From Our News Wires
WASHINGTON — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara would consider it "an invasion" if Russia shipped more troops to crush a revolt against Fidel Castro, it was disclosed today.

In previously secret testimony released today, McNamara said if Russia attempted to use the same strategy it need

In Hungary, "I would interpret it as an invasion."

McNamara's reply came in answer to a question by Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La.

In other testimony, McNamara told the House Armed Services Committee that Cuba is using underground caverns to store weapons.

But he says they are not of offensive weapons.

Behind the closed doors of the committee, McNamara lashed out at critics of the Kennedy administration's policy on Cuba, saying they "damn the intelligence community" without knowing much about it.

And he insisted no U. S.-Soviet swap was involved in the decision to replace Jupiter missiles in Turkey and Italy with submarine-borne Polaris missiles.

McNamara's testimony was made public today in a censored transcript of closed hearings held by the committee in January and February.

McNamara said he is convinced the Cubans and their Soviet allies could not have hidden big offensive ballistic missiles in the caves in the Caribbean island.

In testimony given the committee Jan. 30, McNamara said U. S. intelligence has detected five types of missiles still in Cuba, but all are defensive in nature.

This estimate of just how many were on the Communist-ruled island at that time was deleted by the censors.

Asked by Rep. Philip J. Philbin, D-Mass., if it would be possible for Castro to conceal offensive missiles without the United States being aware of it, McNamara said it was possible, but not likely.

"We have a very extensive surveillance," McNamara said. "However, no system of surveillance of the Communist bloc activities can be considered perfect and I don't wish to indicate that ours is perfect."

Charge Russ Fed Secrets to U. S. Attache

Soviets Say Expelled
Aide Made Contacts
With Red Officer

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union charged today a Russian army lieutenant colonel had been feeding government secrets to an attache of the U.S. Embassy.

The spy charge was published in the government newspaper Izvestia.

It said an expelled American embassy security officer had been getting secret information from the Soviet army officer.

The investigation accusation came in a lengthy article about the alleged spying activities of Russell A. Langellen who was ordered out of the country in October 1959 amid Soviet allegations that he had been caught red handed in a meeting with "an American agent" in Moscow.

The newspaper said the Soviet officer had been sentenced long ago. It referred to him only as Lt. Col. P., claiming that his full name was not being given for the sake of his family.

Langellen, who had been an embassy security officer was described by Izvestia as a carful and trained spy who could not be called a "weak enemy."

Waterford Girl Dies After 2-Car Crash

A 16-year-old Waterford Township girl was fatally injured in a two-car collision in Pontiac yesterday.

Jean Ott of 3599 Oakshire Road died at Pontiac General Hospital five-and-a-half hours after the crash on State Street near Washington Street.

Both her sister, Mary, 15, and her mother, Mrs. Wilbur L. Ott, 41, who was driving, were listed in serious condition today at the hospital.

The driver of the other car, Ernest T. Brooks, 24, of Detroit was being held at the county jail for investigation of felonious driving, after being treated for minor injuries.

Witnesses said Brooks' car was over the center line and speeding when it collided with the oncoming Ott car, according to Pontiac police. He refused to make any statement.

Adenauer Rejects Bidault Plea

BONN, Germany (AP) — A spokesman said today Chancellor Konrad Adenauer sent back unanswered a letter from former French Premier Georges Bidault asking for asylum in Germany.

The spokesman said that, under German law, political asylum is a question for local authorities in Bavaria, where Bidault is under police protection.

Because of the political importance of the case, he added, advice had been asked from the interior minister in Bonn. No reply had yet been given, he added.

Bidault, political chief of the French terrorist movement sworn to eliminate President Charles de Gaulle, was located Sunday by German police in a lakeside hide-out near the Swiss border. He made his request for asylum at once.

Adenauer's spokesman, deputy press chief Werner Krueger, said Adenauer had apparently heard in advance what was in Bidault's letter.

"The Chancellor did not accept it," Krueger said.

The discovery of Bidault in Bavaria put a new strain on French-German relations today.

Extradition to France appeared unlikely, since he is wanted on a political charge-treason.

Extradition on political charges is barred by international law.

DUTCHMAN'S HOUSE
Bidault was living in the house of a Dutch magazine writer in the village of Steinbach, on Lake Woertheesee southeast of Munich.

A dozen police officers entered the house before dawn. Bidault, asked for police protection saying he feared attempts on his life.

Bavarian Interior Minister Heinrich Junker said that although Bidault is on a list of undesirable aliens, there are no plans to expel him from Germany immediately, and that his request for asylum will be "carefully studied."

Romney Due at GOP Rally

Gov. George Romney will return to his home county Thursday to help Oakland County Republicans stage what they call "the biggest rally ever held before a spring election."

Romney will speak at a 7:30 p.m. public rally climaxing an entire day of campaigning in the county by GOP candidates for state offices in the April 1 election.

The rally is scheduled at the Birmingham Community House, 380 S. Bates St.

The day will begin for the Republican candidates with a 9 a.m. press conference at Devon Gables in Bloomfield Township.

Campaign stops at factory gates, shopping centers and business sections and visits to county offices, schools, municipal buildings and private residences are included in their day's itinerary.

Raymond M. Hatch, GOP nominee for state superintendent of public instruction, will meet with county school superintendents.

Arthur K. Rouse, candidate for Michigan State University Board of Trustees, and Marshall V. Noecker and Dr. Alfred R. Whitaker, candidates for Wayne State University Board of Governors, will lunch with Oakland University officials.

Circuit judges Raymond G. Smith and Donald E. Holbrook, candidates for the State Supreme Court, will visit the County Courthouse and attend a luncheon held by county judges and attorneys at Pontiac Elks Club.

Romney and William B. Cudlip, candidate for University of Michigan Board of Regents, will join the others at a 5:45 p.m. dinner reception with county Republican leaders at Devon Gables.

Ind. White, candidate for U. M. regent, and James F. O'Neill, nominee for the State Board of Education, will attend the public rally at Birmingham Community House.

Unemployment Called Nation's No. 1 Problem

Urges Quick Action on Tax Cut Proposals and Other Programs

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's administration sent its first annual manpower inventory to Congress today with word that a nation as rich as America should be ashamed to tolerate 6 1/2 per cent unemployment.

Kennedy reported that unemployment is the No. 1 economic problem, a situation wasting lives and unrealized production that could materially increase the nation's living standards and its ability to resist foreign tyranny.

Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz submitted a thick report on manpower resources accompanying Kennedy's own message to Capitol Hill.

Wirtz, meeting newsmen at the White House, said he had already used such words as intolerable, incalculable and outrageous to describe the heavy unemployment levels.

Both the President and Wirtz urged quick action on Kennedy's tax cut proposals and other programs to get the economy moving faster.

LATEST DATA
Latest government data shows 4.2 million unemployed out of a work force of 65.3 million, or a seasonally adjusted unemployment rate of 6.1 per cent, the highest since late 1951.

"There is no excuse for a country as rich as ours to waste 6 per cent of its manpower," Wirtz said. "We ought to be ashamed of ourselves to tolerate a situation like this."

Kennedy said in a statement that for too long now "we have contented ourselves with pious

Bahamian Officials Charge

'8 Cuban Refugees Abducted'

MIAMI (UPI)—A member of the Bahamian Parliament charged today that evidence was found that eight Cuban refugee fishermen were forcibly abducted from an island in the Bahamas.

Bahamian authorities had previously reported that no evidence of the Cubans was found on Elbow Cay, some 30 miles off the coast of Cuba.

Sybil Stevenson said today, however, that he and two other men had inspected the island over the weekend and found "spent Russian ammunition, personal belongings of the fishermen, and Russian-made field equipment."

Stevenson said he was accompanied on the trip by Charles Ashmann, the Miami attorney whose charges that the fishermen were abducted touched off the investigation by the Bahamian government; and H. M. Taylor, chairman of the Progressive Liberal Party in the Bahamas.

The three called a news conference for this afternoon to reveal details of what they found.

House to Vote on New Judgeships?

LANSING—A bill to create two new circuit court judgeships in Oakland County may come up for a vote in the House this week.

The measure is before the House Ways and Means Committee following its discharge Thursday from the House Judiciary Committee.

The bill, which received the support last week of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors, was introduced by Rep. Lloyd L. Anderson, R-Waterford Township.

Anderson is a member of the Ways and Means Committee.

The additional judges were requested by the county's existing five circuit judges.

The judges-cited an ever-increasing case load brought on by a growing population. They also noted a new court procedure required under new court rules—the pretrial conference—required more time and work from circuit judges.

They said two more judges were needed to prevent cases from backlogging further and extending the waiting period before cases can be brought to trial. The waiting period already has reached a year, they said.

Wayne County, where the waiting period is reported to be more than two years, also is seeking additional judges.

A bill similar to Anderson's was introduced in the Senate by Sen. Farrell E. Roberts, R-Oakland County. The measure is now before the Senate Judiciary Committee.

Rep. Henry M. Hogan Jr., R-Bloomfield Township, introduced the bill in the House.

Three jury commissioners would replace township supervisors and city assessors in the two years, was reported favorably out of the House Towns and Counties Committee last week.

Although the County Board of Supervisors requested the original legislation—passed last year—it has not been put into effect.

Supervisors indicated they would try the jury commission system if the law were amended to permit a two-year trial run.

Expect Backing of Jury Commission Change

LANSING — A bill to amend the Jury Commission Act as requested by the Oakland County Board of Supervisors is expected to be passed this week by the House of Representatives. Then it would be sent to the Senate.

The measure, which would reduce the term of jury commissioners from six years to two years, was reported favorably out of the House Towns and Counties Committee last week.

GOP Claims N-Policies Don't Jibe

Say JFK Promise, Geneva Offer Conflict

WASHINGTON (AP) — A group of House Republicans said today President Kennedy's declaration that any nuclear test ban treaty must insure against secret underground tests does not square with the U. S. proposal presented to Russia at Geneva.

"This inconsistency between actual position and described position is a great cause for concern," said Rep. Craig Hosmer of California in a statement issued by the GOP Conference Committee on Nuclear Testing.

Hosmer, the committee chairman, said a U. S. offer made in Geneva last Aug. 27 and still available to the Soviets proposes a treaty banning all underground tests "whether or not cheating could be detected and policed in the low-yield ranges."

But in his press conference last week, Hosmer added, Kennedy said the administration "would not accept a test ban which did not give us every insurance that we could detect a series of tests underground."

COULDN'T BE DETECTED

Hosmer said the atomic energy commission told a joint congressional committee last week that a whole series of tactical and strategic nuclear weapons could be developed by secret underground tests at low-yield levels that cannot be detected by seismic devices.

"Thus, the Kennedy offer is wholly to forgo U. S. testing and advances in all such weapons categories and simply to trust the Soviets to keep their word not to test them and develop them clandestinely underground," said Hosmer.

In Geneva a Russian spokesman claimed today the Soviet Union could conduct secret nuclear tests behind the moon with impunity.

Soviet ambassador Semyon K. Tsarapkin made the statement in the 17-nation disarmament conference to counter American demands for adequate on-site inspection of suspicious air tremors.

"The United States knows very well that the Soviet Union can carry out nuclear explosions on the other side of the moon," Tsarapkin said.

'God's Word' Crashes Into Trailer Camp

MOUNT CLEMENS (UPI) — A self-styled messenger from God crashed his speeding car into a crowded trailer camp yesterday to demonstrate to camp residents "the wickedness of not going to church."

The impact demolished the car and severely damaged four trailers, but no one was seriously injured.

The driver of the car, Jacob Rubrich, 29, suffered only a bump on the head despite the fact that the car was going 80 miles an hour when it smashed into the trailers. When arrested by Macomb County deputies, Rubrich raised his hand and greeted officers with the words, "Peace for God."

Later, it took five guards to subdue him at a hospital where he was taken for examination.

Rubrich's car was traveling about 80 miles per hour when it crashed into the Blue Skies Trailer Court in Harrison Township, authorities said. The car hit four trailers, and Sheriff Lester Almstadt said it was a miracle none of the eight persons in the trailers was seriously injured.

BUMP ONLY INJURY

Although his car was demolished, Rubrich suffered only a bump on the head.

"God told me to go down there and wake those people up and get them to church," he told deputies. One woman, Mrs. Dorothy Newport, 43, was treated at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital here for a back injury. Seven other persons, a 23-month-old infant among them, was shaken up. They refused treatment.

Superintendent Quits Birmingham Schools

Birmingham Schools Supt. Otis M. Dickey, 47, has resigned, effective the end of the school year to go into college teaching.

Dickey, superintendent since 1960, expressed "much regret" at leaving the $18,000-a-year position.

However, in a formal statement, he said, "It is now my feeling and conviction that I can serve the cause of education better in a position wherein I can spend more of my time and energy in working more closely with students and/or staff."

Administrative assistant Walter Piel put part of the blame for Dickey's resignation on parental pressures caused by school district boundary disputes.

Some residents in the Harlan Elementary School area have vigorously protested the superintendent's plan under which Harlan students would attend Berkshire Junior High School and Grove High School instead of closer Derby and Seaholm schools.

Some have complained that restricting will cause their children to spend an extra 500 hours on school buses.

Dickey has said that educational benefits derived from the move outweigh travel inconveniences.

Harlan parents walked out on a Feb. 27 board meeting when the board's decision to postpone action on the matter was announced.

Dickey was hired to a three-year contract in 1960 when Dwight B. Ireland resigned, after 18 years as superintendent, because of school board interference.

Piel stressed the fact that this was not the case this time.

Mrs. Peter Loomis, school board president, said today that the board is "extremely sorry" about Dickey's resignation and has been "very pleased" with his work.

"He has brought many improvements to the Birmingham School District," she noted.

Dickey was assistant superintendent of schools in Groesbeek Point prior to his appointment in Birmingham.

The commissioners would use voter registration lists to pick names for jury duty and would give jury prospects a preliminary screening of qualifications and ability to serve.

Under the present system, township supervisors and city assessors submit jury lists prepared from tax rolls to the county clerk.

There is no preliminary screening of jurors before they report to the presiding circuit judge for screening at the beginning of a jury term.

Proponents of the new system claim it would upgrade the quality of jurors, make more citizens subject to jury duty, and assure an adequate number of jurors.

The present system has been criticized as restricting the number of potential jurors, causing some citizens to be picked repeatedly for jury duty, and leading to a patronage system in which township supervisors pick retired or unemployed friends to serve at the $8-a-day jury fee.

Some rural supervisors claimed the new system is not needed, but it received support from the County Bar Association, judges and courthouse officials.

Unveil Plans for $40-Million Games Facility

DETROIT (UPI) — Plans for a $40-million Olympic facility which will be described by Gov. George Romney and Mayor Jerome Cavanagh at New York next week, were unveiled over the weekend.

Topping the plans was an already announced $25-million Olympic stadium which would have 100,000 seat capacity.

Also included in the plan are swimming facilities expansion, construction of a special rowing course to be built inland to avoid tricky Detroit River currents and a pistol range.

Romney and Cavanagh will head a Detroit Olympic committee presentation party March 18 in New York. The plans will be offered to the U. S. Olympic committee which will review bids, by five cities.

Dickey was assistant superintendent of schools in Groesbeek Point prior to his appointment in Birmingham.

Man Is Injured as Truck Strikes I-75 Guard Rail

An Independence Township man was injured when his pickup truck veered out of control on I-75 and crashed through a guard rail near the Walden Road interchange Saturday afternoon.

Kenneth Joseph, 39, of 6900 Cranberry Road, was listed in fair condition today at Pontiac General Hospital. He has a possible concussion.

Sheriff's deputies were uncertain what caused the accident in the northbound lane. Joseph, who was alone in the truck, has been unable to make any statement.

Six in Automobile Killed by Collision With Train

FROM OUR NEWS WIRES
TUNNEL CITY, Wis.—Alerted by the train whistle, Mrs. Allan Glendland out of the window of her home — then froze in horror.

"I saw a car go under the train and I wanted to scream, saw bodies flying," Mrs. Lind was describing the accident which took six lives at a railroad crossing.

Three persons were hurled from the car onto Mrs. Lind's front yard. The train carried the car nearly 2,000 feet toward the mouth of a tunnel for which this community is named.

When it stopped, three other bodies were found in the wreckage.

Authorities said Mrs. Helen Sherwood, 35, of Warren, waited at one crossing until a south-bound Milwaukee Road passenger train had passed, then drove slowly about 150 yards onto parallel tracks of the North Western Road and into the path of a northbound passenger train en route from Chicago to Mankato, Minn.

Bloomfield Hills Board Battles Bus Legislation

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — A bill of 1971 Yosemite Road, was proposed bill in the state legislature concerning bus transportation to public and private schools in Bloomfield Hills Co., with burial in Accadia Park Cemetery under auspices of Birmingham Lodge No. 44, F&AM.

At a joint meeting of the board of education and PTA members Saturday, it was agreed to carry their battle against the bill to the district taxpayers.

The bill would force all Michigan school districts to transport or pay for the transportation of the district's school students to the nearest public or nonpublic school not to be more than eight miles from the district boundary.

Supt. of Schools Eugene L. Johnson noted that there are some 1,000 students from the district attending nonpublic schools.

