations reporter, spent about three hours in the witness chair. Afterwards, Eastland thanked him for "the very fine service you have rendered your country."

CBS issued a statement saying Burdett had disclosed his past Communist membership early in 1951 and had gone to the FBI with his information.

* * *

CBS said it felt he had made a complete break with the party and had decided to continue him in his job. CBS also made public a letter from Eastland urging it to "stand by him."

Highlights of Burdett's testimony were his account of spying for Russia in Europe in 1940-41, from Finland to Turkey, of secret and sometimes misfiring contacts with Soviet agents and what he called the "political assassination" of his wife, an Italian journalist. He said she knew too much about Russian plotting to set up a Red regime in Yugoslavia.

A-Plant Share Is $2.5 Million

Consumers Will Invest Sum Within a Period of Five Years

Consumers Power Co. announced today that it plans to invest $2,500,000 within a five-year period in an atomic energy plant to produce steam for the generation of electricity.

The company's announcement followed the filing of a petition with the Michigan Public Service Commission asking approval of accounting procedures it proposes to follow in connection with the project.

Total cost of the proposed atomic plant is estimated at $45,000,000. It is to be built by a group of companies headed by the Detroit Edison Co., whose proposed accounting procedures in connection with the project have already been approved by the Public Service Commission.

The plant will be of the fast neutron breeder reactor type, which, according to Dan E. Karn, president of Consumers, holds the greatest promise of being economically practical.

Companies participating in the project will form a separate corporation which will build the breeder reactor adjacent to a new power plant to be built by Detroit Edison.

Using atomic energy as a source of heat, the reactor will produce steam which will be used by Detroit Edison to drive a turbine-generator having a capacity of approximately 100,000 kilowatts.

Construction of the reactor is expected to begin later this year and to be completed in 4 to 5 years. One possible site is at Monroe.

State to Allocate Recreation Fund

Area Parks in Those Slated for Allocation for Improvements

The State Conservation Commission next week will consider allocation of $450,000 earmarked for state parks, which include the Ortonville, Holly and Highland Recreation areas.

The Legislature appropriated $80,000 for capital improvements in state parks, but stipulated that $300,000 must be spent in the Sterling State Park near Monroe and not more than $50,000 on land acquisition.

Twenty-one of the state's 57 parks will split the appropriation. Included in the parks division recommendations:

Holland State Park, $30,000; Hayes State Park, West of Clinton $28,000; Bay City State Park, $26,000; Holly Recreation Area, $26,000;

Ortonville Recreation Area, $25,000; Proud Lake and Waterloo Recreation Areas, $20,000 each; Island Lake Recreation Area, $14,000; Sleeper State Park near Caseville, $12,500; Lakeport State Park, $10,000; Wilson State Park, near Harrison, $8,000.

Lesser amounts would be earmarked for Muskegon, Wilderness, McLain, Dodge Four, Indian Lake, Stoutts, Brimley, Fort Wilkins and Silver Lake State Parks and the Highland Recreation area.

The commission will also consider purchase of 1,240 acres of hunting lands at its meeting, to be held Wednesday and Thursday in Lansing.

Included are 991 acres in 14 game areas, 20 acres in Chippewa River State Forest, 120 acres in Pigeon River State Forest, 80 in Allegan State Forest and 29 in the Quanicassee Wildlife Area.

Ferndale Official Denies Charge

Rebuts Blast Fired by Resigning Aide at Administration

FERNDALE — Following the resignation of Assistant City Manager Clifford Wile, City Manager W. A. Laking stated today that both Mayor Bruce D. Garbutt and the commission are unanimously of the opinion that "the administration of the city government is of the highest caliber."

Wile had resigned his post because of what he called "bad management and organization."

More explicitly, the 29-year-old official who had held the job for three and a half years, said he was leaving because of the city's refusal to insist on a proper surfacing for a city playground located near Pinecrest and Park boulevard.

He added however, that there is no connection between his resignation and Monday's fatal accident on the playground in which a 10-year-old boy was crushed to death by a construction truck.

Wile said that no one individual was responsible for his quitting, but that it was a combination of circumstances.

Hustvedt Ouster Appears Likely

Majority of Councilmen Siding With Hitchcock in Feud With Official

HOLLY—Village President Worth Hitchcock has apparently won out in his argument with the common council, in which he favored the release of Anders O. Hustvedt as village superintendent.

In this effort he has been opposed by some of the councilmen for several months.

* * *

At last night's meeting, Howard Sheltraw, assistant city manager at Saginaw, applied for the local job and was interviewed. No definite action was taken, but a majority of the members now say they will favor a replacement if a suitable man can be found.

The feud between Hitchcock and Hustvedt started soon after the former's first election as president in March, 1954, but the council also made Hustvedt village treasurer to fill a vacancy soon after that time. This was done over Hitchcock's objection.

In the annual election last March Hustvedt was elected treasurer again. Some of the councilmen have objected to his release as superintendent on this account, and ask the president how that matter can be settled.

To this he simply replies that it is a "hot potato" that they created themselves, and now can find their own way out.

TV Plays Role in Air Defense

Outpost Radar Network Flashes Sneak Attack Through Defense Video

NEW YORK (UP) — If enemy planes ever try a sneak attack on the United States via the North Pole their positions will be flashed onto TV screens at air defense control points for interceptor action three jet-flight hours before the attackers can reach American industrial centers.

Radar station networks—three deep — stretching between the Canadian border and the Arctic Circle, plus a giant electronic computer to plot the speeds and routes of invading planes, will give this vital advance warning.

Where previous air attack warning systems couldn't track enough planes simultaneously to defend against saturation bombing, this one can follow the path of whole fleets of planes, now that science and steel have perfected an indispensable element in the secret workings of Arctic radar stations.

Steelways, magazine of American Iron and Steel Institute, calls these decisive parts "tiny memory cells of iron," 100,000 of which fit easily into a one-pound paper bag. They are known commercially as magnetic cores, the metal mental geniuses in the giant electronic brains which receive the impulses of planes as they fly over the radar networks in the North, calculate their direction and speed and flash their paths—plane by plane—onto the TV picture tube.

Learning Can't Keep Up With Names of Towns

HOUSTON, Tex. (UP)—A fellow in a restaurant was overheard telling the story of his life. He came to Texas a young man, unable to read or write. He decided to learn to write so he could let his mother know where he'd settled.

Finally, he mastered the name of the town — Nacogdoches. But then he was transferred to Waxahachie. Just when he had that down pat, he was moved again—this time to Albuquerque, N. M.

Joins Marines; Served in Three Other Arms

CHICAGO (UP) — Conrad Maelich, 30, joined the Marines, making it his fourth branch of the Armed Services.

At 17, he joined the Coast Guard. After four years, he joined the Navy. Serving two years, he then enlisted in the Air Force. He was discharged a year ago.

Maritime Mickey Does the Trick; Gets 10,000 Fish

CHICAGO (UP)—The curator of fish at the Chicago Museum of Natural History used a maritime Mickey Finn to lull 10,000 fish into a mood to be captured for his collection.

* * *

Loren P. Woods caught the fish in waters along the West coast of Mexico during an underwater hunt of several months.

Woods quickly found that diving among the fish frogman-style was not enough.

So a chemical harmless to him but a knockout to the marine specimens was put into the water before he went below. After that it was easy.

Woods also worked out a good-neighbor deal with the crew of a 70-foot Mexican shrimp boat.

While they concentrated on their squirming livelihood, Woods culled the other marine creatures trapped with the shrimp.

Thief Makes Victim Pay 3 Cents Postage

the $25 that Dr. Nicholas Fournoyerakis minded so much—it was the extra three cents postage.

The doctor, stationed at St. Luke's Hospital, lost his wallet containing cards, licenses, visas and additional important papers plus $25 in cash.

A bulky envelope containing the wallet with cards but without money was returned, arrived in the mail some time after the loss. It carried 18 cents postage but the doctor had to pay an additional three cents postage due.

Hoover Asks Federal Power Curbs

WASHINGTON (INS) — The Hoover Commission today recommended drastic curbs on Federal power operations and sharp increases in rates charged by the Tennessee Valley Authority and other porjects.

In a report on water resources to be submitted to Congress Thursday, the 12-man group proposed that the Federal Power Commission be authorized to fix rates for government power to reflect the greater expenses borne by private power companies.

* * *

The commission, which is headed by former President Herbert Hoover, did not estimate how much present rates for government power would have to be raised to meet this yardstick.

* * *

However, those who have carefully studied the subject said it would mean a 50 per cent boost in charges by the TVA and an even greater increase for Columbia River power.

The group also recommended that the government build no more steam power plants and no further transmission lines where "non-Federal agencies" can provide power transmission.

It went on to say that private utilities should be allowed to buy "a fair share of Federal power." despite preferential purchase arrangements favoring cooperatives and municipal power systems.

SOME OBJECT

Attorney General Herbert Brownell, Jr., and Defense Mobilizer Arthur S. Flemming objected to various commission proposals on power and other subjects. Former Postmaster General James A. Farley said the group had "over-emphasized the role of private enterprise in developing the country's water resources."

Hoover said some of the dissents "ignore the fundamental purposes for which the Commision was created."

Private power companies have frequently complained that government power projects escape taxes and debt amortization charges.

The Commission also proposed that:

1. The TVA be required to obtain money for future improvements authorized by Congress by direct sale of its securities to the public instead of drawing directly on the Federal treasury.
2. Private power companies be given the opportunity to own and operate power facilities at any new multi-purpose dams built by the government. If private capital is not available, power should be offered for sale to private utilities, states, cities or cooperatives prior to construction of the dam on terms that will "protect the Federal interest."
3. The Columbia River Basin System, Hoover-Parke-Davis Dams Administration, Central Valley River Basin Project, and Southwestern and Southeastern Power Administrations all be incorporated under the government corporation control act. This would mean closer audit of their operations.

Santa Claus Has Moved to California Where the North Pole Is a Popsicle

SANTA'S VILLAGE, Calif. (INS)—Santa Claus has changed his headquarters.

After hundreds of years of doing business in the lonely Arctic region, he has ripped the North Pole out of its usual spot and replanted it mile-high on a mountain in Southern California 83 miles east of Los Angeles.

Here, in Santa's Village, Calif., the bewhiskered gent has re-established the North Pole in the shape of a fat, six-foot high white popsicle, and around it he has set up a permanent camp designed to keep the kids' eyes shining the year through.

The premier of this new kind of amusement park set high above the clouds in the San Bernardino mountains proves that even in this age of Superman and Davy Crockett, lovable old St. Nick has lost none of his power to entrance the youngsters.

In this candy-striped village, the biggest smile of wonderment comes when a little tot, clutching a sucker from the lollipop tree, climbs aboard the red-velvet lap of white-haired Santa himself for a big hug, a deep chuckle and a promise of Christmas joys.

GNOMES AMAZE

Another source of amazement to the children is the corps of about 70 "gnomes," who really are curvesome college girls clad in hip-length hose and short jackets and stationed about the grounds to comfort lost tots or sell toys or tackle most any other chore.

The 11-acre, wooded land assumes an air of whimsey from the 11 pink and blue and green and yellow fanciful buildings which stand sturdily around the north pole.

These include Santa's home, outside which a huge round clock tells time by months of the year. There also are Santa's welcome house, mill wheel toy factory, mechanical toy factory, warehouse, toy and game house, and souvenir factory, where toys without number may be seen, handled and bought.

There also are the candy kitchen, Mrs. Claus' food house, the Chapel of the Little Shepherd and the reindeer barn.

About 30 real Alaskan reindeer roam freely through the fenced realm of Kris Kringle, allowing humans to stroke their fuzzy antlers, but not to wrestle them. The small fry can ride on a big sleigh drawn by four reindeer, the only ride of its kind in the world.

GOATS, DONKEYS AND . . .

And there are baby goats and small burros wandering through the village, also ready to nibble on a baby's bottle of milk, which may be bought at a vendor's stand specially for feeding the animals.

The beloved citizens of the village sometimes even cross the board bridge over Silver Slipper Lake to walk through the enchanted castle, so small it usually only is visited by gnomes and children.

* * *

Santa's village has to pay for this magic domain, of course, and the bill is defrayed by charging adults $1.00 admission, juniors 40 cents — children under 11 are free and selling mountains of toys.

Santa is played affably by Bill Strothers and the venture is headed by President Glenn Holland.

Bails Out Two Pals, Winds Up in Jail

KEY WEST, Fla. (UP)—Woodrow Griffin walked into the county jail and plunked down $100 in cash to bail out two friends who had been arrested for vagrancy.

As Griffin started to take his friends away from the jail in his car, a deputy asked to see his driver's license. He didn't have it. It had been revoked for driving while intoxicated.

While his friends continued on their way, Griffin was put in jail, where he spent the night because he didn't have enough money left to make his own bail.

Parents Shying Away From Seeking Aid Now

ANN ARBOR (UP) — Putting the blame on parents for all the trouble children get into has its serious drawbacks says University of Michigan psychiatrist Dr. Ralph D. Rabinovitch.

Parents, he says, are becoming afraid to ask for help for problem children because of shame and the fear they themselves may be punished for the child's offense.

Beggars Find Slim Pickings in Lansing

LANSING (UP) — Lansing's civic pride apparently doesn't extend to beggars.

John Stacey, 40, and his wife, 45, of Dayton, Ohio, a blind couple, and their driver, Glenn Carroll, 26, of Shelbyville, Ky.. told Lansing police that the "pickings" in Lansing were poor compared to Flint and other Michigan cities they have visited recently. And besides they were arrested.

Officers, who arrested them while begging at a factory gate, said they have been traveling around the country in a new station wagon.

Stacey told reporters he had to make $35 a day to keep themselves, Carroll and two girls, 14 and 17, friends of the family.

Reuther Attack Data Protected

Supreme Court Denies Bid to Expose Facts in 1948 Shooting

LANSING (UP) — The State Supreme Court has refused to order law enforcement officials to disclose the results of the investigation into the 1948 shooting of Walter Reuther, president of the CIO United Auto Workers.

The court, without comment, rejected a request that it order Circuit Judge Ira W. Jayne of Wayne County to require police and prosecutors to answer questions in a $500,000 damage suit filed against the UAW by Carl Renda, one of those who were briefly accused of the Reuther shooting.

Renda is suing the union for malicious prosecution. He was arrested on a charge of complicity in the shooting but the case was later dismissed for lack of evidence.

Judge Jayne held that the peace officers could not be required to answer questions about the Renda matter while they were still investigating the Reuther shooting.

In another case, the court blocked Flint from turning over Kearsley Park to the military for an armory.

Belgrade Flies Flag of India to Honor Nehru

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (UP)—India's green, white and gold flag waved over Belgrade today in honor of Prime Minister Nehru, arriving for a week's state visit.

The Indian leader and his party were flying in from Austria on a tour which already has taken them behind the Iron Curtain to large parts of the Soviet Union, Czechoslovakia and Poland.

* * *

Newspapers stressed the importance of the Indian leader's visit, pointing out that much has changed in the international picture since he and Tito last met seven months ago in India. The "active coexistence" policy favored by both Yugoslavia and India is "appearing on a broad international scale," they said.

During the visit, Nehru and Tito are expected to reaffirm their support of the coexistence policy which they jointly advocated when Tito was in New Delhi.

Whoosh! Vanilla Spray Cools Off Customers

AKRON, Ohio (UP)—Patrons of the lunch counter in the Summit County Courthouse today were asking each other a question something like this:

"And where were you when the milkshake hit the fan?"

No one knows just how the accident happened yesterday, but after it was over some 20 customers were covered with vanilla-flavored spray.

New Roundup in Sky

BATON ROUGE, La. (UP)—Louisiana will use cowboys and airmen to round up stray livestock on state highways. When the state's new stock law goes into effect tomorrow, flying police will radio the location of cattle and horses to the trooper-cowboys, who will round up the stock. Owners will have to pay a $4 impounding fee and will also be liable for fines and imprisonment.

Soldier Given Eight Years for Misconduct as POW

NEW YORK (UP) — Cpl. Harold M. Dunn, once given a hero's welcome by his native Baldwinsville, N.Y., has been sentenced to eight years at hard labor for aiding the Communist enemy while a prisoner in North Korea.

A seven-man court-martial which pronounced the sentence yesterday also ordered a dishonorable discharge for the 26-year-old soldier and forfeiture of all pay and allowances.

Dunn, a heavy-set, tall man, took the sentence calmly. He snapped to a smart salute and wordlessly returned to his seat. But his young, broad face showed strain.

* * *

Moments before the sentencing he told the court that his conduct in North Korea "was a tragic mistake for which I am sorry."

"It did not take me long to realize as soon as I was repatriated that I had been wrong in what I had done as a prisoner."

He interrupted the trial Tuesday to plead guilty to the charges of writing articles praising the Red enemy and making broadcasts from North Korea urging American "moms and dads" to end the war.

* * *

Dunn's wife, who is expecting a baby in September, was present when the penalty was announced. Dunn hugged her when she broke into sobs. He then kissed his mother, Mrs. Ellen A. Dunn, of Baldwinsville.

The penalty is subject to automatic review by Lt. Gen. Thomas W. Herren, 1st Army commander, and by an Army board in Washington. It could be modified or suspended at either level.

Dies Trying to Swim After Teenagers Jeer

NORFOLK, Va. (UP)—John Lamb Jr. wanted to be like the other boys. He wanted to swim too.

But despite his 22 years, he had never learned how.

Yesterday he was down at an ocean pier where a group of teenage boys were swimming. They started making fun of him because he couldn't swim.

John reacted quickly. He asked one of the boys to lend him a bathing suit. "I'll show you," he said, and dived into the water.

When he didn't come up, one of them went after him, but it was no use. He had drowned.

Name Deaf School Head President of Kiwanis

Quilts Are His Quirk

Illini Want Dam

Home Wading Pool Claims Life of Tot

DETROIT (UP) — A backyard canvas wading pool filled with 18 inches of water claimed the life for 19-month-old Debra Busher.

The child drowned yesterday when she turned over on her face while splashing with a tube around her tiny body.

A neighbor spotted her and called Mrs. Ethel Busher, who was washing windows on the far side of the house.

She got there too late. A fire department rescue squad also was too late to save the child.

Ham, Turkey Suggested for Thrifty July 4 Dinner

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Planning a big family dinner for the Fourth of July? You might serve up a tasty pre-cooked ham, or a roasting turkey.

They're probably the outstanding buys you'll find this week at your neighboring store or supermarket.

