Barnstorms New York City

Adlai Goes to Series After Busy Morning

NEW YORK (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson barnstormed New York City again today, sweeping in a motorcade through the crowded streets, addressing a Brooklyn rally and attending the second World Series game.

Just before he started his day at his Biltmore Hotel headquarters, Stevenson made a filmed television movie appealing for campaign funds.

Wanted a Baby, Says Kidnaper

Chicago Infant Unhurt; Childless Wife Faces Mother, Tells Reasons

CHICAGO (AP)—A brown-haired young wife told police today she wanted a baby so much that she stole month-old Ronald Joseph Bucher from his crib last night. The baby was found unharmed with Mrs. Gladys Bynum, 24, in the basement apartment she shares with her husband, Charles, in the same southwest side area where the child was kidnapped.

"I wanted a baby so much I just took one," she told Capt. Patrick Decey. Mrs. Bynum and the baby were taken by police to confront the infant's mother, Mrs. Lela Bucher, 21.

Mrs. Bynum's story affirmed that of Mrs. Bucher, relating how the two women met in a store yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Bynum said she had worn a maternity dress and padding to make her friends think she was expecting a baby of her own. She was not pregnant, she said.

A house-to-house canvass by 400 policemen brought about a solution of the case.

Two of the searching officers, detectives Joseph Corcoran and Edward Conney, got the lead when they knocked on the door of Mrs. Norbert Kowalski, who remembered that her husband had told of taking a sick woman with a child home last night.

Keego Chief Dies of Burns

Mayor to Ask Schools, Stores to Close Monday

Baxter Injured While Fighting Bowling Alley Blaze

A solemn Keego Harbor prepared its tribute today to Police Chief Calvin C. Baxter, who died last night of burns suffered while fighting a downtown fire Wednesday.

Baxter, 31, died of third-degree burns covering his entire body at 10 p. m. in Pontiac General Hospital.

Funeral arrangements for Monday have not been completed at the C. J. Godhardt Funeral Home.

Mayor John Loveland at the Baxter home, 2248 Willow Beach, said he will issue a proclamation this afternoon asking schools and business to close during the funeral.

He and numerous other officials and friends were comforting Baxter's wife, Eleanor, 33, and the couple's son, Calvin Jr., 9.

Loveland said, "Cal was a very close friend and the very, very best man we could ever have for chief. The whole city will miss him."

Mrs. Baxter, expecting a baby in December, tried to be stoical. "It was just like Cal to run into that fire ahead of everyone else—that's what his job meant to him."

"The doctors said that if he had lived he might never be normal again. Maybe it's just as well he went the way he did."

Baxter, a volunteer fireman, had been engulfed by flames in the Spillwood Lanes, 2945 Orchard Lake Ave. He was rescued through a barred window by firemen and bystanders after a 10-minute struggle to remove the bars.

A collection to help his widow was under way at City Hall, where $35 was reported this morning.

West Bloomfield Township firemen and merchants had canisters out to collect funds.

Baxter was named chief in June, 1955. He formerly was a Pontiac factory worker and a township police officer. He lived in Keego Harbor nine years.

Britain, U.S., France Agree

To Present Resolution on Suez to U.N. This Afternoon

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The Big Three Western foreign ministers have reached "complete agreement" on a Suez resolution for submission to the U. N. Security Council, a British spokesman said today.

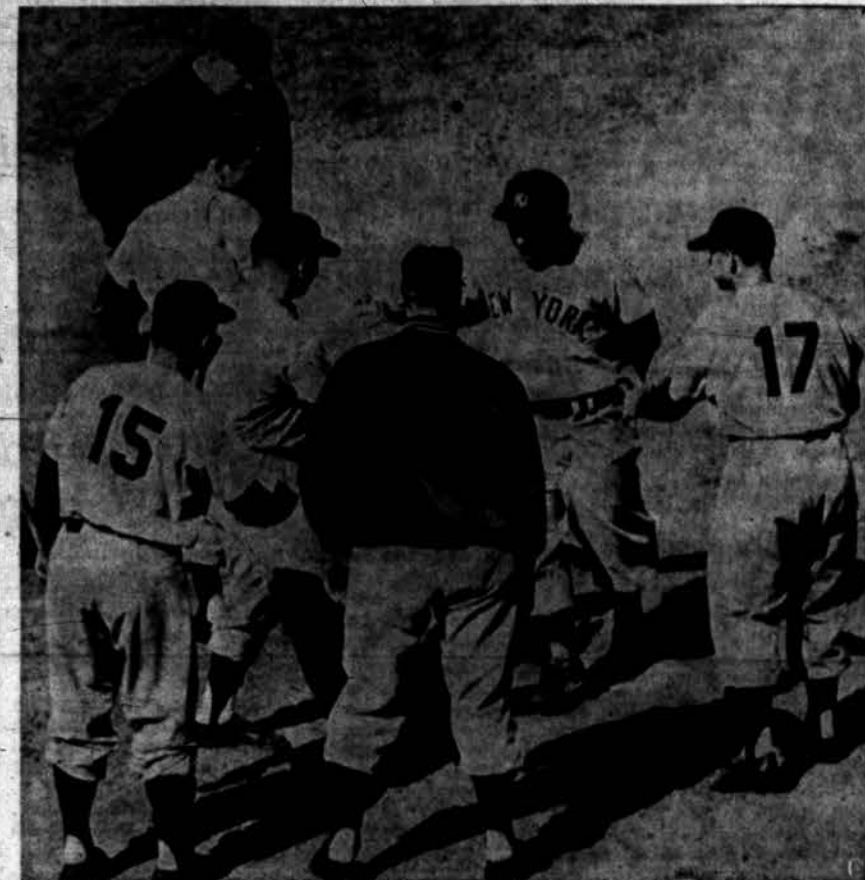

Sir George Young, British Foreign Office spokesman, made the announcement after a long conference between Secretary of State Dulles, British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau. They had met amid growing reports of differences.

Dulles flew here from Washington a few hours before the 11-nation Security Council met to hear Lloyd and Pineau demand U. N. endorsement of international control of the 163-mile waterway.

Young said the three Western leaders had agreed on a proposal which would be placed before the council by Lloyd at the opening of this afternoon's session. He did not disclose the provisions of the resolution but said it would be sponsored by Britain and France.

While the United States is in complete support, he said, it is not a co-sponsor.

Says Restrictions Unwise

Term Limit Mistake -- Ike

WASHINGTON (INS)—President Eisenhower said today he thinks it was a mistake to limit to two the number of terms a president may serve.

The President expressed the surprise opinion at a news conference which covered the political waterfront.

Eisenhower, who is the first president to be limited by the recent constitutional amendment, said he thinks such restrictions are unwise.

He believes by and large, he said, that Americans should be able to select anyone they want for president.

The only exceptions he approves, he said, are the constitutional provisions that a chief executive must be 35 years of age and meet certain other requirements of citizenship.

The limitation was written into the constitution during Harry S. Truman's White House tenure, but did not apply to him. The only president who ever served more than two terms was Franklin D. Roosevelt, who was elected to four.

The Chief Executive also made these points at his weekly question-and-answer session with newsmen:

1. Prospects are not bright for a reduction in federal taxes in the next year or so.

2. It would be foolish for the United States to halt H-Bomb tests unless the Soviet Union agreed to do likewise.

3. Vice President Richard M. Nixon has advised him not to let others in the party work him to death in the campaign.

4. He decided to start replying to Democratic attacks on his administration because, he said, you have to clear away the underbrush of misunderstanding before presenting the truth.

5. He knows pretty well what is going on in his administration, despite allegations of Democratic candidates that he is not in control.

6. Said he decided to end segregation in the armed forces in 1953, because it looked like it was time to take the bull by the horns.

7. His administration has insisted that every single day see an increase in the tactical and striking power of U. S. military forces. If this can be done with fewer men, it will be.

Royal Oak Ready for Truman Visit

Former President Harry S. Truman, seeking Midwest votes for Adlai E. Stevenson, will speak in Royal Oak tomorrow at 11 a. m.

Truman, who tried to block Stevenson's nomination at the Democratic convention in Chicago on the ground that Stevenson could not win the election, arrives in Detroit today for two days of campaigning.

Opening with a tour of 16th, 15th and 13th Congressional District headquarters this afternoon, Truman will give a televised speech at 9 p. m. from the AFL Labor Temple in Detroit.

His plans tomorrow include the 11 a. m. speech at South Oakland Democratic headquarters, 1815 N. Main St., Royal Oak, and stops at Democratic headquarters in the 14th, 1st and 17th Congressional Districts.

Jury Indicts Rippe for the Second Time

DETROIT (INS)—Taylor Township Supervisor Harold Rippe was indicted today for the second time by the Wayne County one-man grand jury.

The new indictment charges Rippe with soliciting and accepting a $6,000 bribe from Irving Green, a builder; Wabash Homes, Inc., and other building firms.

Pitchers Wear Path to Shower From Mound

Berra Grand-Slammer Gives Club Early Lead, Bums Bounce Back

FROM OUR WIRE SERVICES

The booming bat of Gil Hodges continued to have telling effect on the New York Yankees as the Brooklyn Dodgers swept into an 11-7 lead after six innings in the second game of the 1956 World Series at Ebbets Field.

A pair of two-run doubles by Hodges in the fourth and fifth innings handed the slugging Dodgers their four-run advantage. Southpaw Mickey McDermott, who took over the pitching in the sixth inning, was the seventh Yankee hurler to see duty.

FIRST INNING

Yankees—McDougald grounded out. Slaughter singled. Mantle flied out. Berra walked. Collins singled, scoring Slaughter. Bauer popped out. One run, two hits.

Dodgers—Gilliam walked. Reese popped out. Snider walked. Robinson grounded into double play, Martin to Collins.

SECOND INNING

Yankees—Martin singled. Coleman sacrificed Martin to second. Larsen singled, scoring Martin. McDougald singled. Slaughter forced McDougald at second. Mantle walked, leading the bases. Berra homered. Ed Roebuck relieved Newcombe for Brooklyn. Collins grounded out. Five runs, four hits.

Dodgers—Hodges singled. Amoros reached first on an error by Collins. Furillo walked, leading the bases. Campanella flied out. Hodges scored after the catch. Roebuck fouled out. Gilliam walked, leading the bases. Johnny Kucks relieved Larsen for New York. Reese singled, scoring Amoros and Furillo. Tommy Byrne relieved Kucks for New York. Snider homered. Robinson struck out. Six runs, three hits.

THIRD INNING
Yankees—Don Bessent came in to pitch for Brooklyn. Bauer singled. Martin grounded into double play. Coleman grounded out.

Dodgers—Tom Sturdivant came in to pitch for New York. Hodges walked. Amoros struck out. Furillo singled. Campanella struck out. Bessent singled, scoring Hodges. Gilliam walked, leading the bases. Tom Morgan relieved Sturdivant for New York. Reese flied out. One run, two hits.

Dodgers—Mickey McDermott came in to pitch for New York. Furillo flied out. Campanella flied out. Bessent walked. Gilliam grounded out.

SEVENTH INNING

Pontiac Calling Back 4,000 Monday

Some 4,000 Pontiac Motor Division employees will return to work Monday when local plants complete their model changeover and inventory period, division officials said today.

Another 1,500 final assembly workers will return Oct. 15 when Pontiac will begin producing 1957 models. The new cars are to be shown to dealers Nov. 9.

Spokesmen said Monday's returning force will be in the engineering, foundry, sheet metal and chrome plating departments.

The division stated some workers laid off in late spring will be recalled when regular production is resumed, although spokesmen did not indicate how many.

$1,300 Loads Pot-O-Gold as 14,505 Puzzles Miss

The person who solves this week's Pot-O-Gold not only will win $1,300, but he will make our judges very happy. Imagine what it's like to check 14,505 puzzles, each with 16 answers, and to go over all those answers, getting more and more excited as there appears to be a winner, only to discover that there is just one wrong on the entry.

More entries than ever came in with all correct solutions but one, which indicates that the puzzle is either getting easier or that entrants are trying harder. Either way, it looks as though there will be a winner soon, so you'd better turn to page 22 and take advantage of these last few days to send in Puzzle No. 13.

While it seems it shouldn't be necessary to repeat the warning to check all rules, there were still 44 entries mailed in envelopes rather than on post cards as the rules state, and 233 missed the deadline.

Who knows? Your late or missent entry may have been a winning solution, but now no one will ever know.

Explanations for the solution to Puzzle No. 17 appear on page 20 in today's Press.

Arson Charged in Mystery Fire

Dead Woman's Mate Held for Examination in Circuit Court

The 35-year-old husband of a woman found lying dead Tuesday outside their burning house in Detroit was charged with arson and bound over to circuit court after waiving examination Thursday.

Wallace Niehaus was held in the Macomb County Jail at Mt. Clemens under $2,000 surety bond after arraignment before Bruce Township Justice Francis Castellucci.

He will be arraigned Monday in Macomb County Circuit Court.

His wife, Mildred, 63, whose body was found on a mattress in front of the gutted one-story home by neighbors, died of natural causes, an autopsy showed.

Yesterday's hearing followed Niehaus' release from St. Joseph Hospital in Mt. Clemens where he had been under treatment for shock since his arrest by State Police five hours after the fire.

Niehaus refused to cooperate during questioning, according to State Police Detective Harold Ernst who is heading the investigation. A check of the destroyed home disclosed the probable arson.

"There were signs of arson at the home. It apparently was a set fire," Ernst said.

Niehaus, a retired carpenter, told detectives he was lying down when he thought he smelled smoke or gas in the house so he carried his wife outside thinking she was asleep.

Several pieces of furniture also were carried outside before the fire. Niehaus said he and his wife had been packing to move to another house that day because they were being evicted.

The fire and Mrs. Niehaus' body were first discovered by Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Daube who live across the road. They found clothing and other belongings owned by Mr. and Mrs. Niehaus in their garage with a note signed by Niehaus willing it to them.

Mrs. Summerfield Granted Tax Refund

DETROIT (INS) — The wife of Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield won a federal court suit today to recover $153,935 in income taxes.

Mrs. Miriam Summerfield paid the income tax in 1949 when she sold her half-interest in her husband's Flint, Mich., auto sales agency for $440,000.

Mrs. Summerfield argued the sale, taxed as straight income, should have been taxed under capital gains and at a much lower rate.

Government attorneys maintained the sale was not bona fide because $440,000 was a "ridiculously" low price for half-interest in a business netting $500,000 a year.

However, Detroit Federal Judge Theodore Levin ruled the sale price was not a factor and awarded the tax refund.

Flint Driver Injures Wrist in Collision

C. W. Dukes, 21, of Flint, was treated for wrist injuries after his car was struck from behind yesterday.

The other driver, Richard F. Pence, 21, of Traverse City, was not injured, Pontiac Police said. The accident was at a traffic light on S. Saginaw street at Park street.

Time Bomb Kills 9

ALGIERS (U) — A time bomb exploded in a bus near Algiers today, killing nine Algerians and wounding a dozen. The explosion occurred while the bus was stopped at a military checkpoint. The explosion occurred as reports reached here that 8 French soldiers and 16 Algerian rebels were slain in a clash just across the Tunisian border.

Recover 3 More Bodies From Collapsed Building

JACKSON (U) — Rescuers today found the bodies of three more workmen in the steel-and-concrete tomb where 10 men died following the sudden collapse of a partially completed office building.

Only one body has still not been recovered from the rubble.

One of the bodies found today was not immediately identified but is believed to be that of either William Rose or Elven Junction or Charles Anam of Jackson.

The other bodies were those of Floyd R. Baker, 39, of Spring Arbor, and Claude Binchus, 36, of Jackson.

The 10 were killed when, without warning, the three-million-dollar, four-story Consumers Power Co. building near here crumbled Wednesday afternoon cascading 6,000 tons of concrete and steel into the basement. It was one of Michigan's worst industrial disasters.

Thirty-five construction workers were injured in the landslide. Thirteen still are in hospitals.

The fifth and sixth bodies were pulled from the wreckage last night, more than 30 hours after the modern designed structure caved in. Workmen continued digging for the missing four.

At least three official investigations are under way to determine the cause of the tragedy.

The building was being erected on the relatively new "flat slab" construction principle in use only about five years. The principle utilizes steel reinforced floors to provide strength without supporting beams.

A spokesman for Herlihy Midland County Republicans, gearing up their operations for the coming campaign, have announced the appointment of a publicity director and the opening of six county offices.

Charles Hollis, former newspaper writer, will take over all publicity functions for the county committee. Chairman Chad M. Ritchie said today.

Hollis will work from the committee's Birmingham offices.

Besides county headquarters in the Pontiac State Bank Building, Republican offices now include Cobo headquarters in Pontiac's Hilton Hotel, Pontiac GOP headquarters at 4 S. Saginaw St., Birmingham headquarters at 245 W. Maple Rd., Royal Oak headquarters at 211 S. Main St., and Ferndale headquarters at 23001 Woodward Ave.

The party is calling for volunteer workers to do campaign canvassing, typing, telephoning, addressing and mailing, and headquarters work, according to George W. Kuhn, assistant chairman in charge of organization for the county committee and a member of the State Central Committee.

Greene was arrested yesterday by Oakland County Sheriff's detectives Leo Hagen and Harry Maur after he had chased him for over a mile on M18 between Orionville and Clarkston.

The detectives were in the area to investigate a break-in when they saw the Greene car going down the highway swerving from one side of the road to the other.

Hagen said the youth turned off just in time to avoid piling into a school bus letting off children and then almost struck cars and a steel truck before he was stopped.

Fire Prevention Week Plans Complete

Fire is a dangerous, tragic killer whose destructive power can ruin work of a lifetime, hopes for the future.

This point the Chamber of Commerce will try to hammer home during Fire Prevention Week starting Sunday.

The Fire Prevention Committee has a series of programs topped by a public demonstration at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, when the Fire Department will perform at Northside Park, Edison street and Montclair avenue.

Firemen directed by Capt. Victor Bodamer will perform some near-circus feats on high extension ladders. Clowns will provide a real circus atmosphere.

SET TRUCK ABLAZE
A gasoline truck will be set ablaze, then saved by the timely use of smothering chemicals.

There will be other events, including a water fight between firemen armed with hoses. It will be Waterford Township's Fire Department versus Pontiac Township's.

Harvey Johns, head of the Fire Prevention Committee, is in charge of the demonstration. Johns is chief of GMC Truck & Coach plant protection. During the week, Johns announced, films on fire safety will be shown in Pontiac elementary schools.

The Board of Education, he said, has also cooperated to allow junior and senior high school students to see a demonstration prepared by Kenneth Goodell, fire chief at GMC.

Free inspection for fire hazards at home can be obtained by calling the Chamber of Commerce. The inspections will be directed by Fire Chief John Schroeder.

According to Sherwin Birnkant, committee publicity chairman, downtown business will display posters with the slogan, "Stop Fires—Save Lives."

Raymond Rapaport, president of the Retail Merchants Assn., pledged support to carry the message in store windows and displays, Birnkant said.

The Pontiac Assn. of Insurance Agents, represented by Howard Looney, pledged its cooperation, he added.

Loudest applause came when Stevenson reiterated previous assertions that "I support this decision" of the Supreme Court ruling segregation in public schools unlawful.

He quoted President Eisenhower as having said of the decision: "I think it makes no difference whether or not I endorse it."

The Day in Birmingham

Rollie Reese Calling Start of Halloween Plan

BIRMINGHAM — A meeting next Thursday will kick off plans for Birmingham's annual huge fest of its youth at Halloween, according to Rollie Reese, chairman for the event.

Usually drawing four or five thousand children as well as an equal number of parents who watch the coffee-and-doughnut eating, programs, games and costume parade on a closed-off thoroughfare of the town, around 9,000 in all attended last year, with 6,000 in the parade, Reese estimated.

The meeting will be at 4 p.m. Thursday in the Community House to plan the Halloween program.

He has invited about 27 to aid the basic committee of five. They are representatives of schools, PTAs, C of C, and University clubs. They will be key people in charge of certain facets of the night's program, such as getting manpower from the PTAs, delivery, prizes, and other items.

Entertainment at both the high school and the junior high schools and a movie in the Baldwin School will be in charge of these representatives.

A "meet the property" afternoon is slated Oct. 14 for parents of Academy of the Sacred Heart girls, when they'll see the 20 acres of land recently purchased as a site for a new school.

A tent inside the gate will give an "open house" air to the event at the land, between Squirrel and Kensington Roads on what formerly was the Walter O. Briggs estate.

Area of future buildings and playgrounds will be marked.

Mrs. Don E. Ahrens and Mrs. Norman J. Fredericks are co-chairmen, both being from Birmingham, but their committees include many Detroit and North Woodward residents.

Among them are Mrs. Frank O'Toole, a hostess, Mrs. Lloyd Diehl Jr., Mrs. R. W. Ruen, and J. A. Martin, assistant hostesses, all of Birmingham.

Alumnus of the Detroit school working on the party include Mrs. John E. Steiner, corresponding secretary of the group, a Birminghamite, and Mrs. D. P. Costello Jr., and Mrs. William J. King, who also live here.

The Men's Fellowship of the First Congregational Church will meet next Thursday for a 6:45 p.m. dinner at which the Rev. Albert Cleage of Central Congregational Church of Detroit will speak on "Segregation."

The Men's Fellowship of the all-Negro church has been invited to attend the meeting. The minister spoke at the church last year.

The Holy Name Altar Society on Monday will hear a Detroit attorney, Dorothy Brodeau, talk on "Ethics and Politics" at 1 p.m. at St. Anne's Hall. The St. Catherine's guild members will hostess a tea afterwards.

Also at Holy Name, a Teen-age dance is planned for Oct. 13, with committees busily planning the event at which 300 are expected.

Sponsors will be the church's Teen-Hi Club, theme will be "Autumn Leaves," and music will be by the Brook Brothers' four piece combination, all under the chairmanship of Kim Dickinson and Pat Sullivan.

Mrs. Walter H. Sorenberg Service for Mrs. Walter H. (Cora) Sorenberg, 65, 18785 Glenwood, Lathrup Village, who died at home Wednesday night, will be at Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co., with burial in Acania Park.

A resident in Lathrup for six years, she leaves a daughter, Carol at home, a brother and a sister, besides her husband.

6 UM 'Painters' Brush With Law on MSU Campus

EAST LANSING (U) — Six University of Michigan students, on a pre-football game painting tour, were picked up by MSU Police on the Michigan State Campus this morning.

MSU police said the UM students were nabbed at 2:20 a.m. They had painted a blue "M" on a bench and "U. of M." across a sidewalk.

The six were ordered to clean up their paint job and will be returned to the University of Michigan this afternoon.

A joint student judiciary committee at the University will sit and decide their punishment.

Representatives of the two schools recently met to decide on a system of punishments to try and stop campus raids before the football games.

Michigan State officials said the names of the students could not be released here but would have to come from the dean of men at the University of Michigan.

Car Flips 3 Times, 1 Killed, Rider Safe

Seldon Stamper, 34, of South Lyon, was killed yesterday when his car rolled over three times near Ann Arbor on Six Mile road, east of Pontiac road in Salem Township.

Samuel Rose, 17, also of South Lyon, a passenger, was not hurt. Washtenaw County deputies said Stamper apparently was speeding and lost control.

Pontiac Deaths

Potter, Cobo to Visit County GOP Rally

A Republican rally and barn dance Oct. 16 at Waterford Hill now is being planned, the Republican County Committee said today.

Guests of honor at the affair will be U. S. Sen. Charles E. Potter, Detroit Mayor Albert E. Cobo, candidate for governor, will be introduced with GOP state and county candidates.

Free tickets are available at all county GOP headquarters, the committee said.

Judge Orders Albrecht to Repay Utica $500

UTICA — Circuit Judge Alton H. Noe of Mt. Clemens has ordered Utica's Mayor George Albrecht to repay the city of Utica a $500 check he collected from the city for extra work he performed when the Utica water supply was contaminated.

He also told Albrecht to pay the city five per cent interest from Oct. 5, 1955, the day which he collected the check, plus court costs.

Hold Service Today for John G. Wood

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — Service was to be held today for John G. Wood, former chief engineer of Chevrolet Division, General Motors Corp.

Burial for Mr. Wood, after the 11 a.m. service at Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co., was to be in Indianapolis.

With various GM divisions for a total of 35 years, Mr. Wood died Wednesday night in his home in Bloomfield Hills, at the age of 73.

A graduate of Purdue University, he was chief engineer of Chevrolet from 1945 to 1949, then became executive assistant to the general manager before his 1950 retirement.

He is survived by his wife, Cleora and two daughters, Judith Ann and Mrs. George Trumbull.

Negroes 'Up-Stirred' by Leader's Arrest

TAMPA, Fla. (U)—Negro ministers, protesting the forcible arrest of an official of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, called a public meeting to-night "to tell the truth about certain events in Tampa."

The Tampa Interdenominational Ministerial Alliance said it con-legal and against good morals.

A five-man delegation of the Alliance told Sheriff Ed Blackburn that Tampa's Negro citizens were "upset, up-stirred and organizing" because of reported circumstances of the arrest Monday of William A. Fordham, 36, president of the Florida branch of the NAACP.

Fordham was placed in handcuffs in a patrol car when arrested on charges of double parking and resisting arrest. He said he was kicked and beaten when he objected to driving his own car from the scene. Arresting officers said they used only enough force to get handcuffs on Fordham and put him in the patrol car.

Blackburn told the delegation he had investigated the incident and believed the officers were fully justified.

Too Many Are Doing Too Much

Doctor Befriends the Overworked French

By CARL HARTMAN
(For Hal Boyle)

PARIS — Doctors think too many Frenchmen are working too hard, and France is going to do something about it.

The average Frenchman is not a fellow who takes two hours for lunch and spends the afternoon winking at girls on the Champs Elysees. He really works. This goes too far for school kids cramming for examinations and for elderly ladies bogged down in the complexity of pension forms. The French take it all harder than you might think.