"We would be hauling to Pontiac, Royal Oak and possibly to University of Detroit High School in Detroit," he said.

ESTIMATES COST

He estimated that this would cost an additional $216,000 or over half the total of the bill's proponents say it will cost the state as a whole.

He warned taxpayers that passage of this bill might necessitate the purchase of 20 extra buses, and might force the board to request a two-mill tax increase.

Transportation costs currently comprise five per cent of the district's school budget, he said.

If this bill is passed, costs will be increased to 14 per cent, he warned.

Johnson urged taxpayers to write their representatives on the House and Senate education committees in opposition to the bill.

He noted that the board of education will distribute literature to residents explaining the bill and the problems it would create.

Unemployment Troubles U. S.

statements about the waste of our human resources.

"With the issuance of this report," the President said, "we have committed ourselves to a national policy designed to provide all Americans with the opportunity to develop and use their talents and energies to the maximum of which they are capable."

The President said the economy is growing steadily more efficient but is progressively failing to supply the jobs to occupy a fast-expanding population and work force.

"We cannot accept this situation," Kennedy said in again urging on his tax cut proposals and other programs advanced to spur economic growth and job expansion.

"It is within our power to take these steps," he said, "to consummate an achievement of such magnitude as to mark this decade for all time in the history of human progress."

Kennedy submitted his message to Congress along with a comprehensive Labor Department inventory of manpower resources and their utilization since World War II and forecasts of what is likely to happen in the future.

At the rate the economy is going, he said, unemployment will rise by 1967 to 5.5 million, or 7 per cent of the work force.

Among other things, the President reported:

-In the 15-year period 1947-62, the labor force increased 21 per cent but unemployment increased only 17 per cent, with consequently rising unemployment.

-Nonfarm employment rose an average $60,000 a year in the 1947-57 decade, but since then has been rising less than $50,000 a year, or as Kennedy said, at a rate "not nearly enough to keep up."

In 1962 alone, time lost — because of average 4 million unemployed and because some 2.7 million workers wanted full-time employment but found only part-time work — amounted to a waste of a billion potential work days.

Kennedy said this was equivalent to shutting down all production in the nation for over three weeks.

-For each of the past five years the rate of unemployment has been 6.5 per cent or more. Last month it turned up to 6.1 per cent of the work force.

"Unemployment is our No. 1 economic problem," Kennedy told Congress. "It wastes the lives of men and women, depriving both them and the nation."

Expel PCH Players

Two Pontiac Central High School basketball players were expelled from school today as a result of Saturday night's game at Pontiac Northern High School.

Central Principal Francis W. Staley said he expelled Lester Hardman, 18-year-old forward, and McKinley Jones, 19-year-old center, for misconduct at the game.

Hardman was removed from Northern High School by Pontiac police officers after he scuffled with the mother of two opposing players. She was unhurt.

"He was very unhappy because of a foul called and made a big issue out of it—went more or less berserk," Principal Staley said.

Staley wasn't at the game, but said he got a full report from Asst. Principal Donald McMullen who was present.

"I understand that Jones de-late after summer school. Jones, a junior, is the son of Wade Jones, 361 Western St.

In an ensuing ruckus over the game won by Pontiac Northern players, a window was smashed at MacDonald's Drive-in restaurant at 810 N. Perry Street near the school.

Municipal Judge Maurice P. Dineen today ordered Donald Meyer, 17, of 77 W. Fairmont and Lonnie Anderson, 15, of 419 Howard McNeill St., to make restitution or face sentencing March 20.

Three juveniles apprehended at the scene for using profane language were strongly reprimanded and warned by police in the presence of their parents.

Rochester Teachers to Get Raise

Will Request Mill Hike for Schools

ROCHESTER — Following several months of study — by the school board, the teachers' association and a citizens group — the board voted Saturday to request a four-mill increase and give the teachers a raise of about $600.

Meeting in special session, the school board also agreed to request renewal of a three-mill tax which expired last December.

Voters will decide the millage hike issue in a special May 4 election.

If approved, the proposition will mean a tax rate four mills higher than the amount district residents paid this year, or $29.40 per $1,000 of assessed valuation as state equalized, assuming all locations from the county remain the same.

For the average district home owner, assessed at about $3,000, the tax increase will amount to approximately $27 should the request receive voter approval.

A proposed 4.5-mill increase was rejected by district voters 2 to 1 last June.

Funds from the tax hike would be used "largely to cover teacher salaries," School Supt. Donald C. Baldwin said today. "A very minor portion" would go to principals and certain specific service personnel, he added.

In addition to deciding on the four-mill request, the school board agreed on a teacher's salary schedule, very similar to the one considered at last Tuesday's meeting with the Citizens' School Study Group.

Under terms of the new pay scale teachers with four-year degrees will begin at $4,900, which is a $33 raise. The maximum for those with bachelor's degrees is boosted from $7,120 to $7,722. This is reached after 12 years.

TOP PAY OF $8,138

Those with master's degrees, presently starting at $4,850 will begin at $5,200. They will receive a top pay of $8,138 after 12 years, as contrasted to their present maximum wage of $7,370.

The average annual increments will run from 4.1 per cent to 5.5 for those with bachelor's degrees and from 4.1 per cent to 5.2 for those with master's degrees.

"The average increase will run around $600," Baldwin said today.

Although some discussion of next year's budget was completed at the meeting, it was decided that the final tentative budget will be submitted at the March 18 meeting.

The total adjustment approved in teachers' salaries amounts to some $166,000.

Election Day Drive Slated by Tax Foes

SOUTHFIELD (U) — The Vigilance Tax Committee decided Saturday to hold its final petition signatures drive in the Detroit suburban area on Election Day, April 1.

The committee, an organization of suburban communities officials, needs 28,000 new signatures to force legislative action or get a state referendum on city income taxes applying to non-residents.

The group opposes such taxes, Detroit's in particular.

Farmington Schools Eye Record Budget

FARMINGTON — A record school budget of nearly $5 million for the Farmington School District will be considered for approval tonight by the board of education.

The budget as prepared by Supt. Gerald V. Harrison calls for a total expenditure of $4,889,917. This is some three-quarters of a million dollars higher than the last school year budget.

Harrison insisted that the budget is merely a continuation of present operations reflecting the district's growth at a rate of 1,000 students per year.

He noted that it does include board-approved teacher salary increases and an expansion of staff to facilitate the opening of two new schools designed to handle the growth in student population.

More than three-fourths of the budget is earmarked for teachers' and administrators' salaries.

School officials indicate that the record expenditure can be met without an increase in the present operating tax base.

They base this on an estimated $2.5 million increase in state equalized valuation for the school district.

Six Jesuit Brothers to Pronounce Vows

SPRINGFIELD TOWNSHIP — Six young men, brothers of the Society of Jesus, will pronounce perpetual vows of poverty, chastity and obedience at Colomiere College here March 19.

Rev. Ara F. Walker, S.J., rector of the seminary, will hear the vows of Brothers Carl Bonk of Detroit; Alex Hayes of Warren; Antony Kreutzjans of Fort Wright, Ky.; Robert Lane of Parma, Ohio; Peter Maurer of Rising Sun, Ind.; and John Petrus of Painesville, Ohio.

After taking their vows, they will depart for a Millard, Ohio, novitiate to continue their training as Jesuit brothers.

PTA Plans Talk, Election

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — A talk on wills and election of officers for the 1963-64 school year will highlight tomorrow night's meeting of the Scotch Elementary School PTA.

Speaker will be Birmingham attorney John Gilray. His topic will be "Legal Protection of Children and Parents' Wills."

Gilray also will discuss trust and tax aspects. A question and answer period will follow.

The 8 p.m. session will be held in the activities room of the school, 3819 Commerce Road.

Announcement is made of the engagement of Judy Beth Hamilton to Airman 1 C. Fred Bird by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roland R. Hamilton, 286 Thienken Road, Avon Township. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bird, 130 Orion Terrace, Orion Township. No date has been set for the wedding.

Officials Face Court Hearing

Due to Show Cause on Reducing Lot Sizes

TROY — City officials have an April 1 date in Oakland County Circuit Court to show why an injunction should not be issued against their enforcement of a zoning ordinance amendment.

The amendment establishes smaller minimum lot sizes for residential property.

The show cause hearing was ordered by Circuit Judge Stanton G. Dondero after six land developers who protested the Feb. 25 adoption of the amendment took their case to court.

The developers, who own some 280 acres in Troy and who want even smaller lot sizes, charge that the City Commission's passage of the amendment by a 4-3 vote was invalid.

Their suit cites a state law requiring a three-fourths majority vote by the commission to adopt an amendment when property owners representing more than 20 per cent of the frontage affected register a protest.

PROTEST PRESENTED

A written protest was presented to city commissioners before they passed the amendment. The developers claim the protest was signed by property owners representing more than 20 per cent of the frontage in the R-1B zoning classification.

57 PER CENT

The 43 vote approving the amendment was only a 57 per cent vote in favor, they point out.

They charged that city commissioners passed the zoning change after the city attorney advised them to disregard the written protest.

Plaintiffs in the court action are Quality Construction Co., Alto Building Co., Rock Construction Co., Brookdale Homes, Inc., Harpe Homes, Inc., Lawrence L. Kaplan and Christine Building Co.

The new zoning stems from a State Supreme Court decision in September that a half-acre minimum lot size was "unreasonable" and therefore illegal.

Electorate in 12 Area Villages Cast Official Ballots Today

Residents of 12 area villages will choose local officials today in contests ranging from Clarkston's endorsement of an unchallenged slate to a battle of 10 candidates for Rochester's five council vacancies.

The electorate of Dryden, Leonard, Metamora, Oxford and Milford — like that of other villages with elections today — will be going to the polls until 8 p.m.

Other communities casting ballots include Wood Creek Farms, Romeo and Orionville. Unopposed in Holly for a one-year term as president is incumbent John F. Oldani.

Also unchallenged for a term of one year are Clerk George Patterson, Treasurer Hilda Anderson and Assessor Grant Hulet, all incumbents.

Candidates for the three two-year trustee vacancies are Aaron Ganshaw and Clarence Lester, incumbents, and Lott W. Everly, 839 Elm St.

Everly's nomination in the Feb. 18 primary eliminated incumbent Fred Disbrow.

All those on Holly's ballot are members of the Union Party. In Lake Orion, the Citizens Party candidate for president, incumbent Irvine J. Unger, is being challenged for a one-year term by Village Party Candidate Robert Stokes, 421 Lake St.

Incumbent Clerk Mrs. Mary Parkinson and Assessor Mrs. Geraldine Storey, both members of the Citizens Party, are unopposed for one-year terms.

Vying for the treasurer's one-year term are incumbent Mrs. Geraldine J. Campbell (C) and Mrs. Margaret Iles (V), 84 North Shore Drive.

Six men are competing for the three council vacancies, all two-year positions.

Representing the Citizens Party are Robert Hauxwell and Gilbert Woodcock, incumbents, and Thomas Arthur, 41 N. Andrews St.

Challenging them will be Michael LaMagna, 111 W. Church St.; Stewart Draher, 244 N.

Washington St.; and G. Eugene Thompson, 84 N. Shore Drive. All three are members of the Village Party.

The eight candidates running for four regular expiring council terms in Rochester include two incumbents, Village President Roy Rewold and John A. Boeritz. They are being challenged by Jerry L. Dahlmann, 220 Helen St.; James E. McCarthy, 593

Romeo Road; Harold Milton, 1002 Mahaffy St.; Owen Smith, 760 Lounsbury St.; Kenneth C. Van Nocker, 411 Wilcox St.; and Earl G. Van Norman, 1353 Catalpa St.

The fifth council opening arises from recent resignation of attorney Roscoe R. Martin. Vying for the year remaining in Martin's term are appointee Neil Resso and John E. O'Donnell, 1216 Sycamore St.

NEWS OF THE AREA

Two Women to Discuss Both Sides of Constitution

TROY — A citywide meeting for residents of Troy to discuss the proposed new state Constitution is slated for 7:30 p.m. Thursday at Troy High School.

Two women speakers will present pros and cons of the new document.

Speaking in favor of the adoption of the constitution, to be voted on in an April 1 election, will be Mrs. Kay Hillinger of Birmingham, president of the Birmingham League of Women Voters. She has been active in civic affairs, including PTA, and work for the child guidance clinic.

Miss Adelaide Hart of Detroit, a vice president of the constitutional convention, former school teacher and, for the past 12 years, vice chairman of the State Democratic Party, will present her case against adoption of the new constitution.

Miss Hart has been active in the movement for defeat of the new document.

The program is being conducted under sponsorship of the Commission on Christian Social Concerns of the Troy Methodist Church. It is open to the public.

A question and answer period will follow the talks.

Set Discussion on Constitution

2 Delegates to Speak at Junior High School

COMMERCE TOWNSHIP — A discussion of the proposed state constitution will be held Thursday at the Clifford Smart Junior High School, Union Lake and Commerce Roads.

Speaking will be con-con delegates J. Don Lawrence, R-Ypsilanti, and Katherine Kuhlman, D-Deerborn. Both favor adoption of the document in the April 1 election.

Moderator will be Kenneth Treacy.

Mrs. Milton Parrish, president of the Walled Lake Chamber of Commerce, and Mrs. James Campton, president of the school PTA, are co-hosts for the program, sponsored by the Oakland County Non-partisan Committee for the New Constitution.

The committee is composed of 20 volunteer organizations working for an informed vote on the constitution.

The program will begin at 8 p.m.

It Seems to Me . . .

U.S. City for Olympic Games Will Be Chosen Next Monday

One week from today, Michigan will learn her fate on the Olympic Games at a final conference in New York. Each U.S. city seeking the big contests will appear before the international tribunal and make its last pitch.

The matter was settled once. Detroit was tapped.

But Los Angeles blew a fuse and refused to accept the official verdict, and the ensuing tempest resulted in reopening the whole matter. People in this area are properly incensed at this dog-in-the-manger attitude on the part of Los Angeles and California. A travesty like this has never happened before, and California has lost caste and face in the universal league of gentlemen.

Oakland County has a big stake in the proceeding. If the games were awarded to America, it means we'd have these magnificent Olympics right in our own back yard—or at least, a scant mile or so from our southern border. Many area citizens are already working on the big over-all committee, and if the games come our way, there will be many Oakland additions to the preliminary group.

Oakland County's 800,000-plus population could actually sit in the official Olympic stadium, see the greatest athletes in the world and return home for dinner at the usual hour.

That's a thrill. And we appreciate it.

Speculative Tidbit . . .

If you want to ruminate over an especially speculative tidbit, I quote an innuendo from the cloak rooms in Washington.

When The Saturday Evening Post article put the finger on Adlai Stevenson as the boy who was trying to soft-pedal the Cuban ultimatum, the President leaped to his defense. This raised eyebrows. Adlai's no "fair-haired prodigy."

The cognoscenti were puzzled, but now they think they've uncovered the secret angle. ADLAI has mentioned himself rather fondly as a candidate for the governorship of Illinois. And, as you probably know, papa KENNEDY has figured that one of the President's brothers-in-law should be whisked into this convenient spot. And that means ADLAI's hopes must be shelved.

Hence, the K family wants to "get along" with him to make sure he steps aside gracefully so that they can grease the skids for another Kennedy to slide into the governmental trough.

Unverified.
Unverified.
Simple?

This Cuban Mess . . .

Our government in Washington hasn't solved the Cuban situation to the satisfaction of anyone anywhere.

People are becoming more restive and that includes our own hemisphere. Central and South America can't be expected to exhibit much resistance to Communist blandishments when we stand idly by and suck our thumb as the Russians prance about to suit themselves. Are we going to leave 10,000 Russian troops permanently in Cuba? Are we? Are we going to nurture a permanent basis for Communist activities within 90 miles of our own shores?

What about the Monroe Doctrine?

Do we abandon it?

The people of the United States will interpret a permanent Russian stronghold in Cuba as nothing but complete defeat for President JOHN F. KENNEDY and the U.S. JFK can't possibly "explain" this to anyone's satisfaction. Last October he made his country—and himself—standouts in the whole world through his "or else" announcement.

But since then, our international stock and his own have sunk to a pretty low estate. We're getting pushed all over the map. Khrushchev has resumed telling us what he is going to do and that we'll have to like it or lump it. So we lump it.

Good Advice . . .

I give a very high rating to the anonymous advice which runs as follows:

"No rewards are handed out for cooperating merely with the people we like. It's cooperating with the stinkers that counts."

And in Conclusion . . .

Jottings from the well-thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter:

Temple University, Philadelphia, has 31,000 students, and the president predicts 50,000 by 1975. They've completed $28 million in campus buildings in the last 10 years alone, and there's another $26 million "in the mill." This is precisely what Oakland University can anticipate in the years ahead. . . . TEO SMITHS, AP sports editor, tells me LASTON PATTERSON tickets are moving so slowly, he half expects to see the thing transferred up north. . . . He (the morning after): "Quiet, everybody! And make the fool cat quit stamping on that rug."

"CUB" MATTHEWS tells me that he agrees with the Chevy report about white as the favorite color for the 1963 models. He says it rejects heat the best of all colors.