Another interesting main course item you can serve without putting too big a dent in the family budget is roast leg of lamb. One major food chain has cut its prices as much as 10 cents a pound.

Chickens for frying or broiling are down 4 to 6 cents a pound in several larger cities.

If the family's fancy runs to picnics, barbecues and other forms of "al fresco" dining, try chopped beef (hamburger style) with new crop Texas onions. Both are on this week's list of bargain specials.

Sirloin steak (for outdoor charcoal broiling) is down about 4 cents a pound in New York and pretty much the same as last week in other big cities. Beef is the U.S. Agriculture Department's "food headliner" for this week. That means it's officially tagged as an outstanding value.

Then there are those perennial July Fourth picnic favorites, frankfurters and watermelons. Both hot dogs and melons are moderately priced and the supply is plentiful in most parts of the country.

Best buys in produce this week includes beans, beets, cabbage, lettuce, peppers, endive, escarole, radishes and green and yellow onions.

For dessert, you have your choice of raspberries, blueberries, cantaloupe, cherries or honeydew melon—they're all priced for thrifty buying.

Bridges Says Dems Show Need for GOP Congress

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Bridges (R-NH) said today Democrats are "demonstrating the need for election of a Republican Congress next year" by opposing parts of President Eisenhower's program.

Bridges, who heads the Senate Republican Policy Committee, said in an interview that fresh criticism of the President by Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) shows the Democrats up in their true colors."

"They are not really for the President's program despite the noise they have made about supporting it," Bridges said. "They are only for such parts of that program as they believe can be amended or changed to meet the desires of Democrats of all shades of opinion.

"All of this demonstrates that if President Eisenhower is to get his program enacted in the way he has proposed it, he must have a Republican Congress and that is what we expect to give him in 1956."

At his news conference yesterday Eisenhower listed more than a dozen proposals now before Congress and said he wants them passed.

Johnson, the Senate majority leader, replied tartly that the Democratic-controlled Congress is "not going to carry out his recommendations like a bunch of second lieutenants receiving orders."

Eisenhower seemed unlikely to get in the form he originally suggested many of the measures he listed.

* * *

Democratic and Republican leaders agreed privately that Congress is likely to pass highway, military reserve, housing, foreign aid, water resources and minimum wage bills at varying degrees of divergence from his requests.

They saw little likelihood of action this year on refugee act amendments, health reinsurance and school construction proposals.

Lew Wallace wrote "Ben Hur." Wallace volunteered early in the Civil War and rose from a lieutenancy to the command of a corps.

ODD OOZED OUT — It's not because Odd Spot is really odd that he eats by himself. Canada Slices Tax on Income

Levy on Pay Dropped Third Straight Year; Now Below U.S. Rate

OTTAWA, Ont. (AP) — Canada's 3,800,000 taxpayers get a little more take-home pay starting tomorrow when a federal tax cut on personal incomes goes into operation.

The cut is small, roughly 10 per cent this year since only six months remain. But it is the government's third successive year of snipping levies in this field and reduces tax payments by income earners to the lowest since 1950.

Federal authorities say it will keep Canadian taxes well below those paid in the United States.

The position of Canadian and American taxpayers is not strictly comparable, because Canadians pay hidden sales and excise taxes on consumer goods.

On the other hand, many Americans pay double taxes—to both federal and state governments. There is no double personal income tax in Canada except in Quebec province. There the federal government allows taxpayers a deduction from federal levies which in most cases is roughly equivalent to the provincial levy.

So, summing up, federal authorities say Canadian taxpayers generally pay less than those in the United States, except for married persons making $10,000 a year or more. U.S. husbands and wives can take advantage of an income-splitting arrangement for tax purposes.

Don't Do as I Do Do as I Tell You

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (AP)—Fire Chief Art Westerfeld was demonstrating "safe and sane" fireworks allowed in the city this Fourth of July.

A "bursting comet" exploded too soon, almost showering spectators with hot sparks.

A double-barreled explosion - flare combination went wild, one barrel exploding before Westerfeld could get away and the other shooting fire horizontally along the ground.

Wise Ole Bird

TOKYO (AP)—At the Ikeburkero police station patrolmen are complaining about the hawk, apparently footloose and with a foul temper, which wandered in a week ago. Keeps them broke buying meat. He won't eat anything else. And nobody will claim him.

The emperor penguin stands some 3½ feet tall and may weigh as much as 78 pounds.

Segregation Case Won by 2 Women

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—A federal judge has ruled that the University of Alabama can't refuse enrollment to two Negro women because of their race.

Judge Hobart Grooms in his ruling yesterday enjoined Dean of Admissions William Adams from refusing the women admittance to the university because they are Negro.

The action was the first such suit in Alabama since the U.S. Supreme Court ruled that segregation in schools is unconstitutional.

Arthurine J. Lucy and Polly Ann Myers Hudson said they plan to apply for admission to the university at Tuscaloosa, Ala., next September.

They charged in their suit that they were previously admitted to the university by mail, and later refused enrollment when they appeared in person on the campus.

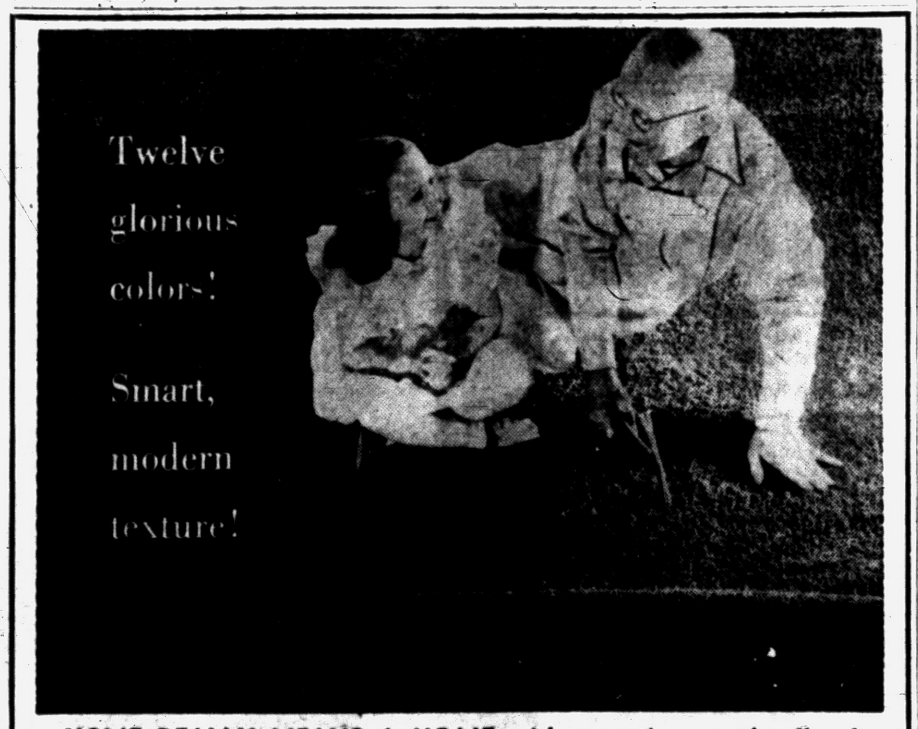

Big Barber Question: Who Gets Trimming?

CHICAGO (AP) — A barber shop owner suggested yesterday that the price of crew cuts be boosted to $2.50.

"It takes 30 minutes to give a crew haircut while you can give a regular haircut in 15 minutes," he told a group of 1,000 shop owners who met to consider wage demands of journeymen barbers.

Crew cuts now cost the same as regular haircuts—$1.50 on week days and $1.75 on Saturdays.

Give Kids Firecrackers - - to Eat

Let the drums roll . . . set out the firecrackers . . . line up the hungry guests. It's time for a Fourth Fete!

* * *

What could be more appropriate than a party platter chock-full of deviled ham rollups and a deviled ham sparkler. This popular sandwich spread is ideal for any occasion . . . but especially so for party fixin's.

To match the spirit and spark of the day, be sure you use zestfully seasoned deviled ham to make these simple, yet picturesque, firecrackers and spiral.

And to keep up with the motif, put the relishes in striped drums made by covering a jar or tin with plain white paper and striping on red or blue adhesive tape. The drumsticks are the tops of plastic spoons set at a jaunty angle.

Now that every smart woman keeps the family-size deviled ham on her shelf for everyday fare as well as festive fun, it's an easy task indeed to prepare enough for the crowd.

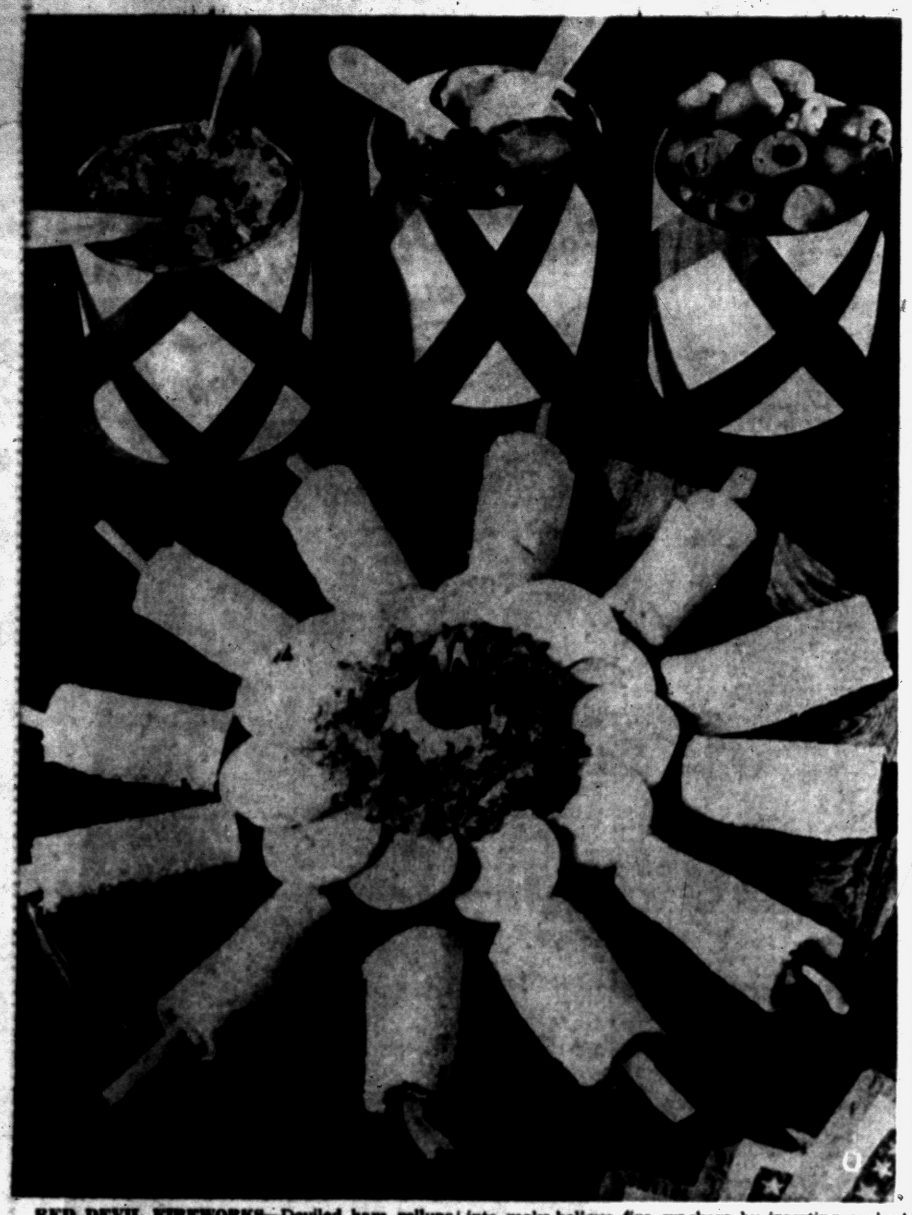

Deviled Ham Rollups

Remove crusts from soft white bread slices. Flatten bread with a rolling pin. Spread each slice with regular deviled ham, or with your favorite deviled ham mixture. Roll up tightly and fasten with a toothpick.

Wrap, or cover sandwiches and chill until ready to use. Before arranging on platter, insert a short piece of carrot in the end of each roll to simulate a firecracker.

Sparkler Sandwiches

Cut a nicely shaped small round pumpernickel loaf in thin crosswise slices. Spread slices with mayonnaise or mustard and cover with alternating circles of deviled ham, chopped or sliced egg, creamy cheese, etc. Make each sparkler with a combination of different rings for flavor and variety.

RED DEVIL FIREWORKS—Deviled ham rollups are the firecrackers on this festive platter. Perfect party fare, deviled ham sandwiches are "sparked" into make-believe fire crackers by inserting a short piece of carrot in the end. The center sandwich is a sparkler special.

Cake Pudding Has Lime Tang

This popular pudding uses lime juice instead of the usual lemon for its refreshing tang. In the baking, the ingredients sort of choose up sides, resulting in a two layer effect: Delicate cake-like layer on top and a creamy smooth jelly layer on the bottom.

The pudding can be eaten right out of its baking cup either warm or cold. Or when cold, each can be turned into an individual serving dish—then the shimmering jelly layer will be on the up side and the cake layer on the bottom.

It is an attractive dessert—and pleasingly light.

Lime Cake Pudding

½ cup sugar
1 tablespoon flour
¼ teaspoon salt
2 eggs, separated
½ cup evaporated milk
½ cup water
¼ cup lime juice
1 teaspoon grated lime rind

Mix sugar, flour and salt. Beat egg yolks slightly with a fork. Add milk and water to yolks. Add egg mixture to sugar mixture, and blend thoroughly. Stir in lime juice and rind. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry. Fold into lime mixture.

Butter six custard cups well. Spoon mixture into custard cups just until three-fourths full. Set cups in baking pan. Pour hot water into pan until it comes about halfway up cups. Bake in slow oven (325 degrees) until set, 50 to 60 minutes.

Pudding may be served warm or cold. When cold, puddings may be turned out into serving dishes. Run a knife around edge of pudding, place serving dish over top and invert. Makes six servings.

Cherry Top Hat Features Cake, Fruit Gelatin

There are many delightful ways to serve sweet cherries at meals, but one of the most provocative we've run across in a long time is this Cherry Top Hat. Try it the next time you entertain.

Cherry Top Hat

2 cups fresh sweet cherries, pitted
1 package cherry-flavored gelatin
7 7-ounce bottle gingerale or lemon or lime-flavored carbonated beverage
1 package orange cake mix
½ pint whipping cream
2 tablespoons sugar

Wash and pit cherries. Dissolve gelatin according to directions on package, using carbonated beverage in place of water. When gelatin begins to thicken, add cherries, mold in an 8-inch cake pan which has been brushed with salad oil. Chill in refrigerator until firm.

Meanwhile, prepare cake according to directions on package. Bake in 8-inch layer pan same size and shape as cherry mold. (One package cake mix makes two 8-inch layers).

When cake is baked, remove from pan, cool. When ready to serve, unmold cherry gelatin on top of cake layer. Serve with sweetened whipping cream. Makes eight servings.

Hearty Supper Soup

Like to serve a hearty soup for Sunday night supper? Mix condensed tomato and condensed pea soup, adding a soup-can full of chicken broth and one of light cream. Season with a little grated onion and freshly ground pepper and heat. If the soup is too thick for your family's taste, add a little more broth.

Measure Correctly for Delicious Coffee

The most mouth-watering picnic lunch or outdoor barbecue can lose its zing if it is topped off with watery or flat-tasting iced coffee. Flavorful, full-bodied iced coffee is a perfect and refreshing complement to outdoor menus.

To make good iced coffee, accurate measuring is a must. Slapdash coffee-making methods can only produce poor coffee.

After careful testing, experts have devised a reliable recipe for making delicious iced coffee that is stimulating and bound to give a lift to your picnic lunch or outdoor eating.

Iced Coffee

Dissolve one-fourth cup instant coffee in about 1 cup of warm water, add enough cold water to make 1½ quarts of finished beverage.

Pour part of this mixture into an ice-cube tray and freeze. Refrigerate the rest.

To make a glass of iced coffee without diluting the coffee with melting ice cubes, place two or three of the coffee ice cubes in a tall glass. Fill the glass two-thirds full with the coffee infusion.

Add cream and sugar to taste. This recipe will make five or six tall glasses.

Sweet Cherries Ideal for Canning, Freezing

Sweet cherries are ideal for canning. Easy, too. Pack cherries into jars, cover with hot, medium syrup and process in boiling water bath 20 minutes. Pack either pitted or unpitted, depending on future use.

* * *

In freezing sweet cherries—pack washed fruit into moisture-vapor-proof containers. Cover with cold 40 per cent syrup—1½ parts sugar to 2 parts water. Leave space for expansion. Freeze. If unpitted, cherries may be pricked in three or four places with a fork to permit sugar absorption.

Broil Corn Kernels for Unusual Treat

Broiled Corn Kernels

1 can (1 pound) whole kernel corn, drained
¼ cup light cream or evaporated milk
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
½ teaspoon salt
Pepper and paprika

Spread corn in thin layer in shallow baking pan; pour cream or evaporated milk over corn; dot with butter or margarine; sprinkle with salt, pepper and paprika.

Broil slowly 10 to 15 minutes, stirring occasionally. Makes four servings.

Three Types of Caviar

Caviar, in case you're in the market, comes in three types. Black imported never runs when it's spread. Black domestic has eggs that are so small they can hardly be seen. Red domestic has much larger eggs than the other two varieties.

Treat Your Independence Day Guests to Creamy, Bubbly Fireworks Sodas

There's sure to be a time during this Fourth of July weekend when a soda bazaar will strike the right note for all.

• • •

Grownups, as well as children and teeners, will revel in choosing and mixing delicious combinations of toppings and cream—then watching the "fireworks" as they slowly fill up their glasses with a snappy-cold carbonated beverage from a freshly uncapped bottle.

The toppings may be the purchased variety. Just open up the jars and empty the contents into small bowls. Or you may use fruit jams, preserves or soft jellies.

The total array of flavors may include pineapple, cherry, strawberry, raspberry, grape, mint, fudge.

Have a pitcher of cream ready, an array of glasses or tall paper cups. And, of course, a plentiful supply of sparkling bottled soft drinks.

Be sure to chill the bottles well in advance so that the carbonation stays at its tangy best. They'll fizz up into beautiful "fireworks" as they blend with the cream in these luscious drinks.

