X15 Establishes Speed Record

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (UPI)—The experimental X15 rocket plane streaked to a record 2,650 miles an hour on its speed run Tuesday—455 m.p.h. more than originally estimated, the space agency announced today.

From Our News Wires
EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif.—"I feel certain the X15 will achieve its design mission." That was Air Force Maj. Bob White's casual way of predicting the record-setting rocket ship eventually will fly 50 to 100 miles high at speeds up to 4,000 miles per hour.

His fringe-of-space prediction came after the handsome, dark-haired pilot's test flight of the X15's powerful new engine Tuesday.

The engine, open only two-thirds of full throttle, hurled White across the desert sky at 2,650 miles an hour—a record for manned flight. Officials said instrument checks may raise the figure upward to 2,800 m.p.h.

Another record was set when air friction heated the plane's stainless steel skin to an estimated 700 degrees, warmest yet for a man-carrying craft.

White, 37, said his pressure suit and air-conditioned cabin kept him comfortable at all times.

"Everything went very smoothly," said White, the only man other than former North American test pilot Scott Crossfield to fly the X15 with the big engine.

"I think the only sense of speed was the acceleration sense," said White, who stuck to technical jargon in his radio communications with a control center here.

Jackie Passenger on Troubled Plane

MIAMI (UPI)—A plane carrying Mrs. John F. Kennedy, wife of the President, turned back from a flight to Washington today because an oil pressure warning light flashed on in the cockpit.

The Lockheed prop-jet Electra, National Air Lines Flight 308 from West Palm Beach, turned around and flew to Miami.

The 55 passengers and crew of five landed safely at Miami International Airport shortly before 11:30 a.m. (Pontiac time).

U.N. Is Urged to Leave Congo on Its Own

World Body Asked by Country's Leaders to Hold Off Further Action

From Our News Wires
TANANARIVE, Malagasy Republic—Congoese leaders ended a five-hour roundtable session today with a plea to the United Nations to hold off from further action on the Congo and let the Congoese solve their own problems.

The conference was called by Katanga President Moise Tshombe.

Tshombe earlier urged the rival Congoese leaders to join forces for unified action against the United Nations. He gave up a fruitless wait for the possible arrival of Antoine Gizenga, Communist-supported boss of Oriental Province, and called the first session of the conference to order without him.

An official communique "regretted" the absence of Lumumba, late Congo leader.

In Cairo, a spokesman for Gizenga said he had no intention of attending the conference.

At Leopoldville the U.N. Congo Command bargaining position worsened, at least temporarily, with an announcement that 800 Moroccan soldiers previously scheduled for transfer to Leopoldville would be flown home instead.

The United Nations had announced Tuesday that the Moroccans were already being flown in from Katanga Province, and observers now think a strengthening of the U.N. demand to return to Matadi.

But today a U.N. spokesman said there had been a change of orders and the Moroccans would be flown to Morocco.

The spokesman refused to comment on reports that the Moroccans had refused to board planes to bring them to Leopoldville.

Six hundred Tunisian soldiers did arrive in Leopoldville today on schedule to reinforce the local U.N. garrison.

All sources stressed that the first meeting at Tananarive was held in "a spirit of good will."

TO SEND TELEGRAMS
In the official communique, the delegates outlined their varying points of view and agreed unanimously to send identical telegrams to the U.N. General Assembly and Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld.

The telegrams said the conference answered the wish of the Congoese, the Security Council and the General Assembly "to see the Congo crisis solved by the Congoese themselves."

Red China Nixes City Winning Reporter Pact

WASHINGTON (AP)—Red China has turned down a new proposal by the United States for the two countries to exchange newsmen. The Reds made a new condition that the United States abandon Formosa.

The Kennedy administration thus suffered a rebuff.

In its first effort to find some way of beginning to break down barriers between the two countries.

The American proposal, officials said today, was designed to satisfy the Chinese Communist insistence on a reciprocal exchange of newsmen. Previously, the issue of reciprocity had been a major stumbling block.

Now that the United States has in effect, offered to give way on that demand, the Communist government has interposed a new and far more serious barrier.

The proposal was put forth by U.S. Ambassador Jacob D. Beam in a meeting at Warsaw, Poland Tuesday with Ambassador Wang Ping-nan of Communist China.

They conferred 55 minutes and agreed to meet again April 18. Their session Tuesday had been delayed several weeks to give President Kennedy time to formulate new proposals to try to get U.S.-Red Chinese relations off dead-end.

The State Department had disclosed in advance that it would present a full list of newsmen to Wang in the hope that this would break the deadlock over U.S. news coverage in Red China which has existed since the summer of 1957.

Famed British Conductor Sir Thomas Beecham Dies

LONDON (AP)—Sir Thomas Beecham, 81, internationally known conductor of symphony and opera, died early today. Beecham had been in poor health for many months, although he continued to make recordings. He died at his London home after a cerebral thrombosis.

He was Britain's greatest symphonic conductor of the 20th century and one of the world's foremost interpreters of the music of Mozart, Handel and Haydn.

But he was known almost as well to music lovers for his caustic wit, usually irreverent, which infuriated or delighted his audiences.

In February 1950, while undertaking a three-month tour of America, he suffered a severe attack of virus pneumonia.

He responded quickly to treatment, but it was obvious that the illness had made great demands on his strength.

Returning to Britain in April, he was forced by his doctors to

Midwest Buried in Snow; Sleet Pelts Michigan

Tornado Wrecks 53 N. Alabama Homes, Church; Many Hurt

From Our News Wires
A heavy, driving snowstorm tangled traffic and closed hundreds of schools in the Midwest today, and a tornado cut a violent swath across Alabama.

Snow, sleet and rain began pelting Southern Michigan shortly before noon.

The massive late-winter storm dumped up to 16 inches of snow in Northern Iowa, left Central Nebraska buried under a one-foot fall, belted the Chicago metropolitan area with a barrage of sleet, freezing rain and snow, and lashed Dixie with high winds and torrential rains.

The snowstorm pelled drifts 4 to 5 feet deep in Iowa, closed schools in Iowa, Minnesota, Nebraska and Northern Illinois and blocked dozens of highways across a wide section of the Midwest.

A 4-year-old boy, Jimmy Frank, was missing and feared lost in the storm near his Windrop, Iowa, farm home. And a bus was overturned and several hours overdue on an Omaha-to-Des Moines run.

The Weather Bureau at Detroit issued a warning of sleet and rain conditions along with a heavy snow warning for the extreme northern portions of the Lower Peninsula.

The Weather Bureau said Southern Lower Michigan would get from 1 to 3 inches of rain, and up to 4 inches of snow in the northern sections.

ROADS SLIPPERY
The storm moved across Southern Lower Michigan this morning and caused some traffic difficulties in Jackson and Hilldale counties.

State police reported the fast-moving storm was leaving roads snow-covered and slippery in southwestern and western Michigan all the way from the Michigan-Iowa state line to 30 miles north of Detroit.

In Saginaw and surrounding counties, a mixture of sleet, rain and snow slickened highways.

Winds ranging up to 20 miles an hour or more were forecast throughout the state.

Iowa was especially hard hit among the new states. Fifteen inches of snow fell on 13 inches of old at Emmetsburg in northern Iowa, and an 8-inch hail hit Red Oak in the southern part of the state.

PHONES KNOCKED OUT
The storm knocked out long distance lines in southwestern Iowa and put almost 400 rural phones out of service in the Red Oak vicinity. All airline flights in and out of Iowa were cancelled.

Roads and schools were closed in Iowa and motorists were stranded in huge drifts. The northern half of the state measured 4 to 6 inches of snow.

A mother and her two children were trapped in an automobile for five hours before her husband reached his family with a snowplow.

A tornado injured 15 persons and destroyed at least 35 homes, a church and farm buildings in Northern Alabama.

'Nasty' Is Right Word for Today's Weather

The snow is expected to end late tonight with a accumulation of 1 to 2 inches. Thursday's high will reach near 38.

Temperatures for the next five days are expected to average 3 to 6 degrees above the normal high of 41 and normal low of 25. Saturday will be a little colder but Sunday and Monday will be warmer.

Precipitation will total about one-tenth of an inch as showers Friday. Twenty-nine was the lowest temperature in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. The reading at 3 p.m. was 31.

Restraints Lawsuit Against Colbert

Newberg Must Wait Outcome

Judge Issues Order Pending Determination of Chrysler Payments

DETROIT (UPI) — A $35,000 bond damage suit against L. M. Colbert by a man he once hand-picked to succeed him as president of Chrysler Corp. must await the outcome of a $450,000 action against the auto firm by the same man.

William C. Newberg has been restrained from pressing his Oakland County suit against Colbert pending settlement of an action to recover part of the money he promised to repay the auto firm for alleged conflict of interest profits and half payment of the rest of the sum.

Newberg was ousted as president of Chrysler last June, two months after he took over the job as Colbert's successor. In the damage suit he charged Colbert with using him as a scapegoat to cover up his own mismanagement and desire to return to power.

Shortly after he was ousted, Newberg and his wife Dorothy agreed to repay some $450,000 in alleged profits while he was with Chrysler. The agreement was made on the advice of an attorney Newberg later replaced.

ISSUES INJUNCTION

Circuit Court Judge Henry L. Beers, visiting judge in Wayne County from Muskegon, issued the injunction restraining Newberg from pursuing his damage suit against Colbert until the matter of repayment can be determined in Wayne County.

The action came as a result of a petition by Chrysler and Beers agreed with the auto firm's contention that the two matters were closely related.

He ordered Colbert to post $50,000 bond, however, to protect Newberg in the event that the latter should eventually win the damage action. He also ordered Newberg to furnish $15,000 bond to protect Chrysler's interest in the $450,000 action.

Beers denied a Chrysler motion to strike some of the language in Newberg's action against the auto firm.

Movie to Tell About JFK and His P-T Boat

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — President Kennedy will be the first Chief Executive in history to be depicted as the hero of a motion picture while still in office.

Warner Bros. studio announced today it will produce "P-T Boat 100" (the boat captained by the President during World War II) in a biographical story of his accomplishments as a dashing shipper under fire in the Pacific.

The studio registered the title with the Motion Picture Association of America and will proceed with the script, casting and other production preparations.

A spokesman for Warner said the studio does not have any particular aim in mind to please the President, but that his approval would be sought before the picture is put before the cameras.

Dem Committee Will Promote State Con-Con

LANSING — An appointment of a 15-member committee of Democrats to promote a constitutional convention was announced today by John J. (Joe) Collins, the party's state chairman.

The committee, headed by Mrs. Alice Fille of Ann Arbor, will work for voter approval of the April 2 ballot proposal on calling a convention to rewrite the state's 53-year-old Constitution.

Democrats pledged support of a convention in the platform they adopted at their state convention last month.

The committee will organize Friday in Ann Arbor and make contact with other organizations backing a constitutional convention in a move to coordinate the campaign, Collins said.

Mrs. Elizabeth Miller of Franklin is one of the committee members.

JFK May Tell Policies Over Radio, Television

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy is considering launching a series of television and radio talks to explain his programs to the American people, the White House reported today.

They would be designed to spell out some of the administration's basic policies directly by the President rather than through the medium of televised and broadcast news conferences.

The possible speech plans emerged from questioning about a report that the President is considering a radio-TV speech next week on the subject of foreign aid.

Associate White House Press Secretary Andrew Hatcher declined to confirm this but said the broad matter of communication between the President and the public is under discussion at the White House.

The speech speculation came as Kennedy met with his top fiscal and economic advisers to review the nation's economic situation.

The meeting was the morning appointment for the President, who also was scheduled to hold his weekly news conference at 3 p.m. and greet Ghana President Kwame Nkrumah at 4 p.m.

Kennedy prepared a red-carpet welcome for Nkrumah as he arrived.

city has been under a gentlemen's agreement not to proceed with further development during the course of the legal action.

If the go-ahead signal comes the city plans to install some 30 meters between Perry and Mill streets, just north of Pike Street, where the old police station stood until last summer; another 30 or so on the two lots purchased for parking last summer between Pine and Wayne streets, opposite the Oakland County Jail; and 19 to 20 on the West Huron Street lot, just west of the Detroit Edison Co. which was purchased recently to provide a main entrance to the Pine Street lot.

Chief Koren Disagrees

By MAX E. SIMON

Are police here too tough on speeders?

That question is in the minds of many Pontiac drivers in the wake of Detroit Traffic Judge John D. Watts' contention that Detroit police should issue fewer tickets.

Watts has come out for a program whereby police would issue warning tickets for traveling 5 to 10 miles an hour over the limit.

The judge said under present policy, where drivers are ticketed every time they're caught breaking the law, fewer are qualifying for automotive insurance at normal rates.

He contended that is contrary to the public welfare.

Watts' proposals received a chilly reception in Pontiac.

Chief Joseph Koren commented that "It looks like the judge is trying to decide which laws should be enforced."

"Pontiac police will not issue tickets if the motorists are not more than 5 m.p.h. over the regulation speed."

Warning tickets were once issued in Pontiac, but the plan was a failure, according to Koren.

"The warning ticket was filed," Koren added, "and if a motorist received a second violation, he'd have to pay both. Most drivers thought the warning had no strings attached. There was a good deal of ill will fostered."

Thompson Flying to See Khrushchev

MOSCOW (AP) — U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson left today to deliver personally President Kennedy's message of goodwill to Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

The ambassador brought the message from Washington last week but Khrushchev is touring Siberia, prohibiting agricultural officials to a higher level of efficiency.

Thompson offered to go anywhere in the Soviet Union to deliver Kennedy's message, and Khrushchev Tuesday invited him to fly out for a meeting.

Supreme Court Refuses to Act on Gullett Appeal

LANSING — Gullett, former deputy Pontiac city treasurer, apparently has come to the end of his legal battle for reinstatement in his job and back pay.

City Attorney William A. Dwyer, reporting to the City Commission last night, said the recent refusal by the State Supreme Court to consider a legal appeal by Gullett "apparently ends the case."

Quoted from his post in August 1958 after he and his wife, plus three others were charged with operating a horse bet ring, Gullett sought reinstatement after all the defendants in the criminal case were exonerated. His bid was dismissed by Circuit Judge William J. Beer Dec. 8, then appealed to the high court.

World Flight Clock Time Smashed

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Max Conrad, 57, the flying grandchilder, landed today at Miami International Airport—early today, completing an around-the-world flight in 8 days, 18 hours and 49 minutes.

The flight smashed a 23-day record previously held for light planes circling the globe.

A tall, lanky, bearded Conrad, a companion, Dick Jennings of New York, in their two-engine Piper plane on the last leg of the flight from Port of Spain, Trinidad, the plane reached Miami Airport's checkpoint at 2:46 a.m. and was on the ground two minutes later.

The Winona, Minn., native and veteran sports flier was clocked off Miami Airport at 8:07 a.m. Feb. 27 on the first leg of his flight.

The flier would have arrived in Miami a day earlier had he not made an unscheduled landing Monday at Anapa, on Brazil's northeast coast, en route from Dakar, West Africa, to Port of Spain.

Conrad embarked on a 25,671-mile tour in hopes of cutting 30 days off the 25-day record set in 1930 by the late Peter K. Gluckman for planes in the 3,588 to 6,613-pound class. Gluckman flew a 25,656-mile route. The record was recognized by the Federation Aeronautique Internationale, governing body of sport flying.

The flying grandchilder—five children—has ten children of his own. He learned to fly in 1928 at Denver and has made more than 75 transatlantic crossings in light aircraft.

Swainson Plan Ready for Test

To Vote on Amendment Allowing a State-Run Industrial Authority

LANSING — Gov. Swainson's plan to boost Michigan's economy by growth with a state-run industrial development authority was ready for its first big legislative test today.

The house was set to vote on a constitutional amendment to allow the legislature to put the plan into action. Chances for approval appeared none too good.

In one of the year's liveliest debates, some Republicans have makers assailed it Tuesday as expensive and unnecessary. Some of their colleagues, with Democratic support, gave it a hearty plug.

The proposal would authorize the state to extend its credit up to a limit of $15 million at any one time, for as much as 30 per cent of the cost of local industrial, manufacturing or municipal development projects.

Swainson developed $15 million to get the authority into operation.

