

Of Mass Destruction U.N. Outlaws Space Arms

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (P)—The U.N. General Assembly today outlawed the orbiting of nuclear weapons and other weapons of mass destruction in outer space.

The unanimous action of the 111-nation assembly was hailed by U. S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson and Soviet Ambassador Nikolai T. Fedorenko as an important step toward further disarmament.

The approved resolution was an outgrowth of talks between Soviet, U. S. and British foreign ministers in New York during the early weeks of the assembly session.

It is not binding in a legal sense, but the United States and the Soviet Union both welcomed the action and thereby accepted the U. N. ban.

Just before the resolution was adopted, by acclamation, Fedorenko told the assembly the Soviet government was ready to take the necessary steps to prohibit orbiting of nuclear weapons.

He noted that the United States and the Soviet Union had agreed on the ban in advance and declared adoption of the resolution would "be an important further step toward the reduction of international tensions."

Stevenson said it is the intention of the United States to "keep this newly explored environment of outer space free of these dread weapons." He, too, expressed belief that the measure would help reduce tensions.

Mexican delegate Luis Padilla Nervo, who originally introduced the resolution in the assembly's main political committee Tuesday night, compared it in importance to the limited nuclear test ban which has just come into effect.

The resolution solemnly calls upon all countries to refrain from placing "in orbit around the earth any objects carrying nuclear weapons or any other kind of weapons of mass destruction."

It also bans installation of such weapons on celestial bodies or stationing them in outer space in any other way.

Two Satellites Check Testing

America Watches for Sneak Experiments

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI)—Two top-secret U. S. satellites were reported "working perfectly" today as they traveled in orbits toward final stations 60,000 miles high to patrol for clandestine nuclear tests in space.

The two 485-pound satellites rode into the sky one atop the other in the nose of a silver Atlas-Agena rocket — the opening shot in a tightly guarded, five-shot program variously called "Vela Hotel," "Vela High Altitude" and simply "Project 823."

The launching was one of the most deadly accurate ever made by the veteran Atlas-Agena, and informed sources said today radio signals from the satellites indicated that both were "working perfectly."

The initial blast by the two-stage rocket hurled the moonlets into highly elliptical, or oval-shaped, orbits with peak altitudes of about 60,000 miles.

The next critical step ahead was to fire small, solid-fueled rocket motors on each satellite, to "kick" it into a nearly circular orbit at the 60,000-mile level and keep it from sliding back toward earth.

Afro-Asians Peril Bid by Detroit

BADEN-BADEN, Germany (AP)—Thirteen Afro-Asian nations called on the International Olympic Committee today to stage the 1968 games "in a city which will avoid a long and difficult journey" for them.

Four cities—Detroit, Buenos Aires, Mexico City and Lyon, France—are trying to land the 1968 Games.

Immediately, observers here suggested this was something that could make Lyon an even stronger favorite for the 1968 Games.

There is considerable lobbying going on. And out of the blue came the petition from the 13 nations.

The countries were Senegal, Mali, Algeria, Chad, Cameroun, Ivory Coast, Congo, Ghana, United Arab Republic, Afghanistan, Libya, Tunisia and Jordan.

LIMITED FUNDS

The petition pointed out that the countries concerned were limited in the amount of money they could spend, that the journey to Tokyo for the 1964 Olympics involved a lot of traveling and that the IOC wanted as many countries as possible in the Olympics.

Then the letter added: "The young Afro-Asian states petition that the 1968 Olympic Games be organized in a city which will avoid a long and difficult journey for them."

Mustafa Rifaat, president of the United Arab Republic Olympic Committee, said: "All we are doing is trying to make it easy for us to participate in the Olympics."

"We have not suggested that any of the four cities should stage the games. All we want is to take part in the games on a restricted budget."

Only Egypt has a vote on the International Olympic Committee out of the 13 countries involved in the petition.

AMBASSADOR'S GREETING—President Tito of Yugoslavia is greeted on arrival yesterday at Langley Air Force Base in Virginia by George F. Kennan (back to camera), former U.S. ambassador to Russia—and later to Yugoslavia. Behind Tito is his wife.

With Red-Carpet

JFK Welcomes Tito

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Tito of Communist Yugoslavia was given a red-carpet welcome to the White House today—six years after a similar event was planned, then canceled because of mass protests.

President Kennedy, greeting the portly Yugoslav leader, said it was "most important" that countries separated by an ocean and with differences in political philosophy try to know the policies of the nations of the world to lessen the danger of war.

"I take great pleasure in welcoming you to the United States," said Kennedy, who added he was certain Tito would be "warmly and hospitably treated" during a 10-day tour of the nation.

Tito, wearing sunglasses to shield his eyes from the bright sun, read—in halting English—a response in which he said he looked forward to "frank exchanges of views" on world problems of concern to both governments.

PRIVATE TALKS

Kennedy arranged to spend about 2 1/2 hours in private talks with Tito during the day. The sessions were in addition to a luncheon arranged by Kennedy in Tito's honor.

Tito was last in the United States in 1959, to attend the General Assembly of the United Nations. Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower met him there, but did not invite him to Washington.

While Tito was being greeted at a 15-minute military ceremony on the south lawn of the White House, scores of pickets paraded—out of his sight—on Pennsylvania Avenue with banners labeling the Yugoslav president a murderer and dictator.

The pickets had marched in front of the White House earlier, but were shooed a block away when Tito arrived.

The pickets described themselves as Americans of Serbian and Croatian descent.

There was no official agenda for the Kennedy-Tito talk. But officials acknowledge privately they are particularly interested in what Tito thinks of the Sino-Soviet dispute—and where it may lead.

In making the visit here short and in choosing the places Tito will see after he leaves Washington, the administration had to weigh carefully domestic political implications, informants said. Except for Khrushchev, who was here in 1959, Tito is the only Communist head of state to have been invited to Washington.

Tomorrow and Saturday Tito will make a leisurely tour of the Yosemite National Park in California, then visit San Francisco on Gov. Edmund G. Brown's invitation. Tito is due in New York Tuesday to address the U.N. General Assembly.

Seek Warrant in Car Incident

Waterford Township police today will seek a warrant charging assault with intent to commit murder against a Waterford Township man charged with running his car over another township resident at 12:45 a.m. today.

Victim of the incident, Michael Bollman, 19, of 4862 Payton, is in fair condition at Pontiac General Hospital with multiple fractures and abrasions.

Expected to be charged is Duane Pearson, 25, of 4148 Elizabeth Lake. Pearson said he could not remember running over Bollman.

Police said the incident occurred in a field behind 6645 Pontiac Lake. Bollman and Pearson were drinking beer in Pearson's parked car, the police said.

Bollman told police that Pearson suddenly became belligerent and wanted to fight.

Slayton Quitting Air Force

WASHINGTON (P)—Maj. Donald K. Slayton, the astronaut who missed by a couple of heartbeats being one of the first Americans to vault into space, is quitting the Air Force to try to win his space wings as a civilian.

Slayton, 39, is understood to have taken the step because the Air Force grounded him for an erratic heart rate although the National Aeronautics and Space Administration has assured him of flying status.

A NASA spokesman said that Slayton, who was the only one of the seven pioneer astronauts not to ride into space, will be allowed to take part in missions as long as he is with someone else.

This would clear the way for "Duke" to get off the ground in the program aiming to land an American on the moon.

Urban Renewal 'Miracle'

Green Trees From Red Tape

By DICK SAUNDERS

How do you plant 132 trees in an urban renewal project?

If you're a local urban renewal official you:

- Create a 66-page tree plan and proposal.
- Sneak out some 410 contract items in detail.
- Throw in some maps and drawings.

—Appropriately blind the documents in a forest green folder.

Mail it off to Chicago and pray that the federal urban renewal officials will approve it. Pontiac urban renewal officials did just that early this month.

The federal men just approved it and the city's advertising for a tree planter.

If nothing else, this little tale of how to plant trees should give the average citizen some idea of the vast complexities involved in an urban renewal program.

APPROVAL FIRST

Nearly every move taken locally in urban renewal must first be approved by federal urban renewal officials.

When one takes into consideration all the financial and physical aspects of urban renewal, the amount of in-depth red tape and paper work is staggering.

Detailed contract specifications in the tree plan include watering, wrapping, staking, planting, condition, size, location and type of trees.

The federal men even had to put their stamp of approval on an item that reads "Soil Ratio: 1 part peat to 2 parts soil and 10 pounds cattle manure."

The planting area involved is bounded by South Paddock, Auburn, Osmon and the perimeter road. It is one of several areas marked for tree-planting, for which more plans will have to be drawn in the future.

To someone who never gets closer to botany than his lawn mower, the names of trees to be planted would be somewhat confusing.

Little Leaf Linden, for example, isn't a small hockey player from Toronto (Maple Leafs).

Little Leaf Linden is "a fine proportioned tree" exhibiting "yellowish flowers which abound in honey" when it's in bloom. The plan calls for a dozen.

There will be 10 Skyline Locusts planted.

Other types and the amounts to be planted are Columnar Norway Maple, 9; London Plane, 22; Thornless Honeylocust, 19; Marshall's Green Ash, 20; Norway Maple, 18; and Bowhall's Scarlet Maple, 22.

Pleasant Weather to Remain in Area

October's bright blue weather will remain in the Pontiac area through Saturday, the weatherman said.

The prediction calls for high temperatures climbing to near 80 and the lows dropping to 54.

Light southerly winds south to southwest at 2 to 12 miles per hour today will continue tonight and tomorrow.

Sixty was the lowest temperature in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. The thermometer at 2 p.m. stood at 80.

Action Urged

Tax Plan at Standstill

LANSING (AP) — Pressure mounted on the legislature today to get moving on tax reform, but, with bills tied up in committee and awaiting amendments, Gov. George Romney's program appeared at a virtual standstill.

Over the protests of Democrats and some Republicans, lawmakers went into another five-day recess — the fourth break since the special session began Sept. 11.

House Speaker Allison Green, R-Kingston, summed up the situation by saying Romney's program is on a "dead center" and there is little prospect for action until Republicans can develop a unified position on needed compromises.

RESTS WITH ROMNEY

Green added that, as far as he is concerned, leadership in settling intra-party disagreements rests with Romney and the Senate, and the House is not prepared to make the first move.

Democrats gripped openly about being forced to sit idly by, waiting, while Republicans sought answers. But the minority party also showed the only signs of real activity.

Senate Minority Leader Charles Blomdy, D-Detroit, failed in a move today to have all tax bills — including the governor's — reported out to the floor immediately.

HITS 'FOOT DRAGGING'

In the House, Rep. Arthur Cartwright, D-Detroit, called for an end to "foot-dragging" and said he would move next Monday for the House Tax Committee to be discharged from further consideration of Romney bills.

Republicans caucused in both houses yesterday to review details of tax bills but apparently settled nothing. In neither caucus, GOP leaders said, was there a "head count" of support or opposition.

Green, generally regarded as the most powerful single member of the legislature, said Romney's program is stalled and probably will remain so "until we can get up some better communications as to how we're going to proceed."

College Quest Is Continuing

Group Hopes to Get Issue Back on Ballot

The first steps toward a June 8 election on the question of a community college in Oakland County were taken last night with the selection of officers to head up a citizens committee.

Members of the steering committee of the Citizens Advisory Council, board of trustee candidates and interested individuals formed the Community College Citizens Committee (CCC).

Wendell Brown of 29921 Ardmore, Farmington Township, was elected chairman by voice vote of the 25 citizens at the meeting.

Other officers are Mrs. George Mosher, 551 Mohegan, vice chairman; Harold J. Abrams, 100 Alice, secretary; and Cedric V. Fricke, 18158 Westover, Southfield, treasurer.

The citizens committee, made up largely of candidates for the proposed college's board of trustees in the last election, reviewed the results of the college vote last June.

Brown pointed out that the two propositions carried in eight of the 29 county school districts.

He said four districts approved the creation of the junior college, but defeated the one-mill levy to finance it.

"I don't think this was a major defeat," he commented, "and I think we can take the hit next time."

Cold Shoulder for Mme. Nhu

WASHINGTON (UPI)—It was like a scene from an old-fashioned melodrama—but one of the principal characters wasn't there.

Down the quiet tree-shaded street in posh northwest Washington swept the motorcade, a long black limousine in the lead. The line of cars halted in front of the home of former Vietnamese Ambassador Tran Van Chuong.

Out of the limousine stepped Chuong's beautiful daughter, Mme. Ngo Nhu, sometimes described as the "Dragon Lady" of Saigon. At her heels were more than a score of photographers and newsmen.

DENOUNCED HIM

Mme. Nhu had come to see her father. She had denounced him when he quit his post this summer in protest against the actions of his daughter and his government in repressing Buddhists in the Southeast Asian land. He had said he would not see her.

Algeria Denies Peace Accord

No Cease-Fire in War With Morocco

ALGIERS (AP) — Radio Algiers denied today that agreement had been reached at Marrakech on peace talks to end the undeclared war between Algeria and Morocco.

The broadcast contradicted an earlier announcement by Moroccan Information Minister Abdelhad Boutealeb that a cease-fire agreement had been reached "in principle" and only details remained to be worked out.

MARRAKECH, Morocco (UPI)—Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy left aboard a special Moroccan airliner today on her way home from a two-week private vacation that began in a secluded Greek villa and ended 200 miles from a North African border war.

The state-run Algiers station said the chief Algerian negotiator in Marrakech, M'Hammed Yazid, was on his way back to Algiers to report to President Ahmed Ben Bella.

Before leaving Marrakech, Yazid declared: "I have not yet found any solution with my Moroccan brothers," the broadcast said.

"We should achieve results today. There may be a joint statement. Everyone is in agreement for an end to hostilities, but there are still questions of detail to settle."

Boutealeb added that a commission of Algerian and Moroccan officials may meet at Oujda, near the Algerian frontier, to examine problems related to the frontier fighting. He did not elaborate.

Meanwhile, Algerian officials at Colomb-Béchar, Algeria, about 300 miles from the disputed frontier area, said fighting was going on this morning.

Some sources said Algerian troops had taken the offensive.

The sources at Colomb-Béchar, the Algerian base about 250 miles northeast of the battle area, said Algerian forces still held Hassi-Beida and Tinjoub, the desert outposts 900 miles southwest of Algiers around which fighting has raged.

The Algerians also held all wells in the area, the sources reported.

CHANGE HANDS

Hassi-Beida and Tinjoub apparently have changed hands several times since the start of fighting.

Moroccan military headquarters at Marrakech told newsmen last night the fighting was spreading north and south of the two posts.

"We are holding every inch of our territory under heavy fire," a Moroccan colonel told newsmen.

Library's New Service to Aid Club Programs

BIRMINGHAM — Baldwin Public Library has initiated a service designed to aid club program chairmen who are fresh out of programs.

Ideas and inspiration are crammed into the library's new "Program Aids" (PA) file, new ready for use in the reference department.

The file lists an extensive assortment of talks, demonstrations and other types of programs which have been booked for organizations in the Birmingham area during the past several years.

FROM NEWSPAPERS

Data compiled from newspapers and according to general subject area.

While listing in the file does not constitute recommendation by the library, file users may secure further information by contacting club officers or hostesses as noted on the file cards.

Subjects in the PA file run the gamut from birds, babies and book reviews to wigs, wild flowers and world conditions.

The file is a growing one, adapted to the expansion of organizations in the area. The time - saving service will allow many to make use of the area's talent resources.

It will be the second in the fall series of programs for members and guests.

Scheduled are "House" by Charles Eames and "Kaleidoscope" by Alexander Girard.

FORMER STUDENT

"House" takes the viewer through the steel-framed Carmel house of Ray and Charles Eames. The latter is a former Cranbrook student.

The film by Girard deals with color impressions.

"Van Meegeren's Faked Vermeers" is the title of the third film to be shown at the 8:30 p.m. program. The association is located at 1516 S. Cranbrook.

Win Nobel Prize for Nerve Study

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — The 1963 Nobel Prize for Medicine was awarded today to two British researchers and one Australian for their discoveries concerning the operation of nerve cell membranes.

Winners of the $51,158 award were Alan Lloyd Hodgkin, 65, and Andrew Fielding Huxley, 45, both of Cambridge University, England, and Sir John C. Eccles, 66, of Canberra, Australia.

Their citation said they were receiving the prize in recognition and inhibition in the peripheral and central portions of the nerve cell membrane.

Sources said earlier that other top contenders for this year's prize in medicine were Drs. Jonas Salk of Pittsburgh and Albert Sabin of Cincinnati for the development of the antipoliomyelitis vaccines which bear their names.

Dr. William J. Luyten of the University of Minnesota recently discovered the smallest known virus, draft star. It is about 25,000 times fainter than the sun.

Little Relief in Store for Drought-Stricken

CHICAGO (AP) — Prospects appeared today for immediate general relief from the severe drought and forest fires across wide areas in the eastern two-thirds of the nation.

The U.S. Weather Bureau in Washington said the five-day forecast indicated little or no rain. It also said in its 30-day forecast, extending to Nov. 15, that precipitation is expected to continue below normal in the eastern quarter of the nation, except the Southeast.

There was a little ray of sunshine in the Weather Bureau's 30-day forecast. It said above average rainfall was expected in the central section and in most areas west of the Continental Divide and seasonal rains in other parts of the country.

Hundreds of fires are burning in forestlands and woodland areas in the Northeast, with New York State the hardest hit. Fires also have burned over thousands of acres of woodlands in sections of the Midwest and South. The fires have blackened thousands of acres in more than a dozen states. About a dozen forest fires, two of them described as large, swept the drought-stricken Allegheny Mountains of western Pennsylvania Wednesday.

EXTENDED DRY SPELL

The extended spell of dry, mild weather — up to nearly two months in some parts of Indiana — has caused extensive damage to crops and property. No over-all damage estimate was available. But it was expected to total many millions of dollars.

Water supplies dwindled in many areas, including New York City and some other major cities. Restrictions have been ordered in many small communities and in rural areas.

The last trace of rain in New York City watersheds was nearly two weeks ago and last substantial amount was on Sept. 30. City water reservoirs are at 33 per cent of capacity compared to 47 per cent last year and 73 per cent in 1961. Water Department officials are not alarmed but they said the situation could become serious.

Baltimore's water storage is one-third depleted. Two water reservoirs in Indianapolis were reduced to a four-month supply.

In Newark, N.J., officials ordered industry and residents to cut down on use of water.

In Ohio, where more than 200 fires have been reported since Oct. 1, causing an estimated damage of nearly $1 million, 5,000 fire wardens of the Ohio Department of Natural Resources were placed on alert Wednesday. The state has had no measurable rain for 34 days.

Richmond, a town of some 4,000 in east-central Indiana, had its last measurable rainfall on Aug. 19.

Possible County Land-Airport Trade Grounded for Study

By DICK HANSON

A possible swap of county-owned property in Pontiac for Pontiac Municipal Airport failed to get off the ground yesterday.

Charles B. Edwards Jr., chairman of the County Board of Supervisors' aviation committee, proposed forming a joint city-county subcommittee to explore the possibility further.

City Commissioner Loy Ledford pointed out that such a committee had been proposed to the City Commission by county officials a year ago and never met.

"I was and still am one of the commission's appointees to this very committee," he said.

Others appointed by the City Commission were Commissioner Charles Harmon and Homer Hoskins, city airport manager.

Edwards admitted that the county never has appointed three counterpart members to the proposed joint subcommittee.

He said that this will be done within the next few days so that the joint subcommittee can discuss a possible trade and report back to the county's aviation committee in four weeks.

TO LAUNCH STUDY

In the meantime, Edwards said his committee expects to launch its proposed study of over-all aviation needs in the county.

This study, to be conducted by aviation consultants, is expected to show when, where and how airports should be developed in the county, he said.

The City Commission has asked the county to financially assist in a proposed multi-million development of Pontiac Municipal Airport.

Edwards said it wouldn't be known how far the airport should be developed until after the study has been completed. The study, he said, should take about six months.

ALLEN AIRPORT

According to Edwards, the study might show that the county's recently acquired Allen Airport in Orion Township should be developed into the county's major airport.

Harmon replied that "If it works out that Pontiac Municipal should become a secondary airport to a county major airport, we will have to go along with that."

Delos Hamlin, chairman of the County Board of Supervisors, interjected, "I don't think the board is sold an assuming the responsibility for airports." He added that the board might be favorably inclined after the study has been completed.

Harmon said, "I think it's only right that the Board of Supervisors assume its responsibilities for the future development of the area, including airports."

He said the existence of Pontiac Municipal Airport today is due to the foresight of city commissioners as far back as 1926, and that all the city wanted now was to get its equity out of the existing facilities.

"Of course," he added, "We would want to have a say in future airport operations to the extent of the city's 15 per cent of taxes paid annually to the county."

Still to be explored when the subcommittee meets is:

How much will the county offer for Pontiac Municipal Airport in a property swap?

Recent appraisals of property the county has offered for sale in Pontiac amounted to $569,800.

The property includes the former courthouse site at Huron and Saginaw, a five-story office building at 1 Lafayette and 75 vacant acres in north Pontiac.

Hoskins said there hasn't been a recent appraisal of Pontiac Municipal Airport.

However, the city has spent $1.59 million in developing the airport. The federal government has contributed another $1 million and the state $412,000.

Council Study to Get Airing

Meeting Will Review City Traffic Problems

Traffic problems in Pontiac and the means to reduce or eliminate them will be reviewed at a meeting tomorrow of police, community and civic leaders.

Sgt. Michael Sibal, director of the State Police Traffic and Safety Bureau for the Detroit area, will be the guest speaker at the noon program at the Waldron Hotel.

Sibal will present to officials the city's 1962 traffic inventory analysis prepared by the National Safety Council from data compiled by city departments.

The group then will evaluate the recommendations made by the Safety Council on how to improve traffic conditions.

FOLLOW RECOMMENDATIONS

"In the past we have attempted, whenever financially possible, to incorporate the recommendations of the Safety Council into our traffic program," said Lt. Clayton Randolph, head of the Pontiac Police traffic division.

The report provides a yardstick by which cities can measure what they are doing against other cities and states.

The meeting is expected to be attended by some 30 representatives of organizations and businesses interested in traffic safety.

Poor Harvest Blamed on Bulgaria Farmers

VIENNA (AP)—The Bulgarian Communist Party newspaper says the country's poor wheat harvest this year is due to bad farming, not bad weather.

A copy of the newspaper Rabotnichesko Delo received here said Bulgaria this year has suffered "a complete breakdown of the wheat production plan" due to "insufficient application of scientific achievements and of long-standing experience."

5 Viet Cong Killed in Raid

SAIGON (AP) — Vietnamese troops lifted by U.S. helicopters killed five Viet Cong guerrillas today and wounded and captured 12 others in a surprise raid on a Communist encampment 15 miles west of Saigon.

Officials said there were no government or American casualties although two helicopters were hit by Red gunfire.

The 60 South Vietnamese soldiers were flown into the battle area in six helicopters.

With six other helicopters providing air support, the Vietnamese troops and their U.S. advisers slushed through a rice paddy and rounded up their prisoners.

Yesterday four South Vietnamese soldiers were killed and nine others wounded when a truck struck mines laid overnight by Communist guerrillas at Hon Quan, 60 miles north of Saigon.

'Truckholes' to Aid Rich Still in Tax Bill, Senator Charges

WASHINGTON (AP) — Already under attack from economic conservatives, President Kennedy's tax bill is drawing fire from liberal ranks of the Senate.

Sen. Paul Douglas, D-Ill., declared Wednesday that the administration sacrificed tax reforms to win other objectives and thus "truckholes" to benefit the wealthy remain in the tax legislation.

"If the bill gets any worse it's going to be difficult for some of us to vote for it," said Douglas. "It's going to be very difficult for some of us to vote for it as it is."

The attack by the former economics professor came as he was questioning Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon during hearings of the Senate Finance Committee.

In response to Douglas' questions, Dillon said 20 taxpayers with incomes of $500,000 or more paid "not one cent of taxes" last year. And five of these, he said, had incomes of $5 million or more.

The principal reason for this, Dillon said, was the provision permitting unlimited deductions for charitable contributions by high-income earners. He pointed out that the Treasury recommended repeal of this provision but that the House rejected the recommendations. Dillon returns for the third day of testimony today.

The administration is pressing for passage of the $11-billion tax cut bill by January. Although the bill has already been approved by the House, strong opposition to it has risen in the Senate, particularly from conservatives.

Douglas complained that what he called timid reform elements proposed by the White House had been largely eliminated in drafting the measure. He estimated that $12 billion in capital gains go untaxed each year at death; that the oil industry enjoys $3 billion in depletion allowances and $2.5 billion in drilling writeoffs; that one oil company paid $80,000 in federal taxes on profits of $13 million or a rate of less than 1 per cent. "It is not enough to call these loopholes," said Douglas. "These are truckholes."

Dillon countered that "we have achieved reforms raising $1.9 billion" of additional revenue in the 1963 tax bill and the current one.

But Douglas said many of these reforms, such as the tightening of the sick pay exclusions in this year's measure, bear most heavily on low-income families.

Macmillan Retiring After Stormy Career

A good friend lays aside the wearisome demands of his government's top executive post for a less active role in the political organization of his party.

HAROLD MACMILLAN, Prime Minister of Great Britain since 1957, has announced forthcoming retirement after undergoing surgery entailing an extended period of convalescence.

During his tenure, Mr. MACMILLAN experienced soul-stirring vicissitudes, but his "unflappable" demeanor and dedication to his nation's well-being invariably carried him through.

MACMILLAN

The fortunes of the Conservative Party are at the lowest ebb since the 69-year-old leader and his party took over in 1951, ending Labor's postwar six-year reign. Recent setbacks represented by the Profumo scandal, the denial of Britain's bid to join the European Common Market and Washington's abrupt scuttling of the Skybolt project have further lowered the regime's prestige and popular support.

Surveys bearing on a mandatory national election to be held within a year indicate that the resurgent Labor Party, led by capable and aggressive HAROLD WILSON, will be returned to power.

Despite this, Mr. Macmillan's personal star has risen recently. The test-ban treaty was highly popular throughout the country, the economy is perking up after the crippling suffered during last winter's record-breaking cold, and unemployment has dropped to a respectable two per cent. Moreover, a thorough report on the sex scandals that shook the nation reflected little discredit on the prime minister.

We direct a warm salute to the doughty statesman who so well exemplifies the high ideals and supreme self-confidence of representative British statesmen.

Wheat Sale Decision Seems Sound to Us

Despite inevitable ideological and partisan opposition, there is a lot of logic riding on the wheat deal effected between the United States and Russia.

The storage of surplus grain is becoming the No. 1 headache for the U. S. Agriculture Department. The sale of $250 million worth will relieve American taxpayers of $200 million in storage, handling and other costs — thus reducing the budget.

Moreover, the sale, which is to be paid for in gold or dollars, will give our serious balance of payments deficit a sorely needed shot in the arm.

The transaction actually will be implemented through private commercial channels for cash or short-term credit. The government thus will not be involved in any credit liability, though it will underwrite the 55 cents per bushel differential between the world price at which the wheat was sold and the higher domestic price at which it was acquired.

Objectors to the sale are on pretty thin ice when they charge that supplying Communist countries with essential products keeps communism alive and encourages its spread. They claim it is a source of strength to the enemy and a self-defeating policy for the free world.

But since the initial restrictive "trading with the enemy" position of the democracies has pretty well dissolved in the urgency of self-interest and zeal to expand foreign trade, Soviet countries would have no difficulty in obtaining needed products were America to continue in its solitary role of nontrader. Russia's recent wheat deal with Canada is a case in point.

And as for keeping communism alive where it exists and leading to its expansion, there is no better way to foster it than by allowing hunger and hardship to engulf peoples through the withholding of critically-needed foodstuffs and supplies.

We commend the administration on a realistic and potentially far-reaching decision in approving the wheat sale.

Tradition Binds Senate on Taxes

By J. W. DAVIS

WASHINGTON — Everybody would like to get a pay raise. That, in effect, is what the bill to cut federal taxes by $1 billion would amount to — more take-home pay.

So, impatient taxpayers, weary of delay, may be excused for asking: Why does the Senate Finance Committee have to go over ground already covered by the House Ways and Means Committee in nine months of work on the bill?

Why couldn't the Senate and House committees meet jointly, and whip the whole thing together at the same time? Or why couldn't the Senate committee go to its separate work in advance of House passage of a tax bill?

MANY REASONS

The answer to these questions is a combination of tradition, practicality and a bit of vanity on the part of Congress members.

Taking these things in order: Tradition — Legislation dealing with taxes has to originate in the House — the Constitution requires it — and senators traditionally have hung back until the House finished its work.

This has been true not only of the present Senate Finance Committee under Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., but also of committees in previous Congresses, under Republican as well as Democratic chairmen.

The Constitution does not say the Senate must wait until the House is finished, but that leads into the second explanation:

NO TAX BILL

Practically — Until the House Ways and Means Committee finishes its public and executive hearings, there literally isn't a tax bill in existence. The House hearings are held on the President's tax message, not a bill, and what winds up in the House bill can be far different from what the President proposed.

Byrd and other chairmen have contended it would be a waste of time for the Senate committee to hold hearings on something that may not be in the House bill at all. Until the House sends over a bill, interested witnesses have no clear idea of what the Senate has to deal with.

The Senate acts as a sort of court of appeals for officials of the executive branch of the government and others who want to ask questions in what the House has voted. In this situation it makes sense to wait and see what various interests might want to appeal.

Vanity and Prestige — The House Ways and Means Committee is a powerful one, and proud of it. Its members would hardly be eager to hold joint sessions with senators, as senators have something of a reputation for stealing the show when they get a chance.

SOFT LINE WITH U.S.

Harvest Moon

David Lawrence Says:

Problem: Tax Cut or Rights Bill?

WASHINGTON — The battle of the decade is on. The way it goes in the next 10 weeks could make the difference next year between recession and prosperity. This could affect the outcome of the 1964 presidential election.

It's a battle that's taking place behind the scenes in Congress, as pressures are coming in from every side to pass or defeat legislation which is designed to re-LAWRENCE due taxes and revise tax rules, to impose restrictions on customer relations in public accommodations in connection with racial discrimination, to raise the limit of the public debt and to act on a neglected group of appropriation bills needed to carry on the federal government itself — all this before the current session ends in December.

There is no evidence yet that anybody is stalling on anything, but delaying tactics of any kind may not be necessary because there are so many important bills piled up that even the normal amount of time spent in hearings and debates will crowd the calendar and postpone final action on some of the measures until the January session of Congress.

The average citizen isn't familiar with the technical procedures in Congress that take so much time. Certainly anything as important as the new tax bill shouldn't be considered in haste. Likewise, the new civil rights measure is the most important in this field that has been before Congress in more than 100 years.

The most powerful argument which the administration has for the tax cut is that not only will extra funds be provided for some consumer spending, but, in addition, there would be funds for investment. Thus, the tax savings to persons with incomes of $10,000 a year or over would give them $3.6 billion to spend.

STIMULATE ECONOMY

Business would have at least $2 to $2.5 billion more. These sums are spread over two years, but they can have the effect of stimulating the economy, even if only temporarily.