• • •

The quantity of topping and cream to be used in each soda is more or less optional, depending on individual taste. Here, however, is the basic recipe:

Fireworks Soda

2 teaspoons fruit or fudge topping
1 tablespoon cream
1 individual size bottled carbonated beverage, chilled

Put topping (choice of flavor) in bottom of glass. Add "slurp" of cream. Uncap chilled bottle of carbonated beverage (choice of flavor) and slowly fill up the glass. Makes one serving.

FIREWORKS SODAS — If your hat's in the ring for guests this Fourth of July weekend, fill it with bottled carbonated beverages and spread out the fixin's for a "make your own" soda treat. "Kids" of all ages will enjoy the idea.

Avocado, Chicken Combined in Soup

Looking for a recipe that your friends will ask for? And one that pleases the family?

Well, try our recipe for Avocado Chicken Soup made with liquefied instant nonfat dry milk. It is a conversation starter as well as a meal starter.

Avocado Chicken Soup

2 tablespoons butter
1 tablespoon chopped onion
1 quart liquefied nonfat dry milk
6 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
2 chicken bouillon cubes
1 cup diced, cooked chicken
1 large avocado, peeled and sieved
1 tablespoon lemon juice

Saute onion in butter in top of double boiler until golden brown. Remove from heat. Add liquefied nonfat dry milk, flour, salt and pepper. Beat with rotary beater until blended.

Add chicken bouillon cubes and diced chicken. Cook over hot water, stirring occasionally, until mixture thickens slightly, about 10 minutes.

Combine avocado and lemon juice. Pour hot chicken mixture over avocado; stir until blended. Serve piping hot. If desired, garnish with parsley. Makes eight three-fourths-cup servings.

Champagne Requires Plenty of Pampering

Champagne gets a lot of attention even before it is opened and savored. It is pampered, watched, coaxed to perfection in just the right posture, the right temperature and twilight calm.

At one point in production, champagne takes a long, long rest—tilted just right to insure a lively future—then it's a one-quarter turn for every bottle every day.

Forgotten Items Can Ruin Picnic

Along with the basic food supplies that go to make a successful picnic—whether the outing is at the seashore, some wooded hideaway, or in the backyard—there are certain "must" items that, forgotten, create a crisis when the feast is spread and the meal under way.

• • •

Most important are paper napkins, followed closely by facial tissues for removing jam, mayonnaise, etc., from clothing and exposed parts of the body.

• • •

A 14-point checklist of other items in the picnic "forgettery," not necessarily in order of importance, is as follows:

1. Bottle opener
2. Can opener
3. Salt and pepper
4. Paper napkins
5. Knifes and forks
6. Spoons
7. Pickles
8. Mustard
9. Paper plates
10. Soap
11. Paper towels
12. Sun glasses
13. Key to front door for orderly return.
14. Oh yes! Don't forget the food.

Sweet Cherries Fall in 3 Main Categories

There are three types of sweet cherries:

a. The Royal Anne is the lightest in color and is used chiefly for maraschino cherries, though it is also used for canning and salads.

b. The Lambert cherry is bright red and is ideal for salads and showy desserts. It is also used for canning and eating out-of-hand.

c. The Bing cherry is a deep-red fruit used for salads, desserts, canning, jam and for out-of-hand eating.

Chicken giblets are best used when they are fresh. But if you do want to freeze them, put them in a package separate from the chicken parts.

Berry Trifle Teams Custard, Sponge Cake

Strawberry Trifle

2 round 8-inch sponge-cake layers
1 quart fresh strawberries
⅓ cup sugar
2½ cups soft custard (see recipe below)
1 cup heavy cream (whipped)
1 tablespoon sugar

Place a layer of sponge cake in a 2-quart glass bowl, about 9-inch in diameter.

Wash, hull and slice strawberries. (Save eight whole berries for garnish.) Sprinkle with one-half cup sugar and distribute half the berries and 1 cup of the custard over the cake.

Top with the second cake layer. Cover the remaining berries. Pour remaining custard over all.

Chill overnight or 10 to 12 hours. Top with whipped cream sweetened with one tablespoon sugar just before serving. Garnish with whole berries.

Soft Custard

3 eggs
¼ cup sugar
1-16 teaspoon salt
¼ cup cold milk
1¾ cups scalded milk
½ teaspoon vanilla

Beat eggs lightly. Add sugar, salt and cold milk. Gradually stir in hot milk. Cook in a heavy saucepan, stirring constantly, over very low heat or very hot (but not boiling) water until the mixture coats a metal spoon.

Cool. Stir in vanilla. Makes 2½ cups.

Team Liverwurst, Egg

Pair off hard-cooked eggs with liverwurst for Liverwurst-Egg Sandwiches that go on a trip in the sun. These foods make excellent fillings if the liverwurst is mashed and combined with chopped hard-cooked eggs and seasoned with chopped onion and Worcestershire sauce. Blend with mayonnaise. A perfect filling for those who enjoy the flavorful taste of rye bread.

Bake Franks With Asparagus

Summer is the time for simple meals, and right in keeping with this idea is a new California asparagus recipe which combines this flavorful, nutritious vegetable with potatoes and frankfurters.

The dish falls into the category of casseroles which means there is no last-minute fuss in the kitchen when the family is ready to sit down. You'll find it's a recipe to keep handy for warm weather menus.

Asparagus Frankfurter Casserole

6 medium-sized potatoes, cooked and mashed
½ cup milk
3 tablespoons finely chopped onion
1 cup grated processed Cheddar cheese (about ¼ pound)
Salt and pepper to taste
1 pound frankfurters, cut in fourths
1 No. 2 can California asparagus, drained
Salt and pepper
2 tablespoons butter or margarine

Combine potatoes, milk, onion and one-half cup cheese; beat until light and fluffy. Season with salt and pepper. Turn into greased 1½-quart casserole. Sprinkle with remaining cheese.

Glamorize Cabbage With Cream Cheese

One of the ways to add a delightful flavor to cabbage is to cook it with cream cheese.

This unusual combination results in a taste sensation that will awaken the appetite interest of everyone, including those who are usually lukewarm to this excellent vegetable.

Philadelphia Cabbage

Shred 3 cups of cabbage. Cook in an uncovered pot, using one-half inch of boiling salted water, for about five minutes, or just until crispy tender.

Blend in one package (3 ounces) of cream cheese and stir until cheese melts. Add a dash of pepper and one-quarter teaspoon of celery seed. Serve hot. Four servings.

Arrange frankfurters and asparagus over potatoes. Sprinkle with salt and pepper.

Hotel Features 'Stock Market Dinner Menu'

Since the stock market is discussed so widely today, New York's Hotel Edison has inaugurated a unique menu with the prices in the form of fractional quotes, the names of courses abbreviated ticker tape style, and a host of Wall street terms.

The menu is printed on newsprint with actual stock market reports serving as borders.

The World's only "Stock Market Dinner Menu" has the main dishes listed as blue chips, the appetizers as rights, and the soups as dividends.

The pastries and desserts are written as over the counter items with the beverages noted as odd lots. The foreign dishes are under the foreign market category.

A note on the menu explains that the price of the blue chip includes one right, one over the counter, a dividend and an odd lot selection.

"So many diners at the hotel are used to hearing and reading Wall street quotations all day, I thought I would make them feel at home with the 'Stock Market Dinner Menu'", said Irwin H. Kramer, Hotel Edison owner, who originated the idea.

Bean Bake Variations Make Meal Exciting

Summer entertaining is wonderful. It is such a pleasure to eat casually, at the same time enjoying the presence of your guests.

* * *

Casual entertaining like this Bean Bake can be an economical kind. Serve buffet style with Waldorf coleslaw and canned brown bread.

Let your guest spoon up a sample of each kind of beans or a generous serving of one kind. Better have plenty, for this is popular American fare.

Creamy Baked Beans

Combine two cans (1 pound each) baked beans in tomato sauce with one-half cup sour cream; add salt and pepper and a dash of garlic salt; turn into 1½-quart baking dish.

Bake in hot oven (400 degrees) 25 to 30 minutes, or until beans are bubbling. Serve with a dollop of sour cream atop. Four servings.

* * *

Beans 'n' Franks

PEPPERMINT STICK ICE CREAM — Independence Day always calls for something special in the way of a celebration, and no one enjoys it more than the kiddies. Let them eat homemade Peppermint Stick Ice Cream out of drums instead of beating them.

* * *

Put Ice Cream in Jolly Drums

If you're giving a party for the Fourth of July, there is bound to be plenty of noise. You can minimize it by serving ice cream in drums instead of having them for the children to beat.

The delicious ice cream can be made very easily in the morning with sweetened condensed milk, a half cup of water, a cup of heavy cream, and peppermint stick candy.

This ice cream is guaranteed rich, smooth and free from ice crystals. That's because of the sweetened condensed milk, a creamy rich combination of sugar and fresh whole milk that comes in a 15-ounce can. It always gives you failure-proof results even if you've never made ice cream before at home.

For at least the reasonable facsimile of a drum, cut strips of heavy white paper of the proper height and length to fit around dessert glasses or dishes.

Band the top and bottom of each with red cellophane tape and draw criss-cross "lacings" between the bands. Decorate them with stars and flag stickers. Then fasten the drums around the dishes with overlapping bits of tape.

Magic Peppermint Stick Ice Cream

2-3 cup (½ 15-ounce can) sweetened condensed milk
½ cup water
1 cup heavy cream
1 cup crushed peppermint stick candy

Set refrigerator control at coldest point. Mix sweetened condensed milk and water. Chill. Whip cream to custard-like consistency. Fold into chilled mixture. Pour into freezing tray.

Cover tray with waxed paper. Freeze to a firm mush (about one hour). Turn into chilled bowl. Break up with fork then beat with rotary beater until fluffy but not melted.

Fix Sandwich Fillings as They Are Needed

Never hold over any perishable protein foods, such as meat and fish salads, or fillings which have been at room temperature for a total of four hours or more, particularly during the hot summer days.

Triple Burgers Will Liven Up Family Cook-Out

With summer days already here, no homemaker can have too many ideas for enlivening a family cook-out. Here's a recipe that not only outdoes the glories of the familiar hamburger but provides additional body-building enriched yeast-raised bread as well.

And if your family goes in for novelty, they're sure to be intrigued by the new shape of these square meat patties that exactly fit the slice of bread.

Triple Burgers

1½ pounds ground beef
Salt
Pepper
Waxed paper
2 tablespoons butter
1 onion, chopped
½ green pepper, chopped
12 slices enriched yeast-raised bread

To make filling for the bottom layer: Season beef with salt and a dash of pepper. Cut a piece of waxed paper 8 inches square. Place the beef in the center and pat evenly over the paper pattern. Cut the square in fourths. Broil or fry the square patties until brown on both sides.

To make filling for the top layer: Melt butter in a skillet. Add onion and pepper. Saute until tender. Season with salt and pepper.

To assemble sandwich: Place one beef pattie on a slice of enriched yeast-raised bread. Top with second slice of bread. Spoon on some of the onion mixture and top with a third slice of bread. This will make four triple burgers.

Corn-Egg Scramble Like Scout Recipe

Girl Scouts make an egg-corn concoction similar to the one given below. It is fine for a late, lazy summer breakfast or for a light supper dish.

Corn Scramble

1 cup drained, canned whole kernel corn
1 medium-sized onion, sliced and separated into rings
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
6 eggs, slightly beaten
¼ cup milk
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper

In large frying pan cook corn, onion and green pepper in butter or margarine five minutes. Beat eggs slightly; add milk, salt and pepper. Pour over corn mixture.

Cook, stirring slowly, until eggs are just set. Serve hot with chili sauce and toasted English muffins, if desired. Makes four servings.

Pair Up Punch and Shortbread for Party Fare

For a fairly novel accompaniment, serve a not-too-sweet cookie, substantial enough to please the folks who complain about typical party tidbits.

* * *

Shortbread Cookies

1 cup soft butter
⅝ cup sugar (½ cup plus 2 tablespoons)
2½ cups sifted, enriched flour
Topping: Cinnamon, sugar

Mix butter and sugar together thoroughly. Stir in flour. Mix thoroughly with hands. Chill dough.

Roll out one-fourth-inch thick. Cut with floured 2-inch scalloped cutter. Sprinkle lightly with mixture of cinnamon and sugar.

When Buying Sprouts

Brussels sprouts should have firm, tightly wrapped leaves and good, green color. If the sprouts are yellowish and the leaves are opening, pass them by.

Give Chicken Broth Flavor of the Orient

Here's a delicious Chinese-style soup. Slice canned water chestnuts thin; add them to chicken broth with sprigs of watercress when you are heating the soup just before serving.

The stems should be left on the watercress and it should be wilted, not cooked. A clove or two of garlic (cut in half) should be added with the vegetables, too, then removed before serving.

Enjoy California Appeal of 'Dinner in Coffee Can'

Dinner in a Coffee Can is just one of the many fun ideas in the wonderful new section on outdoor cooking in "The New California Cookbook."

* * *

Written by Genevieve Callahan, recognized authority on Western foods, and published by M. Barrows & Company, Inc., New York ($3.95), this guide to casual cooking, eating, and living is one of the new culinary offerings in bookstores throughout the country.

The word "new" in the title of this fifth printing of the popular book really means something. Specifically it means that the revised edition is the best (450 recipes) of the original California Cookbook (published in 1946) plus the entirely new chapter on outdoor cooking; plus outstanding new recipes and ideas in every chapter (100 of these); plus changes in old favorite recipes to coincide with the newer cooking techniques and baking temperatures.

Although Miss Callahan and her editorial partner, Miss Lou Richardson, are acknowledged authorities on California foods and California living, this is a handbook for people all over the world who like their entertaining and everyday living informal, comfortable, yet individual.

Typical of the easy, informational style of the whole book is this recipe for Dinner in Coffee Cans:

Dinner in Coffee Cans

"This is a good way to handle certain types of outdoor meals, even though the meat does lack the 'browned' flavor of grilled meats. The cans are fun—and everyone seems to like the idea of having his 'meal in one dish.' For each person, allow:

- ½ to ⅔ pound ground beef
- Pepper and seasoning salt
- 2 small, white onions
- ½ a good-sized pared potato
- ½ a carrot, cut in chunks
- ¼ a green pepper cut in strips
- 1 ear of corn
- 2 tablespoons sherry wine
- 1-pound coffee can, with lid

Mix meat with seasoning salt and pepper; form into a patty and put in bottom of a buttered coffee can. Press the peeled onions into sides of meat. Tuck in potato, carrot and green pepper.

Break ear of corn into three pieces and fit it in on top. Pour in sherry. Put lid on firmly. Cook slowly 45 minutes to an hour on grill.

Freeze Berries on Day They're Picked, Bought

There are a few musts when berry freezing. Be sure they have fully ripened and that you freeze them the day they are picked or purchased. Wood, earthenwear, enamel, stainless and aluminum utensils are safe to use. Other materials may produce off-flavors or their finish may dissolve in fruit acid juices.

* * *

Finally, be sure to mark on the lid's identification band the kind of berry, packing method and freezing date. This will save guesswork later.

Add Cranberry Sauce to Ham-Cheese Team

A good team, boiled ham and American cheese, takes a new partner — cranberry sauce — to make this Grilled Ham-Cheese-Cranberry Sandwich a record hit with the teenage crowd.

To make: Place one-half slice of ham on each slice of bread, top with a slice of American cheese and 2 tablespoons of jellied cranberry sauce. Cover with remaining one-half slice of ham.

Complete sandwich with a slice of bread and butter well on both sides. Grill in a hot skillet until browned on both sides.

Junior Will Love Maraschino Bars

Since the junior set is attracted by color and nothing in the food line is brighter or gayer than maraschino cherries, make maraschino cherry cookies. They'll be every bit as good as they look.

Coconut Graham Cherry Bars

- 2 cups graham cracker crumbs (about 20 crackers)
- 1 6-ounce package semi-sweet chocolate bits
- ½ cup coarsely chopped maraschino cherries drained (about 20 cherries)
- 1 15-ounce can sweetened condensed milk
- ¼ cup shredded coconut

Combine crumbs, chocolate bits, cherries and milk; mix thoroughly. Spread in a greased 8-inch square pan. Sprinkle with coconut.

Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 35 minutes or until done.

Cool and cut into bars.

Cold Soup, Cereal Will Satisfy Junior

Take one active youngster, add ball and bat or other play equipment and place outdoors on a fine summer day. Mix well for a few hours. That's a sure-fire recipe for a hungry child!

But when the kitchen door bangs, there's no need for mother to come on the run to see that Junior gets a snack to tide him over until suppertime. Not if there's a pitcher of chilled soup within his easy reach in the refrigerator and a box of ready-to-eat cereal in evidence.

For these two foods not only have high youngster appeal, but combine well with milk for a nutritious and speedy between-meal pickup. And it's easy for little hands to pour the frosty soup into a bowl or mug, fun to sprinkle cereal on top.

Added attraction for the busy homemaker—the kitchen won't be a shambles when your pride and joy dashes back to his games.

* * *

Tomato, cream of celery and green pea soups are particularly good choices for cool summertime refreshment. No cooking to do, either! Simply add milk to the condensed soup, stir until smooth, then into the refrigerator to chill.

The cereal topping can be puffed rice, cornflakes or bite-sized shredded corn or wheat—whatever Junior's current favorite happens to be.

Kebabs Feature Oranges, Beef

You don't have to go to the beach or mountains for a picnic or outdoor party — just move out to your own backyard. With a portable brazier or built-in barbecue you can have a delightful meal. And for something extra special, serve Orange and Beef Shish-Kebabs.

Just string orange slices with chunks of beef and whole onions on a long skewer, baste with Lemon Savory Sauce, and broil them over the coals. The broiled orange slices give a welcome surprise flavor to the meat.

Orange and Beef Sish Kebabs

- 1½ pounds beef round, top round or sirloin tips cut in 1-inch cubes
- ¼ cup brown sugar
- 6 oranges, peeled and sliced or cut in large chunks
- 12 to 18 small onions, parboiled

Marinate beef cubes in Lemon Savory Sauce overnight. Add brown sugar to oranges and allow to set overnight. When ready to barbecue, thread beef cubes on metal skewers, alternately with orange pieces and small onions.

Brush with remaining sauce and broil until done. Fills 6 large skewers or 12 smaller ones.

Lemon Savory Sauce

- ⅓ cup lemon juice
- ⅓ cup salad oil
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- ½ teaspoon savory
- ¼ teaspoon oregano
- 2 teaspoons brown sugar
- 2 tablespoons chopped onion
- 1 teaspoon chopped parsley
- ½ teaspoon garlic puree or ½ clove garlic, crushed

Mix all ingredients together and stir until sugar is dissolved. Pour over beef cubes to marinate. Use remainder to brush shish kebabs as they broil.

