Plane Crash Claims 2 Clarkston Couples

117 Indians Die as Earthquakes Tear Province

10,000 Now Homeless in Anjar; Army Probes Ruins for More Victims

AHMADABAD, India (INS)—Rescue workers recovered 24 more bodies today in Western India's Kutch Province where earthquakes reportedly killed at least 117 persons and made 10,000 persons homeless.

Workers toiled all night under floodlights after the Saturday night disaster which left scenes of devastation rivaling the great quake of 1950 in which 574 persons were killed in the state of Assam.

A police spokesman said the death toll might run higher as workers probed the widespread debris of collapsed homes.

He said more than 10,000 persons were homeless in Anjar, a city of approximately 20,000 population near the coast.

The city was cut off from the rest of the country for hours when the telegraph office collapsed.

Army and police rescue squads from Ahmadabad, to the east, were hurried to the area where homes and buildings collapsed on occupants.

The severe quake rocked the area from Bombay, 480 miles southeast of Anjar, northward to the Pakistani frontier above Kutch Province.

The 10-second quake was so strong that a 17-car freight train in Anjar was tossed off the tracks.

Windows were smashed in Bombay but otherwise little damage occurred in the huge Western city whose officials also sent doctors and relief workers to Anjar.

NEHRU NEAR SCENE

Prime Minister Nehru—returning from a tour of Europe and the Middle East—stopped off last night at Jamagar, just across the Kutch Gulf from the stricken area. He conferred with officials on relief measures.

Witness Backs Up Sgt. McKeon

PARRIS ISLAND, S. C. (AP)—A sharp, confident young Marine said today S. Sgt. Matthew C. McKeon slapped him half-heartedly for failing to stand at attention.

The testimony came from Pfc. John N. Maloof of Forest Hills, N. Y., as the court-martial of the 31-year-old former drill instructor from Worcester, Mass., entered its second week.

Atty. Emile Zola Berman says he is prepared to battle for the right to call an unlimited number of witnesses in defense of Marine Sgt. Matthew C. McKeon.

He said he would like to offer about 200 witnesses to testify on night marches so that "when we leave the courtroom no man will be able to say this was not a regular practice."

Last April 8 McKeon led 74 members of Platoon 71 on a night march into the marshes off the rifle range at this training center and six drowned.

REFUSED ORDERS

Just before the march began, Maloof testified, McKenon called him into his room. He failed to stand at attention and the sergeant began to chew him out.

"He came toward me," he said, "raised his hand and his open hand glanced off the left side of my face. Sgt. McKeon was at the end of his rope actually. He tried very hard and he got no results" from the training.

Maloof was the third of three survivors of ill-fated Platoon 71 to testify.

When McKeon called him in, Maloof said, "Sgt. McKeon said he was going to send us out into the boondocks. We thought it was pretty funny. He was talking about the discipline of the platoon all through our conversation."

TRIED TO HELP

In telling of that night in which the six recruits drowned within 20 minutes after the march into the water began, Maloof said he stepped off into deep water and "I could taste salt water."

Then, he continued, "There seemed to be a panic. I was floundering. There was a strong current. I knew there was danger immediately. Someone grabbed me and I went down. I got back to higher ground and took off my clothes and went down stream and tried to pull out some of the others."

When asked if there were non-swimmers in the platoon, Maloof replied, "I don't think so, except they were too lazy to get out there and swim at swimming instruction."

Steelmen Offer Talk With Union

USW OKs Surprising Proposal With Huddle Set for Tuesday

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The United Steelworkers have accepted an industry proposal to resume contract talks in New York tomorrow in an effort to end the 23-day-old steel strike.

The talks were arranged last night in a brief telephone call from the industry's top negotiator to USW President David J. McDonald.

Only a few hours earlier McDonald had issued a statement bitterly critical of the industry's pricing policy. He said for each $1 increase in labor cost since 1945 exorbitant price increases have yielded $3.19 in additional revenue."

One of McDonald's close associates said the union chief was caught by surprise when John A. Stephens, vice president of U.S. Steel Corp., called and suggested negotiations resume. When the latest series of negotiations ended Saturday, both sides indicated they would wait for the government to make the next step.

Pay, Job Report Revealed by GM

Second Best Record for a Half-Year Is Set by Firm During '56

General Motors paid an average of 617,302 worldwide employes $1,441,000,000 during the first six months of 1956 in establishing the second-best record for a half-year in its history.

The near-record figures were revealed in a statement preliminary to the corporation's quarterly statement released today by President Harlow H. Curtice and Board Chairman Albert Bradley.

The totals were second only to the first half of 1955 when average employment was 624,954 and payrolls were $1,563,000,000. The report attributed the decline to adjustment in production schedules in U.S. automobile plants during the 1956 second quarter.

Tracing a substantial rise in employment over the past 10 years, the report stated that the average in 1946 was 273,000 to 525,000 for all of 1955.

The average number of U.S. wage earners for 1956's first half was 392,106, compared with 408,933 for the like period of 1955, but nearly 6,000 higher than in the first half of 1954 despite a decline in defense employment.

Currently, there are about 16,000 employed in GM defense work, indicating that about 55,000 defense jobs have been absorbed in civilian production, the report showed.

Weekly earnings averaged $92.06 in the 1956 first half for a 38.30 work week.

Ike Proposes Pan-American Study Group

Suggests the Formation of Commission to Solve Human Problems

PANAMA (AP) — President Eisenhower participates in final talks with fellow American presidents today in the wake of the Pan-American Conference at which he urged hemisphere unity in advancing human welfare.

Still convalescing from his June 9 intestinal operation, he has appeared tired at times, but in the main he seemed to relish the proceedings.

Reporters overheard Eisenhower remark shortly after he arrived here Saturday that "I haven't much strength, but I keep going."

The parley, which commemorates the first Pan-American Conference called 130 years ago by Simon Bolivar, the South American liberator, ended yesterday.

It closed in an historic setting with the signing of a declaration of principles and 3½ hours of speeches.

Eisenhower took only nine minutes for his address. He made one major point — the Americas already have put together a mechanism for meeting aggression or Communist intervention in their affairs. "Let us join to find ways which will enable our peoples to combat the ravages of disease, poverty and ignorance," he declared.

He proposed forming, in effect, a commission of human problems with a representative of each of the 21 American republics to offer "practical suggestions in the economic, financial, social and technical fields."

Such a commission, he said, could consider ways to hasten

Morning Flight Ends in Tragedy After Take-Off

Plummets Into Woods, Bursts Into Flames; 3 Children Orphaned

By CHUCK ABAIR

Two Clarkston couples were killed early Sunday morning when their airplane crashed and burst into flames shortly after taking off from a private airstrip.

The plane went down in a wooded area off Pelton Road, only 300 yards from the homes they had left seconds earlier.

The dead are: Carl Schindler, 43, and Mrs. Marguerite Schindler, 41, both of 5081 Oak Park Dr., Clyde Norton, 31, and Mrs. Dolis Norton, 28, of 5206 Oak Park Dr.

Norton was believed to have been the pilot.

The group was reportedly en route to Allegan to attend the breakfast of an aerial group when the tragedy occurred. Witnesses said it appeared the motor stalled shortly after the plane was airborne and it crashed after the wing struck a tree.

Francis Moody, of 5235 Sashabaw Rd., told investigating Oakland County Sheriff Department deputies he saw the accident from his porch.

BANKS PLANE

He said Norton apparently was trying to bank the plane around to avoid hitting houses in the area when the wing smashed against a tall tree about 80 feet off the ground.

Moody and other area residents were able to pull Mrs. Norton from the burning wreckage. She died shortly after at Pontiac General Hospital.

The badly burned bodies of the other three were removed from the aircraft by firemen from the Waterford Township and Independence Township Fire departments, who combined to extinguish the blaze.

The plane had only traveled approximately one-quarter of a mile when the apparent engine failure occurred, according to investigators. The two couples had departed from a small field known as Barber's Airstrip. It is owned by Kenneth Barber who operates a flying

Ed Furgol, Kroll Pace Semi-Finals in PGA Tourney

In the other semi-final match, Ted Kroll, the former Army sergeant from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., took a four hole lead from Bill Johnston, of Provo, Utah.

21 Passengers Injured

Crack Santa Fe Diesel Jumps Track in Missouri

CARROLLTON, Mo. (AP)—A heavy steel bar on the tracks flipped the Santa Fe's San Francisco Chief off the tracks here last night, sending 21 persons to hospitals.

Two of the westbound streamliner's four diesel locomotive units turned over. All 13 cars jumped the track, five of them skewing across the roadbed and stopping at crazy angles.

The train carried about 200 passengers and 15 crew members. Engineer A. M. Thrasher of Fort Madison, Iowa, said he had slowed to about 50 miles an hour and was on schedule for his 10:12 p.m. nonstop passage through Carrollton, 65 miles northeast of Kansas City.

Thrasher and his fireman, G. M. Miller of Marceline, Mo., said they saw the V-shaped bar, painted bright green, on the track at about the same instant. Thrasher slammed on the emergency brakes and put the motors in reverse.

Railroad men at the scene said the 10-foot bar probably had fallen from a freight train which passed earlier.

Some of the diesel's oil caught fire but firemen were on the scene within 10 minutes and soon put out the blaze.

A relief train took the uninjured and the less seriously hurt to Kansas City after they had been given shelter several hours in Carrollton homes.

The Santa Fe said it would take two days to clean up the debris. Trains moved slowly around it on a passing track which was only slightly damaged.

Hairy Sea Beast Floats In, Puzzles Alaska Scientists

YAKUTAT, Alaska (AP)—A frighteningly huge carcass, estimated at more than 100 feet long and 15 feet wide, has been washed ashore 60 miles southeast of here.

Its origin and species are a mystery.

Experts say it fits no known description of prehistoric beasts, and the reddish brown hair covering its body rules out any relationship to whales.

The hair is about two inches long.

The weird creature now lies buried in the sand 125 feet from the waters of the Gulf of Alaska.

The place is Dry Harbor, 15 miles southwest of the Akwe River, and about 10 miles from glacier-sided mountains.

The head measures 5½ feet across. The eye sockets, between 7 and 9 inches in diameter, are about 42 inches apart.

The animal's ribs, are believed to extend about 5 or 6 feet from its spine.

The teeth are about 6 inches long and about 5 inches wide at the base. The movable upper jaw, with a solid, tusklike bone, protrudes about 5½ feet below the end of the fixed lower jaw.

At Seattle, Trevor Kincaid, retired University of Washington zoologist said the description fits that of no known creature.

Ships Collide in Dense Fog

Two Slightly Injured as Cargo - Passenger Vessel Hits Tanker

NEW YORK (AP) — A small combination cargo-passenger ship and a tanker collided in dense fog in the Atlantic off New York at 1:10 a.m. today.

Both ships were damaged. One passenger and one seaman on the combination ship were injured slightly.

The Fairisle, inbound from Tampa., Fla., with a cargo of citrus fruit and paper, transferred a number of passengers and crewmen to a Coast Guard boat, which brought them into port.

At least seven passengers were listed among those rescued. From 22 to 32 crewmen also reportedly rode in the Coast Guard boat.

The passengers included five women and two men.

Some crewmen were believed to have been left aboard.

The Fairisle radioed to Coast Guard area headquarters: "We will remain afloat, but starboard list increasing."

Coast Guard cutters and smaller craft stood by at the scene of the collision, near Ambrtose lightship and 23 miles from the Battery, southern tip of Manhattan.

The other damaged ship was the San Jose II. She radioed: "We do not require assistance. Some damage to forward portions."

After a brief attempt to pick its way through the fog back into the harbor, the San Jose II dropped anchor to await lifting of the fog.

The San Jose II left Port Newark last night. Lloyd's lists the ship as of Panamanian registry, and of 11,010 gross tons. Its home port is Panama.

Plane Crash Kills 4 Area Residents school at the Pontiac Municipal Airport.

Neighbors told deputies Norton always kept the plane in his yard and had taxied it over to the field prior to taking off.

Relatives of the pilot were unable to explain how anything could have been wrong with the plane. "Clyde was always methodical about everything he did. He always checked the plane all over and let it run for a long time before taking it off," according to Mrs. Jay Norton, of 117 Turk St., sister-in-law of the Nortons.

The plane in which the four people met death was reported to have been a four-seater Cessna 180, which Norton had purchased only two months before.

Norton was an experienced pilot who held a commercial license, relatives said. They said he had learned to fly under the GI Bill in 1947 after returning from service in the U. S. Army. He had been active in the Civil Air Patrol.

The crash orphaned the three children of the Nortons, Connie, 14, Pamela, 11, and Ronnie, 4.

Mrs. Norton had left Connie in charge of the others and had made up a picnic lunch for them to have for dinner in the event "anything happened."

The things the woman did and a note she left for the children seemed to indicate she had a premonition something might happen, a relative said following the tragedy.

The Schindlers had no children or relations in this area. Neighbors said they had lived on Oak Park Drive for six years and were completing the major part of their home.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Schindler and Norton were employed by Pontiac Motors.

The Independence Township crash was the second airplane disaster in Oakland County within the past two months. Three persons were killed when two private planes collided over Pontiac Airport early in June.

The wreckage of the Norton aircraft was released by Civil Aeronautics Authorities following an investigation shortly after the incident.

SMILING IKE WEARS DECORATION — President Eisenhower flashes his famous grin as he wears the Order of Manuel Amador Guerrero, Panama's highest decoration. Spy From 15th Floor Window

Murderer Bashes Woman, Horrified Pair Looks On

CHICAGO (AP) — A scientist and his wife, whose diversion is scanning Lake Michigan with binoculars, told police they watched horrified from their 15th-floor apartment as a brawny, bare-chested man beat a woman sun bather to death yesterday.

The woman's body was found minutes after Arthur Kirk Besley, 52, and his wife Adrian, 47, rushed out of their North Side apartment building and directed a motorcycle policeman to the scene. The area of the slaying is at the north tip of Chicago's Lincoln Park.

The victim was not identified immediately. Police said she was about 35.

The killer escaped before the Besleys and the policeman reached the scene. He has not been found.

Besley told this story of the slaying:

"I was watching the sail boats on the lake through my opera glasses about 4 p.m. when I noticed a woman sitting alone in an area generally unfrequented by sun bathers.

"My curiosity was aroused because of this and I watched her steadily for a few moments. Then I noticed a man, bare-chested and carrying a white shirt over his arm. He apparently was sneaking up on her through a dense undergrowth in the area.

"I called my wife and she looked. We both decided it must be a game of some sort.

Even when the guy threw his shirt over her head and dragged her off a rock into a clump of bushes, I wasn't astonished. I still believed this couple was playing a game of hide and seek.

"But when the man started hitting her, driving his arm into her again and again, we knew it wasn't play and we rushed out of our apartment to locate a policeman.

"We didn't know the procedure for telephoning police and we knew a motorcycle policeman was patrolling the area. We found him immediately and directed him to the scene."

Besley is a doctor of philosophy and superintendent at Norwegian American Hospital.

A copy of the book "Ben Hur" was found near the victim's body.

Ike Seeks American Hemisphere Study

"the beneficial use of nuclear forces throughout the hemisphere, both in industry and in combating disease. . . "

He said he had decided to name his brother Milton as U.S. representative on the proposed new commission.

Milton, who resigned recently as president of Pennsylvania State University, made an extensive trip through the Latin-American republics for President Eisenhower in 1953.

THE HIGH SPOT

The high spot of the ceremony was the signing of the Declaration of Panama by Eisenhower and 18 other chiefs of state. It reiterated the Western Hemisphere's determination to stand fast against alien totalitarian forces and to safeguard the economic and political freedom of the Americas.

It pledged cooperative effort to raise living standards throughout the continent.

For the convalescent Eisenhower the ceremony was a demonstration of endurance. While aides fretted because he missed his midday nap, the U.S. chief executive stayed on through the oratory, even though he couldn't understand it all.

LOOKED TIRED

The other chiefs of state spoke in Spanish, French or Portuguese.

Midway through the speeches, Eisenhower looked a bit tired and wilted.

In recognition of his convalescent state, Eisenhower was permitted to ignore the diplomatic order and come to the ceremony last and leave first.

The event took place in St. Augustine School three miles from the U.S. embassy, where Eisenhower is staying.

The declaration was read in a room some 200 years old where the first Congress of Panama was held in 1826 under Bolivar's stewardship.

The presidents entered the Bolivar Room. Then they went outside to a platform in the school courtyard. They sat under a green and white striped canvas canopy, stepping forward one at a time to sign the declaration which lay on a small table covered with an ornate tapestry.

During the three-mile trip to and from the ceremony Eisenhower smiled broadly as he stood in his car and waved to the cheering throngs.

After a belated nap and dinner at the embassy, he returned to duty with the other executives as cohost at a reception in the Hotel El Panama for President and Mrs. Arias.

During the reception he locked arms with Arias for a champagne toast. But he told the waiter to pour him "just a sip." He got a quarter glass with no refills. He passed up the food completely at the elaborate buffet.

Awaiting 'Emergency Pleas'

Operation Alert in 4th Day

EMERGENCY PRESS HEADQUARTERS, Operation Alert (AP)—The U.S. "government in hiding" braced itself for a flood of appeals from the state today—for food, for money, for the thousand and one things that would be needed if atomic bombs should start falling.

Happily, these calls for help are not real. They're just a practice run-through, in the fourth day of Operation Alert, of what the government might expect at this stage of the game had last Friday's simulated strike at 75 U.S. cities been real.

Operation Alert, the biggest civil defense exercise ever held on this continent, winds up Wednesday but this emergency press center operating with wartime-like secrecy more than 100 miles from Washington breaks camp today.

Many of the 10,000 key government workers who took refuge Friday at 44 relocation sites outside Washington are moving back to the capital.

Since Friday the aides have been going through the motions necessary to keep the nation moving in case there were a real nuclear attack.

Summing it up, Operation Alert 1956 seems in the eyes of the people running it, at least, to have been more effective than last year's operation. More people took part, more knew what they were doing, communications were better, foulups were fewer, more may have been learned.

House Approves Civil Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House today passed the hard-fought civil rights bill, sending it to almost certain death in the Senate.

Both Republican and Northern Democratic supporters of the bill, which would strengthen the government's arm in dealing with violation of voting and other rights, have said they expect political advantage from today's vote.

But Southerners who used all weapons against the bill at every stage contended they had achieved their purpose—fatal delay.

There is little chance the bill can get far in the Senate, which is trying hard for adjournment this week.

If the measure gets to the Senate floor, it would head inevitably into a Southern filibuster.

Rep. Keating (R-NY) said he will urge the House to refuse to adjourn until the Senate acts on the measure, but the odds were heavily against any such House maneuver.

Weekend Fires Caused by Careless Smoking

Two cases of careless smoking resulted in apartment fires over the weekend in Pontiac.

An estimated $100 in damage resulted from a Saturday night blaze at 76 Hess Street which apparently started in a bedroom.

Early this morning Pontiac firemen extinguished a fire at 436 W. Huron Street which was believed to have started in overstuffed chair. Carl Leone, owner of the building, estimated the smoke and fire damages at $1,225.

Churches Report Breakins

Nothing was known to be missing at either of two weekend breakins at Pontiac churches over the weekend, Pontiac police report.

The churches entered were the Apostolic Church of Christ at 458 Central Ave. and the First Assembly of God Church at 210 N. Perry St.

Brown Family in Top Spot for Chief Pontiac Shoot

Bill Brown's family of high-scoring skeet shooters made the 6th annual Oakland County Sportsmen's Club Chief Pontiac Open tourney a personal, family affair, Saturday and Sunday.

Shooting in every event for male marksmen, the Browns collected a lot of places and, with the help of an "outsider" a "skeeter cousin", shot off with the five-man team title. Alns Borsum of Baldwin, one of the state's best, teamed with Bill Brown Sr., Bill, Junior, Eddie and Bud, to capture the Class AA Pontiac Motor team trophy, with a 490 total. Detroit Gun Club was the 1955 champions.

Borsum won the .410 and the .28 events, teamed with Brown Sr., for the "AA" doubles crown, with 191. He had 45-100 in the .40, 99x100 in the .28.

The results:

Senate Ponders Economic Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators preparing to vote on how much the United States should spend this year on foreign economic aid are pondering a report that Russia's economic offensive now is worldwide.

A Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee last night issued a staff report and Chairman Mansfield (D-Mont) said it shows that "Soviet economic and cultural representatives are swarming over the globe." The report said that in the past 13 months, the Russian economic aid program has spread beyond a few countries in Asia until it now may be bigger than this country's.

The subcommittee staff mentioned unconfirmed reports that Russia has made more than one billion dollars in economic and technical aid offers to free countries.

Tomorrow, the Senate, which has completed the military aid sections of the foreign aid money bill, is due to turn to the economic assistance provisions before taking a final vote on the over-all measure, now totaling about $4,110,000,000. This is about 685 millions more than the House voted.

Sen. Ellender (D-La) has announced he will seek to reduce by 10 per cent the $1,468,200,000 the bill contains for defense support and other economic aid. Last Friday, Ellender made several unsuccessful efforts to trim the military aid total in the Senate bill below $2,300,000,000.

Also looming tomorrow is a Senate fight over proposals to cut off all new military aid to Yugoslavia because Marshal Tito recently has been nudging closer to Moscow.

Meanwhile, an apparent reluctance by Russia to help Egypt build the $1,300,000,000 Aswan dam in the Nile River came as a relief to some State Department officials. They had feared the Soviets would try to capitalize on withdrawal last week of an American-British-World Bank offer to put up 400 million dollars toward construction of the dam.

What gave these U.S. diplomatic officials a lift was a statement by Russian Foreign Minister Dimitri Shepilov over the weekend that Russia has no present intention of helping finance the Egyptian project. Shepilov said Russia is interested more in fostering Egypt's industrialization.

This country withdrew its offer last week chiefly because officials felt Egypt had tied up its economic resources for years to come to buy arms from the Communist bloc.

The Day in Birmingham

Seek Zone-Law Change; Study Parking Finances

BIRMINGHAM—A zoning revision that would allow the Birmingham Eccentric newspaper to build a new plant on East Maple and a financial report that may show funds too short to build parking lot No. 4 come before the city commission tonight.

The zoning revision, recommended by the planning commission as requested by George R. Averill, would include "newspaper and commercial printing establishments" in Business A zone districts.

"There are printing establishments within the Business A classification at the present time, says W. H. Burgum, planning board chairman. They would automatically be changed from "non-conforming usage," he says.

Parking lot financing will be discussed, with a new report by the director of finance being presented. The city manager last week suggested that Parking Lot 4 would not have sufficient funds following construction of Lots A and HH.

Among other reports being presented is one on the Twelve Town drain, tabulation of bids for purchase of road-salt for the coming winter, plans for a sidewalk edging Eton road, and special assessments for the Ferndale and Park Street Projects.

Appointment of an election board for the August primaries is being asked by City Clerk Irene Hanley tonight.

City Planners tomorrow night will consider a protest from Fairfield property owners of rezoning to Business C of the southeast Bird and Pierce Street Corner.

Also on the lengthy agenda is the zoning of the presently-unclassified, recently annexed, Lambert property.

Zoning ordinance revision will be discussed verbally by the city planner, and a report is expected from the recreation director on his opinions of the present tentative plan for the 66-acre recreation and driver-training field near the high school.

Analysis of traffic recommendations of the police chief and traffic engineer is slated. They go to the board for the first time.

Plans for a parking lot behind the Reed building on North Woodward avenue will be presented by city engineers. The Kassabian-Franco request for rezoning again comes up for discussion.

Tinting of hair is a specialty in the new beauty shop next to Jacobson's Interior Decoration Shop.

Treva Schmidt, who supervises the management of all five of Jacobson's beauty salons while her husband, Louis, directs staff and trains operators to cut hair in his designs, spent several days here when the shop opened late last week.

"About 75 per cent of our customers have tints," Mrs. Schmidt says, "with Ann Arbor women having the most."

With four men and two women now on the local staff, the shop will probably have 19 operators and six others working later, she says.

Turquois and red accent the neutral-toned reception room, while operators will work in the "green room," or yellow, blue, cinnamon or beige. Murals are in the drying area where dryers match the blue walls. Flower boxes decorate comb-out tables.

Detroit Mother Slays Husband

Killing Follows Spat by Couple Over Work to Be Done on House

DETROIT (AP)—Police say a 20-year-old mother of three children has admitted slaying her sleeping husband with a shotgun following an argument over his failure to make repairs around their rented house.

Officers found Mrs. Charles Morss waiting calmly at the time. Her husband's body lay on the bed and their three small children were sleeping peacefully.

Police quoted her as saying she had twice taken the shotgun from a bedroom closet before she "got up the nerve" to shoot her husband.

"After a while I knew I had to do it. I got the gun out and loaded it again and went into the bedroom and shot him," she told police.

The charge from the 16-gauge shotgun hit Morss in the back of the head.

His wife said they argued most of the morning because Morss, a roofer, had failed to repair the front porch of their small frame home. She said Morss struck her three times at one point during the quarrel.

Mrs. Morss said that a friend of hers came to visit and she told her about the argument.

After the woman left, she said, Morss told her that he had heard the women talking about him, and the argument began anew. But they had dinner and she put the children to bed. Morss went back to sleep.

Mad at Church, Leaves to Picket New York Office

Waugh, of 55 Newberry St., claims the congregation ousted him in 1954 after he wrote a letter charging a Pontiac church elder was usurping the authority of the church's governing body.

Calling the church's judicial proceedings a "kangaroo court," Waugh has since demonstrated in communities through southern Michigan. He says he aims to help the church "make itself clean."

$400 Lost When Fire Destroys Local Garage

A two-car garage was destroyed by fire Saturday afternoon with a loss of $400, the Pontiac Fire Department said today.

The blaze, which occurred at 30 Jacokes St., was believed to have been caused by children playing with matches. The building was owned by Frazier Slaughter, of 72 Orton St.

Five Suffer Injuries in Three-Car Pileup

Four members of a Detroit family and a Wyandotte man suffered minor injuries in a three-car pileup at a busy Farmington Township intersection Saturday night. All were released following the treatment at Redford Receiving Hospital.

Hurt were Dan Farr Sr., 52, one of the drivers, Mary Farr, 36, Michael Farr, 3, two-year-old Dan Farr Jr. and John Hamilton, of Wyandotte, the other driver.

The other vehicle involved was operated by Ivan B. Clarke, of Farmington. The crash occurred at the Grand River-Middlebelt Road intersection.

Detroit Woman Injured in U.S. 10 Car Crash

A Detroit woman was in "fair" condition at Pontiac General Hospital today with multiple cuts received Sunday night in a two-car crash on US10 in Independence Township.

Dorothy J. Shippy, 23, was a passenger in a car driven by her husband, Norman, 32. The other vehicle was operated by Keith Mogy, 26, of Clarkston.

Find Lost Tot in Mountains

Girl, 2, Toddles Off From Parents' Truck, Vanishes for 21 Hours

BOULDER, Colo. (AP)—Her feet swollen and her blonde hair hanging in loose wisps, 2-year-old Sandy Barcus was found safe and unharmed yesterday in the mountain wilds she wandered for 21 hours.

The youngster was taken to Boulder Community Hospital, where doctors said she suffered mild exposure and minor scratches. scratches.

Sandy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Junior William Barcus of Superior, Colo., became lost Saturday while her family picnicked in the Rocky Mountain foothills near Nederland, 18 miles west of here. They left her asleep in their truck.

Scoutmaster Glen Powers, an engineer, and 11 members of Boulder Troop 77 found Sandy beside the swift-flowing Middle Boulder Creek. She was barefoot and dressed only in a red dress and a light jacket.

"Sandy kept saying, 'My mommy told me,' " Powers told reporters. But he said she never explained what her mother had told her.

The tot had been the object of a mountain search by nearly 200 men and women.

Drinks Cyanide, Sues for $650,000

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—The operators of a Norfolk jewelry store are being sued for $650,000 by the family of a merchant seaman who contend he suffered "complete destruction" of the upper brain from drinking diluted cyanide in the establishment.

Mrs. Everett F. Johnson said her husband has lost his sight, hearing, speech and taste. In her suit, she says he has "completely lost his reason" and had been taken to a government mental hospital.

Johnson allegedly took a swallow of diluted cyanide when he mistook a crockery jar containing the poinson for a water fountain. According to his attorney, the crockery jar had a spigot and paper cups were nearby.

News of Interest: Man Bites Dog, Dog Bites Back

PATERSON, N.J. (AP) — It's scarcely news any more when a man bites a dog. But how about when a man bites a dog and the dog bites him right back?

It happened to James McNamara. He was frolicking on the floor with his cocker spaniel named Bum and accidently bit the pooch on the ear.

Bum turned around and bit McNamara over the right eye.

McNamara had the wound cauterized and got tetanus injections at Paterson General Hospital.

Bum required no medical attention.

Michigan Scores Victory Over Pesky Little Insects

LANSING (AP)—The gypsy moth and the Japanese beetle, a pair of pesky little insects that caused a big scare last year, are well under control in Michigan.

C. A. Boyer, head of the plant industry bureau of the State Agriculture Department, made the reassuring report today as the followup of intensive spraying and trapping programs.

The gypsy moth, which will chew almost anything green, was first detected in the Lansing area in 1954.

The Legislature made special appropriations for aerial DDT sprayings to get rid of the manace.

42,000 ACRES SPRAYED

Traps set out last year bagged only a few isolated moths and one cluster of 10 near Ovid. This spring, 42,000 acres were sprayed in central Michigan near Charlotte, Ovid and Mason.

Last year, an infestation of Japanese beetles was discovered near the Lansing jet plant and the spray treatment again was followed. There hasn't been a beetle found in any of the traps in Lansing so far this season.

The beetle will feed upon about 250 different plants, including rose bushes, fruit trees and vegetables. It also feeds on grass roots in the larva stage to endander lawns, golf courses and pastures.

DESTRUCTIVE PEST

This foreign invader is capable of wiping out entire crops and a federal quarantine is thrown on when a major outbreak occurs.

The Agriculture Department has placed 10,000 beetle traps throughout the entire southern half of the Lower Peninsula.

"The Japanese beetle is a hitch-hiker," Boyer explained, "and is likely to move along with almost any kind of shipment of goods or materials."

The traps were placed along routes connecting the major cities in the state.

So far, the total yield has been seven beetles, all caught in the suburban Detroit area.

"Michigan has taken the lead in a thorough trapping and soil treatment program," Boyer said. "So far, we've never been threatened by a state or federal quarantine."

Foreign Students Up

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Some 521 foreign students are enrolled at the University of Michigan this summer, compared with 480 last year. Latin America has 123, British Commonwealth 93, Europe and Africa 52, Near East 49. Canada has 79 among countries, India 45, Venezuela 33, Thailand 32, China 26, Philippines 22, Japan 21, Burma 20.

An average watch ticks 18,000 times a day.

British Demand End to Colonial Racism

LONDON (AP) — Britain's Labor party today demanded an end to all official recognition of racial segregation in the colonies. It called for integration of races in schools and hospitals, elimination of regulations authorizing segregation in housing estates, and the guarantee that all parks, sports grounds and youth clubs financed with public money "shall be available at all times to people of all races."

This was contained in a pamphlet, one of a series prepared by party leaders to define party aims.

The pamphlet said Britain has the duty of laying the foundations of full democracy in colonial territories, but added that how this is to be done is still a matter for careful study.

3,000 Legionnaires to Convene in Lansing

LANSING (AP)—More than 3,000 delegates and as many alternates will jam Lansing for the five-day American Legion state convention starting Aug. 1.

Highlights of the 37th annual convention will be a parade through downtown Lansing Aug. 4, competitions for Legion bands, drum and bugle corps, color guard units, rifle and drill teams and drum majorettes.

The Blonde Cried MURDER

By Brett Halliday

XXI

Gentry turned from the desk as the house detective came wheezing around the corner toward them. He said, "Evening, Ollie," shaking hands briefly. You know Shayne and Tim Rourke, don't you?"

* * *

"Sure." Patton nodded at the reporter and detective. "Tried to call you a short time ago, Mike. You know, you asked me to keep in touch if anything more came up on the Paulsons?"

"Yeh. What?"

"Her brother was in here asking for her. Big guy with a scar on his face. Just drove in from Jacksonville, he claimed, and she was suposed to be expecting him and he wanted to wait up in her room for her. Funny thing was, he decided he didn't want to wait when I offered to go up and sit it out with him. In fact, he made a funny excuse to beat it—saying he'd be back."

Gentry said, "Interesting. Let's go up and have a look at this room where you keep your bodies hidden, Ollie."

As they went to the elevator in a solid group, Patton said forlornly, "Hope you don't think I was negligent about not reporting al this crazy stuff, Chief. As a mater of fact, we're not even sure which room the body was suposed to be in. And then when there wasn't any body at all—"

Shayne said flatly, "It was 316, Oliver. Miss Paulson explained to me about the mix-up in room numbers. After seeing her brother's body in 316, she rushed out to find another phone to report it on. Three-sixty was conveniently open and she used the phone in there. When she got back a few minutes later, the body had disappeared."

"Her brother's body?" Patton asked in puzzlement as they went up. "But I've just been telling you he was here looking for her."

"Not her brother," Gentry said. "We got a discription of him from Jax."

"He had plenty of identification," Patton protested. "I made him show it when he wanted in to her room.

The elevator stopped and they got out. Shayne said, "Yeh. He showed me his identification, too."

BEGINS TO ADD

As Patton led the way down the dim-lit corridor, he said thoughtfully, "Maybe that begins to add up then. Though the guy said he just got in from Jacksonville, the elevator boy swears he's been around before. Either earlier in the evening or the last day or so."

"Yeh, it adds up," Shayne agreed. "He was here about 9:30. Just when the body was doing its disappearing act."

Patton had stopped in front of 316 and he knocked perfunctorily before fitting a key in the lock. He opened the door and reached inside to turn on the overhead light, then stepped back. "There it is," he muttered defensively. "See if you can find a body."

The three entered and stood staring at the smoothly made-up bed standing directly beneath two closed windows. The only way to reach the windows to open or close them was to get on the bed or move it from the wall. Gentry went to the rear and told Shayne, "Take the front and let's move it out. None of you touch the bed. These windows closed when you looked in before, Ollie?"

"Yes, I remember noticing because it was hot. Most guests keep them open all the time."

Gentry grunted as he and Shayne moved the bed two feet nearer the center of the room. He and Shayne circled the bed and stood studying the windows. Through the panes, they could see the riding lights of half a dozen yachts in the Municipal Basin not far distant. They were ordinary sash windows that could be raised or lowered, and they weren't latched. There were outside screens with hooks and eyes to hold them shut. Both screens were hooked now, but without closer examination it would be impossible to know whether either had been unhooked recently or not.

Looking downward as directly as they could without opening the windows, they could see tiny whitecaps rolling in from the bay, and could hear them breaking lightly on the stone wall directly below.

Gentry stepped back with a shrug, saying, "I want this room kept locked, Ollie, until my boys go over it. Did you touch anything at all when you were first up here? Smooth the bed or anything?"

AT LOW TIDE

"Nothing, Will. I just looked in the bathroom and closet and peeked under the bed to make sure there weren't any corpses."

"Water directly below these windows?" pursued Gentry. "No strip of sand to catch a body if it were shoved out?"

"Only at low tide. There's about 10 feet of sand then. It was high tide about nine tonight. Going down now."

Will Gentry nodded, moving toward the open door. "About all we can do here. Lock the door, Ollie. I'll send a man up to guard it until the Identification Squad gets here. And for your information, there's an All Cars out on both Nellie Paulson and the lad with the scar who's carrying her brother's wallet around with him. I'll put a couple of men downstairs in case either of them show."

Expect Ike to Win Four Southern States

ROANOKE, Va. (AP)—Republican national chairman Leonard W. Hall predicted today that President Eisenhower again will carry at least four Southern States in the November election.

In 1952 Eisenhower won the electoral votes of Florida, Georgia, Texas and Virginia.

In a keynote speech prepared for the Virginia Republican State Convention, Hall said "It is my deep conviction that much of the future growth and vigor of the national Republican party lies in the Southern States."

Again reflecting no doubt as to whom the Republican National Convention might choose as Eisenhower's running mate, Hall forecast that Virginia will "deliver its electoral votes to Dwight D. Eisenhower and Richard Nixon next November, with a bigger majority than you gave them in 1952."

Osteopaths Ask Ruling Over Social Security

NEW YORK (AP)—The American Osteopathic Assn. has concluded its 60th annual convention with a resolution asking that osteopaths be included under compulsory federal social security coverage.

The resolution was backed by 96 per cent of the representatives of the nation's 12,000 osteopaths at the closing meeting of the convention yesterday.

Osteopaths, as well as medical doctors, are now exempt from social security.

Oldest Chiang Aide Marries Young Bride

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—The oldest member of Nationalist China's Legislative Assembly was married yesterday to a woman 50 years his junior.

Han Chien-pei, 85, said he was getting married because he wanted a son.

"It would be unfilial of me not to have one," he explained.

Engineer Gives Bridge Figures

Steel, Concrete Weigh Over One Million Tons in Mackinac Span

ST. IGNACE (AP)—Steel wire, the combined length of 5,650,000 freight cars, will hold the Straits of Mackinac Bridge suspension over the choppy juncture of Lakes Michigan and Huron.

These were just some of the enormous statistics released today by David B. Steinman, consulting engineer for the bridge.

Here are some others:

The total amount of steel and concrete in the bridge structure is more than one million tons. Three quarters of the terrific weight is underwater.

The steel towers and spans are put together with 4,851,700 steel rivts, 1,016,600 high tension bolts.

The cable wire is only one fifth of an inch in diameter—something like the lead in a pencil. This wire, bound into cables, would safely hold the entire weight of the bridge if it were held from someplace in the sky.

Of course, Steinman explains, there's an awful lot of the wire that goes into making the cable. He said the length would make an awfully long freight train or, put differently, be the length of 180,000 Empire State Buildings laid end to end.

The cables, which span 8,000 feet, from anchorage to anchorage are 24½ inches in diameter. They are made up of 37 strands of 348 wires each.

If this doesn't overwhelm you, try these:

Some 7,080,000 man hours, excluding quarry, mine, shop, mill and transportation, will go into putting the one million ton structure together.

Some 250 engineers have put in 1,400,000 man hours of engineering, much of it highly specialized, on calculations, design, surveys, inspection and supervision.

This, Steinman says, is in addition to the engineering by the several contractors on the job which is also considerable. Total engineering on the project will exceed two million man hours.

This is what goes into building the longest suspension bridge in the world, so keep your old China Wall.

10,000 Attend Fiesta

HART (AP)—The Hart Rotary Club and Junior Chamber of Commerce, sponsors of the ninth annual Mexican Fiesta, report more than 10,000 persons attended the two-day celebration which ended Saturday. Irna Pizana, 15, a Muskegon High School sophomore, was selected queen of the fiesta, a good-will event honoring the area's migrant field workers.

Illinois' State Auditor Forced Out in Scandal

Once again the people of Illinois have learned to their sorrow and heavy financial loss that a vital principle of government still operates.

That principle dictates that whenever a public official withholds facts about the affairs of his office, the citizenry should lose no time in trying to find out why.

It was last May that the Chicago Daily News got a tip that all was not well in the office of Illinois' State Auditor General Orville E. Hodge. When a reporter was sent to investigate, Hodge angrily denied him access to records.

The newsman, however, had had the foresight to copy the numbers on several state checks he saw in Hodge's office. This led to revelations that more than $500,000 of state funds is missing. Hodge, himself, is accused of embezzlement, larceny, confidence game and malfeasance.

A bank president who co-operated with him by cashing illegally issued state checks had to give up his post. Forced to resign and withdraw his candidacy for re-election, Hodge reportedly admitted personal involvement and said he was prepared to repay the state some $400,000.

Investigators found that the Hodges were living extremely well. Their possessions included four farms, a plush apartment building and several commercial buildings. They also owned two homes, four cars, two airplanes and a yacht.

The people of Illinois are fortunate that a newspaper refused to drop its investigation when Hodge tried to hide behind a wall of secrecy. Had he succeeded, this misuse of state funds might have gone undetected for many months.

