Judge Throws Out DuPont-GM Case

Federal Jurist Finds No Proof of Conspiracy

CHICAGO (AP)—U. S. Dist. Judge Walter J. Labuy today dismissed the government's civil antitrust suit against the Du Pont interests, General Motors Corp. and the United States Rubber Co.

Judge Labuy held that the government had "failed to prove conspiracy, monopolization, a restraint of trade, or any reasonable probability of restraint."

"The essence of the conspiracy and restraint which the government charged and sought to prove in this case," he said, "is alleged limitation on General Motors' ability to deal as it pleased with competitors of Du Pont and United States Rubber."

Labuy's opinion said "the court finds that there has not been, nor is there at present, a conspiracy to restrain or to monopolize trade, and no limitation or restraint upon General Motors' freedom to deal freely and fully with competitors of Du Pont and United States Rubber."

He continued "there is no limitation or restraint upon the freedom of General Motors to deal with its chemical discoveries, no restraint or monopolization of the General Motors market, and no restraint or monopolization of the trade and commerce between Du Pont and United States Rubber."

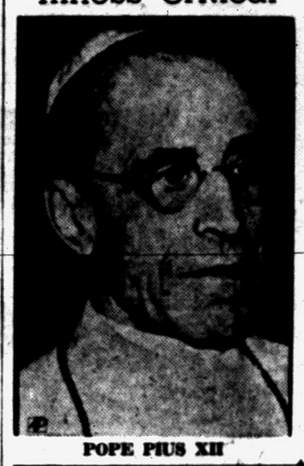

The government has described the action as the biggest antitrust case in U.S. history.

Judge LaBuy read the decision in a courtroom filled with lawyers. None of the Du Pont family members was present. Only one of the three principal Du Pont family members named in the action when it was filed in 1949 survives. He is Irenee, 77. The two other members of the family named in the original complaint were his brothers, Pierre S., who died a few months ago at the age of 83, and Lammot who died before the suit came to trial.

The judge read only a portion of his 220-page decision from the bench. He told attorneys that, because of its length, he would read only a few pages of its vital conclusions.

He told the lawyers that only a "few cases in legal history had been so thoroughly prepared, so ably presented and so skillfully argued."

Vatican Reports Pope Improved, but Still Ailing

Irritation of Stomach Membrane Blamed for Sudden Seizure

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Pius XII, gravely ill with a "peritonital irritation attended by abdominal tension," has improved this morning and his condition is "satisfactory."

Dr. Riccardo Galeazzi-Lisi, the Pope's personal physician, announced this in a special bulletin.

The doctor's announcement came after an anxious night during which grave fears were felt for the life of the 78-year-old head of the Roman Catholic Church.

The peritoneum is the smooth, transparent membrane that lines the cavity of the abdomen and is reflected inward over the abdominal and pelvic viscera.

The statement referred only to an inflammation and not to peritonitis.

The bulletin, read to newsmen assembled in the Vatican Press Office, said:

"Yesterday afternoon, Dec. 2, the condition of the Holy Father suddenly worsened because of a peritonital irritation accompanied by abdominal tension.

"Clinical examination and X-rays, made immediately, did not show anything alarming.

"We immediately began necessary therapeutical treatment.

"The night has passed relatively tranquilly.

Lodge, Allies Discuss Way to Secure Release of China Captives

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States pressed today for U.N. action to free 11 American airmen jailed by Red China on spy charges. The move brought quick response from 15 U.S. Allies who fought in the Korean War.

U.S. Chief Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., after a high-level meeting in Washington, called the Allies into emergency session last night to discuss the speediest course of action. He voiced confidence the U.N. would support any move the Americans might decide upon.

President Eisenhower told newsmen in Washington yesterday he did not see "how the United Nations can possibly disabuse itself of a feeling of responsibility in this matter, and retain its self-respect." Similar views have been expressed by congressmen. The airmen flew under U.N. colors.

Informed sources said Eisenhower may underscore his interest in the case by sending Secretary of State Dulles here to take a personal hand.

After meeting with the Allies, Lodge told newsmen: "We are going to act to do everything we can to keep faith with these men. They are U.N. men as well as U.S. men. This organization can't go on if it does not stand by people who go to bat for it when it gets into trouble."

Nominees Win OK in Senate

Flock of Appointments Approved Before Close of Special Session

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate confirmed a flock of President Eisenhower's noncontroversial nominations last night before quitting work until next month.

But Sen. Langer (R-ND) announced he would fight the nomination to the Supreme Court of U. S. Circuit Judge John Marshall Harlan of New York next year. Langer, now chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee will become ranking Republican member of that group when the Democrats take over in January.

One of the Senate's last acts of the session was confirmation of a host of ambassadors, federal judges, attorneys and marshals. It approved more than 10,000 promotions in the armed services and hundreds of similar upgradings in the public health and foreign services.

Major nominations confirmed included that of Dr. Willard F. Libby, a University of Chicago scientist, as a member of the Atomic Energy Commission. Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) announced he was dropping his opposition and confirmation followed.

Ziegenhardts Pay Judgment

Lapeer Pair Surrender in Long Battle Over Insurance Levy

Two aged Lapeer farmers surrendered yesterday.

Chris and Paul Ziegenhardt gave up on a principle which has carried their case to the State Supreme Court several times, and had them evicted from their homestead more than once in stormy sessions with the Lapeer sheriff and State Police.

They deposited with Lapeer County clerk's office $1,400, to satisfy a judgment against a 160 acre farm they own adjoining their former homesite.

It was their refusal to pay a $280 assessment after the failure of a mutual fire insurance company in 1935 that touched off the long and colorful proceedings which brought national attention to the pair and their plight.

Two years ago, Mrs. Grace White won a $3,750 judgment from the Ziegenhardts, for rent during the period she owned the farm and it was occupied by the defiant pair.

She had purchased the farm at a public auction when the Ziegenhardts failed to pay the insurance assessment.

When the brothers were finally evicted, Mrs. White levied on their livestock and equipment in order to collect the rent judgment. Sold at auction, the equipment fell $1,400 short of the judgment, and led Mrs. White to seek sale of the adjoining 160 acres of farmland owned by the brothers.

A sheriff's sale had been scheduled, before the money was deposited. Mrs. White will get the money if the judgment of the Lapeer Circuit Court is upheld by the Supreme Court.

The Supreme Court is scheduled to review the case in January.

Coldest Day Hits Pontiac Area Today

The coldest day of the season hit Pontiac this morning as the mercury fel to 18 degrees between 5 and 6 a. m. The previous low was recorded Nov. 23.

Michigan was one of the coldest spots in the nation last night, with a low of zero reported at Cadillac and only 8 above at Pellston. Other lows were at Flint, with 14; Houghton, 10; Gladwin, 12; Marquette, 16; and Escanaba, 17.

The forecast for tomorrow is not much change in temperature with a few snow flurries likely tonight. The U. S. Weather Bureau says the low tonight in the Pontiac area will be 21 to 25 with a high Saturday of 33-37. Tomorrow night will be slightly warmer with an expected low of near 25.

Yesterday's high was 29 degrees with a trace of snow recorded.

This morning in downtown Pontiac, the thermometer registered 20 degrees at 8 o'clock, rising to 30 by 2 p.m.

Former Carrier Sends Junk Mail to Summerfield

HAYS, Kan. (AP) — Herman Tholen, a jeweler who was once a rural mail carrier, has started a one-man war on so-called "junk mail"—circulars addressed merely "boxholder," or "postal patron."

He puts a three-cent stamp on every one he receives, marks it "personal," and mails it to Postmaster General Summerfield in Washington.

Summerfield's office authorized the new method of distributing third class mail, hoping to get more income to offset deficits.

"By the time the postmaster general receives several million circulars—that is, if others join me in the move—I'm sure he will be ready to reconsider," Thoen said.

Highway Program Boosted by Dondero

DETROIT (INS) — Rep. George A. Dondero (R-Mich) today called on the state's rural population to back the multi-million dollar road - building program now being mapped.

The Royal Oak Republican told the closing session of the Michigan Road Builders Association that the current federal highway aid program places major emphasis on highway needs of cities where the most serious traffic problems exist.

Dondero said this was in contrast to the emphasis of the past which concentrated road construction in rural areas where fewer traffic problems are encountered.

All Democrats Vote to Rebuke GOP Colleague

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) stood condemned for his conduct today by a 67-22 vote of his Senate colleagues.

The judgment of the Senate was handed down late yesterday and after the vote was in McCarthy told newsmen he was "very happy to get this circus over with."

The vote adopting a resolution condemning McCarthy's conduct on two counts capped an extraordinary session of the Senate, begun Nov. 8, that became increasingly tense and bitter.

On the final vote, Republican senators divided evenly, 22-22. A solid lineup of 44 Democrats voted for passage of the resolution. So did Sen. Morse of Oregon, the Senate's lone Independent.

Thus McCarthy became the first senator since 1929 to suffer an official rebuke from his colleagues for his actions, and the fourth in Senate history.

Despite the sharp Republican split on the issue, some GOP senators said they did not believe it would leave lasting scars within the party.

Sen. Bennett (R-Utah), author of one of the counts adopted by the Senate, said in an interview that "I don't think the apparent rift will be too great or too permanent.

Sen. Carlson (R-Kan), a member of the special committee which recommended censure against McCarthy, said he believes the Republicans will "pull together" once the next session starts, adding it would be "more necessary because then we will be the minority party."

McCarthy, asked if there were any basis to reports he might break away from the Republican party to form a new party, replied "there's nothing to it."

"I am a Republican and intend to remain a Republican," he said. "And I will do my work within the Republican party because that's the best place."

The Republican leadership in the Senate divided on the resolution of condemnation. Voting against it were Sens. Knowland (Calif), the majority leader, Bridges (NH), the temporary president of the Senate, and Milliken (Colo), chairman of the conference of all Republican senators. Voting for it were Sens. Ferguson (Mich), chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee, and Saltonstall (Mass), the assistant GOP floor leader.

Knowland said he regarded the issue as a matter to be determined by each senator on the basis of his own convictions, rather than as a party question. A similar view was expressed throughout by the Democratic leader, Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas.

Slaying Witness Knifed to Death

Phenix City Man Killed Shortly After Testifying on Patterson Murder

PHENIX CITY, Ala. (AP)—A witness who may have seen A. L. Patterson's killer was knifed to death here last night after making urgent telephone calls to the sheriff and the newly elected attorney general, Patterson's son.

Johnnie F. Griffin, 35-year-old Phenix City cafe employe, was stabbed in the throat 24 hours or more after he had testified before an emergency grand jury which is considering murder indictments in the Patterson killing.

National Guardsmen still patrolling the city five months after Patterson's death arrested a 16-year-old youth and said he admitted the stabbing, blaming the other man for provoking a fight.

Col. James N. Brown, military chief of police, said there appeared to be no connection between Griffin's death and his appearance before the grand jury Wednesday.

Another officer, Lt. Charles Cook, quoted the youth, Jerry C. Washington, as saying Griffin hit him during an argument on the street and that he slashed back with a knife. Washington was taken into custody four hours later at his home.

But John Patterson, who becomes attorney general of Alabama next Jan. 17 in place of his crusading father who had been nominated to the office before his murder, said he wanted to "look into" the Griffin stabbing thoroughly.

Young Patterson called the witness' death "a tough break" for the investigation of his father's slaying.

Seek Support of Motorists, Pedestrians for Safety Day

By JOSEPH K. SFAIR

With S-D Day only 12 days away, authorities are encouraging serious preparation by motorists and pedestrians. An added appeal also was made by the Pontiac Chamber of Commerce and municipal judges for personal support of the national event Dec. 15.

While every community in the U. S. is getting set for the presidentially proclaimed Safe Driving Day, Pontiac area officials are urging even greater efforts to meet the worthy purpose of this dramatic event.

Clyle R. Haskill, county chairman of S-D Day committee, praised the reaction of groups and motorists so far to appeals supporting the event, which call for a 24-hour period without one single traffic accident throughout the country.

"We know that on Dec. 15, Oakland County residents will be standing shoulder to shoulder with every American to accomplish the purpose of the "Safe Driving Day," said Haskill.

Alarmed by the fact that Michigan had 1,263 persons killed here in the first nine months of this year, Milo J. Cross, president of the Pontiac Chamber of Commerce noted:

"The real cost of traffic accidents is the most precious thing we own—that's human life and it may be yours."

State Hammers at Diary Brother Kept on Dr. Sam

CLEVELAND (INS)—The state showed today that the older brother of accused wife-killer Dr. Sam Sheppard began compiling a detailed diary of every event connected with the case an hour after the murder was reported.

Assistant Prosecutor Tom Parrino hammered at Dr. Stephen Sheppard on why he kept dates, times and places of police interrogations, Dr. Sam's moves, his actions and everything connected with the case if he didn't think his brother was involved.

"As you recorded all that information did you expect that you would be a witness in a case where your brother would be charged with first degree murder?" Parrino demanded to know.

"No, sir," Dr. Steve replied.

From Our Birmingham Bureau

BIRMINGHAM — Wheels of activity are humming more than full time at the Post Office and Acting Postmaster Ronald W. Reese is asking that residents spare no delay in mailing their Christmas packages.

An added innovation to facilitate customer services this year will be the use of the former Wilson Pontiac-Cadillac agency at 275 N. Woodward for incoming parcel post. Necessary equipment will be set up there in a few days, Reese said.

He stressed wrapping and tying packages securely, particularly breakables and reminded that they should be legibly addressed.

As the season progresses post offices throughout the country will become more and more bogged down, but this package mailing schedule can be followed now, said Reese:

Allow 6 to 7 days for gifts sent to the West Coast or Pacific Northwest; 4 to 5 days to the South; and 3 days to the East except for larger cities.

Starting Dec. 10 the post office will operate from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. and, if necessary, will be open one or two Sundays before Christmas.

Those mailing Christmas cards will now find two letter boxes directly in front of the building, one for out-of-town letters, the other for local. Cards in unsealed envelopes and with no handwritten message other than the sender's name inside, may be mailed for 2 cents.

Reese recommended building the cards into these two categories and labeling them. He added that after Dec. 10 a special table will be set up inside the building, with someone to take cards for mailing.

"Holiday for Things," the annual bazaar given by the Altar Society of Our Lady Queen of Martyrs Church, will operate from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. tomorrow. Christmas items will fill the nine booths set up and there will be games and a fish pond for the children. Chairman is Mrs. Allen T. Frederick.

Attractive but scatter-brained Pam North will be played by Jo Friedrickson from Kingswood, and her successful book publisher husband will be James Bow. Directing the production is Worden McCallum of Cranbrook School faculty.

will be clowns furnished by the Pontiac Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Other clowns will be driving a "two-faced" car, which has two front-ends, and a bucking auto, which behaves like a wild rodeo bronc.

Sprinkled throughout the line-of-march will be the Oxford, Avondale, Waterford, Lake Orion and Walled Lake High School bands, plus a massed band of Pontiac junior high school musicians.

The 24 religious floats depicting the Christmas story will be presented in two sections.

Floats will represent the Annunciation, the Nativity Scene, the three wise men, angels and shepherds among other Christmas scenes.

Santa Claus and a brace of Alaskan reindeer will wind up the parade. And after the march, Santa and his team will be stationed next to the Oakland County courthouse so youngsters can talk to him and pet the animals.

Assisting the Pontiac Police Dept. along the parade route (S. Saginaw and Franklin, out Oakland to Sanderson) will be the Pontiac Naval Reserve Unit.

"A tremendous amount of work has been done by the churches, schools, bands, parade committees and staff," said John A. Riley, parade marshal. "I know we are going to give a wonderful show."

Riley reminded parents to bundle up the youngsters against the December chill. The parade is expected to last 45 minutes.

He also suggested that mothers and dads review some of the stories which will be depicted by the toyland floats.

These include "The Shoemaker and the Elves," "Robinhood," "Alice in Wonderland," "Mrs. Santa, Hard Rock, Coco and Joe," "The Old Woman in the Shoe" and "'Twas the Night Before Christmas."

Groups participating in the toyland float section are Wever Junior High School, LeBaron School, Pontiac High School, Baldwin School PTA, Wilson School, Lincoln Junior High School, Webster School, Hawthorne School, Eastern Junior High School, Willis School PTA, Boys' Club of Pontiac and the Oakland County Children's Home.

Religious organizations taking part are First Baptist Church, Women's Christian Temperance Union, Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church, Free Methodist Church and New Bethel Missionary Baptist Church.

Others are First Presbyterian Church, Baldwin Avenue Evangelical United Brethren Church, Grace Lutheran Church, First Methodist Church, First Congregational Church, United Missionary Church and St. John's Lutheran Church.

Floats were also constructed by Bethany Baptist Church, All Saints Episcopal Church, Catholic Churches of Pontiac, First Church of God, Baldwin Avenue Methodist Church, Macedonia Baptist Church, Greek Orthodox Church and Trinity Baptist Church.

Completing the religious section are First Church of the Nazarene, St. Trinity Lutheran Church, Central Methodist Church and the Pontiac Knights of Columbus Council.

Gunmen Tie Up, Rob Attendant

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP—After telling Wayne Taylor, 28, lone gas station attendant at Reeves Standard Service, Maple and Telegraph Rds., this morning, to "Behave yourself or you'll get killed," three youthful gunmen tied him with friction tape and robbed the cash register and open safe of $713.

Taylor worked himself loose sufficiently to dial the telephone operator, who dispatched police to the scene.

Taylor said two of the men held .38 caliber revolvers on him and bragged that they would be back every week.

But not for a repeat performance on Taylor, who told police he was quitting his job.

The attendant said the three drove off in a 1946 maroon Plymouth. He described his assailants as from 18 to 21, one about 5 feet 7 inches with brown hair and a small moustache, wearing blue jeans.

Another youth was described as 5 feet 8 inches tall with dark hair and sideburns, slim build, and wearing a dark jacket; while a third was short and was wearing a sport jacket.

Senate Condemns McCarthy, 67-22

quired in preserving its dignity. No one else is in it, he said.

The resolution, as adopted by the Senate in its final form, condemned McCarthy's conduct on these two counts:

1. That he had obstructed "the constitutional processes of the Senate" by failing to cooperate with and by repeatedly abusing a Senate elections subcommittee and its members in their investigation of his financial affairs in 1951-52.

2. That he "acted contrary to senatorial ethics and tended to bring the Senate into dishonor and disrepute" by his attacks on the special committee that recommended his censure and by calling the Senate's special session, among other things, "a lynch party."

The second count, offered by Bennett, was adopted in place of a count recommended by the special committee to condemn McCarthy for "intemperate abuse" of Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker.

The count based on McCarthy's treatment of Zwicker at a closed-door hearing in New York City last Feb. 18 was never brought to a vote after strong opposition to it became evident in the debate. Bennett's count was substituted instead by a 64-23 vote, and then approved 64-24.

Reminded of his earlier characterization of the session as a "lynch party," McCarthy was asked if he felt like he had been lynched.

"No," he replied smilingly. "But I am disappointed with my Democratic colleagues. The Democrats went down the line in voting for censure although they said it would be a judicial proceeding."

2 Youths Face Court in Vandalism Case

Two youths charged with smashing furniture and appliances valued at $20,000 in 18 summer homes at Woodhull Lake Nov. 2 through 5 were bound over to Oakland County Circuit Court today by Springfield Township Justice Emmett J. Leib.

Charged with breaking and entering in the nighttime, the teenagers will be arraigned Monday at 9:30 a.m. before Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty.

Held in Oakland County Jail on $5,000 bond are Harold Parker, 16, of 9410 M-15 Clarkston, and Eugene Buchheister, 15, of 5789 Clarkston-Orion Rd.

A third youth, charged in the vandalism, Robert Withey, 16, of 4655 Lakeview, Woodhull Lake, pleaded guilty Nov. 24 and will be sentenced Monday. He testified today saying the other two had accompanied him at various times during the spree.

Pope Pius Improved, Vatican Announces

Pope can be said to be satisfactory."

However, Vatican sources made it known he is still gravely ill.

The bulletin made no mention of a heart attack which the Pope reportedly suffered yesterday. A Vatican press spokesman, in the first report given out yesterday on the pontiff's condition, said that his heart had been affected. Later the Vatican omitted any further references to the condition of the heart.

There were also unconfirmed reports he had a second, lighter attack last night.

At 8 a.m. today a Vatican spokesman announced that the pontiff was "now resting" after a "difficult night."

Msgr. Angelo dell'Acqua, substitute secretary of state, said shortly afterwards:

"The Holy Father's condition is still grave. During the night he was able to rest for some time."

The Pope continued to suffer from intense gastritis, nausea and hiccups for which he has been under treatment. There were indications that a gastric ulcer might be aggragating his condition.

Sheppard's Brother Questioned on Diary

ing that he blocked police efforts to question the osteopath. But, he denied he told his brother to "get your story straight."

Under searching examination by Parrino, Dr. Steve conceded he began transferring notes on July 30th—the day his brother was arrested—from a prescription pad to the diary.

The book listed events, meetings, attempts at questioning, hospital actions, and so on, from June 5, 1954, to today.

Q. When did you start making notes on July 4th?

A. At 7 a.m.

The 35-blow murder was reported to police a few seconds before 6 a.m.

Q. What notes did you make July 4th?

A. Sam's injury, things that appeared of note.

This was before police had accused the handsome osteopath of the murder, and Parrino time and again queried Dr. Steve on why he should think it was necessary to keep the record.

The 34-year-old general surgeon denied he felt his brother would be charged with the murder but did so because "it was my opinion he had been questioned excessively."

Parrino then forced him to admit he came to that opinion "on July 30th."

Q. In other words, any move you thought of importance you made a note of?

A. Salient features.

Q. Was every move of Sam or in relation to Sam recorded in your notes?

A. Yes.

Q. In other words, each time your brother was questioned by police officers or an attempt was made you made a note of it?

A. I did.

Q. Each time the coroner made an attempt to question him you made a note?

A. That's right.

Q. You kept compiling this information July 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10th and throughout the month of July?

A. To date.

Q. In other words you were just compiling information for anything that would come up.

A. I knew he had been questioned.

Parrino asked the same question three times to get a direct answer but the witness said "I knew nothing about Sam."

The first witness for the defense, he took the stand after it lost a bid for dismissal of the indictment against Dr. Sam for the Fourth of July bludgeon slaying.

Dr. Steve disputed the state's medical expert on the extent of his brother's injuries. He hit at testimony by a fingerprint authority. He differed with police on the position of the body, and contended his brother's jacket was on the floor and not neatly folded, as the state claims.

In effect, he called certain prosecution witnesses liars on key points, and insinuated that his younger brother was being framed by false and distorted testimony and evidence.

More Women Employed Now Than in Wartime

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Labor Department says a record number of American women are now employed, more even than at the peak of World War II.

The Department's Women's Bureau made public yesterday a "Handbook on Women Workers" containing estimates that 19,726,000 women are now in the nation's labor force. They represent nearly a third of the 62 million American workers. This compares with 19,670,000 women at jobs in 1945.

The Bureau said the total of women working at some time during the year was much larger than the current female labor force—nearly 25 million. This is about 43 per cent of all women of working age.

What kind of work do the women do? A fourth are in clerical jobs, a fifth in service jobs, another fifth in factory and like jobs and an eighth in professional and technical work.

Good Turn Backfires

PORTLAND, Me. (UP)—Michael Pearce, 9, did a good deed and landed in the hospital. A woman passenger on the bus he was riding dropped one of her armfull of packages. The boy leaned over to pick it up and was struck in the eye by a hanger protruding from another of the packages.

An infant's eyes reach full size at age 8 or 9.

Crap-Shooting Officers Crash Groom's Party

TORONTO (UP) — Two crap-shooting cops from the city's morality squad faded a prospective bridegroom's wedding plans yesterday when they arrested him and 58 of his pre-wedding "guests."

The two officers paid $3 admission to the game, which saw $6,000 change hands, then signaled for a raid. The groom-to-be, Frank Simone, 18, was charged with running a game of chance.

Dogcatcher Bit, Veteran 'Jailed,' Family Delayed

ST. LOUIS (UP) — Because Skipper, a K-9 Corps veteran, has an understandable dislike of dogcatchers, a family of six spent nine days in a park while waiting to get him out of the pound.

Dogcatcher James Christenson saw Skipper tied to a tree in Tower Grove Park about dawn. His owners, Van Winkle, his wife and four small sons, were asleep in a nearby auto.

Christenson rapped at the car windows. Skipper broke his leash and attacked the dogcatcher, biting his leg.

That was Skipper's error. Local law entitles a dog to one bite, but Skipper had to go to the pound anyhow — for a rabies test.

Skipper's family, en route from Ohio to St. James, Mo., and low in funds, stayed on, sleeping in the park rather than leave the pet.

Boyhood Enjoyment Became Employment

SCHENECTADY, N. Y. (UP)— Joe Mack liked to climb trees better than anything else when he was a boy.

Today, many years and trees later, he still does. As head of the City Forest Department, he also has plenty of trees to climb.

Mack has charge of cutting down diseased trees, raising trees in two city nurseries and spraying to control insects.

Since 1937 he's been injured twice. But, he believes, that "if a fellow really knows what he's doing, he stands little chance of getting injured."

Insurance companies disagree. Rates for tree - climbers are the same as for steeplejacks.

In one nursery, he has 40 to 50 varieties of trees for later planting in city parks. In another, he has 1,300 trees.

History Comes Alive in This College Class

COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (UP) — Some college students here meet in a museum to take a course called "The History of New York Folk."

The State Teachers College of Oneonta is giving the course, teaching about the way of life in New York when the state was on the frontier.

The students learn the folk songs and folk tales of the New York pioneers, how they worked and how they played and what they thought about. They even spin baskets, weave cloth, and cut shingles.

The college says this is probably the "most unusual course in the field of American history ever offered."

Silence Is Golden

NORFOLK, Va. (UP) — Maury High School here ordered a $6,000 soundproof wall built around its band room after neighbors complained about the noise.