Try Homemade Syrup

Try serving this simple homemade syrup on French toast. Stir a quarter cup of water and two-thirds cup of firmly packed dark brown sugar together in a saucepan over low heat until the sugar dissolves. Boil for several minutes—or longer if necessary—to bring the syrup to a good pouring consistency.

PICNIC SPECTACULAR—Lucky guests who eat this meal will consider it really unusual. Shish Kabobs provide the main course. Tossed salad is a must. Those round, flat discs are made of cornmeal and are delicious. Sundaes served in coconut shells and almond cookies complete the meal.

Glamorous Shish Kabobs Star at Picnic Spectacular

A picnic spectacular is a party extravaganza with glamor and elegance the keynote. Given on the lawn some warm summer evening, it will be heralded by the 8 lucky people who attend as the most spectacular party of the year.

* * *

Shish Kabobs head the list of good food. For cooking either a rotisserie or broiler does an excellent job. With the Shhish Kabobs serve a tossed garden salad and crisp Cornmeal discs.

These thin flat cakes are subtle in flavor and a perfect accent to the lamb. Simple to make, they are based on an old Armenian recipe and add an authentic continental touch to this wonderful picnic dinner.

Shish Kabobs

3 pounds lamb shoulder
¼ cup salad oil
½ cup lemon juice
1 clove garlic
1 onion, minced
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
3 tomatoes
3 green peppers
1 lb. fresh mushrooms
16 small onions

Cut lamb into 1-inch cubes. Combine oil, lemon juice, garlic, onion and seasonings. Pour over lamb and let stand for several hours.

Cut tomatoes and green peppers into wedges. Alternate lamb, mushrooms, onions, tomatoes and green peppers on metal skewers.

CORNMEAL DISCS

1 cup cornmeal
1 cup sifted enriched flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
½ cup shortening
½ cup milk

Sift together dry ingredients. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Add milk and mix lightly until mixture is dampened. (Add a little more milk if necessary to make dough hold together.)

Turn out on lightly floured board and knead gently a few seconds. Roll out to about one-eighth inch thickness. Cut in 5-inch circles, using a coffee can lid as a cutter; place on greased cookie sheets.

With a fork make several lines at right angles across each. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees) 12 to 15 minutes. Serve warm or cold. Makes eight cornmeal cakes.

* * *

The most spectacular of desserts is a must for this picnic. "Mount Everests" fill the bill. Served in coconut shells, Mount Everests are a combination of ice cream, shaved coconut and chocolate sauce.

To make these superb sundaes, drain the milk from eight coconuts and cut off the tops. (A saw does the job nicely.)

With a vegetable peeler, shave away some of the fresh coconut and place in the bottom of each shell. Add three scoops of ice cream and top with your favorite chocloate sauce. Yum!

ALMOND FANCIES
Cookies

½ cup sugar
½ cup salad oil
½ cup molasses
1 egg
¾ cup sifted enriched flour
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ cup oats (quick or old fashioned, uncooked)

Topping

1 6-ounce package semi-sweet chocolate pieces, melted
1 cup finely chopped or grated almonds

Mix sugar, oil and molasses in bowl. Add egg and beat thoroughly. Sift together flour, salt and baking powder. Add with rolled oats to molasses mixture, blending well.

Drop by teaspoons onto greased cookie sheets about 4 inches apart. Spread out with a knife. (Do not bake more than four cookies at a time.) Sprinkle lightly with chopped almonds.

Bake in a slow oven (300 degrees) 10 to 12 minutes. Remove two cookies from cookie sheet; place over rolling pin for a few minutes to set, then cool on racks.

(To keep other two cookies soft, keep them in the oven until the first two are removed from rolling pin; then shape them in same way.).

Fresh Cherries From Far West Now on Market

* * *

Cherry quality is denoted by plump, bright appearance. They should be firm and have good color.

Cherries should be kept in cool place and should not be washed until ready to use. If they are washed before using, they should be dried, spread on plates or trays and stored in the refrigerator.

Three cups of stemmed, unpitted cherries equal 1 pound. Two and one-half cups of stemmed and pitted cherries equal 1 pound.

* * *

In addition to their delightful flavor—cherries make their contribution to good nutrition through their vitamins and minerals.

Fresh Cabbage Rates Among Best Food Buys

Fresh raw cabbage, an excellent food-value and beginning to be in plentiful supply, is one of the best buys on food counters at the present time.

* * *

According to marketing and consumer information agents of Michigan State College, during the hot summer months cabbage plays a very important part in the menu planning because it lends itself to easy preparation of hot weather meals.

* * *

It stays crisp as well as any greens used in salad, it combines well with cheese or meats, and if a "hot dish" is desired, it can be used as the main dish of the meal.

Grapefruit, if stored for a week or 10 days under refrigeration, will become sweeter.

Let Suds Detergent Replace Elbow-Grease

You don't need elbow-grease to clean casseroles, roasters, broiling pans and utensils that have been used to the point of being almost unrecognizable.

Just soak the utensils, as soon as the food is removed, in warm water with 1 teaspoon of a controlled suds detergent.

The burned food or food that sticks to the pan will loosen almost immediately, and you can easily wash on a new shine in a matter of minutes.

Blend Egg, Shrimp

Yes, keep your party in the pink and choose bright colored egg-shrimp filling for the sandwiches. Combine chopped, cooked shrimp with chopped, hard-cooked eggs, a bit of finely cut watercress for accent and enough mayonnaise to nicely blend the filling.

Pineapple Juice Lends Sparkle to Many Foods

Have you ever realized how versatile frozen fresh concentrated pineapple juice can be? This concentrated pineapple flavor adds sparkle to ever so many foods.

Here are just a few suggestions of ways to use the concentrated juice without diluting it, giving you extra pineapple flavor:

Fruit Pies, Tropical

Hawaiian Rhubarb

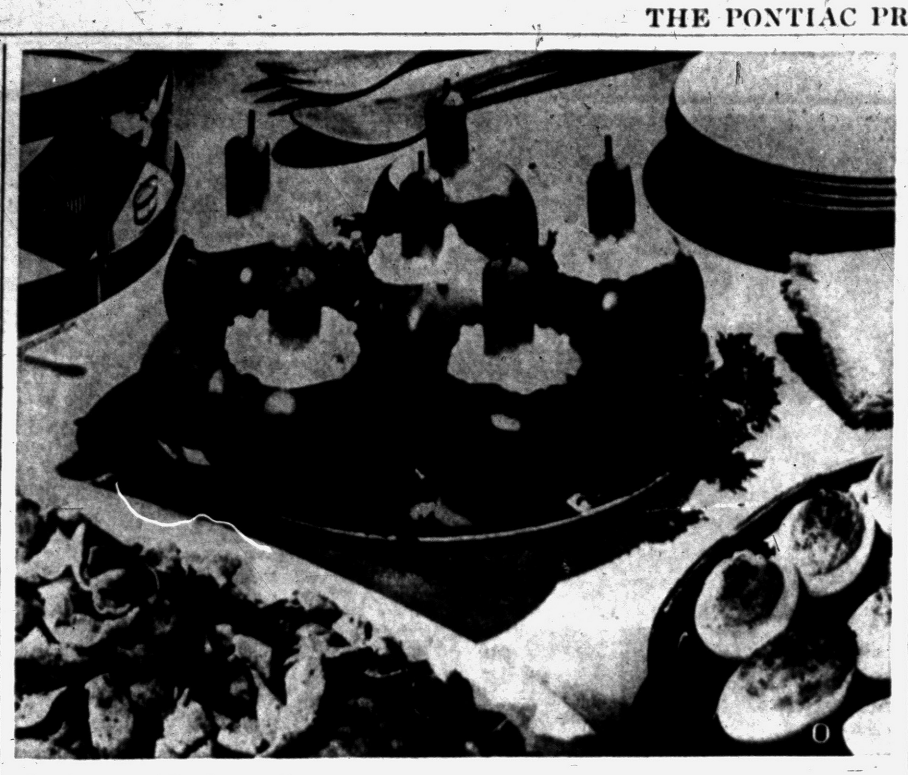

Add 2 tablespoons undiluted frozen concentrated pineapple juice to rhubarb while cooking.

Cornbread, Hawaiian

Add 2 tablespoons undiluted frozen concentrated pineapple juice to your favorite cornbread recipe.

Pineapple Applesauce

Add 2 tablespoons undiluted frozen concentrated pineapple juice to apples when preparing applesauce.

Shrimp in Aspic Looks Flowerlike

Pale pink shading to red, surrounded with green leaves—sounds like a flower, doesn't it? This time, it's a salad — shrimp in aspic on chicory, or other leafy greens.

* * *

Besides being cool and attractive to look at, and delicious to eat, the salad is high in protein and minerals because of the shrimp. And, if you don't eat it with the mayonnaise or tartar sauce suggested in the recipe below, you'll find it a slimming food because shrimp is extremely low in calories.

* * *

In fact, an average serving of four to six shrimp has 64 calories — 13 fewer than one boiled egg, 44 fewer than half a cup of cottage cheese, 37 fewer than a lamb chop or slice of roast beef.

Tangy Shrimp Gelatin

1 pound shrimp, fresh or frozen
1 package lemon gelatin
1 cup hot water
1 cup tomato-vegetable juice

Cook and clean shrimp. Dissolve lemon gelatin in hot water. Stir in tomato-vegetable juice. Chill. Arrange shrimp in tiny fish molds or in 8x8x2-inch pan. Before gelatin mixture begins to gel, pour mixture over shrimp.

Serve with lemon wedges and mayonnaise or tartar sauce. Makes eight appetizer servings or four main dish servings.

Pretty, Delicious Salad

Lusciously thick slices of fresh red tomatoes, rings of pure white onion and cucumbers, green pepper rings arranged in alternating rows on a bed of lettuce make a salad that is as pretty as it is delicious. Pass a French dressing well laced with ground basil leaves.

Foods Answer Call of the Wild

As the weather grows warmer, the call of the wild grows stronger—even if "the wild" is only your own backyard.

James Beard and Helen Evans Brown have written a new cookbook called "The Complete Book of Outdoor Cookery" published by Doubleday. It is crammed full of ideas and recipes for the outdoor chef—and others that can be made indoors to be served out.

Rice With Brown Crumbs

4 cups hot cooked rice
1 cup dried bread crumbs
½ cup butter
Salt and pepper

Brown crumbs in the butter. Combine with the hot rice. Season to taste with salt and pepper.

This recipe with a provocative name is perfect for the grill but the broiler will do an excellent job also.

Another Devil

1 flank steak
1 large onion, grated
1 crushed clove garlic
1 tablespoon vinegar
1 tablespoon Worcestershire
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon freshly ground pepper
½ teaspoon dry mustard
1 loaf French bread

Place flank steak on a broiling pan. Sprinkle grated onion evenly over steak. Add garlic, vinegar, Worcestershire, salt, pepper and mustard. Turn steak in mixture several times; then let stand for one hour.

Broil quickly until brown; turn and brown second side. Serve thinkly sliced on buttered French bread. Makes three to four servings.

Coconut Gives Lift to Butter Cookies

Coconut Butter Cookies

2 cups sifted flour
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup butter
½ cup sugar
2 teaspoons grated orange rind
1 egg
1 cup lightly-packed shredded coconut (finely chopped)

Sift together flour and salt. Cream butter and sugar with orange rind; beat in egg thoroughly. Stir in flour until blended. Stir in coconut.

Drop small amounts of the dough — about 2 level teaspoonfuls for each cookie — about 1 inch apart on ungreased baking sheet.

Bake in slow (325 degrees) oven until lightly browned around edges — 15 to 20 minutes. Makes about 6 dozen cookies.

Red, White and Blue Star Carries Out Holiday Motif

Patriotic colors for the July 4 party dessert: It's a red-white-and-blue star, cool and refreshing, big enough to serve a flock of guests.

* * *

Strawberries, cream cheese, blueberries and flavored gelatin are the main ingredients in the sweet offering.

If you haven't a two-quart star-shaped container in which to mold the dessert, don't worry; use a saucepan for a mold and outline a star on top.

We suggest an aluminum saucepan rather than a glass casserole for the molding because the large dessert will slip out of the aluminum container better than it will out of the heavy glass baking dish.

COLOR MAY RUN

Don't worry either if the red strawberry layer of the dessert runs a bit into the cream-cheese layer; that sometimes happens in the best of test kitchens.

A gentle brush-off with a clean damp cloth will help clear away the displaced color.

Note the recipe directions that tell you to chill one layer until almost firm, and heed them.

Red-White-and-Blueberry Star

1 package strawberry gelatin
2 1-3 cups very hot water
1 10 ounce package quick-frozen strawberries
2 packages lemon gelatin
1 cup canned pineapple juice
1 8 ounce package cream cheese
½ cup cold water
3 tablespoons sugar
1½ cups cultivated blueberries
2 tablespoons milk

Dissolve strawberry gelatin in 1 1/3 cups of very hot water. Add frozen strawberries; stir and break up with a fork until thawed.

Pour into a 2-quart star mold. Chill until almost firm. Then dissolve 1 package lemon gelatin in 1 cup of the very hot water. Add 1 cup pineapple juice.

Cut three-quarters of the cream cheese into small pieces and add to lemon gelatin mixture. Beat with rotary beater until smooth. Chill until slightly thickened.

Then pour carefully over strawberry layer in mold. Chill until almost firm.

Dissolve remaining package of lemon gelatin in the 1 cup remaining hot water. Add ½ cup cold water and the sugar, stir until sugar dissolves. Chill until slightly thickened.

Reserve five whole blueberries. Crush remaining blueberries and fold into slightly thickened lemon gelatin. Then pour carefully over cream cheese layer. Chill until firm.

At serving time unmold. Mix remaining quarter (about 2 ounces) of cream cheese with milk; using pastry tube, outline top of star with cream cheese. Garnish star points with reserved whole blueberries.

* * *

Note: If a star mold is not available, prepare dessert in a 2-quart aluminum saucepan.

Main Course Salad Ideal for Summer

Main Course Salad

1 small head lettuce
1 cup thin celery crescents
½ cup cooked ham strips
4 hard-cooked eggs
½ cup Swiss cheese strips
French dressing
Salt, freshly-ground pepper
2 small tomatoes

Tear or shred lettuce leaves into good-sized bowl. Add celery, ham and cheese. Just before serving toss with French dressing; add salt and pepper to taste.

Divide the tossed salad among four salad plates; garnish with sliced hard-cooked egg and tomato wedges. Makes four servings.

Scallions, Pepper Add Zest to Slaw

Carrot Slaw

2 cups grated carrot (medium fine and packed down)
¼ cup diced green pepper
1 tablespoon minced scallion (green onion)
¼ cup mayonnaise or mayonnaise-type dressing
1 teaspoon lemon juice
¼ teaspoon prepared mustard
Salt, pepper
Lettuce or other salad greens

Toss carrot, green pepper and scallion together in a bowl. In a small container stir mayonnaise, lemon juice and prepared mustard together; add to carrot mixture.

Mix well with two forks. Add salt and pepper to taste. Serve on lettuce. Makes four small servings.

Cottage Cheese Lends Flavor to Many Salads

Few foods can equal cottage cheese for easy salad making. Cottage cheese is a versatile food which can be used in gelatin salads, vegetable salads, frozen salads — for buffet supper, for a luncheon or for the family dinner.

Tomatoes stuffed with cottage cheese and celery mixture, pineapple slices, canned pears, peaches, plums and apricots are all perfect with cottage cheese because of flavor and color contrast.

Many dried or fresh fruits can be stuffed with cottage cheese, such as cooked prunes, cooked dried apricots, or avocados.

Cool Cucumber Salad

1 small cucumber; remove seeds
2 tablespoons pimiento
1 small onion
1 package lime gelatin
1 cup hot water
½ cup mayonnaise
2 tablespoons vinegar
1 pound cottage cheese
½ cup chopped almonds or pecans

Grind or finely chop cucumber, onion and pimiento, and drain them. Dissolve gelatin in hot water. When cool and partially set, fold in remainder of ingredients. Pour into mold. Place in a refrigerator to set. Serves six to eight.

Sweet-Sour Beans Take On Oriental Tang

Green or wax beans take on an Oriental tang when you fix them sweet-sour style. Cut two slices of bacon strips, brown, and remove. Cook a small diced onion until tender. Add the liquid drained from a 16-ounce can of beans.

Cook liquid down to about half. Then add 1 tablespoon brown sugar, 3 tablespoons vinegar, the beans, bacon, and salt and pepper to taste. Heat. Four servings.

P.S.—You can use 3 tablespoons of sweet pickle juice in place of the sugar and vinegar.

Gelatin Dishes Are Low Caloried

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

When you put your mind to it, there are any number of foods you can prepare that are low calorie, yet appetizing. This was proven at a recent luncheon put on by the Westside Extension group.

* * *

The topic for the day was low-calorie foods. Each member brought a dish for the cooperative luncheon held at the home of Mrs. Clare Lancaster on Gale road. As is usual with potlucks, there was an impressive array of food.

Not all members of the group are reducing. For them there were bowls of potato chips, a loaf cake and a plate of Brownies. The overweight could concentrate on the gelatin salads.

* * *

Mrs. Warren Fitzgerald had brought four loaves of delicious bread. Everyone sampled it, I know. But bread must not be considered the boogie man of dieters. A slice of bread with butter spread thinly adds only about 100 calories; that can be planned for in anyone's diet. It is also possible to eat bread without butter.

Speaking of butter . . . Mrs. Harold Grogg had made some whipped butter. I had never tried it before and was pleased with the taste. We figured out from her recipe that one pound of whipped butter contains 950-1,000 calories instead of the 1,600 calories in a pound of regular butter. Here is the recipe she used.

Whipped Butter

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1 pint top milk
1 pound butter softened to room temperature
Salt

Soften gelatin in ¼ cup cold milk in top of double boiler. Place over hot water and stir until gelatin is thoroughly dissolved. Gradually whip the remaining milk and the dissolved gelatin into softened butter with an electric mixer or a rotary beater. Continue beating until well mixed and fluffy. Add salt to taste, also yellow food coloring, if desired. Chill until firm.

* * *

This makes 2 pounds of butter spread. If light cream is used in place of top milk, the calorie count will be higher.

