Mrs. Luce Quits Brazil Job, Bitter at Morse

In a letter to the President, Mrs. Luce said: "It is no longer possible for me to accomplish the mission you have entrusted to me."

Presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty told a news conference that Eisenhower sought to persuade Mrs. Luce to reconsider her decision to quit.

"But her letter gives the reasons why she felt she could not reconsider her decision," Hagerty said.

Mrs. Luce, solemn-faced, stood beside Hagerty as he announced her decision. She refused to make any comment on her decision other than that set out in her letter.

NAMED NO NAMES

Her letter said the "climate of good will was poisoned by thousands of words of extraordinarily ugly charges against my person, and of distrust of the mission I was to undertake."

She did not mention Sen. Morse by name, but she noted that "the American author of these charges" is also chairman of a Senate subcommittee which handles Latin-American affairs.

A few hours after the Senate confirmed her appointment Tuesday, Henry Luce, her husband, publicly urged her to quit on the grounds that her Democratic political foes would make it impossible for her to carry out her diplomatic task.

The 56-year-old Mrs. Luce, a playwright, author and former Republican congresswoman, has been quietly considering her decision since then.

Her troubles erupted into a full scale row when, just after being confirmed, she struck out publicly at Morse, who had unsuccessfully sought to block her appointment.

She said her trouble started after Morse "was kicked in the head by a horse." Morse called her remark proof she was not qualified for the post. He also implied she was too unstable mentally to be trusted with an important diplomatic assignment.

Sponsored at the Pontiac Armory by the Pontiac Area Junior Chamber of Commerce, the Home Improvement Show features 65 displays by 36 different concerns.

Crowds Flock to Jaycee Show

The Downtown Pontiac Spring Values Days sale, plus the fact that stores stay open late tonight, are expected to boost attendance, said Clyle R. Haskill, president of the sponsoring Pontiac Area Junior Chamber of Commerce.

"In fact, what with the show and the sale running at the same time, this is one of the best times of the year to be downtown," said Haskill.

Last night's opening-day throng topped 600 persons, one of the best opening day crowds in the show's six-year history, Haskill said.

Jaycees' opening-day award went to Mrs. Neva M. Hicks, 2950 W. Huron St., Waterford Township, who won a portable phonograph.

Tonight's award will be an automatic dryer. The winner will be announced at 9:30 p.m.

The show will be open tonight, tomorrow and Sunday until 10 p.m. It opens at 10 a.m. tomorrow and 1 p.m. Sunday.

Thirty-six area concerns have filled 65 booths with displays. The show is the principal Jaycee money-making venture of the year, raising funds for its civic and youth program.

Pleasant 72 Degrees Forecast Tomorrow

Fair and warmer with winds light and variable, and a low of 48 is the weatherman's promise for tonight.

The high temperature tomorrow is expected to slide up to 72 degrees.

For the next five days the thermometer will register a high of 65-68 and a low of 44-47. Sunday and Monday will be slightly cooler.

Precipitation will average one-half to two inches in showers and thundershowers Saturday night and Sunday with more showers likely Monday.

The lowest recording in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 36 degrees. The reading at 2 p.m. was 60.

Roberts Bids for Dem Aid to Pass State Labor Bill

Rep. Farrell E. Roberts (R-West Bloomfield Township) is hopeful his antilabor racketeering bill introduced yesterday "has enough teeth in it" to get by the evenly split House of Representatives.

Roberts, chairman of the important House Labor Committee, said the measure undoubtedly will need some revising after members of his committee have studied its provisions "and the smoke has settled."

Hoping it will win Democratic support in his 5-4 GOP majority committee and on the floor, Roberts copied his bill from the one authored by Gov. Michael DiSalle, Ohio Democrat. His bill is under consideration in the Ohio Legislature.

Roberts, in his second year in the House, just got under today's deadline for bills to be introduced the Legislature. The deadline doesn't apply to tax and appropriation measures.

His bill, which has fellow Oakland legislator Rep. Lloyd L. Anderson (R-Waterford Township) as a co-sponsor along with 10 others, contains these basic provisions:

1. Forbid formation of dummy locals.

2. Set up safeguards for union welfare funds.

3. Prevent union officials from having an interest in firms with which their union was negotiating, and forbid unions from lending money to such firms.

4. Set up penalties for employers and union officials resorting to strike violence.

EAST LANSING (AP)—Michigan State University will immediately suspend payment of bills for supplies and contractual services, MSU President Dr. John A. Hannah said today. Hannah said the move was forced because the state was so far behind in the money owed to MSU and because the university wants to save every dollar to put toward payrolls.

The state now owes Michigan State $5,327,000 and will owe $7,436,000 by the end of May.

GOP Senators Cling to Tax and Trust Fund

Bill Is Sent to House but It Faces Trouble; Legislators Adjourn

LANSING (AP) — Republican senators powered ahead today with their two-ply answer to the state's deepening cash crisis, passing a disguised sales tax increase bill and clinging stubbornly to the veterans trust fund measure.

The tax bill was routed to the House on a vote of 21 to 13. There, it was referred to the taxation committee where it faced trouble.

The legislature then adjourned for the weekend.

The GOP senators caucused 40 minutes before renewing their decision to hold tight to the trust fund bill for immediate 43 million dollars cash relief to the hard pressed state treasury.

"We want to make it clear that when the governor accepts the tax bill the trust fund bill will come right along behind it," explained Sen. Carlton H. Morris (R-Kalamazoo), mainspring of the GOP power play.

The bill did not get immediate effect and even if passed, would not become effective until 90 days after the session unless Democrats gave it support.

Before passing the bill, the Senate rejected an amendment that would have increased the use tax to five cents, instead of four cents, and exempted food and medicines.

"This Senate Republican group has finally taken a stand that they're gonna stick with," said Sen. Carlton Morris (R-Kalamazoo).

The bill would raise the three-cent use tax on certain goods bought elsewhere and taken into Michigan to four cents and broad-

Taxpayers Extend Fight

Threaten Courthouse Again

League Attorney to File Appeal of Finance Decree

Building's Backers Still Hope Plan Can Move Ahead in County

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

Oakland County officials were hopeful today that plans for a new county courthouse could still move ahead despite another legal obstacle tossed in its way.

The attorney for the Oakland County Taxpayers League, William H. Wilmot, disclosed late yesterday that the group of independent taxpayers will further contest means of financing the long-awaited new building.

Wilmot said he has been instructed to appeal the final decree in the lawsuit of the League, which for nearly three years has stymied plans for the building to replace the 55-year-old courthouse in downtown Pontiac.

The decision came after four members of the League had lunch at the Pontiac City Club yesterday noon. Bruce J. Annett, secretary of the group, said other members and directors were contacted by phone and they favored the appeal.

Wilmot said primary objective of the appeal will be "for the State Supreme Court to define what is meant by miscellaneous funds."

The League, in its original suit filed Nov. 20, 1956, charged the Oakland County Board of Supervisors and Board of Auditors with "padding" annual budgets to accumulate so called miscellaneous receipts to bolster a courthouse building fund.

This, the group said, was in violation of a state law which limits raising of money by taxation or borrowing for construction or repair of public buildings to one-tenth of a mill.

The county's hands were tied as a result of the suit until Feb. 19 this year when the Supreme Court reversed a lower court decision and said the county could use these funds to build the $2,875,000 courthouse.

"Here we go again," was the comment of David Levinson, Birmingham supervisor spearheading courthouse plans, when told of the new legal bombshell.

"We on the Board regret the additional delay and sincerely hope the issue will be resolved promptly so contracts can be let within a specified time so we won't have to readvertise for bids," Levinson said.

Construction bids, submitted April 21 and totaling $3,054,527, will remain valid until around June 4, Levinson said.

Charles A. Davis, assistant county corporation counsel, could not comment on the new legal developments since, he said, he hadn't

Arthur Told Bad News; Spirits Fine

NEW YORK (AP)—Arthur Godfrey was told today that the tumor removed from his chest yesterday was cancerous. He made no special comment on the news and seemed in good spirits, according to a hospital announcement.

A mid-morning report from the Columbia - Presbyterian Medical Center said:

"Mr. Godfrey was taken from the recovery room to his room in the Harkness Pavilion this morning about 7 a.m.

"His doctors stated that his condition is entirely satisfactory and that he has been doing fine in post operative recovery.

"He has been told the results of the operation and had no special comment about it.

"He was described as being in good spirits."

The hospital plans to issue reports twice each day on the broadcasting star's condition.

Earlier, the hospital said he "spent a satisfactory postoperative night with no complications."

Godfrey slept under sedation after the five-hour surgery.

Chrysler Nets $1.75 a Share

1st Quarter Earnings Jump Despite Glass Shortage

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp. had a net profit of $15,236,000, or $1.75 a share, in this year's January-March quarter, despite a production slowdown caused by glass shortages.

The profit, reported yesterday, was made on sales of $690,519,000. It compared with a $15,139,802 loss in the first quarter of 1958 when sales totaled $537,234,081.

A 25-cent quarterly dividend, payable June 12 to stock of record May 21, was declared. Chrysler has paid this quarterly dividend in recent declarations.

The earnings report bore out statements of L. L. Colbert, president, last week, that net would be better than that of any 1958 quarter. The best 1958 quarter for Chrysler was the fourth with net earnings of $11,400,000, or $1.30 a share. Colbert also said a week ago that further improvement in earnings were expected for this year's April-June quarter.

In the statement covering this year's January-March period Colbert said passenger car and truck sales, exclusive of imported Simca products, totaled 218,114 units, compared with 185,888 in the like 1958 period. Simca sales this year amounted to 15,071 units, he said.

Chrysler is the last of the five major U.S. automakers to report robust earnings in the current upsurging auto market.

With Chrysler's first 1959 quarter earnings the industry's overall profit for the period totaled almost 464 million dollars.

In the 1958 quarter General Motors, Ford and American Motors aggregated 213½ million. Chrysler and Studebaker-Packard had a combined loss of nearly 21½ million.

New Inquiry May Lead to City Water Showdown

Pontiac wants some answers that may lead to a showdown between offers by the Southeastern Michigan Water Authority and the city of Detroit to provide a new supply of fresh water here.

City Manager Walter K. Willman was told last night to query the Southeastern Michigan Water Authority on the practicality of its plans to pipe Lake Huron water here.

City commissioners asked Willman to find out how successful the water authority has been in lining up enough customers to sell 100 million gallons of water daily.

Specifically, they want to know:

1. How many commitments has the water authority won to date and how much water is involved?

2. Will the water authority be able to sell to the populous southeastern Oakland County communities that are now under contract with Detroit for water?

3. Or will Detroit come into the authority as a customer, using the Lake Huron water to supply its suburban customers?

Success of the water authority hinges on whether it can sell enough water to make financing of its proposed pipeline profitable, said Willman.

KEY CUSTOMER

Water authority engineers estimated the authority would have to sell 100 million gallons a day. Pontiac might be capable of using up to 20 million gallons daily, making it a potential key customer in the water plan.

Howard K. Kelley, chairman of the water authority, has said Pontiac could have water at a top price of $1.33 a thousand gallons and that this price would go down as the number of customers elsewhere goes up.

But the $1.33 maximum is based on total sales of at least 100 million gallons a day throughout the Oakland and Macomb county area, Kelley admits.

Meanwhile, Pontiac is still being offered water by Detroit, said Willman, at a price of $1.44 a thousand gallons under contractural arrangements similar to the ones in effect in the southern part of the county.

"Detroit's price is higher, but the offer is more definite," Willman said.

Pontiac's present water supply comes from wells. Industry and homeowners have expressed desires for a soft-water supply, and when the local water table began dropping several years ago, the city government began looking around for a new water supply.

Oakland and Macomb counties set up the joint water authority three years ago in an effort to fill water needs in the northern portions of both counties.

Two years ago, Detroit was given legal permission to sell water in this area up to double the price charged to customers within the Detroit city limits.

Congress Lauds Dillon Elevation

Ike Promotes Him to No. 2 Job in State Department

WASHINGTON (AP)—C. Douglas Dillon's elevation by President Eisenhower to the No. 2 spot in the State Department was welcomed with enthusiasm on Capitol Hill today.

Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont), assistant Senate majority leader, said "Mr. Eisenhower could not have made a better choice" when he nominated the former New York investment banker Thursday to replace Christian A. Herter in the second-ranking position.

Mansfield proposed that the Senate Foreign Relations Committee waive its six-day rule—as it did when Herter was promoted to secretary of state— and approve Dillon's nomination when he appears Monday to testify on next year's foreign aid program.

The senator also predicted speedy approval of administration legislation to enable Dillon to continue to handle the international economic matters. Such matters, including the foreign aid program, have been Dillon's particular field as undersecretary for economic affairs in the No. 3 spot. Dillon moves up to Herter's former position.

The White House announced also it intends to advance career diplomat Robert Murphy to undersecretary of state for political affairs; Murphy's position as deputy undersecretary will go to Livingston T. Merchant, now assistant secretary in charge of European affairs.

The Day in Birmingham

Police Complete Planning for Car, Bicycle Inspection

BIRMINGHAM — Safety is the watchword as local police launch final plans for Birmingham's first motor vehicle inspection and the annual inspection of bicycles.

Police Lt. Robert Schaule this morning stressed that both inspections are free and voluntary.

Members of the Exchange, Kiwanis and Lions clubs, along with the Junior Chamber of Commerce, will assist police in the car inspection program.

Schaule said this is scheduled for the first two weekends in June.

There will be one inspection site on south Woodward avenue and another on Maple avenue.

Safety stickers will be placed on the windshields of vehicles that pass. Unsafe vehicles will be reported to drivers who may return for a second check after repairs are made.

"People whose business is safety approve of these programs," Schaule said. "And they urge the public to take advantage of them."

"We cannot, of course, rule defective vehicles off the streets. However, the sticker will be a sign to the public that the vehicle has passed inspection and is mechanically safe."

Bike inspections by police and Kiwanis Club members will be held May 9 at Adams, Torry, Quarton and Midvale elementary schools.

On May 16, inspection crews will move to Baldwin, Pierce, Pembroke and Holy Name schools.

Franta Kreigh, grand chief of the Pythian Lodge in Michigan will make her official visit to Birmingham Lodge 94 at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the Community House.

Prior to the meeting, a dinner will be held at Bill's Northern Restaurant on Woodward avenue, Royal Oak.

Louis Hascall

Service for Louis Hascall, 80, of 887 Oakland Ave. will be held at 2 p.m. Monday from the Manley Bailey Funeral Home. Burial will follow in White Chapel Cemetery, Troy.

Mr. Hascall died early this morning at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Pontiac after a brief illness.

A resident of Birmingham since 1917, he had been active in the real estate and insurance business.

He was a charter member and past president of the Birmingham Rotary Club, a past president of the Birmingham Real Estate Board and of the Lost Lake Woods Country Club at Lincoln.

He also was a member of the Birmingham Gun Club, the Senior Men's Club and First Methodist Church.

Surviving besides his wife, Ruth, are a daughter, Mrs. David H. MacAdam Jr.; a son, Forbes S.; two sisters, Mrs. Fred Peters and Mrs. Ernest J. Shipman; and four grandchildren, all of Birmingham.

The family suggests memorial contributions to First Methodist Church.

Presence of 3 Teachers Deadlocks Band Meeting

New notes of disharmony have been sounded over the Pontiac Central High School Band.

Representatives of the Band Parents and Alumni Committee balk at meeting with school administrators whom they accuse of trying to reduce the band to a "level of mediocrity."

They demand that three members of the Instrumental Music Dept. staff sit at such a meeting as committee representatives.

The Board of Education refuses to meet with the citizens group as long as it includes the three teachers.

The instructors in the spotlight are Dale C. Harris, instrumental music department head and a faculty member since 1927, Eldon C. Rosegart and Frederick Wiest.

Glenn H. Griffin, Board president, said:

"The members of the Board are unanimously agreed that it is not proper for these instructors to be at such a meeting.

"They are behind this whole movement and have been openly agitating against the Board.

"We want a chance to get together with these citizens to present the facts.

They criticized the Board for reducing band practice time and for refusing to allow junior high school instrumentalists to play in the senior organization.

"When the Board heard our side of the story, it was agreeable to us that we hear theirs," said Roy MacAfee, chairman of the Band Parents and Alumni Committee.

"There were no objections from Board members when Harris and Rosegart spoke at the April Board meeting," MacAfee pointed out.

Another sore point with MacAfee's committee is a school administration report on the entire band situation which the board has not made public.

"When we agreed to meet with the administration, it was our understanding that this report would be given us. We've been told otherwise since."

Griffin said he has never said the report wouldn't be released.

"But it shouldn't form the basis for our talks," he said.

Although the report contains no "recommendations," Griffin said, it does have some "interpretations" based on the facts.

"The facts should be known before the report is gone into," he said. 'Afterward, we'll show the report."

"We'll proceed as if no appeal is to be taken," he said.

Annett made it clear that the decision to appeal was that of the directors of the League, and that a meeting of League members will be held shortly.

"They could change our mind," Annett said, "but as of now it's our decision to appeal."

Most county officials were cheered by the high court's decision and the settlement this week of the final decree, which effectuates the opinion of the Supreme Court.

However, Davis continued to be leery, feeling the league still had legal recourse.

How long the approved appeal might delay construction plans — architects hoped to break ground within a month or two — now was in doubt.

"We're in a very vague position until we know exactly what they're going to do," Davis said.

Annett, speaking for the rest of the directors, said they were still dissatisfied with what the Supreme Court had said about a county being able to use miscellaneous funds. A precedent was in the making, too, he said, if Oakland is allowed to proceed in this manner of financing.

Wilmot said: "It is their opinion that this question is far more important for future county financial planning than where and when the courthouse is built."

Annett, who said taking the appeal was the "only means left to us," said the League feels the courts never have properly answered the major question in their lawsuit.

That is, does the section of the Michigan Constitution, which limits public building financing to the one-tenth annual limit, also restrict the amount that can be spent or accumulated from sources other than direct taxation.

Davis said, as did the high court, that the answer should be "no" as the monies in question are not raised by direct taxation.

When the suit was heard in Oakland County Circuit Court in 1957, visiting Judge Herman C. Dehnke ruled the county had acted illegally in accumulating these funds and that they should be restored to the general fund. The appeal resulted.

Judge Dehnke, however, when he signed the final decree Tuesday, said the county could use $1,192,427 left from these funds for the new courthouse.

"I understand he has to agree by law with the findings of the Supreme Court in his decree," Annett said. "This doesn't make sense to me."

City Girds for Fight on Smut Literature

Meeting informally last night, commissioners took a strong stand on the subject and asked the city administration to prepare a positive plan.

"Something must be done to protect our youngsters from this barrage of dirty material," said Commissioner Robert A. Landry, chief advocate of an antismut measure.

"More and more stores are selling these so-called 'girlie' magazines. Some of the things printed in them are filthy, as far as I'm concerned."

"These are sometimes sold to children right next to our schools. We have got to take steps to halt this."

TO SEEK SOLUTION

Mayor Philip E. Rowston, City Manager Walter K. Willman and City Attorney William A. Ewart were asked to meet with police officials and come up with an answer in a month.

Under consideration are two possible measures.

One would attack obscene literature on a criminal basis, making sale or distribution of smut an offense punishable under the city's disorderly conduct law, subject to fines and jail terms.

The other would be an elaborate licensing scheme, under which distributors would be liable to lose their license to sell non-obscene materials if they were convicted of selling smut.

Ewart mentioned a third possibility.

City officials are now armed with a new state law passed last year, under which civil action can be taken against distributors of obscene materials.

Officials can now ask for Circuit Court orders confiscating smutty literature and halting their sale, he said.

The attorney pointed out that if Pontiac battles smut, it will be faced with a problem that has proved ticklish elsewhere.

"In borderline cases, how do you decide what is obscene and what isn't? The courts have always had trouble with this question."

Roberts Hopes Dems Will Back Labor Bill

5. Prevent union officials from investing union funds for their personal profit.

Another provision—which would send unionists convicted of certain crimes to prison—is "too broad" and must be amended in committee, Roberts said.

FIRST IN TWO YEARS

Roberts' bill is the first labor racketeering bill sought in Michigan since two years ago when one "was torn apart so much with amendments it meant nothing," the Oakland legislator said.

Other parts of his bill, Roberts added, are too narrow and might need broadening. It will be several weeks before his committee sits down to debate these provisions, he said.

Should Congress successfully enact its proposed Kennedy-Ervin labor bill, Roberts pointed out, the need for a state bill will be lessened. Should both pass, the federal bill naturally will have priority.

Among other bills to be tossed into the legislative hopper yesterday was one authored by Rep. William Hayward (R-Royal Oak), to raise the speed limit on four-lane limited access highways from 65 to 70 miles in daytime and from 55 to 65 at night.

Reps. Joseph J. Kowalski (D-Detroit) and Allison Green (R-Kingston), leaders of their respective parties in the House, co-sponsored bills to assure continuity of government in the event of enemy attack.

The bills would authorize the governor to designate three successors, in order of preference, to take over his post if he and members of his Administrative Board should be killed or disabled in an attack. Other state and local officials would do the same, some designating five emergency successors. They would serve only until elections could be held.

Senate Passes Hike in State Sales Tax

en the law to include purchases made in the state.

GO TOGETHER

Amendments to it and a bill authorizing use of the veterans trust fund prevent either from taking effect without the other.

Democrats are opposed to coupling the trust fund and use tax bills. They want immediate action on the trust fund and are solid in support of an income tax over a use tax.

Gov. G. Mennen Williams claimed the Senate GOP was using the state's cash crisis as a "blackjack" to get the use tax.

"Any payless payday we have had so far is a phony," said Morris.

Morris said Republicans intended the sales tax increase to be permanent and "We've got the votes to pass it."

Meanwhile the men who run Michigan's state-supported colleges and universities say their schools are in deep trouble because of the state financial crisis.

MORALE SINKING

Faculty morale is sinking because of threatened payless paydays. Top teachers are being lured away by more solvent schools.

Administrators of all nine schools told their woes yesterday in communications to Gov. Williams and his Administrative Board. The Board had placed colleges far down on a priority list established to pay bills with cash available in the state's general fund.

April Passes On but Leaves Damp Memento

By The Associated Press

Some showers left over from April dampened the start of the merry, merry month of May today across many sections of the country.

But fairly mild and pleasant weather prevailed in wide areas, a continuation of Thursday's warm temperatures and sunny skies.

Biggest wet belts were in the West. Light showers fell in Idaho, adjacent sections of Montana, Oregon and Nevada and along and near coastal sections of Washington, Oregon and California. Falls were light in most places.

Light showers also sprinkled sections of the middle Mississippi Valley and the Ohio Valley eastward to the coast and northeastward into Maine. Only other wet spots were in parts of the upper Mississippi Valley.

Britain Plans to Send Satellite Into Space

LONDON (AP)—Britain is planning to send a British-American earth satellite into space, London newspapers reported today.

The decision to proceed with the space program was taken at a meeting of Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and his top ministers, the reports said.

The Daily Telegraph said indications were that the satellite would be propelled by Britain's Blue Streak missile, that the satellite itself would be American, and its instruments inside British.

Cuban Invaders Ready to Surrender in Panama

PANAMA (AP) — The leader of the Cuban invaders of Panama said today he and his men are ready to surrender unconditionally and submit to Panamanian court.

Cesar Vega, a former Havana night club owner who led the expeditionary force of less than 100 ashore six days ago, said he would return to the invaders' base on the Caribbean coast and get formal approval from his men.

But he said he had already taken an opinion poll and the discouraged adventurers favored a quick settlement.

"We are optimistic about reaching a settlement within a few days," said a spokesman for the inter-American team of diplomats trying to end the threat to Panamanian President Ernesto de la Guardia's government.

Vega said he was responding to direct surrender appeals from Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro, his brother Raul, commander of the Cuban armed forces, and the Organization of American States.

Vega and three others of his party were flown to the U.S.-controlled Canal Zone Thursday to talk with the peace mission sent from Washington by the 21-nation OAS.

The U.S. minesweeper Falcon and two other naval ships also began patrolling the coast on the lookout for invasion craft.

An OAS spokesman emphasized that all foreign ships were being used only for "peaceful observation."

Herter Will Report to Nation on Paris

WASHINGTON (AP)—A radio-television report to the nation on the Western foreign ministers conference in Paris will be given next Thursday by Secretary of State Christian A. Herter.

Herter will also review the forthcoming East-West foreign ministers conference to be held in Geneva May 11.

The United States, with the apparent solid agreement of Britain and France, will make a determined try to keep the strings around a package German settlement.

Come On, Little Rabbit

SAN FERNANDO, Calif. (UPI) —Gary L. Seybert, 21, told police last night he'd had no idea those plants in his carefully cultivated garden were marijuana. "I'm a rabbit hunter," he said. "A guy gave me these seeds and told me they would attract all the rabbits I can shoot."

Believe Sunken Bradley Located Off Gull Island

CHARLEVOIX (AP)—The broken hulk of the sunken freighter Carl D. Bradley which went down with 33 of her 35 crewmen was believed located yesterday in her grave on the bottom of Lake Michigan.

The sonar-equipped search boat Penmanta said the sound waves with which it was probing the bottom of the icy lake apparently brushed the Bradley about 5¾ miles northwest of Boulder Reef.

The Penmanta was scheduled to go out again today to verify its findings. The lake depth where the sounding was made is about 300 feet and lies in the area near Gull Island about 45 miles northwest of here.

The Penmanta is a cruiser operated by the Bradley Transportation Line which also operated the ill-fated Bradley. Line officials said "during the continuous search we have been making we have registered a sonar finding which may be the Bradley."

They said that if the finding is the Bradley they will consult with salvage experts to see if it would be feasible for divers to go down to the hulk. They said that if divers can go down they will try to photograph the hulk and recover the 15 bodies believed entombed in the ship. Two men survived the sinking and 18 bodies were recovered.

It has been rumored the Bradley had a $1,00,000 payroll aboard when she went down.

Two ships hired by the Seafarers International Union the Blue Chip and the See Hear conducted a separate search yesterday. The ships said their sonar equipment picked up no soundings from metal.

Montgomery Concludes Visit With Khrushchev

MOSCOW (AP) — British Field Marshal Lord Montgomery flew back to London today after a two-day visit to discuss East-West relations with Soviet leaders.

Montgomery gave no information about his two talks with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev except to say he was taking a personal message from Khrushchev to British Prime Minister Macmillan. The trip was Montgomery's own idea and was severely criticized by some British papers.

The field marshal didn't stay to see the big annual May Day parade through Red Square. He said he'd seen lots of parades.

Nearly 1,100 miles of roads were constructed in the first 10 years of Israel's history, almost doubling the length of the first-class roads in the country before 1948.

U.S. Will Borrow $3½ Billion in Cash

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government plans to borrow 3½ billion dollars in cash next week.

The Treasury will use $2,700,000,000 of the money to pay off a special issue of bills maturing May 15. The balance will take care of cash needs through June 30—the end of the fiscal year.

The borrowing will be done through two offerings of treasury bills, both maturing in less than a year.

In announcing the plan Thursday, the treasury also said it will offer on May 7 a one-year certiicate in exchange for $1,800,000,000 of 1¼ per cent certificates maturing May 15.

Reginald Arkell, Author of 'Old Herbaceous,' Dies

CRICKLADE, England (AP) — Reginald Arkell, British author-dramatist best known abroad for his novel "Old Herbaceous," died today after a long illness. He was 76.

Arkell wrote or collaborated on the book and lyrics of a dozen successful British musical shows and founded the popular magazine Men Only.

Called Divorce Capital

MEXICO CITY (AP)—A Mexican judge says Ciudad Juarez, on the Texas border is the divorce capital of the world with about 10,000 granted a year. Judge Gregorio Espejel told an interviewer most of the cases involve U.S. citizens pleading incompatibility. Espejel said he himself heard 300 cases last month.

Would Use Platforms

Plan Space Ferrying

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—Two Massachusetts Institute of Technology engineers today offered a plan on how to ferry men and materials from the earth to space platform orbiting the globe.

The method offered by Philip G. Felleman and Norman E. Sears Jr. was described as somewhat similar to fueling an aircraft aloft.

They told the opening session of a two-day conferference on controllable satellites that the method they offer of making a "rendezvous" was quite different from the classical method of approaching an orbiting space platform with a ferry rocket proposed coming in on short bursts and coasting in for the final link up.

Felleman and Sears propose using a small engine with a minimal amount of fuel and come up gradually and slowly—like a fuel-scarce plane approaching an aerial tanker—and make a soft landing.

NO SLAMMING

They said that would obviate rapid deceleration or "slamming on the brakes" and eliminate the need for passengers to be strapped down in a horizontal position as in a rocket takeoff.

They predicted the day is not far off when such a ferry could be constructed.

About 500 rocket-space specialists are attending the meeting sponsored by the American Rocket Society and MIT.

Career Studded With It

Morse Man of Controversy

By United Press International

Wayne Lyman Morse, lawyer, farmer and educator, has seasoned his political career with sharp controversy.

