Here's How Constitution Could Affect County

By JIM DYGERT

What will the proposed state constitution mean, especially for Oakland County, if the document is approved Monday?

● More representation in Lansing, a chance for county home rule and a new judiciary opportunity for a senator.

● Easier going for Pontiac with urban renewal projects.

Senate apportionment provisions of the new constitution—matters of some debate between approvers and disapprovers of the document — would give the county three senators instead of its present one.

The county's number of members in the House of Representatives would be increased from six to at least nine, and maybe 10.

However, reapportionment of the House by the legislature would probably give the county nine House districts, even if the new constitution fails to pass.

The Senate already has passed a bill to that effect. The House will consider it if the new constitution is defeated.

House reapportionment is required every 10 years under the present constitution. The 110 House districts would be reshaped in accordance with 1960 population figures.

Two of the county's six House districts are the largest — and therefore the most underrepresented — in the state.

But it's uncertain when the county would get more senators if the new constitution fails. Senate apportionment under the present constitution, as amended, is currently before the U.S. Supreme Court.

News Analysis

No Senate reapportionment would take place before the Supreme Court resolves the case brought by Michigan AFL-CIO chief August Scholle of Royal Oak.

Scholle and the Democratic party claim the districts are too far out of line with population and therefore deprive citizens of equal representation.

Democrats also dislike Senate apportionment provisions of the new constitution. They are based on an 80 per cent population, 20 per cent area formula.

County home rule, long sought by Oakland County officials to reorganize and strengthen county government to meet modern problems and conditions, would be possible under the new constitution.

Under detailed provisions left by the new constitution to the State Legislature, the county could frame and adopt a charter changing its governmental structure and possibly increasing its taxing power.

County home rule has been described as essential to good government in counties that have become largely urban or suburban.

District Bill Passed to House for Vote

LANSING — The Senate yesterday passed bills that would give Oakland County two new circuit judges and split the county into two congressional districts.

The measures will now go to the House, which failed to pass a congressional redistricting bill of its own before yesterday's midnight deadline.

The House has until tomorrow to pass a bill to create the two new judgeships.

The measure is considered an appropriation bill because the state would pay part of the judges' salaries. Tax and appropriation bills were exempted from yesterday's deadline.

If the House concurs in approval of the two new judgeships, the county's number of circuit judges would be increased from five to seven.

Royal Oak attorney and Oakland County Bar Association President James S. Thorburn and Pontiac attorney Philip Pratt are considered the most likely prospects for appointment to fill the vacancies by Gov. George Romney.

The new judges would serve until the November 1964 election.

NEW 19TH DISTRICT

The Senate bill to reshape the state's congressional district would put most of Oakland County's area into the new 19th District which the state received as a result of the 1960 census.

It would leave the area south of 28-Mile Road and east of Inkster Road, plus Farmington Township, in the 18th District, and put the rest of the county in the 19th with Lapeer and St. Clair counties.

The 18th now takes in the entire county.

Both districts would be about

Wasted Time Kills 71 Bills

Senate Won't Allow More House Debate

LANSING (UPI) — The House of Representatives paid a stiff price today for wasting its time yesterday.

A total of 71 House bills finally died when the Senate refused to go along with a rule change that would have allowed further debate on the bills which expired on the calendar last midnight.

The House joint resolution asking the change was left in the Senate Business Committee and did not get to a vote as the industrious Senate, which managed to clean up all but five bills that had to be acted on in that chamber yesterday, packed up and went home for the weekend.

Republican Floor Leader Robert E. Waldron of Grosse Pointe admitted the House had to shoulder the blame for the death of the measures since it had engaged yesterday in what he called "dilatory tactics."

During the marathon session that began at 9:30 a.m., the House passed only 39 bills and defeated five.

Seek 19-Year-Old Hartland Boy in Bludgeoning of Pair

By JIM LONG

A murder warrant for a 19-year-old Hartland youth was issued today in the bludgeon slaying of a White Lake Township boy and the vicious beating of the boy's younger sister.

Oakland County Assistant Prosecutor Jerome K. Barry authorized the warrant for Carl Case, who police are still seeking.

Case visited Leonard C. Reed, 16, the slain boy, and his sister, Naomi, 14, while they were at a neighbor's home shortly before they were found beaten on a deserted road a quarter mile from their house.

Sheriff Frank Irons said that "more information" linking Case to the crime has been uncovered but added it "is too early to reveal."

CHECK OUT REPORT

The Reed boy died in Pontiac General Hospital four hours after he and his sister were found by police on McKeachie Road about 9:30 p.m. Tuesday.

His sister remains in critical condition at the hospital.

Capt. Leo Hazen of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department said Case visited Reed while Reed and his sister were visiting neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. James Howard, 5420 McKeachie Road.

Case left the Howard home about 15 minutes before the Reed children, according to Hazen, head of the investigation.

The youngsters, children of Mr. and Mrs. William L. Reed, were attacked outside their car—midway between their own home and the Howards.

The elder Reed told police that Case had been at his home

Confession, Body End Brooklyn Case

JACKSON (AP) — The mysterious disappearance of Mrs. Joan Watkins, 28, from a southern Michigan village 39 days ago has been solved with the recovery of her body and a confession from her abductor, authorities said today.

Sheriff's officers and state police said Larry L. Hanley, 22, of Napoleon, Mich., broke down on his third lie detector test yesterday and admitted he killed the housewife after he forced her at gunpoint to accompany him to a new house he was building.

The body was found under eight feet of earth buried beside the cement-block basement wall of the house outside Napoleon. Mrs. Watkins had been shot once in the head with a 32-caliber bullet.

Mrs. Watkins disappeared from a Brooklyn coin laundry at 1:30 a.m. Sunday, Feb. 17. She had gone from her home near Brooklyn to the laundry to wash diapers for her 10-month-old daughter.

An intensive search of the lake and wooded area 15 miles southeast of Jackson failed to turn up any clues.

Hanley, an unemployed factory worker, was arraigned in Jackson municipal court last night on a murder charge. He waived examination and was bound over to Circuit Court for arraignment April 3 (9 a.m.) He was jailed without bond.

Police said Hanley came under surveillance and questioning when patrons of the overnight laundry said they had seen him at the laundry just before Mrs. Watkins' disappearance.

Hanley told sheriff's detective James Myers and state police detective Sgt. Charles Southworth he had been in the laundry but that he left at 1 a.m., went to a nearby bar, had one drink and went to the home of his parents-in-law where his wife and their several-days-old baby daughter were staying in Napoleon.

The officers said the first lie test given Hanley a week later was inconclusive. But they said a test given Hanley last Saturday indicated that he had picked up Mrs. Watkins at the laundry. He told them he had taken her to Jackson and left her at the bus station, police said.

The officers quoted Hanley as giving this account of what had happened:

Hanley stopped at the laundry about 1:30 a.m. Feb. 17 and saw Mrs. Watkins putting her laundry into her car. He asked her to get into his car.

When she didn't, he pulled out his 32-caliber revolver and ordered, "get into the car!" She replied "All right but you don't have to do that." He then drove her to his isolated new home north of Napoleon about five miles north of Brooklyn.

His car became stuck in loose earth in the back yard and he and Mrs. Watkins got out to free it. She said something that angered him and he swung at her.

Mrs. Watkins attempted to run away but she stumbled, and as she lay on the ground Hanley shot her in the left temple.

Hanley buried the body after digging a grave in the earth floor of the garage.

State Blue Shield Nixes Conditions for Rate Hike

DETROIT (AP) — Charging Insurance Commissioner Sherwood Colburn with "coercive tactics," Michigan Blue Shield today refused to accept his conditions relative to a rate increase.

Blue Shield (prepaid medical care) took its stand as Colburn and Blue Cross approached a showdown on the latter's rate increase request.

Hot words were flying in the two rate increase disputes.

Colburn accused Blue Cross leadership of a "reprehensible and irresponsible attitude" and was in turn rebuffed for being "completely ridiculous."

Reforms proposed by Colburn for both Blue Cross and Blue Shield have been at issue.

Meanwhile Colburn promised a decision sometime today on Blue Cross' rate increase request for hospital care.

Blue Shield's board of directors brought its charge against Colburn after concluding a meeting at 1 a.m. today. Blue Cross meets tonight.

Frank O. Starr, deputy executive director of Blue Shield, said in a statement that Colburn's demands were "unacceptable." The statement also accused Colburn of going beyond his authority.

Starr said Colburn's demands were an "unwarranted intrusion by government in the internal business affairs of a private corporation."

Blue Shield and Blue Cross are nonprofit organizations set up under Michigan law.

The officials said Colburn's conditions were coercive since Blue Shield has to have the rate increase for its solvency. Starr also said there was nothing in CAPE CANAVERAL — The weatherman gave a "go" signal today to a planned U.S. attempt to fire a mighty Saturn 1 rocket into space this afternoon. But scientists called off a satellite shot that had been set for tonight as part of a doubleheader.

The 165-foot Saturn 1, packing the horsepower of 300,000 automobiles, was scheduled to blast off on a thunderous, seven-minute flight at 1:30 p.m. (Pontiac time).

The countdown passed a major barrier at 7:30 a.m. when scientists decided the weather looked good enough to go ahead. Liquid oxygen immediately began flowing into the rocket's giant fuel tanks.

A space agency spokesman said one hour later, "We are right on time."

Payload trouble forced postponement of an attempt to launch the Explorer 17 satellite.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration reported the Explorer 17 launching was off until at least early next week.

Plan Canvass for Lost Boy

Bloomfield Township police are conducting an area house-to-house canvass today in a search for more information on the whereabouts of 12-year-old Robert Grinnan. The mentally retarded youth has been missing since Friday.

"We're still checking out all clues," Bloomfield officer Harry Bentley said today.

However, he added that most of the "clues" reported were only ideas as to what has happened to the boy.

Police have checked and rechecked township drains, basements and sewers in their search, with the assistance of the Oakland County Road Commission.

Five skindivers on the township force have scoured the bottoms of small lakes in the area.

Police said the boy cannot talk, but answers to the name of "Bobby."

Owners Get Compensation

Jury Awards $262,063 for Renewal Land

An Oakland County Circuit Court jury has entered a verdict awarding $262,063.66 to property owners in Pontiac's second urban renewal project.

The award is $28,500 more than had been offered by the city and some $45,000 less than asked by owners of contested properties.

City officials today expressed satisfaction with the jury award. Attorneys representing property owners in the R44 project condemnation case indicated they wouldn't appeal the decision.

★ ★ ★

The $262,063.66 award consisted mostly of cases, or individual awards, which had already been settled and didn't require a decision by the jury of 11 women and one man.

"About $147,000 of the total award represents cases disposed of during litigation," said Sam Travis, attorney for the city.

"Some were settled too late to take them off the jury roll and others were left on the roll to protect the interests of the city."

Some previously settled claims were included in the total award merely to give the city a legal record of the settlements.

These consisted mainly of awards involving tenants, interruption of business and specialized equipment or fixtures which couldn't be relocated with the tenants.

The jury had to decide the amount of awards on only two cases, involving about six parcels.

The jury awards in these two cases totaled $115,000. The city had offered a total of $86,500 for the properties and the owners had asked a total of $160,000.

Thus, only about a half-dozen of the 45 parcels purchased in the R44 project required a jury decision.

Total cost of properties in the R44 project stands at $1,634,328.60. The total which had been offered by the city was $1,605,628.60, according to James R. Bates, urban renewal director.

A similar bill in the House met opposition from Democrats and at least one Republican who wanted Farmington Township and Livingston County in the 19th instead of Lapeer and St. Clair.

Proponents of this plan are expected to continue their fight when the Senate bill is considered in the House.

Both plans would make a separate, Democratic district of Macomb County.

As an aftermath, Gov. George Romney's success record in gaining his legislative goals still stood close to 100 per cent.

In action yesterday, the last day in which bills could be passed in their house of origin, Romney got:

—A slightly changed Ford-Canton bill.

—A construction safety measure.

—Minimum wage legislation.

—And budget proposals, including an immediate effect $1-million appropriation for planning at state institutions.

Coupled with the bills the legislature has already fully enacted, Sen. William G. Milliken, the Republican floor leader from Traverse City, was prompted to say "Romney's basic program has survived all of the legislative processes so far.

"It looks very hopeful for the rest of the session. We're going to end up with a constructive and responsible program," Milliken said.

In addition to pushing forward with Romney's program the legislature also passed important measures that would, if approved in the companion chamber:

—Require school districts which receive state aid for bus transportation to provide transportation to private and parochial school pupils.

—Change the date of the August primary election to the first Tuesday in November.

—Require a prescription for the purchase of paregoric.

Warns of Court Action if Zoning Not Changed

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — Court action could result from failure to adopt zoning changes proposed by the planning commission, one of its members warned in a letter to Bloomfield Hills residents.

O. E. Hunt said a dissatisfied land owner could allege in court that the city was exercising too restrictive control over use of his property.

If the city lost the case, the land could become "unzoned" and the owner would be free to do with it what he pleased, he pointed out.

Court action will be invited if no changes are made in the areas zoned for multiple dwellings and central business district, according to Hunt.

He noted that the proposals offered by three city commissioners opposed to the original plan call for few changes.

Hunt described as "hastily prepared" the alternative plan and claimed the three city commissioners made an incomplete report to the people.

The report did not mention the city's population increases and the effect of a new sanitary sewer system in increasing land values, he said.

The planners made their recommendations after 28 study meetings and with the advice of a professional planning consultant, Hunt noted.

He said his letter was endorsed by a majority of the nine-member planning commission.

The City Council has deferred action on any zoning changes until after the April 1 election.

Rate Proposal Turned Down

What's Constitution's Effect?

sion for a new state court of appeals, with authority between Circuit Courts and the State Supreme Court, has drawn interest of the county's Republican senator, Farrell E. Roberts.

Roberts may be a candidate for one of nine seats on the new court if the new constitution passes.

Although his name has been mentioned as a possible candidate for U.S. Congress, serving the new 19th congressional district expected to be created in the county this year, Roberts says he's not interested in that.

A change that the new constitution would make in condemnation procedures would speed them up, easing Pontiac's troubles with urban renewal projects.

A Circuit Court jury's decision in December that the city's first urban renewal project was necessary has been appealed to the State Supreme Court.

Under the new constitution, necessity of such a project is not mentioned. The document says only that "compensation shall be determined in proceedings of a court of record" when private property is taken for public use.

The appeal in Pontiac's urban renewal case would automatically be dropped if the new constitution passes, according to City Attorney William Ewart.

However, the proposed document leaves details of condemnation proceedings to the legislature, which presumably could require that project necessity be established.

Another special effect on the county of the new constitution would be to deprive State Rep. Lloyd L. Anderson, R-Waterford Township, of one of his jobs.

Anderson would have to give up either his House seat or his job as right-of-way purchaser for the Oakland County Road Commission.

The new constitution provides that no official or employe of federal, state or local governments may be a member of the legislature.

Housing Project for Aged Ready for Emergencies

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP) — Everything from "trouble buttons" to emergency lighting has been included in a new housing project here to make life safer and easier for senior citizens.

Alarm buttons are located in each bathroom so that elderly persons can summon aid in an emergency.

Auxiliary lighting, powered by batteries which are self recharging, take over in case of failure of the regular lighting system.

The special facilities are part of the Scranton Housing Authority's low-cost dwelling project for the Social Security set.

Artificial ice for commercial purposes surpassed natural ice in the U.S. for the first time in 1914.

RELIC OF DEPRESSION ERA—Merrill F. Walls, employment service manager at the Pontiac branch of the Michigan Employment and Security Commission, inspects a piece of "ticking" used to cover files in 1936 when he first joined the agency.

Employment Official Assigned to Pontiac

Merrill F. Walls has come home, but the surroundings are a little strange.

He was hired as an interviewer at the National Reemployment Service in Pontiac in 1936.

After serving in many different capacities for the federal agency at many different locations throughout the Detroit metropolitan area, Walls finally returned home.

He was assigned as employment service manager for the Pontiac branch of the Michigan Employment and Securities Commission earlier this month.

However, instead of a small office in an old church as in 1936, he finds himself in a modern, air-conditioned, well-lighted office at 242 Oakland Ave.

The only familiar item he has found after the 26 year transition is a piece of "ticking" (heavy cover) used to cover files when he first started.

The piece has been preserved down through the years and has been moved from office to office as the agency moved.

"The chills of winter and the heat of summer found easy access to our office back in 1936," Walls recalled as he fondled the piece of ticking.

"Our equipment was borrowed from many sources throughout the city, and our files were augmented by shoe boxes laid out on long tables," he reminisced.

"Those were the days of the WPA (Works Project Administration) and most of our work involved the certification of applicants for jobs on the various projects.

"I spent many days at various road and sewer projects, using a shanty as an office, bringing the records of these workers up to date," he said.

Looking around at his current modern surroundings, Walls forecast there would be more changes.

He noted that the agency is considering putting its two functions in separate quarters to provide more efficient operation.

At present, both the employment and unemployment services are housed together at the Pontiac office.

If this is the case, Walls said, "I shall see to it that the piece of ticking makes the move with us."

Took a Truck to Free Pup

GADSDEN, Ala. (AP)—Dogs get into the darndest places.

After passers-by heard a puppy's cries from a concrete drain pipe, workmen for the city pound found they couldn't reach the pup through the pipe.

So a truck with a winch was brought in. It lifted a heavy slab of concrete and a fireman went into the opening and called to the dog.

Cruise Ship Sold to Eastern Group; Plies Great Lakes

HOLLAND (AP)—The Great Lakes cruise ship North American has been sold for an undisclosed sum to a group of Pennsylvania businessmen, its former operators said yesterday.

E. J. Goebel, president of the Chicago-Duluth & Georgian Bay Transit Co., said the purchasers plan to form a company known as Canadian Holiday Lines and use the 500-passenger vessel on Lake Erie from Erie, Pa., to Port Dover, Ont.

Company spokesmen said the North American was built about 50 years ago for $500,000. It is quartered for the winter at Holland with a sister ship, the South American.

Cuba Blames U.S. for Attack

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Havana Radio said today that Fidel Castro holds the United States government responsible for an attack on a Soviet freighter by Cuban exiles Tuesday night.

If such hit-and-run attacks continue, the radio quoted Castro as saying, Cuba may have to acquire "long range bombers and the necessary naval equipment with which to escort her merchant vessels and protect her routes of supplies from the outside and to repel aggressors."

The broadcast, monitored in Key West, described the statement from Prime Minister Castro.

Opposition Fails to Halt 'Hate U. S.' Conference

"Hate the United States" is the name of the international four-day Congress now in session in Rio de Janiero. As shadowy as any recent international conclave of any note is this gathering of leftists in Brazil.

The Goulart regime naturally is in opposition to the congress. But politics in Brazil is so oddly tangled that there was not much he could do.

★ ★ ★

At this writing, the convention is running into strong opposition led by Gov. CARLOS LACERDA of Guanabara State (Rio and suburbs), who is attempting to prevent the meeting from being held in Rio.

Lacerda is a long-time foe of the Communists and will do everything possible to halt the Red sessions.

The principal sponsor of the Rio de Janiero congress is FRANCISCO JULIAO, an attorney and federal deputy. He is the leader of the Ligas Camponesas, or peasant league movement, with the slogan—Land, Peace, Freedom.

Juliao has been a guest of Communist China and expresses great admiration for Mao Tse-tung. He claims, however, he is a socialist rather than a Communist. In a recent interview, Juliao said the only way to combat the U. S. influence in Latin America is by force.

★ ★ ★

Another sponsor is Gen. LUIS GONZAGA DE OLIVERRA LEITE, president of the Brazilian Association of Reserve Officers. A third is LUIZ CARLOS PRESTES, also an army officer, who presides over the illegal but overt Communist party. Both PRESTES and JULIAO recently have made much-publicized visits to FIDEL CASTRO's Cuba.

Brazil has many front organizations. Party magazines and newspapers are freely sold. Communists have great influence in student groups and in the labor unions.

★ ★ ★

The first congress of this type was held two years ago in Mexico City. It is regarded as having brought about subversion in Venezuela and Peru and leftist agitation in Panama and Puerto Rico. Brazil, as the biggest nation in Latin America, presents a strategic target for the Communists, to whom, by contrast, Cuba was only a target of opportunity.

Most Brazilians are not worried about the threat of CASTRO or communism. Let's hope they are right.

Amendment to Abolish Voting Discrimination

Indications are that the poll tax, long a blot on America's civil rights escutcheon, is on its way into the political limbo it deserves.

Falling in step behind the banner of a proposed amendment to the Constitution, 23 states have approved erasing the restriction on one of our country's basic freedoms — the right to vote.

★ ★ ★

So far, only three states have rejected the resolution or adjourned without taking action. Since but 15 more ratifications are required among the 24 states yet to face the issue, early adoption of the amendment would seem assured.

★ ★ ★

There are only five states where the obsolete practice of taxing the exercise of suffrage persists. Nevertheless, the reform in the making is a vital part of the current effort to open the ballot box to all qualified voters without regard to race or ability to pay a poll tax.

★ ★ ★

We heartily commend the forces working toward the abolition of this remaining vestige of constitutional inequity and the establishment of equal status in the voting booth.

BLESSED are the poor; they don't have to borrow money in order to pay income taxes.

Grief of Store's Staff Given Public Expression

By HOWARD HELDENBRAND

There comes a moving letter from
Mrs. Verla Cloyd
of 2965 Orchard Lake Road on behalf of the personnel of Kroger's Mall market.

Delicate Balance

David Lawrence Says:

Must Restrict Power of Unions

WASHINGTON — The New York City newspaper strike has had a profound effect on the nation. The theory that "it can't happen in free America" has obviously been proved fallacious.

LAWRENCE

A large community, comprised of millions of citizens, was deprived of its own newspapers — a contingency which our forefathers considered serious enough to cause them to insert a specific provision in the constitution forbidding the suppression of the press by government anywhere in the United States.

But apparently nobody thought then that private groups could do what the government couldn't do and yet be immune from any penalty of law. Today the powers of a "private government" exceed in many respects the powers of the national, state and city governments themselves.

Assuming that both sides in a labor dispute feel justified in pursuing their own objectives from an economic, or even sociological, standpoint, there is still a crucial question that has gone unanswered.

Does private power that damages and inflicts substantial losses, financial or otherwise, on other groups of citizens have an unlimited and unrestricted scope of operation?

★ ★ ★

The right to strike has been imbedded in federal and state law. The right of an individual to work or refrain from work is supposed to be immune from interference. But it isn't.

A picket line intimidates and often forcibly prevents a man from going to his job. He, in effect, has lost in free America his right to work.

LIBERTY TO INDIVIDUAL

The constitution gives liberty of action to the individual, but it hasn't bestowed such a right on groups of citizens. Congress has enacted laws granting to unions the right to bargain collectively and to strike collectively.

In the New York newspaper strike, the members of several unions which had no part in the "bargaining" done by other unions were thrown out of work.

Employers in self-protection had banded themselves together to bargain as a unit and to refrain from publishing when their competitors were being shut down by a strike.

Public officials from the President down took a "hands-off" attitude for a long time. Expressions of disapproval were later voiced, and the governor of New York and the mayor of New York City took a hand separately in actually trying to bring both sides together. But there was even then no compulsion about acceptance of mediation or of the proposals of a mediator.

The strike has been drifting on for nearly four months until financial exhaustion is near. When a settlement is reached, it won't be a solution to the problem itself — how to achieve the goals of each side without a strike or coercive tactics.

The absence of any effective machinery to deal with strikes is tragic. Several steps now might be taken.

Individual labor unions could be required to abide by the wishes of a national committee or federation of labor leaders.

Employers could be required to submit to the decision of a national board or committee composed of representatives of employer interests.

No individual, of course, should be permitted to serve on such a committee in dealing with any case if he has an interest in any company or union organization that is a party to the dispute.

No formula will seem attractive to those who have heretofore been given a free hand. But the consequence has been a form of economic anarchy, the recurrence of which must be prevented.

The New York newspapers strike may still serve a salutary purpose if the deep-seated feeling of protest which has swept the country is recognized by Congress as a mandate to exercise its lawmaking power to protect the "public interests" — a much-abused phrase so frequently uttered by politicians but rarely in fact applied.

Bob Considine Says:

Prize Fighting to Survive Despite Current Uproar

NEW YORK—Not long before Davey Moore, the fighter, died from the beating he had received from the fists of Sugar Ramos in Los Angeles, Ramos called on the dying boxer's wife to offer his tearful sympathy.

CONSIDINE

"It was God's act," the soon-to-be-widowed Geraldine Moore, mother of five children, consoled. "I want you to understand I'm not blaming you for anything. Both of you went into the ring to fight for the championship. One of you had to be the winner and it happened you are the lucky one.

★ ★ ★

"I realize it's hard for you, but you aren't to blame. I'm asking you not to take it that way. Pray for him."

The dying man's eyes had not closed before there was legislation suggested for the outlawing of boxing in California.

The inevitable investigation is already under way. Both sides will come forward with strong arguments. Then the public and the press will lose interest by degrees.

Something new and exciting will happen in the fight game—the rise of a Cassius Clay, for example—and people who only recently were denouncing the gory business (Pope John XXIII had a better word for it: "Barbaric") will stand in line in the rain to buy a ticket.

SPIRIT TO FADE

Mrs. Geraldine Moore and her nobility of spirit will fade from consciousness and conscience. Whatever became of Mrs. Benny Paret? Mrs. Ernie Schaaf?

It is a hard, cynical game, boxing, pitiless for those who fall by its waysides. But it is going to survive because one of the depravities of man is to want to crush or slay with his fists.

The laws and his own ineptitude or pale courage frustrate him. So he pays to watch others do it, and dreams of himself as winner of every engagement.

Boxing will survive, whether it deserves to or not. But those who make money from it must do something soon to make that survival possible.

The forlornest part of the investigation into the death of Moore will be the appearance on the stand and in the stately halls of a host of opportunists who will attempt in the most obscene way to use the poor man's bones as a launching pad for their own mean ambition.

More Writers Express Their Views on Crime

I agree with the Greene family . . . an entire race should not be condemned for the actions of a few. I'm sure we have some in our own race that could commit as cruel a crime.

I am against capital punishment. God gave us life and I believe only He has a right to take that life.

Pontiac Resident

Why can't arrangements be made so a police car could patrol each of our larger suburban shopping centers from closing time until all buildings are deserted? Most managers are alone in their stores for a period of time after other employes have left, providing a perfect opportunity for robbery. Maybe many thieves would be discouraged knowing this.

M. J.

I agree with "Disgusted With Crime" that we need capital punishment in Michigan. If we don't get it soon, it will not be safe to walk on the streets of Pontiac.

Disgusted Citizen

Until we get capital punishment in Michigan I think these men who did such a terrible thing should be punished before the public so they will never forget what happened. I would feel the same if these men were white. God does not look upon the color of a person's skin.

Mrs. Pearl Hudson

I am a white man who believes in capital punishment, but for crimes such as killing your mother or rape. I can't say that it should apply only to the Negro or poor man.

When I read letters like those in Friday's paper I felt ashamed to belong to the human race. I feel nothing but shame for all whites who say they believe in God and then sit back and yell loudest about crimes committed by the Negro race. There is equal justice for all.

George Benjamin

The time for a capital punishment bill in Michigan is here and should have been long ago. There is too much protection of criminals and too little for the public.

Time for Action

'Using Headlights Makes Good Sense'

Nowhere in the Drivers' Manual issued by the State Highway Dept., can I find mention of when to turn on or off car headlights.

★ ★ ★

I have found that safe drivers turn on lights just before sundown and off at sunrise, provided there is no rain, fog, or snow.

★ ★ ★

Driving with high-beam lights is another hazard. Still another is failure to use turn signals.

Robert R. McMartin

Milford

I would like to inform "Annoyed," that unless the car one is driving can be seen at dusk, dawn, or night, you are a candidate for the morgue.

★ ★ ★

Accidents are not caused by good drivers who pay attention to their driving and it hurts just as much to get hit by a driver who needs to know you are there as it would if he were the "so-called" good driver. Statistics prove the highest accident rate is at dawn and dusk.

★ ★ ★

Our police department as well as others are lax on this ruling and should enforce the use of headlamps as the law implies. They cost nothing to operate and it is discourteous if a car does not display lighted lamps at the time in question.

'Island Students Have It Rougher'

I got a chuckle out of the letter "No Heated Water at Lambert School." As far as it being uncomfortable and unhealthy, I wonder. In our little one room school the toilets are located 200 yards out back and, believe me, they are unheated. A handful of snow does for washing hands. And more than once this winter it got down lower than 30 below. But a happier bunch of kids you never saw and no one misses school because of sickness.

At PTA every parent will attend and that's more than I can say when my children were going to Lambert School.

Says Republicans Only Help 'Haves'

Our state rules on unemployment insurance do not cover everyone employed as they should. Many jobs are not covered, so how about the aid bill that should cover children of unemployed? It is discriminatory and the ones needing it the most will be left out.

Why is it the Republicans are willing to help the "haves" but so dedicated in denying help to the "have nots"? As long as this country holds to that philosophy there is danger to the country from ideologies such as communism and socialism.

School Bus Bill Still Controversial

Will some of the citizens who choose to send their children to non-public schools, please stop using threats in gaining their end? If private schools had never started there would have been enough public schools built over the years to handle the children. This problem lays squarely in the lap of all non-public schools.

Most boards of education could handle the transition of private school children to the public schools without being "floored."

Now "Citizen for Fair Play," who gets hurt the most when all private school children are sent to public schools? The children. Is your thinking good for your children's morale? Do you teach them to threaten for what they want? There are more diplomatic ways of getting results.

Public School Employe

Isn't it probable that if the school bus bill is passed we could have so many different schools formed that it would be impossible to pay for them?

Suppose the Communists decide to have a school. How many of us would be willing to pay for that and yet we would be compelled as long as the gate is open. Always when we are not satisfied with what is offered we pay extra for our own desires.

Call for Plumber Prompts Replies

Three cheers for the five plumbers who refused to install a water heater that wasn't purchased from them. The entire plumbing and heating industry would be better off if all plumbers followed their example.

Few people think of the investment a plumber has — $2,500 truck, $1,500 in tools and equipment, rent, insurance, gas, oil and truck repairs and insurance.

I am not a plumber but I realize that plumbers are skilled tradesmen.

Bill on Student Aid Close to Passage

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Education subcommittee was close today to reaching bipartisan agreement on a $2.7-billion college construction and student aid bill, the only new education proposal by President Kennedy given a chance of passage.

The measure, expected to be approved this week, probably will have White House support even though it will differ from the administration's original request for a $3.3-billion education bill.

The bill also is likely to receive substantial Republican support.

Ivan Gets Little of Big Industry Gains

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the second of three dispatches on the Soviet economy.)

By JOSEPH D. HUTNYAN

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Soviet Union will easily surpass the United States in industrial production before the end of the 20th Century if the forces that presently control the economic destinies of nations remain unchanged.

★ ★ ★

Russia's economic performance is not quite as record-breaking as Premier Khrushchev claims, but it was still good enough to generate a growth rate twice as fast as the United States during the past 10 years.

In fact, if you go by the textbook standards, the Soviet economy's gains the past 17 years have been pretty impressive.

At the end of World War II, the Soviets picked up the pieces of their smashed country and began building the factories and machines that are the heart of Russia's industrial economy.

During the postwar years, the U.S.S.R. recorded the highest annual average growth rate of any major country in the world.

Right now, West Germany and Japan are growing faster than Russia. But both of these got a head start after the war from the millions of U.S. dollars that were plowed into them.

U.S. OUTPRODUCED

Commerce Department studies show that the Soviets today are outproducing the United States in coal, cement, machine tools and woolen cloth. They are closing in on capitalism's lead in steel, pig iron and other critical materials.

How has Russia been able to achieve such startling industrial gains?

By literally pinching and squeezing its economy to route every available ruble into the building of heavy industry, even at the expense of consumer products.

This means that during those postwar years when U.S. factories were using their capital to build automobiles, toasters and television sets, Russia was putting its investment money into the building of factories to produce steel-making equipment.

Included in this industrial investment stream was money that could have gone for higher wages for Russian workers, but the Communist planners decreed otherwise. The bite didn't end there.

The Russian consumer, whether he likes it or not, makes a hefty contribution toward this industrial fund by paying sales taxes, fantastically high by U.S. standards.

When a Soviet shopper buys a suit for the average price of about $125, chances are that half of the total goes back to the government in taxes.

U.S. economists would argue that this emphasis on capital investment distorts the economy, especially by leaving precious little for the man who really pulls the oar.

NO COMPARISON

There is simply no comparison between the Russian and the U.S. man on the street in this department.

In the United States, 89 out of every 100 families have a television set. In the Soviet Union, the figure is 10 out of every 100. Only 5 per cent of the Russian families have washing machines. The figure is 95 per cent in this country.

This consumer gap probably doesn't keep very many Russian leaders awake at night since neither washing machines nor TV sets are important instruments of economic power—at least not by Communist standards.