There was a huge glass casserole filled with a chicken gelatin salad. It is an especially nice summer salad. If you chilled it in a loaf pan, you could serve it in thick slices on lettuce leaves. Here's how you make it.

Vegetables Molded Chicken Aspic

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
2 cups water
2 chicken bouillon cubes
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup cooked, drained peas
½ cup cooked, drained diced carrots
1-3 cup diced celery
¼ cup diced green pepper

Soften gelatin in ½ cup cold water. Heat remaining water with bouillon cubes until clear. Add gelatin and salt and stir until thoroughly dissolved. Chill to unbeaten egg white consistency. Combine with vegetables. Turn into large (3-cup) mold or 6 individual molds and chill until firm. Unmold and serve garnished as desired.

Strained chicken broth may be used in place of the water and bouillon cubes. There are 21 calories in each portion of this salad.

Usually when salad dressing is served I pass it up. But I was anxious to try the low-calorie dressing the women had prepared. It has a fine, tart flavor, similar to an old fashioned boiled dressing.

Cooked Salad Dressing

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
½ cup cold water
¼ cup sugar
1 tablespoon dry mustard
1 tablespoon salt
¼ teaspoon paprika
1 1-3 cups boiling water
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 eggs, well beaten
½ cup vinegar

Soften gelatin in cold water in top of double boiler. Add sugar, mustard, salt and paprika which have been well mixed. Stir in the boiling water and butter until gelatin is thoroughly dissolved and butter is melted. Beat into the eggs. Cook over hot water until mixture begins to thicken, stirring constantly.

Remove from heat. Slowly stir in vinegar. Chill until slightly thickened. Beat with rotary beater until well blended. Pour into jar. Store, covered, in refrigerator. Makes 2¾ cups. To serve, beat lightly with a fork. One tablespoon contains 13 calories.

The Westside Extension group is one of the oldest in Oakland county. It has been in operation for over twenty-five years. The present membership of fifteen includes several women who were charter members. Meetings, usually all-day affairs, are held once a month.

Mrs. Don Milbourn is chairman of the group. Mrs. Philip Cotter, vice-chairman; Mrs. David DuVall, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Thomas Johnson, publicity chairman; and Mrs. Harold Grogg, project chairman.

LOW CALORIE LUNCH TABLE — Members of the Westside Extension group who ate only the foods pictured on the above table would not overeat. A thin slice of the homemade bread would not add appreciably to the calories. Molded salads containing fruit, raw vegetables, chicken, salmon and dried beef were featured.

Grade School Cook Tries Recipe From New Book

Pontiac Press Food Editor

Appearing on the newsstands and in supermarkets this weekend is a delightful juvenile cookbook, Mary Alden's Cook Book for Children.

Mary Alden, whose name you will recognize as the chief home economist for Quaker Oats Company, is Mrs. Reidun Sweeney in private life. She is a charming woman whom we enjoyed meeting two years ago at the Food Editors' Conference.

We gave our copy of this new cookbook to a little friend, eight-year-old Peggy Monteith. Peggy already has done some cooking and since completing the second grade, is now old enough to read recipes for herself.

We had Peggy experiment with one of the recipes, the one for Sombrero Cookies. She had no trouble making them. They came out looking just like the picture in the book.

Peraps your own small cook would like to try this cookie recipe even before she gets a copy of the book. Here it is, exactly as it is written by Mary Alden.

Sombrero Cookies

Rolled oats (quick or old fashioned, uncooked)
Flour
Butter
Granulated sugar
Brown sugar
Vanilla
Vegetable shortening
Marshmallows
Egg
Salt

WHAT YOU DO

1. Preheat oven to 375 degrees.
2. Put ¼-cup butter (½ stick) into mixing bowl. Beat butter till smooth.
3. Slowly add ¼ cup brown sugar and ¼ cup granulated sugar, beating till fluffy.
4. Beat in ½ teaspoon each of vanilla and salt. Add 1 egg. Stir.
5. Sift flour onto wax paper.
6. Measure one level cup of sifted flour. Add to mixture in bowl.
7. Add ½ cup rolled oats; stir.
8. Using a paper towel, grease cookie sheets all over with vegetable shortening.
9. With a teaspoon drop 12 cookies on each sheet. Leave space between each. Flatten with the bottom of a glass covered with wax paper.
10. Bake 10 minutes in a 375 degree oven.
11. Take out of oven and place one marshmallow on top of each cookie.
12. Return to oven for 3 more minutes.
13. Serve.

Profusely illustrated in color, this little recipe book is bound to appeal to the child. Who wouldn't like to cook—and eat—Banana Flower Cereal for breakfast? Wouldn't the family enjoy Bearded Baked Potatoes for dinner?

In addition to learning how to cook, the child who uses this book will learn the eight steps that lead to a clean kitchen diploma. To receive this diploma from mother she must leave a spotless kitchen when the day's baking is done. After all the recipes have been mastered, a Super Cook diploma can be won.

All the recipes have been child tested. The book is published by Wonder Books, Inc. and costs only 25 cents.

Salmon Mousse Enriches Menu

A mousse may be a rich dessert that's based on whipped cream and frozen in fancy shapes, but it also may be a salad of meat, fish or vegetables. In this case, gelatin is added and the mold is chilled instead of frozen.

Follow the pattern of the Swedish smorgasbord and include a mousse as part of a buffet menu. Or, if the mousse is nutritious and protein-rich, plan a complete summer luncheon or supper menu around it.

Salmon Mousse

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
¾ cup cold water
½ cup instant nonfat dry milk
½ cup mayonnaise
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons lemon juice
3 8-ounce cans salmon
1½ cups chopped celery
1 tablespoon capers (optional)
1 tablespoon chopped pimiento (optional)

Soften gelatin in cold water in top part of double boiler. Place over boiling water and stir until gelatin is dissovled. Remove from heat.

Sprinkle dry milk over surface of gelatin mixture and beat with rotary beater until just blended. Cool. Stir in mayonnaise, salt and lemon juice.

Drain and flake salmon, removing skin and bones. Add celery, capers and pimiento. Combine salmon and gelatin mixtures; mix well.

Hen Lays Gigantic Egg

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UP) — Henry Hurley has a hen that believes in delivering the goods. Gertrude, a white leghorn, laid an egg seven and one-half inches around the middle, 10 inches around the long way. The egg is about four times larger than the large eggs sold in stores.

Women Are Like That

GRAND RAPIDS (UP) — A Grand Rapids office supply firm displayed a $2.95 file in its window which it labeled as "guaranteed to hold the yearly bills of the average man." Next to it was a larger and more expensive file with a sign saying, "not guaranteed to hold the yearly bills of the average woman."

The temperature of the healthy adult human body averages between 98.4 and 98.6.

For Tea Lovers Only

OMAHA, Neb. (UP) — An Omahan has a patent pending on a "tea bag squeezer" that not only squeezes out the last drop of tea from the bag but also covers the cup so the tea will stay warm longer.

Enjoy Picnic in Star-Studded Setting

A gala red, white and blue setting can dress up the splintery old table in the park as brightly as it does the new table in the backyard.

* * *

Our Fourth of July picnics usually are so well attended on a "share the work" basis that we stake out an early claim on space in the park. This year, work out an inexpensive but festive setting.

Red shelf paper, white plastic tape, blue sasheen ribbon and gold stars are the materials needed.

Placemats cut from red shelf paper (15x11 inches) take one strip of white tape on one side ornamented with four or five gold stars. If the wind is blowing, tape the mat to the table with cellulose tape.

DRUM CAKE

For the centerpiece, a cake camouflaged as a drum is flanked by plastic cylinders tricked out to look like rockets.

Lift off the rocket tops and you're ready to pass carrot strips, celery, cole slaw or whatever you choose to put in the cylinders.

To make the drum casing for the cake, double a piece of red shelf paper, cut wide enough to fit the height of the cake and long enough to tape around it.

Stick white tape strips diagonally along the paper and tape bottom and top edges for the drum effect. A blue or gold star is stuck at each point.

WILMA ANN ADKINS

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Adkins of Ladysmith, Wis., announce the engagement of their daughter, Wilma Ann of Stirling avenue, to James W. Johnson of Elizabeth Lake road. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Berkley Johnson of Ironton, Ohio. No wedding date has been set.

You can make a jaunty rocket for the top of the cake from a cylinder of shelf paper, taped or pasted together and topped with a cone made from a circle of the same paper.

* * *

Plastic cylinders become rockets when they're rolled up in red paper which is taped to hold it in place. Straight strips of white plastic tape march around the cylinder to give the striped effect.

* * *

To make the top, cut a circle about an inch larger than the base of the cylinder. Heavy red paper or cardboard will do. Slash circle to the middle and overlap to form a cone.

SHOWER OF STARS

A blue shower of stars sprouts from the top of the cone. Showers are simply made by cutting four strips of blue sasheen ribbon about 5 inches long. Cut these strips down the middle to within an inch of one end.

Tape strips together and stick a gold star on each fringed end. Poke the taped base of the fringe through a hole in the top of the cone.

Meeting Conducted by Pontiac WCTU

Mrs. Mary Wood used as her devotional topic, "Flowers." The Mary Morton Unit furnished music. A flannel-gram on temperance was given by Mrs. Ray Fleming. The next meeting will be held in September.

The Statue of Liberty was placed with her back toward the United States because she is supposed to be enlightening the world, and so faces the world.

Games Will Get Crowd Into Holiday Spirit

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

Maybe the Fourth is a signal for your family to gather all the generations of all the branches for an all-day picnic on the lawn. You've heard mutterings about dozens of cakes, pounds of potato salad, and bushels ow watermelons. But nobody has said much about doing anything but eat.

* * *

Or maybe there's nothing special going on and you and your girl friends think you'd better round up the boys. Well, each girl can prepare a picnic lunch for herself and her partner.

And what else to do? Well, here are some of my pet picnic stunts, guaranteed to whip up appetites, shake down hearty eating, and keep the crowd amused. Try them and see.

ELIZA CROSSING ICE

Salvage four paper plates and give two to each leader of the two relay teams you've lined up. The point is this: Each player must toss a plate down on the ground within stepping distance, step on it, then toss down the other plate, close enough so that it can be stepped on while the first is picked up.

Stepping only on the plates, each player must attain the goal line, pick up both plates, gallop back to the next in line, and the "crossing the ice" continues. Obviously, "young people" of any age can play this one.

TON OF BRICKS

If your foot were encumbered by a pound of feathers you'd still have difficulties making speed in a relay race. But when you have to balance a round object that can roll around loose on your foot and still run, it makes the fun merrier.

So equip the first man on each team with an empty pop bottle, a can, a round piece of driftwood, or a hard-boiled egg, and start off the race. If the object rolls off the right foot in the process, it must be replaced before continuing.

At the goal line the object may be retrieved by hand and carried back at a fast clip to the next runner. Of course, if all of this proves too easy for your talented friends, you can balance something precariously on their two feet!

A BLOW — HO DOWN

Line up in couples first, then separate to walk in circles in opposite directions. At the whistle partners must find each other, grab hands and squat. Last couple down is out.

As the crowd thins out, enlarge the circle (no bunching up now) and start the walking around. The winners will deserve a long, cool drink.

REST A SPELL

And to cool off, start a spelling game. Decide first of all whether the words will be flowers, birds, automobiles, trees, states or whatnot. Start off with a word, and the next in line must come up with another word that begins with the last letter of the one preceding, but still in the same category, of course.

Mrs. Fred Bohlman (left) chairman of the publicity committee of the Inter-Garden Clubs Flower Show confers with her poster chairman, Mrs. Glen Arthur, and members of the staging committee, Mrs. Donald G. Gilchrist and Mrs. E. J. Lally Jr. (left to right) about poster materials to advertise their Aug. 27-28 event. Mrs. Bohlman is from the Better Homes and Gardens Club, Mrs. Arthur and Mrs. Gilchrist, Dirt Gardeners Club, and Mrs. Lally from the Waterford Branch of the National Farm and Garden Association. These organizations, with the Sylvan Garden Club, are busy with plans for their first combined show.

Garden Clubs Continuing With Show Arrangements

Posters and "The Schedule" were on the minds of the publicity committee members of the Inter-Garden Clubs Flower Show when they met Tuesday in a conference at the Waterford Township Community Activities building.

* * *

Members of the staging committee, composed of representatives of the four garden clubs involved, were also on hand.

The Better Home and Garden Club, Dirt Gardeners Club, Sylvan Lake Garden Club and the Waterford Branch of the Women's National Farm and Garden Association have joined forces to present a flower and garden show Aug. 27 and 28.

They hope to make it an annual affair and this year's theme is "Summer Sunshine."

The show will have four divisions — horticulture, artistic arrangements, junior gardeners, and conservation and education. The schedule is being printed this week and then may be secured from members of any of the clubs.

* * *

Nine judges will be enlisted to determine the winners of the different classes. The incomplete roster now includes Mrs. Walter Fenton and Mrs. Carl Schimmel of Mount Clemens, Mrs. Edwin R. Crosby of Flint, Mrs. H. H. Lee and Mrs. Arthur Brown of Detroit, Mrs. Glen Leland of Farmington and Mrs. D. C. Gilchrist of Pontiac.

Party Honors Dolores Hylla, William Thomas

Guests attending were David C. Noble, Chuck Diss, Lester Diss, Norman Montanbault, Ernest Rushiewicz, Jack Campbell, Eloise Bradley, Rose Mary Goderis and Marguerite Windiate.

Completing the list were Barbara McSkulin, Jackie Downer, Louis Miller, Judy Erickson, Marton E. Morneault, Joyce E. Ball, Jack Gilleland, Pat Sturgis, Esther Thomas, Joe Phipps and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Beith.

Dolores is the daughter of the L. F. Hyllas of Florence avenue and William is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William O. Thomas of Center Line. An Oct. 15 wedding is being planned.

Amvets Group Elects Officers

Mr. and Mrs. James Cavalier opened their home on Ferndale avenue, Sylvan Lake, for an election of officers for the Auxiliary to Wright-Fournier Amvets Post 161.

Mrs. Robert Brown was elected president; Mrs. Jerry Donaldson, senior vice president; Mrs. Ford Andrews, junior vice president, and Mrs. Orval Russell, treasurer.

Mrs. Carl Bartlett is secretary; Mrs. Clair Rassmussen is sergeant-at-arms; Mrs. Orville Russell, parliamentarian; Mrs. Victor McNair, chaplain; Mrs. Ben Weber, public relations chairman, and Mrs. Matt Lingenfelter, liaison officer.

Plans were made at the recent meeting for an installation of officers to take place July 12 at the Gateway road home of Mrs. Andrews.

Preparations are under way for a dance to be sponsored Aug. 12 by the Amvets and the auxiliary.

Bridal Party Given for Marilyn Wright

Marilyn, bride-elect of Richard Abraham, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Owen Wright of Clarkston. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Abraham of Dearborn. The couple will be married July 9 at All Saints Episcopal Church.

Twenty-two guests attended the recent affair.

Irked In-Law Expected Thanks Note

By EMILY POST

A mother writes me as follows: "Two months ago my husband and I went to visit my son and his wife who live in a distant city. We stayed with them two weeks and had a very enjoyable visit.

"When we left we told them we had a wonderful time and thanked them profusely but I did not write a note of thanks to my daughter-in-law when we returned home.

"Some weeks later I heard through my daughter that my son's wife was very much upset over my not writing and thinks me very unappreciative. It never entered my head to write a note of thanks after visiting in the house of my own son.

"Will you please tell me if a note was necessary in this case, and if so, shall I write one now after all this time?"

Answer: It was hardly necessary for you to write a bread-and-butter letter to your daughter-in-law, but in the next letter you write you should tell her and your son how much you enjoyed your stay with them and thank them again.

"Dear Mrs. Post: When a small-tined fork is served, as it invariably is in a restaurant, with lobster, may the same fork be used to eat the vegetables and French fried potatoes served with it, or should the small fork be put down and the large one picked up for them?

"It is rather awkward to be changing from one fork to the other, but evidently one is expected to do this. Why else are two forks provided?"

Answer: You may use the same fork unless you find it awkward to eat the vegetables with it; in which case you use the large one. In fact, many people prefer to use the small fork only to dig the lobster meat out of the claws and eat the big pieces as well as the vegetables with the larger fork.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I have a very beautiful mink scarf which I would like to wear to a wedding I am going to shortly. I prefer not to have to check it. Would it be permissible to hold it over my arm at the reception?"

Answer: Certainly you may carry your scarf over your arm.

Memory Inspires Novel Business

By ANNE HEYWOOD

A friend of mine, back from a Southern vacation, told me of an interesting husband-and-wife business she learned about.

It was a candle-making shop, run by a Mr. and Mrs. Rivers, who had started their venture in a very small way.

* * *

When they moved South, after his retirement, the couple decided to try making candles.

Mr. Rivers' grandmother had made them in her own kitchen as part of the everyday household routine and he remembered the excitement it had been to him as a child.

PERFECTING COLORS

The Rivers experimented a lot and pretty soon they mastered their new trade.

They read a fine book on the subject, which had lots of ideas on mixing waxes, perfecting the colors, adding perfume and, of course, making all kinds of classic and novelty shapes.

At first, they gave them as presents and their friends all loved them. Then they provided free candles for church fairs and charity dinners.

And finally, they decided to specialize in about a dozen varieties and put them up in little boxes with sample pairs. A card, listing prices, was enclosed.

After the samples were distributed, many of the recipients became customers.

* * *

The Rivers' began to do a little advertisimg in their local newspapers and got more orders. They took on a part-time helper and slowly began to expand.

Now they plan to open a small candle shop, which they can do in one room of their house.

STEADY INCOME

It is not a huge business, but it is a pleasant one, with easy hours, and brings in a nice steady, if small, income.

If you would like to learn how to make candles, send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope and I will give you a list of books on the subject.

And if any of you are doing it now, and would like to share your story with others, get in touch with me, in care of this paper, and tell me about it.

Chorus Makes Arrangements for New Season

Mrs. George Tallerday, president of the Pontiac Women's Chorus, entertained the board members at her home on South Avery road recently. Plans were made for the season-opening in September.

Other officers of the group include Mrs. John Keinert, vice president; Mrs. Harold Tripp, librarian; Mrs. Kenneth McBroom, secretary; Mrs. Martin Wolfe, treasurer, and Mrs. Edward Cornell, historian.

* * *

Mrs. Tallerday announced the following committee chairmen:

Mrs. Sidney Olson, membership; Novelle Davies, concert; Mrs. F. E. Kuklaw, publicity; Mrs. James Absher, social; Mrs. C. E. Coonfield, associate membership; Mrs. Max Crittenden, music; Mrs. Leslie Howey, courtesy, and Mrs. DeVaughn Harlan, finance.

