Grand Finish for Rough Year

$200 Pot-O-Gold Winner Sure His Luck is Changing

"I thought someone was trying to play a joke on us," commented Mrs. Norman L. Thompson, of 5396 Carroll Lake Rd., as she looked at a $200 check won by her husband in The Pontiac Press' weekly Pot-O-Gold contest.

Her 48-year-old spouse, who was pretty sure it was all true when The Press called him this morning, just smiled and spoke optimistically of his prize as a "sign of better luck in 1957."

Thompson, currently on sick leave from his job in the tool crib at Pontiac's Fisher Body plant, was given his $200 after one of his three entries for Puzzle 29 was adjudged the only winner among thousands submitted last week.

The Milford father of a 15-year-old son and two daughters, aged 12 and 9, says the money has "plenty of places" to be used.

"The first thing I'm going to do is buy a load of coal," he said.

Thompson looks back at 1956 as a year of bad luck. He has been on sick leave since August, and is presently recuperating from a major surgical operation performed in October. "I even started out the year in a hospital," he said.

"But now my luck has changed—I can feel it," he added.

Thompson claims no sure-fire method of becoming a winner in the giant word contest. Asked if he makes extensive use of a dictionary, he said "once in awhile."

"Mostly, though, I just work them out, averaging about three entries a week."

The winner has been a resident of the Milford area since 1934 when he first went to work at Fisher Body.

Presentation of the prize to Thompson sets current prize money in the Pot-O-Gold at $100, for contestants who turn in entries in Puzzle 30 by midnight tonight.

Watch Monday's Pontiac Press for a new puzzle in the exciting word game—Pot-O-Gold.

Real Cool, Man; So, 'Cats,' Kittens Keep the Mittens

Continued cold and mostly cloudy weather is forecast for the Pontiac area tonight and tomorrow, with occasional snow flurries likely.

Low tonight will reach 16 to 20 degrees, high tomorrow, 24-28. At 2 p.m. the temperature in downtown Pontiac was 21. degrees.

Preceeding 8 a.m. the lowest temperature recorded in downtown Pontiac was 18 degrees.

Cold weather and snow is the outlook for much of the northeastern half of the country today. Heavy snowfall is indicated for the New England area, with colder air extending southward over the Great Lakes region into western Tennessee. Near zero temperatures have been recorded in parts of upper Michigan.

Holiday Rest Due for Workers

For Some: Four Hours on Monday Shifts; Others Take it Easy

Thousands of factory and county workers are beginning another four-day weekend today.

All local General Motors plants, plus the American Forge and Socket Co. and Baldwin Rubber Co. announced no work the Monday preceding New Year's Day.

A Fisher Body Division spokesman said first and second shifts of the fabricating plant will, like Dec. 24, work four-hour shifts on Monday.

County offices will be closed all day Monday, while city offices will close at noon. Most state offices will maintain regular Monday hours.

Both local banks and the Pontiac Federal Savings and Loan Assn. offices will be open Monday from 10 until 3.

Cold? Well Not Enough for Skating, at Least

No skating is available yet at the 12 city ice rinks, William Aho, Pontiac Parks supervisor, announced today.

"We're still waiting for that cold, cold weather to freeze the ground sufficiently so we can flood," Aho explained.

Renames Summerfield

AUGUSTA, Ga. (INS) — President Eisenhower announced today he will nominate Arthur Summerfield for another term as postmaster-general, ending speculation that the former GOP chairman might resign from the Cabinet.

High Toll Seen

2 Deaths Begin Long Weekend

By International News Service

Two persons have died in Michigan highway crashes in the early hours of the long New Year's weekend.

The first holiday traffic fatality reported in the nation was that of 75-year-old Mrs. Louise Woodbury of Monroe County's Whiteford Township.

She was struck and killed at 6:10 p.m. last night when she crossed the road in front of her home to pick up mail. The driver, 29-year-old Francis Iott of Deerfield, is to make a formal statement today at the Monroe County prosecutor's office.

The other victim, 31-year-old Walter Janiga of Dearborn, was driving a stolen car when he was killed early this morning. He rammed a truck on Telegraph Road in Dearborn while traveling at a high rate of speed. Police said Janiga lost control of the vehicle on a curve.

It was learned after the mishap that the car Janiga was driving had been stolen from a car lot Dec. 7.

Two other persons died on state roads yesterday before the holiday count started at 6 p.m.

Nation-wide, 37 persons have died in the first few hours of the four-day New Year's holiday.

But the National Safety Council, which predicted that 490 persons will die in traffic accidents from 6 p.m. Friday until midnight Tuesday, expects fatalities to mount rapidly because of bad weather in the eastern portion of the country.

Last year 407 persons died during the three-day New Year's weekend.

The toll so far this week was running under the figure set a week ago when 40 persons were killed in the first 13 hours of counting.

Texas has listed four deaths since 6 p.m. Friday. Massachusetts and Washington had three each and Illinois two. But the leader with six was Pennsylvania.

President Eisenhower, appalled by loss of life in Christmastime traffic accidents, appealed to the American people to drive carefully during the New Year's weekend. He said:

"We can make this the safest New Year's weekend on record, if we want to."

The Christmas traffic toll was 706, the highest for any holiday period. In addition, 54 persons were killed in fires and 124 others lost their lives in falls and other accidents for a total of 884. That overall total also was a record.

The record traffic toll for the combined Christmas-New Year holidays was 973 set last year.

Reckless Drivers to Go to Jail, Says Governor

LANSING (AP) — State Police have been ordered to throw all drunk and reckless drivers in jail over the New Year weekend, Gov. William announced.

"Any motorist caught in a serious traffic violation over the weekend can expect to spend all or part of the holiday period in jail," Williams said.

Since the courts will be closed from Saturday to Wednesday, with the exception of Monday, a violator could stay in jail over the weekend and the New Year holiday too.

Williams ordered the move as part of the program to keep New Year fatalities below the Christmas highway toll of 34.

In addition to the crackdown on drunk and reckless drivers, the governor said State Police will be operating at full strength and 202 National Guardsmen will be called out for traffic work.

In Detroit, five Detroiters were in jail for drunk or reckless driving today despite the governor's warning.

10 Republicans Vie for Top Spot

Name Birmingham Man Among Candidates for Party Chairmanship

Richard Van Deusen, of Birmingham has his hat in the ring for the post of GOP state chairman that John Feikens is about to vacate.

Van Deusen was among 10 Republicans whose names were mentioned for the party's top job at a closed meeting yesterday in Lansing of the Republican policy board.

VAN DEUSEN

The new chairmen will be chosen at the Republican convention in Detroit, Feb. 9, where candidates for the spring election will be selected.

Van Deusen was a candidate for election as attorney general in last fall's election. Other party leaders under consideration for state chairman include:

J. Addington Wagner, of Battle Creek, former national commander of the American Legion; Paul Bagwell, Michigan State University professor; James Schoener, of Muskegon; State Sen. Creighton Coleman, of Battle Creek; Mat Budner, of Flint; Al Fortino, of St. Louis; Bernie Reynolds, of Allegan; Robert Childs, of Detroit, and Montgomery Sheppard, of St. Joseph.

Candidates were considered for the various posts that will be filled in the spring election. These include State Highway Commissioner, membership on the University of Michigan Board of Regents and the state Supreme Court justice, and other positions.

* * *

Oakland County delegates to the Detroit convention will be the same as those elected at the fall primary election, in accordance with state law, county headquarters announced.

The delegation will be made official at the county convention at 8 p.m. Jan. 30 on the fourth floor of the County Office building, 1 Lafayette St.

Your Social Security Tax Will Be Just a Bit Higher

"Quite a few provisions of the 1956 Amendments to the Social Security Act are going into effect with the New Year," says Wesley Dorr, manager of the Pontiac Social Security Office.

According to Dorr, the provisions that will affect the most people will be an increase in the social security tax. It's going up ¼ of a per cent for both employer and employee and will be noticed in the first pay checks in January.

The new tax rate is intended to help finance the new program of cash benefits for totally disabled workers at age 50. "The first checks on this program won't be sent out until August," said Dorr, "but some people will be entitled to disability benefits effective in January."

This is because another section of the 1956 Amendments provides for payment of benefits to some disabled, dependent children of retired or deceased workers, even if the "children" are over the age of 18.

The new year also brings some changes to employers of farm labor. Instead of the old $100 rule, a farm worker is under social security only if he is paid $1150 or more cash wages or if the worker does farm work for an employer on 20 or more days in the year for cash pay figured on a time basis (rather than a piece rate basis).

"This is a good time also to remind social security beneficiaries who earned over $1,200 in 1956 that it is annual report time," added Dorr.

The law requires any social security beneficiary who was under 72 during the year and who earned over $1,200 in wages or self-employment income to make a report.

Finally, Jan. 1 brings servicemen under social security.

Mad Bomber's Plans Go 'Poof!'

Scare Hits New York City

Police Hunt Mad Bomber

NEW YORK (AP)—Police pursued their all-out hunt today for New York's "Mad Bomber" after being snowed under by 36 bomb scares in a 24-hour period.

Things got so bad by late yesterday that Chief of Detectives James B. Leggett sharply curtailed the activities of his bomb squad. He ordered the 34-man squad to respond only to those calls in which a suspicious object had been found.

One man questioned in the investigation died of a heart attack.

A suspicious object was found early today in the Times Square Theater. The 12-inch pipe object, capped at both ends but found to contain only wadded paper, was found lying near the stage.

The theater official who made the discovery summoned police, who found it harmless. Some 350 persons in the movie house at the time were unaware of the incident.

Yesterday's wave of calls, attributed by police to cranks and crackpots, kept authorities in an almost continuous state of activity. At one juncture, calls were pouring into police headquarters at the rate of one a minute.

The alarms sent police scurrying around the city into skyscrapers, subway stations, theaters, churches, hotels and bus and rail terminals.

It caused police to intensify their hunt for the diabolical "Mad Bomber" who has planted some 33 bombs in the city since 1940. Twenty-two have exploded, injuring 15 persons. No deaths have resulted. Rewards totaling $26,000 have been posted for the maniac's capture.

The discovery which caused the greatest alarm occurred last night at Madison Square Garden where some 10,000 persons were attending a holiday college basketball tournament. A suspicious looking pipe object, wrapped in a white sock, was found in a lower level lavatory of the arena.

New Blaze Threatening Palos Verdes Estates Now Under Control

FROM OUR WIRE SERVICES

MALIBU, Calif. — A home-made incendiary bomb was found today by police investigating the cause of a new disastrous Southern California brush fire which has burned one home in the exclusive Palos Verdes Estates and caused more that 150 palatial mansions to be abandoned.

One suspect has been arrested by officers and another is being sought for the diabolical arson crime.

Fast action by local and Los Angeles County firemen brought Southern California's latest brush fire under control in only a few hours today.

No homes in this exclusive seaside development were reported burned although half a dozen in one section and a score or more in another were threatened. Fire leaders at both ends of the blaze said it was contained.

S. J. Turner, a battalion chief in the County Fire Department, estimated that 200 acres of brush burned.

The blaze was discovered by a police patrol car at 2:55 a.m. and was pronounced under control, barring unforeseen developments, about 5:15 a.m.

It started along Palos Verdes Drive West near Bluff Cove, between the Palos Verdes Community and a settlement known as Lundada Bay.

The general area is full of expensive homes, many in the $75,000 to $100,000 class.

Firefighters were dispatched from Torrence, Redondo Beach and Los Angeles to combat the Palos Verdes flames which lit up the sky for miles in the early morning hours.

The coastline fires were dotted over a curving 70-mile expanse from the Malibu area along Santa Monica Bay to Long Beach where the ruins of the naval barracks at Long Beach Terminal Island

Blood May Carry Warning Signs

Chemistry Tracks Elusive Diseases

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter

NEW YORK (AP)—A brand new kind of chemical test may come for early detection of hidden diseases—perhaps even some forms of cancer.

It would make simple chemical checks of your blood or other body body fluids. It would be an enzyme or "E" test.

This kind of detective work is already being used to help tell how badly a heart was damaged by a heart attack.

And it has helped spot a serious liver disease—infectious hepatitis—four to six weeks before there were any other signs of the disease.

Eventually it might lead to a blood or body-fluid test for very early detection of cancers, and might even tell where the cancer was located.

The latest research and potentialities of enzyme detection were described today to the American Assn. for the Advancement of Science by Dr. Felix Wroblewski of the Sloan-Kettering Institute, New York.

Enzymes are chemicals vital for the healthy functioning of the body cells. There are many kinds.

Diseases affecting body organs may release extra amounts of certain enzymes, which then appear in the blood or other fluids, Dr. Wroblewski explained.

Heart disease increases the amount of several different enzymes in the blood. This fact is being used to diagnose the severity of the attack.

Liver diseases put varying ratios of certain enzymes into the blood, with the amounts varying according to how severe the disease is, he continued.

By measuring enzyme levels, it is possible to detect infectious hepatitis long before there is any other clue, he said.

Increases in one type of enzyme in the blood have been found in some humans suffering from luekemia and certain cancers, Dr. Wroblewski said.

And there are signs this increase may also be detectable in other fluids, including spinal fluid or fluids accumulating in the chest or abdominal cavities in certain cases.

Eventually the enzyme test might detect cancer before it becomes malignant and begins spreading. That would give the best chance of cure.

Trucks Will Roll Over Weekend

Teamsters Union Head, James Hoffa Cancels Stoppage Plan

DETROIT (INS) — Trucks, like army caissons, will "go rolling along" on Michigan highways as usual this weekend.

James R. Hoffa, vice president of the Teamsters Union, yesterday canceled plans to stop almost all Michigan truck traffic from 9 a.m. today until 9 p.m. tomorrow.

* * *

The action, which would have flooded highways with more than 4,000 trucks when the stoppage ended, was to have been a demonstration against proposed legislation barring trucks from roads on weekends.

Hoffa called off the blockade after Detroit Mayor Albert E. Cobo pointed out such action would create grave traffic and economic problems.

The Teamster chief met with leaders of various fields in Cobo's office after the mayor was asked to intercede in the threatened 36-hour tieup.

Hoffa reserved the right to reinstate the blockade in the future if he does not receive pledges of support against the weekend ban, which is given little chance of passing in the state legislature.

tain nothing more harmful than a firecracker.

Similar devices were found throughout yesterday at Macy's department store, a doorway of a private home in Queens, a Manhattan movie theater and the Grand Central Terminal. All were fake bombs, fashioned to look like the authentic article.

* * *

Only two legitimate bombs have been found since Monday. The first explosive device was found in the city's main public library. The other was discovered early yesterday in the Paramount Theater in Times Square. Both missiles were traced to the "bomber."

A man identified as George Cermac, 63, Bethlehem, Pa., collapsed and died after he was seized yesterday in Grand Central Station. A harmless bomb-like device had been found there hours earlier.

* * *

Cermac collapsed and died of an apparent heart attack in a police station where he had been taken for further questioning.

Authorities said a pair of red socks were found in a shopping bag in his possession. He was seized after an unidentified person reported him for scurrying about the huge terminal in an allegedly suspicious manner.

Rosewall Turns Pro, Joins Kramer Troupe

ADELAIDE, Australia (AP)—Ken Rosewall, Australia's 22-year-old Davis Cup ace, signed a $65,000 contract early today to play with Jack Kramer's professional tennis troupe.

The announcement was made simultaneously in Sydney where Kramer, former U.S. tennis star, is busy completing last minute details, and in Adelaide where Rosewall attended the Davis Cup challenge round dinner Saturday night.

In addition to the $65,000 guarantee, Rosewall's contract calls for a five-per cent bonus of the gross gate and a 25 thousand dollar contract renewal for another year in case he beats Pancho Gonzales, the pro champion, over the tour. Rosewall also will receive 25 per cent of all receipts exceeding $300,000.

Revoke Three Newsmen's Passports; Were Warned Not to Enter Red China

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three American newsmen who entered Red China this week have had their passports revoked, except for travel back to the United States. They also may face legal action by the government.

* * *

The State Department yesterday announced the moves against William D. Worthy, a Negro reporter for the Baltimore Afro-American, and a Look magazine team-reporter Edmund Stevens and photographer Phillip Harrington.

It accused them of misusing their passports by going into Communist China where travel by Americans is banned under U.S. government policy. Newsmen of other nations face no such restrictions by their governments.

Worthy entered Communist China through Hong Kong last Monday. Stevens and Harrington were reported to have reached Peiping from Moscow last Wednesday.

* * *

In Baltimore, Editor C. W. MacKay of the Afro-American said "We do not care to comment." Look magazine, in New York, also declined comment on the State Department action.

The department said it had learned the three newsmen "have gone to Communist China despite the fact that the passports issued to them . . . were specifically marked not valid for travel to Communist China."

"As a result of this misuse of the passports issued to them, their passports will be made valid only for return to the United States."

The United States long has prohibited travel by its citizens in Red China, whose regime this country does not recognize diplomatically.

* * *

The main reason for the ban, however, is the continued imprisonment by China of 10 Americans, despite a Chinese agreement 16 months ago to free all U.S. citizens it had in prison or in detention. Some Americans were freed but the 10 have been kept back.

* * *

Last August, the Communist Chinese invited a number of American newsmen for a visit. But the State Department ruled against such travel, and the invitations were turned down.

Worthy, Stevens and Harrington were the first newsmen to defy the ban.

The hint of possible legal action against them came in a reference by the State Department to their cases "being called to the attention of the Treasury Department in view of the relevant provisions of the Trading with the Enemy Act."

* * *

Officials explained that act contains authority for possible punitive action against the three newsmen. For example, they said, the law would permit seizure of such assets of the newsmen as their bank accounts.

A few minutes earlier Grauzer had struck his wife, Elsie, 58, with an electric iron when she tried to pull her grandson, Michael Flynn, from the reach of her husband, who was kicking the child.

still glowed when the latest outbreak was reported.

State officials and firemen of two counties—Los Angeles and Ventura—made this tally of fire's rampage in the brush-covered mountains:

Destroyed—63 homes.
Burned brush and timber—27,000 acres.

The three fires in brief:

One whipped through Lake Sherwood yesterday, burning a half dozen homes in a matter of minutes, sending wildlife swimming for their lives in the lake, and scorching the area's fire station.

* * *

Another sudden blaze flared up near Malibu Thursday night, burning homes a few hundred yards from the Pacific Coast Highway, and twice forcing deputies to start evacuating the sheriff's substation.

The biggest of them all, a 26,500-acre burn at Zuma Beach, north of here, where even beach-front mansions were destroyed by flames which leapt across the four-lane coast highway.

Fierce desert winds, the scourge crews along miles of firelines, dwindled early today. For the first time in almost a week a moist sea breeze drifted across the mountains.

Encouraged by the change, Deputy State Forester James K. Mace said he believed the Lake Sherwood fire could be controlled by early tomorrow and the Malibu blaze snubbed under sometime today.

The Zuma fire was brought under control during the night. Gov. Goodwin Knight yesterday in Sacramento certified to President Eisenhower that an emergency existed in the Malibu area of Los Angeles County. He requested federal assistance.

Three Are Held in City Holdups

Police Claim Latest Confession Completes Probe of Crimes

Investigation of a series of holdups this month was about complete, Pontiac police say, with the arraignment yesterday of Velton Wilder, 18, of 476 Branch St.

Confessions by Wilder and two other men have definitely cleared up three of four stickups committed since Dec. 14 by masked bandits working in pairs or alone, Det. Sgt. John Williams said.

Wilder waived examination before Pontiac Municipal Judge Maurice E. Finnegan and was bound over for arraignment Wednesday in Circuit Court on a charge he helped rob the Progressive Oil Co. station, 477 S. Saginaw St. of $150 Dec. 20. He was returned to jail under $1,000 bond.

A second suspect, Kenneth Marshall, 18, of 314½ Wessen St. admitted the holdup with Wilder, Williams said.

Marshall and Joseph Page, 21, of 497 Ditmar Ave. yesterday pleaded guilty to the $56 stickup Dec. 17 of Riddick's Pharmacy, 373 Franklin Rd.

Questioning of the three men also cleared up the $110 robbery Dec. 14 of the Center Street Market, 10 Center St., Williams said.

Although none of the men admitted the $350 stickup Dec. 20 of the F. & W. Market, 62 Jackson St., authorities believe they were involved in it. The store owner was beaten.

Page and Marshall are held in jail both under $5,000 bonds awaiting sentence Jan. 21. All three men are charged with robbery armed.

Language Study Gains in Favor

More Students Below 6th Grade Instructed in Foreign Tongues

WASHINGTON (AP) — A language expert said today a spectacular boom in foreign language instruction in America's elementary schools holds promise of pulling the nation out of a 40-year slump in high school and college study in this field.

Kenneth W. Mildenberger, an official of the Modern Language Assn. (MLA), said a survey disclosed that more than 270,000 pupils below the sixth grade were receiving instruction in foreign languages last year—four times as many as in 1952. In 1941, he said, only 5,000 pupils were getting such work.

The survey was a joint project of the Association and the U.S. Office of Education.

Mildenberger, associate director of the association's foreign language program, was interviewed at the group's convention here.

The number of communities offering elementary school language instruction, he said, has increased from 90 in 1952 to 357 in 1955.

"The number of public elementary school children involved," Mildenberger said, "is already more than one-third the enrollment in modern foreign languages in the public high schools and is fast approaching the number studying these languages in college and university."

Association studies have shown that high school enrollments in French, German, Spanish and Italian reached a peak of 40 per cent of total high school enrollment in 1915, declined to about 14 per cent by 1949 and have remained about the same since then.

Canal Crew Waits for Final Go-Ahead

SUEZ, Egypt (AP) — Salvage workers stood by today to begin clearing major blocks from the Suez Canal. All they needed was the final go-ahead.

Both U. N. and Egyptian officials had said they expected the operation to begin yesterday at this southern terminus of the canal. But the day passed with a double blockage still clogging the key waterway: the wrecks in the channel and the technical obstacles delaying the start of salvage.

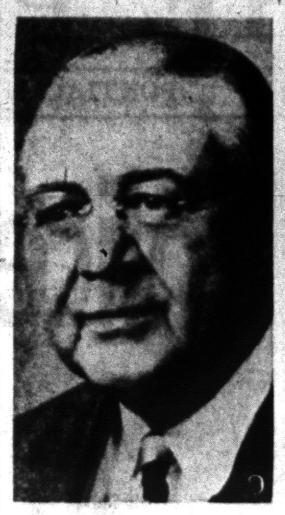

An official of the Egyptian Suez Canal Authority said no orders to start the work had been received from his headquarters at Ismailia, half way up the canal.