The man in charge of remedying the situation — at the behest of the French Academy of Medicine — is Dr. Hugo Biancani. In addition to handling a prosperous medical practice, Dr. Biancani is an enthusiastic amateur or semiprofessional at painting, writing, philosophizing, wine making, gardening and social service. He also likes to take long country walks and he maintains he isn't overworked himself. "The reason," he says, "is that I'm doing work I like, I have it well organized, and I get plenty of recreation." He has been named director of of things it hits the leaders of our society. Look at your President Eisenhower. What do you think was at the bottom of his heart attack? Or President Roosevelt. When things happen to men like that, it causes a disturbance to our whole society."

Dr. Biancani says it's not just too much work that causes the kind of exhaustion he is trying to cure. Also involved are the kind of work, the individual's attitude toward it, and the whole environment in which he lives. It's quite possible, he says, to get up at 5 a.m., work hard, and go to bed at midnight without doing yourself any harm—if you have the temperament, know how to handle yourself and how to relax when necessary.

Lots of city dwellers these days, even in relatively tranquil France, wake up in an apartment house with paper-thin walls. Surrounded morning and night with radios and TV sets, they have to struggle with traffic, shop in crowded stores and markets, wait long and nervous minutes to see minor officials on routine errands. All this, Dr. Biancani acknowledges, is more acute in Paris than in provincial towns where the older, more leisurely existence still persists.

Treatment, he says, has to be adapted to each case. You can't just turn a nervous businessman out to pasture like an old horse—you have to give him something interesting and relaxing to do. Just what? That depends on the businessman and how tired he is.

Both Parties Eye Votes as Political Plum

Pennsylvania, Ike's Adopted State, Carries Prestige Value

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another in a series of articles by AP's political reporters surveying sentiment in key states.

By BELMAN MORIN

CLEARFIELD, Pa. (AP) — For a special set of reasons, Pennsylvania is a state to watch as the race for the presidency picks up speed.

It has 32 electoral votes — a quota equalled by California and exceeded only by New York's 45. Since it is President Eisenhower's adopted state, both parties attach special prestige values to carrying it.

Every major campaign argument touches somebody in Pennsylvania. It bustles with big and small business. It has great industrial areas. In the mining districts, some people are not working. And there is a patchwork of handsome farms — many of them "family farms."

Although Eisenhower appears to be leading Adlai Stevenson, most observers say it is still anybody's race.

Two years ago, for the second time since the Civil War, Democrats elected a governor—George

M. Leader—and they have whittled down the GOP registration margin.

In 1952, Eisenhower carried Pennsylvania by 269,000 votes, or 53 per cent of the total of about 4,500,000.

He lost Philadelphia by 160,000, and Allegheny County, embracing Pittsburgh, by 14,000.

It was the areas in between, the small towns and farming communities, that gave Pennsylvania to Eisenhower.

Let's look at a heartland area. Clearfield County lies near the center of the state. It has some small towns, some industry, coal mines — some of which are idle — and many farms.

Neither party can be sure of Clearfield. Registration figures show the Democrats with 16,845 to the Republicans' 16,518. It went Democratic in a senatorial race in 1950, to Eisenhower in 1952, then Democratic again in the governor's election of 1954.

You discover that many people in different economic categories, and without regard to party affiliation, like Ike.

For example, J. Bruce Meyer is a coal operator, an employer of miners, and a registered Democrat. "But I voted for Ike in '52 and I'm going to vote for him again," he says.

A few miles outside the city of Clearfield is a brick plant. You question 17 men there, foremen, pipefitters, skilled firemen, bricklayers.

Of 14 who voted for Eisenhower four years ago, 12 said they will again. "He has done a good job," said Roy Schattenberg.

One of the other two is undecided. The other, Burton Knepp, said he was switching to Stevenson. "I thought it was time for a change," he said, "but I don't like the change we got."

Few people seemed concerned about Eisenhower's heart attack or operation. Typical comments: "He's in better shape than Stevenson, I figure" . . . "If he thinks he can run, that's good enough for me."

Democrats, wooing the small businessmen, argue they are suffering under the policies of the present administration.

E. G. Iddings, operating a garage and service station, said his business is better than last year. He will vote for Eisenhower again, he said, "because he has done a good job, and times are good."

But Morris Silverblatt, an attorney, reported that "small businessmen are complaining. I don't think things are bad, but expenses are going up and profits are being cut." He thinks the Democrats will carry the county, but that Eisenhower will carry the state.

What about the farmers? Here you run into some contradictions. Some said their income this year is below last year, another said it was up, another said "it's about the same."

None, however, said he was switching parties as a result. In the mining communities, where unemployment is greatest, the expressions were almost unanimously in favor of Stevenson and the whole Democratic ticket.

Men spoke sourly of "ghost towns" nearby, and said the federal government had done nothing to meet the problems of the coal industry. When they would talk at all, they left no doubt about their feelings.

Warrant Out for Haymes in Back Alimony Case

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A bench warrant has been issued for Dick Haymes as the result of the singer's latest alimony troubles.

Haymes failed to appear yesterday in answer to a Superior Court contempt citation. The singer's former wife, Nora Eddington Haymes, claims Haymes is behind $12,150 in her $100 a week alimony.

Haymes was divorced from actress Rita Hayworth in December 1955.

MEMBER OF AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATIONS

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 5, 1956

Pontiac Press Spanked by Michigan Governor

At a recent Democratic rally in Oakland County, Governor G. MCKENNA WILLIAMS made some disparaging and unfair remarks about this newspaper.

He implied the Democrats weren't getting a square deal on news coverage in The Press. The Democrats have had a 50-50 break on political news from the start of the campaign. This will continue.

We refuse to take umbrage over a castigation from WALTER REUTHER'S echo. Poor losers and agitated partisans always accuse newspapers of unfairness.

It's an ancient custom.

In the editorial columns we speak our own opinions and assert our own preferences. Our news columns present both sides and always will. All the brickbats or bouquets that Williams can conjure won't change our policy one whit. Governor Williams may be a grand guy in a hunting camp or serving on the board of directors of a large corporation in keeping with the great wealth of his family, but unhappily he has been a lightweight governor.

Four terms are enough. In fact, four are too many. Here is the Governor of a great state who went to his National Convention with leanings towards HARMAN. Also, he announced he would insist upon a strong desegregation plank. The Gubernatorial Mind was all set.

Well, what happened? It read like comic opera. As the tempo of the pre-campaign talk increased, suddenly WALTER REUTHER declared to the newspapers: "I'm for STEVENSON."

He didn't even show his paws the courtesy of sharing the announcement. Apparently Reuther isn't that concerned with Williams' tattered political dignity. We respect Walter Reuther as a forthright individual who speaks his piece, calls his shots and plunges straight ahead.

Soooo, WILLIAMS meekly went sled length for his master's choice.

Then came the plank about desegregation. Michigan's Governor was going to wage an all out fight unless this was clear cut, without equivocation and a constructive declaration.

Recall the plank? It was a temporizing, wishy-washy potpourri that tried to mean all things to all people. That's exactly what WILLIAMS announced he would fight.

Did he roll up his sleeves? We ask you. Did he?

Williams' alter ego declared the plank was perfectly satisfactory. Reuther was on record. The master had spoken. Thus Williams maintained a discreet and respectful silence, sir.

This is our critic.

Ho-hum.

A Good Appointment

President EISENHOWER'S choice of WILLIAM JOSEPH BRENNAN, Jr. to fill an impending vacancy in the U. S. Supreme Court, though surprising to some Republicans, is both politically astute and basically sound.

The selection of Mr. BRENNAN, a Harvard Law School graduate, a Democrat and a Catholic, is to fill the vacancy created by the expected retirement of Mr. Justice SHERMAN MINTON, because of ill health. The nominee has a distinguished career in practice in Newark for 17 years. He is an alumnus of that exacting judicial school presided over by ARTHUR T. VANDERBILT, the eminent Chief Justice of New Jersey's Supreme Court.

The new associate justice is an experienced and able jurist. He will take with him to Washington the fruits of his one year experience in Jersey's Superior Court, two years in the Appellate Court and four years in the Supreme Court.

Mr. Brennan will serve under a recess appointment until January when his formal nomination will be sent to the Senate. We believe the President has chosen wisely and that Mr. Brennan will prove himself an able and brilliant member of our highest court. He deserves and should get early Senate confirmation.

While playing baseball with her pupils, a 55-year-old teacher fractured her hip when she slid into first base. Under the circumstances, such an injury might well have been expected, but it would have been surprising if she had fractured her skull.

The Man About Town More Big Growths

Frost Fails to Stop Big Production in This Area

Slacker: A person who fails to register and vote.

Although much of the corn and potato crop has been frosted, this is a good farming year in the Pontiac area. Some of the corn was frozen while the grain was still in the "milk" but it will be good for silage, where a great part of the crop goes. Most potatoes had their growth before the first freeze.

Reports of big and unusual growths are numerous. Potatoes up to two and one-quarter pounds have been dug by Hubert Pete of Rochester, who says his neighbors have some almost as large.

Corn with three ears on a stalk is common in the field of Barney Inskeep of Walled Lake, some ears measuring up to 18 inches.

Tomatoes "as big as a dinner plate" and weighing five pounds are being picked in the garden of

Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Ostendorf in Birmingham. They are of a new variety and yellow in color.

Grown from seed sent her from China, Mrs. Mercedes Fleeson of Pontiac Lake has asters over seven inches across.

Hollyhocks are reported by Mrs. Rachael Fairweather of Drayton Plains, as being 18 feet tall and still growing.

Strawberry plants that did a top production stunt in their regular season in the garden of

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Hallworth of Waterford are now bearing again.

On her ninety-seventh birthday, Mrs. Marilla Hayward is doing all of her own work in keeping up her home at 155 North Genesee Ave., an outstanding example of growing old gracefully. She is the mother of Robert Y. Moore, Chairman of the Oakland County Board of Auditors.

David Lawrence Says:

What's Bad About Big Business?

WASHINGTON—The "big business" argument the Democrats have been using can boomerang. There are signs already it is doing so.

The point made by Adlai Stevenson is that President Eisenhower's administration is dominated by big business, influenced by big business and hence is hostile to little businesses and workmen.

This implies there is something unethical and improper about the President's record that somebody has benefited at somebody else's expense, and Eisenhower presumably is the enemy of the working man.

Small wonder the President hit back vehemently at such tactics when he said the other day at Cleveland:

"The opposition say that they alone care for the working men and women of America and that the Republican party is really a vague kind of political conspiracy by big business to destroy organized labor and to bring ruin and torment to every worker in America. This is more than political bunk. It is wilful nonsense. It is wicked nonsense, and they know it."

DISCOURAGE GROWTH

Turned over to the other side of the coin, Republican speakers can make a pretty good case on what the hostility of Democrats to big business could mean in legislative moves to harass, if not frustrate, the larger companies and prevent them from expanding. This could discourage job creation and fuller employment.

In Michigan, for instance, are three big businesses—Ford, General Motors and Chrysler. Would the workers in those plants benefit if a Democratic administration gets into power and starts breaking those companies? Employment in Michigan would take a drop, and there would be a chaotic period of stagnation if the federal government began to take over or to regulate the car industry.

Working for the government means labor unions lose their right to strike—their most important lever in collective bargaining. Radicals who favor government ownership as the alternative to big business operations had their way a few years ago in England. The Socialist Labor party voted to have the government take over the steel industry. But voters repudiated this at a later election.

Despite all the denunciation of "big business," there is no clear definition in the campaign by Democrats as to what they consider wrong about the large companies. If those companies are violating the antitrust laws and aren't being prosecuted, there could be a case made. But denunciation from the Democrats is of "big business" in general.

When it comes to enforcing the antitrust laws, the Eisenhower administration has been just as zealous as, if not more so than, its predecessors. The other day a business executive who heads up a large corporate enterprise was saying privately to me:

"I shall vote for Ike reluctantly. I like him personally. But his Department of Justice has caused my company more trouble than all the Democratic administrations in past years put together."

Democratic spokesmen always are trying to place "big business" in the position of seeking to eliminate unions. Actually, unions derive their right to exist from a statute of Congress, and no candidate or spokesman on the Republican side has proposed the repeal of the law given right of the unions to bargain collectively through their own representatives.

"What apparently is back of the drive against 'big business' is an effort to create a hostile atmosphere to the private-enterprise system itself—to cultivate the ground for the introduction of state socialism. Yet no body of workers in the world enjoys the high wages and the high standard of living which has been obtained for those workers under the private-enterprise system.

The truth is it is not professional politicians and radical organizations working for election of Stevenson that are really hostile to large business. Hence, it is surprising to see Adlai Stevenson adopting the antibusiness arguments of the radicals. This can only result in grave doubts among working men as to what would happen to them if a Democratic administration comes into power after a campaign based so definitely on speeches hostile to business. Dr. William Brady Says:

Should Take Precautions Against Spreading 'CRI'

The CRI is any of the Common Respiratory Infections—such as measles, grip, sore throat, scarlet fever, infantile paralysis, whooping cough, meningitis, acute sinusitis—that begins with coughing, sneezing, stuffiness of the nose, maybe some chilliness and feverishness. Ignorant folk never call it CRI. They call it "cold" and they are always willing to share it with you if you come within range.

If you can manage to keep five feet from the face of a talker with the CRI you are not likely to catch it. But this is not always easy. They want to get closer to you, and if they get as close as two or three feet you are in range for whatever they spray or sneeze in your direction.

Most people today are aware that the Common Respiratory Infections are communicable via cough and sneeze spray. Knowing this, and knowing how prevalent the CRI is in the season of artificial heating, they resent being coughed or sneezed upon by an unmasked boor.

But few are aware that quiet conversational spray may be just as dangerous, although the droplets of moisture are mostly too fine to be palpable as they strike the face, yet not too small to contain bacteria. Thus the only difference between cough or sneeze spray and conversational spray is the former carries ten or twelve feet, the latter less than five feet.

Best protection against spread of infection via mouth spray, whether it be cough, sneeze, or conversational spray, is a suitable face mask—not a gauze or cheesecloth mask, but a Silvers mask, instructions for making the mask being given in Volume 5 of the Pocket Health Encyclopedia Call it CRI, for which send 35 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Doctors and folks who persist in calling CRI "cold" are not likely to take precautions against spread of whatever they may have. Unfortunately for national well-being so many doctors and folks still believe drafts, wet feet, change of weather, and even dampness the cause of such illness, that the prevention of respiratory infection remains primarily a personal problem.

That is to say, in any circumstance you must decide for yourself whether to remain isolated, wear a mask or keep out of spray range of the ignoramus who comes to work, school, or the party in spite of an alleged you know what.

Empyema, mastoiditis, and rheumatic fever (formerly called inflammatory rheumatism) are three familiar complications or sequels of CRI. These and many other complications make respiratory infection accountable for about three-fourths of the work of physicians the year around. This is not just my estimate. It is the conclusion reached by the United States Public Health Service, from a survey conducted by officers in various urban and rural communities some thirty years ago.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 150 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan. (Copyright 1956)

Suggests Church Group Project

Elaine wants some helpful project which her young people's society can perform to help the church. So I have listed four which produce quick results. And they also furnish a lot of wholesome material for your discussion period at your Sunday night meeting. Christians should be star salesmen, so start Sunday afternoon, then report Sunday evening.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
Case S-383: Elaine B., aged 16, is an active member of the young people's society of her church.

"Dr. Crane, we need some projects to work on," she began with a smile.

"So can you offer us any suggestions? We want to do something definite to help make the world better."

CHURCH PROJECTS

First, get your priest or clergyman to assist you in dividing the area in which your church is located.

Then assign a number of city blocks to your members, who are to work in pairs as they make a weekly census.

"We are making a church census," each pair can say, after ringing the doorbell at every house on their list.

"Would you mind telling us if you belong to any church in the town?" and smile graciously.

If the answer is "Yes," then ask: "Did you go to your church last Sunday? You see, we are in a contest and get credit for stimulating more attendance at all churches, so we need to get our records straight at the start."

If the person says he did not

Residents of North Side Discuss Railroad Tracks

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

Interested in Progress

I was interested in the article on the opinion of Mr. Blackwood. Seeing he was so much for this switch yard in the north end, I took the liberty of consulting my phone book. I don't blame him for wanting it there; he lives on the other side of town.

I fear within a year my newly painted home would need another dressing up and my wife's washings would be three shades darker. The children wouldn't like the idea of crossing the tracks going to and from school. Let us be able to see clearly and not fight our way through the smoke.

John Q. Public

I am one of those who signed the petition against the switch tracks in the north end. Future expansion of Fisher Body to Livonia was planned before the tracks issue was brought to the public, so it doesn't sound like Pontiac expansion, no matter where the tracks are.

The citizens of the north end want Carlisle and Stanley avenue extended for the benefit of school children and factory workers who can't get home without a traffic jam.

We turned out a record number of cars in 1955 without the new railroad yards, and common sense will tell you that they would decrease the value of our homes. I believe at one time Grand Trunk was supposed to have put an overhead pass on Baldwin Avenue. Whatever happened to that job? That railroad siding won't be in Mr. Blackwood's back yard... he lives on Ottawa Drive.

ing such? Can't Grand Trunk be forced to aid in building such if they are allowed to build in Pontiac?

Since when does the railroad or any other private industry or business have the right to file a condemnation suit against anyone or persons in order to benefit their own desires? The project would be an eye sore to our city. Many have purchased new homes in this area with the understanding that the city intended to carry out their through streets to Walton Boulevard, which in turn would be of great benefit to the city and homeowners.

I understand the city has an ordinance prohibiting switching rail cars in the city limits. But how many times do you see traffic held up in such a way. There are also supposed to be only so many cars on one train, but at times both Columbia and Baldwin crossings are blocked by one train. It seems railroads are exempt from laws that others must follow.

1,800 people signed a petition in protest of this project. Why should it be forced on them?

Ike, Federal Debt, Teens Discussed

The only way to break up teenage gangs is to instruct the police to create the scalps of these cowardly hoodlums, smoke them out of their cellar hangouts with tear gas, and jail their parents and molls, known as "pigs" in gutter parlance. Arrest all street corner loiterers and put them in chain gangs at hard labor.

attend his church last Sunday, then urge him to do so this coming week, for you get credit if he does, regardless of his denomination.

And smilingly say, "I hope you don't mind if we call next week for our second survey?"

If, however, the person does not belong to any church, ask him if he has a preference. If so, recommend the nearest church of his faith.

If he is not a member and has no preference, then invite him to your own church. He will probably stall.

You get a higher batting average of attendance if you smile and say you'll pick him up with his family the next Sunday morning at your specified hour.

CHRISTIAN SALESMEN

Real Christians are supposed to be star salesmen, like St. Paul. And salesmen go out into the neighborhood to discover prospects.

Then they try to win the latter into being friends and finally customers for the churches.

If you young folks would work next Sunday from 2 to 5 p.m. on your fixed territory, which might include anywhere from 20 to 50 houses per team of interviewers, then you'd have something tangible to report on at your evening service.

This is ideal sales training for you young folks, as well as a boon to all the churches.

But memorize your questions and learn to smile. Turn on all your magnetism. Be enthusiastic, for you will surprise your pastor with the increase in attendance which you can create in a few weeks.

As a second and easier project, start a League of the Golden Pen. Bring paper and pens to your meeting. Then ask everybody to write a letter of cheer or consolation to somebody who would otherwise not hear from you folks.

Pick out anybody in your town or state who merits some sympathy or praise. Your letters will exert a golden influence for human betterment. And some of the replies will warm your hearts and renew your own fervor for more Christian work.

Third, if there are sick folks in your area, send a greeting with the signatures of all your group attached to it. Invalids relish such unexpected letters and cards.

And join the Compliment Club. Report each Sunday night in your meeting. For fuller advice thereon, send for the booklet on "The Compliment Club" enclosing a stamped return envelope plus 20 cents.

One copy will suffice for your whole group. If you fulfill the 30-day project, I'll send you the formal diploma.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 20 stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets. (Copyright 1956)

Mission: Win Statehood or Pay Your Own Way Back

Alaska Sending 3 to D. C. With Fare and a Prayer

JUNEAU, Alaska (U) — Tuesday. — Alaska's go to the polls to select for the first time two U. S. senators and a U. S. representative.

Once elected, these three men will have a legal mandate from their constituents but no seat in Congress.

Alaska is a territory, not a state. Under the Constitution it is entitled only to a delegate in Congress.

With election of their own senators and representative, campaigners for statehood hope they will have the weapon to finally end Alaska's long term as a territory.

FARE AND A PRAYER

The three men elected Tuesday will travel to Washington next year and present their credentials to the 85th Congress — and hope Congress will swing wide its doors to them, and to the territory.

As testimony of their confidence in this program—Alaskans plan to send the delegation with a one-way ticket.

How they get back is their own problem. Some Alaskans say they might as well stay "outside" unless their mission is successful.

Feb. 5 delegates completed and signed what is known as the "Constitution of the State of Alaska."

Tacked on the end was an ordinance providing for the "Alaska-Tennessee Plan," calling for the election of the congressional delegation.

It is modeled after a plan first used by Tennessee, when it decided its efforts for statehood would be enhanced if it went ahead and acted like a state — and sent senators and congressmen to Washington.

WORKED BEFORE

This was so successful it later was used by six other states which previously had been denied statehood by Congress. In each case, statehood followed within two years.

Most of Alaska's 300,000 residents deeply resent that agencies and departments appointed by and responsible to Washington control a great part of their economic life.

Only on their own, they feel, can Alaska develop its great resources. The possibilities in the territory almost are beyond conception.

It's true in many ways life in the territory differs from that in the States.

Motorists in Alaska don't bat an eye at paying 55 cents for a gallon of gasoline, or 65 cents for a hot dog or hamburger. The temperature skids to 60 below zero in the interior in the winter, and soars to 100 above in the summer. But residents of Fairbanks experience this every year — and thrive on it.

Rainfall in southeastern Alaska averages 150 inches a year. But residents smile through it and tell you of the 50 billion kilowatts in hydroelectric power that could be produced each year if the capital and the enterprise needed to tap it could be brought to the territory through statehood.

BIGGER THAN TEXAS

Alaskans live in a territory of 586,400 square miles, twice the size of Texas and one-fifth as large as the United States. And they think no more of flying 600 miles from the capital, Juneau, to go moose hunting at Anchorage, than would a farmer at Zionsville, Ind., think of driving a truckload of hogs 25 miles to Indianapolis.

Gold is just one of hundreds of business activities in the territory. Only the biggest firms can make operations pay with gold value set by the government at $35 an ounce.

Fishing is the most valuable commercial activity. But the annual return of other resources is catching up. The 1955 fishing catch was valued at almost 70 million dollars. Timber brought in nearly 30 million last year and will go higher this year. Mineral products produced almost 24 million in 1955 and the Alaska fur industry collected more than 1½ million for mink, beaver, marten, fox and other pelts.

Agricultural production, only $2,666,000 last year, helps account for the extremely high cost of living. The University of Alaska last June turned up with some figures which did not surprise Alaska housewives.

It said a list of 25 grocery items, including such things as a quart of milk, a pound of hamburger and a pound of potatoes, would cost $16.33 in Seattle. The same food would cost

$12.58 in Juneau — 22 per cent higher — and $16.32 in Fairbanks — 27 per cent higher. And

Kent County Dems Slate Oct. 17 Dinner Speaker

GRAND RAPIDS (U) — Gov. Abraham A. Ribicoff of Connecticut has been scheduled as principal speaker Oct. 17 in Grand Rapids at the Fifth District Congressional Dinner sponsored by the Kent County Democratic Committee and the Democratic Luncheon Club.

Dr. Louis Rozin, O. D. committee chairman, said Ribicoff will share the speaker's platform with George E. Clay, Democratic candidate for Congress from Michigan's Fifth District. Seattle's cost of living exceeds that of most of the United States.

Cost of living figures can be reduced, Alaskans feel, if only they can take advantage of resources at hand.

NEED GAS

For example, in Fairbanks heating a small five-room house during the long winter runs as high as $65 a month. Engineers say this would be reduced considerably if the government would release for development the Gubik natural gas range, 450 miles north.

Ten major oil companies are conducting active drilling explorations in Alaska. The reserves are said to be huge. Although water and air transportation have been the primary means of travel, highways are becoming more important.

During fiscal 1957, Alaska for the first time will come under the Federal Highway Act. More than 13 million dollars will be made available for road construction.

One of the first projects under this program will be a 1,000-mile road from Fairbanks to Nome.

Alaska is growing — but not as rapidly as many Alaskans feel it could. Only under statehood, they say, can their dream of Alaska be achieved.

All Governors Asked to Stir Voters on Ike Day

WASHINGTON (U) — The National Ike Day Committee today asked all state governors to join in a bipartisan get-out-the-vote drive in connection with observance of President Eisenhower's 66th birthday.

The observance will be held Oct. 13, the eve of the President's birthday which falls on a Sunday.

New Director Named by Polio Foundation

NEW YORK (INS) — Dr. Thomas M. Rivers of New York City, formerly vice president of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research, has been appointed medical director of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

River, who is leaving the national foundation Oct. 31 to become medical director of Geigy Pharmaceuticals of Ardley, N.Y., Dr. Van Riper joined the national foundation staff in 1945 and became medical director in 1946.

Turkey now has six cement factories and 11 others under construction.

ACROSS THE PACIFIC — A Japanese Girl

Far across the Pacific in Japan, a small country of many islands, lives Suki. Here she is, carrying her baby brother on her back. She is holding up her hands ready to carry some things, such as the fan (A) and lanterns shown in smaller sketches, which you will learn how to make tomorrow.

Suki wears a brightly colored kimono, a loose robe with big sleeves, and she carries her brother in a sling, as Japanese mothers sometimes do so that their hands can be free for work.

Use brightly contrasting colors when crayoning this picture, and then paste it on cardboard. Cut around the heavy outline and fold back the end panels so it will stand.

Figures B and C will show you how to fold a strip of paper into a little fan. Fasten one end of it with a piece of gummed tape and slip it into her hand. The small pictures of hands will show you how to cut slits so they will hold things.