And the Soviet techniques have been successful enough to build an impressive heavy industrial complex in less than a generation.

This brings up another point which emphasizes why a comparison of the Russian and U.S. economies is a tough assignment.

To do this, the economist has to work out a definition of economic achievement applicable to both political spheres. This is impossible because it raises the same ideological questions that have divided the world into two armed camps.

For instance, Russia during the postwar years has built up the second largest steel industry in the world, which anyone should be willing to accept as a symbol of economic progress.

But a closer look makes the question of assessing the economic achievement less cut and dried. Especially when it's pointed out that the average wage earner in the Magnitogorsk Steel Works in the Urals has the buying power roughly equivalent to that of a man on relief in Cleveland.

Heart Attack's Fatal to Reformatory Guard

IONIA (UPI) — James Heydenburk, 49, of Lyons, died yesterday while on duty as sergeant of the guards at the Ionia State Reformatory.

Warden Ed Colbert said Heydenburk and two fellow guards were investigating an inmate's cell disturbance when the sergeant collapsed and died, the victim of a heart attack.

Heydenburk joined the reformatory staff in 1946 and became sergeant last October.

$155,000 Grant Given by Ford for Youngsters

NEW YORK (UPI) —A grant of $155,000 for an experiment in enriching the educational experience of preschool children living in deprived areas has been made to the Baltimore City Board of Education by The Ford Foundation.

The experiment is based on studies showing these children can learn basic skills in first and second grades, but begin to run into trouble in third and fourth grades where curriculum and texts demand conceptual knowledge.

Most children gain familiarity with such knowledge in preschool years through conversation with parents, reading by adults, trips, visits and other cultural experiences.

U.S. Chamber Picks President

Delaware Bank Exec Receives 1-Year Term

WASHINGTON (AP) — Edwin P. Neilan, Wilmington, Del., bank executive who earned his first dollar as a carpenter's apprentice, was named president of the United States Chamber of Commerce yesterday.

The chamber's board of directors announced Neilan's election to one-year term beginning May 1.

Neilan, 57, is chairman of the board of the Bank of Delaware, an institution he joined as associate trust officer in 1940.

★ ★ ★

Chamber directors also announced that Ladd Plumley, the organization's current president, will serve as chairman of the board for the coming year.

Plumley is head of State Mutual Life Assurance Co. of America, Worcester, Mass.

Richard Wagner, chairman of the executive committee, Champlin Oil & Refining Co., Chicago, was named chairman of the chamber's executive committee.

Louis B. Lundborg, executive vice president of the Bank of America, Los Angeles, was designated treasurer.

Neilan headed a chamber finance committee which recommended a $4.5-billion reduction in President Kennedy's proposed $98.8-billion budget for 1963-64.

Born in Mason County, Mich., Neilan attended the University of Omaha for two years and was graduated from Rice Institute of Technology in 1928.

Morocco King Resumes Talk With Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy and King Hassan II of Morocco resume talks today, with one subject expected to be possible conversion of former U.S. bases in Morocco to civilian airports.

Kennedy and the king took time out last night to enjoy—enthusiastically — a cut-down version of the Broadway musical "Brigadoon." The presentation at the White House followed a formal state dinner which the President and Mrs. Kennedy gave for Hassan.

He reciprocates with a state luncheon for Kennedy today.

★ ★ ★

In toasting the President last night, the king said he was sure their talks would include the importance of transforming former U. S. bases in Morocco into civilian centers "with the assistance of your government."

The United States has abandoned one air base and has promised to give up four other military installations in the north African nation.

Turkey Revokes Parole of Former President

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — The Turkish government revoked the parole of former President Celal Bayar today, confined him to a hospital, and warned the people against further violence.

Bayar's release from prison Friday touched off four days of riotous demonstrations by students who backed the army coup of 1960.

Soviet Writer Gives In, Confesses 'Mistakes'

MOSCOW (AP) — Poet Yevgeny Yevtushenko, a chief target of Premier Khrushchev's blast last month at Western influences in Soviet art, has bowed to official pressure again.

The Soviet news agency Tass said the 30-year-old idol of Russia's younger generation confessed his "mistakes" yesterday at a meeting of Soviet writers.

Cancer Carriers May Be Dogs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Man's best friend—as well as some other animals—may be a spreader of cancer, a government specialist reports.

Writing in Public Health Reports, Dr. Michael B. Shimkin of the National Cancer Institute noted the growing research on the possibility that some forms of human cancer may be caused by viruses.

And he added: "Tumors in animals are of interest today not only because they may demonstrate environmental factors shared by man, but because some animal species may be vectors (carriers) and transmitters of viruses that may cause neoplasms (malignancies) in man."

In the article published yesterday, Shimkin pointed out that cancers occur among dogs, cattle, fowl, cats, fish, frogs, reptiles and wild animals in zoos.

Shimkin said that dogs, which "in our culture . . . seem to be considered as 3-year-old children with fur," develop a large number and variety of cancers.

Portugal Mum on Bidault

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — Portuguese police said today the whereabouts of former French Premier George Bidault will remain secret until he leaves Portugal soon.

Bidault, a leader in the underground fight to overthrow President Charles de Gaulle, slipped into Portugal with a secretary from West Germany Tuesday.

★ ★ ★

The government refused to let them stay because they entered under false names.

★ ★ ★

After questioning yesterday, Bidault and his aide were allowed to choose their destination. It is believed they will go to South America.

Packing Plant Blast Injures 1 Employe

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — An employe was injured today in an explosion at a meat packing plant that flattened half the building.

Police said leaking gas may have caused the blast. There was no fire, however.

John De Vries, 32, of Grand Rapids, suffered a leg fracture. Rescuers dug him out of rubble after a wall collapsed.

Reds Kill 20 Chinese

MACAO (UPI) — More than 20 Chinese fishermen today were reported killed when their junk was sunk by two Red Chinese gunboats in waters a few miles from Macao. An exchange of gunfire preceded the sinking.

MADISON, Wis. (UPI) — The assembly passed a Republican bill yesterday to reapportion Wisconsin's congressional districts.

Tax Refund Is More

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Mrs. John T. Huckabee knew she was getting an income tax refund when she received the government envelope in the mail.

She had applied for a $245 refund. But the check was for $10,531.20. Internal Revenue Service officials suspected an error by a key punch operator.

'Campways-USA' Spans Nation

Program Helps Scouts Discover America

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (UPI) —"Campways-USA" is a new program designed to help American youths "discover" their native land.

The Boy Scouts of America have established a network of more than 400 overnight camps from coast to coast for touring scout groups bent on seeing America.

Arrangements also have been made for touring scout groups to stay overnight at some 900 military camps at minimum cost.

They rogram has boomed since it was started three years ago. Last year, Boy Scout headquarters here processed more than 30,000 trips involving 525,000 boys who traveled some six million miles.

The trips cover not only the United States but often extend into foreign countries. In one week last summer, headquarters processed trips going from California to Japan and Oregon to Switzerland.

Scout officials, now celebrating the 53rd anniversary of the Scouting movement in the United States, say the domestic tours covered visits to state and national parks, national forests and other types of public lands, as well as local camps and private properties.

Tour groups travel not only in conventional ways, by bus and car, but also hike fabulous distances over some of America's famous scenic trails.

* * *

One group took to covered wagon to go from Arizona to Colorado Springs, Colo. Others have traveled through the backwoods by canoe.

* * *

One of the more popular touring destinations is Philmont Scout Ranch near Cimmaron, New Mexico, largest Scout camp in the United States. Philmont can handle up to 15,000 scouts in a season.

Several tour groups have earned their own money to take trips. An Explorer unit in South Bend, Ind., raised camping funds by building reflector ovens and selling them all over the country.

Scout officials say permits are needed for all tours over 250 miles to make sure the trip is properly supervised.

They say other advantages the program offers include control, standards of operation; improved information service on leadership training, food service, equipment and transportation; better travel information, and the opportunity for camp fires and exchanges among the boys.

Supervisors Must Consider

Set $17,145,998 County Budget

The County Board of Supervisors' Ways and Means Committee has recommended a $17,145,998 budget to operate the county next year.

To arrive at this figure, committee members yesterday hiked the County Board of Auditors recommendation by $406,633.

Major part of the increase was in the tentative appropriations for general welfare relief and the cost of adding two circuit judges to the bench here.

The committee's recommendation compares with this year's $15,536,902 county budget, being financed at a 5.25 millage rate.

To finance the $17.1-million budget next year would require 5.96 mills of the total 15 mills available for county, schools and townships.

The committee's recommendation will be presented to the full Board of Supervisors April 9. The board has six days to act on it before presenting it to the County Tax Allocation Board.

LAST YEAR'S BUDGET

Last year, the supervisors presented a $16.7-million budget to the allocation board that would have required 5.89 mills to finance.

The county budget had to be reduced accordingly when the allocation board allotted only 5.25 mills.

Ways and Means committeemen estimated the proposed $17.1-million budget for next year would be financed by $13,107,498 in taxes and $4,072,500 in receipts.

* * *

The cost of an additional two judges in 1964 was estimated at $146,150. In the event the legislature approves only one additional judge here, this figure would be reduced by $67,275.

* * *

In raising the auditors recommended $1.9-million appropriation for general relief by another $200,000, committee members agreed they couldn't be so optimistic about next year's general economy.

The Ways and Means Committee reduced the auditors' $88,353 recommendation for the Oakland Child Guidance Clinics to $59,500, the same figure allowed in this year's county budget.

* * *

The clinics had asked for $96,804 in the '64 budget.

Bill OK Would Allow County College Vote

A countywide vote on establishing a community college system in Oakland County would be possible by June 10 if the State House of Representatives approves an enabling bill passed yesterday by the Senate.

One or two junior colleges might be in operation by the fall of 1964 if voters approved a community college in a June election.

These were the possibilities outlined today by Oakland County School Supt. William J. Emerson.

The Senate yesterday gave unanimous approval to a community college bill with an amendment that would enable the county to go ahead with plans for a community college district without Clarenceville School District.

* * *

The amendment, introduced by Sen. Farrell E. Roberts, R-Oakland County, after his own enabling bill was sent back to committee, changed existing law to permit Clarenceville to be left out.

Clarenceville could not be excluded under present law because a small part of lies in the county. But neither could it be included because it already is part of the Northwest Wayne County Community College District.

CHANGES LAW

Roberts' amendment also changes the law to allow an election before November 1964.

The bill was given immediate effect by the Senate, so that it would apply the moment it is signed by Gov. George Romney if the House concurs in its approval.

Otherwise, the bill would not take effect until 90 days after the legislature adjourns, which would put the effective date in September according to current legislative schedules.

Under the Senate bill, the establishment of a community college district could be placed on the ballot by resolution of the county board of education, although the county school board could not operate the community colleges as Roberts' original bill had provided.

It was opposition from areas where community colleges now exist under sparate boards that killed Roberts' bill.

If placed on the ballot, the community college question would ask voters:

1) To approve establishment of a community college district.

2) To elect seven members of a board of trustees.

3) Provide for special taxes to pay for the colleges.

A citizens study committee report last year recommended $1 per $1,000 assessed valuation as the tax.

The report also recommended the Pontiac area and Troy near Royal Oak as the location for the first two junior colleges.

* * *

The recommendation was that the first two colleges be built at the same time.

Emerson said that at least partial operation of two such colleges would be possible by September of 1964 if voters approve June 10, the date of the regular school elections.

Electricity Cut Jolts France

PARIS (AP) — French electric company workers staged a series of brief surprise strikes today, stalling Paris subways and suburban trains during the rush hour and leaving many commuters stranded.

Lights binked off in various parts of the capital.

The electrical workers said they will shut off the current at intermittent intervals during the next week. Gas company workers also are expected to strike, lowering pressure in the mains.

Warren G. Harding was the only President ever to visit Alaska during his term in office. He made the trip in 1923 shortly before his death.

To Rest Case at Murder Trial

Prosecutor to Wind Up Presentation

Oakland County Senior Assistant Prosecutor Robert Templin planned to rest his case today against two men charged with first-degree murder in the Oct. 16 slaying of an Inkster father of six.

* * *

Defendants in the case are Richard Drobil, 21, of Belleville and Stanley Maroley, 46, of 22600 Middle Belt Road, Farmington Township.

* * *

Drobil is accused of fatally shooting Peter B. Perva, 44, as a favor to Maroley, his ex-wife's father. Maroley admitted to police that he had been having an affair with Perva's 40-year-old wife Vivian.

Perva's body was found in a shallow grave in Independence Township a day after the slaying.

* * *

Seven witnesses already have testified for the prosecution, and three more were expected to take the stand today. Mrs. Perva and Drobil's former wife, Nina Maroley, 22, were among those who testified Tuesday, the first day of the trial.

INSANITY PLEA

Drobil's attorney, David Utley of Pontiac, is basing defense of his client on a plea of insanity. The ex-Mrs. Drobil testified that Drobil once tried to kill her.

* * *

She also said she was with her ex-husband when he got into Perva's car at a stop street the morning of the slaying.

* * *

But she said she did not believe him when he told her he had killed Perva because "he was always saying things I couldn't believe."

* * *

Maroley's defense attorney, Donald Brown of Royal Oak, is expected to maintain that his client did not know of Drobil's intention to kill Perva.

* * *

Drobil's ex-wife said the alleged murder gun was bought by Maroley for her protection and was taken by Drobil from the trailer where Maroley and his daughter live.

Suburbs Lose Tax Fight in State House

LANSING (AP) — The last immediate hope of Detroit area suburbanites to escape from Detroit's 1 per cent income tax on nonresidents collapsed yesterday in the House.

On a vote of 65-36, House members rejected a bill which would have barred such taxes on persons working, but not living, in a city and required a charter amendment for any city to impose it on its own residents.

"I'm disappointed, but what can you do when the floor leader is against you?" asked Rep. William Hayward, R-Royal Oak, sponsor of the measure.

He referred to the fact that Rep. Robert Waldron, R-Grosse Pointe, the House GOP floor leader and also a resident of suburban Detroit, made a floor speech branding the proposal as "bad legislation."

Find No Bell Ringer of a Clue to Mystery

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Papal police are pursuing a phantom bell pealer who keeps the chimes going atop their very own church.

For days now the bell of the Church of the Pilgrim has been pealing at odd hours. But the papal gendarmerie have been unable to find evidence that it has been done by human hands.

The Church of the Pilgrim is an unpretentious building at the end of a narrow side street to the right of St. Peter's.

It is the official church of the 100-man police force of the 108-acre Vatican State.

The church is so small that the bell cord from the tower dangles outdoors into a closed courtyard. One must reach through a tiny grated window from inside the church to touch the rope.

THROUGH BARRACKS

The courtyard is accessible only through the gendarmes' barracks. There is an old door, too, but it hasn't been used in years.

Guards have been stationed at the door of the church.

* * *

One gendarme grabbed his binoculars when the bell began to sound Tuesday, thought he saw a brown sleeve protruding through the grated window, and gave the alarm below.

But the unknown bell ringer was nowhere to be found inside the sealed-off church.

Try to Bolster Fallen-Away Diet Patients

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (AP) — Patients put on a strict diet as part of medical therapy for certain illnesses soon grow impatient with it, follow it half-heartedly or abandon it completely.

In an effort to combat this tendency, the Douglass College Home Economics Department at Rutgers University has instituted a counseling service, whereby doctor-prescribed diets are tailored to individual needs.

Particularly when a person must remain on a diet for life, it must be adapted to his own food preferences, his religious or cultural pattern and his income level.

"Diet is such an essential part of the treatment of certain diseases that whether or not a patient can be returned to active life may depend on what he eats," says Dr. Miriam K. Brush, lecturer in nutrition, who started the project.

Broadway's Upgraded by British Playwright

NEW YORK (AP) — Jack Richardson, a playwright getting his first exposure this season on Broadway, feels there's a tendency to exaggerate Broadway shortcomings.

"Every bad season is redeemed by one or two plays," says the author of the upcoming "Lorenzo."

"It depends on who's writing. I think several new writers are working to broaden the American theater and get away from Ibsen realism."

Ignores U.S.-Russ Berlin Talks

De Gaulle Plays Odd Man Out Again

PARIS (UPI) — Resumption of United States-Soviet talks on Berlin in Washington finds French President Charles de Gaulle once again in his now familiar odd-man-out role.

France is taking no part in the talks. De Gaulle is not even an interested spectator. He simply is ignoring them.

That has been de Gaulle's posture for at least 18 months where East-West talks with the Soviets are concerned. There is no sign of his changing in the near future.

Since the end of 1961 de Gaulle has refused any part in negotiation with the Russians.

His hostility even to diplomatic "probing" on Berlin blew up into a crisis in the North Atlantic (NATO) Council in December 1961.

It was settled only by a compromise arrangement that the United States and Great Britian would go on talking with the Russians and that France, though disapproving, would not veto the talks, but simply would take no part.

News Analysis

De Gaulle has taken the same stand on disarmament and nuclear test ban negotiations. He has boycotted, even ignored them. But he has not sought actively to block them.

DOESN'T BUY ARGUMENT

The stubborn old French leader never has gone for the "talk rather than war" argument.

To begin with, he is firmly convinced the Russians will not attack the West in Europe and thus provoke a nuclear showdown with the United States.

* * *

He believes the perodic Berlin crisis touched off by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev are largely bluff. He believes Khrushchev is seeking to threaten and scare the West out of Berlin but would not risk use of force.

De Gaulle argues that the West has nothing to gain and much to lose by negotiations on Berlin.

"When you are sitting pretty, there is no point in negotiating." "You gain nothing and may end up by making concessions."

SEES DANGER

In fact, de Gaulle always has considered East-West talks on Berlin dangerous. He fears the Russians may interpret western readiness to talk as a sign of weakness.

De Gaulle does not rule out East-West talks for good.

He believes a time will come when the Russians will be ready for genuine negotiations—without threats, bluff or duress about their relations on a worldwide basis with the West.

But that time may be a decade or more away de Gaulle thinks.

Meantime, he is unlikely to put in an appearance at the East-West conference table.

So intricate are the mechanisms of a modern military torpedo that some tiny parts could be hidden under a person's fingernail.

Youths Sentenced to County Jail

Two 20-year-olds youths were ordered to serve 60 days in Oakland County jail yesterday for entering an Oxford home without permission Nov. 12.

Donald Evans, of 3323 E. Walton Blvd., and Carl Steensma, of 5550 Delano Road, Metamora, were sentenced, by Circuit Judge William J. Beer after they pleaded guilty to entering without permission.

Their trial on a charge of burglary was about to begin before Judge Beer when the pair was permitted to plead guilty to the lesser charge.

They were accused of breaking into the home of Miss Nellie E. Kellie at 31 W. Burdick St. and stealing money and a watch.

The first ballet was performed in 1580 in France at the royal court of Catherine de Medici.

Legislator Opposes Constitution

Pontiac's State Rep. Arthur J. Law today urged a "no" vote on the proposed state constitution.

Law, a Democrat, cited provisions in the document he says "would be harmful to education, local government and consumers."

He claimed that the proposed constitution's failure to earmark the primary interest fund for school aid as the present constitution provides would deprive the education fund of more than $60 million.

Law said another $117 million would be taken away from local schools because of a provision calling for financing of state college budgets out of the school aid fund presently reserved for grade and high schools.

"These two changes could cost Pontiac and other area school districts thousands of dollars in school aid," Law claimed.

Such losses would mean either higher property taxes or sharp reductions in school programs, he said.

Law also claimed that the new con weakens the present constitutional earmarking of two cents of the sales tax on each dollar for schools.

He said new con language permits a reduction in such earmarked funds.

Local governments would suffer, Law continued, because of a similar weakening in the present guarantee of one-half cent of the sales tax on each dollar for state aid to municipalities.

Law also said that the section which would permit the State Legislature "to tamper with presently dedicated gasoline taxes and license fees would also result in cutbacks of state matching funds for joint road building projects."

Pontiac's legislator went on to argue that consumers would be hurt by a loophole in the new con that would enable the legislature to exceed the four-cent per dollar sales tax limit.

The new con would permit additional sales tax on consumers and wholesalers "since the four per cent limit is applied only to a sales tax on retailers," Law said.

He claimed the legislature could double the present sales tax and the four per cent limit by imposing a consumers tax of two per cent and a wholesale tax of two per cent, along with the four per cent sales tax on retailers, to make a total sales tax of eight per cent.

"These are just some of the many backward and costly steps contained in the proposed constitution which residents of the Pontiac area should consider before they vote Monday," Law concluded.

Cash, Stepladder Taken From Waterford Church

Cash amounting to $64.50 and a stepladder valued at $12 have been stolen during the past month from the Crescent Hills Baptist Church, 2288 Crescent Lake Road, Waterford Township, according to a church spokesman.

Theft of most of the money, $60 in bills from the March 10 collection, was discovered March 11.

One of the keys to the front door has been missing for some time, police said.

It's a Real In-cent-ive

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Service station operator Al Rehbein reduced the price one cent a gallon for customers who pulled up to a certain row of gasoline pumps — the row nearest the office where he sits to keep cool in summer, warm in winter.

Supreme Court Candidates Experienced on Bench

Three of the four candidates who seek election to one of two Supreme Court posts in Monday's statewide election have sat on Circuit Court benches.

And two of the four also can claim experience in the high court.

Election of Supreme Court justices is designated as nonpartisan. Candidates are nevertheless nominated at political party conventions.

The judicial contestants:

Educators Run for Lansing Job

A Republican member of the Michigan State University faculty will try to block a Democrat seeking his fourth two-year term as superintendent of public instruction.

Both the incumbent and challenger have extensive teaching backgrounds. The opponents:

LYNN M. BARTLETT, 58, of Grosse Pointe Woods is seeking his fourth two-year term on the Democratic party slate.

Bartlett left the teaching profession to seek the state office in 1957. He won re-election in 1959 and 1961.

RAYMOND N. HATCH, 52, of Okemos was selected by the Republican party from the Michigan State University faculty as the GOP's candidate for the state superintendent of public instruction.

2 MSU Trustees Vie With Republican Rivals

A pair of Democrats who have served on the Michigan State University Board of Trustees since 1957 try for more seniority in Monday's election.

They're opposed by the president of the 1961-62 Michigan Constitutional Convention and a man who served on the MSU board when it was called the State Board of Agriculture. The candidates:

DON STEVENS, 48, of Okemos, educational director of the Michigan State AFL-CIO Council, was elected to the Michigan State University Board of Trustees on the Democratic ticket in 1957.

A native of Greenville, he attended MSU, the University of Michigan and Cornell University.

2 Incumbents Democrats

Out to Keep WSU Board Seats

Two Democrats will try to retain their seats on Wayne State University's board of governors in next week's elections.

The incumbents are a union vice president and an auto company science laboratory director. Their GOP challengers are a building supply firm president and a surgeon. The contenders:

He is president of a Detroit building supply firm and a graduate of the University of Minnesota.

Proposed Constitution Contains Fewer Words

There are 19,319 words in the proposed new state constitution; 21,790 in the 1908 document by which Michigan is governed at the present time. The difference is about 2,500 words, or about 10 pages of print, or about 20 minutes additional reading time.

Women to Get in Word on Constitution—Finally

Feminine voters of Michigan for the first time will have an opportunity to voice their opinion on the passage of a new state constitution Monday.

No woman in the state was qualified in 1908 to vote on the present document, which was written at Michigan's last constitutional convention, held in 1907.

4-H Competition

Achievement Day Set

The winter's activities of 1,500 county 4-H Club members will be climaxed with Saturday's "Achievement Day," competition at the Pontiac Central High School.

Exhibits ranging from a rock study project to a colorful dress revue will be featured at the show.

Evaluation of the various foods entered in competition will keep eight professional home economists busy tasting brownies, cookies, cakes and breads from 9 a.m. to noon.

★ ★ ★

Most of the activity on the program is centered around various clothing projects. Some 20 4-H leaders will be judging the designing and sewing progress that has been made during the past year by county 4-H'ers.

★ ★ ★

Woodworking, electrical projects, leather work, photography and other projects will be among many fields of study exhibited throughout the day.

In the evening, some 200 girls will participate in the style review. An assortment of pretty apparel, from aprons to wool suits, will be shown off by the young seamstresses.

★ ★ ★

Finalists from this competition will compete in a statewide 4-H Style Revue this fall at Michigan State University.

Judges for Saturday's sewing competition will be Mrs. Mary Sloat, Stewart's Fabrics, Birmingham; John Froelich, department manager for J. C. Penny stores; and Jeanmarie Elkins, school editor for The Pontiac Press.

Preliminary judging will be undertaken by 4-H leaders and homemaking teachers.

★ ★ ★

An additional feature of the evening style show is the skits which will be presented between the sewing project presentations.

Winners of the recent 4-H "Share-the-Fun" talent contest at the Lake Orion High School will again offer their entertaining acts.

★ ★ ★

The public is welcome to visit both the all-day display and the evening dress revue. Admission is free.

Trial of Former Policeman Adjourned Until May Term

ROYAL OAK TOWNSHIP—The Oakland County Circuit Court trial of former police Lt. Anniah Ruffin on charges of bribery and extortion was adjourned again yesterday.

Circuit Judge William J. Beer postponed the trial until the beginning of the next jury term in May.

Judge Beer's action came at the end of a day of argument on four motions by one of Ruffin's attorneys, Milton R. Henry of Pontiac.

★ ★ ★

The trial was originally scheduled for March 13, but was postponed two weeks because Henry was defending a client in federal court in Detroit.

Yesterday's adjournment was ordered because it was estimated more time than is left in the current jury term will be needed for the trial.

Four of six counts against Ruffin were dismissed by Judge Beer following motions by Henry and the county prosecutor's office.

REMAINING COUNTS

The two counts remaining charge extortion and bribery. Dismissed were three counts of conspiracy and one charging Ruffin with soliciting a bribe.

Henry also moved to have the trial held in another county on grounds that newspaper publicity about himself and the case makes it impossible to get an impartial jury. Judge Beer denied the motion as he did two others by Henry.

Ruffin, 41, is accused of taking bribes to permit gambling in the township. He was arrested after he met a numbers racket operator who gave him $25 in marked bills, according to police.

★ ★ ★

The numbers operator claimed he paid Ruffin $25 a month for two years.

County Prosecutor George F. Taylor called Ruffin's arrest part of "an over-all clean-up of the township."

Sacred Song Concert to Highlight Service

AUBURN HEIGHTS — A concert of sacred songs by Gerald Barkey, tenor soloist of Detroit's First Church of the Nazarene, will highlight the Sunday services of the Auburn Road Church of the Nazareane.

★ ★ ★

Barkey, formerly the "singing policeman" of Wyandotte, will appear at the 9:45 a.m. Sunday school meeting and the 11 a.m. morning worship service. The public is invited to attend.

Sue Hurd Lock for $12 Million

UAW Seeks Damages in Transfer Hassle

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers union is seeking $12.72 million damages from a company which laid off 310 workers at its Almont plant and moved to Tennessee eight months ago.

The suit, filed in Wayne County Circuit Court yesterday, charged Hurd Lock and Manufacturing Co. division of Avis Industrial Corp. refused to transfer the Almont workers.

It asserted the company rejected a union offer to take a 42-cent hourly pay cut to keep the operation in Michigan.

The union said the damages sought represented lost wages, fringe benefits and union dues.

The UAW negotiated a three-year contract with Hurd in November of 1960.

U.S. Agencies Attempting to Halt Exile Raids on Cuba

By RAYMOND J. CROWLEY

WASHINGTON (AP)—The FBI, the U.S. Coast Guard and other agencies are doing all possible to discourage hit-and-run raids by Cuban refugees on Castro's Cuba, officials said today.

They said this is in line with the policy of President Kennedy. While he has repeatedly expressed a desire to see Cuba freed of communism, Kennedy said last week he did not believe the hit-run tactics are effective toward this end. They may even strengthen Prime Minister Fidel Castro, he said.

Some concern is expressed in high administration circles that the free lance raids, if continued might prove the spark that would set off a new, explosive crisis in U.S.-Soviet relations.

The question of what measures the United States is taking to stop the forays came up in the wake of a Soviet Union protest Wednesday and the report of another raid Tuesday night.

ATTACK RED FREIGHTER

Moscow charged the United States was responsible for "piratical attacks." Specifically, it mentioned an attack on the Soviet freighter Lgov, shot up by exiles March 17 at the sugar port of Isabela de Sagua on Cuba's north coast.

The State Department quickly denied U.S. responsibility for the assault, which refugee leaders have said was mounted from "somewhere in the Caribbean."

★ ★ ★

Lincoln White, department press officer, said: "The U.S. government is doing everything it possibly can to prevent such incidents from happening from U.S. territory."

Even as the United States was rejecting the Soviet protest, word came of a new raid on the port of Isabela de Sagua.

A spokesman for the group, Commando L., said in Miami the raiders slipped into the port Tuesday night, attacked a Soviet freighter and left it "badly in need of repairs to keep it from sinking."

The raiders, the spokesman said returned safely to their base "somewhere in the Caribbean."

A Justice Department official said the FBI is investigating to determine whether the attacks have violated any U.S. laws such as the Neutrality Act or the foreign agents registration act. There is no indication the March 17 attack was mounted from U.S. soil, he said.

Agents are still digging up information on Tuesday's assault.

The Justice Department spokesman hazarded the opinion that the FBI investigation might tend to "put a damper" on such raids.

★ ★ ★

Justice officials, like others in the government, expressed mixed feelings toward Cuban refugee leaders who have vowed to strike "again and again and again."

"We certainly sympathize deeply with their desire to see Cuba freed," one official said, "but we don't want them to push us into a war."

★ ★ ★

The Coast Guard said it regularly patrols the Florida coast with planes and surface vessels.

"If we saw an armed boat heading from Florida to Cuba, we would certainly stop it," an official said.

However, the Coast Guard's jurisdiction extends only over U.S. territorial waters. Also, the job of patrolling the U.S. coast is a big one, and there is no guarantee that a boat might not slip out.

"Historically," the official said, "the work of U.S. agencies such as the customs bureau and the immigration service has been largely devoted to prevent illegal entries into the country, like immigrants without proper papers, narcotics racketeers and diamond smugglers. The agencies have not been so much oriented toward preventing people from getting out."

★ ★ ★

A U.S. Navy official said the Navy's job is on the high seas. It has no authority to intercept vessels flying a foreign flag unless, as in the case of a recently hijacked Venezuelan freighter, the foreign country duly files a request through the State Department.

Of course, during last October's Cuban crisis, a partial blockade has now been lifted, and Kennedy has issued no orders to the Navy that would permit it to stop anti-Castro raiders sailing the seas under foreign colors, officials said.

Police Arrest Bank Bandit

DETROIT (AP) — Police arrested an unemployed Castleton man and recovered $1,076 yesterday shortly after the money was taken from a Redford Township Bank.

Police said Paul Meuleveld, 51, staged the armed robbery shortly before noon in a Manufacturers National Bank Branch at Plymouth and Fenton.

Officers said a teller, Mrs. Dorothy Miller, put the money in a paper bag after the bandit gave her a note demanding money.

Mrs. Miller sounded an alarm and notified Gerald Vayko, the branch manager, as the robber went out the door. Vayko, ran outside just before patrolman John Brodie drove up after hearing of the robbery by radio.

Meuleveld was captured five minutes later as he walked down a nearby street, police said.

'Ghost' Plane Cuts the Speed of Its Landing

BEDFORD, England, (AP) — An aircraft dubbed "The Ghost-wing plane" has made its first flight to demonstrate a new slow-landing technique.

The H126, built by Hunting Aircraft, diverts jet engine exhaust along the wings to give extra lift.

"It just floats off the ground and then you go up like a lift," said test pilot Stanley Oliver.

★ ★ ★

Hunting designers estimate that the technique—known as jet flap—could cut the landing speed of a plane like the Bosing 707 from 150 miles an hour to 80 miles.

Precise performance details are being kept secret because, as one official said, "we are so far ahead of the rest of the world."

12 Clergymen, Ejected by Cuba, Hated to Leave

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A dozen religious missionaries, deported from Communist Cuba, landed in the United States with tales of persecution on trumped-up accusations.

Even so, some said they hated to leave.

"Cuba needs us more than ever now," said the Rev. Ramon Nevcs, who got off a plane in Miami yesterday with his wife and 71 other exiles.

* * *

"We (the Neves) are Puerto Ricans, but we have been preaching the word of God in Cuba for 23 years. My church is in the town of Pinar del Rio and that is where we want to be."

Neves is a minister of the Assemblies of God (Pentecostal).

The Coast Guard was established in 1790 by Alexander Hamilton.

Rough Way to Travel

Soaring across the English Channel by kite is making the trip the hard way. But it can be done, as two Frenchmen proved recently in stunt flights from opposite shores.

Dangling from parachute-type kites towed by speedboats, the participants flew from French Calais and English Dover, respectively, in 95 and 74 minutes.

Though hardly a record maker for either speed or comfort, the exploit recalls the part that man-bearing kites played in the pioneer days of flying machines.