Sunken ships, damaged bridges and other debris still litter the channel, wreckage of the Suez fighting that lasted only six days nearly two months ago. Clearing them out is expected to be a long and complicated operation.

Hitchhiker Steals $20 From Local Samaritan

A Birmingham man's good deed in giving a ride to a young hitchhiker cost him $20, he told Pontiac police yesterday.

Leroy F. Ortopan, 843 Greenwood St., said the youth, about 15, took the money from the car glove compartment while Ortopan stopped for a minute for an errand on Oakland avenue.

Washington Market to Die With the Year

NEW YORK (AP)—The doors of the city-owned Washington Market — a place where you could buy whale or buffalo steak — will close forever New Year's Eve.

The city contends it is losing $137,000 a year on the 144-year-old landmark on lower West Street. It will sell the building to the highest bidder. A modern loft or industrial structure probably will rise on the site.

Flint Sells Play Site

FLINT (AP)—To get an Army Reserve Training Center for the Flint Branch of the University of Michigan, the City Commission has sold a six-acre recreation site.

The Kersley Grove was bought by the Flint College and Cultural Development Committee which will turn the land over to the Army for an armory. The price was $35,000.

Two Workers Killed in Saginaw Cave-in

SAGINAW (INS) — Two construction workers were killed near Saginaw yesterday in a sewer cave-in, but the project contractor, who also was in the 25-foot ditch at the time, was rescued.

Bernard Wolfgram, 42, the father of five, and Billy Earley, 34, the father of three, were replacing broken tile in the sewer connection of a home when one side of the 10-foot-long ditch caved in.

The contractor, Donald Bittner, 28, was saved by about 50 rescue workers who rushed to the scene. He apparently escaped death because he was in a corner of the sewer when the wall collapsed.

Police Correct Address

Pontiac police have corrected the address given for Charles Madrigal, 29, whom they suspect as a partner in the $2,700 burglary of the Dixie Discount store, 109 N. Saginaw St. Dec. 21.

The correct address, Det. James Bale said, is 1339 Locke St. The previous address listed by police, 1286 Locke, was wrong, Bale said.

Gets a Back Rub, a Pocket Picked for Price of $400

A sermon and a backrub cost Jake Hummer, of 2621 Granger Rd., Brandon Township, $400 yesterday when two women came a-preachin.'

Hummer told Sheriff's detectives that two women came to his house and told him they were trying to raise money for a church. Hummer said he listened to their story "due to the fact that it was religion." He said one of the women talked to his sister while the other talked to him.

"She told me I looked sick," said Hummer, "and started to rub my back. She said she'd go and get some salt and come right back. But they both left and didn't return. That's when I noticed my wallet was missing."

Hummer said the wallet contained all his personal papers and over $400 in cash.

Hooded Men Shoot Negro Woman

'Integrated' Bus Raided in South

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A Negro woman was shot in both legs while riding an integrated city bus at Montgomery, Ala., and a high school band director was beaten by hooded men near Camden, S.C. in new outbursts of racial violence in the Deep South.

* * *

Mrs. Rosa Jordan, 22, Montgomery, was the first victim of gunfire in the spreading Southern controversy over segregation on city buses. She was reported in fair condition in a Montgomery hospital.

Investigators said Mrs. Jordan was riding toward the rear of a bus last night when a bullet, apparently from a pistol, slammed into the vehicle near the floor, passed through her left leg and lodged in her right leg.

* * *

Other white and Negro passengers escaped injury and were taken to police headquarters for questioning. Police said some passengers huddled on the floor in fear of further violence during the trip to headquarters.

When the bus resumed its run it was fired on again, but no one was injured in the second attack. As a safety precaution, Police Commissioner Clyde Sellers ordered all city bus runs halted for the night.

* * *

The shooting was the most serious incident in the Alabama capital since city buses were integrated under federal court order eight days ago. On Wednesday night two buses were struck by shots but there were no injuries.

Guy Hutchins, 52, Camden High School band director, described from his hospital bed how a band of hooded men tied him to a tree and beat him with a board after he stopped to change a tire Thursday night 15 miles north of Camden. He was returning from a television appearance at Charlotte, N.C., at the time.

Hutchins said a car full of hooded men pulled up behind him just as he finished changing the tire and he yelled he didn't need any help. "The next thing I knew, men were bursting out of the car and swarming over me. They immediately slapped a hood of burlap over my head."

* * *

The former conductor of symphony orchestras at Spartanburg, S.C. and Charlotte said the men told him they were administering the beating because he had spoken for racial integration before a Lions Club auxiliary meeting. Hutchins said he had never made any prointegration remarks anywhere.

Doctors said Hutchins suffered severe bruises.

At Tallahassee, Fla., separate transportation apparently was arranged for two white passengers who boarded a Cities Transit bus yesterday and sat behind a Negro minister and his wife who were occupying a front seat.

* * *

The Rev. W. W. Woods told newsmen he kept his seat when the driver asked him to move to the rear. The driver conferred with a policeman and finally "told the white passengers, 'You get off the bus—we've got a man who'll take you,' " the minister said. The two then left the bus.

This was the latest development in a campaign by the Negro Inter Civic Council to integrate Tallahassee's buses. Suits have been filed in both state and federal courts to test the validity of a city ordinance and a Florida law under which Negroes seat from the rear of a bus and white persons seat from the front.

In Washington, D.C., a House subcommittee dominated by Southerners issued a report yesterday recommending restoration of a racial segregation in Washington public schools.

Rose Parade Broadcast to Be by 'Pretty People'

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—"Two pretty people . . ."

Such simple prose seems inadequate to catalogue beautiful Anne Jeffreys and her beautiful husband, Robert Sterling. Doubtless you know them from the Topper TV program, which concerns a dog that "has a problem"—martinis.

★ ★ ★

On New Year's Day They're going from boozecasting to newscasting. They'll be flinging out the flowery words to describe the Rose Bowl Parade, on TV.

"This will be a lark," blonde Anne was saying a day or so ago. "Robert doesn't know one flower from another."

ANNE and ROBERT

"But Mother's quite an amateur gardener," her lean, tanned, golf-playing, dark-haired master remarked from the bed where he was sitting in a red dressing gown.

"We'll have a seat above the Elks Club," spoke up Anne from her pink-pink dressing gown. "We'll be in swivel chairs with cameras behind us."

"They'll be shooting down the backs of our necks," Bob said. "I'll especially enjoy it—because I've never seen it before."

★ ★ ★

I wondered, though, how two such pretty people as the Sterlings managed to keep their equilibrium. It is rather common for women to remark that Bob Sterling is a pretty as a woman. They haven't said such things about an actor since Robert Taylor was a lad.

"How do you handle it?" I asked Anne.

"I never liked good-looking men," she admitted. "I figured I'd need a baseball bat to hammer the women off of him. But he doesn't give me any cause to worry. He doesn't bother about it. 'If the women like to hang around him, I say, 'Oh, well, let them enjoy themselves.'"

By now they feel that "you have to be pretty unhappy at home to stray." They have a son, Jeffreys Hart Sterling, 28 month's old, who's called "Jeff," who occupies them when they're not working.

★ ★ ★

Sterling—a product of Newcastle, Pa.—was born William Hart, but because of another actor named William S. Hart he took his father's middle name. The young "Jeff" Sterling is quite a conversationalist, as he established recently when Anne, visiting Florida, phoned him at home. His first words (without ever being asked) were:

"Hi, mommy. I'm fine. Mommy, where you at?"

"In Florida."

"What doin'?" young Jeff demanded.

That was harder to handle, but it caused Tarheel Anne from Goldsboro, N. C., to rush back to Hollywood.

Sumatra Leader Gains Backing

Cabinet Remains Loyal; Army Rebels Demand Premier Resign

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Premier Ali Sastroamidjojo has won some much-needed backing on the political front in his fight to retain power in the face of the demands from rebellious army factions on Sumatra for his resignation.

* * *

Two of the three leading parties in Sastroamidjojo's coalition government said they would remain in his Cabinet. It was considered certain the third party also would stick by the Premier if the other two groups followed through with that policy.

The announcements of suport seemed to insure Sastroamidjojo's retention of power at least for the time being. The government was shaken severely in the first days after army leaders seized power in north and central Sumatra in a bloodless coup last weekend.

* * *

The Premier's own Nationalist party and the orthodox Moslems announced they would remain in Sastroamidjojo's Cabinet. Observers figured the third party — the Moslem Masjumi — would stay with the others. The two Moslem parties earlier had threatened to quit the Cabinet. The relatively small Veterans' party said Thursday it was withdrawing from the government.

President Sukarno meanwhile called again for the dissident army groups "to return to the path of duty immediately."

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Singer Patti Page and dance director Charles O'Curran were married last night in a civil ceremony.

It was the second marriage for Miss Page, 29. She divorced Jack Skiba in 1948. O'Curran, 42, is the former husband of singer Betty Hutton. His first wife was Betty Jo Brown.

Tourists Treated to Extra Rations for British Gas

LONDON (AP)—Visitors to Britain have been given a green light for touring above and beyond the gasoline restrictions placed on British residents.

The Ministry of Fuel and Power said visiting tourists will be given enough gasoline to "meet their reasonable needs in full while they are in this country."

* * *

This will apply, the ministry said, whether the tourist brings his own automobile or hires one in Britain.

The regular British motorist is limited to 200 miles a month allowance under rationing introduced Dec. 17. Blockage of the Suez Canal has cut off much of Britain's oil supply.

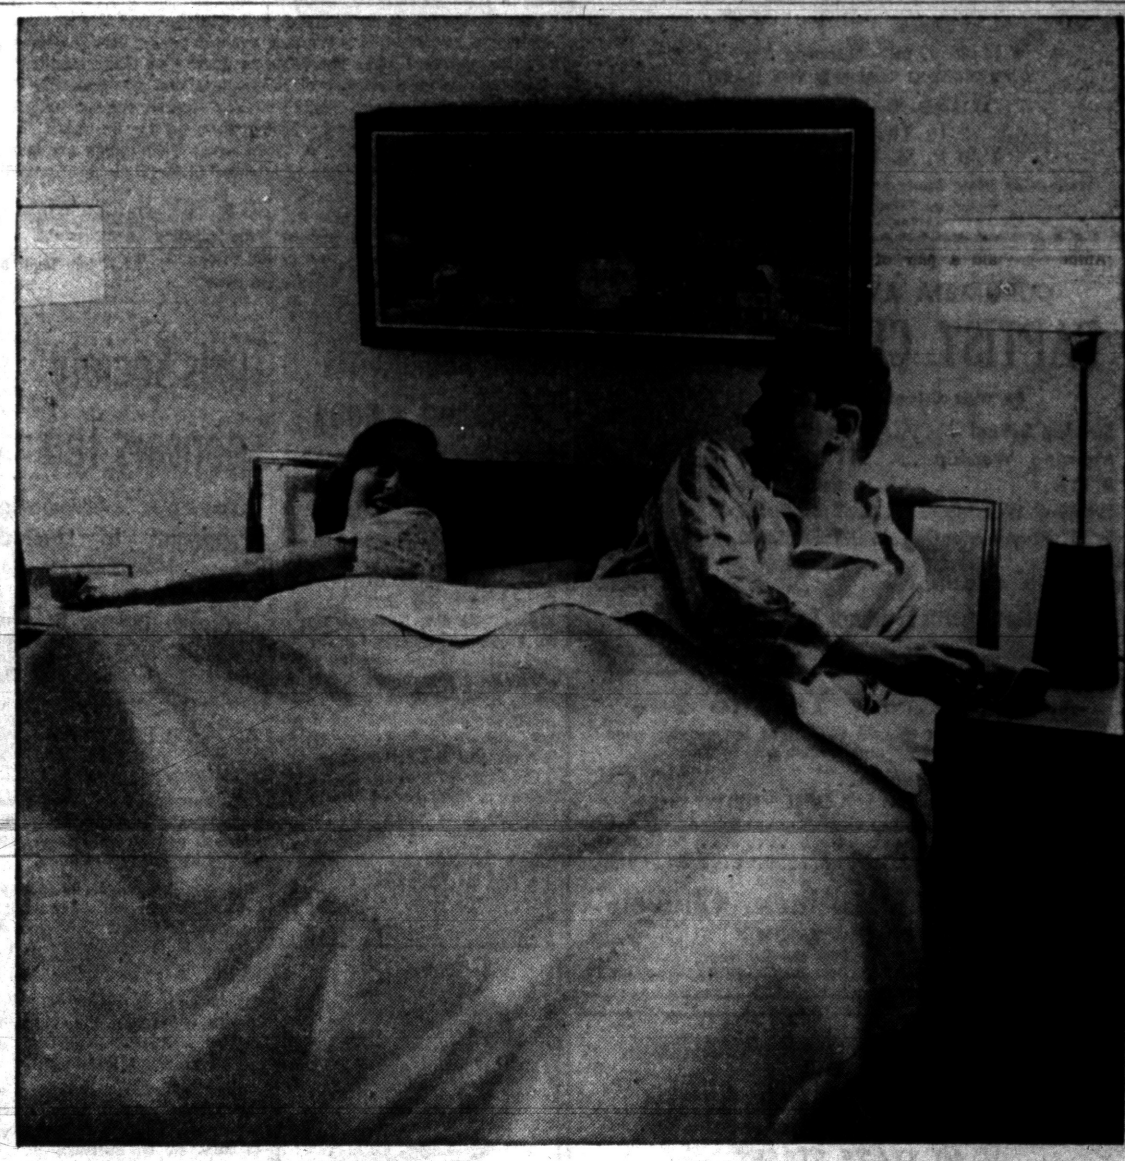

The first automobile journey across the U. S. in 1901 required 61 days.

Confident Living

Four Important Words Help Create New Life

BY NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

When Jews assemble for their New Year's celebration, they recite a prayer which begins, "Today is the birthday of the world." And a New Year's message from the Jewish Theological Seminary explains that, "Whatever was our yesterday, today—as every day—we start anew."

NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

What better idea than the idea of new life to start a new year! For new life is the central theme of all religious thinking, Jewish and Christian alike. Jesus said, "I am come that they might have life." And life is the greatest gift God gives us when we use it as He means us to—with awareness, vitality, dynamism.

Years ago, when I was a student at the Boston University School of Theology, I was sitting at my desk one day with a book in front of me. I was supposed to be studying some theological assignment, but I couldn't keep my mind on it. Instead I was reading the advertising on my desk blotter. It was one of those the local bookstores used to hand out free to the students. There was a calendar on it, descriptions of various merchandise the shop carrier and a few quotations from great thinkers.

My wandering eye fell upon one of these. It was from a man who was once prime minister of Great Britain, William Ewart Gladstone. And this is what it said: "It is a dangerous thing for any young man to start out in life without the thought of God."

I can still see, in my mind's eye, that blotter and read that quotation today. I have never forgotten it. And I think it can be aptly applied to this season of year. For it is a very dangerous thing for any person to start out a new year without the thought of God.

* * * *

I would like to give you four creative and important words to help you do this, to put the thought of God into your mind at this time. Receive them into your consciousness and let them sink into your unconscious mind and tuck themselves up around your heart.

With them, you can make 1957 the greatest year you have ever lived. They are the best beginning of all, for they are, in fact, the first four words of the Bible: "In the beginning God." That cuts a sentence in half, I know, but it does not make the statement any less true. "In the beginning God."

If you will make those four words your basic philosophy and take them as your motto for 1957, I don't think it will make any difference what problems will come to you during the year. For, indoctrinated with such a great all-conquering idea, you can be victorious over any problem.

* * * *

The reason this is so is that a belief in God and His power is a belief in a new start, a belief that you can forget yesterday and go forward into the future. The Bible is filled with this teaching.

Turn to the third chapter of Phillippians and you will find these words: "Forgetting those things which are behind and reaching forth unto those things which are before, I press toward the mark . . ." And you will find it again in Corinthians—"Old things are passed away; all things are become new"—and in Revelations—"Behold, I make all things new."

This, then, is your formula for new life in a new year. Remember that New Year's Day is, indeed, "the birthday of the world," and make your new beginning that of the Bible: "In the beginning God."

LYNDON SALATHIEL

Local Choir Director Is Also Composer

Lyndon Salathiel, choirmaster and organist at the First Presbyterian Church since 1940, has composed and had published many anthems and choral compositions over the past few years.

* * *

While very young, he was taught to play the parlor organ by his mother. Unable to reach the pedals, his mother pumped the organ while he played.

Later he studied organ at the Conservatory of Music in Vancouver, B. C., and worked with Ioweret W. Prosser of Chicago for musical theory and advanced composition.

Mr. Salathiel received training in choral conducting and voice techniques from the late Carl Lindegren at Michigan State College of Education, Ypsilanti. He earned his Bachelor of Music degree at the Chicago University Conservatory in Chicago.

MANY COMPOSITIONS

His published choral compositions include "Consider and Hear Me," "The Lord's Prayer," for a male chorus, and "Hallelujah to the King."

Other published numbers are "How Gracious Is the Lord," "Liturgical Responses for the Church Service," "Did Not Our Heart Burn Within Us," and "Blessed Are Ye," a festival anthem.

His choir of 50 voices has been featured in many concerts in and around Pontiac as an a cappella group.

* * *

The First Presbyterian Church has two services each Sunday morning, one at 9:30, the other at 11.

CHOIR AT LATE SERVICE

Soloists perform at the early service. The choir leads the congregation in singing and presents an anthem at the late service.

Mr. Salathiel makes his home at 534 Shore View drive with his wife Virginia and two children, Lyndon and Jeanne.

Reluctant to say much about himself, he stated, "I am probably better known as the father of the Waterford High School right halfback and member of the All-County Team, Lyndie Salathiel."

Lyndie also likes to sing and is a member of the First Presbyterian Church Choir. Jeanne is studying piano.

* * *

At a recent Choral Vesper service, Jeanne played the piano, with her father at the organ, in "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring" and "Sicilienne Vespers" by J. S. Bach.

Christians Break Bread With 10 Other Religions

EAST LANSING — Moslems, Hindus, Hebrews, Christians and others are breaking bread together at Michigan State University.

More than 100 foreign students, representing 10 major religions of the world, are participating in the fourth annual Christmas Adventure in World Understanding, Dec. 20-30, at Kellogg Center.

The students, now attending colleges and universities in 30 states, hail from the far corners of the globe—Japan, Pakistan, Yugoslavia, Egypt, Israel, Norway and 35 other nations.

The spirit of this Christmas Adventure is embodied in a large, beautifully-colored scroll which is displayed in one of the discussion rooms at Kellogg Center.

The 'Golden Rule" in 10 of the world's great religions is printed for all to see and comprehend.

An amazing discovery is made by people who stop to study this unusual display. They realize that the golden rule of most religions is basically the same—"Do unto others as you would have them do unto you"—only the wording is different.

"If world understanding is to be achieved, people from all cultures and religions must have a common level of communication and understanding," according to Mrs. Louise H. Carpenter, university director of the Christmas project.

Mrs. Carpenter believes that "through a carefully-planned series of experiences and interpretations, foreign students can come to a more accurate understanding of the needs, objectives and cultures of our world brothers."

The students also find a great deal in common with their fellow adventurers. Experiences and impressions are voiced in informal sessions, and the youths have an opportunity to discuss basic cultures and ideologies of many countries.

An annual highlight is a series of Christmas-eve visitations to Lansing-area homes, a project of local religious and community-service groups. The guests join their city-hosts for a delicious Yuletide repast and then accompany them to Christmas-eve services at Catholic, Protestant, and Orthodox churches.

Mrs. Carpenter believes that "basically all religions strive to better mankind and bring us closer to our God."

Airline Will Extend De Luxe DC7 Service

NEW YORK (AP)—American Airlines will extend its special brand of DC7 service, known as "The Mercury," to Detroit and 11 other cities in 1957, instead of the present three.

Previously limited to nonstop flights between Los Angeles and Washington or New York, the service soon will be expanded to some DC7 long distance flights serving Chicago, San Francisco, Dallas, Fort Worth, Phoenix, Tucson, Detroit, Boston and Cincinnati. The starting date is Jan. 15 for all except the Texas and Arizona cities, where it will be Feb. 3.

* * *

"Mercury" service, the airline said, included deluxe meal service, arrival and departure "red carpet" treatment at terminals and special personalized services and identification features.

Jehovah's Witnesses to Attend Convention

Jehovah's witnesses of the three Pontiac congregations are preparing to attend their regular semi-annual area convention at Mt. Clemens, Dec. 28-30.

More than 1,500 are expected at the gathering from 19 congregations in southeastern Michigan, including Bad Axe, Port Huron, Holly, Milford, Birmingham and intervening points.

The Watchtower Society of Brooklyn, N. Y. will sponsor the three-day Mt. Clemens training program which will be attended by 350 from the local congregations.

Ministerial Fellowship Celebrates Emancipation

In commemoration of the freeing of the slaves, the Oakland County Ministerial Fellowship will celebrate its annual Emancipation Mass Meeting at 11 a. m. New Year's Day in the Providence Missionary Baptist Church.

* * *

A brief review of Negro progress and advancement since the year 1863 will be given.

Highlights of recent achievements will be mentioned with special tribute given to the Pontiac Urban League and NAACP.

A mass choir of 100 voices, composed of choirs throughout the city, will furnish traditional music, under the direction of Mrs. Anna Mae Murray.

* * *

Dr. Milton H. Bank of the Central Methodist Church will install the officers of the Fellowship for 1957.

The main address will be given by Mrs. Viola Lewis of Detroit, founder and president of the Lewis Business College.

Mrs. Lewis, a dynamic speaker, recently completed a world tour sponsored by the National Council of Churches.

* * *

The public is invited to hear Mrs. Lewis. The Rev. Richard H. Dixon, pastor of Trinity Baptist Church, is the present president of the Fellowship.

Meeting Hears Science Facts From Teeners

NEW YORK (AP)—Some puzzles about sunspots were described today to the world's largest scientific congress—which embraces all sciences under and beyond the sun.

* * *

So the talk about the sunspots wasn't unusual.

But the speaker was. He's just 10 years old—Robert Strom of Bronx, N.Y.

His brother, Stephen, 14, told how to observe planets and do an accurate job of reporting the details you see.

Saul Adelman, 12, Washington, D.C., told how to build a telescope. And youngsters aged 16 to 19 plunged deep into explaining how spectroscopy, the analysis of the spectrum of light, tells facts about the chemical composition and motions of distant stars.

* * *

It was a novel youth day in one of the many concurrent sessions of the American Assn. for the Advancement of Science, a five-day congress of 1,600 separate reports in various sciences.