Charles Hutton of Walled Lake will direct the chorus for the 13th consecutive year and Mrs. Paul McKibben will be accompanist, also for the 13th year.

Mr. Hutton explained the services of the group under the auspices of the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department. Any organization wishing the chorus for a program should contact Dave Ewald or Mr. Hutton.

Women in the Pontiac area may try out for the chorus Sept. 6 at 7 p. m. and the remaining September Tuesdays at the same time.

Kaline's 3-Run Blast Seals Victory in 1st Frame

CHICAGO (AP)—With the wonderful nonchalance of youth, 20-year-old Al Kaline of the Detroit Tigers today shrugged off his phenomenal status as the best hitter in the major leagues.

* * *

"I'm meeting the ball well and hitting it solidly," said outfielder Kaline, whose three-run homer yesterday in the first inning was all the Tigers needed to scuttle the second-place White Sox in an eventual 8-2 victory.

* * *

Kaline's record is so sensational, he must be placed in the same category as such past greats as Mel Ott, Ted Lyons and Frankie Frisch, who spurned minor league seasoning to make the big league grade.

The kid from Baltimore probably bears greatest resemblance to Ott, who also came up as a terrific teenager and stayed to make National League history with the New York Giants.

After his No. 14 homer yesterday Kaline rapped two singles to become the season's first hitter in either league to belt 100 hits. His 101 blows in 273 trips gave him a .370 percentage, well ahead in either league.

* * *

In addition, he is tied for the triples lead in the American loop with 16; close to the top in RBI's with 53; and third in runs scored with 56.

* * *

Kaline, signed by the Tigers out of Baltimore's South High School, joined Detroit in 1953 and gained regular status last season when he batted .276.

What has been responsible for his tremendous start this season? Ted William, Boston's splendid splinter, gets some credit.

"I put on a little weight," Al explain. "I reported 175 at camp this year, some 10 or 15 pounds heavier than when I started in the big leagues and 6 or 8 pounds over last season.

"That gave me a little more solid punch from the shoulders. But last season, Ted Williams gave me some tips when we were in Boston. He told me to grip a sponge ball and swing a heavy bat during the winter. I did this whenever I had a chance while working in a Baltimore sporting goods store during the off season. It has made a big difference in my wrist action."

The story goes that an official of the Washington Senators, who could have had a gold mine in the lad from nearby Baltimore, decided that Kaline could never hit major league pitching.

* * *

The Tigers signed him for $30,000 bonus and salary, running from 1953 through 1955 with an option for a salary raise for 1955. Reportedly, the lean blond basher talked himself up to a straight salary of $10,000 for this year.

Kaline had a lot of hitting help yesterday. His mates picked up 12 more safeties off the combined offerings of Harry Byrd, Dixie Howell, Morrie Martin and Bob Keegan.

Ray Boone and pitcher Billy Hoeft each collected three hits—a double and two singles each—and they batted in a pair of runs apiece.

* * *

Hoeft spaced eight Chicago hits in posting his 8th victory. He struck out seven and didn't walk a man. His only weak spell came in the 6th when four straight hits produced the two White Sox runs.

* * *

Tigers wrapped it early with five runs in the 1st inning. They opened with five consecutive hits before Manager Marty Marion yanked Byrd, who was making his 1st home start for the White Sox since being traded by Baltimore.

Susie LeClair Cards 232 for District Mark

Nearest Competitors Sally Sharp, Mrs. C. U. Wilson at 250

Continuing her sharp play of the previous round, Mrs. Susie (Keith) LeClair of Ann Arbor yesterday afternoon coasted into the Women's District Golf Association medal play championship at Orchard Lake Country Club.

Susie's 232 total for the 54-hole test hung up a new WDGA record, according to officials at the club Wednesday afternoon. She clipped two strokes off the mark set in 1952 at Country Club by Pat Devany. The count is one over women's par for the layout.

The Ann Arbor woman hit a 78 yesterday to go with her 78-76 rounds of the first two days. She was 18 strokes under the nearest competitors, Pine Lake's young star, Sally Sharp and Mrs. C. U. Wilson, former state champion who had 250. Sally moved up Tuesday from down in the field to be a real contender, but neither of the runnersup could cut down the long lead Mrs. LeClair set up on Tuesday and continued for the finale.

WDGA officials said the margin of victory was by far the widest in the district organization's history.

Third place went to Mrs. Rylma Marquardt and Helen Grinnell, with 251s.

Susie's long tee shots and her sharp iron play, plus a deft putting touch stayed with her for the final round. She had many tee shots that went out beyond the 220 yard mark.

Husband Keith LeClair, who followed his wife on her victory round, expressed the opinion that she ought to be a much improved player in the very near future. "Susie ought to break 80 regularly with her new game," the former U. of M. varsity golfer, observed.

Incidentally, WDGA members said that Susie was the 1st player in the association's tourneys who had broken 80 for all three days of competition.

Kaline Passes 100-Hit Mark in Tiger Tilt

June 29 Magic Date in Majors for Hitting Century Level

CHICAGO (AP)—The century mark in base hits was reached on June 29 for the third successive year yesterday as Al Kaline hit safely three times to lead Detroit to an 8-2 victory over the White Sox.

* * *

* * *

In 1953 and 1954 second baseman Red Schoendienst of St.Louis hit the magic mark on the same day, both times with 101. Last year Schoendienst was joined by Brooklyn's Duke Snider who had an even 100.

Katlin Enjoys Night of Racing

Howell Driver Wins 3 Events Plus Feature at Pontiac Speedway

Hardtops began running at Pontiac Speedway Wednesday night under Land O'Lakes Racing Association sanction, but the "front office" juggling was of little or no consequence to Mickey Katlin.

Katlin found the track just the same despite the sanction change as he posted the fastest qualifying time, then went out and won 4 races, including the 25-lap feature.

The Howell speedster took the dash, his heat race and the pursuit, before the main event. He assumed the lead on the 4th lap of the feature and was never headed. His time was 8 minutes, 17.11 seconds as he finished ahead of Benny Howell and Kenny Schon.

* * *

The semifinal and another heat went to Bill Dillard. Other heat victors were Jack Harvey, Dick Dewey and Rusty Kelly, while Norm Wagner took an added old model stock event.

The Grill nine shut out Clarkston Merchants, 5-0, and the win, combined with the Mets' 4-0 whitewashing of Rosebud Market, put Griff's in sole command of the top spot after playing just one game.

Ted Wharry set Clarkston down with 2 singles in recording the win. Bob Yahnke yielded only 3 hits, but one was a grand slam homer by Bud Hayward in the 5th after 2 walks and an error loaded the sacks.

In Class E, St. George downed Vivian's Beauty Shop, 4-1, with Chuck Kirken limiting the losers to 2 hits and whiffing 11.

Lop-sided games prevailed in the lower leagues. The only contest was in Class F where the East Siders rallied for 5 runs in the 6th to top Don Nicholie Realty, 10-7. Ron Bunch and Don Smith collected 3 hits each for the East siders and Bob Chandler had 3 for Nicholie's.

The other "F" game went only 1 inning as Boys Club hit the 20-run limit, against the N. S. Indians. Russ Rentfrow homered for one of Boys Club's 5 hits after Charlie Honchell had struck out the side in the Indians' half.

In the Knothole loop, GMC shut out Lytell-Colegrove, 22-0, as Jim Pittman pitched a no-hitter for the 4-inning duration of the game and Gary Perkio homered. Boys Club laced the Tigers, 18-4, with Bob Rahaja homering in the 5th; Whitfield cubs downed the Orioles, 14-5, behind Tom Murphy's 3-hitter; and Red Sox routed Athletics, 24-1, with the A's getting no hits in 3 innings off Jerry LeDuff and Pete Douglas.

Bidwell Posts No-Hitter to Swamp City Loop Foes

Cal Bidwell hurled a no-hit game as Franklin Products swamped Pontiac & Opdyke, 12-1, in a men's city league softball game Wednesday night at Beaudette Park.

A streak of wildness in the 5th inning kept Bidwell from posting a shutout. The Franklin pitcher walked there batters and hit another to force in P & O's lone tally.

Louie's Tavern downed Chuck & Louie's Market, 6-3, in Beaudette's nightcap, behind the five-hit pitching of Pat Carrey. A three-hit, three-run outburst in the 6th inning broke a 3-all tie and gave Louie's Tavern the victory.

Girls teams were in action at North Side Park, with Gingellville and the undefeated Giles Realty racking up easy wins.

Gingellville romped to a 16-6 win over GMC. Gingell's nine banged out 13 hits, including a home run by Nancy McCarter, and scored seven runs in each of the 3rd and 4th innings on a total of eight safeties. Nancy Priestly and Joan Swartz homered for GMC.

Giles Realty trimmed Avondale, 8-2, as Bernice Dennis hurled a one-hitter. Margaret Liddy blasted a three-run homer for Giles in the 7th inning.

General Motors handed the CIO an 8-2 setback Wednesday night at Wisner Field in a Class A City League baseball game called at the end of six innings because of darkness.

GMC scored four runs on three hits in the 2nd inning, enough to win. Al Barkeley led the Coach club's attack with two for three. Bob Swindell contributed a double, while Les Stone and Les Bechard collected triples.

CIO collected only two safeties off the combined offerings of Dick Goldsworthy and Bob Johnston, the latter relieving Goldsworthy in the 6th. The Coachers picked up eight hits off Bob Grady, Ed Leonard, and Steve Kebler, Grady taking the loss.

Louise Brough Wins Way Into Final Round

Veteran U. S. Player Defeats Miss Hard at Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England (INS)—Veteran Louise Brough of Beverly Hills, Calif., in search of her 4th Wimbledon women's singles championship, reached the finals for the 7th time today when she defeated 19-year-old Darlene Hard of Montebello, Calif., 6-3, 8-6.

Miss Brough, who is 32, won the title three consecutive years, 1948-50, and was runner-up in 1946, 1952 and last year. In today's semi-final, she packed far too much experience for her young opponent, who was playing at famed Wimbledon for the 1st time.

The all-U.S. women's singles play shared the day's spotlight with the men's doubles semi-finals. Tony Trabert, while awaiting tomorrow's singles championship showdown with Kurt Nielsen of Denmark, paired with sore-shouldered Vic Seixas as the only remaining American duo among three Australian teams.

* * *

Only thing certain about it, is that the ultimate champion will be from the United States—just as in the last 11 years. All four reached the semifinals with the loss of little more than a handful of games each.

U.S. champion Doris Hart of Coral Gables, Fla., meets Mrs. Beverly Baker Fleitz of Santa Monica, Calif.

According to the seedings the final should be a Hart-Brough match. Miss Hart is seeded No. 1 and Miss Brough, No. 2. But a lot of questions will have to be answered today before that can come about.

Semifinals in the men's doubles also will be run off today.

* * *

The American Davis Cup pair of Tony Trabert and Vic Seixas meet the Australian tandem of Ken Rosewall and Neale Fraser in one. The other is an All-Australian clash with Rex Hartwig and Lew Hoad opposing Mervyn Rose and George Worthington.

The men's singles title will be decided tomorrow when Trabert meets Denmark's Kurt Nielsen. Trabert eliminated Budge Patty of Los Angeles and Paris 8-6, 6-2, 6-2 yesterday while unseeded Nielsen came up with the surprise of the tournament, eliminating Rosewall 11-9, 6-2, 2-6, 6-4.

Ohio Mare Captures Feature at Downs

DETROIT (AP) — Dell Creed, 4 year-old mare owned by William Hufford of Lebanon, Ohio, won the feature pace at Northville Downs Harness Track in 2:04 2-5 last night. She paid $4.80.

Dell Creed became a 7-5 choice after the field of six was reduced to four by late scratches. Betting was limited to win and place.

Dick and Wes Grab Win in Final Inning Rally

Dick & Wes Sports came from behind in the last of the 7th Wednesday night to avoid an upset and nudge Day's Sanitary Service, 11-10. The victory moved D&W a half game ahead of the Waterford Lions and within a half game of league-leading Drayton Drug.

Lions and Drug play an important game tonight at 8:30 o'clock, following a "cellar" battle between Richardson's Dairy and Sylvan Center at 7 o'clock.

Day's took a 10-5 lead into the last of the 6th inning, but couldn't stand the prosperity. Harold Horn's triple featured a 4-run uprising in the 6th that pulled Dick & Wes within 2 runs.

Birmingham Regains Top Place in Legion League

Birmingham bounced back into 1st place in the 18th District American Legion Baseball League Wednesday night by handing Rochester its 2nd loss of the season, 6-2. At the same time, Waterford muffed a chance to slip into 1st by dropping a 1-0 decision to Berkley.

* * *

Birmingham has a 5-2 record after Don Picmann's 3rd straight win Wednesday, a 3-hitter against the Rochester club, whose 2 losses have both been to Birmingham.

The winners grabbed the lead in the 3rd inning on a 3-run rally. Following a hit batsman, Bruce Johnson singled, Bill Deer doubled and Bennett Wright singled home 2 runs. Wright doubled across 2 more runs in the 5th.

Picmann fanned 9 and walked one, while loser Billy Henderson struck out 8 without giving a pass. He was tagged for 9 hits.

At Waterford, Berkley shoved over a run with 2 out in the 6th inning. Pitcher Herb Duncan beat out an infield hit and advanced when the ball was thrown away. He scored on Yoder's single.

Duncan held Waterford to 2 hits and whiffed 7. Lefty Chuck Gillis was again a tough-luck loser on a 5-hitter. Both Waterford losses have been at home and by single-run margins.

Clawson arrived just shortly after forfeit time at Huron Valley, but had to yield the victory to the Boys Clubbers. Action resumes Monday the 4th after 18 district players compete in Saturday's Legion All Star game at Briggs Stadium.

2-Day Tryout Offered Young Area Players

Baltimore Club Will Hold 'Camp' at Wisner Field, July 6-7

A 2-day baseball tryout camp will be conducted by the Baltimore Orioles next week at Wisner Field.

Oriole scouts will look over prospects in this area next Wednesday and Thursday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. each day. The camp is being held in cooperation with the Pontiac department of parks and recreation.

Players between the ages of 18-23 are eligible for the camp and must bring their own uniforms, gloves and shoes. Balls and bats will be furnished.

Tony Stiel of Birmingham, Baltimore scout for this area, is in charge of the camp. He will be assisted by Lou D'Annunzio, former Detroit Tiger scout, now midwest supervisor of scouts for the Oriole franchise.

* * *

Another member of the Baltimore staff is Ernie Zubalik of Pontiac. The former athletic star at St. Frederick High School is a part-time "bird dog" for the Orioles.

This is the 1st baseball school for the Orioles in this area, and is the 1st in the city since the New York Yankees last camp here in 1951.

Area's Skaters Take 3 Crowns

Three Pontiac skaters won titles in the Great Lakes regional roller skating championships concluded Wednesday at Dayton, Ohio, according to Bert Anselmy, operator of Pontiac's Rolladium.

Cecelia Darimont took 1st place in the junior girls figures class, while Mary Alice Clouse and Ronald Sugg captured honors in the junior dance. Marvin Perkins and Virla Landon took 2nd in the junior dance and Miss Landon was 3rd in junior girls figures.

Miss Darimont, Nita Steward, Charles Parker and Gerald Hamilin were 2nd in the junior fours division. John Matejec finished 2nd in senior men's figures and senior men's singles.

Carter Loses His Crown Again

BOSTON (AP) — Wallace (Bud) Smith, master of the short, slashing left hook, hoped his "gypsy" days were over today as the new lightweight champion of the world.

Smith, the 26-year-old Cincinnati Negro, gave Jimmy Carter the worst beating of his career last night at Boston Garden but had no easy time in gaining a split decision in 15 blood-splattered rounds. It marked the third time Carter has lost the lightweight crown.

* * *

No one could recall Carter ever being cut up as badly in his 98-bout professional life. The 31-year old New Yorker required 15 stitches —nine over his right eye and six over his left—after appearing in his 11th title fight.

The only time Carter ever was stopped—it was due to an eye cut—was back in 1947 in a fight with Charley Lewis in Hartford, Conn.

Smith's manager, Carmen Graziano, who bought the new champion's contract only this April, and Willie Ketchum, Carter's boss, plan to abide by a verbal agreement for a rematch. However, due to Carter's beating, it is not likely to come about within 90 days as originally planned.

Smith, who proved he could take Carter's ripping body attack as well as hand it out, had sweet revenge for his 10 round loss by decision to Jimmy in his hometown five years ago. Since then Smith has been fighting welters as well as lightweights for small purses waiting for the title shot, which he made the most of last night.

"We caught Carter as he started on the downgrade," Graziano said. "His reflexes aren't quite as fast as they once were and we took advantage of the fact. Smith's short punches were to keep Carter off balance—not so much to hurt him as to keep him from hurting us."

* * *

"Actually, I was in the ring to fight 15 separate fights—one each round," Smith said in his dressing room. "I planned on fighting each round as it came up. No long range plan. Just plain punch, punch, punch and plenty of determination not to let Carter's plan of battle change my own strategy."

That's just how Smith, a 4-1 underdog, fought it.

At one stage in the 12th round Carter took on a macarbe appearance, standing almost helpless, his white trunks turned pink from a blend of blood and sweat.

Ketchum, speaking for Carter, said:

* * *

"He told me after the fight that he thought he won it. Sure it was close, but why do those close ones always go against my man. He loses more close ones than anyone else in the business because the judge always give it to the underdog when it could go either way."

* * *

A scant 1,983—one of the smallest championship fight crowds on record—turned out on the hot, humid night to witness what developed into a stirring scrap. It was handled nationally on both television and radio.

Prior to last night Carter had lost his lightweight crown to Lauro Salas and Paddy DeMarco but managed each time to recapture it.

Announcement Likely on Fall Heavy Title Bout

NEW YORK (AP)—Rocky Marciano was expected to agree today or perhaps tomorrow to place his heavyweight boxing crown on the line against Archie Moore in September but one thing seemed certain — the fight likely will not be held on the West Coast.

Boxing promoter Cal Eaton of Los Angeles offered yesterday to guarantee $1,250,000 for the heavyweight title scrap if the International Boxing Club would elect to hold the bout either in Los Angeles' Memorial Coliseum or in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena.