Is it worth taking the risk of approving the tax bill by insisting on priority for the civil rights bill, which could get all tied up in a filibuster? The administration privately doesn't favor such a gamble and would prefer to see the tax bill passed before the end of 1963, but it probably will never say so publicly for political reasons.

Many members of the Senate feel the tax bill requires the most careful consideration, and there are important differences noted already between the measure that has passed the House and the one to be formulated by the Senate Finance Committee, which is holding hearings on it now.

If these are concluded by the end of November, there would still be about a month for debate. But there doesn't seem to be time for discussion of the civil rights bill except perhaps during the next few weeks while the tax bill is the subject of hearings by a Senate committee.

It could happen that the civil rights measure would be debated at length in the Senate and then laid aside as the tax bill is given priority. But even this means a real battle and will require some skillful tactics by the administration.

(Copyright 1963, New York Herald Tribune Syndicate, Inc.)

Bob Considine Says:

Birds Parry at St. Pat's, as New York City Frets

NEW YORK — New York City would like to get rid of several million pigeons, including the resident birds at St. Patrick's Cathedral.

The claim is made that at least two deaths a year can be traced to diseases carried exclusively by the birds. Fifty times that many die slipping in bathtubs.

CONSIDINE

Pigeon lovers and the SPCA are up in arms, fearing that the anti-pigeon forces will resort to poison or firearms. No such dire measures are being considered, though some pretty goofy ones are — including a plan to round up the birds, herd them into covered trucks, drive them into the suburbs and let them take up residence there.

This reminds us of the boomerang thrower who went nuts last Christmas. Somebody gave him a new boomerang, and he blew his stack trying to throw the old one away.

FREE FEED OFF

The plan that is receiving most acceptance — except among pigeon fanciers, of course — is one that would persuade the public to stop feeding the birds.

New York City is a kind of pigeon's welfare state. There's nothing here in town that a pigeon can find to eat, unless somebody shows up with a bag of corn or stale bread and spoon feeds him. Take away the free feed, pigeophobes say, and the birds will move out.

Don't bet on it. Some of them have been around long enough to belong to the Diner's Club.

No kingmaker, he, Gen. Eisenhower protested when asked about his choice for the GOP presidential nominee for next year.

The hearts of the hopefuls must have sunk at the sound of his voice.

Without the most industrious kind of kingmaking by the former president, the Republican nominee will go into the campaign against President Kennedy a somewhat sorry underdog, baring some historic goal.

Ike is the only man in the party who is above the party, aloof of the fray. His clear endorsement of one of the men in the race is absolutely needed to heal the war raging within.

Allies Slow With MLF Decision

By PETER EDSON
WASHINGTON (NEA) — The gag in Washington now is that the United States may have to work out a non-aggression pact and a disarmament agreement with the Russians because it's impossible to get agreement with America's North Atlantic Treaty allies on the defense of Europe against Russian attack.

EDSON

But the Kennedy administration is making still another try at getting NATO to accept the multilateral force — MLF — concept for the nuclear defense of Western Europe.

Most notable thing about talks on this just resumed in Washington and Paris is that the French are not taking part. British, German, Dutch, Greek and Turkish representatives are still in. President De Gaulle wants none of it.

The Paris talks are political and financial, between permanent mission representatives to the NATO council, Ambassador Thomas C. Finletter is U.S. spokesman. The Washington talks are technical and strategic, among military experts at the Pentagon.

French absence is highlighted by announcement from Paris that France now has its own nuclear striking force. It is small compared to the British force and infinitesimal compared to the American. The French have only plutonium — not hydrogen bombs. And no one is sure just how operational are the six Mirage IV bombers supposed to deliver them.

This new French nuclear

Commends Teen-Agers for 'Mature' Behavior

I'm tired of hearing "Those teen-agers!" Too often they're blamed for miserable things and never given credit for doing something right.

Our dog darted into the path of a car driven by two young men. The brakes screeched, but the dog was injured and ran off across the field and into a swamp. We expected the driver of the car to go, feeling everything was all right. Not so with "These teen-agers." They went looking for the dog. I've seen adults hit animals without a backward glance.

Writer Comments on City Affairs

I have known Mayor Landry for quite a while and some of the things that he's been doing just don't sound like him. Who is pushing Mayor Landry into doing the things he's doing?

Why do we need another newspaper? The Press reports the news, and that's what they're here for. If Mayor Landry and the rest of the city commissioners think The Press is after them, there must be something wrong.

I know a few policemen and they seem to be satisfied with Mr. Koren, or the PPOA wouldn't have backed the city manager. Why should a city manager be given a pat on the back for doing a good job, and then get fired? If the urban renewal project is so bad, why don't they do something there, instead of spending money on a police survey?

The People of Pontiac should make sure they are registered. I'm also in favor of citywide elections of city commissioners.

'Inconsistent to Disarm, Give Aid'

It is the height of inconsistency to demand continuation of foreign military assistance to countries which cannot defend the U.S. while we ourselves are dangerously disarming. The signing of the nuclear test-ban treaty is the greatest act of foreign military assistance since U.S. handouts began; and this assistance is being given to our enemy!

Keego Harbor Resident Defends City

While I agree in part with the many articles regarding the City of Keego Harbor I cannot agree in full, and I think it's time someone came to its defense. Keego Harbor has come a long way in the past 8 years, and I believe it will continue to improve.

I do not attend all city meetings, but I do attend most of them and I cannot figure out why these people who write condemning the city, its council, police department and its operations are not present to air their views.

I believe that each man or woman who has sat on the city council in Keego Harbor, to the best of their ability, served the people and gave many hours of their time for the good of our community. We have a fine police force, and a new city manager who, if given a chance, will be an asset to our city.

I believe that the majority of its citizens are civic-minded people who look forward to, and are willing to work for a city that will one day be the pride of all its residents.

Keego Harbor Wayne F. Vogelburg

"force de frappe" is therefore characterized as being able to start a war but not finish it. That is its danger to the peace of the world.

It is a sop to De Gaulle's ambitions for an independent atomic capability. It gives him a further excuse to stay out of a European MLF under NATO.

De Gaulle's possession of this force is not expected to change the U.S. bargaining position on MLF. But it might influence the thinking of other NATO allies.

As a result of the nuclear test-ban treaty with Russia there is said to be a general atmosphere of relaxation in Europe. Also, MLF is going to cost a lot of money which some countries don't have and none wants to spend. And there is considerable political instability in the air.

Dr. Konrad Adenauer has just resigned in Germany. New Chancellor Ludwig Erhard is said to have policies, though he is expected to continue reliance on American nuclear protection, rather than French. The British Conservative party is changing leaders following resignation of Prime Minister Harold Macmillan. British elections are likely in early 1964.

If the Labor party wins, its leader Harold Wilson has said he would "de-escalate" the Nassau agreement to accept U.S. Polaris missiles for the defense of Britain.

The present Italian government favors the MLF idea and wants in. But if a more leftist coalition takes over government, this policy might be changed. Greece and Turkey want in for prestige but could not pay their way. The Kennedy administration

Romney Income Tax Called Pro-Business and Marxist

(Editor's Note—Gov. George Romney has offered what he says is a sound, fiscal reform plan for eliminating Michigan's tax inequities. Key feature of Romney's proposal is a statewide income tax. This second in a series of articles discusses that tax.)

By GENE SCHROEDER
LANSING (P) — Not every public official can propose a tax plan promptly branded as "pro-business" on the one hand and "Marxist" on the other.

But Gov. George Romney achieved that distinction when he came up with his long-awaited program for fiscal reform for Michigan.

In presenting his program—keyed to personal and corporate income taxes — Romney told the legislature it is based on all individuals and all businesses paying taxes equally.

BIBLICAL PRINCIPLE
"It is based admittedly and unashamedly upon the biblical principle of tithing, where everyone contributes his percentage according to his means," the governor declared.

Shortly afterward, Romney was accused from the floor at a Republican conference on Mackinac Island of advocating a Marxist approach.

Karl Marx, the father of communism, once said the state should operate on a basis of "from each according to his abilities and to each according to his needs."

Meanwhile, the AFL-CIO has been trying to pin a "pro-business" label on the Romney fiscal plan.

REVERSE APPROACH
In the view of union officials, Romney's program is based on a reverse-robin-hood approach which would "take away from the poor to give to the rich."

Union leaders and democratic party officials, usually in close agreement on most controversial issues, have not seen eye-to-eye on the merit — or lack of merit — in the governor's tax proposals.

State AFL-CIO President August Schelle says:

"Stripped of all its glittering generalities and fine phraseology, Romney's program is reduced to one terrible formula—increased taxes on bread and butter dollars to produce more corporate dividend dollars."

QUALIFIED SUPPORT

But although there has been no all-out endorsement by Democrats, many party leaders have given qualified support to the Romney program, which embraces some of the proposals made by G. Mennen Williams and John Swainson when they occupied the executive office.

Little disagreement has been aired, however, over Romney's basic goals — jobs and justice.

The governor says three things are wrong with Michigan's present tax system:

- Taxes are too high on low income families.
- Taxes on business discourage expansion and new industry.
- Local governments are strait-jacketed because they must depend almost entirely on property taxes, and homeowners are rebelling against increases.

REDISTRIBUTION
Calling for "tax reform with no tax increase," the governor suggests a redistribution of the tax burden involving about $306 million.

Tax relief for low income individuals would come with the exemption of food and drugs from the sales tax, a property tax deferral for older citizens and a 20 per cent cut in school property taxes.

This $306-million reduction would be offset by a $306-million gain in new revenue from a 2 per cent personal income tax, a 1/2 per cent corporate income tax and a 5/4 or possibly 6 per cent tax on financial institutions.

LOCAL GOVERNMENTS
In addition, local governments would be allowed to impose another 1 per cent income tax on individuals similar to the levies already being collected by the cities of Detroit and Hamtramck.

The 2 per cent state income tax would differ from the federal tax in one important aspect: on personal income, no "standard" deduction of 10 per cent or itemized deductions for contributions, interest, taxes, medical and hospital expenses and the like would be allowed.

However, an individual in a business, trade or profession would follow the federal rules for deductions of ordinary business expenses before arriving at "adjusted gross income."

An exemption of $600 would be allowed for the taxpayer and for each dependent claimed on the federal return, with additional deductions for old age and blindness.

WITHHOLDING PROVIDED
Withholding of the state tax from salaries is provided, with final returns due April 15 following the close of the calendar year.

In most other respects, the state tax is patterned after the federal law. Penalties for violation of the statute would range up to one year in the county jail, a $1,000 fine, or both.

Under Michigan's present tax structure, Romney says, the average low income family (man, wife and three children) spends 7.3 per cent of its income for state and local taxes, the middle income family 4.6 per cent and the high income family 5.1 per cent.

With adoption of the governor's program, the percentage would drop to 4.3 for the low income family, and increase to 4.7 for the middle income group and 5.8 for the high income family.

AS BALANCED
These figures reflect the reductions on sales and property taxes as balanced against the 2 per cent state income tax.

Romney points out that when the graduated federal income tax is included, the figures show the tax load for low, middle and high income families to be 15.7, 20 and 20.8 per cent respectively.

A typical family with a $4,000-a-year income owns a home with a market value of slightly over $12,000 and pays a school tax of little more than $12.

For this typical family, Romney says, there would be a saving of about $24 on the 20 per cent school tax credit, and $53 on the elimination of food and drugs from the sales tax, or a total of $77.

NET SAVING

The 2 per cent income tax would be about $60, adding up to a net saving of $17 on the family's annual tax bill.

AFL-CIO leaders are quick to point out, however, that Romney's calculations do not take into account the impact of a local income tax, which most cities probably would adopt.

In addition, they emphasize, the governor's proposals include optional provisions for a new 1/2 county tax on automobiles and a real estate transfer tax.

And, editorially, the CIO News declared:
"There's a most significant aspect of tax reform on which Romney's tax message was silent — nuisance taxes. The Republican-led legislature last year adopted a nuisance-tax package of $77 million in place of fiscal reform to meet the state's financial obligations."

CONSUMER TAXES
"These will stay on, and these are consumer taxes."
"Add it all up—nuisance taxes plus state income tax—subtract the exemptions that look fine all by themselves, and you get a total of $154.5 millions more in state taxes on individuals."

Criticism of Romney's approach also has been leveled from the opposite end of the philosophical spectrum — by John McCurry, general manager of the Michigan Manufacturers Association.
"Although the association itself has taken no official stand, McCurry told a regional meeting at Marquette recently he is unconvinced that the present revenue system is regressive or that the tax structure is any more of a patchwork setup than is found in other states."

OTHERS
Others who have evidenced dislike for the Romney program include Sen. Clyde Geerlings, R-Holland, chairman of the Senate Taxation Committee, and Sen. John Smeekens, R-Coldwater, Senate president pro tem. Both are long-time foes of any statewide income tax.

Geerlings has introduced a tax program of his own, based on a county option tax, and Smeekens has threatened to filibuster against the Romney proposal.

In addition, other bills have been dropped into the legislative hopper. Some are aimed at imposing a ban on local income taxes, some seek to eliminate the nuisance taxes and several touch on various aspects of specific taxation.

One proposal which has the backing of pro-Romney leaders in the Senate is a constitutional amendment allowing the lawmakers to increase the state income tax up to 5 per cent on individuals, boost the tax on corporations to one and one-half times the individual rate and hike the tax on financial institutions to twice the individual rate.

Romney has declared that he would find "unacceptable" any proposal to freeze the rates at the level he proposes for the first year. At the same time, he said he would have no objection to the setting of a reasonable ceiling somewhere above his present proposal.

The governor contends that Michigan is at a crossroads once again.

"Time and again, the state has faced the need to revise its antiquated and inequitable tax system," he says, "and time and again it has postponed the inevitable."

This time, he points out, there is no crisis such as the infamous "payless paydays" for state employees that occurred in 1969, when the state deficit approached the $100-million mark. Michigan's finances are in reasonably good order now, the state's economy is booming and political wrangling is lessened, the governor says, adding:

"The climate for reform is ideal, but it will not always be so. We can delay once again, but the problem will stay with us."

Airline Takes Patronage Fall

Flights From Pontiac
Carry 23 Passengers

North Central Airlines (NCA) patronage originating at Pontiac Municipal Airport dropped more than 50 per cent last month.

Outbound flights carried only 23 passengers in September, compared to 48 in August, reported J. O. Edwards, station manager.

There were 37 passengers on outbound flights during September a year ago.

Inbound flights carried 21 passengers last month compared to 37 in August and 26 in September 1962.

Thus, just when it appeared the 1963 passenger total might overcome the 1962 pace, it took a drastic dip instead.

At the end of August the passenger total was 290 for this year, only two behind last year's total for the same period.

With September totals, the passenger figure now reads 313 for the first nine months of 1963 compared to 309 for last year.

Outbound flights last month also carried 1,530 pounds of air mail, 1,067 pounds of air express and 859 pounds of freight.

The month before, outbound flights recorded 1,600 pounds of air mail, 836 pounds of air express and 638 pounds of freight.

Inbound flights in September carried 489 pounds of air mail and 4,937 pounds of air freight.

In August, inbound flights carried 516 pounds of air mail and 4,008 pounds of freight.

German Royalty Bans Power of Eastern Regime

CHICAGO (UPI) — Her Imperial Majesty Zaldemena von Hohenzollern today ordered invalidated all signatory political powers held by "arch-traitor" Walter Ulbricht, his traitorous administration and all members of the Communist party in East Germany.

Her Imperial Majesty, queen of the family which ruled Germany from 1806 until 1918, said Ulbricht's regime once again "manifested its evil design of conquest" by stopping American and British troops on the autobahn to Berlin last week and this week.

Ulbricht and his administration and all members of the Communist party in Germany are "premeditated traitors to Germany," her Imperial Majesty, who now lives in Chicago, said in an eight-page declaration.

She also repudiated Ulbricht's signature in August on the partial test ban.

HEAD STAND—Harold Almanrode, 52, was driving his trailer-truck through a heavy rainstorm near Pinole, Calif., Tuesday when he skidded through a cement guard rail and wound up doing a giant-size head stand. Police said a chain connecting the trailer to the truck kept it from rolling over. Almanrode suffered a broken wrist and multiple bruises.

Butler Seen as Favorite in Race to Succeed Mac

LONDON (UPI) — Acting Prime Minister R. A. Butler remained the favorite today in the competition to succeed ailing Prime Minister Harold Macmillan. Informed sources expected the issue to be resolved by tomorrow.

Most observers said the final decision would rest with Macmillan, who has been holding a series of hospital room consultations with Butler and other contenders.

Butler took over from Macmillan last week when the prime minister underwent an operation for prostate gland trouble. Because his illness meant he would be out of politics for several crucial weeks, the 60-year-old Macmillan announced his plans to resign, and the race to succeed him was on.

At least three candidates besides Butler were rated still in the running. They are Science Minister Lord Hailsham, Chancellor of the Exchequer Reginald Maudling, and Foreign Secretary Lord Home.

PAPERS AGREE

But London newspapers today agreed for the first time since the race began that the 60-year-old Butler was growing stronger.

The Daily Express printed a poll today showing that Butler had the support of the majority of Conservative members of Parliament.

Hailsham, considered Butler's strongest opponent, was believed to be losing support. One reason was that some sectors of the party have opposed him from the start and now are making their views felt. Another was that some politicians feared that choosing a former member of the House of Lords would leave the Conservatives open to Labor charges that they had no one capable of leadership in the House of Commons.

At least 13 youthful rioters were arrested in the latest in a series of protests against the military coup that overthrew President Juan Bosch last month.

In Santo Domingo, a stone-throwing mob barricaded the street outside the Argentine Junior High School with logs. Police broke up the barricade and used tear gas to flush the students out of nearby houses. Three students were arrested.

In Barahona, police used clubs to break up a crowd of about 200 high school and university students who gathered outside the divinity school to urge the Dominican people to repudiate the nation's civilian-junta regime. Ten students were arrested.

It was announced that Andres M. Aybar Nicolas, vice president of the university here, escaped Tuesday night from police who arrested him with the idea of sending him into exile. He fled to the campus, where the medieval tradition of "university autonomy" made it impossible for police to follow.

Florida City Backs Kennedy Medicare

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The City Council adopted a resolution approving President Kennedy's program of Medicare for the aged and sent letters to Florida congressmen to that effect.

Rep. A. Sidney Herlong, a Democrat who represents a district in central Florida, replied: "This appears to me to be a gratuitous injection of yourself into a matter which does not concern the City Council. This is a matter which you conclusively prove by your resolution that you know nothing about."

Jail Terms Studied for New Plan

LANSING (AP) — The Michigan Crime and Delinquency Council, a private organization, is studying a new basis for prison sentences for convicted felons. Council chairman John B. Martin of Grand Rapids said the plan follows model approved by the National Advisory Council of Judges.

The plan makes a sharp distinction between "dangerous" and "nondangerous" criminal offenders and would give the parole board and prison pay-chiests and sociologists more authority for fixing release dates.

The council said that a "dangerous" criminal could be sentenced to any term up to 30 years except for murder, which would carry a life term.

"Nondangerous" criminals, however, would have a maximum term fixed at five years with broad provisions for probation, suspended sentences or fines.

ONLY MAXIMUM

Although present criminal law fixes a minimum and maximum sentence, under the model system the judge would fix only the maximum term, leaving the minimum to the parole board authority.

A conflicting stand on sentencing reform was taken in September by the State Bar of Michigan's Committee on Criminal Jurisprudence.

The parole board, under the committee's recommendation, would have less authority for setting the release date, and the sentencing judge would have a greater voice in parole matters.

A state psychiatric diagnostic facility, Martin said, would decide on whether the criminal was "dangerous" or not, basing the decision on the nature of the crime and on whether the accused had a personality disorder.

The Advisory Council of Judges contends "nondangerous" offenders constitute a great majority of convicts who often are punished by excessive prison terms, Martin said.

"At the same time," he added, "seriously dangerous offenders, the severely disturbed and the bosses of organized crime) are rarely imprisoned long enough to protect the public."

Negro Author Says Conduct Study-Ins

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Negro author Louis E. Lomax advised Negro students yesterday to conduct "study-ins" rather than "sit-ins" to properly educate themselves for the future.

He told the students in a speech at Knoxville College to stop using the color of their skins "as an excuse."

"Everything that happens to you doesn't happen because you are a Negro. It happens because you are a human being," Lomax said.

First Negro Candidate in Dixie City Runoff

ATHENS, Ga. (UPI) — The first Negro ever to seek a City Council seat here yesterday advanced to a runoff election Oct. 30.

E. L. Gardner polled 306 votes to finish second in the three-man race behind Henry Morton, whose 501 votes were 20 short of a majority. A third candidate, Dick Roberts, received 214 votes.

Political Bias Fading-Rocky

NEW YORK (UPI) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller told the annual Alfred E. Smith Memorial Dinner last night that religious bigotry "no longer dominates our national political scene."

Recalling the late Al Smith's unsuccessful try for the White House, Rockefeller said, "It is a matter of common knowledge that in many parts of this country people voted against him (in the 1928 campaign against Herbert Hoover) because of his religion."

Rockefeller made no direct mention of President Kennedy as the first Roman Catholic to be elected president.

"How happy Al Smith would be today to know that this sort of bigotry no longer dominates our national scene," Rockefeller said.

REMOVING BIAS

"Were he alive today, nothing would give him more pleasure than to join with those Americans who are working to remove all discrimination from our land," he said.

Proceeds from the dinner go to the Alfred E. Smith Memorial Foundation, which provides funds for the Alfred E. Smith Memorial Hospital, the Beth Israel Hospital, the Catholic Relief Services, the Community Center in Harlem and other institutions.

School Gets OK to Merge With Another

VANDALIA (AP) — The Vandalia School District, suffering from money problems, received voter approval yesterday to become part of the Cassopolis School District.

The annexation proposal, defeated in January, passed 228 to 69. Voters also approved, 227 to 66, acceptance of the Cassopolis district's extra 4-mill levy, voted for operating purposes.

The election marked the sixth time this year Vandalia residents were called to vote on questions posed by a $40,000 school operating deficit.

The district rejected proposed millage increases four times this year.

Voters, meanwhile, approved closing grades 7 through 12. About 84 pupils were accepted at Cassopolis on a temporary tuition basis, while still other students were enrolled elsewhere.

Vandalia now operates only kindergarten through sixth grade for about 50 pupils.

FBI Says U.S. Reds Feel Safe Now

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington:

REDS: FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover says many American Communist leaders believe they are safe from arrest for some time and therefore are operating more openly.

In the FBI's annual report for fiscal 1963, issued Wednesday, Hoover called this "a new trend." He said the Red leaders "contend there will be no more charges brought against them under the Internal Security Act of 1950 until the cases against Hall and Davis are settled finally by the Supreme Court."

Gus Hall, general secretary, and Benjamin J. Davis Jr., national secretary of the Communist party, U.S.A., have been indicted for failing to register with the government as members of the party. Motions for dismissal of the indictments are pending.

Hoover said some party leaders think it may take five years for action on the Hall and Davis cases. Even then, they feel, the 1950 act may be declared unconstitutional.

Consequently, Hoover said, "they are convinced the party can and should function more openly."

CUBAN SHIPPING BAN: The Senate Foreign Relations Committee has tacked onto the foreign aid bill a provision banning U.S. assistance to any nation which allows its ships or planes to carry military or strategic goods to Cuba.

The action by the committee on Wednesday was slightly less restrictive than a similar amendment to the foreign aid authorization bill approved by the House. That amendment would have denied U.S. foreign aid to any country which failed to stop its ships and planes from carrying to Cuba any item of economic assistance as well as military and strategic goods.

The Senate amendment also would penalize countries for permitting shipment of other equipment and materials unless the President reported to Congress that he had determined such shipments were important to U.S. security.

Dance Training Starts in City

The annual program of adult dance classes sponsored by the Parks and Recreation Department is getting under way this week in Pontiac.

Registrations are open in all classes with the exception of a beginning round dance course at Hawthorne School.

The round dance class has been cancelled. Beginning social dance classes opened last night in the multipurpose room at Alcott Elementary School. They will be held every Tuesday, 7:30-9:30 p.m.

Intermediate social dance class will start Friday at Stevens Hall, in All Saints Church, West Pike at Williams.

MEET FRIDAY

The intermediate classes will meet each Friday at 7:30 p.m. Both courses last eight weeks and the fee is $8 per couple.

Intermediate round dance classes are held at Hawthorne School, 8-10 p.m., on the first and third Wednesday every month. The fee is $10 per couple.

Full details can be obtained at a class session or by calling the parks and recreation department at city hall.

City Unit Launches Sculpturing Course

The Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department launched its adult sculpturing and oil painting courses this week at Pontiac Northern High School and Washington Junior High School.

The sculpturing classes will be held every Monday at Northern through Dec. 2. Oil painting is offered every Tuesday at Washington through Dec. 2.

Classes run from 7 to 9 p.m. with instruction at beginners and advanced levels. The fee is $6 for eight weeks and registrations are still open.

Daily Strain Is Rocky for Housewife

ALTADENA, Calif. (UPI)—Mrs. Mary A. Otero, a 25-year-old housewife, faces a new type of kitchen hazard—boulders.

The housewife was preparing lunch yesterday when a rain-loosened stone weighing about 750 pounds rolled down the hill in Pasadena Glen, smashed through the kitchen door and careened past her into the wall.

Mrs. Otero, whose home has been struck by a boulder once previously without apparent serious damage, said the giant rock brushed against her and then struck her baby's empty high chair. The child was in another room at the time.

Sheriff's investigators who said the boulder was about 2 by 3 feet in diameter claimed the woman would have been crushed against the wall if the rock had hit her.

Said Mrs. Otero, it was "just one of those days."

No. 17: The Atomic Energy Commission has announced detonation at its underground Nevada test site of a nuclear device — the 17th in a series of weapons development tests at the site this year.

Once again, in announcing

Wednesday's blast, the AEC did not go into details. It said only the force of the explosion was intermediate — which means a punch equivalent to 20,000 to 1 million tons of TNT.

POLLUTION: The Senate has passed and sent to the House a bill aimed at tightening controls over water pollution.

Among other things, the bill, passed Wednesday by a 69-11 vote, would authorize a federal study of how to prevent kitchen and laundry room detergents or other pollutants from getting into water supplies.

Dentist Says Leave Kids

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Mothers should not remain in the room when their children are undergoing dental treatment, says a specialist.

Except for very small children, the young patient is more relaxed and cooperative if the mother stays in the waiting room, Dr. Walter Schwartz of Ronelle Park, N.J., said today in a paper presented at the 104th annual meeting of the American Dental Association.

"Complimenting the youngsters in the dental office will also increase his cooperation and foster his personal relationship with the dentist," Dr. Schwartz said.

Recording Pioneer Dies

NEW YORK (AP)—Frank B. Walker, 74, a pioneer in the recording industry who had held executive jobs with Columbia, RCA and MGM records, died Tuesday.

Ex-Teletype Operator for AP Dies in Lansing

LANSING (AP)—Edward Meese, former teletype operator for the Associated Press news service in Lansing, died here yesterday night following hospitalization for a heart ailment.

Meese, 70, retired in 1958 after completing 45 years with the AP in Lansing. At the time of his retirement, the Michigan Associated Press Editorial Association estimated that Meese had transmitted more than ten million words.

TOP GIRL GUIDE — Princess Margaret, chief ranger of the Girl Guides of the British Commonwealth and Empire, arrives in London yesterday. The Princess is there to attend a conference of county commissioners.

Convoy Harassment
Not to Up Tension

MOSCOW (UPI) — New spy charges against the United States and the harassment of allied traffic to Berlin do not appear to be the result of any Soviet plan to increase cold war tensions, diplomatic sources say today.

The sources said the Soviet moves, which seem to run counter to the general easing of the cold war noted since last summer, appear to be more coincidence than part of an anti-Western campaign.

The government newspaper Izvestia charged yesterday that the U. S. Central Intelligence Agency "uses the U.S. Embassy, the Stockholm bureau of the Associated Press, and American offices in Stockholm" for espionage against the Soviet Union.

The charges were contained in a signed article by Arthur Haman, an Estonian who was described as a former Associated Press employee who had returned to the Soviet Union.

The news agency's general manager, Wes Gallagher, said in New York last night that the Izvestia story was "completely untrue."

NO CLEMENCY

Shortly after Haman's charges were made public, it was disclosed that Soviet authorities have rejected a clemency appeal for British businessman Greville Wynne, who was sentenced to three years in prison and five years in a labor camp on espionage charges.

Wynne's trial last summer was used by the Soviets to attack the U.S. and British embassies here as espionage centers, and several embassy personnel were charged with gathering information from a spy ring that included Wynne.

The harassment of the Berlin convoys was also viewed as a coincidental irritation, not a converted effort to put a new chill on the cold war.

A U.S. Army convoy was held up for 52 hours last week in a dispute over the way Soviet guards wanted to count its troops. A British convoy was stalled for nine hours yesterday for the same reason.

Shot Grounds Blimp

TOPEKA, Kan. (UPI)—Somebody shot a hole in the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. blimp and it was grounded here yesterday for repairs. Jim Maloney, pilot of the airship, said it was "sort of like a slow leak in an auto tire." The blimp flies around the country on public relations tours.

A PARTICULAR SPORT COAT IN MIND? HERE IT IS AT H-H-S where good things always get a head start. For this season, sport coats are off-and-running in all directions. Sport coats go to the office, appear at parties, turn up at the club—spanning a handsome gamut from the purely casual to the very dressed up, from the hearty tweed to the elegant cashmere, from the dashing plaid to the quiet plain. And these are by the finest makers: Eagle, Hart Schaffner & Marx, Petrocelli, Botany 500, Hammonton Park, Stanley Blacker, Frost & Frost in a wide range of sizes (36 to 52) and models (one-, two- and three-buttons, regular and natural shoulder). You'll find elbow patch models, Gusset back models and Young Men's cardigan and Mandarin collar styles. That's the complete sport coat picture, and to see it at its fullest, see it at HHS.

Left McGregor corduroy with suede elbow patches, leather buttons. Natural shoulder style, in camel or dark olive, $25. (Right) Charter Club herringbone with black elbow patches, $4.95.

Petrocelli imported all-woolsted Glen plaid in a smart 2-button model that's hand-tailored and detailed. Black-white plaids, deer plaids, muted shades, 79.50.

Botany 500 midweight worsted sport coat in smart 2- and 3-button models. Choose from distinctive muted plaids of olive, blue, gray or brown, $45.

(Above) Young man's high 2-button in Orlon-wool or all-wool. Black-white or muted plaids, 29.95. (Below) Charter Club black-white plaid in 70% wool—30% Alpaca. Classic 3-button, 37.95.

Hart Schaffner & Marx sport coats in 2-button, 3-button, or natural shoulder styles. Handsome muted plaids and checks in a fine selection of shades, 39.95.

Pure cashmere tailored in a three-button model with flap pockets, center vent, with full lining. Chargrey, medium grey, and charcoal brown plaids. Fine details, 69.50.