Eleven young amateur scientists were to speak at a public session designed to demonstrate the importance of stimulating and encouraging scientific interests among youngsters. It was held at the Hayden Planetarium and sponsored by the Astronomical League and AAAS.

* * *

Science is not the only interest of the 11. Robert Strom plays for a Little League baseball team. The interests of the others include music, chess, swimming, church activities, managing athletic teams and military science.

The program was but one step to spur early interest in science, help meet the need for scientists, and overcome apparently widespread prejudices that scientists are strange people, said Franklyn M. Branley, associate astronomer of the Hayden Planetarium.

* * *

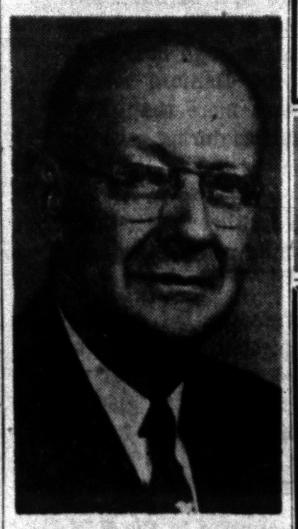

Other youngsters participating are Cecily A. Resnick, 14, Oak Park, Ill., describing her interests in astronomy; Martin Gersten, 15, New York, on photography through telescopes; Bernadette Londak, 16, Chicago, Ill., on a mathematical aspect; and five papers on spectroscopy by Carol Lipphard, 16; Warren Smalley, 16; Marcellus Porter, 18; John Cosgrove, 18; and James Bullock, 19, all of Louisville.

Beulah Holiness Slates Evangelistic Meetings

Revival meetings will be held every night at 7:30 in the Beulah Holiness Church, 390 Osmun St. starting Sunday. They will continue through Jan. 13.

The Rev. James Carder, evangelist, musician and singer, will conduct the services. He will also be special speaker at the Watch Night service from 8 to 12 p. m. Monday.

The Rev. John W. Burgess is pastor.

DR H. H. SAVAGE

1st Baptist Minister to Speak to Pastors

Dr. H. H. Savage, pastor of the First Baptist Church and former president of the National Ass'n of Evangelicals, will speak to the Pontiac Pastors' Ass'n Friday at the monthly meeting.

His theme will be "The Purposes and Program of the National Association of Evangelicals."

A proposed constitution for the Pontiac Pastors' Ass'n will be read for the second time.

Asks Clergy's Help in Traffic Safety

NEW YORK (AP)—Police Commissioner Stephen P. Kennedy says he plans to enlist the help of the city's 2,531 clergymen in his traffic safety campaign.

Kennedy said recently that letters will be sent to the clergymen asking them to make pulpit appeals for applying the Golden Rule in traffic.

Reports Mission Action

Mrs. Alice Goddard, director of National Council's Children's Department, now on a three-month tour of Latin and South America, reports active attempts on the part of numerous Protestant churches to penetrate South America. She has visited missions, hospitals, and local churches, conferences, and group procedure meetings.

Plans Should Be Made for Big Auto Increase

According to current estimates, by 1966 a swarm of 82 million automobiles will jam the roads of the United States.

Today we have 62 million.

Think of this increase.

★ ★ ★

The science of prognostication is increasingly accurate with the passage of time. Telephone companies, utility organizations and others that require long range planning have made surveys and studies that cover several decades.

They are amazingly accurate. Their forecasts are uncanny.

The current figures on the automobile possibility is of more interest in Pontiac, Detroit, Flint and Lansing than it is anywhere else. These four cities are the home of the industry. Thus, we have a huge personal stake in the production of the vehicles that will make up the increase.

★ ★ ★

An advance of this size would mean a much greater increase in Oakland County, as Oakland County is growing faster than the United States as a whole. Thus our own road problems assumes big proportions.

★ ★ ★

Is the Oakland County Road Commission planning accordingly?

Will we be ready to handle this traffic?

Is the City of Pontiac preparing?

★ ★ ★

Unless plans are made now, our area will be lost in the shuffle as more alert communities get the jump and sweep on ahead of us. Long range plans are strictly the order of the day in all units of government.

★ ★ ★

The proposed super highway that may run straight through this City deserves immediate study from the proper authorities so that we can meet the situation intelligently and wisely.

Atomic By-Product May Heat Homes

Some of the most welcome benefits of atomic research for the average man may come from use of by-products not even remotely expected in the early experiments.

★ ★ ★

One may be the heating of homes and buildings from the waste heat generated in the reactor process. Such heat would be soot-free, ash-free, smog-free. An enticing prospect.

General Electric Review, an engineering publication, reports that use of reactor waste heat at the Hanford atomic plant in the state of Washington shows that dirt-free atomic heating is technically feasible.

General adoption of such a process must wait, of course, until atomic fuel is available for heating purposes, and reactors can be designed for low-energy heat production. Atomic fuel is currently channeled into more urgent projects.

★ ★ ★

At Hanford, water from the Columbia River is pumped through reactors used in producing plutonium. As the water cools the reactor it picks up much of the immense amount of heat that is generated in the atomic process.

This heated water is pumped to an outside heat exchanger where the heat is given up to an ethylene glycol water solution, which in turn circulates through air conditioning systems in buildings, shops and offices of the Hanford project.

★ ★ ★

Adequate safeguard against any radioactivity are said to have been developed. The engineering magazine reports that enough heat is recovered from the Hanford reactor operation to heat more than 1,000 average-sized homes during a winter season.

★ ★ ★

This may be another "peace-time" dividend of atomic power.

"The Government is seriously studying the question of who owns outer space."—Press report. If we own any part of it, we'd be glad to sell a quit-claim deed to it for an inflated dollar.

"Garlic consumption in the U. S. is nine times greater than it was 25 years ago."—Newspaper filler. This is a great pity, especially since people don't stay at home nearly so much as they did 25 years ago.

Heavy Industry Stressed

Soviet Reshuffle

Economic Czar Will Push for Higher Production

By JOHN H. MARTIN
INS Foreign Director

Newly appointed Red economic czar Mikhail G. Pervukhin will try to get higher "norm" production out of the long-suffering factory and farm workers.

★ ★ ★

That is one meaning in the reshuffle of the Moscow economic high command in the drive to eliminate inefficiency and waste.

War-potential heavy industry still will get priority. There will also be renewed attempts to better working conditions with more housing and more consumer goods from light industry.

Advantages for the workers may be meager however because Soviet aid to hard-hit economies in the satellite states is needed if the Kremlin is to keep intact its conquered areas.

★ ★ ★

Work discipline in the Soviet Union is harsh by Western standards although workers have come a long way from the half-starved mass of the early 1930s.

EMPLOYES OF STATE

All workers, aside from a small group of "capitalistic" self-employed persons, are either employes of the state or members of controlled cooperatives.

★ ★ ★

No large-scale unemployment apparently exists, but actual wages, in terms of purchasing power, are low by standards of Western industrial nations. For what job security there is the worker pays by submitting to labor direction.

The old Russian revolution goal of equal pay for equal work long ago was discarded. A "Managerial class," an aristocracy of bureaucrats, has emerged through the years.

Basic wage rates vary greatly between workers and executives just as they do in the condemned "capitalism" of the West.

★ ★ ★

A foreman will get about twice the salary of the semi-skilled worker. A top executive may get ten times or more as much as the semi-skilled worker by means of bonuses and low tax rates.

PRODUCTION QUOTA

Most workers are employed on a production quota or norm scale. The piece-work laborers who produce more than the norm are paid more than the slower worker.

★ ★ ★

Experts have estimated that a semi-skilled Russian worker must work two weeks to get enough to buy a pair of cheap leather shoes. It takes a week's pay to buy a medium quality blanket.

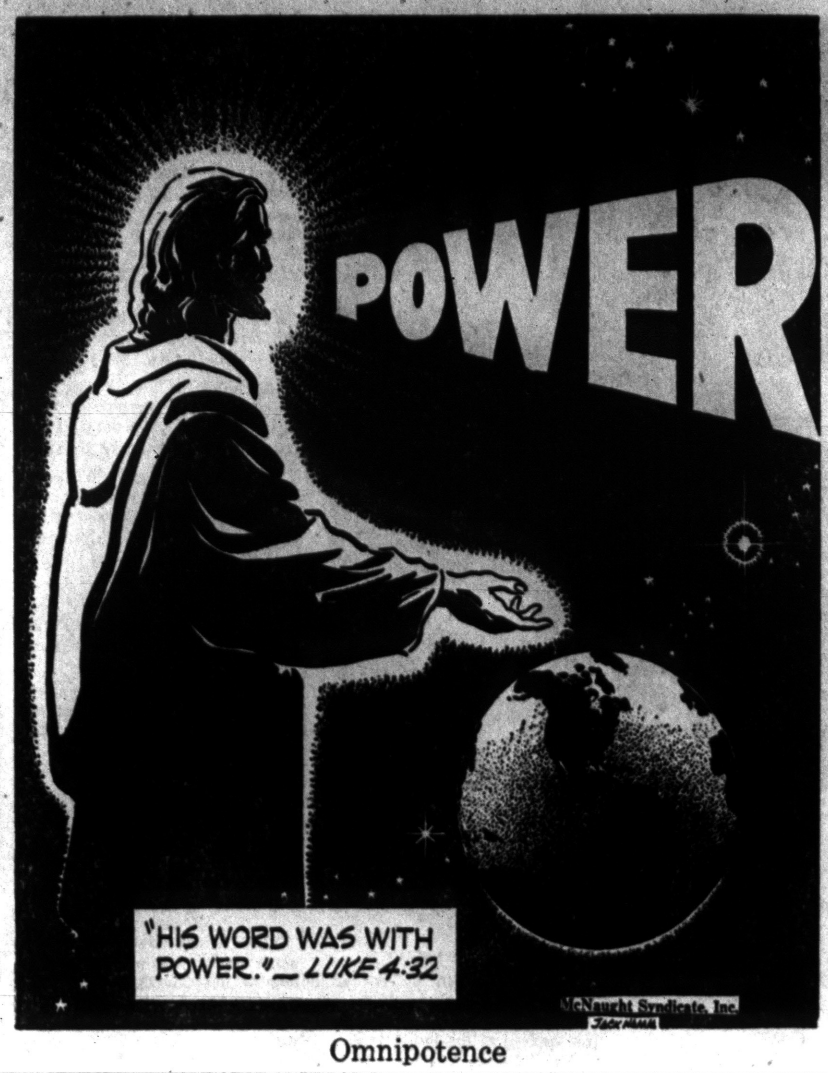

Housing is bad. Most families still live in a single room, although their position is eased somewhat by free medical and elementary educational facilities.

So-called Soviet "trade unions" are a mere adjunct of the Communist Party and government. They are a link between workers and government decrees.

★ ★ ★

Trade union leaders administer social-insurance funds, run rest homes and sanitariums, help control housing and promote higher productivity. They also take up workers' grievances.

There are no strikes, as in Western lands. Nor is there any trade union attempt to extend workers' rights and benefits. These are regarded as political matters to be decided by government and party leaders.

Days of All Faiths

Discusses New Year Superstitions

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

You can bring whatever you want into your house Tuesday, but don't let anything go out. And that means anything. This superstition was so strong, even as recently as 1870, people both in England and America would not allow even the ashes or the garbage to be taken out until Jan. 2.

It was probably this fear of letting anything go out of the house on New Year's Day which originally gave rise to the superstition about keeping the fire going. In the old days, when no one had matches, the only way to rekindle a dead fire was to go to the neighbors and get new coals. But the man who wanted to borrow a coal on New Year's Day ran into a stone wall. The neighbor's were afraid to let him carry any fire out even to save his family from freezing. So it really was bad luck to let the fire go out.

Then they went one step further and said stealing fire was even worse luck because it made one's fire unholy. This protected the householder from anyone who was driven to desperate measures: The unfortunate man would rather freeze than desecrate his home with an unholy flame.

POOR ALL YEAR

If your cupboard or your pockets are empty Tuesday you might as well get set for a whole year of poverty. Even intelligent people used to believe this. In one of his letters the great poet Robert Burns tells of floating a small loan to provide something on the shelf and in his purse over New Year's.

* * *

If you want money to come into your house during the new year—and who doesn't—put some out-of-doors the last thing before you go to bed New Year's Eve and bring it back in first thing in the morning.

LAST DRINK IS LUCKY

Perhaps a lot of the usual New Year's Eve tippling is explained by the old idea that the last drink in the bottle on this night brings good luck to the one who gets it. After all, the only way to fulfill this requirement is for each man to have his own bottle and to be sure the last drink is consumed.

Your first New Year's visitor is tremendously important. You must be sure it is not a woman: That would mean terrible luck for the whole year. What you want is a man visitor, a dark-complexioned one. This mattered so much to people in the old times they took great pains to arrange for a brunet male visitor immediately after the stroke of midnight.

This first guest was called a "First Footer," meaning the first person to set foot over the threshold in the new year. In some villages the people joined together and hired a sort of professional First Footer, a man with a reputation for being lucky, to be their first visitor.

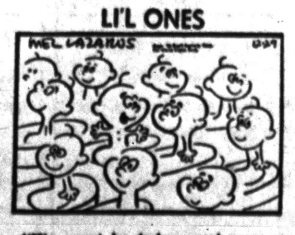

COLLEGE STUDENTS

People who worry about "the present generation" should note that beginning last Thursday and continuing until Jan. 1, seven big meetings of Protestant college students are being held simultaneously in the United States. The single purpose of these seven regional meetings is to lead a nationwide cross-section of students in a consideration of their responsibility to stand for Christian values on the 200 campuses they represent.

For nearly a year now more than 3,000 young Americans have been preparing, entirely voluntarily, for this occasion by studying an assigned list of books and pamphlets focused on the theme "Our United Witness in the College and the University."

The conferences, which are being held in the states of North Carolina, New York, Pennsylvania, Oklahoma, Illinois, Washington and California, are under the auspices of the United Student Christian Council, which is related to the National Council of Churches.

LI'L ONES

"We must be twins—we're wearing the same outfit!"

Dr. William Brady's Mailbag:

Ah, Love That Odor of Road Tar!

To help break the tobacco chewing habit you suggested chewing wheat or pitch, or if jaws and teeth are namby-pamby, chew gum. Please tell me just what pitch is and where to get it. I love the smell of tar (road oil) . . . (Mrs. T. A.)

Answer—All I know is that the brewery where Canadaigua ale was made used pitch to coat the insides of barrels. We kids sneaked in, hacked hunks of it out of the mass in the shed, and gave our jaws a good work-out chewing it. Oh, to be ten again.

Had running ear since I was six years old; now 34. Sent for your pamphlet, used the drops as you advise, and it cleared up in about 4 weeks. Thank you very much. (Mrs. S. J.)

Answer—On written request accompanied with stamped, self-addressed envelope, any reader may have instructions for preparing and using drops for chronic running ear. The aurist I consulted suggests that ordinary rubbing alcohol may be used in making the solution.

I want to tell you I never found anything that gave me so much relief as Vitamin A for neuralgia suggestion in a paper that has your column . . . (E. D.)

Answer—Instructions in pamphlet Why Have Headache for which send stamped, self-addressed envelope.

I had a lot of little warts burned off my neck a few years ago. I found they were coming back, so I started applying castor oil to each wart every night. The warts seemed to grow bigger. What's your answer to thato (C. P.)

Answer—My answer is that I thought someone would report such a failure sooner or later.

Have been using your non-surgical drainage of gall bladder for 9 years. It always helps me. (C. S.)

Answer—Instructions in Little Lesson 3, So You Have Indigestion, for which send 35 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Name of the doctor who removed your accountant's cataracts painlessly . . . (Mrs. H. N. W.)

Answer—Removal of cataract is always painless. The oculist to whom your own doctor will refer you is as good as one far away.

I am grateful for your booklet How to Breathe. I used to have high blood pressure but not any more since I have learned how to breathe. May I have a copy of your pamphlet on Itching? (F. A.)

Answer—For the pamphlet on Itching (pruritis) send stamped, self-addressed envelope. For the booklet How to Breathe inclose 35 cents in addition.

Your column has helped us avoid some major medical experiences. Please send your pamphlet on Piles which describes a remedy other than hospitalization operation. My husband suffers from a seemingly severe case but will not consider surgery. (Mrs. J. P. G.)

Answer—In his place I wouldn't either, at least not until I had sought ambulant (office, injection) treatment, which is painless, applicable in most cases, doesn't interfere with ordinary activities. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope.

* * *

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Aim High With Resolutions—Now

Philip asks a smart question. So make new resolutions now. But follow Lowell's advice and aim high. And if you want God's help, then get on His team and come out for spiritual drill every Sabbath. If you wish to double your efficiency, then follow the prescription given below. It produces health, happiness and even sounder slumber at night.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case T-360: Philip D., aged 31, is a very talented young clergyman.

"Dr. Crane, what do you think about making new resolutions?" he began.

* * *

"One of my college professors vetoed the idea. He said it just led to a greater sense of guilt.

"For most of us fail to live up to our ideals and new resolutions. So he said the net result was bad.

"With fewer resolutions, we'd have fewer guilt complexes, this professor argued. But don't you think that was sophistry?"

MAKE NEW RESOLUTIONS

Yes, the whole moral evolution of mankind has been accomplished because "sparkplugs" like St. Paul and Loyola and John Wesley and Martin Luther and millions of other great men and women, made resolutions.

In fact, when Moses received the Ten Commandments, he obtained the first great set of New Year's resolutions.

Please remember that whenever you change your habits and resolve to improve, that is the beginning of your personal New Year!

So don't limit your development of good habits to an official calendar day called January 1st. Start at any time.

And aim high if you wish to do full credit to your parents and teachers.

* * *

"Not failure but low aim, is crime," stated James Russell Lowell, and that is still a modern truism.

So don't be content with mediocrity. Aim high. Even if you fall short of your goal, strive for an "A" grade.

For the idea is father to the deed. And if you aim low, your accomplishment will probably be inferior, too.

Abraham Lincoln said he hoped his biographers could say of him that he had planted roses where thistles grew before!

That is a lofty aim such as Lowell advocates. And we should all adopt Lincoln's motto, too.

STEP UP EFFICIENCY

If you wish to step up your efficiency and reduce your peptic ulcer, insomnia and other neurotic instances of poor health, then follow this suggested pattern:

* * *

First, link up actively with a local church and get into the harness. This includes regular attendance and generous contributions of both time and money.

You can't expect to be playing on God's Team if you fail to have your name on the team roster, which is the local church membership list!

It is also an impertinence for us to ask God to protect us from cancer or war or poverty, if we meanwhile refuse to play ball on His teams.

Second, be consistent. Don't ask God to save you from cancer and then suck on cigarettes which our American Medical Association has cited as a major cause of cancer.

Don't serve cocktails and then expect your children to be sober drivers when they come from a late date or the Junior Prom.

Rearing children is much like training circus animals. You must NEVER set a bad example or confuse the animal with double talk or failure to reward the right and penalize the wrong.

* * *

Third, map out a daily or weekly "agenda" which is a list of your duties, school lessons, chores, etc. Cross off each item as soon as you finish it.

In my own case, I even use a red pencil to bolster my ego so I can see the red lines where I have crossed out completed chores.

And at night, don't fret about insomnia. It never kills anybody. So turn on your light and read yourself to sleep.

You get most of the benefits of sleep as long as you are lying down, even if your eyes are open.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

County Readers Discuss Their School Tax Loads

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

I have just read your editorial on Pontiac's strong financial position. I wish the district I live in were half as well situated. Our school taxes are simply enormous right now. It really cuts into our living, and yet I know they are necessary.

America will always skimp a little to help education. Education is the primary thing that has made us the nation we are today. The places on the globe that are poverty stricken, diseased and the most lacking in prosperity are the places where the schooling is a minimum.

At the same time, the very rapid growth of my city has compelled the school authorities to launch a very expensive building campaign. I am not critical now, although I wish they had moved a little more rapidly in the past and thus spread the costs a little more evenly. I simply feel Pontiac should be congratulated.

Birmingham Resident

I wish my township faced the school situation ahead as well as the City of Pontiac does. We're facing ruinous tax bills right now and your editorial says "the worst is yet to come." Southfield Township will certainly suffer.

Asks About Lights in Keego Harbor

Christmas spirit is observed by so many cities and even the smallest towns with their decorations with strings of lights through town. It takes some work to accomplish this, and I was just wondering what happened to the city of Keego Harbor this year.

It is a shame to have lights and fail to get them up. Or are they not owned, but rather borrowed other years? Can the people of Keego Harbor know why we didn't have them this year, or is everybody too busy to notice that they are not up?

The volunteer firemen of West Bloomfield always did such a nice job for the community before it became a city. What happened?

Just Wondering

'Excess of Sand Wastes Money'

A few weeks ago we had a big write up in the Press about the sand they had mixed and the equipment they had for the City of Pontiac to take care of the snow and ice for the winter.

We had two falls of snow this winter, one was half an inch, the other an inch. The equipment went out and spread enough sand, or salt or whatever they had mixed up to take care of the winter snow, in 100 yards to do a quarter of a mile.

Why waste the taxpayers' money like this, or do the people who are responsible for this live in the City of Pontiac?

'What Do You Do About Squirrels?'

Will someone with broad experience please tell me what to do when squirrels get in the house? I have about three and they're driving us mad.

Is it against the law to shoot them? I never heard of shooting a squirrel under the bed or behind a book case, but that's about what we're ready to do. Are there any game wardens in the Franklin Boulevard area?

Benson Wants Ban Removed

Sell Farm Surplus at Reduced Prices Behind Iron Curtain

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Benson said after a White House visit today that President Eisenhower again will ask Congress to remove a ban on making U.S. surplus farm goods available to Iron Curtain countries.

Benson met with Eisenhower to discuss farm legislation which will be taken up with congressional leaders at a White House conference Dec. 31.

Benson said Public Law 480 which governs disposal of surplus farm goods acquired by the government under its farm price support program, must be extended. It expires June 30.

The secretary said Eisenhower also will recommend elimination of the law's prohibition against making the surplus commodities available in Communist countries at the usual cut rates.

* * *

The only way Iron Curtain countries can get U.S. farm products at present is through dollar purchases at regular prices in commercial markets. But these prices, much higher than the cut rates under which surplus U.S. foods are sold, also are far above competitive world levels. As a result, there have been no applications for export licenses for such Communist country purchases.

Eisenhower has offered economic aid to Poland or any Iron Curtain country which might break away from Moscow control and need help to tide it over the initial stages of such estrangement.

However, a top Agriculture Department official told reporters there has been no change in the U.S. farm surpluses and for other status of Poland's ineligibility for benefits of the Agricultural Trade Development Act.