* * *

But Truman Gibson, secretary of the IBC in Boston for the Wallace (Bud) Smith-Jimmy Carter lightweight fight, immediately threw cold water on the offer by saying the IBC "is not too interested" in promoting a heavyweight title fight on the West Coast.

Jim Norris, president of the IBC, could not be reached for comment but it was believed he would be in New York today for a conference with Al Weill, Marciano's manager, and Charley Johnston, pilots the veteran light heavyweight champion.

The conference could well result in formal announcement of the fight but the date and site probably would not be forthcoming for several days. Both Weill and Johnston have said they prefer New York, probably in mid-September either at the Polo Grounds or the Yankee Stadium.

Eaton, in making the largest guarantee in history for a heavyweight title fight, proposed it be held in Los Angeles in late September or the first week in October.

In addition to New York and Los Angeles, Chicago, New Orleans, Houston and Milwaukee have been mentioned as cities in running for the most talked about fight in recent years.

Gibson expressed doubt that the fight would draw a million dollars on the West Coast and added "it will do more than a million anyway in Chicago or New York and our business is mostly in the East."

Lions Claim Order Fetters Jim Martin

DETROIT (AP)—Detroit Lions say they have obtained a court order forbidding guard and linebacker Jim Martin from skipping to the Canadian pro football league.

The Lions said Superior Court Judge Ralph Pierson issued a temporary injunction at Long Beach, Calif., directing Martin not to play football with any club but Detroit. He has until July 5 to contest the order.

Martin, whose collegiate career was at Notre Dame, told the Lions he has signed to play next season with the Toronto Argonauts. The Dettroit club claims he also is under contract to them.

Porter, Tiger 'Hand' Is Moved ot Buffalo

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—J. W. Porter, 22-year-old Detroit Tiger farmhand, has been moved up by the Tigers from Little Rock of the Southern Association to Buffalo of the International League.

Porter, former bonus baby of the old St. Louis Browns, was assigned to Little Rock a month ago after starting the season with Detroit. He has been performing at 1st base and hitting .318 for the 8th-place Travelers.

Bob Mavis, who resigned Sunday as the Little Rock manager, also is moving to Buffalo, but as a player. He is a veteran infielder.

Building Costs Rise

Cotton Bowl in Dallas cost $400,000 to build in 1930. It since has been enlarged from 45,000 seats to 75,504. Improvements cost two million dollars.

Mrs. DeBolt WMGA Victor at Pontiac CC

The Women's Metropolitan Golf Association held its weekly tournament at Pontiac Country Club Wednesday with Mrs. R. F. DeBolt taking low gross honors on 40-41—81. A total of 98 players competed in the event.

Low net went to Mrs. W. D. Wright with 85-10—75. Other low gross victors were Betty Edwards in the 1st flight with 91; Mrs. C. E. Luber in the 2nd flight on 98; and Mrs. Robert Knox in the 3rd flight with 109.

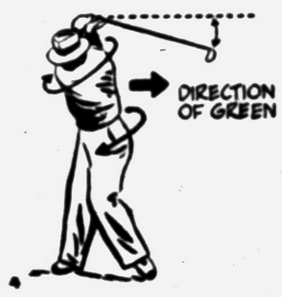

MSU Coaches Go Abroad

Sam Snead's Golf Clinic

Now our player is ready to start down. Notice that his back is "facing" the green. That's the full pivot. The downswing will start with a sort of all-together action of the reversing hip-and-shoulder pivot.

The wrists are left cocked at the start of the downswing. When the hands are about hip high the hands start, slowly, to pour their power in. The arm pull should be down rather than around. This is because the reversal of the hip and shoulder pivot will automatically carry the clubhead back to the ball, slightly inside out across the direction line. That's the way you want it.

Chisox, Tribe Between Yanks, Surging Tigers, Boston

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The way things are going these days, the Chicago White Sox and the Cleveland Indians look like they're smack dab between the devil and the deep blue sea in the American League race.

Dem ol' debil New York Yankees are up there in front, getting more ornery every day. And to the immediate rear are the Detroit Tigers and Boston Red Sox, just itching to wash Chicago and the Tribe out of their second and third place berths.

* * *

The White Sox looked to be on their way out as they dropped their fourth straight to Detroit, 8-2 yesterday. And Cleveland suffered another jolt in a 12-4 pasting by Kansas City.

The Yanks, who have won 10 of their last 11 (only half of them against the second division), now are five games up on the second place White Sox and seven ahead of the Tribe. Detroit is only three behind the Indians and the Red Sox, who have won 19 of 23, are just a half-game farther back.

In the National, crippled Brooklyn was shattered by a revived Willie Mays as the New York Giants reclaimed fourth place with a 6-1 victory. Mays, shaking his slump, drove in all six runs against the first place Dodgers, who have lost power guy Roy Campanella with a knee injury.

Milwaukee drew to within a half-game of second place Chicago by pelting the Cubs 14-1. Philadelphia beat Pittsburgh 6-3 and St. Louis rapped Cincinnati 9-5 as Stan Musial reached the 2,500 hit mark.

Cleveland, slumping like the Chicagos, lost its fourth in six games as Gus Zernial and Harry Simpson homered home four runs in the A's 16-hit barrage against loser Bob Feller and three reliefers. Bobby Shantz won it with help from Tom Gorman.

The Yanks rolled on as Bob Turley became the fourth AL pitcher to win 10 this season in the opener and Gil McDougald got a four-run seventh under way with a two-run triple in the nightcap. Turley fanned 11, pulling to within three of the pace-setting total rung up by Cleveland's Herb Score.

Tom Morgan won the nightcap to give the Yankees one-two bullpen punch an 11-0 record. Morgan is 5-0, Jim Konstanty 6-0.

Boston breezed against the Nats getting 13 hits in support of Ike Delock who went all the way for his sixth victory after being idle almost a month with a sore shoulder.

Two home runs—one his first major league grand slammer — and a single off Mays' bat shook up the Dodgers, who only had three hits themselves off Ruben Gomez. The Dodgers started out behind Clem Labine But the righthander lost his first in seven decisions and failed for the 23rd straight time to go the distance.

Hank Aaron belted two home runs and Ed Mathews and Joe Adcock one each as Milwaukee and Lew Burdette downed the Cubs. Hank Sauer homered for the lone Chicago run. Howie Pollet suffered his first defeat.

Willie Mays Gets 'Unconfused' in Ebbets Field, Drives in 6 Runs on 2 Homers, Single in 6-1 Win

BROOKLYN (AP) — It's official, now. Willie Mays no longer is confused. Even the Brooklyn Dodgers will attest to that today.

* * *

The young center field star proved last night his mind as well as his eyes were keen again by blasting a pair of home runs (Nos. 18 and 19) and a single to drive in all six runs as the New York Giants defeated the Brooklyn Dodgers 6-1 to even the series at one game apiece.

* * *

Willie was the Willie of 1954 as he blasted his first homer in the third inning with the bases full to give the Giants a 4-0 lead, hammered his second four-bagger on a 3-0 pitch in the fifth, and singled in the seventh to drive in the final New York score. It was easily the biggest slugging day he's had this year. Coming on top of Tuesday's four-hit night, Willie may be on his way.

The happiest person in the park, next to Willie, was, of course, Manager Leo Durocher.

"That was the real Willie you saw out there tonight," Durocher told newsmen after the game. "This was the first time this season that Willie has really broken loose.

It was Durocher who benched Mays for the first time in his life some 10 days ago, explaining that Willie was "confused."

"I told you fellows Willie would hit a ton if he played 77 games at Ebbets Field but you thought it was sour grapes. Willie proved it tonight. If he played half his games in this park (Ebbets Field), and if he ran into a hot streak like the kind he had last year, he'd probably crack Babe Ruth's home run record.

"Again, I want to stress if Willie got hot. There were times last year when he hit 12 to 15 real long belts to deep center field for long outs in the Polo Grounds. They'd all be home runs at Ebbets Field, for sure.

* * *

"Take tonight's home runs. Both would have been easy outs at the Polo Grounds. Here they're home runs. That's what I've been telling you fellows all along. Now you see it for yourself."

Both of Mays' homers came off Clem Labine, who dropped his first decision of the year. He's won six. It marked the 23rd straight time the Dodger righthander failed to complete a game. His last complete game was on Oct. 2, 1951, when he shut out the Giants 10-0 at the Polo Grounds in the second playoff game for the pennant.

Price Lugs Ball Often

Eddie Price, playing for the New York Giants in 1951, set a National Football league ball carrying record with 271 carries. He averaged 3.6 yards per carry.

Wooldridge Recalled

Floyd Wooldridge, out of baseball all of 1954 because of a fractured leg, had a 3-2 record at Houston when recalled by St. Louis this spring.

Long Wait for Nothing

After sitting on the bench for two years, bonus pitcher Tom Qualters has been optioned by the Phillies to Reidsville, N.C., in the Class B Carolina League.

Konstanty, Morgan Terrific Relief Duo

NEW YORK (AP)—Both in the earned run and victory columns the Yankee duo of Jim Konstanty and Tom Morgan represent the best one-two relief punch in baseball.

Morgan's relief victory over Baltimore yesterday was the pair's 11th of the season without a defeat.

Konstanty has won six with an earned run average of 0.95 while Morgan has contributed five triumphs and an era of 0.68. The two hurlers have appeared in 35 of New York's 74 games.

Oakland Dogs in Top Spots at Water Trial

Oakland County area springers took high honors in all stakes in the recent 6th water trials of the Southern Michigan Springer Spaniel Training Club at Kensington Lake Show was sanctioned by the American Kennel Club.

First in puppy was won by "Dee's Ferris Peg," owned by Mr. and Mrs. William Peschel of Royal Oak. "Lady Bess of Huntersfield" and "Whiz Bang of Huntersfield," both owned by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ford of places, respectively.

"Cincinnati Sal," belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Jack Thompson of Royal Oak, captured the limit stake. Runnerup spot went to Mr. and Mrs. Peschel's "Dee's Lady Dinah" and 3rd position to "Busy Bee," property of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Mansfield of Ferndale.

* * *

Finishing 2nd in the highest stake, the open-all-age, was "Sir Robert of Huntersfield," owned and handled by 16-year-old Norm Matheson of Ferndale. "Pierre Pointe Porter," an English field trial champion, won the trial under owner and handler J. A. Blanck of Detroit.

By DIZZY TROUT

You can never tell about baseball trades. On paper the deal may look good, but the outcome may be entirely different.

Take the Tigers' big swap with Chicago last winter. The deal brought first baseman Ferris Fain, pitcher Leo Cristante and infielder Jack Phillips to Detroit and sent outfielder Bob Nieman, first baseman Walt Dropo and pitcher Ted Gray to the White Sox.

The exchange seemed favorable to the Tigers. Detroit had given up on Dropo and Gray, and Nieman, although a long ball hitter, was expendable because of our crop of fleet, young outfielders.

In return the Bengals were getting a two-time winner of the American League batting crown in Fain and the leading pitcher in the Southern Association last year in Cristante. Phillips was slated for a utility role.

But what happened? Wily Frank Lane, general manager of the White Sox, apparently pulled a fast one. A knee seriously injured by Fain last season has not mended just as Lane anticipated, although Detroit had reports that the knee was again sound.

Moreover, Cristante has not quite measured up to big league standards. He has been sent down to Buffalo, the Tigers' top farm club, to make room for Earl Torgeson, whom we bought from the Philadelphia Phils to replace Fain at first.

So while Fain rides the bench with Phillips, serving in an occasional pinch hit role, and Cristante toils for Buffalo, both Nieman and Dropo are having pretty good years and belting quite a few long balls for Chicago. Only Gray failed with the Sox, and he's now with Cleveland.

But this is not intended as sour grapes. The Tigers have outmaneuvered canny Mr. Lane on occasion. We traded him catchers last year, Matt Batts for Red Wilson, and Lane doesn't talk about that one.

Batts failed to last the season, while Wilson has proven an extremely competitive player and is doing a masterful job behind the plate for Detroit.

The trade the Tigers most like to look back on is the exchange with Cleveland early in 1953 when we obtained third baseman Ray Boone and pitchers Steve Gromek, Al Aber and Dick Weik. In return, Cleveland got pitchers Art Houtteman and Bill Wight, catcher Joe Ginsberg and infielder Owen Friend.

Rosburg Leads Clark by One at Vancouver

VANCOUVER, B. C. (AP)—Two Californians, a stroke apart, led a field of 39 par-crackers and 53 other golfers into the second round of the $15,000 British Columbia Open today.

The opening round was played under overcast skies and a chilling breeze. Rain last night promised to keep the green on the 6,596-yard course slow today.

Gomez Sees Greatness for Yankees' Carey

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Lefty Gomez, former Yankee southpaw ace sees greatness for Andy Carey, Yankee third baseman, "If he progresses as he has in the last two years Carey will become one of the greatest third basemen in history," says Lefty, now a sporting goods salesman.

Both Predict Tight Contest for U.S. Crown

Field Cut to 46 as Bowman Withdraws From Tourney

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—A pair of tested pros — Louise Suggs and Patty Berg step into the opening round of the third annual Women's National Open golf tournament today as co-favorites.

* * *

Both favorites, however, predicted a wide-open battle for the title.

For the first time in brief history of the $7,500 meet, distance and par for the Wichita Country Club course were not to be set until shortly before the scheduled 10 a.m. (Central Standard Time) first round tee-off. Both figures depended on the wind.

* * *

Secretary Joe Dey of the USGA reiterated last night that distance could be trimmed from 6,330 yards to 6,290 and par changed from 71 to 72, all depending on the wind. The weather bureau here forecast strong Southerly winds for the third straight day and predicted showers for the afternoon, indicating the course would be shortened.

* * *

The championship will be decided in Saturday's 36-hole windup.

The starting field was cut to 46 players — 20 professionals and 26 amateurs — with the announcement of pro Carol Bowman, Oakland, Calif., that she was withdrawing because of painful knee injuries received in an automobile accident en route here Monday night.

Joe DiMaggio Planning Comeback—for 1 Day

NEW YORK (AP)—Joe DiMaggio will make a comeback in a Yankee uniform but it will be for one day only.

On Saturday, July 30, DiMaggio will manage a team of former Yankees while Frank (Home Run) Baker will lead a team of Hall of Fame members in a Yankee Stadium game preceding a Yankee-Kansas City clash.

Musial Gets 2,500th Hit, Seeks 500 More

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Stan (The Man) Musial, whose name is inscribed in most of baseball's batting records, reached the 2,500-hit milestone in his brilliant career and then set his sights on 500 more.

The St. Louis Cardinals' veteran outfielder-infielder slammed a single and two-run homer last night off Cincinnati pitcher Rudy Minarcin for hits No. 2499 and 2500.

Stan, now in his 13th full season with the Cardinals, before the game had said quietly to a photographer:

* * *

"I'm going to do it tonight."

Only 36 other major league players have passed the 2,500-hit mark during their careers and there have been only seven who've made it past the number 3,000.

"The last 500 will be the toughest," Musial said, indicating he has that goal in mind. The 34-year-old Musial, who draws down a salary of $80,000-a-year, acknowledged he is running out of time as a top-flight player.

"I should get another 100 hits this season," he said, and added that if he can average about 180 hits the next three years the 3,000-goal will be reached.

* * *

Musial's homer also put him in a tie for 10th place with Al Simmons in the all-time major league home run derby with 307. He started the season in 12th place behind Rogers Hornsby's 302.

Those still in front of him are Babe Ruth 714, Jimmy Foxx 534, Mel Ott 511, Lou Gehrig 493, Ted Williams 377, Ralph Kiner 368, Joe DiMaggio 361, Johnny Mize 359 and Hank Greenberg 331.

Stan, a six-time National League batting champion, collected his first major league hit in the third inning of the second game of a doubleheader against Boston (now Milwaukee) on Sept. 17, 1941. It was a two-run double against Jim Tobin. Then, as now, he was batting third in the Redbird lineup.

* * *

The select seven who've carved out 3,000 or more hits include Ty Cobb 4191, Tris Speaker 3515, Honus Wagner 3430, Eddie Collins 3313, Napoleon Lajoie 3251, Paul Waner 3152 and Adrian Anson 3081.

Slugger Pinch Hitting for Pop Wilson Today

By SLUGGER WILSON
for Earl Wilson

My father was a bit lazy so he asked me or should I say he told me to write a guest column for him.

At this very moment I am in the Idlewild airport with my Grammy and a friend of my father, Bernie. I am flying by myself to Rome, wher I am suppose to see my mother and father. My mother told me my Grammy would be very worried and might cry but I didn't see her crying if she did.

WILSON

I will fill you in on what I see. We have taken off an are flying over water. The Pan American airplane is very big.

We stoped in Boston then we started out again. We are over the Atlantic now. We are about 19,000 feet up and you can see for hundreds of miles.

I have just finished my dinner. It was very good. When my mother reads this she will wish that she was on this plane.

It is morning now. I only slept an hour. I have to stay alert on the air plane. My father saw to that, when he made me write a guest column in my school notebook.

We have just been to the Azores. I have found a new friend, he is 15 and from Venizuela.

At Barceloni I got scared. I got off the plane and looked around and decided to get back on. But they wouldn't let me on and they couldn't talk English. I was afraid they would go away without me because I couldn't talk Spanish.

But they were just cleaning the plane, then they let me on.

Finally after about 17 hours we are getting to Rome and the stewardess says we are an hour early.

I had to go through customs alone but they didn't open my bags. I guess they knew I was not any dope smuggler.

So here I am in Rome and it fels very odd. The ground is still rocking from the air plane ride. I am very sleepy.

Now it is next morning and my father said "Let's all go to Doney's sidewalk cafe for breakfast. The weather is wonderful here." We went and right away it started to rain and we had to move.

My father took my picture with his Polaroid camera and I told him, "In the back there is a blur." My father said "That is no blur. That is your mother." My mother said "That is not very funny." I guess we are going to have a good time.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Linda Christian and Ed Purdom have a date in Spain next month "to talk things over." . . . Marion Marlowe has a hot movie offer—but she'd have to dye her hair red, and she's not anxious . . . "Learnin' the Blues" is Frank Sinatra's third million-sale record; all three were written by women.

Robert Montgomery's daughter, Elizabeth, now divorcing, is dating a TV director . . . Latest Rome racket aimed at Americans is selling fake "old master" violins . . . Pretty Rita Gam's wondering how to get a live raccoon off her terrace. (No Davy Crockett gags, please) . . . The Hotel Pierre Grill heads its summer entertainment with singer Maggie Cole.

MISS COLE

A local TV station held a drawing to see which offices would be air-conditioned . . . Diane Barrymore lost an 8G star sapphire ring given to her by her mother.

