Move to Revise Defense Treaty Delays Debate

EDC Opponents Seeking to Kill Plan During Lull in Assembly

PARIS (AP)—The French National Assembly today interrupted debate on the European Army Treaty after one of its supporters insisted on an immediate call for new negotiations to change the treaty.

This move by the group in favor of the European Defense Community Pact immediately brought a counter move by the opponents to shut off the debate and bury EDC without further talk.

The morning session of the Assembly was devoted exclusively to the questions of procedure. None of the approximately 60 orators wanting to talk about the treaty itself had a chance to speak.

Under parliamentary rules, a decision on these motions must take precedence over the rest of the debate. A truce was reached yesterday and both supporters and adherents of EDC agreed to withdraw their opposing motions to permit the general talks to proceed. This morning, the pro-EDC group had a change of heart and the resolution calling for new talks with the other five EDC nations was reinstated. So was the anti-EDC motion.

Parliamentary experts were trying to figure out a solution. Both factions were working to line up votes for their side.

The motion submitted by Alfred Chupin of the small Union of Democratic and Socialist Resistance, says that there is reason "to invite the government to follow up its efforts, prior to the vote on the treaty, for an agreement among the signing nations on the basis of the project of protocol submitted by France at Brussels and to renew with Germany the negotiations of the Saar." It proposed resuming the debate Sept. 21.

Opening the treaty debate yesterday, Mendes-France maintained his on-the-fence attitude regarding the European Defense Community Pact but he choked off several attempts to stall discussion and cleared the way for the pro-EDC faction to have its say.

The Assembly's foreign affairs committee, by a vote of 24 to 20, decided to recommend when the Assembly convenes this afternoon that it adopt the resolution by EDC foes to put off debate indefinitely. This, in effect, would kill the treaty.

Former Premier Rene Mayer was the first to accept the challenge with an urgent plea for adoption. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

McCarthy Set to Testify; Will Call No Witnesses

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) said today he will call no defense witnesses in the Senate's new investigation of his conduct which will start here tomorrow.

Flying in from Los Angeles for the new inquiry, and to learn the verdict seven fellow senators have reached in the McCarthy-Army hearings, McCarthy said he is ready to testify in his own behalf in the new inquiry, if he is requested to do so.

His hope, he told a reporter, is for a quick wind-up of the inquiry, which he termed "a great waste of time."

"I will cooperate to get this thing out of the way as quickly as possible," McCarthy said in an interview. "It holds up my plans for an active Republican campaign speaking tour, and for investigations—I can't plan anything."

"It is a great waste of time through no fault of the committee. Once the charges were made they had to be resolved, and that is the task of this committee and the Senate."

McCarthy said that "some of the things alleged" by the three senators who precipitated the new inquiry "will be admitted."

"For instance," he said, "the fact I said Sen. Flanders (speakerhead of the new move to have him censured by the Senate) was senile is unquestioned. It will be freely admitted. He can prove he's not senile."

Ohio Crash Kills Pontiac Man

David W. Jones Dies After Car Strikes Bridge Abutment

A 25-year-old Pontiac man was fatally injured Saturday night when his car crashed into a bridge abutment on U.S. 68 near Xenia, in southwestern Ohio.

The victim, David W. Jones of 38 Lynn Ave., died in Green Memorial Hospital at Xenia. His wife, Mary, 20, was treated for face cuts and his 23-day-old son, David Leon, was uninjured.

Jones' sister, Mrs. Opal Winstead of 37 Jessie St., who returned from Xenia this morning, quoted Ohio police as saying a blowout caused the crash. She said the family was on its way to Hazard, Ky., to visit Mrs. Jones' ill father.

Surviving besides the widow, son and sister are a brother, Leon of Pontiac, and another sister, Mrs. Dortha Saunders of Flint. Also surviving are his mother, Mrs. Ola B. Meacham of Pontiac; a half-sister, Sharon Ann Jones, and two half-brothers, Bobby Lynn and Tommy O'Dell Jones.

Shooters Flock to OCSC for Start of NSSA Test

By H. GUY MOATS

More than 250 skeet-shooters began firing today in the National Skeet-Shooting Association's 1954 tournament. The Oakland County Sportsmen's Club grounds took on a circus atmosphere with the tents, flags and many, many colorful outfits worn by the shot-gunners.

Today's round of firing is merely the preliminary of a week-long series of competitions, the final aim of which is the national high over-all championship.

Among the colorful shooters who arrived here during the weekend was a 6-man police team from Puerto Rico.

These San Juan skeet-shooters provide one of the most colorful groups in the entire tournament. They are led by Col. Salvadore T. Roig, police chief of San Juan, who is rated the best of the group. Others are Jaime Loyola, youngest of the group, Angel Gonzales, Capt. Alberto Guerrero, William Fernandez and Capt. Rosario Loyola Sr., father of Jaime.

At least 25 per cent of the shooters on the ground at the present time are women and girls.

One of the most colorful entrants is Graham Steele of Ft. Sumner, N. M., a 6-foot 5½-inch, typical southwestern plainsman, wearing a pinched-in plains hat and tight levis. Steele has been a national skeet-shooting contender for the past four years. He began shooting because of his interest in bird hunting. A cattle rancher, he has little time for practice but is regarded as a threat in all events. He drove here by car with his wife.

All entrants who were asked for comment on the layout here expressed the greatest admiration for the skeet fields, accommodations and the additional effort provided by the general committee. First of the formal competition begins on Tuesday, but the big events get under way Thursday, when the national high-over-all championships events begin.

Capital Airlines has scheduled flights of Viscount turbo-prop planes from the airport to Washington beginning next April.

McKeighan Due in Court Today

But Only One Witness in '46 Conspiracy Case Is Still Alive—in Florida

MT. CLEMENS (UP)—William H. McKeighan had a belated court date late today (at 3:30 p.m.) but it didn't look as though there would be anyone around to testify against the former Michigan Republican boss.

James E. Haggerty of Detroit, attorney for the former Flint mayor, promised that he would make his scheduled appearance before Macomb Circuit Judge Alton Noe on an eight-year-old graft indictment.