Biggest Show's Foldup Saddens Old and Young

Many more than some thousand circus folk heard with dismay the news at Pittsburgh that the biggest of the Big Tops was at the end of its 86 year run.

In truth, millions of Americans of both sexes and all ages were saddened by the announcement. It made most circus fans fear that they might never see again the things that had thrilled them in the past — the calliope, pink lemonade, cotton candy, clowns, acrobats, bareback riders and wild animals.

Actually the troubles of the Greatest Show on Earth have been mounting since 1944. In that year a fire swept the tent at Hartford with a loss of 163 lives. Resulting damage claims totaled $4,000,000.

This year the show has been plagued by a combination of unfavorable circumstances. These include besides the competition of television, windstorms, rain, hub cap deep mud, dissension among performers, railway delays and labor troubles.

Happily the circus isn't going to die, only enter a new era. But next year Ringling Bros.-Barnum & Bailey will confine performances to air conditioned arenas in major cities. Besides, there are 27 other smaller circuses operating in the country, at least some of which are reported doing well financially.

Circus fans at least can hope that these shows will preserve the traditions which have given this branch of the entertainment industry its all appealing glamor.

Sobeloff Confirmed

Senate confirmation of Simon E. Sobeloff to be a judge in the U. S. Fourth Circuit Court of Appeals is a victory for President Eisenhower and common sense.

The President sent the Solicitor General's name to the Senate in July of last year. The nomination has been stalled in the Judiciary Committee and fought by Southern Senators. Objections were based on the part played by the former Maryland jurist in the preparation of the Government's school desegregation case.

Criticism of Sobeloff extended into the eight hours devoted by the Senate to consideration of the nomination. When the showdown came it was approved by a vote of 64 to 19. Only four Republicans — Jenner of Indiana, McCarthy of Wisconsin, Welker of Idaho and Williams of Delaware, joined 15 Southern Democrats in opposition.

This appointment is one of President Eisenhower's best. Before Sobeloff became Solicitor General, he had won wide recognition as Chief Judge of the Maryland Court of Appeals, U. S. attorney for Maryland and city solicitor of Baltimore.

His elevation to the bench of the circuit which includes North and South Carolina, Virginia, West Virginia and Maryland will strengthen our Federal judicial system.

The Man Abouth Town

For a Safe Trip

Some Driving Rules That Nicely Cover the Matter

Political party: The only thing that can fly better without two wings.

"Make Your Vacation Trip Safe,"

some concise rules are given by a motor magazine: "Be sure of the condition of your car and its tires; keep within speed limits; don't do anything but drive; stay 20 feet behind the car ahead for every 10 mph you're driving; avoid short-fused tempers, insane impatience, frantic speed bursts, foolish cutting in and out, and liquor indulgence—all are dynamite; never stop on the pavement; stay awake—really awake; stop for coffee and a catnap, and assume that every other driver is crazy."

Congratulations go out to

for its campaign to do away with litterbugs and the despoiling of our highways. They're distributing car labels,

"Keep Michigan Beautiful," that we all should be proud to display on our windshields.

Somebody with an eye to statistics estimates that the people of our nation are carrying 12 million pounds of keys in their pockets every day, most of which will not admit them to anything. Checked yours over lately?

Manager of the big forthcoming event, tells me that the 1956 Oakland County 4-H Fair, Aug. 7-11, already is assured of being the biggest ever. It will be held on the permanent grounds out Perry Street, near the city limits.

John Trocke,

"Just as they did in last year's rather poor showing," says

Goodloe H. Rogers,

himself a former big league player, "the Detroit Tigers are giving their customers their money's worth in good games."

Perhaps the highway hazards are driving vacation-bound Pontiac people to the railroads, as

William B. Gracey,

Grand Trunk Ticket Agent here, reports an upswing in rail vacation travel.

David Lawrence Says:

Soviets Put on Spot in Middle East

WASHINGTON—The turn in the cold war has come. The United States and Great Britain have served notice that they will no longer allow themselves to be pushed around. They are standing together firmly against the most insidious campaign of infiltration that has ever menaced free governments.

The American-British withdrawal of the offer of funds to finance the $1,300,000,000 Aswan Dam in Egypt is a sign of the change in the times. The widely spread fear and threat that if America and the Western countries didn't come through with funds to the so-called "neutral" or "uncommitted" nations everything would be lost, has been a bogey for a long time. But now the diplomacy of the United States and Britain has called the bluff in this strategy.

For many months it has been argued inside the London and Washington governments that the Soviets couldn't fulfill all the promises they were making and that a dramatic exposure of their spurious offers was needed. Informed officials here think Soviet Russia now will retreat. For the internal troubles of the Communists will prevent them from taking the risk of pouring out billions of rubles in a political effort to rival the West.

POSITION CLEARED

It was opportune for the United States and Britain to make clear their position — that firmness in the whole Middle East and Arab situation would henceforth take the place of wobbly defeatism.

Nasser, moreover, has been stirring up hostility toward the West in the Arab World. He recently put the Egyptian government on record as the first member of the United Nations to recognize Red China's regime since February, 1951, when the U.N. denounced Red China as an aggressor in the Korean War.

If ever there was a time for unity and for wholehearted support of the policies of the British and American government, it is now when a show-down policy that undoubtedly has the overwhelming approval of the American people is being projected.

GOODBYE GIVE-AWAYS

For the nation as a whole is critical of "give-aways" and the use of the money of American taxpayers for "boondoggles" in foreign lands. The United States is willing to bolster up defenses against communism and to strengthen the economic situation in countries allied with or at least friendly to us but it hasn't been impressed by the behavior of Messrs. Nehru, Nasser and Tito. These three leaders have been collaborating with the Communists and have been reiterating their own form of "neutralism"—as if the activities of the gangsters are as acceptable as the funds of the free nations. Vice President Nixon in his Manila speech put it this way:

"How can we feel toward those who treat alike nations that believe in God and honor religion and morality and nations that boast of atheism and the rule of force and terror alone? How can anyone treat as equals those who believe in the dignity of man and the basic rights of all men, and those who treat their subjects as mere machines? Is democracy to be equated with dictatorship? Is freedom the same as tyranny?"

Efforts by the Communists to divide the Western Allies have been redoubled lately along with speeches in Parliament and in Congress by politicians seeking to undermine their governments from within by playing politics with foreign policy. But the peoples of Britain and the United States are not being fooled. They stand behind their governments.

It is firmness that will win the cold war and focus attention on the "paper" promises of the Soviet to "neutrals." That's why the decision to abandon the financing of the Aswan Dam will have far-reaching effects in the Middle East as well as in Asia. It ought to strengthen the hand of the British government in Cyprus and the French government in Algeria in both of which situations the Egyptian government has been helping the rebels. It ought to improve Anglo-American relations which have been hurt by America's mistaken support of Egypt in giving her control of the Suez Canal.

On the whole the Aswan Dam decision is a master stroke of diplomacy which President Eisenhower and Secretary Dulles have achieved and it redounds also to the credit of Prime Minister Eden. It's a decisive action in the cold war.

Smiles

The real trouble with some folks is the long lists of troubles they're always telling to their friends.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Doctor Sounds Warning: Build Up Vitamin E Diet

Vitamin E, says Bicknell and Prescott (The Vitamins in Medicine, Grune & Stratton, Inc., N. Y.) "cures and prevents muscular dystrophy in rabbits, guinea-pigs and various other animals . . . It is difficult to understand why wheat germ oil should ever be given in preference to whole wheat germ. It is certain that the oil cannot contain anything not present in the parent germ, and it is equally certain that much of the value may be lost. Is, indeed, without doubt lost in as far as the vitamin B complex and minerals are concerned."

It has not been positively established that lack of or deficiency of vitamin E is a fact of muscular dystrophy in humans.

There is no scientific evidence to support the notion so widely propagated in certain magazines that vitamin E prevents heart failure or cures heart disease.

There is scientific evidence that vitamin E deficiency is a cause of sterility in animals.

Wheat germ is superior to wheat germ oil as a source of vitamin E, probably because wheat germ oil becomes rancid more quickly than wheat germ. Even the slightest rancidity, scarcely perceptive to smell, indicates great loss of vitamin E.

Painful injections of wheat germ oil have no better or greater effect in any case than wheat germ oil by mouth. Beware of the "clinic" racketeer who keeps you running to his shop for "shots" of this or that vitamin for as long as your childish credulity lasts.

From experiments in animal feeding many nutrition authorities have concluded that vitamin E deficiency is a cause of abortion or premature birth, and some good physicians are convinced that this applies to humans too. So these physicians prescribe about 1-10th grain of tocopherol (concentrated wheat germ oil) daily to prevent threated or habitual abortion. Why they prefer concentrated wheat germ oil to whole wheat germ is difficult to understand—but doctors are as likely to be gullible as anyone else.

Wheat germ begins to become rancid in a few days, so in order to get the full vitamin value, which is never too much, one should get it fresh from the mill at least once a week, better twice a week.

If that is not practicable, one should use plain wheat instead of wheat germ. Plain wheat ground or cracked in the old coffee mill or a hand power or electric home mill. For instructions send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope and ask for the pamphlet Wheat to Eat.

It is certain that wheat germ cannot contain anything not present in plain wheat as it comes from the thresher. But in order to enjoy the good eating and good health which the staff of life provided for our forefathers one must have the determination or the gumption to lay in a supply of wheat.

Many poor geeks are too timid to do so. They think wheat is not quite fit for human consumption.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Suggests General Hospital Could Use Fewer Bosses

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

I don't exactly know what's going on at the City Hospital and I'm afraid some of the people that are running it don't either.

Can't there be an investigation that is an investigation? I think there are too many bosses. It needs someone to take hold and administer the job instead of rolling with the punches and floating with the current. There's the City Commission, and the Hospital Board and the medical staff and Miss Paul and the employes and things shoot off in all directions.

The place needs a boss. Even if he or she makes a few mistakes, it will be better than the everlasting indecision that marks the whole deal now.

I think Babcock expressed it accurately when they asked him when they'd have a meeting to study the survey. He said: "We probably won't have a next meeting." Let's get a board that does have a "next meeting." As I understand it, the expensive and costly report has now been here for six or eight weeks. The whole General Hospital is wobbling around as badly as the building program.

Weary Tax Payer

Unfair Income Tax Laws Require Prompt Reform

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER
INS Economic Commentator

Gresham's classic law to the effect that bad money drives good out of circulation is currently being re-enacted in modern dress on the American scene.

The contemporary corrupting principle, as disclosed by such authorities as T. Coleman Andrews, until recently commissioner of internal revenue, is the federal income tax structure.

A well-known novelist, Cameron Hawley, in an address before the Pennsylvania Bar Association, characterized the tax setup as "a malignant growth upon the social body."

Hawley's thesis was that "the financial inequities of the tax structure are far outweighed by moral iniquities that it encourages." In terms of Gresham's law, the tax code puts a premium on chiseling."

No matter how many dramatic alarms are sounded, no near-term remedial action by Congress is in the cards in this election year.

BOOM THEORY

Passivity, meanwhile, is glorified by utterly confused economic theory about the alleged untimeliness of cutting taxes in a boom year.

The argument has already become outmoded by the sidewise movement of general business thus far in 1956, and the theoretical approach was not even a sound application of the questionable tax doctrines of the late Lord John Maynard Keynes.

Keynes used to preach that in times of prosperity government should spend lightly and tax heavily, so that in interludes of adversity government can reverse the process through spending heavily and taxing lightly.

But the solons have been violating Keynes on the spending side. Emergencies, real and fancied, such as the two billion dollar subsidy for Tito, have made a mockery out of any attempt to cut total federal spending substantially.

The bad thinking on tax cut timing first became fashionable during the 80th (Republican) Congress which attempted a comprehensive revision of federal tax laws. President Truman's secretary of the treasury, John Snyder, counseled Congress that the time then was not opportune for doing so.

* * *

Yet that was before the Korean War and the subsequent stepping up of U. S. military expenditures. No subsequent period was, in fact, as opportune as then.

If Congress wants to end confiscatory rates and discriminatory practices, then federal income, if thus reduced, can be replaced by other sources of revenue, such as a general manufacturers' sales tax, or an added value tax.

It is doubtful whether the financial impact of the current tax schedules could have been endured except for the simultaneous offsetting effect of inflation. If the federal anti-inflation program continues to succeed, the result will be to make the existing tax rates unbearable.

After the election, a survey of fiscal improvement — tax reform — should be at the top of the agenda.

Get Rid of Sleeping Pill Craze

Because of insomnia Henry has become a victim of the foolish "sleeping pill craze" now so prevalent in America. Don't waste money on sleeping potions. Instead, banish your insomnia by the simple "horse sense" methods outlined below. Insomnia is never fatal. You don't die of it, so quit getting upset about the matter.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Cae S-319: Henry J., aged 43, is a high pressure business executive.

"Dr. Crane, I can't sleep at night," he began nervously. "I am a chronic victim of insomnia.

"For the past six months I have used sleeping pills. Now I find it necessary to take bigger and bigger doses.

"I hate to admit that I am becoming a sleeping pill addict. So is there any other way I can get relaxation?"

SLEEP PSYCHOLOGY

Yes, and Henry is wise in trying to overcome his dependence on sleeping pills. Americans spent over $58,000,000 last year on such drugs.

Save money, therefore, and banish your insomnia by following the simple "horse sense" advice outlined below.

First, keep a notebook and pencil at your beside. Then, if some good idea or chore for tomorrow pops into mind before you fall asleep, jot it down at once.

Don't try to hold such thoughts in mind over night, for this makes you sleep more fitfully. You can't relax as fully for you keep thinking to yourself:

"I mustn't forget this chore for tomorrow, I must be sure to keep it in mind till I get up tomorrow morning."

Secondly, use an alarm clock or let your wife rouse you, at the proper hour. Don't try to waken yourself at a fixed time next morning just by carrying that thought in your mind all night.

Oh, you can waken almost on the dot by such preliminary planning, even without any alarm clock. But you sleep less soundly when you do so.

An alarm clock lets you drift into deeper slumber for then you don't subconsciously keep prodding yourself with the idea that you must awaken spontaneously next morning.

NEW FACTS ABOUT SLEEP

If you can't drift into immediate sleep at night, don't fight your insomnia: For when you get irate at your inability to dose off immediately, that emotional ire awakens you still more.

For it raises your blood pressure and speeds up your pulse rate. Thus, more blood speeds through your skull, thus nourishing your brain cells more adequately which keeps you alert.

Instead, realize that you never die of insomnia. The main function of sleep, anyway, is to get us into a horizontal plane on the mattress. For this lowers our blood pressure and slows our heart beat.

It is then easier for the heart to pump our 5 or 6 quarts of blood in that horizontal plane than to force it 6 feet in the veritical direction.

Shrug your shoulders if you don't fall into sleep. Take a "So what" attitude. Then turn on a bed lamp and read some educational book or magazine.

The Bible is excellent. Especially the four Gospels of Matthew, Mark, Luke and John. They will quickly release you from your slavery to the hectic thoughts of the workaday world.

And soon you will be able to drift off into peaceful slumber.

GOD'S PARTNERS

A final and best plan to eliminate the need for sleeping pills is to team up with God Almighty as a Junior Partner.

"Oh Lord," you can then breathe a silent prayer, "I have a heavy schedlue ahead of me tomorrow and must get 8 hours of sleep tonight. So will you please take over the night shift for me?"

God will always assent. Indeed, He may even prefer the night shift since then we human beings get into less trouble and probably permit Him to have fewer worries about us.

Since there is no medical justification for this mad sleeping pill fad in America, never permit yourself to become a slave to such foolishness.

"When you have finished your daily tasks," said Victor Hugo, "Go to sleep in peace. God is awake."

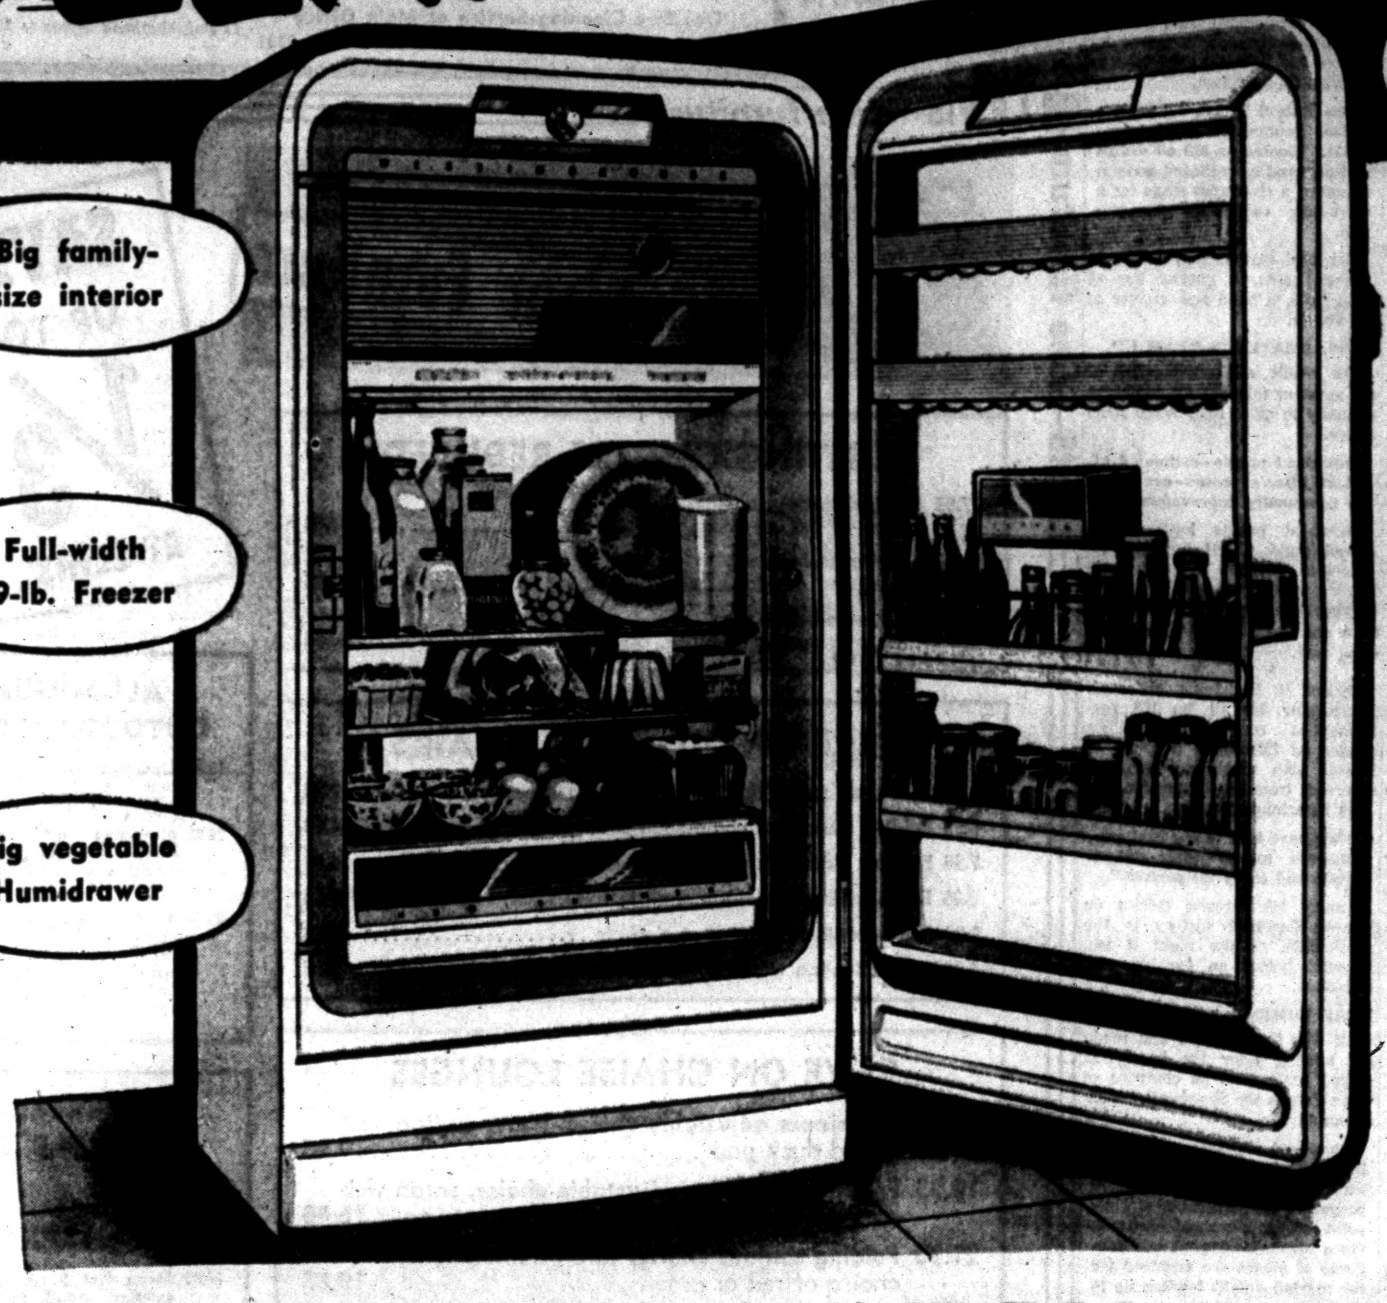

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Beaver Islanders Losing Their Doctor, Must Find New One or Else Move Out

BEAVER ISLAND (AP)—The luck of the Irish on this isolated Lake Michigan island has hit a bad streak. Their only doctor is packing up to return to the mainland.

