Soviets Play Propaganda Tune, Fire Satellite Toward the Moon

Heard in Ortonville?

UPSETS CHAMPION — "Here H-O-O-G-G-I-I-E-E," screams Mrs. Leona Hutchings of Ortonville as she registered one of the biggest upsets in the 110-year history of the Michigan State Fair by winning the 1959 hog calling championship. Pitted against Andy Benoit of Wixom, Mrs. Hutchings yelled so loud and so clear that the judges gave her a blue ribbon without hesitation.

Hollers Whole Hog to Capture Contest

Mrs. Vernon Hutchings, 41, of 1625 Hadley Rd., told of her victory in a booming whisper:

"I gave all I had, and it was outdoors against a strong wind, too."

Her cries reached the ears of the crowd of 43,376 yesterday at the Fairgrounds as she dethroned Andy Benoit of 51680 Grand River, Wixom, who has been hog-calling champion since 1954.

Benoit finished fifth and refused to accept the low place ribbon. He angrily left the Fairgrounds when the winner was announced.

Mrs. Hutchings won a first place blue ribbon and a $10 prize which she says she will use to buy tulip bulbs.

A former Oakland County 4-H Club member, Mrs. Hutchings lives with her husband, an electrician at Pontiac Motor Division, on their 20-acre farm.

They have 20 brood sows and the champ says she has had practice calling 150 hogs each day.

Mrs. Hutchings said of Benoit, "I'm sorry he was such a poor sport.

"He threw his ribbon down when they gave it to him. It's all just for fun. Every fair should have a hog-calling contest."

Enrollment Up in Junior Highs

City Schools Will Be Overcrowded Until 2 Additions Are Finished

An enrollment increase in the Pontiac public school system this year over last will result in overcrowded conditions in the junior high schools.

Dr. Philip J. Proud, assistant superintendent of schools, today disclosed a 500-pupil increase, amounting to 17 per cent, was felt at the 7th, 8th and 9th grade levels.

"The enrollment in the elementary and senior high schools remained about the same," said Proud, while the anticipated increase in the junior highs has been realized this semester. He said:

"The Board of Education foresaw this situation and additions to the Madison and Washington schools are now under construction. A completion target date has been set with the contractors for next summer.

"However, we are ahead of schedule and it is hoped that some of the facilities will be available by the middle of the year and at the start of next semester. Overcrowded conditions will hold until then."

WON'T CUT TIME

Proud said the junior and senior high schools will remain on the six-period day, nevertheless, and that "we are not cutting the pupils' time in school."

A factor in the enrollment increase on the junior high level, Proud explained, is the influence of returning veterans of World War II.

The present situation also indicates a 25 per cent increase of 1,000 students in the two senior high schools over the next three-year period.

The Board of Education announced that 19,115 students reported for school in the Pontiac system yesterday. In addition, 150 students enrolled in special education classes.

A "typical increase" of 400 to 450 students to a total of 19,700 is expected by the fourth Friday in September, the date by which state aid based.

While the junior high enrollment climbed to an additional 500, approximately 150 less students than was expected will be in elementary school classes. High school enrollment remains the same.

The end result is a net increase in the Pontiac schools this year of 300.

There are approximately 3,050 students in the city's two senior highs, 4,000 in the five junior highs and the remainder in the elementary schools.

Seeking Action Against Hoffa

Contempt of Court Case Request Is Brewing in Monitor Group

WASHINGTON (AP) — The monitors of the Teamsters Union reportedly plan to seek contempt of court action Monday against union President James R. Hoffa to get compliance with their reform suggestions.

The monitors, named by the courts to police the 1½-million-member union, are expected to tell a U.S. Dist. Court judge Hoffa has defied their cleanup orders.

A monitor source said Friday night they had held two meetings this week with Hoffa, trying to get him to agree to their suggested reforms.

One point at issue, it was learned, was a deposit of $400,000 in a noninterest bearing account in a Florida bank. The money belongs to Hoffa's home local No. 299 in Detroit.

The monitors have directed Hoffa to withdraw the money and put it to work bearing interest for the local's members.

Fair Visitors Favor State-Run Lottery

LANSING (UPI)—About 65 per cent of Michigan State Fair visitors asked whether they favored a state lottery to raise money for public schools and hospitals said they did.

Secretary of State James M. Hare said today the vote was 325-176 in favor of the lottery.

Need for More School Taxes Is Studied Here

Board of Education to Determine Requirements for Next 5-Year Period

The Pontiac Board of Education is studying the necessity of a hike in taxes for support of the school system over the next five-year period.

Maintaining that school income from local taxes is growing smaller each year while costs are going up, the Board has begun a study to establish millage requirements through 1964.

Research findings should be brought before the Board for its recommendations in about two months, according to Dr. Otto C. Hufziger, assistant superintendent of schools.

If the Board deems a tax millage increase necessary, a vote will be asked next spring.

The declaration of shrinking income and rising costs and a recent Board of Education publication stating "the only way open to your Board of Education to restore lost income is by a tax increase" indicates such a measure will be taken.

'FINANCIAL PROBLEM' CITED

The Board has acknowledged that "a financial problem has arisen which could stop school improvement."

A previous Board study cites the present 18.75 mills tax rate as inadequate.

"For several years, each year the equalized valuation of your school district has gone down by $15 million," the report states. "Each year since 1957-58 school income has gone down by $275,000 over the year before."

Income from local taxes is gotten by multiplying the equalized valuation of the school district by the tax rate. If equalized valuation is reduced, the study showed, then the number of dollars of income the schools receive is reduced.

BOARD DOESN'T CONTROL

The Board of Education has no control over school district valuations (determined by city and county officials) and cannot prevent loss of income brought by declining valuations.

Sunny Weekend to Brighten Our Weather Picture

Sunny skies will greet area residents for the next few days with high temperatures in the low 70's. The low tonight is expected to dip to near 52.

Fair and warmer with a high of 74 degrees is the forecast for Sunday, the weatherman said.

A pleasant weekend is predicted throughout Michigan with no rain expected before Tuesday or Wednesday.

At 1:15 p.m. winds were northeast at two miles an hour.

The lowest temperature in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 47 degrees. At 2 p.m. the thermometer registered 72.

Bloomfield Girl Skips Wedding

A Bloomfield Township woman, in the East studying romance languages, fled Boston in a hurry yesterday, just hours before she was to become the bride of a multimillionaire.

Siri von Reis, 28, daughter of Gustav von Reis, president of the Detroit Broach & Machine Co., Rochester, today was as hard to find as an explanation for her sudden bolt from matrimony.

Her father, of 1150 Westview Rd., who had entertained heavyweight champion Ingemar Johansson at his Fort Lauderdale, Fla. home after Johansson's victory over Floyd Patterson, wouldn't confirm the report one way or another.

In Milton, Mass., the husband-to-be, Arthur G. B. Metcalf, 51, president of the Electronics Corporation of America, admitted he and Siri had a tiff. He said the wedding had been postponed indefinitely.

He claimed he wasn't aware that Siri had left for Detroit from Boston's Logan Airport at 5:15 p.m. The twice-married Metcalf said he had no intention of trying to reach Siri.

A Boston newspaper said Miss von Reis ran out of her Cambridge apartment under the escort of two detectives reportedly sent here by a Detroit doctor. Her bridal bouquet was left behind.

Reportedly, the newspaper said, her sudden departure followed a last-minute reconciliation try which fizzled.

Convicts' Work Was All in Vain

WHERE TUNNEL WAS DUG — The dotted line from the dye plant at the Southern Michigan Prison in Jackson to within 10 feet of the wall shows where convicts had dug a 50-foot tunnel which was discovered by prison officials Friday. The tunnel was about four feet beneath the surface and three feet wide by three feet deep.

Suspected Ringleader Has Break Record

Grill Detroiter in Jackson Escape Plot

JACKSON (AP)—A Detroit convict with a long criminal record was questioned today as the suspected ringleader of an escape plot at Southern Michigan Prison.

Discovery yesterday of a 50-foot tunnel within the walls nipped the plot. The tunnel ended within 10 feet of the north wall of the 6,500-inmate prison.

Officials questioned Melvin Kellner, 34, star pitcher of the prison baseball team who has had four felony convictions and who has an escape record.

Kellner, held in solitary confinement, is serving 7½ to 15 years for robbery armed. When he finishes that sentence he'll start another of 3 to 6 years for an escape from a trustie farm.

About 30 convicts must have taken part in the escape plot, officials said.

The convicts started digging several months ago. Prison guards became suspicious earlier this week after noticing that several convicts would disappear in the area of the dye plant on weekends. The guards began looking for a tunnel.

DISCOVER ENTRANCE

The entrance of a three-by-three foot tunnel was discovered in the sub-basement of the plant. The excavation had been carefully camouflaged.

Warden William A. Bannan said the convicts apparently worked in pairs on weekends. One worked with a trowel in the tunnel, scooping dirt into a canvas bag which was pulled out by another convict.

The dirt was spread on the floor of the sub-basement which contains pipe valves. The tunnel worker had an electric extension cord to provide light from an outlet in the sub-basement.

The tunnel was shored up with slats ripped from wooden crates. The convicts apparently hoped to complete it sometime in November.

The tunnel ran four feet below the ground at the same level for about 20 feet, then slanted down to go under the eight-foot thick concrete wall. It would have come out at a spot midway between two watchtowers, within 75-yard range on each side of machineguns and rifles.

TROUBLE AHEAD

The convicts would have encountered considerable trouble attempting to complete the tunnel, Bannon said. He said they would have had to go so deep under the prison wall they would have had trouble solving the problem of muck and water. The steel reinforced wall is set about 10 feet deep.

Prison officials discovered a similar excavation near the same spot about four months ago. It had only penetrated about 10 feet.

Thirteen convicts escaped through a prison sewer in 1953. All were recaptured within six months.

In April of 1952, the prison was the scene of a five-day mutiny that ended with the release of eight hostage guards. The mutiny was accompanied by burning and pillaging as more than 6,000 prisoners rioted. Damage was estimated at two million dollars.

It is the world's largest walled prison.

Timed Nicely With Nikita's Visit to U.S.

It's Bad Period of Year —Technically—for Good Lunar Hit Odds

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union fired another rocket toward the moon today and said it would help open the way to interplanetary flights.

This new rocket was launched into space at 25,162 m.p.h. on the weekend before Premier Nikita Khrushchev makes his heralded visit to the United States.

The announcement of the new launching made no mention of any passenger, not even a dog such as previous Soviet rockets had carried.

There had been suggestions in the West that the Soviets might launch a man into space to coincide with Khrushchev's arrival in the United States.

The Soviet Union apparently took a calculated risk in firing a moon shot at a time that will provide the most propaganda value for Premier Nikita Khrushchev's U.S. visit.

Some scientists here said that the Soviet space experts picked the least favorable time—from a strictly technical viewpoint — for hurling the rocket into space today.

The United States fired a rocket carrying a 13-pound satellite past the moon and into solar orbit last March 2. It sent back clear radio signals from more than 400,000 miles out in space and then went dead four days later.

The United States is reported to Say State Must Make 100,000 New Jobs a Year

MACKINAC ISLAND (AP)—A team of experts, after a long, hard look at the state's economy, said today Michigan must develop 100,000 new jobs a year for the next decade if it is to overcome its No. 1 economic problem—unemployment.

Prof. William Haber of the University of Michigan and Eugene McKean and Harold C. Taylor of the W. E. Upjohn Institute for Employment Research, said that with the state population expected to reach 10 million by 1970, some 3,800,000 jobs must be available if there is to be full employment.

Their report on "What's Ahead for Michigan" was made public at the Michigan Municipal League convention here. It represents 18 months of work sponsored and financed by the W. E. Upjohn Institute.

Shifts in defense work, decentralization of the automobile industry and automation have taken a heavy employment toll since Michigan's peak employment year of 1953, they said.

By mid-1959 when the rest of the country was well out of the 1958 recession, Michigan lagged behind. Of some 8 million persons in the state in mid-1959 only 33.5 per cent were at work. That means, the report stated, that Michigan right now needs to fill 400,000 jobs before it reaches full employment.

With such a handicap and with another 1,100,000 new jobs to be found in the next 11 years, what is in store for the state?

Hoople's Back

Deep in thought, Major Ames Barnaby Hoople, noted pigskin authority, studies the spiraling football world. From such studies as this, the peerless prognosticator derives his weekly football forecasts.

Once again the old boy defies all readers to try to beat his predictions, which will appear every week on the sports pages of this newspaper.

Self-styled Upset Champion of the World, the Major sprinkles his selections with predictions that seemingly defy all logic. But beware! He didn't give himself that title for nothing. Through the years he has correctly forecast some amazing upsets.

Watch for Major Hoople's football picks beginning with the games of Saturday, Sept. 19.

Courthouse Bids, Welfare Top Supervisors' Agenda

New courthouse bids, the 1960 budget and a study report on social welfare cases will be the major items of business for the Oakland County Board of Supervisors when it convenes Monday.

David Levinson, chairman of the board's Special County Building Committee, will recommend acceptance of two new low bids, totaling $3,740,800, for the general and mechanical work on the three-million-dollar courthouse. An electrical contract bid of $308,900, submitted in April, has already been accepted.

Supervisors are expected to shy away from another legal fight which brewed in June when they voted 70 to 4 to accept a bid other than the low bid for the general construction.

A $32,900 difference this time between the lowest and second lowest bid in this field is expected to be convincing enough to give the largest of the three contracts to O. W. Burke Co. of Detroit, Levinson will recommend this be done.

The 83 representatives of the county's cities and townships will first hear a resolution informing them that they will meet again in special session Sept. 21 to pass on the trimmed 1960 budget.

It comes to $12,626,784, or $1,279,800 less than the allocation budget supervisors passed on in April.

The huge cut—$608,700 of it came off the social welfare department—developed when the Tax Allocation Board declared a freeze on tax rates, giving the county .85 mills less than what was needed to meet the preliminary budget.

Actually, Monday's session will see nothing more than acceptance of copies of the budget.

Next week's meeting might produce some debate as some supervisors have watched closely hearings at which the Ways and Means Committee chopped off and added appropriations.

The welfare report is the result of a meeting held by the board's welfare committee in Lansing back in January. A study was requested in order to determine whether there were any "chiselers" on the county's rolls, which have decreased in size since the study was begun.

Although the report has not been released yet, a source close to it said the study uncovered very little chiseling among welfare recipients.

Bond Rate Hike Gets Approval

Joint Action by Both Houses Ups Chance of Monday Adjournment

From Our News Wires

WASHINGTON — House-Senate conferees agreed today on a compromise bill that would permit President Eisenhower to raise interest rates on government E and H savings bonds.

It would allow the treasury to boost interest rates on series E and H savings bonds to a ceiling of 4¼ per cent. These bonds, the types held by many individuals, now pay a top of 3.26 per cent. The treasury has announced it plans to hike the rate to 3¼ per cent.

The increase will apply to all of the $42,500,000 of outstanding bonds, as well as those bought in the future.

STAND BY

House leaders, anxious to adjourn today, kept their members on a standby basis to act on any legislation sent over from the Senate.

The civil rights fight was over an attempt by some senators to tack an extension of the expiring civil rights commission to a $3,691,269,508 foreign aid money bill.

The amendment would extend the life of the controversial commission for two more years and put up $500,000 for the group's expenses. The commission, which aroused southern ire with a series of anti-discrimination recommendations this week, will die Nov. 8 unless Congress acts.

Cities Appeal to State for Quick Fiscal Relief

MACKINAC ISLAND (AP) — Officials of hard-hit Michigan cities beamed an SOS today to the state Legislature.

They urged the Senate and House Taxation Comittees to start drawing up without delay a fiscal relief program for local governments.

Sparkplugs of the appeal, although vague as to exactly what they wanted, apparently hoped for a broad grant of non-property taxing power, including authority to levy a local income tax.

A Michigan Municipal League statement of policy adopted yesterday on state-local fiscal relations called on the two legislative groups to act jointly.

It urged them to work cooperatively with spokesmen for cities, villages, townships and counties, and to ready a program for the 1960 legislature meeting in January.

BACKS 50-50 SHARE

The league went on record for return to a 50-50 state-local sharing of relief costs, a formula abandoned two years ago when the Legislature put 70 per cent of the load on local governments.

A few months ago, lawmakers rejected a plea for equal sharing after the cost to the state dollars.

Despite some opposition, the convention called anew for legislative approval of the modified Virginia Plan for annexation through judicial determination. The proposal passed the Senate this year, but died in the House.

It also urged a special constitutional convention to overhaul the state's 1908 basic charter.

Delegates closed the business session of the 61st annual league meeting by electing four new trustees. They were Councilman Edwin W. Niemi of Hancock, Mayor Stanley J. Davis of Grand Rapids, City Manager Jack Patriarche of East Lansing, and Finance Director Wesley Rausch of East Detroit.

The 12-member board then elected Don K. Gothro, Grayling Mayor, as the organization's new president, succeeding Kalamazoo Mayor Glenn S. Allen Jr.

SHEEN SPEAKS

At a banquet session last night, the city officials heard the very Rev. Fulton J. Sheen and bestowed honors for distinguished service to the league.

Roy C. Eastman, former Ann Arbor planning director; City Attorney Howard Vielmetti of Norway and Carl Face, former Saginaw finance director, were given awards of merit.

Honorary life memberships were awarded to Henry J. De Vette, superintendent of North Muskegon and Bruce D. Garbitt Ferndale mayor.

Renewed demand for the defeated annexation legislation was voted only after Alexander Petri, Ecorse councilman and Democratic legislator strongly criticized the proposal as destructive of a basic democratic principal — that of self-determination.

Citizens collectively should have the say-so by their votes rather than giving a leading role in expansion of city boundaries to a visiting circuit judge and a municipal administrative agency Petri said.

Other delegates argued judicial determination would take emotionalism out of annexation disputes.

SIDETRACK RESOLUTION

After discussion, delegates sidetracked a proposed resolution to oppose the so-called K12 education plan pending a satisfactory strengthening of annexation laws. It was referred to league trustees for further study.

The K12 plan would force dissolution of grade school districts and attachment of their territory within three years to neighboring school units offering classes from the kindergarten level through the 12th grade.

Science or Propaganda? Soviets Shoot at Moon

U.S. TRY IN OCTOBER

The American moon rocket launching is expected to come in October. This satellite would be rocketed into the vicinity of the moon and, if all goes well, into orbit around the moon. This launching is to be with an Atlas-Able rocket.

United States scientists have made several lunar probe launchings. On Aug. 17, 1958, the U. S. Air Force fired a Thor - Able rocket toward the moon but it blew up at 50,000 feet after 77 seconds of flight.

On Oct. 11, 1958, the Air Force fired another Thor-Able rocket. It was intended to circle the moon and return to earth. It rose to 71,300 miles and fell back to earth.

On Nov. 8, 1958, the Air Force made its third try. The third stage of this Thor-Able rocket failed to fire and the probe reached only 1,000 miles high.

On Dec. 8, 1958, the U.S. Army fired a Juno rocket in a path designed to bypass the moon or, with luck, to hit it. The rocket failed to fire all its fuel, reached 66,654 miles and fell back to earth.

Today's Soviet moon rocket was the Soviet Union's second attempt. On Jan. 2 the Soviets announced firing a 1½-ton satellite into orbit around the sun. It pressed close to the moon. Radio contact with this first Soviet moon shot was lost at 374,000 miles.

RUSSIA EXCITED

Today's announcement electrified Russia, which is preparing an enthusiastic sendoff for Premier Khrushchev.

While there was no living creature in the rocket its various parts were crammed with scientific instruments designed, among other things, to make studies of the magnetic fields of earth and moon. Soviet scientists appeared confident the shoot will be successful.

The announcement, for which all Moscow Soviet radio programs were interrupted, said: "In accordance with the program for space exploration and preparations for interplanetary flight, the Soviet Union today successfully launched the second space rocket.

"The rocket has been fired to study the cosmic space en route to the moon."

"It is expected to reach the moon at 12:05 a.m. Moscow time Sept. 14," the announcement said. That is 4:05 p.m. Sunday, Eastern Standard Time.

The moon is a target about 2,160 miles in diameter about 240,000 miles away from the earth.

Like the first Soviet cosmic rocket, fired the first of the year, the new one will shoot out a sodium cloud that should be visible from the earth, the announcement said. Tass said the cloud would appear tonight at 9:39.42 p.m. Moscow time — 11:39 p.m. Eastern Standard Time.

The path of the rocket also can be "observed and photographed by optical means" using light filters and the line of the element natrium on a spectrographic camera, Tass added.

But it will not be visible over the United States, the announcement added.

ENERGY SCOURCE SECRET

To Seek Action Against Youths

Prosecutor Will Ask for Warrants Covering 6 of 8 Detroit Negroes

DETROIT (AP)—Warrants will be recommended against six of eight Negro youths now held in connection with a street fight with police Thursday night, Wayne County Prosecutor Samuel H. Olsen said today.

Olsen did not specify the specific charges. However, it was reported they would involve inciting to riot.

Three youths were arrested Friday night and held with five previously taken into custody. All eight are teenagers.

As top brass of the police department stepped into the investigation, the prosecutor's office said arresting policemen denied reports one of the youths had been mistreated.

DOZEN AT SCENE

About a dozen police were at the scene of the fracas.

Patrolman Fred Dayton, 35, who suffered a back injury, remained under hospital treatment. Three other officers were injured. All four are white.

The incident took place in a predominately Negro neighborhood. Officers were called on a report of disturbance of the peace.

Thaddeus Steel, 16, claimed he was beaten after being taken to a police precinct station. He was arrested on the scene with four others.

'RESTRAINT' CITED

Police Commissioner Herbert W. Hart said the four injured officers were attacked without provocation, and that one officer showed "unbelievable restraint" in not drawing and firing his gun in self-defense when one of the youths pointed a rifle at him.

Rep. Roberts Tries Lonely Job Sunday

State Rep. Farrell E. Roberts (R-West Bloomfield) believes he will be "slightly" outnumbered tomorrow when he represents the Republican point of view during a panel discussion on state taxes at the UAW Region 1A hall in Detroit.

Roberts, chairman of the House's Labor Committee, said he accepted an invitation from the GOP State Central committee to debate Michigan's money problems with fellow State Rep. Frederick Yates (D-Detroit) and Thomas Downs, UAW legislative agent with the Michigan State AFL-CIO Council.