RETURNED TO MOTHER — Tony Mihalay, 2, found wandering in a New York bus terminal three weeks ago, smiles bravely as he is reunited with his mother and baby sister, Alison. The family had been separated last summer when his mother, Mrs. Mary Mihalay, 25, was arrested on a theft charge and the father allowed the children to become separated. She is now on probation and living in California.

Chief of GOP: 'Maybe Nixon'

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — The Republican national chairman said last night that GOP convention delegates "could very well" turn to Richard M. Nixon if neither Barry Goldwater nor Nelson Rockefeller has enough votes for nomination.

The remarks by Rep. William E. Miller, R-N. Y., came during an interview with members of the Middle Tennessee chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism society, via a special telephone - public address system hookup.

The national chairman said if neither Goldwater nor Rockefeller has the required majority "and the convention comes to an impasse, it could very well be that the convention might turn to Dick Nixon."

The former vice president — the defeated GOP nominee in 1960 — has repeatedly said he is not a candidate for the nomination.

GREAT FOLLOWING

But Miller had this to say of Nixon:

"He is one of the few people in the party who has a great national following and who is really a national figure."

Miller, in answer to other questions, said he concurs with polls which show Goldwater as the front-runner for the GOP nomination. He said that he believes the Arizona senator, if nominated, would defeat the president in 1964.

Another speaker via the same hookup was Pierre Salinger, the president's press secretary.

CAMPAIGN CHIEF

Salinger was asked to comment on speculation that Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy will soon resign his post to begin work as the President's campaign manager — the position in which he served during the 1960 campaign.

"I've never heard it before," Salinger said. "I look forward to the attorney general remaining at his job right on through the campaign."

In answer to another question, the press secretary said that it is "much too early" to know whether the Kennedy administration's civil rights program will result in "serious" loss of votes in the South.

"That question will be answered in November 1964," Salinger said.

Negro Ministers in B'ham Ask Mild Race Approach

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI) — There was a new element in this city's racial controversy today, a group of Negro ministers with a "soft sell" plea for responsibility on both sides.

With Dr. Martin Luther King's demands for hiring Negro policemen sternly rejected by the city, the Birmingham Baptist Minister's Conference urged the city to demonstrate "responsibility, fair play and meaningful faith" with Negroes.

King, in an interview in Atlanta, restated his intentions to lead thousands of Negroes to the streets unless the city yields to his demands.

He said he would return Monday to Birmingham and again assess the situation and decide whether to resume demonstrations.

King demanded that 25 Negro policemen be hired by Tuesday, and said if Mayor Albert Boutwell did not meet his demands "there is no alternative left but to resume demonstrations."

The group of 200 Negro ministers urged the hiring of Negro policemen, firemen and other Negro personnel, the desegregation of facilities at City Hall and immediate cessation of police brutality.

Rev. J. L. Ware, a member of the city-sponsored biracial committee and long active in anti-segregation movements, challenged the city's leadership "to show it can give reality to just aspirations and legitimate participation to those who desire to share properly in the development of the city they call their home town."

"The conference table should be made more attractive than the streets for trying to make city adjustments," Ware said. At Selma, Ala., 60 miles to the south, a "big push" Negro voter registration drive appeared to be faltering.

Only about 40 Negroes appeared at the courthouse yesterday after Negro leaders said the campaign would draw "hundreds."

The Negro ministers' statements were not the first in opposition to another round of street demonstrations here, a position pushed by King and the Rev. F. L. Shuttlesworth.

Earlier, Negro millionaire A. G. Gaston and attorney Arthur Shores urged that the campaign not take to the streets. Even some of King's strongest followers here expressed doubts he could get his threatened thousands to the streets on short order.

Mirror Fold Small Dent to Hearst

NEW YORK (UPI) — The closing of the New York Mirror after 39 years of publication leaves the Hearst Corp. with 10 daily newspapers.

The organization started by the late William Randolph Hearst once owned more than 25 newspapers. But despite the curtailment of newspapers, it has been expanding in other fields.

In the daily field the corporation still has the New York Journal-American, circulation 601,625; the Knickerbocker News (Albany, N. Y.), 54,218; the Albany (N. Y.) Times-Union, 67,225; the San Francisco News-Call-Bulletin, 190,260; the San Francisco Examiner, 300,127; the Boston Record-American, 425,333; the Baltimore News-Post, 219,257; the San Antonio Light, 109,909; the Los Angeles Herald-Examiner, 684,522; and the Seattle Post-Intelligencer, 203,663.

In addition, Hearst owns eight Sunday newspapers in the same cities with a total circulation of 3,156,942, according to the 1963 Editor & Publisher year book.

HOLDING COMPANY
The corporation, a holding company for about 24 subsidiaries, controls extremely wealthy properties, including timber lands, television and radio stations, real estate, producing gold and silver mines, newsreel productions, magazine and book publishing firms, a newspaper feature service, as well as newspapers.

The total wealth has been estimated to run into hundreds of millions of dollars.

Kennedy, Labor at Odds on When to Shorten Work Week

By NEIL GILBRIDE
WASHINGTON (AP) — With millions of people looking for jobs, why not cut the standard 40-hour work week and spread available employment?
"Not now," says President Kennedy.

"Now," says the AFL-CIO. Its proposed general cut to a 35-hour week as a solution to six years of serious unemployment will be a major topic at the AFL-CIO convention in New York next month.

CAREFUL LISTENERS
Since Kennedy has consistently opposed reducing the 40-hour week, ears pricked up in labor circles when the President in his recent swing through the West said:

"This country is changing. We have had a 30-hour week, a 48-hour week and a 40-hour week. As machines take more and more of the jobs of men, we're going to find the work week reduced."

But, in his press conference last week, Kennedy squelched the guessing by saying he had not been talking about "today or tomorrow," but about "the end of this century—perhaps sooner than that."

NOT SO SOON
An administration source confirmed the President's statement was new—something beyond his usual flat "no" on the shorter work week.

Some white residents think the Bakers never will be accepted. "No one bothers with them and they don't bother anyone," said one. "That's fine."

Another commented, "in the next 40 houses there isn't one person that will accept them."

A housewife who lives across the street from the Bakers said: "We moved out here from South Philadelphia with the idea it would be all white. I don't hold any grudges, but I don't feel we have to raise our kids across the street."

Mrs. Baker, a nurse in Philadelphia, doesn't seem annoyed that none of the white neighbors talk to her or her husband. She says she has many visitors from outside the neighborhood.

Baker, 26, a laboratory technician for a Camden, N.J., firm, says the children talk to the couple's 3-year-old daughter, Terry.

ROCKS WERE THROWN
The Bakers moved into their new home Aug. 30 under police guard. There was rock throwing and jeers. Windows of the house were shattered, a garage door and appliances damaged. Several persons were injured. A few arrests were made.

THE MOB WAS ESTIMATED BY

State police still maintain 24-hour guard outside the home—one of four in a unit of row homes.

However, white residents say they want no more violence. They will live with the Bakers but won't accept them. The Bakers are ignored. No one even says hello.

Mrs. Baker says the family plans to live here as long as they and their property are not abused. She thinks they eventually will be accepted.

HAVE TO MERIT
"I'm sure there are people in their own race they don't like," she said in an interview. "I'm not going to go around and ask them to accept us. We have to merit it. They have to merit it. It takes time."

An AFL-CIO spokesman is moving closer to labor's view of earlier cuts.

But the fact of the approaching presidential election year is obviously escaping neither side.

A spokesman confirmed that "some kind of resolution" on the issue will come out of the convention beginning Nov. 14.

RUNNING COSTS
The administration is not so much opposed to shorter hours as it is to the prospect of—in the words of one Labor Department economist—"running costs of this world" in an increasingly competitive international market.

The sticking point is that the administration contends labor must take a corresponding pay cut with any hourly cut.

And this union man will readily agree to.

Damage to the outside of the Baker house has been repaired. Baker said if he had known the trouble would have developed he never would have moved into Folcroft.

The Bakers said they were the victims of petty annoyances such as getting books and subscriptions they never ordered. There were telephone calls, too. This has now stopped.

White residents say they, too, suffered the same type annoyances and received threatening phone calls.

A family who lived next door to the Bakers moved out. The house is now rented by the Delmar Village Civic Association and is used for selling bus tickets to school children.

West Bishops Push for Laity

Want Stronger Place in Catholic Activity

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — U.S. Irish and Western European bishops today appealed to the Ecumenical Council to make a strong declaration of the importance of the laity in the Catholic Church.

Bishops John Wight of Pittsburgh, Pa., Phillip Hannan of Washington, D.C., William Philbin of Down and Connor, Ireland, and Franz Hengsbach of Essen, Germany, led a drive for strengthening a proposed council declaration on the laity.

Bishop Wright said Catholic laymen have been waiting 400 years for an Ecumenical Council to state clearly their place and dignity in the church.

He said he would like to see the document made even stronger in its language to clear up the erroneous impression that the Catholic Church is under such complete clerical domination that it has no place for lay initiative or effort.

URGENT ACTIONS
Hannan, auxiliary bishop of Washington, said the document should be amended to urge the Catholic laity to act as "witnesses to the faith" in their daily lives as housewives, businessmen, or whatever.

He said laymen should be encouraged to join organizations—such as parent-teacher associations, civic clubs and political parties—which can exert a real influence on secular society.

Bishop Hannan proposed that every diocese set up special machinery to make it easy for laymen to express their opinions on both secular and spiritual matters.

He said unless bishops take steps to solicit the opinions of the laity, the hierarchy may find itself increasingly cut off from the laity.

First Negro to Desegregate Given Snub by Neighbors

FOLCROFT, Pa. (AP)—Tolerant but not accepted appears to be the status of the first Negro family in this suburban development of 1,500 persons on the outskirts of Philadelphia.

It's been almost seven weeks since Horace and Sara Baker moved into Folcroft amidst violent opposition. Peace and quiet have replaced the violence but the bitterness and resentment remain.

State police still maintain 24-hour guard outside the home—one of four in a unit of row homes.

However, white residents say they want no more violence. They will live with the Bakers but won't accept them. The Bakers are ignored. No one even says hello.

Mrs. Baker says the family plans to live here as long as they and their property are not abused. She thinks they eventually will be accepted.

HAVE TO MERIT
"I'm sure there are people in their own race they don't like," she said in an interview. "I'm not going to go around and ask them to accept us. We have to merit it. They have to merit it. It takes time."

Junior Editors Quiz on ROYALTY

QUESTION: What is the full name of Queen Elizabeth II?

ANSWER: The reigning British sovereign was given the name of Elizabeth Alexandra Mary when she was christened and her last, or family, name is Windsor.

But people rarely speak of Elizabeth Alexandra Mary Windsor or Elizabeth Windsor.

In England, rulers and royal families, as well as high ranking people called "nobles" are usually referred to by their "titles," which are indications of their superior rank.

One speaks of the Duke of York or the Duchess of Kent. In the full title, the first name is used rather than the last one; for example, Winston Churchill became "Sir Winston" after he was knighted.

Elizabeth's full, official title is "Elizabeth the Second, by the Grace of God of Great Britain and Northern Ireland and of her other Realms and Territories Queen, Head of the Commonwealth, Defender of the Faith." This is generally shortened to "Queen Elizabeth II."

"Windsor" was not always the family name of British rulers; it was adopted in 1917 to replace the name "Saxe-Coburg-Gotha," which sounded too German when England was at war with Germany.

Future members of the family, except princes and princesses, will take the name "Mountbatten-Windsor" in honor of Elizabeth's husband, Prince Philip, Duke of Edinburgh.

FOR YOU TO DO: The picture needs your coloring to give the feeling of Coronation Day. The whole robe should be golden yellow because it's made of cloth-of-gold. Touch up the crown with blue, pink and yellow for the effect of glittering jewels.

The administration sticks to its position, at least for now, even in the face of latest unemployment figures that show 3.5 million Americans out of jobs while other workers are piling up an average of three hours of overtime a week.

Unemployment has been running at 5 per cent or more of the labor force since 1957. The administration, at the moment, is pinning its hopes on Kennedy's proposed tax cut legislation to encourage business, boost jobs and bring unemployment down to 4 per cent. If a tax cut doesn't bring unemployment down to 4 per cent—and Labor Department sources decline to predict flatly that it would—a spokesman said the 1 per cent drop won't be easily achieved by other means—"not for a long time."

Arms, Ship Cuts Eyed in Pentagon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Defense Department is preparing to slash Army weapons purchases and stretch out Navy ship construction in the new military budget that goes to Congress in January, it was learned today.

Other money-saving moves under study by Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara and his top associates include reductions in military manpower and continued thinning out of support troops overseas.

The Army is trying to resist a cut of 15,000 men, originally authorized by McNamara as a temporary complement to test a new type air assault division.

Firm orders have gone to the Pentagon as well as to other government departments to tighten up on spending, particularly in view of the reduced federal revenues expected next year if the administration's $11 billion tax cut bill is enacted.

Under this stimulus, defense officials have redoubled their efforts to hold next year's budget at least to this year's level and possibly to reduce it somewhat.

It will be no easy chore to reverse quickly the upward spiral of defense spending set in motion in 1961. Outlays have risen from $41.5 billion in the Eisenhower administration's last year to an estimated $61 billion for the current fiscal year which ends next June 30.

Over the long pull, however, some officials believe a substantial cut can be made without impairing combat strength or commitments to allies around the globe.

SEES REDUCTION

Notable among these officials is Deputy Defense Secretary Roswell L. Gilpatric, who thinks that in five years time annual defense spending can be reduced by as much as $5 billion.

The chief reasons for this expectation are that no need to expand the size of the forces is foreseen and no major investment in costly new weapons is likely.

For example, the intercon-ventional ballistic missile (ICBM) and the Polaris missile submarine programs are near an end as far as appropriating money is concerned.

Over a period of years, the ICBM program alone cost $17 billion. Likewise, no big bomber program is envisioned in the next five years—certainly nothing on the scale of the B52 effort of the late 1950's.

Nor is there likely to be any multimillion-dollar investment in the near future in a ballistic missile defense system or new interceptor aircraft though research will continue on them.

In the budget now being prepared to go to Congress in January and cover the year starting next July 1, there is tentatively no plan to include a new aircraft for the Navy since a start has not yet been made on the one Congress authorized last year.

Some officials believe the degree to which other shipbuilding will be stretched out will be determined by a study now being made of the future size and character of the fleets.

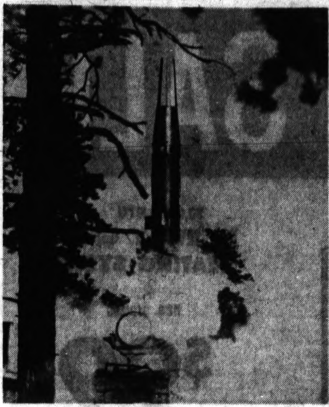

Army procurement of weapons and equipment will reach almost $3 billion this year, which, as McNamara has pointed out, is more than double the average of the five years prior to 1963. There will be a substantial cut next year.

The chief increase in weapons buying is expected to be in tactical jet fighters for the Air Force.

A factor that will offset some economies will be the military pay increase recently voted by Congress. Next year it will cost about $425 million more than this year.

Crime Hefty, Poundwise

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Police are looking for a person with a heavy crime on his mind — someone stole 750 pounds of dimes, nickels and pennies from a parking meter collection truck.

No one knows exactly how much 750 pounds of coins comes to. As a parking meter collections employee at City Hall pointed out, "We calculate only in pounds. Money has no monetary value to us."

Little Change Seen in Erhard's Cabinet

BONN, Germany (UPI) — Chancellor Ludwig Erhard was expected to follow the choices of his predecessor, Dr. Konrad Adenauer, in the cabinet he is presenting to Parliament today.

Erhard, the 44-year-old economics expert who directed West Germany's postwar rise to prosperity, replaced the 77-year-old Adenauer as chancellor yesterday.

Erhard, who will outline his policy in a statement to Parliament tomorrow, was understood to have made only two changes in the cabinet formed by Adenauer two years ago.

OWN REPLACEMENT

One was his own replacement as economics minister. He chose book publisher Kurt Schmucker, 44, chairman of Parliament's economic committee, for this post.

The other was a job for the leader of the free democrats, 47-year-old Erich Mende, whose party is the coalition partner of Erhard and Adenauer's Christian Democrats.

Mende, a major force in getting Adenauer to step down in favor of Erhard, had refused to serve in an Adenauer cabinet. He now becomes minister for all-German affairs.

The key posts of defense minister and foreign minister remain with Adenauer appointees. Kai-Uwe Von Hassel and Gerhard Schroeder.

REMAINS SAME

The Christian Democrat-Free Democrat balance remains the same: 15 to 5.

Mende, a 47-year-old war veteran who won many decorations, will be in charge of German reunification. Among his duties are regular broadcasts to Communist East Germany and studies of conditions there.

"I'm going to do things like Bobby Kennedy," Mende said of his first cabinet post.

Erhard's election as chancellor yesterday ended the Adenauer era after 14 years and one month and may have begun an Erhard era. But the principal actors in the drama did not behave as though they were making history.

WITH FAMILY

Erhard drove to his small rented home atop the Venusberg Mountain on the edge of the capital after being sworn in as chancellor. He spent the rest of the day and evening with his family there.

A Christian Democratic youth group marched up the 560-foot mountain at one point with torches, but they stayed only a few moments.

Across the Rhine River in the village of Rheinfest, Adenauer arrived at his home after cleaning out the last of his personal belongings from his offices.

Only a few passersby saw him arrive. Now apparently less worried that people might think he is growing feeble, Adenauer abandoned his usual attempt to hide the walking stick he sometimes uses.

RAPID CLIMB

He used the stick openly in his rapid climb up the 63 steps from the road to his front door.

Adenauer was gone from the chancellery but not from Parliament. He will continue to represent the Bonn area as a Christian Democrat deputy.

India Violates Border

TOKYO (UPI) — Communist China has charged India with a new intrusion into Chinese territory, the New China News Agency said in a broadcast heard here today.

The broadcast carried the text of a Chinese note directed to the Indian Foreign Ministry charging an unspecified number of Indians crossed into China through the Karakoram Pass Sept. 22.

Korean Victor Hails Election

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — Military strongman Chung Hee Park said today his election as president was a giant step toward democracy in South Korea. He pledged to work for political stability.

His chief opponent, Yun Po-sun, called Park's victory the beginning of "virtual dictatorship" and said the nation cannot hope for political stability.

Final official returns from the election Tuesday showed Park defeated Yun by the narrow margin of 156,029 votes. With three minor opposition candidates winning 831,344 votes, Park got only 43 per cent of the total.

Speaking to newsmen at a resort 100 miles southeast of Seoul, Park said the bidding was fair and "showed to the nation of the entire world that our nation is fully capable of independent and democratic rule."

CORRECT MISTAKES

"I assure the nation that through forthright correction of mistakes and implementation of various programs my government will make vigorous efforts to modernize our fatherland," Park said.

Park also made a peace overture to his chief opponent, asking Yun in a telegram for his "cooperation and constructive criticism for creating a fresh political climate." But Yun said in an interview that Park, who retired from the army in August to make the race, "couldn't establish stability when in uniform and still can't."

Yun, 67, said he does not plan more of the street demonstrations he led against Park's regime. But he said he would campaign hard for anti-military candidates in the National Assembly elections Nov. 26. He predicted victory for the anti-Park forces.

Voters Back Their Reb Solon

WASHINGTON (NEA) — "It is certainly about time some southern leaders set aside politics and expediency and their thick veils of prejudice to call the South back to law and order and responsible action."

These words written by a Georgia woman are typical of the overwhelmingly favorable response drawn by Rep. Charles Welter, Georgia Democrat, from the brief House speech he delivered after the Birmingham church bombing in which four Negro girls were killed. He blamed southern leadership.

Elected last fall after beating veteran segregationist James Davis in a primary, Welter at 35 is the first southern congressman in memory to speak out strongly in a vein critical of the South. The results:

- From his own Fifth district (Atlanta and some suburban areas) and other Georgia points, upwards of 100 letters and telegrams which run 9 to 1 in his favor.
- From other parts of the country, mostly outside the South, some 400 messages, uniformly endorsing his stand. These include many from transplanted white southerners.

Among the handful of hostile shafts directed at Welter, this from an Atlanta man is representative:

REP. WELTNER

VOTING COMBINATION

Welter was elected by a combination of lower to middle class whites, segregationist but tied to the Democratic party through habit and economic interest, and Atlanta's Negroes, who gave him 70 per cent of their vote.

His one-minute speech could have hurt him with his basic white support, and signs exist that his declaration gave him no new leverage among Negroes. An Atlanta Negro leader wrote him:

"Its real significance is that it came from a southern congressman representing the largest congressional district in the South... You put the blame where it rightly belongs—on the South's elected leadership..."

"(Yet) the statement alone, though surely helpful, cannot be expected to lift you from the troubled waters in your Negro constituency."

The writer then added that the big question for Welter is: "How is he going to vote on President Kennedy's civil rights bill?" Welter flatly opposes the crucial public accommodations section of that legislation.

That stance, set forth in a Congressional Record statement last June, has not registered with anything like the force of his Sept. 17 statement on the bombing. The endorsements streamed in.

SHOP OWNER

From the proprietor of a cabinet shop in a small Georgia town:

"We feel your assessment of the blame for this tragic and senseless crime was correct and well-defined, and we admire your courage for saying it."

A retired government worker in Atlanta:

"If we had more men like you in the U.S. Congress, we of the South would not have to hang our heads in shame when misled by weak fools."

An Atlanta woman:

"I feel your statement... truly represents a man who has the best interests of his fellow Georgians at heart."

A state legislator in another Old South state:

"I want to tell you that... I deem you a statesman and not a demagogic politician."

A former Charlotte, N.C., man now in Detroit:

"I admire your courage in speaking out as you did. As a white southerner, I take my hat off to you."

Through critical letters were few, they had an angry bite. One sample from Georgia:

VEHEMENT PROTEST

"I vehemently protest your remarks... You have no right to make a blanket accusation against the elected representatives of the South for their views on racial matters."

From another Georgian close to Atlanta:

"If this letter sounds like I don't give a damn what happened in Birmingham, it is because I don't. Don't preach to me about speaking out against such things until you can convince the Kennedy, Martin Luther King Jr. (and others) that they ought to show a little responsibility themselves."

It is estimated that one of every 250 working persons in the United States is employed in some phase of the printing or publishing industries.

Botulism Scare Crippling Michigan Fishing Business

By ED MARKAITT

Associated Press Staff Writer

"You've got to tell them, somehow, that this is a fresh thing... botulism doesn't affect fresh fish or bulk smoked fish, only vacuum packed... it has done tremendous harm to the Great Lakes fishing industry and is liable to put it on the rocks forever..."

Such was the widening circle of concern spreading through the industry today from fishermen and processors to retail counters.

It follows recent death and illness in Tennessee linked to traces of the deadly type E botulism in one 5-pound box of chubs smoked by Dorbos and Brothers Fisheries of Grand Haven, Mich., and shipped in plastic packages.

The death of a Kalamazoo, Mich., couple was attributed to botulism in a smoked whitefish which Michigan Fish Producers Association spokesmen believe was processed in Canada.

Harold Dorbos, operator of the Grand Haven plant, was awaiting word from the Federal Food and Drug Administration before a return. Laboratory chief George T. Daughters in Detroit said preliminary tests disclosed negative findings on samples other than the one box in a Sept. 19 shipment to Tennessee.

Dorbos halted operations and requested some 900 distribution outlets to destroy stocks on hand. Except for office help, he has laid off his staff of 38.

WON'T DO ANYTHING

"We aren't going to do a thing until the reports are in and we can analyze what has happened," he said while expressing deep personal concern over the situation.

"The pungent fires of smaller operators in the same area have been put out although their smoked chubs are sold in bulk form and not in air-tight packages."

"This thing has blown up to the point where we just quit smoking," said Don Ulrich of Spring Lake. His regular weekly output is upwards of 3,000 pounds of smoked fish, mostly chubs. "We don't look for the business to come back until about Lent," he added.

"Most commercial fishermen around here are going out to look for other jobs and I look for some not even to go back in the fishing business."

Ulrich said the U. S. Bureau of Commercial Fisheries daily price sheet published at Chicago has stopped quoting prices for chubs "due to the unsettled condition of the market."

Bob Brady of Grand Haven was another small operator who said the adverse publicity had affected his sales. He had averaged some 600 pounds a week in peak periods but smoked only 240 pounds last week and shut down after selling the output.

ONE STILL BOUGHT

One customer from Illinois was aware of the botulism report, said Brady, but still bought six 5-pound boxes of smoked chub last week.

Chris Jensen of South Haven, in the fishing business since 1910. His weekly average has dwindled to 1,000 pounds a week, or less, from a summer norm of up to 3,000 pounds a week.

"We're smoking them and giving them away to our friends. It's even scared buyers of fresh perch and other fish," he said.

"It has done tremendous harm to the fishing industry and is liable to put it down on the rocks forever. I never heard of such a thing before in all my years in the business," Jensen added. "The tuna fish industry and cranberries went haywire a while ago."

"There's been trouble with chickens and potato salad. But people all over should be told that they should not stop buying our products."

Three large retail fish markets in Grand Rapids agreed that smoked fish sales had fallen off and other seafood products were affected.

James P. Dornbros who is supplied by the Grand Haven plant, said sales were "nil because of the request to remove the smoked chubs from the shelves." He said some patrons still were asking for the product, however.

Bruce Osterhaven said his store obtained smoked fish from Ulrich's firm. "We're selling some, but not as much as before," he said. "This is such a freak thing that people should be told to go ahead and buy... there's no sense to this."

Harry Visser is supplied by Floyd Bortell of Ludington with bulk smoked chub. "We have some on hand but no requests for them in the last week and a half," said Visser. He estimated smoked chub constituted approximately 10 per cent of his sales.

"I wish you could tell people that the botulism doesn't affect fresh fish or bulk smoked fish, just those that are vacuum packed," he added. There appeared to be room for argument in the case at Kalamazoo.

Ray A. Jensen of Escapaba, MFPA secretary and chief spokesman, said the botulism finding was the first he had known in 40 years of fishing experience "and my father and my grandfather before me."

He agreed that he caused "tremendous harm."

Jensen said the Michigan association has notified its members to watch the quality and "take a little better care of their fish."

1,000 LICENSES

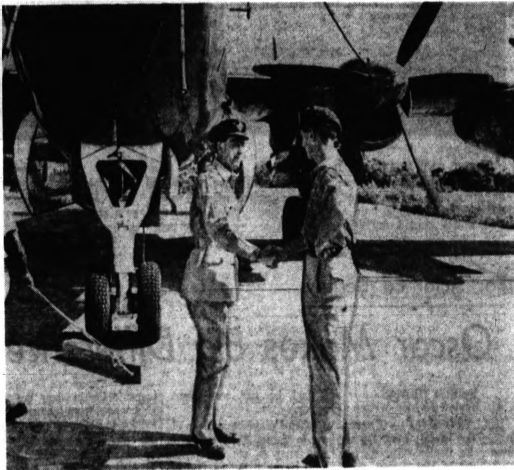

The MFPA counted approximately 1,000 commercial fishing licenses this year with an average of three men to a license in the actual production of fish.

The yearly output, Jensen said, has been "fairly steady in Michigan — close to 25 million pounds." For comparison, however, the value at the dock was $3.8 million in 1959, and only $2.7 million with about the same amount of fish in 1962.

Jensen said the association was recommending inspection of "some kind on fish houses that smoke fish." He said the industry needed processing plants nearer to fish tug landing points and "more strict enforcement as to quality and higher standards."

He was critical also of "some dealers" using the present situation "as a wedge to get prices down." Some, he said, are refusing to buy and believed the price is going down even more. "This not only affects what you can sell," said Jensen, "it affects what you catch now and sell later on in some places. I don't know what's going to happen to these fellows. Where are they going to put their fish?"

Total Performance Plus Cleana!

Only Leonard Super has this remarkable new ingredient that cleans your carburetor as you drive — and keeps it clean!!!

Last year Leonard brought you America's first Total Performance gasoline — the greatest value in gasoline history. Now we bring you Leonard Super, the only gasoline in Michigan with "Cleana." "Cleana" is Leonard's remarkable new ingredient that actually cleans your carburetor as you drive — and keeps it clean!

As air comes in your carburetor, it constantly deposits dirt. Some crankcase ventilation systems add still more oil-laden deposits. As this contamination builds up in your carburetor, your engine begins to idle rough, it stalls in traffic and gasoline mileage drops.

Leonard Super, with exclusive "Cleana," actually cleans out the dirt — and it keeps your carburetor clean as a whistle. Amazing but true! Just as long as you use Leonard Super with "Cleana," your carburetor will stay clean. Your engine will run better — and gasoline mileage will improve.

Only Leonard Super has "Cleana" — the amazing new ingredient that cleans your carburetor as you drive. A first-class reason why you should patronize your Leonard Community Service Station! You can depend on Leonard!

State Woman Loses Money in California

PLACERVILLE, Calif. (P) — Two grand theft warrants were issued by Placerville police yesterday after a 61-year-old Michigan woman reported $52,000 in cash was stolen from her motel room.

Mrs. Margaret Inman told officers she received the money from a real estate sale in Mount Clemens, Mich., four months ago.

Police said Mrs. Inman reported two traveling companions disappeared at about the same time she discovered the money missing last Monday.

After two days of investigation, warrants were issued for Jerrie Sharp, 27, and John Wickham, 36, both of Carson City, Nev.

Police said Mrs. Inman told them she had joined the pair in Carson City, where she was obtaining a divorce.

Reds Prep for Meeting on Party Rift

MOSCOW (AP)—An international Communist source said today that Communist party delegations from 20 to 25 foreign countries would meet in Moscow Nov. 7 to prepare a call for a world meeting to discuss the Soviet-Chinese dispute.

The delegations will be in Moscow for the celebration of the anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution.

The informant said the meeting would probably be called for February or March and all Communist parties in the world approximately 100, would be invited.

A special invitation will be sent to the Chinese, the Albanians and others following the Chinese line, the source said.

The invitation, the informant continued, is expected to emphasize the validity of the Soviet policy of peaceful coexistence, and the Chinese are not expected to accept it in that form. The spring meeting then is expected to "ostracize" the Chinese.

HEIDELBERG, Germany (AP)—Another American soldier—the fifth in three weeks—has defected to Communist East Germany, the East German news agency ADN claimed Wednesday night.

U.S. Army headquarters said the alleged defector, Pvt. Frank Barton, 22, of 3049 Wynwood Lane, Los Angeles, Calif., has been absent without leave since Aug. 30 from his unit in Giesse, northwest of Frankfurt.

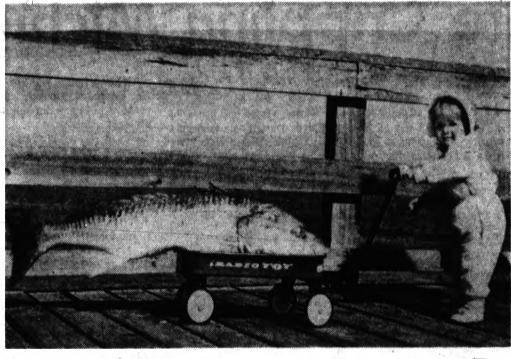

The Army said another GI named by the Communist agency as having defected to East Germany also has been defected to Communist East Germany.