The Oregon Democrat's fight against the confirmation of Clare Boothe Luce as U. S. ambassador to Brazil casts him in a familiar role.

The 58-year-old senator has spent 15 years in the Senate fighting against what he describes as "unconscionable compromise." His pursuit of the goal of "constitutional liberalism" has amounted to something of a crusade.

As a Republican member of the Senate, Morse was one of the first in Congress to suggest that the then Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower was political timber.

WALKS OUT ON GOP

But he walked out on his party in 1953 when he became dissatisfied with the Eisenhower campaign.

Later, as a Democrat, he campaigned vigorously for Richard L. Neuberger, his one-time law student, and helped to get Neuberger elected to the Senate.

Then he locked horns with Neuberger in one of the sharpest Senate feuds of recent years—a feud which has only recently been tempered to some degree.

None of the events have been without their scars, and Morse would win no Senate popularity contest.

His detractors concede, however, that the one-time professor of argumentation combines an agile mind and a fluent tongue and ranks as one of the Senate's best rough and tumble debaters.

When Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen (Ill) urged Morse, during the debate on Mrs. Luce's appointment, to stop beating an "old bag of bones," Morse was quickly on his feet to remark that he had consistently described Mrs. Luce as a charming lady.

SERIOUS FARMER

Morse, a sharply featured man with a brush mustache, takes his farming seriously. As Mrs. Luce charged, Morse was kicked by a horse in 1951. The blow broke his jaw.

Currently president of the Devon Cattle Breeding Assn., Morse has 100 head of beef cattle, 76 hogs and chickens of some 19 breeds on his farm at Pooleville, Md. He also owns a farm in Oregon.

The senator's eyes gleam when he discusses his current efforts to develop a "polled" strain (a hornless strain) of Devon cattle.

His office cabinets are festooned with the colorful ribbons won in horse and cattle shows. He describes animal husbandry as "a science and an art."

"That's how I relax," the senator says.

Five-Suit Bridge Still Being Played

FONDA, Iowa (AP) — The five-suits bridge club here has nine women members.

Their games have been going on for more than 25 years. Five suit decks of cards were introduced in the 1930s with limited success. Now such decks, the ladies say, are very hard to find.

They make their own, two at a time, by painting red suits green in a third deck and adding a green suit to each of the two playing decks. The extra suit is called eagles.

Hydrogen Bomb Testing Raises Question:

Does Fallout Affect Crops, Animals?

LANSING (UPI) — Hydrogen bomb testing by this country and Russia has increased concern over radioactive fallout and emphasized the need for more information on it.

Little is know about this problem but some things have been learned.

Scientists at Michigan State University know radioactivity does bring about changes in plants. Prof. Kenyon T. Payne, head of farm crops at MSU, said mutations or changes have been produced in plants by radiation exposure.

Some of the changes are bad, he said, but in at least one case, a type of bean plant was changed from vine to bush type being first treated in 1938.

Exposures can halt germination of potato tubers, even when storage temperatures cannot do so.

Concern has mounted recently on the subject of fallout because of higher radioactivity counts, specially in the northern parts of the U.S.

Prof. Sylvan Wittwer, Horticulturist at MSU, said he hadn't made studies on fallout of strontium 90, but controlled experiments with the material show leaves and fruits would absorb it.

Strontium 90 is a by-product of H-bomb explosions and extremely hazardous to health.

Wittwer said the above-ground parts of plants take up the material and there is no obvious change in the plant itself, except that it does absorb the strontium 90 and can pass it along to man or animal.

Dr. Harold Tukey, head of the MSU horticulture department, said radioactive isotopes have been used in experiments for about eight years, but that his interest was in how various materials act in various plants.

"With us, it's sort of like putting dye in a stream to see how currents flow," he said, "because we can trace flow of materials like calcium which have been made radioactive."

State Health Commissioner Albert E. Heustis said there was no cause for alarm about increased fallout. It is higher than normal now, he said, but must increase to 20 times normal before any real concern would develop.

So little is known about the silver white metallic strontium 90 that the top policy-making body of the Atomic Energy Commission is meeting this week to review the entire subject.

Strontium 90, with no smell and no taste, affects bone marrow and has been found to be present in increased amounts in milk and wheat among other materials.

Tukey said one of the main things known was that when it got on leaves, it got into the plant. Wittwer said there was little "transport" of the material within the plant.

The question of how fallout affects farming is one that scientists have only slight knowledge about, Payne said.

Holland Tosses Out Suit on 3 Troy Commissioners

A lawsuit charging three Troy city commissioners with voting for a particular route of the proposed Walter P. Chrysler expressway through Troy which would best suit some real estate interests they own has been tossed out of court.

Oakland County Circuit Judge H. Russel Holland this morning dismissed the suit by the Troy Meadows Home Owners' Assn. against Commissioners Roy L. Duncan, Louis Yanich and Clifford Sutermeister Jr.

"The allegations contained in the bill of complaint do not disclose the commissioners had actual, direct, immediate or self interests" in where the road went, Judge Holland ruled.

"They merely voted on a question which might mean at a later date that it will affect real estate which they personally own," the judge said.

The property owners association filed suit in March seeking to prevent the State Highway Department from carrying through with the route the three commissioners favored.

Judge Holland had issued a temporary restraining order until arguments were heard April 14.

At this time, Ernest O. Zirkalos, assistant attorney general representing the Highway Department, asked dismissal of the suit, claiming the group had filed it prematurely and that the actual route had not been selected as yet.

Judge Holland in his opinion overruled the Troy City Charter when he said Commissioners Duncan, Yanich and Sutermeister were not "precluded from voting on said resolution" determining which of two routes of the expressway should go through the city.

The association claimed that since the commissioners had personal interests they should have abstained, according to a provision in the Charter.

Painting of 'Boy' Found to Be Girl After 70 Years

INNSBRUCK, Austria (AP) —A painting hanging in the Innsbruck Museum since 1889 has undergone a sex change.

Called "Boy With a Hawk," the painting by Peter Drost was taken down recently for refurbishing. The scantily dressed boy turned out to be a girl, the hawk an outsized dove.

When the painting goes back on the wall, it will be called "Girl With a Dove."

Slated for No. 2 Job

State Department's Dillon Amateur Who Made Good

FAR HILLS, N.J. (AP) — The man slated to be the new No. 2 man in the State Department is an amateur diplomat who made good.

C. Douglas Dillon, 49-year-old investment banker nominated Thursday by President Eisenhower, never held a full-time government post until he was named ambassador to France in 1953.

He did so well in the Paris job that he was brought to Washington in 1957 as deputy undersecretary of state for economic affairs.

The French liked Dillon. For one thing, he speaks their language. He was born in Switzerland while his family was on a European sojourn in 1909 and he often returned to France for visits.

His father Clarence Dillon bought the Chateau Haut-Brion with its famed vineyards near Bordeaux in 1935 and the property has remained in the family since. The younger Dillon thus acquired an appreciation for wine, and the French liked that too.

Dillon's interests range over a wide field. They include history, politics, art, sailing, farming, finance and, in recent years, diplomacy.

The Dillon homestead here is a 300-acre farm where he develops purebred Guernsey cattle and improves feed-producing methods.

After graduation from Harvard, Dillon bought a seat on the New York Stock Exchange and then entered Dillon, Read & Co., the investment banking firm his father created in 1916. He was elected board chairman of the company in 1946, succeeding the late James A. Forrestal.

It was Forrestal, then undersecretary of the Navy, who gave Dillon his first government assignment, a special study of Navy Department organization in 1940.

Dillon served with the air arm of the 7th Fleet in the southwest Pacific during World War II, emerging as a lieutenant commander in 1945.

The postwar years brought Dillon into politics — and into association with John Foster Dulles. The two men served on a foreign policy advisory team during the 1948 presidential campaign of Thomas E. Dewey.

He helped launch the "Draft Eisenhower" movement in New Jersey in 1951 and served as co-chairman of the New Jersey Citizens for Eisenhower.

Dillon was elected an alternate delegate-at-large to the convention which nominated Eisenhower. His appointment as ambassador to France came shortly after Eisenhower was inaugurated.

Dillon is married to the former Phyllis C. Ellsworth of Boston and Chicago. They have two daughters.

About 430,000 American Indians and Eskimos are legally the wards of the United States government.

Law Day Emphasizes Freedom Through Law

Today will be observed as Law Day U.S.A. across the country. This proclamation should have an extra somber meaning at this time.

Our country has set aside this day as one of national dedication to the principle of government under laws. We have just witnessed a debacle in the small town of Poplarville, Miss., which should make all God-fearing men hang their heads in shame.

This sort of mass law by the people is a disgrace. The Negro was denied a fair triai. It is action such as this that makes a mockery of the "rule of law." Abductors such as this should be caught and punished according to the crime they have committed.

This is not the type of law we are observing today. Our laws must be observed as they are a measure of our freedom. Our courts and attorneys guarantee us freedom. Our laws are enacted by the people, through their representatives in the legislative halls.

In some parts of the world today the people cannot enact the laws by which they will be governed. Take the recent case of Cuba, for an example. In areas like this and isolated spots such as Poplarville, Miss., the "rule by law" is not one of their cherished possessions.

Our legal system is necessary to maintain our freedoms. The American people should be cognizant that the great principles of law established years ago are the backbone of our independence.

Both the Oakland County and the Michigan Bar Associations should have proper recognition for their dedicated principles of justice by law.

Public Accepts Cancer Now With Open Minds

"Godfrey has Lung Cancer."

These four terse, truthful words in Thursday's PONTIAC PRESS told an unhappy and yet a very accurate story. Once, this word and the dread affliction were ducked and dodged by press and public alike. Doctors spoke softly of "malignancy."

With the passage of time the public generally is ready to accept and recognize many things that we avoided for years on end. There's nothing any more disgraceful about cancer than there is about a heart attack or getting struck by a speeding automobile. And yet, the public and the medical profession soft pedaled the condition for years.

We approve of the modern trend. All of us are ready these days to face reality. This newspaper feels a deep sense of regret at GODFREY'S condition. The operation may have been completely successful and we trust it is. But the world—and the man are entitled to know what the facts are.

Senate Bill to Require Bids on U.S. Contracts

Sen. WILLIAMS, Delaware Republican, has introduced a bill requiring bids in awarding most military contracts. There are certain awards which must be negotiated for reasons of national security.

Recently Comptroller General CAMPBELL in auditing an Air Force contract found the contractor had charged for parts that never were used. For example, the Air Force, which hadn't detected the error, was charged for 47 turrets when only 15 were required. In this case the Government recovered more than $1 million. Last January the Senator pointed out that the Government, that is the taxpayer, was overcharged more than $6 million in another contract.

The Comptroller General agrees with Sen. Williams that these overcharges would never occur if contracts were awarded on bids rather than by negotiation. The Government would get the advantage of competition on costs estimated by more than one bidder.

When only two contracts have revealed overcharges of more than $7 million, Sen. WILLIAMS may well ask "How many such contracts are there which have not been audited and upon which errors have not been found?"

The Man About Town

Rails and Money

Are to Be Remembered in Local Historical Markers

May day: What usually comes long after the end of winter.

Among the 45 markers which the Michigan Historical Commission plans to erect this year, two are in the Pontiac area, which already has received a number.

One is to be at Pontiac, in honor of the Detroit and Pontiac Railway, the first railroad chartered in Michigan. It was completed here from Detroit in 1844. The exact location for the marker is yet to be determined.

The other is near the west Oakland County line, in Kent Lake Park, to memorialize the days of the wild cat banking, when currency was issued by most anybody who could secure the services of a printing press. The hot spot was at the former Kensington community, just over the line in Livingston, where "wild catting" reached its peak and demise in the 1830s.

Known to many in Pontiac and vicinity,

Mrs. Jacqueline Peck

of Detroit, former public relations representative for the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority, died Tuesday, 43.

Rats and mice that he trapped were placed in a box with an open top by near his home just north of Rochester. They couldn't jump out, but a pair of owls cleaned the box every night. Now he has no more rats or mice, so the owls have switched over to his chickens.

A letter received the other day from

of Drayton Plains tells of taking his grandmother, who comes from an upstate rural community, for an auto ride. When they got back she remarked that everybody seemed to be driving as if they feared they'd run out of gas before they got there.

The next time he's in Milwaukee, of Rochester will receive a prize of $10 worth of baby food. The other day in a tree near his home he found a balloon sent up in that city on April 15, to which was attached a coupon good for that at a Milwaukee store.

"Always a Hater of Game Hogs," shows a string of 60 quail shot in one day by a Pontiac hunter in 1890, "and he bragged about it." The letter says they were shot "on the prairie near Drayton Plains." The writer adds, "That's what happened to our game birds."

The Not-So-Fine Print

David Lawrence Says:

Tactics to Play Vital Role at Geneva

PARIS — The big theme of the meeting here of the four Western foreign ministers turns out to be not so much what to negotiate as how to negotiate with the Soviets at Geneva.

LAWRENCE

It might be surprising to many people to learn that tactics mean almost as much as does the nature of the proposals themselves. Thus, in the last twenty-four hours, the foreign ministers' group here took considerable pains to answer questions propounded by the reporters, who already want to know what the "fall back" positions would be in the event of Soviet rejection of initial propositions.

The assumption had been growing that the so-called "package plan" of the West is to be offered only as a basis for future retreats and compromises by the West. The official spokesmen here insisted that this is not true and that the Western Allies are standing on firm ground and will continue to present a solid front on basic principles in their dealings with the Communists.

As a practical matter, however, the big question is just what are the Soviets' intentions? Do they mean to carry through their threats about Berlin? Do they want to risk war over this issue? Do they really want to negotiate at all?

Naturally, the Western Allies must come to some conclusions on these very points, and their fundamental thesis now is that the Soviets do not want war, although the Communist envoys might bluff their way through the negotiations with that question lingering unanswered in the background.

DON'T WANT WAR

So far as the peoples of the West are concerned, they certainly do not want war. But it is questionable whether war is best prevented by weakening the public position of the men who have the responsibility for doing the actual negotiating.

The Soviets are watching carefully to see how strong the Western alliance will prove to be when the chips are down. They suspect that maybe there are fundamental differences between America and Britain or between West Germany and the other allies.

It may be said with emphasis that the objectives of all the Western governments are the same, but naturally their diplomats differ on what techniques shall be employed to attain those objectives.

Curiously enough, the lessons of Munich are often mentioned as a warning against appeasement. The four foreign ministers here gave a lot of their time this week to a discussion of the effects on public opinion of any hints of new proposals or deviations from the "package plan."

It is obvious that there is a readiness on the part of the Western representatives to negotiate seriously on all pending questions. It is most important for Moscow to understand that any "concessions" must be balanced by counterconcessions from the Soviet government which will in themselves assure the free world that there is a chance of a peaceful solution of all other questions, even though they are not finally resolved at Geneva this month.

To avoid the disappointment or even alarm that might sweep the world if a "summit" conference held in the late summer or early autumn in Geneva should fail to reach any important conclusions, there is much interest now in a British suggestion that a series of "summit" conferences be scheduled to take place, possibly one every six months.

In America, there is a television program called "keep talking," and a prize is given at the end of each contest in conversational endurance.

So here, too, the idea seems to be that the West and the East might agree to keep talking in the hope that maybe out of each diplomatic conference will come some rewarding result — either a solution or at least, an agreement not to go to war in the foreseeable future.

This formula could gain support, provided the Communists, by their cold war tactics and the aggressions they instigate intermittently in different parts of the world, do not themselves suddenly bring on the war crisis nobody wants.

Dr. William Brady Says:

'Calcium' Is Acceptable, Apt Name if Understood

A newspaper man who comments occasionally on my teachings tells me that among his acquaintances I am known as "Calcium Brady." The appellation is apt and acceptable, provided you understand its significance. You will understand only if you have an elementary knowledge of nutrition.

DR. BRADY

One of the chief facts in our knowledge of nutrition is that established by Sherman: "The ordinary mixed diet of Americans and Europeans, at least among dwellers in cities and towns, is probably more often deficient in calcium than in any other chemical element."

On Sherman's dictum, which nobody can deny, I base all the allusions to calcium deficiency which make my friend's acquaintances call me "Calcium Brady."

But I'm afraid the smart alecks who call me "Calcium" are as childish about it as are the dimwits who think they can keep going indefinitely by resorting to asprin, acetanilide, barbiturates, tranquilizers, alcohol or other narcotic.

It is true I do recommend high calcium diet and/or supplementing the diet with an adequate daily ration of calcium and vitamin D, for a good many common complaints—but as FOOD, not as medicine. Not medicine to "try" for a week or two, but food to take every day the year around.

FOLLOWS ADVICE

A St. Paul correspondent says: "I have had several of your pamphlets thru the years and always got good advice out of them. The one that has done me the most good though is The Calcium Shortage. For over a year I have eaten 3 calcium wafers daily. I used to be subject to constant sinus trouble, but for months now have had little or no such trouble.

Also I had arthritis—or I should say the rheumatiz—which seemed to be getting steadily worse. But it has vanished. May God bless you for your wonderful help in such a natural, simple way."

Three calcium wafers supply as much calcium as a pint (two glasses) of milk and as much vitamin D as a tablespoonful of U.S.P. Cod Liver Oil.

The correspondent doesn't say whether he (or she) follows a high calcium diet or whether he (or she) consumes three glasses of milk or skim milk daily, as everyone should.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

This One Is Pretty Good, Too

Man, you're a most convincing teacher. I want to tell you that your articles on teetotalism showed me a person can get along without the stuff . . . and I have gotten along without it now for nearly two years . . . (W.M.A.)

Ans.—For that let us both thank God.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

The Country Parson

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Kitten Sparks Life for Grandfather

At the age of 96, Grandpa Miller has developed a great fondness for a stray kitten that "adopted" him. He still likes his dog, but the kitten has been a greater tonic to his ego. Youngsters, as well as oldsters, feel more secure and less fearful at night, if they have a live pet in their bedroom.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case B-423: Eli Miller, aged 96, is Mrs. Crane's father.

Her mother died 14 years ago, so he has lived alone on our little farm in Indiana, except for his faithful dog, named Belle.

DR. CRANE

In the last couple of years, Grandpa Miller has been vaguely resentful because Belle likes to race away from the house and come down the road a few hundred yards to our summer home.

That's because we have two dogs, and Belle enjoys getting with them to romp or hunt rabbits.

Recently when I went up the road to make sure he was awake and ready for breakfast, I saw a yellow kitten on his porch.

Grandpa had always said he didn't like cats. But this kitten climbed into his lap while he was eating breakfast.

"Look what's in my lap!" he protested in apparent ire, which was really assumed, for I sensed immediately that he appreciated the personal attention the kitten was giving him.

CATS FOR OLDSTERS

I fed the kitten some warm milk, and Mrs. Crane did likewise that evening when she fixed Grandpa's supper.

Next morning I found him fast asleep in bed when I arrived to get his breakfast. The kitten was curled up in his beard. Apparently, it had stayed beside him all night, which delighted Grandpa.

In fact, I find that the kitten is more reassuring to his ego than his dog.

Grandpa looks like Moses with his gray beard, so it is an interesting sight to see him stowing away the food at breakfast while the kitten may climb upon his shoulder and purr there.

"Look what this kitten is doing!" he will then exclaim in feigned protest, probably to "feel out" my attitude, but he really wants the kitten there.

He is growing more attached to it each day. And a cat often makes a better companion for a lonely old person than a dog, since the cat will lie contentedly on the owner's lap, whereas dogs are more likely to roam around looking for prey.

CHILDREN NEED PETS

Children, too, can profit greatly from a pet kitten or puppy, for such creatures extrovert the youngster's attention and thus teach him to be more unselfish.

Likewise, they reassure him when he is alone at night in his darkened bedroom.

So don't become such overly fastidious modern parents in making an undue fuss about hairs and germs, that you deprive your child of the wholesome influence of a living pet.

And in lieu of a live cat or dog, be sure your toddler has a teddy bear or wooly lamb or cloth monkey or some other toy to companion to take to bed with him at night.

Since we all return to a somewhat childish outlook in old age, pets are valuable for grandparents, too, as well as youngsters, especially if they are alone much of the time.

They also help keep people sane, so are good for mental sanatorium patients.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Voice of the People

'You'd See Soapy's Side, if You Would Read More'

I've taken The Pontiac Press for 30 years and believe me, I enjoy every page. I even read the ads. But judging by the VOP letters, I don't believe some people read any farther. An example is the April 29 letter about Soapy signed L. A.

Last May 8 my husband had an operation and I took The Press and other papers to read to him every night. During that 18 day layup, I read where the State was going broke. Soapy is all right. It's the guys that are trying to belittle him that caused the mess.

If he doesn't play their way, they pick up their cards and chips and go home, just like little childish marble games. I like Soapy and it's been proved that thousands of others do, too.

Irene

'Everybody Knows but the Governor'

A sales tax and a gas tax are the very easiest of all taxes to pay. The man that spends ten times as much as someone else pays ten times as much tax. What's wrong with that? He should pay more and he does and they're the easiest of all taxes to collect and cost the state at least. Everyone but the Governor seems to understand that.

Mrs. A. L.

'We'll Never Reach Solution That Way'

Pontiac merchants hold meetings and get out petitions to stop taxes that hit them personally. How do they expect the State to pay its bills?

That's the trouble with Michigan right now. Everybody hollers about the taxes that hit him personally, but he makes no attempt to provide a substitute. If the merchants wanted to be constructive, they'd come up with a plan to raise the necessary taxes, but no, all they do is yell "don't tax us."

That's what the whole state says. They all want the other fellow to pay the bill. That's a very negative approach and it just tears down. No commonwealth was ever built or saved by those that complain and find fault. It's built by those that tell how to move ahead.

Everone has to pay some taxes or we can go back to the African jungle type of life.

Praises Mrs. Luce for Speaking Out

Telling the truth about the late Benedict Arnold put Mrs. Clare Booth Luce in a bad situation with those Democratic demogogues in Washington, who wouldn't acknowledge truth if it were served to them on a golden platter. I'm glad Mrs. Luce had the courage to tell the truth.

For God and Country

Smiles

According to a preacher, most men are masters in their homes. Wives should get a chuckle out of that.

Verbally Shakes Head at the Mess

I wonder what brought about our state catastrophe. I'd say our Governor was a poor manager of State funds. The State had done just fine until he got into office, or is he being run by Reuther and union officials?

There's talk of the Governor running for President. That's a laugh, as he can't even run the State.

And why should they use the Veterans Trust Fund? That would be the end of the money. Most people have forgotten the men who were over there who have needed help when unemployed and couldn't get it. There are many who need help to this day. Let's divide the $50 million among the vets, because if that isn't done, we'll never get a dime.

State officials' pay has now been stopped. Is this to pressure them into passing the law to use the Vets fund. In other words, submission through elimination?

It's a great world we live in, isn't it?

Plenty Disgusted

'Does Everyone Have to Know?'

I'm an old lady and would like to ask just one question. Why, when anything happens such as that man holding that girl in the woods does it have to be printed for everyone to know just where and who she is?

If the story has to be printed, why not withhold names. If my neighbor's boy or girl gets into trouble, does everyone have to know? It's not our business and I believe it's a very wrong thing to do.

All Females Are 'Flippery' in the Spring

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

Flipperness is an eco-socio-psycho-physical state of multiple confusion. A little-treasured gift of nature, something like turnips.

It begins with the first crocl and does not pass away until the newspapers begin to list the pollen count. In some cases, as with teenage humans and female horses, the confusion lasts all summer, which explains why girls get married even in August and fillies never win the triple crown.

The causes of flipperness have never been scientifically stated, for the obvious reason that they vary widely, according to the age and status of the female.

For example, middle-aged and young married women become confused because spring is the time when one must clean house. Cleaning house thoroughly always leads to re-decoration. Re-decoration, according to psychiatrists and decorators, is the most traumatic experience in a woman's life, and results in a severe shaking of her emotions.

Girl humans from 2 to 10, approximately, must be closely watched in the springtime. As they burst out of winter confinement, like small smashed atoms, they are whole new people from last autumn's version. Some of them chase butterflies, and some of them chase boys, and all of them are difficult to understand and tricky to handle as they swing from tree to tree.

The teenage flippered one is the hardest of all to analyze. She is in love, though there may not be a boy in 20 miles and though it may look like dyspepsia. She giggles at the sun and bays at the moon and comes alive in curious ways that fathers are not expected to understand — only appreciate.

Elderly ladies? They flip quietly and tenderly. They are mature enough to put on a sane act in public, but catch them off guard on the porch swings, or pausing at the traffic lights, and see it in their eyes: The first scents of spring waft them back to the days when they rubbed their noses in dandelions, fell in love with love, and changed the parlor to pink.

As for girl dogs, cats, birds, wormettes—they are all the same. At the Bronx Zoo, there is a robin who has built nine nests, on nine consecutive steps of a fire escape on the administration building. Robins ordinarily know what they're doing every moment, but in the spring they're like women everywhere: Forgetful, confused, in love, or wildly optimistic . . .

It is a great season for girl-watching, but talk to them at your own risk.

From the files of Carlton Fredericks, Ph.D., this quote:

"Our youth now love luxury. They have bad manners, contempt for authority, disrespect for older people. Children nowadays are tyrants. They no longer rise when their elders enter the room. They contradict their parents, chatter before company, gobble their food and tyrannize their teachers."

There was no mention of television or rock 'n' roll in this condemnation. The condemner, fellow name of Socrates (5th Century B.C.), wasn't hep.

He's Too Old to Work

LONDON (UPI)—Police Sgt. Howard Perry reported that a 45-year-old man he arrested yesterday for panhandling pleaded that he be let go because: "I am too old to work. I am over 40 . . ."

Unionist Convicted of U.S. Tax Evasion

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—Frank W. Jacobs Sr., an international vice president of the Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, was convicted by a U.S. District Court jury yesterday of income tax evasion. The jury deliberated eight hours.

The jury deliberated eight hours.

His attorney said a new trial would be requested. Judge George H. Moore deferred sentencing until May 15.

The government contended Jacobs' net worth increased from $16,700 in 1942 to $112,003 at the end of 1952 and that this was not reflected in his tax returns.

He could be sentenced to a maximum of five years and fined $10,000 on each of the two counts on which he was convicted.

'Frisco, Quebec Cited as Sites for Summit

PARIS (AP) — Today's best guess for the site of an East-West summit conference is San Francisco or Quebec.

Allied diplomats also reported that the target date favored by the Western powers for the conference is about Aug. 1.

Decisions on both points would have to be taken by East-West foreign ministers who meet in Geneva May 11.

As of now, the big powers have not definitely decided that a summit meeting will be held.

(Robert Berrellez of the AP Havana staff has just completed coverage of Prime Minister Fidel Castro's North American tour. Here are some of his impressions.)

By ROBERT BERRELLEZ

NEW YORK (AP)—Fidel Castro's whirlwind two-week tour of the United States and Canada was a public relations victory for the young Prime Minister from Cuba.

He convinced some skeptics, won over critical audiences of editors and college students and emerged with increased stature as a hemispheric symbol of freedom.

But the bearded lawyer-revolutionary left some wondering about the answers he gave to important questions. He also left behind some doubts about his ability to cope with major problems confronting his plans for the "new Cuba" he hopes to bring out of the chaos left by dictator Fulgencio Batista.

These are the impressions gained by newsmen, this writer among them, who accompanied the Cuban leader on his swing from Havana through Washington, Princeton, N.J., New York, Boston and Montreal.

The trip itself — called "organized confusion" by one newspaperman — underlined the lack of administrative organization around him, the organization Castro needs for the giant task ahead of him.

Before leaving Havana on his tour "to promote Cuba," the Prime Minister had been expected to encounter his greatest difficulty explaining three things: his delay in holding general elections, continuing war crimes executions and charges of Communist influence in his administration.

His remarks concerning the last two seemed to leave many unsatisfied. He said, concerning Communist influence, that the only party represented in his government was his own 26th of July movement. He also said he felt he could win over the Communists because his program was better than theirs. This reply was viewed as evasive by some. Others thought it reflected surprising naivete.

But newsmen who have covered Castro over the last four months could not recall when he had so clearly spelled out his position regarding communism. The policies of the revolutionary movement—freedom of speech, press, religion — are contrary to communism, Castro said.

Neither did American and Canadian audiences seem fully satisfied with his explanation of the continuation of war crimes executions (more than 500 now) after brief trials. The Prime Minister said the trials and executions would continue as an example for the future that "it isn't right to kill for political reasons." This was a reference to atrocities and other capital crimes blamed on Batista's forces during the revolution. He also said he was carrying out a promise to the people that these war criminals would be punished. The promise was made, he added, to prevent the people from taking the law into their own hands and applauded the Cuban leader.

Audiences generally cheered his evident sincerity of purpose, sense of humor and personal magnetism seemed to impress most.

But the disorder that accompanied his appointments and itinerary seemed to strengthen the belief at least among newsmen, that the 32-year-old Prime Minister's greatest enemy now is a lack of maturity.

The public parks of the U.S. comprise more land than the combined area of Vermont, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, Delaware and half of New Jersey.