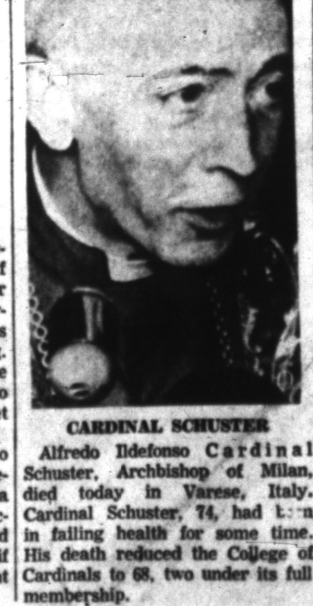

However, County Prosecutor Fred Nicholson said all but one of the state witnesses he planned to call are dead. He is Arthur P. S. Ivey, a former Mt. Clemens slot machine kinsman indicted with McKeighan. He now lives in Florida.

McKeighan, now 58, left for Florida at the height of Circuit Judge Herman Dehnke's one-man grand jury investigation into an alleged police-gambling tie-up in Macomb County. McKeighan was indicted on a gambling conspiracy charge in 1946 but escaped prosecution when his doctors repeatedly claimed his heart condition did not permit him to travel from Florida to Michigan.

The former political czar, accused of being a former payoff man in a multi-million-dollar gambling conspiracy, threw a surprise into Michigan political circles by returning voluntarily last Aug. 20. Professing his innocence, he said he was looking forward to his arraignment so he could "get this thing over with before I die."

No attempt has been made to arrest McKeighan since his return from "exile" because of a $25,000 bond. Nicholson said McKeighan would face arrest and cancellation of the surety bond if he failed to keep his appointment in Macomb Circuit Court.

Atomic Energy Law Signed; Will Spur Private Research

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today signed the new atomic energy legislation and declared it will speed the time when the atom "will be wholly devoted" to peaceful purposes.

The bill, which ignited one of the hottest congressional fights of the year, overhauls the 1946 Atomic Energy Act. One of the changes permits the government, under certain security safeguards, to give nuclear information to America's allies.

The new legislation also, for the first time, opens the door for development of a private atomic power industry within the United States.

Eisenhower, in a statement, took note of the warm debate in Congress over these provisions.

He said he feels "some misunderstandings" were revealed during the debate; and added: "I want our people to know that these provisions are designed eventually to relieve the taxpayer of the enormous cost of the commercial aspects of the enterprise, while fully protecting the public interest in atomic energy."

"In fact, these provisions carry into effect the 1946 policy declaration of the original Atomic Energy Act, that free competition in private enterprise should be strengthened."

Eisenhower expressed confidence that the new measure will be a boon to public and private development of atomic energy. It will lead, he said, to greater national strength.

"Programs undertaken as a result of this new law," the President declared, "will help us progress more rapidly to the time when this new source of energy will be wholly devoted to the constructive purposes of man."

Supporters say one immediate effect will be to stimulate the development of electricity from atomic energy. But even the most optimistic guesses are that commercially feasible power from atomic machines is still several years away.

While the basic objectives of the measure were not questioned, a (Continued on Page 2, Col. 2)

Staid Capital Popping With Revelry as Legionnaires Swarm to Convention

By WILLIAM L. UMSTEAD

WASHINGTON (INS)—Staid Washington took on a festive air today for one of the biggest, noisiest and gayest events of its history—the 36th annual American Legion convention.

Legionnaires by the thousands began pouring into the city over the weekend and roamed its tree-lined streets with blaring bands and just about every type of noise-making device, including giant firecrackers.

The motorized locomotives of the 40 and 8, the Legion's famed fundraising organization, sped down the avenues with their bells clanging while calliope parked at the curbs kept up a steady stream of music.

Whistles shrieked and bagpipes squealed late into Sunday night on the eve of the formal opening of the four-day convention, and it obviously was only the beginning.

Charm's Town & Country Store for Men, Tel-Huron Shopping Center. Open every evening 'til 11.

Incoming traffic choked the streets, an estimated 40,000 visitors already have arrived and at least another 110,000 are expected to be on hand Tuesday for the big parade down Pennsylvania Avenue.

For the nation's capital, it definitely is something new. The city has more than its share of conventions as well as the presidential inauguration ceremony every four years, but this is different.

It has more of the spirit of the carnival, and less of the formal, dignified atmosphere of an official welcome to a foreign statesman or returning military hero.

And Washington greeted the legionnaires with open arms. Its buildings were decked out in bunting and "welcome legionnaires" banners, and police were under orders to be especially courteous and lenient.

Just to throw in an extra touch, the city fathers added another government building to the list of illuminated landmarks such as the Capitol, the White House, Lincoln Memorial and Washington Monument.

Legion National Commander Arthur J. Conneli threw the switch to turn on 500 built-in lights to illuminate the outside of the National Archives. The building will remain lighted until 10 p.m. each night.

The festivities will reach their peak Tuesday afternoon and night when the giant parade gets underway. About 75,000 persons are expected to participate in the 12-hour long line of march.

Massive Force Heads Program in '55, Vets Told

Cautions Legion That Country Must Create Bulwark Against Reds

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower told the American Legion today that creation of a mighty military reserve as a bulwark against communism will be "a No. 1 item" on his 1955 legislative program.

"We have failed miserably to maintain that strong, ready military reserve in which we have believed for 150 years," the President declared in a speech prepared for delivery at the Legion's annual convention.

"Now, at long last, we must build such a reserve. And we must maintain it. Wishful thinking and political timidity must no longer bar a program so absolutely essential to our defense."

Then he said: "Establishment of an adequate reserve—an objective for which the American Legion and other patriotic organizations have vainly fought for a generation—will be a No. 1 item submitted to the Congress next year."

In his speech to fellow legionnaires, many of whom served under him as supreme commander in Europe during World War II, the chief executive promised: "This reserve will not unfairly burden men who have already served. This administration will see to that."

The President said that for a century and a half the United States has prided itself "on its refusal to maintain large standing military forces."

"We have relied, instead, upon the civilian soldier. But we have done so without being fair either to the private citizen or to the security of the nation."

That plan called for every able-bodied young man to put in a military service stint and then join the reserve. The White House said at the time the program Hannah set forth as a plan to thwart any Soviet aggression was under consideration by the National Security Council but that no final decision (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

Arabs Shunning Defense Tieups

Egypt's Nasser Says Middle East Is Afraid of Western Colonialism

WASHINGTON (AP)—Egyptian Prime Minister Gamal Abdel Nasser said today the Arabs want no part of a Middle East defense tieup with the major Western powers because "our people . . . consider such an organization . . . just colonialism in disguise."