DIDN'T GET AWAY—Old Red and other members of his fishy family had been hanging around the pier in Wrightsville, N.C., for a long time, stealing bait and hooks. But Red, a 39½-pound drumfish, ran into trouble when he grabbed Cecil Hearte's hook. "We fixed his wagon," said Jean Crofcheck of Fayetteville, who, even at 16 months, knows a good fish when she sees one.

For Actor Ed Begley

Oscar Makes Big Difference

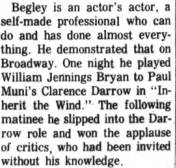

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"I never lacked for work," says Oscar winner Ed Begley. "The difference now is that I can say, 'Okay, I'll take the part—I can do it my way.'"

What a difference an Oscar makes. And few Oscars in recent times have won such warm approval in Hollywood as the one given last August to Begley for his role as the sadistic political boss in "Sweet Bird of Youth."

of part he has been plunking for.

"When I played that mean old boss in 'Sweet Bird,' it kind of came easy to me and people seemed to like it," he said. "I started getting more mean parts, and that worried me. Was I really like that? I didn't think so. That's why I want to do comedy for a while. I'm not really a mean guy."

Begley may well be the work-

THOMAS
Begley is an actor's actor, a self-made professional who can do and has done almost everything. He demonstrated that on Broadway. One night he played William Jennings Bryan to Paul Muni's Clarence Darrow in "Inherit the Wind." The following matinee he slipped into the Darrow role and won the applause of critics, who had been invited without his knowledge.

Pigeon Race Total Loss

TOKYO (UPI)—The Japan International Goodwill Pigeon Race got off the ground all right today, but the finish was indecisive.

More than 200 pigeons were released in central Japan for the 225-mile flight to Tokyo. None showed up at the finish line.

"We expected some of them to be intercepted by hawks," a perplexed race official said. "But this was the first time the whole flight got lost."

Cong Claims Death of 7,516 Last Month

TOKYO (UPI)—Communist Viet Cong guerrillas in South Viet Nam claimed to have killed 7,516 government and American troops during fighting in September, the Communist New China News Agency (NCNA) said today.

In a dispatch which quoted the press agency of the South Viet Nam (Communist) Liberation Front, it said that American planes had resumed use of chemical defoliants in the civil war and had inadvertently dropped chemicals near a government strategic hamlet, making many villagers sick.

Mexico Girl Fights Battle for Her Life

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A 2-year-old Mexican girl waged a quiet fight for life today against an illness that still posed an unsolved mystery to doctors.

Operation Sky Swipe

LAS ANIMAS, Colo. (UP)—Rancher Ed Wilkins said it happened so fast he couldn't believe his eyes.

The big Army helicopter swooped down over his prize watermelon patch and landed. A man bolted from each, grabbed up a melon and the "copters" disappeared as quickly as they came.

"I didn't even get a chance to shake my fist at them," Wilkins told a neighbor.

THE condition of Marivale Oles of San Luis, Mexico, was critical, although slightly improved at children's hospital where she has been undergoing extensive tests to determine cause of her illness.

"She appears calm and seemed to sleep some in the afternoon," a nurse said last night.

When doctors at Yuma, Ariz., suspected the tot suffered from gangrene resulting from an infected mosquito bite, she was flown here for treatment in a compression chamber.

But tests discounted the possibility of gangrene, and other treatment—including oxygen, intravenous feeding and 24-hour attention—was ordered instead.

Kennedy Country

Goldwater in Boston

By WALTER R. MEARS

BOSTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater has invaded President Kennedy's hometown with a call to Democratic conservatives to rally around the Republican colors.

And he says there's fertile ground in the South for Republican vote-seekers.

From a platform Kennedy will take Saturday night, Goldwater told a $100-a-place Republican dinner Wednesday night.

"Even the liberals have to recognize that what we have now in Washington is a would-be king and a want-to-be dynasty, not a president and a party."

POLITICAL TALK

And he insisted at a news conference that wasn't just political talk.

"I think there's a very strong desire there to perpetuate," he said.

Goldwater pointed to an agreement between the United States and the Soviet Union to back a resolution at the United Nations that would bar weapons of mass destruction in space.

Goldwater said this amounts to "leaving the prerogatives of the constitution to the United Nations."

BARB AT KENNEDY

In a barb at Kennedy, Goldwater added: "When a man wants to go around the constitution, or over it, king is one word for it, there are others."

The Arizona senator said he is completely opposed to the proposed ban. "I'd like to see us go ahead with a planned program for the military development of space," he said.

Republican leaders said they sold 3,000 tickets to the Goldwater dinner at the cavernous Commonwealth Armory. The diners sat at tables for 10, spaced around the armory floor. Democrats say they have sold more than 6,000 tickets for Kennedy's appearance Saturday night in the same hall.

TOOK NOTE

Goldwater took note of that affair in his speech. "I know what's happening here Saturday night," he said. "I think that is why you had your earthquake today. Even the Lord recognizes your problem."

A 2½ minute earthquake shook eastern Massachusetts earlier in the day.

Goldwater accused the President of "bald faced deception" in foreign policy and "election expediency rather than economic reality" at home.

And he said even Democrats "who try to resist the spend-thrift gyrations of the New Frontier cannot alone adequately bring fiscal sanity to an administration that locks its conservative members in a madhouse of massive spending programs."

Goldwater got a brass band reception and a police escorted motorcade into Boston. Several hundred people — most of them of college age — cheered and waved "Goldwater for president" signs.

There was more of the same at the downtown hotel where Goldwater met newsmen, and at the armory.

There are no county governments in Alaska.

British Send Troops Back Across Russ Berlin Lines

BERLIN (UPI) — The British Army called off a troop maneuver in West Germany today to send part of a 600-man battalion back across the Russian-controlled highway to its base in West Berlin.

Some of the men and vehicles heading east today were in the convoy held up for nine hours yesterday when the Russians demanded the soldiers get out of their trucks and line up to be counted.

The British refused and the Soviet officials finally gave in.

One U.S. troop convoy was delayed for more than two days last week and another for 15 hours in similar disputes on the 110-mile East German highway between West Berlin and west Germany.

The Americans, too, outwaited the Russians and were finally permitted to pass.

The British convoy of 28 men in nine vehicles held up yesterday was on its way to Soltau, West Germany, to take part in the maneuvers.

IMMEDIATE RETURN

A British statement last night said "the present situation in Berlin has necessitated the immediate return" of the battalion on maneuvers to its base in Berlin.

About half the battalion was returning to Berlin by train. A British spokesman said they had gone to Soltau by train and their return by the same route did not represent a change in procedures to avoid Soviet harassment.

Western sources said the allies planned a series of coordinated convoy movements during the current week as a demonstration of refusal to permit the Soviet Union to erode allied access rights to Berlin.

The convoy heading east across the highway today included the 28 vehicles delayed yesterday on the westward run. A second convoy of 10 vehicles and 35 men waited near the highway entrance in Berlin for 13 hours yesterday for the first convoy to complete its journey across East Germany.

Then the British Army announced the maneuver in Soltau was canceled and the second convoy returned to base.

U. S., Britain Linked by Largest Phone Line

TUCKERTON, N. J. (UPI) — The world's largest telephone cable, reaching 3,500 nautical miles from Tuckerton to Cornwall, England, went into service yesterday.

The new transatlantic cable is the first to directly link the United States and England. It was installed at a cost of $47 million.

EAST LANSING (AP) — Michigan's unemployment figure for August showed a sharp rise caused mainly by the seasonal layoffs in the auto industry, report Michigan State University economists.

The MSU Bureau of Business and Economic Research said the August figure was 66,000 above the July total.

This is about normal and is caused by the annual layoffs in the automotive industry, caused by model changes, the economists said.

The August figure for jobless was 216,000, about four-tenths per cent of Michigan's labor force. The August figure last year showed 8.2 per cent unemployed. The national average this year in August was 5.2 per cent unemployed.

The largest jumps in unemployment in Michigan were reported from Flint and Lansing — both major car producers.

Flint had 2.3 per cent jobless in July and 11 per cent in August. Lansing unemployment rose from 3.2 to 10.2 per cent in the two months.

Benton Harbor looks like the best city in the state for an unemployed worker to find a job. The Benton Harbor unemployment rate was only 3 per cent, lowest in the state of all cities supplying statistics.

Prof to Talk in Waterford

Explanation Offered on Forms of Rule

Dr. Louis Friedland, professor of local government at Wayne State University, will discuss the difference between the charter township and city forms of government tonight in Waterford Township.

Dr. Friedland will speak at Pierce Junior High School at the 8 p.m. meeting of the Republican Club of Waterford Township.

A club spokesman said that Dr. Friedland's appearance would provide an opportunity for township residents to receive unbiased information on the advantages and disadvantages of incorporation.

The Republican Club has passed a resolution taking no stand on the Nov. 5 election on the incorporation of the township as a city.

Dr. Friedland has served as a consultant for various governmental units including the Oakland County Board of Supervisors. He presently is working as a consultant for the State Apportionment Commission.

A question and answer period will follow his talk.

Chicago Official Back on Job

CHICAGO (UPI) — Benjamin C. Willis was back on the job as general superintendent of Chicago schools today to preserve his ranking as the nation's second-highest-paid public official.

Willis and the Chicago Board of Education made their peace yesterday. Two weeks earlier, Willis quit and charged the board had encroached on his administrative duties.

After Willis withdrew his resignation, the board voted 7-1 to draw up a statement of "principals and procedures" to improve its relations with the superintendent.

$80,500 A YEAR

Willis makes $80,500 a year as Chicago superintendent and $32,000 a year as executive secretary of a "blue ribbon" study of Massachusetts schools.

Only President Kennedy, who receives $100,000 a year plus $90,000 for expenses, makes more. The next highest paid is Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York, who gets $50,000 and benefits for a total of about $80,000.

Although Willis' resignation was triggered by a dispute over the transfer of gifted students to two South Side high schools, it was preceded and followed by civil rights demonstrations.

The Rev. Arthur M. Brazier, chairman of the Coordinating Council of Community Organizations (CCCO), said Chicago Negroes "will not rest until Mr. Willis resigns or his resignation is accepted."

RUBBER STAMP

State AF Officer Dies in Utah Crash

DUGWAY PROVING GROUNDS, Utah (AP) — An Air Force officer from Traverse City, Mich., has been identified as one of the victims of a plane crash here.

Army spokesmen said Air Force Lt. Col. Stephen L. Walters, 41, of Traverse City, was found dead at the scene Tuesday. Army Lt. Richard M. Montanari, 24, of Menasha, Wis. died a few hours later.

The two were on a routine security check of the fences surrounding the sprawling chemical and missile installation when their light observation plane crashed.

said: "The board of education is a rubber stamp."

The CCCO is planning a massive one-day boycott of Chicago schools Oct. 22 in protest of Willis' policies which civil rights groups say serve to continue de facto segregation.

Willis told a news conference the proposed boycott would be "unfortunate."

"I think we've been working 10 years to prevent this kind of thing," he said. "I would be happy to see any group that is willing to be seen. I'm not conscious of being discourteous to anyone in the past."

ONLY VOTE

Negro Warren Bacon cast the only vote against Willis.

During the summer, there were demonstrations in the board of education building and at school sites in protest to Willis' policies.

Civil rights leaders say that because many neighborhoods in Chicago are segregated or all one color, the traditional "neighborhood schools" also are segregated or all one color.

The civil rights groups protested against mobile classrooms which Willis placed on the grounds of overcrowded schools. They contended Willis should have transferred the children from overcrowded schools into other neighborhoods—and thus break down the traditional patterns.

Willis in his statement yesterday said nothing about demands for an open enrollment system which the civil rights groups contend would end segregation.

Students Protest Ban, Coeds' Suspension

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Calif. (UPI)—Approximately 1,500 students at Cal Poly marched in protest yesterday over suspension of two coeds for attending an off-campus barbecue in violation of a ban on visits to residences of the opposite sex.

The demonstrators claimed the ban violates their basic rights under the constitution.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP) — Dr. F. Darl Ostrander of Ann Arbor, Mich., was re-elected speaker of the house of the American Dental Association at its 104th annual meeting here yesterday.

Last year Italy exported 12,000 tons of flowers.

Civil War Puts Backward Yemen in Diplomatic Spotlight

SAN'A, Yemen (U) — The dusty market places of backward Yemen are thriving on civil war. Hundreds of tiny shops in the pungent "souks" are literally bulging with goods.

Along the twisting, narrow alleys you can find almost everything — Japanese transistor radios and cameras, Hong Kong electrical equipment, Czechoslovak shoes, East German razor blades, Red Chinese silks, British shirts and even bottled soft drinks from Saudi Arabia.

American cosmetics are a big item — although the women of Yemen veil themselves completely in public. You can even find "falsies."

But the trade boom has created problems for President Nasser who has sent about 30,000 of his Egyptian troops here to help President Abdullah Al Sallal fight rebellious tribesmen loyal to deposed Imam or King Mohamed El Badr.

The Egyptians find in Yemen many consumer goods which have all but disappeared from Nasser's socialist state. And they readily spend their monthly 15 silver rials ($15) allowance in the souks.

Aware of the need to maintain friendship with the Yemenis, Nasser has not pushed for import controls. Instead, he has continued to dip into his country's treasury to help Yemen.

The Yemeni rial, actually the silver Maria Theresa Thaler, is flowing out of the country at an alarming rate to pay for the influx of consumer goods. To balance the demand, Nasser has agreed to mint new rials for Yemen and has advanced about $7 million worth of silver.

Altogether it is estimated that Egypt has poured about $10 million to finance Sallal's regime since last year's revolt — in addition to doing most of the fighting and attempting to build up Yemen's ill-trained 3,000-men army.

LITTLE HELP

For its part, Sallal's government is of little help. Administration was left in a chaos when Imam Mohamed was ousted.

The government really doesn't know where to begin to set its finances in order. There are no statistics and no statisticians. Nonetheless, a few figures are being gathered and by next year President Sallal has promised a formal national budget — the country's first.

When bulbous-eyed Imam Ahmed died about a year ago of vice and old age, it was assumed that his son, Imam Mohamed, gradually would steer the country out of its backwardness. He knew something of the outside world and made much of a supposed friendship with Nasser.

But before Imam Mohamed had ruled 11 days, he was shelled out of his mud and stone palace by Sallal, then a 45-year-old army colonel. Sallal, however, discovered that he not only inherited a backward nation but all its problems.

NO MATCH

The balance of power was against him. Although he had the support of the townspeople and flatland farmers — a majority of the country's five million people — he found they were no match for the fierce mountain tribesmen who delighted in fighting and normally supported the Imam.

It appeared that Sallal's revolt would follow the old pattern — a period of enjoyable tribal warfare with plenty of loot and money changing hands before the neighboring monarchy of Saudi Arabia intervened, as it did in 1948 when San'a was sacked and Ahmed installed after a revolution.

But Nasser tipped the balance by coming to Sallal's aid. Saudi Arabia quickly backed the deposed Imam, who fled into the mountains to rally his tribesmen. From that moment the chance of an old-fashioned solution was lost, though the civil war still follows the ancient bushwacking pattern.

Tribes fighting on both sides have a tendency to vacillate or settle old tribal scores, often at the expense of ignoring the civil war. Last summer, Sallal's government had to execute some of its own tribal followers.

NOT INTERNATIONAL

Under these circumstances it is impossible for the overwhelming majority of Yemenis to take an international view of their stalemated little war. But the war is international, potentially dangerous in the Middle East and distasteful to almost everyone.

Nasser, with tanks, jets and modern weapons supplied by the Soviet Union, has been unable to defeat the mobile royalist tribesmen. Meanwhile, Egyptians are beginning to deplore the strains in their country's treasury. In Cairo, theater audiences sometimes laugh and snicker at Sallal when he appears on newscasts.

Also the Egyptians are not universally popular among the Yemenis, although outwardly there are no discordant signs.

The undercurrent against the Egyptians cropped up recently when 400 tribal chiefs met in the town of Arman and adopted a resolution asking the Egyptian troops to leave the cities and stay in the fighting areas. The resolution caused some embarrassment to the government but was not disavowed.

DIPLOMATIC GAME

Meanwhile, East and West attempt to play a diplomatic game in San'a — though the impression emerges that no one takes San'a seriously for very long.

The United States is building a road, the Soviet Union an airstrip, and Red China, Yugoslavia and others are wooing the Yemenis with indiscreet results. The Yemenis are perisent and impartial with their requests.

"I can't tell whether the Yemenis have any international inclinations at all," moaned one Cold War diplomat. "I'm not sure they believe we are real."

Reporter Skinned Bagging Alligator

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI). — National Newspaper Week is currently in progress, and I should like to urge everyone to celebrate accordingly.

Possibly there are some Americans who do not know how to celebrate Newspaper Week accordingly.

Well, each to his own lights, but when people ask me what they can do to help make Newspaper Week a success, I always tell them "take a newspaperman to lunch."

Newspaper Week customarily brings forth many statements on the vital role that a free press plays in a democratic society. And every word of this is true.

There is, however, another aspect that I think deserves attention. I refer to the fact that the newspaper business can on occasions be a lot of fun.

As my contribution to Newspaper Week, I should like to recount what happened one day when the telephone rang in the city room of a newspaper where I once worked more or less for laughs.

The call was from a lady who reported that she kept hearing thumping noises under her house.

What kind of noises? Thumping noises. Thump thump, thump under the floor.

Why didn't she report this to the police? She did. Several times. But they claimed they couldn't hear any kind of noise, thumping or otherwise.

AN ALLIGATOR?

The reporter who took the call

An Early Elopement

but Short Honeymoon

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — It was an early elopement and a short honeymoon for a young couple here. The 7-year-old boy and his 5-year-old sister decided on the honeymoon after the marriage of an older sister.

They departed from home at 6 a. m. with a blue, cardboard doll suitcase and their combined cash resources of forty cents. Police located the children eight hours later at a playground several blocks from home.

went out and interviewed the lady. Then he came back and wrote a story suggesting that maybe there was an alligator under her house.

The noise could be its tail thumping against the floor, he theorized.

Next day, the rival paper, which resented being scooped, sent one of its own reporters to interview the lady. He came back and wrote a story attacking the alligator theory.

The proalligator reporter promptly picked up the gauntlet. After long negotiations, he persuaded a zoo keeper to lend him an alligator, which he photographed in front of the lady's house.

CRAWLED OUT

Then he wrote a story hinting that the alligator had crawled out from under the house and had been turned over to the zoo for safekeeping.

That was strange, gleefully noted the anti-alligator reporter. There was only one alligator in the zoo previously. And now, after ostensibly receiving a new one, the zoo still had only one alligator.

Undismayed, the proalligator reporter came up with a simple explanation. The original alligator, he wrote, was a cannibal.

More Than Desert Sands Divide Morocco, Algeria

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Southward from Casablanca, the mountains take on a mud-brown hue, deeply slashed by the erosion of centuries and sloping gradually into the Sahara.

Even from the air, it is a picture of desolation broken only occasionally by the green of an oasis.

Such an oasis is Tindouf, 400 miles south of Casablanca on an ancient caravan route. Such also are NEWSOM Tijnoub and Colomb-Bechar.

All lie along the ill-defined desert borders of Morocco and Algeria in an area claimed by both sides, frequent scene of armed clashes between the two. Morocco describes them as "Moroccan lands under Algerian control," included are areas rich in oil, natural gas and other resources.

The Moroccans claim they were "annexed" by France when she controlled Algeria.

Scene of the most recent clashes has been Tijnoub, of little value except as a bargaining point.

Of perhaps greater moment than the real estate in immediate contest is the increasing enmity between King Hassan II of Morocco, the young constitutional monarch, and President Ahmed Ben Bella of Algeria, the dedicated revolutionary.

Hassan is the son of Mohamed V, whose foreign policy linked Morocco firmly with the emerging independent countries of Black Africa.

But Hassan himself, for better or for worse for his future in Africa, has been linked with the West. And, like President Habib Bourguiba of Tunisia which flanks Algeria on the other side, frequently has found himself a target of Ben Bella.

Ben Bella is a proclaimed Socialist whose views lean toward President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic and his sympathies toward Fidel Castro.

ENLIGHTENED REFORM

Hassan has tried to follow a course of enlightened reform.

A year ago HE SET UP Morocco's first constitution, and, through a popular referendum, proclaimed Morocco a "democratic Social Monarchy."

The designation itself is one of vague proportions. The king names the premier and his cabinet ministers and must approve all legislation. He can, if he wishes, refer legislation to a popular referendum.

But the new constitution also provides for a popularly elected parliament with rights for women. Tax reforms have been instituted and an agrarian reform program in distributing land to landless peasants.

Democracy in Morocco is a far cry from Democracy as it is understood in the United States. But a start has been made.

Since 1967, the United States has provided Morocco with well over $350 million in various forms of aid, and will continue its help even after U.S. air bases in Morocco are abandoned.

But Morocco has been caught up in the vortex of the struggle for influence in Africa which affects both its internal and external policies.

Reds Gaining Ground Fast in Troubled Brazil

By LEON DENNEN
RIO DE JANEIRO (NEA) — The nuclear test ban treaty and Russia's latest official policy of peaceful coexistence have brought little peace to troubled Latin America.

In key nations like Brazil, Colombia and Venezuela, hordes of Soviet and Cuban agents are fomenting strikes and civic strife in an urgent effort to undermine the Alliance for Progress.

Red strategy varies. In Colombia and Venezuela, they proclaim openly their aim to create Communist dictatorships through violent revolution. But in Brazil, Latin America's largest country in size and population, they preach Premier Khrushchev's "War of National Liberation."

They concentrate their propaganda efforts on "reactionary" organizations ostensibly financed by the United States and accuse them of destroying democracy and thwarting President Joao Goulart's "social reforms."

EXTREME NATIONALISTS

Like Goulart, in fact, Brazil's Reds represent themselves as extreme nationalists and strong defenders of democracy, of all things.

President Kennedy said recently that the United States "is determined that there shall be no more Communist states" in the Western Hemisphere.

But according to Carlos Lacerda, the able pro-Western governor of the important state of Guanabara, time is fast running out for Brazil "due to internal attack by Communists coupled with administrative inefficiency."

The outspoken governor did not say Goulart was a Communist, but he did say in an interview that Reds have infiltrated the Brazilian government.

A similar view is held by Adhemar de Barros, governor of Sao Paulo, Brazil's richest state and an ally of Lacerda in the fight against the Red attempt to subvert democracy.

According to Lacerda, there is behind Goulart — and working through him — a "concentrated effort to stop the economic development of the nation" and to establish a dictatorship in which Goulart will merely serve as a front.

Lacerda holds there is doubt that some of Goulart's closest associates are Reds or Soviet "sympathizers." These include Darcy Ribeiro, chief of the Civilian Household of the Presidency; Raul Riff, Goulart's press secretary, and Hercules Correia, a member of Brazil's Congress and president of the Textile Workers Union.

It was Lacerda's blunt statement that Communists hold influential posts in the Goulart administration that touched off the current political crisis in Brazil and President Goulart's request that Congress declare a state of siege and suspend constitutional guarantees including freedom of the press.

STATE OF SIEGE

Goulart asked for the "state of siege" (martial law) ostensibly in an effort to cope with the country's galloping inflation which has been promoted by his own government.

But pro-democratic Brazilians saw the emergency measures as another attempt by the President to achieve dictatorial power under the cover of social reforms.

Opinions about the president's political aims are sharply divided. Some regard him as a Communist. Others see him as "another Peron" who, like Argentine's former dictator, wants a marriage between extreme nationalism and Communism.

However, it is the consensus of liberal and conservative Brazilians that Moscow's agents have made substantial gains during Goulart's regime.

STILL ILLEGAL

The official Communist party, ironically enough, is still illegal in Brazil. But the nation's key monopoly for the exploration of oil, known as Petrobras, is almost entirely in Communist hands. So are the unions dominating the important coffee and maritime industries, the banks and the textile industry.

The so-called national labor union organization which calls itself Workers General Command (CGT) is a strong supporter of Goulart.

Its leader, Oswaldo Pacheco, is suspected of working closely with Russia's ambassador, Andrei Fomin. Like most of Nikita Khrushchev's ambassadors, Fomin received his "diplomatic" training in Moscow's school for secret agents.

The Communists are believed to have infiltrated even Brazil's army. There is speculation that at least one top general is allied with them. But Communist propaganda is especially strong among the sergeants and non-commissioned officer organizations led by Sgt. Garcia Filho, currently a member of Brazil's congress.

AS SPOKESMEN

The noncommissioned officers' associations have been recognized by the Goulart administration as the spokesmen for servicemen on such issues as pay and political eligibility for elective office. The president has openly welcomed the backing of the associations in recent political struggles.

But Brazil's respected liberal newspaper, Jornal do Brasil, has now warned Goulart that despite all his wooing of leftist sergeants and officers, he is risking a coup by anti-Communist generals. The generals are increasingly disturbed by the administration's inability to check the inflation and by the rash of Communist-sponsored illegal strikes.

Said Jornal do Brasil:

"No special acumen is required to see that behind the uninterrupted illegal strikes works a machine set up in the labor unions controlled by the Communists and aided by the government's support."

"While it is natural for President Goulart to seek popular support, he is mistaken when he thinks that the General Labor Command and similar groups represent the Brazilian people."

The paper concluded by asking the question: Why doesn't Goulart try to find out what the people really think through their really free organizations?

It is a question being asked today by many of Brazil's friendly, warm-hearted and hard-working people.

Fermi's Wife Finally Tells Balloon's Use

AKRON, Ohio (UPI) — Why in the world would anyone want a square balloon? After 20 years of puzzling over this mystery, engineers of the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company have received the answer from the widow of famous physicist Enrico Fermi.

The balloon, which Goodyear built back in 1942 without knowing what its use would be, was needed as an airtight enclosure around the pile in which the first controlled chain reaction of atomic energy was accomplished.

Mrs. Fermi, whose husband supervised the project, revealed the balloon's use in a recent bulletin of the International Atomic Energy Agency.

Good Old Days Meant Free Wine

ROME (AP) — On hot, thirsty days tourists cast a wistful eye at the two black marble lions on either side of the long steps up to the Campigoglio, Rome's city hall.

Guide books tell them that in the old Roman days free wine spouted from the lions' mouths — red wine from one and white wine from the other.

Picture Gazing Could Inspire

Tips to Amateurs

By IRVING DESFOR
AP Newsfeature

My thoughts this week are about picture browsing, provoked by the first of this year's picture annuals, Photography Annual 1964.

I guess all photo fans like to flip through the pages of a picture annual. It's a chance to assess one's own accomplishments against a public level or standard.

It's a chance also to "re-charge the batteries" and get renewed inspiration from the achievements of others.

This inspiration works in different ways. Sometimes a photograph of series of pictures is like a beam of light which illuminates a path for you to follow. The pictures show the road to perfection through imaginative subject material, good lighting, unusual camera angles and the right exposure to suit a specific mood.

At other times, photographic inspiration may be sparked out of fury or frustration. A picture shown as an example of one of the "world's finest photographs" is out of focus, blurred, excessively grainy or "If that is a good picture," fumes the viewer, "give me my camera and let me show those editors what a mountain tree or a guy clearing an ice rink really looks like. Maybe they'll discover me!"

QUOTA OF TYPES

The 1964 Photography Annual has its quota of all types of inspirational material. Editor and publisher Bruce Downes points out: "The cult of sharpness is no more sacrosanct than the cult of grain and blur."

Grain is an inherent characteristic of photographic emulsions and blurred images are legitimately produced by means of a controlled shutter. Every photograph in this annual is the result of legitimate photographic techniques."

Ah! This may be the clue which we see reproduced and exhibited and the mistakes which you and I show and toss away when we see the result.

Our picture taking mistakes are not planned or controlled, therefore they are illegitimate. Perhaps if we didn't abandon them so quickly but explained by instead how we planned them that way, they too might be called "creative."

In this issue I particularly liked Ken Heyman's series of "Willie." This 4-year-old youngster's various moods and adventures were all photographed in Willie's little world of one block on Manhattan's lower West Side.

Another bright spot was the portfolio of "Water Sprites" by Don Orntz — a colorful collection of glamor in a splashy medium.

Teachers Ask Quiz on Spying

ATHENS (UPI) — A "professional investigation" into the masquerade incident last week which led to the resignation of teacher Dessa Hudson is being sought by the Athens Teachers Club.

The request was presented to the Athens Board of Education.

Miss Hudson resigned last week after the mother of one of her pupils posed as a student to check into the teacher's methods of conducting her business class.

Mrs. Roland Conline, 35, kept her daughter, Sharon, 17, home and took her place in the class. The woman's spying episode went undetected by Miss Hudson in the classroom.

Mrs. Conline, charging Miss Hudson with incompetency, demanded the teacher's resignation.

Kenneth Hamlet, president of the teachers club, said, "We feel the actions of the individuals involved do not necessarily represent the total community feeling."

He said the club requested the investigation in the interests of "upholding the integrity and ethical standards of the teaching profession."

Army Marks Press Freedom

Plaque Placed Where 1st Court Battle Won

NEW YORK (UPI) — On a grass plot beside four cannons of colonial vintage, the U.S. 1st Army has taken the occasion during this National Newspaper Week to place a permanent marker to the memory of America's first victory in the battle for press freedom.

The "1st Army's Tribute to the Press" is a plaque near the spot where John Peter Zenger first went ashore as an immigrant boy from Germany more than two and a half centuries ago.

The 13-year-old Zenger spent the summer of 1710 on Governors Island, present 1st Army headquarters and a military site since 1755.

WERE QUARANTINED

The island is in New York Harbor, at the tip of Manhattan Island. Zenger and his family, emigrating from the German Palatinate, were quarantined on the island with the other passengers because disease has broken out on their ship. His father had died during the crossing.

Zenger, later apprenticed as a printer, set up shop in Manhattan, and started the New York Weekly Journal as a voice of colonial leaders who were attacking Gov. William autocratic, oppressive, and corrupt.

Cosby had Zenger arrested on a charge of seditious libel, and he was imprisoned for nine months — while he refused to reveal the names of anonymous writers for his paper.

WON ACQUITTAL

The plaque says: "In 1735 ... he won acquittal of libel charges in this historic court trial which marked the first major contribution to the cause of freedom of the press in America."

Zenger was acquitted in 10 minutes by a jury which ignored both the law and the judge's instructions after hearing the stirring plea of Andrew Hamilton of Philadelphia, Zenger's lawyer.

Hamilton's defense was based on a new principle: that Zenger's charges were true and that free government demanded for its citizens the freedom to utter truth.

Hamilton in his summation asked the jury to lay "a noble foundation for security to ourselves, our posterity, and our neighbors, that to which nature and the laws of our country have given us a right — the liberty both of exposing and opposing arbitrary power (in these parts of the world, at least) by speaking and writing truth."