American troops engaged in the war with Spain totaled exactly 280,564, and of these 1,704 were killed in action or died of their wounds, according to government records.

Tell Teamsters to Honor Pickets

NBC Strike Continues as Union Action May Halt Scenery Delivery

NEW YORK (AP)—The Teamsters Union is instructing its members not to cross the picket lines of National Broadcasting Co. engineers and technicians who are on strike here.

The Teamsters Union Joint Council counted on the instructions to halt delivery of scenery and other staging equipment to NBC television studios.

A spokesman for the Teamsters Council said its president, John J. O'Rourke, would tell its members by telegram today not to cross the picket lines of the National Assn. of Broadcast Employes and Technicians.

An NBC spokesman said: "We expect the Teamsters Union to continue working just as the other unions are, and we have no knowledge that they intend to do otherwise.

"In any event, we fully intend to continue normal operations."

Supervisory personnel have kept NBC television and radio programs on the air since about two hours after the strike of about 1,500 television technicians started Monday.

NBC and the union are in dispute over the extent to which union members are to participate in the making of TV videotapes in foreign countries for broadcast in the United States.

Anita Ekberg's Marriage Still Same: Undecided

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The on-again off-again marriage of Anita Ekberg and Anthony Steel isn't on again, but it isn't exactly off again either.

"These people have had battles before," a spokesman for the couple said, "and Steel wants to stay together but Anita has some problems to work out."

She said he hasn't yet decided whether to divorce the 41-year-old British actor. Miss Ekberg is 27.

Detroit Area Painters Delay Strike Plans

DETROIT (AP) — A threatened strike by some 4,000 Detroit area painters has been postponed.

State and federal mediators said Painters District Council 22 agreed to extend its contract until Wednesday at a meeting yesterday with the Greater Dtroit Chapter of the Painting and Decorating Contractors of America.

The mediators said the two sides would meet again Wednesday.

4 Black Mice Ticketed for Space Trip in Month

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — Four black mice sail into space next month in an American attempt to prove that a living creature can leave earth and return alive.

The mice will ride in a specially designed "life package" capsule in the nose cone of Discoverer III. The satellite is expected to be launched into polar orbit from this West Coast missile base in about 30 days.

The little astronauts will be chosen from 50 black mice now under observation at Holloman Air Force Base, N.M.

Scientists will measure their reactions to blastoff, weightlessness and the stresses of re-entry. The main object, though, is to get something alive into orbit and back to earth again safely.

This has never been done with any animal.

One unofficial source said there was about one chance in 100 of success.

The Air Force had no comment.

How long the four black mice will stay aloft was not disclosed.

The Discoverer III capsule, painted a yellowish green, will be almost a yard wide and two feet high. If all goes well, it will drift earthward after ejection over the Pacific beneath a bright orange parachute.

Hawaii-based planes will try to snatch it with nets as it descends. If they miss, the buoyant cone's radio beacon is designed to send out signals for at least 10 hours to pinpoint its location for search vessels.

Wives Ignore All; Continue Blockade

OKMULGEE, Okla. (AP) — A small but defiant band of housewives — ignoring court orders, their husbands and union leaders — continued today to blockade access roads to a struck Phillips Petroleum Co. oil refinery, even if it means jail.

The wives ignored a District Court temporary injunction, which named 12 of the women, and then refused to disband when contempt of court citations were issued against five of them.

The five were cited for violating provisions of the injunction "by bodily stopping the entrance of a transport truck" into the Okmulgee refinery. They were commanded to appear in court at 10 a.m. Saturday. They are stretched out across the roads, hand to hand.

The women, whose husbands are members of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers striking the refinery now for 77 days since contract talks broke off, say they "will go to jail if necessary." The union has said it does not favor their actions.

The dispute was over dismissal of several employes whom the union had claimed had seniority.

Actress, New Husband Honeymoon in London

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP)—Actress Constance Towers and her new husband, Panamanian businessman Eugene McGrath, are heading for London on a combined honeymoon and business trip.

Miss Towers disclosed Thursday she and McGrath, former husband of actress Terry Moore, were married April 2 in Bloomington, Calif. McGrath got his final divorce decree the preceding day.

Church Strikes Oil

FARMINGTON, N.M. (AP)—A crew drilling for water on the Mormon church grounds struck natural gas and high-grade oil at 162 feet. C. P. Hilton, president of the Mormon Stake, said fire danger may prevent its development as a producer.

Rich Hermit Murdered

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—A hermit monk who got rich telling fortunes and once prophesied his own murder has been found dead—murdered. The seer, Abdel Messin el Makrouky, was strangled and stabbed in the monastery where he lived near Asiut, in upper Egypt. He had been robbed of about 35,000 pounds ($100,000).

Blame the Mailman

DENVER (AP) — Youngsters playing baseball at Manual High School watched in admiration as postman Warren A. Adams retrieved a loose ball and threw it in their direction. The ball soared over the diamond and smashed a 4 x 6 foot window in a drugstore.

Protest Soviet Theft of 'My Fair Lady'

NEW YORK (AP) — The creators of the hit musical "My Fair Lady" have protested plans by a Russian to produce the show without their permission.

Composer Frederick Loewe and lyricist Alan Jay Lerner said Thursday the staging without consulting them is "an act of outrageous, unethical and illegal proportions."

There is no copyright agreement between the United States and the Soviet Union for the protection of authorship.

Lerner and Loewe said they learned of the production in a letter from a Victor Louis in Moscow, who told them he had translated the musical into Russian and that it would be staged in the 1959-1960 season.

Loewe and Lerner have protested to the State Department and to Soviet Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov.

South Korea Government Shuts 2nd-Largest Paper

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—President Syngman Rhee's government closed South Korea's second largest newspaper Thursday night, accusing it of erroneous reports and seditious comments.

The 13-year-old newspaper, Kyunghyang Shinmoon, was backed by a Catholic foundation and supported Rhee's political foe, Vice President Chang Myun. It had been highly critical of government domestic policies.

It was the first paper shut down by the government since the republic was formed in 1948. The action was taken under a U.S. military government ordinance of 1946, when South Korea was under occupation rule.

Stogie-Puffing Crews Blasted by L.A. Mayor

LOS ANGELES, Calif. (AP) — Mayor Norris Poulson says there are too many loafers and cigar smokers in Los Angeles street maintenance crews.

"The city charter says we have to pay these people equal pay rates of industry," he said, "but it doesn't tell us how to get an equal amount of work out of them."

Noting many complaints about street workers standing around smoking cigars, Poulson added: "Everyone knows a cigar, and the time to smoke a cigar, and the amount of loafing this suggests is simply shocking."

Sticks Head in Sewer —and It Stays There

Neighbors tried applying oil and cooking grease to his head. He remained stuck. Then police and firemen teamed with a Pittsburgh Railways Co. road crew to jack up the sewer from the curb and free the boy.

Ask Cape Cod Be Preserved

U. S. Parks Service Proposes 30,000 Acre National Seashore

WASHINGTON — The National Park Service has proposed establishment of a 30,000-acre National Seashore on Cape Cod, Massachusetts, to preserve the Cape's unspoiled beauty for future generations.

The arm-shaped Cape seems to beckon visitors, but it was long so thinly settled that a house with a shed was jokingly regarded as a village.

In recent years, the automobile and modern highway have put Cape Cod within a day's drive of one-fourth of the Nation's mushrooming population, the National Geographic Society says. Commercialization is nibbling away at the sweeping shores and quiet coves. Natural beauty is giving way to buildings.

The Park Service feels an "irreplaceable treasure" may be lost to posterity. It suggests that the Government set up a seashore preserve that would run from Provincetown on the Cape's "fingertip" to the end of Nauset Beach, the Cape's "elbow." The project would cost perhaps $16,000,000.

Indians lived on Cape Cod thousands of years ago. It may have been the "Wonder Strands" of the Vikings. Explorer John Cabot doubtless rounded the Cape. Captain John Smith of Virginia made the first accurate map of it. The Pilgrims arrived at what is now Provincetown Harbor in November, 1620. They lingered a few weeks on the Cape before sailing to Plymouth.

Nature-loving Thoreau was delighted by the Cape. "A man may stand there and put all America behind him," he said. He came back again and again, but he was outspoken in his hope that the Cape would disappoint some visitors—those in search of "a tenpin alley" or "a circular railway."

The quietness of the Cape was rudely shattered in 1936 when the Provincetown town crier reported he had seen a 300-foot sea serpent. He said it had three red eyes and three green eyes, and its fiery breath seared the beach plums as it went ashore. It was not seen again.

Today the Cape that Thoreau loved still has enough sandy bathing beaches to reach from Washington, D. C., to New York City. Its 65 miles from the shoulder-blade to the tapering fingertip of Provincetown Harbor are flecked with moors and dunes, lakes and ponds, streams and eager inlets from the seas—a wonderland of unspoiled nature.

POLE TAXING — Putting their backs into it, residents of the village of Albing, Germany, struggle to erect the traditional Maypole in a pit dug in the center of town. GILBERT J. BANFIELD

MILFORD — Service for Gilbert J. Banfield, 83, of 49321 Wainstock St., Wixom, will be held at 2:30 p.m. Sunday from the Richardson-Bird Funeral home here. Burial will be in Oakgrove Cemetery.

Mr. Banfield died yesterday in a Pontiac Hospital following a six-month illness.

Surviving besides his wife, Lela, are two brothers, Edward of Brighton and Wilfred of Hudson; two sisters, Mrs. Rose Washburn of Mason and Mrs. Flossie Read of South Lyon.

Big New Ore Boat Perfect in Trial Run

LORAIN, Ohio (AP) — The power plant of the new eight million dollar iron ore carrier, Shenango II, performed perfectly in her trial run from Toledo.

Constructed in the Toledo yards of the American Ship Building Co., the vessel made the power-testing trip yesterday at a rate of 18½ miles an hour.

She will be christened in Cleveland May 14. She has a length of 710 feet, a beam (width) of 75 feet and a molded depth of 37½ feet.

This bulk freighter and the Hebert C. Jackson, also being completed this spring, will bring to five the number of lake carriers in the 25,000 ton class. Each of these giants is able to carry about a million tons of iron ore per season.

FBI Boss Says Don't Follow the Crowd

Ignore 'Chicken' Taunt, Hoover Urges Youth

NEW YORK (UPI)—FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover called on the young people of America today to defy the taunt of "chicken" and do what they think is right no matter what the "crowd" does.

"It is never easy to go against the crowd even when the crowd is wrong," Hoover said. "It is not easy to stand up to the taunt of 'chicken.' But each time it is done, it becomes easier — and the doing of it while one is young spells the difference between a strong man and a weakling as an adult."

Hoover, writing in the May issue of Young Americans Magazine, said that the personal standards of an individual were vital to the setting of group standards.

"We need only set standards a little higher and make real efforts to meet those standards to bring about a definite change in the moral climate today," he said. "A simple refusal to indulge in petty gossip or cheapen oneself through the use of foul or vulgar language helps lift one's sights.

"Isn't it well to remember that every day, in everything you do, you are developing the sense of values by which you will be guided throughout adulthood? Are you, in the words of the poet Tennyson, being 'loyal to the royal in thyself'?"

Hoover said that 6.5 per cent more persons under 18 years of age were arrested in 1958 over 1957, although the over-all number of arrests reported by the nation's police departments remained the same.

The FBI chief said that only a small percentage of youngsters became juvenile delinquents. But he added that all of the nation's youngsters must bear the responsibility of the wrongdoers.

Unfair though it is, you who are mature in the acceptance of your responsibilities also carry more than your share of the load," he said. "You are, in a sense, on trial . . . you have to work harder to 'prove' yourselves in the eyes of adults and gain their confidence.

"You will do the tasks which must be done if our great inheritance of American freedom is to be preserved," he said.

"Simply on the basis of observation, I am convinced that your individual spiritual and moral code is a very real weapon in the war on both juvenile crime and juvenile delinquency. It is you—the individual—who fixes the pattern of what is or is not acceptable in your age group."

A Racial Melting Pot

Hawaii Has Imported Everything, Even People

WASHINGTON — The fledgling State of Hawaii, which Mark Twain called the "loveliest fleet of islands that lie anchored in any ocean," was unknown to the world at large until the arrival of Captain James Cook in 1778.

After Cook came merchant seafarers, stripping the islands of their fragrant sandalwood. Next arcaroused on the beautiful islands while their ships were fitted out for Pacific and Arctic voyages.

Meanwhile, King Kamehameha I, the "Napoleon of the Pacific," conquered all rival Hawaiian chiefs to form a kingdomthat chiefs to form a kingdom that was soon to welcome another group of immigrants in 1820—New England missionaries.

Many of the strait-laced virtues taught and practiced by these God-fearing men and women persist in the islands even today, the National Geographic Society says.

The last Hwaiian monarch was Queen Liliuokalani, who wrote the haunting song, "Aloha Oe." Her regime was overthrown in 1893, and a republic was formed the following year. Just before the turn of the century, the United States Congress acceded to the request of the Hawaiians and voted to annex the islands. Hawaii became a territory.

Blessed with abundant rain and an equable 75-degree temperature, Hawaii can grow sugar cane and pineapples as they grow nowhere else. However, it imports much of its food and nearly all its manufactured needs.

Tourists, coming to swim at Honolulu's famed Waikiki Beach or to see Mauna Loa, the largest active volcano in the world, bring in millions of dollars each year. Additional funds come from the elaborate American military installations, including Pearl Harbor.

Racially, Hawaii is an efficient melting pot. Many bloodstreams, including Polynesian, Japanese, Chinese, Filipino, Caucasian, and others, have flowed together to create the Hawaiian-American—on all counts a desirable citizen.

The synthetic nature of modern Hawaii is revealed in the history of things most mainlanders believe are typically Hawaiian. The grass skirt is a 19th-century import from Samoa and is now made in New Jersey. The ukelele, which is manufactured chiefly in Pennsylvania, came with the Portuguese from the old country. Even the lilting Hawaiian music is full of Dixieland.

Pineapples came from Jamaica, sugar cane from many places. In fact, Hawaii originally imported just about everything except the land, the climate, and the sea. Nothing so good as these could have originated in any place but Hawaii, the islanders say.

The State of Hawaii is a whole string of islands, all of volcanic origin, stretching across 1,540 miles of sparkling ocean.

Eight, lying some 2,300 miles west of San Francisco at their most easterly point, are considered major ones. On the five largest—Hawaii, Maui, Molokai, Oahu, and Kauai—live most of the 570,000 islanders.

Hawaii has probably been inhabited since the 5th century. Early Hawaiians were Polynesians who migrated, on the wings of the trade winds, in twin-hulled sailing canoes from faraway Tahiti, or perhaps even the Asian mainland.

Reds' Bolshoi Ballet to Replace Army

NEW YORK (AP)—A festival of Soviet music and dance will replace the Red Army Chorus, whose visit was not approved by the State Department.

Impressario Sol Hurok, who arranged the American visit of the Soviet Bolshoi Ballet, announced Thursday he had obtained the services of the 200-artist group for Madison Square Garden starting July 7.

Hurok said some other key cities may be included in its scheduled four-week visit.

American Export Lines to Get Federal Subsidy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Maritime Board has agreed to subsidize service by American Export Lines Inc., between the Great Lakes and the Mediterranean via the new St. Lawrence Seaway.

The New York shipping firm will make between 10 and 15 sailings each year over the route. The federal subsidy is designed to offset the difference between operating costs of an American flagship and the lower costs of foreign competitors.

The maritime board previously agreed to subsidize service by Grace Line Inc., between the Great Lakes and the Caribbean.

Williams, Top Republican Agree Bankruptcy 'Phony'

DETROIT (UPI)—Top representatives of Michigan's two major political parties agreed last night that the state's bankruptcy is "phony" but disagreed sharply on who precipitated the hoax.

Both Gov. G. Mennen Williams and State Sen. Edward Hutchinson agreed during a TV debate that Michigan "is not broke" but took widely divergent paths in explaining why the state was unable to pay its bills.

"Michigan is not broke," Williams said. "It is suffering from contrived bankruptcy and deliberate disaster. The Republicans have avoided every effort to get cash to pay the state's bills.

"They are interested only in blackjacking the Democrats into some form of sales tax, not in avoiding payless paydays."

Hutchinson said there was no need for the state to default on its obligations.

"The governor picked the day on which the cash crisis was to fall," the senator, called "Mr. Republican of Michigan," said. "There is at the present time, 177 million dollars in cash in the state treasury, more than twice as much as there was in June, 1958.

"Only two of the funds containing this money are constitutionally earmarked for special purposes," Hutchinson said.

"The remainder is earmarked only by statute and could have been easily released by the Legislature if the governor had asked for its release."

Workman Rides Safely on Falling Steel Beam

LANSING (AP) — While sidewalk superintendents watched in fascinated horror, a workman rode down a falling steel beam during demolition of Lansing's old City Hall this morning.

Willie J. Alcorn, 31, of Flint was cutting a section of the huge supporting beam with a acetylene torch on the third floor of the building when the entire beam suddenly gave way.

Alcorn and the beam went crashing down to the second floor amidst a cloud of dust and a shower of falling bricks.

Alcorn jumped off as the beam hit, brushed himself off, reported he was unhurt and casually went back to work.

"I've rode a lot of them down in the last seven years in the business," he said in dismissing the incident.

Street Repair Project Dropped

City Hopes State May Widen Orchard Lake, Save Cost of Recap

The City Commission last night agreed to drop plans to recap Orchard Lake avenue, in hopes that the state will undertake to widen it.

City Commissioner William W. Donaldson argued that if the road is widened within the next couple of years, recapping would be a waste of money.

The administration had proposed to blacktop the state trunkline (M218) from downtown Saginaw street to the Clinton River bridge at Beaudette Park.

But the project was dropped at Donaldson's request.

Otherwise, the city's recapping program remained unchanged and City Engineer Lewis M. Wrenn was asked to bring in cost estimates at the meeting Tuesday night.

Included are East Huron street, Saginaw to Perry; Sanderson street, Oakland to Cass; Judson street, Saginaw to Parke; Cass avenue, Pike to Orchard Lake; and Raeburn street, Paddock to Sanford.

EXTRA COST SEEN

City manager Walter K. Willman warned that extensive curb repairs will be necessary on all the projects so that the assessed costs will be higher than the standard $1.50-a-front-foot rate for blacktopping alone.

The city is prepared to put up about two-thirds of the total curb repair costs out of public improvement funds, he said, so the curb assessment can be kept down to $3.50 a front foot.

Over Commissioner Floyd P. Miles' objections, it was agreed that curb assessments should be spread uniformly, even when actual repairs were not necessary in front of every property.

Willman said he would query the State Highway Department about possible widening of Orchard Lake, but added that he knew of no present state plans to widen it.

Actor's Son Jailed After Row With Police

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — John A. Carradine, 22, son of actor John Carradine, was jailed today after a run-in with two police inspectors.

Treated at emergency hospital for a minor scalp wound, Carradine said he was clubbed with a flashlight while helping a San Francisco beatnik last night.

Police inspectors Robert Quinn and Mike Diwer reported Carradine became loud and abusive when questioned. The officers tried to put him in a police car.

"It was necessary to subdue him," the police report noted. "In subduing him he was struck on the head with a flashlight."

Hart Asks Senate for Approval of Antilynching Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Philip A. Hart (D-Mich) asked the Senate today to approve an antilynching bill.

Hart said recent mob action in Poplarville, Miss. had prompted his action, but added:

"I want to make it clear that it is not greatly different from some of the incidents involving mob action when Negro families have moved into new neighborhoods in Michigan.

"The same violation of constitutional guarantees providing for the equal protection of the laws may be involved. Basic motivations, I am sure, are the same."

He said we believed an antilynch bill would "provide an additional way to strengthen cooperation between the federal law enforcement agencies and those of our individual states.

"Gov. (James P.) Coleman and the local law enforcement officials of Mississippi have taken an important step toward building that cooperation.

"Atty. Gen. (William) Rogers has assured me that his department is receiving and giving every assistance," Hart said.

'Music Through the Ages' Theme of Dolphins' Event

By COLLEEN ADAMS

The combined Dolphins Club of Pontiac Northern and Central high schools will present a water show at 8 p.m. Thursday, Friday and Saturday in the Northern High School pool.

Theme of this year's show, "Music Through the Ages," is based on the history of music and its progression from primitive to minuet forms and on to jazz.

Next year's varsity cheerleaders were chosen recently at Pontiac Northern. Lynn Thompson, Ruth Benner, Carole Mihay, Sharon Nichols and Pat Lund will do the cheerleading next year for the Varsity squad.

Twenty-eight students were elected to the National Honor Society. They represent 15 per cent of the upper one-third of the June graduating class. Students were chosen on the basis of character, scholarship, service and leadership.

The first Northern students to be elected were Anita Bowers, Patsy Christian, Beverly Donato, Sherry Everett, Penny Grant, Lois Hammond, Judy Hartmann and Thomas Hichman.

Northern's library has added 250 new books to its shelves. They have been placed in the categories of science, literature, biographies, fiction and history.

Future Teachers received five new members. They are Sharon Hampshire, Joanne Dembinski, Suzanne Bozeman, Anita Bowers and Carole Mihay.

Dramatics Classes Enact Comedy 'Junior Miss'

Rochester Presenting Play

By ALICE LUPKE

The third hour dramatics class of Rochester Community High School will present the delightful comedy "Junior Miss" at 8 tonight in the auditorium of the junior high school. The second hour dramatics class enacted the same play last night on the same stage.

Featured players in tonight's production will be Mary Stewart as Judy Graves, Larry Hill and Dee Tanner as Judy's parents. Bonnie Young as her sister and Nancy Hutchins as Fuffy.

Other members of the cast will be Chris Letts, Gretchen Everhard and Jeff Adams. Student directors are Jody Schafer and Linda Mannino.

In last night's performance leading roles were portrayed by Elizabeth Grimes as Judy, Chuck Kemler and Betsy Cook as Judy's parents. Margie Swoboda as Judy's sister and Joann Hill as Fuffy.

The high school choir, under the direction of Frank Irish, has professionally made and recorded a long-play record featuring the choral highlights of the year.

Among the 18 hits recorded were "Halls of Ivy," "Round and Round," "Scarlet Ribbons," "Deep River" and the "Alma Mater." The record is available to all high school students. Proceeds will go to the music scholarship fund.

"Moonlight and Roses" has been chosen the theme of the Senior Prom sponsored May 22 by the senior class. Joe Grande's orchestra has been engaged for the affair.

Mary Stewart is general chairman of the dance. Her assistant chairmen are Louise Henry, program and tickets; Barbara Baldwin, refreshments; Margie Swoboda, publicity; Dee Tanner, decorations; Janice DeBaene, entertainment; Gloria Sanders, posters; and Chuck Applegate and John Melstrom, cleanup.

'Say It With Music' at Central Tonight

By BARBARA GRIFFIN

Curtain time will be 8:15 both tonight and tomorrow night for the Pontiac Central High School productions of "Say It With Music" to be staged in the high school auditorium. Matinee performances were given Wednesday and Thursday for the faculty and student body.

Many groups will be featured including the combined boys' glee clubs in a Dixieland number directed by Doreen Voltmann; the girls' glee clubs doing "Brigadoon" directed by Michael Dempsey, and the a cappella choir directed by George H. Putnam.

Ensembles performing will be junior boys, junior girls, senior boys, senior girls, and the Songspinners. A special select girls' glee club, Selective Girls, directed by Mrs. Voltmann, will also sing two numbers.

A dance, "Emanon," will be presented by Hi-Y and Y-Teens from 9 p. m. to midnight tomorrow at the YMCA. The name of this dance wasn't obtained from a foreign language, and it is not a name spelled backwards.

Cornelia Riggs is publicity chairman and Priscilla Wharey, decorations chairman for Y-Teens.

Hi-Y is also helping with the decorations. Tickets may be purchased from either Hi-Y or Y-Teens ticket committee for one dollar per couple.

Tryouts for next year's varsity and junior varsity cheerleaders will be held Monday and Tuesday nights after school. Tryouts for yell leaders will also be held at this time.

Cheerleading clinics were held Monday and Wednesday afternoons this week to give hopeful cheerleaders and yell leaders an opportunity to learn the cheers.

Requirements for cheerleaders are ability to do the cheers "T-E-A-M," "Yea Orange," the Pontiac fight song and a cartwheel. Yell leaders will be required to have a C average, be able to do a handspring and the actions to a few cheers.

Fourteen new cheerleaders and three yell leaders will be chosen by judges Jean Smith, cheerleading advisor; Duke Relyea, Student Council president; Doreen Voltmann, Don McMillen, Barbara Rodal, and Francis Staley, principal.

Other judges are C. S. Forsman, assistant principal; Catherine Craig and Marjorie Jackson, coaches of all sports, and Sandi Erwin, present cheerleading captain.

Other high homerooms in order are Miss Lehner's, Mrs. Forsman's, Mrs. Rodal's and Mrs. Smith's.

Philip J. Wargelin, principal of Northern, challenged Pontiac Central Principal Staley that Northern would have a higher average sold per student than Central. As it turned out, Central won and Mr. Staley has a hat coming from Mr. Wargelin.

At an awards assembly next week the high salesmen and other prize winners will be announced.

Northern to Stage Annual Talent Show

Northern High School's Parent-Teacher-Student Assn. will sponsor a talent show at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday.

Both teachers and students have signed for parts of this show.

Mrs. George Wiersema's senior homeroom came in second. Third place was taken by another senior homeroom, B-13. This room is taught by Neil Gray.

The leading salesman was Carl Richardson in first place with $204.25. Second place went to Bob Dombroski with $130.50. Third place was won by Aleen Hulsey with $100.25. Mike Montgomery came in fourth with $100.09.

Waterford High Pupils to Sing in State Festival

Fifty Waterford Township High School pupils in the chorus and a cappella choirs will sing at the Michigan State mass choral festival Saturday, under the direction of Dr. John Raymond of Lafayette College in Pennsylvania.

Only pupils who have received number one ratings at district festivals held during the year will participate in the program. Ratings were awarded according to school population, and competition was keen, according to high school music director Richard Meier.

The entire program will be taped and re-broadcast at 4 p. m. Sunday, May 10, over station WKAR, Meier said.

Disc Data and Chatter

Music in the Round

by Dick Saunders

FIVE ACES: There are only two top cards among this week's winners, the other three being throwaways. In a hotly contested fight, "Happy Organ" (Dave Cortez) takes first place among Pontiac area sellers.

Edged by a nose is "Sorry I Ran All The Way Home" (The Impalas), not a quite fleet enough of foot. In third spot, a lap behind is "Cookie Cookie" (Edward Byrnes).

Fourth place goes to "Three Stars" (Ruby Wright) and last is a timely theme song for Michigan's frustrated legislators, "It Doesn't Matter Anymore" (Buddy Holly).

THE JAZZ NEST: No great talent is "discovered" in this day and age when everyone in the entertainment world is ready and willing to tell the world how good he or she is. It's the same with record companies. They'll tell you ALL their discs are great.

A reviewer must recognize the good ones, as any record firm must recognize the good talent from the bad. World Pacific has a talent of its own. That is, "recognizing" great new talent and knowing how to get the most out of "already recognized" talent.

That leaves us with two World Pacific LPs, "Freddie Gambrell: Piano" (WP-1256) and "The Chico Hamilton Quintet: Ellington Suite" (WP-1258).

This LP is as good as one would expect of a jazz performer of Chico's caliber. The album swings many ways and offers an excellent adaptability to this "suite" of 11 great Ellington compositions, arranged with a full spectrum of mood and imagination by bass man, Carson Smith.

The standout, however, is the standup LP by Gambrell, who after being introduced in a previous WP album, now stands on his own two feet the first time.

This man, if you didn't catch his first LP, is the biggest "find" among jazz pianists in several years. Gambrell, who is blind, is influenced by several greats, but never to the "carbon copy" point. He is Freddie Gambrell all the way, a great young pianist with the subtle perception and keen sensitivities often displayed by the blind.

POP GOES THE TURNTABLE: Columbia instrumental pop albums this month include "Porgy and Bess" (CL-1298) by Percy Faith; "Bacchanal!" (CL-1287) by Frank De Vol and his Orchestra; and a wild bit of rinky-tinkyness called "Vamp" (CL-1285) by Harry Reser's Orchestra (yes, that's right, the same man you remember from record labels of that roaring era some 35 years ago, if you remember).

Walled Lake Sets Date for Spring Concert

By SALLY COLLINS

May 6 is the date set for the Walled Lake Senior High Band's annual Spring Concert. The 80 members will give an hour-and-a-half show.

Among the features will be the brass octet playing the number which earned it a "one" rating at the State Festival. Also playing will be the dance band, and Frank Serratoni will present a clarinet solo "Concertino" by C. M. Weber.

Conducting will be Helmut Holland-Moritz. Numbers will include "Porgy and Bess" by George Gershwin, "Gay Nineties" by Phillip J. Lang, "National Emblem March" by E. E. Bagley, "Blue Tango" by LeRoy Anderson and "The French Quarter" by John J. Morrissey.