Time is of the essence. Two-thirds approval in both the House and Senate is required to put the issue before the voters in the April 3 election.

State election officials say the proposal must clear the legislature by Friday to get a place on the ballot, and some absentee voters almost certainly will be disenfranchised even then.

To Open Bids March 21 on Sewer Plan Bonds

BIAMINGHAM — Bids on $13.3 million in general obligation bonds to finance the Birmingham Hills industrial sewer system will be opened March 21, City Clerk Robert J. Stadler said today.

The announcement follows the approval yesterday by the State Municipal Finance Commission to borrow the funds for the sewer project.

Stadler said the city will advertise for bids on the bond package for the next two weeks.

"The agreements were signed by that date, the city would then have to go to court with condemnation proceedings," explained Stadler.

"It is likely that construction on the sewer could begin in early summer if everything goes according to schedule."

Following the award of the bond purchase the city will advertise for construction bids.

City voters approved the bond issue for $13.3 million Dec. 19. The remaining $170,000 will be sold at a later date as undeveloped areas become populated.

He was a member of the 2300 Lodge No. 1, F.A.M., Detroit; Knights of Pythias, Lafayette Lodge 177; Modern Woodmen of America, Detroit Camp 1971; and Foresters of America.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Frank E. Storey of Beverly Hills; a son, Albert of Detroit; one sister and brother, four grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

There were further assurances that the DPW recall was solely an emergency move to relieve unemployment before the contracts were signed. The move was approved by the federal government only for a 60-day emergency period, it was reiterated.

In another aspect of urban renewal, the city has received a check for $39,400 from the U.S. Treasury, representing a partial advance for planning costs in the proposed second renewal project in southwest downtown.

The total planning advance received by the federal government in anticipation that the project will be approved amounts to $70,000.

In the meantime, the city has received a copy of a letter sent by President Kennedy to municipal and county officials over the nation, urging acceleration of "essential building and expenditure programs that will help revitalize our economy."

Emphasizing the importance of governmental spending in the economy, Kennedy noted that local construction projects approximately 40 per cent of the total federal, state and local construction outlay of the United States, including the military.

Kennedy hopes to set up four guide centers where inmates of federal prisons under 25 years of age would live for two or three months before their prison terms expire.

He asked Congress Monday for $18,000 to set up the centers and improve counseling of young federal prisoners. The program would begin some time after July 1 if Congress approves.

Popular Power Steering Goes Over Big at Pontiac

Since its introduction in 1953, power steering has become one of the most successful and popular optional equipment items ever to be offered by Pontiac, with sales totaling 1,306,745 units through February of this year.

During the 1953 model year, Pontiac customers ordered 39,681 cars with power steering. Buyers of 1955 Pontiacs ordered 125,000 of these factory installed units, and 126,013 of the 1960 models were equipped with power steering, amounting to 83 per cent of total production for that year. In 1961 the trend continues upward at the rate of 86 per cent.

Although Pontiac power steering has met with great success from the very start, it has always been particularly popular with the 1 & 2's. With power steering, parking in tight spots becomes as easy as steering a grocery cart down a supermarket aisle.

Power steering can be beneficial to drivers by making steering effortless in heavy city traffic, bumpy roads, mud, snow and on the open highway, thus conserving driver energy in the interest of safe motoring.

Pontiac's power steering has an important built-in safety factor. In the event of a power failure, the mechanical steering takes over in the normal fashion.

Four Fined by Union for Joining Lawsuit

JACKSON 48—Four members of Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers Local 287 were fined from $500 to $1,000 by the union Tuesday for participating in a lawsuit against the local.

Myles F. Mcweeney, business agent for the local, said Barney Weinhardt of Jackson was fined $1,000 for violation of the union's constitution. Three men, Thomas Keyes, Edward Spencer and Lowell Slater, drew $500 fines on the same charge.

Orion Man Pleads Guilty to Larceny

Awaiting sentencing for burglary, William D. Shane of Lake Orion, yesterday appeared before Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams and pleaded guilty to a reduced charge of larceny in a building.

Judge Adams immediately sentenced Shane, 26, of 484 Central St., to 3 to 4 years in Jackson Prison. He would have faced a maximum sentence of 15 years under his original Feb. 20 guilty plea to breaking and entering during the nighttime.

Asst. Prosecutor Anthony Rennie said Shane was allowed to plead to the second count because investigation showed he wasn't "as involved" in the burglary of the Mickelson Corp. office, 1745 Seymour Lake Road, Orion Township, as believed at first.

It is Shane's second imprisonment.

An average farmer in the U. S. spends about $3,500 a year for feed, seed, fertilizer, oil products, machines, building material and hardware.

ROMNEY GETS AWARD — George Romney of Bloomfield Hills, president of American Motors Corp., (left), receives an award in Detroit Tuesday from Mac T. Called the Prominent Citizens Award, the bronze plaque is given to prominent persons whose careers were influenced by classified newspaper ads. In an address, Romney said he obtained his first job after college through a newspaper classified ad.

Hope for Drop in Jobless Rate

Look to Weather, Hike in Trade to Help Cut Unemployment Figure

EAST LANSING (U)—Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., believes Communist speakers should be permitted on American college campuses.

Providing there is an equally strong presentation of the American philosophy, "I can see no particular danger in their speaking on our campuses," the voice of modern conservatism told an estimated 3,000 people at Michigan State University Tuesday night. He said:

"I wouldn't fear presenting the American side after a Communist speech, and I think the audience would benefit from both."

The co-tide contender for the presidential nomination went further saying he saw nothing wrong with teaching communism in American universities.

"It is one of the dominant philosophies in the world today," Goldwater said. "If people would know what Communism is, there would be no difficulty in maintaining allegiance to our country."

Goldwater was the guest of the Michigan State Conservative Club on the MSU campus. Republican state leaders did not meet the legislator during his brief stay in the capital city.

Preaching conservatism ("the philosophy that wants to make progress on the known and proven values of the past.") Goldwater described the "new frontier" as a rebirth of the new deal and fair deal of the 1930s.

15 Nonstrikers Staging Sleep-In at Sterling Plant

MOUNT CLEMENS (U)—Fifteen nonstrikers have settled down with bedding and food in the plant of Mico Specialties, Inc., in Sterling Township and say they will stay until labor troubles at the factory are settled.

Members of Carpenters Local 1485 have picketed the plant for almost three weeks and there have been several flares of violence on the picket lines.

The 15 nonstrikers entered the plant Sunday and remained. The plant makes aluminum doors and windows.

Union officials said their pickets are protesting the rehiring of workers by the firm without regard to seniority.

Society to Get Talk on Highway Safety

At its monthly meeting Thursday evening, the Oakland Chapter of the Michigan Society of Professional Engineers will hear Roy C. Haesler and Gerald J. McCarthy.

Haesler, automotive safety engineer for Chrysler Corp., is also chairman of the engineering committee of the Canadian Highway Safety Council.

McCarthy is chief of design for the Michigan State Highway Department and supervises the Road and Bridge Design Division and the Traffic Division.

The two will speak on the topic: Death on the Highway — and What Engineers are Doing About It.

The meeting will be held at Rolanda Inn on Pine Lake Road in West Bloomfield Township with dinner scheduled for 7 and the meeting for 8.

Jurors' Deliberations Are Being Noised About

TYLER, Tex. (UPI)—The Smith County grand jury has no secrets, but that's not the way it's supposed to be. Executive Gets Out of Prison

Westinghouse Official Serves 26 Days Over Price-Fixing

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A Westinghouse Electric Corp. sales manager, one of two executives freed from prison after serving 26 days on charges of price-fixing, said today he plans to go back to work but that he didn't know exactly when.

This was the only comment from Charles I. Maunel, 60, when he was released from the Montgomery County prison in Norristown, Pa.

NO COMMENT

Maunel indicated he was in no mood to answer reporter's questions.

Maunel is sales manager of the firm's steam and turbine division here. Westinghouse announced shortly after its executives were sentenced that the firm would take no disciplinary action against them.

John H. Chiles, 57, of Sharon, Pa., vice president in charge of the firm's transformer plant here, the other executive released Tuesday, could not be reached immediately for comment.

Maunel and Chiles were among seven electrical equipment manufacturing firm executives jailed in the giant antitrust case last month.

Travelers Like State, Stay Longer

DETROIT (UPI)—The Automobile Club of Michigan reported today that 90 per cent of all tourists who come to Michigan come by automobile and they stay longer than tourists visiting most other states.

The club's findings were included in a just-published book, "Profile of the American Tourist," which covers travel in this country and abroad.

Harry N. Rogan, director of travel services for the club, said Michigan now has the eighth largest tourist industry in the nation with an estimated income of $653 million last year.

The new book noted that 70 per cent of the tourists entering Michigan come in the summer months and stay an average of 11.5 days each.

Michigan's state parks were visited 19,900,000 times during 1960, making them the fourth busiest group of such facilities in the nation.

Segregationist Looks Certain for Senate OK

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy appeared assured today of Senate approval for the bitterly debated nomination of Charles M. McRiether as an Export-Import Bank director.

McRiether, segregationist and political ally of Alabama Gov. John Patterson, weathered the first round of opposition to his appointment when the Senate voted 66-18 Tuesday against pigeonholing his nomination.

Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., one of those who sought unsuccessfully to send McRiether's appointment to cold storage in the Banking Committee, predicted approval of Kennedy's choice. He said it was obvious that some Democrats were reluctant but had decided to go along with their new President.

This Home's a Guidepost for Recent Mental Patients

DINA DONOHUE.

"We're all agreed, Ralph, you may go home."

He'd waited three years for those words—three years of keys and locks, of new, mending observation. There was only one stipulation the state hospital for mentally ill made: "You'll have to report to the outpatient clinic once a month for a year."

Ralph went to Dina Donohue home feeling confident that now at last he could take up his life where he had left it three years before.

He was wrong. In the excitement of getting home, he forgot that people do not always know how to react to someone who has been "sick" and "away."

LIKE A CHILD

He began to sense this from the start. There was the afternoon he stopped in the kitchen to tell his mother he was going to the movies.

"That's nice, dear," she said. "But wait a minute and I'll go with you." She left the food she was preparing to "take Ralph" to the movies as though he were a child instead of a man of 28.

But the most discouraging thing of all was Ralph's inability to find a job. He couldn't explain his long years and he was ashamed to admit having been in a mental hospital. In time he just stopped trying. One evening his father blew up.

"You could get a job if you wanted one. You're just lazy!"

Ralph was shocked; he picked up his coat and fled. As he crossed street after street, he became confused.

SEES HIS CHURCH

He was no longer sure his sickness was not returning. Suddenly he was terrified.

Ralph wandered for an hour or more, until he saw the church—the same church in which he had been christened and where he had attended Sunday school. On an impulse he went inside. He knelt in the pew as he had years before.

"Dear God," he prayed out loud in the empty, quiet church, "please don't let me get sick again."

The next day was his second monthly visit to the clinic and he confided his fears to the psychiatrist. It was then that Ralph first heard about Fountain House.

"I'd like you to go there, Ralph," the psychiatrist said. "It isn't a hospital or clinic. It's a meeting place for former mental patients—a halfway house to ease the transition between the hospital and the world outside."

FUT TO WORK

Fountain House was an old brownstone building on New York's West Side. Ralph walked around the block three times before he finally found the courage to go in. He had no sooner presented a letter from the psychiatrist to one of the social workers than someone shoved a bucket into Ralph's hand.

"The roof's leaking again," the social worker explained. "Come on and help us."

It was odd, but from the moment Ralph placed a bucket under a leak in the roof he felt he belonged, that he was needed.

Before long, Fountain House had become Ralph's club. It had comfortable lounges, a kitchen and dining room for snacks, a large meeting room for lectures, games or dances. Everyone helped with the chores.

One day, Ralph was helping paint the bulletinboards in the downstairs hall with a new member named Henry, recently released from the sanitarium.

Henry was a very fat boy of 17 who seldom spoke, a sloppy worker, he continually splashed paint on Ralph's shoes.

LOST HIS TEMPER

"If you're too stupid to do it right, don't do it!" Ralph shouted at him.

With a stricken look, Henry retreated into the kitchen.

One of the other members came over to Ralph.

"That wasn't necessary," she said curtly. "You've been here long enough to know there are more people to consider than just yourself."

Ralph went to the kitchen. The boy was sitting at the table, tears in his eyes.

"Henry," Ralph said, "I apologize. I also want to thank you."

"For what?"

"For helping me lose my temper," Ralph explained, although that really wasn't it.

When the girl scolded Ralph for being inconsiderate, it was the first indication he'd had of how egocentric he had become in his years about adjusting. This incident with Henry had helped him think of someone besides himself.

THINKS OF OTHERS

From then on, Ralph tried to think more of others; the more he did, the more secure he became.

Four months after Ralph first arrived at Fountain House, the staff there found him a job with an employer who knew his background and who understood his problems.

my prayers in a very special way: by a sudden change in my thinking and way of acting. I was disappointed when nothing happened.

"Now I know that my prayers were answered when I found Fountain House and its way to health—through friends, work and understanding."

Man in Space

Scientists Work for 'Nothingness'

By BILL WILKS
 BURLINGAME, Calif. (UPI)—In an isolated canyon 30 miles northwest of here, scientists are working on a project to create the hottest, coldest, most lethal "nothingness" man has known on earth.
 Lockheed Aircraft claims the project is the free world's most ambitious attempt to duplicate conditions of space—in a vacuum chamber 10 feet in diameter and 10 feet high.
 Simulating an altitude of 473 miles, the chamber's vacuum will be the nearest man has come to producing the near-silence of space in a laboratory, according to Dr. Lewis Larmore, chief scientist at Lockheed's California division.
 Several kinds of pumps will reduce the chamber's pressure to one-billionth that of the air outside—a vacuum in which a ping pong ball will evaporate in a few minutes.
 Yet, the vacuum in the chamber will be far from that existing in interplanetary space, Larmore said. To approach that, the pressure would have to be reduced at least another millionfold.
 Duplicating UNKNOWN
 Actually, Larmore explained, there is no known way to duplicate the vacuum of interplanetary space.
 "We can't keep the steel walls of a chamber from evaporating," he said. "Gas and particles are loosed from the walls as fast as we can pump it out."

 The project is being undertaken in connection with a planned half-airplane, half-spacecraft to be used for servicing satellites in orbit. The study is known as SELOMAB—Space Logistics, Maintenance and Rescue.
 During simulated missions in the chamber, spacecraft models and materials will be subjected to cold and heat ranging from minus 456 to plus 500 degrees Fahrenheit as well as the erosion of radiation and meteoric particles.
 How long will space materials hold up under such evaporation and erosion? How can working parts be made to operate in environments where ordinary lubricants simply evaporate? These are some of the questions Lockheed scientists seek to answer.
 SIMULATE RADIATION
 Batteries of quartz lamps and ordinary light bulbs will be used to simulate some of the radiations in space within the chamber.
 Larmore said a flour-like material or perhaps fine ice par-

Need Not Embarrass
 Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their false teeth dropped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of that happening to you. Get a little PARTHETIC, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your palate. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable, does not pour. Chews "like ordinary breath". LEG CRAMPS?

One of the most common causes of painful muscle cramps is a prolonged deficiency of calcium.

So says a famous doctor and widely-known newspaper columnist, formerly with the Chicago Clinic, and other well-known health authorities.

When meals, consistently deficient in calcium, are fortified with DYNAL-CAL Calcium Tablets, terminating calcium-deficient muscle cramps can be promptly relieved. But don't confuse DYNAL-CAL Tablets with ordinary calcium-phosphorus products. DYNAL-CAL Tablets contain no phosphorus which frequently interferes with the absorption of calcium. And DYNAL-CAL Tablets contain a special ingredient which helps to put calcium into the blood stream quickly—bringing faster relief to cramping, calcium-starved muscles.

Prescription-free DYNAL-CAL Tablets with calcium, glutamic acid hydrochloride, and vitamins D and C contain no drugs. They are safe, harmless, calcium drug supplements. If you are suffering miserable muscle cramps and suspect you are not getting enough calcium, ask for DYNAL-CAL Tablets. Neely, Bottles of 90 tablets, $1.50.