I can't prove it, but I'll bet a sugar cookie our vacillating policy in Cuba has harmed us more in Latin America than all the financial aid has done good. . . .

Purely personal nomination for an especially attractive young lady in the area: Karen Vanderkloot. (And incidentally, her grandpa was President of General Motors.) . . . There's a strong plan afoot to give Los Angeles pay TV in 1964. Both pro football and baseball teams are interested. . . . Overheard: "I can hardly wait until I get old enough to go out with those younger girls."

It may surprise you to learn the new edition of the Encyclopedia Britannica is sufficiently up-to-the-minute to include mention of Oakland University (but under the former name).

David Lawrence Says:

Coup Isn't Impossible in Cuba

WASHINGTON — Many people who lately have cherished hopes for an early liberation of Cuba must have had a sinking feeling when they read a news dispatch from Santo Domingo the other day stating some "Western diplomats" arriving from Havana saw little chance of a revolution against Castro.

They reported, moreover, that the Soviets had effectively trained the Castro army to squelch any uprising.

But this is an unrealistic view. It is not borne out by the facts of history. For out of the hundred or more revolutions in Latin America in the last half century, rarely indeed has an uprising involved large military forces on both sides.

It is probably true there is today no armed force in Cuba secretly organized which could oust Castro.

But a look at past revolutions, not only in this hemisphere but in other parts of the world, will remind us that the most successful "revolution" is the one that arises from within and is usually described by the French phrase "coup d'etat."

The word "revolution" usually suggests a war between two armies inside a country. But in modern times, even in a country of vast area, it is seldom possible to establish a military organization of any size without running the risk of defeat in the initial stages.

A "coup d'etat," however, is different. Inside the army, or the navy or the air force, there gradually develops a revolutionary "underground." It stays loyal on the surface but waits for the propitious moment to strike.

They are armed only with weapons they can pick up and run with, or easily hide: small mortars; bazookas, burp guns and explosives.

Missions are being stepped up. Speaking of war, there is little likelihood of any conflict emerging from the dispute between France and Brazil over lobsters. Gen. de Gaulle has sent a few warships to protect the French lobster fleet now operating miles off the Brazilian coast.

Brazil has made sounds of a menacing nature.

Lobsters have begun to loom big in the Brazilian economy. Exports to the U.S. have trebled to more than $3-million annually in the past three years.

France recently launched 60 fishing trawlers, freezer-equipped and with sufficient range to cross the Atlantic. Some of these are the cause of the current dispute.

But it won't get anywhere because of a most involved point of law.

Did the lobster just now hauled aboard the French lobster boat swim 30 miles from the Brazilian shore line? Or did he walk it? If he swam it, the more loyal to its monarch than the czar's troops prior to the revolt in 1918?

Yet it was in the middle of World War I that this same czarist army went over suddenly and almost in its entirety to the revolutionary cause, and the czar was put to death.

Voice of the People:

'Why Doesn't Government Eliminate Many Frills?'

The Administration is waxing indignant again at the mere suggestion of a budget cut. The President asks, "Are we to cut the school lunches, ADC, our veterans' hospitals?"

No, Mr. President, but why not cut a few hundred public relations experts who are paid by the taxpayers to present the First Family in the best possible light?

Or the $40,000 spent for a swimming pool in the old Senate Office Building plus the yearly salary of $24,539 for maids? Let the senators jump in the lake like the rest of us if they need a swim.

These and a few hundred other things are what we mean when we suggest a little economy in government, but politicians only think of essentials when the tired citizen suggests a little less spending and a little more common sense.

'Equal Is Equal'

The Pittsburgh Press

Rep. Adam Clayton Powell uses the traditional defense of the small boy coming home with a bad report card. He's no worse than a lot of others.

Sure his wife, who lives in Puerto Rico, is on the government payroll, but hundreds of others in Congress also have relatives on the payroll.

As to home district pet projects at taxpayers' expense, virtually all congressmen have the same and many of them are useless.

Certainly he used government funds to pay night club bills in Paris. You don't spend all your time at Notre Dame Cathedral.

And as to junkets in general, there were at least 400 congressional junkets abroad last year.

In defending his right to follow these practices Mr. Powell says "equal is equal" and, as a member of Congress, he is as good as anyone else. He's not, in all modesty, claim to be better than anyone else.

One might have hoped that as the first member of the Negro race to achieve such high position in the national legislature, particularly since he is a member of the clergy, he might have set a better example.

There's no question the abuses of privilege which he cites are widespread though far from as general as he intimates. Maybe now, in the face of this brazen challenge, Congress will act.

Junior Editors Quiz on TANKS

QUESTION: Why are some army tanks called Patton tanks?

ANSWER: Tanks are armored vehicles with mounted guns, and were developed by the British during World War I. The British wanted to keep this invention a secret, and at first claimed they were merely "tanks" for carrying water.

After the innocent-looking water tanks started spouting bullets, people still called them "tanks."

George Smith Patton was a capable and aggressive American officer who had made a study of the use of cavalry. He saw in the development of the tank a continuation of the cavalry idea, that of fast attack across a battlefield.

He had battle experience with tanks in World War I and, in World War II, used tanks in Sicily. But Patton's great opportunity came when he commanded the U.S. 3rd Army in the successful Allied drive across France in 1944.

It was in Gen. Patton's honor that the model M-46 tank was named. This model was built during World War II and used afterwards in the Korean campaign.

Patton's name seemed appropriate for a tank because of his reputation for driving ahead over obstacles.

FOR YOU TO DO: Read the story of the Allied sweep across France in 1944 so you will further understand the part played by Gen. Patton and the tanks.

Admits Slaying Wife When Booby Trap Fails

NEW YORK (UPI) — Police said a jealous husband confessed yesterday he rigged a shotgun booby trap behind the driver's seat of the family car, then pulled the trigger to kill his teen-aged wife when the mechanism failed to work.

The woman was killed Saturday when shotgun pellets tore through the driver's seat into her back. Detectives said Pasquale Dellerose, 27, set up the shotgun in the rear seat of the car after overhearing a telephone conversation in which his wife Gloria, 19, told a girl friend, "I've got to hang up now and call one of my old boy friends."

Wire hangers held the weapon in place and a venetian blind cord attached to the trigger was to fire the gun when Mrs. Dellerose moved the front seat forward as she usually did after getting in to drive.

FAKED INJURY

When the shotgun failed to fire on a shopping trip, Dellerose told police he feigned a back injury and asked her to drive him on an errand.

The gun again failed to go off and police said Dellerose pulled the trigger, killing his wife as she parked the car.

Dellerose told detectives he feared his wife planned to have him sent to a hospital, but he did not elaborate. He also told them he believed his wife would go back to a former suitor.

Earlier, police had questioned Mrs. Dellerose's former fiancé, who had been engaged to her prior to her marriage two years ago.

Bandit Starts Gun Battle at Airport

NEW ORLEANS (U) — Broke and desperate, Robert F. Northrup decided to pull a holdup.

Frustrated, he shot a clerk, touching off a gun battle with police in front of about 100 spectators, in the lobby of the bustling New Orleans International Airport.

A deputy sheriff was wounded before Northrup, 35, a former mental patient from Miami, Fla., threw down his 44-caliber magnum revolver and fell on the floor, faking wounds.

The clerk, Patricia Yokum, 38, and the deputy, Eno St. Pierre, 52, are in fair condition. Mrs. Yokum was wounded in the chest. St. Pierre in the leg.

Mrs. Yokum was working in an insurance booth in the lobby when Northrup walked up and handed her a note demanding money.

As the woman bent down, apparently to get money for him, witnesses said, Northrup opened fire.

SUSPECTED CROSS

He didn't think she was reaching for money.

"She wouldn't give me any money, so I shot her," he said later.

Northrup bolted and ran. A deputy sheriff ran in through the ticket entrance. More shots cracked out.

Witnesses said at least 11 shots were fired — five by the holdup man and six by officers.

"All of a sudden," Rutherford said, "the gunman spun around and played dead. He threw his gun down and lay on the ground as if hit."

Northrup wasn't wounded.

"These cops started shooting at me," he told officers. "I put down my gun. You think I'm crazy?"

Northrup was charged with attempted murder, aggravated battery and attempted robbery.

Northrup, slim, placid-faced and dark, expressed concern for the wounded deputy.

"I hope that cop didn't die," he said. "Man, I'll never shoot another cop again."

Earth Tremors Felt Southwest of LA

LOS ANGELES (U) — Thirty years to the day after the 1933 earthquake which killed 121 persons, the ground began to sway again.

But this time it trembled only enough to awaken sleepers in a few coastal communities southwest of Los Angeles. No damage was reported.

The 1933 quake was centered in the Long Beach area, and caused more than $75 million worth of damage.

Last night, on the anniversary, a weak quake hit Torrance, Inglewood, Redondo Beach, Hermosa Beach, Lomita and Manhattan Beach. The Torrance police got 200 calls from worried residents. But 10 miles away, in Long Beach, the quake wasn't even felt.

The Rockefeller Foundation appropriated $3,200,000 for fellowships and scholarships during 1962.

Controversy Rages Over Coal Mining Issues

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Pennsylvania coal that once fueled the nation's furnaces now feeds the flames of economic unrest and political controversy. Coal and the men who ran the companies that dug it out of the earth dominated Pennsylvania's economy and its social and political life for the better part of the last century.

Now, the stewardship of "king coal" court has become a subject of strident issue.

Its payroll has dropped from about 400,000 men to about 50,000.

Many economists and political leaders blame the industry's leaders for discouraging diversification of the economy to offset the time, now arrived, when coal no longer can provide for the people in the coal regions.

The regions' scarred earth, man-made hills of coal refuse, towns blackened with coal dust, streams turned rust-colored from pollution, have become painfully obvious now that the enchantment with the king has faded.

The conservationists' cries for stricter regulations now have recruited once indifferent voices to their chorus.

STRIP MINING
The focus of their attack is strip mining, a relative infant in the industry but a method whose mutilation of the landscape is so obvious as to lend itself naturally to attack.

Pennsylvania's new governor, William W. Scranton, stepped into the middle of this controversy last week when he made a personal tour of soft coal strip mining areas in central and Western Pennsylvania.

He has pledged stronger controls for the industry and his proposal for the current Pennsylvania Legislature is now in the final stages of preparation.

Strip mining grew rapidly during World War II because of the demand for coal to fuel the nation's war machine.

When competing fuels out of coal's market to pieces after the war, strip mining picked up an increasing share of the remains.

At present, about one-third of the soft coal and almost half of the hard coal or anthracite, is strip mined.

STRIP THE EARTH
To get at the coal, the miner scrapes away the earth cover.

The result is a long, open wound in the landscape. Moreover, rain-water washes over exposed coal and turns acid. When it reaches streams and rivers, they turn the color of rust. Aquatic life, including fish, disappears.

A law passed in 1945 and gradually strengthened since then requires stripminers to restore to the open pits a measure of the earth removed, the amount of restoration depending upon the proximity to built-up areas, to dress up the remaining piles of earth and to plant new vegetation before leaving the mine site after the coal is removed.

They also are required to provide that drainage will not pollute streams.

Conservationists, mostly sportsmen, claim these regulations are not enough and are loosely enforced. The industry contends that pollution is exaggerated and temporary, that reclamation of the land is adequate under the present law, and that further restoration work would wipe out their profit margin and bankrupt them.

Geological factors complicate the issue. In the soft coal fields, the seams generally are deeper, underground as you move from western to central Pennsylvania. That means it costs more to get the coal out and more to refill the open pit.

"The variation in conditions between the central sections and the western counties is greater than I realized," Scranton commented, "which makes it more difficult to establish legislation that is applicable to every area, especially as to detail."

The coal regions are economically distressed areas and strip mining means jobs whatever the damage to the scenery. "Don't think for a moment, governor, that we think spoil piles or strip mine cuts are pretty," publisher William K. Ulerich of Scranton. Clearfield County in central Pennsylvania is the most heavily strip-mined area of the state. The industry provides 2,700 jobs, whereas the payroll of the county's 20 other leading employers has dropped to 2,000.

"When kids are hungry," Ulerich said, "and their mothers are ashamed to send them to Sunday School because they don't have neat clothes to wear, aesthetic values fade into the background."

Sportsmen claim the industry is crying wolf when it says it can't afford to replace more of the earth shovels aside to get at the coal.

Scranton agrees with their assessment of the state's tourist potential without necessarily expressing agreement with their complaints about the stripping industry.

Car Careens Downhill, Rans Diplomat's Auto

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—An automobile careening downhill out of control Sunday sideswiped a car carrying Earl Mountbatten, chief of Britain's National Defense Council. The runaway auto then plowed into a police patrol car, overturning it.

Mountbatten, who is on a Latin American tour, was unhurt. The driver of the runaway auto and two policemen in the car guarding the earl were injured.

Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt Says:

Smallpox Remains Dormant Threat to U.S.

Would you deliberately expose yourself to smallpox? Even if you have been successfully vaccinated, this would be a foolish thing to do unless you had had a recent successful revaccination.

Although I have seen very few cases of this disease, I cannot think of a worse one.

It kills one of five victims in an epidemic. Many of those who survive are blinded by corneal scars and all carry unsightly pock marks on their faces for the rest of their lives.

No cases have been reported in the United States for many years, but smallpox has not been eradicated from the world.

With the increase in high-speed travel there is always a possibility that a case could be introduced into this country.

Although smallpox is a dreadful disease, it is one of the easiest to control.

When vaccination was first introduced in 1788 it met with great opposition. Now opposition has been replaced by apathy.

The very fact that smallpox is rarely seen in the United States has lulled us into a belief that it is a myth.

Yet a traveler to Canada was recently found to have this disease.

One case introduced into the United States could touch off a serious epidemic for the very reason that we have let down our guard.

PROTECTION FACTOR?
How good is the protection afforded by the scar you have from your childhood vaccination?

This varies so widely with the individual that the only safe plan is to be revaccinated every three to five years.

In most persons, revaccination results in what is known as an immune reaction.

This is a very mild reaction and it serves the same purpose as the booster shots given for tetanus or poliomyelitis.

Bald Eagle Topic of Audubon Club Speech

The Druids, teachers and priests of ancient Britain, were wiped out by the Romans after the Britons submitted to Roman rule in 78 A.D.

Dr. Daniel S. McGeen, of Lake Angelus Road, president of Pontiac Audubon Club, staging its fifth anniversary Saturday at Oakland University, points to mice ravages in a nest collection brought in by Wayne T. Wilson (left) of Covert Road. The Waterford Township High School junior is convinced the nests are strictly "for the birds."

Sergey Postupalsky of Warren holds a mounted bald eagle, subject of a color film made for the Cornell University Laboratory of Ornithology, to be viewed by Pontiac Audubon Club members Saturday at Oakland University.

Sergey Postupalsky will speak about a Michigan bald eagle survey at Pontiac Audubon Club's fifth anniversary meeting Saturday evening in the Oakland Room at Oakland University.

An afternoon session, planned by Dr. and Mrs. Daniel S. McGeen, will include a get acquainted period at 2:30, a slide show at 3:30 and a campus tour at 4:30.

A roast beef dinner, open to the public, will be served at 6 o'clock following a social hour. Mrs. Charles Frick will accept reservations through Thursday only.

Mr. Postupalsky, presently working on his science degree at Wayne State University, will speak at 7:30 p.m. on the bald eagle's struggle for survival.

FILM PRESENTATION

A film made in Florida and Alaska, entitled "The Bald Eagle - Our National Bird," includes close-ups of a 70-year-old man climbing 100-foot trees to band eagles, and unusual shots of roseate spoonbills and other wildlife of eagle habitat.

The speaker is a member of the National Audubon Society, Wilson Ornithological Society, Federation of Ontario Naturalists, Wilderness Society and other conservation groups.

The Elmer Thorpes are entertainment chairman and the Alton Maddens are planning the menu and table arrangements. Donald Nagel is evening program chairman and Mr. and Mrs. Rex Wonders are handling publicity. The club is sponsored by the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department.

Sacred Occasion

Should Dignify Wedding

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: There is a Justice of the Peace who works in the same building with me. He performs marriage ceremonies with his hat on. I told him he should take his hat off but he said there's no reason why he can't leave it on.

Also, he sits while he reads the marriage ceremony, and he doesn't even read it—he mumbles. I would like your opinion of this. He gave me a nickel to write to you.

DEAR ABBY: A marriage ceremony should be performed with all the dignity and solemnity befitting that sacred occasion. He sounds like a very old man with a bald head and a new hat.

DEAR ABBY: I have been corresponding with a serviceman for three years and want to marry him. He is a widower and I've never been married. He retires in two years.

When he last visited me he said he would marry me in a minute but he promised his 12-year-old son that he would never marry. The boy lives with his maternal grandparents in another city.

My gentleman friend suggested that he and his son visit me without letting the boy know of our plans, and see what the boy's reaction is to me. What do you think of this idea?

DEAR ABBY: Having to win over a 12-year-old boy, who apparently does not want to share his father's affection with anyone else, places you in a very awkward spot. I admire the father for his deep concern over his son's feelings—but you would be starting out in second place. If you are satisfied with that position, go along with the plan and try to win the boy's approval.