Each year the concert is presented for public enjoyment, and there is no admission charge.

A group of parents in the Walled Lake area have come upon a unique plan for graduation night to eliminate unnecessary accidents or unfortunate happenings to members of the class.

They proposed a senior party to begin at 12 midnight and to end about 3 a. m. The party would be comprised only of seniors and would involve co-operation of all parents.

Janet Welch will act as chairman and see that form letters are sent to all senior parents informing them of the party and asking for a small contribution to help toward the success of the party.

Entertainment planned includes the appearance of a well-known disc jockey and a breakfast to be served by the parents. Students will enjoy dancing and party games and it will afford them a last chance to be with members of their graduating class before they go their separate ways in the world.

Mickey Cohen Is Sweet on Candy Barr

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Stripteaser Candy Barr said today that Mickey Cohen's marriage plans caught her by surprise.

"He hasn't even asked me to marry him," she told newsmen in the dressing room of a night club where she is appearing.

Candy said she has known the onetime gambling kingpin for only a few weeks.

Cohen told newsmen earlier that he planned to ask her to marry him after his divorce from his former wife, Lavonne, becomes final next month.

Cohen accompanied Candy when she was arrested because her Texas appeal bond on a narcotics conviction was vacated.

Truman Nears ¾ Mark on Road to 100 Years

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (NEA) — In wanting to live to be 100 years old, former President Harry S. Truman displays a vital requirement for longevity, zest for living.

As he approaches the three-quarter mark on May 8 he appears to be getting a big bang out of his own brand of "retirement."

Drawing up a chair just inside the entrance to his suite of offices in a wing of the Truman Library building here, much in the same manner he might greet a visitor in his own home, Mr. Truman enthused over his busy life. He looked fit and buoyant.

"Retirement is a good word but it is not to be taken literally," he cautioned, "because when a man retires he dies."

"I work like I always did when I was in the White House," the former Chief Executive remarked. "The only difference is this — the responsibility no longer is mine."

UP AT 5:30

That difference is reflected in his present practice of "knocking it off" when he pleases after a long stretch at his desk. Apparently, it is a part of his self-labeled "pressure proofing" procedure.

He gets up at 5:30 a. m. Before 7 o'clock breakfast, he takes a two-mile walk and usually tackles a stack of 200 or more letters. Occasionally he walks to his office, the distance slightly more than half a mile from home; usually he drives.

"My day at the office starts between 7:30 and 8 a. m. and ends when I am ready to go home," Mr. Truman said. His smile indicated satisfaction with the arrangement.

When "The President" — as his staff and visitors call Mr. Truman — is not keeping speaking engagements or office hours, he just plain relaxes at a myriad of interests ranging from hobnobbing with old cronies to making notes for his lectures to students on our government.

LIKES VISITORS

He delightedly takes time out from his office schedule to personally escort a student through the building or greet an unexpected visitor. Names in the guest register range from those of neighborhood youngsters to famous persons who have helped shape world history.

As this reporter signed in just before a mid-morning appointment, Mr. Truman appeared at his suite entrance, escorting three departing guests. He paused to greet Thomas Hart Benton and a companion who happened past. Benton, a Kansas City artist of world fame, is doing preliminary work on a $60,000 mural for the library lobby.

The earlier part of the morning had been taken up by conferences with a representative from Columbia University regarding a series of lectures Mr. Truman was to deliver at the university.

"So it goes, all day long," the genial uniformed guard at the reception desk observed.

Commenting on the student lectures, his pet project, Mr. Truman said that he gets tremendous enjoyment from the question and answer periods following the talks.

"Those students often ask more intelligent questions than reporters — at press conferences," he chuckled.

So the subject was changed to photographs. "The President" obligingly walked to his desk in the next room and started signing some of the 100-odd letters he dictates daily.

"Happy birthday," was this reporter's parting wish. A few minutes earlier Mr. Truman had expressed embarrassment over the national attention focused on his forthcoming birthday. But he flashed an appreciative smile as if he were hearing the greeting for the first time.

$350 in Cash Stolen From Gas Station

Owner Jack Morris told police $300 was taken from a locked cabinet in a back room and the balance was stolen from a cash register and vending machines.

Asks No Deficit Spending

Truman Asks New Aid Slant

Says It's Necessary to Lift Underdeveloped Nations Economically

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman says a new international approach is needed to prop up underdeveloped countries with economic aid.

He'd like to see the rest of the Western industrialized nations join the United States in putting such a program into effect.

Truman appealed for the international teamwork Thursday night at a dinner honoring him on the 10th anniversary of the Point Four program. The program of technical and economic aid for backward nations took its name from a section of his 1949 inaugural address.

The need for such a program is even greater now than it was 10 years ago, Truman said. He accused the Eisenhower administration of failing to meet that need.

"We can't purchase security and peace by pinching pennies at a bargain counter," he said. "We should be planning how we can use our strength and resources to the utmost rather than fearfully trying to hoard what we have."

Truman called on the scores of congressional members in the audience of 1,500 to increase the U.S. authorization for the development loan fund and to make such authorizations for four or five years to permit long-range development planning.

"I'mdoing a little public lobbying now," he said.

Delaware May Whip All Robbers

DOVER, Del. (AP)—Delaware's Legislature, concerned by an increase in the crime rate, has passed a bill making whipping mandatory for people convicted of robbery.

The bill says: 20 to 40 lashes for the first offense and not less than 30 for each subsequent conviction.

The House passed the Senate version Wednesday 22-3. Gov. J. Caleb Boggs, however, declined comment when asked what he thought of the bill.

He said he would decide early next week about signing it.

If he does sign, it will be the first time in the history of the state that whipping has been mandatory punishment for a crime.

In the old days whipping was used to punish wife beating, theft and a variety of other crimes, but it was always imposed at the discretion of the judge. The present sentence for robbery for example, is a fine of not less than $500 and imprisonment for 3 to 25 years, plus not more than 40 lashes if the judge wishes.

For seven years there have been no official whippings in Delaware.

The most vocal opponent of the bill was Rep. Paul F. Livingston (D-Wilmington), the only Negro member of the House.

"Lashes take the manhood from the man," he said. "When you whip his back, then you got him. He can never lift his headup any more."

But Rep. R. Allen Cannon (D-Nanticoke Acres) argued that the bill would serve as a deterrent to robberies. He cited a wave of them recently in the southern part of the state.

2 Doctors Die in Quarrel Over Office Space

CHICAGO, Ill. (AP)—A doctor and a dentist at odds over office space were killed Thursday in a whining flurry of bullets behind the locked doors of their joint reception room.

Police theorized the physician, Dr. John T. Hart, 61, killed the dentist, Dr. George M. Winograd, 58, and then turned the gun on himself.

Three letters telling of despondency and "my last earthly act" were found on Hart's body.

The hail of bullets alarmed more than a score of persons being treated in the doctors' office building, the Medical Center Building on North State Street, on the near North Side.

Police, who had surrounded the building and brought tear gas after receiving the alarm, found Winograd dead from wounds in the chest and head. Hart died shortly after he was removed to a hospital for treatment of a bullet in the right temple. A .38-caliber revolver with at least five shots fired was found near him.

Police said Winograd had asked that Hart be evicted from the joint offices. They theorized the men had quarreled over office effects just before the shooting.

State PTA Congress Backs Federal Aid

BAY CITY (AP)—Federal aid for education, with certain qualifications, has the endorsement of the Michigan Congress of Parents and Teachers.

The Congress endorsed aid only for school construction and teacher pay with these restrictions:

(1) Where aid is requested by the recipients; (2) When local and state finances are shown to be inadequate and (3) Where there is no federal restriction on any school district in selection of teachers, administrators or textbooks.

Mrs. Claude Moore of Detroit was elected Region F vice president. She is retiring president of the Detroit Council of Parent-Teacher Assns.

Blazing Auto Shoved Into Hand of Fireman

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Ronald Chappel of Ramey Air Force Base, Puerto Rico, had unexpected trouble when his car caught fire in a parking lot on the outskirts of Tucson. The city fire department couldn't help because the auto was out of the city limits.

Chappel and some friends solved the problem by pushing the blazing vehicle across the city limit line. The fire department quickly extinguished the flames.

Missile, Aircraft Industry Employ Most Scientists

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's missile and aircraft industry employs more scientists and engineers in research and development than any other industry, says the National Science Foundation.

Planes, official publication of the Aircraft Industries Assn., reported 85,000 scientists and engineers work in the aircraft and missile industry, of which 52,000 are directly connected with research and development.

Congress' Housing Hassle Threatens FHA Insurance

WASHINGTON (AP) — Stringent rationing of FHA home mortgage insurance within a month was foreseen today unless the congressional housing deadlock is broken soon.

Informed Capitol Hill sources predicted the Federal Housing Administration will have to halt action on all new applications by June 1 if new insurance authorization is not voted by then.

Congress sets a ceiling on the total value of housing mortgages which may be insured by FHA. This ceiling would be raised six billion dollars immediately and another four billions July 1 under a pending omnibus housing bill. But the measure is blocked in the House Rules Committee.

Only about a billion dollars of insurance authorization remains. But FHA, starting last fall, began issuing "agreements to insure" in lieu of actual insurance in an effort to conserve its dwindling authorization.

To date, about 3½ billion dollars of these agreements have been issued. They are actually quasi-commitments to issue insurance when the depleted insurance authority is finally extended by Congress.

Congressional sources said FHA may have to start rationing mortgage insurance within a week, or 30 days at the most, to limit it to housing projects now under way.

Two Southern Democrats and the four Rules Committee Republicans have thus far refused to vote to let the housing bill reach the House floor. It is tied up by a 6-6 tie vote in committee, with no immediate break in sight.

There is no controversy over increasing FHA's insurance program, which is self-supporting. But there is sharp disagreement over other sections of the bill, which would authorize an estimated $2,100,000,000 of spending for public housing, slum clearance, area redevelopment and other government-aided housing programs. The figure far exceeds that asked by President Eisenhower.

Hart Praises Granting of Army Contract to GM

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Philip A. Hart (D-Mich) today praised an announcement of a $1,921,000 Army contract award to General Motors Corp. for half-ton pickup trucks.

The Army contract announced yesterday called for 1,454 trucks. The Army said half of the basic production work would be done in the Eastern Michigan area.

Sen. Hart had been urging government buyers to locate more work in Michigan.

Says Tax Bringing Bootleg to State

LANSING (AP)—A liquor group said today the four per cent excise tax on liquor has brought back the bootlegger to Michigan.

The same bottle of whisky that cost $2.76 in 1942 sells for $4.33 today, the Michigan Tabletop Licensees Congress said in a letter to lawmakers.

The four per cent tax, introduced in 1957, was supposed to be in force for only one year, the liquor group said. But it was continued last year and is proposed again this year, they protested.

The measure, they said, has increased the state markup and tax per bottle by 12.3 per cent but has produced only a three per cent increase in state revenues.

They added that there has been an "alarming" growth of the sale of non tax-paid moonshine liquor in the state.

The novels of Jules Verne who died in 1905 predicted the age of airplanes, television and submarines.

Senator Cites Its Protection

'We Need Big Business'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Thomas E. Martin (R-Iowa) says, "We need big business with its research skills, its trained manpower and its facilities to protect the welfare of all of us."

Antitrust investigations, Martin told the Senate Thursday, should avoid trying to "identify bigness with badness . . . Some antibusiness groups have attempted to use this investigation as a vehicle to attack bigness per se."

Admit Explosive Theft After School Lecture

DETROIT (AP)—A teacher's lecture on the danger of explosive chemicals frightened a 16-year-old boy into admitting he and a 13-year-old friend stole eight jars of dangerous chemicals.

Thomas W. Smith, manager of the Harshaw Chemical Co., reported the theft of the chemicals to police yesterday. He said the material, if improperly used, could kill, blind or maim the thieves.

Police theorized the thief might be a high school student interested in rockets and asked teachers at MacKenzie High School on Detroit's west side to lecture their classes on the dangers of the chemicals.

The 16-year-old boy became frightened after hearing the lecture and told his teacher he had taken the chemicals. The teacher called police.

The youth said he and the 13-year-old climbed over a fence surrounding the company yard Saturday and took the chemicals from an open box.

When a suburbanite says he's eating out, he means in the back yard . . . Edna Pfaender said it: "Among the things so simple that even a child can operate them—are parents" . . . Gossip accomplishes one thing—it makes some women shut up and listen. —Earl Wilson.

Reds Have Foot in Africa's Door

By GEORGE MCARTHUR

Just how deeply the Reds are dug in is open to question, but the visible evidence of their presence is abundant.

A strange, for Africa, "Iron Curtain" atmosphere is immediately felt by new arrivals here. French settlers and tradesmen remaining in Guinea are hesitant to talk to outsiders about politics. When they do, many prefer to speak English for fear of prying ears.

The same fear has dampened the normal gaiety of the Africans themselves. The unchallenged one-part rule of dynamic Premier Sekou Toure includes such Marxist trappings as informers, the greeting of "comrade" and more or less compulsory attendance at some party functions.

The most obvious evidence of the Red presence is the number of trade delegations and diplomats. Russians, Czechs, Bulgarians and East Germans are numerous. With them are Communist journalists.

The army of Guinea, about 2,000 men, now has Czech armament. In addition, the Guineans have received three armored cars, two light tanks and an asserted lot of other equipment, including field kitchens.

The arms were delivered by Polish ships which call regularly here.

Formosa is about the area of Massachusetts and Connecticut combined.

Hal Boyle Says:

Actress Thelma Ritter Would 'Rate' Stars

NEW YORK (AP)—Veteran actress Thelma Ritter says she thinks Hollywood could take a tip from the Pentagon.

The word "star" has been kicked around so much it has lost its meaning, she said. "Some very fine actors aren't stars, and some very big film stars aren't actors.

"There should be one-star stars, two-star stars and three-star stars—just as the military has one-star generals, two-star generals and three-star generals."

If the movie industry ever does adopt such a system, it would be quite a problem to figure just how many stars Miss Ritter herself should be accorded.

For Thelma thrice has been nominated for an Academy Award in supporting actress roles. She is widely recognized, by producers and the public, as one of the most dependable performers in show business.

The love of acting has been a major mainstay of her life, and it started young. She was born in Brooklyn, the only child of a church soloist and his wife.

"The French have an old saying, 'An only child makes three fools,'" she said, "and there is some truth to it.

"But an only child has a great luxury—the luxury of being lonely. People today don't appreciate the advantages of being lonely individually. They seek loneliness en masse."

Lonely Thelma Ritter at the age of 8 was doing monologues in clubs and churches. At 16 she went to work in an office to earn the money to attend a drama school.

"I could afford only one year at the school," she said.

There followed 14 years of stock throughout New England, low-paid years of hard work during which she played literally hundreds of roles. But looking back on them now, she thinks of them as pretty wonderful.

During that time she met and married a young actor, Joseph Moran, now a retired advertising executive. They have been married more than 30 years, have two children.

"Young actors now need 10 times the equipment I needed when I started," she said. "Except for the work of a few writers, such as Eugene O'Neill, the plays were pretty bad. They often didn't require much talent.

"Much more is demanded of young actors today. Modern plays are written with a deeper insight of how people really are."

How does any young person ever summon up the courage to try for a career in a field as capricious as the theater?

"I don't know," said Miss Ritter. "The average professional actor works under three months of each year, and earns only about $1,200.

"I remember one time years ago when I became tired and disgusted with the life. I threatened to quit and take a 9-to-5 job, and my roommate just laughed and said, 'You won't be happy. You'll meet nothing but squares.'

"I guess that's the real thing about the theater, and show business generally—it gives you an inside feeling."

Smokers Worry Less

Fears Hidden in Cloud?

But maybe they are hiding their fears in a cloud of smoke, a Michigan State University research team suggests.

Three MSU researchers report smokers tend to claim less worry about cancer, heart disease and a totally unrelated subject — car accidents.

It is likley they are just hiding their fears, even to themselves, claimed the researchers.

Drs. Terrence M. Allen and Hans H. Roch, psychologists, and Dr. William Lazer, market researcher, surveyed 750 Lansing residents in a study of attitudes toward cancer and smoking.

"Instead of being more afraid, as they should be according to studies relating cancer and smoking," ORoch said, "few smokers admit any fear.

"On every question about dangers of cancer, they tend to be more optimistic for themselves and for other people. That is not because they are not aware of the studies. Actually, they tend to know more about them," he said.

Having a close friend or relative who died of cancer seems to affect a person's attitude, the survey showed.

Persons with such contacts were less likely to smoke and were more pessimistic about the chances of recovering from cancer than others.

Teen Daughter Gives Up Cha-Cha-Cha Career

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Lydia Hayes, whose career as a teenage chorus girl ended when her stepfather found her in a New Orleans cha-cha-cha line, probably will be back in high school soon.

L. D. Webster, vice president of Lone Star Steel Co., said the 16-year-old girl was glad to be home after he and Lydia flew back to Dallas Thursday. Webster discovered the pretty blonde in a night spot while in New Orleans for a convention.

He said she ran away from home after making low grades in high school, but probably will return to Highland Park High School for the summer session.

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — A large crowd waited through winter cold until 1:40 a.m. today to cher Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro on his arrival in Argentina.

Castro came by plane from the United States and Brazil to attend the Inter-American Economic Conference. The Cuban revolutionary leader spoke breifly to the crowd, which broke through police lines in an attempt to embrace him.

Circus Coming to Farmington

Lions Club Sponsors 2 Wednesday Shows Under the Big Top

FARMINGTON — Mill's Brothers three-ring circus will raise its big top on the lot north of Farmington Plaza Shopping Center to give two performances on Wednesday.

The circus is sponsored by the Farmington Lions Club. It will bring artists from 18 nations as well as lions, tigers, the famous "precision liberty horses" and the national GOP mascot elephant, "Miss Burma."

Aerial acts, clowns and high wire artists will complete the show. It is the first time a big-time circus has ever appeared in Farmington.

Performances will begin at 3:30 and 8:30 p.m.

Part of the proceeds from the shows will be used by the Lions Club for its sight conservation program which includes the supply of white canes for the blind.

"We always have had to put on two or three drives a year to solicit funds for the club," said Ray Cranston, club president. "We hope this one big project will bring in enough money to make public solicitation unnecessary this year."

Cranston urged that tickets for the circus be bought in advance, pointing out that the club will receive a greater profit from these than from tickets sold at the box office.

Tickets may be purchased at several downtown stores and also at the Bel Air and Farmington Plaza shopping centers.

June 20th wedding plans are being made by Maureen Anna Fisher and Roger J. Johnson. Their engagement is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John J. Fisher of Dearborn. The fiance is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard J. Johnson of 6510 Church St., Clarkston.

Davisburg's Jaycees Sponsoring Cleanup

They plan to use it as a retail outlet for used furniture. Proceeds will go toward civic improvements and other worthy projects.

Camping Trip Planned for Area Sixth Graders

Some 95 sixth-grade pupils from Commerce and Wixom elementary schools will enjoy a four-day camping excursion at the Proud Lake Recreation area near Milford, William Doggett, program director, announced today.

He is principal of Twin Beach Elementary School at Walled Lake, which forms part of the same school district.

The pupils will leave Monday and stay until Friday. They will be accompanied by three teachers, assisted by parents in the school district and State Department of Conservation personnel. State troopers also will be on hand, Doggett said.

Activities for the youngsters will include nature hikes, a visit to the Hatch Farm on Cooley Lake road, transplanting trees and instructions in the corect use of firearms.

The children will be given the opportunity to shoot air rifles under close supervision as part of the instruction

They will also help in preparing their own meals and with other camping chores.

Oakland County Science Consultant Dr. William Forbes is bringing several microscopes to the campout so pupils can observe organisms found in swamp and pond waters.

Assisting pupils with arts and crafts study will be Mrs. Roy Dewey, art consultant for the Walled Lake Elementary Schools system.

Other teachers directing camp activities will be Mrs. Maude Sharpe of Wixom School and Mary Selway and Burt Howe, both of Commerce School.

Pupils will gather around the campfire in the evenings to hear representatives of the Walled Lake Story Tellers League, and Dr. Henry Raskin, veterinarian, who will talk about pets and wild life.

Archery instruction will be given the youngsters by members of the Multi-Lakes Conservation Club.

In addition, campers will enjoy a scavenger hunt and talent shows which they will stage themselves.

Two cooks from the school cafeteria staff will accompany the group.

Waterford Driver Hurt as Car Smashes Pole

Glen Gibson, 38, of 1288 Shoman St., Waterford Township, was injured yesterday afternoon when his auto smashed into a utility pole on Elizabeth Lake road just west of Crescent Lake road in Waterford Township, Pontiac State Troopers said.

Gibson was reported in satisfactory condition at Pontiac General Hospital today with head and face injuries. He told troopers he failed to make a curve, ran off the road and struck the pole.

House Backs Up Ike on Rural Electric Veto

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jolted by their inability to upset an Eisenhower veto, congressional Democrats took a new look today at their plans to push through some big-spending legislation.

They may have to mark down sharply the price tags on some pending bills or risk vetoes which they now have little hope of overriding.

"They will have to be a little more reasonable after what happened yesterday in the House," commented House Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana.

What happened was a double reverse for the Democrats and a dual victory for President Eisenhower.

The House refused by vote of 280-146 to override Eisenhower's veto of a bill which would have taken from Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson his power to refuse loans to rural telephone and electric cooperatives.

4 VOTES SHORT

The 274 Democrats and 6 Republicans who voted to override fell four votes short of the required two-thirds. Four Democrats joined 142 Republicans in voting to support Eisenhower's position.

The Senate had voted 64-29 to upset the veto.

It was the 138th bill vetoed by the President. He has never had a veto overridden.

Democrats had hoped to slap down Benson and at the same time display their ability to work their own will on legislation despite the President's objections.

Facing probable vetoes if they ever reach the White House in their present form are bills calling for heavy federal outlays for airport development, housing, community facilities and aid for depressed areas.

"We may have to cut these bills down if we want anything at all other than campaign issues," a top House Democrat commented privately.

Group Decides to 'Adopt' 2 Boys at County Home

Members of the South Oakland Branch of the Trans-Atlantic Brides and Parents Assn. have decided to take two boys at the County Children's Home under their collective wing.

The boys will be especially remembered by the branch at such times as Christmas and on their birthdays, a spokesman for the group said.

Every two weeks, at least, two members will visit the lads, bringing them goodies contributed by women. The group's plans also call for collecting a small pocket allowance for the youths.

Then, in August, the boys would attend the annual picnic of the branch as well as the yearly Christmas party for children, according to the spokesman.

The TBPA will hold its next meeting May 19 at the Canadian Legion Hall, 1005 E. 11-Mile Rd., in Royal Oak.

Oxford School Area Will Vote Monday

OXFORD — Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. in the Oxford Area School District for voters to cast their ballots in Monday's special election.

Persons living in Brandon and Oxford Townships, Metamora and Hadley will vote in the junior high school auditorium on Washington street, Oxford.

Those who reside in Addison and Dryden Townships will cast their ballots in the Addison Township Hall in Leonard.

The Board of Education is asking the voters to approve an increase of five mills for school operation.

Shelby's Police Start Round-Clock Duty

Granted civil service status in the April 6 election, members of the five-man department now will be working a six-day week at no increase in salary.

Another economy move taken recently by the Township Board was to reduce the Fire Department from 13 to seven men.

Despite the reduction, the Van Dyke and Ryan fire halls will continue to operate on a full-time basis, township officials said.

OK Will Put District Back on Pay-as-You-Go Basis

AVON TOWNSHIP — Voters in the Avondale School District will go to the polls Monday to decide whether to authorize the transfer of six mills being dropped from the building fund to the operating fund for the next five years.

The Board of Education and the Citizens Committee have gone on record as endorsing the transfer as the solution to the school district's present monetary problems.

If the proposal is accepted, the district could return to a pay-as-you-go system of financing after several years of deficit spending, school officials said.

They emphasize that a "yes" vote will not raise the present tax millage.

What will happen to the school district's financial and educational program should the millage proposal be defeated has been explained in a specially-prepared brochure distributed to all voters by the Citizens Committee.

A "no" vote would cause curtailment of operations and services by approximately $77,000, the committee said, because the district's short-term credit is nearly exhausted.

WOULD CAUSE LOSS

Since the debt retirement millage is scheduled to be reduced six mills, the present overall millage would be reduced from 24.03 mills to 18.03 mills. This would cause loss of revenue which the district now receives under the state distressed school aid program.

Payment of these funds is applicable only of the millage exceeds 20 mills.

The necessitated curtailment of school operations and services would not only lower the standard of education in the district, school officials said, but would also jeopardize the district's accreditation with the North Central Assn.

Only seven of the 13 mills now being levied are needed to retire the two bond issues now owing. This leaves six mills available in the building fund to transfer to the operating fund without necessitating a millage increase, the educators said.

The money raised by the acceptance of the proposition Monday would help the Board meet the proposed budget for next year.

In addition, some would be used to start paying off short-term loans, Board members stated.

Those persons living west of Adams road will cast their ballots in Auburn Heights School. The rest who reside in the area east of Adams road will vote at Elmwood School.

Student Council Post Kept in Warner Family

Brothers, Sisters Meet Again in Waterford

2 Couples Reunited After 42 Years

By REBA HEINTZELMAN

Two brothers who married two sisters in England more than 40 years ago have been reunited in Waterford Township, climaxing years of anticipation and world travel for the occasion.

When Joseph Saunders of Birmingham, England married pretty Florence Trowbridge of Wales in 1917, his brother Harold took one look at Florence's sister Edith and decided to make it even more of a family affair. So, he married Edith.

After the weddings, Joe and Florence went to Australia to pioneer some 8,000 acres of homestead land.

The other couple, Harold and Edith, went to Detroit, then to Waterford Township, and he went to work for Fisher Body Corp. for the next 34 years.

HIT BY DEPRESSION

Today, Joe and Florence are here from Australia, visiting Harold and Edith at 3618 Airport Rd.

After years of good living in the warm sunny climate of Western Australia, the Joe Saunders were hit by the first depression and lost all they had worked so hard for.

Their wheat and sheep farm gone, Joe took a position as a gold mine supervisor and started all over again.

There is a constant flow of conversation as the brothers and sisters tell each other of their many experiences since they parted nearly a half-century ago.

Both men are retired and have children and grandchildren. And both have a terrific urge to travel.

However, this is just about the only thing they agree on, Joe Saunders said. Each thinks he lives in a better country than the other.

Australia, with its more than 3,000,000 square miles—half of which is in the tropic zone—suits Joe Saunders just fine.

They do not have a furnace in their home, as there is no need for such utilities. Florence says she has a "stifled" feeling when the furnace goes on in her sister's home.

HE'LL TRY PROOF

Harold intends to prove his point about the virtues of America and its mighty automobile production by showing his brother not only the Pontiac Fisher Body plant, but some of the Ford industries and General Motors plants.

"If he isn't flabbergasted by some of our fast automobile production lines here, I'll eat my hat," said Harold.

"I could show him a few things about our tremendous Australian sheep-shearing production lines that would knock that hat off," retorted Joe, and to prove his point he said that last year there were more than 150,000,000 sheep raised in his land.

And the Australians take things a little easier, by spreading a 40-hour week over a six-day period.

That is, they only work a little more than six hours each day, and play the rest of the time, explained Joe.

Most of the automobiles in Australia are of the smaller type because gasoline is more expensive.

Very few people have larger cars and with highways and parking lots geared for the smaller vehicle, it is impractical to own a large-size automobile, Joe said.

"They sure are more luxurious though," he admitted, (his brother Harold has a new Pontiac).

Next week, the two happy couples will head for Canada to visit the brothers' mother, who is ill.

From there, Joe and Florence will say goodbye and continue on to their native England, then home to Australia by way of France, Spain and Switzerland.

If things work out, Harold and Edith plan on taking a good will trip to Australia next year—just to get even with relatives who came here singing praises of the "wonderful land down under."

World Workers Fete May Day

A Smiling Khrushchev Awarded Peace Prize at Moscow Celebration

By The Associated Press

Workers celebrated May Day in many lands today with parades and festivities against a backdrop of international tension.

Communists and non-Communists staged separate rallies in capitals in the non-Communist world.

Boasts of Soviet military might came from the defense minister, Marshal Rodion Malinovksy, but the parade was a disappointment to Westerners looking for new weapons.

The theme seemed to stress defense. Missing were the big rockets of last year. Instead, an artillery show was called by Moscow radio the "most awesome" highlight of the parade.

The tensest demonstrations were in divided Berlin.

More than 300,000 West Berliners turned out for a rally before the Reichstag—the old Parliament building burned down by the Nazis in 1933. It is just 300 yards from Communist East Berlin.

U.S. union leader Walter Reuther told the cheering crowd "the American people—the people of the free world stand united at your side in friendship and solidarity."

West Berlin's Mayor Willy Brandt, speaking before a 100-foot sign "Berlin will remain free," called on the Western foreign ministers to "take and hold the political offensive" in the forthcoming Geneva foreign ministers talks on Germany.