(The $10 award goes to Lee Penndael, Luxemburg, Wis., for being the first to suggest this idea. Send your suggestions in care of this newspaper and you may win the award. Violet Moore Higgins, AP Newsfeatures.)

Link Tooth Rot to Growth Rate

Scientists Develop Rats to Show Thyroid Action Relates to Decay

EAST LANSING (U) — Body development and activity of the thyroid gland may have a bearing on tooth decay, a Michigan State University research team reports.

Differences in these two factors have been discovered in two strains of rats developed in the long-term MSU study of tooth decay. One strain of rats is susceptible to tooth decay. The other is not.

The research team found that once the initial period of body growth ends, decay-prone rats grow less than rats resistant to tooth decay.

As part of the same study, Drs. E. P. Reineke of the MSU College of Veterinary Medicine, and Waldo F. Keller of the University of Akron, noted a relationship between tooth decay and activity of the thyroid gland.

Injecting radioactive iodine into rats, they found a difference described as highly significant. Decay-prone rats retained more iodine in their thyroid glands than did resistant ones.

SOME PREFER CHECKERS—As hobbies go, some men prefer checkers to shark wrestling, but not Italian movie producer Goffredo Lombardo, who is seated astride his recent catch. The 1,330-pound female shark was captured and killed in an underwater encounter near San Felice Circeo, Italy. He plans to return to the depths for a bout with the shark's mate.

Suez Crisis Reason for First U.S. Visit

Smooth, Affable Shepilov, Russian Foreign Minister, Sets Up Shop at U.N.

Editor's Note: The writer of this dispatch has just returned to the United States after nearly three years as an Associated Press correspondent in Moscow.

By STANLEY JOHNSON
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Dmitri T. Shepilov, the Soviet foreign minister, starts operation on new grounds today.

He is making his first visit to the United Nations — and his first to the United States — in connection with the Suez Canal crisis. The base for his operations will be the delegates' lounge here in U.N. headquarters. Diplomatic horse-trading expected to take place there can vitally affect formal decisions on the explosive Suez issue in the Security Council.

This propagandist turned diplomat is an expert at such diplomatic talk. He is the undisputed champion of Moscow's cocktail diplomacy circuit.

Since the Kremlin collective leadership tossed aside the almost impenetrable curtain of personal aloofness which hid Joseph Stalin, Shepilov has steadily forged to the front as its most adroit exponent of what Westerners called "vodka diplomacy."

One reason for his success is that, unlike some other topranking leaders, he has never been the worse for liquor in public.

Invariably dressed in brown, over six feet tall, built like a half-back, Shepilov occupies a strategic corner at Kremlin and embassy parties — putting the Soviet line over to diplomats and newsmen. He prefers scotch to vodka when he can get it. At Soviet-hosted parties he generally takes Armenian cognac.

Shepilov speaks at such gatherings with complete good humor, punctuating his remarks with roars of gusty laughter. Unlike his colleagues, he does not guide all conversations but will answer questions on any subject. Unless the questioner speaks Russian these conversations must be carried on through an interpreter; Shepilov speaks no other language.

Diplomats in Moscow generally believe that Shepilov has considerable latitude regarding tactical decisions in the field of foreign policy, but that matter of grand strategy are decided jointly by his superiors in the Kremlin hierarchy.

Although he is smooth and affable in his social diplomacy, he has never been known to yield a point except for future gain.

Union Members Aid Mennen Co. Defense

LANSING 48—A union, the Allied Industrial Workers, has come to the defense of the Mennen Co., a New Jersey cosmetics firm of which Gov. G. Mennen Williams' mother is a vice president.

The fact the company is incorporated in New Jersey and not Michigan and its labor relations were criticized recently by Detroit Mayor Albert E. Cobo, a Republican attempting to upset Williams' ambitions for a fifth term.

Edward T. Donahue, Allied Industrial Workers director for region 7, issued the following statement in Lansing:

"The statement of Mayor Cobo that the Mennen Co. 'broke' the union in its plant is entirely contrary to the facts.

The union involved was local 102 of our international, formerly known as the UAW-AFL. The Mennen Co. recognized local 102 in 1951.

"In 1953, another union, the AFL Chemical Workers, claimed to represent the workers and asked for an NLRB (National Labor Relations Board) election. The NLRB ordered the election upon expiration of the UAW-AFL contract. The two unions on the ballot failed to get a combined majority, and the UAW therefore ruled that the UAW-AFL had lost bargaining rights.

Red Economic Offensive Aids United Europe Idea

By JOSEPH L. PEARLMAN
INS Staff Writer

The synchronized economic program behind the Iron Curtain may not be setting off cheers among all the satellites, but it is helping the cause of West European union.

British officials are understood to be sounding out commonwealth members on proposals to bring Britain into a trade association with Western Europe.

This is a big step for the British, who all along have shied away from direct union with the free part of the continent.

But apparently Moscow's economic offensive is giving the British second thoughts on the problem.

The idea would be to set up a free-trading union capable of competing not only with the Soviet Union but with America.

MIKED REACTION

According to reports in London, Chancellor of the Exchequer Harold Macmillan sounded out commonwealth finance ministers on the plan recently and got a mixed reaction.

The first press reaction in Britain itself was far from enthusiastic. But the basic idea of British participation alone is enough to make French and West German advocates of European union happy.

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of West Germany has warned repeatedly that the free nations of Europe, each acting independently, cannot hope to cope with the problems confronting them. In the interest of self-preservation, according to Adenauer, there must be integration, including Britain.

French Premier Guy Mollet talked up the idea of more cooperation from Britain when he saw Sir Anthony Eden in Paris recently, and got the British Prime Minister to agree to join in seeking "constructive results."

So far, there have been few positive clues as to the results of Russia's new economic push to support its foreign policy.

SIMULTANEOUS PLANS

For the first time, the Soviet Union, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Romania, Bulgaria, Albania and East Germany inaugurated five-year plans at the same time—the beginning of 1956.

Communist sources have reported that East Germany agreed to concentrate on soft coal, steel and iron production; Czechoslovakia and Poland on hard coal and chemicals; Albania on chrome; Bulgaria, non-ferrous metals and chemicals; Hungary, aluminum; and Romania, petroleum and natural gas.

A few weeks ago, Russia agreed to a $175-million loan to Yugoslavia so that she could boost aluminum production to the point where it could be sold to other countries.

But despite the careful planning, all is far from well economically. Reports from Warsaw say that Poland is faced with a more serious economic crisis now than prior to the labor rebellion that ignited the Poznan riots last June.

Northland Helps Prof Puncture Idle Texas Boast

EAST LANSING 48—A Michigan State University professor today took a little wind out of a Texas brag.

Dr. David J. Luck, director of the MSU Bureau of Business Research, said the claim by Texas Gov. Allan Shivers that Texas has the world's largest shopping center just isn't so.

"The truth of the matter is that 'Northland' in Oakland County, remains the largest shopping center," Luck said.

Luck said shopping centers in New York and Oregon also are larger than the new $32,000,000 shopping center near Houston.

He added a few other facts about the Texas center. "It was developed by relations from Boston, Mass., was financed in part by a Connecticut insurance company and was planned by an architect from Seattle, Wash.," he said.

Nike Base Takes Part in All-Day Battalion Session

Men stationed at the U. S. Army Nike base in Auburn Heights took part in the Organizational Day program of the 516 AAA Missile Battalion held recently at the Selfridge Air Force Base in Mt. Clemens.

The base serves as headquarters for various missile units stationed throughout the area.

A battalion formation and review, platoon drills, and athletic events were covered in the all-day session which was concluded by a USO show.

Battalion Commander Major Emil M. Ulanowicz, presided over the festivities honoring the 13th anniversary of the unit's organization.

The 516th was activated for both World War II and the Korean War and was the first Nike-type group in the greater Detroit area.

The unit was converted to Nike in 1954 to become the fourth such U. S. Battalion to occupy defensive positions. All practice firing is done on a special range in New Mexico.

Bait Dealer Fattens Worms on Cornmeal

PETOSKEY 48—Feeding his worms on cornmeal is the secret of success for a young Petoskey bait dealer.

Ten-year-old Jack McClellan, who had a net $100 profit last year, expanded this year from one feed bed to three where he keeps 9,000 night crawlers on hand.

Jack observes that coffee grounds fatten the worms "but they get lazy and aren't lively like they are on cornmeal."

Show Business Behind the Iron Curtain

'Dear Ike: Let's Trade Culture With Reds'

The following article is the last in a series by Billy Rose on his recent trip through the Soviet Union during which he viewed Russian shows and sought to reach agreement on his proposal to exchange entertainment.

An Open Letter to The President

Dear Mr. President:

This is the last of six pieces on my trip to the Iron Curtain countries, and I address it to you, sir, because, without knowing it, you were pretty much responsible for my going.

May I explain . . .

At Geneva about a year ago, Mr. John Foster Dulles and the foreign ministers of Great Britain and France presented a 17-point program to Russia which aimed "to bring about such freer contacts and exchanges as are to the mutual advantage of the countries and peoples concerned."

Three of the 17 points had to do with show business. Namely:

Point 6 suggested the exchange of film "at normal commercial prices and on normal commercial terms."

Point 7 recommended "exchanges of exhibitions between the Soviet Union and the three Western countries."

Point 14 called for "cultural exchanges on a reciprocal basis, drawing on the best each has to offer."

This program, as you know, was never accepted by the Soviets, and more's the pity because, as you pointed out, it might have gone a long way toward easing the tensions and tantrums of the world.

This summer, with the knowledge of the State Department, I went to Moscow and four other Communist capitals to see if I couldn't sell their Ministries of Culture on the even-Stephen exchange of artists you had proposed.

I know it was presumptuous, but I was curious to find out whether a Broadway showman, with no official credentials, couldn't get them to see the wisdom of Point 14, and agree to the swap they had previously rejected.

FIVE AGREEMENTS

The result, sir, was five agreements in principle which provide for an exchange of up to 1,000 performers in 1937, and at terms which are right down the middle and fair to both sides.

These documents were forwarded to the State Department by our embassies abroad and, shortly after my return, I went down to Washington and discussed this program with the officials in charge of international cultural relations.

I hope you won't think I'm naive enough to believe that such an exchange would cause Nikita Khrushchev and his co-conspirators to suddenly switch signals and cool down the Hot Peace they have substituted for the Cold War.

The fact is that I came home convinced that Communism is a good deal more than an economic system—it's virtually a new religion, and its high priesthood consists of dedicated and fanatical men.

Their methods may change—their objectives never. And, if I may crib a line from Mr. Bernard Baruch, I don't think we should ever fall asleep with our fingers in their mouths.

MUST SELL CULTURE

Nevertheless, from what I saw and heard, I'm certain there are millions of people behind the Iron Curtain whose dedication is less than utter. And I'm certain it could only show a net gain for our side if we were to convince these people that we haven't forgotten them, and that we can give a good account of ourselves in any cultural exchange.

Of course, somebody is bound to bring up the old argument that all Communists, even ballerinas and balalaika players are spies. This, I submit, is so much jabberwocky. If the Communists want the low-down on a new nuclear gimmick, they're a clutch to use trained technicians who know what to look for, not stage people who don't know a proton from a pastrami.

It's my belief you could explain the formula for smashing the atom to Odrasiov, their great puppeteer, and by the time he got back to the Kremlin it would be a recipe for chicken outfit Klevsky.

How would Communist entertainment stack up against ours? Pretty well, sir, when it came to the time-tested and traditional forms. However, in the fields of modern music and stagecraft, we would run looping circles around them, as witness their reactions to "Porgy and Bess" which knocked them off their proletarian pins.

To sum up, I'm convinced that a substantial swap of music and laughter, as suggested by Point 14, can only make people over there feel a bit better about people over here. It's hard to despise a nation when your feet are beating time to its music.

May I, therefore, respectfully ask, Mr. President, that you give your approval and support to the program I have mapped out for the practical implementation of Your Point 14. What would it cost? The total tab, sir, would be less than what it costs to put a new coat of paint on a battleship.

Incidentally—and I'm not speaking as Republican, Democrat, or Single Taxer—I'd like to compliment you on the change for the better in our embassy staffs abroad.

Six years ago, when I took a swing around the world, I was plenty distressed by the goings-on in some of our legations. Most of them were being run like country clubs and some were crawling with homberg-wearers who were not above dabbling a bit of rouge on their cheeks.

This summer, I took a good gander at our setups in Moscow, Warsaw, Prague, Belgrade and Bucharest, and I'm happy to report that, without exception, the fellas behind the desks were fellas. What's more, they were at those desks and working at 8 o'clock in the morning. As for the ambassadors, they are polished pros who are stuck on the country they represent and don't care who knows it.

Respectfully,
Billy Rose
P.S.—I mean no disrespect with my rag-tag English. When I write out of the side of my mouth, it's because I don't know how to do it any other way.

Dewey Attacks Adlai in Speech

Says Dem Nominee Issues 'Untruths' in Charging Ike

NEW YORK (NS)—Former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey says Adlai E. Stevenson has tried to "destroy the character of the president of the United States" and the character of his brother, Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, by a "witch's brew."

Dewey also accused the Democratic presidential nominee of issuing a "miserable collection of untruths" in charging that the Eisenhower administration aped the Peron regime in Argentina.

The former governor told his listeners on a nationwide ABC television and radio broadcast last night that he hoped they were "as outraged as I am by the disgraceful attacks" by Stevenson.

Dewey, whose 15-minute talk was sponsored by the Republican National Congressional Committee, called Stevenson "ill-informed, impulsive" and "mediocre" and "not even in the same league with President Eisenhower." In fact, he said so himself. On July 20, 1952, Mr. Stevenson himself said, concerning the presidency, and I quote him:

"I have no fitness—temperamentally, mentally or physically—for the job."

Stevenson, said Dewey, would "either be president than right" and is so "frantic for office that he will say anything to get there."

Dewey, the unsuccessful Republican presidential nominee in 1948 and 1952, called Eisenhower "the strongest, finest leader we have ever had."

Old Days Were Best

READING, Pa. (AP)—The 20th century suffered an embarrassing setback here on a Reading street when a horse-drawn cart and a new automobile tangled bumpers. The cart, owned by Charles Williams, was backed into the parked car by an unattended horse. The car fender was wrinkled and the cart and horse didn't suffer a single scratch.

Bob Considine Says:

Taxpayer Gets No Chance to Strike Back

NEW YORK (NS)—NBC's Bill Chaplin had an unenviable brush with the income tax people the other day. Bill, one of the best reporters I ever met, told about it on Morgan Beatty's show.

additional $87 off him (which should buy a new muffler for Title's rented dog.) Bill thanked him for the courteous gesture but Mr. Hamburger shook his head.

Regulations, Mr. Hamburger said. The rules say that taxpayers must be ushered out of the place by accredited employees of the government, to be sure they do not steal any government property—like an inkwell.

In the first place, the agent assigned to pull him through the meat-grinder was named Hamburger.

Mr. Hamburger showed Bill to the elevator upon shearing an

"But nobody accompanied me when I came in to see you," Bill said.

"People never are escorted in," Mr. Hamburger said. "It's only when they go out. You see, they're usually mad."

JAPANESE METHOD

Tom Dewey reminds me of pre-war Japanese baseball pitchers who, when knocked out of the box for ineffectual pitching, would spend the remainder of the game throwing hard and furiously to an auxiliary catcher along the side-lines.

This showed what stuff they might have displayed if they had been left in the game. Occasional fans in the stands were inclined to consider this a matter of too late.

At San Francisco and in his rare but explosive campaign appearances, Dewey has shown a vigor and two-facedness which, in another day and time, could well have put him in the White House.

A World Series emphasizes the value of sports and its effect on those who play games well. In this annual contest between the two best ball clubs we have the absolute last word in honest endeavor, all-out physical and mental effort, sportsmanship, guts, etc.

Yet some of these men might have become bums or worse if it were not for the game of baseball and the opportunity they were given first to play it and later to master it with the help of good counsel, equipment, facilities and the like. Today they are a responsible and honored segment of society.

WASTED TALENT

There are thousands of embryo big leaguers going to pot in New York City and elsewhere in the country while the World Series is being played, principally because people don't contribute enough money to make a go of such wonderful organizations as, let us say, New York Police Athletic League, Inc., of 400 Broome St. Thomas J. Deegan, Jr., general chairman.

PAL must care this year for 300,000 kids. The cost will run $1,462,938. The dough is coming in too slow for adequate operation of its 35 youth centers, 53 playstreets and grounds, summer camp, etc.

PAL is sponsored by the New York Police Department and is not supported by public tax money. It was organized to develop friendly relationships between the youngster and the cop on the beat.

It gives a kid a chance, who otherwise would have none, and never asks him his color, religion, nationality, or the way he plans to vote in 1970. Contributions to it, from a dime up, are tax free.

A buck spent now in this direction might be instrumental in putting a star on the field when the Yanks and Dodgers play in the 1970 series. Who can challenge that or any part thereof?

Antarctic Growing

WASHINGTON — By Christmas of 1957 the year-round population of Antarctica will total many hundreds of men, citizens of a dozen nations taking part in the greatest scientific assault ever made on the secrets of the white continent. If United States plans for the International Geophysical Year carry through, 15 of the number will be Americans living and working atop the geographic South Pole itself, the National Geographic Society says.

Wear Color to Gain Patient Confidence

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—The occupational therapy staff at Central State Hospital, a mental institution, is trying a new twist to gaining patient confidence.

The women are wearing soft pastel pinfolds instead of the stiff white uniforms.

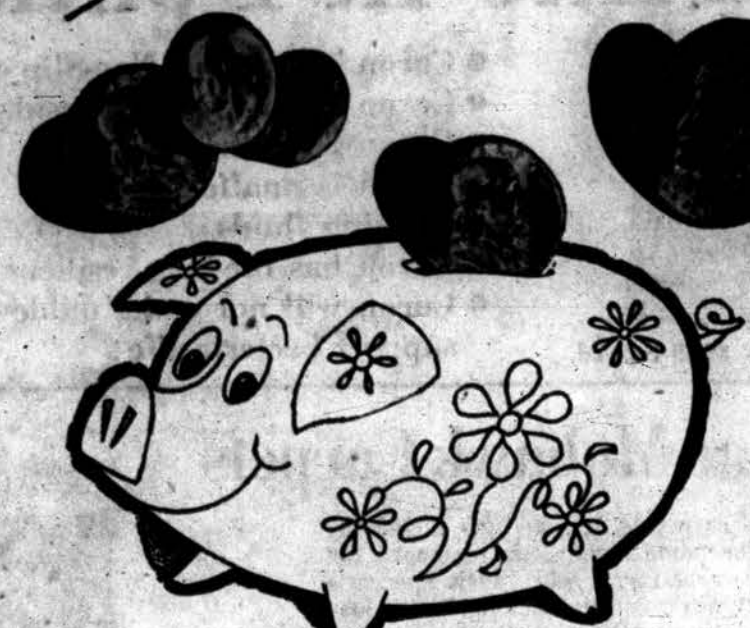

Mrs. Joann Padgett, staff director, says it is easier for the staff to "establish rapport with the patients if we aren't associated with the white worn by doctors and nurses."

SURPRISE VISIT — Yugoslav President Tito, right, surprise visitor to the Black Sea coast, walks with Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev, center, and Soviet Foreign Minister Dmitri Shepilov at Sebastopol, Crimea. Although Tito's visit to the Soviet Union was described as a "vacation," unconfirmed reports say important talks are going on.

Doctor Believes Sex Education Kills Romance

Are Adults Too Frank About Facts of Life?

By PHYLIS BATTLE
NEW YORK (INS)—For the past "sex-enlightened" decade, parents have been harshly chastised for being too timid to tell their children the facts of life.

Everyone who speaks out on the matter—from the late Doctor Kinsey to the glamor names of Hollywood—has recommended a policy of sitting junior down in a quiet corner and "explaining" things to him.

Frequently, when junior has leveled with his parents and confessed what he already knows, this sort of man-to-boy conversation has taken a tidy three minutes. (Children traditionally learn more about love and life from other children than they do from adults.)

But the insistence still has been there among the modern generation of broadminded philosophers: "Tell him everything early, so he will not be inhibited or frightened or stupid."

Today an established doctor named Alexander Reid Martin has come out with a question regarding this theory. "Aren't we perhaps being too frank?" he asks, in a magazine piece. "There is much to be said for an old-fashioned—even prudish—approach to the facts of life."

DELICACY SUGGESTED

He writes, "I am absolutely sure that all the prissiness of the Victorian era, with the children whispering among themselves and the parents blushing and coughing at embarrassing questions, did more to invest the 'facts of life' with the delicacy that belongs to it than our clinical, casual, detached frankness."

The reason is that this "casual frankness" is shockingly cold and clinical and invests the idea of love and marriage with about as much emotional tenderness as a trip to Grant's Tomb.

Presented thus, says the psychiatrist, the whole matter tends to make an adolescent suppress his real feelings as surely and effectively as did the adolescents in the old days when the whole subject was associated with guilt complexes.

Dr. Martin blames the whole confusing chaos on the fact that Americans have become victims of their own technological progress. No longer is anything amazing. In science, medicine, architecture—almost everything is possible. And they figure that goes for humans sex most intellectually at dinner parties—but feels no particular warmth or curiosity about the experience of loving when it comes to him.

"Even a baby, Americans think, can be developed, improved, cured, solved and perfected just like a product. From the moment a child is born, they start molding him into a midget grownup."

"There's no longer any time for a childish child. It's not often he (a child) enjoys the satisfaction his senses crave of just being able to cuddle up against his father or mother . . ." according to Dr. Martin.

And so, the curious little kid is given the straight dope about the birds and the bees from his father. He is informed. He is mature. The result?

Instead of shyly, perhaps fearfully, approaching love and marriage like the Victorians, he grows up into a man who can discuss

Ship Output Doubled

BERGEN, Norway—Annual production of Norway's shipyards has more than doubled in the past five years and now stands at more than 130,000 tons, counting only steel ships. The yards employ 13,000 workers, supervisors, technicians, and naval architects, about the same number as in 1945 when output totaled only 20,338 tons.

Church Members Just Dial for Prayer

TOLEDO, Ohio (U)—A "dial-a-prayer" service was inaugurated here this week by St. Paul's Lutheran Church.

Any members of the church who feel in need of a prayer can just pick up their phone, dial the service number, and hear two different prayers a day.

The number of the service was not made public.

An Ohio Bell Telephone Co. spokesman said similar services in Cleveland, Columbus and Dayton had been cut off when the number of calls threatened to overload telephone circuits to the point of breakdown.

'You Top Elvis,' Coeds Squeal at Sen. Kennedy

OWENSBORO, Ky. (U. P.)—Sen. John F. Kennedy, a man the college girl thinks is "better than Elvis Presley," rallied to the support of the Democratic ticket here last night.

But before the youthful Massachusetts senator arrived, he stirred up something of an uproar at Louisville's Ursuline College. The girls swarmed around his car, squealing and screaming, "You're better than Elvis Presley."

He told a Democratic rally "one could not help but admire that speech—it sounded good; it read good; it had all the right phrases about peace and progress and prosperity . . ."

But, he continued, "I would ask the voters of Kentucky to ask themselves one question:—How does it square with the facts?"

SOMERVILLE, N. J. (U. P.)—Army Sec. Wilber Brucker says Adlai Stevenson "has threatened the very foundations of our army" by proposing an end to H-bomb tests and the draft.

Speaking at $50 plate fund raising dinner by the Somerset County Republican committee, Brucker said last night such action would "undermine our military strength and ultimately our national will to resist an aggressor."

Hermiz Slayer Wins Time to Appeal Case

DETROIT (U. P.)—Maurice Hamilton, serving life in prison for the slaying of his mistress' husband, was given another three months yesterday in which to appeal his first degree murder conviction.

Hamilton's attorney said it would take that long to study a transcript of the trial. Recorder's Judge Frank G. Schemanski granted the extension.

Hamilton, a 23-year-old Iraqi student, was convicted after a long and bizarre trial in the knife slaying of Aziz Heymis, a countryman who had befriended him. The state accused Hamilton and Heymis' wife, Victoria, of doing away with her husband after they had entered into an illicit relationship. Mrs. Heymis, also charged with first degree murder, was found innocent by reason of insanity and committed to an institution.

U.S. in a Tizzy Over Aid to Tito

Deadline Near for Ike to Decide if Yugoslavia Deserves Help

WASHINGTON (U. P.)—The U.S. government is reported to be still completely in the dark—and deeply concerned—about the purpose of Yugoslav President Tito's present talks with Russian leaders.

In this uncertain situation, State Department officials are considering Communist Yugoslavia's urgent request for emergency American wheat shipments to meet a severe shortage.

There was reason today to believe the wheat request may be separated from the broader problem confronting President Eisenhower, who faces a decision by Oct. 16 on whether or not Yugoslavia is still eligible for general economic and military assistance from the United States.

The best available information is that Eisenhower may announce then that he is without sufficient information to rule on the broad question but that he believes Yugoslavia to be qualified for U.S. wheat shipments.

On the whole Yugoslav aid program, Congress specified that such help be halted entirely unless Eisenhower determines by Oct. 16 not only that Yugoslavia is following an independent foreign policy but that continuing economic and arms aid to her would be in the national interest.

There is hope at the State Department that before the deadline for this decision, there will be some word from Tito, relayed by U.S. Ambassador James W. Riddleberger. Dispatches from Belgrade and Moscow indicated Tito might return home today.

Officials here tend to discount the general speculation from Belgrade and elsewhere in Europe that Tito suddenly flew to the Crimea with Soviet Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev to help defend Khrushchev against colleagues critical of the program to discredit Joseph Stalin.

Official speculation in Washington tends to the line that Khrushchev asked Tito to go to Russia to debate Yugoslavia's relations with the Soviet Union and with the Eastern European satellite countries.

2 Men in a Hole for Stealing Iron

DETROIT (U. P.)—Patrolmen James Parcella and Roger Barthlow took a second gander as they cruised down big, wide Gratiot avenue. There in front of them were two men calmly lifting manhole covers into a junk cart in broad daylight.