Lt. Col. Nasser said he told U. S. Secretary of State Dulles "any sort of defense of this area in which one of the major powers is a partner will end up by being to the disadvantage of us and of the rest of the free world, because the Communists will have an opportunity to stir up hate against such a partnership."

Nasser's views on this and other Middle East problems were set forth in a copyrighted interview with the weekly news magazine U. S. News and World Report. Nasser was interviewed in Cairo.

The 36-year-old Egyptian leader said similar objections would apply to any proposed link with the new Turkey-Pakistan alliance because "Turkey is in the North Atlantic pact, where the big powers are."

Further, Nasser said any extension of the Turkey-Pakistan alliance to include Iran and Iraq would meet with Arab objections because it would mean that Iraq would leave the Arab League.

Special Assessment District to Be Hot Issue for Tonight

From Our Birmingham Bureau
BIRMINGHAM — A filled City Commission room is anticipated for tonight when a hearing will be held on creating a special assessment district to defray costs of resurfacing pavement on Fairfax, Suffield, Pilgrim, Puritan and Lake Park, all in Quanton Lake Estates subdivision.

Pros and cons of improvements for the subdivision have been debated for several months, with a difference of opinion over what is necessary for improving the area, both drainage and pavement-wise.

A proposed agreement for joint operation of the city's sewage disposal plant by Birmingham and Bloomfield Township will be presented to commissioners.

The possibility of the S. S. Kresge Co. leasing its 18-car parking lot to the city for a five-year period will be looked into tonight.

Dems Back High Price Supports

Candidates to Congress in Midwest Promise Return to Rigid Props

SIoux FALLS, S. D. (UP)—Democratic candidates for Congress from 15 Midwestern states today pledged to work for re-establishment of high, rigid price supports on farm products.

Though they got no solid support for their views from Adlai Stevenson, the three dozen nominees for the Senate and House made the pledge yesterday in a joint statement after a party agricultural conference here.

Rigid price supports were knocked out by the administration's new farm bill, signed only last Saturday by President Eisenhower.

Stevenson, the Democrats' 1952 presidential nominee and titular leader of the party, indicated in his speech closing the conference Saturday night that he did not know the permanent formula for keeping farmers prosperous.

"Perhaps," he said, "the solution does not lie in the just the alternatives of the so-called flexible supports demanded by the administration and the 90 per cent supports."

His own feeling, Stevenson said, was that the war-born high supports should have been kept "at this time" as a stabilizing influence.

Current supports, due to expire at the end of the year, are at 90 per cent of parity for major crops. Under the new law, they may vary from 82.5 and 90 per cent in 1955 and from 75 to 90 after that. Parity is a price declared by law to be fair to farmers in relation to prices they must pay.

Most of the Democratic leaders attending the conference said they felt 90 per cent supports were necessary. Among those expressing that view in open meeting were U.S. Senators Humphrey of Minnesota and Gillette of Iowa, former U.S. Sen. George McGill of Kansas, and former Secretaries of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard and Charles F. Brannan.

Robert Smith, 19, of 28405 Maitland St. and his brother, George, 17, pleaded guilty Aug. 16 to breaking into a drive-in at 26431 North-western Highway.

Their companion, Theodore Huesing, 18, of 28418 Sheridan St., Garden City, pleaded guilty to the same charge Aug. 23.

Atomic Energy Law Signed by President

number of its provisions ran into heavy challenge, especially in the Senate. Much of the argument followed the theme of the long standing controversy over public vs. private power, with the bill's opponents crying "private monopoly" and its defenders saying it promoted "free enterprise."

The bill specifically approves a politically explosive proposal for the AEC to contract with a Southern utility group for a new private steam plant at West Memphis, Ark., to supply the Tennessee Valley area with another 600,000 kilowatts of energy by 1957. The power to serve the Memphis, Tenn., area, would go over Tennessee Valley Authority lines. TVA in turn would send equivalent power to the Paducah, Ky., atomic plant.

The proposed 107-million-dollar contract came under heavy attack during the marathon Senate debate, and more recently from Democratic National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell. The Joint Atomic Committee still must pass on the contract.

Ike Unwraps Plan for Big Reserve

had been reached on whether to submit it to Congress in that form.

Eisenhower interrupted his Colorado vacation for 24 hours to fly back to Washington to address the nation. In his address he also gave France another prod in the hope of winning ratification of the European army project by that nation.

Without mentioning the country by name, he said progress on the 6-nation project "has not fulfilled our hopes." He also declared that in the struggle for free world security and peace, "neither the ups nor downs justify any slackening of our efforts."

Dealing with the European situation and collective security generally, he said:

"The safety of any single nation in the free world depends directly on the substantial unity of all the nations in the free world. No nation outside the Iron Curtain can afford to be indifferent to the fate of any other nation devoted to freedom.

"If each, ignoring all others, pursues only its own course toward its own ends, the Communists have unlimited opportunity to turn the full force of their power upon any selected victim. Each, beginning with the weakest and most exposed might then succumb in turn, until the strongest of all — ourselves — would be left alone to face a hostile world.

"The final result would be fearful to contemplate. We will never permit it to happen."

He said that because of the strength and the wealth of the United States, it has imposed upon it a heavy share of the whole burden of free world security.

Then, turning to how the United States measures up to the task, he painted this bright picture:

"Today the United States has the most powerful and the most efficient fighting force it has ever maintained short of all-out war. In fact, in some respects it is the most powerful ever developed."

"We have an Air Force of growing effectiveness. It has 50 per cent more jets than last year. It possesses awesome power.

"We have a mighty Navy, with 13,000 active aircraft. It is a world leader in nuclear propulsion.

"We have our strongest peace-time Army, equipped with modern weapons, trained under modern doctrine. It is capable of carrying out its assignments in the modern world.

"We have a Marine Corps, tough and strong, rightly proud of its esprit and readiness.

"All this power is supported by developing intelligence and warning systems of constantly increasing effectiveness and scope."

It was just after painting that picture, however, that Eisenhower said "we have failed miserably" to maintain a large, powerful reserve.

He opened his address with a statement that "clear recognition of several important truths" is basic to an analysis of the world situation.

He listed those truths as:

1. The Communist dictatorship—"ruthless, strong and insatiable"—is determined to establish its sway over all the world.

2. The same dictatorship "is adroit in its selection and use of every imaginable weapon to achieve its ends." The President said that, for example the Communists spend $50 on propaganda for every single dollar the United States spends on telling the story of the democratic way of life. He said America "must preach, demonstrate and tirelessly sell the vitality and value of freedom in the world."