City Police Get Regular Shifts

Three Eight-Hour Duty Tours Scheduled by Safety Director

Pontiac police officers will be able to keep regular hours starting today

Public Safety Director George D. Eastman announced permanent duty tours for the Police Department's three patrol platoons.

One platoon will work from 7 a.m. to 3 p.m., a second from 3 to 11 p.m. and the third from 11 p.m. to 7 a.m.

Some officers will start an hour earlier than their platoon to assure continuity in department operations, Eastman said.

Eastman also announced that the morning and night shifts will now utilize one-man patrol cars, with the city divided into nine different districts.

TAKE VOTE

In the past, the department's three platoons rotated shifts monthly, but a vote by the department's patrolmen showed 64 per cent in favor of permanent shifts, Eastman said.

Extra cars will cruise through the north and south sections of the city, and cover the area of regularly assigned vehicles if one is called on a case, Eastman said.

Night shift officers will work a six-day week with straight pay because of a manpower shortage.

"We haven't hired since July of 1957 and the manpower situation is crucial," Eastman said. "Our officers realize the situation and volunteered to work without the overtime."

The department is planning to train 17 recruits, Eastman said, but it will be late August before they can tackle regular police duties.

They will receive a minimum of eight weeks training, Eastman said.

Extension Clubs Plan Big Event

Achievement Day Scheduled May 6 in Pontiac

May 6 is a day set aside by the 2,000 Oakland County Home Economics Extension Club members to exhibit the work projects they have completed during the current year at their annual Achievement Day.

The meeting, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the First Congregational Church, is being planned around the theme "Color Begins With You".

TO RECEIVE PINS

Mrs. Stanley Potts, New Hudson Homemakers Club; Mrs. Ernest Hulet and Mrs. D. W. Mitchell, Holly Home Economics Extension Club; Mrs. C. E. Pattison, West Farmington Club, Mrs. Gerald Wright and Vera Reynolds, Huron Gardens Club, will be presented their 25-year pins in a special recognition program.

Miss Irma Dutrieux, color stylist from the O'Brien Corporation, South Bend, Ind., will be the guest speaker.

Several prizes are being offered to individuals who make original centerpieces pertaining to a lesson which was presented to their club this year.

DISPLAYS PLANNED

A display of crafts is being prepared by the camp committee. Other exhibits include publicity, recreation and program development committees.

Mrs. Arthur O'Hara is Achievement Day general chairman. Her committee includes Pontiac chairmen Mrs. William J. Tiberg, recognitions; Mrs. Leonard Withey, favors; and Mrs. Kenneth Gilboe, church decorations. Other committee leaders are Mrs. Marvin Olds, White Lake, hostesses; Mrs. George Perry, Clarkston, registrations; Mrs. Edward Schulz, Davisburg, tables; Mrs. Paul Hoffrichter, White Lake, table decorations; Mrs. Michael Gentile, Rochester, place and luncheon; Mrs. Robert Sanford, Lake Orion, publicity; Mrs. William Allen, Lyon Township, door prizes; and Miss Luella M. Nault and Mrs. Mary Hardy, county extension agents, style show.

Mrs. Russell Jacobson, right, who is arranging decorations for the annual tea, gives Mrs. William J. Freyermuth of the reception committee a preview of the motif planned for the event. All senior high school girls who expect to enter college in the fall have been invited to attend.

Pontiac Press Photos

Pontiac City Panhellenic members met recently to discuss final plans for their annual tea, honoring Pontiac area high school seniors planning to attend college this fall. The affair will be held from 3 to 5 p.m. Sunday at Pontiac Federal Savings and Loan Building. Mrs. Anthony Pizza, left, who has been mailing invitations this week, pauses for refreshments with Mrs. Stanley Hutchinson, center, refreshments committee chairman, and Mrs. Richard Kuhn, who is serving on the reception committee.

News of Personal Interest in Area

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brom of Moore drive will hold their annual Derby Day punch party Saturday. Among the 20 couples who have been invited are Mr. and Mrs. Donald Melampy, Mr. and Mrs. Robert McQuiggin, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Davison and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Malwitz.

Returned Tuesday from a four-week vacation in Florida are Mrs. E. G. Winn and Mrs. E. M. Orr, both of Bloomfield Hills, and Mrs. P. F. Hoops of Chicago.

Mr. Winn flew down and joined Mrs. Winn for two weeks at Pompano Beach, Fla. On the way home the three women stopped at Gatlinburg, Tenn., in the Smoky Mountains for a visit. Mrs. Hoops is leaving for Chicago today.

Karen and David Eicher, children of Mr. and Mrs. David N. Eicher of Westacres, played with the Eastern Michigan College Symphony Orchestra in its seventh annual children's concert Thursday at Ypsilanti. Karen plays viola; David, cello. Both are students at Walled Lake High School.

This Sunday the two also have been invited to play with a group of high school string instrument students at Hillsdale College.

Tickets are available at the door for the "Say It With Music" concert being presented by Pontiac Central High School. Matinee performances started Wednesday, and evening performances will be given tonight and Saturday at 8:15 p.m. at the high school auditorium.

Golden Age Groups Sing, Hear Talk on Old Pontiac

After an old-fashioned songfest, two groups of the Golden Age Club who met this month at the Pontiac YWCA heard Richard Poole, board member of the Oakland County Historical Foundation, discuss "Old Pontiac." Mr. Poole's talk emphasized the restoration of the Governor Moses Wisner home.

Mrs. Bessie Royce and Mrs. George Zannoth were pianists for the songfest. Meditations were given by Mrs. Ione Bartholomew and Mrs. Nellie Williams.

Birthday corsages were presented to Mrs. G. E. Haviland and Gertrude Richardson. Mrs. Catherine Cudney was welcomed as a new member.

Guests included Mrs. Minnie Tucker, Mrs. Charles Davis, Mrs. Jennie Hadley of Detroit, and Mrs. Edward Wallace who is a granddaughter of the Wisners.

Hostesses were Mrs. Merle McManus, Mrs. Ray Gustafson, Mrs. Frank Kirby, Mrs. Everett Russell, Mrs. Robert Armstrong and Agnes Hilton.

The Golden Age Club is open to any women over 65 and a cordial welcome is extended to all women interested in meeting with women of their own age. The groups meet once a month for a dessert luncheon and program. Information may be obtained by contacting the YWCA on Franklin boulevard.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard W. St. John of Mena, Ark., announce the engagement of their daughter, Valerie Lee, to Charles K. Latham III, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles K. Latham Jr. of Birmingham. A June 20 wedding is planned.

VALERIE LEE ST. JOHN

Chairmen are Mrs. Clarence Vidlund, Americanism; Mrs. Kenneth Parson, cancer; Mrs. Leo Wittkoph, hospital; Mrs. Hector McClellan, membership and youth activity; Mrs. Richard Robison, legislative and home fund; Mrs. Richard Lange, rehabilitation; Mrs. William Vandecar, buddy poppy; and Mrs. Evans, publicity.

Battle Creek Woman Named Mother of Year

DETROIT (AP) — Mrs. Howard Bayley of Battle Creek, mother of four, was named Michigan Mother of the Year at a special Mother's Day luncheon, Thursday, attended by state and city officials.

Mrs. Bayley was cited for her charitable work, her role as an outstanding parent, civic, school and church leader.

Panhellenic Tea to Honor High School Senior Girls

Final plans for the annual tea honoring Pontiac area high school seniors who will attend college this fall have been completed by members of Pontiac City Panhellenic.

Mrs. John Collison and Rosamond Haeberle are cochairmen for the tea, which will be held from 3 to 5 p.m. Sunday at Pontiac Federal Savings and Loan Building.

SENIORS INVITED

All senior high girls who plan to enroll in a college or university in the fall have been invited. Invitations have been mailed by Mrs. Anthony Pizza, Dorothy Cummings and Mrs. R. L. Bronoel to students at Pontiac Central, Pontiac Northern, Waterford, Avondale, Clarkston, West Bloomfield, Walled Lake and area parochial high schools.

Program chairman Mrs. James Huttenlocher has announced that the program will feature a panel consisting of sorority members from University of Michigan, Michigan State University and Albion College. They will discuss rushing, expenses of sororities and campus activities.

Mrs. Howard Owen and Paula Kennerly are in charge of displays that will explain vital statistics of the various sororities and list their national philanthropic projects.

Refreshments are being lined up by Mrs. Stanley Hutchinson, assisted by Mrs. E. W. McGovern and Mrs. Robert Buck.

Decorations will be made by Mrs. Russell Jacobson, Mrs. Robert Passineau, and Mrs. Lewis L. Irwin.

The reception committee is composed of Mrs. Richard Kuhn and Mrs. William Freyermuth.

Mrs. W. H. Ragsdale heads the clean-up committee.

Cochairmen for the Panhellenic tea are Mrs. John Collison, left, and Rosamond Haeberle. A special feature of the program will be the presentation of a panel comprised of sorority members representing several colleges and universities throughout the state.

Insurance Unit Names Officers

Officers were elected when 23 members of the Insurance Women's Association of Pontiac met for a luncheon at Hotel Waldron Wednesday.

Mrs. Russell Lehigh will serve as president, assisted by Mrs. Harry Hall, vice president; Mrs. Earl Arthur, recording secretary; Ernestine Neubauer, treasurer; and Mrs. Vern Hartman, corresponding secretary.

Invitations to the annual bosses' night program, to be held May 20 at Sylvan Glen Inn, will be sent next week. This event will replace the regular May meeting.

Garden Association Elects 2 Officers

Mrs. Kenneth Downing was elected vice president and Mrs. Donald Lloyd secretary at the annual meeting of Lorraine Manor Branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association. Members met at the home of Mrs. Joseph Carpenter on Fernbarry drive.

Annual reports were given and a garden quiz completed the program. Mrs. J. R. Paris served as cohostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert N. Woodruff, parents of Robert N. Woodruff Jr., the prospective bridegroom, will give the rehearsal dinner next Friday at Orchard Lake Club.

The day of the wedding (May 9), Mrs. Vene G. Perry will entertain at luncheon for members of the wedding party and out-of-town guests.

MR. and MRS. FLOYD BEARDSLEE

Celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary this week are Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Beardslee of East Square Lake road where they have lived for the past 47 years. Their daughters, Mrs. Donald S. Brownlee and Mrs. John S. Malcolm, extend an invitation to relatives and friends to an open house at the Beardslee home, from 5 to 7 p.m. Sunday.

Nostalgic Tour for Children of Former Presidents

Mamie Shows Off White House

WASHINGTON (AP)—"This is such a livable house," Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower told some former tenants of the White House.

The First Lady led an unusual tour Thursday for sons and daughters of former presidents here for a "Life With Father" luncheon.

She took them from the top to the bottom of the executive mansion. The tour included her own bedroom, blooming with bouquets of pink rosebuds, and the First Family's private dining room.

The eight children of presidents and a number of relatives and descendants of chief executives looked over with a critical eye what once had been home for some of them. Many had not been back.

RIGHTER, AIRIER

Rep. James Roosevelt, D-Calif., a son of F.D.R., thought it was a good place from which to take photographs.

Architecturally "it just ruined" the White House, opinioned outspoken Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth, daughter of President Theodore Roosevelt.

President Eisenhower took time out from his official duties to greet the guests.

He directed Mrs. Marion Cleveland Amen of New York City to a portrait of her mother, Mrs. Grover Cleveland, in the Gold Room. Mrs. Amen said she thought it was a poor copy of the original.

PORTRAITS GOT SCOWL

Most of the ex-presidents' children seemed to dislike the White House portraits of their parents. However, descendants of President Tyler were delighted at his portrait, pointed out by Mrs. Eisenhower in the private family dining room.

Altogether, it was quite a nostalgic day. Earlier, nine presidential children, including John Eisenhower, had given a Women's National Press Club luncheon their views of life with father in the White House.

The press club, celebrating its 40th anniversary, sparked the idea of getting the famous children together. They had invited all 20 children of the presidents, but only nine could come.

Extra Pounds Gone

Scissor Swing Firms Thighs

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN
(The Friday Question Box)

Q. "I usually gain about 10 pounds during each year. Then, after the holidays, during the winter and early spring, I lose the extra weight. I put myself on a 1,000 calories a day diet and lost 11 pounds, BUT, here is my problem. I have flabby inner thighs and want to overcome that. I don't want to lose much more weight. I exercise every day and it makes me so mad to come along nicely everywhere else and be so flabby in that spot.

"I am 32 years old and after losing the 11 pounds weigh 115 pounds. I am 5 feet 2 inches tall."

A. You are not overweight. If you have a small frame, you are just right now. Here are a couple of exercises. (1) Lie on the floor on your back and raise your legs halfway up. Separate the legs. Swing the legs toward each other, crossing the right leg over the left. Swing them apart again. This time cross the left leg over the right. Continue, alternating as to which leg is on top.

(2) Take the same starting position. Drag the legs apart. Drag them together. Do not lift the legs from the floor at all. Continue.

Q. "When should a girl wear a bra? I am a freshman in high school, 14 years old. I do not wear one and it makes me lose self-confidence. I'm the only girl in school who doesn't wear one. My mother has never said anything about it. I think my mother reads your column every day and maybe she will take the hint."

A. The time when a young girl begins wearing a brassiere depends on her development rather than her age. Some girls develop much sooner than others. However, if you are unhappy about this I see no reason for not wearing one, at least on some occasions.

Just be sure that it does not mash or bind your bust. Don't worry, it will fill out soon. In case your mother does not see this particular column why don't you talk to her about it?

Q. "My 9-year-old daughter was born with some noticeable hair on the outside of her nose. This has grown longer. This hair is on the end of her nose. Is there any way it can be removed permanently? She has not noticed this condition but as she gets older she may."

A. I suggest you have the hair removed by electrolysis. This is permanent and I would not wait until the situation makes her unhappy. Just be sure that you have a well-trained operator, one who has been graduated from a qualified school of electrolysis. A skin specialist or your hospital probably will be able to direct you.

Do-C-Do Marks Anniversary at Dinner-Dance

The club celebrated its 12th anniversary, using decorations which featured a poster inscribed with members' names for each year. Miniature square dance figures were made by Mrs. Ted Cork, who was assisted by Mrs. Harold Brady in planning decorations.

Charter members present at the dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Turris McCully and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Hutchinson.

Outgoing president Robert Newill and Mrs. Newill were presented with a barbecue set by newly elected president George Newton. Toastmaster was Marvin Alward.

Callers were William Lefurgy, Rex Lawrence, Mr. Newill, John Streit, William Brown and Mr. Newton. Martin Lock and Stanley Hutchinson were guest callers.

Mrs. Lock also was a guest at the dance.

Mr. Newton announced that the club will hold monthly sessions throughout the summer.

Organ Societies to Meet May 6

Birmingham Chapter of Hammond Organ Society has invited local chapters to take part in its meeting to be held the evening of May 6 in Grinnell's Auditorium, Birmingham.

Planning to attend are the Detroit Society, Dearborn, Lincoln Park, Pontiac, Grand River and Houston-Whittier chapters. Members from each chapter will participate in the program.

Jack Porter, president of the Birmingham chapter, and his executive committee, Mrs. Coraline Stringer and Mrs. Charles Edwards, are planning the program. Mrs. Porter is in charge of refreshments.

Clifford Pigman of Sunny Vale Chapel drew chalk pictures at the annual Good News Rally Sunday in the First Baptist Church. The young artist, 14, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond H. Pigman of Jerose road. Robert Brien was songleader, Kathy Yarbrough played the accordion, Robert Kitely was organist and Jill Hicks played the piano. Richard Cork, Donald Plumb and Philip Somers Jr. played the trumpet. About 450 children were present at the affair.

Mrs. Schmitz to Head City Music Guild

Officers of Pontiac Music Guild were elected at a meeting Tuesday at the Auburn road home of Mrs. Lester Snell. Mrs. Claude Kimler and Marguerite Ballard assisted with the brunch.

New officers are Mrs. Walter Schmitz, president; Mrs. Phillip Schurrer, vice president; Amy Hogle, secretary; Mrs. William Heitsch, treasurer, and Mrs. Carl Clifford, corresponding secretary.

The annual banquet will be held May 26 at Congregational Church.

The next recital will be held at Grinnell's store May 19.

Spring Festival Set for Friday

Mark Twain School PTA will hold its annual Spring Festival and Fair from 5 to 9 p.m. Friday at the school. Mrs. Harry O. Roebuck is chairman.

Featured will be mystery trips through the "Haunted House," a white elephant sale, bake sale, games and handiwork booths.

A "Cherry Tree," with fruit to be picked by children, will take the place of the traditional fish pond.

Hosts Homemakers

Mrs. John Stoppert was hostess at her home on Coseyburn drive Tuesday evening for the Modern Homemakers Extension Club meeting.

Mrs. William Tippen and Mrs. Stoppert gave the lesson on "Good Sense Dieting," featuring samples of low calorie soups, salad dressings and desserts. Mrs. Lloyd Christian gave a lesson on the selection and care of modern fabrics.

Continental Club Plans Last Dance of Season

Continental Club will hold its last dance of the season at Hickory Grove School Saturday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wharton are dance chairmen.

Entertaining at a party before the dance will be Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Henderson of Hickory Grove road. Their guests will be Mrs. Joseph Cunningham, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Jositas, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Stopar, Mrs. Thomas Horobin and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Van Alsen.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Aldred will entertain at their home on Coldspring drive. Among their guests will be Mr. and Mrs. James Shannon Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hupp. Mr. and Mrs. James McCarty, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Graves, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Moncher, Mr. and Mrs. William Beauchamp and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hindle.

Another party will be hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Conlan and Mr. and Mrs. Lorne O'Neil at the Conlan home on Eileen drive. Their guests will be Mr. and Mrs. Peter Vidor, Mr. and Mrs. Owen Batzloff, Mr. and Mrs. George Weir, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Roux, Mr. and Mrs. James Greene, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ranzilla, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Webb, Mr. and Mrs. John Holmes, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hellmann, Mr. and Mrs. John Massa, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Slaughter and Mr. and Mrs. William Elliott.

Colds Best When Kept at Home

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: Is there anything one can say to a bridge club member who comes to club meetings with such a bad head cold that she gives it to other members? We have a member in our club who has colds often and she will come and announce that she has stayed in bed all morning just so that she would be able to come to the meeting. All the other members call and regret when they have colds."

Answer: You might tell her that you appreciate her bravery in getting out of bed to come to your meetings, but that it would be much better if she stayed home, not only for her own sake, but also that all the other members will not be in danger of catching her cold.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Last year I gave a boy I had been going out with a portrait picture of myself for his birthday. About two months ago we had a very serious quarrel and no longer see each other. I would like very much to have this picture back. May I write to him and ask to have it returned?"

Answer: Ordinarily it is not possible to ask for the return of a gift, but under the circumstances you describe, I think you might write him a note and tell him that if he still has your picture, you would like to have it back.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I've been criticized for making a hollow in the middle of my mashed potatoes and putting gravy into it. I don't care for gravy on my meat and I don't like having it run all over my plate and mixing with the vegetables, and I do like it on my mashed potatoes. Is this bad table manners?"

Answer: This is permissible at a family meal at home but not when guests are present or when dining out.

Musicale Program Set

The program to be presented at the annual May meeting of Tuesday Musicale was prepared at the meeting of the group's workshop, held Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Arthur R. Dodge of Lake Angelus.

The entire workshop group will take part in the skit, which will include original numbers by members Mrs. M. J. Wager and Mrs. James Rosenthal.

Assisting with luncheon were Mrs. Rosenthal and Mrs. W. S. Furlong.

Jam, Coconut and Nuts Fill Rich Strudel Dough

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

This is a recipe calculated to make your mouth water. You'll probably have all you can do not to run to the kitchen and start immediately on Sour Cream Strudel.

Mrs. David Saks is today's cook. She loves to cook and bake, enjoys carving vegetable flowers. She is active in the Sisterhood of her Temple. She is past president of the Medical Aid Society of Detroit.

SOUR CREAM STRUDEL
By Mrs. David Saks

½ pound butter
½ pint sour cream
2 cups sifted flour

Cream butter. Work in sour cream and flour, mixing thoroughly with a pastry blender or two knives. Wrap dough in waxed paper and chill overnight.

In the morning divide dough into 6 or 8 parts and keep chilled the parts you are not using. Roll out into very thin circle. Use waxed paper on which to roll dough, flouring it lightly. Lift and turn dough, reflouring as necessary to prevent sticking.

Repeat with other parts of dough. Put all in a shallow pan. Bake for 10 minutes at 450 degrees. Reduce heat to 350 and bake another 30 minutes.

With a sharp knife cut rolls into 1½ inch slices. Sprinkle with confectioners sugar. Makes 40-50 pieces.

Filling

1 pound jar raspberry preserves
½ pound coconut
¼ pound crushed nuts

Chitchat

By MRS. JANET ODELL

Don't you love the beautiful dish towels that you can buy nowadays? Haven't you thought often that they are almost too pretty to use for wiping dishes? If so, you will be interested in the following:

Just the other day we received an attractive little bag made from half a linen dish towel. The handles are braid trim and a tassel flops from the bottom. It's called a Happy Sack.

We can think of dozens of uses for it. You make one of them and let us know what you use it for. We're making several from these directions.

Evenly cut towel in half, crosswise. Save other half for another sack. Turn fabric inside out and sew ¼-inch seam down the side so the towel forms a tube.

Fold the fabric in half, lengthwise, and then in fourths. Iron flat. Mark with a pencil or chalk a 4-inch "V" with the point of the "V" at the cut end of the fabric. Cut out. Open up the tube and hold the points of the "V" together so a four-sided pinwheel is formed. Stitch these four ¼-inch seams. Clip loose threads.

Turn the bag inside out and press flat. Insert tassel at point with a large darning needle by pulling each tassel end through to inside separately, and knotting to hold in place. Then clip tassel threads at knot.

Sew on the two 15-inch flat braid handles to the corners, so the handles will lie flat. Clip extra threads. Press.

Natalie Sposato Feted at Shower in Waterford

Natalie Sposato, bride-elect of Jack Davidson, was feted at a miscellaneous shower Sunday at the Waterford CAI Building. Seventy-five guests attended the affair which was given by Mrs. George Kaye of Lotus Lake drive, mother of the prospective bride.

Miss Sposato also recently was honored at a personal shower given by Mrs. Donald Hickman and her daughters, Julie, Sally and Mary, at their home on LaForest drive.

Natalie, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kaye, live on Lotus Lake drive, will become the bride of Mr. Davidson, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Lamberton of Big Lake road, May 23 at Our Lady of the Lakes Catholic Church.

PTA Assembly Speaker Urges Study of Schools

BAY CITY — All Michigan parents should become better informed about current school programs and problems.

That challenge was issued here at the Michigan PTA convention Wednesday by Warner H. Biekkola of Marquette.

"If schools are to serve our future citizens as they should, parents must know more about their schools and also must become more active in educational affairs," declared Mr. Biekkola, membership chairman for the Michigan PTA.

Membership in the PTA, said Mr. Biekkola, is one of the best ways for parents to learn more about their schools.

"PTA membership furnishes parents a powerful opportunity to develop and promote adequate financing and administration necessary for schools to meet the rapidly changing demands of future citizens," Mr. Biekkola declared.

Mr. Biekkola, who led a membership conference at the convention, referred to the PTA "Studying Michigan Schools" project. "This program, with its opinionnaire and study guide, helped many parents to become more familiar with their own schools and with ducation across the state."

This project, he reported, will be continued and will provide one of the major ways in which parents can meet the challenge to participate more in school affairs.

The Michigan PTA has a total membership of 379,580 with 113 councils and 2,017 individual local units.

"Every PTA should cooperate with all community agencies which seek to help children and youth to achieve mature citizenship."

That recommendation was presented at a convention here Wednesday by Dr. Robert Frehse of Detroit. Dr. Frehse, who is director of the Detroit Round Table of Christians and Jews, is chairman of the Michigan PTA Committee on Character and Spiritual Education.

Time for Reshuffle—Abby

She's Handing In-Laws Bum Deal

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: Our family often gets together and plays a friendly game of poker. We play for a few cents just to make it interesting but nobody wins or loses enough to make any difference. My husband noticed that our daughter-in-law cheats. When she gets the cards, she deals off the bottom to herself and wins the pot. I watched her and saw it myself. We are heartsick because we never thought she was that kind of a girl. Should we mention it to our son, or let it go? It's hard for me to look her in the face."

ABBY

DISAPPOINTED

DEAR DISAPPOINTED: Don't mention it to her husband, but DO mention it to the girl. Tell her what you've observed. Reshuffle the deck and give her a chance at a new deal.

"DEAR ABBY: I certainly didn't agree with your remarks regarding children answering the telephone. I have six children whose ages range from ten months to nine years and there are times when the telephone rings and I have my hands in dishwater or am bathing the baby and can't answer it myself.

"So what's wrong with letting one of the children answer it for me to find out who is calling? How else will children learn how to talk on the telephone? If people who call me do not have the patience to visit a little while with my children, they needn't bother to call me again."

BUSY MOTHER

DEAR BUSY: Children who are old enough to speak so that they can be understood and to take a message properly certainly should answer the phone. I had reference to little ones who pick up the receiver and say, "WHO IS THIS?" eight or ten times. There are toy telephones for youngsters who wish to play.

"DEAR ABBY: Thanks for the letter concerning children answering the telephone. I am a telephone operator and know the time and money that's wasted every day by this foolishness. Can you imagine someone calling clear across for a three minute call to get little curlyhead on the other end with a 'goo-goo' or a 'da-da!'? Half the 3 minutes is wasted trying to get the silly mother on the phone. Mother's should answer the telephone themselves to see who's calling and if it's 'Da Da' or 'Ha Ha' calling, hand the phone to the kid and let him teeth on it. Gee!"

TELEPHONE OPERATOR

"DEAR ABBY: I recently read the story of a brutal murder of a child who was 'selling' something for a good cause. I think it is morally wrong to encourage children to approach strangers to buy cookies, candy, tickets etc. Too many of our tots are molested even in the 'better neighborhoods. All kids are eager to gain recognition for their troop or school and will ring doorbells and enter buildings in happy anticipation of a sale. Fear is unknown to them.

"When my girls were Scouts I sold the boxes of cookies they lugged home. Maybe I spoiled their fun but I breathed easier. (I also gained a reputation from my good neighbors, coworkers and relatives as a 'merchant pest.') I no longer buy anything from a child because I believe that I am helping to put an end to this dangerous exploitation of our children. Thanks for listening."

MRS. A. M.

Carroll Beth Francisco Weds Joseph D. Rosser

Carroll Beth Francisco and Joseph D. Rosser were married Saturday afternoon at Free Methodist Church. The Rev. Raymond King officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Henry Francisco of Petrolia street and Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Rosser of Gidding street.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Clayson of Saginaw, brother-in-law and sister of the bridegroom, attended the couple.

The couple will live in Joliet, Ill.

Program Held by Junior Group of Chopin Club

"Music in Foreign Lands" was the theme of the program at the meeting of Junior Group of Chopin Music Club, held at the Telegraph road home of Mrs. Carl Clifford. Mrs. Clifford showed pictures of Japan and the Far East.

Taking part in the program of piano solos and duets were members Jane Priestley, Ann McLean, Jean Ann Keefer, Cynthia Howlett, Sandra Yuille, Sandra Andonian, Kerry Gault and Carol Gray.

Others were Alice Schurrer, Penny Pepper, Linda Bleise, Michael Omans, Phillip Schurrer and April Hetherington.

Bob Considine Says:

U.S. Businessman Ultra-Confident in Castro

NEW YORK—People . . . places . . . and packages . . .

Young, self-made multi-millionaire Victor Muscat, World War II Air Force man who now heads up a dozen corporations, is one American business character who has supreme confidence in Fidel Castro. And in Cuba.

"Cuba's great," Muscat said at the Overseas Press Club. "It offers this country a wonderful opportunity for investment. The American investor in Cuba simply has to readjust his sights.

"The people around Castro are as honest as he is. I'm ready to go in there with a two-million-dollar investment. I've talked to men like Rufo Lopez Fresquet, the minister of finance, and Luis Sanjenis, deputy minister of foreign investments.

"They're honest, decent, intelligent men. They begin their conversations by stating that not only are they not interested in the bribes and under-the-table deals of their predecessors but they want us to report any official who suggests that sort of thing."

Castro is considering legislation which would, in effect, require U. S. firms selling packaged foods, drugs, cosmetics and similar products in Cuba to ship the material in bulk form and have it packaged by Cubans in Cuba.

Muscat, who is in the packaging business as well as such callings as the manufacture of aluminum furniture, TV films, real estate and insurance, estimates that such a Castro law would result in as many as 200,000 additional jobs, a quarter of a billion dollars in new U. S. investment in Cuba, and the emergence of the first real middle class in the island's history.

A decision may come at any hour.

More than 36,000,000 pounds of snuff were consumed by Americans last year, makings of a composite sneeze calculated to agitate seismographs as far away as Minsk.

Safety factors are involved with the growing popularity of the stuff, according to one of my favorite obscure societies, the Snuff Information Center.