GOAL WAS SAFETY

"The word 'kite' unfortunately is suggestive to most minds of a toy," wrote Alexander Graham Bell, inventor of the telephone, in 1907.

* * *

Dr. Bell had then been experimenting with kites for more than a decade in an effort to establish aerodynamic principles that would make flight safer and more efficient.

An ardent supporter of aviation when its perils seemed insurmountable, he was particularly interested in demonstrating the strength and stability offered by certain types of kite construction.

In fact, as he wrote in another article, "I have had the feeling that a properly constructed flying machine should be capable of being flown as a kite; and, conversely, that a properly constructed kite should be capable of use as a flying machine."

* * *

Dr. Bell devised and flew kites of various types and sizes over the open fields of his summer home on Cape Breton Island, Nova Scotia.

"These structures were really aerial vehicles," he said. "They were flown after the manner of kites, but their flying cords were stout manila ropes . . . anchored to the ground by several turns around stout cleats, like those employed in steamships and men-of-war."

Dr. Bell assembled huge kites of tetrahedrons, skeleton building having four equal triangular sides. Sovered with silk or oiled paper, and fitted together like honeycombs, they combined the qualities of lightness, strength, and stability he sought.

* * *

In December 1907, the big tetrahedral Cygnet lifted Army Lt. Thomas Selfridge 168 feet above Cape Breton's Baddeck Bay. It came down so slowly and smoothly its passenger hardly realized he was descending.

LED TO BETTER DESIGN

Meantime, aviation had taken a different turn. In 1903, the Wright brothers made their historic byplane flight at Kitty Hawk, N. C. But primitive aircraft left much to be desired. Ironically, Selfridge crashed to his death in a powered plane the year after the Cygnet flight.

Indirectly, Dr. Bell's work with kites led to important improvements in flying-machine construction. In cooperation with a group of talented young men attracted by his researches, Dr. Bell and his wife, Mabel Hubbard, founded the Aerial Experiment Association.

It produced, among other innovations, America's first wing-tip, hinged aileron, later made standard for aircraft.

* * *

The U. S. Weather Bureau used big box kites to carry observation instruments aloft until the 1930s. In World War II, man-bearing, propeller-topped kites served as lookouts for German submarines. Radar reflectors have been floated high by kites to expand their range.

* * *

A dangerous new sport combines water skiing with kite riding. The skier, clinging to a hand bar on the kite, is towed along by speedboat until air currents lift him skyward. At least one skier claims that in trying to get back safely to the water—the hard part — he heard mysterious voices telling him not to fly again. He hasn't.

Rocky Obtains Record Budget

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller had the approval of the New York Legislature today for a record, $2.82-billion state budget.

It came after a long fight in which he suffered a home-front setback but preserved a key element in what apparently is his bid for the Republican nomination for president next year.

The fiscal program as approved requires $35.4 million in additional state levies but it will be raised under the designation of "fees," allowing Rockefeller to continue his policy of reporting to Republican audiences throughout the nation he has held the line on taxes.

The Rockefeller budget for the fiscal year beginning Monday was approved yesterday by the Republican-controlled legislature.

* * *

The spending will be more than $200 million over current levels. A substantial part of the added money will be obtained by moving payment dates of state income taxes withheld by employers to bring more collections into the 1963-64 fiscal year.

About 11-50th of the earth's atmosphere is above an altitude of 21 miles.

Reputable Dealer Most Important to Buyers of Used Cars

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Automotive Writer

DETROIT — Of the almost 20 million cars sold in the United States last year, only about seven million of them were new.

Used cars are big business, getting bigger every year as the total market for vehicles expands. Many car owners never have bought a new car and never will.

New car dealers, however, sell a majority of the used cars—almost 7.5 million of them in 1962.

Next come the independent dealers and finally the private sales, the owner who feels he can make a better deal for himself by selling his car personally, rather than trading it on another one or selling it to a dealer.

* * *

There were more than 2 million private sales last year.

But no matter who sells the car, the thing the used car customer wants most is someone to do business with that he can trust and believe.

"This is by far his greatest desire," says Ed Cowan Jr., national used car manager for Chevrolet.

Cowan and his counterparts at the other auto companies are convinced used car selling has come a long way from the old days, times when a used car operation was automatically viewed with suspicion and the cars were guaranteed to run as far as the corner.

DARK AGES

Those were the dark ages, Cowan believes.

"There still are a few fast-buck boys around to give us a bad name," he admits, "but you find a lot more dealers trying to do a good job now."

* * *

Chevrolet currently is promoting a new, 15-minute color movie on "How to buy a used car" for showing to clubs and groups such as driver training classes in schools.

The film is relatively free of Chevrolet advertising. The car used for the demonstration is a Chevrolet, but the lot has some Fords and a Rambler on it, too, and the dealer's Chevrolet signs are kept out of prominence.

Along with the film, each viewer is furnished a check sheet of his own.

* * *

This check sheet, divided into the "look" test, the "dry run" test and the "road" test, suggests 32 points to investigate on a car and provides space to rate them good, fair or poor.

Some examples: From the "look" test (to be performed with the car standing still) — depth and evenness of tread on all tires.

The movie shows this being checked by inserting a dime in the tread of the tire to see how much is left; shock absorbers in operating condition—jump on the car bumper, then get off. If the shocks are good, the car should stop bouncing almost immediately.

CHECK EXHAUST

From the "dry run" test (usually with the engine running, but with the car still standing still): Exhaust shows no sign of gray or gray-blue smoke; all gauges work; engine runs quietly and smoothly.

From the "road" test: Try accelerating from standing stop to 40 miles per hour. Should be smooth and steady. Braking from 20, 30 and 50 miles per hour should be marked by an absence of swerve, squeal and chatter.

"Nobody would want to try all of our tests," Cowan said, "but everybody will find at least parts of it helpful."

* * *

Response so far has been exceptional, Chevrolet reports. More than 800 requests for showings have been received.

One dealer said he wanted to show it to his used car appraisers, as a guide to what to look for. An insurance company wants it to help train adjusters.

Most requests so far have been from driver training classes.

This particular demand is no surprise, since the auto industry's biggest hope for expansion lies in the increasing number of young people reaching driving age.

"These kids don't just want a license," said one executive happily, "They want a car."

40-Year Dream Coming True

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Hard work, determination and faith are making Sam Mitchell's 40-year dream come true.

It was, and still is, "to give my children a better education than I have."

The 67-year-old Negro elevator operator already has put two children through medical school. Next year, a third will receive his medical degree and go on for four more years of training as a surgeon.

A fourth child, a daughter, is a college junior and hopes to become a nurse.

"It hasn't been easy," Mitchell conceded. "Many times there was nothing but bread and water for dinner. But my wife stuck with me — and the Lord was in the plan."

For 20 years, he worked day and night, holding down two jobs in order to carry his heavy load of expenses.

They brought in a total of about $250 monthly. Yard work on weekends supplemented this income.

His wife has helped, too, working occasionally as a domestic in addition to her homemaking duties in their modest Beale Street apartment.

Mitchell estimated that it cost him about $1,000 a year to keep each child in medical school.

Closing Law Goes Into Effect Today

LANSING (AP) — Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley yesterday issued notice that the controversial Sunday closing law would go into effect today.

He noted that enforcement of the law has been temporarily enjoined in 13 Lower Peninsula counties by the Wayne County Circuit Court.

"As to other counties in the state, I have advised State Police Commissioner Joseph Childs that the law will be in effect unless the counties have exempted themselves by action of the board of supervisors," Kelley said.

"I have also advised the commissioner that I anticipate there may be some misunderstanding concerning the interpretation and applicability of the law, and therefore some leniency in the enforcement of the statute may be indicated until there is a thorough understanding of the new law."

* * *

Kent County supervisors meeting in Grand Rapids yesterday voted 53 to 18 to exempt the county from observance of the closing law.

Meanwhile, Ottawa County supervisors, meeting in Grand Haven, fell two votes short of the two-thirds majority required to exempt the county. The vote was 20 to 11.

There are 163 other new laws which become effective today.

All went on the statute books as a result of action by the 1962 legislature which adjourned Dec. 27.

The measures become operative 90 days after the legislature's official adjournment.

Included in the measures becoming effective are laws:

REVISE SET-UP

—Revising the pharmacy board set-up, abolishing the director's job held by David M. Moss, and creating a new job as secretary that the board must fill. Moss and Gov. George Romney had feuded recently.

—Allowing county jail prisoners to work at their jobs during the day and return to custody at night.

—Making parents liable to as much as $500 for damages committed by their children to public or religious property.

—Making it a felony to write a bad check of $50 or more.

—Reducing to two the number of bailiffs that Wayne Circuit Court commissioners may have.

Red Koreans Hurt Selves

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—The United Nations command told today of a North Korean attack that backfired—literally.

A U.N. spokesman said North Korean troops fired on a U.N. patrol in the demilitarized zone between North and South Korea Wednesday. None of the 12 U.N. soldiers was hit, but the tracer bullets started a grass fire.

The blaze spread deep into Communist territory, exploding about 40 land mines.

At the first national automobile show, in New York in 1900, there was an exhibit of 300 gasoline, steam and electric vehicles.

Revises Vote Prediction Forecast

NEW YORK (AP) — Court was held at a curb yesterday for a 71-year-old woman accused of ignoring a health department complaint that 18 cats in her apartment were a public nuisance.

* * *

Miss Betty Sax, the defendant, told Criminal Court Judge Manuel A. Gomez from the back seat of a car that she was too ill to appear in court. He brought the court clerk, stenographer and other officials to the sidewalk to arraign her.

A court official had driven her to the court building in his car.

Judge Gomez ordered Miss Sax committed to the department of hospitals for observation.

To Aid Canada College in Barbados Experiment

FORT EUSTIS, Va. (AP) — Two 142-ton naval gun tubes are being shipped from this post to Barbados where McGill University of Montreal, Canada, will use them to propel instrumented capsules into high altitudes for space tests. The tests will investigate the advantages of this type of probe in place of more expensive atmospheric experiments with rockets.

HONG KONG (AP)—Communist China endorses social dancing but condemns the twist as "unwholesome."

In a reply to a reader inquiry, the Communist newspaper Nan Fang Jih Pao in Canton said, "Dancing is proper amusement but this does not apply to those who use dancing parties as a pretext to perform such unwholesome dances as the twist. Such practices should be corrected."

GLASGOW, Scotland (AP) — In the fist 10 months of 1962 the U.S. consul in Glasgow issued 9,909 visas for visitors to the United States — more than double the number for 1961.

The number of visas issued in Edinburgh was 5,488 — a 76 per cent increase over last year.

Clergyman Holds Rally for Negroes

GREENWOOD, Miss. (AP)—"We plan to change the political structure of this county and this town," a minister told fellow Negroes.

The Rev. James Bevel of Cleveland—a town 35 miles from here—urged them to attempt again to register to vote.

"White people are afraid of Negroes, especially here in the South," Bevel, a representative of the Southern Christian Leadership conference, told a rally of about 250 persons at a small Negro church Wednesday night.

About 100 others stood outside, listening to Bevel and other speakers on hastily-rigged loudspeakers.

MARCH ON COURTHOUSE

A crowd of praying, hymn-singing Negroes marched on the Leflour County courthouse a few hours earlier. Police dispersed them and arrested 11 persons.

It was the latest in a series of explosive incidents in this cotton-growing area where Negroes outnumber whites 2-1.

In Washington, a Justice Department spokesman said the federal government is "preparing to take whatever action is appropriate as soon as possible."

* * *

The Greenwood City Council has charged "racial agitators" with promoting trouble in this city of 25,000 which has led to three shooting incidents.

Bevel told Wednesday night's rally: "I believe in prayer. But it's never put a governor in office.

"We need the vote. Get your feedom. Become a registered voter."

The number of working women has increased from 16.5 million to 22.5 million the last 10 years. The proportion of married women working outside their homes has risen from 22 to 31 per cent during the decade.

Junior Editors Quiz on RECORDS

QUESTION: How can sound be put on a record and then come out of it?

* * *

ANSWER: Sounds start by vibrations or "sound waves" in the air. We don't see sound waves, but our artist has symbolized them by wavy white lines (2) being pushed away from the mouth of a singer (1).

As these travel into a microphone (3) they are converted into electrical vibrations or signals, which can then move along a wire. Through the use of an amplifying tube (4) these signals are made stronger; they move to a small magnet which sets a cutting needle vibrating (5).

As a wax disk revolves below the needle point, this tool cuts grooves into the wax and the various vibrating movements it makes are registered on the record. A metal form is then made from the original and from this thousands of duplicates can be pressed.

When you start playing a record the needle of your machine is set vibrating in exactly the same way the cutting needle vibrated in the first place (6).

These pulsations are changed into electric signals, amplified (7) inside your phonograph which vibrate a cone-shaped disk or loudspeaker to send out sound waves (8). These waves reach your ears and duplicate the singer's voice.

* * *

FOR YOU TO DO: Find out about the high fidelity system, or Hi-Fi, in which there are two speakers, one for the low tones (the woofer) and the other for high tones (tweeter.) Then learn what stereophonic recording means.

Forefathers No Foes of Change

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—In appearance, the original draft of the U.S. Constitution, written here during the summer of 1787, could easily pass for a schoolboy's term paper.

Words, sentences and paragraphs are crossed out and reworded and new ideas are scrawled in the margins, marked with asterisks.

Handwritten on seven sheets of legal-sized paper, the original document still is legible despite the many corrections and long sentences squeezed on single lines.

* * *

The original is referred to as the James Wilson draft after the Philadelphia lawyer who put it on paper.

Insured for $500,000, the composition is on exhibit at the Pennsylvania Historical Society.

FINAL DRAFT

It has never left this city, although the final draft of the precious document is kept in a helium-filled, glass-covered case in Washington.

The preamble of the original exemplifies the extensive revision undertaken by the framers.

It begins with, "The people of the States of . . " followed by the names of the original 13 states.

This subsequently was changed to read, "The people of the United States do agree upon . . ."

But "agree upon" was crossed out and "ordain" was inserted.

"Ordain" still apparently wasn't the right word, so "declare" was tried.

"Declare" wasn't right either and the result was "establish."

Then someone inserted "We" at the beginning with a little arrow pointing up to it.

Sees Passage of New-Con

Romney Prediction Is Based Partly on Polls

MUSKEGON (AP) — Gov. George Romney — for the first time — stated flatly last night that the voters will approve the proposed new state constitution.

Said the governor in a speech at Muskegon:

"I predict here and now that the people of Michigan will approve the new constitution on Monday."

Queried by newsmen, told in advance of the prediction, Romney said it was based partly on spot polls conducted around the state. He said it was also the feeling he received from contacts with citizens.

* * *

Asked for the margin of approval, Romney chuckled and ducked the question.

Democrats were less positive in their prediction.

Zolton Ferency, Democratic state chairman, was inclined to "if" a little bit.

"If Democrats come out in the numbers expected and vote the full ballot, the Democrats should sweep the slate, including defeat of the new constitution," he said.

* * *

One leading Democratic spokesman, Secretary of State James Hare, earlier had said he fully expected the proposed new constitution to pass.

Said Romney in his Muskegon speech:

"I call upon all Michigan citizens, regardless of party, to cancel the lease with the 20th century to sign a new lease with the future."

Romney said he dared to predict victory because "I have a deep faith in the ability of the people to distinguish between distortion and emotional appeal and reasonable arguments . . . because the people of Michigan have shown they place a high value on sound and efficient government . . . because 22 of the finest organizations in the state have thrown their support behind the document . . ."

History Gets New Interest in This Nation

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—A tremendous resurgence of interest in the past is evident in this country now, believes a Washington, D. C. Smithsonian Institution official.

Career opportunities of young people trained in a professional knowledge of the past are an indication of the trend, said Dr. Richard Howland, head curator of the Smithsonian Department of Civil History, at a Texas Historical Heritage meeting.

"Today," he added, "we are emerging into a new Renaissance, motivated by a regard for our heritage, concerned with that ideal which is best expressed by the five words carved on the National Archives Building in Washington: "What is past is prologue.' "

Press Fighters Hit U. S. Policy

MONTEGO BAY, Jamaica (UPI)—The Inter-American Press Association, which has fought Latin American limitations on freedom of the press for 18 years, is turning its fire on official U.S. efforts to "manage news."

Florida publisher John H. Perry told the IAPA's Freedom of the Press Committee yesterday that the U.S. press still is free, but that government handling of information during last fall's Cuba crisis "chiseled a huge chip out of the foundation stone of American liberty."

The committee will receive final reports today.

Preliminary reports indicated that Bolivia, Cuba and Paraguay are the only new-world nations whose press is completely controlled, although reservations ranging from mild to serious were expressed about other countries.

Somebody Should Win Credit for the Highball

NEW YORK (UPI) — "In the interest of historical accuracy, we are trying to discover how the highball began," the ad reads. "Somebody should get the credit. Who?"

The ad was the beginning of a campaign launched yesterday by the French National Association of Cognac Producers.

SIGNS OF SPRING—One of the surest signs spring has come is this activity at Chicago's Belmont Harbor. Two harbor workmen shoulder mooring buoys for small craft as they walk between stacks of the markers. The buoys will be distributed to the city's seven pleasure craft harbors along Lake Michigan in preparation for the coming boating season.

Daisies to Bloom at Horse Show, Hunt Fair Benefiting Oakland U.

Hundreds of daisies will give welcoming nods to visitors in the huge green and tan striped tent at the Detroit Horse Show and Hunt Fair in June.

For the second year the scholarship committee of Oakland University is sponsoring the fair and ticket sales for the horse show to benefit the university's scholarship program.

Mrs. Alfred E. Wilson is honorary chairman of the fair. Mrs. L. L. Colbert and Mrs. A. C. Girard are co-chairmen.

The daisy decor for the fair evolved from Mrs. L. L. Colbert. Last year, when she was also co-chairman, Daisy Colbert set up a temporary lemonade stand on a card table under the trees on the Hunt Club grounds.

She single-handedly sold more lemonade at her stand than was sold at the established tea room. This year the committee decided to erect a tent on the same spot, and have a regular lemonade stand . . . the obvious name, 'Daisy's Stand'.

★ ★ ★

Next, naturally came the theme for the decorations — daisies.

NEW FEATURE

A new feature of this year's Hunt Fair will be the colorful hand knits booth. Scholarship committee members and their friends have been hard at work all winter knitting sweaters.

Many of these sweaters have been hand trimmed. There are even hand decorated sweaters in sizes 2, 3 and 4 for the cradle set!

★ ★ ★

Volunteers from three counties will join the university committee in staffing the fair. Hundreds of volunters are being recruited to sell tickets, popcorn, trinkets and treasures and to work at the children's games and help with the pony rides.

★ ★

The proceeds from the fair will aid some 200 area students attending Oakland University next year.

Pontiac Press Photos

Mrs. A. O. Thalacker, Bloomfield Hills, holds up one of the sweaters that's ready for the American Field Service (AFS) International Fair April 27 in Grosse Pointe. Head of the adult group of AFS in the Birmingham-Bloomfield Hills area, Mrs. Thalacker designs many of the sweaters made by volunteer knitters. She also wove draperies in this room.

Her Busy Hands Reach Over Sea

By JANET ODELL

Little did Mrs. A. O. (Jean) Thalacker know how her life would be changed when her son Don went to Germany as an exchange student in 1956.

Nothing in that visit told her that in 1963 she would be head of the Michigan adult groups of the American Field Service (AFS) International Scholarships.

While in Germany, Don met Klaus Parsch, who later came to the United States to live for a time with the Thalackers. Although not an official AFS exchange student, he was adopted into the group.

Two years later, Joraunn Pettersen from Norway also lived in the Thalackers' Bloomfield Hills home as an AFS student.

Founded during World War I, AFS for many years brought graduate students to the United States before it embarked on a new program on the teen-age level. Its purpose is to further the basic friendship which exists among all men.

Since 1947, over 13,000 foreign high school students have spent a year in America, going to school and participating in traditional teen-age activities. Nearly 9,000 American students have spent either a summer or a school semester in Europe or in the Southern Hemisphere.

TAKES MONEY

All this takes money. Local communities sponsoring AFS students must find ways of keeping their coffers full so that the program can continue.

Michigan, and especially this area, is unique in its approach to the problem. Birmingham had the first adult sponsoring group, then metropolitan Detroit followed suit. Pontiac has had such a unit for several years.

★ ★ ★

The national advisory AFS group in New York is interested in these Michigan groups and is carefully following their progress for five years. Mrs. Thalacker sends in annual reports and confers with Stephen Glatti, the New York director.

More of these AFS adult units are being formed in other parts of Michigan. Taking our state as a pilot area, the national advisers expect to use this program in helping other states set up similar groups.

Mrs. Thalacker, who has five children, and one grandchild (another is on the way), looked around for some means of earning money for AFS scholarships.

LITTLE BAZAARS

Two years ago, she organized a group of her friends who liked to knit and started them making sweaters. These were sold at little bazaars in her home just before Christmas and at the annual AFS spring fair at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial.

Twice a week, the knitters take their current projects and assemble in the Thalacker family room. Some come for help in knitting. Others come just because they enjoy the companionship, the talk and the coffee as they knit.

Mrs. Thalacker designs many of the sweaters. The group has completed a number of custom orders but next year expects to do most of its knitting for a shop up in northern Michigan's ski country.

In addition to sweaters, the tireless Jean designs crewel work, knitting bags and needlepoint belts. Her aim this year has been to find 150 women who will knit, embroider, put together or decorate sweaters. (Your reporter found herself offering to make a needlepoint belt for the cause.)

AFS has become an important part of Jean Thalacker's life. She has become a great asset to AFS — this gentle, generous woman whose heart is big enough to embrace not only her own family but a world full of children.

Dog Answers to Wife's Call, While Hubby Barks at Owner

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My neighbor went ahead and named her dog WILBUR when she knew perfectly well that Wilbur was my husband's name. I think she did it just for meanness. At night, when she calls her dog, my husband goes to the window and barks just to get her goat.

ABBY

I have called my husband when he was down the road and that dog would come running.

It is very annoying to have your husband mistaken for a dog. Can I take this woman to court for disturbing the peace or defaming my husband's character or something?

WILBUR'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: If your husband goes to the window and barks when your neighbor is calling her dog, SHE might have more to complain about than you.

I think the bone you have to pick with your neighbor should be picked out of court.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: When someone asks you how to kiss, why do you brush it off like it was not a serious problem?

I remember MY first kiss. I was 16 and thought a girl was supposed to hold her breath throughout the whole kiss.

★ ★ ★

At the end of a very long kiss I was panting and absolutely blue in the face.

The boy mistook this for wild passion and, of course, it ended up in a wrestling match.

LEARNED THE HARD WAY

DEAR LEARNED: When it comes to kissing, experience is the best teacher. Instructions are useless because one can't practice alone.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow and am going around with a man who doesn't want me to wear my rings.

He says that people will say he is going with a married woman. What should I do?

WORRIED WIDOW

DEAR WORRIED: Remove your rings. He's right.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: In reply to OUTRAGED'S letter: I am fast approaching the age where I might have to make some plans for my old age.

If anything should happen to my husband, and my health should be such that I could not live alone, I would insist on going to a rest home.

I have wonderful children, but I wouldn't think of disrupting their lives by living with any of them.

I would rather have them come to see me because they want to than have them stuck with someone who could be hard to live with.

Polly's Pointers

New Use for Ashes

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY—Any guy or gal who smokes cigarettes or cigars has substitute cleaner for silver or gold at hand.

Take a pinch of ashes, add a little water to make a paste and rub gently on the metal. Wipe off and shine. It is that easy.—RAY.

DEAR POLLY—Before I threw out two medium-sized bureaus, I removed the drawers which were all the same size. I painted them, nailed them together and made two wonderful bookcases. No one knows what they were originally.—VIC.

★ ★ ★

DEAR POLLY—If you have space in your marvelous column, I would like to ask the readers if anyone knows of any way that a sleeping bag can be washed or cleaned up.—DAVE.

DEAR POLLY—Small children are always fascinated with playing around faucets, hoses, etc., so I cut a large old tire around the middle, the long way, so there are two big round, harmless troughs.

These I placed on the lawn, filled them with water and let the little ones safely sail their tiny boats to their hearts' content.

When they have splashed out all of the water, it is simple to refill the troughs with the hose or even just a pan. Never is there too much water and any that spills is good for the lawn.—MRS. D. A. S.

★ ★ ★

DEAR POLLY—I am wondering if a man has any chance to get one of his ideas accepted by you. I hope so. Ever use the rubber floor mat in the car to keep the windshield free of ice, sleet and snow when the car is parked outdoors for any length of time? Windshield wipers hold it in place.—ELMER.

Share your favorite homemaking ideas . . . send them to Polly in care of The Pontiac Press. You'll receive a bright, new silver dollar if Polly uses your ideas in Polly's Pointers.

Church Group Views Slides

Mrs. Robert Boggs showed colored slides of East Asia before the women's association Tuesday in the First Presbyterian Church.

"Fun and Festival on East Asia's Rim," theme for the evening, was directed by Mrs. Ted Koella Jr. The June Group served the dinner.

Mrs. Basil B. Kimball entertained with a vocal solo and Mrs. Floyd Salow's worship service featured an Easter message.

Denim Now Tops

Denim work clothes are tops for economy, dependability, and washability.

Better Fit in Nylons

Fashion is adapting the shock absorber to sheer seamless stockings. The stockings with the shock absorbings qualities have action panels that absorb the strain on the nylon as the knee is flexed or bent.

The manufacturer says lycra fiber in the panel allows it to expand vertically with the bend and helps it to return neatly to place when the leg is straightened.

Toys Ease Travel

If you are traveling with small children, take along a few surprise toys to give them now and then.

OCELIA MARIE STEWART

The engagment is announced of Ocelia Marie Stewart, daughter of Mrs. Clarence Broadnax of Alton Street and James Stewart of Franklin Road, to James Perkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Threlkeld of Utah Street. A June 29 wedding is planned.

Bride-Elect Is Honored

Jolene Sue Hudnell was honored Monday evening at a bridal shower in the home of Mrs. Kester A. Smith on Belmont Street. Mrs. Henry Milligan was cohostess.

★ ★ ★

Daughter of the Earl W. Hudnells of Court Drive, the honoree will wed Larry T. Davis on June 8.

Follow Orders for Washing

For best results in washing draperies, it's smart to follow the manufacturers' directions — because some recommend hand-washing, while others approve machine - washing.

But whichever method is suggested, be sure to use plenty of soap or detergent suds. The cleanliness they produce is the "magic ingredient" of any lovely home decor!

Gloves a Safeguard

Exercise Helps Hands

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

We certainly take our hands for granted, not only as to the terrific use they are to us but as to the care they need in order to remain lovely.

Today, it is possible to do housework and wash the dishes and still have hands that are attractive. However, many women who cleanse and cream their face faithfully every day forget about these appendages which are almost always "on stage" in a very prominent role.

The habitual use of rubber gloves when the hands must be in hot water or exposed to soaps and detergents is a terrific help. Don't miss this beauty aid!

The use of a hand lotion several times during the day, as well as after your bath, will pay charming dividends. These are simple measures but they can make a tremendous difference.

Also, protect your hands when you go out into cold weather or the hot sun. Be especially kind to them by treating them to gloves when doing your gardening this spring and summer. Dress them up with good manicures.

Keep them flexible with special hand exercises. These are not only valuable in a cosmetic sense but are helpful to those who feel that their fingers are getting stiffer. Many folks past early youth awaken in the morning with hands that are sore and somewhat rigid.

Try these two exercises daily: (1) Clench the fists HARD. Unclench and fling the fingers back as far as you can. At the same time separate the fingers. Continue, clenching and flinging back.

(2) Sit comfortably in a chair. Raise your right hand up in front of you. Keep your thumb still as you touch it with each finger (separately). Keep the thumb steady and lift each finger up and back as you straighten it.

* * *

If you would like to have my exercises for the hands, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 12 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Mohair Is Washable

Based on the premise that you can wash practically anything—if you wash it properly — add those luxurious new mohairs to your list of sudsable sweaters.

Use plenty of soap or detergent suds in lukewarm water, do your washing with a delicate touch, and you will be rewarded with laundry success.

Remove Handle for Storage

Detachable handles are the newest convenience development in oven-proof cookware. Removing handles makes stacking easier, and also lets the utensils fit into a dishwasher. Just remember that the handles themselves must be washed in hot suds and rinses, then dried before going back in place.

U.S. Agency Out to Bar Drug for Pregnancy

By ERNEST VACCARO

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey said today he has been told the Food and Drug Administration is taking steps to ban sales of a vitamin supplement, Menadione, to pregnant women.

The Minnesota Democrat said the FDA may try to pass off the action against the supplement, Vitamin K3, as routine.

But, he added in a statement:

"The fact is it has taken a behind-the-scenes battle of more than a year and a public airing of the situation to get the FDA to act decisively."

Humphrey, himself a pharmacist, is chairman of a Senate Government Operations subcommittee which heard Dr. John O. Nestor, a pediatrician on the FDA staff, testify last week that the use of the vitamin in prenatal supplements may result in some instances in "brain damage, spasticity and death" to the newborn.

Humphrey also announced he has received further confirmation that another drug, Mylicon, which he said Nestor had forced from the market as a "pediatric drug," is still "unfortunately being sold for infant use" in the treatment of colic.'

He said his subcommittee will not give FDA officials hearings until its staff has examined all the files on drugs criticized by Dr. Nestor, as well as on certain other cases and members have all the facts.

★ ★ ★

Nestor dropped something of a bombshell when he charged during his testimony that the FDA has permitted the sale of new drugs "imminently hazardous to the public health" by overruling expert medical opinion.

He testified that Menadione, an anti-bleeding supplement for pregnant women, was being marketed in 50 to 70 products, many of which can be purchased without prescription.

This was so, he said, despite the fact that it can cause jaundice in the mother and brain damage to a newborn child.

Nestor is in charge of evaluating applications to market new drugs for children's diseases.

Humphrey said the FDA will rescind last December's temporary extension of the manufacturer's food additive petition for the marketing of vitamin K3. The effect will be to block sales of products containing Menadione, a subcommittee aid said.

The senator said he is preparing a speech to the Senate Friday on the case which he said now appears "even more incredible than it did at the outset."

Navy Wants Firepower Increases

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy may plug a "gun gap" by adapting some of its shipboard antiaircraft missiles for bombardment of short targets, it was disclosed today.

★ ★ ★

"The use of Tartar, Talos and Terrier missiles for shore bombardment is being investigated to determine feasibility and cost effectiveness," the Navy told The Associated Press.

In time, the Navy said, its advanced Typhon missile may be used for shore bombardment but "it is too early in the development stage to determine this feasibility."

Some Marine leaders and Navy amphibious warfare experts are concerned that a steady attrition in the Navy's heavy gun armament has caused a potentially serious lack of firepower to support over-the-beach assaults.

These professional officers have argued that aircraft cannot give the kind of pinpoint, all-weather fire support that used to come from 16-inch and 8-inch guns mounted on battleships and cruisers.

The Navy doesn't have a single battleship on active service.

A proposal that the battleships Iowa, New Jersey, Missouri and Wisconsin be taken out the reserve fleet and converted into "commando ships" has met with a cold reception from the Navy command so far.

Rear Adm. John S. McCain Jr., the author of the commando ship plan, would strip away the triple 16-inch gun turrets in the after part of these big ships, install a helicopter landing deck and fit out the big vessels to carry perhaps 1,500 Marines.

Oldest Ship in Navy Sets 24th Birthday

PEARL HARBOR (AP) — The grand old lady of the Pacific is the Fleet Marine Service Force's oiler Cimarron.

She's the Navy's oldest ship in continuous active service — she'll be 24 in March.

The Cimarron served in every major Pacific campaign in World War II and was active throughout the Korean War. During the Korean campaign alone, the Cimarron pumped 115 million gallons of fuel to U.S. Navy vessels.

She is due for rotation from the Seventh Fleet after another tour in Far East waters.

Cooks in her galleys and at Pearl Harbor Naval Base are beginning to bake the old lady a cake. They feel she deserves one.

Retire at $45 Million

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers Union said yesterday 16,515 Chrysler workers retired between 1950 and 1962 and received over $45 million in benefits under an agreement worked out by the union and Chrysler Corp. in 1950.

Georgetown, the now-fashionable section of northwest Washington, D. C., once was a thriving Potomac River port.

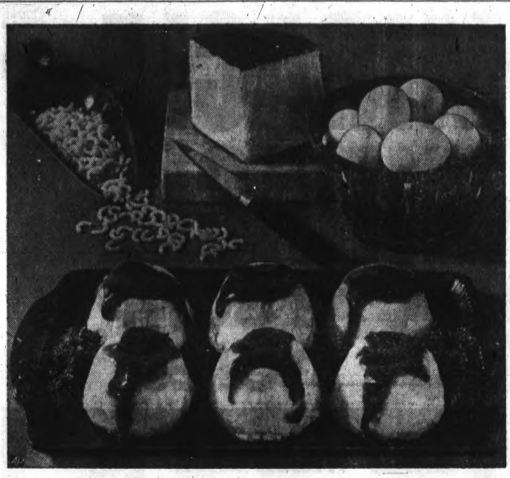
Assorted muted plaid and check patterns . . . sizes 6 to 16.