Reveal 'Wonder Drug' for Bad Photo Negatives

SCHENECTADY, N. Y. (UP) — A chemical that wipes dust, fingerprints, and scratches from photo negatives soon will be available.

The chemical, a silicone called refractasil, will be on the market in a few months, according to the General Electric Corp. It washes dust from a negative when flushed across the surface, dissolves oily fingerprints by a detergent action and fills the valleys in the scratches. Since refractasil has the same optional qualities as film, the scratch disappears.

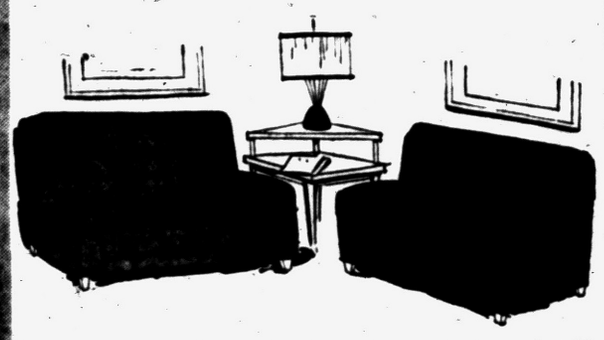

Not Like That Today

GLOUCESTER, Mass. (UP) — One hundred and eighty years have not dimmed the brilliant color of a British uniform coat on display at the Cape Ann Historical Museum. The coat, still a flaming red, was a Revolutionary War relic taken from an officer on a captured British vessel in 1776.

Police Drive Brings Sanity to Seoul's Traffic Chaos

SEOUL (INS)—Seoul traffic police have adopted a "new look"—they call it a "New York look"—for policing the streets of the South Korean capital.

Simply, the "new look" consists of police stationed at every corner, and in between when the blocks are long, blowing their whistles and waving their arms furiously at both vehicles and pedestrians.

For the thousands of American servicemen who served and drove in Seoul, no reminder is necessary for the almost unbelievable chaos of Seoul pedestrian and vehicular traffic.

The streets of Seoul were bedlam.

"Mama-sans" with babies strapped to their backs and huge bundles balanced on their heads dog trotted across the wide boulevards of the capital with no regard for buses, trucks and cars.

Soldiers would often rather wade through the wet streets than risk the rough and gullied sidewalks.

Students, like American street urchins, dodged through traffic in mad attempts to hitch rides on the tail ends of any moving hulk, streetcar, oxen-drawn cart, or truck.

American drivers invariably came away after a drive through Seoul with headaches and the shakes.

Now, the long overdue police crackdown has come.

White lines were drawn on the streets, indicating legal pedestrian crossings and stop lines for automobiles.

Even khaki-clad national military police were thrown into the campaign to bring some sanity to Seoul traffic.

Surprised pedestrians found themselves herded to the street crossings and drivers at first didn't believe that police were actually stopping vehicles to allow pedestrians to cross.

At the beginning, policemen were stationed at 20-foot intervals along the sidewalks, and they were supplemented by students who were given explicit instructions on what to do.

Posters and loudspeakers warned the populace ahead of time what was about to happen.

Most foreigners were quick to pass pessimistic judgments on the entire idea.

Today, most would admit they were wrong.

Curb Strikes Twice

Cranberries Useful in Christmas Meals

Because of their lovely redness and good flavor, cranberries are a tasty complement to Christmas meals. As a sauce or jelly with the turkey, they're traditional. But there are other uses of this delicacy which is so plentiful at yuletide.

With orange marmalade, candied cranberries are the base of a homemade ice cream. With lemon and apricot, they make a fine relish for freezing.

A crisscross cranberry-apple pie is a novel dessert, one not quite so rich as plum pudding, but with all the air of tradition.

Movie House Provides Show for Late Comers

COLUMBUS, O. (UP) — The Bexley Theater claims to be the only movie theater of its type in the world. It has two screens fronting on two auditoriums.

The theater's two halves are filled, one before the picture begins and the other while the show is in progress, so late-comers won't disturb early arrivals.

Experts Are Studying Michigan Road Building

It calls for all-out action.

Michigan roads are in woeful condition in proportion to the automobile travel. Probably no one is culpable. The traffic situation simply ran away with itself. It's a nationwide condition. But now the moment for action is at hand. Federal, state, county and city units must unite and tear into the problem.

It's a big one.

It calls for big thinking.

A few million dollars here and there will serve no purpose at all. One might as well water a parched ten acre corn field with a few pails of water.

The Governor proposes a total of five hundred million dollars. This is a breath-taking sum of money and it sounds awesome — but probably it isn't enough. The situation is almost catastrophic.

On main highways, traffic inches along, and in a desperate attempt to save a little time, some drivers cut in and out in a dangerous and reckless manner. Big, broad, ample highways would solve the dilemma and NOTHING ELSE WILL. Traffic laws can't do it. Red, green and amber lights are completely insufficient.

WE NEED MORE DRIVING SURFACES.

The Pontiac Press dispatched Burdett C. Stoddard of our own staff to Lansing to cover Wednesday's meeting. He reports that there was an amazing unanimity of opinion among those at the conference. "Everyone there realized the plight of the State and the Nation," says he, "and they are all willing to pitch in and attempt to solve the problem on a big, broad basis."

Adding a few feet to the shoulders and widening an obvious bottleneck mean nothing now. Roads must be doubled and trebled in width. In some spots there must be auxiliary highways or alternate routes.

Michigan is up against it.

We must act and act now.

The home of the automotive industry should lead the country in pointing the way out of a nationwide traffic snarl.

Salvation Army Week

In this week marking the 75th anniversary of the Salvation Army in the United States, it is a privilege to pay tribute to its effective and practical religious work.

The Salvation Army is an outgrowth of the movement begun in England by William Booth, a Methodist minister, in 1865. It spread to the United States in 1879 and after a somewhat faltering start enjoyed steady growth.

Today the Army's work in this country is handled by 1,893 corps and outposts, more than 5,000 officers and almost 9,000 employes. In an average peacetime year it serves some 13,000,000 meals to the needy. The Army carries on its open air evangelistic work in 85 countries and preaches the Gospel in 81 languages.

The broad scope of its activities includes family welfare services, shelters for transients, homes and hospitals for unmarried mothers and Harbor Light centers for rehabilitation of alcoholics.

The Army's work in Pontiac is under the capable direction of Senior Captain and Mrs. Vernon Vie. Its Drayton Plains outpost is in charge of Lieut. Margaret Genge.

The Salvationists' appearance on the streets with their Yuletide kettles is a heartwarming reminder that Pontiac is a better and happier community because they live and labor here.

Nature's New Elm Tree

Just when man thinks time and events have revealed a weakness of nature, something happens to set the record straight.

This certainly has been the case with one of the continent's most magnificent shade trees — the American elm. They are being destroyed by the thousands in the rapid spread of Dutch elm disease. Yet nature, in its wondrous way already has perfected an elm which resists this plague.

Discovery of that fact was made in 1937 at Normal, Ill., by the late Archie M. Augustine. Impressed by the way the tree's branches spread and soared upward more sharply than other elms, Augustine, a nurseryman, began an investigation. This showed the tree has twice as many chromosomes per cell as other elms, a deeper root system and a tougher hide.

Now, 17 years later, specimens of these trees, called Augustine Ascending Elms, are thriving in 170 communities. Not only do they appear to be immune to Dutch elm disease and phloem necrosis but are providing as much shade and beauty as the less resistant elms.

To Oakland County deer hunters. This year we felt the effect of the 1952 3-day "any deer" slaughter. Each year will get worse. I cut cedar in the winter and the deer walk right past the fallen tops. They are not starving, they are just being exterminated.

I sat 80 hours on usually good runways and saw six deer. As a rule I see 30 or 40 every year.

Halt Money Squandering, Says A. W. Nixon

Why is it that our government is spending so much money and lives by sending our navy around the world putting on shows for foreign countries?

It puts me in mind of a big bully strutting around before people showing how great he is. He is not gaining any friends. He is only making other people envious of him.

Word has come to me from a friend in Italy that the government put on a show there which cost us a jet plane, a pilot and thousands and thousands of dollars' worth of materials and what good did it do?

We taxpayers must foot the bills. It is time a halt is called on such operations and we stop spending money foolishly.

The government can't help the poor at home, but it can go overseas and spend millions there.

Grandparents Prefer to Die in Harness ---Not Sit Around Home Wasting Time

Are we salvaging our grandparents or do we let their talents and mellowed experience go to waste during the latter years of their life? Do you think a normal man of 65 would prefer a pension or a job?

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case M-383: Parker L., aged 67, is the father of one of my former students.

"I thought I'd drop in and ask your opinion about my own case," he volunteered. "Despite my 67 years, I am hale and hearty. I can do a full day's work and enjoy it.

"But I have been retired from my company simply because I have passed 65. I don't want to sit around twiddling my thumbs and receiving a small pension on the first of every month.

"I'd much rather be at work at my old bench in the factory. It seems a waste of human energy and skilled crafts manship when we older folks are pushed out of active service. Pensions are nice for those who are invalids, but why pay me to stagnate when I am rarin' to go to work?"

Old age pensions and factory pensions are very desirable for those men and women who have labored all their lives but whose health is now such that they can no longer support themselves.

But it is both an insult as well as a great economic loss to civilization, when skilled workmen are placed on the shelf, and told that they must sit around in idleness.

If they have good health and a lifetime of skilled ability, it is also far better for their morale to be actively engaged in productive activity.

It is both un-American and also poor psychology to take men and women out of active work and then expect them to enjoy life. One of our greatest pleasures in life is the ego inflation that we obtain from feeling necessary, or productive units of society.

Don't chain grandmother to an easy chair. Let her work so that she can die happy when the time comes. Why punish her with a slow insulting form of death by disuse. Grandparents prefer to die in harness.

Although people in industry look forward eagerly to vacation, after a few weeks of release from their jobs, they are usually quite glad to get back into the regular routine as producing members of society.

And elderly people are much happier when fulfilling their old accustomed working habits. Their health likewise remains better.

If millions of able-bodied adults over 65 years of age, have skill and training, both of mind as well as of hands, society should receive the benefit of their skill until actual ill health stops their output.

If independent industry will not retain such able bodied people, the state or nation could conceivably pass out its federal and appointive jobs to those who were advanced in years, yet competent.

Let us salvage our grandparents, not only for the beneficial mental and physical effects on them and as a means of adding happy years to their lives, but as an economic gain to this nation.

Give them work, not patronizing sympathy which ties their hands and stifles their desire for further accomplishment.

If they are physically invalided, then encourage them to develop new interest. My medico-psychological bulletin "Extrovertive Hobbies," may be found very useful in this type of case. Send a 3c stamped envelope, plus a dime if you want one.

Aunt Het

You've got to manage everything for your husband and keep everything workin' right, but you've got to make him think it just happened that way.

James Marlow Says:

McCarthy Muffed Chance to Beat Senate Censure

WASHINGTON (AP)—The unanswered question about Sen. McCarthy is not whether he will go on as before—he says he will—but whether he can so handle himself that he won't get tied down again as he was in 1954.

In the past he made headlines hunting Communists. This year he made headlines but not so much for hunting Communists. The hunting was thoroughly interrupted by the Army-McCarthy hearings and the hearings and debate on censure.

He had to spend most of 1954 defending himself. But at the very moment he said he would continue as before, he recalled he had been repeatedly investigated and predicted he'd get more of the same again.

Since he will not change, he says, and will still hunt Communists, although being so much himself got him into knots that ended the hunting, then his problem is how to be himself so smartly that he can't be interrupted or tied down.

He can't claim he was smart in all he did this year. At the very moment he was up to his neck defending himself against censure, he put on a brand new performance which made censure a certainty.

McCarthy, like anyone else, acts and speaks out of his own personality. It was being so consistently McCarthy, and therefore unique in American politics, that he gained fame and a following.

Both might desert him if he tried to change his ways — which may seem to him a good reason for not trying—by showing more restraint in his accusations and more respect for other people, at least senators.

No matter what the compulsions of his personality may seem, he can show restraint when he wants to or feels he has to. He demonstrated that when he went before the Senate committee investigating censure charges against him.

Before this committee, headed by Sen. Watkins (R-Utah), McCarthy yielded not an inch to criticism. But his conduct was almost subdued, and most of the time respectful, when compared with some of his other performances.

McCarthy was in a peculiar situation then. The Watkins committee had been created by the whole Senate to determine whether his conduct toward senators and others had been contemptuous.

If he had been contemptuous of the Watkins committee it not only might have prejudiced the members against him—he said some were already prejudiced—but it might have given added ammunition to those foes who said he was contemptuous.

So long as the committee had not made a report, there was a chance it might turn out in his favor. Until that report came out condemning his conduct McCarthy treated the committee with a fair amount of respect.

It recommended he be censured for (A) contemptuous conduct toward a previous committee which had investigated his finances and (B) for abusive treatment of Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker.

Once Watkins made his report there seemed little chance McCarthy could beat censure in the whole Senate. But it wasn't final. He could have fought on constitutional and other grounds. He threw the chance away.

He was so nettled by the Watkins' report—the worst setback he had ever suffered—that he attacked the committee collectively and individually, calling Watkins stupid and cowardly and the committee the "unwitting handmaiden" of the Communist party.

Senate reaction stormed against him. Shortly after this McCarthy went to the hospital with a bruised elbow for a week. His stay in the hospital gave him time to reflect on the damage he had done himself.

At the very moment when he was defending himself against the charge that he was contemptuous of the Senate — for his treatment of the previous committee—he proved he was contemptuous by his treatment of the Watkins' committee.

At least that's the way the Senate understood it for it condemned him yesterday for being contemptuous of both committees while throwing out the charge that he had abused Gen. Zwicker.

It's McCarthy's choice of words toward the Senate which got him into trouble. He showed, at the Watkins' committee hearings, he can control his language if he wants to.

Newborn Babies in Hospital Showcase Sometimes Given to Wrong Parents

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

Aunt Polly regularly comes through with a good story and as likely as not it has an element of truth in it, at least the core or theme of the piece is plausible, although the embroidery may be a shade too fancy.

The latest is about the two mothers who were handed the wrong babies in an English hospital. Somehow the babies got mixed during feeding time out there in the show window (you know, what nineteenth century hospitals call the "nursery for newborn.")

The mothers, who, under the rigid hospital rules, so dear to the hearts (am I serious?) of nineteenth century lying-in institutions, had not been permitted to get acquainted with their babies, so the poor souls both accepted whatever the hospital authorities handed them.

Well, sir, the swap might have come off all right, but after the two young mothers had gone home, each with the other's baby, the hospital authorities became worried about the mix-up, and made some blood tests which proved that the babies had been exchanged. But the respective parents — no, the putative — oh, well, the two couples were still perfectly satisfied with the babies they had brought home from the hospital and there we leave them.

If the young English couples had been sensible enough to have their babies at home — the best place to have a baby, at least in Yankeeland — they would not have had to decide to turn in the baby they have learned to love for another, just because a cold scientific blood test shows that the baby they were issued by the jokers at the hospital really belongs to some one else.

It may be that these mixed-up young people were unaware of the rooming-in method which is now used in twentieth century lying-in institutions — the husband is encouraged and expected to remain with his wife as much as he can before, during and after the birth of the baby, and the baby is kept at mother's side from birth until the mother goes home. This gives the young parents a chance to get acquainted with their baby, to give the baby the warm love and affection a newborn baby instinctively wants and to learn how to keep the baby comfortable and happy when they go home.

Where rooming-in is practiced there is no crowding of babies together in the show window where a nurse, even though gowned and masked as per script may so easily convey infection from one luckless infant to the other.

Lying-in institutions that still maintain the show window "nursery" for newborn infants, generally, employ one means or another to prevent confusion of identities, at no great expense to the dumb customers, name bracelets, records of footprints, tatoo marks and whatnot.

In any event when the hospital authorities hand you a bundle from out there somewhere, don't be uneasy about it. After all the chances are — well, if everyone has been attentive to his or her job the baby is probably yours.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped, self addressed envelope is enclosed, etc.

Chivalry Misplayed, Traffic Judge Rules

ARLINGTON, Va. (UP)—A judge here has ruled that even if a gallant escort offers to take the blame a woman driver must still pay a fine if she bumps into a thing or two.

County Court Judge Paul D. Brown fined Martha T. Channault, 36, of Arlington, $50 on a reckless driving charge, although Lonnie Pate, 26, pleaded guilty to reckless driving.

"You were trying to be gallant," Judge Brown told Pate. "I'm going to reject your plea."

Fruit Tree Research Planned by Goodrich

BRECKSVILLE, Ohio (UP)—The B. F. Goodrich Company, famous for its tires and many other products, is now taking a fling at fruit farming.

However, the company will not offer its fruit for sale. Seventy-five semi-dwarf apple trees recently planted at the Goodrich research center here, will provide testing facilities for fungicides and insecticides developed by the chemical branch of the BFG company.

The orchard is actually only a small part of the research program for trying out agricultural chemicals. There are also greenhouses for indoor tests and year-around field tests are conducted in Florida.

Red China Engaged in Vast Dope Trade

TOKYO (UP)—Red China is selling vast quantities of narcotics abroad to finance its propaganda war, the head of Japan's Public Security Investigation Board said today.

In 1952, the Chinese Communists peddled 70 million dollars worth of opium and other drugs, 26 per cent of it in Japan, Director Goichiro Fujii said in a report.

He said 2,000 Chinese Red agents, disguised as merchants and students, infiltrated foreign lands the past year.

Son Brings Wife, Kids to Reunion With Mother

ALBANY, N. Y. (UP)—When Mrs. Leo Di Pierro of nearby South Bethlehem was reunited with her son, Archangel Losabio, for the first time in 26 years, she got more than a son. He has a wife and nine children.

Mrs. Di Pierro had left her son, then 13 years old, in Italy because of immigration quota restrictions when she came to this country in 1928 as a World War I widow to marry her present husband.

Raid Dope Ring in Middle East

U.S. Narcotics Agents Act With Foreign Cops to Break Up Combine

ROME (AP)—U.S. narcotics agents, working with police of four nations, have smashed an international ring which planned to pour narcotics into the United States through Italy and France.

Coordinated raids in Turkey, Syria and Lebanon swept up 27 narcotics traffickers and led to confiscation of 888 pounds of crude opium, 44 pounds of morphine base, 9 pounds of hashish.

Charles Siragusa, U.S. Narcotics Bureau district supervisor for Europe and the Middle East with headquarters here, directed four months of patient undercover work leading up to the weeklong series of raids just ended. Impersonating a U.S. Air Force pilot willing to smuggle dope in his plane, Siragusa personally made the biggest haul—550 pounds of opium.

U.S. narcotics agents traveled to the Middle East because it is from there that dope begins its secret voyage to America. Turkey is the main production point. From there opium is smuggled to intermediate transshipment points—usually Beirut, Lebanon or Aleppo, Syria. The next stop is Marseille, France, or Naples, Genoa or Palermo, Italy.

A dramatic seizure took place Nov. 20 on a lonely road six miles outside Adana, Turkey's fourth largest city. With the aid of Turkish police, Siragusa had been put in contact with Ahmet Ozsayar, king of Turkish dope smugglers. Siragusa played the part of a corrupt American pilot. Gerasimos Liarommatis, director of Greek security police in Athens, pretended he was the buyer to whom the pilot would smuggle the dope. Ozsayar and his assistant were arrested. Later, three more arrests were made, including the farmer who grew the opium.

The Lebanese police struck on Nov. 17. The long-wanted Abou Sayia Basatni, his two sons and four other men were arrested. Thirty pounds of opium, nine pounds of hashish and 20 grams of morphine base were seized.

Simultaneously Capt. Azzizeh's customs men worked in cooperation with Syrian authorities who nabbed Abdullah Attie el Shaika at Latakia, Syria, with 190 pounds of opium and 20 pounds of morphine. The drugs were about to be smuggled to France.

Another U.S. narcotics agent had made contact in Aleppo with Hadji Abdullahab Tifankji, a prosperous sausage casing manufacturer with three wives, 15 children and a sideline — dope smuggling. Tifankji agreed to deliver 115 pounds of opium. The rendezvous: The home of one wife, in the back alles of Aleppo, barred with an iron gate.

Policemen dressed in Arab costume loitered in the dark alleys while the American agent entered the building alone. Once inside, he slipped back and unlocked the gate. Police burst in and arrested Tifankji and two accomplices while they were handing over the dope.

U.S. narcotics men had high praise for the Middle Eastern police who worked with them.

DANCING DOLLY—Most any young miss would be delighted at Christmas time with Diane the Dancing Doll. She never makes a misstep because she is fastened with elastic to her partner's feet. She is 42 inches high. Many other dolls in all sizes are available in Santa's pack.

Feast Day Set Apart

A trend in the observance of Christmas involves the traditional Christmas feast. Many families move the dinner to an adjacent day to leave Christmas Day free for the children and let mother relax. There will be many turkey dinners held over until Sunday this year since the holiday comes on the weekend.

Cosmetic Queen Started Early

Single Jar of Cream, Work Began Helena Rubinstein Empire

NEW YORK (UP) — She started shortly after the turn of the century with a few jars of beauty cream.

Today, she is head of a cosmetics empire which spans the world and counts its capital in the neighborhood of $1,000,000,000.

Helena Rubinstein, at 71, is a princess by marriage, connoisseur of art by inclination, and an example of the women of our time who have become VIP's in the business world.

She was born in Crackow, Poland, and began to study medicine when she was a girl. But medical aromas nosed that profession out of her life. She says she couldn't stand laboratory or hospital odors.

It was her beautiful skin, still as smooth as any you see in the cosmetics ads, plus a jar of cream a Hungarian doctor made for her mother which started her on the road to fortune.

When she was 18, she went to Australia to visit an uncle. Her skin attracted the attention of Australian women she met, and they constantly borrowed from her cream supply. Helena sent home for more cream . . . and more.

Now, her plush establishments are located around the world and she is building new plants in Canada, California and Australia.

She still works full-time at her job.

Madame Rubinstein, as she's generally known, has more than 20,000 antique miniatures in 24 rooms of tom-thumb size. Her collections of primitive carvings, antiques and modern paintings are priceless.

Both St. Nick, Santa Call on Texas Tots

Now you may think that Santa Claus and St. Nicholas are one and the same. But children here expect St. Nicholas to fill their stockings with little "warmup" presents. They look for Santa Claus to leave the big toys under the tree Christmas Eve.

Holes Pay Off in Cheese Trade

Association in Utah Is Largest Producer of Swiss-Type Product

SMITHFIELD, Utah (UP) — There's one major business in Utah that's shot full of holes—but profitably.

To the 1,600 members of the Cache Valley Dairy Association, the holes are a symbol of prosperity.

The association operates a milk processing plant just west of Smithfield that each year handles 146,000,000 pounds—nearly 17,000,000 gallons—of milk.

Its chief claim to fame is that the Smithfield plant is the world's largest producer of Swiss-type cheese. This hole-filled product rolls from a production line at a rate of 10 tons a day—7,300,000 pounds a year.

The association, which has members in Utah, Idaho and Wyoming, took over the abandoned Smithfield factory of the Amalgamated Sugar Co. 12 years ago.

Edwin Gossner, a Swiss who had emigrated to the plush dairy country in the valleys where the lofty Wasatch Mountains meet the Utah-Idaho state line, took over as manager of the cooperative association.

He installed four cheese-making kettles the first year and began production. The production line since has been expanded to 48 kettles that among them produce 90 wheels of cheese—each weighing 200 pounds—a day. Into each kettle goes 2,600 pounds of milk—and a small pitcher of "starter" containing the special culture that eventually causes the holes to form.

Curds formed as the milk is stirred around are skimmed off with a net and put into the cheese presses, where the wheels are formed. Whey drained off from the kettles is dehydrated and sold in large sacks to various industries and as livestock feed.

Dems Turn Out for Battle to Choose New Chairman

NEW ORLEANS, (AP)—Democratic National Committee members turned out in record numbers today for a free-for-all battle over the choice of a successor to Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell.

As party members huddled in caucuses reminiscent of a presidential nominating convention, the unsettled question of how many votes are needed to elect a new chairman arose to plague them.

With 71 of the 105 committee members having indicated their intention to attend, Mitchell said that Rep. Clarence Cannon of Missouri, parliamentarian, would be asked to rule on the issue of whether a majority vote, or only a plurality, is needed to elect.

The issue was somewhat similar to the old two-thirds rule which the Democrats abolished in 1936—whether a majority of those voting can name the new chairman or whether the successful candidate must receive, in the present case, 55 votes.

The committee has 106 memberships, but there are individual vacancies from Texas, West Virginia and Puerto Rico. A vacancy from Nevada was scheduled to be filled later in the day.

The numbers controversy took on deep significance because of the apparently tight race being run for the chairmanship by three candidats—Committeeman Paul Butler of Indiana, James Finnegan, former president of the Philadelphia City Council, and Michael V. DiSalle of Ohio, former price administrator. Not since 1912 has the committee had a wide-open contest for the chairmanship and its rules are slightly rusty.

Butler is regarded as the choice of Mitchell, who told a news conference yesterday that if some successor isn't picked, the committee will have to go without a chairman after Jan. 1. He said he is determined to retire to private law practice, which he left to head the committee in 1952 at the request of Adlai E. Stevenson, then the party's presidential nominee.

Col. Jacob M. Arvey, Illinois national committeeman, told reporters he thinks the choice of a chairman still is "wide open," hinting at the belief that a darkhorse candidate might develop strength quickly.

Loyalty oaths and other national convention procedure were up for discuesion today at an advisory committee meeting. Before the meeting, Calvin W. Rawlings of Salt Lake City, national committeeman from Utah, said he hoped steps could be taken here to head off a repetition of the North-South splits over loyalty oaths which took place on the 1952 convention floor.

Stevenson, who will speak at a $100 a plate dinner winding up the conference tomorrow night, scheduled a midafternoon arrival by plane, accompanied by Averell Harriman, governor-elect of New York and other party leaders.