*After meals for most cramps are helped by calcium tablets.

3 County Legislators Offer House Bills

Three Oakland County legislators have recently taken part in the introduction of three separate bills in Lansing.

Rep. Raymond L. Baker, R-Berkley, is cosponsor of House Bill 176 which amends the home rule city act by reducing the vote requirement on a general obligation bond issue to a simple majority instead of the present three-fifths majority.

A bill which would authorize municipalities to pay any part of the premiums for insurance covering life, health, hospitalization, medical and surgical service and accident coverage for employees was introduced by Rep. Henry M. Hogan Jr., R-Bloomfield Township. This is part of the county's 1961 legislative program.

Rep. William Hayward, R-Royal Oak, has sponsored House Bill 93 which provides for the appeal of any decision by a board of zoning appeals or any other agency on questions of law. It would also clarify zoning authority over "structures" which may not be buildings.

At Records Institute

In Detroit this week attending the Basic Institute for Medical Record Personnel conducted by the American Association of Medical Record Librarians in cooperation with the American Hospital Association is Mrs. Donald J. Wilson of Pontiac General Hospital. She is assistant medical records librarian.

Goldberg Asks Quick Extra Pay for Jobless

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg today urged swift Senate action on the administration's program to give $1 billion additional unemployment compensation benefits to jobless workers. The House has passed the bill.

With 5,705,000 persons listed as unemployed, the highest tide total in 20 years, Goldberg told the Senate Finance Committee the situation "is grave enough to warrant immediate attention by the Congress." He says he hopes to start the flow of additional benefit payments to the unemployed by mid-April.

Goldberg asked the committee to approve his House bill without change.

Detroit Zoo Will Open on Thursday, May 11

The Detroit Zoological Park will open for the 1961 season on Thursday, May 11, the park commission ruled at a recent meeting. The commission also set the opening date for the Children's Zoo at Belle Isle for Thursday May 18.

The commission requested school teachers to make group trip arrangements early with the zoo offices. Special rates are available for such groups.

How times change! Nowadays when the doctor finds a patient in a run-down condition, he prescribes less golf and more time at the office.

Double Allowance on Training Cars

General Motors will double the allowance given its dealers who loan cars to high schools for driver training programs, John F. Gordon, GM president, announced today.

The allowance, to be granted retroactive to the start of the 1960 school year, will be $250. It has been $125 since General Motors pioneered the plan in 1955.

The action was taken, Mr. Gordon says, to encourage maximum dealer participation in the program and in recognition of the increased costs incurred by dealers loaning cars for this purpose.

More than 1,200,000 high school students in the United States receive some form of driver education annually with approximately 700,000 of them benefiting from a full course including behind-the-wheel instruction.

GM's contribution to the program during the 1959-60 school year totaled nearly $500,000 on almost 4,000 cars. Since 1955, allowances have totaled $2,697,500 on 21,580 cars.

"General Motors actively and enthusiastically supports high school driver education," Gordon points out. "No program, in our opinion, offers more promise of developing the attitudes and skills behind the wheel which are the major requisite of greater highway safety.

"We hope this increased cooperation with our dealers in the training car loan program will help accelerate progress toward the goal of making this vital instruction universally available to the nation's youth."

Under terms of the GM plan, a dealer receives the allowance from the corporation for each new Buick, Oldsmobile, Pontiac or Chevrolet lent to schools for driver training. A further requirement is that cars must be equipped with two approved type front seat belts, dealer-installed at factory expense.

Hurry Up Aid Bill, Warns Mirani

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Detroit Mayor Louis C. Mirani called upon Congress today to shore up the nation's economic dike by quick passage of the bill to aid depressed areas.

"The rising flood of unemployment has spilled over all along the line," he warned a House banking subcommittee studying the legislation.

"When the local problem grows out of hand," he said, "we call on our immediate neighbors. But when the entire dike is threatened, it becomes a nationwide problem."

Mirani said the entire national economy has become engulfed by the current recession "despite blind scoffing to the contrary."

Probation Offers Second Chance—for Theft

Probation proved short-lived for a convicted ten-age burglar.

Seventeen-year-old Leslie C. Motley of Pontiac will be arraigned in Circuit Court Monday on charges of burglarizing Donna's Restaurant, 821 Baldwin Ave., the night of March 3.

Motley waived examination before Municipal Court Judge Marjorie K. Flanagan yesterday and is being held in the Oakland County Jail, unable to furnish $1,000 bond.

Police Sgt. John Depuau said Motley, who lives at 905 St. Clair St., had admitted the burglary, in which $9 was taken from a Coke machine.

Less than two months have passed since Motley was given three years probation and ordered to pay $100 court costs by Circuit Court Judge Clark J. Adams.

That sentence was for burglarizing the same place, Donna's Restaurant, exactly two months earlier on Jan. 3. Police said Motley admitted the most recent break-in.

Boy, 3, Regains Consciousness After 70 Hours

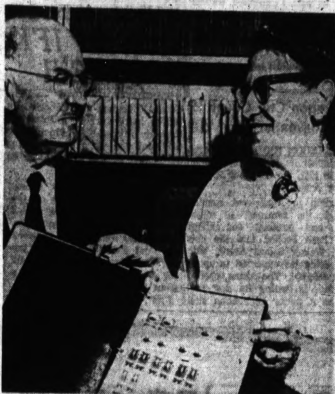

A 3-year-old boy who remained in a coma for more than 70 hours at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital since being hit by a car near Milford Friday, has regained consciousness.

Robert Cassidy Jr. was removed from the oxygen tent yesterday. Hospital authorities said the boy's condition is greatly improved and he has been taken off the critical list.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cassidy of Harbor Springs. They were visiting their daughter, Mrs. Lennie Qualls of 1807 S. Milford Road, when young Robert dashed into the street while playing in front of the house.

The boy was hit by a car driven by Victor A. Mireau, 42, of 3015 DeRose St., Milford. The driver told sheriff's deputies he was unable to stop in time to avoid hitting the youngster.

Mireau was not held. Accidental fires in private homes are most frequent in the winter months.

Peace Corps Could Soar or Flop

ANN ARBOR — One of the chief architects of President Kennedy's Peace Corps says it can become "a new dimension for understanding—or one of the greatest fiascos of all time."

The promise and warning was given to a group of University of Michigan students Tuesday night by Prof. Maurice Albertson, director of the Colorado State University Research Foundation which studied the original proposal and made the recommendations for the President's executive order which created the Peace Corps. Albertson said in a campus talk the Peace Corps must be established and organized with extreme care. He urged that the nation "be patient" with the Kennedy administration's handling of the program.

Albertson said he and members of his staff who questioned leaders in Latin America, Africa and Southeast Asia found "enthusiasm mixed with words of warning."

Miss Michigan to Sing

DOWAGIAC (UPI)—Donna Jean Shepard, 19, the reigning Miss Michigan, has signed a contract to be a vocalist with Fred Waring and his Pennsylvanians, it was announced Tuesday.

Lawyers Title Firm Buys 7th Company

Lawyers Title Insurance Corp. of Richmond, Va., will buy the Cuyahoga Title and Trust Co. of Cleveland for more than a million dollars, according to Edward A. Malar, manager of the company's Oakland County office at 18 W. Lawrence St. The purchase will be completed by April 2.

"This purchase is another step in Lawyers Title's plans to expand and strengthen its local facilities throughout the country," George C. Rawlings, Lawyers Title president, said.

Cuyahoga, organized in 1909, is Cleveland's oldest title company. It operates in 12 counties in the Cleveland area, and had income last year of about $1 million. Lawyers Title, the world's largest company exclusively devoted to title insurance, has bought six other title insurance companies since it was founded in Richmond 35 years ago.

Marilyn Attends Funeral of Miller's Mother

NEW YORK (AP)—Actress Marilyn Monroe attended funeral service for August Miller, mother of playwright Arthur Miller, Tuesday.

Miss Monroe sat with Miller, from whom she was divorced recently, and other members of his immediate family.

Mrs. Miller, 70, died Monday in Jewish Hospital, Brooklyn, following a heart attack.

Red Korean Guards Attack U. S. MP

PANMUNJOM, Korea (UPI)—Communist North Korean guards today surrounded and attacked a U.S. military police captain in this "truce" village while Red soldiers egged them on with shrieks of "kill him, kill him."

But Capt. William C. Lyons of Lubbock, Tex., more than held his own during the brief brawl. He returned the Red's punches and, although his helmet was knocked off by blows on his head and face, escaped without injury.

Lyons was jumped moments after an American MP was struck in the face by a Communist guard. The MP, identified only as Spec. 4 Campbell, walked away without striking back. He claimed the Red hit him for no reason as he walked past the guard's post.

The Communist insulted Campbell stepped on his toe.

Muskegon Can Count 12 Big Conventions for '61

MUSKEGON (UPI)—Muskegon can expect its biggest convention year in 1961, the Chamber of Commerce announced.

Starting in April and running through the summer, 12 major state and national conventions have been booked into the new L. C. Walker Sports Arena, with 8,000 delegates expected to spend about $600,000. The arena, opened last fall, is getting its first real test as a major convention site.

Final Action Due on JFK Wage Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The House Education and Labor Committee has returned to President Kennedy's timetable for increasing the minimum wage by approving a two-step plan to reach $1.25 an hour in 28 months.

The committee meets Thursday to take final action on the bill, hammered out by a closed session Tuesday. The measure, which also would bring between five and six million workers under the federal wage-hour law for the first time, still differs from the Kennedy request.

First, it would drop Kennedy's request for a three-step increase from the present $1 an hour to $1.25. Second, it would extend coverage to more than a million workers Kennedy proposed be left out.

State Car Not Needed, Plan Dies in Committee

LANSING (AP)—A Senate resolution to provide the lieutenant governor with a state car for state business died quietly in the appropriations committee Tuesday.

Sen. Elmer R. Porter, R-Blairstown, said the measure would not be reported out because it was discovered that the lieutenant governor, who also serves as president of the Senate, already is authorized more than $1,000 annually in per diem expenses to cover the cost of an auto.

Far More Livable Prisons Foreseen by Criminologist

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI)—A Florida State University criminologist foresees prisons of the future resembling "a series of small, college campus-like institutions."

Dr. Vernon Fox, speaking at a conference on correctional architecture, called the traditional architecture of high gates, walls and steel bars a "man zoo."

He said future prisons should be somewhat like cottages "that will permit closer approximation to the type of living found in the free community after release so that contacts with the free world will not so completely be cut."

Serve Up Hearty Chowder for Lenten Dinner

Mostly dry needn't be lonely ones, for a hearty chowder makes delicious company fare.

Your guests will be delighted with your big tubs of stirring chowder—bubbling hot and deliciously aromatic. And because chowder is such a warm and friendly food, you'll create a happy dining atmosphere—there'll be plenty of demand for seconds, too.

Your chowder will look and can whip up any main chowder taste as though you've spent many hours preparing it. But it's as easy as combining canned condensed cream of celery soup with clam chowder—then adding flaked shrimp, onions, butter and parsley. Cook until flavors are blended, and presto, the main course is ready. Thanks to canned condensed soups, all the work of slicing, peeling and cooking is done for you. You dish simply by blending canned condensed soups stored on your kitchen shelf.

Serve your dinner-in-a-bowl company chowder in easy, buffet style with slices of toasted French bread. Make a tangy egg salad and serve in bright, pretty cups. Give your guests your favorite dessert.

Sponge Cake Type Bar Calls for Chopped Prunes

By CECILY BROWNSTONE, Associated Press Food Editor

For some reason or other, old-fashioned cookies never discovered the virtues of the bar cookie.

Look into cook books published 50 or so years ago and you'll see plenty of recipes for rolled dough cookies which hold their shape. Later rolled cookies gave way to the "icebox" variety that can be sliced without rolling out.

Thank goodness the made bar cookie did show up. Baked in a shallow pan, these are cut into bars or squares after they come out of the oven. Usually they have delicious flavor, a satisfying cake-like texture and store well.

We're particularly fond of a new recipe for a bar cookie. Made with unsalted prunes and walnuts, they're chewy and flavorese.

The batter that surrounds the fruit and nuts is like sponge cake—it doesn't call for fat. And this recipe takes modern tastes into account. It has less sugar added than one might expect; from the point of view of both flavor and calories, this is all to the good. Because the batter is not overly sweet, the true flavor of the uncooked prunes predominates.

This is a fine cookie to wrap individually and send along in a lunch box or to a youngster at college. Or tote them over to a friend's house some afternoon to enjoy over a cup of tea and a good talk.

PRUNE SPONGE BARS
1/2 cup sifted flour
1/2 teaspoon each baking powder and salt
2 eggs
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup unsalted walnuts
1/2 cup chopped packaged prunes
1 cup chopped walnuts

Fresh Dates Join With Other Fruit

Winter fruits—sunny fresh California dates, pears and an apple—to westerners in "Pacific Fruit Toss." This make-ahead, easy-to-combine can come to dinner as an appetizer, on salad greens as a main course accompaniment or as a simple, highly satisfying dessert.

Fresh dates, grown in the California desert, are uniform in size, easy to work with and provide chewy texture contrast, as well as pleasing flavor, to meals all year round.

Pacific Fruit Toss
2 cups fresh dates
2 large fresh pears
1 large red apple
1 cup lemon juice
1 tablespoon sugar
1 tablespoon (heaped) sesame seeds

Slice dates into a large mixing bowl.

Core pears and apple; dice unpeeled fruit; add to dates. Mix lemon juice, honey and sesame seeds. Toss with fruits. Chill 1/2 hour or longer before serving. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

Lemon Pie Is Laced With Coconut

Delicious supper menu!
Lemon Coconut Pie
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup lemon juice
2 eggs (separated)
1/2 cup coconut
1/2 cup flaked coconut
1/2 cup melted fat

Soften gelatin in 1/2 cup of the milk in top of double boiler. Stir over boiling water until gelatin dissolves. Add remaining 2 cups milk, sugar and salt; stir until sugar dissolves.

Beat egg yolks slightly; stir in a little of the gelatin mixture; return to double boiler and, stirring constantly, cook until mixture coats spoon. Remove from heat; stir in lemon juice; cool.

Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry; fold into cool gelatin mixture; pour into, baked pie shell. Garnish with coconut. Chill for 3 hours.

Spaghetti Sauce Nice To Pour Over Cod

A quick sauce combination to serve with fish.

Oven Cod
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup (10 ounces) bottled spaghetti sauce (tomato base)
1 can (8 ounces) cut green beans

Boil the cod according to package directions. Heat the tomato sauce with the drained green beans; serve with the fish. Makes 6 servings.

Blue Cheese and Honey Embrace Salad Dressing
Shake 1/4 cup crumbled American blue cheese and 1/4 cup honey with 1 cup of commercial French dressing; serve on slivers of avocado and sections of grapefruit. This makes a delicious sweet-pungent dressing in seconds.

Blue cheese adds body and flavor to the dressing. This dressing is ideal for spring and summer.

Crab Soup

Not Cricket to Change Dinner Date

By The Enthusiast Institute
Q: I would like to know if I was wrong in the following instance. I was invited to Sunday dinner at a friend's house. Several days after this engagement was made, another friend called and invited me to dinner on Wednesday.

On Saturday, the first friend called and said that something unexpected turned up and postponed the dinner to Wednesday. I called my other friend immediately and said that I could not have dinner with her on Wednesday and explained what happened.

She seemed rather put out over this. Was I wrong to cancel this second dinner engagement?

A: Yes, you should have told the friend who changed the dinner from Sunday to Wednesday that you were sorry but you had made another engagement for that night.

Q: I am going to be a bridesmaid in a friend's wedding. She would like all of the attendants to wear wreaths of fresh flowers in their hair instead of hats. I would like to know who should pay for these—the bride or her attendants? Some of the attendants think that since these take the place of hats which the bridesmaids would ordinarily pay for, that they should pay for them. I disagree and think that this is the bride's expense. Will you please settle this?

A: Since they will have only limited use of the wreaths, whereas hats would be something to keep, it is unfair to expect the bridesmaid to pay for them, and in this instance the bride should pay for the wreaths.