The panel discussion, to be held at the hall, 8222 Joy Rd., is being put on by the 15th District's Committee on Political Education (COPE) committee. It is scheduled for 3 p.m.

The Day in Birmingham

3 Youths Pick Wrong Car in Theft of Wheel, Tire

Yesterday the three youths, Donald Rodgers, 18, of 840 Blaine Ave., Jose Garcia, 18, of 670 Ojibia Ave., and Willis Brock, 25, who gave his business address as 6470 Alden Rd., Commerce Township, got more than they bargained for.

Their troubles began when they and two other boys had a flat tire on their car at the junction of 14-Mile and Pierce roads. While two set out to get a spare tire supposedly in Pontiac, a Birmingham patrol car passed their car and loaned them the jack from the patrol car when the boys said they had none.

The police were somewhat suspicious and took the names of the boys and their license number.

Meanwhile, the boys who had headed for Pontiac, took a detour past the home of Mrs. Eunice Wright, 571 Bird St., mother-in-law of Det. Lt. Merle Holmquist, head of the Birmingham Police Detective Bureau.

Not knowing this, the boys removed the tire from Mrs. Wright's car, police said, and headed back to their own car.

Patrolmen later cruised past Mrs. Wright's jacked-up auto—put two and two together—and theorized that the youths had been involved.

They were later arrested due to the addresses they gave police.

They appeared in Birmingham Municipal Court and waived examination.

Unable to post $1,000 bonds each they were remanded to the county jail to await arraignment Sept. 21 in Oakland County Circuit Court.

Monday's regular meeting of the City Commission will take up further discussion of the division of costs of maintenance of traffic signals along Woorward avenue.

A letter from the Michigan State Highway Dept. will be read disclosing a postponement of a new agreement covering such maintenance until April of next year.

A request from the J. William Cunninghams, of 1790 Birmingham Blvd., that something be done about their regularly flooded basement has a spot on the agenda.

Also to be discussed are proposed amendments to the articles of incorporation of the South Oakland County Water Authority.

Pasternak Attends U.S. Concert

MOSCOW (AP) — Controversial Russian poet and novelist Boris Pasternak made a surprise public appearance Friday night, first since he was shunned by fellow Soviet authors for writig his novel "Doctor Zhivago."

He attended a concert of the New York Philharmonic Orchestra, cheered its musicians, cried over the music and then emotionally embraced and kissed Conductor Leonard Bernstein.

Pasternak, whose "Doctor Zhivago" won him the 1958 Nobel Prize for Literature and caused him to be denounced as a "pig" by fellow Soviet writers, showed unannounced.

The 69-year-old author had lived in seclusion outside Moscow many months after being awarded the prize he first accepted and then rejected. His novel has been banned in the Soviet Union. It deals with the misery of a group of Russians in the last years of the czars and the first years of the Communist revolution.

Pasternak appeared in good health and told reporters he is living well and working at capacity. He said he is writing a prose play about the emancipation of serfs in the mid-19th century.

"But it will be no more happy nor pleasing for me than my novel," Pasternak said.

He said he had heard rumors of plans to publish "Doctor Zhivago" in the Soviet Union "a little while ago, but I do not believe it."

He said no more about the novel or his present work. He was too concerned about the music he had

Jam Message to Russians of Nikita's Talk

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Russians aren't letting their own people know they can hear Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's speeches next week over the Voice of America radio.

U.S. officials said today the Russians are jamming special announcements of Khrushchev's speeches made by the voice in its Russian - language programs beamed at the Soviet Union.

No word has reached here that any announcement has been made in Russian newspapers or broadcasts, either.

The action raises the question of whether the Soviets will continue jamming when the voice of their own leader goes on the air.

Study Need for More Pontiac School Taxes

needs determining the financial requirements of the school district for each fiscal year from 1960-61 through 1964-65.

Needs to be considered are the areas involved in operation, debt retirement, capital outlay, enrollment projection, assumed cost of living increase and the base year of expenditures, 1959-60.

These reports will be submitted to Dr. Dana P. Whitmer, superintendent of schools by Sept. 16 for a determination of the total need.

The third step in the study is to arrive at an estimated income with existing sources. The fourth step will be to determine the difference between the needs of the school system and the income.

"The difference," says Hufziger, "should be converted to additional millage required."

The fifth and last step in the Board plan is headed "millage to be voted by citizens."

Hufziger said that when the study is completed and presented to the Board of Education about two months from now it should be accompanied by a recommended millage.

Walled Lake Man Hurt in Commerce Twp. Crash

James L. Wilson, 23, of 2280 Pontiac Trail, Walled Lake, is reported in satisfactory condition today at Pontiac General Hospital after his auto smashed into a tree early this morning at Wixom and Glengary roads in Commerce Township.

Oakland County sheriff's deputies said Wilson told them he was traveling north on Wixom when a horse wandered across his path and he lost control of his car swerving to avoid the animal. The accident occurred at 2:25.

'Acute Need' Arises for Blood in Area

A Red Cross Bloodmobile will be at the Elks Temple from 2 to 5 and 6 to 8 p.m. Monday in an effort to remedy an "acute need" for blood in this area.

Mrs. Mildred Bennett, executive of the Oakland County chapter, said each week Pontiac's hospitals use 75 pints of blood.

The Bloodmobile visits Pontiac only once each month. This is the last opportunity to replenish the stock until Oct. 19.

Mrs. Bennett cited a case last month where one boy needed more than 100 pints of blood. Appointments are not necessary to visit the Bloodmobile Monday.

Little Warmer Through Nation After Cool Snap

By The Associated Press

Sunny skies reigned over most of the country today.

The mercury inched upward throughout the midcontinent, an area well chilled by a midweek thrust of cool air.

However, fair cool weather clung to several sections of the East.

Northerly winds, outside of a large high pressure area centered over the Great Lakes, cooled some New England points by as much as 20 degrees. Lebanon, N.H. had a 46 at midnight — some 18 degrees below the previous 24-hour standard.

105,000 Engineer Grads Set Russian Record

MOSCOW (UPI) — An all-time record of 105,000 engineers was graduated this year from Soviet higher educational institutions.

Vyacheslav Elyutin, Soviet minister of higher and secondary specialized education, said in making the announcement that there now are almost 20 students per 1,000 of the population in the Soviet Union. His statement was reported by the Soviet news agency Tass.

Seek 100,000 New Jobs a Year

the report, if the state faces up to the cold economic facts, gets down and studies the problems and takes decisive action.

Michigan has been one of the fastest growing states in the country since 1940," Haber said. "And in spite of the controversy over its economic climate and fiscal situation, indications are that growth will continue."

However, he warned, there are no assurances that with continued growth new jobs will be provided automatically. He said it was the purpose of the study to explore the state's assets and liabilities in order to determine what is to be done.

The authors offered no single cure-all. Rather, they suggested a program of widespread action and study.

"The whole forecast of a bright future for Americans," they said, "depends on the assumption that, as individuals, business firms, communities, states and as a nation, we shall continue to solve our economic problems with reasonable success."

REVISON ADVOCATED

"While constitutional revison can hardly solve all of our state and local financial problems, it provides an absolutely necessary starting point and it will lay a foundation upon which other constructive actions can be built," the report stated in tracing Michigan's financial problems back to the 1930s when the electorate wrote into the constitution the 15-mill limitation on local taxes.

At the same time, the authors urged passage by the legislature of an economic growth act to affirm the intent of the state government to concern itself with the sound economic growth of Michigan.

They suggested the act provide for a governor's council of economic advisors; require the governor to deliver an annual report on the economic health of the state and set up a joint House-Senate committee with its own staff to conduct hearings, make studies and develop legislative proposals.

The authors at the outset frankly admitted there was much still to be answered.

On the politically sensitive subject of state taxes they said that more study was needed before the general welfare could be served.

Of the charges pro and con about the "climate for industry" the report noted that "what the people of Michigan really want is a proper 'climate for the general good of all' if we could but know how to achieve it."

Haber said his data showed that Michigan gained 1,441 new manufacturing establishments over the period from 1949 to 1956, an increase of 13.2 per cent. This, he said, compares with a 4.3 per cent increase for the United States as a whole and an increase of 5 per cent for the manufacturing east north central states.

And, he said, while data is not available for the years from 1956 on, he said he did not believe that 1957, 1958 and 1959 would show a reversal of the previous trend.

"I do not believe that the assumption that there has been a radical shift in plant movement in Michigan will be substantiated when data (for the later years) becomes available," Haber said.

At the same time he emphasized that the gains have been largely in small plants that have been unable to take up the slack in unemployment suffered since 1953.

Haber said Michigan's problem is one of how to achieve economic growth. The state must cash in on its assets of geographical position and a plentiful supply of skilled and semi-skilled labor and at the same time realize its liabilities in order to correct them, he said.

Admittedly, he said, it is a long range problem and nothing can be done overnight. But, he added, an immediate start should be made.

The report called for a full-scale effort to determine which industries Michigan is best suited for and urged development of research facilities in universities and industries to attract scientific talent. Special attention, it said, should be given to the potentials of the tourist industry in northern Michigan and the Upper Peninsula.

It recommended increased industrial promotion and a detailed study of the reasons for plant movements to and from the state as well as a thorough, objective study of the actual conditions of doing business in Michigan.

Transportation problems and the state's water resources should be looked into, the report said.

The authors asked that serious consideration be given to the creation of areawide or statewide development credit corporations and that existing business firms be encouraged to invest in innovation and diversification.

SPURN SLURS

Opportunities should be provided for retraining, counseling and guiding the employed toward new job possibilities, they declared. And they called for a halt to the undermining of Michigan's reputation by "exaggerating its problems and minimizing its virtues."

Wearers of Black Bands Will Accuse Khrushchev

WASHINGTON (AP)—Washington department stores are running out of black cloth. It's being turned into arm bands to be worn during Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's visit to the United States.

The bands are being cut, sewn and distributed by the Committee for Freedom for All Peoples, which was organized last week in protest against the Communist leader's visit. Forty members of Congress and Americans in nearly every field have endorsed its aim.

The committee reported Friday it has mailed 10,000 of the mourning bands throughout the country and is filling requests at the rate of 500 a day.

Black arm bands and the mournful tolling of church bells are the two most common expressions of disapproval Khrushchev will apparently encounter during his American stay. But these may be considerable if the committee's plans are carried out.

GROUPS ORGANIZED

Local groups are being organized in each city Khrushchev will visit. Newspaper and radio advertisements are urging support for a nationwide demonstration of mourning. Protest rallies are being encouraged. But the emphasis is on peaceful, dignified proceedings.

L. Brent Bozell, an editor of the conservative weekly National Review, who runs the Washington headquarters of the committee, has outlined its aims.

"We think the only thing Khrushchev could learn on a visit to the United States that would be useful for the purposes of the West is that the American people's moral strength is undiminished and that they are steadfast in their resistance to communism," he said.

"To this end we are trying to mobilize dignified public demonstrations that will show Khrushchev how we feel."

WASHINGTON CALM

In Washington, the wearing of arm bands and the posting of a solemn band of mourners outside the White House are the only announced protest demonstrations planned during Khrushchev's stay. But a protest rally will be held Monday night on the Washington Monument grounds on the eve of Khrushchev's arrival.

The rally is being sponsored by the American Council of Churches. Dr. Clyde Kennedy of Tacoma, Wash., president of the council; Dr. Carl McIntire, president of the International Council of Churches; and Wayne Montgomery, a Montana rancher who is leading a protest movement in the West, will speak. Refugees from Eastern European countries now under Soviet domination are scheduled to hold mourning services.

PROTEST RALLY

A protest rally is being held in Philadelphia by the American Council of Churches which is planning others for Los Angeles and Des Moines, Iowa, which are on Khrushchev's itinerary.

Other groups will hold public protest meetings in Carnegie Hall, New York, on Sept. 17 and Sept. 20.

The Committee for Freedom of All Peoples is organizing groups within a 500-mile radius of Des Moines to travel by chartered bus to Ames, Iowa, on Wednesday, Sept. 23, and give a demonstration of mourning while Khrushchev visits the University of Iowa.

The committee, which has 40 volunteer workers in its Washington headquarters, says it is being financed entirely by donations from its supporters and people writing in for arm bands.

Fliers' Bodies to Remain Buried in Mountain Snow

SEATTLE (AP) — Frances Horn and Alyce Carman, widowed Sept. 2, carefully explained why the bodies of their husbands are still buried beneath the fall snows on Mt. Rainier.

"They are sitting up in the cockpit and, in a way, they're still flying," said Mrs. Horn, mother of two teen-aged sons.

Harold Horn, a captain in the Civil Air Patrol, and Charles Carman died scant feet from the top of 14,410-foot high Mt. Rainier when their small plane crashed on a night mercy mission.

They were to have dropped medical equipment to an ill scientist. The scientist, Dr. C. T. Bressler, died the next morning.

Wreckage of the plane, piloted by Horn, was found Sunday. The bodies were locked in the mangled metal.

With Mrs. Carman's permission, Mrs. Horn decided that the bodies should be left where they were.

"Let's face it," she said Thursday night as her composure crumbled, "They are frozen. To remove them would take two weeks."

Mrs. Carman, an attractive young woman of 22 with a 22-month-old son, said: "Chuck died the way he would have wanted. When he did something he had such a fevver that there were very few things he couldn't conquer.

"It wouldn't be right to bring him down."

160 Jaycees Favoring Annexation

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Another civic group, the Grand Rapids Junior Chamber of Commerce, today was on record in support of area unification and steps toward its success.

More than 160 Jaycees at their first meeting of the year Thursday night voted to support a new city plan which calls for annexing major parts of five suburbs to the city to form a single governmental unit.

The plan is being promoted by the Grand Rapids Community Council. It calls for annexation along school district lines in Walker, Grand Rapids and Paris townships, plus the suburban cities of East Grand Rapids and Wyoming.

Petitions are being circulated in all areas asking that the proposal be put to a vote. The deadline for returning petitions was extended from noon today until early next week when a specific deadline will be announced.

Among 578 Employes

Splits Up Big Trust Fund

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Nearly 1½ million dollars from a trust fund established more than 20 years ago by a generous employer has been split up among 578 workers at Elliott Addressing Machine Co.

Individual shares range from $2,500 to $4,800 before taxes.

Checks were distributed on the company's regular pay day Thursday. No one came up with any wild plans for spending the money.

GETS OVER $4,000

Typical was Miss Margaret Connell of Waltham, who received more than $4,000 after 43 years with the firm.

"I won't squander it," she said. "I've worked too hard all my life and I know the value of money too much to let it slip through my hands."

The $1,450,353 distributed represented shares of a trust fund established for his employes by Harmon P. Elliott, son of the firm's founder. Elliott recently sold the firm to Bessemer Securities Corp. of New York with the understanding it would be kept running and his employes kept working.

Elliott is now retired but remains on the board of directors. He was asked what he thought the effect of the distribution might be.

The 72-year-old manufacturer laughed. "Maybe the sale of 578 new automobiles," he said.

Distribution was made according to a formula. Each employe who had worked for the firm at least three years received a base amount of $2,500 plus $41.60 for each year of service.

Miss Celia Samsen of Boston, 40 years a clerk with the firm, received approximately $4,200. She said she decided she would not make any plans for use of the money until she received it.

"I think a lot of us have felt the same way," she said. "The feeling has been that we would wait and see what we got and start from there."

Operation on Heart With Hole Succeeds

LONDON (AP) — Surgeons reported Friday a successful operation on a 13-year-old girl whose heart not only had a hole in it but was on the wrong side of her chest.

A communique from London's Hammersmith Hospital said the girl, Pamela Weller, was feeling fine after the surgery. During the operation her heart was stopped for 56 minutes while her circulation was maintained artificially.

The fact that her heart is on the wrong side of her body made the operation a rather difficult one from the technical point of view, the hospital communique said.

Her liver and stomach also are in the wrong place.

Appreciation Tea Will Pay Tribute to Ex-Librarian

An appreciation tea will be given to honor Mrs. Florence M. Leach, former librarian here, from 2 to 4:40 p.m. Sunday in the Farmington Library.

Mrs. Leach retired as librarian in July after serving for 21 years in the position.

It was in part through her services that Farmington's new library became a reality in March of this year.

The public is invited to attend the tea being sponsored by the Farmington Friends of the Library.

DETROIT (AP) — Catholics of the Detroit archdiocese will observe the period Sept. 15-30 with special prayers for peace in connection with the American visit of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev. The archdiocese announced the prayer period today.

Nikita Cannot Visit Senate Without Bid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Alexander Wiley (R-Wis) suggested today that Senate rules might permit Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev to visit the Senate as an uninvited guest, and perhaps even deliver a speech.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon promptly ruled, in an opinion requested by Wiley, that the senator was wrong. Nixon said a long line of precedents indicates that Khrushchev could be admitted to the Senate only as the invited guest of some Senate official, committee or member.

Survey Says, Blaming Alcoholism

Liver Cancer Deaths Up

CHICAGO (AP) — A 25-year study of death causes in Michigan showed a significant rise in liver cancer associated with alcoholism.

Reporting on a review of 10,519 autopsies during the last quarter century at Wayne County General Hospital in Eloise, Dr. Frank V. Hodges said:

1. Cancer of the liver caused .46 per cent of the deaths during the second half of the study.

2. More than three-fourths of the liver cancer deaths were associated with cirrhosis, a liver condition caused by prolonged alcohol consumption.

Dr. Hodges reported his findings at a joint annual meeting of the American Society of Clinical Pathologists and the College of American Pathologists.

It Seems to Me . . . .

Great Respect for Eisenhower, Nixon Sways GOP Standing

DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER is the most popular man in the world today.

That goes whether you're a Republican, Democrat, Communist, Tory, Whig, Socialist or Mugwump. It also stands whether you're an American, Jap, Russian, Spaniard, Indian or Brazilian.

Critics who shouted that the President was "making a mistake" when he embarked upon his whirlwind trip are silenced. Looking back in retrospection, the the venture turned into a triumphal parade. The world applauded wholeheartedly at every turn of the road and the cheers were spontaneous.

The President conducted himself magnificently. He was a great figure and handled himself himself impeccably. Truly, this nation can be exceedingly proud. He added to our world stature and prestige. And the reports of his overwhelming receptions spread into practically every land on the globe.

Following closely on the heels of Vice President NIXON'S grand tour, this panoply has been a great thing for the international standing of our country. Prestige has been enhanced in important and strategic places. Happily for us, we had two tremendous salesmen "on the road." They are both personable individuals and since they represented the greatest nation on earth, the impression was actually magnified.

There can also be important repercussions right here at home. Last winter the Democrats were confident, jubilant and predicted an amazing sweep in the 1960 elections. Since that time, their record in Congress hasn't inspired any appreciable confidence among the voters anywhere. The radical labor leaders are belligerent over the failure of the Democrats to roll over in both the House and Senate. But the Congressmen have been hearing from the boys and girls back home. The current labor bill doesn't suit the extremists but Congress discreetly followed the President's ideas, spurred on by the fact they found the voters at home were backing Eisenhower staunchly.

The head of the Electrical Union has written an individual letter to every member who voted for this bill and threatened to "get him" at the polls. If the whole country wants to accept this defy, the vast majority of the voters who don't belong to unions could correspondingly align themselves on the opposite side. It wouldn't be the first time a belligerent minority pulled the house down around its own head.

This threat of reprisals has weakened the Democratic position further and now with Eisenhower and Nixon on the crest of the wave, next fall's election takes on an entirely different aspect. The crushing Republican defeat which Democrats forecast so freely requires another good, hard look.

The tide is running the other way, running rather strongly and from several directions. A smashing campaign with both parties having a chance will be the best thing for the nation. This guarantees the biggest vote. If both sides go roaring toward the finish line with approximately equal opportunities, a democracy will be in full action.

I've said from the start I believe the Democratic candidacy will eventually rest with ADLAI STEVENSON. He'll stand in the background until the front runners have knocked each other for a loop, when he will step forward smilingly and "be drafted."

No one—anywhere — would argue for a fraction of a minute that STEVENSON has the widespread, popular acceptance that rests with NIXON. After the election last fall, I wouldn't have given NIXON much of a chance. The Democratic tide was running at peak and the whole party was smiling, confident and smug. And with reason.

But that balloon has been pricked.

Nixon and Eisenhower have gone on to greater glory and the Democratic Party in general has been smacked in the nose.

Right now it's anybody's ball game.

And in Conclusion . . . .

In 1958 Kroger sold a billion and three quarters dollars worth of goods and made a net profit of a penny and a quarter per dollar . . . . . Baltimore reports juvenile crime dwindling since the city put 21 very assertive police dogs on the force . . . . . J. EDGAR HOOVER and the Secret Service okayed guns for KHRUSHCHEV'S body guard . . . . . New York opens the most luxurious sports structure in the world: Aqueduct. It's a 33 million dollar race track with a grand stand a fifth of a mile long. There are 738 very convenient windows where you can lose your money in all denominations.

Down Cuba way, if your name appears in the society columns, the government taxes you a buck, plus an additional dollar for every descriptive adjective. A title costs $100 and a photo five dollars a column inch. If we ran a one column picture of Kenneth Vanden Berg's wife and said: "Very attractive and winsome wife of Dr. Kenneth Vanden Berg," it would cost the lovely lass $113. Shucks, Jean, I'll say it right here for free . . . . . And speaking of Cuba, the Havana Times says in an eight column head: "Frankly, We Don't Know What's Going on Here." . . . . . When I was in New York this week, they told me British automobile companies are bringing out a car even smaller than the current models, as an answer to the current U.S. challenge.

A reformed alcoholic was getting the final test. "What," said the examiner, "does Gordon suggest?" The ex-drunk replied: "A famous general." The second query: "What does the name Haig bring to mind?" And the answer: "A noted earl." The psychiatrist nodded. Now for the supreme question: "What does Vat 69 mean to you?" The ex-drunk cogitated and at last a broad smile crossed his face. "Easy. The Pope's telephone number." . . . . . The Dept. of Cheers and Jeers: the C's — that brave and courageous CLARA SOUDEN; the J's—Mayor WAGNER of N.Y. for curling up in front of the juvenile hoods; and, runner-up: the Miss America broadcast Tuesday night with the unwelcome eye paint commercials and the inferior photography.