Police Officers Prove Dog's Best Friend

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP) — Deputy Sheriff T. M. Whitten rushed to a motor court where people reported hearing strange cries. He located nothing unusual and radioed for another deputy. City and University of Virginia police and a state trooper heard the call and responded.

They found Max, a boxer dog, partially paralyzed by infected tick bites, howling in the rain. He was escorted to his doghouse by representatives of the four law enforcement divisions.

1887 Streets Missing

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP)—A subdivider defayed development of a tract because two streets, planned for an 1887 subdivision but never laid, were shown on official city maps of the area. It took legal action by the City Council to vacate the streets so real streets could be constructed.

Couple Wins $10,850 for One Acre of Land

SALISBURY, Md. (AP) — A Wicomico County couple has won an award of $10,850 from the state which took about one acre of their land for dualization of busy U.S.13, main north-south route of the Delmarva Peninsula.

The award, by a Circuit Court jury, was 20 times the original offer made by the state roads commission to Mr. and Mrs. William H. Jackson who live south of Salisbury. The commission later admitted it had made a mistake.

Harvard Dean to Retire

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—Donald K. David, dean of the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration since 1942, announced last night he will retire next summer. The 58-year-old educator plans to devote his time to business and philanthropic interests.

Effect, Rather Than Cause?

Blaming TV and Comics for Delinquency Too Easy

By LAURA Z. HOBSON

NEW YORK (INS)—Some topics hit a nerve every time they're mentioned—and none is a surer bet to do just that than the subject of kids and comic books.

Whenever there's a discussion—or an investigation—of juvenile delinquency, somebody somewhere heaps such mountains of blame on crime comics and on crime shows on television, that many bewildered parents start looking at their own TV sets and newsstands as possible seducers of their innocent children.

Both as a parent and as a writer, I try to follow most major discussions of both these subjects. I've done it for years.

I'm not in the know at all on TV crime, since the shows people find so disgraceful just haven't ever had any big rating at all in my household. But comic books are something else again and that's a field I do know plenty about.

Horror comics do exist, of course, terrible publications filled with gruesome and savage killing and torture. I've heard about them in plenty of PTA meetings, on plenty of forums and in lectures, read about them in articles and reports for years.

But, strangely enough, I myself never seem to see any of them at first hand—not in the usual run of of my life anyway.

Strangely, because with two sons and their many friends around year in and year out, I sure would expect to see a cross section of the comics they all read and trade with each other.

I always thought I had. But the comics they all go for are the kind about which the experts always say, "Oh, those are all right—those never would hurt anybody at all."

Which is to say, comics about animals, cowboys, funny folks, space cadets in their more innocent pursuits, and the whole range of so-called humor and adventure of the younger set.

The choice is what one could call natural selection—not guided by any firm maternal hand, or by any firm paternal hand. The kids choose them themselves.

Talking this out with close friends of mine whose boys and girls are in the same age brackets, I've discovered that most parents I know personally have had the same experience.

It's always "other kids" that go for the cruel, the savage, the sadistic, the sick! Our own kids just naturally gravitate toward the normal harmless kind.

I wonder if there isn't a clue in this, overlooked by many parents? Could it be that only youngsters who are already pretty disturbed, from a host of other possible causes, would ever be drawn to gory, nasty, savage comics?

If it could, then perhaps cause and effect are being switched like carts and horses. Perhaps we'd all better look first to our youngster's general mental and emotional health—not first to the newsstands or the TV screens.

I'm just raising the question, remember, not answering it.

I did, however, just talk it out with a well-known psychiatrist, and he didn't think I was ready for any office couch. What's more, he ventured the opinion that if we dumped every last horror comic in our rivers and oceans, and broke every TV tube in existence, the terrible statistics on juvenile delinquency today wouldn't go down by one percentage point.

So maybe blaming TV and comics is just too easy.

Conciliators Reject Requests by UAW

TORONTO (AP) — A conciliation board yesterday recommended no wage increase for 5,200 Windsor employes of the Chrysler Corp. and turned down nearly all other requests by the CIO United Auto Workers.

The report offered only one concession to the union when it recommended that three-day leave of absence be allowed an employe on the death of his parents, wife or child.

It rejected the union demand for a wage increase of 15 cents an hour, for voluntary overtime, two additional statutory holidays a year and double time for Sunday overtime.

The workers now can legally strike after seven days and can join 7,800 auto workers on strike at Ford of Canada plants.

The report said the board was "not convinced wages paid the company's employes are out of line with living costs in Windsor."

Basic wage for the workers is $1.60 an hour, a union spokesman said. The average wage is about $1.70 an hour, according to company statements.

Five Youths Injured in Two-Car Crash

Five Pontiac youths were injured yesterday when their car and another collided at Robinwood and Pennsylvania avenues.

The drivers of the two vehicles, George P. Davis, 48, of 815 Robinwood Ave. and Paul M. Amman, 16, of 137 Lincoln Ave., were both unable to stop at the intersection in time to avoid a crash, according to Pontiac Police.

Treated at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital were:

Amman, for head and neck injuries; Allen Samson, 16, of 1554 Atkinson Ave., scalp cuts; Kenneth Anderson, 15, of 53 W. Fairmount Ave., head cuts and bruises; Ronald Elmy, 16, of 704 Kenilworth Ave., forehead and neck injuries; and Elmy's step-brother, Theodore Peak, 6, head and ankle injuries.

All of the injured were in the Amman car.

Airport Petition Deadline Nears

A FAMILY SPEAKS—Members of the Robert K. Boggs family are a unit, whether they are setting up an electric train or whether they are attending church and Sunday School. Dec. 10 Is Set for Last Filing

Seek Support to Build Tri-County Facility in Macomb County

By BURDETT C. STODDARD

A Dec. 10 deadline has been set for return of petitions being circulated in Oakland County to line up support for construction of an airline-size airport bounded by Twelve Mile, Ryan, Fourteen Mile and Dequindre roads in Macomb County.

"Completed petitions are just beginning to come in," said C. B. DeVlieg, chairman of the Oakland County citizens' committee for the airport. The group aims at 50,000 county signatures.

The proposed $18,000,000 "Tri-County Airport" would be financed and operated by Detroit. It would be an expansion of the existing Warren Airport located 18 miles from Pontiac by car.

Warren Township, in Macomb County where the site is located, is attempting to block efforts by Detroit to condemn enough land to expand the port to two square miles. Hearings on a township attempt to condemn the 74-acre present airport for a park are pending in Wayne County Circuit Court.

"The impression that a large airport will adversely affect nearby real estate values is disproved by a study done by Herman O. Walter, former president o. the American Institute of Real Estate Appraisers," said DeVlieg.

After studying major airports in New York, Denver, Chicago, Dallas, Los Angeles and other cities, Walter found real estate values had increased as result of closeness to the facility, DeVlieg explained.

Business values were increased, DeVlieg stated, because airport employes must find places to live and shop. In addition, he explained, water, sewage and drainage facilities supplying the airport can also service surrounding homes and businesses.

DeVlieg has pointed out that the port would serve 65 per cent of the metropolitan area more conveniently than Willow Run Airport. Willow Run is situated 40 miles from Pontiac.

"The project would cost Oakland nothing and be a great boon to our industrial growth," he stated.

Speakers are now available to appear before local service clubs and other organizations and explain the plan in detail, said DeVlieg.

They may be arranged for by calling William R. Tarsney, Ferndale Chamber of Commerce manager, at LIncoln 2-2160.

Tax Collections Hit New High

Internal Revenue Chief Says Over $69 Billion Paid Last Fiscal Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — Internal Revenue Commissioner T. Coleman Andrews reported today that tax collections reached an all time high of $69,920,000,000 during the last fiscal year.

Andrews' report on tax collections in the 12 months that ended last June 30 disclosed a total slightly higher than the $69,687,000,000 which poured into government coffers during the preceding fiscal year.

The government estimates that new tax cuts and the effects of the business downturn over the past year will reduce total federal collections during this fiscal year, ending next June 30, to $68,228,000,000.

Andrews' report also showed that:

Individual income and employment taxes amounted to $37,921,000,000 compared with $37,254,000,000 the year before.

Corporation income and excess profits taxes amounted to $21,546,000,000, compared with $21,595,000,000 in the preceding fiscal year.

Estate, gift, and excise tax collections came to $10,452,000,000, compared with $10,837,000,000 in the previous 12 months.

The area comprising northern Illinois, Michigan, and Wisconsin yielded the biggest total of the nation's nine tax regions — $13,214,681,000. New York state which comprises a single tax region, was next with payments totaling $13,180,953,000.

The region comprising New Mexico, Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma and areas in Texas around Austin and Dallas reported the lowest total tax take — $3,633,033,000.

The region comprising Idaho, Montana, Hawaii, California, Arizona, Oregon, Nevada, Utah, Washington, and Alaska was high for gambling tax payments with a total of $6,105.

No gambling tax payments were reported from Vermont, Wisconsin Iowa and Hawaii.

Federal tax collections in Michigan for the year ended June 30, 1954, totaled $6,123,943,000, compared with $5,670,122,580 in the previous fiscal year.

What Religion Means to Our Family

Christian Living Prevails at Robert K. Boggs Home

By LULA B. OGDEN

"Learning about God is a wonderful experience for parents and children to share together," according to the Robert K. Biggs family of Crescent Lake road.

"We feel that many families sometimes get lost in a maze of activities, jobs, household chores, meetings, social functions, etc. But we are endeavoring as a family unit not to lose sight of the high goal of Christian living.

"We realize that our children have been placed in our hands to be loved, cared for and guided so that when they must make important decisions later on they will be ready to do so.

"Last year our church sent our family to Alma College (Presbyterian) for a week at a Leadership Training School. We came back very much inspired after spending seven days together as a family unit in a wonderful Christian atmosphere.

"This experience gave us an opportunity to evaluate ourselves and our religion," they said.

At the time of their marriage in 1943, Mr. and Mrs. Boggs were each active in Y work in the city of Detroit.

A native of Royal Oak, Mrs. Boggs was raised in the First Presbyterian Church there where her mother and father had been long-time members.

Mr. Boggs, who hails from Goshen, Ind., told of pleasant memories in connection with his association and companionship with his pastor, the Rev. T. V. Dillon.

After their wedding, the couple traveled from Maine to Missouri and to many Army camps in the South, returning home only a few months before Robert Jr. was born.

The Boggs' with their two children, who accepted an introduction to the Press reporter and photographer with a poise that reflected the quality of their training, are active in the First Presbyterian Church here.

Mr. Boggs currently is ruling elder of the Session, a member of the Men's Club and substitute teacher in the Junior Department of the Sunday School.

Mrs. Boggs is second vice president of the Women's Association, a member of the November Group and has been a teacher in the Junior Department for three years.

Together they have served as presidents of the Couples Club.

The boys regularly attend Sunday School, Vacation Bible School and, with their parents, enjoy the Family Night dinners held monthly at the church.

The shop in the Boggs basement boasts a separate set of tools for the father and each son. Each child is learning to care for his tools and to use them.

It provides many hours of useful entertainment while household articles are being repaired or gadgets are being made for mother.

Barbershoppers Planning Event

Parade of Quartets to Be Held at High School Tomorrow Night

Dipping into the past for most of their melodies, nine barbershop quartets will step on stage at the Pontiac High School auditorium at 8:15 p.m. tomorrow for the 11th annual Pontiac Parade of Quartets.

Such nostalgic numbers as "Wait 'Til the Sun Shines, Nellie," "Tuck Me to Sleep in My Ol' 'Tucky Home," "My Sweetie from Tahiti" and "Down by the Old Mill 'stream" are on the program.

Later vintage tunes like "Deep Purple," "Chattanooga Shoe Shine Boy" and "Answer Me My Love" are also on tap, according to George Danie, general chairman.

Featured among the quartets will be Cleveland's "Four-in-a-Chord," international competition finalists this year.

The "Pitch - Blendaires" from Detroit and the "Michigan Bel-Aires" from Grosse Pointe, both international semi - finalists this year, will also appear.

The Pontiac Chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America, sponsors of the sing, will be represented by three groups—"The Harmony Knights," "The Mad Hatters' and "The Key Finders."

Other four - man combinations taking part will be "The Four Hoarsemen" from Ypsilanti and "The Aire-Tonics" from Muskegon both Michigan district finalists.

Community singing is also slated, Danie said.

Tickets are on sale at Hallman's Drugs, 457 Elizabeth Lake Rd. They may also be purchased at the door.

New Jet Air Defense Base to Be Built Near Cadillac

CADILLAC (UP)—Michigan will have the best air defense network in the nation when construction is completed on an $13,000,000 jet base near here, defense officials said today.

Surveyors are expected to start work soon to prepare for start of construction of the new Air Force installation seven miles west of here next summer.

An Air Force spokesman said it will take about two years to build the base.

Congress has appropriated $8,136,000 to start construction of the base and the Air Force expected to request a further grant of about $5,000,000 to complete the base.

Air Force Secretary Harold E. Talbott's announcement yesterday that the base would be located near Cadillac ended one of Northern Michigan's biggest controversies in recent years.

National Guard, civil defense and State Aeronautics Department officials immediately hailed location of the fighter-interceptor base, as it is officially known, as "a great step in strengthening the defense of Michigan and of the nation."

Brig. Gen. Lester J. Maitland, head of civil defense in Michigan and director of the State Aeronautics Department, said he thought Cadillac was an "excellent location" for the base.

"The new base will be a wonderful thing for Michigan, especially Detroit, Flint, Grand Rapids and Pontiac, which are principal targets it will protect in the event of an enemy air attack," Maitland said.

Maitland said the base will be a "fine thing for aviation in general" in Michigan and will be an economic shot in the arm to all of Northern Michigan.

An Air Force spokesman said that when the base is completed and in full operation, it will have 150 officers, 750 enlisted men and between 80 and 100 civilians for a total complement of nearly 1,000 persons.

About 25 jet planes will be assigned to the base, the spokesman said. He said that by the time it is completed the Air Force may have enough of its revolutionary F-100 jet fighters to assign them to the base. Otherwise, it will have either F-86 Sabres or F-94 Starfires.

The base, which will be a part of the National Air Defense Command, will be under the supervision of Grandview Air Force Base, Kansas City, Mo., headquarters for the Air Defense Command.

It will be Michigan's fifth Air Force jet base. The Air Force now has jets stationed at Kinross, near the vital locks at Sault Ste. Marie, Selfridge, and Oscoda and soon will have jets at a little-publicized base now under construction near Marquette. The Marquette and Cadillac bases will be very similar.

In addition, the National Guard has jet units at the Wayne Major Airport and Kellogg Field near Battle Creek while a National Guard jet base at Alpena is used during the summer for jet fighter training.

Previously, the Air Force had selected a site for the base in Homestead Township in Benzie County but dropped plans to build the base there in the face of heavy opposition from Dr. Joseph E. Maddy, director of the National Music Camp at Interlochen.

Maddy claimed the base would interfere with operations of the music camp because of noise made by the planes.

An Air Force spokesman said government officials wanted to pick a site where the base would not detract from civilian activities.

Meanwhile, Cadillac was in a festival mood.

"We're just about crazy happy," Cadillac Chamber of Commerce Secretary Fred Bocks said. "This is the biggest thing that ever hit this city, or Northern Michigan for that matter."

Cadillac Mayor Robert Kendall reaffirmed his pledge that the city will cooperate with the Air Force in every possible way.

An Air Force spokesman said bids for contracts probably will be awarded to builders specializing in Air Force installations. Separate bids will be taken on runways and buildings and work will be supervised by Army engineers, the spokesman said.

Mayor's Parley Turns to Road Problems

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government's conference of mayors turned today to road building and fiscal affairs after devoting a day to the atomic bomb and ways to guard against radioactive "fall-outs" from a bomb burst.

Gen. Lucius Clay, retired, chairman of the President's Committee on a National Highway Program, was expected to elaborate on his plan for a 24-billion-dollar program of road building, just approved two days ago by the American Municipal Assn. in Philadelphia.

Advocates of this plan say it would strengthen the nation's civil defenses. It would be financed by selling revenue bonds in the name of a federal commission using as collateral the anticipated increase in gasoline and petroleum revenues over the next ten years.

Stewardess Cited as Crash Heroine

BERLIN, N. H. (AP)—Each of the five survivors of a Northeast Airlines plane crash on a remote New Hampshire mountaintop was a hero—to the others.

But only one of them was a heroine, stewardess Mary McEttrick, 23, dubbed "Merry Mac" by the three passengers who escaped with only minor injuries.

They all singled out brunette Miss McEttrick in their praises for her courage during the 45 hours which elapsed between the plane crash last Tuesday forenoon, and their dramatic rescue by helicopter yesterday.

Two others in the plane, co-pilot George McCormick, 37, of Boston and West Hurley, N. Y., and flight superintendent John McNulty, 39, of Boston, died of injuries soon after the crash.

Michigan Ex-Convict Denies Double Murder

LOS ANGELES (AP) — James Merkouris, 43, a Michigan ex-convict, pleaded innocent yesterday to murder charges in the death of his ex-wife and her husband. Merkouris will face Superior Court trial on the charges Feb. 7.

Merkouris was arrested in Hot Springs, Ark., five days after Mr. and Mrs. Robert Forbes were shot and killed in their ceramics shop Sept. 20.

Man Waives Hearing on Larceny Charge

Leon Bennett, 22, of 1075 Holcoct, Ferndale, waived examination of a larceny charge yesterday before Royal Oak Township Justice Henk drik J. Smit, who bound Bennett over to Oakland County Circuit Court for arraignment Dec. 13.

Bennett is charged with taking about $65 worth of costume jewelry from a parked auto in Royal Oak Township Nov. 19. He was arrested by Oakdale Gardens Patrolmen Hubert McGee and James Gatewood.

Man's Condition Critical Following Accident

A Springfield Township man is in critical condition today with severe injuries sufferer last night when his car and a truck collided two miles west of Highland on M-59.

Emanuel Miller, 26, of 3555 Crosby Lake Rd., the crash victim, was traveling toward Pontiac when a truck driven by Paul Umphrey, 30, of 4255 Joyce, Drayton Plains, pulled out to pass another truck and hit Miller's auto.

Miller has a skull fracture, broken arm, and chest injuries, according to Pontiac General Hospital.

Four new cars being hauled by Umphrey's truck, received about $2,000 damage when the truck overturned, according to an official of the Contract Cartage Co. of 353 E. Madison Ave., where Umphrey is employed.

State Man Found Shot in Texas Hotel Room

PECOS, Tex. (AP) — Lawrence Earl Scheib, 22, of Lake Odessa, Mich., was found shot to death in his hotel room yesterday.

AF Rank Confusing for Major General

ENT AIR FORCE BASE, Colo. (AP)—It isn't every day that an Air Force major becomes a major general.

But for this week an officer newly assigned to Continental Air Defense command headquarters here holds that honor — on paper, at least.

The Air Force Journal, an unofficial publication in Washington, listed officers with the rank of major general reassigned this week.

24 Billion Rides Take Americans Up, Down Yearly

WASHINGTON (UP)—Americans travel about 600,000,000 miles a year just going up and down in elevators.

The National Geographic Society has figured out that Americans make 24 billion elevator rides a year for a total vertical mileage of more than six times the distance to the sun.

Elevators are getting more numerous, and more marvelous, all the time.

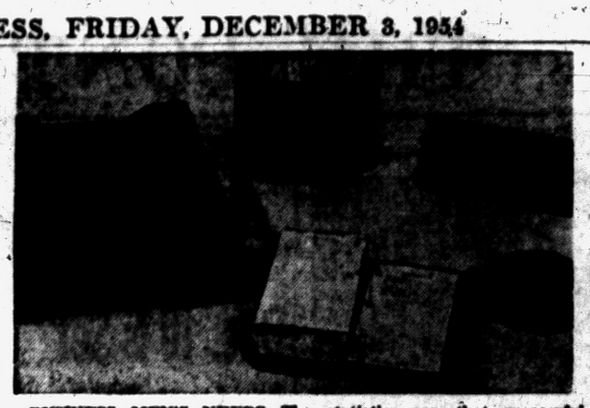

One of the newest types has an "electronic operator." It stops, starts and has automatically opening and shutting doors. The passengers' weight triggers the driving motors which start the hardly perceptible upward motion.

The electronic operator also analyzes the traffic. It speeds the rides and reverses direction of empty cars to save minutes during rush hours.

Effortless elevation via hoisting devices probably began about 236 B. C., according to reports of a Roman architect, Vitruvius. The 17th century French builder, Velayer, hit upon the idea and invented a "flying chair."

Today's makers of elevators are not onl yconcerned with the speed and safety of their "lifts" but also, with the comfort of passengers.

Apple trees are related to the rose, blackberry and strawberry.

BUSINESS MEN'S NEEDS—The statistics say that successful businessmen like their jobs better than almost anything else. If there's one like that around your house, give him an office gift: leather file tray, letter bucket, cigarette case, ash tray, calendar.

Papa's Behind Bars but Kids Have Toys

A department store had police repossess the $78.16 worth of presents Wednesday when it learned the girls' father Lee Carpenter had paid for the gifts with a forged check.

Store Manager Henry Kaplan returned the gifts Wednesday night.

"I talked it over with the store owners," he said, "and we all agreed the little girls should have their Christmas gifts back.

"We don't want to be the folks to destroy any child's faith in Santa Claus."

Carpenter, 27-year-old plumber, has been held to the state on three counts of forgery.

Here's Relief So Different for coughs of colds it will change all your ideas about cough syrups!

At last — a new and pleasant cough medicine with a "relief-action" all its own! Science has combined in a special way a penetrating ingredient with a medicating formula. The combination means your child gets more relief . . faster, more effectively. This new medicine is named Vicks Medi-trating Cough Syrup — because it medicates as it penetrates. Try it today!

PHANTOM PAW—This is a plaster cast of what is believed to be a paw print of the "phantom cat" reported stalking the area south of St. Joseph (Mich.) In plaster cast is print roughly four times bigger than a print made by a German Shepherd dog. The cast was made in the back yard of George Newmann and will be sent to state trapper Bill Hummel for possible identification.

The world's most prized genuine pearls, worth a small fortune each because of size, shape and luster, consist of virtually worthless components—common calcium carbonate formed around the egg of a tapeworm, a fragment of seaweed, or a grain of sand.

Well, It Was Tied

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UP)—Police came out twice in the same neighborhood on the same complaint that a dog was chasing automobiles. Seems that the dog's owner took the advice to keep the dog tied up, but on the second call police found that the rope used was 80 feet long.

St. Crispin, who during the 3rd century preached and made leather sandals for the poor of France until executed by the Roman governor, is the patron saint of shoemakers.

Late but Honest

ST. CHARLES, Mo. (UP) — It's never too late to pay your bills, no matter how small, according to a former policeman. A business office employe of Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. received 58 cents from him as final payment on his phone bill. She looked up the date of final billing — March 23, 1941.

Columbium, the metal which is so valuable for national defense purposes, first was observed in 1801, when a British scientist analyzed a shipment of ores originating in New England.

Hen Gives All to Job

LATHAM, N.Y. (UP)—Laying a king-sized egg apparently was too much for a chicken owned by Edward Onyon, 10. He found his hen dead beside an egg that was described as being four inches long and six inches in circumference.

Couple Counts Noses of Whole World and Even Keeps Tabs on Ivan and Olga

WASHINGTON — Two years ago Moscow began boasting about how population was growing in the U.S.S.R. It sounded ominous to western strategists who must keep an eye on Soviet power.

The Cooks spend their days studying population figures. Eight times a year they publish a six or eight-page leaflet called the Population Bulletin.

A special bulletin about Russia said the Russian population was not increasing at an impressive rate, that actually the Russian birth rate was dropping, that Russian parents were not meeting the Kremlin's demand for more and more future soldiers and workers.

The Cooks run the Population Reference Bureau, which is supported by donations from people who have become alarmed at failure of the world's food supply to keep up with its zooming population.

The population bulletin goes to 41 nations, some of them appearing as deficit areas in a "hunger map" which hange on the wall of the Cook office.

How did they turn out that Moscow bulletin? Russia is the only nation which refuses to give the United Nations birth and death figures, as other member nations do.

Cook says: "We just read a whale of a lot of Russian speeches, and what Russian statistics we could turn up. It made a consistent story."

The Cooks have startled many government experts with other news scoops.

Their charts have shown, for instance, that Americans are having babies at a faster rate than Italians. By 1952 Italian birth rates go on through the year thousand population. The United States rate was 24.5.

But the real "population explosion," as Cook calls it, is taking place in Latin America.

If the present birth and death rates gon on through the year 2000, Latin American will have 550 million people and North America 250 million.

World wide interest has sprung up in the Cooks' works. Premier Nehru of India is on their mailing list. Many of the subscribers through 40 other nations also are government officials.

INDIANAPOLIS (INS) — Bandleader Fred Waring and his pianist, Virginia Coltfelter Gearhart of New York, were honeymooning today.

Waring, 54, divorced Wednesday by his second wife, Evalyn Nair Waring in Las Vegas, Nev., was married for the third time yesterday to Mrs. Gearhart, 39, who was divorced last Sept. 27.

Seven Properties Bring More Than Alaska Cost

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — Six Anchorage apartment houses and a shopping center were sold recently at a price reported to be nearly three times the $7,200,000 paid Russia for all of Alaska in 1862.

It was called the biggest real estate deal in the territory's history.

MSC Foreign Students to Visit Homes for Yule

EAST LANSING (AP) — More than 120 central Michigan families will open their homes to foreign students at Michigan State College over the Christmas holidays.

Ten days of special hospitality are planned for the foreign students. They will stay overnight with farm families, spend Christmas Eve in Lansing homes, tour industrial plants and participate in planned activities.

"The project is designed to give the foreign students a real insight into the American way of life," said Mrs. Louise Carpenter, MSC foreign student adviser.

Watch That First Step

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Anise Mattar, 55, was injured fatally yesterday when he stepped into an empty elevator shaft in the building where he lived and fell five stories. Police said he aparently thought he was stepping into the elevator car.