MOMS Unit Entertains 3 Guests

Mrs. Arno Hulet of Franklin Road was hostess to MOMS of America, Inc. Unit 2, for a luncheon meeting Tuesday. Guests of the group were Mrs. Malcolm Scanland, past national president; Mrs. Frank Gould, third vice president of Michigan State Board of MOMS, both of Auburn Heights; and Mrs. Forest Ragdale of Hazel Park, second vice president of the state board.

The invitation to a March 14 luncheon and card party by MOMS Unit 67 was read. The affair will be from 12:30 to 3 at the Community Center in Madison Heights.

Members also have been invited to the Galloway Lake MOMS, Unit 21, pancake supper from 5 to 7:30 p.m. March 16 at Willis School.

On March 29 the group will attend a luncheon at the Veterans' Memorial Home in Detroit, sponsored by the Department of Michigan Ladies Auxiliary of the Jewish War Veterans.

Mrs. Duncon McLean, president, was named delegate for the national convention in May at Fairmont, Minn. Mrs. Edgar Thomas will be alternate.

Mrs. John Brewer of North Perry Street will be hostess for the March 21 luncheon meeting at which members will do civic sewing for Pontiac General Hospital.

Making preparations for Saturday's Shamrock Ball are these members of Zeta Eta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority. From left are Mrs. C. Bud Shelton of Third Avenue; Mrs. M. Douglas Fox and Mrs. Joseph Galardi of Ross Drive, Waterford Township; and Mrs. Richard Templeton of Edgefield Drive, Waterford. Dance proceeds will benefit Camp Oakland.

Sorority Plans Ball at Hall

Zeta Eta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority will sponsor the "Shamrock Ball" Saturday at the Annets Hall on Oakland Avenue. A local orchestra will play for dancing from 9:30 until 1:30 a.m.

Mrs. C. M. Shelton, general chairman, has appointed the following committee heads: Mrs. James Anthony, tickets; Mrs. Cytle Haskell, distribution; Mrs. Byron Barnes, door prizes; Mrs. Douglas Fox, programs and Mrs. Joseph Galardi, cleanup.

Decorations in a St. Patrick Day theme featuring shamrock, pipes and hats are being planned by Mrs. Richard Templeton and the chapter members. Mrs. Duane La Turneau will be hostess for the evening. Proceeds from party will benefit the sorority's Camp Oakland fund. Tickets may be purchased at the door.

Bar Auxiliary Receives Plans

Mrs. Robert Parenti and Mrs. Thomas Reese greeted Oakland County Bar Association Auxiliary members with green shamrock name tags at Tuesday's luncheon meeting in Devon Gables.

Plans for the September convention of the Lawyers' Wives of Michigan in Detroit were revealed by Mrs. Arthur E. Moore, president-elect of the auxiliary.

Mrs. Philip E. Rowston, president, told members of the tea sponsored by the association and its auxiliary for the swearing-in ceremony of Probate Judges Arthur E. Moore and Donald E. Adams.

Guest speaker for the meeting Carl Ingerham told of the purpose and structure of the Legal Aid Society which serves this community.

College Campus Picture

Two residents of Pontiac have just been pledged to national Greek letter fraternities at the Albion College campus, according to an announcement by Professor Walter B. Sprandel, dean of men.

Timothy J. Patterson, son of the Calvin E. Pattersons of Old Orchard Drive, is pledged to Alpha Tau Omega; and Anthony S. Jerome, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Jerome of Ottawa Drive, pledged to Sigma Nu. Both students are freshmen.

Named to the dean's list at Manhattanville College of the Sacred Heart, Purchase, N.Y., for the fall semester is Sharon Fimble, daughter of the Joseph A. Fimble of Pilgrim Road, Birmingham.

A sophomore majoring in government, Sharon previously attended St. Mary's Academy of Notre Dame, South Bend, Ind., and is active in the dramatics club at Manhattanville.

Gerald Young, son of Homer G. Young of Wolfe Street, has been elected treasurer of Sigma Tau Gamma social fraternity at Western Michigan University, Kalamazoo. He is in the elementary education curriculum.

Ronald E. Kuse recently received the Tri-Angle certificate

Rare Oratorio Planned

A chancel choir of 40 voices featuring soloists Beverly Stiel, Jean Putnam and Freeman Williams will present the oratorio "St. Paul" by Felix Mendelssohn in the Central Methodist Church at 4 p.m. Sunday.

The Rev. Herbert Hauser, associate minister and former choir director, will be guest bass soloist. George H. Putnam will direct and Mrs. Neida Sink will be at the organ console.

awarded at Tri-State College, Angola, Ind., for service on the editorial staff of the campus newspaper.

Mr. Kuse who is enrolled in the department of mechanical engineering is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer E. Kuse of Drayton Plains.

Michael Metty, a student at Antioch College, Yellow Springs, Ohio, and son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Clifford Metty of Lakeland Avenue, currently is working in the theater department at Lake Erie College, Painesville, Ohio.

The job is part of Antioch's cooperative plan of education whereby all students regularly supplement on-campus study with off-campus job experience.

John Richardson, son of the Harry S. Richardson of Drayton Plains, a political science junior at University of Michigan, was recently elected executive secretary of the Big Ten Residence Halls Association.

His election comes after three years of active student government work in residence halls on campus. He was president of his house before serving as representative to the Inter-Quadrangle Council, the nine-member organization which represents the 3,600 men in residence halls at the university.

Margaret Lang of Orchard

Lake and Kathy Lundquist of North Shore, students at Eastern Michigan University, will be among orchestra members of the university appearing in concert this evening at Wayne. String players Karen, David and Paul Eicher of Orchard Lake will also play with the Eastern Michigan University Civic Symphony. This is the second concert of the week for the orchestra which was heard Sunday afternoon at Pease Auditorium on the campus.

The peasant influence of the costume in "The Sound of Music" makes these sister dresses irresistible. Of cotton sateen these fashions by Youngland feature bolero bodice and flower embroidered skirt with dainty apron.

Don't Snap at Her: Abby

His Wife Wags the Tale

DEAR ABBY: I have a reputation for being a pretty good story teller and wherever I go, people ask me, "Have you got any good ones?" I do fine when my wife isn't around. When she is, all I have to do is start telling the story and she butts in with, "You are telling it wrong." Naturally, I get all tied up in knots and can't tell it right. I sometimes say, "All right, then YOU tell it. But this doesn't help because she doesn't really want to tell it. All she wants to do is correct me. How do you handle a wife like that?"

CUT DOWN
DEAR CUT: Don't lock horns in public. When you are alone together and she is in a good mood, explain that even though you might be telling it wrong, she should keep quiet. Your friends will forgive a man who butchers a story, but not a woman who cuts up her husband.

What should I do? I'd rather have her for a friend than an enemy.

STUCK FOR WORDS
DEAR STUCK: She will pile the work on you as long as you let her. Sewing is a respectable craft. Tell her you would not regard two dollars an hour as an "insult." If your friendship comes apart at the seams, don't fret.

DEAR ABBY: Nine years ago I married a girl I didn't love because she talked me into it and I didn't have the heart to back out. We have three beautiful children who mean the world to me. I have grown to respect and admire my wife, but I don't love her. A few months ago I bumped into an old schoolmate. Before I knew it we were having lunch together. She's a widow and works near my office.

Well, we have had more than a few lunches together and I mean I want to divorce my wife and marry her.

I feel like a heel because my wife has no family to turn to and she doesn't suspect a thing. (I'd support her and the children.) How can I break the news to her?

LOSING SLEEP
DEAR LOSING: You are losing more than sleep. You are losing your marbles. A man who would give up a wife and three beautiful children for a woman who would permit him to do it, needs a keeper. Stick to your own fireside, Buddy. You don't know when you're well off.

"What's your problem?" For a personal reply from Abby, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Who pays for what? For Abby's pamphlet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

There Are Even Trifocals

Wide Variety of Glasses

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

So many inventions are the result of a need the inventor had for the article he created. The bifocal eyeglass is an example.

These were invented in 1784 by Benjamin Franklin for his own use when he was 78 years old. AND when we read about what he did after retiring at the age of 82 we can well understand his need.

When Franklin retired from business he was in his words, "looking forward to enjoying what I look upon as a great happiness, leisure to read, study and make experiments and converse."

After his so-called retirement he taught himself French, Italian, Spanish and Latin and led a more active life than many men do at the height of their careers.

END IS NOT NEAR

So many folks have a wrong impression about bifocals. They feel that once they resort to these the end is near, but this is far from being true. Many young people, even children, wear them.

When these are worn and you turn your eyes downward to read, you look through a small segment, not almost invisibly in

Many people need many different kinds of glasses for varying activities. Eye examinations should be arranged every year or so because eyes change, especially during middle age.

When writing about his invention Franklin explained that he had two pairs of glasses, found the changing from one to the other troublesome, so "I had the glasses cut and half of each kind associated in the same circle."

TRIFOCALS, TOO

This simple idea has been improved greatly through the years and has led to trifocals which give three ranges of vision instead of two. Many people find these useful because they discover a blind spot an arm's length away, just where the bridge dummy lies. The distance part of the bifocal is focused too far away and the near part is useful up to 18 to 20 inches.

Many people need many different kinds of glasses for varying activities. The only way to find out if you need glasses and what kind you require is to have an examination. This should be done every year or so because eyes change, especially from middle age on.

If you would like to have my eye exercises for resting the eyes (not for the correction of visual defects) send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 55 to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Even the play on school playgrounds is now so well-supervised that a boy can't settle a score with a bully, and any game in which a home-room teacher can't participate is considered too dangerous for a schoolyard.

And that is how it goes until he's through school and out on his own.

With all the togetherness, he just can't find a time or a place where he can be with kids his own age without a bunch of adults pushing and prodding and prompting him.

Children Require Some 'Apartness'

RUTH MILLETT

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The worst thing about family "togetherness" is that it doesn't leave any room for "apartness." And yet every member of a family needs some apartness to grow in.

Children especially need apartness. But how are they going to get it, the way grown-ups have in all of their activities and insist on being companions?

Does junior get a chance at school to work out his problems? Well hardly.

At the first sign that he's not "applying himself" or is failing to "adjust" to the other children, or is becoming a "disturbing influence" in the classroom, mama is

SEW SIMPLE

By Eunice Farmer

"Dear Mrs. Farmer,

"I have trouble with the dresses and skirts pulling out of shape when I try to put the zipper in. There never seems to be enough room. The application of a zipper is enough to dare any woman to sew. Any help you can give me would be more than welcome."

Your Devoted fan
I suggest fitting the side seams by pinning, without machine stitching part of the seam first. After the garment has been fitted, separate the seam and rub the chalk on the pins. This will make perfect marks to use as a guide on the wrong side of the garment.

Unpin the right side seam and leave it open. Now you may stitch the left side seam and apply the zipper with the skirt or dress laying absolutely flat. After the zipper has been applied, you may proceed with closing the right side seam.

"Dear Mrs. Farmer,

"I have 5 yards of hand-loomed wool from Scotland and it is only 29 inches wide. Do you think I could find a pattern for a spring coat that would adjust to this narrow width?"

Mrs. L.G.

Imported hand-loomed fabric is often woven in this width. Your 5 yards are actually only 3 1/2 yards of standard width wool.

You will have to choose a pattern of very straight, simple lines, with set-in sleeves and a center back seam. You could always make a 3/4 length coat and wear it with a contrasting skirt that would complement the fabric. If the wool is not too heavy, it could also be used for a suit.

"Dear Eunice,

"I am very interested in smoking. Do you sew your material to the paper guide, or how?"

Mrs. O.M.

The paper guide that is given with any smoking pattern is actually to be used to determine how much to pull the smoking up. When the smoking is finished, it must be the same size as the paper guide.

When your garment is finished, stitch a piece of light weight, firm-cotton fabric, the length of the smoking, to each end of the smoking, wrong side or garment. The purpose of this is to keep the smoking from stretching out of shape as it is worn and laundered.

FOUR SEWING GLOSSARY

Under-lining: A second piece of fabric such as silk organza, or a heavier type woven interfacing to give the garment more body. This should be cut the same size as each section of your garment and basted to the wrong side of each section separately, then treated as one.

It can be fun to make bound buttonholes. If you'd like a free copy of my Bound Buttonhole leaflet, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Sew Simple, in care of the Pontiac Press.

Muriel's Spoiling All Right—for a Fight

MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Dear Madam:
You should be thrown off the newspaper. The grandmother who told that daughter-in-law to whip her two-year-old's hands for throwing his mug on the floor is worth a million of you.

My mother often blistered my hands when I was a small boy to teach me right from wrong. You and your modern notions go against God and the Bible which says "Spare the rod and spoil the child."

ANSWER: All right, sir, I'm squaring off. Let's go.

I have hinted at your error before. This time I'm going to town on it. This time I have not only checked my own Bible concordances — and failed to find your savage quotation. This time I also have checked with the library of theological learning — and the library has failed to find it.

Your unmodern, King James version Bible does not contain the line: "Spare the rod and spoil the child."

What's modern, sir, is your phrase. It was coined by an American journalist who died in 1886 — a man named Finley Peter Dunne. So you are alone with your faith in the virtue of blistering children's bodies to teach them right from wrong. Now stand up for it alone — and stop falsifying the Word of God to support you.

I doubt that you will. The people who falsely endorse this catch-phrase with scriptural authority are seldom able to stand up without support.

They have been leasers from a long way back. They still trust the moral views of the parents who blistered their hands as children, though a little examination would prove these views as unreliable as their Biblical scholarship.

And they will go on believing in them just as they'll go on believing that a nearly forgotten journalist's words are Holy Writ.

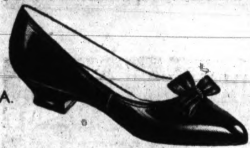

We who are struggling for wisdom as parents constantly examine our ideas of right and wrong. We know that any growth in us includes changes in these ideas. Along with Abraham Lincoln, we are content with "firmness in the right so far as God gives us to see the right."

A little right is what we've learned to settle for. So if we slap children's hands, we don't claim moral grandeur for our action.

Bake Meat Loaf Mixture Over Sliced Potatoes

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

"It's a good thing," said a reader recently, "that I like hamburger, because I eat so much of it." Thank goodness, there are hundreds of ways to prepare hamburger. Mrs. Robert Hopkins shares her special recipe with us.

Mrs. Hopkins is active in her church work. She loves to cook, is an avid reader and enjoys music.

MEAT LOAF CASSEROLE

By Mrs. Robert Hopkins
1 1/2 pounds ground beef
1/2 cup onion, diced
1/2 cup tomato sauce
1/2 cup bread crumbs, toasted
Peel and slice potatoes into a greased 8x12 baking dish. Sprinkle with salt, pepper, flour and parsley flakes.

Mix hamburger, diced onion, salt and pepper, half the can of tomato sauce and bread crumbs. Pat down firmly over potatoes, covering them all.

Pour rest of tomato sauce over top of meat. Sprinkle with 2 tablespoons grated cheese. Bake at 350 degrees 1 hour, or until meat is done and potatoes are tender. Serve in wedges. Serves 6.

Today if a woman is not happy with her hair color, she need not accept it as her fate. Hair color can be changed as you would change the style, the length or the shape. It can be a complete change, more highlights, temporary rinse or a quick spray for just an evening. You need not hesitate to try hair color, since there is no fear of making a long-lasting mistake in the shade.

In fact, temporary rinses are fun and you can "try on" several in searching for the most flattering shade.

12-Town Drain Settlement Appears to Be Near

Madison Heights Wants Statement on Outlets First

By DON FERMOYLE

ROYAL OAK—Officials of the 14 municipalities involved in the 12-Town Drain agreement last night appeared to be near a settlement which would finally get the $47-million project under way.

However, Madison Heights representatives said they first want an official statement from the Oakland County Drain Commission regarding its policy for sewer outlets in their city not covered by the 12-Town agreement.

Drain Commissioner Daniel W. Barry, who called the special meeting of the officials at Kimball High School here last night, said the policy statement would be sent out today.

Madison Heights, which has held up the start of the 12-Town project with suits in Circuit Court and the State Supreme Court, would like to see the cost of the 12-Town would be too high. Its original share of the project would be approximately $2.5-million.