The POWER of FAITH

by Howard Brodie

Translating the word of God into the myriad tongues of the world is the seemingly impossible job that occupies and inspires the Wycliffe Bible Translators.

Trained in survival camps to build huts, handle dugout canoes and live off the land, these volunteers, both men and women, penetrate the most remote regions on earth to record unwritten languages and bring literacy, civilization and Christianity to all peoples.

Translations have been started on more than 200 languages, but their aim and hope is to bring the word of God to the 2,000 remaining Bible-less tongues.

The organization is guided by William Cameron Townsend, who was instrumental in founding it 25 years ago after recovering from tuberculosis. He had contracted the disease while living with a tribe in Guatemala and translating the New Testament in their language.

From world headquarters in Glendale, Calif., the organization today sends some 1,000 volunteer translators, teachers, nurses and pilots to Bible missions in Latin America, Alaska and New Guinea.

Days of All Faiths

Venerate Holy Cross on Monday

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

Monday is Holy Cross Day, one of the two days of the year on which many Christians give special veneration to the cross on which Jesus died. The other day is May 3, the day the cross was found by St. Helena. Monday commemorates the recovery of the cross from the Persians by Emperor Haraclitus in 614.

There are many legends about the cross, which taken together form a sort of history of this unique piece of wood. It starts at the earliest point possible in human history—in the Garden of Eden—where stood the Tree of Life. (Genesis, chapter 2, verse 9).

When Adam and Eve were exiled from the Garden they were allowed to take with them a bough from the tree, and from that time on the bough was handed down through the generations as a relic of man's lost paradise, a relic that would one day be an instrument in his salvation from the results of his sin.

When Noah and his sons built the Ark they used the bough, and it was this sacred wood that kept the Ark afloat in the stormy waters of the flood and saved the human race from extinction.

Abraham inherited the bough. He used it as a tentpole in his vast camp. Nothing is said about what happened to it or where it was during the time of the Egyptian bondage or the years of wandering in the wilderness, but it turns up again as a beam in Solomon's Temple.

When the Temple was burned early in the Sixth Century B. C. the beam itself was not even charred. Someone, perhaps aware of its importance, threw it into a pool to insure its preservation, and there it stayed, submerged, for six more centuries. But even there its power continued to be felt, for this was the Pool of Bethesda, whose healing properties were famous. (See St. John, chapter 5, verses 2 to 4).

Finally, on Good Friday, the ancient piece of timber reached its destiny. The trial and sentencing of Jesus happened so rapidly that the man who made the crosses for crucifixions was caught without the necessary material.

Not wishing to lose the order to some other craftsman, this man went to the Pool of Bethesda and dragged out the old beam, which after 600 years under water was still in perfect condition. And from it he fashioned the cross on whcih the Lord hung.

So it came about that Eden's Tree of Life ultimately became the Tree that is the symbol of life to all Christians.

Dr. Brady's Mailbag:

Optimal Daily Ration of Niacin Aids Cankers

In my case, canker sores surely follow indulgenbe in chocolate, tomatoes, peaches. I can nibble a little of any of these occasionally without trouble, but if I take "just a little bit" more I get canker sores. Other members of my family have the same trouble. We have found niacin in small doses is very beneficial. You needn't mend your clothing any one wears at any time, with regard only for comfort and convention, the better for health.

DR. BRADY

Our physician claims that listening to music while eating is a great aid to digestion. But I have heard other doctors state that it is of no benefit whatever. (Mrs. A.E.K.)

Ans. — I agree with your physician, provided it is music. However, I believe crooning, torch singing and blues singing tends to reverse peristalsis.

Can you suggest anything that will make one immune to ivy poisoning? (M.A.)

Ans. — One susceptible to poison ivy may immunize himself by taking internally minute doses of a freshly prepared tincture of poison ivy leaf and gradually increasing the dose. More particulars in pamphlet Ivy Poisoning, for which send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope. This is one of the many things I'm afraid to print.

Should a person with a rheumatic heart be limited to a minimum amount of physical activity? (R.J.)

Ans. — By no means. The amount of physical activity should be prescribed by the person's physician, in gradually increasing doses.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The ontiak Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Asks Readers' Opinions of Transportation Problem

I'm wondering if there are any other way-out-of-towners who share my problem, namely lack of reliable transportation.

One of my pet kitties died because I didn't get her to the vet soon enough. City kitties are more fortunate. All their owners have to do is call a cab.

In Need of Transportation

Murder of Trooper Topic for Letters

Regarding the terrible killing of the young trooper, where can we write to request that it become a state law for troopers to travel in pairs and also demand that this heartless killer is given sentences to run concurrently for 99 years, with absolutely no possible parole and to be spent in solitary confinement? We must do something drastic to correct the idea that Michigan is a killer's paradise.

Daily Press Reader

I blame Officer Souden's murder on our inadequate penal system. The assailant is a hardened criminal who has spent the past 30 years in prisons and insane asylums. At the time of the crime he was out on parole.

His own parole officer admitted he was dangerous, capable of anything, so why was he permitted in public if authorities felt he'd be a threat to society? Unless our penal system is revised, we'll continue to live amidst crime. Our present policy of treating criminals, both adult and juvenile, with kindness, sympathy and consideration, noble as its intent may be, has failed.

We need a tough policy. Laws must be enforced. Far too many people after being sentenced to life are out in a few years. Far too many mental patients are released too soon. Only when the citizenry rids itself of its apathy and takes action will something be done about this—not before then.

A far more competent penal system is a necessity, so let's fight for it. Let Pontiac people take the initiative and let authorities know how we feel. We'll be heard and the rest of Michigan will follow suit.

Cheers Terminal at City Airport

Three cheers for Pontiac finally getting a terminal for the airport. I do a lot of traveling and will be the first to use our new facilities just as soon as we get a regular airline or a feeder service. It's long overdue and will be greatly appreciated by all of us air travelers.

'Who Are 'People' Dems Are For'

Within recent weeks several letters have berated the GOP and the sales tax and perpetuated the hoax of a Democrat Party being for the "people." The letters inform the populace a Dem victory is assured for 1960.

I'm not clear as to who the "people" are. It most assuredly is not a reference to all the people including middle and upper classes. It seems infeasible these latter groups could vote in 1960 for the Dems, a party based on class warfare, socialism and war prosperity, run by left wing millionaires and composed of economic and social paranoiacs.

Since New Deal days, the middle class has truly been the "forgotten man." The wealthy can afford some soaking and the prolific lower income group is hit proportionately less in taxes for welfare schemes. The burden of additional income tax would have again hit the hardest at the middle income group.

Urges All to Learn Quotations

Are you called on to make short talks, as at church or a club meeting? Then heed Editor Perrins and store your memory with 25 or more of the richest gems from great minds of the past. And urge your children to memorize a few inspiring Bible verses to buoy up their morale in later life. These quotes also add scholarly ritz to your English themes in school.

By Dr. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case C - 442: Glen Perrins, aged about 50, launched this column in the Standard Examiner at Ogden, Utah, the very first week I started writing it.

He has an exuberant personality, exuding geniality and humor, and he is a loyal Mormon so he sets a good moral example in the community by teaching a Sunday School class.

DR. CRANE

he said when I dropped into his office recently, "I appreciate your column and especially liked the one urging young folks to memorize choice quotations.

"That stores their memory with literary jewels and richest gems from the great minds of history.

"So I am going to stress that idea in my Sunday School talks, too. Let's have some more of those quotations."

Psychology professors tell me the students relish those quotations greatly and use them in Public Speaking, as well as for English themes.

So I'll offer some more today, giving the author and the page in my textbook where you can find them. If you wish more, go to your city library and lift out 25 or 50 additional ones for they add scholarly charm to your extemporaneous talks.

In one hour you can easily memorize 25 of the 200, and will then have an appropriate "starter" for all sorts of meetings you may need to address.

"COMMON RELIGIOUS TEACHINGS NOT ENDORSED BY THE BIBLE"

Recently in Kentucky a lady left a certain church determined to build one of her own distinctively different from the one she left. It was pointed out to her that if she succeeded in so doing we must reach one or two of the following conclusions: (1) that the one she will build will be wrong, or (2) the one she was formally in was wrong. WHY? Because if the first were right the latter is wrong and if the latter is right the former is wrong. If not, why not? For remember, they were to be distinctively different one from the other. Such confusion as is here indicated is typical of the warring sects which comprise the denominationalized religious world. Many do not stop to weigh the situation or to think am I right or wrong or am I pleasing God and Christ but many reason, "will it please me or will it make me outstanding and prominent?" Ignoring completely the pleading prayer of my Lord who said, "THAT THEY ALL MAY BE ONE" Jno. 17:21.

One of the things which has been the battle ground of controversy for scores of years is the subject of baptism. But after many years of controversy supposedly in an effort to find the truth, men still are far from UNITY OF SPEECH ON THIS SUBJECT. WHY? It is not because the teachings on this subject are hard to find nor because the truth on the subject is not plain but because the haughty hostile minds of men are not willing to dispense with theory and accept truth uncompromisingly and unreservedly. Our question in this issue shall deal with baptism, a question which creates concern yet causes contentions. IS BAPTISM ESSENTIAL TO SALVATION? Some one might abruptly answer with an emphatic No! But is this answer based on principle or prejudice, faith (which comes by hearing the word of God, Rom. 10:17) or fiction (which comes from the depths of one's own mind). Would you dear reader, candidly consider these questions with a desire to know the truth. 1. If baptism is not essential to salvation, why did the Lord say, HE THAT BELIEVETH AND IS BAPTIZED SHALL BE SAVED. Mk. 16:16. Why did Peter say, Repent and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, Acts 2:38. Why such passages as I Peter 3:21, Acts 22:16, Gal. 3:27, Rom. 6:3,4. Is baptism a command of Christ? All agree it is (Mt. 28:19, Jn. 14:15, 15:14). Since it is, can a man be saved when he knows what Christ has commanded and the willfully and deliberately refuses to obey those commandments of Christ which are connected with salvation? If so, Christ saves some who do not obey. But the Bible says he says those who OBEY HIM. Heb. 5:9. BELIEVEST THOU THIS?

Nina Petrovna Khrushchev

One Person Can Talk Back to Khrushchev

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It comes from just about the only person in the Soviet Union who can get away with it—his wife.

Nina Petrovna Khrushchev, in many ways, symbolizes the hope of many a housewife in the Soviet Union. She is a sort of grandmother Cinderella, emerging from the obscure drabness which long was the lot of most Soviet wives.

When Mrs. Khrushchev arrives in the United States Tuesday, she will find herself in the center of the world's spotlight.

Before the Khrushchev tour ends, the world likely will know more about her than it has known about any Soviet wife for many a year.

Foreigners in Moscow got one of their first glimpses of Mrs. Khrushchev only 3½ years ago when she turned up at Moscow's airport to welcome home son Sergei, who had accompanied his father on the traveling Communist chief's trip to Britain. She was dressed rather drably for the wife of so important a man. But her appearance in itself was an event.

Once Khrushchev emerged as premier and the undisputed strong man of the Soviet Union, things began to change. Each time Mrs. Khrushchev appeared in public she looked a bit more sprightly.

Apparently the premier's wife found herself a new hairdresser and a new dressmaker. Her hair was more stylishly arranged, though she still wore it combed into a bun. Her dresses had a fashionable cut and dashes of brighter colors.

Mrs. Khrushchev remains reserved. Though she now appears regularly with her husband at Moscow functions, she never enters with him.

Nina Khrushchev has made it quite clear that she likes to get around and keep busy, even outside the household. She is a party member and still makes an occasional speech before groups of woman Communists.

A teacher of social sciences by profession, Mrs. Khrushchev apparently is a good student. Her English, for example, is getting better all the time. It is one of her hobbies.

Nina Petrovna was born in 1900. Little is known of her early life. This is true of most wives of Soviet leaders. She took part in the civil war which followed the Bolshevik seizure of the Russian revolution in 1918. No Westerner can say where she met her husband, or whether, indeed, she is the mother of the youngest of Khrushchev's five children. This is a girl of 21, and it is believed Khrushchev married Nina Petrovna about 1938 when he was vaulting into a position of real influence as a member of Stalin's politburo.

She reared the family.

Khrushchev's eldest son, Leonid, was a pilot killed in World War II. Leonid's daughter, Yuliya Leonidevna, now 20, was reared by Khrushchev's wife as a member of the family.

The others in the family are daughter Yuliya, now 38, chemist, science writer and wife of Viktor Genchar, director of the Kiev opera and ballet; Rada, 29, wife of Alexei Adzhubei, editor of the government newspaper, Izvestia; Yolena, 21, a law student at Moscow University, and son Sergei, 24, an electrical engineer.

Americans who have visited Mrs. Khrushchev — people like Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt—found her relaxed, easy to talk with, extremely interested in and surprising well informed on the United States. They found, too, that Mrs. Khrushchev is not one to hold her tongue when her husband invades the household. She does not seem to care much about his violent politics or how he runs his turbulent Communist world—but she speaks up sharply and even argues with the boss when she seems to feel the occasion warrants it. And he is apt to bow to her advice.

Khrushchev himself seldom talks about his wife. A correspondent who spent three years in Moscow and spoke to Khrushchev on numerous occasions, heard him mention his wife only once, and then jokingly.

But if anybody asked Khrushchev serious questions about his family and home life, he would snap something like this: "The subject is of no interest. Why do you want to know. We don't talk about such things." This was the typical attitude of Soviet leaders all through the Stalin era. Not since Lenin's wife, the noted Krupekaya, has any Soviet wife occupied a prominent place in the public eye.

MR. AND MRS. NIKITA KHRUSHCHEV

Man Was Wrong to Cancel Date

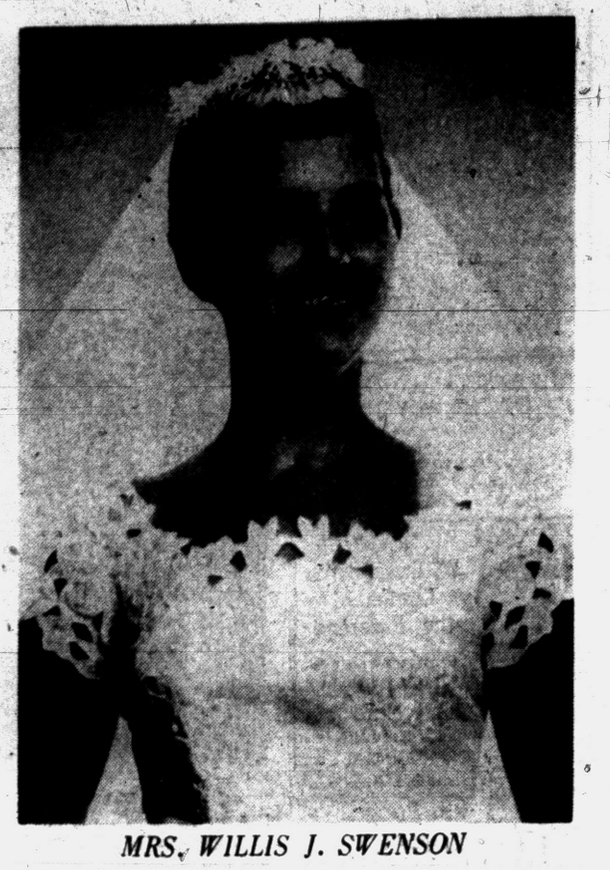

"Dear Mrs. Post: Several weeks ago I accepted an invitation to go to the theater on a specified future date. The man with whom I had made the appointment told me that he had subsequently accepted an invitation to a family gathering to be held on that same date, and had therefore canceled our plans. He seems to think this is quite proper since he told me well in advance, and offered me the theater tickets we were to have used.

"It is my opinion that he has been extremely discourteous to me, particularly since the family gathering is not in honor of any special occasion such as a wedding, confirmation or anniversary, but is merely an informal picnic. I have maintained that it is inexcusable to cancel an engagement unless business, illness or something of an emergency nature arises. A family picnic is hardly in this category. Which of us is correct?"

Answer: You are entirely correct.

"Dear Mrs. Post: When invited to dinner at the house of one who does not have a maid, shouldn't the hostess put aside the dishes until after her guests have gone home? At least that is what I do in my house. However, so many hostesses start to clean up as soon as dinner is over and it more or less puts a guest on the spot to help with the dishes. Isn't this bad manners on the part of a hostess?"

Answer: It is better manners not to do the dishes until after the guests have gone home.

Couple Exchange Vows at Our Lady of Refuge

Before an altar decorated with white gladioli and chrysanthemums, Janet Carol Zatik married Willis J. Swenson this morning at Our Lady of Refuge Church at Orchard Lake. The Rev. Giles Bartol performed the ceremony in the presence of three hundred guests.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Julius Zatik of Keego Harbor and Mr. and Mrs. Willie M. Swenson of Desiax road.

The bride wore a short sleeved gown of white silk organza with a fitted bodice and a lavaliere neckline trimmed with Venice lace and embroidered with iridescent sequins. The waistline was also trimmed with the lace. The bouffant skirt fell into a chapel sweep length and the back detailing featured a soft butterfly bow in the same material.

Her headpiece was of imported pearlized flowers forming a bridal wreath, worn with a fingertip Cloud veil of pure silk French illusion. She carried a bouquet of white roses, stephanotis and ivy.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Andrew Zatik of Cleveland, Ohio. She wore a gown of yellow silk organza with a boat neckline and three-quarter length puff sleeves. She carried a cascade arrangement of yellow Fugi chrysanthemums with Croton leaves and bronze-colored wheat.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. John Keinert, Marlene Shell, Dolores Lutzkiw, Kay Ann Swenson, sister of the bridegroom, all of Pontiac, and Joan Ray of Keego Harbor. Their gowns matched that of the matron of honor and they carried cascade bouquets of bronze Fugi chrysanthemums, Croton leaves and bronze wheat.

The flower girl, Dinah Lynn Travis, cousin of the bride from Akron, Ohio, wore a white silk organza frock and carried a basket of yellow rose petals. She wore a tiara of yellow dwarf rosebuds. David Lee Travis, also a cousin of the bride, was ring bearer.

Robert Kretzeman of Grand Rapids was best man. Ushers were Gary Swenson, the bridegroom's brother; Kenneth Scott of Arlington, Va.; and Gary Petty, Loren Schruba and Paul Emerson of Pontiac.

Before leaving for Myrtle Beach, S.C. the new Mrs. Swenson changed to a green and beige plaid wool walking suit with cocoa brown accessories. She carried a white rosebud corsage from her bridal bouquet.

Dear Abby Insists:

'Mama' Is Really Horsing Around

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I have been seeing a lot of a divorcee who has two kids, 3 and 5. She says she loves me and plans to marry me, but I sometimes wonder if maybe she isn't playing me for a sucker. Every Saturday she is off work and so am I. I take her kids out for pony rides and keep them the whole day. She never wants to come with us. She says she has something to do at home but when I bring the kids back she is never home. She makes the excuse that somebody always drops by and takes her somewhere. A few times I saw her get out of cars with different men. Am I being a sucker or not? What should I do? OLDER MAN

ABBY

DEAR OLDER: I if you take the kids out for pony rides while "Mama" is horsing around, you are another kind of four-footed animal. A woman who cares enough for a man to marry him does not behave this way. Find out more about her or see less of her.

DEAR ABBY: In a doctor's office recently when I was asked to give my name to his nurse, I said, "Mrs. John Jones." The nurse went on to ask me questions about my husband and I said he was dead. She then said my name should be "Mrs. Jane Jones." Will you please tell me which is correct? IN DOUBT

DEAR IN: A widow retains her husband's name for the rest of her natural life unless she remarries. Your legal signature should be "Jane Smith Jones" with the "Mrs. John Jones" in parenthesis after it. Like this: Jane Smith Jones (Mrs. John Jones). All social mail should be addressed "Mrs. John Jones."

DEAR ABBY: Have you ever heard of a 27-year-old man who gets mad and pouts and won't even tell you what he's mad about? That's my husband.

I get so disgusted with him! When we go to someone's house for dinner and we don't eat at exactly six o'clock, he gets ugly and won't say a word. Then he won't eat a thing no matter how hungry he is.

How do I handle him, Abby? I am sick of humoring him and apologizing for him. I have two children to raise but I am beginning to think of divorce. FED UP

DEAR FED: You have three children to raise. Your husband is operating on the emotional level of a 3-year-old. Don't "humor" him or try to gloss over his childishness. Tell him that if he wants to make a go of his marriage, he will have to start behaving like an adult. If he tries, but can't make the grade—he should seek professional help.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "THE BOSS": Now that you think you've got her out of your system—play it safe and get her out of your office.

What's your problem? For a personal reply write to Abby, care of The Pontiac Press. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Hollywood Headlines:

Far, Far Into the Night: Who Is Greatest Singer?

By JAMES BACON
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — If you want to get a good argument going at your next party, casually ask opinions on who is the greatest male singer of the modern show business era.

A reporter tossed that one into the hopper at a Hollywood gathering the other night and it kept the party going into the small hours.

Many names came up but the finalists boiled to two—Bing Crosby and Frank Sinatra.

Most agreed that if the question pertained to today only, Sinatra would win. If limited to the last 25 years, then Crosby gets the nod. That, in effect, makes it a tie.

It's true that Bing is not singing much these days, whereas Frank is singing better—and more—than ever.

Both have earned millions. Bing holds the record for the greatest single record sale of all time—"White Christmas"—now past the 10 million mark. Frank is the all time champion album seller.

They are the two most imitated singers alive today. Some of Crosby's imitators have become almost as famous as he. Dean Martin and Perry Como both started as Crosby imitators. Martin says unabashedly: "Bing had his tonsils removed and I bought them."

Perry developed his own style on TV and records but in the old days he sounded more like Crosby than Bing himself. Como, by the way, is Bing's favorite male singer.

"I guess maybe it's the old self-identification appeal," he quipped when a reporter reminded him that Como once imitated the Crosby style.

Of Sinatra, Bing comments: "He's the type of singer who comes once in a lifetime, but why did he have to come in my lifetime?"

Bing is the first to admit that he isn't singing as well as he did in the Thirties.

"But then," he adds, "I'm not doing anything as well as I did in the Thirties."