LENTEN DISH — It's just macaroni and cheese, but with a difference. The recipe calls for eggs and the custardy mixture is baked in individual baking dishes and served with a rosy tomato sauce, if desired.

Applesauce Is an Eye-Opener

Breakfasts are staging a cheery comeback. And about time. On a skinny, "gobble 'n git" breakfast, folks just naturally sag long before noon. But with a nourishing morning meal tucked away in their middles, they feel top-of-the-morning, all morning. Take this Crumbly Top Apple Sauce, for example. In one big dish, it telescopes the fruit and cereal part of breakfast. Big on flavor. Big on nourishment.

The fruit is tangy canned apple sauce, given even more dash with lemon juice and spicy coriander. The cereal part is a deep top spread . . . rolled oats in a crumble of sugar, cinnamon and butter. Slide the whole thing into the oven to bake until the apple sauce plops lazily and the thick topping is buttery-rich and nut-like in flavor. It's a dish to lift the spirit, and to sustain.

Crumbly Top Apple Sauce

3 cups canned apple sauce
1 teaspoon ground coriander
1 tablespoon lemon juice
¾ cup quick-cooking rolled oats
¾ cup brown sugar, firmly packed
cup all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup butter or margarine

Combine apple sauce, coriander and lemon juice. Pour into a greased oblong 6" x 10" x 2" baking dish. Mix oats, brown sugar, flour, cinnamon and salt in mixing bowl. Cut in butter with fork until mixture is crumbly. Sprinkle over apple sauce.

Bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees, 35 to 40 minutes. Cool. Serve with cream. Makes 6 servings. (May also be served warm with cream).

Note: May be baked in a square baking dish (8" x 8" x 2") or round (8" x 2").

If your gravy should have lumps, and beating does not remove these, you'll have to strain the sauce to make it smooth.

Crouch down when you are reading a candy thermometer! The reading must be taken at eye level.

Chill Cookie Dough in Juice Cans

Gather friends, neighbors and the family around the fireplace and serve these good cookies with a spot of tea!

Refrigerator Cookies

2¾ cups sifted flour
1½ teaspoons baking powder
1 cup butter or margarine
½ cup granulated sugar
½ cup firmly packed light brown sugar
1 large egg
1 tablespoon grated orange rind
2 tablespoons orange juice
½ cup finely chopped walnuts

Sift together the flour and baking powder. Cream butter and sugars; beat in egg, orange rind and orange juice. Stir in sifted dry ingredients and walnuts.

Pack cookie dough into 4 empty cans (6-ounce size) from frozen fruit-juice concentrate; cover tightly; chill overnight. Push out dough from one can; slice into 12 rounds; place, 1 inch apart, on ungreased cookie sheet; bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven about 12 to 14 minutes or until lightly browned around edges.

Cut and bake the remaining cans of cookie dough the same way. Makes 4 dozen substantial cookies.

Orange Souffle Starts With Frozen Juice

Orange souffle with fresh strawberry sauce is a special occasion dessert. Make the souffle out of concentrated orange juice, adding ¼ cup of water to a 6-ounce can. Thicken with 3 tablespoons flour, add 3 tablespoons of butter and cook over medium heat.

Cool the thickened mixture slightly, then add 4 egg yolks, beaten very light. Fold in stiffly beaten whites of 4 eggs and bake in a buttered 2-quart souffle dish at 375 degrees for 30 minutes.

For Fruit Salads

Blend a teaspoonful of frozen orange or lemonade concentrate with sour cream. Spoon onto pear halves, sprinkle with cinnamon, serve on crisp salad greens for sunny salad.

Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?

Roast in a slow oven (300 to 325 degrees F.) until the meat thermometer reaches 170 degrees F. Allow 35 minutes per pound.

Bake Cheese Macaroni in Custard Cups

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

When I was a little girl, nothing seemed more elegant to me than when — invited to luncheon — I was served a timbale. The timbales I remember were custardy preparations holding lobster or chicken, and they were always made in individual drum-shaped molds.

* * *

When I came home after one of these sprees and complained that we never had these glamorous dishes at our table, my mother — a practical and energetic woman — didn't let the lack of timbale molds faze her. She used custard cups.

But the lobster and chicken creations, rich with cream and egg yolks, and accompanied by an even richer mushroom sauce, were company fare. For everyday life, we were content to have our favorite macaroni and cheese baked in the little cups.

Perhaps your children would enjoy the latter, and if so you might like to try the following recipe. This rule does not produce yesteryear's timbale that had more custard than main ingredient, but it makes a dish with robust cheese flavor that's fine for lunch.

Macaroni Cheese Timbales

1 tablespoon salt
3 quarts boiling water
1½ cups (6 ounces) elbow macaroni
2 large eggs (slightly beaten)
1½ cups milk
1 tablespoon soft butter or margarine
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1½ cups grated cheddar cheese

Add salt to rapidly boiling water; add macaroni gradually so water continues to boil. Cook, uncovered, stirring occasionally until tender. Drain in colander.

* * *

Beat together the eggs, milk, butter, salt, pepper and cheese. Mix in cooked drained macaroni; turn into 6 (6 ounce size) buttered custard cups. Place cups in shallow pan of hot water; cover pan with foil. Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven until set, about 50 minutes. Unmold.

Don't Waste a Bit

Cheese is such a thrifty Lenten buy. Every bit of every cheese can be used. Nothing is thrown away. If the end pieces of a cheese harden slightly, cut those pieces off and grate them. Keep the grated cheese in a covered glass container in the refrigerator for use in casseroles, on meat and vegetables.

Lenten Hash Is Made of Crab

Herbed crabmeat hash is prepared like an omelet. Add 2 eggs, lightly beaten, to 1 (7¾-ounce) can of crabmeat, drained and flaked, 1 cup of diced potatoes, 2 tablespoons of chopped green pepper, 1 tablespoon of instant minced onion, ½ teaspoon of crumbled basil leaves and ⅛ teaspoon of ground black pepper.

Melt 2 tablespoons of butter or margarine in a skillet. Add hash and cook over medium heat until brown on the bottom. Fold like an omelet and serve to 4.

Jewish Cookie Pies Have Rich Filling of Jam and Nuts

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Recipe talk sometimes brings us treasured family rules. During a visit in New Jersey, conversation turned to food, and another guest offered us something special: "Would you like a recipe for Fleddel, from the Jewish cuisine — a dessert that has been made by three generations of my family?"

★ ★ ★

Would we! With the recipe in hand in our own kitchen, we tried these interesting cookie-pies. We call them that because they're made in pie plates with bottom and top coverings of cookie-type dough and fillings of raisins, nuts and jam or jelly. Cut in small crossbars, this is a delightful confection to serve with tea.

★ ★ ★

But see how a recipe travels! The New York grandmother of the recipe's donor made Fleddel all her cooking years and taught the rule to her New Jersey daughter.

Now a granddaughter living in Pennsylvania is most proficient of all with the rule. This young married cook says she likes to use either thick strawberry preserves or seedless black raspberry jam in the filling.

We used homemade cranberry nut jam and this flavor, too, was excellent.

We're giving you the recipe exactly as it was given to us, and the way we successfully made it. When we passed along the rule to still another cook, she preferred to add from ½ to 1 cup more flour than is called for to make the dough, and to roll it out on floured waxed paper. Choose the method you can best work with.

Don't worry about baking three cookie-pies at one time. Serve one and store the other two in your freezer. For freezer storage, you may bake Fleddel in 8-inch foil pie plates.

Fleddel

3 cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup sugar
3 eggs
2 tablespoons vegetable oil
¾ teaspoon grated lemon rind
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 tablespoon grated orange rind
1½ cups thick jam or jelly
1½ cups raisins
1½ cups coarsely chopped walnuts
1 tablespoon sugar mixed with ¾ teaspoon cinnamon

Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Beat eggs slightly. Add oil, lemon rind, lemon juice and orange rind. Mix with spoon to combine, then if necessary finish mixing with hands.

Shape dough into a ball. Wrap in foil or saran; chill thoroughly.

Cut into 6 portions; return 5 portions to refrigerator. Roll out 1 portion on prepared pastry cloth to fit bottom of an 8-inch pie plate so that pastry comes up the sides but does not extend over rim.

Spread pastry-lined pan with ½ cup jam, ½ cup raisins and ½ cup nuts. Roll out a second portion of pastry to form top crust. Place on filled pie. Trim edge with knife and seal with tines of fork, wetting pastry edge with water and dipping tines of fork in flour.

Prick top crust with fork. Refrigerate. Repeat to make two other pies.

Before baking, sprinkle tops of pies with sugar-cinnamon mixture. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven 30 minutes. Fleddel may be stored in freezer.

Salt a Second Time

You may wish to give your sliced oven-roasted beef, lamb or veal a sprinkle of salt and pepper before serving. The seasonings that are rubbed into the meat before roasting do not penetrate very far beneath the surface.

Let Cool in Broth

When you are simmering chicken in seasoned water for use in a "made" dish, allow the chicken — after it is cooked through — to stand in the liquid until it is cool.

ORANGE ONION SALAD—Paper thin slices of sweet onions alternate with golden cartwheels of orange for a salad guaranteed to lift the spirits. Try to find lettuce that is dark green for the background. Serve with a tangy sour cream dressing.

Onions and Oranges Are Joined in New Salad

Orange-Onion Salad — What a flavor combination! Try it; you're in for a special salad treat. Alternate sweet, California navel orange cartwheels with mild onion rings on crisp salad greens. With this unusual dressing of fresh lemon juice, mustard and poppy seeds, blended with sour cream, here's just the salad to spark winter meals.

California navels — choicest winter oranges — are salad perfect. So easy to peel, with no seeds, they are packed with vitamin C and so many other important nutrients.

Orange-Onion Salad

4 California navel oranges, peeled, sliced into cartwheels
1 mild flavored medium onion, peeled and sliced
Salad greens
Sour Cream Dressing
2 tablespoons chopped parsley

Arrange orange and onion slices alternately on crisp salad greens. Top with Sour Cream Dressing. Sprinkle with chopped parsley. Makes 4 servings.

Sour Cream Dressing

1 cup dairy sour cream
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
2 teaspoons sugar
1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice
1 teaspoon poppy seeds

Combine all ingredients, blending well. Chill. Makes approximately 1 cup dressing.

Tuna Won't Lose Its Popularity

Here's a return engagement of one of our favorite tuna spreads.

Tuna Spread

8 ounces cream cheese
2 tablespoons chili sauce
2 tablespoons minced parsley
¼ cup minced onion
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
½ teaspoon tabasco sauce
3 cans (6½ or 7 ounces each) tuna (drained)

Beat together (with an electric mixer) the cream cheese, chili sauce, parsley, onion, Worcestershire and tabasco. Beat in tuna until shredded. Chill thoroughly. Makes 1 quart.

Packaged Rolls for Appetizers

Having a party: Tired of "Chip 'n' Dip"? Then try these four delicious, hot, easy to make hors d'oeuvres. Make them up ahead of time and place them in the refrigerator. When your guests come, just slide them in the oven.

★ ★ ★

1. Use unbaked, packaged sesame seed rolls for this one. Unroll dough and cut strips in half. Place one slice Canadian bacon on each half strip and roll back into original form.

2. Again, use your sesame seed roll dough. Unroll, and twirl dough twice around smoked link sausages, wrapping end to end.

3. For this one, try buttermilk biscuit dough. Slice each biscuit in half and place 1" long piece of frankfurt in middle. Bring dough up over frank and form into ball. Roll in granted American cheese.

4. Unroll sesame seed roll dough and cut into two strips. Slice frankfurt into ½" pieces. Place 3 slices frankfurt and 3 small button mushrooms alternately on toothpick. Wind strip of dough around franks and mushrooms.

When you are ready for your hors d'oeuvres, arrange them on a baking sheet and place in a 400 degree oven for 8 to 10 minutes until dough is golden brown.

Put Egg Salad Into Celery

Egg-stuffed celery makes a high protein, meatless snack. Chop 4 hard-cooked eggs and put through a fine sieve. Mix well with ¾ teaspoon of salt, ¼ teaspoon of ground black pepper, ¼ teaspoon each of powdered mustard and garlic powder and ¼ cup of mayonnaise.

Cut celery ribs into 24 (3-inch) pieces and divide egg mixture among them. Sprinkle with paprika.

Food Information Week All Set

BY JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

March 31 through April 6 has been designated "Food Information Week" in Oakland and Wayne counties.

* * *

Sponsored by the advisory councils of the Consumer Marketing Information Program of Michigan State University, the theme of the week is "New Glamour in Foods."

* * *

Its purpose is to bring public attention to changes in the food industry and to information distributed by the marketing information program; to inform shoppers of new foods, convenience foods and trends in food processing and packaging.

Exhibits and demonstrations at Pontiac Mall will highlight the week in Oakland county. Food companies representing basic food industries will show their products.

Demonstrations by home economists will be held throughout the week. Hours for these are Tuesday through Saturday at 2 p.m. and Tuesday through Friday at 7 p.m. WPON will make daily broadcasts from the Mall.

* * *

Pontiac area residents may attend the Detroit program for Food Information Week, Tuesday at 7:45 p.m. in the Ford Auditorium.

* * *

Speakers who will talk on new trends in the food industry are Herrell DeGraff, executive vice president, American Meat Institute; Robert L. Gibson, president, Libby, McNeil & Libby; and Win Schuler, president Win Schuler's Restaurants, Inc.

Entertainment will be provided by Don Large and the Honeybees. Hughes-Hatcher-Suffrin is putting on a style show, "Glamour Starts in the Kitchen."

* * *

A chartered bus will leave Pontiac Mall at 6:00 p.m. Tuesday for the Detroit program. The Oakland County Cooperative Extension Office may be contacted for possible available transportation.

* * *

Mrs. Josephine Lawyer, Consumer Marketing Information Agent in Oakland County, is in charge of the week's program.

Jelly Butter Flavors Various Vegetables

Try a tablespoon of jelly melted in butter or margarine and poured over hot vegetables. The jelly subordinates itself to the flavor of the vegetable and gives it a fresh-from-the-garden taste.

You'll find this melted butter and jelly treatment equally good for fresh, frozen or packaged vegetables such as carrots, peas, lima beans, beets (packaged without sugar), corn and mixed vegetables.

Gold Muffins Made From Pumpkin

These substantial muffins will help round out a soup-and-salad lunch for the family.

Pumpkin Muffins

1½ cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg
½ cup firmly packed light brown sugar
1 large egg
½ cup canned pumpkin
½ cup milk
¼ cup butter or margarine (melted)

Sift together the flour, baking powder, salt, cinnamon, nutmeg and brown sugar. Beat egg until thick and pale yellow; add pumpkin, milk and melted butter; beat to combine. Add sifted dry ingredients to pumpkin mixture; stir only until dry ingredients are moistened.

Fill buttered muffin-pan cups about two-thirds full. Bake in a hot (425 degrees) oven until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean—15 to 25 minutes, depending on size of muffin pan cups; if these each hold 1-3 cup, recipe will make 12 muffins. Serve hot.

Baste your next meat loaf with prune juice. Gives the meat wonderful flavor.

Tangy Mustard Cheese Sauce Fine on Toast

Make open-faced mustard-cheese sandwiches. Blend 1 tablespoon of flour with the same amount of melted butter or margarine. Add 1 cup of milk. Stir and cook 4 to 5 minutes, or until slightly thickened.

Add 1 teaspoon of powdered mustard and 2 cups of shredded cheddar cheese. Stir and cook until cheese melts, but do not boil. Serve on toast with a garnish of crisp bacon slices. Serves 6.

TRIO OF EXPERTS—Maybe I'll talk about frozen food," says Mary Jackson (right), head of the home service department of Consumer Power Co. Mrs. Josephine Lawyer, consumer marketing information agent (left) and Jean Hardy, electric living adviser, Detroit Edison, confer with her. These experts will be giving demonstrations next week at Pontiac Mall.

Pontiac Press Photos

A PREVIEW — Looking over some of the new foods they will demonstrate during Food Information Week programs at Pontiac Mall April 2-6 are (from left) Mrs. Marguerite Hague, Birmingham home economist; Mrs. Mary Hardy, county extension agent in home economics; Mrs. Ruth Kremer, Pontiac home economist; and Mrs. Janet Odell, food editor, The Pontiac Press.

Initial Them

Mark the letters HC on hard cooked eggs when you store them in the refrigerator. It helps identify them. It's wise to keep a few hard cooked eggs in the refrigerator at all times to be used in hurry-up salads and snacks.

A little honey added to mayonnaise or salad dressing for a fruit salad will give the salad a new flavor.

Sprinkle With Paprika

Heating a creamed dish in the oven or under the broiler? Sprinkle it lightly with paprika before heating for an appetizing-looking rosy brown surface.

LAST FAMILY LAMPOON—Hot selling record among Cuban exiles pokes fun at inhabitants of Cuba's "Red House" in a humorous style inspired by "The First Family" which poked fun at inhabitants of U.S. White House.

Hot Record Among Cubans Pokes Fun at 'Red House'

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The hottest selling phonograph record among Cuban exiles is "The last Family," which pokes fun at inhabitants of the "Red House" in Cuba.

★ ★ ★

It was inspired by the runaway best seller "The First Family," lampooning occupants of the White House.

The Latin version, recorded in Miami stores can't keep it in stock. The first issue, 3,000 copies, sold almost immediately and a second 3,000 has been issued. An English edition is planned.

★ ★ ★

Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro, a well-known baseball fan who "like to play left field, of course," is the main target.

"We do not steal bases any longer, we confiscate them," he says.

CASTRO INTERVIEW

In a burlesque of his visit to the United Nations in 1961, Castro is interviewed.

"What do you like about the U.S., Dr. Castro?"

"I like the Red Cross, the Cincinnati Reds," the impersonator of Castro replies, then adds, 'But I am NOT a Communist."

Castro's negotiations with New York lawyer James Donovan over the Bay of Pigs invasion prisoners are covered.

★ ★ ★

A Havana call comes to Donovan's office. "Collect," the operator says. Donovan hesitates a moment before he says, "well, put it through."

No prisoners will leave, announces Castro, until a jar of applesauce, broken in the last shipment, is replaced.

RAUL FOR BOBBY

Also, Fidel wants to exchange his brother Raul for U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy.

"Bobby Kennedy?" asks Donovan. "You want to make him minister of justice?"

"No. Chief telephone operator," answers Fidel. "I hear that with only two phone calls he raised a million dollars and we can use that kind of money down here."

★ ★ ★

The young man who mimics almost the entire cast is a small, gentle-mannered Cuban television star, Tito Hernandez. He used to work in a Havana radio station with Guillermo Alvarez Guedes, who formed the company producing the record.

The company plans to distribute the record in Latin America. Guedes said a prospective Venezuelan distributor wrote: "I could sell 10,000 copies of the record immediately, but the Communists would kill me."

Ohio House for Belt Bill

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — The House passed by a 111-16 vote yesterday a bill to require installation of seat belts in all cars manufactured after Jan. 1, 1964. It now goes to the Senate.

President Will Visit Tennessee in May

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy will visit Tennessee May 18, the White House said today.

Andrew T. Hatcher, assistant press secretary, said Kennedy will take part in ceremonies in connection with the 30th anniversary of legislation creating the Tennessee Valley Authority.

★ ★ ★

Hatcher said other suggestions by Tennessee's Democratic Sens. Albert Gore and Estes Kefauver are under consideration.

Hatcher did not specify what suggestions the Tennessee senators have made for Kennedy activities.

Wine Approved for Diabetics

SANTA BARBARA, Cal. (UPI) — Dry white wine is a beneficial addition to the restricted diet of diabetics, Dr. Salvatore P. Lucia of the University of California's school of medicine told the annual convention of the American Society of Enologists here.

★ ★ ★

"Diabetes is a disease in which wine can be of great help to the clinician," Lucia, who is on the staff of the University's San Francisco medical center, said.

"The effect of wine on diabetes has been studied since the early years of this century.

"Of course, before the discovery of insulin, clinicians had to rely on an accurate knowledge of the foods and beverages which would be safe and permissible in the diet of the diabetic patient.

"Many investigations were carried out using a variety of foods and beverages and it was found that not only could wine, particularly a dry white wine, be included in the diabetic diet, but it actually seemed to exert a definitely benefical effect.

★ ★ ★

"It was therefore concluded that it was not only safe but advantageous to include a moderate amount of white wine in the rigid diet of the diabetic patient."

Mayor Pushes Olympics Plug

DETROIT (UPI) — Mayor Jerome Cavanagh proved yesterday he wasn't letting an opportunity to push Detroit's bid for the 1968 Olympic Games slip by him.

Cavanagh smoothed the way for presenting the Motor City's bid before the International Olympic Committee in Nairobi, Kenya, in October, by extending a warm welcome to His Worship Charles W. Rubia, mayor of Nairobi.

Rubia, who by coincidence was in Detroit as part of a two-month tour of U.S. cities, was presented a key to the city and taken on a tour of the area.

The pineapple originated in America, not Hawaii as commonly believed. It was found growing in the West Indies where it was used for food and wine making.

Teens Hold Polio Clinic

BARNSTABLE, Mass. (AP) — A determined group of Barnstable Junior High School students are sponsoring a polio vaccine clinic for their parents.

The project began when the 168 students learned their parents were not eligible to join in the school's clinic.

Determined that their parents should be immunized also, the students raised $180 for a down payment for vaccine and secured permission to use the school auditorium for an adult clinic next week.

Then they launched a publicity campaign to inform adults of the clinic.

The students announced Wednesday they will charge 25 cents for each dose of vaccine. And if that charge does not cover the rest of the cost, they plan a cake sale to raise the balance.

Put It in Words

Authors to Tackle Tax Bill Next Week

By EDMOND LEBRETON

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Ways and Means Committee, which has heard some 200 witnesses on President Kennedy's tax cut and revision proposals, starts next week the even longer task of writing a bill.

* * *

Informed guessing on Capitol Hill is that the legislation will go to the House for action in June and that it will contain more immediate tax reduction than Kennedy recommended—about $3 billion—though ultimately the reduction might level off at about his long-range figure—$10.2 billion.

Moreover, most congressional observers will be surprised if the committee incorporates in this year's bill more than a minimum of the tax revisions that Kennedy called necessary reforms and recoupings of some of the revenue sacrificed by slashing tax rates.

FOREGO REDUCTIONS

To provide tax cuts without compensating tax revisions and yet not swell too much an impending $11.9-billion deficit, the committee would have to forego rate reductions as deep as Kennedy recommended. Instead of trimming the present 20 to 91 per cent personal income tax range as low as Kennedy's proposed 14 to 65, the spread might have to be more like 15 to 75.

* * *

Kennedy has made it clear he is interested primarily in an economy-stimulating tax cut and will not make difficulties if Congress enacts this only at the cost of shelving much of what he called his tax reform program.

The hearings highlighted some of the more vulnerable parts of the program. The last two days were given over to an onslaught by oil industry witnesses on proposals for tightening some tax rules affecting the industry, especially the controversial 27½ per cent depletion allowance. This was figured at $280 million compensating revenue.

* * *

Earlier, a prime target had been the Treasury proposal for a floor—5 per cent of income—under the personal deduction that would be allowed individual taxpayers for outlays like charitable contributions, mortgage interest and local taxes. The Treasury had calculated a $2.2-billion recovery from this change.

Airport Receives Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Aviation Agency has approved a grant of $222,500 to the tri-city airport at Saginaw, Mich., Sens. Pat McNamara and Philip A. Hart of Michigan announced yesterday.

The Hearing Aid Industry Conference reports that almost one-fifth of the hearing impairments in men are caused by injury. The ratio is one in 25 among women. Exposure to industrial noise is cited as one of the major factors in the higher incidence among men.

TO SEE HUSBAND — Mrs. Ralph Flores bids goodby to four of her children last night at San Francisco International Airport. Mrs. Flores is flying to Whitehorse, Yukon, for reunion with her pilot-husband, who survived seven weeks in the frozen wastes of the Yukon.

Reunion With Wife Is Awaited by Pilot

WHITEHORSE, Yukon Territory (AP) — Pilot Ralph Flores waited excitedly today for a reunion with his wife, Teresa, who is flying from California to the Yukon, where Flores underwent a seven-week ordeal in the frozen wilderness.

★ ★ ★

"She'll collapse when she sees me," said the pilot-electrician from San Bruno, Calif. "My face is not the same. It's so high up on this side."

★ ★ ★

PLANS TO LEAVE

Miss Klaben made a reservation to leave Whitehorse this afternoon on the same plane her older brother Arthur, of Wethersfield, Conn., was scheduled to take from eattle to Whitehorse to join her.

Miss Klaben's flight—and Mrs. Flores' arrival—could be delayed by a snowstorm which has paralyzed air travel in and out of Whitehorse since Wednesday.

PLANNED ROUTE

Miss Klaben planned to fly to Fairbanks, Alaska, then to Juneau, where she could board a jet for Seattle en route to New York.

Miss Klaben sent for her brother to help her sift through bids pouring in for rights to her survival story. One magazine has offered $8,000.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Flores and Arthur Klaben met briefly Wednesday night in Seattle as they awaited passage to Whitehorse.

"I can't explain it in words," said Mrs. Flores, 39, "but all this time I knew he would be found."

She said the couple's six children "had even more confidence than I had."

"I feel very strongly that the only thing that saved him was his faith," she added. Flores, 42, is described as a devout Mormon.

Employes in the cable and assembly department of Ampex Corp., where Mrs. Flores works, donated the money for her flight.

★ ★ ★

The storm also may delay a visit to the remote crash site by an investigating team from Canada's Department of Transport.

Officials said that the investigation is routine. Conviction for failure to carry regulation survival gear prescribed for flights over Canada's hazardous northland could mean a $5,000 fine plus a year in jail.

But a Transport Department spokesman in Edmonton said he never had heard of anyone being charged for flying without survival gear.

"It is usually felt the pilot has learned a lesson from his experience," he said. "The resulting publicity will also bring this to many others."

Waterford Jaycees to Form Junior Unit

Waterford Township Junior Chamber of Commerce members will establish a junior Jaycee unit tonight. It will consist of 18 boys from the Oakland County Youth Home in Union Lake.

The boys, all wards of the court ranging in age from 14 to 18, will be chartered as the Waterford Township Junior Jaycees—a first both on the state and national Jaycee levels.

Charter night activities will begin at 7:30 p.m. at the youth home.

The idea for the junior unit evolved from a talk by former Detroit Tiger star Hal Newhouser a few months ago. He discussed sports and youth at a regular meeting of the Waterford Jaycees.

U. S. Jazz Trumpeter Deported From England

LONDON (UPI) — American jazz trumpet player Chet Baker has been deported to France, the British home office announced today.

A spokesman said Baker, 33, was taken out of Pentonville Prison yesterday and put aboard a channel steamer to France at Dover.

He spent one month in Pentonville for illegally procuring heroin and cocaine in London.

Italy's Blackshirts Keep Fascist Flame Alive

By JAMES M. LONG

ROME (AP)—The symbolic red, white and green flame of fascism flowers on election posters throughout Italy and still burns bright in the hearts of a million and a half Italians.

Die-hard blackshirts and many of their sons will vote in the national election April 26 under their old motto: "Vigliacco chi molla" —"Who yields is a coward."

★ ★ ★

They still claim, as Benito Mussolini did 40 years ago in his march on Rome, that their party is Italy's last-ditch defense against communism.

Even the party's leaders see no real chance that they will ever win back power. But they are pledged to Mussolini's old idea of state socialism — the corporate state.

PARTY REORGANIZED

After the war they reorganized their party as the Italian Social Movement (MSI). For a while it gathered strength. In the first postwar parliamentary election, in 1948, they polled only 2 per cent of votes. Five years later they won 5.8 per cent. That was the MSI peak. In the latest national election, in 1958, their votes dropped to 4.8 per cent, or 1.4 million.

Although outnumbered 5 to 1, the Fascists have given eager battle to Italy's big Communist party for the past 15 years—in riots in the city squares and fist fights in Parliament.

It is not against the law for an Italian to be a Fascist. There is no law against a political party under such an innocuous name as the Italian Social Movement, even if its political aims are Mussolini's old goals of state socialism, and even if its members call themselves Fascist.

ALLOW NO GLORY

What is against the law is "apology for fascism"—that is, glorifying the Fascist era by using its banners and slogans and signs or praising its ideals.

City Councilman Ernesto Brivio, stormy petrel of Italian fascism, ran afoul of this law last month. Son of a rich chain-store owner, Brivio was decorated for wartime air force heroism. He won a landslide election to Rome's City Council with such slogans as: "I defended you in the air. I will defend you in city hall."

★ ★ ★

Police charged him with apology for fascism because he stood in front of a political rally in his old Fascist black shirt, with his arm up in the now-forbidden Roman salute.

As a city councilman he was not jailed but he will have to answer to a misdemeanor charge.

On more dramatic occasions, the law looks the other way.

Eight years ago 100,000 Romans turned out with the salute and the black battle flags of fascism to give Marshal Rodolfo Graziani a greater ovation in death than he ever received as Mussolini's last-ditch commander.

LAST OF LEGIONS

Behind the coffin marched the last of the Mussolini's legions—each man in some tattered old remnant of his uniform, each company headed by the tricolor flame pennants of the MSI or the old black war banners of fascism.

"Italia, Italia," the crowd shouted in a chant similar to that once used to shout "Duce, Duce."

It was the same at the little cemetery at Predappio two years later, when Mussolini's body finally was turned over to his widow for burial in the family tomb.

Thousands stood wet-eyed in stiff-armed salute. A hundred of Il Duce's last-ditch henchmen turned out in their black shirts and pledged at the tomb: "We swear that we will continue to follow the way of Il Duce."

Massed police forces stood guard, but there was no need for them to intervene.

Predappio's Communist mayor, Egidio Proli, had promised in advance: "We will not interfere."

It was a short-lived truce. Fist-fighting between Fascists and Communists resumed afterward at various party rallies.

Now the MSI is campaigning determinedly for even a token increase in strength in the election next month. Their leaders say: "We will prove we are still in the battle."

Peace Corps Needs Craft in Liberia

WASHINGTON (AP) — A rugged surf-riding boat that's out of style nowadays, is just what the Peace Corps needs in Liberia.

★ ★ ★

With it, says Tom Quimby, Peace Corps representative in the West African republic, many more Peace Corps volunteers could be added to Liberia's coastal regions.

★ ★ ★

As it is now, a plane is needed to supply the schoolteachers.

Back in Washington briefly last week, Quimby put his problem before the U.S. Coast Guard.

CRAFT EXISTS

Advisers there told him the craft he needs—one that can haul a ton of supplies, get through heavy ocean surf and still be light enough for beaching—is now in use only in Portugal as far as they know. No Coast Guard boats would fill the bill.

Once, however, there was a 25-foot skiff used by New Jersey pond fishermen that probably would be just right, Quimby was told.

There are boat builders around the Wildwood, N.J., area who could probably build a new one, but the cost might be $8,000 to $10,000, Quimby said.

Besides, under the law, the Peace Corps is not permitted to purchase capital equipment of any kind. So Quimby is hoping some New Jersey fisherman may have just what the Peace Corps needs and be willing to donate it.

★ ★ ★

400-Pound Turtle Poses Problem for 2 Policemen

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—A 400-pound sea turtle bent on laying its eggs near a busy street at 4:30 a.m. handed two policemen a ponderous problem. The turtle refused to be steered back into the sea, no matter how hard they pushed.

★ ★ ★

A turtle consultant said she would certainly leave if they stepped on her tail. They did, and she did — but only a few feet, where she balked again.

★ ★ ★

Finally, the two sweating policemen roped her and dragged her several hundred feet back to the water, and she swam away to look for an unincorporated area where there were no meddlesome policemen.

Mt. McKinley in Alaska, highest peak in all North America, was ascended in 1913 for the first time by Archdeacon Hudson Stuck and a party of three of his friends.

Maybe American Men Really Are the Boss

BY PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK—She is one of those fragile Japanese girls with almond eyes, porcelain cheeks, dainty hands—oh, you know, all those things that make an American girl feel about as soft and sexy as the Statue of Liberty.

She enters the office with a man, who offers her a comfortable chair; "Oh no, please," she says, "you take that—I will take the straight one."

PHYLLIS BATTELLE

The man pulls out a cigarette, and she leans forward impulsively as if to light it for him, then snuggles back on her obi self-consciously.

"Like most other girls in Tokyo, I am westernized," she remarked proudly.

The little girl, trying so diligently and failing so delightfully at "Americanization" is Miss Misako Hagano, 23, the first Japanese language teacher for a liberal arts college (Earlham, in Richmond, Ind.) in this country.