* * *

Under the present law Poland could not obtain U.S. farm surpluses unless its status was changed to that of a "friendly country." The Agriculture Department official said this switch would have to be made at the White House level.

* * *

Benson told newsmen the question of aid to Poland was not discussed specifically at the White House meeting today.

Army Plans to Streamline Divisions, Prepare for Atomic, Conventional War

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) —Infantry divisions made up of five combat units and geared to fight atomic as well as conventional warfare, soon will replace the bulkier, three-regiment divisions.

Armored divisions also are to be modernized, but the changes in them at this time will be comparatively minor, the Army announced yesterday in Washington and at 6th Army headquarters here.

A special combat development and research center at Ft. Ord, Calif., has been taking the "bugs" out of the new basic combat unit around which the streamlined divisions will be created.

Field tests have shown that the unit best suited for modern warfare is "larger than the old battalion and smaller than the regiment."

Just how many men it will have was not disclosed.

The reorganized infantry divisions will be characterized by increased firepower, greater mobility and the capability of wide dispersal to survive under atomic attack.

The Army announcement in Washington said the plan for divisional reorganization has been recommended to President Eisenhower and Secretary of Defense Wilson. It requires their approval before going into operation. But the Army apparently hopes that approval will be forthcoming in time to start the reorganization in some of the divisions within the next month or two.

* * *

The Army proposes to take 3,700 men out of each of the 17,455-man infantry divisions; pare down the present 17,100 strength of airborne divisions by 5,600 men for each unit and make "minor" reductions in the 14,684-man armored divisions.

This seems to mean that something over 60,000 men would be removed from the 19 divisions of the Army.

A brief statement, which gave little detail and left many questions unanswered, says there will be a "redistribution of strength throughout the combat zone." This, as explained by one Washington official, means that soldiers shifted from divisions would go to other combat units, such as antiaircraft guided missile battalions and corps artillery.

A whole new group of weapons is contemplated

* * *

The Army has announced a new 7.62 m.m. machine gun, which it describes as "a lightweight, general purpose gun developed to replace all three of the present .30-caliber machine guns. It can be fired from shoulder, hip, bipod or an aluminum tripod mount." The 7.26 bullet is just a fraction smaller than .30 caliber.

There is a new rifle on which tests have been completed which fires the NATO ammunition and embodies certain improvements.

The infantry will have a new guided missile known as the "Dart," transported by light truck and described as "a simple but effective antitank missile . . .with a high probability that a single hit would destroy a heavily armored tank."

* * *

Improved artillery, mortars, submachineguns, Helicopters and the addition of Honest John and other type missiles will, the Army believes, make the smaller division much harder hitting.

Rabbit's Foot Works Wonders for 'Cotton Maid'

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — The new Maid of Cotton, the lovely blonde daughter of an Air Force general, gave full credit to the potency of her rabbit's foot today.

* * *

"Oh, I kept it in my purse," said Helen Landon, 20, merrily. "I was tempted to take it out and hold it in my hand but I told myself, 'Helen, you're not that superstitious.'"

* * *

The University of Tennessee co-ed won the title last night over 22 other cottonbelt beauties entered in the nation's most decorous beauty contest.

* * *

She's the daughter of Mrs. Louise Landon, Huntingdon, Tenn. and Maj. Gen. T. H. Landon, commaning general of the U. S. Air Force in the Carribean area.

* * *

The 1957 maid, radiant despite a nerve-wringing night, is a junior at the University of Tennessee, where she would have been president of her dormitory next quarter if the judges hadn't superstitious.'"

She leaves Sunday for New York to be outfitted with a flossy wardrobe of cotton whipped up by fashion's top designers. Then, after schooling in the arts of modeling, comes a six-months tour of the United States and Europe.

Contest judges named Jo Ann Deason, 22, Enoree, S. C., as first alternate maid and Sally Wade, 20, Kenton, Tenn., second. The outgoing maid is Pat Cowden, Raleigh, N. C.

Plan Shot in Arm for Mailman vs. Dog

DETROIT (AP)—Detroit's 2,500 mailmen decided to grit their teeth and bear it.

For months, they and other mailmen have tried candy, water guns and even night sticks to discourage dog bites along their routes. But the mailmen, traditional opponent of the vicious dog, seem to have lost the battle.

James H. Rademacher, president of the Detroit branch of the National Assn. of Letter Carriers, said Thursday:

"Only the nightsticks were effective."

Then with resignation he added that beginning Jan. 1, the mailmen would receive anti-tetanus shots to protect them from infections arising from dog bites.

FBI Identifies Cleveland Killer

Had Police Record, Army Court - Martial; Wanted in St. Louis

CLEVELAND (AP)—The FBI fingerprint file has disclosed the identity of the man who shot and killed a bus driver and a girl passenger at the Greyhound terminal early Wednesday, then was killed by police bullets.

* * *

He was Leon Daily, 24, of St. Louis. He had a police record in his home town and in the Army.

He was on a Chicago - bound bus which made a stop here, when Miss Georgeann Kartzke, 18, of Fort Eustis, Va., told driver Lee T. Almerico that Daily had been bothering her. When the driver reprimanded him, Daily shot both of them. He wounded five persons as he dashed through the terminal, but after a four-block chase two officers shot him down.

Mrs. William Daily, his mother, said in St. Louis "I didn't know where he was" and "I don't know what could have been the reason for it." He had left home in October, 1955. He was the second of 11 children.

* * *

In 1950 an Army court-martial gave him a 10-month term at Ft. Leavenworth for insubordination, and in 1953 he pleaded guilty in St. Louis to larceny from a dwelling. Police in St. Louis had wanted to question him about the wounding of a man in a restaurant in 1955.

Reynolds Paid Fine

Thursday's Pontiac Press erroneously listed Carl S. Reynolds, 63, of 292 Raeburn St., as having been jailed for 20 days on a drinking charge involving a five-car Christmas Eve accident. Reynolds was released after the court hearing Wednesday when he paid a $100 fine.

WHY WORRY?

Someone sent us a card with the following:

"If you are successful there is nothing to worry about; if you are not successful there are only two things to worry about — your health is either good or you are ill.

"If your health is good, there is nothing to worry about. If you are ill there are only two things to worry about; you are either going to get well, or you are going to die.

"If you are going to get well, there is nothing to worry about. If you are going to die, there are only two things to worry about; you are either going to heaven, or you are not.

"If you are going to heaven there is nothing to worry about but — well, I wouldn't worry anyhow."

Romantic News Brightens Up the Midwinter Scene

JOAN LUCILE HOWLETT

Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Howlett of East Iroquois road announce the engagement of their daughter, Joan Lucile, to Richard Barnes Jones, son of Mrs. Helen B. Jones of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and John T. Jones of Birmingham. She is a graduate of the University of Michigan and now attends Katherine Gibbs Secretarial School, Boston. Richard attended Northwestern University and will graduate from the University of Michigan School of Engineering in February.

She Rates as Leading Clubwoman

Mrs. C. H. Marvin Devotes Her Life to Organizations

By ANNETTE DAVIS
(For Jane Eads)

WASHINGTON — If ever there were a nomination for the title of American clubwoman, the name of Mrs. Cloyd Heck Marvin might easily be placed at the top of the list.

* * *

At last count Mrs. Marvin says she totaled 48 years as a woman's club president. (She hastens to add some of these terms ran concurrently.)

At present she is serving as national president of the American Pen Women, a post she previously held from 1950-52.

Last February, after an 11-year reign, she stepped down as president of the Washington Club, the district's oldest incorporated club, founded in 1981 by Mrs. Blair Lee.

Mrs. Marvin said it was an outgrowth of the Cobweb Club, which was formed so women could keep up with current events and "be inspired and stimulated with nothing more than a cup of tea."

MANSION QUARTERS

Under Mrs. Marvin's helm, the club obtained the famous Patterson mansion for its headquarters.

* * *

In addition Mrs. Marvin for 20 years has been top executive of the Women's Board of George Washington University Hospital. She also edits the hospital's quarterly magazine, "The Courier."

Mrs. Marvin is a graduate of the University of California, where she majored in mathematics, and a graduate of the Peabody Conservatory of Music. She credits both music and math with helping her in her club work.

This active clubwoman feels the nature of women's clubs has changed over the years.

At first they were a social outlet for women who spent most of their time in the home. Now they combine social activities with civic projects.

THREE SCHOLARSHIPS

The American Pen Women last year set up three scholarships for young artists and now hope to establish a traveling fellowship for study abroad.

* * *

Mrs. Marvin says she gives the same attention to detail in her club work as she does in her own home.

She has found the best way to get other members to take an active role in club affairs is "to let them see you working."

MRS. ROBERT LEE ISAACSON

Susan Doherty Repeats Her Vows in Birmingham

BIRMINGHAM—A gown of antique pure silk was worn by Susan Jane Doherty this afternoon for her marriage to Robert Lee Isaacson. The ceremony was performed in First Presbyterian Church.

The bodice of the gown was banded at the square neckline with pearl and sequin-embroidered silk. The banding was repeated at the back of the elongated hipline, and the skirt fell in folds that swept into a chapel train.

A cap of matching embroidered silk held an illusion fingertip veil, and Susan carried a bridal bouquet of white orchids and stephanotis.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd R. Doherty, and Robert is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil A. Isaacson of Detroit.

* * *

Nancy Doherty was her sister's maid of honor and another sister, Mary Kate, was junior bridesmaid.

GOWNED IN VELVET

Other attendants were Joan Fairbairn, Jane McDaniel, Cherry Harris, Betty Sykes of Wilmette, Ill., and Martha Redner of Battle Creek.

They wore American Beauty velvet frocks in waltz length. Their headpieces were flat bows of matching velvet and they carried bouquets of holly.

John Hensel of Summit, N. J., was best man. Seating the guests were John Jolliffe of Canton, Ohio, James Parker of Dayton, Ohio, William Deger of Evanston, Ill., John McConnell and Thomas and William Johnson of Birmingham.

For the reception held in the Doherty home on Kenneaw avenue, Mrs. Doherty wore mink-colored peau de soie and Mrs. Isaacson chose a gown of champagne color. Their orchid corsages were pinned to their purses.

Cany Project Sharpens Salesmanship

Camp Fire Girls Gain Selling Skill

Tips on how to be a good salesman come from two young women who have just completed a successful selling campaign in local stores and door to door.

* * *

They advise salesmen to have a product, a good reason for selling it, a stick-to-itness in spite of refusals, a nice personality and to be neatly dressed.

This expert advice comes from two lassies, 8 and 13, who have been busy this month selling Camp Fire candy to raise funds for group activities and the local council's campsite near Clarkston.

The two knowing misses are Alice Krueger, 8, of the Jumping Blue Birds of Willis School and Magdalen Daily, 13, of the Tekakwitha Camp Fire group at St. Frederick School. These girls were top salesmen in the Camp Fire candy sale.

* * *

What the girls don't say, however, is that it would help if salesmen could transform themselves into perky, smiling Camp Fire girls, cutely dressed in their red, white and blue costumes, who shyly turn red as they fumble their memorized speeches.

Few can resist their winsome ways when one knows the contribution will be used to give the youngsters many hours of fun and learning in camping, nature lore trips, boating, etc.

BLUE BIRD LEADER

Alice led the Blue Birds (7-10) by selling 315 cans of candy. Jacky Morris of the Rossette Blue Birds at McConnell School was second with 204 cans sold and Deborah Hall of the Cinderella Blue Birds of Wever Schol was third with 126 cans. All three girls were awarded dolls at the theater party Saturday for the 250 girls who sold 24 or more cans of candy.

* * *

Magdalen sold 181 cans to top the Camp Fire Girls (10-14) in sales and to take the first prize of a radio. A travel clock went to second-place winner, Margaret Cauley, also of the Tekakwitha group at St. Frederick School who sold 161 cans. Bonnie Fugitt of Le-Wo-Pla group at LeBaron School won the third prize of a music box by selling 159 cans.

Group spirit came to the fore as the Rossette Blue Birds of McConnell School won a group flag by selling the top average number of cans per girl—57 1-6. In the Camp Fire contest, Tekakwitha won the group flag with an average of 101 5-7 cans per girl.

Prizes Chairman, Mrs. William Wright, also awarded day camp registrations and gift certificates at the theater party to the 80 girls who sold 48 cans or more of candy. She also announced that the total citywide sale netted $350 for group activities and over $3,000 to be applied to the campsite mortgage.

* * *

The purpose of the annual sale, according to Mrs. L. Raymond Sampson, candy sale chairman, who was in charge of the theater party, is not only to support Camp Fire activities but also to give girls actual experience in selling, handling money and budgeting accounts.

Camp Fire Girls is a national organization providing leisure-time activities for girls from 7 to 18. The local agency is a participating member in the United Fund.

New Glamour in Textile Field

Have you seen the new iridescent prints? A brand new process of printing textiles has been developed to give us sparkling patterns that shine and shimmer.

Evidence of it have been introduced already, so keep your eyes open for this new fashion excitement.

The process has been tested on the most widely used fabrics — and the developers say that these iridescent prints are safely handwashable in warm soap or detergent suds.

Theater Quote

Nancy Walker, explaining the marathon drinking scene in Noel Coward's "Fallen Angels": "I'd look in the direction of Margaret Phillips, but never really at her. As we got drunker I found that if I'd just look at Maggie's feet and follow them around the effect was good."

Wear Satin or Chiffon for Partying

Low-Back Gowns Are Favorites for New Year's Eve

NEW YORK (INS)—Your New Year's Eve dress will be right in style with 1957 if it's satin, chiffon or low-backed.

* * *

Satin and chiffon are fighting it out as the most favored fabric for gala evenings, with chiffon apparently having the edge.

If you're still on the hunt for a New Year's outfit, chiffon can be had at budget prices, especially in the deb department.

It has been used by almost every designer—and even comes in separates. In fact, one of the nicest combinations is a chiffon skirt topped by silk, satin or velvet—the top being any style you like so long as the skirt is full and drifting.

* * *

The most stylish top of the season is the one that has a low-cut back. It can be V-shaped or just plain backless, but the low-cut back is the thing.

Colors for New Year's are pretty much up to you—every shade from green to apricot to bright red has been okayed by fashion.

If you want to be high-style, try peony pink—it's the bright rosey red that has been popping up at fancy socials this month.

Wife Who's Too Selfless Places Marriage in Peril

Subservience Will Br ing Unhappiness to Both Herself and Her Husband

By RUTH MILLETT

Giving in to a man at every turn and knocking yourself out to be a perfect wife is not the way to achieve a happy marriage.

* * *

Through the years a great many women who have written to this column have proved the truth of that statement — but without knowing what they had proved.

The wife who "Yeses" her husband and spends her life trying to please him, who tries to keep peace at any cost, who always puts his wishes first seems to find, one day, that she isn't happy and neither is her husband.

But it doesn't occur to her that she has, in trying too hard to please her husband, brought unhappiness to them both.

* * *

She has spoiled him and then wonders why he is so selfish. She has offered the marriage nothing but acquiesence to all of his ideas and notions. Then she wonders why it has grown stale.

DEMANDS NOTHING

She has demanded nothing for herself. Then she wonders why her husband shows her so little consideration.

* * *

She has never stood up for her rights, yet can't understand why her husband seems to have so little respect for her.

So instead of wailing about how she has tried to be a good wife and how she has always given in to her husband, a wife would do well to ask herself, "Could that be the reason why my marriage hasn't been more rewarding for us both."

For it is never too late for the worm to turn. The women who decides that perhaps the reason why she has gotten so little out of marriage is because she has demanded so little can always do an about face.

* * *

She can if she will just admit that she isn't the innocent victim of a selfish, unappreciative husband but that she has turned the man she married into a selfish, unappreciative husband by being entirely too unselfish herself.

A cocktail sheath from Ceil Chapman's resort collection for 1957 is shown here. The green, pink and gold printed cotton has a drape over one hip, a narrow tucked sash effect and a side-draped bodice.

Our Brows Need Care With Skill

The hard, painted eyebrow is not only aging; it creates an air of unattractive artificiality. If your eyebrows must be sketched in, there's a right way to go at it.

First, pluck your eyebrows to conform as nearly as possible with the right brow shape for you. (Nature sometimes hands out the wrong brow shape; then it's up to you to improve it.) Pluck from below the brow always, and get out all the stragglers.

Now sketch in your new brows with light, quick strokes that copy the actual eyebrow hairs as closely as possible. Never simply draw one hard, continuous line.

Use a lighter pencil for the end of the brow and then apply a very light dusting of powder with a swansdown or lamb's wool puff.

Attach Teardrops of Shiny Crystal to Modern Lamp

LOS ANGELES (INS) — Instead of mourning the passing of the crystal chandelier, make use of chandelier beauty in your modern design home.

Today's comparatively small, low-ceilinged rooms are not the place for low-hanging massive light fixtures. But you can attach the crystal teardrops that hung from the old-fashioned fixtures onto modern table lamps.

* * *

The smaller such lamps, on display at a Los Angeles furniture store, had brass bases. From the tops of these bases dripped a series of cut crystal teardrops, attached to a crystal saucer so they would stand away from the base. The lights were, in true traditional style, electric imitations of candles.

The "candles" were shaded with vase-shaped glass, open at the top. Often the glass was decorated with etched floral or similar patterns.

Exercises Can Help Older Women

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Poor circulation is one of the problems which harasses older people. Our circulation tends to slow down with the years. Many older women write to ask for easy exercises to take. Some of these women are in their 70s or older.

* * *

We can take exercise down the years with us but most women do not do this. If you are in good health and exercise under your doctor's supervision, you can exercise with profit even when older.

However, a woman past early youth should have her physician's permission before starting in. Everyone should have blood pressure and heart checked before beginning an exercise program.

Today I want to give you a few easy exercises. To begin with, shake your right hand. The wrist should be floppy and loose. After shaking this hand for a short time shake your left hand in the same way.

Now stand with your face toward the wall and place your hands on the wall for support. Shake your left leg. Have your ankle and knee loose. After a while shake your right leg.

Lie on a bed on your back. Bend your right knee up close to your abdomen. Slide your right leg back to place. Do the same with your left leg. Continue, alternating right and left.

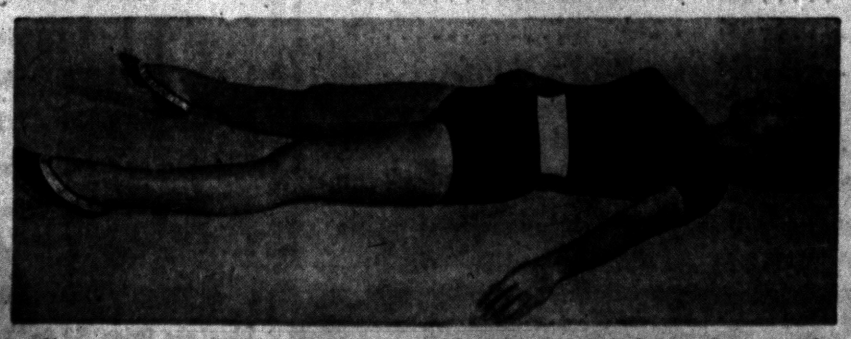

Lie on your back with your legs straight. Drag your legs apart. Do not lift feet from the floor. Drag together. Continue.

* * *

Stand tall. Make large circles with your arms.

You can stimulate surface circulation by rubbing yourself vigorously. Use a rough bath towel and rub until your skin is pink.

If you would like to have my leaflet of beginning exercises, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 25. Address Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Here is an easy beginning exercise: Keeping your legs on the floor, drag them apart and bring them together again. Continue.

Double-Breasted Suits Most-Liked

Men's suit manufacturers reveal there is a slight increase in the popularity of double-breasted suits.

All areas of the country are showing greater interest in this type of suit with the most interested area being the northeastern states.

In single breasted varieties, the most popular models are the two-button suit, but the three-button model has been growing in importance during the past three years.

Ultra-feminine blouses for young ladies are shown here. The blouse of polka-dot nylon georgette (left) has soft dressmaker details of fullness gathered from high yoke smocking and a bowtied V-neckline. On the right, the matador shirt has triple rows of permanently pleated ruffles bordering the pearl-buttoned panel. Both blouses are the drip-dry variety.

Beware of Commercializing Hobby

By ANNE HEYWOOD

This is the time of year when lots of people think about starting a money-making project of their own. So there's a grave warning I'd like to give, and it's this:

Just because you enjoy doing a thing for fun, for yourself or your friends, does not mean that you could succeed at it professionally!

The woman who loves to make her own clothes doesn't necessarily like to dream up abominable creations (from her point of view) to please a customer's taste.

The woman who like to decorate her own home may not like decorating another woman's home at all. And the woman who loves children, her own and her friends', doesn't necessarily love children in general.

* * *

Mrs. R. is a good example of this.

CHILDREN'S PARTIES

Mrs. R. gives wonderful children's parties.

* * *

She has four children and the parties she gives for them are really something special. Her guests, both the children and their parents, talk about them for weeks. And she does it inexpensively, too.

So, last fall, Mrs. R. decided to go into the party field professionally. She did everything right—figured the prices, advertised in her local paper, made announcements to friends and club members.

"But it was just awful!" she told me. "The parents were most unreasonable and wanted everything just perfect. And some children are such brats! You have no idea.

"Why, I lost money on all the parties I gave, lost my good disposition and almost lost my mind.

"Why do you suppose this is so? I would have said I could do it very well indeed."

MINOR FLAWS

The trouble is, when you're doing it for yourself, you don't mind minor flaws. But when somebody is paying good money for it, they want nothing short of perfection.

* * *

Also, the children you know and their parents are, as the saying goes, "your kind of people." The customers may not be.

In fact, as Mrs. R. learned, some of the people who are rich enough to hire a party-giver have spoiled their children beyond hope of repair!

If you're considering a project like this, be very sure to spend a good deal of time analyzing yourself, before you begin.

Maybe you love doing it for family and friends, but would you love doing it for strangers who might be hostile, demanding and unpleasant?

One Couple Steps Out After Dance

Other Pair Feels That It Was Rude to Split Up Group

By EMILY POST

A woman writes me as follows: "Last week my husband and I and another couple went to a dinner and dance which was given by an organization to which the other couple belonged. We sat together at the same table and had a very enjoyable evening.

"When the dance was over, our friends said that they were going to join a group of friends (strangers to us) who were going on to a night club and bade us goodnight. I thought this was very rude on their part and that as we had come together we should have gone home together. What is your opinion?"

Answer: While it was rather tactless of your friends to tell you they were going on to a nightclub, I think you are rather captious about this and that they were perfectly free to go somewhere else after the dance.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Last week I went to a basketball game at the armory. I was with a family other than my own. The mother led the way upstairs to our seats. I was just behind her and the others were behind me.