Or as Bob Hope once said: "Bing's idea of a big night now is to switch his electric blanket from medium to warm."

Al Jolson's name came up in the debate but he was ruled out as being of another era. When Bing first started, most singers were imitating Jolson, with the exceptions of Gene Austin and Rudy Vallee.

Bing's style was his own and different. And he became a star.

When Sinatra came on the scene most singers were imitating Crosby. Frank had a different sound and he too became a star.

Life Never Gets Dull When Susan's Around

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—When you see Susan Cabot looking so cool and pretty on the "Pantomime Quiz" TV show, you probably don't suspect that she's going home to worry about burglars and porch-climbers trying to get into her tumbledown apartment over a French restaurant.

WILSON

"I romanticize about everything and I think of it as my studio," says Susan, the former star of movie westerns who got linked with King Hussein of Jordan a few months ago.

"Actually, I guess it's just a very old building that's listing and sinking two or three inches every month . . . It's in the restaurant and nightclub neighborhood . . . One night I was on the phone chatting away when I saw the bottom of my window opening up right before my eyes!

"I stood fixed to the spot wondering how to turn off the light on the other side of the room.

"I kind of belly-crawled across the room and got to the switch. I heard the prowler jump down and run away."

SUSAN

Life's seemingly adways adventurous for Susan — who's a fragile little 5-foot-2, and 31, though she doesn't look it — says her next audacious act will be to play opposite gifted Tom Poston in the new B'way show, "The Golden Fleecing," which Abe Burrows is directing.

"I play the Admiral's daughter," Susan said. "I fall in love with Tom Poston. He's a Navy man—and I've had it up to my teeth with Navy men."

Susan, who used to be Harriet Shapiro of Boston, has had a life of hard work. About 10 years ago, she sang at the Village Barn, also sang some drug store commercials on a "Cavalcade of Bands" show starring Jack Carter at the same time—while designing jewelry at Gimbel's.

"I had almost arranged a scholarship to La Scala, but I didn't have the fare," she says.

"I've been everything from a gun moll to a high priestess in science fiction, to a juvenile delinquent.

"I guess 'Tomahawk' with Van Heflin was my best picture. All this happened because I didn't have the fare to Italy."

Beautiful Lu Is Picked Up, So to Speak

The hunt began a week ago in suburban Paris when two confessed robbers were caught in a smashed car and named the couple as leaders of a gang.

BULLETS WING

In the next few days Lulu and Marcel crashed through two police roadblocks while bullets whizzed. A trail of wrecked and stolen cars marked their progress around the Paris suburbs.

Lulu, 26, is the mother of four children. Her name on police records is Lucienne Colombo. Last December she was paroled from jail, where she was serving time for theft, after pleading with the judge "I want to take care of my children."

Marcel Bertoux, 19, has served four terms in juvenile homes for car theft and robbery.

New College Almost Over Top in Drive

PETOSKEY (UPI)—North Central Michigan College officials say they hope a $30,000 fund-raising campaign will go over the top within a few days.

The college, which opens its doors for its first year of operation Monday, will use the money along with $30,000 in state matching funds — or a total of $60,000 — for capital improvements.

"We have raised $26,816 so far and more is coming in," Dean Alfred D. Shankland said.

So far, 237 persons have become "honorary alumni" of the college by contributing $5 or more to the drive.

Tieless Solons Lose Battle at Chamber Door

Moscow Radio Gives Lowdown on Khrushchev

LONDON (AP)—Moscow radio today broadcast a long character sketch of Nikita Khrushchev for the benefit of its North American listeners, describing him as a responsive, solicitous leader and a genial grandfather.

Khrushchev was praised for his thorough working knowledge of industry and agriculture and his concern for individual workers.

"Despite his very busy life he is a family man," the radio said.

Mail OKs Nikita Visit

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower's mail on the forthcoming visit of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev includes some protests but also a lot of favorable reaction, The White House said Friday.

Nikita Softening Rift Over India

Peace Feelers Follow Appeal From Moscow for Solution

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev today appeared making headway in getting Red China and India to cool off their hot border dispute which has been casting a shadow over his impending mission to the United States.

After days of flinging bitter charges of aggression against each other, the two giant Asian countries gently tossed out peace feelers Friday in their quarrel involving roughly 35,000 square miles of frontier territory.

SPECIAL SESSION

Red China's parliamentary Standing Committee, called into a special session Friday to hear report on the dispute, is meeting again today.

Peiping and New Delhi have both welcomed the Moscow statement on Wednesday appealing to them to resolve their border feud peacefully.

A pro-Communist Indian weekly this morning suggested Khrushchev may offer himself as an intermediary after his 12-day tour of the United States beginning Tuesday with the professed purpose of easing international tensions.

VISIT SET

The Soviet Premier has announced already he will visit Peiping for conferences with Chinese Communist leaders Sept. 29 on his return home.

Says He'll Have Ike Arrested if Nikita Comes

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A lumber worker was picked up by police Friday after allegedly writing President Eisenhower that he would have him arrested for allowing Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev to visit this country.

Detectives said they arrested James Mason, 25, Los Angeles, on a tip from the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

They said Mason also wrote FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover that he must clear up crime or he would "get a gun and do it himself."

Class Learns You Don't Step on Beehives

BATTLE CREEK (AP) — A junior high school science class of 40 may not have learned much about the birds on a field trip Thursday, but 20 of them — and the teacher — certainly learned something about the bees.

Nikita Says He'll Give Us 'Russian Hell'

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press News Analyst

Nikita Sergeyevich Khrushchev, in his own words, intends to give the United States a bit of "good old Russian hell."

The prospective guest of the American public appears to have a low opinion of the United States—or at least that portion of it he calls the ruling circles.

The ruling circles include anybody who owns property, anybody who is in a directing position in labor unions, the entire military, the entire government and the entire middle class from lower to upper.

There is little chance Khrushchev's visit will do much to change his mind. It may, however, have some effect on the timetable the world Communist leader has worked out. The premier of the Soviet Union and first secretary of the Soviet Communist party may learn some surprising things.

Khrushchev has staked his niche in Soviet history upon a challenging declaration of economic war against the United States. In a broadcast just over a year ago, Khrushchev said a shooting war is not necessary for a world victory by communism.

'VICTORY IS SURE'

"We have other means to fight the class enemy, my dears," he said to Americans in general. "And in this, victory for us is assured. We will raise our economy, raise labor productivity, produce more per human being, so that soon, gentlemen, you understand, the time will come, you Americans, when we shall, as the saying goes, give you good old Russian hell."

Khrushchev's plan to give us all hell involves overtaking an surpassing the United States in all phases of economic development, including the consumer side.

Next week he will have a chance to note the size of the chew he has bitten off.

OOZE GOOD WILL

Since Khrushchev got his invitation, the Soviet press has been oozing good will toward the United States, though carefully larding this with frequent attacks on those shadowy, frightening "ruling circles."

Over the years Khrushchev has been unsparing in a constant stream of invective leveled against the United States and its leaders—vilifying, taunting, challenging.

Men who have talked privately with Khrushchev report he shows profound ignorance of the United States—its people, workers, living standards, economy and political system.

To Khrushchev, all American politicians are alike. The American worker, choosing between parties, merely chooses between exploiters.

Factory managers in the Soviet Union have no strike problem. Strikes are forbidden. The state operates labor unions. But Khrushchev professes to believe labor unions in America are all "tools of monopoly capital." If Americans strike, it is a phenomenon which could not be controled by union bosses. To him, this indicates decay of the whole American system.

Khrushchev is enraged by suggestions that the Soviet government cares little about the consumer, aims only at industrial power and war might.

"The American politicians often shed crocodile tears about the Soviet government allegedly giving little attention to developing those branches of industry which directly meet the people's needs," shouted Khrushchev in Czechoslovakia last year. (Aware of possible envy in the U.S.S.R., he does not make such statements for home consumption.)

DECIDE ON TEST

"So," he continued, "we decided to make a practical test of their attitude and let them show whether the American imperialists really care for the peoples of the Soviet Union, that they should consume more, or whether they care for having the economic potential undermined and making it incapable of defense, and thus have the opportunity to carry on their cold war policy and dictate conditions from a position of strength."

Khrushchev has been least violent in his treatment of President Eisenhower, among all American leaders. Yet he has accused the President of being directly responsible for a "brink of war" policy. Stung by Eisenhower's proclamation of Captive Nations Week, in sympathy for communized Eastern Europe, Khrushchev accused him of crude interference with the intention of increasing world tensions, inciting passions and provoking an arms race. The President's sugestion that there might be a clean hydrogen bomb, free from fallout, Khrushchev has scoffingly labelled "stupid."

But Khrushchev's pet targets are American military men. He has suggested some of them should be committed to lunatic asylums.

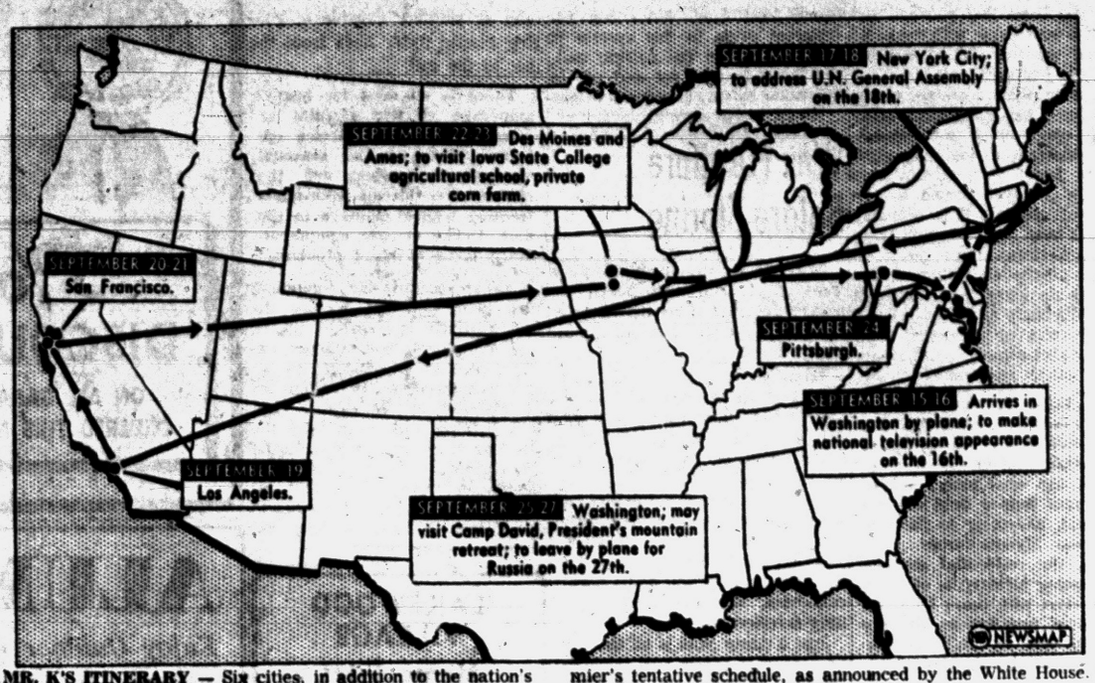

HAD NO CHOICE?

Khrushchev's best propagandists are now sugesting that the United States government had no choice but to invite a great peace champion to its shores, because that was the "will of the people."

Novelist Ilya Ehrenburg put forward this idea in an article recently about the "energy, the tirelessness, yes, and the thorough-going humaneness of the head of the Soviet government." The U. S. government, suggested Ehrenburg, really didn't want Khrushchev to visit America, but the American people forced it.

To Khrushchev, there is a difference between what he calls the people and what he calls the ruling circles. And in the back of his mind Khrushchev may have a picture of a tired, strugling, browbeaten American people waiting eagerly for a sunlit ray of hope from the chief representative of the Kremlin and world communism.

MR. K'S ITINERARY — Six cities, in addition to the nation's capital, will be visited by Nikita Khrushchev when he comes to this country next week. Newsmap above traces the Soviet Premier's tentative schedule, as announced by the White House. The travel plans were worked out during meetings of representatives from Soviet embassy and State Department.

Parking Authority to Study Problem of Motor Scooters

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Parking Authority has a problem — motor scooters.

There are 1,189 in the city and the number is increasing daily.

The problems are where to park the little vehicles and how much to charge for the service.

The operator of two large parking garages opposes cut-rate parking fees for them because "not everyone can operate a scooter. We'd have to train specialized personnel" to handle them at garages.

"That's a hell of an idea," beamed Chairman Albert E. Schlesinger. He ordered a special scooter storage study.

RANCH-SPLIT — This is a ranch with a split personality — seven rooms with "hide-away" studio room over the garage. Glass Does the Job

Gas water heater manufacturers have licked the age-old problem of rust by lining storage tanks with glass or non-corrosive metal. It took years of experimentation to overcome the fact the U. S. private and public water works dispense more than 18,000 different types of water — chemically different, that is.

Shellac Handles

When you're applying shellac to some surface, take extra time to coat the wood handles on garden tools. The coating will make them look better and keep wood from splintering. For extra protection, keep the tools indoors or in a dry area when not in use.

New Air-Conditioning Done With Gas in Many Modern Homes

Did you know that you can air-condition your home with the same fuel you use for cooking, heating and water heating?

The more than 3,500,000 homes now using a gas refrigerator know that it operates on a believe-it-or-not principle of producing cooling (or frost) with a tiny gas flame by what is known as the absorption method. It is probably true that most people in this army of householders aren't clear on how the absorption system works, but they do know the basic fact that it efficiently and silently freezes and preserves perishable foods without using a motor, compressor or any other mechanical means.

The same principle now is used to achieve year-round gas air conditioning. Hundreds of commercial and industrial users of gas air conditioning equipment have helped field-test the idea and, according to the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association, the residential gas air conditioning industry is off to a flying start with more than 23,000 home installations already in place and an additional 16,000 scheduled for the rest of this year.

Not long ago the Federal Housing Administration, in a letter to its field offices advising that air conditioning be considered in establishing mortgage evaluation on property, said that "within a few years any house which is not air conditioned will probably be obsoleted."

UNDER ONE PER CENT

After reviewing various market surveys including Census Bureau data showing that fewer than one per cent of all U.S. private dwellings have central air conditioning, GAMA has launched a campaign to acquaint homeowners and builders with the advantages and economies involved in using the same fuel for year-round heating and cooling as for cooking, water heating and other established uses of gas.

There now are several makes of gas central conditioning equipment to choose from. In some cases the cooling unit is located outside the house; in other instances, this unit lines up with the furnace in the basement. In either case, both warm air for heating and cool filtered air for warm-weather comfort are distributed through the house via the same ductwork.

In other words, GAMA points out, the gas air cooling unit can either be added to the gas heating system in an existing home or it can be installed as a heating-cooling combination in a home under construction.

One gas system now attracting attention produces chilled water which it pumps to cooling coils within the building, located wherever convenient to absorb the internal heat load. Since the refrigerant cycle in this system is complete within the cooling unit, the latter can be set and put in operation by any nontechnical gas man or plumber capable of running plastic water lines from the unit to the coil.

There is no need for heavy-amperage electric circuits or a new 200-ampere service entrance. There is no seasonal change-over service, and the chilled-water circuit withstands freezing without damage to the unit. Unlike electric equipment, there is no overload problem.

Gas air conditioning equipment men point out that besides the comparatively low cost of upkeep and operation in gas systems, another economy is expected to accrue to homeowners as the number of installations increases. This, they believe, will result from the stepping up of gas usage during the normally slower summer months and the possibility that this will enable many gas companies to adopt special rate schedules for summer-cooling billings.

Wax Furniture Before Storing

Are you getting ready to store away your summer, beach or patio furniture? If so, here's good news if it's made of wood, aluminum or metal.

Experiments by a wax company's chemists show that an application of self-polishing floor wax will save this kind of furniture from many of the usual winter storage problems.

Wax protection will stop dirt and dust penetration. Dampness from basement or garage storaging, likewise, will settle only on top of the wax where it will do no harm; otherwise, the furniture's finish may deteriorate.

Just a damp cloth is all that will be needed to renew wax protected furniture when summer rolls along. This wax's protection also serves to retard the pitting of aluminum.

The Newsprint Information Committee expects American newspapers to use a record seven million tons of newsprint in 1959. The previous high was 6,899,000 tons in 1956.

Background for LIVING

EARLY AMERICAN—Carol, the Morses' only child, planned her bedroom in the new house. She chose Early American furniture in oak. Walls are pale lilac; curtains and fluffy rugs are white. The three hobnail lamps add the right touch as accessories.

Pontiac Press Photos by Eddie Vanderwerp

NEAR ELIZABETH LAKE — The Clell Morse family moved into this brick and frame house last November. Built on three levels, it has a two-car attached garage. The house is on the west side of Cooley Lake road, facing Elizabeth Lake. Ray Rapaport was the builder.

Your Neighbor's House

Clell Morse Home Near Elizabeth Lake

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Last Christmas the best present the Clell Morse family had was being in their new home on Cooley Lake road. Like millions of other American families they had had a dream of a home in the country. For years they had owned three lots facing Elizabeth Lake, waiting for the time when they could build.

Ray Rapaport built the Morse home, using a stock plan and adding a basement. It is light orange brick with white trim. The Morse lot is 120 by 205 feet.

We never did go in the front door, either time we visited the Morses. It was easier to park our car in the driveway and enter the house through the garage and utility room. Here the walls are aqua. At the window there are checked curtains in brown, aqua and pink.

Through the three large windows in the family room on the lower level there is an ever-changing view of the lake. These windows are draped in floor length cream colored material. The draperies are printed in gold, rust and black.

The floor is corktone tile. Walls are paneled in Philippine mahogany. The ceiling is white. All doors are flush birch. Furniture is arranged around the brown and tan oval braided rug.

BRICK WALL

The end wall is brick. Here there is a fireplace with a raised slate hearth. The fire screen is glass. Through the years Morse has collected a number of athletic trophies which are displayed on shelves next to the fireplace.

On the middle level of the house is the living room-dining room and kitchen. Carpeting which covers the main living area and the stairway is tweed in two shades of beige. Walls are painted in a color called cinnamon sand.

Just inside the front door the floor is slate. The wall between living room and kitchen is pink brick. White draperies with a metal thread are used at both front and back picture windows.

The long beige sofa has a hint of pink in its upholstery. The back cushions are striped in two shades of beige and black. A pair of tangerine arm chairs have walnut frames.

There is a swivel chair with brass legs. This is upholstered in cinnamon and black stripes with a gold thread. The walnut coffee table has a Formica top.

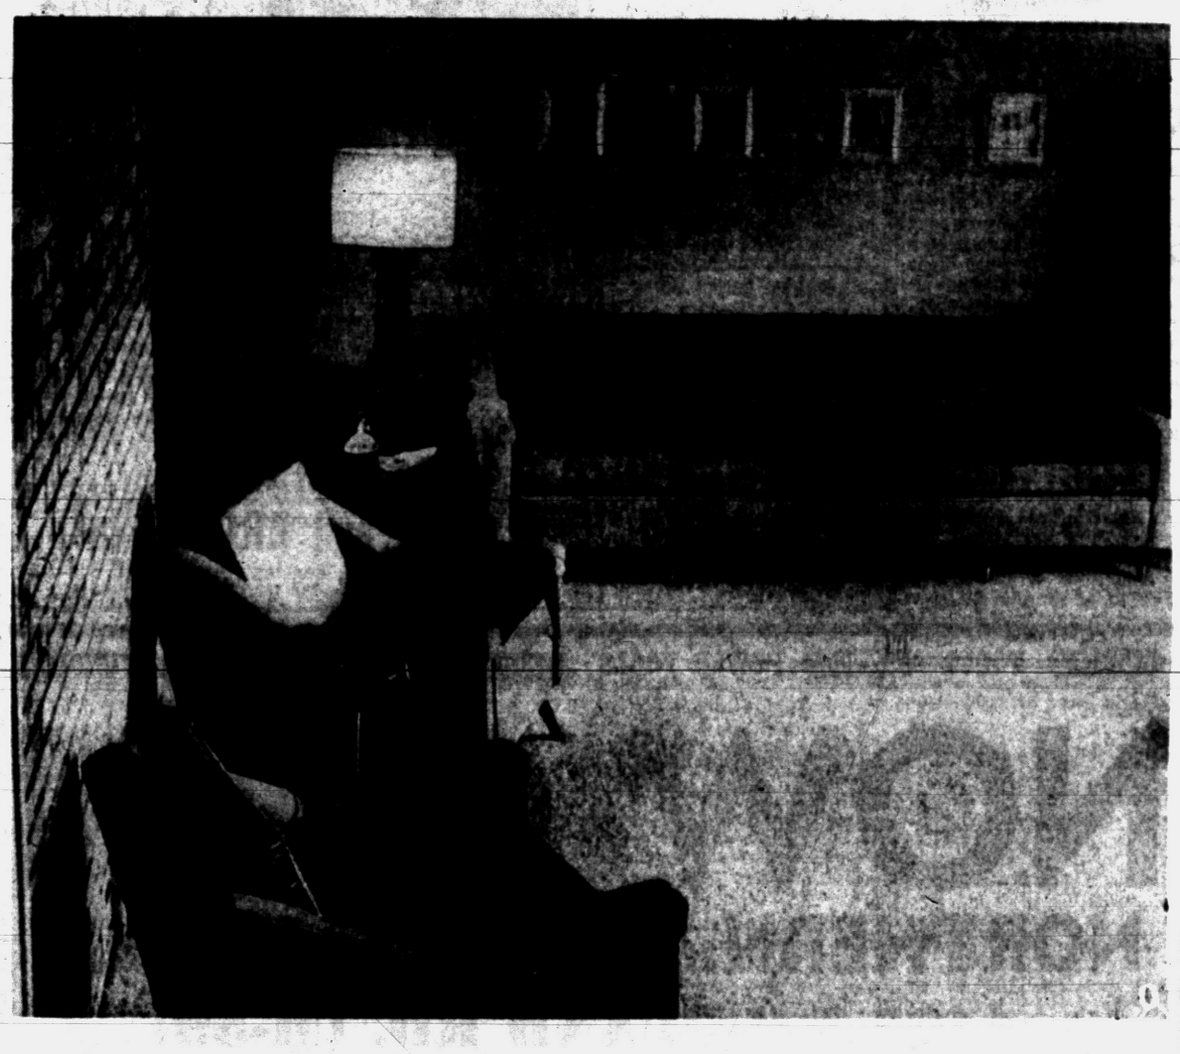

Furniture in the dining room is also walnut. There is a long buffet on one wall with a pair of walnut framed fruit pictures above it. The table is round.