Parcella and Barthlow said they watched four heavy, iron covers wrestled into the cart before grabbing Willie Jessup, 58, and Haviiah Vixon, 49, for investigation of grand larceny.

The policemen said the two men told them they were merely "collecting scrap iron." Police listed both as vagrants.

Independence Hall in Philadelphia, where the Declaration of Independence was signed in 1776, is undergoing a $30 million restoration project.

Williams Nips Cobo Boast on Housing

KALAMAZOO (U. P.)—Gov. Williams yesterday accused Detroit Mayor Albert Cobo of "blundering" in Detroit's 128-acre Gratiot redevelopment project.

Williams, seeking re-election to a fifth term, told a Democratic dinner Cobo, Republican gubernatorial nominee, practiced "gross deception" in claiming credit for the Gratiot project.

He said Cobo persuaded the city fathers to buy the tract in 1959 and clear it of its slums.

"But after he had cleared the land, leaving a vast area of desolation in the heart of Detroit, my opponent couldn't find any way to develop it," Williams said.

Finally, Williams said, a citizens committee was formed to get the project under way. Walter Reuther, UAW president, was a member of the committee and the union donated the first $10,000 toward a citizens' corporation, he added.

"This is the project which my opponent now is representing, in speeches and movies, as one of his accomplishments. If elected governor, he promises he will do this kind of job for the whole state."

No One Willing to Resist Lewis

Miners' Leader Wins $2.40 Daily Pay Hike Without a Fight

CINCINNATI (U) — Labor leader John L. Lewis nowadays is like a baseball slugger who gets walked every time he comes to bat. No body will fight him anymore.

The 76-year-old Lewis, still hale and hearty, signed a fat new wage contract for soft coal miners yesterday, calling for a $2.40 per day package raise in wages and holiday benefits.

There have been rumors that Lewis, perhaps somewhat bored with the relative ease with which coal wage negotiations are carried on now, may bow out as UMW president but remain in charge of the union's 140-million-dollar welfare fund and substantial investments.

The new coal contract is to run one year until Oct. 1, 1957 or longer, unless terminated by either side. It calls for a two-stage $2 per day boost in wages—$1.20 retroactive to last Monday, and another 80 cents next April 1—plus 40 cents per day worth of added holiday benefits. This will increase basic daily pay for miners to $22.25.

Edward G. Fox, new president of the Bituminous Coal Operators Assn., made and signed the deal with Lewis. Fox declined to say whether he expected coal price increases.

But Lewis frankly said he expects price boosts.

Industry sources forecast coal price increases of about 25 to 30 cents a ton. Lewis said he expects the deal he made with Fox, covering about 150,000 of the soft coal industry's some 200,000 workers, to spread to the rest of the industry.

Lewis gave special tribute in addressing the UMW's 3,000 convention delegates here to the role Thomas Kennedy, UMW vice president, played in negotiating the new contract. Lewis said he merely "held the lamp" while Kennedy did the work.

If Lewis decided to bow out as UMW president, Kennedy, 68-year-old former lieutenant governor of Pennsylvania, would become his immediate successor.

Pork Is Leaner

CHICAGO — The nation's livestock growers are sending leaner pork to market these days. During the first half of 1956 the number of hogs that went to market was about 18 per cent over the total for the first six months of 1955. Pork volume, however, was only about 13 per cent higher.

IN GEORGE'S CORNER — President Eisenhower shakes hands with Sen. George Bender upon his arrival in Cleveland, as Sen. John W. Bricker (R-Ohio), and Mrs. Eisenhower look on.

The President visited Cleveland primarily to aid the senatorial campaign of Bender who is opposed in his re-election bid by Ohio's Gov. Frank Lausche.

A-Boss Rebuffs Estes on Power

Strauss Says It's False U.S. Is Behind Russia, Britain in Development

WASHINGTON (U) — Chairman Lewis L. Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission describes as "patently false" Sen. Estes Kefauver's statement that the United States trails Britain and Russia in atomic power development.

Strauss said the Democratic vice presidential nominee "further distorted the facts" and engaged in "malicious innuendo" in a Tuesday speech at Los Alamos, N.M., criticizing the Eisenhower administration's handling of atomic energy.

The White House made public last night Strauss' "memorandum to the President." Press secretary James C. Hagerty said President Eisenhower ordered the action "to keep the facts straight."

Strauss said that when the present administration took office, "the development of atomic power for commercial use was stalled on dead center." He asked Kefauver to explain why.

As a result of developments since then, he said, this country will have in operation at Shippingport, Pa., next year, what he called "the first large, full-scale atomic power plant in the world, exclusive for civilian use."

Sixteen others are under construction or planned for completion by 1962, Strauss said, and of these five are to be built without any direct government financial assistance. . . . So far as is known, Strauss said, Russia now has "nothing but a small, 5,000-kilowatt reactor which already is as obsolete as the Model T."

A garden at Corpus, England, has yielded a 4,000-year-old Stone Age axe-head.

Test Apple Storage

KELOWNA, B.C. (U)—British Columbia Tree Fruits Ltd., a growers cooperative, will investigate the use of "controlled atmosphere" storage for the B.C. Interior's famed apple crop. Now used in the United States and eastern Canada, the system keeps apples in prime condition longer than conventional storage.

Seek Leukemia, Cancer Cures

Doctor Says Answer to One May Bring Aid to Other

GRAND RAPIDS (U) — Dr. John Rebeck, chief hematologist at Henry Ford Hospital in Detroit, says solving the riddle of leukemia will bring answers to the entire cancer question.

Leukemia generally is described as a type of cancer which attacks bone marrow and reveals itself in an overgrowth of white blood cells in the patient's blood.

"Barring major war," Dr. Rebeck said, "the (leukemia) question should be resolved within the lifetime of any of us."

Dr. Rebeck termed "most unnatural" a recent Grand Rapids case in which twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. John Van Lopik were victims of leukemia since the disease is not known to be hereditary. The little girls died last February and April.

WHITES BOOK Their case is mentioned in Dr. Rebeck's book, "The Leukemias," first publication on the subject in 20 years. It's co-author is Prof. Frank Bethell of the University of Michigan Medical School. Dr. Rebeck said leukemia incidence has increased 600 per cent in the past 30 years, appreciably due "to diagnostic efficiency." Of 100,000 persons who die annually through medical causes, he said, 60 are leukemia victims. Hardest hit groups are the very young and persons over 50, Dr. Rebeck added.

Wife of Rochester's Son Wins Divorce Over Pies

LOS ANGELES (U)—A default divorce has been granted the wife of Billy Anderson, son of comedian Eddie (Rochester) Anderson. Mrs. Geraldyn Anderson, 38, testified yesterday that the former track and football star struck her during an argument over two pies she had baked. The couple, married March 13, 1955, have no children.

Anderson, also 38, is free on bond pending appeal of a federal narcotics conviction.

Tractors Aid Denmark

AARHUS, Denmark—The number of tractors in Denmark has risen from 3,500 before World War II to more than 62,000 and the total value of agricultural production has quadrupled since 1938.

More than 800,000 couples make applications to adopt children in the U.S. each year. There are about 30,000 children available. Largest number of U.S. Tourists in Europe in 1954 went to France, Great Britain, Italy, Germany and Switzerland in that order.

TAKE UP TO A YEAR TO PAY

Over the teacups, members of Jimmy Day Amvets Auxiliary discussed plans for the fourth annual "Broomstick Whirl" to be held Saturday evening at the Keego Harbor VFW Hall. Shown are (left to right) Mrs. Muriel Sadler of Drayton Plains, Mrs. John Allen of Marlborough drive, Mrs. John Moss of Edgewater drive, Mrs. Leland Hunt of James K boulevard and Mrs. Louis Hadden of Wisner street.

Post Set for 'Whirl'

Holds Organizational Meeting

Oakland Group to Aid Mentally Ill

The Oakland County Citizen's well and return to an accepting community.

Committee for Pontiac State Hospital will hold its next meeting at the hospital on Oct. 17 at 7:30 p.m.

WORK ON BYLAWS

Committee chairman Donald Harrower of Holly announced at the Tuesday meeting that Jerry Schweizer of Royal Oak will lead the bylaws committee, and will be assisted by Mrs. Clarence Chapman and Mrs. Thomas Yowell, also of Royal Oak.

Mrs. Jack Alpert leads a committee that will sponsor a card party as the group's first project. She will be aided by Mrs. Marjorie Gerkin and Mrs. Donald Harrower, all from Holly.

Mrs. Leon Glynn of Pontiac will handle the correspondence for the committee.

Among those present at the meeting were Rev. John A. Trese, director of Catholic Family Service, Rabbi Beth Jacob and the Rev. C. G. Widdfield of All Saints Episcopal Church.

The Oakland County Citizen's

Committee for Pontiac State Hospital will hold its next meeting at the hospital on Oct. 17 at 7:30 p.m.

Sorority Sees Slides of Europe

Alpha Delta Kappa Unit Hears of Trip by Mrs. Pettengill

Mrs. Ruth Wright opened her home on Chippewa road Thursday evening for the dessert and meeting of Zeta Chapter of Alpha Delta Kappa Sorority. Mrs. William Wright assisted the hostess.

Yellow chrysanthemums and matching colored tapers centered the buffet table.

SHOWS SLIDES

Mrs. Elmer R. Pettengill showed colored slides of her recent European trip. Remarking on the situations they found while traveling Mrs. Pettengill said that building was going on in Lisbon just as it is here.

"One does see lots of poverty but the country is much cleaner than Spain and the people seem to be trying harder," she said. Building was again evidenced in Zurich.

The speaker told of the interesting manner in which cattle are identified.

"The smaller the animal the larger the bell, the larger having larger bells. This enables the herder to tell the size without actually seeing them," Mrs. Pettengill said.

Traveling to Heidelberg, Mrs. Pettengill said, took them over 100 miles of highways like our expressways. During the entire tour she said, they traveled on wonderful roads.

An interesting feature in Edinburgh was that the shops are only on one side of the street. Gardens are on the other side. Mrs. Pettengill said this created quite a traffic problem.

IRELAND DAMP

"Fires are kept going constantly in the homes in Ireland because of the dampness," the speaker remarked. "In Adair there is 100 per cent employment."

Mrs. Pettengill concluded by saying, "Portugal and Austria are two countries to which I would like to return."

Guests attending the evening meeting were Mrs. Lucille Tenny, Mrs. Elmer Thorpe and Josephine Stilwell.

MRS. CAROLINE NORWOOD

Tuesday Musicales to Hear Pianist Caroline Norwood

Mrs. Caroline Norwood, a graduate of the Juilliard School of Music, New York, will be guest artist at the Tuesday Musicales meeting being held in Grace Lutheran Church at 2 p.m. Tuesday.

Following her graduation from music school, Mrs. Norwood continued her studies at Fontainebleau, France.

Eye Tricks Take Testing Under Light

Play Up Peekers but Be Sure to Use Some Restraint

In addition to many women with unfortunate teeth or what they may consider "bad" noses, there are many other women who want to call attention to good-looking eyes without looking like a vamp.

The tricks are few and they don't take much practice.

Results, however, should be tested under ordinary room lighting as well as before the mirror, since room lighting tends to cast shadows under the eyes anyway.

Sometimes what seems like a little eyeshadow may look like two sleepless nights, when seen in ordinary overhead light.

The eyebrows are the first consideration. Today, the trend is toward slightly thicker, naturally curved brows. Take a look at the lovely girls in the advertising sketches today as compared to some years ago to see what this means.

PLUCK UNDER BROWS

The brows should not be plucked into skimpy, exaggerated arches. Pluck under the brows, if at all. Use a sharp eyebrow pencil to point up the top of the curve or lengthen the brows, if necessary. Use feathery strokes to make lash-like lines.

A light film of baby oil wiped over brows and lids will give an attractive shine. And sheen, as the girl with the polished nose knows, always attracts attention.

Eyeshadow, used sparingly, can deepen the apparent color of the eyes and add sparkle. Brown and mauve may be good choices, or the color may be matched to the eyes. Apply with the little finger. Work over the outer edge of the lid and out to the outer corner of the brow.

Plan Festive Decorations for Dance

Amvets Auxiliary Event Is Saturday in Keego Harbor

Halloween colors orange and black will dominate the decorations scheme at the fourth annual Broomstick Whirl, being held Saturday evening at the Keego Harbor VFW Hall. The dance is sponsored by the Jimmy Day Amvets Post Auxiliary.

Corn husks and pumpkins will decorate the hall for the affair, scheduled from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. with dancing to an out-of-town orchestra.

Chairman of the dance is Mrs. Theodore Kieffer, assisted by Mrs. Stewart Houghton, Mrs. Pete Metes and Mrs. Leon Sirlin. Other members of the auxiliary will assist in the final preparations.

Also serving as assistant chairmen are the new auxiliary officers installed Wednesday evening at the Metes home on Marlborough drive.

New president of the group is Mrs. John Allen.

Other officers are Mrs. Louis Hadden, first vice president; Mrs. Muriel Sadler, second vice president; Mrs. Leland Hunt, secretary and Mrs. John Moss, treasurer.

Mrs. James Houck, director of district three, and Mrs. Kenneth Hackett, state chaplain, were the installing officers.

Guest of the evening was Mrs. Jackie Smith, new commander of the post.

Philathea Class Installs Officers

Officers of the First Philathea Class of First Baptist Church were installed at the Tuesday evening dinner meeting of the group, held in the educational building of the church. Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Gould conducted the installation.

Mrs. Howard Barnett led the opening prayer, and the Rev. H. H. Savage presented devotions.

Musical selections were presented by Mrs. William Carls and Mrs. Mabel Wiser, accompanied by Margaret McCord at the piano. Florence Harcourt led community singing.

The group presented a gift to retiring president Mrs. Icie Clemens, who is leaving to make her home in Florida. Mrs. Margaret Putman, newly installed president, conducted the meeting.

Travel Reminder

When you're going away for a weekend or a week, never forget to put a sweater in your suitcase. Weather can change overnight practically any place in this country. And it usually does.

To Discuss 'Heart' Talks

Mrs. Cleo Rock, Mrs. Lynn Martin, Mrs. Kenneth Wilson, Mrs. Leonard Freund and Mrs. Emil Dominic were welcomed as new members at the Wednesday meeting of Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service. The all day meeting was held in the County Building.

Mrs. Harry Clark was appointed county family life chairman and plans were completed for meetings to be held on Nov. 20, 27, Dec. 4 and Dec. 11 at the Pontiac Township Hall.

These "heart of the home" meetings are scheduled in an attempt to interest persons with heart conditions.

The work of the extension office in regard to adult education in

Baldwin Mothers, Teachers Plan Social

To get acquainted with each other at the start of the school year, Baldwin School mothers and teachers are meeting for a social evening Monday in the school gymnasium. Autumn leaves and bitter-sweet will form the decorative scheme.

Mrs. Dorothy Brooks will present a program on autumn flower arrangements for the home.

Welcoming talks will be given by Mrs. Roland Curtis, PTA president, and Mrs. Irene Albright, school principal. Mrs. Robert Bunce is general chairman of the event.

Mrs. Donald Williams, decorations and refreshment chairman, will be assisted by Mrs. Gervaise Klein and Mrs. Lawrence Proper. Hospitality and cleanup chairman is Mrs. Russell E. Keefer. On her committee are Mrs. Kenneth Dooley, Mrs. Raymond Hibbs, Mrs. Earl Cornett, Mrs. Charles Marion and Mrs. Lois Rabun.

Others are Mrs. John Alexander, Mrs. Paul Hawkins, Mrs. Roscoe Newman and Mrs. Bert Bexell.

Flash Fire Tips

When fire strikes your frying pan or broiler, turn off the heat immediately. Using a pot holder, draw the pan away from the source of heat. The handles of modern utensils are not apt to catch fire but many of them can become too hot to touch. It's a good idea to attach pot holders via tape or ribbon to your apron so that in the excitement of a fire you don't have to search.

Leal Eames Unit Makes Plans for Tea, Dinner

Leal Eames Group of First Presbyterian Church met Wednesday evening at the home of Josephine Seeley in Drayton Plains. Harriet Gates assisted the hostess.

Devotions were presented by Ethel Graham, who also conducted the business meeting. The social education report on "Christian Living, Family Style" was given by Mrs. Lawrence McDowell.

Plans were discussed for the Fellowship Tea and the family night dinner to be held in the church parlors. A work meeting of the group is scheduled for Oct. 17 at the home of Anna Marie Fredmore on Walnut road.

Mrs. Clarence Norton and Esther Voorhees will be hostesses for the November meeting to be held at the church.

Excitement Mounts as MSU Tilt Nears

UM Students Geared for Big Game

By CECILE DUMBRIDGE

The big weekend of the MSU vs. UM game has arrived, with enthusiasm at a tremendous pitch. Students and alumni have been waiting for this game since State's defeat last year.

Realizing that MSU students will also be in high football spirits, campus organizations are going all out to stimulate the Wolverines on and off the team.

The Women's Athletic Association, went so far as to sponsor a "Football (Male)" last Tuesday evening, where guest speaker Wally Weber explained the fundamentals of the game to confused co-eds. The girls became familiar with such technical terms as "the winged-T formation," "an uneven line," etc.

The "Wolverine Club," which is the official booster organization, is all set to launch the first pep rally of the season tonight.

READY WITH YELLS

The traditional yells of "FIGHT TEAM FIGHT!" and "GO MICHIGAN BEAT STATE!" will ring forth with frenzy. There will be the huge blazing bonfire and the all-male cheerleaders will go into action with a few stunts.

The rally is scheduled to end at approximately 9 p.m. so that students may attend a concert by the renowned orchestra leader, Tex Benke. Featured along with the Tex-Benke orchestra is vocalist Nancy Drew.

The entire concert which will be held in Hill Auditorium is being sponsored by the Michigan Union and the Inter-Fraternity Council.

Attending the pep rally will be Ed Kantner, a June graduate of Pontiac High. He is the son of the James H. Kantners, who moved during the summer and now reside in Los Angeles, Calif. Another former resident and a '56 January graduate of Pontiac High is Marie Meyer, daughter of the Everett Meyers, now living in Centerville.

Margi Pahl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy E. Pahl of Snowshoe Circle North, Bloomfield Hills, is also planning to attend the rally and the game which starts at 1:30 p.m. on Saturday.

AFTER THE GAME

Post game activities will start with open house ceremonies in some residence halls, where doughnuts and cider will be served.

At night, from 9 p.m. to midnight, the "Bermuda Bounce" will be presented in the league ballroom, sponsored by the Women's League. Music will be provided by Paul Brodie and his band. There will be a Bermuda atmosphere.

Cochairmen of the dance, Nancy Murphy and Connie Hill, said the intermission will feature the crowning of a king and queen, who will be chosen in the early part of the evening. The choices will be based on the dancing skills and the effectiveness of their Bermuda outfits.

Winners will be honored with silver crowns and this event will be followed by the Spanish tradition of breaking a "Pinata" full of candy.

Sunday morning will mean saying goodbye to the MSU Hvals but not to activities.

For Nancy Nicholson, daughter of the C. H. Nicholsons, of Avondale street, it means the last day of rushing. After Sunday, Nancy, like all other rushers, will be glad to settle down for a week of normal campus life.

However, it's mid-stream for Bob Keavy, son of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Keavy of Lakeview, Sylvan Lake. Rushing for fellows is only in its first week, and the scheduled events of the coming week prove that there is a full program ahead.

Personal News of Interest in Area

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred C. Girard have chartered a bus to take a group of their friends to Ann Arbor for the Michigan-Michigan State game Saturday.

On their return to Bloomfield Hills they will enjoy cocktails and dinner and attend the Denim Ball being sponsored by St. Joseph Hospital Auxiliary at Bloomfield Open Hunt Club.

Attending the brunch at Pontiac City Club and going to the Michigan-Michigan State game on the bus chartered by the Club are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Eldred, Mr. and Mrs. Harcourt Patterson, Harold Dudley, Geraldine Sloan, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Howlett, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Whitfield and Dr. and Mrs. Donald Hoyt who are entertaining a party of twelve.

The group will return to the Club for a buffet supper. Mr. and Mrs. Louis Cole also have reservations for the buffet as do Mr. and Mrs. George Watson.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Chettleburgh of Starr avenue are traveling to Ann Arbor on Saturday for the game. Following the game they will have dinner with Mrs. Chettleburgh's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. D. Nolan Kater of Ann Arbor.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Fitzgerald of Birmingham returned to their home Thursday after visiting at the home of Mr. Fitzgerald's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William Fitzgerald in Fontana, Calif.

Following an eight day visit with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Donald W. Dancy and grandson, Ricky, in Atlanta, Ga., Mr. and Mrs. C. Clair Decker have returned to their home on Hamilton street.

White Fur Enhances Rich Black Velvet

Black fabric combined with white fur is an ever new looking classic. It is particularly feminine and luxurious in the combination of black velvet and white mink or ermine.

Patou, for instance, puts one of those modish, super-size Peter Pan collars of white ermine on a black velvet theater suit with a roopy, short jacket.

Genevieve Fath has designed a floor-length black velvet dinner gown with a large white mink Bertha collar as feminine and luxurious evening style.

Frankfurters and bologna can be digested more easily if an apple salad or applesauce are included in the same meal.

Area Women Gather in Bloomfield

Hear Mrs. J. Nance
Tell of Hunt for a Meeting Place

BIRMINGHAM — About 260 attended Wednesday's lecture-luncheon of the Village Women's Club, with members of the new club learning that the officers have still not been able to find a house suitable for conversion to a clubhouse.

Mrs. James J. Nance made the announcement to the members present following the luncheon at Oakland Hills Country Club.

Norman Nadel, drama critic of an Ohio newspaper spoke on plays currently showing in London and Paris, and touched on casts and production of plays in New York and one coming to Detroit.

His talk was enthusiastically received by the women gathered for the first lecture in a club program that promised intellectual forays in all the arts as well as economics.

Trips to Europe to do the circuit of plays caught the imagination of the Village Women, many of whom took trips abroad this summer.

The early fall event staged a problem of warm weather that many women solved by wearing "little silks" and tweed suits. The luncheon brought forth few fur stoles but many fur neckpieces.

Introductions among the many tables of noontime diners were numerous, since it was the first such gathering of the club, bringing together leaders of other clubs and others who had had little club affiliations but accepted the club's invitation to join.

Tee Club Banquet Ends Golf Season

Members of Tuesday Tee Club met at Old Mill Tavern for the annual banquet, concluding their season of golf.

Tables were decorated with arrangements of vari-colored flowers and lighted tapers. Practice golf balls, marked the individual places, and retiring officers received gifts in appreciation of their services during the year.

Trophies and prizes for a four-week tournament were awarded at the Tuesday meeting to Mrs. Floyd Levey, Mrs. Ralph Murphy, Mrs. James Fredericksen and Mrs. R. G. Delbridge.

Fashionette Club Sees Two Movies

At the Tuesday evening meeting of Fashionette Club held at the Adah Shelly Library, members viewed two films: "The Skyline of New York" and "How to Catch a Cold," shown by Dale Hawkins.

Plans were completed for a banquet to be held Nov. 6 at Hill Land Manor, and for a Christmas party to be held at the Adah Shelly Library on Dec. 18. Election of officers will be conducted at the Dec. 11 meeting.

The trophy for losing the most weight during the week was presented to Mrs. Ted Alspaugh.

Welcoming about 260 local women, who arrived at Oakland Hills Country Club Wednesday for the first lecture-luncheon of the Village Women's Club, were Mrs. John W. Gillett of Birmingham (right) and other hostesses who were on duty in the bright sunshine and in the club's foyer. Also shown are Mrs. Parbury Schmidt (left), and Mrs. John S. Kerr of Wing Lake road.

Parliamentary Study Club Opens Season

Parliamentary Study Club opened the 1956-57 club season on Wednesday with a luncheon at Bethany Baptist Church. Arrangements of bronze and white chrysanthemums centered the luncheon tables, and place cards in fall colors completed the decorative theme.

Mrs. Leonard Saair was chairman for the affair assisted by Mrs. C. W. Moosey and Mrs. Paul Gorman.

Following luncheon, May Eddy of Michigan Bell Telephone Company presented the program, "Your Voice Is You."

During the business meeting, at which Mrs. Dale Moats presided, Mrs. Joseph Panter told members of the purpose of the organization and answered questions on parliamentary procedure.

Tuxedos Are Cooler

If this is the year your young man breaks into formal wear, you'll want to consider the new lightweight tuxedos of black or midnight blue tropical worsted. The styling of this latest formal attire takes into consideration the overheating of most rooms where formal events are staged. It's a long-overdue change in fabric weight.

Mrs. James J. Nance, president of the new Village Women's Club, looks at the newest additions to the membership cards that Mrs. Robert H. Taylor (at left) has accumulated since the club formed last June. Both Bloomfield Hills residents, they were among leaders at the Wednesday luncheon at Oakland Hills Country Club. A junior auxiliary, being formed under Mrs. Taylor's guidance, has about 60 members at present, in addition to the 850 in the Women's Club.

Four Junior Music Clubs to Hold Meetings Sunday

The four Junior Music Clubs of Pontiac Tuesday Musicals will meet Sunday at 3 o'clock. The Senior League, counseled by Mrs. George Cameron, Mrs. P.

J. Saghy and Elda Sutter, will meet at the home of Joy Owen on Auburn road. This group's membership is of boys and girls in the 10th, 11th and 12th grades.

The Junior League of 9th and 9th grade students will meet at the home of Suzanne Larkin on North Holcomb street in Clarkston. Mrs. W. S. Furlong and Mrs. F. M. Hathaway are counselors for the group.

Nancy Greenhalgh will open her home on Ottawa drive to members of the Student League. Mrs. Lester Snell and Mrs. Lyndon Salathiel are serving as counselors of this group of 7th grade students.