Large deposits of manganese ore recently have been found in Liberia.

Woman Suffers Injuries When Car Hits Tree

Mrs. Arvilla Seres, 35, of 2504 N. Vermont, Royal Oak, was hospitalized yesterday after her car skidded on icy pavement in West Bloomfield Township and crashed into a tree.

Attendants at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, where Mrs. Seres was admitted with a concussion, shoulder and knee injuries, said the injured woman's condition today is fair.

Michigan State Police of the Pontiac Post said Mrs. Seres lost control of her car when she applied her brakes on a patch of ice on Square Lake at Franklin road.

Volume of water of the Amazon River is nearly four times that of the Mississippi.

Hard to Get Attention on Streets of Omaha

OMAHA (AP)—What does it take to attract attention on the streets these days? Omaha police wonder after catching up with three boys, ages 9 to 12, who had fled an Omaha juvenile home.

Barefooted and clad in pajamas, the boys wandered about the streets for four hours, visited an amusement park where they spent their bank roll — 25 cents — and twice crossed a busy inter-city bridge.

A reporter who had heard a police radio call on the trio finally spotted them and notified police.

Plumpish Men, Women Look Like Sack of Cats Going to the River

By EDDIE CANTOR

Everyone is on a diet—even my granddaughter, Judy, fifteen. The other night she turned down a piece of homemade apple pie. "I can't, Gramps," she told me. "I'm on a diet." Later that evening she finished a two-pound box of candy all by herself.

I've seen women devour great chunks of chocolate cake and then put saccharin in their coffee to keep their weight down. These same females wear the latest toreador pants. In them, they look all bull and a yard wide.

Men are just as bad. They'll play thirty-six holes of golf to keep in shape, but at lunch they do a better job of stuffing than any taxidermist. A man with a bay window is bad enough, but some of them carry around the whole veranda.

Did you ever get a load of these plumpish men and women from the rear? They look like a sack of cats going to the river.

Overweight is due to overeating. We should eat to live, not live to eat. Years ago Ida was a dandy 170 pounds. In her summer dresses, she looked like a circus tent. Thanks to diet and exercise, today the gal is 114. I've kept up with her. I'm a snappy 138, and my weight hasn't varied five pounds in 10 years. Now get this—I eat everything—but the portions are cut in half.

Having found that sugar gives me quick energy, I have it not only at meals but between them, too. You may think I'm writing this because I'm in league with the sugar industry. 'Tain't so. The only sugar industry I'm working for is the Internal Revenue Department.

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—The Tidewater Santiary Supply Co. told police a man asked a woman clerk to show him a mop handle. He ordered several and she went to the second floor to get the extras. The customer said he would have to go to his car to get the money but would be right back.

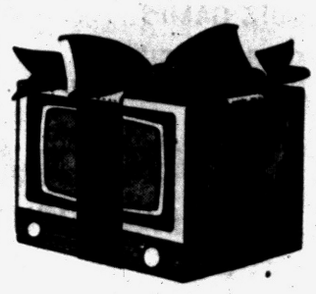

He is stil misisng and so is $24.77 from the cash register.

New Drunken Record

FREDERICKSBURG, Va. (AP)—A resident here has been arrested for drunkenness 42 times in six months. Under the old law the maximum punishment was a fine of $10 and costs. The new law provides for a $25 fine and up to six months in jail. On his 42nd offense the man got the fine and 90 days in jail where liquor isn't available.

Cheaper Than Gasoline

CORNISH, N. H. (UP)—Clifford Peterson, cooking breakfast in his home, saw his 1952 automobile bein driven off across the field. Hurrying out to investigate, he found another car, also a 1952 model had been left in his garage.

Police said the car was out of gas and that apparently was the reason for the switch.

A CHRISTMAS CAROL

By Charles Dickens

Young Scrooge used to have the time of his life at Old Fezziwig's Christmas parties. No one was jollier than Scrooge, none danced more with Fezziwig's six pretty daughters.

And never was there such music as used to come from Fezziwig's well-fueled fiddler!

High point of the evening was when the fiddle struck up "Sir Roger de Coverley" and Mr. Fezziwig took the floor with Mrs. Fezziwig.

Women Are Advised How to Hold Safe Driving Mark

NEW YORK (UP)—The woman driver, with a road record already better than man's, can improve even more if she'll just not talk so much.

So says Jean Lee, director of the American Academy for Save Driving, where both sexes are taught how to drive and safely.

With the vacation season meaning more women drivers on the highways, Miss Lee emphasizes this warning: Don't talk so much.

"A woman driver, especially if she's traveling with other women, gets to gabbing, and she forgets to watch the road."

Too much talk is one fault. The other two which plague the woman, she said, are over-caution and over-driving—trying to cover too much mileage in one day.

No woman should drive more than 400 miles a day . . . 450 at the top," she said. "Break up the trip every hour or two hours, with a stop for coffee. And take a good stretch."

Miss Lee quotes statistics from life insurance companies to show that women are safer drivers than men. In fatal accidents 91 per cent of the time the drivers are men she said. In non-fatals, the percentage is 88.

The American Automobile Association said that the latest figures it has shows there are close to 67,000,000 motorists, 29 per cent of them women.

If you're planning a motor trip soon, Miss Lee gives these suggestions.

See that the car has a thorough check-out before you start. Check tires, battery, and general working order. Once on the highway, have the tires checked and rotated periodically.

Drive a safe distance behind the car ahead. Driving experts rate the distance of two car lengths as safe if you're traveling 20 miles an hour. By the time speed is up to 40, the distance should be 15 to 20 lengths, she said.

Wear low heels and loose skirts or slacks for driving. High heels, she said, are not safe because they do not give a true feeling of the pressure being applied to the accelerator. And, a high heel easily can get caught on the pedal, causing a sudden burst of speed.

She recommended that women leave off the dangling charm bracelets and long, full-cut sleeves. Either can catch on the gear shift or interfere with steering.

Night driving after a day at the beach is hazardous.

"Tests shows," she explained, "that night vision is reduced as much as 50 per cent from a day of sun glare. It takes at least eight hours for the eyesight to get back to normal."

Share-the-Glasses Plan Used by Couple

ENID, Okla. (UP) — A middle-aged couple entered a voting precinct here, received the ballots and went over to the polling booths.

The husband walked into the booth and although there were other empty places, the wife waited outside her husband's booth.

When the husband finished marking his ballot, he left the booth, took off his glasses and handed them to his wife, who put them on and then went into the booth to vote.

A human heart weighs from 8 to 12 ounces.

Women Now Invading Nearly All Occupations

BELLEVILLE, N. J. (UP) — The "only men apply" occupations are shrinking. Pretty Miss Lucille Constantino has been licensed to service the equipment of radio stations and aircraft radio equipment. Not many women are licensed for this type of work.

WEST HAVEN, Conn. (UP)—The cigars were on Mrs. Helen Carey at a meeting of the West Haven Board of Education. She happily explained to fellow members of the board that her daughter had just given birth to a son.

A Murder Mystery

by Hugh Lawrence Nelson

Three generations of Carlson women, an exceptionally doughty bunch, are living in disharmony on a vast estate in the Colorado Rockies. Framed on the living room wall of Carlson Castle, where they reside, is a hickory switch, "The Carlson Conscience." With this the late Grandpa Carlson once instilled discipline. Since Grandpa's death the whip has not been used, the conscience never interferes with what the Carlsons do.

Into this turmoil steps Private Detective Jim Dunn and Nancy, his recent bride. Dunn had been retained by a fourth female Carlson, because a body had been found near her swimming pool on the West Coast. She had asked Dunn to do two things: Protect her from suspicion of murder and to "get something" on one, possibly more, of the other Carlson women.

Nancy had regarded the mountain expedition as an extension of her honeymoon, but murder puts an end to such thoughts. Jim finds a body stuffed into an elevator that was used to haul wood from the basement to the upstairs fireplace.

SANTA AND THE MARS KING

By Lucrece Hudgins Beale

AP Newsfeatures

Chapter One
SANTA AND THE KINGS OF MARS

Once upon a time there lived a little boy named Tom. He was a very curious child. He always wanted to know things. He was always asking questions.

One night a strange thing happened in the town where Tom lived. A farmer was worried about a sick calf. He got out of bed and started toward the barn where the animal lay.

As the farmer, carrying a lantern, crossed his yard, a sudden breeze snuffed out the flame. At the same time a mysterious light filled the whole yard and the farmer heard a whirring sound as if a giant top was spinning.

The farmer was very frightened. He threw himself on the ground and buried his head in his arms. When finally he dared to look the light was gone, the whirring sound had stopped. All the farmer could see was a speck of light disappearing over the top of the barn.

The farmer raced into his house. He called the police and the firemen and all his neighbors and friends and relations.

"A flying saucer!" he screamed. "I've seen a flying saucer!"

Most everyone in the town heard about the thing one way or another and went out to the farm to hear the strange story of the farmer's flying saucer.

Tom went too. He was just about popping with excitement. Of course he'd heard about flying saucers and read about them. But this was the first time he'd ever known someone who really had seen one.

"What could it be? What could it be?" he went around asking everybody who would listen to him.

But no one had the answer. Some said it was a rocket from a foreign country. Some said it was light reflections. Some said the farmer was silly and hadn't seen anything at all.

For three or four weeks people talked about the thing. Then, gradually, they forgot about it because they couldn't figure out what it was.

But Tom couldn't forget it. In fact, he thought of nothing else.

"Oh, if I'd been there!" he thought. "If I'd only seen it myself!"

He used to slip out of his house at night after everyone had gone to sleep. He would walk out to the country where the farmer lived and lie in a field and wait and wait and hope the saucer would come back.

Coloring suggestion: Barn red. Ground green. Man's shirt and sky light blue. Man's pants dark blue. Flying saucer yellow. Tree brown.

But it never did.

Tom had a friend. He was a smiley little elf who stood in the center of the fountain in the city park. He was made of stone and he had posed in the fountain for many years, long before Tom was born.

Tom called the elf Handsome because he was so ugly that Tom felt sorry for him. For as long as Tom could remember he had gone to the park when he was lonely or worried. He would sit there on the steps of the fountain and tell Handsome what was on his mind.

Of course Handsome never answered. How could he? He was made of stone. But he always listened and that was the important thing.

Since the farmer's strange sight, Tom went at least once a day to the park to tell the elf of his great curiosity about the flying saucer.

"I've just got to know what it was," he would say. "I just can't stand not knowing." And he would recite over and over all the things it might be and all the things it couldn't be.

This went on for a long time. And then one day the unexpected happened. Not only did Handsome listen—Handsome spoke.

"Tom," he said, "if I wanted to know something as badly as you do, I'd find someone who flies and get the answer from him. Maybe even someone like Santa Claus."

Port Research Set by Students

Collegians to Undertake Detailed Examination of Buffalo Facilities

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UP)—Under a new program, college students will help to shape the future of Buffalo's Lake Erie port.

Students from the University of Buffalo, Canisius College and Buffalo State Teachers College will do research on the port, as part of their school work and as research trainees with the Division of Port.

Dr. Marvin A. Rapp, consultant to the division who organized the program, says the students will do primary research on any aspect of the port they choose.

Their studies may range from the history of the port to a survey of the impact of the St. Lawrence Seaway on the Niagara Frontier.

"The future of the port rests in the hands of our younger citizens," Rapp points out. "It is important that we have a number of young persons trained to help guide future decisions and policies for the port.

"The program also will be of value to the students. It will enable them to learn about the mechanics of city government. And, their studies should gear in closely with their schoolwork because the port has implications in many fields—economics, sociology, geography, engineering and history."

Rapp explains that the program will have immediate value to the city, which, he said, could never afford to hire researchers to do the amount of work the students will do over the years.

Police 'Steal' Car Keys

NORTHAMPTON, Mass. (UP)—Despite threats of court action by citizens, police are carrying out orders to remove keys from unattended automobiles to discourage car thefts. The police department would welcome a test case to determine whether such action constitutes a legitimate duty or an act of larceny.

Say Tobacco Chewers Preferred in Woodland

SALEM, Ore. (UP)—"What we need," said James Walker, chief of Oregon's forest protection division, "are more tobacco chewers and fewer careless cigarette flippers. I am certain our forests would be much safer."

Carelessly tossed cigarettes are the greatest source of man-caused fires.

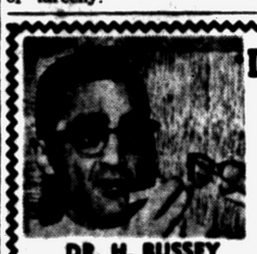

The refinements of civilization have added to the fire hazard. In the days when "roll your own" smokes were the rule, the timberlands were safer, foresters said, because such a cigarette usually went out as soon as you stopped puffing. The "tailor-mades" can smoulder to the tip end.

SOUTH ROYALTON, Vt. (UP)—It was a short vacation of Dr. Colin M. Robertson and his family this past summer. His son, Malcom, developed an ear infection, son Jimmy stepped on a broken bottle and he himself suffered a recurrence of a throat infection. The family returned home after a one-day camping trip near Sherbrooke, Que.

Christmas Charities and Social Events Fill High Schools' Pre-Holiday Weeks

Christmas activities seem to be taking up most of the high school students' time these days, as Marlene, Vicky and Marcee report many charitable and social events taking place at their respective schools.

St. Michael

Michaelites were busy this week as the annual Christmas play was uppermost in their minds. The patron drive for the play is in full swing with classes and individuals competing with one another. Leading the line of patron solicitors is Mary Hubarth, a junior. Also keeping with the spirit of Christmas is a float prepared by Mr. Rohrback and featuring "cherubs," Joann Rohrback, Yvonne Koprince, Rose Weishaar and Janice Pacquette.

Michaelite CYO'ers have been kept busy by Father Immel, dihelped him sort and box clothes for Korea. They will be sent to orphans and needy children overseas.

MARCEE

Senior classmen enjoyed the Wednesday morning visit of Dr. Maurice Thome, chiropodist, who spoke on the advantages, qualifications, scholastic requirements and opportunities for advancement in the field of chiropody. Dr. Thome followed this with a question and answer period.

The spiritual side of the ledger was balanced by the Novena, starting nine days before the feast of the Immaculate Conception, Dec. 8, in which all high school students are participating. All the girls of the Children of Mary Society voted Wednesday for the girl who will crown the Virgin's statue on the closing of the Novena.

Socially, Michaelites haven't been dormant either. The Crock-a-dolls are busily wielding paint brushes, needles and thread to repair discarded toys to donate to a charitable foundation for Christmas. At their last meeting, they decided upon Monday as their group Communion day. Social-minded seniors, Joan Dark, Marlene Cook, Pat Kucera, Honor Duross, Ella Powers, Janet Fenlon, and Marge Hensel enjoyed an evening at the home of classmate, Dorothy Burch, last Saturday. An evening of records and TV was enjoyed by the group and refreshments were served.

The Sodality seems to have unending energy, as Sodalists embarked on a charity crusade this week. Twelve members mailed their applications to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital here to help out when they are needed.

Classrooms are preparing for Christmas by organizing projects for the needy. Freshmen are sponsoring a cupcake sale to benefit the missions. Sophomores are packing a box of food, candy and toys to send to a needy family. Juniors are sending bundles to their adopted missionary as are seniors, who have just sent their box to Brother Joseph in India.

Seniors were recently given the assignment to write an essay on the advantage of attending a Catholic college, as opposed to a secular institution. The top essays, those chosen to be printed in the school paper, were those written by Georgianna Bunnerson and Dave Smith.

Michaelite reporters Loretta Lauinger, Mary Singles and Elizabeth Klinck, plan to attend a Teen Reporter Field Trip to the Clinton Woolen Mills, Clinton, Mich. This is sponsored by the Archdiocesan Parochial School Office on Dec. 10.

St. Frederick

"Standing Room Only" was the space available in Church this week as the annual Dec. 8 Novena which started Tuesday brought everyone to Mass and Communion. The entire school has joined in the Novena, which is a bigger success than it has been in years. The students of St. Fred's are making this last tribute to Our Blessed Mother the best for the close of her Marian Year.

Coach Hulslander's freshman science class boarded two buses last week and visited the Cranbrook Museum. Just how much was learned on the jaunt the coach will find out by quizzing his scientific - minded students the next few days.

MARLENE

The cheerleaders were taken to the cleaners this week . . . that is, their uniforms were.

The seniors are finding those white sweaters hard to keep spotless, and their skirts are a little muddy from cheering on rainy nights. But the girls say the uniforms will be clean and fresh for the first basketball game with St. Rita's on Dec. 10.

Mother Anna Marie, the General Superior of the Immaculate Heart of Mary nuns, visited St. Fred's this week, and from what we hear, enjoyed her visit very much.

When Sister Berchmans announced that she would hold Christmas play rehearsals during the last two hours in the afternoon, which are both English class periods, the seniors went into hysterics at the thought of no classes for three weeks.

But when Mother Christine entered the room carrying English books in her hand, the silence and sadness that spread over the room was unbearable.

"I knew we would never get a three week vacation from English," chorused several of the seniors.

Seniors have decided on the class play, but the name and the type of drama is being kept a secret. The only thing the seniors will tell is that rehearsals will begin in a few weeks.

The choral members walked down the halls this week with their shoulders thrown back and chests greatly expanded, and rightly so, as the Pontiac State Bank has asked for a return visit to sing Christmas carols for a radio broadcast.

It seems if we can't be known for sports, we are getting to be known for our wonderful Choral Club. Over this last comment, basketball captain, Jerry Bradley, is making an awful face, so before I'm pounced on, that's all for this week.

Pontiac High

PHS students are looking forward to the forthcoming all-school band program which will be presented next Thursday, and are talking about the play, "On Borrowed Time," which was presented Wednesday and Thursday with one more performance tonight. Seniors are brushing up on what they've covered this semester as they prepare for final exams.

Clubs have been preparing for the Christmas season with increased activity and plans for parties. The Retailing and Office Club had two representatives from Michigan Bell Telephone at a meeting Thursday and are completing plans for the State Retailing convention Jan. 7.

The Future Nurses Club recently held a Mother's Tea, with Grace B. Wolf, founder of the Future Nurses Club of America, as their guest speaker. The debate squad placed third in their second Saginaw Valley Conference tournament.

Members of Quill and Scroll Society, honorary journalism organizations, have elected officers. New president is Beverly Barkley, assisted by vice president, Mary Mapley. Sharon Hubbell is secretary and John Moreau is treasurer. Initiation of new members has been decided for the last week in February.

The Linnean Society, PHS biology club, has recently elected officers, too. Dick Barger is president, Irene Kamanchas is vice president, and Barb Kenny, secretary. Treasurer is Mary Kennedy, and sergeant-at -arms is Dick Cotterman. The club plans to attend open house at the Botanical Gardens in Ann Arbor Dec. 12. Friends and parents are invited to attend. Project for the semester is taking inventory of the PHS biology department. At a meeting Thursday, plans for a Christmas party were made.

VICKI

Last Monday, Pontiac High girls attended the opening session of city league basketball. Teams are to be organized, and inter-team competition will continue throughout the season.

Visitors have been seen throughout the halls this week, as a number of dogs took a fancy to the brick tepee. Despite their being put out, they were seen again late in the week.

Wednesday, Student Union members were treated to an assembly by pianist, Frederick Sjobian.

Radio Workshop is planning to give a Christmas basket to a needy family this year.

JoAnn VanTassel, Marlene Crocker and Jerry Young will make a list of articles that the basket will be comprised of, and Workshoppers will donate them. A Christmas party is planned for Dec. 18 at the home of Barbara Hess, Vera Mae Adams, club advisor, announced.

G.A.A. (Girl's Athletic Association) has planned to hold its initiations at their Christmas party, the date of which is still undecided. This semester's officers are president, Jackie Thrasel; vice president, Kathie McClelland; treasurer, Cecille Dumbrigue; and JoAnn VanTassel handles miscellaneous duties.

Wants 'Cold War' Term Changed to 'Cold Peace'

NEW YORK (AP)—Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery says "cold peace" would be a better name than "cold war" for the West's relations with Russia.

"Our object is peace. This cannot be stated too clearly or too often," the deputy supreme commander of Allied forces in Europe, told members of the English-speaking Union and the Foreign Policy Assn. in a speech last night.

CHRISTMAS PRESENTATION—In costume for the Christmas presentation of the sacred play, "And the Name of the Virgin Was Mary," are Patricia Sears as the Blessed Virgin, left; Mary Walsh as Mary Magdalen, center; and Ronald Mead as St. Joseph. The play will be given in the St. Michael Parish Hall Dec. 12 and 13.

St. Mike's Gives Christmas Play Honoring Virgin

Hal Boyle Says:

Trying to Live 100 Years Waste of Valuable Time

NEW YORK (AP)—Reflections of a Pavement Plato:

There is a sudden new surge of interest in America in how one can live to be 100 years old.

The gland meddlers and the nostrum peddlers are pumping up the idea now that the average man should breeze through an entire century before the wheezing breath of the whispers into his dulling ear, "Tag, boy, you've had it."

They hold out the golden hope they can stay the steady onset of age, keep a man young and energetic years beyond the prime his grandfather knew, and win him the joys of a supple centenarian.

To these pseudo-medical dreams of a boyish or girlish antiquity for all, I cry rubbish. Who yearns for a world in which the ordinary guy is born with the depressing prospect he will live to be 100 years old, whether he needs them all or not?

I remember years ago reading with strong distaste the desperate grasp on life by the elder John D. Rockefeller, one of the richest man of his day. He lived well into his nineties, became a shrivelled husk of a man huddled in a blanket as he sat on an automatic turntable geared to give him the benefit of the moving sun.

The man enriched medicine and mankind with his philanthropic millions. But the best doctors dollars could rent weren't able to keep him alive to blow out the candles on the 100th anniversary of his birth. It is unnecessary to point out that a number of obscure men and women of his generation who never went to a doctor outlived him.

The big new idea now is that with proper nutrition and fresh forms of abracadabra — including a wary avoidance of chicken pox while young—a man cannot only expect to live to be 100 but he hale and happy right up to the end. Presumably he then will just fall apart all at once, worn out smoothly and equally in all parts, like the wnderful one hoss shay that lived 100 years and a day.

The guy who wrote about the one hoss shay was a doctor, and a wise man, and had a son who was wise, too, and lived into his nineties—but neither father nor son made it to 100.

There seems historically to be built into every species of animal life an interior pattern that determines how long the individuals of that species will endure. Man has one of the longest of all life patterns. But is there any particular reason for trying to stretch this pattern so that most people will live to be 100 or older?

For the life of me I can't see why. To most of us, since we cannot live forever, it is more important to use our time on earth well rather than to cheapen one golden days by stretching them into a longer pewter string.

Here are some suggestions on how to get more out of life by trying to keep from living to be 100 years old:

1. The human heart has only about 2 billion—or is it 3 billion?—beats built into it. Wear it out by making it beat a bit faster for something you believe in besides yourself.

2. Count no day lost on which you fail to get your proper dose of vitamins but are surprised by fun.

3. Don't miss the pleasure of wandering in today's fog by staying in bed to save your strength for tomorrow's sunshine.

4. It is better to explore life half-sick afoot than it is to lie on your back reading a book on how to be healthy.

5. Remember that time isn't a calendar on a wall but a clock that ticks within you, that moments of flooding joy are better than barren years, and a crowded hour that measures your mettle as a man will make you a wider life than the pointless, purposeless endurance of an empty century.

Life becomes a form of death when fierceness dies in the purpose of the heart; the turning pages of the calendar cease to be a chronicle and are a daily epitaph of one who has put mere existence above the art of living.

Heat and cold have little effect on some animals and fish. A fish was found in the hot springs of Ceylon at a temperature of more than 120 degrees Fahrenheit. And an Alaskan stonefly lives and carries on its activity in a temperature of 32 degrees—just freezing. Some plants can stand even lower temperatures.

Goodfellows in 2 Areas Start Annual Drive Today

Goodfellows in two county areas began their annual sale of newspapers today, and another township's sale will be held tomorrow in efforts to provide a Christmas for all needy children and families.

Dotting intersections all day today were Rochester and Addison Township members, selling the Pontiac Press and other newspapers. Both sales will continue through tomorrow.

Funds from the Rochester sale will provide a happy Christmas for more than 200 youngsters at a Dec. 18 party in the high school cafeteria. It will last from 1:30 to 5 p.m.

The state accident report also includes 39,772 persons injured in 131,115 auto mishaps for the first nine months of 1954.

Municipal Judges Maurice E. Finnegan and Cecil McCallum's joint appeal was incited by five deaths, 495 injured and 1,172 auto accidents in Pontiac so far this year.

"The President's S-D Day is a laudable and necessary event, trying to obliterate a big killer which took more than 38,000 American lives last year," Judge Finnegan said.

McCallum added he would give the police department and local committee complete backing in order to limit the city's auto accident deaths to its present number.

Citing accident statistics for Oakland County, Sheriff Clare L. Hubbell said figures showing the number killed in the first nine months of this year are slightly ahead of 1953.

In the nine-month period of 1954 auto deaths reached 92, of which 72 were in suburban areas and 20 in cities.

"Judging from these figures," said Hubbell, "the support of farm people is urgently needed to assure the success of S-D Day and the whole continuing program of highway safety."

To help Americans wipe out accidents during the 24-hour period Dec. 15, President Eisenhower's Action Committee for Traffic Safety suggests the following rules:

1. Observe the letter and the spirit of all traffic regulations.
2. Be courteous to every driver and pedestrian—practice sportsmanship.
3. Give full attention to driving and walking.
4. Drive and walk as you would have all others drive and walk.

The nation's traffic record so far this year, Haskill pointed out, shows that people can cut down accidents by their own actions.

Comparing the first nine months figures of 1953 and 54, this year's accidents are below the similar previous period. Such barometer periods as July 4th and Labor Day weekends show that the trend is down and can be further reduced.