There are tangerine seats on the chairs which have walnut frames and backs. In front of the sliding glass door there is a handsome split leaf philodendron plant.

Mrs. Morse's kitchen cupboards are plastic with brass hardware. They are finished in a wood shade called frosted walnut. Oven and range are copper tone.

Resilient Tile Excellent to Cover Wornout Floors

When something must be done about floors that are showing the results of hard wear, suggested remedies will be about as numerous as the people you consult. Fine hardwood floors can be refinished as a rule, less attractive floors may require more drastic changes.

The homemaker will have personal opinions about what she'd like and will take into consideration how her family lives and how much should be spent on improving floors.

One point most will agree on is that in any major area that takes continuous wear, the best products are an economy in the long run. This is particularly true if you are paying installation costs to skilled labor. It may prove expensive folly to settle for less costly and less durable materials which will have to be replaced more often.

One type of flooring material that enjoys steadily rising sales is resilient tile. There are different types of tiles but two of the top types are rubber and vinyl which are widely used by interior designers for floors where durability must be combined with a smart appearance.

Vinyl is used in combination floorings but the aristocrats of the vinyls are the solid vinyl tile or sheets. Solid vinyls have cleaner colors that go all the way through so they won't wear or scrub away. This is true of rubber tile too.

What sometimes proves confusing is the number of patterns and the range of colors plus an ever-growing number of precut inserts and border designs to individualize a particular floor.

Besides marbleized, simulated wood and terazzo styles, there are translucent designs which are expensive but beautiful. Metallic effects include sparkling flecks of glitter and the more muted silver, copper or gold leaf which appear to be embedded in the plastic.

If you are planning any sizable reflooring job you will probably consult with a trained designer or flooring expert before final decision. For inspiration and for a starting point to help get your thoughts organized, a designer, Kim Hoffmann, suggests looking at pictures of the classic architectural details of ancient marble floors.

Hoffmann likes an oversize harlequin design in vivid colors in spatter type rubber tile to offset narrowness of small foyers and dining rooms. He also makes use of border designs to set off a focal point in a room.

In a small living room for example he used solid-colored aqua vinyl tile. But he added a border of white vinyl with round insets of gold to point up a window wall that included an imposing planter box with white pots holding tall greenery. The aqua shade is repeated in window drapery pattern and in upholstery on the contemporary chairs.

Although rubber and vinyl floors won't stain or spot very readily and spills can be wiped up, they don't take care of themselves. Damp mopping and buffing are needed to keep them shining. The Rubber Vinyl Tile Council does advise a thin coat of wax to minimize gritty or abrasive soil.

Bedroom Can Look Luxurious

In decorating and furnishing their home, women must bow to functionalism in most areas of the house, but when it comes to choosing the decor for their bedroom, a touch of luxury is never amiss.

Women who want to gratify their decorative instincts by creating an elegant, tasteful boudoir should look to the walls, for it's here that the unusual can be created most easily. For instance, a striking accent wall can take the place of an ornate headboard.

The accent wall can be created of an unusual, textured material like wall paneling of white pocket Douglas fir, selected fir boards which are sprinkled with tiny, white pores. Finished in white and gold, the paneling smacks of aristocracy.

Here's how to develop the white and gold theme. Brush white paint over the fir panels, wiping it off almost immediately so that the white adheres to the wood without completely covering the grain pattern. Next, apply a coat of sealer and allow it to dry.

Then rub gold paint into the pores of the wood; it will catch in the tiny pockets and the rest can be wiped off the flat surface. As the finishing touch, apply another coat of sealer and after drying, wax the paneling.

The white and gold of the accent wall should be picked up in other furnishings of the bedroom: an off-white carpet and draperies, white and gold lamps on the night stands, and the bedspread can be in a clear contrasting color like larkspur blue.

All four walls of the bedroom can also be finished in white pocket with beautiful effect.

Cool Your Floors

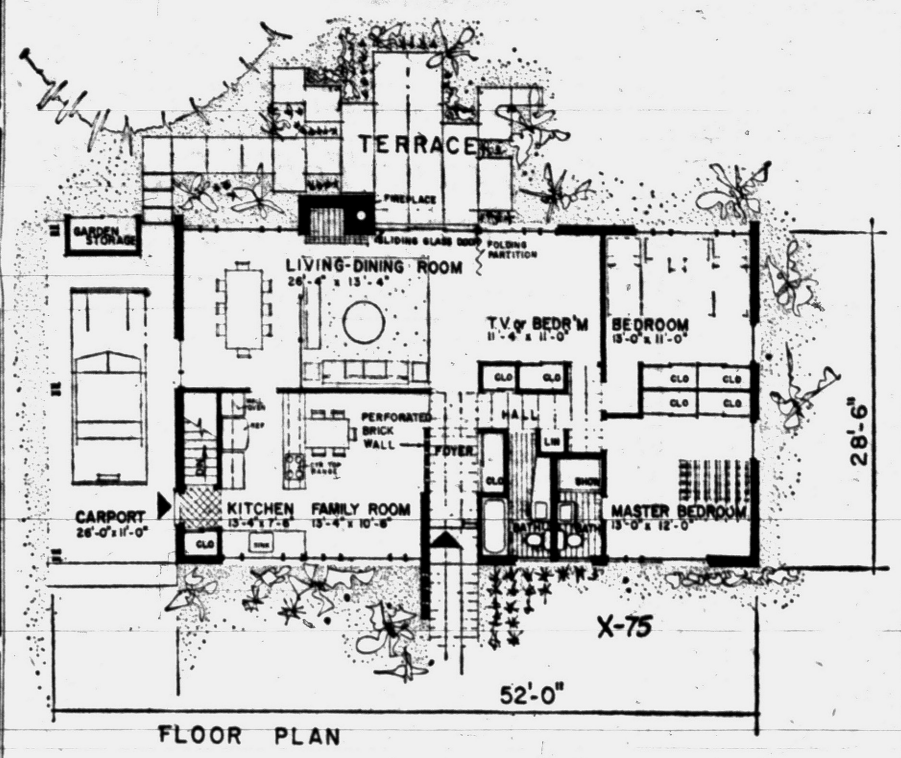

The latest development in gas home air conditioning is by forced air, conveyed under the floor to cool the floor surface. The cooled air is introduced into the room near the floor level. This type of system is called "perimeter gas all-year air conditioning." Problem houses, such as those with large areas of glass, can be comfortably heated and cooled with this system.

Grain Production High

SOMETHING NEW—This modern-styled ranch has a habitable area of 1,450 square feet. The interior arrangement features spacious living and working areas and wide windows. There are two bedrooms and an optional third.

FLOOR PLAN

FLOOR PLAN — Excellent integration of kitchen-family section, living-dining area and the bedroom wing are apparent in this modern home. The room shown as TV or bedroom easily could be made a permanent bedroom by replacing the folding partition with a solid wall.

Cathedral Ceilings Used Throughout This Home

By DAVID L. BOWEN

This design breaks down barriers of tradition and opens up living space to an unusual degree.

From the outside, the home appears conventionally modern. But the interior arrangement is full of innovation.

Most striking is the cathedral ceiling throughout the house, with the sole exception of bathrooms. This lifts the usual restrictive lid from all rooms, providing a luxurious dimension in height.

Architect Samuel Paul also calls for an impressive amount of glass, flooding the home with light.

To further increase the spacious atmosphere, the architect has made frequent use of dividers instead of solid partitions to suggest room divisions rather than enforce them.

The plan has been designated X-75 in the House of the Week series of distinguished homes. It has two bedrooms and an optional third. The home offers 1,451 square feet of habitable space.

The cathedral ceiling stems from the fact the entire roof construction is plank and beam. The rafter beams are exposed and stained to their natural shade. The roof is decked with a composite roofing material that offers both structural strength and insulation in one package.

The material, manufactured by several firms, is usually two inches thick and is nailed to the rafters. Because of its strength, rafters can be spaced further apart than the usual 16 inches on center.

"Since labor on the ceiling structure is reduced to an absolute minimum," says Architect Paul, "this system provides a considerable saving in construction costs."

WALL IS FOCAL POINT

Family room and kitchen are basically one large room with unbroken window space across the front. The two areas are divided by a counter and cabinets suspended from the sloping ceiling. A vestibule off the kitchen gives access to the carport and basement stairway.

Dining and living rooms are on the rear side of the high bearing wall that runs from end to end beneath the ridge of the house. Division between these rooms is achieved with a narrow divider screen.

A low brick fireplace is set in the heavily glassed rear wall. Two features are unusual about the fireplace: it is recessed so as not to rob the living room of valuable space and it has a pair of exposed cylindrical flues as chimney. Painted a bright color, the flues give an unusual sculptural effect to the fireplace masonry.

FLEXIBLE SPACE

Combined, the dining and living rooms run 26 feet. Another 11 feet can be added by collapsing the folding partition the architect specifies between the TV or guest room and the living room. For a family that requires three permanent bedrooms, this folding partition could easily be replaced with a permanent wall.

Both of the principal bedrooms are large size and each has two large closets. The master bedroom has a private bath.

The exterior facade of X-75 is a blending of contrasting materials. Vertical redwood siding separates sections of brick facing. The carport is integrated with the main structure and has provision for outdoor storage.

Over-all dimensions are 52 feet by 28 feet 6 inches. A full basement is called for in the plans but the home could be built on a slab foundation. In that case, the heating equipment would be placed in the space shown as basement stairway.

Average Mortgage

The typical homebuyer assumes a $12,697 mortgage to be paid for in 27.3 years at $96.10 a month, report housing experts. He'll spend another $1,569 the first year to furnish and equip the home, and still later may invest in building materials such as gypsum wallboard and ceiling tiles for the purpose of finishing attic and cellar space.

Unit Gas Heaters Switch From Industry to Home

Know what a unit heater is? It's one of the many different types of comfort heaters produced by the gas equipment industry. You've seen unit heaters in supermarkets, bowling alleys and other large areas where air changes are frequent and there's lots of traffic. Usually the unit heater is hung from the ceiling and is equipped with a blower and temperature controls.

Lately, many homeowners have begun to adopt this type of heater to supplement central gas heating or to provide quick comfort in a large basement when it isn't necessary to turn on the regular central system. Most heating contractors are qualified to discuss the unit heater — and it's easy to install.

PATCHING PLASTER — Patching up sick mortar is done by (A) culling out loose cement with screw driver or chisel before (B) applying fresh mortar with pointed trowel. Keeping surface wet after job (C) will head off future cracking.

Everyday Tools Suffice for Repairing Plaster

No amount of paint will cover a crack in the plaster. So resist the temptation to paint over every crack, crevice and hole in the wall without repairing them.

Plan to spend a little extra time getting your plaster walls in shape before repainting a room. A little patience will make up for your lack of skill.

Don't, however, attempt any major plastering jobs — an entire wall or a good-sized chunk of ceiling — unless you've had some experience. Leave the big jobs to the professional plasterer.

The tools you'll need are few and relatively inexpensive. Almost any old chisel will do, and a putty knife is something almost everyone has around. All you'll have to buy are a plasterer's trowel and a mason's pointed trowel. The last isn't necessary but it's convenient to use. For wetting the old plaster use an old paint brush or a sponge or whisk broom.

Patching plaster, which you simply mix with water, is best. Plaster of Paris is O.K., but a few drops of vinegar should be added to retard hardening. Hairline cracks can be filled with special patching compounds available in stick form or tubes.

But if you have any large holes to repair, use the regular patching plaster for everything. It's cheaper.

Small cracks need no special preparation except wetting. After you've soaked the area with water, work in the patching material with a putty knife or your fingers. Smooth the patch with a wet sponge. Small nail holes can be repaired the same way, but be sure to fill the holes right to the bottom.

UNDERCUT EDGES

Undercut the edges of the crack with your chisel. The space to be filled should be wide at the bottom, narrow near the surface of the wall. This will prevent the hardened patch from dropping out.

If you find yourself with a large hole between lath strips and nothing to support the patch, clear away a little more plaster so that the edges of the lath are exposed. Then tack a piece of thin wood to the lath to support the patch. Screen wire will also work.

Once the undercutting is done, brush away the loose particles and wet down the area thoroughly. Work in the patching plaster, but don't fill the hole completely. Allow the plaster to set for an hour or more, wet down and apply finish coat (about an eighth of an inch) and smooth down with a plasterer's trowel.

After the patch is thoroughly dry, lightly sand the edges so that there are no ridges. Then seal the patch with a coat of shellac or two coats of glue sizing. Then you're ready to paint.

SETS FAST

A word of warning on mixing plaster. Patching plaster may set in 10 to 30 minutes, depending on the brand. Check the label. Mix only what you can use in the allotted time. Have the hole ready to patch, mix plaster, wet the old plaster, apply the new.

Women Still Like Wood Floors Best

Few housewives have been won over to the wide variety of floors which have been put on the market in recent years. By far the largest number of women interviewed in a recent nation-wide test expressed a preference for wood floors in their homes.

Their reasons were varied: Some said they liked the livability of a beautifully finished wood floor which would take a wax polish and give charm and character to a room. Even women who liked wall-to-wall carpeting wanted finished wood floors underneath, and they had a point in this preference because they said such homes had better resale value.

Livability and durability ranked well up in the reasons why wood floors were preferred, the poll takers report. Wood flooring lasts longer, many women observed. When floors are made of west coast hemlock or Douglas fir, they develop, with wear, a deep patina which enhances their beauty.

One of the big reasons why housewives want wood floors is the matter of physical comfort. Wood floors are easier on the feet and back, especially for those of us who walk a half dozen miles a day doing our chores, one woman explained.

Raw Materials for Tile Come From 12 States

Of the three types of raw materials used in making ceramic tile, the so-called "fillers" are the most numerous and have the most widely spread points of origin. Flint and silica, for example, come from Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Illinois and California.

Other fillers and their sources are kaolin: Florida, North Carolina and Georgia; talc: New York and California, and pyrophyllite: North Carolina. The principal plastics used in making ceramic tile are ball clays. These are obtained from western Tennessee and Kentucky.

The third type of raw material used by ceramic tile manufacturers is fluxing agents. These are materials that melt when subjected to intense heat. Their function is to fuse all the various ingredients into a single solid mass.

The most widely used fluxing agent in the ceramic tile industry is the mineral feldspar in its pulverized form.

New Decorating Trend: Two Rugs in the Room

If you are a two-rug-in-the-room woman, you've got your finger on the pulse of good decorating.

The current trend in home furnishings is to make life easier for the homemaker as we put charm without clutter into home decor.

It can give the effect of making a room look larger or if furniture is properly placed it may give the effect of dividing a room into two sections.

Two rugs cut down on the yardage requirement of one large rug. The rugs may be used together whenever you wish a change of scene. It gives you an opportunity to display your hard flooring.

They may be used easily in smaller rooms when you move to new quarters or change the decor in the room.

A small rug can give the effect of coziness used in a particular area of a room such as in a tete-a-tete section where sofa or love seat and arm chairs are grouped.

There is great emphasis on texture in the new crop of soft floor coverings. Many of the cotton ridged rugs give the effect of chenille texture with rows closely woven into acetate yarns. There is a wide variety of color effects available from the brilliantly matched colors to the softer shades of olive green and turquoise.

Garden Apartments

Garden apartments are becoming more popular in the inner suburbs, say housing authorities of Allied Chemicals Barrett Building Materials Division. This is particularly true of attractive areas close to the city, and too expensive for single-home developments.

Ceramic Tile Copies Nature

Memories of the flowers that bloom in the spring, fade in summer and go south for the winter can be recalled by planting ceramic tile in nature's colors around your home.

Intended primarily as a solution to the problem of outdoor privacy in a small lot, the garden also forms a year-round reservoir of color and tranquility for the home. During seasons when none of the growing plants provides blossoms and foliage, the deck and walls of the garden burst into a riot of color and warmth.

Through the skillful use of some of the various colors, sizes and textures of ceramic tile made in the United States, Rose has succeeded in suggesting the hues and even movement of live plants.

For example, the deck is surfaced with two-inch matte-finish ceramic tile squares in white and pale shades of blue, green, gray, tan and brown. The entire deck appears to consist of 16-inch squares of a mixture of these colors. The illusion results from the architect's interruption of the ceramic tiles by inserting two-inch strips of black material that expands and contracts with changes of temperature.

On the screening walls are another source of dancing color much like that of nature. They are surfaced with one-inch unglazed ceramic tile squares in pale pink, light blue, light gray, charcoal gray and deep brown.

When it's not supplementing nature, the ceramic tile surfaces of the garden make a harmonious background for Rose's artful arrangements of English ivy, Japanese holly, rhododendron and pyrocanthus (firethorn to you).

Ceramic Logs

Realistic oak and birch gas logs, made of heat-reflecting ceramic material, are just the thing for cool evenings. The logs are designed to slant forward in the fireplace so the gas flame will leap over them, giving an authentic log-burning effect. They produce warmth with no smoke and no ashes. The control is easily accessible at the front of the logs.

The median age of home buyers this year is 36, say housing statisticians of Allied Chemical's Barrett Building Materials Division. Forty-three per cent of all buyers are in the 30-to-40 age bracket.

Uses 80 Farm Products

CLEVELAND — About 70 man-hours of labor are required to produce a ton of tin plate.

Americans will spend $22 billion this year to build new houses and apartments or for the alteration of old ones.

California forest fires in one year burned over 306,000 acres with a loss of more than $4 million.

Gas Industry Grows

Insect damage to U.S. in a year amounts to about $4 billion, in addition to the costs of control.

Ideally, window area should represent about 10 per cent of floor area of a room. Less might suffice, but that figure is considered about right.

Italy has about four million automobiles.

OAK FLOORS

In the bedrooms there are polished oak floors. The furniture in the master bedroom is also oak. Walls are pale green. The white curtains have black and gold figures.

Carol is the only child in the family. At 17 she has definite likes and dislikes. She had a positive hand and voice in helping choose furniture for the family's new house.

The bed has a wide top rail with short spindles below. Hardware on the dresser is brass. In keeping with the period Carol added white hobnail lamps.

Because she just loves anything purple she decided on pale lilac for the walls of her bedroom. The scatter rugs are white and fluffy. Curtains also are white.

An interesting item in the guest room is a little night light that was a wedding gift to Mrs. Morse's parents.

In this room the walls are rose beige. Curtains are white. There is a beige ribbed spread on the walnut bed which has a bookcase headboard.

Home Buyers Aware of Building Materials

Ten years ago it was the rare homebuyer who asked questions about construction features. Today such questions are the rule.

Why this change in attitude?

"The home customer has come to appreciate the importance of good construction," says W. D. Herbert, home specialist for Allied Chemical's Barrett Building Materials Division.

"A lot of home shoppers today already own a home and are looking for one more suitable to current needs." Herbert explains, "Experience, and sometimes it has been costly experience, has taught them what good construction means in relation to upkeep."

"Furthermore, articles by home specialists in newspapers and magazines and ads by brand-name manufacturers have given the public a new awareness of quality construction requirements."

"The use of quality construction materials of established reputation in new homes is being advertised and demonstrated by builders to a greater extent than ever. Builders' sales representatives have been trained to provide information on construction features to questioning buyers."

What are some of the questions most frequently asked?

Here are some of the leading categories and typical questions, according to Herbert.

1. GENERAL CONSTRUCTION—Is the foundation waterproofed? Is there enough ventilation in basement, attic or crawl spaces? How far apart are studding members? What kind of sheathing is used? What type of window construction is employed?

2. PLUMBING AND HEATING—Is the heating unit large enough for the house? Where are the thermostats located? Of what material are the pipes made? How much insulation is there in walls and ceilings?

3. ELECTRICITY—Is there sufficient power for all modern appliances? Are circuit breakers or fuses used? Are there enought outlets?

4. INTERIOR FINISH—Is there gypsum board of sufficient thickness and fire resistance in areas such as stairwells, kitchen and basement where additional fire protection is necessary? Are modern fireboard ceiling tiles used in family rooms to reduce noise?

5. EXTERIOR — Does siding retain its new look in all kinds of weather and how often is repainting necessary? Are roof shingles of sufficient weight for long life? Will they stay on in the face of local wind conditions? Are they fire-resistant?

Finally, the most important questions of all: Are name brand materials used throughout? What is the builder's reputation for workmanship?

Hydraulic Closer Silences Doors

Opening your storm or screen door may make your blood pressure rise a few points. Think not? How many times have you bumped your heel while walking through the door? Had to retrace your steps to latch it? Cringed as the door played a steady staccato beat from the children opening it all day. Small annoyances caused by an improper closer! Now there is a door closer that always works smoothly!

After years of research, the Illinois Lock Company of Chicago has produced a hydraulic fluid closer that always works smoothly and evenly—in all seasons—without adjustment. The secret of its smooth operation is the hydraulic fluid principle, rather than air.

Furthermore, because of a double strength spring in this hydraulic closer, it has double the wind resistance and double the 50 pound bumper spring gives extra protection against sudden gusts of wind. This closer has a noiseless closing device. The door hesitates just before it closes and then latches silently and quietly.

It is simple to install and because it is a completely sealed unit, requires no lubrication at any time. And in addition, this hydraulic closer is guaranteed for fifteen years to give trouble-free performance.

Venting Dryer Is Easy Job

Properly venting a gas clothes dryer is one job a handy do-it-himselfer can manage merely by consulting the service manual attached to the appliance when it's delivered. According to the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association, some of the dryer manufacturers not only supply the directions but also furnish kits containing all of the parts necessary for doing a good venting job.

In a split-level house, where the laundry is situated below ground level, flexible ducting can be extended from the dryer and clamped to a pipe fitted through an outside wall or run through a window.

Where a window outlet is used, the usual method is to replace one of the window panes with a galvanized steel plate that has a hole cut through it to allow the vent pipe or the flexible tube to be run to the outside.

Whether the vent pipe goes through the wall or window, an aluminum hood is usually fitted to it on the outside to prevent back drafts or keep rain from affecting its operation.