Professor Criticizes Curriculum

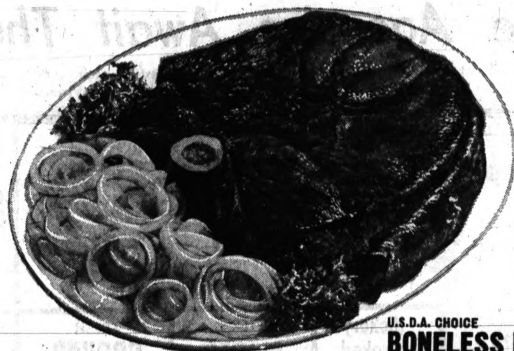

ANN ARBOR (UPI) — A University of Michigan educator said yesterday most of the nation's high schools are directing their efforts toward only one-third of their students.

Norman C. Harris, associate professor of technical education, said, "Corporation presidents frequently are quoted as saying, 'Let schools teach young people the basic academic subjects — we'll give them the job training they need.'"

"But the honest fact is that the president of the corporation doesn't do the hiring," Harris said. "Specific skills are called for in the help wanted ads written by the corporation's personnel director."

He said the biggest problems facing the schools is development of "curriculums meaningful to students. For hundreds of thousands of boys and girls, this meaning must be found in subjects and curriculums related to the world of work."

Because of lack of attention to employment-bound youth, Harris said, "... the typical high school today is directing its major efforts to the needs of about one-third of its students and is performing not much more than a custodial function for the rest."

Congress Stagnates While Agencies Await Their Budgets

By RUTH MONTGOMERY
WASHINGTON — As surely as Uncle Sam is living on borrowed money, Congress is living on borrowed time. Like the war-time auto stickers that pricked the conscience by asking, "Is this trip necessary," our legislative branch is beginning to raise honest doubts about its usefulness.

RUTH
By law, all MONTGOMERY appropriations bills expire on June 30. In this wasteful session of modern times, however, more than half the money bills to run our government are still deadlocked, or mired in somnolent committee, three and a half months after the due date. The only thing keeping most departments and agencies afloat is continuing resolutions, passed by a body that should not even be sitting — let alone lying down on the job.

Public Law 601, passed by the 79th Congress in 1946, requires that Congress shall adjourn no later than July 31 each year, except in time of war or national emergency.

Perhaps the nearest thing we have to "national emergency" these days is a Congress that won't legislate, won't face reality, won't obey its own laws, and won't go home.

PASSED IN CONGRESS

The appropriations bill to run Congress itself passed both houses four months ago, but has not even gone to conference to iron out its differences, because solons on the two chambers are deadlocked over "junk mail."

The Senate, acutely aware of householders' protests, voted to ban junk mail, but since all representatives are up for re-election next year they want to blanket the voters in their districts with free campaign literature at taxpayers' expense.

Money to run the Agriculture

Department for another year has also passed both houses, but conferees have not even met to smooth the way for final passage.

Compared with most other money bills, however, those two have been veritable whirlpools of activity. Appropriations to operate the State Department, the Justice Department and the Commerce Department are still bogged down in Senate committee, as are the money bills for the District of Columbia, and all independent agencies of the federal government.

NO FUNDS

No new funds have yet been voted for public works, military construction, the Peace Corps, or the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency. Not even the authorization bill for foreign aid has yet reached the Senate, and until the upper chamber acts on that, the House cannot take up the foreign aid appropriation bill, which must then go to the Senate.

Meanwhile the aid agency is merrily spending at the same rate as last year, although many congressmen think this should be cut.

Lawmakers can scarcely pretend that other pressing business is delaying action on these vital money bills. The House, which expects to meet only two or three days this week, is marking time with minor district bills and the private consent calendar.

The stalled money bills are creating a serious morale problem in departments and agencies of the executive branch, which are supposed to submit requests for the next fiscal year, much they will get for the current year, while not even knowing how much they will get for the current year.

It's a funny way to run a railroad.

Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt Says:

Stroke Victim Can Be Anyone, Any Age

Like a stroke of lightning, an apoplectic stroke may strike where it is least expected. Although it is more likely to occur in persons who are past 70, some 50,000 in the age group 25 to 65 have severe strokes in this country every year.

Age, therefore, is not the primary cause. Anything that BRANDSTADT suddenly cuts off the circulation to a part of the brain will cause a stroke and as a result the victim may be paralyzed, speechless or mentally confused depending on what part of the brain is involved.

Thus, if high blood pressure causes one of the small arteries in the brain to rupture, the resulting hemorrhage may cause enough pressure on some area of the brain to obstruct the circulation.

Another cause is the breaking loose of a clot within a large vessel or from the walls of the heart itself and the lodging of the clot in one of the vessels of the brain that is too small to allow it to pass.

A more gradual process is the deposition of calcium or fat in the walls of the brain's arteries. When this arterial hardening reaches the point of obstructing the artery, a stroke occurs.

Until recent years the victim of a stroke was considered to be a hopeless case and was allowed to merely vegetate until he died.

MUCH ROSIER

Several bits of modern medical know-how have combined to make the outlook much ros-ier, however. Autopsy studies have shown that in about 25 per cent of persons who are over 30 there is enough arterial hardening in the brain to make a stroke likely.

Similar studies in persons over 70 have shown that many of them have had strokes without knowing it (involvement of the so-called silent areas of the brain). In others there have been a series of what are now known as little strokes.

A person who has a little stroke doesn't have paralysis, but instead may undergo a slight change in personality observable only to persons who are close to him. If, for example, he had always been a fastidious dresser he may suddenly become untidy in his appearance.

RECOGNIZE CANDIDATE

The trick is to recognize the candidate for a stroke before the stroke occurs. This can now be done by means of a dye that can be introduced into the brain's circulation in the X-ray room so that the pattern of the cerebral arteries can be caught on an X-ray film.

The dye is harmless and is being used as an ever-widening scale to detect potentially weak spots in time to apply preventive measures.

Another group of stroke victims examined at autopsy showed no brain hemorrhage or occluded arteries. This led to the discovery that a stroke might result if the occlusion occurred in the arteries of the neck before they reached the brain. About 3 per cent of stroke victims fall in this category.

This discovery is important because it is so much easier to repair blood vessels in the neck than in the brain. This means not only that much can be done for this large group of victims but that it can be done by doctors who are not brain surgeons, the latter being still relatively rare.

Think Before Plunging Into an Exam

By THE READING LABORATORY
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Association

It's just as important to know how to take a test as it is to know how to prepare for it.

Bring plenty of paper to the test. If you use a fountain pen, bring a bottle of ink, too.

Always bring two ballpoint pens, or if you use pencils, bring at least two well-sharpened ones.

You can write faster with ballpoints than with fountain pens and there's not much chance of smearing or blotting the ink.

You should get there on time but not early. One or two panicky students running around before the test can make everybody nervous.

If you have a few butterflies in your stomach, don't worry about them; they'll go away when the test starts.

When you get the test, read the instructions very carefully. A minute spent reading instructions can save you a lot of time and trouble. (For instance, there may be 10 questions on the test, but the instructions may tell you to do only seven.)

READ ALL TEST

Then read over the entire test. Look for ambiguous questions and clear them up with the teacher. Figure out approximately how much time you can afford to spend on each question.

He Got Clobbered With Cat Food Can

BIG SPRING, Tex. (AP) — To his regret, H. C. King, grocery store employee, has learned that cat food is not always used to feed cats.

A man he thought to be a customer, holding two cans in his hands asked for a larger size can. When King turned his back the man struck him on the head with the cat food, grabbed $70 from the cash register and fled. King was treated in a local hospital for head injuries.

tion. Stick to your time budget as closely as possible.

Answer the questions you know best first. Don't waste time sweating over something you don't know. Finish the test then come back to ones you couldn't figure out immediately.

One very important rule: THINK before you start writing. If the questions are essay type, make a mental outline of your answer before you begin to write.

Be sure you know exactly what you want to say — that way you won't ramble off the point in your answer.

WRITTEN OUTLINE

Some students prefer to begin each essay answer with a written outline of what their answer will cover. Beginning each answer with an outline is a highly recommended practice — if you're sure that your answer is the correct one.

Remember that an outline lays everything out in its bare bones — if you're wrong, your teacher is bound to catch you.

On the other hand, an outline will help make each answer clear and precise, and every teacher appreciates clarity and precision. He will have a natural tendency to raise your grade for clearly-written answers.

If it's a multiple-choice test, answer all the ones you're sure of first — these are your strong response answers. Then work on the ones you're not so sure of.

FIRST CHOICE

On a weak response question — when you're in doubt — your first choice will usually be the best one. The longer you ponder, the more possibilities you'll think of and the more confused you'll get.

For the same reason, never change an answer on a multiple-choice test unless you're really positive your first answer was wrong. On a weak response question, trust your first response.

Take all the time allotted. You don't get any points for being the first one to finish.

When your teacher returns the test, see what you did wrong and find out what the right answers were. They may come up again on a later test.

You should also make a note on the type of test your teacher gave and what kind of questions he asked. You'll have a better idea of what to expect the next time around.

NEXT: Some tips for test-taking.)

Venezuela President, Reds in Bitter Struggle

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Almost every day there are new reports of terrorism in Venezuela, a key nation in hopes for democratic progress in South America. What is behind this effort to push the country to dictatorship? Here is an analysis by the AP's chief diplomatic affairs reporter in Washington.)

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
CARACAS, Venezuela (U)—The Red terrorists in Venezuela kill their hit-and-run war of bombings, murders, and robberies "a guerra prolongada" the long war.

Their immediate aim is to destroy this country's hopeful start on democratic government. Their ultimate goal is to convert Venezuela into a new Cuba.

"We can afford to lose a thousand times," says one of

Boss Shows Proof 'Hard Sell' Works

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (U)—Six salesmen of a heating appliance company got a lesson in salesmanship.

Carl Kissiah, company president, gave each of the men $20 and told them to shop local stores for items priced at $5 or less.

Any item that a clerk actually made an effort to sell them was to be bought.

"Those men spent only $11.41 of that $120," reported P.R. McKinnon, sales manager, "after talking with more than 50 clerks in a dozen stores."

The experiment proved the point we wanted to make with our salesmen: you've got to ask for the order."

their slogans, "but we only have to win once."

The terrorists are city guerrillas. They have little support in the countryside or the villages. They often hide in crowded slum areas but they do not seem to be children of the slums. They are mainly university students from the country's more privileged families.

The youths in their teens and early 20s include girls as well as boys. When an insurance office was raided and burned a few days ago, the raiders were two boys and girl in shorts. The girls sometimes use lipstick to write "FALN" on the walls of places attacked.

SABOTAGE, SUBVERSION

FALN stands for "Armed Forces of National Liberation." Officials of the Betancourt government estimate its strength at 200-400 active members. The leaders are Cuban-trained experts in sabotage, subversion, and propaganda, estimated to number about 100.

Fidel Castro is their hero. Small as their numbers are, they constitute for Castro and communism a striking force on the South American continent; in this sense they pose a threat to the interests and policies of the United States in its own backyard.

Behind the active strike force, government officials say, is a much larger group of Communists and pro-Communists who provide passive support. The total number of Communists in the country is estimated at 40,000.

The Communist party and the Marxist Movement of the Revolutionary Left (MIR) both have had representatives and senators in Congress.

GOT ITS START

Communism got its start in Venezuela under dictatorial governments which dominated the country during the first 60 years of this century.

President Romulo Betancourt himself was briefly a Communist about 30 years ago when he was in exile in Central America. In later years he said he had suffered an attack of "political malaprop" from which he quickly recovered.

BETANCOURT STRATEGY

Betancourt's strategy is explained by Interior Minister Manuel Mantilla, who is charged with public security, this way:

"The government's purpose is to isolate the Communists from the life of the nation and especially from the non-Communist left, so that labor unions, professional organizations, business organizations and all other groups support the government on this issue."

But Betancourt says that battling terrorists, though vital, is only a small part of the job that has to be done if democracy is to be firmly implanted in many Latin American countries. He is mainly concerned about wiping out the basic conditions that produce dictatorship, right or left.

He feels that the reason he cruting Communists among the students.

Betancourt says Perez Jimenez also squandered the public wealth on showy buildings and forgot about health, housing, education, and raising living standards for the poor.

He ruled by police oppression, and when he was overthrown, his police force was so hated that Betancourt had to start all over again to build a corps to maintain normal public order.

The Jack of trained and experienced police has handicapped Betancourt in fighting Red terrorism.

Betancourt has been an angry crusader against dictatorial governments of any kind in the Americas. He has pressed the United States for more aggressive policies against military seizures of power.

One reason behind this is that he feels extremists of the right such as Perez Jimenez inevitably lead to extremists of the left such as Castro in Cuba.

Venezuela was able to break the cycle and win its chance to experiment with democratic government — due in no small part to Betancourt's conviction that representative government would work if its leaders would not forget the needs of the people when they came to power.

Next March he is scheduled to turn over his office to a successor. With it will go unfinished business in rebuilding the nation, fighting the Communists and maintaining the confidence of the business community and the loyalty of the military high command.

Barefoot Bus Driver Needed Shoe Repair

DALLAS, Tex. (U)—A city bus operator wished for a bus after a two block barefoot walk over Dallas streets, heated by the sun. B. E. Mills, noting that his shoes need a repair job, handed them over to the repairman — forgetting that he had left his money in his locker at the transit office.

He walked back to the office barefooted to get the money to redeem his shoes.

Husband Is 'Itchy' After Seven Years

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the third article in a four-part series on the American husband written by Harry Ferguson.

By HARRY FERGUSON
WASHINGTON (UPI) — One contribution Marilyn Monroe made to dramatic art was a movie called "The Seven Year Itch," in which she explored the theory that a man whose wife has gone away for the summer probably is vulnerable to a blonde babe, champagne and sweet talk at sundown.

To most people it was a funny show. But not to hundreds of thousands of American wives who found it bit too close to home and not to psychiatrists and marriage counselors who recognize it as a problem that is always grim and sometimes tragic.

Experts now accept as a fact that somewhere between the sixth and eighth year of marriage most American husbands become restless.

The home is well furnished and the mortgage payments are being met satisfactorily. Promotions and raises have been arriving on schedule. The two children have survived the perils of infancy, the wife has become an expert on scrambled eggs, the family car is two years old but still has plenty of life.

But suddenly the world seems slightly out of joint. If he lives in the suburbs, he has spent 1,600 hours in seven years on commuting trains and there is a tendency to have a couple of drinks in the station before boarding the iron monster for home in the evening.

His secretary's ankle seems trimmer this year than last and what about that new girl in the typing pool who has a husky voice and apparently doesn't wear a girdle?

SERIOUS THOUGHT

He ponders these matters seriously and sometimes forgets them. Sometimes not.

Case history related by Dr. Benjamin Morse in "The Sexually Promiscuous Male":

Howard O., married eight years to Rita, his high school sweetheart, junior executive in a big Chicago corporation. Two children, a home in the suburbs.

One night a business conference was cancelled and Howard invited a girl in the typing pool for drinks and dinner.

A week later he invited her again, after dinner she invited him in for a nightcap in her apartment and they wound up in bed. "I wasn't thinking of her in terms of attraction, Howard said. "I thought she was pretty, but I just wanted company for dinner."

The affair continued. Howard invented a business trip to Indiana and spent three days in a hotel with the girl. His wife found out about it, began preparations for a divorce, but agreed to consult Morse in company with her husband. The marriage was saved.

Morse's explanation: Before marriage Howard had limited sex experience and was sowing his wild oats after matrimony instead of before.

BACK TO ROUTINE

But that is not always the determining factor in the "Seven Year Itch" and Morse cites other cases of men who had been sexually promiscuous before marriage and after seven years or so of marriage decide to return to their former ways.

More often than not the wandering husband still loves his wife. "Howard seemed to grow more in love with his wife than ever (while the affair with the typist was going on). Previously he and wife had been having frequent small fights.

These fights stopped. Howard became a model husband and father, bringing gifts home for the children more often than he had done in the past and being increasingly solicitous of his wife's comfort and happiness. He was attempting secret atonement for his extra-marital affair.

Some authorities blame unfavorable home atmosphere for the straying of a husband and one of them, Dr. Virgil G. Damon, puts it this way:

"It comes back to this — when a man feels comfortable at home, whether it is clutter and dogs on the furniture or the impersonal chill of a hotel suite, he won't stray very far."

But case histories of broken homes caused by an unfaithful husband are filled with accounts of men rich enough to have any kind of home atmosphere they choose. And with cases of wives who do everything possible to create the type of environment the husband wants.

MAN'S NATURE

There is no quick and easy answer to the cause and cure of the "Seven Year Itch" and many experts admit it by saying "It's just the nature of the beast."

If a family emerges intact from the first eight years of marriage, there will not likely be another crisis for about 25 years.

In their middle fifties many husbands start bringin this problem to psychiatrists: they have fallen in love with a young woman and want to get a divorce.

Horace L., 54, married for 27 years, went to Morse for advice.

"I'm married to an old woman," he said. "Chronologically, she is two years younger than I am. But men and women age differently. I'm 54 and I still feel young, act young and think young. My wife is 52 and she might as well be 100."

In this case — as in almost all of them — Horace wanted to marry a girl in her twenties. Morse says Horace wasn't really concerned about the aging of his wife. He was worried about getting old himself.

THOUGHT TOO MUCH

A contemporary had just died of a heart attack. Horace was financially independent and no longer pre-occupied with business matters. He had plenty of time to think about the death of his friend and to wonder how much life was left to live.

He set out to recapture his youth and the first piece of equipment he wanted to purchase was a young and attractive woman.

Somebody who would not demur when he wanted to dance the samba in a night club until 3 a.m.

Horace's wife was smart. She discussed the matter with him whenever he so desired. She didn't nag and she didn't complain.

Gradually his fever subsided. He began to think less about old age and death. They are still happily married.

Members Honored at Hospital Auxiliary Tea

As general chairman of the membership tea of the auxiliary to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Mrs. E. M. Estes, Bloomfield Hills, greets a prospective member, Mrs. Robert J. Stuart, Birmingham. The tea was held at the Woodward Avenue home of Joseph A. Braun.

Guests at the membership tea of the auxiliary to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital could sit on the lawn Wednesday and enjoy a perfect autumn day.

Inside the spacious Bloomfield Hills home of Joseph A. Braun was the tea table, the registration line and a miniature gift shop. The late Mrs. Braun was a president of the auxiliary. Mrs. John S. Mahony is current head of the organization. The auxiliary is seeking new members for their volunteer program. Especially needed are workers to staff the gift shop, run the gift cart and assist in the pediatrics department.

General chairman for the tea was Mrs. E. M. Estes. Hostesses were Mrs. Harwood M. Bacon, Mrs. E. L. Bradley, Mrs. John DeLorean, Mrs. James Q. Goudie, Mrs. Ralph L. Polk, Mrs. Robert Quarters and Mrs. Thomas Sansone.

and Mrs. Howard Higgins, Quanton Road, wait for Mrs. Peter James of Birmingham to make a selection.

Mrs. John DeLorean, Bingham Road, was a hostess Wednesday afternoon. She has been a member of the auxiliary about a year. In contrast, Mrs. Harwood M. Bacon, Bloomfield Hills, has worked as a volunteer in the group for at least 20 years, 11 years as corresponding secretary.

Grandson Is Barred at Wedding

By The Emily Post Institute Q: My son is going to be married next month. Everything was going along smoothly until I mentioned to the bride-to-be's mother that my 8-year-old grandson was looking forward to going to the wedding.

She informed me that no children were allowed at the reception. I don't think this should apply to children in the immediate family and that they definitely should be invited.

When I told the bride's mother this she said she was paying for the wedding and did not want any children at it.

I am very upset over this and would like your views on the matter.

A: Excluding your grandson from the reception does seem unreasonable but as the bride's mother has said, she is paying for the wedding and actually has a right to bar children from it.

Remember that if she invited your grandson and omitted the children of her own relatives, they would never forgive her.

Q: Is it necessary for a 5-year-old child to send thank-you notes for gifts he received on his birthday? If so, would a printed thank-you card, to which the child merely signs his name, be proper, or should his mother write notes for him since he has not yet learned to write?

A: Since he cannot write his own notes, his mother should write and thank those who sent him birthday presents.

Q: My son is going to be married in two weeks and I am giving the rehearsal dinner for the wedding party at my house.

Will you please tell me how the invitations should be issued? Do I write notes?

A: You may telephone those in the wedding party whom you know and write notes to the others.

The correct wording and addressing of wedding invitations and announcements are described in the new Emily Post Institute booklet entitled, "Wedding Invitations and Announcements." To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to the Emily Post Institute, in care of the Pontiac Press.

reception in Rotunda Inn followed the noon ceremony performed by Rev. David A. Britz.

Parents of the former Rose Annette Palace are Mr. and Mrs. Paul Palace of West Howard Street. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. William Bowman of Louella Drive and the late William Rana.

With a colonial gown of white Italian satin styled with jeweled lace bodice, the bride wore a rhinestone tiara and a 15-foot veil of French illusion. White orchids centered her bouquet on cascading white roses.

Wearing floor-length gowns of peau de soie with matching crowns were Rose Ann Spadafore, maid of honor, in gold, while bridesmaids Shirley Oaks of Flint and Mary Floyd were in willow green.

Flower girls were Maria Palace and Valentina Silvani. John Silvani carried the rings. Paul Palace Jr. was best man. Guests were seated by Joseph McLaughlin and Thomas Carey.

Fashionettes Hear Speech on Marriage

Robert James, director of Oakland County Family Service, addressed Fashionette Club members Tuesday evening in the Adah Shelly Library.

Choosing for his topic: "How to Fight with Your Wife and Stay Married", he stressed the need of communication in marriage; not only the ability to talk but the ability to listen.

"When disagreements become battles, seek help. Recognize your problem, then do something about it," he said.

A Halloween party is planned for next week, also a dinner-tour of the Michigan Bell Telephone Company facilities on Oct. 29. The annual banquet will be Nov. 5.

Club Shown Travel Slides

Travel slides of a Mexican trip shown by Archie Allen highlighted a dinner meeting of the Pillar Club Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Harold Haskins on Walnut Lake Road.

Mrs. Frank Allen, Mrs. John Morrison and Mrs. E. K. Vandierlin assisted the hostess.

Engagement Told

A Nov. 23 wedding is planned by Nancy Elizabeth Breeding, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wylie G. Breeding of Lynsue Lane, and Ronald James Frizzle, son of Mrs. Abbie Frizzle of Mott Avenue and the late Mr. Frizzle.

Pontiac Girl Plans Vows

The George L. Johnsons of West Huron Street announce the engagement of their daughter Charlotte Ann to Glenn Joseph Cito, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cito of Detroit.

The bride-elect, who attended Michigan Christian Junior College, has set a Dec. 7 altar date.

Install Officers of Sorority

Officers for Phi Gamma Eta chapter, Beta Sigma Phi sorority, were installed Tuesday evening in the home of Judy Timmerman on Rosshire Court.

Kay Gaddes is incoming president; Joyce Hoppe, vice president; Grace Donaldson, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Joseph Carter, recording secretary; Sharon Pardo, treasurer, and Mrs. Phillip Stomberg, advisor.

Mrs. Stomberg will open her Clarkson home for the group's Halloween party Oct. 29.

Hills Visitors, Travels

By SIGNE KARLSTROM Last week in Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore O. Yntema attended the opening night performance of the opera "Nabucco" and the ball following, given by the Lyric Guild.

Mrs. Yntema was happy to be with so many of her Chicago friends again. She noted the coincidence that her closest friend, Mrs. H. Stanley Warner is chairman of the Lyric Opera while Mrs. Yntema is chairman of the Detroit

Grand Opera Association's Women's Committee.

Later this month Mrs. Yntema will head for New York to attend some of the Metropolitan Opera performances and rehearsals and to consult with "Met" officials about the May opera season in Detroit.

TORONTO VISITORS

Excitement reigns at the Benny Wallgren home since Mrs. Wallgren's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Rice (formerly from Toronto and daughter Lisa will have a birthday on the twenty-fifth.

After a visit here, the Rices leave for Florida before returning home. Mrs. Wallgren's sister and brother-in-law and their son Jeff of Chicago spent last week-end with the Wallgrens.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Bay, who spent the entire summer at their home on Mackinac Island, are presently with Mrs. Bay's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Schou of Lone Pine Road.

On Monday, the Bays leave for Fort Myers Beach, Fla. after stopping at Winter Park for a visit with their son and daughter-in-law, the James H. Bays and their two children.

The Glen R. Byingtons of Barker Street announce the engagement of their daughter Linda Elizabeth to Thomas A. McAllister, son of the Harold McAllisters of Allen Lake Road. Both are graduates of Oakland University. December vows are planned.

Woman Has Much to Learn About Wedding Etiquette

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN DEAR ABBY: A relative called me and asked if she should send us a wedding invitation.

She said if we didn't intend to use it, she wouldn't send one because they are very expensive and they are running short of them.

When I complained to my husband about it (they are HIS side of the family) wouldn't you know? he said, "Oh, don't be so formal!"

"Ask her to READ the invitation over the telephone and tell her yes or no!"

Is this the proper way to be invited to a church wedding? Do you think we should go? And if we decide not to go, do we have to send a gift anyway?

DISGUSTED DEAR DISGUSTED: Your relative has much to learn about wedding etiquette. Don't go to the wedding unless you want to. And a gift is optional whether you go or not.

DEAR ABBY: Our family is small, and we have many "single" friends (bachelors, divorcees and widows) whom we frequently invite to share a meal or an outing.

Our children have often asked why the single men and women we invite so often never invite us for anything. At first we told them it was neither necessary nor expected.

But the more we thought about it, the more we began to wonder — why don't they? They wouldn't have to include our children.

I wonder why "singles" think nothing of repeatedly accepting invitations from their married friends, but rarely reciprocate.

JUST WONDERING DEAR JUST: Many do. Only those "singles" who feel they have been invited out of "charity" do not consider themselves obligated, and therefore make no effort to reciprocate.

which could only have been told to her in confidence. She has even used their names. Chances are we will never meet them. But we keep wondering what she will say about us if she leaves here.

If you will print this, perhaps we won't have to figure out a way to tell her she would be better liked if she didn't talk so much.

OLD RESIDENTS CONFIDENTIAL TO J. AND S.: Sorry, but what you suggest is illegal, immoral and extremely dangerous.

I urge you not to do anything as foolish as your considered plan. Parents are your best friends. PLEASE tell them everything tonight.

Innovations Topic for Club Meeting

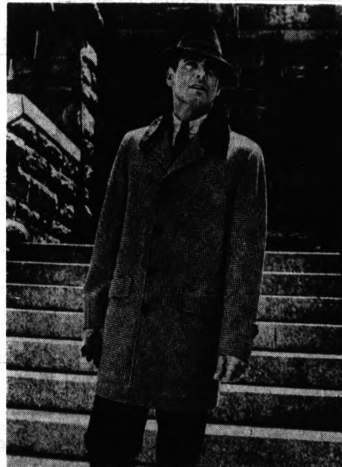

Mrs. Allen Hawke was hostess to the Junior Child Study Club, Tuesday, in her home on Dixie Highway.

In her program "Look What's New," Mrs. Mary Green spoke on teaching with television in the classroom, team teaching and the new study technique "S Q 3R". She is a helping visiting teacher for the Pontiac School System.

A coffee hour at 9:30 a.m., Oct. 29, in the home of Mrs. James Clarkson is planned for the Tuesday.

Hostesses for the social hour were Mrs. Frank Niggeman, assisted by Mrs. Garth Sayers, Mrs. Emory Butler, Mrs. Gerald DuBois and Mrs. Wesley Stewart.

The club plans a luncheon on Nov. 4 of Oakland University and Tour of Nov. 19.

Because men are demanding a new flair in their sports and casual wear, you'll notice a new trend in fabrics this fall and winter. Here, the country coat by Stratofac takes on a lively new look because of the houndstooth pattern. There's a removable Orlon pile collar and deep Orton pile lining.

Plan Next Year's Camp Vacation Now

By MARY FEELEY

Dear Miss Feeley:

This may seem like an odd time of year to be planning a summer vacation. But for the past two years when vacation time came around, we couldn't scrape up the money to take our three children on any kind of a trip. You're always saying in your column that people should save for what they want—so this time I intend to put it to the test!

Our oldest son, 11, is a boy scout and he's got his heart set on a camping trip for all of us. (My other boys are 7 and 8.) My question is this: can you give me any idea of how much money I should try to save, considering the necessary camping equipment, etc.

I figure this kind of outing would be about the least expensive we could take. I've heard there are a lot of free camping places around the country.

Any advice you could give us will be greatly appreciated. I'll have to start right now, putting my money aside so would like to know what to aim at. We wouldn't plan to go too far from home.

Mrs. G. V., Toledo, Ohio

Dear Mrs. V.: Planning a summer vacation is one of the finest winter sports I know of.

A good place to start is at the public library. Or your book store. There are some wonderful guide books available on camp sites, and one that comes to mind immediately is Rand McNally's family camping directory, "Campground Guide." Another is the Handbook on Family Camping, published by the American Institute of Park Executives, Inc.

Such references give you travel information for getting to and from specific places, list camp sites and their fees if any (ranging from none at all to $2 or $3 a day), remind you to check on such things as fire permits, water supplies, etc., and list facilities and recreations available at particular areas.

Also, you'll find suggestions for "first time" campers, including equipment. You might also write to chambers of commerce in the states you are considering. They are usually only too happy to provide information on camp sites available.

Of course, "camping" is a flexible term, and you can scale your costs up or down according to your own ideas and your budget. I know a couple who actually go camping with a maid and a butler. But one boy scout will probably prove a match for the two of them!

Decide whether you want to rent or buy your equipment. Some people advocate renting it the first time out—which, of course, is cheaper if camping will be a sporadic sport. And you find out what you really need before you put a lot of money into equipment.

Figure about $150 to $225 to include tent, sleeping bags or mattresses, camp stove, luggage rack for the car, and other accessories—if you buy. If you rent, you might equip yourself—purely with the basic needs, remember—for about $50 to $60 for a 10-day period. This does not include the compass, the ax, or the flashlight!

Then, of course, you must figure in the car costs and food. The food bill will depend on how much you try to pack and carry, and how much you can expect to buy near your camp site. There will doubtless be some expense for clothing—if only for sturdy shoes.

I suggest you make a list of every single item you can imagine you'll need—then cut the list down to what you can actually get along with! A little of the rugged life is all to the good. Start your list with your chosen camp site and the fee involved if any, then proceed with car costs, equipment, food, clothing, first aid kit, blankets, cooking utensils, etc.

Simple English Is Best

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE Q-471: Dr. Harold K. Fink is one of America's foremost teaching psychologists and textbook authors.

"Dr. Crane," he recently stated, "I am most happy to see that you champion normal, understandable English."

"When I was an undergraduate, some of my psychology professors almost drove me into selecting another field because of their dullness and polysyllabic language."

most drove me into selecting another field because of their dullness and polysyllabic language."

"Too many psychologists are vague and pompous till their students even laugh at them behind their backs."

"I agree heartily with you that when a man really knows his subject, he can explain it in everyday language."

"I have thus used your textbook in some 20 big classes, so it irritates me when some colleagues try to belittle a textbook because it is easily understood."

