Nixon, Republicans Confer on Strategy

From Our News Wires

NEW YORK — President-elect Nixon's first after-victory meeting with Republican congressional leaders today apparently will focus more on problems of his outnumbered party in the Senate and House than on national policy.

Nixon is flying to Washington to meet with 12 top-ranking GOP members of Congress, then driving to Walter Reed Army Medical Center for his third post-election reunion with former President Dwight D. Eisenhower before returning to New York.

Aides said Nixon could hardly talk seriously about the policies and programs his administration will push since task forces studying major problems — and recommending programs for the future — have yet to report to him.

The president-elect will begin receiving these reports this week.

RETAINING HOOVER

While in the capital, Nixon also will announce he is retaining 73-year-old J. Edgar Hoover as director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Hoover, who has headed the FBI since it was created in 1924, will be permitted to serve when Nixon signs a waiver of the compulsory retirement age of 65 as President Johnson did four years ago.

It was not certain, however, that Hoover would remain at the helm of the FBI throughout the new president's term. Some sources said he was considering retirement in the next few years.

The Nixon meeting with Republican leaders of Congress was a bit unusual in that one outsider was included among the conferees — Ray Bliss, chairman of the GOP National Committee.

PARTISAN STRATEGY

Once in office, presidents normally do not invite their party chairman to such sessions.

But at this preinaugural meeting it was apparent that Nixon and those meeting with him would have to give particular attention to partisan strategy in the coming congressional session, where Democrats will outnumber Republicans in both houses.

Nixon Takes the Lead in Electoral College

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican Richard M. Nixon seized an early lead over Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey in early returns from the presidential balloting of the Electoral College today.

Tennessee's electors, the first to finish, gave the state's 11 votes to the former vice president and his running mate Maryland Gov. Spiro T. Agnew. Vermont brought in 3 Nixon votes as expected, then Oklahoma 8 and Arizona 5.

The District of Columbia was first to give its votes, 3 of them, to Humphrey. West Virginia followed suit with 7, and at noon the count was Nixon 27 to 10.

The votes were not a surprise, and neither was the probable outcome of the electors' meetings in other state capitals and the District of Columbia, in what may be the last election decided by the Electoral College system.

INDICATIONS

The popular vote cast in the Nov. 5 general election indicated about 302 electoral votes from 32 states for Nixon, or 32 more than he needed to carry the Electoral College.

Related Story, Page A-2

Today's results were the only official ones, under the Constitution. The ballots will be mailed to Washington, where a joint session of Congress on Jan. 6 will count them and pronounce the winner.

But it is not a foregone conclusion that all electors will vote as the people of their states did, and the threat of a constitutional crisis last year has added impetus to proposals in Congress for a constitutional amendment to change the system.

The 538 electors from the 50 states and the District of Columbia are free agents under the Constitution to vote for anyone they please, but the custom is to follow the lead of the popular vote in their own state.

Warmer Days Due for Yule Shoppers

The weatherman is cooperating with Christmas shoppers as he predicts clear skies through tomorrow with slowly moderating temperatures.

Tonight's low is due to fall in the 15-to-20-degree range, with tomorrow's high in the lower 30s.

With the rise in temperature, clouds will roll in by Wednesday bringing rain or snow. Today's bone-chilling winds from the northwest at eight to 18 miles will lessen the velocity and become variable by tonight.

'300 to Die in NY'

From Our News Wires

Absenteeism among police officers, teachers and government employees increased today as the Hong Kong flu spread rapidly across the nation. A health official predicted the epidemic would claim 300 to 400 lives in New York City alone.

Washington, D.C., and the upper tier of the South reported school closings and heavy absenteeism among government workers. In the Midwest, police and fire departments, schools and hospitals were hard hit as workers called in sick with the flu.

In New York, health officials estimated one in every five residents would contract flu.

City Health Commissioner Edward O'Rourke predicted as many as 400 persons would die from pneumonia or other respiratory diseases brought on by the latest strain of flu.

700 DEAD

The outbreak of influenza has claimed nearly 700 lives across the nation, and the National Communicable Disease Center (NCDC) here warned the worst is yet to come. The center said the epidemic should peak in January.

Hong Kong flu caused two more early holiday school closings, but several others tentatively scheduled reopenings this week. Richard Cardinal Cushing has joined the long list of those who are ill.

In many hospitals, visiting privileges have been either canceled or drastically restricted to avoid further spread of the malady.

Four Virginia colleges, which normally would have closed later this week, shut down last Wednesday and Thursday. Starting today, three central Virginia hospitals began discouraging visitors to protect patients from the flu.

CMU CLASSES CANCELED

Central Michigan University canceled all classes until Jan. 6, while Northern Michigan University also closed a week early because of "flu-like" illnesses.

Some 2,200 school teachers were absent from classrooms Friday in Chicago because of the flu outbreak.

The absentee rate among Milwaukee's police force was double and that of the fire department triple normal rates because of the flu.

Supreme Court Ruling Protects Draft-Exempt

WASHINGTON (AP) — Draft boards may not use "delinquency" regulations to take away the exemptions of divinity students and groups of other young men shielded from the draft by Congress, the Supreme Court ruled 6 to 3 today.

At the same time, however, the court held that draft resisters who do not have a congressional exemption must — in order to test their 1A classification — chance prosecution for draft evasion.

The first ruling, protecting exempted young men from forced induction if draft boards disapprove of their behavior, was given in the case of James J. Oesterich, a ministerial student at Andover-Newton Theological School, Newton Center, Mass.

Oesterich of Cheyenne, Wyo., was one of 357 people who returned their draft cards to the Justice Department in a protest Oct. 16, 1967, against U.S. war action in Vietnam.

Three weeks later he was declared a delinquent, stripped of his 4D theological exemption and put into 1A.

The court, in a decision delivered by Justice William O. Douglas, declared that Congress had made divinity students draft-exempt and that Oesterich was entitled to a chance to contest his reclassification in court.

That is, the court said, he did not have to refuse the draft, chancing a jail term, to get a ruling.

Besides, Douglas said, exempt young men cannot be declared delinquent and pushed up to the 1A slot for activity that has nothing to do with the functioning of the Selective Service system.

'BASICALLY LAWLESS'

Draft boards, he said, cannot make themselves "free wheeling agencies meeting out their brand of justice in a vindictive manner."

In the Oesterich situation, Douglas said, "We deal with conduct of a local board that is basically lawless."

Chief Justice Earl Warren and Associate Justices Hugo L. Black, Abe Fortas and Thurgood Marshall supported Douglas's opinion. Justice John W. Harlan also voted with the majority but wrote a separate opinion.

In another action, the court took on a major thrust at capital punishment—a plea that it limit the freedom of juries to sentence people to death.

CONSTITUTIONALITY QUESTIONED

The test case, from Arkansas, questioning the constitutionality of allowing juries—without some guidance from trial judges—to impose the death penalty at their own discretion.

The same case also poses a second major challenge—the question of allowing juries to determine guilt and punishment at the same time.

The appeal was brought by the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund for an Arkansas Negro facing execution for the rape of a white woman.

In the case, William L. Maxwell, 28, stands convicted of the rape of a 35-year-old unmarried white woman in Hot Springs. He was sentenced to death in 1962 in Garland County Circuit Court.

LEAVING FOR VIETNAM — Bop Hope and some of the 88 people who are traveling with him on his Vietnam Christmas tour take a last look before taking off from Los Angeles Saturday. Pointing is actress Ann-Margaret. Others are Penelope Plummer (lower left), Miss World of 1969; Linda Bennett (above Ann-Margaret); Air Force Gen. Emmett J. O'Donnell (Santa Claus); and former pro football star Rosie Grier. The man behind Hope is unidentified. The Pontiac Press will be carrying Hope's daily articles from Vietnam shortly.

Early U.S. Pullout Is Urged by Clifford

From Our News Wires

WASHINGTON — Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford says the United States should negotiate an early Vietnam ceasefire and troop withdrawals, leaving the political settlement to Saigon, Hanoi and Vietnam.

"I have no idea that we should maintain 540,000 American men there fighting," Clifford said yesterday, "while we wait for Saigon and Hanoi to come to some political settlement."

He urged the South Vietnamese to "stop squabbling," with North Vietnam over procedural questions such as seating arrangements at the Paris peace talks and get down to serious negotiations.

"Each day and each week that they delay, more men are dying on the battlefield of South Vietnam," he said.

POSSIBLE AGREEMENT

The defense secretary also said during a television interview that he thought it possible to reach agreements to lower the level of combat before the talks turn to complex political issues.

"It is my belief that Hanoi would like to see a resolution of the conflict," said Clifford.

SHOPPING DAYS 'TIL CHRISTMAS

In remarks referring to Clifford's statement, South Vietnamese Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky told newsmen: "Ever since he came into office, Secretary Clifford has shown a gift for saying the wrong thing at the wrong time."

He added the Saigon government does not expect the other side to surrender "but they cannot expect us to surrender either."

PRICE FOR PEACE

Meanwhile, in Saigon, President Nguyen Van Thieu was demanding an end to all Communist activity in the country as a price for peace in Vietnam.

Reserve Center Ground Broken

Ground-breaking ceremonies in Waterford Township Saturday signaled the start of construction of Pontiac's new Army Reserve Center.

Authorities hope the building, which will cost an estimated $200,000, will be completed by fall.

Members of the Second Battalion, 333d Regiment of the 70th Division's Second Brigade and of C Battery of the Fourth Battalion, 20th Artillery, will use the center at Watkins Lake and Pontiac Lake roads.

Units of the 70th Division are located throughout Michigan and Indiana, including Flint, Detroit, Fraser, Indianapolis, Ind., and Ft. Wayne, Ind., in addition to Pontiac.

BRIGADE HQ IN FLINT

The 2nd Brigade is headquartered in Flint, with the 4th Battalion in Pontiac.

Speakers at the ground-breaking included Congressman Jack H. McDonald, R-19th District; Pontiac Mayor William H. Taylor Jr.; and Maj. Gen. Carl J. Dueser, commander of the 70th Division.

The new center will replace a rented structure at 40 Walnut.

Two Area Girls in Junior Miss Pageant Finals

Two area girls were selected yesterday to compete in the Michigan Junior Miss pageant to be held in Pontiac Jan. 17-18.

Pontiac's Junior Miss, Patti Dell of 201 Draper, and Union Lake's Junior Miss, Pamela Muller, of 2506 Little Trail, Commerce Township, were among 12 finalists selected in the metropolitan regional contest in Redford Township.

Twenty-five girls from Oakland, Macomb and Wayne counties entered the regional contest. Patti, 17, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Dell and a senior at Pontiac Central High School. She is a dance student and has taken tap, jazz and ballet lessons. She is also an apprentice teacher.

TALENT ROUTINE

Patti performed a song and dance routine for her talent performance. Pamela, also 17, is a senior at Walled Lake Central High School. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William S. Munger. For her talent performance, Pamela told the story of "The Little Match Girl," accompanied by her own drawings of different scenes in the story.

The girls are judged on their scholastic ability, individual interviews, poise and appearance, physical fitness and talent performance.

Both girls said they are elated at being selected for the Michigan Junior Miss finals, sponsored by the Pontiac Area Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The girl crowned Michigan's Junior Miss will travel to Mobile, Ala., to compete in the National Junior Miss Pageant being held in May.

U. S. Frees 7 N. Viets; Yanks' Release in Doubt

SAIGON (AP) — The United States today returned seven civilian seamen to North Vietnam, and Radio Moscow confirmed that Hanoi has announced it will release some American pilots at Christmas.

A U.S. spokesman said the release of the seven North Vietnamese was arranged in Hanoi, the Laotian capital. He said Hanoi's representatives had given no immediate indication that their government planned to release any of the hundreds of American fliers it has captured.

But a spokesman for Moscow Radio confirmed a broadcast by the Soviet radio Saturday which said: "Radio Hanoi stated today (Dec. 14) that a group of American pilots who were taken into captivity when their planes were shot down over the territory of the Democratic Republic of Vietnam will be released at Christmas."

A Tokyo monitor reported a similar announcement broadcast by Hanoi Saturday in the Japanese language. But in the absence of official word from the North Vietnamese, it was thought then that both the Moscow and Tokyo reports might have been the result of faulty translations.

NO INDICATION

The report relayed by Moscow gave no indication exactly when or how the fliers would be released.

The U.S. Command in Saigon said the release of the North Vietnamese seamen was an "action of good will" which it hoped would lead to further release of prisoners.

The men were released offshore about 15 miles northeast of Vinh, a coastal city 145 miles north of the demilitarized zone.

The U.S. Command said the amphibious transport Duluth put the men into a 45-foot motorized junk and a U.S. helicopter observed them until they were about 9,000 yards from the beach.

BODIES RECOVERED — Workers recover the bodies of a mother and her three children found in the wreckage of this home on the south side of Kalamazoo. The gas-filled home burst into flame yesterday morning.

Nursing Homes in County Limit Visiting Rights

Nursing homes in Oakland County have joined hospitals in closing their doors to most visitors as the current flu outbreak continues.

Most of the nursing homes took this action over the weekend in response to a directive from the Michigan Nursing Home Association. The step was taken to preserve the health of the patients, most of them elderly and ill.

Only emergency visits will be allowed but relatives will be notified in cases of emergency, the association reported.

Local hospitals — St. Joseph Mercy, Pontiac Osteopathic and Pontiac General have curtailed all but emergency visits since Friday. Crittenton Hospital in Avon Township is limiting visits to close relatives.

Thus far, no deaths have been attributed directly to flu virus. Only a few cases of Hong Kong flu have been reported in the county.

The Hong Kong variety is not deemed any more serious than other strains such as Asian flu, according to medical authorities. However, the new strain is likely to meet with less resistance, it is feared.

A limited supply of vaccine against Hong Kong flu is in the county and injections through family physicians is recommended for the elderly, sick and chronically ill.

Abseentism at local businesses, schools and governmental agencies is reported high, but not creating emergencies.

According to national reports, the flu has not reached its most severe stage in this area yet. Higher rates are expected to occur later this month and in January.

Proposal Is Aimed at Lawyers' Power

LANSING (UPI) — Rep. George A. Prescott, R-Tawas City, announced today he will cosponsor legislation to strip the legal profession of the power to license itself and require state licensing of attorneys.

The proposals are being prepared for introduction in the 1969 session by Rep. Thomas G. Sharpe, R-Howell, critic of the Michigan State Bar Association's handling of corruption charges against certain Livingston County attorneys.

The bills would create within a department of licensing and regulation a board of three lawyers and two lay members to license and hear complaints against the legal profession.

Presently the bar association determines who shall practice law in Michigan and decides when an attorney may be brought before the State Supreme Court for disciplinary action.

The new legislation would make the bar association membership voluntary and require open public hearings when an attorney is charged with irregularities.

Ferency to Upset Electoral Routine

LANSING (AP) — Presidential electors gathered in Lansing today to formally cast their votes for Democrat Hubert Humphrey, as former State Democratic chairman Zolton Ferency plans to disrupt the routine to protest U.S. foreign and domestic policies.

Ferency said he would attend the afternoon meeting in the State Senate chamber to respond to the roll call of electors, but then would refuse to cast his vote for Humphrey, who won Michigan's 21 electoral votes by about 225,000 votes in November.

Ferency says his action would create a vacancy, which would be filled by the vote of the other Democratic electors, as they proceed to vote for Humphrey.

Ferency said he would have preferred voting for "someone who is in favor of extricating our government from Vietnam and making necessary changes in avoiding any future Vietnam."

10 of Victims Are Children

12 Killed by Fires in State

KALAMAZOO (AP) — Fires claimed 12 lives in Michigan over the weekend, and 10 of the victims were children.

A mother and three of her children died in a fiery gas explosion which tore their home apart yesterday on Kalamazoo's South Side.

A 14-month-old child, Charlene Down, succumbed in a Saturday night Detroit blaze blamed on a defective heater at her home.

Five children perished in a Saturday fire on Detroit's west side, and 79-year-old Alex Lindquist of the Upper Peninsula community of Gwin was fatally burned Saturday night in a fire that destroyed the home where he lived alone.

A 3-year-old boy, Joey Binsick, died in a home fire yesterday at Columbiaville.

in Lapeer County. His parents and three other children escaped the blaze.

A broken gas main under the driveway of the home next door was blamed by authorities for the Kalamazoo explosion and fire. Cause of the Detroit blaze was undetermined. Police said Lindquist apparently dropped a lighted cigarette accidentally before retiring.

Those who died in the Detroit fire were children of Mrs. Dorothy Pac aged 2 to 6. Mrs. Pac, 30, and her two other children escaped but required treatment for minor burns and smoke inhalation.

KALAMAZOO VICTIMS

Victims of the Kalamazoo tragedy were Mrs. Lillian McChes, a 36-year-old divorcee; her son, Steven William, 3; and daughters Mazie Drucilla, 12, and Elizabeth Ann, 10.

The mother's body was found in the living room of their one-story, four-room prefabricated home. The two daughters were in a bedroom and the boy in a doorway to the girls' room.

Missing U.S. Plane Hunted

SAN JUAN, P.R. (AP) — A company of 140 U.S. Marines was flown into a rain forest near the Roosevelt Roads Naval Base in Puerto Rico to begin a ground search for a missing twin-engine Air Force cargo plane with a crew of eight reservists.

The C119 Flying Boxcar from the 910th Tactical Air Support Group at Youngstown, Ohio, took off from the naval base Saturday for Homestead Air Force Base in Florida. A Navy spokesman said the plane apparently developed radio and radar trouble and was returning to the naval base. He said it was last seen over a forest near the base.

Ten planes spent yesterday searching the eastern part of the island and offshore areas without success. The search of the rain forests in the El Yunque mountain range was hampered by low clouds and rain.

The pilot, Maj. John H. Balzer, 43, of Beaver Falls, Pa., was a sheet metal worker in civilian life. Officials at the Youngstown base said the other members of the crew were: Capt. Frank E. Platenak, 36, a Youngstown schoolteacher, copilot; Capt. Ivan W. Bechtel, 33, an engineer from Warren, Ohio, navigator; Lt. Col. Philip W. Mahoney, 49, an Erie, Pa., schoolteacher, navigator; S. Sgt. Herschel W. Clark, 34, air technician from Warren, Ohio, flight engineer; S. Sgt. William G. Kropp, 34, air technician from Mercer, Pa., flight engineer; Sgt. Martin A. Breckner, 28, a machine operator from Youngstown, loadmaster; and Sgt. Harry L. Murray Jr., 30, power company lineman from Fredonia, Pa., loadmaster.

Public Voice on Roads Argued

WASHINGTON (AP) — A proposal to give the public more voice in the location and design of federal highways has started a fight that could have a dramatic effect on the future of the nation's road-building policies.

The proposal, which will be argued in Transportation Department hearings starting today, calls for more public hearings before decisions involving the location and design for highways are finalized.

Joining the Transportation Department, which made the proposal, in backing the plan are the Agriculture and Interior departments and the mayors and congressmen from several of the nation's large metropolitan areas.

Listed against the plan are officials from several states, the road-building industry and Massachusetts Gov. John

Volpe, who will be secretary of transportation in the Nixon administration.

NOT LIKELY TO TESTIFY

Volpe, who owns a construction company and ran the nation's road program under President Eisenhower, is not expected to testify in the hearings.

Advocates of the plan say the new approach is needed to keep highway officials from arbitrarily slicing through the cities and the countryside with massive roadways that break up neighborhoods and blight the landscape.

Opponents have charged that the move would involve highways in controversy that could lead to excessive delays.

Some have said it could virtually paralyze plans for urban freeways.

A key requirement of the plan would

ONLY ONE HEARING

The department said in announcing the proposal, "Currently, no more than one hearing is required on proposed new highway locations, which generally has taken place at an early stage of the highway planning sequence, before the development of widespread public interest."

Urban freeways in particular have come under intense criticism recently in many cities, and many proposed urban segments of the Interstate highway system have been stymied.

The proposal is the latest in a series by the department to minimize the impact of freeways on city residents.

Birmingham

Exec Head of Managers Club for GM

BIRMINGHAM — J. Wayne Ellison, 1962n Chelton, has been elected president of the Detroit General Motors Management Club for 1969.

Ellison, Detroit zone manager for GM's Oldsmobile Division, succeeds W. J. Massey Jr., manager of the Chevrolet Forge plant in Detroit. He is the club's 32nd president.

Harrison T. Price, ELISON manager of the Chevrolet Spring and Bumper plant in Livonia, was elected vice president.

The club is composed of GM executives in southeastern Michigan and has 215 members representing 50 manufacturing and sales operations.

Established to improve the corporate internal communications the group meets regularly for programs on developments in the automotive industry.

BIRMINGHAM — The agenda for tonight's City Commission meeting includes a recommendation for the removal of parking on the east side of Stanley from Brown to Frank streets because of congestion. The meeting is at 8.

The city manager's report includes a recommendation to increase retirement benefits for all city employees who retire after July 1, 1969.

The commission will also vote on a recommendation for the city to supplement salaries for the new District Court judges.

The state pays the judges an annual salary of $18,000. It is up to the municipalities in the district to pay the difference to insure the district judge an annual salary of $27,500.

Other municipalities included in the district are West Bloomfield Township, Bloomfield Township, Keego Harbor and Searan Lake and the City of Orchard Lake Village.

The City Commission is expected to approve Feb. 22 as the scheduled completion date for the city's new $1.7-million parking structure on Pierce Street.

County Crashes Claim 2 Lives

Two fatalities resulted from accidents on Oakland County roads over the weekend, as freezing temperatures and light snow made driving hazardous in some areas.

A West Bloomfield man, Arthur T. Lambiris, 18, of 4075 Circle, died yesterday from injuries received in a two-car accident on Willow Road near North Shore, West Bloomfield Township.

His passenger, Mike Lezzert, 20, of 8829 14 1/2 Ave., Waterford Township, was treated at Pontiac General Hospital and released.

Driver of the other car, Roger Passini, 22, of 1070 Round Lake, White Lake Township, also was treated and released. His passenger, Lynn Liley, 17, of 8381 Elizabeth Lake, White Lake Township, is listed in satisfactory condition today at Pontiac General Hospital.

Passini was going north on Willow when Lambiris, heading south, apparently lost control of his car on the snowy road and drove into the other lane, according to West Bloomfield Township Police.

In Troy, a freeway crash Saturday morning resulted in fatal injuries to 24-year-old Timothy R. Mangan of Madison Heights.

Troy police said Mangan's auto ran off I-75 near Big Beaver at about 3:20 a.m., rolled over once and landed in a ditch near the roadway.

Apollo 8 Crewmen Get Key Physicals

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — With the countdown for their moon voyage under way, the Apollo 8 astronauts today receive the final major physical examination for the flight.

Air Force Col. Frank Borman, Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr. and Air Force Maj. William A. Anders plan several hours with space agency doctors, who want to be sure they are in excellent shape for the mission.

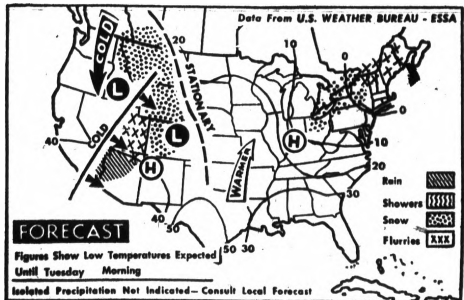

The astronauts are scheduled to rocket into space at 7:51 a.m. EST Saturday.

The lengthy countdown for the launching of the Saturn 5 rocket started on schedule at 7 p.m. yesterday when electrical power was fed to the Apollo 8 ship atop the 36-story tall booster. Experts began systematic checking to make certain all elements of the $55-million mooncraft are functioning.

NATIONAL WEATHER — Scattered snow showers and flurries are forecast in isolated areas throughout the Northeast tonight and in the Rocky Mountains. The cold weather will continue in the Northeast while it will be warmer in the Midwest.

Jordan Says 1 Dead in Shelling by Israel

By United Press International
Israeli troops shelled a Jordanian settlement south of the Dead Sea, killing a woman and injuring five persons, a Jordanian military spokesman said today. An Egyptian newspaper accused Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan of trying to blackmail the United States into giving its undivided support.

In Amman, the Jordanian spokesman said the Israelis bombed the community of As-Safi for 15 minutes last night and destroyed two houses. It said the injured included two women and a child.

Israeli officials said 10 shells landed at the outskirts of the Neot-Kikar settlement south of the Dead Sea but said there were neither damage nor casualties.

In Cairo the semiofficial Cairo newspaper Al-Ahram today said Dayan was in the United States to pressure President-elect Richard M. Nixon.

'CONTEMPT FOR U.S.'
"In this blackmailing attempt he seems to be contemptuous of Americans' minds since he assumes they are unaware of Israel's aggressive policies," Al-Ahram said.

Dayan said in New York yesterday there was "no real actual danger now" of a new flare-up in the Middle East as long as the Soviet Union did not foment one.

William W. Scranton, Nixon's Middle East envoy, said last week in Jerusalem the United States was seeking a more "even-handed" policy in the area.

In Jerusalem, Israeli Prime Minister Levi Eshkol said last night his country expects to start getting delivery on U.S. Phantom jet fighters in 1970.

'PROMISE BY PRESIDENT'
Eshkol said over Israel radio he based the statement on "a promise by the U.S. president and what he told me at our last meeting." Eshkol visited President Johnson and other U.S. government officials in Washington recently.

In Amman, the Royal Court yesterday denied remarks attributed to King Hussein by a British newspaper suggesting the king was ready to renounce sovereignty over the Israeli-oc-

Brother, Sister Drown in Pool

SYOSSET, N.Y. (AP) — A 6-year-old boy and his 4-year-old sister, playing in the season's first snowfall, fell through ice and snow and drowned Sunday in a half-filled swimming pool near their home.

Police, summoned by a neighbor, found the bodies of Diane and Scott Naughton in a 16-by-32-foot concrete pool on the lawn of an unoccupied house.

Police said the children had opened the gate of a four-foot-high chain-link fence surrounding the pool and had walked out on the ice. The ice at the shallow end of the pool supported them but the ice at the deep end gave way.

There are about 5,400,000 power boats in the United States.

Donations of clothing and household articles are being collected for the family by a friend, Mrs. Charles Vincent of 2065 Auburndale, West Bloomfield Township. Said Mrs. Vincent, "I hope people with true Christmas spirit will help this family, which is having a difficult time." Lamaster, a gas station attendant, and his family are staying with friends and relatives.

New Utica Law Cuts Red Tape in Petty Thefts

UTICA — The Village Council has adopted an ordinance streamlining procedures for the arrest of suspected shoplifters or other petty thieves.