And if the do-it-yourselfer is not as handy as he'd like to be, he'll find capable help at his gas appliance dealer's.

Mud Room Is Necessary With Kids

Anyone who has lived in a family with active children recognizes the problem presented by muddy boots and play clothing.

Hence the mud room. It's a bathroom opening onto the rear entrance or to a terrace. It's a place where youngsters can strip off soiled overalls or jeans and take a shower before the next meal or before their afternoon nap.

Mothers of growing youngsters find that the mud room saves wear and tear on the rest of the house. As the children grow up, they continue to use the mud room for a quick shower after outdoor sports or returning from the beach.

A shower is an indispensable part of the room. The shower may be over a small receptor type of bathtub or in a separate watertight compartment. A countertop lavatory and a water closet, preferably off the floor for ease in cleaning.

ENCLOSED PORCH — This porch has been turned into a regular sun room by the substitution of aluminum sliding doors for the original screens. These doors can be set into frame construction, brick veneer or solid masonry. Made in Warren, these doors have self-storing storm and screen protection. The doors may be used to replace French doors, to enclose room additions or as patio entrances. Federal Modernization Company of Pontiac did the remodeling in the above picture.

No More Storm Windows With New Thermopane

Traditional double-hung windows, heretofore restricted largely to ordinary glass, will be mass-produced with double-pane insulating glass for the first time this autumn.

The breakthrough in home window styling was made possible by the development of a new lightweight Thermopane that weighs 25 per cent less than the previous product, according to R. S. MacNichol, of Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass Company.

With the lighter glass, window design engineers were able to solve balance problems that has plagued them before.

Six millwork companies already are producing the new double-hung windows and other manufacturers are expected to begin making the sash to accommodate Thermopane soon.

Home builders who have seen the new windows have been extremely enthusiastic about their advantages, said MacNichol, including:

1. Elimination of storm windows. This puts an end to the drudgery and hazards of hanging and removing storm windows twice a year; also eliminates storage problems.

2. Heating and cooling economy. Thermopane minimizes the transmission of heat and cold and seals up any "holes" in an otherwise fully-insulated house.

3. Ventilation. Double-hung windows afford free air circulation at top and bottom, a feature unique to this design.

The new lightweight Thermopane also can be installed in other kinds of windows, MacNichol said, but it is believed that builders will favor it for double-hung sash, since it will offer something new to homeowners.

Ike May Step Into Strike Soon

Could Use Taft-Hartley as National Health and Safety Threatened

NEW YORK (AP)—Negotiations in the 60-day-old steel stri' continued today with increasing indications that the White House may soon take a hand to end the crippling walkout.

The National Governors Conference Friday launched a move intended to bring President Eisenhower into the negotiations.

The President has maintained that he plans no direct action until the national health and safety are threatened. At that point he is expected to invoke the power granted to him under the Taft-Hartley Act and force both sides to resume production for an 80-day period.

Such a move was not expected until next month, but reports are that strike effects are now approaching crippling proportions for the national economy.

Besides the half million steelworkers idled by the strike 175,000 other workers in allied fields have been laid off, and steel inventories, acquired before the strike in anticipation of a shutdown, are reported to be running out. Many small companies are halting production.

Dalai Lama Sending Brother to U.N.

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—The Dalai Lama is sending his brother Gyalo Thondup to New York to explain the Tibetan situation to U.N. delegates, informed sources said today.

The refugee king has already sent a direct appeal to the U.N. for help. He accused the Chinese Communists of carrying out a program to exterminate the Tibetan race.

The Dalai Lama has lived in exile in India since fleeing Tibet during last spring's anti-Communist uprising.

Motherwell Goes Back to Face Murder Charge

ATLANTA (AP)—A 43-year-old Washington handyman will be flown back to California today to face charges of murdering a wealthy 72-year-old Washington widow.

"I want to clear up the charges against me . . . and lead a normal, free life," said Larry Lord Motherwell.

A California warrant charges the handyman and carpenter with the murder of Mrs. Pearl Ida Putney, whose skeleton was found in Sierra County, Calif., last Aug. 16, a year and a day after she was last seen alive.

SUDDENLY . . . ALONE — His wife is dead. So are his six children. They died when a train struck their car. A stunned James Zimmerman, 38, leaves a Waseca, Minn. hospital carrying the weight of sorrow. His wife Irene, 39, died three hours after the accident in the hospital. The children perished at the crash scene.

'Now Everything Is Gone' — Train Victims' Father

WASECA, Minn. (AP) — "I've worked hard. I had a lovely wife, wonderful children. Now everything is gone. Everything. It's an empty feeling."

James Zimmerman sadly shook his bowed head in voicing his heartbreak over the train - car crash that snuffed out the lives of his wife and six children. A Minneapolis & St. Louis freight train smashed into their station wagon Friday at a crossing just half a block from the Sacred Heart Catholic School, where four of the children attended classes.

Killed at the scene were Michael, 10; Connie, 8; Barbara, 7; James Jr., 5; and Janice, 2. Kathryn, 13, died shortly afterward, and Mrs. Zimmerman, 39, three hours later at a Waseca hospital.

All but James and Janice were enrolled at the school—they had just gone along for the ride from the Zimmerman farm, 4½ miles east of here.

A coroner's jury viewed the bodies Friday night, then recessed until next week, after the funeral, for its verdict.

Neighbors said the Zimmermans used their own station wagon as an economy measure—riding on the school bus would have cost $9 per child per month.

Sheriff Stan Bailey said witnesses told him the flashing red lights on U.S. Highway 14 as it crosses the tracks were working. He added that it was a supposition one of the children may have distracted Mrs. Zimmerman momentarily.

The impact hurled the car into a depot loading platform, then it went on to smash into a parked freight car.

Bodies of the mother and her six children will be at the family farm from Sunday until Tuesday morning when solemn high mass will be held at Sacred Heart Church.

Zimmerman lives on the farm where he was born, in a house abutting that of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Zimmerman.

Says Kozlov Claimed Reds Building A-Subs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice Adm. Hyman G. Rickover says a first deputy premier of the Soviet Union, Frol R. Kozlov, told him the Soviets are building atomic-powered submarines.

Defense experts have long thought it highly likely the Russians were doing this. Rickover's statement, however, was the first to pin such a claim directly on a high Soviet official.

How Does It Feel to Rob the Helpless, Hoodlum?

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — Are you proud of yourself, Mr. Hoodlum? Are you telling the boys of the easy mark that netted you $25 and a watch?

Did you tell how you saw a little old man carrying a white cane outside a Goodwill store? That was Frank Harvey, 92, who lives in the shadowy world of the half-blind. He was shopping for a food cart to make life easier for his wife, Rhoda, 73, painfully crippled with arthritis.

Did you tell how the man asked for directions? Your clever reply was: "Let me help you. The Goodwill people hired me to show people where to find places."

Did you tell how you led the frail man up a path obscured by bramble bushes and rode his 5-foot-5, 135-pound frame to the ground? Did you tell of expertly applying a throat lock while you removed the wallet and $3 watch.

Well, Mr. Hoodlum, how does it feel to rob the helpless?

Seek Quick Trial in Little Rock Blasts

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Authorities wrapping up the case of three Little Rock bombings said a quick trial would be sought for five accused men.

A possibility of further arrests remained today, but Police Chief Eugene Smith said only "loose ends" had to be gathered up.

Those charged are E. A. Lauderdale Sr., 48, lumber dealer and segregationist leader; J. D. Sims, 35, truck driver; Jesse Raymond Perry, 24, truck driver; John Taylor Coggins, 39, auto salesman; and Samuel Graydon Beavers, 42, a carpenter.

The first three were charged in the dynamite bombing of the Little Rock School Board's offices and a station wagon belonging to Fire Chief Gann Nalley. The other two were charged in a blast at the business office of Mayor Werner Knoop.

No one was hurt in the Labor Day bombings.

Things to Pop Today in Corny Celebration

of Unknown Building Contractors!

In the last few weeks, Pontiac area house owners have been flooded with offers of re-siding and modernization jobs "at cost or below."

This is the old "model home" racket in which the prospect is apparently offered a substantial discount if he will only let the salesman use his home as a model.

In a particular instance, the home owner was promised a "$1,600 job for only $1,080." A local contractor's bid on the same job was $850. Other known examples follow the same pattern.

Before you sign a contract, remember these things —

1. If you have signed with a contractor who does not have a state license, your contract is void.
2. If you permit work to be done on your house without a city or township permit, you may be in trouble.
3. Always get at least two bids.
4. For your own safety, deal only with local, reputable contractors.

Youth from the Westminster Fellowships of Oakland County will meet at the Orchard Lake Church Saturday for a workshop for officers and advisers. Mr. and Mrs. John Emmert work with the host church group.

"Before the Beginning" will be the pastor's sermon topic at the 9 and 11 a.m. worship hours tomorrow. The chancel choir will sing.

Sacred Heart Plans Festival

The 16th annual fall festival of Sacred Heart Parish in Auburn Heights will be held on the church grounds on Adams road between South boulevard and Auburn road from 1 to 6 p.m. Sunday.

Minute of Silence Supported by Leaders

As an example of our nation's faith in God and devotion to freedom, a group of religious leaders of our country have expressed their support of a Minute of Silence on the morning of the arrival of Nikita Khrushchev, premier of Soviet Russia to the United States.

The move to observe the Minute of Silence for meditation or prayer when the Soviet chief of state arrives was launched just a week ago.

Designed to form a dramatic testimony of America's unity behind President Eisenhower when he talks with Mr. Khrushchev, the idea has rapidly picked up support all over the nation, since it was first announced by the Foundation for Religious Action in the Social and Civil Order in Washington.

The idea is simple: one minute of silence from 11 to 11:01 Tuesday morning in each city and home throughout our land. The national Minute of Silence should be observed by city officials, businessmen, workers, school children, housewives, and in fact everyone.

Rabbi Edgar F. Magnin of the Wilshire Boulevard Temple in Los Angeles, the Rev. Norman Vincent Peale of New York's Collegiate Church, and the Rt. Rev. Noble C. Powell, Episcopal Bishop of Maryland, are among those deeply concerned who back the idea.

A resolution was introduced in the House of Representatives by Congressman Clement J. Zablocki of Wisconsin commending the observance of the Minute of Silence to the American people.

Senator Karl E. Mundt of South Dakota called it "an excellent idea" and said it "will impress upon Mr. Khrushchev and his entourage the fact that we are a spiritual nation with a steadfast faith in God."

His Eminence Richard Cardinal Cushing, archbishop of Boston, has endorsed the movement, as have other Catholic leaders including the Most Rev. John J. Wright, Catholic Bishop of Pittsburgh and a member of the National Advisory Council of the Foundation for Religious Action.

Catholics in the national capital are urged by Archbishop Patrick A. O'Boyle to attend Mass and receive Holy Communion on the day before and the first two days of the Soviet Premier's stay.

In St. Joseph Church on West South boulevard a night Vigil will begin at 9 p.m. Monday and continue through 6 a.m. Tuesday. The Rosary and Stations of the Cross are scheduled during the three hours preceding and again after midnight.

The Rev. B. F. Jarzembowski, pastor, will deliver sermons on the Seven Sorrows of the Blessed Virgin Mary.

The nine-hour devotion will be an act of expiation, imploration of pardon for sins against faith, justice and morality throughout the world, and petition for peace and freedom, Father Jarzembowski said.

Best Education

Sure, Help With Lessons But Don't Let Him Loaf

By DR. BENJAMIN FINE and LILLIAN FINE

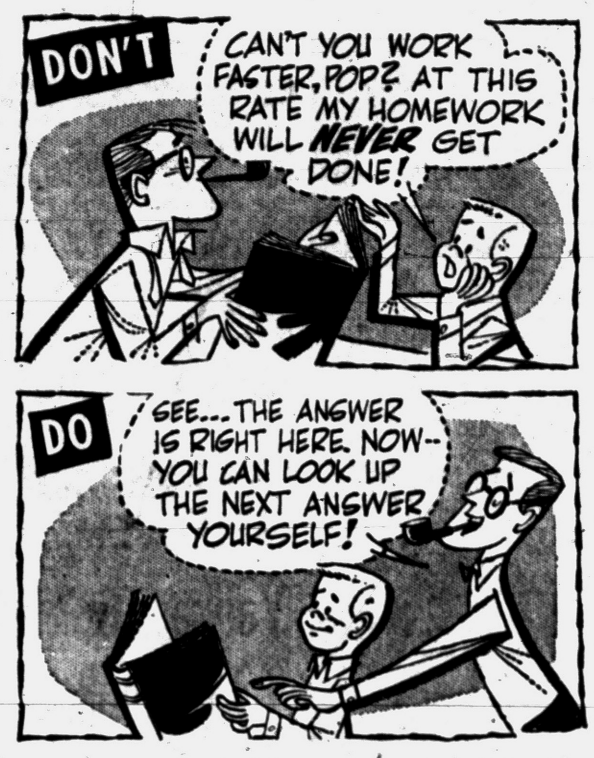

Something new enters the life of the parent of a fourthgrader and continues throughout the rest of the child's school career — homework.

Those first assignments may be easy and the child is often very excited by them, but as he goes up the educational ladder they increase in difficulty and so does his resentment.

You should take an interest in all this. You can ask him about his work and often volunteer to help him, if you think he needs help.

Rules can be set up that will clarify your attitude toward his homework: no television until the work is done; no telephone conversations except those related to schoolwork; no postponement of work with the excuse, "I can easily do it when I get up tomorrow morning."

Once he has accepted your stand there will be relatively little trouble, although you have to break down a number of fairly convincing arguments on why it is important that he see a certain program.

20 SPELLING WORDS

Although it may be extremely monotonous to go over a list of 20 spelling words with your fifth-grader, always bear in mind that it makes him very happy that you are interested enough to take time out to help him.

Don't overdo insistence on homework so that it becomes a point of rebellion. We see no harm in moderate doses of meaningful, interesting homework assignments.

Should parents try to help a child who is having trouble with a particular subject?

Some people believe parents should keep a "hands off" attitude lest the child become confused by different methods or fail to learn to work things out for himself. Certainly no parent should do assignments and let the child loaf. But if a child seeks help or suggestions, a parent should not discourage him.

You are likely to find that high school work isn't as easy as it used to be! What's the difference between a sine and a cosine? What verbs take a predicate noun?

When your child demands a quick answer to questions such as these, it is tempting to say, "Can't you see I am busy?"

But that's not fair, and if you take a quick look at the index of the book your child is using you can usually find the page with the answer. Then you can say, "See, it's right here in the book."

There are always ways you can help. You can be considerate. You can be constructive. And you can be attentive.

"Mother, please read my English paper and tell me what you think," a young fellow asked in a home where we visited recently. His mother took the paper, glanced over it rapidly, and said, "That's fine, George, I'm sure your teacher will be pleased." Silently George held out his hand for the paper. He knew she hadn't read it.

The Wickers go to the other extreme.

"Let me see what you've done with your homework," the father will say. His daughter hands him the paper reluctantly. She knows what is coming. He reads it slowly, shakes his head, finally says. "This isn't high school work. Sounds like a seventh grade composition. You'll have to do better than that if you ever expect to graduate." His daughter bites her lip and the color drains from her face.

ENCOURAGE STUDY

Independent home projects can be fostered by making the proper information and equipment available to your child.

Some children will want to set up chemical laboratories or atomic workshops in the basement or garage; such enterprises if permitted need careful supervision for obvious reasons.

Parents can encourage good study habits by providing a reasonably quiet place to study, a good-sized desk or table, a good light, and reference books such as a dictionary and an atlas.

Youngsters should get in the habit of having a regular time and place for study and of assembling the various materials they need before they begin to work.

The need for reference books in the home grows steadily. A big dictionary is a most desirable addition to the family library. An atlas and a copy of a recent World Almanac are likewise needed.

What about an encyclopedia? Teachers and librarians are somewhat divided about the need for this. Some children use a good children's encyclopedia with profit. It may not be necessary to buy the latest or the expensive sets.

Another skill important in modern living is typewriting. There is sound evidence that possession of a typewriter and ability to type do improve marks and encourage habits of neatness, correct spelling, and accuracy. But typewriters are not cheap. Before investing you should be sure youngsters will take good care of one.

Many parents try to supplement the school's offerings with extras — music lessons, dancing lessons, coaching in various sports, and so on. This may be excellent but, aside from the strain on the family budget, if overdone it can have undesirable results.

A child's time may be so filled with lessons and practicing that he has no time for fun. Grade school years are a time for healthy growth and for gaining increased competence in living with others. Anything that interferes markedly with this is likely to be a mistake.

Adolescents tend to eat unwisely and not too well. It is a common practice to skip breakfast. Some youngsters can be persuaded to swallow a glass of orange juice or milk in which an egg has been beaten. Some boys, especially those with athletic ambitions, will eat cereals.

Knowledge of what a balanced diet will do for complexion and hair may lead a teenage girl to eat more meat and vegetables and less candy.

What has diet to do with education? Experienced teachers claim they can tell quite easily which of their students in morning classes have had a good breakfast.

The adolescent also needs plenty of sleep — but parents often have trouble persuading him of the fact. Here again, it is often possible to reason with youngsters ambition.

and appeal to their vanity and

SCHOOL DAYS

J. L. VOORHEES

Children, tanned and full of energy, are trouping back to school. Few are sedate. Most of them are relating summer experiences, one is demonstrating a new swim stroke, darts into the path of an automobile. Can you stop?

Crack of a bat! That ball sails over the fence with a boy in hot pursuit, more interested in retrieving the ball than his safety, the ball rolls into the road, he makes a dive for it. Can you stop?

The Motor Vehicle Code is very explicite on speed past schools. Exceed fifteen miles an hour, have an accident, and there is no defense. You've never been so pressed for time that a second would make the slightest difference; those children have right-of-way and we'd better give it to them.

Lions Handle Browns Like They 'Own' Them

Detroit Is Only Pro Team With Series Margin

Jimmy Brown's Rushing Total Is Even Lowest Against Lions

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Coach Paul Brown and the Cleveland Browns aren't used to being pushed around in the National Football League.

The Browns hold the winning edge in the all-time records against the Bears, the Eagles, the Steelers, the Redskins, the Rams and every team in the NFL except one.

That exception is Detroit. The Lions are the only team to dominate the Browns and they have done it consistently.

Counting all games, preseason, regular season and championship games, the Lions have won 16, lost four and tied one.

Under the regime of Buddy Parker, quarterback Bobby Layne virtually "owned" the Browns in his duel with the great Otto Graham. Layne defeated Graham and the Browns 11 of 12 times.

In regular season games the margin stands 7-1 for the Lions.

Sunday afternoon at Briggs Stadium coach Brown will attempt to break that Detroit hex. The Browns failed to do it three weeks in Akron when the Lions won a sloppy game, 9-3.

Even Jimmy Brown, whom the Cleveland coach calls "the greatest running back" he has ever seen, has been unable to crack the Lions defense.

In 1958 Jimmy Brown set a new league record by gaining 1527 yards for an average of 127.2 yards per game.

Yet against the Lions his all time average is only 48 yards a game. His best effort in seven games against Detroit came in the regular season contest last year when he netted 83 yards.

In hope of breaking this hex, coach Brown has decided on Milt Plum as his No. 1 quarterback in place of Jim Ninowski. He also plans on starting his regular first string backfield of Bob Mitchell and Ray Renfro with Brown and Plum, instead of any rookies.

Cassady has become the teams leading pass receiver with 11 catches for 242 yards and two touchdowns.

	Caught	Yards
Cassady	11	242
Junker	7	90
Johnson	8	67
Gibbons	6	76
Pietrosante	4	44
Doran	2	39
Reichow	1	50

With the trade of Stan Campbell to the Eagles, rookie Bob Grottkau will start at right guard. He will alternate at the position with another rookie Mike Babold.

Coach George Wilson last week credited Tobin Rote's passing success to the rookies for giving him the protection. Tote had his best day with the Lions completing 18 to 25 passes for 272 yards in beating the Eagles 35-24.

Gates at Briggs Stadium open Sunday at 10:00 a.m. and kickoff time is 1:30 p.m.

Casey Explains What's Wrong With Mickey

'Mantle Wants to Be Ruth'—Stengel

NEW YORK (NEA)—There are several reasons for this edition being the worst Yankee club in 34 years, not the least of which is Mickey Charles Mantle being about to establish a new club mark and taking dead aim at the major league strikeout record of 138.

Mantle increasing instead of reducing his strikeout total is one of the deep mysteries of baseball, especially this season when he is sounder physically than since he first showed up as a 19-year-old Class C shortstop suddenly made into an outfielder.

What's wrong?

"Well, I'll tell you," say Casey Stengel, next to Mantle the one most vitally concerned. "Almost from the time Mickey reached the Phoenix camp in the spring of 1951, all of you guys described him as another Babe Ruth.

I am as guilty as anyone. I suspected he might be, too, and didn't pull any punches popping off about him. That goes for a lot of sound baseball people, including Joe DiMaggio. None of us ever saw such a recruit.

"Mantle's trouble is precisely this. Having been called another Babe Ruth, Mickey wants to stay that way. You can't blame him for that. Another Babe Ruth would get $100,000 a year."

Mantle has led the American League in home runs in three of the last four years—with 52 in 1956 and 42 last trip—and trying deperately to repeat could be the Oklahoma Kid's biggest problem.

"Mickey is like a card player who refuses to play his ace," says Perfesser Stengel, "which would be to bunt his way out of a slump. This despite the fact that he has more all-round ability than any other ballplayer I have ever seen, and I've been around longer than most.

SLUMP—Slugger Mickey Mantle is having his bad days and manager Casey Stengel of the Yankees says he could pull out of his slump if "he'd play his ace instead of just hitting the ball. He wants to be another Babe Ruth," says Casey.

"Ruth didn't have the speed required to bunt his way out of a slump. This boy has, while still hitting the ball as far as anybody every did and striking out oftener than even the Bambino, the home run specialist with the tremendous swing.

"The way things have been going, Mantle will have to change his stance or do something to improve his batting average, Mickey may even get around to bunting down the third base line, which is something he could use to advantage."

Stengel always contended that Mantle with his quick start, long stride and prairie-wind speed should never be shut out in a game. "Mickey would have hit .400 in the dead-ball days," he insisted.