"It is an art to express complex psychological theory in a language that even high schoolers can understand."

"You can always count on me as an ally in that endeavor!"

Dr. Fink is a very popular psychology professor, now located in Florida.

For many years he taught in New York, at Cornell and Pace College.

The reason I am citing his comments is to show you that there are two types of psychology teachers in America.

One is the "ivory tower" variety, remote from the mainstream of real life, leading a cloistered existence in the shelter of a college that furnishes his pay check.

SELLING JOB

The other is the practical psychologist who gets out upon the firing line of life and does the "selling" job for the many valuable ideas that psychology can offer mankind.

Both types render a service to education. But when the cloistered or "braintruster" psychologists try to impress students with big words, they are a discredit to science.

They often attack us applied psychologists for following the Bible's method of phrasing ideas in short words.

The average word in the Bible contains but two syllables. Yet many teaching psychologists try to show off their pomposity with jawbreaker terms.

Always Wash Before Meals

Health authorities warn — over and over again! — that washing hands before meals is the Number One Rule for protecting health. Whether meals are eaten at the table or from a packed lunch box, hands should be as clean as soap and water can get them.

To make it easy for the lunch box-toter, slip a damp, soaped washcloth into a sandwich bag and lay it just inside the box lid. And add an extra paper napkin as a "towel."

Prepare to Clean

Before buying a washer, make sure the home has adequate wiring and water pressure. Hot water — at least 140 degrees — is necessary to release the full cleaning power built into soap and detergent products.

Why Grow Old?

JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Reconditioning for fall calls for more than giving the hair and complexion special care and losing extra pounds. Sometimes small bulges linger on even after the scales give you the happy news.

Without regular exercise, muscles may become lax. Also, even correct weight may be less attractively distributed at middle age than in more youthful years. It takes a bit of extra effort from middle age on.

A small roll over the girdle can spoil the effect of a lovely dress. Hips which are too large do not enhance a sheath, and a protruding abdomen detracts from any outfit.

A few weeks of regular exercise will add to your enjoyment of your fall clothes.

If you have a tendency to shelf-like hips, think of the following factors. Weight distribution is highly individualistic. You no doubt have a more than average accumulation of fat over the hip muscles.

However, posture is also a factor. Try to remember to pull your abdomen in and tuck your hips under when you sit, stand or walk.

If swayback contributes to your protruding hips do this exercise. Lie on the floor on your back, knees bent and hips fairly close to the floor. Place a small pillow under your hips.

Slowly, walk up the wall with your feet.

This $\frac{3}{4}$ length coat is easy to knit, even for a beginner. Excellent with capris, a straight skirt or with evening wear. Can have leather or knitted collar. Instructions are for sizes 10-20. Sport Coat Pattern #32 may be obtained for \$1.00 from Ursula duBois, care of The Pontiac Press, Box 3307, Van Nuys, Calif.

'Let's Knit' to Start

Starting today, the Pontiac Press Women's Section is bringing its readers a knitting column called, "Let's Knit." Interest in knitting is currently at a high pitch.

The writer-designer is Ursula duBois, born in Europe, but now a resident of California's San Fernando Valley.

Ursula duBois started her career at the age of five when her grandmother supervised her first project, a gray washcloth.

Since that time she has studied in fashion centers of Europe and held a number of jobs in the United States.

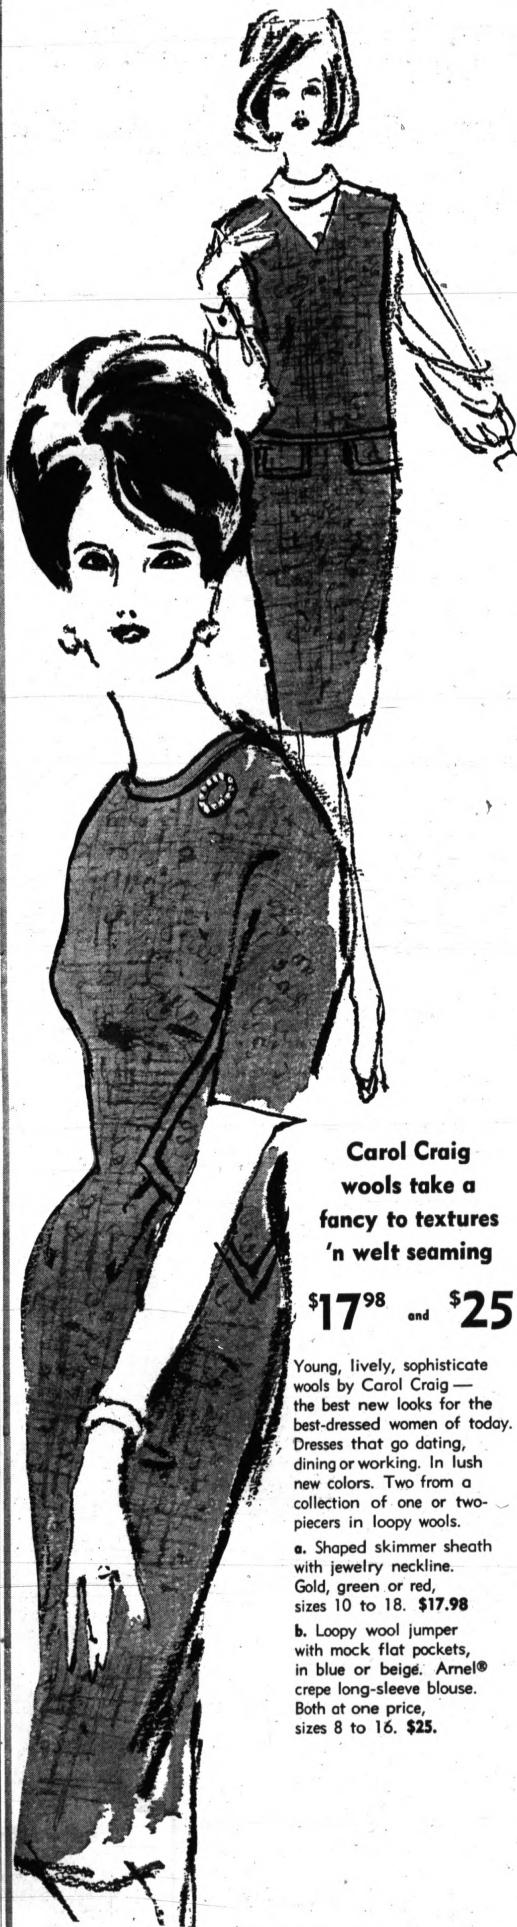

OWNS SHOP

Ursula duBois now operates a knitting shop in Van Nuys, Calif., where she lives with her daughter Sieglinde, 11, and her son, Chet, 5.

Two designs are shown here. Either one may be ordered from Ursula duBois, care of The Pontiac Press Box 3307, Van Nuys, Calif.

The lovely easy-to-knit glitter leaf shell modeled by Kathy Kersh of CBS Television is equally stunning worn with capris as it is for entertaining at home. Wear it with a soft-pleated long skirt to make an elegant hostess gown or a straight skirt for dinner and dancing. The medium V of the shell makes it possible to be worn either to the back or to the front. Instructions are for sizes 10-16. The Glitter Leaf Shell Pattern #24 may be obtained by sending 50 cents in coin, check, or money order to: Ursula duBois, care of The Pontiac Press, Box 3307, Van Nuys, Calif.

"Exquisite and not always necessary" ma society were initiated during last night's dinner meeting at Haven Hill. Mrs. Donald Burkund, Mrs. William C. Hall, Mrs. Alger Conner, Marion Lehner, and Mrs. Glenn Wolford are the newly initiated members.

Mrs. Erwin Gottschalk conducted the ceremony, assisted by Joyce Street president, and Doris Haynes and Florence Gunder, vice presidents. Other assistants were Margaret Luther, Mrs. Elmer Huntley, Mrs. Charles Wait, Mrs. Glen Husted, Iama Hook and Mary Gibbs.

COMMITTEES
Vera Mae Adams and Mrs. Clair Hincley were co-chairmen for the meeting. They were assisted by Mrs. Ralph Forman, Mrs. Mayard Stephens and Virginia Otten.

A business meeting followed the ceremony. The first issue of the chapter's news letter, edited by Getrude Overton, was introduced.

Dust Remains on Plastics

Did you know that most plastics become "electrostatic" in molding? In plain English, that means they attract dust magnetically.

Therefore, dusting with a cloth or duster is ineffective, because the stirred-up dust simply resettles on the plastic. The best way to keep plastic from housewares to handbags - clean is to wash often with soap or detergent suds.

Holds Clothes
Without Pins

Those wonderful braided latex clotheslines, which hold drying garments securely without pins or clips, come in a new heavy-duty version - a large size that stretches up to 18 feet.

Simply anchor the end loops over any available firm supports, then slip strategic points of the "wash" between the twisted strands for a firm, non-snap grip.

This "suburban" suit by Country Set keeps a fashionable pace for the active life. An all-wool tweed in winterberry with pink, spruce with blue, and chestnut with yellow, it features trapunto stitching and brass button trim. Available locally.

Adding a harvest touch to decorations for the annual banquet in the First Methodist Church on Oct. 25 are Mrs. Norman Legge, Sylvan Lake

Travel With a List

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY - Before going on a trip, type the names and addresses of persons to whom you wish to send postcards or letter on gummed folder labels which come in strips, perforated about one inch apart.

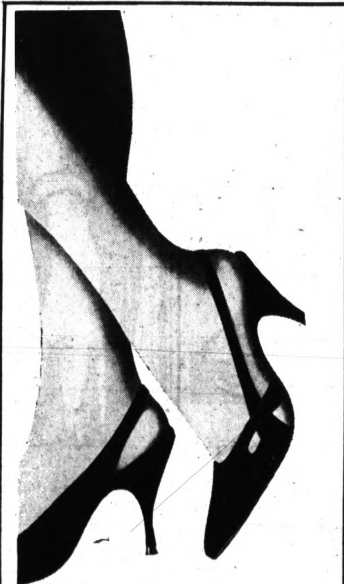

Fold the labels in one-inch strips and carry in your purse. When the message is written, all that is necessary is to tear off a label, paste it on the card, add a stamp and it is ready to go. - MRS. H. M. D.

DEAR POLLY - If the readers have the problem of disposing of bulky cereal and other cardboard boxes, I have the solution. Put water in your sink and let the boxes soak in the water. This softens them so you can squeeze them to a lump no bigger than your hand and save a lot of space in the trash can. - MRS. M. C.

DEAR POLLY - I made a unique table with a lot of old paint color charts. I cut out the squares and rectangles, pasted them on an old metal table (it could as well have been a wooden table). I then applied a coat of clear shellac and the result looks like a mosaic tiled table top. Try. Truly lovely! - MRS. J. R. McC.

DEAR POLLY - The soles of my terry cloth slippers used to wear out long before the slippers. Now I buy iron-on patches and iron them to the soles of my slippers. They last twice as long. - MRS. E. C.

DEAR POLLY - My suggestion is concerning the new ZIP code card that the mailman left at the house. I have been typing the ZIP code numbers from letters I receive from friends and family. It is handy to have a ready reference list of them close by and all together. - MRS. A. B. J.

Church Groups Plan
Annual Harvest Meal

Dr. Hoover Rupert, minister of the First Methodist Church, Ann Arbor, will speak at the annual harvest home banquet Oct. 25, in the First Methodist Church.

General chairmen are Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Boone, Mrs. Clayton Rule is dinner chairman and Mrs. Jack Gilbert will supervise the 6:30 p.m. dinner service.

MAGICIAN

Entertainment, planned by Mrs. Norman Legge, will feature magician Maurice Cotter of Saginaw, also the Senior Girls' Ensemble and barber shop quartet from Pontiac Central High School.

Advance reservations are required for the roast beef dinner, with deadline at noon on Tuesday. Contact members of Sunday School classes, Women's Society, Methodist Men or the church office.

Scrub Often,
Wax Seldom

Weekly scrubbing and re-waxing is not always the best way to keep a busy kitchen floor clean. You may get better results by mopping the floor often - every day or two, if necessary - with a mop wrung out of cool soap or detergent suds.

These quick sudsings, which should not disturb the wax finish, will probably cut down on the number of hard scrubbing and waxings your floor demands.

Jellied Fish Is New Delicacy

Sole Bonne Femme, Baked Stuffed Bluefish, Grilled Mullet, Salmon Souffle — these are just a few of the seafood delicacies permitted ulcer patients in "The Ulcer Diet Book" by Harold Rubin (M. Evans and Company, New York, 94-95). Mr. Rubin, an ulcer victim and a gourmet, found the prescribed bland diet tasteless and monotonous.

With the approval of his physician, he experimented, with new and imaginative combinations of permitted foods and came up with more than 200 recipes for tasty diet fare. Mr. Rubin's creations have the approval of the medical experts and are labeled for use in either the early or later phase of ulcer diets.

Fish are, of course, on the list of foods allowed on most ulcer diets during both earlier and later stages, and as often as desired. The National Fisheries Institute urges ulcer patients and their families to try the fine seafood recipes in "The Ulcer Diet Book." Here's one to whet the appetite!

Salmon En Gelée
 1/4 pound salmon steak
 1/4 cup water
 1 cup vegetable juice
 1/4 cup cooked diced carrots
 1/4 cup cooked early peas
 1 envelope gelatin
 2 tablespoons cold water
 2 to 3 drops lemon juice

Poach salmon in 1/4 cup water and allow salmon to cool. Heat vegetable juice and add gelatin that has been softened in cold water. Add vegetables and lemon juice.

Allow gelatin to cool, and pour a little into a shallow mold, place salmon in the mold, and pour the remaining gelatin over it. Chill in the refrigerator till firm, unmold, and serve garnished with fresh parsley.

HOT CHICKEN SALAD — All summer you served chicken salad. No need to stop now. Just change the method and serve it hot. Keep this recipe for holiday leftover fowl.

Hot Chicken Salad Makes an Easy Meal

Chicken salad is such a tried and easy dish that it's no wonder it is a universal party luncheon favorite. The next time you're a hostess, serve it but with a difference which will bring you compliments galore.

Toast your salad as usual. Then, instead of serving it cold on a lettuce leaf, spoon the salad into individual casseroles, top each with croutons and grated cheese, and bake briefly. You'll find that the heat brings out a marvelous new flavor, created by the blend of mayonnaise or salad dressing, toasted almonds, celery, cheese and condiments.

Chicken, or turkey if you prefer, prepared this way is a real gourmet treat. Most likely you'll be writing out extra copies of the recipe, if you don't mind admitting how really simple it is to fix this luscious luncheon dish. Serve it for Sunday supper, too, and you'll win more applause from the family.

Hot Chicken Little Salads
 2 cups cut-up cooked chicken or turkey
 2 cups chopped celery
 1/4 cup chopped toasted almonds

1/4 teaspoon salt
 1 tablespoon minced onion
 2 tablespoons lemon juice
 1 cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
 1/4 cup plain or seasoned croutons
 1/4 cup grated American cheese

Combine chicken, celery, almonds, seasonings and mayonnaise or salad dressing; toss lightly. Pile into individual casseroles. Top with croutons and grated cheese. Bake in 400 degrees oven for 10 minutes. Serves 4.

A New Cookbook Free for Asking

You'll find recipes for quick and easy desserts, cakes, strudels and pies, as well as casseroles and side dishes.

Send your name and address with your request for "Home Made Desserts" to: Caroline Comstock, Consumer Service Department, Comstock Foods, Division of the Borden Company, Newark, New York.

Newest Food Is Diet Egg Polyunsaturated

NEW YORK — The newest food product to make its debut on the cholesterol diet battlefield is the polyunsaturated egg.

According to The Insider's Newsletter, a new regimen has been developed for hens that results in eggs containing a substantially lower cholesterol level than the good old egg.

Farmers producing low-fat eggs will use a feed formula developed by Drew Foods, a subsidiary of the Drew Chemical Corp., in which vegetable oils are substituted for high-fat animal substances.

Drew Foods, which plans to charge approximately one cent more per egg for the polyunsaturated product, has already received approval from the Department of Agriculture.

The Newsletter said that food experts believe that since the feed given to the hen is altered, rather than the bird itself, the taste of the end product will not be changed.

Fry Green Tomatoes

Green tomatoes are good, too. Cut them into thick slices, season with salt and pepper, dip into mixture of 1/2 cup corn meal, 1/2 teaspoon thyme and 1 tablespoon brown sugar. Fry slices in butter over low heat until light brown. Serve as a vegetable with meat.

Inland waterways of the U.S. carry 15 per cent of the transportation.

Cook Celery, Then Marinate

Celery Victor has long been a favorite salad in restaurants. Your guests will be delighted with your culinary skills when you prepare this version in your own kitchen.

3 celery hearts
 2 cups chicken consommé
 1 package garlic french salad dressing mix
 1/4 cup water
 1/4 cup red wine vinegar
 1/4 cup olive oil
 6 anchovy fillets
 6 hard cooked eggs
 6 tomato wedges

Wash hearts of celery without separating stalks. Trim off leafy top so celery hearts are 6-7 inches long. Cut lengthwise into 2 or 4 pieces, depending on size.

Place in shallow baking dish, and pour chicken consommé over celery hearts. Cover and bake in hot oven (400 degrees) for 30-40 minutes until tender but not falling apart. Drain and cool.

Empty garlic - french salad dressing mix into a screw top pint-size jar. Add water. Shake well. Add vinegar and salad oil.

Strawberry Jam Twists Taste Good

Pass these colorful blaut twists at coffetime. Prepare your favorite blaut recipe through the kneading step. Divide dough in half and roll out one half to a rectangle about 1/4 - 1/2 inch thick. Spread with strawberry jam.

Roll out the remaining dough and invert over the jam, pressing down slightly. Cut into 1/2-inch strips and twist. Bake on an ungreased baking sheet in a very hot oven (450 degrees) about 12 to 15 minutes.

Shake again about 30 seconds. Place cooled celery hearts in the dressing, refrigerate, and marinate for about 1 hour.

When ready to serve, arrange 1 or 2 celery hearts in lettuce cup. Garnish with anchovy fillets, sliced hard cooked egg and tomato wedges. Makes 6 servings.

Shell Macaroni Makes a Good Menu Feature

Shell macaroni decorated and flavored with bits of crisp bacon, onion, radishes, green pepper, celery, parsley, and a nippy dressing, makes a delicious menu feature.

This hot macaroni salad can serve as the main dish or as a side dish at any time of the year.

Hot Macaroni Salad
 1 7-ounce package shell macaroni
 6 slices bacon, diced
 2 tablespoons vinegar
 1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
 1/4 teaspoon prepared mustard
 1/4 teaspoon salt
 1/4 teaspoon pepper
 1/4 cup salad dressing
 1/4 cup sliced radishes
 1/4 cup chopped green pepper
 1/4 cup chopped celery
 1/4 cup chopped parsley

Cook macaroni in boiling, salted water. Fry bacon until crisp; drain. Add vinegar, chopped onion, mustard, salt, and pepper to 1 tablespoon bacon fat. Heat to boiling. Add drained macaroni, salad dressing, sliced radishes, chopped green pepper, chopped celery, and chopped parsley. Toss.

Cook Up Date Butter

Homemade "Date Butter" is yours simply by simmering until thickened 2 cups chopped fresh dates, 1 cup water, 1/2 cup brown sugar and a pinch of salt. It's convenient to have on hand to serve on pancakes, waffles, nut bread and ice cream or in peanut butter sandwiches or as cake filling.

Tractors can operate at least 100 farm machines and their attachments.

Apples Are Good as a Snack or Used in Recipes

An apple a day, or better yet, several apples a day, is a favorite autumn snack. Apples used in cooking also become highly snackable, and here are several recipes to prove it.

Dutch Apple Bran has special appeal in the morning. Served warm, squares of this coffee cake are the making of a coffee break when friends stop in. All-Bran (whole bran cereal) gives the cake nutlike goodness, while brown sugar, cinnamon and butter point up the flavor of the sliced apple topping.

Good any time of day are Applesauce Drop Cookies. These moist and spicy morsels are made with applesauce, raisins and Concentrate (ready-to-eat nutrition concentrate) and are generous with both flavor and wholesomeness.

As an afternoon or evening snack, Apple Pie Pudding is something a little out of the ordinary. Baked in a layer cake pan and served in wedges, the pudding has chopped apples, nutmeats and golden Corn Flake crumbs to impart a tortle-like quality. Puffs of whipped cream make for a tasty garnish. Serve the dessert warm or cold.

DUTCH APPLE BRAN CAKE
1½ cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup whole-bran cereal
3 cups sliced, pared apples (about 3 medium)

¾ cup brown sugar, firmly packed
¼ cup soft shortening
¼ cup granulated sugar
1 egg
½ cup milk
2 teaspoons cinnamon
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
Sift together flour, baking powder and salt; mix with All-Bran. Blend shortening and granulated sugar; add egg and beat well. Add sifted dry ingredients alternately with milk, mixing after each addition.

Spread in greased 9x9-inch pan. Arrange apples on top of batter, pressing slightly into batter. Combine brown sugar and cinnamon; sprinkle over apples. Dot with butter. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) about 35 minutes. Serve warm.
Yield: 9 servings.

APPLESAUCE DROP COOKIES
1½ cups sifted flour
½ teaspoon baking powder

1 teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon ground cloves
½ teaspoon nutmeg
½ cup seedless raisins
1 cup ready-to-eat nutrition concentrate ¼ cup soft butter or margarine
1 cup sugar
1 egg
1 cup applesauce
Sift together flour, baking powder, soda, salt and spices. Mix in raisins and cereal. Blend butter and sugar. Add egg and beat until light and fluffy. Stir in sifted dry ingredients alternately with applesauce. Drop by teaspoonsful onto greased baking sheets. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) about 10 minutes. Yield: 12 dozen cookies, 2 inches in diameter.

½ cup packaged corn flake crumbs
2 tablespoons flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ cup sugar
1 egg
1 teaspoon vanilla flavoring
1 cup chopped nut meats
1 cup chopped pared apples
If using corn flakes, crush into fine crumbs. Sift together flour, baking powder and salt.

Gradually add sugar to egg, beating well after each addition. Stir in vanilla. Add corn flake crumbs and sifted dry ingredients; mix well. Fold in nutmeats and apples. Spread in greased 8-inch layer pan.
Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) about 30 minutes. Cut into wedges and serve warm or cold with whipped cream, if desired. Yield: 6 servings.

These Mock Eggs Benedict Make Quick Luncheon Treat

A quick version of an old classic, Eggs Benedict, makes an easy treat for lunch for the family in a hurry or when guests drop in unexpectedly. Mock Eggs Benedict combines those two versatile favorites, cheese and eggs, in a tasty dish especially good for meatless days.

Protein-rich eggs are gently poached to just the desired degree of doneness in simmering water. While the eggs are poaching, cut rounds of bread and lightly toast and butter, if desired. Cover the toast rounds with sliced mushrooms, either canned or fresh and sautéed. Gently place a poached egg on top of each mushroom-covered toast round.

A cheese sauce topping for the poached eggs is quickly made by heating condensed cheese soup. Quick as a wink, lunch is ready. Serve two poached eggs per person, along with sliced, fresh tomatoes.

A dozen eggs in the refrigerator always gives you the makings for hundreds of quick meals. When you serve eggs "as is," they are a most economical source of high-quality protein.

Eggs are so easily and quickly cooked, they are excellent helpers when you find you are pressed for time. Make a gourmet meal using eggs in a starring role. You'll be kind to your budget, but you'll also earn admiring comments for your culinary skills.

Ice Cream Sundae
Milk Coffee

Mock Eggs Benedict
8 buttered toast rounds
2 cans (3 oz) sliced mushrooms
8 poached eggs
1 can (10½ oz) cheese soup

Place two toast rounds on each plate. Drain mushrooms and divide evenly between the toast rounds. Top with a poached egg. Heat the cheese soup over low heat, stirring constantly until bubbly. Spoon over the poached eggs. Serve immediately. Makes 4 servings.

Poached Eggs
Bring water in a shallow pan to the boiling point — enough to have about two inches of water. Reduce heat to hold temperature at simmering. Break each egg into a sauce dish and slip egg into water quickly at the surface. Cook 3 to 5 minutes, depending on the firmness desired. Remove the eggs with slotted pancake turner or spoon and drain.

We Couldn't Hope to Wed--Dionnes

NEW YORK (UPI)—The four surviving Dionne quintuplets charged today that their parents taught them "there was no possibility of ever marrying" and had them followed by detectives to check on their friendships even when they were adults.

What rankled, said the quintuplets in their second published blast at Olivia and Elzire Dionne, was that their father charged the detectives to them through the trust fund set up in their behalf.

The article detailing their life after the death in 1953 of their sister, Emilie, appears in the current issue of McCall's Magazine. Three of the quintuplets are now married, and the fourth, Yvonne, is a nun.

The quintuplets wrote that as young adults "our area of greatest ignorance was men".

"We had been carefully guarded, and even the most casual contact with them... The only members of the male sex we could talk to without risking dad's displeasure were a few neighbors' sons, our brothers, and before our marriages, the admirers of our older sisters..."

"There was no possibility, we had been taught, of ever marrying. We were destined to stay at home or go into the church as inevitably as water runs down to the sea. Men frightened us to death."

The three married quintuplets, Marie, Cecile, and Annette, revealed that they were scared of having children, but all have had strong, healthy children.

IN FLOWER SHOP

Cecile was the first to find romance. She met and fell in love with Phillippe Langlois, who worked in a flower shop which Marie had opened in order to be near Cecile. She used an assumed name to avoid the press. "It soon dawned on Phil," the quintuplets wrote, "that he was being watched. A series of men followed him around the city, looking exactly as they do on television, in raincoats and hats with pulldown brims."

"There was no doubt that this was Dad's doing, because the detectives were charged against us. The bill for their services was included in the annual statement of accounts that was submitted to each of us under the terms of the trust agreement."

Cecile and Langlois married, and Marie's business venture failed. She worked briefly in another flower shop, using an assumed name to avoid publicity, but "the detectives appeared again and were billed to her account as before."

Marie eventually married Germain Allard, although her father was opposed to the match. Annette also married. They came, in time, to have some understanding of their father's attitude.

COMPELLED TO FIGHT

"He was compelled, by no choice of his own, to fight so hard to win us back as a kind of prize (from Dr. Dufoe) that he locked us up too tight and cried out against those 'outsiders' who tried to interfere," they said.

"He was reluctant to give us up again, even in marriage. He wanted us for himself as long as he lived. He did not see the good things in our birth. The money that flowed spontaneously was both a good and bad thing."

"Good because it took the edge off the poverty our family had experienced and made material living comfortable for everybody, ourselves most of all.

"But it was bad because it changed the nature of Dad."

Thief Takes Tuxedo; Probably Won't Wear

LOS GATOS, Calif. (UPI)—Gene Endsloew told police he returned to his car yesterday and found that someone had stolen his tuxedo and dress shirt—and added that the thief probably won't be found wearing it. Endsloew is 6 feet 5 inches tall and weighs 265 pounds. The missing tuxedo was size 50.

U.S. Bomber Sets New Flight Record

SOUTH RUISLIP, England (UPI)—A U.S. Air Force major who flew his jet bomber half way around the world in eight and one-half hours yesterday puffed his pipe and told how he set two world records without really trying.

"We would have done the trip faster, I guess," Maj. Sidney J. Kubesch, 32, of El Campo, Texas, said, "but for slight engine trouble. We did not want to give ourselves trouble so we eased back on our speed."

"It wasn't planned as a speed record flight," an Air Force official added. "It just worked out that way."

Engine trouble or not, Kubesch set a supersonic speed and distance record by piloting a Strategic Air Command jet bomber nicknamed "Greased Lightning" from Tokyo to London in eight hours and 35 minutes yesterday.

The plane, a B58 "Hustler" medium bomber, was refueled from KC135 tankers five times during its 8,425-mile, non-stop flight from Tokyo across Alaska, Canada, Greenland and Iceland.

British and American airmen cheered Kubesch and his two crewmen as they climbed from the bomber.

TWO CREWMEN

The crewmen were Maj. John O. Barrett, 32, of Yuces Valley, Calif., navigator, and Capt. Gerard R. Williamson, 26, of New Orleans, defensive systems operator.

The record flight was announced by Third U.S. Air Force headquarters here. The plane landed at Greenham Common Airfield north of London.

Big Friday--PNH vs. Walled Lake; W. Bloomfield vs. Northville

Area's Top Crowd Expected for Inter-Lakes Showdown

There is no looking any further for the Pontiac Northern and Walled Lake Inter-Lakes football title aspirants — their game is Friday.

The two top contenders will collide head on at 4 p.m. under the lights at Walled Lake with a jammed throng of perhaps 6,000 expected to see the contest.

Both sides are brimming with confidence and can be expected to spare no offensive or defensive device in the contest.

"As far as the league is concerned, this is the one they (the Huskies) have been pointing at; and our kids were talking about Northern two weeks ago — too soon really," said Walled Lake coach Dave Smith Wednesday.

Northern's Bob Dingman was just as emphatic.

"I think that we're ready for an all-out effort — we'd better be . . ."

Two of the best offenses in the county will be on display. Walled Lake in winning five straight has scored 21 touchdowns with a top-flight passing attack featuring John Thomas' aerials to end Dave Fagerlie and flankerback Don Robinson.

HIKING ACE

Northern has tallied 19 six-pointers between the speed and power of its runners and Jim Kimmel's long distance passing. In addition, the toe of Dean Souden, the PNH place-kicker, may prove to be a potent weapon.

The Huskies and Vikings have been reviewing their defenses attempting to limit their foe's attacking prowess.

"They've got a real good overall offense. We know what if we can keep them from the long gainer, it will help us," Dingman noted.

Smith was very impressed by the Northern speed.

"We're hoping we can slow them down a bit. We don't have great speed like Northern's got."

But the Vikings are not conceding anything.

"It is going to take a pretty good club to beat us, particularly if we are right," Smith commented.

The game may set an attendance record for the Walled Lake field. A crowd of close to 7,000 reportedly saw the 1956 "bottle of the unbottled" between Walled Lake and Waterford.

The Vikings won that one, 12-7, on a last-minute controversial pass play to clinch the I-L championship that season.

PNH has not beaten Walled Lake in four tries, losing 20-14, 33-14, 9-6 and 26-0. A win for the Huskies Friday would tie them with the Vikings at 3-1 in the league, with Berkeley needing a victory at Farmington that afternoon to tie, also.

Walled Lake officials advise plenty of tickets and parking space will be available at the school. Student advance tickets have been on sale at both schools.

Gates at the field are expected to open at approximately 6:30 p.m. There are almost 4,000 seats unreserved plus an abundance of standing room.

W-O League Scramble in Laker Hands

Clarkston, Milford Need Wins and Help From Keego 11

It will be "now or never" for West Bloomfield in the Wayne-Oakland League football race Friday when the Lakers entertain their place Northville. The Mustangs carry a 4-0 record into the 8 p.m. fray and a victory would all but clinch a share of the title.

Northville could get that title share Friday with some help from Brighton. The injury-riddled Bulldogs travel to Clarkston. The Wolves are tied for second with West Bloomfield at 3-1.