Miss Hagano, visiting New York during spring vacation from her 37 students, has fascinating views of men and women. . . .

"Boys and girls in Tokyo, they are the same as boys and girls in the United States now. That is to say, the man is the boss although it does not look like he is. You see, the modern custom is for man to open doors for a woman, and to let her pass through ahead of him, and so on.

"Now this looks on the surface as though the man is the servant and the woman is the boss, but under the surface, in the heart, the man is still the boss and the woman the servant.

"You see what I intend to say?"

I said, you bet.

"My parents are old. They are more than 50," Misako went on, "and they do not understand this. My mother always opens door for my father, and he goes first. They cannot see that when a boy does service for a girl, he is still the boss."

She shook her head. I did too.

"When I go back to Japan I will be 25 years old, and my parents are very concerned I will not find a husband. First, becaus I am so old and most important, because young men in Tokyo don't like to marry girls who have gone abroad, particulary to America. They say it is because in America girls learn to smoke and drink and let their husbands wash dishes."

I said good gracious, where would they ever get that idea?

"Well, I think that's just an excuse," said Misako. "I think maybe they don't like to marry girls who have heen to America because maybe they feel some inferior complex when they're with them."

* * *

As a matter of fact, she added pensively, Tokyo men with educations tend to "marry a girl who hasn't had mor than a high school education. They want a girl who does not discuss business with them. Instead they want a girl who is home practicing the tea ceremony service and arranging flowers and raising children.

"I can do all those things, pretty well, but you see I have a college education and I have been abroad. That is not to my credit for finding a good husband."

In spite of the odds, Miss Hagano hopes to find a man just like the husband of her older sister.

"He opens doors for her, holds her coat," she said wide-eyed, "gives her all the greatest courtesies, makes it look like she is the boss, and yet he is still the boss . . . just like American men."

Tough Nuptial Law Rejected by Senate

LANSING (AP) — A bill to make it harder for Michigan couples to get married and divorced was rejected by a 23-11 vote in the Senate yesterday.

The unfavorable vote came after the measure was first given tentative approval.

At least six hours of counseling over a minimum period of six weeks would be required before a marriage license could be issued.

For the couple with a child under the age of 18 years, no divorce would have been granted without a minimum of six hours of counseling.

State Packaging Firm to Occupy New Building

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Michigan Industrial Packaging, Inc., is leaving its 6-year-old plant upon completion of a $400,000 building in suburban Paris Township.

* * *

MIP was founded nine years ago. Its employment range swings between 35 and 65 persons. The firm occupied its present plant in 1957 and expanded it in 1959 as business increased.

Child Home After Loss of Legs

SENECA FALLS, N.Y. (AP)—Debbie Marcuccilli, 7, who lost both legs in a school bus accident, is home from the hospital but is expected to be back in soon to be fitted with artificial legs.

She is scheduled to go to Strong Memorial Hospital in Rochester in about two weeks and would be there for her 8th birthday April 21.

She has her "ups and down," her mother, Mrs. Orazio Marcuccilli, told a reporter today.

But a nurse at the local hospital, where Debbie had been since the accident Feb. 13, described her as a very good little patient.

'LIVE DAY TO DAY'

Mrs. Marcuccilli said the family, which also includes three young boys, had made no plans for celebrating Debbie's birthday.

"We're just living day by day," the mother said. "We don't make any plans. Sometimes things just don't work out."

Pretty, dark-haired Debbie took home with her Monday thousands of sympathetic letters from across the nation. Among them was one from astronaut John H. Glenn Jr., which the family is keeping private.

Debbie was among 62 children aboard the school bus when the collision with a tractor-trailer occurred at Waterloo, a few miles from this central New York village. She was the only child gravely injured.

California Doctors Oppose Cigarettes

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The California Medical Association says it has become the first such society in the United States to publicly declare cigarette smoking harmful.

After considering several stronger proposals, the association's House of Delegates voted Wednesday "to publicize the harmful effect of smoking."

The anticigarette campaign, to be aimed at school children, will be formulated by the association's administrative council.

Pope to Present Easter Message on Radio Hookup

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII will broadcast his Easter message to the world at 2 p.m. EST Saturday, April 13, over Vatican radio in a hookup with national radio systems in many other countries.

On Easter, the Vatican announced, the Pope will give his blessing Urbi et Orbi—to Rome and to the World.

During the week before Easter, the Pope will participate in the blessing of the Palms ceremony in St. Peter's on Palm Sunday; celebrate Mass in the Sistine Chapel for members of the diplomatic corps to the Holy See on April 11, and attend services in some Roman church on April 12.

Leading Baritone's Views

U.S. Has Long Way to Go Culturally

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Is America, home of the fast buck, becoming a world cultural leader?

There are some intellectuals who fondly believe so.

But George London, born in Montreal, Quebec, regarded by many as the world's finest baritone, thinks that, culturally speaking we still have a long, long way to go.

BOYLE

"There are about 150 fine American singers permanently engaged in German cities," remarked the Metropolitan Opera star. "Why are they over there? They are over there because they can find no work over here."

WORKS ABROAD

"There are few opera companies in this country, and only one that has a full season. Therefore our talented youngsters have to go abroad to find a place to display their talent," he said.

London feels that the fine arts will never truly flourish in the United States until they get some kind of government subsidy.

* * *

"Culture is still a kind of dirty word here," he said, shaking his head. "The funds that would have to be requested to give this vast country the kind of cultural life it deserves are controlled by people living in the rural areas.

"The representative from Plowed Ground, Iowa, doesn't give a dam whether a large city has an opera company, a legitimate theater, a ballet troupe or a full-time symphony orchestra.

"There's more money appropriated every year to keep the whooping crane from becoming extinct than it would take to start a modest program of subsidizing the arts."

KEEPS IN SHAPE

London, 43, trains to keep in shape.

"The public has been conditioned through motion pictures to keep visual sight of a performance. It's essential today that we keep in better shape than the opera stars of a generation ago," he said.

"Our common problem is to keep well physically. A singer is a very vulnerable individual. His instrument is not merely his voice but his whole body. Therefore any negative element that affects him emotionally or physically tends also to affect his singing."

For a while London used to work out systematically with bar bells. But that became too complicated for one who travels as much as he does. Bar bells are too wearing on the ordinary bell hop.

GEORGE LONDON

REGULAR PROGRAM

"Now I follow a regular program of calisthenics. That's pretty boring, but after a while it gets to be like brushing your teeth."

One of the traditional woes of the baritone is that in most operas he is relegated to the role of villain, and the tenor winds up with the pretty girl. This doesn't worry London.

"The tenor may get the girl onstage, but that's not so true offstage," he said dryly.

"It is difficult for a tenor to love a girl, because he's so much in love with himself he doesn't have much left over for anyone else. Of course, there are exceptions, but—"

Age Bias Cuts Into Production

NEW YORK (UPI)—The working life of the average American has been telescoped to a point where he is likely to have only 15 good, productive years between the completion of his education and being regarded as "too old" for advancement, a sociologist claims.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Jesse J. Frankel, who left a successful career in business to study sociology at New York University and become a consultant in problems of older people said: "The peak period of earning power is now telescoped from both ends," he said.

"The number of years of education now considered necessary in this technological age is rapidly increasing and many more young people will be going to college.

"A young man may therefore not complete his education till the age of 22, or even 24 or 25, if he needs further professional or scientific training.

"At the other end, he may begin to encounter discrimination against himself around the age of 40 if he should have to look for a new job.

"He must therefore compress all his progress into approximately 15 years, instead of being able to look forward, as young men once could, to a lifetime of achievement. Our future, as it has been said, is no longer what it used to be."

Even the now widely accepted retirement age of 65 should be outlawed, in Frankel's estimation.

He feels that a person should be allowed to work as long as he is able to contribute something and wants to work.

"Old age clubs are all right in their place," he said, "but I'd like to see persons working during the day and going to a club in their leisure time. The terms 'senior citizen' and 'golden age' should be abolished and the clubs for these people must be regarded as places for constructive recreation, not adult kindergartens.

Retired Diplomat Dies

MIDGET METER—Clarence Black studies a compact parking meter on a Racine, Wis., street. The meter wasn't designed for midgets in sports cars; it just got that way when it was installed over a hotel basement extension. Somehow the stand of the meter penetrated the concrete above the basement and it sank to its present level.

Stickey Problem Fouls Love Life of Lady Penguins

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) —The presence of diesel oil in the waters around the Cape coast is apparently upsetting the love life of the penguins there, an official of the government's Guano Island division says.

★ ★ ★

He said courting has dropped off because male penguins do not approve of the oil on the females' feathers, and possibly because they don't like the smell either.

The result is that the population of the seven penguin islands off the Cape's west coast has decreased stadily.

★ ★ ★

It's bad news for gourmets, too, because there'll likely be no penguin eggs again this year. Last time eggs were collected was in 1959.

Bridge Player Succumbs

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP) — Jack Kushner, 60, former world champion bridge player, died Tuesday. For many years Kushner was a bridge writer for the Springfield Daily News and the Springfield Sunday Republican.

Didn't Seek Presidency—LBJ

NEW YORK (UPI) — Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson says that his friends put him in the race for the 1960 presidential nomination although he "doubted the advisability" of their action.

★ ★ ★

Johnson also said in a televised interview that he does not plan to wage an active campaign for renomination as vice president in 1964 but hopes the delegates will "look with approval" on the Kennedy-Johnson record.

Johnson said he did not feel in 1960 that "I was a good candidate; I didn't go into any of the primaries; I didn't go out and ask any delegations to commit themselves to me . . . ."

At the present time about 1.8 million people a year are holding jobs affected by automation and technological changes.

Vote for Box Lunch

DETROIT (AP) — Two of the big three auto companies will continue to serve box lunches at their annual meetings this year. Ford is shifting the time of its meeting and will drop lunch.

Spokesmen for General Motors and Chrysler said their firms will offer lunch to the shareholders as in past years.

Chrysler will meet at its sales training center in suburban Center Line, April 16. General Motors will meet as usual at its Wilmington, Del., assembly plant on May 24.

★ ★ ★

Ford said its meeting will not open until 2 p.m., in contrast to a usual 10:30 a.m. starting time.

No reason was announced for the shift, the first since Ford became a publicly owned company in 1956. The meeting will be in Detroit May 3.

U.S. Steel Corp. announced it was discontinuing lunches and moving its meeting to an afternoon starting time. Last year American Telephone & Telegraph Co., only company with more shareowners than General Motors, dropped lunch.

American Motors, which held its annual meeting Feb. 6, served lunch in the company cafeteria following the Detroit session.

Names Insurance Week

LANSING (AP) — Gov. George Romney has proclaimed April 7-13 as Life Insurance Week in Michigan. The governor urged citizens "to recognize the importance of life insurance as a means of investing in the future."

Retailers Urged to Boost State in Newspapers

EAST LANSING (AP)—Retailers were urged to boost the Michigan Week promotion through special sections in local newspapers at a planning meeting at East Lansing Tuesday for the annual May 19-25 Michigan Week.

★ ★ ★

Paul Wilson of Detroit, chairman of the retail committee, also suggested release of balloons, a giant festival of products, customer contests to find the most Michigan products and student contests to write the best Michigan easy and make the best product map.

★ ★ ★

"The newspaper sections will boost state and local products as well as the business of the retailers," Wilson said.

Gregory Peck in Race for Oscar and Sweepstakes

BY BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD — Gregory Peck is a man with two races on his mind—the Grand National and Oscar.

After he finishes his day's work on "Capt. Newman, U.S.A." today, the actor will head for the airport to begin a trip to Liverpool, England. On Saturday he will see his horse, Owen's Sedge, race in the Grand National, on which the Irish Sweepstakes are based.

THOMAS

Next Monday, he will report on location near Tucson, Ariz. A week from Monday he will be in Santa Monica, Calif., to see if he wins the Academy Award for his performance in "To Kill a Mocking Bird."

His chances in both races?

"Well, I can't finish any worse than fifth in the Oscars," he commented. "As for the Grand National, it's victory enough just to have a horse that can qualify to run."

Peck's acting career has been duly publicized. Little is known about his racing experience.

★ ★ ★

"It hasn't been much," he admitted. "About 10 years ago, John Huston and I got excited about a racing enterprise while we were making 'Moby Dick.'

CHANGE TOO MUCH

"Well, we got some horses and one of them won a couple of races. Immediately we shipped him here with high hopes. He did nothing. The change from Ireland to Inglewood (Calif.) was too much, I guess.

"I bought another horse in Australia while I was making 'On the Beach.' I named him Double Take, rather coyly, I thought. He never did much, either."

Peck's re-entry into the sport of kings came only recently. He had deputized some Irish friends to keep an eye out for talent, and they recommended two purchases. One is a flat-runner Peck has named May First after his daughter's birthdate. It has shown promise.

★ ★ ★

The other is Owen's Sedge, which he bought only two months ago.

"He's a 10-year-old, which is not unusual for the Grand National," the actor explained. "The race has been won by 14-year-olds, and a horse that is 10 is practically a youngster. Owen's Sedge has raced only once before and won, so I think he may have a good chance."

★ ★ ★

Peck is wry about his Academy nomination, his first since 1949 when he was up for "12 O'Clock High." He had been named three times before that—in 1945 ("The Keys of the Kingdom"), 1946 ("The Yearling") and 1947 ("Gentleman's Agreement").

"I can't quite explain that lapse," he said. "It certainly wasn't because I didn't try.

"We must face it: we actors owe much to the writers for any award recognition we get."

Town Isolated

Aussies Request Beer

DARWIN, Australia (AP)—Hall's Creek is a cattle township 700 miles southwest of Darwin and monsoon rains have isolated it by road since early January. The weather people say it will be mid-April before anyone can get there by road, and there is no railroad.

★ ★ ★

Are the 500 people of Hall's Creek alarmed? No, this is rugged Australia.

★ ★ ★

The first telegram from the flood-bound town's only storekeeper to his Darwin supplier was sent Jan. 10 and read: "Please air freight as many as possible cartons of canned beer in place of usual perishables. Desperate. Town out of beer."

REPLACEMENT

Food on the next plane was replaced by 100 dozen cans of beer.

Since then there have been telegrams each week or so, among them:

★ ★ ★

Jan. 21: Operation beer highly successful. Desperate again. Can you repeat this week, plus four bags potatoes, one bag onions?

Feb. : Please repeat beer, plus four bags potatoes, one bag onions.

Feb. 18: Town still thirsty. Require more beer this week.

Feb. 25: Require beer, milk, ice cream, chops, six bags potatoes, one bag onions.

★ ★ ★

March 7: Need ice cream, milk, potatoes, onions, and as much beer as you can load.

That March 7 telegram is the pattern on which the Hall's Creek grocer has settled.

Patrons Push Own Baggage

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—It's not unusual to see passengers at the Louisville & Nashville Railroad depot pushing carts similar to those used in grocery stores.

The railroad began experimenting with them when redcaps became scarce here, at Evansville and Montgomery, Ala.

The carts are smaller than those used in supermarkets but they'll handle at least a half dozen bags—and there's no charge for using them.

House Tightens Regulations

Boxing Stays 'Alive' in State

LANSING (UPI)—The House passed a bill last night to tighten up professional boxing in Michigan but kayoed an amendment that would have killed the sport altogether.

Under the measure sponsored by Democratic Rep. William D. Romano of Warren, fighters who lose consciousness must have a physical examination to regain their ring eligibility.

The bill was introduced before the Davey Moore tragedy but Moore's death and the controversial aftermath all over the nation obviously livened up House interest in the measure.

The House adopted an amendment to the bill offered by Rep. Paul Chandler, R-Livonia, to suspend permanently the state license of any boxer who suffers three career knockouts.

"This will make managers more reluctant to overmatch their fighters," said Chandler, a former sportswriter. "Overmatching is unquestionably the biggest ill in boxing today."

In a humorous sidelight to the debate, Romano withdrew his support for his own bill after the Chandler amendment was adopted. "It changes the whole intent of my bill," Romano charged.

The House quickly buried 76-24 another amendment that sought to outlaw all but amateur boxing in Michigan. Rep. Riemer Van Til, R-Holland, introduced the ill-fated proposal.

"Our civilization should by now have advanced farther than the time of Nero," Van Til said. "Boxing is a good example of man's inhumanity to man."

Rep. James S. Farnsworth, R-Allegan, sided with Van Til by comparing boxing to gamecock fighting.

The state Senate also has called for a boxing cleanup with a resolution for an investigation.

NO HIT GATHERING — Three young pitchers who tossed no hitters in the American League last summer got together at Scottsdale, Ariz. yesterday to discuss their perfect performances. Oddly enough, Belinsky was the LA pitcher in Wilson's no hit game.

City Quintet Wins District 'D' Title

The Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department's only undefeated recreation basketball team finished its season that way last night as Jo-Jo's teen-age squad edged Dearborn, 45-43, for the Inter-City District Class "D" crown in Detroit.

The local entry trailed 33-32 entering the final period but rallied to win its 17th consecutive game this year.

Although not as sharp as in earlier tournament games, Jo-Jo's had a 15-point performance by Milford Hillie and 77 points by Willie Harsten in posting its win.

Dick Gauthier (14) and Mike Moore (11) led the Dearborn team.

Spartan 9 Wins, 16-5

FT. LEE, Va. (AP) — Michigan State's Spartans yesterday pushed across eight runs in a big first inning here and coasted to a 16-5 baseball victory over Ft. Lee's Travelers.

Bob Maniere and Mel Chijean had two hits each as the Spartans, defeating Ft. Lee for the third straight day, sent 13 men to the plate in the first inning against two Traveler pitchers.

'Mixed Up' Hawks Ready for Game Two

Wings Improve as MacGregor Back on Ice

Detroit Must Hinder Ailing Hull; New Duel Looms for Howe

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Black Hawks, buoyed by their one-up advantage, go out to make it two in a row tonight in their second Stanley Cup semifinal playoff game with the Detroit Red Wings.

Rudy Pilous, Hawks coach, said he will use the same mixed lines that worked so successfully in the final two games of the season and in the Stanley Cup opener which Chicago won 5-4.

SHIFTED

Eric Nesterenko, shifted at the last minute from his normal right wing spot to left wing, played a major role in the Black Hawks' victory. He held Gordie Howe, Detroit's National Hockey League scoring champion, to two shots on the net and one wild pitch. Howe scored in the third period when Nesterenko was off the ice.

★ ★ ★

Nesterenko will be back on the job tonight and most likely will stay there through the best-of-7 series.

Also ready for more action is Chicago's "crippled" Bobby Hull, who scored the first two goals in the opening game during the 27 minutes he played.

Hull, hampered by a bruised right shoulder, said he was limited by pain to making wrist shots. He worked out on the ice Wednesday testing his shoulder and said the pain was so severe he still had difficulty lifting his arm.

Coach Sid Abel of the Wings will be able to maneuver his line better tonight. Bruce MacGregor, defensive veteran, will be available for right wing duties against Hull's rushes. MacGregor missed the opener because of his father's death.

★ ★ ★

The teams will move to Detroit for the third and fourth games of the series Sunday and Tuesday.

Return Moore to Ohio

SPRINGFIELDL, Ohio (AP) — The body of Davey Moore, who suffered fatal injuries in losing his world featherweight boxing title in Los Angeles last week, was returned to his native Springfield Wednesday night.

Large crowds were on hand at Port Columbus Airport, where the casket was flown from Los Angeles, and at the Patterson Funeral Home here, where it will remain until the funeral Saturday.

Richard Visits Former Mates

By the Associated Press

A middle - aged businessman who's growing a paunch worked out with Montreal's troubled Canadiens Wednesday.

"I'm trying him out," Coach Toe Blake said in mock seriousness. "We'll see if he can beat out a couple of our guys. We're that desperate, you know."

The gentleman in question wore uniform No. 9. That, of course, identified him as Rocket Richard, the National Hockey League's all-time goal-scoring leader who retired at the end of the 1959-60 season.

LEAFS 1-UP

That year, incidentally, was the last time the then-powerful Canadiens captured the Stanley Cup, symbolic of hockey's world series. Toronto beat Montreal 3-1 Tuesday night in the first game of this season's best-of-7 semifinal series.

★ ★ ★

The absence of Richard, who helped Montreal to eight Cups with 82 playoff goals including 18 winning shots, or a player of his type was reflected in two statements following the loss to Toronto.

"The Canadiens didn't play as well as they can," said Toronto Coach Punch Imlach. "We made the Montreal forwards look absolutely inept at times."

"We haven't got a leader," moaned Montreal goalie Jacques Plante. "We need a guy to give you the occasional whack on the seat."

Each of the playoffs resumes tonight with Montreal at Toronto and Detroit at Chicago. Toronto and Chicago each has a 1-0 lead. Third games are scheduled with Toronto at Montreal Saturday and Chicago at Detroit Sunday.

★ ★ ★

Plante suffered an asthma attack before the Tuesday game and said he expects to be bothered with it for about a week, but will play. Defenseman Tom Johnson is still out with a fractured left cheekbone.

Blake called up Charlie Hodge from Quebec of the American League as a standby for Plante for the next two playoff games.

The Leafs' only injury is to winger Johnny MacMillan, who is recovering from an elbow injury and may be available.

Giants to Duel in Yacht Race

Big Three Favored in 2nd Ocean Run

MIAMI (AP)—Escapade, Bolero and Ondine—three swift giants of ocean racing—are expected to wage a stirring duel for top honors in the second 844-mile Miami-to-Montego Bay yacht race starting today.

Five other yachts are entered, but one of the big three is expected to lead the way across the finish line. The first race, in 1961, required 169 hours, 8 minutes, 36 seconds.

Baldwin M. Baldwin's 72-foot yawl Escapade, from Los Angeles, scored a clean sweep in the inaugural event, winning both on elapsed and corrected time.

This year, for the first time, Sally Ames Langmuir brought Bolero to Florida from Beverly Hills, Calif., to challenge Escapade in southern waters and Bolero has won three out of four races from her West Coast rival.

S. A. (Huey) Long of New York brought Ondine directly from Australia, where she recently won the 630-mile Sydney-to-Hobart race.

Hazel Park Set to Start Apirl 11

Hazel Park Harness Raceway prepares to open its 1963 season on Thursday April 11 happily facing its usual problem of too many horses for too few stalls.

Race Secretary Bill Connors wrapped up his early duties this week after surveying the results of the early closing events and evaluating the stack of stall applications.

Connors' task was as tough as ever with more than 1,400 horses listed for the just 1,100 stalls. And more applications are coming in daily.

While Connors has returned birefly to his Lexington, Ky. home, Track President Donald D. MacFarlane has announced that officers at the track will open Monday, March 25.

Entries for the week of Grand Circuit racing, June 3 through 8, have filled as well or better than a year ago.

IOC Visitor WELL Treated in Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — A visiting mayor was treated with more than the usual courtesies when he visited the city-county building yesterday.

★ ★ ★

He is mayor Charles W. Rubia of Nairobi, Kenya, where the International Olympic Committee will gather in October to decide which city gets the 1968 Olympics.

Detroit is bidding for the games, as are Vienna, Mexico City and Lyon, France. Mayor Rubia disclosed that Madrid also is interested in getting the games.

Rubia, who is on a world tour for the IOC, said he had asked if Detroit would be on the list of cities he would visit.

★ ★ ★

"It is a famous city in the modern world and motoring was pioneered in my own East Africa by such cars as the Ford Model T," he explained.

Rubia will have no vote in the IOC balloting, but will be close to the inner workings of the committee.

Prep 9's Warm Up

The perpetual problems of spring — wet grounds and unpredictable weather — again visited prep baseball workouts this year, confining the annual exercises indoors.

While keeping a close watch on the calendar, perhaps with a thought for next week's openers, Pontiac area coaches limited early baseball practices to conditioning.

In most instances, pitchers and catchers were the first to flex their muscles late last week. Like always, outdoor workouts are at the mercy of the weatherman.

At this point, however, high school coaches reflect spring optimism as spirited schoolboys prepare for the forthcoming season with all the care of a Mickey Mantle or Al Kaline.

This is also a good time to predict the outcome of the short diamond season. Of course, even prep predictions include an enormous amount of guessing.

Beginning tomorrow, The Press will present a league by league summary of the prospects for the forthcoming season. The series of articles will begin with a forecast on the Wayne-Oakland Conference.

Tigers Unruffled by Defeat of Top Hurlers

Little Things Encourage Scheffing

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—It's a rare day when Jim Bunning gets rapped sharply, Frank Lary gets bombed and Detroit Tigers manager Bob Scheffing is unruffled afterwards.

It can happen only in spring training, the time when Scheffing finds encouragement in the little things.

★ ★ ★

Little things like Lary continuing to throw with a loose, natural motion while the batters tee off on his pitches. Or Bunning becoming the first Tiger to pitch a complete game although giving up six runs and losing.

Scheffing's two top righthanders were beaten yesterday.

ROUGHED UP

Bunning was roughed up for three runs in the first and third innings as the Tiger regulars lost 6-1 to the Milwaukee Braves in an exhibition game here.

Lary, making his third appearance in his comeback from last year's shoulder injury, went four innings in a "B" squad game at Lakeland. The Cincinnati Reds pounded him for seven hits and eight runs, five unearned, in four innings. The Reds won 9-5.

"Bunning gave up only two hits over the last five innings," said Scheffing, "I liked the way he grew stronger towards the end."

But Lary's performance's haven't grown stronger although Scheffing feels his arm has. Lary has pitched 10 innings now and rival batters have ripped into him for 18 hits and 15 runs.

Still Scheffing has no doubt Lary will make a successful comeback.

"I'm not concerned about him," said Scheffing after receiving the report on Lary from Lakeland. "I still think he'll come back."

Coach George Myatt, who handled the "B" game while most of the club was away, reported Lary threw well but was a bit wild.

Jerry Lynch and Hank Foiles touched him for Cincinnati home runs.

Bunning was staked to a one-run lead in the first against the Braves. Chico Fernandez led off with a single, stole second and scored on Rocky Colavito's base hit. After that the Tigers got only four more hits off Lew Burdette and Bob Hendley.

The Braves scored three times in the first on three hits, working a double steal for one run. Four hits produced the final three runs off Bunning in the third.

Only two more runners reached base, both on singles in the seventh. Bunning mowed down the Braves in order in four of the last five innings.

The Tigers return to Lakeland today for an exhibition with the Washington Senators while the "B" squad plays the Reds at Tampa. Scheffing planned to use rookies Larry Foster, Willie Smith and Joel McDaniel against the Senators with Bill Faul going against the Reds.

SQUEEZE FAILS — Detroit Tiger catcher Gus Triandos puts the tag on Tommy Aaron of Milwaukee as he slides in the third inning at home plate. Bubba Phillips scooped up the ball on a bunt of Amado Samuel and threw to Triandos. The Braves' first baseman was an easy out called by umpire Bill Williams. The Tigers still lost, 6-1, in West Palm Beach.

Tigers Get Outfielder to Complete Nat Deal

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The Detroit Tigers received outfielder Wayne Comer from the Washington Senators Wednesday to complete the deal for infielder Bobo Osborne.

Comer, 19, was sent immediately to the Tiger's minor league base for assignment to a farm club.

Osborne was traded to the Senators last Saturday.

Senior Golfer Surprises

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (AP)—The biggest surprise of the Ponce De Leon senior golf tournament is Sheriff L. O. Davis of St. Augustine, who meets F. A. Newcombe of Pine Bluff, Ark., in a semifinal match today.

★ ★ ★

Another upsetter, Ted Payseur of Evanston, Ill., faced L. W. Smead of Sea Island, Ga., in the other 18-hole semifinal.

The winners will play for the championship Friday.

Danish Squad Meets U.S. Soccer Entry

An Olympic Soccer prevue is slated for University of Detroit Stadium Sunday at 3 p.m. as the touring Danish AGF team meets the U.S. Olympic team.

An added feature of the soccer clash will be the appearance of Guenther Huss, all start center forward for the Detroit Carpathia Kickers.

Huss, who graduated from Detroit's Osborn High, has been invited to join the U.S. team for this international match.

The Danes will be playing their sixth game of their American tour.

Sunday's game will be a prevue of International Soccer League action that will be available this summer. Two ISL contests will be played in Detroit this year.

Soccer, which has been introduced in New York, Chicago, and other sections of the country, has been on the rise in Detroit for nearly two years.

★ ★ ★

According to the ISL-Detroit committee, the object of Sunday's game is to make Detroiters Olympic conscious and to help swell the city's Olympic bankroll.

All profits from the game will be turned over to the Detroit Olympic Committee.

Huss is one of 26 candidates for the U.S. Olympic team that will go to Tokyo in 1964. The U.S. entry in the Pan American games has already been selected by Coach Walter Giesler. The Pan-Am games get underway early next month.

The current Globetrotter squad includes Clarence Wilson, Murphy Summons, Tex Harrison, Meadowlark Lemon, Nat Clifton, Willis Thomas, Jim Robinson, Hershell Turner, Hubert Ausbie and Mel Davis.

Playing for the Detroit Lions will be Roger Brown, Gail Cogdill, Alex Karras, Bruce Maher, Max Messner, Earl Morrall, Milt Plum and Wayne Walker.

Activity starts at 8:00 p.m

Approve Quail Season

LANSING (AP) — The Senate has approved a bill to permit quail hunting in certain Michigan counties during a portion of the pheasant season.

The measure, as approved 30-2 and sent to the House, carries and automatic expiration date of Dec. 31, 1963.

He Felt Okay but Questions Leave Doubt

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Two questions in the locker room between halves of Michigan's basketball victory over Indiana here last Feb. 9 put captain-elect Bob Cantrell out for the rest of the game, says Coach Dave Strack.

★ ★ ★

Cantrell was hit accidentally on the chin late in the first half, but waved Strack and trainer Jim Hunt away, shouting: "I'm all right."

In the locker room Strack asked Cantrell if he felt all right.

"Sure," said the player, but can I speak to you privately?"

★ ★ ★

They went to a corner, and Cantrell said:

"Two questions: First — where am I? And second—who the devil are you?"

Boston Opens Division Finals Against Cincinnati

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Celtics open the National Basketball Association's Eastern Division final playoffs against the Cincinnati Royals at Boston Garden tonight.

Some of the experts pick Boston's defending league champions in four or five games. But Celtics Coach Red Averback will have none of it.

★ ★ ★

"We'll have our hands full," Auerbach said today. "I'm planning on the full seven games."

ROYAL FIGURE TOUGH

"Cincy is tough," Averback added. "Sure, we beat them nine out of 12 times during the regular season, but four or five of our wins were by three points or less."

The best-of-7 division championship switches to Cincinnati for a Friday night game, with the third tussle to be played back at Boston Garden Sunday night. The fourth game will be at Xavier University in Cincinnati next Wednesday night.

★ ★ ★

The remaining games are scheduled for Boston April 6, Cincinnati Gardens April 7 and Boston April 10.

"Maybe my players will figure they'll have an easy time with the Royals since they've beaten them so often," said Auerbach. "But I hope they don't go into this series with that attitude.

"If they do they can kiss off their playoff money and a chance at a fifth straight NBA championship."

★ ★ ★

The outspoken Boston coach reminded that "Cincy is tough. The Syracuse Nats would have been tough. Any team is tough in a short playoff series. And I'm not trying to be trite or kid anybody."

Royals Coach Charlie Wolf cautions Boston fans that his players are in the midst of a hot streak and are coming off an upset series victory over Syracuse.

★ ★ ★

"We've been playing the best ball, by far, of the season lately," he said. "I remembered the boys during one game against the Nats that it would be a shame if they had to end the season right when they were playing their best ball."

★ ★ ★

Wolf brought out that the Royals shot for a 47 per cent average in the Syracuse series and were 46 per cent from the floor for the regular season.

The woodcock's big eyes are situated near the back of the head, and its ears are well forward, almost at the base of its bill.

Ski Winners Get Chance for Olympics

SUN VALLEY, Idaho (AP) —The Harriman Cup races, long one of the more popular ski events in the United States, will have an added Olympic flavor when they get under way here Friday.

The races will be one of two qualifying events for berths on the 1964 U.S. Olympic team along with the national championships at Mount Alyeska, Alaska, the following weekend.

Consequently, 60 men and 31 women — most of the country's top amateur skiing talent — are entered.

Among the favorites for both the Harriman Cup and Olympic team berths are Buddy Werner and Barbara Ferries, defending downhill champions from the last race in 1961. Both ski for the University of Colorado.

Also rated as a top contender is Jimmy Heuga of Colorado, winner of the last Harriman Cup combined.

The men's downhill will be run Friday, starting at the top of 9,200-foot Baldy Mountain. Skiers will have to negotiate seven gates on the upper part of the course and seven more on the lower section.

Manager Dark Embarrassed

Farm Club Bombs Giants With Rally

By The Associated Press

Like the canary that got swallowed by the cat, Al Dark had that deep down feeling today.

The San Francisco manager has watched his National League champions in some lukewarm performances this spring, but he was a bit embarrassed Wednesday when the Giants' Tacoma farm club up and bopped the parent club 10-9 in an exhibition game at Casa Grande.