Dr. Harry F. Vail, who came here from Bay City in 1952, will leave Sept. 1 to practice on the mainland.

When he goes, the 300 islanders will be without medical service for the second time in four years.

Many Michigan towns don't have doctors, but Beaver Island will be worse off than most of them. In the summer, you can reach the island by plane or ferry from Charlevoix, 33 miles away.

FLY IN IN WINTER

In winter, the only way to get to the island is by air.

Many islanders say they'll return to the mainland unless they can get someone to replace Vail.

Their attitude is summed up by Jewell F. Gillespit, who runs the Beaver Island power installation: "I've got six kids and even though this has always been our home and we want to stay, we'll have to leave if we can't get a doctor for them."

Gillespie and three other islanders have former a committee to sell some physician on settling down on the historic island, which is just beginning to grow as a resort.

What can the island offer a doctor? Well, Vail was troubled with asthma and hay fever when he answered the islanders' call. Now he's regained his health.

The same experience could await other doctors with health problems. But besides that the island has plenty of attractions.

LAKES FULL OF FISH

It has nine inland lakes chock full of black bass and pike. You can catch game and panfish among the small islands that form the rest of the archipelago.

The island has a herd of 1,000 deer and offers, duck, geese and ing for grouse, duck, geese and snowshoe rabbits.

Its inhabitants are warm-hearted Irishmen, descendents of sturdy fishermen and heirs of a rich history.

Beaver Island's physician is paid a state salary of from $6,943 to $7,642. He also gets whatever fees he collects from islanders.

The island has a modern, well-equipped clinic, built by popular subscription and containing, a one-bed maternity hospital.

Beave Islanders say their winters are not as cold as they often are in other parts of northern Michigan. Winter temperatures rarely fall below zero and usually range in the mid 20s.

GREAT FOR HISTORIANS

Any doctor interested in history would consider the island a paradise. He could look into the early Indian settlements, the missions, the trappers and the story of James Jesse Strang, who considered himself king of a Mormon colony established in 1847.

Tourists coming to the island are greeted by a sign which reads "Cead Mile Failte"—Gaelic for "A Hundred Thousand Welcomes."

The Beaver Island Civic Assn says the doctor who comes to the island "will have a million welcomes."

Boy Burns to Death in Huge Brush Fire

GLENDALE, Calif. (AP) — A boy who liked to build forts while playing in the Verdugo Hills died in the middle of a 50-acre brush fire.

The body of Michael David Lewis, 10, was found in a canyon scorched by the blaze.

A search for the boy began Saturday night after he failed to come home for supper. His family hadn't worried before that because they knew he was at home in the hills.

Lowell Showboat to Open 25th Season on Flat River

LOWELL (AP) — When it rounds Cattail Bend on the Flat River tonight, the Lowell Showboat begins its 24th year of entertainment for community improvement.

About 700 persons from Lowell's 2,000 population receive credit for onstage and behind-scenes roles in the annual production.

The Robert E. Lee XXVI is a 90-foot replica of river showboats. Floated on 200 oil drums and powered by outboard motors, it makes a riverfront stage for a week-long vaudeville presentation.

The 1956 cast includes six professional acts, a chorus line of eight girls, a band and a choir of 101 voices.

PROS, AMATEURS TEAM UP

The result is a combination of pro-amateur talent which performs annually to more than 30,000 spectators.

Showboat profits—estimated at $75,000 after expenses—are spent for community improvements.

Showboat profits have helped Lowell build a 4-H building, an American Legion building and bowling and bowling alleys, free parking lots, schools, new industries and part of a public swimming pool.

Carlton H. Runciman, showboat interlocutor for all its 102 performances, recalls the venture started in 1932 when a group of Lowell men sought to create a diversion from the depression.

As Runciman sees it:

"We have held to our first ambition—to make people forget awhile and enjoy themselves."

Among his favorite stories on Lowell Showboat history is the recollection of the night it ran aground before an evening performance.

HERE COMES . . . COMES

"It was finally freed and made the landing after the band had played more than 50 choruses of 'Here Comes the Showboat'," Runciman says.

Showboat officials say it is impossible to estimate the thousands of man hours that go into preparing the performance. They point out the showboat cast provides spectator appeal but hundreds of others are required for the myriad details leading up to the show.

Bleacher construction, painting and cleaning, floral decoration, outdoor advertising, costume selection and amateur talent screening are some of the payless backstage tasks that precede the show.

But Lowell citizens claim they are rewarded by appreciative audiences who applaud showboat acts.

Unlike most outdoor events, the showboat's 24-year history—it remained inactive for three years of World War II—shows it has been rained out only twice in 102 performances.

The program this year is to run through July 28.

Fraternity to Lobby for Press Freedom

NEW YORK (AP)—Sigma Delta Chi, national journalistic fraternity, is launching a campaign for greater freedom of information.

Targets of its campaign are the legislatures of 44 states which will meet next year. The fraternity wants these legislatures to adopt clear laws guaranteeing the public access to public records and to open meetings of governmental bodies.

Leader of the campaign as chairman of the fraternity's Freedom of Information Committee is V. M. Newton Jr., managing editor of the Tampa (Fla.) Morning Tribune.

Said a Sigma Delta Chi report on the status of freedom of information in the nation:

"Public government records not only are essential to a free people but they are the life blood of freedom of information. Without them, the people lose their right to know."

The report noted that 22 states have statutes guaranteeing legally the right of public inspection of government records; 26 do not.

The War Against Dope

Narcotics Crackdown Starts Squeezing on 'Pushers'

(With a few strokes of his pen last week, President Eisenhower gave a new, powerful—and controversial—weapon to those fighting to wipe out drug addiction in the U.S. Here is the first of two articles outlining the scope of the narcotics problem, what it is hoped the new federal law will accomplish and what still remains to be done.)

By ARTHUR KRANISH

WASHINGTON (INS)—The long arm of a tough new law is reaching out today to a tortured, tragic and dangerous army of Americans, our 60,000 drug addicts.

Officials say the days of freedom and crime for these men, women and children are numbered. Sources of supply appear doomed. The gates are closing on one "highway to hell."

These optimistic predictions from the experts stem from the passage of federal legislation designed to smash drug rackets by fixing tougher penalties, including death for peddling to minors.

Drug addiction is an age - old problem, extending back at least 5,000 years in recorded history. No one expects to lick it overnight.

"The drug problem will always be with us, of course," says U.S Narcotics Commissioner Harry J Anslinger. "But as we continue to eliminate foreign sources of supply, and as we put the new laws into full effect we expect a steady and substantial reduction in dope traffic.

"Eventually, we hope, narcotics will no longer be the tremendous problem it is today."

ADDICTS TRIPLE

The problem is tremendous indeed. Narcotics addiction has tripled since World War II. The estimated 60,000 addicts spend more than $200 million annually to obtain their illegal supply.

Narcotics do far more than destroy the addict. According to officials familiar with the problem the illegal drug traffic also provides high profits for the international underworld and contributes to a vicious surge of crime throughout the country.

A House investigating committee reported this year:

"The cost of illegal drugs is beyond the income of the average individual and problems relating to illegal drug procurement account for the criminal activities associated with drug addiction."

POTENTIAL CRIMINALS

Judge Gibson E. Gorman, of Chicago, presiding over the first narcotic court in the world, puts it even more bluntly:

"Every addict is a potential criminal. We can safely say that wherever addiction occurs crime will necessarily follow."

Male addicts turn to thievery, female addicts to prostitution or shoplifting. When cut off from their supply addicts often become more desperate and commit a major crime.

WHO ARE ADDICTS?

Almost anyone. "A person of any social, economic or intellectual status," according to the New York Academy of Medicine. Four out of five addicts are men, and more than half are under 30. Most live in New York, Chicago or Los Angeles but they constitute major crime problems in scores of other American cities.

What brings them to the vicious habit which has been called "Death on the installment plan?"

U.S. Surgeon General Leonard A. Scheele recently gave this explanation:

"There are two groups of addicts. First are those who, after receiving repeated doses of narcotic drugs during a long and painful illness become physically dependent upon the drug and therefore addicted . . .

"The second, and by far the larger group, represents those in whom drug addiction is a manisfestation of some abnormality of character or attitude.

"They usually suffer from any one of the types of character or personality disorders and have mental and emotional inadequacies."

UNDERWORLD AT WORK

An elaborate underworld network preys upon these victims, inducing them to try drugs, then profiting from the violent cravings which require more powerful satisfaction as the days go by.

The chain of command begins with an importer who "supervises" the smuggling of drugs and arranges for their distribution to a professional "wholesaler." Rarely are these criminals addicts themselves, and they go to great lengths to avoid direct contacts with addicts.

Next in the chain comes the "peddler" who may be an addict. He sells directly to the "pusher," an addict who sells to other addicts to obtain funds to purchase his own supply.

Officials believe the tough new laws, which strike directly at this vicious chain, will make it almost impossible for addicts to obtain supplies to satisfy their "habit" or go trap others into addiction.

SHOCKING WARNING

Little can be added to the millions of words describing the utter physical and moral degradation of the addict. But perhaps the most shocking warning comes in a report endorsed by Commissioner Anslinger:

"Opium addicts die of tuberculosis at the rate of 4 to 1, compared to non-addicts; more than 2 to 1 of pneumonia; more than 5 to 1 of premature old age; 4 to 1, of bronchitis; 3 to 1, of brain hemorrhage; 2 to 1 of cancer and other malignant tumors; and more than 2 to 1 of a wide variety of other diseases."

A Senate Judiciary subcommittee recently pointed out:

"Drug addiction is contagious. Addicts, who are not hospitalized or confined, spread the habit with cancerous rapidity to their families and associates. It is inevitable that this contagious problem will increase from year to year unless drug addicts are exposed to an effective treatment and rehabilitation program, and unless those who fail to respond to treatment are placed in quarantine type confinement or isolation."

Federal officials had two distinct roads open to them in their attempts to kill off the illegal narcotics traffic. They hope, and believe, they have chosen the right one.

FUN ON THE FARM — 1

Tommy Plants Corn

Lots of you will spend time on a farm this summer, have fun and learn a lot of things.

Here, Tommy is learning about corn. Corn is grown in every one of the 48 states. It is fed to cattle and hogs mostly, but humans eat it too.

Tommy has just planted some corn, when he sees a big black crow sitting behind him, watching. "I know you're planning to bring your family and friends to my corn field," Tommy says, "but I've got a friend — you'll see." You will see Tommy's friend tomorrow.

You can help Tommy grow his corn crop. Color this picture with your crayons, and paste it down on cardboard. Cut out the parts carefully.

Fold forward on the dotted line and set the picture on the corner of a table so you can easily reach the back of it. Fasten a black thread to the top of each stalk of corn in the indicated hole. Then, from the back, insert the three stalks of corn into the slits shown and pull them up a little at a time, as if they were growing.

When you have the crop up all the way, cut slits in the base of the corn stalks and spread these over the edge of the opening at the points marked "X".

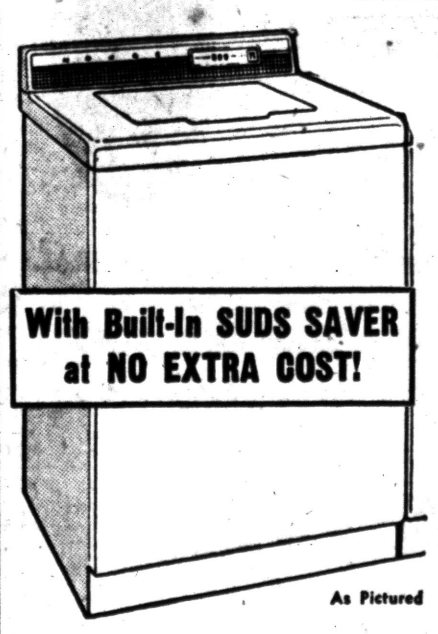

(Cynthia Fusco, Lyndhurst, Ohio, first submitted this idea. If you have an idea for a Junior Editors panel send it in care of this newspaper, and it may be worth $10 to you. Violet Moore Higgins; AP Newsfeatures.)

Bushels of Bills Waiting as Congress Nears Close of Session

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON (AP) — This is the week the 84th Congress hopes to adjourn for keeps, provided it can resolve in its favor a great big "if."

If it can dispose of a pile of legislation which normally would take a month or longer to pass, it will be ready to leave Washington not later than Saturday night.

Some congressional leaders believe the work can be accomplished by Friday, if the Senate and the House will meet early and remain in session late every day until then.

Others, who have seen adjournment plans wrecked in past years, gloomily fear the session will run well into next week.

That still would be more than a week before the Aug. 13 opening of the Democratic National Convention in Chicago.

It's going to take long hours and much compromising to finish the job this week. Ahead lie possible fights over housing, foreign aid, civil rights, atomic energy, flood insurance, social security, veterans' pensions and flood control projects, to mention a few.

If that's not enough, the legislators have hanging over their heads bills dealing with a vast military construction program, an atomic-powered ship, pay raises for top government executives, postal rate increases, water power projects and assorted odds and ends.

Many of the pending bills can win approval quickly — without debate in some cases — while others are due to be abandoned in the adjournment rush.

Pending in the House is a roll call vote to pass a civil rights bill which the House debated almost all last week. Its approval by the House is as about as certain as is its shelving in the Senate. An Eisenhower-backed measure, it is not expected to get out of committee in the Senate.

Twenty other measures are on today's House program, the biggest being an omnibus $1,100,000,000 river and harbor and flood control bill. Traditionally known as the "pork barrel bill," it should have no difficulty winning approval and getting to the Senate.

The Senate hopes to pass tomorrow a bill appropriating funds to finance the foreign aid program. The big fight between the two houses is over the amount of money. Conferees will work out a compromise.

An omnibus housing bill embodying President Eisenhower's recommendations and authorizing fewer low-cost rental housing units than the Senate has voted is due for a House test Wednesday. The House Rules Committee cleared the proposal on a take-it-or-leave-it basis Saturday to break a long deadlock on an omnibus housing bill. Senate Democrats already have attacked as inadequate its provision for 35,000 public housing units a year for two years.

A major fight is building up in the House over a Senate-passed bill to authorize a 400-million-dollar government atomic electric power program and a companion bill to finance it. The financing measure still must clear the Senate, which passed the authorization measure by only a nine-vote margin. Part of the battle rages around the public vs. private power issue.

A bill providing for a five-billion-dollar program of government-backed flood insurance has passed the Senate but is in trouble in the House. It was debated Saturday and put off until this week.

A compromise Social Security bill is ready for approval in both branches, but not without discussion. It would lower the retirement age for wmen to 62 years, give disabled workers benefits at 50, and increase employer and employe contributions to the social security fund by as much as $10.50 a year each.

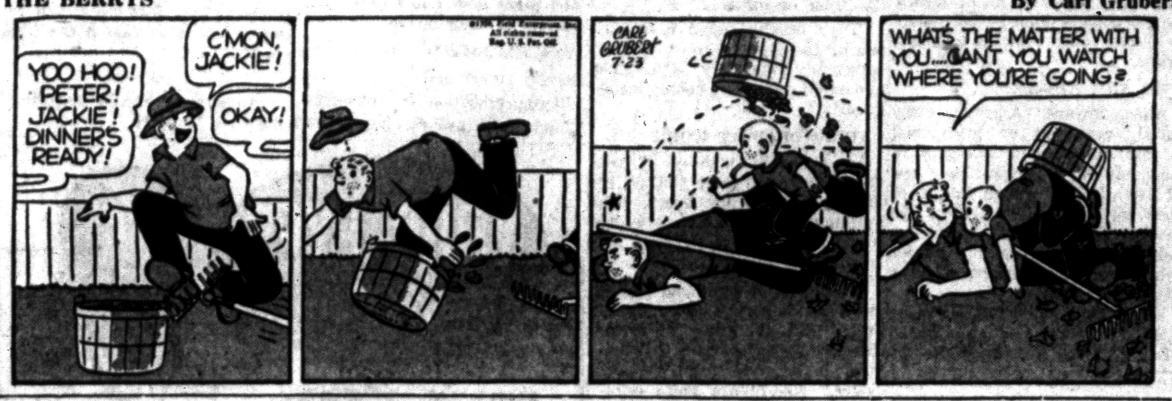

A bill to hike the pay of top federal executives has passed both branches but is in difficulty because the Senate has linked it with increased retirement benefits for federal workers.

The House has passed an administration bill to raise the postal rates, but the Senate Post Office Committee has shown no inclination to hurry it along. It may still be in the hearing stage at adjournment time.

The same fate appears in store for House-passed bills to boost veterans' payments for both service-connected and nonservice disabilities.

Shades of Devil's Island

Another Zola Opposes the Military

NEW YORK (AP)—Once again, a forceful and clever "Emile Zola" is tangling with the military.

It happened a long time ago, under different circumstances, and it's happening again today at the swamp-rimmed Marine base at Parris Island, S.C.

In the present case, the issues remain undecided—and the "Zola" of the story is a doughty, ingenious New York attorney, Emile Zola Berman.

But beyond these distinctions, the situation summons up shades of that other long-past Zola, the Frenchman who thundered his defense of another soldier against the combined weight of military authority.

That soldier, Capt. Alfred Dreyfuss, accused of betraying military secrets in a stirring case that dragged on for years and convulsed French politics, eventually was exonerated.

At Parris Island, Sgt. Mathew C. McKeon is being tried by court-martial for the death of six marines who drowned when he led a platoon on a disciplinary march into a creek. Emile Zola Berman is defending him.

Berman was born in 1902, the same year is namesake — the famed French Zola — died. Berman's parents had been keen admirers of the fiery French novelist.

Explaining the name, Berman once said it was "because of my mother's feeling for justice."

He volunteered to defend Sgt. McKeon without compensation.

Berman, at 54, is known in legal circles as one of the ablest trial lawyers in the East. He has specialized in trial work—the artistry of the courtroom—for more than 30 years.

'SECOND TO NONE'

"Second to none," is the way a New York judge describes Berman's trial ability.

"He is a great cross-examiner, astute and resourceful. He has a remarkable memory. He understands how to marshal facts. He knows how to sum up a case—and he gives you the impression of talking sense."

Berman has lectured on trial techniques before bar groups across the country, and has taught special courses on the subject at law schools of Columbia and New York Universities.

In arguing a case, Berman speaks in measured, careful words, with a disarming mildness, until he reaches a significant point. Then he slams it home with stunning impact.

WAR HERO

Faced with a temporary setback, he is quick to devise counter-strategy.

During World War II, he was a combat intelligence officer in the Air Force, and served in the China-Burma theater. He was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross and the Bronze Star medal. Other than the three years overseas, his life has gone into law.

A graduate of New York University's Law School, Berman has offices in Manhattan, with a staff of four attorneys. But he does most of his trial work himself.