Perhaps the most unusual thing about the Mantle enigma is that he has played brilliantly in the field while in his protracted slump and swiped 21 bases. He even curbed his temper.

Maybe he grew tired of Stengel admonishing him after he had kicked everything within reach in the dugout, "the water cooler did not strike you out, son."

Bears Take Airlanes to Beat Giants, 18-6

CHICAGO (AP) — End Jim Dooley snared two touchdown passes Friday night as the undefeated Chicago Bears won their fifth game with an 18-6 victory over the New York Giants in a National Football League exhibition.

Dooley, who missed much of the 1958 season because of injuries, caught 10 passes for 137 yards. A sturdy Bear defense kept the Giants in their own territory throughout most of the second half. The loss was the third for the Giants in five pre-season starts.

The Bears broke a 6-6 tie early in the second half when the Giants gambled and lost. New York had the ball on its own 34 on fourth down with one yard to go. Phil King tried to crash the line but the Bears held and took over. The Bears drove for two first downs and finally scored on a 10-yard pass from Zeke Bratkowski to Dooley.

Chicago sealed the issue late in the fourth quarter on a 56-yard drive capped by a six-yard touchdown pass from Brown to rookie end Willard Dewveall.

New York's only score came midway in the second quarter. Charley Conerly relieved quarterback George Shaw and connected on four passes to lead an 86-yard drive which ended when Alex Webster bolted into the end zone from the 1.

Eric Barnes blocked Pat Summerall's attempted conversion and the Giants led 6-0. The Bears took the ensuing kickoff and after Willie Galimore had ripped off 22 yards, the Giant defense stiffened.

Faced with a fourth-and-one situation, the Bears gambled and won. Rick Casares smashed through center for the first down. Brown then hit Harlon Hill with an 18-yard pass and two plays later Brown connected with Dooley on an 18-yard toss for the touchdown. Sam Huff blocked John Aveni's kick and the half ended 6-6.

Leszczynski Now OK

DETROIT (AP)—Fullback Jerry Leszczynski rejoined the Detroit Titans for workouts today after missing five days with a groin injury.

Six members of coach Jim Miller's squad were still sidelined with injuries as the Titans planned a full dress scrimmage for today. The team worked on rushing offense and defense yesterday.

Bobby's Arm Beats Cards, 21-13

Layne Sparks Steeler Win

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Veteran Bobby Layne rifled touchdown passes of 51 and 41 yards Friday night to pilot the Pittsburgh Steelers to a 21-13 decision over the Chicago Cardinals in a National Football League exhibition game before a Busch Stadium crowd of 30,055.

The victory avenged an earlier 21-10 Steeler loss to the Cardinals, who had previously won four of five games, and rubbed the lustre off a 99-yard touchdown run by the losers' Bobby Joe Conrad.

Layne, the durable Texan with 12 NFL seasons under his belt, connected with Gary Glick in the first quarter on a touchdown play good for 51 yards and with Ray Matthews in the fourth for 41 yards and the Steelers' final score.

The Cardinals tied the score at 7-7 in the second period as quarterback King Hill raced 18 yards with a lateral from Ken Hall. Jerry Norton set up the score by stealing a Layne pass and running the ball back 43 yards.

Tom Tracy sent the Steelers ahead for keeps in the third, bulling over from 1 foot out after tearing off 19 yards on a quick opener through the middle.

Conrad took the ensuing kickoff on his own 1 and threaded his way through the entire Steeler defense. But his bid for the conversion and a 14-14 tie was blocked by Ray Fisher.

Layne closed the door in the fourth, hitting Mathews on about the Cardinal 15 as he cut diagonally across the field. Mathews scored standing up, capping a drive ignited by Jack Butler's interception of a Hill pass.

The victory gave the Steelers an exhibition slate of two victories and three defeats.

HAPPY BIRDS — Third baseman Brooks Robinson, left, and pitcher Jerry Walker of the Orioles pose happily in the dressing room last night after Robinson's single in the 16th inning gave Walker a 1-0 victory over the White Sox. Baltimore also won the other game of a twin-bill, 3-0.

CHECKED BY LIONS — Jimmy Brown, big fullback of the Cleveland Browns, hasn't been as successful against the Lions as he has been against other NFL teams. His rushing average against the other pro teams is 127 yards a game, but against the Lions his all time average is only 48 yards. He will try again Sunday to pierce the Detroit defense.

Set Olympic Week Dates

Maxwell Homers Twice in Defeat

Yankees Gain 9-3 Triumph, Hold 3rd Place

Circuits Set Records for Team Total, Lefty Hitters

NEY WORK (AP)—When it comes to hitting home runs, Charlie Maxwell is a record buster. But the Detroit Tigers, when it comes to third place, may be just busts—period.

The Tigers will leave New York tonight in fourth place, either a half-game or 2½ games behind the Yankees.

The Tigers blew a chance to narrow the margin when they succumbed to the Yankees yesterday 9-3.

Maxwell hit two home runs but the shaky Detroit defense committed two errors and left runners stranded all over Yankee Stadium. The result was that rookie Jim Coates pitched his first complete game in the Major Leagues and subdued the Tigers on 10 scattered hits. Four of the Yankee runs were unearned.

Maxwell's home runs gave him 30 for the season, beating by two the record he held for the most number of home runs ever hit by a Tiger left-handed slugger. Nine of Maxwell's home runs have come against New York pitching.

Harvey Kuenn and Al Kaline, the top two batters in the American League, went hitless in a total of nine at-bats as Paul Foytack suffered his 13th loss against as many victories.

Bobby Richardson led the Yankees with four hits and three runs batted-in. Both of them have been against Tiger pitching.

Two hits and an error by first baseman Gail Harris helped the Yankees to a pair of unearned runs in the first inning. A single by Frank Bolling and a double by Red Wilson got one back for Detroit in the second, but the ex-champs wrapped it up in the third.

A walk to Mickey Mantle started it, with one out. Yogi Berra singled, Hector Lopez doubled and Norm Siebern singled. A good throw to the plate by Bolling chopped off another run.

Bolling's error opened up the inning. A bunt and three singles got the last Yankee runs across.

Maxwell hit bases-empty home runs in the sixth and eighth innings to complete the Tiger scoring.

The roundtrippers came in a losing effort, but they helped the Tigers establish a club record for home runs.

White Sox Drop Doubleheader but Tribe Also Loses

Orioles Score Two Shutouts Over Leaders

Indians Fail to Take Advantage of Chicago Defeats

By The Associated Press

Chicago's pennant - pressing White Sox, toughest club to shut out in the American League, suddenly have been shackled with a string of 28 scoreless innings, their magic singles disenchanted by a couple of right-handers.

Baltimore's Jack Fisher and Jerry Walker, both just 20, spun a 25-inning shutout over the Sox for a twi-night doubleheader sweep last night. Walker put them away on six hits in a 16-inning, 1-0 decision after Fisher claimed his first major league victory with a three-hit, 3-0 success.

The White Sox, dropping three in a row for the first time in three months and handed a double shutout for the first time in six years, now lead second-place Cleveland by four games. Washington cuffed the Indians for their second straight loss 5-4.

Oddly, the Indians, who were unable to gain an inch on the White Sox while winning 15 of 20, now have picked up half a game while losing two in a row.

New York took a 1½-game hold on third place over Detroit by belting the Tigers 9-3. And Kansas City junked its losing streak at 13 by beating Boston 8-6.

Fisher (1-4) retired the first 19 men in order and faced only 23 men, one over the minimum, while striking out three and walking just one in his first complete game and fifth start. He hasn't allowed an unearned run in his last 22 innings.

Nellie Fox singled with one out in the seventh for Chicago's first hit, then was wiped out in a doubleplay. Sherm Lollar got Fisher's walk in the eighth, but a doubleplay put him out of the way. In the ninth, Al Smith singled for the Sox, but was out when struck by a ball hit by pinch hitter Earl Torgeson, who was credited with an automatic single.

Baltimore backed Fisher with 10 hits, including homers by Bob Nieman and Willie Tasby, against southpaw Billy Pierce (13-14).

The Orioles, 11-10 over the White Sox going into today's finale of the season series which also includes an 18-inning 1-1 tie, made it four straight over Chicago by beating reliever Gerry Staley (8-4) in the nightcap. After Walker (11-8), who walked three and struck out four, got through the 16th, the Orioles put it away on Al Pilarcik's single and a two-out single by Brooks Robinson.

Staley, who had won six in a row since June 18, gave up only one other hit in his 6 1-3 innings after relieving starter Bally Latman, who allowed five hits and retired 21 in a row at one stage.

The White Sox, shut out only six times before the bomb burst in Baltimore, hadn't been blanked in a doubleheader since Aug. 8, 1953, when Yankees Whitey Ford and Bob Kuzava did it.

The Senators joined the Orioles as spoilers on Julio Becquer's pinch single in the eighth, breaking a 4-all tie. It came on reliever Jack Harshman's first pitch, after losing reliever Mike Garcia (3-6) had put the winning run on base with a walk.

Pete Ramos (13 - 17), who chipped in with his first home run of the year and second in the majors beat the Indians with a nine-hitter. He struck out eight and didn't walk a man.

Chips, Generals Open Michigan Grid Campaign

By the Associated Press

Saginaw will be host to the first collegiate game inside the state when Central Michigan meets Bolling Air Force Base at Arthur Hill stadium. The Chippewas, 7-3 under Bill Kelly last season, are underdogs to the Generals, always one of the nation's top service teams.

A host of former college stars dot the air force lineup. The Generals were national service champions a year ago when they posted an 8-1-1 record.

D Champs Move Up

An increase of 10 in the school's enrollment has lifted Cheboygan from Class D into Class C. The Eagles were ranked second in the state last winter.

Suffers 1st Loss in 23 Starts as Dodgers Beat Bucs Twice

Honeymoon Is Over for Roy Face

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The National League race revolved around a terribly-tangled triangle today but the Los Angeles Dodgers have cleared up at least a couple of things:

1. Roy Face of the Pittsburgh Pirates will not pull off the incredible stunt of finishing the season without a loss.

2. Wally Moon is just about the biggest thing to hit these parts since they taught movies to talk.

The Dodgers took a giant step to the threshold of first place last night when they beat the Pirates twice 5-4 and 4-0.

It was in the first game—one of the most dramatic ever played at the Coliseum — that Face's fork ball finally failed him he lost for the first time since May 30, 1958. He had run his winning streak to an almost unbelievable 22 games and had 17 victories this season alone. He had made 98 appearances without losing.

The Dodgers now are just a half game back of league-leading San Francisco, which lost to Philadelphia. And the Milwaukee Braves trail San Francisco by a single game.

"That first game," declared Dodger Manager Walter Alston, "was easily one of the biggest of the year. We might have won the second if we hadn't taken the first. It really pepped everybody up."

When Face relieved Bob Friend in the eighth inning of the first game, Moon had just hit his second home run. But the Pirates still had a 4-3 lead. Face got out of that inning all right, but disaster was only minutes away.

Maury Wills, who has had nine hits in his last 12 times at bat, opened the Dodger ninth with a single and took second on Ron Fairly's sacrifice. Jim Gilliam sent the crowd of 48,526 to the precipice of hysteria by belting a triple that tied it up. The Charlie Neal stepped and endied it with a single.

"I had good stuff," Face said later in the dressing room. "They hit good pitches—all fork balls, my bread and butter.

"I don't feel so bad losing one game in a year and a half, when a guy like Don Drysdale of the Dodgers can lose two in one day as Drysdale did recently in Pittsburgh.

"After all, even Walter Johnson never got through a season without losing at least one," Face said.

Carpenter, Young Dominate Races; Casey 'Kart' King

Carpenter also won dash and pursuit races and had the fastest qualifying time in the semi-late model division. Young edged Sid Keller in the sportsmen's modified race.

Andy Pierce, Bruce Ash Warren Woodruff, Keller and Bob Phillips were other victors.

BLANKS GIANTS — Robin Roberts of the Phillies manages a tired grin after blanking the Giants 1-0 last night. He allowed only three hits.

Roberts' Arm Tightens NL Race

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Robin Roberts, in the twilight of a great career, tightened the National League race last night by pitching last-place Philadelphia to a 1-0 victory over the leading San Francisco Giants.

Roberts, who finished six seasons with 20 or more triumphs, called the three-hitter his best game ever. "It's as good as I can do," he remarked after running his 1959 record to 14-15.

Not only did the right-hander trim the Giants' lead to a scant half game, but he got revenge by snapping rookie Willie McCovey's hitting streak. McCovey, who broke into the league July 30 by hitting two triples and two singles against Roberts, had connected in 22 consecutive games before facing Roberts this time.

Chicago's Cubs beat St. Louis 2-1 on a wild pitch in the ninth in the other NL game.

To McCovey, Roberts appeared to be a "more careful" pitcher this time around.

The only Giant hits were Willie Mays' double and two singles by Hobie Landrith.

Mike McCormick, rapidly acquiring the reputation of a hard luck thrower, gave up only four hits in the eight innings he whirled. Stu Miller gave up one in the ninth.

Joe Adcock drove in three runs for the Braves with a pair of doubles as they built a 7-1 lead in two innings against the Reds and loser Jay Hook 5-4. Lee Maye wrapped it up with a three-run homer, his second, in the eighth as Joey Jay 5-10, winless since July 27, beat the Reds with a four-hitter.

Fernandez Records 21st Straight Win

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Undefeated Florentino Fernandez will have to beat Gaspar (Indian) Ortega again if he wants a shot at welterweight champion Don Jordan.

Fernandez, who scored his 21st victory with a unanimous decision over Ortega in the Auditorium last night, floored the wily Mexican from Mexicali in the first and fourth rounds but could not knock him out.

Teddy Brenner, Madison Square Garden matchmaker, watched the nationally - televised fight from ringside and said he would match Fernandez and Ortega again in the Garden on Oct. 23.

If Fernandez wins that one, Brenner said, he wants the Cuban to fight Jordan for the title at Miami Beach on Dec. 4.

Bonneville Salt Flats Site of Speed Record

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah (AP)—A Connecticut driver broke a international auto speed record Friday on the scorched salt beds of Western Utah.

Gus Ehrman of Greenwich, Conn., driving the British Motor Corp. EX219 (Austin - Healey Sprite), averaged 146.95 m.p.h. in a one-hour spin around the 10-mile circular track. That was 9.6 m.p.h. faster than a Class G record set in 1957.

During his run, Ehrman also set a 200-kilometer mark of 146.64 m.p.h., faster by 6.45 than the mark made in 1957.

Johansson will be accompanied by his younger brother Rolf, his usual sparring partner during exhibition tours. The champion also will have an American sparring partner not yet decided on and take on local champs in the different stopovers.

He will go give exhibition rounds in Stockholm against his American sparring partner Joey Armstrong, who is a likely prospect to go with him on the Latin American tour.

Maryland Coach Denies Driving Player 'to Death'

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (UPI)—Maryland University football coach Tom Nugent has denied that Charles (Sonny) Lohr was "driven to death" at a practice session where the sophomore center was fatally stricken with heat exhaustion.

Nugent told an extraordinary three-hour press conference that Lohr actually had undergone a much lighter workout at the Sept. 2 practice than other members of the squad. The 19-year-old Bladensburg, Md., boy died four days later.

University officials continued their investigation of the death. Geary Eppley, dean of men and chairman of the athletic council, said a report would be made soon to university president Wilson H. Elkins.

Wheeler, Johnstone in Trans-Miss. Final

Mrs. Johnstone had to go to the 19th hole in her semifinal match. She beat Judy Kimball of Sioux City, Iowa, 1-up.

Wininger, Rosburg Fire 67s

Two Share Lead at Dallas

DALLAS (AP)—A couple of hot putters—Bo Winninger, who's seeking his first tournament victory, and Bob Rosburg, who already has won his—led the tightly-bunched field into the second round of $25,000 Dallas Open Golf Tournament today.

Wininger and Rosburg each shot a 3-under-par 67 over the dry, windy 6,744-yard Oak Cliff Country Club course yesterday to tie for the lead at 18 holes.

Rosburg, the National PGA champion from Palo Alto, Calif., and Wininger, who has finished second three times this year but never on top, were dropping those putts like mad. Rosburg said if he hadn't rimmed five cups he would have really had something to talk about.

Wininger, the graying veteran from Odessa, Tex., who last won a tournmanet in 1956, is nearing the end. After next week, when he plays in the El Paso Open, Wininger will retire from tournament golf to join an oil field supply company at Odessa as a public relations expert.

Thirteen players of the starting field of 131 bettered par even as most of them complained about the tricks the wind did with the ball.

But Rosburg had a new angle—he said there were four holes where a player had to hook around trees from the tees. And he said they were unfair.

Wininger wasn't worried about anything. The stout young man from Oklahoma is scenting a tournament victory. He already has plastered the course with a record 63, doing this in a pro-amateur.

Two of the big favorites—Sam Snead, the defending champion, and the great Ben Hogan, making a rare appearance—had their troubles. Each wound up with a 74 and each had a double bogey on the 18th.

Second Guessers Wonder

Would Piersall Have Saved Indians' Loss?

WASHINGTON (AP- — Would Jim Piersall have recovered that eighth inning hit and cut off the run that proved decisive in Cleveland's 5-4 loss to Washington last night?

Second guessers, pondering the second-place Indians' boot of another chance to gain ground on Chicago in the American League pennant race, could have themselves a time with that one.

Tanner hit a pair of singles, scored one run and, even if it was by a mere infield grounder, accounted for another.

But it was the same Tanner who had to field Julio Becquer's pinch single to short center that drove home the winning run in the eighth as John Romonosky scored all the way from second.

The question is: Would Piersall, a classy fielder, have pounced on the ball quickly enough to hold Romonosky at third or throw him out at the plate?

"He might have," Gordon said, "if he'd been in there."

No telling what might have happened, as the second guessers would say. The next two Senators popped out.

As it was, the Indians gained only half a game on the White Sox who dropped a doubleheader to Baltimore and now lead by four games.

Becquer's winning hit gave Pedro Ramos his 13th decision of the year against 17 losses. Pedro also socked the second home run of his major league career.

Cleveland starter Jim Grant, still 11-0 against the Senators, yielded four runs and seven hits before he left for a pinch hitter in the eighth. Mike Garcia faced only two Senators and took the loss.

'Tut' Hates Grass Tennis but He Moves Into Semis

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP)—"I hate playing on grass," Bernard (Tut) Bartzen insisted today.

Bartzen, 32 and unseeded, went up against Australian ace Neale Fraser in one of the semifinals today. In the other, top-seeded Alex Olmedo of Los Angeles played unranked Ron Holmberg of Brooklyn.

Bartzen accomplished the trick of the tournament yesterday when he polished off third-seeded Barry MacKay of Dayton, Ohio, 6-3, 6-4, 6-4 in the quarter-finals. Fraser whipped past Luis Ayala of Chile 6-3, 6-4, 6-4. Olmedo downed Roy Emerson of Australia 6-4, 3-6, 6-2, 6-3, and Holmberg ousted fourth-seeded Rod Laver of Australia 6-8, 7-5, 6-0, 6-3.

"I guess the high winds bothered Barry more than I," the National Clay Court champion said. "Barry tosses the ball high on his big service and a wind can hurt him.

"Even if I win the tournament, though, nobody is going to change my opinion. I don't like grass. It is not a true test of tennis ability. The bounces are too uneven."

"Fraser? I've played him only once. He beat me a couple of years back in straight sets."

Olmedo played better than at any time since long before the Davis Cup. Perhaps it was because his father, Salvadore, had arrived a few hours earlier from Peru, and Alex wanted to give him a good show.

Holmberg is going along at a giant-killing rate. Laver was the second seeded player he's eliminated. The other day it was seventh-seeded Earl Buchholz of St. Louis. Olmedo will not be able to let up against Holmberg.

In the women's division, top-seeded Maria Bueno of Brazil tackled Darlene Hard of Montebello, Calif., No. 4, and third-seeded Christine Truman of Britain met sixth-ranked Ann Haydon, also of Britain in the semifinals.

1st Qualifying Date Oct. 4th for Tournament

Top 3 Prizes Fully Guaranteed for Both Men and Women

Entry blanks for the 3rd annual Pontiac Press Bowlerama have been placed in all Oakland County bowling establishments and all tournament entries can be mailed or delivered to the sports department of The Press.

First qualifying date for the men is October 4th and the deadline for those desiring to qualify on this date is Wednesday midnight, September 30th.

The advantage of bowling on the first qualifying date is that those men who fail to make the 10 per cent of the qualifiers can enter a second time.

This is according to ABC rule 330 which stipulates that in a single tournament each bowler can participate more than once but may cash only once in the prize list.

In the Bowlerama which has three qualifying weeks for men, a bowler failing the first time may re-enter and try again but not a third time.

The women have only one qualifying date, October 18th, therefore only one entry is permitted.

The top three prizes in each division are guaranteed. Men will be aiming for a $500 top prize, $250 second place and $125 for third.

The notation on the blank which says "Based on 600 Entries" means that any money added to these guaranteed prizes will be made on the basis of 600 entries.

Last year the guaranteed prize was $450 but the winner took home $475. The additional $25 was made possible on money added to the purse by excess of entries. Each position received a porportionate increase.

A total of 76 shared the prizes last year, which was 1½ per cent of the entries.

The top 10 per cent in each qualifying house will enter the finals and every qualifier is sure to take home a part of the prize list.

Many numerous prizes and trophies will go to bowlers in the qualifying and final rounds for high game, high series, and other achievements.

Any bowler residing in Oakland County or non-County bowler who rolls in a league in the county is eligible to enter. This allows many bowlers living outside county lines in such places as Utica and Romeo, who bowl in the Pontiac area, an opportunity to enter.

COOL SCHOOL — As 40 other youngsters look on, Phil Watson keeps an eye on Billy Shields, 11, whom the New York Rangers' coach is instructing in stick handling on the Madison Square Garden rink. The summer school was inaugurated to encourage youthful interest in hockey. General Manager Muzz Patrick, in the background, is the other instructor.

Headed for Crisis This Month

Steel Squeeze Is Growing Tighter

By JOHN MOODY

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Effects of the nationwide steel strike—slowly building up over the last 59 days—appear headed for a crisis within the next two to four weeks.