★ ★ ★

The little Giants trailed the big Giants 9-1 going into the eighth. Jesus Alou—the line member of the three Alou brothers not with the parent club—got things rolling for the farmhands with a two-run homer in the eighth.

FIREWORKS

Then the firing really started. Jim Ray Hart cracked a three-run homer that finally tied it 9-9 in the ninth, and the winner came across on a triple by Ron Phifer, two intentional passes, and a single by Marion Talton that crossed up the big Giants' strategy.

★ ★ ★

Bob Bolin was the victim of the eighth and ninth inning bombing as the Giants lost their ninth in 10 games. They are now 6-12 overall, but Dark said he won't "start worrying until opening day. That's soon enough."

"I'm just letting the boys play themselves into shape."

While Dark's boys were playing themselves into shape, three veterans with special incentives and a rookie hoping to make the grade turned in standout pitching performances.

★ ★ ★

Lew Burdette, trying to regain a starting berth with Milwaukee after spending much of 1962 in the bullpen, allowed only four hits and one run in six innings as the Braves belted Detroit 6-1 at West Palm Beach. It was the first earned run off Burdette in 23 innings.

WYNN TOUGH

Early Wynn, hoping to show enough to stick with the Chicago White Sox and get a chance at victory No. 300, yielded only one single in a three-inning workout before Ed Fisher completed a 3-0 shutout against Washington at Sarasota.

Jim O'Toole, who has publicly stated that he wants Cincinnati's opening day pitching assignment and is out to get it, held the Los Angeles Dodgers to four hits for six innings. John Flavin finished up for the Reds with a no-hit stint in a 6-0 triumph at Vero Beach.

And rookie Marcelino Lopez, a 19-year-old left-hander, pitched two-hit ball for six innings and contributed a two-run homer to a 16-hit attack that gave Philadelphia a 9-2 triumph over Kansas City at Bradenton.

Joe Pepitone drove in five runs with two homers as the New York Yankees defeated Minnesota 7-6 at Orlando, the Los Angeles Angels edged Boston 4-3 at Scottsdale, the Chicago Cubs outlasted Cleveland 12-11 at Tucson and the New York Mets defeated St. Louis 6-4 at St. Petersburg.

Pepitone, handed the Yankees first base job after Bill Skowron was traded to the Dodgers, rapped 20-game winner Camilo Paschual for a three-run shot in the second inning and a two-run blast in the sixth. He has hit five homers.

Catcher Ed Sadowski was the No. 1 gun for the Angels, belting a decisive ninth inning homer after earlier doubling home a run and scoring one. Bob Turley, on trial with Los Angeles, was touched for three runs and six hits in a six-inning workout.

Ernie Banks, struck out three times by Indians' 20-game winner Dick Donovan, had him figured the last time around and hit a homer which won it for the Cubs. Donovan was shelled for 12 hits and 10 runs in the six innings he pitched.

Charley Neal's two-out ninth-inning double won it for the Mets after a two-run homer by Frank Thomas pulled the New Yorkers into a tie with the Cardinals. Neal's game-winner followed a damaging error by Phil Gagliano.

State 'Y' Playoffs Here

Despite a 32-point performance by John Hurner last weekend, Trinity Baptist fell from the state YMCA Church League tournament by dropping a 62-60 tight decision to the First Nazarene Church of Flint.

That loss came in the Northeast District finals and put the Flint quintet in the state semifinal round Friday night at the Pontiac Northern High School.

Church teams from Detroit, Benton Harbor and Lansing are included with the Flint squad in the senior division bracket. The men's bracket will begin play Saturday morning at PNH and includes Port Huron, Detroit, Niles and Lansing representatives.

The intermediate division will start play Friday night at the YMCA and has Flint, Detroit, Grand Rapids and Jackson Church teams.

Pontiac's representative fell in the district finals after taking a 21-9 first quarter lead. The Flint team rallied by holding Trinity to two points in the second quarter to gain a 31-23 halftime margin and then held on. James Wellon was the only other Pontiac player in two figures with 10.

Gymnasts Set for NCAA Go

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A record 42 schools, including defending champion Southern California, go after the NCAA gymnastics title starting Friday.

Arno Lascari of Michigan appears to be the favorite in the all-around with teammate Gil LaRose and Tom Seward of Penn State tabbed as his toughest competition.

Based primarily on its record-smashing performance in winning the Big Ten title, Michigan has been placed in the role of favorite to succeed Southern California as NCAA champs. Coach Newt Loken's Wolverines piled up 210½ points to 83½ for runner-up Iowa.

Search for Coach

AFL Titans Woo Ewbank

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Titans, or Gothams, or whoever they are, may have a new coach. It may be Weeb Ewbank.

On the other hand, they may not have a new coach. In which case it isn't Weeb Ewbank. At least at the moment.

Besides, Ewbank isn't sure he wants the job.

"Premature and unfounded," Ewbank said in Baltimore Wednesday of a report that he had been named head coach of the American Football League team.

Clyde (Bulldog) Turner has a year to go on a head coaching contract which calls for $20,000 a year. This probably will be bought up. George Sauer, general manager under former owner Harry Wismer, will be retained as road secretary.

Ewbank coached the Baltimore Colts of the National Football League from 1954 until he was fired last season. He won league championships in 1958 and 1959 and was NFL Coach of the Year in 1958.

'VIPs Usurping Funds' Blamed for Cost Hike

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—Judge Charles K. Whittaker, former associate justice of the U.S. Supreme Court, says some blame for rising costs rests with businessmen who usurp company funds by virtue of their titles.

He accused both businessmen and labor leaders of too much self-interest. Whittaker made his comments before a legal institute.

Rip Up Street in Search for Fever Source

ZERMATT, Switzerland (UPI) — The Swiss army ordered the main street of this ski resort torn up today in a hunt for the source of a typhoid fever epidemic that has caused three deaths and hospitalized almost 400 persons.

★ ★ ★

Constant Cachin, chairman of the Zermatt Chamber of Commerce, said last night there was "clear but as yet inconclusive" evidence that breaks in the main sewer were dumping typhoid germs into leaking water supply lines.

Soldiers of a Swiss army medical team already have found one break in the sewer main which lies only 18 inches from the main water pipe under the principal street.

The army found apparent proof of the water supply contamination yesterday when it blocked off a section of the sewer and pumped in colored water under high pressure.

Water of the same color later came out of faucets in hotels in the lower section of town.

★ ★ ★

It was in this section where most of the typhoid fever victims had stayed.

Tourists from Zermatt have carried the disease to several European countries and the United States.

NCAA Swim Meets Starts Today

Hank Aaron Has Seven-Year Plan

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) —Hank Aaron, mighty swinger of the Milwaukee Braves, has a seven-year plan. It is aimed at achieving his burning ambition—to join the 3,000-hit class.

"That's a selective group," the 29-year-old outfielder said today. "It would be nice to get in there, just like Stan Musial."

Only eight players in baseball history have collected 3,000 or more hits — Ty Cobb, Tris Speaker, Honus Wagner, Eddie Collins, Nap Lajoie, Paul Waner, Cap Anson and Musial.

After nine years in the majors, Aaron shows a total of 1,697 hits, an average of 189 a year.

MAGIC NUMBER

Continuing at the same pace, or even dropping to an 186 average, Hank could reach the magic 3,000 in seven years.

"I'll be 36 then," he pointed out. "That's not too old to be going at a regular clip, considering that Musial is still doing it at 42."

Aaron cites two key provisos: Health and luck.

★ ★ ★

On the subject of health, the Milwaukee star emphasizes that he must escape any lasting injuries.

"It is most important that I continue to be able to run," Aaron said. "I get a lot of leg hits. I have to keep getting them."

★ ★ ★

As for luck, Hank points to the current spring.

"My average is kind of low in the exhibition games, yet I'm hitting the ball right on the nose," he stressed. "But I haven't been lucky. The drives aren't dropping in. Instead, they're going right at the fielders. To get 3,000 hits, I'll need better breaks than that."

Aaron, twice winner of National League batting and runs-batted-in titles, the homer crown once and voted Most Valuable Player in 1957, has still one other goal in sight. En route to his cherished 3,000 hits, he wouldn't mind winding up with a .400 average one of the seasons.

★ ★ ★

"That's another selective group," Hank quipped.

He appeared headed in that direction in 1959, traveling at a .410 clip as late as mid-season. But at year's end, his mark was .355.

"And I never had a slump that summer," Aaron recalls. "It's just that to hit .400 you must get at least two hits most every day. If you go 1-for-4, or even 1-for-3, you lose ground."

★ ★ ★

The Braves' clouter believes that with a better start he might have done it last year.

"I got off the worst of my career," Hank said. "I must have been under .250 as late as June. Then I went as high as .349. I finished at .328 but I think I batted close to .400 once I got going."

Predict Overtime Play in Azalea Golf Open

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP) — The $20,000 Azalea Open Golf Tournament, which has produced three playoffs in the last five years, begins its 15th renewal today, with the absence of a clear-cut favorite making it possible that more overtime play will be required to determine the winner.

The 72-hole, four-day tournament has been passed up by the elite of the touring professional clan—Arnold Palmer, Gary Player and Jack Nicklaus—who are looking ahead to next week's Masters. Only one of the current 10 leading money winners and five of last year's top 15 are here.

The word "gopher" comes from the French "gaufre" meaning "waffle" or "honeycomb", an illusion to the maze of tunnels the animal makes.

Traverse Bay Holds DN Ice Boat Races

HARBOR SPRINGS (UPI) — About 60 yachts were expected to compete in the first annual little Traverse Bay DN class ice yacht races here this weekend.

Chairman Jim Andrew said some of the fastest boats in the country will be entered in the five races on Saturday and the three on Sunday.

The races will start at the Wequestonsing dock and will go to Harbor Point and return.

Earlier this week, the ice depth was recorded at 47 inches in the harbor.

STARTING SPLASH —Dick McDonough of Villanova kicks off the starting block to start the NCAA swimming championships starting today in Raleigh, N. C. where Yale has been as pre-meet favorite along with Southern Cal and Minnesota.

3 Hits 'n Miss Miss in Archery

Flintstones shut out Three Hits 'n a Miss, 5-0, to take over second place in the Waterford Township Recreation Department's winter archery league as the teams take a two-week break now until March 28.

Other results: Lakeland Pharmacy edged Auto Electric, 3-2, to remain in first place, six and a half points ahead of Flintstones; Drayton Drug beat Untouchables, 4-1; Hay Burners decisioned Chiefs, 3-2; and Arrowettes edged Four Musketeers, 3-2.

★ ★ ★

Top marks for the night: Mel Inglehart (of Lakeland) in men's instinctive, 230; Ed Shaw (Auto Elec.) in men's free style, 265; Arlene Walters (Three Hits) in women's instinctive shooting, 95; Helen Orr (Aarrowettes) in women's free style, 206.

Also, Ronnie Shaw (Auto Elec.) in junior free style, 196; and Bobby Steel (Untouchables) in junior instinctive, 150.

Cage Series Continues

The River Rats and Celtics will continue their Boys Club Senior House basketball playoff series tonight with the fifth game in the best-of-seven series.

The River Rats squared the series at 2-2 earlier this week with a 64-55 victory as Red McAleer hit 25 points for the winners.

Bucks, U. of M. Far From Role of Favorites

Coaches' Poll Figures Yale to Dethrone OSU for Title

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP) — You might think a defending champion with four of the meet's seven returning individual champions —including a pair of double winners — should be favored in the 40th annual NCAA swimming and diving meet which starts here today.

Not so, Ohio State's Buckeyes.

★ ★ ★

The Bucks, according to a nationwide poll of coaches, are at best a strong fourth, behind Yale, Southern California and Minnesota. Michigan was rated fifth. Indiana, the nation's top team, isn't eligible because the Hoosiers are on NCAA probation.

YALE FAVORED

Yale was favored on depth and the Eli hoped to prove it by qualifying at least two and maybe three competitors for tonight's 50-yard freestyle final.

★ ★ ★

Favorite in the event is Minnesota's Steve Jackman. He holds the national collegiate and NCAA championship records of 21.1 seconds at this distance, set while winning this race last year.

His Yale challengers were expected to be Steve Clark, Mike Austin and Dave Lyons. Austin was runner-up to Jackman in the 1962 race.

★ ★ ★

Four other events were scheduled at North Carolina State's swimming stadium as the Wolfpack played host to their first national competition in any sport.

Ohio State, seeking its 12th team title, was defending the 400-yard medley relay title and the Buckeyes' Lou Vitucci, the one-meter dive.

★ ★ ★

The 500-yard freestyle has replaced the 440-yard event and Australian Jon Konrads of Southern California and Cincinnati's Gary Heinrich were co-favorites. Konrads holds world marks in six events.

★ ★ ★

Ohio State's Marty Mull, the defending 200-yard individual medley titlist, was a top choice in the 400 individual medley.

★ ★ ★

Friday, Minnesota's Virgil Luken tries to retain his 200-yard breaststroke title against N.C. State's Pete Forgarasy, among others. Ed Spencer, another Wolfpack star and the defender in the 100-yard butterfly race, goes in a wide open 200 butterfly contest.

★ ★ ★

TV 'Discovery' Enters Tourney

Local PBA Open Adds Gibson

COMING HERE — Therm Gibson, among bowling's best competitors, will be one of the many professional stars who will bowl in the PBA Open Tournament April 10-13 at the 300 Bowl. Eliminations are now under way to select amateur keglers who will double up with the pros in a special Pro-Am event preceding the Open tournament.

One never knows when and where bowling fame will beknight some fortunate kegler with its aura of success.

Detroiter Therm Gibson is a good example.

He has been a standout kegler for many years but it was television and the unpretentious date of January 2 that made him nationally famous.

It was that wintry night on a video show called "Jackpot Bowling" that he rolled six consecutive strikes. Of course, quite a few keglers have hit six straight strikes; it is only one-half of a perfect game.

Gibson's feat, however, being on a network television program, brought him the neat little reward of $75,000 and a wide national exposure.

Now his previous accomplishments carry more weight.

Such performances as his triplicate 268, seven consecutive 700 series (including a 250 average) and 71 straight games of 200 or better, a 300 game also on national television, the Petersen Classic title, the national doubles title with George Young, and the ABC crown as a member of the Pfeiffers team are strong credentials that he is one of bowling's elite.

Presently, he leads the Classic All Events division in this year's ABC tournament at Buffalo, N.Y., with a 1991 total.

Gibson is one of many Professional Bowling Association stars who will bowl in Pontiac April 10-13 at the 300 Bowl. He will be competing in the regular PBA Open tournament for a share of the $23,400 purse.

The pro stars will all be participating in the Pro-Am event on Wednesday, April 10, that will precede their tournament. More than 200 amateur bowlers from around Michigan have the chance to bowl with one of the pros and shoot at the $5,100 prize monies that can be distributed to the amateurs.

Eliminations are under way at 300 Bowl, Howe's Lanes and various outstate establishments for a spot in the Pro-Am. Bowling houses that don't have a regular elimination can set up their own.

In the regular eliminations, one out of every ten male entrants and one out of every ten female entrants qualify for a spot in the Pro-Am. Or, a bowler may pay a flat $50 and buy a spot.

* * *

If the bowler doesn't have the money, he may convince a sponsor to provide the fee for a share of the winnings. Teams have been known to sponsor their best bets for some winnings on a share-the-cost and share-the-winnings basis.

Entries in the Pro-Am close Sunday, April 7, and the drawing for pro partners is slated for Monday night, April 8.

Bay Shore Race Uncovers Two Derby Hopefuls

NEW YORK (AP)—A couple of possible Kentucky Derby candidates popped up at Aqueduct Wednesday while Bonjour's status was somewhat tarnished with his third place finish in the Bay Shore Stakes.

* * *

Jet Traffic, a disappointment during the winter racing, zoomed to a spectacular triumph in the second of New York's four big pre-derby races for 3-year-olds. The Canadian-bred colt, owned by Russell A. Firestone Jr. belted off a mile in 1 minute, 34 1-5 seconds and no veteran recalls a faster clocking for a sophomore hereabouts this early in the year. He was ridden by Bobby Ussery, packed 120 pounds, and paid $16.20.

* * *

Another disappointment of the palm tree circuit in recent months who ran a creditable race was George D. Widener's Top Gallant, who rallied to finish second. Top Gallant was running well at the end, and wound up three lengths behind Jet Traffic.

Keller Rides Another Big Double Winner

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Jockey Michael Keller, has been involved in another big twin double payoff at Jefferson Downs.

Keller, who was aboard one of the winners in an $8,200 bonanza Tuesday night, brought home two winners in a $7,158 twin double Wednesday night.

* * *

He won aboard Hand Rail, $9.80, in the sixth race, and Quick Breeze, $19, in the seventh.

Wish Bone, $13, in the fourth and Grande Al, $12.40, in the fifth were other winners in the four-horse parlay.

Osmun's Again Tigers' Ticket Agency for '63

On the spot delivery of tickets for Detroit Tiger baseball games has been inaugurated by the Tigers for weekend and holiday contests and Osmun's downtown will again serve as Tiger Ticket Agency in Pontiac.

Previously, tickets ordered through any of the 13 agencies in Michigan had to be ordered by mail from Tiger Stadium.

Over the counter sales for night games, Saturday, Sunday and holidays, can now be made three days prior to any of these games.

Ticket orders for other games and group orders will still be taken by the agency and delivery will be speeded with a new rapid mail system.

The Osmun's agency opened last Monday and ticket orders for any games during the season are being taken.

Dragway Season to Start Sunday

The 1963 Drag Racing season starts at the Detroit Dragway, Sibley at Dix, Sunday with a large list of super-stocks competing.

Out to stop the 425 horsepower Plymouth, The Golden Commando, that made a record breaking run of 115.23 in 12.43 seconds last year, will be the 1963 Catalina coupe driven by Jim Wangers who held the record until ousted by the Golden Commando.

Wangers and Dick Jesse make the Royal Pontiac team which will also send a 1963 Tempest wagon into the races.

Among the Pontiac contenders are Eddie Kanter, Howard Maseles, Stan Antlocer, Roger Schmidt, George DeLorian and Pete Seaton.

Opening day schedule sets time trials at noon and racing starting at 2:00 p. m. The Dragway is located on Sibley Road at Dix, one mile east of Telegraph.

Award Sports Trophies

Gary Meeker of Spencer Floor Covering and Ron Hetherington of Don Nicholie Insurance, are the recipients of the Class A and B "Good Sportsmanship" awards presented by the Waterford Township Recreation Department in its 1962-63 men's basketball program.

IAAF Lists 10 Soviet Records

15 U.S. Track Marks Approved

LONDON (AP) — Americans collected 15 world records and the Russians 10—five of them by women—in a list ratified by the International Amateur Athletic Federation today.

The fiber glass pole vaulters came into their own with Finland's Pentti Nikula ending 1962 as the record holder at 16 feet 2½ inches.

Since then John Pennel of the United States has improved that record by half an inch. The Finn, however, with 16 feet 8¾ inches at an indoor meet last month still heads the list. Indoor records are not recognized by the IAAF.

SNELL'S RECOHRD

The IAFF also ratified Peter Snell's world record mile run of 3:54.4—one of three records credited to the New Zealander. The others were 1:44.3 for the 800 meters and 1:45.1 for the 880 yards.

The list, which is for 1962, included a few hangover records from 1960 and 1961. Several records now ratified have since been bettered.

* * *

Betty Cuthbert of Australia, for instance, has bettered the ratified time for the women's 440 yards and 400 meters. Henry Carr of the United States has better times for the 220 yards and the 200 meters.

Russian high jumper Valer Brumel was credited with three records — all in the high jump each time he hoisted his record by half an inch to finish with 7 feet 5½.

* * *

American performances which were ratified as records included: 100 yards—9.3 seconds by Frank Budd at Villanova, Pa., May 6, 1961. Later broken by Canada's Harry Jerome with :09.3.

200 meters and 220 yards, straightaway — 20 seconds by Budd, May 5, 1962.

200 meters and 220 yards, around curve—20.5 seconds by Paul Drayton, June 23, 1962.

Two miles—8:29.8 by Jim Beatty at Los Angeles, June 8, 1962.

440-yard relay—40.0 by University of Oregon at Modesto, Calif., May 26, 1962.

Four-mile relay — 16.09.0—University of Oregon, May 12, 1962.

Pole vault—16 feet 2 inches by Dave Tork, April 28, 1962 at Walnut, Calif. Later broken by Pentti Nikula, Finland, with 16-2½. Also approved: 15-10¼ by George Davies and 16-0¾ by John Uelses.

Shot put—65 feet, 2¼ inches by Dallas Long at Los Angeles, May 18, 1962.

Discus throw — 204 feet 10½ inches by Al Oerter at Chicago, July 1, 1962. Also approved 200-2½ by Oerter.

Hamemr throw — 231 feet 10 inches by Hal Connolly at Stanford, Calif., July 21, 1962.

Briton Talks in Tokyo

TOKYO (AP) — Lord Home, Britain's foreign secretary, arrived today for an eight-day visit he said he hoped will bring "a valuable exchange of views."

After 2½ Days of Advance

Mart Switches, Turns Mixed

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market turned mixed early this afternoon after two-and-one-half days of fairly vigorous advance.

The market was higher for most of the morning then faltered as tobaccos suddenly turned weak.

The savings-and-loan holding companies, which have been trading favorites for a couple of sessions, lost the best part of their gains and became irregular.

The tobaccos declined following news that the California Medical Association had voted "to publicize the harmful effect of smoking."

Meanwhile, the rallying steels still clung narrowly to the upside while cutting early gains.

BOTH DIRECTIONS

The rails were going in both directions—up and down—following a reallocation of revenues by the Interstate Commerce Commission which shifted revenue from western railroads to eastern and midwestern roads.

Gains and losses of most leading stocks were from fractions to about a point.

Volume of 2.03 million shares for the first two hours was the heaviest this week.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were mixed in slow trading. Most changes were narrow but Simca picked up about 14 in light dealings. Among gainers were Aerojet-General, Kirby Petroleum, Consolidated Sun Ray, Reinsurance Investment, Kratter and General Development. Losers included Technical Materiel, Republic Industries, Creole Petroleum, British Petroleum, Equity Corp. and Webb & Knapp.

Bonds See Small Advances

NEW YORK (AP) — U. S. government bonds opened with some small advances today, continuing a firming trend that set in yesterday. Corporates were mixed in trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

The advances of 1/32 and 2/32 were posted on the long maturity end of the treasury security list. These bonds have been sliding for about a week. Most intermediate maturities were unchanged. Trading was quiet.

All sections of the corporate list were irregular at the start.

Rename Head of Drug Board

Romney Hits Choice of David Moss

LANSING (AP)—The State Board of Pharmacy, in defiance of Gov. George Romney, today named Board Director David Moss of Detroit to a new term in office.

Romney earlier this month had demanded that Moss resign. This was an outcome of an unfavorable report by Circuit Judge Creighton Coleman of Calhoun County following a probe of the pharmacy board's handling of the application of a Kroger Co. subsidiary, SuperX for a pharmacy license.

Moss was elected to serve in the newly-created post of executive secretary until Jan. 1, 1964, by a 4-1 vote. The only dissenting vote came from Richard Wilson of Birmingham, newly-appointed member and the only Republican on the board.

GOVERNOR'S REACTION

Said Romney of the appointment:

"This is just another example of the impossible situation in which the governor of Michigan finds himself. There is no clear-cut responsibility now possible in the executive branch of government, and this appointment graphically proves this point."

"I feel it's a vote of confidence," commented Moss, who has served as director of the board since January 1961, following 12 years on the board.

Wilson said, in explaining his vote, "There was another man's name to be placed in the nomination but there was a board statement that it would be fruitless, therefore I am not placing the nomination."

Wilson did not name the possible candidate.

Wheat, Soybeans Firm Up a Little

CHICAGO (AP)—Additional moderate support added a little more firmness to wheat and soybean futures today during the first several minutes of dealings on the board of trade. Corn also improved slightly but other grains eased.

Gains reaching major fractions were posted in both wheat and soybeans. Brokers said the demand appeared largely to be short covering with perhaps some reinstatement of long positions.

Kelley Airs ADC-U With U.S. Officials

WASHINGTON (AP)—Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley of Michigan conferred with Federal Welfare Department officials today on the new Michigan law for aid to dependent children of the unemployed—a measure rejected here on grounds that the program would not qualify for federal assistance.

Kelley, a Democrat who has accused Republican Gov. George Romney of ignoring Kelley's office on the question of legality of the bill, said after his session with welfare officials that he had just received his first explanation of the federal position.

He expressed hope he can come up with an opinion on the measure's constitutionality — within federal and state laws—within 10 days.

★ ★ ★

Principally at issue are limitations in the new law on eligibility for aid.

Romney, defying Washington, signed the controversial measure yesterday.

He acted despite notice from Secretary of Welfare Anthony J. Celebrezze last week that the legislation does not meet requirements for federal participation.

DECLINES COMMENT

After about an hour's discussion with Alanson W. Willcox, general counsel of the Welfare Department, and Wilbur J. Cohen, assistant secretary of welfare and legislation, Kelley declined to say whether he feels the department has authority to pass on the acceptability of the Michigan law.

Romney contends that the department does not have such authority.

"I had a most constructive discussion with the general counsel," Kelley said. "It was most helpful.

"Obtaining this government position was most necessary because I have a request before me in Michigan as to the constitutionality of this act in the Michigan Legislature."

Kelley said politics is not involved, that he knows his "duty and obligations" under the law and is attempting to fulfill them in carrying out a request by Democratic state Sen. Philip Rahoi for an opinion on the constitutionality of the law.

Kelley said he planned no further conferences on the matter here. However, he will remain in Washington probably until tomorrow night, on other busines, including participation in a civil liberties conference.

Michigan Legislators Urge Bear Dunes Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Michigan congressmen urged a congressional committee today to approve creation of a Sleeping Bear Dunes National Seashore Park on Lake Michigan, but differed on the size of the area to be set aside.

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., argued for approval of his bill. He said it represented a good balance between public and private interests.

Rep. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., told a Senate Interior subcommittee the Hart bill is too broad and would be unnecessarily expensive.

The Hart bill, cosponsored by Sen. Pat McNamara, D-Mich., would involve 77,000 acres in western Michigan.

A Griffin bill would take in only 37,000 acres, primarily the dunes along the lakeshore.

Griffin said the Hart-McNamara measure would deprive private property owners "unconstitutionally in my opinion," of vested property interests without payment of just compensation.

"To say the pending bill is controversial in my district and throughout the state of Michigan would be the understatement of the year," Griffin said.

1959 REPORT

He said the National Park Service in 1959 reported after a survey that the Sleeping Bear region encompassed nearly 30,000 acres and a shoreline of 35 miles.

The park boundaries proposed in 1959, Griffin said, conform quite closely to the area which he included in his bill.

"It should be of some interest to note," he said, "that our distinguished senators from Michigan, Sens. McNamara and Hart, were supporters of that reasonable and sensible area recommendation made in 1959 by the park service, which is now embodied generally in the bill I have introduced."

★ ★ ★

Griffin said that in 1959 Hart and McNamara introduced a bill calling for a Sleeping Bear national recreational area not to exceed 26,000 acres.

In January 1961, Griffin said, Rep. John Dingell, D-Mich., introduced a similar bill.

Photoengravers Hold Out

Strike Continues in NY

NEW YORK (AP) — A small group of union photoengravers—holding out for a 75-minute cut in their work week—kept eight New York City daily newspapers off the streets today and threatened to prolong the 111-day newspaper shutdown indefinitely.

★ ★ ★

The rank and file of AFL-CIO Photoengravers Local 1 voted 191-111 Wednesday night to reject a proposed contract that would have ended their strike — the last of four against the papers.

OVERRIDE LEADERS

The engravers overrode their own leadership and turned down a settlement formula that had been recommended by Mayor Robert F. Wagner and accepted by other newspaper unions involved, including the printers, whose Dec. 8 strike led to the blackout.

There are 320 newspaper photoengravers among 20,000 newspaper employes in the city.

As the unexpected action came, the eight papers were ready to resume publication with today's editions. Two of the papers—the Times and the herald Tribune—had announced an increase in newsstand prices from 5 to 10 cents, so sure were they of publishing today.

STAFFS REPORTED

Editorial staffs had reported to work on the four morning papers, and union machinists and electricians had walked through relaxed picket lines Wednesday to prepare the newspaper plants and presses for action.

Thousands of other employes stood by outside, ready to report to work for the first time in nearly 16 weeks.

Then came the news that the strike and shutdown still were on.

"I don't know just exactly what we're going to do now," said Turner Catledge, managing editor of the struck New York Times.

'ALL SET TO GO'

"We were all set to go. The whole paper was ready to go to the composing room and be published," said the Herald Tribune managing editor, James Bellows.

"Here we are again," sighed Wagner.

"We will have to sit down with the publishers," said Frank McGown, union local president, who had recommended acceptance of the settlement. "The major objection from the floor was the lack of a 35-hour work week."

Minuteman Missile Streaks 4,000 Miles

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — A Minuteman missile testing advanced components shot out of an underground silo Wednesday night and streaked more than 4,000 miles on a successful test flight.

The missile, an interim Wing 2 model, served as a testbed for many features to be included on the operational Wing 2 Minuteman scheduled for initial flights about midyear.

The Wing 2 rocket will be deployed initially at Ellsworth Air Force Base, S.D.

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — The U.S. delegation yesterday delivered a check for $5.54 million to the United Nations, marking its third purchase of U.N. bonds.

Furniture Business at 'Sluggish' Pace

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — "Sluggish" yesterday described the nation's furniture manufacturing business pace in February, according to industry analysts Seidman & Seidman.

★ ★ ★

Orders booked last month were 15 per cent behind new business booked in January and the order backlog was 6 per cent off the January mark.

Honest Man Admits Theft of Three Cows

CORONEL SUAREZ, Argentina (AP)—The local police chief in this small Argentine Pampas town was astounded one day to hear 47-year-old Froilan Alvarez, considered an honest man by everyone in the district, confess to a theft.

Several months ago, Alvarez said, he had stolen a dozen cows from a field in the region. Three of the cows gave birth to calves since.

Alvarez added his conscience was bothering him so much he wanted to return cows and calves, but did not know who the owner was.

Police sought the owner but could not find him. Alvarez was held on theft charges, but the local judge set him free on probation.

Alvarez then tried to commit suicide by slashing his wrists. He was rushed to hospital and saved.

Asked why he did it, Alvarez replied: "My conscience was bothering me. The judge was too lenient. I should have stayed in jail."

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY

When your partner opens one no-trump, you should have little or no interest in playing a minor suit game contract. It takes 11 tricks to make game in a minor and only nine to make game in no-trump.

JACOBY

Thus, in expert practice, you only go from no-trump to a minor when you have a bad hand and don't want to try for even one no-trump, or such a good hand that you want to investigate slam possibilities.

North has a hand with which he wants to be in game after his partner's no-trump opening. He only has seven high card points, but his six card suit headed by ace-king-ten looks like six probable tricks for his partner.

There is no better way to get to game than by bidding it and North jumps right to three no-trump.

West opens the deuce of spades and East plays the queen. South should win with the ace and count his tricks. He sees eight sure tricks and each of three suits offer a possible ninth.

His best technique is to cash his queen of clubs, enter dummy with a second club, and try the diamond finesse. It happens to work, so South's worries are over. He can afford to try for an extra trick and the way is to run the clubs and see what happens. If East and West discard properly South should settle for his game. If they get careless he may find a way to get an overtrick.

For more expert advice on play of the cards, order your copy of "Win at Bridge with Oswald Jacoby." Just send your name, address, and 50 cents to: Oswald Jacoby Reader Service, c/o The Pontiac Press, P.O. Box 489, Dept. A, Radio City Station, New York 19, N.Y.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21): Get things done "on your own" today. Means don't press those in authority. Do what is RIGHT. Be original, true to beliefs. Some secrets may be exposed. Don't be too surprised at anything.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21): Good for social evening — making new friends. Day when you begin to see things in true perspective. You become wiser. You can review some past errors, and plan for better FUTURE.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 23): Key is EXPANSION. Also, stress on advice asked by parent or "authority." Interest centers around higher learning. Speak with confidence. Important that you inspire SENSE OF SECURITY.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Better day for finishing than starting new projects. Get house in order. Friend with problem may visit, and ask advice. Don't give lecture. Listen. Be sympathetic. But don't become personally involved!

★

IF FRIDAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY . . . Key is willingness to make adjustment. You are basically a teacher. Yet you are ever learning.

★

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Cycle up for ARIES, TAURUS, GEMINI. Special word to SAGITTARIUS: delay important decision. Take one-day breather!

Policemen Get New Names in Louisville

LOUSIVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Policemen on Fourth Street, in the heart of Louisville, have a new look — and some of them even have a new name, "community-relations officers."

The policemen wear white hats, white Sam Browne belts, white gloves and, in case of rain, white raincoats.