Previously, there was no penalty in the municipal code for theft of under $50, and in order to make an arrest for an offense, village police had to obtain a warrant from the Macomb County Prosecutor's Office.

Now, arrests can be made in the village without the extra red tape. Persons convicted under the ordinance may receive a sentence of not more than 90 days in jail or pay a fine not to exceed $100.

The council also approved village membership in the State Law Enforcement Council and Training Fund. Under the provisions of the fund, municipalities may be reimbursed for money invested in approved police training courses.

The Utica Jaycees were granted permission to use the council room Dec. 21 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. for a visit from Santa Claus.

In other business, the council:

- Reapproved plans for six additional lots in Clinkhamer Subdivision, northwest of the M50-Hall intersection.
- According to a spokesman for the village, reappraisal became necessary under the State Plat Act when no action was taken on the plans for a year.
- Approved the sale of a used bulldozer to Consolidated Excavating, Inc., of Detroit for $400 and a used tractor to Lyle Cate, 8806 Suncrest, Shelby Township, for $1,265.
- Okayed a proposed rezoning, altering a lot at 7911 Ruby from single-family residential to two-family.

Students in Britain Read Press Articles

A Pontiac Press-sponsored current events program is being given to students in Northwich, Cheshire, England this winter.

The Visual Education Consultants (VEC), a weekly packet of films and publications on the week's top news stories, is being sent to Conrad H. Rader, who is currently teaching geography at the Hartford Country Secondary School for Boys in England.

Rader is an American Fulbright exchange teacher. His English counterpart, social studies teacher John R. Capper, is teaching social studies at Milford Junior High School.

Capper inherited the VEC program when he exchanged teaching posts with Rader.

WRITES PRESS

Rader recently wrote The Pontiac Press requesting the VEC series for his foreign post. He explained, "If I could continue using these teaching aids here in England, it would be a tremendous asset."

In cooperation with the Visual Education Consultants of Madison, Wis. The Press will be sending the weekly packet to Rader in addition to some 100 other schools in the Press's circulation area. The VEC firm is based in Madison, Wis.

The program will also be used at the girls' school on the Northwich campus, according to Rader. The circulation should extend to about 1,200 English students.

Michigan Traffic Accidents Fatal to 13 During Weekend

By the Associated Press

Traffic accidents in Michigan killed 13 persons during the weekend just ended. The Associated Press count began at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight last night.

Latest reported victims included a Flint woman, Mrs. Edna Roth, 71, killed late yesterday in a car driven by her husband Eleazer, also 71, in Flint. A great grandchild of the couple and Roth were hospitalized.

Earlier victims were: Judge Ashford Jr., of Detroit, whose car went out of control on Detroit's Grand River Avenue and slammed into a utility pole yesterday.

HEAD-ON CRASH

James Carl Gifford, 34, of Flushing, in a two-car head-on collision yesterday in Genesee County's Flint Township.

Arthur T. Lambiris, 18, of 4079 Circle, West Bloomfield Township, when two cars collided yesterday in Oakland County's West Bloomfield Township.

Alex Theodore Nowicki, 69, of Harbor Beach, when two cars rammed together in a snowstorm Saturday five miles southeast of Harbor Beach in Huron County.

Clarence R. Marble Jr., 18, of Sturgis, and Kristi Wilbur, 16, of Battle Creek, in a two-car collision near Athens Saturday.

STRUCK BY TRAIN

Mrs. Harold Stodd, 50, wife of the superintendent of Jefferson schools outside Monroe, and Lauree Townsend, 60, of Flat Rock, when the car in which they were riding was struck by a train Saturday at a crossing near Monroe.

Mrs. Benjamin Branden, 45, of Holland, a passenger in an automobile involved Saturday when three cars piled up at Hudsonville.

Timothy Mangan, 24, of Madison Heights, whose car went out of control on I-75 in Troy and rolled over Saturday.

Michael David Bolmer, 22, of Eaton Rapids when his car veered off M78 into a tree Saturday about four miles west of Bellevue in Barry County.

Lapeer County Boy, 3, Dies in One of Three Area Fires

A 3-year-old Columbiaville boy died yesterday morning as fire swept through his home on Water Street in the northern Lapeer County community. It was one of three area fires over the weekend.

A spokesman for the Lapeer County Sheriff's Department said Joey Binscik was left behind by accident as his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Binscik, and the other children fled from the burning residence.

Unable to reach the doors of the house because of heat and smoke, members of the family smashed picture windows in the living room to escape, the spokesman said. The spreading fire prevented reentry into the house, he added.

The house and contents were destroyed and two nearby homes were damaged by the blaze, which erupted at 8 a.m., according to the spokesman. The boy was taken to Lapeer County General Hospital where he was pronounced dead on arrival.

NO CAUSE KNOWN

No cause for the fire has been determined.

Area departments also reported two other fires yesterday.

In Bloomfield Hills, an apartment unit at 1061 Stratford was burned to the ground by a blaze which broke out at 9:12 a.m.

No one was home at the time, according to a fire department spokesman, and the cause of the fire has not been determined. Fire Chief Raymond Wachter said this morning that no damage estimate could be made as yet.

The apartment was rented to Vincent L. McNally Jr.

BARN FIRE FOUGHT

Three Macomb County fire departments were called out yesterday evening to fight a barn fire in Washington Township.

Thirty head of cattle and 1,200 bales of hay were consumed by the blaze at 28 Mile and Mt. Vernon, Romeo State Police said. The Shelby Township and Romeo departments assisted the Washington Township department.

The fire, for which no cause has been established, started at about 6:30 p.m. in the barn, owned by Burel Boggs, 57500 Van Dyke, Washington Township.

District Court Location Is Set

WALLED LAKE — Facilities for the 52nd District Court, First Division, will be located in the present municipal courtroom until the court wing is added to the City Hall.

The new district designated in the recent lower court reorganization includes the townships of Lyon, Novi, Rose, Highland, Milford and Commerce. Cases now being handled by the justices of the peace and municipal judges will be handed over when the new district court begins operation Jan. 1.

Two magistrates will be appointed to assist with the volume of work necessitated by the changeover.

Walled Lake city council is considering the possibility of a separate traffic violation bureau where tickets may be paid directly without going to court, according to city manager Royce Downey.

EIGHT-ROOM WING

The new court wing, to be at least eight rooms, is being added to the west end of the municipal building.

Construction is to start in February and the building should be in use by August according to Downey. Architects for the 3,600 square-foot addition are Bruno Leon and Associates, Inc. of Detroit.

The District judge will be Martin Boyle, presently Milford justice of the peace. Boyle, whose parents were one of the original families in Walled Lake, was elected to the post last November.

Broken Leg Ends Pair's Tiff Over Car

ANN ARBOR (UPI) — It's doubtful that Bill Keaton will want to tangle with his sister Joyce over use of the family car again.

Bill, 19, and Joyce, 20, were squabbling yesterday over who was going to get the car. Joyce dashed out of the house and began backing the auto down the driveway.

But Bill, apparently planning an interception, hopped on the hood. Joyce slammed on the brakes and her brother fell off and slipped his leg under a wheel.

He's in the hospital now, nursing a compound fracture of the leg.

Cycle Bandit Treads Lightly

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Someone stole a motorcycle yesterday from the home of Russell W. Reid, 1010 Lochaven, according to township police.

The thief may have picked the bike up and carried it on his back, for police found no tracks to the street despite snow. The bike was taken from a front porch where it was kept.

Police said the motorcycle reportedly was broken and will not run. It was a 1968 red and black Bullcat.

Wreck May Hold Clue to Fate of Missing Six

HONOLULU (AP) — The Hawaii Civil Air Patrol and the U.S. Coast Guard yesterday found what might be the wreckage of a light plane that disappeared Sept. 23 with six persons aboard, four of them Michigan women.

Those aboard were Air Force Lt. Robert Van Vossen 24, of Cicero, Ill.; the pilot; Everett Hoeks, 24, of Westchester, Ill.; Betsy Van Dyke, 20, of Grand Rapids; Betty Boer, 22, and Marlys Vis, 21, both of Wyoming, Mich.; and Joanne Elsting, 25, of Holland, Mich.

Their rented white plane, a single-engine Cherokee Six, was the object of an extensive one-week search when it disappeared on a one-day outing to Hawaii Island from Honolulu.

2 Suspects Face Trial in Holdups at 7 Gas Stations

Two suspects in a series of seven area gas station robberies are awaiting trial in Macomb County Circuit Court.

Ronald Leroy Sands, 20, and Richard Lee Succaride, 27, both of whom gave their addresses as Rochester, were examined by Harrison Township Justice Edmund Schmidt and were remanded to Macomb County Jail. Bond was continued at $7,500 each.

The pair is accused of five robberies between 10 p.m. and 4 p.m. the night of Dec. 2, as well as two additional holdups which occurred the previous weekend.

State Police from the Romeo post arrested Sands and Succaride in the parking area of the Fawn Crier Restaurant at 4415 Van Dyke, Utica, less than two miles from the scene of one robbery.

The pair allegedly had about $200 in their possession in a brown paper bag when arrested, police said.

Service stations in Pontiac Township, Avon Township, Shelby Township, Pontiac and Troy were among those robbed, according to police.

Winter Adult Term Set by Huron Valley

High school, college, and graduate courses as well as recreational and hobby courses will be included in the winter term of the Huron Valley Adult Education program.

Both Oakland Community College and Wayne State University are establishing extension centers as part of the adult education program held at Milford High School.

The eight new OCC courses, which range from introduction to psychology through English and history to introduction to business, will begin the week of Jan. 13.

The classes will be from 7 to 10 p.m. one evening a week for 15 weeks. Tuition is $9 per credit hour for college district students.

ELIGIBILITY LISTED

Any high school graduate, non-high school graduate older than 19, or current high school senior with permission from parents and high school principal can attend an OCC credit course.

Pre registration is the week of Jan. 6 in the Milford High School Counseling office, 2309 S. Milford Road, Milford, from 9 a.m. through 5 p.m. Monday through Wednesday and from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Thursday and Friday. Registration also will be accepted the first night of class.

Wayne State will offer three graduate courses in education and psychology beginning Jan. 7. The sessions meet for 11 weeks. Normal Wayne State course fees apply.

Contact Milford High School for additional information on adult education courses.

Information on financial assistance to students may be obtained through area high schools or from the student personnel offices at each OCC campus or from the College Financial Aid office, 2400 Opdyke, Bloomfield Hills.

22 Survive Mountain Ordeal

MANCHESTER, Vt. (AP) — Twenty high school hikers and two teachers, trapped on Mt. Tabor when a rain turned to a blinding snowstorm, lasted the night in a lean-to by singing songs and pairing off to watch for signs of frostbite.

The nine girls, 11 boys and teachers from the hiking club of Shenandoah High School at Elkhorn, N.Y., were brought down Sunday by rescuers. They had kept warm by a fire on the lean-to's shelves plus dead wood found in the area.

Two girls, Janice Naylor, 18, and Virginia Morton, 17, suffered frostbitten feet. After treatment by Dr. Clifford B. Harwood, who accompanied the rescuers, the girls were allowed to accompany their school mates home. Then they were admitted to a hospital in Schenectady, near Elkhorn, where a spokesman said they were in good spirits and would be discharged in two days.

The 20 students, led by teachers Martin H. Granger, 22, of Ballston Spa, N.Y., and Daniel Willis of Elkhorn, started the hike over the Long Trail between Mt. Tabor and Bromley, a ski resort, Saturday.

MISSED PATH

Snow, winds of up to 50 miles an hour and zero cold forced the group to seek shelter.

Granger said the party missed a side path, realized it was near dark, and took shelter in the lean-to, using a machete to cut down fire wood.

"We never slept, it was too cold," said Lynn Focht, 17. "We sang and talked."

"It rained for an hour and a half after we started walking," she said. "We all got soaked. None of us had ever walked in this area before."

After the group's bus driver reported that they failed to make their rendezvous point, a search was started by more than 50 persons, some traveling in snowmobiles or on snow shoes.

The group was found at noon Sunday when the rifle shots of a searcher were answered by shouts.

Searchers located a boarded up hunting lodge nearby, broke in and built a fire to warm the students and teachers before taking them to a lodge at the trail's start where some parents had gathered.

Prison Inmate No Escapee, but ...

CUMMINS PRISON FARM, Ark. (AP) — Officials at Cummins Prison farm recently decided they should send a guard with an inmate who drove one of the prison's milk trucks to a nearby town.

A short time later, the inmate called the prison and told officials he had been deserted. The guard wandered off and didn't return.

It Seems to Me . . .

Cabinet of President Elect Reflects Sound Judgment

The dozen are with us.
The United States has a new Board of Directors to supervise and guide the greatest Nation in the world. President-elect RICHARD M. NIXON has named his cabinet and the citizens of the Country have applauded with solid satisfaction.

Michigan is glad to have one of her citizens in this select circle of distinguished Americans. Governor George Romney has earned the recognition and deserves a place in the world's highest group of national administrators. These men constitute the most important single group extant. They are responsible for the activities, achievements and accomplishments of the greatest nation there is. They call the shots.

On their shoulders rest the heaviest responsibilities. They administer to the needs of their own Nation with a wary and understanding eye on international affairs. All nations—great and small—look to the United States for leadership. To a great extent the world plays "follow the leader" nifty-nilly. Some do it easily, some do it cautiously and some do it in patent rebellion; but they all study the procedures here.

There are a few disgruntled diehards who scoff at some of the selections but this is an inevitable part that malcontents always play. The criticism has done no damage. Honest appraisals and evaluations will come as a result of activities in the times ahead and will be based on results and achievements or failures.

President-elect Nixon picked a straight GOP group. He will have prominent Democrats in his over-all setup, but final cabinet decisions rest on the shoulders of these men. The GOP will rise or fall on their records.

Make no mistake about that.

Most Republicans and most neutral sources are accepting the Nixon nominations with very definite satisfaction and complete equanimity. The backbiters and irreconcilables are far outnumbered. They bray to the moon and howl alone.
Mr. President, we commend you for your selections and feel the Nation is looking forward to a constructive four years in the period ahead.

"On with the dance.
"Let joy be unconfined."

Hunting Season Tragedy . . .

It's difficult to forget that little girl who was shot by a trigger-happy adult during the hunting season. Without ever having done a wrong, her soul departs into Eternity.

The killer remains.

This "marksman" says he "thought she was a deer." How can anyone possess so little intelligence? How can anyone kill a 13-year-old girl, thinking she's a wild animal?

The curse this culprit bears the rest of his life will never repay the wrong he has done. The Maker above must deal with something like this in the Great Hereafter.

Support for Law Defenders . . .

It's a painful duty to disagree with a position taken by Senator GEORGE W. KUNN, of West Bloomfield Township. This observant legislator said he would propose "stiffer penalties for police officers convicted of a serious crime."

Basically, everyone convicted of a serious crime deserves stiff penalties. But it's time the legislature, the courts, the judges, the juries and all concerned punish the lawbreakers instead of the law defenders.

Certainly a policeman can become unnecessarily rough. That's a part of life. There are a few ministers, bishops and clergy that break laws, also. Perhaps you do occasionally. This is true of the police.

But they richly deserve support.
Stand behind them.

If one commits a palpable mistake, you can't blame the whole profession. They're an especially honorable, worthy, conscientious group. They struggle against odds today to preserve your own private life and property. I stand with the officers. I support and back them to the hilt. If we need "stiffer penalties" for wrongdoers, let's concentrate on the crooks, the burglars, the murderers, the arsonists, the rapists and the thieves. Let's put our corrective time and attention where it's most needed.

I admire and respect law enforcing agencies.
They deserve applause.

And in Conclusion . . .

Jottings from the well-thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter:

Rumors suggest The Ford Foundation has offered HUBERT HUMPHREY a job at $100,000. . . . The telephone company must dig itself out of the mechanical failures with which Southeastern Michigan is afflicted. I don't refer to the personnel. They're absolutely top-hole and do their level best to cover up the mechanical failures. Apparently A. T. T.'s projection charts were produced with one eye closed.

Scouts tell me Joyce Lundy deserves mention as one of the attractive girls in the area. . . . The smallest TV set in history has been perfected by the Japanese and some arrive here soon. They weigh 19 ounces, have an inch-and-a-half screen, and fit very easily into the palm of your hand. . . . Mothers who look for baby sitters in Stuttgart, Germany, find them on the streets or in cafes by looking for lassies with red hats. The wearers of these take care of children or old folks traveling alone. . . . I stand bare-headed and bow low before Gilbert Jackson and his Central High School singers. They're absolutely super—and so is he. I like their looks, voices, attitudes and fine-looking faces. I suspect George Putnam's in the background.

David Lawrence Says:

Vote Points Up Need for Reform

WASHINGTON — The official figures of the 1968 presidential election which have just been formally announced tell a significant story that may have a bearing on the much-discussed proposals for a reform in the electoral college system.

LAWRENCE Nixon got a majority of the ballots cast only within 15 states. This netted him 79 electoral votes. Humphrey obtained a majority in six states and the District of Columbia, for a total of 82 electoral votes. Wallace won a majority in two states and received thereby 17 electoral votes.

Looking at it another way, it will be noted that 23 states and the District of Columbia gave a majority to one or the other of the candidates, whereas 27 states accorded their electoral votes to a candidate who did not win a majority.

When there are two presidential candidates in the field, there is no such problem. But when three candidates get into the race, many of the electoral votes are won by a plurality rather than a majority vote.

BETTER APPLIED?

Would the principle of a majority be better applied if each congressional district, instead of a state, were the electoral unit?

There have been such proposals advanced on the theory that a majority of a district would more often be won by a single candidate even in a three-way race.

The argument is based on the idea that attention would be focused on congressional districts and that candidates for the House of Representatives would find themselves less inclined to depart from their own party or to give what amounts sometimes to passive support of a presidential nominee of a third party.

If the congressional districts were by constitutional amendment designated as the electoral units, the redistricting process would have to be more efficiently carried out than it is today.

ONLY WAY

But the mere establishment of the congressional district as the electoral unit would not get rid of the disadvantages of a three-cornered presidential race.

The only way to provide dissenting factions with a chance to vote for someone of their own choosing would be to create a presidential-preference election primary to be held on the same day throughout the country.

The candidate of each party who obtained a majority — or plurality — of all states would be the nominee for the final contest which would be limited to the two opposing nominees.

If the voters didn't like the nominee who won a majority or plurality in their own party, they still would be free to vote for the nominee of the opposing party in the final election. This often occurs as a result of run-offs in gubernatorial primaries.

But the country would in any event be spared a multiple race, because at present any candidate can get on the ballot in the November election if he has enough funds and represents a sectional or factional vote of substantial size.

MacArthur Seems Alive in Tour of His Memorial

NORFOLK, Va. — It is almost a surprise not to meet Gen. Douglas MacArthur in person when you conclude your tour of his memorial, which has come to be known as the Tomb of the Well-Known Soldier.

The general is very much alive in the mementos, showcases, murals, manuscripts and objects-de-quiere that fill the well-ordered memorial itself and two neighboring buildings.

These annexes contain his papers, communiques, 4,000-book library, the 1948 Chrysler limousine that bore him around conquered but adoring Tokyo, and replicas of the office he occupied as Army chief of staff (1930-35) and his office-bedroom in the Waldorf Towers where he wrote his memoirs in pencil on large yellow pads.

As of this week, 1,277,589 visitors had come to his shrine.
Following the rules of the course, they looked upon his hosts of medals, U.S. and foreign, beginning with his Medal of Honor. (He was put in for it three times over the years and wars.) And his battered "scrambled eggs" cap, sunglasses and cornucopia pipe. And the uniform he had made in Australia after his escape from Corregidor. It has 11 rows of ribbons.

MEMORABLE BLUR

After that, it is a memorable blur.

Giant murals by Alton S. Tobey depicting the full range of his military life and his role as the master pro-consul of his time; a faded needle-point portrait done in Shanghai in 1947 by P. C. Liu for Chinese editions long since fled to Formosa; huge cloisonné urns given to him by the people of Japan; the fadling yellow tablets of his scrupulously penciled "memoirs," guns, flags, daggers, models of the PT-boat on which he escaped to Australia, for example, tattered flags, cartoons — including one that poked fun at him after he became chairman of the board of Remington-Rand, drawn by David Snel for the New Yorker.

It shows an impressive office door marked "chairman of the board." On the knob is hung a little sign reading: "Out to lunch. I shall return."

Fugitive . . .

Tampa Tribune

At first, California police said they thought that Eldridge Cleaver wanted to avoid the symbolism of "surrender to white officers" and therefore was waiting around San Francisco to be arrested as a parole violator.

Now the police suggest in their gentle fashion that the Black Panther leader has become a "deliberate fugitive." He is long overdue on a date with his parole officer to return to prison.

This is kid gloves treatment of a man who demands that Negroes cure their social ills by killing white people. It is part of the musty-brained stupidity which permitted his man to appear as an invited lecturer on racism at the University of California at Berkeley.

He went to prison after being convicted of rape, assault to commit murder and assault with a deadly weapon. Paroled after nine years, he promptly did two things: Wrote a bestseller detailing his crimes and became involved in a gun fight with Oakland police during which he was wounded and a teenage Black Panther was killed.

For this his parole was

It looks like The Pontiac Press, citizens of Pontiac and the City would like to knock out the proposed I-75 in favor of widening M59, like they knocked out Northwestern 11 years ago. ## Asks Questions About Taxes in Waterford

Possibly someone could tell me how to get our name on our tax statement. We have tried for seven years by calling, writing, and even going to the Waterford Township office. We live in a 20-year-old home and have found that much newer brick homes with finished basements, two fireplaces and more than one bathroom pay anywhere from $100 to $150 less tax. It doesn't surprise me Waterford is on a fix. How do we get our taxes reduced?

Question and Answer

At the west bound intersection of West Huron and Elizabeth Lake Road there's a question of who belongs in which lane. Twice I've been crowded into the curb there, once deliberately. The driver demanded that I get in my own lane. This is hazardous and markings should leave no doubt. Is action being taken to improve this?

REPLY

Action has been taken. Mr. Folkers of Oakland County Road Commission says a solid white line has been painted to guide traffic into the proper lanes. He said this should correct the situation, but they'll be watching it in case additional measures are needed.

Can you tell me of a company that sells precision-tailored auto seat covers which are guaranteed for as many years as we own the car, regardless of what caused the damage? We always get ours from a Minnesota company, but there's no choice of pattern and we don't like the one they're using.

Humors put Cleaver variously in Canada, in Cuba, in Sweden and other distant places, presumably safe from U.S. prison keepers. We hope rumor is correct. The farther away from the United States he can be sent, the better for us.

This was a case with equal elements of comedy and tragedy. It was funny because of the age of the "child." It was sad, on the other hand, because it pointed up a tragic fact of life: many sons and daughters of the wealthy are so spoiled by their parents that they are completely unqualified to face life on the same terms that most of the rest of us are forced to face it. We hope daddy thought about that.

Heart Recipient Blaiberg Lauds Barnard 'Courage'

NEW YORK (AP) — The world's longest lived heart transplant patient has defended the "cold, calculated courage" of Dr. Christian Barnard, who performed the controversial operation.

The patient, Philip Blaiberg, said of the pioneer surgeon, "He it was who had the courage to transplant a new heart in me after his first patient died."

"The cold, calculated courage he has shown, while the world watched him, was courage indeed," Blaiberg wrote in a book, "Looking at My Heart," published today by Stein and Day.

The transplant operation had been criticized as premature before Blaiberg, a retired dentist, became the world's third transplant patient last Jan. 2. Before the operation, Blaiberg's condition had been considered hopeless.

In the book, Blaiberg says he and his wife resumed marital relations on April 5, their wedding anniversary. He had left Groote Schuur Hospital in Cape town, South Africa, on March 16.

Blaiberg said Barnard suggested he relate this "to allay the fears of some men who believe their potency might be impaired after cardiac surgery."

After the operation had given him new life, Blaiberg said, he thought more about "those little things so many take for granted" than about large matters. "I would see buses speeding along the highways past my apartment. I would hear the siren of the electric trains as they carried commuters to work in the city," he said.

The book was written with the help of South African author Benjamin Bennett.

Hunt Goes On for Missing U.P. Woman

MARQUETTE (UPI) — The search for a 29-year-old woman whose abandoned car was found near the entrance to a desert park two days ago continued today.

Christina Carlson Thomas was reported missing Saturday by her father, Elmer Carlson, a prominent executive of Lake Shore Engineering Co. Mrs. Thomas, who lived with her parents, disappeared while near-gale-force winds raked Lake Superior.

Her car was discovered at the barricaded entrance to Presque Isle Park, and footprints led to a nearby breakwater, police said.

Over 50 volunteers from the Presque Isle County sheriff's department along with Northern Michigan University students and local residents searched for the woman yesterday. A consignment of the bridge had yet to be found near the breakwater, but connected permanently to concrete abutments.

Boy on Big California Bridge Survives Its Collapse

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) — Fourteen-year-old Alfred Streit was taking a shortcut Sunday across a massive, steel-reinforced six-lane overpass under construction in Thousand Oaks when the bridge collapsed with a roar.

In the tons of steel girders and wood pilings, the boy was found with only a broken heel.

The 35-foot-long bridge crashed onto Hillcrest Drive, just missing two cars as it fell 15 feet.

Young Streit was taken to Conejo Valley Community Hospital. His foot was put in a cast and he was released.

NOT CONNECTED

Authorities couldn't immediately say what caused the bridge's downfall. But a California highway patrol spokesman said Sunday night that no one should have been on it since the ends of the bridge had yet to be connected permanently to concrete abutments.

What was Alfred doing there? me," said Mrs. Streit. "An awful lot of kids play around the creek freeway from Veneta to the Simi Valley Freeway underneath."

She speculated that "maybe it was the rain soaking it" that loosened the bridge. A wet Pacific storm hit Southern California over the weekend.

The bridge was to be part of a crash, two cars, including a sheriff's cruiser, had passed under it.

Alfred's mother said he'll stay home from school for a couple of days to recover.

"He's just lucky he's alive, that's all," she said.

Apollo 8 Crew Unconcerned About Radiation in Outer Space

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Despite concern expressed by some scientists, the space agency predicts America's Apollo 8 astronauts will be exposed to radiation no greater than the total equivalent of three chest X rays when they fly around the moon.

Solar flares erupting on the sun's surface could spew radiation into space between the earth and the moon, but "It would take a very unusual flare" to prevent or alter the mission, said an Apollo 8 astronaut, William A. Anders.

"They probably haven't seen more than one or two in the last decade large enough to cause concern," said Air Force Maj. Anders, who plans to blast off Saturday for a 10-orbit flight around the moon with Air Force Col. Frank Borman and Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr.