MATINEE MUSICAL
Mrs. John Wiley, Mrs. R. O. Allen and Mrs. Collis Scott, are leaders of the Matinee Musicals, the group for children in the first six grades in school. Matinee Musicals will be entertained by Barbara Nicholas in her home on East Iroquois road.

Any student studying voice, piano or any other instrument is eligible for membership in these music clubs.

Auditions for membership may be made by students from Pontiac and all of its suburban areas. Counselors of any one of the clubs will furnish information to interested persons.

St. Bernadette Guild Plans Annual Dinner
Mrs. Arthur Kirken opened her home on South Avery road for the Wednesday evening meeting of St. Bernadette Guild of St. Benedict Church. Mrs. Earl Retzlaff and Mrs. James Owen assisted the hostess.

Plans for the annual dinner were discussed, and volunteers were asked to assist with the sewing of cancer pads for the American Cancer Society.

Mrs. Theodore Figurelle, Mrs. Alfred Kovac and Mrs. Lewis Bromm were guests at the meeting. Mrs. Jay Stockwell invited the group to meet at her Cass Lake road home for the November session.

Widow Seeks Way to Meet Men

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN
(The Friday Question Box)

Q. "Is there any possibility for romance for a 35-year-old widow with two children? They are school age and I would be so happy if it could be a whole family again. I meet no men in my work. I am just ordinary looking and have a very good disposition. Is a case like mine hopeless? If not, how does one meet eligible men? I bet you get thousands of letters like this one."

A. I do not think age has anything to do with it except that there are naturally fewer unmarried men the older the age group is. I certainly do not think your case is hopeless but you will have to join groups where you will meet men; church groups, adult education classes, classes in some hobby which both men and women like, such as handicrafts.

Many YWCAs and YMCAs have special nights when both men and women participate in the program. Men and women need companionship with the opposite sex. However, do not think of every man you meet as a potential husband. Tall and weigh 118 pounds. or you will scare them all off. Let many of my friends say that I am too thin while others say I am just right. I would like your opinion."

If your face is round, wear your hair close on the sides and high on top.

A. You are just right.

Q. "I am a girl of 13. I have an average figure except for one thing. I have a very large waist. It measures 26 inches and I would like it to be 24. Is there anything I can do about that? This keeps me from wearing cute dresses."

A. You may be able to reduce your waist some by doing waist slimming exercises. However you are at that age when it is difficult to get attractive clothes. You will naturally slim down in a year or so.

Q. "I am almost 14 years old. My measurements are bust 33, waist 25 and hips 35 inches. Please answer this in your column. Please tell me how to reduce my waist and gain in my bust. PLEASE!"

A. Your waist will naturally slim down and your bust will increase within the next couple of years. You are not out of proportion. You are allowed a two-inch difference between the bust and the hips anyway, so do not worry.

IS OVERWEIGHT

Q. "I am 15 years old and 5 feet, 3 1/2 inches tall. I weigh 150 pounds. My bust measures 34, waist 29 and hips 42 inches. How much should I lose? I wear my hair long. Should it be cut short because of my stoutness?"

A. You are about 30 pounds overweight. The way you wear your hair depends more on the shape of your face than on your weight. If it is becoming to you long, wear it that way. If your face is round wear it high on top and close to the sides of your face.

Teenagers Teach Parents What 'Goes Over' Big

Youths Like Ping-Pong Table Handy Where They Meet; Few House Rules

By RUTH MILLETT

These are some of the things you learn from having a house that is a neighborhood hangout for teenagers:

That it is the shy boy who likes the most talkative, vivacious girls. He is scared to death of getting stuck with a girl who is as quiet as he is.

That any mother who wants her daughter to be popular with boys can't make a better investment than a ping-pong table. Boys have a way of congregating where they have something more to do with their feet and hands than sit in a living room.

RULES ARE PREFERRED

That teenagers are easily handled if a mother has a few house rules and makes them stick. Furthermore, she is respected for not being "too easy."

That what every teen-ager seems to want most, next to a car, is a telephone in his own room. Teen-age telephone conversations are very private affairs.

That girls in high school like to "go steady." It's not because they think any certain boy is really the one and only but merely social security.

That "going steady" isn't anything for parents to get alarmed about because a girl will usually "go steady" with anywhere from four to six boys in the course of one school year.

SLANG WORDS CHANGE

That the slang that is driving you crazy today won't be getting on your nerves next month. There'll be new words for everything by then.

That if you think today's teenagers don't have strong characters just notice how the boy or girl who is having skin trouble turns down soft drinks, sweets and chocolate and how frank the individual is about the reason for the self-restraint.

But there is one thing you'll never know—what a group of teenagers were talking about before an adult walked into the room. That's a world an adult can never enter.

News in Slacks

Gray wool flannel is still the top favorite in day-to-day casual slacks. Other top fabrics include wool gabardine, covert and tweed. Herringbone tweed and glen plaid flannel will be popular slacks fabrics for wear with plain-colored sweaters and jackets.

There's lots of fun in this season and lots of black. A leopard print paired with matching handbag goes with many outfits.

With fur accents so important, hats, muffs, neckline fill-ins, the beret and bag set is a smart yet practical fashion. Dyed Persian lamb collars are teamed with matching cosack hats, very smart when worn with pale beige cocktail dresses.

Long Time in Making

Cashmere sweaters are made from the silky undercoat of mountain goats in Central Asia. It takes a year for shipping, spinning and knitting before these sweaters reach the consumer.

Pilots Learn Foods Different

Digestive Problems Arise for Americans on Suez Duty

PORT SAID, Egypt, (AP)—American pilots are learning the tricks of the Suez Canal fast, but they are wondering when they are going to see another T-bone steak with baked potatoes.

Most of the five pilots who arrived from the United States a week ago have suffered a digestive disturbance common to new comers — "gippy tummy." They have become sensitive about food.

Nico Hagens of New York, a veteran sea captain, made an effort to teach his hotel's Egyptian chef how to bake potatoes. But they did not show up on the menu.

Walter A. Equils of New Kensington, Pa., started the American contingent by insisting on minute steaks made from the meat of water buffalo. Most beef used here comes from Sudan and Ethiopia and has a slight "equatorial" taste.

Perhaps the worst sufferer gastronomically is Chester Holland of Newport Beach, Calif.

"I usually drink about a gallon of various vegetable and fruit juices a day at home," Holland said. "So far the only juice I have been able to find here are pineapple and tomato."

None of the Americans expressed any regrets about their decision to become Suez Canal pilots although some have special problems.

Herbert Gunn of Norwalk, Cal., wants to bring his wife to Egypt but she is studying for a master's degree in psychology in California.

Alex Langtry of Staten Island, N.Y., also wants to bring over his family but is worried because there is no English school in Port Said.

Bus Boycott Chiefs Face Trial Oct. 17

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—The nine members of the executive committee of the Negro inter city council are among 21 carpool drivers who will go on trial Oct. 17 on charges of operating an illegal transportation service.

The council is leading a Negro boycott of city buses as a demonstration against segregated seating requirements. A carpool is operated by the council to provide transportation for the boycotters.

The council itself also has been charged as an organization on the same illegal transportation count.

Digs His Own Ticket

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Police booked Edward Tubbs, 25, for reckless driving by digging. Officer R. T. Standridge said the unusual citation came after he cited Mrs. Tubbs for speeding. The officer said that 10 minutes later Tubbs came by and spun his wheels so that gravel flew over a 20 to 25 foot area pelting Standridge.

Puzzle No. 17 Answers Clarified

Below are explanations of correct answers to Puz-17-Gold puzzle No. 17, which appeared in last week's Pontiac Press:

1. Fowl (used collectively) would set off an uproar if alarmed by an intruder such as a wolf or owl. In search of prey, the wolf would certainly not howl, nor is the sound made by alarmed fowl, nor by OWLS.

2. A Bag inside a house would be a threat that walls or floor were on the verge of collapsing. This of course would compel authorities to evict tenants for their own safety. A gas-filled house could be bleared temporarily and the leak or break remedied in a fairly short time, without evicting the tenants permanently.

3. Sugar being fed to a horse always delights a child, since the horse is usually eating out of someone's hand. Watching a horse eat grass would not hold a child's interest for long.

4. The Sole, or only customer in a restaurant might find it dull. He would not really be alone—alone in the presence of waiters, etc.

5. A bad Deal in business—one into which he might have put all his money—could result in a man's losing a fortune. An idea usually is developed gradually, and it would soon show up as a bad one. A bad lead, or head, are weaker in this context. It would be rather, a bad HEAD "for" business, instead of "in."

6. An Organ sound, music coming from nowhere, apparently, would make a passerby stop and listen. A mysterious groan would probably make him rush—rather than stop—to investigate someone's need for aid.

7. Boo is one of the first sounds with which babies are familiar, when someone leaps out from hiding and says boo. This is a favorite game which always amuses baby. A coo, or a moo, from a pigeon or a cow, might sometimes interest or startle him; he would not always be amused.

8. Diary is suggested by "some" people, for when a daily record of their lives is an absorbing hobby.

This is not true of "many" people, who are however constant radio listeners, or of the many people who are dairy farmers, really devoted to their work.

9. Four prospects for the future would probably make even a smooth-tempered man feel very glum. It is hard to be cheerful under such circumstances. A man whose future prospects look rosy is more apt to take it in stride, as a matter of course, and usually as the gradual result of his own efforts.

10. To Walk early in the morning has a rather tonic effect, and the "some" people who do it invariably think it makes them feel more alert. The time when people wake in the morning, whether early or late, has little to do with how alert they are upon waking. It depends on how much sleep they have had, and whether they wake up quickly or drowsily.

11. A Taste of excitement is always enjoyable to a lively teenager. Even the liveliest one gets tired and could hardly enjoy a constant state of excitement.

12. A Crocus is a sign of spring, one of the first flowers to peep out of the ground. A circus leaves winter quarters in the spring, but its travels carry on far into the summer.

13. The Panel of an expensive door—the rectangle in the center framed by the door's outer strips—certainly must not be defective. The wood must be smooth, well-seasoned, not warped, etc. A good carpenter might be able to make do with a defective plane.

14. Dice, or a few lucky throws in a gambling session, might help a starving man. A dime is hardly sufficient to buy much nourishment. A diet, except in cases of disease, suggests less food than usual, rather than more.

15. Arson could be blamed for a fire in an unfinished house. Even if a disgruntled mason, in revenge for nonpayment, set the fire, it would still be arson, or a deliberate burning of property.

16. Those going aboard a ship at sailing time find it very exciting. They are there for a gala occasion when everyone is feeling festive. Many passengers are going abroad for serious reasons,

2 Robbed at Graveside

CHICAGO (AP)—Two men, praying at the grave of their grandmother in a cemetery near suburban Des Plaines, were robbed by three men yesterday. Joseph Arnold and Richard Ford told police one man with a gun took $30 from him and fled with his companions in an automobile.

Homecoming Still Dominates Area School Affairs

Carrol Eppler, Judy Bennett, Sharon Wiles, Pat Black, and Carol Bristol. The festivities will be next Friday night.

More area schools have big plans for Homecoming festivities. Avondale will hold theirs next Friday, Lake Orion's was last week and Clarkston, Milford and Brandon Township have many events planned.

AT AVONDALE

Candidates for Avondale's homecoming queen have been busy campaigning for the election which will take place next Tuesday.

Organizations at Avondale are busy planning their floats for the homecoming parade.

The football team meets later tonight on the home field in a non-league tilt, with a large crowd expected for the first home game in three weeks.

Activity cards were sold this week and were received quite well by the students. Nearly 400 cards are expected to be sold.

Jackie Pyle was selected for the leading role in the senior play, "Books and Crooks." The supporting cast includes Bob Snyder, Linda Burt, Marcia Pease, and Ken Sheehy.

Avondale's marching band will kick off the United Fund Campaign tonight with a special program at half time of the football game.

Freshman class officers have been announced by Leonard Pasaint, class advisor. Guy Aldrich was elected president with Janet Mather as vice president. Joyce Monro and Larry Wright were chosen secretary and treasurer. Margaret Poynter and Bob Arsenault were selected as delegates to the student council.

AT WALLED LAKE

It's a long time until the seniors depart on their annual trip and still longer until departure time for the juniors, but members of both classes at Walled Lake high school are busily ringing doorbells and asking friends, neighbors, and relatives to help them earn the funds for their trips.

Although Northville high school will be the official host for College Night this year, the event will be held at Walled Lake high in November.

The Pep Club has been sponsoring a "Beat Southfield" week in preparation for the big game to be played tonight. The junior class will sponsor the dance following the game.

AT CLARKSTON

Clarkston's varsity held an election Wednesday, to elect the queen for homecoming. Homecoming festivities are scheduled for Oct. 19.

The four attendants for the queen were chosen by the boys who represent her class on the football squad.

The lucky girls were presented today in a special pep meeting.

Also in the assembly was a skit presented by the Racket Squad. The dramatization was a take-off on the homecoming of Milford, the opponents in this week's game.

The counseling program at Clarkston High is concerned with the emotional, social, moral and the intellectual development of each individual student.

In the process of developing these attitudes they are now developing a vocational guidance program which will include a "Career Day" in the spring. A testing program which will begin in approximately three weeks, will enable the school to evaluate our high school program and also serve as an aid in making individual adjustments.

AT LAKE ORION

The Homecoming was a successful venture, and the pep meeting preceding it was declared tops by the students. Even the parents were in a gay mood after the street corner affair.

The highest amount ever collected was in the queens' contest this year. A total of 83,839 votes at a penny each were cast, with the queen Ruth Ann Watkins, senior candidate, receiving 39,803 votes.

A committee appointed by the Student Council this week, headed by Alfred Kochanowski, will evaluate the homecoming and make recommendations to the students at a future date.

The band boosters are selling tags this Friday and Saturday in both the Orion and Gingsville business sections to help finance some of the needs of the bands.

Oct. 12 is a very special date in football history when the historic rival Oxford celebrates its homecoming.

AT MILFORD

Tonight's Homecoming at Milford High School and festivities are sponsored by the cheerleaders. Parade, game and dance are on the agenda for returning alumni.

The Homecoming queen and court will be featured in the parade before the game with Clarkston. Milford's first Homecoming Dance will be held after the game at Bertha Baker School.

AT ORTONVILLE

Brandon Township High will dedicate their new football field lights in Homecoming ceremonies tonight. Oxford is the team to beat in the game.

Open House Follows Shamrock Victory

By JUDY NIEDZIELSKI

A free day was had by all the students of St. Michael Monday, given by the Rev. Michael J. O'Reilly in honor of his feast day.

The senior English classes have devoted a few periods in listening to a Victor Recordrama of Shakespeare's "Macbeth."

An open house was held at the home of Judy Melick, Sunday evening for the Shamrocks in honor of the gala victory over our cross-town rivals.

Among those present were seniors and cheerleaders with the football team as guests of honor. Dancing and record playing was on the agenda and the evening was topped off with refreshments for all.

New Clubs Continue to Organize

Football Rivalry Lively in Junior Highs

Cheerleaders, games, and new activities keep things exciting at area Junior High Schools. Rivalry is running high in the football contests held between the schools.

AT WASHINGTON

A new kiln in the art department brightened opportunities for Washington students to try their hands at new skills this week. This is part of a crafts program initiated by the department to enable students to express themselves better.

At Washington this year there are several interesting clubs that meet on Tuesday and Thursday mornings. They are: Athletic Clubs, Glee Clubs, First Aid, Librarians', Dramatics, Radio-Code, Typing, Handicraft, Camera, and Current Events Club, to name a few.

One of the most interesting clubs is the Tom-Tom Club which is sponsored by Joyce Hofman and JoAnn Murphy. They are working hard on the school paper, "The Tom-Tom" which will be ready for sale throughout the school Monday.

AT JEFFERSON

The Jefferson cheerleaders have been practicing their yells for their appearance at the Eastern Jefferson football game. A pep assembly featuring the girls in green and white precedes the game.

The Jefferson Junior Hi Marching Band will make its first appearance at the football game on Wednesday at Wisner Stadium.

Donald Schultz is the director. Spicer Gray is the band major.

The real red-letter date at Jefferson is the Teen-Age Dance on Oct. 13 sponsored by the PTA. Parents and teachers are chaperones for the affair.

Artistic exhibits decorate the new art room as Miss Anna Dean of Howard University gets the first art classes at Jefferson under way.

AT LINCOLN

The Lincoln Band of 62 members, under the direction of Eldon Rosegart, performs at the football games. They have been featuring a snappy new arrangement of the "Loyal to Lincoln" school song as the band executes a huge block L.

All 7 B's are sharpening their pencils to take a series of achievement tests to help both student and teacher in diagnosing the learning problems. Clark Balch and Mrs. Naomi McVean are conducting the program.

AT EASTERN

Shortly before the close of the school day pupils at Eastern often hear the familiar strains of their school song, "Fight On You Eastern," and the sound of marching feet, and they know that Eastern's band is practicing for its part in approaching football games and pep rallies.

Each year ninth graders are permitted to march with the Pontiac High School Band at their home football games.

Since 1950, Ford Motor Company has sponsored an international program to encourage and recognize fine craftsmanship among students and teachers in the field of Industrial Arts and Industrial Education. Shop students at Eastern have participated since 1953 with an outstanding degree of success.

For the school year of 1956 Eastern has seven award winners: Donald Chase, Richard Hovis, Melvin Sells, James Jones, Rodney Andrews, Randall Leininger, and Steve Thompson.

AT MADISON

This week, Thursday, Madison's varsity squad faced the "big one" as they met Lincoln at Wisner field.

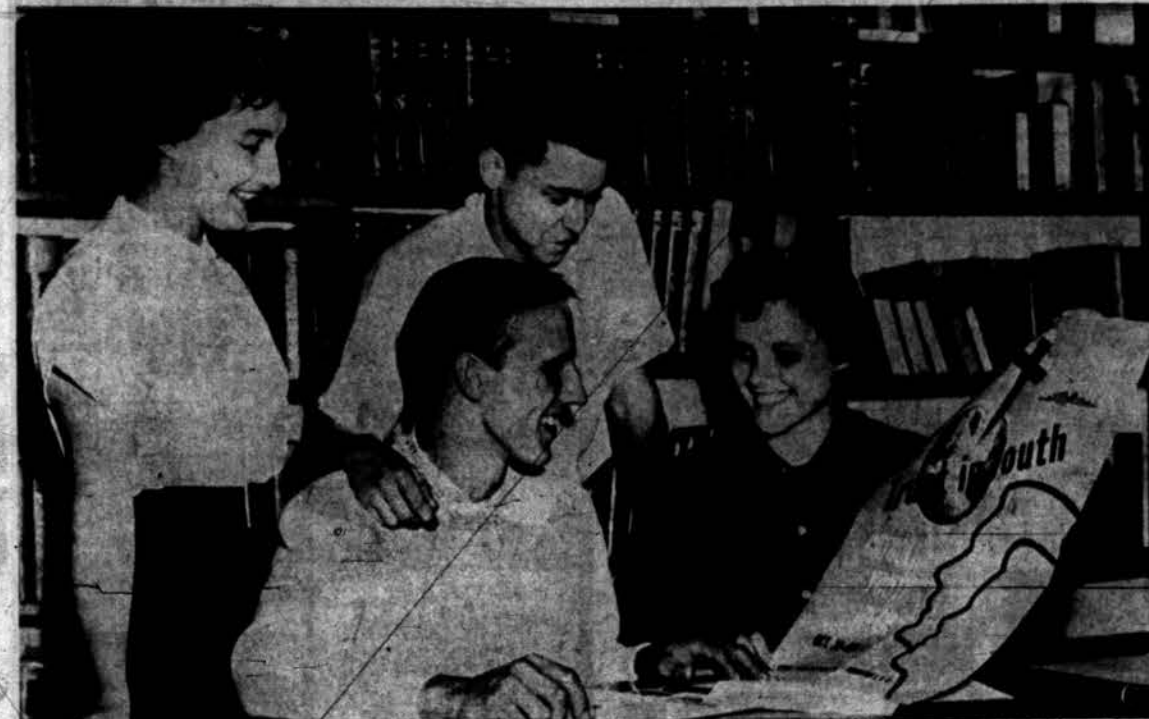

Team members were shown a display of school spirit and student backing at Thursday's pep rally, held in the gymnasium for students attending the game.

New cheerleaders this year are Charlene Dorch and Sandra Theson, both ninth graders. Returning cheerleaders are Glenda Wagner, SA, and Ruth Ann Krump and Ellen Kay Duse, SB.

Madison students are looking forward to dedication of their new school Oct. 14. A full week of activities will mark the occasion.

AT ROCHESTER

The annual Sadie Hawkins Dance has once more become an anxiety to waiting Rochester Junior High students. The date is set for tomorrow at the Avon Township Hall.

Monday Assembly to Kick Off Annual Event

Waterford High Plans Yearbook Promotion Week

By SANDY WHITE

Waterford Township High Schools Waterlog Promotion week, Oct. 8-13, will be well on its way after the assembly to be presented Monday.

Every school year, one week is dedicated to the promotion of sales for the annual yearbook, the Waterlog. Journalism and non-journalism students participate.

This year's assembly, planned, directed and presented by the students takes place at a Hollywood premier.

Well-known motion picture and television stars, portrayed by students, will be interviewed by a master of ceremonies for the premier's opening night. Heading the work of the assembly and promotion is Margie Neubeck and Jim Swain. In charge of this year's Waterlog is: Beth Rose, editor, and Barbara Tellerday, managing editor.

The staff has been beaming this past week to find that last year's Waterlog won a first class Honor Rating from the National Scholastic Press Assn.

Wednesday evening the gym floor will be extra shiny when students in stocking feet dance to the music of popular records at the "Fall Frolic" sponsored by the sophomores. Committees in charge of the dance are general chairman, Jane Dovelton; entertainment, Paula Zisman; tickets, John Studt; advertising, Pat Heiple; and decorations, Larry Rose.

Plans are under way for College Night, Nov. 8th. This program gives students who are interested in attending college, a better conception of what the college of their choice may be like.

Students and parents alike, will attend two hourly sessions of any two of the well-known forty of fifty colleges to be represented. During browsing time, literature and information of other colleges may be acquired.

Details for Waterford's Homecoming, scheduled for Nov. 3, are now being carefully planned. The committee working on this festive event is composed of Marlene Lazenby, chairman; Nancy Rose, Stanley Jones, Wendelin Meyer, Judy Lucia, Jerry Nelson and Carole Moore.

By JACK HENDRICKSON

The Pontiac High School Student Council, under the leadership of Ralph Forsman, will sponsor its first all-school dance tonight after the game. It will be held in the high school gym. "The Tepee Tromp" is theme.

Dick Koss, president of the Student Council, has chosen his committees and their chairmen.

A new version of girls' sports has started up this semester, replacing the GRA (Girls Recreation Assn.) of previous years.

Mrs. Geraldine Irwin, girls gym instructor, will direct this new organization. It will emphasize individual sports.

Some of the activities offered to the girls will be volleyball, basketball, and softball. Plans are being made for opportunities later in swimming, tennis, golf, badminton and bowling.

The Volleyball Club, which meets every Tuesday plans to play Madison Junior High soon, and hopes later to play a game with Waterford High.

In this new plan the girls get points for participating in the various activities. A sports "P" may be awarded on basis of participation.

Today was the last day for the students of PHS to register for the "mock election." The election is scheduled for Nov. 6, the same date as our national election.

Speeches will be given over the PA system to explain the top issues and the candidate's policy toward them. These will be compiled by the Civics and History classes. Future Homemakers of America, a new club recently initiated this semester, will have three sponsors to guide them. They are: Elizabeth Rodgers, Mrs. Betsy Miller, and Mrs. Ann Hagenbuck. Officers will be installed next week.

The FHA in cooperation with the Retailers Club, will have a fashion show in November. Some of the Homemakers are making their outfits now.

Another new club held its organizational meeting Wednesday after school. It is the new French club, sponsored by Mrs. Frances Martz. Only students who have, or who have had a French class may join.

Each month a certain theme will prevail ranging from French personages to landmarks, and scenes of French life.

Drama students are busy at work preparing "All Baba and the Forty Thieves" which will be presented under the sponsorship of the Pontiac chapter of the Association for Childhood Education. The play will be attended by area children Oct. 15-19.

NEW KILN — Washington art students will have a new kiln to work with in their crafts project. The new oven came this week. Here inspecting it are instructor John Silvenon, and students Bradell Pritchett and Jay Barton. The new work in ceramics will add to an expanding art program at Washington to give students a variety of creative experiences.

The Jefferson Junior Hi Marching Band will make its first appearance at the football game on Wednesday at Wisner Stadium.

Get Rich Quick With Answers for Pot-O-Gold

They say you can't get rich quick, and perhaps that's true most of the time, but here's your chance to do just that. A few minutes of your time spent on Pot-O-Gold can bring you as much as $1200. It can't get much quicker than that.

And if it turns out there's a winner to puzzle No. 17 and you don't quite get rich, that few minutes can bring in a little pocket money, like about $125 for the winning entry from a Press subscriber. Surely it's worth the effort.

The puzzle consists of (1) a number of circles which contain a few scrambled letters, and (2) a corresponding list of clues to these words printed below. The object is to arrange each group of circled letters into a word that best fits its clue. The word which you select for Circle No. 1, then would be the one which you would print in the space to the right of (1) below.

You'll notice that some circles contain $ signs in place of letters. You may use such a symbol as any letter you wish. However, it and all letters in that circle must be used. The $ sign, of course, can represent ANY letter in the word.

Do the same in all the other circles. Study the clues carefully and arrange all the letters into words that you believe best conform to these clues. Use your $ signs to help you spell out the right words.