He is president of the Metropolitan Trial Lawyer's Assn., a fellow of the American College of Trial Lawyers, and a trustee of the International Academy of Trial Lawyers.

Michigan Auto Thief Arrested in Florida

CROSS CITY, Fla. (AP)—A Michigan man who broke away from Battle Creek authorities July 9 after being given a prison term for auto theft, was to be returned there today.

Sheriff L. A. Hatcher identified the prisoner as Douglas Drumn, 27, who was apprehended last week near the Dixie-Taylor county line.

Hatcher said Drumn had just received a two-to-five year sentence for participating in 22 automobile thefts. Drumn was being returned to jail from the courthouse when he escaped.

Hatcher said Drumn drove a stolen car from Battle Creek to Jackson. There, Hatcher continued, he forced his way inside a parked car and took a gasoline courtesy card.

Drumn's capture came when he attempted to cash a personal check at a service stateion. "We questioned him about the car and courtesy card," he remarked, "and put out a message on the teletype. We got the answer back right away."

Battle Creek authorities arrived here Saturday.

California Furrier Caught in Theft Lie

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Convicted of staging a fake robbery at his Beverly Hills fur store and filing a false insurance claim for $248,000, Albert Teitelbaum has been ordered to appear July 30 for sentence and probation hearing. His lawyer, Isaac Pacht, will argue a motion for a new trial at that time.

A jury convicted Teitelbaum late Friday after deliberations since Thursday morning.

The 42 - year - old Teitelbaum maintained that four gunmen bound him and an employee, Al Stan, and escaped with 277 fur pieces last Dec. 27. Police branded the story a hoax and claimed the furs never left the store.

The Los Angeles County grand jury indicated Teitelbaum March 7. Singer Mario Lanza was among witnesses who testified for the furrier. Among other witnesses for Teitelbaum were actresses Joan Crawford and Joan Caulfield; Dore Schary and columnist Louella O. Parsons.

Brucker Sees Training of New German Army

BONN, Germany (AP) — Secretary of the Army Wilber M. Brucker today watched the new German Army being trained.

He saw men of the training battalion at Andernach undergoing refresher courses to become leaders of the new Busdeswehr.

Earlier, Brucker conferred with Maj. Gen. Clark L. Ruffner, head of the Military Assistance Advisory Group, which is helping teach Germans to use American weapons.

Traffic Victim Dies

MUSKEGON (AP) — George H. Steen, 85, of Spring Lake, died in a hospital here Sunday from injuries received July 12 in a traffic accident. His car collided with a semi-trailer on U.S. 31 near Muskegon.

Syrian Moscow-Bound

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—President Shukri Kuwatly will pay a state visit to the Soviet Union in late October. Political circles believe Kuwatly will try to negotiate an agreement for Soviet long-term loans to help finance Syria's 200 million dollar seven-year development scheme.

Philippines, Japan Renew Relations, End State of War

TOKYO (AP) — Japan and the Philippines restored full diplomatic relations today for the first time since World War II.

Foreign Minister Mamoru Shigemitsu of Japan and Jose Imperial, Philippine minister to Tokyo, exchanged documents ratifying the reparations agreement whereby Japan will pay 550 million dollars in goods and services over a 20-year period to the country it once occupied.

The exchange of documents in effect ended the technical state of war between the two countries. Philippines ratification of the Japanese Peace Treaty of 1952 was also deposited in Washington. The missions of both countries were elevated to embassies.

The Philippines had refused to sign the peace treaty negotiated by most of the nations that fought Japan in World War II until a reparations agreement was also settled. The agreement was signed in Manila May 9.

British Auto Plants Shut Down by Strike

BIRMINGHAM, England (AP) — Union leaders called a strike against the giant British Motor Corp. today, but the firm claimed it was less than 50 per cent effective.

More than 1,000 pickets ringed the corporation's 13 plants in this and other Midlands cities, employing a total of 48,000 men.

A corporation spokesman, however, said that of 42,987 men due at work today, 22,079 went to their benches.

"The figures speak for themselves," the spokesman added.

BMC—maker of the Morris and Austin cars—is the world's biggest automobile manufacturer outside the United States.

The strike is against the firm's decision to drop 6,000 men in an economy move.

The leaders of 15 unions in the industry demand that the men be reinstated or compensated for loss of jobs.

One union official, Stan Creswell of Amalgamated Engineers, said he was "well satisfied" with the response to the strike.

The bride and groom, both 21, were classmates at Irvington-on-Hudson, N.Y., high school.

Young Powell is a senior at Cornell University, Ithaca, N.Y. N.Y. The couple will live there when school starts in the fall.

Powell's parents were divorced in 1945.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery
Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids
New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain—without surgery.
In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.
Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.
And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!
In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.
All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.
This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H.® Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

Charles Richman and his daughter, Carol, of River Edge, N. J., find fishing off the shore of one of the nearby lakes a lot of fun. Mr. Richman points out a few of the tricks of the more experienced angler to Carol who at the moment is waiting patiently for the "bite."

Business was good at the soft drink stand constructed and operated by Richard Herr of West Huron street. Caught by the photographer as they stopped for a refreshing drink were Carol Marks (center) of Flint, houseguest of Carol Marks of Ottawa drive (right).

"Sleepy" and "Skipper" the collie puppies belonging to John Brady Jr. keep their master busy running and romping in the yard. John Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John Brady of East Iroquois road has just about all he can handle when he holds them while he rests a bit.

Adding the personal touch to the garden and lawn of his home, Richard C. Haughton of Orchard Lake avenue spends his afternoon off painting the fence he recently constructed. When completed, an early American coach lamp will be erected on the post of the fence. A spinning wheel placed on the other side of the yard attracts the passerby as do several other prize antiques in Mr. Haughton's yard.

Stylist Eyes Marilyn's 'Spare Tire'

LONDON (AP) — A British fashion expert took a long, cold look at Marilyn Monroe today and pronounced judgment: the girl's a dowdy dresser.

The expert, a woman naturally, was Jean Soward of the News Chronicle.

Miss Soward said Hollywood's most fabulous blonde has a spare tire around her midriff and ought to wear a corset.

Her skirts are too tight. She wears the wrong skirt-and-blouse combinations. She's careless about combing her hair and keeping her clothes tidy.

Miss Soward said she had "waded through oceans of print and stared at hundreds of pictures" since Marilyn arrived in England July 14 to make a movie.

"Always," she complained, "it's Marilyn through a man's eyes. And my, oh my, just how starry-eyed can a man gazing at Marilyn become? Let's have another look —this time through the less easily distracted eye of a woman.

"Marilyn left the plane at London airport in a dress which looked as though she had slept in it, with a skirt so tight she could hardly stagger across the tarmac, a crumpled coat slung over her shoulders, and tousled hair.

"The most prominent thing about her was her spare tire. Lots of us have one, but most of us dress to disguise it.

"At press conference No. 2 she exposed in a veiled sort of way the only exposable bit of a woman left unpublicized—a chiffon-covered midriff brought that spare tire into prominence again. Let's face it, Miss Monroe, Indian women have been doing this more attractively for hundreds of years."

There are no idle hours for Wilbur J. Haines of Summit street even though he has retired from active business. He takes real pride in his yard and keeps busy doing the necessary trimming and edging that results in the attractive and well kept shrubs at his home.

Entertains Group

Fish, Swim, Fix Homes

Area Enjoys Sports, Outdoor Fun

By MARGARET COLE

"Have you ever experienced such weather for this time of the year?"

* * *

"I've only been swimming a couple of times, the weather's been so unpredictable."

"I wish we'd have a nice day for a change . . ."

With so many unfavorable comments about the actions of Ol' Man Weather, this reporter was curious about the overall effect he was having on the local activities and vacation schedules.

TYPICALLY COOL

The day was "typical" (for this summer, that is). The thermometer was registering in the 70s, with the clouds hanging low and thundershowers predicted.

Would people be discouraged, disgusted, and would we find them "taking cover" indoors with a favorite novel?

Leaving the office, destination unknown, the Pontiac Press photographer and myself traveled to all parts of the area.

It was a most satisfying feeling to find that it takes more than the weather to get the people of this community down.

JUST LIKE 'OLD DAYS'

In our travels one would never have known but that it was the kind of a July day that we are more familiar with—remember, a hot humid day with the temperatures in the high nineties, when we escaped to the beach.

Children were at the beach, enjoying the water. And mothers, realizing the importance of their supervision while the children were in the water, still were able to "catch up" on the beaches.

Many of the people with whom we talked were from distant points, spending a vacation here visiting families and friends. One visitor was on her way to the Pontiac City Library; time permitted her to do some reading while on vacation.

Other visitors in the area were thrilled at the many lakes so close by and found pleasure in spending the afternoon fishing off shore. Many more ardent anglers were launching their boats for several hours of the favorite recreation, despite the weatherman's gloomy predictions.

Home improvements were not being neglected either. Construction work was evidenced in every locale, the man of the house was found painting, trimming hedges, or adding the finishing touches to the new walk or drive. Incidentally, this was his afternoon off.

Dr. and Mrs. Alvin L. Goding of Alliance, Neb., announce the engagement of their daughter, Rita-Al, to Burwell Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Burwell J. Jones of Orchard Lake. The couple was graduated from U. of M. where Burwell is now studying medicine. A Sept. 1 wedding is planned.

RITA-AL GODING

Points Up Uses of Mums

Mrs. Alfred Rothweiler spoke on the History and Culture of Chrysanthemums before members and guests of the Better Home and Garden Club. She told of the use of chrysanthemums in medical science, in which several beverages are made from the petals and foliage of the plant.

Mrs. Rothweiler also pointed out that, in cooking, the leaves and flowers are dried and used in cake and candy. She told of the popularity of the plant in America for ornamental purposes and potted plants, as well as for cut flowers.

The 27 members and guests met at the James K. boulevard home of Mrs. I. J. Mintz. Mrs. Mintz also served as chairman

Assisting her was Mrs. Howard Fairman, Mrs. J. George, Mrs. Emery Kaid, Mrs. Edgar Carbey, Mrs. Rothweiler and Mrs. Clyde Anderson.

Mrs. H. A. Cowell of Austin, Tex. and Mrs. Clarence Brace of Orlando, Fla., formerly of Pontiac, attended from out of town.

Best Answer for Kids: give 'em Toy Models

A word of interest to mothers: The next time your little daughter starts to play with the vacuum cleaner — or gets too close to the range — take her down to a toy store and buy her one of her own.

* * *

For a small investment in time and money, you can: (1) Give her valuable training, (2) Protect her from injury, (3) Protect your appliances, and (4) Provide her with pleasure. According to Toy Guidance Council, there is a glittering and useful assortment of miniature appliances, correct to the last detail, with which daughter can spend many delightful hours, imitating in play every household chore Mom performs.

Bribe the Older One

If you're bringing home a new baby who will take up most of your time, get something for your older child that he has been wanting, something that can absorb his time and interest while you're busy with the baby. A fair distribution of favors is one way to avoid family jealousies.

Budget Time and Money for Zestier Life

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

If you feel that life is pushing you around and that you are not getting what you want from it, you should have serious doubts that you are making the right choices.

Recently I wrote about the importance of deliberately choosing the ways in which we spend our energy. The way we spend our money is also important. If our level of spending keeps pace with our increases in income we will have no margin for the things we may want most.

Perhaps you would rather live more simply, saving in many small ways for a big vacation each year, for art lessons, for a country cottage or some hobby, to say nothing about independence in old age. Do not allow life to drag you down humdrum paths.

This surely happens to many people! They seem to be in the clutches of life, unable to choose while they spend their energy in enterprises and activities which have no real meaning for them and sometimes even bore them.

They allow their money to dribble away in the same manner. This is easy to do. In fact it is hard not to do.

SET YOUR GOALS

Decide what you really want. Once you do this you can budget your time and energy and money to reach the goals you are shooting for. An attitude like this even turns saving in many small ways into a fascinating game.

More and more has been learned about the connection between illness and strain. We really cannot afford to live in a constant state of worry and strain if we hope to live out our life span in a vital, youthful way.

It is essential that we choose a life plan in which we can have at least one vacation each year.

It is essential that we choose a plan of life in which we can have daily rest periods, relax on weekends, and have at least one vacation each year.

Good planning and recognition of the fact that rest periods and vacations actually save time, rather than subtract from it, will add to your energy, efficiency and zest for living.

If you would like to have my leaflet, "Individual Happiness," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 65 to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

TO AVOID FINANCIAL STRAIN, TRY BUDGETING

Today more people have more money than ever before. It will be a shame if it all disappears into thin air without even lessening individual strain.

I am certainly no financial expert. If I ever claimed to be one everyone who knows me well would die laughing. However, I have had long and turbulent struggles with budgets of different sorts.

I have come up with some conclusions, which I've listed below, out of personal experience and observation. Probably most people knew these long before I did, but I had to learn them the hard way.

1. All people, except the very rich, have financial problems, and even the rich struggle in their way. Of course this latter is more glamorous and more fun than the way most of us peg along.

2. There is nothing more boring than writing down every nickel you have spent during each day. It seems a sheer waste of time and energy to spend an hour trying to remember that you spent that unaccounted-for dime on a bag of peanuts. I believe that this sort of budgeting discourages many people from keeping any budget at all.

VERY INDIVIDUAL

3. Budgets are highly individual, and should be. What is money well spent for one person might be a complete loss if spent in the same way by another person.

4. Few people are thrifty enough to avoid financial strain unless they keep some kind of a budget. Human nature being what it is, the average person will find that his desires can catch up with and even pass an increase in income with no effort at all.

5. It is extremely important for all of us to avoid as many of the chronic strains of living as possible. The money problem is one of the most wearing for most folks.

Perhaps you will find a compromise budget best for you. This way you would budget all of the big items, allowing a certain amount for incidentals and personal expenses.

Then if you find that your savings are leaking into these two channels you will have to write down what you spend at the end of each day.

RELIEF TO KNOW

Anyway, it will be a relief to know where your money goes rather than to blame your deficiency on a hole in your pocket or on being shortchanged.

Control of money from middle age on is essential. You are less able to bear the wear and tear; and many of the unhappy emotional situations of later life come from having to be financially dependent on someone else. This often leads to living situations which are unhappy for all concerned.

Divorce Isn't the Answer to Minor Marital Trouble

Wife Should Make the Best of Situation if Problem Cannot Be Solved

By RUTH MILLETT

"Should I take my two children and leave my husband or stick it out?" a wife asks in a letter to this column.

What's wrong with her husband? Nothing that she mentions in her letter.

But she is fed up with living next door to her in-laws.

Are the in-laws interfering in her life? Not that she mentions. All she says of them is that they are cold and indifferent.

Granted, that isn't a pleasant situation. And granted that the couple would probably be better off to put some distance between themselves and the husband's parents.

NEVER PERFECT

No marriage is perfect. Each person who marries has to put up with some problems or try to work them out.

This wife apparently has only one problem and yet she is thinking of breaking up her home because she doesn't know how to solve it.

Maybe she can't solve it the way she would like to. Maybe she can never make her husband understand how important it is to her for them to get away by themselves.

But she can certainly make the best of the situation if she can do nothing else.

She can make up her mind that she will treat her in-laws with unfailing curtesy and respect. If she can't make them like her then she can calmly accept the fact that they don't and refuse to be hurt by their lack of kindness and tolerance.

HER OWN LIFE

Then she will be free to be herself and to live her own life.

Her job in life isn't to win an in-law battle. It is to be a big enough person to make a go of her marriage and to keep her home together for her children's sake.

Coming Events

West Side Extension Club will meet Wednesday at 11 a.m. with Mrs. Francis Loss, 71 Summit St., for luncheon.

Friendship Circle of Welcome Rebekah Lodge, 246, will meet at Murphy Park Wednesday for a noon picnic.

Quick Sewing Circle will meet with Mrs. May Baker, 25 Lewis St., Wednesday at 2 p.m.

Man Thinks Youth Acts Improperly

Criticizes Custom of Boy Paying for Girl's Room

By EMILY POST

A man writes: "While glancing through a magazine recently I came across an article on the subject of a girl's weekend date away from home. It said: 'The boy provides your room and all regular expenses of your visit.'

"When I was a boy, I was taught that for a gentleman to pay for a lady's sleeping quarters was highly compromising, and as the years have passed and I have seen the effects of vicious gossip, I have come to realize the wisdom of the rule.

"However, in discussing this with others I find that very few of our younger generation follow this rule. In fact, one girl said that if a man invited her to a social event which required that she spend a night away from home, he'd better pay for her room—or else.

"They don't seem to realize that when a lady permits a man to pay for her room, she is sleeping 'under his roof' without a chaperon. I would appreciate your discussing this in your column."

Answer: There is nothing further to discuss because you are entirely right. Nobody of proper ethics could agree to anything else.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Quite often my husband and I and several other young couples go out dancing. After the dance, the others like to go somewhere for something to eat.

"Neither my husband nor I like to eat late at night, so the last few times we asked to be excused and went directly home after the dance. I understand we are being called spoil-sports by some of them for doing this.

"They seem to feel that since we all went out together, we should spend the whole evening together. Is it necessary that we join them even though we don't have anything to eat? I would very much appreciate your opinion of this matter."

Answer: If there was just one couple you might then be considered a spoil-sport, but as there are several other couples, you certainly shouldn't have to join them.

Fur trim is back for fall in both suits and coats. It gives a touch of luxury to fabrics as well as an added dash of drama.

'Altruism' Inconveniences Mother

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

When Mrs. P. was 8 years old, she discovered the answer to this urgent question: How can I get Mother to praise me the way she did before my sister and brother came?

The answer was deferring to the younger children. Until then, she'd always resisted their attacks on her rights or property. But as her mother strongly disapproved this resistance as "quarreling," its failure as a method for earning praise became clear.

Accordingly, she stopped protesting her right to go to bed later than her sister. She no longer fought for the Sunday comics with her little brother. On her mother's advice, she tried to always "consider others," never herself—and indeed won much praise for this effort.

But this training in self-denial, though a great convenience to Mrs. P.'s family, has been a great inconvenience to Mrs. P.

PHONY ALTRUISM

The other day her 11-year-old Connie flatly refused to make her bed. Did her mother make it? If you think so, you don't know what training in phony altruism can do to us.

Mrs. P. didn't dare make Connie's bed. She didn't dare give first consideration to her wish to get the chore done; she had to give in to her obligation to make Connie obedient.

Just as what she wanted was once over-whelmed by duty to her sister and brother, so today it was over-whelmed by duty to her own child.

Intent on "considering" Connie before herself, Mrs. P. first tried to force obedience by threatening her. When this failed, she burst out at the girl in angry, helpless attack on her "laziness."

The result was a headache, not a made bed.

A child who knows we fear to serve our own wishes before his also serves us unwillingly. He begrudges giving to us because we begrudge giving to ourselves.

If I do not fear serving myself, I respond simply, immediately and directly to Connie's defiance.

I rise from my chair, saying pleasantly, "Very well. If you won't make your bed for yourself, I'll have to make it for you. Right now, what I want is a made bed more than I want an obedient child."

And without reproach or anger, go upstairs to render myself this service.

The less fear there is in me, the sooner will come the call, "Come down here, Mother! I'll make my bed, for goodness' sake. Mother, please wait . . ."

Hollywood Opens Gate for New 'Miss Universe'

LONG BEACH, Calif. (INS)—The glittering doors of Hollywood swung open today for Miss Universe, gorgeous Carol Morris of Ottumwa, Iowa, and for several other girls who placed high in the beauty contest at Long Beach.

The 20-year-old preacher's daughter who was judged fairest of 43 American beauties and 30 lovelies from around the world will go to Universal-International movie studio today to sign the film contract she won with her title.

Similar contracts also will be presented voluptuous Miss Germany, Marina Orschel, and blonde Miss Sweden, Ingrid Goude, who were second and third in the final judging, and to other contestants to be chosen in interviews today.

Most of the rest of the girls were on their way home today from the week-long tense, but exciting spectacle which they almost unanimously agreed was the greatest thrill of thir lives.

A few remained in the Los Angeles area for visits or sightseeing, and some to visit relatives, such as Miss Costa Rica, Anabelle Granades, who was voted "Miss Friendship" of the pageant. She will see friends in Southern California and San Francisco before returning home.