3. The vital importance of collective security welding the free nations together.

4. From the free world's resources must be developed the many kinds of strength—spiritual, intellectual, economic and military—required to oppose successfully "the broad front of Communist pressure."

5. America's key position in any successful struggle to thwart Communist aggression.

Eisenhower spoke of Red subversion abroad and at home and said effective steps are being taken to crush it. Referring to the situation at home, he said:

6 Youths Jailed for 21 Breakins

Placed on Probation for 3 Years, Ordered to Pay $150 Costs

Six youths accused of 21 Oakland County breakins during a three-month period each received 30 days in Oakland County Jail today when they appeared before Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty.

They were also placed on three years probation and ordered to pay $150 costs.

Each of the boys pleaded guilty to breaking and entering in the nighttime charges Aug. 23 before Judge Doty.

Ed McIntosh, 17, and his brother, Elmer, 18, both of 309 Decker Rd., Walled Lake; Joseph W. Dressler, 18, of Grand Rapids, and Frank E. Hinchman, 17, of 1405 E. Lake Dr., Walled Lake pleaded guilty to a tavern breakin July 17 in Farmington Township, which netted them $26.

Paul Sherbert, 17, of 43 Willow Camp, Walled Lake and Lester Combs, 18, of 200 Willow Camp, pleaded guilty to the theft of about $80 from Cal's Recreation at 411 Pontiac Trail, Commerce Township, May 17.

The group admitted committing the breakins while operating in teams and implicated two 15-year-old boys. They are in Oakland County Children's Home where they were sent following a Juvenile Court hearing.

State Police of the Redford Post said the gang admitted burglaries totalling more than $1,000 after their arrest Aug. 13, and that tires valued at $200 have been recovered.

if he can and wants to."

Asked how many witnesses he plans to call in the inquiry McCarthy said:

"I have none to call. If they want me to appear I will.

"I will, of course, attend all sessions."

Flying back from Los Angeles to attend the inquiry, McCarthy told a reporter he sees no reason why the new investigation should be a long one.

He was accompanied on the trip by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Vogeler, who said they came in only in the roles of well wishers and friends.

Vogeler left later in the day on a flight to New York, and did not indicate whether he would be back to attend the hearings.

Vogeler is the American businessman whom the Hungarian Communist government imprisoned two years ago.

A reporter asked whether Vogeler will join McCarthy's Senate investigation subcommittee staff or have any part in the hearings.

"Bob is just a good friend," the senator said.

A special bipartisan committee headed by Sen. Watkins (R-Utah) planned a closed-door meeting later in the day to complete plans for the scheduled start tomorrow of public hearings on a resolution to censure McCarthy for what Sen. Flanders (R-Vt) has charged was conduct "unbecoming a senator" and tending to bring "disrepute" on the Senate.

tion of the treaty. With 69 more speakers to be heard from, the debate is expected to last at least until Wednesday.

Mendes-France declared that defeat of EDC would in no way solve the question of German rearmament.

"The problem of Germany and its rearmament won't be automatically settled," he declared. "Sooner or later, the problem will arise again in one form or another. He is indeed slippant who would vote today for or against without reflecting on all the consequences of his decision."

Mendes-France spoke bitterly of the Brussels conference, labeling it "painful and humiliating," but he said the Assembly must take a position on EDC so France's allies will know where she stands.

Leading off the pro-EDC lineup, Mayer pleaded with the Assembly not to do what the United States did in rejecting the Versailles Treaty after World War I. That act, Mayer declared, delayed the "Grand Alliance" by 30 years.

Rebel May Face Added Charges

Filipino Prosecutors Say Huk Leader's Sentence Is Not Satisfactory

MANILA (UP)—State prosecutors today said they were preparing fresh charges against convicted Communist Huk leader Luis Taruc, the wily rebel who was sentenced yesterday to 12 years imprisonment and a $10,000 fine for rebellion.

Government prosecutors said they were not satisfied with the sentence imposed on Taruc by Judge Gregorio Narvasa of the Manila Court of First Instance. Taruc was convicted only of charges of rebellion. He had pleaded guilty to a 23-count indictment including murder, kidnap, arson and robbery.

The prosecution earlier asked that life sentence be imposed on the 40-year-old dissident, who surrendered last May. The defense said they were satisfied with the sentence.

Taruc, who eluded government forces for eight years, made an impassioned appeal for social justice in a 25-minute address to the court last Friday when he was arraigned.

He was listed by the army as the third-ranked leader in the Huk hierarchy at the time of his surrender.

Berrien May Vote Again on Two County Projects

ST. JOSEPH (UP)—The Berrien County Board of Supervisors will decide Sept. 13 whether voters should again ballot on proposals to finance construction of a new county building and home for the aged.

Voters defeated a $2,500,000 proposal in the Aug. 3 primary election. Some observers believe it was defeated by about 1,200 votes because both projects were offered on one proposal. A board subcommittee will recommend that the proposal be split to have voters ballot separately on the courthouse and infirmary.

Farm Exports Show Increase for Fiscal Year

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Foreign Agricultural Service reports the United States continued to increase its farm exports during June.

During the month, 267 million dollars worth of farm commodities were shipped abroad. This was an increase of 36 per cent over the value of exports for June, 1933, and a six per cent upsurge from May exports.

Since June was the final month of the 1933-34 fiscal year, shipments for June put the total value of agricultural exports for 12 months at two billion 932 million dollars. This was a four per cent increase from 1932-33.

Major strides were made in building up cotton exports. The 452 thousand bales shipped abroad in June marked a 95 per cent increase over the 232 thousand bales exported the previous June.

Increases also were registered in exports of cheese, dried milk, eggs, tallow, lard, apples, grapefruit, pears, raisins, and currants, canned fruits, grain sorghums, wheat, cottonseed oil, fresh vegetables and canned vegetables.

Plan State Fair Parade Along Bi-Partisan Lines

DETROIT (UP)—The Michigan State Fair Parade probably will be bi-partisan despite the fact that fair general manager James M. Hare is running for Secretary of State on the Democratic ticket.

Hare extended an invitation to the state's Republicans to join Democrats in the parade and leading GOP figures have indicated the Republicans will accept the invitation.

"I don't see why any Republican should be hesitant about accepting the invitation to take part in the parade," Republican National Committeewoman Mrs. Rae Hooker said. "I don't think Hare is a factor."