Chief William Bindner said the accessories will make them more visible to pedestrians and drivers on the crowded street.

★ ★ ★

The new name was given to corner patrolmen by Mayor William Cowger, who said they may have booths on their corners in the future where they can give motorists and tourists information during slack periods.

Red Cross Confirms Volcano Kills 1,500

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Red Cross said Wednesday it had received word that 1,500 persons were killed, 300 hospitalized and 100,000 made homeless by the eruption of Agung volcano in Bali.

★ ★ ★

The agency said a cablegram containing that information arrived this afternoon by way of Geneva, Switzerland, but there was no indication when the message left Bali.

BIG DAY — Susan Allison Dietz isn't sure why she was given a cake all to herself on her first birthday this week, but there's no doubt she knows what to do with it. She's the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dietz of Los Angeles.

Top London Columnist Winning Kim's Heart?

By EARL WILSON

Flash from Dublin: Kim Novak's in love—again—with top London columnist and reporter: handsome Roderick Mann of the Beaverbrook papers. Mann went to Dublin St. Patty's Day to interview Kim about 7 Arts' "Of Human Bondage"—and he's still interviewing her. Kissing, cuddling and singing Irish songs till dawn in a restaurant, they even posed for pictures doing same. Mann's office cabled him, "Come on home, you've already conducted the longest interview in history." He said he has a few thousand more questions to ask her. Kim merely says, "Oh, Mann!"

WILSON

Americans in Rome are shocked at a play in which Marilyn Monroe dies every night. It's called "Requiem for Marilyn," by playwright Tullio Piscopo, and stars MM-look-a-like Eva Vanicek. Her death scene, after taking sleeping pills (following a last call on a white phone) leaves Americans stunned. At the end of the play, audiences applaud the supposedly dead girl who lies on a Hollywood-type bed, her blonde hair tumbling toward the floor, a mutinous look on her face. Defenders of the show argue that "The Lady of the Camellias," starring Marilyn's friend, Susan Strasberg, is much the same.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: A modern child is one who, seeing the Venus de Milo, says: "Gee, she certainly must have used a harsh detergent."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Paying alimony, claims Robert Ryan, is like buying film for a camera you've lost.

REMEMBERED QUOTE: A rich man is nothing but a poor man with money.

Andy Griffith Knows How to Season Corn

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Television's Andy Griffith is living proof that just the right amount of corn, properly seasoned, is a highly valuable commodity.

★ ★ ★

His weekly journeys through the calmly crisis-ridden world of a small town southern sheriff rank consistently in the top 10.

People who otherwise snub television for a good book admit freely an affinity for the drawling North Carolinian and his everyday, down home problems. His helpless-humored deputy, Don Knotts, brings a delightful balance to the show.

EASY GOING GANG

Griffith totes much of his screen image into real life. The stage crew on "The Andy Griffith Show" is an easy-going but competent gang. Griffith joshes with them, listens to their trade talk and happily quotes from it.

But their life together ends when the work day does.

"After you've been with somebody for 10 to 12 hours," explains Griffith, "there's not much left to talk about."

Even he and Knotts, despite a deep friendship, seldom meet off the set. Once recently they took their families for a weekend away from the smog and glitter.

Griffith confesses:

"It was just about the most fun I ever had. I never laughed so much."

The television Griffith with a ready, if unspectacular, solution for fictional crises has a counterpart in real life also.

TAUGHT SCHOOL

Griffith, a former school teacher in Goldsboro, N.C., is deadly serious about his career.

He takes a major hand in script conferences with the show's writers. And realizes that his first major Broadway and movie role, "No Time for Sergeants," cast him as a type. That's why he went into television.

"I want to do this show for five years," he said—to break the cast. Then he wants to try movies again.

Meanwhile, Andy, his wife Barbara and their two children, Sam, 5 and Dixie Nann, 3, live on a half acre in the San Fernando Valley's Toluca Lake section.

Their permanent home—where they hope to retire someday—is 53 acres on wild and rugged Roanoke Island in North Carolina.

Sylvester OKs Direct Quote

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pentagon news rules were changed Wednesday to permit direct attribution to Assistant Secretary of Defense Arthur Sylvester of comments he makes in daily news briefings.

This follows the policy of the White House and State Department. At the Pentagon, heretofore, the comments could be attributed only to an unnamed spokesman.

Sylvester told reporters that "unless otherwise specified, my remarks may be attributed directly to me by name and office, for direct quotation or indirect quotation."

Although the general rule in the past has been to use only the device of a spokesman, exceptions were made in some instances, particularly during the Cuban crisis.

Picks Unusual Topic for Speleology Speech

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Andy Norris, a graduate of the Swiss School of Alpinism, selected an unusual topic for his speech at a meeting of the Southwestern Speleological Association in Tucson.

He talked on "How to climb a mountain at night after a heavy rainstorm when the rock is wet, muddy and slippery."

An optical radar set, packaged in a suitcase, measures distances accurately and makes surveying possible without the use of triangulation.

Colleagues Friendly to Georgia Negro Solon

BACKGROUND — SPECIAL REPORT — OF THE NEWS

ATLANTA (AP) — Georgia's first Negro state senator in 92 years says the racial fence around the Democratic party in Georgia will fall under the weight of Negro ballots.

"It is my firm belief that in the very near future, Negro Democrats will be recognized by the state party," said Sen. Leroy R. Johnson, 34-year-old Atlanta attorney who got a surprisingly warm reception in the otherwise all-white legislature.

★ ★ ★

Johnson thinks his elbow-rubbing with white politicians has been nothing less than phenomenal.

"I had some misgivings about what would happen when I met with legislators from smaller counties in the southern part of the state," he said in an interview.

"But there was not one ripple of antagonism—the racial issue never was even mentioned on the Senate floor.

SHOOK HANDS

"One south Georgia senator came and shook hands with me a few days before the session ended. He said, 'I had not spoken to you before now because I had some misgivings about your coming over here. But I just want you to know it's been a pleasure serving with you and I respect you.'"

Johnson got the biggest surprise of his political career when he was invited to visit U.S. Sen. Herman Talmadge, former governor and once a hardboiled segregationist.

★ ★ ★

He called on Talmadge at the former governor's plantation near Lovejoy, Ga., shortly after winning his state Senate seat after reapportionment last October. Johnson is a Democrat.

"Sen. Talmadge was genuinely cordial," said Johnson. "We talked about many things."

Talmadge's move, coupled with the quiet course of moderation taken by new Gov. Carl E. Sanders, lends support to Johnson conviction that political desegregation is in the offing.

TALKED TO JFK

On a recent visit to Washington, Johnson talked informally with President Kennedy about Southern politics and the Georgia situation.

"There is a new look in Georgia," said Johnson, adding that he believed Sanders "has taken a forward look in this whole area of racial issues."

Johnson's committee assignments indicated the administration's attitude. He was named to the appropriations, education, health and welfare and judiciary committees—the most important in the Senate.

Johnson participated freely in committee work—he didn't miss a meeting — and spoke several times on the floor.

★ ★ ★

He said that purposely he kept his speech-making at a minimum.

"I, didn't go over there trying to put on a show," he said. "I wanted to make some tangible contribution and I believe I did."

His only speech involving race was in an effort to include a condemned Negro youth under a bill raising the death penalty age minimum from 10 to 17. The Senate approved the provision, legally questionable, aimed at applying the law to Preston Cobb Jr., 17, sentenced at 15 to death in a murder case. The House deleted it.

Johnson's weekends during the 45-day legislative session were filled with speaking trips all over the country.

"Negroes believe if this can happen in Georgia, it can happen elsewhere," he said. The key, he said, is the ballot.

Soviets Deny Alaska Flight

U. S. Will Continue Periodic Reminders

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Soviet Union has flatly denied a U.S. charge that Soviet planes flew 30 miles into Alaska March 15. Moscow says their aircraft were more than 200 miles away.

★ ★ ★

Washington authorities said the Soviet denial, received late Wednesday, probably will end the formal diplomatic exchange on the incident. But they predicted the United States will continue to remind the Soviet Union at appropriate times that air space intrusions will not be tolerated.

The U.S. government was sticking firmly to its version, contained in a March 16 protest note to Moscow, that two Soviet reconnaissance planes flew over the southwestern corner of Alaska for nearly a half hour.

The Kremlin responded with an equally emphatic denial in a brief note.

★ ★ ★

U.S. officials said the Soviet Union contended their planes flew no closer to the U.S. border than 350 kilometers (about 218 miles).

The State Department declined to make the note public. Officials said it was up to the Soviets to do that.

Moscow appeared to have no desire to make a big issue over the incident. U.S. informants said the note was very short and devoid of propaganda embellishment the Communists often include in their diplomatic and public declarations.

Early Start, Practice for Would-Be Teachers

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Stephanie Bray, 11, and Regina Lucas, 8, who want to be teachers some day, took a step in the right direction during the summer. They established a school of their own.

Making up registration forms, they got parents to sign up for eight children ages 3 to 5 and held school sessions in the Bray home for five weeks. They even threw in a school show for the parents.

In 1751, George Washington sailed to Barbados in the West Indies with his half-brother Lawrence. While there Washington contracted smallpox.

How Could New Constitution Affect County?

By JIM DYGERT

What will the proposed state constitution mean, especially for Oakland County, if the document is approved Monday?

● More representation in Lansing, a chance for county home rule and a new judiciary opportunity for a senator.

● Easier going for Pontiac with urban renewal projects.

★ ★ ★

Senate apportionment provisions of the new constitution—matters of some debate between approvers and disapprovers of the document — would give the county three senators instead of its present one.

The county's number of members in the House of Representatives would be increased from six to at least nine, and maybe 10.

However, reapportionment of the House by the legislature would probably give the county nine House districts, even if the new constitution fails to pass.

★ ★ ★

The Senate already has passed a bill to that effect. The House will consider it if the new constitution is defeated.

House reapportionment is required every 10 years under the present constitution. The 110 House districts would be reshaped in accordance with 1960 population figures.

Two of the county's six House districts are the largest — and therefore the most underrepresented — in the state.

SUPREME COURT CONSIDERS

But it's uncertain when the county would get more senators if the new constitution fails. Senate apportionment under the present constitution, as amended, is currently before the U.S. Supreme Court.

No Senate reapportionment would take place before the Supreme Court resolves the case brought by Michigan AFL-CIO chief August Scholle of Royal Oak.

Scholle and the Democratic party claim the districts are too far out of line with population and therefore deprive citizens of equal representation.

Democrats also dislike Senate apportionment provisions of the new constitution. They are based on an 80 per cent population, 20 per cent area formula.

County home rule, long sought by Oakland County officials to reorganize and strengthen county government to meet modern problems and conditions, would be possible under the new constitution.

Under detailed provisions left by the new constitution to the State Legislature, the county could frame and adopt a charter changing its governmental structure and possibly increasing its taxing power.

County home rule has been described as essential to good government in counties that have become largely urban or suburban.

The new constitution's provi-

Man, 22, Fails Lie Test; Admits Murder, Burial

Says He Abducted, Shot Joan Watkins, Young Mother

JACKSON (AP)—The mysterious disappearance of Mrs. Joan Watkins, 28, from a southern Michigan village 39 days ago has been solved with the recovery of her body and a confession from her abductor, authorities said today.

Sheriff's officers and state police said Larry L. Hanley, 22, of Napoleon, Mich., broke down on his third lie detector test yesterday and admitted he killed the housewife after he forced her at gunpoint to accompany him to a new house he was building.

The body was found under eight feet of earth buried beside the cement-block basement wall of the house outside Napoleon. Mrs. Watkins had been shot once in the head with a 32-caliber bullet.

Mrs. Watkins disappeared from a Brooklyn coin laundry at 1:30 a.m. Sunday, Feb. 17. She had gone from her home near Brooklyn to the laundry to wash diapers for her 10-month-old daughter.

An intensive search of the lake and wooded area 15 miles southeast of Jackson failed to turn up any clues.

Hanley, an unemployed factory worker, was arraigned in Jackson municipal court last night on a murder charge. He waived examination and was bound over to Circuit Court for arraignment April 3 (9 a.m.) He was jailed without bond.

Police said Hanley came un-

Rate Proposal Turned Down by Blue Shield

Colburn and Directors Feud; Decision Due on Blue Cross Today

DETROIT (AP) — Charging Insurance Commissioner Sherwood Colburn with "coercive tactics," Michigan Blue Shield today refused to accept his conditions relative to a rate increase.

Blue Shield (prepaid medical care) took its stand as Colburn and Blue Cross approached a showdown on the latter's rate increase request.

Hot words were flying in the two rate increase disputes.

Colburn accused Blue Cross leadership of a "reprehensible and irresponsible attitude" and was in turn rebuffed for being "completely ridiculous."

Reforms proposed by Colburn for both Blue Cross and Blue Shield have been at issue.

Meanwhile Colburn promised a decision sometime today on Blue Cross' rate increase request for hospital care.

Blue Shield's board of directors brought its charge against Colburn after concluding a meeting at 1 a.m. today. Blue Cross meets tonight.

Frank O. Starr, deputy executive director of Blue Shield, said in a statement that Colburn's demands were "unacceptable." The statement also accused Colburn of going beyond his authority.

Starr said Colburn's demands were an "unwarranted intrusion by government in the internal

Seek Youth in Teen Slaying

A murder warrant for Carl Case was authorized shortly after noon today in the beating death of 16-year-old Leonard Reed of White Lake Township.

A 19-year-old Hartland youth was being sought by police today for questioning in the bludgeon slaying of a White Lake Township boy and vicious beating of the boy's sister.

The youth was identified by police as Carl Case, a friend of Leonard C. Reed, 16, and his sister Naomi, 14, of 6290 White Lake Road.

Leonard died in Pontiac General Hospital four hours after he and his sister were found by police on McKeachie Road about 9:30 p.m. Tuesday.

His sister remains in critical condition at the hospital.

Capt. Leo Hazen of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department said Case visited Reed while Reed and his sister were visiting neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. James Howard, 5420 McKeachie Road.

Case left the Howard home about 15 minutes before the Reed children, according to Hazen, head of the investigation.

The youngsters, children of Mr. and Mrs. William L. Reed, were attacked outside their car about a quarter mile from the Howard home — midway between their own home and the Howards.

The elder Reed told police that Case had been at his home earlier in the evening and was looking for his son to say goodby because he (Case) was going to Florida to join a circus.

Reed, who was home alone, told Case that his children were at the Howards.

At the Howards, Case spoke with Reed for about 15 minutes before leaving.

The police teletype pick-up request on Case describes his as 5 feet, 8 inches tall, 155 pounds, wearing glasses and having dark wavy hair.

Case was driving a rusted dark green 1955 Ford with Michigan license plates.

The victims' father said that Case's mother and children lived in a building at the rear of his property about 11 years ago.

CAPE CANAVERAL—The weatherman gave a "go" signal today to a planned U. S. attempt to fire a mighty Saturn 1 rocket into space this afternoon. But scientists called off a satellite shot that had been set for tonight as part of a doubleheader.

The 165-foot Saturn 1, packing the horsepower of 300,000 automobiles, was scheduled to blast off on a thunderous, seven-minute flight at 1:30 p.m. (Pontiac time).

The countdown passed a major barrier at 7:30 a.m. when scientists decided the weather looked good enough to go ahead. Liquid oxygen immediately began flowing into the rocket's giant fuel tanks.

A space agency spokesman said one hour later, "We are right on time."

Payload trouble forced postponement of an attempt to launch the Explorer 17 satellite.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration reported the Explorer 17 launching was off until at least early next week.

An official said that a preflight check showed a flaw in a mass spectrometer, one of eight atmospheric measuring devices packed in the 410-pound satellite.

He said the instrument would have to be replaced by another being flown here from NASA's Goddard Space Laboratory in Maryland.

Passed to House

District Bill Okayed

LANSING — The Senate yesterday passed bills that would give Oakland County two new Circuit judges and split the county into two congressional districts.

The measures will now go to the House, which failed to pass a congressional redistricting bill of its own before yesterday's midnight deadline.

The House has until tomorrow to pass a bill to create the two new judgeships.

★ ★ ★

The measure is considered an appropriation bill because the state would pay part of the judges' salaries. Tax and appropriation bills were exempted from yesterday's deadline.

If the House concurs in approval of the two new judgeships, the county's number of Circuit judges would be increased from five to seven.

Royal Oak attorney and Oakland County Bar Association President James S. Thorburn and Pontiac attorney Philip Pratt are considered the most likely prospects for appointment to fill the vacancies by Gov. George Romney.

The new judges would serve until the November 1964 election.

NEW 19TH DISTRICT

The Senate bill to reshape the state's congressional district would put most of Oakland County's area into the new 19th Distict which the state received as a result of the 1960 census.

It would leave the area south of 20-Mile Road and east of Inkster Road, plus Farmington Township, in the 18th District, and put the rest of the county in the 19th with Lapeer and St. Clair counties.

The 18th now takes in the entire county.

★ ★ ★

Both districts would be about 60 per cent Republican on the basis of past voting records.

A similar bill in the House met opposition from Democrats and at least one Republican who wanted Farmington Township and Livingston County in the 19th instead of Lapeer and St. Clair.

This proposal would have made a separate district of normally Democratic Genesee County instead of combining it with heavily Republican areas. It also would put St. Clair in a Thumb area district.

Proponents of this plan are expected to continue their fight when the Senate bill is considered in the House.

Both plans would make a separate, Democratic district of Macomb County.

The two new county judges were requested by the present five judges to handle an increasing case load brought on by a growing population and the extra work load for judges caused by new court rules.

★ ★ ★

Legislative Success of Romney Near 100 Pct.

LANSING (UPI) — Gov. George Romney's success record in gaining his legislative goals still stood close to 100 per cent today as another deadline was hurdled.

In action yesterday, the last day in which bills could be passed in their house of origin, Romney got:

—A slightly changed Ford-Canton bill.

—A construction safety measure.

—Minimum wage legislation.

—And budget proposals, including an immediate effect $1-million appropriation for planning at state institutions.

Coupled with the bills the legislature has already fully enacted, Sen. William G. Milliken, the Republican floor leader from Traverse City, was prompted to say "Romney's basic program has survived all of the legislative processes so far.

Warns of Court Action if Zoning Not Changed

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — Court action could result from failure to adopt zoning changes proposed by the planning commission, one of its members warned in a letter to Bloomfield Hills residents.

O. E. Hunt said a dissatisfied land owner could allege in court that the city was exercising too restrictive control over use of his property.

If the city lost the case, the land could become "unzoned" and the owner would be free to do with it what he pleased, he pointed out.

Court action will be invited if no changes are made in the areas zoned for multiple dwellings and central business district, according to Hunt.

He noted that the proposals offered by three city commissioners opposed to the original plan call for few changes.

★ ★ ★

Hunt described as "hastily prepared" the alternative plan and claimed the three city commissioners made an incomplete report to the people.

The report did not mention the city's population increases and the effect of a new sanitary sewer system in increasing land values, he said.

The planners made their recommendations after 28 study meetings and with the advice of a professional planning consultant, Hunt noted.

He said his letter was endorsed by a majority of the nine-member planning commission.

The City Council has deferred action on any zoning changes until after the April 1 election.

Plan Canvass for Lost Boy

Bloomfield Township police are conducting an area house-to-house canvass today in a search for more information on the whereabouts of 12-year-old Robert Grinnan. The mentally retarded youth has been missing since Friday.

★ ★ ★

"We're still checking out all clues," Bloomfield officer Harry Bentley said today.

★ ★ ★

However, he added that most of the "clues" reported were only ideas as to what has happened to the boy.

Police have checked and rechecked township drains, basements and sewers in their search, with the assistance of the Oakland County Road Commission.

Five skindivers on the township force have scoured the bottoms of small lakes in the area.

★ ★ ★

Police said the boy cannot talk, but answers to the name of "Bobby."

★ ★ ★

His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Grinnan, of 5515 Pebbleshire Road.

Four Persons Killed in Wind-Rain Storm

A hit-and-run wind and rain storm chalked up four deaths and many power failures in the Far West yesterday before it sped east toward the Rocky Mountains.

The deaths were in San Francisco and in an area around Crescent City, Calif., near the Oregon border, but the power losses spread through Oregon west of the Cascades and into eastern Washington as the storm raced north and east.

Renewal Jury Raises Award

$28,500 More Goes to Property Owners

An Oakland County Circuit Court jury has entered a verdict awarding $262,063.66 to property owners in Pontiac's second urban renewal project.

The award is $28,500 more than had been offered by the city and some $45,000 less than asked by owners of contested properties.

City officials today expressed satisfaction with the jury award. Attorneys representing property owners in the R44 project condemnation case indicated they wouldn't appeal the decision.

★ ★ ★

The $262,063.66 award consisted mostly of cases, or individual awards, which had already been settled and didn't require a decision by the jury of 11 women and one man.

"About $147,000 of the total award represents cases disposed of during litigation," said Sam Travis, attorney for the city.

"Some were settled too late to take them off the jury roll and others were left on the roll to protect the interests of the city."

Some previously settled claims were included in the total award merely to give the city a legal record of the settlements.

These consisted mainly of awards involving tenants, interruption of business and specialized equipment or fixtures which couldn't be relocated with the tenants.

★ ★ ★

The jury had to decide the amount of awards on only two cases, involving about six parcels.

The jury awards in these two cases totaled $115,000. The city had offered a total of $86,500 for the properties and the owners had asked a total of $160,000.

Thus, only about a half-dozen of the 45 parcels purchased in the R44 project required a jury decision.

Total cost of properties in the R44 project stands at $1,634,328.60. The total which had been offered by the city was $1,605,628.60, according to James R. Bates, urban renewal director.

der surveillance and questioning when patrons of the overnight laundry said they had seen him at the laundry just before Mrs. Watkins' disappearance.

Hanley told sheriff's detective James Myers and state police detective Sgt. Charles Southworth he had been in the laundry but that he left at 1 a.m., went to a nearby bar, had one drink and went to the home of his parents-in-law where his wife and their several-days-old baby daughter were staying in Napoleon.

The officers said the first lie test given Hanley a week later was inconclusive. But they said a test given Hanley last Saturday indicated that he had picked up Mrs. Watkins at the laundry. He told them he had taken her to Jackson and left her at the bus station, police said.

The Senate-passed Ford-Canton bill was designed to write into the unemployment compensation law changes to resolve a 1959 State Supreme Court decision involving benefits paid to workers laid off because of a strike.

The only variation made from the governor's proposal was the removal of Romney's reference which would have allowed workers in a single-factory company to draw compensation if they were idled by [illegible] strike of employes of [illegible] "grade or class."

★ ★ ★

In addition to pushing forward with Romney's program the legislature also passed important measures that would, if approved in the companion chamber:

—Require school districts which receive state aid for bus transportation to provide transportation to private and parochial school pupils.

—Reapportion the state's 19 congressional seats and eliminate the at-large chair held by Rep. Neil Staebler, D-Mich.

★ ★ ★

—Change the date of the August primary election to the first Tuesday in November.

—Require a prescription for the purchase of paregoric.

—Give Oakland County two more circuit judges for a total of seven and add a second circuit judge in Washtenaw County.

What's Constitution's Effect?

sion for a new state court of appeals, with authority between Circuit Courts and the State Supreme Court, has drawn interest of the county's Republican senator, Farrell E. Roberts.

Roberts may be a candidate for one of nine seats on the new court if the new constitution passes.

Although his name has been mentioned as a possible candidate for U.S. Congress, serving the new 19th congressional district expected to be created in the county this year, Roberts says he's not interested in that.

A change that the new constitution would make in condemnation procedures would speed them up, easing Pontiac's troubles with urban renewal projects.

A Circuit Court jury's decision in December that the city's first urban renewal project was necessary has been appealed to the State Supreme Court.

Under the new constitution, necessity of such a project is not mentioned. The document says only that "compensation shall be determined in proceedings of a court of record" when private property is taken for public use.

The appeal in Pontiac's urban renewal case would automatically be dropped if the new constitution passes, according to City Attorney William Ewart.

However, the proposed document leaves details of condemnation proceedings to the legislature, which presumably could require that project necessity be established.

Another special effect on the county of the new constitution would be to deprive State Rep. Lloyd L. Anderson, R-Waterford Township, of one of his jobs.

Anderson would have to give up either his House seat or his job as right-of-way purchaser for the Oakland County Road Commission.

The new constitution provides that no official or employe of federal, state or local governments may be a member of the legislature.

Opposition Fails to Halt 'Hate U. S.' Conference

"Hate the United States" is the name of the international four-day Congress now in session in Rio de Janiero. As shadowy as any recent international conclave of any note is this gathering of leftists in Brazil.

The Goulart regime naturally is in opposition to the congress. But politics in Brazil is so oddly tangled that there was not much he could do.

★ ★ ★

At this writing, the convention is running into strong opposition led by Gov. CARLOS LACERDA of Guanabara State (Rio and suburbs), who is attempting to prevent the meeting from being held in Rio.

Lacerda is a long-time foe of the Communists and will do everything possible to halt the Red sessions.

★ ★ ★

The principal sponsor of the Rio de Janiero congress is FRANCISCO JULIAO, an attorney and federal deputy. He is the leader of the Ligas Camponesas, or peasant league movement, with the slogan—Land, Peace, Freedom.

Juliao has been a guest of Communist China and expresses great admiration for Mao Tse-tung. He claims, however, he is a socialist rather than a Communist. In a recent interview, Juliao said the only way to combat the U. S. influence in Latin America is by force.

★ ★ ★

Another sponsor is Gen. LUIS GONZAGA DE OLIVERRA LEITE, president of the Brazilian Association of Reserve Officers. A third is LUIZ CARLOS PRESTES, also an army officer, who presides over the illegal but overt Communist party. Both PRESTES and JULIAO recently have made much-publicized visits to FIDEL CASTRO's Cuba.

Brazil has many front organizations. Party magazines and newspapers are freely sold. Communists have great influence in student groups and in the labor unions.

★ ★ ★

The first congress of this type was held two years ago in Mexico City. It is regarded as having brought about subversion in Venezuela and Peru and leftist agitation in Panama and Puerto Rico. Brazil, as the biggest nation in Latin America, presents a strategic target for the Communists, to whom, by contrast, Cuba was only a target of opportunity.

Most Brazilians are not worried about the threat of CASTRO or communism. Let's hope they are right.

Amendment to Abolish Voting Discrimination

Indications are that the poll tax, long a blot on America's civil rights escutcheon, is on its way into the political limbo it deserves.

Falling in step behind the banner of a proposed amendment to the Constitution, 23 states have approved erasing the restriction on one of our country's basic freedoms — the right to vote.

★ ★ ★

So far, only three states have rejected the resolution or adjourned without taking action. Since but 15 more ratifications are required among the 24 states yet to face the issue, early adoption of the amendment would seem assured.

★ ★ ★

There are only five states where the obsolete practice of taxing the exercise of suffrage persists. Nevertheless, the reform in the making is a vital part of the current effort to open the ballot box to all qualified voters without regard to race or ability to pay a poll tax.

★ ★ ★

We heartily commend the forces working toward the abolition of this remaining vestieg of constitutional inequity and the establishment of equal status in the voting booth.

BLESSED are the poor; they don't have to borrow money in order to pay income taxes.

Grief of Store's Staff Given Public Expression

By HOWARD HELDENBRAND

There comes a moving letter from

"The employes of our store want everyone to know how much our manager and co-worker meant to us. There aren't words enough to tell what a wonderful person he was.

"He always had a smile and a warm light in his eye for both employes and customers.

"Also, we deeply appreciate the thoughtfulness of our customers toward all of us during our sorrow. Our simple and enduring feeling is that we miss Mr. Greene with heartfelt sadness."

These bulbs usually send up one stem on which four flowers are par for the course—but this individualist sprouted two stems with one flower each . . . anything to be different.

One stem rose 30 inches with the early flower 8½ inches in diameter (22 and 6½ inches respectively seems to be about average). Its twin ran more true to form except for its solitary bud . . . apparently is holding out for a more seasonal later blooming date.

• • •

The lady added that two weeks ago she sighted a red-winged black bird . . . pretty early for this species to appear, since they usually don't venture north until spring is here for keeps.

Delicate Balance

David Lawrence Says:

Must Restrict Power of Unions

WASHINGTON — The New York City newspaper strike has had a profound effect on the nation. The theory that "it can't happen in free America" has obviously been proved fallacious.

LAWRENCE

A large community, comprised of millions of citizens, was deprived of its own newspapers — a contingency which our forefathers considered serious enough to cause them to insert a specific provision in the constitution forbidding the suppression of the press by government anywhere in the United States.

★ ★ ★

But apparently nobody thought then that private groups could do what the government couldn't do and yet be immune from any penalty of law. Today the powers of a "private government" exceed in many respects the powers of the national, state and city governments themselves.

Assuming that both sides in a labor dispute feel justified in pursuing their own objectives from an economic, or even sociological, standpoint, there is still a crucial question that has gone unanswered.

Does private power that damages and inflicts substantial losses, financial or otherwise, on other groups of citizens have an unlimited and unrestricted scope of operation?

★ ★ ★

The right to strike has been imbedded in federal and state law. The right of an individual to work or refrain from work is supposed to be immune from interference. But it isn't.

A picket line intimidates and often forcibly prevents a man from going to his job. He, in effect, has lost in free America his right to work.

LIBERTY TO INDIVIDUAL

The constitution gives liberty of action to the individual, but it hasn't bestowed such a right on groups of citizens. Congress has enacted laws granting to unions the right to bargain collectively and to strike collectively.

In the New York newspaper strike, the members of several unions which had no part in the "bargaining" done by other unions were thrown out of work.

Employers in self-protection had banded themselves together to bargain as a unit and to refrain from publishing when their competitors were being shut down by a strike.

Public officials from the President down took a "hands-off" attitude for a long time. Expressions of disapproval were later voiced, and the governor of New York and the mayor of New York City took a hand separately in actually trying to bring both sides together. But there was even then no compulsion about acceptance of mediation or of the proposals of a mediator.

★ ★ ★

The strike has been drifting on for nearly four months until financial exhaustion is near. When a settlement is reached, it won't be a solution to the problem itself — how to achieve the goals of each side without a strike or coercive tactics.

The absence of any effective machinery to deal with strikes is tragic. Several steps now might be taken.

Individual labor unions could be required to abide by the wishes of a national committee or federation of labor leaders.

★ ★ ★

Employers could be required to submit to the decision of a national board or committee composed of representatives of employer interests.

No individual, of course, should be permitted to serve on such a committee in dealing with any case if he has an interest in any company or union organization that is a party to the dispute.

No formula will seem attractive to those who have heretofore been given a free hand. But the consequence has been a form of economic anarchy, the recurrence of which must be prevented.

★ ★ ★

The New York newspapers strike may still serve a salutary purpose if the deep-seated feeling of protest which has swept the country is recognized by Congress as a mandate to exercise its lawmaking power to protect the "public interests" — a much-abused phrase so frequently uttered by politicians but rarely in fact applied.

Bob Considine Says:

Prize Fighting to Survive Despite Current Uproar

NEW YORK—Not long before Davey Moore, the fighter, died from the beating he had received from the fists of Sugar Ramos in Los Angeles, Ramos called on the dying boxer's wife to offer his tearful sympathy.

CONSIDINE

"It was God's act," the soon-to-be-widowed Geraldine Moore, mother of five children, consoled. "I want you to understand I'm not blaming you for anything. Both of you went into the ring to fight for the championship. One of you had to be the winner and it happened you are the lucky one.

★ ★ ★

"I realize it's hard for you, but you aren't to blame. I'm asking you not to take it that way. Pray for him."

The dying man's eyes had not closed before there was legislation suggested for the outlawing of boxing in California.

The inevitable investigation is already under way. Both sides will come forward with strong arguments. Then the public and the press will lose interest by degrees.

Something new and exciting will happen in the fight game—the rise of a Cassius Clay, for example—and people who only recently were denouncing the gory business (Pope John XXIII had a better word for it: "Barbaric") will stand in line in the rain to buy a ticket.

SPIRIT TO FADE

Mrs. Geraldine Moore and her nobility of spirit will fade from consciousness and conscience. Whatever became of Mrs. Benny Paret? Mrs. Ernie Schaaf?

It is a hard, cynical game, boxing, pitiless for those who fall by its waysides. But it is going to survive because one of the depravities of man is to want to crush or slay with his fists.

The laws and his own ineptitude or pale courage frustrate him. So he pays to watch others do it, and dreams of himself as winner of every engagement.

Boxing will survive, whether it deserves to or not. But those who make money from it must do something soon to make that survival possible.

The forlornest part of the investigation into the death of Moore will be the appearance on the stand and in the stately halls of a host of opportunists who will attempt in the most obscene way to use the poor man's bones as a launching pad for their own mean ambition.

I agree with the Greene family . . . an entire race should not be condemned for the actions of a few. I'm sure we have some in our own race that could commit as cruel a crime.

I am against capital punishment. God gave us life and I believe only He has a right to take that life.