CLIMAX OF PAGEANT

The pageant officially ended Saturday night, with crowning of Miss Universe at a coronation ball attended by all the contestants in the escort of uniformed naval cadets from Pensacola, Fla.

Sunday was the day of farewell as most of the girls packed their bags and said tearful goodbyes to the new friends they had made in their common ordeal of looking lovely under stares of thousands of eyes in a strange city.

As for next year, some new competition is being lined up, including a possible entry from Russia.

Oscar Meinhardt, executive producer of the annual beauty pageant, said:

"I probably will get in touch with several Russian newspapers to ask them whether they would like to sponsor a delegate to next year's pageant.

"I see no reason why Russia should not send a delegate. As far as we are concerned, we will be very happy to see an entry from Russia or any other country in the world."

Meinhardt said he also expects entries next year from Eire, Lebanon, Ceylon, Korea and four Latin American nations in addition to those already entered.

Greek Cook Dips Cookies in Seeds Before Baking

Pontiac Press Home Editor

Last May, when Mrs. Nicolas Samouris told us all about Greek Easter customs, she also gave us a recipe for sesame seed cookies. We knew you'd like to have this recipe and saved it. Here it is, in much smaller quantity than the original recipe.

Mrs. Samouris is a busy woman who combines homemaking with an outside job. She is a church choir director and belongs to the Greek Ladies Aid Society. Her hobbies are reading and music.

SESAME TWISTS
By Mrs. Nicolas Samouris

1 cup sweet butter
3 eggs
1 cup sugar
4 tablespoons orange juice
4 teaspoons baking powder
5 cups sifted flour
Sesame seeds

Cream butter and sugar, add eggs. Add orange juice, then sifted dry ingredients. There is no salt in this recipe. Chill dough thoroughly.

Roll small pieces of dough into finger-like pieces. Twist into S-shapes or make thin wreaths. Dip into sesame seeds which may be toasted. Bake 15-20 minutes in a 350-degree oven.

Woos You to Sleep

Sometimes summer sleep is interrupted by the sting of slight sunburn. Splash chilled, good quality witch hazel over the affected area. It's soothing and cooling—woos sleep for you.

Metropolitan Club Auxiliary Meets

Mrs. Clifford Hickmott and Mrs. Ray Wilson were hostesses to members of the Ladies Auxiliary to the Metropolitan Club, Spirit Six, when they met at the American Legion Home.

It was announced at the recent meeting that Mrs. John DePauw, Mrs. Merrill Petrie, Mrs. Ralph Dean and Mrs. R. M. Baker will attend the club's national convention at Sault Ste. Marie later this month.

The group will meet Sept. 4 for a picnic at Murphy Park followed by a business meeting.

Make 'em Work, Too

Amusing youngsters on family vacation trips poses as big a problem for parents as planning the itinerary. Toys for travel should be easy to pack, light in weight, encourage quiet play and offer varied types of activity in limited play space. If possible, give the little fellow a suitcase of his own.

Crooner to Wed Miss America '55

DENVER (INS) — Don Cherry, crooner and golf enthusiast, revealed he will wed Miss America of 1955, Sharon Kay Ritchie, in Denver Sept. 22, and teach her to play golf.

Besides the usual diamond ring (3½ carats), Cherry has given the beauty queen a set of golf clubs.

In Denver for the crowning of Miss Colorado for 1956, Sharon described the last year as "wonderful" and "exciting."

Miss Ritchie, who stepped from a coed at Colorado Woman's College to become the nation's leading beauty, revealed she accepted Cherry's proposal on their date with:

"You'll have to get me an automatic pilot for the stove. I'm afraid to light a gas range."

Bob Considine Says:

Steaks Cost $20-$30 Each at Our Cook-Out

ALLENHURST, N.J. (INS) — There's something about those outdoor grill and barbecue ads, and the succulent looking art that illustrates them, that I just haven't gotten the hang of.

I see those nice bargain prices advertised, and they seem mighty cheap when one considers that all red blooded American eaters need meat—grilled or barbecued—if we intend to retain our ratings as the most fearless tax-paying nation.

What I can't get the hang of is how anybody can afford to operate an alfresco inferno.

"How much do you charge for your sirloin steaks?" I asked Frank Harris, the venerated head waiter and now co-owner of the Eden Roc in New York the other night.

The question propelled Frank into a reminiscent spiel reaching back to Diamond Jim Brady and ranging up through the years when a trencherman could spear a steak and baked Idaho potato for a buck and a quarter at the best hotel restaurant in New York.

THE WAY WE OPERATE

"Today, I go to market, pick our some meat, get my stamp put on it, have it hung, and three-four weeks later they send it to me. I got to charge six bucks for a steak, and that's hardly breaking even."

Six bucks! It didn't seem possible. The way we operate our outdoor crematory you can't get an honest blaze going for six dollars, much less the victuals to feed to it.

"Dennis," my wife said to one of our children who's name is Barry, at the start of the summer. "You're in charge of the barbecue."

DENNIS THE MENACE

This may have been the greatest strategic blunder since Napoleon ordered Moscow burned. Born only a few years earlier, as history moves, Dennis would have beaten Nero to the punch in the burning of Rome. While that slob (Nero) was turning his lyre, our pyromaniac could have had fires burning from Castel Gandolfo to Michael Chinigo. For kindling, Dennis is inclined to use the leg of the nearest piano. For paper, he uses my old columns, the ones I saved against that envisioned day when the spade - bearded people from the Nobel Prize Committee walked in.

For charcoal, he has an interesting recipe. Two bags per hamburger.

Cooler heads generally prevail against him as the evening, the conflagration, and the martoonies wear on. The cool head who braves the blistering heat of his ozone oven and makes the hard decision that the meat therein is ready is brave in two respects. In the first place, he may not survive. In the second place, he must face the most discriminating audience known to man—the guest at an outdoor cookfest.

COUNTING ALL THINGS

"Please hurry, I'm starving," the first babe says. "I'll have a well done rae outside cut." The poor boob brandishing the carving knife (last sharpened at the battle of Little Big Horn) looks over the slab of steak and knows it can never be.

But he hopefully pokes at it and thinks he may be able to get away with it when he is derailed by the fat guy behind him who says "What about that lean fatty filet with the bone you promised me?"

Tough steaks, undercooked (or overcooked) at our barbecue costs from $20 to $30 each, counting the fire, which is almost on the scale of the San Francisco one, portal to portal, and unguentine.

This might seem to be an exhorbitant figure except for the cost of the tomatoes we serve with this princely repast. Certain super markets and door to door hucksters, obviously in league either with the enemy or the Almighty, have found ways and means of selling tomatoes for 35 cents a pound. We grow our own. Four dollars each.

Pravda Prates Line on Nile Dam Refusal

MOSCOW (INS) — The Communist Party newspaper, Pravda, and other central publications carried two to four paragraphs Saturday on the announcement that the United States has decided not to give financial assistance to Egypt for construction of the Aswan Dam project.

The identical headlines over the Tass dispatch read:

"U. S. A. attempts exert pressure on Egypt."

The Tass dispatch, datelined New York, said:

"The American press is not concealing the fact that the main reason for the withdrawal is the independent policy followed by the present Egyptian government — which is striving with other peace loving nations to make a contribution to reassure the lessening of international tension."

Soviet Continues Old Ideologies

Sarnoff Warns Legion the Red New Look Aims to Lull the West

PHILADELPHIA (INS) — Brig. Gen. David Sarnoff, board chairman of the Radio Corp. of America, warns that many nations of the free world are "lapsing into a drowsy mood of false security" because of "cunningly induced Soviet 'new looks.'"

Sarnoff told the 38th annual convention of the Pennsylvania American Legion in Philadelphia that seven of the nine members of the old Soviet Politburo—all but Stalin and Beria—are in the newly created presidium.

"This is the same old gang, the same ideology, the same relentless purpose of expunging freedom everywhere. The free world doesn't have the shadow of an excuse for trusting this gang or relaxing its vigilance," he said.

The RCA executive said the aim of Russian foreign policy is to destroy our system of alliances and global structure. To meet the challenge, he contended, the U. S. must remain militarily strong, keep ahead in science and technology and have an adequate supply of trained manpower to meet any emergency.

Sarnoff pointed out the Soviets are vulnerable because their structure of power is "termite-eaten by chronic fears and hatred and oppressions and its parts are held together not by mutual loyalty but by raw force."

Warren G. Harding, in the presidential campaign of 1920, first used the word "normalcy."

Inheritance Investigator Says It Isn't Easy

His Job: Giving Away Millions of Dollars

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS)—Thanks to the Department of Internal Revenue, the gentle poets and the process of rationalization, everybody knows by now that money isn't everything.

In fact, it is in poor taste even to mention money these days. Should the topic come up at a party, it is the wise hostess who will change the subject tactfully before the ladies get nasty and their husbands maudlin.

"However," says a gentleman named Ted Roth, "I feel there is one instance where money can be considered a very pleasant asset to possess. That is when you don't have to work for it—when it is left to you, free and clear, by a relative so distant that you didn't even know him.

"To become an heir, without losing a loved one, is a fulfilling experience."

There are "upwards of several million" persons in the U.S. right now who have such fulfilling experiences coming to them and don't even know it, Roth says.

As an "inheritance investigator" it is his job to try to trace some of these missing heirs and bestow upon them several billions of dollars.

MILLION GIVEN AWAY

"So far I've managed to locate nearly 2,000 heirs, to whom I've given more than a million dollars," Roth continues coolly, "but I have an open file of 1,250,000 more missing heirs to be found—and it's not easy, I assure you, giving money away."

The "inheritance investigation" business operates this way.

When a person dies, leaving no will and no known relatives, he or she is occasionally found to have a great deal of money stashed away in a bank or a shoebox. The money, by state law, should be awarded to the next of kin.

The state has neither the time nor the inclination to search through geneologies for the proper heir, especially since the inheritance reverts to the state if no heir becomes apparent.

"Here's where we come in," explains Roth. "We trace the deceased's family until we locate a next of kin, and then—for a fee, of course—we prove to the state his right to the inheritance."

$15.55 INHERITANCE

Through 22 years in the business, Ted has located the heirs to as little as $15.55 (I waived the fee"), and as much as $1,000,000.

He has spent as long as eight years researching a recluse's family tree—with no results. And he has located an heir to $7,000 in as little as 20 minutes ("I just found the man in the phone book").

A small, debonair, mustached man of 40 energetic years, Roth currently is working to find two next-of-kin who are in line for $175,000, if they only knew it.

They are the elusive relatives of Jeremiah Miller and John Nolan, a couple of Irishmen who came to New York and died wealthy but secretive.

"The Irish recluses are the lion's share of our cases. They come over here from the old country, they work like the devil to make money, they live in secrecy, and when they die, have no apparent heirs . . .

"There could be a lot of wealthy Irishmen in this world if they'd keep track of their kin."

FRUSTRATING JOB

Roth claims that his job must surely be the most frustrating profession in the world, though an old and recognized one. The first inheritance investigating firm was founded in 1790 in France.

"You look for an heir for six years and then find he's living behind the Iron Curtain, so you have to drop the case.

"You search for a man for two years and then find he lives in the same building with you. You chase rainbows and find you're all wet.

"I tell you," says Roth, "if I ever become a missing heir and find myself, I'm going to put a stop to all this aggravation and retire."

U. S. Asks U. N. Seat for Asian Countries

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (INS) —The United States pushed a new drive in U.N. today for admission of Japan, South Korea and Vietnam while stiffening opposition to the seating of Red China and Outer Mongolia.

The drive on the three applicants was launched immediately after the Security Council on Friday unanimously approved the admission of Morocco — subject to final ratification by the General Assembly next fall—on the basis of "merit."

Next week, the Security Council is certain to repeat its speedy action in recommending the entry of Tunisia as the 79th member. Sudan was recommended as the 77th member some weeks ago. The North African protectorates of Morocco and Tunisia have just recently been given their sovereign independence by France.

U.S. sources said Red China's chances of being seated at the expense of National China in the U.N. Assembly this fall were "most remote."

Judge-Hating Worker Is Committed to Ionia

Psychiatrists testified that Wloch, who has been found legally insane four times, suffers from a paranoic condition and has homicidal tendencies.

All's Well That Ends Well— Even in a Well

Five-year-old Cathy Wolak, jumping up and down on the board cover of an unused well near her grandmother's house in Warren Township Saturday, suddenly disappeared.

Her mother, Mrs. Walter Wolak of Warren, summoned to the well by the screams of neighbor children, jumped through the hole in the well cover and held Cathy's head above water until neighbors could fetch a ladder.

Cathy and her mother quickly climbed the 15 feet to safety. And aside from bruises and a bitten tongue, Cathy was reported suffering no ill effects yesterday.

According to Cathy's grandmother, Mrs. Michael Grabowski, the well has been boarded up ever since she moved into the house three years ago.

DREAM MATERIALIZES — Milford high school band leader, Phil Haddrill, Jim O'Grady, secretary, and Ron Fremlin, manager, tune up their instruments in preparation for tomorrow night's first official meeting of the Huron Valley Community Band. Community Band Getting Under Way

By REBA HEINTZELMAN
Milford Correspondent

MILFORD — An eighteen-year old dream is about to become a reality for high school band leader, Phil Haddrill.

A community band is being organized whereby musicians from all parts of the area may get together and play good music. The group will be known as the Huron Valley Community Band, according to manager, Ronald Fremlin. Jim O'Grady is temporary secretary.

Purpose of the band is to provide service to the community. It is also an opportunity for adult participation in good music; to provide musical companionship for those with a common interest and to increase individual and community musical understanding. The purposes, rules and officers were decided upon at a recent meeting.

Three rules governing the eligibility for participation in the new band are:

1. Knowing how to play an instrument.
2. Have had some experience in an ensemble.
3. Be a high school graduate or 18 years of age.

According to Haddrill, there have been several attempts to organize bands of this type, over a period of years, but through mis-organization and other factors, the idea never materialized.

Tuesday night will be the first official meeting of the Huron Valley Community band and will be held at the Milford High School band house. All adult participants are urged to bring their instruments and work will begin on concert music, beginning at 8 p.m.

Haddrill said that this is more of a cultural rather than social organization, and already members have signed up from Walled Lake, Ypsilanti and Holly.

Chicago in All-Out Effort to Forestall Polio Epidemic

CHICAGO (AP) — Chicagoans have been warned that the city's polio rate—highest in the nation—may rise to epidemic proportions if children are not immediately inoculated with Salk vaccine.

Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of Chicago's Board of Health, issued the warning yesterday. He said all children should be taken immediately to private doctors or city welfare stations for the Salk shots.

Thus far this year, 268 polio cases and five deaths have been reported in Chicago. At this time in 1955, there were only 38 cases.

Bundesen said only 22 of the city's cases this year had received Salk inoculations and some of these received only one shot instead of the three necessary to achieve maximum protection against paralytic polio.

He said fewer than one-third of the vaccinated polio patients had developed paralytic polio compared with 171 paralytic cases among those not vaccinated.

TO SPEED SHOTS

Since a polio emergency was declared July 12, the city has inoculated 21,948 persons unable to afford private doctors, Bundesen said the inoculation drive will be speeded up with the aim of reaching 500,000 persons.

Meanwhile, three experts from the U.S. Public Health Service's Epidemiological Center, Atlanta, Ga., have set up headquarters in Chicago in an attempt to learn the reasons for the city's sudden polio outbreak.

The medical men consider the situation unique because nearly half the cases have developed in a low income area on the west side. They said youngsters in such regions usually develop more natural and early immunity to the disease.

The doctors will also try to determine why the disease has struck hardest at youngsters in the five years and underage group. About 60 per cent of the cases have been in that age group.

New Mexico's New Jail

Penitentiary Opens Doors for 10,000 Awed Visitors

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP)—What is it like to look out from behind the bars of a solitary confinement cell, or sit in the death seat of a prison gas chamber?

More than 10,000 persons, from toddlers and bobby soxers to oldsters, found out for themselves in an open house for the public over the weekend at New Mexico's new eight - million - dollar penitentiary

They swarmed through the corridors of the massive structure 10 miles south of here, slowed to a "prison shuffle" by their own packed mass.

First, Warden Harold Swenson invited "the public." Then he got another idea. He suggested "youngsters old enough to understand the significance" of a prison come along — "it might make them think what a social slip could mean."

Not only the parents and the teen-agers came, but with the crowd were babes in arms and preschool youngsters. Some of the reaction was a bit disconcerting.

A teen-age girl said: "I think it's nice and clean, but they built the rooms so little." She was standing in a solitary confinement cell.

Two lines faced the opening of the gas chamber in the death house. One was for amateur photographers who wanted pictures of the small black wire chair in the center. The other, the longest, a file of men, women and many children, waited to sit in the chair.

One little boy leaped into it, stuck his arms through the wide leather straps and yelled, "Look, Grandma, I'm being electrocuted!"

French Renew Raids on Algerian Rebels

ALGIERS, Algeria (AP) — French forces pounded the remnants of an Algerian nationalist band near the Moroccan border today with bombs, artillery shells and small arms fire in one of the largest actions in recent weeks.

Fifty rebels were reported wiped out.

The fight was in wooded country in the rugged mountains southwest of Tlemcen, less than 30 miles from Morocco, where the French say the nationalist rebels are receiving support.

First unofficial reports said a column of troops encountered the large group of rebels yesterday and attacked from the ground and air. French losses were not disclosed but the account said helicopters evacuated a number of wounded soldiers.

'Boy Emperor of All China' Testifies at Peiping Trial

HONG KONG (AP)—The first news in six years of Henry Pu-Yi, the one-time "boy emperor" of all China, comes from Peiping with the announcement he had testified at a trail of high officials of the former Japanese puppet state of Manchukuo.

Peiping Radio said 28 Japanese were sentenced to prison for terms ranging from 12 to 20 years for alleged crimes during the 14 years of Japan's rule of Manchukuo, the name they gave to China's northeastern province of Manchuria.

Pu-Yi was the puppet Emperor Kang Teh during Japan's rule. Both Red China and Nationalist China convicted him of treason in abstentia for alleged trafficings with Japan. Peiping Radio said today he was still "in custody" but gave no details.

Lanky, bespectacled Pu-Yi, now 50, began his career as a pawn of fate in 1908, at the age of 2, when he ascended China's dragon throne and became Emperor Husan Tung. But the Chinese revolution of 1911 toppled the 268-year-old Manchu Dynasty and Hsuan Tung abdicated in 1912. He continued to live in the walled palace, and even was restored to power—for a week—by one of China's warlords.

DECLARED REGENT

Disguised as a coolie he escaped to a sanctuary in the Japanese concession at Tientsin in 1924. There he lived quietly as "Mr. Pu-Yi" until 1931 when the Japanese grabbed Manchuria and proclaimed him first as regent and then as emperor.

His "palace" was part of a barbed wire compound which the Japanese used as the headquarters of their salt monopoly.

He was captured by the Russians in 1945. Moscow promised to surrender him to China, but not keep the promise until long after Communists had driven the Nationalists from the mainland.

BROUGHT—BACK

In 1946 Pu-Yi was taken to Tokyo under Russian guard and testified at war crimes trails against prominent Japanese. The last news of him was in 1950, when a returned Japanese prisoner of war reported he was living an easy life in a large house in Khabarovsk Siberia, where he spent his time whittling and playing mah-jong.

The news today meant he may have been brought back to spend the rest of his days as a prisoner in the land where as a sickly child he was the ruler in name.

The chief defendant in the trail reported by Peiping was Rokuzo Takebe, former director general of the board of general affairs, as the Japanese government of Manchukuo was called. Takebe was sentenced to 20 years after he and the other 27 pleaded guilty, the broadcast said.

The defendants had spent as much as 10 years in jail, and the radio said this time would apply against their sentences.

At the same time it was announced that 328 other Japanese war criminals had been released without trail and were in Tienstin, ready to sail for home on the Japanese repatriation ship Koan Maru. By Communist count, 736 Japanese have now been freed in the past month, leaving 299 in jail.

ROK to Start War If Indo-China Erupts

SEOUL (INS)—South Korea's acting foreign minister, Cho Chung Whan, declared Saturday that if Communists renew a shooting war in Indo-China, South Korea will take "military action" against the Reds in North Korea.