The three-mile long parade is scheduled to start from downtown Detroit, break up after it passes the main business district, and reassemble to march through Highland Park.

Military units, civil defense units, Boy Scouts, the Plymouth Kiltie Band and Dutch klompen dancers from Holland, Mich., will take part in the parade.

Political figures, military officials and entertainment stars will ride in open convertibles in the parade.

The 1934 parade will be the largest in the history of the fair.

Convenes Jury in Prison Break

Boston District Attorney Calls for Investigation in Elmer Burke's Escape

BOSTON (AP)—Dist. Atty. Garrett H. Byrne hurriedly convened a grand jury today to pin the blame for what he called the "fantastic and unbelievable" jail escape of Elmer (Trigger) Burke, a scrawny but notorious New York gunman.

To deliver Burke, two men broke their way through four locked and barred doors and through a section of bars which had been sawed some time ago and held together with chewing gum until Saturday.

As soon as the two accomplices reached the jail's recreation yard, where Burke was strolling, the gunman dashed toward them and all three ran out to a waiting car. Witnesses said a man dressed like a woman was at the wheel.

Burke was at the jail awaiting trial Sept. 13 for possession of a machine gun. Police said he used the gun to spray some 40 slugs at Joseph "Specs" O'Keefe, a Boston hoodlum who once was listed as a prime suspect in the $1,219,000 robbery of Brink's money headquarters more than four years ago.

After Burke was picked up here, New York police identified him as the man wanted for playing a drinking companion and for questioning in about five other New York slayings.

Boating Industry Is Riding Crest

Dollar Sales Headed for Record as Millions Take to Water

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—Some auto dealers are having their sales problems. But the boating industry isn't.

Sales are booming this year as some 23 million Americans take to the rivers, lakes and bays. Dollar sales volume seems headed to a new record and into the billion-dollar bracket for the first time.

The National Assn. of Engine & Boat Manufacturers estimates that sales are running 25 per cent ahead of last year's record 800 million dollars.

One New York dealer in marine engines says his sales are double last year's. A hot item this year is the runabout that holds the entire family and sells under $500. Boating becomes more and more a family venture.

In the putt-putt section of the industry, the Outboard Boating Club of America estimates sales of outboard motors this year at around 120 million dollars, a 20 per cent gain over 1953.

About four million outboards are putting around now. The club puts production of new ones this year at 500,000 and expects 1957 output to reach 700,000.

In Milwaukee, 1957 is the target of the Evinrude Motors Division of Outboard, Marine & Manufacturing Co. of Waukegan, Ill. It is doubling the floor space of its plant, after having seen its sales climb 178 per cent since 1951.

W. J. Webb, general manager, says: "Manufacturing motors for boat owners is a continuous job of engineering and testing. We analyze the market's potential two years in advance of production of a single new motor."

Webb is now planning the schedule to start in October 1956 (the industry thinks of its year as running from Oct. 1 to Sept. 31) to meet what Webb sees as the likely demand for the summer of 1957.

John W. Mulford of Detroit, president of the National Assn. of Engine & Boat Manufacturers, says members report that this year buying has leaned strongly toward motors ranging from 16 to 25 horse power.

The growing eagerness of Americans to skim over the water is traced to many things: continuing and wide-based prosperity, more leisure time, larger families, revival of family life and the trend to participating in sports rather than watching them.

Army in Japan Set to Receive 4,011 War Dead

TOKYO (INS)—American technicians in Japan prepared to receive bodies of 4,011 Allied war dead the Communists will turn over starting Wednesday in "Operation Glory" at Panmunjom in Korea.

The Reds will receive the remains of 14,000 of their own dead. The work of positive identification will take place at a quarter-master graves registration laboratory at Kokura, Japan, where civilian and Army technicians sought the identities of 27,000 war dead during the Korean War.

Under the terms of the exchange agreement, the Communists are obliged to include with the dead bodies all personal items which could help identify them.

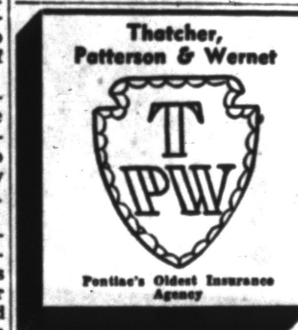

An Army spokesman emphasized that in no instance will American authorities assume the identity of a body on the basis of uncheckered, Communist-furnished evidence.

CADILLAC (UP) — Mrs. Mary Morehouse, who may be Michigan's oldest resident, is 104 years old today.

Mrs. Morehouse, who reads without glasses but is unable to walk, said there would be no special observance of her birthday.

"I've had so many birthdays, I've stopped counting them," she said.

"She's as sharp as they make them," said Mrs. Ellen Wilson, a Cadillac Evening News reporter who interviewed her.

Mrs. Morehouse, born on a farm near Hastings in 1850, puts up her hair in curlers every day and takes the curlers out herself.

She lives with a daughter, Mrs. Maude E. Eley. Also living in the home are a grand-daughter, Mrs. Arlene Shier, and two great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Morehouse said she has 12 great-grandchildren and so many great-great-grandchildren that "I can't keep track of them."

Sally Palmer Speaks Vows Saturday

Robert John Bull Claims His Bride in Christ Church

Sally Fredricka Palmer was gown in Alencon lace and tulle over white satin Saturday evening as she approached the altar of Christ Church Cranbrook to become the bride of Robert John Bull.

She is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Hayden Duncan Palmer of Ottawa Drive, and Dr. and Mrs. Frank Lees Bull of Sparta are his parents.

The Rev. William C. Hamm of St. Mary in the Hills Church performed the eight o'clock candle-light ceremony before an altar decorated with white chrysanthemums and roses.

The molded bodice of the bride's gown was fashioned with illusion neckline and accented by pearl and iridescent embroidery. The tulle skirt was paneled with lace and swept into a chapel length train. A half crown in petal motif of hand-fashioned French silk illusion, trimmed with pearl drops, secured her fingertip veil of silk illusion.

A prayer book with cascade of white Album lilies and stephanotis was carried by the bride.

Mrs. John Joseph O'Brien of Royal Oak attended the bride as matron of honor. Other attendants were Nancy Schwarzer of Cass City, Jacqueline Grant of Eaton Rapids, Marianne Swanson of Minneapolis, Minn., Mrs. Fraser MacKinnon of St. Johns and Ann Stowe of Munnith. The attendants wore waltz-length gowns of teal blue taffeta with matching shoes and headpieces. They carried bouquets of fuji chrysanthemums and Johanna Hill roses.