He also noted:

"This day could not have come at a more appropriate time, falling as it does just 10 days before Christmas. Traffic accidents are tragic at any time, but they are even more so if death or injury hangs like a pall over the Christmas holiday."

Teller Faces Federal Court on Monday

A Pontiac State Bank teller, John P. Sheridan, 27, of 49 Oak Hill, will be arraigned Monday before Federal Judge Arthur J. Koscinski on a charge of making false entries.

He was charged in a federal warrant yesterday.

According to authorities, Sheridan left here Saturday supposedly on vacation. However, when the shortages were discovered, it was learned that Sheridan had returned to Ingham County to serve a 15-day jail sentence for a Nov. 11 drunk driving charge.

Sheridan admitted, according to FBI agents, taking some $7,900 in lots of $50 and $100 during the past two years.

Ingham authorities said Sheridan will be released late Sunday and turned over to federal officials.

Fine Is Levied for Labor Law

Woman Pays $100 for Employing Minor Girl in Pontiac

Leita M. Buse, 64, of 125 N. Perry St., who also is named with two men in warrants charging they illegally solicited funds without a city permit, was found guilty today by Municipal Judge Cecil McCallum on a charge of illegally employing a minor. She paid a $100 fine instead of spending 30 days in jail.

Miss Buse was accused after a 16 and an 18-year-old girl recently complained to the Pontiac Better Business Board that they hadn't received their pay for working with the Don R. Campbell Co., according to Mrs. Grace Olsen, deputy inspector for the Michigan Department of Labor.

A second warrant also charges Robert Charles Peters, 47, of 4108 Samoset, Royal Oak, Donald Robinson Campbell, 36, of 4190 Royal St., Berkley, and Miss Buse with soliciting without a permit.

John W. Hirlinger, named as complainant in the warrants and the board's agent, said the trio had been soliciting funds in the name of a Marine Corps auxiliary. The three had been refused a city permit to solicit a cleaning product over the telephone because, according to Hirlinger, the group didn't meet the city ordinance's requirement.

Waives Hearing on Larceny Charge

Mrs. Cora Woods, 22, of Joliet, Ill., waived examination of a grand larceny charge yesterday and was bound over to Oakland County Circuit Court for arraignment Dec. 6.

West Bloomfield Township Justice Elmer C. Dieterle, who arraigned Mrs. Woods yesterday, set a bond of $2,000 which was not furnished.

Mrs. Woods was returned to Michigan Sunday by Det. France.

PTA Meetings to Feature Yule Carols, Gift Exchanges

Many school parent-teacher associations are incorporating holiday themes for their December meetings, adding carols and gift exchanges to the usual panel discussions, speakers and open houses.

These are a few of the upcoming meetings and their features:

Troy Township

The Log Cabin PTA will mark the season with appropriate musical program at its 8 p. m. Monday session at the school.

School band director Don C. Lotter and music teacher Ruth Bamford will present the selections, with school children participating.

Parents will be able to meet the teachers, and examine the rooms in which their youngsters work.

Walled Lake

The Twin Beach PTA will hold a combined meeting and Christmas party at 8 p. m. Wednesday.

The program will consist of a grab bag, with each parent bringing a gift.

Robert Godsey will have a tape-recording of the Christmas Carol, with the children of both sixth grades taking part. Teachers will be present to confer with parents, and a carol sing will climax the evening.

Father's night will be the theme of the Walled Lake Elementary PTA Monday evening.

Three short color films made by outdoor writer Jack Van Coevering will be shown. A business meeting will precede the films.

Commerce

Parents will view materials used in teaching their children, following the business meeting of the Commerce PTA Monday.

Teachers will also tell of their instructional programs at the 8 p. m. meeting.

Parents whose children attend the fifth and sixth grades at Walled Lake Junior high school will meet with the Commerce PTA.

All in Readiness to Open Market

Farmers Produce Set for Morning Selling in Waterford Township

Everything was set for the grand opening tomorrow morning of Oakland County's newest farmers' market, as workmen today completed last-minute preparations at the site on Pontiac Lake road between M59 and Telegraph, Waterford Township.

The market, which introduces a revolutionary new design in market buildings, will open promptly at 8 a.m., with a colorful array of farm vegetables, fruits and flowers, as well as eggs, poultry and honey placed on sale.

Because of its multi-door drive-up design, believed to be unique in this country, customers will be able to drive right up to the stalls and load their bushel purchases directly into their cars.

After tomorrow, the market will be open for business from 7 a.m. until 1 p.m. Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. Wholesale selling will be conducted from 7-8 a.m.

Officiating at the opening ceremonies will be Floyd Andrews, chairman of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors, County Supervisors Harry W. Horton and Norman R. Barnard, and Emmett DeConick, chairman of the Producers Committee.

Doughnuts, cider and coffee will be served to all who visit the market on opening day.

Pedestrian Is Injured When Struck by Auto

Pontiac Police today reported that Henry Huff Jr., 29, of 24 Mechanic St., was struck by an auto on Mt. Clemens Street near East boulevard last night and suffered minor injury.

According to police, Edwin A. Rulchow, 41, of 4424 Overland, Toledo, said he "hit an unknown object and returned, but couldn't find anything."

The pedestrian was quoted as saying he was walking east on Mt. Clemens when he "hit the pavement" but didn't see the car, according to police.

Guaranteed Pay Called Unsound

NAM Speaker Asserts 'Annual Wage Theory Is Looking Backward

NEW YORK (AP) — The guaranteed annual wage is financially unsound, whether management or government pays the bill, the National Assn. of Manufacturers was told yesterday.

In a speech prepared for delivery before 3,000 industrialists attending the NAM's annual convention, Charles R. Sligh Jr., president of Sligh Furniture Companies, Grand Rapids, Mich., said:

"The theory of the government guaranteeing work and wages is a retracing of the socialistic road we trod in the 1930s.

"I believe," Sligh said, "that a contemporary version of the New Deal's blue eagle and the NRA could no more solve the problems of guaranteed employment than it did the problems of unemployment 20 years ago."

He asserted that the annual wage guaranteed by management "often adds a fatal risk to business enterprise and freezes the cost of labor at a level which could prove disastrous during a period of a business decline."

"Even the few companies whose guarantee plans have enjoyed a degree of success are clearly limited in their operation, and nearly all plans contain escape clauses or time limitations," said Sligh, a former NAM president.

"If the guaranteed annual wage does not come from management, or from the government, what, then, is to be its source—the unions? I think the answer to that lies in the report of a 25-million dollar union campaign to fight for, not to finance, the guaranteed annual wage."

Sligh asserted that management has come a long way in reducing some of the sharp swings in production and employment, but there is still a long way to go."

"Industry considers this question of such great urgency that in 1955 we are starting a new program of conferences—at the grass roots level—to explore the factors which underlie regular jobs and regular earnings," he added.

TODAY'S ASSIGNMENT FOR: JUNIOR EDITORS

MRS. LUCKY DUCK

Here is Mrs. Lucky Duck. She is a member of the mallard family, found in both America and Europe. In winter, mallards fly as far south as Panama, Egypt and northwest India. In summer, they travel as far north as the Arctic Circle in search of cool weather. Here's how to make a paper duck to play with:

1. With crayons or water colors, make duck's head green and bill orange, leaving a white collar on neck. The back and breast are dark brown, the rest of body light brown. Wing fronts (A) are light brown with blue spots. Undersides of wings (B) are light brown.

2. With white library paste, mount the picture on stiff paper. Cut out duck, and fold up sides so shaded center section rests flat on table. Cut through on white dotted lines in black slots on duck sides. Cut out two wing sections and paste together. Slide wings carefully through slits on duck sides, and spread wings slightly (C).

3. Attach head sections and tips of tail with a dab of paste. Now Mrs. Lucky Duck is ready for a pond and nest. We'll learn how to make those tomorrow.

Glitter Is Abundant for Milady's Yule

When it gets to be close to Christmas and a woman starts using that trite old expres' , "Good things come in small packages," the odds are extremely high that she doesn't mean Mickey Rooney.

She means that she'd like some jewelry.

In most cases, however, the hinting around isn't needed. For the odds are equally high that a man choosing gifts for his lady will always think first of jewelry items, as his forebears have done for centuries.

When he goes to the jewelry store this year, he's due for a pleasant surprise. Scores of leading designers have created high-type sparkle—in compacts, rings, necklaces, clasps, earrings, scatter pins, etc.—at truly low-type prices.

A new set of pins, for instance, has a high-fashion gold-against-tweed effect that would seem to demand a whole month's wages. Yet the price is a mere $7.50.

A chic, go-everywhere earring has a smart shower of pearls set in a saucer of fluted gold and ells for just $2. For $2 more, there's a matching necklace.

These, of course, are merely a sampling.

Retired Postal Worker Held in Detroit Slaying

DETROIT (INS)—Detroit Police today arrested a 65-year-old retired postal employe accused by his son of murdering Mrs. Lillian Smith, 48, shot seven times and found dying on a West Side street early yesterday.

Held was Mack Grant, who denied he was the killer but said he was riding in a car with Mrs. Smith shortly before the murder.

Mack Grant Jr., 37, told police his father had confessed the crime to him. The son said his father became enraged when Mrs. Smith wanted to break off their friendship.

Detroit Factory Burns in Two-Alarm Blaze

DETROIT (INS)—A two-alarm fire broke out early today in a three-story manufacturing plant and warehouse in Detroit.

Fourteen pieces of fire apparatus rushed to the scene. The second alarm was turned in because the building, owned by the Universal Cement Tray Co., is located in a densely congested residential area.

Emanuel Kline, owner of the company which makes cement laundry tubs, said the plant and equipment were worth $100,000.

Doctors Extract Fork From Stomach of Girl

MUSKEGON (INS) — Sixteen-year-old Wilma Herman of Muskegon was reported much better today, now that doctors have removed the fork she swallowed.

Illness Forces Cobo to End Capital Stay

By International News Service

Mayor Albert Cobo of Detroit is flying home ahead of his announced plans today after illness forced him to skip all but one formal session of President Eisenhower's conference of Municipal officials in Washington.

Cobo remained in his hotel room after his arrival in the capital Wednesday and stayed there most of yesterday, attended by a nurse and doctor.

The mayor minimized the extent of this illness, said he has a chest congestion and has been advised to take it easy.

"I am not actually sick," the mayor explained, "but I don't feel as good and peppy as usual." He has been bothered by a cold since his return from an extended vacation in Arizona.

Soviets Return Runaway Allies

Reds No Longer Eager to Provide Asylum in East Germany

BERLIN (AP)—The Russians are no longer eager to grant asylum to Allied servicemen who cross to Soviet-occupied East Germany.

In the past, they wecomed such defectors — usually soldiers in serious trouble with their own army—and tried to make propaganda capital of the desertions. But in recent weeks the Russians have sent back seven British soldiers and one American within a few days after they turned up in the East.

The first instance cropped up three weeks ago when Sgt. James R. Bissonnette of Grand Rapids, Mich., asked political asylum in the East and was returned.

Testimony at his subsequent court-martial for desertion showed he fled to East Germany because he was in trouble in his infantry unit in Berlin. Soviet authorities got in touch with American liaison officers here and virtually compelled him to go back.

Later, seven British privates crossed to East Berlin. Five had broken out of a guardroom at British barracks and the other two went East while on pass. Soviet authorities returned all within a week.

Woman's Privilege

WESTERLY, R. I. (UP) — Men and women were placed on the same jury for the first time in Washington County supreior court. The result—the jury was unable to reach a verdict.

Fear TDs by Linemen

MILWAUKEE (UP)—Marquette University football teams have come to dread the results when a lineman scores a touchdown. Two years ago, a Marquette tackle, Frank Scaffidi, picked up a Michigan State fumble and ran for a score. Marquette lost 62-13. In the 1954 opener, a Marquette guard, Stan Andrie, recovered a Wisconsin foumble in mid-air and ran for a touchdown. Marquette lost, 52-14.

More than a million earthquakes occur in the world each year, but only a fraction are recorded.

Trading Was Brisk

BOSTON (UP) — It took Patrick B. McGinnis, president of the New Haven Railroad, only 2½ hours to give away $15,895 in stock recently. At a special dinner honoring 578 veteran New Haven employes, McGinnis walked from table to table shaking hands and handing one share of New Haven stock to each of the long-time employes. The stock is valued at $27.50 a share.

Firemen Name Hound After Bridge Expert

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UP) — Firemen here have given the name Ely Culbertson to a young beagle they rescued recently — because he's a bridge hound.

The firemen found the dog perched on a narrow pier over the Clark Memorial Bridge over the Ohio River. A 40-foot extension ladder had to be used to rescue the stranded dog.

Getting Married Tough in Russia

Bungling Bureaucrats Blamed for Blockades Before Wedded Bliss

MOSCOW (INS) — When young Communists wed they don't expect orange blossoms and candle light, but, comrade, there is a limit.

Down in Krasnodar in the north Caucasus, creamery mechanic Vladimir Belusko and his bride-to-be Nina Nosova found that getting married combined some of the worst features of an obstacle course and a chamber of horrors.

First they couldn't find the neighborhood registry office. After Vladimir phoned city hall for the address they located the street.

But there was no sign of the registry office until a policeman directed them through the front gate of a nearby factory and into a back courtyard.

'You two were lucky," registry clerk T. G. Gorshkova greeted them. "This is a plant holiday. You have to talk your way past three sets of guards when the factory is working."

Miss Gorshkova explained the lack of a sign by saying the factory manager orders it taken down every time she nails it up. The sooner the registry office moves out of the plant the happier the manager will be.

If the young couple's enthusiasm hadn't been dampened already, the water dripping from the cracked ceiling should have done it.

"Komsomol Pravda," the young Communist League newspaper, found the same scene in district after district in Krasnodar, a city of more than 100,000 population.

One recording clerk shrugged:

"I've been trying to put this place in order since 1950. But what's the use. Every time it rains, water floods the room. Between marriages I keep busy with the mop."

One office did pass muster. The Komsomol Pravda correspondent found it "comfortable and attractive."

He added, however:

"But, unfortunately, young people don't like to come here—it's located in a graveyard."

Solar Energy Study Slated for Arizona

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UP) — The eventual utilization of the greatest potential source of energy to man and how it may be accomplished will be discussed in Phoenix, Jan. 12-15.

The meeting will be in the form of a world-wide symposium on applied solar energy—harnessing of the sun's energy to do the job of supplying power for industrial purposes, the home, and countless other assignments of modern man. Fifty to 100 leading scientists and businessmen will attend.

Heading a committee planning the event is Lewis W. Douglas, former U.S. ambassador to the Court of St. James, and a Sonoita, Ariz., rancher.

Douglas, Henry B. Sargent, president of the Arizona Public Service Co., and others point to the fact that recent developments indicate the actual solution to the solar energy problem may be not far off.

They hope to work toward speeding up such scientific exploration, with Arizona considered as a possible future site for a laboratory to undertake further experimentation and study.

FILM STAR AND SON—"Goodnight, sweetheart, well it's time to go," is the fond leavetaking of actress Valentina Coresa to son Frankie. Miss Cortessa was to attend a formal function in London and the touching scene took place in the Savoy Hotel. Frankie, whose daddy is actor Richard Basehart, hung on to his stage presence, acting very dignified about the whole thing.

Germany Making Strides in Reconstruction of Cities

FRANKFURT (UP)—West German cities heavily bombed during World War II have grown to new splendor out of the ruble during the past nine years, but another 10 years may pass before the last carload of debris has been removed.

A United Press survey showed some big cities such as Frankfurt have "made the best" of war-time destruction by rebuilding larger and better business centers and starting housing projects to replace old-fashioned, over-crowded residences.

In cities like Cologne, however, where hardly a single house remained undamaged and most were flattened by repeated bombing raids the last heaps of rubble still may be there in 1965.

Inflation and shortage of raw materials, however, kept reconstruction by the Germans at a snail's pace until 1948 when American and German financial experts carried out a currency reform which ended inflation and made the Deutschmark one of today's "hard currencies."

The reform had hardly begun on the morning of June 21, 1948 when the first bricklayers, carpenters, and painters appeared with push carts, tools, and paints to start working on what then looked like an impossible thing—the reconstruction of the cities.

Of the 176,000 flats and homes Frankfurt had before the war, 76,000 had been destroyed when Admiral Doenitz surrendered to the Allies on May 8th, 1945. Meanwhile 65,000 flats and homes have been reconstructed or newly built.

Aproximately 45 per cent of all housing in Duesseldorf had been blown to pieces, but today the city has only 10 per cent less billetting facilities than before 1939.

Card Playing Corrupt, Red Magazine Warns

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet press for many months has been denouncing drinking and smoking. Now it has begun to condemn card playing as an evil relic of capitalism, a crime breeder and a corrupter of the character of the Soviet man.

The magazine Young Communist reports all sorts of crime and character erosion arise out of card playing, including drinking and murder, and that "card playing is incompatible with the Soviet way of life."

A Statue for Honus

BARRIE, Vt. (UP) — A 21-ton granite foundation nearing completion here will serve as the base for a statue of professional baseball's great shortstop, Honus Wagner of the Pittsburgh Pirates. The bronze statue of Wagner to be placed on the base will weigh about two tons. It will be placed in Schenley Park near Forbes Field in Pittsburgh.

Employers Pay Work Insurance

Companies Pay Part or All of Program Costs, Survey Shows

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new labor Department survey indicates the nation's employers are making a much bigger contribution to insurance protection for their workers.

The study disclosed that 95 per cent of the urban workers it surveyed in the country enjoy some kind of health, pension or other insurance paid for by their employers, either wholely or in part.

The department's Bureau of Labor Statistics, which made the survey, said it could make no precise compaisons with the scope of employer-financed insurance in earlier years, but that a considerable expanion in this field was obvious.

"It is evident," the bureau said, "that the past two years insurance and pension protection has been made available for the first time to substantial numbers of workers, while for many others the number of types of benefits available have been increased."

The survey dealt only with private insurance plans in which employers pay at least a portion of costs. It did not include private health, pension or other ingurance coverage the workers might buy for themselves. Nor did it cover such government insurance programs as social security.

The study covered six million workers in offices and plants employing 50 or more persons. It was confined to the country's 17 largest urban areas and skipped the small plants and towns.

Pemba and Zanzibar, neighboring islands off Africa's east coast, produce about four fifths of the world's supply of cloves, with one season's crops averaging 9,000 tons of the dried spice.

UM Profs Trying to Collect $5,000

ANN ARBOR (UP)—A committee of faculty members of the Literary School of the University of Michigan today was attempting to raise $5,000 for a former professor who was fired by the university for refusing to answer questions before a House un-American activities subcommittee.

The committee, headed by mathematics professor Raoul Bott, is supported by almost 100 faculty members in the university's School of Literature, Science and Arts.

Botts said the committee is taking no stand against dismissal of H. Chandler Davis from the university because of his refusal to answer questions about alleged Communist affiliations. He said the committee only felt that the Board of Regents was wrong in refusing Davis severance pay.

He said that the refusal is in opposition to the general policy of the Association of American University Professors which opposes the move on moral grounds.

State Expects to Sell 3,300,000 Auto Plates

LANSING (UP) — Michigan expects to sell 3,300,000 license plates by the Feb. 28, 1955, deadline, 125,000 more than last year, Secretary of State Owen J. Cleary reported today.

More than 115,872 of the green and white plates have been sold so far, Cleary said.

The plate sale usually begins Dec. 1. The sales were advanced three weeks to accommodate new car purchasers.

"Purchase your plates early to avoid the discomfort of the last week rush," Cleary said.

Benson to Visit MSC

EAST LANSING (UP) — Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Benson will be the main speaker Feb. 10, 1955, at Michigan State College's Farmer's Week program during the college's centennial year, officials announced Thursday.

Ground Broken for MSC's New Farm Building

EAST LANSING (UP)—Ground was broken at Michigan State College today for a new agriculture building which will "afford greater opportunity to serve Michigan agriculture."

The new Animal Industries Building, to be completed in the fall of 1956, will house Michigan State's dairy, poultry and animal husbandry departments.

Dean T. K. Cowden of the School of Agriculture said "these three departments represent the major segment of Michigan's agriculture. The building will impose added responsibilities on us to serve Michigan people."

The building will include 17 research laboratories, a creamery and meats laboratory, 22 classrooms, 74 staff offices and a 600-seat auditorium.

'Sympathetic' Hug Costs Broker $25

BALTIMORE (AP)—Walter Becker argued that he was sympathetic, not anxious. Nevertheless, Magistrate William F. Laukaitis fined the real estate man $25 for trying to kiss a 42-year-old mother.

Mrs. Laura Gray told Laukaitis the 33-year-old Becker put his arm around her and tried to kiss her while she was showing him an apartment across the hall from her own. Becker, who is married and father of two children, said Mrs. Gray had complained of a pain in her arm and he might have placed his hands on her shoulder in sympathy.

In Teaching Good Health Habits

Copy Cat Stage Pays Off

A lovely playful little girl suddenly becomes a very stubborn piece of merchandise when a parent tries to bully her into good habits.

Pressure about brushing the teeth ends with the toothbrush going out the window or down the toilet. Pressure about eating more rapidly; dinner lasts for three hours. Pressure about keeping clean; the palms of the hands, only, touch the bar of soap.

Of course, a child ought to have good eatih habits. Wise parents and pediatricians have found that the earliest time to introduce these is during the copycat stage, at whatever age that may be in an individual child.

Wise mothers move quickly when first they find a daughter digging in the prized lipstick and filling the air with precious face powder. Out come juvenile cosmetics — some just for fun, some with an earnest purpose.

If a mother can't seem to buy any of these fancied-up products, she can make do with her own. The lipsticks for chapped lips may be inserted in empty adult lipstick tubes.

Baby powder, which is safe, may be put in a pretty box with a lavish-looking puff. And, of course, the pill hidden under all the ruffles is soap.

One of the easiest ways to entice a suddenly lead-footed child into the tub is with a bubble bath. There is a special children's bubble both with a matching cake of soap that ought to satisfy any tiny lady's desire for splendor in the bath.

'Kard Kapers' Held by Soroptimists

Mrs. Clifford Todd and Mrs. Richard Paschke were general chairmen of "Kard Kapers" the annual card party of Soroptimist Club held Wednesday evening in Roosevelt Temple.

Other officers elected were Mrs. Edith Hillman, vice president; Mrs. Foster Berdan, recording secretary; Mrs. Leonard Vander-Kooy, treasurer and Mrs. Charles Rowston, corresponding secretary and reporter.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Berdan and Mrs. Lester Bebee. Mrs. Ralph Osborn gave devotions and a letter was read from Mrs. Andrew S. Creswell who is spending the winter in Florida. Christmas baskets will be sent to several families by the group.

Styles Fit Fireside

Sugden Lake Cook Keeps Holiday Treat in Refrigerator

Isn't it fun to have all sorts of fruit cake recipes coming in? We have printed so many different kinds that every one should be able to find one to her liking. The one we print today, contributed by Mrs. Fred Champnella of Sugden Lake, is a quick, bakeless one. If you haven't made your fruit cake yet, or if you run out of the ones you have made, here is an easy way to replenish your supply.

Following an Army husband around has led Mrs. Champnella to housekeeping in Post houses and even overseas. She is a charming, relaxed homemaker and hostess. She is also the delightful mother of six children.

½ pound dates, cut fine
½ cup thin cream

½ cup chopped pecans
10 maraschino cherries, cut fine

Mix together thouroughly, press firmly into a pan that has been lined with waxed paper, then oiled. Let stand in refrigerator overnight. Keep covered to keep moist. Serve sliced with or without whipped cream.

This keeps well for several days; keep in the refrigerator as a quick dessert or refreshment for the holidays.

Don't Ask Just Anyone for Favors

By EMILY POST

A letter tells me: "Not long ago I asked a friend if she would drive my mother to the doctor on a certain day. This particular doctor is a specialist and has his office in another part of town.

"Mother is not young and I did not want her to have to go on the bus or train. I told this friend that I would gladly pay for the gasoline.

"A member of my family has criticized me for asking this favor and thinks it is unfair to put friends in the awkward position of not feeling free to refuse.

"I can't understand this reasoning. If one cannot ask favors of friends, then of whom can one ask them?"

Answer: IF this was a friend you knew very well and for whom you have done many favors, it was quite right to ask a favor of her in return. But you would certainly not ask this of someone you did not know very well.

Dear Mrs. Post: I haven't met my prospective in-laws. They live in a neighboring town and never have invited me to come with my fiance to see them. (They never have called on my family either).

He now suggests that I go with him some evening soon. But still no invitation has come from his mother. Should I give up expecting this courtesy and go?

Answer: His family should have made the first move. But the only thing you possibly can do in this situation is to do what your fiance wants you to—after all, he knows his family, and certainly he wants them to like you as much as he wants you to like them.

Dear Mrs. Post: We are building a new house and plan to use antique furniture throughout, except in the den. We would very much like to use modern furniture in this one room, but are not sure if this would be in good taste.

Do you think it would be suitable to have the one room modern while the others are the extreme opposite?

Yule Customs Are Often Lost in Modern Day

Customs of Christmas are traditions that have grown from ancient folkways and religious rituals, but modern life and new activities have so changed the atmosphere of the Christmas season that much of the real meaning has been lost.

The charm and graciousness of the past have been largely replaced by frantically hurried last-minute shopping, crowded stores and nerves stretched taut in an effort to remember everyone with gifts.

Let's not let the real spirit of the holiday get any further away from us. The Christmas festival has come down to us as a time to express love and joy. We should not let the actual buying of gifts for our loved ones absorb too much of our time and energy from enjoying the true festivities and generosity we want to feel for our family and friends. And the sooner you organize your Christmas shopping lists, the better your chances are of getting the gifts you especially want to give and with the minimum of effort.

Even in the rain the opulent look shines this season. Here a lustrous raincoat of satin acetate is printed with a finger-painted splash design. The round collar rises in a highly graceful and becoming line and the sleeves push up in luxurious folds.