DEAR ABBY: I would like to know if a person who is separated or divorced should be remembered on his wedding anniversary with a card or gift.

FAITHFUL READER: DEAR READER: Only a married person who is "working" at his marriage should be remembered on the occasion of a wedding anniversary. Why "congratulate" someone on what was obviously a mistake?

DEAR ABBY: Anyone who complains about the new postage rate is obviously admitting that what he has to mail is not worth the cost.

Head of Nurses

Mary Walker, new director of nurses for St. Joseph Mercy Hospital School of Nursing, attended the board meeting of the alumnae group Friday evening. Mrs. Dorothy Adams of Highland Drive was Miss Walker discussed the reopening of the school of nursing. Anyone interested in applying for admission may obtain information from Director of Nurses, St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital Unit, 126 Fulton Street, Pontiac.

Pick Crusade Workers for Cancer Education

Committee members for the April Educational Crusade of the Michigan Cancer Foundation have been announced by Mrs. Frank Prather, Women's Crusade chairman.

Serving the North Oakland County Unit will be Mrs. Milo D. McIntock, Mrs. George McCorkle and Mrs. Gordon Frain.

These women are in the process of recruiting and training volunteers to carry out the foundation's house-to-house fact-finding survey. The survey is designed to ascertain public knowledge and attitude toward cancer.

The foundation is financially supported by the Pontiac Area United Fund and the United Foundation of Great er Detroit. It does not solicit funds.

The volunteer staff of the North Oakland County Unit office met recently for training and orientation. Mrs. Vergilene E. Hooper of the Oakland County Department of Social Welfare was speaker. She stressed importance of cooperation among agencies in meeting needs of people in the community.

The Michigan Cancer Foundation carries on a year-round service program. It offers free of charge dressings, hospital beds, wheel chairs and small sick room supplies for cancer patients in the home.

Group Set for Lecture

Area members of the Detroit Women Writers' Club will attend the Rose Barlow Weinman Memorial Lecture and Luncheon Tuesday noon in Women's City Club, Detroit.

Mrs. Robert Pritchard of Detroit will present tape recordings of Mrs. Weinman's poetry, which is now preserved in the Library of Congress.

MOMS to Gather

Galloway Lake MOMS Unit will meet Wednesday for a business session and school girl luncheon at the Joy Road home of Mrs. William Carven.

Inspect Unit of Sorority

Inspection of the chapter took place at the recent meeting of Psi Chapter, Sigma Beta Sorority. Mrs. Morgan Siple, Lake Angelus Shores, was hostess, assisted by Shakes Gotsdiner.

Plans for a clothing demonstration Thursday at the Voorheis Road home of Mrs. Wallace Williams were discussed, and an April fashion show was announced.

Groups Make Plans, Hear Reviews

Faith group of the First Presbyterian Church completed plans for Wednesday's salad luncheon and hat show at a luncheon meeting Friday in the home of Mrs. Basil B. Kimball on Lahser Road. Mrs. Hazel Anderson, Mrs. Leslie Ellis and Mrs. Margaret Duffield assisted the hostess, Mrs. Robert Will was a guest.

Mrs. William Vogel gave the mission study on Okinawa and Mrs. David reported on the recent World Day of Prayer. Mrs. Merle Voss gave devotions.

Mrs. Howard Powers was chairman of the July-August group's luncheon meeting Friday in her Cherokee Road home. Assisting her were Mrs. Charles Harom, Mrs. Bernard Johnson and Mrs. Warren Abbott.

The study of Korea was given by Mrs. Leon Belknap, and Mrs. Louis West reviewed current conditions.

Plans for the Women's Association dinner on March 26 were discussed by the Yonara Group, with Mrs. Chester Varney of Nelson Street, hostess. Mrs. James Burke presided at refreshments.

Mrs. George Sullivan led the Bible study "God Chooses

People." Mrs. Henry Wisengruber was a guest.

Eighteen members of the Piers Shelly Group gathered Friday for dessert in the church. Hostesses were Mrs. Preston Parks, Mrs. Olive Lord, Mrs. Morrell Jones and Mrs. Hazel Hubbard.

Grace Clark gave a special program on the "Least Coin," and Clara Gayard led devotions. Ethel Wooden completed the review on Korea from "On Asia's Rim."

The September-October Group planned the April 5 quilting bee at Friday's luncheon in the church dining room.

Hostesses were Mrs. William Kreklow, Mrs. Charles McLean and Leah S. Thorpe. New member Mrs. Mary Paulson was welcomed.

Mrs. E. M. Malone gave the Bible study on "The Broken Covenant."

Seventeen members of the April-May Group were luncheon guests of Mrs. Duane Le-maux of Shore View Drive on Friday. Mrs. Donald Bos and Mrs. David Lyons assisted the hostess.

Study of "The Church and the Prophets" from Lindell Linton Sawyer's "One People of God" was led by Mrs. Quentin Sweet, Missionary

PEANUT BUTTER VS. PEANUT SPREAD

Q. My children simply love peanut butter. Is it a good food?

A. Plain, old fashioned peanut butter, which contains nothing but roasted peanuts with a little added salt, is a highly nutritious, but hard to find, food. The old fashioned variety has a somewhat limited shelf-life and the oil tends to rise to the surface. To "improve the quality" of peanut butter, many manufacturers add various chemicals and hydrogenated oils (hydrogenation is a process which hardens an oil into a solid fat with good keeping qualities, but renders it less suitable as a food). Proposed food regulations would require a product containing less than 75 per cent peanuts to be labeled "imitation peanut butter." Manufacturers would object to this labeling and some have now switched to use of the term "peanut spread." If you want to avoid peanut butter containing a variety of questionable additives, examine the labels carefully before buying.

can't one set of budget figures be applied to any and every income? Why can't everybody use the same percentages — for food, clothing, etc.?

A woman with five children with a yearly income of $5,000, her budget falls apart when she's trying to use the same percentage of her income for food, clothing, and other items as her friend, who has one child, who makes just fine.

Well, it's like this — percentages are a little slide rule. A slide rule is a wonderful invention when you know how to use it. Budget percentages are an excellent guide when you know how to apply them.

For instance, take the allotment for clothing which is generally estimated at 8 to 15 per cent of one's annual income. See how much leeway is allowed there? Some people can set up a workable budget using the 15 per cent maximum and everything works out just fine. But, depending upon the individual's circumstances — job, number of children, obligations already incurred, etc. — the 8 per cent minimum may be as much as that particular budget can afford without splitting at the seams.

Percentages must be juggled to make the whole budget come out even. The family concerned with sending children to college, for example, is going to have to pare down the percentages usually allowed for food and clothing in order to get the most of what they want for the money they have.

The newly married couple, who usually have fairly adequate wardrobes to start with, can certainly plan for less expenditure on clothes that year than can the large family with growing children.

The percentage of their annual income which they allow for clothing will differ widely. The same principle holds true for food percentages. One person can afford to spend generously for food, while another must cut down the food allotment because operating expenses run high or medical bills upset the apple cart.

DECIDE MAIN OBJECTIVES
These are the reasons why it's so important for each individual, each family, to make up their minds what they really want their money to buy. Once you establish your main objectives, budget percentages can be worked out to fit the over-all pattern.

Nobody says it's easy. You have to give up this in order to afford that. And don't get the idea that a budget you lived with comfortably several years ago will be just as comfortable this year or next.

As your needs and obligations change, so must you revise your budget.

When you find yourself in a financial bind, and start wondering where the money goes, take out your list of budget figures and go over every single item. Certain expenses have a way of creeping up on you — they grow gradually, just as the children grow without your realizing just how much from day to day.

So, make the effort to keep up with your budget and even if you can't make those dollars grow, you'll be able to rely on wise maneuvering to keep your head above water.

Clarkston Goes Big Game Hunting

By DON VOGEL

Clarkston's Wolves make their first appearance in the upper echelon of Class A basketball this week.

In coach Dom Mauti's 11 years at Clarkston, teams under his direction have won eight district championships. The other seven were in Class B.

Clarkston defeated three schools about its own size. Grand Blanc was making its debut in Class A, too.

EX-CHAMPS

Two of the four teams in the PNH regional play are noted for tournament successes in the past. PNH has never advanced beyond the regionals in its five-year history.

Clarkston earned the regional berth by defeating Grand Blanc 62-51 in its own district Saturday night.

This is the first year in Class A for Clarkston, but winning district trophies is nothing new for the Wolves.

EX-CHAMPS

Two of the four teams in the PNH regional play are noted for tournament successes in the past. PNH has never advanced beyond the regionals in its five-year history.

Clarkston earned the regional berth by defeating Grand Blanc 62-51 in its own district Saturday night.

This is the first year in Class A for Clarkston, but winning

A fast start and finish carried Clarkston to a 64-41 victory over the Wolves past favored Grand Blanc.

They jumped to a 6-0 lead and increased it 23-19 by the half. The Wolves rallied in the second half and had the count down to 44-41, but the Wolves spurred to a 53-43 advantage and coasted in.

Larry Gardner played a big part in the victory.

He was assigned to guard Grand Blanc's high scoring Jimmy James. The Bobcat guard managed only four points and was ineffective that coach Joe Pil cock pulled him out for over a quarter.

Midway in the third quarter the Bobcats cut Clarkston's lead to 38-32. Gardner hit a basket on a breakaway and then pumped in a jumper from 10 feet to ease the pressure.

When the count went to five points early in the last period it was Gardner's basket that triggered Clarkston's winning rally.

Ken Miskin took game scoring honors for Clarkston with 28 points. Bob Osgood dropped in 18, Dan Craven and Gardner 11 apiece.

Barry Eaton, who entered the game in the third period when Grand Blanc starter Pat Masco fouled out, led the Bobcats with 13. He sparked the second half rallies by Grand Blanc.

Clarkston started out like it finished against Kettering two nights before.

The Wolves were a hustling, sharp-shooting and passing club that was also tough on defense.

They did not continue this type of play for the entire game.

NOT CONSISTENT

They would get careless with their passes, boxed in on occasion by Grand Blanc's pressing defense and several times were slow going back on defense.

This helped the Bobcats' defense cause faulting shooting and passing to keep the pressure on in the second half.

Actually, the Bobcats were their own worst enemies. They missed at least eight easy layup shots, made only 12 of 25 foul shots and threw the ball away at key times.

The Wolves' opposition in the regional will be the type that will take advantage of any carelessness by the opposition.

Beevers Wins State Crown

Pontiac high schools' prep wrestlers brought honor to themselves and their schools over the weekend with impressive showings in the state tournament at Ann Arbor High School.

PCH's Pete Beevers brought the city its first state championship by winning the 133-pound title on a 4-3 decision over Jay Owen of Trenton.

Northern's Skip Melroy lost a 2-1 verdict to Edsel Ford's Tom Carroll in the 113-pound finals. The Huskies also grabbed third and fourth place individual finishes.

Jim Kimmel took the third spot in the 133-pound class while Dave Beebe finished fourth in the 129-pound class.

Teamwise, Flint Northern captured the state title with PNH finishing seventh and Central 16th.

Captures Big 10 Scoring Crown

CHICAGO (AP)—All-America Gary Bradds of Ohio State won the Big Ten all-games basketball 1967-68 season.

Bradds finished with 672 points in 24 games for a 28.0 average, well ahead of Indiana's Jimmy Rayl. Rayl had a 25.3 average on 668 points in 24 games.

Michigan sophomore Bill Buntin with 22.5, Purdue's Mel Garland with 21.6 and Indiana's Tom Bolvard with 20.0 were the only other players averaging 20 or more points a game.

West Bloomfield Rallies For Title

West Bloomfield snatched victory from the grasp of Clawson Friday night in the district Class B finals at Pontiac Central with a tension-charged display of tournament basketball skills.

A crowd of 1,200 saw the Lakers stage a classic comeback late in the fourth quarter to claim the district crown 55-54. It was a fitting finish for a fiercely fought contest.

Bob Aumgauger, who topped the West Bloomfield squad with 26 points, sank the bucket that wiped out Clawson hopes with just seconds left. The winning basket also erased three quarters of missed shots, had passing and set-rebounding by the Lakers.

In a game that saw one Laker expelled for rough play, Clawson appeared to have control. The Trojans slowly constructed a respectable lead.

Both clubs hit fairly good in the opening minutes, but the Lakers fell behind as the Trojans pressed. Midway in the third quarter, Clawson enjoyed a 14-point advantage.

However, in the final frame the Lakers launched a concentrated drive to overtake Clawson.

BIG LEAD

As the fourth quarter started, Clawson held a 13-point lead. The Lakers chipped away until the district crown 55-54. It was a fitting finish for a fiercely fought contest.

Aumgauger finally knotted the score with less than half a minute to play. John Miller, who helped pace Clawson with 13 points, pushed the Trojans in front 54-53 on a foul shot.

West Bloomfield came back with Aumgauger adding another bucket to put the Lakers in front for the first time since early in the contest. The buzzer rang with Clawson trying to score.

In addition to Aumgauger's 26 points, Dan Greig netted another 10 on five field goals. The Lakers converted 15 of 26 free throws.

West Bloomfield scored more in the fourth quarter than in the entire first half.

Clawson received balanced scoring from Bud Trexler (13), Miller, and Tom McArthur (12). The Trojans sank 20 of 37 foul shots.

In an earlier contest, Royal Oak St. Mary trimmed Farmington Our Lady of Sorrows 43-34 to capture the Class C district title. The Irish led most of the distance.

Tom Wagner starred for Royal Oak with 20 points on 9 field goals and 2 foul throws.

The Irish performed without the services of Pete Taylor, starting guard, who injured his ankle. Taylor accepted the trophy on behalf of his happy teammates.

Capac Ready for Rematch in District

The much hoped for showdown between Cap and Grossete Point St. Paul loomed very probable this week after the Chiefs continued their romp through all Class C competition with a 70-35 triumph Saturday afternoon over Richmond St. Augustine.

John Scheuer led the Capac triumph with 18 points as the winners grabbed another big first half lead and coasted to victory.

Grossete Point St. Paul and Capac will compete in the Class C regional tournament at Farmdale this week.

Inlay City advanced to the Class C regional at Bay City Central by pinning a 62-51 defeat on Montrose Saturday.

Tom Hall led the victory production with 17 points. Inlay City drew a bye and will play Wednesday night against the Mariette-BC St. Joseph winner.

Groves Pulls Upset in NSSA Meet

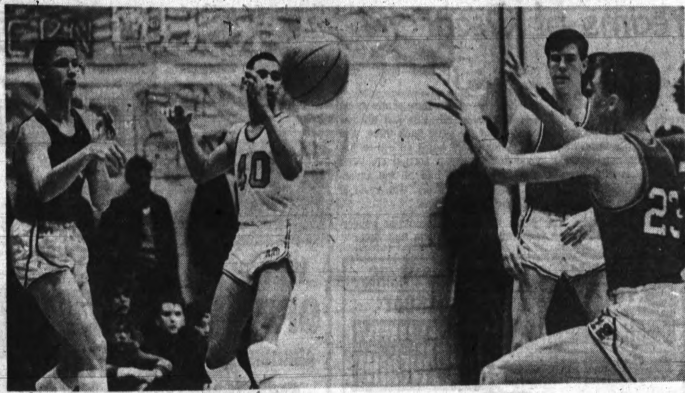

Birmingham Groves captured their first Saturday night to upset favored Thurston in the finals of the North Suburban League swimming meet at Southfield High School.

Groves amassed 1124 points with 106 points. Fitzgerald finished with 964; Southfield 754; Madison Heights 614; Pontiac Northern 564; Utica 22; and Livonia Franklin 14.

Birmingham took first place in the 200-yard medley relay, the 200-yard freestyle, and the 200-yard freestyle relay. Thurston finished on top in the 50-yard freestyle, the 200-yard individual medley, and the 100-yard freestyle.

A 2-02.1 time in the 200-yard freestyle gave Falcon Dave Robertson a win over Bob Plashnik of Fitzgerald. Southfield finished third and Thurston and Pontiac Northern did not show.

Ken Wiebeck, Thurston freestyle artist, set new records in the 50-yard and 100-yard freestyle events. Wiebeck crossed the finish in 22.6 for a new pool and

WHICH WAY? — Is PNH's Jerry Reese (23) passing or waiting for the basketball during this second half action Saturday night? Reese is waiting for a pass from Roger Hayward (left) that never got there. Guard Jesse Hodge of PCH moved in from the right to deflect the ball out of bounds while Gerald Heary (40) and Mike Burklow can only watch the action. In the background are some of the many fans who couldn't find seats in the stands and crowded at the end of the court.

Chiefs' Tourney Hopes Ended

In seven points in the game, five in the second half.

The two Haywards collected 19 rebounds together while Central's two retrieve artists joined for 17. Offensive minded guards have troubled the PCH defenders all season and it was no different Saturday. Backliners Mike Burklow and Jerry Reese were in twin figures for the third time this year against the Chiefs, this time combining for 33 points.

Reese led all scorers in the game with 20 points, hitting seven of 13 field goal attempts. He had 14 markers in the opening half as PNH led 30-27 at intermission.