Hayden D. Palmer Jr., brother of the bride, served as best man. Mr. MacKinnon of St. Johns, William Swanson of Newberry, William Bow of Saginaw, Charles Hubbard of East Lansing and Charles Switzer of Sparta, seated the guests.

Japanese lanterns illuminated the garden of the Palmer's home on Ottawa drive where white satin and floral garlands draped the buffet tables for the reception.

Mrs. Palmer received the guests wearing a gown of champagne lace and tulle with matching accessories. Bronze cymbidium orchids were pinned to her purse.

A gown of pale blue silk organza was worn by Mrs. Bull, who chose a corsage of pink cymbidium orchids.

The new Mrs. Bull changed to a dark blue ensemble with burgundy accessories and a white orchid corsage for the wedding trip. Upon their return they will reside in Ann Arbor.

The bride is a graduate of Albion College where she was affiliated with Alpha Xi Delta sorority. John is a graduate of Albion College where he was a member of Delta Tau Delta fraternity. He is now attending University of Michigan Medical School and is a member of Nu Sigma Nu, medical fraternity.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, approached the altar wearing a gown of Chantilly type lace and nylon over slipper satin. The ballerina length gown was fashioned with a princess style bodice and long sleeves pointed over the hands.

A matching lace and satin cap held the bride's elbow length veil of nylon net and she carried a chapel bouquet of white glamelias.

Charlotte Chamberlain was the bride's only attendant wearing a white lace and net gown and carrying a bouquet of deep red glamelias.

James Rattledge of Keego Harbor served as best man and the guests were seated by William Girtman.

Mrs. Mack received the guests, at a reception held in the home of the bride, wearing a gray taffeta dress with black accessories and a corsage of salmon pink glamelias. Mrs. Webb wore a charcoal linen suit with gray accessories and a corsage of yellow glamelias.

For a honeymoon trip to Ohio and New York, the bride wore a black linen princess style dress with white accessories and the corsage from her bridal bouquet. Upon their return they will reside on Whittemore street.

Part-Time Domestic Now Under Social Security

Dems Accused of Seeking to Hamstring Anti-Red Laws

By JACK BELL
CINCINNATI (AP)—National Chairman Leonard W. Hall keynoted a Republican party campaign pep rally here today by accusing congressional Democrats of using "vast cunning" in attempts "to make our anti-Communist legislation unworkable."

Hall called on party committeemen and state chairmen to "re-affirm our standing pledge of campaign ethics." But he said in a speech prepared for a workshop conference here that the Republicans are "not going to hang up the gloves" in what President Eisenhower said was the "crucial struggle" for control of Congress. As a possible example of what he had in mind, Hall said he was happy to report that the Republicans have "no ragtag, bobtail hangers-on of the left wing ADA (Americans for Democratic Action) persuasion to confuse us with calls for recognition of Red China and for scuttling the administration's hard-hitting antisubversive program."

The GOP chairman did not spell out his indictment fully, but his thrust about making anti-Communist legislation "unworkable" obviously was aimed at Senate Democrats, headed by Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, who forced through a measure to strip the Communist party of its legal rights.

The Democrats did not succeed in getting final approval of their original proposal to make membership in the party a crime. The measure, as amended, stripped the Communist party of legal status. But Democrats hailed its passage as a political coup which would answer Republican charges they had been soft toward the Reds.

Republicans had complained that as originally drawn the bill would have hampered prosecution of persons who did not register under the terms of the Internal Security Act. Eisenhower signed the amended measure with the observation that he had been assured it would not impede such prosecutions.

Eisenhower sent congratulations to the more than 100 GOP party leaders attending the conference here on their "determination to prepare thoroughly for the forthcoming campaign."

"Your workmanlike, determined, earnest approach to the crucial struggle before us is tremendously heartening to me and I am sure to all loyal Republicans everywhere," he said in a message to Hall.

The President expressed confidence that Republican workers' "combined efforts this fall to continue to strengthen America at home and abroad will surely be crowned by overwhelming success."

Hall got down to cases with a prediction to a conference of Western committee members that the Republicans will gain from 15 to 25 seats in the House, where the lineup now stands at 218 Republicans, 213 Democrats, 1 independent and 3 vacancies.

He said that in his view "the Senate looks better than the House," so far as Republican chances go, since he said several Democratic senators — including Humphrey in Minnesota and Paul Douglas in Illinois — are seeking re-election in states where the Republicans have control of the state governments.

Hall sailed into the Democrats for what he called "shameful" and "indecent" attacks on Eisenhower in connection with the President's order to the Atomic Energy Commission to go ahead with a contract with the Dixon-Yates syndicate for a private plant to produce power in the Tennessee Valley Authority area.

Stephen Mitchell, the Democratic national chairman, has called this a "raw deal" because he said the power could be produced by the TVA for millions of dollars less.

As other Republican leaders have, Hall stressed a peace-and-prosperity slogan for GOP candidates.

He said the Eisenhower administration had "stopped inflation dead in its tracks" while at the same time making a readjustment from the Korean War economy to a peacetime economy.

"Militarily, our forces have been shrewdly redesigned and deployed to meet any global threat," he declared. "Our crushing military budget has been personally scrutinized by a soldier-president who knows his country's needs."

ALL IN A DAY'S WORK—Proving anything can happen in the daily life of a pipeline walker, Tom Hill of Milford discovers a tobacco grower along the route of the Austin field to Detroit pipeline. Hunter Harmon shows Hill a sample of his second crop now drying in his barn. Some of the leaves are 12 inches wide and 20 inches long. This crop was raised from plants started by Harmon's brother in Kentucky. He raised his previous crop from seeds. Harmon grows his own tobacco on the former Mickey Cochrane farm near Milford.

Pipeline Walkers Hike Across Country Making Sure Gas Gets to Destination

Tom Hill and Al Spitz of Milford like to walk and it's a good thing they do. They cover a lot of Oakland County seldom seen by others as they track through the back country of Highland, Milford, Lyon, White Lake, Commerce, West Bloomfield, Farmington and Southfield townships.

They're pipeline walkers for the Michigan Consolidated Gas Company and continually march up and down the company's right-of-ways which connect the underground storage fields of Central Michigan with Detroit and Ann Arbor.