Granting Unjust Demands Warps Child's Reasoning

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

When Tina was 6, pocketbooks were given to her and her little sister. She was pleased with her blue one until she found that Ella's red one contained a larger mirror. mirror.

She demanded an exchange. Refused, she threw hers into the fireplace, flung herself on the floor and began to scream.

As Tina's mother feared her "tempers," she rushed to the scene. Discovering its cause, she did not say, "No, you cannot have Ella's property. However, if you dust the ashes off your pocketbook and come upstairs, I will give you a fine, large mirror."

Instead, she took her younger child aside and asked her to be a "peacemaker." And Ella, correctly interpreting this as an order to surrender her pocketbook, finally did so.

As a result of many similar experiences, Tina's ability to reason is retarded. Though now a mother in her 40s, she is still as disinterested in the justice of her demands on others as she was when she demanded Ella's pocketbook.

This disinterest had recently been the source of much unhappiness in her daughter. At 23, she believes she's found the man she wants to marry. Tina thinks she hasn't.

Over and over for months now, her daughter has tried to explain her reasons for her point of view. But quite literally, her mother cannot listen to them, much less think about them.

As for years, she has succeeded in disposing of any opposition by a fit of accusing bad temper, she knows of no other way to deal with her child.

This is, of course, a demand for submission.

If it is not granted, Tina will suffer great anger, humiliation and discouragement over herself. But never will it occur to Tina that her demand for such submission from a grown child is both unreasonable and unjust.

I wish it would occur to her. For we really cannot permit our self-satisfaction to depend on other people's decisions to submit or not submit to us.

The demand for it does not come from Tina, but from fear in her training.

For as children we look to our parents to judge between our just and unjust demands.

If they are granted to us, regardless of their justice, we do not learn to test the morality of what we want from others by our own developing reason. Instead, we have to seek all our self-satisfaction in others' submission to us.

Someone will refuse it sooner or later, and our self-satisfaction will topple.

Music Has New Role in Therapy

Information Given on the Necessary Training

By ANNE HEYWOOD

"What is music therapy?" a high school student asks. "I plan to go to collage, and I can't decide what to major in.

"I love music and have studied it for years, but I was also considering being a nurse or even a doctor.

"Now my high school adviser has suggested that I look irito music therapy, but I'm not quite sure what it is. Can you tell me something about it?"

Music therapy is, generally speaking, the use of music as a contributing factor to the treatment of ill or mentally disturbed persons. It is used on conjunction with the medical or psychiatric treatment prescribed by the doctor.

For centuries we have known that music has a soothing and healing effect, but only for the past 40 or 50 years has it been known and practiced scientifically.

In fact, the field is quite new, since for only 10 years or so have there been regular courses in music therapy.

Mrs. Myrtle Fish Thompson, a charming New Jersey woman, is president of the National Association for Music Therapy, and has given me a good deal of information to pass on to young people interested in the field.

First of all, it is a "natural" for the person who loves music and medicine, and maybe teaching as well.

The personal qualifications are good physical and emotional health, patience, tact, and a sincere desire to help others. Above average intelligence and a great skill with music are necessary.

Your college courses will include liberal arts and much emphasis on music. You will need to study piano and be able to perform solos, to transpose, improvise and play by ear. You will have to be a good accompanist.

Your training should give you a bachelor degree in music therapy and, if you will write to Mrs. Thompson at the Essex County Overbrook Hospital, Cedar Grove, N. J., she will put you in touch with the people who can give you the names of the best colleges in the field.

It is also possible for the older person, who already had a B.A. degree, to take special course in music therapy, and thus enter an exciting and very worthwhile field.

For further information, and a list of books in the field, send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Check Your Feet

The posture of your feet is as important as that of your hands. Look at an old snapshot of yourself and note the uncomfortable look of your "comfortable" stance. Practice sitting and standing in front of a mirror to find your becoming postures.

Now She's Actually Part of Broadway

By MARY MARGARET McBRIDE

You'd never guess it to look at me, but I am now a "little" angel.

Requirements for the role were a modest sum of money and a reckless impulse to gamble deliberately on a venture which, though more respectable, is about as conservative, investment-wise, as a horse race or a crap game.

This is the procedure: I wrote a check, then signed an awe-inspiring printed contract about as thick as the manuscript for a new dictionary and loaded with legal terminology I'll never understand. So now I am a limited partner (I don't know what that means either) in an enterprise known to the trade as bankrolling a show.

An intrepid band of friends are fellow angels with me and we are all in the theater for the duration of a musical piece called "Nice to Visit." Since we made it legal, we naturally talk as if we had played with all the Drews, Marlowe and Southern, Duse and Bernhardt.

I'd probably never have sneaked into the back door of show business if a friend, Jean Meegan, hadn't been co-producer and book-writer of "Nice to Visit," and if other mutual friends, determined to be "little angels" (the adjective comes from the amounts we put in), hadn't ganged up on me.

I'm not the show business angel type. I was caught in the stock market crash of 1929 only because I didn't realize the market could go down. In my brief experience with it, it had always before that dread October gone straight up.

When I found out its real nature, that was the end of our association. Chancy things like oil wells and gold mines have never interested me, and since 1929 they interest me even less.

However, angeling is different in that it gives you a bit of fun for your money. First there's the backers' audition. The idea of this is to show groups of people who might invest enough of the production to convince them that it will be a hit.

Backers' auditions are held in the living rooms of private home usually apartments with Park avenue or Fifth avenue addresses. Men and women, even whole families, mostly in dinner clothes, gather around 9 p.m., and lounge about sipping coffee and looking solemn.

A few members of the prospective cast, in street or dinner clothes, file to the front of the room and sit nervously on the edge of straight-backed chairs. A harried-looking man takes his place at the piano, and one of the producers, holding a copy of the manuscript, sets the imaginary scene. Members of the cast rise in turn or in groups and run through the catchier numbers.

During a brief entr' act, the prospective angels wag heads and trade sage opinions. The audition takes about 90 minutes and then the show's attorney gets up and describes the financial needs and explains about the income tax angle of angeling.

Some in the audience ask sharp questions that indicate they've been to backers' auditions before. Some sign on the dotted line then and there, others take home the bulky contracts to study.

"Nice to Visit," I'm happy to say, seems to be doing very well at raising money, and it oughtn't to be long now before we'll be in rehearsal, then opening to enthusiastic reviews and all of us little angels on our way to higher income tax brackets.

That's what we hope, of course, but even if it doesn't work out quite that way, there will be a compensation. Forever afterwards I can refer casually to the year I had a play on Broadway.

IF mature woman cruise wardrobe—

Casual elegance in a variety of opulent fabrics, the simple type dress you remember in your youth is pretty again now.

Mrs. C. W.—Recalling the more flattering fashions of your youth—the relaxed cardigan with straight or pleated skirt, the matching fox on a wrap jacket over a pleated skirt sheath—remember how pretty everyone looked then?

Baby's Own Beauty Aids Help Mom

No one knows who was the first woman to ransack the baby's dresser for beauty preparations. It may have been someone who had run out of her usual cosmetics and wanted something she knew was pure and gentle. It may have been desperation, or inspiration.

Whoever she was, she brought the drugstore baby counter out of the corner with the sterilizers and into prominence, right along with the fancy flacons at a fortune an ounce.

Because they're pure, baby products are natural aids for women with cantankerous skin. Also, many women find it easy to have baby soaps in all the soap dishes instead of having to haul out baby's special bar to wipe off his face and hands. If there's only one bathroom, it's easy to have just one can of bath powder for mom and baby.

Probably the most filching done is of the baby oil and lotion. During sieges of home improvement, even pop sneaks a handful of the baby oil. Mom uses it after her dishwashing and floor scrubbing.

Baby lotion, a super-soft version of hand lotion, has long been rubbed into diapering hands. But it is also good as a protective coat for those who are out in winter weather — skiers, skaters and shoppers.

Coat Dress Good

The coat dress has a new life, so report designers. As styled for this year, it can be either with equal ease. It's often lined and finished with velvet collar and cuffs. It can be a costume over a slim dress, too.

Tips Given on Cleaning Wallpaper

By HUBBARD COBB

It seems that a good many people don't use wallpaper in thier homes because also in the home are children, and there is a feeling that small dirty hands and wallpaper don't mix.

Well, small dirty hands and a non-washabe type paper don't mix too well, but in this day and age there is washable wallpaper which can be wiped clean with a damp cloth as easily as a painted surface.

Of course, not all papers are washable. There are some that are non-washable and these can be cleaned or maintained in several ways.

If you wish, the paper can be coated with a transparent coating which will make it washable. Lacquer can be used for this purpose and so can white shellac.

The paper, if it is old, should be cleaned before it is coated. About the best way to clean the paper is with a commercial dry wallpaper cleaner.

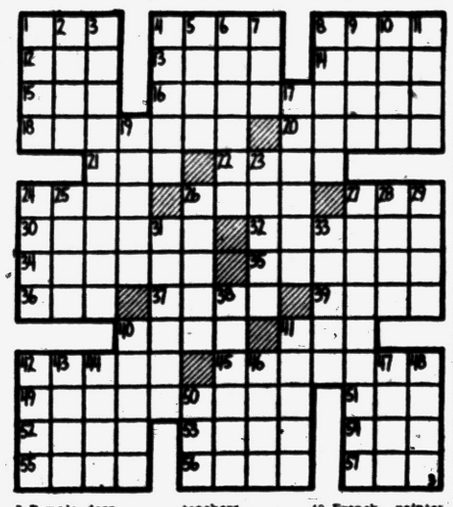

This is a plastic substance which you can get at paint, hardware and grocery stores. The plastic is rubbed over the paper and picks up the dirt. It does a pretty fiar job.

Non-washable papers do very well without any other coating in rooms where they are not likely to take too bad a beating.

The living room, master bedroom and guest room, for example. In the kitchen, dining area and in the kids' room you should use a washable type or a paper coated to make cleaning easier.

Currents in Lake Huron Favoring Canadian Fish

By JOHN BARBOUR

ANN ARBOR (AP)—A Cornell University professor told today for the first time how the waters of Lake Huron sweep the Michigan shore clean and carry plant food to Canadian fish.

Associate Professor John C. Ayers, oceanographer at Cornell, gave the results of the University of Michigan's Great Lakes research institute study which he headed. It was the first comprehensive survey of any of the Great Lakes.

Because of the water currents, Ayers said, fish on the Canadian side of the Lake Huron are better fed than those on the Michigan side.

"Lake Huron, we found, has deep waters which trap decayed plant life," Ayers said. "Things which die seem to go to the deep areas."

He explained it was nature's own fertilizer program, "too big for man to fool with."

In an interview before a speech tonight, Ayers said: "Besides having a mechanism to trap these potential plant nutrients, the lake also has a mechanism for distributing them."

"The dead matter," he said, "is picked up by water currents that run deep toward the Michigan shore. Here they meet the surface current, bound for Canada. This current is blown eastward by winds that prevail in the Great Lakes area.

"The sun beats down on these fertile waters," Ayers explained, "growing small plants which finally settle on the Canadian side."

He added:

"So, we can guess that fisheries on the Canadian shore hold up better than fisheries on the American shore."

Dr. David Anderson, of the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests, Toronto, said the westward winds also blow pollution from the Michigan side toward the Canadian side, but it "is merely more plant food by the time it reaches Canada."

Ayers said that the Huron currents travel too slowly to carry sediment and deposit. He said the currents traveled at about three one-hundredths of a mile per hour. At the widest point of the lake, he said, it would take six months to a year to get across.

Ayers' study took place this summer when nearly 2,000 test bottles were released at various points across the lake. In each bottle was a post card which the finder returned after noting where the bottle was found.

Ayers said that barely 200 bottles were returned. However, they were sufficient to give an idea of how the lake's water currents ran.

"Lake Michigan waters follow the Michigan shore line after entering Lake Huron," Ayers said. "However near Alpena the waters split and the current swings mostly toward the Canadian shore."

Ayers said that this current and the Lake Superior current which flowed roughly in the same pattern were interrupted at Alpena by a long sand spit that runs nearly half way across the lake.

Ayers said the Alpena sand spit extends to the southeast from the Michigan shore and nearly meets another sand spit which runs from the Canadian shore at Point Clark, northwestward.

"There are only about five miles between," Ayers said, "and if they were extended they would divide Lake Huron into two deep basins."

Ayers said that Michigan cities, short of drinking waters, have plenty within their reach. He said a trough of water running through the center of the lake was drinkable and pure. "All they have to do is find a way to get it," he said.

Detroit Doctor in Group Studying Health Plans

MIAMI (UP) — A 13-member committee, which included a Detroit doctor, was named by the American Medical Association yesterday to investigate various types of plans through which an estimated 90,000,000 Americans receive medical services.

Dr. Dwight H. Murray of Napa, Calif., chairman of the AMA's board of trustees, said the results of a year's study by the committee would have a "direct bearing on the improvement of health benefit plans now offered to the American people."

The Detroit doctor named to the committee was Dr. Jay Ketchum.

Bob Considine Says:

Dr. Sam's Defense Starts Tearing Apart State Case

CLEVELAND (INS)—From all appearances, Dr. Sam never came even close to having his grim game of life and death called off at the half.

Judge Edward Blythin who had asked for a night's sleep on the matter of the defense's appeal for a directed verdict of not guilty at the end of the state's case, apparently did just that. He was spryer than usual as he mounted the bench this morning and briskly rejected the defense's carefully constructed pleas for a demolition of the indictment.

"The court has no obligation whatever or no right to consider at this state the weight of facts or have any opinion," he stated, damming a rising flood of protest in the golden throat of Bill Corrigan, dean of Sam's mouthpieces.

Bill shrugged as if he expected it, and ordered his lawyer-son to truck in the defense's legal objets 'art. The defendant kept his head straight ahead, chin up, as expressionless and immobile as a face on Mount Rushmore. If he had based great hope on being acquitted then and there, he mimed disinterest to such a high degree that he should be considered eligible for the next Academy Award.

Corrigan jumped into his case feet first. For his lead-off man he called Dr. Stephen Sheppard, Dr. Sam's brother and top adviser, but at the start it appeared that one of the feet was in Steve's mouth.

Steve had been in the bullpen long enough to be thoroughly warmed up when called into the fray. He couldn't confine his answers to yes and no and "then I went downstairs." Steve wanted to tell how he felt, how he had figured things out, and what third parties had said. Prosecution and bench chided him repeatedly.

He set the pattern for the remaining days and weeks of Sam Sheppard's trial for the murder of Marilyn Sheppard.

Sam, he said, was true blue, "the most level-headed of our entire family," never fought as a kid, was crazy about little Chip and other kids, showered gifts on Marilyn, ducked important meetings at a medical convention in Washington, D.C., to play tennis with her and take her sightseeing. When it came time for Steve to say that Sam and Marilyn had decided to call their new baby Stephen Allen, Sam cried.

The impression may have bloomed around the land that Sam cries like Niagara. He doesn't, and he makes no show of it for the benefit of the jury. His nose reddens, his eyes fill, he closes his lids briefly touches them with a handkerchief, squares his chin again and continues to stare forward. Sam cries manly. No blubbering.

The work of pulling down the edifice of the state's case against Sam got under way methodically as wreckers work. The matter of his brown corduroy jacket, for instance.

The state implies that on the murder night (last July 3) Sam, with premeditation, neatly folded the jacket (in which he had fallen to sleep on a downstairs couch) placed it across the couch, went upstairs and beat his wife to death.

Today Dr. Steve swore that when he arrived at the murder house, shortly after the alarm was spread, the jacket was tumbled on the floor—the inference being that Dr. Sam had ripped it off when he heard his wife scream, flung it down and raced upstairs to get "clobbered," as he has put it.

The state has made much of Sam's vaguely worded descriptions of his two losing fights with the intruder or intruders, human or otherwise. Dr. Steve had an answer for that "I directed that he be given 100 milligrams of demerol as soon as he was brought to the hospital," the witness asserted.

The state says, too, that Dr. Sam was whisked out of the murder home without knowledge of police. "Chief Eaton and Patrolman Drenkhen (of the Bay Village police force) were present when I took my brother out of the house that morning. They made no objection; none whatsoever."

And so it went and will go, and in time the job of straightening out the debris, or what is left standing of the state's case, will fall upon the jury.

Tot Survives Tumble Into Barrel of Water

PUEBLO, Colo. (AP) — Year-old Ricky Rosen had stopped breathing and was turning blue yesterday when his mother pulled him from a trash barrel full of soapy water.

Mrs. Jerome Rosen called firemen but managed to restore his breathing by the time a first aid squad arrived.

Ricky, treated by a family doctor, was fully recovered and resting well last night.

Mrs. Rosen was scrubbing out the barrel and stopped to enter the house for a moment. Ricky apparently lost his balance and fell head-first into the barrel while trying to reach the soapy suds.

Autopsy Report Rules Out Poison in Fitch Death

CHARLOTTE (AP) — Municipal Judge Angus MacLeod said last night an autopsy report on wealthy Fitch H. Beach indicated no sign of cancer or poisoning.

The autopsy was performed on the body of the road machinery manufacturer by court order when a nephew, Fred Beach of Chicago, filed a petition saying he believed the cause of death was poison.

Judge MacLeod ordered an inquest next Thursday to clear up contradictions in the case.

MacLeod said he conferred with two Michigan medical experts on the autopsy. Evidence of advanced kidney disease and kidney failure was found by the autopsy, MacLeod said.

Beach died in April of 1952. Dr. William E. Hoffer signed a death certificate giving cancer of the prostate gland as the cause of death.

Beach's nephew filed the petition requesting the exhumation after he was disinherited. He sought to break his uncle's will.

O-JIB-WA BITTERS CONTINUES TO PROVE CLAIMS

"Rheumatism and neuritis in my hips and arms was so bad that I was forced to use a chair as a crutch to walk around the house," says Mrs. Hulda Penttila, R No. 1, Gladstone, Michigan.

Mrs. Penttila

"I was troubled with rheumatism and neuritis in my hips and arms for over ten years, but never quite so bad as it was last summer. Why, it was so painful that I had to use a chair as a crutch to walk around the house, and then it got much worse, and I couldn't even get out of bed. I was taking care of my daughter's baby at the time, but I couldn't even take care of myself. My husband stayed home from work to take care of me and the baby. I used an electric heating pad and everything that anyone told me about that might help, but nothing did me any good. Then I read about O-JIB-WA BITTERS in our paper, so decided to try it too. It was different than anything I had taken, for in just a few days, the pains lessened, and in ten days I was out of bed. I'm all better now, thanks to O-JIB-WA BITTERS. There is nothing as painful as neuritis, and anyone who has it knows what I mean when I say how grateful I am to finally be rid of the awful pains. I certainly recommend that all sufferers of rheumatism or neuritis try O-JIB-WA BITTERS."

Balloon Stunt Just Proves Man Still Wants Publicity

By MARGARET LATROBE

Seems to me there used to be college boys whose specialty was swallowing goldfish. That, Judge, was the way I remember it.

To adorn the front pages today, you don't gulp scaly objects, sit atop flagpoles and such. You marry Rubirosa, or produce quintuplets or blow up a thousand balloons for a high jump upward.

The strange performance of one Garrett Cashman, amateur balloonist of Albany, is a recent enrichment of scientific data. Blew up a packet of kid-sized balloons, he did, grabbed hold of the strings and disengaged himself from terra firma. Briefly but compellingly. The Civil Aeronautics Authority likewise almost blew up.

Now all these stunts have a beginning and a middle to their composition. But an end they have not. There is no discernible point, punchline, snapper, or whatever you call the normal finale to any goldfish or ascending into the skies the hard way. I do not follow the line of reasoning.

What are the stunt men trying to prove? Maybe they haven't heard of the Wright brothers! What happens next, and who—not to belabor the point—cares?

Fun is fun, and you certainly have a right to get yours from rope tricks, jugging or blowing up balloons, if the dictates of your conscience so indicate you can't attract the cops by so doing. But somehow it has alway seemed to me that if the same effort that goes into learning to juggle apples were applied elsewere, a fellow might get to be Ed Sullivan, instead of just be on his show for a minute or two Sunday nights.

Balloonist Cashman, reportedly a mail-order dancing teacher and sometime hypnotist, apparently combined all skills in irritating the C.A.A.s interest in the Big Blow. Takes some fancy samba steps plus hypnosis to distract this starchy group from regular air traffic.

The C. A. A. rushed to the scene, however, with a big, stout rope, the better to insure our scientist of some means of return. Believe me, gentlemen, this precaution was a mistake.

Cut the rope and leave him fly, if you want my advice. Then send a helicopter to fetch him down, if needs be, but not before all publicity-hunger was scared from his cranium, or reasonable facsimile.

At times I think Harvard is slipping. Haven't heard of a single goldfish being "et" in simply years. But the news would be welcome, fair Harvard, very welcome indeed.

Mrs. America's Trip Backfires

Engagements in Austria Canceled After Agent Spats With Press

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — A good-will trip by "Mrs. America of 1954" to Vienna misfired today and all her engegements aimed at stimulating Austro-American friendship were canceled.

Plans for Mrs. Wanda Jennings, 28, of St. Louis, Mo., to be received by the lord mayor and spend an evening in the city's famous wine gardens were abandoned after her manager clashed with the Vienna newsmen.

The young housewife, her husband, Madison, and her manager arrived in Vienna last night. Their visit was sponsored by the Austro-American society, which strives to improve cultural understanding between the two countries.

Austrian newsmen were called to a news conference this morning, but they said that, after waiting 20 minutes, they were presented with her manager, Bert Nevins of New York City instead of Mrs. America. They complained they did not come to see him. In the quarrel which ensued, Nevins walked out.

Nevins said later the press did not give him an opportunity to explain that Mrs. America did not like to appear under klieg lights.

Dr. Karl Schrems, general secretary of the Austro-American society said: "We have withdrawn our sponsorship and canceled all arrangements for Mrs. America due to the improper behavior of her manager. Mrs. America was not to blame."

YOU'LL BE JUST AS PLEASED AS WE ARE!

We're talking about our new and beautifully modern store just completed in Union Lake that'll make clothing shopping so much easier and convenient.

Soft indirect lighting, modern decor, wide roomy aisles, smart blond showcases, all combined to put our best foot forward for local shoppers.

But to be frank about it, we doubt that we could have accomplished this project in such a short time had it not been for the wonderful co-operation and help given us by our general contractor, sub-contractor, suppliers and workmen. That's why we'd like to take this opportunity of thanking each and every one publicly for their aid. Their fast, expert high quality workmanship, and reasonable, top quality materials, in our book, have made them the firms that we'd like to do business with in the future.

Talmadge Delays Youth's Execution

ATLANTA (AP)—Gov. Herman Talmadge has ordered a stay of execution for James Willie Morgan, 18, who was scheduled to die in the electric chair today.

Responding to a last-minute appeal by the youth's attorney Archie Gleason, the governor last night agreed to a 15-day delay to permit a sanity hearing and examination by psychiatrists.

Morgan was sentenced to death for fatally shooting Eugene Talmadge Bryant, young Augusta taxi driver, during a robbery. He would have been the seventh teen-ager executed in Georgia this year.

Before the governor acted, the youth's mother, Mrs. Ruby P. Anderson, issued a desperate plea for his life from a cell in the same prison. She is serving two to four years for slipping a gun to her son after he was jailed.

Mistletoe Once Magic

Mistletoe was thought to have had magic powers by the ancient Druids. Young men today probably believe the same thing when their ladies stand beneath the mistletoe waiting to be kissed.

Television's Ann Baker Is Spying on Teenagers

By EARL WILSON

Yes, my son is turning 12 . . . and I'm told that can be very dangerous for parents.

So I went to see Ann Baker . . . who spies on teenagers.

ANN BAKER

Playing teenage "Corliss Archer" on TV, she, like Peter Lorre, has "gotta have the information." Sometimes she spies near Magnolia High in North Hollywood. Sometimes the little boys she's spying on whistle.

"I wondered how the girls got those bluejeans to fit that way," Ann told me, in Sardi's, while visiting New York.

"They put on a new pair and jump in a swimming pool. They let the jeans dry on them, first fitting them to their legs."

"How do they feel after that?" I asked. "Very wet?"

"Very tight!" replied Miss Baker.

"A bathtub wouldn't work. It would be too dull," she added.

It's only four years since Ann was "Miss Jeans Queen" of Sedalia, Mo., home town also of Jack Oakie. But spying on the teeners, she's amazed how swiftly their fads change.

"Holy Cow," "My gollieeze," "Jeeze" and "Golly Mum" are still common teen terms. Lately everything is "very rank"—it smells.

"At a party, I heard one teenager say 'That's real J. Arthur.'

Miss Baker is now growing up—and out, too—and some people wonder if she won't outgrow the pony-tailed, saddle-shoed teenager she's playing.

However, her disguise as a teenager seems to be working still. For at a recent kids' party she dropped in on, a boy about 12 sat down beside her and started snuggling.

"What grade are you in?" he finally asked . . . and Ann knew she was still O. K.

MICKEY KNIGHT

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Blonde model Nancy Woodruff wins the "Miss Rheingold" crown. Detroit-born and daughter of a Chrysler executive, she ran two years ago—and lost . . . Joe DiMaggio's talked over a TV deal here.

Hospitalized Red Buttons said, "I still have trouble with writers—I looked at my hospital chart and made the doctor rewrite it three times." . . . Mickey Knight, an El Rancho Vegas showgirl, will be coached by Lili St. Cyr in the fine art of stripping.

Earl's Pearls . . .

A local toy counter, according to Bob Olin, sports a sign, "Toys so simple even a parent can understand them."

Does Thorough Job

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UP) — The burglar who broke into a gas station operated by Robert Hall must have been hard up. There was only 27 cents in the cash drawer. The thief took every cent.

No Damages Awarded for Improper Cooking

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) —Three persons complained that they had contracted trichinosis from a pork roast cut. They sued the sellers, but the Connecticut Supreme court threw the case out on the grounds that the pork had not been properly cooked. Said the court: "Many foods cannot be eaten in the state in which they are bought.