The Apollo 8 spaceship is a relatively thick-skinned vehicle and offers a very good storm cellar," Anders explained.

"The largest flare given off during the last 11-year solar cycle produced a maximum of 240 rads. The spacecraft can withstand up to 400 rads," a National Aeronautics and Space Administration spokesman added.

A rad is a unit of radiation measurement.

During the six days Apollo 8 is to be in space, some radiation will sneak into the moon ship, but "The accumulative dose will be two rads on each man and the worst possible will be slight over three rads, or the equivalent of three chest X rays," NASA predicted.

As a result, "We're not the least bit worried about it," the space agency spokesman said.

Several types of radiation measuring devices will be aboard Apollo 8. Each crewman will wear instruments on his thigh, chest and ankle to provide cumulative dosage readings after recovery, and each man also has a personal radiation dosimeter that can be read for cumulative dosage at any time.

2 DETECTION SYSTEMS

A radiation meter will record the amount in Apollo 8 cockpit, while a nuclear particle detection system will measure radiation outside the moon ship.

While NASA said it has no grounds for worry, concern has been expressed elsewhere in the scientific community.

Dr. Harold Izrin, professor of astrophysics at the California Institute of Technology, said earlier this month that Cal Tech astronomers observed a new sunspot group which "has grown rapidly and will be facing the earth at the center of the sun on Dec. 23."

Scientists in the Soviet Union and other Communist countries have said in recent weeks that further biological testing would be necessary before the Russians would attempt a deep-space flight. Radiation hazards were among questions needed to be answered, they said.

Biological specimens including turtles, worms and plants were carried on the Soviet's around-the-moon Zond 5 and 6 flights, but U.S. observers interpreted emphasis of biological fears as a cover-up to hide the real reason for the flights—overcoming problems developing hardware in the Soviet spacecraft itself.

A network of radiation-measuring U.S. satellites circling the sun and ground-based observatories are keeping track of solar storms for NASA.

The satellites can give warning of active solar regions as much as 16 days in advance.

If an unusually hazardous flare spilled radiation into space, while the astronauts "were in flight," "We could stay in orbit around the moon to take advantage of its one-half shielding effect," Anders said.

Trusty Stabs Warden, Has Brief Freedom

HARTFORD Conn. (AP) — "We treated him like a son," said the warden of the state prison, who was stabbed by his houseboy in an escape. "I don't know what happened to him."

The houseboy, David F. Mabery, who was serving a life term for the slaying of a 15-month-old boy, was caught Sunday in downtown Hartford by two policemen.

Warden Frederick Reincke, 69, said Mabery attacked him Saturday at his home at the prison in Somers, 20 miles north of Hartford and forced him and Mrs. Reincke, 63, to drive to Hartford, where he fled. Reincke, attacked with a knife while on duty at Hartford Hospital with minor stab wounds. His wife was treated for shock and released Saturday.

Mabery's duties as a trusty in the Reincke house had been primarily to look after the warden's 90-year-old mother-in-law.

One of the arresting officers, rookie Mike McConnell, said he recognized Mabery from a photograph. Mabery offered no resistance. He had pleaded guilty Feb. 21 1961 in the slaying at New Haven of his girlfriend's son. After his recapture he was charged with aggravated assault and carrying a dangerous weapon.

West Berlin has suffered the highest suicide rate in the world for the last decade, although not as high as during the Hitler era.

Challenges Slow Recount in Oregon Senate Race

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Thirteen smaller counties of Oregon's 36 have completed ballots already recounted in their work, but that represents less than 13 per cent of the total vote. The counting resumes today after a day off Sunday.

Packwood, a 36-year-old state representative, has increased his margin by seven votes in the completed counties.

INSTRUCTIONS UNCHANGED

The volume of ballot challenging prompted Packwood to offer to order his workers to stop challenging if Morse would do the same.

But Morse said Sunday the instructions to his workers remained unchanged.

"The purpose of challenging ballots is to make certain that only legally cast ballots will ultimately be counted. The courts or the United States Senate may have to make some judgments about the validity of the challenges made by workers for both candidates," Morse said.

Utility Man Frees Boy Trapped in Shut Refrigerator

PORTAGE (AP) — A quick-thinking Consumers Power Co. service man is credited today with having saved the life of 8-year-old Raymond Giambrone of Portage.

Victor Survilla called at the home of Raymond's mother, Mrs. Joyce Giambrone, in answer to a "no heat" complaint Saturday.

While awaiting entry to the home, Survilla heard strange noises coming from the Giambrone garage. Upon investigation, he found Raymond trapped inside a locked refrigerator.

The boy, carrying a lighted candle, had crawled into the refrigerator and shut the door behind him. When the candle went out, he became frightened and began banging against the locked door trying to fight his way out.

Newsman Helps End Take-Over

Ex-Patient Terrorizes Hospital

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP) — A former patient forced his way into a mental hospital Sunday, took three hostages, then surrendered when a newspaper reporter promised to get him more pep pills and treatment.

William Meagher, 24, ended his five-hour siege of the South Florida State Hospital maximum security ward after Rod Gibson of the Miami Herald promised to help him.

While a patient there, Meagher had twice broken out. The three hostages, guard Edward T. Smith and aides Fred Horton and Raymond Dorry, were released unhurt.

Meagher announced his siege at 5:30 a.m. when he telephoned Dr. Richard Parks, hospital superintendent; Dr. Arthur Stillman, clinical director; and Gibson at their homes.

Gibson said Meagher told him: "I have a sawed-off shotgun and a pistol—and plenty of ammunition. I have three aides as hostages, and if they don't close down this ward for good, I'm going to tear it apart and kill the three hostages."

The reporter met Meagher in June when Meagher then a prisoner in a Miami jail, wrote to him to complain about the treatment mental patients receive in Florida.

Meagher since has been a guest at Gibson's home, where he played with the reporter's 4-year-old daughter and told her father:

"The only way the public will do anything about these hospitals is if you station yourself on top of some building and start killing people."

Gibson said Meagher's arms are covered with the scars of suicide attempts and another scar runs along his neck. Meagher twice escaped from the hospital, once slashing a psychiatrist with a razor, and has been hospitalized in California.

However, Stillman said Meagher is not a psychopath. Stillman called him "an exhibitionist; he likes to be on the front pages."

During the siege, Meagher gave beer to inmates in maximum security cells and forced his hostages to drink. Meagher fired shots through the ward's windows, but police who surrounded the building did not return the fire.

After a short time in the ward, Meagher stopped talking about treatment of mental patients and began demanding drugs. Meagher had taken amphetamines, stimulants, barbiturates—depressants, and alcohol, Gibson said.

Gibson promised by telephone to deliver the drugs and get treatment for him. Meagher then surrendered.

Rep. Diggs Enters Job Corps Controversy

DETROIT (AP) — Rep. Charles C. Diggs Jr., D-Mich., has stepped into the controversy that threatens eviction of a nearly all-Negro Women's Job Corps Center from the Northern Michigan University campus at Marquette.

He also wired the commander of K.I. Sawyer Air Force Base outside Marquette, requesting a meeting with Negro servicemen, whose campus visits to meet Job Corps trainees are a part of the controversy.

CAGE COURT SEIZED — The Black Students Association said it took over the basketball court in support of demands upon Jamrich for establishment of a human rights commission to act on cases of reported racial discrimination on the campus, among other things. They also asked employment of more Negro students in university jobs and a review of recent incidents involving security police and Negro students.

NMU president; the director of the Job Corps Center; the NMU Faculty Senate; Job Corps trainees; and a representative group of Negro students.

NMU has a predominantly white student body of 7,100.

"I am entering this situation," Diggs said in a state letter, "because it appears to be very serious and has highly disturbing racial overtones."

The Faculty Senate recommended to Jamrich Friday that the Job Corps Center be removed from the campus or, if this were not feasible immediately, that NMU not seek renewal of the Job Corps contract.

The Job Corps Center has 310 in the current climate of student enrollment, 80 per cent of them devolt."

Something Extra in Milk Delivery

FARMINGTON, Conn. (AP) — A Farmington housewife found a surprise in her milk box last week. Tucked alongside the milk was a purse she had lost when it fell out of her car.

A note attached explained that a Lincoln Dairy deliveryman, Parker Kendell, making his rounds in Hartford early in the morning, found the purse and turned it in at the dairy office. There an employee noticed the owner was a customer.

Dolphins in the future may be trained to find schools of fish and then herd them, researchers believe.

Florida Shivers; Snow Hits Northeast

By the Associated Press

Temperatures plunged to freezing as far south as Florida today as Arctic air poured behind a storm center which dumped up to a foot of snow in some areas of the Northeast.

Miami recorded a 34-degree temperature reading early this morning—the coldest for any day in December since 1946. Patches of frost occurred inland from the Miami area northward through Florida. Atlanta reported an overnight reading of 21°.

Heavy snow warnings and hazardous driving conditions remained in Vermont, New Hampshire and Maine as the storm's center edged northward along the Maine coast.

Another storm moved down from the Pacific Northwest and brought rains, high winds and snow in higher elevations from Washington and Idaho south to California.

Winds up to 60 miles an hour tore through the San Francisco Bay area Sunday and ripped a section of roof from a motel. No one was injured, but rains drenched sleeping patrons and owners estimated damage at $100,000.

The storm in the Northeast Sunday blanketed New York City with 3 inches of snow—the city's first measurable snow fall of the season—and closed Kennedy Airport for nearly seven hours.

Heavy snow fell in upper New York State and the Albany area had up to 8 inches on the ground.

Three inches of snow covered the Pittsburgh, Pa., area and drizzle up to two feet were reported in suburbs.

Gale warnings were posted early today along the Atlantic coast from Eastport, Maine, to Cape Hatteras, N.C.

A hard freeze for the second consecutive night hit Alabama, Georgia and northern Florida. Freezing temperatures dipped south to New Orleans and the eastern Gulf Coast cities.

Overnight readings ranged from 3° below zero at Pellston, Mich., to 65° at Brownsville, Tex.

Early morning temperatures and conditions included: Boston 19° snow, New York 19° cloudy, Philadelphia 17° clear, Washington 25° clear, Atlanta 21° clear, Miami 38° clear, Detroit 13° clear, Chicago 23° cloudy, Minneapolis-St. Paul 15° clear, St. Louis 22° cloudy, Kansas City 21° clear, Dallas 39° clear, Denver 24° clear, Phoenix 48° partly cloudy, Los Angeles 55° clear, San Francisco 47° rain, Anchorage 35° cloudy, Honolulu 70° cloudy, Seattle 42° cloudy.

Fair skies and cold temperatures prevailed over the nation's midsection.

OSMUN'S GUIDE TO MEN'S WEAR

Give him a Dobbs hat

Just when was the last time he bought himself a new hat? Just before the wedding? Or that time he had to rush off to the "big city" and wanted to make a big impression? Never mind. If antique dealers are bidding on the one he's been wearing—it's time for a new one. We just happen to have a whole collection of styles and colors—like this snap brim model called the Double Life. It's by Dobbs and it costs $20.00. If you'd rather let him pick it out to make sure he gets exactly the right hat—give him a Gift Certificate in any amount. And then quietly dispose of that old lid of his.

Humphrey Accepts Joint Professorship

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey announced Sunday he will return as a professor to two schools in the Twin Cities which hold especially fond memories for him.

Humphrey, a 1939 graduate of the University of Minnesota at Minneapolis and a teacher at Macalester College of St. Paul in 1943 and 1944, has accepted a joint professorship at the two schools.

The vice president said at a gathering in Macalester's fine arts center that after 25 years in politics he has some things he wants to say and the job in his home state should provide a very good atmosphere for both teaching and learning.

The crowd of over 600, about half of them students, applauded enthusiastically after Humphrey said he would accept the teaching offer. "Word must have spread that I'm a soft grader," Humphrey responded.

DUTIES NOT DETAILED

The courses which Humphrey will teach after his duties as vice president end Jan. 20 have not been outlined in detail, but there are indications he will give some regular lectures and hold some seminars.

Humphrey also said he hoped, in his new position, to work on solutions to some problems facing society.

"It is clear that many of the answers which were satisfactory even a decade ago are no longer acceptable. The universities have become a forum for the expression of this dissatisfaction, as well as the place where better answers are being sought," Humphrey said.

The vice president added, "One of the reasons I wanted to be president was that I thought that was the best forum for teaching. Well I've had to settle for second best, but that's pretty good."

NOT MAIN OBJECTIVE

The Minnesota Democrat who lost in this year's presidential election said teaching was not his main objective in returning to the state.

"I come back to learn and to have my mind and senses stretched once again by the students and faculty with whom I will be associated," Humphrey said. "And I can hardly wait to begin!"

Humphrey, a native of South Dakota, also said he hopes to use his political associations to bring persons high in the realm of politics to the Twin Cities and the two campuses.

The vice president will receive $30,000 for teaching nine months at the two schools, $20,000 from Macalester and $10,000 from the university, according to University President Malcolm Moos.

MONEY WON'T GOVERN

The amount of money supplied by each school "would have no relationship to the commitment of time," Humphrey would have at that school, Moos added.

Dr. Arthur W. Flemming, president of Macalester, and Moos appeared on the platform with the vice president Sunday.

MEETING THE NEW PROF — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey greets students and faculty members of Macalester College, St. Paul, Minn., in an informal reception yesterday. It followed Humphrey's announcement that he will accept a joint professorship at Macalester and the University of Minnesota in Minneapolis.

Czech Upheaval Fears Subside

Dubcek to Keep Post

PRAGUE (AP) — Fears of a new political upheaval in Czechoslovakia subsided today with the news that the Communist party will keep Alexander Dubcek as its chief and will go ahead with a limited program of economic reforms.

The party central committee, which met last week, gave Dubcek, National Assembly Chairman Josef Smrkovsky and other progressives in the party leadership more time to amend party policy.

Workers and students met throughout the weekend preparing strikes and other protest actions if their more liberal favorites were deposed. But there was no mention of any leadership changes in the committee resolutions published today, and informed sources said there were none.

One resolution said, "The party takes the main line in the sphere of economic policy to be continuation of economic reforms which have been started."

DELAY INDICATED

But the resolution made clear that the economic program would be a delayed, weaker version of the plans made before the Soviet invasion Aug. 20.

It said the party would lay down a mandatory schedule for the reforms so that the central committee might discuss the document by mid-1969. In effect, this shelved action for some six months.

There was no mention of the earlier, more ambitious plans for widespread use of promissive incentives and free-market regulation of prices by supply and demand. Instead, it said only that some factories and some industries would be freed from some dictates of the central planners.

The resolution promised a law next year that "will provide conditions for enterprises and some enterprise groupings with full economic responsibility, and with possibilities to carry out independent activities."

But this was qualified by the proviso that such freedom will be exercised within the framework of the economic policy of the state and its regulatory measures.

The resolution called for closer economic ties with the Soviet Union and for more trade with the capitalist West. Trade with the West was a major feature of the pre-August reform plans. But the resolution put more stress on the stronger cooperation with the Soviets.

Premier Oldrich Cernik had told the central committee that trade with the rest of the East bloc must be strengthened first to pave the way for more trade with the West.

Retiring Scotland Yard Chief's Gentle Nature Belies Success

LONDON (UPI) — Thomas Butler, 56, is a gentle, quietly polite man who has been a lifelong bachelor and still lives with his mother. But it is doubtful anyone ever has called him, jokingly or otherwise, a "mother's boy."

For 34 years, Thomas Butler has been a walking terror to British criminals, and in international criminals who have tried to bring their talents to Britain.

At the end of 1968, Butler is retiring as chief superintendent of Scotland Yard.

The final job he set himself to do has been done — the arrest of the last remaining suspect in Britain's Great Train Robbery of 1963.

NOT SURPRISING

Bruce Reynolds, the alleged mastermind of the train robbery, could not have been too surprised when he opened his door at 6 a.m. on Nov. 8 to be greeted by Butler.

"Good morning, Bruce, you'd better get dressed," the detective is reported to have said to Reynolds.

This would be in character. Butler always has been known for his unfailing courtesy, even to criminals.

Reynolds probably accepted that Butler would show up some day.

VOWED TO GET HIM

The wiry, hawk-nosed detective, described by associates as a "24-hour cop with the brain of a university president and the memory of an elephant," had sworn to get him.

For more than five years Reynolds eluded his nemesis, who sought him in connection with the classic mail train robbery that netted the robber gang $7.2 million in cash — the biggest cash theft on record.

That Friday morning when Butler walked into the flat Reynolds had rented in the southwest London resort town of Torquay, he capped an unrelenting hunt.

The superintendent's search for the ruggedly handsome Reynolds had taken him to the south of France, Tangiers and most of the British Isles.

DOGGED HIS TRAIL

Doggedly he pored over and followed out each clue, working a normal 16-hour day.

Nabbing Reynolds was a matter of pride for Butler, under whose supervision the other 14 men wanted for the train robbery had been arrested.

He wasn't about to let the supposed No. 1 boy get away.

Butler has long been a legend in Britain. Americans became more aware of him last June when it was he who captured James Earl Ray, the man accused of the murder of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

BACK FROM CANADA

Last January Butler brought Charles Wilson, one of two convicted train robbers who broke out of prison, back from hiding in Canada.

Now Ronald Biggs, the lone member of the gang still at large, is probably looking just so he could finish his investigations on the train robbery case.

Since 1938, when he ended four years as a cop on the beat, Butler has been the most dangerous opponent of organized crime in Britain.

In the 1950s he came to prominence as one of the "Terrible Twins" who, along with Detective Inspector Peter Vibrant, virtually cleaned up London's underworld with their crack 110-m "Flying Squad."

The pair was sent to Cyprus in 1958 to track down ring-leaders of the revolt under Gen. George Grivas.

Butler lives with his elderly mother in a West London suburb and has a reputation among colleagues and criminals alike for being calculating, tough and unemotional on the job.

"I live only for the job," he has said.

But Butler's fair treatment of suspects is so respected that

James White, one of the convicted train robbers, once sent him a message thanking him for good treatment given while White was during interrogation sessions.

The chief's office in the new tower of the Flying Squad of the Scotland Yard office building is 1908 is on the wall.

Curb on Heroin Passes Tests

By Science Service

Successful tests of a drug that blocks the craving for heroin have been carried out in New York.

Because of the success so far demonstrated with methadone treatment of heroin addicts, a Columbia University evaluation team has recommended that the program be expanded.

Some 540 addicts have been treated in the program at Beth Israel Medical Center. The program dropped or lost 14 per cent of the addicts, but none who stayed has been readmitted to heroin.

Methadone is a substitute narcotic that blocks the craving for heroin. While patients must be maintained on the drug daily, they do not experience the euphoric and toxic effects of heroin.

When they were admitted, only 22 patients had jobs; after two years, 85 per cent are employed or in school. Originally, 40 per cent were dependent on welfare; now only 15 per cent are.

In-Gen-eious Solution for Insects in Sex

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Here's the problem: you are a wheat farmer and your crops are being damaged by hessian flies.

In which of the following ways would you react:

(1) Dust the wheat with hessian fly powder; (2) become an oat farmer; (3) sell the farm and get a job as a brain surgeon.

If you checked any of the above solutions it shows a singular lack of ingenuity on your part. Which isn't surprising. If you had an ingenuity you probably wouldn't be a wheat farmer in the first place.

If you had any ingenuity your name would be Dr. Robert L. Gallun and you would be working for the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

HEREDITY FACTOR

Gallun a USDA entomologist is attacking the hessian fly problem in a truly ingenious manner. It is his idea to save the wheat by insect interbreeding.

As he explained at the international wheat genetics symposium in Australia this fall there are eight races of hessian flies that look alike but differ in their ability to infest various wheat varieties.

The Great Plains hessian fly for example is unable to infest soft wheat.

Okay. If you are Dr. Gallun you produce a big bunch of Great Plains hessian flies in the laboratory and then you turn them out in a soft wheat area and let them mate with other types of hessian flies.

If things work out right the next generation of hessian flies will inherit the genetic characteristics that render Great Plains hessian flies incapable of infesting soft wheat.

NEW ERA

I stand in admiration of Dr. Gallun for thinking this up and I want to be the first to predict that it will usher in an entire new era of insect control.

The day when we attacked insects with fil guns, fly swatters and other crude devices may soon be gone forever. Instead we simply cross them out genetically and let heredity do them in.

If the Gallun plan works for hessian flies it should work for other types of insects, such as ants. Among the many varieties of ants there must be at least one variety that dislikes picnics.

Large numbers could be produced in a laboratory and then released in public parks there to mate with other ants. In a couple of generations every grassy knoll would be crawling with picnic-hating ants.

Then we could start breeding a strain of squeamish mosquitoes that faint at the sight of human blood.

Curb on Heroin Passes Tests

By Science Service
Successful use of a drug that blocks the craving for heroin have been carried out in New York.

Because of the success so far demonstrated with methadone treatment of heroin addicts, a Columbia University evaluation team has recommended that the program be expanded.

Some 540 addicts have been treated in the program at Beth Israel Medical Center. The program dropped or lost 14 per cent of these addicts, but none who stayed has been readmitted to heroin.

Methadone is a substitute narcotic that blocks the craving for heroin. While patients daily, they do not experience the euphoric and toxic effects of heroin.

When they were admitted, only 28 patients had jobs; after two years, 85 per cent are employed or in school. Originally, 40 per cent were dependent on welfare; now only 15 per cent are.

Pontiac Retail Store takes on the look of a toyshop with the presence of over 300 cuddly dolls displayed by the General Motors Girls Club of Pontiac. Here, admiring the handwork soon to be distributed by area service clubs and union locals is Mrs. Richard B. Young (right) of Hummingbird Lane, Independence Township, and club secretary, Mrs. Harold R. Kittles of Pleasant Drive.

Christmas Present All Year

By YOLANDA BENAVIDES

Sarah (Mrs. Richard) Young's workshop is a little girl's paradise as some 200 young ladies (some well over the doll house stage by now) can attest.

Like the famed Christmas Eve visitor, however, Mrs. Young has no 'workshop' as such, but works year round on special holiday remembrances for little girls.

This year, as in the past nine, Mrs. Young has clothed 25 smiling 'baby dolls' from crocheted shoes to hand-sewn dress and cap, for distribution by the General Motors Girls Club of Pontiac.

As with the initial 25, Mrs. Young starts working on the wardrobes as early as January. From her own, as well as friends' and neighbors' leftover yards and materials, she passes the months whipping up caps, booties and dresses in an endless array of colors and patterns.

Her tool kit and constant companion over the years has been an everyday brown paper bag, filled with bits and ends of calico and bright yarns which she pulls out whenever the time allows.

TIME LAG

Oddly enough, time, or too much of it, started Sarah on this annual campaign back in 1958.

At the time her family had just moved to their present Independence Township home on Hummingbird Lane and were not familiar with the community.

The Young children, son Fred, now a pilot for United Airlines with a family of his own in Chicago, and their daughter, now Mrs. Terry Kelley of Clarkston, — were well in their teens.

"I just found myself with too much time on my hands," concludes Mrs. Young.

In response, husband Richard, who is with the customer relations department at Pontiac Motor Division, suggested Sarah help out with the annual Christmas project taken on by the GMC Girls Club.

Free time now, however, is confined to coffee breaks, lunch time, or when the pace slows down a bit at Von Really where she's been gal Friday for three years.

Activity in the community finds her an active participant in the Order of Eastern Star, where she serves as first vice president of the Oakland County Association.

With over 24 chapters under her jurisdiction, Mrs. Young, who has been active in OES for 18 years, chuckles at the thought of finding 'free time.'

NO SPARE MOMENTS

Once official duties are tended to, it's back to the needlework or a good book.

With the holidays less than a week away, the dolls, now on annual display at Pontiac Retail Store, will soon be on their way for distribution by area service clubs and union locals.

The journey ends in a little girl's waiting arms.

Peale to Lead Julie, David in Vows

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The man who will lead Julie Nixon and David Eisenhower in their marriage vows Dec. 22 is a veritable American religious powerhouse who maintains that mutual prayer makes for happy couples.

"Work, play and pray as a team," advises the Rev. Dr. Norman Vincent Peale.

"Marriage is a fabric that has to be woven together from spiritual threads," he adds. "The first thing a couple should do is pray together. They talk, laugh and cry together, but the thing that brings them to the upper level of human relationship is praying together."

To reach people today, he says, "you have to get outside the walls of the church and employ every conceivable means to get into their homes, their hearts and their minds."

Dr. Peale, now 70, a hearty combination of urbanity and homespun sagacity and wit, has over a period of four decades built up a vigorous domain of mass methods of doing the job.

But at the same time, he retains a relaxed, personal warmth and down-to-earth charm.

What he calls his "humorous, psychological approach" has made him among the nation's most sought-after speakers on the lecture circuit.

Dr. Peale is a long-time friend of the Nixon and Eisenhower families, and the Nixons, while living in New York, often have worshipped in his big Sunday congregation at Marble Collegiate Church on Fifth Avenue.

He has held his customary premarital counseling session with the noted pair, the daughter of a President-elect and grandson of a former president, and presented them with a new Bible.

Although the particular discussion with them remains confidential, Dr. Peale says that ordinarily in meeting with candidates for marriage, he goes into their general relationships, attitudes and values.

"I tell them to be patient, to be a team and that neither one of them is the boss," he said. "They are equals and should work together, supporting each other's weaknesses and strengths."

"I get them talking about how they feel about each other. I try to tell them they are going to be really happy if they feel romantically about each other all their lives."

Especially, however, he emphasizes common prayer.

Damp, Dark Basement No Place to Entertain

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: With the holidays just around the corner, I'd like to say something about the way some people "entertain."

When I entertain guests in my home, I invite them into my living room. I have friends who invite us over for a party, and everybody is herded down the basement. It's fixed up real nice down there, but it's always a little bit damp and dark and uncomfortable. Besides, I resent getting all dressed up to stand around in somebody's cellar.

What are these people afraid of? That somebody might mess up their living room?

RUTHIE

DEAR RUTHIE: There is no defense for people who entertain in a basement that's "damp, dark, and uncomfortable." But the way some careless guests handle their cigarettes and drinks, they should be entertained in a barn!

DEAR ABBY: I have always had the feeling that my mother-in-law never cared for me very much although heaven knows I have tried my best to make her like me. I married her favorite son, but I am far from her favorite daughter-in-law.

What bothers me most is this: Everywhere you look in her house you see pictures of her "children" — sons, daughters, and their husbands and wives, but there is not one picture of me.

I gave her a big tinted picture of me in my wedding gown, but I have never seen it displayed anywhere. Since that time I have given her other pictures of me, but she hasn't put any of them out either. I am not an ugly girl, Abby. In fact people say I am the prettiest of her four daughters-in-law.