Burklow tallied eight of his 13 in the final quarter, and his six for six exhibition from the foul line in that stanza was a killing blow to the Chiefs' hopes.

Gary Hayward had his finest game against the PCH team this season with 14 points. The losers had Jesse Hodge for their high point producer with 15, including 11 in the first half.

Central's team captain Ray Sain came off the bench to hit 12 points and grab nine rebounds.

CLOSE CONTEST

The game was close most of the way. PCH had a 6-3 advantage early but the winners tallied seven straight points to go ahead. They kept the pressure on the remainder of the way using a zone press, to harass the Chiefs' backliners.

Central regained the lead briefly at the start of the second quarter on a field goal by Sain and later on two buckets by Hodge but each time PNH came right back to go ahead. Two free throws by Reese put the Huskies in front to stay, 20-19 midway through the quarter.

No matter what combination

Time Is Problem in Table Tennis

Time is running out on Dorris & Sons Realty in the Pontiac Table Tennis Association League race.

The runnerup team sliced only one game off the Capital Backs Shop lead Thursday and unless it can post a sizeable defeat on the pace setters when they meet next Thursday, the realtors may not be able to catch Perc Secord's team.

Capital was held to a 3-3 stalemate by Anita's Leathers Thursday while Dorris & Son edged Clark's Drive In, 4-2.

Pontiac Pools Open Today

Spring Swimming Set at 2 Schools

Spring swimming schedules at two Pontiac pools were announced this week by the Parks and Recreation Department.

Beginning today, youth beginning and advanced swimmers will have the use of the Northern pool on Monday evening from 6:30 to 7:30 for an 8-week period.

A similar time prevails at Pontiac Central pool on Wednesdays, but the program is filled up, according to Leonard Buz, recreation director.

Junior and senior life saving classes are still open at Northern on Tuesdays from 6:30 to 8:30. The classes will run nine weeks.

Open swimming is still offered from 7:00 to 8:30 on Wednesday at Northern beginning March 27. The Central open swimming on Monday and Wednesday evenings is filled up.

A fee of $2 will be charged young people in the beginning and advanced classes, while adults in the same class will be charged $8. The life saving classes for youth will cost $1.

Left Alleys Not Aware He Was Best

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—The lead in classic singles at the American Bowling Congress tournament belonged today to Guy St. John of South Bend, Ind., after being exchanged like a hot potato during the weekend.

St. John shot a 684 three-game series Sunday to displace Dick Cochran of Chicago, who had taken the lead Saturday with 682. Bob Leap of Bedford, Ind., who led at the start of the action Saturday with the 672 he rolled Feb. 25, dropped to third place.

St. John, who misread the standings board and thought Cochran had shot 682, left the alleys thinking he was in second place. He learned in the locker room that he was the leader.

IN SECOND

John Lackner of Birmingham, Mich., shot a 710 series in regular singles Saturday, but it was only good for second place behind the 725 rolled Tuesday by Andy Budaba of Youngstown, Ohio.

Tom Harnisch and George Moros of Detroit's Stroh's Beer team took third place in classic doubles with 1290. Teammates Pat Harnisch and Bill Gaume gained fifth place with 1270.

Innucci also tied for fourth place in all-events with 1699, and Harnisch moved into seventh place with 1682.

The Stroh's, who opened with a fine 3204 three-game block Friday, shot a disappointing 2802 classic teams game on a 6996.

Monte Clark Pontiac of Chicago took sixth place with 5884 Saturday. Helin Tackle of Detroit continued to lead with 6157.

United Van Lines of St. Louis opened its bid for the classic team lead with 3071 Sunday night and needs 3066 tonight to overtake the Helin.

J. J. Wright Motors of Lansing, Ill., took second place in regular team standings Saturday with 3092, and Morris Meat Market of Teaneck, N.J., took eighth with 2998.

Wholesome Little Patty Duke Dreams of Oscar

By VERNON SCOTT

UPI Hollywood Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD — If you could tap the dreams of a 16-year-old girl, it's possible you'd find her in a technicolor gown, aglow in the spotlight accepting an Academy Award.

Granted, it's a far-fetched dream for most 16 year olds. But for Patty Duke it could all come true April 8 when the Oscar for best supporting actress of 1962 is handed out.

Patty's performance in "The Miracle Worker," as the deaf, dumb and blind Helen Keller in childhood has been praised as one of the finest performances ever given by a minor.

And if Patty wins she will be the youngest actress in history to win an Academy Award in the top two acting categories open to feminine performers.

How does Patty feel about it all?
"It's unbelievable," she said on her visit to Hollywood to collect a Golden Globe award as the most promising future star of the year.

"It really is like a dream come true. And I'm keeping my fingers crossed. I'd dearly love to win."

COMPETITION

There is stiff competition this year from Thelma Ritter, Angela Lansbury, little Mary Badham and Shirley Knight.

And in some respects it's a good thing members of the academy don't know Patty too well—it would be unfair to the other candidates.

She is a sweet-faced, wholesome youngster who appears much younger than her 16 years. She wears no make-up, no poof hairdo, no tight sweaters.

Patty is best described as the kind of little girl every family would like to have.

Her lack of sophistication comes as a shock after you've ready seen Miss Ritter and Miss Lansbury's pictures. They were both just wonderful."

A SHORTY

Only 5 feet tall and weighing 85 pounds, Patty is anxious to grow a little taller to keep her New York neighborhood friends from calling her "Shorty."

"I'm in no hurry to become an adult," said candidate Duke. "There's time for that later. I'm enjoying my life so much now I don't want to rush through it all and lose this part of being young."

"I'm very excited about coming here next month for the big awards program. I hope by then to have seen all the other candidates in their pictures. I've already seen Miss Ritter and Miss Lansbury's pictures. They were both just wonderful."

Until recently Patty has been forced to sit in the children's section of her neighborhood movie theater because of her size.

"It was kind of embarrassing when I went to see a picture with the other kids. They got to sit in the adult seats. But at least I paid less," she laughed.

"They don't think of me as an actress at all. I'm just another one of the gang back there. And I don't think being an actress has stolen away a normal childhood for me. I've had all the advantages of a career with none of the disadvantages.

"Boy, it sure would be wonderful, though, to win that Oscar."

Power Squadron Meets

Tenor Scores
'Otello' Coup

After Bit-Part Years, Performs Opera Lead

NEW YORK (AP)—The opening performance of the Metropolitan Opera's new production of Verdi's "Otello" Sunday night was a special milestone in the career of the American tenor who sang the title role.

James McCracken, from 1963 to 1967, was a bit player at the Met. All the glamorous tenor roles were taken care of by established stars.

A young man of Scotch-Irish descent, son of the fire chief in his birthplace, Gary, Ind., McCracken came to the Met 10 years ago at the age of 26 with a promising voice.

126 FRUSTRATIONS

Those first four seasons were frustrating. He appeared in as many as 126 performances a season, but sang few notes. "I think I sang the messenger in every 'Aida' they put on," he recalled.

McCracken decided, with the Met's encouragement, to go to Europe and make a reputation there. Most of McCracken's success has been in Zurich and Vienna, and he has performed "Otello" more than 50 times in Europe and America.

McCracken has traveled a rough road to stardom—he worked 14 hours a day in the Roxy Theater chorus before he got those bit roles at the Met—but his six-year absence from the Met's roster paid off Sunday night at the final curtain with a roaring ovation from the audience.

Boatless Harbor Patrol

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—For six months the city of Miami's harbor patrol has been operating without a boat.

The patrol's regular boat sank last September. After it was refloated, the engine wouldn't work. Since then, the patrol has been covering its beat in a patrol car on the shore.

Although U.S. unemployment ranged under 4 per cent last summer, the rate among unskilled workers was 11 per cent. Among 350,000 youngsters who quit elementary or high school, the unemployment rate was 27 per cent.

Omar the Film Maker

Bedouin Buddy's Dazzled

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD — Egyptian star Omar Sharif hasn't been able to contemplate his chances of winning an Oscar April 8.

He's still to be dazzled over the changes in his life during the past two years. A scant couple of years ago, he was living with his actress wife in Cairo and earning good money starring in Egyptian movies — lots of them.

"I would be, appearing in three or four films at the same time," he recalled. "I would finish one scene and dash to another studio to shoot another one. There was no time for anything but to change my makeup and costume."

"To learn the dialogue was impossible—and Egyptians like a lot of dialogue in their films. So I had someone write my lines on a board—'idiot cards,' they are called here. I read my lines as I filmed the scene."

All that was to change when producer Sam Spiegel, on location with "Lawrence of Arabia," sent him to Cairo for photographs of Egyptian actors for possible use in his film. Unbeknownst to Omar ("I would not have permitted it") his photo was among those dispatched.

SPIEGEL SIGNS HIM
Spiegel breezed into Cairo, had a 10-minute conversation with Omar, saw one of his films in a theater and signed him to play Peter O'Toole's Bedouin buddy. The actor, who had made his Egyptian films in 5 weeks, labored 18 months on "Lawrence."

It turned out to be worth it. The offers started pouring in even before his Oscar nomination for supporting actor. He is now playing the king of Armenia and Sophia Loren's husband in "Fall of the Roman Empire" in Madrid. He was given a leave to collect a supporting-actor award from the Hollywood foreign correspondents.) Next he plays a Spanish priest in "The 25th Hour" with Gregory Peck and Anthony Quinn. The measure of Sharif's success: He is moving his residence from Cairo to that Valhalla of the international star, Switzerland.

"Since I will be doing films all over, the central location of Switzerland will be better for me," he explained.

PERSONAL SKETCH
What is Omar like? He is handsome than you would have judged from his "Lawrence" role, with piercing black eyes and slender build. His English is excellent, though he spoke French first, then Arabic. He can also get by in Spanish and Italian.

He was born Michel Shalhoub, son of an Egyptian lumber dealer, and reared a Roman Catholic. After five years of selling in his father's firm, he decided he wasn't salesman timber and tried his hand at acting. He had made 21 Egyptian and French films until he was tapped for glory by Spiegel.

Omar will be 31 two days after Oscar night. While he shuttles back and forth between Spain and selling trips for "Lawrence" in this country, his wife, Faten Hamama, is making a film in Yugoslavia. It may be her last.

"It is time for her to quit," said Omar. "We have been away from our children too much—she has a daughter by another marriage, and we have a son."

The Sharifs will be settling down in a sizable Swiss chalet, which they'll call home.

NY Dailies to Roll; Labor Elsewhere Troubled

By United Press International
Publishers hoped to have all New York dailies back on the streets by the end of the week to end the city's biggest news blackout in history.

An extension of the Newspaper Guild's contract expiration date to coincide with the one gained by the striking printers was the only thing standing in the way of complete agreement in the 94-day dispute.

Elsewhere, the labor picture remained troubled. The Southern Pacific disagreement stretched into still another week despite a federal mediator's hopes for a settlement last week.

Striking bus and trolley operators in suburban Philadelphia and stereotypers in Cleveland turned down management proposals in their long disputes.

One of the settlement terms between the New York Publishers and the printers was a common contract expiration date for all unions two years from now. The guild, representing the editorial staffs, indicated it would ask for improvements if it extends its contract now scheduled to end Oct. 31, 1964.

The printers' contract calls for a 44 weekly wage increase the first year and another 44 in the second; job protection against automation; two additional sick leave days the second year; and a reduction in the work week in the second year from 36½ hours to 35.

The printers still must go through the formality of ratification. The stereotypers rejected the latest proposal of the management of the Cleveland Press and Plain Dealer, which haven't published since November. The union ordered its negotiators to hold out for a better vacation clause.

$10 WAGE HIKE
Officials said the papers had offered a contract that included a $10 package wage increase, three week vacation after five years and four weeks after 20 years, and a guarantee that no union member would lose his job because of automation.

The management was to meet with the striking printers today.

Southern Pacific and the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks resumed talks today over automation, an issue now five years old. Federal mediator Frank O'Neill had hoped for a settlement last week. He said a weekend recess was caused by a "snag," although he did not elaborate.

A strike by the 11,000 clerks would idle 30,000 other Southern Pacific employees in seven western states.

The striking railroad trainmen in suburban Philadelphia did go through with their scheduled vote on a 21½ cent wage and benefits proposal Sunday. They said it was the same as they had rejected previously.

State Mediator Edward G. Feehan said negotiations between the union and the Red Arrows Lines, strike bound for 32 days, would continue today.

Other:
The 2,500 striking maintenance and production workers at General Electric's five Hotpoint Division plants in the Chicago area during the weekend to continue their strike. The strikers, members of the Sheet Metal Workers' Association, went out picket the Nevada atomic test site in Nevada today in their week-old walkout, the third of the year. The electricians are protesting the hiring of nonunion labor for a prime contractor.

IS O-JIB-WA REALLY AS GOOD AS PEOPLE SAY?

Problem Started in Grade School

Opportunities Dwindling for Poor Readers

EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the third in a series on major problems facing education today.

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed. D.
An alarm should be sounded to rouse the 10 million adult Americans who cannot read or write as well as the average sixth grader.

Job opportunities are fast disappearing for these people.
By 1970 no more than 5 per cent of the available jobs will be open to untrained individuals. As these people are displaced by machinery and automation they are unable to qualify for retraining because of their lack of skill in the fundamentals of reading and writing.

The unemployed, or those soon to become so, should inquire at the local state employment office. They will be given tests to determine their aptitude and trainability.

But this becomes the moment of disaster for far too many. They cannot pass the tests.

PROBLEM BEGINS
This is how it happens in many cases:
A typical John Doe in second grade listens to other second graders read. He sort of remembers and doesn't try very hard to read and understand for himself. The teacher helps him over all the hard words. At home his mother does the same thing.

In third grade Mr. John Doe watches the pupils on either side to see what they are doing, rather than reading instructions. He may ask the teacher to explain and tell him just what to do.

By fourth grade, someone at home is reading him the instructions and helping him get his homework done.

And by sixth grade he has completely stopped trying to read instructions. He just waits for help.

DROPS OUT OF SCHOOL
In high school, as more and more of his learning must come from reading, he becomes discouraged and drops out of school.
He can read newspapers reasonably well, but he has always avoided the very type of reading needed for passing those tests at the employment office and training himself for a new job.

Many times these students have no more interest in training themselves to write well or to understand arithmetic precisely than they have in learning to understand what they read.

SUCCESS STILL POSSIBLE
However, it is never too late for a person to change his pattern of thinking. With real effort, such a person can learn to read and understand what he reads.

Let him take do-it-yourself instructions from a newspaper, for example. He will have to study, read and reread until he can explain the instructions accurately. What if the first attempt takes a week and 50 readings? He has made a start.

And handwriting will respond to serious practice too.

One of the best sources of practice material for both reading and writing is found in arithmetic books.
Learning to read and understand an arithmetic book, page by page, learning to follow instructions for problem solutions, and learning to write problems and answers neatly and accurately develops precisely the skills needed to pass exams and reestablish successful lives.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY

It is standard practice in expert circles to play the jump raise of an overall as strong, but not forcing. Thus, I was under no obligation to go to four spades after my partner jumped to three, but I hate to stop one trick below game so I pulled myself together.

JACOBY worked out my alibi in case the game did not make, and bid it. West opened the four of clubs. East rose with the king and I had to make an immediate decision. If that four of clubs was a singleton it would be up to me to grab the trick, draw trumps, and take the diamond finesse. If it worked I would make an over-trick, if it failed I would still make my contract.

Suppose that the lead had been third or fourth best. Then if I took the first club and the diamond finesse lost, East would be able to put his partner in to lead through dummy's king of hearts.

I couldn't afford that. East needed both the ace of hearts and king of diamonds for his opening bid, therefore my problem was to decide if the lead were a singleton or not.

There was no sure thing, but it seemed unlikely to find a seven-one split in clubs. I let the king hold the trick.

From then on everything was hunky-dory. I won the club return, drew trumps, finessed the diamond unsuccessfully, but was able to discard a heart on dummy's fourth diamond to make my contract.

Man and Space

Canaveral's Glamour Is High Priced

By ALVIN B. WEBB JR.
CAPE CANAVERAL 479 — The men and women who chose the glamour of exploring space for a living are facing some unglamorous problems just trying to live down here on Earth.

If this sprawling test center is "Spaceport, U.S.A.," the supporting area around it certainly is "Boontown, U.S.A." And like any good boomtown it has its peculiar headaches and heart throbs.

Cape Canaveral is a sandy spit of land almost in the center of long, slender Brevard County. In 1950, it was a sleepy little county of 23,653 people, mostly native old-timers and outlanders who moved here to "get away from it all" and quietly settle down.

In 1960, the population had soared to 111,455. It is "booming Brevard" now, home of the free world's biggest space center.

And by 1970, it will be the jumping-off place for astronauts bound for the Moon and other stations in space. Down on Earth, Brevard's population will be, by one estimate, 250,000.

The growing has not been easy. The men and their families who came in with the space-age "New Frontier" found, and are still finding, the accent on the word "frontier."

They found the score of relaxed little communities such as Cocoa and Melbourne and Titusville weren't ready.