Snuff's big in mines, refineries, munitions and chemical works and among people whose livelihood depends on a free use of both hands—farmers, fishermen and stevedores, for example.

The U. S. Senate still distributes free snuff to its members, as has been the case since the birth of the nation. Everywhere else, you pay.

No filters.

Billy Talbert's book, "Playing for Life" (Little, Brown & Co.) is more than an inspiration to the 1,000,000 Americans who are diabetics.

It is Horatio Alger in Madison avenue gray, winning against overwhelming odds.

Instead of meeting the head of the counting house, when he was a poor but honest lad seeking his way in life, Billy met a doctor named Walt who took a long chance and let him play tennis in face of that ancient litany, "exercise requires energy, energy requires sugar, sugar is the bugaboo of the diabetic."

Talbert became one of the great figures of tennis, led the U. S. Davis Cup team to victory, today is a happy, successful young man with a great future ahead of him.

How he did it, and why he did it, makes fascinating reading.

Harry Hershfield wasn't impressed by Castro's beard, when at the Overseas Press Club luncheon its owner put the brillo on display.

Editor for AP Retires in July

David J. Wilkie Wrote Automotive News for Past 20 Years

DETROIT (AP) — David J. Wilkie will retire as automotive editor of the Associated Press effective July 1.

He has been with the AP for more than 36 years.

He will be succeeded by Ben Phlegar, who has been state editor for the Associated Press in Michigan for the past two years.

Wilkie says his future plans are not set. He has a six-week vacation planned starting May 17. "I'd like to write a book," he said. "I'm not going to just sit around."

Dave never has "just sat around." He started with the AP in 1902 when he was 14 as a messenger at $4 a week. By the time he was 16 he was a fully-fledged Morse telegraph operator. In 1917 at the age of 29 he was named Associated Press correspondent in Detroit and he became chief of the Detroit AP Bureau in 1928.

In 1939 he was named as the first automotive editor of the Associated Press.

More than 400 of his writing collegues and the greats and near-greats of the auto industry attended a banquet honohing his 50th year with the Associated Press on Nov. 24, 1952.

At that dinner, the late C. F. (Boss) Kettering commented that Dave had been reporting the happenings of Detroit and Michigan during a time in which 99.9 per cent of the auto industry's entire production had been accomplished.

Until Dave Wilkie took on the auto industry as his regular beat, no wire service had attempted to write everyday news about a manufactured product. To call a product by a trade name was strictly against policy. Dave recalls that in previous times he had to refer to Ford, for example, as a "popular low-priced car."

City to Resell Plot at Perry-Glenwood

City Manager Walter K. Willman was authorized to advertise for bids by May 18 to sell a triangular parcel on the northeast corner of Perry and Glenwood.

The Glenwood extension was built through the southern portion of the parcel, leaving a half-demolished gas station on the rest which the city has been renting since last summer.

Chevalier Shakes Hand of President, His Idol

WASHIGTON (AP)—Maurice Chevalier, the French singer, got a special hurry-up appointment at the White House today and shook hands with President Eisenhower.

Mrs. Eisenhower really was responsible. Chevalier entertained yesterday at a luncheon, met the First Lady, and told her he would like to shake hands with his idol.

Mrs. Eisenhower told him he would have to come in early this morning since she and the President were leaving for Gettysburg, Pa., around noon. That's what he did, in the company of French Ambassador Herve Alphand, at 8:15 a.m.

'Auto Industry Backs Highway Development'

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—As a matter of good "industrial citizenship" the auto industry aggressively supports sound highway development to reduce accident tolls and congestion and promote both economic progress and national defense, a General Motors executive said here today.

Addressing the Illoinois Editor and Publisher Highway Traffic Safety Seminar, Charles A. Chayne, GM vice president in charge of Engineering Staff, declared the "road to ruin is not a modern design highway—it is the hazardous, congested type that we have kept in service as a major artery far beyond its useful life."

"In looking at the ever demanding problem of highway safety," Chayne said, "Americans cannot take the negative view that our problem is too many cars. We must face up to the great and growing extent to which our whole life is geared to the automobile—and then do some bigger and bolder thinking about providing a proper physical invironment for its efficient use."

For instance, he explained, by 1965 the nation's total population is likely to reach 191 million and "we foresee a new car sales level of about 7¼ million units in 1965—compared to a probable 1960 level of about 6 million. Total motor vehicle registrations in 1965 are expected to exceed 80 million, compared to 68 million in 1958."

West Virginia is known as the Panhandle state. It contains 24,170 square miles and ranks as 40th in size among the other states.

Commissioner Raps City Engineers

Revise Walks Repair Plan

City Commissioner John A. Dugan last night brought about a thorough revision in the city's sidewalk repair program this summer.

Dugan complained that the Engineering Department was wrongly "pressuring" many homeowners into making repairs on their own.

"It's my opinion that the city has sent out warnings that it is prepared to make many more sidewalk repairs this year than it actually can do," said Dugan.

Dugan also complained that the Engineering Department this year had not marked with paint the faulty portions of the sidewalks it thinks should be repaired.

City Manager Walter K. Willman said that sidewalk inspection would begin all over again, with the Engineering Department marking the faulty sections this time.

"We will only mark those sections the city is capable of repairing if homeowners don't," he said.

Dugan doubted that the city had enough manpower to make as many repairs as the city engineer said had to be done in letters sent out to homeowners earlier this year.

The letters told homeowners that repairs were necessary in front of their homes and warned that if homeowners didn't make the repairs by June 6, the city would bill homeowners for the cost.

"If this is just an idle threat, we're doing nothing but trying to pressure the citizens," said Dugan.

City Engineer Lewis M. Wrenn insisted that the Department of Public Works had sufficient available manpower.

But Willman said the manpower situation would be reviewed again before sidewalks are marked for repair.

He said the city would concentrate first on the worst sidewalks, then attack the borderline cases later if manpower is available.

Wrenn said that the marks weren't made this year because inspection took place earlier than usual, during winter-time thaws when paint wouldn't stick on the wet sidewalks.

Salk Says Study Shows Polio Vaccine Sound

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Dr. Jonas E. Salk, discoverer of the polio vaccine, said today that his studies of results in the first three years of vaccine use indicate that paralytic polio may be controlled by the appropriate use of a killed-virus vaccine.

Salk's vaccine, a killed-virus type, was officially recognized as safe and effective when it was made available for public use in 1955.

There has been some subsequent scientific controversy on whether this type of vaccine would have permanent effect against the disease.

Dr. Salk indirectly took note of this today in a report he presented before England's Royal Society of Health.

WATER HAVEN — Here within easy driving distance of Detroit's millions is the St. Clair Metropolitan beach, one of the largest municipal waterfront recreation areas in the world. It is one of the leading recreational and tourist attractions in a crowded area that boasts many of the nation's leading attractions for visitors as well as local residents.

Offers Sports, History and Art

Industrial Detroit Has Recreation Too

(This is the seventh in a series of articles on Michigan's industrial and cultural achievements written by Michigan newsmen as an introduction to Michigan week May 17-23.)

By LEONARD H. THOMSON
Secretary-Manager, Southeastern Michigan Tourist & Publicity Assn.

DETROIT — The Detroit metropolitan area is known from Aden to Zanzibar as the world's great center of assembly-line production. Less well known are its parks, beaches and a whole vacation wonderland of big time sports, museums, shopping centers, art centers and theaters.

There are 200 miles of coastline in southeastern Michigan where majestic freighters loom as backgrounds for jaunty sailboats and Great Lakes cruise vessels plying between Buffalo, Cleveland, Detroit and the Upper Lakes.

Only minutes from dynamic Detroit is the restful and educational Henry Ford Museum and Greenfield Village in Dearborn. Here is an unexcelled collection of Americana: the original homes or working quarters of such men as Abraham Lincoln, Thomas Edison, Orville Wright and Henry Ford; a replica of Independence Hall, and buildings furnished with the tools and handiwork of the craftsmen who cleared the way for the mass production age.

Regional parks fringing Detroit bring nature trails, boating, and, at Kensington Lake and Greenfield Village, sternwheeler rides—certainly a surprise to anyone who thinks of sternwheelers as being confined to the Mississippi!

If, on the other hand, you like the roar of the crowd, Southeastern Michigan offers plenty of big time sports action. There are the Detroit Tigers; the University of Michigan Wolverines and the Detroit Lions pro football team; and the Detroit Red Wings hockey team and the Detroit Pistons pro basketball quintet. And Livonia, Northville and Hazel Park tracks offer afternoon events for horse racing fans, and sulky driving at night under the lights.

From the moment the visitor to Detroit arrives at the new Civic Center grounds at the foot of Woodward avenue, he feels the sense of exhilaration this city imparts, and yet a sense of ease induced by the clean lines of the ultra-modern structures and the open parks leading to the waterfront where he may relax as he watches the great parade of water traffic glide past.

Here, too, he sees the markers that tell him that this, in 1701, was one of the first communities west of the Alleghenies, and that here on this waterway French and British vied for the rich fur trade in the 17th and 18th centuries; that here immigrants came to people the interior and open the northern iron ore and copper mines which led to the era of the mighty freighters of the Inland Seas.

Entering Southeastern Michigan from Ohio, the visitor passes through Monroe County—an industrial region replete with picturesque openings and historic sites. The visitor can follow a "history trail" through country which was a populous center of the Mound-Builders 2,000 years ago. This was country that was fought over by Iroquois and Algonquin for centuries until Cadillac slashed a clearing for his fort in 1701, to side with the Algonquin tribes and throw a barrier in the path of the Iroquois and their British allies—a situation that gave the forces of New France the upper hand until their defeat by the British in 1759.

Lenawee County, just west of Monroe County, is historic and picturesque, too. Home of the Irish Hills, it is bisected by U.S. 112, the old Detroit-Chicago Turnpike. The Walker Tavern, built in 1832, furnished now as it was then, is a must stop for tourists at U. S. 112 and M50. Another top attraction in the area is the 300-acre Hidden Lake Garden, owned and operated by Michigan State University.

Wherever you choose to stop for recreation in Southeastern Michigan you are not far from whatever form of recreation you desire.

His Biographer Agrees Dali Is a Screwball

The author — Fleur Cowles Meyer.

The book—"Salvador Dali."

"I go to Paris on May 5," said Mrs. Meyer, "to bring Dali to London by night ferry—clutched in my hot paw to guarantee his arrival."

Why is she importing Dali?

"My publishers," she explained, "will present us both in the London Planetarium—everything considered, where else?"

If Dali's appearance is anything like his last London performance it should be well worth watching.

On that occasion he appeared in a diving suit, had two Russian wolfhounds on one leash, a billiard cue in one hand, a jeweled dagger flashing at his waist.

He almost suffocated when he couldn't remove the diver's helmet that encased his weird head, sabre-like mustaches and bulging eyes.

One of Europe's most glittering hostesses, Mrs. Meyer spent nearly three years writing the biography.

"No man has lived a private life more publicly than Salvador Dali," she says, "and yet no man is less crystallized. No man has told more and convinced less."

As to Dali's nuttiness, she says in her book: "Mad he is—by his own admission if not by a better authority. Serene he is—because Gala (his Russian wife) is there to ensure it.

"Everyone dubs him mad. The term falls off typewriter keys, in pressrooms, falls from lips in drawing rooms—and in art circles, too—whenever Dali is mentioned."

But make no mistake about it—Mrs. Meyer regards him as a great and talented painter and a good friend.

Europe Offers Visitor Variety

Music, Drama, Flower Festivals, Trade Fairs Planned This Summer

By United Press International

Europe offers an almost unending series of music and drama festivals, flower festivals, religious pageants, trade fairs and sporting events this summer.

Music festivals will take place in Sussex, England; Brussels; Bergen, Norway; Vienna; Stockholm; Ludwigsburg, Germany; Aix-en-Provence, France; Edinburgh; Bayreuth and Salzburg.

Flower shows in Paris; London; Lisse, Holland; Portugal; Denmark; Dortmund, Germany, Italy and Spain, will be held at various times during the summer months.

Religious pageantry will be in evidence in many cities of Europe. In Spain, the pageantry takes place at Corpus Christi, May 20, which precedes Spain's national Holy Week.

The International Stamp Exhibition in Hamburg, Germany, runs from May 22 to May 31, in Oslo, from June 11 to July 5, one of the largest shows ever held will find agricultural exhibits covering 100 acres.

In sports, international ski races take place in the Tyrol. Automobile and motorcycle road racing will be held at Francorchamps, Belgium, June 14 to July 5. The famous Tour de France bike race goes from June 25 to July 18. Wimbledon tennis starts June 22.

All major cities will have football, gymnastics and track competitions throughout the season.

1,100-Year-Old Skeleton of Indian Is Uncovered

BALDWINSVILLE, N. Y. (UPI) —A workman digging a ditch at a construction site uncovered a human skeleton which an anthropologist said had been buried about 1,100 years.

Dr. Harry L. Schoff said the bones belonged to a male Indian. He said the deterioration was surprisingly low.

The bones, which have been given to the Onondaga County Historical Association, were found at a depth of six feet.

Iceland claims there is no illiteracy among its people. There are more books published there per capita than in any other country in the world.

Army of Mercy Gives Uniform of Another

GREENWICH, Conn. (AP)—Henry Fuentes, 31, held on charges of wearing a bogus U.S. Army uniform, was released from city jail for lack of evidence.

Police said that Fuentes proved his claim that the uniform of a lieutenant, complete down to campaign ribbons, was given to him by a Salvation Army unit.

Figures Reach 100-1 for Title Fight Tonight

Sparring Partner Who Fought Both Men Says Patterson Can't Miss

By BRUNO L. KEARNS

INDIANAPOLIS Ind. —Not even one of the entries in the Kentucky Derby 125 miles from here is faced with the futile odds which have been quoted against British challenger Brian London who faces heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson tonight.

London is actually embarrassed by the oddsmakers' figures which go as high as 100-1. Many expect this fight to be Patterson's warm-up before his title bout against Ingemar Johansson in Yankee Stadium June 23rd.

Even Dusty Rhodes the fighter who took the sparring ad libs of both fighters sees little chance of a London victory.

Rhodes worked a total of 15 rounds with London during his training camp period here and prior to this he was Patterson's sparring partner on an exhibition tour.

"The cat will lay him out any time he gets ready" said Rhodes. "Floyd can't miss that guy with his left because I had plenty of chances to throw a few and never did when I worked with him."

Rhodes who is on the preliminary card in a six-rounder put modesty to the wind by saying "Even I could beat London."

But dispite all odds and speculation the fight must go on and the 24-year-old challenger from Blackpool England knows the task ahead of him at the Fairgrounds Coliseum tonight.

London who has rolled up 19 knockouts and 26 pro fights appears to be more interested in the $60,000 he is graduated and much more if he can win the title.

London admits that neither the crown nor the sport of boxing means as much to him as the pounds and shillings he can win.

"I don't fight for the love of it I fight for the money" he said "and winning the crown will be worth a million dollars to me."

There is no doubt that in training for a fight London gets mean and he pounds his sparring partners ruthlessly. He has a strong punch with either hand but not the poise to deliver it especially against Patterson's speed.

Patterson could lose if he got careless but he said "I'm not taking this fight lightly. I know he can punch but whether he can punch harder than me is something I'll find out tonight.

London has been known for having a mental lapse at times during a fight in fact that is how he admits he was beat on a first round kayo to current British heavyweight champ Henry Cooper in 1956. He also lost to Cooper the past January.

"I remember I was thinking and worrying about my brother who had just fought before and I stood there like a blinkin' blockhead when Cooper tagged me good" London said.

"But I wasn't knocked out, I became temporarily paralyzed when he landed one on my chin and the referee stopped the fight" he explained.

London will be only the third Englishman to challenge the World's heavyweight title since World War I. Don Cockell was kayoed by Rocky Marciano after nine rounds in 1955 and in 1937 Tommy Farr lost a 15-round decision to Joe Louis.

Patterson said he "thought the hard work wasn't really over. The toughest job after weeks of training is the waiting. It was sure a long night last night and you keep wondering whether the title will still be there when another night comes around" he said.

This is the first heavyweight title fight in history of the state of Indiana and a crowd of 10,000 is expected to put $120,000 into the gate receipts.

Foytack Back in Rut After Early Promises

From Our Wire Services

Paul Foytack pitched better than he ever had this spring and was being counted on heavily to help lead the Tigers back in contention But, as of now, his record stands at 0-3.

He predicted he would never be wild again after displaying his best control ever in the south.

The speedy righthander had been more on target in his first two starts but yesterday he got back in the old groove by walking Washington's Harmon Killebrew with the bases loaded on four straight balls after starting with two strikes.

He settled down after that but was then bombed by the Nats in the 4th and 5th.

"I just don't know what the answer is," manager Bill Norman said in reference to the failure of the mound corps. "These are the same guys that had 59 complete games last season for the high mark in the league. Sure, they'll turn around and snap out of it. All we need are two wins in a row."

The "pleasant surprise" would be either Jerry Davie, who gets his first Major League starting role tomorrow in the final game of the Washington series, or Don Mossi who'll get his initial start as a Tiger in the nightcap of Sunday's doubleheader against New York.

Homel Bucks Tradition; Breaks Mirror in Club

He thought it would change the club's luck — and the Tigers won 7-1.

Detroit's Hopes as Olympic Site Appear Better

DETROIT (AP)—A United States Olympic Committee official says Detroit's chances of getting the 1964 Olympic Games "are better than they've been at any other time."

But, Douglas Roby cautioned yesterday "it still looks like an uphill fight with Tokyo in the driver's seat — although I hope I'm wrong."

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. — You could tell by the cauliflowered ears he was an ex-boxer but listen to his talk and you would never suspect it was Tommy Farr, the great British heavyweight who had more guts than true ability during his ring days.

Farr, now a fight columnist for a London newspaper, enunciates words and phrases his sentences more like a speech professor than an ex-pug.

"Oh, deah, ah will be as happy as a bloomin' mackeral to get back to the Essex coast out of this frightful humidity," Farr was saying with the accent and dainty use of words we Americans usually expect from a Britisher.

Farr has watched Brian London through his career and he is one of the few boxing writers here who gives the British challenger much of a chance.

Of course, something to note is the fact that Farr hasn't correctly picked the winner of a title fight yet.

"If Brian can tag him before Patterson gets out of the ice box too early, then bi-jove Brian can be a full of a man who turns killer when he has a man in trouble," Farr noted.

"Ah'm not fibbin' when ah say that if Brian gets mad it would take seven savages to contain him," he added.

"He was an unheralded coal miner from Wales with a brash countryside fight record when he came to this country to battle the great Joe Louis, after going 15 rounds in 1957 against the Brown Bomber before losing the decision he became a hero even in defeat.

Farr recalled when he made the trip to the U.S. for the title fight he chose a camp along the Jersey shoreline and was training in the hottest days of the summer.

He was warned to protect himself from the sun's rays but said "I've been too long in the dark of the mines to cover myself up in this glorious sunshine."

As result he had to be given medical treatment for a back full of blisters. "Mon, tis sure as me back was baked, I felt like one of your American roasted hot dogs," he said.

Now, as a member of the British Press Corps (and he says British not English because, mon," I'm a Welshman") Farr remembers what his old Welsh grandfather told him about newspaper friends.

"He said to me, mon, if you've got a good newspaperman friend, shoot him before he goes bad on you." "Gracious, I best be careful."

"Oh, deah, it's time for a spot of tea." And off he went for his 5th tea of the day.

Bertoia, Porter, Samford, Fischer Shine for Nats

Tigers Back to Normal in 9-1 Defeat Before Only 1,467 Fans

DETROIT (AP) — Four players cast aside by the Detroit Tigers and a first baseman who learned his baseball in the Tigers' backyard have returned to haunt the last-place Detroiters.

The lineup the Washington Senators put up against the Tigers yesterday had a Detroit-look and it produced a 9-1 victory that shoved the Tigers even deeper into the American League basement.

Bill Fischer, who went from the bullpen to the doghouse in Detroit last season, pitched a smooth six-hitter against his old teammates. Reno Bertoia, who got $30,000 for signing with the Tigers, then spent five years shuttling between the bench and three different infield positions, helped Fischer with two hits and two runs scored.

Ron Samford, a light-hitting but slick-fielding shortstop who spent most of his time in the minors after he joined the Detroit organization, drove in two runs with two singles and scored once himself.

J. W. Porter, who did practically everything except pitch for the Tigers but never got a regular job although he was around for five seasons, singled, walked and —according to his battery mate— "called a fine game."

First baseman Norm Zauchin never was in the Detroit organization, although he comes from suburban Royal Oak. But his two-run homer iced the game in the fourth inning.

To complete the theme, Briggs Stadium looked like a haunted house. Only 1,467 paying spectators showed up as the Tigers dropped their 13th decision in 15 games. It was the smallest crowd at the stadium since Sept. 19, 1956, when the attendance was 1,435 for a game against Baltimore.

Lionel Hebert's 67 Paces Colonial

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Lionel Hebert, who never even has won expense money playing in the Colonial National Invitation tournament before, was in line for a big slice of cash today as he led the field into the second round.

The chunky member of golf's brother act—Lionel and Jay Hebert—shot a 3-under-par 67 yesterday to take the No. 1 spot. He can already see more than the $150 he bagged here last year—his sole winnings in the Colonial tournament.

Just a stroke back was the man who in 1956 won more money than anybody ever has in golf, $72,835, stubby Ted Kroll of Sarasota, Fla. Fla.

Nothing much has been heard of Kroll since his big year; he's now professional at the DeSoto Country Club in Sarasota and has not played much in a year. But his 2-under-par 68 was a thing of beauty as he putted like a demon.

Hebert, who plays out of Lafayette, La., and likes the name "cajun" given him by fellow pros, would have broken the record for the 7,021-yard Colonial Country Club course of 65 had he been able to get his putts to drop.

He missed a 1½-footer on the ninth hole where he was going for an eagle and he bobbed 6-foot putts for birdies on the last two holes. But otherwise, the former PGA champion was playing grand golf.

Hebert needs to win one in order to maintain his record of a tournament a year for the past three years. He took the PGA in 1957 and the Tucson Open in 1958.

Tied for third place at 69 were Mike Souchak of Grossinger, N.Y.; Jack Burke of Kiamesha Lake, N.Y.; Bill Johnston of Provo, Utah, and Ben Hogan of Fort Worth, the man who has four times won this tournament.

Road Tilts Seen as 'Scramblers'

By The Associated Press

Minnesota and Illinois, unbeaten co-leaders in the Big Ten baseball race, hit the road today for a series of games that could scramble the standings.

The defending champion Gophers won their first three games as the title season opened a week ago and boast the leading team batting average of .364.

The Gophers invade Wisconsin (2-1) for a single game Friday and move on to Northwestern (0-2) for a Saturday doubleheader.

Illinois, also winner of its first three starts, carries a 14-game overall winning streak to Purdue (0-2) for a three-game series.

In other single games Friday, Iowa (0-3) is at Northwestern, Michigan (1-2) at Indiana (1-2) and Michigan State (2-1) at Ohio State (2-1).

Michigan went into today's action smarting from a 21-0 blasting by Notre Dame Friday. Four Wolverine hurlers gave up 18 hits while their mates could total only three. Gene Duffy of the Irish batted in eight runs on a homer, triple and two singles.

Bill Bassetti and Phil Charat, foilsmen on Harvard's fencing team, both came from Texas. Bassetti is from Abilene and Charat from Dallas.

City Midget 9's Play Exhibition Game Tomorrow

The North Side All-Stars and the Pontiac Boys Club Mighty Mites, members of the Midget division of the City Junior League baseball program, will face each other Saturday morning at 10 o'clock in an exhibition game on the GMC diamond at the corner of South Boulevard and Opdyke. The age group of these boys is 10-13.

SAN FRANCISCO — The 49ers' Bill Wilson has a lifetime pass reception mark of 360 completions for 5,311 yards.

Strike Delays Race Opener

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Portland Meadows Thursday postponed the opening of its horse race season as a group of horse owners struck for bigger purses.

"It's a wildcat strike of some of the horsemen," said Bob Randall, the track president. "They would not enter their horses. We are short of entries. We have some but not enough."

The track, which last season had a handle of $6,700,000, was scheduled to open its 50-day season Friday night.

Randall said the track had reached agreement on purses with the Oregon Racing Commission and the Oregon Thoroughbred Breeders Assn.

However, owners represented by the Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Assn. have refused to enter their horses, Randall said.

In dispute, said Randall, is the purse structure for the first seven days of the meeting. The owners want most of the $600 purse minimums raised to $700, Randall said.

Veeck Gets Operational Control of White Sox

He gained operational control of the Chicago White Sox yesterday in a quickie stockholders' meeting. It was held shortly after circuit court denied a temporary injunction sought by Vice President Chuck Comiskey to prevent such a meeting.

Veeck and the corporation he heads control 54 per cent of the stock and now have a 3-1 majority on the board. The board can function with a quorum even if Comiskey refuses to participate.

Comiskey, who controls 46 per cent of the stock, was present at the meeting but abstained from voting in the election of Veeck. Veeck, Comiskey, Mrs. Dorothy Rigney and one of her attorneys, Roy Egan, make up the board.

Mrs. Rigney, Comiskey's sister, recently sold her controlling interest to Veeck. Comiskey has been battling the sale in court. He suffered a setback Wednesday when an appeal in circuit court was denied on a Probate Court ruling approving Mrs. Rigney's stock sale.

Comiskey has not indicated if he will appeal again to appellate court.

Hank Greenberg, the syndicate's biggest shareholder next to Veeck, is expected to be elected a fifth member when the board meets again Tuesday.

Alexander Polikoff, Veeck's attorney, said it is logical to expect the board to elect a club president, an office vacant since the death of Mrs. Grace Comiskey, Dec. 10, 1956. Speculation is that Veeck will assume that position.

Polikoff added that the controlling interests have no wish to take away Comiskey's vice presidency.

Another 'No' to Rose Bowl

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—The University of Minnesota's faculty senate Thursday voted opposition to the Big Ten's alliance with the Rose Bowl.

The school has been opposed to Big Ten participation in the bowl game for years.

The faculty group voted unanimously to instruct Minnesota's faculty representative, Prof. Stanley V. Kinyon, to vote against the bowl when Big Ten members are polled next month.

Thursday's vote was on the recommendation of the school's committee on intercollegiate athletics, also faculty-dominated.

Ike Armstrong, school athletic director, told the committee he favored Big Ten participation in the bowl.

The Big Ten will be out of the bowl unless six favorable votes are mustered in the poll.

Racing Cars Move Into Indy

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. — Despite all the excitement about tonight's heavyweight title fight, there is still nothing which can deter the city of Indianapolis away from the Memorial Day "500" Mile Classic.

The first practice runs were being made today on the famous 2½-mile oval as the speedway gets ready for its 43rd annual race, and writers here covering the fight are scheduled to view the activities at the track as guests.

Racing cars have been moving into the city and the track will be open daily from 9:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. for practice.

With 61 cars entered in the biggest field since 1954, the qualifying trials have been scheduled for May 16-17 and May 23-24. All speed records are expected to fall this year and Jimmy Bryan, the 1958 champion, predicts it will take speeds of 145 and 146 m.p.h. to make the field of 33 starters.

Bryan will be driving the same blond AP Special he drove to victory last year with some new modifications.

There are 16 brand new cars in the field this year with most of the others completely rebuilt.

Five of last year's starters will be missing from the field. Ed Elisian, who is under suspension by the U.S. Auto Club for causing the accident on the first lap of last year's race in which Pat O'Connor was killed, is not entered.

Elisian set the practice lap record of 148.148 1st year in a John Zink Special. He has appealed his suspension but is not expected to be lifted by for this year's race.

Drivers of the 1958 field who were killed in other races since then are George Amick, the 1959 runnerup, Jimmy Reece 6th in 1958, and Art Bisch.

Amick was killed in the first 100-mile race at Daytona Beach, April 4th and Reece was killed last fall at Trenton, N.J. Bisch died in a race at Atlanta, Ga. last July.

The Speedway's medical staff also was busy giving checkups even before practice runs.

Tony Hulman, owner of the Indianapolis Speedway, was on hand today to escort the tour of writers. A new safety fence 8-feet high has been stretched to protect fans in 20,000 feet of grandstands.

LATE ENTRY — The 18th and final entry in the Derby was On-and-On entered just before the deadline by Calumet Farms which otherwise would not have had a representative. Trainer Jimmy Jones, shown with the horse, changed his mind after watching a good workout.

'On-and-On' Is Re-Entered in Run for Roses

Field Increased to 18 Starters for Saturday Race at Louisville

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI)—All Derby town puzzled today over Calumet Farm's re-entry into the Kentucky Derby but the professional horsemen on the backstretch were more concerned with the size of the field.

"If On-And-On starts, I'll beat him," was heard over and over throughout the city, even though trainer Jimmy Jones admits there is a good chance his colt will not start.

Jones said he was reluctant to give up a chance to win a third straight Kentucky Derby and wanted to "buy" 48 additional hours in which to reach a decision.