PUZZLE NO. 18

1. Sudden rise like this must prove very exhilarating to flying financiers.
2. The question of is of some importance in crime detection.
3. If it is of a musical nature, it will appeal at least to some people.
4. Some movie fans prefer a sort of excitement to raw violence.
5. Application of this could certainly be regarded with distaste.
6. Where people are really door-to-door salesmen have a fertile field.
7. Sellers who remain don't have too hard a job.
8. Doctor who is can have a large practice.
9. fishermen often make a good profit on their catch.
10. Friendly will be forgiven even if it hurts.
11. Such letters are designed to be unusually clear.
12. Often construed as guile.
13. If a hypocrite is real there's no point in playing back for him.
14. This is always in evidence at an amateur ball game.
15. The particular shape of it would be unmistakable to an expert.
16. In general, this is not an easy thing to apply correctly.

OFFICIAL CONTEST RULES

1. Anyone is eligible to enter the POT-O-GOLD contest with the exception of Pontiac Press employees or their immediate families.
2. A contestant may submit as many entries as he or she wishes but they must be on official entry blanks printed in this newspaper.
3. To submit an entry the contestant must print his answer words in the proper spaces, cut out the area enclosed by dotted lines and attach it securely to a 2-cent postcard. No entries will be accepted if they are in envelopes. Entries for Puzzle No. 18 must bear a Tuesday, Oct. 9, postmark (or before). No entries received after that time, whether mailed or delivered by hand, will be declared eligible. The Press is not responsible for entries lost or delayed in the mail.
4. Sorry, telephone calls or mail concerning details of the contest cannot be answered or acknowledged.
5. The Pontiac Press will award a cash prize of $100 a week to the winner of each weekly POT-O-GOLD contest. If more than one winning answer is received the prize will be divided equally among the winners. If any week or weeks should pass without any winners, the prize will be added weekly until a winning solution is submitted.
6. Winners will be awarded an extra cash bonus of $25 each if they are Pontiac Press subscribers or record on the day winners are announced. Only one such bonus can be awarded to each prize-winner, no matter how many weekly prizes may accumulate.
7. Each week's puzzle will be published Monday, Wednesday and Friday until the contest's end. Either or all will be considered as official entry blanks.
8. Winners and correct solutions will be announced each Friday of the week following individual contests. Official keeper of answers will be Frederick C. Ziem, prosecutor for Oakland County. Only the General Features Corp., originators of the puzzles, will know the solutions until after each contest is over. Answers will be delivered to the Press judges by Mr. Ziem after the final deadline.
9. There is only one correct solution to the POT-O-GOLD puzzle, and only that correct answer can win. The decision of the judges is final and all contestants agree to abide by the judges' decision. All entries become the property of The Pontiac Press and none can be returned.
10. Completed puzzles must be addressed to POT-O-GOLD, POST OFFICE BOX 98, Pontiac, Michigan. Winners will be notified either by telephone or in the mail.

Housewife Rents Billboard for Art Work Display

NEW YORK—Art—on a billboard basis, naturally—is blooming in Times Square, thanks to the ingenuity of an Alabama housewife.

Competing with the flash of neon signs in the heart of the Great White Way is a 13-by-25-foot floodlighted exhibition of paintings by Mrs. Ruth Hook of Birmingham, Ala.

She rented the signboard, three stories above the street, for 10 days at a cost of $400. Fourteen of her paintings are on display.

Mrs. Hook said she had two reasons for her novel showing: First, to sell the paintings, and second, to interest national advertisers in using original paintings in their advertising.

In Again, Out Again Fig Tree Bears Fruit

DETROIT—Detroit's Diogenes carries a tree, instead of a lamp. Diogenes Troilines of Detroit isn't looking for an honest man as the old Greek with the lantern.

The tree he carries is a fig tree, which won't live outside in Detroit winters.

So Diogenes carries it inside every spring and for the last six years spring and for the last six summers has reaped a harvest of figs.

Troilines brought the tree back from California six years ago and planted it in his back yard to see what would happen. Figs happened.

Judge Tries Himself on Three Traffic Counts

DETROIT (AP)—Associate Municipal Judge John T. McWilliams of Dearborn entered the courtroom and pounded the gavel.

The bailiff called out the first case: "The people against Associate Municipal Judge John T. McWilliams," and handed him three unpaid parking tickets. The judge found himself guilty on two of the counts and fined himself $10 with an alternative of four days in jail. He paid the fine. On the third ticket, he argued with himself, upheld his argument and dismissed the charge.

He carried it inside in winter, out in spring. Figs again.

Canadian Boom Town Goes Modern Rich Finds in Uranium, Metals Streamline Area

YELLOWKNIFE, Northwest Territories 48—When gold was discovered here 22 years ago, Yellowknife became a Klondike-style boom town. Today far richer finds in uranium and base metals have changed the place into a streamlined modern community.

Part of old Yellowknife still remains—a sprawl of prospectors' shacks, stores and warehouses now mainly a headquarters for bush pilots and river men of the Canadian Northwest.

But around it a new town has grown. Here a modern water system links the homes and business of its 3,000 inhabitants. A gleaming new federal building and town hall outshine those boasted by most prairie towns. Some 300 cars, buses and trucks travel over 75 miles of new road.

"This is a young man's country," says Mayor Fred Henney, former labor organizer who came here in 1947 and stayed to become a successful businessman.

Mining experts say gold is a mere nugget in a vast treasure house of minerals which covers more than a quarter of Canada.

As yet, prospectors and mining companies have barely scratched the surface in the 1,300,000 square miles of the Northwest Territories. But they are making slow progress.

This summer diamond drills probed promising mineral deposits in the barren lands within 90 miles of the Arctic Ocean.

Kemarc Exploration, Ltd., has launched an extensive drilling program northwest of Bathurst Inlet, 1,000 miles north of Edmonton.

About the same distance above the Alberta capital at Banff, Lake, Pickle Creek Mines has crews working on a 400-mile concession which promises rich copper deposits.

Nickel and Uranium mines are being pushed to the production stage in the territories. Rayrock Mines, Ltd., 85 miles northwest of Yellowknife, will become the territories' second producer of uranium within a few months.

Perhaps most significant to the future of the area are the Pine Point zinc-lead deposits on the south shore of Great Slave Lake. It is believed to contain more than 60 million tons of the minerals, and will be mined as soon as a railroad is built from the south.

But the pace of exploratory work is slow. Distance, climate, transport and power are all problems.

Mining authorities believe the problem of heating and power in this land of long winters might eventually be solved by "portable" atomic power plants.

Ranchers Stumped by Revenue Request

ALBUQUERQUE (AP)—After recently examining the income tax returns of two New Mexico ranchers involving a joint venture, a U.S. Internal Revenue Service agent here requested records from the pair to verify the transaction.

One of the partners sent the following reply: "Well, I'll tell yuh. We sat on a corral fence and figured the deal out on a piece of board. Then I gave Sam a check for his part and threw the board away."

Hare Answers Martin Blast

Disputes Campaign Gift From Embezzler Came Out of State Funds

LANSING 48—Secretary of State James H. Hare today denied his Republican opponent's charge he concealed information in an embezzlement case.

The charge was made yesterday by John B. Martin Jr., Republican candidate for secretary of state.

Martin said Mrs. Anne Thorpe, former manager of the Secretary of State's St. Clair Branch, made a $400 contribution to the Democratic party from a bank account containing both personal and state funds.

Mrs. Thorpe disappeared last spring with $74,000 in state funds. She has not been found.

DEMANDS REPAYMENT

Martin accused Hare of concealing information in the case and demanded that he repay the $400 with his own money.

"Charges by Republican candidate John Martin that I have concealed information relating to the Thorpe embezzlement of funds are completely untrue," Hare said.

Hare said the press was informed of Mrs. Thorpe's disappearance as soon as it was discovered.

"That Mrs. Thorpe made a contribution of $400 to the Democratic State Central Committee has been public information for some seven months," Hare said.

He said mingling of Mrs. Thorpe's personal funds with state money could be traced to carelessness by the bank.

"It is impossible to prove this check for $400 was from state funds," he said. "It is significant that her personal deposits at all times during this transaction exceeded this amount. It is just as reasonable to assume this check was drawn against her personal funds, and Mr. Martin cannot disprove this."

By JUDY CLEMENCE

Once again it is time for the annual trek to Higgins Lake for Pontiac educators.

This year, the sixth annual conference will be held tonight through Sunday.

The conference theme is an important one for educators and parents alike. In the various sessions, participants will discuss the theme, "Home School Communications."

They will discuss what to communicate to parents, how it should be done, and will attempt to come up with the best possible way of communication between parents, teacher and the school.

The report card study which has been carried on for some time in Pontiac will be reviewed and will be weighed with the conference method of communication.

EXCHANGE IDEAS

Excellent resource people will be on hand to exchange ideas with the 108 administrators, teachers and parents.

Mrs. Mary Killian, principal of Bethune School, is general chairman of this year's conference. Recognizing the importance of the report card study and its effect on the community, Mrs. Killian has asked two parents, members of the steering committee on the study, to attend the conference. The members are Mrs. Wayne Weaver and Mrs. Lyle Dusenbury.

Also to participate in the conference are Mrs. William Milne, principal of the Pontiac PTA and Mrs. Harry King of the Board of Education.

According to Mrs. Killian, the PTA is studying this same theme in an attempt to learn what is best for the child. Supporting the conference method of reporting to parents, Mrs. Killian said that it is one method of home-school communication.

"When you talk with people and are able to see their views, problems can be solved," she said, and she noted that children do not feel they are failures when there are no poor grades.

Keynote speaker will be Dr. Samuel Miller Brownell, superintendent of the Detroit public schools. He will pursue the conference theme.

Consultants are Don Dolan, consultant for Bureau of School Services, University of Michigan; Dr. Guy H. Hill, coordinator of high school services, MSU; Dr. William J. Emerson, superintendent of Oakland County schools; Mary Har- den, former principal; Dr. Leon S. Waskin, chief of curriculum services, Department of Public Education and Don C. Weaver, general consultant, University of Michigan.

Others are Dr. James M. McHugh, psychiatrist at Pontiac State Hospital and Gerald E. Hartman, principal of South Lyon High School.

Committee chairmen include Gerald White, William Wright, Jean Kimple, Richard Fell, Mrs. Irene Albright, Lester Stanley, Jean Murton, William Muldowney, Betty Helms, Philip Wargelin, Dr. Russell Curtis and Dr. Edith Roach Snyder.

Edward Ray and Don Richards of the Michigan State Conservation Department will discuss conservation and school camping. Dr. Roger Leatherman, assistant director of the Phoenix Project, U. of M. will speak on "Atomic Research."

Panel members include Mrs. Mahalek, Dr. Snyder, Mr. Weaver and Miss Murton. Dr. Emerson will be moderator. Margaret Scott will lead a discussion on audio-visual education assisted by Mrs. Janet Gauthier.

Death May Win Out in Drinking Contest

LOS ANGELES (INS)—Death may be the winner in a drinking contest between William Harpaku- ski, 40, a laborer, and his friend, Almer Wyrick, 36.

In trying to outdo one another, each drank a fifth of whisky in 20 minutes in a bar. Then they collapsed and fell to the floor.

Both are in serious condition in General Hospital from acute alcohol poisoning.

Girl Admits Ax Slaying of Aunt

12-Year-Old Broods Over Missing $5 Before Killing Relative

OAKLAND, Calif. 48—A 12-year-old South Dakota farm girl, who said "I must be crazy," told police today how she killed her aunt with an ax after brooding over a missing $5 allowance.

The girl, Patricia Corcoran, was held for investigation into the slaying yesterday in the neat stucco home of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Bunce.

Police Inspector Edward Ray gave this account:

The girl, one of nine children of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Corcoran of Mitchell, S. D., came to the childless Bunce home a month ago at Mrs. Bunce's suggestion. Mrs. Bunce, 55, was William Corcoran's sister.

The girl lost a $5 bill Mrs. Bunce had given her for school expenses and brooded as she made her way home and stopped off at a Roman Catholic Catechism class.

When Mrs. Bunce returned from a job at the Oakland Naval Supply Base, she asked the girl what had happened to the $5.

Ray quoted the girl as saying she got a short handled ax from the garage and struck her aunt. Then she stabbed her with a bread knife and, when that bent, resorted to a butcher knife.

Bunce returned home an hour later to find the girl standing on a washing machine.

"I've just killed Laverne," he quoted her. "I must be crazy."

After calling police from a grocery store, Bunce said he returned and found the girl sitting quietly in the living room.

"I'm crazy... and homesick," he quoted her.

"She's just a plain skinny kid," Ray said. "She must be 5 feet 5

Kavanagh Campaigning in Oakland County Today

In Oakland County today on a campaign tour, Attorney Gen. Thomas M. Kavanagh arrived in Waterford Township at 10 a.m. and visited Rochester at 12:30 p.m.

Handshaking was to continue at 2:30 p.m. in Clawson and at 5 p.m. in Troy, according to County Democratic Chairman Carlos Richardson, who is accompanying Kavanagh.

Twenty-two blind people in New-foundland earned $73,000 as active workers in 1935.

Lessen Jail Sentence So Man Can Vote

DENVER 48—Good intentions will cut 11 days off the county jail sentence of Fred Montoya, 40.

Montoya asked Municipal Judge William H. Burnett in a letter to modify his sentence by Oct. 22 "as I would like to register for the coming general election."

He is serving a 90-day sentence after his ninth conviction on intoxication charges this year. Burnett said he would parole Montoya Oct. 21 and told him he'd better register—or else.

The judge is the Republican candidate for district attorney.

Investigate Report of Stolen Blinkers

Oakland County detectives today are investigating a report that two caution blinker lights were stolen from a Milford Township road project sometime Thursday. Joseph Cole, one of the men working on a strip of highway on Commerce Road, told officers the missing lights were in use to warn traffic of the construction work. Both were located near 4045 Commerce Road.

Fall most rewarding time to beautify lawns.

October is the Best Time to Build a LAWN

This is nature's best planting season to start that new lawn or improve an old one. October usually brings plenty of rainfall, days are balmy but the sun not too hot, and competing weed seeds do not germinate. For lawn beauty next spring, sow lawn seed now!

Army Reveals Missile Traits

Discloses Existence of New 175-Millimeter Gun

ABERDEEN PROVING GROUND, Md. (U)—The Army has taken some wraps off its Redstone ballistic missile, disclosing among other things that it soars above the earth's atmosphere in its 300-mile flight to a target.

At the same time, it has disclosed existence of a new 175-millimeter gun, apparently designed as a substitute for the big and cumbersome 280-millimeter atomic cannon.

The ground forces displayed the new weapons in a day-long show for the American Ordnance Assn. at this Army weapons development center yesterday.

The 60-foot Redstone missile was set up and put through simulated firing while Maj. Gen. John B. Medaris, chief of the Ballistic Missile Agency, explained details. He described it as a "high accuracy" weapon, and added it cannot be deviated from its flight by enemy countermeasures which can affect many fully guided missiles. The Redstone uses guidance only in the initial few seconds of flight and that, Medaris said, is entirely "immune" from outside interference.

The Redstone travels at supersonic speed and can be fitted with an atomic warhead.

The new 175-millimeter gun has a bore of approximately 7 inches, compared with the 11 inches of the big atomic cannon. Its weight, together with the self-propelled carriage, is 37 tons, contrasting with the 57 tons of the 280-millimeter gun.

Affectionate Gesture Puts Pair in Hospital

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (U)—A gesture of affection proved costly last night for a Chattanooga couple, putting both man and wife in the hospital and leaving their automobile a wreck.

Bruce W. Brown, 38, a painter, and his wife, Mrs. Marie Brown, 40, were driving to the home of her relatives when she threw out her arm, intending to put it around her husband's shoulder.

Instead, she struck the steering wheel, the husband said, causing him to lose control of the car, which crashed into a bridge abutment and was demolished. Mrs. Brown was thrown through the windshield.

Kefauver Heads Into Arizona

He Taunts Republicans With 'Right to Suffer' Remark of Pyle's

PHOENIX, Ariz. (U)—Sen. Estes Kefauver campaigned into Arizona today, taunting Republicans with the "right to suffer" remark of the former Republican governor of the state, now an assistant to President Eisenhower.

The Democratic vice presidential nominee, in a speech prepared for delivery at a luncheon here, recalled that "it was Howard Pyle who said 'the right to suffer is one of the joys of a free economy.'"

"This is a 'joy' which we Democrats—which Adlai Stevenson and I and your leaders here—don't wish to inflict further upon you," he declared.

Pyle made the remark at a press conference in Detroit last May. He later said he did not mean it the way it was interpreted.

Kefauver accused the Republicans of falling down on water conservation and multi-purpose dam projects, school construction, home building and programs to aid small business.

The tireless Tennesseean had another 18 hours of barnstorming lined up for today to match the gruelling pace he set yesterday in the Los Angeles area.

His schedule for today started with a breakfast meeting in Tucson, where he arrived in early morning by plane from Los Angeles, included press conferences at Tucson and Phoenix, and then carried him to Pueblo, Colo. for a dinner and a speech.

He is to fly to Enid, Okla., to spend tonight and then have another rough day in Oklahoma tomorrow. One new speech, at Muskogee, has been added to talks previously listed for Enid, Alva and Ponca City.

Eagle Stuffed, Pigeons Bluffed on Building Top

COLUMBUS, Ohio (U)—"Old Baldy" is a bluff, but a very effective bluff.

The pigeons at Memorial Hall stay away from him like poison. They don't care if he is only a stuffed American eagle. Stuffed or not, Old Baldy is not exactly friendly looking with his giant wings spread and a fierce glare in his steely eyes.

Attendants put Old Baldy on the front of the building when the pigeons were claiming it for their own. The bird had been in retirement for years, possibly since Civil War days.

"He's doing a good job," said a janitor. "When the pigeons see him, they don't land. If they land before they see him, they take off like jets."

Colorado Republicans Steal Adlai Trademark

DELTA, Colo. (U)—Delta County Republicans have taken over the worn shop symbol associated with Adlai Stevenson in the 1952 presidential campaign.

Posted in the window of the Delta County Republican headquarters is a sticker showing a shoe sole with a hole in it. Above the sticker is printed: "Don't let this happen to you. Below the shoe: 'Vote for Ike.'"

$5,700 Found on Farm

CARSONVILLE (U)—More than $5,700, stuffed into old envelopes, was found in the farm house of Paul Spiritus, 66-year-old retired machinist who died Monday. Spiritus, a bachelor, had operated a 14-acre farm since retiring two years ago from the Ford Motor Co. His only survivors are believed to be a nephew in Argentina and three nieces in Germany.

Hollywood Dying Duck According to Ben Hecht

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Wearing his customary uniform of black bow tie and brown cigar, Ben Hecht, 62-year-old child of the century, sat happily framing an obituary of the little town of Hollywood.

"It's a dying duck," he said satanically. "It's laid out in state."

"Due to TV?" I inquired.

"Due to itself! Due to movies. You can sell bad beer just so long. Eighty per cent of the movies are made for the dime-novel trade. But people are educated beyond that point."

The rebellious Bard of Nyack pronounced the last rites with confidence that the corpse would rise again. "What about the effect on the great film moguls?" "They've learned to play gin rummy through it all," he shrugged. "This is the time for the artists to step in—but Hollywood hasn't developed any artists. Our generation changed—but the movies didn't."

"What happened to the writers?"

"Don't you know? Prose is passe like beadwork." A light came into his eye. "The poet of today is a scientist. The poet of my day spoke of the beauty of the moon and the stars, but the new poet tells you what they're made of and what they weigh."

"The moon used to be far away, but it's a whistle stop now. Nineteen hundred miles an hour! Where are they going so fast? It's like building a motorcycle to cross the street."

I thought to ask just what occupies him now and he mentioned a play about Maxwell Bodenheim, a book about his late collaborator and fellow prankster, Charles McCarthy—and a Hollywood movie based on Ernest Hemingway's "Farewell to Arms" for David O. Selznick.

"Hollywood?" I said. "I thought you didn't like Hollywood."

"Selznick," he quickly explained, "is a high-class boss. Most Hollywood bosses are just off the pickle-wagon."

"Do you ever fight with him?"

"No," Ben Hecht said. "You never fight with a man of intelligence—especially when he's overpaying you."

lifting, was fined $20, sentenced to two days in jail, and put behind bars—all within 30 minutes.

Mother Enters State Institute

Parent of Kidnaped, Murdered Baby Asks to Be Admitted

MIDDLETOWN, Conn. (U)—The frail mother of kidnaped and murdered Cynthia Ruotolo entered a state mental institution here last night.

State's Atty. Abraham S. Ullman, who is heading the investigation into the 6-week-old baby's death, said he understood 33-year-old Eleanor Ruotolo had asked to be admitted to the Connecticut State Hospital. He said he did not know why.

A spokesman at the hospital said all questions about Mrs. Ruotolo, wife of a paint salesman, would have to await arrival of hospital officials sometime today.

Cynthia disappeared from her carriage left by Mrs. Ruotolo in a Sears Roebuck department store in Hamden on Sept. 1.

The infant's body was found five days later in a lake, about a mile from the store. It was stuffed in an air tight plastic bag and weighted with a stone.

Mrs. Ruotolo collapsed in her husband's arms during graveside services for the baby. Cynthia was the third infant Mrs. Ruotolo and her husband, Stephen, lost to death. One child died of pneumonia and a second died in an accident.

An autopsy report showed that the baby had died of suffocation—either from drowning or some other cause.

Claims Intellectuals Make Lousy Drivers

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (U)—Lawyers, doctors and scientists make worse automobile drivers than persons of low mentality, says Arthur L. Berlin, chairman of the driver education program in San Leandro's schools.

"The man who drives while thinking of his business is a poor driver, while the man with low mental ability won't be thinking about much of anything," he said at the state traffic safety conference.

Douglas Says Press Hides GOP Scandals

STURGIS (U)—Sen. Paul Douglas (D-Ill.) assailed what he described as "the double standard of morality" of the American press "in protecting the Republican party" in Sturgis speech last night.

He said "influence peddling" led to the resignation of former Air Secretary Harold Talbot and he charged Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson bought cheese at 37 cents a pound one day and sold it back to the same large processors at 34½ cents the next day "without ever moving a single pound." Douglas did not name the processors.

"What would the press of this country have done had these acts (of Talbot and Benson) been committed by Democrats?" he asked.

Answering himself, he said: "A terrific and continuous barrage of criticism would have been laid down against the Democratic party by the daily and weekly press of this country."

"But under the Republicans they got only passing notice and were allowed to sink, forgotten out of sight."

HAYRIDE, TRACTOR STYLE—Mrs. Robert Gibson, chairman of the hay ride committee for the John Monteith School PTA Country Fair and Norbert Haus, on the tractor, were discussing safety rules when caught by the photographer. Michael Wylie, Christine Gibson and Dianne Marie Haus paused long enough in their preparations of the hay wagon to be snapped and joshed about trying to make a "hayburner" out of a tractor. The Country Fair is scheduled for Saturday, 1 p. m. to sundown, at the school on Crescent Lake and Hatchery.

Also they work with prison and parole work, fresh air camps, children's home, and work with physically and mentally handicapped as well as Golden Agers.

UF Pointing to Area Aids

Seven Local Agencies Will Share in Michigan, Township Funds

United Fund officials are pointing to seven agencies in the Oakland county area that will be receiving shares of the funds given in the drive beginning Oct. 15, besides Michigan United Fund agencies and township agencies.

Included is the Salvation Army, best known for its work in rehabilitation of the man fallen from society because of alcohol, but also working at The Booth Memorial Home and Hospital with girls about to become mothers out of wedlock.

Girl Scouting's program was demonstrated in the national Girl Scout Round Up held in the Milford area this summer. With an estimated 15,000 girls in scouting in the county now, the troops grow along with the population.

Michigan Children's Aid Society helps children of homes broken or needy, the Catholic Family Center offers help to those of its faith in family problems, works with unwed mothers and seeks boarding homes for needy children.

The Oakland Child Guidance Center serves emotionally disturbed children, and at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, medical care is provided by the county's professionals to persons unable to receive such help in other ways.

Assign Goal and Chairmen in Utica Zone

UTICA — Dwyer Sump, executive director of the North Macomb County United Fund, has appointed Mrs. Floyd Ebeling as chairman of Utica for the UF drive.

Co-chairmen for Sterling Township will be Mrs. John Cameron for the west portion and Mrs. Donald Fox, for the east side. Chairman for Shelby Township has not been named yet.

Quotas have been set for these districts, with Utica being allotted a goal of $2,992. Sterling Township seeks $10,951, and Shelby Township, $3,481. Entire Macomb County goal is $109,344.

County Bloodmobile in Holly Tuesday

HOLLY — The county bloodmobile will be in Holly Tuesday at St. Rita's Catholic Church. It will be available for donors between the hours of two and 4:30 and from 5:30 until 8:30 in the evening.

Advance registration is not necessary, and donors may come at any time during the above hours. A goal of 100 pints will be the aim of this visit.

DEMOLAY SWEETHEART — Judy Williamson, 15-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tim Williamson, Armada, has been chosen chapter sweetheart of the Romeo chapter, Order of Demolay. She will preside as hostess at all of the chapter's public functions for the next year. Judy, sophomore at Armada High School, is an accomplished pianist and dancer, plays the saxophone in the high school band. She will next enter a contest for selection of the sweetheart of District 5, which includes Macomb, Oakland, St. Clair and Genesee counties. Should she win the district title, she will qualify as a candidate for state Demolay sweetheart.

Former Official Dies in Utica

William Malow Held Several Area Offices; Funeral Saturday

UTICA—William E. Malow, former Macomb County road commissioner, also former Sterling township supervisor, clerk and treasurer, died suddenly Wednesday of a heart attack in his Utica home.

Mr. Malow, 64, stricken at his home, 4514 Deschen, an hour after returning from his cottage at Lewiston, died within an hour, while his wife was out shopping.

Born Feb. 14, 1893 in Macomb County, he was a road commissioner for 11 years, retiring in early 1954. He was president of Utica Co-op Oil and Gas Co.; a member of board of directors of Utica Farm Bureau; director of Utica branch of the National Bank of Detroit, and chairman of finances for the construction of the new Lutheran Church.

Over a period of 15 years he had held three Sterling Township offices.