In discussing the possibility of a new conflict in the Far East, Cho told a news conference that the Republic of Korea government has been trying to organize a military group among South Korea, Free Vietnam and Nationalist China to "curb Communist advances."

He said foreign ministers of the three countries will meet in Seoul next month.

Burkemo Ousted at PGA Championship

CANTON, Mass. (AP)—When Jackie Burke won the Masters Golf Tournament last spring, he figured it might be the breakthrough that would end his career as All-American runner-up

That was the first big one for the handsome, 33-year-old Texan who had been a professional golfer since he was 18 without ever coming closer than second in any major tournament.

Now, with a big chance to win his second major event within a year as he went into today's semifinals of the 38th Professional Golfers Assn. championship, Jackie isn't quite so sure.

"It ought to be a little better at 36 holes," he said after yesterday's 4-and-2 quarter-final victory over boyish-faced Freddie Hawkins. "But I feel as if I've had it. It's rough out there in those 18-hole matches."

Burke faced Ed Furgol, the 1954 National Open champion, in one of today's 36-hole semifinals. Furgol, whose determination to become a golfer overcame the handicap of a withered left arm, is a very rugged opponent in any kind of match.

Michigan's Walt Burkemo, the former champion from Franklin Hills, was knocked out of the PGA yesterday by Bill Johnston, a little-known pro from Provo, Utah.

The 31-year-old Johnston won two of the last three holes to take a 1-up decision from Burkemo. The medal score cards show Burkemo had a 73 and Johnston 74.

Burkemo took the lead on the 15th after coming from behind three times to square the match. Johnston then won the 16th and 17th. They halved the 18th.

The other semifinal sent Ted Kroll, the grim-faced former infantry sergeant from Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., against Bill Johnston, a 31-year-old teaching pro from Provo, Utah, who is slightly amazed at reaching the semifinals in his first fling at this gruelling tournament.

Burke never has gone past the 18-hole stage in the PGA championship before. He has won a lot of tournaments, four in a row on the winter tour in 1952, and was runner-up in the Masters and the Tam O'Shanter world championship before he finally hit the jackpot at Augusta, Ga., last April.

Furgol, the deeply-tanned 37-year-old campaigner who was probably the busiest player on the pro tour before he retired to a club job shortly before winning the Open, agreed with most of Burke's ideas.

Bone-weary after yesterday's two rounds, Furgol exclaimed:

"Look at what happened to me out there. That fellow was in the rough five times in eight holes and he had me three down."

4th ROUND

Errors Trip Clarkston in Tri-County Contest

Too many errors, at the wrong time, cost Clarkston a Tri-County baseball league contest, Sunday on the home diamond. Fenton was the winner 6-3, after collecting three counters in the 2nd and the winning run in the 4th. Three infield miscues accounted for the clinching tally.

Ed Moore was winning pitcher, Fred McAndrews the loser. Joe LePard replaced Fred in the 5th. Gene Goulet, with a triple and single, Chet Graves with 3 for 5 and Rog Johnson with 2 for 3 led Clarkston hitting.

Red Sox Take 8-6 Verdict

Vernon Too Much for Tigers

BOSTON (AP)—When the Detroit Tigers left today for Cooperstown, N.Y., rumor had it that Mickey Vernon was following them.

At any rate, the veteran practically ddove the Bengals from brought home five runs that gave the Red Sox an 8-6 edge over Detroit.

The Tigers are playing the New York Giants today at Cooperstown in an exhibition game held along with th induction of Hank Greenburg and Joe Cronin into baseball's hall of fame.

Vernon sent the Tigers packing with a homer and a single in last night's game. His first-inning single brought in two tallies and his three-run homer in the 6th lifted the Red Sox into a 6-5 lead.

The win was the 13th for Tom Brewer against three setbacks. The defeat broke Frank Lary's winning streak at four games, leaving him an 8-11 average.

Lary was relieved by Steve Gromek who gave way to Al Aber.

The Tigers pounded Brewer for 13 safeties but his teammates supported him with 15 hits.

The 1st of three hits by Harvey Kuenn started off a 1st-inning Tiger assault good for one run. The Sox went ahead 2-1 in their half of the inning but the Tigers evened it with a run in the 3rd.

The Red Sox squared it at 3-3 in the last of the 5th but Detroit, adding a run in the 5th and two more in the 6th, seemed well on the way with a 5-3 lead.

Then Lary walked the first two batters in the Boston half of the 6th and Vernon placed his homer in the rightfield stands.

Gromek came in and filled the bases with two singles. Another single and the two final Boston runs were in.

Catcher Frank House, who had two previous singles and drove in three of the Detroit runs, lined a two-out homer in the 9th.

Jewelers Win in First Round

Pontiac Shaw's Jewelers came out of their 1st round trial in the Metropolitan Beach invitational softball tourney, Sunday, with a hard-earned 1-0 victory. They were delayed by wet grounds until after 1 p.m. in what was to have been the 1st of two Sunday tilts. The scheduled 2nd game will be played Saturday afternoon against Green Lane Enterprise of Detroit.

In yesterday's contest, Perce McConner fired a brilliant two-hitter against the Lutomski Majors of Hamtramck, giving up one hit in the 1st and another in the 6th. Pontiac got its tally in the 1st frame when Verne Kerbaugh, leading off, walked, and scored with the aid of the 2nd passed ball of the inning. Two were out at the time.

Perce fanned nine batsmen, including the last three. He gave up two walks. Edgar Mullins and Louis Seay accounted for Shaw's only hits, both singles.

PYC's Goodwin Wins 'Big One'

Sailing his Windfall in the annual six-mile event at Bayview Yacht Club, Saturday and Sunday, Pontiac Yacht Club's Mack Goodwin emerged as top sailor with a 189 point total. Boats from many Michigan areas were among the competing craft.

The victory is regarded as an important one for the PYC Lightning skipper, who placed 2nd in the 2nd race; 2nd in the 3rd, 2nd in the 4th and 4th in the final event of the two-day meet. Mack's crew included his wife Marilyn and Ron Callahan.

The weekend win qualifies Goodwin for the big International at Buffalo, N.Y. in August. This test takes place at the Buffalo Canoe Club's site.

Milford Upsets Boys' Club Nine

Pontiac Boys Club found rough going as they lost their 1st Junior American Legion game after two straight wins in the 2nd half play of Junior American Legion play.

A strong Milford nine avenged an early season defeat by downing the favored Boys Clubbers 7-2 at Milford Sunday. Milford's Dick Gaddis and Jerry Orr, Pontiac hurler, exchanged six hitters, but the Milford team made better use of its hits to send seven runs across the plate.

Only bright spot on the Pontiac side was a tremendous blast by Jim Skinner over the centerfield fence for a home run.

Results of other Legion encounters over the weekend:

Rochester 8, Clawson 3; Berkley 19, Waterford 7.
Wednesday's games—Pontiac at Birmingham; Waterford at Clawson.
Friday night—Rochester at Berkley.

Perfection!

Pontiac Kegler Hits 300

First perfect bowling game of 1956 on a Pontiac area drive was turned in last of the week by Emerson Berney, a 22-year-old kegler rolling a personal match with Joe Foster and another friend at Pontiac Recreation.

Berney, who has been bowling since 1950, said he knew he had a "300" after getting his 8th straight strike. "I was sure I'd get the rest of them, after hitting that 8th sweep," Berney reported. "All the rest were good, solid hits. I think I would have bet $100 on that last ball, too."

EMERSON BERNEY

Only once, on the way to the "bowler's dream figure" was Berney off the beam. His 3rd frame strike switched tracks and went in on the "Brooklyn" side. But it was a good hit anyway, Emerson said.

Only three weeks ago, Berney compiled a 278 on the same drive—his best count up to that time. He is 22 years old, lives at 22 School St. and averages about 186 in winter league play.

Two More PCC Aces

Third and fourth holes-in-one for the season were recorded at Pontiac CC, last of the week.

In midweek, Marbara Hammett, 385 Going street, aced the tough No. 17 hole with a three-wood shot. She was playing with Frank Syron Jr. and Al Probert and had 49 for the round.

Saturday morning Jerry Geralds, playing with Howard Featherstone, Tom Edwards and Al Vagnette, holed his 7-iron tee shot on No. 8.

Birmingham started Saturday morning by defeating Berkley, 2-1 in the first round. In the afternoon John Dixon pitched the Birmingham squad to a 3-0, one-hit, shutout over the Port Huron Whites.

Walled Lake's Babe Ruth team was eliminated in the first round on a 7-1 decision to Lincoln Park, which also moved into the semifinals.

Escanaba and the Grosse Pointe Americans are the other two teams in the semifinals.

Birmingham won the game from Southfield yesterday when Phil Isbell squeezed home Roger Barrett with the winning run in the 8th inning.

Sabre Sets Pace

Leads 333-Mile Yacht Race

MACKINAC ISLAND (AP)—With the 87-foot Sabre setting the pace, 64 sailing vessels groped up foggy Lake Michigan today in the final third of the Chicago to Mackinac Island yacht race.

The close-packed fleet rounded Point Au Sable about nightfall with some 170 miles still to sail in the 333-mile chase.

The flotilla, with sails set into a 12-15 mile per hour wind, were hauled close to Michigan's Western shore.

Before a light fog blew in, Sabre, the largest sailing ship on the Great Lakes, was out front. Next came Freebooter. Several others trailed a mile behind the two leaders. Sabre is registered out of Sheboygan, Wis.

Others in the pack included Gypsy, of Milwaukee, winner of the Port Huron to Mackinac race last week; the Hilaria, out of Macatawa, Wis.; and the Tamara, out of Grosse Pointe, Mich.

First vessel wasn't expected to reach Mackinac Island harbor until at least tonight, and possibly not before Wednesday morning, depending on the wind.

Braves Tighten Hold in NL Race

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It took Milwaukee nearly four years to learn the formula that has won so many pennants for the Brooklyn Dodgers and now that the Braves finally appear to have solved it, they're going to be tougher than ever to dislodge from their lofty first-place perch.

What is this pennant formula? Why, its the ability to pound the daylights out of the opposition on home ground.

The Braves yesterday climaxed their most successful home stand since they moved to Milwaukee by sweeping a double-header from Philadelphia 8-7 and 16-5. Those twin victories not only boosted their National League lead to three games over Cincinnati, but gave them a record of 15 triumphs in a 20-game home stand.

Prior to this home stand, the Braves had fair success at Milwaukee's County Stadium but not enough to scare anybody. Not in any of their three previous seasons did they reach the .600 level. In fact, they had won only 14 and lost 12 at home before opening their just-concluded home stay on July 4. This 15-of-20 spree boosted their home season record to .630.

When the Dodgers won the flag in 1953, they played .779 ball at home. In last year's pennant-winning year, Brooklyn played .727 ball at Ebbets Field. Milwaukee still has 31 more games at home this season.

The Dodgers took two from St. Louis 5-3 and 5-3 but remained six games behind Milwaukee although they moved to within three lengths of the Redlegs who were held to a split by Pittsburgh. The Redlegs pounded three home runs to defeat the Pirates 9-2 in the nightcap after Pittsburgh won the opener 8-6.

Chicago's Cubs climbed into sixth place past the Phillies, by downing the New York Giants twice 4-1 and 2-1.

The New York Yankees' first-place American League margin over Cleveland was reduced to 9½ games when they divided a doubleheader with Kansas City while the Indians were defeating Baltimore 8-0 in a single game. After Kansas City had won the opener 7-4, the Yankees came back to win the second game 13-4.

In single affairs, Boston outslugged Detroit 8-6 and the Chicago White Sox subdued Washington 6-1.

Paul Bada Shoots Hot 65 to Win Union Golf Event

Pontiac's Paul Bada of Local 594 fired a sizzling four-under-par 65 Saturday to win the 8th annual UAW Region 1-B golf tournament at Pontiac Municipal Golf Course. Bada's card was one stroke better than the nearest handicap totals.

While Bada was grabbing championship honors in gross effort, Ed Uhler of Local 653 and Jerry Lampson of Local 125 each shot scores of 66 to tie for the title in the men's handicap division. The deadlock will be played off at a date still to be announced.

Bada again entered the picture as a member of the Local 594 foursome which won men's team honors in gross score. Charles Cappell, last year's individual champion, Bill Latozas and Howard Janczarek joined Bada in shooting a wining total of 288.

The Local 594 quartet of Ken Oppeneer, M. Marsac, T. Olisalk and C. Marsac took low net honors with 264.

Mary Costello, UAW secretary at the Pontiac regional office, won women's gross laurels with 114. Viola Lund was the women's net champion with 84.

Other winners:

1st Flight
Low gross: Ken Oppeneer, Local 594—73.
Low net: Louis Sach, Local 653; W. Dickins, Local 733; A. Earls, Local 594—68. Three-way tie to be played off at date still to be announced.

Low net: B. Hippert, Local 387—68.

3rd Flight
Low gross: Marvin Wells, Local 594—83.

Rash of Home Runs Hits Church League

Four circuit blows, one a two-run blast figured in Thursday's Church Softball League play. There was also a 6-0 shutout for variety.

Russ Attwater's two-run homer highlighted First Baptists' 13-8 win over Marimont Baptists. Fink's home-run for Memorial Baptists was a big help in a 11-7 victory over Galloway Lake, and Barker and Knapp led First Presbyterians with 4-baggers in their 12-2 win over Oakland U. P.

Jack Koyl's 4-hit hurling for Central Christians blanked Columbia Ave. Baptist 6-0.

GMC Divides Softball Tilts

Coachers Play Different Foes in Twinbill of Sunday's Play

GMC divided a twin bill against Waterford League foes and Elks No. 810 and Richard's Tavern chalked up wins in exhibition softball games Sunday night at Beaudette and North Side parks.

The Coachers, playing both ends of a doubleheader with two different opponents, scored a 2-1 victory over Drayton Drug in the opener, then dropped a 1-0 decision to Lakeland Pharmacy as Charles Rock hurled a four-hitter.

Alan Dennis twirled a two-hit chore to best Drayton's Arlo Flesher, who yielded four safeties. Dennis himself scored the winning run in the 7th inning. He walked, stole 2nd and raced home on Rubird Taylor's double.

Rock effectively silenced the GMC bats in the nightcap to edge Doug Hall. Chuck Cooper tripled and scored the lone run on Hall's wild pitch in the 3rd stanza.

Don Hill pitched a magnificent one-hit shutout as the Elks defeated Louie's Tavern, 4-0. Grant Hefferman made the only hit, a 2nd-inning single. Balle and McNamare combined to pitch three-hit ball to lead Richard's 4-1 conquest of Lunsford Market.

GM 9 Wins 18th Straight

General Motors forced its Class A opposition to hum the same old tune of defeat and Griff's Grill came out on the long end of the score in a City Baseball League double-header Sunday afternoon at Wisner Field.

A third scheduled Class A game at Columbia-Joslyn between Oliver Buick and the Anderson Jets was postponed because of wet grounds.

The undefeated Coachers rolled to their 18th consecutive victory with an 8-1 decision over cellar-dwelling Fowler's Fine Foods while Griff's rallied in the late innings to defeat Elks No. 723 by a 5-2 margin.

Stong - armed Steve Kebler hurled a one - hitter as GMC coasted to triumph in the nightcap. Mike Slivensky's single in the 6th inning was the lone safety given up by Kebler and Fowler's only run in the 4th was unearned. Dave (Boots) Kringe garnered two hits and drove in four runs to spark GMC's seven-hit attack.

Griff's made only three hits against the slants of Huey Thomas, but capitalized on seven errors for its verdict over the Elks. The winners broke a 1-1 deadlock with two runs in the 5th stanza. Jim Jones pitched four - hit ball for Griff's.

MUSKEGON (AP) — Some 75 of Michigan's top women shotmakers match strokes today in the qualifying round of the State Women's Amateur Golf tournament.

Today's action will determine the 32 competitors for championship flight match play beginning Tuesday.

Defending champion Wiffi Smith of St. Clair is not in the running. She declined to defend her title in favor of entering the National Women's Open.

One of the four leading contenders bidding for Miss Smith's vacated throne will be 19-year-old Sally Sharp of Birmingham who last year was the runnerup at Oakland Hills.

Miss Sharp, a student at MSU, will match her skill against Mrs. E. O. Reynolds of Lansing, Mrs. Keith LeClair and Mrs. Harold Marquardt of Gowanie as the top contenders.

Oldtimers Swamped by Detroit Outfit

Hammered by a total of some 15 blows, Pontiac's Oldtimer baseball club took a terrific licking in Detroit, Saturday night. They were victimized by Diz Trout's Oldtimers 19-1.

Pontiac's only counter came in the 7th. They were unable to get players around after they got on the bags. Detroit clobbered the Pontiac club for five runs in both 6th anod 8th frames. "They were just too tough," manager Bud Leslie reported.

Ace Lee, Mekules and Trout hurled for Detroit with Mike Tresch, top batter (3 for 6), back of the bat. Ted Mayhew and Woody Gordon worked for Pontiac with Walt Honchell, Mickey George and Len Wood catching. Lee Swindell and Gordon each got two of the Pontiac seven safeties.

Long Ace at Tam

Tam O'Shanter member Larry Herman picked one of the longest par three holes at his home course, Sunday, to card an ace. Herman fired a two-iron to the green and the ball rolled straight to the cup. The ace helped him to a 75 qualifying score for the club's annual championship event.

Doctoring Your Golf

By DR. CARY MIDDLECOFF

PATIENT'S COMPLAINT: Short on pivot

DIAGNOSIS: Lateral hip slide.

TREATMENT: For women golfers I can't stress enough the importance of pivot. In trying to develop a wide arc with the wooden clubs and long irons, the tendency, in sweeping the club straight back from the ball and low along the turf, is to shift the hips laterally into a sway.

The hips must turn, or coil; wind up like a spring. That's the only guarantee for a full, grooved, powerful swing, without physical effort.

Let's think of the right hip instead of the left. Let's concentrate on starting the backswing in one-piece motion, with the clubhead, hands and left arm in a straight line to the left shoulder.

Now, when the backswing gets underway, in that flick of time that the clubhead sweeps back, turn the right hip so that you sense the feel of the coil.

Keep the head perfectly still, and at the top of the swing you'll find yourself in the fully pivoted position shown in the sketch. Hip turn gets the hands up high, with the left arm comfortably straight, and with the left side wound yet totally relaxed, the left knee is behind the line to the ball, the left heel is off the ground, and the weight is on the right leg.

New Champions

Kocsis, Nick Win Invitation

There was little doubt after the turn of the Birmingham CC invitational best-ball tourney final round, Sunday as to the ultimate winners.

Chuck Kocsis, former U. of M. star, later a pro and now for many years after his return to amateur status prominent in state golfing circles, teamed with the host club's Jimmy Nick, to capture the top spot with a 5 and 3 win over young Tommy Watrous and Bill Adams.

Kocsis and Nick went two-up at the turn. They then added to their edge by taking the 12th, 13th and 15th holes in regulation figures.

On the way to the title the winners collected 14 pars and one birdie for the 15 holes they played before closing out the match.

In the semifinals, the new champs had to go 21 holes before stopping Jim Riddell and Don Dawson, one-up. The match was squared with Chuck's birdie on the 17th, and his par on the 3rd extra hole nailed the win.

Tommy and Bill moved into the final bracket, Sunday morning with a big 6 and 5 victory over long Dick Wibel and Bill Krall.

Saturday's big tourney news was the upset administered to Ben Smith and Bud Gould by the Riddell-Dawson team, 7 and 6.

Results of finals in leading flights follow:

FIRST: Ralph Eilstrom-Elmer Eilstrom d. Tom Sheehan-Bob Smith, 7 and 6.

SECOND: Wally Smith-Rollie Weyand, d. Angelo Lotti-Ferry Byard, 4 and 3.

THIRD: Ken Sansam-Floyd Bordette d. Bob Guillett-Les Von Ebertsein, 1 up.

FOURTH: T. F. Chenot-John McClov d. Frank Knight-Howard Rex, 5 and 4.

FIFTH: Dr. Brock Brush-Dave MacHardy d. Mel Weinberg-Bud Pearse, 5 and 4.