I keep asking my husband what his mother has against me and he says, "Nothing." What should I do? About the pictures, I mean?

HURT

DEAR HURT: I'll tell you what not to do. Don't bug your husband about it. He is not his mother's keeper.

DEAR ABBY: My conscience is bothering me and I have other problems, too. I'm a 15-year-old girl who everybody thinks is a "very nice girl." But I'm not as nice as they think I am.

My girl friend and I went to a movie one night and we let ourselves be picked up by a couple of guys. They had a car so we went for a ride afterwards, and we parked and made out (only light necking — nothing serious), but we really aren't "pickups" and we don't know what made us act like that.

Well, I've seen this guy a couple of times on the sneak since then, but he doesn't ever want to come in and meet my parents, and all he ever wants is to go out and park with me. I really like this guy and he is on my mind day and night. How can I make it a respectable relationship? I feel ashamed and dirty.

FIFTEEN

DEAR FIFTEEN: Even a "nice" girl can act on an impulse and behave foolishly once. But she cheapens herself when she meets a boy "on the sneak" to make out with him. A boy who refuses to meet a girl's parents is bad news. Don't see him again.

CONFIDENTIAL T O "THINKING ABOUT IT." Slow down, Soldier. If this is the kind of love that will last forever (and that's the only kind worth marrying for) it will last until you finish your hitch. If the girl has truly "reformed," she won't object to your "sending for her" after you've returned home and have had a chance to think about it objectively.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, in care of The Pontiac Press, Dept. E-600, P.O. Box 9, Pontiac, Mich. 48056 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abby in care of The Pontiac Press, Dept. E-600, P.O. Box 9, Pontiac, Mich. 48056 for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Writer's Advice Is to Allow Friend's Help

By ELIZABETH L. POST

Dear Mrs. Post: A bridge club of eight members plays at a different member's home every two weeks. I have been asked to each member's home, and I am mortified that I have been unable to return their hospitality.

I am single and live with my invalid sister, for whom our former dining room has been converted into a bedroom. This arrangement discourages entertaining for all except one or two intimate friends.

Can you suggest a way to repay the kindness of these friends? One friend offered to let me entertain at her home, but this would actually burden her in order to unburden me. Would a gift be acceptable? — Lydia

Dear Lydia: If the woman who offered the use of her home is a very close friend, I would accept. If you make all the preparations, pay all the expenses, and see that everything is cleaned up, there is no reason it should be any burden on her. Write notes as invitations explaining that the party is being held in her home due to your sister's illness. This is far nicer, and more in keeping spirit of the thing, than presenting your friends with gifts.

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband's brother lives in another state and plans to be married there. A shower was given for the future bride and no one in our family knew of it. My brother-in-law called and said it didn't look right that none of us had sent presents.

My husband and I do not feel it is necessary since we were not invited. What is the correct thing to do? — Amy

Dear Amy: You certainly do not need to send a shower gift when you were not invited to the party — in fact to send one now would look as though you had expected an invitation you didn't receive.

Send a wedding present when you receive your invitation to the reception, and that's all that's necessary.

'Messiah' Scheduled by Choral, Orchestra

Handel's "Messiah" will be presented in Ford Auditorium on Dec. 22 by the Kenneth Jewell Choral. The 3:30 p.m. performance will be accompanied by a concert ensemble of Detroit Symphony Orchestra members with Mitcha Mischakoff in the role of concertmaster.

Barbara Windham, alto, of Dell Rose Drive and Irene Edinger, soprano, of Birmingham, are two of the Choral's ten soloists for the performance.

This is a premiere occasion for area audiences — the first time that a professional Choral of area vocal artists will have presented this work with orchestral accompaniment as the composer conceived it.

Tickets are available through the Ford Auditorium box office, J. L. Hudson's major stores and all Grinnell's stores.

Polly's Pointers

Please Senior Citizen

DEAR POLLY — A nice thing to do for an elderly relative or friend is to plan a card shower for that person's birthday. Notify all friends, neighbors and relatives of the coming event by phone or mail. The result will provide hours of enjoyment for that person who will feel loved and very special. This is a very common practice in my home town and has proved most rewarding.

To keep my bathroom faucets free of water spots, I rub a small amount of bath oil on these fixtures after cleaning. The oil will resist the water spots, give a nice scent to the bathroom and the fixtures will look freshly cleaned and polished much longer. — S. J.

Three Couples Wed Saturday

Newlyweds, the Douglas E. Mrs. Michael Saul, best man Gees (nee Nancy L. Kenyon) Philip Andrews and ushers are honeymooning in New York City.

The daughter of the Donald Kenyons of East Lansing and the son of the Norval Gees of Thorpe Street exchanged vows Saturday in People's Church, East Lansing.

Attended by her sister, Marilyn, the bride chose a white crepe wedding ensemble highlighted with Venetian lace. A colonial arrangement of white carnations and Sweetheart roses comprised her bouquet.

Bridesmaids Jadine Gee and

Mrs. Michael Saul, best man Philip Andrews and ushers are honeymooning in New York City.

The newlyweds were feted in the church parlors.

Clement-Yates

Metropolitan Club of Pontiac was the setting for a reception Saturday feting newlyweds the Gary L. Clements (nee Faye Alice Yates).

The daughter of James T. Yates of South Winding Drive and the late Mrs. Yates and the son of the Jack Clements of Rosemond Street were wed that evening in Drayton Plains United Presbyterian Church.

Attended by her cousin, Diana R. Yates, the bride wore a traditional ensemble of Chantilly lace over taffeta. A cascading arrangement of white carnations comprised her bouquet.

Kathy and Gaye Yates, Elaine Winslow, Mrs. David Bennett and Susan Clement were bridesmaids. William Yates was best man with William Clement, Martin Zarnock Jr. and David Yates as ushers.

Lucas-Campbell

Four Towns Methodist Church was the setting Saturday for vows uniting Sharon Marie Campbell and Clyde Allen Lucas.

For the evening ceremony, the bride was attired in a peau d'ange gown with Alencon lace appliques.

She carried red roses on a white Testament. A lace handkerchief which had belonged to her great-great-grandmother was tucked between its pages.

ATTENDANTS Shirley Lucas, the bridegroom's sister, was maid of honor with Walter E. Freeman as best man.

Completing the wedding party were Mrs. Gary Dixon, Linda Matteson, Sandra Elliott, Dale Matteson, John Bernardin and Rick Coe.

Following the rite, the newlyweds and their parents, the Clayton Campbells of Savoy Drive and the James C. Lucases of Orchard Street, greeted guests in the Church parlors.

New Soil Release Favored Fabric

A new fabric now on the market, and the most welcomed by homemakers who dread food spills on their favorite tablecloths, is the durable press fabric treated with a soil-released finish so that even oily and stubborn stains come out during regular machine washing.

Share Holiday With Patients by Donations

Christmas morning at the Oakland County Sanatorium, it is hoped, will mean a lovely wrapped gift for each patient.

That this may become a reality, Margaret Evans, Supervisor of Patient Services, has listed the following items, for men and women, which may be donated, unwrapped, by interested persons in the community.

Deodorant
After-shave lotion
Bath Powder
Skin Lotion
Deodorant soap and holders
Face powder
Women's cologne
Tissues

There are 166 patients at the Sanatorium; 87 men, 79 women. Donations of money to purchase items that are short will be appreciated.

Further information about specific items may be obtained by calling Mrs. Evans.

Display Cards as Decoration

Christmas cards become a festive holiday decoration instead of a clutter problem around the house, thanks to a new display unit. Hang the unit on walls, doors or even in the center of a room.

It is especially attractive when used as a room divider or mobile where cards are attached to both sides of the nearly invisible hanging background. The unit also can be used as a year-round hanging device for posters and such in rooms of teenagers.

Put Baby Cream on Kitchen Shelf

NEW YORK (UPI) — Put a jar of baby cream on your kitchen shelf—not for the baby or for cooking but to preserve the cook's hands, beauty experts suggest.

A recent survey showed that the kitchen is where most women's hands are ruined by being in and out of water that washes away most hand lotions. Baby cream, developed to protect skin exposed to excessive moisture, doesn't wash off every time you dip hands in water.

Inform Inner City Youth on Vocations

What do you do at work? The answer to this question may supply vital information to an inner city youngster. To fill this need, the principal of a nearby elementary school is scheduling talks about different vocations for his fifth and sixth grade students.

Speaking to these children from low income families and minority races will give them valuable exposure to the realities of the working world. The school principal is hoping to find such people as a shoemaker, a barber, a lawyer, a gas station owner or attendant, a baker, a grocer, or an industrial worker willing to come and explain his work to the young people.

The Oakland County Volunteer Bureau in Birmingham is helping to find men and women able to give a little time in order to be a big help. Why not contact the Bureau today?

Christmas decorations are just one use of a modeling clay made of salt, flour and water. Simpler ornaments can be formed using cookie cutters and given beauty and originality by adding food coloring. They may be finished with glitter, paint, nail polish or shellac. Imagination is the only limit.

This Holiday Recipe Keeps Young in Mind

Half the fun of the year-end holidays for children is participating in the preparations. Even grade-schoolers can help decorate for the festivities.

Morton Salt Company has dug into its files and come up with the following directions for making Christmas tree ornaments that children can follow:

1 part salt
1 part flour
A few drops water

Mix the flour and the salt with enough water to make the mixture a spongy mass. A little dry tempera paint can be added to the mixture. Cookie cutters will shape the ornaments, which can be given surface color with water paints after they have been allowed to dry for two or three days. The ornaments also can be varnished.

Imaginative touches, such as sprinkling glitter on the ornaments or mounting them on colored metallic paper, can be added to make each ornament an original creation.

Other ideas for things children can make with simple, salt-based mixtures can be obtained by writing to the Morton Salt Company, Dept. 24, 110 North Wacker Drive, Chicago, Ill. 60606.

School Administrators Tune in on 'Silent Night' Versus Court

By PATRICIA McCORMACK NEW YORK (UPI) — This Yule will the boys and girls in your local public school be singing religious-oriented carols such as "Silent Night" and "O, Come All Ye Faithful"?

The question about such carols and religious-oriented Christmas programs was in view of the Supreme Court decision barring prayer in public schools.

Most of the nation's school administrators, according to a survey, believe religious themes should be a part of the Christmas programs.

The poll, conducted by "Nation's Schools," a education journal, involved a four per cent proportional sampling of 16,000 administrators in 50 states.

"Although the legality of religion in Christmas celebrations wasn't brought up in the questionnaires, schoolmen were obviously worried about how the Supreme Court would regard it," the journal's editors said.

TART COMMENTS
"A surprising number took time to volunteer tart comments in advance."

Samples:
• "We can't go along with denying rights of the majority who enjoy Christmas because of professed rights of the few." A Wisconsin schoolman.

• "I think the idea of separation of church and state has been blown out of proportion." An Illinois administrator.

• "Ask the Supreme Court to keep their nose out of education." A Missourian said that. Eighty-two per cent of the administrators approved a religious theme; 15 per cent, non-religious theme; and three per cent, no Christmas program at all.

Schoolmen who indicated they might be infringing on the law by having religious programs said they would continue to do so as long as they had the backing of the community.

FAVOR PROGRAMS
In practice, 77 per cent of the schoolmen said they have Christmas programs. Of those with programs, 15 per cent have a secular theme only.

The latter are called by other than a Christmas-linked name.

"We call it 'Winter Concert' and include songs of many nations," an Ohio educator said. The most prevalent comment among those favoring religious linked programs: "What is Christmas Without Christ?"

Other comments among those okaying religious programs, as reported by "Nation's Schools":
• "It is about time we curb the antireligious developments."

A Montana educator.

• Religion should be part of the school program because "our families and our churches have neglected and avoided religious training." That from an Ohio administrator.

What about students of non-Christian faiths being exposed to such programs?

A Kansas educator said all faiths are represented in his school district.

He hasn't found the "light religious programs for Christmas" bothering anyone.

Mayonnaise Dip Beneficial to Hair

A mayonnaise massage is a good method for beautifying your hair. It seems that the combination of oil, egg and vinegar is good for dull, dry hair.

For a do-it-yourself mayonnaise treatment, simply apply it to wet hair and allow to soak in for about 15 minutes before shampooing.

Craft Shop Is Ideal Necessity

By DIANE DUROCHER
A combination of necessity, ingenuity and determination are only some of the factors which prompted Doris Millsaugh (Mrs. Harold) to open her own handicraft shop, "Original Handicrafts," last spring.

"Actually I have always been a little crafty," she jestingly said. In a more serious vein, she explained, "The whole idea started last year when it became necessary for me to supplement the family income. Her husband has been unable to work for the last year because of illness."

Doris first started making pine cone wreaths and tried to sell them on consignment to area florists and local department stores. In some cases she received a negative reply and others told her the items would be marked up considerably. So she wondered if there were other people in a similar situation.

"The idea of opening my own shop just hit me one day and I began to make the plans as soon as I convinced myself I could do it," Mrs. Millsaugh explained with a tilt of her head. And she did.

STOCK
Over 90 per cent of her stock is taken on consignment from artistic people living in the southwest section of the county.

Many of the people who bring in items to her shop are also in need of supplementing their incomes. Some are widows and others are living on retirement pensions.

A perfectionist in everything she does, Doris carefully screens all articles submitted. Both design and workmanship have to pass the test of quality. Her confidence in her own judgment increases as sales climb.

Upon entering the cozy shop, warmed in winter months by a glowing fire in the brick fireplace, it is difficult to decide what to look at first.

The selection of items runs from original paintings to handmade pottery, painted china, sweaters, glassware and toys.

Mrs. Millsaugh is especially delighted by a dried apple doll dressed in authentic early American garb. "Her face may be shriveled, but she has character," she said.

It has not been easy to go from being a housewife to a businesswoman.

With the help of her 25-year-old daughter, Susan, she completely remodeled the basement of their home in order to set up the shop. Then she took the necessary legal steps to open her own business.

Larry G. Warner received a Ph.D. in Inorganic Chemistry Saturday from Ohio State University. He is presently working on a post doctorate research fellowship from the United States National Institute of Health in Canberra, Australia. Before departing, he was honored at a party in the Wanmaker Street home of his parents, the Merton Warners. During his fellowship term he will work at the Research School of Chemistry of the Australian National University.

The remodeling took approximately four months. Last March, Mrs. Millsaugh began advertising for consignments. You have been very helpful. I have finally found my niche she affirms. Previously Mrs. Millsaugh did volunteer work for the Girl Scouts and wrote a weekly newspaper. This blithe businesswoman maintains that if you need something badly enough, you can overcome the obstacles necessary to achieve it. Original Handicrafts is open daily, except Monday.

Dear Josephine Lowman: You seem to have a soft spot in your heart for us poor men. Therefore, I am appealing to you. You seem to realize that we too grow older, get fatter with large pores which are and can become tired just like blackheads. They look like the women. Strange as it may be, our skin can even become chapped.

I am not only allergic to one or two of the cosmetics my wife was using but also to some which were planned for men. How about it? Are we poor susceptible men to be denied the use of grooming aids? My wife has been very thoughtful and has discarded the cosmetics she was using which gave me trouble, but I am having difficulty with the ones I am using.

HELP, PLEASE!
Thanks for your confidence. I do have a soft spot in my heart for the men of the world, and do have information which will help them. There are now hypoallergenic grooming aids planned especially for men. Everything a man requires in this category is available today. I do not know why this was not done long ago. It will be a boon to many women also. If they are allergic to some of their own cosmetics, they are very likely to be sensitive to one of the usual grooming aids their husbands use.

I know one woman who is allergic to her husband's shaving cream, another who is allergic to her husband's deodorant and another to his after-shave lotion.

If any of the men who read my column would like to know where to obtain these products send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press, Dept. E-460, Pontiac, Mich. 48056.

Problems in Romney-Milliken Move

LANSING (AP)—The transfer of power from Gov. George Romney to Lt. Gov. William Milliken is not likely to cause a crisis, but there are problems connected with it just the same.

Milliken, a veteran of eight years in Lansing, including four as lieutenant governor, is no stranger to the issues he will be facing, the people he will be dealing with or the situation in which he shortly will find himself.

"Bill Milliken will be an outstanding governor," said Romney, as he accepted Richard Nixon's appointment as secretary of housing and urban development.

Romney's decision, announced last week, to remain governor until confirmed in his new post by the U.S. Senate—a development likely late next month—leaves Michigan in a curious situation. Who, really, is the governor?

MAN IN CHARGE
Knowledgeable Lansing people say Milliken would be wise to waste no time in asserting himself. He should let it be clearly understood, they say, that he is the man in charge rather than merely a sort of stand-in for the absent Romney.

But that might be tough with Romney still sitting in the "front office" and exercising the powers of the governorship while Milliken waits in his little office

Allen says he doubts there will be a major problem, since Milliken has been sitting in with Romney on budget conferences. Allen adds Milliken probably is agreeable to the spending total implied by the Romney budget—a likely guess is $1.5 billion.

PROBLEMS APLENTY

The current interregnum provided problems aplenty for the Romney staff, and for state officials who serve at the pleasure of the governor. More than one well-paid official is worried about his job these days.

The elevation of Milliken raises a couple of interesting political questions, too.

One involves geography, and assumes that the 46-year-old Milliken will run for governor in 1970, when his new term will expire.

Milliken hails from Traverse City and is strongly identified with the outstate GOP. Some political analysts—including a couple of top state Republicans—feel that with him running for governor, the Republican candidates for lieutenant governor and U.S. senator will have to be residents of the metropolitan area—Wayne, Oakland or Macomb County.

PARTY LIMITED

If that balanced-ticket reason is followed, the party is more limited in its choice of candidates. It may not be followed, however, since Milliken has considerable regard for State Sen. Thomas Schweigert of Petoskey and may tap him as a running mate.

Another complication arises from the Democratic side, when they see it.

Stops Tormenting Rectal Itch

Exclusive Formula Promptly Stops Itching, and Relieves Pain of Piles in Most Cases

New York, N.Y. (Special): One of the most tormenting afflictions is the burning itch caused by piles. It's most embarrassing during the day and especially aggravating at night. "Scratching" only makes the condition worse. No matter what you've tried without results—here's good news.

A scientific research institute discovered a special medication which has the ability, in most cases—to promptly stop the burning itch, relieve pain and actually shrink hemorrhoids.

Tests conducted on hundreds of patients by leading doctors in New York City, in Washington, D.C. and at a Midwest Medical Center proved this so. And it was accomplished without narcotics or stinging ingredients of any kind.

The secret is Preparation H—an exclusive formula for the treatment of hemorrhoids. There is no other formula like it! In case after case, Preparation H promptly stops the burning itch, relieves pain—as it gently reduces the swelling.

Preparation H also lubricates, gently soothes irritated tissues and helps prevent further infection. In ointment or suppository form. No prescription is needed.

Home Fire Fatal

GWINN (AP)—Axel Lindquest, 79, of Gwin died Saturday night in a fire at his Marquette County home. State Police said Sunday that Lindquest, who lived alone, apparently dropped a cigarette in a chair and was upstairs in his bedroom when the fire started.

Santa and the Hippies

By LUCRECE BEALE

Synopsis: The hippies give him into the room shouting, "What do you think of an artist insulting me this way?"

CHAPTER 12 The Black Witch

THE Butterfly Queen told Ding Dong that the Black Witch lived in a black castle in a black canyon. Once every three years she spun one inch of coal black thread. This was one of the threads needed to break the spell on Santa Land.

Ding Dong took his bag of gifts from the hippies and went off alone in Santa's little plane. It could fly anywhere in the world with just the flick of a button. He landed in the black canyon but when he tried to enter the castle the guard told him to go away quickly if he cared to save his life.

The guard said the Black Witch had ordered everyone in the castle to paint her portrait but, as yet, not a single portrait had pleased her. In each case she ordered the poor artist to be hung by his heels until a proper portrait should be done.

By now there were 136 artists hanging by their heels in the courtyard and everyone in the castle lived in terror that he would be the next to hang there.

DING DONG FRIGHTENED
Ding Dong was frightened but he said he must see the Black Witch anyway. The guard shook his head sadly and let him into the castle. When he entered the great hall he heard a deafening hulla-balloo. Peeping through a door he saw a fearful sight.

The Black Witch was striding about the room kicking over chairs, smashing mirrors and dicing candles through the windows. Meanwhile the latest unlucky artist hovered in a corner with his hands over his face to block a teacup or book-end the outraged Witch from him from time to time.

Suddenly the Witch saw Ding Dong at the door. She dragged him into the room shouting, "What do you think of an artist insulting me this way?"

Ding Dong stared at the offending picture. He thought it a very flattering portrait because it did not show the wart on the tip of the Black Witch's nose or the fearful black rings around her eyes.

ORDERED TO PAINT

But when the Witch demanded to know if it wasn't a terrible portrait Ding Dong could only nod. He was too frightened to speak.

"There! I told you so!" screamed the Witch and she ordered the artist to be dragged away and hung by his heels. Then the Witch said to the dumbfounded Ding Dong, "You shall be the next to paint my portrait. And, remember, if it is as ugly as the rest you, too, will hang in the courtyard."

posed. Ding Dong stood there with shaking knees. He had no idea how even to begin.

Suddenly he remembered the hippies' finger paints in his bag. He opened the jars and dipped in his hands and began to smear paint all over the wall. In five minutes the wall was covered from floor to ceiling with splashes of crimson, dabs of blue, streaks of green, blobs of gold with a handprint of purple scattered here and there.

WITCH PLEASED

When the pots were empty Ding Dong signed and hung his head.

The astonished Black Witch stared at what he had done. She quivered and shook and sucked in her breath and finally she cried, "It's beautiful! It's gorgeous! It's really, really me!"

She ordered all the artists hanging by their heels to be taken down and she asked Ding Dong how she could pay him for what he'd done. When Ding Dong said he'd like a piece of the black thread she wove the Black Witch gave him all 12

Scientists Puzzled by Mysterious Plasticlike 'Water'

By Science Service

WASHINGTON — After all the centuries of research, scientists are suddenly hung up on one of the world's most common substances: water.

The trouble is that there seems to be a new kind of water, four times as heavy as it should be, and exhibiting some of the characteristics of liquid plastic instead of plain old H<sub>2</sub>O.

No one is yet talking much in public about the stuff—called anomalous water—because its existence is completely counter to the usual thinking about water, and no one wants to make a fool of himself. But workers in at least three nations are quietly excited by it.

They might have the problem solved by now except that only minuscule amounts of the stuff can be made at a time.

The anomalous water, which in some measurements appears to show a high viscosity and a molecular weight about four times that of ordinary water, was first noticed by Dr. Boris V. Derjaguin, who is director of the department of surface phenomena in the Institute of Physical Chemistry of the Soviet Academy of Sciences.

Early measurements seemed to show that the anomalous water had a molecular weight of 72. This is four times that of an ordinary water molecule and leads some people to suggest that the anomalous water may be some kind of polymer, like a plastic, built of four ordinary water molecules. Anomalous water is not technically very difficult to make.

Yanks Fight for Hamlet on Different Plane

THANH QUIT, Vietnam (AP) — The villagers gathered excitedly as the chunky Marine tore open the box and laid two sets of carpenter's tools on the porch of the shell-pocked schoolhouse.

The hamlet carpenter and the cabinetmaker nodded soberly as Staff Sgt. Herber G. Baker, 30, of La Porte, Ind., explained his proposition:

If each would build a new desk-bench for the school, they could then keep the tools to earn a living.

It was an incongruous setting for an exercise in community development. As Baker spoke, the sound of artillery and air strikes drifted across the paddy fields where, several hundred yards away, allied troops sought to encircle an enemy force.

A BATTLEGROUND But this hamlet was itself a battleground. The contest was Baker said. "This is the only way pacification can really work."

In Thanh Quit, Baker and Pretzer try to run things while staying in the background. This is not easy, because the local people tend to look to the affairs section chief of the 1st Battalion 1st Marines, head team members who officially quartered nearby. He and his assistant, Cpl. Duane Pretzer of Saginaw, Mich., divide their time between regular line duty people and expect them to ap- and affairs of the hamlet, 12 miles south of Da Nang, to help to train people in jobs that themselves that is going to will help the life of the hamlet."

Junior Editors Quiz on DISCOVERY OF AMERICA

QUESTION: Can we be certain that America was discovered by Columbus and not by the Vikings?

ANSWER: This question seems to suggest a race between Leif Ericson and Christopher Columbus—impossible because the two explorers lived at different times. The idea was so quaint that our artist illustrated it.

Actually, neither man realized he had discovered a huge continent called America. This name was not given to it until later, after the discoveries of Amerigo Vesputi.

We have heard about Leif Ericson's journey about 1000 A.D. because the old Icelandic sagas tell his story. A few years ago the remains of a Viking settlement were found in Newfoundland. Others may have visited America before. Leif, but he was certainly one of the very first explorers to land on this continent.

Columbus was hoping to find a sea route to the riches of the East and thought he could reach the East Indies by sailing directly west from Europe. When, in 1492, he landed on what is now the island of San Salvador in the West Indies, he thought these were the East Indies.

(You can win $10 cash plus AP's handsome World Year-book if your question, mailed on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper, is selected for a prize.)

Federal Ghetto Role Mustn't Be Reduced

By WHITNEY M. YOUNG JR.
Executive Director,
National Urban League

There has been considerable speculation about how President-elect Nixon plans to tackle the problems of poverty and urban decay when he takes office in January.

Most observers seem to think he will put special emphasis on the private sector. That means fewer federal programs and more business involvement, with tax breaks for companies that participate in training the unemployed or rebuilding slums.

It would be courting disaster to assume that federal programs that have done so much to take millions of people off the poverty rolls in the past few years can be ended and the job turned over to private enterprise.

As New York's Republican Sen. Charles E. Goodell said the other day, "I think we will decide ourselves and the people if we think that any kind of private-enterprise programs will be a substitute for direct federal programs."

MUST BE LARGER

But that doesn't mean private industry can't play a larger role. It has to if the current crisis is to be solved. The federal government can't abdicate its responsibility to devise massive programs to end poverty and rebuild the cities, but it can't succeed without the active participation of the business community.

Its first responsibility is to provide more jobs and to remove its long-standing racial barriers.

While crude bigotry is less in evidence today than ever before, hiring practices are still discriminatory due to tests and hiring standards that discriminate against the victims of miseducation in ghetto schools.

Many corporations have abandoned unrealistic testing procedures and hiring standards. They've also participated in training programs and ghetto recruitment, while promoting Negroes already on their staffs.