"The band started to play the National Anthem. The other members of the family stopped where they were, but the mother kept on going up the stairs to her seat.

"I didn't want the mother to be alone, so I followed her. Was this correct, or should I have stopped with the others and let the mother go on alone?"

Answer: The thing for you to have done was to take hold of the mother's arm and, standing beside her, said, "We must wait until the Anthem is finished."

"Dear Mrs. Post: Is it proper to take a gift, such as candy, or perhaps even something more personal, to a friend who has invited me to dinner?"

Answer: Unless it is the hostess' birthday or an anniversary of some kind, it is not necessary or even usual that you take a present to someone with whom you are going to dine. There would be no objection, however, to your taking a box of candy if you would like to.

The superb handling of this jacket is proof of his greatness. Note how the band that comes down over the bust is continued around to the back to form a narrow yoke that holds in slight fullness. In front, just below the fitted waistline, he band opens into a side pocket.

The undersleeve gusset also continues into one long panel insert that is actually part and parcel of the jacket. All this detail is simple to handle because the pattern is custom made with precise perforations to accomplish perfect matching.

Choose wool or if you prefer a dressier version, one of suiting silks, or linen for warmer climates. From this chart select the one size best for you:

Sizes	Bust	Waist	Hips Inches	Length From Nape of Neck to Waist

Gathering At Old Mill Honors Albert Watson

Old Mill was the setting for a dinner party Friday evening honoring Albert Watson who is retiring after serving for 21 years as superintendent of warehouses for Oakland County. Mrs. Paul Slayton served as general chairman of the affair and also acted as toastmistress.

Fifty guests were seated at a U-shaped table with individual places marked by attractive place favors.

In presenting a gift to the honoree, Charles Hamilton, member of the Oakland County Board of Social Welfare, remarked, "My association with the honoree has been one of the finest experiences I have ever had." George Burt, also a member of the board, remarked, "Our honor guest is a living exponent of loyalty."

Others who paid tribute to Mr. Watson during the evening were Howard Estes, superintendent manager of Oakland County Convalescent Hospital; Tom Leonard, assistant superintendent, Oakland County Convalescent Hospital; Mrs. Pat Hooper, supervisor of the Royal Oak Social Service Center, Hubert Earle, supervisor of the Oakland County Social Service Department, and Mrs. Raymond L. Cole.

Members of Mr. Watson's family present included Mrs. Watson; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lingenfelter, his son-in-law and daughter and Mrs. Edith Blocker, daughter.

Slip-Tease Styles Get Nod in Paris

By NORA W. MARTIN

PARIS (INS) — Gals now can "show off" their petticoats and even permit a glimpse of "panties," says Paris. It has nothing to do with strip-tease.

* * *

Yet in order to remain in good taste and follow accepted laws of decency, these unmentionables must be in a special style.

* * *

To be presentable a petticoat, for instance, ought to be of black eyelet embroidery or lace and made of many tiers like a Spanish skirt. Even then you shouldn't show more than a "slice" of it.

There is a white dance dress in Paris with black polka dots. Its front is high and demure while its back has a plunging V. The puffy, big skirt is slit up at the back from hem to waist, showing a generous "slice" of the coquettish black petticoat.

* * *

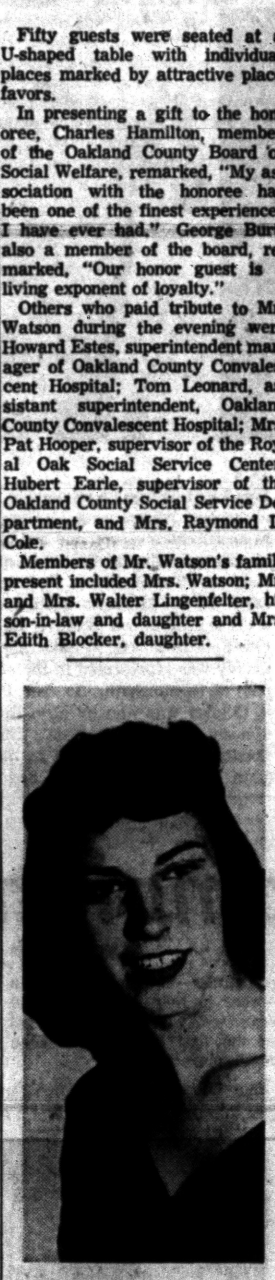

The model is called "Cha Cha Cha" and was designed as a dance dress for young girls, suitable for winter as well as spring and summer.

FOR BARN DANCE

Another "revealing" Paris number, this time more casual, has been designed by Sixte for a dance in a barn or a mountain chalet. It is a shirtwaist dress of grey flannel with a slightly flaring skirt buttoned down in front from waist to hem. You can unbutton it halfway up when dancing to show a fireman-red felt petticoat with a flounce at the hem underneath.

* * *

Another Sixte creation may give an idea to rock 'n' roll fans. It is a full, black skirt worn over a red taffeta petticoat and knee-length red taffeta bull-fighter "panties." In this attire you can rock, swing and roll . . . even stand on your head while still appearing well and stylishly covered.

With or without the suspenders, this adorable dress for young girls goes to school and parties with equal charm. Combine two fabrics.

No. 8449 with Patt-O-Rama included is in sizes 4, 6, 10, 12 years. Size 6, skirt, 2 yards of 35-inch; waist, ¾ yard.

Mr. and Mrs. John Pohl of Adams road announce the engagement of their daughter, Jacqueline A., to John E. Edwards, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Edwards of Fourth street. The couple plans a fall wedding.

Train the Family— Save Mother's Back

The child trained to pick up and put away toys after playtimes saves much bending for mother. The husband who puts away shaving equipment also helps.

But perhaps the biggest help of all is bathtub-washing by every family member. A tub brush and soap or detergent kept conveniently at hand are reminders to bathers, who will fall easily into a helpful habit.

Success consists in finding either greener pastures or greener people.

Amvets Entertained

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Donaldson of Briggs street recently entertained members of Wright-Fournier Post 161, Amvets, at a Christmas party. The evening was spent preparing holiday baskets for distribution to needy families.

Athletes of Oakland County Had a Prosperous Year in 1956

By THE SPORTS STAFF

It has been a banner year for Oakland County area athletes.

Championships have been earned by teams and individuals on amateur and professional levels in various phases of athletic endeavors during 1956.

★ ★ ★

Where titles were not forthcoming, brilliant team and individual efforts were recorded and distinctive honors attained.

Moments of disappointment and adversity also went into the record books. But outstanding achievements more than compensated for the negative side.

Who can readily forget the magnificent accomplishmennts of the Pontiac High School track team?

★ ★ ★

If the Chief Thinclads and their peerless Hayes Jones do not serve as an adequate reminder, then consider Mike Andonian's feats on the golf course or the fact that three area athletes took part in the 1956 Olympic games.

★ ★ ★

Cinder records aplenty fell before the onslaught of the incomparable Jones as Pontiac won the Class A state track championship for the 2nd consecutive year.

WIN MANSFIELD RELAYS

To climax their successes, the Chiefs entered the famous Mansfield Relays at Mansfield, Ohio, and became the 1st outstate team in history to win the nationally-known event. Jones himself accounted for 16 points, tops for the meet.

★ ★ ★

The undefeated Thinclads were honored by The Pontiac Press at a banquet in Stevens Hall and each athlete was presented with a miniature gold track shoe as momento.

Andonian, Pontiac High mathematics instructor, hit the peak of his golfing career by winning the Michigan Publinx crown and later giving a fine performance in the National Publinx test.

★ ★ ★

Pat Costello of Birmingham, Kurt Seiffert of Rochester and Lapeer's Judy Goodrich were named to the United States Olympic team for the games at Melbourne, Australia.

TWO COACHES RESIGN

The rapidly-departing year also saw the exit of two Pontiac High coaches, Wally Schloerke and Ed Graybiel.

Schloerke resigned as track and cross-country mentor in favor of Dean Wilson and Andonian while Graybiel, after four seasons, left the football coaching reins to an unnamed successor.

★ ★ ★

The PHS basketball squad also met its share of success. With the sensational Willie DeWalt leading the way, the Chiefs advanced to the quarter-finals of the state tournament before bowing to Detroit Catholic Central.

★ ★ ★

DeWalt, one of the greatest cagers in Pontiac history, was accorded all-state honors in post-season balloting.

AREA GOLFERS SHINE

Other golfers besides Andonian had their moments of glory.

★ ★ ★

Chuck Kocsis, one of Michigan's best linksman from Royal Oak came out of semi-retirement to battle all the way to the finals of the National Amateur before losing to Harvie Ward.

★ ★ ★

Ron Rothbarth shot a sensational 29 on Municipal's south layout, enabling him to tie Lloyd Syron and go on to win his 1st city golf title. Paul Bada fired a spectacular 61 at Municipal, a new course record.

★ ★ ★

The team of Bada, Rothbarth, Andonian, Charles Barker and Butler Cooper won the Michigan Recreation Association tournament at Lansing.

Bill Pembroke, Jim Pettiford, Joe Kocsis, Betty Ritzenheim and Betty Sue Syron gained honors in other city tournaments.

SALLY COMES THROUGH

Sally Sharp enjoyed a personal triumph by capturing the Michigan Women's Amateur crown and made a gallant effort in the WDGA before falling to Wiffi Smith in the finals.

Several important professional and amateur golf tourneys were held in the area during the summer with Mike Dietz, Wally Burkemo Pete Cooper and Marlene Bauer Hagge sharing the limelight.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Hagge beat Patty Berg in a playoff to win the LPGA tourney at Forest Lake while Dietz starred in the National PGA until a technicality led to his elimination by Doug Ford.

★ ★ ★

The Waterford High School golf squad of Jack Reynolds, John Wettlaufer, Dale Wheeler, Bill Cumberworth and Cleland Charboneau won the 5th annual Pontiac Press Prep Invitational Tournament, breaking Birmingham's two-year reign.

★ ★ ★

DRAYTON WINS TITLE

Other summer successes were spotlighted on the Drayton Drug softball team, which won the Class C state championship, and Pontiac GMC's baseball club, which chalked up 28 straight wins before losing in the state amateur tourney.

★ ★ ★

Judge Booker's phenomenal .538 batting average brought him "most valuable player" Press award in the City Baseball League while Miss Claudia Wasik and Jack Ganzel were accorded identical honors in softball. Baseball's Pike Memorial award went to Jim Berg.

Bill Muncey piloted Bill Hickson's powerboat to victory in the 225-class at the OCBC Inboard Regatta and the annual Detroit Horse Show enjoyed another successful run at the Bloomfield Open Hunt Club.

Tom Belton of Waterford and UM's Dick Potter stole tennis headlines by winning the Invitational Doubles crown at Orchard Lake Country Club.

John Nickels, a 195 average bowler from Birmingham, provided one of the year's top accomplishments in the area by rolling a perfect 300 game at Huron Bowl.

TABLE NETTERS STAR

It was a highly profitable year for county table tennis players as eight championships would indicate.

Miss Ellen Tiffany won the state junior girls and MRA titles and Miss Carol Ryan annexed the state women's crown.

Jerry Kruskie and John Wettlaufer took state junior doubles laurels and Perc Secord claimed the Michigan Open senior men's crown.

★ ★ ★

Secord and Miss Ryan combined to win three mixed doubles championships — the state title, MRA and Windsor Open.

It was also a prosperous year for Pontiac's Rusty Kelly, veteran auto racer. Kelly was the No. 1 point-getter at the Pontiac Speedway.

Another Pontiac driver, Joy Fair, wheeled around the one-mile track at the state fairgrounds in the time of :47.32 for a record-shattering run.

WALLED LAKE ROLLS

Walled Lake dominated the football scene in more ways than one. Unbeaten and untied in eight games, the Vikings nailed down the Inter-Lakes Conference title and received No. 2 ranking in the state Class B poll.

★ ★ ★

In addition, their great fullback, John Walker, was named to the Associated Press all-state team and voted Oakland County's finest gridder, the latter honor bringing him the "outstanding player" award of the Press.

New head coach Dave Smith brought further glory to the school by being acclaimed County-Coach-of-the-Year. The same honor in basketball was heaped upon Berkley's Fred Holdsworth.

★ ★ ★

This year also marked the release of the 1st annual Pontiac Press All-Oakland County basketball and football teams.

PRESS 'DERBIES' POPULAR

High interest was shown in the annual Pontiac Press fishing and hunting contests and seven different winners were happy recipients of U. S. Savings Bonds.

★ ★ ★

Keith Parker of Pontiac in the bass division, Jack Wilds of Clarkston in the pike division and Pontiac's Harvey Boatwright in the bluegill class were kings of the fishing derby.

Mrs. Ruth Bedard of Clarkston had the biggest bird and Jerry McKay of Pontiac boasted the longest bird in the pheasant contest. The heaviest deer award went to Pontiac's Rogers H. Davis while the widest antler prize was won by Lee Walz of Davisburg.

★ ★ ★

All in all, 1956 has been a tremendous year in Oakland County sports annals. Mr. 1957 will have to go some to beat it.

Few Sports Champions in Michigan in 1956

By DAVE DILES
Michigan AP Sports Editor

The showcase is almost bare of trophies, but there are memories galore that will linger for years and years as Michigan's sports activity for 1956 passes.

Not too many champions, for sure, but the year 1956 will go down as one of the most interesting years in the state's sports annals.

The Spartans of Michigan State got the new year off to a roaring start with a Rose Bowl football victory but from there on in —although there were victories aplenty—the big jackpots were few and far between.

The Detroit Red Wings were on the outside looking in when time came for the National Hockey League championship. After seven straight titles, the Wings took second behind the Montreal Canadiens, then lost the Stanley Cup playoffs to the men from across the border.

* * *

The Detroit Tigers were in the news across the nation day after day during a summer remembered too, for a terribly long losing streak, a change in ownership and a change in managership.

For the 6th consecutive season, the Tigers—despite brilliant individual efforts by several players—finished in the American League's second division. Charlie Maxwell's big year was one of the most pleasant surprises. The 30-year-old Paw Paw resident proved what he had been saying for several seasons: That he really was good enough to stick it out in the Major Leagues as a regular.

There were fine performances by Frank Lary, Bill Hoeft and Paul Foytack among the pitchers, and Harvey Kuenn, Al Kaline, Frank Bolling and Ray Boone.

But there were weaknesses, too, and a lack of hustle and spirit much of the time. Fred Knorr and John Fetzer, two ambitious Michigan radio executives, finally gained control of the club from the Briggs family for a record price. Then they named aggressive Jack Tighe to manage the club and everyone is looking forward to 1957.

* * *

Muskegon Heights, Stephenson, Crystal Falls and Chassell were crowned champions in state high school basketball.

Of course, there were the Silver Cup, Gold Cup and Harmsworth Boat races, and a big tug-of-war that extended from Detroit to Seattle resulted over the Gold Cup.

Officials ruled that a Seattle boat Miss Thriftway, struck a buoy and awarded the race to Miss Pepsi, a Detroit boat. The American Power Boat Assn. set aside that verdict, declared no winner, while Thriftway driver Bill Muncey cried "We wuz robbed."

The APBA later agreed with him, ruled that Miss Thriftway didn't strike a buoy and awarded the much-disputed race to the Seattle boat.

* * *

Kalamazoo had a busy summer, too, with the NCAA tennis tournament, and the National junior and boys meet. Nearby at Battle Creek there was the usual excitement with the Amateur Baseball Tournament.

The big tournament in state golf circles—The Motor City open—went to Bob Rosburg of San Francisco, who beat Ed Furgol on the first hole of a sudden death playoff.

Pete Cooper won the Michigan Open, Jimmy Johnson tools the Michigan PGA title and Glenn Johnson captured the men's state amateur for the third successive year.

* * *

Wiffi Smith, who didn't defend her state women's Amateur title, won the Detroit District, British, French and Trans-Mississippi Amateur crowns before turning professional.

Her successor as state amateur titlist is Sally Sharp, a Michigan State University student.

Michigan State, Detroit and Michigan failed to make big noises in basketball but have started out well in the tailend of 1956.

* * *

The Detroit Lions made a spirited bid for the National Football League's Western Division championship but fell 38-21 before the Chicago Bears in the winner-take-all match in the final contest of the season.

Wayne State University — despite a rigid de-emphasis program—went to the NCAA basketball tournament and lost out to Kentucky, then won the President's Conference football title.

Detroit got an international flavor in mid-summer by putting on the Olympic swimming and diving trials at Rouge Park — and two Detroit girls—Barbara Gilders and Jean Stunyo made the Olympic squad.

* * *

Michigan and Michigan State had fine football seasons, but the Wolverines' bid for the Big Ten crown fell short.

Bigger and better things in 1957 — that's the hope of Michigan sportsdom as 1956 concludes its final chapter.

'56 MICHIGAN HIGHLIGHTS — Here are some of the highlights from the state sport scene in 1956. 1. Fight between Red Wings' Red Kelly (right) and Toronto's Ron Stewart as linesman Doug Davies (center) bleeding after hit with stick, tries to separate them. 2. Winning kick on the Rose Bowl game by MSU's Dave Kaiser. 3. Wiffi Smith, golf star turned pro in Texas. 4. Detroit Lions hit pay dirt against the LA Rams at Briggs Stadium. 5. Jack Tighe becomes Tiger manager succeeding Bucky Harris. 6. Bill Muncey lost Gold Cup, rewon it on a ruling in a drawn out hassle.

LONESOME BILL — University of Detroit forward Bill Ebben (22), white jersey, was without a friend in this mix up with five Boston University basketball players last night in the Motor City tournament. Boston still failed to stop Ebben, one of the nation's top scorers, as he hit for 29 points. Detroit won 75-58. Northwestern beat Wyoming 79-77 in the second game.

Favored Bears Primed for Title Game

NEW YORK (INS) — The Chicago Bears, champions of the west, and pro football's eastern counterpart, the New York Giants, test the Yankee Stadium turf for the last time today before tomorrow's historic title meeting.

* * *

The two best teams in the National Football League will view film clips and sit through a blackboard session before trying out the stadium gridiron in a light scrimmage.

A sellout crowd of 67,000 and a nationwide television audience will watch the Bears and Giants clash Sunday for the first time in the big payoff game since Chicago won 24 to 14 a decade ago.

Fair and cold weather is predicted for the 2 p.m. kickoff, which means cuts of $3,500 to the winner and losing shares of about $2,300. Players take 70 per cent of the pot, with the commissioner's office collecting 15 and each of the front offices 7½.

* * *

The Bears, who have beaten the Giants in three out of four championship games, took a brief workout in Chicago yesterday before flying to New York.

The Giants, meanwhile, watched films of the Bears-Detroit finale before working out lightly in the stadium.

Since the favored Bears played the Giants to a 17-17 tie on Nov. 25, the Bears' offense has been bolstered by the addition of J. C. Caroline.

Used only on defense when the Bears were in New York last, the fleet halfback now gives Chicago speed to the outside which blends well with Ed Brown's passing and Rick Casares' line smashing.

The Bears, the top offensive unit in the league, claim they couldn't run against the Giants because their star guards were below par, Stan Jones with virus and Herman Clark with a pulled thigh muscle. Perry Jeter, now inactive, and Bobby Watkins also were injured.

The Bears are primed to perfect shape now and will be fielding the No. 1 rusher in the NFL in Casares and the league's leading passer in Brown. In addition, there's sticky-fingered Harlon Hill, whose two great catches cheated the Giants of a victory.

* * *

Paddy Driscoll's Chicagoans are expected to gamble for the long play. They're willing to take the percentage that one hit can be a touchdown.

The Giants will bank on their vaunted defenses to hold until Don Heinrich manages to put over a score. With passer Chuck Conerly at quarterback, Giant range increases.

The Giants also expect to make the most of Frank Gifford, Alex Webster and Mel Triplett, who provide running balance unequalled by any other NFL team.

* * *

William Downes was named by Commissioner Bert Bell yesterday to referee the game. Other officials will be Sam Wilson, umpire; Cleo Diehl, head linesman; George Rennix, field judge, and Don Looney, back judge. Ron Gibbs will head a crew of reserve officials.

"Stilt" Scores 46 Points

Full Slate in Tourney Play

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Followers of Kansas' top-ranked college basketball team were a happy group today. Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain's back on the beam.

Held to a mere 12 points in an opening round game against Iowa State Wednesday, the fabulous Chamberlain banged in 36 points last night as the Jayhawks moved into the finals of the Big Seven tourney by defeating Oklahoma 74-56.

Chamberlain's performance highlighted competition in the holiday tournaments with most of the championships to be decided tonight.

North Carolina, ranked second nationally, breezed into the finals of the Dixie Classic at Raleigh, N. C. with a 87-71 victory over Duke's Blue Devils. Lennie Rosenbluth, the Tarheels' big gun, scored 32 points.

* * *

Third-rated Kentucky, however, needed a basket in the last seven seconds to nip Virginia Tech 56-55 in the Sugar Bowl semifinals.

The Jayhawks (8-0) will meet Colorado for the title tonight. The Buffaloes set a free throw record of 42 points while getting past Michigan State 90-87.

With 10 triumphs in the bag, unbeaten North Carolina will go against Wake Forest for the Dixie crown tonight. Wake Forest qualified for the final by coming from behind to down defending champ North Carolina State 73-66.

Sub John Brewer's drive-in field goal enabled Kentucky to advance to the Sugar Bowl finals against Houston which surprised Alabama 76-68.

The Gator Bowl championship went to Georgia. The Bulldogs nipped South Carolina 64-62 in the windup.

In the Motor City classic, Detroit dumped Boston University 75-58 and Northwestern edged Wyoming 79-77.

In the All-America City at Owensboro, Ky., New Mexico A&M handed Georgetown its first setback 80-74 and Maryland beat Montana State 89-72. Oregon State upset San Francisco 62-40 and Washington crushed Southern Cal 80-61 in the Far West classic.

Canisius and Minnesota, idle last night after semifinal victories Thursday, will meet tonight for the Queen City title in Buffalo, N. Y.

Southern Team Favored Again

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — The boys who like to back up their opinions with coin of the realm picked the South as a touchdown favorite over their Northern rivals in the Blue-Gray gridiron contest here today.

Sunny and mild weather was forecast for the 18th annual all-star game featuring college seniors from schools above and below the Mason-Dixon line. But the weather bureau also forecast winds of 15 to 20 MPH, diminishing late in the day.

The Rebels have won 12 of the 17 previous games and the Yankees five. Professional oddsmakers figured the Confederates would triumph again this year on the strength of a powerful running attack.