The litigation was started by Madison Heights because officials there believe the city's original apportionment for the cost of the 12-Town would be too high. Its original share of the project would be approximately $2.5-million.

Although losing their case in both courts, Madison Heights officials still contend they would be paying for something that isn't needed because the city could be served more economically by the Dequindre drain which borders its eastern limits.

AIM AT SETTLEMENT
In an effort aimed at settling the long standing dispute, the county drain commission last night outlined a program under which the 12-Town could be constructed with Madison Heights paying only half of its original apportionment.

Barry explained half the area in Madison Heights originally scheduled to be included in the 12-Town could be removed, thus reducing the city's share of the assessment to about $1,156,530.

However, the costs paid by other municipalities would be raised. As an example, Troy City Manager David E. Freestone said his city's cost would be increased some $38,000.

But Barry urged the other municipalities to proceed with the 12-Town as soon as possible, even if it meant reducing Madison Heights' apportionment.

COURT COSTS HIGH
He said further litigation by Madison Heights would only increase the cost. Barry estimated that the county and municipalities in the project already have spent about $750,000 in lawsuits resulting from the 12-Town.

The project also should be started before construction begins on the State Highway Department's proposed Chrysler Expressway, which will run parallel to the drain in several communities, he stated.

If the state freeway is built here the 12-Town, the cost of tearing up service roads adjacent to the Chrysler also would increase costs.

Barry said he also fears the highway department would find some other method of drainage if it could not use the 12-Town.

Under present plans, the state would pay over $5-million towards the 12-Town drain, thus reducing the shares paid by the municipalities.

LOWER COSTS
As a final argument, Barry said the cost of the 12-Town would be reduced by starting the project now at a time when labor and construction costs are at their lowest point in some time.

Oak Park Mayor R. J. Alexander and Ferndale Mayor Bruce D. Garrett stated they were in favor of getting the project under way as soon as possible with Madison Heights paying a reduced apportionment.

None of the officials voiced opposition to Barry's request, although Madison Heights officials were confused over the drain commissioner's policy regarding outlets not included in the 12-Town.

Barry said a new 12-Town agreement—showing a smaller area for Madison Heights—must be approved by the governing bodies of each participating community before further action can be taken.

Hearings on the new cost apportionments then would have to be held.

To Discuss Draft Act
WALLED LAKE—The Oakland County Drain Commission will hold its fifth meeting of the school year at 1:30 p.m. March 13 at Clifford Smart Junior High School, 8400 Commerce Road.

held 30 days after approval by member municipalities. Bids could be let within 60 days after the hearings.

The whole procedure, necessary because the existing boundaries of the 12-Town already have been upheld in court, would take about four months.

Ford Tractor Plans Banquet
Broomfield to Speak at Service Awards Affair Next Wednesday

TROY — Congressman William S. Broomfield will be the principal speaker next Wednesday at the Ford Tractor and Implement Division's Community Service Awards banquet to be held at its general offices at 2500 East Maple Road.

The Ford Community Service Awards program, conducted companywide, is designed to give recognition to employees who are making outstanding contributions of time and energy to the betterment of their communities.

The banquet is a climax to the program conducted among the division's general office employees.

The program will start with an invocation by Rev. John H. Scott, minister of evangelism and counseling, First Presbyterian Church of Birmingham, followed by dinner in the executive dining room.

Howard C. Tuttle, divisional public relations manager, will introduce Ralph E. Hunt, assistant general manager of the division and chairman of the community relations committee, who will give the opening remarks.

The awards will be presented to the employees by Merrill D. Hill, Ford vice president and general manager of the division. This year, four employees will receive Community Service Awards. One of these four also will be presented with a "Ford Citizen of the Year" town order bell award.

Mayors of surrounding communities in which Ford employees live have been invited to join in honoring the award winners.

Employees selected for awards were chosen from nominations submitted by Ford employees, relatives of employees and persons in the community who are familiar with employee community activities.

The project also should be started before construction begins on the State Highway Department's proposed Chrysler Expressway, which will run parallel to the drain in several communities, he stated.

If the state freeway is built here the 12-Town, the cost of tearing up service roads adjacent to the Chrysler also would increase costs.

Barry said he also fears the highway department would find some other method of drainage if it could not use the 12-Town.

For Walled Lake To Seek Urban Plan

By JIM LONG
WALLED LAKE—Application to participate in a matching fund program for an urban planning study will be made by the city. The City Council decided last night.

Members voted 4 to 3 to seek financial assistance to develop a master plan for future use.

The action authorizes City Manager George Shaw to make application to the state for financial aid under a program set up under the Federal Housing Act. It is known as the 701 Program.

The tentative request by the city will in no way obligate it to carry through with a master plan if the council at a later date decides that the study would be too costly.

"Our only objective now," said Councilman Robert Thibideau, "is to inform the state of the city's interest in the program."

Under the 701 Program, a city first must apply to the state which in turn applies to the federal government for matching funds.

The strongest objection to sending in the preliminary request came from Councilman E. V. Mercer who said he realized the city needs planning "but what are we going to do with all the plans we have now?"

OLD STUDIES ON FILE
"I would like to see something tangible done with the studies made over the past several years by city engineers," added Mercer.

A motion by Councilman Marshall Taylor to table any action on the proposal until April 18 was defeated. Councilman Harold Ackley also opposed the application.

The council, in other action, turned down a request for the reclassification of a tavern license to a Class C liquor license and agreed to clean the city's public swimming area of weeds.

Council rejected the application of Robert E. Keister, owner of the Copper Mug, 1704 W. Maple Road, for the single Class C license available to the city. There is only one currently serving liquor in the city.

Keister in requesting the reclassification told the council that he planned to build a new $85,000 bar and restaurant at the location if the license was approved.

Inadequate parking facilities were blamed by four councilmen for the need for the reclassification.

It was agreed by the council to allocate less than $30 to rid the swimming area at the foot of Whittell Street of weeds with chemical pellets.

They said it would act as a "test case" for the Walled Lake weed problem and if it were successful, information on the chemical would be made available to citizens by the city.

Stops Constipation
Due to "Aging Colon"
 New laxative discovery re-creates 3 essentials for normal regularity.

As you grow older, the internal muscles of your colon wall also age, lose the strength that propels waste from the body. Stagnant bowel contents become so dry and shrunken that they fail to stimulate the urge to purge. Relief, doctors say, lies in a new laxative principle. Old-style bulk and movement may create gas, take 3 or 4 days for relief. Old-style salts and drugs cramp and gripe the entire system. Of all laxatives, only new Colosol gives you its special 3-way relief that works only on the lower colon (area of constipation).

(1) COLONADO moisturizes dry, hardened waste for easy passage without pain or strain. (2) COLONADO's unquelled rebulking action helps restore flabby colon muscles. (3) And COLONADO acts gently on the nerve reflexes that stimulate the vital "mass movement" of your lower colon. COLONADO relieves even chronic constipation overnight; is so gentle it was hospital proved safe even for expectant mothers. Medics Getting Busy Pushing Shots for Polio

CHICAGO (UPI) — A cooperative medical drive has been launched to get Americans vaccinated against polio before summer, the American Medical Association (AMA) has announced.

Dr. Julian P. Price of Florence, S.C., chairman of the AMA board of trustees, said 48 per cent of Americans have not been inoculated against polio.

"Polio epidemics remain a serious threat as long as islands of unvaccinated areas exist, even among a well-vaccinated community," he said.

Price said the AMA would join the U. S. Public Health Service and the National Foundation "in getting more people to take their polio shots."

Baptists Praise JFK for School Aid Stand

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Baptist leaders have expressed "profound gratitude" for President Kennedy's insistence that federal school aid must be limited to public schools.

The Baptist Joint Committee on Public Affairs, which represents the nation's six largest Baptist bodies, passed a resolution praising Kennedy's stand that including parochial schools in the plan would be unconstitutional.

During the election campaign, many Baptist clergymen expressed doubt that Kennedy, a Roman Catholic, would resist "pressures" from his own church.

Reporters at JFK Conferences Know What They're Doing

BY MERRIMAN SMITH
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Back Kennedy and others around the stairs at the White House.

Little wonder that President Kennedy and others around the White House have been flooded with letters complaining about the performance of the reporters at his televised and broadcast news conferences.

They look and sound much more disoriented than they really are on the scene.

This reporter, recently laid up with an attack of late winter misery, had his first opportunity in 20 years of covering the White House to view in its entirety a presidential conference on TV. This reporter also listened to the radio version.

The broadcast conference was by far the most terrifying. The jumble of sound accompanying each question suggested feeding time at the zoo. To the uninitiated, it must have sounded somewhat menacing and riotous. And here's why.

The President speaks into two microphones which pick up his sound but his own voice. Thus his words always seem to come from an atmosphere of well-tempered calm.

Questions by the reporters, however, are picked up by directional devices known as "shotgun" microphones. Their area of coverage is fan-shaped and they pick up not only the voice of the questioner, but the smallest sounds on either side of him and to the rear — coughing, turning the pages of notebooks, even whispsers.

The shotgun mikes frequently have to sweep over a wide—and noisy—section of reporters before settling on the newsmen who are being recognized by the President for a question.

Inside the conference room itself, there is little impression of extraneous noise except for the voices of reporters seeking recognition after the President completes an answer.

ELECTRONIC AGE

But to the radio listener, there is tumult each time Kennedy stops speaking. This curious situation is part of the electronic age and will continue unless a non-directional microphone is provided for every two or three reporters, and this would slow the conference as engineers cut the mikes off and on.

Viewed on television, the Kennedy news conference makes the reporters look considerably more than they are. Home viewers write in to say reporters frequently are not attentive during the questioning. It certainly looks this way at home.

Several factors, however, should be considered. The television lens has a foreshortening effect which makes objects and persons in the background seem much closer to the center of action than they really are.

Thus, while a reporter on the east side of the room is standing and asking a question, a reporter on the west side shows up in the center of the screen, eyes shaded by one hand and to all intents, snoozing.

Viewing Kennedy's last conference at home with a nonprofessional, this reporter was somewhat shocked to hear his companion say, "Look at that man there, asleep almost at the President's feet."

The man "asleep" actually was hard at work making notes in his lap, with one hand shading his eyes from the TV and movie floodlights. Furthermore, the man "asleep" was a good 60 feet from the President, not at his feet.

There have been many letters to the White House complaining that the reporters look down at the floor or their knees while the President is speaking. Corrected, up to a point.

Most of the reporters hold notebooks in their laps and are much more interested in making notes than looking at the President says than in looking at him while he speaks.

Many amateur or would-be press secretaries out across the country have written to Washington, suggesting that vocal competition among the reporters seeking recognition for a question be eliminated by drawing for numbers as they enter the conference hall.

The President would then call a number, the holder would propose his question, and the process would be repeated until Kennedy's allotted time of 30 minutes for a news conference expired.

As reasonable as this numbers system may seem to hundreds upon hundreds of Americans who have suggested it, it just won't work. Between 350 and 400 reporters attend most of Kennedy's conferences. Barely is the time for more than 20 or 25 questions.

The scramble to get those 20 or 25 numbers would match the last two minutes of the Army-Navy game for physical competition.

Also, suppose the numbers for several weeks in a row fell to reporters interested only in the problems of their individual states or home towns?

This would be most frustrating.

Zorro Kearns, the Headless Sportswriter, Rides Again

Attack-Thrust-Parry-Sorry Folks Lost My Head

(This is the third of a series of feature stories in which Zorro Kearns, sports editor of the Pontiac Press, takes the time to write about the sport of fencing. Today we feature the art of fencing. Next week we become a student of archery.)

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Touche! Touche! Touche!
The pronunciation is—TOO-SHAY (Not TOUCHY).

The translation is—I'm hit or I've been touched.

The result is—one sports-writer without his head. Whoever said fencing is a refined sport strictly for gentlemen must have had a hole in his head inside by one of Eldon Gardner's sabers, epees or foils. Lucky for the vest, gloves and mask, I might be sitting at this typewriter looking like a moth-eaten wool sweater.

Eldon probably found me to be the nicest, most cooperative guy in the world. (Who would dare be unfriendly to someone with the sharp point of an epee pointed at the heart.)

Anyway, after buckling down the straight jacket and donning the glove on my weapon hand, I gave the salute, intended as a friendly gesture to my opponent.

I knew something was wrong when I saluted and nearly cut off the corner of my forehead.

"To salute, bring the weapon straight up, perpendicular to the floor in front of the face," Eldon suggested. (It was a reasonable suggestion—if one wanted to prevent from scalping himself with the old army salute).

My first opponent after a series of fundamentals on stance, grip and objective, was Barbara Krumwiede, one of Eldon's foremost pupils, who has 8 years of fencing background.

"Ready, — fence," signaled Eldon.

Call it what you want, but I waved that blade every which way trying to get out of her range.

She thrust. I retreated. I thrust. She parried and I retreated again.

Then she thrust the foil at me again and Napoleon and his troops never ran faster out of Russia than I did out of her way.

"That was the use of foil," said Eldon.

This weapon is used mostly as a sporting device, and as a tool to teach the art of fencing.

The stance and footwork required in this sport made my thighs cramp very hard.

"Now we will use the epee," Eldon said as he donned his mask.

This is a weapon very often used and seen in movies or TV programs by our favorite heroes. (Beware Zorro, here comes Kearns.)

"The object of the epee is to puncture with a thrust, whereas the sabre is used primarily for slashing, or 'cutting,'" Eldon noted.

Oh well, I thought I might as well get punctured a few times. What a few holes through-and-through, here and there.

Before starting Eldon checked the little was of tape on the point of the weapons. I felt relieved that this puncturing business wasn't on the level.

By now my footwork was developing.

It was time to make a little attack of my own. So, I lunged.

Eldon's parry was easy. He knocked the blade from my hand and I felt his epee grazing off my vest.

I closed my eyes, felt around for any blood but learned that his weapon merely went under the arm and there was no need for alarm.

Finally we came to the sabre, the biggest of the weapons, and one that brought about clashing of steel.

This weapon was well liked by the pirates of old. There was no messing around with any wounded captives. The sabre took care of that. It merely decapitated the head with a good firm slashing stroke.

Didn't think this was any time to lose my head so I checked all gear, especially the mask.

Eldon's first thrust, which received little hindrance from my thrust by inexperienced sabre, came right between the eyes.

His sabre hit my mask and for a split second I anticipated it cutting my head in two. But my mask, of good strong screened metal, merely brought the sabre to jarring halt without even a nick.

It scored as a hit and we resumed our positions "on guard" for next bout.

In the "on guard" position, the weapon hand is extended toward the opponent with slight bend in the elbow. On the lung, the arm straightens and the extension of the forward foot moves the weapon into the target area.

I tried to be "on guard" against Eldon's lung and thrust, but after a sound of clashing blades, I retreated to get out of his sabre's target area.

"Touche! Touche!" "Arrive," Eldon shouted.

This was the cry for attack, according to the Spanish men of sword.

The attack did come. The slash of his sabre hit at the bottom of the mask near the neck, then—

(Editor's Note: Ladies and gentlemen, we regret to inform you that our sports editor, Bruno Kearns, lost his head, and thus we must end this article until next week when Kearns regains his missing cerebrum to match his wit against the bow and arrow.)

Our Fencing Artist
—Eldon Gardner

Eldon Gardner, the fencing instructor in this feature article, started fencing in 1955.

His teacher was an outstanding Austrian, Fred Rodeck, who came here as a refugee.

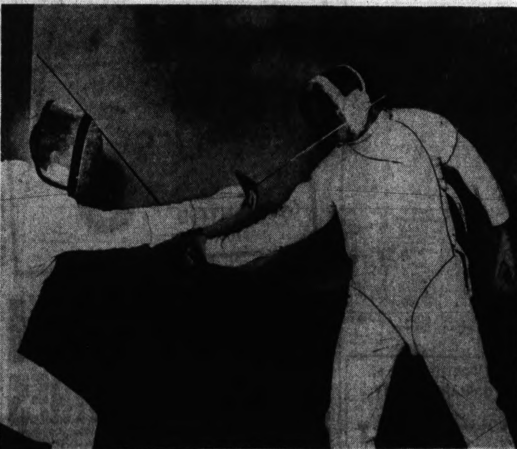

In 1948 Rodeck and Gardner set up a fencing program in conjunction with the city recreation department.