EXAMPLE OF HIRING
An example of what has been done is the success of Henry Ford's National Alliance of Businessmen, a group composed of some of the top business leaders in the country.

They have just announced that 12,000 firms have hired 69,000 long-time unemployed workers and given them on the job training, many through federal assistance programs.

But business can't be content just to provide jobs. It's got to become involved in getting important social legislation through the Congress too.

Assassination's Effects Told

By CORENNA ALDRICH

1:33—In Memoriam:
John F. Kennedy
by Bruce Henderson and
Sam Summerlin

It was 1:33 p.m., Nov. 22, 1963. Announcement of John F. Kennedy's death by assassination made a stunned world to make whatever accommodations it could to the "impossible" fact.

A record of those diverse responses has been compiled in three parts by Henderson and Summerlin in "1:33—In Memoriam: John F. Kennedy."

"Prologue" sets the scene by panning across events taking place at that moment in history.

"Reaction" follows the news crisis as it is relayed around the world, showing the impact of instantaneous mass communication.

COINCIDENCE
By grotesque coincidence, the Japanese were awaiting a recorded message by President Kennedy to initiate their first telecast from the U.S. They received, instead, word of his assassination.

In Georgia, one classroom applauded; another broke into tears.

A Louisiana woman called Washington to complain that coverage interrupted her children's programs. The Nairobi TV station closed to show respect.

In Argentina a young girl was shocked into unconsciousness and remains in a coma to this day. Elsewhere, individuals collapsed and died on hearing the news.

Why did such a thing happen? What part did TV play? What effects did it have on the course of history? "1:33" discusses such questions in "Aftermath," a section of the book all of subsequent national tragedies.

THE MANY FACES OF SANTA — To the small fry, Santa Claus always looks the same, but upon closer inspection, immense differences are discernible. These Santas are going about their annual chores in Los Angeles department stores and on street corners. The girl? She's a "Santa Belle," presiding over a Volunteers of America donation pot.

Viet Transportation Is on the Road Back

SAIGON (UPI) — Despite the continuous harassment of war, the major transportation systems of South Vietnam are looking better than they have in several years.

Backed by American advice and money, a major drive to recondition highways, railroads, airports and waterways is making steady progress.

The Vietnamese National Railway, battered and bloodied by three wars, is being untwisted and patched and will soon be operational again.

Early next year a 27-hour air-conditioned Pullman trip between Saigon and Don Ha will be operational, and trains will once again be chugging the 455-mile Saigon-Phu Cat run.

HIGHWAY PROJECTS

The highways, in poor condition from Vietcong land mines and allied air strikes and artillery, not to mention the constant churning by heavily armored trucks, have seen 453 miles of asphalt surface completed this year.

American military construction units with South Vietnamese, Korean and Philippine forces have set a goal of 240 more miles of construction, as well as the completion of the 492 miles now under way, for the 1969 target.

Improvements are also visible in ports and on the waterways. The serious congestion plaguing Saigon and other ports two years ago has practically been eliminated.

With the tremendous increases in air transport, there has been a massive effort to streamline ground control and to build up local airlines.

AP Wirephoto

AERIAL SENTINELS — Flapping the U.S. Air Force Aerospace Defense Command's EC-119 Warning Star (center) are the two proposed high-speed airborne warning and control systems which promise new air defense capabilities against aerial intruders to this continent. The Warning Stars will be replaced by either the Boeing 707 (top) or the McConnell Douglas DC-8 (bottom).

Congolese Put Days of Strife in Back of Mind

By MONT ROSENBLUM
KINSHASA, The Congo in "Despite the beautiful weather of today," a newscaster began, "dark clouds cover the Congo... unhappiness, bitterness... Here we go again, an Amercan listener thought. Another rebellion. Or a government crisis.

"Yes, citizens, a black day. Our football club was beaten and..."

The American relaxed, but hundreds of thousands of Congolese grumbled that the news could hardly have been worse.

LEISURE PURSUITS
The luxury of worrying about leisure pursuits here is new, and people take it seriously.

The Congo has dozens of semi-professional football clubs, six internationally known African jazz groups, nine breweries and an innumerable number of prostitutes. But thoughtful pieces fill Kinshasa's four daily papers.

Lovanium University, with a record 2,650 students, will near a 1,000th diploma since 1963—this year. The national conservatory is training 500 Congolese musicians and dramatists.

What's worrying many Congolese is the lack of money to make either end meet. Wages have not caught up with prices since a monetary reform in 1967. Many families must stick with manioc, a starchy inexpensive food that to a foreigner tastes like library paste.

Perhaps a majority of government employees expected more than they got from a new pay scale announced late in November. Some were clearly displeased, like a postal clerk who, among friends, waded up a copy of the new scale and hurled it into the wastebasket.

FAIRLY GOOD DEAL
Still, the top echelons got a fairly good deal, and some long-haired Congolese teenagers in black leather jackets climb off their motor bikes and spend pre-dawn hours in nightclubs along with Belgian youths and embassy types.

Workers who earn eight zaires or $16 a month—the price of a good meal at the Rite Restaurant—do their drinking in hole-in-the-wall "buvettes" that pepper miles and miles of tin-mud shacks. Each has its own blasting phonograph.

They still talk politics but not professionally like they used to. Memories are short here and the local attitude runs, when sweat the past anyway? When Pierre Mulele was executed, old tales were retold and old vengeances vented. Then it all died in music and beer.

Other big-name rebels are reported drifting about. Cairo, Moscow, Kampala and Madrid but with scant support. A reliable source says Antoine Gizenga offered to come back from Mali and form a "meaningful opposition." That was before Mulele was executed and Gizenga probably now has the picture. A few minor rebels have been punished in various ways.

IN PAST TENSE
Moise Tshombe, on ice in Algeria for 18 months, is mentioned in parades and rallies only when some overzealous placard painter decides to denounce him unilaterally. President Joseph D. Mobutu brings up Tshombe from time to time but usually speaks of the condemned former premier in past tense. The water company still has Tshombe's unpaid bills.

Mobutu rules like a tribal chief, expertly playing one group against the other. He has modeled all 400 tribes into a single party, like it or not.

Some wax-print cloth bearing Mobutu's picture also has the inscription "1965-70" referring to the year Mobutu promised presidential elections, five years after his takeover. He has continued to speak in those terms but it's not a common conversational topic here.

TARZAN-STYLE JUNGLE
Parts of the Congo are just a few steps beyond 1914 when poet Vachel Lindsay told of "a thighbone beating on a tin-pang gong." Half the Congo is Tarzan-style jungle and many of its 15 million people live as they always did, raising scant crops and foraging for the rest.

But the Congo has a three-jet airline that goes to 12 countries. In the cities, men like the National Bank governor, Albert Ndele, look brains with Europe's best. Felix Malu runs black Africa's first nuclear reactor.

more than Bukavu, but it, too, is coming around, helped by the Congo's third university and a brewery.

Missionaries are back in as never before, providing in many cases the only education and medicine available for interior areas. Other foreigners, on private contracts or through government foreign assistance aid, teach and heal.

Across the Congo, there are 555 doctors, 142 of them Congolese. Postindependence instruction has brought literacy to perhaps as high as 85 per cent of the people. That doesn't necessarily mean literacy in French, the official language, and it usually means just the most rudimentary knowledge. The daily papers here have circulations only in four figures.

STILL BEARS SCARS
The Belgian Embassy still bears scars of the sacking in August 1967 when the former colonizers were blamed for a mercenary revolt. Now Belgian-Congolese relations are better than ever, with 1,300 Belgians here on technical assistance and probably 30,000 privately.

The United States, with a 200-man embassy, has given $354 million in aid since the 1960 independence, and its primary influence is undisputed. The Soviets have come back after two expulsions with a 12-man staff, including a Tass correspondent. They're seeking permission to expand.

The United States, Israel, Belgium and Italy help train and outfit the 30,000-man Congolese national army, but the Congo pays most of its own military bills at a cost of some 18 per cent of its $20-million national budget.

The army, not exactly noted for courage and efficiency, is getting considerable mileage out of its defeat of 125 white mercenaries and 960 Katangans last year. Since then, it has faced no real test but has caused no grave problem.

IN CHARGE
Mobutu, a lieutenant general, is in charge but the Congo's basic problem is no longer military. It gets back to the traditional-modern contrast. Villagers are streaming into Kinshasa at rates demographers call the highest in the world.

Population is now above a million, a third more than a few years ago. People live with distant tribal relatives and friends in urbanized extended family groups. Work is scarce and getting there is expensive. Each morning a tide of workers walks hours along the airport road to get into town without paying the 40-cent bus fare.

More and more money is legally moving to Congolese hands. Since independence, light industry and major commerce have been largely run by Jewish immigrants from the Greek island of Rhodes. Portuguese, Belgians and others own a lot of land and businesses.

But there is a whole new class of cuff-linked Congolese who frequent the casino, buy Japanese and European cars and meet stiff prices of clubs and restaurants.

Guerrilla Threat in Panama Fails to Develop

By ROBERT BERRELLEZ
FIEDRA CANDELA Panama (AP) — If rumors were guerrillas, Panama's military rulers would be in serious trouble. The tiny Isthmian republic is awash in talk of an armed movement in the mountains of western Panama to restore Arnulfo Arias to power. The National Guard booted him out of the presidency Oct. 11 after only 11 days in office.

The guard may have more trouble getting rid of the rumors. This reporter's trip through the cool, fog-veiled mountain areas where guerrillas are said to be operating yielded little substance to the talk of an organized and anti-government armed movement on Panamanian soil. The basic similarity of the rumors circulating in the Panamanian capital and other towns and villages suggests a common central source possibly engaged in a psychological warfare operation. This is not uncommon in Latin-American countries under similar political conditions.

RELIABLE ACCOUNTS

Reliable accounts of the situation in Panama's interior indicate that a small guerrilla force, organized and armed in neighboring Costa Rica, crossed the Panamanian border in this area Nov. 22. A clash with Panamanian guards resulted in the capture of two guerrillas.

These accounts say another and probably bigger fight occurred about Dec. 5 in this same general area, and the guerrilla force is believed to have pulled back into Costa Rican territory. Panama guardsmen wounded and captured a man said to have been a member of the guerrilla force.

The National Guard, reacting to the flood of rumors, may have contributed to a measure of civilian unrest through arrests of Arias sympathizers. Some coffee farms, almost ready for harvest, are said to have been abandoned by their owners, Arias partisans. Other farms have been depleted of help by the flight of frightened peasants who don't want to get involved.

This place, a tiny cluster of frame houses and shacks on the Costa Rican border, squats on the rugged foothills of the Cordillera Central.

SECURITY FORCE

Much larger than Panama, Costa Rica has the smallest security force of any Latin-American country. Panama's 5,000-man National Guard concerns itself with traffic and crime control as well as internal defense. At this border point, a barbed-wire fence and a dirt road mark the boundary.

The fence stops in front of a two-story frame house just inside Costa Rica. Across the dirt road, a stone's throw away on the Panama side, a large shack serves as barracks for the 30-man guard unit stationed here.

Walking across the border to the store was no problem. The store owner and a neighbor said they'd heard only rumors of guerrillas but had seen none.

Across the street, the Panamanian troops sprawled or stood in front of their barracks. They looked bored. Two 30-caliber machine guns rested on the floor.

"We patrol as far as the boundary marker up there," said the young lieutenant in charge, pointing to a cloud-draped peak in the distance. "It's about a five- or six-hour hike. Nothing up there or anywhere around here."

The stone marker perches atop the divide, from which one can see the two great oceans on either side of the narrow isthmus.

"We don't patrol beyond the marker," the lieutenant said, "because no guerrillas can survive up there for long. No food. Too cold and a lot of deadly snakes."

There was nothing to support the rumors in Panama City that the pro-Arias guerrillas controlled Piedra Candela and neighboring areas.

BUSINESS AS USUAL

The general atmosphere in David and Boquete, two of the most important urban centers in the westernmost province, was of business as usual.

David, 30 miles from here, is the province's capital of Chiriquí Province, Panama's chief producer of rice and coffee. Boquete is a name almost synonymous with Arias. The ex-president owns a large coffee ranch just outside the 'mountain top' community.

People in bars, barbershops and streets spoke critically of the guard, but without the bitterness one associates with clandestine plotters. But some said that, in lonely stretches of mountainside, rabid Arias partisans sometimes shoot at guard patrols.

In the capital, antigovernment — although not necessarily pro-Arias — agitation has been more visible. Scattered shots and explosions are heard at night. Students have held demonstrations. But there's nothing to suggest a large or growing threat to the guard's control of this country.

Saturday is the peak day for flights by general aviation pilots, with Sunday a close second. Monday is the low day for hops by these private fliers.

Pinfall Heavy in Pontiac Open Semifinals at Huron

Bowlers apparently like a challenge. Certainly it's true of those around the Pontiac area.

When the format of the Pontiac Open Singles Handicap Tournament was changed three years ago to include the 600 target score for qualifying into the semifinals, the popularity of the competition increased with a significant upswing in entries.

Approximately 825 bowlers hit the target score this year and they were on hand yesterday for the semifinals at Huron Bowl. The action began at 9 a.m. and was still in progress at 9 last night.

Since the top 30 per cent of the scores earns the coveted playoff spots in next Sunday afternoon's finals at Airway Lanes, yesterday's firing became score against score rather than against a target figure.

When it became apparent early that the Huron lanes were in good scoring form, the hopefuls quickly responded with one of the best days ever experienced in the annual tournament.

More than 35 per cent of the semifinals posted 600 or better handicap scores. This meant that about five per cent of them were left to rue that one extra strike or spare they failed to pick up, since the unofficial cutoff mark when the final pin fell was 606 — pending an official check of the scores.

ADDED CHALLENGE

Eight women are among those 163 expected to advance to the finals next weekend.

Pointing out the ruggedness of the competition, neither defending champion Hal Marsh nor runner-up Ray Brancheau survived yesterday's elimination round. Marsh was saddled with a 583 effort, while Brancheau was somewhat better at 594.

With $50 going to the leader, and $25 to the runner-up, even the individual honor in yesterday's semifinals was a suspenseful struggle.

Young Lyle Paul of Troy made the first bid for the day's high score. He had a 627 actual and a 699 total during the morning. It is the first sanctioned 600 actual for the 26-year-old Pontiac Motor repairman.

This challenge lasted until the 1:30 p.m. squad took the lanes. Veteran classic leaguer Ed Gibbs, a paint refinisher at Pontiac Motor, admitting "he felt good right out of the gate," stormed the pins on lanes 29 and 30 for a 714 actual.

He had no handicap. Gibbs, who has only failed to make the Pontiac Open finals once in the last decade, hit for a 254 opener and stayed in the groove for a 226-234 wrapup games. Gibbs led last year's semifinals with a 703 at 300 Bowl.

He is no stranger to the Huron lanes, holding the season high series in the Friday men's classic with a 724 for the Hartford Roofing team. He was one of three Gibbesses to advance yesterday. His brother Bill rolled a 649, while nonrelative Del had 697.

Ed's journey semifinals leading status only lasted one squad. Another Pontiac Motor employee, 23-year-old Roger McVicar of Waterford earned his first berth in the tournament's finals with a 684 actual and 716 total.

Noting he felt a little uneasy after being off most of the week, the father of four children had 242 and 227 actual games. "I felt like I'd make it today since I usually do well in tournaments, although I've never won one, McVicar said.

The Pontiac Central graduate will likely retain his confidence since he rolled in the Airway Classic two years ago, and now has his current average up to 162.

But the challengers weren't through. Jim Miller, 28-year-old Pontiac bowler also earned his first chance in the finals with a 694 total that included a 629 actual, his best of the year. He does surveying work for Feldhauser Associates.

But grabbing the spotlight and capturing the day's high score laurels on the same squad was David Grove, 23, a Pontiac Motor press operator. Rolling his best sanctioned series, a 648 that had games of 221-204-223, Grove compiled a 718 total.

Howe, Unger Span 'Generation Gap'

Pair Sparkles in Detroit Win Over Minnesota

DETROIT (AP) — The youngest and oldest Red Wings proved there is no "generation gap" as Detroit skated to a 5-2 National Hockey League victory over the Minnesota North Stars at Olympia Stadium Sunday.

The victory was the Wings' second in a row and moved them within three points of fourth-place New York in the standings.

Garry Unger, who turned 21 a week ago, scored the first hat trick of his professional career and 40-year-old Gordie Howe, playing in his 1,500 regular season game, scored one goal to pace the victory.

Alex Delvecchio, 37, meanwhile, wouldn't be left out of the historic moments and scored one goal and assisted on another. The assist was his 600th, putting him at a plateau reached previously only by Howe and Montreal's Jean Beliveau.

"I don't keep track of that stuff," said Delvecchio nonchalantly after the win.

Sub QB Paces Redskins, 14-3

Mistakes Mar Lions' Finale

WASHINGTON (AP) — Christmas came early for Washington's third-string quarterback Harry Theofildes Sunday, but it left the Detroit Lions only jumps in their stockings and humbug in their hearts.

For the Lions, losing 14-3 in their final National Football League season game might well have seemed less rewarding than working for Ebenezer Scrooge.

Detroit repeatedly was stymied by fumbles in the Redskins territory. After a 96-yard march on one drive, Nick Eddy, running and cutting well after a long absence because of injury, nevertheless fumbled the ball at the Washington three-yard line.

Minutes later, rookie end Earl McCulloch lay stretched out in the Washington end zone, alone with his thoughts after fumbling a sure touchdown pass. Two plays later the Lions fumbled again at the Washington 12.

BETTER RECORD

The Lions wound up with a 4-8-2 record as Washington moved ahead of them to record a 5-9 season record and end a four-game losing streak. The Redskins season still was the worst ever under coach Otto Graham.

***

But it was a chance to celebrate for happy Harry Theofildes. Playing his first season after years on the taxi squad, he moved the Redskins half the length of the field for the winning touchdown on just two passes. Veteran flanker Bobby Mitchell threw the key block that cleared a sideline pass for rookie Bob Brunet.

***

Theofildes was realistic in spite of his euphoria. A free agent signed from Wayneburg College in Pennsylvania where pro scouts are seldom seen and never heard from again, he admitted later, "it just means I get another shot next year trying out for the team."

Theofildes came to camp last summer still listed as a rookie at 24. Ahead of him were Sonny Jurgensen, the NFL's top passer last season; Jim Ninowski, a well-traveled veteran, and Heisman Trophy winner Gary Beban of UCLA.

AP Wirephoto

Graebner Hopeful of Winning Spot on U.S. Net Team

ADELAIDE, Australia (AP) — A disappointed Clark Graebner, stung by omission from the U.S. official Davis Cup team, said today he believed he could fight way back onto the tennis squad which meets Australia here next week.

"I think I have as good a chance of playing as anybody," the tall bespectacled New York paper executive said after the bombshell announcement that he was not a member of the four-man team named by Captain Donald Dell.

***

"I have had some physical problems but I feel great now and I am in shape. I am going to play my heart out the next few days."

Graebner has five days to prove that Dell made a mistake when he nominated Arthur Ashe, Stan Smith, Bob Lutz and Charlie Pasarell to carry the colors against the Aussies in the Challenge Round Dec. 28 through Dec. 31.

***

Under Davis Cup rules, both Dell and his rival captain, the wily Harry Hopman of Australia, were compelled to name four-man squads 10 days before the scheduled meeting.

CHECK FOES

"He's been going like that for three weeks," he said. "When you check like that and do your job that's what happens. He's working hard and that pays off for anyone."

"I never scored more than one goal in a game in this league," he said, still appearing somewhat stunned by his performance. "I never got a hat trick in any league."

***

Unger only played 14 games in the minor leagues last year before being called up by Toronto. The Wings got him last March in a trade that sent Norm Ullman to the Maple Leafs.

The Red Wings skated as if Sunday's game was the biggest of the year. In the first period they bombarded North Star goalie Cesare Maniago with 16 shots in machine-gun rapidity. Shots by Delvecchio and Unger slipped in for goals but Ray Cullen narrowed that lead to 2-1 with a shot past Roy Edwards on a power play.

"That was some game," Gadsby said, "especially that first period, Bing, Bing! Bing!"

"We've played four games in five days and when they skate like they did you've got to be happy with the guys," he added.

UNDER FIRE

But he gave a lot of credit to Maniago, who was pelted with 40 shots from the hustling Wings.

"Maniago played a great game," Gadsby said.

Minnesota, however, could not keep up with Detroit. The Stars didn't get their first shot at Edwards until 5:54 of the first period. In the second period the first shot didn't come until 6:20 and it was 5:46 before they managed a shot in the final period.

Wayne Connely was the other North Star to slip the puck past Edwards. Detroit's third-string goalie who was substituting for Roger Crozier, out with the flu, and Terry Sawchuk, who has a broken finger. Edwards held Oakland at bay, 2-1, Saturday.

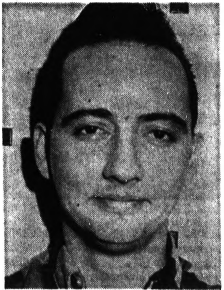

Connely's goal came on a power play midway through the third period.

Unger's goals gave him 13 for the season. With his 10 assists he has 23 points, fourth best behind Howe, Delvecchio and Frank Mahovlich, who picked up three assists Sunday and has 34 total points.

Continental Grid Loop Organizes 2 Divisions

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Team owners reorganized the Continental Football League into two divisions Sunday and named Jim Dunn of Norfolk, Va., former general manager of the Atlantic Division, as commissioner.

The league has been in three divisions. When the realignment is completed, spokesmen said, each of the two divisions will probably have eight teams and be split into two conferences.

Haywood Versus Lanier as Titans Face Bonnies

DETROIT (AP) — Starting their basketball season with six straight wins and crowd-pleasing performances by 6 foot 8 1/2 Spencer Haywood, the University of Detroit Titans find out just how good they are tonight when they tangle with St. Bonaventure.

Detroit, ranked 14th by the Associated Press, and St. Bonaventure, which is 10th ranked, meet at the University of Detroit Memorial Building.

***

The game will pit Haywood against 6-foot-11 Bob Lanier, who was an All-American as a sophomore last year. Haywood gained nationwide fame this year when he led the U.S. basketball team to victory in the Olympics.

St. Bonaventure collected its fourth victory without a defeat Saturday, downing a stubborn Toledo team, 65-75, as Lanier got a career scoring high of 40 points.

Lanier and sophomore Ed Klimkowski scored 27 points in the first 12 minutes against a man-to-man defense that Toledo finally had to eliminate from their game plan.

Detroit romped to its sixth win Saturday night over hapless Hillsdale, 106-50, as the Titans scored the first 19 points of the game. Haywood got 33 points and rebounds.

Haywood has averaged 35.5 points per game so far this season with almost 25 rebounds.

Eleven of Detroit's 14 players scored eight points in the game, with guards Dwight Dunlap and Jimmy Jackson scoring 14 points.

LONG STREAK

Counting the final two games of the last season and its six victories this year, Detroit has put together its longest winning streak since the 1942-43 season, when it won nine games.

Hillsdale is 1-5 for the season.

Detroit has taken easy victories over such other opponents as Western Ontario, Windsor and Aquinas, but managed only to squeak by Eastern Michigan and Western Michigan this year. Detroit played the latter two games away. Tonight's game should show their strength at home.

Former Champion Jess Willard Dies

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Jess Willard, the giant boxer who was The Great White Hope of those who wanted the world's heavyweight title taken from Negro champion Jack Johnson, is dead at 86.

Willard won the crown in one of history's greatest fights, now fictionalized in the Broadway play, The Great White Hope.

The 230-pound Willard lost his title four years later to Jack Dempsey. It was 45 years after that before boxing experts, studying films, acknowledged Willard's greatness.

He died Sunday in Pacoma Memorial Lutheran Hospital of a cerebral hemorrhage following treatment for a heart attack. His wife Hattie was by his side.

Vikings Take Central Crown on Final Day

Champs Halt Eagles, 24-17; Coach Grant Needs 'Prophets'

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Coach Bud Grant gave the football forecasters a gentle needle after his Minnesota Vikings beat the Philadelphia Eagles Sunday and clinched the Central Division championship of the National Football League.

Grant, a very cautious man, waited until after the Green Bay Packers had eliminated the Chicago Bears 28-27 before he reminded reporters that most football prophets selected the Vikings for last place in the Central Division.

Asked if being picked behind the Packers, Bears and Detroit Lions bothered him or his team, Grant replied, "We don't make quite the issue out of that the writers do. We don't get excited and get that 'let's show these guys' stuff. We just play our game. We know our guys have to write all that stuff."

Grant had little to say after his Vikings whipped the Eagles 24-17 on a bitterly cold 22-degree day. He noted that plans were uncertain for this week's practice for the Western Conference playoff against Baltimore in Baltimore.

DAY OFF — "We'll take Monday off and decide whether to work out in Minnesota or go to Baltimore," he said.

Asked what it would take to beat the Colts—champions of the Coastal Division—Grant said, "We've got to score against that defense on that scoreboard." Grant referred to the 21-9 defeat his Vikings took from Baltimore a few weeks ago. The Colts ran up 21 points in the second half and held on for the decision.

After quarterback Joe Kapp had thrown a pair of touchdown passes and ran for a third touchdown in Sunday's win over Philadelphia, Grant and his Vikings sat in the dressing room and sweated out the last four minutes of the Bears-Packers game.

Cards Happy Over Victory

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The game had no meaning for the National Football League standings, but Coach Charley Winner still pulled out his chest like a pigeon when he thought about the job his St. Louis Cardinals did on the Cleveland Browns.

"We played it like it was for the division title," Winner exclaimed after his Cardinals beat the Browns 27-16 Saturday. "We wanted to show Cleveland we're a good team. We wanted to win and we didn't know how to lose."

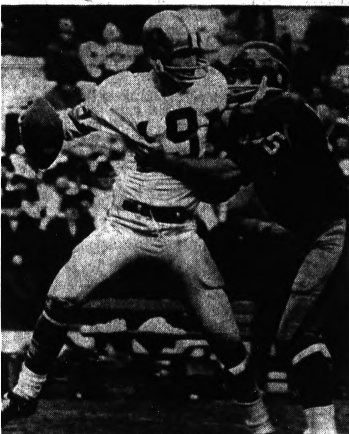

The Browns had wrapped up the Century Division title last week.

The Browns had gone in with an eight-game winning streak. The Cardinals beat them in the Cardinals.

Cleveland Coach Blanton Collier credited the Cardinals with desire but indicated the game didn't mean all that much to the Browns.

New Injuries Concern Cowboy Coach Landry

NEW YORK (AP) — Dallas' Jethro Pugh, sidelined by knee injuries early in the regular season finale at frigid, windswept Yankee Stadium.