Why, after saying the colt "wasn't seasoned enough" for the Derby, did he change his mind?

"I didn't like his workout the other day and decided to take him out," Jones explained. "Then I saw the complete workout list and nobody had a good run. And when he was so frisky Thursday morning I decided to put him back in."

The entry of On-And-On raised the field to 18 starters and many trainers worried about its size.

"You have to worry about it," said J. H. (Casey) Hayes who trains the favored First Landing for Christopher T. Chenery. "My horse has enough speed to stay out of any trouble at the start but some of the others don't."

One of the "rough characters" is Open View who can wander all over a race track. "Unruly on turn," "bore in badly," "swerved in start," are among the comments on his past performances in a racing paper.

Atoll, running mate for Open View in the Derby and one who very easily could go to the front at the start, has no lily white record either.

But steward Lincoln Plaut was not concerned with the possibility of a rough race. "Just look back over the record and you will see the Kentucky Derby down through the years has been a very cleanly run race."

Whirlaway's 2:01-two-fifths record clocking of 941 doesn't appear in danger. But there is so much early speed in the race that the time for the 1¼-mile trip around Churchill Downs may be the fastest since Swaps stopped the clock at 2:01-four-fifths four years ago.

Showers are forecast for Friday but not enough to slow up the well-groomed racing strip. Fair skies are expected to greet the derby day crowd, annually estimated at 100,000.

Hardly without exception, favorites for the 85th running of America's most colorful turf event are horses that prefer to run in front or stay close to the pace.

First Landing lost the Wood Memorial by three-quarters of a length. But he was either in front or at the leader's throat in a 46-one-fifth first half, a 1:11 six furlongs and a 1:36 miles.

Fred Turner Jr.'s Tomy Lee, second choice at 4-1, set a Keeneland standard of 1:21-three-fifths for 7 furlongs in a front running race. Brookmeade Stable's Sword Dancer, ripped off 7 furlongs in 1:22-one-fifth here a week ago while setting the pace. He's the third choice at 5-1.

Monaghan Turns Down Governor's Request to Quit

NEW YORK (AP) — State George P. Monaghan has turned down Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's request that he resign.

Monaghan, accused of violating the code of ethics for state officials, says he won't step out while his conduct is under fire—"particularly when there was no question of my competence or personal integrity."

Monaghan said here last night that the governor had disapproved of his having meals at racetracks at the expense of the tracks. He said the governor also frowned on the fact that tracks had paid the expenses of harness racing commission representatives at Orlando, Fla., where horses were undergoing time tests to qualify for races in New York state.

Marine Boxer Defeats Clay

Johnson got a split decision victory over the 17-year-old fighter from Louisville in the finals of the Pan-American boxing trials here.

Ten champions were crowned in the trials that qualified boxers for the Pan-American meet at Chicago this summer. The Marines had two champs, the Air Force two and the Army one.

Two knockouts and one technical knockout featured the card.

Players Assn. Has New Office

NEW YORK (AP) — The Major League Baseball Players Assn. is establishing a central office in New York to function as a clearing for all requests, suggestions, issues and voting procedures for the players.

Robin Roberts, Philadelphia pitcher and National League player representative, announced the plan and said that Frank Scott of New York, had been selected to operate the office and serve as representative and coordinator of all baseball matters involving the association in relation with club owners and the commissioner's office.

Pierce Catching Up With Yanks

Only Detroit, New York Have Edge on Billy

Chicago 'Lefty' Takes 11-Inning 4-3 Decision From Ford, Duren

By The Associated Press

Maybe things finally are beginning to break Billy Pierce's way in his pitching battles with the New York Yankees.

The Chicago White Sox' stubby southpaw has the upper hand on all but two of the other seven American League clubs. One is Detroit, the club he broke in with back in 1948. He's 16-17 against the Tigers. Against the Yankees he's behind 20-30.

He's been faring a bit better against the champs of late, however, winning four of his last five decisions against them. And he made it two in a row the hard way last night, dueling through 11 innings—out-pitching both Whitey Ford and Ryne Duren—for a 4-3 victory that left the Sox all alone in second place, a game shy of idle Cleveland.

The defeat, hammered home by Al Smith's two-out, bases-loaded single, plunged the Yankees below .500 once again and put them sixth.

Washington slipped ahead to fifth with a 9-1 triumph at Detroit. Kansas City tied Baltimore for third by beating the Orioles 4-3 on Harry Simpson's ninth-inning home run.

Pierce, 32, gave up nine hits but allowed only one run after Bill Skowron's two-run double in the second. The third Yank run tied it in the seventh when Yogi Berra doubled for his first extra-base hit of the year. A sacrifice and a wild pitch brought him across, but Pierce then took charge for a 3-1 record.

Smith, once a Yankee killer for Cleveland, had only a .176 average going into the game. He delivered on a 3-2 pitch after three walks, one intentional, had loaded the bases. It was the sixth one-run loss of the year for the Yankees, and their fifth last-inning defeat. Duren (0-2) gave up but two hits and struck out six, while walking a half dozen, after coming on in the seventh in relief of Ford, who gave up 11 hits—one Sherm Lollar's solo third home run.

Simpson, hitless in five previous trips this year, walloped his homer leading off the ninth against reliever Billy Loes (1-1). Simpson was hitting for Ned Garver, who won his third in a row after an opening defeat. He gave up eight hits and had a shutout for five innings while beating the Orioles for the fourth time in a row. Willie Tasby's single, a walk and Gus Triandos' single tied it for Baltimore in the eighth.

The A's, also with eight hits, now have won seven of their last nine.

Chavez Ravine Foes Making Court Move

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Opponents of the Dodgers' proposed Chavez Ravine baseball stadium have started their appeal toward the U. S. Supreme Court.

Phill Silver, attorney who has directed the legal battle against the Dodgers' contract with the city of Los Angeles ever since it was signed, filed notice yesterday of appeal from California Supreme Court decisions upholding the contract.

His appeal will contend the city violated the 14th amendment of the U. S. Constitution by using public tax funds for the benefit of a private corporation.

Hank Aaron's Homer Pads the Win in 4th

Spahn Blanks Cards

By The Associated Press

Warren (The Wonder) Spahn did it again.

Already well credentialed as one of baseball's all-time great left-handed pitchers, the sturdy southpaw who turned 38 last week added his 249th victory and 45th shutout last night, getting all the help he needed from Hank Aaron's home run for a 1-0 victory over St. Louis.

It was Spahnie's seventh 1-0 victory in a 15-year career, tops among active major leaguers, and this one retained Milwaukee's slim (.045) percentage point lead over Los Angeles in the National League race.

The Dodgers, with old guard Duke Snider's two-run, inside-the-park homer capping a four-run seventh inning, won 6-4 at Philadelphia. San Francisco, rained out at Pittsburgh, regained third place as the Chicago Cubs' Bob Anderson and Bill Henry quieted Cincinnati's bats for a 3-2 victory on Ernie Bank's 10th-inning homer.

Spahn, second in victories to the White Sox' Early Wynn (251) among active pitchers, and alone in shutouts, gained a 3-2 record and his second whitewash with a six-hitter. He didn't walk a man and struck out four while padding his lifetime bulge over the Cardinals to 52-29—the most he's won from any team.

His only trouble came in the sixth, when the Cards bunched half of their hits. Catcher Del Crandall picked off Alex Kellner, who opened with a single, to help ease that jam.

Kellner (1-1) lost it in his first start, giving up eight hits. Aaron's homer, his sixth, came in the fourth inning. The Cards, victims in three of the five shutouts recorded in the NL, managed only one extra-base blow. That was a double by Gino Cimoli, who had two of the Cards' hits, along with Alex Grammas. Stan Musial and Kellner had the others.

Snider, whose only other inside-the-park job among his lifetime 333 homers also was against the Phils, had doubled home a third-inning run for the Dodgers. He now has driven in six of the Dodgers' last 10 runs. His homer came off reliever Jack Meyer after Wally Moon's two-run double had tied it against loser Ray Semproch (2-1), who had given up only three hits until the seventh.

Johnny Klippstein (3-0) was the winner with 2 1-3 innings of one-hit relief for Sandy Koufax. Clem Labine and Art Fowler mopped up after Klippstein, now 5-0 vs. the Phils since 1956, was lifted for a pinch-hitter in the seventh.

Banks and rookie George Altman took care of the Cubs' scoring. Altman doubled and came home on Banks' single in the first inning off Reds' starter Bob Purkey, who also gave up Altman's second major league homer (both in two days) in the third. Banks' homer, his fifth, came off losing reliever Bob Mabe (1-1). Anderson, who gave up a fourth-inning until the ninth. Then Henry (2-0) came on and struck out Vada Pinson with two on. The Reds, who had averaged nine runs a game in their last nine, had eight hits.

3 British Walker Cuppers Sidelined

FORMBY, Eng. (AP)—Three members of the British Walker Cup golf team which will meet the United States next month were eliminated in the English Amateur championship Thursday.

Defending champion Doug Sewell lost to Martyn Edwards on the 19th hole of their fourth-round match. David Marsh was eliminated by W. S. Hill, 3 and 2, in the same round. Alan Thirwell, former England champion who was named Thursday as a Walker Cup alternate, lost to Dave Rawlinson in the fifth round, 4 and 2.

Long, Moryn of Cubs Assaulted by Youths

CINCINNATI (AP)—Dale Long, Chicago Cubs first baseman, and Walt Moryn, left fielder, disclosed Thursday night they were attacked by three youths late Wednesday night as they crossed a street to their hotel here.

The assailants apparently came out a bad last against Long, who is 6-4 and weighs 218, and Moryn, who is 6-2 and weighs 205.

The ball players said the youths jumped out of a car and one of them hit Moryn on the side of the neck. As Moryn turned, Long flattened one of the attackers and Moryn did the same to another. The three fled in the car after Long and Moryn dumped their attackers into it.

The ball players said they did not make a report of it to police although they understood a cab driver, who witnessed the fracas, called officers.

Montreal's Backstrom Top Rookie

MONTREAL (AP) — The Montreal Canadiens, Stanley Cup League, were accorded another champions of the National Hockey honor today with the selection of speedy Ralph Backstrom as rookie of the year for the 1958-59 season.

Backstrom, 21, will receive the Calder Memorial Trophy and $1,000 for finishing on top in a vote of sportswriters and broadcasters in each of the six league cities.

The Canadiens' youngster, who alternated between the center and left wing positions, collected 141 points on a basis of five points for a first choice vote, three for second and one for third.

Defenseman Carl Brewer of the Toronto Maple Leafs was second with 67 points followed by Ab McDonald of Montreal, 32, and Charlie Burns of the Detroit Red Wings, 25.

and 22 assists, is the first Montreal player to win the trophy since Boom Boom Geoffrion in 1951-52. Frank Mahovlich of Backstrom made the jump to Toronto took it last season. the Canadiens from the junior hockey ranks. He played for the Ottawa-Hull Canadiens Juniors in 1957-58 and scored 45 goals and 53 assists. Backstrom and teammate Henri Richard are generally regarded as the fastest players in the league.

Other who received consideration for rookie honors were Norm Johnson of Boston and Chicago with 18 points; Len Lunde of Detroit, also with 18; Jim Bartlett, New York Rangers, 12; John Hanna, New York, 5; Larry Leach of Boston and Gerry Ehman of Toronto, 3 each.

Inglis May Appeal Court Order to Issue Permit

PORT HURON (AP)—State Racing Commissioner James H. Inglis is expected to appeal to the Michigan Supreme Court an order that he issue a construction permit to the Mount Clemens Harness Assn.

Cawley and Fink Run Wild

Farmington, Vikings Win

Farmington, with sensational Warren Cawley running wild, and Walled Lake posted Inter-Lakes track victories while Avondale was winning and Clarkston was bowing in baseball Thursday.

Cawley won both hurdles and the high jump and was runnerup in two other events to pace the Falcons to a 62-47 verdict over Waterford. Walled Lake walloped Van Dyke 86-23.

Farmington had leads of 35-15 and 57-38 but still had its hands full as the Skippers swept the pole vault, 880, 440 and mile. Bob Warner's upset of little Tom Grimshaw in the 100 was the surprise of the meet.

Frank Fink took three 1sts and ran a leg of the 880 relay victory for Walled Lake. He had 17½ points and Tom Phelps added 11½. The Vikings, who now are 4-2, set home field records in the medley relay and 440 dash.

Avondale dumped chief Oakland B rival 8-3 on the diamond. Starter Tom Selhost was the victor with Roger Skosich and Ron Doucette each getting two hits and two rbis.

Jon Nelson flipped a two-hitter as Clarenceville whitewashed injury-riddled Clarkston 12-0. Dave Hanaford belted a homer, triple and two singles. Starter Bob Porritt was the loser. The Wolves are 0-4.

Cranbrook and Bloomfield Hills were tennis winners. The Cranes blanked Oak Park 7-0 evening their record at 2-2. Bloomfield downed Pontiac Northern by the same score.

Pontiac Central Golfers Shut Out Vikings, 15-0

Pontiac Central's golf team boosted its dual meet record to 7-1 yesterday and did it in all-out style by blanking Flint Northern, 15-0, in a Saginaw Valley match at City Golf Course.

Mike Samardzija fired a 36-35—7½ OVER Municipal's par 34-35—71 over Municipal's par 34-35—69 layout to take medal honors and lead the PCH cause. Other scores by the Chiefs were: Tom Deaton, 38-38—76; Bill Davis, 41-42—83; John Taylor, 43-41—84, and Ron Sugg, 44-41—85. Ron Gore was Northern's best golfer with a 93.

Pontiac Central Heads Group at U. of Defroit

Chiefs Will Compete Tomorrow; Several in CMC 2-Day Meet

Pontiac Central heads a long list of area schools sending track teams to relay events at the University of Detroit and Central Michigan this weekend.

The Chiefs, who set four records in bowing to Redford by one-half point last year, will be back in the meet at U. of D. where 21 Class A schools will be battling.

Ferndale, Oak Park and East Detroit will be among the other "A" contenders.

Bloomfield Hills, Milford, Romeo and Troy are set to duel in Class B at Detroit. A new "B" winner is certain since defending champion River Rouge will be in action at Central Michigan.

The field at CMC includes Birmingham, which was a close third at U. of D. last year. Thinclads from Waterford, Walled Lake and Rochester will be among those opposing the Maples.

Redford and Mumford are given strong chances to set records at Detroit with PCH considered by many to be a darkhorse.

The events in both classes will be run simultaneously at U. of D. Saturday starting at 10 a. m. Team and individual awards will be given after the meets.

At Mt. Pleasant, a total of 2,480 athletes representing teams in all four classes will be participating.

Birmingham's star pole vaulter Bill Alcorn, hurdle whiz Warren Cawley of Farmington and Jerry Brashaw of Lincoln Park, the state's top prep miler, will be among the boys to watch there.

The action started this morning at Central Michigan and continues through tomorrow.

Chiefs will send a 26-man squad to U of D Saturday, and it will be distributed in the various events as follows:
Pole vault—Finely, Shorter, Anderson or Jefferson.
High jump—Brooks, Kimbrell and Robinson.
Shot—Bill Pritchett, Brown and Rush (all have bettered 50 feet this week)
Broad jump—Drayton, Ledsinger and Walker.
440—Brooks, LaCore, Howze and Ratcliff.
Mile—LaCore, Yokum, Johnson and Richards.
Shuttle-hurdles—Terry, Drayton, Prentis and Howze.
880—Brooks, Richards, Pritchett (Jim) and Ratcliff.
Two-mile—Nelson, Milton, Byrd and Anderson.

Not Bypassing Lane, Declares Brown's Pilot

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Lou Viscusi, manager of lightweight champion Joe Brown, asserted Thursday there was no thought of by-passing No. 1 challenger Kenny Lane of Muskegon, Mich., in matching the champ with Paoli Rosi in Washington June 3.

"Every contender, including Lane, deserves a shot. We beat Lane last July 23. Rosi deserves his chance, too. Lane can have his shot again. I only hope Joe lasts long enough to go through the whole list again. We're not dodging anybody."

City Marble Finals Saturday Morning

The City Marbles championship will be at stake Saturday morning at Oakland Park when 5th and 6th grade youngsters from Pontiac's 22 elementary schools gather for the finals of the 12th annual tournament.

Each school will send its winner or alternate into tomorrow's finals, which get under way at 9 o'clock. All local representatives have been determined by tourneys held at each school during the month of April.

The marbles tourney is sponsored by the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department in cooperation with The Pontiac Press, which annually presents a trophy to the mibs champion.

The boy or girl who can win three out of five games will receive the Press award.

Doctoring Your Golf

By DR. CARY MIDDLECOFF

PATIENT'S COMPLAINT: Distance sadly lacking.
DIAGNOSIS: There's no BODY in your swing.

Treatment: Only a limited amount of swing power can be developed by the arms, shoulders and hands. The body, led by the left hip turning around to the left, must do its full part on the downswing if you are ever to be able to hit the ball on out there, for good distance.

The hips should start turning back around to the left immediately when the downswing is begun. They should continue to turn in this direction, freely and fully, until the front of the body is turned toward the objective—and a little beyond that point if possible.

Another distance-producing factor is illustrated here—the full extension of the arms on the follow-through. This position is proof that you have hit on through the ball as you should have.

Incidentally, remember that the left arm must be in control on your iron shots. That's the way to ensure direction and distance, if you follow through properly.

Many Trout Ponds Give Anglers Close-in Sport

By The Associated Press

There is just no excuse for going trout fishing in Michigan and coming home empty-handed.

And the angler doesn't have to drive 100 miles, either, to find cool, deep holes where they bite every day of the year. You don't have to rough it or wade or get tangled in overhanging trees. You can even loll in a rocking chair while you cast, if you'd like.

Practically every one in Michigan lives within an hour's drive from one of these spots as teeming with striking fish as any waters in Alaska's back country or Canada's wilderness. Most of them are close to the best highways.

They are public fishing pools, stocked with nothing but keeper-size trout. They are licensed by the Michigan Conservation Department and charge a fee.

The fee generally is 75 cents, plus 10 cents for each inch of fish you catch. Some charge a $1 fishing fee, plus 15 cents an inch.

Of course, some trout fishermen look down their noses at wetting a hook in one of these commercial pools. To them it's kind of like shooting birds on the ground.

But then, some others with empty creels after a hard day in rushing streams have been known to stop by and load up to show the wife and neighbors that when they go fishing they catch fish.

The state issued 57 licenses to raise and sell fish from these pool-markets last year. They're scattered over both the Upper and Lower peninsulas.

U.P. Solons Renew 'Any Deer' Battle

LANSING (AP) — Two Upper Peninsula lawmakers today renewed their fight to strip the state conservation department of its authority to set "any deer" seasons.

A bill introduced by Reps. Dominic Jacobetti (D-Negaunee) and Gilbert L. Wales (D-Stambaugh) would halt the shooting of does and fawns. The same measure died the last two years.

Backers contend anterless deer seasons are gradually reducing the size of the state's deer herd. State conservation experts maintain a yearly harvest of does and fawns is needed to keep the herd in balance with the available food supply.

Tight Race at Land of Sky

ASHEVILLE, N. C. (AP)—The top women pros tee off here today in the $6,000 Land of the Sky Open golf tournament, a three-day test of their ability to play three different courses.

Miss Suggs is the leading money winner of the tour. She has won three tournaments this year and a total of $7,468. Miss Rawls, also the winner of three tournaments this season, is second in money winnings at $7,277. Miss Smith walked away with the Betsy Rawls Peach Blossom tournament at Spartanburg, S. C. last week.

The 54-hole tournament will be split among three courses, the Biltmore Forest Country Club today, the Beaver Lake course tomorrow and the Country Club at Asheville Sunday.

Admits Our Missiles in Britain Not Ready

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Neil H. McElroy has conceded that no American intermediate-range missiles in Britain are ready to fire.

Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo) Tuesday in a National Press Club speech said Gen. Nathan Twining, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, had told Congress in January American Thor missiles were "sitting there and ready to go" at British bases.

Symington said he inspected one of th eBritish bases 10 weeks after Twining's report and found "there was nothing 'ready to go.' There was nothing which met operational standards."

GROWS GIANT LEMON — It took Mrs. Sam Xenos more than three years to finally produce a lemon on a little, Florida-purchased tree, but it was worth it, she said. She is shown here comparing a regular-sized lemon with her own, which measures 13 inches around and seven inches from stem to stem.

Open Cranbrook Gardens Sunday

Public Invited to Visit Grounds Daily Except Mondays, Holidays

Thousands of daffodils will be in bloom Sunday when the gardens and park of Cranbrook House, Bloomfield Hills, opens officially to spring and summer visitors. The grounds will be open through October daily except Monday and major holidays from 2 to 5 p. m.

The area encompasses 40 acres of formal and natural plantings, fountains, and shaded walks around Cranbrook Lake and House, home of the late George G. and Ellen Scripps Booth, founders of the six Cranbrook institutions.

Admission tags will be sold on Sundays at the main gate of the gardens, opposite Christ Church on Lone Pine road. On other days, except Mondays, visitors may purchase tags at the Academy of Art Galleries desk.

Foliar Feeding Is Beneficial on Limited Scale

Those extra victuals so important to woody pets at certain times in the growing season can be dished out conveniently in a combination spray that also routs insect enemies, points out Homer L. Jacobs, research director of the Davey Tree Expert Co.

Folier feeding is recommended for such special spray situations as the second brood of elm leaf beetles in mid-summer, Jap beetle applications or control of mid-summer scale crawlers. Experience has shown many plants can absorb nutrient elements, such as nitrogen, through their leaves. This is provided by adding a soluble crystalline compound, called urea, to sprays for insects and disease.

Foliar feeding must be considered the side dish to the "main course." Reason is some six to eight sprays are needed to equal one standard soil application.

There is value in foliar feeding to help replace the nitrates leached out of the soil and the foliage itself by the spring rains. This kind of chow is helpful at a time when leaves may appear peaked—a bit frayed and wan looking.

In general, trees respond best when their meals are served below the ground level. The perforation or drill method of feeding offers the most benefits.

Florida Fruit Blooms in Pontiac

City Woman Grows Giant Lemon

By REBA HEINTZELMAN

"Making like a bumble bee" in an unusual pollination process has resulted in the growth of a gigantic lemon on a tiny tree at the home of Mrs. Sam Xenos, 104 W. New York St.

For three years the little lemon tree that Mrs. Xenos purchased in Florida produced clusters of fragrant wax-like flowers three times a year—but never a lemon.

Finally, in desperation, she literally "shook the tree" into producing. That's when things started to happen as the soft yellow pollen floated from one flower to another. Right after the blossoms faded, 17 tiny green pelelts began to appear and grew to about one-inch long.

Despite the careful attention, plenty of sunlight and plant food, all but two of the minute green buds dropped off. Slowly, the fruit began to grow until now the lemon looks like a good-sized grapefruit hanging on the little two-foot high tree, right in the center of the Xenos dining room table.

A small slingshot was whittled out by Mr. Xenos to prop the lemon up during its growing process. It now measures 13 inches around and seven inches from end to end.

The other lemon, growing out of the top of the tree, is still green and looks like it will out-do its ripe relative in size, color and productiveness.

A celebration at the Xenos home this weekend will put an end to the one lemon's growth. Their son, 2nd Lt. John Xenos, who is stationed with an Army tank division at Fort Knox, Ky., is bringing his wife and daughter home for a two-week furlough.

Mrs. Xenos will prepare an elaborate dinner Sunday. The lemon will be cut from the tree and a carefully-made, mouth-watering pie will top off the meal.

All of the bright yellow rind will be grated off, and every ounce of juice will be squeezed out of the unusual lemon, Mrs. Xenos said.

"I might even get two, maybe three pies out of that lemon," she said hopefully.

Gardening Can Make You Beauty or Complete Wreck

Like most things in life, gardening is what you make it. This is one hobby where you can become a physical beauty or a physical wreck. It's up to you.

Go about it the wrong way and you probably will get the proverbial broken fingernails, bent back, sunburned face and creaky knees. However, make your plans ahead of time and the rewards from gardening in your physical appearance will astonish you.

Like any good old campaigners, women who are going to spend the summer on the beach, on a horse, boating or gardening plan ahead so they'll be properly prepared for these outdoor excursions.

If you're going to be gardening from seed this spring . . . and many of us will be . . . here are several tips that will keep or put you on the beauty hit parade.

SENSIBLE CLOTHES

You'll need sensible clothes, including a hat, gloves and shoes. By sensible, we don't mean that your clothes need to be dull . . . they can be as gay as Auntie Mame's, if that's what you like.

However, if you sunburn easily, select long-sleeved shirts or blouses, and full-length slacks. If you tan easily, the sky is the limit.

Don't buy slacks, pedal-pushers or shorts that are too tight, for you will spend some time stooping down to garden. Unless you want your hair to bleach out from the sun, get a large brimmed hat to wear.

Shoes should be flat-soled, comfortable and ones that stay on easily. Gloves should not be baggy but a reasonable fit so you won't be all thumbs.

Before you go out to garden put a good skin cream on your hands and face to protect them not only from the sun but from the dirt.

In order to avoid a bent back or creaky knees, stoop or kneel when working close to the ground, don't bend over.

STRETCH SHOULDERS

Stop, straighten up and stretch your shoulders and back every so often. Gardening exercise will do wonders for your figure if you do it right.

If you have a very fair skin, avoid working in the hot sun. You can garden early in the morning before the sun is strong and late in the afternoon. You'll get just as much done this way and it certainly won't hurt your plants.

Now's the time to get ready for your garden to insure the fact that you'll be a real beauty in and out of your garden. In your garden, you'll be surrounded by the joy of beautiful flowers grown from seed.

Strange Weather Gives New York Dirty Face

NEW YORK (AP)—New Yorkers were plagued Thursday night not only with fog but with a high degree of soot in the air which caused smarting eyes and even sooty faces.

The Weather Bureau said it had no ready explanation for the soot fall. However, some weather observers described the condition as due to a dense layer of air hanging over the city and trapping industrial waste fumes.

New Hampshire has had a state system of education since 1647 when a general court required every community of 50 or more persons must maintain a school building.

Washer Sent in Mail Too Much for Chief

MOUNT STERLING, Ky. (UP)—Police Chief Bill Frederick knows he'll find slugs and washers along with the money in parking meters. But he says a recent motorist carried things too far.

The motorist mailed back the parking-ticket envelope put on his car. Inside was a big washer instead of the 50-cent fine.

Xway, Xway Spare That Tree

CHICAGO (UP) — An expressway will make an extra curve to spare a pine the last survivor of 60 trees planted in 1860 to mark the Indian boundary lines which extended southwestward from Lake Michigan.

The surviving tree south of Chicago was in the path of a projected leg of a metropolitan expressway.

The two lines of trees once showed boundaries of a 20-mile wide strip which was ceded to the United States in 1816 by the Chippewa Ottawa Pottawatomie tribes.

Senator Doubts Strauss Would Cooperate in Post

In testimony prepared for the Senate Commerce Committee, McCarthy contended the Senate should reject President Eisenhower's nomination of Strauss for the post, in which he is serving by recess appointment.

McCarthy said there is grave doubt whether Strauss "could be counted upon to cooperate fully with the Congress in carrying on either its legislative or investigative functions."

There is doubt also, he said, whether Strauss could be relied on to interpret and administer laws in keeping with the intent of Congress.

McCarthy said he based these conclusions on the record of Strauss' actions and statements as chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, a position he held prior to his appointment to the Cabinet last fall.

Before hearing McCarthy, the committee planned to question an atomic scientist who accused Strauss of narrow-minded, vindictive and sometimes unethical tactics.

Dr. David R. Inglis, chairman of the Federation of American Scientists, said he believes that most scientists have a strong distaste for Strauss — largely, he said, because of his role in expanding security in science beyond what they believe to be reasonable.

Scott said he never had heard testimony that was "more vindictive or more infested with a venomous desire for revenge" on a public official.

Inglis said that security restrictions on which Strauss insisted had delayed development of the atoms-for-peace program, exchange of information looking to the realization of thermonuclear power, and the sending of isotopes abroad for peaceful purposes.

He also contended that policies followed by Strauss slowed U.S.-Soviet nuclear test ban negotiations and hampered American scientific development.

Castro Wants Brando to Play Him in Movies

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD — Busy as Fidel Castro is, he takes time out to see movies. That was evident when Jerry Wald, who bought the rights to Castro's life, talked to the bearded premier in Houston and asked him who he would like to see play himself on the screen.

Castro promptly answered, "Marlon Brando!" When asked who he'd like in the role of his brother, he said, "Frank Sinatra."

I asked Wald how he happened to get the rights to Castro's life. He said through Frank Watters, wealthy Houston industrialist who has done many favors for the Castro government. Said Jerry, "Watters will be here today and would like to help in the financing if I make the picture for my own company, but I have offered it to 20th Century-Fox first."

If you don't think that Brad Dillman, since "Compulsion," is 20th's great white hope, listen to this:

Brad has been tested for the lead in the historical epic, "The King Must Die," which has a background of Athens in 1400 B.C. Sam Engel is the producer and this will be one of the studio's big productions for the coming year, and will be made along the lines of "The Robe."