He is survived by his wife Laura; a son, Raymond; one daughter, Mrs. Lorraine Aalbersberg, all of Utica; one sister, Mrs. Frieda Rhodes, Utica; two brothers, Arnold of Fraser and Otnar of Detroit, and three grandchildren.

Service will be at 2:30 p. m. Saturday from Trinity Lutheran Church here, with burial in Utica Cemetery. His body is at the residence, with arrangements by Milliken Funeral Home.

Ortonville's Edna Profrock Lone Woman Cashier in Area Banks

By MARTHA LEWIS
Ortonville Correspondent

ORTONVILLE — Ortonville has the distinction of having the only woman bank cashier in all of Oakland County.

Also, Edna Profrock, who lives with her mother here at 58 Church St., is the only one in an eastern Michigan area several times larger than the county.

Born here, she graduated from the local high school and later from Flint Business College and attended Michigan State Normal before the New Year's Day of 1938 when she entered the employ of the State Bank of Ortonville.

Miss Profrock has served as cashier for sometime and last year became executive vice president and cashier.

Taking an active interest in bank activities, she has just returned from Minneapolis, Minn., where she attended the National Association of Bank Women's convention. She is also a member of the Oakland County American Institute of Banking and the National Association of Bank Women.

Daughter of the late H. A. Profrock who served the local bank as director for 30 years and as vice president for 20 years until his death two years ago, she enjoys a friendly acquaintance with her customers that usually only exists in smaller communities.

Proud of the bank and a booster for Ortonville activities, she is a member and past matron of the

1100 Overflow Drayton Church School

DRAYTON PLAINS — The Bible School enrollment of the Community United Presbyterian Church has hit the 1100 mark this fall, according to Harold McAllister, general superintendent of the department. It necessitates several of the classes meeting in places outside but near the church, he says.

Third grade boys and girls will meet in the main building of the Drayton Plains School, entering the building through the main door. The Intermediate Department, grades seven through nine, will continue to meet in the school auditorium.

The Senior High Department, grades ten through twelve, will meet at the Coats Funeral Home Chapel; The TNT group, a post-high school young adult class, will meet in the recreation room of the S. V. Griffin home, 4256 Monroe St.; and Cradle Roll II, children two years of age, in the parsonage.

All other classes will meet in the church building. A staff of 70 teachers and superintendents take care of this large enrollment. Additional substitute teachers and administrative personnel bring the total staff to more than 120.

McAllister says, "Every effort is made to maintain close contact between teacher and child through small classes and frequent home contacts."

Officers Elected by Metamora OES
METAMORA—Officers named to head the Metamora Chapter OES are: worthy matron, Mrs. Arthur Clark; worthy patron, Arthur Clark; associate matron, Mrs. James Dolson; associate patron, Merle Russell; secretary, Mrs. Donald Travis; treasurer, Mrs. Lyle Allen; conductress, Mrs. Lee Fox and associate conductress, Mrs. Herman Fick.

The state of appointive officers will be announced later. Installation will be semi-public and will be at the Masonic Hall Oct. 16, at 8 p. m.

The Metamora Past Matrons' Club will meet at the home of Mrs. Lawrence Freeman in Lapeer on Oct. 25, at 8 p. m., for a social evening and business meeting.

Boost Orion Band With Fund Raising

LAKE ORION—The Band Boosters are sponsoring tag days today and tomorrow to raise funds to help the group buy some equipment, maintain the band uniforms, and sponsor the annual recognition and reward dinner for the bands.

Lake Orion now has three bands, sixth grade, junior high and senior.

The tags will be on sale throughout the business sections of Lake Orion as well as Gingerville, where about a fourth of senior band members live.

The booklets list dates of events and vacations, officers and homeroom mothers and a request that those wishing to take matters to the board of education contact its president, Mrs. Max Burgess.

Following the program, for which the school nurse is acting as liaison refreshments will be served by seventh grade mothers.

Around 90 people attended the first fall meeting of Mariette Community High School PTA. Member of the finance committee al substitute teachers and administrative personnel bring the total staff to more than 120.

McAllister says, "Every effort is made to maintain close contact between teacher and child through small classes and frequent home contacts."

The Metamora Past Matrons' Club will meet at the home of Mrs. Lawrence Freeman in Lapeer on Oct. 25, at 8 p. m., for a social evening and business meeting.

MR. AND MRS. RONALD SHULTZ

Westlake-Shultz Vows Said Before 2 Pastors

ORTONVILLE—The wedding of Jacklyn Westlake and Ronald Shultz took place Saturday in the Methodist Church, with the Rev. Leonard Kemp of Fenton and the Rev. Isaac R. McPhee, pastor, officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Westlake of 57 Jossman Rd., and her bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Shultz of M-15, Lake Louise, near Ortonville.

Nylon sheer formed the bride's wedding gown, with its bodice fashioned with Venice lace outlining the low neckline and forming cap sleeves. The bouffant, hooped skirt of nylon with lace panels had a chapel train. Her tiara was made of a calotte, of nylon outlined with seed pearls.

She carried a white Bible, covered by white, daisy-like mums, carnations and ivy.

Her maid of honor was a cousin, Janice Westlake of Big Beaver, and her two sisters, Carolyn and Marilyn, were bridesmaids, all wearing pastel ballerina gowns in nylon chiffon.

Louis Giddings of Pontiac was best man, and ushers were Jerry Nienow and Bill Roschma of Pontiac.

Among guests at the reception later at Groveland Grange hall was the bride's great-grandmother, Mrs. Lydia Ebersole of Northville.

Mr. and Mrs. Shultz are spending two weeks in Florida and on their return will make their home at Lake Louise.

Like-Backer in '52, Mrs. LaGuardia Joins Adlai Camp
WASHINGTON (DHS)—Mrs. Florello LaGuardia has joined the staff of Volunteers for Stevenson-Kefauver working with voters who, like her, have switched from Eisenhower in 1952 to Stevenson in 1956.

Mrs. LaGuardia, widow of the late mayor of New York City, said she switched from Eisenhower to Stevenson because she is not used to a public official who works part time—"anyone who knew my husband is aware of that."

She told a news conference she is only one of "a growing number" of independents who will vote Democratic this year.

She said she is disappointed in the performance and politics of the President, for whom she worked in 1952 as head of New York's Citizens-for-Eisenhower.

Mrs. LaGuardia explained: "My hopes were that he would be a strong, independent President. I didn't think of him as a Republican."

Pointing out she is registered in New York as a Liberal, Mrs. LaGuardia said she "never votes a straight ticket" and told newsmen she has not decided how she will vote in the New York senate race.

Boys Home Anniversary

ALBION 25—Founder's day and homecoming will be celebrated Sunday at Starr Commonwealth, the State Corrections Commission home for boys founded by Floyd Youth Division.

Start, 43 years ago. Speakers will include Branch County Probate Judge Fred J. Renshaw, and Robert H. Scott, assistant director of the State Corrections Commission.

Red-Faced GOP Fails to File Electors' Names

HARRISBURG, Pa. (INS)—There were some red faces in Pennsylvania's Republican headquarters at Harrisburg, when officials learned they had failed to comply with the state election code and file the names of presidential electors.

The State Elections Bureau disclosed that the GOP did not list in President Eisenhower's name 32 Republican nominees to the Pennsylvania branch of the electoral college.

college within the period fixed by law.

The code requires that a list of presidential electors be submitted within 30 days after nomination at the national convention.

The Republicans, however, need not despair. The law provides that if the presidential nominee fails to submit the list, his running mate, in this case, Vice President Richard M. Nixon, shall file the list of electors as soon as possible.

The blame for the slipup can be placed with the Republican state committee, which was expected to compile the list for President Eisenhower's approval.

Short Way Bus Line Giving Up Monroe

MONROE 12—Monroe is losing its last public transportation link to the west.

Short Way Lines of Toledo, a bus company, has announced it will quit its four-day Monroe-to-Adrian run Oct. 27. Short Way has complained state taxes are too high to permit operation.

Monroe is served north and south by Great Lakes Greyhound. But after Short Way quits the 35-mile Monroe-Adrian trip, there will be nothing to the west. Several years ago the New York Central Railway abandoned its Monroe-Adrian line. The city itself has had no public transportation since a bus line gave up last spring.

Hollywood Headlines

Rhonda Fleming to Star in Western With Granger

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Whether red-headed Rhonda Fleming had a date over the weekend to patch up her stormy marriage to Dr. Lew Morrill or not, she definitely has a date to report to MGM immediately for "Gun Glory" with Stewart Granger.

It's Rhonda's first picture on the MGM lot and instead of the glamor girl she usually plays, she will be the heroine of a Western.

For months Joanne Berenger, one-time fiancee of Marlon Brando, has been studying for an acting career under her real name of Joanne Mariani.

Now she makes her stage debut as star in Vanessa Brown's stage play, "Europa and the Bull," which goes into rehearsal Nov. 14. Vanessa prepared this play when she was appearing in "Seven-Year Itch" in New York and then packed it away in her trunk and forgot about it. She has rewritten it along lines suggested by Bennett Cerf.

Funny thing—Joanne's engagement to Brando was never announced officially as over, but it obviously is ended.

CANNY ZSA ZSA

That very canny Hungarian honey, Zsa Zsa Gabor, complete with maid and three dogs, is getting the same salary she received in Las Vegas to beat the tom-toms for "Death of a Scoundrel" in Bob O'Donnell's theaters in Texas. She'll wear the same gowns, but how they'll go over in the South remains to be seen.

Producer Charles Martin was able to borrow $1,000,000 to make "Scoundrel" starring Zsa Zsa, her ex-husband George Sanders and Yvonne de Carlo, a large chunk of which went to La Gabor for her salary and her tour.

It is said to be based on the life of Sergei Rubenstein, who was murdered in his apartment. At one time Rubenstein's mother threatened suit.

A spectacle such as I never expected to see is Cecil B. DeMille's "The Ten Commandments." His last picture, "The Greatest Show on Earth," grossed 23 million dollars. I can't hazard a guess how much this fabulous religious epic will gross.

Polio Season Nears End, Cases Decline

WASHINGTON (AP)—There were 655 new polio cases reported by 47 states last week. No report was received from Rhode Island.

The total is 110 less than all the states reported in the week ended Sept. 22, and a Public Health Service spokesman said today "we can expect a continuous decline now."

The spokesman also said present indications are that the 1956 total of cases will be approximately half the 1955 number.

California had the most cases last week, with 74; New York had 61 and Illinois 58.

New Deposit Doubles Canada's Uranium Flow

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Canada has a huge and relatively new uranium deposit that has doubled the country's uranium output despite production problems complicated by ice and freezing temperatures, according to J. N. Botsford, manager of Gunter Mines, Ltd., who described the new deposit in northern Saskatchewan to the American Mining Congress yesterday.

He said that despite such formidable obstacles as massive ice formations and 55-degree below zero temperatures the property has been producing 1,250 tons of ore a day for more than a year.

Israel Has Biblical Zoo

JERUSALEM — The Jerusalem Biblical Zoo is based on a Noah's Ark theme. It contains the animals, birds, reptiles, and insects whose farebears gained renown in the pages of the Bible.

But I do know that Charlton Heston seemed inspired by his role of Moses and Yvonne de Carlo gives a surprisingly fine and different performance as Sephora. The dividing of the Red Sea and the many other photographic wonders make this a picture that should live forever.

"The Ten Commandments" comes at an important time in the history of the world when religion is so badly needed. It also proves that Cecil B. DeMille is not only a great director, but a great man.

ALY EAGER TO WED

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Aly Khan is so eager to marry Bettina that he plans to file suit for divorce from Rita Hayworth in Switzerland. The French courts refuse to recognize their Nevada divorce.

Mona Freeman says the only thing wrong with the gossip that she's dating Fred Astaire is that there's not a word of truth in it.

The wing of the plane bringing Diana Dore's husband, Dennis Hamilton, back to America caught fire four hours out of New York. A frightening experience.

Deborah Kerr has been sent the script of "The Reluctant Debutante." Deborah, who's in Tobago, West Indies, saw the play in London and liked it.

Birdie Tebbetts would probably win a confidential poll as the most popular manager with newspapermen. Birdie instructs his men to stop whatever they are doing in practice and answer sports writers' questions.

A writer once pointed to a 285-pound visitor in the Cincy clubhouse and asked his name. "I don't know," Birdie said, "but I'm going to throw him out."

It later developed the visitor was Ted Kluszewski's kid brother.

Birdie never takes his headaches home to his wife and three very active children. He once told a friend, "I've got a house carpeted from wall to wall—with children."

These crisp days with the tang of autumn in the air remind me Oct. 14 has been set aside as National Bowling Day.

This sport has more than 20,000,000 participants.

Until Oct. 14 all our nation's bowlers will have a chance to pit their skill against the male and female national champs, Bill Lillard and Anita Cantaline.

Each challenge will cost a 50-cent donation to the Red Cross at the local bowling alley.

The NBA five-point-must scoring system introduced at the Chestnut-Berrios fight here has been used in Canada.

Since Michigan Boxing Commissioner Floyd Stevens is now president of the NBA it would be inconsistent not to use it in Michigan.

Officials and fighters have varied opinions on the five-point system as opposed to the 10-point system used for the past three years in NBA states.

Under the new rules five points must be given to the winner of each round and 4-3-2-1 to the loser. Most slight-edge rounds under the 10-point system were scored 10-8.

These conceivably could now be scored 5-3 which, by comparison, actually hurts the loser more than the old method.

Assuming a fighter wins every round by a 5-3 score, or a slight edge in each round, the total would be 50-30. This is a two-fifths edge.

If every round was scored 10-8, under the old method, the total would be 100-80, or a one-fifth difference.

Cross-Country Shift

Griffs Study Move to Los Angeles

WASHINGTON (AP)—A shift of Washington's American League baseball club to California in time for next year's season was reported to be under consideration today.

The Washington Post and Times Herald quoted Club President Calvin Griffith as saying in New York City that he has such a plan "under consideration" and that an offer made by Los Angeles city officials "looks very attractive to us in many ways."

Griffith, who is in New York for the World Series, was further quoted as saying:

"If we make the move, the Griffith family will still retain control of the team. We do not plan to sell to anybody."

Both Los Angeles and San Francisco have long sought a major league franchise. Washington finished eighth and seventh, respectively, during the last two seasons, and trailed the major leagues in attendance.

Nevertheless, the Post and Times Herald quoted Griffith, the club made money although "not enough to speculate with."

Griffith inherited the presidency of the local club last December under a trust set up by the late Clark Griffith, club president of the Senators for 37 years. Calvin Griffith, 45, was a nephew and adopted son of Clark Griffith.

The Griffith family retains control of the club. H. Gabriel Murphy, local insurance man who holds 50 per cent of the stock, was described as agreeable to a shift away from Washington.

Griffith was quoted as saying he would be reluctant to move the franchise out of Washington, "and there is no certainty that it will happen, but we have to make the move that is the most practical."

"We'll have to consider all of the various aspects before making any final decision."

There is an Oct. 31 deadline on any franchise shifts.

"We would need the favorable votes of six of the eight teams in the league," the paper quoted Griffith. "I think they can be counted on, but we would have to take quick action to smooth out all details before Oct. 31."

DECOY!—One of the Saginaw Valley's top sprinters in track and an elusive, hard-going 'decoy' fullback is little (5-6 and 150-pounds) Namon Smith of Bay City Central.

Leg Injury Hampering Mantle's Speed

BROOKLYN (AP)—Their chance to win their first World Series game delayed 24 hours by rain, Don Newcombe, Brooklyn's biggest winner in 32 years and Don Larsen, New York's hottest pitcher in September, tried it again at Ebbetts Field today as the Dodgers and the Yankees squared off in the second game of the World Series. Pleasant weather was forecast.

The postponement, first since 1951, failed to dim the enthusiasm of the baseball-hungry fans, who were expected to jam the ancient 34,000-seat park just as they did in Wednesday's opening game when 34,479, including President Eisenhower, saw Sal Maglie pitch the Dodgers to a 6-3 triumph.

Rumors persisted that Mickey Mantle Yankee slugger, is far from recovered from his groin injury. Mickey himself insisted he was all right but observers became suspicious when they noted that Mantle didn't get the proper jump on two fly-balls which fell in front of him for base hits in Wednesday's opener. Certainly, his vaunted speed was not apparent in his handling of the bloop hits.

The question concerning Mantle's state of health may be answered today.

Scheduled to be among the spectators was Adlai Stevenson, Democratic candidate for President. Stevenson was to have appeared at Yankee Stadium for the third game but after yesterday's postponement, he was invited to come to Brooklyn instead.

Although neither manager felt his team had gained any particular advantage by the postponement, the odds-makers thought differently. Latest odds made today's game as well as the series an even money, pick 'em affair.

Had the game been played yesterday, the Yankees would have gone off a 6-5 favorite. That's the way it was for the series, too.

"The price for today's game dropped because the extra day's rest figures to help Newcombe," a price-maker explained. "By the same token, the series price dropped because Sal Maglie will be able to get another day's rest."

Yesterday's postponement came at 10:03 a.m., EST. Commissioner Ford Frick called the game off after examining the field and learning that a long, heavy rain was forecast.

"No World Series game ever has been stopped short of nine innings," he said, "and we don't want that ever to happen. It is my responsibility to the players and fans that no game has to be called because of adverse weather conditions."

"I don't particularly like the postponement," said the Dodgers' 27-game winner. "I've been pitching all year with only three-days' rest and I'm much better that way than pitching with four-days' rest. The extra day affects my control."

Despite the washout, Newcombe worked out in uniform. He did no throwing of any kind but he ran for 25 minutes in the outfield. After taking his shower, he said he and his wife were going for their passports for the Dodgers' forthcoming trip to Japan. Then he was going to have dinner, take in a movie and go to bed at about 9:30 p.m.

Larsen, an 11-game winner this year, was Stengel's choice over Tom Sturdivant because of his last four September performances, all of them low-hit affairs. The big righthander, in his lone series start, last year, lasted only four innings and was charged with the defeat. Newcombe started three World Series games against the Yankees and lost them all. One of them was a 1-0 decision in the 1949 opener.

Stengel Juggles Lineup

BROOKLYN (AP)—Casey Stengel's decision to juggle his lineup for the second game of the World Series was construed by some experts today as an indication that the grizzled old manager of the Yankees was greatly concerned over his team's opening game loss to Brooklyn.

The change was made after Stengel announced, following yesterday's postponement, that he would bench third baseman Andy Carey and first baseman Bill Skowron in favor of Jerry Coleman and Joe Collins. Coleman would play second, he said, and Billy Martin would be shifted to third. Collins, of course, would play first.

Casey merely scoffed at this reasoning.

"I have decided on these moves simply because it will help our doubleplays," he said. "Coleman played fine ball the last couple of weeks. He is the greatest pivot man I ever have seen."

Infield changes are part of the Yankee pattern. They made 213 doubleplays this year with 26 combinations of infielders sharing in most of them.

Stengel didn't explain why he decided to replace Skowron with Collins but it was believed he wanted to get more left-handed hitting strength against righthander Don Newcombe. But Sal Maglie is a righthander and Skowron, a right-handed hitter, was used against him in the opener. Bill had a bad day against Maglie, going hitless in four times at bat. Collins is remembered for his two home runs in the opening game of the 1955 series against the Dodgers.

In Stengel's revised batting order, Collins batted fifth and Coleman eighth. The others remained unchanged.

Table Netters Get Under Way for '57 Season

Pontiac Table Tennis Association got its 1956-57 season under way Thursday night with five games on the card.

Winners were Airport Restaurant 6-0 over Fray's; Bethany Baptists 4-2 over Nicholas Market; and Capitol Barbers, 5-1 over Newberry Market. Pontiac Varsity and Cole Oil split 3-3 as did Fleet Carriers and General Conveyor.

Gloria Rose's victory, 21-17 and 21-17, over Ella Wilkins Thompson was the top match of the evening. Ella came out of retirement after winning the Pontiac Press' women's singles title in 1935.

Wife Sues M. Furgol

LOS ANGELES (INS)—Professional golfer Marty Furgol is being sued for separate maintenance by Theresa V. Furgol, 41.

She filed the action yesterday, asking for $688 a month and custody of the couple's four children, who range in age from five to 14.

Invade Chiefs' Teepee

Wolves Get 1st Valley Test Tonight

By H. GUY MOATS

Bay City Central, rated only a little below Flint Northern in Michigan schoolboy football, so far this fall, shows its wares to Pontiac fans tonight in Wisner Stadium. PHS Chiefs, with two wins and a tie put their hopes on the line in the opening Saginaw Valley game for both clubs, starting at 8 o'clock.

The Wolfpack, which lost only one game in the 1956 Valley campaign, that one to co-defending champion Flint Central, is taking up its winning streak this year where it left off, with three in a row, so far. But tonight's tilt is the 1st conference test, and it could be a surprising one.

Chiefs were confident of giving a real battle, according to their mentors. While several regulars were slowed up by slight hurts, incurred in the Ferndale game, most were ready to go all out against the Wolves.

However, Chiefs did suffer one big loss yesterday. Freeman Watkins, one of the school's potentially great players, left the squad and is lost for the season. A bad right thigh, which has stymied the speedy halfback in track and football for the last three years, "did him in" to end his PHS grid career.

In Watkins' place will be another speedster, Lonnie Humphrey, who is rated a strong runner and willing, hard worker on defense.

Chiefs seek to snap the string of five straight Bay City wins over the last five years of Valley play, and equalize the standings in the 34-year-long rivalry.

Size of the task ahead of Pontiac tonight is revealed in the scoring of the two clubs.

Bay City has compiled a 122-point total to a bare six for opponents. Chiefs have gathered in 99 to 21 for opponents.

Engle's crew is far away the top-scoring and defensive club in the Valley, so far, with Flint Northern's 81 points and 19 against the runnerup. Arthur Hill has scored 78 to 28, Saginaw 53 to 56 for opponents and Flint Central only 23 to 58 against.

Other weekend games involving Valley eleven:

Alpena at Arthur Hill (tonight); Flint Northern at Saginaw High (Saturday); Flint Central is idle this week.

Flukey Victory

Wade Gets Ram 'QB' Job

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Bill Wade has won the job as quarterback of the Los Angeles Rams from Norman Van Brocklin, but he gained it on a fluke, coach Sid Gillman admits.

Gillman announced yesterday that Wade, former Vanderbilt star, would start Sunday against the San Francisco 49ers, "because he won for us against Philadelphia last Sunday and he can win again." Gillman said Wade will stay as quarterback "as long as he continues to deliver."

Van Brocklin started against Philadelphia and his first pass was intercepted and turned into an Eagle touchdown. He was taken right out and Wade worked the rest of the game. Gillman said a study of the game movies showed that Van Brocklin's arm was tipped on the pass by Eagle end Tom Scott.

"I wouldn't have jerked Van after that interception if I had known Scott rushed him so well on the pass. He'd have stayed in, but when I saw that ruptured duck wobbling through the air, it frightened me."

Fencing Class Starts Oct. 10

Parks and Recreation Sponsors Instruction at PHS Girls Gym

The Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department's fencing program will begin next Wednesday, Oct. 10, for all youths of high school age and interested adults.

Instruction will take place in the Pontiac High School girls gymnasium, starting at 7 p.m. The program will run until the end of March, 1957.

All interested persons must bring tennis shoes. Other fencing equipment and gear are provided by the Parks and Recreation Department.

There is no charge for this program and advance registrations are not required. Interested parties should report to the PHS girls gym next Wednesday night or any succeeding Wednesday at 7 o'clock. Further information may be obtained by calling the Parks and Recreation Department, FE 3-7131.

Captain Is Versatile

HANOVER, N. H. (AP)—Fullback Bob Rex of Dartmouth, who is captain of the 1956 team, can catch passes, return kicks, punt and carry the ball.

Pace Olympic Ring Trials

Army Puts 10 in 'Semis'

KANSAS CITY (AP)—U.S. Army fighters made a clean sweep of their six matches in the opening round of the Midwestern Olympic Boxing Trials last night. The Army will have 10 fighters in tonight's semifinals.

Fastest knockout of the opening session was by Edward Cook, U.S. Army champion stationed in Germany, who put away Buster Talley, Kansas City, a former Marine Sergeant, in 1:07 of the first round in their middleweight bout.

John Johnson of Rocky Mount, N.C., also stationed with the Army in Germany, scored a first-round TKO over Bill Nielsen, Omaha, Neb., in their heavyweight encounter.

Edward Cole of Ft. Jackson, N.

C., beat Daniel Eddington, St. Louis, on a TKO in the 125-pound class.

The most dramatic bout of the evening went to Bobby Christopherson, Minneapolis, who came up from two early knockdowns to win over Ernest Waters, of Milwaukee, Wis., and Ft. Riley, on a split decision in their 156-pound class scrap.

Guerin Jockey to Watch

CAMDEN, N. J. (AP)—Chances are Jockey Eric Guerin will have a mount in the Garden State world's richest thoroughbred race on Oct. 27. In 1954 he won with Summer Tan, netting the winner's owner $151,095.75. In 1955 he was second with Career Boy, earning $36,474 for C. V. Whitney.

From The PRESS BOX

Duke Maas, righthanded pitcher from Ulca, farmed out by the Detroit Tigers this year, will play the winter circuit in Puerto Rico.

Jack Miller, who bowls in the Huron Bowl House League, recently converted a 1-10 split.

Phil Rizzuto, long time Yankee shortstop who was released this season, is back in the World Series, this time as a sports writer. He is covering the Series for a wire service.

Edgewood Country Club on Commerce Road will present its new and modern facilities to the members of press and radio at a dinner Wednesday October 10th.

The recreation department of GMC Truck and Coach will hold its annual All-Sports Banquet Thursday, October 18th, at Waterford Old Mill. Les Bingham, former Lion, will be the guest.

An interesting note in the Michigan-Michigan State series shows that the losing team has been held scoreless 24 times in the 48 games played. Two other games were scoreless ties.

The Motor City Speedway will close the season tomorrow night with a 30-lap feature for hard tops. Joy Fair of Pontiac, Johnny Wallace of Madison Heights and Leon Blachura of Royal Oak are among the top drivers.