Polish Chief Concedes Mistakes in Rebuilding

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—The Premier of Communist-ruled Poland has conceded to his people and visiting Red leaders that "many mistakes were made in the reconstruction of Poland" after World War II.

Soviet Premier Bulganin and dignitaries of other Communist nations reviewed a National Day parade yesterday of Poland's military and air units in Warsaw.

Red Chiefs Seen as 'Godless Men'

Khrushchev, Voroshilov Have No Character, Says J. Edgar Hoover

WASHINGTON (AP) — Describing Russia's bosses as "godless men," FBI chief J. Edgar Hoover says Communist party chief Nikita Khrushchev has directed blood purges and Soviet President Klementi Voroshilov once bragged about executing 11,000 Czarist officers.

Voicing his distrust of Russia's chiefs, Hoover said "I would certainly want to see acts of indication of peaceful coexistence rather then mere words.'"

Hoover discussed the backgrounds of Khrushchev and Voroshilov in a filmed television interview yesterday, saying that "men of that kind have no character."

He said Khrushchev was in charge of purges in Moscow and the Ukraine, and that in the Ukraine "he insisted, under Stalin, some of the most extreme anti-Semitic measures . . ."

Voroshilov, he said, once "openly boasted" to William C. Bullitt that he ordered the officers put to death at Kiev after they had surrendered on the understanding they and their families would be allowed to go home safely. Bullitt was U.S. ambassador to Moscow in 1933-1936.

Hoover said Voroshilov also told Bullitt he had executed all the sons of the officers and had put their wives and daughters into brothels "for the use of the Red army."

One of Hoover's aides said this happened during the 1917 Russian Revolution. Voroshilov then was in command of Red armies at Kiev in the Ukraine.

Susan Hayward May Play in Evangelist's Life Story

By DOROTHY MANNERS

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Just about the most exciting idea in a long time is the possibility of red-headed Susan Hayward as Aimee Semple McPherson in "Woman on the Rock," the life story of the fabulous and beautiful Los Angeles evangelist of the 20's.

Credit Samuel Goldwyn Jr. with this fascinating and daring plan, for Sammy has just bought the rights to the McPherson life story from the estate of Herman Mankiewicz.

The property has just reverted to the estate from 20th Century Fox who originally owned it and turned it back fearing it was too controversial.

Like the senior Goldwyn, Sam Jr. apparently isn't afraid of man, beast or evangelists, where movie making is concerned.

Fernando Lamas gets the break he's been waiting for,—the singing-lead opposite Ethel Merman in Ethel's return to Broadway musicals December 6 in "Happy Hunting."

In anticipation of the usual long run of Merman's shows, Fernando and wife Arlene Dahl have closed their apartment here and taken a year's lease on one in New York. She'll commute to Hollywood for pictures.

Lamas plays a Spanish count in the modern musical written by Howard Lindsay and Russell Crouse and produced by Joe Meilziner. The music is by Harold Carr and Matt Dubey.

This may go a long way toward fulfilling Fernando's ultimate aim, the Ezio Pinza role in "South Pacific" on the screen.

Following an amicable agreement to disagree about starting dates and casting between Otto Preminger and MGM, Otto takes his two prize properties "Bonjour Tristesse" and "The Wheel" (the story of Mahatma Gandhi) to Columbia.

The first to go into production under the Columbia banner is "Bonjour Tristesse," the gay-and-naughty novel by Francoise Sagan which has long headed the best seller list in Paris and was also a hit here.

Now I don't want to hear anything about Kim Novak starring in "Bonjour." Kim's great, but not for this.

Preminger's deal with Harry Cohn's emporium is a non-exclusive multiple picture contract.

He's fooling me, plus some other bystanders, if Fred Astaire isn't romantically interested in pretty brunette Susie Parker with whom he's been at the Mocambo and other night spots lately. Just for Fred to show up in a nightclub is something unusual!

When "funny face" first started at Paramount, some of his co-workers noticed that Astaire seemed uncommonly interested in the attractive Susie, one of the dancers on the set. Everyone was pleased, Fred's been so lonely since the death of his wife and hasn't shown the lightest interest in any girl,—until Susan.

Peiping Reds to Free Ex-Manchukuo Official

HONG KONG (AP) — Communist China says it is freeing Rokuzo Takebe, Japan's top civil official in the former puppet state of Manchukuo.

Takebe has been in jail 11 years. The announcement by Peiping radio that the 63-year-old Japanese would be sent home came just two days after a Communist military court convicted him of a long list of crimes and sentence him to nine more years imprisonment.

The broadcast said the sentence was suspended because Takebe is in ill health.

Armenians in Soviet Ask Return to U. S. A.

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif. (AP) — Between 200 and 300 former U. S. citizens now living in Soviet Armenia want to come back to America and have asked President Eisenhower for help, a San Francisco building executive said after returning from Russia.

Earl W. Smith, former president of the National Assn. of Homebuilders, said a delegation representing the community had given a written plea to Thomas Coogan, a New York builder, asking "President Eisenhower and the government to interest themselves in helping these people get back into this country."

Smith said Coogan had delivered the appeal to the State Department.

Smith said some of the men in the Armenian community were Communists who had returned to their homeland in the late 1940s to try living under Soviet rule.

Grains Sell Off in Active Trade

CHICAGO (AP)—Grains sold off in active dealings on the Board of Trade today, all sections of the market participating in the downturn.

Prices were a little lower at the opening. The decline was extended in subsequent dealings. The weak manner in which most July contracts were closed out in Friday's market created general selling, particularly in September corn and soybeans.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was ¼ to ⅞ lower, September $2.15¾; corn ¾ to two cents lower, September $1.47½; oats ¼ to one cent lower, September 73; rye unchanged to ⅝ lower, September $1.38; soybeans two to 2½ lower, September $2.45½; lard five to 10 cents a hundred pounds lower, September $11.60.

Stocks Move Up After Decline

NEW YORK (AP)—A slight improvement gave the stock market an irregular pattern early this afternoon following a gentle decline in the morning.

Pivotal stocks fluctuated from fractions to around a point.

While most steels continued down as negotiations were to be resumed tomorrow in an effort to settle the strike, rails nudged a bit higher on average.

The rails were the first sufferers of side effects caused by the steel strike as their freight car loadings plummeted but now hope of a steel settlement gave them a lift.

American Telephone continued its rise of late last week which came in a recovery from the first news of its big new stock offering. This stock was heavily traded today as it advanced around a point.

Motors were narrowly mixed. Oils drooped slightly.

Trading was fairly active as the session began, then fell off to a quiet pace except for occasional flurries of increased turnover.

Said bonds will mature serially on the 1st day of June in each year as follows: $10,000 in each year from 1958 to 1959, $15,000 in each year from 1960 to 1967, $20,000 in each year from 1968 to 1973, $25,000 in each year from 1974 to 1979, and $30,000 in each year from 1980 to 1982, all years inclusive. Bonds maturing in the years 1977 to 1982, both inclusive, are subject to redemption by the school district prior to maturity, in inverse numerical order, on any one or more interest payment dates on and after June 1, 1967, at par and accrued interest plus a premium on each bond in accordance with the following schedule:

Notice of redemption shall be published not less than 30 days prior to the date fixed for redemption, at least once in a newspaper or publication circulated in the City of Detroit, Michigan, which carries as a part of its regular service, notices of the sale of municipal bonds. The remaining bonds will not be subject to redemption prior to maturity. Both principal and interest will be payable at such bank or trust company as shall be designated by the original purchaser of the bonds.

The bonds are to be a part of a total issue of $1,200,000 voted for the purpose of erecting and furnishing a new elementary school building, additions to the high school building and to the Clarkston elementary school building, and additional school facilities either as new buildings or additions to existing buildings, and acquiring additional school sites, and will be the general obligations of the school district which is authorized and required by law to levy upon all the taxable property therein in such ad/valorem taxes as may be necessary to pay said bonds and the interest thereon, without limitation as to rate or amount.

For the purpose of awarding the bonds, the interest cost of each bid will be computed by determining, at the rate or rates specified therein, the total dollar value of all interest on the bonds from August 1, 1956 to their respective maturities and deducting therefrom any premium. The bonds will be awarded to the bidder whose bid on the above computation produces the lowest interest cost to the school district. No proposal for the purchase of less than all of the bonds or at a price less than their par value, will be considered.

A certified or cashier's check in the amount of $10,000 drawn upon an incorporated bank or trust company and payable to the order of the Treasurer of the school district must accompany each bid as a guarantee of good faith on the part of the bidder, to be forfeited as liquidated damages if such bid be accepted and the bidder fails to take up and pay for the bonds. No interest shall be allowed on the good faith checks and the checks of the unsuccessful bidders will be promptly returned to each bidder's representative or by registered mail.

Bids shall be conditioned upon the unqualified opinion of Berry, Stevens & Moorman, attorneys, Detroit, Michigan, approving the legality of the bonds. The cost of said legal opinion and of the printing of the bonds will be paid by the school district. Bonds will be delivered at Detroit, Michigan.

The right is reserved to reject any or all bids.

Envelopes containing the bids should be plainly marked "Proposal for Bonds."

Section 1 Definitions:

1.1 Sanitary Sewage — The term sanitary sewage shall mean human excreta as well as all wastes from toilets, urinals, sinks, laundries, shower baths, bathtubs, dishwashers, garbage grinders, and septic tank overflow or effluent.

1.2 Industrial Wastes — The term industrial wastes shall mean the liquid waste products from industrial processes as distinct from sanitary sewage.

1.3 Tile Disposal Field — The term tile disposal field shall mean a means of distributing septic tank overflow or effluent below the ground surface by means of a line of drain tile or a series of broach lines of drain tile laid with covered open joints so as to allow the overflow or effluent to be absorbed by the surrounding soil.

1.5 Sewer — The term sewer shall mean any enclosed watertight conduit for transporting sewage.

Section 2 Sewage and Excreta Disposal for any Premise

Such facilities shall be constructed in accordance with the provisions of these regulations. Under no conditions may the sewage from an existing or hereafter constructed premise be deposited upon the surface of the ground, into roadside ditches, water courses, inland lakes, or into any closed drain other than a sanitary sewer.

Section 3 Industrial Wastes

3.1 It shall be unlawful for any person, firm, or corporation to dispose of industrial wastes in a manner which tends to create a dangerous or obnoxious condition, or creates a menace to health or safety, or impares the use by any person of any lake stream, or other body of water.

Section 4 Construction Permits Required

Application for such permits shall be made in writing in a manner and on forms furnished by the Oakland County Department of Health.

Section 5 Soil Suitability

5.1 All proposed plats and subdivisions shall have the approval of the Oakland County Department of Health prior to the acceptance of the plat or subdivision by the township, city or village when so prescribed. Such approval to be based on percolation tests, soil borings and such other tests as may be deemed necessary to determine the suitability of the proposed area for private sewage disposal.

5.2 In the case of subdivisions, percolation tests shall be performed by a Registered Engineer or qualified Sanitarian.

5.3 On subdivisions, the number and location of soil borings and percolation tests shall be determined by the Oakland County Department of Health.

Federal Contract Procedure Hit

House Investigator Says Renegotiation Process Is 'Sloppy'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of a House investigating subcommittee said today he "never heard of a sloppier arrangement" than the government's procedure for renegotiating contracts.

Rep. Hebert (D-La) said that after studying financial information submitted by 12 major aircraft manufacturers he cannot understand how the renegotiation board cleared some and assessed others for allegedly excessive moneymaking from the government in 1952.

Government contracts not let by competitive bidding are subject to review by the board. Until it has taken its second look, the companies' profits are not final.

The House Armed Services subcommittee, which has been studying airplane makers' profits, made its report last night. Hebert followed that up today with a statement commenting on the report.

Hebert said companies which had contracted with the Air Force were holding more than 200 million dollars for possible refunds and Navy contractors were holding more than 150 million.

The subcommittee in its report said it is "inexcusable to allow statutory renegotiation to be four years behind." It made an "urgent recommendation" that Congress review the laws and require "more specific rules or guidance."

The Defense Department, it said, should set a "reasonably conservative" level for executive compensation and not permit salaries and bonuses above these levels to be charged as costs against contracts. If the companies went to pay their executives more, the report said, the difference can come out of profits.

The subcommittee reported salaries and bonuses running as high as a $264,000 total.

But it added that on the whole the industry's profits are not excessive.

Tobin-Coty Legion Post to Work on Charter

Slugger Wilson Writes Impressions of Soviet

By EARL WILSON

By Slugger Wilson

Sochi—My father forced me to write him a guest column so he could go take more pictures but I am going to fool him and steal from my diary so I won't have all that extra work.

I am glad I came to Russia to say I have been here. But if I had my choice of all the places in the world to go, I would not come here.

The Russian people are wonderful but I'll always remember that the place gave me a pain in my stomach.

When we got to Odessa I was feeling sick.

Finally my mother and father decided to get a doctor. The doctor was a woman. She put me on a diet.

My mother absent-mindedly said "How much do I owe you?"

"Nothing, of course," was the reply. "We have medical aid in Russia."

My mother is such a bargain-hunter that she then got a stomach ache, because they are free.

In the U.S.A. all the women are trying to take off weight but in the U.S.S.R. the women are the fattest I have seen in all my 13 years. On the train coming to Odessa from Kiev the women took up about 90 per cent of the aisle leaving me just a few inches to get by.

My mother who is not the thinest person in the world was considered an oddity because they thought she was so skinny.

We went to a public beach where people were dressed in loud striped pajamas. They wear them in the day time. At night they don't wear anything. At least a man in our hotel who slept with his door open didn't.

There are a few things Americans should bring to the U.S.S.A. should they visit. Among them are tissue paper, thermos bottle and most of all, plenty of money.

They only allow you 30 pounds of baggage on their planes. When flying from Leningrad to Kiev it was $45 for overweight for us. My father is going to sell an old suit at a "cash-and-carry" store to get home. A cash and carry store is like an American pawn shop and you can get $200 for an old suit.

The people seem so happy they sing in the streets at three or four in the morning. They have strange customs. I saw some men in the hotel in Kiev washing the floor with brushes on their bare feet. They just walked over the floor and it was washed.

I also noticed when a maid was cleaning our beds, when she finished she took a glass of water, sipped some, then spit on the bed. I don't know why. My mother said, "Maybe they were expressing their opinion of us." I hope not.

HIYA, PONTIAC!—Of all places, I found somebody from Royal Oak in Leningrad.

He was Edward W. Pratt, who was with the visiting National Association of Home Builders.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL IN N.Y. . . .

Mrs. Edmund Purdon will take the actor to court for back alimony . . . Sharon Kay (Miss America) Ritchie and singer Don Cherry may announce their engagement after the next Miss A. contest . . . Sen. Kefauver's committee on juvenile delinquency will hold televised hearings — just before the Dem. convention . . . Grim note: Some fan magazines are featuring photos of James Dean's grave . . .

Sally Rand will drop her fans; she'll do Shakespeare . . . Henry Fonda's daughter, 16, will try an acting career . . . Mrs. Joel McCrea (Frances Dee) wants to return to films, but she'll take only bit parts and will turn the salary over to the Motion Picture Relief Funds . . . When Jerry Lewis winds up his late show at the Copa he goes to Hanson's drugstore and jerks sodas as a gag . . . Showfolk call those new relaxing pills "Perry Comos" . . . "The Bad Seed," as a B'way play, had one set; the film has 20.

EARL'S PEARLS . . .

There's nothing wrong with the younger generation that the next one won't have more of.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: "We read that women started using cosmetics in the Middle Ages. That's still when they use them most—in the middle ages."—Dighton (Kans. Herald.)

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: "Those new portable TV sets are wonderful—now people can stop talking to each other no matter which room they're in."—Richard Willis.

Joey Carter tells about a certain African waterfall: "There is a legend that if a beautiful young maiden stands beneath it, she'll get wet. That's earl, brother.

Switch to Stalin Tactics

Reds Alter Bonn Policy

BONN, Germany (AP)—The Soviet Union apparently has swung back to Stalin's tough line toward Germany.

Allied and West German authorities are convinced Moscow has decided to substitute a hard, long-range policy on Germany for the "Let's be friends" line of the last year.

The Kremlin's top hierarchy met with East German leaders last week. The main result of this conference was to put German unification on ice. Simultaneously, the Soviets yanked Ambassador Valerian Zorin out of Bonn.

These twin developments have left little doubt here that Moscow's ardent wooing of the West Germans has ended for an indefinite period.

Now, it is believed, the Soviet line is that German unity will be considered only when Germans on both sides of the Iron Curtain are ripe for communism.

The best authorities suggest that unrest in East Germany, the shaky structure of its economy and the coolness of West German leaders toward Zorin's approaches were chiefly responsible for the change in policy.

Michigan Honeymooners Hurt in Canada Crash

LONDON, Ont. (AP) — A Michigan bride was injured yesterday on her honeymoon trip in a collision on Highway 2 east of here.

Mrs. Mary Lou Sherman is in a hospital with a fractured pelvis, broken ribs, leg and back injuries and head cuts. Her husband, Melvin, 26, suffered a gashed neck which required surgery. The couple lives in Flint.

Police said the Sherman car was wrecked in a collision with an auto driven by Maxwell Pottit, 29, of Ingersoll, Ont. He is in a hospital with a broken nose and head injuries.

Miller Band Set for Radio Debut

'Challenge' Job Sought by Both Vincent Price and Robert Alda

By JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK (INS)—Gene Autry's TV show was dropped—no connection, just coincidence—the same day he bought San Francisco's station KSFO for one million dollars.

Gene is one of the wealthiest show biz personalities with holdings in ranches, oil, real estate, a string of radio and TV stations and too many profitable projects to detail. . . .

Most successful showmen-turned-business-tycoons are Bing Crosby, Bob Hope, Mort Downey, Autry. . . .

NBC's new radio spectacular "Bandstand," due July 30, has signed the recently reorganized "Glenn Miller Band" with Ray McKinley leading the best old swing arrangements of the late conductor. . . .

Robert Alda is warming up as Sonny Fox' "$64,000 Challenge" replacement. . . Vincent Price also is after this emcee job. . . .

HIGH NECKLINES

Jayne Mansfield, who gets paid for breathing, won the regular "Down You Go" panel job but has to wear high necklines. . . . Jayne also will appear on the Garroway "Today" dawncast July 26.

Bill Cullen may get fired from "I've Got a Secret" for taking the "Down You Go" moderator's job. . . .

In the race to see which network show will fling away the biggest prize, NBC's "Twenty-One" starting Sept. 12 promises its cash giveaway will be "unlimited". . . .

The Aug. 9 Lux Theater script, "Rebuke Me Not," is the work of Herb A. Spiro, ex-New York newsman. . . .

PLAYBOY SHAW

George Bernard Shaw will be exposed as a "playboy" on NBC-TV's "Home" July 26.

Joseph Santley, most tasteful old pro in TV, gets $20,000 to produce four traveling shows for General Motors. . . .

NBC is dickering with Katharine Cornell to do "Candida" for a spectacular with hubby Guthrie McClintic producing-directing. . . .

Four of the top 10 Trendex shows are Thursday night NBC programs: Groucho, Dragnet, Lux Theater, Ford Theater.

One network is having a terribly tough time selling next season's lineup of spectaculars. . . .

Hydroponic is the scientific name for chemical gardening. No soil is needed—only water, sawdust or sand, and the chemicals.

$100--It's Yours for the Solution to Puzzle No. 9

Another week — another $100: that's what the Press will pay to the reader who comes up with the correct solution to Pot-O-Gold Puzzle No. 9, the newest challenge in our fascinating summer word game. Other than the clues below, the best advice we can give is to read the rules carefully before sending in your entry. Have fun, and good luck!

The puzzle consists of (1) a number of circles which contain a few scrambled letters, and (2) a corresponding list of clues to these words printed below. The object is to arrange each group of circled letters into a word that best fits its clue. The word which you select for Circle No. 1, then would be the one which you would print in the space to the right of (1) below.

You'll notice that some circles contain $ signs in pots of gold. You may use such a symbol as any letter you wish. However, it and all letters in that circle must be used. The $ sign, of course, can represent ANY letter in the word.

Do the same in all the other circles. Study the clues carefully and arrange all the letters into words that you believe best conforms to these clues. Use your $ signs to help you spell out the right words.