Vasquez Makes Hit With TV Ring Fans

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Baby Vasquez, clever, hard-hitting Mexican lightweight champion, made a big hit with American boxing fans on television last night when he stopped Paolo Rosi, the quick-handed Italian from the Bronx, on a technical knockout in the seventh round.

The scheduled 10-round battle in Miami's Biscayne Arena was a humdinger from start to finish. The two eager fighters stood toe to toe and slugged it out, and the crowd roared its approval.

One minute and 55 seconds after the start of the seventh, Referee Mike Kaplan called time, steered Rosi to his corner, and called for a boxing commission doctor to examine bleeding cuts over both the Italian's eyes.

U. of D.-Northwestern Go Into Motor City Finals

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

DETROIT — Two entirely different basketball games were played in the opening round of the 5th annual Motor City Tournament in the U. of D. Memorial Fieldhouse last night.

Sharpshooting Bill Ebben clipped the nets for 29 points as the University of Detroit outclassed Boston University, 75-58, in the dull opening game.

In the nightcap however, Northwestern and Wyoming battled nip-and-tuck all the way before guard Dick Mast hit on a jump shot with five seconds to go to give the Wildcats a 79-77 verdict.

As result of last night's action, U. of D. and Northwestern will meet for the championship tonight after the preliminary consolation game between Wyoming and Boston.

Detroit had control over the Terriers from the opening whistle, pushing its margin to 30 points, 51-21, at one time. Boston was ice-cold from the floor, getting only two field goals in the first half.

For the rangy Northwestern quintet, center Joe Bucklick, 6-feet-9 and forward Phil Warren, 6-feet-5, both sophomores led the scoring with 24 and 23 points respectively.

Along with Bill Schulz, 6-feet-9, the Wildcats swept the backboards, but the outside shooting of guards Tony Windis and Terry Eckhardt kept Wyoming in close range throughout.

The lead changed hands 10 times and was tied seven times and with 51 seconds to play it was knotted a 77-77. At this point Northwestern went into a stall to wait for the last shot and with five seconds showing Mast dropped through the clincher.

With the height advantage, Northwestern will be favored to beat the Titans tonight, but Detroit's strong outside scoring threat could break the tight Wildcat zone.

Hawks Bow at Flint

Eliminated from title contention in a 50-39 setback to Utley last night, Ortonville High has a chance to salvage 3rd place in the Flint Dye hoop tournament in a 5 p.m. contest against Flint Atherton today. OHS trailed all the way in bowing out in the semi-finals despite 19 points by Bob Hutchings.

Birmingham Gains 3rd Hoop Victory

A big third period paced the Birmingham Maples to their third triumph in four season starts as Fitzgerald bowed by a 52-38 count at Birmingham last night in the final 1956 action for both schools.

The host club, featuring a well balanced scoring attack, held only a six-point first half advantage but clinched the verdict with a 15-4 third quarter edge.

Big Maple Bob Isbell topped all the point-getters with 20. Tom Kelly added 11 for the victors. John Bonogonino starred in the losing cause with 14.

Pros Convene, but Refuse to Make Comments

NEW YORK (AP)—The final session of the two-day meeting of National Football League player representatives will be held today. Their lawyer is expected to issue a statement after the meeting on the outcome of the discussions.

The attorney, Creighton Miller, former Notre Dame backfield star, declined to disclose any of the proposals made at yesterday's get-together.

The representatives reportedly have been seeking to set up an organization in which they would have a say in the making of rules and equipment changes. They also are proposing that players who fail to make the grade in the exhibition season should be paid for their efforts.

'Wreck' Eyes 6th Win

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Bobby Dodd, the nation's foremost football bowl coach, looked a little wistful as his favored Georgia Tech team prepared to tackle powerful Pittsburgh in today's Gator Bowl game.

* * *

Regardless of the outcome, Dodd had reason to suspect Tech's amazing string of six straight bowl appearances had stretched to the breaking point.

"We at Tech would like very much to win this one," he said. "It would give us six bowl victories in six seasons, a record that should stand for a long, long time. Then, too, this could be our last bowl trip for a year or two. We lose 19 men off this squad and 16 of them are on our first two units."

Coach Johnny Michelosen and his Pitt Panthers were just as anxious to shatter another Dodd record. In seven previous bowl games under Dodd, Tech has never lost.

* * *

"Tech beat us 7-0 in the Sugar Bowl last January," Michelosen reminded, "and our boys played a good game. I hope they have the feeling they were better than Tech then and go out there and prove it this time."

* * *

Tech, which won nine and lost one during the regular season, entered the game favored by a touchdown over the Panthers, who won seven, lost two and tied one. The weatherman promised generally fair skies, stiff breezes and temperatures in the low 70s for the kickoff at 2 p.m., EST. CBS provided national television and radio coverage of the finest grid attraction the Gator Bowl has come up with in its 12-year history. Gator Bowl stadium, its capacity stretched to 37,500, long has been sold out.

Dodd named quarterback Wade Mitchell, halfbacks Paul Rotenberry and Jimmy Thompson and fullback Ken Owen to start. In the line, he tagged ends Jerry Nabors and Don Ellis, tackles Ormand Anderson and Carl Vereen, guards Jimmy Johnson and Allen Ecker and center Don Stephenson.

* * *

Michelosen countered with quarterback Corny Salvaterra, halfbacks Dick Bowen and Jim Theodore, fullback Ralph Jelic, ends Bob Rosborough and Joe Walton, tackles Bob Pollock and Herman Canil, guards Vince Scorsone and Dan Wisniewski and center Chuck Brueckman.

Hornung May Miss Game But East Is Still Favored

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A swollen right elbow threatened to keep East quarterback Paul Hornung of Notre Dame out of today's East West Shrine football game for crippled children. But the East ruled a slight favorite.

* * *

Hornung was slated to resume heat treatments at 7 a.m. The kickoff was scheduled for 2 p.m., PST. It was to be nationally televised—NBC at 4:45 p.m., EST.

Reporting with the injury at the East's Santa Clara University training camp, Hornung said yesterday: "If I had to play a football game tonight, I couldn't make it."

* * *

Hornung's alternate is Milton Plum of Penn State. The opposing quarterback is Stanford's John Brodie. Brodie and Hornung are professional draft choices.

Hornung's injury was suffered Thursday in a light workout. He got a bump on the elbow. Ice packs were applied and Hornung was considered fit for a trip to a Los Angeles sports banquet Thursday night.

On his return, Hornung reported to East trainer Henry "Smitty" Schmidt of Santa Clara. X-rays showed Hornung's arm had no breaks. Schmidt treated the elbow until late last night with diathermy and whirlpool baths.

* * *

The East, coached by Terry Brennan, 28, of Notre Dame, went into the game favored by perhaps as much as a touchdown. But Buck Shaw of the Air Force Academy, head man for the West, hoped to offset the big East line with the throwing of Brodie and the running of Southern California's fleet Jon Arnett.

East teams have won the past two years, but in the series the West holds a 14-13 edge with four ties.

Since the game's inception in 1925, more than 2½ million dollars have been earned for the Shrine hospital for crippled children here.

* * *

Clear, crisp weather was forecast for the players and the 61,000 fans in Kezar Stadium.

Area Wrestlers Seek Ypsi Titles Today

Berkley and Hazel Park still had five men in contention and Cranbrook was counting on 175-pounder Gary Grikscheit to bring home a title as the semi-final round of the Ypsilanti Invitational Wrestling tourney got underway today.

Champions and other top finishers will be determined tonight in the big event with members of the defending state champion Ypsi High team currently leading the way. Awards will be presented individual winners. Their will be no team scoring compiled.

Feller Quits Baseball

Was Tribe Star 20 Years

CLEVELAND (AP)—Bob Feller, a big name in baseball for 20 years, won't appear on the Cleveland Indians roster anymore.

The one time fireball pitcher announced yesterday he is quitting baseball as an active player to spend more time at his insurance business and other interests.

Now 38, Feller grew up from a kid who sulked when he considered fans and scribes unreasonable to become a smoothie who talked easily about his setbacks as well as his triumphs.

Three years in the Navy during World War II took the edge off his speed. But the batters looking for a fat one soon found themselves biting on a new repertoire of curves and sliders.

* * *

Feller's record is a cinch to earn him a spot in baseball's Hall of Fame. His 266 victories include three no-hitters, a record shared by the late Cy Young and Larry Corcoran. Another major league record is 18 strikeouts in one nine-inning game.

Prothro Is Unhappy, Evvy Cautious

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Iowa and Oregon State were through with any physical contact work today and the tapering off process set in for their New Year's Day game in the Rose Bowl.

* * *

Oregon State Coach Tommy Prothro seemed genuinely unhappy over the mental attitude of his squad.

"I have never seen a team that seems to have its mind so little on a football game," he said.

The Beaver coach noted 12 or 13 of his players come from Southern California and it was natural that they would be distracted by visits from relatives and girl friends.

* * *

There was no such gloom from the Iowa camp but certainly there was no show of overconfidence.

"I still think this is a toss-up ball game," said the Iowa coach. Forest Evashevski when asked if he was more "optimistic" today than a week ago.

* * *

"If I answer that it would sound like I was saying we will beat Oregon State. I can't say that. I still think it's a toss-up game."

Evashevski added he couldn't "buy" comments by the Oregon State coach, Tommy Prothro, that his Beavers were much smaller than the Hawkeyes.

* * *

Evashevski pointed out that both teams have some small players who drag down the overall team average. Reference was made to Oregon State's center, Dick Corick, who weighs only 161 pounds, and Iowa's right guard, Bob Commings, a 173-pounder.

* * *

The Iowa coach said he was still undecided whether Mike Hagler would start at right half instead of Bill Hoppel and John Nocera at fullback in place of Fred Harris. Hagler and Nocera have impressed the coaches on pass defense.

Second team right tackle Dick Deasy, co-captain who hurt his knee in the team's last hard scrimmage earlier in the week, will be all right by game time, the coach said.

2 Earth 'Moons' Ready for Use

First Satellite Spheres Assembled for Shipment to Washington

DETROIT (UP) — The first of some 15 to 30 earth-made "moons," gold plated and polished to a delicate balance, were ready for the first leg of their journey out of this world today.

Two of the magnesium spheres, destined for a trip into space as earth satellites, were packed last night for shipment to Washington.

They are the first of a batch ordered for the Navy department's Project Vanguard — the name of the satellite program.

Delicate electronic recording instruments will be installed in the 20-inch spheres by technicians at the Naval Research Laboratory.

* * *

Then on Jan. 1, 1958, as a kick-off to the international geophysical year, the satellites will be placed in an 11,000-ton vanguard rocket and fired into space from the Florida peninsula.

Once it reaches 300 miles above the earth, the satellite will be free of the rocket mechanism and will fall through space in an elliptical orbit around the earth.

* * *

The spheres are made by Brooks and Perkins, Inc., of Detroit. Equipped with the recording instruments, they will report various information about space back to scientists on earth by radio.

ROTHBERGS' STAIRCASE—In October we visited the charming Lake Angelus home of the Jack Rothbergs. Once the home of one of the Fisher brothers, it has been kept in almost the same condition as it was originally. This graceful staircase has a curve at the bottom. Brilliant emerald green is the color of the carpeting and the rope bannister. Family portraits hang on the cream-colored walls.

THE HARRY MUNSON KITCHEN—Dr. and Mrs. Harry Munson live in a pink house on Wolverine Lake. Mrs. Munson has a pink kitchen to match. Walls and cafe curtains are pink, as is the wallpaper border above the hand-finished cedar cupboards. Taken from the dining room, this picture shows the interesting pass-through section. The shutters are finished to match the cedar paneling, while the cupboards below are finished in natural birch. The counter tops are all Formica in an unusual marble pattern. The ceiling fixture in the kitchen is a converted antique.

Houses We Remember

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

For our last Home Section of the year we thought we would like to reprint pictures of some of the homes we have seen during 1956. We visited 45 houses in the 52 weeks; the other seven weeks we used special features instead of just one home.

* * *

What we remember most vividly about the year is the pride each and every homeowner displayed. Large or small, impressive or just average—every home was a castle to its owner.

Another thing we remember is that almost everyone is still planning to do something more to the house; rarely is a house completely finished, even after a year or so of occupancy. There were exceptions to this, specifically in the homes of the Rothbergs at Lake Angelus and the Shaffners in Rochester. They wanted nothing changed.

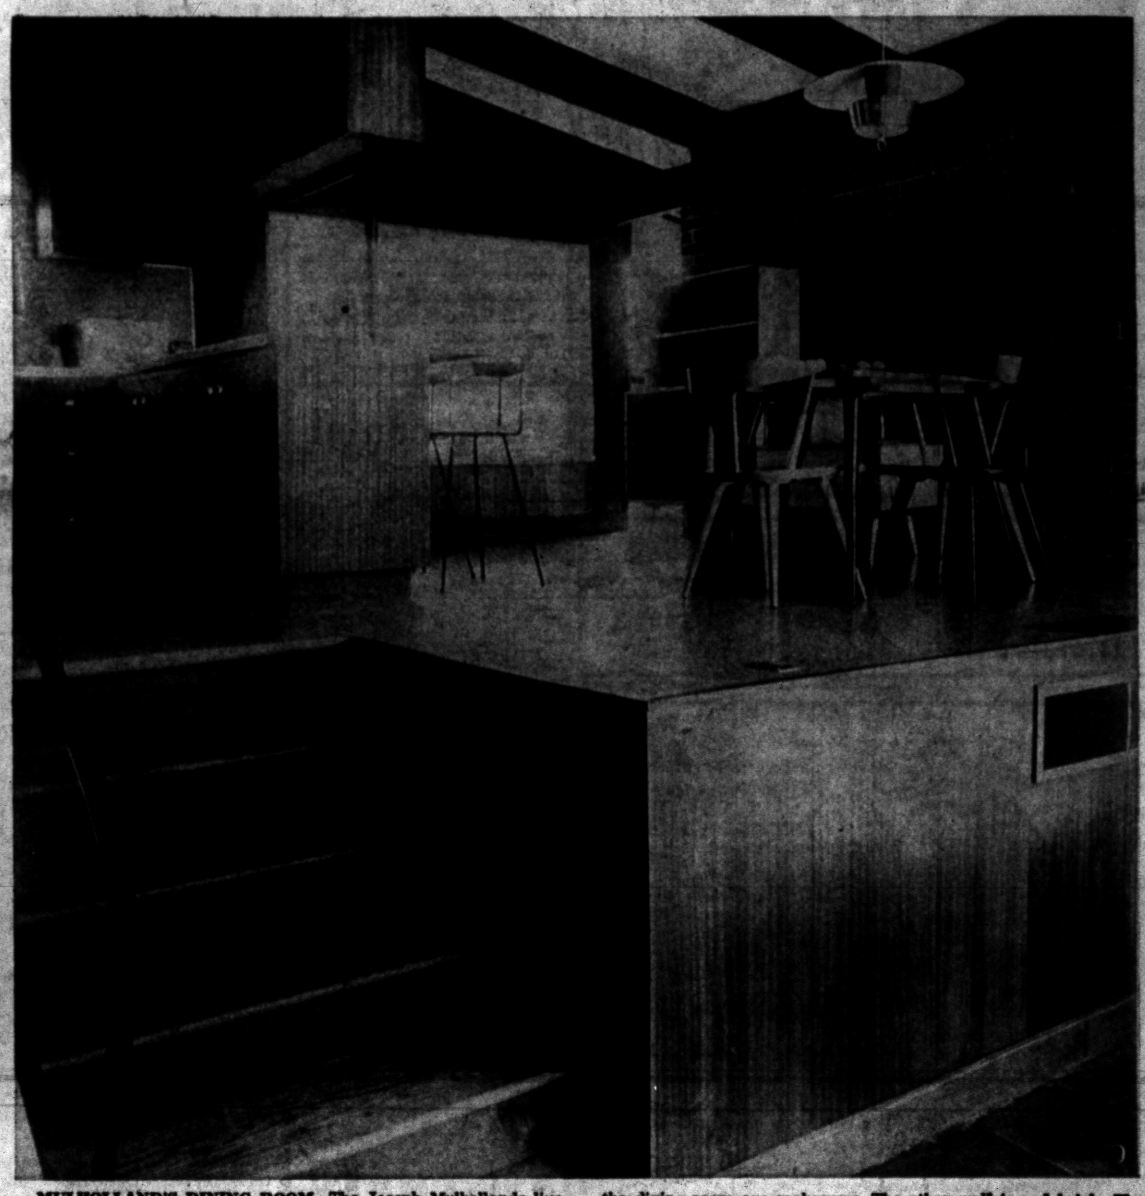

Our one regret is that we are unable to do everybody's new home. There is neither time nor space, of course, and all houses can't be photographed with our wide-angle camera. Often we must omit one room from our picture story because the photographer can't get back far enough to get a technically good shot.

If the house has open planning, the photographer has more room in which to work. As it is, he sometimes huddles in the far corner of a closet or climbs into a bathtub in order to get the proper angle for a special picture.

We like to show homes of every style, in every area of this northern Oakland County. We welcome suggestions from our readers about interesting homes. We like to know about home building projects you are working on. It is your home and your interest that keeps this section going.

ROSSO HOME IN BIRMINGHAM—Just a little over a year ago Mr. and Mrs. John Rosso returned from their honeymoon and moved into this brand new Cape Cod brick home. Little as the house looks from the outside, it has five rooms downstairs and space for three bedrooms and bath upstairs. The house looks so clean and new and inviting. The white trim is sparkling white; the shutters are dark green. In honor of the occasion Mrs. Rosso planted the front garden full of pink geraniums.

MULHOLLAND'S DINING ROOM—The Joseph Mulhollands live in a new home on Cragin road. This unusual raised room is interesting. Six steps up from the main floor of the house, it is a combination kitchen-dining room. The exposed ceiling beams are part of the pre-fab redwood frame. Kitchen units and one wall of the dining room are mahogany. The other wall is red brick. The floor in this area is a gray spatter print asphalt tile. Counter tops and splash boards in the kitchen area are turquoise. Furniture in this room is natural birch with trim and two chairs in black.

SUMMER LIVING ROOM—Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Shaffner built themselves a retirement home in the hills north of Rochester. This unusual basement room is their summer living room and their recreation room. Reminiscent of old Colonial homes, this room has a massive red brick fireplace with an extended wooden mantel. Most of the furniture is Pennsylvania Dutch; the handsome pine hutch table in the center of the room is a good example. At the left the long wooden settee is covered in a hand-woven blue and white material. Mrs. Shaffner has used antiques as decorative objects and as lamp bases.

GORDON HICKS' LIVING ROOM—We remember this home on Lahser road because there was evidence in every room of Mrs. Hicks' talent for home decorating. In the part of the living room pictured above there is a coffee table designed and made by Phyllis Hicks. It is a plastic-topped palette with ceramic planters in various paint-box colors. Mrs. Hicks also made the domino pillows on the aqua sofa. She and her husband sometimes use these pillows to play the game of dominoes. Three walls and the carpeting in this room are rose beige, the fourth wall is aqua.

Savings Associations Stronger at Year End

More mortgage money should be available from the nation's 6,000 savings and loan associations in 1957 than in the past year, according to Roy M. Marr, president of the United States Savings and Loan League. Marr said savings associations took advantage of 1956's lower volume of home building to build up their cash and liquidity position, as well as reserves, and will enter 1957 in a stronger position that should enable them to make more home loans.

"DREAM STUFF FOR HOME DECORATION —New slide-a-fold door principle allows use of many new materials for interior doors—framed fabrics, woven wood strips, Plexiglas, West Indies and plantation shutters, wood and hollow plywood. Inexpensive aluminum tracks and nylon-sleeved pivots and bushing can be installed in 20 minutes, and door heights can be any size, with widths beginning at 1'6".

True Moderns Use Roof Color

A contemporary-style house with a colorless, low-slope roof isn't a modern house at all, according to many color stylists.

To be truly modern, the color stylist say, a house must have color and color starts with the roof.

The reason so many contemporary-style homes built more than two years ago have dull-looking roofs is that until recently roofs with less than a four - inch pitch per horizontal foot could be covered only with "built-up" roofing — the same method used on industrial structures.

Today, because of technical advances in roofing application, roofs with as little as two inches of pitch per foot can be covered with asphalt shingles in any of a wide variety of pastel or darker colors.

* * *

A roof with even a small degree of slope is visible from the ground. Color stylists often suggest a light color for a low, one-story house, because a light roof creates an illusion of greater height.

Application methods have been developed for reroofing as well as new construction. Asphalt shingles can be laid on top of an existing built-up roof.

Save That Divan Look With This Slick Slip Tip

Extra pieces of fabric cut from the same material as that of your slip covers can help to prolong the life of the slip covers. Place these extra pieces, which when cut from the same fabric are hardly noticeable, on the arms and at the back — the vital wearing spots for your slip covers.

These pieces are easily removed and can be washed or dry-cleaned at home in a short time and help to save the wear and tear on the slip cover itself.

Details of Style Identify Antiques for the Expert

Sometime in her life a woman is likely to be bitten with the antique bug. She buys a little thing, perhaps a piece of old glass, pewter or a love seat, and bingo—she begins to dislike everything else in her home, particularly her furniture.

* * *

That is only the beginning. Even after she has attended a few auctions, visited some antique shops and read some books, she realizes that for all her interest, she is antique-ignorant. She doesn't really know one piece from another.

How do the "experts" gain such knowledge?

Some study their subject objectively as others study architecture or engineering. Others trust to luck with the help of books and articles. The best informed may be fooled occasionally.

There are short-cuts to the knowledge for amateurs.

* * *

Certain details of a piece of furniture may give a cue to its origin. Pre-revolutionary chests and secretaries made in New York, for instance, reflect the Dutch influence — wider proportions than pieces made during the same period in New England.

NEW ENGLAND STYLE DISTINCTIVE

"New England furniture gained much of its beauty from integrated design and slender proportions," says one of the country's leading antique dealers, Albert Sack, who displayed some interesting museum-like pieces at the recent International Antiques Exhibition and Sale in New York.

* * *

Most furniture may even be pinned down to the city it was made in once you get the knack—city furniture is likely to be more pure of styling than that of provincial areas, Sack says. You may tell at a glance whether a chest comes from Boston or Newport just by examining the feet.

"Boston and Salem craftsmen used the swept back claw," declares Sack, "while Newport furniture has an elongated oval ball and sometimes, although seldom open claw feet. The New York claw and ball foot is square."

The knee of a piece is often an indication of its source, also, this expert advises. The legs of a New England chair or table are likely to have a higher curve than those of a corresponding piece made in Philadelphia.

* * *

Brass handles and drawer pulls reveal age or period, and carvings may be traced back to individual craftsmen. Other pieces show their own history. Inside some clocks you'll find the name of the maker and directions for setting them, drawn into the wood.