"One could not expect to recover . . . for the distressing effects which would follow eating pineapples without peeling them, or of a partially cooked chicken which had not been drawn."

Feminine Attire Fits All Budgets

For Yuletide, Surprise Her With Glamorous Wearing Apparel

The route of the heart of a man may detour around through his stomach, but the path to the heart of his lady is always in open view.

On Christmas Day and every day, she's sure to fall every time for lovely—and practical—things to wear.

The woman who can't be thrilled by glamorous gifts of clothing probably doesn't exist. And now, more than ever before, the thrill is easier to give—for there's glamor to fit every budget.

Handsome, luxurious garments, such as petticoats, night gowns, peignoirs, pajamas, blouses and skirts, range the scale of prices from five-figure numbers to one or two dollars.

What once only queens and nobles could afford now is available to all.

If the woman on your list likes dress-up occasions, she'll appreciate a glamorous blouse. This year's new formal blouse styles feature dozens of opulent fabrics.

Avisco rayon mat jersey, the popular fabric which has long been a favorite in sophisticated separates costumes, is one of the newer fashion leaders.

With its stark simplicity and richness of texture, the mat jersey blouse makes an elegant foil for sparkling jewelry and colorful scarves.

Color ranges are extensive. Often, one blouse style can be had in as many as 14 different colors. Most popular hues for winter are the beige and sand tones, coffee, brown and black.

Another gift favorite is sleepwear, with cozy, pretty pajamas and softly elegant gowns offering two extremes. One has old-fashioned comfort, while the other appeals to every woman's sense of femininity.

The list of other favorites — sweaters, stoles, hats, suits, stockings, raincoats, weskits and so forth—is too long to well describe, and long enough to fit any gift-giving problem. But before you choose, a word of advaice:

In buying women's clothing, stay away from the type of item that requires a definite measurement, unless you know the measurement exactly.

If you don't and can't find out, many stores have gift certificates which enable the woman to choose for herself, after you've paid for the item.

In the field of accessory items, the list is headed, as usual, by the always-needed handbag. The currently popular tote bag style can be found in all types of leather, from cowhide to suede to kid, and in all popular colors.

The choice of belts is equally wide. You'll see them in the new softened calf leather, so supple that it is draped, pleated and shirred for the cummerbund look.

The wrapped look is also developed in smooth leather belts that give the effect of a wide midriff with a curved shaping.

The idea that a gift of gloves is practical but unimaginative doesn't hold true this Christmas. A myriad of colors and textures from the finest soft doeskins and glace kid leathers to pigskins and capeskins is available in gloves for every occasion. And the styling is true high-fashion.

In the at-home glamor shoe department, there are many novelties to choose from in sandals, wedges and mules, some of them jeweled and embroidered. Most are brilliant in color.

What About the Days When He's Off Work?

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—C. C. Riddick, a janitor at a bank here, likes to be on time for his work and he likes pigeons. As he leaves his home for work he throws grain or bread crumbs to pigeons who have learned to know him, and who wait for him in a nearby churchyard.

If he is late the pigeons go to his doorstep across the street and their cooing informs him that the clock is ticking past their breakfast time.

Iron Works to Expand

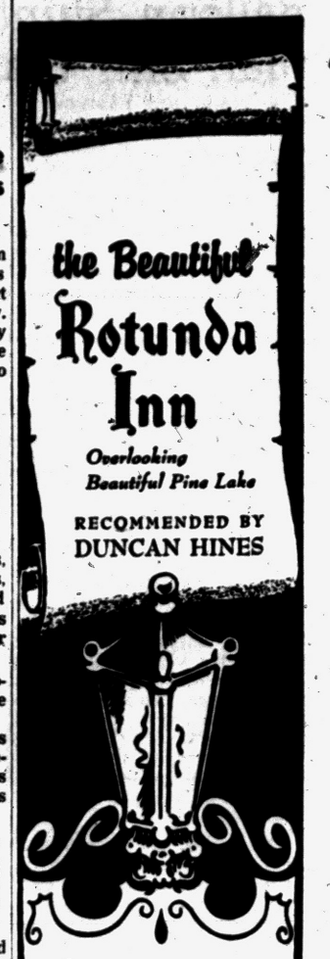

EAST JORDAN (AP)—East Jordan Iron Works, one of the north's oldest industrial firms, has announced a $40,000 expansion program. The firm has produced street castings and fire hydrants since 1883. Officials said the expansion will include a modern sand conditioning and storage center.

$10,000 Savings Win Acquittal in $5 Theft

BALTIMORE (AP) — A 55-year-old factory worker with a $10,000 bank account was acquitted yesterday of a charge he stole $5 from a man in a supermarket.

Emile P. Gow was arrested Wednesday after a customer in the store accused Gow of scooping up a $5 bill he had dropped on the floor. When searched by police, Gow was found to be carrying $495 in cash, an uncashed check for $42 and five bank books with deposits totaling $10,000.

School Thieves Leave Big Bass Drum, Tuba

Thieves stole 15 instruments, valued at $4,000.

The raised bottom of wine bottles allows the sediment to settle in such a way that the wine can be decanted without disturbing it.

POPULAR WITH PRESS PHOTOGRAPHERS—Reggie Dombeck of Chicago, "Miss Photoflash of 1954" not only won a trip to Hollywood because of her popularity with press photographers, but also won a role in the movie "So This Is Paris." The Universal-International musical will be released for the coming Christmas-New Year season. Above, Reggie aims the camera at three male stars in the movie, Tony Curtis, Gene Nelson and Paul Gilbert. Other beauties appearing in the film are Christiane Martel of France, former Miss Universe; Myrna Hansen of Chicago, former Miss U. S. A.; Gloria DeHaven and Corinne Calvet.

British Actress Asks Residency in United States

LOS ANGELES (AP)—British actress Simone Silva has informed immigration officials she wants to become a permanent resident of the United States.

Miss Silva, who kicked up a storm of controversy when she posed seminude with actor Robert Mitchum on the Riviera, may have to return to Europe after Feb. 3, 1955, when her present temporary work permit becomes void.

Immigration officials now must decide whether the actress' services are "urgently needed by the United States, due to her exceptional ability," and whether her presence would be "beneficial to the economic and cultural interests of the United States." These are clauses in the law governing Miss Silva's application.

She told newsmen yesterday she is anxious to become a permanent resident so she can accept a singing engagement at Miami Beach, Fla.

British Actor Not Interested in U.S. Dollars

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — American dollars apparently mean very little to British actor Laurence Harvey. Since he came here to make "King Richard and the Crusaders" at Warners he has had all kinds of offers which he has turned down.

Now I'm told that Terence Young, attractive British producer who is visiting here, has Harvey tied up for "Four Feathers," which will make its reappearance as "Drums Along the Nile." This is the old A. E. W. Mason story that's been filmed several times.

Harvey is now working in the movie version of "I Am a Camera" in London with Julie Harris and Shelley Winters.

Big doings in New Orleans where Audie Murphy was on the official welcome home committee to greet the 3rd Division which arrived a few days ago after four bleak long years in Korea.

This is Audie's old combat unit and while serving under the 3rd banner he became our most decorated soldier, even to winning the Congressional Medal.

Tomorrow Murphy takes off with Commanding General Haydon L. Boatner for Ft. Benning, Ga., home of the division, to discuss with the general an ending for "Hell and Back" U-I's movie about the 3rd Division.

It isn't until a baby you know is involved that you realize how this fog and smog affects little children. Mrs. Robert Cobb's beautiful grandson, Robert Walsh, age two-and-a-half, was stricken about ten days ago. For a time it seemed as if they would have to operate on his throat because he couldn't breathe, but today he was taken home from Children's Hospital in good health.

The only thing that helps these babies is a croupette, which costs $100, and the hospital is so filled with sick children that they haven't enough croupettes to take care of them all.

Dore Schary told me he believes a motion picture committee should be formed to pressure the authorities to take steps to save our beautiful city from being almost blacked out by this menace.

There's a wonderful bond between Frank Sinatra and his three children. Nancy Jr. is ecstatically happy because her father has asked her to go with him to Australia when he leaves Jan. 14 on a personal appearance.

The wonderful thing about Nancy Sr., is that she's encouraged this closeness between Frank and the children.

The actress whom Mickey Spillane called the sexiest girl in Hollywood is Marian Carr, who was chosen by Robert Aldrich to play opposite Ralph Meeker in "Kiss Me Deadly." Marian was with Mickey on "Ring of Fear."

Another actress who will be in "Kiss Me Deadly" is Gilda Gray. She'll teach four actresses the shimmy — and Gilda's the girl who knows how. She created the wiggly dance.

Fabulous Hollywood Even Paints Flowers

Creating the fabulous Hollywood stage set which served as a background for much of the action of "Brigadoon" called forth both skill and ingenuity. The low-lying mists on the moor were produced with dry ice; the effect of fog was gained by vaporizing oil.

Endless Variety in Holiday Cards

Almost 2 Billion Sent Each Christmas; Huge New Ones Take Boxes

If the mailman staggers up to your house in the Christmas season, it's because of the cards. For, according to Stephen Q. Shannon, president of the National Association of Greeting Card Publishers, U. S. postmen totter under a mountain-high load of one and three-quarter billion cards every Christmas.

That means that the man who doesn't send or receive a Christmas card is either a troll who lives under a bridge or a bartender in a ghost town.

Among the kinds of cards that may catch your eye when you go out to select this winter, Mr. Shannon points out, are many cards that were considered odd items not long ago.

In this category are the deluxe cards—big things with pins or necklaces or real Christmas corsages on them. These cards, which have to be mailed in a box, now sell from 20 to 50 thousand copies per card.

Religious cards now sell five times more than they did ten years ago, Mr. Shannon said. Also coming up are the giant cards for kids and the studio cards—sophisticated line sketches with waggist greetings.

Ways of buying your cards are also increasing. You may pick them out one by one as always, but you can also buy inexpensive boxes of one design or boxes with twelve cards on one theme. Plus the possibility of ordering in advance from a catalog the exact number you wish, names printed on.

But, while the five most popular designs may switch positions with each other from year to year, they always remain the top five. This means that when you go to select, you'll probably be most charmed by a floral design; candles; Santa Claus; a winter scene or bells. It's in the cards.

Sorority Eleven Challenges Frat to Gridiron Test

NORMAN, Okla., (AP)—The girls of Chi Omega sorority at the University of Oklahoma have challenged Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity to a campus football match.

"We're not even going to warm up," fraternity coach Mike Raia said.

Of course, as girls will, they've rewritten the rule book. The boys must walk, not run, toward the ball carrier; they must count to 10 before rushing the passer; a five-yard penalty will be assessed for hugging — the girls can do all they want; and all fraternity passes (with the ball) must be made with the left hand and caught in one hand.

Two Jurors Ousted to Break Deadlock

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—It's not easy to get a verdict out of a jury that is hopelessly deadlocked, but Judge David J. Heffernan did it in Civil Court of Record.

Admitting that he had never heard of it being done, the judge discharged the two jurors who couldn't agree, and got attorneys for both sides to accept the verdict of the other four yesterday.

Neither side knew which way the four jurors had decided, Heffernan said, so they agreed to accept the majority verdict.

The suit was by Supreme Distributors, Inc., claiming $175.61 due on a $200 advance for a cigarette vending machine.

Tips for Christmas Phone Calls Listed

One of the best Christmas presents in the book is a telephone call to relatives or friends who live at long distances. And if you follow the advice of the phone company, you'll save yourself time, money and trouble.

According to communications men, Dec. 25 is the busiest day at central switchboards. So they advise that you place your calls before or after Christmas Day itself.

Telephone rates are reduced at night and all day Sunday, so take advantage of this economy.

In addition, you should call your destination by number because it's faster. And be sure to jot down a list of things to talk about so that you're not tongue-tied to the state of the weather or "how-are-you" over and over again.

Hopeful Chief Cagers Open New Season

Defensive Play Marks Top State Prep Team

By JOE FALLS

DETROIT (AP)—The art of defense—some call it a lost art—is the feature of the Associated Press Class A all-state high school football team, announced today.

The 11 players selected by coaches and sports writers gained recognition—and respect—with brilliant defensive work, combined with powerful offensive play.

"He is the finest defensive back I have ever coached," says Milo Sukup of Grand Rapids Union.

Hank Fonde, Ann Arbor coach, says the same of Williams, who also ran from the fullback position.

Williams, who missed Ann Arbor's last two games because of a shoulder separation, has been considered for two years as the premier Class A line-backer in the state.

Lew Hoad's Performance Blasted by Aussie Press

By WILL GRIMSLEY

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — Lewis Hoad, once Australia's tennis hero, was criticized in Melbourne newspapers Friday as an "irritating and half-hearted" player whose career has been irreparably damaged by an "outrageous performance" in the ictorian championships.

Alan Trengove in the Daily Argus said "Hoad can give up any hope of turning professional in the near future."

Frank Bird in the Sun said Hoad, in losing to America's Vic Seixas, gave the "worst demonstration of bad court manners since Art Larsen was here four years ago." Seixas beat Hoad in straight sets in the semifinals Thursday.

Seixas had been scheduled to play in the doubles finals Friday with Tony Trabert against Rex Hartwig and Mervyn Rose, the Australian champs, but rain washed out the match. It was rescheduled for Monday in deference to Seixas who meets Ken Rosewall for the singles title Saturday.

Jack Harper in The Age wrote Hoad must improve 50 per cent to rate selection on the Davis Cup team.

In a special press interview, Hoad explained the reason for his tantrums with "I am sick of everyone getting on my back."

3-Way Battle in PCC

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP)—Texas Christian University looks like a cinch to capture the Southwest Conference championship and Southern California should win the Pacific Coast title after a three-way struggle with UCLA and Stanford.

Utah figures to finish on top of the Skyline eight after a stiff fight from Wyoming. Idaho State should win the Rocky Mountain Conference crown for the third straight year.

Texas Tech is the team to beat in the Border Conference and Santa Clara and San Francisco probably will battle it out for the California Basketball Assn. championship.

This is the year for which Coach Jack Gardner of Utah has been waiting. The former Kansas State coach has the entire 1954 team back minus one reserve.

Only Wyoming can match Utah's height, even if it can't match the Ute's experience. Behind the two leaders are Brigham Young and the defending champs, Colorado A. & M. Denver has big men but it lacks experience.

TCU lost Hank Ohlen, its 6-7 center and captain who was far and away the team's top scorer. All the other regulars are back.

Eleven of USC's top 12 men who won the PCC are back and they again will be led by 6-5½ Roy Irvin, a reliable workhorse at center. The lad to watch, however, is sophomore Jim Kaufman who is being called the best player ever developed at Los Angeles High.

UCLA has Don Brag and Don Moore, a veteran duo who head one of the strongest Bruin teams in years. Stanford has a pair of great scorers in Russ Lawler and George Selleck.

Coon Hunters Plan Banquet, Annual Confab

Pioneer Coon Hunters association has arranged for its annual banquet and conference at Bald Eagle Lake inn, Dec. 11. Always an interesting affair, this year's PCHA gathering will offer a program of African big game movies, election of officers and a banquet at which the "top of the menu" will be 'coon.

There may also be some discussion of proposed legislation, and the annual report on the year's take of raccoons in this area.

A limited number of tickets are still available for the party, according to Lewis M. Wrenn. They may be had from Wrenn, or other PCHA members.

Little All-America Star Backs Small College Game

By HAROLD CLAASEN

NEW YORK (AP) — Is football on the small college level worth while to the players?

You will get a quick, firm "yes" from William (Bill) McKenna of Brandeis, who was named an end on the Associated Press' Little All-America team today.

McKenna arrived at the Waltham, Mass., college, one of the country's youngest colleges, four years ago from Salem, Mass. He stretched two inches over six feet and weighed 165 pounds. Bennie Friedman, the one-time Michigan star, couldn't find a spot for McKenna on the offensive platoon.

So McKenna played defense. Between football seasons he either wrestled, did weight lifting or road work every day with the result that he now is a strapping 6-4 and 210 pounds of muscles.

He also developed in football. Unable to make the offense platoon in 1951, he was the team's leading scorer in two of his final three years.

Sharing the 1954 Little All-America honors with McKenna are stars from 10 other colleges. The other end is R. C. (Overdrive) Owens of the College of Idaho, the only junior on the first team.

Tackles are Joe Veto of Juniata and Larry Paradis of Whitworth. Stokeley Fulton, Hampden Sydney's inspiration, is at center, flanked by guards Robert Patterson of Memphis State and Gene Nei of Gustavus Adolphus.

Backfield includes Richard Young, Chattanooga, Alvin Beal of Texas Trinity, Don Miller of Delaware and Leo Lewis of Lincoln University. Lewis is the only repeater from the 1953 team.

Quack-Quack!

World Duck Calling Test Under Way Today

STUTTGART, Ark. (AP) — There may be a lot of going on in the world today, but people in this little south Arkansas town will know only that the World Duck Calling Championship is under way.

Upwards of 5,000 festival seekers, duck hunters and duck callers are expected to jam this duck capital of the world for the contest that will decide which caller is best in the world at talking to ducks.

The only entries in the world contest who aren't state champions are the winner of the International Duck Calling contest at Crowley, La., the Pacific Flyways champion and last year's world champ.

Several celebrated outdoorsmen are expected to attend and take an active part in the contest. Herb Parsons of Somerville, Tenn., noted shotgun marksman, will be master of ceremonies. Howard Hill, famed master of the bow and arrow, already is in Stuttgart and will help Parsons.

First prize for the world's contest now is a $1,000 U.S. Savings Bond, plus a trophy. Sporting goods manufacturers from all over the world pile on other prizes.

Tempers Flare and Fists Fly as Wings Lose

Both Clubs Are Sent to Dressing Room to Cool Off After Tiff

DETROIT (AP) — With three losses in their last four games, Detroit Red Wings have fallen eight points out of 1st place.

Now the question is: Can they bounce back and win their 7th straight National Hockey League title?

The Red Wings were soundly whipped 4-1 by the Montreal Canadiens in Olympia Stadium last night. The victory by the Frenchmen was their 4th over Detroit this season and moved them far ahead of the wobbling Wings in the league race.

Canadiens have 35 points in the standings, compared to 27 for 3rd-place Detroit. Toronto is in 2nd with 28.

Red Wings, returning from a rugged three-game road trip, gave a lack-luster performance last night in a wild game which saw each team draw 10 penalties.

Dickie Moore, Bert Olmstead, and Kenny Mosdell shot Montreal into a 3-0 lead before Dutch Reibel found the range for Detroit early in the 3rd period. But that was the Red Wings' only scoring gesture. Five minutes later Maurice Richard, offset Reibel's tally with a low 20-footer.

It was Richard's 14th of the season and 298th of his career. He is seeking to become the 1st player to score 400 goals.

Busiest man on Olympia ice was referee Bill Chadwick, who dealt out an even hour of penalties. The big flare-up came late in the 1st period when a free-for-all broke out in front of the Detroit bench.

After several players engaged in some lively fisticuffs, both teams were sent to their dressing rooms to cool off.

UCLA Scored 4 TD's Through Blocked Punts

Horrors—KC Ball Park on Brooklyn Ave.

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Chuck Comiskey vice president of the Chicago White Sox, visited the American League's newest baseball park here Thursday and was outraged.

"What do you mean, Brooklyn?" He stormed when he was driven up Brooklyn Avenue to the baseball park at the intersection of 22nd street.

"What kind of city fathers od you have here? Brooklyn is in the National League. And we American Leaguers don't want anything to suggest the National League—not since the last World Series. That street's name should be changed fast."

"It was all right riding out on Truman road but when he turned into Brooklyn Avenue that was too much," said the grinning White Sox official.

'Little Mo' Will Be Ready for Net Action

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Little Maureen Connolly promises that she'll be fit and ready when she returns to the tennis courts for international competition next spring.

Drew Bounced, 'Bama Names J. B. Whitworth

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP)—J. B. (Ears) Whitworth, former Alabama guard and Oklahoma A&M head coach, was named head football coach at the University of Alabama Thursday to replace Harold (Red) Drew.

Removal of Drew had been speculated for some time. He had been under fire by the alumni for several years, even though he produced an eight-year record of 53 victories, 26 losses and 7 ties, and took the Crimson Tide to three major bowl games.

Also on the award list were Jim Crum of Van Dyke and Warren McKenzie of Fenton for freshman football.

Dancer Wins Honor as Top Thoroughbred

NEW YORK (INS) — Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt's fabulous grey galloper, Native Dancer, although he raced only three times in 1954, was hailed today as the champion thoroughbred of the year by the Thoroughbred Racing Associations' board of selection.

The Dancer, now retired to stud because of recurring lameness, received 20 of a possible 39 votes from participating racing secretaries, with Pet Bully, Rejected and White Skies sharing the remaining 19.

This Deaf Mute Does 'Talking' With His Feet

Kent State Relies on Little Fullback Against Delaware Sunday

Lou Mariano, Kent State University's 5-foot-7 fullback, has averaged 115 yards per game by rushing. He'll be running Sunday against a University of Delaware team that limited nine opponents to an average of less than 80 yards on the ground.

Mariano's performance this fall for the Ohio school included 14 touchdowns and two conversions. He broke away for a 99-yard sprint against Western Reserve, a Mid-American Conference record.

In that Western Reserve game Lou gained 226 yards all by himself and carried the ball only 10 times. He weighs 162 pounds.

Pontiac High's basketball team goes to Royal Oak tonight to raise the curtain on what could be the Chiefs' brightest season in several years.

On paper, at least, Coach Art Van Ryzin's outfit shapes up as a potential powerhouse. The veteran-studded PHS squad appears to have everything—size, experience and depth.

Van Ryzin's starting lineup tonight will be the same crew that started the majority of contests in the last half of the 1953-54 season. Two juniors, James and King, and three seniors, Johnston, Poe and Blacklaw, comprise the lineup.

Another senior, 6-foot 2-inch Marv Caswell, is slated to see action at both forward and center positions. Caswell, a mid-year graduate, is playing his 3rd year of varsity ball.

Rounding out the PHS varsity are Bob Casteel and Charlie Johnson, who saw limited varsity play last year, ex-jayvees Bill Mountain, Clay Williams, Rod Treais, Jim Jones and John Bersche, and sophomores Jimmy "Red" Taylor and Freeman Watkins.

Only two starters are back from the Royal Oak team that bowed to Pontiac, 50-35, in last season's opener. They are Capt. Roger Sides and guard Bob Grundeman.

Three other lettermen, including 6-foot 4-inch pivotman Bob Kelley, complete the Acorns' starting five.

Browns, Lions Are Picked to Win Sunday Contests

By HARRY WISMER

(Copyright, 1954, by INS)

Professional football finally grabs the spotlight away from the collegiate game this weekend.

There's still a chance—remote though it may be—for the New York Giants to tie the Browns and the Chicago Bears to deadlock the world champion Lions in their respective conferences.

However, we are reading the Bears out of the race for this year by picking their crosstown rivals, the Chicago Cardinals, to salvage a tough year Sunday and beat the Halasmen by three points in a tough game.

At the same time, we look for the Browns to wrap up the Eastern Division championship with a 28-point margin over the Washington Redskins.

Giants, hobbled by the loss of injured star quarterback Chuck Conerly and ace halfback Frank Gifford, also should see their chances for this year go by the boards against Pittsburgh. Steelers, reinforced by the return of Lynn Chandnois, appear to have a 7-point edge.

Lions should clinch the Western Conference crown with a 14-point win over the Philadelphia Eagles and set themselves up for a shot at their 3rd straight world title.

Green Bay can beat the tottering San Francisco 49ers by 10 and in Saturday night's lone contest the undermanned Baltimore Colts are due for a 3-touchdown setback at the hands of Los Angeles.

Colts Threaten Rams

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—The Los Angeles Rams are favored, but the Baltimore Colts pose a decided threat, when the two National League Football teams pile into each other Saturday afternoon in Memorial Coliseum.

Dodgers May Sell Billy Cox to Orioles or Tribe; Omaha Expected in American Association Today

By JOE REICHLER

HOUSTON (AP) — Omaha, Neb., was expected to officially become a member of the American Assn. today as the mnior league convention comes to a close.

Another development will be the naming of the five-man arbitration board by Minor League President George Trautman to settle damages due the Western League for draft of its Denver territory by the association.

On the player end, The Associated Press learned that the Brooklyn Dodgers are set to sell veteran third baseman Billy Cox for $50,000 to one of two American League clubs — Baltimore or Cleveland. E. J. (Buzzie) Bavasi, Dodger vice president, also has asked for a couple of minor league farmhands.

The inter-league transaction, in all likelihood, will be consummated at the major league meetings in New York next week. The only current hitch is Brooklyn's inability to get waivers on Cox. It is believed, however, that because of the fancy figure, the Dodgers will receive "gentleman waivers" on the player.

The Dodgers and Cincinnati Reds also were getting closer to completing a player trade that would involve outfielder Jimmy Greengrass or Wally Post and catcher E. C. Bailey of the Reds and second baseman Junior Gilliam and a second-line pitcher from the Dodgers.

Only a matter of $25,000 stood between the Western League and the St.Louis Cardinals from concluding a pact that would transfer the Redbirds' Columbus American Assn. franchise to Omaha.

In a secret meeting with St.Louis representatives Thursday, the Western League reduced its demand for damages on the release of Omaha from $100,000 to $60,000. The Cards countered with an offer of $35,000.

The most important piece of legislation passed Thursday was the amendment to ban commercial broadcasts and telecasts of baseball games on stations outside a club's home territory. This, of course, was subject to approval by the majors.

Uclans to Receive First Rice Award

NEW YORK (INS) — UCLA's undefeated Pacific Coast champions have been named to receive Look Magazine's 1st Grantland Rice award, symbolic of the national collegiate football championship.

The Bruins were designated by the Football Writers Association of America to receive the specially designed trophy, which was instituted to honor the memory of the late sportswriter. Coach Henry "Red" Sanders will accept the award at a banquet tonight.