Meredith completed one of 10 passes, for a six-yard gain, and had one intercepted before giving way early in the second period to Craig Morton, who brought the Cowboys back from a 3-0 deficit to their 12th triumph in 14 starts.

"He just didn't have the feel for the game today," Landy said of his No. 1 quarterback. "He was throwing the ball all right, but he was overshooting. We didn't figure to go more than one half with him anyway, so it doesn't make much difference. We just decided to bring in Morton a little earlier."

Landry said he didn't intend to make a similar early change if Meredith comes up with a cold hand against the Browns.

"I'd leave him in there," he said. "We'll win with him next week."

STRAINED KNEE — Baynham suffered slightly strained knee ligaments on the Cowboys' first offensive series and sat out the rest of the game. Pugh was helped to the sidelines after sustaining a similar injury in a second quarter play and didn't return.

"Those are two big, key guys," said Landry. "They've got to recover this week or we're really in trouble."

Win Liberty Bowl, 34-17

Ole Miss Cobbers Gobblers

By the Associated Press
Virginia Tech caught Mississippi off guard with the Deacon Special but then outsmarted themselves with an inside job in the Liberty Bowl, the first of the major postseason attractions.

Ole Miss Coach John Vaughn says the outside kick turned the game around Saturday and started the Rebels toward their 34-17 victory, their ninth post-season bowl triumph against seven losses.

The Gobblers tried the outside kick with a 17-0 lead in the second quarter at Memphis, Tenn. But the ball failed to get the required 10 yards and the post-season classics ranging from the Camelia Bowl in Sacramento, Calif., to the indoor Bowl at Murfreesboro, Tenn.

The Gobblers' first score came in an explosive opening kick. Quarterback Al Humboldt State downed Free Kincaid picked up the ball on to State 29-14 in the Camelia play while Arkansas State downed the Rebels 14-3.

Season of Setbacks Ends for LA Rams

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Rams looked back today on a season of heartbreaks and aches, players lost by injuries and even a valuable down lost along the way.

But even a losing final game to the Baltimore Colts, 28-24, was not lacking in excitement, a flourish or two, and a crowd of 69,397 turned out Sunday to see a contest that really meant nothing.

"A 10-31 record is nothing to be ashamed of, considering the fact we had so many injuries," said Ram Coach George Allen.

Allen didn't recollect the cliché "Wait 'til next year," quite probably because a fan said it for him the week before. That was after Los Angeles bowed out of the title chase to the Chicago Bears 17-16.

UNITAS RETURNS — What really happened to the Rams Sunday was what had so often happened to them and other National Football League teams in the past — Johnny Unitas.

NOT-KISSING KEN — Ken Willard of the San Francisco 49ers clutches the football and grimaces as he bangs helmets with linebacker Tommy Nobis after trying a dive from the one-yard line at Atlanta Stadium yesterday. Nobis stopped Willard on this attempt, but the Frisco runner went over on the next play. Willard scored both 49er touchdowns to pace San Francisco to a 14-12 win.

The loss, coupled with Minnesota's 24-17 victory over Philadelphia, enabled the Vikings to win the Central Division title and earn the right to meet Baltimore next Sunday for the Western Division crown.

The defeat was symbolic of Chicago's season-up-and-down. The Bears walked off the field with tears in their eyes, realizing that despite their determination and drive, this wasn't their year.

COMEBACK TEAM — Still, everyone they were struck down adversity, they had come back stronger.

This is the team that lost four of its first five games. The Bears lost quarterbacks Jack Concannon and Rudy Bukich early in the season through injuries. Then they lost the services of the great Gale Sayers. Everyone kissed them off.

Young Virgil Carter took over the quarterbacking and after he had directed the team back into contention, Carter was lost with a knee injury.

By this time any other team would suspect that "someone up there doesn't like them," but the Bears battled back to a chance at the title.

This chance gained strength Sunday when they grabbed a 10-7 first quarter lead as the Bears' Don Dowler, who caught two touchdowns, the back-up quarterback to injured regular Bart Starr. Bratkowski had suffered rib injury.

SNACKY DEBUT — Don Horn, 23, and only 10 days out of the Army, came on the scene. He fumbled and recovered on his second play from scrimmage.

Horn threw touchdown strikes of 67 and 25 yards and set up a third with a 45-yard shot to Zek Brown, who caught two scoring passes and accounted for 182 yards.

FRANKLY — Chiefs Coach Hank Stram said Sunday night after Oakland edged San Diego 34-27 to the Kansas City, "I was resigned in my own mind that we would have a playoff, and our preparations have been directed toward that."

Some of the Chiefs even professed pleasure that a playoff evolved between Oakland and Kansas City.

COUNTED OUT — "I want to play Oakland again so the general public can see who is the true champion," defensive tackle Ernie Ladd said. "The Chiefs were counted out of the race before the season began, and then we were counted out early in the season."

Nobody believed we could do it but the Chiefs themselves. And we did it."

The Chiefs bombed Denver 30-7 Saturday, then watched Sunday's Oakland-San Diego battle on television. Most of them preferred a San Diego upset to prevent the playoff.

"I wouldn't have been ashamed to take it that way," defensive end Jerry Mays admitted.

The Chiefs, battered and bruised minus pass receivers Glover Richardson and Otis Taylor because of injuries at the time, surprised Oakland with a straight-7 offense here Oct. 20 and beat the Raiders 24-10.

In the return match at Oakland Nov. 3, the Raiders belted an early lead, capitalizing on Kansas City mistakes, and held off the late-rallying Chiefs for a 38-21 victory.

Kansas City also won an exhibition here last August, 31-21.

DEBATE — The Chiefs and Raiders will meet again on Dec. 21, the Chiefs believe, but the Raiders don't want to.

Chicago Rally Fails; Packers Post 28-27 Win

Windy City-11 Scores 17 Points in Fourth in Bid for Title

CHICAGO (AP) — The Green Bay Packers knocked the Chicago Bears out of the running for the National Football League championship Sunday, 28-27. It was symbolic of their series.

The Bears, down by 18 points in the final quarter, put on a 17-point rally to nearly pull through to victory.

The loss, coupled with Minnesota's 24-17 victory over Philadelphia, enabled the Vikings to win the Central Division title and earn the right to meet Baltimore next Sunday for the Western Division crown.

The defeat was symbolic of Chicago's season-up-and-down. The Bears walked off the field with tears in their eyes, realizing that despite their determination and drive, this wasn't their year.

COMEBACK TEAM — Still, everyone they were struck down adversity, they had come back stronger.

This is the team that lost four of its first five games. The Bears lost quarterbacks Jack Concannon and Rudy Bukich early in the season through injuries. Then they lost the services of the great Gale Sayers. Everyone kissed them off.

Young Virgil Carter took over the quarterbacking and after he had directed the team back into contention, Carter was lost with a knee injury.

By this time any other team would suspect that "someone up there doesn't like them," but the Bears battled back to a chance at the title.

This chance gained strength Sunday when they grabbed a 10-7 first quarter lead as the Bears' Don Dowler, who caught two touchdowns, the back-up quarterback to injured regular Bart Starr. Bratkowski had suffered rib injury.

Horn threw touchdown strikes of 67 and 25 yards and set up a third with a 45-yard shot to Zek Brown, who caught two scoring passes and accounted for 182 yards.

FRANKLY — Chiefs Coach Hank Stram said Sunday night after Oakland edged San Diego 34-27 to the Kansas City, "I was resigned in my own mind that we would have a playoff, and our preparations have been directed toward that."

Some of the Chiefs even professed pleasure that a playoff evolved between Oakland and Kansas City.

COUNTED OUT — "I want to play Oakland again so the general public can see who is the true champion," defensive tackle Ernie Ladd said. "The Chiefs were counted out of the race before the season began, and then we were counted out early in the season."

Nobody believed we could do it but the Chiefs themselves. And we did it."

The Chiefs bombed Denver 30-7 Saturday, then watched Sunday's Oakland-San Diego battle on television. Most of them preferred a San Diego upset to prevent the playoff.

"I wouldn't have been ashamed to take it that way," defensive end Jerry Mays admitted.

The Chiefs, battered and bruised minus pass receivers Glover Richardson and Otis Taylor because of injuries at the time, surprised Oakland with a straight-7 offense here Oct. 20 and beat the Raiders 24-10.

In the return match at Oakland Nov. 3, the Raiders belted an early lead, capitalizing on Kansas City mistakes, and held off the late-rallying Chiefs for a 38-21 victory.

Kansas City also won an exhibition here last August, 31-21.

Pistons Look for Big 'Horse'

DETROIT (AP) — The sagging Detroit Pistons need a change to help bounce out of a losing streak and, apparently coach Paul Seymour feels that should be at center. "We need a big horse on the boards, even if we have to trade somebody," Seymour said Saturday after Detroit bowed to the Phoenix Suns 123-118.

It was an embarrassing loss, especially since the Suns had only one victory in their last 18 games and rookie Gary Gregor, playing at center, grabbed three times as many rebounds as his Pistons counterparts.

Gregor, normally a forward, played in place of regular George Wilson and pulled down

Roeper Rides Past Lansing Quintet, 70-43

Coach Sid Fox took 29 points out of the Roeper School attack Saturday night and the youthful Rough Riders responded with "our best team effort in three years" for an impressive 70-43 triumph over Lansing Christian.

Roeper (3-1) bounced back from its first loss Friday night (at Maumee Valley) despite an intestinal disorder that kept scoring star Greg Carter, 6-3 junior who is averaging 29 points a game, on the bench.

With 6-5 junior Curt Blessing pumping in 11 of his 15 points and 6-0 sophomore guard Gary Blackwell — who moved to forward to fill in for Carter — adding nine more, Roeper took a 36-17 lead in the first two periods.

Roeper controlled the rebounding and the foul line, making 43 per cent of its field goal tries. The winners will be in the lead until a trip to Traverse City early next month.

Roeper outshot the losers both from the floor and the foul line, making 43 per cent of its field goal tries. The winners will be in the lead until a trip to Traverse City early next month.

Haslett Takes Mat Tourney

In a tight finish, Haslett claimed the fifth annual Waterford High School wrestling invitational Saturday by squeaking out a four-point margin over runners-up.

The winners totaled 81 points. Clo was second (77), followed by Madison (74), Waterford (67), Kettering (65), Utica (22), Lake Orion (21) and Waterford Mott (6).

Groves Swims Rose of Cincinnati Reds to Cereal Title

Final Relays' Event Brings Victory

Birmingham Groves rebuffed defending champion Ann Arbor Pioneer in the final event Saturday night to capture the Cereal Bowl freestyle swim title at Battle Creek.

After qualifying with the sixth best time for the concluding 400-yard freestyle relay, Groves edged into fifth place in the race while Ann Arbor could only manage a fourth-place finish while needing a second to retain its meet championship.

The two teams, who finished one-two last year at the relays, will clash in a dual meet Friday at Groves.

Groves claimed its first Cereal Bowl title by setting meet records in the 200 breaststroke relay and the diving relay.

Bill Edwards and Rick Horner teamed with twins Steve and Larry Driver for a winning 2:09 time that broke Birmingham Seaholm's meet mark. Sophomores Dick Quint and Ken Megonigal set a new diving standard with their 3:55.20 points.

Groves' 400 individual medley relay of Steve Tull, Mark Corey, Chuck Mitchell and Larry Driver placed second behind Pioneer's unit.

Groves finished with 46 points. Ann Arbor had 44 while Battle Creek Central and Saginaw-MacArthur compiled 35 to tie for third.

Defeat came within the last 30 seconds in the game, the last of a doubleheader at Chicago Stadium.

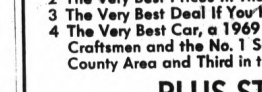

Also on Saturday, Nebraska outthumbed Augustana, of South Dakota, 73-56.

Grizzlies Top NMU Wildcats

By the Associated Press

No one would give a wildcat much chance over a grizzly bear in a fight, but it took the University of Montana Grizzlies regulation time plus three overtime periods to dispose of the Northern Michigan Wildcats 75-66.

The game was the tightest of all those played Saturday by Michigan colleges.

Northern Michigan and Montana were deadlocked 37-37 at the end of regulation play. The first overtime ended with the score tied at 61, and the second in a 63-63 deadlock.

But the Grizzlies went to work in the third overtime session scoring 11 points to only three for NMU.

CENTRAL WINS

In other games Central Michigan was edged by Akron 55-52, Olivet trounced Tri-State 79-64, Eastern Michigan beat Detroit Business College 89-76 and Aquinas topped Kalamazoo 81-77.

Hoppe breezed past Spring Arbor 111-84, Michigan Lutheran downed Mackinac 96-67, George Williams of Chicago tripped Detroit Tech 75-59, Concordia bounced Albion 98-74, and Pentec Tech of Toledo, Ohio, defeated Delta Community College 86-58.

Tri-State College of Angola, Ind., made the first point of the game on a foul shot, but it was the only lead the team ever had as it lost to Olivet, Berry Benford paced Olivet with 20 points to bring the team's record to 2-3.

Six men scored in double figures at Ypsilanti in Eastern Michigan's triumph over Detroit College of Business. Detroit College's Maurice Koehler topped both teams with 33 points as his team's record fell to 1-3 and EMU's jumped to 3-1.

Substitute forward Tom Van Phil Nickro of the Braves became only the second pitcher in history to lead in sacrifices with 16. The other was Johnny Sain of the then Boston Braves with 16 in 1948.

Beckert also had the longest consecutive game hitting streak, 27, extending from June 26 to July 22.

The longest team winning streaks were nine by the Cardinals and the Pirates.

And Billy Williams of the Cubs built his consecutive game playing streak to 819 by playing in all of Chicago's 1968 games.

Ski Honors Divided

VAL D'ISERE, France (AP) — France and Austria divided top honors in the first big international Alpine ski meet of the season, with Austria's veteran Karl Schranz taking the men's giant slalom counting for the World competition, and Henri Duvillard and Bernard Orcel finishing 1-2 for France in the tied special slalom.

Brook had 46 doubles, 14 triples and 62 stolen bases, becoming the first player since Honus Wagner in 1906 to lead in those three categories.

McCowey topped the league in home runs with 36 and runs batted in with 106. It was the lowest Portfleet hit on 10 of 11 field goal attempts to lead Aquinas over Kalamazoo in Grand Rapids Saturday. Van Portfleet finished with 22 points as his team celebrated the opening of its new million dollar fieldhouse and squared its record at 3-3 dropping Kalamazoo to 1-2.

Walled Lake's Vikings led their first ten shots from the floor to take a commanding lead and coast home past visitor Spring Arbor.

Owosso Wins at Walled Lake

Walled Lake's Vikings lost the grip on their own wrestling quadrangular Saturday when Owosso slipped into the top spot by one point.

Owosso piled up 83 points, followed by Walled Lake (82), Lansing Everett (78) and Hazel Park (67). The Vikings had won the event three years in a row.

Although missing the top spot, the Vikings produced three individual champions.

Bob Mott won the 165-pound crown, Rick Baker prevailed in the 175-pound class and Pat Callan pinned his opponent in 2:55 to take the heavyweight honors.

Revisions Asked in Juvenile Laws

Revisions that would put more teeth into state laws covering juvenile delinquents were urged today by a panel of judges from the Oakland County Probate Judge.

The proposals were recommended by Judge Eugene A. Moore in a letter to Gov. Romney.

Moore suggested two changes: that juvenile judges be given the right on their own to waive certain youngsters to Circuit Court without having to wait for a request from the prosecutor, and that there be no automatic release date for youngsters from the State Training School.

Currently, a probate judge, who has jurisdiction in juvenile matters, cannot on his own waive a 15- or 16-year-old to Circuit Court unless requested by the prosecutor's office.

POWER SOUGHT

"A juvenile court judge may be much more knowledgeable than the prosecutor as to the background of the youngster and should be able to make his own decision as to whether the youngster should be tried as an adult, both for the child's welfare as well as that of the public," said Moore.

Moore also pointed out that if a juvenile court judge sends a youngster to the State Training School, the law now provides that he must be released on his 18th birthday regardless of whether he has been rehabilitated and safe to be back on the streets.

"This is even true of a 14-year-old found guilty of murder," said Moore. "Present law provides he shall be released on his 18th birthday even if he is as dangerous as when he entered."

"I doubt that many of the youngsters reaching the age of 18, especially the ones placed there for serious crimes such as murder and assault, have been rehabilitated and are capable of being back in society or the community," Moore added.

"There should not be a magic cutoff date."

Beatles' Attorney Is Found Hanged at His Mansion

HOVE, England (AP) — David Jacobs, lawyer for the Beatles and a number of other stars, was found hanged in the garage of his southeast mansion Sunday, police reported. An inquest was ordered.

The body was discovered by a servant. Friends said Jacobs had appeared to be under a strain for some weeks.

It was the second time Jacobs had come close to the Beatles in recent years. Brian Epstein, their manager and another client of Jacobs, died in August 1967 of an accidental overdose of sleeping pills.

Jacobs was 57 and unmarried. In addition to the Beatles, he had represented Sir Laurence Olivier, Marlene Dietrich, Judy Garland, Liberace, Shirley Bassey and Zsa Zsa Gabor.

Crime Rate Up 19 Pct. in U.S.

FBI Reports on First Nine Months of 1968

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The national crime rate for the first nine months of 1968 was 19 percent above the same period last year, the FBI said today.

City of more than 250,000 population had the highest crime increase of 21 percent for the period, suburban communities had a 19 percent increase and rural areas a 13 percent, the agency said in a periodic report compiled from statistics provided by local law enforcement agencies.

For June the FBI said violent crimes in the first quarter of 1968 were up 18 percent over the first three months of 1967.

In September, it reported, crimes of violence in the first half of 1968 increased 21 percent over the first six months of last year.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said violent crimes in the first three-quarters of 1968 were up 23 percent from last year, forcible rape up 17 percent, murder up 15 percent and aggravated assault up 13 percent.

Hoover said firearms were the cause of all murders during the nine-month period and in 23 percent of all aggravated assaults. The use of firearms in serious assaults rose 25 percent over the previous year, he said.

Thefts of more than $50 rose 23 percent, auto thefts were up 22 percent and burglary 16 percent. As a group, property crimes registered a 19 percent rise over the comparable 1967 period.

On a regional basis, crime rose 25 percent in the Northeast, 19 percent in the West, 17 percent in the South and 16 percent in the North Central States.

The statistics are based on voluntary reports from 4,490 police agencies representing a total population of 146,857,000.

Pay Tax Bills Under Protest, Group Urges

The Oakland County Homeowners and Taxpayers Association is urging property owners in the county to pay their 1968 tax bills under protest.

"The attorney general has not as yet ruled on our question of whether Oakland County is taxing beyond the legal limit in exceeding 15 mills (unvoted taxes)," said George H. Williams, chairman of the taxpayers' county committee.

"Taxpayers would be entitled to a refund of that portion (levied beyond the 15-mill non-voted limitation) if we get a favorable opinion." He noted they must pay "under protest," however, in order to be eligible for the refund.

The question on the 15-mill limitation has been forwarded to Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley by Rep. Clifford Smart, R-Walled Lake.

"While we don't know when the attorney general's opinion will be released," Williams said, "people should be aware of this technically in the event they pay their taxes before the ruling is made."

Williams said Oakland is apparently the only county in Michigan which has interpreted a sentence in the State Constitution as a loophole to impose non-voted taxes over the 15-mill limit to initiate and pay for construction bonds.

An honorary doctor of laws degree was bestowed on Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., by the University of Santa Clara in California.

The ceremony yesterday was scheduled for Kennedy Mall but moved inside a building because of rain. The mall, dedicated in 1968 to the memory of President John F. Kennedy, was renamed yesterday as a memorial to both John and Robert F. Kennedy.

Arizona U. to Honor News Service Exec

Was Gallagher, general manager of the Associated Press, has been chosen to receive the University of Arizona's John Peter Zenger Freedom of the Press Award.

The announcement was made yesterday in Tucson by Richard A. Harvill, university president. An award luncheon will be held Jan. 11.

The award, established in 1964, is presented annually for "distinguished service to freedom of the press and the people's right to know." Gallagher was chosen in halloing by 75 editors and publishers.

Speaker of the House John W. McCormack, 76, who was forced to drop out of high school at age 13 because of the death of his father, is now a member of a college fraternity.

Phi Alpha Tau, a fraternity with chapters at Emerson College and Suffolk University, made McCormack an honorary brother yesterday in a service at Emmanuel Church in Boston.

McCormack, who did odd jobs as a youth to help support his mother and younger brothers while studying law, said he was "proud I could rise without even a high school education, to the position of speaker of the House."

"Only in America could it happen," he said.

NY Archbishop Leaves for Holidays in Viet

Archbishop Terence J. Cooke of New York, carrying on a tradition begun by Francis Cardinal Spellman, left today to spend the holidays with American troops, including Christmas in South Vietnam.

The archbishop is the Roman Catholic military vicar of the U.S. armed forces, a post held by Cardinal Spellman until his death a year ago.

Archbishop Cooke said he will visit Germany, Turkey, Iran, Thailand, South Vietnam, the Philippines, Taiwan, South Korea and Japan before returning Jan. 5.

"I'm just going to concentrate on our thing," he said, "bringing as much encouragement as I can." Of the troops in Vietnam, he said, "I am sure they are looking for peace even more than we are."

Mideast War Not Seen Soon

NEW YORK (AP) — Israel Defense Minister Moshe Dayan says he does not believe there will be another all-out Arab-Israeli war "for a long time."

Dayan flew back to Israel Sunday night after a brief visit which included a meeting with President-elect Nixon.

Interviewed earlier on the ABC television show, "Issues and Answers," Dayan also said he believed the Soviet Union "wants peace" in the Middle East.

He added that he and Nixon "didn't discuss . . . any peace plan" for the Middle East when they met Saturday.

NOTICE OF SALE OF DWELLINGS AND REQUEST FOR BIDS

The City of Pontiac will receive sealed invitations bid for the sale and removal of a dwelling located at 57 South Johnson Avenue on the West 46th East of the West End of Lot 4 of Brainerd Plat, until 2:00 P.M. (Eastern Standard Time) on Thursday, the 19th day of December, 1968 at the office of the Purchasing Agent, 450-Wide-Track-Drive-East, Pontiac, Michigan at which time all bids will be publicly opened and read aloud.

Conditions:

1 Bidder shall acquaint himself with City Ordinance No. 1349 which governs the moving of buildings within the City of Pontiac. Attention is directed to required deposits, permits, fees, insurance, and the method of severing utility connections.

2 All the buildings shall be removed by June 1, 1969 with work not to begin until the bidder has received a "Notice to Proceed." It is anticipated that the Notice to Proceed will be issued on/about December 30, 1968. Since time is of the essence, failure of the contractor to have the structure removed from the property at the time specified in the Notice to Proceed will cause the forfeiture of his deposits.

3 The basement shall be free of debris and not backfilled. A certified check or bank draft, payable to the order of the City of Pontiac, negotiable U.S. Government Bonds, or a satisfactory Bid Bond executed by the Bidder and an acceptable surety, in the amount equal to 10 percent of the bid price, shall be submitted with each bid.

The bids will be received and awarded on the basis of each individual structure.

In awarding of the contracts, consideration will be given to the bidders proposing to relocate structures within the City of Pontiac.

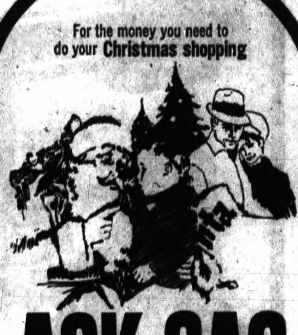

The City of Pontiac reserves the right to reject any and all bids, or to waive any informalities in the bidding.

Bids may be held by the City of Pontiac for a period of twenty (20) days from date of opening of bids for the purpose of reviewing the bids and investigating the qualifications of the Bidder, prior to awarding the contract. Arrangements for inspection of the dwellings may be made by contacting the office of the City Engineer.

Hearing in City on School Plan

A hearing on a proposed state plan for higher education will be held in Pontiac tomorrow by the State Board of Education.

The hearing is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. in the Supervisor's Auditorium, Oakland County Court House, 1200 N. Telegraph.

The plan, which has been developed over two years, would encourage the "orderly development" of a comprehensive state system of education beyond the secondary level.

The proposed plan also calls for the board to follow a concept of cooperative and continuous planning for the future of higher education in Michigan, rather than the development of a single fixed plan.

Wallets 'Lost' to Stir a 'Helping Behavior'

NEW YORK (UPI) — To find out if they could stimulate "helping behavior" in the rest of the population, three psychologists dropped 108 wallets onto crowded sidewalks of New York.

Each one contained $2 in cash, a check for $6.30, a receipt for a rented tuxedo, three 6-cent stamps, the calling cards of a foot doctor and of a florist, and the fictional owner's name, address and phone number.

Each wallet poked from an unsealed, unstamped envelope addressed to this office and also contained a letter to him.

The finder had to believe the wallet had been lost twice, first by the owner, then by the letter-writer who had lost it before he could mail it to the owner.

The letter had to do with "helping behavior." It had three forms. One was neutral, merely saying, here's the purse you lost. The second was "positive." It said the finder took "pleasure to be able to help somebody in the calling things which make life nicer." The third was negative. It told the owner how inconvenient and annoying it was to have to take responsibility for a lost wallet.

RESPONSE VARIES

The positive letter produced "helping behavior" in that 14 of the 20 wallets accompanying it were returned. So did the neutral letter. It brought back 12 of 20 wallets. But the negative letter evidently stimulated unhelping behavior. The psychologists got back only 2 of its 20 wallets.

Drs. Harvey A. Herstein, Elisha Fisch and Michael Holmes of Teachers' College, Columbia University, reported this "naturalistic field experiment" in a mid-Manhattan business district to the American Psychological Association.

They were interested in the influences of "social models" on helping behavior. Each wallet returned whereas the similar models brought back 28 out of 60. Whether the pidgeon letters were neutral, positive or negative made little difference.

The negative model shield people away from being helpful.

LITTLE DIFFERENCE

Only 15 of the 45 wallets were

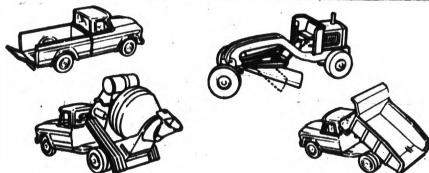

Indeed, the negative brought back six, one more than the positive and two more than the neutral.