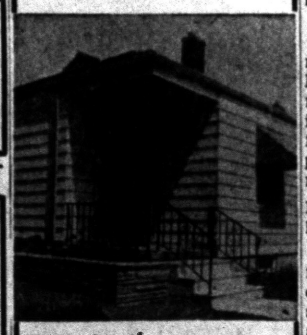

Sometimes there is more proof, such as letters found in old desks and tables. Sack has a dated one written by clock maker Simon Wallard, to a purchaser, explaining why the clock at $53, cost more than the sum agreed upon. It is displayed at the current exhibition valued at $3,500.

IMPORTANCE OF SANDING — The above picture shows what happens to floors when they are sanded properly and improperly. These tests were run in a research laboratory.

Average capacity of a railway tank car is 10,000 gallons.

Quality Sanding Saves Money

The importance of a properly sanded wood surface as related to the appearance and durability of the final finish was recently established by actual laboratory test.

Two identical oak panels, 14"x36," were sanded with a power sanding machine using "coarse" (36 grit) sandpaper. One of the panels received no further sanding, but the other panel was given a second sanding using "fine" (100 grit) sandpaper.

Then, two coats of exactly the same amount of clear finish were applied in exactly the same manner to each panel. When the finish was dry, readings were recorded on a Gardner 60 degree Glossmeter.

The fine-sanded panel registered a gloss more than 3 times greater than that of the coarse panel. (Actual Glossmeter readings — "fine, 100: coarse, 33). In the photograph, note the marked difference in the reflections cast by the cards placed on each panel under identical lighting conditions.

* * *

These tests were made in the research laboratories of Pierce & Stevens Chemical Corp., Buffalo, New York, well-known manufacturers of bowling alley and floor finishes. According to Mr. Robert K. Duffin, chief chemist, the following conclusions can be drawn from these test results:

1. More finishing material is required on a poorly-sanded surface.
2. The application of the finish to a poorly-sanded surface will not correct the roughness due to poor sanding.
3. When applied to a poorly-sanded surface, neither the finish nor the surface to which it is applied will deliver maximum performance.

Although the seven Western states have only 12 per cent of the total population of the U.S., they do 25 per cent of all the new-home building.

WALL CLIP IN WORKSHOP MADE OF DOOR SPRING

A workshop file can be made from a length of ½" door spring fastened at each end to a wooden back or directly to the wall. As illustrated, the spring provides generous clip-type holder for sheets of sandpaper, small plans or blueprints, seed packets, photographs and similar items.

* * *

This type of file may be used not only in a workshop but a garage, den or darkroom. Its advantage lies in its adaptability to various sizes and thicknesses of material placed in it. All are kept within full view and easy reach.

Create Space to Hang Wash

Winter days may be happy days for the family's snow and ice enthusiasts, but they often create a major difficulty for the homemaker with no laundry space in her house.

* * *

Indoor drying of even a small amount of newly washed clothing is usually difficult and messy, but it need not be if the bathroom is planned for extra duty as a drying space. The drip of wet clothes won't harm the ceramic tiled walls and floor of the bathroom. Moreover, such driers as the following are easily installed:

1. A line on a reel at the end of the tub. The line can be fastened to a hook at the tub's other end, and will be of sight when not in use.

2. Hooks set into the ceramic tile wainscot at each end of the tub. These come in vitreous china matching the color of the tilework, and preferably should be put in place when the bath is tiled. Lines strung between the hooks will provide good drying space.

3. A cabinet with a swinging arm rack. If the arms of the rack are of wood, then paint them so they will not mildew.

4. A ladder drier at the end of a corner tub. The drier can be built of two uprights extending to the ceiling, with transverse rods to hold wet clothes. Rods should be staggered so that each row of drying clothes can hang free. A flat piece of wood installed at a slant at the bottom of the ladder will drain water into the tub.

5. A folding or extensible rack. This can be attached to the wall and painted to match the tilework, or recessed into a shallow cabinet.

Way to Give Strength

Wooden sheathing may be applied diagonally on outer walls of the home to give additional strength. There is also high insulation value in sheathing when it comes from such durable woods as Douglas fir or west coast hemlock.

Proper Equipment Aids Wall Washing

Wall-washing is tough only if you go about it the wrong way. The easy method calls for assembly of all equipment in one place and proper technique. Two pails, one filled with soapy water, the other with rinse water, and a long-handled sponge mop are the only equipment necessary.

Swab down the wall with rich soapsuds, starting at the bottom, then rinse with clear water. The bottom-to-top method of washing prevents hard-to-remove streaks from dirty wash water.

Family Room 'Livability' Featured in New Homes

The family room is becoming a necessity for a modern home. It is the coziest, happiest, most carefree room in the smartest new house plans. The way it reflects today's preferences and improves the livability of a home is shown in Design HW-31 for The House of The Week.

However, just any room cannot be a successful family room. It should adjoin or extend the kitchen. It should be concealed from formal living areas. It should have convenient back door access and lavatory facilities.

So with these essentials in mind, Rudolph A. Matern, a champion designer of livable homes, planned HW-31 with a family room that works.

* * *

Here you have an interesting room next to the living room, handy to take care of an overflow of guests when parties get big. Yet it is screened from living room view by a massive fireplace chimney block to give youngsters privacy for their hobbies, games or studies.

PRIVATE GARDEN

Adjoining a secluded private garden, this room has sliding glass doors to shut out the weather, but not the view. When evenings turn cold, these doors are closed and everyone congregates around the family room fireplace for popping corn or barbecuing a steak — fun not usually sanctioned in a formal living room.

And this room is next to the kitchen to make it easy to serve informal meals without disturbing the dining room. Being next to the kitchen, it gives a mother supervision of her children while she is occupied with culinary chores. At the same time a mother in her kitchen can watch family room television, too.

In fact, television had a lot to do with the invention of today's family room.

Television has changed home design more than any invention since the automobile. While the auto introduced the garage and knocked off the old-fashioned front verandah, because it took people away from the home to the movies and other public attractions, TV has brought families back to the home. This has created a demand for the family room.

* * *

The change in home design came quickly as the popularity of TV spread. In 1950, according to government estimates, less than 4 million TV sets were in use. Today the total is estimated at more than 38 million sets—for a population of about 50 million families.

So the family room has become more important than the garage. Carports or car porches fill the bill for modern automobiles, which are designed to defy all weather. But a cold porch is no place for lolling teenagers.

Comfortable living is envisioned throughout this house. There's an abundance of closets and storage spaces. Closets flank each side of a dressing room entrance to the master bedroom. This provides a fine place for full length mirrors.

* * *

A window-lighted, built-in vanity counter is recessed in an alcove off this bedroom, adjoining a private bath with shower.

Twin lavatories are built into a long vanity counter over storage cabinets in the main bathroom off the hall. This bath is convenient to double as a powder room. An oversize linen closet in the bedroom hall has sliding doors, like all the other closets, to conserve floor space.

Open planning of foyer, living room and dining room is tempered by partial partitions and a waist-high planting box between living room and dining room.

The kitchen is efficiently planned for use of modern appliances. Places are designated for a wall oven, separate hot plate, electric sink, standing or wall-hung refrigerator, long work counters and cupboards. Stairs to the basement, if you build one, are at hand. An adjacent service vestibule connects kitchen area with garage, garden door and lavatory.

* * *

The garage is oversize to accommodate new model cars as well as a work bench, two closets and a storage room with windows.

A distinctive feature of this house is the slant of the kitchen and dining room windows. These slant upward and outward to the under-side of the roof overhang. This is done to reduce reflection, improve vision and keep the outside of the panes clean in rainy weather.

ESTIMATES for local building costs can be obtained by showing a study plan for this house to a builder of homes of similar size. The study plan includes a summarized material list.

This house, HW-31, covers 1,794 square feet. The garage and storage room add 322 square feet.

With a basement, the house contains 33,189 cubic feet. The garage, figured at two-thirds volume, adds 2,254 cubic feet.

Outside Entry Is Wise

AN OUTSIDE Cellar entrance is indicated on the plan for HW-31 for use in building the house with a basement.

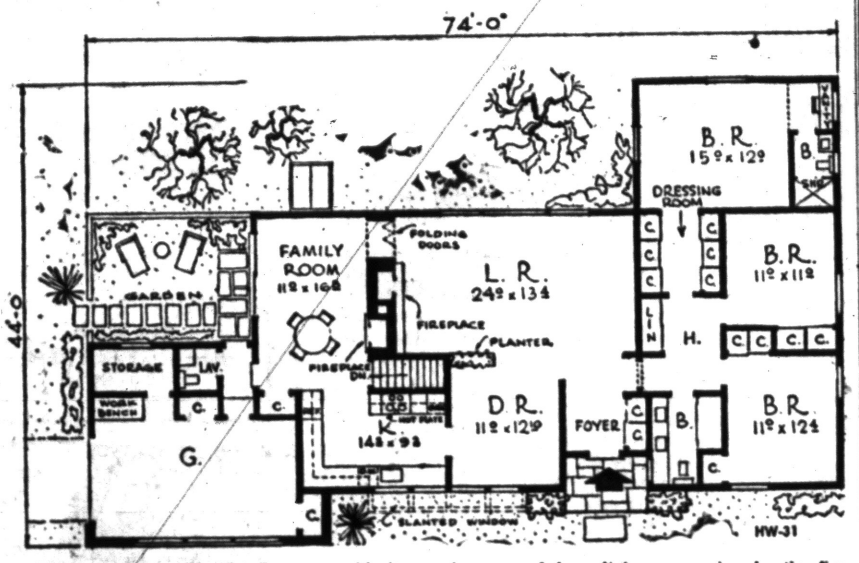

This is an important convenience often overlooked. It provides for maximum use of basement, for the storage of garden furniture and implements, swimming pool equipment, bicycles and sleds, without carrying them through the house.

Modern steel doors keep such outside steps weathertight.

Basement Not Needed

IDEALLY planned for construction with or without a basement, HW-31 has an abundance of above ground storage space. With the basement stairs planned next to the big chimney, space for a heater room is provided.

All blueprints for this house include a special conversion sheet to show how the house can be adapted for building over a crawl space or on a concrete slab.

IDEAL PLAN — The family room with its fireplace adds a super touch to this plan. It will take care of an overflow of guests, yet is screened from living room view by the fireplace chimney. Bedrooms are placed away from the noisy area of the house.

Siding Gains Favor in Random Widths

Random width siding is gaining favor in giving homes a new and different look.

Bevel wood siding in widths from 4 to 10 inches is used. A 4-inch width of ⅝-inch siding forms the bottom level with 6, 8 and 10-inch widths following up in that order. The rotation is then started over again with a 4-inch strip.

Other effective combinations use only two widths, 4 and 8-inch, or three widths. Some economy works in by using the narrow widths.

Random width vertical siding can be equally effective.

Keep Farm Machinery Up

To make sure important farm machinery is safe from corrosion, remove all traces of rust and grease before priming and applying enamel.

Famed Organ Tone Due to Pine, Mahogany

More than one million feet of lumber was used in building the roof of the world famous Mormon Tabernacle in Salt Lake City, Utah. This is largely responsible for the remarkable acoutical properties of the Tabernacle.

The Tabernacle organ, famed for the remarkable acoustical propstructed of yellow pine and mountain mahogany, woods that were hauled some 300 miles by ox-team from southwestern Utah nearly a century ago.

40 Per Cent of Paint Made for Special Needs

About 60 per cent of the total paint produced in this country is used for general purposes—painting of homes, buildings, factories and the maintenance of equipment. Sales of paint for such purposes are referred to as "trade sales." The other 40 per cent of the total paint produced appears on the market in the form of specialized industrial product finishes. These are materials for the finishing of automobiles, household appliances, office equipment, and so forth. The majority of these industrial finishes are highly technical and "tailor made" to suit exacting requirements under varying conditions.

Flush sidewalks clean with hot water from outdoor faucet. Melts slush in winter and gets rid of mud, after a rainstorm.

Wax Coating Helps Toys Last Longer

Now that the holidays are over and the kids have settled down to enjoying the toys Santa brought them, here's a helpful hint for parents.

Toys take a beating these winter days from snow, slush and mud and the general hard wear that any youngster gives a new possession.

These new treasures will stay new and last longer if given the protection of a wax coating. Youngsters properly instructed and encouraged will get a kick out of polishing up their playthings. They should be reminded that a surface with considerable dirt should first be washed with soap and water.

Tricycles and bicycles, coaster wagons, scooters, doll buggies and slides are a few of the items that will benefit from such care.

Electric lamp bases were standardized in 1900.

New Home Cooling Units Improved and Simplified

The business of cooling America's homes came of age in 1956, an industry spokesman said today.

Dollar-wise, the year was the largest in the history of residential air conditioning, topping $1½ billion as compared to less than $5 million a decade ago, according to Richard M. Locke, air conditioning manager for Minneapolis-Honeywell Regulator Company.

"It was also the year in which many theories of residential comfort were proved sound," Locke said in a review of the industry's progress. "Equipment reached satisfactory standards of performance, installation and service techniques were greatly improved and the price of home cooling leveled off."

This means, he said, that the buyer need wait no longer for the introduction of new air conditioning concepts, better equipment, or lower prices.

"Just as in the automotive industry, future models may contain minor changes or be subject to slight price adjustments," Locke said. "But there is little likelihood of any major changes in residential cooling in the next few years."

CONDITIONING COSTS LOW

He pointed out that residential air conditioning now costs as little as $600 installed and that operating costs have reached reasonable levels—as low as 25 cents a day prorated over a year for an average installation.

Locke's firm—a leading manufacturer of automatic controls for air conditioning reported that its production of thermostats for home cooling increased 121 per cent over last year.

* * *

An even greater increase was noted in production of control panels and other devices to monitor the automatic operation of residential cooling plants.

"This was due to increased standardization of cooling controls by air conditioning equipment manufacturers," Locke said. "In the past, installation and wiring of a cooling unit and its controls was often a tricky and expensive operation. Today panels are pre-wired in the factory so the installer must connect only a few color-coded wires. This solves one of the knottiest of the installation and service problems."

Equipment is more easily and cheaply installed, with the result that users are better satisfied.

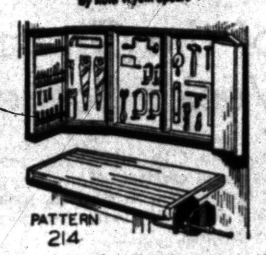

WIDELY USED IN SOUTH

According to Locke the need for home cooling is already well recognized in most of the South. It is nearly universal in commercial buildings such as stores and is rapidly becoming standard in offices and hotels. Builders are beginning to recognize its potential as an aid to selling new homes.

"As the average American families discover the benefits of year-round home comfort and see units being installed in their own neighborhood, they are not going to wait much longer before starting to shop for central cooling plants for their own homes, too," Locke said.

Know Values of Mortgager

If you are remodeling a house, which you consider poorly designed for today's way of life, you might like to consider what mortgage lenders list as the seven main parts of good design.

1. Space. This means planning floor area for maximum livability, for a flexible arrangement for your family's living habits, good traffic circulation through the house and ample storage areas.

2. Style. It may be Cape Cod, Colonial, modern, ranch, split-level, or whatever; but an attractive, natural enclosure which expresses the space honestly.

3. Siting. This means orienting the house for maximum light and air and exploiting the natural contours of the land.

4. Materials. Use them for a smooth and satisfying harmony of texture, color and mass. Avoid a hodge-podge.

5. Comfort. Be alert to the electrical way of life. Have a wiring system that is adequate for light conditioning, air conditioning and other marvels.

6. Color. This phase of styling is important for the single house as well as to the neighborhood. It is a potent ingredient of the seventh part of design.

7. Variation. In any neighborhood, the objective of good design is extended beyond the individual house. The objective is attractiveness for the area as a whole, avoiding monotony from house to house.

New Electronic Baby Sitter Out

Now you can even buy a baby sitter.

It won't do the dishes or tuck the kids into bed as will that little miss down the street.

But this one will keep an "ear" open for the children while you're down in the laundry or away on a quick errand.

It's an electronic device called a Com-ette which works like a small radio. All you have to do is connect one of these portable units, which come in sets, to an electrical outlet in the children's room. Then take the other with you and plug it in wherever you go in the house. Each unit is the size of a small portable radio and weigh only four pounds.

The Webster Electric Company, which makes the Com-ette, has received a score of reports from mothers who have worked out a unique exchange idea with their neighbors.

* * *

When the mother has to dash out to meet a train or replenish the milk supply, she connects one unit near the children and takes the other over to her neighbor, who listens to the children while she's gone. The units have a range of one-half mile and can pick up even the sound of normal breathing from a distance of 20 feet.

A family in New Orleans has gone a step farther by installing a more extensive intercommunication system which enables grandmother to "sit" with her grandchildren, ages 2, 4 and 6, from her own bed.

The two families have homes on adjacent lots and have installed Teletalk units, selected from a complete line of intercoms developed by the company, between the two houses as well as in each one. Thus, they can talk to each other on the intercom for hours while carrying out household tasks, leaving the telephone free.

* * *

This system also enables them to call each other instantly in any emergency as well as permitting the grandparents to "sit" with the children while they're in their own living room or bedroom in one house and the children are sleeping next door.

Dusting Cleans Floor

It is not necessary to treat a northern hard maple floor with water. You can dust it clean with a soft brush, dry mop or cloth. If it is soiled or spot stained, rub with a mop or cloth slightly moistened with the penetrating seal you used in the original finish treatment.

Careful With Sealers!

Make sure that the penetrating sealer you use on your hardwood floor will not darken the wood or water spot. Your source of supply for floor finishing products will help you select the right product.

A two-day jail term and a $30 fine were imposed today on Norman F. Kornosky Jr., 18, of Van Dyke, who pleaded guilty to illegal possession of beer. He was sentenced by Pontiac Municipal Judge Cecil McCallum.

Her purse and $6 were stolen yesterday, Mrs. Nettie J. Mannis, 25 Park Pl., told Pontiac police, while she was using a public telephone booth in a downtown store.

'Ride Your Bike,' Word From Ike to Every Tyke

WASHINGTON (UP)—The White House reported today that President Eisenhower would like America's youth to take more interest in bicycling and gymnastics.

* * *

Eisenhower met with Vice President Nixon to discuss the next step in the President's program to improve the fitness of American youth.

White House press officer Murray Snyder told newsmen afterward that:

1. Eisenhower will appoint within the next week a citizens advisory committee to study government and private ways of making American youth more fit.

2. The President's Council on Youth Fitness will hold its first meeting in mid-January. Eisenhower created the council last September with Nixon as chairman. Other members are the attorney general and the secretaries of interior, agriculture, labor and health-education-welfare. Its job is to coordinate federal efforts to improve youth fitness.

* * *

3. Trial operations will be started shortly in three cities, yet to be named, to work out youth recreational facilities.

4. Prospects are being studied for improving recreational facilities in national parks.

Money Bag Can Cry, Cut Loose With Gas

LONDON (UP) — A British inventor says he has come up with a money bag that screams for two hours if it gets in the wrong hands. If that isn't enough, the money container also cuts loose with a stream of tear gas after wailing for two minutes.

Harry Adler, 64, the inventor, said trained messenger can control the bag by means of secret catches.

"But once out of his hands," he added "the slightest movement sets off the alarm."

That goes on for two hours unless stopped by a special key.

Fled From Jail 15 Years Ago, Granted Pardon

CHICAGO (UP) — Joseph McArthur today was a free man in every sense of the word — for the first time in 21 years.

A full pardon restoring all his civil rights was formally handed over to him yesterday.

The pardon had been promised the longtime fugitive from Stateville Prison in a Christmas Eve telephone call from Gov. William G. Stratton. It arrived by mail yesterday at the office of McArthur's lawyer.

* * *

McArthur, 43, was seized in a clothing dispute last summer and it was learned that he had walked away from Stateville 15 years ago after serving six years of a one to 20 year term for auto theft.

McArthur, had assumed the name of Charles E. Burke and had become a respected husband and father in suburban Long Lake.

Gunman Returns Loot in First Holdup Attempt

PUEBLO, Colo. (UP) — A young gunman who said he was attempting his first holdup returned $80 to a grocery store clerk last night, explaining: "I wouldn't want anyone to rob my mother."

Mrs. Margaret Lattimore, the clerk, said she handed him the money from the cash register.

Then the gunman returned the money and walked from the store.

Injuries Reduced 60 Per Cent, Expert Asserts

Safety belt equipment in automobiles has reduced bodily injuries by 60 per cent, Lew LaVoy, manager of the Safety Engineering Department of Citizens' Mutual Automobile Insurance Co. of Howell, said this week, quoting figures from the Cornell Crash Injury Research Program. He was the principal speaker at the Southwest Kiwanis Club.

LaVoy pointed out how safety belts provide greater riding comfort while definitely insuring better protection from injury or death for automobile passengers.

According to the Cornell study, an occupant of an automobile is safest if he stays inside the protective shell of the car during an accident.

It is further inicated that of every 100 persons injured, 26 were ejected from the car, he said, and a large proportion of the most serious or fatal injuries were suffered by those ejected from the car.

Dorsey Decision Due on Estate Next Week

GREENWICH, Conn. (INS) — A court decision is expected to decide next week the contest over the administration of deceased bandleader Tommy Dorsey's $750,000 estate.

Judge L. Paul Burk promised a decision, perhaps on Monday, on whether administration of the estate be vested in Dorsey's widow or in a bank, as suggested by children of the musician's first marriage.

A request by the widow, Jane Dorsey, that she be named administratrix of the estate, has been blocked by two objections entered on behalf of Navy Lt. Thomas Dorsey and Mrs. Lester Hooker.

The thrice-married master of the sweet trombone divorced the mother of Lt. Dorsey and Mrs. Hooker in 1941.

Most of Ike's Bills Will Pass—Martin

WASHINGTON (INS) — House Republican leader Joseph W. Martin Jr., has told President Eisenhower that he will have the "best batting average" in Congress during the coming session than any President in years.

* * *

Martin conferred with the President on what he described as a "general legislative program." He declined to discuss in detail any parts of the program the President plans to submit to Congress.

But he said: "I told him that in my judgment he will have most of his legislation favorably acted on by Congress.

* * *

"He will get a very substantial part of it passed. I think he will have the best batting average of any President in years.

"He will have the support of most Republicans and the Democrats will find that they have so many Eisenhower voters in their district that they will have to see the light."

The flame ignited clothing in the closet. Michael got out — fast —and hid under a bed. His mother, Mrs. B. K. Tyler, smelled smoke and extinguished the flames. Brothers and sisters pulled Michael from his refuge.