Moreover, Brad is a dear. I had an interview with him some months ago and I was very much impressed. He's sensible, happily married, and he hasn't an ounce of conceit in him. Let's hope he stays that way.

Canadian-born Leslie Nielsen, teamed with one of Hollywood's most beautiful actress-socialites, Joy Page (Mrs. Bill Orr in private life), are the stars of Walt Disney's new TV series, "The Swamp Fox." Both Joy and Leslie will have to start practicing up on their southern accents as the hero is the South's greatest Revolutionary War hero, Gen. Francis Marion. Walt plans to shoot practically the entire series in South Carolina.

Nielsen heretofore has been more closely associated with movies than TV. He recently had the second lead with Glenn Ford in "Sheep Man" and was under contract to MGM until a few months ago.

MONTPELIER, Vt. (UPI) — The Vermont legislature quickly passed a bill giving the state police commissioner the same arrest powers in criminal cases as his troopers possess. Previously, the commissioner could only arrest traffic violators.

Bridges, 3 Russians to Get Japan's Visas

TOKYO (AP)—Japan today promised an entrance visa to leftist union leader Harry Bridges and three Russians to attend an international dock workers conference here May 11-14.

But a spokesman for the Justice Ministry said the visa application of Louis Goldblatt, secretary-treasurer of Bridges' International men's Union, was turned down because the American was deported from England in 1949 for leading a dockworkers' strike in London.

Japanese union leaders said that if the government denied visas to foreign delegates, the conference organized by Bridges might be moved to another country.

Referee Claims Boxer Planned to KO Him

The referee charged that one of the fighters, the Fiji light heavyweight champion, deliberately aimed the paralyzing right cross at him because the boxer did not want him to officiate. The champion claimed the blow was accidental.

Herter Does OK at Paris Talks

PARIS (UPI)—British, French and West German diplomats pronounced Christian Herter "Grade A" in their first assessment of America's new secretary of state.

They reported he is alert, listens intently when others are speaking, catches details without letting them shade the larger issues and, when he intervenes in the discussion, speaks forthrightly and even forcefully without any attempt to dominate the conversation.

These conclusions were drawn from Herter's behavior at yesterday's closing session of the western foreign ministers conference here. The meeting is Herter's first major assignment since he succeeded John Foster Dulles as secretary of state.

As yet there has been no attempt to compare him with Dulles, who is regarded by the diplomatic corps as having one of the strongest personalities of the cold war era.

One reason for this is that Herter has not yet had the opportunity to make a major address on the state of the world and how the United States views it.

BRITISH PRAISE

He said Herter listened courteously and carefully, caught several points of detail that others apparently had missed or misunderstood, and that when he spoke, it was firmly, briefly and to the point.

Most of the work of the four foreign ministers is done in English, but occasionally French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville or West German Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano uses his own language to express some particularly complicated idea.

Herter, who was born in Paris 64 years ago, has no difficulty understanding Couve de Murville. In fact, he began his visit here Tuesday by reading a statement before television cameras in flawless French.

It is not known just how good Herter's German is, but he listened intently when Von Brentano spoke.

There has been some comment on Herter's arthritis, but much of it has been in praise of his courage.

Kids' Letters Keep 'Trail' in East Michigan

LANSING (AP) — Message to the schoolchildren of Saginaw:

Have no fear, kids; they're not going to move the Mackinac Trail to Western Michigan.

While the Senate was hassling over State cash problems yesterday, the House argued for 45 minutes on a bill to designate portions of U.S. 31 and U.S. 131 "The Mackinac Trail."

Western Michigan sponsors backed it as a tourist drawing card for the Straits of Mackinac and incidentally, the districts they represent.

The House passed the measure last week, but in response to telegrams sent by pupils in seven Saginaw schools agreed to reconsider the vote. Yesterday, they rejected the bill, 37-56.

Rep. Robert S. Gilbert (R-Saginaw) read from history books and an Atlas to prove the trail originated in Saginaw.

To "avoid bloodshed between east and west," Rep. Emil Peltz (R-Rogers City) suggested a compromise: designate an eastern and a western trail, one spelled "Mackinac" and the other "Mackinaw."

18-Month-Old Girl Raped; Hold Man, 45

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—An 18-month-old girl was raped in the kitchen of her home Thursday.

The infant, Brenda Sisco, was taken to Sparrow Hospital for surgery and blood transfusions. Attendants said she is expected to revoer from lacerations she suffered.

State Police Det. Richard Thorne said police planned to seek a warrant charging Alden E. Rose, 45, with rape. Rose was held.

Thorne gave this report:

Rose, a drafter and friend of the Sisco family, had stayed at their home Wednesday night.

Thursday morning he left the house to look for work, drank a bottle of wine and returned to the house in the early afternoon.

When she returned, the child was bleeding on the kitchen floor and Rose had gone.

Rose was picked up a short time later.

Sales, Use Tax Take Hits High

LANSING (AP) — Sales and use tax collections in April on March business were the highest ever for the month, the State Revenue Department reported today.

April sales and use tax collections totaled $27,202,300. This compared with $23,710,000 for the same month last year, a 14.7 per cent gain.

"Most of the increase was in automotive sales and there also was a substantial gain in heavy industry," Louis M. Nims, state revenue commissioner, reported.

Nims said collections for every month so far this year showed increases over the same month last year.

"If this keeps up, we may be able to cut about five million dollars from the estimated state deficit," Nims said.

It has been estimated the state deficit at the end of the fiscal year will be around 110 million dollars.

2 Trucks Sideswipe on Narrow Bridge

SHELBY TOWNSHIP — Two truck drivers approaching a narrow bridge from opposite directions both thought the other vehicle would stop. Neither did.

Luckily neither driver was killed, but the wife of one who was with him in the cab received facial lacerations and bruises.

Both drivers told Romeo State Police they thought the other would stop before crossing the bridge.

Rudolph J. Mueller, 26, of 4343 24-Mile Rd., was driving a nursery stock truck. He escaped unhurt.

The other driver, Dumitru Ruian, 71, of 22151 26-Mile Rd. New Haven, also was unscathed, but his 67-year-old wife was treated at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Mount Clemens for facial lacerations and bruises.

Car Sales in April May Total 510,000

DETROIT (AP)—New car sales for April may total 510,000 units, says Ward's Automotive Reports.

The agency said April 11-20 sales averaged 19,875 units against 18,050 the preceding 10-day period.

"Highlighting the rise in sales the the Rambler and Lark cars," Ward's said. These makes accounted for 9.8 per cent of the April mark thus far, following 9 per cent in all of March and 8.4 per cent in February.

Including imports, the agency continued, "the total short wheelbase market in April will crowd 90,000 units, a hefty 1,080,000 annual rate."

Also reported in the survey is a sharp improvement in Chrysler's market penetration. Ward's said Chrysler's April share of the market should range between 13 per cent and 14 per cent. It dropped to 8.4 per cent in strike-handicapped February.

Named Railroad Director

DETROIT (AP) — Fred L. Riggin Jr., executive vice president of Mueller Brass Co., of Port Huron, has been named a director of the Grand Trunk Western Railroad. The appointment was announced yesterday by Donald Gordon, chairman and president of the railroad.

Old Crop Gains Bolster Grains

CHICAGO (AP) — A moderate to heavy volume of short covering in all old crop grain futures contracts strengthened the market generally in early Board of Trade transactions today.

Corn, rye and soybeans were firm to strong with rye bouncing ahead by more than a cent a bushel within a few minutes. May wheat, however ranged from a major fraction lower to more than a cent higher in an active two-sided trade.

The small supply of rye in commercial positions here was described as bullish while additional shipments of corn on the Great Lakes had a firming effect on that grain. Reports were that two vessels had sailed with a total of 733,000 bushels for Buffalo.

Near the end of the first hour wheat was 1½ cents higher to ¼ lower, May $1.94⅛; corn ⅝ higher to ⅛ lower, May $1.25⅝; oats ⅛ to ⅜ higher, May 66⅛; rye 1¼ higher to ¼ lower, May $1.41½; soybeans unchanged to ⅞ higher, May $2.28⅞.

Government Claims Its Du Pont Plan Best

CHICAGO (AP)—The government in a 77-page brief filed in U.S. District Court says its plan to divest Du Pont of its 63 million shares of General Motors stock is the best but adds that it still is open to suggestions.

The government plan is for Du Pont to sell 20 million GM shares on the open market over a 10-year period and allocate the remainder to Du Pont shareholders on a pro-rata basis.

The United States Supreme Court has ordered the divestment after ruling in a government-filed anti-trust suit that the Du Pont holdings in GM bore a tendency toward monopoly.

U. S. District Judge Walter J. LaBuy ended a month-long hearing on the divestment proposal two weeks ago.

Mart Rebounds From Decline

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market perked up a bit today after three straight days of decline. Early trading was fairly active.

Most leading issues rose fractionally. Quite a few were either unchanged or showed slight losses.

Chrysler advanced 2 points to spark the automotive section. Its net income for the first quarter aroused interest.

Thiokol's new shares based on the stock split were up about 3 points over the closing price on the "when-issued" stock yesterday.

Zenith picked up another 4 points or so. Aluminum Ltd. lost a fraction as it continued to back away after its cut in dividend.

Steels, motors and oils were generally higher. Coppers, drugs and aircrafts were mixed.

Walworth was up a fraction despite its report of a slight net loss for the first quarter. Wall Street analysts forecast better things to come.

June Moon Costly

EASTBOURNE, England (UPI)—John Kane told a meeting of the Amalgamated Engineering Union that he believes he's discovered why it's difficult to interest young men in trade unionism. Kane said he has often had to pay the union dues of his own two teenaged sons because they're too busy and too broke from "a bit of courting."

GMC REACHES MILESTONE — The 1,000,000th 270 cubic inch gasoline engine manufactured at the GMC Truck and Coach Division is shown here getting a special inscription from John Falberg, engine plant superintendent. Others in the photo are (from left) Walter Selberg, engine line general foreman; Virgil Foltz, foreman; James Hanrahan, foreman, and Carl Rogers, factory manager. The 270 cubic inch engine is a popular 6-cylinder unit used in GMC light trucks. During World War II several hundred thousand of them were used to power 6x6 Army trucks and Ducks.

Seaway Vessel Hits Union Snag

Santa Regina Forced to Wait Off Shore in Pilots' Tiff at Chicago

CHICAGO, Ill. (AP)—The flagship Santa Regina, first American vessel to use the rebuilt St. Lawrence Seaway, expected a warm reception in Chicago Thursday, but ran instead into a union dispute over its pilot.

The 460-foot Grace Lines ship was forced to lie offshore for four hours while negotiators for a new American pilots' union huddled with representatives of the vessel's owners.

The ship finally was allowed to proceed to dock and an official welcomed from Mayor Richard Daley and other city officials only after the union agreed to toss the whole problem into the hands of federal mediators.

The union, the Licensed Tugmen's and Pilots' Protective Assn. insisted that one of its pilots be employed to take the 15,000-ton Regina down the Calumet River into Lake Calumet Harbor on the far South Side.

The line maintained, however, that it already had a pilot — the one which had guided the ship through the Great Lakes.

"They were trying to make us the guinea pig," said Ted B. Westfall, executive vice president of the lines, who made the 1,250-mile voyage down the seaway from Montreal.

After the union group, headed by President Patrick Cullnan, decided to turn the issue over to mediators, the Regina proceeded the seven miles to the harbor.

Daley greeted the ship's skipper, Capt. Hawley MacDermit, and gave him a flag of the city of Chicago. Police and Fire Department bands and marching units, chilled after the four-hour wait, also hailed the Regina, largest ship ever to enter lake Calumet.

The smaller Dutch freighter Prins Johan Willem Friso, which had won with east the race from Montreal to Chicago and had received a tumultous greeting when it docked in midmorning for a customs inspection at Navy Pier, had no trouble with its pilot.

Suit Settled Against Doctor for $16,000

A $500,000 malpractice suit filed two years ago against a Pontiac physician, Dr. Vernon C. Abbott, has been settled out of court for $16,000.

Robert L. Hall, 30, charged in his suit Dr. Abbott "failed to use the degree of skill necessary in surgery" when he left a broken three-quarter inch needle imbedded in Hall's facial tissue during an operation in Pontiac General Hospital Nov. 10, 1957.

Week's Car Production to Hit 11-Week Low

DETROIT (AP) — This week's U. S. car production will total 120,454 units, an 11-week low, Automotive News said today.

The trade paper said the decline from last week's 133,987 cars will result from sharp dips by medium-priced makers.

It said Canadian factories will produce 10,280 cars and trucks this week against 10,325 last week.

Area Boy to Be Honored at Safety Patrol Rally

FERNDALE — Rickey Andrews, 12, of Ferndale, and Erlene Thomas, 13, of Jackson, will have places of honor when 100 school safety patrol members from Michigan attend the 23rd national AAA safety patrol rally in Washington, May 7-10.

Rickey lost his right leg while protecting three children at his post. Erlene pulled a classmate from the path of a skidding car.

The 100 safety patrol members, from 93 Michigan communities, will make the trip to Washington as guests of the Automobile Club of Michigan.

Seiberling Strike Ends

NOTICE OF SALE
$135,000.00
Clarkston Community School District, Oakland County, Michigan

NOTES

Sealed bids for the purchase of tax anticipation notes of Clarkston Community School District, Oakland County, Michigan, of the par value of $135,000.00 will be received by the undersigned at Clarkston Elementary School, Clarkston, Michigan until 8 o'clock p.m., Eastern Standard Time, on the 11th day of May, 1959, at which time and place they will be publicly opened and read.

The notes will be dated May 1, 1959, will mature July 1, 1960 and will bear interest at a rate or rates not exceeding 6% per annum. Both principal and interest will be payable at such place as may be agreed upon with purchaser. Denominations and form of notes to be at the option of the purchaser. Accrued interest to date of delivery of such notes must be paid by the purchaser at the time of delivery.

Said note or notes shall be subject to redemption prior to maturity in inverse numerical order at par and accrued interest on the first day of any month prior to maturity thereof, upon fifteen (15) days' notice served upon the holder or holders thereof, or published in a newspaper or publication circulated in the State of Michigan, which carries as a part of its regular service notices of the sale of municipal bonds.

For the purpose of awarding the notes the interest cost of each bid will be computed by determining, at the rate or rates specified therein, the total dollar value of all interest on the notes from June 1, 1959, to their maturity and deducting therefrom any premium. The notes will be awarded to the bidder whose bid on the above computation produces the lowest interest cost to the Clarkston Community School District. No proposal for the purchase of less than all of the notes or at a price less than their par value will be considered.

Envelopes containing the bids should be plainly marked "Proposal for Notes."

A certified or cashier's check in the amount of 2% of the par value of the notes, drawn upon an incorporated bank or trust company and payable to the order of the Treasurer of Clarkston Community School District must accompany each bid as a guarantee of good faith on the part of the bidder. Checks of unsuccessful bidders will be promptly returned.

Bids shall be conditioned upon the unqualified opinion of the purchaser's attorney approving the legality of the notes, to be secured at the purchaser's expense. The purchaser shall furnish notes ready for execution at his expense. Notes will be delivered at Clarkston Elementary School, 6595 Waldon Rd., Clarkston, Michigan.

Bills May Void Budget Surplus

House Cuts Up Ike's Requests, Adds Greatly to HEW Department

WASHINGTON (AP)—Three appropriation bills passed by the House have more than wiped out the slim surplus President Eisenhower's budget had figured on showing at the end of fiscal year 1960.

Based on many contingencies, the budget sent to Congress by the President last January provided for a surplus of about 70 million dollars when the government closes its fiscal books on June 30, 1960.

But three House-passed bills providing the cash to implement that budget already have appropriated $79,100,000 more than the President requested.

None has been considered by the Senate which, if it adheres to custom, will increase amounts voted by the House.

The House trimmed $18,900,000 from presidential requests for new money for the Interior Department and slightly more than 60 millions from funds for the Treasury and Post Office departments.

It of set both those cuts Thursday by adding 158 million in changing appropriations for the Labor and Welfare departments. The bill cut $23,112,500 from the Labor Department's money requests but added $181,391,700 more than the President had sought for the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

No attempt was made to alter committee allotment of an extra $131,892,000 for the Public Health Service, including a 50-million-dollar boost for institutes conducting research on cancer, heart disease and other ailments.

Pet Frog Does a Vital Favor for Mother, Tot

ALHAMBRA, Calif. (AP) — The pet frog of little Denise Meyers may have saved her life.

Mrs. William Meyers, mother of 3½-year-old Denise, discovered a potential death pit 109 feet deep in their back yard while she was searching for the frog. She poked a stick into a small hole, thinking the frog might be hiding there. There didn't seem to be any bottom to the hole.

"Denise has been playing here since she was a year old," Mrs. Meyers said. "You can't imagine how glad I am we found this hole. We don't know what caused the hole but Denise must have been near it many, many times."

Mitchell Urges Pacts Without Price Hikes

HARRIMAN, N.Y. (AP)—Secretary of Labor James Mitchell urges industry and organized labor to reach fair wage agreements without causing price increases.

Speaking Thursday night before economists attending Columbia University's American Assembly, Mitchell said: "Certainly labor and management in the major industries must realize that their wage and price actions are often followed by other industries whose situations may be vastly different, with the result that wages and prices go up all along the line."

Noting that Big Steel negotiations are set to start next week, Mitchell asked both sides to "bargain reasonably."

'Dark December' Misses —Like Most War Stories

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UPI)—As anyone who has been in combat knows, all war stories are untrue.

I suppose if anyone ever put it down truly, no audience could face it.

Nobody has ever written it all down: the terrifying feeling of abandonment, the feeling of being a machine that can take no more, the unending stupidities, the wet, the filth, the unendurable tiredness, the cowardice in everyone, the constant prayer for a wound which will mean you don't have to face it anymore, the savage search for loot, the panic, the dullness, the hatred every infantryman feels for those who sit fat-bellied back at division, army, corps and in the fantasy land of civilian life.

Last night Merle Miller, who toiled for Yank Magazine during World War II, tried to get some of it down in "Dark December" on CBS-TV's Playhouse 90.

"Dark December" was a "lest-we-forget" piece, honest in intent and reasonably faithful in its sights and sounds. But it missed.

It missed because it was so terribly earnest. It was too preachy, too predictable in its course and too pat in its gallery of characters.

SHORT SHOTS: "Texas Rodeo," a half hour which premiered on NBC-TV last night, is the kind of show that may yet drive TV critics out of business.

What in the world can be said about a televised rodeo? One woman wrote me recently complaining that rodeos are unkind to animals. However, I think the problem is more serious—this kind of TV show is unkind to humans.

THE CHANNEL SWIM: CBS-TV's December Bride, which will be replaced after June 25 by a series of western reruns, may not return to the network next fall . . . Howie Morris, Cliff Norton and Dick Van Dyke have been tapped as the first panelists for Pantomime Quiz which opens on ABC-TV May 11.

A Yacht and Spectacles Mean Her Kind of Man

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — "Women respect the male sex/ if and when they wear specs/ because girls can never make asses/ of boys who wear glasses."

Due to the popularity of TV stars who grope around in horn-rims, we four-eyed so-and-sos have become glamorous. Hollywood beauty Rhonda Fleming was here searching for a man with glasses (and a matching yacht), so I snapped on my bifocals, with my sunglasses over them, and romped over.

WILSON

"Yes, a man who wears glasses is usually a student. He has something to talk about," drooled Rhonda, off to the Cannes Film Festival.

"First, what's this about you dating Frank Sinatra and Kim Novak's old beau, Mack Krim?" I asked.

Rhonda (pretty kneecaps held high): "It's all true, What have you heard? I'm going to live alone and love it. I'm free!"

Yes, she'd dated "Mr. Sinatra" — once. Also Mr. Krim. Miss Novak sent a note to Mr. Krim that night (in the same restaurant). Mr. Krim sent a note back to Miss Novak. Miss Fleming asked what the devil. Mr. Krim shrugged, "She's bothered that I'm out with you."

Miss Fleming, Miss Novak and Miss Zsa Zsa Gabor are all going to be at the jolly old Cannes Festival.

I asked Miss Fleming what her next man had to be besides astigmatic. An actor?

Rhonda: "An actor? There are only a few actors I respect. I never thought acting was a man's work. It should be left to women who are acting all the time, anyway. Gary Cooper, Kirk Douglas, Gregory Peck, Burt Lancaster, work hard. So many go into it for easy money."

RHONDA

(She even mentioned Bob Hope, with whom she appears in "Alias Jesse James," due here soon. No outlaw he, that Hope; nevertheless, when she said, "How about a piece of the picture?" he had a phone call and she said, "You make Jack Benny seem liberal.") Joking, of course.

Rhonda heard my tale that I've become blind and that my Beautiful Wife, with her contact lenses, can see everything while I grope. She pretended interest. But I felt she was thinking more about the perfect man (with glasses) she's looking for. Just a home girl, she made clear he didn't have to be rich.

"I don't care whether he's a millionaire—just so he's got a yacht," she said.

All poor boys with yachts, get in touch.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: There's nothing new to cleaning dishes with sound waves. Women have been doing it for years —yelling at husbands, "Go do the dishes!" . . . That's earl, brother.

Hawaii Legislature OKs Open Records

HONOLULU, Hawaii (AP) — A bill to keep meetings and records of government boards and agencies open to the public has been enacted by the Hawaii Legislature.

Executive sessions, however, would be permitted upon vote of two thirds of the members of the board or agency. The bill, approved Wednesday, also exempts matters involving invasion of individual privacy.

Gov. William F. Quinn is expected to sign it.

A luncheon orator told his audience, "Before I start my speech, I'd like to say something" . . . A father questioned a prospective son-in-law: "Are you sure you can support a family? After all, there are seven of us." —Earl Wilson.

Moon May Be Treasure Store of Diamonds!

WASHINGTON (AP) — There may be diamonds in the moon, says a Wisconsin scientist.

Dr. G. P. Kuiper of Yerkes Observatory, Williams Bay, Wis., said the craters on the moon shaped like big ice cream cones seem to be similar to the funnel-like craters topping the Kimberlite "diamond pipes" in South Africa. The African pipes extend deep into the earth, and it is from them that diamonds are mined.

Kuiper told about the moon craters discovery at a space symposium at the National Academy of Sciences. He spoke further about them in an interview.

He said the finding—made with an 82-inch, high-powered telescope—shows that there are now two known types of craters on the moon:

1. Bowl-shaped craters believed by many scientists to have been caused by the impact of meteorites bombarding the moon in ages past.

2. The cone-shaped craters which Kuiper theorizes were created by explosions caused by gas escaping from inside the moon when it was still hot.

Although he said these craters are similar to those in the Kimberlite diamond mines, he is less certain of the existence of diamonds in them.

Packs Lethal Footwear

TULARE, Calif. (AP) — Mrs. Ruby Smith heard a buzzing as she got out of her car in Sequoia National Park. She saw her high-heeled shoe had nailed a rattlesnake to the ground. She removed the other shoe and beat the snake to death.

Sewer Contract Gets City Nod

Formal Action Slated on Sylvan Lake Service in 2 Weeks

City commissioners tentatively have approved a new contract with Sylvan Lake for sewage treatment service, with charges based on metered rates.

As promised, the new agreement is similar to one approved with Waterford Township a year ago, said City Manager Walter K. Willman.

Willman said formal approval of the agreement will be sought in about two weeks.

The agreement calls for installation of a meter on the Pontiac line hooking Sylvan Lake sewers into Pontiac's disposal system.

The city will charge Sylvan Lake 16 cents for each 1,000 cubic feet of flow through the line, Willman said. Previously, the city had billed the Sylvan Lake customers directly, but under the new agreement, the City of Sylvan Lake will have to do the individual billing, Willman said.

The agreement prevents Sylvan Lake from adding new lines to its sewage system without Pontiac's permission. This provision would apply to the proposal to annex the Sylvan Shopping Center to Sylvan Lake and furnish it with sewage service, Willman said.

"We have nothing to do with the annexation," he said, "but we have complete control over whether the shopping center will use our sewage disposal facilities."

City commissioners have not yet decided whether to service the shopping center should it be annexed.

George F. Taylor Chosen Director by Law Alumni

George F. Taylor, chief assistant Oakland County prosecutor, and Henry L. Woolfenden, a past-president of the State Bar of Michigan, were elected director and first vice-president, respectively, of the Detroit College of Law Alumni Assn.

Taylor lives at 6310 Franklin Rd., Bloomfield Township, while Woolfenden, a Detroit attorney, lives at 1575 Kensington Rd., Bloomfield Hills.

Carl C. Matheny, Detroit attorney and Dearborn resident, was elected president.

James N. McNally, former prosecuting attorney for Wayne County, was elected second vice president.

Others directors elected besides Taylor were Charles R. Forster, Detroit, Alexander M. Middleton, Detroit, H. Monroe Stanton, Saginaw, and T. Carl Holbrook, assistant state attorney general.

County Loses Federal Aid of $250,000 for Sewer

South Lyon will profit but Oakland County will lose because the county's Department of Public Works has lost its $250,000 federal grant for the proposed North Evergreen sanitary sewer system.

The State Water Resources Commission yesterday refused to grant a three-week extension past the May 1 deadline it had set up for the county to break ground for the sewer.

Because of legal blocks, the sewer remains on the drawing boards.

This is to the advantage of South Lyon, as the commission knocked Oakland County and Detroit off its eligible list for federal grants. South Lyon and four other Michigan communities thus become eligible.

$15,000 GRANT AVAILABLE

The Commission said South Lyon could now receive a $15,000 grant for sewage treatment facilities.

R. J. Alexander, deputy director of the DPW, was disappointed but not disheartened by the loss of the $250,000. He said the department would reapply for a grant sometime in June when it is hoped the sewer will be under construction.

The Evergreen sewer will benefit the cities of Birmingham, Bloomfield Hills, Lathrup Village, Troy, Southfield, the village of Beverly Hills, and Bloomfield and Pontiac Townships. The denied grant was to be applied to those communities north of 14 Mile road.

Alexander said the quarter of a million dollars was not included in the size of the general obligation bond issue to finance the sewer.

Ex-Warden, 5 Aides Executed in Cuba

HAVANA (AP) — The former warden of the Isle of Pines Prison and five of his associates were executed at La Cabana Fortress today for the slaying of 24 inmates.

Former Maj. Juan M. Capote who ran the prison off Cuba's southern coast, during the Batista regime, was convicted of directing hangings, shootings and tortures.

Ex-Maj. Pedro Rodriguez Coto and four ex-soldiers also were convicted and shot by firing squads for the same offenses.

The unofficial total of war crimes executions now stands at 547.

A survey of feeding habits in the nurseries of 1,904 hospitals found that 63 per cent of all infants start out in life on the bottle. A decade ago, the figure was about 30 per cent.

Biggest Ocean Ship Passes Through Soo

The 491-foot craft, out of Monrovia, Liberia, with a Greek crew, passed through the locks at 4:20 a.m. She was among the first freighters to reach here since the St. Lawrnce Seaway was opened this week.

The freighter, bound for Duluth to pick up a grain cargo, has a gross tonnage of 10,493.

The craft, which lowered anchor above the locks to await easing of the fog, got stuck briefly in a mud bank but pulled herself free unaided.

The Defense Department's Pentagon building contains a cubic volume of 90,746,000 feet, occupies a square mile of space, and is threated by about 16½ miles of corridors.

Local Group to Attend Confab of Watchmakers

A contingent of local watchmakers will be among those at the fourth annual convention of the Michigan Watchmakers Guild Sunday at the Hotel Tuller in Detroit.

Leading the delegation from the Pontiac area will be Dan Scott, second vice president of the state organization and Dwight E. Casler of Ferndale, director of the Pontiac region of the guild.

The Guild has been pushing for a law to license watchmakers in the state.

Other items such as employe representation and the combating of price-cutting will be reviewed at the convention.

Not Too Old at 66

MONTREAL (UPI)— L. A. (Bud) Raymond, 66, retired after 47 years with a telegraph company and said he can hardly wait to get back to the hobby he abandoned several years ago because he was too busy. It's mountain climbing.

Proposes Unique Bill for Health Revenue

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Herbert Zelenko (D-NY) came up today with a plan he said would raise 10 million dollars a year for medical research, 2 cents at a time.

Zelenko sai he will introduce a bill Monday for a special stamp with a 2-cent surcharge. It would cost 6 cents, but be worth 4 in postage. Its use would be voluntary.

Two cents from the price of each special stamp sold would be turned over to the National Institues of Health "as a gift from the American public, for additional research in cancer, mental health, heart disease, arthritis and other research needs," Zelenko said.

Seaway Rush Subsides

CORNWALL, Ont. (AP)—Ocean freighters whose big swells were damaging boathouses and docks near here have slowed down, and the huge waves have been stopped. Apparently the big ships were racing to be the first into the port of Toronto after the St. Lawrence Seaway opened last Saturday. The race is over and the big swells ended.