Why can't arrangements be made so a police car could patrol each of our larger suburban shopping centers from closing time until all buildings are deserted? Most managers are alone in their stores for a period of time after other employes have left, providing a perfect opportunity for robbery. Maybe many thieves would be discouraged knowing this.

I am a white man who believes in capital punishment, but for crimes such as killing your mother or rape. I can't say that it should apply only to the Negro or poor man.

When I read letters like those in Friday's paper I felt ashamed to belong to the human race. I feel nothing but shame for all whites who say they believe in God and then sit back and yell loudest about crimes committed by the Negro race. There is equal justice for all.

The time for a capital punishment bill in Michigan is here and should have been long ago. There is too much protection of criminals and too little for the public.

Time for Action

'Using Headlights Makes Good Sense'

Nowhere in the Drivers' Manual issued by the State Highway Dept., can I find mention of when to turn on or off car headlights.

★ ★ ★

I have found that safe drivers turn on lights just before sundown and off at sunrise, provided there is no rain, fog, or snow.

★ ★ ★

Driving with high-beam lights is another hazard. Still another is failure to use turn signals.

Robert R. McMartin

Milford

I would like to inform "Annoyed," that unless the car one is driving can be seen at dusk, dawn, or night, you are a candidate for the morgue.

★ ★ ★

Accidents are not caused by good drivers who pay attention to their driving and it hurts just as much to get hit by a driver who needs to know you are there as it would if he were the "so-called" good driver. Statistics prove the highest accident rate is at dawn and dusk.

★ ★ ★

Our police department as well as others are lax on this ruling and should enforce the use of headlamps as the law implies. They cost nothing to operate and it is discourteous if a car does not display lighted lamps at the time in question.

Unannoyed

'Island Students Have It Rougher'

I got a chuckle out of the letter "No Heated Water at Lambert School." As far as it being uncomfortable and unhealthy, I wonder. In our little one room school the toilets are located 200 yards out back and, believe me, they are unheated. A handful of snow does for washing hands. And more than once this winter it got down lower than 30 below. But a happier bunch of kids you never saw and no one misses school because of sickness.

At PTA every parent will attend and that's more than I can say when my children were going to Lambert School.

Says Republicans Only Help 'Haves'

Our state rules on unemployment insurance do not cover everyone employed as they should. Many jobs are not covered, so how about the aid bill that should cover children of unemployed? It is discriminatory and the ones needing it the most will be left out.

Why is it the Republicans are willing to help the "haves" but so dedicated in denying help to the "have nots"? As long as this country holds to that philosophy there is danger to the country from ideologies such as communism and socialism.

A. K.

School Bus Bill Still Controversial

Will some of the citizens who choose to send their children to non-public schools, please stop using threats in gaining their end? If private schools had never started there would have been enough public schools built over the years to handle the children. This problem lays squarely in the lap of all non-public schools.

Most boards of education could handle the transition of private school children to the public schools without being "floored."

Now "Citizen for Fair Play," who gets hurt the most when all private school children are sent to public schools? The children. Is your thinking good for your children's morale? Do you teach them to threaten for what they want? There are more diplomatic ways of getting results.

Public School Employe

Isn't it probable that if the school bus bill is passed we could have so many different schools formed that it would be impossible to pay for them?

Suppose the Communists decide to have a school. How many of us would be willing to pay for that and yet we would be compelled as long as the gate is open. Always when we are not satisfied with what is offered we pay extra for our own desires.

Call for Plumber Prompts Replies

Three cheers for the five plumbers who refused to install a water heater that wasn't purchased from them. The entire plumbing and heating industry would be better off if all plumbers followed their example.

Few people think of the investment a plumber has — $2,500 truck, $1,500 in tools and equipment, rent, insurance, gas, oil and truck repairs and insurance.

I am not a plumber but I realize that plumbers are skilled tradesmen.

Plum Disgusted With Plum Disgusted

The plumbers find that the person who buys a cheap water heater usually wants a cheap installation with a guarantee that he will service the heater for one year free of charge.

Northern Fans Proud of Team

Let us Northern basketball fans voice our opinions. From what we could see, Central's team just started shoving our guys. Why should the Northern players be punished for something Central players started? They say we had the advantage because we were playing on our home court. How many times has Central beaten Northern on Northern's own court?

We at Northern are proud of our basketball team.

Daisies to Bloom at Horse Show, Hunt Fair Benefiting Oakland U.

Hundreds of daisies will give welcoming nods to visitors in the huge green and tan striped tent at the Detroit Horse Show and Hunt Fair in June.

For the second year the scholarship committee of Oakland University is sponsoring the fair and ticket sales for the horse show to benefit the university's scholarship program.

Mrs. Alfred E. Wilson is honorary chairman of the fair. Mrs. L. L. Colbert and Mrs. A. C. Girard are co-chairmen.

★ ★ ★

The daisy decor for the fair evolved from Mrs. L. L. Colbert. Last year, when she was also cochairman, Daisy Colbert set up a temporary lemonade stand on a card table under the trees on the Hunt Club grounds.

She single-handedly sold more lemonade at her stand than was sold at the established tea room. This year the committee decided to erect a tent on the same spot, and have a regular lemonade stand . . . the obvious name, 'Daisy's Stand'.

★ ★ ★

Next, naturally came the theme for the decorations — daisies.

NEW FEATURE

A new feature of this year's Hunt Fair will be the colorful hand knits booth. Scholarship committee members and their friends have been hard at work all winter knitting sweaters.

Many of these sweaters have been hand trimmed. There are even hand decorated sweaters in sizes 2, 3 and 4 for the cradle set!

★ ★ ★

Volunteers from three counties will join the university committee in staffing the fair. Hundreds of volunteers are being recruited to sell tickets, popcorn, trinkets and treasures and to work at the children's games and help with the pony rides.

★ ★ ★

The proceeds from the fair will aid some 200 area students attending Oakland University next year.

Mrs. A. O. Thalacker, Bloomfield Hills, holds up one of the sweaters that's ready for the American Field Service (AFS) International Fair April 27 in Grosse Pointe. Head of the adult group of AFS in the Birmingham-Bloomfield Hills area, Mrs. Thalacker designs many of the sweaters made by volunteer knitters. She also wove draperies in this room.

Her Busy Hands Reach Over Sea

By JANET ODELL

Little did Mrs. A. O. (Jean) Thalacker know how her life would be changed when her son Don went to Germany as an exchange student in 1956.

Nothing in that visit told her that in 1963 she would be head of the Michigan adult groups of the American Field Service (AFS) International Scholarships.

While in Germany, Don met Klaus Parsch, who later came to the United States to live for a time with the Thalackers. Although not an official AFS exchange student, he was adopted into the group.

Two years later, Joraunn Pettersen from Norway also lived in the Thalackers' Bloomfield Hills home as an AFS student.

★ ★ ★

Founded during World War I, AFS for many years brought graduate students to the United States before it embarked on a new program on the teen-age level. Its purpose is to further the basic friendship which exists among all men.

Since 1947, over 13,000 foreign high school students have spent a year in America, going to school and participating in traditional teen-age activities. Nearly 9,000 American students have spent either a summer or a school semester in Europe or in the Southern Hemisphere.

TAKES MONEY

All this takes money. Local communities sponsoring AFS students must find ways of keeping their coffers full so that the program can continue.

Michigan, and especially this area, is unique in its approach to the problem. Birmingham had the first adult sponsoring group, then metropolitan Detroit followed suit. Pontiac has had such a unit for several years.

★ ★ ★

The national advisory AFS group in New York is interested in these Michigan groups and is carefully following their progress for five years. Mrs. Thalacker sends in annual reports and confers with Stephen Glatti, the New York director.

More of these AFS adult units are being formed in other parts of Michigan. Taking our state as a pilot area, the national advisers expect to use this program in helping other states set up similar groups in other states.

Mrs. Thalacker, who has five children, and one grandchild (another is on the way), looked around for some means of earning money for AFS scholarships.

LITTLE BAZAARS

Two years ago, she organized a group of her friends who liked to knit and started them making sweaters. These were sold at little bazaars in her home just before Christmas and at the annual AFS spring fair at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial.

Twice a week, the knitters take their current projects and assemble in the Thalacker family room. Some come for help in knitting. Others come just because they enjoy the companionship, the talk and the coffee as they knit.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Thalacker designs many of the sweaters. The group has completed a number of custom orders but next year expects to do most of its knitting for a shop up in Michigan's ski country.

In addition to sweaters, the tireless Jean designs crewel work knitting bags and needlepoint belts. Her aim this year has been to find 150 women who will knit, embroider, put together or decorate sweaters. (Your reporter found herself offering to make a needlepoint belt for the cause.)

AFS has become an important part of Jean Thalacker's life. She has become a great asset to AFS — this gentle, generous woman whose heart is big enough to embrace not only her own family but a world full of children.

The Choralaires included Eleanor Stuart, Laura Grogan, Donna Nelson, Carolyn Gaensbauer, Ann Fisher, Cheryl Coffing, Nancy Steward, Linda Mann, Linda Sundahl, Edith Payne, Diane Brown, Janice Bass, Patricia Weld and Barbara Graybiel.

Dog Answers to Wife's Call, While Hubby Barks at Owner

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My neighbor went ahead and named her dog WILBUR when she knew perfectly well that Wilbur was my husband's name. I think she did it just for meanness. At night, when she calls her dog, my husband goes to the window and barks just to get her goat.

ABBY

I have called my husband when he was down the road and that dog would come running.

It is very annoying to have your husband mistaken for a dog. Can I take this woman to court for distrubing the peace or defaming my husband's character or something?

WILBUR'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: If your husband goes to the window and barks when your neighbor is calling her dog, SHE might have more to complain about than you.

I think the bone you have to pick with your neighbor should be picked out of court.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: When someone asks you how to kiss, why do you brush it off like it was not a serious problem?

I remember MY first kiss. I was 16 and thought a girl was supposed to hold her breath throughout the whole kiss.

★ ★ ★

At the end of a very long kiss I was panting and absolutely blue in the face.

The boy mistook this for wild passion and, of course, it ended up in a wrestling match.

LEARNED THE HARD WAY

DEAR LEARNED: When it comes to kissing, experience is the best teacher. Instructions are useless because one can't practice alone.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow and am going around with a man who doesn't want me to wear my rings.

He says that people will say he is going with a married woman. What should I do?

WORRIED WIDOW

DEAR WORRIED: Remove your rings. He's right.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: In reply to OUTRAGED'S letter: I am fast approaching the age where I might have to make some plans for my old age.

If anything should happen to my husband, and my health should be such that I could not live alone, I would insist on going to a rest home.

I have wonderful children, but I wouldn't think of disrupting their lives by living with any of them.

I would rather have them come to see me because they want to than have them stuck with someone who could be hard to live with.

LENTEN DISH — It's just macaroni and cheese, but with a difference. The recipe calls for eggs and the custardy mixture is baked in individual baking dishes and served with a rosy tomato sauce, if desired.

Bake Cookie Dough in Waffle Iron

Gather friends, neighbors and the family around the fireplace and serve these good cookies with a spot of tea!

Refrigerator Cookies

2¾ cups sifted flour
1½ teaspoons baking powder
1 cup butter or margarine
½ cup granulated sugar
½ cup firmly packed light brown sugar
1 large egg
1 tablespoon grated orange rind
2 tablespoons orange juice
½ cup finely chopped walnuts

Sift together the flour and baking powder. Cream butter and sugars; beat in egg, orange rind and orange juice. Stir in sifted dry ingredients and walnuts.

Pack cookie dough into 4 empty cans (6-ounce size) from frozen fruit-juice concentrate; cover tightly; chill overnight. Push out dough from one can; slice into 12 rounds; place, 1 inch apart, on ungreased cookie sheet; bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven about 12 to 14 minutes or until lightly browned around edges.

Cut and bake the remaining cans of cookie dough the same way. Makes 4 dozen substantial cookies.

Orange Souffle Starts With Frozen Juice

Orange souffle with fresh strawberry sauce is a special occasion dessert. Make the souffle out of concentrated orange juice, adding ¼ cup of water to a 6-ounce can. Thicken with 3 tablespoons flour, add 3 tablespoons of butter and cook over medium heat.

Cool the thickened mixture slightly, then add 4 egg yolks, beaten very light. Fold in stiffly beaten whites of 4 eggs and bake in a buttered 2-quart souffle dish at 375 degrees for 30 minutes.

For Fruit Salads

Blend a teaspoonful of frozen orange or lemonade concentrate with sour cream. Spoon onto pear halves, sprinkle with cinnamon, serve on crisp salad greens for sunny salad.

Bake Cheese Macaroni in Custard Cups

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

When I was a little girl, nothing seemed more elegant to me than when — invited to luncheon — I was served a timbale. The timbales I remember were custardy preparations holding lobster or chicken, and they were always made in individual drum-shaped molds.

★ ★ ★

When I came home after one of these sprees and complained that we never had these glamorous dishes at our table, my mother — a practical and energetic woman — didn't let the lack of timbale molds faze her. She used custard cups.

But the lobster and chicken creations, rich with cream and egg yolks, and accompanied by an even richer mushroom sauce, were company fare. For everyday life, we were content to have our favorite macaroni and cheese baked in the little cups.

Perhaps your children would enjoy the latter, and if so you might like to try the following recipe. This rule does not produce yesteryear's timbale that had more custard than main ingredient, but it makes a dish with robust cheese flavor that's fine for lunch.

Macaroni Cheese Timbales

1 tablespoon salt
3 quarts boiling water
1½ cups (6 ounces) elbow macaroni
2 large eggs (slightly beaten)
1½ cups milk
1 tablespoon soft butter or margarine
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1½ cups grated cheddar cheese

Add salt to rapidly boiling water; add macaroni gradually so water continues to boil. Cook, uncovered, stirring occasionally until tender. Drain in colander.

★ ★ ★

Beat together the eggs, milk, butter, salt, pepper and cheese. Mix in cooked drained macaroni; turn into 6 (6 ounce size) buttered custard cups. Place cups in shallow pan of hot water; cover pan with foil. Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven until set, about 50 minutes. Unmold.

Don't Waste a Bit

Cheese is such a thrifty Lenten buy. Every bit of every cheese can be used. Nothing is thrown away. If the end pieces of a cheese harden slightly, cut those pieces off and grate them. Keep the grated cheese in a covered glass container in the refrigerator for use in casseroles, on meat and vegetables.

Applesauce Is an Eye-Opener

Breakfasts are staging a cheery comeback. And about time. On a skinny, "gobble 'n git" breakfast, folks just naturally sag long before noon. But with a nourishing morning meal tucked away in their middles, they feel top-of-the-morning, all morning. Take this Crumbly Top Apple Sauce, for example. In one big dish, it telescopes the fruit and cereal part of breakfast. Big on flavor. Big on nourishment.

The fruit is tangy canned apple sauce, given even more dash with lemon juice and spicy coriander. The cereal part is a deep top spread . . . rolled oats in a crumble of sugar, cinnamon and butter. Slide the whole thing into the oven to bake until the apple sauce plops lazily and the thick topping is buttery-rich and nut-like in flavor. It's a dish to lift the spirit, and to sustain.

Crumbly Top Apple Sauce

3 cups canned apple sauce
1 teaspoon ground coriander
1 tablespoon lemon juice
¾ cup quick-cooking rolled oats
¾ cup brown sugar, firmly packed
cup all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon salt
⅓ cup butter or margarine

Combine apple sauce, coriander and lemon juice. Pour into a greased oblong 8" x 10" x 2" baking dish. Mix oats, brown sugar, flour, cinnamon and salt in mixing bowl. Cut in butter with fork until mixture is crumbly. Sprinkle over apple sauce.

Bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees, 35 to 40 minutes. Cool. Serve with cream. Makes 6 servings. (May also be served warm with cream).

Note: May be baked in a square baking dish (8" x 8" x 2") or round (8" x 2").

Lenten Hash Is Made of Crab

Herbed crabmeat hash is prepared like an omelet. Add 2 eggs, lightly beaten, to 1 (7¾-ounce) can of crabmeat, drained and flaked, 1 cup of diced potatoes, 2 tablespoons of chopped green pepper, 1 tablespoon of instant minced onion, ½ teaspoon of crumbled basil leaves and ⅛ teaspoon of ground black pepper.

Melt 2 tablespoons of butter or margarine in a skillet. Add hash and cook over medieum heat until brown on the bottom. Fold like an omelet and serve to 4.

If your gravy should have lumps, and beating does not remove these, you'll have to strain the sauce to make it smooth.

Crouch down when you are reading a candy thermometer! The reading must be taken at eye level.

Plan Meal Treats of Tastier Harvest

WHITEHORSE, Yukon Territory (AP) — Pilot Ralph Flores waited excitedly today for a reunion with his wife, Teresa, who is flying from California to Yukon, where Flores underwent a seven-week ordeal in the frozen wilderness.

★ ★ ★

"She'll collapse when she sees me," said the pilot-electrician from San Bruno, Calif. "My face is not the same. It's so high up on this side."

★ ★ ★

PLANS TO LEAVE

Miss Klaben made a reservation to leave Whitehorse this afternoon on the same plane her older brother Arthur, of Wethersfield, Conn., was scheduled to take from Whitehorse to join her.

Miss Klaben's flight—and Mrs. Flores' arrival—could be delayed by a snowstorm which has paralyzed air travel in and out of Whitehorse since Wednesday.

PLANNED ROUTE

Miss Klaben planned to fly to Fairbanks, Alaska, then to Juneau, where she could board a jet for Seattle en route to New York.

Miss Klaben sent for her brother to help her sift through bids pouring in for rights to her survival story. One magazine has offered $8,000.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Flores and Arthur Klaben met briefly Wednesday night in Seattle as they awaited passage to Whitehorse.

"I can't explain it in words," said Mrs. Flores, 39, "but all this time I knew he would be found." She said the couple's six children "had even more confidence than I had."

"I feel very strongly that the only thing that saved him was his faith," she added. Flores, 42, is described as a devout Mormon.

Employes in the cable and assembly department of Ampex Corp., where Mrs. Flores works, donated the money for her flight.

★

The storm also may delay a visit to the remote crash site by an investigating team from Canada's Department of Transport.

Officials said that the investigation is routine. Conviction for failure to carry regulation survival gear prescribed for flights over Canada's hazardous northland could mean a $5,000 fine plus a year in jail.

But a Transport Department spokesman in Edmonton said he never had heard of anyone being charged for flying without survival gear.

"It is usually felt the pilot has learned a lesson from his experience," he said. "The resulting publicity will also bring this to many others."

Waterford Jaycees to Form Junior Unit

Waterford Township Junior Chamber of Commerce members will establish a junior Jaycee unit tonight. It will consist of 18 boys from the Oakland County Youth Home in Union Lake.

The boys, all wards of the court ranging in age from 14 to 18, will be chartered as the Waterford Township Junior Jaycees—a first both on the state and national Jaycee levels.

Charter night activities will begin at 7:30 p.m. at the youth home.

The idea for the junior unit evolved from a talk by former Detroit Tiger star Hal Newhouser a few months ago. He discussed sports and youth at a regular meeting of the Waterford Jaycees.

U. S. Jazz Trumpeter Deported From England

LONDON (UPI) — American jazz trumpet player Chet Baker has been deported to France, the British home office announced today.

A spokesman said Baker, 33, was taken out of Pentonville Prison yesterday and put aboard a channel steamer to France at Dover.

He spent one month in Pentonville for illegally procuring heroin and cocaine in London.

Manager Dark Embarrassed

Farm Club Bombs Giants With Rally

By The Associated Press

Like the canary that got swallowed by the cat, Al Dark had that deep down feeling today.

The San Francisco manager has watched his National League champions in some lukewarm performances this spring, but he was a bit embarrassed Wednesday when the Giants' Tacoma farm club up and bopped the parent club 9-3 in an exhibition game at Casa Grande.

★ ★ ★

The little Giants trailed the big Giants 9-1 going into the eighth. Jesus Alou—the line member of the three Alou brothers not with the parent club—got things rolling for the farmhands with a two-run homer in the eighth.

FIREWORKS

Then the firing really started. Jim Ray Hart cracked a three-run homer that finally tied it 9-9 in the ninth, and the winner came across on a triple by Ron Phifer, two intentional passes and a single by Marion Talton that crossed up the big Giants' strategy.

★ ★ ★

Bob Bolin was the victim of the eighth and ninth inning bombing as the Giants lost their ninth in 10 games. They are now 6-12 overall, but Dark said he won't "start worrying until opening day. That's soon enough."

"I'm just letting the boys play themselves into shape."

While Dark's boys were playing themselves into shape, three veterans with special incentives and a rookie hoping to make the grade turned in standout pitching performances.

★ ★ ★

Lew Burdette, trying to regain a starting berth with Milwaukee after spending much of 1962 in the bullpen, allowed only four hits and one run in six innings as the Braves belted Detroit 6-1 at West Palm Beach. It was the first earned run off Burdette in 23 innings.

WYNN TOUGH

Early Wynn, hoping to show enough to stick with the Chicago White Sox and get a chance at victory No. 300, yielded only one single in a three-inning workout before Ed Fisher completed a 3-0 shutout against Washington at Sarasota.

Jim O'Toole, who has publicly stated that he wants Cincinnati's opening day pitching assignment and is out to get it, held the Los Angeles Dodgers to four hits for six innings. John Flavin finished up for the Reds with a no-hit stint in a 6-0 triumph at Vero Beach.

★ ★ ★

And rookie Marcelino Lopez, a 19-year-old left-hander, pitched two-hit ball for six innings and contributed a two-run homer to a 16-hit attack that gave Philadelphia a 9-3 triumph over Kansas City at Bradenton.

Joe Pepitone drove in five runs with two homers as the New York Yankees defeated Minnesota 7-6 at Orlando, the Los Angeles Angels edged Boston 4-3 at Scottsdale, the Chicago Cubs outlasted Cleveland 12-11 at Tucson and the New York Mets defeated St. Louis 6-4 at St. Petersburg.

★ ★ ★

Pepitone, handed the Yankees first base job after Bill Skowron was traded to the Dodgers, rapped 20-game winner Camilo Paschual for a three-run shot in the second inning and a two-run blast in the sixth. He has hit five homers.

Catcher Ed Sadowski was the No. 1 gun for the Angels, belting a decisive ninth inning homer after earlier doubling home a run and scoring one. Bob Turley, on trial with Los Angeles, was touched for three runs and six hits in a six-inning workout.

Ernie Banks, struck out three times by Indians' 20-game winner Dick Donovan, had him figured the last time around and hit a homer which won it for the Cubs. Donovan was shelled for 12 hits and 10 runs in the six innings he pitched.

Charley Neal's two-out ninth-inning double won it for the Mets after a two-run homer by Frank Thomas pulled the New Yorkers into a tie with the Cardinals. Neal's game-winner followed a damaging error by Phil Gagliano.

State 'Y' Playoffs Here

Despite a 32-point performance by John Hurner last weekend, Trinity Baptist fell from the state YMCA Church League tournament by dropping a 62-60 tight decision to the First Nazarene Church of Flint.

That loss came in the Northeast District finals and put the Flint quintet in the state semifinal round Friday night at the Pontiac Northern High School.

Church teams from Detroit, Benton Harbor and Lansing are included with the Flint squad in the senior division bracket. The men's bracket will begin play Saturday morning at PNH and includes Port Huron, Detroit, Niles and Lansing representatives.

The intermediate division will start play Friday night at the YMCA and has Flint, Detroit, Grand Rapids and Jackson Church teams.

Pontiac's representative fell in the district finals after taking a 21-9 first quarter lead. The Flint team rallied by holding Trinity to two points in the second quarter to gain a 31-23 halftime margin and then held on. James Wellon was the only other Pontiac player in twin figures with 10.

Gymnasts Set for NCAA Go

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A record 42 schools, including defending champion Southern California, go after the NCAA gymnastics title starting Friday.

Arno Lascari of Michigan appears to be the favorite in the all-around with teammate Gil LaRose and Tom Seward of Penn State tabbed as his toughest competition.

Based primarily on its record-smashing performance in winning the Big Ten title, Michigan has been placed in the role of favorite to succeed Southern California as NCAA champs. Coach Newt Loken's Wolverines piled up 210½ points to 83½ for runner-up Iowa.

Key Gains Fractional

Market Rises in Active Trade

NEW YORK (AP) — Steels and savings-and-loans again moved ahead in a rising stock market early today. Trading was active.

Gains of most key stocks were fractional as the market continued to eat away at resistance between present levels and the nearby recovery peak of February.

New Yorkers swallowed their disappointment that their strike-bound newspapers had once again run into a snag that kept them from publication.

The economic news background seemed cheerful and the pace of trading was on a par with the last couple of days.

As the savings-and-loan holding companies continued to rally, California Financial and Great Western Financial each touched new highs, making fractional gains. San Diego Imperial, yesterday's most active stock, opened on a 10,000-share block, rising ⅛ to 12⅝.

First Charter Financial also added a fraction, but United Financial of California dipped slightly on profit taking.

The leading steelmakers advanced as a group, making fractional gains. U.S. Steel, second most heavily-traded issue yesterday, again was in demand, rising ⅛ at 46⅞ on 5,000 shares at the opening and nudging higher as trading continued.

Ford and Chrysler also made small gains, while General Motors, American Motors and Studebaker were about unchanged.

Prices were narrowly irregular on the American Stock Exchange. Gainers included Aerojet-General, Molybdenum, Syntex and Kratter.

Among losers were Crane Carrier, Occidental Petroleum, Paddington "A" and Louisiana Land.

Military Paper Tells of Danger?

Pentagon to Explain Document on TFX

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara, moving into a new congressional area, defended the TFX fighter plane contract today as "the most important single action we have taken" to reduce the size and complexity of the nation's weapons inventory.

WASHINGTON (AP)— Senators said today the Pentagon will be asked to explain one of its documents which warned of "political dangers" involved in awarding the TFX warplane contract.

The document dealt with a decision by higher authority to reverse a military source selection board which had recommended that the contract be given to the Boeing Co. of Seattle, Wash. Instead, it was given to General Dynamics Corp. of Fort Worth, Tex.

The Senate Investigations subcommittee is exploring whether favoritism was involved. Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara has testified that the award was made on merit alone.

★ ★ ★

He said General Dynamics offered a better plane at lower eventual cost. The contract for the TFX — experimental tactical fighter — will run an estimated $6.5 billion.

★ ★ ★

"There are political dangers in the course of action proposed, but they should be accepted," said the document, described as signed by Air Force Lt. Gen. Dean C. Strother and Vice Adm. R. B. Pirie.

The document was dated Jan. 24, 1962. Strother has since become a full general and Pirie has retired.

The matter was brought up yesterday by Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S. D., during questioning of three offices who served on a board selecting a source, or contractor, for building the warplane.

★ ★ ★

In a transcript of testimony to the session, Mundt described the document as addressed to the Air Force and Navy members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. The plane is to be used by both services.

Mundt asked the board members — Maj. Gen. R. G. Ruegg and Brig. Gen. Almond T. Culbertson, both of the Air Force, and Rear Adm. Frederick L. Culbertson — what the reference to political dangers meant.

"It is above our level," said Culbertson. Ruegg, the source board's chairman, suggested the writers would be the ones to ask.

Romney OKs Aid, Defies Capitol Hill

LANSING (AP) — Gov. George Romney, defying Washington, has signed the controversial bill for aid to dependent children of the unemployed (ADC-U) in Michigan.

A political head-bumping between the Republican governor and the Democratic administration in Washington appeared a virtual certainty today as a result.

Romney, protesting he was correct in his interpretation of federal aid concepts and saying Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, (HEW) Anthony J. Celebrezze was wrong, signed the bill yesterday.

Celebrezze told Romney at a meeting last week in Washington that Michigan's bill failed to qualify under federal law because of a limitation feature.

The bill limits payments to family heads who have been eligible for state unemployment compensation since Jan. 1, 1958. Celebrezze said this disqualifies Michigan for federal aid.

Michigan has been trying to qualify some 10,000 people for federal aid that would save about $9 million in local welfare outlays.

RENEWED DISPUTE

As dispute flared anew, Democratic Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley headed for Washington for a consultation of his own with Celebrezze. He said he sought to protect Michigan's legal rights.

Kelley accused Romney of ignoring his (Kelley's) office in the question of the legality of the Michigan bill.

The attorney general said his office has been asked for analyses of scores of other bills but the ADC - U measure never was brought up.

★ ★ ★

At the same time, the Social Welfare Department, through acting Director Lynn Kellogg, supported Romney's position.

Romney denounced Kelley's move. He called the attorney general's trip to Washington "just another example of a hydra - headed administrative monster."

Romney said the newly signed ADC-U measure will be sent to Chicago HEW offices next week by the Social Welfare Department.

Romney has taken the position the federal law gives the states the right to determine who shall be eligible for payments.

He conceded he was "not overly optimistic" the Chicago office would approve the bill.

Hart Urges Approval of Sleeping Bear Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., urged a Senate Interior subcommittee today to approve his bill to create a Sleeping Bear Dunes National Lakeshore in Michigan.

In enacting three other similar measures, Hart said, Congress demonstrated it understands that little time remains "if we are to preserve for our and future generations the enjoyment of scenic and recreational advantages of the nation's shorelines."

He was referring to the Cape Cod National Seashore on the Atlantic Coast, the Padre Island National Seashore on the Gulf Coast and the Point Reyes National Seashore on the West Coast.

★ ★ ★

The bill by Hart, cosponsored by Sen. Pat McNamara, D-Mich., would include 77,000 acres. It is backed by the Interior Department but has drawn objections from property owners and others in the area.

Rep. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., has introduced a bill to create a national park of about 37,000 acres.

"The Sleeping Bear Dunes area lies only a few hours drive from the homes of 20 million Americans," Hart said.

NOTHING LEFT

But unless adequate plans are made, he said, "those who come north to enjoy our land and waters will find few stretches of shoreline open to them."

The bill by Hart and McNamara — the third introduced since 1961—is designed to eliminate some of the objections aired at a hearing by the Interior subcommittee at Traverse City, Mich., in November, 1961.

He said his measure provides "a reasonably good balance between the public and private interests."

★ ★ ★

Hart said the offhand reaction to his bill and the one by Griffin would be that they represent simply a difference in acreage and area.

"Quite frankly," Hart said, "it has not been my intention, or will it be, to engage in an 'acreage race' involving the length of Michigan shoreline or the number of acres within the park."

He said the question is to enact a bill which will most adequately preserve scenic features and protect existing private residential and commercial resort areas.

Chamber OKs Moving Offices

The Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce yesterday announced plans to move from its location of the past 23 years to new offices in the Riker Building.

Max Adams, chamber manager, said the move from present offices in the Waldron Hotel should be complete by April.

"We're shooting at an April 6 target date for the move," Adams said.

He explained the decision to move came as the result of a need for more office space.

We're just outgrowing our present offices."

The chamber has been located on the second floor of the Waldron Hotel building since 1940. The new office at 33 W. Huron St., is on the main floor of the Riker Building

It was formerly occupied by Stacy Building & Supply Co., Inc., and is being remodeled. The chamber will also make use of office space in the basement for heavy office machines and a board meeting room.

The move has been under study by the board of directors since December. Officials also feel the new office is more centrally located in the downtown business district.

Photoengravers Hold Out

Strike Continues in NY

NEW YORK (AP) — A small group of union photoengravers—holding out for a 75-minute cut in their work week—kept eight New York City daily newspapers off the streets today and threatened to prolong the 111-day newspaper shutdown indefinitely.

★ ★ ★

The rank and file of AFL-CIO Photoengravers Local 1 voted 191-111 Wednesday night to reject a proposed contract that would have ended their strike — the last of four against the papers.

OVERRIDE LEADERS

The engravers overrode their own leadership and turned down a settlement formula that had been recommended by Mayor Robert F. Wagner and accepted by other newspaper unions involved, including the printers, whose Dec. 8 strike led to the blackout.

There are 320 newspaper photoengravers among 20,000 newspaper employes in the city.

As the unexpected action came, the eight papers were ready to resume publication with today's editions. Two of the papers—the Times and the herald Tribune—had announced an increase in newsstand prices from 5 to 10 cents, so sure were they of publishing today.

STAFFS REPORTED

Editorial staffs had reported to work on the four morning papers, and union machinists and electricians had walked through relaxed picket lines Wednesday to prepare the newspaper plants and presses for action.

Thousands of other employes stood by outside, ready to report to work for the first time in nearly 16 weeks.

Then came the news that the strike and shutdown still were on.

"I don't know just exactly what we're going to do now," said Turner Catledge, managing editor of the struck New York Times.

'ALL SET TO GO'

"We were all set to go. The whole paper was ready to go to the composing room and be published," said the Herald Tribune managing editor, James Bellows.

"Here we are again," sighed Wagner.

"We will have to sit down with the publishers," said Frank McGown, union local president, who had recommended acceptance of the settlement. "The major objection from the floor was the lack of a 35-hour work week."