HIGH PRICE TAGS

Everything carries a high price tag including housing. A man can find a place conveniently close to the Cape, but it comes at a price — $100 per month or better for a simple efficiency apartment, $150 or better for two bedrooms.

He can live further away—and still he pays, with gasoline bills and strained nerves from joining thousands of fellow workers in winding toward the job over roads that have been hard-pressed to stay two years behind the times.

Food, as one housewife put it, "is out of the world — in cost." Many of the newcomers even found water a problem. The sulfur-flavored tap variety makes a wicked cup of coffee, and bottled water is a standby.

Schools are lacking simply because it takes time to construct them. Churches have, on occasion, held services in bowling alleys and theaters to house their expanding congregations.

The per capita income is soaring, but the average family still has trouble making ends meet.

But with that unique spirit of adventure that the gold-rushers of a century ago must have felt, they still come. By the end of 1963, more than 2,000 new construction workers will move in just to help the space agency expand the limits of the huge "spaceport" by another 90,000 acres.

to Investigate Insurance

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., said yesterday his Senate Antitrust subcommittee would investigate certain phases of the insurance industry, administered prices and over-the-counter drugs. He said the insurance inquiry would deal with foreign companies doing business in this country. The committee also will look into alleged misrepresentations and "lack of proper regulation over health and accident insurance, particularly in mail-order insurance," he added.

Nearly four million Americans now live in 16,000 mobile home parks or communities scattered over the country. Florida tops the list with its 2,000 mobile home communities.

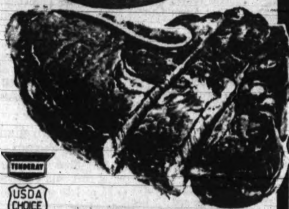

One - third of the province of Saskatchewan is forested.

Market Shows Slight Advance

NEW YORK (AP)—Gains by savings-and-loan holding companies and a selection of other issues highlighted a slight stock market advance today. Trading was moderate.

Gains of key stocks were mostly fractional, some going to a point or so. Many stocks were unchanged or showed slight losses.

Wall Street derived little new confidence from last week's recovery because it was accomplished on such light volume. A general feeling of cautious optimism prevailed, however.

ONLY MOTOR GAIN

A gain of more than a point by Chrysler was the only dash of strength among motors. Steel was unchanged to easy despite reports that incoming orders for re-steel are the heaviest since Jan.

General Dynamics rose more than a point. The decision of the Defense Department in awarding the big contract for the TFX fighter plane to that company, which has caused controversy, was publicly defended over the weekend. Douglas Aircraft gained a fraction.

Bond Prices Narrowly Mixed

NEW YORK (AP)—Bond prices opened the week narrowly mixed. Over-the-counter dealers in U.S. government said they made almost no changes in initial dealings. The market was described as extremely quiet.

Rails, industrials and utilities were irregular in corporate trade.

TFX Contract Will Remain

Official Comments on Argued Jet Award

WASHINGTON (AP)—The No. 2 man in the Pentagon says the controversial award of a jet fighter development contract to General Dynamics Corp. will stand. He says no political considerations entered into the award of the contract.

Deputy Secretary of Defense Roswell Gilpatric added Sunday in a television interview that General Dynamics and the Boeing Co. presented satisfactory design proposals, but the former was chosen for a combination of reasons.

PRICES MIXED

Prices were mixed in quiet trading on the American Stock Exchange. Aerojet-General and Liberty Fabrics rose more than a point each. Fractional gains included American Oil-Gas and Seaman Brothers. Peppercorn dropped a point. Down fractionally were Victorien Instrument, Kaiser Industries, E. L. Bruce and Hollinger.

General Dynamics rose more than a point. The decision of the Defense Department in awarding the big contract for the TFX fighter plane to that company, which has caused controversy, was publicly defended over the weekend. Douglas Aircraft gained a fraction.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen says he agrees with President Kennedy that a full blockade of Cuba would amount to an act of war and "I don't want to go to war."

But there could be a selective blockade, Dirksen said, "a selective quarantine of some kind," and that would be the end of Castro.

The GOP leader said he had in mind blockading shipments of Soviet oil to Cuba in Soviet ships if it could be done in such a way as not to constitute an act of war.

"If you shut off oil to Cuba it would strangle her economy," Dirksen said in a radio-television interview.

In another radio-television interview, Republican Sen. Kenneth B. Keating of New York said Russian ships are still carrying arms to Cuba. Among them, he said, are helicopters, some of which arrived with a shipload of flour.

The subcommittee, headed by Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., is expected to ask the former FBI agent how long it took American intelligence agencies to verify reports that Russia was establishing medium range missile sites in Cuba.

Intelligence chiefs of the navy, army and air force have told the Senate group they conducted a vigilant check on the Soviet military buildup for more than six months before President Kennedy announced the presence of the missiles last Oct. 22.

Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., said he would like to see the secret testimony by Carroll released after screening for military secrets. The general has headed the Defense Department's intelligence agency since its formation in October 1961.

Reveals Plans for Merger of Arab States

From Our News Wires
DAMASCUS, Syria — Iraq's deputy premier, Ali Saleh al-Saudi, said today plans are under way for an eventual merger or federation embracing Syria, Iraq and the United Arab Republic.

Recent revolutions in both Iraq and Syria have placed admirers of U.A.R. President Nasser in positions of power.

Syria's new government was urged to join four other pro-Nasser states in a joint military command as a step toward uniting the Arab sphere from the Atlantic Ocean to the Persian Gulf.

A proposed "supreme political command" would tie together the forces of Algeria, the United Arab Republic (U.A.R.), Yemen, Syria and Iraq in all matters of armament, planning, equipment and training.

A political policy leadership also would be worked out.

Iraq and Syria expressed interest in the plan yesterday, but there was no indication what response they would give to the two giants of the Arab world, Algeria and the U.A.R., would give the proposal.

Dogs Finally Win Out

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UPI) — It finally happened — the greyhounds caught the mechanical rabbit.
Eight dogs jumped on the metal bunny and happily tried to tear it to shreds when an electrical storm this weekend

TEARFUL TRIBUTE — June Carter and Smiley Wilson, the tenor of the "Johnny and Jack" singing team, were killed last week, stand backstage during Saturday night's show, weeping with grief.

Performers in Tears at Ole Opry Tribute

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — The audience stood with heads bowed in silent tribute to five of their favorite Grand Ole Opry performers.

The cast paused briefly Saturday night while Opry manager Otis Devine spoke to the hushed audience.

"They never walked on this stage without a smile," Devine said, "and they would want us to keep smiling now."

Then Roy Acuff, "The King of Country Music," struck up a fast tune on his fiddle in farewell to Hawkshaw Hawkins, a big grinning man who had been an Opry favorite for many years; Cowboy Copas, a veteran singer of western songs; Patsy Cline, a 19-year-old poor girl who hit the big time, ahead.

Two days later, the "Johnny and Jack" singing team was killed in a traffic accident as he was on his way to a memorial service for Miss Cline.

"What do you say when we lose such friends?" asked Devine. "We can reflect on their contributions to the lives of millions, and that they found fulfillment in the time allotted to them."

Boy, erect and vigorous, lives at a nursing home. He has outlived his wife, two sons and a daughter. He says he has no formula for longevity. He approves of 50 mile hikes "but not in this kind of weather."

Has His 100th Birthday

With Wishes From JFK

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Archibald Boyd celebrated his 100th birthday Sunday with messages of best wishes from President Kennedy, Gov. William W. Scranton and Mayor James H. J. Tate.

Boy, erect and vigorous, lives at a nursing home. He has outlived his wife, two sons and a daughter. He says he has no formula for longevity. He approves of 50 mile hikes "but not in this kind of weather."

Georgia, Star in 'Oliver,' Seeks Cheaper 'Barber'

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Georgia Brown's looking for a new barber to cut her long, wavy flowing, shoulder-length hair which gives her a special kind of beauty as she whips around stage playing Nancy in "Oliver!"

"My London hairdresser," says Georgia, "was taking to one here asking that he take care of my hair. I saw him—and he trimmed it and cut a little bit off the ends. For this he charged me $27."

"Then he asked permission to claim that he 'created' the hair I've been wearing for two years!"

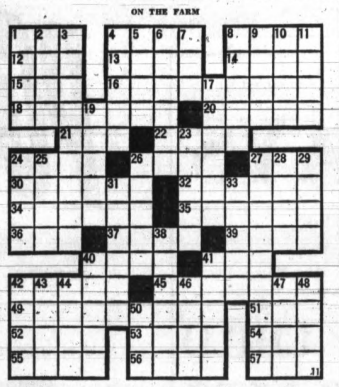

Georgia's beauty is such that Artist David Stone Martin asked her to pose for a panel he's doing for the Smithsonian — as being representative of a 17th Century American woman.

"It's funny," Georgia says. "A Polish-Russian Jew born at Mother Levy's Home in London being chosen as a 17th Century American."

Georgia'll soon double into the Blue Angel, doing a midnight show. "It'll be simple," she says. "I'll merely give up my days. I'll stay in bed till 5 every day."

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Comic Jackie Kannon reports his new face act'll have some gags about the Kennedys: "These days unless you mention Jack, Jackie or Caroline in a routine, you're considered un-American."

Fire Hits Die Firm in Grand Rapids

A police officer in a cruiser discovered the blaze at about 3:50 a.m.

Meyers said 10 vehicles and 40 men were dispatched to the 1½-story cement block structure. The blaze was brought under control in about one hour. No injuries were reported and a cause of the fire was being sought.

How Many Miles Have You Shaved?

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Someone has figured that a man shaves about 20 square miles of face during his life-time.

A recent study showed that most barbers arrive between 2 and 5 o'clock in the morning, the fewest between 4 and 7 p.m.

SOUP SCOOPI
Now that the famed Mona Lisa has left these shores, $3 water-baskets featuring her portrait can be had for half price or less.

In case you've ever wondered how to attack soup served in a cup with two handles, it's perfectly proper to pick it up with a double-handed grip and drink it.

Soups are now a $500-million annual industry in America.

Nature notes: Fish are born without scales and sprout them later. The U.S. bird population is estimated at seven billion. The average of the ant eater is about a foot long. A giraffe at birth is about as tall as an adult person.

It was Samuel Butler who observed, "Life is one long process of getting tired."

Mother, Two Sons Die in Plane Crash

LA JUNTA, Colo. (AP) — A mother and her two sons were killed Sunday when a light plane, caught in a storm, crashed in a plowed field 20 miles south of here.

The husband and father, H. Edwin Graham, 42, Plainview, Tex., grain dealer, was piloting the plane. He was thrown clear and suffered burns and a broken back.

The couple's daughter, Mrs. De Juan Strickland, was in another plane but stopped at Dalhart, Tex., after receiving storm warnings.

Urges Voters to Elect Foe

TIVOLI, N. Y. (AP) — Former Mayor Howard Beard, a candidate for his old job, today urged voters to elect his opponent March 19.

"I felt it was my civic duty to run because no one else seemed to want the job," Beard said.

"But now that A. Parker Boyce has filed a petition for the job, I would like to see him get all the votes."

Italian Miners Receive 12 Per Cent Pay Hike

ROME (AP) — Italian miners will get a 12 per cent pay boost and other benefits in new contracts covering the next two years, it was reported yesterday.

Miners in various parts of Italy staged several local strikes in past weeks. The reports said the new agreement provides 11 per cent more in pay retroactive to March 1 and another 1 per cent beginning next January.

Youth Chokes School Teacher

Dumped Body in Tub
Where She Drowned

From Our News Wires
DETROIT—A 16-year-old high school student last night admitted choking a 55-year-old school teacher, then dumping her into a bath tub where she drowned, because she wouldn't lend him her car.

Robert Trombley told police after a three-hour questioning session he choked Mrs. Beulah Sechler with a webbed belt and then placed her unconscious body in the tub and turned on the water Friday night.

Her body was discovered Saturday when a neighbor called police and said she smelled gas and was unable to raise the woman inside the house. The death resulted from drowning.

BODY IN TUB

Her clothed body was found in the tub with all the gas jets on the kitchen stove turned on. It originally was believed that the death was a suicide.

Trombley made a formal confession to the Wayne County prosecutor's office last night and Assistant Prosecutor Basil Considine said, "he talked without a trace of emotion, in a sing-song monotone."

W. Trombley, 51, a steel worker, when told of the confession, said, "I'm through with him. I give up. I can rest a while. He was one of those characters I just couldn't control. I always told him keep your nose clean and stay on the right track but I just couldn't do anything with him."

Romney Due at GOP Rally

Gov. George Romney will return to his home county Thursday to help Oakland County Republicans stage what they call "the biggest rally ever held before a spring election."

Romney will speak at a 7:30 p.m. public rally climaxing an entire day of campaigning in the county by GOP candidates for state offices in the April 1 election.

The rally is scheduled at the Birmingham Community House, 330 S. Bates St.

The day will begin for the Republican candidates with a 9 a.m. press conference at Devon Gables in Bloomfield Township.

Campaign stops at factory gates, shopping centers and business sections and visits to county offices, schools, municipal buildings and private residences are included in their day's itinerary.

Raymond M. Hatch, GOP nominee for state superintendent of public instruction, will meet with county school superintendents.

Arthur K. Rouse, candidate for Michigan State University Board of Trustees, and Marshall V. Noecker and Dr. Alfred H. Whitaker, candidates for Wayne State University Board of Governors, will lunch with Oakland University officials.

Circuit judges Raymond G. Smith and Donald E. Holbrook, candidates for the State Supreme Court, will visit the County Courthouse and attend a luncheon held by county judges and attorneys at Pontiac Elks Club.

Romney and William B. Gault, candidate for University of Michigan Board of Regents, will join the others at a 5:45 p.m. dinner reception with County Republican leaders at Devon Gables.

J. M. White, candidate for U. of M. regent, and James F. O'Neill, nominee for the State Board of Education, will attend the public rally at Birmingham Community House.

Recent revolutions in both Iraq and Syria have placed admirers of U.A.R. President Nasser in positions of power.

Syria's new government was urged to join four other pro-Nasser states in a joint military command as a step toward uniting the Arab sphere from the Atlantic Ocean to the Persian Gulf.

A proposed "supreme political command" would tie together the forces of Algeria, the United Arab Republic (U.A.R.), Yemen, Syria and Iraq in all matters of armament, planning, equipment and training.

A political policy leadership also would be worked out. Iraq and Syria expressed interest in the plan yesterday, but there was no indication what response they would give to the plan of the Arab world, Algeria and the U.A.R., would give the proposal.

MacNamara Eyes Scraping of Dyna-Soar

Manned Space Glider to Be 3rd AF Project Doomed at Pentagon?

(Editor's Note: In the past year, the Air Force lost two of its pet projects, the R570 reconnaissance strike plane and the Skybolt missile. Now, a third Air Force program, the Dyna-Soar manned space glider, may be scrapped.)

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force faces possible loss or severe cutback of another of its cherished projects — the manned space glider called Dyna-Soar.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara reportedly has strong doubts the space glider program is worth the additional $500 million it would take to complete it.

McNamara and his scientists apparently believe the Dyna-Soar would duplicate work to be done by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's two-man Gemini orbital flights.

The defense secretary has set in motion a review of the Dyna-Soar project and has told the Air Force, in effect, to try to justify moving ahead with it.

The Air Force—which contends there is no comparison between the two projects—is mustering data and arguments to present to the tough-minded Pentagon chief.

Its mood was underscored by Lt. Gen. James Ferguson, the Air Force's deputy chief of staff for research and development, who said "We think it is a most critical part of the national space program."

3RD DEFEAT
Death or major curtailment of the manned space glider would hand the Air Force its third serious defeat within the past year.

The others came on McNamara's refusal to permit full R570 reconnaissance strike plane and Skybolt missile.

The Air Force has significant congressional backing for its Dyna-Soar, now officially called the X20, and for its so-called frustrated ambitions for a big-scale military space program.

But if McNamara should decide against the Dyna-Soar, it is unlikely congressional outcries will budge him.

Adenauer Rejects Bidault Plea

BONN, Germany (AP)—A spokesman said today Chancellor Konrad Adenauer sent back unopened a letter from former French Premier Georges Bidault asking for asylum in Germany.

The spokesman said that, under German law, political asylum is a question for local authorities in Bavaria, where Bidault is under police protection.

Because of the political importance of the case, he added, advice had been asked from the interior minister in Bonn. No reply had yet been given, he added.

Bidault, political chief of the French terrorist movement sworn to eliminate President Charles de Gaulle, was located Sunday by German police in a lakeside hideout near the Swiss border. He made his request for asylum at once.

Adenauer's spokesman, deputy press chief Werner Krueger, said Adenauer had apparently heard in advance what was in Bidault's letter.

"The Chancellor did not accept it," Krueger said.

The discovery of Bidault in Bavaria put a new strain on French-German relations today.

Extradition to France appeared unlikely, since he is wanted on a political charge—treason.

Extradition on political charges is barred by international law.

Bidault was living in the house of a Dutch magazine writer in the village of Steinbach, on Lake Woertheim southeast of Munich.

A dozen police officers entered the house before dawn. Bidault asked for police protection saying he feared attempts on his life.