There have been many outstanding amateur fencers who have gained recognition as result of Gardner's coaching.

He is still active in the city's recreation fencing program.

Mrs. Barbara Krumwiede who helps in our fencing feature got interested in fencing 3 years ago while a student at Waterford High. She was a member of Gardner's fencing program and has participated in several AFLA (Amateur Fencing League of America) tournaments.

Tigers Play First Intra-Squad Game Today

Steve Boros Faced With Different Pressure

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Pontiac Press Sports Editor
LAKELAND, Fla.—Even though Steve Boros now realizes that he has very little competition for the third base job this season, the former University of Michigan star from Flint knows there will be just as much pressure playing for the Tigers this year.

It was a different kind of pressure in the last few years when he came to Lakeland only to be pushed out of a job by players like Reno Bertoia, Bill Martin and Eddie Yost.

He was "green" and knew his chances of staying were slim. He got plenty of help at the plate where he was weak, from ex-coach Billy Hitchcock and recently from Charley Maxwell.

"I used to practice swinging the lead-weighted bats all the time to strengthen my swing," said Boros.

Last year at Denver he hit .317 with 119 runs batted in and 30 homers. The tutoring he got and the exercise he worked at finally paid off. When the Tigers let Yost go in the draft to the new league teams, Boros became the only third baseman in the picture.

He was the best the Tigers' system had to offer and as far as coach manager Bob Scheffing is concerned, "He is our third baseman. . . . period. He's got to be ready because we've got no one else."

"Before it was the pressure of trying to make this team, now I certainly am going to try to live up to what the Tigers are expecting of me," said Boros, "and I think this is the toughest part, proving to everyone that I deserve the job."

"Boros has good speed, and he'll cover a lot of ground down around the hot corner," commented Scheffing. "For his sake and ours, I hope he has a good year because he's certainly trying hard to prove to everyone that he has earned the job."

Today, for the first time, the Tigers were scheduled to do battle among themselves.

In previous squad games, members of the "varsity" had players from the Tigertown camp of rookies as their opponents.

Scheffing has broken his 40-man roster in half for the 9-inning intra-squad game which will serve as a warm-up for Friday's exhibition opener against the White Sox at Sarasota.

The young hurlers on the roster are slated for action today, including Al Peleshak (15-4) at Denver; Bob Fafel out of the army; Jim Donohue (9-7) at Rochester and St. Paul; and Gordon Seyfried (12-9) at Denver.

Scheffing has made no definite announcement in regard to Friday's game against the Chicago Cubs as starting lineup, but it will be Hank Aguirre, Bob Bruce and Phil Regan for the Tigers and in Sunday's return game at Lakeland with the Twins it will be Jim Bunning, Joe Gar-second, Norm Cash at first and Dick Brown catching. Al Kaline, Bill Bruton and Rocky Calavito in the outfield from right to left.

For Saturday's exhibition game against the new Minnesota Twins at Orlando it will be Hank Aguirre, Bob Bruce and Phil Regan for the Tigers and in Sunday's return game at Lakeland with the Twins it will be Jim Bunning, Joe Garenda and Gordy Seyfried.

CHEERING COACH — Dave Williams, Hartland athletic director and football coach, tries in vain to boost the Eagles to victory from his scorekeeping post in the local tournament hoop opener last night. He got excited during a 3rd quarter rally. St. Fred later pulled away.

Last Four Games Crucial for Pistons

By United Press International

The Detroit Pistons, have their work cut out for them if they're going to overtake the Cincinnati Royals for the National Basketball Association's first playoff berth.

Only three percentage points separate the two teams but Detroit plays four games in the next five days to finish out the season meeting Los Angeles, Boston and Philadelphia in successive nights starting tonight. The Pistons then wind up the season on Sunday against New York.

Cincinnati, meanwhile, has only two games remaining and will have plenty of time to rest up after losing Tuesday night to the Celtics, 116-111. The Royals don't play again until this weekend when they meet the Lakers both Saturday and Sunday.

Boston picked up a $2,000 bonus by defeating the Royals Tuesday night. The victory assured the Celtics of the best won-lost record in the NBA, which gains them the extra money. In other games, the St. Louis Hawks scored a 137-126 double overtime triumph over the Lakers and the Knickerbockers withstood a late Syracuse rally to down the Nationals, 114-113.

Bill Russell with 27 points and Bob Cousy with 21 led Boston which survived a 43-point last period outburst by the Royals. Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati took game honors with 32 points.

Richie Guerin topped the Knicks, who blew a 13-point lead and then held on to break a nine-game losing streak. It was the fifth consecutive loss for Syracuse.

TV Negotiations Begin for State Game Tourney

LANSING (UPI) — Negotiations for telecasting the March 25 finals of the state high school basketball tournament are going on this week, Charles E. Forsythe, state high school athletic director, said today.

An announcement whether the games will be televised is expected late this week, Forsythe said.

The $20,000 Pensacola Open golf tournament starts Thursday with all five of the previous winners on hand. Arnold Palmer, last year's champ, shot an 8-under-par 64 yesterday in a practice round. Earlier Pensacola winners are Don Fairchild, Art Wall, Doug Ford and Paul Harney.

Detroit Tiger shortstop Chico Fernandez was expected to arrive at Tigertown in Lakeland today. If he does reach the Bengal training camp today, he will be eight days late.

Lynn Burke, Olympic swimming champion and world record holder, has announced that he is retiring from competition at the age of 17. "The thrill is gone," Miss Burke said.

The 44th annual Western Junior golf championship will be played Aug. 15-19 at Michigan State University's Forest Akers golf course, MSU officials have announced.

Arnold Palmer again leads the money winner's list on the professional golf tour with earnings of $18,600. Gary Player is second with $18 grand.

Schedule Deer Tours in Northern Areas

By DON VOGEL

Pontiac Press Outdoor Writer

Deer hunters and other interested people will get a chance to see how Michigan's whitetail population came through the winter.

The Conservation Department has announced that two more tours—March 10 and March 26—have been arranged. Five tours, starting from five different points in the northern Lower Peninsula, will be held each day. Deer yards near each starting point will be visited.

Originating points on both dates will be the equipment stations at Atlanta and Kalkaska and the department's district headquarters at Mio, Gladwin and Baldwin. The starting time for all points on both dates is 10:30 a.m.

About 250 persons turned out for a first-hand look at winter deer conditions during the first series of tours on Feb. 19.

FOUR EQUALS THIRTEEN

Hunters participating in last Sunday's Oakland County Sportsmen's Club fox hunt in Groveland township bagged four of the predators with shotguns, but at the same time eliminated nine others.

Two of the four fox were vikens. One was carrying five unborn young and the other four.

The lucky hunters were Howard Steele of Waterford, who bagged a male and female, Carl Thorberg of Wilcox and Dennis Howe of Pontiac.

A hunt held by OCSB in the same area a month earlier produced seven fox.

NEW LEGISLATION

Deer management bills are stealing the limelight in the State House of Representatives, but several other conservation measures have been slipped into the hopper.

One, if passed, would open the bass season on June 1 instead of the third Saturday in June as it is now. Under the new bill, the St. Clair and Detroit Rivers and Lake St. Clair would not open until later in June.

Also submitted is a measure to open small game seasons the third Saturday in October, instead of on specific dates. It would cover seasons on rabbits, woodchucks, pheasants, grouse and squirrels.

The Michigan Weismann Club will open the field trial season at Highland recreation area this Saturday and Sunday. Seven weekends through the first week in May have trials scheduled at the Oakland County area.

Dave Grubb of Pontiac has been busy on the field trial circuit in recent weeks.

Last weekend, his setter, Prairie Breeze, took a first at Athens, Ohio, and a second at Monroe. The Unchained Melody, a setter, was second a week earlier at Hamilton, Ohio.

Dave and his dogs will be at Killdeer Plains, Ohio, this weekend for the Tri-County open stake.

AUDUBON PROGRAM

The Pontiac Audubon Club's "Panorama of a Peninsula" will be tonight in Northern High School's Little Theater at 7:30. James A. Fowler of the Cranbrook Institute of Science will show and narrate color slides.

Illwaukee's Bob Buhl gave the most bases on balls—105—in the National League during 1960.

Red Wings Move Closer to Playoffs

Howe Sparkles in 3-1 Victory Over Boston

Bruins' Gamble Stars in Nets by Blocking 50 Shots

DETROIT (UPI) — The Detroit Red Wings aren't "in" yet, but coach Sid Abel slept a little better last night.

"It moves us that much closer," said a smiling Abel in the Wings' dressing room, referring to his club's 3-1 victory over the Boston Bruins at Olympia last night, which just about clinched fourth place in the National Hockey League and a Stanley Cup playoff berth.

"A New York loss to Chicago (tonight) will help us that much more," Abel added.

The Wings have now boosted their fourth-place margin over the Rangers to 18 points, and now need only a point in their last five games to wrap up the cup berth. New York has six contests remaining.

For the Bruins, the loss meant only assurance of a last place finish in the NHL. With six games left, the best Boston can hope for is a tie for fifth.

Gordie Howe and ex-Bruin Vic Stasiuk were the best cogs in the Wings' victory. Howe set up Alex Delvecchio and Stasiuk with goals. Norm Ullman hung up the Detroit score.

Howe's two assists marked the 14th straight game in which he racked up at least one point and left him in a tie for the club record with Ullman, who turned the trick in the first 14 games this season.

Using here of the game was Bruce Goslin (Goslin) who stopped 50 shots and thus prevented a rout. Detroit's netminder Hank Bassen had an easy night with only 22 saves.

The Wings led 2-0 at the end of the first period on Ullman's and Delvecchio's late period goals. Their 23rd and 25th of the season, respectively.

Charlie Burns tallied Boston's lone score early in the second period with his 12th of the season, cutting the Wings' lead in half. But eight minutes later, Detroit got its two-goal edge back on Stasiuk's 14th.

The Wings closed out their season series with the Bruins at Boston tomorrow night, already certain of the season edge with a 1-4-2 mark. Last night's win snapped a three-game Detroit losing streak, and was only its second victory in the last nine outings.

Marc Reame was called up from Hershey to bolster the Wings' defense and replace Warren Godfrey who aggravated a groin injury Sunday.

George's Service began the game with the required five players and finished with only four when one was sidelined by injury, but that didn't stop them from scoring a 71-69 Class B Waterford Recreation Basketball League victory over R&R Motors last night.

Will Morris tallied 20 points for the winners and R&R's Phil Felice made 20.

In another "B" contest, Jim Potot scored 33 points through the hoop to pace Kuhn's Auto Wash to a 56-52 win over Johnson & Anderson. Larowe had 10 for J&A.

Lakeland Pharmacy was handed an 83-56 lopping by the City League's 300 Lounge club in exhibition activity. Bob McManus hooped 24 points for the Lounge quintet while Lakeland's Tom Nickman caged 15.

DETROIT — Lee Putti of Pontiac took over 8th place in singles with 645 Tuesday at the American Bowling Congress Tournament. The 36 day of action started this morning at Cobo Hall.

Putti bounced back from a dismal showing in team play to move into the top group. He teamed with Red Conte for the best doubles score for Pontiac and Birmingham legions with 1179 and topped those men in all events with 1708.

Conte and Ron Rothbarth had 629 and 627, respectively, in singles. Ex-baseball pitcher Art Houtteman rolled 601 in doubles. Rothbarth had 1700 in all events.

Montclair Center of Pontiac had 2744 last night highlighted by Howard Peterson's 698. Neil Nichols was sent at 871.

Michigan entries held top spots on the big board.

A Kalamazoo pair, Joe Santeck and Eugene Chapman, stood first and second in the singles as a result of their respective counts of 87 and 661 last night.

Lawrence Apel, 32, Jackson, veteran of ABC tourneys since 1946, took over third place in all-events with 1,814, fifth in singles with 649, and shared second in doubles with teammate Darrell Larson with 1,238.

Fantasy Bowl of Detroit rolled into fourth in the five-man event with 2,853.

The classic division, limited to bowling professionals, makes its team debut tonight with two teams competing, the Sullivan of Detroit and the Anster-Wire Club of Akron, Ohio.

Appearing in the first classic team action will be such stars as Billy Coleman, present Masters tournament champion, and Thurman Gibson, recent winner of the $75,000 prize on a nationally televised bowling show.

The Sullivan, rolling as the Pledford Beer two years ago, established an ABC tournament record with a 3243 total.

Legal Property Losses Surprising

A loss from a casualty or from theft should be deducted in the year the loss occurred. If you are covered by insurance, the loss must be reduced by any recovery.

A ruling issued in 1960 holds that expenses for temporary hotel or apartment accommodations while a taxpayer's home was without heat, lights, and other utilities after a severe storm are not deductible as casualty losses.

Of course, any direct damage or expense due to the storm such as a damaged roof, would be deductible.

As noted above, losses due to theft not covered by insurance are deductible as a casualty loss. The tax court has also allowed a deduction for a loss caused by vandalism even though none of the loss was due to theft.

In that particular case, the taxpayer had purchased several expensive appliances which were placed in his new home prior to its completion. Vandals broke into the house and severely damaged the appliances, but stole nothing.

By RICHARD A. MULLENS
Property losses caused either by a casualty or theft can be shown on page 2 of Form 1040 or Form 1040V even though the property is for your own personal use.

Casualty losses include damage from fire, storm, flood, lightning, hurricane and other sudden, unexpected or unusual causes.

Thus damages from a bursting boiler or frozen pipes would be a casualty loss. The Revenue Service has also decided to allow a deduction for damage caused by the sudden infestation of termites.

You can deduct damages to your car caused by a collision unless the collision was due to your willful negligence. Faulty driving is not classed as willful negligence, but driving while intoxicated is so classified.

Record Shows Suicide in U.S. Is 11th Killer

NEW YORK — About 18,000 persons die by their own hands in the United States each year, it is reported by statisticians of Metropolitan Life Insurance Co.

This is at least twice the toll in homicides, and about 12 times the loss of life in all types of aircraft accidents. Suicide ranks 11th among the causes of death; among white males, who account for three-fourths of all self-inflicted deaths in the country, suicide ranks eighth.

The relative frequency of suicide in the United States is appreciably higher than Canada, the rates in 1958 being 18.7 and 7.5 per 100,000, respectively, and is several times that in Ireland, Greece, or a number of Latin American countries.

On the other hand, our suicide rate is no more than half that recorded in Austria, Hungary, West Germany or Japan.

Spring is the most common season for suicide, and April is the month of greatest frequency. Suicides are fewest in December.

PET DOCTOR

By A. W. Moller, D.V.M.

Q. My cat, who is three months old, walks around the house looking in dark corners and behind chairs. He doesn't like to be left alone. He whines and cries when people are not around him. Kathleen Vineland, N. J.

A. Your cat is just a little bit lonesome. After all, at three months he hasn't grown up yet. And it wasn't so very long ago that he left the warmth and safety of his mother and the companionship of his litter mates.

He just feels a bit unsure of himself. Like a small child in a strange place. Cats don't fear the dark. They have very keen eyesight and can see much more clearly in the darkness than we can.

When a cat does appear to be frightened in a dark room or when he bumps into things in the darkness, it is a good idea to have his eyes examined. Only defective vision can cause a cat to fear darkness.

X15 Sets 2,650 M.P.H. Speed Record

PLANE IN A HURRY—The X15 rocket plane hangs from the wing of its B52 mother ship before a record-breaking speed flight over California Tuesday. The 2,650 m.p.h. speed estimate may become an official 2,800 m.p.h. when the instruments are checked.

From Our News Wires

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif.—I feel certain the X15 will achieve its design mission.

That was Air Force Maj. Bob White's casual way of predicting the record-setting rocket ship eventually will fly 50 to 100 miles high at speeds up to 4,000 miles per hour.

His fringe-of-space prediction came after the handsome, dark-haired pilot's test flight of the X15's powerful new engine Tuesday.

The engine, open only two-thirds of full throttle, hurtled White across the desert sky at 2,650 miles an hour—a record for manned flight. Officials said instrument checks may revise the figure upward to 2,800 m.p.h.

Another record was set when air friction heated the plane's stainless steel skin to an estimated 700 degrees, warmest yet for a man-carrying craft.