MILFORD AT HILLS

Milford, needing help from West Bloomfield to stay in contention, will be at Bloomfield Hills Friday afternoon. Holly entertains Clarenceneville in the other league encounter.

Another setback would all but end West Bloomfield's chances for the crown. Northville would only need a victory over Brighton next week to ice a piece of the spoils and then could win it all the following week against Clarkston.

Friday's game in Keego Harbor is the first of three straight crucial tests that will determine the championship.

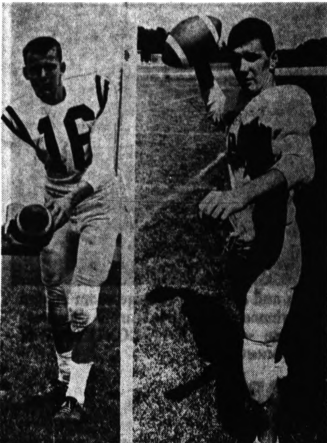

West Bloomfield plays Clarkston next week and then the Wolves and Mustangs get together.

FIRST LOSS

Clarkston met with disaster at Holly last week, 7-4, and the Wolves must get back on the winning track or fall by the wayside.

Milford, off to a flying start, has been slowed by Northville and Clarkston. But the Redskins are still in the race.

BIG GUNS READY—A big battle always needs big guns and here are two who will face each other when Pontiac Northern and Walled Lake meet in the big Inter-Lakes game at Walled Lake Friday night. Lions to Have Single Boss?

DETROIT (AP)—"You can't have 144 quarterbacks," says William Clay Ford, who is offering to pay the Detroit Lions $6 million to become the professional football team's one and only signal caller.

His brother, Henry Ford II, approved of the offer, Bill Ford said.

"A couple of years ago he suggested that I buy the club when there was all that trouble (the proxy battle). He feels the same way now," Ford said.

Ford hopes to purchase the Lions by late November.

"The stockholders will have four weeks after the board makes its recommendation," he said. "What the board does is not too great a favor. It's a real plus if you get it. But the stockholders control the situation."

"As far as making moves on the club, we'll wait until next year."

PROXY BATTLE

Ford became Lions president in January 1961, ending a proxy battle for control among two former team presidents.

He said he had been planning his offer to buy the club for a year, and the offer was not affected by the Lions' record this season—two victories in five games.

"Nobody is happy with the way things are going," said Ford. "But it's a long season and we haven't given up on this club. Maybe one man can't solve all the problems, but he can cut them down at least. That is what I hope to do."

If the offer is accepted, he said, "I don't intend to coach the team. George (Wilson) is the head coach and still will be."

George will be talking to one guy (Ford). That's better than talking to a crowd after a loss, he added.

Ford indicated he will stay active in the automobile business if the Lions' deal goes through.

"I'm still an automobile man," he said. "I have to think how much time I've spent in STIRS LIONS—William Clay Ford, president of the Detroit Lions has caused a stir in the NFL franchise this week with the announcement that he is ready to buy the Lions for $6 million. Some members of the board have looked on the offer affirmatively.

Red Wings Have No 'Ammunition'

Without Howe Detroit Easy Victims, 3-0

Plante Gets Ovation From Rangers' Large Opening Crowd

NEW YORK (AP)—The Detroit Red Wings without Gordie Howe are like guns without ammunition.

Howe, on the verge of becoming the greatest goal scorer of all time, missed his first game in 2 1/2 seasons last night and the Wings were shut out by the New York Rangers and their new goalie Jacques Plante, 3-0.

"It's a long way to come just to play bridge," Howe growled after the game.

He suffered an ankle cut that needed four stitches to close Tuesday during a practice. The skate of goalie Terry Sawchuk caused the cut.

Howe couldn't put on his right skate because of the injury and didn't even dress for the game. Manager-Coach Sid Abel said he hopes that Howe will be back in the lineup Saturday night at Toronto.

FIRST LOSS

The loss was the first of the season for Detroit after a home victory. For New York it was the first win of the season after two road losses.

The largest home opened in the last 16 years — 15,340 — was attracted partly by the chance of seeing Howe break the record but stayed to give Plante a rousing ovation. Plante was named for Montreal for Gump Worsley between seasons.

Phil Goyette scored a goal with just 56 seconds gone in the game and that was enough for New York as Plante made 34 saves.

Before the game a "bring back Gump" sign was draped over the railing but it was gone long before the game ended as Plante had the crowd roaring.

Rod Gilbert boosted the New York lead to 2-0 at 2:32 of the second and former Red Wing Fonteyne scored the final goal at 7:22 of the second period to seal the victory.

Local Girl 'Named' in Pistons' Contest

In a sidelight to last night's opening pro basketball game at Convention Arena in Detroit, the Pistons selected their queen for the coming season.

Selected as the second runner-up was pretty Susan Hill of 2411 E. Hamstead Lake in West Bloomfield Township. The Michigan State freshman (a Pontiac Central graduate) was named Miss Dribble.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel W. Hill, the 15-year-old lass is the reigning Miss Michigan State Fair. Romance Peach Queen and Pontiac's Junior Miss.

Fourth Period Fade Brings Piston Loss

By JERE CRAIG

DETROIT — That 1962-63 nemesis — the fourth quarter fade — came back to haunt the Detroit Pistons as they inaugurated the National Basketball Association last night at Convention Arena.

The Philadelphia 76ers (formerly the Syracuse Nats) rallied from a nine-point deficit early in the final quarter to gain a tense, 117-115, victory over the home team.

Time and again last season the Pistons would lose NBA games when their starting five would seed rest late in the game and the bench was sent in to fill the breach.

When only one new face was found on the Detroit bench this season — not including new coach Charley Wolf — it was figured the problem would still be there.

Well, came the final period and sure enough the Pistons faded as the 76ers put on a strong rally. But it wasn't the reserves' fault.

They produced admirably in the season opener. Willie Jones, Jackie Moreland, Dave DeBusschere and even last year's forgotten man, Darrell Imhoff, did the job when called upon.

COSTLY ERRORS

The problem was one of mistakes. The regulars were rested enough in the first three periods for the final stanza. But a lack of offensive thrust, mostly due to poor ball handling and ineffective rebounding, cost the Pistons in the closing minutes.

Philadelphia outscored them, 29-20, for the session, and won on a 20-foot jump shot by Lee Shaffer with nine seconds left to play.

The shot brought dismay to most of the 3,711 fans who turned out for the contest. It was only the second time in the final half that Detroit trailed; but it was the most important time in the whole game.

Johnny Egan had a foul shot with four seconds to play. Being two points down, the strategy called for a miss and a timely Piston rebound.

That is exactly what followed but team captain Bailey Howell missed a 12-foot jumper from the side and the visitors controlled the rebound.

The home team trailed 30-35 after one period but the middle stanzas were mostly Detroit as the bench came through.

Willie Jones, who hit seven of his first eight field goal attempts, and Howell put the Pistons ahead 62-58 with late baskets in the first half.

A 33-point third quarter found them up, 95-86, entering the final period.

Detroit hit 45 per cent of its shots to 41 per cent for the

Qualifying Starts Saturday

Bowlerama Purse Bulges

Some lucky Oakland County bowler is going to have a Pontiac Press check for at least $700 in his pocket the first week of December.

And four others will have slips of paper worth $1,150 — ranging from $500 down to $150 — just for rolling a ball down a bowling alley.

The above prizes are guaranteed, but do not prohibit the possibilities of ties in the seventh annual Press Bowlerama. The checks could be worth more if this year's entry list equals or surpasses the 1200-plus who competed last year.

Last year's first prize was increased by approximately $30 when the prize fund was totaled. For each $7 entry the prize fund receives $4.50 which is returned entirely to the approximately one in every seven who win.

Money awards are planned also for the Actuals Invitational winner and runners-up, high qualifying series at each house, high qualifying game overall, the mixed doubles winners, and Bowlerama finalists, and the winner of the champions' match.

The latter pits the Bowlerama handicap champion against the Actuals Invitational champion. Trophies will also be presented to the winners.

Bowlers pay the entry fee each time they attempt to qualify. Only the bowling expenses are charged for the finals and the Actuals Invitionals.

Competition will begin 11 a.m. Saturday at Airway Lanes, Huron Bowl, Lakewood Lanes, North Hill Lanes, Montcalm Bowling Centre.

Sunday morning it will be derby at Cooley Lanes, Collier's Lanes, Huron Bowl, Lakewood Lanes, Maple Lanes and West Side Lanes. All except Lakewood will start at 11 o'clock, the latter will have a 10-15 beginning.

Each house is slated to have six squads, except Lakewood which will have four on Sundays. Three Sundays and two Saturdays of qualifying are slated for each of the 12 establishments.

The Nov. 30th Actuals Invitational and Dec. 1st Bowlerama finals will be at 300 Bowl.

Entry blanks are available at all qualifying houses, plus most county establishments north of 14 Mile Road. While entries are accepted right up until a squad is filled or has begun bowling, those who have their entries in early will have the top priority on receiving their requested times.

Bowlers may re-enter as often as they wish for as many squads as they can make.

All women entrants receive the same handicap as the men—70 per cent. In addition, a man and woman may team together at no extra charge to compete for the mixed doubles trophy and cash.

The tournament is sanctioned by both the American Bowling Congress and the Women's International Bowling Congress.

Area Notes

Golf Still in Picture

Lewis G. Miller, 7190 Cottonwood Knoll, Birmingham, is one of 27 golfers selected in the nation-wide "Beat Bing" contest to compete in the playoff at the Tucson National Golf Club, Oct. 25 and 26.

Should Miller win first place in his class at Tucson, he and his wife will be invited to attend the Big Crosby Pro-Am Tournament at Pebble Beach, Calif., in January, and will be spectators at the big time competition with many of the greats of golf and show business.

Miller was selected after a round of play in the contest in which he scored 65, beating Bing Crosby's net 70 which the crooner-actor entered at the White Bear Yacht Club, Minn., on Aug. 24.

In addition, if Miller is first in his class at Tucson, Preston Meisel, pro at the Farmington Country Club, will be Bing's guest at the Pebble Beach Tournament. By having certified the winning card, Meisel would become eligible for the trip if his player wins.

At Pontiac Country Club, Don Bray shot a 71 to win the club championship. The Royal Oak school teacher defeated host Lloyd Syron who shot an actual 66 but had to give seven strokes.

Delbert Hammett of Pontiac won the consolation round with 78. A total of 64 players competed.

ACE ON SAME HOLE
Stoneycroft Golf Club's 9th hole has been a happy haven for hole in one this year. The 5th ace of the season was scored in the hole this week when William Lichtenberg, Jr., of Bloomfield Hills used a 7-iron on the 145-yard hole.

He shot a 42 for the nine. With him were Tom Thorpe and Lloyd Coveney.

Mexico withdrew its team because of lack of conditioning. Gen. Jose Gomez Huerta wired the Penn National office here that the Mexican jumpers would not compete in any indoor event this season.

U.S. Coach Bertalan Dene-methy hopes to use the Penn National and other shows in Washington and New York for choosing his team for the Olympics in Tokyo.

UFL Teams

Set to Start Second Half

CLEVELAND (UFL)—The United Football League's first-half dormants, Syracuse and Grand Rapids, enter the second half of the schedule this weekend confident they will give the loop's other four clubs a battle the rest of the way.

Syracuse, loser in all seven of its games, held a 10-6 half-time lead over Wheeling's Ironmen, defending champs, last weekend, but the unbeaten Ironmen rallied to win 34-10, getting three touchdowns in the last quarter.

Next Sunday night Syracuse plays at Wheeling. The Ironmen's defense is hurting, with three linebackers injured. A leg injury may keep Bob Stark, former Pitt star, out for the rest of the campaign.

Leafs Dump Montreal, 4-2; Hawks Win

(From Our Wire Services)
Tim Horton scored the tie-breaking goal and assisted on the clincher Wednesday night in leading the Toronto Maple Leafs to a 4-2 National Hockey League victory over the Montreal Canadiens.

Horton snapped a 2-2 tie with his first goal of the season at 6:10 of the third period. Three minutes later, he and Frank Mahovlich set up a goal by Ron Stewart that put the defending Stanley Cup champions safely ahead.

The victory was the second against one loss for Toronto. Montreal lost its first against one victory and a tie.

Bob Nevin and Dave Keon were the other Toronto scorers while Gilles Tremblay and Billy Hicks scored for Montreal.

HAWKS ROUT BRUINS

Stan Mikita's three-goal hat trick paced the Chicago Black Hawks to a 5-2 victory over the winless Boston Bruins. The victory moved the Hawks into sole possession of the National Hockey League lead.

All four Chicago goals came on rebounds. After Orland Kurtenbach gave the Bruins a 1-0 lead with a power play goal midway in the first period, Mikita popped in a rebound of a shot by Ab McDonald.

Chicago scoring star Bobby Hull put the Hawks on top with the lone goal of the second period, which came while the Hawks were killing a penalty. Chicago's Eric Nesterenko carried the puck into Boston ice, shot, and Boston goalie Ed Johnston saved. Hull, who was trailing the play, skated up and slapped the puck past the sprawling Johnston.

Defenseman Pierre Pilote's first goal of the year and Mikita's final two concluded the Chicago scoring.

Leo Boivin scored the Bruins' second goal in the final period.

Smith's Last Trip

'Joplin Ghost' Goes Home Today

NEW YORK (UPI) — The "Joplin Ghost" goes home to Missouri for the final time today in a journey filled with bitter irony.

Horton Smith is dead at 55. He was a health faddist who never smoked and didn't join the 19th hole crowd until recent years.

Yet Walter Hagen, the liquid legend who discovered him and about whom Smith always worried, still is going strong at 71.

Hagen put Smith on the pro golf tour when he was 28. The young man more than upheld the overwhelming Hail's faith by winning eight tournaments and becoming the youngest Ryder cupper in history. The next year, only 21, he was the last man to beat Bobby Jones before the emperor's retirement when he bested Jones by a stroke in the Savannah Open.

Skip a few years and it's the spring of 1936, just before Smith won the Masters for the second time. And, as usual, he took a dim view of Hagen's convivial preparations. "It's a shame," Smith said, pointing to Hagen. "He doesn't take care of himself and, the way he's going, he won't be around much longer."

Last Sunday during the Ryder Cup matches at Atlanta, Smith fainted and was taken to the Red Cross trailer. The tall, blond man lay on a cot for a half hour and again his thoughts reverted to Hagen.

EXHIBITION TOUR

"I remember that first year, Walter and I made a cross country exhibition tour," he said with a wheeze which bothered him ever since he lost a lung to Hodgkins disease six years ago. "He never took care of himself. He'd tell me to go out on the practice tee and hit balls to entertain the crowd until he showed up. I guess I hit more practice balls than any man in history."

"Then," Smith smiled as he declared himself "all right now" and sat up, "Walter would come out of the bar and usually break the course record."

Two days later, on his arrival back in Detroit, Smith fainted again. This time he didn't get up. His life had been claimed by the same disease which took two other golfing greats, Leo Diegel and Ed (Forky) Oliver.

GREAT PUTTER

Smith as a competitor was regarded as the world's greatest putter and yet was a player who seldom gambled on the daring shot but preferred to play it safe. He was, too, a strange man, in a way, who made the golfing rule book his bible.

While at the top, he would finish his round and then play house detective on the course, following others to make certain that no rules were broken or even slightly fractured. He wouldn't shake hands with anyone during the course of a tournament for fear that he might hurt his own fingers and yet he exercised his vocal chords at the slightest request.

"We all owe a debt to golf," Smith held rigidly. "We should attend every luncheon and dinner we possibly can to spread our gospel about what a great game it is."

At his own wedding he held forth for an hour on how some of golf's greatest names were remiss in this department.

"He would rather have been chairman of the rules committee," was one man's eulogy, "than win the U.S. Open championship."

You have to admit that Smith was right. But he was wrong about Hagen. Dead wrong.

LA Pockets Record Series Pay Check

NEW YORK (AP)—The dazzling World Series pitching of Sandy Koufax, Johnny Podres and Don Drysdale, which buried the New York Yankees in four straight, put an additional $4,919.68 into the pockets of each fulltime member of the Dodgers.

In a breakdown of the Series player shares, Commissioner Ford Frick disclosed Wednesday that a full share was worth $12,794 to a winning Dodger while each full share for the losing Yankees amounted to $7,874.32.

They are the highest winning and losing shares in Series history. The Dodgers voted 51 1/2 full shares, the Yankees 35 1/2. It was the first million dollar player pool, the Dodgers getting $427,369.51 and the Yankees $284,913 from the $1,017,546.43 jackpot.

Another record was the total gate receipts of $1,996,180.69, most money derived from a four-game series.

The Dodgers' winning share surpassed the old winners' high of $11,231.18 paid to each fulltime Dodger in Los Angeles' victory over the Chicago White Sox in 1959. The Yankees' losing share is some $600 more than the previous high of $7,281.49 which the San Francisco Giants received after they lost to the Yankees in 1962.

The Yankees, as usual, demonstrated their generosity. They voted a full share to pitcher Bud Daley, who was on the disabled list virtually all season following an arm operation on April 21. Daley appeared in only one game.

The Yankees also voted full shares to pitcher Steve Hamilton and infielder Harry Bright, who were acquired after the season began, and gave a two-fifth share of $3,149.72 to relief pitcher Tom Metcalf, who did not join the club until August.

The Dodgers, too, showed their generosity, by voting pitcher Ed Roebuck, traded away in mid-season, a half share of $8,397, and awarded a fourth share of $3,189.50 to the widow of clubhouse man John Griffin, who died during the season.

Dick Nen, the rookie first baseman who helped win an important September game against the Cardinals by hitting a home run in his first major league game, was voted $1,000. Thirty per cent of the player's pool was divided among the second, third and fourth place clubs in both leagues.

The two runners-up, St. Louis and the Chicago White Sox, received $76,315.88 each while the third place Giants and Minnesota Twins got $50,877.33 apiece. Philadelphia and Baltimore, the fourth place clubs, garnered $25,438.66 each.

Fifth place finishers were not included in the playoffs.

The full individual shares for the Cardinals amounted to $2,278.09 while each full-sharing member of the Twins got $2,246.97. Full third place shares came to $1,453.64 for the Giants and $1,462.46 for the White Sox. A full share for the Phillies came to $765.32 and for the Orioles $740.85.

Death Deals Blade Master First Setback

ROME (AP)—Agesilao Greco, perhaps the world's greatest swordsman, died today at 97 after a lifetime in which he never was beaten with foil, sabre or epee.

Doctors said it was bronchial pneumonia which finally ended the life of the great fencer whom Italians called The King of Spades. In the old Italian card deck the spade — Spada — is a sword.

The Sicilian-born fencer master was unbeaten in world matches for almost 30 years. His great regret was that he never was able to fence in the Olympics. He was a professional.

In 1925, when Greco was nearly 60, he complained that he had simply run out of opponents. He finally posted a $15,000 challenge to anyone who could beat him in a three-match duel: foil, epee and sabre.

Speedster Hurt

Carr Quits Grid Team

TEMPE, Ariz. (AP)—Henry Carr, one of the world's great sprinters, accepted a medical verdict Wednesday and quit Arizona State University's football team.

The speedy Detroit, Mich., halfback, who has a .203 second clicking in the 220-yard dash pending as a world record, was ruled out of football because of a thigh injury.

Carr bruised the thigh in a pre-season scrimmage, and last week X-rays revealed the start of calcium deposits at the Team physician Dr. L. C.

Sutherland said Monday the junior speedster should stay out of football, and with that complete rest, would be ready for track.

Carr in accepting the decision was somewhat bitter and said he hoped to play in future years. "They just won't let me play any more. They told me to be quiet for about three months and that's what I'll have to do. But I still hope to play football some day, and I'll be back."

Last fall he played some with the Sun Devil football team, but leg injuries curtailed his play.

Like most youngsters her age, Arlene excels when it comes to fracturing the king's English. We finally figured out that the "princess" was the principal. And the "microscope," of course, was a microphone and a loudspeaker.

It sounded like a noble thought. As I watched her combing her hair washing her South won the ace of hearts and played two more rounds of trumps on which East dropped two hearts. Then he led a club from dummy. East hopped up with the ace and forced dummy to use its last trump in order to ruff a heart.

A diamond was led next and again East was ready to hop up with the king. He still had a lot of chances to go wrong, but East had everything framed out. He led back his deuce of clubs.

South won with the jack, but had no way to get to dummy to discard his last low diamond.

Commerce Township — John L. Weatherly, 54, of 4435 S. Commerce, died early today after a lengthy illness. His body is at Richardson-Bird Funeral Home, Walpole Lake.

They were passengers in a car driven by Ronald Maynard, 19, of 69½ Putnam, when it collided with a truck driven by Joseph Flemming, 61, of Detroit.

Maynard was treated for minor injuries and released. Flemming was not injured.

3 Men Are Accused of Illegal Gambling

Three men were arrested by Pontiac police yesterday afternoon on charges of violating state gambling laws.

Eddie J. Beasley, 45, was accused of operating an illegal card game at his home, 653 Alton, where the trio was arrested.

Charged with aiding and abetting were Hobart Betts, 42, of Flint, and Hayward Beasley, 40, of 399 Prospect.

Lt. Fred Glines and patrolman Guy White arrested them at 3 p.m.

The three were released on $500 bond each following their arraignment before Municipal Judge Cecil McCallum. A preliminary examination is scheduled for Wednesday.

Robber Gets $45 at Service Station

An armed bandit held up the attendant at the Clark Oil Station, 420 S. Saginaw, and escaped with $45 early this morning.

Henry Hattig, 4660 Seymour Lake Road, Oxford Township, told Pontiac police he was mopping the floor about 5:30 a.m. when the masked man rushed in and ordered him to hand over the cash box.

The bandit wore a handkerchief with holes cut out for eyes over his face, according to Hattig. He said the weapon was a "long-barreled" hand gun.

Man to Face Rape Charge

A 31-year-old Pontiac man will be arraigned in Circuit Court Monday on a charge of raping a Bloomfield Township woman April 13.

Louis Milton Jr., 494 Bagley, was bound over to the higher court following his preliminary examination yesterday before Bloomfield Township Justice Alice Gilbert.

He was returned to the Oakland County Jail. Bond was continued at $50,000.

Milton was arrested by police last Saturday near St. Joseph Mercy Hospital. They had been called to the scene to investigate a prowler report.

He was identified as a suspect a few hours later by the woman.

Waterford Cityhood Speaker Willing to Risk Higher Tax

William Shunk, former superintendent of Waterford Township schools, last night said he favored passage of the cityhood proposal Nov. 5 even though he felt it might cause taxes to rise.

Speaking at a meeting sponsored by the Waterford Citizens Action Committee for Incorporation, (WCAC), Shunk based his tax boost theory on the likelihood that residents of a city will demand more services.

Now superintendent of Wayne County schools, Shunk said he was willing to take his chances on more taxes in view of the alternatives.

He said the present population already dictates a switch from township form of government which he said lacks characteristics to function efficiently with a large population.

"I am certain that 10 years from now Waterford will not be governed as it is now," he said.

Shunk said it will be a matter of becoming one large city or fragmenting into several small cities. He cited the move to a single city as the most desirable.

MODERATED TALK

WCAC chairman Dr. John Naz, who moderated the panel discussion at the Community Activities Inc. building added a third possibility in Waterford's future — becoming a part of the Greater Pontiac area.

Attorney Calvin Patterson, another of the four panelists, maintained that the act of incorporation would not necessarily raise taxes.

Patterson warned that if the incorporation issue fails, the township immediately faces a move by Pontiac to annex the Mail.

Brandon Rogers, planning consultant for the township and another panelist, said that city status generally becomes desirable for a growing community.

"Waterford has the proper start to become a well-rounded city," he said. "You have the space to do something here."

Rogers also said the planning would be made easier through incorporation of the township as a city.

Robert Dieball, township planning director and the fourth panelist, reviewed activities to date on the incorporation move.

NEEDS ELECTION

He emphasized that passage of the cityhood issue Nov. 5 will not make Waterford a city. Not until the charter prepared by the charter commission is approved in a second election will cityhood occur, he explained.

Dieball called the threat of fragmentation of the community the prime argument for incorporation.

Model Shows Acting Form

EDINBURGH, Scotland (UPI)—Blonde model Anna Kesselar, 19, was ordered to stand trial on indecency charges yesterday because she appeared nude at an Edinburgh Festival drama conference.

Miss Kesselar won fame of a sort two months ago when she stripped, climbed on a television trolley, and was wheeled across the gallery in full view of the audience. Her appearance broke up the conference.

Both Miss Kesselar and Scottish publisher John Calder, who is charged with aiding and abetting her, pleaded not guilty.

Nun Is Designated Honorary Policeman

UTICA, N.Y. (AP)—Sister Prisca, a nun at St. Mary of Mt. Carmel Parochial School, is a celebrity with her class today—she has been named an honorary police sergeant.

Sister Prisca was elevated to the rank last night by Inspector Patrick Orsino of the police traffic division. Orsino said the sergeant's stripes were awarded because of Sister Prisca's "exceptional work in the field of school traffic safety."

Meredith Predicts Civil War

DETROIT (AP)—James Meredith, the Negro who broke a segregation barrier and was graduated from the University of Mississippi, said last night, "another civil war is in the making" if the nation doesn't solve the Negro rights problem.

"If the two sides (the Negro rights issue) divide into factions and won't budge, then they must fight," Meredith told an audience at the University of Detroit.

Asked if this meant Negroes fighting whites, Meredith replied: "No, Negroes can't fight anything. They would lose."

BASIC PROBLEM

Meredith said the nation's "No. 1 internal problem" is "whether one man can be so socially or legally supreme to another man."

Mississippi, he said, stands as "a symbol of segregation."

"There aren't a half-dozen Negro college graduates in Mississippi who could pass an entrance examination to a good law school," he said.

He said at Jackson State College, a Negro school he attended before entering the University of Mississippi, the freshman class reading ability was at the seventh grade level.

"As a factual matter, a Negro in the South is better off than one in the North," Meredith said.

In the North, he said, parents "don't ever think of sending their children to college."

Southern Negro thinks of sending his college-age children to school.

School Expansion Set in Mount Clemens

MOUNT CLEMENS (AP)—The Mount Clemens Board of Education has announced plans for a $4.6-million school expansion program.

The board will be submitted to the voters in the form of a $4.2 million bond issue in late November. School officials estimated it would add $15 to the average taxpayer's annual bill.

New Hearing for Edwards

Additional Testimony on Judgeship Certain

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Herbert Walters, D-Tenn., said last night he had been assured a second hearing would be held for further testimony on President Kennedy's nomination to a judgeship on the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals for the 6th District.

Walters said the assurance came from Sen. Sam Ervin, D-N.C., of the Senate Judiciary Committee, after Walters asked for the additional hearing at the request of a Tennessee group.

An earlier hearing was held about a week ago. No date was set immediately for the new hearing, Walters said.

The 6th District includes Ohio, Michigan, Kentucky and Tennessee.

Meanwhile, the president of the Tennessee Bar Association spoke out strongly against the nomination.

S. Shepard Tate of Memphis sent a telegram to Sen. James O. Eastland, chairman of the Judiciary Committee, in which Tate urged Edwards' appointment not be confirmed.

The telegram was at the direction of the association's board of governors.

Tate told Eastland that Edwards' "reported admissions of past activities would show a disqualification for this judicial office and would create in the public mind and in the bar a lack of confidence in the courts of the United States."

This came after testimony before the committee a month in which Edwards said he had been jailed in Michigan and Arkansas for contempt of court in connection with labor strikes in the 1930s.

Something Borrowed

CHERTSEY, England (UPI)—Elaine Walter, 19, was fined $10 yesterday for stealing 85 items from the underwear shop she managed. She said she wanted to make up her wedding trousseau.

Mishap Victim Dies

DETROIT (U) — James Mahoney, 41, died yesterday from injuries suffered Monday when he was struck by a car while attempting to cross a street.

AP Photos

SUSPICIOUS CASE — Prospective juror Nicholas D'Amico shows a security officer at Queens County Court in New York City that his violin case really holds a violin. D'Amico was stopped a half-dozen times by police and ordered to open the case because two floors above him, mobster Joseph Valachi was testifying before a grand jury. Gangsters have often concealed deadly weapons in violin cases.

Prosecutor Predicts Indictments

Valachi Gives NY New Slaying Leads

NEW YORK (U) — Informer Joseph Valachi has given two of New York City's district attorneys new leads on underworld assassinations here, and one prosecutor predicts indictments.

Bronx Dist. Atty. Isidore Dollinger, who is investigating nine gangland murders dating back to 1930, said Valachi provided information he had not given before the Senate investigations subcommittee.

"He has a fabulous memory, and it's more than hearsay," Dollinger said after talking with the underworld informer yesterday.

"With his help, we will be able to obtain indictments..."

VERY SATISFIED

Queens Dist. Atty. Frank D. O'Connor said only that he was "very satisfied" with the testimony of Valachi before a Queens grand jury. But O'Connor did not predict indictments.

O'Connor said his staff can "follow up information which we did not have four years ago."

He said the name of the imprisoned Vito Genovese—whom Valachi has named as boss of the underworld syndicate Cosa Nostra — "has come up as the man who ordered the rub-out."

The 60-year-old Valachi was said to have identified from rogues gallery pictures almost a score of Cosa Nostra members living in or operating out of Queens.

O'Connor ordered his racketeers squad to round them up for questioning in the murder of Little Augie and his girlfriend and in other cases.

Valachi was said to have told the Queens grand jury about several murders in the county and about narcotics traffic, gambling and other rackets.

TWO SESSIONS

He told his story in two sessions before the grand jury—of 40 minutes and 35 minutes. He had been scheduled to go before a grand jury in the Bronx later yesterday, but that date was called off because he showed signs of fatigue.

Dollinger and several aides went to the court house in Queens and questioned Valachi.

Dollinger said Valachi promised to cooperate with him. The prosecutor plans to check with the Department of Justice on when Valachi will be available to testify before the Bronx grand jury.

Valachi left here in a motorcade under the same heavy guard he had when he came from Washington early yesterday.

$100,000 PRICE

While he was here, about 200 federal and local officers—many of them carrying submachine guns, shotguns, rifles and binoculars—guarded the federal life-sentence prisoner on whose head the underworld reportedly has placed a price of $100,000.

Dist. Atty. William Chan of Nassau County, on Long Island, hoped to talk with Valachi today in Washington. Chan wants to hear about three unsolved murders in Nassau.

Romanian Princess

Dies in California

FALLBROOK, Calif. (UPI)—A candlelight prayer service was to be held today at the Fall Mission for Mrs. Alexandra McGhee, 58, who was born Princess Chika of Romania. Mrs. McGhee, daughter of the late Prince Jean Ghika and Princess Hazel Ghika, died Monday. She married retired Air Force Col. L. R. McGhee in Tustin, Calif., in 1954.

Check on Russ Is Foreseen

U. S. Scientist Says Satellites May Film

ANN ARBOR (U) — A scientist said today that U.S. "intelligence satellites" soon should be able to find out whether Russia has any big rockets poised for a trip to the moon.