It is their job to see that all the gas which goes in one end of the pipeline gets to its destination. Swamps, forests, farms and villages dot their path as they hike along at the rate of about 1,200 miles a year. They make sure there are no gas leaks, clear weeds and brush, and maintain the pipeline markers.

Using a leapfrog pattern, the two men drive their radio equipped truck to the point they left off the previous day. One man gets off the truck while the other drives to a point along the path of the pipeline a couple miles away.

The first man walks toward the truck while his partner walks away from it, both following pipeline route markers. Upon reaching the truck the first man then drives the truck a couple of miles ahead of the second, parks it and walks the next stretch.

Radio-equipped trucks are used to keep in contact with their headquarters in Detroit and production and pipeline division of the company in Big Rapids, which alert company emergency crews of police in the event they discover a gas leak, accident, forest fire or other mishap.

The walkers can usually find any leak in the mains by either vegetation coloring, smell or sound. But just to make sure, the gas company also has a patrol plane that covers the routes of the various lines every other week.

Although most of the farmers are friendly, the walkers know of one or two who refuse to allow them to cross their property. "At first there were quite a few," recalls Hill. "But now we have gotten acquainted with most of them and they are fine people. They know we are out there to protect their property."

Walking in the hot sun calls for an occasional break and a chat with the farmers along the route. On one such stop Spitz discovered that Hunter Harmon, who farms near Milford, had a rather unusual crop for this neck of the woods—Kentucky burly tobacco.

Harmon's farm, formerly owned by Mickey Cochrane, ex-Detroit Tiger manager, produced leaves a foot wide within 200 feet of the pipeline.

Harmon claims it is as good as Kentucky grown tobacco, and he has last year's crop drying in the barn to prove it.

Another stop is often made at the Arnold Cogger farm near South Lyon where the boys can always get a cool drink at the well and check on the progress of Cogger's latest litter of pigs.

One farmer who is lucky he has the pipeline running through his farm is Lester Perdue of Ashley, Gratiot County.

In November, 1952, Perdue was operating a tractor-drawn corn picker from the ground when the tractor went into reverse and crushed him between its spinning wheels and the corn picker.

Perdue's foot was nearly amputated by the wheels when pipeline walker Don Rhodes of Owosso rescued him and rushed him to the hospital in St. Johns.

Under the new law—the number of days worked by any domestic employee for any household will make no difference. The only test on whether tax has to be paid is whether the domestic earned $50 or more from the household. For example:

Mary Jones, who works as a maid one day a week for several households for $7 a day, misses some days because they don't need her or because she's ill. But say she worked for Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Kelly and Mrs. Adams in 1953's first quarter.

She earned more than $50 from each of them in that three-month period except Mrs. Adams, who didn't need her often. Mrs. Adams paid her $49.

Then Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Kelly must all pay a 2 per cent tax on Mary's earnings from them. And in each case Mary must match that by paying a 2 per cent tax also. On the $49 earned from Mrs. Adams neither Mrs. Adams nor Mary has to pay a tax.

In every case it is the housewife, not the maid, who must actually send in the tax money. The maid can give the housewife her share or the housewife can deduct the maid's share out of the maid's pay. The housewife can pay the maid's share as well as her own, if she wants to.

The payment must be given the government before the end of the month following the calendar quarter in which $50 or more was earned. For instance, the tax on the earnings of a domestic employee in the first quarter of 1955 must be paid before the end of April 1955.

Frightened away when a burglar alarm went off, two men fled Ed. Creque Motor Sales, Inc. in Holly early today empty handed, Oakland County Sheriff's deputies reported today.

A neighbor saw two men fleeing after the alarm sounded. Deputies said the pair entered through a rear window. The alarm was set off when they smashed a window in a door leading to the firm's office.

Acting Attorney General William P. Rogers made that point today in pledging that the Justice Department will act against underworld kingpins and others "as rapidly and forcefully as possible."

Rogers, who heads the Justice Department while Attorney General Brownell is on vacation, noted that the 1,066 criminal tax cases handled by his agency in the past two years are a record high for any comparable period.

Two former high tax officials were caught in the enforcement drive. They are Joseph D. Nunan Jr., former commissioner of Internal Revenue, convicted of evading $91,086 in taxes, and Denis W. Delaney, who was sentenced for evading taxes while collector of Internal Revenue for Massachusetts.

Also jailed was Arthur H. Samish of San Francisco, self-styled "secret boss of California" who was found guilty of tax evasion from 1946 through 1951.

Heading the list of racketeer overlords who felt the tax bite is Frank Costello, the suave New Yorker, who was sentenced and fined for evading taxes for 1946 through 1949.

Frank A. Erickson, a top betting commissioner, faces a stiff jail term for attempting to evade taxes for the years 1945 and 1946. Another nationally known bookmaker, Harry Gross, was convicted earlier this year for failing to file a 1950 tax return.

Benny Binion, notorious southwest gambling racketeer pleaded guilty to evasion of his own and his wife's income taxes and was finally sentenced and fined after a long legal tangle.

Also receiving stiff sentences were Alex (Shondor) Birns, rated Cleveland's No. 1 hoodlum, and Paul Dillon, a 76-year-old St. Louis attorney, who secured paroles for four former members of the Al Capone crime syndicate.

BUZZY BEARD—Beekeeper Earl Kellogg was threatened with Kangaroo Court recently when he didn't have a beard to show at a contest at the Floyd County Centennial in Charles City, Iowa. A smear of honey around his face and a walk through his 54 hives quickly provided him with a crawling crop. He dared doubting judges to stroke his buzzing beard. They didn't.

Barefoot Girl in Mink

That's Ex-Farm Gal Ava Gardner

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD (NEA)—"I'm between pictures" is a popular Hollywood phrase.

But for the "Barefoot Girl With Cost of Mink"—sultry Ava Gardner—a more appropriate line is: "I'm between headlines."

The latest hot-as-the-weather chapter in the movie glamour queen's career sounds like a plot from one of her own zippy movies. During a quickie six-week Nevada residence to divorce skinny crooner Frank Sinatra, the small town girl from North Carolina:

Dated millionaire Howard Hughes on a tour of Reno.

Lost $11,000 playing roulette.

Made faces at two private detectives disguised as fishermen in a row boat, who spied on her Lake Tahoe hideaway. Who hired them is still a mystery.

And—entertained a wealthy, 28-year-old Spanish bullfighter who followed her to the U. S. from Madrid and who is believed to be in the ring for husband No. 4.