Pee-Wee 11's Battle Saturday

The Pee-Wee Football League swings into its 3rd week of action Saturday night with three games scheduled at North Side Park, Edison and Montcalm streets.

Bagley will meet Scotch School in the opener at 6 o'clock, followed by the Cubs-Crusaders game at 7 and the Rams-Lions contest at 8. Webster does not play this week.

Tomorrow night's games will be the last of the season at North Side. The remainder of the schedule will be held on Saturday afternoons at Beaudette Park.

Pee-Wee League standings:

Crusaders	2	0	0	Bagley	0	1
Rams	1	0	0	Webster	0	1
Cubs	1	0	0	Lions	0	1

Brooklyn Scout O'Connor Dies

BOSTON (AP)—William O'Connor, 67, of Somerville, baseball scout for the Brooklyn Dodgers in New England, New Brunswick and the Maritime Provinces, died yesterday at the veterans administration hospital.

O'Connor, who discovered pitcher Clem Labine for the Dodgers, also was widely known as an official for greater Boston schoolboy athletic events. He also served as an umpire in the old New-England Baseball League.

101,001 to Watch 'M' -- MSU Rivalry

ANN ARBOR 48 — Michigan and Michigan State, whose football rivalry dates back to 1898, clash here tomorrow in one of the season's most important games and 101,001 fans will be on hand for the toss-up contest.

The odds-makers have installed Michigan State one to three point favorite in this sellout battle between two of the nation's top teams. The Spartans are ranked 2nd and Michigan 5th.

Scalpers are asking — and getting — between $35 and $40 for a pair of tickets for the game that is expected to play a big part in Michigan's bid for a Rose Bowl trip.

The Spartans, who opened with a 21-7 triumph over Stanford a week ago, cannot repeat as Big Ten representatives in the Pasadena classic. Michigan, denied the Rose Bowl bid a season ago because of a final-game defeat by Ohio State, has a veteran-studded squad and is the early choice for the bowl.

The experts figure a 3rd place finish will be good enough, since state cannot return under conference rules and Ohio State's Buckeyes are ineligible for a possible bid because of improper aid to athletes.

Michigan has won 25, lost 10 and tied 3 in the ancient rivalry. The Wolverines have won the last two, snatching a 14-7 decision last season from the favored Spartans.

In that one, Duffy Daugherty's Spartans had the edge in the statistics all the way but lacked the scoring punch. This time MSU must face the same line that last time repelled their one-two back punch, Walt Kowalczyk and Clarence Peaks, within the Wolverine 10-yard line.

Michigan's ambitious club got no stern test last Saturday against a green UCLA team that succumbed 42-12.

"We would rather have had a tough game to open with," said Michigan coach Bennie Oosterbaan. "We made a few mistakes in that game that we won't be able to get away with on this Michigan State outfit."

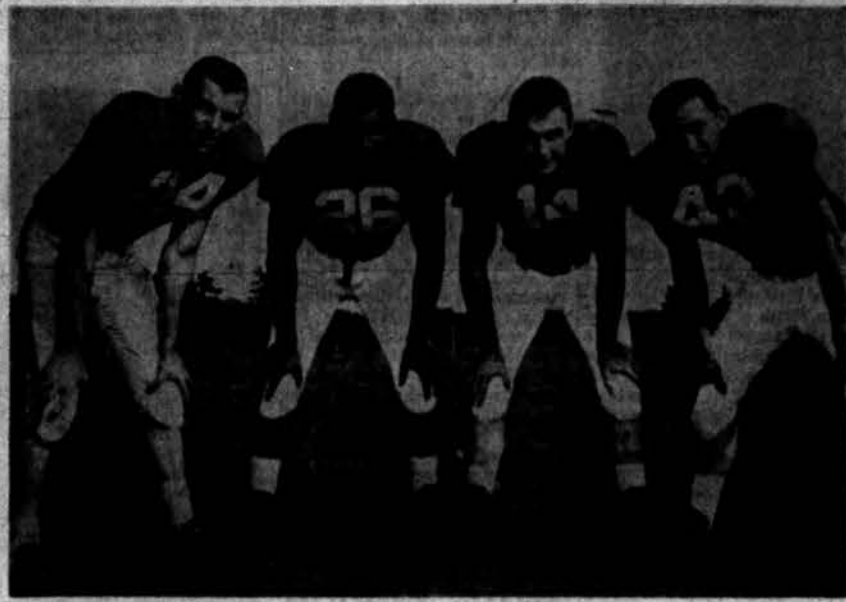

Michigan came out of the UCLA game with just a few minor bumps and bruises. Only second-string tackle Willie Smith, with an ankle injury, is on the doubtful list.

The sellout figure has been officially announced at 101,001 — capacity for Michigan's newly-enlarged stadium, and it will be the 9th sellout in a row for struggles between these intra-state opponents.

It will be the largest crowd ever to see a football game in the state of Michigan.

Observer Discovers Few Partridge

By JACK PATTERSON

MACKINAW CITY — Thursday was a wild and windy day, not at all suited for field work on our personal partridge census project.

Pats have an unhappy inclination to flush wild when the wind picks up, and yesterday's northwester gave them every opportunity to do just that.

With last years. That's another way of saying it is only so-so.

While we were in the area we dropped in at L. H. Cole's Canada Creek dugouts to see if Louie and his long-time shooting partner, Dave Edstrom had any luck. Despite much signs of recent occupancy we were unable to raise any answer.

We put in a hard afternoon's work locating birds. Trying to locate birds might be a better way to put it. The few we saw got up far ahead.

Again we blamed the wind although it might have been our laughing at funny stories that started the birds. We think the wind had the bigger influence because Wednesday in the same area we hunted, Laird, and Tom Hewlett of Birmingham ran into a fairly substantial number of possibilities.

The Clarence Pattersons and Harold Edus arrived last evening, guns in handy ready to run the same course in the morning. We wish them luck and at the same time want to point out that if they have any it is doubtless because the wind has died out.

It looks real grousy, it feels real grousy. It would be real grousy if there were a few birds around.

Presque Isle County — If a sampling of our favorite high producing areas of years past means anything is in pretty much the same boat. It should be remembered that the wind was a disturbing factor.

We mentioned before that we were going to give some pet Cheboygan County stops a going-over. That we did, basing at Carleton Patterson's Straits-side leanto.

Argentina's sunflower output this year now is set at 732,000 tons, up from the poor total of 282,800 tons in 1955 but short the million tons predicted earlier.

While most of East Pakistan was in the grip of recent floods, peasants in Cox's Bazaar in Chittagong prayed for rain to ease severe drought conditions there.

Bayer Leader in Coast Test

Big Belter Has One Stroke Edge on Field in San Diego Open

EL CAJON, Calif. 48 — George Bayer, the big belter from Grosinger, N. Y., led by one stroke today in the 72-hole San Diego Open golf tournament on the strength of a seven-under par 65 opening round.

Bayer's 33-35 effort put him one ahead of Jay Herbert, Sanford, Fla.; Paul Harney, Boston, and Ed Furgol, St. Louis, all tied at 66. The huge former football player had eight birdies but saw one cancelled out by a bogie. Bayer has never won a major tournament.

San Diego's Gene Littler, the pre-tourney favorite, posted a 67 to tie for third with Mike Souchak, Grosinger; Dick Mayer, St. Petersburg, Fla.; Jerry Barber, Los Angeles; Ernie Vossler, Midland, Tex., and Tommy Bolt, Chattanooga.

The players took the Singing Hills Country Club course apart in their fight for a share of the $15,000 prize money, with 25 of them shooting 69 or less.

Sports Briefs

CHICAGO — George Blanda of the pro football Bears has booted 143 straight points after touchdowns following the completion of the 1955 gridiron season.

NORMAN, Okla. — Oklahoma football fans had bought more than 21,000 tickets for the current 1956 season before last June 1.

CHICAGO — George Blanda has scored 320 points for the Chicago football Bears. He is threatening the record of Jack Manders who tallied 401 total points.

Podoley, Kipke Shooting for National Grid Marks

MT. PLEASANT 48 — Two Central Michigan football players are seeking national records, with quarterback Herk Kipke going after the passing mark and versatile Jim Podoley chasing the rushing record.

Kipke, Lansing senior, has completed 39 of 57 passes for 354 yards and has added 14 yards by rushing. His completion percentage is a sparkling 74.1 and at the present rate the 175-pound signal-caller could eclipse two national small college records.

A Hanover back in 1948 completed an average of 64.8 per cent of his more than 100 passes. In 1953, Western Kentucky State's Sanders threw more than 50 passes and completed 66.75 per cent of them.

Podoley, now in his fourth year of varsity football at Central, is seeking a record set last year by Rhodes of Colorado Western State. The Colorado back averaged 8.23 yards per carry for three seasons while lugging the ball more than 300 times.

In three seasons, Podoley carried 241 times for an 8.5 average. But for his sophomore and junior seasons, and three games this year, Podoley has carried 204 times for a 9.37 average.

Mike-Eaglet Battle Tops

St. Michael's chances for a Suburban Catholic League football championship this year will probably ride or fall on the outcome of Sunday afternoon's crucial battle with St. Mary at Orchard Lake.

Father John Rakoczy's high-flying Eaglets, defending SCL champions and unbeaten this season in two starts, provide a formidable stumbling block which the Mike must hurdle if they hope to claim any league honors in 1956.

The St. Mike — St. Mary clash highlights Sunday's Suburban loop program, which also finds St. Frederick at Royal Oak St. Mary, Ferndale St. James at Hazel Park St. Rita, and St. Benedict of Highland Park at Center Line St. Clement.

The possibility of St. Mike upsetting the Eaglets seems better now than it did a week ago.

PHILADELPHIA — Robin Roberts of the Phils pitched a no-hitter for Michigan State against the Great Lakes team in 1946.

LOS ANGELES — Sam Snead averaged 69.86 strokes for the year in tournament golf in 1955 to set up the best mark for the pro players that year.

Colts Favored Over Detroit Saturday Night

Layne vs. Shaw in Lion Tilt

DETROIT (AP) — Baltimore Colts quarterback George Shaw is known around the National Football League as a "hot and cold" passer. The Detroit Lions hope he will be "cold" when they meet the Colts tomorrow night at Baltimore.

In the Baltimore opener last week, Shaw was "hot." He completed 17 of 25 passes — 12 of them in a row — to pace the Colts to a 28-21 upset of the Chicago Bears. The sophomore signal-caller rolled up 233 yards and two touchdowns with his pin-point passing.

The Baltimore-Detroit game shapes up as a battle between quarterbacks — Shaw vs. Bobby Layne, the old pro of the Lions. The Colts are rated slight favorites.

Layne, playing only part of the game in the Detroit opener against Green Bay last Sunday, completed 7 of 12 passes for 129 yards, scored one touchdown in a "sneak," kicked a 12-yard field goal and two extra points. The Lions pulled that one out, 20-16, despite running out of fullbacks.

Fullbacks Bill Bowman, Leon Hart and Gene Gedman were injured in the Packer's game. But only Bowman, still suffering from a pulled leg muscle, remains sidelined.

Godman's leg injury has healed and Hart will sport a special rubber pad to protect a charleyhorse.

Coach Buddy Parker says the rest of the team seems to be in good shape and "we should be at nearly full strength." The Lions have been stressing defensive work this week, aimed at containing Shaw, who besides having one of the best passing arms in the league is an elusive dangerous runner.

Rain Provides Extra Day of Rest for Sal

BROOKLYN (AP) — Just what yesterday's rain did to, or for, the Brooklyn Dodgers in the World Series may not be known until Monday's fifth game—if there is one.

The Dodgers lead the series 1-0 at the moment, but there are very few who consider they'll take the New York Yankees in four straight.

The fifth game could be the "big" one, and that's where the Dodgers may have gained an edge with yesterday's rain — out, the first series postponement since 1951. The rain gave Sal Maglie, Brooklyn's grand old man who won the opener 6-3 with three days rest, an extra day before his tentative start in the fifth game.

Strong Finish Wins for Viking Harriers

Walled Lake's cross-country team placed only one runner in the first four positions Thursday afternoon but slammed the next five spots to edge Farmington, 28-30, in a dual meet over the Farmington course.

Farmington's Charles O'Connor finished 1st in the time of 11:06, followed by Bill Hosley of Walled Lake, James Marsh and Don Shuster, both of Farmington, came in 3rd and 4th respectively.

Charles Wilson, Bob Schoenberg, Jim Wilson, Bob Chetteburgh and Mike Kerrigan, all Viking runners, came next in that order to rip the Falcons. It was the 3rd win in four starts for the Walled Lake Washington State (Pacific Coast).

of his backfield — and a potent one it is—for the running.

At fullback the Colts have Alan (the Horse) Ameche, a 217-pound former Wisconsin star who paced the league in rushing last year and scouting reports indicate he is "better than ever."

If Ameche isn't enough, Shaw can flip passes, pitchouts and handouts to halfbacks L. G. Dugre, Lenny Moore and Billy Vessels. All three are broken field runners who can break up a ball game with their speed.

The Lions met the Colts twice last year and came off with a split. The Colts defeated Detroit, 28-13, in the first meeting at Baltimore. The Lions squared things in Detroit, 24-14.

'Hunt, Live' Safety Program Interests Area's Residents

Many inquiries have been received concerning the coming "Hunt and Live" gun and outdoors safety evening at Pontiac High School, next Wednesday night, Art Van Ryzin, coordinator for the affair, said today. The program is co-sponsored by the PHS physical education department and The Pontiac Press.

"People seem to be vitally interested in the meeting," Van Ryzin states. "Many dealers in hunting equipment and others have called to express their interest and to offer assistance in the program."

Indicative of the general public's interest, particularly boys and their fathers, was the 1,000 attendance at a similar meeting held last night in Detroit.

It is hoped, by offering demonstrations of safety in handling firearms, and other hunting equipment, that fathers and boys will be stimulated to make their forays into the woods, fields and on the streams, safe ventures, as well as pleasant experiences.

"We feel," Van Ryzin adds, "that in an area where such outdoor activities have so many natural facilities, that everybody should be exposed to the values it affords." In line with the outdoor program, the school has already begun classes for boys in handling

Full Slate on College Grid Card

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Hopedul Miami and harrassed UCLA kick off October's first week of football tonight and even competition from the World Series can't detract from the widespread interest in what's to follow.

The sophomore-loaded Florida, 14-6 winners over South Carolina in their opener last week, face undefeated Boston College as they seek another season as successful as last year's. Miami was 18th in the final 1955 ratings by The Associated Press poll of sports writers and broadcasters. This week's poll put Miami in a 13th place tie with Illinois.

UCLA, last year's Pacific Coast Conference champion, is trying to balance its remaining manpower after penalties inflicted for illegal payments to athletes. The Uclians took a thumping from Michigan last week and now they face Oregon, which with two non-league victories, appears to be one of the stronger conference teams.

Oklahoma, which easily held its No. 1 rating in a 36-0 opening victory over North Carolina, goes after its 32nd consecutive victory against Kansas State, already beaten twice. George Tech (No. 3) has an open date. For the next five teams its Mississippi (6) vs. Houston; Pittsburgh (7) at California; Texas Christian (8) vs. Arkansas; Tennessee (9) at Duke in a real toughie, and Southern California at Wisconsin.

The Big Ten is involved in three more important interconference games, Iowa-Oregon State, Northwestern-Tulane and California-Illinois — and a conference clash between Minnesota and Purdue. Indiana faces Notre Dame, which had a week off after losing its opener to Southern Methodist.

Other tests between major powers of different sections include Missouri-SMU, Texas-West Virginia, Rice-Louisiana State, Maryland-Baylor, Arizona-Utah State, Tulsa-Marquette and William and Mary-Boston University.

Other major conference tussles include: Kansas vs. Colorado and Nebraska vs. Iowa State (Big Seven), Wichita vs. Oklahoma A&M (Missouri Valley), Brigham Young vs. Utah and Colorado A&M vs. Wyoming (Skyline) and Idaho vs. Washington State (Pacific Coast).

Munson Has Field Day

Little Chief Gets 5 TDs

Yesterday was a really big day for Harrison Munson, PHS Junior Varsity quarterback. The Little Chiefs ace simply ran a Bay City junior varsity eleven off its feet, with five touchdowns, as the Pontiac eleven won its 3rd straight victory 31-20 at Bay City. Munson, single-handed, turned the trick.

Munson has starred in all the JV games, but yesterday reached new heights.

He started the scoring in the 1st period with a 3-yard quarterback sneak for a TD. Then he added a 44-yard TD rollout gallop in the 2nd and another 3-yard sneak for TD in the 3rd. Also, in the 3rd period Munson started a "sneak" that wound up in a 97-yard gallop for his 4th tally. Good blocking helped him break away.

Harrison topped his spectacular performance with a 3rd "sneak" for the final counter. Larry Douglas ran for the only PHS extra point.

Wolfcubs' tallies were made by Jim Elam (2) and Bob Earl. Elam also ran for the extra points.

Little Chiefs go to Flint Central next Thursday.

Tamburello Loses Appeal

BALTIMORE (AP) — It was definite finally today that Frank Tamburello is a private in the Army instead of quarterback for Maryland.

The college football star, battling the draft since June, failed yesterday to convince a federal judge that all facts about his arguments for deferment weren't considered.

Nashua has won more money than any race horse in history.

THURSDAY'S FIGHTS

Baugh's Texans Face GW Eleven in Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — Warm and cold receptions awaited Sammy Baugh today on his return to his old football stamping grounds.

The Touchdown Club arranged a luncheon to honor the Texan who came to the Washington Redskins in 1937 and in a 16-year stay established just about all the lifetime National Football League aerial records there are.

George Washington University, however, primed its football team to make Baugh's visit as miserable as possible.

Slingin' Sam is head coach of Hardin-Simmons, the Texas team that journeyed far from the range to meet GW tonight at Griffith Stadium.

Former Olympian Dies
ST. CATHARINES, Ont. (AP) — George Melbourne Brock, 68, a retired teacher and a member of Canada's 1912 Olympic team, died last night.

Wedge is the Hurons' starting quarterback, and Keating the leading ground gainer.

Dales Go for 20th

State 11's in Loop Play

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The state's small college football teams plunge into do-or-die league action this weekend with 15 Michigan clubs ready for battle. There are 10 games on tap, and seven of them are conference encounters. The MIAA has a full slate of three games, Wayne State helps open the Presidents' Athletic Conference activity and Eastern Michigan and Central Michigan have IAC dates.

For the most part, the "haves" will battle the "have-nots."

The state's top four clubs—Central, Hillsdale, Ferris and Northern Michigan—with a total record of 19 wins and no setbacks, meet clubs with composite records of four wins and five losses.

The University of Detroit is idle this weekend. The Titans have a week off after an 8-7 loss to Villanova that crippled a half-dozen Titan starters.

Hillsdale will try to stretch its winning streak to 20 at the expense of MIAA foe Albion, and the Dales will be heavy favorites to trip up the Britons. Albion, even in two outings, always is "up" for the Hillsdale game.

Central Michigan's Chippewas (3-0) face a northern Illinois club in an IAC struggle at the Northern field.

Pontiac YMCA to Revive Friday Night Dances

Pontiac YMCA plans to resume Friday night teenage dances Oct. 19, according to Morris Tubergeon, youth director.

The dances, from 9 to midnight, are an annual fall and winter program, he said. Music again will be furnished by Russ Anthony Garcia's band, he added.

Red Wings Win Over Winnipeg

Rookie Bill Dea Fires Two Goals in Final Exhibition Game

WINNIPEG (AP)—The Detroit Red Wings blanked the Winnipeg Warriors 6-0 here last night in an exhibition hockey game before 8,992 fans at Winnipeg arena — largest crowd to watch the National Hockey League team's western tour.

Goalie Glenn Hall had a comparatively easy time as he turned aside 24 shots to gain his shutout in the Red Wings' final exhibition contest before they open the NHL season at home next Thursday against the Chicago Black Hawks.

Rookie Billy Dea from the Edmonton Flyers of the Western Hockey League paced the Wings with two goals. Red Kelly, Ted Lindsay, Lorne Ferguson and Alex Delvecchio added singles.

The Warriors, WHL champions and winners of the Duke of Edinburgh trophy in a playoff against the Quebec Hockey League champions, showed a lack of polish and active competition in their first game of the season. The Red Wings, playing their 5th game in six nights, always were in command although they appeared to tire at times.

Southern Trip Cancelled

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — The Harvard basketball team will not make a scheduled Christmas vacation trip through the South because of bans against inter-racial competition which affect several of the proposed opponents. The announcement of the cancellation was made yesterday by Athletic Director Tom Bolles.

13 Unbeaten Prep Teams Play

By BILL CORNWELL.
 Thirteen high school football teams in the Oakland County area will lay perfect records on the block tonight, but before the evening is over the field will be reduced by at least two.

Four undefeated, untied squads are involved in head-on collisions to spotlight an all-star parade of gridiron attractions throughout the area.

Baker Junior High Wins

Touchdown runs of 90 and 60 yards by halfback Harry Nieman led Baker Junior High School of Troy to a 24-0 victory over Avondale yesterday afternoon at Troy. It was the 14th consecutive triumph for Baker as the school enters its 3rd year of gridiron competition. Jerry Smith also scored twice yesterday on short runs.

Waterford lays its flawless 3-0 mark on the line against Farmington in an Inter-Lakes tilt on the Skipper gridiron and East Detroit's powerhouse is favored to keep its record intact against visiting Hazel Park.

Lake Orion's spotless slate will be severely tested when the Dragons go to Clawson for an Oakland B contest while Romeo will gamble with once-beaten Brighton on the Brighton field.

Top Women Stars in KC Golf Tourney

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Thirty amateurs and 23 touring professionals are entered in the 3-day Heart of America Women's Invitational Golf Tournament, which opens today.

The field for the $5,000 affair includes defending champion Marilyn Smith of Wichita and Marlene Bauer Hagge, who has won eight tournaments so far this year. She needs only one more victory to set a record for a single season. Fay Crocker of Montevideo looked sharpest in practice rounds yesterday, touring the 36-38-78 course in five under par.

Futurity Runs Today After One-Day Delay

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — The rain-delayed Kentucky Futurity, $33,731 last leg of the Triple Crown for 3-year-old trotters, was rescheduled for today with the promise of fair and mild weather.

Rain knocked out racing yesterday at the Lexington Trot. Three stake races were postponed until today and overnight races cancelled.

Nimble Colby remained the favorite. The classic is raced for the best two of 3-mile heats.

Trend Continues Leftward

Bevan in View of Top British Post

By ROBERT H. MEYER
EN Staff Writer

In 1928, after tugging in the House of Commons with the newly-elected member from Ebbw Vale, an aging David Lloyd George, said of his antagonist and fellow Welshman, Aneurin Bevan:

"There's a future prime minister."

At 59, and after a roller-coaster political career, there is little reason to believe that "Nye" Bevan doubts the prediction still will come true.

The portly leader of British Socialism's leftward took a long step toward that goal this week when on his fifth try he was elected treasurer of the Labor Party. Bevan's victory over the candidate of the party leadership headed by moderate Hugh Gallwey apparently is the result of a general trend to the left in what is now Britain's "Loyal Opposition" Party.

Bevan is the natural man to lead such a leftward trend. He has devoted his life to first, getting the Labor Party into power, and then getting the Labor Party to follow what he feels are the true principles of socialism.

Ironically, Bevan's election today comes after some months of markedly mellowed behavior by the long-time "enfant terrible" of British politics.

His round, red face is now seldom clouded with temperamental outbursts and often beams with a charm he is able to turn on as effectively as his sarcasm and scorn. How long the leading British advocate of "give 'em hell" politics will retain the role of the poised, would-be party leader is a debatable question.

Bevan's militant drive to gain power for the "workers" of Britain has its roots in the poverty of his youth as one of 15 children born to a mining family in Tredegar. At 15, "Nye" began a seven-year stint underground in the mines. At 18, he held his first trade union job. In the early 20's, "Agitator" Bevan was "blacklisted" by the mine owners.

Out of work, Bevan doubled his efforts as a union organizer and laborite politician. He won easy election to Parliament in 1929 and has been one of the sharpest-tongued orators in that body ever since.

LOWER THAN VERMIN
The experiences of his youth under a Tory government led him, as late as 1949, to say of the Conservatives:

"They are lower than vermin." Such extremes of partisanship have hurt Bevan again and again in his political career, particularly since on occasion he has directed language only a little more complimentary at members of his own party.

His deep convictions that the laborite leadership was deserting the principles of socialism in order to support rearmament led to his resignation in 1951 as minister of labor.

In 1955 Bevan was expelled from the Parliamentary Labor Party for insubordination on the defense issue and narrowly escaped expulsion from the party itself.

Bevan has a reputation for being "anti-American," chiefly because of his attacks on U.S. foreign policy. He believes American efforts to forge a global chain of anti-Communist military alliances have missed the real nature of the Soviet threat which he holds is "economic, social and ideological." Bevan also supports the creation of a unified, but unarmed and neutral, Germany and a ban on atomic and hydrogen weapons.

If Bevan should seek and win the party leadership from Gallwey, a laborite election victory would make him prime minister. Is "Nye" going to make that try?

Asked that today, he said: "One never rules out any possibility about the future."

Sheep Not So Dumb

KIOWA, Colo. (AP)—These big-horn sheep aren't so dumb. Rancher Sam Kinsey said a ram and two ewes showed up on his place on Kiowa Creek in rolling, timber-country not usually inhabited by mountain sheep. If they stay put, they'll be safe during the fall hunting season. Kinsey's ranch is in an area closed to big-horn shooting.

Badgered by 'Kitten'

PAYETTE, Idaho (AP)—Mrs. George Whorton of Payette found what she thought was a kitten in her downstairs bedroom. She called for her husband. The animal intruder turned out to be a badger.

Whorton spent a half hour chasing it with a broom, finally sent it scampering up the alley. The Whortons still don't know how it got into the house.