The finders were a cross-section of New Yorkers. Their reactions to finding a wallet ranged from nonchalantly placing the wallets in their pockets and walking off to hur-

Nixon, Republicans Confer on Strategy

From Our News Wires
NEW YORK — President-elect Nixon's first after-victory meeting with Republican congressional leaders today apparently will focus more on problems of his outnumbered party in the Senate and House than on national policy.

Nixon is flying to Washington to meet with 12 top-ranking GOP members of Congress, then driving to Walter Reed Army Medical Center for his third post-election reunion with former President Dwight D. Eisenhower before returning to New York.

Aides said Nixon could hardly talk seriously about the policies and programs his administration will push since task forces studying major problem areas — and recommending programs for the future — have yet to report to him.

The president-elect will begin receiving these reports this week.

RETAINING HOOVER

While in the capital, Nixon also will announce he is retaining 73-year-old J. Edgar Hoover as director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Hoover, who has headed the FBI since it was created in 1924, will be permitted to serve when Nixon signs a waiver of the compulsory retirement age of 65 as President Johnson did four years ago.

It was not certain, however, that Hoover would remain at the helm of the FBI throughout the new president's term. Some sources said he was considering retirement in the next few years.

The Nixon meeting with Republican leaders of Congress was a bit unusual in that one outsider was included among the conferees — Ray Bliss, chairman of the GOP National Committee.

PARTISAN STRATEGY

Once in office, presidents normally do not invite their party chairman to such sessions.

But at this preinaugural meeting it was apparent that Nixon and those meeting with him would have to give particular attention to partisan strategy in the coming congressional session, where Democrats will outnumber Republicans in both houses.

Electors Are Voting for President Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the only presidential election that officially counts, the Electoral College votes today to make Richard M. Nixon the nation's 37th President.

Although Nixon defeated Democrat Hubert H. Humphrey by nearly half a million votes in the November general election, under the Constitution the president isn't officially selected until the members of the Electoral College meet in their respective state capitals and cast their votes.

FEW EXCEPTIONS

With only a few exceptions this is the case this year.

Only one elector said he didn't intend to follow the popular verdict in his state. Dr. Lloyd W. Bailey of Rocky Mount, N.C., said his vote would go to third-party candidate George C. Wallace, rather than for Nixon, who carried the state.

Former Michigan Democratic State Chairman Zolton Ferency said he would not cast a vote in his state, which went for Humphrey. Ferency indicated someone would fill his place and cast a vote for the vice president.

In the District of Columbia and 17 states local laws require the electors to follow the popular will, although in just three — Florida, New Mexico and Oklahoma — are there penalties for voting independently.

Related Story, Page A-2

The ballots are then mailed to Washington where Congress will meet in joint session Jan. 6 to count the vote and declare a winner.

The 538 electors from the 50 states and the District of Columbia are free agents under the Constitution to vote for anyone

'300 to Die in NY'

Flu Absenteeism on Rise in U.S.

From Our News Wires
Absenteeism among police officers, teachers and government employees increased today as the Hong Kong flu spread rapidly across the nation. A health official predicted the epidemic would claim 300 to 400 lives in New York City alone.

Washington, D.C., and the upper tier of the South reported school closings and heavy absenteeism among government workers. In the Midwest, police and fire departments, schools and hospitals were hard hit as workers called in sick with the flu.

In New York, health officials estimated one in every five residents would contract flu.

City Health Commissioner Edward O'Rourke predicted as many as 400 persons would die from pneumonia or other respiratory diseases brought on by the latest strain of flu.

700 DEAD

The outbreak of influenza has claimed nearly 700 lives across the nation, and the National Communicable Disease Center (NCDC) here warned the worst is yet to come. The center said the epidemic should peak in January.

Hong Kong flu caused two more early holiday school closings, but several others tentatively scheduled openings this week. Richard Cardinal Cushing has joined the long list of those who are ill.

In many hospitals, visiting privileges have been either canceled or drastically restricted to avoid further spread of the malady.

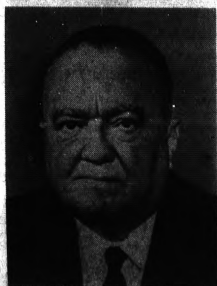

Four Virginia colleges, which normally would have closed later this week, shut down last Wednesday and Thursday. Starting today, three central Virginia hospitals began discouraging visitors to protect patients from the flu.

CMU CLASSES CANCELED

Central Michigan University canceled all classes until Jan. 6, while Northern Michigan University also closed a week early because of "flu-like" illnesses.

Some 2,200 school teachers were absent from classrooms Friday in Chicago because of the flu outbreak.

The absentee rate from Milwaukee's police force was double and that of the fire department triple normal rates because of the flu.

Warmer Days Due for Yule Shoppers

The weatherman is cooperating with Christmas shoppers as he predicts clear skies through tomorrow with slowly moderating temperatures.

Tonight's low is due to fall in the 15-to-20-degree range, with tomorrow's high in the lower 20s.

With the rise in temperature, clouds will roll in by Wednesday bringing rain or snow. Today's bone-chilling winds from the northwest at eight to 18 miles will lessen the velocity and become variable by tonight.

County Crashes Claim 2 Lives

Two fatalities resulted from accidents on Oakland County roads over the weekend, as freezing temperatures and light snow made driving hazardous in some areas.

A West Bloomfield man, Arthur T. Lambiris, 18, of 4079 Circle, died yesterday from injuries received in a two-car accident on Willow Road near North Shore, West Bloomfield Township.

His passenger, Mike Lezart, 20, of 6829 Hatchery, Waterford Township, was treated at Pontiac General Hospital and released.

Driver of the other car, Roger Passini, 22, of 1070 Round Lake, White Lake Township, also was treated and released. His passenger, Lynn Lilley, 17, of 8381 Elizabeth Lake, White Lake Township, is listed in satisfactory condition today at Pontiac General Hospital.

HEAD-ON CRASH

Passini was going north on Willow when Lambiris, heading south, apparently lost control of his car on the snowy road and drove into the other lane, according to West Bloomfield Township Police.

In Troy, a freeway crash Saturday morning resulted in fatal injuries to 24-year-old Timothy R. Mangan of Madison Heights.

Troy police said Mangan's auto ran off I-75 near Big Beaver at about 3:20 a.m., rolled over once and landed in a ditch near the roadway.

Ground Broken Saturday

New Reserve Center

Ground-breaking ceremonies in Waterford Township Saturday signaled the start of construction of Pontiac's new Army Reserve Center.

Authorities hope the building, which will cost an estimated $200,000, will be completed by fall.

Members of the Second Battalion, 333rd Regiment of the 70th Division's Second Brigade and of C Battery of the Fourth Battalion, 20th Artillery, will use the center at Watkins Lake and Pontiac Lake roads.

Units of the 70th Division are located throughout Michigan and Indiana, including Flint, Detroit, Fraser, Indianapolis, Ind., and Ft. Wayne, Ind., in addition to Pontiac.

BRIGADE HQ IN FLINT

Speakers at the ground-breaking included Congressman Jack H. McDonald, R-19th District; Pontiac Mayor William H. Taylor Jr., and Maj. Gen. Carl J. Dueser, commander of the 70th Division.

The new center will replace a rented structure at 40 Walnut.

Clifford: U.S. Should Reach Truce, Leave Viet to Viets

From Our News Wires

WASHINGTON — Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford says the United States should negotiate an early Vietnam ceasefire and troop withdrawals, leaving the political settlement to Saigon, Hanoi and Vietcong.

"I have no idea that we should maintain 540,000 American men there fighting," Clifford said yesterday, "while we wait for Saigon and Hanoi to come to some political settlement."

He urged the South Vietnamese to "stop squabbling" with North Vietnam over procedural questions such as seating arrangements at the Paris peace talks and get down to serious negotiations.

"Each day and each week that they delay, more men are dying on the battlefield of South Vietnam," he said.

POSSIBLE AGREEMENT

The defense secretary also said during a television interview that he thought it possible to reach agreements to lower the level of combat before the talks turn to complex political issues.

"It is my belief that Hanoi would like to see a resolution of the conflict," said Clifford.

"It is my belief that Hanoi is ready to enter into certain military understandings with us that would result in withdrawal of the troops and a very substantial diminution in the level of the fighting."

Clifford said he believed the war could end even before the end of next year — the target date mentioned by Rep. Melvin Laird, R-Wis., chosen by President-elect Richard M. Nixon to be his defense secretary.

'WRONG THING'

In remarks referring to Clifford's statement, South Vietnamese Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky told newsmen: "Ever since he came into office, Secretary Clifford has shown a gift for saying the wrong thing at the wrong time."

"We came here a week ago full of good will and prepared to sit down at any time."

He added the Saigon government does not expect the other side to surrender "but they cannot expect us to surrender either."

"It is not a dispute over the shape of the table," Ky said. "That is really a secondary matter. What is important is the matter of principle on which we cannot give way."

Apollo 8 Crew Gets Physicals

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — With the countdown for their moon voyage under way, the Apollo 8 astronauts today receive the final major physical examination for the flight.

Air Force Col. Frank Borman, Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr. and Air Force Maj. William A. Anders plan several hours with space agency doctors, who want to be sure they are in excellent shape for the mission.

The astronauts are scheduled to rocket into space at 7:31 a.m. EST Saturday.

The lengthy countdown for the launching of the Saturn 5 rocket started on schedule at 7 p.m. yesterday when electrical power was fed to the Apollo 8 ship aloft the 36-story-tall booster. Experts began systematic checking to make certain all elements of the $55-million mooncraft are functioning.

Two Area Girls in Junior Miss Pageant Finals

Two area girls were selected yesterday to compete in the Michigan Junior Miss pageant to be held in Pontiac Jan. 17-18.

Pontiac's Junior Miss, Patti Dell of 201 Draper, and Union Lake's Junior Miss, Pamela Munger, of 2506 Little Trail, Commerce Township, were among 12 finalists selected in the metropolitan regional contest in Redford Township.

Twenty five girls PATTI DELL from Oakland, Macomb and Wayne counties entered the regional contest.

Patti, 17, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Dell and a senior at Pontiac Central High School. She is a dance student and has taken tap, jazz and ballet lessons. She is also an apprentice teacher.

TALENT ROUTINE

Patti performed a song and dance routine for her talent performance.

Pamela, also 17, is a senior at Walled Lake Central High School. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William S. Munger. For her talent performance, Pamela told the story of "The Little Match Girl," accompanied by her own drawings of different scenes in the story.

The girls are judged on their scholastic ability, individual interviews, poise and appearance, physical fitness and talent performance.

Both girls said they are elated at being selected for the Michigan Junior Miss finals, sponsored by the Pontiac Area Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The girl crowned Michigan's Junior Miss will travel to Mobile, Ala., to compete in the National Junior Miss Pageant being held in May.

U. S. Frees 7 N. Viets; Yanks' Release in Doubt

SAIGON (AP) — The United States today returned seven civilian seamen to North Vietnam, and Radio Moscow confirmed that Hanoi has announced it will release some American pilots at Christmas.

A U.S. spokesman said the release of the seven North Vietnamese was arranged in Vietnam, the Laotian capital. He said Hanoi's representatives had given no immediate indication that their government planned to release any of the hundreds of American fliers it has captured.

But a spokesman for Moscow Radio confirmed a broadcast by the Soviet radio Saturday which said: "Radio Moscow stated today (Dec. 14) that a group of American pilots who were taken into captivity when their planes were shot down over the territory of the Democratic Republic of Vietnam will be released at Christmas."

A Tokyo monitor reported a similar announcement broadcast by Hanoi Saturday in the Japanese language. But in the absence of official word from the North Vietnamese, it was thought then that both the Moscow and Tokyo reports might have been the result of faulty translations.

NO INDICATION

The report relayed by Moscow gave no indication exactly when or how the fliers would be released.

The U. S. Command in Saigon said the release of the North Vietnamese seamen was an "action of good will" which it hoped would lead to further release of prisoners.

The men were released offshore about 13 miles northeast of Vinh, a coastal city 145 miles north of the demilitarized zone.

The U. S. Command said the amphibious transport Duluth put the men into a 45-foot motorized junk and a U.S. helicopter observed them until they were about 9,000 yards from the beach.

BODIES RECOVERED — Workers recover the bodies of a mother and her three children found in the wreckage of this home on the south side of Kalamazoo. The gas-filled home burst into flame yesterday morning.

Nursing Homes in County Limit Visiting Rights

Nursing homes in Oakland County have joined hospitals in closing their doors to most visitors as the current flu outbreak continues.

Most of the nursing homes took this action over the weekend in response to a directive from the Michigan Nursing Home Association. The step was taken to preserve the health of the patients, most of them elderly and ill.

Only emergency visits will be allowed but relatives will be notified in cases of emergency, the association reported.

Local hospitals — St. Joseph Mercy, Pontiac Osteopathic and Pontiac General have curtailed all but emergency visits since Friday. Crittenton Hospital in Avon Township is limiting visits to close relatives.

NO DEATHS

Thus far, no deaths have been attributed directly to flu virus. Only a few cases of Hong Kong flu have been reported in the county.

The Hong Kong variety is not deemed any more serious than other strains such as Asian flu, according to health authorities. However, the new strain is likely to meet with less resistance, it is feared.

A limited supply of vaccine against Hong Kong flu is in the county and injections through family physicians is recommended for the elderly, sick and chronically ill.

Absenteeism at local businesses, schools and governmental agencies is reported high, but not creating emergencies.

According to national reports, the flu has not reached its most severe stage in this area yet. Higher rates are expected to occur later this month and in January.

Brazilian Purge Is Continuing

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — Brazil was outwardly calm today but censorship restricted the press and radio for the day and arrests were reported continuing in President Arthur da Costa e Silva's crackdown on the opposition to his regime and its military backers.

At least 200 persons were reported in custody, yesterday, among them some of Brazil's top political journalists and most prominent political figures.

Some reports said the government would suspend the political rights of its opponents. Some militant students and opposition politicians were reported in hiding.

But the country's major cities showed little sign of tension. Thousands of Rio citizens spent a hot, sunny Sunday at the beach. In Sao Paulo, the state militia held a scheduled parade before thin crowds.

Urban freeways in particular have come under intense criticism recently in many cities, and many proposed urban segments of the Interstate highway system have been stymied.

The proposal is the latest in a series by the department to minimize the impact of freeways on city residents.

Ferency to Upset Electoral Routine

LANSING (AP) — Presidential electors gather in Lansing today to formally cast their votes for Democrat Hubert Humphrey, as former State Democratic chairman Zolton Ferency plans to disrupt the routine to protest U.S. foreign and domestic policies.

Ferency said he would attend the afternoon meeting in the State Senate chamber to respond to the roll call of electors, but then would refuse to cast his vote for Humphrey, who won Michigan's 21 electoral votes by about 225,000 votes in November.

Ferency says his action would create a vacancy, which would be filled by the vote of the other Democratic electors, as they proceed to vote for Humphrey.

Ferency said he would have preferred voting for "someone who is in favor of extricating our government from Vietnam and making necessary changes in avoiding any future Vietnams."

10 of Victims Are Children

12 Killed by Fires in State

KALAMAZOO (AP) — Fires claimed 12 lives in Michigan over the weekend, and 10 of the victims were children.

A mother and three of her children died in a fiery gas explosion which tore their home apart yesterday on Kalamazoo's South Side.

A 14-month-old child, Charlene Down, succumbed in a Saturday night Detroit blaze blamed on a defective heater at her home.

Five children perished in a Saturday fire on Detroit's west side, and 79-year-old Alex Lindquest of the Upper Peninsula community of Gwinn was fatally burned Saturday night in a fire that destroyed the home where he lived alone.

A 3-year-old boy, Joey Binscik, died in a home fire yesterday at Columbiaville.

in Lapeer County. His parents and three other children escaped the blaze.

A broken gas main under the driveway of the home next door was blamed by authorities for the Kalamazoo explosion and fire. Cause of the Detroit blaze was undetermined. Police said Lindquest apparently dropped a lighted cigarette accidentally before retiring.

Those who died in the Detroit fire were children of Mrs. Dorothy Pac aged 2 to 6. Mrs. Pac, 30, and her two other children escaped but required treatment for minor burns and smoke inhalation.

KALAMAZOO VICTIMS

Victims of the Kalamazoo tragedy were Mrs. Lillian McChie, a 36-year-old divorcee; her son, Steven William, 3; and daughters Marie Drucilla, 12, and Elizabeth Ann, 10.

The mother's body was found in the living room of their one-story, four-room prefabricated home. The two daughters were in a bedroom and the boy in a doorway to the girls' room.

Missing U.S. Plane Hunted

SAN JUAN, P.R. (AP) — A company of 140 U.S. Marines was flown into a rain forest near the Roosevelt Roads Naval Base in Puerto Rico to begin a ground search for a missing twin-engine Air Force cargo plane with a crew of eight reservists.

The C-119 Flying Boxcar from the 910th Tactical Air Support Group at Youngstown, Ohio, took off from the naval base Saturday for Homestead Air Force Base in Florida. A Navy spokesman said the plane apparently developed radio and radar trouble and was returning to the naval base. He said it was last seen over a forest near the base.

Ten planes spent yesterday searching the eastern part of the island and offshore areas without success. The search of the rain forests in the El Yunque mountain range was hampered by low clouds and rain.

The pilot, Maj. John H. Balzer, 43, of Beaver Falls, Pa., was a sheet metal worker in civilian life. Officials at the Youngstown base said the other members of the crew were: Sgt. Frank E. Platnack, 36, a Youngstown schoolteacher, copilot; Capt. Ivan W. Bechtel, 33, an engineer from Warren, Ohio, navigator; Lt. Col. Philip W. Mahoney, 49, an Erie, Pa., schoolteacher, navigator; S. Sgt. Herschel W. Clark, 34, air technician from Warren, Ohio, flight engineer; S. Sgt. William G. Kropp, 34, air technician from Mercer, Pa., flight engineer; Sgt. Martin A. Breckner, 28, a machine operator from Youngstown, loadmaster; and Sgt. Harry L. Murray Jr., 30, power company lineman from Fredonia, Pa., loadmaster.

Public Voice on Roads Argued

WASHINGTON (AP) — A proposal to give the public more voice in the location and design of federal highways has started a fight that could have a dramatic effect on the future of the nation's road-building policies.

The proposal, which will be argued in Transportation Department hearings starting today, calls for more public hearings before decisions involving the location and design for highways are finalized.

Joining the Transportation Department, which made the proposal, in backing the plan are the Agriculture and Interior departments and the mayors and congressmen from several of the nation's large metropolitan areas.

Listed against the plan are officials from several states, the road-building industry and Massachusetts Gov. John

Volpe, who will be secretary of transportation in the Nixon administration.

NOT LIKELY TO TESTIFY

Volpe, who owns a construction company and ran the nation's road program under President Eisenhower, is not expected to testify in the hearings.

Advocates of the plan say the new approach is needed to keep highway officials from arbitrarily slicing through the cities and the countryside with massive roadways that break up neighborhoods and blight the landscape.

Opponents have charged that the move would involve highways in controversy that could lead to excessive delays. Some have said it could virtually paralyze plans for urban freeways.

A key requirement of the plan would require one public hearing before route decisions and a second before the design was approved.

ONLY ONE HEARING

The department said in announcing the proposal, "Currently, no more than one hearing is required on proposed new highway locations, which generally has taken place at an early stage of the highway planning sequence, before the development of widespread public interest."

Urban freeways in particular have come under intense criticism recently in many cities, and many proposed urban segments of the Interstate highway system have been stymied.

The proposal is the latest in a series by the department to minimize the impact of freeways on city residents.

Birmingham

Exec Head of Managers Club for GM

BIRMINGHAM — J. Wayne Ellison, 19620 Chelton, has been elected president of the Detroit General Motors Management Club for 1969.

Ellison, Detroit zone manager for GM's Oldsmobile Division, succeeds W. J. Massey Jr., manager of the Chevrolet Forge plant in Detroit. He is the club's 32nd president.

Harrison T. Price, manager of the Chevrolet Spring and Bumper plant in Livonia, was elected vice president.

The club is composed of GM executives in southeastern Michigan and has 215 members representing 50 manufacturing and sales operations.

Established to improve the corporation's internal communications the group meets regularly for programs on developments in the automotive industry.

BIRMINGHAM — The agenda for tonight's City Commission meeting includes a recommendation for the removal of parking on the east side of Stanley from Brown to Frank streets because of congestion. The meeting is at 8.

The city manager's report includes a recommendation to increase retirement benefits for all city employees who retire after July 1, 1969.

The commission will also vote on a recommendation for the city to supplement salaries for the new District Court judges.

The state pays the judges an annual municipalities in the district to pay the difference to insure the judge an annual salary of $18,000 and it is up to the salary of $27,500.

Other municipalities included in the district are West Bloomfield Township, Bloomfield Township, Keego Harbor and Sylvan Lake and the City of Orchard Lake Village.

The City Commission is expected to approve Feb. 22 as the scheduled completion date for the city's new $1.7-million parking structure on Pierce Street.

Cancer Survivor Chief of Fleet

SAIGON (AP) — Edwin W. Rosenberg refused to believe the doctors who told him 23 years ago that he would die of cancer. Today a rear admiral, he commands the 7th Fleet Amphibious Force in Vietnam.

A 1942 Annapolis graduate, Rosenberg was invalided out of the Navy in 1945 when doctors found cancer after his return from World War II duty as a navigator on an aircraft carrier.

Between 1946 and 1950 he survived four bouts with cancer even after doctors who found a growth in his kidney told him, "You've got two weeks to live."

"Let's get started with the X-ray treatment," he told doctors at the Chelsea Navy hospital in Boston. The X rays worked and the cancer was burned out.

His life saved, Rosenberg set about saving his career. Twice he convinced the Navy retirement board he was cured. However, each time the doctors found a new cancer, in the groin for the second time and in the neck.

He lived saved, Rosenberg set about saving his career. Twice he convinced the Navy retirement board he was cured. However, each time the doctors found a new cancer, in the groin for the second time and in the neck.

By September 1948 he had talked the Navy into giving him temporary duty as an instructor at the Naval Academy. This was progress, but he was still on the retired list.

Rosenberg asked for active status again. "It would take an act of Congress," he was told.

He went after that act of Congress. Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper, R-Iowa, introduced the measure, and in September 1959 President Harry S. Truman signed it.

In 1962 Rosenberg took command of his first ship, the destroyer J. Douglas Blackwood.

On Sunday, Rosenberg relieved Rear Adm. Paul L. Lacy Jr. as commander of the 7th Fleet unit.

Mexican Terrorists Hit

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Terrorists struck again today early today, bringing to five in the past 36 hours the number of bomb explosions.

Shortly after 2 a.m., a bomb exploded in the main bus terminal in Guadalajara, Mexico's second city. Nine persons were injured.

NATIONAL WEATHER — Scattered snow showers and flurries are forecast in isolated areas throughout the Northeast tonight and in the Rocky Mountains. The cold weather will continue in the Northeast while it will be warmer in the Midwest.

DOG SAVES MAN — Ming, a Pekingese, smelled fire, jumped on Thomas J. Lamaster's bed and woke his sleeping master. The two escaped a fire last Thursday which gutted a rented home at 1779 Post, West Bloomfield Township. Mrs. Lamaster and the couple's daughter, Terry, 8, were away. Donations of clothing and household articles are being collected for the family by a friend, Mrs. Charles Vincent of 2005 Auburndale, West Bloomfield Township. Said Mrs. Vincent, "I hope people with true Christmas spirit will help this family, which is having a difficult time." Lamaster, a gas station attendant, and his family are staying with friends and relatives.

New Utica Law Cuts Red Tape in Petty Thefts

UTICA — The Village Council has adopted an ordinance streamlining procedures for the arrest of suspected shoplifters or other petty thieves.

Previously, there was no penalty in the municipal code for theft under $50, and in order to make an arrest for an offense, village police had to obtain a warrant from the Macomb County Prosecutor's Office.

Now, arrests can be made in the village without the extra red tape. Persons convicted under the ordinance may receive a sentence of not more than 90 days in jail or pay a fine not to exceed $100.

The council also approved village membership in the State Law Enforcement Council and Training Fund. Under the provisions of the fund, municipalities may be reimbursed for money invested in approved police training courses.

The Utica Jaycees were granted permission to use the council room Dec. 21 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. for a visit from Santa Claus.

In other business, the council:
• Reapproved plans for six additional lots in Clinkhammer Subdivision, northwest of the M53-Hall intersection. According to a spokesman for the village, reappraisal became necessary under the State Plat Act when no action was taken on the plans for a year.

• Approved the sale of a used bulldozer to Consolidated Excavating, Inc., of Detroit for $400 and a used tractor to Lyle Case, 8808 Suncrest, Shelby Township, for $1,265.

• Okayed a proposed rezoning, altering a lot at 7911 Ruby from single-family residential to two-family.

Students in Britain Read Press Articles

A Pontiac Press-sponsored current events program is being given to students in Northwich, Cheshire, England this winter.

The Visual Education Consultants (VEC), a weekly packet of films and publications on the week's top news stories, is being sent to Conrad H. Rader, who is currently teaching geography at the Hartford Country Secondary School for Boys in England.

Rader is an American Fulbright exchange teacher. His English counterpart, social studies teacher John R. Capper, is teaching social studies at Milford Junior High School.

Capper inherited the VEC program when he exchanged teaching posts with Rader.

WRITES PRESS

Rader recently wrote The Pontiac Press requesting the VEC series for his foreign post. He explained, "If I could continue using these teaching aids here in England, it would be a tremendous asset."

In cooperation with the Visual Education Consultants of Madison, Wis. The Press will be sending the weekly packet to Rader in addition to some 100 other schools in the Press's circulation area. The VEC firm is based in Madison, Wis.

The program will also be used at the girls' school on the Northwich campus.

according to Rader. The circulation should extend to about 1,200 English students.

NEW TROY SEAL — Athena, the Greek goddess of wisdom, is pictured on the new official seal of the city of Troy. Commissioned by the city, the seal was designed by free-lance artist James Sale of Independence Township.

Michigan Traffic Accidents Fatal to 13 During Weekend

By the Associated Press

Traffic accidents in Michigan killed 13 persons during the weekend just ended. The Associated Press count began at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight last night.

Latest reported victims included a Flint woman, Mrs. Edna Roth, 71, killed late yesterday in a car driven by her husband Elzezer, also 71, in Flint; A great grandchild of the couple and Roth were hospitalized.

Earlier victims were: Judge Ashford Jr., of Detroit, whose car went out of control on Detroit's Grand River Avenue and slammed into a utility pole yesterday.

HEAD-ON CRASH

James Carl Gifford, 34, of Flushing, in a two-car head-on collision yesterday in Genesee County's Flint Township.