Bavarian Interior Minister Heinrich Junker said that although Bidault is on a list of undesirable aliens, there are no plans to expel him from Germany immediately, and that his request for asylum will be "carefully studied."

Tax Cut Plan Pushed Again by President

Cites Unemployment as Nation's No. 1 Economic Problem

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy reported to Congress today that unemployment, "our No. 1 economic problem," is wasting lives and unrealized production that could materially increase the nation's living standards.

The President said the economy is growing steadily more efficient but is progressively failing to supply the jobs to occupy a fast-expanding population and work force.

"We cannot accept this situation," Kennedy said in again urging on his tax cut proposals and other programs advanced to spur economic growth and job expansion.

"It is within our power to take these steps," he said, "to consummate an achievement of such magnitude as to mark this decade for all time in the history of human progress."

Kennedy submitted his message to Congress along with a comprehensive Labor Department inventory of manpower resources and their utilization since World War II and forecasts of what is likely to happen in the future.

SEES RISE
At the rate the economy is going, he said, unemployment will rise by 1967 to 5.5 million, or 7 per cent of the work force.

Among other things, the President reported:

"In the 15-year period 1947-62, the labor force increased 21 per cent but employment increased only 17 per cent, with consequently rising unemployment."

Nonfarm employment rose an average $60,000 a year in the 1947-57 decade, but since then has been rising less than $50,000 a year, or as Kennedy said, at a rate "not nearly enough to keep up."

In 1962 alone, time lost — because of average 4 million unemployment and because some 2.7 million workers wanted full-time employment but found only part-time work—amounted to a waste of 1 billion potential work days.

Kennedy said this was equivalent to shutting down all production in the nation for over three weeks.

"For each of the past five years the rate of unemployment has been 5.5 per cent or more."

Six in Automobile Killed by Collision With Train

TUNNEL CITY, Wis.—Alerted by the train whistle, Mrs. Allan Lind glanced out of the window of her home—then froze in horror.

"I saw a car go under the train and I wanted to scream. I saw bodies flying," Mrs. Lind was describing the accident which took six lives at a railroad crossing.

Three persons were hurled from the car onto Mrs. Lind's front yard. The train carried the car nearly 2,000 feet toward the mouth of a tunnel for which this community is named.

When it stopped, three other bodies were found in the wreckage.

Authorities said Mrs. Helena Sherwood, 35, of Warren, waited at one crossing until a southbound Milwaukee Road passenger train had passed, then drove slowly about 150 yards onto parallel tracks of the North Western Road and into the path of a northbound passenger train en route from Chicago to Mankato, Minn.

Both her sister, Mary, 15, and their mother, Mrs. Wilbur L. Ott, 43, who was driving, were listed in serious condition today at the hospital.

The driver of the other car, Ernest T. Brooks, 24, of Detroit, was being held at the county jail for investigation of felonious driving, after being treated for minor injuries.

Witnesses said Brooks' car was over the center line and speeding when it collided with the oncoming Ott car, according to Pontiac police. He refused to make any statement.

PNH Enters Regional Cage Play

Pontiac Northern's Huskies will begin their regional basketball competition tomorrow night when they collide with Detroit Catholic Central at 8 p.m. on the PNH court.

Northern qualified for the Class A play with a 58-42 win over archrival Pontiac Central Saturday night. Catholic Central had qualified with a district championship Friday night.

Clarkston will play Livonia Bentley in the other PNH region semifinal Wednesday at 8 p.m. The championship game is slated for Friday night at 8 p.m.

In the Class B regional tournament at Clarkston, the pairings drawn this morning placed Romeo against Mt. Clemens Cindarella at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow night with the winner to tangle with Marysville at 7:30 p.m. Thursday night.

West Bloomfield drew Fenton for its opponent at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday. The Lakers and Marysville are the favorites to reach the 7:30 p.m. finals Saturday based on their 16-3 records this season.

West Bloomfield qualified for the "B" regional tournament with a 55-54 triumph over Clawson Saturday night at PCH.

Romeo defeated Royal Oak Shrine, 67-61, at Rochester Saturday to enter the "B" regional.

Catholic Central won the state Class A tournament in 1961.

House to Vote on New Judgeships?

LANSING—A bill to create two new Circuit Court judgeships in Oakland County may come up for a vote in the House this week.

The measure is before the House Ways and Means Committee following its discharge Thursday from the House Judiciary Committee.

The bill, which received the support this week of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors, was introduced by Rep. Lloyd L. Anderson, R-Waterford Township.

Anderson is a member of the Ways and Means Committee.

RISE IN CASE LOAD
The judges cited an ever-increasing case load brought on by a growing population. They also noted a new court procedure required under new court rules—the pretrial conference—required more time and work from circuit judges.

They said two more judges were needed to prevent cases from backlogging further and to extend the waiting period before cases can be brought to trial. The waiting period already has reached a year, they said.

Wayne County, where the waiting period is reported to be more than two years, also is seeking additional judges.

A bill similar to Anderson's was introduced in the Senate by Sen. Farrell E. Roberts, R-Oakland County. The measure is now being considered by the Senate Judiciary Committee headed by Roberts.

The legislature is expected to approve at least one more judge for the county, despite objections from county Democrats that the need has not been proven.

Democrats claim the timing of the request was motivated by the fact that a Republican now sits in the governor's chair.

Gov. George Romney would fill the new judgeships by appointments that would last until the November 1964 election.

Democrats further charge that the Republican drive for the new judgeships is inconsistent with GOP endorsement of the proposed new state constitution.

The governor will lose the power to fill judicial vacancies if the new constitution is approved by voters April 1.

Say JFK Promise, Geneva Offer Conflict

WASHINGTON (U) — A group of House Republicans said today President Kennedy's declaration that any nuclear test treaty must insure against secret underground tests does not square with the U. S. proposal presented to Russia at Geneva.

"This inconsistency between actual position and described position is a great cause for concern," said Rep. Craig Hosmer of California in a statement issued by the GOP Conference Committee on Nuclear Testing.

Hosmer, the committee chairman, said a U. S. offer made in Geneva last Aug. 27 and still available to the Soviets proposes a treaty banning all underground tests "whether or not cheating could be detected and policed in the low-level ranges."

But in his press conference last week, Hosmer added, Kennedy said the administration "would not accept a test ban which did not give us every assurance that we could detect a series of tests underground."

COULDN'T BE DETECTED

"Hosmer said the atomic commission told a joint congressional committee last week that a whole series of tactical and strategic nuclear weapons could be developed by secret underground tests at low-level yields that cannot be detected by seismic devices."

"Thus, the Kennedy offer is wholly to forgo U. S. testing and advances in all such weapons categories and simply to trust the Soviets to keep their word not to test them and to develop them clandestinely underground," said Hosmer.

In Geneva a Russian spokesman claimed today the Soviet Union could conduct secret nuclear tests beneath the moon with impunity.

Soviet ambassador Semyon K. Sagakin made the statement in the 17-nation disarmament conference to counter American demands for adequate on-site inspection of suspicious earth tremors.

"The United States knows very well that the Soviet Union can carry out nuclear explosions on the other side of the moon," Tsarapkin said.

Superintendent Quits Birmingham Schools

Birmingham Schools' Supt. Otis M. Dickey, 47, has resigned, effective the end of the school year, to go into college teaching.

Dickey, superintendent since 1960, expressed "much regret" at leaving the $18,000-a-year position.

However, in a formal statement, he said, "It is now my feeling and conviction that I can serve the cause of education better in a position wherein I can spend more of my time and energy in working more closely with students and/or staff."

Administrative assistant Walter Piel put part of the blame for Dickey's resignation on parental pressures caused by school district boundary disputes.

Some residents in the Harlan Elementary School area have "vigorously protested the superintendent's plan under which Harlan students would attend Berkshire Junior High School and Grove High School instead of closer Derby and Seaholm schools."

Some have complained that restricting would cause their children to spend an extra 550 hours on school buses.

Dickey has said that educational benefits derived from the move outweigh travel inconveniences.

Harlan parents walked out on a Feb. 27 board meeting when the board's decision to postpone action on the matter was announced.

Dickey was hired to a three-year contract in 1960 when Dwight B. Ireland resigned, after 12 years as superintendent, because of school board interference.

Piel stressed the fact that this was not the case this time.

Mrs. Peter Loomis, school board president, said today that about Dickey's resignation and has been "very pleased" with his work.

"He has brought many improvements to the Birmingham School District," she noted.

Dickey was assistant superintendent of schools in Gross Pointe prior to his appointment in Birmingham.

selection of prospective Circuit Court jurors if the system is adopted.

WOULD USE LISTS

The commissioners would use voter registration lists to pick names for jury duty and would give jury prospects a preliminary screening of qualifications and ability to serve.

Under the present system, township supervisors and city assessors submit jury lists prepared from tax rolls to the county clerk.

There is no preliminary screening of jurors before they report to the presiding circuit judge for screening at the beginning of a jury term.

Proponents of the new system claim it would upgrade the quality of jurors, make more citizens subject to jury duty, and assure an adequate number of jurors.

'God's Word' Crashes Into Trailer Camp

MOUNT CLEMENS (UPI) — A self-styled messenger from God crashed his speeding car into a crowded trailer camp yesterday to demonstrate to camp residents "the wickedness of not going to church."

The impact demolished the car and severely damaged four trailers, but no one was seriously injured.

The driver of the car, Jacob Rubrich, 30, suffered only a bump on the head despite the fact that the car was going 80 miles an hour when it smashed into the trailers. When arrested by Macomb County deputies, Rubrich raised his hand and greeted officers with the words, "Peace for God."

Later, it took five guards to subdue him at a hospital where he was taken for examination.

Rubrich's car was traveling about 80 miles per hour when it crashed into the Blue Skies Trailer Court in Harrison Township, authorities said. The car hit four trailers, and Sheriff Lester Almstadt said it was a miracle none of the eight persons in the trailers was seriously injured.

BUMP ONLY INJURY

Although his car was demolished, Rubrich suffered only a bump on the head.

"God told me to go down there and wake those people up and get them to church," he told deputies.

One woman, Mrs. Dorothy Newport, 44, was treated at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital here for a back injury. Seven other persons, a 23-month-old infant among them, was shaken up. They refused treatment.

Mrs. Hazel Verdi said she was still asleep when the car struck the trailers about 8 a.m. She said she first thought a jet from nearby Selfridge Air Force Base had crashed into the camp or there had been an earthquake.

"I was sound asleep in bed, and the next thing I knew I was lying on my back on the floor," she said. "Everything on the walls flew off, and one of the pictures hit me in the face."

Another camp resident, Mrs. Lois Garlon, said, "I was lifted off the chair and thrown in the air. Then the furniture started flying around the trailer like feathers in a windstorm." She said the car plowed through a bedroom she had left just minutes before.

FUZZY DETAILS

Rubrich was fuzzy about the details and apparently no one saw him drive into the trailer camp.

But deputies said his car was traveling upwards of 80 m.p.h., and it appeared "he never took his foot off the accelerator. We could find one skid mark to indicate he attempted to stop."

The Harrison Township Police Department rushed to the scene for fear sparks from the sizzling details of the crash would ignite from Rubrich's ruptured gas tank and broken oil heating tanks in the camp.

Familiar Targets Blasted by Hoffa at Protest Rally

DETROIT (U) — Teamster President James R. Hoffa leveled blasts at some familiar targets last night in a speech before 4,000 unionists at a rally billed as "grass roots" protest against anti-labor laws pending before Congress.

Hoffa's verbal broadsides were aimed at Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy, Sens. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., and John B. McClellan, D-Ark., and the press.

The union leader criticized Goldwater and McClellan for backing legislation which he claimed would destroy the labor movement and he charged Kennedy with trying to intimidate labor and the press with distorting coverage of the labor movement.

SPONSOR RALLY

The rally was sponsored by a group calling itself Michigan Committee for an Open Labor Forum, headed by Stan Arnold, secretary-treasurer of the Michigan Stage Building and Construction Trades Council.

The audience at Convention Arena also heard from Rep. James Roosevelt, D-Calif., who said the unionists that labor has many enemies and must fight them while putting "its own house in order."

Joseph Curran, president of the National Maritime Union and a member of the executive council of the AFL-CIO, said he had been advised not to appear on the program with Hoffa.

"I want you people to know I am proud to stand behind Jimmy Hoffa," Curran said. "All these attacks on Hoffa are merely a smokescreen to destroy the labor movement."

The organization's official song is called "Erie Go Bragh and Shalom." Erie Go Bragh is "Ireland Forever" in Gaelic. "Shalom" is a Hebrew greeting whose colloquial meaning is either "Hello" or "goodbye."

The more than 50 members say that "Irishmen are Irishmen whatever their religion, and there is nothing in the world quite like Irish food, Irish wit, Irish anything, except, perhaps, Jewish food."

The league previously had bestowed the title of "junior queen" upon Myla Erin Davis, a 14-year-old lass from Salem, Mass.

The league made Myla a

Bloomfield Hills Board Battles Bus Legislation

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — A proposed bill in the state legislature concerning bus transportation to public and private schools has met with heavy opposition from board and PTA members in this school district.

At a joint meeting of the board of education and PTA members Saturday, it was agreed to carry their battle against the bill to the district taxpayers.

The bill would force all Michigan school districts to transport or pay for the transportation of the district's school students to the nearest public or nonpublic school not to be more than eight miles from the district boundary.

Supt. of Schools Eugene L. Johnson noted that there are some 1,000 students from the district attending nonpublic schools.

"We would be hauling to Pontiac, Royal Oak and possibly to University of Detroit High School in Detroit," he said.

ESTIMATES COST

He estimated that this would cost an additional $26,000 or over half the total of the bill's proponents say it will cost the state as a whole.

He warned taxpayers that passage of this bill might necessitate the purchase of 20 extra buses, and might force the board to request a two-mill tax increase.

Transportation costs currently comprise five per cent of the district's school budget, he said.

If this bill is passed, costs will be increased to 14 per cent, he warned.

Johnson urged taxpayers to write their representatives on the House and Senate education committees in opposition to the bill.

He noted that the board of education will distribute literature to residents explaining the bill and the problems it would create.

It Seems to Me . . .

U.S. City for Olympic Games Will Be Chosen Next Monday

One week from today, Michigan will learn her fate on the Olympic Games at a final conference in New York. Each U.S. city seeking the big contests will appear before the international tribunal and make its last pitch.

The matter was settled once. Detroit was tapped.

But Los Angeles blew a fuse and refused to accept the official verdict, and the ensuing tempest resulted in reopening the whole matter. People in this area are properly incensed at this dog-in-the-manger attitude on the part of Los Angeles and California. A travesty like this has never happened before, and California has lost caste and face in the universal league of gentlemen.

Oakland County has a big stake in the proceeding. If the games were awarded to America, it means we'd have these magnificent Olympics right in our own back yard—or at least, a scant mile or so from our southern border. Many area citizens are already working on the big overall committee, and if the games come our way, there will be many Oakland additions to the preliminary group.

Oakland County's 800,000-plus population could actually sit in the official Olympic stadium, see the greatest athletes in the world and return home for dinner at the usual hour.

That's a thrill. And we appreciate it.

Speculative Tidbit . . .

If you want to ruminate over an especially speculative tidbit, I quote an innuendo from the cloak rooms in Washington.

When The Saturday Evening Post article put the finger on Adlai Stevenson as the boy who was trying to soft-pedal the Cuban ultimatum, the President leaped to his defense.

This raised eyebrows. Adlai's no "fair-haired prodigy."

The cognoscenti were puzzled, but now they think they've uncovered the secret angle. ADLAI has mentioned himself rather fondly as a candidate for the governorship of Illinois. And, as you probably know, papa KENNEDY has figured that one of the President's brothers-in-law should be whisked into this convenient spot. And that means ADLAI's hopes must be shelved.

Hence, the K family wants to "get along" with him to make sure he steps aside gracefully so that they can grease the skids for another Kennedy to slide into the governmental trough.

Unverified? Simple? Simple.

This Cuban Mess . . .

Our government in Washington hasn't solved the Cuban situation to the satisfaction of anyone anywhere.

People are becoming more restive and that includes our own hemisphere. Central and South America can't be expected to exhibit much resistance to Communist blandishments when we stand idly by and suck our thumb as the Russians prance about to suit themselves. Are we going to leave 10,000 Russian troops permanently in Cuba? Are we? Are we going to nurture a permanent base for Communist activities within 90 miles of our own shores?

What about the Monroe Doctrine? Do we abandon it?

The people of the United States will interpret a permanent Russian stronghold in Cuba as nothing but complete defeat for President John F. KENNEDY and the U.S. JFK can't possibly "explain" this to anyone's satisfaction. Last October he made his country—and himself—standouts in the whole world through his "or else" announcement.

But since then, our international stock and his own have sunk to a pretty low estate. We're getting pushed all over the map. Khrushchev has resumed telling us what he is going to do and that we'll have to like it or lump it.

Good Advice . . .

I give a very high rating to the anonymous advice which runs as follows:

"No rewards are handed out for cooperating merely with the people we like. It's cooperating with the stinkers that counts."

And in Conclusion . . .