White, 37, said his pressure suit and air-conditioned cabin kept him comfortable at all times.

"Everything went very smoothly," said White, the only man other than former North American test pilot Scott Crossfield to fly the X15 with the big engine.

"I think the only sense of speed was the acceleration sense," said White, who stuck to technical jargon in his radio communications with a control center here.

Asked if he felt any emotion as he broke the speed record, he smiled and said, "I hope not."

The X15 program calls for speed increases of 330 m.p.h. on each flight. Temperatures of up to 1,500 degrees are expected to make the X15's skin glow cherry red on future flights.

Tuesday's flight scorched the white insignia of the fuselage and blistered paint on the tail.

The X15 dropped from its B52 mother ship at 45,000 feet over Silver Lake, 110 miles east of Edwards Air Force Base. White engine was burning.

took it up to 75,000 feet for the speed run.

Two minutes and five seconds after the drop it was all over. White had surpassed his own X15 speed mark of 2,515 m.p.h.

He cut off the 57,000-pound thrust engine, soared up to 77,000 feet and began the glide back to base. Total elapsed flight time: seven minutes.

Twice before the big engine flight was called off because of mechanical difficulties after it was carried aloft by the B52.

To observers on the ground, it was difficult to trace the progress of the X15 after the drop. It was visible only as long as the rocket

Patrick Henry Down 66 Days, 22 Hours

Undersea Mark Set by N-Sub

From Our News Wires

DUNDEE, Scotland—The U.S. Navy announced today that the U.S. Polaris submarine Patrick Henry set a world endurance record of 66 days and 22 hours submerged during its trip to the new American missile sub base in Scotland.

The sub's skipper, Capt. Harold E. Shears of Groton, Conn., said the time was 12 hours better than the previous record set by the Patrick Henry's sister ship, the George Washington.

Shear said they traveled more than 11,000 miles before surfacing Tuesday night.

Liz Fights Back, May Be Out of Danger Shortly

LONDON (AP)—Stout-hearted Elizabeth Taylor appeared winning her desperate fight for life today with a steady rally against double pneumonia. There was indication she soon might be off the danger list.

Doctors said that for the first time since the 29-year-old movie star was stricken four days ago she was "sufficiently conscious to be able to assist in her own treatment."

A medical bulletin this morning from the bedside said her "condition is greatly improved and gives less cause for anxiety."

The beautiful actress made an amusing comeback during the night from the brink of death.

Just before midnight the doctors reported her condition improved but said it "still gives rise to considerable anxiety."

A few hours later they reported her improvement is maintained. She is just on the danger list.

Only an hour afterward they issued a bulletin saying:

"Her condition is greatly improved and gives less cause for anxiety. In addition, today is the first day in which she has been sufficiently conscious to be able to assist in her own treatment."

Until Tuesday the young actress was in a coma much of the time, kept breathing only with the aid of an electronic lung pumping oxygen through a tube inserted in her throat.

Can't Trace Rumors She Had Died

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—"I heard Elizabeth Taylor is dead."

That hesitant statement-question was repeated thousands of times from coast to coast Tuesday by worried men, women and children who flooded news media with calls inquiring about the actress's fight against death in a London hospital.

Widespread rumors that 29-year-old Miss Taylor had died touched off many of the calls in Los Angeles, San Francisco, Chicago, New York and other cities.

(The Pontiac Press kept no count of the number of calls it received as the rumors flowed. But a survey of those in the office who handled such calls brought an easy conclusion: There were plenty.)

Where the rumors of death originated is unknown, but they were rampant throughout much of the United States.

Veteran Hollywood reporters said they could remember no story in recent years which brought such a display of public concern.

Many of the callers displayed intense emotion when making their queries at newspapers, radio and television stations, press-service bureaus and any place likely to have news about Miss Taylor's fate.

"Is it true?" gasped some of the callers without bothering to specify just what they were talking about.

Most telephone operators didn't have to be told—they already

800 Soldiers Flown Home, Not to Congo

World Body Had Hoped They Would Strengthen Bid for Matadi/Return

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—The U.N. Congo Command bargaining position worsened today, at least temporarily, with an announcement that 800 Moroccan soldiers previously scheduled for transfer to Leopoldville would be flown home instead.

The United Nations had announced Tuesday that the Moroccans were already being flown from Katanga Province, and observers saw them as a strengthening of the U.N. demand to return to Matadi.

But today a U.N. spokesman said there had been a change of orders and the Moroccans would be flown to Morocco.

The spokesman refused to comment on reports that the Moroccans had refused to board planes to bring them to Leopoldville.

They had been recalled home previously as a demonstration of the Moroccan government's displeasure with the U.N. refusal to recognize the Stanleyville regime of Antoine Gizenga as the Congo's legal government.

Six hundred Tunisian soldiers did arrive in Leopoldville today on schedule to reinforce the local U.N. garrison.

The first of 3,000 Indian soldiers are due next week.

But 400 Sudanese troops who were bound for Congo army attacks in the ports of Matadi and Banana last week are being called home.

City Winning U.S.-Soviet Duel Parking Battle Certain in U.N.

Plans to Add Metered Off-Street Spaces Are Nearer, Says Attorney

City plans to add 60 to 70 metered spaces in off-street parking this spring have come a step nearer fulfillment, City Attorney William A. Ewart reported last night.

Ewart told city commissioners that a new State Supreme Court ruling apparently leaves only one legal knot in the court battle with private parking interests.

The high court's refusal to issue a temporary injunction, blocking further development of municipal parking lots, will be followed soon, Ewart said, by an order on the move to appeal Circuit Court Judge William J. Beer's dismissal, without trial, of the suit in November.

If the appeal is denied, all current legal roadblocks will be out of the way, said Ewart. If it isn't, the case will probably have to go back to Circuit Court for trial.

The eight-member high court voted 7-1 to refuse the injunction, with Justice Eugene F. Black dissenting.

In their suit, started last night, the private parking lot owners contended that the city has been wrongly using general funds to expand the municipal parking system. A legal victory by the private interests would slow down or halt any further development of the municipal system.

Avoiding any injunctive restrictions in the case so far, the city has been under a gentleman's agreement not to proceed with further development during the course of the legal action.

If the go-ahead signal comes, the city plans to install some 30 meters between Perry and Mill streets, just north of Pike Street, where the old police station stood until last summer; another 30 or so on the two lots purchased for parking last summer between Pine and Wayne Streets, opposite the Oakland County Jail; and 19 to 20 on the West Hudson Street lot, just west of the Detroit Edison Co. which was purchased recently to provide a main entrance to the Pine Street lot.

Africans Start Confab Seeking Answers to National Crisis

TANANARIVE, Malagasy Republic (AP)—President Moise Tshombe of Katanga Province opened a round-table conference of Congo political leaders today with a proposal that they demand the withdrawal of U.N. forces from the Congo.

"With the new military pacts between the different states we are in a position to maintain order in the whole Congo," said Tshombe, who last week joined in a military alliance with the governments of President Joseph Kasavubu in Leopoldville and Albert Kalonji in South Kasai Province.

Tshombe also asked the leaders from other provinces of the chaos-ridden country to join him in a resolution proclaiming a common front against the U.N. Security Council's latest Congo resolution.

The Katanga chieftain, whose regime is bolstered by Belgian military and political advisers and revenues from Belgian-operated mines, claimed that the resolution violated the Congo's sovereignty.

The resolution authorized the U.N. Congo force to use force if necessary to prevent civil war, called for withdrawal of all non-U.N. foreign political and military personnel from the Congo, and urged reorganization of the various Congolese armies to take them out of politics.

Restraints Lawsuit Against Colbert

Newberg Must Wait Outcome

Judge Issues Order Pending Determination of Chrysler Payments

DETROIT (UPI) — A $25-million damage suit against L. L. Colbert by a man he once hand-picked to succeed him as president of Chrysler Corp. must await the outcome of a $65,000 action against the auto firm by the same man.

William C. Newberg has been restrained from pressing his Oakland County suit against Colbert pending settlement of an action to recover part of the money he promised to repay the auto firm for alleged conflict of interest profits and halt payment of the rest of the sum.

Newberg was ousted as president of Chrysler last June, two months after he took over the job as Colbert's successor. In the damage suit he charged Colbert was using him as a scapegoat to cover up his own mismanagement and desire to return to power.

Shortly after he was ousted, Newberg agreed to repay $65,000 in alleged profits Newberg made from Chrysler while he was with Chrysler. The agreement was made on the advice of an attorney Newberg later replaced.

ISSUES INJUNCTION
Circuit Court Judge Henry L. Beers, visiting judge in Wayne County from Mississippi, issued the injunction restraining Newberg from pursuing his damage suit against Colbert until the matter of repayment can be determined in Wayne County.

The action came as a result of a petition by Chrysler and Beers agreed with the auto firm's contention that the two matters were closely related.

He ordered Colbert to post $50,000 bond, however, to protect Newberg in the event that the latter should eventually win the damage action. He also ordered Newberg to furnish $15,000 bond to protect Chrysler's interest in the $65,000 action.

Beers denied a Chrysler motion to strike some of the language in Newberg's action against the auto firm.

Winds Push Snow Into the Midwest

A border-to-border gale of easterly winds swept heavy snow into the Upper Midwest today and trapped, thunderdowns in the East from Minnesota to Vermont.

Another snow-rolling cold front in Idaho and Nevada cloistered showers in three West Coast states.

East of the front near Culman, Ala., about 35 miles northeast of Birmingham, storm winds ripped into at least 10 homes in Chulman and Marshall counties, destroyed a church at Eddy, Ala., and were blamed in injuries to at least six persons.

Driving snow sliced out of the plains into Chicago at dawn ahead of 30-mile-an-hour winds. The Weather Bureau predicted 2 to 4 inches of snow for the Windy City by nightfall.

The north central storm unleased 8 to 12 inches of new snow along Iowa's northern border and the Weather Bureau warned of heavy snow today in southeastern Minnesota, North and Central Wisconsin and Northern Michigan. Freezing rain warnings went up in southern counties of Wisconsin and Michigan.

The East's mixed wet weather promised rain or snow in Upper New York State, rain east of the Central Appalachians and thunder-showers in the Southeast.

WFK to Greet Nkrumah; First Sees Fiscal Aides

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy called his top fiscal and economic advisers to the White House today for a review of the nation's economic situation.

The meeting was the major morning appointment for the President, who also was scheduled to hold his weekly news conference at 3 p.m. and greet Ghana President Kwame Nkrumah at 4 p.m.

Kennedy prepared a red-carpet welcome for Nkrumah before they sat down to a two-hour diplomatic discussion certain to center on the Congo situation.

Along with the top honors accorded a visiting chief of state, the African leader was scheduled to receive a friendly warning about the West on the explosive nationalist issues in Africa.

Kennedy planned to go to the airport to greet Nkrumah and escort him to the White House for their late afternoon session.

Summoned to the economic discussion were Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon, Treasury Undersecretary Robert Roosa, Federal Reserve Board Chairman William McChesney Martin, budget director David Bell, and the President's Council of Economic Advisors.

Thompson offered to go anywhere in the Soviet Union to deliver Kennedy's message, and Khrushchev Tuesday invited him to fly out for a meeting.

Demand U. N. Leave, Tshombe Advises

Lumumba leader of the Stanleyville regime, which claims to control the northeast Congo, including Oriental and Kivu provinces, North Kasai and Katanga.

Gilega had been reported on route to the conference, but a letter to the conference had been changed his mind. A lower-level delegation at the conference claimed to represent him.

The Cairo office of Gilega denied they ever intended to take part in the Tannanville conference.

With the one-voiced Congo fragmented by political and tribal rivalries, Tshombe proposed that the conference establish a provisional list of Congo states recognized as being sufficiently important from the tribal and economic point of view.

Chief Koren Disagrees

By MAX E. SIMON

Are police here too tough on speeders?
That question is in the minds of many Pontiac drivers in the wake of Detroit Traffic Judge John D. Watts' contention that Detroit police should issue fewer tickets.

Watts has come out for a program whereby police would issue warning tickets for traveling 5 to 10 miles an hour over the limit. The judge said under present police policy, where drivers are ticketed every time they're caught breaking the law, fewer are qualifying for automotive insurance at normal rates.

He contended that is contrary to the public welfare.
Watts' proposals received a chilly reception in Pontiac.

World Flight Clock Time Smashed

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Max Conrad, 37, the flying grandfather, landed at Miami Airport today, completing an around-the-world flight in 8 days, 18 hours and 49 minutes.

The flight smashed a 29-day record previously held by light planes circling the globe.

A tailwind boosted Conrad and a companion, Dick Jennings of New York, in their two-engine Piper plane on the last leg of the flight from Port of Spain, Trinidad. The plane passed Miami Airport's checkpoint at 2:46 a. m. and was on the ground two minutes later.

The Winona, Minn., native and veteran sports flier was clocked off Miami Airport at 8:47 a. m. Feb. 27 on the first leg of his flight.

The flier would have arrived in Miami a day earlier had he not made an unscheduled landing Monday at Tampa, on Brazil's northeast coast, en route from Dakar, West Africa, to Port of Spain.

Conrad embarked on a 23,657-mile itinerary in hopes of cutting 20 days off the 29-day record set in 1959 by the late Peter E. Glickmann for planes in the 3,838 to 6,613-pound class, Glickmann flew a 23,656-mile route. The record was recognized by the Federation Aeronautique Internationale, governing body of sport flying.

The flying grandfather-of-five children—has ten children of his own. He learned to fly in 1928 at Denver and has made more than 75 transatlantic crossings in light aircraft.

Michigan Man to Help Map Food Stamp Plan

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI)—Frederick G. H. Meijer, a West Michigan supermarket executive, will help plan President Kennedy's food stamp project for eight U.S. cities, including Detroit.

Meijer will meet Friday in Washington, D.C., with Department of Agriculture personnel and other grocery executives to work out the distribution of food stamps and the administration of the program.

Meijer, executive vice president and general manager of Meijer Super Markets, Inc., has experience with federal food stamp projects.

Traffic Light Moved 1 Block to Aid Shoppers

In a move that the City Commission planned as a convenience to shoppers, the traffic light at Saginaw and Mt. Clemens in northern downtown has been moved one block north to Warren Street.

The State Highway Department okayed the switch and paid half the cost.

Parking meters were removed from the west side of Saginaw, between Lafayette and Blaine, at the request of the state to smooth the flow of traffic.

Under the new arrangement, there is still a pedestrian crossing of Saginaw at Mt. Clemens during a full in the traffic.

No left turns are permitted at the intersection of Warren and Saginaw.

Swainson Plan Ready for Test

To Vote on Amendment Allowing a State-Run Industrial Authority

LANSING (UPI)—Gov. Swainson's plan to boost Michigan's economic growth with a state-run industrial development authority was ready for its first big legislative test today.

The house was set to vote on a constitutional amendment to allow the legislature to put the plan into action. Chances for approval appeared near too good.

In one of the year's liveliest debates, some Republican lawmakers assailed it Tuesday as expensive and unnecessary. Some of their colleagues, with Democratic support, gave it a hearty plug.

The proposal would authorize the state to extend its credit, up to a limit of $15 million at any one time, for as much as 30 per cent of the cost of local industrial, manufacturing or municipal development projects.

Swainson asked $15 million to get the authority into operation.

Time is of the essence. The proposal must be cleared by the House and Senate is required to put the issue before the voters in the April 3 election.

State election officials say the proposal must be cleared by the House and Senate is required to put the issue before the voters in the April 3 election.

Easter Seals Coming Soon

180,000 Appeals for Crippled Children Now Being Mailed

If you live in Oakland County, chances are you'll be getting a letter from a crippled child in the next few days.

Some 180,000 Easter Seal appeals are being mailed to residents this week by the Oakland County Society for Crippled Children and its many volunteers.

The Easter Seal appeal is the only fund raising campaign in which society takes part and is its sole means of support.

Of these funds, 90 per cent go into the care and treatment, education and research programs at the local society.

The remaining 10 per cent goes to the National Easter Seal Research Foundation.

"A search into the reasons why children are born deformed is being conducted by the National Easter Seal Research Foundation," said Mrs. Elizabeth A. Kirby, executive secretary of the county society.