Briggs Will Head Old Newsboys Drive

DETROIT (AP)—Walter O. (Spike) Briggs, Jr., president of the Detroit Tigers Baseball club, will head up Detroit's "old newsboys" charity newspaper sales this Christmas season.

Briggs will be inducted as president of the Old Newsboys Goodfellow Fund Dec. 13.

Tall Buckeye Tackle

Ohio State football team's tallest man for the 1954 season was Jack Verhoff, 19, a 6-4 tackle.

Hilltoppers, Aggies, Niagara, Illini 5, Win

By ORLO ROBERTSON
The Associated Press

Names familiar to college basketball fans when tournament picking time rolls around appeared prominently on the winning side of the scores Thursday.

There was Western Kentucky, the nation's eighth-ranked team last year, champions of the Ohio Valley and fourth in the National Invitation Tournament. Also 10th-ranked Oklahoma Aggies, kingpin of the Missouri Valley and Niagara's Purple Eagles, third in the NIT.

Alongside them were such annually potent powers as Illinois and DePaul.

Western Kentucky downed Gustavus Adolphus 90-79, Oklahoma Aggies turned back Howard Payne 81-44 with second-stringers playing much of the game. Niagara had no trouble with Buffalo State, winning 81-60 while DePaul romped over Kalamazoo 98-46 and Illinois did the same against Butler, 88-34.

For Western Kentucky it was the Hilltoppers 62nd consecutive home-court victory. Lynn Cole, one of the two holdovers from last year's frontline crew, averaged better than a point a minute as he scored 31 points in 28 minutes after sitting on the bench for the first 10 minutes.

Coach Hank Iba used 14 men, with 12 breaking into the scoring column as the highly regarded Cowboys of Oklahoma A&M took a 44-22 lead against Howard Payne and then coasted home.

Niagara, rated highly again this season, started slowly against Buffalo State but by the end of the first half had the game under control by a 34-21 score.

DePaul's victory over Kalamazoo was the 96th straight on its home court. Coach Ray Meyer used all 14 members of his Blue Demon squad with Ron Sobieszczyk topping the scorers with 16 points.

Joining the name teams in the victory column Thursday night were such title contenders a Baylor, South Carolina, Wake Forest, Tulsa, Houston and Arizona.

Fans Bombard Saxton, Fuentes

By BOB MYERS

LOS ANGELES (AP)—It isn't fair to knock two guys who tried to make something out of nothing for 10 rounds, but the fact remains that the non-title welterweight match between the champion, Johnny Saxton, and the No. 3 challenger, Ramon Fuentes, Thursday night was honestly fought, close and filled with unexcitement.

It also eliminated any public clamor for a return match for the title, for at the finish both guys were in danger of getting hit with wadded up paper cups sent flying by an impatient gallery.

The boxing bout was a tug of war, without much war. There were no knockdowns. But somehow or other Saxton wound up with his right eye swollen the size of a walnut — Texas nut, that is — and Fuentes, the local ex-grave-digger, nursed a split at his right eye.

Active Season Ahead for City's Archery Devotees

Opening a very busy December, Pontiac Archers association will engage in a 28-target outdoor shoot, Sunday, Dec. 5, at the club range in Pontiac Lake Recreation area. Competition begins at 10 a. m. The range is located on Maceday Lake road.

Beginners' instruction classes start Dec. 7 at 7 p. m. at the city hangar, in the Municipal Airport. All equipment is furnished and any one may join.

Because of the resignation of president Dick Dunlap, because of business pressure, the club will meet Dec. 15 at the CAI hall to name a successor for the unexpired term

Other activities for the month include the annual kiddies Christmas party, Dec. 18 at the indoor range. Hannah Hedges, special events captain, should be informed of the number of members' children planning attendance.

League shooting begins first week in January. Archers wishing to enter the feature should register not later than Dec. 27 with LeRoy Addison.

'Davids' Entertain Fans at Avondale

House of David's basketball team and Pontiac's Shaw's Jewelers meet Saturday night in a return engagement in Avondale High School at Auburn Heights with proceeds going to the school's lighted athletic field fund.

Game will be at 8 p.m. in the Avondale High gymnasium following a preliminary at 7 between the Avondale faculty and a Pontiac team. The teams met at Ortonville High last night and the bearded House of David quintet clowned its way to a 82-54 victory.

100-Yard Return

Dusty Rice of Iowa ran a kickoff for an even 100 yards in a game played against Purdue in 1951.

Injury-Ridden SMU Team Still Confident

Not Impressed by Rambler's Shining Record

By JOE BENHAM

DALLAS (AP) — Southern Methodist's Mustangs — loaded with injuries and memories of past meetings with Notre Dame — were a crippled but confident football team as they finished preparations for tomorrow's game with the Irish.

The Mustangs, second-place finishers in this year's Southwest Conference race, meet the perennial kings of the nation's independents Saturday in what local fans are beginning to regard as almost another Cotton Bowl game.

SMU will enter the game minus two of its top four backs, quarterback Duane Nutt and halfback Don McIlhenny. Nutt, senior leader in passing, punting and ball-carrying for the Mustangs, went out of the Texas Christian clash last week with a broken collar bone. McIlhenny was one of the better runners and defensive men when a kidney injury took him out a month ago.

Coach Chalmer Woodard had the team behind locked gates most of the week, grooming junior John Roach as Nutt's replacement.

But while the team has had its physical troubles, morale has been a high spot.

To put it plainly, the Ponies are not overly impressed with the sparkling Notre Dame record. They have a we've-played-'em-before attitude.

Nor has the loss of Nutt and McIlhenny sent spirits low.

For one of the legends of the Dallas school is the 1949 SMU-Notre Dame game here. That was the year that Doak Walker — the fabulous Doaker who loped his way to All-America rating three years in a row — sat injured on the bench to watch an underdog Mustang team run Notre Dame ragged before the Irish pulled out a 27-20 victory.

That was the year of Kyle Rote, who came out of the shadow of Walker's brilliance to score all 20 points for SMU and gain 115 yards.

'M' Swimmers, Divers in AAU Gala Event Tonight

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Two brand new Michigan coaches will display their aquatic athletes tonight in the annual Michigan AAU swim gala.

Michigan's new swimming coach, Gus Stager, who came from Dearborn Fordson High School to replace Matt Mann, will have a dazzling list of talent on hand.

And his diving coach, Bruce Harlan, former national diving champion at Ohio State, will have some top-flight performers in diving, where Michigan has been perpetually weak.

Seven championships are at stake in men's and women's competition under Amateur Athletic Union's rules.

Michigan's returning varsity swimmers are expected to dominate the men's events. Among them are the versatile Wardrop twins from Scotland, free-styler Ron Gora, all-stroker Bumpy Jones of Pontiac and breast stroker Mike Delaney.

Gora was a member of the 1952 Olympic team. Jones is a holder of many records, including the world's mark of 5:29 for the 400-yard individual medley.

Midwest Boasts Top Backs

By BOB HOOBING
The Associated Press

The bountiful Midwest and Pacific Coast offer the majority of All-America backfield candidates this year — like Ralph Guglielmi, Alan Ameche, Howard Cassady, Paul Larson, Bob Davenport and George Shaw.

In fact, the Midwest All-America board has come up with more players in their own area than there's room for in any one backfield.

Quarterbacks Guglielmi of Notre Dame and Len Dawson of Purdue, halfbacks Cassady of Ohio State and Bob McNamara of Minnesota and fullbacks Ameche of Wisconsin and Hubert Bobo of Ohio State all received strong support from their area.

Oregon's George Shaw and California's Paul Larson, a pair of field generals who rank 1-2 nationally in total offense, wound up on the first all PCC team and are among the leading nominees. Reports from the Pacific slopes indicate that Davenport, of UCLA's unbeaten, untied Bruins, is as fine a fullback as there is in the land.

And from Southern Cal's Rose Bowl-bound Trojans comes halfback Lindon Crow.

Rice halfback Dick Moegle capped a great year by scoring two touchdowns, one on a 91-yard punt return, as the Owls knocked Baylor out of a possible Southwest Conference first-place tie. Another big Southwest name if fullback Henry Moore, workhorse of regional champion Arkansas.

In the East, Army's Pete Vann and West Virginia's Freddie Wyant proved master ball handlers at quarterback for their respective teams. Penn State junior halfback Lenny Moore and Boston University fullback Sam Pino have been rated tops as runners.

Hunter Takes Pot Shot, Hits, Kills His Decoy

A local duck hunter went down to the Sangamon River one morning before daylight. He set out his decoys and waited for 6 a.m. when he could legally shoot any ducks that might appear.

The time came. The hunter saw a duck. Bam!

Estimate Deer Kill at 9,000

LANSING (AP) — An estimated 9,000 deer were killed during Wednesday's "any deer" season in the northern part of the Lower Peninsula the conservation department said today.

About 43,000 hunters took advantage of the season, the department said. This was 6,000 fewer than had been estimated.

Hunting conditions were generally good, sportsmen agreed. A light snow covered much of the special season area, although a crust on the snow made movement noisy.

Conservation officials had looked for a kill of from 12,000 to 14,000 deer. This was based on the theory that 49,000 hunters would use their special season permits.

Wednesday's special season could be the last in Michigan.

There has been much agitation in the northern Lower Peninsula to end the "any deer" season. Many sportsmen claim it has seriously depleted the herd there.

Bowling Clinic

By BILLY SIXTY

CASE—Topheavy at Line..

Adolph (Swede) Carlson, former world match champion, gave me a very helpful tip some years ago that I've since used in teaching.

I had trouble dumping the ball, releasing it too quickly. Teammates told me only about what was obvious—that I was stopping too abruptly. But why? Carlson had the answer: "You are topheavy. Top half of the body is too far forward. More slide is the simple correction."

sufficiently. The sliding left leg is ahead of the body, which is balanced about midway between the feet as the swinging ball catches up with the sliding leg.

Defending State Champions Set Sights on 2nd Victory

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Muskegon Heights, defending Class A champion, shoots for its 2nd straight victory tonight as Michigan's high school basketball season gains momentum.

Muskegon Heights boasts the nucleus of the squad which swept 20 of 21 games last season. Heading the returnees are M. C. Burton, a gifted center, and Lee Hartman and Jim McMurray.

Meanwhile, Class B champion—River Rouge—gets a key test right off the bat, meeting formidable Highland Park. Last year, Highland Park rolled undefeated through the regular season and moved into the semifinals of the state tournament, where the Parkers lost to Muskegon Heights.

In another top game, Jackson visits Lansing Sexton, a six-A league power which has won 44 of its last 47 games. Jackson, however, has proved to be a stumbling block for Sexton.

Ann Arbor and Kalamazoo—both in the rebuilding state—meet in another Six-A League game. Coach Ed Klum of Ann Arbor says he is "reasonably satisfied" with the progress of his team, but fears it may lack depth. Similarily, Kalamazoo will floor a less experienced team than usual.

It's Time Out!

Upset of the evening's play was Patty Short's win over city women's champion, Carol Ryan, 21-19, 22-20. Another outstanding match saw Dick Kuhn trip Marty Kabcenell, 21-17, 12-21, 21-18.

High-Priced Runnerup

MIAMI (AP) — The longest-priced mutuel payoff in the history of Hialeah race track was not on a winner. It was the $971.10 paid to place by Baal who ran second in a race on Feb. 4, 1932.

Hunters Qualification Program Is Started

SARANAC LAKE, N. Y. (UP)—The Paul Smith's Fish and Game Club and the Paul Smith's College have started a program that may insure fewer careless hunting accidents in the future.

Both groups are jointly sponsoring a junior hunter training program for young men, and women, who are about to apply for their first hunting license.

Under guidance of trained instructors, the students get classroom courses in the proper handling of firearms and study the state's game laws and regulations.

Field training also is on the program and the would-be hunter must prove his ability to handle a rifle properly. This, plus a written examination, qualifies him for a license.

Another Old Tradition

BOSTON (UP) — Hurricanes in Massachusetts made big headlines this year, but it was in 1635 that one of the terrors first crashed the front page of Bay State newspaper. A mid-August edition of that year's Plymouth Plantation told how a "mighty storm of wind and rain tore at the town of Plymouth, knocking down houses, sinking ships, and uprooting great trees."

Increased Pay for Jobless Object of 3-Way Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — A three-way drive is shaping up for next year to increase unemployment compensation, with employers footing the higher bill.

Secretary of Labor Mitchell disclosed this week a new Eisenhower administration plea to state governors to get their legislatures to enlarge the amount and duration of jobless pay to idle workers.

Labor unions are spearheading a second phase. Doubtful that state legislatures will act, some unions are seeking through collective bargaining to get employers to supplement present state jobless pay.

A third effort will come in Congress. A dominantly Democratic group of lawmakers there plans to renew efforts to set federal standards which would require the states to raise their benefit levels.

Early this year Eisenhower called on the states to hike benefit payments and lengthen their duration, saying that giving laid-off workers partial pay during involuntary idleness would bolster purchasing power during periods of economic stress.

Only three states—California, Michigan and Virginia—did anything about it. They raised benefits, but to a lesser extent than had been suggested.

Present unemployment insurance is part of federal Social Security laws. Run by states, benefits vary but the federal government provides administrative costs.

The average state payment now is about $25 a week to the jobless workers. This compares with an average factory worker earning of more than $70 weekly. State maximum payments for unemployment range from $20 to $33 per week for periods from 16 to 26½ weeks.

Mitchel suggested that every state make its payments continue for 26 weeks, or half a year.

The duration is less than that in more than 50 per cent of the states now and Mitchell's letters disclosed that during the first nine months of this year, more than 1,300,000 workers collected all the jobless money they had coming and still were without new jobs.

The jobless pay system, as originally established, contemplated a 3 per cent payroll tax on employers. Experience rating provisions in state laws, giving discounts to the steadier employer, have resulted in an actual tax on the whole of less than 2 per cent.

Most states have substantial unemployment insurance reserves, but hiking benefits and duration inevitably would mean employers would have to raise their contributions.

Pastor Building Church Almost Singlehanded

LAKE PLACID, N. Y. — Bad weather and adversity have not kept the Rev. Donald J. Hardy from working to rebuild his fire-gutted Pilgrim Holiness Church.

Almost daily since Feb. 18 he has been at work. Although he often finds himself alone on the job, Rev. Hardy said, "I don't consider myself any hero; this is my work."

The plucky minister's carpentering experience has come in quite handy. But half of the congregation's $10,000 fund is depleted and the major expenses of heating and insulation lie ahead.

Hundreds of persons and many organizations in Lake Placid have contributed towards the Swiss-style church's restoration. Businessmen donated machinery for the building of the foundation.

Market Reflects Wheat Stability

CHICAGO (AP)—Firmness in wheat found reflection in a steady tone in other pits on the Board of Trade today. Dealings were again fairly active.

Prospects of additional export business and continued dry weather in the Southwest combined to encourage demand for wheat. Corn lagged in early dealings as cash corn receipts expanded to 245 cars.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was ⅝ to ⅝ higher, December $2.27⅞; corn ⅛ lower to ⅛ higher, December 1.56⅞; oats ⅛ lower to ⅛ higher, December 82½; rye ½ lower to ⅛ higher, December 1.23½; soybeans ½ to 1½ higher, January 2.81¾; lard 15 to 32 cents a hundred pounds higher, December 14.52.

Tripled Output Eyed by Firm

Studebaker - Packard Reveals New Models at Press Showing

DETROIT (AP) — The Studebaker - Packard Corp. plans to build and sell 300,000 passenger cars in 1955.

James J. Nance, corporation president, told a news conference yesterday at a preview of the 1955 Packards that production plans call for 200,000 Studebaker and 100,000 Packard models.

Nance predicted the auto industry would build 5,600,000 cars next year.

The 1955 Studebaker models were introduced several weeks ago. The Packards will be presented Jan. 5.

So far this year the combined output of Studebaker and Packard passenger cars comes to some 105,000 units.

Nance said Packard will have the most powerful engine with the highest compression ratio in the industry for 1955. He declined to say, however, what the ratings are.

New in the 1955 Packard line, Nance said, will be:

Entirely new V-8 engines; new twin Ultramatic transmission; new torsion bar suspension and new styling inside and out.

Nance was optimistic about the corporation's 1955 prospects. He said the consolidation of the two old line companies last Oct. 1, provided a car maker with a full line of cars in four price lines — low, low-medium, medium and high price.

It also gave the company a total of more than 4,000 dealer outlets he said.

Old Brewery Suggested as Center for Alcoholics

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — An advisory committee has recommended the city set up a 15-bed alcoholic rehabilitation center in buildings once used as a brewery.

The committee recommended that some of the buildings purchased recently from the Peter Fox Brewing Co. of Chicago be fitted out for the treatment of alcoholics.

The cost of the whole program was estimated at $51,000.

Tobaccos Lead Heavy Trade

NEW YORK (AP)—Tobaccos made outstanding progress today in the stock market in early dealings. Trading was heavy.

The tobaccos were strong yesterday, and they continued to improve today. Liggett & Myers opened on 7,000 shares up 1⅜ at 64⅞, Philip Morris 3,600 up 1 at 40¾, American Tobacco 9,300 up 2 at 64¾, and Reynolds Tobacco "B" 6,000 up ⅞ at 44¼.

There was profit-taking in the recently strong aircrafts. Boeing was down ⅜ at 69⅛ on a block of 2,000 shares, and Sperry lost ½ at 42⅛ on 1,000 shares. United Aircraft, however, traded at 74 up 1⅝.

Merritt-Chapman & Scott, key company in a consolidation of the Louis E. Wolfson interest, started on 12,000 shares unchanged at 25½ and then backed down. New York shipbuilding opened on 7,500 shares up ⅛ at 24½ and then lost ground. Both were strong yesterday on the initial announcement.

Yesterday's stock market was sharply higher, breaking a two-day losing streak. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up $1.30 at $147.60, only a short distance away from the 1954 high which matched the average for Oct. 10, 1929.

LANSING (AP)—The State Municipal Finance Commission asked Atty. Gen. Frank G. Millard today to clarify the effect on local bonding procedures of the State Supreme Court's recent decision requiring use of the state equalized valuation for property tax purposes.

Secretary Lottie C. Many asked these questions:

Trial Board Hearing Postponed for Week

A trial board hearing against four Pontiac policemen last night was adjourned until the board's chairman, Thurlow L. Harsen, returns from a business trip, according to James J. McCarthy, vice chairman.

McCarthy said the hearing date against the officers will be set when Harsen returns next week.

The four policemen are accused of false arrest and assault and battery of Oliver Tademy, 49, of 268 W. Wilson Ave. Tademy was arrested during an early morning vice raid near his home Sept. 26.

Tademy was found guilty Nov. 4 of being drunk and disorderly and was fined $5 by Pontiac Municipal Judge Cecil McCallum.

During the court trial, the officers admitted they forcibly arrested Tademy when he resisted after attempting to enter the raided building at 310 W. Wilson Ave.

His attorney, Milton R. Henry, said the officers' action violated the Fourth Amendment to the Constitution, which guarantees an individual's rights agains "unreasonable searches and seizures."

Tademy denies he was entering the building when the officers arrested him.

Manufacturers Pick President

New Jersey Executive to Head National Group Next Year

NEW YORK (AP) — A tall, soft spoken New Jersey industrialist who began his business career in a brokerage house at the age of 16 is the new president of the National Assn. of Manufacturers.

Henry G. Riter III, 62, president of Thomas A. Edison, Inc. West Orange, N. J., was chosen at the NAM's annual convention last night to succeed H. C. McClellan, president of Old Colony Paint & Chemical Co., Los Angeles, Calif.

McClellan, in a speech prepared for delivery before 3,000 industrialists at a closing day session, issued a call for a "new approach to peace, based on practical, helpful cooperation with other countries through human contact."

Reviewing his travels as NAM president both in the United States and abroad, McClellan reported: "I have yet to find one person who did not abhor the very thought of another war . . . Military aims in every one of the countries I have visited were spoken of only in terms of defense, and even then, only as a necessary evil."

The three-day convention ends tonight with an address by Clarence B. Randall, special consultant to the president on foreign economic policy, at the annual dinner.

Four years ago he became president of Thomas A. Edison, Inc., a firm organized years before to produce Edison's inventions. The company, with 3,400 employes, makes a variety of products from electronic test equipment to juvenile furniture.

Producer-Actor's Daughter Pursues Career

Blonde Actress Has Experience

Elizabeth Montgomery Is 21 and Married, Attended Academy

NEW YORK—At 21, Elizabeth Montgomery finds herself a leading lady on many of television's outstanding dramatic programs.

As one of the players on her father's "Summer stock" television company, during July, August and September, she added to her stature as an actress.

To her acting assignments, she bring an unusual degree of beauty, charm and brains. The daughter of the prominent TV executive producer, film and TV star, Elizabeth comes by her talent through a favorable combination of inheritance and inspiration.

Born on April 15, 1933, in Los Angeles, Miss Montgomery attended the West Lake School for Girls for 11 years. In her junior year of high school, she moved to New York to attend the Spence School, from which she was graduated in June, 1951.

A summer visitor from the West Coast to her father's farm in Dutchess County, New York, Elizabeth honestly admits perference for the East, where she contends "so many exciting things are happening and the opportunities are so much greater."

After completing the course of study there, Elizabeth made a successful network debut at 18, appropriately cast as her father's daughter in an espionage drama titled "Top Secret," on Robert Montgomery Presents.

In recent years her summers have been spent learing, rehearsing and acting a new part each week on TV's first permanent stock company. Her winters have been spent appearing on such programs as Armstrong's Circle Theater and Kraft Television Theatre. In between, she had appeared on Broadway in the play, "Late Love." She readily admits that her severest critic is Daddy, to whom all of showbusiness is familiar.

Using make-up sparingly, Elizabeth prefers tailored clothes (she can wear size 7 or 9) or suits of blue or green for day wear, but goes all out for the frothiest, most feminine evening clothes, which she carries superbly on her trim 5-foot, 4½ inch frame.

She is no duffer with the hockey stick, and has acquired a number of ribbons for expert horsemanship. On the tennis courts, however, she bows her head in defeat to her father. English literature and things historical comprise her favorite reading matter.

On March 27, 1954, she was married to Frederic Cammann, television stage manager. The couple lives in Manhattan.

Vogeler Says U.S. Must Call Red Bluff

DETROIT (AP) — Robert Vogeler, an American businessman held prisoner for 17 months by the Communists in Hungary, says America must call the "bluff" of the Iron Curtan countries or "risk losing our national honor."

In a lecture sponsored by the Assistance League of Bon Secours Hspital in Grosse Pointe, Vogler said the United States must demand and obtain the release of 13 Americans recently convicted by the Chinese Reds as "spies."

"We must determine whether we can allow the outlaw nations to seize and destroy Americans one by one until they destroy us all," Vogler said.

He said Moscow and Peiping have been bluffing and "it is time that bluff be called."

Vogler said the United States must take "a calculated" risk of war in dealing with the Communist nations.

Road Commission Head Is Attending Meeting

Oakland County Road Commission Engineer - Manager Leon V. Belknap is attending a meeeting of the Michigan Turnpike Authority today at the Book-Cadillac Hotel in Detroit.

Representatives from all counties through which the proposed north-south toll road will pass were asked to attend the meeting by Authority Chairman William E. Slaughter Jr.

SCALLOPS BONANZA — Residents of Duxbury, Mass., across the bay from Plymouth, unload a bonanza catch of scallops directly from boats to trucks on beach. Over $1,000 a day has been earned by townspeople raking the bivalves from Clark's Island area, first spot in the bay where Pilgrims landed, a week before Plymouth Rock. This is the biggest run of bay scallops ever known north of Cape Cod and experts say it is because ocean is becoming warmer. Catch of four bushels daily at about $4.25 a bushel is limited to local residents.

Church Council Talks Ending

Protestants Pray for Recovery of Pope Pius, Draw Cold War Plans

BOSTON (AP)—The biennial General Assembly of the National Council of Churches, representing 35½ million Protestant and orthodox church members, sums up today with a closing message expounding a Christian view of world problems.

Methodist Bishop Gerald H. Kennedy of Los Angeles, chairman of the message committee, presented for discussion a draft dealing with such questions as the struggle between the free world and communism, the battle for an enduring peace, the need of vigilence to maintain our liberties and how best to achieve desegregation.

The gathering, representing a major portion of American Protestantism, called a dramatic halt in its proceedings yesterday to offer prayers for the recovery of Pope Pius XII, head of the Roman Catholic Church, which is not represented in the council.

Some 1,200 delegates stood in silence with heads bowed after they were informed by the council's new president - elect, Dr. Eugene Carson Blake of Philadelphia, of "the illness, the serious illness, of His Holiness, Pope Pius XII."

Dr. Blake, top administrator of the Presbyterian Church in the United States was elected unanimously yesterday. One of the foremost theologians of his denomination, Dr. Blake has been active in national and world interdenominational Christian movements.

We know, because we've heard scores of people do it. People who have never had time to learn music. People who were sure they couldn't play because they'd tried other instruments and found them too difficult. Young and old, this is what they say: "It's so easy to play the Chord Organ."

Student From India Is Learning to Walk

EAST LANSING (AP) — Sankar Chari, the Indian exchange student whose long fast became a matter of international concern, is learning to walk on crutches these days at the Michigan State College hospital.

Chari had a leg amputated when he was severely burned in a laboratory fire. Despondent, he refused food for three weeks and was near death before he broke his fast when a brother was flown to his bedside from India.

Chari started getting around the Hospital, first with the aid of a walkher and leater on crutches. He soon will be fitted with an artificial leg.

Hopeful now about the future, the Indian student plans to resume study for his doctorate degree in physics and has the eventual goal of a university teaching position in India.

Radio Ham's Mobile Set Used to Call Rescuers

Watson was sitting in his car chatting with another ham when high winds felled a tree and several 2,300-watt power lines on the automobile.

The other radio enthusiast happened to be Deputy Sheriff Robert Pendleton, who immediately sent help to the scene when Watson told him what had happened.

Power was shut off in the area and Watson was extricated from his car without serious injury. .