Jottings from the well-thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter:

Temple University, Philadelphia, has 31,000 students, and the president predicts 50,000 by 1975. They've completed $28 million in campus buildings in the last 10 years alone, and there's another $26 million "in the mill." This is precisely what Oakland University can anticipate in the years ahead.

David Lawrence Says:

Coup Isn't Impossible in Cuba

WASHINGTON — Many people who lately have cherished hopes for an early liberation of Cuba must have had a sinking feeling when they read a news dispatch from Santo Domingo of the other day stating some "Western diplomats" arriving from Havana saw little chance of a revolution against Castro.

They reported, moreover, that the Soviets had effectively trained the Castro army to squelch any uprising.

But this is an unrealistic view. It is not true, LAWRENCE says, that the Soviets have effectively trained the Castro army to squelch any uprising.

It is probably true there is today no armed force in Cuba secretly organized which could oust Castro.

But a look at past revolutions, not only in this hemisphere but in other parts of the world, will remind us that the most successful "revolution" is the one that arises from within and is usually described by the French phrase "coup d'etat."

The dictionary defines it as "a sudden decisive exercise of power whereby the existing government is subverted."

The word "revolution" usually suggests a war between two armies inside a country. But in modern times, even in a country of vast area, it is seldom possible to establish a military organization of any size without running the risk of defeat in the initial stages.

A "coup d'etat," however, is different. Inside the army, or the navy or the air force, there gradually develops a revolutionary "underground." It stays loyal on the surface but waits for the propitious moment to strike.

Denied by Experience

The same "Western diplomats" who were given as the source of information that Soviet technicians had trained the Castro army with the latest weapons made the further point that secret police methods prevalent in Russia had neighborhood in which he was born. "Why," says he, "they even came to our door to borrow a match when the Ku Klux Klan burned a cross on our front lawn."

..... We've had the lively baseball, the lively golf ball, and now—hold your breath—we actually have experimental "lively puns" in bowling. Gospel truth. Dept. of Cheers and Jeers: the C's — Michigan's wholehearted rally to the Olympic game cause; the J's — those awful, awful pigeons.

—HAROLD A. FITZGERALD been introduced in Cuba and made unlikely any subversion. This theory, however, is negated by experience inside dictatorship countries in the past. Who, for instance, had a better secret police than the czar of Russia, or a more efficient army? And what army was considered more loyal to its monarch than the czar's troops prior to the revolt in 1918?

Yet it was in the middle of World War I that this same czarist army went over suddenly and almost in its entirety to the revolutionary cause, and the czar was put to death.

NEW YORK — There is word from Communist China which should make you forget such personal troubles as, say, a smudge on your white-walled tire.

In the hinterlands of Mao Tse-tung's paradise, the famous situation has led to a new form of CONSIDINE Communist control, invoked by what are called "Smelling Squads."

The smellers range from villages at mealtimes sniffing for the aroma of meat, usually unobtainable legally. The smell, when detected, is followed to its source — "midst great snuffling noises, one presumes — and those who dared to have meat are taken away to fates unknown."

Landing groups range from 50 to 20 men who hit the beaches at night, break into smaller groups and scatter.

They are armed only with weapons they can pick up and run with, or easily hide: small mortars, bazookas, burp guns and explosives.

Missions are being stepped up. Speaking of war, there is little likelihood of any conflict emerging from the dispute between France and Brazil over lobsters.

Gen. de Gaulle has sent a few warships to protect the French lobster fleet now operating miles off the Brazilian coast.

Brazil has made sounds of a menacing nature.

Lobsters have begun to loom big in the Brazilian economy. Experts to the U.S. have trebled to more than $3-million annually in the past three years.

France recently launched 60 fishing trawlers, freezer-equipped and with sufficient range to cross the Atlantic. Some of these are the cause of the current dispute.

But it won't get anywhere because of a most involved point of law.

Did the lobster just now hauled aboard the French lobster boat swim 50 miles from the Brazilian shore line? Or did he walk it? If he swam it, the French have every right to grab him and rush him off to Maxim's.

If he walked it (with or without authority of the New Frontier) he walked on Brazil's Continental Shelf, and therefore is still under Brazilian jurisdiction.

We'd like to see the U.S. kick that one around for a year or two, until cooler heads (and claws) prevail.

'Why Doesn't Government Eliminate Many Frills?'

The Administration is waxing indignant again at the mere suggestion of a budget cut. The President asks, "Are we to cut the school lunches, ADC, our veterans' hospitals?"

No, Mr. President, but why not cut a few hundred public relations experts who are paid by the taxpayers to present the First Family in the best possible light?

Or the $40,000 spent for a swimming pool in the old Senate Office Building plus the yearly salary of $24,530 for massagers? Let the senators jump in the lake like the rest of us if they need a swim.

And a few hundred other things are what we mean when we suggest a little economy in government, but politicians only think of essentials when the tired citizen suggests a little less spending and a little more common sense.

'Building Inspector Got a Bad Deal'

The Walled Lake building inspector was granted a public hearing by the city council as to possible reinstatement. He received no support from council other than Mr. Kellogg.

I do not believe that the council itself had the background or work knowledge to know whether the added load on the building inspector was fair or unfair.

All jobs should have recourse to objection and discussion. If not, what can any city employee look forward to other than dismissal because of a misunderstanding and disagreement occur?

The reputation of the ex-building inspector for fair dealing, honest effort and capable work is widely known. He got a bad shake.

Need New Look

The Oregonian (Portland)

After President de Gaulle torpedoed British membership in the European Common Market, this newspaper commented that although de Gaulle is under no compulsion to cooperate, neither is the United States required to leave its military forces in western Europe.

Our primary interest always has been the security of the United States—and this was plainly stated by Presidents Truman and Eisenhower. Our effort has been to prevent expansion of the Soviet empire which eventually would lead to a military showdown.

But our military and economic aid to Western Europe—more than $50 billion since World War II—has helped these countries become strong and self-sufficient. The Kennedy administration has not faced up to the question: In view of Western Europe's attitude and strength, and in view of the changed nature of defense — missiles with nuclear warheads — is the United States justified in burdening its taxpayers further by leaving in Europe six full divisions of American military power, and in continuing to supply NATO gaps of our allies?

President Kennedy said the United States plans to maintain its six divisions in western Europe "until there is a desire on the part of the Europeans that they be withdrawn." Why should any nation in western Europe "desire" the withdrawal of American military forces which contribute billions of dollars to their economies and perform the defense role they should be performing?

If what Mr. Kennedy says is true, that U.S. forces are in Europe "to help defend Europe and the West, and not because we desire to keep them there for any purpose immediately of our own," then it is time to start bringing our troops home. It is time for the formulation of new and decisive foreign policies in Washington.

Bald Eagle Topic of Audobon Club Speech

Dr. Daniel S. McGeen, of Lake Angelus Road, president of Pontiac Audubon Club, staging its fifth anniversary Saturday at Oakland University, points to mice ravages in a nest collection brought in by Wayne T. Wilson (left) of Covert Road. The Waterford Township High School junior is convinced the nests are strictly "for the birds."

Sergej Postupalsky of Warren holds a mounted bald eagle, subject of a color film made for the Cornell University Laboratory of Ornithology, to be viewed by Pontiac Audubon Club members Saturday at Oakland University.

Sergej Postupalsky will speak about a Michigan bald eagle survey at Pontiac Audubon Club's fifth anniversary meeting Saturday evening in the Oakland Room at Oakland University.

An afternoon session, planned by Dr. and Mrs. Daniel S. McGeen, will include a get acquainted period at 2:30, a slide fest at 3:30 and a campus tour at 4:30.

A roast beef dinner, open to the public, will be served at 6 o'clock following a social hour. Mrs. Charles Frick will accept reservations through Thursday only.

Mr. Postupalsky, presently working on his science degree at Wayne State University, will speak at 7:30 p.m. on the bald eagle's struggle for survival.

FILM PRESENTATION

A film made in Florida and Alaska, entitled "The Bald Eagle - Our National Bird," includes close-ups of a 78-year-old man climbing 100-foot trees to band eagles, and unusual shots of roosee spoonbills and other wildlife of eagle habitat.

Pick Crusade Workers for Cancer Education

Committee members for the April Educational Crusade of the Michigan Cancer Foundation have been announced by Mrs. Frank Prather, Women's Crusade chairman.

Serving the North Oakland County Unit will be Mrs. Milt D. McIntosh, Mrs. George McCorkle and Mrs. Gordon Frain.

These women are in the process of recruiting a training volunteers to carry out the foundation's house-to-house fact-finding survey. The survey is designed to ascertain public knowledge and attitude toward cancer.

The foundation is financially supported by the Pontiac Area United Fund and the United Foundation of Great er Detroit. It does not solicit funds.

The volunteer staff of the North Oakland County Unit office met recently for training and orientation. Mrs. Vergil E. Hooper of the Oakland County Department of Social Welfare was speaker. She stressed importance of cooperation among agencies in meeting needs of people in the community.

The Michigan Cancer Foundation carries on a year-round service program. It offers free of charge dressings, hospital beds, wheel chairs and small sick room supplies for cancer patients in the home.

Sacred Occasion

Should Dignify Wedding

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: There is a Justice of the Peace who works in the same building with me. He performs marriage ceremonies with his hat on. I told him he should take his hat off but he said there's no reason why he can't leave it on.

Also, he sits while he reads the marriage ceremony, and he doesn't even read it — he mumbles it. I would like your opinion of this. He gave me a nickel to write to you.

DEAR TROUBLE: A marriage ceremony should be performed with all the dignity and solemnity befitting that sacred occasion. He sounds like a very old man with a bald head and a new hat.

DEAR ABBY: I have been corresponding with a serviceman for three years and want to marry him. He is a widower and I've never been married. He retires in two years.

When he last visited me he said he would marry me in a minute but he promised his 13-year-old son that he would never marry. The boy lives with his maternal grandparents in another city.

My gentleman friend suggested that he and his son visit me without letting the boy know of our plans and see what the boy's reaction is to me. What do you think of this idea?

DEAR ANXIOUS: Having to win over a 13-year-old boy, who apparently does not want to share his father's affection with anyone else, places you in a very awkward spot.

I admire the father for his deep concern over his son's feelings—but you would be starting out in second place. If you are satisfied with that position, go along with the plan and try to win the boy's approval.

DEAR POLLY — My husband and I recently were sponsors of the church youth group of which our 13-year-old son is a member.

Present day youths are just more than a little on the beam and providing entertainment can be a problem.

I took 15 clean baby food jars and labeled them with the numbers one through 15. Into each I put about two teaspoons of various items from my kitchen shelves. All were white or nearly so and they vary only in texture such as flour, white corn meal, sugar, salt, alum (used for pickles), soda, baking powder and so on.

The idea is to see who can identify the most items. It proves to be a very intriguing and baffling game.

Several of my friends have also tried it and they report that gentlemen are more apt than ladies in recognizing the staple kitchen items. MRS. L. E. L.

Height Can Be Stunning

Stand Tall, Big Girls!

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

I haven't written to my tall readers for some time now, #2 here goes! The only way above-average height can be a handicap to a woman is if she herself makes it so.

Here are some of the ways in which the tall woman can turn what should have been an asset into a handicap.

She can allow self-consciousness about her height to trick her into poor posture. First, and above every other consideration, the tall woman should develop a beautiful carriage. When she does this, she is absolutely stunning!

She can wear her skirts too short with the idea that this "cuts" her height. This makes her look all legs and creates an awkward silhouette, instead.

She should wear her skirts at the length most becoming to her and within the fashion allowable.

She can wear nothing but flats even if she longs to wear heels. Today, there are a great many most attractive shoes with little or very low heels.

Perhaps when going to a dance it would be smart to wear a low-heeled model since there are, no doubt, some men who prefer to dance with women no taller than they are.

However, to make a fetish of the low heel is a mistake, I think. A really attractive, secure, emotionally mature man is not going to notice height.

In fact, many such men marry women who are taller than they.

She can wear small costume jewelry and carry small bags. This is the field in which the tall girl has a real advantage.

She can wear very smart, heavy, chunky pins, bracelets, earrings and necklaces, and carry huge bags which would be overpowering to the shorter woman.

The tall woman can be spectacular and get away with it. The cut of a woman's clothes, the type material used and the placement of buttons and other trimming can be important to the attractiveness of either the tall or the short woman.

New pep for tired husbands!

No wonder so many women complain that their husbands come home "too tired out to step out"! The charming tensions millions of men face on their jobs constantly drain them of the energy and vitality they might otherwise have.

Made from the germinating heart of the wheat kernel, wheat germ is the most healthful food known, according to official U.S. Department of Agriculture studies of the nutritive values of foods.

• Kretschmer Wheat Germ actually provides a total of 30 natural vitamins.

usually balanced nutrients essential to good health, vigor and stamina! In addition, it acts like a spark plug to help the body use other high-energy foods more fully.

• Serve your husband this remarkable natural food every day for breakfast and see for yourself how much more zip and vitality he has!

• Use these delicious, tiny toasted flakes as a cereal, on cereals, or add to pancakes and scrambled eggs.

• Kretschmer Wheat Germ is great for the entire family, so be sure to get some. Look for it in vacuum-sealed glass jars in the cereal section of your food store. Choose either regular or Sugar 'N Honey.

Has Her 100th Birthday

With Wishes From JFK

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Archibald Boyd celebrated his 100th birthday Sunday with messages of best wishes from President Kennedy, Gov. William W. Scranton and Mayor James H. J. Tate.

Boyd, erect and vigorous, lives at a nursing home. He has outlived his wife, two sons and a daughter. He says he has no formula for longevity. He approves of 50 mile hikes "but not in this kind of weather."

Dogs Finally Win Out

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UPI) — It finally happened — the greyhounds caught the mechanical rabbit. Eight dogs jumped on the metal bunny and happily tried to tear it to shreds when an electrical storm this weekend

TEARFUL TRIBUTE — June Carter and Smiley Wilson, overcome by farewell tribute paid to five Grand Ole Opry stars killed last week, stand backstage during Saturday night's show, weeping with grief.

Performers in Tears at Ole Opry Tribute

NASHVILLE, Tenn., UPI — The Nashville studio with heads bowed manager in silent tribute to five of their favorite Grand Ole Opry performers.

The cast paused briefly Saturday night while Opry manager Otis Devine spoke to the hushed audience.

"They never walked on this stage without a smile," Devine said, "and they would want us to keep smiling now."

Georgia, Star in 'Oliver,' Seeks Cheaper 'Barber'

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Georgia Brown's looking for a new barber to cut her long, wildly flowing, shoulder-length hair which gives her a special kind of beauty as she whippers around stage playing Nancy in "Oliver!"

"My London hairdresser," says Georgia, "wrote to one here asking that he take care of my hair. I saw him—and he trimmed it and cut a little bit off the ends. For 4½ he charged me $27."

"He asked permission to claim that he 'created' the hairdo I've been wearing for two years!"

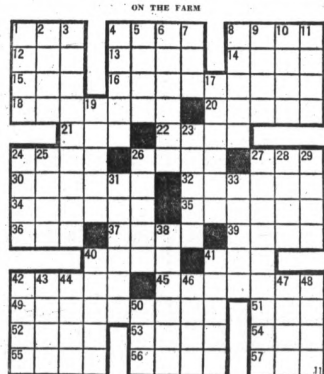

Georgia's beauty is such that Artist David Stone Martin asked her to pose for a panel he's doing for the Smithsonian — as being representative of a 17-Century American woman.

"It's funny," Georgia says. "A Polish-Russian Jew born at Mother Levy's Home in London was chosen as a 17th Century American."

Georgia'll soon double into the Blue Angel, during a midnight show. "I'll be simple," she says. "I'll merely give up my days. I'll stay in bed till 5 every day."

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Comic Jackie Kannon reports his new cafe at'll have some gags about the Kennedys: "These days unless you mention Jack, Jackie or Caroline in a routine, you're considered un-American."

Fire Hits Die Firm In Grand Rapids

A police officer in a cruiser discovered the blaze at about 3:50 a.m.

Myers said 10 vehicles and 40 men were dispatched to the 1½-story cement block structure. The blaze was brought under control in about one hour. No injuries were reported and a cause of the fire was being sought.

How Many Miles Have You Shaved?

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Someone has figured that a man shaves about 20 square miles of face during his lifetime.

A recent study showed that most babies arrive between 2 and 5 o'clock in the morning, the fewest between 4 and 7 p.m.

Mother, Two Sons Die in Plane Crash

LA JUNTA, Colo. (AP) — A mother and her two sons were killed Sunday when a light plane, caught in a storm, crashed in a plowed field 20 miles south of here.

The husband and father, H. Erwin Graham, 42, Plainview, Tex., grain dealer, was piloting the plane. He was thrown clear and suffered burns and a broken back.

The couple's daughter, Mrs. De Juan Strickland was in another plane but stopped at Dalhart, Tex., after receiving storm warnings.

Urges Voters to Elect Foe

TIVOLI, N. Y. (UPI) — Former Mayor Howard Beard, a candidate for his old job, today urged voters to elect his opponent March 19.

"I felt it was my civic duty to run because no one else seemed to want the job," Beard said.

"But now that A. Parker Boyce has filed a petition for the job, I would like to see him get all the votes."