It all happeed, David told officers, because he "swerved so I wouldn't run over a cat.'

Two Soldiers Killed in Parachute Tangle

FT. CAMPBELL, Ky. (UP)—Two airborne soldiers, one of them a former Michigan resident, plunged to their deaths Thursday when their parachutes tangled during a training jump.

They were identified as Sgt. 1-C Richard D. Kammer, 27, formerly of Marine City, Mich., and Cpl. Paul N. Varnes, 23 of Gainesville, Fla.

Witnesses said the two men, both members of the 101st Airborne Division, jumped from 1,250 feet, but their parachutes tangled as they left the plane, and did not open properly.

Friday would have been Kammer's 28th birthday. He lived at Ft. Campbell with his wife and four children.

People in Pickle as Vinegar Sours Town in Flood

BIRMINGHAM, England, (UP) — A tidal wave of vinegar got the housewives of Tower Road in a pickle last night.

A 20-foot high vat at a factory burst and poured 45,000 gallons of vinegar down the road.

Housewives manned their brooms and sought to sweep back the onrushing flood. They tried to barricade their houses with carpets piled at the doors.

But, said Mrs. Doris Jenney, who lives near the pickle works, soon the vinegar began burbling up through drains and squirted all over the place.

Firemen finally diverted the river of vinegar and began pumping out cellars.

It's Not a Capitol Idea, but a Capital Pleasure

WASHINGTON (UP) — More and more Americans are proudly displaying flags that have flown over the U. S. Capitol.

In 1956 about 4,000 national banners were hoisted, flown for a time, then hauled down and sent to persons in various parts of the country.

* * *

The flags are flown at the request of a Congress member who usually is fulfilling the wishes of a constituent, a school or some civic or patriotic group back home.

The flags are not provided free, the person or group requesting them usually pays the cost. Sometimes the congressman foots the bill. A banner measuring 5 by 8 feet costs $6.50.

'Tis Burning of the Green on the Next Week's Scene

To herald the end of the Christmas-New Year holidays and to prevent possible home fires, the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Dept. is sponsoring a "Burning of The Green" ceremony Jan. 5.

* * *

At 7 p.m. that date hundreds of Christmas trees shaped in a huge star, will go up in flames. Preceding the mass burning there will be a half-hour program of Christmas carols and the portrayal of Christmas legends and traditions by high school students.

Residents of the city are asked to bring their trees to the Northside softball field, Edison and Montcalm streets, Jan. 2 and 3.

The program, the first of its kind in Pontiac, has received the support of Fire Marshal Charles E. Metz.

"By this time all trees are dry and are becoming exceedingly hazardous," he said. "This program will eliminate the problems of householders in dumping trees while doing away with dangerous fire hazards."

* * *

"This whole program is dependent upon the people of Pontiac," Leonard T. Buzz, director of the event, said.

The estimated size of the star is hoped to be 150 feet in diameter, Buzz said.

Ford Mercury Division to Boost Model Output

DEARBORN (INS)—Ford's Mercury division said today it will boost 1957 model output by 43 per cent in January, turning out 40,000 cars as compared with 28,000 in December.

Mercury General Manager F. C. Reith predicted the expanding auto market in the medium price class should boost sales in that field to well above two million units in 1957.

The first United States census was taken in 1790. It listed 3,929,214 inhabitants.

The Chief appointed committees to plan the program and promote the lodge's annual spring conclave which also will celebrate the group's 30th anniversary.

Vice Chief Frank Breza of Utica was program chairman of the banquet. He was assisted by Larry Elzerman of Utica, Jerry Badaluco of Farmington, and Richard Trombley of Mt. Clemens.

Give Jackson Guard Two Years Probation

* * *

Fessenden admitted that as a guard he took a package from the prison for an inmate and mailed it to the inmate's wife. But he denied knowing the fake checks were inside.

Justice John C. Dalton in passing sentence Thursday ordered Fessenden to pay $5 a month to cover the probation cost.

GOOD RESOLUTIONS

As the old year draws to an end, many people make lists of good resolutions for the coming year.

One good resolution is best illustrated by three little monkeys who show by their actions that they hear no evil, see no evil and speak no evil.

Of course, we do not have to cover our ears completely, just not listen to gossip or mischievous talk about friends. Don't shut your eyes to all things, just overlook the faults of others. Don't keep your mouth tightly shut, just don't say unkind words about people.

Paste the monkeys down on cardboard and color with crayons. The monkeys are brown but their clothes are brightly colored.

Cut out the monkeys along the black lines. Fold the supports on the dotted lines. The bottom monkeys have side supports which fold forward. The other monkeys and the sign fold half back, half forward.

Now they will sit up in a group around their motto as a good reminder to you.

(Rusty Blondin of Audubon, Pa., wins $10 for submitting this idea first. Your suggestions should be sent to Junior Editors care of this newspaper. Violet Moore Higgins; AP Newsfeatures.)

Dems Challenge Absentee Ballots in Rhode Island

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP) — A State Supreme Court fight to determine who shall become the next governor of Rhode Island opened this morning with one of the five justices, a brother of incumbent Gov. Dennis J. Roberts disassociating himself from the case.

* * *

Republican Christopher Del Sesto, with all ballots counted, leads Democrat Roberts by 427 votes. The State Board of Elections has declared him the winner, but Democrats, in two separate actions, have challenged constitutionality of state laws involving absentee civilian and shut-in voters.

Attorneys for Democrats, fearing a two-two split decision by the court, asked permission to file motions protesting Judge Roberts' withdrawal.

Crosby Will Be Songless in New Dramatic Movie

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Without a song—that's Bing Crosby in his latest picture.

* * *

Ever since he started in Mack Sennett comedies, Bing has sung in every picture he has made, even the dramatic ones of recent years. But in his current film, "Man on Fire," he doesn't so much as warble a note. I dropped by the set to see how this revolution came about.

"It was my own idea," he disclosed. "I figured if I couldn't get away without singing in this picture, I never could. There's really no reason for a song. The character is not an entertainer; he owns a small manufacturing company.

* * *

"I always figured before that I was a crooner and people expected me to sing when they saw one of my pictures. But I don't think anybody's going to run out of the theater and demand their money back if they don't get a song out of me.

"I think it destroys some of the illusion of a dramatic picture if you throw in songs. 'The Country Girl' would have been better without them."

* * *

Bing said the picture's producer, Sol Seigel, wanted to include a number, since he was subject to pressure from exhibitors. But Bing won out.

His songless film doesn't mean that the Groaner is soft-pedaling the vocalistics. He eagerly scanned my copy of Variety for listings of his hit record, "True Love." It was fourth.

"That's just where I want it," he said. "Then it can stay there for a long time."

The disc has already gone over the million mark, becoming the 20th of his to do so.

* * *

Bing admitted he's keeping active in the record field, releasing songs he has recorded for his radio show. He's playing the disc field now, since he's no longer under exclusive contract to Decca. How about some rock 'n' roll for him?

"I'm over the hill for that sort of thing," he laughed. "That's for the younger kids."

What about the new singers?

"I think this boy Pat Boone is a real comer. He's got a good voice and a nice, clean-cut appearance. He's everything that the other fellow (Elvis Presley) isn't.

"There's room for both of them. But Presley has to broaden himself out and learn to sing ballads."

* * *

Of his future plans, Bing said he'll probably quit his CBS radio show after the first of the year. Reports that he'll sign for a regular TV show are false,' he said.

'Santa' Calls Back Gifts From Ingenious Inmates

ATLANTA (AP)—The Rev. Bill Allison, chaplain for the Fulton County Jail, gave all the prisoners a Christmas parcel containing a Bible, a book of devotionals, fruit, a pair of socks and a ball-point pen.

But Santa had to go into reverse. All the pens were taken up after a routine "shakedown" on Christmas night disclosed that one enterprising inmate had removed the cartridge from the pen and devised a near-perfect gadget for picking handcuff locks.

5 Killed in Fire Caused by Exploding Kerosene

ST. MARYS, W. Va. (AP)—Five persons perished Friday in a fire which destroyed their rural home near here.

The sheriff's office said the fire was caused by exploding kerosene being used to ignite a wood stove.

Dead were Mr. and Mrs. Laymen Speece, their daughter and two grandchildren, the office reported.

The house, a one room frame dwelling, was seven miles north of this Ohio River town.

It was not clear immediately how many of the family survived.

2 Autos Crash, 5 Die in East

All From Pittsburgh; One Survives Collision on Slippery Highway

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Five Pittsburgh residents, including four teen-agers, were killed last night in a near head-on collision of two autos on a snow-covered, slippery highway in Baldwin Borough about four miles from midtown.

* * *

The tragedy was among the first to be reported on the nation's highways as the New Year's holiday period began. And it was the worst accident reported anywhere in the nation since 6 p.m. local time yesterday.

"Just how the wreck happened may never be known," said police Lt. Charles Colosi. He added, however, that one car may have skidded after rounding a slight curve and crashed into the other vehicle.

Stanley F. Puchalski, 31, was the lone occupant of one machine. Like the occupants of the second car he was thrown out of his machine. He died instantly.

* * *

The driver of the car carrying the teen-agers was identified by Colosi as Alfred Daugherty 18. Killed with him were Dorothy Salmon, and Mary Alice Healey, both 18, and Barbara Hines, 17.

The lone survivor of the Daugherty machine was Harry J. Haney 18.

"He's in serious condition from shock and can't say just what happened," Colosi said.

Board members gave much of their time at the meeting to discussion of the proposed water authority to be formed between Farmington City and Township and a portion of Southfield Township.

The board authorized Pate and Hirn, engineers, to estimate costs of running a water main to 12 Mile road. They also extended the time on payment of property taxes to Feb. 28.

GM Scientist Advises:

Reverse, Revise Educational Trends

NEW YORK (INS)—A General Motors scientist has warned that if nation's science and technology ever achieve "the greatest good for the greatest number," some current educational trends must be reversed.

Speaking before the Scientific Research Society of America last night Dr. Lawrence R. Hafstad made a plea for reviving classroom disciplines of science and mathematics for both technical and non-technical high school students.

The board of governors of the society voted him the Proctor Prize as one of the nation's leading scientists. Presentation of the award was made at a combined meeting of Resa and Sigma Chi, national scientific fraternity, in connection with the annual meeting of the American Association of Science in New York.

Dr. Hafstad, vice president in charge of General Motors research staff, explained that to reap full benefits of technology, a "good society" not only must train more scientists and engineers but also must make the basic philosophies of science understandable to non-technical people.

The scientist's job, Mr. Hafstad declared, is to find, establish and record a "new item of information" or new knowledge. He said:

"It is no concern of the scientist, as a scientist, whether the information is useful or not. It is for this reason that we can say with conviction that it is not scientists who create technology. It is society itself which chooses to create a technology based on the information which the scientist has uncovered."

He urged an intellectual "matching of backgrounds" between scientists and humanitarians so that the non-technical portion of society will comprehend the scientist's motives.

Tito Says Increased Aid Not Needed but Would Like Jet Planes From U.S.

WASHINGTON (INS) — Yugoslavia is still interested in obtaining more than 200 jet planes ordered from the U. S. despite statements from Belgrade that future military aid is not necessary.

The shipment of aircraft which the administration had previously decided to provide Marshal Tito's armed forces was ordered held up last Oct. 13 by President Eisenhower.

Since then, only minor shipments of military equipment, mainly spare parts, has been going to Yugoslavia—although the U. S. program for sending 98 million, 800 thousand dollars of economic help, mostly wheat from surplus stocks, is continuing.

Informed sources said that although Belgrade has shown by its reaction to events in Hungary and the Middle East that it is maintaining a policy of independence from the Kremlin, there has been no change in Mr. Eisenhower's orders for freezing shipments of planes.

RECEIVED AID

Since 1948, when Yugoslavia was expelled from the cominform, Yugoslavia has received an estimated one billion dollars in military and economic help from the U. S.

In addition to approximately 210 jet planes, the backlog of frozen military equipment which the U. S. had agreed to send to the Belgrade government includes a number of 155 millimeter howitzers and some tanks.

Yugoslav Defense Secretary Ivan Gosnjak Thursday said that because of the "changed political and military situation of our country . . . military aid from abroad will not be necessary."

* * *

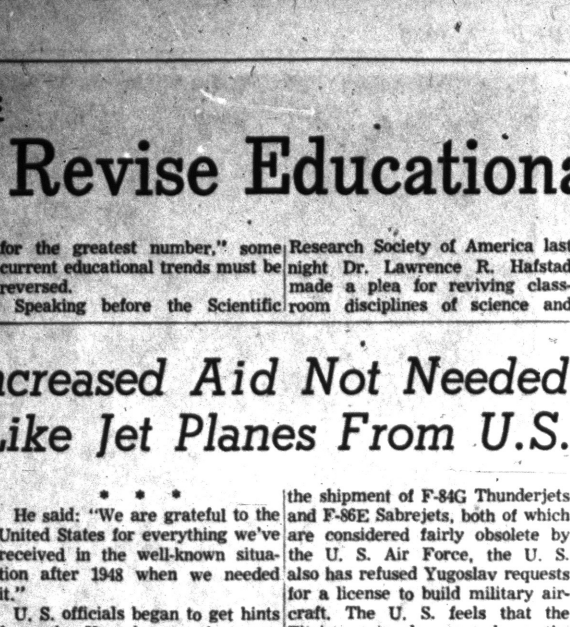

He said: "We are grateful to the United States for everything we've received in the well-known situation after 1948 when we needed it."

U. S. officials began to get hints from the Yugoslavs as long ago as last spring that the Belgrade government would not ask for any new military equipment once it got delivery of agreed-upon help.

* * *

In addition to holding back on the shipment of F-84G Thunderjets and F-86E Sabrejets, both of which are considered fairly obsolete by the U. S. Air Force, the U. S. also has refused Yugoslav requests for a license to build military aircraft. The U. S. feels that the Titoist state does not have the economy or technology to run the plants.

About 120 jet planes already have been sent to Yugoslavia. Only six of these, all F86Es, were shipped in 1956.

"WHO'S AFRAID OF THE BIG, BAD . . . ?" — The Big, Bad Wolf doesn't frighten this little Italian girl, who probably wonders how Little Red Riding Hood could have been fooled by such a phony. Wolf was part of an exhibit in a Roman shop window, advertising a children's book that contains the story of "Capucetto Rosso" —"Little Red Riding Hood" to you.

Superior, Lone Star Cement May Merge

NEW YORK (AP) — Directors of Lone Star Cement Corp., and Superior Portland Cement, Inc., have approved a proposal for a merger of the two through an exchange of 1¾ shares of Lone Star for each share of Superior Portland. Stockholders of both companies will vote on the merger at a later date.

Lone Star Cement is one of the country's three leading cement makers and operates in Eastern, southern and midwestern states. Superior Portland is a leading cement maker in the Pacific Northwest.

Doctors' Strike Threatens British Medical System

LONDON (INS)—Britain's socialized medical system is threatened with destruction as the nation's 67,000 doctors announced recently they would strike unless the government grants them a pay raise.

The doctors said that if the government continues to refuse to grant the pay raise, they will resign from the National Health Service, the agency which directs the socialized medical system.

The powerful British Medical Association announced emergency measures to put a "strike organization" into operation.

The organization was instructed to prepare the necessary machinery for action.

With these developments, the National Health Service faces its biggest crisis since it was formed eight years ago. The crisis will come to a head Jan. 4, when a British Medical Association makes a renewed demand to Health Minister R. H. Turton for a 24 per cent pay raise.

* * *

The British Medical Guild, which is the trade union of the Medical Association, has been fighting for a raise in pay from an average of 2,200 pounds sterling ($6,160) annually to about 2700 pounds ($7,560).

The Guild announced, "Preparations are being made in case withdrawal from the health service is necessary."

DOCTORS TO DEFY RULES

It was not yet revealed how the doctors can serve their patients and still pressure the government by crippling the National Health Service. But one suggestion was that the doctors might refuse to sign sick certificates or defy government regulations.

The Medical Association announced that 200 branches of the Guild were asked to overhaul their machinery for "swift" action if it becomes necessary.

The British Medical Journal published correspondence accusing the Ministry of Health of being "curt" and "unsatisfactory" in negotiations with the Medical Association.

The Medical Association claims that doctors' salaries should rise automatically with the cost of living under the agreement with the National Health Service. But the Ministry of Health maintains the Health Service has no such obligation.

Pair Arrested in Burglaries

Young Man Says He Forced Wife to Assist in Chicago Breakins

CHICAGO (AP) — A young couple was held by police today in connection with a series of burglaries and the husband told police he had forced his wife to join him in the crime forays by threatening to leave her.

* * *

The husband, Lawrence Griffin, 20, told police he believed a forced escape in one recent burglary may have caused the premature birth of their first baby.

His wife, Ann, 22, gave birth on Christmas Day to a premature baby girl weighing 3 pounds 3 ounces. The infant is in an incubator in suburban Oak Park Hospital.

Mrs. Griffin was removed to the women's ward of the Cook County Jail after police in suburban River Forest filed three burglary charges against her.

Police said Griffin admitted 29 burglaries in Oak Park, River Forest and suburban Forest Park, where the couple lived, since last August.

Griffin told police that in a recent burglary of a home he and his wife were forced to make a hurried exit when the occupants returned. He said he jumped to the ground from a window and then he caught her.

"I think she must have been hurt," Griffin said.

New Telephone Cables to Extend From City to Drayton Plains

Telephone cables along Dixie Highway from the viaduct on Oakland avenue to the Drayton Plains Michigan Bell Telephone office, will be laid underground by February, R. H. Storm, Pontiac district manager of the company, said today.

The purpose of the project, Storm said, is to provide an underground conduit for additional trunk cables between Pontiac, Drayton Plains, and Clarkston early next year.

The firm expects to spend $343,000 to complete the job, Storm said.

Another reason for laying the four to seven cables underground is to prevent further damage caused by fires which disrupted service in the past, the official explained.

Local telephone users along the route will receive service relief when the toll and exchange cable additions are installed by May.

Professor Asks U. S. 'Bug Bank' for Curators

NEW YORK (INS)—"And why not a national bug bank?"

Professor Theodore H. Hubbell, director of the University of Michigan Museum of Zoology, put this unusual question to a meeting of the Entomological Society of America in New York yesterday.

Professor Hubbell's plan for a centrally-located "National Entomological Repository," backed by federal aid, would "provide for the care and study of currently unused but valuable insect collections.

If adopted, Hubbell said, his plan would give curators more time for research and care of active collections; relieve crowded museum storage conditions; and provide scholars with ready access to a wide variety of collections volunteered by various museums.

French Liner Damaged

PARIS (AP) — The French Line announced today that its 50,000-ton liner Liberte had been damaged in an Atlantic storm while en route to New York and was returning to France.

A spokesman for the Campagnie Generale Transaflantique said one of the Liberte's cargo hatches was stove in and three loading cranes were carried away.

The liner sailed two days ago from Le Havre with 393 passengers bound for New York.

Vote on Bond Proposal

PORT HOPE (AP)—The Port Hope community school district voted in favor of a bond proposal appropriation of $240,000 for expansion and development of this Thumb area community's school.

Nehru Returns to Duty in India After Tour, Talks

BOMBAY (INS) — Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru returned home yesterday from visits to the U. S., Canada and Britain and said he and President Eisenhower had agreed "in our approach and outlook on many things."

Nehru told reporters at Bombay Airport that he and Mr. Eisenhower discussed many "important world problems" during their conference at the Eisenhower farm in Gettysburg, Pa.

* * *

Nehru said that India bears a heavy responsibility in the current world situation. He suggested that his country make its views known with "restraint and humility."

"There is too much shouting in the world now," the prime minister said.

Fouled Lines Cause Emergency in Plant

A near-panic was caused yesterday when a felled tree cut off the electric current at the Commercial Steel Treating Corp., 31060 Stephenson Hwy.

Heat-treated vats were hand-propelled by employes for two hours to maintain their heat and preventing them from blowing up until the Detroit Edison Co. restored the electric power.

* * *

According to Sgt. Frank Rutecki of the Madison Heights Police Dept., trees were being felled north of the corporation's building on Stephenson, when one fell on the powerline, short-circuiting five lines.

He said quick action by the employes and the Edison Co. prevented serious damage to the plant.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Television actress Mary Powell has divorced TV director F. Wynn Opie on grounds of cruelty.

She testified yesterday that he struck her, berated her and often had fits of temper.

She received token alimony of $1 a month, an auto and title to the family home.

Elizabeth Montgomery Marries Gig Young

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Actress Elizabeth Montgomery, 24, only daughter of actor Robert Montgomery, and Byron Barr, known in films as Gig Young, 38, were honeymooning today after their marriage last night.

It was the second marriage for Miss Montgomery, who divorced Gallatin Gamman, New York casting director, last year. Barr's previous wife, Sophie Rosenstein, his drama tutor, died in 1952.

REALLY UP IN THE AIR — Terry Moore has traveled 300,000 miles by airplane in the past year. The film actress and her businessman husband, Eugene McGrath, maintain four homes and are always rushing from one to another. Tomorrow at 9 p.m., General Electric Theater will present Terry in an adult drama, "The Shadow Outside," via CBS-TV.

Gadabout Terry Moore Stars in Drama Sunday

By CHARLES DENTON

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Terry Moore, who has a knack for stirring things up with such heady raiment as ermine-trimmed bathing suits and transparent evening gowns, is really up in the air since she cloaked herself in matrimony.

Terry spends so much time aloft these days that she automatically reaches for a seat belt when she sits down.

She covered more than 300,000 miles this year in various versions of the Wright brothers' brainchild and looks like a federally insured bet to deflate that record next year.

The reason for all this gadding about is that when Terry married Eugene McGrath, a rich everything-ist in Latin America, he came equipped with three homes—in Panama, Venezuela and New York—to add to her Hollywood menage.

Obviously, playing house frau in an international chain of this sort requires more traveling than being a scout for John Foster Dulles, which bothers Terry like a free membership in the Emerald-of-the-Month Club.

"It's really wonderful," she told us gleefully. "I love all four places. When I'm in Panama, I get homesick for Venezuela, and so on. What's more, I get all kinds of weather. Just have to take my pick and start traveling."

Just to give you an idea, a few days after Terry finishes work in "The Shadow Outside" for tomorrow night's GE Theater on CBS, she and her spouse flutter to Newfoundland, where Terry will do something—like singing and dancing—for the boys.

After that, she flits back to filmville—"I only come to Hollywood when I'm working"—for a spate of compensated endeavor in 20th Century-Fox's "Bernadine."

There is one aspect of all this that would flip the bonnet of any woman, even those with a tendency to airsickness.