"This is Your Life," Ralph Edwards says every week on television. If he ever says it to Ava, and rattles the skeletons—wow!

The cast would include: Three former husbands—film star Mickey Rooney, seven-times-married "King of Swing" Artie Shaw (Ava was No. 3) and the bow-tied singer Sinatra.

A collection of boy friends headed by Howard Duff, Hughes, Richard Greene plus several other movie profile kings, and two Spanish bullfighters — emotional, poetry-writing Mario Cabre and the currently in favor Luis Miguel Dominguez.

From Ava's scrapbook would be: Faded and torn photographs of a barefoot girl on a tenant farm in Smithfield, N. C. — and comment on how she still prefers bare feet to high heels.

Snapshots of a teen-aged secretarial school student and an Atlantic Christian college co-ed. New York modeling photographs. Hollywood cheesecake.

Memories with her first meeting with Frank Sinatra at a Palm Springs party when, it has been printed, "they left together, firing a revolver out the window of Frank's automobile."

There would be time out for David O. Selznick, the movie producer, to come in and repeat: "She supplies the need and hunger of a kind of glamour girl."

More memories of Ava hiding her face with her hands while peeking at pugnacious Sinatra hurling threats at news photographers and reporters everywhere.

Memories of police arriving at Sinatra's Palm Springs mansion to quite a moonlight ruckus.

A copy of one of bullfighter Cabre's poems to Ava: "It was a dream, I caught, Between my hands, When it came to me On a tender breeze."

Then, time out for the fruits of Ava's fame — movie box-office champion and recognition as one of the nation's 10 most beautiful women. Praise for her acting and glamour in such movies as "The Killers," "Whistle Stop," "Show Boat," "One touch of Venus," "The Hucksters," and "Mogambo." Laughs is about her first movie role in a corny East Side Kid flicker, now on TV.

At 31, Ava Gardner has been in more headlines than any movie doll since the late Jean Harlow.

What's the story behind those headlines? Is Ava, who once described herself as "a strange little hillbilly," a headline-happy girl? Is she the victim of movie press agents? Or, like the movie ads like to say, was it one of those "Bad For Each Other" things during her hectic two-year, nine-month marriage to Sinatra?

The last theory may be the most accurate, although Ava, who likes men and makes no secret of it, shines in the spotlight.

Yet she snaps: "Nobody is going to run my life—the studio or the press."

She's yelled about "bum raps" from the press and it was "scandal-mongers" when she was discovered eating spaghetti with Sinatra in Texas before Nancy Sinatra filed suit for divorce a week later.

"It makes me rage," she raged. "When people say I broke up Frank's home. His home was broken up before I had anything to do with him."

After her divorce from Rooney, then one of Hollywood's top stars, she defended herself with: "The press crucified me. They said I was a gold-digger, and that I wanted to further my career and a lot of stuff that wasn't true."

As a barefooted tenant farmer's daughter in a small southern town, Ava Gardner's rise to Hollywood stardom was real Cinderella stuff. In 1940, her brother-in-law, a New York photographer, took some pictures of 17-year-old Ava and put them in his studio window.

An MGM talent scout saw them and the studio ordered a screen test.

Free Booklet Tells What
New Miracle Transistor
Means To The Deaf

CHICAGO (Special)—New hope for the 15 million persons in the United States who are hard of hearing was voiced by S. M. Posen, noted Chicago acoustical scientist and president of the Beltone Hearing Aid Co.

He revealed that a new "atomic age" all-transistor hearing aid, eliminating all vacuum tubes and costly B-batteries, has been unveiled.

This revolutionary new tubeless electronic wonder for the deaf is sound powered by three tiny minuscule transistors and cuts all battery costs 80%.

To acquaint the hard-of-hearing readers of this newspaper with what this amazing new invention, the transistor, means to them and how it enables them to hear again with a clarity and ease they never dreamed possible, full authoritative details are described in a fascinating new illustrated booklet. It will be sent in a plain wrapper without any cost or obligation.

To obtain your free copy, simply send your request to: Electronic Research Director, Dept. 734A, Beltone Hearing Aid Co., 2900 W. 36th St., Chicago 32, Ill. A postcard will do.

May Do More With Liebman

"Never Worker Harder, Never Worked Harder, Betty Bubbles Over

By JACK GAYER

United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP)—It's a good thing that viewers in general can't sit down and listen to Betty Hutton talk about her first television show. They might find the show itself, no matter how good, anticlimactic.

The blonde dynamo's bubbling personality is potent enough even when she has nothing in particular to bubble about, so you can imagine what she can do with such materials as the first original hour-and-a-half musical written for TV, the first of several 90-minute "spectaculars," color TV and Max Liebman, her producer and head man of the departed "Your Show of Shows" program.

"This is the greatest," the movie star exclaimed as she took time out from the rehearsals in an air-conditioned hotel ballroom. "I've never worked harder in my life, and I've never been happier in my work."

"Max is just about the wisest and most understanding producer I ever worked with. We seem to think alike. We'll both turn up at a rehearsal with penciled notes for changes in the script, and usually we've made the same changes.

"If this works out, I might settle down to doing three big TV shows a season. But only with Max. I've considered many television offers in recent years, but it wasn't until Max began talking to me about this project that I felt I had met someone with enough TV knowledge and desire for perfection to make it possible for me to enter a new medium with the utmost confidence."

"But we're pre-recording the songs just like in the movies," the star explained. "That's the only way to get the best sound in singing. This is the first time that will be done for a complete TV show, although I think Max did it for an occasional number when he was doing 'Your Show of Shows.' My voice, and those of the other singers, will be fed from a soundtrack as we mouth the lyrics."

Miss Hutton is ecstatic about the score, incidentally. It consists of nine songs for her written by Jay Livingston and Ray Evan, movie songwriters who have won Oscars for such numbers as "Buttons and Bows" and "Mona Lisa." If one number heard at the rehearsal, a bouncy foot-tapping thing called "The Little Rock Roll," is any proper sample, she has a right to be enthusiastic. "There couldn't have been any closer collaboration in fitting songs to a performer," she said. "We all live in Hollywood, and we've been working on them since May. Every note and word has been tailor-made in daily conferences."

Murder Charge Faces Detroit Stepfather

DETROIT (UP)—Police said a murder warrant would be sought today against a 22-year-old youth who admitted during a lie test that he beat his two-year-old stepson to death.

Detective Charles Schlachter of the homicide bureau said the youth, Leander Hale, told him he beat