Arthur T. Lambiris, 18, of 4079 Circle, West Bloomfield Township, when two cars collided yesterday in Oakland County's West Bloomfield Township.

Alex Theodore Nowicki, 69, of Harbor Beach, when two cars rammed together in a snowstorm Saturday five miles southeast of Harbor Beach in Huron County.

Clarence R. Marble Jr., 18, of Sturgis, and Kristi Wilbur, 16, of Battle Creek, in a two-car collision near Athens Saturday.

STRUCK BY TRAIN

Mrs. Harold Stott, 50, wife of the superintendent of Jefferson schools outside Monroe, and Lauree Townsend, 60, of Flat Rock, when the car in which they were riding was struck by a train Saturday at a crossing near Monroe.

Mrs. Benjamin Brandens, 45, of Holland, a passenger in an automobile involved Saturday when three cars piled up at Hudsonville.

Timothy Mangan, 24, of Madison Heights, whose car went out of control on I-75 in Troy and rolled over Saturday.

Michael David Botmer, 22, of Eaton Rapids when his car veered off M78 into a tree Saturday about four miles west of Bellevue in Barry County.

NO CAUSE KNOWN

No cause for the fire has been determined.

Area departments also reported two other fires yesterday. In Bloomfield Hills, an apartment unit at 1051 Stratford was burned to the ground by a blaze which broke out at 9:12 a.m.

No one was home at the time, according to a fire department spokesman, and the cause of the fire has not been determined. Fire Chief Raymond Wachter said this morning that no damage estimate could be made as yet.

The apartment was rented to Vincent L. McEnally Jr.

BARN FIRE FOUGHT

Three Macomb County fire departments were called out yesterday evening to fight a barn fire in Washington Township.

Thirty head of cattle and 1,200 bales of hay were consumed by the blaze at 28 Mile and Mt. Vernon, Romeo State Police said. The Shelby Township and Romeo departments assisted the Washington Township department.

The fire, for which no cause has been established, started at about 6:30 p.m. in the barn, owned by Burel Boggs, 57500 Van Dyke, Washington Township.

Broken Leg Ends Pair's Tiff Over Car

ANN ARBOR (UPI) — It's doubtful that Bill Keaton will want to tangle with his sister Joyce over use of the family car again.

Bill, 19, and Joyce, 26, were squabbling yesterday over who was going to get the car. Joyce dashed out of the house and began backing the auto down the driveway.

But Bill, apparently planning an interception, hopped on the hood. Joyce slammed on the brakes and her brother fell off and slipped his leg under a wheel.

He's in the hospital now, nursing a compound fracture of the leg.

Cycle Bandit Treads Lightly

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Someone stole a motorcycle yesterday from the home of Russell W. Reid, 1810 Lochaven, according to township police.

The thief may have picked the bike up and carried it on his back, for police found no tracks to the street despite snow. The bike was taken from a front porch where it was kept.

Police said the motorcycle reportedly was broken and will not run. It was a 1968 red and black Bultaco.

Wreck May Hold Clue to Fate of Missing Six

HONOLULU (AP) — The Hawaii Civil Air Patrol and the U.S. Coast Guard yesterday found what might be the wreckage of a light plane that disappeared Sept. 23 with six persons aboard, four of them Michigan women.

Those aboard were Air Force Lt. Robert Van Vossen 24, of Cicero, Ill., the pilot; Everett Hoeks, 24, of Westchester, Ill.; Betsey Van Dyke, 20, of Grand Rapids; Metty Boer, 22, and Marlys Vis, 21 both of Wyoming; Michael, and Joanne Elsinga, 23 of Holland, Mich.

Their rented white plane, a single-engine Cherokee Six, was the object of an extensive one-week search when it disappeared on a one-day outing to Hawaii Island from Honolulu.

2 Suspects Face Trial in Holdups at 7 Gas Stations

Two suspects in a series of seven area gas station robberies are awaiting trial in Macomb County Circuit Court.

Ronald Leroy Sands, 20, and Richard Lee Succaride, 27, both of whom gave their addresses as Rochester, were examined by Harrison Township Justice Edmund Schmidt and were remanded to Macomb County Jail. Bond was continued at $7,500 each.

The pair is accused of five robberies between 10 p.m. and 4 p.m. the night of Dec. 2, as well as two additional holdups which occurred the previous weekend.

State Police from the Romeo post arrested Sands and Succaride in the parking area of the Town Circle Restaurant at 4415 Van Dyke, Utica, less than two miles from the scene of one robbery.

The pair allegedly had about $280 in their possession in a brown paper bag when arrested, police said.

Service stations in Pontiac Township, Avon Township, Shelby Township, Pontiac and Troy were among those robbed, according to police.

2 Men Arraigned in Jewel Robbery

SOUTHGATE (AP) — Two Inxster men were arraigned yesterday in Southgate on charges stemming from a $12,000 jewelry store robbery Saturday, at which a woman clerk said a bandit tried to shoot her, but the gun misfired.

The two men, Columbus Thompson, 21, and Raymond Hunter, 23, stood mute at their arraignment before Southgate Municipal Judge Jerome Devanzo and automatic pleas of innocent were entered.

They were remanded to Wayne County Jail in lieu of $15,000 bonds each.

Lincoln Park Police said they arrested the two about ten minutes after the robbery of the Purdy Jewelry Co. in Southgate Saturday.

Police said they recovered the $12,000 in jewelry and confiscated two revolvers, revolvers.

Police said that Mrs. Esther Gazel, a clerk, and the owner, Earl Pannell, 39, were forced into a back room by two men, before they grabbed the diamonds.

One robber jammed his revolver into Mrs. Gazel's stomach and pulled the trigger twice, the gun misfiring both times, police said.

Winter Adult Term Set by Huron Valley

High school, college, and graduate courses as well as recreational and hobby courses will be included in the winter term of the Huron Valley Adult Education program.

Both Oakland Community College and Wayne State University are establishing extension centers as part of the adult education program held at Milford High School.

The eight new OCC courses, which range from introduction to psychology through English and history to introduction to business, will begin the week of Jan. 13.

The classes will be from 7 to 10 p.m. one evening a week for 15 weeks. Tuition is $9 per credit hour for college district students.

ELIGIBILITY LISTED

Any high school graduate, non-high school graduate older than 19, or current high school senior with permission from parents and high school principal can attend an OCC credit course.

Pre registration is the week of Jan. 6 in the Milford High School Counseling office, 2300 S. Milford Road, Milford, from 9 a.m. through 9 p.m. Monday through Wednesday and from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Thursday and Friday. Registration also will be accepted the first night of class.

Wayne State will offer three graduate courses in education and psychology beginning Jan. 7. The sessions meet for 11 weeks. Normal Wayne State course fees apply.

Contact Milford High School for additional information on adult education courses.

Information on financial assistance to students may be obtained through area high schools or from the student personnel offices at each OCC campus or from the College Financial Aids office, 2400 Opdyke, Bloomfield Hills.

Location Is Set District Court

WALLED LAKE — Facilities for the 52nd District Court, First Division, will be located in the present municipal courtroom until the court wing is added to the City Hall.

The new district designated in the recent lower court reorganization includes the townships of Lyon, Novi, Rose, Highland, Milford and Commerce. Cases now being handled by the justices of the peace and municipal judges will be handed over when the new district court begins operation Jan. 1.

Two magistrates will be appointed to assist with the volume of work necessitated by the changeover.

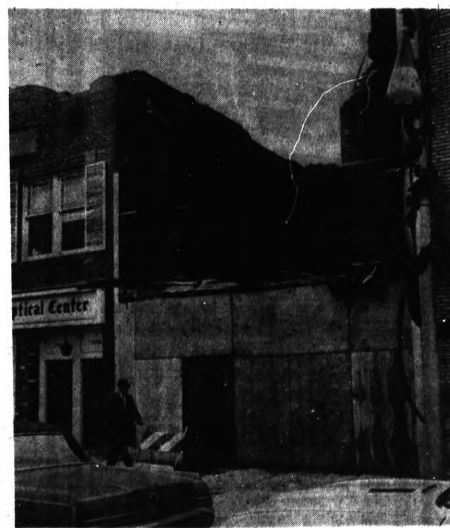

Walled Lake city council is considering the possibility of a separate traffic violation bureau where tickets may be paid directly without going to court, according to city manager Royce Downey.

EIGHT-ROOM WING

The new court wing, to be at least eight rooms, is being added to the west end of the municipal building.

Construction is to start in February and the building should be in use by August according to Downey. Architects for the 3,000 square-foot addition are Bruno Leon and Associates, Inc. of Detroit.

The District judge will be Martin Boyle, presently Milford justice of the peace. Boyle, whose parents were one of the original families in Walled Lake, was elected to the post last November.

SCENE OF FIRE — The boarded front and fire-scarred brick are left as evidence of Case's Hardware Store in downtown Rochester, gutted by a blaze early Thursday morning. Damage is estimated at more than $100,000 in the fire, according to city officials. Firemen from Troy, Brooklands, Lake Orion and Avondale assisted the Rochester department in fighting the blaze.

22 Survive Mountain Ordeal

MANCHESTER, Vt. (AP) — Twenty high school hikers and two teachers, trapped on Mt. Tabor when a rain turned to a blinding snowstorm, lasted the night in a lean-to by singing songs and pairing off to watch for signs of frostbite.

The nine girls, 11 boys and teachers from the hiking club of Shenendowad High School at Ballston Spa, N.Y., were brought down Sunday by rescuers. They had kept warm by a fire on the lean-to's shelves plus dead wood found in the area.

Two girls, Janice Naylor, 16, and Virginia Morton, 17, suffered frostbitten feet. After treatment by Dr. Clifford B. Harwood, who accompanied the rescuers, the girls were allowed to accompany their school mates home. Then they were admitted to a hospital in Schenectady, near Elmira, where a spokesman said they were in good spirits and would be discharged in two days.

The 20 students, led by teachers Martin H. Granger, 32, of Ballston Spa, N.Y., and Daniel Willis of Elmira, started the hike over the Long Trail between Mt. Tabor and Bromley, a ski resort, Saturday.

MISSING PATH
Snow, winds of up to 50 miles an hour and zero cold forced the group to seek shelter. Granger said the party missed a side path, realized it was near dark, and took shelter in the lean-to, using a machete to cut down fire wood.

"We never sleep, it was too cold," said Lynn Focht, 17. "We sang and talked."

"It rained for an hour and a half after we started walking," she said. "We all got soaked. None of us had ever walked in this area before."

After the group's bus driver reported that they failed to make their rendezvous point, a search was started by more than 50 persons, some traveling in snowmobiles or on snow shoes.

The group was found at noon Sunday when the rifle shots of a searcher were answered by shouts.

Searchers located a boarded up hunting lodge nearby, broke in and built a fire to warm the students and teachers before taking them to a lodge at the trail's start where some parents had gathered.

'Holiday Spirit Dampened by Theft of Decorations'
The Christmas season is upon us with peace, goodwill toward men, and bulb snatchers are out in force. It seems a shame that when people try to brighten the holidays by putting out decorations, others try to dampen their spirits by stealing them. If the person who took 31 blue bulbs from our outdoor lights will come back, I will give him the rest of the bulbs and the string to help him enjoy his Christmas.

It Seems to Me ...
Cabinet of President Elect Reflects Sound Judgment

The dozen are with us. The United States has a new Board of Directors to supervise and guide the greatest Nation in the world. President-elect RICHARD M. NIXON has named his cabinet and the citizens of the Country have applauded with solid satisfaction.
Michigan is glad to have one of her citizens in this select circle of distinguished Americans. Governor George Romney has earned the recognition and deserves a place in the world's highest group of national administrators. These men constitute the most important single group extant. They are responsible for the activities, achievements and accomplishments of the greatest nation there is. They call the shots.
On their shoulders rest the heaviest responsibilities. They administer to the needs of their own Nation with a wary and understanding eye on international affairs. All nations—great and small—look to the United States for leadership. To a great extent the world plays "follow the leader" willy-nilly. Some do it easily, some do it cautiously and some do it in patent rebellion; but they all study the procedures here.
There are a few disgruntled diehards who scoff at some of the selections but this is an inevitable part that malcontents always play. The criticism has done no damage. Honest appraisals and evaluations will come as a result of activities in the times ahead and will be based on results and achievements or failures.
President-elect Nixon picked a straight GOP group. He will have prominent Democrats in his over-all setup, but final cabinet decisions rest on the shoulders of these men. The GOP will rise or fall on their records.
Make no mistake about that.
Most Republicans and most neutral sources are accepting the Nixon nominations with very definite satisfaction and complete equanimity. The backbiters and irreconcilables are far outnumbered. They bray to the moon and howl alone.
Mr. President, we commend you for your selections and feel the Nation is looking forward to a constructive four years in the period ahead.
"On with the dance.
"Let joy be unconfined."

David Lawrence Says:
Vote Points Up Need for Reform

WASHINGTON — The official figures of the 1968 presidential election which have just been formally announced tell a significant story that may have a bearing on the much-discussed proposals for a reform in the electoral college system.
LAWRENCE
Nixon got a majority of the ballots cast; only within 15 states. This netted him 79 electoral votes. Humphrey obtained a majority in six states and the District of Columbia, for a total of 48 electoral votes. Wallace won a majority in two states and received thereby 17 electoral votes.
Looking at it another way, it will be noted that 23 states and the District of Columbia gave a majority to one or the other of the candidates, whereas 27 states accorded their electoral votes to a candidate who did not win a majority.
When there are two presidential candidates in the field, there is no such problem. But when three candidates get into the race, many of the electoral votes are won by a plurality rather than a majority vote.
BETTER APPLIED?
Would the principle of a majority be better applied if each congressional district, instead of a state, were the electoral unit?
There have been such proposals advanced on the theory that a majority of a district would more often be won by a single candidate even in a three-way race.
The argument is based on the idea that attention would be focused on congressional districts and that candidates for the House of Representatives would find themselves less inclined to depart from their own party or to give what amounts sometimes to passive support of a presidential nominee of a third party.
If the congressional districts were by constitutional amendment designated as the electoral units, the redistricting process would have to be more efficiently carried out than it is today.
ONLY WAY
But the mere establishment of the congressional district as the electoral unit would not get rid of the disadvantages of a three-cornered presidential race.
The only way to provide dissenting factions with a chance to vote for someone of their own choosing would be to create a presidential-preference primary to be held on the same day throughout the country.
The candidate of each party who obtained a majority — or plurality — of all states would be the nominee for the final contest which would be limited to the two opposing nominees.
If the voters didn't like the nominee who won a majority or plurality in their own party, they still would be free to vote for the nominee of the opposing party in the final election. This often occurs as a result of run-offs in gubernatorial primaries.
But the country would in any event be spared a multiple race, because at present any candidate can get on the ballot in the November election if he has enough funds and represents a sectional or factional vote of substantial size.

Discusses Roads in Western Oakland County
It looks like The Pontiac Press, citizens of Pontiac and the City would like to knock out the proposed I75 in favor of widening M59, like they knocked out Northwestern 11 years ago. There is no paved road north and south between Pontiac and U.S. 23. I think western Oakland County should get some consideration on roads.

Asks Questions About Taxes in Waterford
Possibly someone could tell me how to get our name on our tax statement. We have tried for seven years by calling, writing, and even going to the Waterford Township office. We live in a 20-year-old home and have found that much newer brick homes with finished basements, two fireplaces and more than one bathroom pay anywhere from $100 to $150 less tax. It doesn't surprise me Waterford is in such a fix. How do we get our taxes reduced?

Question and Answer
At the west bound intersection of West Huron and Elizabeth Lake Road there's a question of who belongs in which lane. Twice I've been crowded into the curb there, once deliberately. The driver demanded that I get in my own lane. This is hazardous and markings should leave no doubt. Is action being taken to improve this?
CONCERNED

REPLY
Action has been taken. Mr. Folkers of Oakland County Road Commission says a solid white line has been painted to guide traffic into the proper lanes. He said this should correct the situation, but they'll be watching it in case additional measures are needed.

Question and Answer
Can you tell me of a company that sells precision-tailored auto seat covers which are guaranteed for as many years as we own the car, regardless of what caused the damage? We always got ours from a Minnesota company, but there's no choice of pattern and we don't like the one they're using.
E. M.

REPLY
An extensive check of dealers who handle auto seat covers failed to find any other company with that kind of a guarantee.

Hunting Season Tragedy ...

It's difficult to forget that little girl who was shot by a trigger-happy adult during the hunting season. Without ever having done a wrong, her soul departs into Eternity. The killer remains.
This "marksman" says he "thought she was a deer." How can anyone possess so little intelligence? How can anyone kill a 13-year-old girl, thinking she's a wild animal?
The curse this culprit bears the rest of his life will never repay the wrong he has done. The Maker above must deal with something like this in the Great Hereafter.

Support for Law Defenders ...

It's a painful duty to disagree with a position taken by Senator GEORGE W. KUHN, of West Bloomfield Township. This observant legislator said he would propose "stiffer penalties for police officers convicted of a serious crime."
Basically, everyone convicted of a serious crime deserves stiff penalties. But it's time the legislature, the courts, the judges, the juries and all concerned punish the lawbreakers instead of the law defenders.
Certainly a policeman can become unnecessarily rough. That's a part of life. There are a few ministers, bishops and clergy that break laws, also. Perhaps you do occasionally. This is true of the police.
But they richly deserve support. Stand behind them.
If one commits a palpable mistake, you can't blame the whole profession. They're an especially honorable, worthy, conscientious group. They struggle against odds today to preserve your own private life and property. I stand with the officers. I support and back them to the hilt. If we need "stiffer penalties" for wrongdoers, let's concentrate on the crooks, the burglars, the murderers, the ar-vists, the rapists and the thieves. Let's put our corrective time and attention where it's most needed.
I admire and respect law-enforcing agencies. They deserve applause.

And in Conclusion ...

Jottings from the well-thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter:

MacArthur Seems Alive in Tour of His Memorial

NORFOLK, Va. — It is almost a surprise not to meet Gen. Douglas MacArthur in person when you conclude your tour of his memorial, which has come to be known as the Wall of Known Soldiers.
The general is very much alive in the mementos, show-cases, murals, manuscripts and objects-de-guerre that fill the well-oriented memorial in a building around conquered but adoring Tokyo, and replicas of the office he occupied as Army chief of staff (1930-35) and his office-bedroom in the Waldorf Towers where he wrote his memoirs in pencil on large yellow pads.
As of this week, 1,277,589 visitors had come to his shrine.
Following the rules of the course, they looked upon his hosts of medals, U.S. and foreign, beginning with his Medal of Honor. (He was put in for it three times over the years and wars.) At first, California police said they thought that Eldridge Cleaver wanted to avoid the symbolism of "surrender to white officers" and therefore was waiting around San Francisco to be arrested as a parole violator.
Now the police suggest in their gentle fashion that the Black Panther leader has become a "deliberate fugitive." He is long overdue on a date with his parole officer to return to prison.
This is kid gloves treatment of a man who demands that Negroes cure their social ills by killing white people. It is part of the mushy-brained simplicity which permitted this man to appear as an invited lecturer on racism at the University of California at Berkeley.
He went to prison after being convicted of rape, assault to commit murder and assault with a deadly weapon. Paroled after nine years, he promptly did "two things": Wrote a bestseller detailing his crimes and became involved in a gun fight with Oakland police during which he was wounded and a teenage Black Panther was killed.

Rumors put Cleaver variously in Canada, in Cuba, in Sweden and other distant places, presumably safe from U.S. prison keepers. We hope rumor is correct. The farther away from the United States he can be sent, the better for us.

New Gun Law in Effect

Christmas Present All Year

By YOLANDA BENAVIDES

Sarah (Mrs. Richard) Young's workshop is a little girl's paradise as some 200 young ladies (some well over the doll house stage by now) can attest. Like the famed Christmas Eve visitor, however, Mrs. Young has no 'workshop' as such, but works year round on special holiday remembrances for little girls.

This year, as in the past nine, Mrs. Young has clothed 25 smiling 'baby dolls' from crocheted shoes to hand-sewn dress and cap, for distribution by the General Motors Girls Club of Pontiac.

As with the initial 25, Mrs. Young starts working on the wardrobes as early as January. From her own, as well as friends' and neighbors' leftover yarns and materials, she passes the months whipping up caps, booties and dresses in an endless array of colors and patterns.

Her tool kit and constant companion over the years has been an everyday brown paper bag, filled with bits and ends of calico and bright yarns which she pulls out whenever the time allows.

TIME LAG

Oddly enough, time, or too much of it, started Sarah on this annual campaign back in 1958.

At the time her family had just moved to their present Independence Township home on Hummingbird Lane and were not familiar with the community.

The Young children, son Fred, now a pilot for United Airlines with a family of his own in Chicago, and their daughter, now Mrs. Terry Kelley of Clarkson, — were well in their teens.

"I just found myself with too much time on my hands," concludes Mrs. Young.

In response, husband Richard, who is with the customer relations department at Pontiac Motor Division, suggested Sarah help out with the annual Christmas project taken on by the GMC Girls Club.

Free time now, however, is confined to coffee breaks, lunch time, or when the pace slows down a bit at Von Reale where she's been gal Friday for three years.

Activity in the community finds her an active participant in the Order of Eastern Star, where she serves as first vice president of the Oakland County Association.

With over 24 chapters under her jurisdiction, Mrs. Young, who has been active in OES for 18 years, chuckles at the thought of finding 'free time.'

NO SPARE MOMENTS

Once official duties are tended to, it's back to the needlework or a good book.

With the holidays less than a week away, the dolls, now on annual display at Pontiac Retail Store, will soon be on their way for distribution by area service clubs and union locals.

The journey ends in a little girl's waiting arms.

Although the particular discussion now remains confidential, Dr. Peale says that ordinarily in meeting with candidates for marriage, he goes into their general relationships, attitudes and values.

"I tell them to be patient, to be a team and that neither one of them is the boss," he said. "They are equals and should work together, supporting each other's weaknesses and strengths."

"I get them talking about how they feel about each other. I try to tell them they are going to be really happy if they feel romantically about each other all their lives."

Especially, however, he emphasizes common prayer.

Damp, Dark Basement No Place to Entertain

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: With the holidays just around the corner, I'd like to say something about the way some people "entertain."

When I entertain guests in my home, I invite them into my living room. I have friends who invite us over for a party, and everybody is herded down the basement. It's fixed up real nice down there, but it's always a little bit damp and dark and uncomfortable. Besides, I resent getting all dressed up to stand around in somebody's cellar.

What are these people afraid of? That somebody might mess up their living room?

RUTHIE

DEAR RUTHIE: There is no defense for people who entertain in a basement that's "damp, dark, and uncomfortable." But the way some careless guests handle their cigarettes and drinks, they should be entertained in a barn!

DEAR ABBY: I have always had the feeling that my mother-in-law never cared for me very much although heaven knows I have tried my best to make her like me. I married her favorite son, but I am far from her favorite daughter-in-law.

What bothers me most is this: Everywhere you look in her house you see pictures of her "children" — sons, daughters, and their husbands and wives, but there is not one picture of me.

I gave her a big tinted picture of me in my wedding gown, but I have never seen it displayed anywhere. Since that time I have given her other pictures of me, but she hasn't put any of them out either. I am not an ugly girl, Abby. In fact people say I am the prettiest of her four daughters-in-law.

I keep asking my husband what his mother has against me and he says, "Nothing." What should I do? About the pictures, I mean?

HURT

DEAR HURT: I'll tell you what not to do. Don't bug your husband about it. He is not his mother's keeper.

DEAR ABBY: My conscience is bothering me and I have other problems, too. I'm a 15-year-old girl who everybody thinks is a "very nice girl." But I'm not as nice as they think I am.

My girl friend and I went to a movie one night and we let ourselves be picked up by a couple of guys. They had a car so we went for a ride afterwards, and we parked and went out (only light pecking — nothing serious), but we really aren't "pickups" and we don't know what made us act like that.

Well, I've seen this guy a couple of times on the sneak since then, but he doesn't ever want to come in and meet my parents, and all he ever wants is to go out and park with me. I really like this guy and he is on my mind day and night. How can I make it a respectable relationship? I feel ashamed and dirty.

UFTEEN

DEAR FIFTEEN: Even a "nice" girl can act on an impulse and behave foolishly once. But she cheapens herself when she meets a boy "on the sneak" to make out with him. A boy who refuses to meet a girl's parents is bad news. Don't see him again.

CONFIDENTIAL TO

ABOUT IT." Slow down, Soldier. If this is the kind of love that will last forever (and that's the only kind worth marrying for) it will last until you finish your hitch. If the girl has truly "reformed," she won't object to your "sending for her" after you've returned home and have had a chance to think about it objectively.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, in care of The Pontiac Press, Dept. E-600, P.O. Box 9, Pontiac, Mich. 48066 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

As if the pre-holiday rush and a week of final exams at the University of Michigan weren't enough to keep a coed in a fluster, Elaine Milliken, learned that her father was soon to be the next governor of Michigan. Elaine is shown in front of her Collegiate Sorority house in Ann Arbor.

Study Club to Meet

Mrs. John McNeely will act as leader and Mrs. Ervin Christie as sponsor at Wednesday's meeting of the Parliamentary Study Club.

This demonstration regular meeting at 1:30 p.m. in the YWCA will feature: Question of privilege; Division of the question; Withdrawal of a motion; Point of order; An appeal; Committee of the whole.

"Marriages really work out when a couple starts on the first day to praying together," he said. "I mean that each says a few words of prayer aloud. They hear each other praying. They must never fail to do that."

A zest for full-hearted, abundant living has been a hallmark of Dr. Peale's widespread ministry, and he sometimes has been accused of offering an overly rosy, comforting view of the hard realities.

The "cult of reassurance" some theological critics call his work, saying it seems to suggest a simple, pat optimism about human potentialities, while Christianity stresses an awareness of man's chronic frailties.

Peale's weekly column "Confident Living," appears Saturdays in The Pontiac Press.

'Messiah' Scheduled by Choral, Orchestra

Handel's "Messiah" will be presented in Ford Auditorium on Dec. 21 by the Kenneth Jewell Choral. The 1:30 p.m. performance will be accompanied by a concert ensemble of Detroit Symphony Orchestra members with Mischa Mischakoff in the role of concertmaster.

Barbara Windham, alto, of Dell Rose Drive and Irene Edinger, soprano, of Birmingham, are two of the Choral's ten soloists for the performance.

This is a premiere occasion for area audiences — the first time that a professional Choral of area vocal artists will have presented this work with orchestral accompaniment as the composer conceived it.

Tickets are available through the Ford Auditorium box office, J. L. Hudson's major stores and all Grinnell's stores.