An Associated Press survey shows layoffs in industries allied to steel have reached 175,000. Late reports may push the unemployment figures even higher.

Even as the picture grows dark many of the big manufacturers who depend on steel for raw material report they have not yet felt the sting of the strike. They add quickly that time is running out.

While the economic squeeze grows tighter, negotiators for the basic steel industry and nearly a half-million striking United Steelworkers show no sign of coming close to an agreement.

MAY USE T-H

Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell said earlier this week he would recommend that the President halt the strike by Taft-Hartley injunction if steel shortages develop and further unemployment results.

Just how much the 80-day cooling off period provided for under Taft-Hartley would help is questionable. It would take weeks to fill delivery lines that were drawn dry prior to the strike.

Steel firms report heavy ordering for the fourth quarter already. An 80-day production resumption would start a wild scramble to build up sagging inventories and result in long waits for many customers.

A poll by the National Assn. of Purchasing Agents of big firms in the manufacturing field was summed up by saying:

WILL SOON HURT

"The steel strike hasn't hurt business yet, but if it isn't settled in 30 days manufacturing companies may have to cut back sharply."

The Associated Press state-by-state survey shows that most of the unemployment resulting from the steel strike so far has occurred in or near the big steel producing centers.

Pennsylvania, heart of the steel empire, reports nearly 65,000 idled because of the steel strike. West Virginia, where much of steel's coal is mined, has 27,000 laid off.

Kentucky, another coal producing state, has 15,006 idle. Ohio, a big steel producer, has upward of 20,000 idle.

Many of the other states, where steel manufacturing firms dot the map, quote employment commission officials as saying effects of the steel strike are almost negligible and the effects so far light.

In the New England states reports as late as the first week of this month were that isolated effects of the strike are beginning to be felt.

IN NEW ENGLAND

Edward Randall, purchasing agent for Hawkridge Bros. steel warehouses in Boston, said the consensus of the company's New England customers were that another two weeks would begin to slow production.

In Texas an employment commission spokesman said many very small firms appear to be cutting down but most are not included in commission reports.

Reports from the state of Washington are that no serious effects of the steel strike have been felt so far but may take a toll in another four weeks.

Construction work, especially bridges and highways, are just starting to show effects of the strike. In many cases the steel for bridge and highway construction must be made to order and cannot be stockpiled too far ahead.

Wyoming reports unemployment resulting from the strike is barely noticeable but a spokesman added that construction of the nation's first Atlas missile operational base near Cheyenne may be halted by a lack of steel if the strike goes a few more weeks.

Pittsburgh's 20-million-dollar civic auditorium now under construction will be delayed because stainless steel for its massive revolving roof will not be ready.

CUTS WORK FORCE

Midwest Steel & Iron Co. in Colorado has cut its work force by 25 per cent. Vice President W. E. Geer said the firm's overall supply of steel is still good but shortages are cropping up in some specific product items.

On the other side of the picture, the half-million steelworkers appear to be suffering through the strike with a minimum of hardship. Many are receiving government surplus food and package distributions from the union.

In most steel areas, utility firms and merchants are extending credit to many of the strikers. In some areas stores are advertising that striking workers can buy now and make the first payment 30 days after the strike ends.

Siamese Twin, Separated, Goes to Regular School

FERRIS, Ill. (AP)—Rodney Dee Brodie, who became a medical rarity by surviving a Siamese twin operation, has taken another step toward becoming just another one of the boys.

Rodney was born with his head joined to that of his twin, Roger Lee. In a long, delicate operation in 1952, doctors separated the two. Roger died 32 days later. Rodney will be 8 Wednesday.

"I hope it works out," said Rodney's mother. "He wants to attend school like the others rather than have a teacher come to the house."

Put Detroit on List for New Dial-a-Wire

DETROIT (UPI)—Western Union has announced it will expand its new "dial-a-wire" Telex service to Detroit and nationwide as well as to Cuba and additional points in Canada during 1960.

Edward F. Sanger, director of public relations for Western Union, told the Financial Analysts Society of Detroit at a luncheon meeting that by the end of 1960, the Telex network will link 53 major cities of the United States, Canada and Cuba.

With Dial-a-wire Telex service, subscribers can obtain connections in eight seconds or less for instantaneous two-way telegraph service at special time-distance rates, Sanger said.

Association Asks Fair to Sign Up Cowboys

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP)—The Rodeo Cowboys Assn. has asked the New Mexico State Fair to sign up some star television performers as members of the RCA or lose RCA approval of the fair rodeo.

Most rodeo performers belong to the group and if the association withdraws approval of the rodeo, there would be no performers.

Knight's Rights Squabble Rages

Question Police Tactics in 70 Hours of Almost Continuous Grilling

BRIGHTON (UPI)—The hassle over whether Alvin Knight's constitutional rights were violated in some 70 hours of almost continuous questioning has created almost as much of an uproar as the search for the state policeman he has confessed killing.

Brighton attorney Marin J. Lavin, named by circuit judge Michael Carlin to defend Knight, claimed his client has "already been tried and convicted in the newspapers."

Knight's trial date will depend on whether Lavin decides to demand examination for him, court officials said.

Lavin, a veteran of 31 years of law practice, said Knight's confession to police that he killed trooper Albert Souden who came to question him about a $75 robbery will have no legal bearing on the man's guilt or innocece.

He said the prosecution still has to try Knight on evidence that is admissable in court and the important thing is to determine whether the admission of guilt was obtained through "threats or promises."

Lavin also blasted State Police practices in conducting the initial investigation of the Milford Tool Co. robbery which Knight also has confessed.

Meanwhile, in Grand Rapids, attorney and Circuit Court Commissioner Donald Dilley charged interrogaters used "police state tactics" in holding Knight.

Dorfman Case Is Decided

But Brokerage License Information on Alleged Swindler Is Delayed

PAUL DOUGLAS

LANSING (UPI)—State Insurance Commissioner Frank Blackford said today he has reached a decision on whether to revoke the license of Chicago broker Allen Dorfman.

But the decision will not be announced until Monday "because it all has to be put in writing," Blackford said.

Blackford said only that evidence taken during hearings held intermittently from March 23 to Sept. 1 "justified holding the hearings."

Dorfman testified under oath he was repaid from premiums he advanced for a $50,000 life insurance policy on teamster boss James R. Hoffa.

The broker's attorney, Stanford Clinton, Chicago, claimed a rackets committee report charging Hoffa channeled three million dollars in union funds to Chicago mobsters through Dorfman's agency was "untruthful in every material respect."

Wife Tried in Vain to Revive Douglas

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—"I cried out for the maid and then began breathing into Paul's mouth in an attempt to save him. I guess I must have kept it up for four or five minutes, but he did not move."

Douglas, 52, died yesterday morning in the arms of his platinum-blonde wife at their Hollywood Hills home. The burly one-time professional football player-sportscaster-radio announcer turned actor was stricken by a heart seizure as he was getting out of bed at 8 a.m.

Despite the fact Miss Sterling thought her husband was dead she continued the mouth-to-mouth resuscitation and massaged the area around the actor's heart.

A fire department rescue squad, summoned to the New Orleans colonial-type home, was met by the distraught 36-year-old actress who said, "He's inside, please hurry."

Douglas had no previous record of heart trouble.

Douglas, hospitalized for exhaustion last month, was released when doctors found no serious ailments. He returned to work despite advice that he take a long rest.

"It's better this way. He wouldn't have wanted to linger in a sick bed," sobbed Miss Sterling, near a state of shock.

Funeral services for Douglas will be held Monday morning at Pierce Bros. Mortuary in Hollywood.

Find Difficulty Proving There's Battle in Laos

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)— Laos officials should find it fairly easy to convince U.N. observers that Communist North Viet Nam is arming and training Red Pathet Lao rebels to rise up in the Asian kingdom.

But proving that North Vietnamese are actually fighting on Laotian soil—either in Vietnamese units or as leaders of rebel groups—is a difficult matter.

The Laotians have an armory of captured weapons and a library of propaganda leaflets that can be traced to North Viet Nam.

The weapons include Chinese and Czechoslovak arms used by Red China and North Viet Nam. They also have American-made rifles and carbines the North Vietnamese captured from the French in the Indochinese War.

SAME PATTERN

But, so far as is known, Laotian forces have not brought in a single Vietnamese dead or alive. What were first described as two North Vietnamese captured in northern Laos fighting were later identified as deserters who had left their units in North Viet Nam and crossed into Laos to escape communism.

Laotian army officers say they have heard attack commands against their posts given in Vietnamese. It still could be argued that rebels trained by Vietnamese in North Viet Nam might use Vietnamese commands.

NOT CONCLUSIVE

Art by Students to Be Displayed at Milford Sunday

MILFORD — A students' exhibit of oil paintings will be on display for public viewing from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. Sunday on the front lawn of the Marion Zoner Studio at 2385 Commerce Rd.

Some 35 exhibitors will present 150 framed oil paintings of landscapes, portraits, animals and still life, according to instructor Mrs. Marion Zoner.

She is a graduate of the New York School of Interior Decoration, and Carnegie Tech at Pittsburgh. Mrs. Zoner also is teaching art in the adult educational program at Walled Lake.

For more than a year, Milford area art students have been attending three-hour weekly class sessions in preparation for Sunday's show. Some of their paintings will be for sale.

In the event of inclement weather, the exhibit will be held in the studio.

16 Cars Derailed Outside of Detroit

PORT HURON (UPI)—At least 16 cars of a 63-car freight train were derailed today on the Detroit to Port Huron line of the Grand Trunk and Western Railroad.

No one was injured.

A fuel tank car, first of the group that was derailed, was lying on its side on the roadbed about three miles west of Port Huron, but it did not break open and authorities said there was little danger of it catching fire.

Other cars were piled up in a mound behind it. Some of the cars were buried in a 10 to 12-foot-deep gulley that was torn up beside the tracks.

Arrest Driver in Pontiac Auto Collision

A collision of two cars and a truck late last night at Paddock and Central streets resulted in injury and arrest of one driver, according to Pontiac police.

Ernest E. Freeman, 30, of 180 Crestwood St., was treated for minor injuries at Pontiac General Hospital and then booked at the Oakland County Jail on a drunk and disorderly charge.

Witnesses said Freeman ran a stop sign going east on Central. His auto was struck by a southbound truck-tractor on Paddock.

The truck, driven by Cleatus W. Bunce, 39, of 2829 Buick St., then collided with a northbound auto driven by Charles W. Huston, 38, of 826 Cedar St. Neither of the men were hurt.

Police said Freeman had been drinking and that he was ticketed for diving without an operators license.

Iceland Rift Clouded by Internal Politics

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Some U.S. officials suggested today that Icelandic politicians looking for a campaign issue may have been partly responsible for Iceland's angry reaction to a series of incidents involving U. S. servicemen stationed there.

Consultations were being held, meanwhile, to find ways of avoiding such incidents, which have stirred increasing anti-American feeling in Iceland in the past few weeks.

The incidents were expected to be an issue in the Icelandic election scheduled for late next month.

The Social Democratic Party, a minority faction, now is in control of the Icelandic cabinet. But it is considered little more than a caretaker government.

The biggest party in the country is the Independent Party which was expected to win an absolute majority in the parliament in the forthcoming elections.

American officials suggested that at least some outnumbered Social Democrats may seek votes by pitching their campaigns on the issue of U. S. servicemen in Iceland and the resulting incidents.

The small but vocal Communist Party also was expected to harp on the incidents.

Church Group Sends Testaments to Nikita

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)— Twenty New Testaments—printed in Russian—were sent to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and his delegation by a church group here yesterday.

Denies Attempt to Oust Butler

Gov. David Lawrence of Pennsylvania Says He Didn't Join South

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. David L. Lawrence of Pennsylvania denies that he has joined Southern democrats in a try at unseating Paul M. Butler as chairman of the National Democratic Committee.

Butler made the accusation Friday night in a statement that said the school segregation issue is involved.

But in Harrisburg, Pa., Lawrence replied that "it is ridiculous to suggest that I share the views of segregationists."

In fact, he added, it was Butler himself who associated with Southern committee members in the past.

The conflict between Butler and Lawrence could reach a climax next Wednesday, when the National Committee will meet here.

Butler said that Lawrence had mailed some committee members the same material being circulated by Southerners clamoring for the chairman's removal.

This material, Butler indicated, reproduces memos signed by him in 1954.

In one of the memos, Butler said: "I do not consider the question of segregation a political issue. I see no reason for any chairman of our party at any level to project segregation into our political discussions.

"As a lawyer, and if I were to be party chairman, I would consider it not to be a matter subject to political debate or political decisions."

Khrushchev was given the choice of traveling around this country in the Red jet he will fly in from Russia or using one of the three big U.S. military air transport jets.

He chose the U.S. jet.

Find Detroiter Dead on Southfield Plot

A Detroit man, Joseph Goldstein, 47, of 18268 Rosemont, was found dead in his car in a Southfield field yesterday by troopers from the Redford State Police Post.

An autopsy performed by Dr. Richard E. Olsen at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital Friday afternoon disclosed the cause of death was carbon monoxide poisoning.

Troopers said there was a rubber hose running from the exhaust through a vent window of the auto. The car was in a vacant lot near 25376 Shiawassee St.

Man Who Shot Rep. Bentley Out of Prison

ATLANTA (AP) — A Puerto Rican sentenced to prison for six years for his part in the 1954 terrorist shooting in the U.S. House of Representatives was free today.

Rep. Alvin M. Bentley (R-Mich) was seriously wounded when gunfire from a spectators gallery sprayed the House March 1, 1954. Four Puerto Ricans were accused in the shooting, which occurred at a time when certain elements in Puerto Rico were seeking independence from the United States.

Castro was convicted of conspiracy in U.S. District Court in New York.

Crash Kills Driver From Drayton Plains

A Drayton Plains truck driver, Gerald H. Inman, 20, died yesterday at University Hospital in Ann Arbor from injuries suffered in a traffic accident last Tuesday.

Inman, of 4408 Lamson St., was driving a panel truck west on the US 12 Expressway in Washtenaw County when it ran off the road and struck a bridge pillar, according to Ypsilanti state police.

He had been in critical condition since being admitted to the hospital.

Ex-N.Y. Policeman Sentenced in Slaying

NEW YORK (AP) — A former New York policeman has been sentenced to 20 years to life for his part in the rape-slaying of a 60-year-old grandmother.

Judge Samuel S. Leibowitz pronounced sentence Friday on weeping Francis J. Rogers, 26, who had been permitted to plead guilty to second degree murder.

Rogers turned state's evidence against his pal, Thomas Murtha, 22, a truck driver. Murtha, tried on a first-degree murder charge in the case, was found innocent by an all-male Kings County jury.

The two men were accused of beating and raping Viola Mirman last Feburary, then hurling her from a car to die in a Brooklyn parking lot.

Lodge Calendar

Regular Meeting, Pontiac Chapter No. 228 O.E.S. Monday, Sept. 14, at 8 p.m. 18½ E. Lawrence St. Edith M. Coons, Secretary.

News in Brief

Two cases of whiskey and a dozen bottles of scotch valued at $120, were reported stolen this morning by thieves who broke into Law's Super Market, 200 Earlemoor St., according to Pontiac police.

Public Opinion No Longer Sour

Kalamazoo's Mall Called Wonderful

KALAMAZOO (AP) — The nation's first permanent downtown shopping mall continues to generate an air of excitement among shoppers and merchants who footed half the $65,000 project's cost through assessments.

"I've asked questions at random of shoppers on the street and they say its 'wonderful.'

"When we first started breaking up the street to put in the mall, you couldn't find two in 10 persons who liked the idea. Now you can't find anyone who doesn't like it."

He was speaking on the heels of a remarkable night shopper turnout on preceding Labor Day weekend. Downtown Kalamazoo stores have remained open Wednesday nights as a shopper concession for several years.

Gilmore's Department Store, largest in Kalamazoo, reported its 448-car lot packed as were most other off-street parking areas nearby.

"It was a tremendous night," said Judd Knapper, manager of Kooi-Knapper Co., a clothing store in the north block of the two-block mall. "We didn't have any special sale—just regular merchandise."

"For the opening four days of the mall (dedicated Aug. 19)," Knapper added, "we recorded a storewide increase of 69 per cent in business. The crowds have continued very fine. There's been an awful lot of traffic from all over the state. Our sales receipts show that."

Dykema says there undoubtedly is not much question that the mall will be expanded next year. But, he adds, the city commission will wait for reports from its traffic and planning boards before deciding in which direction the expansion will go.

The mall covers a two-block stretch of Burdick street, formerly a one-way north-south thoroughfare. One block of the mall lies to the north of Michigan avenue, which carries U. S. 12 through the city in an east-west route. The mall's larger block lies south of Michigan avenue.

ONE-WAY STREETS

Traffic is routed around the mall by a series of one-way streets which went into effect last June. It was then the city parks department started replacing Burdick's pavement with lawns, trees, shrubbery, reflector pools, flower-filled cement planter boxes, a kiddies' playlot and a multipurpose stage for fashion shows and other merchant-sponsored events.

The city's half of the mall cost, said Mayor Glenn Allen, has been recovered through building permits for face-lifting of mall frontage stores and one permit for a $600,000 Jacobson Stores, Inc. building which is going up a block south of the mall area.

Parking is handled by off-street spaces for some 600 cars.

The Michigan Municipal Finance Commission added to opening day gaiety by approving a $650,000 revenue bond issue to finance parking space for 250 more.

Kalamazoo merchants and civic leaders struck upon the mall plan in 1956 to revitalize the downtown area.

"It adds some of the aesthetic—puts a bit of beauty back in downtown," says Dykema. "We have been gearing these downtowns too many years to the car," he adds, "and it's my feeling that people are willing to walk a couple of blocks now to get downtown."

SHE LIKES IT

Dykema illustrates his point with this story:

"An elderly lady leaned across to me in a cafeteria the other day and said: 'Say, aren't you connected with the mall?'

"'Yes,' I told her.

"'Well,' she confided, 'I just love to come downtown to shop, now. I come downtown at every excuse.'"

Rudy Vallee May Run for Mayor of Los Angeles

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Former crooning idol Rudy Vallee said today he was thinking seriously about running for mayor of Los Angeles, despite a lack of encouragement from the present office holder.

Vallee, 58, said one thing delaying his decision on running for office was the fact Norris Poulson, Los Angeles' current mayor, is a fraternity brother.

"Every time I see Norris, I mention that I think I'll run for mayor," said Vallee. "He looks at me as if I were nuts."

Borgnine Free to Wed Actress Katy Jurado

Borgnine, 41, and Miss Jurado, 32, are expected to marry this month.

Mrs. Rhode Borgnine, 37, was granted an interlocutory decree of divorce Aug. 26, 1958. She later tried unsuccessfully to have it set aside.

Maria Callas, Onassis Cruise Mediterranean

VENICE, Italy (AP) — Maria Callas and Aristotle Onassis today were cruising again in the romantic Mediterranean—this time without her husband and without his wife.

The 35-year-old Brooklyn-born operatic soprano and the 55-year old Greek millionaire, who says he loves her "like a sister," boarded his big white yacht Christina Friday and set out for Greece.

It was a comparatively private cruise next to the elaborate excursion six weeks ago when Sir Winston Churchill was aboard. Miss Callas then traveled with her Italian husband as the guests of Onassis and his pretty blonde wife, Tina.

Part of Their Education

Astronauts to Watch X15

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — America's seven Astronauts — one of whom will have the risky distinction of being our first spaceman—will watch Tuesday's scheduled first power flight of the experimental X15 rocket ship.

Mat Portz, western public information officer for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, said the seven young men would be in Southern California all of next week.

"The trip here," Portz explained, "is part of their continuing education to learn as much as possible about the equipment, and the people that build it, that they will use for their first space trip."

Tuesday's scheduled first power flight at Edward Air Force Base, Calif., will be the third attempt to fly the rocket-powered craft under its own power. The first two attempts were canceled because of fuel leaks.

"All the data they get from this (first powered X15 flight) will be helpful to the Astronauts, too," Portz said.

Also on their trip to Souther California the Astronauts will visit Convair at San Diego—maker of the Atlas Missile — and Rocketdyne, producers of Atlas rockets.

Wednesday the Astronauts are tentatively scheduled to hold a press conference when they tour the Air Force ballistic missile division at Inglewood. Newsmen will not be able to talk to them during the X15 flight, Portz said, because they would be too busy observing the flight and being briefed.

All About His Probes

Kennedy Writes Book

WASHINGTON (AP) — Robert F. Kennedy, resigning as the Senate rackets committee's chief counsel, is writing a book about its tempestuous investigations.

He announced Thursday his resignation from the post which made him nationally known and in which, at times, he has tangled publicly with Republican committee members.

He resigned also as chief counsel of the investigating subcommittee, the post from which he moved on leave to head up the rackets probing staff.

His closest friends say Kennedy will join the political staff of his brother, Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass). Sen. Kennedy is a member of the committee and is viewed generally as a contender for the 1960 Democratic presidential nomination.

WAS DEDICATED

Goldwater said he was mystified by what he termed "militant reluctance by the Kennedy brothers, John and Bob, and the committee staff, to get anywhere close" to any real investigation of the United Auto Workers Union.

Counsel Kennedy in a flareup Tuesday had denounced as a fraud the committee's hearings on UAW affairs conducted at the demand of the Republican members.

McClellan announced he considered the committee has fulfilled its mission and that he plans no further inquiry.

George Liberace's Wife 'Frightened' Into Divorce

INDIO, Calif. (AP) — Divorce has ended the seven-year marriage of orchestra leader George Liberace, brother of the pianist who uses only their last name.

Mrs. Jayne Liberace obtained the decree Friday on a charge of cruelty.

In explanation of the charge, she said earlier only that her husband "came in late often and frightened me."

Under a property settlement, Mrs. Liberace will receive $500 monthly alimony for two years. It will end if she remarries.

DON'T!!! depend on an accurate check of your TV tubes from so-called, do-it-yourself tube checkers. These devices are primarily designed to act as sales getters in drug stores and super markets.

DO!!! take your TV or radio tubes to your local TV service man. He is trained to evaluate the condition of the tubes he checks — in addition he uses a laboratory-type instrument which is superior in accuracy compared to the instrument found on do-it-yourself counters.