Mackinac Bridge Tolls Will Rise Again — to $3.75

ST. IGNACE (UPI) — The Mackinac Bridge Authority announced today it will boost tolls on the span again on May 1 — with the toll for a car jumping from $2.50 to $3.75.

Tolls had been increased only last Jan. 1. At that time the toll for a car was increased from $2.00 to $2.50.

Frederic M. Brown, authority chairman, said the new increases were recommended by a traffic engineering firm and the authority had no choice but to accept because of conditions of its contract with bridge bondholders.

Swainson Signs 1st Law

LANSING (UPI)—The first bill of the 1961 legislative session was signed into law Tuesday by Gov. Swainson. The measure appropriated $2.83 to the widow of Rep. George A. Gillespie, R-Gaines, who died last year.

The Day in Birmingham

To Open Bids March 21 on Sewer Plan Bonds

BIRMINGHAM — Bids on $13.3 million in general obligation bonds to finance the Birmingham Hills internal sewer system will be opened March 21, City Clerk Robert J. Stadler said today.

The announcement follows the approval yesterday by the State Municipal Finance Commission to borrow the funds for the sewer project.

Stadler said the city will advertise for bids on the bond purchase for the next two weeks.

New Protest Over Renewal

Union, Building Trades Don't Like Use of DPW Crew; City Gets Check

Urban renewal clearance continued today, with a city crew of eight recalled Department of Public Works workers striking the first of 10 frames homes slated for demolition before contracts are signed with professional wreckers.

Representatives from the Construction Trades and Building Workers Local 1076, AFL-CIO, protested again to the City Commission last night for the second week, claiming the DPW crew had been given to members of the local, not to recalled DPW workers.

"We don't want that your people don't work steadily at this type of work as our year-around," said George Moffat, financial secretary of the local.

Assurances that the city would try to make sure that local help is hired under the pending contracts for demolition of about 260 more urban renewal structures apparently provided some satisfaction for the labor representatives.

There were further assurances that the DPW recall was solely an emergency move to relieve unemployment before the contracts were signed. The move was approved by the federal government only for a 60-day emergency period, it was reiterated.

In another aspect of urban renewal, the city has received a check for $29,400 from the United States Treasury Department, representing a partial advance for planning costs in the proposed second renewal project in southwest downtown.

The total planning advance reserved by the federal government in connection with the project will be approved amounts to $70,010.

In the meantime, the city has received a copy of a letter sent by President Kennedy to municipal and county officials over the nation, urging acceleration of "essential" building and expenditure programs that will help reinvigorate our economy.

Emphasizing the importance of governmental spending in the economy, Kennedy noted that "local construction provides approximately 40 per cent of the total federal, state and local construction outlay of the United States, including the military."

Changes Innocent Plea to Guilty in 24 Hours

His 24-hour innocent plea of pleading guilty before Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem, R-St. Ignace, 28, of 238 Prospect St., will be sentenced March 20.

Strouman was one of six persons accused of the break-in of Lou's Drugstore, 433 S. Sanford St., on Dec. 19 in which $3,000 in cash and 88 blank money orders were stolen.

European, Japanese Compacts Popular

U.S. Cars Losing Out in Mexico City

MEXICO CITY—European and Japanese compact cars are beginning to crowd out American models in Mexico City's dizzy, daffy traffic.

The once-rich crop of Fords, Chevrolats and Plymouths is being thinned out. Even the American compacts aren't competing the well, because of government regulations, quotas and price freezes.

Ford, General Motors and Chrysler, which have dominated the car market here for 35 years, are reducing operations and their dealers are low on new cars. In the meantime, the Europeans and Japanese are rapidly expanding.

The general public's reaction is mixed. Buyers who never before could afford to buy a car naturally are pleased with the cheaper cars available.

Others, including some who shifted from low-price U. S. cars to foreign models, are not happy because parts are comparatively sky-high and often unavailable.

In some cases a new car hits the market and disappears in a few months, leaving owners with "lemons."

In addition, the new cars don't measure up to U. S. quality and many of those who can afford big cars are unhappy because they can't get them under new import laws.

Australia has more than three million square miles of domain and of this vast area an estimated one million square miles lie in the tropics.

LEG CRAMPS?

One of the most common causes of painful muscle cramps is a prolonged deficiency of calcium.

So says a famous doctor and widely-read newspaper columnist, formerly with the News and Post, and other well-known health authorities.

When meals, consistently deficient in calcium, are fortified with DYNACAL Calcium Tablets, resulting calcium-deficient muscle cramps can be promptly relieved. But don't confuse DYNACAL Tablets with ordinary calcium-phosphorus products. DYNACAL Tablets contain no phosphorus which frequently interferes with the absorption of calcium. And DYNACAL Tablets contain a special ingredient which helps to put calcium into the blood stream quicker—bringing faster relief to cramping, calcium-starved muscles. Pleasant-taste DYNACAL Tablets with calcium, glutamic acid hydrochloride, and vitamins D and C contain no drugs. They are safe, harmless, calcium food supplements. If you are suffering from muscle cramps, and suspect you are not getting enough calcium, ask for DYNACAL Tablets, today. Bottles of 90 tablets, $1.50.

Toys Become a Big Lure as Premiums

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—Don't look now, but that person peering over Junior's shoulder at the toys in the window could be a business man.

His interest is strictly in making his sales graph curve upward. Toy makers contend that their products now top the list of premiums given away each year as a stimulant for sales.

The A. C. Gilbert Co. of New Haven, Conn., says it made a survey of premiums which shows annual usage of toys running at $50 million in retail value. The Gilbert company makes toys.

The survey also reports that in the last half of 1960, use of toys to raise sales on consumer and dealer level increased by almost one-third over the previous year.

HOUSEWARES NEXT.
General housewares are the next most popular item used by business as premiums, according to the toy maker's survey.

It wasn't too long ago that the only toys used as premiums were inexpensive miniatures or small items sold through the mail for a boxtop and a dime.

Today, toys are offered you from all sides — as out-and-out gifts or at a special price. The premiums come with everything from breakfast foods to gasoline.

MANY AVENUES
You may get the offer as a credit card holder or just a cash customer. Or it may be part of a manufacturer's approach to you if you're a garage mechanic, a camera dealer, or a grocer.

In every case there's the proviso—you purchase a certain item or stock it.

The toys aren't all just geegaws by any means.

The Boddy "L" Toy Makers of East Moline, Ill., furnished a toy Texaco service station which customers of Texaco gasoline dealers bought at $3.50. The makers say that elsewhere this would retail at $1.85.

General Foods gave away 2,000 American Flyer Frontiersman model trains and trestle sets in their 1960 Post cereal sweepstakes. The maker, Gilbert, says these would normally retail for about $50 each.

Auto-Lite bought several thousand sets of Gilbert's American Flyer stock car race for dealer promotion of its spark plugs. This game has two miniature stock cars racing around a figure-eight track under remote control. Naturally each car has an auto-lite mark on its trunk. The toy maker also sold the unmarked gadgets through regular channels with a $34.95 price tag.

Union Carbide used trains with specially marked chemical tank cars to sell Prestone to dealers. Dolls helped Colgate sell toothpaste to consumers. Ford used dolls based on the comic strip, Peanuts. General Electric used Director sets to sell more photo flash bulbs.

These big toy orders tend to go to large toy makers who are more in a position to handle them. Also the big firms go in for advertising campaigns which help boost the appeal of the premiums.

Smaller firms, however, make many specialties for the premium trade.

EVEN ADULTS
But why should producers of goods largely bought by adults use toys to promote sales?

Harvey E. Rath, vice president in charge of sales for Gilbert, says: "Toys generate a whole new audience for a product, not only among the fast-growing juvenile population, but among their parents as well. If the product and price is competitive, it's hard to resist the offer of a free or bargain priced toy."

Not Cricket to Change Dinner Date

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: I would like to know if I was wrong in the following instance. I was invited to Sunday dinner at a friend's house. Several days after this engagement was made, another friend called and invited me to dinner on Wednesday.

On Saturday, the first friend called and said that something unexpected turned up and postponed the dinner to Wednesday. I called my other friend immediately and said that I could not have dinner with her on Wednesday and explained what happened.

She seemed rather put out over this. Was I wrong to cancel this second dinner engagement?

A: Yes, you should have told the friend who changed the dinner from Sunday to Wednesday that you were sorry but you had made another engagement for that night.

Q: I am going to be a bridesmaid in a friend's wedding. She would like all of the attendants to wear hats of fresh flowers in their hair instead of hats. I would like to know who should pay for these—the bride or her attendants?

A: Since they will have only limited use of the wreaths, whereas hats would be something to keep, it is unfair to expect the bridesmaids to pay for them, and in this instance the bride should pay for the wreaths.

Q: Isn't it very bad manners for people to have disagreements before others? There is a couple in our group who are forever quarreling about one thing or another and it is most embarrassing to the group.

A: Quarreling at any time is deplorable, but quarreling before others is inexcusable.

Proceeds from party will benefit the sorority's Camp Oakland fund. Tickets may be purchased at the door.

Bar Auxiliary Receives Plans

Don't Snap at Her: Abby

His Wife Wags the Tale

DEAR ABBY: I have a reputation for being a pretty good story teller and wherever I go, people ask me, "Have you got any good ones?"

I do fine when my wife isn't around. When she is, all I have to do is start telling the story and she butts in with, "You are telling it wrong." Naturally, I get all tied up in knots and can't tell it right.

I sometimes say, "All right, then YOU tell it." But this doesn't help because she doesn't really want to tell it. All she wants to do is correct me. How do you handle a wife like that?

CUT DOWN

DEAR CUT: Don't look horns in public. When you are alone together and she is in a good mood, explain that even though you might be telling it wrong, she should keep quiet. Your friends will forgive a man who butchers a story, but not a woman who cuts up her husband.

What should I do? I'd rather have her for a friend than an enemy.

STUCK FOR WORDS

DEAR STUCK: She will pile the work on you as long as you let her. Sewing is a respectable craft. Tell her you would not regard two dollars an hour as an "insult." If your friendship comes apart at the seams, don't fret.

DEAR ABBY: Nine years ago I married a girl I didn't love because she talked me into it and I didn't have the heart to back out. We have three beautiful children who mean the world to me. I have grown to respect and admire my wife, but I don't love her.

A few months ago I bumped into an old schoolmate. Before I knew it we were having lunch together. She's a widow and works near my office.

Well, we have had more than a few lunches together and now I am crazy over her. I mean I want to divorce my wife and marry her.

I feel like a heel because my wife has no family to turn to and she doesn't suspect a thing. I'd support her and the children. How can I break the news to her?

LOSING SLEEP

DEAR LOSING: You are losing more than sleep. You are losing your marbles. A man who would give up a wife and three beautiful children for a woman who would permit him to do it, needs a keeper. Stick to your own fireside, Buddy. You don't know when you're well off.

"What's your problem?" For a personal reply from Abby, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Who pays for what? For Abby's pamphlet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Bake Meat Loaf Mixture Over Sliced Potatoes

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Mix hamburger, sliced onion, salt and pepper, half the can of tomato sauce and bread crumbs. Pat down firmly over potatoes, covering them all.

Today if a woman is not happy with her hair color, she need not accept it as her fate. Hair color can be changed as you would change the style, the length or the shape. It can be a complete change, more highlights, temporary rinses or a quick spray for just an evening.

You need not hesitate to try hair color, since there is no fear of making a long-lasting mistake in the shade.

In fact, temporary rinses are fun and you can "try on" several in searching for the most flattering shade.

Zorro Kearns, the Headless Sportswriter, Rides Again

Attack-Thrust-Parry-Sorry Folks Lost My Head

(This is the third of a series of feature sports articles in which Press sports editor Bruno L. Kearns agrees to take the punishment in understanding a sport he has never before attempted. Today we feature the art of fencing. Next week we become a student of archery.)

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Touche! Touche! Touche!
The pronunciation is—TOO-SHAY (Not TOUCH-Y).
The translation is—I'm hit or I've been touched.

The result is—one sports-writer without his head.

Whoever said fencing is a refined sport strictly for gentlemen must have had a hole in his head made by one of Eldon Gardner's sabers, epees or foils.

Lucky for the vest, gloves and mask, I might be sitting at this typewriter looking like a moth-eaten wool sweater.

Eldon probably found me to be the slowest, most cooperative guy in the world. (Who would dare be unfriendly to someone with the sharp point of an epee pointed at the heart?)

Anyway, after buckling down the straight jacket and donning the glove on my weapon hand, I gave the salute, intended as a friendly gesture to my opponent.

I knew something was wrong when I saluted and nearly cut off the corner of my forehead.

"To salute, bring the weapon straight up, perpendicular to the floor in front of the face," Eldon suggested. (It was a reasonable suggestion—if one wanted to prevent from scalping himself with the old army salute).

My first opponent after a series of fundamentals on stance, grip and objective, was Barbara Krumwiede, one of Eldon's foremost pupils, who has 6 years of fencing background.

"Ready, — fence," signaled Eldon.

Call it what you want, but I waved that blade every which way trying to get out of her range.

She thrust. I retreated. I thrust. She parried and I retreated again.

Then she thrust the foil at me again and Napoleon and his troops never ran faster out of Russia than I did out of her way.

"That was the use of foil," said Eldon.

This weapon is used mostly as a sporting device, and as a tool to teach the art of fencing.

The stance and footwork required in this sport made my thighs cramp very hard.

"Now we will use the epee," Eldon said as he donned his mask.

This is a weapon very often used and seen in movies or TV programs by our favorite heroes. (Beware Zorro, here comes Kearns.)

"The object of the epee is to puncture with a thrust, whereas the sabre is used primarily for slashing, or cutting," Eldon noted.

Oh well, I thought I might as well get punctured a few times. What's a few holes through-and-through, here and there.

Before starting Eldon checked the little wad of tape on the point of the weapons. I felt relieved that this puncturing business wasn't on the level.

By now my footwork was developing.

It was time to make a little attack of my own.

So, I lunged.

Eldon's parry was easy. He knocked the blade from my hand and I felt his epee grazing off my vest.

I closed my eyes, felt around for any blood but learned that his weapon merely went under the arm and there was no need for alarm.

Finally we came to the sabre, the biggest of the weapons, and one that brought aloud clashing of steel.

This weapon was well liked by the pirates of old. There was no messing around with any wounded captives. The sabre took care of that. It merely decapitated the head with a good firm slashing stroke.

Didn't think this was any time to lose my head so I checked all gear, especially the mask.

Eldon's first thrust, which received little hindrance from my thrust by inexperienced sabre, came right between the eyes.

His sabre hit my mask and for a split second I anticipated it cutting my head in two. But my mask, of good strong screened metal, merely brought the sabre to jarring halt without even a nick.

Its scored as a hit and we resumed our positions "on guard" for next bout.

In the "on guard" position, the weapon hand is extended toward the opponent with slight bend in the elbow. On the lung, the arm straightens and the extension of the forward foot moves the weapon into the target area.

I tried to be "on guard" against Eldon's lung and thrust, but after a sound of clashing blades, I retreated to get out of his sabre's target area.

"Touche! Touche!" "Arrive!" Eldon shouted.

This was the cry for attack, according to the Spanish men of sword.

The attack did come. The slash of his sabre hit at the bottom of the mask near the neck, then—oops!

(Editor's Note: Ladies and gentlemen, we regret to inform you that our sports editor, Bruno Kearns, lost his head, and thus we must end this article until next week when Kearns regains his missing cerebrum to match his wit against the bow and arrow).

Our Fencing Artist
— Eldon Gardner

Eldon Gardner, the fencing instructor in this feature article, started fencing in 1938.

His teacher was an outstanding Austrian, Fred Rodeck, who came here as a refugee.

In 1945 Rodeck and Gardner set up a fencing program in conjunction with the city recreation department.

There have been many outstanding amateur fencers who have gained recognition as result of Gardner's coaching.

He is still active in the city's recreation fencing program.

Mrs. Barbara Krumwiede who helps in our fencing feature got interested in fencing 8 years ago while a student at Waterford High. She was a member of Gardner's fencing program and has participated in several AFLA (Amateur Fencing League of America) tournaments.