Prophet Jones, the wealthy Detroit religious leader, is pricing mansions in N. J. . . . Mary Astor will be a grandmother again next month . . . Daily Double: Model Nancy Berg and Phil Silvers at the Biltmore.

Louis Prima's opposition (in Las Vegas) is his ex-wife, who leads a band at a nearby hotel . . . Gordon MacRae and comic Morty Gunty will tour together . . . A major department store offered 22½ millions for a rival chain.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: "The thing most brides would like is a cook book with a happy ending."—Rob't Q. Lewis.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: At Lum Fong's an actor reported he and his ex-wife were dating again: "It was one of those divorces that just didn't work out."

"I never won anything on a raffle," complains Jan Bart. "Even on a laundry ticket I always lose something." That's earl, brother.

Hollywood Headlines

Janet and Tony Both Going to Europe

By DOROTHY MANNERS

(While Louella O. Parsons is on vacation her column will be written by Dorothy Manners)

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Janet Leigh and Tony Curtis won't be separated after all when Tony leaves in mid-July to make "Trapeze" in Paris.

Janet goes right along because she has just been signed to co-star with Vic Mature in "Safari" which will be shooting at the same time in London. (All right, so they have to wait for weekends to fly the channel.)

Already I'm reading the fan magazine stories, "With Tony and Janet in Europe," their first trip, by the way.

KING GIVES IN

At last, the King has given in. Clark Gable will do a TV show! Gable has agreed to appear on a nationwide show channeled out of New York to help plug "The Tall Men," the picture he's just completing with Jane Russell at 20th.

His change of mind about TV might be attributed to his having a big financial slice in this picture—but his co-workers say that Clark is plain crazy about "Tall Men." Thinks it is the best film he has made in years.

BERGENS CELEBRATE

Frances and Edgar Bergen celebrated their 10th happy anniversary a few days ago. "And this is the marriage everyone said couldn't last a year," Frances laughed.

"Even our best friends said to our faces,—'How does a Swedish ventriloquist, dyed-in-the-wool bachelor think he's going to hit it off with a young model, and vice versa?'

"Well, here we are 10 years later with 9-year-old Candy and Charlie McCarthy to prove it."

The night of their anniversary Frances put Edgar on the train for New York where he'll confer about next season's TV show.

Walt Disney's Santa Fe and Disneyland locomotive made its first trial run through Disneyland today with Walt at the throttle. I don't care how many kids have fun at Disneyland, and they'll be in the millions, the biggest kid of all, Disney, will have the best time.

It is estimated that over 100 newspapermen from all over the world will be on hand when Disneyland opens its gates for the press premiere July 17. Official opening of the 160-acre park is July 18 with Gov. Goodwin Knight presiding with Walt at the dedication ceremonies.

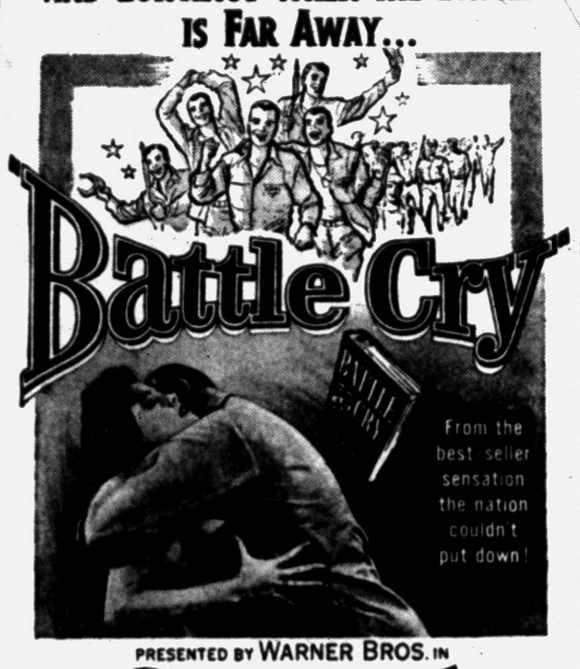

ON THE STORK LIST

Hollywood in shorts: Constance Dowling and Ivan Tors reported on the stork's list again. They were heartbroken when their first child died in infancy.

Terry Moore, seldom out of the news, dated Jimmy Hansen (once engaged to Audrey Hepburn) in London.

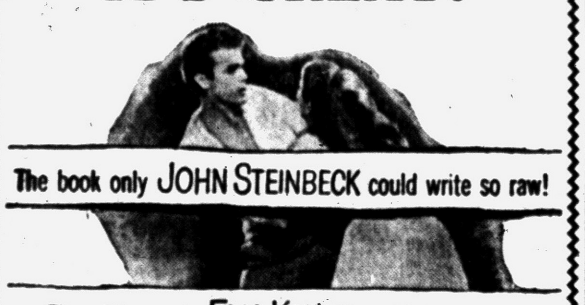

Gloria De Haven and John Payne must be all over their squabbles over the custody of their two daughters. John put the children on the train early this week to spend the rest of the summer with Gloria, now in "Seventh Heaven" on Broadway.

Leon Trotsky was exiled from Russia on Jan. 16, 1928.

Henry Fonda's Daughter Gets Role by Phone

OMAHA (AP)—An audition by telephone from New York has won 17-year-old Jane Fonda her first professional stage role.

She joined her father, actor Henry Fonda, and Dorothy McGuire in the community playhouse production of "Country Girl" here. It was with the same playhouse group that Fonda and Miss McGuire made their own debuts.

Jane Fonda phoned playhouse director Kendrick Wilson from New York one Sunday to ask for a "Country Girl" part. As far as Wilson was concerned she cinched an ingenue's role during a 20-minute long distance telephone audition.

But, Wilson said, it took some help from Miss McGuire to sell Fonda, who was in Hollywood, on the idea.

Coast Guard to Curb Reckless Navigators

NEWPORT NEWS, Va. (AP)—The reckless driver operates on land and sea — and the Coast Guard is going to crack down on the waterborne type.

The fact that a reckless mariner hits a buoy isn't the worst thing—failure to report it is even more serious. The fine can be $100 for those failing to report their misdeeds. The CG has been plagued lately by a rash of collisions which damage or shift aids to navigation.

Can Transform Can

CHICAGO (INS) — A packaging process that literally will transform the standard tin can into a number of different packages has been made by American Can Company. It is a revolving disc which has a cluster of small holes and a pie-wedge slot. It acts as a sifting and pouring device after the can has been opened by a beer can type opener.

Sees Chicago as America's Number 1 City

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (UP)—A University of Illinois professor says destruction of Chicago would be much more harmful to the nation than the loss of New York, Washington or Los Angeles.

* * *

Prof. John H. Garland predicts in a new book, "The North American Midwest," to be published early next fall that Chicago may become the largest city in the United States.

Garland declared that the Midwest may be an area on which the free world's fate one day will depend because of its location, natural resources and culture.

He called Chicago the hub of an area that has become the world's crossroads, and likened its position to that of Great Britain when she was queen of the seas.

Grains Steady; Rye Most Firm

CHICAGO (AP) — Most grains held around steady on the Board of Trade today with rye showing the most firmness.

Soybeans showed declining tendencies, and lard, after opening firm, slipped to around previous closes in pace with the lower market for live hogs.

Clearing weather in the southwestern winter wheat harvest area gave an easier tendency to nearby contracts of that grain while the distant contracts again were relatively stronger.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was ⅞ lower to ½ higher, July $1.98⅝; corn was ¼ higher to ⅜ lower, July $1.43¼; oats were ⅛ to ⅜ lower, July 64⅞, and rye was ¼ to ¾ higher, July $1.02. Soybeans were unchanged to ¾ lower, July $2.42¾, and lard was 3 cents higher to 2 cents a hundred pounds lower, July $11.77.

U.S., Germany Sign Agreement

Bonn to Receive Vast Amounts of Equipment for New Forces

BONN, Germany (AP)— The United States and West Germany today signed a military assistance agreement under which the Germans will receive hundreds of millions of dollars of American equipment for their new armed forces.

* * *

The agreement calls for the United States to provide equipment, materials and services to help West Germany build up the 500,000-man force promised to the Atlantic Alliance.

West Germany in turn pledged that it will use American aid to promote "an integrated defense of the North Atlantic area in accordance with defense plans formulated" by the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

U. S. Ambassador James B. Conant and West German Foreign Minister Heinrich Von Brentano signed the agreement.

The United States will set up a military assistance advisory group in Bonn to supervise the distribution of American weapons.

* * *

The U. S. Embassy, in its announcement, said:

"The agreement follows closely the general pattern of the mutual defense assistance agreements under which the United States is supplying other NATO countries with military assistance pursuant to the Mutual Security Act of 1954."

Avoid the Altar and Live to Be as Old as Gus

PORT ARTHUR (AP)—Be altar shy and live to 105, advises Gus Rodney who claims to be well past the century mark.

He believes he is 105 years old, although the specific day of the year he was born is a mystery to him. But there are many men here in their 70s who remember Gus from their childhood as a full grown man.

Gus likes to talk about the time he nearly got hooked. He regards his escape from matrimony as a major achievement and a prime factor in achieving ripe old age.

"I did know a girl once I sort of had my eye on, but the other eye wandered at the right moment and I got out of that fix," he said.

He attributes the fact he still has his own teeth and a full stock of white hair to his freedom from women.

"Why, you know what a young bride's cooking can do to a good set of teeth," he quipped, "and all those years of worrying wouldn't have done my hair any good either."

Electric Power Use Highest in History

NEW YORK (AP)—The nation used more electricity last week than in any week in history, Edison Electronic Institute reported today.

The institute, trade association of the power companies, said electric output reached a record 10,226,000,000 kilowatthours, topping the former high of 10,047,000,000 kilowatthours set in the week ended Feb. 5.

Industry sources attributed the latest jump in part to heavy air conditioning and refrigeration loads resulting from hot weather in some sections.

The week's record output compared with power production of 9,987,000,000 kilowatthours the preceding week and ran 13.9 per cent ahead of the 8,981,000,000 kilowatthours in the like week a year ago.

Ward's Magazine Predicts Radical Car Designs Soon

DETROIT (AP)—A "radical departure in passenger car design" is forecast by Ward's Automotive Reports in its current issue.

The future models, Ward's said, "are graceful, lower silhouette automobiles with smaller diameter wheels and curved side windows and body panels," and are "being groomed for possible '57 year introduction at some companies."

Mockups of such models already have been ordered by several volume car producers with an eye toward introduction either during or after the next major body shell change."

Ward's says in the new design "the curved windows would require new door design and be mounted flush with the car exterior, thus conforming to its radically new contour."

"An extreme departure in automobile makeup," the publication says, "is perhaps much needed as a sales force in the industry's current "multi-billion dollar expansion program to satisfy the car market of the future."

Governor Signs Water Level Bill

Law Legalizes Sale of Assessment Bonds for Improvements

A bill signed by Governor Williams yesterday to legalize the sale of special assessment bonds to finance lake level improvements may speed up construction projects.

* * *

Lee Kaines, chairman of the Williams Lake water level committee, today hailed the new law as a progressive step.

"Under the stipulations of the law, it will be easier to accomplish lake level work because money will be readily available in bonds," Kaines said.

Under the old law, the county drain commissioner had to get the money from special funds or the budget, he explained.

"The commissioner then had to create a special assessment district. Now the bonds will be picked up by same people who sell highway and pavement bonds on the open market," he added.

* * *

The law provides for a source of cash that can be paid from future tax assessments.

"Not only property owners, but persons just using the lake will benefit over the long run," Kaines said.

Hoover Group Expires Today

Goes Out in Blaze of Controversy Over Power Recommendation

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Hoover Commission wrapped up its 2-year job today embroiled in controversy, but claiming its reorganization plans, if adopted, would balance the budget and permit tax cuts.

Former President Herbert Hoover, its chairman, issued a 19th and "final" report—it isn't quite final because another will be along in mid-July—and prepared to withdraw from public life at age 80.

The group—its formal name is the Commission on Organization of the Executive Branch of the Government—is due to go out of existence at midnight.

The public power issue caused the commission to expire in a blaze of conflict. A Hoover report on "water resources and power" issued yesterday urged a drastic curtailment of federal power development and large scope for private utilities.

It drew sharp dissents from 4 of the 12 members, including both Atty. Gen. Brownell and Defense Mobilizer Arthur S. Fleming.

The commission's task force on water and power, headed by Ben Moreel, chairman of Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp., proposed that all federal electric facilities be sold or leased to private industry except those in the Tennessee Valley Authority which the Atomic Energy Commission might wish to take over.

Ternstedt OKs GM Pact, Vetoes Local Agreement

DETROIT (AP) — Employes of the Flint Ternstedt plant of General Motors Corp. voted yesterday to ratify the national GM labor contract and to end their strike. But they again rejected a local labor agreement.

The votes were taken at a long, heated meeting of the membership of Local 326 of the CIO United Auto Workers.

Ike Cites Gains in Laws on Gas

Says Congress Making Progress for Better Fuel Legislation

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said yesterday at his news conference Congress seems to be making progress toward natural gas legislation that will protect consumers and at the same time encourage exploration for new supplies.

This was as far as the President went toward picking up a challenge by House Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex) to declare his stand on proposals to free natural gas producers from federal controls.

The Senate Commerce Committee has approved such legislation 11-4. The measure it will report favorably to the Senate is identical in most respects to the bill approved by the House Commerce Committee June 6.

The President said the question is how defend the c onsuming public adequately and properly and yet encourage exploration for gas.

The Senate committee approved, with amendments, a bill sponsored by Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark). The amended version, with one difference, is identical to the pending House bill sponsored by Rep. Harris (D-Ark).

Both measures would take away the Federal Power Commission's authority to fix producer prices for gas sold to interstate pipelines.

Famed Leader Cites His Views

Lavalle Believes That Mastering Instruments Absorbs Energy

By PAUL LAVALLE
Conductor Band of America

There would be fewer cases of juvenile delinquency if more boys and girls spent some of their idle time learning to play musical instruments.

This is my firm belief based upon years of experience with young people. I have seen this work in so many cases that I am convinced it can be an important help in solving some of the problems we face today.

If you teach a boy to play "Yankee Doodle" on a flute, he is a new boy. He has something within him which nobody could give him from the outside.

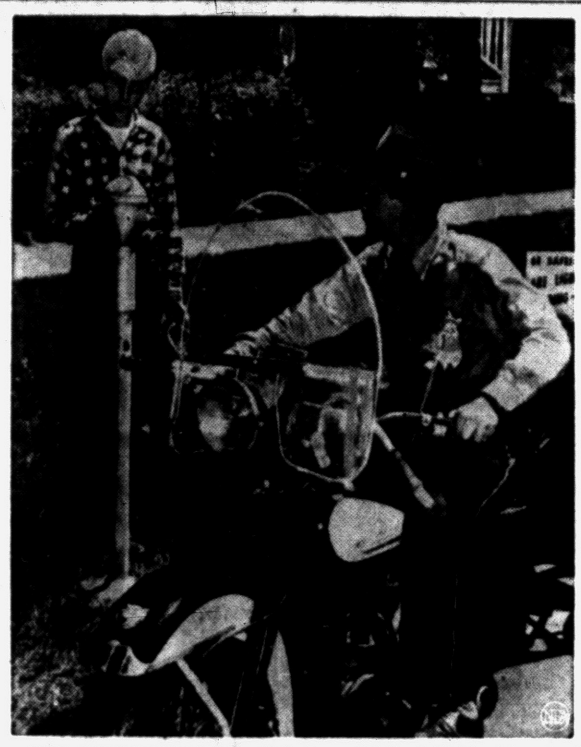

Since starting the Band of America on NBC eight years ago, I have had many contacts with boys' clubs and school organizations. I can recall, too, in my own childhood that when I became interested in a musical instrument, I went to work selling newspapers and doing odd jobs to make the money to buy my own instrument.

GOOD INFLUENCE

A musical instrument absorbs a great deal of their interest and abundant youthful energy, which sometimes goes on the wrong road simply through neglect. Music brings them in contact with other young people through bands, fine organizations and the like.

It is not necessary for boys and girls to take up an instrument with the idea of pursuing a musical career. Just playing for the fun of it, and to be in a group of young people who are doing the same thing, is a healthy and vital activity.

I hope many parents will think seriously about this. While I don't recommend forcing children to learn an instrument, I certainly think that every encouragement should be given to them.

TOO KIND HEARTED — Patrolman Richard Kahl of Lombard, Ill., couldn't explain to the police chief why he gave parking meter tickets to motorists whose time had not run out. Then he found a boy, with a soft heart for car owners, dropping pennies into expired meters: Thomas Poncsko, 13, said he felt sorry for the ticketed motorists. Above, Kahl follows police magistrate's orders to punish Thomas by making him deposit into meters 200 pennies from his own allowance.

Rochester U Coed After 25-Year Split

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (UP) — A quarter century of separate campuses for male and female University of Rochester students will be a thing of the past next fall.

The Women's College of the University has been located three miles from the men's campus. University officials, however, decided that a single co-educational institution was preferable — and there haven't been any cries of anguish from the men, either.

Well, It's a Well but Where's Water

FREDONIA, Ky. (UP) — This small town in western Kentucky badly needs a city waterworks, so the Fredonia Civic Club got busy.

The club quickly collected $200 and hired Al Taylor of Princeton, Ky., to drill a well.

At 120 feet, Taylor found a small vein of water, but not enough to supply the town, so he kept on drilling. At 225 feet, he pulled out the bit—and found it covered with oil.

Another 10 feet down, and the drill came up slick with oil. Two Illinois oilmen who happened to be driving by stopped and after looking over the situation, agreed that Fredonia had an oil well.

Experts say the pool is probably a shallow one, but a small-scale oil boom has started in the vicinity anyway.

Says New Cavity Filler Reduces Tooth Drilling

CHICAGO (UP)—A new method of cavity filling that cuts down on drilling was described to the International Association for Dental Research here.

Dr. M. G. Buonocore of the Eastman Dental Dispensary, Rochester, N. Y., said that by using a specially developed sealing material, the filling can be bound to a flat surface, thus eliminating the drilling involved in making a "dovetail." chor the filling material by pre-

Ordinarily the dentist must anparing a cavity in an inverted cone shape, Buonocore said.

Runs Clean Campaign

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (UP)—Supporters of a candidate for city commissioner washed windshields of autos left parked on city streets. They left tags saying that if the motorist wanted clean government as well as a clean windshield, he should vote for their candidate.