An eventually, he suggested, it will be possible to take space photographs showing an even finer detail, such as "automobiles on the streets of Moscow."

These predictions were made by Dr. Ralph E. Lapp, a physicist who writes and lectures on atomic and space affairs. In a talk to the Michigan Education Association Lapp said:

"This instrumental penetration of the Iron Curtain is certain to have the most profound consequences for the closed society of the Soviet Union. Geographically, at least, the U.S.S.R. will be open to inspection."

The United States has been experimenting with observation satellites which photograph large areas of the earth. The film is then ejected from orbit in capsules which are recovered.

According to Lapp, "Special treatment of the recovered film allows detail to be emphasized so that small rivers, railroad lines, and rows of houses show up." He said that intercontinental missile "sites under construction and access lines of transportation may be identified."

SEE WHICH KIND

"A properly instrumented observation satellite making a good pass over a Soviet rocket site should be able," Lapp said, "to distinguish between a Vostok rocket (of the kind used to launch men into earth orbit) and the more massive booster needed for a lunar mission."

"If the Soviets are planning to go to the moon, it should not be a dark secret for long," Lapp said.

Speaking of the U.S. plan to land men on the moon before 1970, Lapp said it "is losing thrust."

He said many persons doubt the Russians are racing America for a lunar landing and that others in any case question the scientific importance of the lunar program.

He Returned to Scene of Crime—for More

DETROIT (U) — The General Public Loan Corp.'s northeast branch was robbed of $270 yesterday by a man recognized as the bandit in two earlier holdups there this year.

Office Manager Donna Krantz, 23, told police the man kept one hand in his topcoat pocket, and said: "You know what I'm here for." He scooped out the money from two cash drawers and fled.

Doggied Job Hunter

LONDON (UPI) — An "intelligent and experienced secretary" advertised in the Times of London for a job "where a quiet poodle could sit at her feet."

NEARLY FINISHED — First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Oakland's new five-story main office on West Huron has already joined the Pontiac skyline, but interior work continues. First Federal expects to have all office operations in new quarters within two months. Huge steel beams were used in the building's unusual construction that can be seen behind the scaffolding. They will also form a decorative part of the exterior.

Offices Moved at 1st Federal Construction Goes On at 5-Story Building

While construction is continuing on upper floors, First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Oakland is in the midst of moving operations at its new five-story main office, 761 W. Huron.

First Federal President James Clarkson said final interior work will be completed within 60 days. He said the expansion cost over $500,000, not including furnishings or a new clerical computer.

Office operations are already moving upward a floor at a time from what was once a one-story building.

This original structure, built in 1955, Clarkson said, would not support the weight of added floors. So the expansion was designed from an overhanging steel framework which suspends the addition over the old building.

"We couldn't afford to close down the office," Clarkson explained, "so the expansion was built around us like a cocoon."

Four 18-ton steel beams, front and rear, rest on buried concrete caissons to support the mass. Trusses suspended from them uphold the four new floors.

Interior construction is unique too. The light-colored walls are a type of paneling that can be disassembled to form new partitions at the need of additional space.

Clarkson said First Federal officials, badly cramped in the original building, will fill all the new structure except the fifth floor which will be used for future requirements.

Outside, the new drive-in bank windows resemble the entrance to a toll road. Two are separate, underground-connected letter islands, the other a window on the side of the main building.

Weekly Pickup Set for City's Rubbish

Pontiac residents will get rubbish and garbage pickups once a week beginning Oct. 28.

The new collection policy was outlined today by Clyde Christian, department of public works superintendent.

The present collection policy calls for garbage pickup once a week and rubbish pickup once every two weeks.

"Under the new program," Christian said, "residents will put both garbage and rubbish at the curb for collection." Garbage and rubbish may be combined in one container.

The combined curb-side collection is estimated will save the city about $100,000 annually.

Major savings would result from a reduction of personnel and equipment.

Christian emphasized that while the new program will require residents to carry garbage to the curb, "it actually represents increased service to residents."

"They'll be getting all refuse collected every week and it will no longer be necessary for persons to sort the refuse, separating garbage from rubbish."

"Many cities have found the combined curb collection to be more economical," he noted. "A few that have this type of collection are Detroit, Flint, Warren, Livonia, Royal Oak and Birmingham."

PACKERS
Under the present pickup program, the DPW uses nine load packers, six open bed trucks and a 42-man crew.

The new pickup program can be handled by nine load packer trucks and a 28-man crew.

The smaller crew would cost an estimated $73,000 in savings and benefits off the DWP budget in one year.

Savings in equipment rental costs over a 12-month period are estimated at $27,000.

Notices will be mailed to city residents next week outlining rules and new collection dates. The city will be split into five collection areas, with one area being covered by pickup crews each day.

Pleasant Weather to Remain in Area

October's bright blue weather will remain in the Pontiac area through Saturday, the weatherman said.

The prediction calls for high temperatures climbing to near 80 and the lows dropping to 54.

Light southerly winds south to southwest at 2 to 12 miles per hour today will continue tonight and tomorrow.

Sixty was the lowest temperature in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. The thermometer at 1 p.m. stood at 76.

'Mexico City Leads Detroit for Games Bid'

Red Bloc Reported Backing Lyon Group for '68 Olympics

From Our News Wires
BADEN-BADEN, Germany—Reports that Mexico City has all but sewed up the 1968 Olympic games sent Detroit hopes tumbling today.

The Motor City delegation is also feeling pressure for the city of Lyon, France, in its bid to host the games.

Lyon made a strong pitch yesterday for the Olympics, and there were rumors behind the scenes that she had the Communist bloc in her corner.

Detroit is scheduled to make its bid later.

A check of the delegates disclosed that the powerful Communist group leaned more toward Lyon than any of the other candidates.

DISLIKES DETROIT

One unofficial source said the Communist group had no intention of backing Buenos Aires, disliked Detroit because it would offer little chance to advance the Communist political cause and placed Mexico City in a vague category.

The French delegation corralled members of the International Olympic Committee, other sports officials and members of the world press at a noon reception which took on a completely French air.

Led by Mayor Louis Pradel, the Lyon group plied the guests with champagne, burgundy, hors d'oeuvres and plugs for the French city as the ideal Olympic site.

"We think Lyon is in a perfect geographical situation for the whole world," Lyon's technical director, Tony Bertrand, said.

"It's halfway between Japan and Latin America and from the longitudinal point of view, it's halfway between Finland and Africa."

The Frenchmen said Lyon had 13 stadiums, 48 sports fields, 29 halls, 33 gymnasiums, five swimming pools and 12 areas for water sports.

Michigan Gov. George Romney arrived today to personally lead Detroit's campaign for the Olympics.

"We would be mighty disappointed if we did not get the Olympic Games in 1968. I think Detroit is the ideal city to hold the Olympics," the Republican governor told newsmen at Frankfurt Airport.

Invitation Denounced

Tito Visits at the White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Tito of Yugoslavia visits the White House today and President Kennedy may get the views of the Communist leader on the rift between Moscow and Peking.

There is no official agenda for the Kennedy-Tito talk. But officials acknowledge privately they are particularly interested in what Tito thinks of the Sino-Soviet dispute—and where it may lead.

The invitation to Tito does not sit well in some quarters.

In a speech Wednesday night to the Massachusetts Republican Finance Committee, Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, a leading possibility for the 1964 Republican presidential nomination, declared:

"To the disgrace of every living American, we are welcoming this tyrant to the American capital. We are dining with our enemy and slapping our friends in the face."

And, in the Senate Wednesday Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., called the invitation a "terrible mistake." Tito "is no friend of freedom and no friend of the United States," Dodd said. "On the contrary he is the sworn enemy of everything we stand for."

Tito, 71, was in the United States once before, in 1960, when he attended the U.N. General Assembly. He met briefly then in New York with President Dwight D. Eisenhower. This will be Tito's first visit to Washington to confer with a U.S. president.

IT'S OFFICIAL
The visit was described by officials as "informal, but official." Tito and his wife Jovanka, 39, a former major in the Yugoslav army, arrive at the White House from Williamsburg, Va., by helicopter, and return to Williamsburg in the same way in the afternoon.

In making the visit here short and in choosing the place Tito will see after he leaves Washington, the administration had to weigh carefully domestic political implications, informants said. Except for Khrushchev, who was here in 1959, Tito is the only Communist head of state to have been invited to Washington.

Friday and Saturday Tito will make a leisurely tour of the Rosemead National Park in California, then visit San Francisco on Gov. Edmund G. Brown's invitation. Tito is due in New York Tuesday to address the U.N. General Assembly.

Tito's aides, officials said, agreed that the Yugoslav leader should avoid visiting the industrial areas of Pittsburgh, Cleveland and Detroit, where sizable minorities from his country are living and known to be bitter about him.

Security measures have been planned a little more carefully than usual, the officials said.

Russ N-Tests in 1962

Hiked Fallout in Britain

LONDON (UPI) — The Soviet Union's nuclear tests in 1962 caused more than twice as much radioactive fallout over Britain as the 1961 tests, the United Kingdom Atomic Energy Authority said today.

The authority's research group, in a report covering August, 1962, to April of this year, said the 1962 test series produced 60 megatons of fission yield against 25 for the 1961 series.

All Members Forbid Orbit of N-Weapons

Resolution Outgrowth of Discussion Between U. S., Russ, Britain

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The U. N. General Assembly today outlawed the orbiting of nuclear weapons and other weapons of mass destruction in outer space.

The unanimous action of the 111-nation assembly was hailed by U. S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson and Soviet Ambassador Nikolai T. Fedorenko as an important step toward further disarmament.

The approved resolution was the outgrowth of talks between Soviet, U. S. and British foreign ministers in New York during the early weeks of the assembly session.

It is not binding in a legal sense, but the United States and the Soviet Union both welcomed the action and thereby accepted the U. N. ban.

Just before the resolution was adopted, by acclamation, Fedorenko told the assembly the Soviet government was ready to take the necessary steps to prohibit orbiting of nuclear weapons.

IMPORTANT STEP

He noted that the United States and the Soviet Union had agreed on the ban in advance and declared adoption of the resolution would "be an important further step toward the reduction of international tensions."

Stevenson said it is the intention of the United States to "keep this newly explored environment of outer space free of these dread weapons." He, too, expressed belief that the measure would help reduce tensions.

Mexican delegate Luis Padilla Nervo, who originally introduced the resolution in the assembly's main political committee Tuesday night, compared it in importance to the limited nuclear test ban which has just come into effect.

2 Satellites Checking for Atomic Tests

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI)—Two top-secret U. S. satellites were reported "working perfectly" today as they orbited in orbits toward final stations 60,000 miles high to patrol for clandestine nuclear tests in space.

The two 485-pound satellites rode into the sky one atop the other in the nose of a silver Atlas-Agena rocket—the opening shot in a tightly guarded, five-shot program variously called "Vela Hotel," "Vela High Altitude" and simply "Project 823."

The launching was one of the most deadly accurate ever made by the veteran Atlas-Agena, and informed sources said today radio signals from the satellites indicated that both were "working perfectly."

The initial blast by the two stage rocket hurled the moon-like into highly elliptical, oval-shaped orbits with peak altitudes of about 60,000 miles.

Urban Renewal 'Miracle'

Green Trees From Red Tape

By DICK SAUNDERS
How do you plant 138 trees in an urban renewal project?

If you're a local urban renewal official you:

- Create a 66-page tree plan and proposal
- Spell out some 410 contract items in detail
- Throw in some maps and drawings

—Appropriately bind the documents in a forest green folder

—Mail it off to Chicago and pray that the federal urban renewal officials will approve it

The federal men just approved it, the city's advertising for a tree planter.

If nothing else, this little tale of how plant trees should give the average citizen some idea of the vast complexities involved in an urban renewal program.

APPROVAL FIRST

Nearly every move taken, locally in urban renewal must first be approved by federal urban renewal officials.

When one takes into consideration all the financial and physical aspects of urban renewal, the amount of in-depth red tape and paper work is staggering.

Detailed contract specifications in the tree plan include watering, wrapping, staking, planting, condition, size, location and type of trees.

The federal men even had to put their stamp of approval on an item that reads "Soil Ratio: 1 part peat to 2 parts soil and 10 pounds cattle manure."

The planting area involved is bounded by South Paddock, Auburn, Osburn and the perimeter road. It is one of several areas marked for tree-planting, for which more plans will have to be drawn in the future.

To someone who never gets closer to botany than his lawn mower, the names of trees to be planted would be somewhat confusing.

Little Leaf Linden, for example, isn't a small hockey player from Toronto (Maple Leafs).

Little Leaf Linden is "a fine proportioned tree" exhibiting "yellowish flowers which abound in honey" when it's in bloom. The plan calls for a dozen.

There will be 10 Skyline Locusts planted.

Other types and the amounts to be planted are Columbian Norway Maple, 9; London Plane, 22; Thornless Yucca, 19; Marshall's Green Ash, 20; Norway Maple, 18; and Bowhall's Scarlet Maple, 22.

Action Urged

MAKE OVER PAGES

Tax Plan at Standstill

LANSING (AP) — Pressure mounted on the legislature today to get moving on tax reform, but, with bills tied up in committee and awaiting amendments, Gov. George Romney's program appeared at a virtual standstill.

Over the protests of Democrats and some Republicans, lawmakers went into another five-day recess — the fourth break since the special session began Sept. 11.

House Speaker Allison Green, R-Kingston, summed up the situation by saying Romney's program is on "dead center" and there is little prospect for action until Republicans can develop a unified position on needed compromises.

RESTS WITH ROMNEY

Green added that, as far as he is concerned, leadership in settling intra-party disagreements rests with Romney and the Senate, and the House is not prepared to make the first move.

Democrats gripped openly about being forced to sit idly by, waiting, while Republicans sought answers. But the minority party also showed the only signs of real activity.

Senate Minority Leader Charles Blondy, D-Detroit, said he would move today to have all tax bills — including the governor's — reported out to the floor immediately.

COULD EMERGE

If three Republican committee members who have indicated they favor Romney's basic plan with Blondy today, the bills could emerge to the senate floor.

The three are Sens. William Milliken, R-Traverse City; Farrell Roberts, R-Pontiac; and Emil Lockwood, R-St. Louis.

In the House, Rep. Arthur Cartwright, D-Detroit, called for an end to "foot-dragging" and said he would move next Monday for the House Tax Committee to be discharged.

from further consideration of the Romney bills.

Republicans caucused in both houses yesterday to review details of tax bills but apparently settled nothing. In neither caucus, GOP leaders said, was there "head count" of support or opposition.

Green, generally regarded as the most powerful single member of the legislature, said Romney's program is stalled and probably will remain so "until we can set up some better communications as to how we're going to proceed."

College Quest Is Continuing

Group Hopes to Get Issue Back on Ballot

The first step toward a June 8 election on the question of a community college in Oakland County were taken last night with the selection of officers to head up a citizens committee.

Members of the steering committee of the Citizens Advisory Council, board of trustee candidates and interested individuals formed the Community College Citizens Committee (CCC).

Wendell Brown of 2921 Ardmore, Farmington Township, was elected chairman by voice vote of the 25 citizens at the meeting.

Other officers are Mrs. George Mosher, 515 Mohegan, vice chairman; Harold J. Abrams, 100 Alice, secretary; and Cedric V. Fricke, 18158 Westover, Southfield, treasurer.

The citizens committee, made up largely of candidates for the proposed college's board of trustees in the last election, reviewed the results of the college vote last June.

Brown pointed out that the two propositions carried in eight of the 29 county school districts.

FOUR APPROVED

He said four districts approved the creation of the junior college, but defeated the one-mill levy to finance it.

"I don't think this was a major defeat," he commented, "and I think we can take the next time."

County School Superintendent William J. Emerson said the county school board felt things were "a little bit hurried" last spring, but intended to place the three-part college question on the June 8 ballot next year.

The citizens committee discussed setting up subcommittees to work for a favorable vote. The appointment of a contact committee was set for the group's Nov. 6 meeting.

The contact committee would arrange for speakers for various clubs and organizations throughout the county.

The group also discussed dividing the community college question and placing it on the ballot at two different elections. However, Emerson said the school board's legal counsel ruled this was not possible.

Cold Shoulder for Mme. Nhu

WASHINGTON (UPI)—It was like a scene from an old-fashioned melodrama—but one of the principal characters wasn't there.

Down the quiet tree-shaded street in posh northwest Washington swept the motorcade, a long black limousine in the lead. The line of cars halted in front of the home of former Vietnamese Ambassador Tran Van Chuong.

Out of the limousine stepped Chuong's beautiful daughter, Mme. Ngu, sometimes described as the "Dragon Lady" of Saigon. At her heels were more than a score of photographers and newsmen.

DENOUNCED HIM

Mme. Nhu had come to see her father. She had denounced him when he quit his post this summer in protest against the actions of his daughter and his government in repressing Buddhists in the Southeast Asian land. He had said he would not see her.

The sharp-tongued Mme. Nhu, now somewhat subdued, marched up to the front door of the darkened home and knocked. No answer. She went to the rear and tried again. Again no answer. After peering through several windows, she gave up hope her father was home.

The motorcade then roared off to the Vietnamese Embassy. There Mme. Nhu, whose husband controls his nation's powerful secret police, was greeted warmly by the embassy cook, who had served her parents since before her birth.

Mme. Nhu embraced the cook and stayed to dinner at the embassy. She was among friends.

LATER LOCATED

Chuong was later located in New York City. He said that he would be returning to Washington today but was firm in refusing to see his daughter.

The former Viet Nam ambassador told, however, that he saw nothing wrong in a meeting with his grandchild, Le Thu, who is traveling with Mme. Nhu.

The cold shoulder from her father may have hurt South Viet Nam's first lady, but it was the chilly nonrecognition accorded her by official Washington that bothered her more.

She told The Women's National Press Club yesterday that though hers was an unofficial visit and "I cannot expect the red carpets, there are hundreds of ways" in which the U.S. government could have shown "more courtesy" in welcoming her.

FEW OFFICIALS

Mme. Nhu's Washington debut took place in a hotel only a few blocks from the White House, but there were few administration officials in the audience.

She said she had evidence that some Kennedy administration officials have "no eagerness to win the war against Communists" in South Viet Nam.

Mme. Nhu criticized as political pressure a recent withholding of U.S. commercial aid to Saigon. "I cannot see how such a thing can be done without reason against a government which is winning the war."

'Agree to End Sahara Fight'

Morocco and Algeria
Reported in Accord

MARRAKECH, Morocco (AP)—The Moroccan minister of information said today agreement has been reached with an Algerian delegation on an end to hostilities in the frontier dispute. He cautioned that details remain to be worked out.

The minister, Abdelhadi Boutaleb, spoke following a meeting with the Algerian delegation.

MARRAKECH, Morocco (UPI)—Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy left aboard a special Moroccan airliner today on her way home from a two-week private vacation that began in a secluded Greek villa and ended 300 miles from a North African border war.

of Moroccan and Algerian officials trying to settle fighting which has been going on since Monday in the northwest Sahara. He said:

"We should achieve results today. There may be a joint statement. Everyone is in agreement for an end to hostilities, but there are still questions of detail to settle."

Boutaleb added that a commission of Algerian and Moroccan officials may meet at Oujda, near the Algerian frontier, to examine problems related to the frontier fighting. He did not elaborate.

OFF TO ALGIERS

The Algerian delegation, headed by M'hamed Yazid, leaves Marrakech this afternoon for Algiers.

Meanwhile, Algerian officials at Colomb-Béchar, Algeria, about 300 miles from the disputed frontier area, said fighting was going on this morning.

Some sources said Algerian troops had taken the offensive. The sources at Colomb-Béchar, the Algerian base about 250 miles northeast of the battle area, said Algerian forces held Hassi-Béida and Timgad, the desert outposts 900 miles southwest of Algiers around which fighting has raged since Tuesday.

The Algerians also held all wells in the area, the sources reported.

CHANGE HANDS

Hassi-Béida and Timgad apparently have changed hands several times since the start of fighting.

Moroccan military headquarters at Marrakech told newsmen last night the fighting was spreading north and south of the two posts.

"We are holding every inch of our territory under heavy fire," a Moroccan colonel told newsmen.

An Algerian government spokesman said the Moroccan forces launched heavy attacks Wednesday, supported by tanks, artillery and jet planes.

The Moroccan army said an Algerian plane strafed and bombed Moroccan positions in the desert and attacked a caravan west of Colomb-Béchar, the Algerian supply base about 250 miles northeast of the combat area.

There were no official casualty reports.

Birmingham Area News

Library's New Service to Aid Club Programs

BIRMINGHAM — Baldwin Public Library has initiated a service designed to aid club program chairmen who are fresh out of programs.

Ideas and inspiration are crammed into the library's new "Program Aids" (PA) file, now ready for use in the reference department.

The file lists an extensive assortment of talent demonstrations and other types of programs which have been booked for organizations in the Birmingham area during the past several years.

FROM NEWSPAPERS

Data compiled from newspapers is arranged according to general subject areas.

While listing in the file does not constitute recommendation by the library, file users may secure further information by contacting club officers or hostesses as noted on the file cards.

Subjects in the PA file run the gamut from birds, babies and book reviews to wigs, wild flowers and world conditions.

The file is a growing one, adapted to the expansion of organizations in the area. The time-saving service will allow many to make use of the area's talent resources.

A program of three films, two of them concerned with the current Living with Art exhibition, will be presented at the Bloomfield Art Association tomorrow night.

It will be the second in the fall series of programs for members and guests.

Scheduled are "House" by Charles Eames and "Kaleidoscope" by Alexander Girard.

FORMER STUDENT

"House" takes the viewer through the steel-framed Carmel house of Ray and Charles Eames. The latter is a former Cranbrook student.

The film by Girard deals with color impressions.

Eames designs furniture and Girard fabrics for Herman Miller, Inc. of Birmingham.

"Van Meerger's Faked Vermeers" is the title of the third film to be shown at the 8:30 p.m. program. The association is located at 1516 S. Cranbrook.

Britons, Aussie

Win Nobel Prize for Nerve Study

STOCKHOLM (UPI)—The 1963 Nobel Prize in Medicine was awarded today to two British researchers and one Australian for their discoveries concerning the operation of nerve cells.

Winners of the $51,158 award were Alan Lloyd Hodgkin, 45, and Andrew Fielding Huxley, 46, both of Cambridge University, England, and Sir John C. Eccles, 69, of Canberra, Australia.

Their citation said they were receiving the prize in recognition and inhibition in the peripheral and central portions of the nerve cell membrane.

Source said earlier that other top contenders for this year's prize in medicine were Dr. Jonas Salk of Pittsburgh and Albert Sabin of Cincinnati for the development of the antipoliomyelitis vaccines which bear their names.

Dr. William J. Luyten, of the University of Minnesota recently discovered the smallest known white draft star. It is about 25,000 times fainter than the sun.

Little Relief in Store for Drought-Stricken

CHICAGO (AP) — Prospects appeared dim today for immediate general relief from the severe drought and forest fires across wide areas in the eastern two-thirds of the nation.

The U.S. Weather Bureau in Washington said the five-day forecast indicated little or no rain. It also said in its 30-day forecast extending to Nov. 15 that precipitation is expected to continue below normal in the eastern quarter of the nation, except the Southeast.

There was a little ray of sunshine in the Weather Bureau's 30-day forecast. It said above average rainfall was expected in the central section and in most areas west of the Continental Divide and seasonal rains in other parts of the country.

Hundreds of fires are burning in forestlands and woodlands in the Northeast, with New York State the hardest hit. Fires also have burned over thousands of acres of woodlands in sections of the Midwest and South. The fires have blackened thousands of acres in more than a dozen states. About a dozen forest fires, two of them caused by large, swept the drought-stricken Allegheny Mountains of western Pennsylvania Wednesday.

'Truckholes' to Aid Rich Still in Tax Bill, Senator Charges

WASHINGTON (AP) — Already under attack from economic conservatives, President Kennedy's tax bill is drawing fire from liberal ranks of the Senate.

Sen. Paul Douglas, D-Ill., declared Wednesday that the administration sacrificed tax reforms to win other objectives and thus "truckholes" to benefit the wealthy remain in the tax legislation.

"If the bill gets any worse it's going to be difficult for some of us to vote for it," said Douglas. "It's going to be very difficult for some of us to vote for it as it is."

The attack by the former economics professor came as he was questioning Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon during hearings of the Senate Finance Committee.

In response to Douglas' questions, Dillon said 20 taxpayers with incomes of $500,000 or more paid "not one cent of taxes" last year. And five of these, he said, had incomes of $5 million or more.

The principal reason for this, Dillon said, was the provision permitting unlimited deductions for charitable contributions by high-income earners. He pointed out that the Treasury recommended repeal of this provision but that the House rejected the recommendations. Dillon returns for the third day of testimony today.

The administration is pressing for passage of the $11-billion tax cut bill by January. Although the bill has already been approved by the House, strong opposition to it has risen in the Senate, particularly from conservatives.

Douglas complained that what he called timid reform elements proposed by the White House had been largely eliminated in drafting the measure. He estimated that $12 billion in capital gains go untaxed each year at death; that the oil industry enjoys $3 billion in depletion allowances and $2.5 billion in drilling writeoffs; that one oil company paid $20,000 in federal taxes on profits of $13 million or a rate of less than 1 per cent. "It is not enough to call these 'loopholes,'" said Douglas. "These are truckholes."

Dillon countered that "we have achieved reforms raising $1.9 billion" of additional revenue in the 1962 tax bill and the current one.

But Douglas said many of these reforms, such as the tightening of the sick pay exclusions in this year's measure, bear most heavily on low-income families.

Billions in Buying

Christmas Boom Looms

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — It's too early for most of us to think about Christmas shopping. But it's uppermost in the minds of merchants.

It looks like a good season ahead.

The National Retail Merchants Association predicts that Christmas buying will run as high as $3 billion, exceeding the 1962 total by 2 per cent.

"Retailers are justifiably optimistic about their Christmas prospects this year with business conditions good and consumers wealthy and inclined to spend," says the Value Line Investment Survey, a research organization.

Merchants who have long since ordered their Christmas wares are beginning to receive them and already are making plans to get an early jump on the selling season.

FEWER DAYS

This year there will be five fewer shopping days between Thanksgiving Day and Christmas, the traditional buying period.

To offset this, toy departments will be bursting into life as early as Nov. 1.

And although people do their Christmas shopping when they finally feel the seasonal urge, merchants will try to inspire that urge before Thanksgiving arrives.

Stores also will stay open longer hours and more evenings.

The Western Storehouse Co., apparently a special target of the "mad arsonist," worked as usual yesterday.

Supt. Marshal Romaine said there was "nothing to gain by closing down."

Dunn, who resided in Waterford Township, has moved his wife and two children to Wilbur.

Dunn worked his way up through several posts at Pontiac after joining the division in 1955 as associate editor of an employee publication. He also worked as a reporter and sports editor on a Mississippi newspaper, and served as a Navy public information officer.

Representatives of two leading area shopping centers and The Pontiac Press took part in the annual newspaper-business promotion conference Monday and yesterday in Detroit.

Attending were Mrs. Gay Edwards, coordinator and executive secretary of Bloomfield-Miracle Mile; Robert L. Witold, resident manager of Pontiac Mall; John A. Riley, Pontiac Press advertising manager; and Bernard Salvatore, Pontiac Press promotion manager.

The conference was cosponsored by the International Council of Shopping Centers and the Bureau of Advertising of the American Newspaper Publishers Association.

In an effort to win back those five lost days.

Christmas buying represents 18 per cent of the entire year's sales and this is a big factor in the annual profit picture.

The mail order houses also are getting ready for the Yule season.

The Big Four — Sears, Roebuck & Co., Montgomery Ward & Co., Spiegel, Inc., and Aldens, Inc.—will distribute more than 25 million Christmas catalogs.

UP 25 PCT.

Sears plans to send out 10 million 572-page books, up 25 per cent from last year.

Spiegel, which sells only through catalogs, received 50 per cent of its 1963 profit during last year's Christmas campaign.

Circulation of Christmas catalogs by the Big Four has doubled since 1950. All are setting records for numbers of pages and color displays.

Prices listed in the new catalogs are about the same as last year but toys are lower.

Sears says its prices run at or slightly below last year's level. Spiegel's prices average 3 per cent below a year ago with toys off 10 per cent. Aldens calls its catalog "the sharpest priced ever."

Market Reaches Record High

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market moved ahead vigorously in active trading early today for the second successive session.

The Dow Jones industrial average Wednesday reached a new all-time peak.

Brokers said the market was taking inspiration from the seventh consecutive monthly rise in personal income and price increases for some containers.

Gains of most key issues ranged from fractions to around

STEELS SET PACE

Steels and motors led the advance. Also higher were mail order retailers, utilities, airlines, building materials and drugs.

Curtis Wright, which boosted its offer for shares of Garrett Corp., advanced $\frac{1}{8}$ to $\frac{1}{4}$.

Youngstown Sheet gained more than 2 points and Jones & Laughlin was up a point.

Chrysler climbed to a point.

Other motors were fractional gainers.

Wednesday the Associated Press 60 stock average advanced 2.0 to 280.00.

Prices were irregularly higher on the American Stock Exchange. Fractional gainers included:

Mad Arsonist to Hit Again?

Illinois Mayor Tells Town to Keep Vigil

MONMOUTH, Ill. (UPI) — Mayor Allen Walters warned early today that the "mad arsonist" of Monmouth may strike again.

In a midnight briefing Walters said this community of 10,000 persons must keep up a "heavy guard" although the fire bug last night failed to follow through on threats to set four more fires.

"The arsonist may strike as soon as we drop our guard," the mayor cautioned. He said the community would have to remain on guard for a week, two weeks or a month—whatever is deemed necessary.

One hundred policemen and 25 to 30 students from Monmouth College patrolled the streets and lights last night to prevent a repetition of Monday night's blast when two lumber yards were leveled and a total fire was nearly destroyed.

A constant drizzle yesterday and last night may have hampered the fire bug, too.

The "mad arsonist" was last heard from at 7 p.m. Tuesday when he called the mayor's wife and said in a calm, unemotional voice, "I am going to say this only once. If the pottery works are not closed down, there will be four more fires tomorrow night."

The Western Storehouse Co., apparently a special target of the "mad arsonist," worked as usual yesterday. Supt. Marshal Romaine said there was "nothing to gain by closing down."

Dunn, who resided in Waterford Township, has moved his wife and two children to Wilbur.

Dunn worked his way up through several posts at Pontiac after joining the division in 1955 as associate editor of an employee publication. He also worked as a reporter and sports editor on a Mississippi newspaper, and served as a Navy public information officer.

Representatives of two leading area shopping centers and The Pontiac Press took part in the annual newspaper-business promotion conference Monday and yesterday in Detroit.

Attending were Mrs. Gay Edwards, coordinator and executive secretary of Bloomfield-Miracle Mile; Robert L. Witold, resident manager of Pontiac Mall; John A. Riley, Pontiac Press advertising manager; and Bernard Salvatore, Pontiac Press promotion manager.

The conference was cosponsored by the International Council of Shopping Centers and the Bureau of Advertising of the American Newspaper Publishers Association.
